"26… The rights, liberties and freedoms of the individual are not only to be protected against the State, they should be facilitated by it. It is the duty of the State not only to protect the human dignity but to facilitate it by taking positive steps in that direction. No exact definition of human dignity exists. It refers to the intrinsic value of every human being, which is to be respected. It cannot be taken away. It cannot give (sic be given). It simply is. Every human being has dignity by virtue of his existence.

42. India is constituted into a sovereign, democratic republic to secure to all its citizens, fraternity assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity of the nation. The sovereign, democratic republic exists to promote fraternity and the dignity of the individual citizen and to secure to the citizens certain rights. This is because the objectives of the State can be realised only in and through the individuals. Therefore, rights conferred on citizens and non-citizens are not merely individual or personal rights. They have a large social and political content, because the objectives of the Constitution cannot be otherwise realised."

114. In Maharashtra University of Health Sciences v. Satchikitsa Prasarak Mandal [Maharashtra University of Health Sciences v. Satchikitsa Prasarak Mandal, (2010) 3 SCC 786 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 894] , this Court held that the dignity of the individual is a core constitutional concept. In Selvi [Selvi v. State of Karnataka, (2010) 7 SCC 263 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1] , this Court recognised that : (SCC p. 376, para 244)

"244… we must recognise that a forcible intrusion into a person's mental processes is also an affront to human dignity and liberty, often with grave and long-lasting consequences."

115. In Mehmood Nayyar Azam v. State of Chhattisgarh [Mehmood Nayyar Azam v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2012) 8 SCC 1 : (2012) 4 SCC (Civ) 34 : (2012) 3 SCC (Cri) 733 : (2012) 2 SCC (L&S) 449] , this Court noted that when dignity is lost, life goes into oblivion. The same emphasis on dignity finds expression in the decision in NALSA [National Legal Services Authority v. Union of India, (2014) 5 SCC 438] .

119. To live is to live with dignity. The draftsmen of the Constitution defined their vision of the society in which constitutional values would be attained by emphasising, among other freedoms, liberty and dignity. So fundamental is dignity that it permeates the core of the rights guaranteed to the individual by Part III. Dignity is the core which unites the fundamental rights because the fundamental rights seek to achieve for each individual the dignity of existence. Privacy with its attendant values assures dignity to the individual and it is only when life can be enjoyed with dignity can liberty be of true substance. Privacy ensures the fulfilment of dignity and is a core value which the protection of life and liberty is intended to achieve."

30. Also, the respondents are generally at fault in not providing for identification and reservation of adequate post for person with locomotor disability at Government Degree College at Deoband, Saharanpur.

31. Thus, in the entirety of the facts and circumstances of the case, cumulatively, the State has failed it's special citizen. He is therefore found entitled to lump-sum compensation assessed at Rs. 5,00,000/-, which may be paid out to the petitioner by the respondent State Government directly into the following Savings Bank Account (disclosed by the petitioner), held in the name of Shivam Gupta bearing A/C No. 919010037208046 (IFSC Code UTIB0002426), within a period of three months from today. In absence of payment made within that time, that amount would attract interest @ 8% from today till the date of actual payment.

32. The amount of compensation has been awarded to let the petitioner know, the State may take time to hear & understand its citizen and his plight but, it is neither deaf nor heartless as may ever remain indifferent, forcing him to drag his feet, almost literally, to this Court to seek justice. The citizen works at the heart of the giant being the State is. Unless the heart beats freely, the being cannot thrive.

33. Respondent no.1 is entrusted to ensure due compliance of this order. It is made plain, in this case compensation awarded is on the State as a whole and not on its executive wing alone.

34. With the aforesaid observation, the present petition stands partly allowed.

List of Cases cited:

A.N.D'Silva Vs U.O.I., AIR 1962 SC 130

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.K.Ojha, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Manish Gupta, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri J.Nagar, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Pratik J. Nagar, learned counsel for the respondent nos 5,6 and 7 and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. Invoking extra ordinary equitable jurisdiction of this Court, the petitioner who is an employee of Jalkal Department, Nagar Nigam, Prayagraj has assailed the order dated 5.8.2021 passed by the General Manager of the Jalkal Department, Nagar Nigam, Prayagraj, namely, respondent no. 5 on the ground that the order has been passed dispensing with the services of the petitioner which is a major penalty without holding regular disciplinary proceedings as prescribed for under the relevant rules and regulations inasmuch as enquiry report that has been relied upon by the disciplinary authority dated 6.4.2021 was never supplied to the petitioner.

3. It is pleaded in the writ petition that initially petitioner was suspended vide order dated 22nd October, 2019 by the then General Manager Ratan Lal, Jalkal Department, Nagar Nigam, Prayagraj on four charges which were quite vague in nature and the present General Manager Mr. Harish Chandra Balmiki was appointed as an enquiry officer. The charge sheet was served upon the petitioner on 5.11.2019 with four charges without there being any copy of the complaint annexed with the chargesheet in support of the charges. The petitioner submitted a detail reply on 25.11.2019 to the enquiry officer, but nothing proceeded further in the matter.

4. Sri Ratan Lal, the then General Manager came to be transferred by the State Government from Prayagraj to Nagar Nigam, Meerut vide order dated 29th April, 2020 and Sri Harish Chandra Balmiki who was enquiry officer in the matter of departmental enquiry against the petitioner came to be promoted and given the charge of General Manger of the Jalkal department Nagar Nigam Prayagraj (hereinafter referred to as General Managaer). Mr. Harish Chandra Balmiki soonafter taking the charge of General Manager passed an order dated 2nd May, 2020 cancelling all the orders of previous General Manager Ratan Lal and this included letter no. 205 dated 28.4.2020 whereby petitioner was reinstated in service pending enquiry. Thus, petitioner was reverted to the position of suspension. Petitioner wrote a letter to the present General Manager on 1st July, 2020 and requested that his suspension order dated 22nd October, 2019 be cancelled and he may be reinstated in service pending enquiry. Suddenly on 12th July, 2021 petitioner was served with a show cause notice with as many as ten charges and with proposed punishment of dismissal from service and the petitioner was required to submit his reply within 15 days. Petitioner vide letter dated 24th July, 2021 sought further time to submit reply, however, instead of granting time to enable petitioner to file reply as is pleaded in the writ petition, respondent no. 5 passed an order on 5.8.2021 dismissing the petitioner from service on the basis of recommendation made by the enquiry officer in his report dated 6.4.2021. Thus, it is further pleaded in the writ petition that entire proceeding was a farce as no procedure prescribed for was followed, inasmuch petitioner was never served with any chargesheet to submit reply and if any enquiry had been conducted, it had been on the back of the petitioner.

5. It is submitted that he was never served with copy of the enquiry report, nor afforded opportunity of hearing to contest the matter as sufficient plea has been taken by the petitioner regarding non compliance of the procedure prescribed for while imposing major penalty of dismissal from service. It is necessary here to go through the relevant provisions of the U.P. Nagar Mahapalika Sewa Niyamawali, 1962) (hereinafter referred to as Rules, 1962. Part III of the Rules, 1962 deal with punishment and appeals and Rule 27 thereof runs as under:

"27. Punishment- Subject to the provisions of section 110 of the Act, the following penalties may, for good and sufficient reasons and as therein after, provided, be imposed upon the servants of the Mahapalika by the authority which is competent to make such appointment under section 107 of the Act, notwithstanding that such an appointment in any particular case may have been made under Section577 (f)(2) of the Act, namely:-

(i) fine in case of servants belonging to the inferior service only:
Provided that the total amount of the fine shall not ordinarily exceed half month's pay of the servant concerned and it shall be deducted from his pay in instalments not exceeding one-quarter of this monthly salary;

(ii) censure;

(iii) withholding of increments including its stoppage at an efficiency bar;

(iv) recovery from pay of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to the Mahapalika by negligence or breach of orders;

(v) suspension;

(vi) reduction to a lower post or time-scale, or to lower stage in a time scale;

(vii) removal from the service of the Mahapalika which does not disqualify from future employment.

(viii) dismissal from the service of Mahapalika which ordinarily disqualifies from future employment;

Explanation- The discharge-

(a) of a person appointed on probation during or at the end of the period of probation; or

(b) of a person appointed otherwise than under contract to hold a temporary appointment on the expiration of the period of the appointment or at any time in accordance with the terms of appointment; or

(c) of a person engaged under contract in accordance with the terms of his contract; does not amount to removal or dismissal within the meaning of this rule."

(emphasis added)

6. Rule 27 (viii) prescribes "Dismissal' from service of Mahapalika, a punishment that would ordinarily disqualify such an employee from future employment. Thus it is the maximum punishment under the Rules, 1962 that can be inflicted upon an employee, and is, therefore, a major penalty.

7. Rule 31 lays down procedure for disciplinary proceedings and Rule 32 provides for conclusion of disciplinary proceeds drawn against an employee. Both Rules 31 and 32 are reproduced hereunder:

31. Procedure for disciplinary proceedings,- (1) No order (other than an order based on facts which have led to his conviction on a criminal charge) of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank (which includes reduction to a lower post or time-scale or a lower stage in a time scale but excludes the reversion to a lower post of a person- who is officiating in a higher post) shall be passed on any servant of the Mahapalika unless he has been informed in writing of the grounds on which it is proposed to take action and has been afforded an adequate opportunity of defending himself. The grounds on which it is proposed to take action shall be reduced in the form of a definite charge or charges which shall be communicated to the person charged and which shall be so clear and precise as to give sufficient indication to the charged servant of the facts and circumstance against him. Ae shall be required with in a reasonable time,to put in a written statement of his defence and to state whether he desires to be heard in person. If he so desires or if the authority concerned so directs an oral enquiry shall be held in respect of such of the allegations as are not admitted. At that inquiry such oral evidence will be heard as the inquiring officer considers necessary. The person charged shall be entitled to cross-examine the witnesses, to give evidence in person and to have such witness called as he may wish, provided that he officer conducting the inquiry may for sufficient reason to be recorded in writing refuse to call a witness. Neither the Mahapalika nor the servants of the Mahapalika shall be entitled to be represented by a counsel. The proceedings shall contain a sufficient record of the evidence and statement of the finding and the grounds thereof. The officer conducting the enquiry may also separately from these proceedings make his own recommendation regarding the punishment to be imposed on the charged servant.

(2) This rule shall not apply where the person concerned has absconded or where it is for other reasons impracticable to communicate with him. All or any of the provisions of the rule may for sufficient reasons to be recorded in writing be waived,where there is difficulty in observing exactly the requirements of the rule and those requirements can in the opinion of the inquiring officer be waived without injustice to be person charged.

(3) This rule shall also not apply where it is proposed to terminate the employment of either a temporary servant, or of a probationer whether during or at the end of the period of probation. In such cases a simple notice of termination,which in the case of temporary servant, must conform to the condition of his service, will be sufficient.

32 . (1) After an inquiry against a servant has been completed and after the punishment authority has arrived at provisional conclusions in regard to the penalty to be imposed,the servant charged shall, if penalty proposed is dismissal, removal or reduction in rank be supplied with a copy of the proceedings prepared under Rule 31 excluding the recommendations, if any in regard to punishment made by the officer conducting the inquiry and asked to show cause by a particular date, which affords him reasonable time, why the proposed penalty should not be imposed on him.

Provided that if for sufficient reasons the punishing authority disagrees with any part or whole of the proceeding prepared under Rule 31, the point or points of such disagreement, together with a brief statement of the grounds thereof, shall also be communicated to the officer or servant charged along with the copy of the proceedings under Rule 31.

(2) Every order of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank shall be in writing and shall specify the charge or charges brought, the defence, if any, and the reasons for the order.

(emphasis added)

8. The order impugned in the writ petition clearly indicates that General Manager Mr. Balmiki has impugned penalty of dismissal from service in exercise of his power vested under Rule 27 (iii) on the basis of enquiry report dated 06.04.2021 of the enquiry officer Mr. Mushir Ahmad, the Additional Municipal Commissioner and of course, after issuing a show cause notice dated 12.07.2021. Thus as per the impugned order, there has been absolute compliance of the procedure prescribed for under Rule 31 and 32 of the Rules, 1962 for taking an action of imposing major penalty of dismissal from service under Rule 27 (viii) of the Rules, 1962. However, since pleading raised in writ petition has been that no enquiry was held, no enquiry report was supplied and so none of the procedures prescribed for conducting disciplinary proceedings was followed, this Court summoned the original records of disciplinary proceedings in question vide order dated 23.02.2022.

9. I have gone through the entire original records relating to the proceedings that have resulted in passing of the order by respondent no. 5 dispensing with services of the petitioner and I find that in the matter of enquiry pursuant to the suspension order and the chargesheet served upon the petitioner in the year 2019 the then enquiry officer Harish Chandra Balmiki who was later on promoted as General Manager, was removed as enquiry officer and in his place one Sri Santosh Kumar Dwivedi, Assistant Engineer, Zone 1 Jalkal Department Nagar Nigam Prayagraj was appointed as an enquiry officer vide letter no. 219 dated 29.04.2020. This order with letter number was cancelled by the newly appointed General Manager Harish Chandra Balmiki on 02.05.2020. There is of course, one letter addressed to Municipal Commissioner dated 05.05.2020 written by Accounts Officer, Sujit Kumar which was marked to the Additional Municipal Commissioner Mr. Mushir Ahmad by the Mayor, Prayagraj to conduct enquiry and submit report.

10. Mr. Mushir Ahmad writes to Mr. Harish Chandra Balmiki the then officiating General Manager asking him to send the details of enquiry till that time conducted by Mr. Balmiki vide his letter dated 05.05.2020. Mr. Balmiki replied to the letter vide his letter dated 12.05.2020 that original file was available in the office of Nagar Nigam and so he was unable to submit report. Municipal Commissioner Mr. Ravi Ranjan, the Municipal Commissioner also wrote to General Manager, Jalkal Department, Mr. Balmiki on 11.06.2020 to make available entire evidence/documents without which enquiry was not being proceeded with. This time Mr. Balmiki wrote to the enquiry officer Mr Mushir Ahmad a detailed letter on 18.062020 that entire records had been made available to him vide office letter no. D/346/Jalkal Vibhag/20 dated 15.05.2020 and that letters written for recording evidence and statement of witnesses were available on record, but the enquiry officer wrote him back that in connection with chargehseet dated 05.11.2019 issued to the delinquent employee, no evidence was available on record. He wrote that there was some reference to the police report and drawing of some proceedings against the delinquent employee but in connection with the chargesheet dated 05.11.2019 the evidence be made available so that enquiry might be concluded . Vide letter dated 21.07.2021. Mr. Balmiki reiterated that evidence were available in original in the records in the office of Nagar Nigam and there was no further evidence and so accordingly enquiry be concluded. Enquiry Officer gave last opportunity to Mr. Balmiki to make available requisite documents/ evidence and to cooperate in the enquiry vide his letter dated 23.07.2020. Mr. Balmiki, the General Manager this time, writes back to enquiry officer on 30.07.2020 reiterating his previous stand and asks the enquiry officer to conclude enquiry as per the charges contained in the chargesheet. Having found no records available, the enquiry officer Mr. Mushir Ahmad virtually dropped the enquiry proceedings on the ground that in connection with the charges, no evidence was got recorded before him and so the enquiry proceedings could not be continued for want of evidence. This letter addressed to Municipal Commissioner dated 15.09.2020 is reproduced hereunder:

"नगर आयुक्त महोदय,

आपसे वार्ता हुई। महाप्रबन्धक-जलकल द्वारा अब तक जलकल विभाग के निलम्बित कर्मचारीगण श्री विनोद कुमार पटेल, खलासी एंव श्री दिलीप चन्द्र, खलासी के जांच प्रकरण में आरोपित आरोपों के सम्बन्ध में कोई भी साक्ष्य अधोहस्ताक्षरी को उपलब्ध नहीं कराया गया है, अतएव साक्ष्य के अभाव में दीर्घकालीन अवधि तक अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही गतिमान रखने का कोई औचित्य नहीं है। तदनुसार महाप्रबन्धक-जलकल को निर्देशित करना चाहें।

अपर नगर आयुक्त।"

11. However, it seems when above letter was not replied to by General Manager, the Enquiry Officer decided to drop enquiry proceedings on the ground that no one was giving evidence against the delinquent employee who was in jail pursuant to police report dated 25.12.2020. This report of enquiry officer is titled as "Enquiry Report' and seems to have been taken as one prepared under Rule 31(1) of the Rules, 1962. In order to appreciate this enquiry report it is reproduced hereunder:

"जांच आख्या

मेरे द्वारा श्री हरिश्चन्द्र बाल्मीकि, महाप्रबन्धक जलकल विभाग प्रयागराज की आख्या दिनांक - 05.03.2021 का अवलोकन किया गया। आख्या से स्पष्ट है कि श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीया, खलासी द्वारा दिनांक - 25.12.2020 को महाप्रबन्धक श्री हरिश्चन्द्र बाल्मिकी पर जानलेवा हमला किया गया जिसकी प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट, थाना खुल्दाबाद प्रयागराज में दर्ज कराई गयी एंव पुलिस विवेचना के उपरान्त कानूनी कार्यवाही के तहत अपराधी कर्मचारी श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीया वर्तमान में जेल मे निरूद्ध है। कर्मचारी का यह अपराधिक कृत्य कर्मचारी आचरण नियमावली के विपरीत व अपने अधिकारी के प्रति घोर अनुशासनहीनता व मिसकण्डेक्ट है।

पूर्व में भी श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीय, खलासी द्वारा अपने कर्मचारी साथियों के साथ जलकल विभाग मुख्यालय खुशरूबाग में अधिकरियों व कर्मचारियों के बीच भय व आतंक फैलाकर जलकल विभाग के कार्यों में व्यवधान उत्पन्न करने के लिए आरोपित रहे हैं। श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीया खलासी इतने दबंग व प्रभावशाली अपराधी हैं कि इनके विरूद्ध कोई भी अधिकारी व कर्मचारी साक्ष्य/गवाही देने की हिम्मत नहीं कर पाता है जिसका प्रमाण यह है कि जलकल विभाग के कार्यालय पत्र संख्या डी० 1291/ म०प्र०/ ज०क०वि०/19-20 दिनांक 05/11/2019 के द्वारा पूर्व में आरोपी कर्मचारी को आरोप-पत्र दिया गया था जिसके उत्तर में अपराधी कर्मचारी ने जलकल विभाग के अभियन्तागण को ही प्रत्यक्षदर्शी बनाकर घटना की जानकारी लिए जाने का अनुरोध किया जिसके क्रम में जांच अधिकरी/अधोहस्ताक्षरी द्वारा अभियन्तागण से ब्यान लिया गया किन्तु अभियन्तागण उक्त कर्मचारी के भय व आतंक से इतने ज्यादा प्रभावित थे कि वे उसके समक्ष घटना से ही मुकर गये।

इस प्रकार आरोपी कर्मचारी के कथन/उत्तर पर मौखिक सुनवाई भी की गई। तद्नुसार श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीया खलासी उदण्ड, अनुशासनहीन व अपराधिक प्रवृत्ति का कर्मचारी है। कर्मचारी की सत्यनिष्ठा संदिग्ध है। आये दिन जलकल विभाग में भय एंव आतंक का माहौल पैदा करने का आदी है। कर्मचारी की अपराधिक प्रवृत्ति के कारण व्यवहारिक जांच किया जाना संम्भव नहीं है। आख्या प्रेषित है।

12. Upon perusal of the above, I find that the recommendations made by Mushir Ahmad to drop the enquiry on 06.04.2021 neither amounts to a formal enquiry report itself worth its name as such, nor even on the basis of any such enquiry report a disciplinary authority could have proceeded to impose order of punishment in the nature of major penalty.

13. The same day while the alleged enquiry report was submitted by Additional Municipal Commissioner Mushir Ahmad he made yet another recommendation on 06.04.2021, which is reproduced hereunder:

" नगर आयुक्त महोदय,

कृपया गत् पृष्ठ संख्या-8 पर श्री हरिश्चन्द्र बाल्मीकि, महाप्रबन्धक जलकल-प्रयागराज की आख्या दिनांक-05.03.2021 पर अपने आदेश दिनांक-09.03.2021 का अवलोकन करने का कष्ट करें। मेरे द्वारा महाप्रबन्धक-जलकल विभाग की आख्या का अवलोकन किया गया, जिससे स्पष्ट है कि श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीय, खलासी व अन्य हिस्ट्रीशीटर अपराधियों द्वारा दिनांक- 25.12.2020 को श्री हरिश्चन्द्र बाल्मीकि, महाप्रबन्धक-जलकल पर जानलेवा हमला किया गया। इस सम्बन्ध में पुलिस विभाग थाना खुल्दाबाद में प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट सं0 635/2020 दर्ज करायी गयी है। श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीय (खलासी) जलकल विभाग का यह आपराधिक कृत्य कर्मचारी आचरण नियमावली के विपरीत है। इस प्रकार कर्मचारी द्वारा अपने उच्चाधिकारी के विरुद्ध घोर अनुशासनहीनता व मिसकन्डक (कदाचार) किया गया है। दोषी कर्मचारी के विरुद्ध अबतक कोई अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही गठित नहीं की गयी है और न ही आरोप पत्र प्रस्तुत किया गया है।

महाप्रबन्धक-जलकल विभाग के कर्मचारियों के नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी व दण्डाधिकारी है नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी/दण्डाधिकारी को स्वतः संज्ञान लेकर मामले में कार्यवाही की जानी चाहिए।

अतः महाप्रबन्धक जलकल विभाग को निर्देश देना चाहे कि वे मामले/घटना के सम्बन्ध में दोषी कर्मचारी श्री दिलीप चन्द्र भारतीय (खलासी) के विरुद्ध नियमानुसार अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही तथा आरोप-पत्र गठित कर कार्यवाही करें।

"(emphasis added)

14. The above letter contains recommendation to the effect that proper disciplinary proceedings be drawn against Dilip Chandra, namely the petitioner by formally framing charges. Notings upn the above recommendation show that Secretary, Nagar Nigam, made an endorsement for initiating disciplinary proceedings against suspended employees not naming the petitioner at all. This recommendation of the Municipal Commissioner dated 06.04.2021 further carries an endorsement of an officer addressed to Secretary, to initiate disciplinary proceedings as per recommendation. So I do not find there to be any enquiry report available on record to enable General Manager to pass order of dismissal from service. There being only report dropping enquiry proceedings and a letter of recommendation by Mushir Ahmad, Additional Municipal Commissioner to initiate disciplinary proceedings by framing charges and thereby issuing chargesheet, such earlier enquiry report or recommendation cannot be said to be a recommendation of enquiry officer to dismiss the petitioner from service. How the General Manager Mr. Balmiki treated the enquiry report dropping the enquiry and recommendations made for framing charges as an enquiry report is questionable. Surprisingly he, instead of instituting enquiry afresh, has proceeded to take action of imposing punishment as disciplinary authority. Records do not reveal any disciplinary enquiry being instituted upon recommendation of Additional Municipal Commissioner dated 06.04.2021. The court also fails to understand as to why enquiry officer , Mr. Mushir Ahmad, if in his wisdom had rightly dropped enquiry for want of evidence and yet made recommendation for disciplinary action. Here report should have been taken to mean for instituting a proper formal enquiry as contemplated under Rule 31 of the Rules, 1860. An enquiry officer can only hold a delinquent employee guilty of the charges by conducting a formal enquiry as a consequence thereof and then additionally he can recommend for a punishment as per rules but without conducting a formal enquiry showing his inability to hold enquiry, he could not have made recommendations for an action for inflicting punishment upon the delinquent employee. Here I may refer the case of A.N.D'Silva v. Union of India, AIR 1962 SC 130, wherein it was held : "In the communication addressed by the Enquiry Officer the punishment proposed to be imposed upon the appellant if he was found guilty of the charges could not properly be set out. The question of imposing punishment can only arise after enquiry is made and the report of the Enquiry Officer is received. It is for the punishing authority to propose the punishment and not for the enquiry authority."

15. Thus, it is clear that no enquiry as such was ever ordered against the petitioner except the one that was instituted pursuant to the chargesheet dated 5.11.2019. The order impugned does state that petitioner was suspended on 22nd October, 2019 and in the enquriy conducted in the matter petitioner was held guilty but no such enquiry report is traceable, instead there is a report of enquiry officer dropping the enquiry dated 15.09.2020 and then a report dated 06.04.2021 showing his inability to hold enquiry.

16. It further transpires from the record that there has been some issue between earlier General Manager and the present one and the employees have been made to be victimized because of the internal politics. It can only be termed as unfortunate that order of dismissal from service has come to be passed on serious charges without holding any enquiry and referring to such enquiry report, which by no stretch of imagination can be treated as formal enquiry report within the meaning of Rule 31 (1) of the Rules, 1962.

17. Still further, though very unfortunate but the records reveal that while an officer was appointed as an enquiry officer in the matter of enquiry pursuant to the chargesheet issued to the petitioner, such officer did not initiate any step to ensure that disciplinary enquiry instituted is brought to its logical end and surprisingly no sooner did he acquired the position of disciplinary authority as General Manager, he proceeded to pass order against the petitioner. First enquiry officer appointed was Mr. Harish chandra Balimiki and as he did not conclude the enquiry, the then General Manager Ratan Lal proceeded to reinstate the petitioner vide letter no. 205 dated 28.04.2020 and appointed Santosh Kumar Dwivedi, Assistant Engineer, Zone-I to conclude enquiry within 15 days and the moment enquiry officer Mr. Harish Chandra Balimiki got promoted as General Manager, he cancelled the letter no. 205 reverting the petitioner to the stage of suspension and also cancelled letter no. 219 dated 29.04.2020 whereby Sri Santosh Kumar Dwivedi, Assistant Engineer, Zone-I was appointed as an enquiry officer. Similarly again while Additional Municipal Commissioner Mr. Mushir Ahmad was appointed as an enquiry officer, he showed his inability to proceed with enquiry as Mr. Harish Chandra Balimiki did not supply the requisite papers as has come to be recorded in the order of the then Municipal Commissioner dated 11th June, 2020 directing the General Manager to supply the papers and while for non supply of papers, the enquiry officer virtually proceeded to drop the enquiry vide his letter dated 15.05.2020 and later on even concluded that enquiry could not be held vide report dated 06.04.2021 and yet at the same time accused the petitioner as responsible for the same. How the enquiry officer who earlier held General Manager responsible for not producing documentary evidence to proceed with enquiry suddenly turned the table to petitioner"s side to demonstrate that petitioner was responsible for insufficient evidence and so action be taken against him. The records do not disclose that enquiry officer fixed any date to hold enquiry. No records of formal enquiry proceedings are available at all except internal departmental communications mostly between the enquiry officer and the General Manager. It is this report dated 06.04.2021 that became a tool in the hands of General Manager to pass the order impugned. It is very unfortunate that officers of the level of Additional Municipal Commissioner of a Municipal Corporation like Prayagraj and General Manager of the Jalkal department of Nagar Nigam are playing with law and rules to mould it in the manner it suits them. In my considered view meeting the norms of Natural justice in administrative action is sine qua non. Public servants/ public officials while exercising power/ authority must ensure fairness in action. Their act and conduct must pass the test of Article 14 of the Constitution that envisages fairness and not arbitrariness in action by public authorities. I must quote here what Professor Wade and Professor Christopher discuss about natural justice in administrative law relying upon certain authorities, in their celebrated treatise Administrative Law "In its broadest sense natural justice may mean simply 'the natural sense of what is right and wrong, and even in its technical sense it is now often equated with 'fairness'

But in administrative law natural justice is a well-defined concept which comprises two fundamental rules of fair procedure: that a man may not be a judge in his own cause; and that a man's defence must always be fairly heard. In courts of law and in statutory tribunals it can be taken for granted that these rules must be observed. But so universal are they, so 'natural', that they are not cofined to judicial power. They apply equally to administrative power, and sometimes also to powers created by contract. Natural justice is one of the most active departments of administrative law.

There are both broad and narrow aspects to consider. The narrow aspect is that the rules of natural justice are merely a branch of the principle of ultra vires. Violation of natural justice is then to be classified as one of the varieties of wrong procedure, or abuse of power, which transgress the implied conditions which Parliament is presumed to have intended. Just as a power to act ' as he thinks fit' does not allow a public authority to act unreasonably or in bad faith, so it does not allow disregard of the elementary doctrines of fair procedure. As Lord Selborne once said.

There would be no decision within the meaning of the statute if there were anything of that sort done contrary to the essence of justice."

(emphasis added)

18. Applying the above principles to the facts of this case, I find that in the present case no formal enquiry was held, at all as per the procedure prescribed under Rule 31 of the Rules, 1962. Rule 31(1) prescribes preparation of chargesheet with definite charges, person charged shall be given a reasonable time to put in his written statement of his defence, if hearing is pressed then oral enquiry, recording of oral evidence, opportunity to cross examine the departmental witness if charged employee so desires. Enquiry proceedings shall contain record of evidence and statement of findings and the grounds thereof. Rule 32 provides if punishment to be awarded is in the nature of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank, then servant charged shall be provided with the proceedings prepared under Rule 31 giving him reasonable time to submit reply. The disciplinary authority, the General Manager, though in this case issued a show cause notice to the petitioner on 12.07.2021 but it neither refers to the charges that were in the chargesheet nor, accompanies the alleged enquiry report dated 06.04.2021. The show cause notice contains new set of charges and explanation was invited in respect thereof which should have been meant for initiating a disciplinary proceedings afresh and not for imposing major penalty.

19. In view of the above, the act and conduct of the respondents and the procedure followed by them in utter defiance to the rules framed for such purposes, cannot be countenanced under any circumstances.

20. Looking to the facts and circumstances of this case, it seems difficult to expect justice to the employees of Nagar Nigam at the end of these authorities. They need to mend their ways of working so that congenial atmosphere is created in the local body concerned which is constituted for public service.

21. Sri J.Nagar, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Pratik J. Nagar appearing on behalf of respondent no. 5,6 and 7 as well as learned Standing Counsel appearing for State respondent nos. 1 and 2 could not place any rule or regulation under which such procedure to dismiss an employee from service has been prescribed.

22. From the perusal of the original records and the discussions made above, the Court comes to an inevitable conclusion that earlier enquiry pursuant to the chargesheet dated 25.11.2019 stood dropped on 06.04.2021 and there is nothing on record to demonstrate that the enquiry officer's decision has not able to hold enquiry dated 06.04.2020 in the form of enquiry report, was ever set aside, inasmuch as Mushir Ahmad has only recommended for initiation of fresh enquiry by framing charges and issuing chargesheet, and in so far as the order of the punishment of dismissal of petitioner from service is concerned, it is without any enquiry being held at all. The show cause notice based upon certain charges issued afresh on 12.07.2021 can only be meant for instituting a disciplinary proceeding against the petitioner and merely on that basis, even if it remained unresponded, major penalty of dismissal could not have been inflicted. The disciplinary authority issued the said show cause notice not on the basis of any disagreement to the enquiry report, containing points of disagreement together with the brief statement of grounds thereof as contemplated under the proviso to rule 32(1) of the Rules, 1960.

23. Further the show cause notice was served upon the petitioner while he was in jail and so he sought time to submit reply after he would be released vide letter dated 24.07.2021. This letter of the petitioner is not on record. Even under these circumstances institution of a fresh disciplinary enquiry upon the charges set out in the show cause notice was a must under Rule 31(1) of the Rules, 1962.

24. It is not disputed that petitioner is a permanent and confirmed employee and there is a procedure prescribed for to institute disciplinary proceedings, if there are charges against such an employee and, therefore, in the absence of any chargesheet and the enquiry report, procedure followed to impose major penalty of dismissal from service cannot be approved of under any circumstances. Thus conclusion drawn by Mr. Mushir Ahmad in his report dated 06.04.2021 does not amount to a finding as an outcome of any formal enquiry proceeding and cannot be treated an enquiry report as such and so resultant action by the disciplinary authority under the order impugned in the matter is unsustainable and deserves to be quashed.

25. In view of the above, writ petition succeeds and is allowed and the order of dismissal from service dated 05.08.2021 is hereby quashed.

26. As I have already observed that records do reveal that nothing proceeded further in the matter of enquiry pursuant to the chargesheet dated 05.11.2019, and that enquiry proceeding stood actually dropped vide enquiry officer's report dated 06.04.2021 (supra), petitioner cannot be retained under suspension and, therefore, order of suspension of the petitioner dated 22.10.2019 is also set aside.

27. Petitioner shall be reinstated in service with all consequential benefits. Liberty rests with the respondents to proceed afresh, if they so desire, strictly in accordance with law.

Civil Law- The Constitution of India,1950- Article 324-The Representation of Peoples Act, 1951- Sections 33A & 125A- Clause 5(v) of The circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India providing procedure to deal with the complaint of violation of Section 33-A - Post election Inquiry into complaints by the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate- Any complaint of false affidavit received by any other officer after the nomination exercise is over, is required to be referred to the Chief Electoral Officer, if such a complaint is supported by some document/evidence. The Chief Electoral Officer further shall be required to make a scrutiny of the supporting evidence/documents and shall ask for the affidavit of the complainant before forwarding the complaint to the Election Commission. Clause 5(v) of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 (which is statutory in character), clearly provides that such forwarded complaints shall be dealt by the Election Commission on case-to-case basis and the Commission may seek comments of the appropriate officer while dealing with the complaint.

The circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India is statutory in nature and provides the procedure to deal with the complaint of violation of Section 33-A and mandates that the Chief Electoral Officer shall forward the complaints received after the nomination process to the Election Commission.

Civil Law- The Representation of Peoples Act, 1951- Sections 33A & 125A- Clause 5(v) of The circular dated 24th August, 2021 - The Sub-Divisional Magistrate, who was the Returning Officer in the elections to the Member of Legislative Assembly held in February and March, 2022, had no jurisdiction to deal with the complaints after the nomination exercise much less after the election was over. The action of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi in forwarding the complaints to the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi instead of referring the complaints to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., is in clear violation of Clause 5(ii) of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India. Both the notices dated 18th May, 2022 and 25th May, 2022 are, thus, liable to be set aside being outcome of an illegal action of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi-Once the complaint was sent to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., he was required to follow the procedure prescribed in Clause '5' of the aforesaid circular, only after completion of these three steps in the scrutiny of the genuineness of the complaint, at the ends of the Chief Electoral Officer, the matter was required to be forwarded to the Election Commission with his report in accordance with Clause 5(iv)-In the process of scrutiny of the complaint in accordance with Clause '5' of the circular issued by the Election Commission, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi or the Returning Officer had no role to play- The District Magistrate/the District Election Officer has, thus, committed a glaring illegality in directing the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirathu, Kaushambi to deal with the complaint. The notice dated 3rd June, 2022 issued by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirathu, Kausuambi being the result of illegal action of the District Magistrate/the District Election Officer, Kaushambi is liable to be set aside.

It was incumbent upon the District Electoral Officer/ District Magistrate to forward the complaints after the election was over, to the Chief Electoral Officer and the Returning Officer/ Sub-Divisional Officer had no role to play in the process mandated in the circular dated 24th August, 2021-thus the notices issued by the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Officer were wholly without jurisdiction.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anil Kishore Sharma learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Saroj Kumar Yadav learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ashutosh Mishra learned counsel for the Election Commission of India and Sri J.N. Maurya learned Chief Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner herein seeks to challenge the notice dated 18.5.2022 issued by the respondent no. 4 namely the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi as also the reminder notices dated 25.5.2022 and 3.6.2022 issued by him. The prayer is to quash the entire proceedings initiated by the respondents with the aforesaid notices.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the petitioner herein is an elected representative of the people to the State assembly, Member of Legislative Assembly of the State, from the Constituency No. 251, Sirathu, District Kaushambi. In the elections notified on 1.2.2022, the petitioner herein had filed her nomination paper on 8.2.2022, polling took place on 27.2.2022 and in the result declared on 10.3.2022, the petitioner herein was returned as a winner.

4. It is stated in the writ petition that during the nomination process, certain objections were raised alleging suppression of material facts by the petitioner as required to be declared in Form-26, the affidavit submitted along with the nomination paper, describing her criminal antecedents. The contention is that the Returning Officer had examined the documents filed by the petitioner in light of the complaint and turning down the complaint, accepted the nomination papers as valid. The petitioner having won the election, took oath of the Member of Legislative Assembly in the house of Legislature and participated in the Budget Session in the fall of May, 2022.

5. It seems that an undated complaint was filed by a resident of the constituency namely Sirathu, alleging that the right of the ordinary voter of the constituency has been infringed as the petitioner did not disclose the criminal cases lodged against her in the affidavit appended with the nomination paper. The undated complaint filed by one Dileep Singh Patel was followed by another complaint of one Omkar Nath Gautam. Both the complaints are appended as Annexure '4' to the writ petition.

On these complaints, the notices impugned have been issued by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, District Kaushambi. It is stated that two previous notices issued in the month of May were not served upon the petitioner and only after the service of the third notice dated 3.6.2022, she came to know about the said complaints. It is also stated in the writ petition that the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, District Kaushambi made an enquiry about the genuineness of the complaint and in the report submitted by the Revenue Lekhpal, Kshetra Nara, Sirathu, it was indicated that three persons in the name of Dileep Patel were met in the village. They were Dileep Singh Patel son of Indra Pal Singh, Dileep Singh son of late Ram Sewak Singh and Dileep Kumar Singh son of Sri Ram Singh, all residents of village Udahin Khurd, Sirathu, District Kaushambi and these three persons filed notarized affidavits before the District Magistrate/the District Election Officer that they did not file any complaint. The affidavits are appended as Annexure '7' to the writ petition.

A perusal of the copy of the complaint made by the complainant Sri Dileep Patel indicates that he did not disclose his parentage and it is not possible to identify him from the description therein.

6. It is brought on record of the writ petition that the Election Commission of India by a communication dated 17th May, 2022 had forwarded the complaint lodged by Dileep Patel with the direction that appropriate proceeding be initiated in the matter in light of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by it. On receipt of the same, by the letter dated 26th May, 2022, the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. forwarded the complaint to the District Election Officer, Kaushambi with the direction to submit a report by making an enquiry on the point-wise issues raised in the complaint, in accordance with the Circular/letter of the Election Commission of India dated 24.8.2021.

7. A perusal of the impugned notices issued by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi makes it evident that the notice dated 18th May, 2022 was directly issued by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi on the complaint of Sri Dileep Patel, an elector/voter received in the office of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi and reminder was also sent on 25th May, 2022 on the same. Further, the District Magistrate, Kaushambi with his letter dated 1.6.2022 has forwarded the complaint with the letter dated 26.5.2022 sent by the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi. Another complaint which was submitted by Sri Omkar Nath Gautam to the District Magistrate, Kaushambi was also sent alongwith the said letter and direction was issued to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi to make an enquiry. The third notice dated 3rd June, 2022, as a reminder to the previous two notices dated 18.5.2022 and 25.5.2022, was then served upon the petitioner.

8. At this juncture, it is relevant to note that the record placed alongwith the writ petition makes it clear that the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi had issued two previous notices on the directions of the District Magistrate, Kaushambi, who is the District Election Officer, Kaushambi, on the undated complaint of Sri Dileep Patel, addressed to the District Election Officer/District Magistrate, Kaushambi, U.P. It further shows that the complaint made to the Election Commission of India by Dileep Patel was later forwarded to the Chief Electoral Officer, who in turn, had directed the District Election Officer, Kaushambi to make enquiry. The second complaint of Omkar Nath Gautam was also directly entertained by the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi and on all these complaints, directions were issued by the letter dated 1.6.2022 to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi to make enquiry, pursuant to which he had issued the third notice dated 3rd June, 2022.

9. The learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India and the Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents do not dispute the sequence of events as narrated in the writ petition and noted above, leading to issuance of three notices which are subject matter of challenge herein.

10. The dispute in the present writ petition as raised by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner is that the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi and the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi have no jurisdiction to inquire into the complaint relating to the election as they have become functus officio after declaration of the result of the election on 10.3.2022.

11. It is argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner that these authorities had transgressed their jurisdiction in instituting proceedings against the petitioner who is an elected representative of the people of the State. After election, any dispute relating to election can only be raised by way of an election petition, to be filed in accordance with the provisions of Section 80 of the Representation of the People Act, 1951 (In short as "the R.P. Act, 1951"), framed in the spirit of Article 329(b) of the Constitution of India. Three notices issued by respondent no. 4, the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi are liable to be quashed as such and the entire proceeding initiated by the District Election Officer, Kaushambi at his own ends and on the direction of the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. are liable to set aside.

Reliance is placed on the decisions of this Court in Kamlesh vs. Mukhya Nirwachan Ayukt and Shambhu Singh vs. State to substantiate the above submissions.

Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ashutosh Mishra learned Advocate, has put in appearance on behalf of the Election Commission of India, the respondent no. 1. The State respondent nos. 2 to 4 are represented by Sri J.N. Maurya learned Chief Standing Counsel.

Both the counsels for the respondents are in sync in their arguments that the notices were issued by respondent no. 4 in light of the directions issued by the Election Commission of India to make an enquiry in accordance with its circular/letter dated 24.8.2021. The allegations in the complaints are of concealment/non-disclosure of the criminal antecedents of the petitioner in Form-26 prescribed under the Rule 4A of the Conduct of Elections Rules, 1961, the Form of affidavit to be filed at the time of delivering nomination paper in accordance with sub-section (1) of Section 33 of the R. P. Act, 1951. It is urged that it is mandatory for the candidate to provide correct and complete information in Form-26 while filling the details in all relevant columns including the details of pending criminal cases against the candidate. Any column of Form-26, if left blank, would result in rejection of the nomination paper by the Returning Officer.

In order to address the dispute with regard to the jurisdiction of the Returning Officer, the District Election Officer and the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. in the matter of entertaining complaint, it is argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India that the Election Commission of India had issued a circular dated 24th August, 2021 to the Chief Electoral Officers of all States, with reference of its earlier letter dated 26.4.2014 that the complaints of false declaration or concealment in the affidavit in Form-26 by a candidate shall be entertained by the Returning Officer and enquiry on case-to-case basis shall be conducted. The reference has been given to the Press Note dated 16.6.2020 issued by the Election Commission of India in the aforesaid circular dated 24th August, 2021 that in the matter of lodging of complaint under Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951, equal opportunity should be provided to all concerned and each complaint of the elector shall be examined and the case would be referred to the concerned Investigating Officer on case-to-case basis. It is argued that the said circular dated 24th August, 2021 also referred to the order dated 14.7.2021 passed by the Division Bench of the Madras High Court in B.

Ramamoorthy vs. the Chief Election Commission of India and others, wherein it was directed that all complaints of violation of Section 33-A of the Act shall be examined by the Election Commission of India and the notice to the relevant candidate is to be issued before closing the matter by a reasoned order, if the explanation is found suitable or satisfactory.

The observations in paragraph '13' of the judgment and order dated 14.7.2021 passed by the Madras High Court in B. Ramamoorthy (supra) has been placed before us to argue that the Election Commission of India is bound to pursue the matter for lodging complaint under Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951 against the candidate, if the explanation of the relevant candidate is not found satisfactory.

The submission, thus, is that the impugned notices were issued by the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi under the directions issued by the Election Commission of India to make an enquiry in accordance with the circular dated 24th August, 2021. No exception, therefore, can be taken to the jurisdiction of respondent no. 4, the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi to issue notice to the petitioner calling her explanation in the enquiry to be conducted, under the direction of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi, who in turn, was directed by the Chief Electoral Officer to submit a report in light of the directions issued by the Election Commission of India by the letter dated 17.5.2022 forwarding the complaint.

It is further vehemently argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India that Section 33A and Section 125A were introduced by the Act No. 72 of 2002 w.e.f. 24.8.2002 in light of the decision of the Apex Court in Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms and another, wherein it was held by the Apex Court that to maintain the purity of elections and in particular to bring transparency in the process of election, the Commission has to ask for a disclosure by a candidate with regard to his criminal antecedents, assets, liabilities and educational qualification, in order to strengthen the voters in taking appropriate decision of casting their votes. It is argued that it was held therein that the citizen's right to know about the candidate who represent him in Parliament/Assembly will constitute a fundamental right under the Constitution of India. The voter's right to know about the antecedents of his candidate has been held to be a fundamental right under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution, akin to the right to freedom of speech and expression. It was held therein that release of the information about the candidate to be selected is must as casting of vote by misinformed and non-informed voter or a voter having one-sided information only, is bound to affect the democracy seriously.

The decision of the Apex Court in Resurgence India vs. Election Commission of India and another has been placed before us to argue that the ultimate purpose of filing of the affidavit along with the nomination paper is to effectuate the fundamental right of the citizens under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution. The citizens are supposed to have the necessary information at the time of filing of nomination paper and for that purpose, the Returning Officer can very well compel a candidate to furnish the relevant information. Filing of affidavit with blank particulars, by concealment of material particulars, will render the affidavit nugatory. It is, therefore, the duty of the Returning Officer to check whether the information required is fully furnished at the time of filing of affidavit with the nomination paper since such information is very vital for giving effect to the "right to know" of the citizens. It was held therein that if a candidate fails to fill the blanks even after the reminder by the Returning Officer, the nomination paper is fit to be rejected. The Apex Court in the said case has held that filing of the affidavit with blanks will be directly hit by Section 125A(i) of the R.P. Act, 1951.

Section 125A(i) of the R.P. Act, 1951 was then placed before us to vehemently argue that failure to furnish information relating to her criminal antecedents by the petitioner as mandated by Section 33A of the R.P. Act, 1951 would entail the punishment provided therein, the penalty of filing false affidavit, an imprisonment for a term extended to six months or with fine or with both.

The decision of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Dubbaka Narsimha Reddy vs. Election Commission of India & others (Writ Petition No. 12066 of 2014) dated 9.7.2014 has been placed before us to argue that it is the duty of the Election Officer to take steps for initiating criminal proceeding under Section 125A on the complaint received by him while disposing of the same in light of the circular issued by the Election Commission of India to all the Chief Electoral Officer of all States and Union Territories in the matter of filing of false affidavit in Form-26.

12. With the aid of the said decision, it is argued by Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India that the guidelines issued by the Election Commission of India have got statutory force and have to be followed by all concerned officials as the statue does not require expressly, an officer appointed thereunder, as to who has duty or power coupled with duty to take action and the Court has no power to mandate as to who can do so.

It is vehemently argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India that Section 125A clearly provides penal measure for filing affidavit giving false information or concealing information. The circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India providing procedure to deal with the complaint of violation of Section 33-A, shall, therefore, prevail and the concerned officer of the district concerned namely the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi would be justified in making enquiry.

The contention is that the District Election Officer of the District concerned and the Chief Electoral Officer of the State are the officers designated or nominated by the Election Commission India in accordance with Section 13A and Section 13AA of the Representation of People Act, 1950 (In short as "the R.P. Act, 1950") and they are the officers permanently deputed by the Election Commission of India to coordinate and supervise all work in connection with the preparation, revision and correction of all electoral rolls in the State, all parliamentary, assembly and council constituencies within the district; respectively. Sub-section (4) of Section 13AA has been placed before us to argue that the District Election Officer is authorized to perform such other functions as entrusted to him by the Election Commission and the Chief Electoral Officer. It is urged that the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirathu, Kaushambi had initiated enquiry by issuance of the notices under challenge, calling upon the petitioner to submit his explanation under the directions issued by the District Election Officer. No plausible objection with regard to the jurisdiction of the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, the respondent no. 4 can be taken in view of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India.

13. It is argued by the learned counsels for the respondents that in view of the direction issued by the Madras High Court in B. Ramamoorthy (supra), the explanation of the candidate/petitioner herein against whom the complaint was filed was required to be called, in order to complete the enquiry, to decide as to whether the criminal complaint under Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951 is to be lodged against the candidate/petitioner herein.

It is further argued that the notices under challenge are merely show cause notices which do not threaten or contemplate any penal action. They are the notice simplicitor calling for the explanation of the petitioner failing which ex-parte action will be taken. No prejudice has been caused to the petitioner nor any legal right of the petitioner has been violated by issuance of the notices. Nothing has been stated by the petitioner in the writ petition about the merits of the allegations made in the complaint. In view of the decision of the Apex Court on the subject, the disclosure on affidavit was important and needed to be there. It was made important to see that no person having criminal antecedents escape the notice of the voters who have a right to take an informed decision having knowledge of the background of the candidate. It is argued that in the enquiry instituted by the Election Commission, the petitioner was called upon to submit her explanation with a view to avoid harassment and prejudice to her because of any exparte decision. The mode of enquiry adopted by the Election Commission of India, in any case, cannot be challenged.

14. The submissions made by Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India about the power and jurisdiction of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi as also the District Election Officer and the Chief Electoral Officer to conduct enquiry in the matter have been adopted by the learned Chief Standing Counsel appearing on their behalf.

15. In sum and substance, the arguments of both the learned counsel for the respondents are that the impugned notices cannot be quashed for the reason that it is mandated by the R.P. Act, 1951 that in case of any false affidavit within the meaning of Section 125A(i) to (iii), penal action has to be initiated against the candidate concerned.

16. Considering the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record, we find that the controversy revolves around Section 33A and Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951 which had been introduced by Act No. 72 of 2002 w.e.f. 24.8.2002. Sub-section (1) of Section 33A casts an obligation upon a candidate to furnish the information as required under Clause (i) and (ii), as the case may be, in his nomination paper delivered under sub-section (1) of Section 33, about his criminal antecedents, if any. Section 125A provides for penal action for failure on the part of the candidate in furnishing information relating to sub-section (1) of Section 33-A, for giving a false information which he knows or has a reason to believe to be false; or concealment of any information, in his nomination paper delivered under sub-section (1) of Section 33 or in his affidavit which is required to be delivered under sub-section (2) of Section 33-A, as the case may be.

17. Before proceeding further, we would like to go, in brief, to the legislative history for insertion of the aforesaid two provisions in the Representation of People Act, 1951.

A question arose before the Apex Court in Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms (supra) as to whether, before casting votes, voters have a right to know relevant particulars of their candidates. While deliberating on the issue, it was held therein that the right to get information in democracy is recognised all throughout and it is natural right flowing from the concept of democracy. Under our Constitution, Article 19(1)(a) provides for freedom of speech and expression. Voters' speech or expression in case of election would include casting of votes, that is to say that voter speaks out or expresses by casting his vote. For this purpose, information about the candidate to be selected is a must. Voter's right to know antecedents including criminal past of his candidate contesting election for representation of people in the Parliament or Legislative Assembly is much more fundamental and basic for survival of democracy.

18. Considering the legal and constitutional position with regard to elections and the role of the Election Commission of India, it was held therein that the jurisdiction of the Election Commission of India is wide enough to include all powers necessary for smooth conduct of elections and the word "elections" is used in a wide sense to include the entire process of election which consists of several stages and embraces many steps. The limitation on plenary character of power is when the Parliament or State Legislature has made a valid law relating to or in connection with elections, the Commission is required to act in conformity with the said provisions. In case where law is silent, Article 324 is a reservoir of power to act for the avowed purpose of having free and fair election. The Constitution has taken care of leaving scope for exercise of residuary power by the Commission in its own right as a creature of the Constitution in its infinite variety of situations that may emerge from time to time in a large democracy, as every contingency could not be foreseen or anticipated by the enacted laws or the rules. By issuing necessary directions, the Commission can fill the vacuum till there is legislation on the subject.

The Election Commission of India was directed therein to call for information on affidavit by issuing necessary order in exercise of its power under Article 324 of the Constitution of India from each candidate seeking election to Parliament or a State Legislature as a necessary part of his nomination paper, furnishing therein information on the following aspects:-

"(1) Whether the candidate is convicted/acquitted/discharged of any criminal offence in the past, if any, whether he is punished with imprisonment or fine.

(2) Prior to six months of filing of nomination, whether the candidate is accused in any pending case, of any offence punishable with imprisonment for two years or more, and in which charge is framed or cognizance is taken by the Court of law. If so, the details thereof.

(3) The assets (immovable, movable, bank balances etc.) of a candidate and of his/her spouse and that of dependants.

(4) Liabilities, if any, particularly whether there are any over dues of any public financial institution or Government dues.

(5) The educational qualifications of the candidate."

It was concluded that the Election Commission of India has from time to time issued instructions/orders to meet the situation where the field is unoccupied by the legislation. Hence, the norms and modalities to carry out and give effect to the aforesaid directions should be drawn up properly by the Election Commission as early as possible.

After the said decision of the Apex Court dated 2nd May, 2022, the Act No. 72 of 2002 for insertion of Section 33A and Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951 was promulgated.

19. The validity of the Representation of the People (Amendment) Ordinance, 2002 promulgated by the President of India on 24.8.2002 was subjected to challenge before the Apex Court in People's Union For Civil Liberties (PUCL) and another vs. Union of India and another. It was observed therein that the foundation of a healthy democracy is to have well-informed citizens-voters. The reason to have right of information with regard to the antecedents of the candidate is that voter can judge and decide in whose favour he should cast his vote. It is voter's discretion whether to vote in favour of an illiterate or literate candidate. It is his choice whether to elect a candidate against whom criminal cases for serious or non-serious charges were filed but is acquitted or discharged. He is to consider whether his candidate may or may not have sufficient assets so that he may not be tempted to indulge in unjustified means for accumulating wealth. In any case, for having free and fair election, information to voters is a necessity. It was further held that the right to information provided for by Parliament under Section 33A in regard to the pending criminal cases and past involvement in such cases is reasonably adequate to safeguard the right to information vested in the voters/citizen. However, there is no good reason for excluding the pending cases in which cognizance has been taken by the Court from the ambit of disclosure.

It was finally held that the Apex in the case of Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms (supra) has determined the ambit of fundamental right of information to a voter.

In Resurgence India vs. Election Commission of India and another (supra), the prayer was to issue specific directions to effectuate meaningful implementation of the judgments rendered by this Court in Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms (supra) and People's Union for Civil Liberties (PUCL) (supra) by issuing directions to the respondents/Commission to make it compulsory for the Returning Officers to ensure that the affidavits filed by the contestants are complete in all respects and to reject the affidavits having blank particulars.

While deliberating, the Apex Court had noted the observations made in its earlier judgment in Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms (supra) about the right of voter and information which could be asked by the Commission from the candidates to maintain the purity of elections and in particular to bring transparency in the process of election. It was noted that in order to recognize the ultimate right of the voter to know full particulars of a candidate who is to represent him in the Parliament or the State Legislature, Section 33A of the R.P. Act was enacted by Act no. 72 of 2002 with effect from 24.08.2002. The purpose of the Act no. 72 of 2002 was to effectuate the right contemplated in Union of India vs. Association for Democratic Reforms (supra). It was mandated for all the candidates to disclose their criminal antecedents under Section 33A by filing an affidavit as prescribed along with the nomination paper filed under Section 33(1) of the R.P. Act so that the citizens must be aware of the criminal antecedents of the candidate before they can exercise their freedom of choice by casting of votes as guaranteed under the Constitution of India. As a result, at present, every candidate is obligated to file an affidavit with relevant information with regard to his criminal antecedents, assets and liabilities and educational qualifications. The ultimate purpose of filing of affidavit along with the nomination paper is to effectuate the fundamental right of the citizen under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution of India. It was held that when a candidate files affidavit with blank particulars, it renders the affidavit itself nugatory.

While dealing with the power of the Returning Officer to reject the nomination paper at the time of scrutiny, it was held that paragraph '73' of the decision in the judgment of People's Union For Civil Liberties (PUCL) (supra) nowhere contemplates a situation where it bars the Returning Officer to reject the nomination paper on account of filing affidavit with particulars left blank. It was clarified that the observations made in the said paragraph will not come in the way of the Returning Officer to reject the nomination paper if the said affidavit is filed with blank columns. Noticing Section 125A of the R.P. Act, it was further held that filing of affidavit with blank space will be directly hit by Section 125A(i) of the R.P. Act. It was finally held that it is the duty of the Returning Officer to check whether the information required is fully furnished at the time of filing of affidavit with the nomination paper since such information is very vital for giving effect to the right to know of the citizens. If a candidate fails to fill the blanks even after the reminder by the Returning Officer, the nomination paper is fit to be rejected. It was further observed that the power of the Returning Officer to reject the nomination papers must be exercised very sparingly but the bar should not be laid so high that the justice itself is prejudiced.

20. Noticing the above decisions, we may record that the Representation of People Act, 1951 is a complete Code for the conduct of elections by the Election Commission of India in accordance with Article 324 of the Constitution which provides for superintendence, direction, control of the Commission for conduct of elections to Parliament and to the Legislature of every State. The jurisdiction of the Election Commission of India is wide enough to issue directions/orders/circulars, whether by specific or a general order, for smooth conduct of elections, in its plenary character of power under Article 324 of the Constitution of India for the avowed purpose of having free and fair election. There is no limitation on the power of the Election Commission of India except in case of a valid law in relation to or in connection with election made by the Parliament or the State Legislature where in such cases, the Commission is required to act in conformity with the said provisions. The Commission in its own right as a creature of the Constitution may issue orders/directions to deal with variety of situations that may emerge from time to time in the conduct of elections as every contingency cannot be foreseen or anticipated by the enacted law or the Rules.

21. In its own right and having jurisdiction to deal with the complaint relating to filing of false affidavit in Form-26, the Election Commission of India had issued the Circular dated 24th August, 2021 addressed to the Chief Electoral Officers of all States/Union Territories reiterating the Press Note dated 16.6.2020 that each complaint received for filing a false affidavit by the candidate in Form-26, shall be dealt with on case-to-case basis and the matter be referred to the competent Investigating Officer for further action after taking cognizance of the said complaint.

Paragraph '3' of the said circular extracts para 6.6.1 of the Returning Officer handbook, which contains the directions as to how the Returning Officer would deal with the objections/complaints while making scrutiny of the nomination paper.

Paragraph '4' of the circular extracts Paragraph '13' of the decision of the Madras High Court dated 14.7.2021 (B. Ramamoorthy vs. the Chief Election Commission of India), as relied by the learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India.

Paragraph '5', however, deals with the situation where the complaint of false affidavit has been received after completion of the nomination exercise.

Relevant paragraph '5' of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 is to be extracted hereunder:-

"5. नाम-निर्देशन प्रक्रिया के बाद गलत शपथ-पत्र की किसी शिकायत पर निम्नलिखित तरीके से कार्रवाई की जानी चाहिए:-

(1) किसी पर्याप्त दस्तावेज/साक्ष्य के बिना गलत शपथ-पत्र की शिकायत उचित आदेश के साथ उपयुक्त रूप से निपटाई जानी चाहिए तथा यह सुझाव भी दिया जाना चाहिए कि यदि जरूरत हो तो वे सक्षम न्यायालय से स्वयं सम्पर्क कर सकते हैं/ सकती हैं।

(II) समर्थक दस्तावेज/साक्ष्य के साथ प्रस्तुत गलत शपथ-पत्र की शिकायत राज्य/संघ राज्य क्षेत्र के सीईओ को संदर्भित की जाएगी, जो जांच के उपरांत मामले में आयोग के निर्देशों के अनुसार कार्य करेगा।

(III) समर्थक दस्तावेज की जांच के बाद, सीईओ गंभीर चूक या कृत्य वाले ऐसे मामलों को मामला-दर-मामला आधार पर आयोग को भेजेंगे जिनमें वे आयोग के निदेश प्राप्त करना उचित समझेंगे।

(IV) 5(ii) और 5(iii) के मामला में, शिकायतकर्ता से यह सुस्पष्ट रूप से कहते हुए एक शपथ-पत्र दायर करने के लिए कहा जाएगा कि उसकी शिकायत और उसके साथ संलग्न किए गए समर्थक दस्तावेजों में किए गए सभी प्रकथन सही और वास्तविक हैं।

(V) सीईओ द्वारा इस तरह अग्रेषित किए गए संदर्भों को मामला-दर-मामला आधार पर कार्रवाई की जाएगी और आयोग उन मामलों को पूछताछ/टिप्पणियों के लिए उपयुक्त प्राधिकारी को भेज सकता है।"

22. In the last para of the circular, the direction is that the Chief Election Officers shall bring the aforesaid guidelines to the notice of the District Election Officers and Returning Officers for their guidance. There cannot be a dispute that the circular having statutory flavour was required strict compliance by all these officers.

23. A careful reading of Clause '5' extracted above, indicates that after completion of the Nomination exercise, on receipt of the complaint of filing false affidavit, if filed with the supporting documents/evidence, the said complaint shall be forwarded to the Chief Electoral Officer of the State who after making an enquiry into the documentary evidences shall send the matter to the Election Commission on case-to-case basis and the direction of the Commission be sought in such cases. It also states that on the complaint filed with the supporting documents/evidence, the complainant shall be asked to file his affidavit deposing therein that all the averments in the complaint and the enclosed supporting documents were true and correct. It further provides that in all such cases forwarded to the Commission by the Chief Electoral Officer, the proceeding shall be conducted on case-to-case basis and the Commission may send the matter to call for the report/comment of the appropriate officer.

24. Having noted the directions contained in Clause 5 of the circular dated 24th August, 2021, it seems to us that the said circular had been issued as a guideline to the District Election Officers and the Returning Officers to deal with the complaints of filing false affidavit in Form-26 received by them during the nomination exercise and after the nomination exercise is over, but during the course of the election.

25. Insistence of the learned Senior Counsel for the Election Commission of India, however, is that the said guideline will operate even in case of any complaint received after the elections are over, as Section 125-A merely provides penal measures for filing affidavit giving false information or concealing information and it nowhere confers duty or power to a particular authority/officer to take any action.

26. The submission is that the above noted circular issued by the Election Commission of India to all the Chief Electoral Officers of all States and Union Territories, being the guidelines issued by the Election Commission of India has got statutory force and has to be followed by all the concerned officials, in absence of any other statutory provision holding the field. It was further argued that while making enquiry, it was incumbent upon the concerned officer to issue notice to the candidate against whom the complaint is made, in view of the directions issued by the Madras High Court in its judgment and order dated 14.7.2021, as extracted in paragraph '4' of the said circular.

The contention, thus, is that the action of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi in issuing notices to the petitioner to call for his explanation cannot be said to suffer from any error of law.

27. Before deliberating on the action of the officers in the present case, certain statutory provisions laying down the powers and duty of three officers, relevant for us, are to be taken note of. The Chief Electoral Officer is an officer appointed under Section 13A of the R.P. Act, 1950, who is an officer of the Government, designated or nominated by the Election Commission in consultation with the Government concerned. He acts under the superintendence, direction and control of the Election Commission and the work and duty assigned to him under sub-section (2) of Section 13-A is to supervise the preparation, revision and correction of all electoral rolls in the State under the R.P. Act, 1950. As per Section 20 of the R.P. Act, 1951, the general duties of the Chief Electoral Officer is to supervise the conduct of all elections in the State. The District Election Officer is a designated or nominated officer of the Government of the State in accordance with the Section 13-AA of the R.P. Act, 1950, who acts under the superintendence, direction and control of the Chief Electoral Officer to coordinate and supervise all work in the District or in the area within his jurisdiction in connection with the preparation and revision of the electoral rolls.

28. As per the R.P. Act, 1951, the general duties of the District Election Officer is to coordinate and supervise all work in connection with the conduct of all elections to Parliament and the Legislature of the State, in the district or in the area within his jurisdiction. The District Election Officer shall also perform such other functions as may be entrusted to him by the Election Commission and the Chief Electoral Officer.

29. The Returning Officer as per Section 21 of the R.P. Act, 1951 is an officer of Government or of a local authority, designated or nominated by the Election Commission in consultation with the Government of the State. The general duty of the Returning Officer at any election is to do all such acts and things as may be necessary for effectually conducting the election in the manner provided by the Act and Rules or Orders made thereunder.

30. Section 28A of the R.P. Act, 1951 provides that the Returning Officer including the Assistant Returning Officer appointed under Part IV for the conduct of elections shall be deemed to be on deputation to the Election Commission for the period commencing on and from the date of the notification calling for such election and ending with the date of declaration of the results of such election and accordingly, such officer shall, during that period, be subject to the control, superintendence and discipline of the Election Commission.

31. From the above provisions, it is evident that though the Chief Electoral Officer and the District Election Officers are designated or nominated officers for preparation, revision and correction of electoral rolls and their work as per their designation or nomination is perpetual in nature but the appointment of the Returning Officer under Section 21 of the R.P. Act, 1951 Act has a shelf-life, as he is on deputation to the Election Commission for the period of election from the date of notification for election till the date of declaration of the result. It is settled that the "election" commences from the initial notification and culminates in the declaration of the return of a candidate, Section 28A of the Representation of the People Act provides that the Returning Officer is an officer appointed under the said Act on deputation for the conduct of election during the period commencing on and from the date of the notification calling for such election and ending with the date of declaration of the results of such election. In view of the clear language of the aforesaid provisions, with the declaration of the result, the Returning Officer becomes functus officio and cannot act in any of the matter relating to or concerning the elections.

It seems that for this reason, in the circular dated 24th August, 2021, the direction to make inquiry in the matter of filing of false affidavit during the nomination process though was given to the Returning Officer, but once the nomination exercise is over, such complaints are directed to be referred to the Chief Electoral Officer, who is required to seek instructions from the Election Commission. The District Election Officer, who acts under the superintendence, direction and control of the Chief Electoral Officer is also required to refer/forward the complaint to the Chief Electoral Officer in view of Clause 5 of the Circular.

32. Though there is no clarity in the circular dated 24th August, 2021 as to whether the procedure provided therein for dealing with such complaints of filing false affidavit in Form-26, in para '5', would also apply to the complaints received even after conclusion of the election, i.e. after the declaration of the result, but in view of the stand of the Commission as asserted by the learned Senior Counsel appearing on its behalf, it is evident that any complaint of false affidavit received by any other officer after the nomination exercise is over, is required to be referred to the Chief Electoral Officer, if such a complaint is supported by some document/evidence. The Chief Electoral Officer further shall be required to make a scrutiny of the supporting evidence/documents and shall ask for the affidavit of the complainant before forwarding the complaint to the Election Commission. Clause 5(v) of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 (which is statutory in character), clearly provides that such forwarded complaints shall be dealt by the Election Commission on case-to-case basis and the Commission may seek comments of the appropriate officer while dealing with the complaint.

33. In the instant case, as against the procedure laid down by the Election Commission in the above noted circular itself, on receipt of the complaint of a person named as Dileep Patel, whose identity cannot be ascertained from the description in the complaint, in the office of the District Election Officer, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi had issued the notice dated 18.5.2022. Another complaint of Omkar Nath Gautam dated 20.5.2022 was also addressed to the District Election Officer, Kaushambi. The second notice dated 25th May, 2022 though does not refer to the second complaint but the third notice dated 3rd June, 2022 issued by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi shows that the second complaint dated 20.5.2022 was also forwarded to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi by the District Magistrate/District Election Officer, Kaushambi. The Sub-Divisional Magistrate, who was the Returning Officer in the elections to the Member of Legislative Assembly held in February and March, 2022, had no jurisdiction to deal with the complaints after the nomination exercise much less after the election was over. The action of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi in forwarding the complaints to the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi instead of referring the complaints to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., is in clear violation of Clause 5(ii) of the circular dated 24th August, 2021 issued by the Election Commission of India. Both the notices dated 18th May, 2022 and 25th May, 2022 are, thus, liable to be set aside being outcome of an illegal action of the District Election Officer/the District Magistrate, Kaushambi.

34. As regards the third notice dated 3rd June, 2022, we find that the said notice was issued as a reminder to the two previous notices dated 18.5.2022 and 25.5.2022 issued by the Returning Officer namely the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi who had no jurisdiction to make any enquiry in the matter. It was argued by the learned counsels for the respondents that the third notice dated 3rd June, 2022 was issued pursuant to the letter dated 17th May, 2022 of the Election Commission of India directing the Chief Electoral Officer to initiate proceeding in accordance with the circular dated 24.8.2021. The Chief Electoral Officer, as such, cannot be said to have committed any mistake in forwarding the complaint to the District Election Officer, his subordinate officer to make the enquiry. The District Election Officer in his own administrative capacity directed the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, who was the Returning Officer to make enquiry into the complaint following the circular dated 24.8.2021.

35. The arguments of the learned counsels for the respondents suffer from inherent fallacy. The letter dated 17th May, 2022 of the Election Commission addressed to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. simply says that the complaint was to be examined and the proceeding be conducted in accordance with the directions contained in the circular dated 24.8.2021. Meaning thereby, once the complaint was sent to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., he was required to follow the procedure prescribed in Clause '5' of the aforesaid circular, the first step as per Clause 5(ii) to examine was as to whether the complaint was supported by documents/evidence so as to entertain it. The second step was to examine the supporting documents and third to summon the complainant to file his affidavit in support of the complaint and the supporting documents deposing that the contents thereof are true and correct. Only after completion of these three steps in the scrutiny of the genuineness of the complaint, at the ends of the Chief Electoral Officer, the matter was required to be forwarded to the Election Commission with his report in accordance with Clause 5(iv). While making such enquiry/scrutiny, it was, however, open for the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. to delegate the matter to the District Election Officer to make the necessary enquiry at the District Level and to submit his report. In any case, in the process of scrutiny of the complaint in accordance with Clause '5' of the circular issued by the Election Commission, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sirathu, Kaushambi or the Returning Officer had no role to play.

36. In light of the above, a perusal of the letter dated 26th May, 202 of the Chief Electoral Officer shows that he had directed the District Election Officer, Kaushambi to make an enquiy in accordance with the directions contained in the circular dated 24.8.2021 and submit his report. The appropriate action of the District Magistrate, Kaushambi/the District Election Officer, Kaushambi should have been to go through the circular and make an enquiry on three points as per Clause 5(ii), (iii), (iv) of the circular and submit his report to the Chief Electoral Officer. Instead of making enquiry/scrutiny in accordance with the directions contained in the Circular issued by the Election Commission, the District Magistrate, Kaushambi/the District Election Officer had forwarded the complaint to the Returning Officer, in a casual manner, by misreading the directions contained in the Circular dated 24th August, 2021. The District Magistrate/the District Election Officer has, thus, committed a glaring illegality in directing the Returning Officer/the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirathu, Kaushambi to deal with the complaint. The notice dated 3rd June, 2022 issued by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sirathu, Kausuambi being the result of illegal action of the District Magistrate/the District Election Officer, Kaushambi is liable to be set aside.

The contention of the learned counsels for the respondents that the said notice had been issued under the directions of the Election Commission of India by the letter dated 17th May, 2022 is found misconceived and hence liable to be rejected.

37. It is, however, kept open for the Election Commission of India to make an enquiry so as to satisfy itself as to whether the allegations in the two complaints make out a case for institution of the proceedings for imposing penalty for filing false affidavit under Section 125A of the R. P. Act, 1951. The said enquiry, in the instant case, has to be conducted by an officer not below the rank of the Deputy Election Commissioner.

38. As from the undated complaint filed by one Dileep Patel, it is not possible to ascertain the identity of the complainant and the allegation in the writ petition is that three persons named as Dileep Patel, the electors of the constituency, had given affidavits to the District Election Officer, Kaushambi that they did not file any complaint against the petitioner, an enquiry into the genuineness of both the complaints allegedly filed by one Dileep Patel and another Omkar Nath Gautam is to be conducted so as to first ascertain the genuineness/veracity of the complaints, before initiating any further action upon the complaints. It goes without saying that once the identity of the complainants is determined, the complainants be asked to file their own affidavits in support of their complaints and only after completing the procedure as prescribed in Clause '5' of the circular dated 24th August, 2021, the matter be proceeded with by the Deputy Election Commissioner.

39. In the said enquiry into the genuineness of the complaints, it would be open for the Deputy Election Commissioner to ask for the assistance of the Chief Electoral Officer, who in turn, in his administrative capacity, may ask the District Election Officer to make enquiry into the identity of the complainants and submit his report. In that case, the Chief Electoral Officer shall forward his report to the Deputy Election Commission, without making any further efforts to enquire on the merits of the complaints.

40. In case, the Deputy Election Commissioner reaches at the conclusion that there is substance in the complaints, he may call for the relevant records to record his prima facie satisfaction on the merits of the complaints, to propose penal action against the petitioner and in that eventuality, the petitioner be given an opportunity to show cause through a notice and action for lodging of the complaint under Section 125A of the R.P. Act, 1951 can only be taken after consideration of the explanation of the petitioner. A reasoned and speaking order in accordance with law shall be passed for bringing the matter to its logical conclusion.

With the above observations and directions, the writ petition is disposed of.

Bearing in mind said amendment has been sought to be made in the Third schedule appended to Section 6(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955 pertaining to qualification for naturalisation whereby w.e.f. 3.12.2004 by virtue of Act no.6 of 2004, the pre-requisite condition to renounce the citizenship of a foreign country has been dispensed with and its place undertaking to renounce the citizenship has been engrafted.

As per the amendment of the Third schedule appended to Section 6(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955 the pre-requisite condition for renouncing the citizenship of a foreign country has been dispensed with hence only filing of an application for grant of citizenship by naturalisation with undertaking to renounce the citizenship of the foreign country, in the event of application for Indian citizenship being accepted, would suffice. 10. In the meantime, in pursuance of the Rule 15(1) and 16(1) of the Citizenship Rules, 2009, the Government of India, Ministry of Home-affairs issued certificate of nationalisation.

11. It has further come on record that on 6.11.2019, the respondent no.1 issued a letter to the respondent no.3 returning the papers so transmitted by respondent 3 to respondent no.1 off line while asking the respondent no.3 to again remit papers by on line mode. However, on 29.1.2021 a decision has been taken by the respondent no.1 marking it to respondent no.3 providing as under:-

"The Secretary (Home)
Government of Uttar Pradesh
Subject:-Grant of Indian Citizenship by registration/naturalisation under Section 6(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955 case of Sh. Giri Kristian Csiszar a Finland national.
Madam/Sir,
In reference to the MHA File No.2015080133 Dated 08/04/2015 and this Ministry's Acceptance letter dated 15/12/2016 on the above subject, on the scrutiny it has been found that the following documents have not been made available:-
(i) The applicant has submitted a letter from the Finnish Immigration Service dated 14/06/2018 along with its English version instead of renunciation certificate. As per English version of the letter, Finnish Immigration Service has decided to release the applicant from Finnish citizenship as of the date when he receives Indian Citizenship. This decision will enter into force only if the applicant, within two years from the entry into force of this decision, presents Finnish Immigration Service with proof of receipt of Indian citizenship. Finnish Immigration service will issue a certificate of compliance with the condition.
(ii) As per English version of the Finnish Immigration Services letter referred above, the applicant will remain citizen of Finland till the Indian citizenship is granted whereas the applicant was asked to renounce his present nationality vide this Ministrys Acceptance letter No.26018/133/2015-IC.II dated 15.12.2016. He has also given his country in the event of his application being sanctioned. Moreover, the Constitution of India does not allow dual citizenship. Hence renunciation certificate is mandatory to furnish. If the applicant fails to submit renunciation certificate, whereby his foreign nationality has clearly been ceased within six months from the date of issue of this letter, his citizenship application will be liable to be rejected.
The State Government is requested to get the above information/documents uploaded online.
This Ministry's file number given above may be cited invariably in all future correspondence.
Yours faithfully
Ashutosh Anand
Under Secretary/Assistant Secretary"

12. On 10.3.2021 the respondent no.1 has again sent letter to the respondent no.3 further providing is as under:-

"To,
The Secretary
Government of Uttar Pradesh
Home (Visa-2) Department
Lucknow-226001
Subject:- Grant of Indian Citizenship by Naturalization under section 6(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955-case of MAKSYMLARCHENKO s/o VLADIMIR LARCHENKO, an Ukraine national.
Sir,
I am directed to refer to the State Government's letter No.114/6-Visa-32020-10M/18 dated 09/07/2020 on the subject cited above.
2. The Government of India has decided to register the above mentioned applicants as a citizen of India under Section of the Citizenship Act, 1955 keeping in view of the verification of eligibility and suitability and recommendation made by the State Government vide letter referred to above. The applicant would be formally registered as a citizen of India subject to fulfillment of the following requirements:-

(i) The applicant may be asked to renounce his present nationality by making an application to the concerned Mission of his country in India in accordance with the law of the country.

(ii) If Renunciation Certificate has not been issued by the Embassy in case of expired passport the applicant may file an Affidavit before the authority prescribed under Rule 38 of the Citizenship Rules 2009 that may be considered in lieu of Renunciation Certificate. The applicant (s) have to deposit their expired Passport to Collector/district Magistrate/Deputy Commissioner Office with other documents in terms of the Ministry's letter No.26030/266/2014-IC.II dated 17.11.2014.

(iii) Deposit the fee prescribed for such registration viz. Rs.100/- Per application creditable to the Ministry of Home-Affairs receipt head no.0070-Other Administrative Services-Other Services-receipt under Citizenship Act in the State Bank of India through treasury Challan which will be adjustable by the Pay & Accounts Officer, Ministry of Home-Affairs or deposit the fee through e-payment options available on the citizenship website "http://indiancitizenshiponline.nic.in.

3. The documentary evidences regarding renunciation of present foreign nationality may be obtained in original and uploaded against the online file of the applicant in online citizenship module. The applicant has to upload documents in support of payment of fee, and also upload photographs & signature and fill Form XII on MHA website http://indiancitizenshiponline.nic.in against his application file number. Originals of these documents have to be obtained from the applicant and filed in the office of the District Collector/Magistrate concerned for future reference."

13. A counter affidavit has been filed by respondent no. 1 and 2 sworn on 22.1.2022 wherein in paras 3 and 5 the following averments have been made:-

3. That his above application was received in the Ministry through the State Government of Uttar Pradesh. The Ministry examined his aforementioned application and issued in-principal Acceptance Letter dated 15.12.2016 and asked the applicant renouncing his present nationality, Fee Challan of Rs.13,750/-, From-XII of Schedule I to the Citizenship Rules, 2009, three copies of recent passport size colored photographs (duly attested on the reverse by a Magistrate/Gazetted Officer) and three specimen signatures (or thumb impression) on a plain paper.

5. That it is to state dual citizenship is not allowed in terms of Article 9 of the Constitution of India read with Section 9 of the Citizenship Act, 1955. In terms of Rule 10 of the Citizenship Rules, 2009 applicant gives an undertaking in writing that he shall renounce the citizenship of his country in the event of his application being sanctioned. The applicant has also declared vide para 21 of his citizenship application that he shall renounce the citizenship of his country in the event of his application being sanctioned. Therefore, the applicant has to submit renunciation certificate whereby his foreign nationality has clearly ceased.

14. On 29.11.2021 this Court while entertaining the present writ petition proceeded to pass the following orders:-

"The petitioner is a citizen of Finland and is residing at Mathura since long. He has moved an application for grant of Indian citizenship in which he has made a solemn declaration of his intention to make India a permanent home and has also undertaken to renounce the citizenship of his previous country, in the event, such application is sanctioned. The application has remained pending for several years. The respondents, however, have called upon the petitioner to renounce his citizenship of earlier nationality and unless such renunciation certificate is furnished, his application shall be rejected.

Learned counsel for the petitioner points out the application Form, dated 9.4.2015, in which the declaration required by virtue of clause 8, only requires the intend to renounce the citizenship of previous country when Indian citizenship is sanctioned. It is submitted that the format contained under the Citizenship Act, 1955 itself takes care of renunciation of citizenship of the previous country, if the citizenship is offered in India and, therefore, the insistence on part of authorities to renounce the citizenship of earlier country as a precondition for consideration of his application for grant of citizenship, is wholly arbitrary. It is also urged that if the respondents' instructions were followed, the petitioner would seize to be a national of any country and that is not the intend of law.

Prima facie, we find substance in the contention advanced by the petitioner. In view of the clear recital of the petitioner's intend to renounce the citizenship of Finland, if his application for grant of Indian citizenship is accepted, there appears to be no further requirement of offering renunciation of citizenship at this stage.

Sri Arvind Nath Agarwal, counsel appearing for Union of India and the concerned authorities shall obtain instructions from the respondents, who shall be at liberty to revisit the matter in the light of the above observations and the provisions of law.

Post as fresh once against on 20th December, 2021. "

15. Heard Sri Vineet Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Arvind Nath Agrawal, learned counsel for the respondents no. 1 and 2 and learned Standing Counsel for the respondents no. 3 to 5.

16. The core question, which needs to be adjudicated in the present proceedings, is with regard to the fact as to whether for the purposes of processing and grant of citizenship by naturalisation, the applicant (foreign national) in order to be a citizen of India has to renounce the citizenship of the country which he possessed at the time of filing of the application for grant of citizenship by naturalisation or not and whether an undertaking to renounce the citizenship of the foreign country in the event of his application for Indian citizenship being submitted processed.

17. In order to delve into the said issue, the relevant statutory provisions are at least need to be noticed.

18. The Parliament in exercise of his powers so conferred therein enacted an Act by the name in the nomenclature of the Act of 1955 which received the assent of the President on 30.12.1955 in order to provide for classification and determination of Indian citizenship.

19. Section 3 of the Act of 1955 provides for citizenship by birth, Section 4 citizenship by descent, Section 5 citizenship by registration followed by citizenship by naturalisation Section 6-A special provisions as to citizenship of persons covered by the Assam Accord, 6-B special provisions as to citizenship of person covered by proviso to clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 2 and Section 7 citizenship by incorporation of territory etc.

20. So far as the present controversy is concerned, the same revolves around citizenship by naturalisation contained under Section 6 of the 1995 Act which reads as under:-

"6. Citizenship by naturalisation.—(1) Where an application is made in the prescribed manner by any person of full age and capacity 3 [not being an illegal migrant] for the grant of a certificate of naturalisation to him, the Central Government may, if satisfied that the applicant is qualified for naturalisation under the provisions of the Third Schedule, grant to him a certificate of naturalisation:

Provided that, if in the opinion of the Central Government, the applicant is a person who has rendered distinguished service to the cause of science, philosophy, art, literature, world peace or human progress generally, it may waive all or any of the conditions specified in the Third Schedule.

(2) The person to whom a certificate of naturalisation is granted under sub-section (1) shall, on taking the oath of allegiance in the form specified in the Second Schedule, be a citizen of India by naturalisation as from the date on which that certificate is granted."

21. The Third Schedule under Section 6(1) of the 1995 Act provides for the qualifications for naturalisation which reads as under:-

THE THIRD SCHEDULE

Provided that the Central Government may, if in the special circumstances of any particular case it thinks fit,—

(i) allow a continuous period of twelve months ending not more than six months before the date of the application to be reckoned, for the purposes of clause (c) above, as if it had immediately preceded that date;

1. A copy of valid Foreign Passport.

2. A copy of valid Residential Permit.

3. []

4. One affidavit from self (applicant) and two affidavits from two Indians testifying to the character of the applicant in the prescribed language available in the application form.

5. Two language Certificates certifying the applicant's knowledge in any one of the Indian languages specified in the Eighth Schedule of the Constitution. (A language certificate from a recognized educational institutions or from a recognized organization or from two Indian citizens of the district of the applicant).

6. Two newspaper (circulating in the district in which the applicant resides) cuttings of different dates or of different newspapers notifying his intention to apply for citizenship in the prescribed language in the application form.

23. The word naturalisation which finds its presence in the Citizenship Act, 1955 was interpreted in the case of Rakesh Singh Vs. Sonia Gandhi 2011 (85) ALR 384 wherein this Court observed as under:-

11. Needless to mention that the naturalization is also a mode of acquiring citizenship like the "Green Card" in United States of America. The citizenship can finally be acquired either by having a "certificate of registration" or by a "certificate of naturalization", if the candidates fulfill the conditions of Section 5 or Section 6 of the Citizenship Act, 1955 as the case may. Naturalization is the mode for acquisition of the citizenship by somebody who was not a citizen of that country when he/she was born.

(a) As per the Oxford Dictionary the meaning of naturalization is "admit (a foreigner) to the citizenship of a country"; and

(b) as per the Law Lexicon (2nd Edition) the meaning of Naturalization is an act of adopting a foreigner, and clothing him with the privileges of a native citizen."

12. In general, basic requirement for naturalization is that the applicant hold a legal status as citizen of India provided he/she fulfills the required conditions including the stay for the minimum period of prescribed time and that the applicant promises to obey and uphold that country's laws, to which an oath or pledge of allegiance is sometimes added. Some countries also require that a naturalized national must renounce any other citizenship which he/she currently holds, forbidding dual citizenship, but whether this renunciation actually causes loss of the person's original citizenship will again depend on the laws of the countries involved.

13. The citizenship is traditionally based either on jus soli ("right of the territory"); or on jus sanguinis("right of blood"), although it now usually mixes both. Whatever the case may be, the massive increase in population flux due to globalization and the sharp increase in the number of migrants create an important class of non-citizen sometimes called denizens.

14. In India, Section 6 of the Citizenship Act, 1955 provides that where an application is made in the prescribed manner by any person of full age and capacity (not being an illegal migrant) for the grant of a certificate of naturalization to him, the Central Government may, if satisfied that the applicant is qualified for naturalization under the provisions of the Third Schedule, grant to him a certificate of naturalization. There is a separate form and procedure for applying the citizenship by naturalization as mentioned above.

15. In United State of America, the naturalization is also mentioned in the 14th Amendment. The Amendment states that " all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof shall be citizens of the United States and of the State in which they reside". To maintain the singular citizenship, the Naturalization Act, 1798 was passed in USA. Accordingly, in America, a foreigner can first of all have to acquire the "Green Card" (naturalization) and later full-fledged citizenship. Thus, the naturalization is one of the mode to acquire the citizenship. But in India, there is no such concept like "Green Card".

24. Needless to point out that neither Article 9 of the Constitution of India nor the provisions contained under the Citizenship Act, 1955 or the Citizenship Rules, 2009 contemplate a situation whereby whereinunder any person may not be citizen of any of the nation either the citizen of a foreign country or a citizen of a country where he seeks to be a citizen. Bearing in mind said amendment has been sought to be made in the Third schedule appended to Section 6(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955 pertaining to qualification for naturalisation whereby w.e.f. 3.12.2004 by virtue of Act no.6 of 2004, the pre-requisite condition to renounce the citizenship of a foreign country has been dispensed with and its place undertaking to renounce the citizenship has been engrafted.

25. Sri Vineet Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that the stands so taken by the respondents no. 1 and 2 on the basis of the letter dated 29.1.2021 issued by the respondent no.1 addressed to respondent no.3 that renunciation of foreign country is prerequisite for processing and grant of citizenship by naturalisation is contrary to the statutory enactment inasmuch as as per the Third Schedule under Section 6(1) of 1995 Act relating to qualification for naturalisation, the Clause-(b) stood substituted w.e.f. 3.12.2004 as now in view of the aforesaid substitution the condition that if the applicant seeking citizenship by naturalisation he/she need not renounce the citizenship of the foreign country as in view of the amendment only an undertaking to renounce the citizenship of the foreign country is required in the event the application for Indian citizenship being accepted.

26. According to learned counsel for the petitioner once there is no requirement under law to have renounced the citizenship of a foreign country at the time of filing of an application for grant of citizenship by naturalisation then undertaking to renounce the citizenship of the foreign country, in the event of his application for Indian citizenship being accepted would suffice.

27. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further sought to argue that he has fulfilled all the formalities as required under law being in the shape of 1955 Act and 2009 Rules and thus the condition so imposed by virtue of the letter dated 29.1.2021 is not legal and sustainable and further backed by statutory enactment.

28. Learned counsel for the respondents no. 1 and 2 has argued on the strength of the averments contained in paragraph 3 and 5 of the counter affidavit so filed by him dated 22.2.2022 so as to contend that as per Article 9 of the Constitution of India read with Section 9 of the 1955 Act duel citizenship is not allowed. However, in view of Rule 10 of the 2009 Rules in case the petitioner gives an undertaken in writing that he shall renounce the citizenship of his country in the event his application being accepted, he would be granted citizenship of India in this regard.

29. Learned counsel for the petitioner in rejoinder has argued that petitioner has right from the very inception was maintaining the consistent stand that in case citizenship of India is being offered to him then he would renounce his citizenship of Finland and he had already completed formalities and submitted undertaking in this regard.

30. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn the attention of this Court towards the certificate issued by the Second Secretary Administration and Consular Affairs of Finland dated 29.12.2016 and of Inspector General Finnish Immigration service dated 14.6.2018 so as to contend that the petitioner would be released from Finnish citizenship as of the date when he gets Indian citizenship and the said decision will enter into force only if the petitioner within two years from the entry into force of the said decision presents Finnish Immigration service with an approval of receipt of Indian citizenship.

31. Learned counsel for the respondents no. 1 and 2 on the basis of the averments contained in paragraph 3 and 5 of the counter affidavit as well as instructions so received by him has not disputed the statutory provisions with respect to the grant of citizenship by naturalisation as contained under Section 6 of 1955 Act read with Third schedule appended to it in particular clause (b) which underwent amendment on 3.12.2004 whereby condition of renouncing of citizenship of foreign country stands dispensed with and in its place, stood substituted by the condition precedent being that the petitioner has to furnish undertaking to renounce the citizenship of the foreign country, in the event that the application for Indian citizenship being accpeted.

32. Learned counsel for the respondents no. 1 and 2 has further made a statement at bar that the present writ petition may be disposed of with a direction that the petitioner may approach the competent authority along with the certified copy of the order within a period of four weeks from today and complete necessary formalities so required theirin then the competent authority will consider the claim of the petitioner for garnt of citizenship of India within further period of three weeks in accordance with law.

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Birendra Pratap Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sudhir Kumar Singh

Civil Law - Essential Commodities Act, 1955- Section 3/7 - Fair Price Shop licensee- license of fair price shop cancelled-Appeal rejected- Right of subsequent allottee -Respondent No.6 has the right to hold shop only in case the license of the petitioner is cancelled.

Otherwise, she has no right with the dispute between the petitioner and the State. In the present case, a conditional license was given to the respondent No.6 which does not create any independent right in favour of respondent No.6 and, therefore, respondent No.6 cannot oppose the present writ petition. Mere participation of respondent no.6 at the appeal stage will also not confer any such legal right.

Settled law that mere grant of conditional license in favour of the subsequent allottee and her participation in the appeal cannot confer any independent right to her.

Civil Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 92- When the documentary evidence is available, oral statement cannot be relied - Sub Divisional Magistrate shows that he has wrongly relied upon the statements made by the villagers in the inquiry. On the basis of oral statements of some persons, he has held that stock registers are incorrect. The same cannot be held to be a proper procedure. Once, the oral statements against a documentary evidence is being relied upon by the authority concerned, it must specifically state the circumstance and the reason as to why the authority is proceeding to disbelieve the documentary evidence - In the entire judgment, there is no reference of the documents and reply submitted by the petitioner - The appellate court while referring to the submissions of the counsel for parties, without even considering the case of petitioner, has again relied upon the oral statements - The appellate court has also not given any reason as to why the appellate court has relied upon the oral statements against the documentary evidence. It merely states that there is no reason to interfere with the order of Sub Divisional Magistrate as there is a difference between the statement given by the villagers and the submissions and record submitted by the petitioner which is not believed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate. The same cannot be said to be a finding of facts in accordance with law. There is no consideration of the case of petitioner, again in the appellate order.

Where documentary evidence is available then it is incumbent upon the Authority to rely upon the same , instead of relying on the oral evidence hence, no finding of fact can be recorded by relying solely upon oral evidence and ignoring the documentary evidence. (Para 9, 13)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Chaudhary, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Abhishek Singh, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Birendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for respondent no. 1 to 5 and Mr. Sudhir Kumar Singh, learned counsel for respondent no.6.

2. The petitioner, who is a fair price shop licensee, has approached this Court challenging the order dated 03.10.2019 passed by respondent no.3, whereby her appeal is rejected, and order dated 31.01.2017 passed by respondent no.4 by which license of her fair price shop was cancelled.

3. Learned counsel for respondent no.6 claims that respondent no.6 was granted license after the license of petitioner was cancelled. He submits that he has a right to oppose the present writ petition as now he is holding a license for the area concerned. He further submits that petitioner could not have been granted the license as she is not competent to hold license and, thus, raised a preliminary objection.

4. Opposing the same, learned counsel for petitioner submits that respondent no.6 was granted permission only as an alternative arrangement, till the dispute with regard to license of the petitioner is decided. Reference is made to the letter dated 02.06.2016 of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Tehsil Mahsi whereby permission was granted to respondent No.6. Perusal of the said letter shows that the permission to respondent No.6 was granted in reference to Government Order dated 26.11.2016 in the public interest as an alternative arrangement which would be subject to decision of the appeal and in case the appellate authority decides the matter in favour of the petitioner, no claim of respondent No.6 would be accepted.

5. A bare perusal of the letter dated 02.06.2016 clearly demonstrates that respondent No.6 was granted permission to distribute the ration in the area concerned only as an alternative arrangement to petitioner whose license was in dispute at that time. The said letter itself clarifies that in case the claim of petitioner is accepted, the new allottee, respondent No.6, would not have any claim whatsoever. Therefore, from the reading of the said letter itself it is clear that respondent No.6 was granted permission to distribute ration only till the matter with regard to petitioner is decided. Learned counsel for respondent No.6 has referred to following judgments in support of his case:-

(i) Writ Petition No.24684 (M/S) of 2021; ''Smt. Gudiya Devi Vs. State of U.P. Thru. Principal Secretary Food and Civil Supplies Lko. & Ors, dated 27.10.2021;

(ii) Civil Appeal No.9363-9364 of 2014 Sumitra Devi Vs. State of U.P.; dated 08.10.2014

6. In the judgment passed in case of Sumitra Devi (supra), it is noted that, appellant in the case was a subsequent allottee as he was granted license on 20.02.2008. From the said judgment it is not clear as to whether the said license was a temporary license or an absolute. From the reading of the judgment it appears that the license was an absolute license granted in favour of the subsequent allottee and the license was not subject to the decision of the earlier allottee. Therefore, the facts of the said case, being different from the facts of the present case, are of no help to respondent No.6. Further, the Supreme Court was moved by the fact that subsequent allottee has filed an application for impleadment and without deciding the said impleadment application the High Court had finally decided the writ petition. In the said background the matter was remanded back. The Supreme Court while remanding the matter also stated "we make it clear that on merits of the case, we have expressed no opinion." Thus, the facts of the said case are of no help to respondent No.6.

7. So far as the judgment passed in case of Smt. Gudiya Devi (supra) is concerned, the same is absolutely silent with regard to rights of subsequent allottee. The said issue was not even raised before the Court. Since, no law is settled in case of Smt. Gudiya Devi (supra), the same is no help to respondent No.6.

8. On the other hand, learned counsel for petitioner has placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court passed in case of Poonam Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. Reported in (2016) 2 SCC 779. Paragraphs 49 to 53 are relevant for our purposes which read as follow:-

"49. In the instant case, Shop No. 2 had become vacant. The appellant was allotted the shop, may be in the handicapped quota but such allotment is the resultant factor of the said shop falling vacant. The original allottee, that is, the respondent, assailed his cancellation and ultimately succeeded in appeal. We are not concerned with the fact that the appellant herein was allowed to put her stand in the appeal. She was neither a necessary nor a proper party. The appellate authority permitted her to participate but that neither changes the situation nor does it confer any legal status on her. She would have continued to hold the shop had the original allottee lost the appeal. She cannot assail the said order in a writ petition because she is not a necessary party. It is the State or its functionaries who could have challenged the same in appeal. They have maintained sphinx like silence in that regard. Be that as it may, that would not confer any locus on the subsequent allottee to challenge the order passed in favour of the former allottee. She is a third party to the lis in this context.

50. The decisions which we have referred to hereinbefore directly pertain to the concept of necessary party. The case of Kailash Chand Mahajan [State of H.P. v. Kailash Chand Mahajan, 1992 Supp (2) SCC 351 : 1992 SCC (L&S) 874 : (1992) 21 ATC 528] makes it absolutely clear. We have explained the authority in J.S. Yadav [J.S. Yadav v. State of U.P., (2011) 6 SCC 570 : (2011) 2 SCC (L&S) 140] and opined that it has to rest on its own facts keeping in view the declaratory relief made therein, and further what has been stated therein cannot be regarded as a binding precedent for the proposition that in a case of removal or dismissal or termination, a subsequently appointed employee is a necessary party. The said principle shall apply on all fours to a fair price shop owner whose licence is cancelled. We may hasten to add, this concept will stand in contradistinction to a case where the land after having vested under any statute in the State has been distributed and possession handed over to different landless persons. It is because of such allotment and delivery of possession in their favour, that is required under the statute, rights are created in favour of such allottees and, therefore, they are necessary parties as has been held in Ram Swarup v. S.N. Maira [Ram Swarup v. S.N. Maira, (1999) 1 SCC 738] . The subtle distinction has to be understood. It does not relate to a post or position which one holds in a fortuitous circumstance. It has nothing to do with a vacancy. The land of which possession is given and the landless persons who have received the pattas and have remained in possession, they have a right to retain their possession. It will be an anarchical situation, if they are not impleaded as parties, whereas in a case which relates to a post or position or a vacancy, if he or she who holds the post because of the vacancy having arisen is allowed to be treated as a necessary party or allowed to assail the order, whereby the earlier post holder or allottee succeeds, it will only usher in the reverse situation -- an anarchy in law.

51. In this context, reference to the judgment in Ramesh Hirachand Kundanmal v. Municipal Corpn. of Greater Bombay [Ramesh Hirachand Kundanmal v. Municipal Corpn. of Greater Bombay, (1992) 2 SCC 524] would be fruitful. The two-Judge Bench was dealing with the concept of dominus litis which relates to the plaintiff. The Court analysed the provision contained in Order 1 Rule 10 and various sub-rules. The subject-matter in the case pertained to a dispute between the petitioner and Respondent 1 which centred on the demolition and unauthorised construction by the competent authority under the Bombay Municipal Act. Respondent 2 was the lessee in possession of the service station. The Municipal Corporation had not issued any notice to the said respondent. It was contended before the Court that Respondent 2 was instrumental in the initiation of the proceeding by the Municipal Corporation against him. The Court addressed to the issue whether the said respondent is a necessary or proper party. In the said case, the appellant had instituted a case against the third respondent for declaration that she was the lawfully married wife of the third respondent who had entered context and admitted the claim. An application for impleadment was sought by Respondents 1 and 2 on the ground that they were respectively the wife and son of the third respondent and they were interested in denying the appellant's status as wife and the children as the legitimate children of the third respondent. The trial court had allowed the application and the said order was confirmed by the High Court in its revisional jurisdiction.

52. This Court referred to the authority in Razia Begumv.Anwar Begum[Razia Begum v. Anwar Begum, AIR 1958 SC 886] and came to hold that there is a clear distinction between suits relating to property and those suits in which the subject-matter of litigation is a declaration as regards status or legal character. The Court observed that in the former category, the rule of personal interest is distinguished from the commercial interest which is required to be shown before a person may be added as a party and accordingly held: (Ramesh Hirachand case [Ramesh Hirachand Kundanmal v. Municipal Corpn. of Greater Bombay, (1992) 2 SCC 524] , SCC p. 531, para 14)

"14. ... The only reason which makes it necessary to make a person a party to an action is so that he should be bound by the result of the action and the question to be settled, therefore, must be a question in the action which cannot be effectually and completely settled unless he is a party. The line has been drawn on a wider construction of the rule between the direct interest or the legal interest and commercial interest. It is, therefore, necessary that the person must be directly or legally interested in the action in the answer i.e. he can say that the litigation may lead to a result which will affect him legally, that is, by curtailing his legal rights."

And again: (SCC p. 531, para 14)

"14. ... It is difficult to say that the rule contemplates joining as a defendant a person whose only object is to prosecute his own cause of action. Similar provision was considered in Amon v. Raphael Tuck & Sons Ltd. [Amon v. Raphael Tuck & Sons Ltd., (1956) 1 QB 357 : (1956) 2 WLR 372 : (1954) 1 All ER 273] , wherein after quoting the observations of Wynn-Parry, J. in Dollfus Mieg et Compagnie SA v. Bank of England [Dollfus Mieg et Compagnie SA v. Bank of England, (1950) 2 All ER 605 at p. 611] , that their true test lies not so much in an analysis of what are the constituents of the applicants' rights, but rather in what would be the result on the subject-matter of the action if those rights could be established, Devlin, J. has stated: (Amon case [Amon v. Raphael Tuck & Sons Ltd., (1956) 1 QB 357 : (1956) 2 WLR 372 : (1954) 1 All ER 273] , QB p. 371)

"... the test is "May the order for which the plaintiff is asking directly affect the intervener in the enjoyment of his legal rights?""

Eventually, the Court unsettled the order passed by the trial court as well as by the High Court.

53. We have referred to the said decision in Ramesh Hirachand case [Ramesh Hirachand Kundanmal v. Municipal Corpn. of Greater Bombay, (1992) 2 SCC 524] in extenso as there is emphasis on curtailment of legal right. The question to be posed is whether there is curtailment or extinction of a legal right of the appellant. The writ petitioner before the High Court was trying to establish her right in an independent manner, that is, she has an independent legal right. It is extremely difficult to hold that she has an independent legal right. It was the first allottee who could have continued in law, if his licence would not have been cancelled. He was entitled in law to prosecute his cause of action and restore his legal right. Restoration of the legal right is pivotal and the prime mover. The eclipse being over, he has to come back to the same position. His right gets revived and that revival of the right cannot be dented by the third party"

9. The legal position, thus, is settled by the Supreme Court. In view of the aforesaid circumstances, respondent No.6 has the right to hold shop only in case the license of the petitioner is canceled. Otherwise, she has no right with the dispute between the petitioner and the State. In the present case, a conditional license was given to the respondent No.6 which does not create any independent right in favour of respondent No.6 and, therefore, respondent No.6 cannot oppose the present writ petition. Mere participation of respondent no.6 at the appeal stage will also not confer any such legal right. Even otherwise, the issue being raised by the respondent No. 6, that, whether petitioner is entitled to hold a license or not, is not an issue in the present proceedings. In the present writ petition, petitioner has challenged the order of cancellation of her license which is passed on certain grounds. Respondent No.6 cannot enlarge the scope of the proceedings by adding an entirely fresh issue to the dispute that license granted to the petitioner is bad, which would cause a review of the license given to the petitioner. Therefore, even on merits, the issue being raised by respondent No.6 cannot be looked into by this Court and is rejected.

10. Coming back to the merits of the case with regard to cancellation of license of the petitioner, a fair price shop license was granted to the petitioner on 05.05.2011. After an inquiry a charge-sheet was given to the petitioner on 20.03.2013 and on 25.03.2013 license of petitioner was canceled by an ex-parte order. Petitioner submitted her reply with the recall application and by an order dated 02.04.2013, Sub Divisional Magistrate recalled his earlier order dated 25.03.2013. The Gram Pradhan of the village filed an appeal before the Commissioner, Devi Patan against the order of recall whereupon the Commissioner partly allowed the said appeal setting aside both the order dated 02.04.2013 as well as 25.03.2013 and remanded the matter to respondent No.4 with a direction to pass fresh order on merits. On 05.06.2014 a fresh charge-sheet was issued to the petitioner calling for an explanation to which a reply was submitted by the petitioner. On 27.06.2014, petitioner's license was suspended and a detailed explanation was called for. Petitioner submitted her detailed reply along with evidences and affidavit in support of her case. By an order dated 28.09.2014 the Sub Divisional Magistrate closed the proceedings with the fine of Rs.1000/- upon the petitioner and a warning. On 10.07.2015, the Sub Divisional Magistrate again issued a show cause notice to the petitioner. On 28.08.2015 the license of petitioner was again suspended. Petitioner again submitted her explanation before respondent No.4 with regard to the charges. Respondent No.4 asked for original records such as distribution/receipt register of last three months as well as distribution certificate issued by the nominated distribution officer. All records were placed before the Sub Divisional Magistrate. Against the suspension order, petitioner filed an appeal before the Commissioner. The appeal of petitioner was rejected on 27.02.2016 with a direction to Sub Divisional Magistrate to decide the matter on merits within a period of one month. By order dated 11.04.2016 the Sub Divisional Magistrate passed a final order canceling the license of the petitioner. Petitioner preferred an appeal before the Deputy Commissioner which was partly allowed by judgment and order dated 20.10.2016 and the matter was again remanded back to the Sub Divisional Magistrate. On 31.01.2017, the Sub Divisional Magistrate again passed an order canceling the license of the petitioner. Petitioner preferred an appeal which was also rejected by an order dated 03.10.2019 and, hence, the present writ petition is before this Court challenging both the orders dated 31.01.2017 and 03.10.2019.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the proceeding held against the petitioner is not in accordance with law. The same is decided only on the basis of oral statements of some persons. In the order of the Sub Divisional Magistrate the reply of the petitioner is nowhere considered. There is no discussion in the entire order of the Sub Divisional Magistrate as to why and how he believed the oral statements of the villagers and has held the documents to the contrary, to be false. The Sub Divisional Magistrate was also wrongly influenced because a complaint against the petitioner was lodged under Section 3/7 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955. There is no adverse order ever passed by any competent court against the petitioner and mere pendency of the case should not have influenced the authority concerned. He further submits that even the appellate court has failed to consider the case of petitioner and has rejected the appeal only by looking upon the statements of villagers, without considering the reply of the petitioner. Petitioner has strongly relied upon the Government Order dated 22.04.2004 and states that the same provides comprehensive guidelines with regard to the procedure of inquiry and the same is not followed while conducting the inquiry.

12. On the other hand learned Standing Counsel submits that orders passed by the authorities concerned are detailed and exhaustive and the concurrent finding of facts should not be interfered by this Court.

13. When the documentary evidence is available, oral statement cannot be relied. The law in this regard is well settled by this court in Writ Petition No. 1063 (M/S) of 2020 Putti Lal V. State Of U.P. Thru Prin.Secy. Food & Supplies Lucknow & Ors. by judgment dated 06.09.2021. Paragraph 8 and 9 of the said judgment reads as below:

"8. It goes without saying that once there is documentary evidence to prove certain facts, it is incumbent upon the authority concerned to take the same into consideration. The oral evidence against such documentary evidence should not be accepted, unless circumstances for the said purpose are duly explained. The said aspect of law is reiterated in the aforesaid Government Order dated 16.10.2014. A perusal of the impugned orders clearly shows that this aspect of the matter is totally ignored while passing the impugned orders. Both the courts have proceeded only on the basis of oral statements given by the complainants. The authority concerned never asked the complainants to produce their ration cards. The petitioner had submitted his Registers, which have been ignored on frivolous reasons.

9. The authority concerned should be more particular in cases where they are disbelieving the record submitted by the shop owner, to verify the correct facts from the record of the complainants."

13. A bare perusal of the order of the Sub Divisional Magistrate shows that he has wrongly relied upon the statements made by the villagers in the inquiry. On the basis of oral statements of some persons, he has held that stock registers are incorrect. The same cannot be held to be a proper procedure. Once, the oral statements against a documentary evidence is being relied upon by the authority concerned, it must specifically state the circumstance and the reason as to why the authority is proceeding to disbelieve the documentary evidence. In the order of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, there is nothing to indicate as to why he is relying upon the oral statements and disbelieving the records. Even otherwise, in the entire judgment, there is no reference of the documents and reply submitted by the petitioner. Thus, the manner in which the order dated 31.01.2017 is passed by Sub Divisional Magistrate is contrary to settled principles of law and cannot stand. The appellate court while referring to the submissions of the counsel for parties, without even considering the case of petitioner, has again relied upon the oral statements. The appellate court has also not given any reason as to why the appellate court has relied upon the oral statements against the documentary evidence. It merely states that there is no reason to interfere with the order of Sub Divisional Magistrate as there is a difference between the statement given by the villagers and the submissions and record submitted by the petitioner which is not believed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate. The same cannot be said to be a finding of facts in accordance with law. There is no consideration of the case of petitioner, again in the appellate order.

15. Thus, both the impugned orders dated 31.01.2017 and 03.10.2019 cannot stand and are set aside.

16. Writ petition is allowed.

(vi) In case crime No. Nil/1996 under Sections 41/411 I.P.C>, the applicant has been acquitted by means of the judgment and order dated 18-02-2020 passed by the Judicial Magistrate Ghatampur in Case No. 620 of 2009.

Copies of the aforesaid orders have been annexed with the supplementary affidavit.

7. The applicant is languishing in jail since 07.10.2020 whereas co-accused person Uttam Tiwari has been granted bail by means of an order dated 01.02.2021 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 48365 of 2020.

8. Per contra, the learned Additional Government Advocate and Sri Meraj Ahmad Khan, the learned counsel for the informant have opposed the prayer for grant of bail. The learned counsel appearing for the informant has submitted thatthe applicant has already been convicted and he is not entitled to be granted bail in view of the specific provision contained in Section 437 (1) (ii). He has next submitted that the applicant has not approached this Court with clean hands as in Paragraph No. 24 of theaffidavit filed in support of the bail application, it has been stated that the applicant is neither a previous convict nor does he have any criminal history.

9. Section 437 of Crimial Procedure Code provides as follows: -

"437. When bail may be taken in case of non-bailable offence.-- (1) When any person accused of, or suspected of, the commission of any non-bailable offence is arrested or detained without warrant by an officer in charge of a police station or appears or is brought before a Court other than the High Court or Court of Session, he may be released on bail, but--

(i) such person shall not be so released if there appear reasonable grounds for believing that he has been guilty of an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life;

(ii) such person shall not be so released if such offence is a cognizable offence and he had been previously convicted of an offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life or imprisonment for seven years or more, or he had been previously convicted on two or more occasions of a cognizable offence punishable with imprisonment for three years or more but not less than seven years:

Provided that the Court may direct that a person referred to in clause (i) or clause (ii) be released on bail if such person is under the age of sixteen years or is a woman or is sick or infirm:

Provided further that the Court may also direct that a person referred to in clause (ii) be released on bail if it is satisfied that it is just and proper so to do for any other special reason:

* * *

10. It becomes manifest on a bare reading of Section 437, that this provision does not apply to applications seeking bail under Section 439 of the Code filed before the High Court and it even does not apply to the bail applications filed before the Session Court.

11. Moreover, even the Courts to which the provisions of Section 437 apply, are not absolutely barred from granting bail to a person if he had been previously convicted of an offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life or imprisonment for seven years or more, or he had been previously convicted on two or more occasions of a cognizable offence punishable with imprisonment for three years or more but not less than seven years, as the Second Proviso appended to sub-section (1) of Section 437 provides that a person referred to in clause (ii) may be released on bail if the Court is satisfied that it is just and proper so to do for any other special reason.

12. The power of the High Court and even the Court of session to grant bail are "special powers' provided under Section 439 of the Code, which provides as follows: -

"439. Special powers of High Court or Court of Session regarding bail.-- (1) A High Court or Court of Session may direct- -

(a) that any person accused of an offence and in custody be released on bail, and if the offence is of the nature specified in sub-section (3) of Section 437, may impose any condition which it considers necessary for the purposes mentioned in that sub-section;

(b) that any condition imposed by a Magistrate when releasing any person on bail be set aside or modified:

Provided that the High Court or the Court of Session shall, before granting bail to a person who is accused of an offence which is triable exclusively by the Court of Session or which, though not so triable, is punishable with imprisonment for life, give notice of the application for bail to the Public Prosecutor unless it is, for reasons to be recorded in writing, of opinion that it is not practicable to give such notice:"

13. Section 439 of the Code contains a reference to Section 437 thereof only to the extent that if the offence is of the nature specified in sub-section (3) of Section 437, while granting bail to the accused, the High Court or Court of Session may impose any condition which it considers necessary for the purposes mentioned in that sub-section. Section 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code conferring special powers of High Courts and Session Courts, is a provision of a special character whereas Section 437 contains a general provision regarding grant of bail in non-bailable offences. It is a well-established rule of interpretation, that a special provision will take precedence over and override a general provision of law. Therefore, the provision contained in Section 439 of the Code will take precedence over Section 437 of the Code and the bar contained in Section 437 (1) (ii) of the Code will not limit the special powers of the High Court under Section 439 of the Code. I, therefore, reject the submission of counsel for the respondent based on Section 437 of the Code.

14. Now I come to the second objection raised by the learned Counsel for the informant that it has been falsely stated in para 24 of the affidavit filed in support of the bail application that the applicant has no criminal history, which indicates that the applicant has not come before this Court with clean hands and the bail application is liable to be rejected on this ground. In this regard, it has to be noticed that the applicant is languishing in jail since 07.10.2020 and the affidavit has been filed by one Beena Devi wife of Ravi Shankar, who is a house-wife and who is the sister-in-law of the applicant and she has verified the contents of para 24 of the affidavit to be true on the basis of her personal knowledge. Neither the applicant has signed the affidavit nor has he provided any false information regarding his criminal history to the deponent of the affidavit. Upon the applicant's criminal history being pointed out, his wife has filed a supplementary affidavit mentioning the details of the facts regarding the cases in which the applicant has been implicated and in that supplementary affidavit, it has specifically been averred that the applicant is convicted and that the appeal against the order of conviction has been admitted by this Court and sentence passed against the applicant has been suspended by means of an order dated 14.09.2007 passed in Criminal Appeal No. 5608 of 2007. Therefore, I do not find the second objection of the learned Counsel for the informant to be tenable.

15. The law regarding grant of bail has been explained in numerous decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and it will be apt to refer to a few of those judgments.

16. In Sanjay Chandra v. CBI, (2012) 1 SCC 40, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that:

"21. In bail applications, generally, it has been laid down from the earliest times that the object of bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial by reasonable amount of bail. The object of bail is neither punitive nor preventative. Deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment, unless it is required to ensure that an accused person will stand his trial when called upon. The courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty.

22. From the earliest times, it was appreciated that detention in custody pending completion of trial could be a cause of great hardship. From time to time, necessity demands that some unconvicted persons should be held in custody pending trial to secure their attendance at the trial but in such cases, "necessity" is the operative test. In this country, it would be quite contrary to the concept of personal liberty enshrined in the Constitution that any person should be punished in respect of any matter, upon which, he has not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he should be deprived of his liberty upon only the belief that he will tamper with the witnesses if left at liberty, save in the most extraordinary circumstances.

23. Apart from the question of prevention being the object of refusal of bail, one must not lose sight of the fact that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refuse bail as a mark of disapproval of former conduct whether the accused has been convicted for it or not or to refuse bail to an unconvicted person for the purpose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson."

17. In the case ofDataram Singhv.State of Uttar Pradesh,(2018) 3 SCC 22, the Hon'ble Supreme Court was pleased to reiterate the law of bail in the following words:--

"2. A fundamental postulate of criminal jurisprudence is the presumption of innocence, meaning thereby that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. However, there are instances in our criminal law where a reverse onus has been placed on an accused with regard to some specific offences but that is another matter and does not detract from the fundamental postulate in respect of other offences. Yet another important facet of our criminal jurisprudence is that the grant of bail is the general rule and putting a person in jail or in a prison or in a correction home (whichever expression one may wish to use) is an exception. Unfortunately, some of these basic principles appear to have been lost sight of with the result that more and more persons are being incarcerated and for longer periods. This does not do any good to our criminal jurisprudence or to our society.

5. The historical background of the provision for bail has been elaborately and lucidly explained in a recent decision delivered in Nikesh Tarachand Shah v. Union of India[(2018) 11 SCC 1] going back to the days of the Magna Carta. In that decision, reference was made toGurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab [(1980) 2 SCC 565] in which it is observed that it was held way back inNagendra v. King-Emperor [AIR 1924 Cal 476] that bail is not to be withheld as a punishment. Reference was also made toEmperorv.Hutchinson[AIR 1931 All 356] wherein it was observed that grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception. The provision for bail is therefore age-old and the liberal interpretation to the provision for bail is almost a century old, going back to colonial days."

18. In Emperor v. H. L. Hutchinson AIR 1931 All 356, this Court had held that an accused person who enjoys freedom is in a much better position to look after his case and to properly defend himself than if he were in custody. As a presumably innocent person he is therefore entitled to freedom and every opportunity to look after his own case. A presumably innocent person must have his freedom to enable him to establish his innocence.

19. Having considered the submissions made by the learned Counsel for the parties in light of the law explained in the above referred judgments and gone through the record, I find the following factors to be relevant for deciding the application for grant of bail to the applicant: -

(i) The applicant claims himself to be a recorded tenure holder of a certain piece of land and the incident took place because the informant and some other persons of his side also claim rights in respect of the same land;

(ii) The applicant had lodged a Non Cognizable Report of the incident promptly on the same day i.e. on 05.10.2020, at 23:08 hours against the informantRaja Singh, his father Dinesh Singh and his uncle Sumant Singh complaining about the incident;

(iii) The medico legal examination reports of the applicant and Gore Sachan indicate that both of them had suffered injuries in the incident;

(iv) The present case prima facie appears to be a cross case and it is yet to be ascertained as to who was the aggressor;

(v) The F.I.R., alleges assaults made by sharp edged weapons by the applicant as by the co-accused Uttam Tiwari and the assaults made by both of them are said to have resulted in simple injuries to two brothers, and the co-accused Uttam Tiwari has already been granted bail by means of an order dated 01.02.2021 and the case set up against the applicant is similar to that set up against the co-accused Uttam Tiwari;

(vi) Although the applicant has a criminal history of six cases, in five cases he has already been acquitted and the appeal filed by the applicant against the conviction in the sixth case has been admitted by this Court and the order of sentence has been suspended by this Court;

(vii) The affidavit filed in support of the bail application contains an undertaking that if the applicant is released on bail, he will not misuse the liberty and will not tamper with the evidence and nothing has been said in the counter affidavit so as to raise a reasonable doubt against this undertaking ;

(viii) As the applicant is claiming title to the land which appears to be the root cause of the incident, there appears to be no reasonable probability of his absconding, in case he is released on bail.

20. In light of the preceding discussion and without making any observation on the merits of the case, the instant bail application is allowed.

21. Let the applicant Satish Sachan be released on bail in Case Crime No. 481 of 2020, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 452, 324, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Ghatampur, District Kanpur Dehat on his furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court below, subject to the following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the date fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

22. In case of breach of any of the above condition, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application before this Court seeking cancellation of the bail.

Criminal Law - Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) - Section 439 (2) - Bail Cancellation - High Court power to entertain an application for cancellation of bail is not taken away merely because of pendency of an application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. challenging an order passed by the Sessions Judge holding that the bail cancellation application ought to be filed before the Magistrate (Para 9)

Bail order was passed keeping in view the fact that the accused persons and the informant had entered into a settlement as per which the accused persons paid Rs. 40 lacs to the informant, in part performance of the settlement and they issued post dated cheques of the balance amount to the informant - accused persons categorically stated before court that they would follow the terms of settlement - bail cancellation application filed as the cheques which had been given by the accused persons were dishonored for the reason that payment had been stopped by the drawer Held - accused persons' subsequent conduct in issuing instructions to their bank for stopping payment of the cheques amounts to the accused persons resiling from the conditions which formed the basis of the bail order - subsequent conduct of the opposite party in trying to go to Bahrain and threatening the informant, is a clear violation of the conditions incorporated in the bail order that the accused persons will not go outside the boundaries of the country and they will not influence the witnesses - Accused respondents, bail cancelled they were directed to surrender before the Court concerned (para 15, 16, 18)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Katyayni and Sri Pankaj Shukla, the learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Dinesh Kumar Srivastava, the learned Additional Government Advocate, Sri Syed Imran Ibrahim, the learned counsel for the accused - respondents and perused the record.

2. The present application has been filed seeking cancellation of the order dated 21.10.2020 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Mathura in Bail Application No. 2832 of 2020 whereby the accused ? respondent nos. 2 to 7 have been granted bail in Case Crime No.312 of 2020, under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 120-B IPC, Police Station-Nauhjheel, District Mathura.

3. The aforesaid order states that the accused persons were produced before the Court from jail and they had given an application stating that they had taken the money in question from the applicant in the year 2016; that they had entered into a settlement / MOU with the informant; that they had paid a sum of Rs. 40 lacs only to the informant in part performance of the settlement and they had issued post dated cheques to the informant in respect of the balance amount and they further stated that they would follow the terms of the settlement. The order further records that the informant also gave an application stating that she was satisfied with the settlement made by the applicants and the cheques given by them and she had no objection to the bail being granted. The Court further recorded that a perusal of the documents indicated that the accused persons had issued a promissory note stating that ten cheques have been issued to the informant and a compromise has been arrived, a settlement has been entered into between the parties and the MOU had been executed and the accused persons stated that they would follow the terms of the MOU. The Court further recorded that the informant had also filed an application stating that she was satisfied by the promise made by the applicant and she had no objection against grant of bail to the accused person.

4. After noting the aforesaid facts, the learned Additional Sessions Judge observed that keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and without going into merits of the case, there was sufficient ground for granting bail to the applicant. After the aforesaid narration and discussion, the Court proceeded to write the operative portion of the order stating that the applicants be released on bail on furnishing a personal bond of Rs. 02 lacs and two sureties of the same amount and an undertaking be obtained from them that during trial they will not go outside the boundaries of the country, they will not influence the witnesses and will remain present in the Court.

5. On 24.12.2021, the present application has been filed seeking cancellation of the order dated 21.10.2020. In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application, it has been stated that the accused persons have not complied with the conditions mentioned in the order passed by the court below, as the cheques which had been given by the accused persons were presented to the bank and same were dishonored for the reason that payment had been stopped by the drawer.

6. On the aforesaid allegations, the applicant filed an application before the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Mathura praying for cancellation of the bail granted to the accused persons. However, the aforesaid application has been rejected by means of an order dated 08.09.2021 holding that the offences with which the accused persons have been charged, are all triable by a Magistrate and the trial was not pending before the Sessions Court. The Court further held that the only conditions imposed in the bail order were that the accused persons will not go outside the boundaries of the country, they will not influence the witnesses and they will remain present on the dates fixed in the trial. The court held that the conditions imposed in the bail order are not related to the Court of Sessions but are related to the Court of Magistrate and, therefore, the application for cancellation of bail on the ground of non compliance with the conditions would lie before the concerned court.

7. At the outset, Sri Ibrahim, the learned counsel for the accused - respondents has raised a preliminary objection that the applicant has challenged the aforesaid order by means of filing an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No.

20896 of 2021 before this Court, which is still pending. During pendency of the aforesaid application, the applicant has filed the present application for cancellation of the bail and, therefore, the present application seeking cancellation of bail is not maintainable.

8. Refuting the aforesaid submission, the learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that in view of the provision contained in Section 439 (2) Cr.P.C., only a High Court or a Court of Sessions may direct that any person who has been released on bail, be arrested and be taken into custody and a Magistrate does not have jurisdiction to entertain such an application. He has submitted that the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed only against the direction given by the Learned Additional Sessions Judge in the order dated 08.09.2021 to the effect that the application for cancellation of bail would lie before the Magistrate.

9. Having considered the aforesaid submissions, and keeping in view the provision contained in Section 439 (2) Cr.P.C., I am of the view that this Court has power to entertain the application for cancellation of bail and this power is not taken away merely because of pendency of an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. challenging the order dated 08.09.2021 passed by the Sessions Judge holding that the application ought to be filed before the Magistrate. Therefore, I find no force in the preliminary objection raised by the learned counsel for the accused - respondents and the same is turned down.

10. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the order dated 21.10.2020 granting bail to the accused - respondents had been passed without going into the merits of the application, merely taking into consideration the application filed by the accused - respondents stating that they have entered into a settlement with the informant; that they have already paid Rs. 40 lacs to her and they have issued post dated cheques in respect of the balance amount and also keeping in view the fact that the informant had filed an application stating that she was satisfied with the promise made by the applicants and by the cheques given by them. The accused ? respondents have violated the aforesaid settlement by issuing a direction to the Bank to stop payment of the cheques given under the settlement and, therefore, the order dated 21.10.2020 is liable to be cancelled.

11. Per contra, the learned counsel for the accused - respondents has submitted that the bail order was passed only subject to the conditions that the applicant will furnish a personal bond of Rs. 02 lacs and two sureties of the like amount; that they will not leave the country and and that they will not influence the witnesses and also they will appear before the Trial Court on the date fixed. He has further submitted that there is no allegation that the accused persons have violated any of the conditions imposed on the applicant in the bail order. He has submitted that it was not a condition of bail that the accused persons will pay the balance amount of the settlement, regarding which they had issued cheques to the informant.

12. It is a fundamental principle of law that any document, be it a statute, a judgment or order of the Court, a pleading, a contract, has to be read as a whole and an order passed by a Court cannot be read in a piece - meal manner by picking up a passage and reading it by isolating it from the other part, which forms the foundation of passing the order.

13. The order dated 21.10.2020 contains a narration that the accused persons had filed an application stating that they had entered into a settlement with the informant, they had paid Rs. 40 lacs to the informant as part of the settlement amount and they have issued post dated cheques for the balance amount and they have stated that they would follow the terms of the settlement. The informant has also filed an application expressing her satisfaction with the terms of settlement and the Court has passed an order for granting bail to the to the accused respondents keeping in view the aforesaid facts and circumstances. It cannot be said that the terms of the MOU are not relevant for deciding the application for cancellation of bail on the ground that its terms had not been incorporated in the operative part of the bail order. In fact, the terms of the settlement / MOU form the basis of the order dated 21.10.2020.

14. In the rejoinder affidavit filed on behalf of the applicant, it has been stated that although a condition has been imposed in the bail order that the accused persons will not leave the country during pendency of the trial, the opposite party no.7 tried to flee the country. He was trying to depart to Bahrain from Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi by Flight No. AL-939 on 22.01.2021 and an intimation to this effect has been sent to the applicant by the immigration department through an SMS, a print out whereof has been annexed as annexure no. RA-1 to the rejoinder affidavit. It has further been stated in the rejoinder affidavit that the opposite party no.7 has assaulted the applicant for threatening him for not pursuant the case and an FIR bearing Case Crime No. 1054 of 2021 has been lodged by the informant in Police Station-Phase-3, District Gautam Budh Nagar in this regard, a copy whereof has been annexed as annexure no. RA-2. The learned counsel for the applicant has stated that accused ? respondent nos. 6 and 7 have been arrested in pursuance of Case Crime No. 1054 of 2021.

15. Having considered the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I am of the view that the order dated 21.10.2020 was passed keeping in view the fact that the accused persons and the informant had entered into a settlement as per which the accused persons had paid Rs. 40 lacs to the informant and they had issued cheques or payment of the balance amount, and the accused persons had categorically stated that they would follow the terms of settlement. The accused persons' subsequent conduct in issuing instructions to their bank for stopping payment of the cheques amounts to the accused persons resiling from the conditions which formed the basis of the order dated 21.10.2020. Moreover the subsequent conduct of the opposite party no.2 in trying to go to Bahrain and the conduct of the accused persons in threatening the informant, is a clear violation of the conditions incorporated in the order dated 21.10.2020 that the accused persons will not go outside the boundaries of the country and they will not influence the witnesses.The aforesaid conduct of the accused persons subsequent to grant of bail to them shows that they have shown least regard to the process of law, which makes this an exceptional case warranting cancellation of the bail order dated 21.10.2022 passed by the Sessions Court.

16. In view of the aforesaid discussion, I find it to be a fit case for exercising the powers of this Court under Section 439 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure to cancel the order dated 21.10.2020 and I direct that the accused respondents, who had been released on bail by means of the order dated 21.10.2020 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 01, Mathura in Bail Application No. 2832 of 2020 be arrested and committed to custody.

17. The learned counsel for the applicant states that the accused respondents no. 6 and 7 have already been arrested in connection with Case Crime No. 1054 of 2021.

18. The other accused ? respondents no. 2 to 5 are directed to surrender before the Court concerned within a period of three weeks from today failing which the court below shall take steps to ensure the compliance of the orders.

Criminal Law - Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) - Section 439 - Bail - Both the accused and the informant were claiming ownership of an immovable property, regarding which there was a civil litigation pending between the parties - Although several photographs taken from the C.C.T.V. footage was annexed with counter affidavit, but there was no photograph from which it can be inferred that the applicant assaulted the injured persons - present case arose out of a sudden quarrel and scuffle - applicant assaulted the injured persons with a saw and screw driver, which are not regular weapons of assault - it indicates that the applicant did not have any intention to cause the incident - all the injuries suffered by the injured persons were simple in nature, except two injuries - Accused/applicant & his son also suffered injuries in the incident, but none of the prosecution witnesses mentioned these injuries in their statements to the police, which prima-facie indicates that they are not truthful witnesses and are not reliable - On affidavit under taking was given that in case the applicant is granted bail, he will not abscond and he will abide by all the conditions imposed on him by the Court - State or the informant did not presented any facts or circumstances that would suggest that the accused/applicant would abscond or not appear for trial if released on bail - Given these factors, the court granted bail to the accused.

Sri Shishir Tandon Advocate, the learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Dinesh Kumar Srivastava Advocate, the learned AGA for the State, Sri Rajeev Sawhney Advocate, the learned counsel for the informant and perused the record.

2. The instant application has been filed by the applicant seeking his release on bail in Case Crime No.41 of 2021, under Sections 307, 436, 325, I.P.C. and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Pheel Khana, District Kanpur Nagar.

3. The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of an F.I.R. lodged by the informant Ashish Kumar Jain on 21.07.2021 at 14.44 hours against the applicant Pawan Kumar Verma and his son Anand Verma, alleging that both the accused persons had assaulted the informant's nephews Tarun Jain and Rahul Jain on the same day at 10.30 a.m. with sharp edged weapons with intention to kill them and the accused persons also tried to put their house on fire. The FIR further states that the nephews of the informant were admitted to a hospital by the police.

4. The injury report of Tarun Jain annexed with the affidavit filed in support of the bail application mentions six incised wounds and an abrasion. Five injuries were kept under observation and the injured was referred for C.T. Examination. Injury no.4 was found to have been caused with a hard & blunt object, whereas the other injuries were reported to have been caused by a sharp object. Injury no.6 was an incised would of size 0.3 X 0.3 X 1.0 C.M. in the chest cavity.

5. 6. Supplementary medical examination report of the injured Tarun Jain issued by Madhuraj Hospital on 21.07.2021 mentions that he had undergone a surgical operation on 17.07.2021 and the doctor reported that injuries nos.1 & 2 were dangerous to life.

7. In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application it has been stated that the applicant's son Anand Verma, who is the co-accused in the present case, has purchased a property from a relative of the informant; that Rahul Jain and Tarun Jain have filed Suit No.639 of 2016, in the court of Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kanpur Nagar for seeking a declaration that the sale deed executed in favour of the co-accused is null and void and they also sought a perpetual injunction. It has further stated in the affidavit that a reply has been filed in the aforesaid suit and the trial court has rejected the application for temporary injunction by means of an order dated 28.07.2021; that the aforesaid order dated 28.07.2021 was challenged before this Court by filing F.A.F.O. No. 3321 of 2021 and on 18.05.2018 this Court has passed an order admitting the appeal and directing the parties to maintain status-quo with regard to the suit property.

8. It has further been stated in the affidavit that the applicant was in possession of the property in question and being aggrieved against this, Tarun Jain and Rahul Jain and some other co-accused persons had attacked the applicant's son Anand Verma on 21.07.2021 at 9.30 a.m. when he was cleaning his shop; that hearing his hue and cry the applicant reached their and tried to save him upon which Tarun Jain and Rahul Jain and some other persons caused injuries to the applicant and his son Anand Verma; that the injuries of the applicant and his son were examined in the KPM Hospital, Kanpur Nagar on 21.07.2021 itself.

9. The injury report of the applicant's son Anand Verma states that he was examined on 21.07.2021 at 12.25 P.M. and multiple abrasions in an area of 13 cm. X 6 cm. on the left side of his chest; multiple abrasion in an area of 18 cm. X 10 cm. on the right side of the neck and shoulder of the applicant, a contusion of the size 6 cm. X 2 cm. on the right side of his chest were found on his body and all the injuries suffered by the injured were found to be simple in nature. The applicant's son Anand Verma (co-accused) was examined in the same hospital on 21.07.2021 at 12.50 p.m. and a lacerated wound of size of 1.5 cm. X 4.3 cm. on the left side of parietal region, a lacerated wound of size 1.0 cm. X 0.5 cm. over the left ring figure was found on his body and all the injuries were found to be simple in nature.

10. The affidavit also contains a narration that when the applicant tried to lodge a first information report of the incident, the police did not accept his report and rather it arrested the applicant and his son on the date of the incident itself. On 24.09.2021, the applicant's daughter Vandana Verma has filed an application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. before the Metropolitan Magistrate, Court No. 10 Kanpur Nagar, which application is still pending.

11. It has been contended in the affidavit that since the applicant is already in possession of the property in question, he did not have any motive to committee the offence; that the applicant is aged about 65 years; that it has been alleged that the applicant and his son had assaulted the injured persons with a saw and screw driver, which are not regular weapons of assault and it indicates that the applicant and his son were not having any intention to cause the incident.

12. In para-33 of the affidavit filed in support of the bail application, the applicant's criminal history of three cases has been disclosed -(i) in Case Crime No. 26 of 2015, under Sections 332, 333, 504, IPC, Police Station Moolganj, District Kanpur Nagar, the applicant has been granted bail by means of an order dated 24.02.2015, passed by the Metropolitan Magistrate, Court No. 5, Kanpur Nagar; (ii) in Case Crime No. 24C of 2004, under Sections 420, 427, 458, 506, IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Kanpur Nagar, the applicant has been acquitted of the charges leveled against him, by means of judgment and order dated 24.01.2009, passed by the Metropolitan Magistrate, Court No. 4, Kanpur Nagar and (iii) in Case Crime No. 24 A of 2008, under Sections 307, 326 323, 504, 506, IPC, Police Station Moolganj, District Kanpur Nagar, the applicant has been granted bail by means of an order dated 17.06.2022, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Kanpur Nagar.

13. It has been asserted in the affidavit that the applicant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated in the present and he is languishing in jail since 21.07.2021. The affidavit contains a categorical under taking that in case the applicant is granted bail, he will not abscond and he will abide by all the conditions imposed on him by this Court.

14. A copy of the recovery memo filed alongwith the affidavit filed in support of the bail application mentions that the applicant's son had confessed that he had made assault with a saw used to cut iron and plastic and the applicant is alleged to have confessed that he had assaulted with a screw driver which is normally used to break ice. Both of them are alleged to have stated that they had thrown away the weapons in an open space in front of their house and both the weapons were recovered on their pointing out.

15. The injured Rahul Jain has filed a counter affidavit stating that a civil dispute is going on between the parties regarding the house in question and as the applicant could not get possession of the property in dispute, he lodged an FIR dated 23.04.2016 against the seller Rajesh Jain and Brijesh Jain, which is registered as Case Crime No. 66 of 2016, under Sections 420, 427, 468, 471, 406, 504, 506, IPC, in Police Station Feelkhana, District Kanpur Nagar. The counter affidavit further alleges that as the applicant and his son could not take possession of the property in dispute, they attacked Rahul Jain and Tarun Jain with a screw driver and a saw, causing serious injury to both of them and they also set the shop of Rahul Jain and Tarun Jain on fire after pouring petrol on the goods of the shop.

16. It has further been stated in the counter affidavit that the footage of a C.C.T.V. Camera shows that the applicant and his son had poured petrol on the goods of the shop and set it on fire. Several photographs have been annexed with the counter affidavit and it has been contended that the same show the applicant and his son pouring petrol on the goods of the shop of the victim and putting the same on fire. Several photograph of the injured Tarun Jain have also been annexed with the counter affidavit.

17. The State has also filed a counter affidavit stating that in the statements of the injured Tarun Jain and Rahul Jain recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., they have supported the FIR version and that during investigation, statements of several witnesses have been recorded and all of them have supported the prosecution version.

18. On 12.05.2022, this Court had passed an order directing the learned AGA to produce the photographs taken from the C.C.T.V. Footage of the alleged and the State has filed a compliance affidavit annexing there with copies of the photographs, which have already been annexed alongwith the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the informant.

19. Sri Gopal Swaroop Chaturvedi, the learned Senior Advocate appearing for the applicant, has submitted that the FIR alleges that the applicant and his son had assaulted the nephews of the informant with sharp edged weapon but it has not been specified as to which weapon was used by the applicant and, therefore, the FIR allegations are vague.

20. Sri Chaturvedi next submitted that all the injuries suffered by the injured persons are simple in nature, except two injuries suffered by Tarun Jain in his chest region, which could be dangerous to life. He has further submitted that the applicant and his son have also suffered several injuries in the incident and their medico legal examination conducted on the same day in the same hospital promptly, at 12:25 and 12:50 p.m., indicates that no unnecessary time was lost in getting the medico legal examination of the applicant and his son conducted, so as to leave any probability to assume that the injuries could have been manufactured during the intervening period.

21. Sri Chaturvedi has also submitted that the applicant also tried to lodge an FIR of the incident, but the police acting hand in gloves with the family of the injured persons, he did not lodge their FIR and the applicant and his son both were taken into custody on 21.07.2021 and thereafter the applicant's daughter Vandana Verma has filed an application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C., which is still pending.

22. Sri Chaturvedi has further contended that although several witnesses, including both the injured persons and the informant have been examined by the police during investigation, none of them stated anything which may explain the injuries suffered by the applicant and his son, which indicates that the witnesses are hiding some relevant and material facts about the incident and they are not truthful witnesses and are not reliable.

23. The learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has submitted that the present case arises out of a sudden quarrel and scuffle, in which the weapons allegedly used were a screw driver and a saw and no regular weapon of assault was used and also keeping in view of the facts that except the two injuries suffered by the injured Tarun Jain, both the nephews of the informant as well as the applicant and his son have suffered numerous injuries.

24. Refuting the aforesaid submissions Sri Rajeev Sawhney, the learned counsel for the informant has submitted that all the witnesses examined during the investigation have fully supported the prosecution case, and there are no inconsistencies in their statements. He has submitted that both the injured persons Rahul Jain and Tarun Jain have suffered seven injuries, each, and Tarun Jain had to remain admitted to a hospital for 28 days and he had to undergo a surgical operation.

25. Sri Sawhney has submitted that this is actually not a cross case, in this case the applicant and his son were the aggressors and they had assaulted the informant's nephews, causing serious injuries to them and thereafter an application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. has been filed on 24.09.2021 i.e. after more than two months. He has referred to a photocopy of a report submitted by the police to the Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar, stating that no application in this regard has been submitted in the police station and on the strength of the aforesaid report he has submitted that the application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. has been filed on false assertions and since its filing, it is not being pursued, which indicates that there is no force in the application.

26. The learned counsel for the informant has further submitted that several civil disputes are going on between the parties and the applicant has filed a FIR against the seller, alleging that they did not handover possession of the property in dispute to the applicant, which indicates that the applicant had a motive to commit the offense. He has submitted that a screw driver and a saw were used by the applicant and his son deliberately in order to give it a pretense of a sudden dispute. He has also submitted that the injuries shown on the body of the applicant and his son are manufactured injuries.

27. The learned counsel for the informant has next submitted that in the present case the applicant and his son are the aggressors and even if the injured persons have caused some injuries to them while exercising their right of self defense, the case cannot be labeled as a cross case.

28. I have given a thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions made on behalf of the learned counsel for the parties.

29. The FIR lodged in the present case alleges that the applicant and his son had made the assault with some unspecified "sharp edged weapon'. There is no allegation in the FIR or in the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that any hard and blunt object was used by the applicant and his son. However, Dr. D. K. Srivastava, Emergency Medical Hospital, KPN Hospital, has stated that the injury at sl. no. 4 was found to have been caused by a hard and blunt, for which there is absolutely no explanation in the prosecution case.

30. Moreover, the applicant and his son both have suffered injuries in the incident, which is established by their medico-legal examination, which was conducted promptly and none of the persons examined by the police have made any whisper about the injuries suffered by the applicant and his son, which prima-facie indicates that they have not come up with complete truth about the incident.

31. The learned counsel for the informant has made very elaborate submissions regarding the civil dispute going on between the parties. The background of civil dispute, in my opinion, has no bearing for considering the bail application of the applicant, as the parameters for considering an application for bail are totally different. Neither the civil rights are to be adjudicated by this Court while deciding an application for bail nor is the Court required to record a finding of innocence or guilt of the accused while deciding the bail application. Although several photographs have been annexed with the counter affidavit, claiming that those have been taken from the C.C.T.V. Footage in which the incident has been recorded, there is no photograph from which it can be inferred that the applicant and his son had assaulted the informant's nephews.

32. In Satender Kumar Antil versus Central Bureau of Investigation 2022 Scc OnLine SC 825, the Supreme Court has reiterated that: -

"11.The principle that bail is the rule and jail is the exception has been well recognised through the repetitive pronouncements of this Court."

33. The Supreme Court referred to a decision of this Court in Emperorv.H. L. HutchinsonAIR 1931 All 356 in which it was said that an accused person who enjoys freedom is in a much better position to look after his case and to properly defend himself than if he were in custody. As a presumably innocent person he is therefore entitled to freedom and every opportunity to look after his own case. A presumably innocent person must have his freedom to enable him to establish his innocence.

34. InSanjay Chandrav.CBI,(2012) 1 SCC 40, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that:

"21. In bail applications, generally, it has been laid down from the earliest times that the object of bailis to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial by reasonable amount of bail. The object of bailis neither punitive nor preventative. Deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment, unless it is required to ensure that an accused person will stand his trial when called upon. The courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty.

22. From the earliest times, it was appreciated that detention in custody pending completion of trial could be a cause of great hardship. From time to time, necessity demands that some unconvicted persons should be held in custody pending trial to secure their attendance at the trial but in such cases, "necessity" is the operative test. In this country, it would be quite contrary to the concept of personal liberty enshrined in the Constitution that any person should be punished in respect of any matter, upon which, he has not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he should be deprived of his liberty upon only the belief that he will tamper with the witnesses if left at liberty, save in the most extraordinary circumstances.

23. Apart from the question of prevention being the object of refusal of bail, one must not loose sight of the fact that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refusebail as a mark of disapproval of former conduct whether the accused has been convicted for it or not or to refusebailto an unconvicted person for the purpose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson."

35. Examining the farts of the present case in light of the law laid down in the aforesaid cases, we find that the accused is claiming ownership to the immovable property in question, regarding which civil litigation is also going on between the parties and no such facts and circumstances have been placed by the state or the informant which may give rise to a reasonable apprehension that in case the accused is released on bail, he would abscond and not he will not make himself available to face the trial.

36. Having considered the aforesaid facts and submissions and keeping in view the fact that no regular weapon is alleged to have been used in the present incident; that the medico-legal examination report of both the injured persons mentioned that the injuries suffered had been caused by a sharp object and by some hard and blunt object, and there is no allegation in the F.I.R. that any of the accused persons had used a hard and blunt object and even in the statements recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. there is no allegation of any had and blunt object having been used by any of the accused persons; that the applicant and his son have also suffered injuries in the incident; that none of the persons giving statement before the police has made any whisper about the injuries suffered by the applicant and his son; that prima-facie at this stage it appears that those persons have not placed the complete and correct facts in their statement given before the police and also keeping in view of the facts that the applicant is languishing in jail since 27.07.2021, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail pending conclusion of the trial. The bail application is accordingly allowed.

37. Let the applicant - Pawan Kumar Verma, be released on bail in Case Crime

No. 41 of 2021, under Sections 307, 436, 325, I.P.C. and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Feel Khana, District Kanpur Nagar, on his furnishing a personal bond and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the dates fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

38. In case of breach of any of the above condition, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application bail before this Court seeking cancellation of bail.

List of Cases cited:

1. Madhavan & ors. Vs St. of T. N., reported in (2017) 15 SCC 582

2. Gurmukh Singh Vs St. of Har. , reported in (2019) 15 SCC 635

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. This jail appeal arises out of judgment and order dated 26.2.2011, passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, Chandauli, in Sessions Trial No.84 of 2007 (State Vs. Hakimuddin), arising out of Case Crime No.221 of 2006, Police Station Mughalsarai, District Chandauli, convicting and sentencing the appellant under Section 304 IPC with life imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/- and in the event of default of payment of fine to undergo further additional rigorous imprisonment of two years.

2. Shorn of unnecessary details, the brief facts of the present case are that a written report of first informant Jamaluddin (father-in-law of the deceased) was scribed by Anil Kumar Srivastava, as per which the marriage of son of first informant Hakimuddin (accused appellant) was solemnized about 08 years back with Yasmeen Bano, daughter of Mustaq Ahmed (deceased). Out of said wedlock two children were born. Son of the informant however was not in fit mental state and his treatment was being arranged by the first informant and the in-laws of the accused appellant. In the night of 22/23rd July, 2006 at 3.30 am there was a fight between son of the first informant and his daughter-in-law and abuses were heard whereafter the first informant rushed to intervene. All of a sudden, the son of the first informant hit his wife and from the injury so caused she fell. The accused appellant left. First informant called the neighbours and was in the process of arranging medical treatment by when his daughter-in-law died. On the basis of such information given, a first information report was registered at 8.30 am at Police Station Mughalsarai, District Chandauli on 23.7.2006. The place of incident is stated to be the marital house of the deceased.

3. On the basis of aforesaid information the Investigating Officer alongwith police party came to the place of occurrence and a panchayatnama was prepared at 9.40 am. Kamlesh Kanaujia PW-3, Mustaq Ahmed PW-4, Mohd. Naseem, Buddhu and Mahmood Alam were appointed the inquest witnesses. They found the deceased to be average built lady of 28 years and in their opinion her death was homicidal on account of injury caused to her by the accused appellant in a heated state on her head and that postmortem of the dead body be got conducted. The Investigating Officer agreed with the conclusion of the inquest witnesses and accordingly the dead body was sealed and was sent for postmortem.

4. The postmortem report is on record, as per which cause of death is Coma as a result of following head and brain injuries:-

"(1) An incised wound 9.00 cm x 0.5 cm x skin and muscle deep on left side of in front of neck, 8.00 cm above sternal notch and touching to midline.

(2) Abraded contusion 6.00 cm x 1.00 cm on right side in front of neck, 8.00 cm above sternal notch touching to midline.

(3) An incised chaped wound 9.00 cm x 0.5 cm x skull deep on left side of head, 6.00 cm above the left ear and 6.00 cm above left eye brow.

(4) On opening the skull:-

(a) A contusion 12.00 cm x 4.00 cm on head, 10.00 cm above the root of nose.

(b) Contusion 11.00 cm x 4.00 cm on left side head in parietal region, 8.00 cm above and behind the left ear."

5. The investigation revealed that head injury was caused to deceased by a Spade and the weapon of assault was also recovered on 12.8.2006 from the backyard of the accused's house, in respect of which a recovery memo (Ext. Ka-2) was prepared. The Spade was sent for chemical examination and the report of Chemical Examiner dated 23.7.2006 is also exhibited in which the blood found on the Spade was of the same group as that of the deceased. The investigation proceeded in the matter and after recording statement of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. the Investigating Officer filed a chargesheet against accused appellant on 8.11.2006. The concerned Magistrate took cognizance of the chargesheet and as offence was triable by the court of Sessions committed the matter to the competent Court.

6. The court of Sessions framed solitary charge against the accused appellant under Section 304 IPC after noticing that the accused is not in fit mental state and in a heated state had assaulted the deceased and thereby has committed culpable homicide not amounting to murder, which is punishable under Section 304 IPC. The charge was read out to the accused, who denied it and demanded trial.

7. The prosecution in order to establish the charge has produced the first informant Jamaluddin (PW-1); Alauddin (PW-2) a witness to the recovery of weapon of assault; PW-3 Kamlesh Kanaujia, village pradhan and witness of inquest; PW-4 Mushtaq Ahmed, father of the deceased and witness of the inquest; PW-5 Ravi Kumar, witness to the recovery of weapon of assault; PW-6 Asgari Begum, mother of the deceased. The defence since had admitted the genuineness of police papers during the course of trial, as such none was adduced by the prosecution to establish such documents.

8. PW-1 Jamaluddin is aged 70 years, who had solemnized the marriage of deceased with his son (accused appellant) about 10 years back. He has stated that mental condition of his son was unstable for the last 3-4 years. PW-1 deposed that he was sleeping outside his house in Mandai and that the appellant had left the house 10-15 days prior to the incident. In his cross-examination he has stated that his eyesight is weak and that the villagers obtained his signatures on the blank paper for writing the written report and that he had not seen the appellant assaulting the deceased. He has reiterated that appellant was not present at the place of occurrence when the incident itself occurred. It is also stated that he had not gone to police station to lodge the report and cannot recognize his signatures on the written report. He further stated that the room in which dead body was found was locked from inside and it was opened with the help of others. He has further denied having given statement to the police of having seen any injury on the body of the deceased.

9. PW-2 is the witness of recovery of weapon of assault, who has turned hostile during the course of trial. Similarly PW-3, who is a witness of inquest has also turned hostile. PW-4 is the father of the deceased, who has deposed that his daughter got married to accused appellant and two children namely Azam aged 05 years and Ativa aged two years were born and that he received the information of the incident on Phone. He has further specifically stated that PW-1 informed him that it was the appellant who killed the deceased.

10. In the cross-examination PW-4 admitted that accused appellant was not in fit mental state and was undergoing medical treatment during the last six months. He has further stated that medical treatment was being provided to him by him and also by PW-1. He has specifically denied that the appellant was not in house from 8-10 days prior to the incident. He has also denied the suggestion that anyone else had committed the offence.

11. PW-5 is the witness of recovery of weapon of assault, who has denied the recovery of Spade and has stated that his signatures were obtained on blank papers.

12. PW-6 is the mother of the deceased, who has stated that PW-1 informed her about the incident. She further deposed that PW-1 informed her that accused appellant ran away after committing the crime and that two minor children of the deceased are with her. In her cross-examination she has clearly stated that PW-1 informed her that it was the accused appellant who assaulted the deceased with Farsa and that there had been a quarrel between the appellant and the deceased before the incident.

13. The accused in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has denied the accusations made against him and has stated that he was falsely implicated.

14. The trial court on the basis of above evidence lead by the prosecution came to the conclusion that the deceased died an unnatural death on account of injuries caused to her on her head by the accused appellant. The trial court has elaborately considered the statement of witnesses adduced during the course of trial and has returned a finding that PW-1 had made a false disclosure in order to save his son. 15. The trial court has relied upon the statements of PW-4 and PW-6 as also the materials placed on record during the trial to come to a conclusion that PW-1 was not a reliable witness and having made a correct disclosure earlier to police and to PW-4 and PW-6 but later retracted in order to save his son. Other witnesses also had turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case as they wanted to save the accused appellant.

16. Although an attempt on behalf of accused appellant is made to contend that the charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder is not made out against the accused appellant, but having elaborately examined the statement of witnesses and the materials brought on record we find ourselves in absolute agreement with the conclusion drawn by the trial court that the fatal injury to the deceased was caused by the accused appellant and that the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder is established against him.

17. We may only add an additional reason for agreeing with the conclusion arrived at by the trial court. It is undisputed that the deceased was in her marital house and her dead body was found within the house. Apart from two minor children it is the accused appellant and PW-1, who were living in the house. Onus, therefore, was upon PW-1 and accused appellant to explain as to how the fatal injury was caused to the deceased. There is no satisfactory explanation put forth by PW-1 or the accused appellant about the manner in which the fatal blow was caused to the deceased. Presumption under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act would have to be drawn against the accused appellant and PW-1, since they have not been able to explain as to how the fatal blow was caused to the deceased. PW-4 and PW-6 have otherwise clearly deposed that they were informed by PW-1 that the appellant had assaulted the deceased after a fight between them, which caused the death of their daughter.

18. Upon a careful evaluation of the evidence placed on record we, therefore, endorse the view of the trial court that fatal injury was caused to the deceased by the accused appellant, who assaulted her with Spade. We may also notice that the Spade has been recovered and the report of Chemical Examiner shows that the blood found on Spade matches the blood group of the deceased which is a material evidence supporting the conclusion of guilt of the accused appellant.

19. In light of the above discussions we reject the contention advanced on behalf of the accused appellant that charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder is not proved against the accused appellant. We, accordingly, hold that prosecution has succeeded in establishing the charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder against the accused appellant, beyond reasonable doubt, on the basis of evidence adduced by the prosecution.

20. The other ground which is strongly pressed by Sri Vishesh Kumar, who was earlier appointed Amicus Curiae to argue on behalf of accused appellant and Sri Ashish Kumar Gupta, Advocate, who has later been engaged as private counsel for the accused appellant is with regard to quantum of sentence. It is urged by learned counsels for the accused appellant that the material on record clearly proves that accused appellant was not in a fit mental state and was undergoing treatment for his disturbed mental condition. Statements of PW-1, PW-4 and PW-6 have been relied upon in order to submit that it is admitted even to the prosecution witnesses that accused appellant was not in a fit mental state and was receiving medical attention. It is submitted that although no evidence in the form of medical reports etc. exists on record but that would not be material since the charge framed against the accused appellant itself acknowledges that he was not in fit medical condition.

21. In order to consider the above submission it would be appropriate to reproduce the charge read out to the accused appellant by the court of Sessions:-

"प्रथम- यह कि दिनांक 23.07.2006 को समय 3.30 बजे रात ग्राम बहादुर महद् थाना मुगलसराय जिला चन्दौली में वादी मुकदमा के लड़के आप अभियुक्त हकीमुद्दीन जिसकी मानसिक स्थिति ठीक नहीं है ने अपनी पत्नी को आवेश में आकर अपनी पत्नी यासमीन पर हमला कर चोट पहुंचाया, जिसके इलाज की तैयारी करते समय ही उसकी मृत्यु हो गयी। इस प्रकार आपने हत्या की कोटि में न आने वाला आपराधिक मानव वध किया और उसके द्वारा आपने ऐसा अपराध किया जो भारतीय दंण्ड संहिता की धारा 304 के अधीन दण्डनीय है और इस न्यायालय के प्रसंज्ञान में है। एजद्द्वारा मैं निर्देशित करता हूँ कि आपका विचारण उपरोक्त आरोप पर इस न्यायालय द्वारा किया जायेगा।"

22. On behalf of the appellant it is submitted that trial court has not been just in imposing punishment of life sentence upon the accused appellant since the act of causing fatal injury was not on account of any premeditation or deliberate intent rather it was caused in a heated state at the spur of the moment. It is urged that it is common to find Spade in any agricultural household. Submission is that considering the admitted disturbed mental condition of accused appellant the punishment ought to have been lesser and the award of life sentence is excessive.

23. Learned AGA, on the other hand, submits that the charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder since is established against the accused appellant, therefore, the punishment of life inflicted upon the accused appellant is fully justified.

24. We have considered the submission with regard to adequacy of punishment to be imposed upon the accused appellant in the facts of the present case. It would be worthwhile to notice the observation of the Supreme Court in the case of Madhavan and others Vs. State of Tamilnadu, reported in (2017) 15 SCC 582, where the principle to be applied for awarding sentence has been summarized in Para 11 to 13 of the judgment which are reproduced hereinafter:-

"11. Notably, the High Court has not considered the issue of quantum of sentence at all, but mechanically proceeded to affirm the sentence awarded by the Trial Court. From the factual position, which has emerged from the record, it is noticed that there was a pre-existing property dispute between the two families. The incident in question happened all of a sudden without any premeditation after PW1 questioned the appellants about their behavior. It was a free fight between the two family members. Both sides suffered injuries during the altercation.

The fatal injury caused to Periyasamy was by the use of thadi (wooden log) which was easily available on the spot. The appellants, on their own, immediately reported the matter to the local police alleging that the complainant party was the aggressor. No antecedent or involvement in any other criminal case has been reported against the appellants. Taking oral view of the matter, therefore, we find force in the argument of the appellants that the quantum of sentence is excessive.

12. We may usefully refer to the decision of this Court (one of us, Justice Dipak Misra speaking for the Court) in the case of Gopal Singh Versus State of Uttarakhand1 enunciated the necessity to adhere to the principle of proportionality in sentencing policy. In paragraphs 18 and 19 of the said decision, the Court observed thus:

"18. Just punishment is the collective cry of the society.

While the collective cry has to be kept uppermost in the mind, simultaneously the principle of proportionality between the crime and punishment cannot be totally brushed aside. The principle of just punishment is the bedrock of sentencing in respect of a criminal offence. A punishment should not be disproportionately excessive.

The concept of proportionality allows a significant discretion to the Judge but the same has to be guided by certain principles. In certain cases, the nature of culpability, the antecedents of the accused, the factum of age, the potentiality of the convict to become a criminal in future, capability of his reformation and to lead an acceptable life in the prevalent milieu, the effect - propensity to become a social threat or nuisance, and sometimes lapse of time in the commission of the crime and his conduct in the interregnum bearing in mind the nature of the offence, the relationship between the parties and attractability of the doctrine of bringing the convict to the value-based social mainstream may be the guiding factors. Needless to emphasize, these are certain illustrative aspects put forth in a condensed manner. We may hasten to add that there can neither be a strait-jacket 1 (2013) 7 SCC 545 formula nor a solvable theory in mathematical exactitude.

It would be dependent on the facts of the case and rationalized judicial discretion. Neither the personal perception of a Judge nor self-adhered moralistic vision nor hypothetical apprehensions should be allowed to have any play. For every offence, a drastic measure cannot be thought of. Similarly, an offender cannot be allowed to be treated with leniency solely on the ground of discretion vested in a Court. The real requisite is to weigh the circumstances in which the crime has been committed and other concomitant factors which we have indicated hereinbefore and also have been stated in a number of pronouncements by this Court. On such touchstone, the sentences are to be imposed. The discretion should not be in the realm of fancy. It should be embedded in the conceptual essence of just punishment.

19. A Court, while imposing sentence, has to keep in view the various complex matters in mind. To structure a methodology relating to sentencing is difficult to conceive of. The legislature in its wisdom has conferred discretion on the Judge who is guided by certain rational parameters, regard been had to the factual scenario of the case. In certain spheres the legislature has not conferred that discretion and in such circumstances, the discretion is conditional. In respect of certain offences, sentence can be reduced by giving adequate special reasons. The special reasons have to rest on real special circumstances. Hence, the duty of Court in such situations becomes a complex one. The same has to be performed with due reverence for Rule of the collective conscience on one hand and the doctrine of proportionality, principle of reformation and other concomitant factors on the other. The task may be onerous but the same has to be done with total empirical rationality sans any kind of personal philosophy or individual experience or any a-priori notion."

13. Considering the above and keeping in mind the facts of the present case, the nature of the crime, subsequent conduct of the appellants, the nature of weapon used and all other attending circumstances and the relevant facts including that no subsequent untoward incident has been reported against the appellants and the mitigating circumstances, we are inclined to modify the sentence period in the following terms:-

a) The sentence period awarded to appellant nos. 2 and 4 for offences punishable under Sections 147 and 334 respectively of IPC will stand reduced to period already undergone without disturbing the fine amount specified by the Trial Court and affirmed by the High Court.

b) The sentence period awarded to appellant nos. 1, 3 and 5 for offences punishable under Sections 304 part (2) r/w 149 and 304 part (2) of IPC respectively will stand reduced to five years each without disturbing the fine amount awarded by the Trial Court and affirmed by the High Court."

25. Reliance is also placed upon judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Gurmukh Singh Vs. State of Haryana, reported in (2019) 15 SCC 635, in which the Supreme Court has observed as under in para 24 to 26:-

"24. The list of circumstances enumerated above is only illustrative and not exhaustive. In our considered view, proper and appropriate sentence to the accused is the bounded obligation and duty of the court. The endeavour of the court must be to ensure that the accused receives appropriate sentence, in other words, sentence should be according to the gravity of the offence. These are some of the relevant factors which are required to be kept in view while convicting and sentencing the accused.

25. When we apply the settled principle of law which has been enumerated in the aforementioned cases, the conviction of the appellant under section 302 I.P.C. cannot be sustained. In our considered view, the accused appellant ought to have been convicted under section 304 Part II I.P.C. instead of under section 302 I.P.C.

26. We accordingly convert the conviction and sentence of the appellant Gurmukh Singh from section 302 IPC to one under section 304 Part II IPC and sentence him to suffer rigorous imprisonment for seven years. The fine as imposed by the trial court and as upheld by the High Court is maintained. The appellant would be entitled to get benefit of section 428 of the Code of Criminal Procedure."

26. In light of the legal position settled on the issue we have examined the argument with regard to appropriateness of sentence to be imposed upon him on the basis of evidence brought on record. We find substance in the argument advanced on behalf of the appellant that life sentence is excessive, inasmuch as the prosecution's admitted case is that the offence on part of accused appellant is not of murder but is culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The evidence on record also shows that it was in a heated state that the accused appellant assaulted the deceased after a fight in the dead of night. It transpires that the accused appellant inflicted fatal blow by spade which turned fatal. It is to be borne in mind that the accused appellant admittedly was not in a fit mental state and even prosecution witnesses have deposed that he was undergoing treatment for the last six months or more. There is nothing on record to show that any prior complaint was ever made against accused appellant of cruelty or causing of physical injury to his wife.

27. Our attention has also been invited by Sri Vishesh Kumar, learned Amicus Curiae to the custody certificate, as per which the accused appellant has remained in jail for 17 years, 11 months and 01 day as on 13.7.2022 and his behaviour inside the jail has been good. It is otherwise a matter of common knowledge that Spade is used for agricultural activity and is ordinarily found in all agricultural households and no premeditation or intent can be inferred on part of the accused appellant for murdering his wife only on account of weapon of assault. When the facts in its entirety are examined in light of the settled legal position we find that the life sentence imposed upon the accused appellant, in the facts of the case, is excessive.

28. We, accordingly, allow this appeal and substitute the life sentence awarded to the accused appellant by the sentence already undergone by him. Unless the accused appellant is wanted in any other case he shall be released on compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. This Jail Appeal is thus allowed in part.

29. Since learned Amicus Curiae has also assisted the Court alongwith private counsel, subsequently engaged by the appellant in the matter, we quantify his fee at Rs.10,000/- to be paid to him by the High Court Legal Services Authority.

All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

(2) The case of the prosecution, in brief, was that on 13.5.2001, in the house of informant, namely, Udan (PW-2), rituals of marriage relating to his son Rajkapoor was going on. On that night, musical programme was also going on at the door of Bhagwandeen Yadav of his village, wherein Munni Lal Arakh son of Baldev came and informed that relative of Somnath had fallen down from the roof. After getting this information, Sukhdeo (P.W.1), Vinod (P.W.2), Sarvesh (P.W.5), Munna Lal (P.W.12), Sunil (deceased, son-in-law of the deceased) and other villagers had rushed to the spot. In the interregnum period, someone fired at 9:30 p.m., as a consequence of which Sukhdeo (PW-1), Vinod (P.W.2), Sarvesh (P.W.5), Munna (P.W.12) and Sunil (deceased, son-in-law of the informant) got shot and were injured. Immediately thereafter, they were brought through Tractor trolley to the Government

Hospital, from where Sukhdeo (PW-1), Vinod (P.W.2), Sarvesh (P.W.5) and Munna (P.W.12) were referred for further treatment at Lucknow Hospital, however, Sunil (deceased, son-in-law of the informant P.W.2) died before the start of treatment in the hospital.

Thereafter, informant Udan (P.W.2) got the written report scribed by Ramkumar, who after scribing it read it over to him. He, thereafter, put his signature on it and then, proceeded to Police Station Sandila, District Hardoi and lodged it.

(3) The evidence of P.W.8-S.I. Khajan Lal shows that on 13.05.2001, he was posted as Head Moharrir at Police Station Sandila. On that date, on the basis of written report of P.W.2-Udan, a chik F.I.R. No. 73 of 2001 (Ext. Ka. 8) vide Case Crime No. 160 of 2001, under Sections 302, 307 I.P.C. was registered by him against the unknown persons at police station Sandila, District Hardoi.

(4) The investigation of the case was conducted by P.W.15-S.I. Ashok Dixit. His evidence shows that after registration of Case Crime No. 160 of 2001, under Sections 302, 307 I.P.C., at police station Sandila, district Hardoi on 13.05.2001, he went to the place of occurrence and collected blood stained soil and plain soil thereon. He also seized two empty cartridges from the place of occurrence under recovery memo (Ext. Ka. 23). He also inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ext. Ka. 24). He further deposed that S.I. Abad Ali, who was posted along with him at police station Sandila, had conducted the "panchayatnama' of the dead body of the deceased Sunil and also sent it for post-mortem.

The evidence of P.W.15-S.I. Ashok Dixit further shows that on 15.05.2001, when he along with police personnel including S.I. Shri Krishna Kashyap (P.W.9), Constable Nawab Singh (P.W.10) went to search the accused of Case Crime No. 16o of 2001, under Sections 302/307 I.P.C. and under Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act., witnesses Munna (P.W.12) and Shiv Balak met them and stated that one accused Suresh was waiting for conveyance at the road of Gosaiganj. Immediately thereafter, he (P.W.15) along with police personnel reached there at 09:30 p.m. and caught one person, who, after interrogation, had stated his name as Suresh (co-accused) and from his possession, a countrymade pistol and a cartridge was recovered. After that co-accused Suresh had stated that it was the same countrymade pistol, which was used for firing upon Sukhdev with intention to kill him in the association of his friend Lala Ram who was also armed with countrymade pistol. Thereafter, accused Suresh was arrested and countrymade pistol and catridges were seized under recovery memo. After that on the dictation of Shri Krishna Kashyap (P.W.9), Constable Rama Shanker Singh (P.W.6) had registered Case Crime No. 162 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act, at Police Station Sandila, District Hardoi on 15.05.2001 (Ext. Ka.10).

P.W.15-S.I. Ashok Dixit had also stated that the investigation of Case Crime No. 162 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act was conducted by S.I. Ram Avtar, who was posted along with him at police station Sandila. S.I. Ram Avtar had prepared the site plan and filed charge-sheet in connection with Case Crime No. 162 of 2001 before the Court concerned.

(5) P.W.10-Nawab Singh had supported the aforesaid statement of P.W. 15 S.I. Ashok Dixit and further deposed that on 16.05.2001, he along with the Investigating Officer Ashok Dixit (P.W.15) went to search other accused (Lal Ram) and when they reached at Sandila, on the basis of information of an informer, Lal Ram (appellant) was arrested and from his possession, one countrymade pistol and one cartridge was recovered. Thereafter, on the dictation of S.S.I. Jairam Yadav, recovery memo for countrymade pistol and one cartridge were prepared under a recovery memo (Ext. Ka.11). On the basis of the aforesaid recovery of countrymade pistol and one catridge from the possession of Lala Ram (appellant), Case Crime No. 163 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act, Police Station Sandila, District Hardoi was registered on 16.05.2001.

(6) The evidence of P.W.6-Rama Shaker Singh shows that on the basis of recovery of one countrymade pistol and one catridge from the possession of Suresh (co-accused) and Lala Ram (appellant), he had registered Case Crime No. 162 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act on 15.05.2001 against co-accused Suresh and Case Crime No. 163 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act on 16.05.2001, at police station Sandila, district Hardoi.

(7) P.W.9-S.I. Shri Krishna Kashyap had deposed before the trial Court that on 16.5.2001, he conducted the investigation of Case Crime No. 163 of 2001, under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act. On 25.03.2001, after due investigation, he prepared the charge-sheet against Lala Ram (appellant) under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act and forwarded it for submission before the Court concerned.

(8) P.W.7-Vijay Narayan Singh had deposed before the trial Court that on 15.05.2001, he was posted as Circle Officer in Sandila. On that date, he took over the investigation of the case from S.H.O.-Ashok Dixit (P.W.15). On 17.06.2001, he submitted the charge-sheet before the Court concerned against both the accused, Suresh and Lala Ram.

(11) The evidence of P.W.13-Vivek Kumar shows that in the year 2006, he was posted as Chief Pharmacist, at Community Health Centre, Sandila, District Hardoi. At that time, Dr. Yogesh Sethi was posted as Medical Surgeon in Community Health Centre, Sandila, District Hardoi. He proved injury report Ext. Ka. 15 to Ext. Ka. 18 prepared by Dr. Yogesh Sethi.

(14) The post-mortem of the dead-body of the deceased Sunil Kumar was conducted on 14.05.2001 at 04:00 p.m., at Primary Health Centre, Sandila, Hardoi by P.W.11-Dr. K.P. Singh, who found the ante-mortem injuries on his person as enumerated hereinbelow :-

As per the opinion of Dr. K. P. Singh (P.W.11), the deceased died on account of shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuires.

(15) It is significant to mention that Dr. K. P. (16) The case was committed to the Court of Session in the usual manner, where the appellant, Lala Ram and co-accused Lala Ram were charged for offences punishable under Sections 302, 307 I.P.C., Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act and Section 3/25 of the Arms Act. They pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed to be tried. Their defence was that of denial.

(17) During trial, the prosecution, in order to prove its case, had examined fifteen witnesses viz. P.W.1-Sukhdev, P.W.2- Udan, P.W.3-Vinod Kumar Dhobi, P.W.4-Mahadev, P.W.5-Sarvesh Kumar, P.W.6-Constable Rama Shanker Singh, P.W.7-Vijay Narayan Singh, P.W.8-S.I. Khajan Lal, P.W.9-S.I. Sri Krishn Kashyap, P.W.10-Constable Nawab Singh, P.W.11-Dr. K.P. Singh, P.W.12-Munna Lal, P.W.13-Vivek Kumar, P.W.14-Dr. Krishna Kumar Singh and P.W.15-S.I. Ashok Dixit.

(18) From the side of defense/appellant, no witness has been produced.

(19) The statement of appellant, Lala Ram, was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., denying the allegations made in the F.I.R. He stated that he was falsely implicated in the case due to enmity. He was plying rickshaw in Lucknow, wherefrom the police had brought him to home on 15.05.2001; after that false recovery of country-made pistol was made in police station; he was falsely implicated him. He had also stated that on the pressure of Pradhan, the police had lodged the false case against him. He was not named in the F.I.R.

(20) The learned trial Court believed the evidence adduced by the prosecution and convicted and sentenced the appellant, Lala Ram and co-accused Suresh vide judgment and order dated 15.05.2015 in the manner stated in paragraph-1 hereinabove.

(21) Feeling aggrieved by his conviction and sentence under Sections 302, 307 and 3/25 of the Arms Act vide judgment and order dated 15.05.2015, the appellant-Lalaram has preferred the instant criminal appeal.

(22) Heard Shri Manish Bajpai, learned Counsel for the convict/appellant and Ms. Smriti Sahay, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State and perused the material brought on record.

(23) Learned Counsel for the convict/appellant has argued that :-

I. On the basis of written report submitted by the informant P.W.2-Udan, Case Crime No. 160 of 2001, under Section 302, 307 I.P.C. was lodged against unknown persons. The appellant Lala Ram and co-accused Suresh were not named in the F.I.R.

II. P.W.3-Vinod Kumar and P.W.4-Mahadev, who were the injured witnesses, had not supported the prosecution case and they have been declared hostile by the trial Court.

III. P.W.5-Sarvesh Kumar, who was also the injured witness, had also not supported the prosecution case as he had stated in his deposition that someone had fired, as a consequence of which, he, Sukhdev, Vinod and Sunil got shot. P.W.5 had not named anyone in his deposition as to who had fired upon him, four injured persons and deceased Sunil but the learned trial Court had erred in disbelieving the statement of P.W.5 by recording the reasons that on account of fear, P.W.5 had deposed false evidence before the trial Court.

IV. The deceased and five alleged injured persons had received injuries in a celebratory firing that took place in the musical programme. None had seen the appellant Lalaram to open fire at that time as P.W.2-Udan, who is the informant in this case, had not named the appellant and co-accused Suresh in causing fire arm injuries to the deceased Sunil and five accused persons, in his written report. However, just to conceal the incident of celebratory firing and settled the score of political rivalry, the incident of celebratory firing was given the colour of alleged incident.

V. Lastly, it has been pointed out that against the impugned order dated 15.05.2015, co-accused Suresh had earlier preferred Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 : Suresh Vs. State of U.P. A Co-ordinate bench of this Court, vide judgment and order dated 30.06.2016, while allowing the appeal partly, set-aside the conviction and sentence of co-accused Suresh for the offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act; modified his conviction under Section 302 I.P.C. to Section 304 I.P.C.; modified the sentence of life imprisonment to the period of imprisonment for 14 years; confirmed the conviction under Section 307 I.P.C. but his sentence thereunder was modified to 7 years; and confirmed the conviction and sentence for the offence under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act. He argued that the role of the appellant Lalaram is identical to that of co-accused Suresh, hence the benefit of the judgment and order dated 30.06.2016 (supra) passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court may also be granted to the present appellant.

VI. Appellant-Lalram has already undergone imprisonment as under-trial after conviction of about 15 years in jail, hence in view of judgment and order dated 30.06.2016 (supra), the instant appeal also be allowed partly.

(24) Learned Additional Government Advocate, on the other hand, does not dispute the fact that the judgment and order dated 30.06.2016 passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court has been challenged before the higher Court and the role of the appellant Lalaram is identical to that of co-accused Suresh whose Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 was allowed partly by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide judgment and order dated 30.06.2016.

(25) We have examined the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for the parties and gone through the depositions of the prosecution witnesses; the material exhibits tendered and proved by the prosecution; the statements of the appellants recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.; the judgment and order dated 30.06.2016 passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 : Suresh Vs. State of U.P.; and the impugned judgment.

(26) It would become manifest that the trial Court has based the conviction of the appellant Lalaram and co-accused Suresh on the ocular account furnished by injured Sukhdev (P.W.1), the informant P.W.2-Udan, injured Munna Lal (P.W.12) and that of recoveries of weapon of assault effected from the possession of the appellant Lalaram and co-accused Suresh.

(27) The injured P.W.3-Vinod and P.W.4 were turned hostile. The another injured P.W.5-Sarvesh Kumar had deposed that someone had fired. It transpires from the evidence of P.W.5 that P.W.5 had not supported the case of the prosecution.

(28) On considering the depositions of the prosecution witnesses as well as material on record, a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015, decided on 30.06.2016 found that from the evidence, it has been established that some rituals were going on the account of marriage of son of informant P.W.2-Udan and several persons including the appellant Lalaram and co-accused Suresh were firing in air to express happiness in marriage, but suddenly information spread about the falling of a person from roof. On this information people started rushing towards the spot of that accident. Therefore, their shots had strayed towards the crowd that included deceased Sunil Kumar and other injured persons including PW-3 Vinod Kumar and PW-4 Mahadeo and PW-5 Sarvesh Kumar. Convict/appellant had no enmity or any motive against any of the injured or the deceased. Before receiving the information of falling of a person from roof, there was no accident or injury to any person, but immediately after spreading of this news accidental fires had caused injuries to these persons. These facts were proved from oral evidences of injured and other witnesses. It was also admitted that those injuries were caused by firing during celebratory Firing. Thus, it is proved that at the time of incident there was no motive to cause injury. It is a case of serious negligence on part of appellant.

(29) After recording the aforesaid findings, a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 (supra) came to the conclusion that the appellant Suresh is found guilty for the act of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, which is punishable under Section 304 I.P.C. and accordingly, vide order dated 30.06.2016, partly allowed the appeal. The operative part of the order dated 30.06.2016 reads as under :-

"In view of the facts and discussion, the order of conviction for offence u/s 3 (2) (v) of S.C./S.T. Act is set-aside. The conviction u/s 302 I.P.C. imposed on the appellant is hereby modified u/s 304 I.P.C., and the sentence of imprisonment for life is modified to period of imprisonment for 14 years. The conviction u/s 307 IPC imposed on the appellant is hereby confirmed but the sentence of imprisonment for life is modified to 7 years. The conviction and sentence u/s 3/25 Arms Act imposed on the appellant is confirmed. With the modification of conviction, punishment and sentence, the appeal is partially allowed. Sentences shall run concurrently."

(30) During course of arguments, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State has not disputed the facts that the role of the appellant Lalaram is identical to that of co-accused Suresh, whose conviction and sentences vide judgment and order dated 30.06.2016 (supra) passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court has been modified.

(31) Par contra, learned Counsel for the appellant, during the course of arguments, has not challenged the facts that on the date of the incident, appellant Lalaram had fired shot on the body of the deceased and also on the body of several persons, rather he admitted the fact that those injuries were caused by firing during celebratory firing. It is established that at the time of the incident, there was no motive to cause injury, hence it appears to be a case of a serious negligence on the part of the appellant Lalaram.

(32) At this juncture, it would apt to mention that a culpable homicide is a murder if the act which causes death is done with the intention of causing death or is done with intention of causing a bodily injury and such injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. All murder is culpable homicide but not vice versa. This is the degree of probability of death which determines whether a culpable homicide is of the gravest, medium or the lowest degree.

(33) In Kesar Singh v. State of Haryana : (2008) 15 SCC 753" Hon'ble Apex had held :

"To put it shortly, the prosecution must prove the following facts before it can bring a case under Section 300 "Thirdly":

First, it must establish, quite objectively, that a bodily injury is present;

Secondly, the nature of the injury must be proved; these are purely objective investigations.

Thirdly, it must be proved that there was an intention to inflict that particular bodily injury, that is to say, that it was not accidental or unintentional, or that some other kind of injury was intended.

Once these three elements are proved to be present, the enquiry proceeds further and,

Fourthly, it must be proved that the injury of the type just described made up of the three elements set out above is sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature. This part of the enquiry is purely objective and inferential and has nothing to do with the intention of the offender.

Once these four elements are established by the prosecution (and, indisputably, the burden is on the prosecution throughout) the offence is murder under Section 300 "Thirdly". It does not matter that there was no intention to cause death. It does not matter that there was no intention even to cause an injury of a kind that is sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature (not that there is any real distinction between the two). It does not even matter that there is no knowledge that an act of that kind will be likely to cause death. Once the intention to cause the bodily injury is actually found to be proved, the rest of the enquiry is purely objective and the only question is whether, as a matter of purely objective inference, the injury is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. No one has a licence to run around inflicting injuries that are sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature and claim that they are not guilty of murder. If they inflict injuries of that kind, they must face the consequences; and they can only escape if it can be shown, or reasonably deduced that the injury was accidental or otherwise unintentional."

(34) In the instant case, it is proved from the evidence that the charged act was committed by the appellant without intention of murder. From the evidences, it appears probable that the appellant had negligently caused injuries to every person who was found near range of fire without properly knowing as to whether it may cause death or serious injury. This matter comes within Exception 1 of Section 300 IPC. Therefore, the appellant is found guilty of act of culpable homicide not amounting to murder which is punishable under section 304 IPC.

(35) Now, only one question remains and that is the quantum of sentence to be awarded to the appellant-Lalaram for the offence under Section 304 I.P.C.

(36) In Hazara Singh v. Raj Kumar : (2013) 9 SCC 516, the Apex Court held that :

"it is clear that the maximum punishment provided therein is imprisonment for life or a term which may extend to 10 years. Although Section 307 does not expressly state the minimum sentence to be imposed, it is the duty of the courts to consider all the relevant factors to impose an appropriate sentence. The legislature has bestowed upon the judiciary this enormous discretion in the sentencing policy, which must be exercised with utmost care and caution. The punishment awarded should be directly proportionate to the nature and the magnitude of the offence. The benchmark of proportionate sentencing can assist the Judges in arriving at a fair and impartial verdict."

"17. We reiterate that in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. We also reiterate that undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The court must not only keep in view the rights of the victim of the crime but also the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment."

(37) It is pertinent to mention that only because Section 304 IPC provides the life imprisonment as the maximum sentence, does not mean that Court should mechanically proceed to impose the maximum sentences, more particularly when the incident had occurred suddenly, and accidently due to negligence.

(38) In Devidas Ramachandra Tuljapurkar v. State of Maharashtra : (2015) 6 SCC 1, the Apex Court had held :

"While we see no reason to differ with the concurrent findings recorded by the trial court and the High Court, we do see some substance in the argument raised on behalf of the appellants that keeping in view the prosecution evidence, the attendant circumstances, the age of the accused and the fact that they have already been in jail for a considerable period, the Court may take lenient view as far as the quantum of sentence is concerned. The offences having been proved against the accused and keeping in view the attendant circumstances, we are of the considered view that ends of justice would be met, if the punishment awarded to the appellants is reduced."

(39) In Ramashraya Chakravarti v. State of M.P. : (1976) 1 SCC 281, the Apex Court had observed :

"To adjust the duration of imprisonment to the gravity of a particular offence is not always an easy task. Sentencing involves an element of guessing but often settles down to practice obtaining in a particular court with inevitable differences arising in the context of the times and events in the light of social imperatives. It is always a matter of judicial discretion subject to any mandatory minimum prescribed by law."

"In judging the adequacy of a sentence the nature of the offence, the circumstances of its commission, the age and character of the offender, injury to individuals or to society, effect of the punishment on the offender, eye to correction and reformation of the offender, are some amongst many other factors which would be ordinarily taken into consideration by courts trial courts in this country already overburdened with work have hardly any time to set apart for sentencing reflection. This aspect is missed or deliberately ignored by the accused lest a possible plea for reduction of sentence may be considered as weakening his defence. In a good system of administration of criminal justice pre-sentence investigation may be of great sociological value."

(40) One of the prime objectives of the criminal law is imposition of an appropriate, adequate, just and proportionate sentence commensurate with the nature and gravity of the crime and the manner in which the crime is done. For sentencing an accused on proof of crime the courts have evolved certain principles; the twin objective of the sentencing policy is deterrence and correction. It lies within the discretion of the court to choose a particular sentence within the available range from minimum to maximum. What sentence would meet the ends of justice depends on the facts and circumstances of each case and the court must keep in mind the gravity of the crime, motive for the crime, nature of the offence and all other attendant circumstances.

(41) In considering the adequacy of the sentence which neither be too severe nor too lenient the court has, therefore, to keep in mind the motive and magnitude of the offence, the circumstances in which it was committed and the age and character (including his antecedents) and situation in life of the offender.

(42) In Gurmukh Singh v. State of Haryana : (2009) 15 SCC 635, the Apex Court had discussed points to be taken into account before passing appropriate sentence as under :

"23. These are some factors which are required to be taken into consideration before awarding appropriate sentence to the accused. These factors are only illustrative in character and not exhaustive. Each case has to be seen from its special perspective. The relevant factors are as under:

(a) Motive or previous enmity;

(b) Whether the incident had taken place on the spur of the moment;

(c) The intention/knowledge of the accused while inflicting the blow or injury;

(d) Whether the death ensued instantaneously or the victim died after several days;

(e) The gravity, dimension and nature of injury;

(f) The age and general health condition of the accused;

(g) Whether the injury was caused without premeditation in a sudden fight;

(h) The nature and size of weapon used for inflicting the injury and the force with which the blow was inflicted;

(i) The criminal background and adverse history of the accused;

(j) Whether the injury inflicted was not sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death but the death was because of shock;

(k) Number of other criminal cases pending against the accused;

(l) Incident occurred within the family members or close relations;

(m) The conduct and behaviour of the accused after the incident. Whether the accused had taken the injured/the deceased to the hospital immediately to ensure that he/she gets proper medical treatment?

These are some of the factors which can be taken into consideration while granting an appropriate sentence to the accused.

The list of circumstances enumerated above is only illustrative and not exhaustive. In our considered view, proper and appropriate sentence to the accused is the bounded obligation and duty of the court. The endeavour of the court must be to ensure that the accused receives appropriate sentence, in other words, sentence should be according to the gravity of the offence. These are some of the relevant factors which are required to be kept in view while convicting and sentencing the accused."

(43) Now matter is limited to sentence for offence under Section 304 IPC, and we have to consider about the appropriate deserts for the appellant in this case. For it aggravating circumstances relating to the crime while mitigating circumstances relating to the criminal has to be considered. At the time of commission of charged incident age of appellant was about 35 years. He had knowledge of the fact that he had no licence to use the fire arm actually used by him. It is a thing of common knowledge that celebratory firing is not proper, especially in a crowded area. From facts and circumstances of the case it is clear that the appellant initially had no intention for murder/ homicide or causing any injury. Appellant has no criminal history and is in incarceration for about 14 years. Apart from these mitigating circumstances, it is noteworthy that charged incident was due to negligence. Appellant had committed the charged act deliberately.

(44) Sri Manish Bajpai, learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the appellant was tried alongwith co-accused, Suresh, who has preferred Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 before this court. The appellant and co-accused, Suresh were convicted under section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment and for other offences etc. and the Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 preferred by co-accused, Suresh has been partially allowed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this court vide judgment and order dated 30-06-2016 and the conviction awarded under section 302 I.P.C. was modified to section 304 I.P.C. and sentence for life imprisonment was also modified to the period of 14 years in the case of co-accused Suresh.

(45) Learned counsel for the appellant has also contended that the present appellant-Lalaram has already undergone imprisonment as under trial and after conviction for about 15 years in jail, therefore, the present appeal may also be allowed partly in view of the judgment and order dated 30-06-2016 passed in Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015 preferred by Co-accused-Suresh.

(46) In present case after considering the circumstances presented before the trial Court and before this Court during hearing of appeal, it appears appropriate that the conviction under Section 302 IPC and sentence for it should be converted in conviction under Section 304 IPC only and its sentence should not exceed more than 15 years' imprisonment.

(47) Likewise this Court found it appropriate that conviction for charge under Section 307 IPC should be mitigated in present set of circumstances to 7 years' imprisonment which would serve the ends of justice.

(48) In view of above facts and discussion, the conviction under Section 302 IPC imposed on the appellant-Lalaram is hereby modified under Section 304 IPC, and the sentence of imprisonment for life is modified to period of imprisonment for 15 years. The conviction and sentence under Section 3/25 Arms Act imposed on the appellant is confirmed.

(49) With the aforesaid modification of conviction, punishment and sentence, the appeal is partly allowed in terms of the judgment and order dated 30-06-2016 passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 767 of 2015. Sentences will run concurrently.

(50) Let the copy of this judgment as well as lower Court record be sent to the trial Court for necessary information and ensuring compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred by appellant, Mahesh Rathaur against the judgment and order dated 30th May, 2013 passed by the Special Judge/Additional Sessions Judge, Etawah in Sessions Trial No. 167 of 2012 (State Vs. Mahesh Rathaur), arising out of Crime No. 234 of 2012, under Sections 323,376 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station-Bakevar, District-Etawah, whereby the accused-appellant has been convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life for the offence punishable under Section 376 I.P.C. with a fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in default thereof, to further undergo six months simple imprisonment.

2. We have heard Mr. Shiva Nand Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the accused-appellant and Mr. Arunendra Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State as also perused the entire materials available on record.

3. The prosecution story, as reflected from the records, is as follows:

On the basis of oral report made by the informant/P.W.-4, namely, Mr. Yasin Ali, a case being Crime No. 234 of 2012 under Sections 323,376/511 and 506 I.P.C. was registered on 5th April, 2012 at 03:20 p.m. at Police Station-Bakevar, District Etawah alleging therein that on 3rd April, 2012 at about 03:00 p.m., the daughter of the informant (hereinafter referred to as the "victim"), aged about 11 years, who was studying in Class-V), along with her younger brother, namely, Ansar aged about 7 years, went to jungle/ravine situated outside the village for collecting woods, where the accused-appellant, who was already present there, with an evil intention, grabbed the victim and dragged her inside the jungle/ravine and he attempted to rape her. It is also alleged that when the victim protested, she was assaulted and threatened not to disclose about the incident to her parents. After coming to her house, the victim informed her mother about the said incident. It is further alleged that since the first informant-P.W.4 had gone to his relative's place and returned only on 5th April, 2012, therefore, as soon as he came to know about the incident, he has come to the Police Station for lodging his report. On the basis of the aforesaid report, the victim was taken to the hospital by Women Constables, namely, Sunita Devi and Pinki Devi for her medical examination, where Dr. Jyotsana Bhatia (P.W.-1) examined the victim internally and for external injuries, she was referred to Emergency Medical Officer. Dr. Jai Prakash Chaudhari (P.W.-3) examined the external injuries of the victim. For knowing the correct age of the victim, she was referred to the District Hospital, Etawah for X-ray, where Dr. Dinesh Singh conducted the same.

4. Dr. Jyotsana Bhatia (P.W.-1), who conducted the medical examination of the victim internally, has opined that her hymen was torn and no mark of any injury in her private parts was found nor any bleeding was otherwise found in her private parts. On the basis of said medical examination, no definite opinion about rape was given by P.W.-1. As per the X-ray report, the victim was found to be 11 years of age. Report of the Internal examination of the victim is as follows:

"Hymen torn, vagina admits one finger, vaginal smear taken and send to pathologist. No mark of injury on private parts. No bleeding. P/V. She has not attained menarche."

5. Dr. Jai Prakash Chaudhari (P.W.-3), who examined the external injuries of the victim, has found following four injuries on the body of the victim:

(ii) abrasion 2 cm long linear lie on back of left elbow; dark brownish red scab formed,
(iii) contusion size 4 x 2 cm on dorsum of left hand & 2 cm. above left wrist, bluish black, and

In the opinion of P.W.3, all the above injuries found on the body of the victim, are simple in nature.

6. The statement of the first informant/P.W.-4 along with that of the victim/P.W.-5 was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the Investigating Officer. Thereafter charge-sheet was submitted against the accused appellant under Sections 323, 376/511 and 506 I.P.C. The Magistrate concerned took cognizance of the charge-sheet and as the offence was triable by the court of Sessions, the same was committed to the Court of Sessions. Consequently, Sessions Trial No. 167 of 2012 (State Vs. Mahesh Rathaur) was registered in the matter. The trial proceeded in the matter and the statements of various witnesses were recorded.

7. It was the first time that when the informant was produced as P.W.-4, he in his statement made before the trial court on 2nd January, 2013, which was completed on 19th March, 2013, has stated that the offence of rape was committed by the accused-appellant upon the victim instead of attempt to rape, as disclosed earlier in the first information report and the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and thereafter, the victim, who was produced before the Court as P.W.-5, in her statement made on 7th March,2013 has stated that she was raped by the accused-appellant. On the basis of aforesaid statements of P.W.-4 and P.W.-5, the charges were altered on 14th March, 2013 so as to delete Section 511 I.P.C. and the accused-appellant was charged under Section 376 I.P.C., whereas initially, in view of the framing of charge order dated 9th December, 2012, the accused-appellant was charged under Sections 323, 376/511 and 506 I.P.C. It is thereafter that the trial proceeded and statements of other witnesses were recorded in the matter.

8. In order to bring home the charge, the prosecution has adduced the evidence of Dr. Jyotsana Bhatia as P.W.-1, who has stated that she has conducted the preliminary medical examination of victim and latter referred her for examination of external injuries to the Emergency Medical Officer. P.W.-1 has stated in her examination-in-chief that in the internal examination conducted by her, she found that the hymen was torn and no mark of any injuries in private parts of the victim was found.

9. Head Police Constable-13, namely, Nathu Ram, who has proved that Chik first information report, has been adduced as P.W.-2. He has stated that he entered the contents of the oral report of the informant in the General Diary. P.W.-2 has categorically stated in his cross-examination that he had correctly recorded the complaint of first informant (P.W.-4), who has also been read out of the complaint, on which he has affixed his thumb impression. P.W.-2 has clearly stated that he was informed by the informant (P.W.-4) that the daughter of the victim (P.W.-5) was dragged inside the jungle/ravine and raped was attempted upon her by the accused-appellant. No external injuries were otherwise noticed by him on the victim.

10. Dr. Jai Prakash Chaudhary, who has examined the external injuries of the victim, has been adduced as P.W.-3. He has stated that on examination of the victim, he found four injuries on the body of the victim, which has been quoted herein above and in his opinion, the same are simple in nature.

11. Yasin Ali, informant, who is father of the victim, has been adduced as P.W.-4 on 2nd January, 2013 (whose statement has been completed on 19th March, 2013). He has supported the prosecution story by stating that the victim was forcibly taken in the jungle/ravine and she was raped by the accused-appellant. It is further stated that this fact was disclosed by the victim to her mother just after the incident but the informant was informed by the mother of the victim about the same when he returned from the place of his relative. In the said statement, P.W.-4 claims to have informed the Police personnel about the commissioning of the offence of rape upon the victim but in that event it was not recorded in the first information report, he cannot yet give any reason.

12. Victim has also been adduced as P.W.5 on 7th March, 2013, who has fully supported the prosecution story by stating that he was forcibly dragged by the accused-appellant in the jungle/ravine and was raped. In her cross-examination, the victim/P.W.-5 has admitted that her father (informant-P.W.4) was working in the agricultural field of Chandu Bajpai, who had contested the election of the post of Village Pradhan, who had lost to Nawab Singh and that the accused, his brother and other family members were in the party of Nawab Singh. She has also stated that when the cattle herders and other people including Shiv Bharat came to the spot, Mahesh was on her body and seeing them, he ran away. No one has tried to catch him. All the persons had seen the condition of the victim.

13. The Investigating Officer, Sub-Inspector Malkhan Singh has been examined as P.W.-6, who has clearly stated that the victim had not disclosed the factum of rape in her statement recorded by the Police under Section 161 Cr.P.C. He has further stated that the blood stained clothes of the victim (P.W.-5) were also not provided to the Investigating Officer and no recovery memo in that regard was made. He has categorically stated that on the basis of evidence collected during investigation, he did not found the offence of rape committed in the matter and on the basis of statement of victim at best a case of attempt to rape was commissioned and therefore, charge-sheet was filed in that regard. P.W.-6 has also stated that the first informant in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. has also not disclosed about the commissioning of offence of rape upon the victim.

14. After recording of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused-appellant was also recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which he has denied his involvement in the alleged offence and denied the allegation/charge. Accused appellant has specifically stated before the trial court that due to village party bandi, he has been falsely implicated in this case and he is otherwise, innocent. The defence did not examine any witness from its side.

15. From the material placed on record, it does not appear that the statement of the victim (P.W.-5) was recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. upon the Magistrate concerned and in her statement recorded by the Police under Section 161 Cr.P.C., she had only disclosed about the offence of attempt of rape and not actual commissioning of offence of rape.

16. The trial court on the basis of evidence adduced during the course of trial, has found the offence under Section 376 I.P.C. to have been committed against the victim and consequently, has awarded sentence of life imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 10,000/- .

17. Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and order of conviction and sentence, the accused-appellant is before this Court by means of the present criminal appeal.

18. Mr. Shivanand Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the accused-appellant submits that as per the prosecution version, the alleged incident took place on 3rd April, 2012 at 03:00 p.m. whereas the first information report has been lodged by the informant/P.W.-4 on 5th April, 2012 at 03:20 P.M. i.e. three days delay for which no plausible explanation has been given by the prosecution.

19. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant also submits that the victim in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the Police had only alleged attempt to rape and had not disclosed about any actual act of rape committed upon her. He further submits that the accused-appellant has been falsely implicated and that the medical report does not support the commissioning of rape upon the victim. As per the medical examination report of the victim, neither there was any mark of injury in the private parts of her body nor any bleeding was noticed. He then submits that the hymen of the victim was otherwise found torn. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant submits that the accused-appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case only on account of village enmity, as he had supported Nawab Singh, who won the election on the post of Village Pradhan against Chandu Bajpai, for whom the first informant (P.W.-4) worked. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant next submits that in the first information report as also in the statements of the witnesses including the victim and informant recorded under Sections 161 Cr.P.C., the disclosure is only about attempt to rape and that is why, the charge-sheet was submitted under Sections 323, 506 and 376/511 I.P.C. against the accused-appellant. Submission is that nearly after eleven months from the date of lodging of the first information report to be precise on 5th April, 2012 and after nearly nine months from the date of recording of statements of the victim and informant under Section 161 Cr.P.C. it was the first time that when the informant was produced as P.W.-4, he in his statement recorded before the trial court on 2nd January, 2013, which was completed on 19th March, 2013, has stated that the offence of rape was committed by the accused-appellant upon the victim and thereafter, the victim, who was adduced before the Court as P.W.-5, in her statement recorded before the trial court on 7th March,2013, has stated that she was raped by the accused-appellant. The aforesaid change in the version of the prosecution (statements of P.W.-4 informant and P.W.-5 victim) clearly indicates that it is a case of improvement. Such improvement has only been made by the prosecution only to falsely implicate the accused-appellant. The subsequent change of stand of the victim does not find any corroboration from the material available on record, and therefore, the trial court has grossly erred in relying upon the statement of the victim as P.W.5, where statement ought to have been subjected to greater scrutiny. It is also argued by the learned counsel for the accused-appellant that in such circumstances, the conviction of the accused-appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. cannot be legally sustained. On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned counsel for the accused-appellant submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction is liable to be quashed.

20. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, has supported the prosecution version and submits that the statement of the victim is credible in the facts and circumstances of the case and since she has clearly disclosed about the commissioning of the offence of rape, therefore, the trial court has not committed any error in recoding conviction of the accused-appellants under Section 376 I.P.C.

21. It is in the context of above facts that the present appeal has come up before us for hearing.

22. We have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the records of the present appeal specially the judgment and order of conviction and the evidence adduced before the trial court.

23. The facts as have been noticed above would clearly go to show that a first information report was lodged on 5th April, 2012 in respect of the incident of 3rd April, 2012 on the oral complaint of the first informant, namely, Yasin Ali. Thumb impression of the informant has been affixed on the report, which contains the allegations about the attempt of rape being committed upon the victim by the accused-appellant. The first information report does not contain any allegation with regard to actual commissioning of rape. Medical examination report of the victim, which has been submitted by Dr. Jyotsana Bhatia (P.W.-1), who has examined the victim internally, shows that neither there was any mark of injury in the private parts of the body of the victim nor any bleeding was observed but hymen of the victim was otherwise found torn. On the basis of such report, the Doctor has clearly opined that no definite opinion about the rape can be given in the matter. We further find from the records that the statements of the victim as also her father i.e. informant were recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which they have alleged only about the attempt of rape upon the victim and there is no allegation in their statements about the actual commissioning of rape. The Investigating Officer (P.W.-6) and the Head Police Constable Nathu Ram (P.W.-2), who has proved the chik first information report have also clearly stated that the first informant only alleged attempt to rape upon the victim in his complaint and has never claimed about actual rape being committed upon the victim. It is on the basis of contents of first information report as also the statements of the witnesses including the victim and informant under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that the charge-sheet was submitted under Sections 323, 506 and 376/511 I.P.C. in the matter on 18th April, 2012.

24. It is almost after nine months of the alleged incident which took place on 3rd April, 2012 that for the first time, the informant in his statement recorded before the trial court as P.W.4 on 2nd January, 2012 and therefore, in the statement of victim as P.W.5 on 7th March, 2013, they have come up with a different story of actual commissioning of rape. However, the complaint made orally by the informant-P.W.-4 did not contain any allegation with regard to rape upon the victim.

25. In the facts and circumstances of the case, we do not find the statements of the informant and the victim made for the first time before the trial court as P.W.-4 and P.W.-5 about the commissioning of offence under Section 376 I.P.C., reliable or convincing. We find that the statements of the first informant-P.W.4 and the victim-P.W.5 about commissioning of offence of rape, appears to be clear improvement in the prosecution version, inasmuch as no plausible explanation has been put forth as to why such disclosure was not made, when the first information report itself was lodged or when the statements of such witnesses including the victim and informant were recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Even at the time of framing of charge i.e. 9th October, 2012, such facts were not disclosed by the first informant or the victim. The statement made by the informant for the first time in Court as P.W.-4 on 2nd January, 2013, after nearly nine months from the date of alleged incident of commissioning of offence, therefore, does not inspire confidence of the Court. It may also be noticed that the accused appellant has asserted in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he has been falsely implicated on account of enmity relating to election on the post of Village Pradhan and the victim in her cross-examination has also admitted that her father was supporting Chandu Bajpai for whom he worked, who had lost election of the said post to Nawab Singh to whom the accused-appellant and his family members supported.

26. Subsequent statements of the victim-P.W.-5 and informant-P.W.4, therefore, do not appear to be reliable, particularly when it is otherwise not supported by medical evidence.

27. So far as the charge under Section 376/511 I.P.C. against the accused-appellant is concerned, we find that the first information report does contain specific allegations in that regard and the victim along with other witnesses have also supported such allegations. From the medical examination report of the victim submitted by Dr. J.P. Chaudhary (P.W.-3), who examined her externally, there were two marks of abrasion as also two marks of contusion on the body of the victim, which are, in the opinion of P.W.-3, were about 48 hours old.

28. From the statement of the victim, coupled with the marks of injuries sustained by her and the statements of other witnesses, we find that the charge originally framed against the accused-appellant of attempt to rape under Section376/511 I.P.C. is proved beyond reasonable doubt.

29. In view of the above discussions, the present appeal succeeds in part. The conviction of the accused-appellant is altered from Section 376 I.P.C. to Section 376/511 I.P.C. and in view of the provisions contained in Section 57 I.P.C., the accused appellant is sentenced to undergo 10 years imprisonment. The imposition of fine upon the appellant. as was imposed under the impugned judgment and order of conviction, is, however, sustained.

30. Accordingly, the present appeal stands partly allowed.

31. In the event, the accused-appellant has already served the aforesaid sentence i.e. 10 years as on date, he shall be released on compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. and payment of fine, unless he is wanted in any other case.

1. This jail appeal has been preferred by the appellant, Babu Ram Maurya challenging the judgment and order dated 17th April, 2010 passed by the Special Judge (Prevention of Corruption Act)/ Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly passed in Sessions Trial No. 117 of 2008 (State vs. Babu Ram Maurya) under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C. as also in Sessions Trial No. 118 of 2008 (State Vs. Babu Ram Maurya) under Sections 4/25 Arm Act, arising out of Crime No. 870 of 2007, Police Station-Subhash Nagar, District-Bareilly, whereby the accused-appellant has been convicted and sentenced to undergo (i) life imprisonment under Section 302 I.P.C. with fine of Rs. 20,000/-, in default thereof, he has to further undergo two years additional

2. We have heard Mr. Kumar Kartikay, learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of the appellant and Mrs. Archana Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State and have carefully perused the materials available on record.

3. Records of the present jail appeal reveal that a first information report was registered under Sections 302/201 I.P.C. as Crime No. 868 of 2007 on 11th June, 2007 at 07:15 a.m. (morning) on a written report of the Village Chaukidar, namely, Murari Lal son of Hori Lal, who had found an unknown naked body of a lady in the agricultural field of Dori Lal Kanaujiya with incised injury marks on her abdomen and private parts. Her intestine had come out and injuries were also found on her face and she was bleeding. Her bangles were broken. Seeing her condition, it appeared that she was killed elsewhere and thereafter her dead body was thrown in the fields of Dori Lal.

4. The inquest of deceased was conducted by the Police at 10:40 a.m. after starting the process at 09:00 a.m. In the opinion of the Panch (Inquest) witnesses, the death of the deceased was homicidal on account of injuries caused to the deceased. Thereafter the dead body of the deceased was sealed and sent for post-mortem.

5. Dr. Sri Krishna, P.W.-8 conducted the post-mortem of the dead body and his report is on record as Exhibit-Ka-9 as per which the deceased was nearly 50 years of age and had died due to shock as a result of following ante-mortem injuries:

"(i) incised wound 3 cm. X 1/2 cm x above, deep on mid part of nose, underneath bone fractured;

(ii) incised wound 2 cm x 1 c x cavity deep on the left side of abdomen just below left costal margin and 11 cm. anterolateral from navel at 1 o'clock position;

(iii) Incised wound 3 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep on the left side of abdomen, 3 cm. below from injury no. 2, flesh part of muscle coming out from wound;

(iv) Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep on the left side of abdomen, 4 cm. Interolateral from injury no.3;

(v) incised wound 2 cm. x 1 cm x muscle deep to flesh of chest, mid line;

(vi) Incised wound size 3 cm. x 1 cm. muscle deep over left side of bubic syphilis area."

6. A subsequent first information report was lodged on 13th June, 2007 at 01:30 p.m. as Crime No. 870 of 2007 under Sections 4/25 Arms Act by the Investigating Officer, Sub-Inspector Rohan Lal, who was also the Investigating Officer in the earlier first information report. It was reported that while conducting investigation in the earlier matter, he met Ravi Kumar son of Seema Kashyap i.e. P.W.-2 and Rampal Kashyap, brother-in-law of Seema Kashyap i.e. P.W.-1,who informed him that the dead body found was of Seema Kashyap and that she has been killed by the accused-appellant, namely, Babu Ram Maurya. The Police party lead by Investigating Officer was informed by the informer that the accused-appellant was about to visit his elder brother at Shanti Vihar. On receiving such information the Police party reached Shanti Vihar and apprehended him. On inquiry, the accused-appellant confessed that he had killed the deceased Seema Kashyap, by stabbing her with a knife at around 08:30 p.m. on 10th June, 2007. He had heavily consumed liquor before that. After killing the deceased Seema Kashyap, the accused-appellant put her clothes, the knife with which he killed her, and a brick, in a bag and threw the same in the drain beneath the culvert situated in front of the Balaji temple.

7. The Police party along with Rampal and Ravi (P.W.-1 & P.W.-2) reached the spot and on the pointing out of the accused-appellant, a plastic bag was recovered containing a brick, clothes of the deceased Seema Kashyap and the knife, purchased by the accused-appellant for committing the crime. The subsequent first information report was registered as Crime No. 870 of 2007.

8. Memo of arrest of the accused-appellant was also prepared, which is marked as Exhibit-Ka-6.

9. Investigation proceeded and the Investigating Officer recorded the statements of Rampal Kashyap, Ravi Kumar and Chhote Lal (P.W.1, P.W.-2 and P.W.5 respectively) and upon conclusion of investigation charge-sheets in both the cases came to be submitted against the accused appellant by the Investigating Officer on 15th June, 2007 and 14th July, 2007, which are marked as Exhibit-Ka-11 and Exhibit-Ka-7 respectively.

10. On submission of charge-sheet, the concerned Magistrate took cognizance in the matter and committed the case to the Court of Sessions by whom the case was to be tried. On 15th March, 2008, the concerned Court framed following two charges against the accused-appellant:

"Firstly: That you on 10.06. 2007 at about 8.30 p.m. in the field of Dori Lal Kannojia mohalla Shanti Bihar within the circle of P.S. Subhashnagar Distt. Bareilly, did commit the murder by intentionally or knowingly causing the death of Smt. Seema by inflicting knife injuries and thereby committed an offence punishable U/s 302 IPC and within the cognizance of this court.

Secondly: That you on the aforesaid date time and place you knowing or having reason to believe that certain offence to wit-murder of Smt. Seema, punishable with death sentence has been committed by you, did cause certain evidence of said offence to disappear, to wit the blood stained clothes of Smt. Seema along with her bag with the intention of screening yourself from the legal punishment, and thereby committed an offence punishable U/s 201 of Indian Penal Code and within the cognizance of this court."

The charges were read out to the accused-appellant, who denied the accusation and demanded trial.

11. The prosecution in order to establish the charges levelled against the accused-appellant relied upon documentary evidence, which were duly proved and consequently marked as Exhibits. The same are catalogued herein below:

(i) the written report given by Chaukdar Murari Lal son of Horilal dated 11th June, 2007 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-1;

(ii) the first information report registered on 11th June, 2007 at 07:/15 on the information of Village Chaukidar, namely, Murari Lal son of Horilal being

Crime No. 868 of 2007, has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-2;

(iii) Inquest report (panchayatnama) of the body of deceased Seema Kashyap has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-13;

(iv) post-mortem report of the deceased Seema Kashyap has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-9;

(v) Memo of arrest of accused-appellant Babu Ram Maurya prepared on 13th June, 2007 by the then Station House Officer, Rohan Lal has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-6

(vi) the first information report registered on 13th June, 2007 at15.30 hours by the Investigating Officer, namely, Sub-Inspector Rohan Lal, the then Station House Officer, Police Station-Subhash Nagar, District-Bareilly being Crime No. 870 of 2007, has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-4; and

(vii) charge-sheet dated 15th June, 2007 submitted in Crime No. 468 of 2007 and charge-sheet dated 14th July, 2007 submitted in Crime No. 470 of 2007 have been marked as Exhibits-Ka-11 and 7 respectively.

12. The prosecution has also adduced oral testimony of following witnesses:-

"i). P.W.-1, namely, Rampal Kashyap, (Behnoi) brother-in-law of the deceased Seema Kashyap; ii).P.W.-2, namely, Ravi Kumar son of deceased Seema Kashyap; ;

iii) P.W.-3, namely, Shashi wife of P.W.-1 and sister of Seema Kashyap;

iv) P.W.-4, namely, Village Chaukidar, Morarilal son of Horilal, first informant of Crime No. 468 of 2007;

v). P.W.-5, namely, Chhote Lal son of Vishram, who is said to be witness of last seen and neighbour of the deceased Seema Kashyap; vi). P.W.-6, namely, Vijay Pathak, who proved the chik first information report of Crime No. 468 of 2007; vii). P.W.-7, namely, Sub Inspector Rohan Lal, the then Station House Officer-Subhash Nagar, District-Bareilly, who lodged the Crime No. 470 of 2007 and investigated the matter; viii). P.W.-8, namely, Dr. Shri Krishan, who conducted the post-mortem on the body of the deceased; ix). P.W.-9, namely, Head Constable-270 Tejram Singh, who proved the chik first information report of Crime No. 470 of 2007 under the provisions of Arms Act; x). P.W.-10, namely, Sub-Inspector Daya Ram Singh the first Investigating Officer; and xi) P.W.-11, namely, Sub-Inspector Rakesh Singh, who conducted the inquest proceedings of the dead body of the deceased Seema Kashyap"

13. During the course of trial, the prosecution witnesses supported the prosecution case by stating that the deceased was previously married to Patey, who died about 7-8 years back and with whom the deceased had a son, namely, Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2); nearly after one year of the death of her first husband i.e. Patey, the deceased Seema Kashyap solemnized her marriage with the accused-appellant Babu Ram, who is a rickshaw-puller and started living with him in Katara Chand Khan; the accused-appellant is alleged to be drunkard, who had two previous wives, both of whom died. From their earlier wedlock, the accused-appellant has two sons, namely, Ajay and Vijay; the accused-appellant after consuming liquor used to beat the deceased and her son, namely, Ravi Kumar P.W.2, and snatch all money earned by deceased as a domestic aid cleaning utensils etc. of other households.

14. About a month and half before the alleged occurrence, the deceased shifted to Kargaun and started living in a rented room in the house of Roop Chand, along with Ravi Kumar P.W.-2. Rampal Kashyap and his wife Shasi (P.W.-1 and P.W.-3) respectively, were also living at Kargaun and the distance between their houses was about 100/150 meters.

15. The prosecution case is that the accused-appellant came to take the deceased from Kargaun but she denied whereafter threats were extended by him to the deceased.

16. Chhotey Lal son of Visram (P.W.-5) was also living in a room in the house of Roop Chand and thus was immediate neighbour of the deceased saw the deceased lastly in the company of accused-appellant near Balaji Temple on 10th June, 2007 at 06:00 p.m. The deceased was not seen alive thereafter. P.W.2 Ravi Kumar after about 08:30 p.m. made efforts to trace her out but failed.

17. On the next morning at about 9 to 10 a.m. Chhotey Lal (P.W.-5) allegedly informed Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) that he had seen his mother with the accused-appellant the earlier day at about 05:00 to 06:00 p.m.

18. In his statement Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) has deposed that on 11th June, 2007 at 10:00 a.m. an unknown lady went to the field of Dori Lal for cutting woods and saw the dead body of a lady wearing Salwar Suit and informed him about it. P.W.2 showed her the photograph of his missing mother, who told him that the dead body was of his mother. However, instead of going to the field of Dori Lal to identify the body, P.W.-2 went to the Police Station Subhash Nagar for lodging the report. The distance between the Police Station and the place of occurrence was about 21 kilometers, whereas the distance between the house of P.W.-2 and the place of occurrence was only one kilometer.

19. The prosecution version is that deceased has been killed by the accused-appellant as she refused to come with him to Katara Chand Khan and her dead body has been thrown in the fields of Dori Lal. The prosecution, therefore, rests its case of circumstantial evidence on the evidence of last seen furnished by Chhotey Lal P.W.5; recovery of the knife and clothes of the deceased at the pointing out of the accused-appellant.

20. At the outset we may note that the knife and clothes belonging to deceased allegedly recovered on the pointing out of the accused-appellant were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory but the report of the forensic science laboratory was not produced. These articles have also not been produced or exhibited during the course of trial.

21. Statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under section 313 Cr.PC in which he has denied having married the deceased or living with her as husband and wife. He has also denied the alleged recovery. He has stated that only on suspicion, P.W. Nos. 1 to 3 took the deceased to Kargaun. In reply to question no.4, the accused-appellant has stated that due to societal pressure, she went to Kargaun for living. In reply to question no.36, the accused-appellant has stated that he was arrested from his house on 12th June, 2007 at Katara Chand Khan and he was kept at Police Station and has been falsely implicated in the present case.

22. On the basis of above evidence adduced during the course of trial, the court below has found the accused-appellant guilty of murdering the deceased as she had refused to join his company. The court below concluded that evidence available on record pointed only to the hypothesis of guilt of the accused appellant and no other hypothesis is possible on facts.

23. Being aggrieved with the impugned judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court, the accused-appellant has preferred the present jail appeal.

24. Assailing the impugned judgment and order of conviction, learned Amicus Curiae Mr. Kumar Kartikay, has advanced following submissions:

(i) the prosecution case rests on circumstantial evidence in which the accused-appellant has been implicated only on the basis of suspicion and no evidence exist to hold the accused-appellant guilty;

(ii) evidence clearly shows that the deceased was living with accused-appellant for nearly seven years without any complaint and only on account of societal pressure as also persuasion of her son i.e. P.W.2, she shifted to Kargaun for living;

(iii) the deceased Seema Kashyap shifted to Kargaun against her free will and it is possible that she wanted to return to Katara Chand Khan and to stop her from doing so she was killed by someone else;

(iv) there is no evidence or report of forensic science laboratory to connect the weapon of assault (knife) with the accused-appellant. The recovery was otherwise not proved as the articles were neither produced nor exhibited during trial;

(v) the recovery has been made from an open place during day time from a congested area without any independent witness/person for verifying/testifying the said recovery;

(vi) Rampal Kashyap and Ravi Kumar i.e. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 respectively, were also present and they had also participated in the recovery proceedings, which makes the prosecution case weak, particularly as P.W.-2 had not singed on the recovery memo on the spot but had signed it later at Police Station;

(vii) the theory of last seen is also not reliable, inasmuch as Chhotey Lal (P.W.-5) is relative of Rampal Kashyap (P.W.-1) and even rental accommodation was arranged by him and soon after the death, he left the house;

(viii) in view of the inconsistency in the statements of the prosecution witnesses; in absence of motive being proved; failure to produce report of Forensic Science Laboratory regarding recovered articles or its production during trial and the theory of last seen being doubtful, the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of accused-appellant beyond reasonable doubt based on circumstantial evidence.

On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned counsel appearing for the appellant submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction ought not be sustained and the appeal be allowed.

25. Per contra, Mrs. Archana Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State, supporting the judgment and order of conviction, has made following submissions:

(i) there is definite motive for the accused-appellant to commit the offence as the deceased had declined to join his company; the deceased was otherwise spotted lastly in the company of the deceased, therefore, the statement of

Chhotey Lal (P.W.-5) is absolutely credible in that regard;

(ii) since P.W.-5 Chottey Lal is a rickshaw-puller without having a fixed abode, therefore, the fact that after some time he shifted elsewhere cannot be a ground to discredit his statement;

(iii) the recovery of the knife, which was used in the offence and the clothes worn by the deceased, on the pointing out of the accused appellant, is clearly a strong material to prove that it was the accused-appellant who committed the offence; and

(iv) as per the post-mortem report, the incised wounds found on the body of the deceased, are clearly shown to have been caused by a knife and knife is also recovered at the pointing out of accused-appellant, therefore, the chain of events pointing exclusively to the guilt of the accused-appellant is firmly established during the course of trial.

On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid submissions, learned A.G.A. submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction does not suffer from any illegally and infirmity so as to warrant any interference by this Court. As such the present jail appeal filed by the accused appellant who committed heinous crime by murdering the deceased is liable to be dismissed.

26. We have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have carefully examined the original records of the case as well as the impugned judgment and order of conviction challenged before us.

27. It is in the context of above submissions and materials placed on record before the Court that this Court is required to consider as to whether the prosecution has established the guilt of accused-appellants on the basis of circumstantial evidence beyond reasonable doubt?

28. Before proceeding with the deliberation any further it would be appropriate to refer to the law governing the case of circumstantial evidence.

29. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (1984) 4 SCC 116, the Apex Court evolved five tests to be established by the prosecution in order to prove the guilt of accused based on circumstantial evidence. Five golden principles have been enumerated in paragraph nos. 152 to 154, which are reproduced hereiafter:

"152. Before discussing the cases relied upon by the High Court we would like to cite a few decisions on the nature, character and essential proof required in a criminal case which rests on circumstantial evidence alone. The most fundamental and basic decision of this Court is Hunumant vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh. This case has been uniformly followed and applied by this Court in a large number of later decisions uptodate, for instance, the cases of Tufail (Alias) Simmi v. State of Uttar Pradesh and Ramgopal v. Stat of Maharashtra. It may be useful to extract what Mahajan, J. has laid down in Hanumant's case (supra):

"It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in thefirst instance be fully established and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground far a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. V. State of Maharashtra, where the following observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say. they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty, (3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

154. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence."

30. Judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (Supra) has consistently been followed and reiterated recently by the Court in the case of Ram Niwas Vs. State of Haryana reported in 2022 SCC On Line SC 1007

31. This is a case of circumstantial evidence. The dead body of deceased has been found by the Village Chaukidar at 07:15 a.m. in the fields of Dorilal. The dead body was naked with multiple wounds on abdomen and her private parts. The first information report was lodged prior to the identification of deceased. The inquest (Panchayatnama) was started at 09:00 a.m. and completed by 10:45 a.m. The inquest witnesses found the deceased to have died due to injuries caused to her and in the opinion of inquest witnesses, the cause of death of the deceased was homicide. The dead body was accordingly sealed and sent to Mortuary for post-mortem, which was conducted at 04:30 p.m. on 11th June, 2007.

32. From the above evidence, it is shown that till 04:30 p.m. the dead body had not been identified and was shown as unknown.

33. The manner in which the dead body came to be identified as that of the mother of Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) is an aspect having significance for the proper appreciation of prosecution case. Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) in his statement claims that he met his mother last on 10th June, 2007 in the morning after which he left for work. Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) was working in P.K. Namkeen Company, which opened at 10:00 a.m. and close at 08:30 p.m. Ravi Kumar claims that he returned early at 08:00 p.m. on 10th June, 2007 and found the room locked. He tried to search his mother along with Rampal (P.W.-1) and Shashi (P.W.-3) but they could not find her. P.W.-2 claims to be informed by a unknown lady who had gone to cut woods that she saw a dead body of a lady wearing Suit in the field of Dori Lal Kannojiya. Ram Pal (P.W.-1) and Shashi (P.W.-3) were with Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) then. Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) claims to have shown the photograph of his mother to this unknown lady who verified that the dead body is that of his mother. The alleged lady who saw the dead body first has neither been produced as witness nor her name has even been disclosed. This unknown lady however saw the deceased wearing a suit.

34. It is difficult to visualize as to how the lady was seen wearing a pink suit at 10:00 a.m. in the morning when as per the first information report lodged at 07:15 p.m., she was naked. We, therefore, find dichotomy in the statement of Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) when he refers to this unknown lady having seen the dead body of her mother wearing a Suit when admittedly the dead body was found naked. In view of the fact that the unknown lady has otherwise not been identified and her statement is not corroborated by the evidence on record, we suspect the existence of this unknown lady in the statement of P.W.-2. Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) otherwise does not claim in his statement to have seen the dead body at the place where it was found by the Police.

35. Ravi Kumar (P.W-2) on the other hand states that he met the Investigating Officer at about 11:00 a.m. on 11th June, 2007 with the photograph of the deceased and he was asked to visit the Mortuary. He claim to have identified the dead body of the deceased at 11:30 a.m. He states that the corpse bearer of the Mortuary had opened the seal of the dead body and got it identified by P.W.-2. It is however difficult to comprehend as to how the dead body was shown to P.W.-2 at 11:30 a.m. when the body itself was sealed at 10:40 a.m. upon the acquisition of inquest. The post-mortem was conducted at 04:30 p.m. and between 10:40 a.m. to 04:30 p.m., there was no occasion to open the seal of corpse or to show it to the P.W.-2.

36. P.W.-10 the Investigating Officer Daya Ram Singh has specifically been confronted with the above incongruity and he has clearly stated that the dead body remained sealed from 10:40 a.m. to 04:30 p.m. in the evening, so it is not possible for anybody to see the dead body during this period. He has also stated that the name of person to show the body to Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) has not been disclosed.

37. The facts noticed above creates doubt in the prosecution story as to how the prosecution witnesses P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 could know before 04:30 p.m. on 11th June, 2007 that the unknown body was that of the deceased. This is so as P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 have specifically stated that they had not visited the place where the dead body was lying and have seen the dead body only in the Mortuary. There is also fallacy in the prosecution case, as P.W.-2 claims that the dead body was wearing Suit while the body recovered by the Police was naked.

38. The second aspect that requires determination is as to how P.W.-1 and P.W.-

2 could know that it was the accused-appellant who had killed the deceased, prior to the alleged recovery made on the pointing out of the accused-appellant in the afternoon on 13th June, 2007. It could only have been a case of doubt on the part of Rampal Kashyap and Ravi Kumar i.e. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 respectively against the accused-appellant.

39. The story of last seen in this case is routed through Chhotey Lal (P.W.5) who in his examination has deposed of having seen the deceased going with Babu Ram Maurya (accused-appellant) carrying a white bag while talking to each other. P.W.-5 claims that when he heard about the recovery of dead body of a lady, he suspected that accused-appellant may have killed the deceased. He informed P.W.-2 that the deceased and the accused appellant were going together at 06: p.m. on 10th June, 2007. P.W.-5 further claims that he went to Mortuary after the post-mortem was over and found the dead body of deceased Seema Kashyap. The statement of P.W.5 has been recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. after four days of incident. In the cross-examination, P.W.-5 has also stated that the deceased was screaming when he saw her with the accused-appellant but this fact has not been mentioned in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. P.W.-5 has specifically been confronted on this aspect.

40. In the recovery memo it has been recorded that the Investigating Officer came to know from the Informer that the murderer of the deceased is the accused-appellant and is hiding and is likely to visit his brother. The question that would arise is as to how the prosecution, even before recovery was made on the pointing out of the accused-appellant could know that it was the accused-appellant who murdered the deceased.

41. The next issue is with regard to recovery of knife and clothes of the deceased on the pointing out of the accused-appellant. First and foremost it is to be noticed that the knife and clothes allegedly recovered on the pointing out of the accused-appellant have not been produced and exhibited before the trial court. According to the prosecution, the knife and other recovered articles on the pointing of the accused-appellant were sent for forensic examination to the Forensic Science Laboratory concerned but no report in that regard was ever produced before the trial court. This is a serious lacuna in the prosecution case and renders the recovery highly suspicious.

42. Even if the recovery is otherwise examined, we find that the accused-appellant, as per the prosecution version, was apprehended at 01:30 p.m. on 13th June, 2007 and he confessed the crime and disclosed that he has thrown the clothes of deceased and knife in a bag, wherein a brick was also kept. He took the Police party to a drain below the culvert in front of Balaji Temple, where he allegedly had thrown this bag. A wet plastic bag was recovered containing a brick; pink colour Chunari having embroidery with blood stained; a pink colour Kurta and Salwar; an old white Bra with plastic on the side; and an iron knife.

43. There is admittedly no independent witness to the above recovery. Rampal Kashyap (P.W.-1) and Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) were also present at the time of recovery. P.W.-2 has stated that memo of recovery was not signed by him but the signatures of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and the accused-appellant were obtained on it only at the Police Station. P.W.-2 has also stated that on the spot pointed out by the accused-appellant, P.W.-2 and P.W.-1 searched for half an hour and thereafter the accused-appellant took out the bag containing knife, clothes of the deceased and a brick.

44. The manner in which the recovery is shown from the accused-appellant, is otherwise rendered doubtful in absence of any independent witness and the statement of the prosecution witness i.e. P.W.-2 himself has contradicted the recovery memo by saying that signatures of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and the accused-appellant were obtained later at the Police Station. In the absence of any forensic report, the production of recovered articles and serious inconsistency in the statement of witnesses, we find the recovery not to be proved.

45. According to the prosecution the deceased has been murdered by the accused-appellant as she had refused to join his company and there was a fight between the deceased and the accused appellant, thereafter the dead body has been found.

46. The evidence on the aspect of motive therefore, needs to be carefully examined.

47. P.W.-1 Rampal Kashyap who happens to be the husband of younger sister of deceased, has deposed that the deceased was married to Patey, resident of Katara Chand Khan who died about 7-8 years back. Out of this wedlock, the deceased had a son, namely, Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2). Accused-appellant was the friend of Patey and used to visit the deceased house. After about one year of the death of Patey, the accused-appellant married the deceased, who started living with the accused-appellant at Katara Chand Khan along with her son Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2).

48. The relationship of deceased with the accused-appellant was not liked by the relatives of deceased and her son. This apparently was the reason for the deceased to leave the company of accused-appellant and shift to Kargaun. The statement of Ravi Kumar (P.W.-2) is relevant when he says that his mother was living willingly with the accused-appellant. He has stated that he used to hear comments from neighbor on account of living together of deceased with the accused-appellant and he felt sad. P.W.-2 has also deposed that his uncle Chhote Lal had stopped talking to him and the deceased, when they were living at Katara Chand Khan since his uncle was hurt on account of the deceased living with the accused appellant. He has also stated that he was defamed on account of living together of the deceased with the accused appellant. He has further disclosed that P.W.-1 and P.W.-3, Rampal Kashyap and Shashi Kashyap respectively were also disturbed and felt defamed and tried to persuade the deceased jointly and separately to discontinue her relationship with the accused-appellant.

49. P.W.-2 although has deposed that the accused-appellant used to beat him and his mother after consuming liquor for which a report was lodged at Police Post-Jagatpur about two years prior to the death of the deceased but the copy of complaint was not produced before the trial court. He has admitted that this fact has also not been disclosed to the Investigating Officer, earlier.

50. Evidence on record, therefore, shows two distinct versions in respect of the motive for crime. We find that the deceased was living with the accused-appellant for several years against the wishes of prosecution witnesses, i.e. P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, who felt defamed on account of their living together. The prosecution witnesses have admitted their objection to the living together of the deceased with the accused appellant and making endeavors to separate them. P.W.-2 particularly felt humiliated on hearing comments against her mother on account of her living with the accused-appellant. It is, therefore, apparent that the deceased, under pressure of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, left Katara Chand Khan about a month prior to date of her murder to Kargaun. The rented accommodation was arranged by P.W.-1 close to his house. P.W.-5 was also close to P.W.-1 and his accommodation was also arranged by P.W.-1. He has supported the prosecution version by saying that the accused-appellant came twice to take the deceased but she refused to come with him. He has also claimed that the deceased was screaming when she was last seen with the accused appellant at 06:00 p.m. on 10th June, 2007.

51. From the analysis of evidence led on the aspect of the motive, it is clearly discernible that the deceased was living with the accused-appellant out of her own free will and it was the prosecution witnesses who were annoyed with their relationship. Although it is alleged that the accused-appellant used to beat her after consuming liquor but no such material in the form of any police report etc. has been produced. The deceased apparently had to shift to Kargaun only under the pressure of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 and it was not voluntary act on her part to shift to Kargaun.

52. Two eventualities could have happened. It could be the prosecution version that the accused-appellant felt bad when the deceased left his company and as she refused to join her, the accused-appellant killed her. The other eventuality could be that the deceased wanted to return to Katara Chand Khan and the family members, who were annoyed with her for the relationship with the accused-appellant, killed her so that she may not go back to the accused appellant.

53. On facts, we, therefore, find that the plea of motive has not pointed exclusively to the hypothesis of guilt against the accused-appellant but the alternative hypothesis does exist on facts, which may support the innocence of the accused-appellant.

54. On carefully evaluating all evidence existing on record, we find that chain of events pointing exclusively to the hypothesis of guilt on part of the accused-appellant is clearly not established in the facts of the case. Rather, alternative hypothesis does exist on facts to support the appellant's innocence. In such circumstances, the conviction of the accused-appellant based on the circumstantial evidence would clearly be impermissible. Contrary view taken by the trial court, while passing the impugned judgment of conviction, cannot thus be approved of.

55. We have examined the judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court, which has merely noticed the prosecution version and thereafter has referred to various judgments to hold that the prosecution has established guilt of the accused-appellant based on circumstantial evidence. The trial court has not carefully examined the statements of the prosecution witnesses so as to evaluate the evidence in its entirety for determining whether an alternative hypothesis, other than the guilt of accused appellant exists on facts. The plea of last seen based on the statement of P.W.-5; without subjecting his statement to closer scrutiny; apparent fallacy in the recovery made on the pointing out of the accused so as to connect him with the offence; improper evaluation of motive based on evidence placed on record, clearly renders the judgment of the trial court unsustainable in the eyes of law. Even legal principles have not been correctly applied by the trial court while convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant to life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C.

56. In view of the above discussions, we hold that the impugned judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court cannot be legally sustained and is accordingly set aside. The accused-appellant is clearly entitled to benefit of doubt. As he has already suffered incarceration of almost 15 years since the date of his conviction, he is entitled to be released forthwith.

57. Accordingly, the present appeal stands allowed.

58. The accused-appellant shall be released on compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C., unless he is wanted in any other case forthwith.

59. We record our appreciation for the able assistance rendered in the case by Mr. Kumar Kartikay, learned Amicus Curiae, who would be entitled to his fee from the High Court Legal Service Authority, quantified as Rs. 15,000/-

60. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly henceforth, who shall transmit the same to the concerned Jail Superintendent for release of the accused-appellant in terms of this judgment.

9. On behalf of defence, copy of judgment dated 06.09.2018 (State Vs. Abhay Singh and others) relating to Crime No.0428 of 1999, certified copy of this Court's order dated 01.05.2017 and other orders of this Court and trial Court were produced and proved.

10. The learned trial Court, after considering the evidence on record and also taking into consideration that in all the cases, mentioned in the gang-chart, either the accused-respondent was acquitted or charge-sheet was not filed or by the orders of the High Court the cases were quashed. It was said that the gang-chart was prepared earlier than the FIR was registered. It was also said that during the course of investigation, no detail of property or wealth, which was allegedly accumulated by committing crime, was given. The learned trial Court acquitted the accused-respondent for the offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act as the prosecution could not prove the offence against the accused-respondent beyond reasonable doubt.

11. The Gangsters Act has been enacted as a Special Act for prevention and for coping with gangsters and antisocial activities. The purpose of the Gangsters Act is to prevent organized crimes in the State by enacting the special provisions. The Gangsters Act is deterrent in nature. It provides for deterrent punishment. The gang has been defined under Section 2(b) Gangsters Act, which reads as under:-

"2 (b) "Gang" means a group of persons, who acting either singly or

collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in anti-social activities, namely-

(i) offences punishable under Chapter XVI or Chapter XVII or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or

(ii) distilling or manufacturing or .storing or transporting or importing or exporting or selling or distributing any liquor, or intoxicating or dangerous drugs, or other intoxicants or narcotics or cultivating any plant, in contravention of any of the provisions of the U.P. Excise Act, 1910 (U.P. Act No. 4 of 1910), or the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (Act No. 61 of 1985), or any other law for the time being in force, or

(iii) occupying or taking possession of immovable property otherwise than in accordance with law, or setting-up false claims for title or possession of immovable property whether in himself or any other person, or

(iv) preventing or attempting to prevent any public servant or any witness from discharging his lawful duties, or

(v) offences punishable under the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 (Act No. 104 of 1956), or

(vi) offences punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (Act No. 3 of 1867), or

(vii) preventing any person from offering bids in auction lawfully conducted, or tender, lawfully invited, by or on behalf of any Government department, local body or public or private undertaking, for any lease or rights or supply of goods or work to be done, or

(viii) preventing or disturbing the smooth running by any person of his lawful business, profession, trade or employment or any other lawful activity connected therewith, or

(ix) offences punishable under Section 171-E of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or in preventing or obstructing any public election being lawfully held, by physically preventing the voter from exercising his electoral rights, or

(x) inciting others to resort to violence to disturb communal harmony, or

(xi) creating panic, alarm or terror in public, or

(xii) terrorising or assaulting employees or owners or occupiers of public or private undertakings or factories and causing mischief in respect of their properties, or

(xiii) inducing or attempting to induce any person to go to foreign countries on false representation that any employment, trade or profession shall be provided to him in such foreign country, or

(xiv) kidnapping or abducting any person with intent to extort ransom, or

(xv) diverting or otherwise preventing any aircraft or public transport vehicle from following its scheduled course;

[(xvi) offences punishable under the Regulation of Money Lending Act, 1976;

(xvii) illegally transporting and/or smuggling of cattle and indulging in acts in contravention of the provisions in the Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 and the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960;

(xviii) human trafficking for purposes of commercial exploitation, bonded labour, child labour, sexual exploitation, organ removing and trafficking, beggary and the like activities.

(xix) offences punishable under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1966:

(xx) printing, transporting and circulating of fake Indian currency notes;

(xxi) involving in production, sale and distribution of spurious drugs;

(xxii) involving in manufacture, sale and transportation of arms and ammunition in contravention of Sections 5, 7 and 12 of the Arms Act, 1959;

(xxiii) felling or killing for economic gains, smuggling of products in contravention of the Indian Forest Act, 1927 and Wildlife Protection Act, 1972;

(xxiv) offences punishable under the Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979;

(xvv) indulging in crimes that impact security of State, public order and even tempo of life."

12. Thus, if a person belongs to a group of persons, who, either acting singly or collectively, indulges in violence or threat or show of violence and coercion etc., with object to disturb public order or to gain any undue temporal and pecuniary material or other advantage to himself or any other person, indulges in anti-social activities and, commits offence, as defined under the said section, as the group of persons, would be a gang.

13. Gangster has been defined under Section 2(c) Gangsters Act, which reads as under:-

"2(c) "gangster" means a member or leader or organiser of a gang and includes any person who abets or assists in the activities of a gang enumerated in clause (b), whether before or after the commission of such activities or harbours any person who has indulged in such activities."

14. Gang-leader and member of the gang is called gangsters. Even a person, who abets or assists in the activities of gang, as defined under Section 2(b), whether before or after the commission of such activities, or harbours any person, who has indulged in such activities, would be also a gangster. Section 3(1) Gangsters Act provides for punishment of gangster, which would be two years and may extend to ten years with fine and fine should not be less than Rs.5,000/-. If a gangster commits an offence against public servant or any member of public servant, then the minimum punishment would be of three years and fine.

15. The offence under the Gangsters Act is an independent offence than the substantive offence. If it is proved that a person belongs to a group of persons and commits offence individually or with group of persons, which are defined under Section 2(b) of the Gangsters Act, such a person is a gangster and he would be punished for a term, which may be two or three years and extendable to ten years with minimum fine of rupees five thousand.

16. On behalf of the appellant-State, Mr. Umesh Verma, learned Additional Government Advocate, along with Mr. Rao Narendra Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate, has submitted that the basic ingredients to prosecute an individual under the Gangsters Act for commission of an offence as gangster is him being the member of the gang. Even if no FIR is registered against a person, still he can be prosecuted for the offence under the Gangsters Act. The purpose of the Gangsters Act is to curb organized crime and criminal activities of the gang and gangsters.

17. If it is proved that an accused belongs to a gang and commits offences individually or with other gang members with object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal and pecuniary material or other advantage for himself or any other member of the gang, he can be prosecuted and punished.

18. When a specific offence has been created in a Special Statute and the offence is covered by the Statute and fulfills the requirement as defined, he may be punished under the Gangsters Act.

19. Mr. Verma has submitted that even if the accused-respondent was acquitted in substantive offences, which are mentioned in the gang-chart, because the witnesses turned hostile out of his fear, manipulation, threats and making the witnesses tired by employing other tactics, that would not absolve the accused-respondent from the offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. If it is proved that the accused-respondent is a member of the gang and he commits offences to disturb the public order and to gain any undue temporal and pecuniary, material or other advantage to himself or any other person.

20. Mr. Verma submits that the accused-respondent is the most dreaded criminal and gangster, whose reign of crime is not spread only in State of Uttar Pradesh, but in other States, including Delhi, Maharashtra and Punjab etc. The trial Court has erred in acquitting the accused-respondent only on the ground that he was not convicted in any of the offences, which were part of the gang-chart. It is not a correct view. It is further submitted that the learned trial Court was required to consider whether the accused-respondent was a member of the gang and had committed the offences, as defined under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. The trial Court has ignored this vital aspect while acquitting the accused-respondent and, therefore, the impugned judgment and order, passed by the learned trial Court, is unsustainable and liable to be set-aside. The accused-respondent is to be convicted for the offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act.

21. On the other hand, Mr. Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Mr. Satendra Kumar Singh, Advocate appearing for the accused-respondent, has submitted that all other members, who were named in the gang-chart, have either been acquitted or the prosecution, against them, was quashed by this Court or they were discharged. It has been further submitted that the prosecution had failed to bring any cogent and credible evidence against any of the alleged gang-members. The trial Court has taken a correct view of acquitting the accused-respondent for the offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. It has been further submitted that it is a case of no evidence against the accused-respondent and the accused-respondent cannot be punished for his perceived image. Mr. Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Counsel, has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court dated 18.01.2022 passed in Criminal Appeal No.78 of 2022 (Geeta Devi Vs. State of U.P. & Ors) to submit that in appeal, against acquittal under Section 378 CrPC, High Court is not required to re-appreciate entire evidence and if this Court re-appreciates the evidence even then no offence is said to have been made out against the accused-respondent, which would attract provisions of Section 2/3 Gangsters Act.

22. The moot question, which arises for consideration in this case, is that if the accused-respondent has been acquitted for offences, which were mentioned in the gang-chart, (substantive offences), can he still be convicted for offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. As stated earlier, the offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act is a distinct and separate offence than the substantive offence. If the prosecution proves that the person belongs to a gang and indulges himself in committing offence with object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal and pecuniary material or other advantage for himself or any other person, he may be punished under the Gangsters Act.

23. A Coordinate Bench of this Court in 2007 (8) ADJ 716 (Vishnu Dayal and others Vs. State of U.P. and another) held that the object of the Act is to arrest the activities of organized criminals and members in their gangs. The Court also observed that gangsterism in the recent times has taken menacing dimensions and lives and liberty of citizens have been pushed against the walls of organized crimes. Paragraphs-11 and 12 of Vishnu Dayal and others Vs. State of U.P. and another case (supra), which are relevant for the purpose of this case, would read as under:-

"11. From the definition clause it is per se clear that a gang is a group of one or more persons who commit the crimes mentioned under the definition clause for the motive of earning undue advantage whether pecuniary, material or otherwise. Even a single crime committed by a gang is sufficient to implant Gangsters Act on such members of gang and repetition of crime is not desired for invoking offences under the said Act. The definition clause, as mentioned above does not engulf plurality of offence before the Gangsters Act is invoked. It is an Act to achieve an avowed object of arresting the activities of organised criminate and members of their gang. Gangsterism in the recent times has taken menacing dimensions and lives and liberty of citizens has been pushed against the walls of organised crimes. This type of offences have to be dealt with sternly and with tenacity. Further the offence under the Gangsters Act can be implanted on a group of persons who act individually or collectively.

12. In the present case the incident was motivated and executed because of grabbing of property of the deceased as the accused persons are very close relatives of deceased and are in fact, his real nephews and wife of his real own brother. These accused persons had an evil eye on the property of the deceased because of which they have committed the murder of their own blood relation. The offence was well chalked out and pre-planned. This certainly is gangsterism. This fact clearly brings out the activity of the applicants within the perview of the Gangsters Act. The contention of Sri Sengar, learned counsel for the applicants, is that this was an individual act and from the F.I.R. it cannot be said that the murder had taken place because of the lust of the property and, therefore, the Gangsters Act is not applicable, does not appeal at all as the said contention is against the facts of the case. I have gone through the judgment of this Court in the case of Ashok Kumar Dixit, (1987 All LJ 806) (supra). The said judgment does not countenance the submissions raised by Sri Sengar, learned counsel for the applicants. From the facts of the case it is perceptibly clear that embedded motive in the minds of the culprits was to grab the property and to gain pecuniary advantage for them. This certainly brings in their case within the purview of the Gangsters Act."

24. In 2008 (2) JIC 227 (All) (Udham Singh & Anr. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors), this Court, while dealing with the question whether on the basis of single incident the provisions of Gangsters Act can be invoked against such a person, this Court held that under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act, if the gang-chart affirms part of the FIR and in the gang-chart it is clearly mentioned that there is a gang, which indulges into commission of offence and on the basis of perusal of the gang-chart the authorities are satisfied for sanctioning registration of the FIR, such person can be prosecuted and punished for the offence. It was again reiterated that the purpose of the Gangsters Act is to control activities of organized gangs and gangsters. When specific offence has been created, it is open to punish a person even for a single act if it is covered by the requirement of law.

25. The Supreme Court also in Geeta Devi Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No.78 of 2022), while delineating the provisions of Gangsters Act, held that even a person, against whom for single offence, charge-sheet has been filed for any activity, mentioned under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act, he can be prosecuted under the Gangsters Act.

26. Paragraphs 8 and 10 of Udham Singh & Anr. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors case (supra), which are relevant for the purpose of decision of the present case, are extracted herein below:-

"8. Coming to the first contention of the learned counsel for the petitioners that on the basis of a single incident, the petitioners cannot be booked under the Act, we need to observe only this much that vide para 14 of the aforesaid judgment of Subhash (supra), the said contention has already been negated by the Division Bench of this Court on which decision, reliance has been placed by the petitioners themselves. It has been held in the aforesaid decision of Subhash (supra) as follows:--

"The words used in Section 2 are no doubt in plural indicating "indulges in anti social activities" but the sentence does not stop with the words "anti social activities". It goes on with the words "viz" followed by 15 clauses of anti social activities enumerated therein. The plural in "anti social activities" referred to the large number of activities to be brought under the umbrella of this single offence and it would never mean that there must be plurality of actions before a person could be prosecuted or convicted for an offence under the Act. When a specific offence has been created, it is open to be punished even for a single act, if it is covered by the requirements of law. We thus, answered point No. 1 framed by us."

10. There is another aspect of the matter which we would like to discuss. Under the definition clause of the Act u/S. 2(b) and (c), it is not required that the FIR must be registered against the gangster before he is booked under the Act. Sine qua non to prosecute an individual under the Act is commission of an offence as a "gangster". Gang means a group of persons, who acting either signally or collectively, by violence, or threat or show violence or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in anti social activities. It is not the requirement of law that nobody can be prosecuted under the Act if no FIR is registered against him. It is the activity of an individual which is the determinative factor for bringing him under the mischief of the Act and nothing else. If he acts as a member or leader of a gang he can be booked under the Act irrespective of any previous FIR being registered against him or not. The plain reading of different definition clauses clearly indicates that if the person indulges into the commission of offence enumerated under Section 2(b)(I) to (XV) as a member or leader of a gang for gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage then he is purviewed within the ambit of the Act and it is not the requirement of law that the FIR for the input offence must be registered before he is booked under the Act. Since the purpose of the Act is to curb the activities of gangster, which are more often than not commit not in any public gaze therefore the provisions of Act have to interpret in a manner which fosters its purpose and the intention of legislature best."

27. It is not in dispute that several FIRs and charge-sheets for offences, which are provided under definition clause of Section 2(b) of the Gangsters Act, were registered against the accused-respondent and the charge-sheets were filed against him, including in the case of murder of Jail Superintendent of District Jail, Lucknow. Acquittal or conviction is immaterial for invoking the provisions of Gangsters Act against a person, who is otherwise a member of the gang and, allegedly commits offences, which are defined under Section 2(b) of the Gangsters Act. If the FIR is registered or the charge-sheet is filed and the person is member of gang, which is defined under Section 2(b) Gangsters Act, it fulfills the ingredients of Section 2 of the Gangsters Act and he can be punished under Section 3 of the Gangsters Act. The trial Court has acquitted the accused-respondent on the ground that the accused-respondent was acquitted in all the offences, which were mentioned in the gang-chart. The gang-chart was approved and the FIR came to be registered against accused-respondent along with others. This Court is of the view, on considering the law laid down by the Supreme Court and this Court, as discussed above, and carefully reading all the provisions of the Gangsters Act, that the accused-respondent was a member of the gang and for his criminal activities several FIRs and charge-sheets came to be registered and submitted against him for offences, which are defined under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. The acquittal of the accused-respondent for turning the witness hostile or otherwise is not a material aspect. The trial Court has grossly erred in acquitting the accused-respondent vide impugned judgment and order. The gang-chart was proved in the Court as documentary evidence. In view of the foregoing discussion, this Court is of the view that the accused-respondent is a gangster and he allegedly committed several offences and, therefore, he is found guilty for offence under Section 2/3 Gangsters Act. Therefore, the impugned order dated 23.12.2020 passed by the learned trial Court is hereby set-aside. The accused-respondent is sentenced for five years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.50,000/-.

28. In view of aforesaid, the appeal is allowed. Since the accused-respondent is already in jail, no order is required to be passed for his surrender.

29. Let the record of the trial Court be remitted back for preparing the conviction warrant against the accused-respondent.

Tiwari earlier Jailer was killed in a cold blooded manner in a broad day light near Governor House, Lucknow allegedly on behest of the accused-respondent and other accused as he was enforcing the rules and regulation of jail which was causing hindrance in carrying out illegal and criminal activities of the accused-respondent from Jail in organized manner. These accused, however, could secure acquittal as witnesses turned hostile which is a pattern in all cases where the accused-respondent had secured acquittal.

27. This Court recently while rejecting Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.46494 of 2021 of the accused-respondent in a case registered as Case Crime No.185 of 2021 under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120B IPC, Police Station Sarai Lakhansi, District Mau vide order dated 30.06.2020 while rejecting the bail of the accused-respondent, has held as under:-

speaking States of India. He is the harden and habitual offender, who is in sphere of crime since 1986 but surprisingly, he has managed not a single conviction against him. It is indeed astounding and more amusing angle of the issue, that a person having more than 50+ criminal cases to his credit of various varieties, has managed his affairs in such a way that he has not received a single conviction order against him. Infact it is slur and challenge to the judicial system that such a dreaded and "White Collored' criminal in the field of crime undefeated and unabetted."

28. This Court has noted the long criminal history of the accused-respondent in the aforesaid judgment which is reproduced as under:-

29. This Court also commented about the criminals like the accused-respondent being elected by the public as their representative for six consecutive terms in following words:-

"26. The above mentioned is a rich criminal horoscope of the applicant on which the applicant can boast and claim himself to be a popular public figure, who was elected as MLA for the six consecutive time. As mentioned above, this is a most unfortunate and ugly face of our democracy where a person on one hand facing almost two dozen Sessions Trials and on the other hand the public is electing him as their representative for six consecutive times. It is really uphill task to adjudicate, as to whether he is really a popular public figure? Or his nuisance value, which are giving dividends to him?"

30. Mr. U.C. Verma has submitted that the incident is dated 27.04.2003. The accused-respondent did not allow trial to proceed until he was sure of turning the witnesses hostile. Most of the witnesses got retired when they turned up for examination in the Court. He has submitted that trial court start only in July, 2013.

31. Mr. U.C. Verma has further submitted that the accused-respondent used to enjoy high status and privileges inside the jail and, therefore, would carry out his organized criminal activities from the jail including killing of the people for exhortation, political opponents and officials, who he thought were coming in his way of his crime world or they could challenge him politically or otherwise. He used to treat jail as his seat of power where his people could come and meet him freely at any time even carrying arms without any hindrance or obstacle by jail officials. Mr. S.K. Awasthi, the complainant, P.W.-2 tried to regulate visitors according to Jail Book and Jail Manual, and this could not be tolerated by the accused-respondent. He has further submitted that there was no enmity between the complainant and accused-respondent Mukhtar Ansari for his false implication. He has further submitted that P.W.-2, who was the complainant, his examination was completed on 12.12.2013, the accused did not cross examine on that day and the right of cross examination was closed. The witnesses got retired soon thereafter and after his retirement when he was won over for fear and terror of the accused-respondent, an application came to be filed under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to recall the said witness, and vide order dated 30.01.2014, the witness was recalled. He has submitted that the said witness in his examination-in-chief has fully supported the prosecution case in all respects and evidence given in cross-examination after he was won over, was because of fear and terror as after retirement there would be concern for his security and security of his family. Even P.W.-3 has supported the prosecution case and deposed that the dispute took place between the accused-respondent and the complainant in respect of visitors coming to meet the accused-respondent-Mukhtar Ansari and hot talk between the accused-respondent and the complainant. He saw the accused-respondent coming out of the office of the complainant.

32. P.W.-6, second Investigating Officer, Smt. Indu Srivastava who completed the investigation had said that her staff was not willing to give evidence against the accused-respondent. P.W.-7, who conducted the final investigation, has also supported the prosecution case. She further said that there was no application and record of visitors who had come to meet the accused-respondent. This would mean that the accused-respondent wanted to the visitors to meet him without any formality. Mr.U.C. Verma, learned A.G.A. for the appellant-State has, therefore, submitted that the offence under Sections 353, 504, 506 IPC are proved on the basis of evidence of prosecution, and the trial Court erred in acquitting the accused-respondent. He has further submitted that even if there is contradiction in the evidence of P.W.-2 given in examination-in-chief and cross examination, it is for the Court to separate wheat from the chaff and find out of the truth. Statement in examination-in-chief has equal value as of cross examination. Even from the evidence of P.W.-3, and P.W.-6 charges against the accused-respondent for offence under Sections 504, 506, 353 IPC are clearly proved and the appeal is liable to be allowed.

33. On the other hand, Mr. Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Satendra Kumar (Singh), Advocate appearing for the accused-respondent has submitted that evidence of none of the witnesses is cogent and credible. P.W.-1, P.W.-4, P.W.-5 did not support the prosecution case either in their examination-in-chief or cross examination. P.W.-2 supported the prosecution case in his examination-in-chief he did not support the prosecution case in his cross examination. Evidence of P.W.-6 and P.W.-7 independently are not enough to prove the prosecution case as they are the formal witnesses, who conducted the investigation. He, therefore, has submitted that the Trial Court after considering the evidence brought by the prosecution did not find the prosecution case proved against the accused-respondent. From the evidence available on record, it cannot be said that the prosecution was able to prove case against the accused-respondent beyond reasonable doubt, and there is no error in the impugned judgment and order passed by learned Trial Court. He has, therefore, submitted that the appeal is without any merit and substance and is liable to be dismissed.

34. Mr. Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that in case of appeal against acquittal, the appellate court is required to consider whether the view taken by the Trial Court is possible one or not. If the view of the Trial Court is possible one, then acquittal should not be set aside by merely substituting its reason. He in support of the aforesaid submission has placed reliance on the judgment of in the case of Dhanapal vs State by Public Prosecutor, Madras: (2009) 10 SCC 401 wherein the Supreme Court has culled out the principal for dealing the judgment of acquittal of trial Court by appellate Court in para 39 which reads as under:-

"39. The following principles emerge from the cases above:

1. The accused is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty. The accused possessed this presumption when he was before the trial court. The trial court's acquittal bolsters the presumption that he is innocent.

2. The power of reviewing evidence is wide and the appellate court can reappreciate the entire evidence on record. It can review the trial court's conclusion with respect to both facts and law, but the appellate court must give due weight and consideration to the decision of the trial court.

3. The appellate court should always keep in mind that the trial court had the distinct advantage of watching the demeanour of the witnesses. The trial court is in a better position to evaluate the credibility of the witnesses.

4. The appellate court may only overrule or otherwise disturb the trial court's acquittal if it has "very substantial and compelling reasons" for doing so.

5. If two reasonable or possible views can be reached--one that leads to acquittal, the other to conviction--the High Courts/appellate courts must rule in favour of the accused."

35. Mr.Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that in appeal against acquittal under Section 378/386 Cr.P.C. the appellate Court should not likely to interfere with the judgment of acquittal, even if the appellate Court believes that there is some evidence pointing finger towards the accused. In support of the said submission, he has placed reliance on the judgments in the cases of State of Rajasthan vs Naresh @ Ram Naresh: (2009) 9 SCC 368 and State of Uttar Pradesh vs Banne @ Baijnath & Ors: (2009) 4 SCC 271.

36. Mr.Jyotindra Mishra, learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that in criminal jurisprudence there is presumption of innocence until the guilt is proved beyond reasonable doubt. If an accused is acquitted in the trial, presumption of innocence gets re-enforced, and the appellate court in exercise of appellate jurisdiction under Section 378/386 Cr.P.C. should reverse an acquittal only when it has "very substantial and compelling reasons." For the aforesaid submission, learned Senior Advocate has placed reliance on the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Ghurey Lal vs State of Uttar Pradesh : (2008) 10 SCC 450.

37. It has also been submitted that if the view taken by the Trial Court is not perverse or impossible view, the High Court should not interfere with the order of acquittal. Para 17 of the judgment in the case of Samghaji Hariba Patil vs State of Karnataka (2006) 10 SCC 494 has been placed on service by the learned Senior Advocate which reads as under:-

"17. We have noticed hereinbefore that the High Court has taken a contrary view. Had the High Court been the first court, probably its view could have been upheld, but it was dealing with a judgment of acquittal. We have taken notice of the depositions of the main prosecution witnesses only to show that the view of the learned trial Judge cannot be said to be perverse or the same was not possible to be taken. While dealing with a case of acquittal, it is well known, the High Court shall not ordinarily overturn a judgment if two views are possible. The appellant had no axe to grind. The prosecution had not proved that he had any motive. He was only said to be the friend of Accused 1. If the accused had gone there with six others to assault the deceased and his family members, it is unlikely that the appellant would take with him for the said purpose, a hammer to an agricultural field. The hammer is not ordinarily used for agricultural operations. Even if we assume that Accused 1 had been nurturing any grudge against the deceased, it is unlikely that the appellant would be involved therein."

38. I have considered the facts, circumstances, evidence and submissions of the learned counsels for the appellant-State and accused-respondent.

39. Section 353 IPC defines assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duties as under:-

"353. Assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty.--Whoever assaults or uses criminal force to any person being a public servant in the execution of his duty as such public servant, or with intent to prevent or deter that person from discharging his duty as such public servant, or in consequence of anything done or attempted to be done by such person in the lawful discharge of his duty as such public servant, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

If an accused uses criminal force against a public servant with an intention to prevent him or deter that public servant from discharging his duty as public servant then, he would commit offence under Section 353 IPC, he may be punished for said offence up to 2 years or with fine or with both."

40. Criminal intimidation is defined under Section 503 IPC which reads as under:-

"503. Criminal intimidation.--Whoever threatens another with any injury to his person, reputation or property, or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested, with intent to cause alarm to that person, or to cause that person to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do, as the means of avoiding the execution of such threat, commits criminal intimidation. Explanation.--A threat to injure the reputation of any deceased person in whom the person threatened is interested, is within this section. Illustration A, for the purpose of inducing B to desist from prosecuting a civil suit, threatens to burn B's house. A is guilty of criminal intimidation."

41. Punishment for criminal intimidation is provided under Section 506 IPC which reads as under:-

"506. Punishment for criminal intimidation.--Whoever commits, the offence of criminal intimidation shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both; If threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, etc.--And if the threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, or to cause the destruction of any property by fire, or to cause an offence punishable with death or 1[imprisonment for life], or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or to impute, unchastity to a woman, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both.

By State amendment in Uttar Pradesh, it is provided that punishment for offence under Section 506 IPC is imprisonment of 7 years or fine, or both. Offence is cognizable and non bailable.

42. Intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace is defined under Section 504 IPC which reads as under:-

504. Intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace.--Whoever intentionally insults, and thereby gives provocation to any person, intending or knowing it to be likely that such provocation will cause him to break the public peace, or to commit any other offence, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.*

43. Facts of the case regarding place of incident, presence of the accused at the place of incident, presence of the complainant and the witnesses of fact are not in dispute. Date and time of the incident are not in dispute. The accused-respondent has reputation of most dreaded criminal and mafia don who had more than 60 cases of heinous offences to his credit as mentioned earlier. No one can dispute his credibility of striking terror and fear in minds and heart of the people including the Government officials. Mr. U.C. Verma, learned Additional Government Advocate has submitted that the accused-respondent used to have free run even inside the jail and he had been carrying on his criminal activities in an organized manner from the jail. During his incarceration in the jail, he had committed several heinous offences including elimination of his political rivals, kidnapping/abduction, usurping private and public properties, amassing wealth and properties from proceeds of crime. Even inside the jail, his people would come to meet him without any hindrance created by any jail staff. The warden opened the gate and allowed the people who had come to meet the accused-respondent out of fear and terror of the accused without due permission. He has submitted that in most of the cases the witnesses had turned hostile, and he secured acquittal. This fact cannot be disputed for which this Court has taken judicial notice as mentioned earlier.

44. Jailer, Mr. S.K. Awasthi, the complainant, P.W.-2 did not have any enmity with the accused-respondent, Mukhtar Ansari but it appears that he was trying to enforce rules inside the jail and, therefore, ordered that no visitor should be allowed to meet the prisoners unless permission is granted. P.W.-2, in his examination-in-chief, had said that the accused-respondent got highly enraged by the very fact that the Jailer was not allowing visitors who had come to meet the accused-respondent inside the jail without permission. He took out a revolver from one of the visitors who have been allowed inside the jail by Jail Warden. He also extended verbal threats of killing the Jail Warden. Interestingly, the said witness was not cross examined on 12.12.2013 when his examination-in-chief took place. I find substance in the submission of Mr. U.C. Verma, learned A.G.A. that after he was won over, an application came to be filed to recall the said witness which was allowed by the learned Trial Court vide order dated 30.01.2014, and then witness to some extent did not support the prosecution case in his cross examination.

45. The evidence given in the examination-in-chief does not get completely obliterated, if the witnesses in his cross examination turns hostile or does not support his evidence given in examination-in-chief. Evidence of witness who has supported the prosecution case in examination-in-chief does not get effaced or washed off the record altogether. In such a situation, it is the duty of the Court to examine the evidence carefully and find that part of evidence which can be accepted and be acted upon.

46. The Supreme Court in the case of Dayaram and another vs State of Madhya Pradesh: (2020) 13 SCC 382 while dealing with hostile witnesses in paras 10.4 to 10.7 has held as under:-

"10.4 .....From their examination-in-chief it is evident that the deceased was conscious and, in a state to lodge the FIR. In their cross-examination, these witnesses denied having any knowledge about the persons who attacked the deceased. They were declared hostile during their cross-examination. The testimony, prior to cross-examination can be relied upon.

10.5. Reliance is placed on the decisions of this Court in Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana [Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana, (1976) 1 SCC 389 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 7] , Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa [Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa, (1976) 4 SCC 233 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 566] and Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka [Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka, (1980) 1 SCC 30 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 59] , wherein it has been held that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto, merely because the prosecution witnesses turned hostile. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent that their version is found to be dependable on careful scrutiny.

10.6. This Court in Khujji v. State of M.P. [Khujji v. State of M.P., (1991) 3 SCC 627 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 916] , in para 6 of the judgment held that: (SCC p. 635)

"6. ... The evidence of PW 3 Kishan Lal and PW 4 Ramesh came to be rejected by the trial court because they were declared hostile to the prosecution by the learned Public Prosecutor as they refused to identify the appellant and his companions in the dock as the assailants of the deceased. But the counsel for the State is right when he submits that the evidence of a witness, declared hostile, is not wholly effaced from the record and the part of the evidence which is otherwise acceptable can be acted upon."

10.7. This position in law was reiterated in Vinod Kumar v. State of Punjab [Vinod Kumar v. State of Punjab, (2015) 3 SCC 220 : (2015) 2 SCC (Cri) 226 : (2015) 1 SCC (L&S) 712] , wherein the Court held that: (SCC p. 237, para 31)

"31. The next aspect which requires to be adverted to is whether testimony of a hostile witness that has come on record should be relied upon or not. Mr Jain, learned Senior Counsel for the appellant would contend that as PW 7 has totally resiled in his cross-examination, his evidence is to be discarded in toto. On a perusal of the testimony of the said witness, it is evincible that in examination-in-chief, he has supported the prosecution story in entirety and in the cross-examination, he has taken the path of prevarication. In Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana [Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana, (1976) 1 SCC 389 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 7] , it has been laid down that even if a witness is characterised as a hostile witness, his evidence is not completely effaced. The said evidence remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base a conviction upon his testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence."

47. There is no legal bar for conviction upon the testimony of hostile witness, given in examination-in-chief, if it is corroborated by other reliable evidence.

48. The Supreme Court in the case of Ramesh & Ors vs State of Haryana: (2017) 1 SCC 529 has held that evidence of a hostile witness cannot be totally rejected but requires its closest scrutiny and portion of evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence may be accepted. The Supreme Court has noted the disturbing phenomenon almost a regular feature that in criminal cases witnesses turn hostile for various reasons. One of the reasons is status of the accused. Para 39 of the said judgment reads as under:-

"39. We find that it is becoming a common phenomenon, almost a regular feature, that in criminal cases witnesses turn hostile. There could be various reasons for this behaviour or attitude of the witnesses. It is possible that when the statements of such witnesses were recorded under Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 by the police during investigation, the investigating officer forced them to make such statements and, therefore, they resiled therefrom while deposing in the court and justifiably so. However, this is no longer the reason in most of the cases. This trend of witnesses turning hostile is due to various other factors. It may be fear of deposing against the accused/delinquent or political pressure or pressure of other family members or other such sociological factors. It is also possible that witnesses are corrupted with monetary considerations."

49. The Supreme Court has noted earlier judgments wherein such peculiar behavior of witnesses turning hostile, has been commented upon in paras 40 to 44. The Supreme Court culled out the reasons which can be discerned for retracting their statements before the Court and turning hostile. It would be apt to reproduced paras 40-44 of the judgment in Ramesh (supra):-

"40. In some of the judgments in past few years, this Court has commented upon such peculiar behaviour of witnesses turning hostile and we would like to quote from few such judgments. In Krishna Mochi v. State of Bihar [Krishna Mochi v. State of Bihar, (2002) 6 SCC 81 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 1220] , this Court observed as under : (SCC p. 104, para 31)

"31. It is a matter of common experience that in recent times there has been a sharp decline of ethical values in public life even in developed countries much less developing one, like ours, where the ratio of decline is higher. Even in ordinary cases, witnesses are not inclined to depose or their evidence is not found to be credible by courts for manifold reasons. One of the reasons may be that they do not have courage to depose against an accused because of threats to their life, more so when the offenders are habitual criminals or high-ups in the Government or close to powers, which may be political, economic or other powers including muscle power."

41. Likewise, in Zahira Habibullah Sheikh (5) v. State of Gujarat [Zahira Habibullah Sheikh (5) v. State of Gujarat, (2006) 3 SCC 374 : (2006) 2 SCC (Cri) 8] , this Court highlighted the problem with the following observations : (SCC pp. 396-98, paras 40-41)

"40. "Witnesses" as Bentham said:"are the eyes and ears of justice". Hence, the importance and primacy of the quality of trial process. If the witness himself is incapacitated from acting as eyes and ears of justice, the trial gets putrefied and paralysed, and it no longer can constitute a fair trial. The incapacitation may be due to several factors, like the witness being not in a position for reasons beyond control to speak the truth in the court or due to negligence or ignorance or some corrupt collusion. Time has become ripe to act on account of numerous experiences faced by the court on account of frequent turning of witnesses as hostile, either due to threats, coercion, lures and monetary considerations at the instance of those in power, their henchmen and hirelings, political clouts and patronage and innumerable other corrupt practices ingeniously adopted to smother and stifle truth and realities coming out to surface.... Broader public and societal interests require that the victims of the crime who are not ordinarily parties to prosecution and the interests of the State represented by their prosecuting agencies do not suffer.... There comes the need for protecting the witness. Time has come when serious and undiluted thoughts are to be bestowed for protecting witnesses so that the ultimate truth presented before the court and justice triumphs and that the trial is not reduced to a mockery. ...

41. The State has a definite role to play in protecting the witnesses, to start with at least in sensitive cases involving those in power, who have political patronage and could wield muscle and money power, to avert trial getting tainted and derailed and truth becoming a casualty. As a protector of its citizens it has to ensure that during a trial in court the witness could safely depose the truth without any fear of being haunted by those against whom he had deposed. Every State has a constitutional obligation and duty to protect the life and liberty of its citizens. That is the fundamental requirement for observance of the rule of law. There cannot be any deviation from this requirement because of any extraneous factors like caste, creed, religion, political belief or ideology. Every State is supposed to know these fundamental requirements and this needs no retaliation (sic repetition). We can only say this with regard to the criticism levelled against the State of Gujarat. Some legislative enactments like the Terrorist and Disruptive Activities (Prevention) Act, 1987 (in short "the TADA Act") have taken note of the reluctance shown by witnesses to depose against people with muscle power, money power or political power which has become the order of the day. If ultimately truth is to be arrived at, the eyes and ears of justice have to be protected so that the interests of justice do not get incapacitated in the sense of making the proceedings before the courts mere mock trials as are usually seen in movies."

42. Likewise, in Sakshi v. Union of India [Sakshi v. Union of India, (2004) 5 SCC 518 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1645] , the menace of witnesses turning hostile was again described in the following words : (SCC pp. 544-45, para 32) "32. The mere sight of the accused may induce an element of extreme fear in the mind of the victim or the witnesses or can put them in a state of shock. In such a situation he or she may not be able to give full details of the incident which may result in miscarriage of justice. Therefore, a screen or some such arrangement can be made where the victim or witnesses do not have to undergo the trauma of seeing the body or the face of the accused. Often the questions put in cross-examination are purposely designed to embarrass or confuse the victims of rape and child abuse. The object is that out of the feeling of shame or embarrassment, the victim may not speak out or give details of certain acts committed by the accused. It will, therefore, be better if the questions to be put by the accused in cross-examination are given in writing to the presiding officer of the court, who may put the same to the victim or witnesses in a language which is not embarrassing. There can hardly be any objection to the other suggestion given by the petitioner that whenever a child or victim of rape is required to give testimony, sufficient breaks should be given as and when required. The provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 327 CrPC should also apply in inquiry or trial of offences under Sections 354 and 377 IPC."

43. In State v. Sanjeev Nanda [State v. Sanjeev Nanda, (2012) 8 SCC 450 : (2012) 4 SCC (Civ) 487 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 899] , the Court felt constrained in reiterating the growing disturbing trend : (SCC pp. 486-87, paras 99-101)

"99. Witness turning hostile is a major disturbing factor faced by the criminal courts in India. Reasons are many for the witnesses turning hostile, but of late, we see, especially in high profile cases, there is a regularity in the witnesses turning hostile, either due to monetary consideration or by other tempting offers which undermine the entire criminal justice system and people carry the impression that the mighty and powerful can always get away from the clutches of law, thereby eroding people's faith in the system.

100. This Court in State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra [State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra, (1996) 10 SCC 360 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 1278] held that it is equally settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness could not be totally rejected, if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused, but it can be subjected to closest scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence may be accepted. In K. Anbazhagan v. Supt. of Police [K. Anbazhagan v. Supt. of Police, (2004) 3 SCC 767 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 882] , this Court held that if a court finds that in the process the credit of the witness has not been completely shaken, he may after reading and considering the evidence of the witness as a whole, with due caution, accept, in the light of the evidence on the record that part of his testimony which it finds to be creditworthy and act upon it. This is exactly what was done in the instant case by both the trial court and the High Court [Sanjeev Nanda v. State, 2009 SCC OnLine Del 2039 : (2009) 160 DLT 775] and they found the accused guilty.

*101. We cannot, however, close our eyes to the disturbing fact in the instant case where even the injured witness, who was present on the spot, turned hostile. This Court in Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2010) 6 SCC 1 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 1385] and in Zahira Habibullah Sheikh (5) v. State of Gujarat [Zahira Habibullah Sheikh (5) v. State of Gujarat, (2006) 3 SCC 374 : (2006) 2 SCC (Cri) 8] had highlighted the glaring defects in the system like non-recording of the statements correctly by the police and the retraction of the statements by the prosecution witness due to intimidation, inducement and other methods of manipulation. Courts, however, cannot shut their eyes to the reality. If a witness becomes hostile to subvert the judicial process, the court shall not stand as a mute spectator and every effort should be made to bring home the truth. Criminal judicial system cannot be overturned by those gullible witnesses who act under pressure, inducement or intimidation. Further, Section 193 IPC impo*ses punishment for giving false evidence but is seldom invoked."

44. On the analysis of various cases, the following reasons can be discerned which make witnesses retracting their statements before the court and turning hostile:

(i) Threat/Intimidation.

(ii) Inducement by various means.

(iii) Use of muscle and money power by the accused.

(iv) Use of stock witnesses.

(v) Protracted trials.

(vi) Hassles faced by the witnesses during investigation and trial.

(vii) Non-existence of any clear-cut legislation to check hostility of witness."

50. Had P.W.-2 been examined on the same day in all likelihood, he would have supported the prosecution case as he did in his examination-in-chief. The accused-respondent deliberately did not cross examine the said witness on the said date and after the said witness was won over, an application came to be filed under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to recall the said witness and said application was allowed vide order dated 30.01.2014 and in the cross-examination he deviated from the prosecution case to some extent.

51. Criminal case is built on edifice of evidence which is admissible in law. The Supreme Court noted in Swaran Singh vs State of Punjab: (2000) 5 SCC 668 that criminal cases can be adjourned again and again till the witness get tired or gives up. Adjournments are taken till the witness is no more or is tired. This result in miscarriage of justice. The witness is not treated with respect in the Court. Para 36 of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"36. A criminal case is built on the edifice of evidence, evidence that is admissible in law. For that, witnesses are required whether it is direct evidence or circumstantial evidence. Here are the witnesses who are a harassed lot. A witness in a criminal trial may come from a far-off place to find the case adjourned. He has to come to the court many times and at what cost to his own self and his family is not difficult to fathom. It has become more or less a fashion to have a criminal case adjourned again and again till the witness tires and gives up. It is the game of unscrupulous lawyers to get adjournments for one excuse or the other till a witness is won over or is tired. Not only is a witness threatened, he is abducted, he is maimed, he is done away with, or even bribed. There is no protection for him. In adjourning the matter without any valid cause a court unwittingly becomes party to miscarriage of justice. A witness is then not treated with respect in the court. He is pushed out from the crowded courtroom by the peon. He waits for the whole day and then he finds that the matter is adjourned. He has no place to sit and no place even to have a glass of water. And when he does appear in court, he is subjected to unchecked and prolonged examination and cross-examination and finds himself in a hapless situation. For all these reasons and others a person abhors becoming a witness. It is the administration of justice that suffers. Then appropriate diet money for a witness is a far cry. Here again the process of harassment starts and he decides not to get the diet money at all. High Courts have to be vigilant in these matters. Proper diet money must be paid immediately to the witness (not only when he is examined but for every adjourned hearing) and even sent to him and he should not be left to be harassed by the subordinate staff. If the criminal justice system is to be put on a proper pedestal, the system cannot be left in the hands of unscrupulous lawyers and the sluggish State machinery. Each trial should be properly monitored. Time has come that all the courts, district courts, subordinate courts are linked to the High Court with a computer and a proper check is made on the adjournments and recording of evidence. The Bar Council of India and the State Bar Councils must play their part and lend their support to put the criminal system back on its trail. Perjury has also become a way of life in the law courts. A trial Judge knows that the witness is telling a lie and is going back on his previous statement, yet he does not wish to punish him or even file a complaint against him. He is required to sign the complaint himself which deters him from filing the complaint. Perhaps law needs amendment to clause (b) of Section 340(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure in this respect as the High Court can direct any officer to file a complaint. To get rid of the evil of perjury, the court should resort to the use of the provisions of law as contained in Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure."

52. The Supreme Court in para 7 of the Radha Mohan Singh @ Lal Saheb vs State of U.P. : (2006) 2 SCC 450 has held as under:-

"7. It is well settled that while hearing an appeal under Article 136 of the Constitution, this Court will normally not enter into reappraisal or review of evidence unless the trial court or the High Court is shown to have committed an error of law or procedure and the conclusions arrived at are perverse. The Court may interfere where on proved facts wrong inference of law is shown to have been drawn. (See Duli Chand v. Delhi Admn. [(1975) 4 SCC 649 : 1975 SCC (Cri) 663] , Dalbir Kaur v. State of Punjab [(1976) 4 SCC 158 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 527] , Ramanbhai Naranbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat [(2000) 1 SCC 358 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 113] and Chandra Bihari Gautam v. State of Bihar [(2002) 9 SCC 208 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1178 : JT (2002) 4 SC 62] .) Though the legal position is quite clear still we have gone through the evidence on record in order to examine whether the findings recorded against the appellants suffer from any infirmity. The testimony of PW 1 Ganesh Singh, who is an injured witness, and PW 4 Ramji Singh clearly establish the guilt of the accused. According to the case of the prosecution the incident took place shortly after sunset. The eyewitnesses have deposed that after the incident the deceased Hira Singh was carried on a cot to the "bandh", which is on the outskirts of the village. As no conveyance was available, the first informant had to wait for quite some time and thereafter a tempo was arranged on which the deceased was taken to the district hospital where he was medically examined by PW 2 Dr. Siddiqui at 9.00 p.m. It has come in evidence that the village is at a distance of six miles from Police Station Kotwali, Ballia. The non-availability of any conveyance is quite natural as it was Holi festival. Even PW 3 Mohan Yadav fully supported the prosecution case in his examination-in-chief. In his cross-examination, which was recorded on the same date, he gave details of the weapons being carried by each of the accused and also the specific role played by them in assaulting the deceased and other injured persons. As his cross-examination could not be completed it was resumed on the next day and then he gave a statement that he could not see the incident on account of darkness. His testimony has been carefully examined by the learned Sessions Judge and also by two learned Judges of the High Court (Hon'ble K.K. Mishra, J. and Hon'ble U.S. Tripathi, J.) and they have held that the witness, on account of pressure exerted upon him by the accused, tried to support them in his cross-examination on the next day. It has been further held that the statement of the witness, as recorded on the first day including his cross-examination, was truthful and reliable. It is well settled that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent his version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof. (See Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana [(1976) 1 SCC 389 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 7 : AIR 1976 SC 202] , Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa [(1976) 4 SCC 233 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 566 : AIR 1977 SC 170] , Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka [(1980) 1 SCC 30 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 59 : AIR 1979 SC 1848] and Khujji v. State of M.P. [(1991) 3 SCC 627 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 916 : AIR 1991 SC 1853]) The evidence on record clearly shows that the FIR of the incident was promptly lodged and the testimony of PW 1 Ganesh Singh, PW 4 Ramji Singh and also PW 3 Mohan Yadav finds complete corroboration from the medical evidence on record. We find absolutely no reason to take a different view."

53. From the aforesaid discussion, it can be seen that law is very clear that appellant court lightly should not interfere with the judgment and order of acquittal unless the said judgment is perverse or the view taken by the learned Trial Court is impossible view. It is also well settled that testimony of hostile witness does not get effaced completely and washed off record but it is for the Court to closely scrutinize the testimony of such witness in the facts and circumstances of the cases and take into consideration while convicting or acquitting the accused that part of the testimony of such witness which supports the prosecution case and can be relied on for convicting the accused.

54. Witness P.W.-2, who was given threats of life by pointing a revolver by the accused-respondent, has fully supported the prosecution case in all respects in his examination-in-chief. His testimony in his examination-in-chief is fully in tune with the prosecution case. The said witness did not have any enmity with the accused-respondent, and there was no reason to falsely implicate the accused-respondent for commission of the offence for which the accused-respondent was charged. There is no reason to disbelieve his testimony given in examination-in-chief. His testimony in his cross examination which takes place after he could have been won over does not appear to be credible. The submission of Mr. U.C. Verma, learned Additional Government Advocate, cannot be brushed aside that the application for his re-examination came to be filed after said witness was won over for threat or some other reasons. If the testimony of the such witness is read together with the testimony of P.W.-3, P.W.-6 and P.W.-7, charges against the accused-respondent for committing offences under Sections 504, 506, 353 IPC are proved beyond reasonable doubt.

55. Trial Court had completely ignored the evidence of P.W.-2 given in examination-in-chief and had only considered his cross examination. The approach of the trial Court is palpably erroneous and against the well settled legal position as discussed above. The impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial court is unsustainable.

56. Admittedly, the complainant was posted as Jailer in the District Jail, Lucknow on the date of incident. He was present in his office when the alleged incident took place. He was discharging public/official duty on the date, time and place of the incident. From the evidence brought on record, it is proved that the accused-respondent used criminal force by pointing pistol towards him with intent to prevent and deter the complainant from discharging his duty as a Jailer, therefore, offence under Section 353 IPC is clearly proved against the accused-respondent and he is convicted for committing the said offence.

57. From evidence on record, it is also proved that the accused-respondent abused the complainant and insulted him knowing fully well that it would undermine the authority of the Jailer and would cause breach of peace inside the jail and outside inasmuch as if a public servant can be humiliated and abused, then authority of public functionary would get diminished and people would not respect the lawful authority. Therefore, the accused-respondent is found guilty for committing the offence under Section 504 IPC.

58. From evidence on record, it is proved that the accused-respondent on the date, time and place of incident took pistol/revolver from a visitor and pointed towards the complainant and threatened him for his life. He is found guilty for committing offence under Section 506 IPC. He intimidated the complainant who as a Jailer was performing public duty by abusing him and pointing revolver/pistol towards him and threatened to kill him. It would have invoked excitement inside the jail likely to create breach of peace, tumult and disorder inside the jail in discharge of public duties by the jail staff.

59. In view of the foregoing discussion, present appeal is allowed.

Impugned order dated 23.12.2020 passed by Special Judge, M.P./M.L.A., Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.19, Lucknow is set aside. The accused-respondent is convicted for offences under Sections 353, 504, 506 IPC. He is sentenced for offence under Section 353 IPC to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 2 years with fine of Rs.10,000/-. For offence under Section 504 IPC, he is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 2 years with fine of Rs.2,000/-. For offence under Section 506 IPC, the accused is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 7 years with fine of Rs.25,000/-. All the sentences would run concurrently.

60. Let the learned Trial Court record be remitted back for preparing the custody warrant of the accused-respondent as per the law.

List of Cases cited:

1. Sambasiva Vs St. of Kerala, 1998 SCC (Cri) 1320

2. Sadhu Saran Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors., (2016) 4 SCC 35

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. The case is taken up in the revised call.

2. Heard Sri Shiv P. Shukla learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ravi Shanker Tewari, learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 1 to 3 and perused the material available on record.

3. The present leave to appeal under Section 378 Cr.P.C. has been filed against the judgment and order dated 10.04.2009 passed by the Special Judge, Anti-Corruption (Central), U.P., Lucknow in Case No. 15 of 1999, acquitting the respondents under Section 420, 468, 471 I.P.C. and Section 13 (2) read with Section 13 (1) (d) Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988.

4. The facts and circumstances leading to this case, in nut shell are that the then SP, CBI/SPE Lucknow registered a preliminary inquiry No. 11(A)/96 on 28-06-1996 on source of information. The said preliminary inquiry revealed that respondent no.- namely Sri P N Mishra JTO Rajajipuram, Lucknow and respondent no.-2 namely Sri B B Singh Telephone Inspector, Rajajipuram , Lucknow while posted and functioning as such , entered into a criminal conspiracy with each other and some unknown person in order to commit the offense of cheating , forgery and criminal mis-conduct. in pursuance of common object of said criminal conspiracy Sri PN Mishra and Sri BB SIngh dishonestly and fraudulently installed a new telephone connection No. 259928 on 24-11-1993 in the name of Smt. Nishi Khosla w/o Sri Puneet Khosla against L.P. No. 7532 dated 09-11-1993 OB No. 1137 with STD facility. The said telephone number was installed without observing the bonafide and genuineness of the subscriber for a new telephone connection. The name and address of subscriber was fictitious and bogus, thus they abused their official position as public servants by installing the said new telephone connection in the name of Smt. Nishi Khosla. The aforesaid accused persons in criminal conspiracy with some unknown persons caused wrongful loss to the Telecom Department to the tune of Rs. 91,356 /- approx. and defrauded the Telecom Department. And on the basis of aforesaid preliminary inquiry the then SP, CBI registered a case vide Ext. Ka-18 and ordered investigation to be conducted by Sri B.S. Mishra Dy. SP CBI Lucknow and on the completion of investigation CBI submitted charge sheet Ext Ka-24 u/s 120-B, 420, 468,471 IPC and u/s 13(2) r/w 13(1)(d) of P.C. Act 1988 against the respondents for committing the alleged offenses.

5. The court below after taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of the case and evidence available on record, passed the judgment and order of acquittal dated 10.04.2009.

6. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that the court below did not appreciate the evidence on record. He further submits that prosecution has successfully proved the offence against the accused on the basis of evidence. The judgment was passed without considering the statement of witnesses and the case set up by the prosecution and the judgment of the acquittal was passed on surmises and conjectures.

7. Learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 1 to 3 submits that the present appeal is of the year, 2009. Moreover, there appears no illegality or infirmity in the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the court below, therefore, leave to appeal may be refused.

8. I have heard the learned counsel for the appellant and considered the ground as well as the argument advanced by learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 1 to 3 and gone through the judgment passed by the court below.

9. In the present case from the statements given by the witnesses produced by the prosecution, I found that prosecution has failed to establish that the crime in question has been committed by the accused and there was no direct evidence produced by the prosecution regarding involvement of the respondent Nos. 1 to 3 in the crime.

10. Further, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out any illegality or infirmity in the judgment and order of acquittal passed in favour of respondents which is before this Court.

11. Further, this Court observed that an appeal against acquittal stands on a different footing from the appeal against conviction. Hon'ble the Apex Court in a very recent judgment in the case of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others reported in (2016) 4 SCC 357 has considered this difference and has observed in paragraph nos.20 and 21 as under:

"20. Generally, an appeal against acquittal has always been altogether on a different pedestal from that of an appeal against conviction. In an appeal against acquittal where the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced, the appellate court would interfere with the order of acquittal only when there is perversity of fact and law. However, we believe that the paramount consideration of the Court is to do substantial justice and avoid miscarriage of justice which can raise by acquitting the accused who is guilty of an offence. A miscarriage of justice that may occur by the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. This Court, while enunciating the principles with regard to the scope of powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, in Sambasiva V. State of Kerala 1998 SCC (Cri) 1320 has held:

"7. The principles with regard to the scope of the powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, are well settled. The powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal are no less than in an appeal against conviction. But where on the basis of evidence on record two views are reasonably possible the appellate court cannot substitute its view in the place of that of the trial court. It is only when the approach of the trial in acquitting an accused is found to be clearly erroneous in its consideration of evidence on record and in deducing conclusions therefrom that the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal."

21. The Court, in several cases, has taken the consistent view that the appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal, has no absolute restriction in law to review and relook the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded. If the appellate court, on scrutiny, finds that the decision of the court below is based on erroneous views and against settled position of law, then the interference of the appellate court with such an order is imperative."

12. In the light of the aforesaid guidelines, the impugned judgment has to be considered from the point of view whether the view taken by the court below was a probable view based on the material on record or it is an absolutely erroneous judgment devoid of merits.

13. A criminal trial proceeds with the presumption of innocence of the accused persons. With the acquittal of the accused persons this presumption of innocence stands fortified. So very strong and cogent reasons must exist in interfering the judgment of acquittal.

14. Keeping in view the aforesaid weakness of the prosecution case, as noted by the court below, I am of the view that the view taken by the court below was a probable and logical view, which is based on valid reasons. The judgment of the court below cannot be said to be illegal, illogical and improbable and not based on material on record or is based on erroneous views and is against the settled position of law. So, this Court is satisfied that there is absolutely no hope of success in this appeal and accordingly, no interference is called for.

15. Leave to appeal is refused.

16. Application for leave to appeal is rejected.

17. Accordingly, the appeal does not survive, and in view of above, the appeal is also dismissed.

18. No order as to costs.

19. Copy of this judgment be sent to the court below for its compliance.

Counsel for the Respondents:

Civil Law- Indian Contract Act, 1872- Section 74- UP NEET Counseling - Forfeiture of Security Deposit- Petition for refund of security deposit- The stipulation of forfeiture of security is clearly by way of a penalty and in view of illustration as contained in Section 74, the stand taken by the respondent cannot be accepted and the State at best can claim reasonable compensation for the los suffered on account of breach of contract. As no loss has been shown to be caused to the respondent by way of resignation coupled with the fact that the seat of the State has not gone vacant, the State cannot even claim reasonable compensation.

The security amount deposited by the petitioner cannot be forfeited by taking recourse to Section 74 of the Contract Act as neither the State has suffered any loss and nor has the seat gone vacant due to the resignation of the petitioner. (Para 16, 19, 20)

Writ Petition allowed. (E-3)

Judgements/Case law relied upon:-

Fateh Chand Vs Balkishan Dass - AIR 1963 SC 1405

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Sanjay Bhasin, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Kshitij Mishra, learned counsel appearing for respondent no.2.

2. Present petition has been filed seeking refund of the security amount deposited by the petitioner after first round of counseling.

3. The facts in brief are that,the petitioner participated in the UP NEET Counseling 2021 and was allotted seat in M.D. Anesthesia by respondent no.2, the State Counseling Board. Subsequently and prior to the second round of counseling, the petitioner got admission in Hemwati Nandan Bahuguna Uttarakhand Medical Education University, Dehradun on 28.1.2022, which fact was informed by the petitioner to the respondents on 31.1.2022 alongwith a copy of the allotment letter. In the said application, there was a request for refund of the security deposit also.

4. The respondents did not pass any order on the request of the petitioner for refund of the security deposit, as such, the present petition has been filed.

5. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the State itself has issued Government Order dated 7.10.2021 wherein it is specifically stated in Clause 8(a)(I) that there is a provision for refund of the entire security deposit in the case of a resignation on the ground that the petitioner has been granted admission in a private medical college.

6. In the light of the said Government Order, it is argued that the security amount deposited by the petitioner amounting to Rs.2,00,000/- is bound to be refunded.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner further places reliance on the directions given in the judgment dated 16.12.2021 passed in Petition(s) for Special Leave to appeal (C) No(s).10487 of 2021; Nihila P.P. v. The Medical Counseling Committee (MCC) & Ors. wherein the Supreme Court ,referred to the modified scheme of allotment of All India Quota which recorded that in terms of the modified scheme, there will be an option for up-gradation and free exit, only in Round 1 of the AIQ counseling. In the light of the said, he argues that the security deposit is liable to be refunded.

8. Shri Sanjay Bhasin, learned Senior Advocate on the other hand argues that in terms of Clause 8(a)(II) of the Government Order dated 7.10.2021, the entire security deposit was liable to be forfeited. Clause 8 is being quoted below:

*"8. त्याग-पत्र दिये जाने के संबंध में-

(क) यदि अभ्यर्थी शैक्षणिक सत्र 2021-22 की प्रथम काउन्सिलिंग से आवंटित होकर प्रदेश के किसी भी मेडिकल / डेण्टल की सीट पर प्रवेश प्राप्त कर लेता है तत्पश्चात् :-

(I) अभ्यर्थी आल इण्डिया या अन्य प्रदेश की काउन्सिलिंग के माध्यम से किसी अन्य पर आवंटन प्राप्त करता है और वह प्रदेश की प्रथम काउन्सिलिंग से प्रवेशित सीट से त्याग पत्र देना चाहता है (त्याग पत्र के समय अन्य काउन्सिलिंग से आवंटन का प्रमाण पत्र प्रस्तुत करना अनिवार्य होगा) तो ऐसे अभ्यर्थी द्वितीय काउन्सिलिंग की च्वाईस फिलिंग से दो दिन पूर्व (उदाहरणार्थ यदि द्वितीय चक्र की काउन्सिलिंग 24.09.2021 से प्रारम्भ होनी है, तो अभ्यर्थी 21.09.2021 को सायं 4.00 बजे तक) अपनी सीट से त्याग पत्र दे सकता है ऐसी स्थिति में अभ्यर्थी द्वारा जमा की गयी सिक्योरिटी धनराशि तथा शिक्षण शुल्क से निम्नानुसार कटौती करते हुए वापस किया जाएगा:-

- राजकीय क्षेत्र के मेडिकल / डेण्टल कालेजों में प्रवेशित अभ्यर्थियों की जमा समस्त शुल्क के 10 प्रतिशत की कटौती करते हुए शेष धनराशि तथा धरोहर धनराशि (Security Money) वापस देय होगी।

- निजी क्षेत्र मेडिकल / डेण्टल कालेजों में प्रवेशित अभ्यर्थियों की जमा शिक्षण शुल्क से 10 प्रतिशत की कटौती करते हुए शेष धनराशि तथा धरोहर धनराशि (Security Money) वापस देय होगी।

(II) प्रथम चक्र की काउन्सिलिंग से आवंटन के पश्चात यदि अभ्यर्थी द्वारा आवंटित कालेज में प्रवेश ले लिया जाता है तथा अभ्यर्थी को आल इण्डिया / अन्य प्रदेश की

काउन्सिलिंग से कोई भी आवंटन प्राप्त नहीं होता है, फिर भी अभ्यर्थी निर्धारित तिथि (द्वितीय चक्र की च्वाईस फिलिंग से दो दिन पहले) से पूर्व त्याग पत्र देता है तो ऐसी दशा में जना की धरोहर धनराशि (Security Money) जब्त कर ली जायेगी तथा शिक्षण शुल्क में से 50 प्रतिशत की कटौती करते हुए शेष धनराशि वापस किया जाएगा।

यदि अभ्यर्थी के द्वारा निर्धारित तिथि के पश्चात त्याग पत्र दिया जाता है तो ऐसी दशा में जमा की गयी धरोहर धनराशि (Security Money) व शिक्षण शुल्क जब्त कर लिया जायेगा।

(ख) राजकीय क्षेत्र के मेडिकल / डेण्टल कालेजों हेतु -

प्रदेश की द्वितीय चक्र की काउंसिलिंग समाप्त होने के पश्चात् प्रवेशित अभ्यर्थी को सीट रिक्क करने की अनुमति नहीं होगी, फिर भी यदि अभ्यर्थी अपनी सीट से त्याग पत्र देता है तो अभ्यर्थी द्वारा जमा की गयी धरोहर धनराशि तथा समस्त शैक्षणिक शुल्क जब्त कर लिया जायेगा व साथ ही साथ रू0 5,00,000/- (रुपये पाँच लाख मात्र) का बाण्ड प्रभावी मानते हुए उक्त धनराशि सरकार के पक्ष में देय होगी, जिसे अभ्यर्थी को आवंटित कालेज में जमा कराना होगा।

(ग) निजी क्षेत्र के मेडिकल / डेण्टल कालेजों हेतु -

मॉप अप राउण्ड के पश्चात निजी क्षेत्र के मेडिकल कालेजो/ विश्वविद्यालयों/ डेण्टल कालेजों में प्रवेशित अभ्यर्थी पाठ्यक्रम पूर्ण करने से पूर्व यदि सीट से त्याग पत्र देता है तो उक्त पाठ्यक्रम की समस्त शैक्षणिक शुल्क (Tuition Fee) सम्बन्धित मेडिकल कालेज/विश्वविद्यालय/ डेण्टल कालेज को देय होगी और सिक्योरिटी धनराशि जब्त कर ली जायेगी तथा यदि अभ्यर्थी को सिक्योरिटी धनराशि वापस की जा चुकी है तो वह भी उसे जमा करना होगा।"

9. He further argues that even in terms of the brochure/guidelines issued in pursuance to which the petitioner had applied, there was a clear stipulation that the security deposit shall be forfeited in respect of candidates who do not join after the first round of counseling or resign after joining and the said brochure/guidelines were in nature of an offer which was accepted by the student and thus there was a contract created in between the parties by which the petitioner is bound.

Relevant extracts of the document issued as guidelines are quoted herein below:

"For detailed information see the Government Order Dated 7 October, 2021

Step-5:- Seat Allotment:

*3. (a) If Seat allotted (First Round):- In case

i. Candidate does not join or after joining resigns from the seat, security money will be forfeited. For participation in second round of counseling security money will have to be deposited again.

ii. Candidate joins the college in first round but wants to upgrade his/her seat, he/she will remain eligible for second counseling and can fill the choices for second round of counseling.

10. Shri Bhasin further places reliance on Section 74 of Indian Contract Act. He argues that even in the allotment letter issued to the petitioner as contained in Annexure - 4, it was clearly stipulated that in case the candidate does not take admission after allotment, the security deposit will be forfeited. He further argues that the judgment of the Supreme Court relied upon by the petitioner refers to free exit only on up-gradation whereas in the present case, the case of the petitioner is not that of up-gradation but that of resignation on account of the allotment subsequently elsewhere.

11. He further argues that even otherwise the judgment of the Supreme Court pertains to the allotment of All India Quota whereas the issue at hand relates to UP NEET Counseling, thus, the same has no applicability to the facts of the present case as the directions issued in the said judgment pertain to All India Quota seats.

12. In rejoinder, learned counsel for the petitioner argues that the petitioner was allotted seat in the All India Quota seats and thus, the judgment of the Supreme Court is applicable to the facts of the present case.

13. In the light of the arguments as advanced by the parties, this Court is to consider as to whether the confiscation of security deposit, is bad in law? and whether the petitioner is entitled to refund of security amount ?

14. Considering the first submission that the security deposit was liable to be refunded in terms of the Government Order dated 7.10.2021. On plain reading of Clause 8 of the said Government Order, I am of the firm view that the case of the petitioner would fall under Clause 8(a)(I) and not under Clause 8(a)(II) as is being argued by learned counsel for the respondent. Clearly, in terms of Clause 8(a)(I), the petitioner is entitled for refund of entire security deposit.

15. Reverting to the second submission of Shri Bhasin that there was a contract which flows from the offer and acceptance as made through the brochure/guidelines/allottment letter, in between the parties and in terms of the Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act, the respondents are well within their right to forfeit the security deposit, Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act with illustrations is quoted herein below:

"74. Compensation for breach of contract where penalty stipulated for.--When a contract has been broken, if a sum is named in the contract as the amount to be paid in case of such breach, or if the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty, the party complaining of the breach is entitled, whether or not actual damage or loss is proved to have been caused thereby, to receive from the party who has broken the contract reasonable compensation not exceeding the amount so named or, as the case may be, the penalty stipulated for.*

(g) A borrows Rs. 100 from B and gives him a bond for Rs. 200 payable by five yearly instalments of Rs. 40, with a stipulation that, in default of payment of any instalment, the whole shall become due. This is a stipulation by way of penalty."

16. In the present case, the guidelines issued and annexed, specifically provides that the detailed information contained in the Government Order dated 7.10.2021 would guide the issues pertaining to the counseling, forfeiture and the payments, as such, the information given to the student contained a clear stipulation that the provisions of Government Order dated 7.10.2021 would govern, however, even assuming that the guidelines given to the student and its acceptance form a separate contract (as argued by respondents), the stipulation of forfeiture of security is clearly by way of a penalty and in view of illustration as contained in Section 74, the stand taken by the respondent cannot be accepted and the State at best can claim reasonable compensation for the los suffered on account of breach of contract. As no loss has been shown to be caused to the respondent by way of resignation coupled with the fact that the seat of the State has not gone vacant, the State cannot even claim reasonable compensation.

17. Scope of Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act was considered and explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Fateh Chand v. Balkishan Dass - AIR 1963 SC 1405 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"10. Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act deals with the measure of damages in two classes of cases (i) where the contract names a sum to be paid in case of breach and (ii) where the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty. We are in the present case not concerned to decide whether a contract containing a covenant of forfeiture of deposit for due performance of a contract falls within the first class. The measure of damages in the case of breach of a stipulation by way of penalty is by Section 74 reasonable compensation not exceeding the penalty stipulated for. In assessing damages the Court has, subject to the limit of the penalty stipulated, jurisdiction to award such compensation as it deems reasonable having regard to all the circumstances of the case. Jurisdiction of the Court to award compensation in case of breach of contract is unqualified except as to the maximum stipulated; but compensation has to be reasonable, and that imposes upon the Court duty to award compensation according to settled principles. The section undoubtedly says that the aggrieved party is entitled to receive compensation from the party who has broken the contract, whether or not actual damage or loss is proved to have been caused by the breach. Thereby it merely dispenses with proof of "actual loss or damage"; it does not justify the award of compensation when in consequence of the breach no legal injury at all has resulted, because compensation for breach of contract can be awarded to make good loss or damage which naturally arose in the usual course of things, or which the parties knew when they made the contract, to be likely to result from the breach.

11. Before turning to the question about the compensation which may be awarded to the plaintiff, it is necessary to consider whether Section 74 applies to stipulations for forfeiture of amounts deposited or paid under the contract. It was urged that the section deals in terms with the right to receive from the party who has broken the contract reasonable compensation and not the right to forfeit what has already been received by the party aggrieved. There is however, no warrant for the assumption made by some of the High Courts in India, that Section 74 applies only to cases where the, aggrieved party is seeking to receive some amount on breach of contract and not to cases where upon breach of contract an amount received under the contract is sought to be forfeited. In our judgment the expression "the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty" comprehensively applies to every covenant involving a penalty whether it is for payment on breach of contract of money or delivery of property in future, or for forfeiture of right to money or other property already delivered. Duty not to enforce the penalty clause but only to award reasonable compensation is statutorily imposed upon courts by Section 74. In all cases, therefore, where there is a stipulation in the nature of penalty for forfeiture of an amount deposited pursuant to the terms of contract which expressly provides for forfeiture, the court has jurisdiction to award such sum only as it considers r*easonable, but not exceeding the amount specified in the contract as liable to forfeiture. We may briefly refer to certain illustrative cases decided by the High Courts in India which have expressed a different view."*

18. Testing the third argument as raised in between the parties with regard to the judgment of the Supreme Court, learned counsel for the petitioner argues that, the contract, even if for the sake of arguments is considered to be correct, would stand superseded by the subsequent judgment of the Supreme Court whereas Shri Bhasin argues that the contract would not get affected by the said judgment inasmuch as the directions contained were based upon an affidavit filed by Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS) for counseling for 50% All India Quota seats.

19. Be that as it may, once I have held that even by virtue of Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act, the respondents - authorities are not entitled to impose a penalty over and above what they can establish as a loss caused to them, thus, the said argument becomes redundant and cannot be considered.

20. Thus, holding that the petitioner is entitled in terms of the Government Order dated 7.10.2021 for refund of the entire security deposit and the respondents are not entitled to resort to penal clause as contained in the guidelines for recovering damages over and above what they can establish, the present petition deserves to be allowed and is ordered accordingly.

21. Respondent No.2 i.e. Director General (Medical Education & Training), Chairman, Counseling Board, U.P. NEET PG - 21, Lucknow, U.P. is directed to refund the amount of Rs.2,00,000/- deposited by the petitioner as security deposit to her within a period of four weeks from today. 22. In the event the amount is not refunded within a period of four weeks from today, the same shall carry interest at the rate of 6% per annum from the date of application for refund till payment /realisation.

A. Civil Law - Service Law - Disciplinary Action Post Employee's Retirement - U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 - R. 14 - Civil Service Regulations, Article 351-A - if departmental proceedings are instituted against the government servant prior to the government servant attains the age of superannuation and retires, then in that eventuality the departmental proceedings can continue & no sanction of the Governor is required for continuance of the departmental proceedings - however, departmental enquiry initiated against the employee, before his retirement, could be continued only for a limited purpose for determining whether or not he is entitled for pensionary benefits and gratuity - if the employee is found to be guilty of grave misconduct or is found to have caused pecuniary loss to the Government, in such a situation, it is only the Governor (i.e. the State Government in accordance with the Rules of Business) who can take certain action permissible under Article 351-A of the CSR

- the only action permissible against a retired government servant on conclusion of the departmental enquiry is withholding or withdrawing the pension or any part of it for permanently or for a specified period and ordering for recovery from the pension of the whole or part of it - however none of the substantive penalties, which include dismissal of service, can be imposed on an employee after his retirement unless there exists a specific rule in that behalf - Neither in U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 nor in Civil Service Regulations contain any rule or provision which permit passing of order of dismissal or any other penalty in case the employee has retired (Para 21, 27, 34, 35)

B. Civil Law - Service Law - Civil Service Regulations, Article 351-A - Phrase - 'The Governor reserves to himself the right' - use of this phrase would mean that no one else has a right including Disciplinary Authority or Appointing Authority to withdraw or withhold pension and ordering recovery from pension in respect of government servant who has retired on attaining the age of superannuation (Para 21)

Proceedings were instituted prior to retirement of the appellant-petitioner - prior to passing of the dismissal order on 01.11.2018, he retired on 31.05.2015 - after 31.05.2015 the employee-employer relationship got severed - in terms of the provisions contained in Article 351-A of the Civil Service Regulations it is the Governor who had the authority to take action which could be confined only to curtailment or withholding the pension or recovery therefrom - appellant-petitioner could not have been inflicted with the punishment of dismissal from service with retrospective date - Dismissal order set aside.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amit Bose, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Mohd. Shujauddin Waris for the appellant-petitioner and the learned State Counsel representing the State-respondents.

2. We have also perused the record available before us on this Special Appeal.

3. By means of this Special Appeal instituted under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules of the Court, challenge has been made by the appellant-petitioner to a judgment and order dated 11.08.2021, passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.7483(SS) of 2019 whereby the writ petition has been dismissed and the order dated 01.11.2018 reiterating the order of dismissal of the appellant-petitioner has been affirmed.

4. The appellant-petitioner was recruited as Constable of Armed Police in the establishment of the Uttar Pradesh Police. On certain charges relating to obtaining employment on the basis of certain allegedly forged education certificates, he was dismissed from service by means of an order dated 20.06.2009, passed by the Superintendent of Police, Sultanpur. The said order of dismissal was challenged by the appellant-petitioner by filing Writ Petition No.5847(SS) of 2009, which was allowed by this Court by means of order dated 11.09.2013 whereby the order of dismissal passed by the Superintendent of Police, Sultanpur dated 20.06.2009 was set aside with the direction that the appellant-petitioner will be reinstated in service. While allowing the Writ Petition No.5847(SS) of 2009, this Court further observed that it will be open to the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar to take action in accordance with law.

5. In compliance of the aforesaid order dated 11.09.2013, passed by this Court, the appellant-petitioner was reinstated by means of order dated 31.01.2014, passed by the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar, however, the departmental proceedings were further carried against the appellant-petitioner and he was again dismissed from service by means of order dated 04.07.2014, passed by the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar. By means of another order passed on the same day i.e. 04.07.2014, the representation of the appellant-petitioner regarding payment of back wages was also rejected.

6. Both the aforesaid two orders dated 04.07.2014 whereby the appellant-petitioner was dismissed from service and his claim for payment of back wages was rejected became the subject matter of the Writ Petition No.5703(SS) of 2014 which was decided by the learned Single Judge of this Court by means of an order dated 13.03.2018. By the said order, the order of dismissal dated 04.07.2014 was set aside with the further stipulation therein that the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar shall pass a fresh order in accordance with law. The reason indicated in the order dated 13.03.2018, passed by this Court while quashing the order of punishment of dismissal was that the order of punishment of dismissal which was challenged did not refer to the show cause notice and the reply submitted by the appellant-petitioner to the said show cause notice and accordingly it was held that the appellant-petitioner was denied opportunity of hearing.

7. The appellant-petitioner, in the meantime, attained the age of superannuation on 31.05.2015. In compliance of the order dated 13.03.2018, passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 5703(SS) of 2014, a show cause notice was given to the appellant-petitioner on 22.05.2018 to which he submitted his reply by means of his letter dated 23.07.2018. The Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar thereafter passed the order dated 01.11.2018 who reiterated the earlier order of dismissal and further stated that it will not be lawful to reinstate the appellant-petitioner in service. It is this order dated 01.11.2018 which was challenged by the appellant-petitioner by instituting the proceedings of Writ Petition No.7483(SS) of 2019, which has been dismissed by means of judgment and order dated 11.08.2021, which is under challenge herein.

8. Learned Senior Advocate, Sri Bose impeaching the judgment and order passed by the learned Single Judge has vehemently argued that since the appellant-petitioner had attained the age of superannuation on 31.05.2015, as such in terms of the provisions contained in Article 351-A of the Civil Service Regulations (herein after referred to as "CSR"), it is the Governor who had the authority to take action which could be confined only to the nature of action permissible and given in the said provision, that is to say, curtailment or withholding the pension or recovery therefrom.

9. It has further been argued on behalf of the appellant-petitioner that once the appellant-petitioner attained the age of superannuation and retired on 31.05.2015, for all purposes, relationship between the appellant-petitioner and the State authorities so far as the employment is concerned, got severed and hence, having regard to the provision contained in Article 351-A of the CSR, the appellant-petitioner could not have been inflicted with the punishment of dismissal from service with retrospective date.

10. Sri Bose, learned Senior Advocate has, thus, argued that the issue raised in the writ petition has not been addressed by the learned Single Judge while passing the judgment and order dated 11.08.2021, inasmuch as that the learned Single Judge went to examine the issue as to whether after the appellant-petitioner attained the age of superannuation, any sanction to continue with the departmental proceedings, from the Governor as per the requirement of Article 351-A of the CSR was required or not. It has thus been argued that this issue neither arose nor was argued before the learned Single Judge. Submission further is that, as a matter of fact, in view of law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. and others Vs. Harihar Bholenath, reported in (2006) 13 Supreme Court Cases 460, the said issue is well settled according to which in case the departmental proceedings are instituted against the government servant prior to the government servant attains the age of superannuation and retires then in that eventuality, no sanction of the Governor is required for continuance of the departmental proceedings in terms of Article 351-A of the CSR.

11. Sri Bose has further argued that the issue raised before the learned Single Judge was that once the government servant retires and departmental proceedings were already instituted against him prior to his retirement, it is not that any sanction for continuance of the disciplinary proceedings is required; rather in such a situation, it is only the Governor who can take certain action permissible under Article 351-A of the CSR. According to him, the only action permissible against a retired government servant on conclusion of the departmental enquiry is withholding or withdrawing the pension or any part of it for permanently or for a specified period and ordering for recovery from the pension of the whole or part of it.

12. It has, thus, been argued on behalf of the appellant-petitioner that in the instant case, the punishment of order of dismissal has been passed by the Superintendent of Police and not by the Governor (i.e. the State Government in accordance with the Rules of Business), that too, retrospectively, as such the order of dismissal is not sustainable, however, learned Single Judge has, thus, erred in law in upholding the dismissal of the appellant-petitioner.

13. On the other hand, learned State Counsel defending the judgment and order under appeal passed by the learned Single Judge, has submitted that in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chairman-Cum-Managing Director, Mahanadi Coalfields Limited Vs. Rabindranath Choubey, reported in AIR 2020 Supreme Court 2978, it is permissible for the Disciplinary Authority to impose punishment of dismissal after conclusion of disciplinary proceedings, in a situation where such disciplinary proceedings were initiated against the employee concerned before he had attained the age of superannuation and retired. In this view, submission of learned State Counsel is that the judgment and order under appeal herein passed by the learned Single Judge does not require any interference in this Special Appeal, which is liable to be dismissed.

14. We have taken into consideration the rival submissions made by the learned counsel representing the respective parties and have also gone through the records available before us.

15. The issue which emerges for our consideration and reflection in this case is as to whether in view of the provisions contained in Article 351-A of the CSR, it was open to the State-respondents to have inflicted punishment of dismissal from service upon the appellant-petitioner once he had retired which is other than the action permissible under Article 351-A of the CSR. In other words, the issue is as to whether the order of dismissal could have been passed by the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar after the appellant-petitioner had retired on attaining the age of superannuation. The other issue which needs our consideration is as to whether the order of dismissal of appellant-petitioner could have been passed with retrospective date considering the provisions of Article 351-A of the CSR and the provisions contained in U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991.

16. Article 351-A of the CSR is extracted herein under :

"351-A. The Governor reserves to himself the right of withholding or withdrawing a pension or any part of it, whether permanently or for a specified period and the right of ordering the recovery from a pension of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to Government, if the pensioner is found in departmental or judicial proceedings to have been guilty of grave misconduct, or to have caused pecuniary loss to Government by misconduct or Negligence, during his service, including service rendered on re-employment after retirement;

Provided that--

(a) such departmental proceedings, if not instituted while the officer was on duty either before retirement or during re-employment--

(i) shall not be instituted save with the sanction of the Governor,

(ii) shall be in respect of an event which took place not more than four years before the institution of such proceeding, and

(iii) shall be conducted by such authority and in such place or places as the Governor may direct and in accordance with the procedure applicable to proceedings on which an order of dismissal from service may be made.

(b) judicial proceedings, if not instituted while the officer was on duty either before retirement or during re-employment, shall have been instituted in accordance with sub-clause (ii) of clause (a); and

(c) the Public Service Commission, U.P., shall be consulted before final orders are passed.

Explanation--For the purposes of this article--

(a) Departmental proceedings shall be deemed to have been instituted when the charges framed against the pensioner are issued to him or, if the officer has been placed under suspension from and earlier date, on such date; and

(b) judicial proceedings shall be deemed to have been instituted :

(i) in the case of criminal proceedings, on the date on which a complaint is made, or a charge-sheet is submitted, to a criminal court; and

(ii) in the case of civil proceedings, on the date on which the plaint is presented or, as the case may be, an application is made, to a civil court".

17. A bare perusal of the afore-quoted provision of Article 351-A of the CSR shows that once the government servant retires, it is the Governor who has the right of withholding or withdrawing the pension or any part of it, permanently or for a specified period. The Governor under the said provision has also the right of recovery from the pension of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to the Government, if the employee is found in departmental or judicial proceedings to have caused pecuniary loss to Government by misconduct or negligence during his service or he has been found guilty of gross misconduct.

18. It is, thus, clear that after retirement, withholding or withdrawing a pension and ordering the recovery from pension is permissible to be caused only by the Governor i.e. the State Government in terms of the Rules of Business, not only in case such employee is found causing pecuniary loss to the Government by his misconduct or negligence but also in a cases when the employee concerned is found guilty of grave misconduct.

19. The provision of first proviso appended to Article 351-A of the CSR clearly prohibits institution of departmental proceedings except with the sanction of Governor if such proceedings were not instituted while the employee was on duty either before retirement or during re-employment. Thus, Article 351-A of CSR puts a prohibition of initiating the departmental proceedings in a case of retired government servant, however, such proceedings are permissible to be instituted with the sanction of Governor, that too, in respect of an event which took place not more than four years before institution of such proceedings. The provision further provides that departmental enquiry in such an event shall be conducted by such authority and at such place as the Governor may direct and in accordance with the procedure applicable.

20. Accordingly, we are of the considered opinion that in the instant case, since the departmental proceedings were already instituted against the appellant-petitioner prior to his retirement on attaining the age of superannuation, no sanction under Article 351-A of the CSR was required to be taken from the Governor. This view is fully supported by the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Harihar Bholenath (supra). To this extent we do not find any error in the judgment of learned Single Judge which is under appeal herein.

21. In terms of the provisions contained in Article 351-A of the CSR, it is the Governor who reserves to himself the right of withholding or withdrawing a pension or any part of it and right of ordering the recovery from a pension. Opening words of Article 351-A, namely, "The Governor reserves to himself the right' are very important to be noticed. The use of this phrase would mean that no one else has a right including Disciplinary Authority or Appointing Authority to withdraw or withhold pension and ordering recovery from pension in respect of government servant who has retired on attaining the age of superannuation. In this view, the action, if any, against a government servant, who has retired, is permissible to be taken only by the Governor and no one else.

22. Having observed as above, what we further need to reflect upon is the issue as to whether the order of punishment of dismissal from service can be passed in case of the appellant-petitioner who had already retired much prior to the date on which the order under challenge before the learned Single Judge i.e. order dated 01.11.2018 was passed.

23. Learned State Counsel has laid great emphasis on the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra). The judgment in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) has been rendered by a Bench of three Hon'ble Judges of Hon'ble Supreme Court. The majority view in the said judgment was expressed by Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.R. Shah with Hon'ble Mr. Justice Arun Mishra. The majority view expressed in the said case based on consideration of the relevant rules applicable for conducting the disciplinary proceedings in respect of employee concerned. The employee in the said case was employed with Mahanadi Coalfields Limited which had framed Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules,1978. Rule 27 of the said Rules mentions the authority where employer has the power to impose punishment including punishment of dismissal. Rule 34.2 of the said Rules provides that disciplinary proceedings, if instituted while the employee was in service before his retirement, shall be deemed to be proceeding even after the final retirement of the employee and shall be continued and concluded as if the employee had continued in service.

24. Rule 34.2 of the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) as extracted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the said judgment, is as follows :

"34.2. Disciplinary proceeding, if instituted while the employee was in service whether before his retirement or during his reemployment shall, after the final retirement of the employee, be deemed to be proceeding and shall be continued and concluded by the authority by which it was commenced in the same manner as if the employee had continued in service."

25. From a perusal of Rule 34.2 of Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules as discussed in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra), it is clear that the said rule creates a legal fiction to the effect that if disciplinary proceedings are instituted prior to retirement of the employee concerned, such disciplinary proceedings shall not only be deemed to be proceedings even after retirement, but also that such proceedings shall be continued in the same manner, if the employee had continued in service. Thus, considering the wording of Rule 34.2 of Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) it is seen that in the organization concerned where the employee was working, even after retirement the employee is deemed to be in continued in service even if he retires.

26. The majority view in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra), thus, having regard to the provision contained in Rule 34.2 of the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules applicable to the employee in the said case, has given a finding that on conclusion of such disciplinary proceedings any of the penalties provided under the Rule can be imposed by the authority concerned including the order of dismissal.

27. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) has taken into consideration the law laid down by the Division Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of UCO Bank and others, Vs. Prabhakar Sadashiv Karvade, reported in (2018) 14 Supreme Court Cases 98, wherein it has clearly been held that even though a departmental enquiry instituted against an officer/employee before his retirement can continue even after his retirement, none of the substantive penalties, which include dismissal from service, can be imposed on the officer/employee after his retirement on attaining the age of superannuation. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the said case has observed that master and servant relationship between the employee and the Bank comes to an end for all practical purposes on the date the employee concerned is superannuated and further that departmental enquiry initiated against the employee before his retirement could be continued only for a limited purpose for determining whether or not he is entitled for pensionary benefits and gratuity. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the said case has clearly observed that an order of dismissal or removal from service can be passed only when an employee is in service and further that if the person is not in employment, the question of terminating his services ordinarily would not arise unless there exists a specific rule in that behalf.

28. However, so far as the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) is concerned, it is relevant to note that the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules applicable to the employee in the said case created a legal fiction by specifically providing that in case the departmental proceedings were instituted prior to retirement of an employee concerned, such proceedings shall be deemed to be continued and shall be concluded by the authority by which such proceedings were commenced in the same manner as if the employee had continued in service.

29. While deducing the ratio in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra), we cannot loose sight of the provisions of the Rules, specifically Rule 34.2 of the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules applicable in the said case. Thus, if we read the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) and the case of Prabhakar Sadashiv Karvade(supra) together, the principle of law, in our considered opinion, which emerges, is that once the employee retires on attaining the age of superannuation, punishment of dismissal or removal from service cannot be inflicted for the reason that if the person is not in employment, the question of terminating his services would not arise, unless there exists a specific rule in that behalf.

30. What we notice in the judgment in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra), which has heavily been relied upon by the learned State Counsel, opposing the instant special appeal, is that a specific rule under the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules provided in the said case that the employee will be deemed to continue in service even after retirement. In fact, the language of Rule 34.2 of the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) is very relevant to cull the ratio laid down therein. According to Rule 34.2 of the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules as discussed in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra), in a situation where the disciplinary proceedings were instituted while the employee was in service, such disciplinary proceedings shall be deemed to be proceeding and shall be continued and concluded by the authority which had commenced such proceedings in the same manner as if the employee had continued in service. It is in the light of the said Rule that Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rabindranth Choubey (subra) has observed that on conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings, the penalty of dismissal could be imposed under the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules applicable to the said case.

31. The question, therefore, in this case to be considered as to whether any such rule, as discussed in the case of Rabindranath Choubey(supra) by the Hon'ble Supreme Court exists in the Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules governing the appellant-petitioner.

32. The State Government in exercise of its powers vested in it under the Police Act, 1861 has framed "The U.P. Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks(Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991". The Rules are statutory in nature. Two types of punishment are provided in Rule 4, according to which major penalties include (i) dismissal from service, (ii) removal from service and, (iii) reduction in rank including reduction to a lower-scale or to a lower stage in a time scale whereas minor penalties include (i) withholding of promotion, (ii) fine not exceeding one month's pay, (iii) withholding of increment, including stoppage at an efficiency bar and, (iv) Censure. The procedure for award of punishment is provided in Rule 14.

33. Rule 14(1) provides for the procedure for major penalty, according to which the proceedings are to be conducted in accordance with the procedure laid down in appendix-I appended to the Rules. Rule 14(2) states that minor penalty may be imposed after informing the Police Officer in writing of the action to be proposed to be taken against him and what imputation of the act or omission on which action is proposed to be taken after giving him reasonable opportunity of making representation.

34. In U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 there is no provision akin to the provision of 34.2 of the Discipline and Appeal Rules, as discussed in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra). Even the Civil Service Regulations does not contain any such rule or provision which may permit passing of order of dismissal or for that matter any other penalty in case the employee has retired. Learned State Counsel has also not been able to place any such rule before us.

35. In absence of any rule, which permits imposition of punishment of dismissal after retirement or which deems the employee-employer relationship to be continued even after retirement for the purposes of disciplinary proceedings, in our opinion, the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rabindranath Choubey (supra) does not have any application in this case. Accordingly the reliance placed by the learned State Counsel on the said judgment is misplaced. As already observed above, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Prabhakar Sadashiv Karvade (supra) has clearly held that penalty of dismissal cannot be imposed on an officer/employee after his retirement after attaining the age of superannuation unless there exists a specific rule in that behalf. If the disciplinary enquiry is instituted prior to retirement of the employee concerned, the same will continue by operation of Article 351A of Civil Service Regulations as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Harihar Bholenath (supra). However, in such a case if the employee is found to be guilty of grave misconduct of or is found to have caused pecuniary loss to the Government, it is the Governor who can take action as provided in Article 351-A of the Civil Service Regulations.

36. Admittedly, in the instant case the proceedings were instituted prior to retirement of the appellant-petitioner, however, prior to passing of the order dated 01.11.2018 reiterating the order of dismissal, he had already retired on 31.05.2015 on his attaining the age of superannuation and accordingly after 31.05.2015 the employee-employer relationship had already got severed and thus only action permissible against him is in terms of the provisions contained in Article 351A of Civil Service Regulations.

37. Learned Single Judge while passing the judgment and order under appeal has not addressed the aforesaid issues, though these issues were contended not only in the writ petition but even in the reply submitted by the appellant-petitioner to the show cause notice dated 22.05.2018. Learned Single Judge while passing the judgment and order under appeal appears to have lost sight of the aforesaid aspects of the matter and accordingly, in our opinion, the judgment rendered by the learned Single Judge is not tenable.

38. Resultantly, the special appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 11.08.2021 passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.7483 (S/S) of 2019 is hereby set aside. The order dated 01.11.2018 passed by the Superintendent of Police, Ambedkar Nagar is also set aside.

39. However, it will be open to the respondents to take action in terms of the provisions contained in Article 351-A of Civil Service Regulations and in case decision to take such action is taken, the process thereof shall be completed within three months from today.

A. Civil Law - Constitution of India,1950 - Art. 226 - Writ petition - maintainability - re-evaluation of the answer-key - Judicial Review of the expert opinion - Under Article 226, High Court can judicially review the expert opinion, given by the persons specialized in the field, only if it is demonstrated very clearly, that the key answer is patently wrong & a material error has been committed and / or if there are allegations of mala fide against any of the Members of the Expert Committee - burden of proof lies upon the candidates to demonstrate that the key answer is incorrect & that there is a glaring mistake which is totally apparent and no inferential process or reasoning or research is required to show that the key answer is wrong - In the event of any doubt, the benefit should go to the examination authority rather than to the candidate. (Para 14,18, 21)

B. Civil Law - Constitution of India, Art. 226 - Writ petition - successive writ petition - maintainability - Any relief not claimed in the earlier writ petition should be deemed to have been abandoned by the petitioner - Even if a party does not pray for the relief in the earlier writ petition, which he ought to have claimed in the earlier petition, he cannot file a successive writ petition claiming that relief (Para 32, 27)

Petitioners earlier filed writ petition before High Court which was disposed off directing the authorities to conduct the re-evaluation of the answer-sheets of petitioners - Petitioners filed second writ petition seeking the same relief i.e. re-evaluation of their answer sheets Held - Court held that the second writ petition was not maintainable for again issuing a direction to re-evaluate the respective booklet Series (Para 38)

Prayagraj through its Secretary and Mr. Shailendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents in the above writ petitions.

2. Writ- A No. 481 of 2021 has been filed by the petitioner with a prayer to issue a direction upon the respondents to forthwith allocate 1 mark each for Question nos. 116 and 146 after re-evaluating Booklet Series-'C' qua the petitioner and thereafter may appoint the petitioner on the post of Assistant Teacher.

By means of Writ-A No. 482 of 2021, the petitioner has prayed for a direction upon the respondents to forthwith allocate 1 mark each for Question Nos. 3, 35, 70 and 126 after re-evaluating Booklet Series-'A' qua the petitioner and thereafter may appoint the petitioner on the post of Assistant Teacher.

Writ-A No. 484 has been filed for a direction upon the respondents to forthwith allocate one mark, which has been wrongly deducted pursuant to an order of a Writ Court dated 22nd October, 2019 passed in Writ-A No. 4235 of 2019 (Jyoti Yadav Vs. State of u.P. & Others) along with Writ-A no. 6420 of 2019 (Narendra Kumar Chaturvedi Vs. State of U.P. & Others) and may also allocate one mark in respect of Question No. 21 and thereafter may appoint the petitioner on the post of Assistant Teacher.

In Writ-A No. 486 of 2021, it has been prayed by the petitioner that the respondents be directed to forthwith allocate 1 mark each for Question Nos. 34 and 50 after re-evaluating Booklet Series-'C' qua the petitioner and thereafter may appoint the petitioner on the post of Assistant Teacher.

By Writ-A No. 487 of 2021, a writ of mandamus has been prayed by the petitioner directing the respondents to forthwith select the petitioner after allocating marks to Question Nos. 76 and 79 in relation to Assistant Teacher Recruitment Examination-2018 within stipulated period of time as this Court may desire and deem fit in the interest of justice.

Writ-A No. 491 has been filed by the petitioner for a direction upon the respondents to forthwith allocate 1 mark each for Question Nos. 18 and 133 after re-evaluating Booklet Series-'A' qua the petitioner and thereafter may appoint the petitioner on the post of Assistant Teacher.

3. As the rudimentary realities and the permissible facets intricate are indistinguishable in this bunch of the writ petitions, they have been amalgamated and heard together and are being decided by this conjoint verdict. The particulars chronicled in Writ- A No.- 481 of 2021 (Arsiya Bano Vs. State Of U.P. And 3 Ors.) are being canned to be the leading case.

4. According to the petitioners, the realistic milieu of the case is as follows:-

The State of Uttar Pradesh, by making 20th amendment in the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981, fixed a criteria for making appointments of Assistant Teachers in Primary Schools run and controlled by the U.P. Basic Basic Education Baord, Prayagraj/Allahabad. Pursuant to the said amendment, a letter has been issued by the State inviting online applications from the prospective candidates for appointment on the post of Assistant Teachers in Primary Schools against total 68,500 posts for which the State also proposed to conduct Assistant Teachers Recruitment Examination-2018.

As per the provisions contained in the guidelines so issued, initially the cut off marks i.e. minimum qualifying marks was fixed at 45% for General and Other Backward Class category and 40% marks fixed for Scheduled Caste Category. The total marks of the Entrance Examination is 150 for which 150 questions provided in written examination so conducted by the State of Uttar Pradesh and on calculating 45% marks of which will be 67 marks and 40% marks will be 60 marks. As the petitioners possessed the degrees of Graduation and B.T.C. and also cleared T.E.T. examination, therefore, they were fully eligible to be appointed as Assistant Teacher in primary schools and also entitled to appear in Recruitment Examination-2018. The petitioner in leading case applied for appearing in Assistant Teachers Recruitment Examination-2018 by depositing the requisite fee and was also registered as a candidate having Registration No. 3500028774 and allotted Roll No. 35351808887. Pursuant thereof, the petitioner appeared in Assistant Teacher Recruitment Examination-2018 on 27th May, 2018, wherein he was provided Booklet Series "C". In the said recruitment examination, there were four series of booklets consisting of 150 questions, which were marked as "A", "B", "C", & "D". After the said recruitment examination, a model booklet answer key of Booklet Series "C" was duly published by the Secretary, Examination Regulatory Authority, U.P. Prayagraj, i.e. respondent no.4 on the concerned website on 5th June, 2018 and further a revised model booklet answer key of Booklet Series "C" was published on 18th June, 2018 by respondent no.4. The results of Assistant Teachers Recruitment Examination-2018 was declared by respondent no.4 on the concerned website on 13th August, 2018 and against total 68,500 posts, only 41,556 candidates were declared successful, as they secured minimum eligibility cut off marks, which was fixed as 45% for General and Other Backward Class Category candidates and 40% for Scheduled Caste Category candidates i.e. 67 marks for General/OBC candidates and 60 marks for SC candidates. When the result was declared, the petitioner has obtained 63 marks.

For ensuring transparency in the result so declared against the Assistant Teacher Recruitment Examination-2018, a Government Order dated 5th October, 2018 was issued, whereby the candidates, who were not satisfied with the result so declared, were directed to apply online between 11th October, 2018 to 20th October, 2018 for re-evaluation of the answer-key. Pursuant to the said Government Order, an advertisement dated 10th October, 2018 was issued for re-evaluation of the answer-key. Accordingly, the petitioner filled online form for re-evaluation. After filling the form for re-evaluation, the result was declared on 17th February, 2019 and the total marks of the petitioner have been increased by two more marks i.e. 63+2=65 marks, whereas qualifying marks, as fixed by respondent no.4 for the General/Other Backward Class Category candidates, is 67 marks. For question no. 10 of Booklet Series "C" which was provided to her, a litigation was pending before the Apex Court and upon intervention of the Apex Court, one mark each was given to all the candidates, therefore, total marks of the petitioner was swelled to 66 marks. Against the re-evaluated result, so declared on 17th February, 2019, various writ petitions were filed before this Court for subsequent re-evaluation. The petitioner also filed Writ-A No. 10620 of 2019. This writ petition was clubbed with Writ-A No. 6420 of 2019 (Narendra Kumar Chaturvedi VS. State of U.P. & Others), which was the leading petition. This bunch of writ petitions were disposed by a Writ Court vide common judgment and order dated 22nd October, 2019 with a direction upon the respondents to conduct the re-evaluation in light of the judgment dated 30th October, 2018 passed in Writ-A No. 18235 of 2018 (Aniruddh Narayan Shukla & 118 others VS. State of U.P. & Others). Pursuant to the above order of the Writ Court dated 22nd October, 2019, the answer-keys of the prospective candidates were re-evaluated, after which the result was declared on 18th September, 2020, wherein the petitioner was awarded 66 marks, which was less than the qualifying cut off marks i.e. 67 marks in General/Other Backward Class Category. Not being satisfied with the said re-evaluation, the petitioner again approached this Court by means of present leading writ petition for re-evaluating Question Nos.116 and 146 of "C" booklet series which was provided to the petitioner.

5. Submissions made on behalf of petitioner in each writ petition of the aforesaid bunch are as follows:-

(I) So far as the case of petitioner of leading writ petition i.e. Writ-A No. 481 of 2022 is concerned, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that pursuant to the order of the Writ Court dated 22nd October, 2019, re-evaluation was done but the marks to the answers given by the petitioner against question nos. 116 and 146, have not been given to her. In the said factual background, the petitioner would refer Question No.116 which reads as under:-

"शारदा अधिनियम का सम्बन्ध किससे है?"

The answer given by the petitioner is "विवाह', whereas the answer as per the answer sheet is "बाल विवाह Child Marriage Restraint Act 1929/युवकों की 18 एवं महिलाओं की 14 वर्ष में विवाह/विवाह की उम्र/विवाह की न्यूनतम आयु से सम्बन्धित/लड़के एवं लड़कियों के विवाह की निश्चित आयु से सम्बन्धित/ महिला विवाह/ विवाह आयु से'.

Now petitioner would like to refer Question No.146, which is quoted herein below:-

""व्यास सम्मान,2017' के लिए किसे चुना गया है?".

The answer given by the petitioner is "ममता', whereas the answer in the answer sheet is "ममता कालिया'.

Learned counsel for the petitioners, therefore, submits that the answer given by the petitioner is nearly the same which has been given in the answer-sheet, hence, the marks for those questions should be given to the petitioner.

(II) In respect of the case of petitioner in Writ-A No. 482 of 2021, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that on the basis of aforesaid order of the Writ Court, the re-evaluation was done but no marks were awarded to the petitioner. In support of his case, the petitioner would like to reproduce Question No.3 which reads as under:-

"चौराहा में कौन सा समास है?'.

The answer given by the petitioner is "द्विगु समास/तत्पुरुष समास', whereas the answer as per the answer sheet is "द्विगुसमास'.

Similarly, the petitioner would like to refer Question No.35 which is set-out hereinbelow:-

""पठनीयः पद में कौन-सा प्रत्यय है?".

To the said question, the answer given by the petitioner is "अनीयर प्रत्यय/अनीय', whereas the answer in the answer sheet is "द्विगुसमास अनीयर'.

The petitioner would also like to refer Question No.70 which is set- out hereinbelow:-

"10. से०मी० त्रिज्या वाले एक वृत की एक जीवा की लम्बाई 16 से०मी० है। वृत के केंन्द्र से जीवा की दूरी ज्ञात कीजिए।".

To the said question, the answer given by the petitioner is "6 सेंमी या 6 cm', whereas the answer given in the answer sheet is "6'.

Lastly, the petitioner refers Question No. 126, which is being quoted herein-below:-

"वर्ष 1893 में किस शहर में स्वामी विवेकानन्द ने भारत के प्रतिनिधि के रूप में विश्व धर्म संसद में प्रेरणादायक भाषण दिया?".

To the said question, the petitioner has given his answer as "शिकागो', whereas the answer as per the answer sheet is "शिकागो मे'.

Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that on the basis of aforesaid factual background, the petitioner ought to have been accorded one mark each for Question Nos. 3, 35, 70 and 126.

(III) Qua the case of the petitioner in Writ-A No. 484 of 2022, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in compliance of the order of the Writ Court as mentioned herein above, the re-evaluation of the booklet series provided to him, was done but no marks were accorded to the petitioner. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner reproduces Question No.21, which reads as follows:-

"व्यूह का विलोम शब्द क्या है?".

Against the said question, the answer given by the petitioner is "निर्व्यूह/अव्यूह', whereas the answer as per the answer sheet is "आव्यूह'.

Learned counsel for the petitioners, therefore, submits that as the answer given by the petitioner is nearly the same to the answer mentioned in the answer-sheet, hence, the marks should have been given to the petitioners in the interest of substantial justice.

(IV) As regards, the case of the petitioner in Writ-A No. 486 of 2022, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that pursuant to the order of the Writ Court as referred to above, the re-evaluation of the booklet series provided to the petitioner, was done but no marks were accorded to the petitioner for Question Nos. 34 and 50. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner refers to Question No.34, which reads as follows:-

"प्रत्येकम् पद में कौन-सा उपसर्ग प्रयुक्त है?".

For the said question, the answer given by the petitioner is "प्रति'.

He also refers to Question No. 50, which is being quoted herein-below:-

"एक जीव की संरचना, कार्य या व्यवहार वातावरण के अनुरुप परिवर्तन कहलाता हैः-".

The answer given by the petitioner to the same is "अनुकूलन/Adaptation', whereas, the answer is the answer sheet is "अडप्टेशन'.

Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that as the answers given by the petitioner for the aforesaid questions are the same as mentioned in the answer-sheet, therefore, the marks to the aforesaid questions should be given to the petitioner in the interest of substantial justice.

(V) Insofar as it relates to the case of the petitioner in Writ-A No. 487 of 2022, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that though the re-evaluation pursuant to the aforesaid order of the Writ Court was done, but no marks have been given to the petitioner for Question Nos. 76 and 79. For ready reference, Question No. 76 reads as follows:-

"कौन सा अभिलेख छात्रों की योग्यता, रूचि, क्षमताओं एवं प्रतिक्रियाओं की जाँच करने हेतु रखा जाता है?".

Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the answer for the aforesaid question given by the petitioner is "छात्र अभिलेख', whereas, the answer as per the answer sheet is "संचयी अभिलेख/ उपाख्यानात्मक (एनेक्डोटल) अभिलेख/ छात्र प्रोफाइल/ छात्र प्रगति अभिलेख/ संचित अभिलेख/पोर्टफोलियो'.

Similarly, learned counsel for the petitioner would like to refer Question No.79 which is quoted as under:-

"यदि आप कक्षा में ज्यादा छात्रों की प्रतिभागिता चाहते हैं तो आप शिक्षण की कौन सी विधि का चुनाव करेंगे?".

The answer given by the petitioner is छात्र सहभागिता विधि', whereas the answer given in the answer-sheet is "विचार-विमर्श/सहकारी/वाद-विवाद/सहभागी शिक्षण/ समूह चर्चा/ रूचि पूर्ण समूह चर्चा'.

Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that the answer given by the petitioner is nearly the same which has been given in the answer-sheet, hence, the marks for those questions should be given to the petitioner.

(VI) With respect to the case of the petitioner in Writ-A No. 491 of 2022, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner has given right answers to question nos. 18 and 133 but after re-evaluation, no marks have been given to him. For justifying his answer, the petitioner wants to refer Question No.18 which reads as under:-

"लिखावट' शब्द में किस प्रकार का प्रत्यय है?".

Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the answer given by the petitioner is "कृत् प्रत्यय/ आवट/ वट', whereas, the answer disclosed in the answer sheet is "आवट् प्रत्यय'. Similarly, learned counsel for the petitioner refers to Question No. 133 which is quoted herein-below:

"क्षेणी 4M,9K,16I,25G,.....? का अगला पद ज्ञात कीजिए।".

The answer given by the petitioner is "36E', whereas, answer mentioned in the answer-sheet is "36E'. Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that as the answers given by the petitioner for the aforesaid questions are the same as mentioned in the answer-sheet, therefore, the marks to the aforesaid questions should be given to the petitioner in the interest of substantial justice.

6. On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid eventualities, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner of all the writ petitions should have been awarded marks towards the respective questions strictly in terms of the judgment rendered in the case of Aniruddh Narayan Shukla and in that event, petitioner would secure the cut off marks as required, in all eventuality, petitioner of all the writ petitions would have been selected. Hence, a direction be issued to the respondent authorities to award marks as aforesaid so that the petitioners of their respective petitions may be declared successful and be selected on the post in question.

7. Controverting the submissions made by the learned counsel for the

a) The relief prayed by the petitioner in Writ-A No. 481 of 2022 cannot be granted by this Court, as the re-evaluation of answers given by the petitioner in Booklet Series "C" which was provided to him, have been done twice and for question nos. 116 and 146, he has not been awarded marks, as he had given incomplete/incorrect answer to the same. To question no. 116, the petitioner gave answer as " विवाह", whereas the correct answer of the same is " बाल विवाह". Similarly, to question no. 146, the petitioner had given answer as " ममता", whereas the correct answer to the same is " ममता कालिया". Learned Standing Counsel, therefore, submits that there is no illegality or infirmity in the re-evaluation done in the case of the petitioner.

b) With regard to the petitioner in Writ-A No. 491 of 2022 for re-evaluation of question nos. 18 and 133 of Booklet Series "A" which was provided to the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that for question no.133, marks have already been awarded, whereas for question no.18, the petitioner has not been awarded mark as he has given incorrect/incomplete answer. Qua question no.18, as per the re-evaluated answer-key published on 18th September, 2020, the correct answer to the same is "कृत प्रत्यय/आवत/वत", whereas the petitioner has given the answer as "आवत प्रत्यय". Learned Standing Counsel therefore, submits that the relief as prayed in the writ petition cannot be granted. In support of the said plea, the learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance upon a judgment of this Court dated 25th January, 2021 passed in Writ-A No. 10393 of 2020 (Gargi Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Others), wherein similar dispute qua incorrect/incomplete answer, was involved. The said writ petition was dismissed by a Writ Court while recording a finding that as there were major spelling error in answer to question no.21, which was related to language and the spelling errors were relevant, the examining body has correctly marked the said answer as "wrong".

c) To the prayer made in Writ-A No. 482 of 2022 for re-evaluation of question nos. 3, 35, 70 and 126 of Booklet Series which was provided to the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that the marks have already been awarded to the petitioner after re-evaluation, therefore, this prayer has no leg to stand. Even otherwise, pursuant to the Government Order dated 5th October, 2018 and advertisement dated 10th October, 2018, the petitioner had not made online application for re-evaluation of which the result was declared on 17th February, 2019.

d) Qua the submissions made by the learned counsel for the petitioner in respect of Writ-A No. 487 of 2022 for re-evaluation of question nos. 76 and 79 of Booklet Series "C" which was provided to the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that against the said questions, the petitioner has given incorrect/incomplete answer. As per the re-evaluated answer-key published on 18th September, 2020, the correct answer to Question No. 76 is "संचयी अभीलेख/उपख्यानतमक (अनेकद्योतल) अभीलेख/ छात्र प्रोफाइल/छात्र प्रगति अभिलेख/संचित अभिलेख/पोर्टफोलियो, whereas the petitioner has given the answer as " छात्र अभीलेख". Similarly, the correct answer to question no.79 is "विचार-विमर्ष/सहकारी/वाद-विवाद/सहभागी शिक्षण/ समुह चर्चा/रुचिपूर्ण सामूहिक शिक्षा, whereas the petitioner has given the answer as " छात्र सहभागिता विधि". Therefore, he has not been awarded marks to the said questions and controversy has been settled in favour of respondents by a Writ Court in the case of Gargi Singh (Supra).

e) So far as prayer made in Writ-A No. 484 of 2022 for re-evaluation of question no. 21 of Booklet Series "B", which was provided to the petitioner, is concerned, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that as per the re-evaluated answer-key published on 18th September, 2020, the correct answer to Question No. 21 is "निव्यूह/आव्यूह" of which the petitioner has given answer as " आव्यूह" which is also incomplete/incorrect answer, therefore, petitioner has not been awarded marks for the same.

f) To the prayer made in Writ-A No. 486 of 2022 for re-evaluation of question nos. 34 and 50 of Booklet Series "A" which was provided to the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that the marks have already been awarded to the petitioner after re-evaluation, therefore, this prayer has no leg to stand. Learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents, therefore, submits that this petition is wholly misconceived and is liable to be dismissed.

Even otherwise, to the submissions made by the learned counsel for the petitioner for re-evaluation of answer-sheets of the petitioner in all the writ petitions, which were in form of Booklet Series "A", "B", "C" respectively, Mr. Shailendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that there is no provision of re-evaluation of answer-sheets thrice and it would not be out of place to mention that the answer-sheets of the petitioners have already been re-evaluated twice.

Apart from the above, Mr. Shailendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel has also raised preliminary objection to the maintainability of all the writ petitions by contending that the petitioners of their respective petitions have earlier approached this Court by means of Writ-A No.10620 of 2019, Writ A-No. 13024 of 2019, Writ-A No. 4235 of 2019, Writ-A No. 13333 of 2019, Writ-A No. 4166 of 2019 and Writ-A No. 6959 of 2019 respectively. All these writ petitions have been clubbed with Writ Petition No. 6420 of 2019 and the same have been disposed off by means of a common judgment and order dated 22nd October, 2019, whereby the Secretary, examination Regulatory Authority, U.P. Allahabad was directed to conduct the re-evaluation of the answer-sheets of petitioners of all the writ petitions. Learned counsel for the State-respondents, therefore, submits that this second writ petition nearly for the same relief i.e. for re-evaluation cannot be entertained by this Court and the same is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone. The proper remedy available to the petitioner is to file a recall/modification application in the said writ petition or file a special appeal against the order passed therein.

On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents submits that all these writ petitions are not maintainable and the same are liable to be dismissed.

8. I have considered the submissions made by Mr. Awasthi, learned counsel for the petitioner and Mr. Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents in all the writ petitions.

9. Learned Counsel for the petitioner has not brought to this Court's attention any rules, regulation or any guidelines framed by the respondent, notification or circular, bulletin issued by the respondent or any authority of law that may permit re-evaluation time and again.

Contrarily, it is an admitted position that re-evaluation of respective Booklet Series provided to the petitioners in all the writ petitions has been done twice.

10. The issue of re-evaluation of answer book or sheet is no more res integra. This issue has been considered by the Apex Court in the case of Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education & Anr. Vs. Paritosh Bhupesh Kurmarsheth & Ors., reported in AIR 1984 SC 1543, wherein the Apex Court rejected the contention that in absence of provision for re-evaluation, a direction to this effect can be issued by the Court. The Apex Court further held that even the policy decision incorporated in the Rules/Regulations providing for rechecking/ verification/re-evaluation cannot be challenged unless there are grounds to show that the policy itself is in violation of some statutory provision. The Apex Court held as under:-

"In our opinion, this approach made by the High Court was not correct or proper because the question whether a particular piece of delegated legislation - whether a rule or regulation or other type of statutory instrument - is in excess of the power of subordinate legislation conferred on the delegate as to be determined with reference only to the specific provisions contained in the relevant statute conferring the power to make the rule, regulation, etc. and also the object and purpose of the Act as can be gathered from the various provisions of the enactment. It would be wholly wrong for the court to substitute its own opinion for that of the legislature or its delegate as to what principle or policy would best serve the objects and purposes of the Act and to sit in judgment over the wisdom and effectiveness or otherwise of the policy laid down by the regulation-making body and declare a regulation to be ultra vires merely on the ground that, in the view of the Court, the impugned provisions will not help to serve the object and purpose of the Act. So long as the body entrusted with the task of framing the rules or regulations acts within the scope of the authority conferred on it, in the sense that the rules or regulations made by it have a rational nexus with the object and purpose of the Statute, the court should not concern itself with the wisdom or efficaciousness of such rules or regulations. It is exclusively within the province of the legislature and its delegate to determine, as a matter of policy, how the provisions of the Statute can best be implemented and what measures, substantive as well as procedural would have to be incorporated in the rules or regulations for the efficacious achievement of the objects and purposes of the Act. It is not for the Court to examine the merits or demerits of such a policy because its scrutiny has to be limited to the question as to whether the impugned regulations fall within the scope of the regulation-making power conferred on the delegate by the Statute.

In our opinion, the aforesaid approach made by the High Court is wholly incorrect and fallacious. The Court cannot sit in judgment over the wisdom of the policy evolved by the legislature and the subordinate regulation-making body. It may be a wise policy which will fully effectuate the purpose of the enactment or it may be lacking in effectiveness and hence calling for revision and improvement. But any draw-backs in the policy incorporated in a rule or regulation will not render it ultra vires and the Court cannot strike it down on the ground that in its opinion, it is not a wise or prudent policy, but is even a foolish one, and that it will not really serve to effectuate the purposes of the Act. The legislature and its delegate are the sole repositories of the power to decide what policy should be pursued in relation to matters covered by the Act and there is no scope for interference by the Court unless the particular provision impugned before it can be said to suffer from any legal infirmity in the sense of its being wholly beyond the scope of the regulation-making power or its being inconsistent with any of the provisions of the parent enactment or in violation of any of the limitations imposed by the Constitution."

11. This view referred to above has been approved, relied upon and reiterated by the Apex Court in the case of Pramod Kumar Srivastava Vs. Chairman, Bihar Public Service Commission, Patna & Ors, reported in J.T. 2004 SC 380 observing as under:

"Under the relevant rules of the Commission, there is no provision wherein a candidate may be entitled to ask for re-evaluation of his answer-book. There is a provision for scrutiny only wherein the answer-books are seen for the purpose of checking whether all the answers given by a candidate have been examined and whether there has been any mistake in the totalling of marks of each question and nothing them correctly on the first cover page of the answer-book. There is no dispute that after scrutiny no mistake was found in the marks awarded to the appellant in the General Science paper. In the absence of any provision for re-evaluation of answer-books in the relevant rules, no candidate in an examination has got any right whatsoever to claim or ask for re-evaluation of his marks."

12. This Court feels that sympathy or compassion does not play any role in the matter of directing or not directing re-evaluation of an answer sheets. The law is well settled that the burden is on the candidates, not only to demonstrate that the key answer is incorrect but also to show that it is a glaring mistake which is totally apparent and no inferential process or reasoning is required to show that the key answer is wrong. The Constitutional Courts must exercise great restrain in such matters and should be reluctant to entertain a plea challenging the correctness of the key answers. The Court should not over step its jurisdiction by giving the directions for re-evaluation which would amount to judicially reviewing the decision of the expert in the field.

13. The legal position in this respect has been summarised in case of Ran Vijay Singh and Ors. Vs. State of U.P. and Ors., reported in (2018) 2 SCC 357 which is follows:-

"30. The law on the subject is therefore, quite clear and we only propose to highlight a few significant conclusions. They are:

30.1. If a statute, Rule or Regulation governing an examination permits the re-evaluation of an answer sheet or scrutiny of an answer sheet as a matter of right, then the authority conducting the examination may permit it;

30.2. If a statute, Rule or Regulation governing an examination does not permit re-evaluation or scrutiny of an answer sheet (as distinct from prohibiting it) then the court may permit re-evaluation or scrutiny only if it is demonstrated very clearly, without any "inferential process of reasoning or by a process of rationalisation" and only in rare or exceptional cases that a material error has been committed;

30.3. The court should not at all re-evaluate or scrutinise the answer sheets of a candidate--it has no expertise in the matter and academic matters are best left to academics;

30.4. The court should presume the correctness of the key answers and proceed on that assumption; and

30.5. In the event of a doubt, the benefit should go to the examination authority rather than to the candidate."

14. Undoubtedly, the Courts cannot judicially review the expert opinion unless and until the key answer is patently wrong. There is no doubt that the candidates put in dreadful efforts while preparing for an examination, it must not be unremembered that even the examination authorities as well as experts put in equally great efforts to successfully conduct the examination, therefore the Court must consider the internal checks and balances put in place by the examination authorities before interfering with the efforts put in by the candidates who have successfully participated in the examination and the examination authorities.

15. Therefore, the Court should restrain in interfering with the efforts put in by the candidates as well as the examination authorities unless and until the mistake is apparent on the face of record and no research has to be done in proving the same, as the same will be an unending process resulting in uncertainty and confusion.

16. Keeping in mind the aforesaid, the Court in case of U.P.P.S.C. and Ors. Vs. Rahul Singh and Ors. reported in AIR 2018 SC 2861 has observed as follows:-

"Unless the candidate demonstrate that the key answers are patently wrong on the fact of it, the Courts cannot enter into the academic field, weigh the pros cons of the arguments given by both sides and then come to the conclusion as to which of the answer is better or more correct."

17. Indubitably, conducting and holding of examinations in a most fitting and fair manner is peremptory and is solemn duty of examining body to provide for fair procedure, rules, regulations or bye-laws, keeping in mind that the career and fate of the students depends upon the result of the examinations.

18. A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of University of Mysore Vs. C.D. Govinda Rao & Anr., reported in AIR 1965 SC 491, has held that where the decision under challenge has been taken by the Committee of Expert, "normally the Courts should be slow to interfere with the opinion expressed by the experts" unless there are allegations of mala fide against any of the Members of the Expert Committee. The Court further observed as under:-

".....It would normally be wise and safe for the Courts to leave the decisions of academic matters to experts who are more familiar with the problems they face than Courts....."

19. It is settled law that when a decision is taken by the Committee of Expert having high academic qualifications and long experience in the specialised field, the Courts should not normally interfere in the matters unless there are compelling circumstances for doing so.

20. The aforesaid issue is also well settled in view of the judgement of Apex Court in case of Bihar Staff Selection Commission Vs. Arun Kumar, reported in (2020) 6 SCC 362. There are otherwise catena of judgements of Supreme Court holding that in the competitive selection test, prayer for re-evaluation of marks cannot be accepted unless a rule for it exists.

21. Taking into consideration the settled position of law in the matters where the answer key is disputed, this Court in case of Jitendra Singh Vs. Union of India and Another, passed in Writ C No. 53877 of 2017, has held that the Court has to proceed on the assumption and presumption that the answer key is correct as the same is based on experts opinion given by the persons specialised. In the event of any doubt, benefit should go to the examination authority rather than to the candidate. It is with a rider that the Court should not re-evaluate or scrutinize the answer sheets of the candidates as it has no expertise in the matter, the academic matters are best left to the academicians there being no scope of judicial review in the matter.

22. Appropriately, considering the capitulations made by Mr. Shailendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and law laid down by the Apex Court, established position of law, this Court finds no good ground to interfere in this bunch of writ petitions and the same are liable to be dismissed.

23. Apart from the above, learned Standing Counsel has also raised preliminary objection to the maintainability of all the writ petitions by contending that the petitioners of their respective petitions have earlier approached this Court by means of Writ-A No.10620 of 2019, Writ A-No. 13024 of 2019, Writ-A No. 4235 of 2019, Writ-A No. 13333 of 2019, Writ-A No. 4166 of 2019 and Writ-A No. 6959 of 2019 respectively. All these writ petitions have been clubbed with Writ Petition No. 6420 of 2019 and the same have been disposed off by means of a common judgment and order dated 22nd October, 2019, whereby the Secretary, examination Regulatory Authority, U.P. Allahabad was directed to conduct the re-evaluation of the petitioners of all the writ petitions. Learned counsel for the State-respondents, therefore, submits that these writ petitions being second nearly for the same relief i.e. for re-evaluation cannot be entertained by this Court and the same are liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

24. It is an admitted position between the parties that for the same relief as made in all the writ petitions, i.e. mandamus for re-evaluation, the petitioner of each writ petition has already filed writ petition for the same relief i.e. mandamus for re-evaluation and all the writ petitions had been clubbed with Writ No. Writ-A No. 6420 of 2019 and have been disposed of by a common judgment and order dated 22nd October, 2019.

25. The issue of filing successive writ petition has been considered by the Apex Court time and again, accordingly it has been held that even if the earlier writ petition has been dismissed as withdrawn, Public Policy which is reflected in the principle enshrined in Order 23 rule 1 C.P.C., mandates that successive writ petition cannot be entertained for the same relief. (Vide M/s. Sarguja Transport Service Vs. State Transport Appellate Tribunal & Ors., AIR 1987 SC 88; Ashok Kumar & Ors. Vs. Delhi Development Authority, 1994 (6) SCC 97; and Khacher Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., AIR 1995 All. 338).

26. In Sarguja Trasnport Service (Supra), the Apex Court has specifically opined that in the instant case, the High Court was right in holding that a fresh writ petition was not maintainable before it in respect of the same subject-matter since the earlier writ petition had been withdrawn without permission to file a fresh petition.

27. Even if a party does not pray for the relief in the earlier writ petition, which he ought to have claimed in the earlier petition, he cannot file a successive writ petition claiming that relief, as it would be barred by the principle of constructive res judicata enshrined in Explanation IV to Section 11 and Order 2 rule 2 C.P.C. as has been explained, in unambiguous and crystal clear language by the Apex Court in Commissioner of Income Tax, Bombay Vs. T.P. Kumaran reported in 1996 (10) SCC 561; Union of India & Ors. Vs. Punnilal & Ors. reported in 1996 (11) SCC 112; and M/s. D. Cawasji & Co. & Ors. Vs. State of Mysore & Anr. reported in AIR 1975 SC 813.

28. Similar view has been reiterated by the Apex Court in Avinash Nagra Vs. Navodaya Vidyalaya Samiti & Ors. reported in (1997) 2 SCC 534 and by the other Court in Uda Ram Vs. Central State Farm & ors. reported in AIR 1998 Raj. 186; and M/s. Rajasthan Art Emporium Vs. Rajasthan State Industrial and Investment Corporation & Anr. reported in AIR 1998 Raj. 277.

29. In the case of M/s. D. Cawasji & Co. etc. (Supra), the Apex Court observed as under:-

"Be that as it may, in the earlier writ petitions, the appellants did not pray for refund of the amounts paid by way of cess for the years 1951-52 to 1965-66 and they gave no reasons before the High Court in these writ petitions why they did not make the prayer for refund of the amounts paid during the years in question. Avoiding multiplicity of unnecessary legal proceedings should be an aim of the Courts. Therefore, the appellants could not be allowed to split up their claims for refund and file writ petitions in this piecemeal fashion. If the appellants could have, but did not, without any legal justification, claim refund of the amounts paid during the years in question, in the earlier writ petitions, we see no reason why the appellants should be allowed to claim the amounts by filing writ petitions again. In the circumstances of this case, having regard to the conduct of the appellants in not claiming these amounts in the earlier writ petitions without any justification, we do not think, we would be justified in interfering with the discretion exercised by the High Court in dismissing the writ petitions which were filed only for the purpose of obtaining the refund....in view of the above, the petition is liable to be dismissed as not maintainable and it is dismissed accordingly...."

30. Similarly, in the case of State of U.P. & Anr. Vs. Labh Chand reported in AIR 1994 SC 754, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"This reason is not concerned with the discretionary power of the Judge or Judges of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution to entertain a second writ petition whose earlier writ petition was dismissed on the ground of non-exhaustion of alternative remedy but of such a Judge or Judges having not followed the well established salutary rule of judicial practice and procedure that an order of a Single Judge Bench or a Larger Bench of the same High Court dismissing the writ petition either on the ground of latches or non-exhaustion of alternative remedy as well shall not be bye-passed by a Single Judge Bench or Judges of a Larger Bench except in exercise of review or appellate powers possessed by it..... But as the learned Single Judge constituting a Single Judge Bench of the same Court, who has in the purported exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution bye-passed the order of dismissal of the writ petition made by a Division Bench by entertaining a second writ petition filed by the respondent in respect of the subject matter which was the subject matter of the earlier writ petition, the question is, whether the well established salutary rule of judicial practice and procedure governing such matters permit the learned Single Judge to bye-pass the order of the Division Bench on the excuse that High Court has jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution to entertain a second writ petition since the earlier writ petition of the same person had been dismissed on the ground of non-availing of alternative remedy and not on merits.... Second writ petition cannot be so entertained, not because the learned Single Judge had no jurisdiction to entertain the same, but because entertaining of such a second writ petition would render the order of the same Court dismissing the earlier writ petition, redundant and nugatory although not reviewed by it in exercise of its recognized power. Besides, if a learned Single Judge could entertain a second writ petition of a person respecting a matter on which his first writ petition was dismissed in limine by another Single Judge or a Division Bench of the same Court, it would encourage an unsuccessful writ petitioner to go on filing writ petitions after writ petition in the same matter, in the same High Court and for it brought up for consideration before one Judge after another. Such a thing, if is allowed to happen, it would result in giving full scope and encouragement to an unscrupulous litigant to abuse the process of the High Court exercising its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution in that any order of any Bench of such Court refusing to entertain a writ petition could be ignored by him with impunity and the relief sought in the same matter by filing a fresh writ petition. This would only lead to introduction of disorder, confusion and chaos relating to exercise of writ jurisdiction by Judges of the High Court, for there could be no finality for an order of the Court refusing to entertain a writ petition. It is why the rule of judicial practice and procedure that a second writ petition shall not be entertained by the High Court on the subject matter respecting that the writ petition of the same person was dismissed by the same Court even if the order of such dismissal was in limine, be it on the ground of latches or on the ground of non-exhaustion of alternative remedy, has come to be accepted and followed as salutary rule in exercise of writ jurisdiction of the Court."

(Emphasis added).

31. In the case of Burn & Co. Vs. Their Employees, reported in AIR 1957 SC 38, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"That would be contrary to the well-recognised principle that a decision once rendered by a competent authority on a matter in issue between the parties after a full enquiry should not be permitted to be re-agitated. It is on this principle that the rule of res judicata enacted in Section 11, Civil P.C. is based. That section is, no doubt in terms in application to the present matter, but the principle underlying it, expressed in the maxim "interest rei publicae ut sit finis litium", is founded on sound public policy and is of universal application. (Vide Broom's Legal Maxims, Tenth Edition, page 218). 'The rule of res judicata is dictated' observed Sir Lawrence Jenkins C.J. in Sheoparasan Singh Vs. Ramnandan Prasad Narayan Singh, 43 Ind. App. 91: ILR 43 Cal. 694: (AIR 1916 PC 78) (C), by a wisdom which is for all time."

32. Therefore, in view of the above referred judgments, it is abundantly clear that even if the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure are not applicable in writ jurisdiction, the principle enshrined therein can be resorted to for the reason that the principles, on which the Code of Civil Procedure is based, are founded on public policy and, therefore, require to be extended and made applicable in writ jurisdiction also in the interest of administration of justice. Any relief not claimed in the earlier writ petition should be deemed to have been abandoned by the petitioner to the extent of the cause of action claimed in the subsequent writ petition and in order to restrain the person from abusing the process of the Court, such an order/course requires not only to be resorted to but to be enforced.

33. In the case of Dr. Buddhi Kota Subbarao Vs. K. Parasaran & Ors., reported in AIR 1996 SC 2687, the Apex Court has observed as under:-

"No litigant has a right to unlimited drought on the Court time and public money in order to get his affairs settled in the manner he wishes. However, access to justice should not be misused as a licence to file misconceived and frivolous petitions."

34. Similar view has been reiterated by the Apex Court in the case of K.K. Modi Vs. K.N. Modi & Ors., reported in (1998) 3 SCC 573.

35. In Tamil Nadu Electricity Board & Anr. Vs. N. Raju Reddiar & Anr. reported in AIR 1997 SC 1005 the Apex Court held that filing successive misconceived and frivolous applications for clarification, modification or for seeking a review of the order interferes with the purity of the administration of law and salutary and healthy practice. Such a litigant must be dealt with a very heavy hand.

36. In Sabia Khan & ors. Vs. State of U.P. & ors., reported in (1999) 1 SCC 271, the Apex Court held that filing totally misconceived petition amounts to abuse of the process of the Court and such litigant is not required to be dealt with lightly.

37. In the case of Abdul Rahman Vs. Prasoni Bai & Anr., reported in (2003) 1 SCC 488, the Apex Court held that wherever the Court comes to the conclusion that the process of the Court is being abused, the Court would be justified in refusing to proceed further and refuse the party from pursuing the remedy in law.

38. Thus, in view of the above, the second writ petition is not maintainable for issuing a direction upon the respondent authorities to re-evaluate the respective Booklet Series provided to the petitioner of all the writ petition thrice.

39. In view of the aforesaid, this Court is of the opinion that these second writ petitions of the respective petitioner are not maintainable and are liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

40. For the findings recorded by this Court to the maintainability of these writ petitions as well as on merits of the case as set up by the parties, this Court finds no good ground to interfere in the matter. All the writ petitions are, accordingly, dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Shobhit Mohan Shukla for the petitioner, Sri Vivek Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing counsel along with Sri Prafulla Yadav, Standing counsel for State-opposite parties, Sri R. K. Upadhyay for opposite party No.3 and Sri Ashok Shukla for opposite party No.6.

2. By means of the present writ petition the petitioner has assailed the order dated 16.5.2021 passed by the State Government thereby awarding punishment to the petitioner of reversion along with censure entry. Further the advice of U.P Public Service Commission dated 19.2.2021 has also been challenged. The petitioner has further challenged the order dated 22.7.2019 passed by Additional Chief Secretary (Appointment Department), Government of U.P, whereby order of re-enquiry has been passed in exercise of powers under Rule 7 and 9(1) of U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999. The petitioner has also sought for a direction to the opposite parties not to give effect to the impugned order dated 16.5.2021 and also to allow the petitioner to work on the post of Sub Divisional Officer, regularly with all consequential benefits.

3. It has been submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that having been selected on the post of Naib Tehsildar the petitioner started working on 19.12.1993 under the control of Board of Revenue, U.P. He was subsequently transferred/appointed on the post of Officer on Special Duty (Land Management) under New Okhla Industrial Development Agency (NOIDA), U.P., Gautam Buddha Nagar on 3.2.2009 till 16.4.2012 and thereafter he was posted at Board of Revenue U.P., Lucknow.

4. The controversy in the present case arose during his posting as an Officer of Special Duty (Land Management), NOIDA. The petitioner was placed under suspension by the Commissioner, Meerut Division, for causing loss to the Government property and subsequently decision was taken for initiating disciplinary proceedings against the petitioner and he was placed under suspension. The order of suspension was revoked by the Board of Revenue on 13.8.2012. It has been submitted that during the aforesaid period the petitioner was considered for promotion in the cadre of U.P. Civil Service (Executive Branch) and the Departmental Promotion Committee recommended his promotion on 3.9.2012 but he was not promoted looking to the disciplinary proceedings pending against him. It is on the intervention of this Court in a writ petition preferred by the petitioner that by means of the judgment and order dated 19.12.2012 passed in Service Bench Petition No.1316 of 2012 considering that the suspension of the petitioner had been revoked and no charge sheet has been issued to him and accordingly while disposing the writ petition directed the opposite parties to consider issuance of promotion order in favour of the petitioner if he has been found to be eligible by the D.P.C. The petitioner was served with charge sheet on 19.9.2012 containing 11 charges. All the charges pertain to issuance of a letter by the petitioner on 1.9.2010 written by the petitioner to the Director General (Tourism). It has been submitted that the said letter dated 1.9.2010 was sent in response to the letter of Director General (Tourism), dated 12.8.2010 who had required certain information with regard to the Hotel Golf View Ambedkar Vihar, Village Chhalaira Bangar, Tehsil Dadari, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, NOIDA. The said letter was written after seeking information from the Chief Planner and Architect as well as the Officer on Special Duty (Y) with Chief Executive Officer of NOIDA , and the petitioner was directed to communicate on behalf of NOIDA that actually Hotel Golf View Ambedkar Vihar, Village Chhalaira Bangar, Tehsiil Dadari, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, Noida is situated on abadi land and the NOIDA authority does not have any power to sanction map on a land which is in rural area. It is on the basis of the letter dated 01.09.2010 the opposite parties have come to a conclusion that the petitioner while exercising his power holding the post of Officer on Special Duty (Land Management), NOIDA did not take any action against the said hotel which has been illegally constructed and did not inform the higher authorities about the same and consequently he is guilty of committing causing loss to the Government. It is stated that all the charges pertained to the same issue and most of them are more or less similar in nature. The inquiry officer i.e. Additional Commissioner, Meerut

Division, Meerut conducted the inquiry and submitted inquiry report vide letter dated 2.7.2016 where all the 11 charges were found proved against the petitioner. Thereafter the State Government provided copy of the inquiry report to the petitioner vide letter dated 23.5.2017 for submitting his representation/explanation to the inquiry report.

5. The petitioner submitted a detailed reply to the show cause notice on 08.01.2018 which was forwarded by the District Magistrate, Hapur to the State Government and the State Government on 14.08.2018 after considering the reply submitted by the petitioner directed the inquiry officer / Additional Commissioner (Administration) to re inquire into all the facts and submit his report. Along with the said order Government order dated 22.12.2005 was enclosed and specific query was put to the inquiry officer to indicate as to how the petitioner could have been found guilty in light of order dated 22.12.2005.

6. In pursuance of the order dated 14.8.2018 the inquiry officer reexamined the entire factual matrix and again submitted his report to the State Government recording a finding that the charges against the petitioner were not found proved and he further raised the issue as to how can the Panchayat pass the map of the said Hotel when on the said date the land was vested with Noida authority and also as to under what circumstances the office of District Magistrate registered it as a hotel when the ownership of the land was not clear and as to who are the Engineers responsible for not taking proper steps despite the fact that the said hotel had been constructed without proper sanction of the authorities.

7. The State Government faced with two contradictory inquiry reports dated 4.7.2016 and 31.12.2018 cancelled both the inquiry reports and again in exercise of the powers under Rule 9 (1) of the Rules of 1999 appointed Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut as an inquiry officer to re-enquire the matter.

8. Pursuant to the order of re-enquiry against the petitioner the petitioner received a letter from Additional Commissioner, Meerut Division instead of Commissioner who was directed to re-inquire, on 18.10.2019 stating that he has been entrusted with the inquiry and the petitioner was required to submit his reply. The petitioner appeared before Additional Commissioner, Meerut on 02.11.2019 and submitted his reply. Subsequently, realizing the mistake, the Commissioner Meerut Division herself required the petitioner to appear before her on 25.11.2019 . The petitioner appeared before the said authority and submitted his reply which he had submitted earlier before the Additional Commissioner, Meerut. It is stated that the inquiry officer did not afford any opportunity of personal hearing or of cross examining any of the witnesses and concluded the said inquiry on 16.7.2020 holding the petitioner guilty of all the charges. The petitioner was given a show cause notice along with copy of the inquiry report by means of order dated 24.7.2020 to which the petitioner replied on 14.9.2020 pursuant to which the impugned order dated 16.5.2021 has been passed reverting the petitioner to the post of Tehsildar and also awarding him censure entry. The impugned order further records that the State Government after considering the reply of the petitioner, was of the view that the petitioner should have been awarded the punishment of withholding two increments along with censure entry and the said recommendation was forwarded to U.P. Public Services Commission for its approval in accordance with the rules and the U.P. Public Services Commission by means of order dated 19.2.2021 was of the opinion that considering the gravity of the charges against the petitioner harsher sentences deserves to be awarded to the petitioner and was, therefore, of the opinion that in the present facts and circumstances of the case he should be awarded the punishment of reversion along with censure entry. The State Government concurred with the view of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and by means of the impugned order dated 16.5.2021 has awarded the punishment of reversion along with censure entry.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has challenged the disciplinary proceedings on the ground that the order dated 27.7.2019 cancelling the inquiry reports dated 04.07.2016 and 31.12.2018 is illegal and arbitrary and passed on incorrect appreciation facts and law. It is submitted that in case the disciplinary authority disagrees with the inquiry report he has two options open to him, he can either remit the matter to the enquiry officer for re enquiry if conditions contained in Rule 9(1) are fulfilled, or he has an option of recording his disagreement with the enquiry report and proceed with the matter as provided in Rule 9(2) of the rules of 1999, adhering to the conditions prescribed in Rule 9(4) after giving a copy of the enquiry report to the Government servant. It has further been submitted, that once decision has been taken by the disciplinary authority, the matter is fit for re-enquiry then the previous inquiry report is rendered non est, and it cannot be acted upon in the subsequent stage of the enquiry, where only the fresh inquiry report can be relied upon by the disciplinary authority to proceed against the delinquent employee.

10. The learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the order dated 22.07.2019 passed by the State Government cancelling both enquiry reports and again resorting to re-inquiry under provision of Rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999 is illegal and arbitrary as such an order cannot be passed without disclosing the infirmity in the enquiry report and as such in the circumstances of the present case, there was no cogent reason for invoking provisions of rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999.

11. It has been submitted that when decision is taken in exercise of powers under rule 9(1) then the matter is remitted to the enquiry officer for conducting the enquiry from the stage of infirmity as determined by the disciplinary authority, and the previous inquiry report which is found to be infirm is rejected.

12. The challenge to the impugned punishment order has also been made on the ground that when the enquiry was conducted by the Commissioner Meerut division, the petitioner was not informed of any date, time and place for the said enquiry and no opportunity was afforded to the petitioner to examine or cross examine any of the witnesses. It is further stated that the documents relied upon in the charge sheet were not proved, and hence the entire proceedings were conducted in violation of principles of natural justice without giving due opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

13. Learn counsel for the petitioner has also contended that when the enquiry was ordered for the 2nd time he preferred a representation to the Chief Secretary stating that the order read 22.07.2019 was illegal in arbitrary as re-enquiry for the 2rd time cannot be ordered. It was further stated that once an enquiry report has been submitted exonerating the petitioner it was incumbent upon the Disciplinary Authority to proceed in terms of rule 9(3) or to record his disagreement in accordance with rule 9(2) and pass appropriate orders. It is stated that the Chief Secretary did not consider or decide the representation made by the petitioner.

14. It has been submitted on behalf of the petitioner that the enquiry officer while submitting the enquiry report has not considered the reply submitted by the petitioner, nor has he considered the previous inquiry report dated 31.12.2018 wherein the petitioner was exonerated of all the charges, despite the fact that the inquiry officer was mandated to look into both enquiry reports, and hence it has been submitted that the inquiry report dated 16.07.2020 is illegal in arbitrary and deserves to be set aside.

15. It was lastly contended the disciplinary authority after perusing the inquiry report dated 16.07.2020 as well as the reply of the petitioner had proposed the punishment of stoppage of two annual increments with cumulative effect. The proposal was forwarded to the U.P Public Service Commission under rule 16 of the U.P Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999. U.P Public Service Commission recommended enhancement of the punishment of reduction in rank, and the State Government has accepted the said recommendation, in the most illegal and arbitrary manner without applying its mind. It has been stated that recommendations of the Public Service Commission are also arbitrary being bereft of any cogent reason from which can reflects that it has applied its mind while proposing to enhance the punishment and consequently prayer has been made to set aside the impugned order.

16. The learned standing counsel has opposed the writ petition and submitted that there were serious allegations against petitioner which required to be inquired into, and therefore disciplinary proceedings were instituted against the petitioner where he was afforded full opportunity of hearing, and it cannot be said that there was any infirmity in the disciplinary proceedings leading to award of punishment of reversion to the petitioner.

17. The learned standing counsel also supported the exercise of power under rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999 and submitted that once a disciplinary authority comes to a decision that the inquiry report has certain infirmities then he can direct the inquiry officer to re-inquire into the allegations levelled in the charge sheet. He further submitted that there is no limitation that such exercise of power that it can be resorted to only once during an enquiry, nor is such a restriction discernible from the reading of rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999. Whenever such infirmities in the inquiry report are discovered by the disciplinary authority he would be at liberty to invoke provisions of rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999.

18. Supporting the impugned order, it was submitted that unless it is shown that some prejudice has been caused to the petitioner the inquiry proceedings cannot be set aside merely because of violation of any statutory provision or rule. In support of the contentions learned Standing counsel relied upon the judgement in the case of State Bank of Patiala and others vs S.K.Sharma (1996)3 SCC 364.

19. I have heard the counsel for the parties and perused the record

20. The disciplinary proceedings were initiated against the petitioner when he was holding the post of Officer on special duty (Land Management) under New Okhla Industrial Development Agency. He was placed under suspension and subsequently the said order was revoked on 13.08.2012. A chargesheet was issued to him on 19.09.2012 containing 11 charges which pertain to issuance of a letter dated 01.09. 2010 sent in response to the letter of the Director General (Tourism) who had required certain information with regard to Hotel Golf View Ambedkar Vihar, NOIDA. The allegations levelled against the petitioner pertained to the fact that the petitioner did not take any action against the said Hotel which was illegally constructed, without approval of map, and also that did not inform the higher authorities about the same. The inquiry officer conducted the inquiry and submitted the inquiry report on 04.07.2016 where all the charges were proved against the petitioner. The Disciplinary Authority provided the copy of the inquiry report to the petitioner vide show cause notice dated 23.05.2017, to which the petitioner replied on 8.01.2018.

21. Considering the reply submitted by the petitioner to the inquiry report, the Disciplinary Authority vide order dated 14.08.2018 directed the inquiry officer/ Additional Commissioner (Administration) Meerut to re-inquire into all the facts and to submit his enquiry report. The enquiry officer inquired into the charges against the petitioner again and submitted his inquiry report on 31.08.2018 exonerating the petitioner of all the charges.

22. On receiving the second inquiry report dated 31.12.2018, the State Government by means of impugned order dated 22.07.2019, after recording that there are two conflicting inquiry reports in existence, decided to cancel both the inquiry reports dated 04.07.2016 and 31.12.2018 in exercise of rule 9(1) and further directed the matter be re-inquired by the Commissioner Meerut division.

23. The petitioner has assailed the order dated 22.07.2018 and questioned the exercise of power by the disciplinary authority under rule 9(1) of the Rules of 1999 for sending the matter for re-inquiry only because there were two conflicting inquiry reports. He submits that the said order is illegal and arbitrary and beyond the scope of power vested in disciplinary authority as per rule 9(1) as that the enquiry officer can proceed only in accordance with Rules of 1999, and cannot travel beyond the prescription provided therein, and in the present case he has exercised power under rule 9(1) which could not have been validly exercised by him in the facts of the case.

24. For adjudication of the other matter it will be relevant to refer to Rule 9 of the Rules of 1999 which reads as under:-

"Rule 9(1): The Disciplinary Authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-enquiry to the same or any other inquiry officer under intimation to the charged Government Servant. The inquiry officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the Disciplinary Authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7.

Rule 9(2): The Disciplinary Authority shall, if it disagrees with the findings of the inquiry officer on any charge, record its own findings thereon for reasons to be recorded.

Rule 9(3): In case the charges are not proved, the charged Government Servant shall be exonerated by the Disciplinary Authority of the charges and inform him accordingly.

Rule 9(4): If the Disciplinary Authority, having regard to its findings on all or any or charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charge Government Servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings recorded under sub-rule (2) to the charged Government Servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time. The Disciplinary Authority shall, having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government Servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, pass a reasoned order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these rules and communicate the same to the charged Government Servant."

25. It appears from rules of 1999 that same is a self-contained code and the procedure has been prescribed for holding disciplinary inquiry and awarding punishment. After the submission of the Inquiry report where charges are proved, the disciplinary authority proceeds to examine the inquiry report and in case he does not find any infirmity with the enquiry report he shall proceed in terms of rule 9(4) and give a show cause notice to the Government servant requiring him to submit his response to the said report, and on receiving the same, and after consultation with the U.P Public Service Commission, where necessary, may impose any penalty as provided in Rule 3.

26. In case he finds that the inquiry has been held in violation of rule 7, where either the Government servant has not been given adequate opportunity of hearing or for any other cogent reason, the disciplinary authority after recording reasons for not accepting the enquiry report, may order a re-inquiry under Rule 9(1).

27. As is discernible from rule 9(1) the infirmity in the inquiry report, which is the basis for ordering re-enquiry, must be one in relating to violation of the specific procedure provided under Rule 7 of the rules of 1999, in conduct of the enquiry. This aspect is clear from the perusal of rule 9(1) where it is provided that the "inquiry officer shall thereupon proceed to hold inquiry from such stage as directed by disciplinary authority, according to the provisions of rule 7". Therefore, the disciplinary authority can direct for re-enquiry from the stage of infirmity in the enquiry proceedings as pointed out by him in his order passed under rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999. In exceptional circumstances where there exists serious allegation against the enquiry officer, of bias or misconduct in conducting the enquiry, the disciplinary authority after recording his satisfaction can also invoke rule 9(1).

28. In where the inquiry is conducted:-

i. By an authority not authorised by the disciplinary authority to conduct the inquiry, or

ii. If the charges in the charge sheet do not fall in the category of "definite charge" or that the charge sheet is not approved by the Disciplinary authority, or

iii. In case the charge sheet does not give adequate time for reply or is less than 15 days from the charge sheet, or there is no recital that the Government servant may cross examine any witness mentioned in the charge sheet or to produce evidence in his defence,or

iv. In case the charge sheet is not duly served upon the Government servant, or

v. The Government servant is not permitted to produce witnesses in his defence, or his oral evidence is not recorded despite his request, or

vi. He may be of the opinion that proper opportunity has not been given to the Government servant to defend himself are some of the instances in which the disciplinary authority can invoke the powers under rule 9(1) of rules of 1999.

29. The natural corollary to invocation of power and the rule 9(1) of the Rules of 1999 is that the previous inquiry report is set aside, when the re-inquiry is ordered. On passing of an order under rule 9(1), the previous inquiry report becomes non est and cannot be used against the Government servant in the subsequent stage of inquiry. The reasons which must be recorded by the disciplinary authority are about the defect in the enquiry proceedings. Such a defective inquiry which has been so declared by the disciplinary authority, while passing the order under rule 9(1), ceases to exist and hence becomes unactionable, and cannot be relied upon.

30. The Supreme Court has considered this aspect of the matter in the case of State of U.P. v. Saroj Kumar Sinha, (2010) 2 SCC where it was held:-

"25. A bare perusal of the aforesaid charges shows that the three charges were based on official documents/official communications. We have earlier noticed the relentless efforts made by the respondent to secure copies of the documents, which was sought to be relied upon, to prove the charges. These were denied by the Department in flagrant disregard of the mandate of Rule 7 sub-rule (v). Therefore the inquiry proceedings are clearly vitiated having been held in breach of the mandatory sub-rule (v) of Rule 7 of the 1999 Rules.

26. The first inquiry report is vitiated also on the ground that the inquiry officers failed to fix any date for the appearance of the respondent to answer the charges. Rule 7(x) clearly provides as under:

"7. (x) Where the charged government servant does not appear on the date fixed in the inquiry or at any stage of the proceeding in spite of the service of the notice on him or having knowledge of the date, the inquiry officer shall proceed with the inquiry ex parte. In such a case the inquiry officer shall record the Statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet in absence of the charged government servant."

27.A bare perusal of the aforesaid sub-rule shows that when the respondent had failed to submit the explanation to the charge-sheet it was incumbent upon the inquiry officer to fix a date for his appearance in the inquiry. It is only in a case when the government servant despite notice of the date fixed failed to appear that the inquiry officer can proceed with the inquiry ex parte. Even in such circumstances it is incumbent on the inquiry officer to record the Statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet. Since the government servant is absent, he would clearly lose the benefit of cross-examination of the witnesses. But nonetheless in order to establish the charges the Department is required to produce the necessary evidence before the inquiry officer. This is so as to avoid the charge that the inquiry officer has acted as a prosecutor as well as a judge.

31. In the present case the Disciplinary Authority has ordered re-inquiry by means of dated 22.07.2019. The only reason stated in the said order is that there are two conflicting inquiry reports dated 04.07.2016 and 31.12.2018 and for this reason alone the matter has been referred for re-enquiry for the second time.

32. The question which arises for consideration is regarding the validity of the order dated 22.07.2019 ordering re-inquiry on the grounds that there were two conflicting enquiry reports in existence, and clearly, no infirmity or defect was pointed out or considered in the second enquiry report dated 31.12.2018.

33. In the instant case the first inquiry report was submitted by the inquiry officer on 04.07.2016 holding the petitioner guilty of all the 11 charges. On 14.08.2018 the decision was taken by the State Government for re-enquiry after considering the reply submitted by the petitioner. In his reply he had submitted that according to the order dated 22.12.2005 passed by NOIDA giving the responsibility of removing the illegal encroachments was of the Project Engineer and not the petitioner, and consequently the petitioner was not responsible for removal of illegal encroachments. The said reply seemed logical and reasonable to the disciplinary authority, and he was of the considered opinion that the inquiry officer had not considered the reply of the petitioner in the correct perspective, and it was thought fit to have the matter re-enquired.

34. It is noticed that the State Government was of the considered view that the earlier inquiry dated 04.07.2016 stood vitiated, as the reply of the petitioner was not considered and more specifically when there was a specific order holding the Project Engineer responsible for removal of any encroachment coming up in the area under by NOIDA, then how could the petitioner be found to be guilty of the said charges, was a question which was posed in the said order itself.

35. The State Government itself had found infirmity in the enquiry report dated 04.07.2016, and according to the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. v. Saroj Kumar Sinha the first/previous inquiry report was vitiated and ceased to exist.

36. On 22.07.2019 when the State Government was considering the second enquiry report then previous enquiry report dated 04.07.2016 had ceased to exist. The only enquiry report which should have been considered by the disciplinary authority was the subsequent enquiry report dated 31.12.2018. The reason stated in the impugned order dated 22.07.2019 that there are "two contradictory inquiry reports" is based on a fallacious belief that the previous inquiry report dated 04.07.2016 was in existence and could be acted upon, which is clearly erroneous, arbitrary and illegal.

37. As discussed earlier, the moment decision is taken by the disciplinary authority invoking the provisions of rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999, the previous inquiry report ceases to exist because of the infirmities as pointed out by the disciplinary authority and consequently the previous enquiry report dated 04.07.2016 was non est and of no consequence, and therefore, could not be taken into consideration by the Disciplinary authority. It is only the subsequent inquiry report dated 31.1.2018 which only could have be considered by the disciplinary authority for further proceedings.

38. The order dated 22.07.2019 is also illegal and arbitrary for the reason that the disciplinary authority did not find any infirmity with the inquiry report dated 31.12.2018, nor any such infirmity has been disclosed in his order. It is the defects/infirmities found in the enquiry report by the disciplinary authority which clothes him which with the authority to exercise the power vested in rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999, in other words pointing out of such infirmity in the enquiry report is a precondition for exercise of power on the disciplinary authority under rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999. It is only when there is an infirmity in conduct of the inquiry in violation of any of the provisions of rule 7 of the Rules of 1999, or there is any other allegation of grave misconduct against the inquiry officer in conducting the said enquiry can the disciplinary authority exercises jurisdiction under rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999, after recording such reasons. No such infirmity has been pointed out considered or stated in the order dated 22.07.2019 for rejecting the inquiry report dated 31.12.2018 which renders the exercise of power by the Disciplinary Authority without jurisdiction, illegal and arbitrary.

39. This Court is of the considered view that disciplinary authority while exercising power under Rule 9 would exercise the power in the following manner:-

(I) In case there is any procedural defect in conduct of the enquiry as provided for in Rule 7 of the Rules of 1999 or some grave misconduct has been conducted by the Inquiry Officer then the Disciplinary Authority can exercise power under Rule 9(1) of the Rules, 1999.

(II) Where in case the Disciplinary Authority disagrees with the Inquiry Officer on the merits of the case or findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer, he must record his disagreement and proceed according to under Rule 9 (2) of the Rules, 1999, following the procedure prescribed under Rule 9(4) of the Rules, 1999.

(III) When Inquiry Officer has exonerated the Government employee and Disciplinary Authority agrees with the inquiry report he shall proceed in accordance with Rule 9(3) of the Rules, 1999.

40. It is also noticed that by not following the mandatory provisions for conduct of the inquiry can itself cause prejudice to the Government servant. Procedural fairness is the hallmark of the conduct of disciplinary proceedings. The Rules of 1999 are mere incorporation of the principles of natural justice which deserve to be rigorously followed by the enquiry officer. It is trite law that so far as the statutory provisions are concerned, the law is clear to the effect that if the same requires a thing to be done in a particular manner, then it cannot be done in a different manner and has to be done in that manner alone. The law, therefore, right from 1876 Chancery Division Taylor Vs. Taylor till date is the same. The disciplinary authority having failed to exercise his power under rule 9(1) of rules of 1999 in the prescribed manner, vitiates the order dated 22.07.2019 and all the subsequent proceedings. Prejudice has also been caused to the delinquent employee, the disciplinary authority could have accepted the enquiry report exonerating him, and he could have proceeded under rule 9(3) of the Rules of 1999 and dropped the proceedings in his favour.

41. Considering the above, this Court is of the considered view that the order dated 22.07.2019 it is clearly arbitrary and illegal and such an order could not have been passed in exercise of jurisdiction under rule 9(1) of the rules of 1999 and consequently the order dated 22.07.2019 is hereby quashed, and consequently the subsequent enquiry proceedings resulting in enquiry report dated 16.07.2020 as well as punishment order dated 16.05.2021 are quashed. The matter is remitted to the disciplinary authority to proceed with the enquiry from the stage of submission of enquiry report dated 31.12.2018 and pass appropriate orders and proceed in accordance with law.

42. The counsel for the petitioner has also raised other grounds for challenging the impugned order of punishment dated 16.05.2021, where the petitioner was not giving proper opportunity of hearing and no date, time and place was fixed, nor his reply considered by the inquiry officer, rendering the entire enquiry arbitrary and illegal, and also that the U.P Public Service Commission had not given reasons for enhancing the punishment. Considering that this Court has already set aside the order dated 22.07.2019 ordering re-inquiry, it would be futile at this stage to consider the said ground raised by the petitioner, as in any case the enquiry would be proceeded with from the stage of submission of the second enquiry report dated 31.12.2018 to the disciplinary authority, and the petitioner would have adequate opportunity as provided in the Rules.

43. Considering that the enquiry proceedings are pending since last 10 years, it is provided that the enquiry proceedings be concluded within a maximum period of two months from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before the Disciplinary authority, subject to co-operation by the petitioner.

44. In light of the above, the writ petition is allowed. Consequences to follow.

3. In brief the facts are as follows:

On oral information of complainant, Shesh Mani (P.W.-1), an NCR No.106 of 1986, under sections 323, 504 and 506 IPC, was registered at P.S. Barasathi, District Jaunpur on 30.06.1986 at 19:45 hrs against four accused, namely, Kare Deen, Ram Bhola, Devi Prasad and Ambika Prasad. It was alleged that on 30.06.1986 while the complainant was returning with his bulls after ploughing his field, the bulls went near the door of the accused with whom complainant has old enmity; the complainant went to herd away the bulls; the accused started hurling abuses and launched an assault on him with fists and danda. His father Ram Raj came to rescue him. The accused assaulted him as well, with lathi. On the noise, the witnesses Ram Dular and Daya Shankar and other co-villagers intervened. The accused went away hurling abuses and extending life threats. After registration of the NCR, the injured Shesh Mani (the complainant) and Ram Raj were sent to the hospital. On 01.07.1986, injured Ram Raj succumbed to his injuries in the district hospital, Jaunpur.

On receipt of the information of death, the case was amended and section 304 IPC was added. The inquest proceeding of the dead body was conducted by S.I. Shamsher Bahadur Singh. 4. After committal proceeding, the sessions court framed charges against all the accused under Section 302 read with section 34 IPC and 323 read with section 34 IPC. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial. The prosecution examined eight witnesses and produced 16 documents Ex. Ka.1 to Ex.Ka-16 and three material exhibits 1 to 3. The statements of accused were recorded under sections 313 Cr.P.C. and incriminating circumstances were put to them. They denied the prosecution case. They have also stated that they have been implicated due to enmity. Complainant-Shesh Mani is the nephew of Ram Dular and Raj Nath is also of the same party and a professional witness. Accused have also stated that the deceased was laying roof upon his kutcha house. He fell down on a log due to which he suffered head injury and died. No evidence in defence was produced. The trial court after hearing the arguments, by the impugned judgment and order, held the accused-appellants guilty for the offence under section 302 read with section 34 and 323 read with section 34 IPC and sentenced them as above.

6. On the same day at 11:15 pm the medico legal examination of Shesh Mani was also conducted by Dr. R.N. Srivastava and following injuries were found:

1. Abraded traumatic swelling 5 cm X 3 cm, on back of left elbow, Red in colour.

2. Traumatic swelling 4 cm X 3 cm on dorsal aspect of middle of right foot.

3. Traumatic swelling 5 cm X 4 cm on dorsal aspect of middle of left foot.

Doctor has given the opinion that all injuries are simple in nature, caused by blunt object and duration is fresh.

Both the injury reports have been proved by Dr. R.N. Srivastava (P.W.-5) as Ex.Ka-9 & Ka-10.

Dr. R.N. Srivastava (P.W.-5) has also accepted the suggestion of prosecution that these injuries may be caused by lathi-danda, fists and kicks, on 30.06.1986 at 4:00 pm.

7. The postmortem of deceased Ram Raj was conducted on 02.07.1986 at 2:00 pm by Dr. P.N. Shukla.

Other Prosecution Evidence:

8. Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) is the complainant as well as the injured. The witness in his examination-in-chief has stated that the accused are real brothers and they live jointly. The witness has also narrated the topography of the place of the incident. The witness has further stated that the accused constructed a dalan (verandah) in the land of the complainant, north of the verandah of the complainant. He tried to restrain them from constructing the dalan (verandah) but the accused did not pay any heed. This was the reason for enmity. At that time, maar-peet took place and a complaint case was instituted. In respect of the incident in question, the witness stated that the incident is of two and a half years ago. It was 4:30 pm. He was returning after ploughing his field and was passing through the chak road. When he reached near the door of accused's dalan then his both bulls flared up. To catch the bulls, he came at the door of the accused, then all the accused Kare Deen, Ram Bhola, Devi Prasad and Ambika Prasad started to abuse and assault him. He raised an alarm, then his father Ram Raj came to rescue him. The witnesses Daya Shankar, Ram Dulare, Raj Nath and Prabhawati (his mother) and his sister-in-law (bhabhi) also came there. The accused assaulted his father with lathi, who fell down. Then accused hurling abuses escaped from there. His father became unconscious. He brought him on a cot to Nigoh. From there, he came to the police station and lodged the oral report. He and his father were sent to the hospital by the police where their medical examination was conducted. On the next day, his father died in the district hospital due to the injuries suffered by him.

9. Raj Nath (P.W.-2) is the eye witness. In his examination-in-chief, the witness has stated that he knows complainant Shesh Mani and accused Kare Deen, Ram Bhola, Devi Prasad and Ambika Prasad who are co-villagers. Ram Raj was the father of Shesh Mani. Two and a half years ago Ram Raj was murdered. It was 4:00 pm. Shesh Mani was driving his bulls. When he reached in front of the door of the accused, the bulls flared up and came at the door of the accused who said that this is not a public way why you are driving your bulls from here. On this Shesh Mani said that this is the public way. On this, accused hurling abuses assaulted Shesh Mani. He made a noise, on which his father Ram Raj came there to rescue him. Then accused assaulted Ram Raj with lathi. Ram Raj became unconscious and fell down. The witness Ram Dular, Daya Shankar, father and uncle and wife of Ram Raj also reached there and witnessed the incident. Ram Raj was taken to the police station by the complainant from where he was sent to Jaunpur hospital where he died.

10. Ram Dular (P.W.-3) is also an eye witness. In his examination-in-chief, the witness has stated that accused Kare Deen, Ram Raj, Devi Prasad and Ambika Prasad are residents of his village. They also know Shesh Mani- the complainant. His father was murdered two and a half years ago. Shesh Mani was driving his bulls on the pathway when he reached in front of the house of the accused, the bulls flared up. Shesh Mani went to herd them away, then accused started to abuse him and said that it is not a public way, why you are driving your bulls here. The complainant said that this is a public way and there is no other way. On this, accused started to assault Shesh Mani who raised an alarm. On his alarm Ram Raj came there. Then accused assaulted Ram Raj with lathi. Ram Raj became unconscious and fell down. The incident was witnessed by Ram Dular, Raj Nath and others. Shesh Mani took his father to police station. Thereafter, his father was admitted in the District hospital where he died.

11. Constable Shamsher Bahadur Singh (P.W.-7) is a formal witness who has brought the dead body to police lines after inquest proceeding for postmortem examination. The witness has stated that on 01.07.1986 after inquest proceeding of the dead body of Ram Raj, it was handed over to him and constable Musafir Singh for postmortem examination. On 02.07.1986

he handed over the dead body to the Doctor.

12. S.I. Samar Bahadur Singh (P.W.-8) has conducted the inquest proceeding. The witness has stated that on 01.07.1986 he conducted inquest proceeding at District hospital, Jaunpur. He also prepared the other necessary papers and sealed the dead body, thereafter handed it over to the constable Sanjay Singh and Shamsher Singh for postmortem examination. The witness has proved the inquest report Ex.Ka16 and other related papers Ex.Ka-9 to Ka-15.

13. S.I. Sankata Prasad Singh (P.W.-4) is the Investigating Officer. The witness has stated that on 30.06.1986 the case was registered as NCR under sections 323, 504 & 506 IPC. The witness has proved by secondary evidence, the NCR and GD entry Ex.Ka.-1 and Ex.Ka-2. He has further stated that on 01.07.1986 injured Ram Raj died at district hospital, Jaunpur. On receiving the aforesaid information, the case was amended and registered as crime no.102/06 under section 304 IPC. The witness has also proved by secondary evidence, the GD of amendment Ex.Ka.-3. The witness has further stated that the investigation of this case was entrusted to him on 08.07.1986. He came to the village and recorded the statements of witnesses and on indication of the complainant and witnesses, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka-4). On 09.07.1986 he recorded the statement of complainant Shesh Mani, seized the blood stained tahmad of the deceased and prepared its memo Ex.Ka.5, recorded the statements of accused Ram Bhola, Devi Prasad and Ambika Prasad in the lockup. On 10.07.1986, he recorded the statements of constable Ram Murti and Kashi Yadav and accused Kare Deen. On 11.07.1986, he submitted the charge-sheet against all accused under Section 304, 323, 504 & 506 IPC.

Submissions on behalf of applicants.

14. Learned counsel for the appellants contended that the appellants-accused are innocent and they have been falsely implicated due to old enmity. The prosecution witnesses have admitted the fact of old enmity in their statements. It is further contended that Raj Nath (P.W.-2) is not named as a witness in the FIR. He has been introduced later on. Ram Dular (P.W.-3) is close relative of the complainant and the deceased. He has stated in his cross-examination that he is cousin of Ram Raj-the deceased. So Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) and Ram Dular (P.W.-3) are related and interested witnesses. There are material contradictions and discrepancies in the oral statements of the witnesses. The witnesses have improved their statements while deposing in the court and there are material omissions in their statements recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Ram Dular (P.W.-3) has stated that at the time of incident he was laying roof of his house and saw the incident from there. This statement is quite contradictory to the statement given to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C., in which, it is recorded that at the time of incident he was working in his field. When confronted by the defence on this point, the witness has disowned the statement given to the Investigating Officer under section 161 Cr.P.C. that at the time of incident he was working in his field. He has further stated that he has told the Investigating Officer that he was laying roof from where he ran towards the place of occurrence. The witness has further stated that he did not come to the place of occurrence but seen the entire incident from the place where he was laying the roof of his house. This witness has also stated that at the time of incident, it was drizzling. No other witness has supported this statement. It is further contended that in the first information report, it is alleged that accused assaulted him with fists, kicks and danda while in his cross-examination, the witness has stated that he was assaulted with lathi. The eye witnesses in their statement have stated that Ram Raj was taken on a cot while the Investigating Officer, Sankata Prasad Singh (P.W.-6) has stated that witnesses told him that Ram Raj was brought in a taxi from the place of occurrence. Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) has also stated that a handkerchief was tied on the head of Ram Raj which was stained with blood. But this handkerchief has not been seized by the Investigating Officer during the course of investigation. The investigating officer has also not collected the blood stained earth from the place of occurrence while Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) has stated that Ram Raj was bleeding and the blood fell down on the ground. It is further contended that all the injuries of Shesh Mani complainant are simple and superficial. The injuries of Ram Raj (deceased) are also simple in nature. There is no grievous injuries on his body. The accused in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. have stated that Ram Raj- the deceased was laying chappar and he fell down on a log and suffered injuries. Dr. R.N. Srivastava (P.W.-5) has accepted that if the injured fell down from roof on a brick, then injury no.1 may be caused. Injury no.2 is also possible by falling and injury no. 4, 5 & 6 are possible by friction and are simple in nature. So the defence version that the deceased has suffered injuries by a fall from roof cannot be ruled out and is possible. Due to old enmity, a story has been cooked up and accused have been falsely implicated. Learned counsel lastly contended that from the allegations of the first information report and the statement of witnesses it appears that the incident has occurred in the heat of moment. It was not pre-planned, so Section 34 IPC will not apply. The accused persons are four in number and it is not specific from the statements of witnesses that which of the accused caused injury on head to Ram Raj (deceased). Hence accused could not be convicted for the offence punishable under section 302 IPC with the aid of Section 34 IPC. On this point, the learned counsel placed reliance on the case law of Richhpal Singh Meena vs. Ghasi alias Ghisa and ors, (2014) 8 SCC 918; and Dhanraj Singh vs. State of Jharkhand, 2019 0 Supreme (Jhk)714 and Gajanand and ors vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1954 SC 695.

The submissions on behalf of respondents :

15. Learned AGA and learned counsel for the complainant submitted that three eye witnesses produced by the prosecution are natural witnesses. They are residents of the vicinity. They have fully corroborated the prosecution case. There are no material contradiction or discrepancies in their statements. The contradiction and discrepancies as pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellants are minor and natural. Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) has also received injuries in the incident. So his presence on the spot is fully established. The oral evidence is further corroborated with medical evidence. The allegations of the FIR that accused assaulted Shesh Mani and Raja Ram (the deceased) with lathi-danda and fists & kicks, stand corroborated with medical evidence. Time of the incident also stand proved from the oral as well as medical evidence. Place of occurrence is also established and there is no doubt in it. The incident has occurred on 30.06.1986. The report was registered as NCR. After the death of Raja Ram, the case was converted into a cognizable case and Section 304 was added and thereafter investigation commenced. So when the Investigating Officer arrived at the place of occurrence, due to lapse of time, the blood stains could not be found at the place of occurrence. It is further contended that the witnesses have fully corroborated the fact that there was previous enmity between the parties. On this count, on a trivial issue, the accused-appellants with a common intention assaulted Shesh Mani and when his father- Ram Raj came to his rescue, they also assaulted him with lathi, causing him serious head injuries which became fatal. It is further contended that for application of Section 34 IPC pre-concert of mind before the incident is not necessary. It may develop at the place of occurrence itself. So section 34 IPC will apply. The appellant-accused with a common intention have caused head injury to the Ram Raj (deceased) which resulted in his death on the next day during the course of treatment. So it is a clear case of murder. The learned trial court has rightly appreciated the entire facts and evidence, the finding of the learned trial court that appellant accused are guilty for offence under section 302 IPC is just and proper. There is no illegality or perversity in the finding recorded by the learned trial court.

Analysis

16. The prosecution case is based on direct evidence and prosecution has produced three eye witnesses, Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) Raj Nath (P.W.-2) and Ram Dular (P.W.-3). From the site plan Ex.Ka-4 and from the statements of witnesses, it is fully established that the house of complainant and the accused are in the neighbourhood and there is chak road in the north of the dalan (verandah) and chappar of the accused. The prosecution case is that at the time of incident complainant- Shesh Mani was returning with bulls from his field. When he arrived in front of the house of the accused his bulls flared up and came near the door of the house of the accused. On this some altercation took place between Shesh Mani and the accused. The accused hurling abuses, started to assault Shesh Mani. On his alram, his father Ram Raj came to rescue him. Then he was also assaulted by the accused. Shesh Mani (P.W.-1) has fully supported the aforesaid prosecution case. He has received injuries in the incident. His medico legal examination has been conducted on the same day at 11:15 pm at district hospital, Jaunpur by Dr. R.N. Srivastava (P.W.-5). Three injuries have been found on his body, the first one is abraded traumatic swelling on the left elbow while second and third injuries are traumatic swelling on right leg and left leg. The duration of the injuries was fresh. Doctor has given opinion that these injuries may have been caused by lathi, danda, fists and kicks. The doctor has also accepted the prosecution suggestion that these injuries may come on 30.06.1986 at 4:00 pm. This witness being injured, his presence on the spot cannot be doubted. Hon'ble Apex Court in Abdul Sayeed vs. Stte of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 10 SCC 259, emphasizing the evidentiary value of an injured witness held:

"Where witness to occurrence was himself injured in the incident, testimony of such witness is generally considered to be reliable as he is a witness who comes with an inbuilt guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and unlikely to spare his actual assailant in order to false implication to someone"

In State of Haryana vs. Krishnan, AIR 2017 SC 3125, it has been laid down that the testimony of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies. The reason for attaching such reliability for evidence of an injured witness is that his presence on the scene stands established and it is proved that in the said incident he got injured.

17. Raj Nath (P.W.-2) and Ram Dular (P.W.-3) have also fully corroborated the prosecution case and the statement of Shesh Mani (P.W.-1)- the injured witness. All the above three witnesses have been put to lengthy cross-examination by the defence but except some minor contradictions and discrepancies the oral testimony of these witnesses is intact. There is no major contradiction or discrepancy which makes their statements unreliable.

18. The oral statements of the aforesaid witnesses also stand corroborated from the medical evidence. According to prosecution, accused assaulted the complainant- Shesh Mani and his father Ram Raj with lathi-danda, fists & kicks. The injury reports of Ram Raj and Shesh Mani Ex.Ka-8 and Ex.Ka-7, corroborates the prosecution version in this respect. All the injuries found on the body of both the injured are lacerated wounds, traumatic swelling and abrasions. These injuries are possible only with hard and blunt object like lathi-danda, fists & kicks and friction. The medico legal examination has been conducted on the same day at 10:30 pm and 11:15 pm respectively. So the medical examination has been conducted after 6-7 hrs of the incident and the doctor has noted the injuries as fresh. This further corroborates the time of the incident. The Investigating Officer has indicated the place of occurrence with letter-A in the site plan Ex.Ka-4. The place of occurrence is in front of the chappar of the accused and on the chak road. All the three eye witnesses have supported the prosecution case that the incident has occurred in front of the door of the house of accused. So there is no doubt about the place of occurrence also. Merely because the name of Raj Nath (P.W.-2) is not mentioned in the first information report as an eye witness and that Ram Dular (P.W.-3) is the cousin of the deceased, their testimony cannot be discarded. It is established from the oral statement that these witnesses resides in the vicinity, so their presence on the spot is natural. It is settled principle of law that the testimony of the witness cannot be discarded merely because he is an interested or inimical. If the oral testimony of the witness inspires confidence and is otherwise trustworthy, his oral statement can be relied.

19. In Bhagwan Jagannath Markad vs State of Maharashtra (2016) 10 SCC 537, it has been held that:

"Generally, contradictions, inconsistencies, exaggerations and embellishments are seen in the oral testimony of witness. If there are no material contradictions in the testimony of a witness, his evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the basis of some normal, natural or minor contradictions, inconsistencies, exaggerations or embellishments etc. Minor contradictions in the testimony of prosecution witnesses are bound to be there and in fact they go to support the trustfulness of the witness."

20. The motive of the incident stands proved, the accused have also admitted the fact of old enmity between the parties. In this case, there is no circumstance which establishes that the accused have been falsely implicated due to old enmity. The defence case that the deceased fell down while laying roof and suffered injuries is highly improbable and unacceptable. The medical evidence fully establishes that the injuries suffered by Ram Raj- the deceased cannot be an outcome of fall from the roof. These injuries can only be caused by assault with lathi- danda, fists & kicks. Dr. R.N. Srivastava (P.W.-5) in his cross-examination has only stated that injury no.1 & 2 may come from fall. From the medico legal report, it is established that apart from injury nos.1 & 2 Ram Raj has suffered four other injuries on different parts of his body. The defence has not put any suggestion that all the injuries of Ram Raj may come by a fall from the roof. There is no explanation from the defence of the injuries sustained by Shesh Mani (the complainant). As two persons suffered injuries in the incident, the defence version that Ram Raj (the deceased) has suffered injuries by falling from the roof fails and cannot be accepted. So from the analysis of the evidence on record, it is clear that the prosecution evidence is cogent and reliable. From the prosecution evidence, it is fully established that accused appellants have assaulted the complainant- Shesh Mani and when his father Ram Raj- the deceased came to rescue him, they also assaulted him with lathi-danda, fists & kicks. Both Shesh Mani and Ram Raj suffered injuries in the incident, Ram Raj became unconscious, he was taken to the hospital and during the course of treatment, he died in the hospital due to injuries suffered by him.

21. In this case, charge-sheet was submitted under section 304, 323, 504 and 506 IPC. Learned trial court has framed charges under section 302 read with section 34 IPC and Section 323 read with section 34 IPC. Learned trial court has held the appellants-accused guilty for the charges framed by it. Now the question is what offence has been committed and as to what charges are proved against the accused persons.

22. From the facts of the present case, it is clear that the incident has occurred all of a sudden in the heat of the moment. The incident was not pre-planned, no deadly weapon has been used. So there was no common intention to commit murder of Ram Raj. The common intention was only to cause injjury. Neither in the FIR nor in the statements of witnesses any specific role has been assigned to any of the accused causing head injury to the Ram Raj (the deceased). So it is uncertain that which of the accused caused head injury to the Ram Raj (the deceased) which resulted in his death. The Apex Court in the paragraph nos.23 & 24 of the case of Richhpal Singh Meena vs. Ghasi alias Ghisa and ors, (supra) has referred the case of Ninaji Raoji Boudha vs. State of Maharashtra (1976) 2 SCC 117 which is quoted below:

"23. In Ninaji Raoji Boudha vs. State of Maharashtra two persons (Ninaji and Raoji) were convicted by the Trial Court for an offence punishable under Sections 325 and 147 of the IPC and sentenced to five years imprisonment. This was despite the fact that the injuries caused by them on Bhonaji had resulted in his death. In an appeal filed by the State, the High Court convicted them for offences punishable under Section 302/34 of the IPC for causing the death of Bhonaji.

24. Ninaji and Raoji appealed to this Court and it was held that they had given several blows to Bhonaji and one of them was "a forceful blow on the head which caused a depressed fracture and fissures all over" resulting in his death. This Court noted that from the evidence on record: (a) it could not be established who had given that forceful blow; (b) the evidence established that Ninaji and Raoji did not have a common intention of causing the death of Bhonaji but there was a common intention of causing him grievous injury. Consequently, due to the lack of any conclusive or specific (1976) 2 SCC 117 evidence of who was responsible for the homicide and the absence of a common intention, Ninaji and Raoji were acquitted of the offence of murder but were convicted of an offence punishable under Section 302/34 of the IPC and sentenced to five years imprisonment. It appears to us that the principle applied by this Court, though not so stated, is to be found in Section 72 of the IPC which reads as follows:

"72. Punishment of person guilty of one of several offences, the judgment stating that it is doubtful of which.--In all cases in which judgment is given that a person is guilty of one of several offences specified in the judgment, but that it is doubtful of which of these offences he is guilty, the offender shall be punished for the offence for which the lowest punishment is provided if the same punishment is not provided for all." "

23. The Apex Court has also referred the case of Ram Lal vs. Delhi Administration, 1972 SC 2462 in para no.25 & 26, which is quoted below:

"25. Similarly, the principle laid down in Section 72 of the IPC appears to have been invoked in Ram Lal vs. Delhi Administration in which four persons (including Ram Lal) were accused of having murdered Har Lal. The Trial Court acquitted one of them but convicted the others, including Ram Lal for an offence punishable under Section302/34 of the IPC. In appeal, the High Court upheld the conviction of Ram Lal for an offence punishable under Section 302 of the IPC, while the other two were convicted under Section 325/34 of the IPC.

26. In appeal before this Court, the question was whether Ram Lal could have been convicted for an offence punishable under Section 302 o f the IPC. It was held (by a three-Judge Bench) that the High Court had erroneously concluded that the deceased received only one injury on the head. In fact, he had suffered two injuries on the head. Additionally, it was found that the High Court also held that Ram Lal had given only one blow with a stick to Har Lal on the head. On these facts, it could not be said with any degree of certainty whether the blow delivered by Ram Lal proved fatal or the blow given by him did not prove fatal. In the absence of any clear identification of the blow given by Ram Lal, he was entitled to a benefit of doubt. However, since the common intention of the three assailants was to cause a grievous injury to Har Lal, therefore Ram Lal was liable for conviction under Section 325/34 of the IPC apparently applying the principle laid down in Section 72 of the IPC. Accordingly, he was sentenced to five years imprisonment. "

24. From the evidence on record, it is established that the appellants-accused assaulted Shesh Mani and Ram Raj with lathi-danda, fists & kicks. Two blows on the head caused internal head injury and clotting of blood which proved fatal. From the evidence on record, it is not established which accused caused the head injury. The evidence establishes that the incident was not pre-planned, it occurred all of a sudden and there was no common intention to cause death of Ram Raj. There was a common intention of causing him injuries and the nature of injuries suffered by Ram Raj the deceased is covered by Section 320 (8) of IPC. So applying the principles of law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Ninaji Raoji Boudha vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra) and Ram Lal vs. Delhi Administration (Supra), the appellants accused cannot be convicted for the offence under Section 302/34 IPC. They can be convicted only for the offence under section 325/34 IPC and Section 323/34 IPC.

Conclusion

25. From the above discussion, it is clear that the learned trial court has overlooked the facts and evidence that the incident was not a pre-planned one. There was no common intention to commit the murder of Ram Raj. The incident occurred suddenly and the accused-appellants assaulted Shesh Mani and Ram Raj only with intention of causing injuries to them. It is also not established from the evidence that which of the accused has caused head injury to Ram Raj which proved fatal. So the appellants accused could not have been convicted for offence under section 302/34 IPC. The finding of trial court in this respect is erroneous. The trial court has committed error in convicting the accused for the offence under section 302/34 IPC and sentencing them to imprisonment for life. This part of the finding of trial court is liable to be modified with the finding that accused-appellants are guilty for the offence under section 325/34 IPC.

They are liable to be sentenced with imprisonment of 5 years and fine of Rs.25,000/- each for the offence under section 325/34 IPC. In default of payment of fine, each of the appellants-accused will have to serve simple imprisonment of six months. Half of the amount of fine if deposited shall be paid to the complainant-Shesh Mani.

26. The appeal is partly allowed to the above extent. The accused-appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds and sureties bonds are canceled and sureties are discharged, they shall surrender before the court below within two weeks failing which the court concerned will take necessary action for ensuring the compliance.

27. The lower court record along with copy of the judgment shall be transmitted immediately to the court below.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Testimony of Injured Witness- While appreciating the oral statement of this witness it should be kept in mind that her son was beaten to death in front of her, so, it is not expected from her to disclose exactly what injuries were inflicted upon her. Further, the statement has been recorded after a gap of more than two years from the date of incident, hence some contradictions are natural and on this ground her oral testimony cannot be disbelieved. The witness, being injured, her presence at the spot cannot be doubted-Medical evidence further corroborates that the witness has suffered injuries at the time of incident which establishes her presence on the spot at the time of incident-The testimony of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies. The reason for attaching such sanctity to the evidence of an injured witness is that his presence at the scene of crime stands established.

Settled law that testimony of an injured witness is placed on a special pedestal in as much as the injuries of the witness, which stand corroborated by the medical evidence, guarantees the presence of the injured witness on the spot thus minor contradictions cannot be a ground to discard testimony of an injured witness.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3-When case of the prosecution is based on the evidence of eye-witnesses, some embellishments in the prosecution case caused by the testimony of any prosecution witness, not declared hostile, cannot by itself be a ground to discard entire prosecution case. The testimony of the witness also cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that he has not suffered any injury in the incident and he did not react in a manner, he ought to have reacted in the circumstance or he did not come to the rescue of the deceased. Behaviour or manner of response to a particular situation varies from person to person. Some persons may be very strong hearted while some may be sensitive and emotional. Some may get terrorised by looking at the deadly attack on a person and may find themselves shocked, unable to react or respond to the situation. Therefore, such behaviour or conduct of witnesses should not be taken as a ground to discard their otherwise credible testimonies.

Behaviour and conduct of a witness is neither predictable and nor can it be placed in a straight jacket formula therefore, behaviour of a witness whose testimony is otherwise credible and trustworthy; cannot be rejected on the ground of his behaviour or conduct at the time of the occurrence. 3. NARRATION OF FACTS:

Complainant, Nanhi Bahu (PW-1) gave an application dated 05.10.1995 at Police Station Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur alleging therein that today, on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m., her son Pappu alias Har Narayan was going to the west of the village to attend nature's call, Hanna, holding Ballam (spear), Kappu holding an axe and Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu holding lathis in their hands were present at the shop of Pragi. There was a family dispute of her son with them. With a common intention, they started to assault her son with the weapons in their hands and killed him. When she tried to save him, then Babu assaulted her with lathi, causing injuries on her left hand. The incident was witnessed by Raj Kumar (PW-2), Lakhan (PW-6), Santosh (PW-5), Sanjai (PW-7), Devi (PW-8) and her son Santosh (PW-3). They tried to rescue, but the accused, hurling abuses, escaped towards the river side. The dead body of her son was lying on the road, north of the village.

A Chik Report No. 408 of 1995 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 323 I.P.C. was registered against six named accused on 05.10.1995 at 7.15 a.m. Station House Officer, Police Station Kotwali Lalitpur, B.B. Singh (PW-11) took up the investigation. He recorded the statement of the complainant and sent her for medical examination. Thereafter, he arrived at the spot and instructed Sub-Inspector, Shyamendra Singh to conduct inquest proceedings. The dead body was sent for the post mortem examination. He also collected blood-stained and plain concrete and prepared its memo. Thereafter, he recorded statements of other witnesses and on the indication of Santosh inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site-plan. On 08.10.1995, he arrested the accused persons, recorded their statements in which they confessed their guilt and also disclosed that they have concealed weapons used in the crime in a field near Village Gaida. Thereafter, the Investigating Officer, accompanying police personnel and accused-persons, on the indication of accused reached near a field in Village Gaida in which no crop was sown and recovered one axe and five lathis, buried under the ground. He also prepared its memo.

On account of transfer of S.H.O., B.B. Singh, further investigation was conducted by S.H.O., G.N. Pandey (PW-12). He recorded the statements of the remaining witnesses and after completion of the investigation submitted charge-sheet against accused on 19.11.1995. The axe was sent for forensic examination on 18.12.1995.

After committal proceedings, trial court framed charges under Sections 302/149, 323/149 I.P.C. against all the accused. It also framed charges under Section 148 I.P.C. against accused, Hanna and Kappu and under Section 147 I.P.C against accused, Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial.

The prosecution, in all, examined 13 witnesses in oral evidence while in documentary evidence 18 papers, Ext. Ka-1 to Ka-18, were produced. The statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded and incriminating circumstances were put to them. It is stated by the accused that the statements of the witnesses are false and they have been implicated in aforesaid case due to enmity. No evidence either oral or documentary was produced in defence. Learned trial court, after hearing arguments of the parties, by the impugned judgement and order, held all the accused guilty for the offences under Sections 302/149, 323/149 I.P.C., accused Duli, Daya, Prakash and Babu for the offence under Section 147 I.P.C. and accused Hanna and Kappu for the offence under Section 148 I.P.C. and sentenced them as above.

Dr. R.P. Gupta, PW 9, has proved the autopsy report, Ext.Ka-5. The witness has stated that the death of the deceased was possible on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m. and that injury nos. 1, 2, 4 and 8 may be caused from sharp edged weapon like Ballam, injury no.3 from axe, injury nos.5, 9, 11 and 12 from lathis and remaining injuries may come from friction.

Injury of Nanhi Bahu, the complainant, was medically examined on 05.10.1995 at 10 a.m. at District Hospital, Lalitpur by Dr R.P. Gupta, PW 9. According to injury report, Ext.Ka-4, following injuries were present on her body:

The injury report has been proved by Dr. R.P. Gupta, PW 9. The witness stated that injury no.1 was kept under observation while injury nos. 2, 3 and 4 were simple in nature. All the injuries were fresh and were caused by some hard and blunt object like lathi. The witness has also stated that all the injuries may come on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m.

5. Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, is the complainant and injured. In her examination-in-chief, the witness has stated that the name of her son was Har Narayan alias Pappu. He had irrigated the field of accused Kappu by his pump and Rs.6,000/ was due on him. One day before the incident, Vedi Hawan was to be performed at the house of Shanker who is Saaru (the husband of sister-in-law) of Kappu. Kappu had come to invite Har Narayan alias Pappu but her son abused Kappu and neither she, nor her son, Har Narayan went to the house of Kappu in Vedi Havan. In respect of the incident, she stated that her son was going to attend nature's call. Her son was lying on the road not near kiosk of any one. Several persons were standing there. She did not notice whether he was injured or not. In her presence accused, Hanna with Ballam, Kappu with axe, Duli, Daya, Prakash and Babu with lathis did not assault her son near the shop of Pragi. Neither she nor her son Santosh tried to save him. He was already dead. Babu has not assaulted her with lathi.

So this witness did not support the allegations of the F.I.R. in her examination-in-chief and was declared hostile.

Later, this witness was recalled on her application and her statement was again recorded on 11.03.1999. In this statement, the witness stated that what she has stated earlier was because the accused had threatened her. After that statement, the police personnel threatened her as to why has she given a false statement. The witness then stated that Hanna holding Ballam, Kappu holding axe, Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu holding lathis caught Pappu and they all assaulted him with the weapons in their hands. The incident has occurred in the middle of the road. The accused escaped towards the river side. Her son was killed while going to attend nature's call. She had come to fetch water.

After aforesaid statement, the witness was examined by the prosecution and her statement was recorded in question-answer form. In this statement, she has stated that three years have passed since the incident. It was about 6 a.m. Her son Pappu alias Har Narayan was going to attend the nature's call. He reached on the road, Hanna was holding Ballam, Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu were holding lathis while Kappu was holding an axe, they all assaulted Pappu alias Har Narayan with weapons they were holding in their hands. Har Narayan died. She tried to save her son, then Daya caught hold her and Babu assaulted her with lathi. Her daughter-in-law was watching the incident from a distance. She got scribed the report from Prakash Tiwari at Kotwali. Prakash Tiwari has written whatever she had dictated and thereafter read over the same to her. The witness has also stated that earlier she has given statement under threat of Shanker, Rama and Kappu. They have threatened that your one son has been killed and if she deposes against them, her other son will also be killed. Shanker is cousin of Kappu. She stated that her previous statement was false and was given under threat whereas today, she is giving true statement without any pressure.

6. Santosh, PW 3, is the real brother of the deceased. In his examination-in-chief, the witness has stated that Pappu alias Har Narayan was his real brother. He was murdered about three years ago. It was 6 a.m. His brother was going to attend the nature's call. On the way, at the shop of Pragi, accused, Hanna, Kappu, Daya, Prakash, Duli and Babu met him. Hanna was holding Ballam, Kappu an axe and the remaining accused had lathis. In front of the shop of Pragi, they encircled Pappu and started to assault him. He and his mother, on cries of his brother, arrived at the spot from his shop. They tried to rescue Pappu, but Babu assaulted his mother with lathi. When they tried to rescue him, accused threatened them. Raj Kumar, Lakhan, Santosh, Sanjai and Devi also arrived at the spot and they forbade the accused not to assault his brother. His brother died. In respect of location of his shop, PW-3 stated that his shop was at 4-5 paces from the place of occurrence. The witness has further stated that Kappu and Hanna are cousins. Prakash is real brother of Kappu. Daya and Duli are real brothers and cousin of Kappu while Babu is the Saaru of Kappu. Rs.6,000/- was due on Kappu which he did not return despite several demands. Earlier also, Kappu has committed marpeet with PW-3 and his brother (the deceased) on demand of money regarding which a case is pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate. Due to aforesaid enmity, the accused committed murder of his brother.

7. Raj Kumar, PW 2, Santosh, PW 5, Lakhan Lal, PW 6, Sanjai, PW 7 and Devi, PW 8, the eye-witnesses have not supported the prosecution version and were declared hostile. In their examination-in-chief they have stated that they have not seen the incident. With the permission of court, the prosecution has conducted cross-examination of the aforesaid witnesses. In their cross-examination, the witnesses have reiterated the statement given in the examination-in-chief that they have not seen the occurrence. They have also disowned their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

8. Head Constable, Sarjoo Prasad, PW 4, is the chik and General Diary writer. The witness has stated that on 05.10.1995, on the written information of Nanhi Babu, he registered Case Crime No.862 of 1995 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 323 I.P.C. of Chik No.408 of 1995 and made General Diary entry of it. The witness has proved Chik F.I.R. and copy of general diary, Exts.Ka-2 and Ka-3.

9. Constable, Luvkush Kumar, PW 10, has proved inquest report and related paper which is in the writing of Sub Inspector, Shyamendra Singh by secondary evidence. These papers are Exts. Ka-6 to Ka-11. The witness has also stated that after inquest proceedings, body of the deceased was handed over to him for post mortem examination which he handed over to the doctor in a sealed condition.

10. B.B. Singh, PW 11, is the first Investigating Officer. The witness has stated that on 05.10.1995, he was posted as Station House Officer, Kotwali Lalitpur and the F.I.R. of this case was registered in his presence. He took up the investigation. Recorded statement of the complainant and sent her for medical examination. Thereafter, he with Sub Inspector, Shyamendra Singh and other police force arrived at the spot. Inquest proceeding was conducted by Sub Inspector, Shyamendra Singh, on his instructions. The dead body was sent for post mortem examination. The witness has further stated that he collected blood-stained and plain concrete from the place of occurrence and prepared its memo Ext. Ka-13. He recorded statement of other witnesses and on the pointing out of Santosh, brother of the deceased, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared its site-plan, Ext. Ka-14. The witness has further stated that on 08.10.1995, he arrested accused, Hanna, Kappu, Daya, Duli and Prakash and recorded their statements. The accused confessed and disclosed that they have concealed the weapons used in the commission of the crime in a field near Village Gaida. He along with the police force and the accused came at Village Gaida and on the pointing out of the accused, from a field, which had no crop, recovered blood-stained axe and lathis buried under the ground. He prepared its memo, Ext. Ka-15. On the same day, he arrested accused, Babu. He also prepared site-plan of the place of recovery, Ext. Ka-16. 12. Constable, Ram Charan, PW 1, is also a formal witness. He has taken the case property to Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra for examination.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE APPELLANTS

13. Learned counsel for the appellants has contended that Smt. Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, complainant and Santosh, PW 3, claim themselves to be the eye-witnesses of the incident. In her first statement, Nanhi Bahu has not corroborated the allegations of F.I.R. and turned hostile. She has specifically stated that the accused persons did not assault her son Pappu with Ballam, axe and lathis in front of her. She has stated that neither she nor her son Santosh tried to rescue him because he was already dead. Later on, after examination of all the witnesses, she moved an application on which she was recalled and in that statement she completely resiled from her earlier statement and implicated the accused persons. She stated that now she is deposing as police has threatened her. So, her subsequent statement is under threat of police. Learned counsel also contended that there are also serious infirmities and contradictions in her statement. At one place she has stated that at the time of the incident she and her son Santosh were taking water from hand-pump while at another place she has stated that she and her daughter-in-law were out to take water. No hand-pump is shown in the site-plan. She has stated that only one lathi blow on her left hand was inflicted. In the medical examination report, Ext.Ka-4, no injury on her left hand is mentioned. So, the testimony of this witness is wholly unreliable. It is further contended that presence of Santosh, PW 3, on the spot is highly doubtful. He had stated that at the time of incident he was at his shop (kiosk) which was 4 paces from the place of occurrence but in the site-plan no shop of witness, Santosh, has been shown. The witness has also stated that he has not indicated his shop at the time of inspection by the Investigating Officer. He has also stated that there was previous enmity with the accused persons and before the incident the accused persons had assaulted him and his deceased brother Pappu in respect of which a case is pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate. If the witness was present on the spot, he would not have been spared. It is also highly improbable and unnatural that he would not make any effort to rescue his brother who was being beaten to death in front of him. He has not suffered any injury even a scratch in the incident, which also makes his presence on the spot highly doubtful. There are other infirmities and contradictions in his statements also. He has stated that near his shop, there is Imali tree but in the site-plan neither shop nor any Imali tree has been shown. At one place he has stated that at the time of incident, he was at his shop, his mother and sister-in-law (Bhabhi), Malti and other witnesses were also there whereas at another place he has stated that his mother and sister-in-law were at the hand-pump to fetch water. Changing his statement, he has further stated that when the accused persons came he was sitting at his shop while earlier he has stated that when the accused persons came he was opening his shop. He is not a witness of inquest. He has also not accompanied his mother to the police station. All the facts and circumstances make his presence at the spot highly doubtful. Learned counsel further contended that all other eye-witnesses, examined by the prosecution, have not supported the prosecution case and have turned hostile. It is further contended that alleged recovery of one axe and five lathis made by the Investigating Officer on 08.10.1995 on the pointing out of five accused persons is totally false and fabricated. No disclosure statement has been recorded. There is no public witness of the recovery. The memo of the recovery is neither signed by the accused nor copy of it has been provided to them. The recovery of one axe and five lathis are shown in the recovery memo while according to the prosecution case only four accused were armed with lathis. Forensic report does not confirm the use of aforesaid weapons in the commission of the offence. The origin of blood could not be ascertained in the Forensic test. Hence, this evidence adduced by the prosecution has no evidenciary value and it does not support the prosecution case in any way. Learned counsel for the appellants further contended that the incident is alleged to be of 6 a.m. The post mortem of the deceased was conducted on the same day, at 4 p.m. It is mentioned in the post mortem report that rigor mortis was present all over the body and estimated time of death is 12 hours. Learned counsel submitted that rigor mortis spreads over the entire body after 12 hours of death. It suggests that the incident had occurred in the night or at wee hours of the morning, by some unknown miscreants and due to previous enmity the appellants have been falsely implicated. It is also contended that the F.I.R. has been scribed by Ram Prakash Tiwari at police station in the presence of S.O., so there are chances of false implication of the applicants. Learned counsel, lastly, contended that the learned trial court has erred in relying on oral testimony of Nanhi Bahu, PW 1 and Santosh, PW 3. The finding recorded by the lower court is erroneous and unjustified. There is no cogent evidence on record to prove the prosecution case and trial court has failed to properly appreciate the evidence on record and committed material illegality while believing the prosecution evidence. Hence, the finding of conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside. The appellants are liable to be acquitted.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE STATE

14. Learned A.G.A. contended that the prosecution has produced ocular version of the incident. Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, is the eye-witness. She is also injured. Her medical examination report has been proved, so her presence at the spot cannot be doubted. Merely because in her first statement she turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case, her oral testimony cannot be discarded. From her oral testimony it is established that threat was extended to her from the appellants' side and under that threat she turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case. It has come in her statement that she was threatened that if she deposes against the accused-appellants, then her other son will also be killed. Her subsequent statement is not under pressure or threat of the police. She has stated that police asked her as to why has she given a false statement. This clearly establishes that her previous statement was not true. In her subsequent statement she has clearly stated that her son was assaulted by the accused who were armed with Ballam, axe and lathis and when she tried to rescue her son she was also assaulted with lathi. Learned A.G.A. also contended that Santosh, PW 3, is the eye-witness and he has also fully corroborated the prosecution case. Omission by the Investigating Officer in not showing hand-pump and Kiosk of witness is laches on his part, on account of which, the ocular testimony of the witness cannot be disbelieved. The witness has also explained that when he tried to save his brother, then accused-persons wielding their weapons pushed him away that is why he has not suffered any injury in this incident which also cannot be a ground to disbelieve him. There may be some discrepancy and contradiction in the oral testimony of the witnesses which are natural as the witnesses are illiterate and rustic villagers. Oral testimony of the eye-witnesses stands corroborated from the medical evidence on record. Learned A.G.A. also contended that in the post mortem report the estimated time of death is 12 hours. This time may have variance of four hours on either side, so on this ground, the time of the incident cannot be doubted. Learned trial court has rightly relied on ocular testimony of PW 1, Nanhi Babu and PW 3 Santosh. There is no sufficient ground to discard their testimony. Learned A.G.A. submitted that even if the evidence of recovery of weapons is discarded, there is sufficient evidence in the form of ocular testimony to prove the prosecution case. The F.I.R. has been lodged promptly at 7.15 a.m. So, there is no chance of false implication of the accused by way of consultation. All the accused are named in it with specific averment about weapons used by them which stands corroborated from the oral as well as medical evidence There is no illegality or infirmity in the findings of the learned trial court.

ANALYSIS :

15. The prosecution has relied on ocular version. Seven eye-witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. Except complainant, Nanhi Bahu, PW 1 and Santosh, PW 3, the brother of the deceased, all other eye-witnesses turned hostile.

Complainant,Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, is also the mother of the deceased. In her examination-in-chief, the witness has only corroborated the motive. She has stated that her son Pappu alias Har Narayan had irrigated the field of accused, Kappu, of which Rs.6,000/- was due on him. Due to this, the relations of her son with accused were sour. She also stated that a day before the incident accused, Kappu has come to invite her son for Vedi Hawan, on which her son abused Kappu. In her first statement, the witness has not supported the prosecution case that in front of her, accused, Hanna with ballam, Kappu with axe and Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu with lathis assaulted Pappu alias Har Narayan and that she and her son Santosh tried to save him; she also stated that neither Babu assaulted her nor did she try to rescue Pappu alias Har Narayan. In the cross-examination conducted by the prosecution, the witness has admitted that her medical examination was conducted at District Hospital. She has also stated that her son has left the house in front of her. At that time, she and her son, Santosh were drawing water from the handpump. She has also stated that her son was lying four paces from the handpump. The witness has disowned her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. She has also denied the suggestion of prosecution with regard to the incident. Thereafter, on 05.02.1999 the witness moved an application before the trial court alleging therein that she has witnessed the incident and she was also assaulted by the accused and suffered injuries in the incident. She had lodged the report and had also given statement to the Investigating Officer, which is true. She also stated that earlier she has given statement in the court under the threat of accused-persons and now she wishes to depose correct facts before the court. On the aforesaid application, the witness was recalled by the trial court. Her statement was again recorded on 11.03.1999. In this statement, she has stated that she was threatened and due to this reason she has given earlier statement. Thereafter the police threatened her as to why has she given a false statement. Now, she has come to depose again. The witness was asked to depose, whatever, she wanted. Then the witness has stated that Hanna, holding Ballam, Kappu holding an axe and Daya, Duli, Prakash and Babu, holding lathis, assaulted her son when he had gone to attend the call of nature. She with her daughter-in-law had come to fetch water. The witness was examined by the prosecution again in question-answer form. In this statement she has clearly stated that her son was assaulted by the accused and when she tried to rescue, she was also assaulted with lathi. She has also stated that on the previous occasion she has given statement under threat of Shankar, Rama and Kappu. She was threatened that her one son has died and if she deposes against the accused, her second son will also be killed. She has also stated that Rama is the son of the uncle (Kaka) of accused Kappu. Shankar is cousin of Kappu. She has also stated that today, she is deposing true facts before the court and no one has threatened her for deposing. In cross-examination, conducted by the defence counsel, the witness had stated that she came by tractor to lodge the report at the police station. Tiwariji was with her. Tiwariji scribed the report at the police station, where Sub Inspector was sitting and had written whatever, she stated. The report was handed over to the Sub Inspector and she went to the hospital with a policeman. The witness has denied the suggestion of defence that she has not witnessed the incident and report was not scribed on her dictation by Ram Prakash Tiwari. The witness has not been cross-examined by the defence on the material facts regarding the incident. So, her aforesaid statement is intact.

Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, is also injured. Her medico-legal examination report, Ext. Ka-4, has been proved by Dr R.P. Gupta, PW 9.Three contusions and one lacerated wound have been found on different parts of her body. Medico-legal examination was conducted on the day of the incident at 10 a.m. and duration of injuries was fresh. The witness has stated that when she tried to rescue her son, she was assaulted with lathi. The doctor has accepted the suggestion put by the prosecution that injuries may come on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m. So, medical evidence further corroborates that the witness has suffered injuries at the time of incident which establishes her presence on the spot at the time of incident. There is no specific statement that only one lathi blow was inflicted on her. The witness has stated that when she tried to rescue her son, she was assaulted with lathi. It is correct that the witness has stated that lathi blow was inflicted on her left hand while injury nos.1 and 2 are on right hand and there is no injury on the left hand. While appreciating the oral statement of this witness it should be kept in mind that her son was beaten to death in front of her, so, it is not expected from her to disclose exactly what injuries were inflicted upon her. Further, the statement has been recorded after a gap of more than two years from the date of incident, hence some contradictions are natural and on this ground her oral testimony cannot be disbelieved. The witness, being injured, her presence at the spot cannot be doubted. The Apex Court in Abdul Sayeed Versus State of Madhya Pradesh (2010) 10 SCC 259 has held that,

"Where a witness to the occurrence has himself been injured in the incident, the testimony of such a witness is generally considered to be very reliable, as he is a witness that comes with a built-in guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailant(s) in order to falsely implicate someone".

In Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Versus State of Maharashtra (2016)10 SCC 537 and State of Haryana Versus Krishnan, AIR 2017 SC 3125, it has been laid down that the testimony of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies. The reason for attaching such sanctity to the evidence of an injured witness is that his presence at the scene of crime stands established.

Complainant, Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, has explained the circumstances under which her previous statement was recorded. She has also explained circumstances under which she has come to depose before the court again. Her statement that she was threatened by the police as to why has she given false statement does not indicate that her subsequent statement is a result of police threat and therefore false, rather it establishes that her earlier statement was not based on true facts. The aforesaid statement only indicates that the police asked her as to why has she given false statement before the court. The rule for appreciation of statement of a witness is that the statement is to be read as whole and then any inference can be drawn. If the statement of this witness is read as a whole, then her subsequent statement inspires confidence.

16. The other witness Santosh, PW 3, has also supported the prosecution case. It is correct that this witness is the real brother of the deceased, hence an interested witness. It is also correct that there are some discrepancies and contradictions in his statements. He has stated that his brother was killed four paces from his shop. In the site-plan, the Investigating Officer has not shown the shop of the witness. The witness has also stated that his mother and sister-in-law (Bhabhi) had come to draw water from the hand-pump and the hand-pump is 3-4 paces from the place of occurrence but no hand-pump is shown in the site-plan. The witness has admitted that he has not shown his shop (kiosk) to the Investigating Officer at the time of inspection of the place of occurrence. The contradictions and discrepancies as pointed by the learned counsel for the appellants are not on material points i.e. the time, place of occurrence and manner of assault, which stands corroborated from his oral testimony. The witness has accompanied his mother to the police station at the time of lodging of the F.I.R. and his presence is noted in General Diary. His statement has also been recorded by the Investigating Officer on the day of the incident after the registration of the F.I.R. General contradictions, inconsistencies, exaggerations and embellishments are seen in the oral testimony of a witness. If there are no material contradictions, his evidence cannot be disbelieved. In Bhagwan Singh Versus State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 768, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that there may be cases when two witnesses make contradictory statements on the same facts. When case of the prosecution is based on the evidence of eye-witnesses, some embellishments in the prosecution case caused by the testimony of any prosecution witness, not declared hostile, cannot by itself be a ground to discard entire prosecution case. The testimony of the witness also cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that he has not suffered any injury in the incident and he did not react in a manner, he ought to have reacted in the circumstance or he did not come to the rescue of the deceased. Behaviour or manner of response to a particular situation varies from person to person. Some persons may be very strong hearted while some may be sensitive and emotional. Some may get terrorised by looking at the deadly attack on a person and may find themselves shocked, unable to react or respond to the situation. Therefore, such behaviour or conduct of witnesses should not be taken as a ground to discard their otherwise credible testimonies.

In Sucha Singh Versus State of Punjab (2003) 7 SCC 643, the Apex Court has held that when eye-witnesses did not come to the rescue of the deceased, such reaction or conduct of a witness cannot be a ground to discard their evidence particularly, when they are unarmed and accused are armed with deadly weapons.

17. Raj Kumar, PW 2, although has turned hostile but the witness has corroborated the time and place of the occurrence in his examination-in-chief. This witness has stated that incident is of 6-7 a.m. He saw that Pappu alias Har Narayan was lying dead on the road. He has also stated about the presence of the accused, Babu and stated that Babu was at the shop of Pragi. In his cross-examination also the witness has stated that when he reached there, Babu was sitting at the shop of Pragi. The witness has also admitted his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The witness has stated that the Investigating Officer interrogated him and he has told him that at 6 a.m. the accused assaulted Pappu alias Har Narayan with Ballam, axe and lathis. Although he has further stated that as other persons were telling this to the Investigating Officer, so he also told this to I.O. It is settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be rejected outrightly and such part of the evidence which assists any of the parties may be relied on by that party.

18. The autopsy report also supports ocular version. According to the autopsy report, the deceased has received 12 injuries. Injury nos.1, 2, 4 and 8 are stab wounds, injury no.3, an incised wound and injury nos.5 and 9 are lacerated wounds while remaining injuries are abrasions. The autopsy surgeon, Dr. R.P. Gupta, PW 9, has stated that injury nos. 1, 2, 4 and 8 were possible from Ballam while injury no.3 from axe and remaining injuries from lathis and friction and they might have been caused on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m. So, the medical evidence corroborates the ocular version.

19. The place of occurrence is fully established from the prosecution evidence and there is no doubt about it. The deadbody has been found on the road and the Investigating Officer has collected plain and blood-stained concrete from there. The prosecution case about the time of incident is also consistent. Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, in her statement, has corroborated the allegations of F.I.R. that the incident has occurred at 6 a.m. The other eye-witness, Santosh, PW 3, has also corroborated it. The post mortem of the deceased was conducted on the day of the incident at 4 p.m. and duration of death is mentioned as about half day (12 hours). In the autopsy report the estimated time of death is mentioned on the basis of signs present on the body, particularly rigor mortis. There may be variance of 2 to 4 hours in the estimated time of death. So, from the autopsy report it cannot be ruled out that the incident may not have occurred at 6 a.m. as alleged by the prosecution. The autopsy surgeon, Dr R.P.Gupta, PW 9, has given opinion that the death of the deceased was possible on 05.10.1995 at 6 a.m. So, it cannot be said that there is any discrepancy in the prosecution evidence with regard to the time of the incident. There is no reason to doubt or disbelieve the ocular version in this respect. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that as post mortem has been conducted at 4 p.m. and duration of death is recorded as about half day, the incident might have occurred in the night or wee hours of the morning cannot be accepted.

20. The prosecution has also produced the evidence of the recovery of weapons used in commission of crime. B.B. Singh, PW 11, the Investigating Officer is the only witness of this fact. This prosecution evidence is not cogent and submissions made by the learned counsel for the appellants in this regard are tenable. No reliance can be placed on this evidence and it is not taken into consideration.

21. From ocular testimony of Nanhi Bahu, PW 1 and Santosh, PW 3, the prosecution case stands proved. Oral testimony is supported with the medical evidence. Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, is also the injured witness. So, her presence at the spot cannot be doubted. Even if the oral testimony of Santosh, PW 3, the other eye-witness is disbelieved, the oral testimony of complainant, Nanhi Bahu, PW 1, the injured witness in itself is sufficient to prove the prosecution evidence as her testimony stands corroborated from medical evidence. There is no material contradiction in her statement regarding date, time, place of occurrence and manner of assault, etc.

22. Learned trial court has properly appreciated the evidence on record. There is no illegality or infirmity in the finding of the learned trial court. From the prosecution evidence it is proved that the appellants-accused, forming an unlawful assembly, armed with deadly weapons, in furtherance of their common object, assaulted Pappu alias Har Narayan, causing his death at the spot. So, the charges framed against them stand fully proved. Learned trial court has not committed any error in holding them guilty. The sentence imposed by the learned trial court is also appropriate. There is no illegality or perversity in the finding recorded by the learned trial court. There is no ground to interfere in the finding recorded by the learned trial court. The appeal is liable to be dismissed.

23. The criminal appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. Appellant no.1, Hanna is in jail. Appellant nos. 2 to 6, namely, Kappu, Daya, Tuli, Prakash and Pappu are on bail. Their bail bonds and surety bonds are cancelled. The sureties are discharged. They shall surrender before the court below within two weeks to serve out the remaining sentence, failing which the trial court will take appropriate steps for compliance.

24. The lower court record along with copy of the judgement shall be transmitted to the trial court immediately.

(A) Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 – Sections 161 & 313, - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 201 & 302 - Jail Appeal – against conviction and sentenced – Offence of Murder – - circumstantial evidence - it is well settled law that onus to established that the chain of events pointing only to the hypothesis of guilt of accused rests upon the prosecution - only two witnesses were examined to support the story of prosecution and both are consistent with regards to the incident of previous night in which accused had a fight with his wife - inconsistency in the St.ment of prosecution witnesses about manner of offence, time, source of knowledge of incident, recovery of body etc. remains unanswered - thus, possibility of existence of an alternative hypothesis cannot be ruled out - mere suspicion, howsoever strong, cannot be a ground for conviction of the accused in absence of cogent evidence beyond the reasonable doubt - prosecution version is not rendered unreliable on such ground - court held that, prosecution failed to prove the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt - consequently appeal succeeds and is allowed. 1. This jail appeal arises out of a judgment of conviction and sentence passed by the Special Judge, S.C./S.T. Act, Mirzapur in Session Trial No.276 of 2001, dated 09.09.2002, whereby the appellant Suresh Viyar has been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC with a fine of Rs. 1,000/- and in default thereof to undergo fifteen days additional imprisonment. The appellant has also been convicted and sentenced to one year rigorous imprisonment under Section 201 IPC with a fine of Rs. 500/- and in default thereof to undergo seven days additional imprisonment, with the stipulation that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

2. Prosecution case, in brief, is that the first informant Raghuveer Viyar (PW-1) worked in a mining site at Mirzapur and was living in a hutment near Sonpur Pahadi. Other workers resided nearby including accused appellant Suresh Viyar son of Chan Dev. It is alleged that on the eventful night i.e. on 25.02.2001, at about 10.00 PM, the accused appellant Suresh Viyar had a fight with his wife and he also beat her. Being a neighbour of Suresh Viyar, the first informant (PW-1) intervened and objected to the accused beating his wife and also scolded him. This act of PW-1 is stated to have annoyed the accused appellant, who turned inimical. The accused appellant threatened the first informant that he would finish his family.

The first informant, accordingly, asked his son Arjun to sleep that night in the hutment of PW-2 Rameshwar (nephew of PW-1). In the early morning when PW-1 enquired about his son from PW-2 he informed the first informant that Suresh Viyar, Puttu Viyar and Button Viyar came to his hutment armed with knife, iron rod and stone etc. at about 12.00 in the night and took away his son, who was killed by these persons and his dead body has been hidden in a plastic sack and thrown in the Arhar field (red gram) of Shyam Narayan Pandit.

3. A first information report, on the basis of oral report of first informant PW-1, was lodged at 04.40 PM on 26.02.2001 at Police Station Ahraura, District Mirzapur. Distance of the place of occurrence from the police station was 05 kilometers. The Investigating Officer reached the spot and retrieved the dead body from plastic sack and prepared recovery memo (Ex. Ka.14) of dead body; bloodstained plastic bag; bloodstained earth and plain earth. The samples collected were sent for forensic examination. The inquest followed. The inquest witnesses were of the view that the deceased died on account of ante-mortem injuries caused to him and his dead body was packed in a plastic bag and thrown in the agricultural field and that the death is homicidal. The dead body was accordingly sealed and sent for postmortem. Dr. Captain Ashutosh Kumar (PW-5) performed the autopsy on the cadaver. The autopsy doctor opined the cause of death to be asphyxia due to haemorrhage as a result of following ante-mortem injuries:-

"1. A lacerated wound on back of head 1x.5, .5x.5 cm.

2. Multiple contusion injuries variation dimension for an area of 21x16 cm on right side of back upper half.

3. Contusion injury on left side of scapula 10x3 cm.

4. Contusion injury on left side chest, front Neck, face left side. Blue to blackish colour 25x8 cm.

5. An incised wound on neck right side platysma fascia cut elliptical margin clean everted, gapping 6x1"2 cm 2cm below chin.

6. A lacerated wound on chin 1x.5 cm 4 cm below lower lip."

4. Statements under section 161 Cr.P.C. were recorded of first informant, Rameshwar (PW-2) and Gulbadan (PW-3) mining licencee, for whom they worked. In the statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. Gulbadan (PW-3) disclosed that the accused appellant confessed having murdered the deceased and requested him utilize his connections to save him. After concluding the investigation a charge sheet has been filed against the accused appellant Suresh Viyar under Section 302/201 IPC.

5. The concerned Magistrate took cognizance in the matter and committed the offence to the court of sessions, which got registered as Session Trial No.276 of 2001. The Presiding Officer charged the appellant of murdering the son of PW-1. The accused appellant denied the charge and consequently trial commenced.

6. The prosecution in order to establish the charge of murder against accused appellant produced oral testimonies of Raghuveer Viyar PW-1 (first informant), Rameshwar PW-2 and Gulbudon PW-3. PW-3, however, turned hostile during trial. Dr. Captain Ashutosh Kumar appeared as PW-5 and the Investigating Officer has been adduced as PW-6. The scribe of FIR, namely, Constable Ram Naresh Sharma has been adduced as PW-4, who has proved the Chik FIR.

7. PW-1 has supported the prosecution case in his deposition by stating that he was staying next to the hutment of other workers, including Suresh Viyar, and on the preceding night the accused appellant had a fight with his wife at about 10.00 PM when he physically assaulted her. The first informant objected to it and scolded the accused appellant. He has deposed that only for such reason his son has been done to death by the accused appellant. He has also disclosed in his examination-in-chief that a threat was extended by the accused appellant of killing his family and for the fear of life of his son he had asked him to sleep in the hutment of PW-2 Rameshwar. PW-1 also deposed that when he went looking for his son early in the morning he was informed by PW-2 that at about 12.00 in the night Suresh Viyar, Puttu Viyar and Button Viyar came to his hutment armed with knife, iron rod and stone etc. and took away the deceased towards Sonpur Pahadi and thereafter killed him. His dead body was also hidden in a plastic sack and thrown in the field of Shyam Narayan Pandit. PW-1 further deposed that he tried to look for his son but could not trace him and even the accused persons were not present in their hutments. PW-1 claims to have given oral intimation of the incident to the police and that his report was scribed by the concerned Sub Inspector on the basis of facts narrated by him. The written report was also read out to the informant who affixed his thumb impression upon it. Copy of the Chik FIR was also given to the first informant. He has also stated that the place where the dead body was found has been shown to the concerned Investigating Officer, who had also drawn a site plan on his instructions.

In the examination-in-chief PW-1 has clearly stated that when he went towards Sonpur Pahadi looking for his son he found the body of his son lying in a plastic sack in the field of Shyam Narayan Pandit whereafter he lodged the report at the police station. He also disclosed that the Investigating Officer reached on the spot thereafter and retrieved the body from the plastic sack whereafter inquest report was prepared.

8. PW-2 is the nephew of PW-1 and has also supported the prosecution story about the incident of 10.00 PM in which accused appellant beat his wife and was objected to by the first informant. He has stated that because of threat extended to PW-1 he sent deceased to sleep in his hutment. He also deposed that at about 12.00 in the night Suresh armed with knife, Puttu armed with iron rod and Putton armed with stone (patthar thoka) came to his hutment and took the deceased and while returning were discussing that the boy be done to death and out fear he did not object and kept lying. He has also stated that for such reason it is only the accused persons who have killed the deceased and have hidden the body in a plastic sack in the agricultural field of Shyam Narayan Pandit. He has also deposed that he has seen injury on the neck of the deceased.

9. PW-3 has also appeared as prosecution witness who was confronted with his statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. that accused appellant had admitted his guilt before him but he has denied having given such statement to police and has turned hostile.

10. Documentary evidences have also been adduced by the prosecution consisting of FIR; statements recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. as Ex.Ka. 16; recovery memo of blood stained, plain earth and blood stained plastic sack as Ex. Ka. 14; postmortem report Ex.Ka. 3; laboratory Report as Ex. Ka. 18, inquest report as Ex. Ka.4; and charge sheet as Ex. Ka.1.

11. On the basis of oral and documentary evidence, thus adduced, the trial court has found the accused appellant guilty of murdering the deceased beyond reasonable doubt, and has consequently convicted him.

12. Aggrieved by the judgement of conviction and sentence the accused appellant has preferred this appeal from jail. The accused appellant has been enlarged on bail during pendency of appeal. Since none had appeared for the appellant previously, this Court had appointed Sri Ankur Singh Kushwaha as Amicus Curiae, who has argued this jail appeal on behalf of the accused appellant.

13. Learned Amicus Curiae for the accused appellant states that prosecution has not been able to establish the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt, inasmuch as chain of events required in a case of circumstantial evidence has not been proved pointing only to the hypothesis of guilt of accused and that inconsistencies in the statement of two witnesses of fact, namely PW-1 and PW-2, have been overlooked. He further argues that the case setup by the prosecution witnesses is self-contradictory and

14. Learned Amicus has placed the statement of PW-1 and PW-2 to submit that they are consistent on the factual aspect that the accused appellant also accompanied PW-1 and PW-2 to the police station for lodging the report, where accused appellant was detained and challaned, but, on the contrary the Investigating Officer has not shown the presence of accused appellant alongwith PW-1 and PW-2 at the time of lodging of the FIR. Instead, the accused appellant is shown to have been arrested from Chunar after two days i.e. on 28.02.2001.

15. It is also argued that the FIR is anti-timed since PW-1 and PW-2 in their statement claim to have lodged report in the morning itself, whereafter the Investigating Officer came on the spot at about 03.00 PM, but the prosecution case is totally contrary to it. It is also stated that the prosecution story is full of contradictions and the trial court has failed to advert to such omissions which renders the judgement and order of conviction bad in law. It is also argued that there are various cuttings in the inquest report which shows that the timing of the incident has been subsequently changed.

16. Sri Arunendra Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State, per contra, states that the prosecution has established the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt inasmuch as the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 are consistent that the deceased was taken by three accused persons from the hutment of PW-2 at 12.00 in the night and that there is strong motive for the accused appellant to commit the offence. Learned A.G.A. further argues that no credible defence has otherwise been put forth by the accused appellant in his statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. and thus the judgment and order of conviction suffers from no illegality.

17. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have perused the records brought on record. We are required to consider in this jail appeal whether the prosecution has succeeded in establishing guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt, on the basis of circumstantial evidence adduced, and the chain of event points exclusively to the hypothesis of guilt attributed to the accused appellant?

18. The charge against the accused appellant under section 302/201 IPC is sought to be established by the prosecution on the basis of circumstantial evidence. There is no eye witness who has otherwise seen the occurrence of murder.

19. Motive for the offence assumes importance in a case of circumstantial evidence. According to prosecution, it was the incident of preceding night when accused appellant beat his wife after a fight and was objected to by the first informant on account of which the accused appellant became inimical to him. PW-1 for the safety of his son accordingly asked the deceased to spend the night in the hutment of PW-2. It is then asserted by the prosecution that the accused appellant alongwith two other accomplice came to the hutment of PW-2 at 12.00 in the night and took away the deceased from the hutment of PW-2, who did not raise an alarm as the accused persons were armed with knife, iron rod and stone etc. and informed of it to PW-1 in the morning, when PW-1 enquired about his son.

20. PW-1 in his cross-examination has stated that he knew the three accused (including the accused appellant) all of whom were working with him in the mining site of PW-3 Gulbadan.

21. In the morning of 26.02.2001 PW-1 enquired about his son, from PW-2, before sunrise and received information about disappearance of his son from PW-2 at 05.00 AM. PW-2 also informed PW-1 that he was terrified at seeing the accused persons armed with knife etc. and, therefore, did not raise an alarm when they took away the son of PW-1, and later killed him and have hidden the dead body in a sack in the agricultural field of Shyam Narayan Pandit.

22. PW-1 further claims that he and PW-2 searched the deceased and reported the incident to police 2-3 hours later.

23. The prosecution story, however, is different on this count. As per the prosecution witness PW-6 (Investigating Officer) the information about the offence was received at police station at 04.40 PM only and not before it. PW-1, however, claims to have lodged the report 2-3 hours after getting information of crime from PW-2 at 05.00 AM. The approximate time for lodging report with police as per PW-1 would thus work out to 7-8 AM. The anomaly with regard to time of lodging of report with the police is not explained, nor is dealt with by the court below.

24. The statement of PW-1, in this regard, is extracted hereinafter:-

"घटना स्थल से थाना 5-6 किलोमीटर की दूरी पर है। रमेसर के बताने के बाद करीब 2-3 घन्टे के बाद मैं थाने पर पहुँचा। जिस समय रमेसर अर्जुन के बारे में बताये उस समय सुबह 5 बज रहा था। सुरेश वियार भी मेरे साथ थाने गये थे। थाने जाकर रपट बोलकर लिखवाये। रपट के बाद सुरेश वियार को दरोगा जी ने चलान कर दिया था। रपट दरोगा जी ने लिखा था। मैं दीवान जी बोला तब दीवान जी रपट लिखे थे। रपट करने के उल्टीया टाइम शाम को 4 बजे के लगभग दरोगा जी पहुँचे थे।"

25. PW-1 and PW-2, moreover, have stated categorically in their statement that accused appellant Suresh Viyar also accompanied them to police station for lodging the FIR, where he was challaned by the police. This statement of PW-1 and PW-2, who are the only witnesses of fact remains unexplained by the prosecution.

26. The deposition of prosecution witnesses PW-1 and PW-2 about accused appellant accompanying them to the police station, for lodging the report also contradicts the prosecution version, inasmuch as PW-1 was already informed by PW-2, by then, that the deceased was taken by accused appellant; and killed; and his dead body was hidden in the agricultural field of Shyam Narayan Pandit. There was thus no occasion for PW-1 and PW-2 to take the accused appellant with them to the police station for lodging the report. Statement of PW-2, in this regard, is extracted hereinafter:-

"मैंने रघुवीर से बताया था कि आपके लडके को मुलजिमान उठा ले गये हैं। यह मैंने सुबह बताया था। मैंने 6 बजे सुबह बताया था। जिस समय मैंने बताया उस समय अभियुक्त सुरेश वियार अपने डेरे में था। वहां से हम लोग यह बात बताने के लिये थाने गया। मेरे डेरे से थाना एक कोस की दूरी पर है। हम लोग पैदल थाने गये। सुरेश वियार भी साथ में थाने गया था। थाने जब सुरेश वियार गये तब दरोगा जी ने पकड लिया थाने जाने में आधा घण्टा लगा था। मैं अर्जुन को मुल्जिम द्वारा मारते हुये नहीं देखा था। टांग कर ले जाते देखा था। मैं डर के मारे को सो गया था। इस वाक्या को मैंने केवल रघुवीर वियार से बताया था और किसी से नहीं बताया था। रात में ले गये तो मारेगे कौन।"

27. A question also arises as to why accused appellant would accompany PW-1 and PW-2 to police station for lodging the report when he has himself taken the deceased from the hutment of PW-2, in his presence, for murdering him. It is difficult to conceive as to why would an accused go to police station for lodging report of a crime committed by him, particularly when he knows that his complicity in the crime is known to PW-1 and PW-2. This clearly puts a serious doubt on the prosecution story.

28. There is also a clear contradiction in the stand of prosecution witnesses as to when was the dead body seen first, and by whom?

29. PW-1 claims to have received information from PW-2 about accused persons murdering his son and hiding his dead body in the agricultural field of Shyam Narayan Pandit whereas in his cross-examination, PW-2, to the contrary, has stated that he had not seen the dead body in the field of Shyam Narayan Pandit and he could thus not have shown the dead body and he had also not accompanied PW-1 for searching the dead body. He has clearly stated that he saw the dead body only at 03.00 PM and then taken PW-1 to the place of dead body.

30. It remains unexplained as to how PW-2 came to know at 05.00 AM in the morning that the deceased was already killed by accused appellant and his dead body was hidden in the agricultural field of Shyam Narayan Pandit when he saw the dead body only at 03.00 PM?

31. PW-2 has otherwise stated clearly that he had not seen the killing of deceased and, therefore, a question arises as to how he could know about the murder and place where dead body was hidden early in the morning at 05.00 AM?

32. The testimony of PW-2 is otherwise shaky when he states that accused persons took away the son of PW-1 from his hutment at 12.00 in the night and due to fear he did not raise an alarm. This is so as PW-2 had his hutment near the cluster of hutments belonging to other mining workers and there is no reason why PW-2 could not raise an alarm when the deceased was being taken or soon after the accused appellant left and why he waited the entire night before informing PW-1 about the incident that occurred at 12.00 in the night.

33. According to the statement of prosecution witnesses as also the site plan the workers engaged in the mining site were living in adjoining hutments and the deposition of PW-2 that he did not inform any of the neighbours about such a serious incident also raises a doubt.

34. In a case of circumstantial evidence it is by now well settled that onus to establish that the chain of events pointing only to the hypothesis of guilt of accused rests upon the prosecution. The prosecution is also expected to prove that no other hypothesis is available and that the evidence adduced is such that it leads to only one hypothesis i.e. guilt of accused.

35. Law with regard to the principles to be followed for conviction in a case of circumstantial evidence has been summed up by the Supreme Court in Sharad Birdichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116, which has acquired the status of a locus classicus on the issue. The judgment has been followed recently by the Supreme Court in Nagendra Shah vs. State of Bihar, (2021) 10 SCC 725 for applying the five golden principles to observe as under in paragraph 17 of the judgment:-

"17. As the entire case is based on circumstantial evidence, we may make a useful reference to a leading decision of this Court on the subject. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra [Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 487] , in para 153, this Court has laid down five golden principles (Panchsheel) which govern a case based only on circumstantial evidence. Para 153 reads thus : (SCC p. 185)

"153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court inShivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033] wherein the following observations were made : (SCC p. 807, para 19)

"19. ... Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between "may be" and "must be" is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions.'

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

36. It is in the above settled legal position that this Court is required to examine as to whether prosecution has discharged its burden in the facts of the present case of establishing the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt?

37. On facts, there are only two witnesses who have supported the prosecution story i.e. PW-1 and PW-2. Both the witnesses were consistent with regard to the incident of previous night in which accused had a fight with his wife. PW-1 resisted/objected to such conduct of the accused appellant which irritated/annoyed the accused appellant and he extended threat to the family member of PW-1. On account of such threat PW-1 asked his son to sleep in the hutment of PW-2. The deceased accordingly slept in the hutment of PW-2 and upto this stage the version of PW-1 and PW-2 are consistent with each other. The prosecution story thereafter is not consistent and leaves behind many loose ends. Many questions remain unanswered, as has been noticed above.

38. Anomaly in the prosecution version with regard to the time when police was informed of the offence; inconsistency in the statement of prosecution witnesses about the time of lodging of FIR; the source of knowledge to PW-2 about murder of deceased and throwing his body in a plastic sack in the field of Shyam Narayan Pandit early in the morning; who had seen/spotted the dead body and when; conduct of accused appellant in accompanying PW-1 and PW-2 to police station for lodging the report knowing well that his guilt is known to them; inconsistency in the stand of PW-1 and PW-2 about the time when dead body was found etc. etc. remains unanswered. Possibility of existence of an alternative hypothesis thus cannot be ruled out and it cannot be said that chain of events lead only to hypothesis of guilt on part of accused appellant.

39. Trial court while holding the prosecution to have proved the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt has not noticed the anomalies, referred to above, in the prosecution story. Rather, the trial court has brushed aside such issues by observing that the prosecution version is not rendered unreliable on such grounds.

40. In view of the aforesaid discussions we find ourselves unable to accept the view taken by the trial court that the prosecution has succeeded in proving the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of circumstantial evidence placed on record by the prosecution and that the chain of events leads only to hypothesis of guilt of accused appellant. It is, otherwise, settled that mere suspicion, howsoever strong, cannot be a ground for convicting the accused in the absence of cogent evidence pointing to the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

41. We, therefore, have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The accused appellant is thus held entitled to the benefit of doubt and consequently, this appeal succeeds.

42. Accordingly, this appeal succeeds and is allowed. Conviction and sentence of the appellant Suresh Viyar, vide impugned judgment and order dated 09.09.2002, passed by the Special Judge, S.C./S.T. Act, Mirzapur in Session Trial No.276 of 2001, under Sections 302, 201 IPC arising out Case Crime No.13 of 2001, Police Station Ahraura, District Mirzapur is hereby set aside. Appellant is acquitted of the charges noticed above. Since the appellant has been enlarged on bail on 25.10.2016 as such his sureties and bonds shall stand discharged.

43. Learned Amicus Curiae has ably assisted the Court in deciding the appeal and we fix a sum of Rs.15,000/- as remuneration payable to him by the High court Legal Service Authority.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellants against the judgment and order dated 03.05.1990 passed by Special Judge, Unnao in Sessions Trial No.602 of 1985 (State vs. Mahesh and Others) arising out of Case Crime No.183 of 1985, under Sections 302/34, 307/34 of the Indian Penal Code, (in short I.P.C.), Police Station Fatehpur Chaurasi, District Unnao and Sessions Trial No.67 of 1985 (State vs. Santosh) arising out of Case Crime No.184 of 1985, under Sections 25/27 of Arms Act, Police Station Fatehpur Chaurasi, District Unnao.

2. The appellant No.1 Mahesh died during the pendency of the appeal and his appeal was abated vide order dated 04.04.2022, now this appeal survives only for the appellants Santosh and Ashok.

3. Shorn of unnecessary details, the facts necessary for disposal of this appeal are as under:-

A First Information Report (in short F.I.R.) was registered at Case Crime No.183 of 1985 on 03.11.1985 at 22:30 hours at Police Station Fatehpur Chaurasi, District Unnao on the basis of written report submitted by the complainant Ganga Ram. It was stated in the written report that on 03.11.1985 at about 3 O'Clock during the day, the complainant and his uncle Dayal were standing at front door of their house. His uncle Dayal came back after ploughing his field. Mahesh, Santosh and Ashok came there and said to Dayal that he (Dayal) had ploughed the boundary of their field. On this his uncle Dayal replied that he did not plough over their boundary and if they had any doubt then they can get it measured. Adjoining to the field of the complainant there is a field of Devi Charan and these people (accused persons) were ploughing the field of Devi Charan and they were complaining about the boundary of the same field. Thereafter these persons asked to accompany them to the field. On this the complainant and his uncle Dayal accompanied these persons to the field and all were inspecting the boundary. At the same time, these people started hurling abuses, and the complainant and people of his side also hurled abuses as a retort. Then Mahesh, Ashok and Santosh left the place challenging them (complainant' side) to wait and they (accused) would come back and see them. Saying this they started running towards their village. After sometime, at about 4 O'Clock Mahesh, Ashok and Santosh armed with country made short-guns came there and all the three persons fired upon them (complainant and his uncle). The pellets of those fires hit the complainant and wife of one Bihari who was working in her field nearby. His uncle Dayal lied down in the field and when they raised alarm and the villagers heard the sound of firing, then to save them the mother of the complainant Sukhrani, Bahadur, Jiya Lal, Lallu Mallah, Shyam Lal Gadariya and nephew of the complainant namely Rakesh, aged about 6 years, rushed to the spot. As soon as they all reached near the complainant the accused persons fired upon them also 6-7 times with the intention to kill them. They all suffered pellet-injuries. Many persons came there raising noise on which the accused persons ran away. The condition of the mother of the complainant was serious so he was carrying her and also other injured persons on two bullock-carts for treatment but his mother died on the way. He reached the police station with the dead body and other injured persons for lodging the F.I.R.

4. After investigation, charge sheet was submitted against Mahesh, Santosh and Ashok. The Magistrate concerned took cognizance and committed the case for trial to the Sessions Court. The Sessions Court framed the charges against all the three accused persons under Sections 302/34 and 307/34 of I.P.C. All the accused persons denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

5. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 15 witnesses which are as under:-

7. After completion of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short Cr.P.C.) wherein all the three accused persons denied the crime and stated that witnesses have deposed falsely. The police has submitted the charge sheet wrongly. The case was registered due to enmity and also stated that a dacoity took place in the house of Ganga Ram and therein all the injured persons suffered injuries and they (accused persons) have been falsely implicated due to enmity. The accused persons did not produce any witnesses in defence though opportunity was given by the trial court, however, the accused persons filed some documents in their defence. These documents are mainly related to the Court pleadings, judgments, orders etc. and have been filed to show previous enmity between the parties.

8. After hearing arguments of both the sides the learned trial court on the basis of evidence available on record found the witnesses of facts reliable. The weapon of offence was recovered on the pointing out of the accused persons. The empty cartridges recovered from the place of occurrence were found fired from the weapons recovered, in the ballistic test report. The learned trial court came to the conclusion that the accused persons fired upon Sukhrani as a result she died and assaulted other injured persons with the intention to kill them and found them (accused persons) guilty under Sections 302/34 and 307/34 of I.P.C. sentencing them under Section 302/34 I.P.C. with imprisonment for life coupled with a fine of Rs.500/- each and in default of payment of fine additional imprisonment of 3 months each. The learned trial court sentenced the accused persons under Sections 307/34 I.P.C. with rigorous imprisonment of 5 years coupled with a fine of Rs.300 each and in default of payment of fine further imprisonment of 3 months each. Being aggrieved of the above conviction and sentence, this appeal has been preferred.

9. Heard Shri Brij Mohan Sahai, learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Chandra Shekhar Pandey, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State-respondent.

10. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that the appellants have falsely been implicated in the crime due to enmity and they are innocent. There was no motive to commit the crime. The evidence of witnesses of facts is not trustworthy as there are contradictions in their evidence. The injuries suffered by the deceased were not of serious nature nor fatal. According to post mortem examination report the injuries were sustained before 12 hours of post mortem examination. The firearm injury is of pellets. Verbal abuses took place from both the sides and the incident occurred in a heat of passion. Therefore, the offence is attributable only under Section 304 of I.P.C. The learned counsel also argued that all the three accused persons also sustained injuries in the incident but their report was not registered. The learned counsel drew attention of the Court towards the General Diary wherein the entry of there injuries was made. Learned counsel further submitted that the trial court has disbelieved the recovery of weapon of offence and acquitted the accused of the charges under Sections 25/27 of Arms Act but convicted and sentence the appellants under Sections 302/34 and 307/34 of I.P.C. which is erroneous and liable to be set aside.

11. Contrary to it, learned A.G.A. submitted that in the incident, the mother of the complainant died and seven persons were injured. The death of Sukhrani and the injuries suffered by the injured persons have been proved. The complainant also suffered injuries. The injured persons have proved the incident, their presence at the spot cannot be doubted as they are injured witnesses. No major contradiction in the statements of witnesses of facts has been found. The learned trial court has considered and analyzed the evidence of witnesses in a right perspective and punished the accused persons accordingly. The prosecution has proved its case beyond all reasonable doubt. Hence the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

12. Considered the arguments of both the sides and perused the original record of trial court as well as the record of appeal.

13. In the present matter, the complainant Ganga Ram who also brought persons injured in the incident, to lodge the report, has lodged the report wherein he stated that on 03.11.1985 at about 3 O'Clock in the day, the complainant and his uncle Dayal were standing at the front door of their house. His uncle Dayal came back after ploughing his field. Mahesh, Santosh and Ashok came there and said to Dayal that he ploughed the boundary of their field. His uncle Dayal denied any such act and suggested the appellants that if there was any doubt then the field could be measured, then all the three appellants and the complainant and his uncle went to the field to inspect the boundary of the field. On the spot, the appellants started hurling abuses on the complainant's side, as a retort the complainant also hurled abuses. Thereafter, the appellants left the place having told the complainant's side to wait at the spot, they were coming and would teach them a lesson. Thereafter at about 4 O'Clock all the three appellants, armed with country made short-guns, reached there and started firing upon the complainant and his uncle. The pellets of those fires hit the complainant and Sitala, the wife of Bihari.

His uncle lied down in the field to save himself. The complainant raised alarm. Hearing the sound of firing, the mother of the complainant, namely Sukhrani, Bahadur, Jiya Lal, Lallu, Shyam Lal Gadariya and the nephew of the complainant, namely Rakesh, aged about 6 years, came there running. When they all reached near the complainant, the appellants fired upon them also, 6-7 times with the intention to kill them. They all suffered injuries. Thereafter, many persons reached at the spot hearing the noise and the accused persons fled away. The mother of the complainant got seriously injured. The complainant arranged two bullock-carts and carried his mother and other injured persons for treatment by the bullock-carts but his mother Sukhrani died while on way to the hospital.

14. In this incident one Sukhrani died, Smt. Sitala, Shyam Lal, Rakesh (nephew of the complainant aged about 6 years), Ganga Ram, Lallu, Shri Bahadur, Jiya Lal, in total 7 persons sustained injuries. This is a day light incident and the injured persons have deposed in the Court to prove the incident. The complainant has been examined as P.W.1, he has narrated the incident step by step before the trial court. A lengthy cross-examination has been made but nothing adverse could be brought by the defence counsel. In his (complainant) examination-in-chief he has proved all the facts written in his First Information Report about the incident. P.W.2- Shyam Lal was also injured in the incident. He reached at the spot after hearing the sound of firing and noises. He has stated in the Court that when he heard the sound of fire and noise then he rushed towards the field of Dayal. Sukhrani, Lallu, Bahadur and Jiya Lal also reached there with him and he saw that Mahesh, Santosh and Ashok, who were present in the court, were standing with short-guns in their hands and Ganga Ram and Sitala were lying on the ground, in pain.

15. In the case in hand, one person died and 7 sustained firearm injuries. The feud ensued on the alleged damage caused to a boundary of field, which was in possession of/ploughed by the miscreants. The incident has very well been proved by the witnesses of facts i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 who sustained injuries in the incident, corroborated by the medical evidence. The eye witnesses have sustained firearm injuries in the incident, hence their presence on the spot cannot be doubted. The complainant has been examined as P.W.1, who also sustained injuries in the incident along with the others, has narrated the incident before the trial court step by step i.e. how the feud ensued and culminated into death of Sukhrani (the mother of the complainant) and injuries to 7 others. Lengthy cross-examinations have been made of the witnesses produced to prove the fact but no major contradictions could be brought in their cross-examinations.

16. The learned counsel for the appellants argued that the incident occurred in a heat of passion without any premeditation, due to sudden provocation as the complainant himself has stated in his written report that the complainant's side also hurled abuses on the accused persons. Thus the incident occurred in the spur of moment in a heat of passion, in such situation the offence can travel at the most to the offence punishable under Section 304 I.P.C. and not under Section 302 I.P.C.

This argument of learned counsel for the appellants has been countered by the learned A.G.A. by submitting that the incident did not take place at the spur of moment in a heat of passion. The appellants after exchange of abuses went to there houses and returned at the place of occurrence with the intention to kill them (complainant's side). Dayal lied down in the field in order to save himself but the complainant and one Sitala who was working in her field nearby, sustained injuries. When Sukhrani the mother of the complainant and others rushed at the spot after hearing the sounds of firing, the appellants also fired upon them. One of the fires hit Sukhrani (the deceased) and she died, while other sustained injuries. Hence this offence cannot be constrained to the offence punishable under Section 304 I.P.C. It is a clear case of murder i.e. offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. and of offence punishable under Section 307 I.P.C. read with Section 34 of I.P.C.

17. In this regard it will be proper to have a look at Exception 4 to Section 300 of I.P.C. This runs as under:-

"Exception 4.- Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

Explanation.- It is immaterial in such cases which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault."

The perusal of this exception shows that for getting the benefit of this exception four essentials must be established which are as under:-

(i) A Sudden fight;

(ii) The fight was without premeditation;

(iii) the act was done in a heat of passion and

(iv) the person who committed the act had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner.

All the above requisites must co-exist. If these conditions are established then the cause of quarrel is immaterial. It is also not relevant who gave provocation or who started feud or assaulted first. The incident must have occurred in heat of passion and in unpremeditated manner or to say the offender should have acted in a fit of wrath. In a heat of passion a person looses power of thinking reasonably as faculty of reasons is clouded by extreme anger and he or she acts in a manner he/she would not act otherwise. In other words the wrong act is committed during intense emotional stage induced by displeasure or loss of self control as a result of an act not liked by the person.

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court recently in the case State of Uttarakhand vs. Sachendra Singh Rawat (2022) 4 SCC 227 has explained the relevant provision quoting as follows:-

"9. In Dhirajbhai Gorakhbhai Nayak [Dhirajbhai Gorakhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, (2003) 9 SCC 322 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1809] , on applicability of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC, it was observed and held in para 11 as under : (SCC pp. 327-28)

"11. The Fourth Exception of Section 300 IPC covers acts done in a sudden fight. The said Exception deals with a case of prosecution (sic provocation) not covered by the first exception, after which its place would have been more appropriate. The Exception is founded upon the same principle, for in both there is absence of premeditation. But, while in the case of Exception 1 there is total deprivation of self-control, in case of Exception 4, there is only that heat of passion which clouds men's sober reason and urges them to deeds which they would not otherwise do. There is provocation in Exception 4 as in Exception 1, but the injury done is not the direct consequence of that provocation. In fact, Exception 4 deals with cases in which notwithstanding that a blow may have been struck, or some provocation given in the origin of the dispute or in whatever way the quarrel may have originated, yet the subsequent conduct of both parties puts them in respect of guilt upon an equal footing. A "sudden fight" implies mutual provocation and blows on each side. The homicide committed is then clearly not traceable to unilateral provocation, nor could in such cases the whole blame be placed on one side. For if it were so, the Exception more appropriately applicable would be Exception 1. There is no previous deliberation or determination to fight. A fight suddenly takes place, for which both parties are more or less to be blamed. It may be that one of them starts it, but if the other had not aggravated it by his own conduct it would not have taken the serious turn it did. There is then mutual provocation and aggravation, and it is difficult to apportion the share of blame which attaches to each fighter. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused : (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the "fight" occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in IPC. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The expression "undue advantage" as used in the provision means "unfair advantage"."

10. In Pulicherla Nagaraju [Pulicherla Nagaraju v. State of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 444 : (2007) 1 SCC (Cri) 500] , this Court had an occasion to consider the case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and the intention to cause death. It was observed and held by this Court that the intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances:

(i) nature of the weapon used;

(ii) whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot;

(iii) whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body;

(iv) the amount of force employed in causing injury;

(v) whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free-for-all fight;

(vi) whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any premeditation;

(vii) whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger;

(viii) whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation;

(ix) whether it was in the heat of passion;

(x) whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner;

(xi) whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows."

20. In Jangaliya and Others vs. State of U.P. 2022 SCC OnLine All 356, the Hon'ble Allahabad High Court has also observed as under:-

"42. Now, we shall examine the applicability of Exception 4. The ingredients for applicability of Exception 4 are : (i) there must be a sudden fight; (ii) there was no pre-meditation; (iii) the act was committed in heat of passion; and (iv) the assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. If the said ingredients are present, the cause of quarrel would not be material as to who offered the provocation or started the fight. Although the term fight has not been defined in IPC but the consistent view is that it implies mutual assault by use of criminal force and not mere verbal duel. In Bhagwan Munjaji Pawade v. State of Maharashtra, (1978) 3 SCC 330 (Para 6), it was observed that where the accused is armed and the deceased is unarmed, Exception 2 can have no application and Exception 4 to Section 300 would not apply if there is sudden quarrel but no sudden fight between the deceased and the accused. It was held that "Fight' postulates a bilateral transaction in which blows are exchanged."

21. Now we have to examine the present case in this light. In the present case, the feud ensued for the reason of alleged damage to the boundary of the field of the accused. At that time both the parties hurled abuses on each other as is clear from the written report itself. Thereafter, the appellants left the spot and went to their house challenging the complainant and his uncle Dayal to wait at the place and they would come back. After some time i.e. at 4 O'Clock they (accused persons) again reached at the spot armed with deadly weapons and assaulted the complainant's side with firearms. This act of the appellants cannot be termed as the act committed in a heat of passion or fit of anger. These appellants reached the spot armed with deadly weapons together, which means they came with a planning to kill the complainant and his uncle Dayal but the mother of the complainant along with other reached at the spot. The appellants also fired upon her with intention to kill her and she died of that injury and any other person who came ahead got injured. All these facts and circumstances make it crystal clear that the incident was not committed in a sudden fight in a heat of passion and without premeditation. Hence this argument of the learned counsel for the appellants has no force.

22. The post-mortem examination report of the deceased Sukhrani shows that following ante-mortem injuries were found on her person:-

"1. Multiple firearm injuries over the front part of chest, ... left thigh upper 1/3 also on lateral side and front part of Rt thigh ...;

2. Firearm injuries (Two) on medial side of Rt elbow joint;

3. One Firearm injury on Lt side of chest at the ... of 6th intercostal space in mid axillary line;

4. One Firearm injury on lower border of Rt eye socket.

Laceration of intercostal muscle of Rt 3rd, 4th & 6th Lt 3rd, 4th & 8th was found. Lungs (both) were found ruptured and semi clotted blood was present in both chest cavities. The amount was 300 ml. Small intestine loops, liver, spleen were found lacerated and semi clotted blood was present in abdominal cavity. The amount was 400 ml.

The cause of death as noted in the post-mortem examination report is "shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries.""

The injury-reports of others including a 6 year old child show that they all sustained firearm injuries. The facts and evidences available on record very well establish beyond reasonable doubt that this incident was not committed in a sudden fight, in a heat of passion and without premeditation. The evidence on record establishes that the feud ensued over the alleged damage to the boundary of the field and after exchange of abuses, the appellants went to their house and came back with planning, armed with firearm weapons, and fired upon the persons of complainant's side with the intention to kill them wherein Sukhrani the mother of the complainant died and 7 others persons got injured.

23. The learned counsel for the appellants also argued that the appellants also suffered injuries in the incident and that was noted in the General Diary Entry No.27. Hence it should be considered that they caused the injuries to the other side while defending themselves.

This argument of learned counsel for the appellants is also not sustainable because no such question has been put to any witness nor has been stated in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In the statement recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. the appellants have taken the defence that some dacoity occurred in the house of Ganga Ram and there the injured persons suffered injuries. Further more they have not put any question to the witnesses examined as to give them the opportunity to explain the injuries on the person of the appellants.

24. Learned counsel for the appellants further argued that the recovery of weapon of offence has been disbelieved by the learned trial court but the conviction has been made for the offence under Sections 302 and 307 I.P.C. read with Section 34 of I.P.C. He further submitted that once the recovery of weapon has been disbelieved then the offence itself cannot be deemed proved.

This argument of the counsel for the appellants is also not acceptable because where there is direct evidence of the offence then recovery of the weapon of offence is not necessary. In the present matter there is direct evidence of the crime, the witnesses have sustained injuries in the incident which is corroborated by the medical evidence. Hence this appeal has no merits and deserves to be dismissed.

25. Accordingly, the present criminal appeal is hereby dismissed. The impugned judgment and order dated 03.05.1990 is confirmed.

26. The appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds are canceled and sureties discharged. They are ordered to surrender before the trial court within two weeks from today to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court failing which the trial court is directed to get them arrested and sent to jail.

27. Office is directed to send a copy of this order along with lower court record to the trial court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. The Criminal Appeal No.435 of 2016 (Deepak Kumar Yadav vs. State of U.P.) has been filed by the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav and the Criminal Appeal No.407 of 2016 (Arvind Kumar Maurya vs. State of U.P.) has been filed by convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya against the judgment and order dated 29.02.2016 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.5, Faizabad in Sessions Trial No.25 of 2014, under Sections 302/34 and 201 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short I.P.C.) arising out of Case Crime No.338 of 2013, Police Station Kotwali Rudauli, District Faizabad.

2. The facts shorn of unnecessary details are as under:-

A First Information Report (in short F.I.R.) was registered at Case Crime No.338 of 2013, under Section 363 I.P.C. on 10.11.2013 at Police Station Rudauli, District Faizabad on the basis of the written report presented by Mihi Lal wherein, he stated that his elder son, Anil Kumar, aged about 18 years, went somewhere on 02.11.2013 around 08:00 P.M. Since then his whereabouts are unknown. The complainant searched for him (Anil Kumar) at his relatives' places but no information could be found. His son had a mobile No.7388080774 which was switched off.

3. The above noted information given by the complainant was entered in General Diary at No.19, at 12:40 hours and thereafter a case was registered at Case Crime No.338 of 2013, under Section 363 of I.P.C. and the Investigating Officer went to the spot, prepared the site plan, recorded the statements of witnesses, prepared the inquest report and sent the dead body for post mortem examination and after completing the investigation submitted the charge sheet against accused persons Deepak Kumar Yadav and Arvind Kumar Maurya, under Sections 302 and 201 of I.P.C.

4. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Faizabad took cognizance of the matter and committed the case to the court of Sessions for trial. The court of Sessions framed charges under Sections 302/34 and 201 of I.P.C. against both the accused persons. They both denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

5. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined the following witnesses:-

(i) P.W.1- Mihi Lal, the complainant;

(ii) P.W.2- Jokhawati, sister-in-law of the complainant (Bhabhi);

(iii) P.W.3- Moti Lal, witness of inquest (Panch);

(iv) P.W.4- Dr. Vipin Kumar, who conducted the autopsy of the deceased;

(v) P.W.5- Mr. Vijay Bahadur Singh, Sub-Inspector, who investigated the case;

(vi) C.W.1- Sub-Inspector Vijay Bahadur Singh, who proved the carbon copy of General Diary.

6. Apart from the above oral evidences, relevant documents have also been proved by the prosecution which are as under:-

(i) Exhibit Ka-1 - Written report;

(ii) Exhibit Ka-2- Inquest report;

(iii) Exhibit Ka-3 - Post mortem examination report;

(iv) Exhibit Ka-4 - Recovery memo;

(v) Exhibit Ka-5 - Police form No.13;

(vi) Exhibit Ka-6 - Specimen Seal;

(vii) Exhibit Ka-7 - Police form No.379;

(viii) Exhibit Ka-8 - Letter to Reserve Inspector of Police for post mortem;

(ix) Exhibit Ka-9 - Letter to C.M.O. for conducting post mortem;

(x) Exhibit Ka-9A - (As Exhibit Ka-9 has been marked at 2 pages so this is referred as Exhibit Ka-9A) Entry in relevant General Diary;

(xi) Exhibit Ka-10 - Site plan of the place of recovery of dead body;

(xii) Exhibit Ka-11 - Site plan of the place where accused persons killed the deceased;

(xiii) Exhibit Ka-12 - Charge sheet;

(xiv) Exhibit Ka-13 - General Diary related to entry about the missing report of the deceased given by complainant;

(xv) Exhibit Ka-14 - Carbon copy of the General Diary having entry regarding alteration after recovery of the dead body and

(xvi) Exhibit Ka-15 - Carbon copy of the General Diary regarding the articles recovered related to the crime.

7. After close of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the convicts/appellants were recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short Cr.P.C.). Both the convicts/appellants denied the crime and related proceedings and stated that all the Exhibits have been prepared falsely at the concerned police station. The witnesses have deposed falsely due to enmity. The convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya has further stated that the complainant and Moti Lal who lost the election of Pradhan are from the same family and the convict/appellant belongs to the family of Village Pradhan Sudama. He has been implicated due to enmity of election. The convicts/appellants did not produce any evidence in defence though opportunity was provided by the learned trial court.

8. The learned trial court after hearing the arguments of both the sides and analyzing the evidence on record, found the evidence of P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W.5 trustworthy and concluded that the prosecution has proved that the deceased left the house on 02.11.2013 and when after all attempts, the whereabouts of the deceased could not be known, the missing report was recorded. On the basis of this information, the Investigating Officer went to the Village of Shesh Kumari but her house was found locked. Thereafter accused Deepak Kumar Yadav was arrested on account of this information. He disclosed that Arvind Kumar Maurya was also with him while committing the crime and they killed the deceased and threw the dead body in a well. The learned trial court has further noted that the dead body of deceased Anil Kumar was recovered from one well and the bicycle by which the deceased went, from another, at the pointing out of accused Deepak Kumar Yadav. The post mortem examination report proved that the deceased died due to ante-mortem throttling. The learned trial court came to the conclusion that all these circumstances indicate that the convicts/ appellants Deepak Kumar Yadav and Arvind Kumar Maurya killed the deceased Anil Kumar and threw his dead body in a well. The learned trial court has also held that there is nothing on the record to show that the complainant has falsely implicated the convicts/appellants. The learned trial court held that the prosecution has proved the charges framed against the convicts/appellants beyond reasonable doubt and held them guilty under Sections 302/34 and 201 of I.P.C. The convicts/appellants were sentenced under Section 302 read with Section 34 of I.P.C. with life imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.10,000/- each and in default of payment of fine further imprisonment of 5 months each. Both the convicts/appellants have further been sentenced under Section 201 I.P.C. with imprisonment of 7 years coupled with a fine of Rs.3,000/- each and in default of payment of fine further imprisonment of 2 months each. Being aggrieved of this conviction and sentence, the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav filed Criminal Appeal No.435 of 2016 and convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya filed Criminal Appeal No.407 of 2016.

9. Heard Shri Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for the appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav and Shri Amit Chaudhary, learned counsel for the appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya and Shri Umesh Chandra Verma, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State-respondent. Shri Firoz Ahmad Khan, learned counsel for the complainant did not appear to argue the appeals.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav argued that there is inordinate delay in lodging the F.I.R. The F.I.R. is ante-dated and ante-timed. The scribe of F.I.R., Ram Pyare Lal Head Constable of Police has not been produced by the prosecution in the witness box. No motive has been established by the prosecution against the convict/appellant to commit the crime. The convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav was allegedly arrested on 12.11.2013 at 02:00 P.M. but no arrest memo is on record. The place of arrest of convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav is doubtful. There is no public witness of the arrest of convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav. The alleged recovery of the dead body of the deceased and his bicycle on the pointing out of the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav is not covered within the ambit of Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act. The recovery is a false recovery. No disclosure statement of the convict/appellant is there on the record. The alleged recovery of the dead body of the deceased and his bicycle on the pointing out of the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Maurya is from two wells situated at a distance of half kilometer in two different villages, hence, both the recovery memos cannot be prepared simultaneously on the spot by the same person. The recovered bicycle was not got identified by Hanuman to whom the bicycle belongs as stated by the complainant. The presence of Mihi Lal P.W.1 at the time of recovery of the dead body of the deceased and his bicycle and at the time of conduction of inquest is not established. It is belied by the testimony of P.W.1 himself. There is no mention of case crime number and sections on the inquest report which indicates that the F.I.R. was not in existence at the time of preparation of inquest report. Inquest proceedings were not done on the spot and those were done at the Police Station Rudauli and inquest report was ante-timed. No test identification parade was conducted as the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav was not previously known to P.W.1 Mihi Lal. Further convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav was not kept (Baparda) by the police and he was got identified to P.W.1 Mihi Lal. No D.N.A. test of the bones of the deceased was got conducted by the prosecution to establish the identity of the deceased. No recovery of mobile phone of the deceased was made by the Investigating Officer. No explanation was given by the prosecution about the cutting made in General Diary and after cutting the name of accused Dileep, the name of accused Deepak Kumar Yadav was added. Medical evidence does not corroborate the prosecution version. The cause of death has been opined by the autopsy surgeon, only on the basis of surmises and conjectures as the dead body was completely decomposed and turned into skeleton and the soft tissue over the neck was missing. Only bones were present on the neck. Hence the strangulation could be ascertained. There are variations, inconsistencies and major contradictions in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. No Jeans/Pants and cloth around the neck of the deceased was found at the time of alleged recovery of the dead body. The case of prosecution is based on circumstantial evidence and the chain of circumstances is not complete to bring home the guilt of the convict/appellant. No circumstance under Section 302 I.P.C. was put to the convict/appellant to explain his innocence. Hence no conviction can be awarded to him under Section 302 I.P.C. He further submitted that P.W.1 Mihi Lal is not a reliable witness and conviction cannot be based on his evidence. He further submitted that it is a settled position of law that suspicion howsoever grave cannot take place of the proof. The prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the convict/appellant. Hence, the accused/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav deserves to be acquitted.

11. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav relied upon the following case laws :-

(i) Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra AIR 1984 SC 1622: 1984 SCC (Cri) 487;

(ii) Ganpat Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 159: (2017) 16 SCC 353;

(xvi) Ram Chander vs. State of Haryana (1981) 3 SCC 191 and (xvii) Samsul Haque vs. State of Assam 2019 (3) JIC 432 (SC).

12. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya argued that there was no motive to commit the crime by the convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya. He has been implicated in the crime due to political enmity and that too on the basis of the statement of co-convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav. He has no concern with the crime. No incriminating article has been recovered either from his person or on his pointing out. There is no evidence on the record to connect Arvind Kumar Maurya with the crime. The evidence of P.W.2 Jokhawati is not reliable and he (convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya) never told Jokhawati that the deceased used to talk with one Shesh Kumari on telephone. The statements of witnesses are contradictory. P.W.1 and P.W.2 are related witnesses. The dead body of the deceased was not identifiable as it was found fully decomposed as has been stated in the post mortem examination report, hence, there is no evidence on record to prove that the convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya killed the deceased. Hence, the accused/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya should be acquitted.

13. To the contrary learned A.G.A. argued that the chain of circumstantial evidence is complete and has very well been proved by the prosecution. The P.W.1 Mihi Lal has proved that his son Anil Kumar left the house on 02.11.2013 at about 8 O'Clock in the night and did not return and his mobile phone was also switched off. He informed the police about the missing of his son. He did not name anybody in the report so it cannot be believed that later on he implicated the convicts/appellants due to enmity. He further submitted that P.W.2, Jokhawati has proved that convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya has told her that the deceased Anil Kumar used to talk on telephone with one Shesh Kumari resident of village Gulzar Ka Purwa and the deceased went there. When this information was given to the Investigating Officer, he went to the place of Shesh Kumari but the house was found locked. The Investigating Officer, on the information given by the informant, arrested accused/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav and he confessed that he killed the deceased Anil Kumar and convict/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya was also with him while committing the crime. He further submitted that the prosecution has also proved the recovery of dead body of the deceased from a well at the pointing out of the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav. The prosecution has also proved the recovery of the bicycle on which the deceased left the house, at the pointing out of the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav. The statement given to the Investigating Officer by the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav, supported by recovery of dead body and bicycle, is admissible under Section 27 of The Indian Evidence Act. The dead body has been identified by the father of the deceased by his clothes and also from the soles which were not decomposed. He further submitted that the near relative of the deceased can identify the body by clothes of deceased. He further submitted that the learned trial court has rightly relied upon the testimony of witnesses of facts and held the convicts/appellants guilty and sentenced them accordingly. He prayed that both the appeals should be dismissed.

14. Considered the rival submissions and perused the original record of the trial court as well as the record of the appeals and also gone through the case laws cited by the learned counsel for the convict/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav.

15. Admittedly, it is a case of circumstantial evidence as there was no eye witness. In case of circumstantial evidence, to hold a person guilty of offence alleged the chain of circumstantial evidence must be complete. All the circumstances must point out towards the guilt of the person who is accused, no other possibility should be there. No hypothesis of accused being innocent should be there. Further, suspicion however strong can not take place of proof beyond reasonable doubt.

16. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Plethora of cases have explained the principles relating to circumstantial evidence. In Ram Niwas vs. State of Haryana (2022) SCC OnLine SC 1007, the Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard has observed as under:-

"25. The prosecution case rests on circumstantial evidence. The law with regard to conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence has very well been crystalized in the judgment of this Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra , wherein this Court held thus:

"152. Before discussing the cases relied upon by the High Court we would like to cite a few decisions on the nature, character and essential proof required in a criminal case which rests on circumstantial evidence alone. The most fundamental and basic decision of this Court is Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh [AIR 1952 SC 343 : 1952 SCR 1091 : 1953 Cri LJ 129]. This case has been uniformly followed and applied by this Court in a large number of later decisions upto-date, for instance, the cases of Tufail (Alias) Simmi v. State of Uttar Pradesh [(1969) 3 SCC 198 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 55] and Ramgopal v. State of Maharashtra [(1972) 4 SCC 625 : AIR 1972 SC 656]. It may be useful to extract what Mahajan, J. has laid down in Hanumant case [AIR 1952 SC 343 : 1952 SCR 1091 : 1953 Cri LJ 129]:

"It is well to remember that in in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established, and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 793 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033 : 1973 Cri LJ 1783] where the observations were made : [SCC para 19, p. 807 : SCC (Cri) p. 1047]

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between "may be' and "must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

26. This Court has held that there has to be a chain of evidence so complete so as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. It has been held that the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency. This Court has held that the circumstances should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved. It has been held that the accused "must be' and not merely "may be' guilty before a Court can convict.

27. It is settled law that the suspicion, however strong it may be, cannot take the place of proof beyond reasonable doubt. An accused cannot be convicted on the ground of suspicion, no matter how strong it is. An accused is presumed to be innocent unless proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

17. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sujit Biswas vs. State of Assam (2013) 12 SCC 406 has held as under:-

"14. In Kali Ram v. State of H.P. [(1973) 2 SCC 808 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1048 : AIR 1973 SC 2773] this Court observed as under: (SCC p. 820, para 25)

"25. Another golden thread which runs through the web of the administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. This principle has a special relevance in cases wherein the guilt of the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence.""

18. Now we have to examine the matter in the light of evidence available on the record keeping in mind the above principles of law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court. In the present case, the son of the complainant left the house on 02.11.2013 at about 08:00 P.M. The complainant searched for him at the places of his relatives but he could not be found at any place. The mobile phone carried by the son of the complainant was switched off. The missing report was submitted by the complainant at the police station on 09.11.2013 i.e. after 7 days when his son left the house. This missing report was entered in General Diary at Police Station Kotwali Rudauli, District Faizabad at No.19 at 12:40 hours as missing information. Since the missing boy could not be traced so entry in General Diary regarding alteration was made at No.25 at 12:50 hours (Exhibit Ka-13) on 10.11.2013 and a case was registered as Case Crime No.338 of 2013, under Section 363 of I.P.C. The carbon copy of relevant General Diary is Exhibit Ka-14.

19. The investigation was handed over to Sub-Inspector Vijay Bahadur Singh examined as P.W.5. The Investigating Officer after taking over the investigation recorded the statement of complainant Mihi Lal and Jokhawati (sister-in-law of the complainant). Thereafter, he received information about the appellant/convict Deepak Kumar Yadav through an informant. He (Investigating Officer) arrested Deepak Kumar and on his arrest, Deepak Kumar allegedly confessed the crime and told that appellant/convict Arvind Maurya was also with him at the time of committing the crime. The dead body of the deceased was recovered from a well on the pointing out of Deepak Kumar Yadav and a bicylce from another well. At the time of recovery of dead body and bicycle appellant/convict Deepak Kumar Yadav told that he and Arvind Maurya committed murder of the deceased and threw the dead body in a well in his village and the bicycle in another well. The Investigating Officer along with appellant/convict Deepak Kumar reached at the place where well was situated. The dead body was taken out from the well. At the distance of 400 metres the bicycle was recovered from another well. The inquest report was prepared of the body of deceased. Dead body was sent for postmortem examination along with relevant papers. Recovery memo of bicycle was also prepared.

20. In the post-mortem examination report following condition of the cadaver was noted:-

"A decomposed body. Soft tissue missing over Face, Neck and Subaro Anterior Scalp. Lt. hand and Lt. Radius Bone missing. No opinion regarding nose, mouth, tongue, nail and anus.

21. Doctor who conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased preserved the D.N.A. sample. It has also been noted in the report that on the dead body, a t-shirt, underwear, a cloth in the throat and 'Kalava' over palm were found which were kept in sealed bundle. Dr. Vipin Kumar who conducted the post-mortem has been examined as P.W.-4 and he has stated before the trial court that no rigor mortis was present in the dead body. The dead body was rotten, a flesh of face, neck and head was missing. Palm and radius bone of left hand missing. Eyes and tongue were also missing. He has further stated that the skin and flesh of neck and head were missing and there were contusions present on the posterior part of head- 8x6 cm. Head/Brain was rotten and magots were present there. In the neck one handkerchief was there. In the Rt side of chest there was a contusion of size 18x4 cm. On the Lt side of chest there was contusion of size 20x14 cm and 5-6 ribs were broken. On the right hand at inguinal region a contusion 18x16 cm was present which was going up to the thigh. He has further stated that in the left thigh above the knee joint a contusion of size 25x10 cm was present and in the genital region a contusion of 8x6 cm was present. This witness has proved the post-mortem report as Exhibit Ka-3 and has stated that cause of death was Asphyxia probably due to ante-mortem throttling. This witness has further stated that femur bone was preserved and sent in a sealed state along with the clothes found on the body and 'Kalava' were also handed over to the concerned constable. In the cross-examination this witness has stated regarding the injury found on the neck of deceased that nothing was possible to say about the injury found on neck because only bone was there. No estimation can be done of pressing the neck on the basis of a bone. He has further stated that remaining injuries found on the remaining parts of the body, which have been noted by him, were on the rotten parts. Both the soles of the feet were left. There were injuries on the legs above the knees and over both the thighs but below knees and soles, there were no marks. He has further submitted that Investigating Officer did not record his statement in this regard. This witness has further stated in his cross-examination that dead body which came before him for post-mortem examination was not identifiable. The dead body which was brought before him was rotten from neck to head. There was only one bone in the neck and there was one handkerchief tied over neck. He has further stated that he has written in the post-mortem report that cause of death is strangulation only on the basis of probability.

22. None of the appellants/convicts were named in the F.I.R. as there was no clue with the complainant to name them. The F.I.R. was registered as a missing report. No motive has been disclosed in the missing report nor any possibility of murder of the missing boy. On the basis of missing report, the Investigating Officer started investigation. P.W.1- Mihi Lal (the complainant) in his statement before the trial court has stated that after the missing report, the Investigating Officer came to his house on 10.11.2013 and inquired from him whether he found any clue about his son then he told the Investigating Officer that Arvind (accused/appellant) told him that the deceased used to talk on mobile phone with a girl resident of Gulzar Ka Purwa and her name was Shesh Kumari. The deceased received a phone call and probably he went there. He also stated that whatever was to be done, done. This witness has further stated that this was heard by his sister-in-law (Jokhawati) who was present at the time. This witness has identified Arvind Kumar Maurya, who was present in the court, as the person who told all this to him. This witness has further stated that he told all this to the Investigating Officer and remained indulged in search of his son. Thereafter on 12.11.2013 Investigating Officer called him at about 02:30 P.M. and asked him to come at the 'Chak road' of Gulzar Ka Purwa. He reached there. Thereafter the Investigating Officer reached there, after some time in a jeep. The accused Deepak and police personnel came down from jeep and Deepak moved forward and pointed out the well from where the dead body of his (complainant) son was recovered. Deepak also told that Arvind was with him in committing the murder. Thereafter, the dead body was taken out of well and inquest was done. This witness was present at the time of inquest and he signed over that as a Panch. He has further stated that from well the bicycle was recovered on the pointing out of the accused Deepak Kumar Yadav.

23. P.W.2- Jokhawati has also stated that after 7 days of the incident at about 3 P.M. Arvind came in front of his home and asked whether Anil came back when she told him that he did not come back then Arvind stated that whatever was to happen, happened and he also told that the deceased was talking on mobile phone with a girl resident of Gulzar Ka Purwa. This fact had come into the knowledge of the brothers of girl and they asked the deceased not to talk with the girl but the deceased did not pay heed. He further stated that Anil, while going told him that he was going to get the mobile recharged. This witness has further stated that at the time his brother-in-law (the complainant) was also present at the home. She has further stated that she has prior knowledge of the love affair between Anil Kumar (deceased) and the girl Shesh Kumari.

According to this witness (P.W.2) she was aware of the love affair between the Shesh Kumari and the deceased but there is nothing in the missing report about the same. On the record there is no evidence showing any connection between the deceased and the girl. It has been alleged that the deceased used to talk with a girl on mobile phone but no call details record were presented and proved by the prosecution to prove the motive of crime. Though it is not always necessary to prove motive because no one can peep into the mind of a miscreant, yet in the case based on the circumstantial evidence, the motive acts as a link in the chain of circumstantial evidence. Existence of motive gives support to the prosecution case based on circumstantial evidence. In this case the prosecution did not prove the motive of the case. There is no evidence to prove the motive of the crime.

24. The case of the prosecution is that during investigation, the Investigating Officer got the information that accused Deepak Kumar Yadav has committed murder of the deceased Anil Kumar and arrested him and he confessed that dead body was thrown by him in a well after committing the murder and Arvind Kumar Muarya was also present at the time of committing the crime. The dead body was recovered on the pointing out of the appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav from a well and the bicycle by which he went from the house was also recovered from another well situated at a distance of 400 metres, from the well from which dead-body was recovered.

25. The dead body was recovered after ten days when the deceased left his house and according to the doctor, who conducted the post-mortem of the dead body, the dead body was found in a rotten state. No flesh and tissue was present over face, neck and other parts of body except soles. The doctor has clearly stated in his statement before the trial court that the dead body was not identifiable.

The complainant (father of the deceased) stated that he recognized the dead body of his son by his clothes. He has stated in the cross-examination that when the dead body was recovered there were t-shirt and jeans on the dead body, which the boy was wearing when he left the house. He has further stated that there was a mark on the neck of his son. P.W.3 - Moti Lal has been examined as a witness, he was present at the time of 'Panchayatnama' and he was one of the Panch. He has stated in his examination-in-chief that he saw the dead body which was mostly rotten. In the cross-examination this witness has also stated that the dead body was completely rotten. In his cross-examination this witness has also stated that when the dead body was taken out of the well, the deceased was wearing 'baniyan', 'kachchha', t-shirt and pants. The pants were of black colour. As far as the identity of the dead body is concerned, the doctor who conducted the autopsy has stated that the body has completely rotten except soles and he found on the body a t-shirt, 'banyan', 'kalava' and underwear. There was no mention of any pants/jeans while the father of the deceased examined as P.W.1 has stated that at the time of recovery of dead body a jeans were there and witness P.W.3- Moti Lal has stated that on the dead body a black colour pants were there.

Admittedly the body was rotten and was not identifiable with face or other parts. Only soles were left/remained. In such circumstances, the identity of the body is not proved beyond reasonable doubt. The doctor in his statement has already stated that he has written the cause of death as a probability because he has found a cloth tied on the bones of neck.

26. In the light of above analysis the case of prosecution cannot be deemed to be proved beyond reasonable doubt. Further more the D.N.A. sample was preserved but no D.N.A. test was conducted to ascertain the identity of the dead body.

27. All the above facts and circumstances show that chain of circumstances is not complete. Missing report was lodged after seven days of leaving the house by the deceased. There is no mention in the report that anything was told by Arvind Kumar Maurya to Jokhawati. There is no evidence on record to establish the love affair between the deceased and the girl Shesh Kumari, hence, it cannot be said that the prosecution has proved the case against the accused/appellants beyond reasonable doubt. Both the accused/appellants deserve the benefit of doubt to be given.

28. Accordingly, both the appeals i.e. CRIMINAL APPEAL No. - 435 of 2016 and CRIMINAL APPEAL No. - 407 of 2016 are allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 29.02.2016 is hereby set-aside.

29. The accused/appellant Arvind Kumar Maurya is already on bail, his bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged. The accused/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav is in jail. The accused/appellant Deepak Kumar Yadav shall be released from jail forthwith if not required in any other criminal case.

30. The convicts/appellants Deepak Kumar Yadav and Arvind Kumar Maurya are directed to file personal bonds and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance with Section 437-A of Cr.P.C.

31 . Office is directed to send a copy of this order along with lower court record to the trial court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

St. of M.P. Vs Gharkole (AIR 2005 SC 44).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Surendra Kumar Chaubey, learned counsel for the appellant-Mohan; Ms. Abida Syed, learned Amicus Curie for unrepresented litigants; and Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondents. Perused the record.

2. During trial the main assailant, accused-Kedar has breathed last and the other three accused Mohan and two others faced the trial, all the accused have been convicted for commission of offence under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code and sentenced to life imprisonment. The accused were punished sentenced to life imprisonment with the aid of Section 34 of the IPC and fine of Rs.50,000/- each and default sentence of 6 months if they did not deposit the amount of fine.

3. The first Information report given on 13.10.1993 is to this effect that brother of the informant namely Ram Sevak son of Rupai was done to death on 12.10.1993 at about 11 p.m by firing. The brother of the informant was sleeping on his bed with his son and the informant was sleeping in his hut and suddenly on the noise of firing the informant woke up and went in the direction from where the noise had come. The informant and others went in the direction from where the noise had come and saw that Kedar was shooting at the brother of the informant who died and Kedar was shouting that, Mohan run, Ram Sevak is dead, till then Jangi son of Sajjan and Hansraj son of Ram Ratan came there and after hearing the shouting they had tried to catch the accused, but all four accused persons Kedar son of Gauri, Mohan son of Ram Shree, Budhiram son of Vanshraj and Daroga son of Ramdhani ran away from the place of occurrence.

4. According to the informant, accused Mohan and Kedar were carrying country-made pistol (Katta) and Budhiram and Daroga were carrying lathi in their hands. The informant taking some other people with him and the Chowkidar went to house of Kedar and Mohan as they believed that after committing the said act they might have reached home but they were not at home, they went again at the place of occurrence to take the injured to hospital.

5. The informant further informed that before 20 days there was auction in their village in which brother of the informant (namely deceased) and Kedar both had taken part but as the auction money was more, Kedar could not deposit the money or get the bid in his favour because of non depositing of money which bid was allotted to the brother of informant (deceased). From the said day Kedar and Mohan had grudge against the deceased. It is further alleged that accused Mohan had by force encroached on the land known as Kali Mata Temple and so the village people along with deceased had objected to this act of Mohan and, therefore, both the accused Kedar and Mohan in connivance with the other two accused had committed the act causing the death of brother of informant by firing gunshot from close range.

6. The information culminated into FIR and investigation was kept in motion. The statements of witnesses were recorded by investigating officer and after completing the investigation, the police filed the charge sheet which culminated into case being committed to the court of session as it was sessions triable case.

7. The accused on being summoned appeared before the learned Sessions Judge. The learned Judge framed the charge on 27.2.2000. The accused pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried. During trial Kedar died and trial abated qua him.

8. The prosecution examined 10 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Rama Shanker	PW1
2	Jangi	PW2
3	Dheera	PW3
4	Ram Asrey	PW4
5	Rukmuddin @ Samsuddin	PW5
6	Tirath Ram	PW6
7	Ramakant	PW7
8	Chandrabhan Singh	PW8
9	Harihar Prasad	PW9
10	Dr. V.K. Dubey	PW10

9. In support of ocular version following documents were filed:

1	First Information Report	Ex.Ka.2
2	Written Report	Ex.Ka.1
3	Recovery Memo of blood-stained cloth pellets and Tickli	Ex.Ka.7
4	Recovery Memo of blood stained and plain earth	Ex.Ka.8
5	Postmortem Report	Ex.Ka.14
6	Panchayatnama	Ex.Ka.6
7	Charge-sheet Mool	Ex.Ka.5

8	Site Plan with Index	Ex.Ka.4

10. On the witnesses being examined and the prosecution having concluded its evidence, the accused were put to questions under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

11. It is submitted by the counsel for appellants that the FIR did not mention that Mohan was the person who had fired gunshot. The FIR was proved the evidence of PW-1 and corroborated by PW-2 that it was Kedar who had fired gunshot injuries which caused death of the deceased instantaneously. On the basis of First Information Report and deposition of doctor who performed the post mortem, it is submitted by learned counsel for appellants that Mohan accused is entitled to benefit of doubt.

12. Shri Chaubey, learned counsel for the accused has vehemently submitted that it is not the case of prosecution that Mohan had caused the firearm injuries. According to counsel for appellants, during the investigation 93 pellets were found and 5 dead cartridges were recovered. According to learned counsel for appellant, there is only one injury despite the fact that two injuries are mentioned to have been caused, but the post mortem report shows that there was one injury which reads as follows:

"(i) A fire arm wound of entrance measuring 2 cm x 2 cm x chest cavity-deep on the left side chest upper part just above Clavicular region, margins of wound inverted. Blood & scorching round the wound seen. Wound directed downward."

13. The learned trial Judge has convicted the accused on the basis of the evidence which according to the learned court below pointed out the figures towards the present accused. PW-3 has not witnessed the incident. PW-6 and PW-7 have given a different version, then that which were given in the statement under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. The witnesses were put to questions about dacoity in the said village which the witnesses have categorically denied. The witness has categorically mentioned that Kedar and Mohan had enmity with the deceased that is why he was done to death by accused. PW-2 has deposed that he came after hearing of the gun-fire and when he was going towards the residence of Ram Sevak, he heard the second fire and he run and went towards the residence of Ram Sevak, it is deposed that by PW-2 that the other people who had seen the accused with Kedar going away told him about this fact. PW-5 has corroborated to certain extent that the death occurred at 11 pm. He was sleeping on roof top, when came down he saw the deceased and he breathed last.

14. The prosecution before the trial judge had contended that minor contradictions should not be considered to grant acquittal. It is submitted that on minor contradictions, benefit of doubt cannot be granted to the accused who have committed the offence.

15. While considering the factual scenario, there are certain aspects which require to be noted, namely, the fire arm injuries were alleged to be fired by Kedar and not by Mohan; no firearm was recovered from Mohan; and there is no Forensic Science Lab report. The ocular versions of PW-1 and PW-2 does not see that it was Mohan who had fired any gunshot neither the evidence case to show that it was Kedar who had shot and convey to Mohan to flee from the seen of offence.

16. It is an admitted position of fact that no one had seen the firing. The role assigned to Daroga and Buddhiram is not spelled out in testimony of any of the witnesses and there are no injuries of lathi rather the stick on the body of the deceased.

17. While going through the evidence and the findings of fact, we fail to understand that there are no reasoning given by the learned Judge so as to come to the conclusion that accused were the perpetrators of the crime, the fact that no injuries were caused to child who was sleeping with deceased Ram Sevak though there were 93 pellets found also does not find any mention in the judgment. The evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 also does not inspire confidence. No blood was found on the cot where alleged firing was said to have taken place as is deposed by PW-1. The evidence also proves that there is political rivalry.

18. The evidence of witnesses is reproduced in Hindi in our ready reference so that this becomes crystal clear for us to decide whether the accused have been involved in the commission of offence or not:-

"विस्तर पर कोई खून नहीं गिरा था । मै झोपडी के अंदर नहीं सोया हुआ था । झोपड़ी के बाहर दो कदम की दुरी पैर सोया था । यही बात मैंने अपने तहरीर में भी लिखवाया था । और यही बात मैंने दरोगा जी को भी बताया था की झोपडी के बाहर दरवाजे पर सोया हुआ था । अगर मेरे तहरीर में यह बाद की "हम उसी से चार कदम उत्तर अपनी झोपडी में सोये थे" लिखा हो तो मैं इसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । अगर दरोगा जी ने मेरे बयान में झोपडी से सोने वाली बात लिखा हो तो मैं उसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । गोली की पहली आवाज सुनकर मैं चारपाई से उठकर गुमटी की आड़ में चला गयाविस्तर पर कोई खून नहीं गिरा था । मै झोपडी के अंदर नहीं सोया हुआ था । झोपड़ी के बाहर दो कदम की दुरी पैर सोया था । यही बात मैंने अपने तहरीर में भी लिखवाया था । और यही बात मैंने दरोगा जी को भी बताया था की झोपडी के बाहर दरवाजे पर सोया हुआ था । अगर मेरे तहरीर में यह बाद की "हम उसी से चार कदम उत्तर अपनी झोपडी में सोये थे" लिखा हो तो मैं इसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । अगर दरोगा जी ने मेरे बयान में झोपडी से सोने वाली बात लिखा हो तो मैं उसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । गोली की पहली आवाज सुनकर मैं चारपाई से उठकर गुमटी की आड़ में चला गया. दूसरा फायर करने के बाद जब जाने लगे तब मैंने शोर किया. उसके बाद तुरंत हंसराज व् जंगी आ गए तब हम तीनो लोक मुल्जिमान का पीछा करने लगे. उसके बाद चकरोड पक्काडकर के भाग गए. दौड़ते समय मुल्जिमान ने हम लोगो को जान से मरने की धमकी दीया था. कटे के पीछे मत पद्दो नहीं तो तुमको भी मर देंगे. तब हम लोग जान गए की मोहन केदार बुधिराम और दरोगा हैं. उसके बाद हम लोग थोड़ा पीछे हट गए तब मुल्जिम वह से भाग गए । दूसरा फायर करने के बाद जब जाने लगे तब मैंने शोर कियाविस्तर पर कोई खून नहीं गिरा था । मै झोपडी के अंदर नहीं सोया हुआ था । झोपड़ी के बाहर दो कदम की दुरी पैर सोया था । यही बात मैंने अपने तहरीर में भी लिखवाया था । और यही बात मैंने दरोगा जी को भी बताया था की झोपडी के बाहर दरवाजे पर सोया हुआ था । अगर मेरे तहरीर में यह बाद की "हम उसी से चार कदम उत्तर अपनी झोपडी में सोये थे" लिखा हो तो मैं इसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । अगर दरोगा जी ने मेरे बयान में झोपडी से सोने वाली बात लिखा हो तो मैं उसकी वजह नहीं बता सकता । गोली की पहली आवाज सुनकर मैं चारपाई से उठकर गुमटी की आड़ में चला गया. दूसरा फायर करने के बाद जब जाने लगे तब मैंने शोर किया. उसके बाद तुरंत हंसराज व्

19. The provisions of Section 34 of the IPC are also not made out. Nobody has seen the role of Mohan. Only Rama Shanker and Hansraj who had given the name of Buddhiram and Daroga as held above, no incriminating instruments were found from their possession.

20. In our case the judgment of the Apex Court in State of Madhya Pradesh v. Gharkole, AIR 2005 SC 44 will not be applicable to the facts of this case as the judgment will also not help the prosecution and the learned trial Judge has brushed aside the judgment cited by counsel for the accused. Just because the informant was sleeping at four steps from the coat of the deceased, it is very doubtful as to he came after the second shot was heard by him. It was Kadar who had fired and nobody had seen Mohan at the time of the incident.

21. While discussing the parameters on which the accused can be convicted, the evidence and the decision of the court below has to be also evaluated .

22. We now come to the role of each of the accused-appellants. All the three accused-appellants were convicted for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 of IPC. Section 34 of I.P.C. reads as under :

"34. Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention.--When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."*

23. In that view of the matter, we have no other option but to upturn the judgment of the learned Judge below and appeal is allowed accordingly.

24. The accused if not wanted in any other offence, we set free giving benefit of doubt to the accused.

25. This court is thankful to counsels for the parties for getting matter disposed of .

26. Rs.12,500/- as honorarium be paid to Ms. Abida Syed, who is appointed as Amicus Curie by the High Court Legal Services Committee.

27. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith, if any

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 16.12.1986 passed by the 2nd Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur in Sessions Trial No. 68 of 1986 (State vs. Siri Harijan and Sripat Harijan) whereby appellants Siri Harijan and Sripat Harijan have been held to be guilty for the offence punishable under Section 302 readwith Section 34 IPC and have been convicted and sentenced to undergo life imprisonment.

3. The prosecution case starts with the first information report lodged on a report scribed by Head Moharrir Sri Shyam Narain Yadav on the statement of deceased Dhorha Harijan. The said report which was lodged on 7.1.1986 at about 10:10 AM for the incident which occurred on the said date at about 7:00 AM, was a Non-cognizable report registered as NCR No. 3/86 under Sections 323/504 IPC. The report was scribed on the statement of the injured Dhorha (later deceased) stating that the assailants/accused were his own sons who were living separately from him. The deceased was residing with his brother Pati Ram at the time of the incident, the accused assaulted him with Lathis while saying that if their shares were not given, they would kill him. On hue and cry raised by the informant (injured himself), many people came to save him.

4. The written report scribed by the Head Moharrir is signed by him and had been proved in his deposition as PW-4. The scribe of the report namely Head Moharrir as PW-4 stated that he was posted as Head Moharrir on 7.1.1986 in the police station Mardah/concerned. At about 10:10 AM, the report was lodged on the oral information given by the injured Dhorha Harijan son of Jiut Harijan, who had later died. It was stated by PW-4 that whatever was told to him was scribed and the injured was conscious and was speaking clearly. PW-4 further stated that the said report was registered as NCR No. 3 in his handwriting and signature and the copy of Check FIR was in his handwriting and signature proved as Exhibit Ka-4. He further stated that whatever was written in the report was transcribed as Check FIR and it was read over to the informant who put his thumb impression thereafter. He stated that the thumb impression of the deceased was existing on the FIR and the copy thereof had been proved by him. The case was entered in GD at Rapat No. 11 at about 10:10 AM on the said date. The original GD was brought in the Court and the copy thereof was filed on record proved as Exhibit Ka-5 being in handwriting and signature of Constable Moharrir Ramlala Yadav. It was stated by PW-4 that the injuries found on the person of the deceased were entered in the GD. After making entries, the injured was sent for medical examination to the Government Hospital, Mardah. On 7.1.1986 at about 16:10 hours, a memo was received from the doctor about the death of the injured which was entered in GD at Rapat No. 25 at about 16:10 hours in his handwriting and signature. The original GD was brought in the Court and the copy thereof was filed and proved as Exhibit Ka-6.

PW-4 stated that on the basis of information of the death, the case was converted into an offence under Section 304 IPC from Section 323 IPC and the entry in this regard could be found in the GD. The original FIR which was dictated by deceased Dhorha was proved as Exhibit Ka-7 being in the handwriting and signature of PW-4. PW-4 was further confronted as to how the injured could reach at the police station. He stated that the injured Dhorha came alongwith Pati Ram, his brother on his own and the S.O. of the police station was present at that time. He was confronted about the entries in the GD and the inspection of GD by the Circle Officer. He was further confronted about the contents of the written report and PW-4 asserted that whatever was dictated by Dhorha (deceased) was written by him. Constable Shiv Mani Yadav took the injured for medial examination and his return entry was recorded on the same day at about 12:25 PM. At the time of entry of his return to the police station, the said Constable had filed the injury report of injured Dhorha which fact was entered in the GD, however, injury report was not copied in the GD. PW-4 was further confronted on this statement and he stated after going through the GD, that the injury report was not filed rather the Constable told that the doctor would provide injury report later.

5. The Investigating Officer S.I. Shyam Sundar Mishra examined as PW-5 stated that he was posted in the police station Mardah on 7.1.1986 as Sub-Inspector. On a memo of the doctor R.S. Prasad, Medical Officer, P.H.C., Mardah received at about 16:10 hours, the investigation was handed over to him after conversion of the case. He started investigation on 7.1.1986 itself and went to P.H.C. Mardah; found the dead body of deceased Dhorha and took it in his possession; the inquest was conducted and the inquest report was proved as Exhibit Ka-8 in the handwriting and signature of PW-5. Other related papers were proved as Exhibits Ka-9 to Ka-13 by PW-5 being in his handwriting and signature. The dead body was sealed and sent for postmortem. PW-5 stated that brother of the deceased namely Pati Ram was present in the hospital and his statement was recorded in the hospital itself. The statement of one more person named as Deena was also recorded and PW-5 left to the place of the incident and conducted raid for arrest of the accused who had run away. The spot inspection of the site in question was made on the next date, i.e. on 8.1.1986 at about 6:30 AM and the site plan was prepared which was proved as Exhibit Ka-14 being in the handwriting and signature of PW-5. Both the accused were arrested on the said date itself on the report of the informer and their statements were recorded and they were lodged in the lockup. After completion of the investigation, the charge sheet was submitted as Exhibit Ka-15 on 9.1.1986. PW-5 was confronted about the injury report in cross and he stated that the injury report was received at the police station before he proceeded to the hospital and it was given to the Head Constable Shyam Narain Yadav (PW-4) and its entry was made in the GD. He further stated that he reached at the hospital on 7.1.986 at about 16:30 hours and conducted inquest. PW-5 was further confronted about the statement of Pati Ram (PW-1) recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and the topography of the place of the incident. The suggestion that the place of the incident indicated by him in the spot memo was his own creation was categorically denied by PW-5. Further suggestion that he made investigation in order to cover up the case and examined only the interested witnesses was also denied.

6. PW-6 is the doctor who had conducted the postmortem. As per his deposition, body was brought by two constables C.P. No. 508 Iqbal Ahmad and C.P. No. 57 Sambhu Nath in sealed state, they identified the body and then postmortem was conducted. As per the external condition, the age of deceased was estimated as 55 years and the time of death about one day. It was an average built body, rigor mortis was present in all four limbs.

PW-6 proved that the postmortem report was prepared by him in his own handwriting and signature and it was proved as Exhibit Ka-16. The clothes of deceased which were sealed and given to the Constable were marked as Material Exhibits "I', "II' and "III'. PW-6 stated that there was a possibility of death of the deceased at about 3:45 PM on 7.1.1986 and the ante-mortem injuries were sufficient to cause death. He further stated that ante-mortem injuries could have been caused by Lathi.

7. In cross, PW-6 stated that the injury no. 2 (ante-mortem injury) was at the front of the chest and could be seen from the naked eyes. The injuries were sufficient to cause death. There was a pasty liquid in the stomach like flour and milk, which was undigested and could be on account of consumption of milk about 1 & ½ hours of death. The suggestion that the death was caused due to wrong treatment given to the deceased was categorically denied by PW-6.

8. PW-3 Dr. R.S. Prasad is the doctor who had examined the injured when he was brought to P.H.C. Mardah by the Constable CP No. 314 Shiv Nath Yadav. He stated that he was present in P.H.C. He stated that the injuries were fresh and looking to the nature of injuries, the injured was referred to the District Hospital, Ghazipur. All the injuries seem to have been caused by hard blunt object like Lathi and Danda. The injury report was proved as Exhibit Ka-1 being in his handwriting and signature and the thumb impression of deceased (injured) was also proved by PW-3. PW-3 stated that he also recorded the identification marks of the injured. As per his statement, the injuries could have been caused at around 7:00 to 8:00 AM on 7.1.1986. PW-3 stated that he treated the injured when he was in the hospital and the injured died at around 3:45 PM on 7.1.1986 in his hospital itself. The information of death was then given to the Station House Officer. The memo sent to the Police Station shown to PW-3 was proved as Exhibit Ka-2 being in his handwriting and signature. PW-3 stated that after preparation of the injury report, X-ray was advised and a separate memo was prepared for referring the injured to the District Hospital. The said memo was also proved as Exhibit Ka-3 being in his handwriting and signature by PW-3 who stated that thumb impression and identification marks of the deceased were noted therein. PW-3 stated that when injured was brought to the hospital, his condition was serious but he was conscious, his dying declaration was not recorded as the injured was referred to Ghazipur. After preparation of the injury report and referring the injured to Ghazipur, the first aid was given while the injured was admitted in P.H.C. Mardah. PW-3 was confronted about the treatment given to the injured and he stated that the injured remained in his hospital despite referring to the district hospital, Ghazipur as he was not in a condition to transport. He was further confronted that he did not give adequate treatment to the injured and there was no arrangement for blood transfusion. The District Hospital was about 25 kms. and he did not make any effort to take any help from the District Hospital. The suggestion that the injured had died because of lack of proper treatment and the injury report was prepared to cover up his fault was denied by PW-3.

9. PW-2 is the Constable Iqbal Ahmad who took the dead body for the postmortem. He stated that the body was handed over to the doctor at the Mortuary in sealed state and no one had touched it when it was in his custody.

10. The only witness of fact, i.e. the incident in question is PW-1 Pati Ram brother of deceased Dhorha. PW-1 stated that he was residing in Harijan Basti in the village and described the topography of the said colony. He stated that the people of Harijan Basti used to go to defecate on Puliya and Canal which was located near the Basti. His father had two sons, one of them was deceased Dhorha and the second one he himself. PW-1 was living separately for the last 15 years and before his death, Dhorha (deceased) separated from his sons. The accused (sons of the deceased) separated alongwith their family (wife and children) and Dhorha was left alone as he became old. The wife of Dhorha had predeceased him. When the accused persons had left Dhorha, being brother PW-1 had kept him and they were residing together. Dhorha was having 10 biswas of agriculture field and after he was separated, Dhorha was ploughing his field on his own. The accused persons were demanding the agricultural field of Dhorha and Dhorha used to say that since the accused were not paying money to him and hence they would get the field only when he was dead. The accused persons were, therefore, angry with their father Dhorha. A day prior to when Dhorha was murdered, in the evening, a scuffle took place between the accused persons and deceased Dhorha. The villagers intervened and ended the fight.

PW-1 then stated that on the fateful day in the early morning, after the Sun rise, Dhorha (deceased) went to defecate towards the Canal. After ten minutes, he (PW-1) also went towards Puliya to defecate. When he reached at the Puliya, he saw Dhorha on the Southern side of Puliya at the West corner of the Canal while he was washing his hands. PW-1 sat near Puliya after crossing it to defecate and within a short time, he heard cries of Dhorha "save, life is in danger". PW-1 stated that on hearing cries of Dhorha, he immediately washed his hands at the Puliya and went towards him. He saw accused Siri and Sripat assaulting their father Dhorha by Lathis and he started shouting. Hearing the noise, the people of Harijan Basti namely Deena, Ramvat Janu and the wife of PW-1 ran towards the place of the incident. The accused persons had run away towards South of the Canal at the Patri after injuring Dhorha. They arranged a cot, kept Dhorha in it and took him to the police station Mardah. Dhorha (later deceased) was conscious and was speaking when he was brought to the police station. The report was dictated by Dhorha and the Head Moharrir read it over to him and got thumb impression of Dhorha. The injuries of deceased were examined by the Head Moharrir and he was sent to the Government Hospital along with the Constable where doctors had treated him. Dhorha died on the same day in the hospital at about 4:00 PM. The statement of PW-1 was recorded by the Investigating Officer in the hospital at about 7:00-8:00 PM.

11. In cross, PW-1 stated that deceased Dhorha was elder to him and they were living separately for about 10-12 years with their families. The wife of deceased Dhorha had predeceased him (died about two years prior to their separation). PW-1 then goes on to say that he himself was not doing any work and was in his home at the time of the incident otherwise he was doing the work of "Harwahi'. He then stated that at the time of the incident the work of irrigation of field had started but it was being done during day time. PW-1 further stated that Dhorha was physically fit and was earning on his own. He was also doing labour work. PW-1 stated that he did not remember as to whether Dhorha was working at someone else's place a day prior to the incident.

PW-1 then stated that the houses of accused Siri and Sripat was nearby and in between their houses, there were fields of both the brothers. The house in which the accused persons were living was of deceased Dhorha in which he was residing prior to their separation. The houses of accused persons was in the same Chak which belonged to the deceased. The said house was constructed about 6-7 years prior to the incident. In the house in which PW-1 was living was constructed about 2-3 years prior to his deposition. PW-1 then stated that the Abadi was from the time of their ancestors and they were all residing in the same Abadi. At the time of the incident, wheat crop sown by the deceased was standing in the field which was irrgated about 2-4 days prior from the tube well of one Kalpnath Singh. A fight between the deceased and his sons (accused) occurred one day prior to the incident in his presence and other villagers were also present, the time was around 5:00 PM. PW-1 stated that the incident of fight occurred in the field where wheat was sown and it was lasted for around half an hour. The crop was damaged near the Medh for about one Laththa. Before the fight started, Dhorha was at the door of his house and the accused Siri was at his door. They all moved towards each other carrying Lathi and started pushing each other in the field. On the intervention of villagers no untoward incident had occurred. No report of the said incident, however, was lodged.

12. On a suggestion given to PW-1, he stated that he and deceased Dhorha were having good relation and deceased was residing with him after his sons had thrown him out of his house. It was admitted by PW-1 that the wheat crop was harvested by him after the death of Dhorha as his sons were lodged in the jail. He then stated that he had no concern with the field of Dhorha and he never had any concern with it during the lifetime of Dhorha. He always intended that after death of Dhorha, his field would go to his family and the said fact was also told by the deceased to his daughter.

PW-1 then stated that the Investigating Officer came on the spot on the second day of the incident and the place where the previous incident had occurred in the evening was also shown to him. PW-1 stated that people in the village normally would wake up around 4:00 AM and everyone would go to their field after being freshen up. However, in winters, they go to the field to work at around 8:00 AM. He then described the place of the incident and stated that he saw deceased washing his hands when he reached at the place of the incident. PW-1 was further confronted about the presence of other persons at the pumping set and the place where he stated that he went to defecate. He stated that as soon as he heard the cries of deceased, he rushed towards him as he had identified the voice of his brother. He saw the accused persons hitting the deceased and he started shouting while standing at Puliya. The accused were hitting the deceased at a short distance from Puliya and other persons had reached within minutes of his cries. PW-1 further described that deceased was hit for about 7-8 times from all sides by Lathi by both the accused and he fell down. When villagers reached, the accused persons ran away. On further confrontation PW-1 stated that he was shouting while standing at Puliya and did not make any effort to save the deceased as he was empty hand. He and deceased both went to defecate and no one else was there.

About the injuries, PW-1 stated that the deceased got injuries on his chest, back, hands, skull and legs. He did not remember as to whether blood oozed out from the wounds fell on the ground. PW-1 then stated that they were at the place of the incident for about half an hour and then went to the police station, Dhorha was conscious. The police station was about two kms. from his house and he could not remember as to how much time was taken to reach there. Other villagers namely Deena, Saheb were accompanying him.

When they reached at the police station, the Investigating Officer was not present. The report was scribed by the Head Moharrir and after taking thumb impression of the injured, the injuries were examined. They remained at the police station for about half an hour and then were sent to the hospital. The hospital was around 1 km. from the police station and they reached there at around 10:45 AM. The doctor treated the deceased from 11:00 AM to 4:00 PM and PW-1 could not explain as to what treatment was given but stated that he and Deena were present in the hospital. PW-1 stated that the deceased was conscious from 11:00 AM till 3:30 PM and was speaking but about 3:30 PM he stopped speaking and then doctors made a lot of efforts to save him. The deceased could not be taken to the District Hospital as he had died.

13. On further confrontation, PW-1 admitted that apart from two accused persons there was no other heir of deceased Dhorha and stated that he had no idea as to whether deceased would get the property after conviction. He further stated that he was doing pairvi of the case and engaged a counsel and he was not aware as to whether the accused would be convicted. The suggestion that he had falsely implicated the accused persons in order to grab the field of Dhorha or to get his name mutated on the record was categorically denied by PW-1. The suggestion that he had sown the field of Dhorha was also denied and it was categorically stated that the field was now Parti (barren). The suggestion that he had planned murder of his brother Dhorha in the night in order to grab his landed property and house and falsely implicated the accused persons (both his sons) for that reason, was categorically denied by PW-1. The suggestion that he ensured the death of Dhorha by managing wrong treatment in the hospital was also denied. The suggestion that the injury reports were fabricated at his instance in order to cover up the wrong treatment given by the doctor was further denied by PW-1. PW-1 had denied the suggestion that he had given wrong statement and that he did not witness the incident.

14. Before proceeding further, we may record that appellant Siri Harijan had died and the appeal on his behalf has been abated. Only appellant Sripat Harijan is before us who has been lodged in jail on 2.12.2021 in execution of the non-bailable warrant issued by this Court.

15. It is argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that it was a case of false implication of the accused persons/appellants herein and the first informant was instrumental in it. The submission is that the deceased was residing with the first informant who was his brother as he had separated from his two sons was admitted by the first informant in his deposition. The agricultural field of the deceased was in his possession and he was ploughing the field after the incident. The dispute between the accused (sons) and deceased (father) was about agricultural field which would have gone to the share of two sons after the death of the deceased. However, in order to grab the landed property of the deceased not only the agricultural field but the house occupied by the appellants, the first informant, brother of the deceased, hatched the conspiracy in which he got the deceased murdered and managed to put his sons behind the jail. It was argued that it was admitted by the informant that the agricultural field of the deceased was in his possession after the incident and the Wheat crop sown by the deceased was harvested by the informant.

16. It was further argued that in any case, the injuries found on the person of the deceased were mostly simple in nature and there were suspected fractures on injury nos. 2, 3 and 4 which was never ascertained as no X-ray was done. The doctor at P.H.C. namely PW-3 admitted that he though had referred the deceased to the District Hospital, Ghazipur which was about 25 kms. from P.H.C., Mardah but the deceased was never taken to the District Hospital. It is, thus, clear that the deceased had died because he could not get proper and timely medical intervention. The act of the informant in taking the deceased to the police station rather than taking him straight to the hospital also added to the worsening condition of the deceased. It is admitted by the informant that it took about one hour to take the deceased to the hospital to get even first aid and in the intervening period, the deceased himself narrated the incident to the Head Moharrir at the police station.

17. The submission is that from the statement of the informant and the doctor (PW-3), it is evident that the deceased was conscious and speaking throughout, till he had died at about 3:45 PM. Looking to the nature of the injuries and turn of events after the injuries were caused to the deceased, it is evident that the injuries were not fatal in nature. The deceased had succumbed to the injuries only on account of the delay in getting the first aid and lack of proper treatment at the P.H.C. Mardah. It was then submitted that even in the report dictated by the deceased, he only mentioned it to be a case of assault by Lathi and the Non-cognizable report was lodged under Section 323/504 IPC, accordingly.

It was, thus, argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that the conviction of the surviving appellant Sripat Harijan for the offence under Section 302 IPC with the aid of Section 34 IPC is too harsh. From any angle, the offence committed by the appellant Sripat Harijan does not fall beyond the scope of the offence under Section 304 Part II, i.e. of causing injury with the knowledge that it was likely to cause death but without any intention to cause death.

The contention is that the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is a result of misappreciation of the evidence on record. The appellant had suffered incarceration of more than two years as he also remained in jail for some time during the course of trial. It was contended that the appellants is entitled to be released from jail by condoning his period of sentence to the period undergone by converting the conviction from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part II IPC.

18. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, vehemently argued that the facts of the present case would bring it under Section 300 "thirdly' as it is proved from the record that the accused persons attacked the deceased with an intention to inflict such bodily injury which in the ordinary course of nature would cause death. As all four elements of Section 300, i.e. the presence of a bodily injury, the nature of the injury being fatal, the intention of the accused to inflict that particular bodily injury and further that the injuries were of the type which were sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature, were present and established by the prosecution, the offence is "murder' under Section 300 "thirdly'. It does not matter that there was no intention to cause death. It does not matter that there was no intention even to cause an injury of a kind that was sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature. It does not even matter that there is no knowledge that the act of that kind will be likely to cause death. It is argued that once the intention to cause bodily injury actually found to be present is proved, the rest of the enquiry is purely objective and the only question remains whether the injury was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.

Reliance is placed on the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Virsa Singh vs. State of Punjab1 to argue that looking to the nature of injuries and the turn of events thereafter, the conviction of appellant Sripat Harijan for the offence under Section 302 with the aid of Section 34 IPC is perfectly justified. No interference may be made in the decision of the trial court in this regard.

19. As regards, the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that it was a case of false implication of the appellant, it was argued by the learned A.G.A. that there is an eye-witness account and the presence of eye-witness on the spot was natural. The place of the incident was proved by the eye-witness as also in the enquiry made by the Investigating Officer. No contrary suggestion could be given to any of the witnesses of making a false investigation.

It was further argued that the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant of false implication at the hands of the informant is hypothetical, inasmuch as, even after death and conviction of two sons of the deceased, his landed property and house of the accused could not have gone in the hands of the informant. As both the sons of the deceased were alive, by mere implication of them in the murder of their father, they would not be denuded of the landed property of their father. It has come on record that apart from two sons, there was no other heir of the deceased and in any case, the landed property and the house would remain in the name of the accused persons, being sons of the deceased. In any case, the informant could not have derived any benefit from the death of his brother. Even otherwise, the deceased was living with his brother, the informant for a period of more than two years before the date of the incident. No evidence could be brought by the accused person for drawing any adverse inference against the informant of planning murder of his brother and false implication of the accused persons.

20. Having heard learned counsels for the parties and perused the record, as regards the place of the occurrence and the manner in which the incident had occurred, they stood proved with the statement of the informant, formal witnesses and material circumstances brought on record. The presence of eye-witness (PW-1) on the spot cannot be doubted as the deceased was residing with the informant/eye-witness. The time of the incident and the reason for presence of the informant at the place of the incident presents a natural picture. The informant had categorically stated that both sons of the deceased were annoyed with him and thrown the deceased out of his house. The deceased, thereafter, was living with the informant (PW-1) and the agricultural property was in the possession of the deceased. It was being sown by the deceased who was physically fit to look after his field. Both the sons were fighting for the agricultural field and the deceased had denied to give it to his sons. When the sons were fighting with him, the deceased told them that they would get the field only after his death. A day prior to the incident, both the sons fought with their father (the deceased) but the said incident did not aggravate on account of the intervention of villagers. As it was an incident of fight between father and sons, no report was lodged. It is proved from the record that the information of the incident in question was given by the deceased himself who was injured and conscious at the time when the non-cognizable report was lodged under Section 323/504 IPC. The Head Moharrir (PW-4) had proved that he himself scribed the report on the oral statement of the deceased (injured). The deceased had named his two sons Siri Harijan and Sripat Harijan being the assailants and categorically stated that he was hit by Lathi and the reason for assault was the demand of share in the land by his sons. The report dictated by the injured/deceased itself shows that his sons were saying at the time of assaulting him that they would beat him more if he would not give them their shares. The deceased could be saved as many people reached at the spot. No contrary suggestion could be given to the Head Moharrir and the report lodged by the injured/deceased was proved.

21. In the above facts and circumstances of the case, the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that it was a case of false implication of the appellants at the hands of the informant, brother of the deceased, is liable to be turned down. Once it is proved that the report was dictated by the injured himself and scribed by the Head Moharrir in the same language as was dictated to him, it cannot be said to be a false implication of the accused persons at the instance of the informant, by any stretch of imagination. There is no answer to the question as to why father would falsely implicate his two sons if he was injured by some stranger allegedly hired by his brother. It is not the case of the defence that the informant had himself attacked the deceased or injured him.

22. As regards the second submission with regard to the conviction of the appellant Sripat Harijan under Section 302 readwith Section 34 IPC, we are required to examine as to whether the act of the appellant in causing death of the deceased (his father) would amount to "murder' within the meaning of Section 300 IPC or it is a case of "culpable homicide which will not amount to murder' attracting punishment under Section 304 IPC. Further question is as to in which part of Section 304 IPC, the offence in question would be punishable, in case, the Court reaches at the conclusion that it was a case of 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder' and not 'murder'.

23. In order to ascertain the same, we are required to go through the legal principles governing the distinction between the provisions under Sections 300 and 302 of the Code on the one hand and Section 304 Part I and Part II of the Code on the other. Section 299 of the Code which deals with the definition of culpable homicide is also to be taken note of.

Sections 299 and 300 of the Indian Penal Code deal with the definitions of 'culpable homicide' and 'murder'; respectively. In terms of Section 299, 'culpable homicide' is described as an act of causing death:- (i) with the intention of causing death, or (ii) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or (iii) with the knowledge that such an act is likely to cause death. As is clear from the reading of this provision, the first part of it emphasises on the expression "intention' while the latter upon "knowledge'. As has been noted in a catena of decisions, both these words denote positive mental attitudes of different degrees. The mental element in "culpable homicide', i.e. the mental attitude towards the consequences of conduct is one of intention and knowledge. Once an offence is caused in any of the above three stated manners, it would be "culpable homicide'.

Section 300, however, deals with "murder'. Though there is no clear definition of "murder' in Section 300 of the Code but as has been held by the Apex Court and reiterated in Rampal Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh2, "culpable homicide' is the genus and "murder' is its species and all "murders' are "culpable homicides' but all "culpable homicides' are not "murders'.

24. Another classification that emerges from the Code is "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under Section 304 of the Code. There are decisions which also deal with the fine line of distinction between the cases falling under Section 304, Part I and Part II.

25. Dealing with a matter, wherein the question for consideration was whether the offence established by the prosecution against the appellant therein was "murder" or "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", the Apex Court in Vineet Kumar Chauhan vs. State of Uttar Pradesh3 considered its earlier decision in the State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. Rayavarapu Punnayya and Another4, wherein the then Justice R.S. Sarkaria brought out the points of distinction between the two offences under Sections 299 and 300 IPC, reiterating the law laid down in Virsa Singh Vs. State of Punjab5 and Rajwant Singh Vs. State of Kerala6. It was held therein that whenever a Court is confronted with the question whether the offence is "murder" or "culpable homicide not amounting to murder"; on the facts of a case, it will be convenient for it to approach the problem in three stages:- (i) the question to be considered, at the first stage, would be whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused the death of another; (ii) proof of such connection between the act of the accused and the death, leads to the second stage for considering whether that act of the accused amounts to "culpable homicide" as defined in Section 299. If the answer to this question is prima facie found in the affirmative, the stage for considering the operation of Section 300 IPC is reached; (iii) the third stage is to determine whether the facts proved by the prosecution bring the case within the ambit of any of the four clauses of the definition of "murder" contained in Section 300. If the answer is in the negative the offence would be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first or the second part of Section 304, depending, respectively, on whether the second or the third clause of Section 299 is applicable.

Further, if this question is found in the positive, but the case comes within any of the exceptions enumerated in Section 300, the offence would still be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first part of Section 304 IPC. It was, however, clarified therein that these were only the broad guidelines to facilitate the task of the Court and not cast iron imperative.

26. In Aradadi Ramudu alias Aggiramudu vs. State through Inspector of Police, Yanam7, the question was for modification of sentence from Section 302 to Section 304 Part II. While answering the same, the Apex Court had considered the above noted decisions in Virsa Singh (supra) as also other decisions in line namely State of U.P. v. Indrajeet8; Satish Narayan Sawant vs. State of Goa9 and Arun Raj vs. Union of India10 to note that for modification of sentence from Section 302 to Section 304 Part II, not only should there be an absence of the intention to cause death, but also an absence of intention to cause such bodily injury that in the ordinary course of things was likely to cause death. [Reference Paragraph 16]

Noticing the above noted decisions, in Rampal Singh (supra) the Apex Court had considered the distinction between the terms "murder" and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder". The observation in State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. Rayavarapu Punnayya (supra) was noted in paragraph '13' of Rampal Singh (supra) as under:-

"13. In the case of State of A.P. v. Rayavarapu Punnayya, this Court while clarifying the distinction between these two terms and their consequences, held as under: -

"12. In the scheme of the Penal Code, "culpable homicide' is genus and "murder' its species. All "murder' is "culpable homicide' but not vice versa. Speaking generally, ..."culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of this generic offence, the Code practically recognises three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called "culpable homicide of the first degree'. This is the greatest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Section 300 as "murder'. The second may be termed as "culpable homicide of the second degree'. This is punishable under the first part of Section 304. Then, there is "culpable homicide of the third degree'. This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is, also, the lowest among the punishments provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Section 304."

The guidelines laid down in its earlier decision in Phulia Tudu vs. State of Bihar11 had been noted therein to reiterate that the safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions (Sections 299 and 300) is to keep in focus the key words used in the various clauses of these sections. In paragraph '17', it was noted that :-

"17. Section 300 of the Code states what kind of acts, when done with the intention of causing death or bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause death or causing bodily injury to any person, which is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death or the person causing injury knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death, would amount to "murder". It is also "murder" when such an act is committed, without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such bodily injury. The Section also prescribes the exceptions to "culpable homicide amounting to murder". The Explanations spell out the elements which need to be satisfied for application of such exceptions, like an act done in the heat of passion and without pre- mediation. Where the offender whilst being deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation causes the death of the person who has caused the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident, provided such provocation was not at the behest of the offender himself, "culpable homicide would not amount to murder". This Exception itself has three limitations. All these are questions of facts and would have to be determined in the facts and circumstances of a given case."

It was observed in paragraph '21' in Rampal Singh (supra) that Sections 302 and 304 of the Code are primarily the punitive provisions. An analysis of these two Sections must be done having regard to what is common to the offences and what is special to each one of them. The offence of culpable homicide is, thus, an offence which may or may not be murder. If it is murder, then it is culpable homicide amounting to murder, for which punishment is prescribed in Section 302 of the Code. Section 304 deals with cases not covered by Section 302 and it divides the offence into two distinct classes, i.e. (a) those in which the death is intentionally caused; and (b) those in which the death is caused unintentionally but knowingly. In the former case the sentence of imprisonment is compulsory and the maximum sentence admissible is imprisonment for life. In the latter case, imprisonment is only optional and the maximum sentence only extends to imprisonment for 10 years. The first clause of Section 304 includes only those cases in which offence is really "murder", but mitigated by the presence of circumstances recognized in the Exceptions to Section 300 of the Code, the second clause deals only with the cases in which the accused has no intention of injuring anyone in particular.

In paragraph '22' Rampal Singh (supra), it was observed that where the act is done with the clear intention to kill the other person, it will be a murder within the meaning of Section 300 of the Code and punishable under Section 302 of the Code but where the act is done on grave and sudden provocation which is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender himself, the offence would fall under the Exceptions to Section 300 of the Code and is punishable under Section 304 of the Code. Another fine tool which would help in determining such matters is the extent of brutality or cruelty with which such an offence is committed. (emphasis added)

It was, thus, held therein that the distinction between two parts of Section 304 (Part I and Part II) is evident from the very language of this Section. While Part I is founded on the intention of causing the act by which the death is caused, the other is attracted when the act is done without any intention but with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.

It was further observed therein that it is neither advisable nor possible to state any straight-jacket formula that would be universally applicable to all cases for such determination. Every case essentially must be decided on its own merit. The Court has to perform the very delicate function of applying the provisions of the Code to the facts of the case with the clear demarcation as to under what category of cases, the case at hand falls and accordingly, punish the accused.

27. Referring to an earlier decision in Mohinder Pal Jolly vs. State of Punjab12, it was noted in Rampal Singh (supra) that the distinction between two parts of Section 304 has been stated with some clarity therein which reads as under:-

"24. A Bench of this Court in the case of Mohinder Pal Jolly v. State of Punjab [1979 AIR SC 577], stating this distinction with some clarity, held as under :

"11. A question arises whether the appellant was guilty under Part I of Section 304 or Part II. If the accused commits an act while exceeding the right of private defence by which the death is caused either with the intention of causing death or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as was likely to cause death then he would be guilty under Part I. On the other hand if before the application of any of the Exceptions of Section 300 it is found that he was guilty of murder within the meaning of clause "fourthly", then no question of such intention arises and only the knowledge is to be fastened on him that he did indulge in an act with the knowledge that it was likely to cause death but without any intention to cause it or without any intention to cause such bodily injuries as was likely to cause death. There does not seem to be any escape from the position, therefore, that the appellant could be convicted only under Part II of Section 304 and not Part I."

As a guideline as to how the classification of an offence into either Part of Section 304 would be made, it was held in paragraph '25' as under:-

"25. .....xxxxxxxxxxx.....This would have to be decided with reference to the nature of the offence, intention of the offender, weapon used, the place and nature of the injuries, existence of pre-meditated mind, the persons participating in the commission of the crime and to some extent the motive for commission of the crime. The evidence led by the parties with reference to all these circumstances greatly helps the court in coming to a final conclusion as to under which penal provision of the Code the accused is liable to be punished. This can also be decided from another point of view, i.e., by applying the "principle of exclusion'. This principle could be applied while taking recourse to a two-stage process of determination. Firstly, the Court may record a preliminary finding if the accused had committed an offence punishable under the substantive provisions of Section 302 of the Code, that is, "culpable homicide amounting to murder'. Then secondly, it may proceed to examine if the case fell in any of the exceptions detailed in Section 300 of the Code. This would doubly ensure that the conclusion arrived at by the court is correct on facts and sustainable in law.....xxxxx....."

The following observations in paragraph '16' of the decision in Aradadi Ramudu alias Aggiramudu (supra) have been quoted in para '34' to state that while answering the question for modification of sentence from Section 302 of the Code to Part II of Section 304 of the Code, it has to be kept in mind that:-

"not only should there be an absence of the intention to cause death, but also an absence of intention to cause such bodily injury that in the ordinary course of things is likely to cause death."

28. Keeping in mind the guidelines laid down by the Apex Court, in the facts of the present case, the first step in analysis, would be to examine as to whether the appellant had committed an offence punishable under the substantive provisions of Section 302 of the Code, i.e. "culpable homicide amounting to murder".

29. To return a finding on the issue, we have to determine as to whether the act by which the death is caused would fall in any of the four Clauses detailed in Section 300 of the Code.

30. Proceeding in this way in the facts of the instant case, it may be noted that both the accused and the deceased were sons and father. Their relationship were sour as the deceased was evicted from his own house by his two sons. The house in which two sons were living was in the Chak (agricultural field) which was in the possession of the deceased. It has come on record that the house in which two sons were living was in the Abadi which was ancestral and after eviction from his own house, the deceased was living with his brother, the informant herein. The deceased was fit enough to look after his field and he was managing his field without the assistance of his brother. It has further come on record that both the sons were annoyed and demanding their shares in the field which also seem to be an ancestral property. It has come in the evidence of PW-1 (brother of the deceased) that both the sons were living in one house and the fields of two brothers namely the deceased and the informant were adjacent. The house which was in occupation of the informant and in which the deceased was living, was in the possession of the informant since the time of his grandfather. It was stated by PW-1 that in the Abadi in which they were living, their ancestors were also living and after death of their ancestors, it came in their occupation. It has come in the evidence of PW-1 that he was having three houses in the village and both the accused persons were living in one house belonging to the deceased which was built about 6-7 years prior to the incident. From the statement of PW-1, it seems that the landed property and the Abadi wherein the houses were built by two brothers belonged to their ancestors. The accused persons were demanding their shares in the agricultural property which was denied by their father namely the deceased and that was the reason for their annoyance.

31. A day before the incident, a fight broke between two warring parties (father and sons) but with the intervention of villagers, no untoward incident could occur. However, in the early morning on the next day both the brothers (sons of the deceased) went together to the place where the deceased used to go to defecate and hit him by Lathis while saying that they would beat him more if he would not give their shares in the landed property.

32. The injuries found on the person of the deceased as indicated in the injury report prepared by PW-3 (doctor) show that the deceased was beaten by Lathis all over his body. PW-1 has stated that both the sons namely the accused persons were beating the deceased from all four sides and injuries were caused to the deceased on his chest, back, hands, legs and a portion of skull was also lacerated. The injury no. 1, found on the right side of the head of the deceased seem to be a simple injury. The injury no. 2 on the upper arm of the deceased was also found to be simple. However, the injury no. 3 on the back side of chest, five in number, proved fatal. The remaining injuries on the leg, hip, and buttock were also simple in nature having been caused by Lathis. It was stated by PW-3 (doctor) that five injuries on the chest of the deceased, multiple contusions as indicated in injury no. 3, could be seen from the naked eyes and the same situation was about injury no. 3. As per the doctor's report, all injury nos. 1, 5, 6 and 7 were simple and injury nos. 2, 3 and 4 were suspected fractures.

33. The doctor (PW-3) who himself treated the deceased stated that the deceased was brought to the hospital at about 11:00 AM and looking to the nature of injuries, he had suspected fractures and suggested X-ray and referred the deceased to the District Hospital, Ghazipur. However, no reason could be assigned by PW-3, the doctor who had treated the deceased as to why after reference the deceased was treated in the Primary Health Centre itself where there was no facility even of X-ray. No explanation could be offered as to why the deceased was not taken to the District Hospital, Ghazipur. PW-1, the informant also could not give any reply when confronted on this aspect. PW-3, the doctor who had treated the deceased at the hospital stated that the deceased was in a serious condition but was conscious and admitted in the P.H.C. even after reference to the District Hospital, Ghazipur, and his treatment continued there till the evening.

The explanation offered by the doctor (PW-3) on confrontation that the deceased was not in a condition to be transported to the District Hospital, Ghazipur does not seem to be convincing for the reason that the deceased himself went to the police station to lodge the report and then was taken to the hospital. PW-1 stated that the deceased was speaking till the evening while he was being treated in the P.H.C., Mardah. The postmortem report indicated that the deceased had consumed Milk sometime before he had died. The condition of the deceased could not be said to be such as is clear from the record that he could not have been transported to the District Hospital, Ghazipur. Further from the statement of the informant (PW-1), it is evident that the deceased was put on a Cot and was taken to the police station instead of a hospital. It took about one hour to them to reach at the hospital that too at a place where the deceased could not get proper treatment. It was admitted by PW-3 that emergency blood was not available in the P.H.C. From the turn of events, the manner in which, the deceased was treated after he had suffered injuries and died on the same day at about 4:00 PM, it is evident that the adequate medical treatment could not be provided to the deceased. The reason for the same could not be known to us nor can be discerned from the record but it seems to us that had the deceased got the proper treatment on admission in the District Hospital, Ghazipur, his life could have been saved.

34. Further from the nature of the injuries and the manner in which the deceased was assaulted by his two sons, it seems that both the sons were assaulting their father not with an intention to cause his death but to injure him being furious by the fact that the deceased was not giving them shares in the agricultural land. Both the sons were arguing and fighting with the deceased for their shares in the landed property which was an ancestral property. It is established that a fight had also broke between the father and his two sons and both sides were carrying Lathis when fighting in the field on the previous day, as per statement of PW-1. It is though proved by the prosecution that both the sons were carrying Lathis and they had assaulted their father at the place where he went to defecate and that the deceased who had no weapon in his hand was beaten mercilessly but merely from the nature of the injuries and the manner in which the assault took place, it could not be proved by the prosecution that the sons had an intention to cause death or such bodily injury which they knew would cause the death of their father being sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The treating doctor PW-3 had categorically stated that the deceased was though serious but conscious and as such he did not record his dying declaration. The deceased was referred to the District Hospital to get a better treatment. From the postmortem report, it seems that the internal organs of the deceased got damaged because of breaking of six ribs due to injuries on his chest and as per the postmortem doctor's report, the said injury was sufficient to cause death.

35. However, on a careful analysis of the above circumstances, it is proved that the intention of the appellant was though to cause bodily injury to their father but there was no intention to cause his death or such bodily injury as they knew would cause the death of their father being sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause his death. Had the accused intended to cause murder of their father, they could have assaulted him with Lathis on the head and barely two blows of lathi on head would have been sufficient to cause the death of the deceased on the spot.

36. The Court, thus, reaches at the answer to the first question that the appellant had not committed an offence within the meaning of Section 300 IPC, i.e. "culpable homicide amounting to murder" which is punishable under Section 302 IPC. The four elements of Section 300 IPC are not proved from the circumstances discussed above. The incident had occurred in a fit of anger and two sons had assaulted their father in desperation to get their share in the landed property which was denied to them by their father. The record further indicates that the only agricultural land of the family was in possession of the father, the deceased himself. The offence committed by the appellant, thus, would fall within the meaning of "culpable homicide not amounting to murder" under Section 304 of the Code.

37. A further question then would be whether the surviving appellant is guilty under Part I or Part II of Section 304.

38. As is evident from the statement of the injured in the written report, his two sons while giving blows of Lathi were saying that they would beat him more if their shares were not given by the deceased. From the injury report and the statement of PW-1, who was the eye-witness, it is evident that both the sons were freely assaulting their father by Lathis together but they had not aimed to cause his death. Out of seven injuries, barring one namely injury no. 3 all others were simple injuries. The injuries sustained by the deceased on his head were also simple. The deceased was conscious and speaking till he had succumbed to his injuries as he could not get proper treatment in the P.H.C., Mardah which was not equipped to deal with such injuries.

39. Considering the weapon used, the place and time of the incident and the nature of the injuries, it is found that the surviving appellant had committed the offence with his brother in a premeditated plan to cause injuries to his father and the act of the appellant cannot be said to have been done by mistake or accident but with the clear intent to cause bodily injury, which was likely to cause the death of the deceased. It is a case where there may be an absence of the intention to cause death or such bodily injury which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, but it is not a case where there was also an absence of intention to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death in the ordinary course of thing.

40. In view of the above discussion, though we find that the surviving appellant Sripat Harijan is not guilty of "murder' under Section 302 IPC but he is guilty of committing an offence under Section 304 Part I of the Code "culpable homicide not amounting to murder" punishable in the First Part (Part I) of Section 304 of the Code.

41. We, therefore, do not accept the contentions of the learned counsel for the surviving appellant that the offence committed by the surviving appellant would fall in the Second Part (Part II) of Section 304 IPC.

42. Having held that the surviving appellant Sripat Harijan is guilty of the offence under Section 304 Part I, we partially accept this appeal and alter the offence from that of Section 302 of the Code to one under Section 304 Part-I of the Indian Penal code.

Further giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of the present case, we find that the sentence of ten years rigorous imprisonment would be adequate for the offence of which the appellant has been held guilty.

We, therefore, award a sentence of ten years rigorous imprisonment to the appellant.

The judgment under appeal is modified in the above terms.

The appellant Sripal Harijan is in jail.

According to the counsel for the appellant, the period of incarceration of the appellant is about more than two years as he remained in jail during the course of trial and further has been lodged in jail on 2.12.2021 in execution of the non-bailable warrant issued by this Court.

Be that as it may, the appellant Sripat Harijan shall serve out the sentence awarded above.

The appeal is allowed in part.

The office is directed to send back the lower court record along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

The compliance report be furnished to this Court through the Registrar General, High Court, Allahabad.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishan Pahal, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Aarushi Khare, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Sri Vinod Kumar Singh Parmar, learned AGA for the State.

2. Present Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) of the Cr.P.C. has been preferred by accused-appellant Ishrat against the judgment and order dated 20.10.1992 passed by Sri S.C. Nigam, Seventh Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Nagar in Sessions Trial No.175 of 1990 (State Vs. Ishrat), Police Station- Chamanganj, District- Kanpur Nagar, whereby accused-appellant was convicted u/s 324 IPC and sentenced to three years rigorous imprisonment. He was also convicted u/s 354 IPC and sentenced to two years rigorous imprisonment. Both sentences were to run separately.

PROSECUTION STORY:

3. Prosecution story, in nutshell, as unfolded from written report dated 29.11.1988 (Ex.Ka-1) is that informant Shaukat Ali (PW-1) filed written report (Ex.Ka-1) transcribed by Mohd. Aslam, mentioning therein that on 29.11.1988 between 01:00 PM to 03:00 PM, his minor daughter aged about 4-5 years had gone to the house of one of the neighbours to play. On the same day at about 03:00 PM, some people of the locality were stated to have brought his minor daughter in a blood soaked condition from the field and informed that some unknown person had assaulted her private parts by a blade. The victim was taken to the hospital for treatment. It has also been stated in the FIR that blood stained blade is still lying in the field.

4. On the basis of written report (Ex.Ka-1), Chik FIR (Ex.Ka-5) was registered on 29.11.1988 at 09:15 PM as Case Crime No.274 of 1988, under Section 324 IPC against unknown person. Thereafter investigation was initiated.

5. The investigation was taken up by the Investigating Officer Mehfooz Ali, Sub-Inspector who after recording the statement of the witnesses, preparing site plan, taking in possession the blood stained blade and other materials, arrested the appellant and prepared the arrest memo dated 1.12.1988, thereafter submitted the charge-sheet against him on 16.12.1988.

TRIAL PROCEEDINGS:

6. Charge against the appellant was framed by the Trial Court on 22.6.1990 u/s 324, 376/511 IPC. The appellant had claimed himself to be juvenile at the time of offence but after the radiological examination, he was found to be major. The trial was proceeded as such.

7. In order to prove its case, the prosecution has examined ten witnesses i.e. PW-1 Shaukat Ali (Informant), PW-2 Victim, PW-3 Dr. Sushma Singh, PW-4 Ram Kishore, PW-5 Dr. H.N. Bahadur, PW-6 Dr. Ashok Upadhyay, PW-7 Mohd. Javed, PW-8 Gulshan, PW-9 Shakeela and PW-10 Mahfooj Ali. The Court was pleased to examine Dr. Ram Babu as CW-1 to prove the ossification test report of the appellant wherein the age of the appellant was found above 18 years.

8. PW-1 informant is the father of the victim and has corroborated the prosecution story. He has stated that the appellant had committed the diabolic offence of severely cutting the private parts of his minor daughter after having attempted to rape her. The witness was cross-examined by the counsel for the appellant wherein he has stated that after lodging of the FIR, he was informed by the victim that it was the appellant who had committed the said crime to her as by the time of lodging of the FIR, she was not in a condition to speak. He has proved his written report as Ex.Ka-1.

9. PW-2 is the victim who has stated that the appellant had taken her behind the bushes in the field by luring her to give her a toffee where she was disrobed and her private part was cut by him with a blade. She has also stated in the examination-in-chief that she had told about the name of the appellant at the hospital. She had identified the appellant in the dock. Nothing material could be extracted from her in cross-examination by the defence counsel.

10. PW-3 is Dr. Sushma Singh who has stated that the victim was in a state of shock at the time of her medical examination and was not even able to speak. Her blood pressure was found 180-50 mm Hg. Her internal examination was conducted under general anesthesia. She had observed that her private part was badly damaged and tear were present of size 06mm x 5mm and 08mm x .5mm. No spermatozoa were found by the pathologist in the vaginal smear. Dr. Singh has further opined that there is a possibility of sexual intercourse having been committed with the victim. She has proved the medical examination report as Ex.Ka-2. As per the Ossification test, the age of the victim was found to be four years. She has even confirmed the time of the offence. Dr. Sushma Singh has further stated that due to the serious condition of the victim, she had consulted Senior Dr. Negi and Surgeon Dr. Bahadur and the medical examination of the victim was conducted by her in their presence.

11. PW-4 Ram Kishore is the formal witness. He has proved the FIR as Ex.Ka-5 and the GD of the institution of the FIR as Ex.Ka-6.

12. PW-5 Dr. H.N. Bahadur, Senior Consultant who has proved the bed head ticket of the victim as Ex.Ka-7. The victim had undergone treatment from 29.11.1988 to 23.12.1988.

13. PW-6 Dr. Ashok Upadhyay who was the first person to examine the victim on 29.11.1988 at about 03:45 PM and found following injuries on her body.

"1. Horizontal incised wound 6cm x 1cm x muscle deep present on the pubic region 6cm below the umbilicus fresh bleeding present.

2. Horizontal incised wound 8cm x 1cm x muscle deep present half cm below injury no. One. Fresh bleeding present.

3. Horizontal incised wound 10cm x 2cm x muscle deep present One & half cm below injury no. Two.

4. Multiple incised wounds over right labia majora region on its upper surface & by the side ranging in size from 4cm x ¼cm to 1cm x ¼cm in size depth not probed. Fresh bleeding present.

5. Multiple incised wounds over left labia region on its upper surface & by its side ranging in size from 2cm x ¼cm to ½cm x ¼cm depth not probed. Fresh bleeding present.

6. Multiple small incised wounds present all along the margin of right labia ranging in size from ¼cm x ¼cm to ½cm x ¼cm x depth not probed. Fresh bleeding present.

7. Multiple small incised wounds present all along the margin of left labia ranging in size from ¼cm x ¼cm to ½cm x ¼cm x depth not probed. Fresh bleeding present.

Opinion

All injuries are fresh caused by sharp edged object for ascertaining the nature. All injuries kept under observation. Patient admitted & referred to E.M.O. Dufferin Hospital for internal examination of private parts and necessary action."

14. He opined that the said injuries could have been sustained by the victim on 29.11.1988 between 1 to 2 PM.

15. PW-7 Mohd. Javed is the independent witness. He has stated in his examination-in-chief that he has not seen the occurrence but had heard of it on 29.11.1988 at about 05:00 PM. He has not supported the prosecution story and thus, was declared hostile by the public prosecutor and cross-examined.

16. PW-8 Gulshan is another independent witness who had also resiled from his statement recorded by the Investigating Officer and has not supported the prosecution version.

17. PW-9 is the mother of the victim and has stated that about 15 days before the occurrence, an altercation with the appellant had occurred over watching television in her house. She has also corroborated the statement of the victim.

18. PW-10 Mehfooj Ali is the Investigating Officer who has proved recovery memo of blood stained blade recovered from the place of occurrence as Ex.Ka-8. He has proved the memo blood stained sand and simple sand as Ex.Ka-9. Ex.Ka-10 is the letter for medical examination of victim wherein Doctor has opined that the victim was found in an unconscious state. He has further stated that the victim was not able to speak at the time of her admission on 29.11.1988. Site plan has been proved as Ex.Ka-11. Ex.Ka-12 is the memo of blood stained frock of the victim. He has also proved the recovery memo of blood stained frock of the victim as Ex.Ka-13. The charge-sheet has been proved as Ex.Ka-14.

19. Thereafter, the statement of accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded. He has stated that the prosecution story is false. Appellant-accused Ishrat claimed that he has been falsely implicated in the case to get the house vacated.

20. On appreciation of evidence available before Trial Court and after hearing parties, learned Sessions Judge convicted and sentenced accused-appellant, Ishrat, as stated above, by judgment and order impugned in this appeal.

POINTS OF DETERMINATION:

i) Whether the appellant had committed the said offence of assault causing grievous hurt by dangerous weapon to the victim on 29.11.1988 between 1 PM to 3 PM?

ii) Whether the appellant had caused any assault or criminal force to the victim with an intent to outrage her modesty?

RIVAL CONTENTIONS:

21. Ms. Aarushi Khare, learned Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant has argued that the appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case. The FIR is delayed by about six hours and there is no explanation of the said delay caused. The appellant is not named in the FIR. During investigation, his name has come up in the statement of the victim, informant and other witnesses. Learned Amicus Curiae has further stated that there are several contradictions in the statements of the witnesses. She has also stated that as per the statement of the mother of the victim PW-9, the victim had come to the house of the appellant walking although she has denied the said fact later on during further cross-examination. She has referred to several contradictions in the said statement of the prosecution witnesses, namely, PW-1, PW-2 & PW-9. She has further stated that the blood stained blade and the blood stained frock of the victim has not been seen for chemical examination by the Investigating Officer. This is the serious lacuna in the prosecution story. She has also stated at Bar that the offence is of the year 1988 and much water has flown down the Thames, thus, the appellant is entitled to acquittal. The witnesses are interested witnesses and the said fact stands supported by the statements of appellant recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. The independent witnesses PW-7 and PW-8 have turned hostile. The prosecution story is falsified on account of absence of corroboration. She has also stated that if the court is not inclined in allowing the appeal, the appellant may be released to the period of sentence already undergone.

22. Per contra, Sri Vinod Kumar Singh Parmar, learned AGA has vehemently opposed the criminal appeal on the ground that the victim is a child of tender age of four years. The offence of cutting her private parts with a blade and also attempting to commit rape and outraging the modesty of the victim has categorically been proved by the statement of the PW-1 and PW-2 and has also been corroborated by PW-9 who happens to be the mother of the victim. There are no material contradictions in their statements. The treating Doctors have also categorically corroborated the prosecution story and have even been asked about the alleged time of offence regarding the injuries sustained by the victim which further substantiate the prosecution allegations.

23. Learned AGA has further stated that the FIR was naturally lodged by the appellant as it was his priority to get the victim medically examined as her private part was found mutilated and she was not in a conscious state. The said delay stands explained by the statement of the PW-1. The said fact has also been corroborated by the statement of PW-2 victim and PW-10 Sub-Inspector Mehfooj Ali, the Investigating Officer.

24. Learned AGA has further stated that in the present scenario, no independent witness is ready to depose against another person to face ire of the accused later on in life. To buttress his argument, he has placed much reliance on the judgement of Supreme Court in the case of Shiv Ram and Another vs. State of U.P.1, and the operative part of para-16 reads as under:-

"16. ..... The witnesses further admitted that many persons had gathered at the place of occurrence, if this be so it was very much necessary for the prosecution to examine some independent witnesses to lend assurance to the credibility of the evidence of these two eyewitnesses. These submissions do not impress us at all. Nowadays it is a common tendency that no outsider would like to get involved in a criminal case much less in the crime of present magnitude and, therefore, it was quite natural that no independent witness would come forward to assist the prosecution. It is well settled that the evidence of witnesses cannot be discredited only on the ground that they are close relatives of the deceased persons. All that is required in such a situation is that the court must scrutinize the evidence of such witnesses with utmost care and caution. The magnitude of the present crime and nature of prosecution evidence has put us on guard to appreciate the evidence of these two eye witnesses with utmost care and caution. We have done this exercise and we are unable to be persuaded to discard the evidence of these two witnesses on the grounds urged before us. The evidence of both these witnesses in our considered view is absolutely straightforward, unblemished and without any infirmity. The first information report which was lodged within four hours, naming all the accused also lends asurance to our conviction that the evidence of these two witnesses is trustworthy and cannot be discarded. The contentions of the learned counsel for the accused, therefore, stand rejected."

25. Learned AGA has also stated that the prosecution story is itself proved by the statements of PWs-1, 2 and 9 and they cannot be considered as interested witnesses as there is nothing on record to suggest that the appellant has been falsely implicated by the informant.

CONCLUSION:

26. This is one of the most serious and diabolic offence committed against a minor girl of tender age of four years.

27. Coming to the first point for determination, it is proved beyond reasonable doubt by the statements of prosecution witnesses i.e. PW-1 informant, PW-2 victim, PW-3 Dr. Sushma Singh, PW-5 Dr. H.N. Bahadur, PW-6 Dr. Ashok Upadhyay and PW-9 Shakeel, mother of the victim that the appellant has committed the aforesaid heinous offence with the victim of tender age. In the statements of prosecution witnesses, the date, time and motive of offence also stands corroborated. The identification of the appellant in the dock has been done by the PW-2 victim. The witnesses have not been cross-examined on this point by the counsel for the appellant. Even the minor contradictions that had crept up in the statement of the victim, have not been put to the Investigating Officer as per the provision of Section 145 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, thus, it also stands proved and unrebutted.

28. Now, I proceed to consider second point for determination which is in regard to commission of any assault or criminal force by the appellant with the victim with an intent to outrage her modesty. The said point has also been proved beyond reasonable doubt by the statements of the victim and the doctors referred above.

29. The learned Trial Court has rightly taken recourse of Section 222 of Cr.P.C. wherein the allegations of commission of rape by the appellant with the victim were not found. Although the internal examination report of the victim supports it. However, the evidence regarding the commission of offence punishable under Section 354 IPC was established by the statement of the victim PW-2 and, therefore, on this count, learned Trial Court has rightly convicted the appellant u/s 354 IPC, although, the charge was framed u/s 376/511 IPC. The accused-appellant deserved harsh punishment for the diabolic offence committed by him which depicts his depraved mental status.

30. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant has pointed out certain discrepancies in the statements of the prosecution witnesses. On this count, this Court is of the considered view that it is but natural that minor discrepancies and contradictions may appear in the statement of witnesses. It is a settled law that in the evidence of untutored witnesses such contradictions are bound to creep in. The witnesses have not been examined in Court immediately after the offence. They have been examined after about two years of the occurrence and some trivial and minor contradictions are natural to come up in their statements as they are not bound to possess a photographic memory.

31. The said view has been vented by the Apex Court in Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai Vs. State of Gujarat2, and the relevant paragraphs no.5, 6 & 10 are as under:-

"5. ..... We do not consider it appropriate or permissible to enter upon a reappraisal or reappreciation of the evidence in the context of the minor discrepancies painstakingly highlighted by learned counsel for the appellant. Over much importance cannot be attached to minor discrepancies. The reasons are obvious:

(1) By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

(2) ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

(3) The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

(4) By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape recorder.

(5) In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guess work on the spur of the moment 1.1 at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time- sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

(6) Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which take place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

(7) A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross examination made by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The sub-conscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him- Perhaps it is a sort of a psychological defence mechanism activated on the spur of the moment.

6. Discrepancies which do not go to the root of the matter and shake the basic version of the witnesses therefore cannot be annexed with undue importance. More so when the all important "probabilities-factor" echoes in favour of the version narrated by the witnesses.

10. Without the fear of making too wide a statements or of overstating the case, it can be said that rarely will a girl or a woman in India make false allegations of sexual assault on account of any such factor as has been just enlisted. The statement is generally true in the context of the urban as also rural Society. It is also by and large true in the context of the sophisticated, not so sophisticated, and unsophisticated society. Only very rarely can one conceivably come across an exception or two and that too possibly from amongst the urban elites. Because: (1) A girl or a woman in the tradition bound non-permissive Society of India would be extremely reluctant even to admit that any incident which is likely to reflect on her chastity had ever occurred. (2) She would be conscious of the danger of being ostracised by the Society or being looked down by the Society including by her own family members, relatives, friends and neighbours. (3) She would have to brave the whole world. (4) She would face the risk of losing the love and respect of her own husband and near relatives, and of her matrimonial home and happiness being shattered. (S) If she is unmarried, she would apprehend that it would be difficult to secure an alliance with a suitable match from a respectable or an acceptable family. (6) It would almost inevitably and almost invariably result in mental torture and suffering to herself. (7) The fear of being taunted by others will always haunt her. (8) She would feel extremely embarrassed in relating the incident to others being over powered by a feeling of shame on account of the upbringing in a tradition bound society where by and large sex is taboo. (9) The natural inclination would be to avoid giving publicity to the incident lest the family name and family honour is brought into controversy. (10) The parents of an unmarried girl as also the husband and members of the husband's family of a married woman would also more often than not, want to avoid publicity on account of the fear of social stigma on the family name and family honour. (11) The fear of the victim herself being considered to be promiscuous or in some way responsible for the incident regardless of her innocence. (12) The reluctance to face interrogation by the investigating agency, to face the court, to face the cross examination by Counsel for the culprit, and the risk of being disbelieved, acts as a deterrent."

32. It has also been settled by the Apex Court in Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan3, that corroboration is not the sine qua non for a conviction in a rape case.

"The rule, which according to the cases has hardened into one of law, is not that corroboration is essential before there can be a conviction but that the necessity of corroboration, as a matter of prudence, except where the circumstances make it safe to dispense with it, must be present to the mind of the judge .....

The only rule of law is that this rule of prudence must be present to the mind of the Judge or the jury as the case may be and be understood and appreciated by him or them. There is no rule of practice that there must, in every case, be corroboration before a conviction can be allowed to stand."

33. Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 provides that it is the quality and not quantity that matters with respect to proving of fact. The provision clearly states that no particular number of witnesses are required to establish a case. In the case herein, the statement of the victim stands corroborated by the medical evidence. In the case of Chacko alias Aniyan Kunju and Others Vs. State of Kerala4, the Apex Court has discussed in para-7 the parameters of Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 and the same is reproduced hereunder:-

"7. Coming to the question whether on the basis of a solitary evidence conviction can be maintained, a bare reference to Section 134 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (in short "the Evidence Act") would suffice. The provision clearly states that no particular number of witnesses is required to establish the case. Conviction can be based on the testimony of a single witness if he is wholly reliable. Corroboration may be necessary when he is only partially reliable. If the evidence is unblemished and beyond all possible criticism and the court is satisfied that the witness was speaking the truth then on his evidence alone conviction can be maintained. Undisputedly, there were injuries found on the body of the accused persons on medical evidence. That per se cannot be a ground to totally discard the prosecution version. This is a factor which has to be weighed along with other materials to see whether the prosecution version is reliable, cogent and trustworthy. When the case of the prosecution is supported by an eyewitness who is found to be truthful as well, mere non-explanation of the injuries on the accused persons cannot be a foundation for discarding the prosecution version. Additionally, the dying declaration was found to be acceptable."

34. Regarding the argument tendered by the learned Amicus Curiae pertaining to the hostility of the two witnesses i.e. PW-7 and PW-8 in the present case, the statement of hostile witnesses can be discarded and only the part which corroborates the prosecution story has to be considered. The two witnesses have not denied the commissioning of offence, but have only denied having seen it. The Apex Court in the case of C. Muniappan v. State of Tamil Nadu5, has opined as under:-

"81. It is settled legal proposition that:

"6. ... the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof."

82. In State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra [(1996) 10 SCC 360 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 1278] this Court held that (at SCC p. 363, para 7) evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Balu Sonba Shinde v. State of Maharashtra [(2002) 7 SCC 543 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 112] , Gagan Kanojia v. State of Punjab [(2006) 13 SCC 516 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 109] , Radha Mohan Singh v. State of U.P. [(2006) 2 SCC 450 : (2006) 1 SCC (Cri) 661] , Sarvesh Narain Shukla v. Daroga Singh [(2007) 13 SCC 360 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 188] and Subbu Singh v. State [(2009) 6 SCC 462 : (2009) 2 SCC (Cri) 1106] .

83. Thus, the law can be summarised to the effect that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence."

35. Considering the overall facts and circumstances of the case, statement of the witnesses, relevant case laws and the fact that the offence committed by the appellant by mutilating the private part of the minor girl cannot be termed as an act of a person of normal virtues. The said offence has been committed out of severe sexual lust and sadistic approach. The appellant does not deserve any kind of leniency as the said case stands proved beyond any reasonable doubt by the statement of the prosecution witnesses and the medical evidence adduced.

36. It is a very sorry state of affairs that the State has not preferred any appeal against the leniency observed by the learned Trial Court in sentencing the appellant to such a short term. The lethargy of the public prosecutor is highly deplorable.

37. From the evidence available on record, it is proved beyond reasonable doubt that the accused-appellant Ishrat had committed grave offence and the learned lower court had rightly convicted and sentenced him as mentioned above.

38. In above circumstance, I do not find any merit in the appeal. The appeal is dismissed, accordingly. The judgement and order dated 20.10.1992 passed by Sri S.C. Nigam, Seventh Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Nagar in Sessions Trial No.175 of 1990 (State Vs. Ishrat), Police Station- Chamanganj, District- Kanpur Nagar, is hereby affirmed. Bail bonds of accused-appellant are hereby cancelled and sureties are discharged from their liability. He is directed to surrender before the court below forthwith to serve out remaining sentence and if he fails to do so, concerned Chief Judicial Magistrate shall take appropriate action in this regard.

39. Let a copy of this judgement along with Lower Court Record be returned to the court concerned forthwith for compliance. A compliance report be also sent to this Court.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 372 - Appeal against acquittal in case u/s 498A, 304B IPC r/w s 113B of the Evidence Act and 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act - An appellate court has the full power to review, re-appreciate, and reconsider the evidence upon which an order of acquittal is founded - However, an appellate court should not ordinarily set aside a judgment of acquittal, as there is a double presumption in favor of the accused in case of acquittal - appellate court may interfere if the views of the trial court were perverse or otherwise unsustainable, if in arriving at a finding of fact, the trial court failed to take into consideration relevant admissible evidence and/or had taken into consideration the evidence brought on record contrary to law - If the finding so outrageously defies logic as to suffer from the vice of irrationality, it may interfere - wrong placing of burden of proof may also be a subject matter of scrutiny by the appellate court (Para 14)

B. Criminal law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 304 - Dowry death - Section 304 IPC - where the death of a woman is caused by any burn or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of the marriage and it is shown that soon before her death, she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband then the same shall be termed to be dowry death - "soon before" - Meaning - term "soon before" is a relative term and does not mean "immediately before" - interval between the time of the cruelty or harassment and the death should not be too long - It contemplates a reasonable time - Prosecution must show that there was a "proximate and live link" between the cruelty or harassment suffered by the woman and her subsequent death in order to prove that the death was a dowry death - This means that the cruelty or harassment must have been a significant contributing factor to her death - demand for dowry, cruelty, or harassment should not be stale but should be the continuing cause for the death of the married woman under Section 304-B (Para 38)

As per complain, deceased was staying at her brother's house since 28.06.2008 - On 04.08.2008 she left for village Hastinapur for some work at 2pm, but did not reach her destination - PW3 & PW5 lastly saw her with her husband on a motorcycle - thereafter she went missing, later her body was found in an agricultural field - prosecution alleged that the accused had demanded a dowry of one lakh rupees and a four-wheeler, and that the deceased was killed because the demand was not met - Held - Prosecution made bald allegations of a demand for dowry of one lakh rupees and a four-wheeler but not provided any details about when or where the demand was made - prosecution did not provide any details about when or where the demand was made, and there is no record of any complaint or legal proceedings being filed - death occurred at the deceased's maternal home, and the father-in-law had assured that he would take the deceased after the Teej ceremony - There were also inconsistencies in the testimony of the witnesses regarding the timing of the deceased's departure from the house, and the last seen theory was not supported by the evidence - recovery of the body was not supported by independent witnesses - Prosecution could not prove the ingredients u/s 498A, 304B r/w s 113B of the Indian Evidence Act and 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act - view taken by the trial court in acquitting the accused was a possible view - judgment and order of acquittal is not perverse, and there is no error in the trial court's conclusion that the accused is entitled to acquittal (Para 49, 50, 52)

Dismissed. (E-5)

5 . Noticing the prosecution version it transpires that the complainant being Shakti Singh son of Ram Bhajan, resident of Village Pali, Police Station Hastinapur, District Meerut, who claims himself to be real brother of the deceased Seema had submitted a written complaint on 6.8.2008 at 10.10 am with an allegation that his sister since deceased got married with the accused Sonu son of Ramesh. Various gifts and offerings were tendered to the in-laws of her sister however the same was not commensurate to their expectation and even in fact prior to the lodging of the FIR in question for a dowry demand was made referable to rupees one lakh and a four wheeler and as the same was not provided to them, the same became instrumental in commission of crime while disposing of his sister.

6. As per the written complaint the deceased was in the house of her brother being the complainant and she had at 2.00 in the noon on the fateful day 4.8.2008 proceeded from the village in question to Hastinapur, however, she did not reach the destination and in between the husband being one of the accused took her while allowing her to sit in the motorcycle and thereafter, she went missing and subsequently the dead body of the deceased was found in an agricultural field which belong to Deepak. On the basis of the written complaint so sought to be lodged appellant complainant FIR got registered under Sections 498A/304B read with Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act in Police Station Hastinapur against the accused herein.

7. One S.I. Prabhakar Dixit was nominated as the Investigating Officer, who happens to be PW10. He as per the prosecution version conducted the investigation prepared the site plan took statement of the witnesses and even in fact also assisted in the preparation of Panchnama. Body of the deceased was also sent for postmortem and eventually submitted charge sheet against the accused herein in the above noted sections.

8. The case was committed to sessions. Charges were read over to the accused herein, who happend to be the husband Sonu son of Ramesh, Smt. Munni mother-in-law and one Pradeep son of Chandrapal. The accused, who are three in number pleaded innocence.

9. Ultimately charge sheet was submitted in Case Crime No.211 of 2008, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act.

10. The prosecution in order to substantiate their version produced following ocular testimony namely (a) PW1 Shakti Singh (b) PW2 Shravan Kumar (c) PW3 Mekchand (d) PW4 Sudhir Kumar, (e) PW5 Vijai Pal (f) PW6 Constable Ram Pal Singh (g) PW7 C.O. Digambar Kushwaha (h) PW8 Dr. N.K. Gupta (I) PW9 Manju Gupta (j) PW10 S.I. Prabhakar Canbura (k) PW11 S.I. Sushil Kumar Sharma (l) PW12 S.I. Chandra Pal (j) PW13 Anil Kumar.

11. Besides the ocular testimony various documentary evidence were also produced by the prosecution which would be discussed in the latter part of the judgment.

12. Notably the present proceedings emanates under the appellate jurisdiction so encompasses under Section 372 of the Cr.P.C. at the instance of the complainant against the judgment of acquittal.

13. The appellate court as mandated by the Hon'ble Apex Court have to bear in mind that interference in the judgment of the acquittal is not to be resorted is not routine and cyclostyle manner as this Court can only interfere while granting its indulgence when the judgment of the acquittal is palpable erroneous, proceeds on misreading of evidence, perverse and takes into its ambit, the vice of miscarriage of justice.

14. To put it otherwise, there should be compelling and substantive reasons for interference. In a recent judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Guru Dutt Pathak Vs. State of U.P. (2021) 6 Supreme Court Cases 116, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraphs 14, 15, 16 have observed as under:-

14. We are conscious of the fact that this is a case of reversal of acquittal by the High Court. Therefore, the first and foremost thing which is required to be considered is, whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, the High Court is justified in interfering with the order of acquittal passed by the learned C trial court?

15. In Babu v. State of Kerala³, this Court has reiterated the principles to be followed in an appeal against acquittal under Section 378 CrPC. In paras 12 to 19, it is observed and held as under: (SCC pp. 196-199)

"12. This Court time and again has laid down the guidelines for the High Court to interfere with the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the trial court. The appellate court should not ordinarily set aside a judgment of acquittal in a case where two views are possible, though the view of the appellate court may be the more probable one. While dealing with a judgment of acquittal, the appellate court has to consider the entire evidence on record, so as to arrive at a finding as to whether the views of the trial court were perverse or otherwise unsustainable. The appellate court is entitled to consider whether in arriving at a finding of fact, the trial court had failed to take into consideration admissible evidence and/ or had taken into consideration the evidence brought on record contrary to law. Similarly, wrong placing of burden of proof may also be a subject matter of scrutiny by the appellate court.

13. In Sheo Swarup v. King Emperor¹4, the Privy Council observed as under: (SCC OnLine PC : IA p. 404)

".... the High Court should and will always give proper weight and consideration to such matters as (1) the views of the trial Judge as to the credibility of the witnesses; (2) the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused, a presumption certainly not weakened by the fact that he has been acquitted at his trial; (3) the right of the accused to the benefit of any doubt; and (4) the slowness of an appellate court in disturbing a finding of fact arrived at by a Judge who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses."

14. The aforesaid principle of law has consistently been followed by this Court. (See Tulsiram Kanu v. State ¹5, Balbir Singh v. State of Punjab¹6, M.G. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra¹7, Khedu Mohton v. State of Bihar¹8, Sambasivan v. State of Kerala ¹9, Bhagwan Singh v. State of M.P.20 and State of Goa v. Sanjay Thakran²1.) C

15. In Chandrappa v. State of Karnataka22, this Court reiterated the legal position as under: (SCC p. 432, para 42)

'42.... (1) An appellate court has full power to review, reappreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(2) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 puts no limitation, restriction or condition on exercise of such power and an appellate e court on the evidence before it may reach its own conclusion, both on questions of fact and of law.

(3) Various expressions, such as, "substantial and compelling reasons", "good and sufficient grounds", "very strong circumstances", "distorted conclusions", "glaring mistakes", etc. are not intended to curtail extensive powers of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal. Such phraseologies are more in the nature of "flourishes of language" to emphasise the reluctance of an appellate court to interfere with acquittal than to curtail the power of the court to review the evidence and to come to its own conclusion.

(4) An appellate court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

(5) If two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court.'

16. In Ghurey Lal v. State of U.P.23, this Court reiterated the said view, observing that the appellate court in dealing with the cases in which the trial courts have acquitted the accused, should bear in mind that the trial court's acquittal bolsters the presumption that he is innocent. The appellate court must give due weight and consideration to the decision of the trial court as the trial court had the distinct advantage of watching the demeanour of the witnesses, and was in a better position to evaluate the credibility of the witnesses.

17. In State of Rajasthan v. Naresh24, the Court again examined the earlier judgments of this Court and laid down that: (SCC p. 374, para 20)

'20. ... An order of acquittal should not be lightly interfered with even if the Court believes that there is some evidence pointing out the finger towards the accused."

18. In State of U.P. v. Banne25, this Court gave certain illustrative circumstances in which the Court would be justified in interfering with judgment of acquittal by the High Court. The circumstances include: Banne case 25, SCC p. 286, para 28)

i) The High Court's decision is based on totally erroneous view of law by ignoring the settled legal position;

(ii) The High Court's conclusions are contrary to evidence and documents on record;

(iii) The entire approach of the High Court in dealing with the evidence was patently illegal leading to grave miscarriage of justice;

(iv) The High Court's judgment is manifestly unjust and unreasonable based on erroneous law and facts on the record of the case; a

(v) This Court must always give proper weight and consideration to the findings of the High Court;

(vi) This Court would be extremely reluctant in interfering with a case when both the Sessions Court and the High Court have recorded an order of acquittal.'

A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Dhanapal v. State26. 19. Thus, the law on the issue can be summarised to the effect that in exceptional cases where there are compelling circumstances, and the judgment under appeal is found to be perverse, the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal. The appellate court should bear in mind the presumption of innocence of the accused and further that the trial court's acquittal bolsters the presumption of his innocence. Interference in a routine manner where the other view is possible should be avoided, unless there are good reasons for interference." (emphasis supplied) C

16. When the findings of fact recorded by a court can be held to be perverse has been dealt with and considered in para 20 of the aforesaid decision, which reads as under: (Babu case³, SCC p. 199) d

"20. The findings of fact recorded by a court can be held to be perverse if the findings have been arrived at by ignoring or excluding relevant material or by taking into consideration irrelevant/inadmissible material. The finding may also be said to be perverse if it is "against the weight of evidence", or if the finding so outrageously defies logic as to suffer from the vice of irrationality. (Vide Rajinder Kumar Kindra v. Delhi Admn. 27, Excise & Taxation Officer-cum-Assessing Authority v. Gopi Nath & Sons 28, Triveni Rubber & Plastics v. CCE2⁹, Gaya Din v. Hanuman Prasad³ 0Arulvelu v. Statell and Gamini Bala Koteswara Rao v. State of A.P.31)"

It is further observed, after following the decision of this Court in Kuldeep Singh v. Commr. of Police32, that if a decision is arrived at on the basis of no evidence or thoroughly unreliable evidence and no reasonable person would act upon it, the order would be perverse. But if there is some evidence on record which is acceptable and which could be relied upon, the conclusions would not be treated as perverse and the findings would not be interfered with."

15. Heard the present case is to be viewed in the light of the proposition of law so mandated by the Hon'ble Apex Court as reproduced herein above.

16. We have heard Ms. Nand Prabha Shukla, learned AGA, who appears for the State of U.P. and with her able assistance, the present appeal is being proceeded to be decided.

17. First and foremost this Court finds it proper to analyse the ocular testimony of the prosecution witness in brief.

18. As per PW1, who happens to be Shakti Singh, the real brother of the deceased, the first information report was lodged by him consequent to filing of written complaint wherein allegations under Section 498A read with Section 304B IPC and 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act were sought to be inflicted upon the accused herein while alleging that marriage of her sister along with the accused respondent no.2 was solemenised three years ago, though enough gifts and offerings were extended but demand of a four wheeler and one lakh rupees were made and even in fact more than couple of times harassment was meted to his his sister and she had come back to his place and with the help and the aid of well wisher, she was deported to her in-laws place. He has further stated that his sister had lastly come on 28.6.2008 and she was residing with him in her maternal place. However, on 4.8.2008, she from her maternal house at 2.00 in the noon had proceeded to village Hastinapur in connection with some work but she did not return. PW3 being Mekchand and PW5 being Vaiji Pal saw the deceased on the motorcycle of her accused husband and along with him on the second motorcycle, the accused opposite party no.3 was also present and traveling while riding his bike. According to PW1 the deceased was lastly seen with the accused opposite party nos.2 and 3.

19. It has been further deposed by the PW1 that due to non-payment of monetary amount and gift of four wheeler, the same became instrumental in disposing of the deceased and rather the deceased was also found in the field of one Deepak wherein whereat recovery of incriminating articles were made which belonged to the accused husband.

20. As PW2 one Shravan Kumar got himself examined who claims himself to be one of the close relative (Sadhu) and he in his cross-examination has stated that he was the mediator in the marriage of the sister of the complainant with the accused husband. He has further stated that a demand of rupees one lakh and a four-wheeler was made by the accused. In his deposition, he has further stated that on 5.8.2008, he received a call from the complainant regarding missing status of the deceased. He has further stated that he saw the accused opposite party no.3 being Mekchand son of Chandra Pal along with 2-4 persons.

21. As PW3 Mekchand appeared as a prosecution witness, according to him the accused used to demand dowry and he along with PW5 Vijai Pal on 4.8.2008 had gone to purchase buffalo from a place at Khatauli and he on 4.8.2008 at about 1-1.30 at noon while proceedings from Saidpur village Ganeshpur on the road found the accused husband along with the deceased and the said bike was being ridden by the accused husband and in the another motorcycle Ravindra and Pradeep were sitting and he came back at 8 in the night to his house then he was informed that the deceased went missing. PW3 Pradeep claims himself to be a family uncle of the informant.

22. As PW4 one Sudhir Kumar appeared as a prosecution witness who proved Panchnama and so far as PW6 being Rampal is concerned, he proved lodging of the chik FIR.

23. As PW5 Vijaipal appeared as a prosecution witness and he also supported the prosecution case while coming with a stand that he along with PW3 Meghchand had gone to purchase buffalo and he saw the deceased with the accused husband in one motorcycle and Pradeep and Ravindra in another motorcycle at 1.30 in the noon.

24. So far as PW7 is concerned he entered the witness box while identifying him as Digamber Kushwaha, who had conducted investigation while taking evidences and submission of the charge sheet.

25. PW8 as one Dr. K.N. Gupta got himself examined as PW8 and according to him he conducted postmortem of the deceased on 6.8.2008 wherein as many as five injuries were sought to be sustained by the deceased being on stomach and upper portion of the left side of the head. According to PW8 the body of the deceased was in decomposed situation and it was witnessing worms. He has further stated that the death of the deceased occasioned one and half to two days and there can be variation of 12-14 hours. He has further admitted that the time of the death of the deceased though written in the FIR is 2-3 days however, the same can be four days also and so far as injury nos. 1 to 3 are concerned, the same has been sustained by a pointed weapon and so far as 4-5 are concerned, the same is through hard and blunt object.

26. As PW9 Smt. Manju, who happens to be the wife of the complainant entered the witness box and according to her statement the deceased proceeded from her house at 9.00 in the morning.

27. As PW10 S.I. Prabhakar Dixit appeared and he proved the recovery of mobile and motorcycle which is being stated to be owned by the accused husband.

28. As PW11 one S.I. Sushil Kumar got himself examined, who proved the recovery of knife.

29. PW12 happens to be the witness who is the scriber of the Chik Fir, who proved the recovery of knife and incriminating articles.

30. PW13 happens to be Anil Kumar who is the owner of the mobile phone number 997527279 and the said mobile phone is being used to link the accused while committing crime.

31. We have carefully gone through the memo of appeal and the lower court records so summoned by the court.

32. Undisputedly the entire genesis revolves around the commission of crime by the accused with relation to demand of dowry and murder of the deceased while seeking to attract the provisions contained under Sections 498A read with Section 304B as well as Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act of the IPC.

33. Section 498A of the IPC itself provides that who ever being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman subjects such woman to cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extent to three years and also liable to find and further cruelty itself has been defined according to which there should be a conduct of such a nature which is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to live or health whether mental or physical and harassment in that regard.

34. Similarly, so far as 304 IPC is concerned the same relates to the contingency where the death of a woman is caused by any burn or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within 7 years of the marriage and it is shown that soon before her death, she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband then the same shall be termed to be dowry death exposing attraction of penal consequences.

35. Though Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act creates a presumption of the dowry death but the prosecution herein has to prove that the death occurred due to dowry demand.

36. Record reveals that the deceased was living in a maternal place since 26.8.2008 and the entire allegations centers around the events which occurred on 4.8.2008 meaning thereby that for approximately 35 days, the deceased was living in a maternal place and not in-laws place. It has further come on record in the cross-examination of PW1 Shakti Singh that the father-in-law of the deceased had come to the complainant's house in connection with death ceremony of Rohtash and he had assured that after the Teej (religious ceremony), he was taken away daughter.

37. The word soon before so employment in Section 304B of the IPC has been a matter of interpretation by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in various decisions wherein it has been mandated that the cruelty or harassment regarding dowry demand and death of the wife should not be strictly be soon before the death. However, it should be interpreted in such a manner that there should be consistent demand for dowry entailing even before the death of the wife.

38. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kans Raj Vs. State of Punjab and others (2000) 5 SCC 207 the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraph 15 has observed as under:-

15. It is further contended on behalf of the respondents that the statements of the deceased referred to the instances could not be termed to be cruelty or harassment by the husband soon before her death. "Soon before" is a relative term which is required to be considered under specific g circumstances of each case and no straitjacket formula can be laid down by fixing any time-limit. This expression is pregnant with the idea of proximity test. The term "soon before" is not synonymous with the term "immediately before" and is opposite of the expression "soon after" as used and understood in Section 114, Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act. These words would imply that the interval should not be too long between the time of making the statement and the death. It contemplates the reasonable time which, as earlier noticed, has to be understood and determined under the peculiar circumstances of each case. In relation to dowry deaths, the circumstances showing the existence of cruelty or harassment to the deceased are not restricted to a particular instance but normally refer to a course of conduct. Such conduct may be spread over a period of time. If the cruelty or harassment or demand for dowry is shown to have persisted, it shall be deemed to be "soon before death" if any other intervening circumstance b showing the non-existence of such treatment is not brought on record, before such alleged treatment and the date of death. It does not, however, mean that such time can be stretched to any period. Proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the consequential death is required to be proved by the prosecution. The demand of dowry, cruelty or harassment based upon such demand and the date of death should not be too remote in time which, under the circumstances, be treated as having become stale enough.

and in the case of Rajinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab (2015) 6 SCC 477 the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraphs 24 and 25 have observed as under:-

24. We endorse what has been said by these two decisions. Days or months are not what is to be seen. What must be borne in mind is that the a word "soon" does not mean "immediate". A fair and pragmatic construction keeping in mind the great social evil that has led to the enactment of Section 304-B would make it clear that the expression is a relative expression. Time-lags may differ from case to case. All that is necessary is that the demand for dowry should not be stale but should be the continuing cause for the death of the married woman under Section 304-B.

b 25. At this stage, it is important to notice a recent judgment of this Court in Dinesh v. State of Haryana²7, in which the law was stated thus: (SCC p. 537, para 15)

"15. The expression 'soon before' is a relative term as held by this Court, which is required to be considered under the specific circumstances of each case and no straitjacket formula can be laid down by fixing any time of allotment. It can be said that the term 'soon before' is synonymous with the term 'immediately before'. The determination of the period which can come within term 'soon before' is left to be determined by the courts depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case."

We hasten to add that this is not a correct reflection of the law. "Soon before" is not synonymous with "immediately before".

and yet in the case of Satbir Singh and another Vs. State of Haryana (2021) 6 SCC 1 in paragraph 38.3 has observed as under:-

"The phrase "soon before" as appearing in Section 304-B IPC cannot be construed to mean "immediately before". The prosecution must establish existence of "proximate and live link" between the dowry death and cruelty or harassment for dowry demand by the husband or his relatives."

39. Here in the present case the trial court has analysed the entire aspect of the matter while coming to the conclusion that the father-in-law of the deceased being Bhanvar Singh even in fact had visited the house of the complainant whereat the deceased was residing since 28.6.2006 till her death 4.8.2008 and he had assured to take the deceased to his own house after religious ceremony of Teej. The said circumstances even in fact coupled with the admitted fact that the deceased was staying in her maternal place since 28.6.2008 itself makes it clear that the present case is not a dowry death case. The position might have been different when the deceased was in her in-laws place from where she would have died.

40. Barring making bald allegations of demand of dowry of rupees one lakh and a four wheeler, no details have been given by the prosecution as to when and on which day the same was being sought to be demanded and further there is nothing on record to suggest that any complaint or proceedings drawn under any provision of law. The said aspect assumes significance and importance when the death occurred in a maternal place and there are surrounding factors which do not support the case of the prosecution while linking the accused herein beyond doubt.

41. Now another question arises which is with relation to the lase seen theory. As per the deposition of the PW1 being the informant brother of the deceased, the deceased had departed from the house in question on 4.8.2008 at 2.00 in the noon.

42. PW9 being Smt. Manju, who happens to be the wife of PW1 first informant has deposed that the deceased proceeded from the house at 9.00 in the morning. It has further come on record that even in fact if the deceased had gone walking then to the distance was 3 kms. then she would have reached by 10/10.30 at Hastinapur.

43. So much so according to the statement of PW3 being Mekchand and PW5 Vijai Pal, who supported the prosecution version of last seen theory as according to them the deceased was in the motorcycle of her husband and the second motorcycle Pradeep son of Chandrapal was there and further according to them in the cross-examination they had seen the deceased along with the accused husband at 1 or 1/30 at noon. It is highly improbable and that in case the deceased had gone walking and she started a journey at 2.00 in the noon than how PW3 and PW5 could have seen along with the accused.

44. To put the nail on the coffin of the prosecution theory the PW9 being Smt. Manju, who happens to be the wife of the first informant has come up with a stand that the deceased proceeded at 9.00 in the morning and in case the distance is calculated from the point last seen theory then the deceased could have easily reached by 11 and thus the entire prosecution theory stands demolished.

45. More so, so far as connecting the commission of crime by the accused through last seen theory also stands exploded from the fact that though PW13 Anil Kumar is supposed to have been made a witness in order to collect call details linking the accused with respect to commission of crime but it has come on record from the statement of the Investigating Officer as well as PW13 Anil Kumar that the mobile phone in question bearing number 9719724650 did not belong to the accused husband but it was in the name of Suresh Pal resident of Haridwar.

46. The learned trial court had taken pains of scrutinizing the said aspect of the matter while recording a categorical finding that the place from where the mobile was being used is also different from one place to other as it did not even link the presence of the accused at the sight of occurrence.

47. More so it has also come on record that though it is being stated by the prosecution that the recovery of a motorcycle and mobile phone has been recovered on the pointing out of the accused but there is no independent witness so as to connect the accused with respect to commission of crime.

48. Even otherwise though PW8 Dr. N.K. Gupta proved the postmortem report however according to him the death might have taken place 2-3 days and even 4 days prior to date of postmortem dated 6.8.2008.

49. Analysing the present case from the four corners of law, this Court finds that the prosecution has miserably failed to connect the applicant with respect to commission of crime particularly in view of the fact that the prosecution could not prove the ingredients so contained under Sections 498A, 304B read with Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act and 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act as firstly the death took place in the house of the informant being maternal house and the deceased from 28.6.2008 to 4.8.2008 was staying in her maternal house and further the fact that as per the deposition of PW1 the father-in-law Bhanwar Singh himself had come to informant place and assured to take the deceased after religious ceremony of Teej and so far as the timing of departing from the house by the deceased is concerned, there is a enormous variation vis-a-vis the testimony of PW9 Smt. Manju, who happens to be wife. Secondly, the fact that the last seen theory also stands exploded as it is highly improbable that the deceased would have been found in the company of the husband as there are inconsistency and variation and vast contradiction in the testimony of PW1 and PW9 and lastly the recovery which is being sought to be shown on the pointing of the accused is not supported by the independent witnesses.

50. Cumulatively marshaling the entire facts of the case including the ocular testimony and documents so adduced by the prosecution, this Court finds that the view so taken by the learned trial court while acquitting the accused is a possible view and judgment and order of acquittal is neither perverse nor there is any error committed by the learned trial court while arriving to the conclusion that the accused herein is entitled for acquittal.

51. Nonetheless presumption of double innocence is already attached to the accused herein and thus this Court finds the order of acquittal is liable to be affirmed.

52. In view of foregoing discussion, the present appeal is liable to be dismissed and is accordingly dismissed.

53 The records be sent back to the court-below.

Criminal Law - Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 3 - Material Contradiction in the St.ment of witness - effect - mere marginal variations in the St.ments cannot be dubbed as improvements but where material improvements and embellishments are found, evidence of such witness becomes unreliable and doubtful - discrepancies in the evidence of eye witnesses, if found to be not minor in nature, may be a ground for disbelieving and discrediting their evidence - the omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially, affect the trial, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited - if a witnesses evidence is found to be in conflict and contradiction with other evidence or with the St.ment already recorded, in such a case it cannot be held that the prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt - Benefit of doubt - When on the evidence two possibilities are available or open, one which goes in the favour of the prosecution and the other benefits an accused, the accused is undoubtedly entitled to the benefit of doubt - The principle has special relevance where the guilt or the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence (Para 57, 58, 59)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302 & 376 - Victim "x' aged about 10 years had gone to mango orchard for collecting mango - Accused appellant, caught hold the victim "x' and committed rape upon her & slitted (cut) her neck with knife thereafter the accused appellant ran away leaving the victim "x', who died at the spot - Trial court convicted him u/s 376 & 302 IPC & u/s 4/25 Arms Act - Held - The informant/father (P.W.1) was not an eyewitness nor a witness to any relevant circumstances of the alleged incident - Prosecution did not examine Chhotakke, who is claimed to be an eyewitness to the incident, and no reasonable explanation was provided for withholding his testimony - Radhey Shyam (P.W.3), another alleged eyewitness, was declared hostile - Material contradictions were found in the testimonies of prosecution witnesses regarding the location of the victim's body, the timing of the incident, and the information received by the police - post-mortem report of the victim revealed no signs of injuries on the hands and legs, and there was no evidence of semen in the vaginal smear, which was confirmed by the F.S.L. report - Additionally, no blood was discovered on the plain earth, contradicting the claims made by prosecution witnesses regarding blood on the victim's neck and private parts - Prosecution failed to establish the guilt of the appellant beyond a reasonable doubt - Conviction in the impugned judgment was found unsustainable, leading to the acquittal of the appellant based on the benefit of doubt. He received information at about 8/1-2 A.M. in the factory that animal has scratched victim 'x' who was living behind his house. Due to pressure of work both could not have gone to the place of occurrence. On the same day at about 10.00 A.M., his younger sister came to the factory alongwith police. The police asked the names of both and brought accused Anil to police station for interrogation and implicated him in a false case.

32. In the cross examination, this defence witness deposed that his house was sabotaged by the family members of victim 'x' and some members of her family were demonstrating keeping the corpse of victim 'x' on Durgaganj crossing , due to which he could not go to his house from this path. Later on, he was taken into custody by the police and was kept at the police out-post for 2-3 nights and could not be permitted to meet his brother. The wife and children of this witness have also told him that at the time of alleged incident, accused Anil Kashyap was present in his house and at about 8.00 A.M., he had gone to factory.

37. Heard Shri Sunil Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the appellant , Shri Hari Shanker Bajpai, learned counsel for the State- respondent and perused the lower court record as well as impugned judgment and order dated 11.01.2013 passed by the Trial Court.

Submissions of the Appellant's Counsel

38. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the accused appellant has been convicted and sentenced under sections 302,376 (2) (cha) I.P.C. and section 4/25 Arms Act without there being any concrete evidence against him and the findings of conviction recorded by the Trial Court are based on surmises and conjectures. As a matter of fact, it is a case of circumstantial evidence and without there being a complete chain of circumstances, the appellant has been convicted.

39. To substantiate the aforesaid submissions it has been argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that informant Nand Lal (P.W.1) had lodged the first information report against the accused appellant on a false story narrated by Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) and further Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) has been declared hostile. The informant P.W.1 is neither an eye-witness nor a witness of any circumstance related to the alleged incident. Chhotakke, who is said to be the eye witness of the alleged incident has not been examined by the prosecution for the reasons best known to the prosecution. Being said to be an eye-witness of the incident, he ought to have been produced by the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. There are material contradictions and discrepancies in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses.

40. Learned Counsel for the accused appellant has submitted that accused appellant had been seen coming out from mango orchard by P.W.2 Sajiwan Lal, P.W.3 Radhey Shyam (declared hostile) and Chhotakke (not examined) while during the cross-examination Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) had stated that on the date of incident he was present in his mango orchard and on hearing screaming, he saw the accused appellant coming out from the near mango orchard and the accused-appellant fled away seeing them.

41. As regards, the recovery of the knife, learned counsel for the appellant has argued that there was no independent witness of the alleged recovery of blood stained knife allegedly made at the instance of the accused appellant and the recovery has been planted in order to frame the accused in the case. According to him, as a matter of fact none has witnessed the incident and the informant on the basis of story as narrated by Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2)and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) lodged the FIR implicating the appellant.

42. It has been empathetically argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that as per the post-mortem report of the victim 'x' neither there was any abrasion nor contusion was found on the hands and legs nor any stain of semen was found in the vaginal smear of the deceased. As per the report of Forensic Science Laboratory, U.P. Lucknow, no spermatozoa and gonococci was found in vaginal swab, smear slide, Kurta, Baniyayin and under wear of the victim 'x', and further no blood was found in the plain earth and smear slide whereas if the prosecution witnesses have stated that blood was oozing from the neck and private part of the victim 'x' and the Investigating Officer had collected the blood stained earth from the place of incident, and as per the report of Forensic Science Laboratory blood was found in vaginal swab, Kurta, Baniyayin, underwear, blood stained earth with leaves and knife. Since the blood of victim 'x' had not been matched with the aforesaid articles, the aforesaid facts create doubt on the prosecution story as alleged by the prosecution.

43. Next argument of the learned Counsel for the appellant is that the trial court materially erred in not believing the testimonies of defence witnesses, who categorically stated that at the time of alleged incident the accused appellant was not present.

44. It has also been argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that cogent reasons have not been given by the learned trial court for not believing the testimonies of defence witnesses and further the appellant has specifically stated in his statement under Section 313 C.P.C that P.W. 3 Radhey Shyam has given false evidence to save the actual assailant.

45. Learned counsel for the appellant has also argued that the motive to commit murder of deceased victim 'x' was not proved by the prosecution but even then the trial court had convicted the accused appellant by mis-appreciation of evidence adduced by the prosecution. The accused appellant has been convicted and sentenced under sections 302 and 376 (2) (cha) IPC and section 4/25 Arms Act without having any evidence against him. The judgment of the trial court is based on surmises and conjectures.

Submission on behalf of State-respondent

46. Refuting the assertions of the appellant, learned counsel for the State-respondent submits that adequate evidence is available on record against the accused appellant which indicates the involvement of the accused/appellant in commission of the crime in question. It is pointed out that accused/appellant committed the rape of victim and cut her neck with knife. The deadbody and several articles were discovered at the place of incident and a blood stained knife which was used in the commission of crime was found at the pointing out of accused appellant. All these circumstances show the guilt of the accused/appellant in committing the murder of the deceased.

Finding by this Court

47. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the material brought on record, it is manifestly clear that the trial Court has convicted the accused/appellant only on the basis of ocular testimony of Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) as well as recovery of blood stained knife made on the pointing out of accused/appellant.

48. It is important to mention that Radhey Shyam (P.W.3), who is said to be eye witness has been declared hostile as he had not supported the prosecution version. It is to be noted that Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) is the cousin of the Informant, who has lodged the FIR. It appears that initially seeing the brutal murder of his niece, he took a stand that he had witnessed the incident but later on when he came to his conscience, he did not support the prosecution story and stated in clear words that he had not seen the occurrence. Had he actually witnessed the accused committing the murder of his niece, then he would have definitely stood and would not allow the actual assailant to go escort free. Similarly, Chhotakke, who was working in the mango orchard alongwith Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) has not been produced by the prosecution to support the prosecution version. No plausible explanation has been given for withholding Chhotakke, who was present at the site of the occurrence.

49. Now, we will scrutinize the evidence of Nand Lal (P.W.1), who is the informant and father of the deceased. First of all, it is relevant to point out that Nand Lal (P.W.1) was not present on the spot when the alleged incident took place and had lodged the FIR as per narration alleged to be given by the Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) and Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2). This witness has stated that on 3.7.2007 at about 6.00 AM, his daughter alongwith brother Rajesh had gone to the mango orchard to collect mango. The brother had come back after collecting the mango and the daughter was in the mango orchard. The news of the incident has spread in the village and hearing on the news, he reached at the spot and took the body to the Durgaganj crossing and thereafter gave dictation to one Sushil Kumar for lodging the FIR. In his cross-examination, this witness had admitted that he had not seen the occurrence and was at the house. He was told about the incident by Sajiwan Lal (P.W. 2) and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3).

50. A conjoint reading of the FIR and statement of Nand Lal (P.W.1) recorded before the court, shows that there is material contradiction in the FIR. As per narration of the incident given in the FIR, an impression is given that he had seen the incident and nowhere he has stated that he has come to know about the occurrence from Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3). In the FIR, he has stated that dead body of the victim "x' is lying on the spot whereas in the cross-examination he had deposed that he came to know about the occurrence from Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) and Radhey Shyam (P.W.3). Further, in the FIR it was stated that dead body of the deceased is lying on the spot whereas in his examination-in-chief, this witness had stated in clear words that he took the dead body to Durgaganj Crossing and thereafter dictated the report to one Sushil Kumar. He had also admitted that he had lodged the FIR as was told by the people. Moreover, from the language and tenor of the FIR, it can easily be inferred that the same was lodged after consultation and someone else had dictated the report. Moreover, the prosecution has not produced Sushil Kumar to establish the fact that he had written the report on the dictation of the informant. Therefore, the trial court has committed manifest error in not considering all these important facts while relying upon his testimony.

51. Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) in his statement had deposed that he had given information about the incident at the house of informant and thereafter went to the police outpost and gave information and thereafter information was given from the police outpost to the police station. Thereafter the police had reached at the place of occurrence with the said witness. Now, again there are contradictions in the statements of Nand Lal (P.W.1) and Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) as Nand Lal (P.W.1) had stated that he took the dead body to the Durgaganj Crossing whereas Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) had stated that the dead body was lying on the spot and he reached at the spot alongwith police. Nowhere he had stated that while going to the police out post, police station or going back to the spot, Nand Lal (P.W.1) father of the deceased was also accompanying with him.

52. Radhey Shyam (P.W.3), who, as per prosecution version, was present near the site of occurrence alongwith Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) in the mango orchard. Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) had also stated in his cross-examination that he alongwith Radhey Shyam (P.W.3), Chhotakke and Pachcha were working in the mango orchard. However, Radhey Shyam (P.W.3) in his examination-in-chief stated that at the time of murder, he was not protecting the mango orchard in the morning and as such the prosecution requested for declaring him as hostile. It is important to point out here that this witness in his cross-examination gave altogether different story with regard to place where the dead body was lying. He stated that when he went to the spot the dead body was being sealed and the place where the dead body was lying is a leather store of dead animals.

53. Again there are major contradictions with regard to information to the police and lodging of the FIR. Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) in his statement has stated that after the incident he informed at the house of the deceased, thereafter gave information to the police at the Police out post (Chowki) and thereafter the information was transmitted to the Police Station. In contrast, S.I. Kamlesh Kumar (P.W.4) who was posted as Head Moharrir at the police station Kakori at the relevant time had stated in his cross-examination that the complainant had come to lodge the FIR alongwith one person Krishna Pal of village Dasdoi. Inspite of the incident, no information was received prior to lodging of the FIR. Thus, it is clear that the learned Trial Court erred in believing the testimonies of Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) and S.I. Kamlesh Kumar (P.W.4) though they have given altogether different version with regard to receiving of information of the alleged crime.

54. It is said that on 4.7.2007, the police party was searching the accused when an information was given by the Informer that accused Anil Kashyap is going from Kakori towards Mohan Road and when they reached near village Chilaluli, they found one person going on the road, who was intercepted and taken into custody at 00.45 AM. On interrogation, he admitted his guilt and said that he is ready to give the knife on reaching the place of occurrence. When they reached near the Bones Store, he brought the blood stained knife from an unkept place. S.I. Mahendra Pal Singh (P.W.5) has stated in his statement that Fard recovery was prepared on the spot and contains his signature as well as signature of accused and witness Harilal and Raj Kumar. In contrast, Sri Prabhakar Tiwari (P.W.8), who was Investigating Officer of Case Crime No.242/2007 under Section 4/25 Arms Act had deposed before the court that the investigation of this case was entrusted to him on 4.7.2007 and sealed knife was deposited in the police station. He had further deposed that in the Fard Memo there are only police witnesses and there is no public witness. The statement of S.I. Prabhakar Tiwari (P.W.8) and Mahendra Pal Singh, SI (Retd.) (P.W.5) are contradictory to each other and cannot be relied so far as recovery of knife is concerned. It may be added that recovery of knife was made on 4.7.2007 after the midnight and there is no whisper in the statement of P.W.5- Mahendra Pal Singh as to how and from which place, witnesses Harilal and Raj Kumar were taken to accompany the police party.

55. Before proceeding further, it would not be out of place to mention here that typically in a criminal trial, the statements made by witnesses before the Investigating Officer (IO) recorded under Section 161 CrPC are pressed into service to bring out inconsistencies or contradictions or improvements as the case may be on the part of the defence, to discredit the evidence of the prosecution witnesses. Thus, what a witness had stated before IO recorded under Section 161CrPC or a statement recorded under Section 164 CrPC before the Magistrate is generally compared with what the witness testified before the court to bring out the inconsistencies, contradictions in the evidence. Having discussed that previous statement of the witness recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. can be used only for the purpose of contradiction in the manner discussed above, a related issue may also be kept in mind.

56. One of the grounds for assailing the conviction of the appellant is that there were impermissible improvements, embellishments and inconsistencies in the evidence of the main prosecution witnesses qua their previous statement, which would render their evidence unreliable and creates doubt on the prosecution story.

57. In this regard, one may note numerous decisions of the courts in which it has been held that where the material improvements and embellishments has been found, evidence of such witness becomes unreliable and doubtful.

In M.G. Agarwal Vs. State of Maharashtra AIR 1963 SC 200: (1963) 1 Cri LJ 235 , the Hon'ble Supreme Court has been pleased to observe as under :-

"if the circumstances proved in a case are consistent either with the innocence of the accused, or with his guilt, then the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt. When it is held that a certain fact has been proved, then the question that arises is whether such a fact leads to the inference of guilt on the part of the accused person or not, and in dealing with this aspect of the problem, benefit of doubt must be given to the accused and a final inference of guilt against him must be drawn only if the proved fact is wholly inconsistent with the innocence of the accused, and is entirely consistent with the guilt."

In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC 116, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has been pleased to observe as under:-

"Graver the crime, greater should be the standard of proof. An accused may appear to be guilty on the basis of suspicion but that cannot amount to legal proof. When on the evidence two possibilities are available or open, one which goes in the favour of the prosecution and the other benefits an accused, the accused is undoubtedly entitled to the benefit of doubt. The principle has special relevance where the guilt or the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence."

In B.N. Mutto & Another Vs. Dr. T.K. Nandi (1979) 1 SCC 361, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has been pleased to observe as under:-

"It stems out of the fundamental principles of our criminal jurisprudence that the accused is entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt. If two reasonably probable and evenly balanced views of the evidence are possible, one must necessarily concede the existence of a reasonable doubt. But fanciful and remote possibilities must be left out of account. To entitle an accused person to the benefit of a doubt arising from the possibility of duality of views, the possible view in favour of the accused must be as nearly reasonably probable as that against him."

58. The discrepancies in the evidence of eye witnesses, if found to be not minor in nature, may be a ground for disbelieving and discrediting their evidence. In such circumstances, witnesses may not inspire confidence and if their evidence is found to be in conflict and contradiction with other evidence or with the statement already recorded, in such a case it cannot be held that the prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

59. While deciding such a case, the Court has to apply the aforesaid tests. No doubt the mere marginal variations in the statements cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statement made by the witness earlier. However, the omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited.

60. In the instant case, as discussed above, there are major contradictions in the statements of witnesses as regard to the place where dead body was found, the timing of the incident, the information received by the police as the star witness in his deposition has stated that after informing at the house of the victim, he informed the police whereas police personnel in their statements have deposed that prior to the lodging of the FIR, no information with regard to incident was received by them.

61. Therefore, this Court also considers appropriate not to rely on the evidence of Sajiwan Lal (P.W. 2), as an eye witness and consequently it also discredits the evidence of Nand Lal (P.W.1) and S.I. Kamlesh Kumar (P.W.4). The inconsistencies and embellishments as pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellant has materially made difference to the crucial aspect of the incident of they being eyewitnesses.

62. One more thing which needs mention is that according to the Investigating Officer, the accused was arrested while they were in search of the accused in the late hours of midnight and on information of Informer, they saw that the accused was going from Kakori to Mohan Road. It is hard to digest that the appellant-accused after committing such a heinous crime will remain present in the village and will not escape when it has come in evidence that on account of incident, there was uproar in the public of the village and they have even blocked the Durgaganj crossing. It is a natural phenomena that if an accused commits the crime and some persons have seen him committing the crime, then he will make all efforts to ran away far place to avoid his arrest. Thus from the evidence of the police personnel it can easily be presumed that accused was not arrested in the manner as suggested or alleged by the police.

63. It is also important to mention here that as per prosecution versions, the incident occurred on 3.7.2007 at about 7.30 AM and the First Information Report was registered at the Police Station Kakori on the same day at 10.05 registered as case crime no. 162 of 2007. Mahendra Pal Singh has been examined by the prosecution as P.W.5, who was posted as Sub Inspector at the relevant time at the Police Station Kakori. He in his statement has stated that case was registered in his presence and on receipt of information, he alongwith other police officers and force had left for the place of occurrence. In his cross-examination this witness had stated that no prior information was received at the police station prior to lodging of the FIR whereas Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2), who is said to be star witness, had categorically stated in his statement that after giving information at the house of victim, had informed about the incident to the Police out-post and the information was transmitted from the police out post to the Police Station. It is the definite case of the prosecution that the FIR was registered at 10.05 AM and prior to lodging of the FIR, no information was received at the Police Station Kakori whereas Mahendra Pal Singh,S.I (Retd.) (P.W.5) has stated in clear words in his cross-examination that the police personnel had reached the site of occurrence at 10.05 AM. It is highly impossible that police will reach the spot at a time when FIR was registered. Thus, his statement demolishes the entire prosecution story and we find force in the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant that the appellant has falsely been implicated by someone who bore enmity against him and had disclosed his name to the informant and none had actually seen the alleged incident.

64. Our above finding is countenanced by the fact that as per medical evidence no gonococci or sperm was found and as such the story of committing rape by the appellant as narrated by Nand Lal (P.W.1)-informant and Sajiwan Lal (P.W.2) is falsified and create doubt on the prosecution story.

CONCLUSION

65. In the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered view that there is no cogent or clinching evidence on record which proves the guilt of the accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt. Henceforth, we hold that the prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of the appellant beyond all reasonable doubt, and the benefit of doubt has to go to the accused-appellant herein. The impugned judgment of conviction, thus found unsustainable and is liable to be set aside and the appellant is entitled to be acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

66. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 11.1.2013 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.16, Lucknow in Session Trial No. 809 of 2007 (State Vs. Anil Kumar Kashyap), arising out of Case Crime No. 241 of 2007 under sections 302 and 376 IPC, Police Station Kakori, District Lucknow and Session Trial No. 810 of 2007 (State Vs. Anil Kumar Kashyap), arising out of Case Crime No. 242 of 2007 under section 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Kakori, District Lucknow, is hereby set aside.

67. Appellant, Anil Kashyap is acquitted of the charges levelled against him under Sections 302, 376 (2) (cha) IPC and section 4/25 Arms Act. He is in jail. He shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

68. Appellant Anil Kashyap is directed to file personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance of Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

69. The office is directed to remit the Lower Court Record alongwith a certified copy of this judgment for necessary information and compliance forthwith to the court concerned.

Lal Bahadur Patel ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri R.B.S. Rathaur

Counsel for the Respondent:

Sri Pankaj Tiwari, Ld. A.G.A., Sri Sultan Hasan Ibrahim

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Section 157 - Delay in sending FIR to Magistrate - Section 157 Cr.P.C. requires the concerned police officer to promptly forward a copy of the FIR to the Magistrate - But mere delay in sending the report itself cannot lead to a conclusion that the trial is vitiated or the accused is entitled to be acquitted on this ground - where there is an eye-witness account and direct evidence then delay in sending the F.I.R. to the Magistrate is immaterial & F.I.R. cannot be termed as ante-timed on this ground (Para 24, 25, 26)

B. Criminal Law - Evidence Act,1872 - Sections 25 & 27 - How much of information received from accused may be proved - Confession to police office - Its evidentiary value & exception - Held - when an accused being in the custody of police makes a St.ment that reveals some information, leading to the recovery of incriminating material or discovery of any fact concerning to the alleged offence, such St.ment can be proved against him - In a St.ment if something new is discovered or recovered from the accused which was not in the knowledge of the Police before disclosure St.ment of the accused is recorded, it is admissible in the evidence (Para 21)

In the instant case recovery of weapon of offence was made at the pointing out of the appellant/convict - At the time of recovery he told the Investigating Officer that this was the Axe, by which he killed his mother - He also got recovered a blood stain shirt, which he wore at the time of committing the crime - on forensic examination human blood was found on both the articles - convict/appellant St.d, at the time of recovery of axe, that this was the axe which he used to hit his mother and after being injured his mother fell down upon him, therefore, his shirt got blood stains and he ran away upon being challenged by the people of the village - Held - St.ment of the accused to the extent it relates to the discovery of articles is admissible in evidence u/s 27 of the Indian Evidence Act and cab be read in evidence (Para 19)

C. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Section 378 - Appeal against acquittal - The CrPC does not differentiate in terms of power, scope, jurisdiction, or limitation between appeals against convictions or acquittals - the appellate Court is free to consider both the facts and the law, although self - restraint is exercised when dealing with the orders of acquittal, which carry a double presumption of the accused's innocence - It is a well-established principle that if two possible views exist, the High Court should refrain from interfering with the trial Court's judgment - If the view taken by the trial Court is a possible one, the acquittal recorded by the trial Court should not be disturbed (Para 30)

Accused/convict harbored animosity towards his mother following a money dispute - While she was spreading manure in the field, the accused attacked his mother by striking her head with an axe - his sister-in-law & sister raised an alarm - due to the severity of her injuries, the mother later succumbed to her wounds - Held - Prosecution established the charges beyond reasonable doubt against the convict/appellant, u/s 302 I.P.C. which included an eye-witness testimony i.e. P.W. 2, daughter of the deceased was present on the spot, the recovery of the weapon of offense and a blood-stained shirt - the forensic examination confirmed the presence of blood on the recovered items - dead body recovered with injuries on the cadaver of the deceased - there was no reason for falsely implicating the convict in the case - Appellant rightly convicted (Para 28)

1. Criminal Appeal No. 437 of 2017 has been preferred by the convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel, Criminal Appeal No. 657 of 2017 has been preferred by the complainant-Lal Singh Patel and Government Appeal No. 1000163 of 2017 has been preferred by State-appellant against the judgment and order passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court, Pratapgarh in Sessions Trial No. 26 of 2014 (State Versus Lal Bahadur Patel and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 62 of 2013, under Sections 302/34, 120-B and 506 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short "I.P.C"), Police Station Manikpur, District Pratapgarh, wherein trial Court convicted the appellant Lal Bahadur Patel, under Sections 302 IPC and acquitted co-accused Vimal Kumar Patel and Smt. Ramkali, under Sections 120-B and 506 IPC.

2. Necessary facts for disposal of these appeals in short are as under:-

A First Information Report (in short F.I.R.) was registered at Case Crime No. 63 of 2013, under Sections 302, 120-B and 506 IPC at Police Station Manikpur, District Pratapgarh on 17.07.2013, on the basis of written report submitted by the complainant Lal Singh Patel. It was narrated in the written report that the father of the complainant was employed in Indian Railways at the post of Class IV. He died during his employment. His elder brother namely Lal Bahadur Patel had developed animosity towards his mother for division of money on the behest of his in-laws. Before two days of incident Ram Kali (mother-in-law) came to his house and threatened to kill his (complainant's) mother. On 17.07.2013 at about 10 A.M., when his mother, sister-in-law Rekha Devi and sister Anita went to spread manure in the agricultural field, Lal Bahadur Patel and his brother-in-law Vimal Kumar Patel reached there. Lal Bahadur Patel was armed with Axe and he on exhortation of Vimal Kumar Patel assaulted his mother on her head. His sister-in-law and sister raised alarm, then the complainant reached at the spot and found her mother ensanguined (Lahu-luhaan). He carried his mother to the Government Hospital, Kunda by Government Ambulance (108) but due to severe injury, she was referred to Swaroop Rani Hospital, Allahabad, where she died during the course of treatment. The complainant reached at the Police Station and lodged the F.I.R.

3. After investigation charge-sheet was submitted against the convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel and Vimal Kumar Patel, under Sections 302 and 506 IPC and against Ramkali under Sections 302, 120-B and 506 IPC. The Magistrate concerned took cognizance of the offence and committed the case for trial to the Sessions Court. The Sessions Court framed the charges against Lal Bahadur Patel and Vimal Kumar Patel under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and against Ramkali under Sections 120-B and 506 IPC. All the accused persons denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

4. In order to prove its case the prosecution examined following witnesses:-

(i) P.W. 1- Lal Singh Patel, the complainant;

(ii) P.W. 2- Anita Devi, the daughter of the deceased;

(iii) P.W. 3- Dr. Shailendra Kumar, who conducted autopsy of the deceased;

(iv) P.W. 4- Constable Chandra Mauli Sharma;

(v) P.W. 5-Mohammad Hashim-In-charge Inspector;

5. After completion of evidence of prosecution, statements of accused persons under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, (in short Cr.P.C.) were recorded, wherein accused persons denied the crime and stated that all the witnesses have deposed against them falsely and documentary evidence is also false and fabricated. Accused Ramkali has further stated that the complainant has falsely implicated her to harass her and she is innocent. The accused Lal Bahadur Patel stated that while his mother was guarding the Orchard, some unknown person killed her there and he has been implicated just for harassment. The accused Vimal Kumar Patel also stated that he has been implicated by the complainant only to harass him and he is innocent and has committed no offence.

6. In defence the accused persons examined Dr.Rajendra Kumar Tripathi, Medical Officer, Community Health Centre, Kunda, Pratapgarh as D.W. 1 and Vinod Kumar as D.W. 2.

7. After close of evidence, learned trial Court heard the arguments of both the sides. After analyzing the evidence available on record, the trial Court came to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove the charges against the accused Vimal Kumar Patel and accused Ramkali but found sufficient evidence against the accused Lal Bahadur Patel for holding him guilty of the charges framed under Section 302 IPC. Learned trial Court concluded that there is sufficient evidence that the accused Lal Bahadur Patel killed his mother by assaulting on her with an Axe, due to which she died. As a result, learned trial Court acquitted Vimal Kumar Patel and Ramkali and convicted Lal Bahadur Patel, under Section 302 IPC and sentenced him to life imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.20,000/- and in default of payment of fine further imprisonment of one year. Being aggrieved of this conviction Lal Bahadur Patel preferred Criminal Appeal No. 437 of 2017. The State preferred appeal against the acquittal of Vinod Kumar Patel and Ramkali being Government Appeal No. 1000163 of 2017, while the complainant Lal Singh Patel preferred appeal i.e. Criminal Appeal No. 657 of 2017 against the acquittal of Vinod Kumar Patel and Ramkali.

8. Heard Shri R.B.S. Rathaur, learned counsel for the convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel in Criminal Appeal No. 437 of 2017, Shri S.H. Ibrahim, learned counsel for the appellant/complainant-Lal Singh Patel in Criminal Appeal No. 657 of 2017 and Shri Pankaj Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State/appellant in Government Appeal No. 1000163 of 2017.

9. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant-Lal Bahadur Patel submitted that learned trial Court has committed error in holding guilty and sentencing the convict/appellant under Section 302 IPC. He further submitted that the F.I.R. is ante-timed as special report was sent after a considerable delay. He further submitted that deceased was admittedly alive for considerable time but her statement was not recorded. He further submitted that the deceased received only one injury on the back side of the head, which could not have been caused by the Axe allegedly recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant. He further submitted that the statement of P.W. 1-Anita Devi is not trust-worthy. He further submitted that the evidence of D.W. 1 and D.W. 2 has been ignored by the learned trial Court. There is no sufficient evidence to prove the case of the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt, hence the impugned judgment should be set aside and the convict/appellant should be acquitted.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant/complainant-Lal Singh Patel has submitted that acquittal order of Vimal Kumar Patel and Ramkali passed by the trial Court is not in accordance with law. Learned trial Court has committed manifest error in acquitting these two persons. There was ample evidence to establish the charges framed against them. Ramkali conspired with two other persons to get killed the deceased, therefore, impugned judgment is erroneous to that extent and should be set aside.

11. Learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of the State/appellant in Government Appeal No. 1000163 of 2017 submitted that learned trial Court has not considered the evidence in right perspective and erroneously acquitted the accused Vimal Kumar Patel and Ramkali. The incident was caused by the accused Lal Bahadur Patel on exhortation of Vimal Kumar Patel, who is brother-in-law of Lal Bahadur Patel. He further submitted that Ramkali came to the house of the deceased before two days of the incident and threatened to get her killed. She conspired with other co-accused persons and thus killed the deceased, hence the judgment of the trial court is erroneous to that extent and should be set aside and Vimal Kumar Patel and Ramkali should also be punished according to law. He further submitted that Anita Devi is the eye-witness of the incident and she has supported the case before the trial Court. Weapon of offence i.e. Axe was recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant and he confessed the crime, that will be read in evidence under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act. Human blood was found on the axe in the forensic examination. Shirt of the convict/appellant was also recovered and taken into custody, on that also human blood was found in the forensic examination. He further submitted that statement of D.W. 1 is not reliable as he has deposed only to save the convict/appellant and statement of D.W. 2 is of no help to the convict/appellant. He further submitted that strong motive was there to commit the crime as there was dispute over the money received after the death of the husband of the deceased, who was a Government employee, hence the appeal of the convict/appellant-Lal Bahadur Patel should be dismissed.

12. Considered the rival submissions and perused the original record as well as record of the appeals.

13. It is a case of matricide wherein the convict/appellant-Lal bahadur Patel allegedly killed his mother for the dispute over the money received by his mother on the death of her husband and father of the convict, who was a Government employee and died during his employment.

14. The first information report of the incident was lodged by another son of the deceased, who is real younger brother of the convict/appellant. It was mentioned in the F.I.R. that the father of the complainant was employed in Indian Railways. He died during his employment. The convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel was dissatisfied with his mother over division of money on the behest of his in-laws. On 17.07.2013 at about 10 A.M., when his mother, sister-in-law Rekha Devi and sister Anita went to spread manure in the agricultural field, Lal Bahadur Patel and his brother-in-law Vimal Kumar Patel reached there. Lal Bahadur Patel was armed with Axe and he on exhortation of Vimal Kumar Patel assaulted his mother on her head. His sister-in-law and sister raised alarm, then the complainant reached at the spot and found her mother ensanguined (Lahu-luhaan). He carried his mother to the Government Hospital, Kunda by Government Ambulance (108) but due to severe injury, she was referred to Swaroop Rani Hospital, Allahabad, where she died during the course of treatment. The complainant reached at the Police Station and lodged the F.I.R.

15. The complainant has been examined as P.W. 1. He has narrated the entire story before the trial Court step by step and fully proved the facts whatever has been stated in the F.I.R. A lengthy cross-examination has been made by the defence counsel but no major contradiction or adverse facts could be brought in the cross-examination. Anita, the daughter of the deceased has been examined as P.W. 2, who went with her mother along with her sister-in-law to spread manure in the field. She is an eye-witness of the incident. She has stated before the trial Court that she has three brothers namely Lal Ji, Lal Bahadur and Lal Singh. Her father used to work as Cabin-man in Railway Department. He died during his service. Her elder brother Lal Ji got the service on his place. After the death of her father Rs. 9 Lacs were received as death cum retiral dues. The mother-in-law and brother-in-law of Lal Bahadur Patel used to instigate him to get the money distributed from her mother namely Kewla Devi and they used to altercate with her mother but her mother used to say that she will distribute the money only after the marriage of her daughter and son, who are to be married. She has further stated that when her mother was on the field to spread the manure, Lal Bahadur Patel and his brother-in-law came there and Lal Bahadur Patel hit her mother on her head by the Axe from back side. Her mother sustained injury on her head. She raised hue and cry, thereupon her younger brother Lal Singh and 2-4 more persons came there and the accused persons ran away. She has further stated that her mother was carried to the Hospital in a Government Ambulance from where she was referred to Swaroop Rani Nehru Hospital, Allahabad, where she died. A lengthy cross-examination has been made of this witness also but nothing adverse could be brought in cross-examination evidence which could damage the case of prosecution. No material contradiction is there in her evidence.

16. P.W. 3 is Doctor, who conducted autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased. In the post-mortem examination he found following ante-mortem injuries on the cadaver:-

"(i) Lacerated wound 6 cm X 3 cm bone deep on right side of head 6 cm above right ear on opening scalp big hematoma present on right side of head;

In the opinion of Doctor, injuries found on the cadaver of the deceased might have occurred by the back side of Axe. In the postmortem report, cause of death has been shown as coma as a result of ante-mortem injury.

17. Eye-witness account of the incident is there. P.W. 2- Anita, daughter of the deceased went to the field and she was present on the spot. Upon her cry, the complainant and other persons reached at the spot. As per the statement of the complainant- P.W. 1 at the time of incident he was present at the Orchard, he was at the distance of 10-15 paces and he reached at the spot as he was moving towards the place of incident from his Orchard and he saw that Lal Bahadur Patel was altercating with his mother for the money and thereafter Lal Bahadur Patel assaulted his mother on head with the back side of an axe. He has stated that at the time of incident his sister-in-law and sister were present at the spot.

18. Recovery of weapon of offence was made at the pointing out of the appellant/convict Lal Bahadur Patel. At the time of recovery he told the Investigating Officer that this was the Axe, by which he killed his mother. He also got recovered a shirt, which he wore at the time of committing the crime. The shirt had blood stains. The Axe and shirt were sent for forensic examination and human blood was found on both the articles. The convict/appellant stated at the time of recovery of axe used in the crime that this is the axe which he used to hit his mother and after being injured his mother fell down upon him, therefore, his shirt got blood stains and he ran away upon being challenged by the people of the village. Recovery memo is Exhibit 10. This statement of the accused to the extent it relates to the discovery of articles is admissible in evidence under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act and will be read in evidence.

19. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kishore Bhadke Versus State of Maharashtra (2017) 3 Supreme Court Cases 760 has held that "Section 27 of the Evidence Act is an exception to Section 25 of the Act. Section 25 mandates that no confession to a Police Officer while in police custody shall be proved as against a person accused of any offence. Section 27, however, provides that any fact deposed to and discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a Police Officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved."

20. In Mehboob Ali and another Versus State of Rajasthan (2016) 14 Supreme Court Cases 640, the Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard has held as under:-

"12. Section 25 of the Evidence Act provides that no confession made to a Police Officer shall be proved as against a person accused of any offence. Section 26 provides that no confession made by any person while he is in the custody of a police officer, unless it be made in the immediate presence of a Magistrate, shall be proved as against such person. Section 27 is in the form of a proviso, it lays down how much of an information received from accused may be proved. 13. For application of section 27 of Evidence Act, admissible portion of confessional statement has to be found as to a fact which were the immediate cause of the discovery, only that would be part of legal evidence and not the rest. In a statement if something new is discovered or recovered from the accused which was not in the knowledge of the Police before disclosure statement of the accused is recorded, is admissible in the evidence."

21. Hon'ble Apex Court further held in the above case as under:-

"16. This Court in State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu alias Afsan Guru [(2005) 11 SCC 600] has considered the question of discovery of a fact referred to in section 27. This Court has considered plethora of decisions and explained the decision in Pulukuri Kottaya & Ors. V. Emperor [AIR 1947 PC 67] and held thus :

"125. We are of the view that Kottaya case [AIR 1947 PC 67] is an authority for the proposition that "discovery of fact" cannot be equated to the object produced or found. It is more than that. The discovery of fact arises by reason of the fact that the information given by the accused exhibited the knowledge or the mental awareness of the informant as to its existence at a particular place.

126. We now turn our attention to the precedents of this Court which followed the track of Kottaya case. The ratio of the decision in Kottaya case reflected in the underlined passage extracted supra was highlighted in several decisions of this Court.

127. The crux of the ratio in Kottaya case was explained by this Court in State of Maharashtra v. Damu. Thomas J. observed that: (SCC p. 283, para 35)

'35. ...The decision of the Privy Council in Pulukuri Kottaya v. Emperor (supra) is the most quoted authority for supporting the interpretation that the "fact discovered' envisaged in the section embraces the place from which the object was produced, the knowledge of the accused as to it, but the information given must relate distinctly to that effect."

22. In Raju Manjhi Versus State of Bihar (2019) 12 Supreme Court Cases 784, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"13. The other ground urged on behalf of the appellant is that the so called confessional statement of the appellant has no evidentiary value under law for the reason that it was extracted from the accused under duress by the police. It is true, no confession made by any person while he was in the custody of police shall be proved against him. But, the Evidence Act provides that even when an accused being in the custody of police makes a statement that reveals some information leading to the recovery of incriminating material or discovery of any fact concerning to the alleged offence, such statement can be proved against him. It is worthwhile at this stage to have a look at Section 27 of the Evidence Act.

27. How much of information received from accused may be proved.-Provided that, when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered may be proved.

14. In the case on hand, before looking at the confessional statement made by the accused-appellant in the light of Section 27 of the Evidence Act, may be taken into fold for limited purposes. From the aforesaid statement of the appellant, it is clear that he had explained the way in which the accused committed the crime and shared the spoils. He disclosed the fact that Munna Manjhi was the Chief/Head of the team of assailants and the crime was executed as per the plan made by him. It also came into light by his confession that the accused broke the doors of the house of informant with the aid of heavy stones and assaulted the inmates with pieces of wood (sticks). He categorically stated that he and Rampati Manjhi were guarding at the outside while other accused were committing the theft. The recoveries of used polythene pouches of wine, money, clothes, chains and bangle were all made at the disclosure by the accused which corroborates his confessional statement and proves his guilt. Therefore, the confessional statement of the appellant stands and satisfies the test of Section 27 of the Evidence Act."

23. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant also argued that the copy of the F.I.R. was not sent to the Magistrate concerned within the time prescribed under the law, hence adverse inference should be drawn against the prosecution.

24. This argument of the learned counsel for the convict/appellant is not tenable because where there is an eye-witness account and direct evidence then delay in sending the F.I.R. to the concerned

Magistrate is immaterial. Therefore, F.I.R. cannot be termed as ante-timed and it cannot be treated as fatal.

25. In Ombir Singh versus State of Uttar Pradesh and another (2020) 6 Supreme Court Cases 378, the Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard has held as under:-

"19. The obligation is on the investigation officer to communicate the report to the Magistrate. The obligation cast on the investigating officer is an obligation of a public duty. But it has been held by this Court that in the event the report is submitted with delay or due to any lapse, the trial shall not be affected. The delay in submitting the report is always taken as a ground to challenge the veracity of the FIR and the day and time of the lodging of the FIR.

20. In cases where the date and time of the lodging of the FIR is questioned, the report becomes more relevant. But mere delay in sending the report itself cannot lead to a conclusion that the trial is vitiated or the accused is entitled to be acquitted on this ground."

26. In Yogesh Singh versus Mahabeer Singh and others, (2017) 11 Supreme Court Cases 195, the Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard has held as under:-

"40. It has been consistently held by this Court through a catena of judicial decisions that although in terms of Section 157 Cr.P.C., the police officer concerned is required to forward a copy of the FIR to the Magistrate empowered to take cognizance of such offence, promptly and without undue delay, it cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that whenever there is some delay in sending the FIR to the Magistrate, the prosecution version becomes unreliable and the trial stands vitiated. When there is positive evidence to the fact that the FIR was recorded without unreasonable delay and investigation started on the basis of that FIR and there is no other infirmity brought to the notice of the Court, then in the absence of any prejudice to the accused, it cannot be concluded that the investigation was tainted and the prosecution story rendered unsupportable. [See Pala Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (1972) 2 SCC 640; Sarwan Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (1976) 4 SCC 369; Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar, (2001) 7 SCC 318; Munshi Prasad & Ors. Vs. State of Bihar, (2002) 1 SCC 351; Aqeel Ahmad Vs. State of U.P., (2008) 16 SCC 372; Dharamveer Vs. State of U.P., (2010) 4 SCC 469; Sandeep Vs. State of U.P., (2012) 6 SCC 107]."

27. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant has insisted much on the evidence of D.W. 1 wherein he has stated that the deceased was brought by her daughter Sunita in injured condition in the Dispensary where he was working and she told him that she did not want any legal proceeding. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant while referring this statement argued that if the deceased was hit by the convict/appellant then her daughter Sunita might have told the same to the Doctor (D.W.1), so adverse inference should be drawn. This argument of the defence counsel is also not tenable because it is not necessary for the person reaching the hospital to tell the cause of injury everytime. It might be possible that she was not expecting the death of her mother at that time. Hence, this argument is also of no help. The evidence of D.W. 2 is also of no help to the convict/appellant because there is an eye-witness account of the incident and the complainant and P.W. 2 have stated about the incident and no material contradictions have been found in their evidence. Furthermore, there is no cogent reason to believe the testimony of D.W. 2.

28. To sum up, the prosecution has proved the charges levelled against the convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel under Section 302 IPC beyond reasonable doubt and the learned trial Court rightly relied upon the evidence of prosecution. An eye-witness account was there; recovery of weapon of offence and the blood stained shirt was made at the pointing out of the convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel. In the forensic examination blood was found on the recovered articles. Furthermore, there was no reason for false implication of the convict/appellant.

29. So far as co-accused persons Vimal Kumar Patel and Ramkali are concerned, the prosecution could not prove the charges levelled against them beyond reasonable doubt as there is no recovery from their possession or at their pointing out. The trial Court rightly gave them benefit of doubt. It is well settled that acquittal recorded by the trial Court would not be disturbed if the view of the trial Court is a possible view.

30. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Achhar Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh reported in 2021 SCC Online HP 870 in this regard has laid down as under:-

"It is thus a well crystalized principle that if two views are possible, the High Court ought not to interfere with the trial Court's judgment. However, such a precautionary principle cannot be overstretched to portray that the "contours of appeal" against acquittal under Section 378 CrPC are limited to seeing whether or not the trial Court's view was impossible. It is equally well settled that there is no bar on the High Court's power to re-appreciate evidence in an appeal against acquittal11. This Court has held in a catena of decisions (including Chandrappa v. State of Karnataka, (2007) 4 SCC 415, 42. State of Andhra Pradesh v. M. Madhusudhan Rao, (2008) 15 SCC 582 20-21 and Raveen Kumar v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2020 SCC Online SC 869*, 11.) that the Cr.P.C does not differentiate in the power, scope, jurisdiction or limitation between appeals against judgments of conviction or acquittal and that the appellate Court is free to consider on both fact and law, despite the self-restraint that has been ingrained into practice while dealing with orders of acquittal where there is a double presumption of innocence of the accused".*

31. In the result, these three appeals are dismissed.

32. The convict/appellant Lal Bahadur Patel is stated to be in jail, accordingly he shall serve out the sentence awarded by the trial Court.

33. The accused respondents namely Vimal Kumar Patel and Smt. Ramkali in Criminal appeal No. 657 of 2017 as well as Government Appeal No. 1000163 of 2017, who have already been acquitted by the Court below, are directed to file their personal bonds and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance with Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

34. Office is directed to send a copy of this judgment along with lower Court record to the trial Court concerned for necessary information and compliance, forthwith.

A. Criminal Law - Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 8 - Motive - there is no principle of law that the failure of the prosecution to prove the motive for commission of the crime, must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused - rather, the prosecution is not bound to prove the motive, when crime is proved by direct evidence - where ocular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of crime has not been proved (Para 37, 41)

B. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 - Murder - Evidence Act, 1860 - Section 3 - Testimony of related/partisan witness - The mere fact of a witness being related to the victim should not lead to the rejection of their testimony - In fact, related witnesses are often the last people who would allow the real culprit to go free and wrongly implicate an innocent person - wholly independent witnesses are rarely available or may be hesitant to come forward due to potential future troubles they may face - Therefore, the relationship between eyewitnesses should not be a reason to dismiss their testimony - It would be illogical to believe that related witnesses would shield the actual perpetrators and substitute innocent individuals in their place. (Para 42)

C. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 - Murder - Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 3 – Appreciation of witness - Maxim 'falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' - In case even a part of the statement of a witness is found to be untruthful, it cannot be made the basis for discarding his whole testimony as the principal of is not applicable in India - The fact that a witness may have made some improvements or exaggerations in their testimony cannot belie his whole statement - In cases where witnesses come from rural areas and are illiterate, minor contradictions are possible and cannot be ruled out. (Para 51, 52)

D. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 - Evidence Act - Murder - Post occurrence reaction of witness - The fact that the witnesses did not make an effort to rescue the deceased does not in itself raise doubts about their presence at the scene - Every person who witnesses a murder reacts in his own way - Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot - Some become hysteric and start wailing - Some start shouting for help - Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible - Yet others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counter-attacking the assailants - Every one reacts in his own special way - There is no set rule of natural reaction - To discard the evidence of witnesses on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way (Para 53)

E. Criminal Law - Evidence Act, 1872 - Non recovery of weapon - Effect - it is an established proposition of law that mere non-recovery of weapon does not falsify the prosecution case where there is ample unimpeachable ocular evidence (Para 57)

1. These criminal appeals emanate from the judgment and order dated 10.02.2004 passed by the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Rampur in Sessions Trial No. 624 of 1999 (State Vs. Buddhsen and others), arising out of Crime No. 93 of 1999, under Sections 148, 302/149 IPC; Sessions Trial No. 625 of 1999 (State Vs. Veerpal) arising out of Crime No. 94 of 1999, under Section 25 Arms Act and Sessions Trial No. 626 of 1999 (State Vs. Appellants Janki and Veerpal were acquitted of the charges under Section 25 Arms Act.

2. The prosecution case in brief is that on 13.7.1999 at about 8.30 a.m., an F.I.R. was lodged at the Police Station Patwai, District Rampur by the informant Lakhan Singh, who happened to be the brother of deceased Trimal, father of deceased Sompal and uncle of deceased Jamna r/o Village Madauli, Police Station Patwai, District Rampur, by filing a written report. It was stated therein that his mango orchard was located in the south-west direction of the village. His brother Trimal, son Sompal and nephew Jamna s/o Chhiddan used to go and sleep in the orchard to keep a watch. In the intervening night of 12/13.07.1999, at about 2 A.M., first informant, his brother Chheddan, nephew Dharmpal and a resident of his village Lalman went to the orchard where they saw that the appellants Buddhasen with gandasa, Jairam with spear, Horilal and Veerpal with countrymade pistols; Mahipal & Janki with knives entered into the orchard and committed the murder of Trimal, Sompal and Jamna by causing injuries to them. The first informant and other persons identified the assailants and when they made noise, all the appellants ran away towards Kosi River. In the night owing to the fear, they did not go to lodge the F.I.R. 8. During investigation, blood stained cot weaving thread, one empty cartridge 12 bore, one empty cartridge 315 bore, plain and blood stained soil were taken into possession and torches in the light of which appellants were seen by the informant were taken into possession and given into the custody of the informant and recovery memo was prepared. After inspection of the place of occurrence, site plan was prepared and statements of witnesses conversant to the facts of the case were recorded. The weapons used in the commission of murder, one Gandasa, one Countrymade pistol, three cartridges 12 bore, one knife and one spear were also recovered at the instance of appellants-Buddhsen, Veerpal and Janki. Recovery memo was prepared. On the basis of the material collected during investigation, prima-facie case was found to be made out against the accused persons under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 IPC and the charge sheet was submitted to the court concerned. Charge sheet was also submitted under Section 4/25 Arms Act against appellants Janki and Veerpal.

9. Learned Chief Judicial Magistrate took cognizance of the offence and provided copies of the prosecution papers in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. to the accused persons and committed the case to the Court of sessions for trial.

10. The trial court after taking into consideration the material on record, framed the charges under Sections 148, 302/149 IPC against all the appellants; Section 25 Arms Act against appellant Veerpal and Section 4/25 Arms Act against appellant Janki.

11. Charges were read-over and explained to the appellants, the accused appellants pleaded not guilty, denied the charges and demanded trial. Consequently, the case was fixed for prosecution evidence.

12. In support of its case, the prosecution examined P.W.1 Lakhan Singh who is the first informant and happened to be brother of the deceased Trimal, father of deceased Sompal and uncle of deceased Jamna; P.W.2 Chheddan, who happened to be the brother of deceased Trimal, father of deceased Jamna and uncle of deceased Som Pal; P.W. 3 Lal Man resident of the same village as witnesses of facts; P.W.4 Dr. Arvind Kumar Vaishya who conducted the autopsy and prepared the postmortem reports; P.W. 5 HCP Bhuri Singh who prepared check F.I.R. on the basis of written report (tahreer) and made entry in the G.D.; P.W. 6 constable Hridesh Kumar who brought the dead bodies to the mortuary for post-mortem; P.W. 7 A.S.I. Ram Mohan Sharma who conducted the proceedings of the inquest and prepared the inquest reports and other relevant papers; P.W.8 S.I. Raj Singh who made arrest of appellant Buddhsen, Jai Ram, Veerpal, Janki, recorded the disclosure statements of the appellants, recovered the weapons used in the incident and prepared the recovery memo; P.W.9 S.I. N.K. Solanki who investigated the case and prepared the site plan, recorded the statement of witnesses and submitted charge sheet; P.W.10 A.S.I. Ram Mohan Sharma who also conducted investigation relating to the cases under Section 4/25 and 25 Arms Act and submitted charge sheet; P.W.11 Dheeraj Singh who took the case property relating to Crime No. 93 of 1999 for chemical examination to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra.

13. On conclusion of the prosecution evidence, statements of the appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they had denied all the allegations made against them on account of enmity. The appellant Buddhsen has made statement regarding disclosure statement and recovery to be false. Further stated that at that time he was busy in his field located at village Madauli for plantation of paddy crop from where police had arrested him at 10 o'clock but nothing was recovered from him. The appellants Horilal and Mahipal made similar statements except regarding recovery. The appellant Veerpal has also made similar statement; regarding recovery he stated that it was false and he was arrested by the police from the ice cream factory situated at the Bareilly gate Kanpur, nothing had been recovered from him or at his instance. The appellant Jai Ram had also made the similar statement regarding recovery, he stated that it was false and he was arrested by the police when he was present in the field at Nayagaon and was doing the plantation work of paddy, nothing was recovered from his possession nor at his instance. The appellant Janki had also made similar statement regarding recovery, he stated that it was false, he was arrested by the police from his field at Hazi Nagar where he was working, nothing was recovered from his possession.

14. In defence, D.W. 1 Sultan Khan was examined.

15. The learned trial court passed the order dated 10.02.2004 for convicting and sentencing the appellants as aforesaid, hence this appeal.

16. Heard Sri Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, Sri Ambrish Kumar Kashyap, Sri J.S. Tomar & Sri Vivek Kumar Mishra, learned Advocates for the appellants and Sri Patanjali Mishra, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

17. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the trial court had erred in convicting the appellants without considering and appreciating the evidence on record. The prosecution could not prove its case with cogent and reliable evidence. The appellants are innocent and had committed no offence as alleged against them. There are material contradictions in the statements of prosecution witnesses. The prosecution witnesses are relatives of the deceased. There was enmity between the informant and the appellants and that was the reason, why they were implicated falsely in this case. The incident took place in the night hours and no one had seen it. The recovery of weapons said to have been used in commission of the murder was false and not proved. Spear was said to be in the possession of appellant Jai Ram but no punctured wound was found on the persons of deceased which raises an inference of false implication of the appellants. No independent witness was produced by the prosecution. No witness relating to the memo of recovery was examined. Lastly, it is submitted that the trial court without considering all the above facts had convicted the appellants and the finding recorded by the trial court is based only on hypothesis beyond the evidence on record which gets support from the fact that the charges under Sections 4/25 and 25 Arms Act not found to be proved by the prosecution and the appellants were acquitted of the said charges. In this way judgment in question, thus, pleaded to be erroneous and that the appellants deserve acquittal by allowing the appeals.

18. Learned A.G.A. in rebuttal urged that there is sufficient evidence on record on the basis of which the learned trial court has concluded that the appellants had committed the murder of three deceased persons in their orchard while they were sleeping therein. Prosecution witnesses are natural witnesses because they also went to keep watch on their Mango orchard and they had seen the occurrence in the light of torches. On their making noise, appellants left the place after causing the murder of three persons brutally. The weapons said to be in the hands of appellants were used in the commission of the offence and they were recovered at the instance of accused appellants and also sent to chemical examination to F.S.L. The report disclosed that human blood was found on the weapons which also corroborates the prosecution case. The appellants had motive to commit the murder of the deceased persons because the brother of appellant Buddhsen was murdered prior to this incident in which deceased Trimal and Sompal were named accused and trial was going on. There was strong motive with the appellants to commit the murder of the deceased persons. Though the prosecution witnesses P.Ws. 1 and 2 were relatives of the deceased persons but P.W. 3 Lalmani was not a near relative but he was resident of the village where appellants also resided. There was no enmity of Lalmani with the appellants. The testimony of P.Ws. 1 & 2, thus, gets support with the testimony of an independent witness P.W. 3 Lalmani. The F.I.R. was promptly lodged in the morning.

The occurrence though took place in the night at about 2 a.m., but the first informant categorically stated that because of fear, he could not go to the police station which was 13 Km. away from the place of occurrence. The delay in lodging the F.I.R. as alleged cannot be said to be inordinate but it was natural. The acquittal of appellants of the charges under Section 25 Arms Act is immaterial in so far as conviction in other offence is concerned. The appellants were rightly convicted and sentenced under Sections 148, 302/149 IPC which cannot be said to be against law. The decision of the learned trial court is perfectly sound in law and the present appeals being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

19. From the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, the questions to be considered by this Court are that whether there was any delay in lodging of the F.I.R. which could be termed as inordinate delay. Whether it is a case of false implication of the appellants on account of enmity. Whether the motive to commit the murder as stated was present in the case and whether the prosecution witnesses being relatives of the deceased persons can be said to have made false statements only on account of suspicion. Whether there were material contradictions in the statements of the prosecution witnesses so as to discard the prosecution case. The contention that appellant Jai Ram was though assigned spear in his hand but no punctured wound was found on the person of the deceased, the conviction recorded by the learned trial Court, thus, becomes wrong, has also to be examined by us.

20. Before we deal with the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be convenient to take note of the evidence adduced by the prosecution.

21. The prosecution had examined eleven witnesses out of which P.Ws. 1 to 3 are the witnesses of fact.

22. P.W. 1 Lakhan Singh, related to three deceased & the first informant, stated that in the south west direction of the village, there was a Mango Orchard measuring six and half bighas. It was the season of Mango and to keep watch a hut was built in the orchard under a tree. The orchard was owned by him, his brothers Chhiddan and Trimal. On the fateful night his brother Trimal, son Sompal, nephew Jamna were there in the garden to keep watch. All those persons used to sleep there. In a routine manner, three deceased persons were sleeping on the cots in front of hut. At about 2 o'clock in the night, he, Chhiddan, nephew Dhrmpal and Lalman went to the orchard as usual, they saw Buddhsen, Jairam, Mahipal, Veerpal, Janki and Hori Lal assaulting the deceased with gandasa, spear, knives and countrymade pistol. Buddhsen was carrying gandasa, Jairam spear, Mahipal & Janki knives, Veerpal and Hori Lal were carrying countrymade pistols. He knew Veerpal and Janki prior to this incident being relatives of Buddhsen and that they used to come to his house. At the time of the incident the witnesses had torches with them and in the light of the torches they saw the incident. Narrating the motive to commit the crime it was stated that 3-4 years prior to the incident, brother of Buddhsen was murdered wherein Trimal and Chhiddan were named as accused and at the time of the incident, the trial was going on. He further stated that he wrote the written report (tahreer) himself and presented it in the police station and he proved the tahreer in his handwriting and signature as Ext.Ka-1.

23. P.W. 2 Chhiddan, the brother of first informant & deceased Trimal, the father of deceased Jamna and uncle of deceased Sompal, stated that an Orchard of Mango measuring six and half bighaas was situated on the west side of the village. Mango trees therein were bearing fruits, there was a hut to keep watch in the garden. His son Jamna, nephew Sompal and brother Trimal used to go and in the night and sleep there. On the fateful night, all of them had gone there as usual. Jamna, Sompal and Trimal were lying asleep on two cots and the incident took place at about 1 O'clock. He, his brother Lakhan Singh, son Dharmpal and uncle Lalman in the light of torches saw that the appellants Buddhsen with gandasa, Horilal and Veerpal with countrymade pistol, Mahipal and Janki with knives and Jai Ram with spear were assaulting the deceased Jamna, Trimal and Sompal. Janki and Veerpal were relatives of appellant Buddhsen whom he knew prior to this incident as they used to come to the house of Buddhsen. The appellants ran away towards the river after committing the murder. Further stated that four years prior to this incident, brother of Buddhsen namely Horilal was murdered wherein his brother Trimal was named falsely. Owing to this enmity these murders were committed. It was stated that Lalman went to his field to keep watch of the engine at his field with him. They had torches. Report relating to this incident was filed by Lakhan. Torches were taken into possession by the sub-inspector and then returned to them. Trimal was shot and also assaulted with other weapons.

24. P.W. 3 Lalman had deposed that on the fateful day at about 2 O'clock in the night, he was going to keep watch of his engine in his field. On the way, he met Chhiddan, Lakhan and Dharmpal who were carrying torches and they were going to their orchard. He also joined them and reached near the orchard of Chhiddan at about 2 O'clock in the night. Hearing noise in the garden of Chhiddan, Lakhan and Dharmpal they flashed light with their torches and saw that the appellants Buddhsen having gandasa, Jai Ram with spear, Hori Lal and Veerpal with countrymade pistols, Mahipal and Janki with knives were assaulting Trimal, Jamna and Sompal. When they shouted the appellants ran away in the south direction. When they reached at the place where the incident took place, Trimal, Jamna and Sompal were found dead. The motive of murder as narrated by this witness is same as that of P.W.1 and P.W.2. P.W.3 stated that he knew appellants Veerpal and Janki who used to come to his village.

These three witnesses (P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W. 3) were subjected to lengthy cross-examination by the defence but they were consistent throughout and none of them could be shaken about their stand in their examination-in-chief relating to the incident.

25. P.W.4 Dr. Arun Kumar Vaishya had conducted the post-mortem of the three deceased. He proved the postmortem reports being in his handwriting and signature which he proved as Ext. Ka-5, 6 & 7.

26. P.W.5 Bhuri Singh posted at the police station concerned on the day of incident, proved the check F.I.R. as Ext. Ka-8 being in his handwriting and signature. He stated that the case was registered on the basis of written report (tahreer) Ext. Ka-1 presented by the informant, Lakhan Singh and that he entered its detail in the G.D. report no. 14. He had also proved the carbon copy of the G.D. by comparing with the original as Ext. Ka-9.

27. P.W. 6 constable Hridesh Kumar brought the dead bodies to the mortuary for post-mortem. He proved that the dead bodies were in his custody and he kept them safe in the sealed state and did not allow any other person to touch it.

28. P.W.7 A.S.I. Ram Mohan Sharma stated that on the direction of S.O. Solanki he had prepared the inquest of three deceased Sompal with other relevant papers which he proved to be in his hand-writing and signature as Ext. Ka-10 to 15; Ext. Ka-16 to 21; Ext. Ka-22 to 27 and stated that the dead bodies were handed to constable Hridesh Kumar (P.W.6) for taking them to the Mortuary for the post-mortem

29. P.W.8 S.I. Raj Singh made arrest of appellants Buddhsen, Jai Ram, Veerpal, Janki, recorded their disclosure statements leading to recovery of gandasa, spear, knife and countrymade pistol 12 bore at the instance of the appellant Veerpal along with three live cartridges of 12 bore. He had prepared recovery memo at the dictation of Station House Officer which he proved being in his handwriting and signature as Ext. Ka-28. He also proved the recovered articles blood stained gandasa as Material Ext-1, blood stained bhala as Material Ext.-2, knife as Material Ext.-3 and country-made pistol and cartridges as Material Ext.4 to 7 in his deposition.

30. P.W.9 S.I. N.K. Solanki, the Investigating Officer, proved the documents prepared during investigation of the case, site plan as Ext. Ka-29. Fard relating to blood stained and plain earth, three empty cartridges 315 bore and 12 bore and the weaving thread of cot (bandh) as Ext. Ka-30, 31, and 32 being in his handwriting and signature and also proved the entries in the G.D.

He proved the charge sheet being in his handwriting and signature as Ext. Ka-38.

31. P.W.10 A.S.I. Ram Mohan Sharma, is the witness of the case registered investigated the cases relating to Crime Nos. 94 of 1999 and 95 of 1999 under Sections 25 Arms Act and 4/25 Arms Act wherein the appellants have been acquitted.

32. P.W. 11 Dheeraj Singh proved the fact that he took the case property to the F.S.L. Agra for chemical examination.

33. There is no dispute regarding the place of the occurrence. The incident took place in the Mango Orchard of the informant. At the time of the incident, deceased persons were lying on the cots, blood stained weaving threads of the cots were taken into possession, blood stained and plain earth collected from the place of the occurrence and all the collected materials were sent to F.S.L for chemical examination. The reports sent by F.S.L. are on record and proved as Ext. Ka-3 & 4. These reports show that human blood was found on all these things and the blood stained and plain earth similar in its characteristics. The above material on record proves the place of occurrence being the Mango Orchard of informant. P.Ws. 1 to 3 also proved the place of occurrence being the Mango Orchard in their fields in their testimony. None of these facts could be disputed by the defence.

34. The ante-mortem injuries found on the person of the deceased were proved to have been caused by weapons like gandasa, knife & fire-arm. P.W. 4 Dr. Arun Kumar Vaishya who conducted the post-mortem of the dead bodies opined that the injuries might have been caused with countrymade pistol, gandasa and knives on the day 12/13.7.1999 at about 2 O'clock in the night. He categorically stated that the injuries on the person of the deceased were caused with sharp edged weapon like knife, gandasa, sharp edged spear. P.Ws. 1 to 3 also stated that the deceased persons were assaulted with Gandasa, country-made pistol, knife and spear. In this way, the medical evidence about the manner of death of three deceased correlates with the ocular evidence about the date, time and manner of the injuries caused, i.e. the weapon used.

35. The incident took place at 2 o'clock in the night and the F.I.R. was lodged by the informant at the police station, which was 13 Km. away from the village, on the next morning at about 8.30 a.m. The first informant mentioned in the written report (Ext. Ka-1) that he could not go to the police station during night due to fear. Where three deaths were caused in the night in such a ghastly manner, it was natural that the inmates of the deceased persons would be frightened. They might not be in a position to do something at the instant moment. The police station was at a distance of about 13 Km. from the place of the incident. To go to the police station for lodging the F.I.R., against those who caused brutal murder of three persons did not seem possible. In the morning, without making any delay the informant had reached the police station by bicycle and lodged the F.I.R. In the said circumstance of the case, it cannot be said that there was any inordinate delay in lodging of the F.I.R. at the police station. The delay, if any, was natural and the explanation offered by the informant is liable to be accepted.

36. As brought on record, there was strong motive with the appellants to commit the murder of the deceased persons. The informant had mentioned in the F.I.R. that there was old enmity with the appellants. During his examination before the Court, the informant disclosed that in the murder of the brother of Buddhsen, namely Hori Lal 3-4 years prior to the instant incident the deceased Trimal and Chhiddan were named and at the time of the incident, the trial was going on. P.Ws. 2 & 3 has also stated the same motive. The appellants in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. asserted that the witnesses made statements against them on account of enmity which also supports the version of the informant that there was enmity between the parties.

37. It is settled that enmity is a double edged weapon, it can be used to implicate falsely, on the other hand it can become motive to commit the offence. Further, there is no principle of law that where if the prosecution fails to prove the motive for commission of the crime, it must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused. Where ocular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of crime has not been proved.

38. In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jeet Singh 1999 (38) ACC 550 SC, it was held that no doubt it is a sound principle to remember that every criminal act was done with a motive but its corollary is not that no offence was committed if the prosecution failed to prove the precise motive of the accused to commit it as it is almost impossible for the prosecution to unravel full dimension of the mental disposition of an offender towards the person whom he offended.

39. In Nathuni Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar and others 1997 (34) ACC 576, it was held that motive for committing a criminal act, is generally a difficult area for prosecution as one cannot normally see into the mind of another. Motive is the emotion which impels a man to do a particular act and such impelling cause unnecessarily need not be proportionately grave to grave crimes. It was further held that many murders have been committed without any known or prominent motive and it is quite possible that the aforesaid impelling factor would remain undiscoverable.

40. In the case of Thaman Kumar vs. State of Union Territory of Chandigarh 2003 (47) ACC 7 the Hon'ble Apex Court has reiterated the same view after taking into consideration the abovementioned cases.

41. This Court has also made such observations in the case of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581 that when there is direct evidence, the motive was not important. Likewise in the case of State of Haryana vs. Sher Singh and others 1981 Cr. Ruling 317 SC it has been held that the prosecution is not bound to prove the motive, more so, when crime is proved by direct evidence.

42. P.Ws.1 & 2, are related to each other and also to the deceased persons regarding which argument had been made that all these witnesses being relative and highly interested, are not reliable and lack of account of independent witnesses in support of the case is fatal to the prosecution story. No doubt the prosecution witnesses from PW-1 to 2 are members of the same family being in direct relation with the deceased persons but the relationship itself is not a ground to reject the testimony of these witnesses, rather being family members they would be the last persons to leave the real culprit go scot free to falsely implicate the appellants.

43. In the case of Brahm Swaroop and another vs. State of U.P. (2011) 6 SCC 288 the Apex Court in Para No.21 has observed as under:-

"merely because the witnesses were related to the deceased persons, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Their relationship to one of the parties is not a factor that affects the credibility of a witness, more so, a relation would not conceal the real culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. A party has to lay down a factual foundation and prove by leading impeccable evidence in respect of its false implication. However, in such cases the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence."

44. The Apex Court also referred cases of Dalip and others vs. State of Punjab A.I.R. (1953) SC 364; Masalti vs. State of U.P. (A.I.R.) 1965 SC 202.

45. In Masalti vs. State of U.P. A.I.R. 1965 SC 202, the Apex Court observed in Para No.14:-

"but it would, we think, be unreasonably to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on sole ground that it's partisan would inveriably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it's partisan cannot be accepted as correct.

46. It is of common knowledge that village life is faction ridden and involvement of one or the other in the incidents is not unusual. One has also to be cautious about the fact that wholly independent witnesses are seldom available or are otherwise not inclined to come forth. Lest they may invite trouble for themselves for future. Therefore, relationship of eye-witnesses inter se, cannot be a ground to discard their testimony. There is no reason to suppose the false implication of the appellants at the instance of the eye-witnesses. It would also be illogical to think that witnesses would screen the real culprits and substitute the appellants for them.

47. This Court has also made such observations in Para No.14 of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581.

48. Further P.W. 3 Lalman is not related either to the deceased or the witnesses namely P.Ws. 1 & 2. He resided in the same village where the appellants Buddhsen, Jairam, Hori Lal, Mahipal also resided. Other appellants Janki and Veerpal being relative of appellants Buddhsen used to go to the village of the witnesses though were resident of another village situated at a distance of about 8 to 10 Km. This witness cannot be said to be inimical to any of the appellants. It was categorically stated by PW3 that he knew all the appellants before the incident.

49. Now, we are required to consider as to whether the testimony of three witnesses namely P.Ws. 1, 2 & 3 is reliable or worthy of credit. In this regard, it is to be noted that P.Ws. 1 & 2 are relatives of the deceased persons and also inimical to the appellant Buddhsen whose brother was murdered. Wherein deceased Trimal was an accused. As aforesaid, the testimony of related and interested witnesses may play double role of false implication or to commit the offence, more caution is, therefore, required in appreciating their testimony.

50. On analysis, P.W.1 & P.W. 2 had clearly deposed about the commission of murder of the deceased persons by the appellants. They were residents of the same village and appellants Janki and Veerpal were the relatives of appellant Buddhsen. There was no reason to implicate these appellants falsely for the commission of murder leaving the real culprits. Further, deceased Trimal was accused in the murder case of brother of appellant Buddhsen, so there may be reason to implicate him but for other appellants there was no reason for false implication at the cost of absolving real culprits. There was no confusion in the identification of the appellants because the witnesses proved to have seen all of them in the light of torches carried by them. The torches were shown to the Investigating Officer. The appellants being the residents of the same village were well known and identifiable to the witnesses. Both the witnesses were consistent during their cross-examination, there was no deviation in their statements. As per their version, the deceased persons were sleeping in the Mango Orchard and they were there for the purpose of keeping a watch. Arrival of P.W.1 & P.W. 2 can not be said to be unnatural because at that time Mango trees were bearing fruits and people living in the village always try to keep watch on their crops for protecting them from damage by any outside source. Further relevant to note that the first informant/P.W.1 went to the police station concerned, 13 Km. away from his village, by bicycle and reached there at about 8.30 a.m. and lodged the F.I.R. without any delay. There was no time gap to concoct a false story after consultation. In case, P.Ws. 1 & 2 had not seen the occurrence in the night, they would have no knowledge of the murder even early in the morning, resultantly the prompt lodging of the F.I.R. was not possible. In this way, the plea of false implication by the informant is not fortified with the circumstances of the case. In addition to this, P.W. 3 Lalman was not related to the deceased persons, and there is no evidence that he was inimical to the appellants. Being a resident of the same village, his presence on the spot with the P.Ws. 1 & 2 also seems to be natural as he gave a reason that he was going to keep watch in his field where engine was installed. There is no inconsistency in the statement of P.W.3 with that of P.Ws.1 and 2. He did not deviate in his cross-examination. The testimony of P.W. 3 renders full support to the testimony of P.Ws. 1 & 2 and makes their version wholly reliable and creditworthy.

51. The learned counsel for the appellants lastly indicated the contradictions found in the statements of prosecution witnesses about the time. P.Ws. 1 & 2 stated that they went at the field at 12-1 O'clock whereas P.W.3 Lalman stated that he went there at about 2.15 a.m. The argument is that it is doubtful for P.W.3 to have met P.Ws. 1 & 2 on the way to the field. A perusal of the statement of P.W.3 shows that he also stated in para nos. "6' and "15' of the statement that he went to the field at about 1½- 2 O'clock and on the way he met P.Ws. 1 & 2. He further stated that he went to start engine in his field. P.W.1 & 2 also stated that Lakhan met them before they had reached the Orchard. Likewise P.W. 3. further said that he did not see the weapons. P.Ws. 1 & 2 stated that they remained on the spot throughout the night but P.W.3 stated that P.W.1 Lakhan went to call someone. In this regard, it is noteworthy that the witnesses belong to rural area. They being illiterate persons, possibility of minor contradictions cannot be ruled out. In case even a part of the statement of such a witness is found to be untruthful, it cannot be made the basis for discarding his whole testimony as the principal of "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' is not applicable in India. Further, making of some improvement or exaggerations in their testimony by a witness cannot belie his whole statement.

52. The contradictions in the statements of P.W.3 as indicated by the learned counsel for the appellants seem to be of minor character. They cannot be said to be material contradictions as to affect the credibility of prosecution witness. These contradictions are natural and do not strike at the very root of the statements of the witnesses about the incident rather they make their statements more truthful and trustworthy.

53. It was also urged that P.Ws. 1 & 2 were relatives of the deceased persons and they say that they saw the entire incident but did not make any efforts to rescue the deceased, it falsifies their presence on the spot. In this regard, it is to be noted that P.Ws.1, 2 & 3 were not equipped with weapons whereas appellants were carrying deadly weapons and they were seen by the witnesses causing murder of three deceased persons. In such a horrible situation, it cannot be expected that the witnesses (P.Ws.1 & 2) could have gathered courage to resist the assault. They say that they reached the place of the incident making a noise and on their noise the culprits ran away. The argument of the learned counsel that since the witnesses did not react to the incident by making endeavor to rescue the life of deceased persons, this creates doubt on their presence on the spot cannot be said to be realistic. On this point we may refer para "6' of the judgment by the Apex Court in the case of Rana Pratap Vs. State of Hariyana AIR1983 SC 680:-

6. Yet another reason given by the learned Sessions Judge to doubt the presence of the witnesses was that their conduct in not going to the rescue of the deceased when he was in the clutches of the assailants was unnatural. We must say that the comment is most unreal. Every person who witnesses a murder reacts in his own way. Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot. Some become hysteric and start wailing. Some start shouting for help. Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible. Yet others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counter-attacking the assailants. Every one reacts in his own special way. There is no set rule of natural reaction. To discard the evidence of witnesses on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way.

54. In this way the testimony of the three witnesses (P.Ws. 1 to 3) is found to be wholly trustworthy and reliable.

55. As regards, the testimony of D.W. 1 Sultan Khan, he has stated that appellant Veerpal was working as a labourer in his ice cream factory on 13.7.1999 at about 12-01 P.M. and the police took him away but the incident took place in the night of 12/13.07.1999 and this witness had nowhere stated that Veerpal stayed there in the factory throughout the night. So the presence of Veerpal (appellant) on the spot cannot be said to be impossible and the statement of this D.W. is of no use in this regard.

56. In the present case, we do not find any major contradiction either in the evidence of the witnesses or any such conflict in the medical and ocular evidence which would tilt the balance in favour of the appellants. The minor improvements, embellishments etc., apart from being far yield of human faculties are insignificant and ought to be ignored since the evidence of the witnesses otherwise overwhelmingly corroborate each other in material particulars.

57. The next submission of the learned counsel for the appellants is that the recovery evidence was false and fabricated. We feel no need to address this issue since it had already been validly discarded by the trial court while convicting the appellants. In any case, it is an established proposition of law that mere non-recovery of weapon does not falsify the prosecution case where there is ample unimpeachable ocular evidence. Lakahan Sao Vs. State of Bihar and Anr., (2000) 9 SCC 82; State of Rajasthan Vs. Arjun Singh & Ors., (2011) 9 SCC 115 and Manjit Singh and

Anr. Vs. State of Punjab, (2013) 12 SCC 746.

58. In the case of Lakahan Sao Vs. State of Bihar and Another (2000) 9 SCC 82, it was held that the non-recovery of the pistol or spent cartridge does not detract from the case of the prosecution where the direct evidence is available/acceptable.

59. Having given our anxious considerations to the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, we are clearly of the opinion that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing its case against the appellants beyond any shadow of doubt and the view taken by the learned Sessions Judge is absolutely correct in the eye of law.

60. In the result, the appeals lack merit and are hereby dismissed.

61. The appellants Buddhsen, Mahipal, Veerpal, Janki and Hori Lal are in jail, they will serve out the remaining period of sentence. The appellant Jairam is on bail, he shall be taken into custody forthwith and sent to jail to serve the sentence.

62. Copy of this judgment alongwith the original record be transmitted to the Court concerned for necessary compliance. A compliance report be sent to this Court within one month. The office is directed to keep the compliance report on record.

6. Dharmendra Vs State of U.P., 2011 Cr.L.J. 204

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J. & Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. This criminal appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 21.5.2004, passed by the Special Judge Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, Basti, District Basti in Special Sessions Trial No. 14 of 2003, State vs. Maniram Chaudhary; whereby the appellant has been convicted under sections 376 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 and consequently sentenced to rigorous life imprisonment along with fine of Rs.20,000/- for the offence under Section 376 IPC and rigorous life imprisonment for the offence under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act along with fine of Rs. 20,000/- and on failure to deposit the fine appellant is to undergo two years additional rigorous imprisonment. Both the sentences are to run concurrently.

2. As per the prosecution case a written report (Ext.A-1) was given to the Police Station Kaptanganj, District Basti by Shanti Devi (PW-1) stating that she belongs to scheduled caste and her daughter is a student of Class Vth in the Primary School, Bheeta. On 9th December, 2002, at about 1.00 pm, the informant's daughter was returning from her school to have lunch. On her way situated the house of accused appellant. Accused appellant on spotting the victim alone dragged her inside his house and raped her. The victim somehow reached her house and informed her mother, who has filed the written report (Ex.A.1).

3. The scribe of the written report is one Sitaram (PW-3), the President of Bahujan Samaj Party, Kaptanganj. On the basis of written report a first information report (Ex.Ka.5) was lodged as Case Crime No. 254 of 2002, under Section 376 IPC read with Section 3(1)XII of the SC/ST Act, 1989.

4. The victim was thereafter medically examined by Dr. Seema Chaudhary, Emergency Medical Officer, Woman Hospital, Basti (PW-5) on 9.12.2002, at 7.15 pm. Injury report of victim is Exhibit Ka-3. As per the report the victim was 4' 6" tall and weighed 24 Kg. No external injury was seen but blood stains were seen on victim's Vulva Perineum and Thigh. Hymen was found torn in midline alongwith bleeding. Bleeding was also seen in vagina. Vaginal semen was taken and sent for pathological examination. The patient was examined under general anesthesia and lateral vaginal laceration near left fornix was seen bleeding and she was advised admission; vaginal pulsing was done and she was kept under observation. The victim was also sent to radiologist for x-ray and determination of her age.

5. The radio-logical x-ray was done on 10th December, 2002 by Dr. Sudhakar Mishra (PW-7). X-ray of victim's right elbow and right knee was held by Dr. Sudhakar Mishra on 10.12.2002 and his report is Exhibit Ka-7. The victim was also examined by Dr. Jagdish Singh, Dental Surgeon (PW-8), who determined victim's age to be 12 years.

6. The victim was kept in the hospital from 9.12.2002 to 13.12.2002. The investigation proceeded thereafter and statement was recorded of PW-1, PW-2, PW-4 under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and the site plan was also prepared. Upon conclusion of investigation a chargesheet came to be submitted against the accused appellant under Section 376 IPC read with Section 3(1)XII SC/St Act on which the Magistrate took cognizance and committed the case to Sessions. Charges were accordingly framed by the Court of Sessions against the accused appellant who denied the same and demanded trial.

7. On behalf of the prosecution documentary evidence in the form of FIR (Ext.Ka-5); Written report (Ext.A-1); Injury reports (Exts. Ka-3, 4, 7, 8) and Recovery memo (Ext. Ka-2) was proved and was duly exhibited. Oral deposition was made by Shanti Devi (PW-1), Victim (PW-2), Sita Ram (PW-3), Kashi Ram (PW-4), Dr. Seema Chaudhary (PW-5), Vishwanath Yadav (PW-6), Dr. Sudhakar Mishra (PW-7), Dr. Jagdish Singh (PW-8) and Om Prakash (PW-8).

8. The accused appellant was confronted with the incriminating material which has surfaced against him during trial under Section 313 Cr.P.C. He denied the accusations that while victim was returning home to have her lunch the accused appellant grabbed and dragged her inside the house and raped her. About lodging of report the accused appellant termed it to be false. Other accusations made against the accused appellant were also denied. In reply to question no. 6 he has stated that on account of enmity with Sita Ram (PW-3), the accused has been falsely implicated in collusion with the investigating officer.

9. It is worth noticing that after the trial proceeded in the matter and hearing was concluded the Court of Sessions before delivering the judgment altered the charge under Section 3(1)XII SC/ST Act to Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act. The prosecuting officer made statement that the prosecution does not intend to produce any additional evidence in respect of the charge. Counsel for the accused appellant also made a statement that the accused appellant does not intend to submit any further evidence in the matter.

10. On the basis of aforesaid material the Court of Sessions has found the charge of rape under Section 376 IPC proved against the accused appellant. The court below also found the charge under Section

3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act to be proved beyond reasonable doubt.

11. Feeling aggrieved by aforementioned judgment and order the accused appellant has filed the present appeal. We have heard Sri Rajesh Kumar Chaudhary for the appellant and Mrs. Archana Singh, learned AGA for the State and carefully perused the records.

12. It is urged on behalf of the accused appellant that he has been falsely implicated in the present case at the instant of PW-3 with whom he had political rivalry. It is argued that the offence under Section 376 IPC has not been established on the basis of evidence led by the prosecution.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that the charge under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act has not been substantiated by the prosecution, inasmuch as, it is neither shown that accused appellant was aware about the caste of the victim, nor is it shown that the offence itself was committed upon the victim on the ground of her being a member of the scheduled caste. It is also contended that the accused appellant has not been confronted under Section 313 Cr.P.C. with the charge under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act and in its absence the conviction and sentence of appellant under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act would be impermissible.

14. Learned counsel for the appellant has produced the custody certificate dated 12.6.2022 of accused appellant to submit that he has undergone sentence with remission of over 25 years and his continued incarceration in jail is unwarranted.

15. Learned AGA, on the other hand, submits that the offence of rape is proved against the accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt since the victim and her mother have clearly deposed in support of the charge which is otherwise supported with medical evidence. It is further argued that the victim being a member of scheduled caste had been subjected to rape and, therefore, the charge under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act is also made out. Submission is that deposition of prosecutrix with regard to commissioning of offence of rape upon her is clearly corroborated with the medical evidence and the appeal lacks merit.

16. The accused appellant has primarily been charged of offence under Section 376 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act. The trial Court has found both the charges to be proved against the accused appellant beyond doubt. So far as the first charge under Section 376 IPC is concerned, we find from the evidence on record that the victim was a Class Vth student and while returning from her school for lunch had to cross the house of the accused appellant. The site plan is on record which shows existence of paved road from east to west. Towards east of the road there existed a dirt track to the school. The house of accused appellant was on the junction of paved road and dirt track. After the house of the accused appellant there existed two temples of goddess Kali and Durga, whereafter one could reach the school. The victim while was returning from the school was grabbed by the accused appellant who dragged her inside and she was raped. The offence itself was committed at 1.00 pm and a prompt report was lodged in respect of the offence at 16.45 pm. The distance between the police station and place of occurrence is about 10 kms.

17. It appears that the first informant is an illiterate lady and she took services of PW-3 for writing the written report on the basis of which the FIR was registered. The victim has been examined by Emergency Medical Officer at Woman Hospital Basti at 7.15 pm on the same day. The injury report of victim is on record in which blood stains are seen on vulva perineum and thigh and her hymen was torn in midline. She was also bleeding. The victim had to be examined by administering general anesthesia and lateral vaginal laceration near left fornix was seen bleeding. The victim was hospitalized and later discharged on 13.12.2002.

18. PW-1, who is the first informant and PW-2, who is the victim have deposed in court. PW-1 in her statement has elaborately explained that once victim having home she immediately informed her mother about the crime got a written report scribed from an unknown person in an office having blue flag. She has denied the suggestion that on account of enmity between accused appellant and PW-3 she has falsely implicated the accused appellant or to receive compensation.

19. PW-2 has also been examined by the Presiding Officer found that the victim is mature and sensible and her statement can be relied upon. She has clearly stated that while returning from the school she had to cross the house of accused appellant and when she reached the house of the accused appellant he grabbed her and brought her inside the Ghaari and raped her. She has stated that the accused appellant had covered her mouth so that she may not shout and after committing rape the accused appellant left her. She was bleeding and immediately informed it to her mother. She has deposed that she did not know the accused appellant from before and his name was disclosed to her by her mother at the police station. She has also stated that other students returning with her were ten paces ahead of her and that nobody could see her being grabbed by the accused appellant.

20. Although on behalf of accused appellant it is argued that he has been falsely implicated on account of political rivalry between him and PW-3, but the Court below has found such defence to be wholly baseless in view of the evidence adduced by the victim and her mother. Having considered the injury report, the statement of doctor and the fact that victim was admitted to a hospital for nearly four days on account of injuries on her private part, we are in agreement with the conclusion drawn by the court below that the guilt of accused appellant of committing rape is clearly established. The statement of victim has been found credible and reliable by the court below and she has specifically identified the accused appellant and has supported the prosecution version.

21. Plea of rivalry between PW-3 and the accused appellant is pressed in order to submit that written report was scribed by PW-3, who had falsely implicated the accused appellant. This explanation does not appear to be convincing since it is apparent from the evidence that house of the accused appellant fell on the way of the victim returning from her school to her house. She has clearly identified the place of occurrence and it remains undisputed that the house of accused appellant situates there. The accused appellant has also been identified by the victim. The medical report clearly supports the ocular testimony. In such circumstances, merely because written report was scribed by the PW-3, the evidentiary value of prosecution case would not suffer. The injury report, etc. are otherwise, clearly proved and duly exhibited by the prosecution. In that view of the matter, we find no infirmity in the judgment and order of the court below holding the accused appellant guilty of the offence under Section 376 IPC beyond reasonable doubt.

22. This takes us to the next aspect of the present appeal which is with regard to the conviction of accused appellant under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act. Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act reads as under:-

"(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine;"

23. In order to establish an offence under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act, the prosecution is required to prove that the offence is committed on the ground that such person is a member of scheduled caste or scheduled tribe.

24. In Dinesh @ Buddha Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2006) 3 SCC 771, the above provision fell for consideration before the Supreme Court, wherein the Court observed as under:-

"At this juncture it is necessary to take note of Section 3 of the Atrocities Act. As the Preamble to the Act provides 'the Act has been enacted to prevent the commission of offences of atrocities against the members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. The expression 'atrocities' is defined in Section 2 of the Atrocities Act to mean an offence punishable under Section 3. The said provision so far relevant reads as follows:

"3(2)(v): Punishments for offences of atrocities-

(2) Whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, -

xxx xxx xxx

(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine;

xxx xxx xxx"

Sine qua non for application of Section 3(2)(v) is that an offence must have been committed against a person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. In the instant case no evidence has been led to establish this requirement. It is not case of the prosecution that the rape was committed on the victim since she was a member of Scheduled Caste. In the absence of evidence to that effect, Section 3(2)(v) has no application. Had Section 3(2)(v) of the Atrocities Act been applicable then by operation of law, the sentence would have been imprisonment for life and fine."

25. The aforesaid provision has again been considered by the Supreme Court in Ramdas and others Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2006(8) SC 635, wherein the Court observed as under:-

"At the outset we may observe that there is no evidence whatsoever to prove the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a scheduled caste does not attract the provisions of the Act. Apart from the fact that the prosecutrix belongs to the Pardhi community, there is no other evidence on record to prove any offence under the said enactment. The High Court has also not noticed any evidence to support the charge under the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 and was perhaps persuaded to affirm the conviction on the basis that the prosecutrix belongs to a scheduled caste community. The conviction of the appellants under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 must, therefore, be set aside."

26. In Asharfi Vs. State of U.P., (2018) 1 SCC 742, the Supreme Court again observed as under:-

"The evidence and materials on record do not show that the appellant had committed rape on the victim on the ground that she belonged to Scheduled Caste. Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act can be pressed into service only if it is proved that the rape has been committed on the ground that PW-3 Phoola Devi belonged to Scheduled Caste community. In the absence of evidence proving intention of the appellant in committing the offence upon PW-3-Phoola Devi only because she belongs to Scheduled Caste community, the conviction of the appellant under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act cannot be sustained."

27. In Khuman Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, Criminal Appeal No. 1283 of 2019, decided on 27.8.2019 also the Supreme Court held as under:-

"As held by the Supreme Court, the offence must be such so as to attract the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act. The offence must have been committed against the person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe. In the present case, the fact that the deceased was belonging to "Khangar"-Scheduled Caste is not disputed. There is no evidence to show that the offence was committed only on the ground that the victim was a member of the Scheduled Caste and therefore, the conviction of the appellant-accused under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act is not sustainable."

28. In Patan Jamal Vali Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2021 Supreme Court 2190, the provision was again considered exclusively so as to determine the scope of Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act after taking note of earlier judgment on the issue. The Supreme Court observed as under in paragraph 55:-

"55.....A true reading of Section 3(2)(v) would entail that conviction under this provision can be sustained as long as caste identity is one of the grounds for the occurrence of the offence."

29. A Division Bench of this Court in Dharmendra Vs. State of U.P., 2011 Cr.L.J. 204 also had an occasion to consider Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act, wherein this Court observed as under:-

"It is apparent from the above provision that Section 3 (2) (v) SC/ST Act shall apply only if the offence under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more is committed by a person of upper caste against a person of scheduled caste or scheduled tribe on the ground that such person is a member of scheduled caste or scheduled tribe. It is not sufficient that if the accused belongs to upper caste and the victim belongs to scheduled caste. It is also necessary to prove that the offence was committed on the ground of the victim being of scheduled caste. No such allegation has been made in the FIR that the offence was committed because of victim belonged to scheduled caste nor there is any such evidence of record. Thus the conviction of appellant under Section 3 (2) (v) SC/St Act cannot be sustained."

30. When we examine the facts of the case in light of the law settled on the point we find that the only evidence available on record is that the victim belongs to scheduled caste while accused appellant is from Kurmi Community (OBC). PW-1 has stated so in her deposition, relevant portion whereof is extracted hereinafter:-

''मै जाति के चमार तथा मुल्जिम जाति के कुर्मी है। गरीब तथा चमार जाति का होने के कारण मुल्जिम ने घटना किया।''

31. There is nothing on record to show that the accused appellant knew the caste of the deceased or that the offence of rape was committed on the ground that victim is a member of scheduled caste or due to victim's caste identity. The victim herein is 11-12 year old minor girl who was alone and grabbed by the accused appellant. At the time when the victim was grabbed by the accused appellant there was none else available. The evidence otherwise does not show that the victim was known to accused appellant from before or that the accused appellant was aware of the caste of victim and was a ground for the crime.

32. PW-2 in fact has stated that she did not known even the name of accused appellant and his name has been disclosed to her at the police station by her mother. The prosecution has not brought on record any evidence which may demonstrate that the minor victim was raped on the ground of her being a scheduled caste. Merely because minor victim is a scheduled caste would not attract the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act. In light of the deliberations held above, we have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to establish existence of necessary ingredients to attract commissioning of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act against the accused appellant.

33. We further find that the prosecution while putting incriminating material collected against the accused appellant during the course of trial has not confronted him with regard to the charge levelled under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act. The statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has been carefully examined by us in which there is no reference of offence committed upon the victim on the ground that she belongs to scheduled caste or on account of her caste identity. Unless the accused appellant is confronted on such accusation the right of the accused appellant to submit his defence is clearly breached and, therefore, we are of the view that the accused appellant otherwise cannot be convicted under Section 3(2(v) of SC/ST Act.

34. For the above reasons, we set aside the judgment and order of the court below dated 21.5.2004 convicting the accused appellant under Section 3(2(v) of the SC/ST Act.

35. This takes us to the last question which is with regard to the punishment to be imposed upon the accused appellant. The charge against the accused appellant is of committing offence under Section 376 IPC upon a minor 12 year girl who was returning from her school. The charge against the accused appellant is extremely serious. The accused appellant was a person of nearly 45 years of age on the date of commissioning of the offence and, therefore, he was expected to be aware of his actions and its consequences.

36. Learned counsel for the accused appellant submits that the maximum punishment under Section 376 IPC ought not to exceed above 10 years in the facts of the case.

37. Learned AGA on the other hand submits that the punishment of life is appropriate in the facts of the case.

38. Considering the fact that minor victim was only 11-12 year of age at the time of commissioning of the offence, we are of the view that the accused appellant does not deserve any leniency and sentence of ten years would clearly be inadequate. However, in the facts of the case we find that the accused appellant has already suffered incarceration with remission of more than 25 years. In our view, this would be sufficient punishment for the accused appellant who otherwise by now would be a person of 65-70 years and has spent major part of his life in imprisonment. In such circumstances, we substitute the punishment for life awarded to the accused appellant under section 376 IPC with the sentence already undergone by the appellant. The fine is reduced to Rs. 10,000/- and on its failure to pay the accused appellant shall undergo further imprisonment of three months.

39. This Criminal Appeal, accordingly, is partly allowed.

40. A copy of this order shall be communicated to the accused appellant in Jail through Chief Judicial Magistrate/Jail Superintendent concerned, forthwith.

41. The accused appellant shall be released from Jail, forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. By way of these appeals the two accused who have filed the appeals out of them the appellant of Criminal Appeal No.6611 of 2016 namely Rajesh Kumar breathed his last during pendency of this appeal therefore qua him the appeal is abated.

2. The sole surviving appellant Smt. Kushma Devi who is incarcerated since 17.3.2012 has preferred this appeal against the judgement and order dated 03.10.2016, passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/ Fast Track Court No.1, Aligarh in Session Trail No. 164 of 2013 (State of UP vs. Rajesh Kumar and Others), arising out of Case Crime No. 102 of 2012, under Sections 498-A, 304B, 302/34 Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short "I.P.C.'), Police Station- Harduaganj, District Aligarh, whereby the appellant- Smt. Kushma Devi was convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 302/34 I.P.C. for life imprisonment with fine of Rs.20,000/- and in default of payment of fine, further imprisonment for three months.

3. Brief facts of the case giving rise to this appeal are that a written report was submitted by complainant Raj Kumar Singh (father of the deceased) at police station Harduaganj, District Aligarh with the averments that marriage of his daughter Manoj Kumari was solemnized with accused- Rajesh Kumar three years ago. He had given dowry as per his capacity. After marriage accused- Rajesh Kumar and his family members demand motorcycle and Rs.1,00,000/- (Rupees one lakh) as additional dowry and used to compel his daughter to bring the aforesaid articles. It is further averred that on 16.03.2012, appellant- Rajesh Kumar and his family members had murdered his daughter by pouring kerosene oil on her and setting her ablaze.

4. On the basis of above written report, a Case Crime No.102 of 2012 was registered at Police Station Harduaganj, under Sections 498-A, 304-B, 302/34 I.P.C.. Investigation was taken up by Investigating Officer, who visited the spot, prepared the site plan and recorded the statement of witnesses. Inquest report was prepared and post-mortem of the dead body was conduced and its report was also prepared by doctor. After completion of investigation, I.O. submitted the charge sheet against accused- Rajesh Kumar who was the husband and Smt. Kushma Devi, who is the mother-in-law of the deceased. As the case against accused Rajesh Kumar and Smt. Kushma Devi was exclusively triable by the court of session the case was committed to the court of session for trial by the Magistrate, hence, trial took place against accused- Rajesh Kumar and Smt. Kushma Devi.

5. Learned Sessions Court framed the charges against accused- Rajesh Kumar and Smt. Kushma Devi under Section 498-A, 304-B and 302/34 I.P.C. Charges were read over to the accused, who denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

6. To bring home the charges, the prosecution examined following witnesses:

1.	Raj Kumar	P.W.-1
2.	Prem Pal Singh	P.W.-2
3.	Ram Veer Singh	P.W.-3
4.	Sunita	P.W.-4
5.	Dr. Sanjay Kumar Singhal	P.W.-5
6.	Kapoor Chand	P.W.-6
7.	Gyan Kumar Singh	P.W.-7
8.	K.L. Verma	P.W.-8
9.	D.P. Singh	P.W.-9
10	Dr. Vimal Kumar Gupta	P.W.-10

7. In support of oral evidence, prosecution submitted following documentary evidence, which was proved by leading oral evidence:-

1.	FIR	Ex.ka-3
2.	Written report	Ex.ka-1
3.	Dying Declaration	Ex. ka-11
4.	Post-mortem report	Ex.ka-2
5.	Panchayatnama	Ex.ka-6
6.	Charge sheet Mool	Ex.ka-5
7.	Site plan with index	Ex.ka-13

8. After completion of prosecution evidence, the statement of accused were recorded under Section 313 of Criminal Procedure Code (Cr.P.C.), in which they denied their involvement in the crime and told that false evidence was led against them. The accused examined D.W-1 Chol Singh in defence.

9. We have heard Shri Noor Mohd. for the sole surviving appellant. It is further submitted by Shri Noor Mohd. that dying declaration should not have been acted upon by the Court below. It is further submitted that death of the deceased was due to septicaemia and therefore the punishment be converted from 302 to 304 Part-I in view of the recent decisions of Apex Court in Khokan @ Khokhan Vishwas Vs. State of Chhattisgarh 2021 0 Supreme (SC) 73 and in State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Subhash Alias Pappu 2022 0 Supreme (SC) 260 cited by learned counsel for the appellant.

10. Learned A.G.A. for the State has taken objection to the submissions of learned counsel for the accused-appellant and submitted that death of deceased had taken place within 7 years of her marriage. The dying declaration has been proved by ocular version of P.W.9 and P.W.10 and the statement of the deceased and therefore there is no question of not believing the same and upholding the conviction. The incident occurred on 17.3.2012 and the death occurred on 21.3.2012 (which is admitted position of fact).

11. Having gone through the factual data it cannot be said that dying declaration cannot be acted upon. The dying declaration categorically mentions that there was some altercation with the husband when the deceased was going for taking her bath in the morning at that time her husband namely Rajesh Kumar, who died, during the pendency of this appeal poured kerosene on her and it was her mother-in-law set her ablaze. They were alleging that she had illicit relation with somebody. The medical evidence and the post-mortem report goes to show that the death occurred on 21.3.2012, the evidence of P.W.5 shows as follows :-

"मृतका के मृत्यु का सही कारण जलना (हीट बर्न) ही था। मृत्यु मृतका का एक कारण जलने से हुई सेप्टीसीमिया भी था सेप्टीसीमिया दौरान इलाज जो इन्फेक्शन होता है उससे होता है।"

12. The death was caused due to septicaemia. In the cross-examination, the Dr. has accepted the fact that due to burn injuries some patients are infected.

13. The judgement relied upon by the learned trial Judge in the case of Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra 2003(1) JIC 30 SCC cannot be found fault with.

A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and in any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. In most cases, however, such statements are made orally before death ensues and is reduced to writing by someone like a magistrate or a doctor or a police officer. When it is recorded, no oath is necessary nor is the presence of a magistrate is absolutely necessary, although to assure authenticity it is usual to call a magistrate, if available for recording the statement of a man about to die. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a magistrate there is no specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind.

14. Considering the evidence of the witnesses and also considering the medical evidence including post mortem report, there is no doubt left in our mind about the guilt of the present appellant coupled with overt act of her son who was also convicted but has passed away.

15. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. of the Indian Penal Code should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which read as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

16. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.C. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder if the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

17. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the case coupled with the opinion of the medical officer and considering the principle laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Tuka Ram and others vs. State of Maharashtra [(2011) 4 SCC 250] and in the case of BN Kavadakar and another vs. State of Karnataka [1994 Supp (1) 304], we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC because the burn injuries were caused to the deceased by appellant with the intention to cause such bodily injuries as were likely to cause death and, therefore, the instant case falls under the Exceptions 4 of Section 300 IPC.

18. In the case on hand, after perusal of dying declaration of the deceased, it is not revealed as to why the appellant had poured the kerosene oil on the deceased and set her ablaze. Moreover, it is stated by the deceased in dying declaration that fire was also put out by the mother-in-law herself, hence, there is no dispute to the fact that fire was put out by the present appellant- Smt. Kushma Devi.

19. And therefore even before us Shri Noor Mohd. has based his submission on the judgements of the Apex Court that the punishment be converted to be one under Section 304 part-I of I.P.C. and not Section 302 I.P.C. as deceased died out of septicaemial death.

20. In this case from perusing the dying declaration it is proved that there was altercation and some exchange of words between husband and wife which gave rise to the incident, however it cannot be said that the case would fall within 304 part-II of I.P.C. the finding of fact in paragraph 31 which is reproduced as follows is also perused by us :

"उपरोक्त के पश्चात जहां तक मृतका के पति राजेश कुमार व सास श्रीमती कुसुमा देवी का प्रश्न है तो उनके विरुद्ध मृत्युपूर्व बयान में स्पष्ट रूप से यह कहा गया है कि .....सास सुबह में क्लेश कर रही थी, मैं नहाने जा रही थी। राजेश ने मिट्टी का तेल मेरे ऊपर डाला, कुसुमा मेरी सास ने माचिस से आग लगाई, जिससे मैं जल गई अर्थात मृतका के मृत्यु पूर्व बयान में पति राजेश द्वारा मिट्टी का तेल डालने व सास श्रीमती कुसुमा देवी द्वारा माचिस से आग लगाने के स्पष्ट कथन किए गए हैं । जहां तक अभियुक्ता कु0 रूबी का प्रश्न है, तो उसके संबंध में मृत्यु पूर्व बयान में मृतका ने मात्र यह कहा है कि .....ननद ने सास से कहा कि बहू ससुर में गलत संबंध हैं अर्थात अपने इस बयान में मृतका ने स्वयं के ऊपर मिट्टी का तेल डालने या उसके बाद माचिस से आग लगाने में अभियुक्ता कु0 रूबी की कोई भूमिका या सहभागिता नहीं बताई है। उद्धृत बयान से यह भी स्पष्ट नहीं है कि रूबी ने बहू ससुर में गलत संबंध होने की बात कब कही थी, जिससे मिट्टी का तेल डालकर आग लगाने व उसके परिणाम स्वरुप मृतका की मृत्यु होने संबंधी आरोप, मात्र पति राजेश कुमार व सास श्रीमती कुसुमा देवी के विरुद्ध ही साबित होते हैं अर्थात अभियुक्ता कु0 रूबी के विरुद्ध मृतिका को मिट्टी का तेल डालकर जला डालने संबंधी आरोपों की बाबत कोई विश्वसनीय साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत नहीं हुआ है, जिससे अभियुक्तगण राजेश कुमार, श्रीमती कुसुमा देवी के विरुद्ध मृतका की उसके ऊपर मिट्टी का तेल डालकर आग लगाकर साशय हत्या किए जाने व मृतका का उत्पीड़न किए जाने के आरोप युक्तियुक्त संदेह से परे साबित है । अभियुक्ता कु0 रूबी की किसी प्रकार की कोई भूमिका मृतका को जलाए जाने या उसे प्रताड़ित किए जाने में साबित नहीं होती है, जिससे कु0 रूबी के विरुद्ध धारा 302, 498ए भा0दं0सं0 के आरोप भी युक्तियुक्त संदेह से परे साबित नहीं होते हैं।"

21. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the view that appeal has to be partly allowed. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) of IPC as per the decision of Apex Court in Khokhan (supra) is concerned and the appellant is sentenced to undergo ten years of rigorous imprisonment with remissions and fine of Rs.20,000/- is reduced to Rs.5,000/-. In case of default of payment of fine, the appellant- Smt. Kushma Devi shall further undergo simple imprisonment for three months after the incarceration period of ten years with remission is over.

22. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed, as modified above.

23. Record be sent to trial court immediately.

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code,1860- Section 364-A-Challenge to-Conviction- In the present case, there is a clear and categorical evidence of the kidnappee when he was going to his sister's house, he was kidnapped by the accused persons and thereafter, rest of the appellants also joined them and participated in his kidnapping and confinement-The kidnappee was confined there for about two months-He was also made to write a letter to his father for ransom of Rs. 1,50,000/-. The version of PW 1, is supported by other witnesses- All the witnesses have been subjected to cross-examination, but there is no major contradiction or infirmity in the evidence of the witnesses- After his release, PW 1 has even pointed out the alleged house, where he was kept in confinement-There is evidence on record, which unmistakeably establishes that PW 1 was kidnapped by the accused-appellants and was kept in confinement for two months-The evidence on record fulfills all the ingredients of Section 365 of IPC-The evidence on record clearly makes out a case of kidnapping as punishable u/s 365 of IPC. Accordingly, the conviction of appellants recorded by the trial court under Section 364-A of IPC should be altered and modified to one under Section 365 of IPC only.(Para 81 to 97)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

1. These five appeals are directed against the judgment and orders dated 26.2.2011, 28.2.2011 and 1.4.2011, passed by Additional Sessions Judge (Court No.6), Mathura in Sessions Trial No. 115 of 2007 (State Vs. Pooran Singh, Padam Singh and Rahees) and Sessions Trial No.286 of 2007 (State Vs. Ramesh @ Chhote and Pohpee). All the five accused have been held guilty of kidnapping for ransom under Section 364-A IPC and have been sentenced to life imprisonment alongwith fine of Rs.10,000/- each, and to undergo further rigorous imprisonment of two years in the event of default of payment of fine.

2. Facts, as emerge from record of these connected appeals are that a written report was made by the first informant Mohar Singh (Ext. Ka-1) on 10.11.2016 stating that he is an original resident of Village Chaumuha, Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura. The brother-in-law of his sister namely Pohpee, son of Mahaur Singh, wanted informant's land to be sold. Upon the informant's refusal to sell his land accused Pohpee threatened him that he would kidnap his son and murder him. On 21.10.2006 the informant's son Satish had gone to Chaumuha Bazar but did not return till late in the evening which made the informant suspicious. The informant (PW-1) made attempts to trace out his son. He is alleged to have been informed by Ashok Kumar (PW-3) that from the vicinity of tea shop of Govind, Pohpee alongwith another person took his son on motorcycle towards Chhata. On enquiry the informant came to know that Pohpee and Narayan Singh had taken his son to Naugaon, Police Station Chhata and have handed over his son to Rahees son of Yaseen, resident of Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar; Pooran Singh son of Karan Singh, resident of Garhi Parsoti, Police Station Surir, District Mathura and Padam son of Kunwar Pal, who may kill his son. The informant disclosed that he was trying to locate his son so far, and after coming to know of the true facts he has come to police station for lodging his report. Same be registered and legal action be taken in the matter.

3. On the basis of aforesaid written report Police Constable Peetam Singh (PW-4) entered the substance of written report in the general diary. He thereafter prepared the Check FIR, which was registered as Case Crime No.493 of 2006, under Section 364 IPC, at police outpost Jait, Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura (Ext. Ka-2). Perusal of same will show that it was registered at 15.25 pm on 10.11.2006.

4. Incidentally, just five minutes after the lodging of aforesaid FIR, the police of Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar carried out a search/encounter at Unchagaon within the limits of P.S. Narsena in which the victim Satish (PW-2) was recovered, allegedly from four accused namely Padam Singh son of Kunwar Pal; Rahees son of Yaseen; Pooran Singh son of Karan Singh and Narayan Singh son of Udal Singh. 4 country-made pistols of 315 bore were recovered from this person. 12 live cartridges and four empties of aforesaid bore.

5. A memo of recovery of four country-made pistols of 315 bore (Tamanchas); 12 live cartridges and four empty cartridges and recovery of victim Satish came to be drawn by Harish Chandra Joshi (PW-6), the then SHO of Police Station Narsena. The recovery memo records that on 10.11.2006 the Station House Officer of Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar received information that some criminals were hiding in the house of one Sabuddin alongwith an kidnapped boy of 12-13 years of Mathura in Village Unchagaon. This information was recorded in the GD of Police Station Narsena at 2.00 pm, whereafter the police party raided the house of Sabuddin at around 2.30 pm on 10.11.2006. The police party on the pointing out of police informer reached the house of Sabuddin and warned all four criminals to surrender, since they were surrounded by police or else they would be killed. The four criminals are alleged to have started firing from inside the house on the police party, but ultimately they were over powered and arrested at 3.30 pm on 10.11.2006. From the custody of these criminals a child of 12 years was recovered, who disclosed his identity as Satish, resident of Village Chaumuha, Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura. The kidnapped child informed that he had been kidnapped for ransom from Chaumuha Bazar at Mathura. The arrested accused persons disclosed their names as Padam Singh son of Kunwar Pal, resident of Garhi Parsoti, Police Station Surir, District Mathura, who had a 315 bore Tamancha and on opening the barrel it transpired that a fresh shot had been fired from it, as smell of gunpowder was present. Three live cartridges of 315 bore were also recovered. The second criminal arrested disclosed his name as Rahees son of Yaseen, resident of Jigni, Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar from whom also a country-made pistol of 315 bore was recovered and a shot had also been fired from it since there was smell of gunpowder. Three live cartridges were also recovered from him. Similarly, from accused Pooran Singh and Narayan Singh also country-made pistols of 315 bore each were recovered alongwith three live cartridges each and on opening of barrel it transpired that a shot had been fired from both the guns as smell of gunpowder was present. It is recorded in the recovery memo that all four accused disclosed that they had kidnapped the 12 year old child alongwith co-accused Pohpee and Chhote, resident of Police Station Farah, District Mathura for ransom of Rs.10 lacs on 21.10.2006 at about 5.00 pm and they were in constant touch on phone with Govind for receiving the ransom in a day or so.

6. During the course of investigation of Case Crime No.493 of 2006, statement of informant was recorded by Investigating Officer wherein he disclosed about ransom. Consequently the offence complained of was altered to Section 364-A IPC from Section 364 IPC. Upon conclusion of investigation two chargesheets were submitted in the matter i.e. Ext. Ka-6 on 18.12.2006 against Narayan, Rahees, Pooran Singh and Padam Singh, whereafter a subsequent chargesheet was submitted on 23.2.2007 against Chhote @ Pooran and Pohap Singh. In the chargesheet 19 witnesses were proposed to be adduced by the prosecution to prove the charge levelled under Section 364-A IPC against aforesaid accused.

7. After submission of chargesheets, the concerned Magistrate took cognizance upon same. Since the case was triable by the court of sessions, the concerned Magistrate, accordingly, committed the case to the court of Sessions. On the basis of aforementioned two chargesheets, two separate sessions trial came to be registered i.e. Sessions Trial No.115 of 2007 (State Vs. Narayan and others) and Sessions Trial No.286 of 2007 (State Vs. Chhote and another). The Sessions Judge framed separate charges under Section 364-A IPC against each of the accused, who claimed the same and pleaded innocence. Resultantly trial procedure commenced.

8. The prosecution in order to establish the charge framed under Section 364-A IPC adduced PW-1 Mohar Singh (informant); PW-2 Satish (victim); PW-3 Ashok Kumar (witness of last scene); PW-4 Head Constable Peetam Singh; PW-5 S.I. Harendra Kumar Gautam, who had investigated Case Crime No.493 of 2006; PW-6 Harish Chandra Joshi, Station House Officer, Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar, who supervised the alleged encounter leading to the recovery of victim as well as arrest of the four accused.

9. On behalf of the defence, DW-1 Mohan Lal (brother of PW-1); DW-2 Smt. Anjum wife of Sabuddin and DW-3 Sabir (neighbour of Sabuddin) were adduced in proof of the innocence of accused.

10. PW-1 Mohar Singh (first informant) in his sworn testimony has stated that on 21.10.2006 his son Satish aged about 12 years had gone to purchase Crackers on the eve of Diwali but did not return home. He came to the market and made inquiries and was informed by Ashok Kumar (PW-3) that he had seen Satish purchasing Crackers with Pohpee whereafter he was taken on a motorcycle towards Chhata. Another unknown person with Pohpee was also present who was driving the motorcycle. The informant claims to have made all efforts to trace out his son but in vein. After some days PW-1 claims to have received a call on the STD Booth of Nanak, allegedly of his kidnapped son but while speaking to him PW-1 could gather that it is not the voice of his son and insead somebody else was on call. PW-1 was asked on phone to arrange a sum of Rs.10 lacs within four days or else his son would not return. PW-1 also stated that Pohpee is the Devar of his sister and has been coming to his house often. PW-1 disclosed that he owns certain land within 500 metres of the highway, in respect of which there was a proposal from Pohpee to have the land purchased at Rs.25 lacs per bigha. Pohpee, however, later offered rate of Rs.20 lacs per bigha only on which PW-1 refused to sell his land. Pohpee is alleged to have threatened PW-1 that if he does not sell his land his son would be kidnapped and murdered. It is asserted by PW-1 in his statement that precisely for this reason his son has been kidnapped.

11. PW-1 has also disclosed that his son has been recovered from the possession of Rahees, Pooran, Padam and Narayan. However, PW-1 after seeing the accused persons in the court failed to recognize/identify them. PW-1 also stated that he had lodged a report at police outpost Jait of Police Station Vrindavan a day prior to his son being recovered. It is also stated that the said report was got lodged through a resident of different village, who is not known to him. The report was written on his instructions. After seeing the written report (Ext. Ka-1) PW-1 stated that it is the same report. He has also stated that after his son was recovered he was given in his Supurdagi by the police personnels of Police Station Narsena, District Bulandshahar.

12. PW-1 was also cross-examined. This witness in his cross-examination has stated that he has seen Pohpee on the date of incident at about 1.00 pm but had not spoken to him. He returned from his field at about 4.00 pm and by 6.00 pm he came to know that his son is missing. According to this witness he immediately did not go to the police station but only after a week. He claims to have lodged a report on the 8th day of his son's disappearance. He also claims to have been informed by Ashok Kumar (PW-3) that Pohpee was accompanied by Chhote. He has also stated that he had gone a day before Diwali for lodging a report, which was duly registered, and it is on the second day of his report that he came to know about recovery of his son. He also claims to have received information about the recovery of his son from a person close to Pohpee but he does not remember his name.

13. PW-1 in his cross-examination has also asserted that he was informed by the aforesaid person that his son was with a gang and that he may contact them. He claims to have received a phone from the gang at Nanak's PCO. However, he feigned ignorance about the name of Nanak's father. The telephone call received was for arranging Rs. 10 lacs as ransom if he wanted his son back. This phone call is stated to have been received four days after lodging the report. PW-1 in his cross-examination has admitted that there was no subsequent call received by him for ransom. He claims to have gathered knowledge about 9-10 days after lodging of his report that his son has been recovered. PW-1 claims to have gone to Police Station Narsena with his brother. He also claims to have informed the police about involvement of Chhote and does not know the reason for exclusion of his name in the FIR. He has also claimed ignorance about any dispute between Pooran, father of Chhote, and his brother-in-law Hari Singh. He has also denied the allegation that he has enmity with the accused persons and that is why he has falsely implicated the accused persons.

14. PW-1 was cross-examined by the counsel for other accused namely Padam, Pooran and Rahees. In his cross-examination he claims to have returned with his son after three days of his recovery. He has further stated that only one police report was made by him after about 20 days of the incident of kidnapping. The only written report by him is alleged to have been written by some police personnel at Police Outpost Jait. In the report he claims to have implicated Pohpee and Chhote and has specifically asserted of having not disclosed the names of other accused. In his subsequent cross-examination PW-1 has stated of having received a telephone call after 20 days of his son's disappearance for ransom and to have informed about it to the SHO concerned. He alleged that a boy came from the STD Booth situate just after two houses from his house. On reaching the PCO PW-1 claims to have again got a call and he spoke to his son. He claimed ignorance about the identity of other persons present with his son. He has categorically stated that after 20 days of his son's disappearance he has lodged the report and prior to it no report was made to SSP, Police Chowki or the area Police Station.

15. PW-1 was again recalled for cross-examination and has stated that a person from Pohpee came at around 12 noon and he had gone to the police station at 7 pm. He claims to have come to know about Padam Singh and Rahees only after he reached Narsena. He has also denied the suggestion that false statement is being given by him and that the accused persons met him at the Police Station Narsena.

16. The victim Satish was also adduced as PW-2, who claims to be aged about 13 years. The trial court has clearly noticed in its order that the witness understands the concept of statement on oath and fully understands what is good or bad for him. PW-2 has thus been found fully mature to testify before the court.

17. PW-2 was stated that he had gone to get fire crackers at Ramleela ground, where Pohpee met him. He has identified Pohpee in court, who lured into accompanying him for buying fire crackers. PW-2 claims that he was then taken to a liquor shop where he met Chhote. These two persons then took the victim on a motorcycle. His eyes were covered. The victim claims to have been taken to Naugaon where four other persons met him and were calling each other with the names of Narayan Singh, Rahees, Pooran and Padam. PW-2 was then taken to Bulandshahar on a motorcycle where they stayed for 12 days, and thereafter he was taken to Unchagaon. PW-2 has stated that these four accused persons got a call made from him to his father on STD booth. PW-2 has also identified Rahees and Pohpee in the court.

18. PW-2 was firstly cross-examined on behalf of Chhote and Pohpee. In his cross-examination he has stated that he was taken to the liquor shop and then at about 5.00 pm he was taken on a motorcycle by Pohpee and another person with his eyes covered. He claims to have gone on bike to an undisclosed place. PW-2 then claims to have met the other four accused namely Raess, Narayan, Pooran and Padam and these persons got a phone call made from Unchagaon on the 13th day of his kidnapping. PW-2 has also admitted about existence of a dispute between his father and accused Pohpee.

19. On behalf of remaining accused also PW-2 was cross-examined on behalf of other accused also. In his first cross-examination this witness had disclosed that he stayed in the same house for 12 days, whereafter he was taken to Unchagaon. The accused stayed in the same room and PW-2 was taken out also by these four persons. PW-2 claims to have spoken to his father on phone once. PW-2 has also stated that he was sleeping on the roof top when police found him. The time of such event was stated to be 12.00-1.00 pm. The four accused persons are stated to have fled on seeing the police and were arrested on the ground floor. He has also stated that neither any shot was fired by the police nor these four accused persons had fired any shot at police and that all the four accused persons were unarmed. He claims to have met his father 13 days after the telephone call was made. He also stated that his eyes were not kept covered in the Village Unchagaon and he used to freely move in the village. He has, however, stated that he was initially beaten by these four persons but not thereafter.

20. PW-2 was again re-examined in which he has re-affirmed that none of four accused persons had fired on the police on the date he was recovered by the police. He has also stated that written report was scribed at the Police Station Narsena. He claims that his father narrated facts which were scribed by the Police Inspector. PW-2 has denied the suggestion that he was not kidnapped and that FIR has been falsely lodged.

21. PW-3 Ashok Kumar claims to have seen Pohap Singh taking Satish (PW-2) on a motorcycle. He also claims to have disclosed PW-1 about this fact at around 8.00 pm on 21.10.2006. In his cross-examination he has stated that he did not recognize the other person, who was driving the motorcycle. He has denied the suggestion that he did not know Narayan or that he was making a false deposition.

22. PW-4 Head Constable Peetam Singh claims to have made endorsement of written report in the GD and scribed the check FIR in his own handwriting. In his cross-examination he has clearly stated that police report was lodged after 20 days of the alleged disappearance of victim i.e. PW-2. The informant (PW-1) is stated to have intimated PW-4 that after gathering information about his son's disappearance the written report came to be lodged. PW-4 has clearly stated that no report was lodged with the local police prior to 10.11.2006 regarding kidnapping of PW-2. It is admitted that at the time when PW-1 came for lodging the report his brother was also with him. He has denied the suggestion that FIR is ante-timed.

23. S.I. Harendra Kumar Gautam, who deposed as PW-5, has stated that the written report was given by PW-1 at Police Station Chowki whereafter investigation was carried out by him. He also stated that after PW-1 informed him about demand of ransom of Rs.10 lacs the investigation was altered to Section 364-A IPC in place of Section 364 IPC. He has admitted that Satish was recovered from the accused persons during encounter within the limits of Police Station Narsena. PW-5 also claims to have gone to Narsena, where the statement of informant and PW-2 were recorded alongwith others. All the accused persons were present at the police station and the victim was also medically examined. He claims to have submitted a chargesheet after concluding the investigation, which has been proved by him.

24. In the cross-examination PW-5 has disclosed that check FIR was received by him for investigation. He claims to have received information on mobile that the victim alongwith accused persons have been apprehended and are at Police Station Narsena. He claims to have gone to Police Station Narsena on 11.11.2006 and returned thereafter on 13.11.2006. He has clearly stated that apart from the written report received on 10.11.2006 no prior intimation was received either at Jait or Vrindavan and no missing report was recorded either. He has stated that the name of person who demanded ransom of Rs.10 lacs has not been disclosed by PW-1 to him, nor during the course of investigation he could ascertain as to which of the accused had demanded ransom of Rs.10 lacs. He, however, admitted that disclosure about demand of ransom was made by PW-1. He has stated that during investigation a site plan has been drawn of the place from-where the accused persons were arrested and victim was recovered. However, he has not seen any mark of firing at the site of the encounter. He has denied the suggestion that FIR has been lodged after recovery of the victim. He has also stated that there was no independent witness to the recovery of victim.

25. Statement has also been recorded of Sri Harish Chandra Joshi (PW-6), who was the SHO of Police Station Narsena and lead the police party which recovered the victim and arrested the four accused. He has proved the memo of recovery of four country-made pistols; 12 live cartridges and four empties as also the recovery of victim. He has disclosed that none of the independent witness came forward to testify the aforesaid recovery. He has supported the prosecution version about the criminals' firing on the police party and the criminals being arrested thereafter on valiant act of bravery by the police party. In his cross-examination PW-6 has stated that after arresting all the accused he returned at the police station at 6.10 pm and the arrested persons were produced before the Magistrate on the next day. The kidnapped child was alleged to be given in the Supurdagi of Investigating Officer from Police Station Vrindavan, but the Supurdagi memo has not been produced in court. PW-6 has further stated in the cross-examination that the victim was kidnapped from Mathura and he was not aware about the time of lodging of the FIR. While supporting the prosecution story PW-6 has admitted that he had not arrayed Sabuddin or his family members as an accused. PW-6 has further stated that PW-2 had informed him about his kidnapping for ransom but had not informed about demand of Rs.10 lacs, which was accordingly not mentioned in the recovery memo. He has also admitted that there was no independent witness to the recovery nor he was made aware about which of the criminals had demanded the ransom. A suggestion has also made to PW-6 that the accused persons have been falsely implicated on the instigation of Devi Charan, which was denied by him.

26 . After the prosecution evidence was over, statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. All the adverse circumstances were disclosed to the accused. They, however, denied the same. They have pleaded innocence. Accused Pooran Singh stated that he had gone alongwith Padam Singh to search for the groom for his daughter and was falsely implicated due to enmity by Devi Charan. Similar stand has also been taken by Padam Singh.

27. On behalf of accused defence witnesses have also been produced. DW-1 is the brother of PW-1 Mohan Lal, who has stated that about a year back there was a dispute between PW-1 and Pohap Singh on account of which Pohap Singh has been implicated. He has denied the fact that PW-2 was kidnapped by Pohap Singh or Ramesh. He claims to be living with his brother Mohar Singh. He has further admitted in the cross-examination that differences between Pohap Singh and Mohar Singh had developed in respect of sale of agricultural land and after the transaction failed, the accused Pohap Singh alongwith others tried to recover ransom by kidnapping PW-2. He has also stated that kidnapping of PW-2 was made only for ransom.

28. DW-2 is Smt. Anjum wife of Sabuddin, who has denied recovery of PW-2 from her house. She also denied that any firing took place between the police and the alleged kidnapper. She has stated that she has only one house and none of the criminals ever stayed with the victim in her house nor were arrested from there. She has completely and categorically denied the prosecution story about kidnapping and recovery of victim from her house.

29. DW-3 Sabir is the neighbour of Sabuddin, who too has denied any incident in which four accused persons were apprehended in an encounter as also the recovery of the victim.

30. The trial court on the basis of above evidence came to the conclusion that PW-2 was kidnapped for ransom by Pohap Singh alongwith other four co-conspirators but convicted all the five accused and sentenced them for life imprisonment under Section 364-A IPC alongwith fine.

31 . On behalf of appellants it has been urged that the prosecution case is full of inconsistency and the witnesses are wholly unreliable. It is submitted that the charge of kidnapping for ransom has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt, in view of the following facts:-

(i). That the alleged kidnapping of PW-2 took place on 21st October, 2006 while written report was submitted after 20 days. It is urged that the conduct of PW-1 in not lodging any missing report or non-lodging of an FIR for 20 days is against the natural conduct of a father whose son has been kidnapped and the prosecution has failed to explain such conduct/inaction of the father. The aforesaid creates a doubt much less a reasonable doubt in the prosecution case.

(ii). It is argued that apart from Pohpee and Chhote none of the other accused had previously met or known PW-1 and it is difficult to explain as to how name of Rahees, Pooran and Padam could be disclosed in the FIR alongwith their parentage and address, when the victim himself had not been recovered nor these persons had been apprehended before the lodging of the FIR. It is then sought to be urged that the entire prosecution case is fallacious, inasmuch as the FIR itself has been lodged after the victim was recovered. The FIR is ante-timed and for such reason the entire prosecution story is rendered unreliable.

(iii). It is then contented that demand of ransom has not been proved, inasmuch as neither the exact date and time of telephone call has been specified nor any call detail record (CDR) produced to support the alleged demand of ransom. It is also urged that even the telephone number on which the call for ransom was received has been specified nor the telephone number of the caller has been disclosed. As such the entire prosecution story regarding demand of ransom is unreliable.

(iv). Questioning the case of prosecution regarding demand of ransom, it is urged by counsel for appellants that the PCO owner Nanak has not been produced in evidence nor even his identity has been established.

(v). There are material contradictions in the statement of PW-1 vis-a-vis PW-2 regarding the date and time of demand of ransom, which renders the prosecution story wholly unreliable.

(vi). It is also highlighted that as per prosecution story only one call was made for arranging funds without specifying the date, time or place for the ransom to be delivered, which exposes the falsity in the prosecution case.

(vii). The prosecution case of encounter at Sabuddin's house or firing etc. is not supported by any independent witness and PW-2, the victim himself, which renders the prosecution story highly improbable.

(viii). The FIR has been sent to Magistrate after four days for which no explanation has come forward, which clearly supports the appellants' contention that FIR itself is ante-timed.

(ix). The house of Sabuddin is in the midst of market and the fact that no independent witness adduced to prove the alleged encounter and the statement of PW-2 being at variance with the prosecution story, the entire prosecution case is rendered wholly doubtful, particularly as neither anyone had sustained any injury nor any signs of gunshot were found on the spot from where the victim is alleged to have been recovered.

(x). It is submitted then that the story set up by PW-1 that he lodged the police report earlier is contrary to the evidence on record and is otherwise self-contradictory, which renders the entire prosecution version of the alleged occurrence unworthy of trust.

32. To the contrary, it is alleged on behalf of the respondents that the first information report was registered initially under section 364 IPC at Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura. Thereafter it was converted under section 364-A IPC on the basis of the statement of the victim. The ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 were recorded by the trial court and kidnapping for ransom has been proved. PW-3 is the witness of last scene and has stated that victim was taken away by accused Pohpee on his motorcycle. The GD entry of the first information report has been proved by PW-4. PW-6 is the Station House Officer of P.S. Narsena, District Bulandshahar, who conducted the raid at the house of Sabuddin and recovered the victim (PW-2) and arrested the accused persons from the spot. Case under Section 307 IPC and Section 25 of the Arms Act was also registered and the trial against them is pending. The offence under Section 364-A IPC is clearly made out against accused on the basis of evidence available on record as there was demand of ransom made through telephone. The ingredients of Section 364-A IPC are clearly established against the accused. DW-1 Mohan Lal has himself stated that victim was kidnapped by the accused for ransom.

33. It is further submitted on behalf of respondents that PW-1 has given the explanation for lodging the first information report at the belated stage. PW-3 is not a tutored witness. Non-recording of the statement of the owner of the PCO and non-collection of the Call Detail may be deficiency in investigation but deficiency in investigation is by itself insufficient to dislodge the conviction awarded by court below. The alleged deficiency does not demolish the case of the prosecution, since there is ocular testimony available on record regarding ransom. The Supurdaginama in writing is not necessary component and not the requirement of law, since the victim was handed over to his father, who is natural guardian. Non-production of the victim before the Magistrate concerned for recording his statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., after his recovery can be said to be an irregularity but certainly not an illegality. The recovery cannot be said to doubtful just because evidence of independent witness has not been recorded, who was present at the spot.

34. In alternate, it is also submitted on behalf of respondents that If the Court finds that the case of prosecution under Section 364-A IPC is not made out as per the testimonies of the witnesses and in absence of any other material available on record, in such a situation, the prosecution has successfully made out a case against the appellants under Section 365 IPC. The charge against the appellants can be altered in the appeal by the appellate court, irrespective of the fact that the trial court failed to make any alternate charge against them under Section 365 IPC. From the contents of the framing of charge order dated 08.06.2007 it is evident that it is in two parts, one relates to the kidnapping of the victim by the appellants and the another is demand of ransom. Thus, the charge under Section 365 IPC is inherent in the order dated 8.6.2007. Reliance placed upon Section 464 Cr.P.C. by the appellants, which deals with the effect of omission to frame or absence or error in charge is misconceived. The case of prosecution shall not fall on this ground. Lastly, it is submitted that this Court in exercise of appellate jurisdiction can sentence the accused appellants, accordingly.

35. It is in the above factual scenario and the rival contentions advanced that this Court has to determine whether the offence of kidnapping for ransom has been proved against the accused appellants or not? The Court is also required to consider the alternate submission of learned AGA that in case the charge under Section 364-A is not established against accused appellants they can certainly be convicted for an offence under Section 365 IPC i.e. for kidnapping simplicitor.

36. We have heard Sri Rajeev Lochan Shukla alongwith Sri Subhash Chandra Raghav for appellants Padam Singh and Rahees (Criminal Appeal No. 1945 & 2636 of 2011); Sri Uttar Kumar Goswami, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant Pohpee (Jail Appeal No. 1262 of 2012); Sri S.S. Rajput for the appellant Pooran Singh (Criminal Appeal No. 1648 of 2011), Sri Rajeev Goswami for appellant Ramesh @ Chhote (Criminal Appeal No. 1741 of 2011) and Sri S. A. Murtaza & Sri Arunendra Singh, the learned AGA for the State.

Analysis on Facts

37. The only charge framed against all the five accused appellants is of kidnapping for ransom i.e. under Section 364-A IPC. Section 364-A IPC, as it exists after its amendment, is reproduced hereinafter:-

"364-A. Kidnapping for ransom, etc.--Whoever kidnaps or abducts any person or keeps a person in detention after such kidnapping or abduction and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person, or by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt, or causes hurt or death to such person in order to compel the Government or any foreign State or international inter-governmental organisation or any other person to do or abstain from doing any act or to pay a ransom, shall be punishable with death, or imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine."

38. Learned counsel for the parties are at ad idem on the necessary ingredients required to be proved for an offence under Section 364-A IPC as has been expressly held by the Supreme Court in the case of Shaik Ahmed Vs. State of Telangana, (2021) 9 SCC 59. After referring to Section 364-A IPC the Court observed as under in paragraphs 12 to 14 of the judgment in Shaik Ahmed (supra):-

"12. We may now look into section 364A to find out as to what ingredients the Section itself contemplate for the offence. When we paraphrase Section 364A following is deciphered:-

(i) "Whoever kidnaps or abducts any person or keeps a person in detention after such kidnapping or abduction"

(ii) "and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person, or by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt,

(iii) or causes hurt or death to such person in order to compel the Government or any foreign State or international inter- governmental organisation or any other person to do or abstain from doing any act or to pay a ransom"

(iv) "shall be punishable with death, or imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine."

The first essential condition as incorporated in Section 364-A is "whoever kidnaps or abducts any person or keeps a person in detention after such kidnapping or abduction". The second condition begins with conjunction "and". The second condition has also two parts i.e. (a) threatens to cause death or hurt to such person or (b) by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt. Either part of above condition, if fulfilled, shall fulfill the second condition for offence. The third condition begins with the word "or" i.e. or causes hurt or death to such person in order to compel the Government or any foreign State or international inter-governmental organisation or any other person to do or abstain from doing any act or to pay a ransom. Third condition begins with the word "or causes hurt or death to such person in order to compel the Government or any foreign state to do or abstain from doing any act or to pay a ransom". Section 364-A contains a heading "kidnapping for ransom, etc." The kidnapping by a person to demand ransom is fully covered by Section 364-A.

13. We have noticed that after the first condition the second condition is joined by conjunction "and", thus, whoever kidnaps or abducts any person or keeps a person in detention after such kidnapping or abduction and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person.

14. The use of conjunction "and" has its purpose and object. Section 364A uses the word "or" nine times and the whole section contains only one conjunction "and", which joins the first and second condition. Thus, for covering an offence under Section 364A, apart from fulfillment of first condition, the second condition i.e. "and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person" also needs to be proved in case the case is not covered by subsequent clauses joined by "or"."

39. After noticing the previous judgments on the issue the Court delineated it's views as under in paragraph 20 of the report in Shaik Ahmed (supra):-

"20. Thus, applying the above principle of interpretation on Conditions (i) and (ii) of Section 364-A which is added with conjunction "and", we are of the view that Condition (ii) has also to be fulfilled before ingredients of Section 364-A are found to be established. Section 364-A also indicates that in case the condition "and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person" is not proved, there are other classes which begins with word "or", those conditions, if proved, the offence will be established. The second condition, thus, as noted above is divided in two parts- (a) and threatens to cause death or hurt to such person or (b) by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt."

40. Having noticed the earlier judgments operating in the field the Supreme Court authoritatively crystallized the necessary ingredients, which are required to be proved by the prosecution for bringing home a charge under Section 364-A IPC, in Shaik Ahmed (supra), in following words:-

"33. After noticing the statutory provision of Section 364-A and the law laid down by this Court in the above noted cases, we conclude that the essential ingredients to convict an accused under Section 364-A which are required to be proved by prosecution are as follows:

(i) Kidnapping or abduction of any person or keeping a person in detention after such kidnapping or abduction; and

(ii) threatens to cause death or hurt to such person, or by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt or;

(iii) causes hurt or death to such person in order to compel the Government or any foreign State or any Governmental organization or any other person to do or abstain from doing any act or to pay a ransom.

Thus, after establishing first condition, one more condition has to be fulfilled since after first condition, word used is "and". Thus, in addition to first condition either condition (ii) or (iii) has to be proved, failing which conviction under Section 364-A cannot be sustained.

34. The second condition which is "and threatens to cause a death or hurt to such person, or by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt" is relevant for consideration in this case since appellant has confined his submission only regarding non- fulfillment of this condition. We may also notice that the appellant has filed grounds of appeal before the High Court in which following was stated in Grounds 6 and 7:

"6. The learned Judge failed to see that PW-2 stated that he was treated well and as such there was no threat to cause death or hurt.

7. The learned Judge should have seen that PW-1 did not state that the accused threatened to cause death or hurt to his son.""

41. It is in the above legal backdrop that the facts of the present case needs to be analyzed in order to answer the question:- as to whether the charge of kidnapping for ransom has been proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants in the facts of the present case?

42. On behalf of prosecution the charge of kidnapping for ransom has been attempted to be proved essentially by relying upon the oral testimony of informant (PW-1), the victim (PW-2) and Ashok Kumar (PW-3), who has seen the victim being taken on a motorcycle by accused Pohpee alongwith another. As per the FIR allegation the victim was kidnapped for ransom by Pohpee, since the informant had refused to sell his land on his suggestion. According to PW-1 the price of land was initially agreed upon at Rs.25 lacs per bigha but he was only offered Rs.20 lacs per bigha, and when he refused to sell his land he received threat from Pohpee about his son being kidnapped and killed.

43. In the aforesaid backdrop the first issue that requires examination in the facts of the present case is the credibility and reliability of PW-1 about the incident so as to determine the culpability of accused appellants in the commission of the alleged offence.

44. The FIR clearly states that the son of PW-1 was kidnapped by Pohpee at around 5.00 pm on 21.10.2006. PW-1 in his statement has also admitted that he received information from PW-3 on the same day i.e. 21.10.2006 about the fact that his son has been kidnapped by Pohpee together with another person.

45. In the event of PW-2 having been kidnapped on 21.10.2006 and it was made known to PW-1 that his son has been kidnapped by Pohpee, who is the brother-in-law of his real sister, the first and foremost conduct expected of the father of a kidnapped son would be to report the disappearance of the son to the police, particularly when he is aware as to who has taken his son. It may also be noticed that there was no demand for ransom received by PW-1 and, therefore, intimation to police otherwise would not have harmed his son. The fact that police is not informed by PW-1 about the kidnapping of his son for 20 days from the date of incident despite being aware of the person who had kidnapped him raises a serious doubt regarding the conduct of PW-1.

46. The Statement of PW-1 is found to be inconsistent on the point relating to the lodging of police report in the matter. PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that he lodged a report of the incident at Police Chowki Jait a day prior to the recovery of his son. This report is alleged to have been made through a person of another village who was not known to him. Upon being shown the written report (Ext. Ka-1), PW-1 has stated it to be that report only.

47. The written report (Ext. Ka-1) is dated 10.11.2006 which incidentally is the date of recovery of victim. The statement of PW-1 that written report of the incident was made a day prior to recovery of his son is thus found to be false. His statement that report was lodged through a person of another village, was not known to him, otherwise creates genuine and strong suspicion. It would be difficult to accept the statement of father of a kidnapped son to have made a police report through a person not even known to him.

48. In his cross-examination, PW-1 has stated that he had gone to police station a week after kidnapping of his son and had lodged a report at the police station. No such report exists on record. PW-4 and PW-5, who are the police officials connected with the investigation of the case have specifically stated that apart from the written report dated 10.11.2006 no prior report/missing report/FIR was lodged in respect of the incident by PW-1 or anyone else on his instructions. Resultantly, the statement of PW-1 about making a police report on the 8th day of kidnapping of his son is thus found to be incorrect.

49. PW-1 in his cross-examination has also stated that he again went to police station a day prior to Diwali and he came to know about recovery of his son the day next of making the (second) report. This stand is again contrary to the evidence available on record. This stand is otherwise self-contradictory, inasmuch as, PW-1 has admitted in his cross-examination that only one report was lodged in respect of the incident and that to after 20 days. The report was written at Police Chowki Jait in the presence of Sub Inspector and he had only disclosed the name of Pohpee and Chhote whereas in the FIR name of Chhote is not shown as an accused and the names of other accused namely Narayan Singh, Rahees, Pooran, Padam are recorded.

50. Statement of PW-1 with regard to the time and contents of police report is neither consistent nor tallies with the evidence available on record.

51. There is absolutely no explanation furnished by the prosecution for the delay of 20 days in lodging the FIR itself. Such conduct of PW-1 otherwise is questionable, since it would be expected that a prompt report would be lodged by a father with regard to kidnapping of his 12 year old son.

52. The only explanation given in the FIR for the delay is that PW-1 was trying to search out his son and only when he gathered the true facts that the FIR was lodged. This explanation cannot by any stretch of imagination be said to be satisfactory so as to explain the inordinate delay in lodging of FIR.

53. The Sessions Court while considering the issue of delayed lodging of FIR has accepted the version of PW-1 that he and his family members were trying to search the victim. It has also been observed that in view of the ransom call received the welfare of victim was uppermost in the minds of PW-1. This conclusion does not appear to be sound in view of the evidence available on record, inasmuch as, PW-1 was informed on the date of disappearance of his son itself that he was taken by Pohpee @ Pohap Singh. The receiving of ransom call is of a week later. There is no reason why the FIR was not lodged promptly when the identity of accused was known to the first informant and threat of ransom was also not received, by then. The trial court therefore has not appreciated the argument with regard to delayed lodging of FIR in correct perspective.

54. It is worth reiterating that the prosecution has failed to explain the inconsistencies in the statement of PW-1 when he stated that he firstly wanted to lodge a report in the matter, a day prior to Diwali, and such report was lodged. This statement of PW-1 is not substantiated from the evidence on record, inasmuch as no report prior to 10.11.2006 has been brought on record. Rather it is the specific case of prosecution witnesses i.e. PW-4 Peetam Singh and PW-5 Harendra Kumar Gautam that no report prior to 10.11.2006 was received at the police station about kidnapping of PW-2 nor even a missing report was lodged in that regard. PW-1 has also stated in his cross-examination that he had lodged a police report at Police Chowki Jait of Police Station Vrindavan, a day prior to recovery of his son. This statement is again not substantiated as the only written report is dated 10.11.2006. It is also stated that he does not remember the name of person through whom he got the report registered at Police Chowki Jait. As per him the only written report is Ext. Ka-1, which is dated 10.11.2006, whereas the witness claims it having been submitted a day prior to recovery, which is 9.11.2006.

These inconsistencies have been plainly overlooked by the trial court.

55. The statement of PW-1 is also relevant in order to substantiate the allegation with regard to demand of ransom. He has stated in his examination-in-chief that few days after kidnapping of his son he was informed by Nanak that a call for him was received on his PCO and he was asked to arrange ransom amount of Rs. 10 lacs or else he would not get his son.

56. It is worth noticing that in spite of receiving a ransom call by PW-1 only few days after kidnapping of his son the disclosure in this regard is clearly missing in the written report which forms the basis of the FIR. In the event a ransom call was already received, the reasonable conduct of PW-1 was to mention it in the FIR. The FIR is not the encyclopedia of the prosecution case but it must disclose the basic prosecution case. This aspect of the matter has been overlooked by the court of Sessions.

57. PW-1 also claims to have come to know about kidnapping of his son from a person close to Pohpee who asked him to contact the gang having custody of his son. This person is neither produced in evidence nor he is identified by PW-1.

58. PW-1 has stated that phone call for ransom was received four days after lodging the first report with the police. There is no earlier report of PW-1 on record, as is alleged by him, and his statement about getting a call four days thereafter renders the time of receiving alleged ransom call absolutely vague and indefinite.

59. In view of the discussions made above we have no doubt to hold that PW-1 Mohar Singh is neither a credible nor a reliable witness. Resultantly, his testimony is not worthy of reliance. The court below has not examined the issue of reliability of PW-1 in light of the inconsistencies noticed on his part and has taken his testimony on its face value without subjecting it to proper scrutiny, which renders the judgment of court below open to challenge on the ground of non-application of mind.

60. In order to bring home the charge under Section 364-A IPC, it must be established that the accused have kidnapped or abducted any person and have kept such person in detention and threat to cause death or hurt to such person, or by his conduct gives rise to a reasonable apprehension that such person may be put to death or hurt, or cause hurt or death to such person in order to compel any person or abstain him from doing any act or to pay a ransom.

61. In Shaik Ahmed (supra), the Supreme Court has clearly held that all the ingredients constituting an offence of kidnapping for ransom must be satisfied by the prosecution by leading cogent evidence before the charge under Section 364A IPC could be established against an accused.

62. One of the ingredients to establish the offence under Section 364-A IPC is the demand for ransom. On this aspect, we find that the statement of witnesses is not consistent for the following reasons:-

(i) First and foremost, it is to be noticed that when the FIR was lodged on 10.11.2006 at 3.25 pm, there was no disclosure by the informant to the police that his son had been kidnapped for ransom. As per statement of PW-1, the demand for ransom had already been made from him, but this fact was not disclosed in the FIR.

(ii) In the statement of PW-1 and PW-2, there is neither any specific date or time disclosed about the making or receiving of ransom call. At one stage, PW-1 has stated that after few days of the disappearance of his son he received a call at Nanak's STD booth alleging it to be his son, but PW-1 was sure that the voice on the phone was not of his son. PW-1 claims to have been instructed on phone call to arrange Rs. 10 Lacs within four days or else he would not seen his son. In this part of the statement PW-1 has neither specified the date of receipt of the phone call, nor has he given the telephone number on which such call was received. The prosecution has also not produced any call detail report in that regard.

63. In his cross-examination, PW-1 has stated that a telephone call was received at Nanak's PCO situate close to his house. However, PW-1 has shown ignorance about the name of the father of PCO owner. Even the telephone number on which such ransom call was received is not disclosed. Thus there is material contradiction in the statement of PW-1 about the time of receiving of ransom call.

64. Interestingly, no date, time or place is alleged to have been disclosed to PW-1 for ransom to be delivered. No subsequent call was otherwise received for delivering the ransom. It is difficult to conceive that demand for ransom would be made without specifying the manner in which such ransom is to be delivered. In view of the entire and coupled with the fact that no call detail record was produced nor such disclosure was made in the FIR the prosecution has failed to establish the demand of ransom for release of victim.

65. We may hasten to add that the statement of PW-1 with regard to demand of ransom is otherwise inconsistent as he has given two distinct details in his statement about receipt of ransom call which renders his testimony otherwise unworthy of trust.

66. So far as the statement of PW-2 is concerned, he has stated that the accused persons got a call made to his father but he has not referred to any demand of ransom. The telephonic talk referring to demand for ransom by PW-2 was allegedly made seven days after his kidnapping while he claims to have met his father 13 days after making of the ransom call which is not the time disclosed by PW-1 for receiving the ransom call. PW-3, who is the other witness of fact, has stated nothing about the demand of ransom.

67. The statement of DW-1 that the victim was kidnapped for ransom is not based upon any personal knowledge on part of DW-1 but is at best an inference based upon the information received from PW-1 by him. Such statement being barred upon hearsay, therefore, cannot be treated as evidence to establish the demand of ransom.

68. We have already observed while analysing the statement of PW-1 that his testimony about lodging of police report is contradictory and is otherwise not as per the record. The only report lodged by PW-1 is on 10.11.2006 and his statement that ransom call was received four days after lodging of report is wholly unbelievable.

69. The victim was recovered on the date of lodging of the report itself and it cannot be conceived as to why and how a call for ransom would be made four days after the recovery of the victim.

70. Statement of PW-1 that he received information about recovery of his son nearly 9-10 days after lodgement of report is also contrary to records. PW-1 in later part of his cross-examination has disclosed that the ransom call was received after 20 days of disappearance of his son. It is alleged that the ransom call was received the day next to the lodging of the report. Both the statements are inconsistent with the available record, inasmuch as PW-2 he was recovered 20 days after his kidnapping and after his recovery making a call for ransom does not make any sense.

71. From the above discussion it is apparent that neither the call for ransom was disclosed to the police at the time of lodging of FIR, nor the allegation of receipt of ransom call has been substantiated by furnishing details with regard to receiving of such demand of ransom. Statement of PW-1 is not consistent on this score so as to render his testimony reliable. In such circumstances, we find that the prosecution has failed to establish the demand for ransom. It may be reiterated that neither any call detail report has been furnished, nor any specific date and time of receiving of telephone call for ransom has been specified. Moreover, even the phone number on which such call is said to have been received has not been disclosed.

72. In view of the discussions made above, we have no hesitation in discarding the prosecution case that demand of ransom was the motive behind kidnapping of PW-2. The court below has erred in taking a contrary opinion, on facts, since the evidence regarding demand of ransom have not been correctly evaluated and renders the conviction open to challenge on such grounds.

73. Since all the ingredients constituting an offence of kidnapping for ransom are required to be established, which includes first and foremost the demand of ransom, the failure on part of prosecution to prove the demand of ransom leads to an inescapable conclusion that the charge of kidnapping for ransom could not be established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt against any of the accused appellants. Thus the conviction and sentence of accused appellants under Section 364-A IPC is render

74. At this juncture, it would be worthwhile to refer to the alternate submission advanced by learned AGA that charge under Section 365 IPC is made out against the accused appellants.

75. Record reveals that the solitary charge levelled against the accused appellants is of kidnapping for ransom. No alternate charge for kidnapping has been specifically framed against the accused. In such circumstances, first and foremost, it has to be seen as to whether the charge of kidnapping, in the alternate, pressed against the accused appellants could be considered when such a charge has otherwise not been specifically framed against them. Based upon the discussion on this aspect we have to determine as to whether such alternate charge is made out against any or all of the accused appellants in the matter or not.

76. The charge levelled against all the accused appellants is as under:-

"यह कि दिनांक 21.10.06 को समय करीब 5 बजे शाम वादी मुकदमा श्री मौहर सिंह

निवासी चौमुहा थाना बृन्दावन जिला मथुरा के लड़के सतीश जिसकी उम्र 12 वर्ष थी, को जब वह चौमुहा बाजार गया हुआ था तो तुम लोगों ने अन्य अभियुक्त छोटे तथा पोहपी के साथ मिलकर अपहृत करके उसको अवैध रूप से निरूद्ध रखे रहे तथा इन लोगों द्वारा दस लाख रूपये फिरौती की रकम मांगा गया और उसे जान से मारने की धमकी दी। इसप्रकार तुम लोगों द्वारा ऐसा अपराध किया गया जो धारा 364ए भा0द0सं0 के अन्तर्गत दंडनीय अपराध है और इस न्यायालय के प्रसंज्ञान में है।"

77. The above charge is in two parts. The first part is with regard to kidnapping of PW-2 on 21.10.2006 at 5.00 pm and illegal confining him. The second part of the charge is with regard to demand of ransom of Rs. 10 lacs and threat to life extended to the victim. Even if the second part of the charge with regard to demand of ransom is excluded, yet the charge with regard to abduction and kidnapping of the victim on 21.10.2006 at 5.00 pm from Chaumuha Bazar and detaining him unlawfully survives. On the basis of above the charge of kidnapping in terms of Section 365 IPC is implicit in the charge framed against accused and therefore there exists no impediment in examining the guilt of the accused under Section 365 IPC.

78. Law on the alteration of charge otherwise is specific and what needs to be examined is as to whether the accused was confronted with the charge levelled against him, so that he may put up his defence, and that no prejudice is caused to the accused on account of non-framing of such charge and his right of defence is not infringed in any manner.

79. The charge under Section 364A IPC implicitly includes the charge of kidnapping in addition to demand of ransom and threat to life. Even if the charge of ransom is not established, yet the charge of kidnapping can be tried.

80. In Shaik Ahmed (supra) also the Supreme Court proceeded to convict the appellant under Section 363 IPC after holding that the offence under Section 364-A IPC is not made out. Para 42 of the judgment, which is relevant for the controversy in hand, is reproduced herein under:-

"42. The Second condition having not been proved to be established, we find substance in the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant that conviction of the appellant is unsustainable under Section 364A IPC. We, thus, set aside the conviction of the appellant under Section 364A. However, from the evidence on record regarding kidnapping, it is proved that accused had kidnapped the victim for ransom, demand of ransom was also proved. Even though offence under Section 364A has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt but the offence of kidnapping has been fully established to which effect the learned Sessions Judge has recorded a categorical finding in paragraphs 19 and 20. The offence of kidnapping having been proved, the appellant deserves to be convicted under Section 363. Section 363 provides for punishment which is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine."

81. In Deshraj Vs. State of U.P., 2019 (107) ACC 176 also a Division Bench of this Court was confronted with a similar factual scenario where charge under Section 364-A IPC was not established yet the charge under Section 365 IPC was made out. The Division Bench proceeded to convict the appellants under Section 365 IPC by holding as under in para 27 to 30 of the report, which are extracted hereinafter:-

"27. The next question, which arises for consideration, is that whether the conviction of the accused-appellants can be altered to u/s 365 of IPC. It is clear from the record that the incident in question, has taken place in the year 1987. Record shows that at the commencement of the trial on 29.07.2004, accused persons were charged under Sections 365 and 368 of IPC and thereafter the prosecution has led its entire evidence and the accused persons were examined under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. It was only thereafter that the charges were amended and in place of Sections 365 and 368 of IPC, the accused persons were charged under Sections 364-A and 368 of IPC by the trial court vide order dated 09.06.2009. The record further depicts that when the amended charges under Sections 364-A and 368 of IPC were framed, it was submitted on behalf of the accused persons that they do not want to cross-examine the witnesses and an endorsement to this effect was made on the order sheet dated 09.06.2009 of the record of trial court. So far as this pure question of law is concerned whether the conviction of an accused can be altered from Section 364-A of IPC to one u/s 365 IPC, there are certain decisions of this Court wherein it has been held that such conversion in conviction is permissible under law. In Mahesh V State of UP Criminal Appeal No. 3647 of 2005 decided on 16.08.2016, this Court found that there was no evidence of ransom and the prosecution has failed to establish the essential ingredients of such demand as required under Section 364A of IPC. On the other hand, the offence alleged and proved against the appellants squarely falls within the ambit and purview of Section 365 of IPC. Accordingly, the conviction of appellants recorded by the trial court u/s 364A of IPC was altered and modified to one under Section 365 of IPC only. Similarly, in the case of Ashwani Dubey V State of UP Criminal APPEAL No. 7740 of 2006 decided on 10.08.2016, on the facts of similar nature, this Court taking similar view, has altered the conviction from Section 364-A of IPC to one u/s 365 of IPC. Thus, it is clear that if the ingredient of ransom is not proved but the evidence establishes the ingredients of sec 365 IPC, the conviction can be altered from Section 364-A of IPC to one u/s 365 IPC. Though, in those cases the issue of "ex-post facto laws" was not involved, but in view of the peculiar facts of the present case particularly, considering that the appellants have faced trial for the offence u/s 365/368 IPC and the charge was altered only after the evidence was led, the appellants cannot be given benefit of the alleged error in charge and if the evidence on record establishs charge u/s 365 IPC, they can still be convicted for the same.

28. Now it is to be considered whether the evidence on record satisfies the ingredients of Section 365 of IPC. The provisions of Section 365 of IPC reads as under:

"Kidnapping or abducting with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person.

365. Kidnapping or abducting with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person.--Whoever kidnaps or abducts any person with intent to cause that person to be secretly and wrongfully confined, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine".

29. In the present case, there is a clear and categorical evidence of the kidnappee Aadeep Kumar that on 15.11.1987 when he was going to his sister's house, he was kidnapped by Anand Kumar alias Chhote, Ravendra Singh, Anand Kumar alias Chhote and thereafter, rest of the appellants also joined them and participated in his kidnapping and confinement. The kidnappee was taken to the house of accused-appellant Kalyan and was confined there for about two months. He was also made to write a letter to his father for ransom of Rs. 1,50,000/-. The version of PW 1, Aadeep Kumar is supported by other witnesses. All the witnesses have been subjected to cross-examination, but there is no major contradiction or infirmity in the evidence of the witnesses. After his release, PW 1 has even pointed out the alleged house, where he was kept in confinement. There is overwhelming evidence on record, which unmistakeably establishes that on 15.11.87, PW 1 Aadeep Kumar was kidnapped by the accused-appellants and was kept in confinement for two months. The evidence on record fulfills all the ingredients of Section 365 of IPC. In view of peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, there does not appear any hurdle in alteration of conviction of the appellants from Section 364-A of IPC to one u/s 365 IPC. A perusal of the provisions of Sections 364-A and 365 of IPC indicates that the mischief punishable u/s 365 IPC is a less aggravated form of the offence punishable u/s 364-A IPC. As stated earlier, the offence punishable under Section 365 of IPC is of same nature and specie and it prescribed less punishment than that of Section 364-A of IPC. As the entire prosecution evidence was led on the charges under Sections 365 and 368 of IPC, thus, no prejudice would be caused to the accused-appellants if their conviction is altered to under Section 365 of IPC. In view of all these facts and evidence on record, the alteration of conviction of the appellants from Section 364-A of IPC to Section 365 of IPC would not result into any prejudice to the accused-appellants. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants could also not dispute the above stated position of law. The evidence on record clearly makes out a case of kidnapping as punishable u/s 365 of IPC. Accordingly, we are of the firm opinion that the conviction of appellants recorded by the trial court under Section 364-A of IPC should be altered and modified to one under Section 365 of IPC only.

30. The conviction and sentence awarded by the learned trial court stands modified accordingly. As per the dictum contained in Section 365 IPC, the offence is punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, coupled with fine."

82. The evidence available on record in the form of statement of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 fully supports the prosecution case that the victim was kidnapped on 21.10.2006 at 5.00 pm by Pohpee, who is said to have taken the victim on a motorcycle with co-accused Ramesh @ Chhote.

83. As already noticed above, Pohpee is known to PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 from before and has been specifically named as being the person who had kidnapped the victim. The statement of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 are inconsistent on that score.

Specific reason has also been assigned for kidnapping the victim by Pohpee Singh. PW-2 who is the victim and whose testimony is clear, categorical and consistent on material aspects has stated that he was kidnapped by Pohpee alongwith another person.

84. So far as the other person alongwith Pohpee is concerned, his identity has not been disclosed in the FIR. The FIR mentions the name of Narayan as being the person kidnapping PW-2 with Pohpee but PW-1 in his statement has taken the name of Chhote instead of Narayan.

85. The identity of Chhote has not been established, inasmuch as he has not been identified by any of the prosecution witnesses during the course of trial. Pohpee, however, is known to the prosecution witnesses from before being a close relative and has been identified as being the kidnapper of PW-2. In such circumstances, the charge under Section 365 IPC for kidnapping the minor victim can only be said to be made out against Pohpee and no one else.

86. The prosecution case refers to the kidnapping of PW-2 on 21.10.2006 at 5.00 pm from Chaumuha Bazar and although the prosecution case is that custody of victim was transferred to other accused appellants (except Pohpee and Chhote) but such charge has not been specifically framed against the other accused vide framing of charge order. No specific detail is disclosed about the date, time and place regarding transfer of custody of PW-2 in the charge framed against other accused, specifically when it is the admitted case of the prosecution that PW-2 was kidnapped on 21.10.2006 only by Pohpee and Chhote.

87. There is another aspect with regard to complicity of other accused which needs to be noticed at this stage. This is with regard to the identity of Rahees, Narayan Singh, Pooran and Padam. None of the aforesaid accused were known to the prosecution witnesses from before. None of them have been identified by the prosecution during the course of trial, except Rahees who has been identified by PW-2 in the witness box.

88. PW-5 Harendra Kumar Guatam, who is the Investigating Officer has clearly admitted in his cross-examination that identity of accused persons was not protected and no process for identification of accused persons was ensured. No identification parade was carried out. In such circumstances, identity of accused persons (except Pohpee) in commissioning of the alleged offence has also to be ascertained.

89. So far as Chhote @ Ramesh is concerned, his name has not been mentioned in the first information report. The allegation in the FIR is that Pohpee Singh alongwith Narayan Singh S/o Udal have taken away the victim on a motorcycle. The trial of Narayan Singh has already been segregated and he is not one of the accused appellant in the present case.

90. PW-1 in his statement has stated that he did not know Pooran from before and has seen him for the first time at Police Station Narsena after he was arrested and the victim was recovered. Pooran has not been identified in the witness box by PW-1. PW-2 in his statement has stated that the other person alongwith Pohpee, who had kidnapped him was named Chhote as he was so called by Pohpee. However, in the witness box PW-2 only identified Rahees and Pohpee. PW-2 has, therefore, not recognized Ramesh @ Chhote as being the victim. PW-3 has also not identified Ramesh @ Chhote as being the person driving the motorcycle on which the victim was taken by Pohpee Singh. In such circumstances, although Chhote has been implicated as the person who had kidnapped PW-2 alongwith Pohpee Singh, but neither Chhote has been identified by any of the witnesses, nor his role in kidnapping the victim is established.

91. So far as the other accused persons namely; Rahees S/o Yaseen, Pooran Singh s/o Karan Singh and Padam S/o Kunwar Pal are concerned, their names have figured for the first time in the recovery memo and the first information report. PW-1 in his cross-examination has stated that he had disclosed the names of Pohpee and Chhote alone at the time of lodging of FIR and not the names of other persons namely; Rahees, Pooran and Padam. These persons have also not been identified, inasmuch as, neither their identity was protected nor any test identification parade was done to ascertain their identity. PW-2 in his statement although has identified Rahees in Court but not much reliance can be placed on it since the trial had continued for long and the accused persons were regularly produced in Court without their identity being protected. The possibility of PW-2 having come to know of the identity of Rahees during the trial cannot be ruled out. In such circumstances, none of the other accused persons can be held liable for the offence under Section 365 IPC, inasmuch as their implication is not established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt. No specific charge has been framed as to on what date the victim was transferred in their custody, either. In the absence of any specific charge levelled against these persons, it would not be safe to hold them liable for kidnapping PW-2.

92. On the conspectus of the facts as noted above, we have no hesitation to conclude that the charge of kidnapping of the victim i.e. PW-2 Satish for ransom is not made out against any of the accused. Conclusion drawn by Court below against the accused regarding commission of an offence of kidnapping for ransom therefore cannot be sustained and is, therefore, liable to be set aside by this Court.

93. However, from the discussion made above the charge of kidnapping under Section 365 IPC is clearly made out against accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh. Consequently, the conviction and sentence awarded by court below to accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh is liable to be modified by this Court.

94. Resultantly the appeals filed by Pooran Singh, Ramesh @ Chhote, Padam Singh and Rahees succeed. They are liable to be allowed. Accordingly, the impugned judgment and orders dated 26.2.2011/28.2.2011 and 1.4.2011; passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6 Mathura in Sessions Trial No. 115 of 2007 (State Vs. Pooran Singh, Padam Singh and Rahees) and Sessions Trial No. 286 of 2007 (State Vs. Ramesh @ Chhote and Pohpee) whereby they have been convicted for the offence of kidnapping for ransom and awarding them life imprisonment alongwith fine is set aside, except for accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh.

95. Since the charge of kidnapping punishable under Section 365 IPC is made out against Pohpee @ Pohap Singh, the impugned judgment and order dated 26.2.2011 and 28.2.2011 passed by court below, in so far as it relates to accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh, is liable to be modified. Accordingly, the same is modified. Accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh shall stand convicted under Section 365 IPC. He shall accordingly undergo simple imprisonment of seven years alongwith fine of Rs. 10,000/-. In case of default he shall undergo simple imprisonment for a period of three months. However, in case accused Pohpee @ Pohap Singh has already undergone the sentence and has also deposited the fine, he shall be released forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other case.

96. All the other accused i.e. Pooran Singh, Ramesh @ Chhote, Padam Singh and Rahees, however, shall be set at liberty forthwith, unless, they are wanted in any other case, subject to their executing a bond in terms of Section 437-A Cr.P.C.

97. Criminal Appeal Nos. 1684 of 2011, 1741 of 2011, 1945 of 2011 and 2636 of 2011 are allowed; whereas Jail Appeal No. 1262 of 2012 is partly allowed.

of 2015 (arising out of Case Crime No.565 of 2014, P.S. Kayamganj, district Farrukhabad), whereby the appellants Prem Pal, Sipahi Lal and Omveer have been convicted under Sections 364-A/120-B and 368 IPC in connection with Case Crime No.553 of 2015 (supra) and, in addition to above, Prem Pal and Omveer have also been convicted under Section 25 of the Arms Act in connection with Case Crime Nos.563 of 2014 and 565 of 2014 (supra), respectively. Whereas, Prem Pal and Omveer have also been sentenced to imprisonment of three years R.I. as well as fine of Rs.5,000/-, coupled with a sentence of two years each, under Section 25 of the Arms Act. All sentences to run concurrently. As all these appellants were in jail during the course of trial, it was observed that the time spent in jail by the appellants shall be counted/adjusted against the sentence awarded.

2. In S.S.T. No.37 of 2015, seven persons, namely, Sipahi Lal (appellant no.2), Prem Pal (appellant no.1), Omveer (appellant no.3), Ramu alias Raju, Ram Kishore, Smt. Malti and Smt. INTRODUCTORY FACTS

3. On 12.12.2014, at 12.30 hours, Chheda Khan (PW-1) submitted a written missing report (Ex. Ka-1) alleging that in the night of 11/12.12.2014 his son Salman and Kunwarpal son of Siyaram, at about 2 am, had gone to village Amaliya Mukeri on their tractor but they did not return. (Note: Kunwarpal is real brother of Prempal-appellant no.1). A GD entry of the missing report was made vide Report No.27 (Ex. Ka-2), at P.S. Kayamganj, district Farrukhabad. On 15.12.2014 information was given by PW-1 that his son (Salman) and Kunwarpal appear to have been abducted. Consequently, vide GD Entry No.45, at 17.45 hours, the missing report was converted into Case Crime No.553 of 2014 under Section 364 IPC. On 16.12.2014, investigating officer (I.O.) Meghnath Singh - PW-6 recorded the statement of Chheda Khan (PW-1) and on his instructions prepared a site plan (Ex. Ka-6) of the place from where the two missing persons were allegedly abducted. The I.O. also recorded the statement of Rajeev (not examined) and Subhash Chandra (not examined) and went to village Amaliya Mukeri where he recorded statement of Master Janmajay Singh (not examined) and his son Dhananjay Singh (not examined) and also enquired from Prempal (the appellant no.1) and obtained his phone number. On 21.12.2014, the I.O. with his fellow Sub-Inspector, Ravindra Kumar (not examined) and Constables Awadhesh Kumar (not examined), Sunil Kumar (not examined) and Shadab (not examined) left the police station in a private vehicle with government issued weapons to investigate the case in respect whereof entry was made in the general diary vide Report No.20, at 10.35 hours (morning). When the police party reached industrial area Papri, they met Chheda Khan (PW-1) and Rajesh Kumar son of Agya Ram (not examined). These two witnesses informed the police party that they have been required to arrange for ransom amount of twenty lacs (ten lacs each for release of Salman and Kunwarpal). They also informed the police party that they suspect Prempal (appellant no.1) and his family members of cheating them. Apart from that they also informed the police party that they are poor persons and are not in a position to arrange the ransom money. On getting this information, PW-6 (I.O.) contacted Brijesh Kumar Yadav (PW-7) i.e. incharge SWAT. The SWAT team headed by PW-7 arrived and a plan was hatched to trap/arrest the abductors. As per the plan, two wads of plain papers, with currency notes of Rs.1,000/- denomination at the top and at the bottom, were prepared so as to pass off as two bundles of notes of Rs.1 lac each. After preparing these wads of notes they were handed over to Chheda Khan (PW-1) and Rajesh Kumar to proceed to the designated spot to trap the abductors. According to the prosecution case, the police team along with SWAT lied in ambush awaiting arrival of ransom money collector; after 10-15 minutes, a person arrived there, took the two wads of notes from Chheda Khan (PW-1) and started to count them; on being satisfied that that person had arrived to collect the ransom money, the team, lying in ambush, emerged and arrested that man with two wads of notes; on interrogation, that person disclosed his name as Sipahi Lal (appellant no.2); on further probe, it was found that Samsung mobile instrument IMEI No.356126054535450 used by Salman for no.9616681877, which was on surveillance, had been used by Sipahi Lal's No.8853359413 and from that number, on 15.12.2014, call of 174 seconds was made on No.9026053760 at 18:27:59. When Sipahi Lal was interrogated in respect of No.9026053760, he informed that Prempal has used this number to call him (Sipahi Lal). The team thought that as Salman's mobile had been missing since the date of his abduction, the abduction must have been planned by Prempal and, therefore, he got his brother Kunwarwal abducted to mask the entire operation. On further interrogation, Sipahi Lal told the police team that Prempal had planned the abduction of Salman along with his brother Kunwarpal, Ram Kishore, Ram Kishore's wife Santoshi and his mother Malti along with Raju and Omveer because Salman's father (Chheda Khan) had sold his land for Rs.22,00,000/- and therefore, they thought, he would be having enough money. Sipahi Lal confessed that he had to pay off his tractor's instalments therefore, he also participated in the plan. As a part of that plan, in the night of 11/12.12.2014, Kunwarpal drove the tractor to Salman's house to fetch him from his house thereafter he was abducted and kept blind folded. According to prosecution case, after getting information from Sipahi Lal that Salman, in furtherance of that plan, is being detained in the sugarcane field of Prempal, the police team including SWAT team proceeded to the spot on separate vehicles along with PW-1 and Rajesh Kumar (not examined). There, in a police action, after facing resistance in the shape of firing at the police party, the police team with the help of SWAT team apprehended Prempal (appellant no.1), Jitendra (who was later found juvenile and his trial was separated), Omveer (appellant no.3) and Kunwarpal (who was later found juvenile and his trial was separated). Whereas, three persons, namely, Raju (acquitted by the trial court), Ram Kishore (acquitted by the trial court) and Sarjeet (found juvenile) were successful in escaping from the spot. The arrested accused led the team to the spot where Salman was detained. The spot was in the shape of a ditch, about 10 feet deep, and was covered with leaves etc. When leaves etc were removed, Salman son of Chheda Khan was found tied in a chain. In connection with this entire operation six memorandums were prepared on 21.12.2014 namely, Ex. Ka-7 to Ex. Ka-12. These memorandums reflected seizure of various articles from the spot such as chain, mattress, notes, etc including (a) country made pistols/ cartridge from Prem Pal (appellant no.1), Jitendra and Omveer (appellant no.3); (b) Samsung mobile, alleged to be of Salman, from Jitendra; and (c) a ransom letter, making a demand of Rs.10,00,000/- for release of Salman and Kunwarpal, from Omveer (appellant no.3).

His son (Salman) did not return that night. Despite hectic search, when his son could not be found, PW-1 gave a missing report (Ex. Ka-1). Fifth day thereafter, Prempal contacted PW-1 to inform PW-1 that his son has been abducted and if Rs.10,00,000/- is paid, his son would be released. On getting this information, PW-1 told Prempal that he does not have the money. After stating as above, PW-1 reverted to the date when his son did not return that night. He stated that when his son did not return that night, he visited village Amaliya Mukeri. There, he noticed the tractor trolley, which was owned by Kunwarpal, standing in the field of Raghunandan; that day, he searched for his son at village Amaliya Mukeri and also visited the house of Janmejay Singh Master from where he learnt that Salman after unloading the sand/mud had left at about 2 am in the night. PW-1 stated that thereafter, he went to Pradhan Narendra Singh who confirmed the information given by Janmejay. There, he also met Prempal (appellant no.1), brother of Kunwarpal, who joined PW-1 in his search for the two missing persons. Only when PW-1 failed in his endeavour, written report was submitted.

In respect of the police action leading to recovery of the abductee, PW-1 stated that 9 days after the incident, while he was with co-villager Rajesh (not examined), he met the police at village Papri industrial area. Each wad had 98 plain cut papers and two notes of Rs. 1000/- denomination, one on the top and the other at the bottom of the wad. The police personnel thereafter parked their vehicles to lie in ambush. After some time, Sipahi Lal came from Mangaliyapur to collect the ransom money. The police arrested him. There were two wads of notes each having 98 plain papers with one currency note of rupee 1,000/- at the top and the other of the same denomination at the bottom. The genuine currency notes were marked material Ex.-1 to material Ex.4 and the plain paper placed in those wads of notes were marked as material Ex. 5 to 200. Those were made material exhibits 206 to 222.

PW-1 stated that Salman was tied with a chain which was locked and was blind folded with cotton plugged in his ears.

During cross examination, PW-1 stated that neither he nor his son Salman owns a tractor; they do not mine sand or have Theka relating thereto. On the date of the incident, Kunwarpal had come to his house to take Salman. He took Salman from the house at 1 am. Salman used to work as a labourer. In respect of his financial condition, PW-1 stated that he did not sell any property; he does not own a bank account; he just has two thousand rupees.

In respect of the time of the operation leading to recovery of Salman, PW-1 stated as follows:-

At this stage, the witness was given a suggestion that his son was never abducted and the entire prosecution story has been developed in collusion with the police. The witness denied those suggestions.

To extract the reason for false implication, when cross examined, PW-1 stated that in his village, Asharam was once elected as Pradhan. At the time of the incident, Asharam's nephew was the Pradhan. He was very influential and had links with politicians and officers. The police personnel often visited his house. On further probe, PW-1 feigned ignorance as to whether Asharam supported Ajeet Kateriya in the last assembly election. He also feigned ignorance as to whether Asharam was a supporter of Samajwadi party. PW-1, however, admitted that Asharam and his son Rajesh Gangwar were very helpful and Rajesh Gangwar is also a witness in this case.

In respect of the conduct of PW-1 when his son went missing, PW-1 stated that he went to search for his son in the morning at 5 am and during search, when he reached Bhaisa Tiraha, he noticed that the tractor was parked in the sugarcane field of Raghunandan Gangwar. In respect of the place where the memorandums of recovery were prepared, PW-1 stated that the recovery memorandums were prepared at the spot and not at the police station and it took about 4 hours in its preparation. On further questioning as to how much time was spent in preparation of the papers, the witness stated that he does not exactly remember the time but when they had left the spot, the night had set in. He further stated that at that time, with him, Rajesh Gangwar was there. They arrived at their house by about 11 am. When questioned as to how many persons were there when the recovery was made and the place where the wads of notes were arranged, PW-1 stated as follows:-

"जिस दिन मेरे लड़के को थाने पर बरामदगी हुयी उस दिन गॉव के बीस बाइस लोग गये थे। नोटो की गड्डी मैने अपने घर पर तैयार की थी राजेश भी साथ गये थे। नोटो की गड्डियॉ तैयार करने की सलाह राजेश ने दी थी। नोटो की दो गड्डी बनायी थी। गड्डी लेकर घर से शाम को सात बजे चले थे। मोटर साईकिल एक ही थी उसी पर हम व राजेश थे। मोटर साईकिल राजेश की थी। नोटों की गड्डियॉ लेकर हम लोग पपडी व मगलियापुर के बीच बाग में पहुॅचे थे।"

During cross examination, on 20.01.2016, to a question whether Prempal was there when PW-1's son was taken from home, PW-1 stated that Prempal had arrived in the night but was not driving the tractor. He was lying in the tractor. When his son left that night, before leaving he had informed PW-1 that Kunwarpal is waiting outside and is calling him. His son told PW-1 that he is going to Amaliya Mukeri and would return in half an hour. PW-1 stated that he waited till 5 am in the morning and then when his son did not return, he went to search for him.

In respect of how the police was called on the date of the recovery, PW-1 stated that he had called the police on phone and they arrived within 20 minutes.

In respect of the spot where the ransom money had to be paid, PW-1 stated that it was a nursery kind of Bagh (grove) measuring four bigha which had no access to a chakroad.

In respect of the time when the accused arrived for taking the ransom money, PW-1 stated as follows:-

"उस बाग में फिरौती की रकम लेने के लिये बदमाश करीब 10 बजे आये थे। बदमाश दो थे या तीन थे अॅधेरे की वजह से हम नहीं देख पाये थे।"

In respect of light condition at the time of operation, PW-1 stated as follows:-

After stating as above, PW-1 stated that the I.O. had called him on telephone to come to the police station with 10-20 villagers and at the police station he recognized the accused and his signatures were also obtained on the papers. The statement to that effect is extracted below:-

"थाने से दरोगा जी ने फोन किया था कि गॉव के दस बीस लोग आ जाओ। मैं थाने दो

At this stage, to show that there were political reasons for the implication of accused persons, questions were put to PW-1, upon which, PW-1 stated as follows:-

"मुल्जिमान लोधी जाति के हैं। यहॉ के भाजपा सांसद मुकेश राजपूत भी लोधी जाति के हैं। यह सभी मुल्जिमान भारतीय जनता पार्टी के समर्थक हैं।

At this stage, PW-1 denied the suggestions: that at Kayamganj one Kallu Yadav, who is a member of Samajwati party, has large scale mining operation and since the accused were also in the same business therefore, they have been falsely implicated by wielding influence; and that there was no abduction or recovery.

During cross examination, PW-10 stated that Raju had surrendered in court. The statement of Meghnath Singh was recorded on 25.12.2014. He stated that he could not record the statement of Meghnath Singh because PW-10 was at Chowki Kunwa Khera. He stated that Meghnath Singh could not recognise the faces of those who ran away from the spot. He denied the suggestion that he did not carry out the investigation and submitted charge sheet under direction of higher officers.

On further questioning as to when he took over investigation of the case, PW-10 stated that he does not remember the time. He reiterated that none of the witnesses told him that they could recognise the accused who had escaped from the spot in the darkness of night. He also stated that during the course of investigation he could not find any source of light at the spot. He stated that because there was no source of light at the spot therefore the persons who escaped from the spot could not be identified. He admitted that there was no independent witness of the incident. He stated that he had not verified the spot where Sipahi Lal was arrested. In the site plan prepared by him he had also not shown the spot from where gun shots were fired. He admitted that information regarding arrest of the accused was not given to their family members. He stated that the torches used in the operation were not seized. The statement regarding the source of light is as follows:-

"जिस रोशनी के साधन में गिरफ्तारी व बरामदगी की कार्यवाही की गयी है वह टार्च की रोशनी थी टार्चों को कब्जे में नहीं लिया गया कितनी टार्चें थी और किसी थी पता नहीं।

"किसकी टार्च की रोशनी में फर्द लिखी गयी हमें नहीं पता।"

He denied the suggestions that the recovery of Salman, arrest of the accused, recovery of country made pistol etc was fake and bogus and the charge sheet was submitted without a fair investigation.

Statements under section 313 CrPC

19. After closure of the prosecution evidence, the incriminating circumstances appearing therein were put to the accused for recording their statement under Section 313 CrPC. As this appeal is confined only to three accused, namely, Prempal, Sipahi Lal and Omveer, we propose to notice, in brief, the statement of only these three accused.

Statement of Prempal under Section 313 CrPC

20. Prempal denied the incriminating circumstances put to him; claimed that the report is absolutely false; false statements have been given by the witnesses; and that a false charge sheet has been submitted. In respect of question as to why case was instituted against him, he stated that it was due to enmity. In response to question No.14, Prempal stated that he did not plan abduction of Salman and that there was no recovery. The entire story is fabricated.

Statement of Sipahi Lal under Section 313 CrPC

21. Sipahi Lal also denied the incriminating circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution evidence. He claimed that the report was false. Even the medical examination report is false; that there was no fair investigation and false charge sheet was submitted; that he was implicated due to enmity. In response to question No.14, he stated that he belongs to Lodhi caste and is a supporter of Mukesh Rajput. Kallu Yadav of Samajwadi Party had been indulging in illegal mining of which he used to make complaints therefore, he has been falsely implicated.

Statement of Omveer under Section 313 CrPC

22. Omveer also denied the incriminating circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution evidence and claimed that the entire prosecution story is bogus and false; that he has been implicated due to enmity; and that a false charge sheet was submitted. In response to question No.14, Omveer stated that there was no abduction of Salman; a false recovery has been shown.

TRIAL COURT FINDING

23. The trial court accepted the prosecution evidence and the recovery operation in which the abductee Salman was recovered. As the accused Raju alias Ramu, Ram Kishore, Smt. Malti and Smt. Santoshi were not involved in abduction and were not arrested at the spot in the recovery operation, the benefit of doubt was extended to them. The trial court also acquitted the appellants of the charge of firing at the police but convicted the appellants for offences punishable under Section 364-A read with Section 120-B IPC and Section 368 IPC. In addition to above, Prempal and Omveer were also convicted and sentenced under Section 25 of the Arms Act.

24. We have heard Sri Vinay Saran, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Pradeep Kumar Mishra and Sri Ghan Shyam Das, for the appellants; and Sri Amit Sinha, learned AGA, for the State.

Submissions on behalf of the appellants

25 . Assailing the judgment and order of the trial court, the learned counsel for the appellants, at the outset, submitted that there is complete variance between the documentary evidence and the oral testimony in respect of the timing of the operation in which the accused were apprehended leading to recovery of the abductee Salman. The documentary evidence (Ex. Ka-4 and Ka-7) would reflect that the entire police action leading to recovery of the abductee Salman was a day time operation conducted on 21.12.2014 reported as a separate case giving rise to Case Crime Nos.562 of 2014, 563 of 2014, 564 of 2014 and 565 of 2014 at 19.30 hours on 21.12.2014, whereas, the oral testimony would suggest that the entire operation was carried out in the intervening night of 20/21.12.2014 and completed by about 2 am in the night regarding which, papers were prepared in the morning of 21.12.2014. This irreconcilable contradiction between the documentary evidence and the oral testimony renders entire operation doubtful and probabilises the defence claim that the prosecution story is bogus and imaginary and the accused appellants were implicated with the help of police on account of political/business rivalry.

26. It was next submitted that the prosecution story in respect of demand of ransom is unacceptable because PW-1 confessed that he and his son (the abductee) used to work as labourers and did not have sufficient means. PW-1 stated that he just had Rs.2,000/- with him. Interestingly, in the confessional disclosure of Sipahi Lal, the demand for ransom was made because PW-1 had recently sold his land for Rs.22 lacs whereas, interestingly, PW-1 stated that he did not sell his land. In such circumstances, there was no occasion to demand ransom from a person who had no means. Moreover, recovery of ransom letter from one of the accused persons clearly shows that the demand was not raised upon the complainant party. Further, the writing on that ransom letter is not proved to be of any of the accused. The entire prosecution story is therefore bogus. Moreover, from the suggestions put to the witnesses examined by the prosecution it could be gathered that the appellants were supporters of BJP, whereas the informant party supported Samajwadi Party and had the backing of leaders of Samajwadi Party and they implicated the accused by utilising their position.

27. It was submitted that the court below did not test the prosecution testimony and accepted the same as gospel truth despite there being several contradictions and weaknesses. It was urged that even if PW-2 is taken as a person injured but the fact is that he was throughout blind folded therefore, he was not in a position to recognise his abductors, if any. Moreover, once the reason for his confinement is not proved, his testimony cannot be made basis to record conviction under section 364-A read with 120 B IPC. Further, from his testimony it appears that there was some dispute relating to accounts. Hence, the story of demand of ransom money is not proved. In so far as the alleged recovery of mobile instrument is concerned, the same is totally bogus and cannot be accepted when the entire operation leading to recovery appears bogus.

28. It was submitted that the trap laid for recovery of ransom money from Sipahi Lal on the face of it appears bogus and false because how could one arrange for plain papers of the cut size of a note to prepare wads in that short time. Moreover, there is contradiction amongst the prosecution witnesses as to who brought those wads of notes. According to the police witnesses, the wads of notes were arranged by them; whereas, according to the complainant, wads of notes were prepared by him with the help of Rajesh who has not been examined. All these things would suggest that the prosecution story is nothing but false and therefore the appellants are entitled to be acquitted.

Submissions on behalf of the State

29. Sri Amit Sinha, learned AGA, submitted that the key witness of the prosecution story is PW-2 (the abductee). He has been examined for his injuries; multiple abrasion marks plus contusions of different durations were noticed. The doctor had opined that they could be a result of being tied/chained. Such injury marks of different durations cannot be self inflicted and therefore it has been proved beyond reasonable doubt that PW-2 was kept in detention and was chained. Thus, PW-2 falls in the category of an injured witness and his testimony has to be accepted as reliable. Assuming that there was discrepancy in between documentary and oral evidence in respect of the time of recovery operation but the statement of PW-6 is in sync with the documentary evidence therefore, the same is liable to be accepted and has rightly been accepted. Further, various articles were recovered from the place where the abductee was kept and these recovered articles were made material exhibits. They fully corroborate the prosecution story set up by PW-2, which is supported by PW-6. A ransom letter was also recovered from the pocket of one of the accused suggesting that ransom demand was made. Even assuming that PW-1 had not been able to disclose his financial status to meet the kind of ransom demanded from him but that by itself does not falsify the prosecution story with regard to the ransom demand because from the suggestions given to PW-2 it is established that PW-2 was a commission agent and there was a dispute relating to accounts. It could thus be possible that PW-2 was abducted to settle the disputed account. Abduction of a person to raise a demand for any purpose whatsoever would be an offence punishable under Section 364-A IPC and therefore, in any view of the matter, the judgment and order of the trial court does not call for any interference. He thus prayed that the appeal be dismissed.

30. Having noticed the rival submissions and the entire prosecution evidence, before we proceed to evaluate the prosecution evidence in the context of the submissions made, it would be useful to cull out the key features of the prosecution story. The prosecution story has three parts. The first part is in respect of abduction in the night of 11/12.12.2014 of two persons i.e. Salman (PW-2) and Kunwarpal (accused, who was declared juvenile), brother of Prempal (appellant no.1). The second part is in respect of demand of ransom of Rs. 10 lacs for release of Salman. The third part is in respect of police action dated 21.12.2014 resulting in release and recovery of Salman and arrest of the appellants.

31. In so far as the first part (i.e. relating to abduction) is concerned, there are two witnesses, namely, PW-1 (Chheda Khan) and PW-2 (Salman). According to PW-1, his son Salman worked as a labourer. In the night of 11/12.12.2014, Prempal and Kunwarpal contacted the abductee Salman and told him that sand / mud had to be unloaded at a particular place. They, therefore, came and took away Salman in their tractor. Salman thereafter did not return, hence a missing report was lodged. In this part of the story, PW-1 is not consistent. At one part he says that to fetch Salman only Kunwarpal had come and at another part he states that Prempal was also there though lying in the tractor. We fail to understand if Prempal had also been there why this fact was not disclosed in the missing report. Further, from the testimony of PW-1 it is clear that in the morning of the following day, the abandoned tractor was found in a field and Prempal drove the tractor to the police station. Further, it appears from the testimony of PW-1 that Prempal had joined him to search out both Salman and Kunwarpal who were allegedly missing. Interestingly, no statement of Prempal was recorded by the I.O. on the day the missing report was lodged. In fact, there is no investigative step till 15.12.2014, that is, till the case of abduction was registered. All of this would suggest that PW-1 was not sure whether his son had been abducted or he had just gone missing. In any view of the matter, the testimony of PW-1 fails to establish beyond reasonable doubt the presence of Prempal in that tractor in the night of 11/12.12.2014. In so far as PW-2 is concerned, in his examination in chief, he states that Prempal had called for his services and had sent his brother Kunwarpal with the tractor to take him. However, during cross examination, PW-2 takes up an altogether different story. He states that he had a commission deal with Prempal, which is, that PW-2 used to place orders on Prempal for supply of sand/ mud. Once those supply orders were placed by him, loaded tractor used to be sent by Prempal. The unloading of the supply at the specified place was to be PW-2's job with which Prempal had no connection. On those orders when supply was made, PW-2 used to get Rs.100/- per trolley. All of this would suggest that PW-2 used to be in touch with the buyer of sand etc. Once buyer placed order on him, PW-2 used to request Prempal for supply. When supply arrived, the same was taken to the specified place for unloading for which, PW-2 used to get commission on per trolley basis. PW-2, during cross-examination, stated that in the night of the incident, he had called for the tractor trolley with sand. When the tractor trolley arrived, he directed that it had to be taken to Amalia Mukeri to the house of Janmajay Master. This statement of PW-2 completely falsifies the prosecution story that in the night of the incident, Prempal had called Salman and had sent Kunwarpal to fetch him. Rather, it appears to be a case where PW-2 called for supply of sand. When supply came on a tractor, tractor was taken. When we read the statement of PW-2 in its entirety it appears to be a case that when, after dropping sand, PW-2 was returning on the tractor with Kunwarpal, their tractor was stopped and they were abducted. In light of the statement of PW-2, the prosecution story that PW-2 was taken from home under a plan to abduct him falls to the ground because from his statement it appears that PW-2 had called for the tractor and the supplies.

32. Now, we shall examine as to who abducted Salman (PW-2) in the night while he was returning. According to PW-2, the night was dark and misty, they did not have torches; they were surrounded by miscreants; some one hit PW-2 with a butt and he was caught and blind folded; and that his blind fold was removed when his father arrived. All of this would suggest that since the time he was abducted, he was kept blind folded till he was set free. Thus, there was no occasion for him to see as to who abducted him. In these circumstances, there is no reliable evidence to prove beyond reasonable doubt that it was the appellants who had abducted Salman in the night of 11/12.12.2014. Thus, the first part of the prosecution story is not proved against the appellants.

33. In so far as demand of ransom of 10 lacs is concerned, according to the prosecution story, the ransom demand of Rs. 10 lacs was raised under the belief that PW-1 had sold land worth Rs. 22 lacs therefore, it was thought by the accused that abduction of PW-1's son Salman would result in bumper profit. Interestingly, PW-1 himself claims that he had no money and that he had not sold his land. In such circumstances, ransom demand of the amount indicated is inexplicable. The question that now arises is whether abduction was for ransom or for some other reason. In this regard, we notice from the statement of PW-2, made during cross-examination, that he worked as a commission agent of Prempal. He used to get cut (commission) on every supply order that he placed. From PW-2's statement, it appears, that there existed some account dispute between him and Prempal. This statement of PW-2 creates a wedge between the prosecution story and the evidence led. This should have put the trial court on guard to carefully scrutinise and test the prosecution evidence in respect of demand of ransom. Unfortunately, the trial court made no effort to test the prosecution evidence while evaluating the same. On careful scrutiny of the prosecution evidence, we notice that suspicion with regard to abduction was not expressed in the missing report or in the initial statement of the informant, probably, because PW-1 was well aware of his financial status warranting abduction for ransom. In respect of alleged ransom demand, PW-1 states that Prempal gave him three letters demanding ransom. First was given in the evening of 15th, second was on 17th and the third was on 19th. Interestingly, on 15.12.2014 the informant Chheda Khan (PW-1) gave information to the police expressing suspicion regarding abduction of his son. Notably, on this information, case was not registered under section 364-A IPC though, vide report No.45, at 17.45 hours, the case was registered under section 364 IPC as Case Crime No.553 of 2014, which means that information with regard to demand of ransom was not given to the police. Further, from the statement of PW-6, made during cross examination, we notice that in between 16.12.2014 and 20.12.2014 no investigative step was taken in the case. This would suggest that no information of ransom demand was passed on to the police till 20.12.2014. Admittedly, no ransom letter was given to the I.O. by PW-1. To explain non-production of the ransom letter, PW-1 comes up with a case that the ransom letter was handed over to Prempal, because his brother too, namely, Kunwarpal, was abducted. To lend credence to this explanation a story has been weaved that Prempal was trying to cheat the informant PW-1. We fail to understand that when PW-1 admits his financial condition as that of a labourer, with cash of only Rs.2000/- in his hand, and he also denies selling his land to sit on a pile of cash, where was the occasion to raise a ransom demand from him.

34. In so far as the ransom letter alleged to have been found in the pocket of Omveer being in the handwriting of Prempal is concerned, there is no cogent or reliable evidence that it was in Prempal's writing. No doubt, at one place, PW-2 in his testimony states that Prempal wrote that letter in his presence, but at another place PW-2 states that he was kept blind-folded through out and his blind fold was removed only when he was released in that police action. If PW-2 remained blind folded there was no opportunity for him to notice as to who wrote the letter. In such circumstances, the I.O. ought to have taken the help of an expert to prove that the letter was in the hand writing of one of the accused persons. Notably, the recovery of ransom letter and other incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence including the statement of PW-2 have been denied. For all the reasons above, we discard the prosecution story that a ransom demand of Rs. 10 lacs was made upon PW-1 for release of his son Salman.

35. Now, we come to the third limb of the prosecution story, which is, with regard to the police action resulting in release of abductee Salman (PW-2). According to PW-6 (the main I.O.), in connection with the matter, on 16.12.2014 he prepared a site plan of the place where the tractor was left abandoned and from where two persons, namely, Salman and Kunwarpal, went missing. But, in between 16.12.2014 and 20.12.2014, PW-2 took no investigative steps in the case. As per PW-6, on 21.12.2014, after arranging for a private vehicle, vide GD Entry No.20, at 10.35 hrs, he left with his team of officers to investigate the matter. During their course of travel, the team met Chheda Khan between 11.30 to quarter to 12 hrs near industrial area Papri. There, Chheda Khan (PW-1) informed the team members about the ransom demand and with regard to a person coming at a specified place to collect it for release of Salman and the other abductee Kunwarpal. It was then, for the first time, PW-6 was apprised about PW-1's suspicion in respect of the involvement of Prempal. In furtherance whereof, as per the testimony of PW-6, the entire police operation was planned, SWAT team was beckoned and in that police action the accused appellants were arrested and the abductee was got released. In our view, this entire police operation does not inspire confidence for the following reasons:-

(a) PW-1, PW-2 and PW-7, who all had a role to play at different stages of that police operation, have disclosed that the operation was conducted in the night of 20/21.12.2014, whereas PW-6, and the papers prepared in connection therewith, speaks of it being a day time operation conducted on 21.12.2014. Notably, PW-7 is not a public witness who may lie or be won over. He was the in-charge of the SWAT team. He specifically stated that it was a night operation. Despite gruelling cross-examination on that issue PW-7 stuck to his stand that it was a night operation. Once this is the position, the entire record prepared in connection with that operation comes under suspicion;

(b) Leaving the police station in a private vehicle with the entire police team for investigating a case without any prior paper work in that regard, creates a serious doubt with respect to the genuineness of that operation. Notably, there is no prior paper work such as a GD Entry or report from an informer requiring police team movement towards Papri Industrial area. As per PW-6, while the police team was moving, by chance, they met the informant and his fellow companion Rajesh. At some place it is mentioned that police team was contacted on phone but documentary evidence in that regard is lacking. This creates a strong suspicion with regard to the bona fides of the exercise. This suspicion gets deeper when the prosecution witnesses falter as regards the mode and the manner in which the trap money was arranged/ prepared. Notably, as per his claim, the informant had no money except Rs.2,000/- whereas, according to the informant as well as the police, two wads of notes, carrying 98 plain papers in between two currency notes of Rs.1,000/- denomination, were prepared, which means Rs.4000/- were arranged. Where those plain papers were arranged from and how those papers were cut and how much time it took to prepare those wads of notes, during cross examination, the witnesses contradict each other. PW-1 stated that the wads of notes were arranged by Rajesh. PW-6 stated that it was arranged by police i.e. a constable. Notably, according to PW-6, Sipahi Lal was caught with trap money at about 1.00 pm whereas, Salman was got released from his abductors at 2 pm from a place which was at some distance from the spot from where Sipahi Lal was arrested. It be noted that according to the prosecution evidence the team after preparing the wads of notes proceeded to a grove where Sipahi Lal was caught and, thereafter, proceeded to the sugarcane field of Prempal to free Salman. As per testimony of PW-6, information about demand of ransom was received between 11.30 and 11.45 hrs. Meaning thereby that in a span of about 2 hours 15 minutes the entire operation was planned and executed. In that short time, arranging for cut papers to pass on as notes, thereafter, proceeding to grove, making payment to Sipahi Lal, then arresting him and taking his disclosure, thereafter, proceeding to sugarcane field exchanging gun shots and completing the entire exercise by 2 pm, appears highly improbable, if not impossible. This entire exercise therefore appears bogus more so, when we take into consideration the testimony of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-7 which speaks of the operation being a night time event;

(c) If we take the operation to night hours, as is the case of all the witnesses except PW-6, then it was a winter night, admittedly, a dark night; there was no source of light at the spot or in the vicinity, as is admitted to the prosecution witnesses including PW-10 i.e. the I.O. who investigated that operation. If the operation was conducted with the help of torch light, there is no mention of use of torch light in the seizure memo. Further, neither there is a seizure memo nor a custody memo of any of the torches used. PW-10, the other investigating officer, admits this position. During his cross examination, PW-10 also admits that S.I. Meghnath Singh, in his statement made during investigation, has not disclosed that he was able to recognise those other accused who had allegedly escaped from the spot. Once this is the position, and from the testimony of prosecution witnesses including PW-2, it appears, PW-2 was kept blind folded, not only the entire operation of search and seizure, resulting in recovery of the abductee, becomes doubtful but even the possibility of abductee being in a position to recognise his abductors also becomes doubtful;

(d) According to PW-1, papers in respect of the operation were prepared at the police station whereas, according to PW-6 he got them prepared at the spot. When we take a conspectus of each of the circumstances/ reasons noticed above, we come to the conclusion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the genuineness of the search operation conducted on 21.12.2014 which resulted in the arrest of the accused appellant and release of the abductee.

36. In addition to above, there are other reasons also, which render the entire story of demand of ransom by the accused including recovery of ransom letter from Omveer doubtful. Notably, the ransom letter was recovered from the pocket of Omveer (appellant no.3). Though, PW-1 states that this letter was first shown to him on 15.12.2014 and he handed the letter back to Prempal but, this statement of PW-1 does not inspire our confidence for the reasons that, firstly, if there had been any such letter what was the occasion to return it back, and, secondly, if any such letter had been served upon PW-1 then why information in respect thereof was not given to the I.O. on 15.12.2014. Notably, when abduction was suspected, the missing report was converted into Case Crime No.553 of 2014 under Section 364 IPC and not under Section 364-A IPC. Meaning thereby that there was no ransom demand till then. All of this would suggest that the prosecution story kept changing to suit the operation. The operation was not after recording credible information in the case diary or General Diary. Rather, CD parchas followed the operation. Moreover, the ransom letter is not proved to be in writing of Prempal. It be noted that PW-2 stated that Prempal wrote the ransom letter in his presence. But, he admits that he was kept blind folded throughout the period of his captivity. If it was so, how could he have noticed Prempal writing the ransom letter. All of this when put together would suggest that something is seriously wrong with the prosecution case.

37. No doubt, there were injury marks found on the body of PW-2 which may suggest that he was tied or chained. But that by itself is no guarantee that he was tied or chained by the accused. It goes without saying that the burden is on the prosecution to prove its case beyond doubt. If the prosecution fails to prove beyond doubt that the incident occurred in the manner alleged by the prosecution then the court is left guessing as to in what other manner the incident occurred. Hence, in such a situation, the benefit of doubt would have to go to the accused. Assuming that PW-2 was incarcerated and was detained, but who incarcerated him and for what purpose is a matter which has to be proved beyond doubt. It could be possible that PW-2 was incarcerated and detained by his business rivals or by political rivals of the accused appellants and his incarceration/detention was used for framing the accused appellants. Notably, PW-2 has admitted during cross examination that he was working as a commission agent in supply of sand. He did not have a mining permit. In such circumstances, his operations might have been illegal. Suggestions have been put to the prosecution witnesses regarding involvement of a mining mafia and regarding making of complaints by the accused appellants against them and with regard to the accused appellants being framed at the instance of that mining mafia. Though, these suggestions do not partake the character of proof but they do help in evaluating the evidence as to rule out possibility of a false implication, particularly, where the prosecution story/evidence does not inspire confidence. Suggestions have not been refuted that police had been on visiting terms with the political rivals of the appellants. The clout of those rivals to use the police machinery cannot be ruled out, particularly, when the prosecution has failed to successfully demonstrate that the recovery operation was conducted on the date and time as reflected by the memorandums in that regard.

38. There is another important aspect, which is, that PW-2 was allegedly abducted in the night of 11/12.12.2014. He admits that night was dark and he was hit by a butt and thereafter 6-7 persons came and took him away on a motorcycle. He stated that he was blind folded. From his testimony it appears that he was kept blind folded throughout and was recovered blind folded. Once this is the position, who abducted him and who was involved may not be known to PW-2. In such circumstances, the possibility of PW-2 being used as a tool to make a case against the accused appellants cannot be ruled out, particularly, when we notice a clear cleavage in the statement of the prosecution witnesses with regard to the time of the search and recovery operation.

39. In so far as the recovery of mobile and country made pistols are concerned, once we doubt the entire search and seizure operation, the alleged recoveries are to be discarded. Moreover, there is no CDR on record to demonstrate that the mobile instrument of the abductee was used by the accused.

40. For all the reasons above, we are of the considered view that this is a case where the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The appellants are therefore entitled to the benefit of doubt. Consequently, the appeal is allowed. The judgment and order of the trial court convicting and sentencing the appellants is liable to be set aside and is hereby set aside. The accused-appellants are acquitted of the charge for which they have been tried and convicted. The appellants are reported to be in jail. They shall be released forthwith unless wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of the provisions of Section 437-A CrPC to the satisfaction of the trial court.

41. Let a copy of this order be forwarded to the court below along with the record for information and compliance.

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sectionn 302-Challenge to-Conviction- dying declaration could not have been made as she had burn injuries, this is also unacceptable as there were only 60% injuries and she had survived for 9 days-The dying declaration contained the name of the husband, no doubt there is improvement in the second dying declaration but the same is ignored-The husband is a young person of 20 years- One more glaring aspect which has been pointed out that the postmortem report was never placed on record by the prosecution, it appears from the evidence itself it is clear that postmortem was not conducted- it was a case of homicidal death not amounting to murder and the offence is punishable under Section 304 Part I of I.P.C as death occurred after few days the incident occurred. The incident occurred due a fight between husband and deceased which took a ugly turn and the deceased was set ablaze-the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused though had knowledge and intention to cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I (Para 1 to 19)

B. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.(Para 16)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard Abhishek Mayank, learned counsel for the appellant and learned A.G.A for the State and perused the record. Though the matter is listed for hearing application for enlargement on bail we with consent of counsels heard the matter as record is before this Court. It is not disputed that the accused is in jail since 5.12.2009, so heard finally.

2. This appeal challenges the judgment and order dated 27.10.2020 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No. 459 of 2010 convicting accused-appellant for commission of offence under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC') and sentenced him to undergo imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.20,000/- and in default of payment of fine, further to undergo imprisonment for one year.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 01.06.2009 sister of complainant Tejpal Singh got married with accused Dharam Singh. He gave sufficeint dowry in the marriage. However, Dharam Singh (husband of the deceased) and her in-laws were not satisfied with the dowry given in the marriage. On 02.11.2009, the complainant received a phone call from his elder sister Urmesh that her sister was burnt alive by her in-laws. On that information, complainant and his father reached the village Sahara Kala where his sister was found in burnt condition but her in-laws were not present at their house. Victim disclosed in front of informant that at 5:00 A.M her husband Dharam Singh, elder brother-in-law (Jeth) Raju and brother-in-law Rambabu tried to burn her to death. Complainant went with his sister who was in being treated in burns ward for medical treatment at Government Hospital, Iglas. On 11.11.2019, during the treatment, Radha died. On the basis of the above complaint, the First Information Report was lodged which culminated into the charge-sheet being laid against the accused-appellant, Dharam Singh under Section 302, 498A and 201 of I.P.C.

4. On being summoned, the accused pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried. The offence for which accused was charged was triable by the Court of Sessions, hence, the accused-appellant was committed to the Court of Sessions. The learned Sessions Judge framed charge under Section 302 of I.P.C.

5. The Trial started and the prosecution examined 9 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Tejpal Singh	PW1
2	Const. Clerk Indrapal Singh	PW2
3	I.O. Retd. Ghanshyam Singh	PW3
4	A.D.M Finance and Revenue Maharajganj, Rajendra Prasad	PW4
5	Retd. Naib Tehsildar, Iglas Shivendra Kumar Yadav	PW5
6	Pharmacist C.H.C., Iglas Ramesh Chandra	PW6
7	Dr. Govind Prasad	PW7
8	Dr. Rakesh Mohaniya, Agra	PW8
9	Dr. Sri Ram Sharma	PW9

6. In support of ocular version following documents were filed:

1	Tehrir	Ex.Ka.1
2	Copy of Chik F.I.R	Ex.Ka 2
3	G.D	Ex.Ka3
4	Site Plan	Ex.Ka 4
5	Charge-sheet	Ex.Ka 5
6	Statement of deceased Radha	Ex.Ka 6
7	Dying Declaration	Ex.Ka 7
8	Register Report	Ex.Ka 8
9	Certified Copy of P.I. Register	Ex.Ka 9
10	Information letter of S.O. Sadar, Agra	Ex.Ka 10
11	Lavaniya Hospital and Research Center receipt	Ex.Ka 11

7. At the end of the trial and after recording the statement of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Sessions Judge convicted the appellant as mentioned above.

8. The accused is in jail since 05.12.2009. On 23.11.2020, this Court had passed orders directing the State counsel to file counter affidavit, if any, to application for enlargement on bail. Unfortunately, for a period of two years this matter was not listed. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the judgment of Criminal Appeal No. 308/2022 (Saudan Singh Vs. State of U.P) arising out of SLP (Crl) No. 4633 of 2021, decided on 25.02.2022 would apply to the facts of this case. We have got the record before this Court. The case would according to the learned counsel would fall under Section 304 (1) I.P.C as the deceased after getting burn injuries died after about a period of 8 days. The dying declaration implicates the husband. The implication is on the husband. The learned Judge as according to the State counsel has rightly considered the judgments of Bachan Singh Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1980 SC 898 and Machhi Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (1983) 3 SCC 470 and has sentenced the accused and there is no question of showing any leniency in this matter where the wife has implicated the husband and she had died out of burn injuries. The examination of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, according to the State counsel who have lodged the F.I.R. The deceased had 60% burn injuries, the deceased was brought in a critical situation to the hospital, the death of the victim has been proved to be due to burn injuries as Dr. Sri Ram Sharma, P.W.-9 has testified an oath and confirmed the same. We are not convinced by the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the husband has been wrongly punished and there are inconsistent dying declaration. The learned Judge while considering the case has not differentiated between Section 300 I.P.C and Section 304 I.P.C. The provisions of Section 300 I.P.C read a follows:-

"300. Murder.--Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or--

(Secondly) --If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or--

(Thirdly) --If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or--

(Fourthly) --If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid."

9. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the dying declaration could not have been made as she had burn injuries, this is also unacceptable as there were only 60% injuries and she had survived for 9 days. The dying declaration contained the name of the husband, no doubt there is improvement in the second dying declaration but the same is ignored. The Naib Tehsildar has opined his oath and Dr. Govind Prasad also testified the said fact. All these cumulative facts permit us to accept the dying declaration.

10. The prosecution examined Dr. Sri Ram Sharma as P.W-9. The deceased was admitted to Lakhniya Hospital and Research Center, Tajganj, Agra on 10.11.2009 but she was discharged on 11.11.2009, she was referred and also according to the treatment report as Exhibit -11, she breathed her last on 11.11.2009 itself. The incident occurred on 02.11.2009 at 5:00 A.M in the morning. There was a commotion between the husband and wife. She did not name the persons who are in her neighbour and who brought her to the hospital, the husband and her in-laws did not came to the hospital. The husband is a young person of 20 years. One more glaring aspect which has been pointed out by the counsel that the postmortem report was never placed on record by the prosecution, it appears from the evidence itself it is clear that postmortem was not conducted and the accused according to the prosecution were even charged for Section 201, 498A I.P.C but for Section 498A and Section 201 I.P.C the accused has been acquitted.

11. This takes us to the alternative submission whether the offence would be punishable under Section 304 Part I or II or Section 302 of I.P.C.? The question to be answered would be whether there is any intention or knowledge or it was a murder simpliciter?

12. The question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which read as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."*

13. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder if the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

14. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the Case titled Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the matter of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that it was a case of homicidal death not amounting to murder and the offence is punishable under Section 304 Part I of I.P.C as death occurred after few days the incident occurred. The incident occurred due a fight between husband and deceased which took a ugly turn and the deceased was set ablaze.

15. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused though had knowledge and intention to cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

16. It would be relevant for us to refer a recent judgment of this High Court in Criminal Appeal No. 2878 of 2013 :-

14. While coming to the conclusion that the accused is the perpetrator of the offence, whether sentence of life imprisonment and fine is adequate or the sentence requires to be modified in the facts and circumstances of this case and in the light of certain judicial pronouncements and precedents applicable in such matters. This Court would refer to the following precedents, namely, Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

16. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

17. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

18. As discussed above, "reformative theory of punishment' is to be adipted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the "doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the cases and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

17. On the basis of the record which is before us we come to a definite conclusion that the death was occurred due to burn injuries caused by the appellant-accused. There was a commotion in the morning though there are two dying declarations, we rely on the first dying declaration as per the judgment of State of U.P. Vs. Ram Sagar Yadav, (1985) 1 SCC 552 come to final analysis. The question is what would be just punishment for twenty year old person who is in jail since 05.12.2009.

18. Therefore, we convert the sentence of 'life imprisonment' to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment. Unfortunately the fine has been Rs.20,000/- which is reduced to Rs. 10,000/-. If 10 years of incarceration is over, the accused-appellant be set free if not wanted in any other case. However, if fine is not paid, the default sentence will run after the completion of 10 years. We alter the conviction from Section 302 I.P.C. to Section 304(1) I.P.C.

19. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed with the modification of the sentence and fine as above.

20. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

21. A copy of this order be sent to the jail authorities for following this order and doing the needful.

22. This Court is thankful to Sri Abhishek Mayank, learned counsel for the appellant who has ably assisted this Court and even argued the main matter. We are also thankful to Sri N.K. Srivastava and Sri Mishra, learned A.G.As for ably assisting us.

Jail Appeal No. 3589 of 2005

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 302 r/w Section 34-Culpable homicide-life imprisonment-Sudden fight over dirty water flowing in the drain between neighbours-The statement of PW-1 is specific that it was the accused appellant who inflicted stab wound on the abdomen of the deceased and other injuries caused by Lathi and Danda by two brothers of the appellant-there was no premediation on part of the accused party-The case falls under Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC- therefore, the appellant could at best be punished for culpable homicide not amounting to murder, under Section 304 IPC, and not under Section 302 IPC-Since he has already undergone incarceration of nearly 16 years, even without remission-The appellant is thus convicted under Section 304 IPC and is released on the period of sentence already undergone by him. (Para 1 to 20)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.
Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Mrs. Archana Singh, learned AGA for the State.

2. This jail appeal is directed against judgment and order dated 22.07.2005, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/ Special Judge, Budaun in Sessions Trial No. 29 of 2003, State vs. Nanhey whereby the appellant has been convicted under section 302 read with 34 IPC, in Crime No.123/98, Police Station Islamnagar, District Budaun and consequently sentenced to life imprisonment.

3. As per the prosecution version the first informant (PW-1) was cleaning drain in front of his house during morning when accused appellant Nanhey alongwith his brothers Nanki and Kalicharan objected to the waste water being discharged in their drain. The father of first informant (the deceased) is stated to have told the accused party that dirty water was being discharged in this fashion, from before, on which the accused persons got enraged and started abusing the informant's father. This was objected whereafter the accused appellant Nanhey stabbed the deceased in his abdomen while Nanki and Kalicharan hit him by Lathi and Danda (stick - a blunt object). The incident is said to have occurred at 6.00 am. On raising alarm by the brother-in-law of the informant, who was also present, Mahipal and certain other persons saw the incident and the accused persons fled. On the basis of such written report given by PW-1, the first information report under Section 307 IPC was registered at 7.40 am on 11.5.1998.

4. The injured was taken to the police station whereafter he was referred to the hospital for medical examination. Injury report (Ext. Ka-14) of injured Ram Swaroop has been placed on record. The injured Ram Swaroop remain hospitalized and ultimately died on 15.5.1998. Panchayatnama has also been prepared on 15.5.1998 at 2.10 pm, in which the inquest witnesses opined that death of Ram Swaroop was homicidal. Postmortem of the body came to be conducted by Dr. R.K. Agarwal (PW-5) on 16.5.1998, wherein cause of death was held to be shock and septicemia, as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The investigation continued and ultimately a chargesheet was submitted against the accused appellant Nanhey and co-accused Nanki. Nanki, however, has absconded. Name of other accused Kalicharan was not included as an accused in the chargesheet.

5. Cognizance in the matter was thereafter taken by the concerned Magistrate, who committed the matter to the court of Sessions, by which the offence was triable. Sessions Trial No. 29 of 2003 came to be registered wherein the charges were read out to the accused appellant who denied them and the trial commenced.

6. In order to establish the charge framed against the appellant the prosecution adduced oral and documentary evidence. The documentary evidence consisted of written report of the FIR (Ext. Ka-1); Attachment memo (Ext. Ka-2); FIR (Ext. Ka-4); Postmortem Report (Ext. Ka-6); Injury report of Ram Swaroop (Ext. Ka-14); and Charge-sheet etc. These documents were also proved.

7. The prosecution adduced oral testimony of first informant Krishna Pal (PW-1), who is an eye-witness to the act of crime. PW-2 Munna Lal who happened to be son-in-law of the deceased was examined but he turned hostile. Prosecution has also examined Sushil Kumar (PW-3), who later conducted investigation in the matter. PW-4, Head Constable Raj Kumar Singh has verified that written report (Ext. Ka-1) was incorporated in the General Diary of the Police Station and Check FIR was consequently issued. Dr. R.K. Agarwal (PW-5), who conducted the autopsy has proved the postmortem report (Ext. Ka-6). The doctor opined that cause of death of deceased was septicemia due to ante-mortem injuries. Dr. M.K. Verma, who examined the injured was also adduced as PW-7, for verifying his injury report (Ext. Ka-14). PW-6 K.C. Dixit and PW-8 Mahendra Singh were formal witnesses.

8. On the basis of above evidence adduced by prosecution, during the course of trial, the Court of Sessions held the accused appellant guilty of commissioning offence under Section 302 read with 34 IPC and sentenced him to life imprisonment. Thus aggrieved, the accused appellant preferred the present Jail Appeal in 2005.

9. Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey, learned amicus curiae submits that charge under Section 302 read with 34 IPC is not made out against the accused appellant, inasmuch as, the cause of death has not been established and the allegation that it was on account of the stab wound caused by the appellant that the deceased died is not proved. He also urges that accused appellant has denied the accusations under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and in reply to Question No. 13 explained that deceased was hit by buffalo and he fell on the Plough due to which abdominal injury was caused. It is also argued that defence of the appellant has not been considered in its correct perspective.

10. Counsel for the appellant in the alternative submits that even if the allegations made against the accused appellant are taken on its face value, yet he cannot be convicted of an offence under Section 302 IPC since by virtue of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC, the act not being on a premeditation and having arisen in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner would not amount to culpable homicide amounting to murder and, therefore, the appellant at best could be sentenced under Section 304 IPC Part 2 or at best Part 1, and that the life sentence awarded under Section 302 IPC is wholly unwarranted in the facts of the case and is unsustainable in law.

11. Learned AGA, Mrs. Archana Singh on the other hand submits that a timely first information report was lodged in the matter under Section 307 IPC and the injured was taken to the hospital by the police. She submits that the injury report is categorical with regard to the abdominal stab wound caused to the deceased on the left side of the abdomen which is consistent with the ocular testimony of eye-witness PW-1 who has seen the accused appellant inflicting stab wound on the abdomen of deceased. It is further submitted that the ocular testimony of PW-1 is reliable and matches with the postmortem report and also the injury report and there is absolutely no reason for any false implication of the accused appellant. In such circumstances, learned counsel submits that the conviction and sentence awarded to the accused appellant is absolutely in accordance with law and the appeal lacks merit.

12. We heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the records of the present appeal and have carefully gone through the evidence brought on record.

13. Records clearly reveal that a timely first information report has been lodged in the matter at 7.40 am on the date of incident i.e. 11.5.1998. The incident itself has taken place at 6.00 in the morning. The allegation in the FIR is that it was a sudden fight which erupted between the parties on account of flowing of dirty water in the drain. The accused appellant and the deceased are otherwise neighbours and closely related to each other. As per FIR allegation the deceased had objected to the abuses, being hurled, when an objection was raised by the accused party over flowing of dirty water in the drain. It is alleged that the appellant Nanhey caused the first stab injury by knife on the left side abdomen of the deceased, whereafter injuries were also caused by hard and blunt object (Lathi and Danda) by the two brothers of the accused appellant. It is not in dispute that charge-sheet has been filed only against two brother namely Nanhey and Nanki and as Nanki has absconded and the trial has proceeded only against the accused appellant.

14. The statement of PW-1 has been relied upon by the prosecution, who happens to be the son of the deceased and his presence on the spot is not doubted. PW-1 was residing in the same house with the deceased and has categorically stated that the three accused in the matter are the sons of his uncle who live in the neighbourhood. The site plan is part of record which shows that the accused party and the deceased were neighbours. He has clearly stated that a fight erupted at 6.00 in the morning when he was cleaning the drain in front of his house and his father was also present at the spot. The accused party are stated to have hurled abuses and on the deceased objecting to it the accused party caused injuries to the deceased. The statement of PW-1 is specific that it was the accused appellant who inflicted stab wound on the abdomen of the deceased. Although counsel for the appellant has tried to show some minor discrepancy in the statement of PW-1, but we find that on material particulars and aspects his statement is consistent with regard to injuries being caused by knife to the deceased by the accused appellant. We further find that the ocular testimony of PW-1, who happens to be the son of the deceased is consistent with the injury report and the postmortem report both of which have been duly proved by producing the doctor who examined the deceased and the doctor who conducted the postmortem of the deceased. Once the ocular testimony of witnesses is found consistent with the medical evidence available on record and the defence has otherwise not been able to show any inconsistency in the statement of eye-witness PW-1 on material aspects, we are of the view that the incident as has been alleged to have occurred has been proved by the prosecution.

15. So far as the statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. about a different reason (fall on the Plough) is concerned, the same clearly supports the prosecution statement that an injury was caused to the deceased on the eventful day. No defence witness has otherwise been produced on behalf of the accused appellant to substantiate his defence that the cause of injury was other than what has been alleged and substantiated by prosecution in the matter.

16. So far as the argument advanced by counsel for the appellant with regard to the matter being covered by Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is concerned, it would be worth noticing the provision itself at the outset. Section 300 IPC defines murder. It also contains various exceptions where the offending act would not amount to murder. Exception 4, which is relied upon on behalf of the appellant, reads as under:-

17. The fourth exception takes out the specified act out of the purview of culpable homicide amounting to murder. Necessary ingredients of Exception 4 are that the offending act is committed without premeditation, in a sudden fight in the heat of passion, upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. Explanation to Exception 4 also provides that it is immaterial in such cases as to which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault. When the facts of the present case are viewed in the context of above provision, we find that the prosecution case is specific, inasmuch as, the dispute between the parties erupted suddenly at the time when the son of the deceased was cleaning his drain in front of his house. PW-1, who is the star witness of the prosecution, has clearly admitted that it was during cleaning of drain by him that the accused persons objected to flowing of dirty water in their drain which resulted in sudden fight erupting on the spot. The deceased objected to the protest by accused party by saying that such water was flowing from before on which he was abused and stab injury was caused to him by accused appellant. There is nothing on record to show that there was any premeditation on part of the accused party in inflicting the stab injury which ultimately resulted in septicemia and consequential death. The statement of PW-1 as also the contents of FIR clearly go to show that it was a case of sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel. It is otherwise on record that after the injuries caused to the deceased he was taken to the hospital where he remained hospitalized and ultimately died after five days due to septicemia and hemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries.

18. We may at this stage refer to the judgment of the Supreme Court in State of Uttarakhand v. Sachendra Singh Rawat, (2022) 4 SCC 227 wherein the Court examined Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC and observed as under:

"8. In Virsa Singh [Virsa Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1958 SC 465 : 1958 Cri LJ 818] , in paras 16 and 17, it was observed and held as under : (AIR p. 468)

"16. ... The question is not whether the prisoner intended to inflict a serious injury or a trivial one but whether he intended to inflict the injury that is proved to be present. If he can show that he did not, or if the totality of the circumstances justify such an inference, then, of course, the intent that the section requires is not proved. But if there is nothing beyond the injury and the fact that the appellant inflicted it, the only possible inference is that he intended to inflict it. Whether he knew of its seriousness, or intended serious consequences, is neither here nor there. The question, so far as the intention is concerned, is not whether he intended to kill, or to inflict an injury of a particular degree of seriousness, but whether he intended to inflict the injury in question; and once the existence of the injury is proved the intention to cause it will be presumed unless the evidence or the circumstances warrant an opposite conclusion. But whether the intention is there or not is one of fact and not one of law. Whether the wound is serious or otherwise, and if serious, how serious, is a totally separate and distinct question and has nothing to do with the question whether the prisoner intended to inflict the injury in question.

17. It is true that in a given case the enquiry may be linked up with the seriousness of the injury. For example, if it can be proved, or if the totality of the circumstances justify an inference, that the prisoner only intended a superficial scratch and that by accident his victim stumbled and fell on the sword or spear that was used, then of course the offence is not murder. But that is not because the prisoner did not intend the injury that he intended to inflict to be as serious as it turned out to be but because he did not intend to inflict the injury in question at all. His intention in such a case would be to inflict a totally different injury. The difference is not one of law but one of fact;...."

(emphasis supplied)

9. In Dhirajbhai Gorakhbhai Nayak [Dhirajbhai Gorakhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, (2003) 9 SCC 322 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1809] , on applicability of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC, it was observed and held in para 11 as under : (SCC pp. 327-28)

"11. The Fourth Exception of Section 300 IPC covers acts done in a sudden fight. The said Exception deals with a case of prosecution (sic provocation) not covered by the first exception, after which its place would have been more appropriate. The Exception is founded upon the same principle, for in both there is absence of premeditation. But, while in the case of Exception 1 there is total deprivation of self-control, in case of Exception 4, there is only that heat of passion which clouds men's sober reason and urges them to deeds which they would not otherwise do. There is provocation in Exception 4 as in Exception 1, but the injury done is not the direct consequence of that provocation. In fact, Exception 4 deals with cases in which notwithstanding that a blow may have been struck, or some provocation given in the origin of the dispute or in whatever way the quarrel may have originated, yet the subsequent conduct of both parties puts them in respect of guilt upon an equal footing. A "sudden fight" implies mutual provocation and blows on each side. The homicide committed is then clearly not traceable to unilateral provocation, nor could in such cases the whole blame be placed on one side. For if it were so, the Exception more appropriately applicable would be Exception 1. There is no previous deliberation or determination to fight. A fight suddenly takes place, for which both parties are more or less to be blamed. It may be that one of them starts it, but if the other had not aggravated it by his own conduct it would not have taken the serious turn it did. There is then mutual provocation and aggravation, and it is difficult to apportion the share of blame which attaches to each fighter. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused : (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the "fight" occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in IPC. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case.

For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The expression "undue advantage" as used in the provision means "unfair advantage"."

10. In Pulicherla Nagaraju [Pulicherla Nagaraju v. State of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 444 : (2007) 1 SCC (Cri) 500] , this Court had an occasion to consider the case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and the intention to cause death. It was observed and held by this Court that the intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances:

(i) nature of the weapon used;

(ii) whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot;

(iii) whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body;

(iv) the amount of force employed in causing injury;

(v) whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free-for-all fight;

(vi) whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any premeditation;

(vii) whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger;

(viii) whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation;

(ix) whether it was in the heat of passion;

(x) whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner;

(xi) whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows."

19. In light of the deliberations held, we find that the case at hand clearly falls within Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC and, therefore, the appellant could at best be punished for culpable homicide not amounting to murder, under Section 304 IPC, and not under Section 302 IPC. It is on record that the appellant was in Jail at the time when charges were framed against him in the year 2003. He has been released from Jail only on 26.1.2019 and, therefore, he has already undergone incarceration of nearly 16 years, even without remission. The appellant is thus convicted under Section 304 IPC and is released on the period of sentence already undergone by him. He shall be released from Jail, forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other cases subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

20. This Jail Appeal is thus partly allowed on above terms.

21. Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey, learned Amicus Curiae has assisted the Court in disposal of the present jail appeal and is entitled to his fee quantified at Rs.15,000/- from the High Court Legal Services Authority.

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code,1860 - Sectionn 374(2) - Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 302/34, 504,506 – Arms Act,1959 - Section 25 - Challenge to-Conviction- In the present case, total 11 prosecution witnesses were examined but from the perusal of the evidence, it is clear that there is no direct evidence against the accused and he is the nephew of the PW-1, who is the informant of the case and he has been falsely implicated in the present case- there was a dispute between PW-1 and the deceased regarding a shop and the alleged incident had taken place at the house of the informant, which also creates doubt about the place of occurrence one of the eye witnesses who is the step mother of the deceased, has not been produced before the trial court and the witnesses of recovery (PW-5 and PW-6) have turned hostile-Once the testimony of the PW-1 was trustworthy and even his testimony was intact in the cross-examination then in such situation we do not find any good ground to make any adverse reference against the prosecution to the effect that even though other witness was available but she was being withheld from the Court- The recovery of the country made pistols and live cartridges, which were testified to be true and the said weapons utilised by the appellants for commission of offence, which was proved by Doctor (PW-3) and Doctor (PW-4), clearly corroborate the same and hence, the argument of recovery is also not tenable, rather the prosecution version is established- The recovery of the weapons on their pointing out, the utilization thereof and the manner of assault by the appellants all stood corroborated with the medical evidence and further fortified by the post-mortem report- The evidence on record also indicates that all the accused had joined together on spot with the common intention of committing murder of the deceased-Held, the trial court had rightly accepted the prosecution version and the same was proved beyond reasonable doubt -The trial court is also fully justified in coming to the conclusion that there was meeting of mind established from the evidence on record-learned trial court committed no error to arrive at the conclusion of convicting the appellants.(Para 1 to 52)

B. It is a trite proposition of law that in criminal trial, it is the quality of evidence which matters and not the quantity. Thus, no malafide could be attributed to prosecution case simply on that premise. Section 134 of Evidence Act does not require any particular number of witnesses to prove any fact. Plurality of witnesses in a criminal trial is not the legislative intent. Therefore, if the testimony of sole witness is found reliable on the touchstone of credibility, accused can be convicted on the basis of said sole testimony.(Para 46)

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

Both Criminal Appeals are directed against judgment and order dated 03.06.2011 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.6, Moradabad in Sessions Trial No.1171/2007 (Pawan & two others vs. State) connected with Sessions Trial No.1172/2007 (Pawan Yadav & another) whereby, Pawan (appellant in connected Criminal Appeal No.4433 of 2011) and Amit @ Amit Yadav (appellant in leading Criminal Appeal No.3774 of 2011) have been convicted and sentenced under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC for life imprisonment with fine of Rs.20,000/- each and in default of payment of fine to further undergo imprisonment for a period of three years. 2. We have heard Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, Sri Manish Tandon and Sri Thakur Prasad Dubey, learned counsel for the appellants; Sri A.N. Mulla/Sri G.P. Singh, learned AGA for the State and have perused the record.

3. In an abridged form, prosecution allegations against appellants, as were contained in the written report dated 09.8.2007 (Ext. Ka-1), were that the informant Rajaram submitted a written report on 09.8.2007 alleging therein that on 08.8.2007 at about 11.00 p.m, when he was about to take dinner, his elder son Pawan, real nephew Amit and one more boy armed with country made pistols, entered his house and Pawan abused and threatened him stating that as the complainant had given the shop to Amod (younger son), today he will not let him live. They got the complainant and his wife, namely Hansho Devi, sat down at the Varandah. At that point of time, his son Amod returned to the home after shutting down the shop and all three persons caught him. Pawan fired the first shot while Amit fired the second shot at Amod with intention to kill him due to which he sustained injuries. He had taken his injured son to the hospital from where he was referred to 'Sai Hospital' and while they were leaving for 'Sai Hospital', his son (Amod) succumbed to injuries. The complainant went to the Police Station Kotwali, Moradabad on 09.8.2007 and submitted the written report, whereupon Case Crime No.1333/2007 under Section 302/504/506 IPC and Case Crime No.1341/2007 under Section 25 of Arms Act, Police Station Kotwali, Moradabad, were registered against the accused persons.

4. The body of the deceased was sent for post-mortem examination, which was conducted by R.P.S. Suman (PW-3) on 08.8.2007, wherein he noticed following injuries:-

"(1) Firearm wound of entry on front of right side of chest 3cm x 2.5cm x chest cavity deep present, 6 cm below the right nipple and 8 cm lateral to mid line, margins of the wound inverted and blackening present around the wound margins.

(3) Firearm wound of exit on front of abdomen 3 cm below the umbilicus just lateral to mid line on right side. It is 5cm x 4 cm in size and margins of the wound everted. Intestines coming out of the wound."

5. The investigation of the case was conducted and three separate charge sheets were submitted on 31.8.2007 (Ext.Ka-23 & 24) and 23.9.2007 (Ext. Ka-21). Ex. Ka-23 and 24 are the charge sheets submitted by Sunil Kumar Pachauri, SHO, Police Station Kotwali, Moradabad (PW-8) against Pawan Yadav and Amod Yadav under Section 25 of Arms Act, whereas, Ex. Ka-21 is the charge sheet submitted against Pawan, Amod and Subhash under Sections 302/504/506 IPC. After taking cognizance on the charge sheets, case was committed to the Court of Session. Two separate trials were instituted, namely, S.T. No.1172 of 2007, which was against Amit Yadav and Pawan Yadav for offences punishable under Section 25 of Arms Act and S.T. No.1171 of 2007, which was against Pawan, Amit and Subhash for offences punishable under Sections 302/504/506 IPC. In the Memorandum of Charges, there were allegations that on 08.8.2007 at about 11 p.m. Pawan, Amit and Subhash intentionally insulted the complainant by using abusive language and thereby they gave provocation to the complainant and committed an offence punishable under Section 504 IPC; secondly, on the aforesaid date, time and place, they threatened the complainant and in consequence of the threat, they committed the murder of the Amod and thereby, they committed the offence punishable under Section 506 IPC and thirdly, they intentionally committed the murder of Amod and thereby, they committed an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC. Amit Yadav and Pawan Yadav were further charged that on 17.8.2007 at about 7 a.m. they were found in possession of country made pistols (12 bore/315 bore) and live cartridges (12 bore/315 bore) for which they had no valid licence. The accused persons pleaded not guilty and claimed for a trial.

6. During the course of trial, 11 prosecution witnesses were examined, namely, Raja Ram (PW-1/complainant); Nazar Hasan (PW2-Constable, who made GD entry of the written report and prepared Chik FIR); R.P.S. Suman (PW-3-the Doctor, who carried the postmortem); Dr.

P.S. Sharma (PW4- Senior Medical Officer, who conducted the medical examination of the deceased); Ram Autar (PW5-the real maternal uncle of the deceased); Hari Om (PW6-good friend of the deceased); Suresh Chandra (PW-7, Constable, who carried the body of the deceased to the mortuary for autopsy); Sunil Kumar Pachauri (PW-8, the investigating officer, who conducted the investigation of the case and submitted charge sheet); Umesh Kumar Singh (PW9-Sub Inspector, who recovered the country made pistols from the accused); Mahesh Chandra (PW10-Inspector, who also conducted the investigation of the case and submitted charge sheet) and M.S. Chauhan (PW-11-Sub Inspector, who conducted the investigation of the case under Section 25 of Arms Act and submitted charge sheet). After the prosecution evidence was led, the statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The trial court convicted and sentenced the appellants, as noticed above, against which these appeals have been filed.

7. Before we proceed to notice the rival submissions, in order to have a clear understanding of the context in which those submissions have been made, it would be apposite to notice the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The testimony of the prosecution witnesses, shorn of unnecessary details, is as follows:-

8. Raja Ram (PW-1/complainant) stated in his testimony that the deceased Amod was his son. The accused Pawan is his elder son and another accused Amit is his real nephew. The third accused Subhash is friend of the accused Pawan and Amit. The incident is dated 08.8.2007 at 11 o'clock in the night. At the time of closing of his grocery shop, which is under the house of his residence, around 10-1/2 and quarter to eleven, he was on the upper floor of his house (residence). At that time his wife Hanso Devi was also at home. After five minutes all the three accused persons (present in the Court) came to his residence having Tamanchas (country made pistols) in their hands by way of staircase. In a threatening voice, his son Pawan, who was present in Court, calling him by abusive language (Harami) to sit on one side and if he says a little bit, then his wife would be killed. He was frightened by their threat and being afraid, they sat on one side. Then, after 2-3 minutes Amod (deceased) after closing his shop, came to his house on his way to the staircase. Subhash grabbed his son Amod and Pawan and Amit together shot at his son (Amod) one bullet each. One bullet hit his son Amod's stomach and the second bullet hit his chest. His son Amod fell on the floor and he was bleeding. The PW-1 did not try to nab all the three accused as they had fled threatening at that time. After this incident his wife remained sitting on the spot but he ran outside the house; came on the road and raised noise. They were running forward and he was running after them, then all the accused threatened the local people, if they testify against them, they would also have to face same consequences as Amod (deceased) suffered. No person came forward to help him. Meanwhile, the police patrolling Jeep had reached near his house. He had informed the patrolling policemen about the incident. There was also a police Inspector in the patrolling Gypsy. Then the police men had picked his son, who was in critical condition, in Gypsy vehicle and his son was taken to the District Hospital. The PW-1 also accompanied them to the District Hospital in the same Gypsy. By that time, his relatives had not come and the doctor told in the hospital that the condition of his son Amod was worrying. Therefore, he took his son Amod to Sai Hospital, Moradabad for treatment in the same Gypsy. After reaching at Sai Hospital, the doctors declared him dead on arrival. After this he wrote the written Tahrir of the incident (Paper No.5/2) in his own handwriting at the Police Station Kotwali, Moradabad (paper torn). On the basis of Tahrir, the case was registered and the carbon copy of the same was received by him. Thereafter the police reached the place where the body of his son was kept. The police had made a Panchayat Nama after seeing the dead body of his son and had sealed the dead body. After sealing the dead body the same was sent to the mortuary for postmortem. The police had narrated the Panchayat Nama to him and got his signatures on the Panchayat Nama. The witness corroborated his signatures on the Panchayat Nama available on the letter. The Inspector had taken his statements. He lodged the FIR wherein he named two persons and another person was unknown. He had written in the FIR that he knows by looks (third person) and not by name. The name of the accused (third person) was told to him by his wife when he was apprehended. On the next date he had told the Inspector that the name of third accused was told by his wife as Subhash, upon which the police arrested the third accused Subhash.

9. The witness stated that the reason for the murder was that his son Pawan lived separately after marriage and he had given him a part of the second floor of that property for the purpose of living, wherein his son Amod (deceased) used to run a grocery shop. This house was a three-storied building and his son Amod (deceased) used to run a grocery shop on the ground floor. He had given the first and second floor of the house to his accused son Pawan for living. Apart from this property, he has another house at Qazi Sarai in the same locality. In ground floor, he used to run a grocery shop at the time of the incident. This house is a four-storied building. In the rest of the floors of this house, he himself used to live alongwith his wife Hanso Devi and two unmarried sons Amod (deceased) and Sagar. The house, in which Amod (deceased) used to run a grocery shop on the ground floor and his accused son Pawan lived in the upper two floors, is also located in Mohalla Qazi Sarai. He had given a shop on rent to the accused son Pawan after his marriage and he had started the work of retail in that shop so that he could take care of his children. His accused son Pawan had closed this rental shop about 5-6 months before the incident. The accused son Pawan used to ask him to give the Amod's shop to him, otherwise there would be serious consequences. He was not in a position to give Amod's grocery shop because his house was also running from the earning of this shop. He had married his daughter in which huge money was spent and his younger son Sagar was living at Mussorie, which also requires expenses. He told his accused son Pawan for not insisting him to take Amod's shop because he had given him a separate grocery shop. Both the houses of Qazi Sarai are in his name. The accused Amit is the son of his elder brother Murari Lal and he is his real nephew. His accused son Pawan had shot at his younger son Amod because he could not find the grocery shop of Amod. The reason for the accused Amit to shoot his son Amod was that Amod and Amit used to work in the business of cassette together in the year 2007. Both have suffered losses in the business of cassette. Amit owed about Rs.40,000/- from his son Amod (deceased) which Amod could not pay to Amit due to which Amit used to quarrel with his son Amod every day. Due to this enmity, accused Amit alongwith Pawan shot his son Amod. The third accused Subhash was the friend of his accused son Pawan and accused Amit and therefore, he accompanied them to the spot. The witness stated that he had married his accused son Pawan on 19.1.1999. After the marriage, Pawan and his wife Mrs. Rajkumari stayed with him for about two months. At that time his first wife Prabha Devi was dead and till that time, he was not married to his second wife Hanso Devi. All his children are born from the first wife Mrs. Prabha Devi. After two months' of his marriage, his son's wife refused to make Chapati (Roti) for him and started saying that he will live separately with his wife. Thereafter, his son Pawan started living separately and the PW-1 was forced to do his second marriage with Hanso Devi so that arrangements can be made for his cooking. His son Amod had died on the way before reaching Sai Hospital.

10. The witness stated in cross-examination that he has three sons and one daughter, his elder son's name is Pawan and younger son's name is Amod. His daughter's name is Chanchal Rani, who is elder than Amod and the name of his third son is Sagar. Naveen is Hanso Devi's son but not his biological son. Naveen is only 8-9 year's old and stays with him. The witness was married to Hanso Devi about 7 years' ago and he does not remember the day, date, month and year. His accused son Pawan got married in the year 1999. Naveen was one year old when he married Hanso Devi and he borne all the expenses of Naveen. His son Sagar has completed his education and he studied at Mussoorie since Class-I and thereafter, studied at Dehradun. He opens his shop at 06.00 in the morning and closes it at 9 to 10 in the night. Amod also used to open his shop at 06.00 in the morning and used to close it at 9 to 10 in the night. Amod's shop is at a distance of 50 yards from his shop. His son Amod (deceased) had a general provision store. The complainant and his son Amod stayed together and took meals together. The door of his shop is separate from the staircase of his residential house. His son Pawan and nephew Amit used to visit his house sometimes. The relations of his son Pawan and Amod (deceased) were good and there was no dispute between them. He had not partitioned his property in writing. Sachin and Dinesh were his tenants but they were not present at the time of incident. The complainant and his wife were present at the time of incident.

11. The PW-1 admitted in his statement that his son Pawan had no dispute with him prior to this incident nor he demanded any money before this incident. He was sitting after taking meal, when Amit, Subhash and Pawan entered his house and Amod was not present at that time. Pawan abused him and all three accused were armed with country made pistols. He did not raise the alarm due to fear of country made pistols. They did not fire at him and at that very moment, his son Amod (deceased) arrived. Subash wrapped his arms on Amod as soon as he arrived. Pawan and Amit shot him and Subhash held him. The witness was declared hostile for accused Subhash. The occurrence took place on 8.8.2007 at 11 o'clock night and at that time, the electricity was run by inverter in his house and in the same light, he recognised all the three accused persons Pawan, Amit and Subhash properly.

12. PW-2 (Nazar Hasan) stated that on 09.08.2007 he was posted as Clerk/Constable at Police Station Kotwali, Moradabad. The complainant moved the written complaint registered as Case Crime No.1333/2007 under Sections 302/504/506 IPC (Ext. ka-02). He had made entry of this case in G.D. No.02 on the same day. During the cross-examination, the witness stated that the time of the incident mentioned at 22:45 hours in the Chik FIR (Ext. Ka-02) was overwritten as 11:00 o-clock. by him. He had brought the record of the police station, wherein the time at 22:45 was overwritten as 11:00 on the same day. There are cuttings at many places in Exhibit Ka-01, which was presented before him and the entry of cuttings was made in the G.D. He stated that on the same day, he prepared the Chik FIR No.200/07 concerning C.C.No.1340 & 1341/07 under Section 25 Arms Act (State versus Pawan & Another). He denied the suggestion that the G.D. was not written in the same manner, as it is available, rather number was mentioned later on after writing the G.D. at any other time.

13. PW-3 (R.P.S. Suman) has stated in his testimony that on 09.8.2007 he was deputed at District Hospital, Moradabad and on that day, he was posted at Post Mortem House. Constable Prem Kumar and Suresh Chandra brought the dead body of the deceased (Amod) in sealed condition at about 02.30 p.m. The dead body was perused and the seal of dead body was intact. The seal of dead body was opened and post mortem examination was conducted by him. The deceased was aged about 25 years and the death was presumed to have occurred 12 hours' before. He had examined the dead body externally and stated that the deceased was of average height and built. The following injuries were found on the person of deceased:-

"1. Fire arm wound of entry on front of right side of chest 3 cm X 2.5 cm X chest cavity deep present, 6 cm below the right nipple and 8 cm lateral to mid line, margins of the wound inverted and blackening present around the wound margins.

2. Fire arm wound of entry on back of left side of chest 2 cm X 2 cm X abdominal cavity deep present 5 cm below the inferior angle of left scaphla and 15 cm lateral to mid line margins of the wound inverted and blackening present around the wound margins.

3. Fire arm wound of exit on front of abdomen 3 cm below the umblicus just lateral to mid line on right side. It is 5 cm X 4 cm in size and margins of the wound everted. Intestines coming out of the wound.

Internal Examination of dead body

1. Pleura was lacerated. One litre blood was present in pleura cavity. Right and left lungs were lacerated. A cylinderical Metilical bullet was received from the right lung. Peritoneum was lacerated. Around 1-1/2 litre blood was present in Abdominal cavity. Around 150 gm partially digested food was present in stomach. Small intestine was lacerated. A plastic cap and four pellets were recovered from intestine. Large intestine was also lacerated. Left kidney was lacerated."

14. PW-3 stated that in his opinion, deceased died due to fire arm injuries resulting into hemorrhage and trauma. The post mortem report was prepared by him during postmortem. In his cross-examination, he stated that the deceased might have taken food 4-5 hours before the death. The pellets/bullets of firearm were taken out of the body of deceased. The deceased had not undergone any operation before the postmortem. There was injury on the front of the person of deceased and another was on left side at the back. On further cross-examination, he sated that he cannot tell as to how many weapons caused injuries to the deceased. He denied the suggestion that the injury on the person of deceased was not caused by the firearm.

15. PW-4 (Dr. P.S. Sharma) stated in his testimony that on 8.8.2007 he was posted as Emergency Medical Officer at District Hospital, Moradabad. On that day at 11:40 p.m. he had examined the injuries of Amod, aged around 26 years. The identification mark has been mentioned and the following injuries were found on the person of injured:-

"Injury number 1- 3 cm below the right nipple and inwards covering 12 cm X 8 cm area on the right side of chest in front 1 cm X 2-1/2 cm length and 1/2 cm to 2 cm width. Four incised-lacerated entry wounds of firearm were found.

Injury number 2- 12 cm below xiphisternal nostch somewhat outwards navel incised-lacerated exit wound 4 cm X 4 cm on the front of stomach caused by firearm from where intestines and Mesentry were coming out stomach deep bleeding."

16. The PW-4 stated that the health condition of injured was poor and he was in trauma, therefore, detailed examination was postponed. The aforesaid injuries were fresh and were possible to have been caused by the firearm. The injured was admitted in emergency ward and was referred to surgeon and the X-ray was advised. He stated that the thumb impression of injured was obtained on report during the examination. On seeing medical report, the PW-4 stated that it was the same medical report (Ex Ka-5), which was prepared by him during examination and he certified the same. In his cross-examination, he stated that the injured was brought at P.S. Kotwali by Constable Shyam Kumar. The injuries sustained by the injured were fatal for his life. All the three injuries of the injured were caused by the firearms. He denied the suggestion that all the injuries of the injured were not caused by the firearms and the injuries sustained by the injured were not fatal for his life. Injured's injuries may have happened ½ hour before he did the test. He further denied the suggestion that the examination of the injuries of the injured was not done properly at the time of medical examination and the injury no.3 was mentioned later on just to strengthen the case.

17. PW-5 (Ram Autar Singh) stated on oath that he knew the deceased Amod. He was son of his brother-in-law (Behnoi) Rajaram, and was his real nephew (Bhanja). On 09.08.2007, he came to Moradabad from his house at Kashipur on hearing the information of Amod's murder but his dead body was not sealed in his presence, which was already sealed prior to his arrival. The Sub-Inspector had called him to the police station and got his signature there on the Panchayat Nama. At this stage, the witness was declared hostile on an application moved by the ADGC.

18. During cross-examination by ADGC (Criminal), the witness stated that he does not know as to how Amod was killed and he did not hear who did the murder. On the next day i.e. 09.08.2007, he reached the house of the deceased Amod after getting the information of his death.

He further stated that his sister had already died prior to this incident and hence, there arises no question of any interaction with anybody. He had met with his brother-in-law (Behnoi) Rajaram but he did not held any talk as to who had committed the murder of the deceased. After the death of his sister, his brother-in-law Rajaram had solemnized second marriage due to which he did not speak with his brother-in-law. When he reached there, the police was sitting inside the house but he did not see the dead body of Amod in open state. He admitted that both the deceased Amod and accused Pawan are sons of his real sister and brother-in-law Rajaram. He denied that he was giving false testimony before the court in order to save the accused Pawan. The accused Amit is also his nephew.

19. PW-6 (Hariom) has stated in his statement that he knew Amod and he was a good friend of mine. On 09.08.2007 morning, he went to Moradabad (Amod's house) from Kashipur with Ramavtar. Amod's body was not sealed in front of mine nor was the Panchayatnama filled in his presence. At this stage on the request of A.D.G.C. (Criminal), the witness was declared hostile and given an opportunity of cross-examination. During cross-examination, he stated that Ramavtar is the maternal uncle of Amod (deceased) and he also lives in his locality at Kashipur. Ramavtar is his real cousin. Due to this relationship, Amod (deceased), Pawan (accused) and Amit (accused) also seem to be his nephews. The witness was shown the panchayatnama available on the letter, the witness said that no such panchayatnama has been prepared by the police in front of us. The signatures on the panchayatnama are of mine. It is wrong to say that he has given false testimony against accused Amit and Pawan because they seem to be his nephews in the relationship. It is wrong to say that today he was deliberately giving false statement to save the accused.

20. PW-7 (Suresh Chandra) has stated on oath that on 09.08.2007, he was deputed as Constable in the Police Station Kotwali; on that day panchayatnama of the deceased Amod (son of Rajaram) was prepared by Daroga Ji Mukesh Kumar and the dead body of the deceased (son of Rajaram) was sealed and other forms were prepared. On that day, he had handed over the dead body of Amod for postmortem. Dr. R.P.S. Suman did the post mortem and after the postmortem the body of the deceased was handed over to his father Rajaram. The panchayatnama was prepared on 09.08.2007. In cross examination on behalf of the accused Amit, he stated that around 30-40 people were present while filling the panchayatnama. The dead body of Amod was handed over to him by the Inspector after filling the panchayatnama and after sealing the dead body of the deceased.

21. PW-8 (Inspector Sunil Kumar Pachauri) stated that on 08.8.2007, he was posted as Inspector in Kotwali, Moradabad. After getting the papers related to the case from the Police Station, he got engrossed in the investigation and took the statement of informant. He went to the spot with the informant, Majroore (injured) was admitted to the hospital prior to him. The inspection could not be done at the site of the incident as it was night. Thereafter PW-8 came to the hospital. The deadbody was kept in mortuary. His colleague SI Mukesh Kumar was directed to fill up the panchayatnama. S.I. U.K.Singh and a Constable were present in the District Hospital, who gave him medical report, which was recorded in the GD. All the proceedings of panchayatnama were done by SI Mukesh Kumar, who has been posted with him. He recognized his writing and signature. He certified Ext.A-8, A-9, A-10, A-11, A-12 and A-13. The PW-8 stated that he came to the site of the incident on 09.8.2007 with the informant and inspected the site. He had prepared the site plan of the spot and taken plane and blood stain earth/soil from the spot and one cartridge (12 bore), one cartridge (315 bore) & also one flattened cartridge into his custody. It's Fard was written on the spot. The inverter and battery were seized from the spot and it's Fard was made. The witness read the same and signed the Fard (Ext.14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 (Fard of inverter and battery) after receiving postmortem report of deceased at the police-station the copy was attached to the GD. On 10.8.2007 again the statement of the informant was recorded, wherein he apprised that the third person, among those who killed his son, is a man named 'Subhash'. His wife apprised his name and consequently, Hanso Devi's statement was taken. The statement of informant's tenant Mahesh was taken and on 12.8.2007 the statements of witnesses of panchayatnama were also taken. On 17.8.2007 at 05.25 AM accused Pawan and Amit were arrested from Kashipur Tiraha on the informer's tip. They were brought to the police station and questioned. On being told by the accused, the recoveries of country made pistols/tamanchas (315 bore) and (12 bore) used in the crime were made from the field of Parkar Inter College. One country made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge (315 bore) were recovered from Pawan and one 12 bore country made pistol and one live cartridge (12 bore) were recovered from Amit. The same were sealed on the spot and the sample stamp was made on the recovered items. The Fard was prepared by SI J.K. Singh, which was also singed by him (Ext. A-19). The statement of SI Umesh Singh was taken on 26.8.2007 and the statement of the Inspector was written on 28.8.2007. On 08.9.2007 at 05.10 AM the third accused Subhash was arrested from his residence. On 09.9.2007, the PW-8 was transferred from Kotwali Police Station. The seal of the recovered items was opened in the Court in which one Tamancha (12 bore) and one Tamancha (315 bore) came out which the accused said that it was the same items.

22. During cross-examination, the PW-8 stated that he went to the spot at night but cannot remember the time by now. When he reached the spot for the first time, he did not take any empty cartridge on account of darkness at the site. He had not called any public witness while recording the statements of the accused persons on 17-8-2007. The complainant showed him two godowns and one staircase on the ground floor under his house. No shop was found on the ground floor of the house. On seeing the statement of the complainant under Section 161 Cr.P.C. the witness stated that the complainant had not told him that he was residing on the ground floor. In the site-plan, he had shown the second house of the complainant. He had recorded the statements of the informant's tenants Sachin and Dinesh. At the time of inspecting the place of the incident, he did not see the blood on the complainant's staircase from the first floor and on the road. Exhibit Ka-16 does not bear Naresh's signature or thumb impression. The memo (Exhibit Ka-15) does not bear the signature or thumb impression of the witness Naresh. Even Exhibits (Ka-17 and Ka-18) do not bear the signatures and thumb impressions of the witness Naresh. When he reached the hospital, he did not take the statement of Hanso Devi as she was not in a condition to give the statement. The place of the incident was located in the middle of the city near the market. Amit and Pawan fired one gunshot each and one hit in the chest of the deceased and another hit in his stomach. The complainant did not tell him that the accused Subhash was a friend of Pawan and Amit and therefore, he went to the scene of the incident.

23. PW-9 (Umesh Kumar Singh) stated on oath that the S.H.O Suneel Kumar Pachauri, S.S.I. J.K. Singh, Constables Jitendra Singh, Akash Kumar, Satyapal, Constable/Driver Rafiq and the witness took the accused Pawan and Amit and when they reached inside the main gate of the Parkar Inter College, both the accused persons got down from the Jeep and went ahead and then took out a polythene from the bushes located at a distance of four steps from the wall and 10 steps away towards north from the southern corner of Ramesh Chandra Sahu Girls Inter College. Out of this polythene, the accused Pawan took out a country-made pistol 315 bore and handed it over at around 7:00 am and stated that he had inflicted the injury to Amod Yadav by firing gunshot with the same country-made pistol. From the same polythene, the accused Amit gave a country-made pistol 12 bore, and stated that with the same pistol, he had inflicted the injury to Amod by firing gunshot at the time of the incident. The cartridges of both the country made pistols were extracted from the barrels and sealed separately. During the cross examination the witness stated that the departure GD was prepared by the Inspector and he had not put his signature on the departure GD. The witness denied that he had not gone to the Parker Inter College. The recovery memo was prepared in duplicate and copy of the recovery memo was given to the accused Pawan.

24. PW-10 (Inspector Mahesh Chandra) stated that on 12.09.2007 he had taken the investigation on the transfer of the SHO Sri Pachauri. The statements of the S.I. Mukesh Kumar, S.S.I. J.K Singh, Constables Jitendra Singh, Akash Kumar, and Satyapal Singh were recorded on 14.09.2007. The statements of the witnesses to the inquest namely Ram Autar and Hariom were recorded on 21.09.2007. On 23.09.2007 the statements of Constable Prem Kumar and Suresh Chandra were recorded and on the offense being established, the charge-sheet under Sections 302, 504, 506 IPC was filed against the three accused. During the cross examination, the witness stated that he did not mention the time of the investigation. Neither, he had verified the statements, which were recorded by the earlier investigator nor the place of occurrence. He had not made any attempt to record the statements of the people living in the neighborhood of the place of occurrence. He had not found in his investigation that the deceased had died in 'Sai hospital'. As per his investigation, both the weapons were recovered from the same spot and he had not found in the investigation that both the weapons involved in the murder were kept at some distance from each other.

25. PW-11 (M.S. Chauhan) stated in his statement that the preliminary investigation in the Case Crime No.1340 of 2007 under Section 25 of the Arms Act lodged against Pawan Yadav and the Case Crime No.134 of 2007 lodged against Amit Yadav were conducted by Sub Inspector Mukesh. He had taken up the investigation on 31.08.2007 and thereafter, he had recorded the statement of the complainant, Sunil Kumar Pachauri and the statement of the witness. The site map of the place of occurrence (Exh. Ka-22) was prepared by the witness in his handwriting and after completion of the investigation, he had filed charge-sheets (Exh. Ka-23 and Ka-24) against the accused Pawan Yadav and Amit Yadav before the court concerned. The sanctions for prosecution were obtained by him and these papers are marked as Exhibit Ka-25 and Exhibit Ka-26. During the cross-examination, he had mentioned in the case-diary about the GD for the police party proceeding for the arrest of the accused. He did not take permission of the Principal of the college for preparing the site-map. In the map, the recovery had been shown near Ramesh Sahu Inter College at the behest of the complainant.

26. After appreciating the evidence available on record, the trial court found the occurrence duly proved by ocular account as well as material collected during investigation. Consequently, the trial Court has convicted and sentenced the appellants as aforementioned on the ground that the convict-appellants Pawan and Amit had murdered their real brother and real cousin brother Amod with the illegal weapons in their hands and the accused persons had committed this offence at the house of their father in which the only witness is the father of accused-appellant Pawan and the offence of the accused persons is of grievous nature.

27. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that there was a delay in lodging the FIR. The incident took place on 08.8.2007 at about 11 PM and the FIR was lodged on 09.08.2007 at about 01.00 a.m. (night) alleging that the accused persons injured his son Amod with fire shots in which he sustained injuries and died in the hospital. In the post mortem report, the cause of death was shown due to shock and hemorrhage, as a result of ante-mortem firearm injuries. The appellants have been assigned the role of firing of one shot each on the deceased. The co-accused Subhash was assigned the role of holding the deceased and he has been acquitted by the trial court. One country made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge were allegedly shown to be recovered from Pawan and one country made pistol of 12 bore and one live cartridge were allegedly recovered from Amit @ Amit Yadav. It was submitted that two eye-witnesses namely Rajaram (father of the deceased) and Hanso Devi (step mother of the deceased) were present at the time of occurrence. The statement of the father of the deceased (PW-1) was only recorded and the statement of the step mother of the deceased was not recorded.

28. It was submitted that in his statement, the PW-1 has stated that Amod used to close his shop in between 9 P.M. to 10 P.M. every day and the distance from the shop of Amod to informant's house is almost 55 ft. According to the informant, Amod used to come home straightaway after closing the shop and he reached home at around 11 p.m., which creates a doubt on the story of the prosecution. The PW-1 stated that some times his tenanted room remained vacant and some times it was occupied but at the time of occurrence, no one was residing in the said room. He has further stated that at the time of occurrence, both tenants Sachin and Dinesh were not present and he did not know whereabouts, of the tenants at the relevant point of time, which also creates doubt about his testimony. The PW-8 in his deposition stated that the shop of the deceased was on the ground floor and above two floors the appellant Pawan used to live with his wife and child. If the intention of Pawan was to kill Amod, because of the ownership of the shop, then why no such incident took place earlier. The PW-8 in his statement stated that the complainant had shown him two godowns made at the ground floor of the house and one staircase and the same were shown in the map by the PW-8. But at the time of inspection there was no shop at the ground floor of the house. He had further stated that Sachin had given his statement before him and stated that there was some quarrel between the informant Rajaram and his son. All brothers of the complainant live nearby to his place and the place of incident but no other witnesses were examined. It was submitted that the PW-1 stated that he and his son used to take food together. The PW-1 stated that he was about to sit for taking food when Amit, Subhash and Pawan entered in his room. Three bullets were fired at the place of incident and two bullets hit the deceased and one bullet hit the wall but there was no mention of this particular fire in the FIR and also in the statement of PW-1.

29. Learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently attacked the alleged recoveries. One country made pistol of 315 Bore and one live cartridge was recovered from Pawan and one country made pistol of 12 Bore and one live cartridge was recovered from Amit @ Amit Yadav. From the same polythene bag (Exhibit-19), the recoveries of one empty cartridge of 12 Bore and one empty cartridge of 315 Bore (Exhibit-16) from the place of incident are also doubtful. One deformed bullet was also recovered from the place of incident. As per postmortem, one cylindrical metallic bullet from the right lung of the deceased and four pellets (Exh.-6) were recovered. He submitted that the recovery of one empty cartridge of 315 bore and one of 12 bore from the place of incident and also one country made pistol of 315 bore and 12 bore, which were allegedly recovered from the pointing out of the appellants, had been sent to Forensic Sciences Laboratory, Agra, Uttar Pradesh on 26.11.2007. Moreover, the deformed bullet which was recovered from the place of occurrence was not sent to FSL to match with the recovered cartridges and the country made pistol, even though the said recovery was made on the pointing of the appellants. The bullet recovered from the body of deceased was also not sent to the FSL to match with the country made pistol which is said to be recovered from the possession of the appellants and also with the empty cartridges recovered from the place of occurrence as the bore/dimensions of the bullet are not known. He submitted that the alleged recovery can always be in addition to the direct testimony but the recovery itself cannot be used to substitute direct evidence. He had vehemently submitted that the investigating officer (PW-8) made entry of the post mortem report in the case diary on 09.8.2007 itself and he had adequate knowledge of the recovery of the bullet from the body of the deceased and the same was sent to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Moradabad but inspite of the said fact, he did not try to obtain the same and no memo was prepared of the bullet. Admittedly, the said bullet was also not sent for examination to the FSL to be matched with the recovered weapons. He has further placed reliance on the arrest of the accused-appellant which was made on 17.8.2007 at about 05.25 a.m. and they were taken to Police Station. Thereafter at 06.30 a.m. they were taken to Parkar College and from the open place the alleged recoveries were made at about 07.00 a.m. The Parker College is a public place and surprisingly, the alleged recoveries were made from the open place which also creates great doubt about the fairness of the said recoveries.

Alternatively, he has argued that the said alleged recovery is planted. Moreover, no independent witness had endorsed the alleged recoveries. Even though, only two copies of the memo of recovery were prepared but only one copy of the same was given to accused Pawan.

30. He further submitted that in the present case, total 11 prosecution witnesses were examined but from the perusal of the evidence, it is clear that there is no direct evidence against the appellant Amit @ Amit Yadav in connected Criminal Appeal No.3744 of 2011 and he is the nephew of the PW-1, who is the informant of the case and he has been falsely implicated in the present case. He further submitted that there was a dispute between PW-1 and the deceased regarding a shop and the alleged incident had taken place at the house of the informant, which also creates doubt about the place of occurrence. He further submitted that one of the eye witnesses Smt. Hanso Devi, who is the step mother of the deceased, has not been produced before the trial court and the witnesses of recovery (PW-5 and PW-6) have turned hostile.

31. Per Contra, on behalf of the State it was argued that the convict-appellants Amit @ Amit Yadav and Pawan had fired one shot each on Amod (deceased), who sustained fire arm injuries. Further, the recovery of the weapon was made on the pointing out of the appellants. The PW-1 had deposed and had been cross-examined in the year 2008. The said witness has also proved that the appellants had assaulted with the fire arms referred to above and he was also present at the time of occurrence and had witnessed the crime as stated by the informant (PW1). Therefore, learned A.G.A. contended that the presence of the witness, the place and time of incident, the use of fire arms and cause of death keeping in view of the postmortem report as well as inquest report establishes the guilt of the appellants beyond doubt. He contended that any minor discrepancy in the investigation cannot belie the said incident, where the murder had taken place. He has invited attention of the Court to the statements of witnesses to urge that there is no infirmity in the description of the manner of assault, the place of assault and the timing thereof. Once the post-mortem report confirmed the injuries as well as the timing of the injuries, the chain of events through this direct evidence leaves no room for doubt that the appellants were not guilty. Even in such situation any attempt by the prosecution witnesses to alter his/her statement later on cannot obliterate the evidence led on behalf of the prosecution to prove the commission of offence. Moreover, the recovery of weapons has been established and multiple nature of injuries sustained clearly indicates the involvement of both the appellants and the use of two firearms. It was submitted that as per ballistic report, the said weapons were used in the commission of the present offence. As the prosecution story, there is a ring of truth about it and is fully supported by medical evidence as well as material collected during investigation and therefore, by convicting and sentencing the appellants as aforementioned, the trial Court has not committed any illegality. He submitted that no case is made out on behalf of the appellants so as to dilute the case set up by the prosecution. The conviction could be based even on the solitary evidence, provided it inspires confidence, as in the present case. There is no evidence on record which remotely indicates that accused-appellants were falsely implicated in the present case.

32. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, we find that the conviction is substantially based on the evidence of Raja

Ram (PW-1). He is the sole witness of the incident. When the appellants entered into his house, his son Amod was not present at that time. They did not fire at the complainant and he saw the appellants, who fired tamanchas on his son Amod. In the cross examination, he has categorically stated that the occurrence took place on 08.8.2007 at 11 o'clock night and the incident was seen in electric light of inverter. In the same light, he recognised the appellants properly. The accused Pawan is his elder son and lived separately after the marriage and the other accused Amit is his nephew. They used to visit his house sometimes and therefore, the question of identity does not arise. Defence has cross-examined this witness at length, but has not been able to elicit anything in his cross-examination to discredit his testimony that the appellants have not fired tamanchas on the deceased. His evidence clearly reveals that he was present on the spot and witnessed the incident, which is sufficient for drawing inference that the appellants have shot his son Amod by tamanchas. On 17.8.2007 at 05.25 a.m., accused persons Pawan and Amit were arrested at Kashipur Bus Station. They were brought to the Police Station and were questioned. On their pointing out, the country made pistols of 315 bore and 12 bore were recovered from the field of Parkar Inter College. One country made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge were recovered on the tip of Pawan and one 12 bore country made pistol and one live cartridge 12 bore were recovered on pointing out of Amit. The third accused Subhash was arrested from his residence on 08.9.2007 in the morning.

33. So far as the argument of the appellants regarding delay in lodging the FIR is concerned, the occurrence took place at about 11 PM on 08.8.2007 but the FIR was lodged next day on 09.8.2007 at about 01.00 AM (night). Learned counsel for the appellants contended that there is no explanation for the delay and the FIR is ante time. As per prosecution case the report was written exactly two hours after the incident and as such, there was no delay in writing the report, whereas according to the accused, it has been pressed before the trial court that the report has been written much later and by putting the time behind, an attempt has been made to show it within the time and too much cuttings have been made in it. The trial court on the basis of evidence had held that the Tehrir (Exh.1) has been proved by the PW-1.

34. The first core issue is with regard to doubt sought to be created about the presence of the eye witness (PW-1), who is also the father of Amod (deceased) and the convict-appellant Pawan. In the present matter, PW-1 was declared hostile for another accused Subhash, when he was brought to the witness box. In this respect, the law is settled that even that part of the statement of the hostile witness can be taken into account which supports the prosecution story provided it stands further corroborated from other material on record. In the present matter, the testimony of PW-1 cannot be doubted as it is direct testimony. The prosecution produced PW-1, whose statement was recorded on 26.6.2008 and he was also cross-examined by the defence on 26/27.6.2008. The PW-2 categorically narrated the facts and during the cross-examination this part of evidence was not contradicted. The next link is the actual assault made by the appellants with the country made pistols (tamanchas). The gun shot injuries in respect of the deceased, as is evident from the post mortem report and the recovery of the firearms used in the crime and live cartridges from the spot, have also been testified by the witnesses. The firing of the shot and manner in which the deceased received injuries have been narrated by the PW-1, do not in any way waiver in his version during the cross-examination which leaves no room for doubt that he was not present on the spot. There is no other dimension to this possible visualisation of the injuries which were caused by the firearms. It is admitted case of the prosecution that the deceased died due to gun shot injuries. The ante mortem injuries found upon the body of the deceased was caused by the firearms.

35. In the instant case, the evidence of the eye-witness (PW-1) examined on behalf of the prosecution raises no doubt on his presence at the time of actual occurrence. The eye-witness has stated that at the time of occurrence, his wife Hanso Devi was very much present but in such situation, we find that whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, it was necessary to examine such other witness especially Hanso Devi and if so, whether such witness was available to be examined and she was being withheld from the Court. If the answer is in positive, then only the question of drawing an inference may arise but at no point of time during the trial, such situation had ever happened even from the defence side or from the Court. Once the testimony of the PW-1 was trustworthy and even his testimony was intact in the cross-examination then in such situation we do not find any good ground to make any adverse reference against the prosecution to the effect that even though other witness i.e. Hanso Devi was available but she was being withheld from the Court.

36. In Vadivelu Thevar and another vs. State of Madrass1 it was observed on Page 619, as under:-

"Hence, in our opinion, it is a sound and well- established rule of law that the court is concerned with the quality and not with the quantity of the evidence necessary for, proving or disproving a fact. Generally speaking, oral testimony in this context may be classified into three categories, namely:

(1) Wholly reliable.

(2) Wholly unreliable.

(3) Neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable.In the first category of proof, the court should have no difficulty in coming to its conclusion either way-it may convict or may acquit on the testimony of a single witness, if it is found to be above reproach or suspicion of interestedness, incompetence or subornation. In the second category, the court, equally has no difficulty in coming to its conclusion. It is in the third category of cases, that the court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial. There is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subornation of witnesses. Situations may arise and do arise where only a single person is available to give evidence in support of a disputed fact. The court naturally has to weigh carefully such a testimony and if it is satisfied that the evidence is reliable and free from all taints which tend to render oral testimony open to suspicion, it becomes its duty to act upon such testimony. The law reports contain many precedents where the court had to depend and act upon the testimony of a single witness in support of the prosecution. There are exceptions to this rule, for example, in cases of sexual offences or of the testimony of an approver; both these are cases in which the oral testimony is, by its very nature, suspect, being that of a participator in crime. But, where there are no such exceptional reasons operating, it becomes the duty of the court to convict,if it is satisfied that the testimony of a single witness is entirely reliable. We have, therefore, no reasons to refuse to act upon the testimony of the first witness, which is the only reliable evidence in support of the prosecution."

37. We are of the opinion that the law of evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable and (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. In the first two categories there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness. (Ref. Lallu Manjhi and another vs. State of Jharkhand)2.

38. In the case at hand, no material/evidence has been brought on record to discard the single testimony of PW-1. However, we find his testimony to have been substantially proved at the trial. During the trial the PW-1 alleged that both the appellants had opened fire upon the deceased and it is the specific case of gunshot injury. There is another very material aspect of the place of occurrence and the manner in which the incident took place and we cannot resist and observe contrary to the investigation in the case. By no stretch of imagination, the same may be categorised as defective investigation. The investigating officer had prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence and efforts were made to recover and seize the weapon of offence.

39. No doubt, it it is well settled that the evidence of interested witness is to be scrutinized with care but cannot be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy then there is no bar on the Court relying on the said evidence. Interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. Nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution.

40. In State of H.P. v. Raghubir Singh3, the Supreme Court held that there is no legal compulsion to look for any other evidence to corroborate the evidence of the prosecutrix before recording an order of conviction. Evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Conviction can be recorded on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix, if her evidence inspires confidence and there is absence of circumstances which militate against her veracity. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Wahid Khan v. State of M.P.4, placing reliance on an earlier judgment in Rameshwar vs. State of Rajasthan5.

41. In P. Rajagopal and others Etc. vs. State of Tamil Nadu6, it has been held in para 12 that :-

"12. Normally, the Court may reject the case of the prosecution in case of inordinate delay in lodging the first information report because of the possibility of concoction of evidence by the prosecution. However, if the delay is satisfactorily explained, the Court will decide the matter on merits without giving much importance to such delay. The Court is duty-bound to determine whether the explanation afforded is plausible enough given the facts and circumstances of the case. The delay may be condoned if the complainant appears to be reliable and without any motive for implicating the accused falsely. [See Apren Joseph v. State of Kerala and Mukesh v . State (NCT of Delhi)]"

(emphasis supplied)

42. In the case of State (NCT of Delhi) vs. Pankaj Chaudhary7, it is held that as a general rule, if credible, conviction of accused can be based on sole testimony, without corroboration. It is further observed and held that sole testimony of prosecutrix should not be doubted by court merely on basis of assumptions and surmises. In paragraph 29, it is held as under:

"29. It is now well-settled principle of law that conviction can be sustained on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix if it inspires confidence. [Vishnu v. State of Maharashtra [Vishnu v. State of Maharashtra, (2006) 1 SCC 283]. It is well-settled by a catena of decisions of this Court that there is no rule of law or practice that the evidence of the prosecutrix cannot be relied upon without corroboration and as such it has been laid down that corroboration is not a sine qua non for conviction in a rape case. If the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity and the "probabilities factor" does not render it unworthy of credence, as a general rule, there is no reason to insist on corroboration except from medical evidence, where, having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming. [State of Rajasthan v. N.K. [State of Rajasthan v. N.K., (2000) 5 SCC 30]."

43. In the case of Ganesan V. State8, Apex Court has held that there can be a conviction on the sole testimony of the victim/prosecutrix when the deposition of the prosecutrix is found to be trustworthy, unblemished, credible and her evidence is of sterling quality. In the aforesaid case, the Apex Court had an occasion to consider the series of judgments of the Apex Court on conviction on the sole evidence of the prosecutrix.

44. In the present matter, nowhere it is brought on record or even to suggest that prior to the said occurrence the PW-1 had any animosity or annoyance with his son, Pawan. Mere relationship with the deceased is not a ground to discredit his testimony, if it is otherwise found to be reliable and trustworthy. In the present matter it is difficult to accept that the father, who had lost one son, would implicate the other son, who is innocent. Therefore, considering the facts and circumstances, we do not find that it is necessary to scrutinize other witnesses with more care, caution and circumspection and we hold that the testimony of the PW-1 is wholly reliable testimony, though, the memo of recovery was not made in presence of public witness. Since no public witness has been examined to the said occurrence then in such situation the statement made by PW-7 and PW-8 will have to be scrutinized with care, caution and circumspection. Considering their testimony that the recovery of country made pistols were made from the public place (bushes) which were accessible to one or all as such no reliance could be placed on such recovery. The said argument is not acceptable in this backdrop. The same is fully corroborated with the medical evidence and the injuries sustained to the deceased. In case of direct evidence and the ocular testimony of the eye witness being found to be trustworthy, reliable and cogent, it will not be necessary for the prosecution to prove the motive for crime. In the present matter, the appellants were annoyed with the settlement of the shop in question. However, we have already held hereinabove, that the testimony of the eye-witnesses could not be said to be unreliable.

45. We may gainfully refer to the following observations of the Apex Court in the case of Anand Ramachandra Chougule v. Sidarai Laxman Chougala and others9:-

"10. The burden lies on the prosecution to prove the allegations beyond all reasonable doubt. In contradistinction to the same, the accused has only to create a doubt about the prosecution case and the probability of its defence. An accused is not required to establish or prove his defence beyond all reasonable doubt, unlike the prosecution.

If the accused takes a defence, which is not improbable and appears likely, there is material in support of such defence, the accused is not required to prove anything further. The benefit of doubt must follow unless the prosecution is able to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt.

11. The fact that a defence may not have been taken by an accused under Section 313 CrPC again cannot absolve the prosecution from proving its case beyond all reasonable doubt. If there are materials which the prosecution is unable to answer, the weakness in the defence taken cannot become the strength of the prosecution to claim that in the circumstances it was not required to prove anything. In Sunil Kundu v. State of Jharkhand [Sunil Kundu v. State of Jharkhand, (2013) 4 SCC 422 : (2013) 2 SCC (Cri) 427] , this Court observed : (SCC pp. 43334, para 28) "28. ... When the prosecution is not able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt it cannot take advantage of the fact that the accused have not been able to probabilise their defence. It is well settled that the prosecution must stand or fall on its own feet. It cannot draw support from the weakness of the case of the accused, if it has not proved its case beyond reasonable doubt."

46. It is a trite proposition of law that in criminal trial, it is the quality of evidence which matters and not the quantity. Thus, no malafide could be attributed to prosecution case simply on that premise. Section 134 of Evidence Act does not require any particular number of witnesses to prove any fact. Plurality of witnesses in a criminal trial is not the legislative intent. Therefore, if the testimony of sole witness is found reliable on the touchstone of credibility, accused can be convicted on the basis of said sole testimony. This principle was highlighted in ''Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras10, wherein it is held by Hon'ble Apex Court that "We have no hesitation in holding that the contention that in a murder case, the Court should insist upon plurality of witnesses, is much too broadly stated. Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act has categorically laid down that no particular witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact." Moreover, if the direct testimony of the eye-witness is reliable, the same cannot be rejected on the hypothetically medical evidence. The ocular evidence, if reliable should be preferred over medical evidence. Moreover, in the present matter, there is no conflict between ocular evidence and medical evidence. In any event, the ocular evidence being cogent, credible and trustworthy, minor variance, if any, with the medical evidence are not of any consequence.

47. The recovery of the country made pistols and live cartridges, which were testified to be true and the said weapons utilised by the appellants for commission of offence, which was proved by Dr. R.P.S. Suman (PW-3) and Dr. P.S. Sharma (PW-4), clearly corroborate the same and hence, the argument of recovery is also not tenable, rather the prosecution version is established.

48. Having said so it would be necessary for us to hold that the trial court had rightly accepted the prosecution version and the same was proved beyond reasonable doubt. The issue as to the nature of doubt which an accused can take benefit of has been settled in our criminal jurisprudence that the benefit can be denied if the prosecution is able to prove its version with proof beyond reasonable doubt. (Ref. State of U.P. vs. Pussu11)

49. In Gangadhar Behera and others vs. State of Orissa12 it was held as under:-

"Above being the position, we find no substance in the plea that evidence of eye witnesses is not sufficient to fasten guilt by application of Section 149. So far as the observations made in Kamaksha Rai's case (supra), it is to be noted that the decision in the said case was rendered in a different factual scenario altogether. There is always peril in treating the words of a judgment as though they are words in a legislative enactment, and it is to be remembered that judicial utterances are made in the setting of the facts of a particular case. Circumstantial flexibility, one additional or different fact may make a world of difference between conclusions in two cases (See Padamasundara Rao (dead) and Ors. v. State of Tamil Nadu & Ors. [JT 2002 (3) SC 1]. It is more so in a case where conclusions relate to appreciation of evidence in a criminal trial, as was observed in Krishna Mochi's case (supra) The inevitable result of this appeal is dismissal which we direct."

50. Close scrutiny of the evidence makes it clear that on 08.8.2007 at about 11.00 p.m. the accused/appellants had fired shots with country made pistols on the deceased, who sustained serious injuries and died. The incident was witnessed by Raja Ram (PW-1), who has categorically stated that the accused/appellants had fired one shot each on the deceased. Evidence of this witness finds corroboration from the medical evidence, wherein it has been stated that the injuries were possible to have been caused by the firearms and the cause of death was shown due to shock and hemorrhage, as a result of ante-mortem firearm injuries. Since nothing has been brought on record by the defence to controvert the stand of the prosecution, this Court does not find any reason to disbelieve the statements of eyewitness, who has described the incident in a lucid manner. The injuries sustained by the deceased were so grievous that there was no chance for his survival any longer and he would have met the instantaneous death. The accused/appellants had intention to kill the deceased.

51. Considering the facts, we are of the considered opinion that the trial court has discussed the entire evidence in detail and we have already recorded our reasons hereinabove for not accepting the stand taken on behalf of the appellants. We hardly find that there is any scope of doubt about the date, time, and place of occurrence which also established by the ocular testimony of PW-1. The recovery of the weapons on their pointing out, the utilization thereof and the manner of assault by the appellants all stood corroborated with the medical evidence and further fortified by the post-mortem report. We are also of the opinion that the inquest proceedings also do not create any doubt. The trial court is also fully justified in coming to the conclusion that there was meeting of mind established from the evidence on record. The evidence on record also indicates that all the accused had joined together on spot with the common intention of committing murder of the deceased.

52. On close scrutiny of the evidence, we do not find any error in appreciation of evidences by learned trial court and arrive at the conclusion of convicting the appellants.

53. Consequently, both the appeals, being devoid of merit, are liable to be dismissed and are hereby dismissed.

Criminal Appeal No. 4673 of 2019

Badri Narayan ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Amar Jeet Upadhyay

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 374(2)-Indian Penal Code,1860- Sections 376, 506 IPC - 3/4 POCSO Act-Challenge to-Conviction-From the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 it appears that prosecution story is cogent, credible and reliable-The prosecution is able to prove its case beyond shadow of doubt, therefore, prosecution has proved the charges against the appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of the POCSO Act-In the present case, it is clear that the victim is below 10 than years and the appellant is 58 years adult committed rape upon a girl of tender age, so deterrent punishment is called for- Since the appellant has already undergone 8 years in jail thus, the awarded sentence is reduced to the period already undergone by the appellant-Therefore, the conviction (Para 1 to 34)

B. Corroboration is not the sine qua non for a conviction in a rape case. In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion? To do so is to justify the charge of male chauvinism in a male dominated society. "The rule, which according to the cases has hardened into one of law, is not that corroboration is essential before there can be a conviction but that the necessity of corroboration, as a matter of prudence, except where the circumstances make it safe to dispense with it, must be present to the mind of the judge, …. The only rule of law is that this rule of prudence must be present to the mind of the judge or the jury as the case may be and be understood and appreciated by him or them. There is no rule of practise that there must, in every case, be corroboration before a conviction can be allowed to stand." Further, it is also a well settled principle of law that the testimony of child witness can be relied upon along with other circumstances and corroborative evidence to convict the accused. Undoubtedly, the settled proposition of law that the evidence of child witness is required to be scrutinised and appreciated with great caution. (Para 16,17)

C. The object of awarding appropriate sentence should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal from achieving the avowed object to law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence, which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. Any liberal attitude by imposing meagre sentences or taking too sympathetic view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be result-wise counter-productive in the long run and against the interest of society which needs to be cared for and strengthened by string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system. (Para 28)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suresh Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 27.6.2019 passed by Special Judge, POCSO Act/Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 8 Meerut, in Special Criminal Case No. 30 of 2015 arising out of Case Crime No. 831 of 2014, under Sections 376, 506 IPC and 3/4 POCSO Act, P.S. Inchauli, District Meerut in which the appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under section 376 IPC for 10 years R.I. with fine of 10,000/- in default of payment of fine additional imprisonment of 2 months, under section 506 IPC for 1 year R.I. with fine of Rs. 500/- in default of payment of fine additional imprisonment of 15 days and for under section 3/4 POCSO Act for 10 years simple imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in default of payment of fine additional imprisonment of 2 months.

2. Brief facts of the case is that F.I.R. was lodged by the mother of the victim, who is the complainant and the residence of Police Station- Kuvad, District- Girideeh, District- Jharkhand, presently residing in House No. 704, I Block, Ganganagar Meerut has lodged a written report at Police Station- Inchauli District- Mathura against the appellant with the allegation that that one month prior her maternal-father-in-law came for stay at her home. One month prior of lodging the F.I.R. the appellant committed rape upon her minor daughter, who is aged about 8 years. When on 10.11.2014 the condition of daughter became deteriorated then her daughter was checked up by the doctor and the doctor opined that sexual assault has been done against her daughter. Complainant enquired with the victim then victim told that one month earlier the appellant committed rape upon her by extending threat to her daughter. When the appellant was asked about the alleged incident, then the appellant on the behest of relationship requested for not saying about this incident to anyone and told that all the expenses on the treatment of her daughter shall be borne by him. She also stated that to create fear upon complainant, the appellant himself inflicted injuries on his neck and on account of injury on neck he was admitted in medical college.

3. On the basis of written report, (Exbt. Ka-1), F.I.R. was lodged against the appellant as Case Crime No. 831 of 2014, under Sections 376, 506 IPC and 3/4 POCSO Act, P.S. Inchauli, District Meerut. After lodging of the F.I.R. the investigation of the present case was entrusted to the Investigating Officer- S.I. Om Veer Gupta. During the course of the investigation the site plan was prepared. The statements of the complainant and victim were also recorded. In the statement of under Section 161 Cr.P.C. the victim has stated that her age is about 8 years. During the course of the investigation the victim was also medically examined on 15.11.2014 in which she herself stated that her maternal-grandfather committed rape upon her 2-3 times. A medical examination report was prepared by P.W.-5, Dr. Sangeeta and as per medical examination report, no external or internal injury was seen on the body of the victim and her hymen was also found intact. Vaginal smear was taken for further examination and as per report dated 18.11.2014, no spermatozoa was seen on the vaginal smear. During the course of the investigation, the statement of the victim was also recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. in which she clearly stated that the appellant committed penetrative sexually assaulted on her private part by inserting the finger. Thus, the victim has supported entire version of the prosecution.

4. After completing the entire formalities of investigation the charge sheet was filed against the appellant before the Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge POCSO Act, Court No. 12 on 26.2.2015. The charges were framed on 25.1.2017 against the appellant under Sections 376, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 POCSO Act. Charges were read over to the appellant. The appellant denied the charges against him and claimed to be tried.

5. Prosecution in order to prove its case examined

(i) P.W.-1,-Sangeeta, who is complainant of this case, has clearly supported the entire version of prosecution and she proved the written report as Exbt-Ka-1. She clearly stated in her statement that her daughter/victim told her that the appellant committed rape in the absence of the complainant and her husband. She further submitted that when the condition of the victim became deteriorated then the victim was examined by the doctor. In pursuance of examination of the victim, the doctor opined that the victim was sexually assaulted. When she asked her daughter then her daughter stated entire version to her mother. On the basis of statement of her daughter the F.I.R. was lodged by P.W.-1 by presenting the written report as Exbt- Ka-1.

(ii) P.W.-2 is the victim and in her statement recorded in October, 2015 she stated that the appellant committed rape upon her by extending threat. She clearly stated that the appellant inserted his finger in her private part and he had also shown the victim indecent film/picture on his mobile phone. He also extended threat to kill her for disclosing this incident to anyone. The victim is minor and the age of the victim was below than 10 years. The victim has also supported her previous version recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in the statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. as Exbt. Ka-2.

(iii) P.W.-3, constable, namely, Gudia has clearly stated on the basis of written report that she registered the F.I.R. on 15.11.2014 against the appellant as Case crime No. 831 of 2014 under Section 376, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 of the POCSO Act and thus she proved the chik F.I.R. as Exbt- Ka-3 and the general diary as Exbt- Ka-4.

(iv) P.W.-4- Investigating Officer/S.I. Om Veer Gupta proved the scatch map of the place of occurrence as Exbt- Ka-5 and charge sheet as Exbt- Ka-6.

(v) P.W.-5- Dr. Sangeeta examined the victim on 15.11.2014 and she stated that at the time of examination of the victim she opined that the victim was unmarried and was aged about 8 years. The menses of the girl was not started. At the time of examination of the girl, no external or internal injury was found on the body of the victim. She proved the medical report as Exbt- Ka-7. She clearly stated that hymen of the victim was intact. As per medical examination, no external or internal injuries was seen on the body of the victim and it is also stated in her statement that in vaginal smear no spermatozoa dead or alive seen.

Thus, the prosecution relied upon as oral evidence of P.W.1 to P.W.-5 and so far as documentary evidence is concerned the prosecution relied upon Exbt. Ka-1 to Exbt- Ka-7.

6. After conclusion of the trial the statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which the entire prosecution evidence were read over to the appellant and the appellant submitted that all the witnesses stated false statement against him before the court. Although he stated that that he wants to lead evidence in his defence but no defence witness or document was produced by the appellant.

7. Lastly, in statement under Section 313 Criminal Procedure Code the appellant stated that the complainant- Sangeeta inflicted cut injury on the neck of the appellant by sharp edged weapon and when she came to know that the appellant had not got any serious injury then she lodged false and frivolous F.I.R. on the basis of concocted story relating to sexual exploitation of her daughter.

8. After appreciating and considering the rival contentions of the parties and scrutinizing the evidence, the learned trial court held the accused guilty and convicted him for the charged offences as aforesaid.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that the appellant is innocent and has been falsely implicated in this case. It is also submitted that the F.I.R. lodged against the applicant is too much delay so no reliance can be placed, as the delay in lodging in the F.I.R. itself belied the prosecution case. He also submitted that the appellant is aged about 60 years and closed relative of complainant. In fact, the complainant has taken money from the accused/appellant and when the appellant asked about him money from the complainant, then the complainant inflicted injury to the appellant and cut his neck by knife in which the appellant received serious injury on neck and was admitted at LLRM Medical College, Meerut. When the complainant was in apprehension that the appellant may die then to save her skin and save herself from any criminal proceedings the complainant registered false and frivolous case of rape against the appellant. It was further stated that as per medical examination no mark of internal or external injury was seen on the body of the victim and hymen was intact. Therefore, no question of rape arises. Thus, the learned trial court has committed material illegality and irregularity in convicting the appellant in the present case. Thus, the conviction of the appellant was only on the basis of conjectures and surmises. Thus, the order and judgment of the trial court is liable to set aside.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that if this Court has come to conclusion that allegation against the appellant is well proved then he wants to advance his submission on the quantum of sentence imposed upon accused-appellant, therefore, he submits that the appellant is senior citizen and is in jail since 29.11.2014. Thus, he remained in jail during investigation during entire period of trial and during pendency of appeal, thus, appellant is languishing in jail about 7 years and 8 months, so he prays for leniency.

11. Learned A.G.A. opposed the argument raised by the learned counsel for the appellant and submitted that the arguments of the appellant has no force and the present appeal is liable to be dismissed. Learned A.G.A. also submitted that as per medical report redness and swelling was found on the private part of the girl. Penetrative sexual assault has been committed by the appellant. One of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant is that no mark of injury was seen on the body of the victim. It was also reported that hymen was intact and no spermatozoa was found on the private part of the victim in the vaginal smear of the victim and therefore, offence under Section 376 I.P.C. and 3/4 of the POCSO Act is not made out against the appellant. In reply to this contention of the learned counsel for the appellant, learned A.G.A. relied upon the provisions of Section 375 I.P.C. and Section 3 of the POCSO Act be read.

12. I have heard Sri Amar Jeet Upadhyay, learned counsel for the appellant, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

13. The provisions of Section 375-b I.P.C. is given below:-

375. Rape.-- A man is said to commit "rape" if he--

(a) ----------

(b) inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

The provisions of Section 3-b of the POCSO Act is given below:-

Section 3-Penetrative sexual assault

A person is said to commit "penetrative sexual assault" if--

(a) -------

(b) he inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of the child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

Thus, on the perusal of the the definition of Section 375-b and Section 3 of the POCSO Act it appears that offence under Section 376 I.P.C. and 3/4 of the POCSO Act is made out against the appellant, so it cannot be said that the appellant has wrongly been convicted by the trial court. Thus, if the appellant inserted his finger in private part of the child/victim then it cannot be said that the appellant is not guilty of offence of rape.

14. One of the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellant is that F.I.R. was lodged with inordinate delay thus no reliance can be placed and delay in lodging the F.I.R. itself belies the whole prosecution story. Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgement has held that mere delay in lodging the FIR is no ground to doubt the prosecution case when it is properly explained. In Tara Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1991 SC 63, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that mere delay in lodging the FIR by itself cannot give scope for an adverse inference leading to rejection of the prosecution case outright. It is well settled that the delay in giving the FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case. Knowing the Indian conditions as they are we cannot expect these villagers to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. On perusal of the statement of P.W.-1, it appears that delay is clearly explained by the complainant thus delay in lodging the F.I.R. does not affect the credibility of prosecution version.

15. It is a settled principle of law that in cases involving sexual assault/rape, it is generally difficult to find any corroborative witnesses, except the victim herself and therefore, the evidence of the victim is sufficient for conviction unless there exist compelling reasons for seeking corroboration. Thus, a conviction can be sustained on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix, if it inspires confidence. The Apex Court has time and again held that the sole testimony of the prosecutrix is sufficient to hold the accused guilty if it inspires confidence and the same principles have been reiterated in Vijay v. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in (2010) 8 SCC 191. Relevant paragraph of the "14. Thus, the law that emerges on the issue is to the effect that the statement of the prosecutrix, if found to be worthy of credence and reliable, requires no corroboration. The court may convict the accused on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix."

16. In Gagan Bihari Samal v. State of Orissa reported as (1991) 3 SCC 562, The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India whilst observing that corroboration is not the sine qua non for conviction in a rape case, held as follows :

"6. In cases of rape, generally it is difficult to find any corroborative witnesses except the victim of the rape. It has been observed by this Court in Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat [(1983) 3 SCC 217 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 728 : AIR 1983 SC 753] as follows:

"Corroboration is not the sine qua non for a conviction in a rape case. In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion? To do so is to justify the charge of male chauvinism in a male dominated society.

A girl or a woman in the tradition bound non-permissive society of India would be extremely reluctant even to admit that any incident which is likely to reflect on her chastity had ever occurred. She would be conscious of the danger of being ostracized by the society or being looked down by the society including by her own family members, relatives, friends, and neighbours. She would face the risk of losing the love and respect of her own husband and near relatives, and of her matrimonial home and happiness being shattered. If she is unmarried, she would apprehend that it would be difficult to secure an alliance with a suitable match from a respectable or an acceptable family. In view of these and similar factors, the victims and their relatives are not too keen to bring the culprit to book. And when in the face of these factors the crime is brought to light there is a built-in assurance that the charge is genuine rather than fabricated."

The above observation has been made by Apex Court relying on the earlier observations made by Apex Court in Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan [1952 SCR 377, 386 : AIR 1952 SC 54 : 1952 Cri LJ 547] with regard to corroboration of girl's testimony and version. Vivian Bose, J., who spoke for the Court observed as follows: (SCR p. 386)

"The rule, which according to the cases has hardened into one of law, is not that corroboration is essential before there can be a conviction but that the necessity of corroboration, as a matter of prudence, except where the circumstances make it safe to dispense with it, must be present to the mind of the judge, ... The only rule of law is that this rule of prudence must be present to the mind of the judge or the jury as the case may be and be understood and appreciated by him or them. There is no rule of practise that there must, in every case, be corroboration before a conviction can be allowed to stand."

17. Further, it is also a well settled principle of law that the testimony of child witness can be relied upon along with other circumstances and corroborative evidence to convict the accused. Undoubtedly, the settled proposition of law that the evidence of child witness is required to be scrutinised and appreciated with great caution. In this regard, reference can be made to the dicta of the Apex Court in the case of Yogesh Singh v. Mahabeer Singh and others reported in AIR 2016 SC 5160, wherein the Apex Court has held that:

"22. It is well settled that the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration, before it is relied upon as the rule of corroboration is of practical wisdom than of law. (See Prakash v. State of M.P. [Prakash v. State of M.P., (1992) 4 SCC 225 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 853] , Baby Kandayanathil v. State of Kerala [Baby Kandayanathil v. State of Kerala, 1993 Supp (3) SCC 667 : 1993 SCC (Cri) 1084] , Raja Ram Yadav v. State of Bihar [Raja Ram Yadav v. State of Bihar, (1996) 9 SCC 287 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 1004] , Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra [Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra, (1997) 5 SCC 341 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 685] , State of U.P. v. Ashok Dixit [State of U.P. v. Ashok Dixit, (2000) 3 SCC 70 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 579] and Suryanarayana v. State of Karnataka [Suryanarayana v. State of Karnataka, (2001) 9 SCC 129 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 413] .)

23. However, it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring. (Vide Panchhi v. State of U.P. [Panchhi v. State of U.P., (1998) 7 SCC 177 : 1998 SCC (Cri) 1561])"Appreciation of testimony of the Victim 'T

18. In view of settled law, I shall examine whether the evidence adduced by the prosecution, particularly the testimony of the victim, is trustworthy, credible and can be relied upon. From the perusal of the record, it transpires that the prosecutrix has deposed on same lines and there are no material contradictions in her testimony. The statement of the victim, P.W.-2 is duly supported with the statement of P.W.-1-Sangeeta, mother of the victim. The statement of the victim is also supported with medical evidence.

19. One of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant is that no mark of injury is present on the body of the victim but there is no force in the contention that there is forcible intercourse and it would have resulted into some injury on the prosecutrix. Presence of injury are not always sine qua non to prove the charge of rape. It would be kept in mine in the case of rape on a girl- child, who is aged about 8 years and not upon a grownup woman. In case of rape upon a child, sensitive approach of court is always needed. In the present case, the appellant has been charges for inserting finger in the private part of the victim, so question of rapture of hymen is not inevitable.

20. Further there are catena of decisions of Hon'ble Apex Court that it is necessary for the court to have a sensitive approach when dealing with the cases of rape. It is also trite that in the case of State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Dharmapal, (2004) 9 SCC Page 681, Hon'ble Apex Court held that "rape is a serious offence, as it leads to an assault on the most valuable possession of a woman i.e. character, reputation, dignity and honour."

21. In State of Punjab Vs. Ramdev Singh 2004 (48) ACC 300 Hon'ble Apex Court held as under:-

"Sexual violence apart from being a dehumanizing act is an unlawful intrusion on the right of privacy and sanctity of a female. It is a serious blow to her supreme honour and offends her self-esteem and dignity. It degrades and humiliates the victim and where the victim is a helpless innocent child or a minor. It leaves behind a traumatic experience. A rapist not only causes physical injuries but more indelibly leaves a scar on the most cherished possession of a woman i.e. her dignity, honour, reputation and not the least her chastity. Rape is not only a crime against the person of a woman, it is a crime against the entire society. It destroys, as noted by Apex Court in Shri Bodhisattwa Gautam Vs. Miss Subhra Chakraborty, AIR 1996 SC 922 the entire psychology of a woman and pushes her into deep emotional crisis. It is a crime against basic human rights, and is also violative of the victim's most cherished of the Fundamental Rights, namely, the Right to Life contained in Article 21of the Constitution of India, 1950 (in short the 'Constitution'). The Courts are, therefore, expected to deal with cases of sexual crime against women with utmost sensitivity. Such cases need to be dealt with sternly and severely. A socially sensitized judge, in our opinion, is a better statutory armour in cases of crime against women than long clauses of penal provisions, containing complex exceptions and provisos."

22. Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the present case, the Court is of the view that the prosecution is able to prove the charges levelled against the appellant.

23. However, learned counsel for the appellant stated that if this Court finds that prosecution is able to prove his case, then he only wants to advance his submission on the quantum of sentence imposed upon the accused and prays for leniency.

24. Not pressing the criminal appeal after the conviction of the accused by the court below is like the confession of the offence by the accused. The Courts generally take lenient view in the matter of awarding sentence to an accused in criminal trial, where he voluntarily confesses his guilt, unless the facts of the case warrants severe sentence.

25. In the case of Sevaka Perumal etc. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu AIR 1991 SC 1463, the Apex Court in the matter of awarding proper sentence to the accused in a criminal trial has cautioned the Courts as under:

"Undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law and society could not long endure under such serious threats. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed etc."

26. In the case of Dhananjoy Chatterjee Vs. State of W. B. [1994] 2 SCC 220, this Court has observed that shockingly large number of criminals go unpunished thereby increasingly, encouraging the criminals and in the ultimate making justice suffer by weakening the system's credibility. The imposition of appropriate punishment is the manner in which the Court responds to the society's cry for justice against the criminal. Justice demands that Courts should impose punishment befitting the crime so that the Courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime. The Court must not only keep in view the rights of the criminal but also the rights of the victim of the crime and the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment. Similar view has also been expressed in Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, [1996] 2 SCC 175. It has been held in the said case that it is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal". If for extremely heinous crime of murder perpetrated in a very brutal manner without any provocation, most deterrent punishment is not given, the case of deterrent punishment will lose its relevance.

27. Appropriate sentence is the cry of the society. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed.

28. This position was reiterated by a three-Judge Bench of the Apex Court in Ahmed Hussein Vali Mohammed Saiyed and Anr. vs. State of Gujarat, (2009) 7 SCC 254, wherein it was observed as follows:-

"99.....The object of awarding appropriate sentence should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal from achieving the avowed object to law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence, which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. Any liberal attitude by imposing meager sentences or taking too sympathetic view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be result-wise counter productive in the long run and against the interest of society which needs to be cared for and strengthened by string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system.

100. Justice demands that courts should impose punishment befitting the crime so that the courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime.

The court must not only keep in view the rights of the victim of the crime but the society at large also while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which both the criminal and the victim belong."

29. In Jameel vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (2010) 12 SCC 532, this Court reiterated the principle by stating that the punishment must be appropriate and proportional to the gravity of the offence committed. Speaking about the concept of sentencing, this Court observed thus:

"15. In operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. By deft modulation, sentencing process be stern where it should be, and tempered with mercy where it warrants to be. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration.

It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The sentencing courts are expected to consider all relevant facts and circumstances bearing on the question of sentence and proceed to impose a sentence commensurate with the gravity of the offence."

30. In Guru Basavaraj @ Benne Settapa vs. State of Karnataka, (2012) 8 SCC 734, while discussing the concept of appropriate sentence, this Court expressed that:

"It is the duty of the court to see that appropriate sentence is imposed regard being had to the commission of the crime and its impact on the social order. The cry of the collective for justice, which includes adequate punishment cannot be lightly ignored."

31. In Gopal Singh vs. State of Uttarakhand JT 2013 (3) SC 444 held as under:-

"18. Just punishment is the collective cry of the society. While the collective cry has to be kept uppermost in the mind, simultaneously the principle of proportionality between the crime and punishment cannot be totally brushed aside. The principle of just punishment is the bedrock of sentencing in respect of a criminal offence....."

32. On perusal of the entire record, considering the facts and circumstances of the present case and keeping in view of the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 it appears that prosecution story is cogent, credible and reliable. The prosecution is able to prove its case beyond shadow of doubt, therefore, prosecution has proved the charges against the appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of the POCSO Act. In the present case, it is clear that the victim is below 10 than years and the appellant is 58 years adult committed rape upon a girl of tender age, so deterrent punishment is called for. Taking lenient view is out of question. Once a person is convicted for offence of rape, he should be treated with heavy hands and he is not deserving any indulgence or liberal attitude. Awarding of adequate sentence to him is not important.

33. On the present scenario the appellant is in jail since 29.11.2014 and during investigation and trial the appellant remained in jail. After conviction he was also in jail. Thus, presently he in incarceration for about 8 years. It is also admitted that the appellant is poor. During trial he was not represented by counsel of his choice, so the contention of learned counsel for the appellant to adopt a lenient view in awarding the sentence to the appellant is fully acceptable.

34. Therefore, the conviction of the appellant is confirmed under Section 376 I.P.C. and Section 4 of the POCSO Act. Thus, on the point of conviction the appeal is dismissed. So far as regards the quantum of sentence is concerned, I considered that the minimum sentence of seven years is prescribed for offence under Section 376 I.P.C. and Section 4 POCSO Act. Therefore, keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the present case, I am of the view that end of justice would be served, if the appellant is sentenced to imprisonment for the period, which he has already undergone, consequently awarded sentence is reduced to the period already undergone by the appellant-Badri Narayan. It is hereby also directed that the fine clause shall be unaltered. Appellant is directed to deposit the fine of Rs. 10,000/- before the trial court. The deposited amount i.e. Rs. 10,000/- shall be awarded in favour of the victim under Section 357 (2) Cr.P.C.. Thus, this appeal is partly allowed on the point of sentence only.

35. With the above observations/ directions, this appeal is disposed of.

36. Let a copy of this order along with lower court record be transmitted back to the trial court concerned for necessary compliance. A copy of this order be also given to the Superintendent of Jail of the concerned District for compliance of order of this Court

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 376 (2) (g), 307 302 - Challenge to-Conviction-Dying declaration- The accused persons committed rape with the victim-deceased very cleverly, cunningly and to avoid public shame the victim-deceased committed suicide-The dying declaration of the deceased regarding gang rape by the accused persons has been reiterated in her statement to her parents, I.O. or Magistrate and this fact is duly corroborated by the medical evidence and the report of Forensic Science Laboratory-P.W 5 - Dr. has also given evidence that Sperm was found in the vaginal smear of the deceased and on the underwear of the accused - Therefore, this part of her statement, which is supported and backed by medical evidence, forensic laboratory report and the evidence of other oral and documentary evidence is acceptable- So far as her evidence regarding burning of the deceased by accused persons is concerned, that part of her statement does not find support from any other evidence, accordingly, that part of the dying declaration has to be discarded being doubtful-if part of dying declaration is corroborated by an another evidence, then the same shall not be dispensed with merely on the ground that one part of the dying declaration is false- Trial court rightly convicted the accused persons who only for a momentary bliss ruined the life of deceased and forced herself to commit suicide.(Para 1 to 62)

B. In a case of rape, testimony of prosecutrix stands at par with that of an injured witness. It is really not necessary to insist of corroboration if the evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence and appears to be credible. An accused can be convicted on the basis of sole testimony of the prosecutrix without any further corroboration provided the evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence and appears to be natural and truthful. Woman or girl raped is not an accomplice and to insist for corroboration of the testimony amounts to insult to womanhood. On principle the evidence of victim of sexual assault stands at par with evidence of an injured witness just as a witness who has sustained an injury (which is not shown or believed to be self-inflicted) is the best witness in the sense that he is least likely to exculpate the real offender. The evidence of a victim of a sex-offence is entitled to great weight, absence of corroboration notwithstanding. Corroboration in the form of eye-witness account of an independent witness may often be forthcoming in physical assault cases but such evidence cannot be expected in sex offences having regard to the every nature of the offence. It would therefore be adding insult to injury to insist on corroboration drawing inspiration from rules devised by the courts in the western world. If the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity and the "probabilities factor" does not render it unworthy of credence as a general rule, there is no reason to insist on corroboration except from the medical evidence where having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming subject to this qualification that corroboration can be insisted upon when a woman having attained majority is found in a compromising position and there is a likelihood of her having leveled such an accusation on account of the instinct of self-preservation or when the probability factor is found to be out of tune. (Para 57)

C. In India the Maxim Falsus in Uno Falsus in Omni Bus does not apply, meaning thereby, if part of the evidence of a witness is incorrect and part of the evidence is correct then the whole evidence cannot be thrown out and the correct part of evidence shall be taken into account. Since the dying declaration statement of the deceased has been considered as evidence under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act and her statement to her father (informant) P.W 1 under Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act has also been considered by lower court, therefore, applying this principle, the learned trial court has concluded that part of the statement of the victim-deceased regarding the crime of gang rape is correct and acceptable, but the other part of her evidence regarding causing burn injury by pouring kerosene oil by the accused persons is incorrect.(Para 59)

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Umesh Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. We have heard learned counsel for the appellants, learned A.G.A for the State and perused the material available on record.

2. Criminal Appeal No. 4875 of 2014, Criminal Appeal No. 4713 and Criminal Appeal No. 1844 of 2015 have been filed by the appellants therein challenging a common judgment and order passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Ballia in S.T No. 217 of 2011, arising out of Case Crime No. 53 of 2011, under Sections 376 (2) (g), 307 and 302 I.P.C, Police Station - Sukhpura, District - Ballia, convicting them under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C and sentencing for rigorous imprisonment for life and fine of Rs.50,000/- on each of them with default stipulation.

3. The brief facts of the case are as under :-

On a written complaint (Ex. Ka-1) of Nazim Ansari (PW-1), F.I.R (Ex. Ka-23) of Case Crime No. 35 of 2011 was registered under Section 376 I.P.C, at Police Station - Sukhpura, District - Ballia on 08.04.2011 at 12:15 hours by Constable Clerk (PW-10) against Israr @ Mintu, Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav. It has been stated in the F.I.R that Zareena Khatoon, daughter of the informant, aged about 17 years, was alone in the house at the time and date of occurrence when Mintu son of Saleem Ansari, Pintu son of Suraj Yadav and Anoop son of Laxmi Yadav, resident of Sukhpura, Police Station - Sukhpura, District - Ballia, resident of the same village came there and enquired about the mother of the girl. On having information that mother of the girl was away from the house, they got the door opened and sat inside the house to wait for her mother's arrival. Pintu and Anoop bolted the door from inside while Mintu @ Israr bolted from the outside. Thereafter Pintu and Anoop by pressing her face by a pillow committed rape upon her. On alarm being raised they fled from there. When the informant came to his house, the girl narrated the whole incident and when he went out of the house in search of the accused persons he saw that his daughter had immolated herself due to which her whole body was burnt. Immediately, the girl was rushed to the District Hospital, Ballia, where her treatment was going on and he came to give written complaint of the incident to the Police Station about the incident occurred at about 7:00 pm. On 07.04.2011. the incident was witnessed by the villagers, who saw the appellants coming out of the house of the informant hurriedly. District Hospital Ballia, who certified that she was mentally fit to give statement.

4. In her dying declaration, she narrated the whole story regarding the rape and also added that she was burnt by the accused persons, though, it is not in conformity with the contents of F.I.R and deposition of informant P.W-1. The lower court has not accepted part of the dying declaration that after rape she was set ablaze by the accused persons. After recording the dying declaration she died at 11:25 p.m on 18.04.2011. She was hundred percent burnt.

5. P.W 5. Dr. Manju Singh, District Women Hospital, Varanasi, the then Doctor at District Woman Hospital, Ballia, upon medical examination, found swelling on her private part due to burn, there was swelling upon the whole body due to burnt, but there was no sign of injury on her private parts. Her hymen was old torn and it was easily taking one finger entrance. After x-ray, she was found above 18 years old; in her vaginal smear examination male sperm was found.

6. P.W. 6. Dr. V.K. Gupta, Medical Officer, District Hospital, Ballia, did autopsy, he reported that the deceased was an average built lady of 16 years of age, she died due to burn injury.

7. P.W. 7. Dr. Krishna Chandra Rai, New Primary Health Center, Viravkot (Badagaon), Varanasi, the then Doctor District Hospital, Ballia, had examined the deceased on 07.04.2011 as Emergency Doctor, in District Hospital, Ballia, who found that deceased was hundred percent burnt. He referred the deceased to the Surgeon of District Hospital, Ballia and recorded and proved the injuries as Ex. - Ka 10. He has also proved his both certificates regarding fitness of the injured before and after recording of the Dying Declaration as Ex. K - 27 and Ex. K - 28 upon the Dying Declaration Ex. K-2.

8. P.W 9. Kanhaiyya Lal Yadav, Traffic Sub-Inspector, the then Chauki In-Charge, Police Station - Kotwali, Ballia, had completed the inquest report Ex. 9. P.W.10. Head Constable Bhagwan Ram, Police Station - Suhpura, District- Ballia, has prepared the Chik F.I.R on the basis Tehrir and entered the same in G.D, which is called Kaimi G.D. and proved the same as Ex. K.23 and K-24.

10. P.W 8. Ashok Singh Yadav, S.O. Chopan, District Sonbhadra, I.O. of the case has investigated the case and prepared a map, proved the same as Ex K-11, he took ashes and burnt clothes of the deceased and prepared memo and proved the same as Ex. K-12. He also took the clothes of accused Pintu Kumar Yadav and Anoop Yadav prepared recovery memo and proved the same as Ex. K-13. He added Section 302 I.P.C and proved the same as Ex. K-14, when the victim died, he after inquest added Section 302 I.P.C and submitted the charge-sheet under Sections 376 (2) (g) /307/302 I.P.C and proved the same as Ex. K-16. He also proved the clothes of accused persons as material Ex. 1 to 7 and burnt clothes of deceased as material Ex. 8.

11. After submission of charge-sheet the case was committed to the Court of Sessions, charges were framed on 11.08.2013 and 18.11.2013 and the evidences were recorded. Statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C as recorded on 16.05.2013 and later on written statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C were also adduced by all three accused persons and opportunity to adduce the evidence was also provided. In defence D.W-1 Shamshad Ahmad was examined.

12. After hearing the arguments the lower court found the charge under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C to be proved and also opined that the case under Sections 302/34 and 307/34 I.P.C have not been proved, accordingly the accused persons were convicted and sentenced against which this appeal has been preferred by the convicted accused persons.

13. No appeal has been preferred from the side of State so far as the acquittal under Sections 302/34 and 307/34 I.P.C is concerned.

14. The accused persons have taken following grounds:-

15. In Criminal Appeal No. 844 of 2015, the accused -Pintu Yadav has taken the ground that no eye witness in the aforesaid case has been examined to prove the charges. The defence version and evidence were not properly considered by the trail court and the appellant has not committed any crime. The impugned judgment and order has been passed against the weight of evidence on record. The judgment and order has been passed on the basis of conjectures and surmises and also the sentence is too severe, hence the appeal be allowed and the appellant be released on bail.

16. The appellant - Anoop Yadav in his Appeal No. 4713 of 2014 has taken the ground that the impugned judgment and order is against the law and facts of the case. The appellant has falsely been implicated in the aforesaid case. No eye witness has seen the incident nor examined. The defence version and statement version of the defence witnesses were not considered. Rests of the grounds are similar grounds taken by the co-accused and Pintu Yadav.

17. The accused - Ishrar Ahmad @ Mintu in Criminal Appeal No. 4815 of 2014, has taken the ground that the impugned judgment is bad in the eye of law, because the person, who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the dying person was making a conscious and voluntarily statement with normal understanding, but the trial court without considering the settled principles of law recorded the convictions on the basis of dying declaration, which is unsustainable in the eyes of law. It is fully established that the deceased sustained hundred percent burn injuries and in such condition how she can adduce statement, this aspect has been ignored by the trial court. If the present appellant was outside of the house then he could not be one of the offender under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C and his act cannot be considered within the definition of gang rape under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C. The defence evidence has completely been overlooked and ignored by the trial court. The sentence awarded by the trial court is too severe in nature and also against the evidence on record, only relying on the dying declaration of the victim. There are material contradiction and discrepancies in the statement of the witnesses and the deceased's dying declaration. The judgment of conviction of the lower court is unjustified and against the evidence on record as there were several irregularities and short comings in the prosecution case, which creates a doubt about the entire allegations made against the appellant, but despite of that the trial court has recorded the conviction of the appellant under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C. If the victim was hundred percent burnt then she was not in a position to state dying declaration. There is no single independent witness, who has supported the prosecution version, which itself creates doubt on the prosecution story, therefore the appeal be allowed.

18. From the perusal of memo of appeal, it transpires that the accused persons have taken following grounds:-

1. That the dying declaration made by the deceased is not liable to be accepted, as she was in the state of hundred percent burns and she had not given the statement in a conscious state of mind and voluntarily with the normal understanding.

2. That since the deceased had sustained hundred percent burn injuries; therefore, she was unable to give the dying declaration.

3. That the appellant -Israr Ahmad @ Mintu is said to be standing outside of the house, therefore, he cannot be said to be accused of gang raper under Section 376 2 (g) I.P.C

4. That Qamar-U-ddeen, uncle of the accused - Israr Ahmad @ Mintu had filed a Civil Suit No. 55 of 1989 - Qamar-U-ddeen Vs. Sikandar & Ors. in the Court of Munsif (West), Ballia, regarding opening of a window, due to which, he was falsely implicated.

5. That the deceased was having love affair with Chandan Gupta, due to which her father was defamed in the village and he wanted her early marriage with an another person, therefore when the family members of the deceased were out of the house shopping for her marriage proposal then being aggrieved, she put herself on fire to commit suicide and later on died.

19. After framing the charge and on denial of the charges, the prosecution adduced following witnesses to prove the charges.

P.W. 1 - Informant Nazeem Ansari, father of the deceased,

21. Underwear, T. Shirt, Full-pant, Ganzi of accused Israr @ Mintu as material Ex. 4 to material Ex.7.

22. Burnt clothes of victim deceased and ashes material Ex. 8.

20. Statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C of the accused persons were recorded, wherein they denied the incident and allegations and contended that the case has wrongly been instituted against them and false evidence has been adduced by the prosecutrix on the instigation of family members. Accused Israr @ Mintu has produced written statement in addition to his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he has falsely been implicated in the present case due to political enmity. The prosecutrix had love relation with Chandan Gupta, due to which her father was badly defamed and he wanted to settle her early marriage. Smt. Shahida, sister of deceased's mother had come with a proposal of marriage of the prosecutrix. On 07.04.2011 informant, his wife and Smt. Shahida had gone to purchase clothes and ornaments proposed to be given at the time of proposal, being aggrieved of that, the deceased herself immolated and attempted to commit suicide. Thoughtfully taking advantage a false report was lodged at behest of the informant against appellant-Israr @ Mintu and accused persons.

21. All the appeals are being decided together in following manner:-

22. The learned trial court acquitted the accused persons from the charges under Sections 307 & 302 I.P.C. Section 307 I.P.C had been framed against the accused persons Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav on the ground that an attempt was made by the accused persons to kill the deceased by pressing her face with pillow. The lower trial court has concluded that the pillow was put on the mouth and nose of the deceased only to prevent her from making hue and cry at the time of rape. There was no intention to commit the murder. It was done so that the deceased could not shout at the time of rape. This Court finds this finding factually and legally correct and no counter appeal has been preferred from the side of the State or the informant. Therefore, this Court accepts the conclusion regarding the acquittal under Section 307 I.P.C of the accused persons.

23. So far as the acquittal under Section 302 I.P.C is concerned, the State or the informant have not preferred any appeal against the judgment and order of acquittal under Section 302 I.P.C. In this regard, the lower court has categorically discussed the dying declaration made by the deceased and also the statement of her parents P.W 1 and P.W 2, and came to the conclusion that the dying declaration of the prosecutrix regarding rape is proved and regarding committing murder by setting her on fire by the accused persons is incorrect and not proved.

24. In view of the statement of P.W-1 - and averments of first information report, the lower court has concluded that only that part of the dying declaration regarding offence under Section 376 (2) (g) is proved and regarding setting the victim on fire by the accused persons to commit murder is not proved rather an improvement, which is an after thought and has come after the victim meeting with the parents to make the allegations serious against the accused persons. It has already been noted that no appeal has been preferred by informant or by the State against acquittal under Section 302 I.P.C of the accused-appellants.

Therefore this Court would not consider that part of alleged offence under Section 302 I.P.C and acquittal of the accused under Section 302 I.P.C. The Court is confined to the legality and illegality of the judgement and order of conviction of the accused appellant persons under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C.

25. All the above questions shall be dealt with and answered in the decision of this appeal.

26. (A) As per the F.I.R version, the occurrence took place on 07.04.2011 in the evening at about 07:00 p.m, F.I.R was lodged in Police Station - Sukhpura on 08.04.2011, at 12:00 p.m. naming all the accused persons and stating their specific role as to which accused had committed the offence and in which manner with the deceased. According to the prosecution version, the deceased aged about 17 years old, was alone in her house when all the three accused persons knocked the door and asked about her mother and when she informed them that her mother was out of station, then they got the door opened to wait for her mother, but when they entered into the house, accused Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav, bolted the house from inside and accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu bolted the house from outside. They both raped the deceased, putting pillow on her mouth and nose to prevent hue and cry, threafter, they fled away from the incident. When the informant returned, his daughter narrated the whole story and thereafter he (informant) went to search the accused persons, after sometime he heard hue and cry and smoke rising from his house, then he returned immediately and found that deceased was burning and crying. He with the help of some villagers put out the fire and admitted her to the District Hospital, Ballia, carrying her in a Tempo. In the night her mother also reached from her Maika. On the next day, he narrated the whole story to Raju Warsi, who wrote the Tehrir, and he put his thumb impression and presented before the S.H.O, F.I.R was lodged and Chik F.I.R Ex. K-23 was prepared. This witness has proved the written Tehrir as Ex. K-1.

(B) Thus there is a plausible explanation of delay in lodging the F.I.R, as the informant was busy in treatment of the deceased and his wife (mother of the deceased) was also out of station.

(C) Delay in lodging the F.I.R is no ground to doubt the prosecution case, especially in the case of rape.

(D) In the case of Bable Vs. State of Chhattisgarh, A.I.R 2012, Supreme Court, 2621, Supreme Court held that it is settled law that an F.I.R registered under Section 154 Cr.P.C is not substantive peace of evidence. It is a document to accelerate the police machinery. If the scribe, who is not an eye-witness had not been examined, then it is not fatal for prosecution, and no adverse inference can be drawn. When the informant has proved the execution of the F.I.R by examining himself as P.W. (refer : Moti Lal Vs. State of M.P. 2008 (8) SCC Page 20).

(E) In the case of Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra (2016) 10 S.C.C, 537, Supreme Court held that F.I.R is not encyclopedia of all the facts relating to crime. The only requirement is that at the time of lodging the F.I.R, the informant should state all those facts, which normally strike to mind and help in assessing the gravity of the crime or identity of the culprit briefly.

(F). In the case of Ram Das Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 2 S.C.C 170, it is held that the mere delay in lodging an F.I.R about the incident of rape, is not by itself necessarily fatal to the prosecution case. But a belated report is a relevant fact which the Court must take notice.

(G). In the case of State of U.P. Vs. Manoj Kumar Pandey, A.I.R 2009 Supreme Court 711 (three Judges Bench) and in the case of Santhosh Moolya & Anr. Vs . State of Karnataka (2010) 5 SCC 445, the Supreme Court held that normal rule that prosecution has to explain delay and lack of prejudice does not apply per-se to rape cases.

(H). In the facts of this case, the victim was hundred percent burnt, therefore, she was carried to the District Hospital by the informant and the informant was busy in her treatment attempting to save her life, therefore he was not having sufficient time to lodge the F.I.R on the same day. Lodging the F.I.R next day cannot be said to be a case of undue delay.

(I). In this case sufficient facts with regard to the commission of the offence has been mentioned in Tehrir on which ground the Chik F.I.R has been prepared and G.D entries made and proved. Though certain improvement have been made in dying declaration and in the evidence of P.W-2, (mother of the deceased), which shall be analyzed later on.

(J). In this case, the accused persons were well-known to the deceased, informant and mother P.W-2; they are named in the F.I.R with their parentage and specific role of each accused has been mentioned in the F.I.R. As per the F.I.R, dying declaration of the deceased and statement of the informant P.W-1, it has been established that at the time of incident, mother of the deceased had gone to her Maika (parental house), the informant had gone to Sukhpura to purchase vegetable and when he returned he found his daughter was weeping bitterly and he asked for the reason. She informed that Israr @ Mintu opened the door of the house on the pretext of meeting her mother, when she informed that her mother had gone to her maternal house then he said to open the door so that they may sit inside and wait for her mother. When she opened the door then accused Pintu and Anoop bolted the door from inside and accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu stood outside and started monitoring of people. After committing the gang rape one by one, the accused persons ran away towards the west side and she started sobbing. The statement of the deceased to her father is admissible, reliable and acceptable under Section 6 and Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act.

Section 6 of The Indian Evidence Act, 1972, reads as under :-

"6. Relevancy of facts forming part of same transaction.--Facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with a fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, are relevant, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places. Illustration.

(A) A is accused of the murder of B by beating him. Whatever was said or done by A or B or the by-standers at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact."

27. The case rests on the direct evidence and dying declaration of the deceased, in such cases motive has no significance.

Even in cases based on circumstantial evidence at times motive has no significance.

In the case of G. Parshwanath vs. State Of Karnataka on A.I.R 2010 S.C. 2914 and in the case of Jagdish Vs. State of M.P. 2009 (67) ACC 295 SC, the Supreme Court held that it is true in a case of circumstantial evidence motive does have extreme significance but to say that in the absence of motive, the conviction based on circumstantial evidence cannot, in principle, be made is not correct. Absence of motive in a case based on circumstantial evidence is not of much consequence when chain of proved circumstances is complete.

In the case of Sanjeev Vs. State of Haryana (2015) 4 SCC 387 para 16, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that "It is settled principle of law that to establish an offence (murder) by an accused, motive is not required to be proved. Motive is something which prompts a man to form an intention. The intention can be formed even at the place of incident at the time of commission of crime. It is only either intention or knowledge on the part of the accused which is required to be seen in respect of the offence of culpable homicide. In order to read either intention or knowledge, the courts have to examine the circumstances, as there cannot be any direct evidence as to the state of mind of the accused".

28. In this case D.W. 1 - Shamshad Ahmed, has been examined from the side of appellant - accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu. D.W-1 deposed that the deceased was having love affair with Chandan Gupta of Sukhpura, she was student of Class 12 standard. Due to love affair between the deceased and Chandan Gupta, family of the informant was defamed in the village and in the area, therefore, sister-in-law of the informant came with a proposal of marriage of the deceased with another boy, and for making arrangement the informant and his wife and sister-in-law left the house for purchasing some clothes, sweets etc. Then a hue and cry was heard by him that house of the informant is on fire, people reached there, they found that the deceased was burning and some women neighbour of the house were extinguishing the fire with water; informant was the only man to reach there, thereafter, the villagers gathered and put the deceased on cot for carrying the deceased to District Hospital. The informant, his wife and sister-in-law reached the house and immediately victim was taken to District Hospital by a Tempo of Parashuram Chaudhary. Later, the deceased had died. Except the informant no other person of the village or woman who tried to save the deceased, has been examined. It has been established that first of all the informant reached the house alone and mother and Maushi of the deceased had not reached the house with him. After knowing the incident mother of the deceased reached the hospital, therefore, the defence version does not find support from the evidence of the prosecution and the circumstances.

It is admitted by D.W. 1 that he is a driver of Jeep (four wheeler), who leaves the house at between 6:00 to 6:30 a.m in the morning and plies Jeep from Ballia to Sikandarpur and returns home in the evening. It is also noteworthy that this witness is interested witness and accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu is the son of his maternal uncle, therefore, he is giving a false evidence to save the accused-appellant Israr Ahmad @ Mintu. No independent witness in support of the accused persons have been examined. Therefore, the defence version that the accused persons had not committed gang rape and the prosecutrix tried to commit suicide by burning herself due to marriage being fixed with an another person is not proved and is also not acceptable and creditworthy. In the Indian context normally no person will falsely make his unmarried girl child victim of rape to bring disrepute to herself and his family.

For want of any other oral or documentary evidence, it is also not proved that the informant or the victim had any reason or ground to falsely implicate the accused persons. The deceased before her death, has given a dying declaration to P.W. 3 - Bhandari Prasad, Nayab Tehsildar, that accused Pintu Kumar Yadav and Anoop Yadav after bolting the house from the inside raped her one by one while accused Israr @ Mintu locked the door from outside to provide them convenience.

P.W 5. Dr. Manju Singh, District Women Hospital, Varanasi, has proved that male sperm had been found, in the vaginal smear of the deceased. She has deposed that on 07 April, 2011 at about 8:50 p.m., victim was brought to District Hospital, Ballia, who died at 12:00 O' clock on 08 April, 2011, while giving a statement she was speaking, which establishes that she was in a position to give dying declaration.

Thus the motive behind the commission of crime is apparent and obvious that the deceased was a young girl and alone in the house, therefore, the accused persons found an opportunity to fulfil their desire and committed gang rape.

29. On 09 April, 2011 at about 11:30 a.m, inquest proceeding was conducted by the Police, her body was hundred percent burnt with medicine layer on her body and the dead body was sent for postmortem. Before her death she was admitted in District Hospital, Ballia, and was treated by the P.W-7 Dr. K.C. Rai in emergency, where she was brought in hundred percent burnt conditions. Bed Head Ticket and Injury Report have been proved as Ex. K-5 and Ex. K-10. As per Medico Legal Examination Ex.K-6, her hymen was found with inverted tag, vagina admitted one finger easily, vaginal smear was taken and the same was sent for pathological examination for presence of spermatozoa. The x-ray was done of her right elbow and right wrist joints for determination of her age and as per the supplementary report Ex. K-7, she was found to be above 18 years, sperms were also found in pathological report; Dr. Manju Singh opined that possibility of rape could not be ruled out.

30. As per postmortem report superficial to deep burn wound was present on all over the body and the death was due to septicemic shock as a result of anti-mortem burn injury. Report Ex. K-25 of Forensic Laboratory U.P. Police Line, Varanasi, reported that sperm was found on the underwear of the accused Pintu Yadav and as per report Ex. K 26 male sperm were also found on the half lower of the accused Anoop Yadav. Thus, the commission of crime of rape by the accused persons namely Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav is also confirmed from the medical evidence. The learned counsel for the appellants was specifically confronted with the report to explain on instructions from the appellants, the learned counsel submits it is a case of false implication.

31. So far as the role of accused-appellant Israr @ Mintu is concerned, as per the F.I.R, first of all Israr @ Mintu, in the evening at 07:00 O' clock came and said for opening the door to meet the mother of the deceased, when the deceased said that she has gone to her maternal uncle's house then he insisted to open the door, they shall sit down inside the house and they shall wait her. When the door was opened, Mintu, Pintu and Anoop entered the house and locked the door from inside. Pintu and Anoop raped the deceased in turn. During that time the door of the room was locked from the outside by the accused Israr @ Mintu and he was standing outside the house of the informant and as watchman he was monitoring the people passing by. On the noise Pintu and Anoop ran away to the west side and Israr @ Mintu had also ran away. Knowing the said incident, informant went to the village to find Israr @ Mintu, Pinto and Anoop, and on reaching some distance from the house, he heard hue and cry and saw smoke rising from his house, he came back and saw that his daughter Zareena Khatoon (deceased) was burning and screaming; he with the help of the villagers put out the fire and after loading the victim in burnt condition, by the Tempo admitted her to the Sadar Hospital, Ballia, for her treatment. He also informed his wife, who reached the hospital in the night. Next day he went to Sukhpura and got Raju Warsi who wrote Tehrir on his narration and thereafter he put thump impression on the Tehrir and lodged the F.I.R.

Thus as per the F.I.R version accused Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav committed gang rape physically with the deceased with the help of the accused Israr @ Mintu providing protection to rest of the accused persons before her burning and death. He got opened the door being member of her community taking her into confidence and after entry of the two accused persons he bolted the door from the outside and started monitoring the people. On these facts, he has also been implicated as accused and member of gang rape, but according to the accused Israr @ Mintu, he has been falsely implicated on account of village rivalry and litigation, but no such direct litigation or rivalry has been found between the informant and the accused- Israr @ Mintu so that informant would falsely implicate him in the aforesaid crime.

It has already been concluded that D.W 1- Shamshad Ahmed is not a credible and independent witness as he is the maternal brother and son of maternal uncle of the accused Israr @ Mintu.

32. Under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C, gang rape has been defined, which is as under:-

Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C, whosoever

"(g) commits gang rape, shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may be for life and shall also be liable to fine: Provided that the Court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment of either description for a term of less than ten years. Explanation 1.--Where a woman is raped by one or more in a group of persons acting in furtherance of their common intention, each of the persons shall be deemed to have committed gang rape within the meaning of this sub-section. Explanation 2.--"Women's or children's institution" means an institution, whether called an orphanage or a home for neglected woman or children or a widows' home or by any other name, which is established and maintained for the reception and care of woman or children. Explanation 3.--"Hospital" means the precincts of the hospital and includes the precincts of any institution for the reception and treatment of persons during convalescence or of persons requiring medical attention or rehabilitation.]"

From bare perusal it is clear that in furtherance of a common intention to commit gang rape, if it is proved, that one or more persons had constituted a group or had formed a gang and each of them were acting in furtherance of the common intention of the said gang, then each member of the gang shall be deemed to have committed the offence of rape and shall be punished as provided above. Therefore, from the bare provision of Section 376 (2) (g), it is clear that actual rape by all member of the gang is not necessary.

In Bhupinder Sharma Vs. State of Himanchal Pradesh, AIR, 2003 S.C, 4684, Supreme Court held that where more than one accused has completed the act of rape, in will constitute a "gang rape' and as per explanation of Section 376 I.P.C, it is not necessary for the prosecution to adduce proof that everyone of the gang had actually raped the victim. Every member of the gang rape acting in furtherance of common intention of the group has to be awarded minimum sentence of 10 years rigorous imprisonment as stipulated in Section 376 (2).

33. From the evidences of P.W 1, P.W 2 and Dying Declaration of the deceased, it is established that accused Israr @ Mintu, firstly got the door of the house of the victim opened and when the accused-appellant Anoop and Pintu Yadav entered the house, he bolted the door of the house from outside and started monitoring and only after commission of crime all the accused-appellants disbursed and ran away. Therefore, it can not be said that accused Israr @ Mintu would not be considered to be member of gang rape because he not only facilitated the other accused persons in physically raping the victim but also opened the door after commission of crime when the victim started screaming and made hue and cry. Such active role played by him shall not exonerate him from the liability.

The role of the accused Israr @ Mintu is very much enumerated in Tehrir Ex. Ka-1 and Chik F.I.R Ex. Ka- 23. This Court has already concluded that the narration of the deceased to her father informant P.W 1 - Nazeem Ansari, is relevant and admissible in evidence under Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act.

The deceased has also narrated the story of gang rape to the informant P.W-1 and her mother P.W-2, and the I.O before her death, therefore her statement to her parents shall also be taken into account as dying declaration under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act.

34. P.W 1 - Nazeem Ansari has deposed that on the fate-full day his wife had gone to her parental house and he had gone to Sukhpura to purchase vegetable etc. leaving the deceased alone in the house and when he returned at about 07:00 p.m in the evening, he found that his daughter was sobbing and when he asked the reason, she narrated the whole story of the incident that Israr @ Mintu knocked the door and asked to meet her mother and when she informed that she had gone to the house of maternal uncle then he insisted to open the door with the averment that they shall wait for her mother inside the house. After opening the door all the three persons entered into the house and Pintu and Anoop bolted the door from inside and Israr @ Mintu after coming out bolted the door from out side and two offenders inside the house raped her in turn. Accused Israr @ Mintu was standing outside the house and locked the door from outside and was monitoring the people passing by the road and when she made hue and cry, the accused persons ran away, and when he (complainant) went to the village to search for the accused persons, his daughter put herself on fire then he returned and with the help of villagers put out the fire and carried her to District Hospital by Tempo.

This witness has not deposed that his daughter was burnt by accused persons.

35. P.W. Sobra Begum, mother of deceased, has deposed that her daughter told that Mintu and Anoop of the village had done bad deeds with her and set her on fire by sprinkling kerosene oil; on information her husband took his daughter to the District Hospital, Ballia, in a burnt state and she also went the hospital there and when her daughter became conscious she told her all the things at 12:00 in the night about the said incident. In cross-examination she accepted that her daughter had not told that accused persons had burnt her, but victim herself after pouring kerosene oil burnt herself.

During the course of cross-examination, she admitted that in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C, she had stated to the I.O that her daughter had told her that when her father came, she was weeping due to humiliation and misery. When her father asked the reason, she narrated the wrong done by the accused persons, and when her father left the house to find accused - Israr @ Mintu, Pintu and Anoop, then due to humiliation and insult, after pouring kerosene oil on her body she put herself on fire, her whole body started burning, she started crying and shouting, on which people came and put out the fire and took her to the Hospital. She also admitted that earlier she had not given any statement that the accused had burnt her daughter by pouring kerosene oil.

Thus from the averments of the F.I.R and from the statements of informant P.W 1 and P.W. 2, the truthfulness has come before the Court that the accused persons had committed the offence of gang rape and not the murder of the deceased by pouring kerosene oil.

36. P.W 3 Nayab Tehsildar Bhandari Prasad, had written the dying declaration of the deceased. According to this witness before recording the statement P.W-7 Doctor Krishna Chandra Rai had given the report that the victim was in position to give her statement, then he started recording the statement. According to him the victim narrated that two boys Anoop Yadav S/o Laxmi Yadav and Pinto S/o Suraj Yadav started chasing her when she had gone for defecation, to escape she ran inside the house, Israr Ahmad @ Mintu S/o Saleem Ansari and other accused persons entered and closed the door, after which both of them raped one by one. She tried to shout, they closed her mouth and burnt her by spraying kerosene oil. Her father had admitted herself in District Hospital in a burnt condition. After recording the pre-death statement of the deceased, the concerned Medical Officer has certified her to be fit and conscious during the statement. This witness has proved the dying declaration as Ex. K-2.

37. A question was put this witness (P.W-3) that whether he asked the deceased from where the kerosene oil was brought in. The witness answered no. Victim herself had told that in the house, there was kerosene oil. He admitted that he has not written that there was kerosene oil in the house. He admitted that the deceased did not tell him as to who had come to save her from getting burnt. He admitted that the deceased did not tell him, which person poured the kerosene oil upon her.

38. The accused appellants have also heavily relied upon the statement of P.W 4 Dr. R.N. Upadhyaya, Senior Surgeon of District Hospital, Ballia, in cross-examination he has admitted that the patient was hundred percent burnt, she was not conscious. He had given information on the same day to take pre-death statement, but he has admitted that before taking the dying declaration, Executive or Judicial Magistrate had not contacted him about the patient's condition.

We find that another Doctor Krishna Chandra Rai - P.W-7, who first of all attended the injured in emergency ward, had examined the deceased before taking her statement and had found herself fit to give statement, therefore, the fact that especially Dr. R.N. Upadhyaya, was not contacted and another Doctor has given the certificate about the mental condition of the deceased is no ground to throw away the dying declaration recorded by P.W. 3.

39. In the case of Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 6 SCC 710 (Five Judge Bench), it is held that no statutory form for recording dying declaration is necessary. A dying declaration can be made verbally or in writing by any method of communication like sign, word or otherwise provided the indication is positive and definite.

In this case, it is held that a dying declaration can be made by the declarant even verbally. Reducing the dying declaration to writing is not mandatory. The certificate by Doctor as to mental fitness of the deceased is not necessary because the certificate by Doctor is only a rule of caution. Voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise also.

40. In Raju Dewada Vs. State of Maharashra, A.I.R 2016, Supreme Court 3209, It is held that mere absence of certificate of Doctor would not render the Dying Declaration unreliable particularly when the Doctor was not present in the Hospital at the relevant time.

41. Considering the principles laid down in the above decisions, this Court finds that at the first instance deceased had made dying declaration to her father informant P.W 1 and thereafter to her mother P.W 2 and the I.O. P.W-8 Ashok Singh Yadav and thereafter to the Nayab Tehsildar P.W. 3. In all these dying declarations, the whole story regarding rape and role of the accused persons is intact and without any infirmity which also finds support from the medical evidence which confirms presence of spermatozoa in her vaginal smear and on the clothes of the accused - Pintu and Anoop Yadav.

42. In Narendra Kumar Vs. State of N.C.T of Delhi, A.I.R 2016, Supreme Court 150, it is held that where the dying declaration recorded under Section 32 of Indian Evidence Act, did not contain signature or thumb impression of the deceased and alleged to be in violation of the guide lines issued by the Delhi High Court, it has been held that defect in following guideline is of trivial in nature. The dying declaration otherwise proved by ample evidence can not be rejected.

43. P.W 7 - Dr. Krishna Chandra Rai, had examined the deceased before recording her dying declaration by P.W. 3 - Nayab Tehsildar and has deposed that on medical check-up of the deceased, before writing the statement she was fully conscious. She was fully conscious during the recording of the statement. He had written both the certificates in his own handwriting and signed on it and put the Government Seal. He has proved his signature and seal and mode of writing of the dying declaration. He deposed that he has given certificate at the top of the statement and also at the bottom of the statement. The certificates given by this Doctor witness has been exhibited as Ex. A-27 and Ex. A-28 respectively.

In this case, the Doctor has given certificate at 12:00 O' clock that the patient is fully conscious and is in a position to give her statement. After recording the statement the concerned Doctor has again given certificate at 12:10 p.m. that during the statement of the patient, she was in full consciousness. Therefore, so far as the dying declaration regarding the commission of crime under Section 376 (2) (d) I.P.C is concerned, it is proved from the dying declaration statement and from the statement of the informant P.W. 1 which is also admissible under Section 6 and Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act. The statement of mother P.W 2 and I.O. P.W-8 and also from the report of Forensic Laboratory, that sperms were found on the underwear and half lower of the accused persons and sperms in the vaginal smear of the deceased.

44. The question that arises is regarding part of the dying declaration made by the deceased regarding her being burnt. According to the prosecution, the accused persons ran away after committing the crime of rape. The deceased was sobbing at her house and when her father informant P.W 1 reached his house and asked the reason of sobbing, she narrated the story regarding the gang rape and thereafter P.W-1 left the house for searching the accused persons, after few moment he saw smoke rising from his house. He returned, he found that the deceased had put herself on fire. It is pertinent to mention here that the deceased suffered hundred percent burn injury when she was admitted in District Hospital, Ballia, P.W-4 - Dr. R.N. Upadhyaya, visited her in emergency room, thereafter, she was laid at Bed No. 14 of the Surgical Ward and treatment was started. He had questioned the deceased on 08.04.2011, in response she said that she has been raped for which she was sent for medical examination at the Women's Hospital, Ballia.

45. From the above statement of this witness it has been established that even having suffered hundred percent burn injury, the deceased was able to speak and narrate the whole story of the incident, which happened with her. Therefore, it cannot be said that on 08.04.2011, she was unable to give her statement before the concerned Magistrate. From the evidence of this witness, it is also established in favour of the accused persons that they had not set her on fire. They have only raped the deceased. It is also noteworthy that from the evidence that it is not established that the accused persons had come with kerosene oil. They were not aware that where the kerosene oil was kept in the house of the informant, therefore, it cannot be said that after commission of rape all the three persons entered the house, they searched for the kerosene oil and after finding it they poured the kerosene oil upon the deceased and that they were also having match box, or obtained it from her house to put the deceased on fire. From the above facts and circumstances of the case, it is again proved that the accused-appellants have not committed murder by pouring kerosene oil upon the deceased and setting her on fire.

46. Though, this witness (P.W-4) has admitted this fact in his cross-examination that patient suffering hundred percent burnt generally is not able to understand anything, but this witness has refused and denied the suggestion from the accused persons that he has wrongly written on the dying declaration of the deceased being conscious to give statement. This witness in cross-examination has deposed that though the deceased was restless when she came to the hospital, but he has not found that she was unconscious. Being an unconscious patient and being a restless patient both are quite different stage of physical and mental status of a person.

47. From the statement of P.W. 8 - I.O. Ashok Singh Yadav, it is quite clear that deceased was able to give statement even on 08 April, 2011. After recording the statement of the informant and his wife Smt. Sobra Begum, he recorded the statement of the deceased, who was admitted in District Hospital, Ballia on Bed no. 14 of ward no. 8 and made statement part of the case diary. According to him the victim in her statement stated that when she was inside of her house, Israr @ Mintu called her for opening the door, after hearing his voice she recognized him and opened the door. Immediately thereafter Pintu Yadav and Anoop Yadav came inside and Israr @ Mintu closed the main door and started monitoring. These two accused persons after locking the door from inside raped the victim alternatively. The statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C given by the deceased before her death to the I.O of the case, is also a dying declaration. In this statement the deceased has not said that the accused persons had also put her on fire, but said that they had only raped her. The statement given by the injured to the I.O, statement by her to her father informant P.W 1 and the mother P.W-2 and the version of Tehrir Ex. K-1 will be taken as dying declaration. Though the statement of any witness recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C is not a substantive piece of evidence, but if the injured person dies after giving the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C, such statement shall be considered as dying declaration under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act. In case, the person survives, it would be only a corroborative piece of evidence under Section 157 of the Indian Evidence Act.

48. In Gulab Singh Vs. State of U.P. (2003) 47 A.C.C 161 Division Bench of Allahabad High Court, upon noting the fact that the victim lodged an F.I.R and the I.O.

of the case recorded his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C before his death. The victim and witnesses recognized the accused persons in the night. The accused was the grandson of the deceased, dying declaration was corroborated by ocular witnesses; the Investigating Officer and Constable recorded his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C which was found worthy to be relied on as dying declaration.

In the facts of the present case, recording the statement of the injured under Section 161 Cr.P.C is almost similar to the above cited case except the other facts of the case. In Gulab (supra) the deceased had also lodged an F.I.R, but in the present case on the narration of the story by the deceased, her father has lodged the F.I.R, and the I.O. of the case has recorded the statement of the deceased before her death, which is admissible in evidence as dying declaration under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act. This witness has also deposed that the deceased had also given statement that before leaving the house the accused persons had threatened that if she will come out they will kill her but after that they threw kerosene oil on her body, which was kept in the house with the intention of killing her and applied match stick which was kept next to her and burnt her and ran away after closing the door.

49. The deceased has given similar statement to P.W 3. Bhandari Prasad, Nayab Tehsildar. According to the Court, the part of the statement regarding immolation of the deceased by accused persons by pouring by kerosene oil and putting her on fire is doubtful and does not find support from the averment of the F.I.R and the statement of informant P.W 1, thus, it can be said and concluded that when the victim met her mother, to enhance the gravity of the offence, deceased has given statement regarding Section 302 I.P.C against the accused persons, which appears doubtful.

50. Now the question arises as to whether part of the statement of dying declaration regarding commission of gang rape is admissible and reliable or not, and if the Court finds that part of the statement of dying declaration is incorrect then whether the whole dying declaration can be thrown away and can be said to be unreliable. This aspect has been dealt with by the lower court. It is true that the death of the deceased is not accidental. In this context, the lower court has discussed several rulings, including, Shakuntala Devi Vs. State of Haryana 2008, Dand Nirnaya Sangrah 741, wherein it is held that neither there is rule of law nor a rule of wisdom that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon without confirmation.

51. The learned trial court has discussed the position that when part of the dying declaration is proved and other part is doubtful then what would be the correct position of law. In this regard, the learned trial court has referred Godhu Vs. State of Rajasthan, A.I.R 1974 S.C. 2188, wherein it is held that if a part of the dying declaration is true and one part is false in such a situation if only part of the truth is corroborated by an another evidence, such part of truthful dying declaration can be relied on for conviction.

52. In George Kutty Vs. State of Kerala, 1992 Cri.L.J. 1663, it is held that if part of dying declaration is corroborated by an another evidence, then the same shall not be dispensed with merely on the ground that one part of the dying declaration is false.

The dying declaration of the deceased regarding gang rape by the accused persons has been reiterated in her statement to her parents, I.O. or Magistrate and this fact is duly corroborated by the medical evidence and the report of Forensic Science Laboratory.

53 . P.W 5 - Dr. Manju Singh, has also given evidence that there is possibility of rape. Sperm was found in the vaginal smear of the deceased and on the underwear of the accused - Pintu Yadav and half lower of the accused - Anoop Yadav. Therefore, this part of her statement, which is supported and backed by medical evidence, forensic laboratory report and the evidence of other oral and documentary evidence is acceptable.

54. So far as her evidence regarding burning of the deceased by accused persons is concerned, that part of her statement does not find support from any other evidence, accordingly, that part of the dying declaration has to be discarded being doubtful.

55. P.W 1 has given statement that when he reached at the house, he found his daughter alive and sobbing and after knowing the names of the accused persons, he went to search them, then victim set herself on fire. Therefore, the learned trial court has rightly acquitted the accused persons under the charge of Section 302 I.P.C. Similarly, as per the evidence, the accused persons put pillow on the mouth of the victim at the time of rape, but it was not to commit murder, rather it was for the purpose to prevent the victim from screaming and making hue and cry, therefore, the learned trial court has rightly acquitted the accused persons from the charge under Section 307 I.P.C.

56. So far as the charge under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C is concerned, before the amendment of Section 376 I.P.C, vide Criminal Law Amendment Act, 2013, Section 9 with effect from 03.02.2013, "gang rape' was described in Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C, providing minimum ten years' rigorous imprisonment, which may extend for life and shall also be liable to fine, was provided.

In this regard explanation no. 1 is relevant, which reads as under:-

Where a woman is raped by one or more in a group of persons acting in furtherance of their common intention, each of the person shall be deemed to have committed gang rape within the meaning of this Sub Section.

From perusal of the explanation, it is crystal clear that there is no requirement of law to commit rape physically by all persons of the group, acting in furtherance of their common intention. In the present case, it is established from the oral, documentary and medical evidence that accused - Pawan and Pintu committed rape with the deceased and accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu facilitated them, got the door of the victim opened and after entrance of the two accused persons in the house he bolted the door from the outside of the house and monitored the people to facilitate the commission of gang rape, therefore, the act of gang rape committed in furtherance of common intention by all three accused persons is covered under the definition of gang rape and even the accused Israr Ahmad @ Mintu shall be held guilty of gang rape.

57. In the case of Raja Vs. State of Karnataka, (2016) 10 S.C.C 506; State of U.P. Vs. Chhotey Lal, A.I.R 2011 S.C 697 and Santosh Moolya Vs. State of Karnataka, (2010) 5 S.C.C 445, the Supreme Court held that :-

"In a case of rape, testimony of prosecutrix stands at par with that of an injured witness. It is really not necessary to insist of corroboration if the evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence and appears to be credible. An accused can be convicted on the basis of sole testimony of the prosecutrix without any further corroboration provided the evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence and appears to be natural and truthful. Woman or girl raped is not an accomplice and to insist for corroboration of the testimony amounts to insult to womanhood. On principle the evidence of victim of sexual assault stands at par with evidence of an injured witness just as a witness who has sustained an injury (which is not shown or believed to be self-inflicted) is the best witness in the sense that he is least likely to exculpate the real offender. The evidence of a victim of a sex-offence is entitled to great weight, absence of corroboration notwithstanding. Corroboration in the form of eye-witness account of an independent witness may often be forthcoming in physical assault cases but such evidence cannot be expected in sex offences having regard to the every nature of the offence. It would therefore be adding insult to injury to insist on corroboration drawing inspiration from rules devised by the courts in the western world. If the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity and the "probabilities factor" does not render it unworthy of credence as a general rule, there is no reason to insist on corroboration except from the medical evidence where having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming subject to this qualification that corroboration can be insisted upon when a woman having attained majority is found in a compromising position and there is a likelihood of her having leveled such an accusation on account of the instinct of self-preservation or when the probability factor is found to be out of tune. "

58. In the present case there is no need to apply the provisions of Section 114-A, which provides presumption of absence of consent because accused persons have not taken the plea that it was a consensual cohabitation but have denied the charges. From the evidence on record it has been fully proved that the accused appellants have committed gang rape with the deceased against her will before her death. In Mohd. Iqbal & Anr. Vs. State of Jharkhand, A.I.R 2013 SC 3077, Supreme Court held that in a case of gang rape under Section 376 (2) (g) of the I.P.C, consent of victim of gang rape cannot be presumed but its absence shall be presumed.

59. In India the Maxim Falsus in Uno Falsus in Omni Bus does not apply, meaning thereby, if part of the evidence of a witness is incorrect and part of the evidence is correct then the whole evidence cannot be thrown out and the correct part of evidence shall be taken into account. Since the dying declaration statement of the deceased has been considered as evidence under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act and her statement to her father (informant) P.W 1 under Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act has also been considered by lower court, therefore, applying this principle, the learned trial court has concluded that part of the statement of the victim-deceased regarding the crime of gang rape is correct and acceptable, but the other part of her evidence regarding causing burn injury by pouring kerosene oil by the accused persons is incorrect.

60. This Court is in-conformity with the conclusion of learned trial court and affirms the finding that the accused-appellants had not burnt the deceased after the incident of gang rape, because when the informant (father) P.W. 1 came to his home, he found his daughter alive and sobbing, she narrated the whole story that the accused persons committed the offence under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C, and when P.W-1 went to search the accused persons, after some time she poured kerosene oil and set herself on fire, later she succumbed to the injury during the course of treatment in hospital. Therefore, the allegations regarding Section 302 I.P.C has not been proved. This Court has already discussed this aspect and also the aspect regarding Section 307 I.P.C.

61 . The Investigating Officer had not submitted charge-sheet under Section 306 I.P.C, considering that the deceased has committed suicide on abatement by the accused persons, neither the accused persons have been convicted under the aforesaid Section nor the State has preferred any appeal regarding the acquittal of the accused-appellants under Sections 307 & 302 I.P.C.

This Court is of the opinion, that it is a case of self-immolation, because in the case of burning by others, the person tries his best to escape, resist and save himself unless he is not unconscious or helpless by any means. But if he is committing suicide by self-immolation, it is probable that hundred percent burn may occur, as in this case. Therefore, this Court is confined to the conviction and sentencing order passed under Section 376 (2) (g) I.P.C challenged by the accused appellants.

62. From the above discussions, it is fully established that accused persons committed gang rape and they were rightly convicted and sentenced by the learned trial court. The accused persons committed rape with the victim-deceased very cleverly, cunningly and to avoid public shame the victim-deceased committed suicide. Only for a momentary bliss the accused persons ruined the life of deceased and forced herself to commit suicide.

In Moti Lal (supra), the Supreme Court citing Para 12 of the Judgment in Dinesh Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2006) 3 SCC, 771, has expressed an opinion about the quantum of punishment that would be appropriate in the case of rape. The relevant part is extracted :-

"The measure of punishment in a case of rape cannot depend upon the social status of the victim or the accused. It must depend upon the conduct of the accused, the state and age of the sexually assaulted female and the gravity of the criminal act. Crimes of violence upon women need to be severely dealt with. The socio-economic status, religion, race, caste or creed of the accused or the victim are irrelevant considerations in sentencing policy. Protection of society and deterring the criminal is the avowed object of law and that is required to be achieved by imposing an appropriate sentence. The sentencing Courts are expected to consider all relevant facts and circumstances bearing on the question of sentence and proceed to impose a sentence commensurate with the gravity of the offence. Courts must hear the loud cry for justice by the society in cases of the heinous crime of rape on innocent helpless girls of tender years, married women and respond by imposition of proper sentence. Public abhorrence of the crime needs reflection through imposition of appropriate sentence by the Court. There are no extenuating or mitigating circumstances available on the record which may justify imposition of any sentence less than the prescribed minimum..... To show mercy in the case of such a heinous crime would be a travesty of justice and the plea for leniency is wholly misplaced."

Therefore, the sentence of life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.50,000/- imposed on each accused by the learned Trial Court can not be said to be excessive or penal.

Thus, the appeals fail and are liable to be dismissed accordingly.

All the aforesaid Criminal Appeals Nos. 4875 of 2014 - Ishrar Ahmad Alias Mintu Vs. State of U.P., Criminal Appeal No. 4713 of 2014 - Anoop Yadav vs. State of U.P. and Criminal Appeal No. 1844 of 2015 - Pintu Yadav Vs. State of U.P. are hereby dismissed. The conviction order and sentence awarded by the learned Trial Court, is hereby affirmed.

A certified copy of this order be sent for compliance to the learned Trial Court, as well as, to the concerned Jail Superintendent.

A. Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 302/34-Challenge to-Conviction- the ocular testimony of sole eye witness (P.W. 2) is not reliable and trustworthy-No reliance can also be placed on the evidence of recovery of knife-So there is no reliable and cogent evidence on record to hold the accused guilty-The trial court has failed to appreciate the evidence in proper manner-The trial court has erred in placing reliance on the testimony of the sole eye witness (P.W.2) who is related as well as a chance witness and whose presence at the spot appeared doubtful-The learned trial court has also failed to take into consideration the defence evidence and also ignored the fact that the evidence of recovery of knife is not supported with any forensic report confirming that the recovered knife has been used in the offence. Therefore, The finding of conviction and sentence as recorded by the learned trial court is not sustainable in the eye of law and is liable to be set-aside.(Para 1 to 25)

B. It is well settled principle of law that the testimony of a witness can not be discarded solely on the ground that he is an interested witness or a chance witness. What is required is to make a close scrutiny of the probability and reason for a chance witness being present on the spot. The court must also be cautious in appreciating and accepting the evidence of an interested witness. The evidence of a related and a chance witness requires cautious and close scrutiny to test whether it is reliable.(Para 17)

The appeal is allowed. (E-6)

1. Heard Mr. Amit Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri H.M.B. Sinha, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 28.10.2010 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, (F.T. Court No. 1) Bagpat in Sessions Trial No. 166 of 2007 (State of U.P. Vs. Kala @ Ankit), Case Crime No. 16 of 2007, under section 302/34 IPC, P.S. Baraut, District Bagpat. By the impugned judgment and order the learned trial court has convicted the appellant for offence under section 302/34 IPC and sentenced him to imprisonment for life and a fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in default of payment of fine imprisonment of six months.

NARRATION OF FACTS

3. The complainant Madan Singh gave an application dated 12.1.2007 at P.S. Baraut alleging therein that he is resident of village Luhara, P.S. Chhaprauli, District Bagpat and runs a medical store at his village. His son Badal aged about 18 years was studying in Priya Bharati School Baraut in class 12. He also used to sit at the medical store in morning and evening. On 2.1.2007 at about 7:00 P.M. his son was in the shop. Manish came to purchase some medicine. When his son asked for payment he refused to pay but his son took the price of the medicine. Manish left extending death threat. After this Manish once committed marpit for which he made a complaint to the family of Manish. On 12.1.2007, his son, Badal had come to Baraut to attend his college. At about 12:30 noon Manish and his friend Kala caught his son near C field Nehru Road and Kala inflicted knife blows on his head, neck and other parts of the body with intention to cause death. His son fell down on the spot. Deepak and Kripal who were with his son saw the incident and tried to catch them but, wielding the knife, the accused ran away towards the C-field. Kripal, Deepak and other boys Ankit, Puneet and Mohit took Badal to Akshaya Nursing Home but he died on the way. The complainant was at his medical store. Kripal Singh came there and informed him about the incident. The dead body of his son is kept in the nursing home.

4. A chik report no. 14 of 2007, under section 302 IPC, was registered against Manish and Kala at P.S. Baraut at 14:00 hours. S.I. Rajvir Singh (P.W. 5) was entrusted with the investigation of the case. He recorded the statement of complainant, thereafter went to Akshaya Nursing Home and conducted the inquest proceeding on the dead body, prepared the related papers and sent the body for postmortem examination. Thereafter, he recorded the statements of other witnesses and went to the place of occurrence and at the indication of Deepak and Kripal inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan, collected blood stained and plain concrete of the road and prepared its memo. A register of the deceased was also recovered from the place of occurrence. The Investigating Officer took it into his possession and prepared its memo. From the (pant) jeans of the deceased one currency note of Rs. 20/-, two currency notes of Rs. 10/- and one currency note of Rs. 5/-, one match box and one ball pen was also recovered during inquest proceeding. The I.O. prepared its memo. He also prepared the site plan of Akshaya Nursing Home where the dead body of the deceased was kept. On 14.1.2007 on the information of the informer accused Kala was arrested. On interrogation he confessed his crime and also disclosed that he can get the weapon used in the crime recovered. Memo of interrogation was prepared by the I.O. Thereafter, the police party along with the accused came at the C field from where at the pointing out of the accused Kala one knife was recovered from the bushes at 8:00 hours. The I.O. sealed the knife and prepared its memo. Further investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I. Nathi Ram Panwar (P.W. 6). He took up the investigation on 26.01.2007. Recorded the statements of other witnesses and the accused Manish. Prepared the site plan of the place of recovery of knife and after completion of the investigation submitted charge-sheet against accused Kala and Manish.

5. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bagpat committed the case to the Court of Session. Co-accused Manish was declared juvenile and his case was forwarded to Juvenile Justice Board, Meerut. The trial court framed charge under section 302/34 IPC against appellant-accused Kala. The accused denied the charge and claimed for trial. In oral evidence the prosecution examined seven witnesses while in documentary evidence twenty papers Ext. Ka. 1 to Ka. 20 were produced. The incriminating circumstances against the accused were put to him under section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused denied the whole prosecution case. He has also stated that the witnesses have deposed against him due to enmity and a false case has been lodged. In defence, one witness Mohit Tomar (D.W. 1) was examined. The learned trial court after hearing the arguments, by the impugned judgment and order held the appellant-accused guilty for the offence under section 302/34 IPC and sentenced him as above.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

7. Madan Singh (P.W. 1) is the informant. In his examination-in-chief the witness has stated that his son Badal aged about 18 years was a student of class 12 of Priya Bharati School Baraut. He also used to sit at the shop of complainant in the morning and evening. On 2.1.2007 at about 7:00 p.m. his son was sitting at the shop. Manish came there to purchase some articles. His son after giving articles asked for payment. Manish refused to make payment but his son took the payment. On this Manish threatened him with death and went back from there. Thereafter, Manish once committed marpit with his son. He (the witness) made a complaint of this to the family of Manish. The witness has stated that the incident is of 12.1.2007 at 12:30 p.m. His son had gone to school at Baraut. Manish and Kala caught his son near C field of Jain College Nehru Road. Manish caught hold his son and Kala inflicted knife blows on his son's head, neck and other parts of the body. His son fell down. The incident was witnessed by Deepak, Kripal and Dharmendra and they tried to catch the accused. The accused wielding knife escaped towards C field. Kripal, Deepak, Ankit, Puneet and Mohit took his son to Akshaya Nursing Home, Baraut but he died on the way. Deepak, Kripal and Dharmendra informed him at Vardhman medical store, Baraut, then he came at the nursing home and found that his son was dead. The witness has further stated that he lodged the report of the incident scribed by his brother Manoj Saroha. The witness has proved it as Ext.Ka.1. The witness has further stated that his village and village of the accused Kala are adjacent, hence, he knows Kala very well. Manish and Kala are friends.

8. Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) is the eye witness. In his examination-in-chief the witness has stated that the incident is of 12.1.2007 at 12:30 P.M. He along with Kripal and Badal were going on Nehru Road and reached near C-field of Jain College. At that time, accused Kala and Manish came there. Manish caught hold Badal and Kala inflicted knife blows on the neck and head etc. with intention to kill Badal causing serious injuries to Badal. Kala continued stabbing Badal till he fell down. Badal fell down on the ground. They tried to catch Kala and Manish and to save Badal but Kala wielded knife towards them and escaped towards C-field. Ankit, Puneet and Mohit also came on the spot. They took Badal to Akshaya Nursing Home on a richshaw. Badal died due to the injuries. Witness has further stated that in the year 2006 when he was studying at Baraut, he used to go to the house of her aunt (Bua) at village Sherpur Luhara, because of this he knows the accused persons. They used to come by bus with him and they also use to meet at Baraut. He, Kripal and Dharmendra informed Madan Singh, the father of Badal, at his Vardhman Medical Store. On receiving information, Madan Singh came to nursing home and thereafter went to the police station to lodge the FIR.

9. Constable Sahab Singh, P.W. 4 is the chik and G.D. writer. The witness has stated that on 12.1.2007 on the written information of Madan Singh he prepared chik no. 14 and registered case crime no. 16/07, under section 302 IPC and made G.D. entry of it at serial no. 30 at 14:00 hours. The witness has proved chik FIR and copy of G.D. as Ext.Ka-3 and Ext.Ka-4. The witness has further stated that on 14.1.2007 on the basis of recovery memo he prepared chik no. 16 case crime no. 18/07, under section 4/25 Arms Act and made the G.D. entry of it at serial no. 36 at 21:15 hours. Witness has proved the chik and copy of the G.D. as Ext.Ka-5 and Ext.Ka-6.

10. S.I. Rajvir Singh, P.W. 5 is the Investigating Officer. The witness has stated that on 12.1.2007 after registration of the case the investigation was entrusted to him. He recorded the statements of complainant and other witnesses. Thereafter, he proceeded for Akshaya Nursing Home and conducted the inquest proceeding of deceased Badal. His body was in the general ward of the Nursing Home. The witness has proved inquest report and related papers as Ext.Ka-7 to Ext.Ka-12. The witness has further stated that he recorded the statements of witnesses present at Akshaya Nursing Home, thereafter, he proceeded to the place of occurrence and on the pointing out of witnesses inspected it and prepared the site plan. He also collected blood stained and plain concrete from the road and one register which was lying at the place of occurrence and prepared its memo. The witness has proved the aforesaid documents as Ext.Ka-13 to Ext.Ka-15. The witness has further stated that during inquest proceeding he recovered one currency note of Rs. 20/-, two currency note of Rs. 10/- and one currency note of Rs. 5/- and one match box and one ball pen from the pocket of the deceased and prepared its memo as Ext.Ka-16. He also prepared the site plan (Ext.Ka-17) of Akshaya Nursing Home where the dead body of the deceased was lying. He recorded the statements of witnesses of inquest proceeding. On 14.1.2007 he arrested accused Kala @

Ankit near Puliya of Malakpur drain and interrogated him. The accused confessed his crime and disclosed that the knife used in the murder has been concealed by him in the bushes of C-field. On the aforesaid disclosure statement he along with witnesses Dayanand Malik and Pramod Kumar and accused came there and at the pointing out of the accused recovered one knife from the bushes of C-field at about 8:00 P.M. He sealed it and prepared its memo as Ext.Ka18. The witness has also proved the recovered knife, clothes and other articles found from the body, blood stained and plain concrete as material Ext.Ka1 to Ext.Ka-14. The witness has also proved the articles recovered from the dead body at the time of inquest proceeding and the register taken into possession from the place of occurrence as material Ext.Ka.17 to Ext.Ka-23.

11. S.I. Nathi Ram Panwar, P.W. 6 is the second Investigating Officer. The witness has stated that further investigation of this case was handed over to him on 26.1.2007. He recorded the statements of witnesses on different dates, visited the place of occurrence from where knife was recovered and prepared its site plan (Ext.Ka-19). After the completion of the investigation, submitted charge-sheet against accused Kala (Ext.Ka-20).

He recorded the statements of witnesses and accused. He also visited the place of incident at the pointing out of the complainant S.I. Rajvir Singh and prepared the site plan (Ext.Ka-21) and after the completion of the investigation submitted charge-sheet (Ext.Ka-22).

DEFENCE EVIDENCE

13. One defence witness Mohit Tomar (D.W.1) has also been examined. The witness has stated that he knows Badal who was his class-mate. The incident is of 3 and a half years before. He along with his friends Puneet, Malik and Ankit Tomar were returning from Baraut after tuition. When they reached near C-field of Jain College seven-eight boys were assaulting Badal holding knives in their hands. It was 2-2:30 p.m. The boys who were assaulting Badal escaped. He and Puneet, Malik and Ankit Tomar took Badal to Akshaya Nursing Home in injured condition. Except them no other person was present there. Thereafter his friend Puneet informed the father of Badal about the incident on the telephone. The father of Badal arrived at the hospital at 3-3:30 p.m. Before the arrival of the father of the deceased at the hospital no other relative or family member of Badal reached the hospital. Neither Deepak Kumar of village Basi nor any other person of the village of the deceased was present at the place of occurrence or at the hospital. The witness after looking at the accused Kala @ Ankit in court stated that this boy was not present with the boys who assaulted Badal.

SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF APPELLANT

14. Learned counsel for the appellant contended that the sole eye witness Deepak Kumar, P.W. 2 is a close relation of the deceased and resident of other village, so he is related as well as chance witness. The complainant has not taken his name as a person who informed him about the incident. In the FIR the complainant has only taken the name of Kripal as the person who gave him information. Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) has not suffered any injury nor he made any effort to save Badal which makes his presence on the spot highly doubtful. It is also contended that this witness has stated that knife was used to stab but the deceased has not suffered any stab wound. All his injuries are incised wound, so the manner of assault as stated by this witness does not stand corroborated with the medical evidence. It is further contended that the witness has also stated that Ankit, Mohit and Puneet also reached on the spot and they took Badal to Akshaya Nursing Home in a rickshaw. In such a situation, considering the number and nature of the injuries on the body of the deceased, it was natural that the clothes of witnesses should have blood stains, but it was not so. It is also contended that the presence of defence witness Mohit Tomar (D.W. 1) has been admitted by P.W. 2. Mohit Tomar (D.W. 1) has denied that Deepak Kumar or any other relative or family member of the deceased was present at the time of occurrence or was at the hospital. So the oral statement of the sole eye witness is not trustworthy. The learned trial court has committed illegality in relying on the sole testimony of this eye witness and on its basis held the appellant accused guilty. Learned counsel further contended that the recovery of knife used in the offence as alleged by the prosecution is also not trustworthy and reliable. No public witness of this recovery has been produced and in this regard there is only the statement of I.O. S.I. Rajvir Singh, P.W. 5. Both the Investigating Officers have also admitted that knife was not sent for forensic examination. There is no evidence on record to link the alleged recovered knife with the offence. The learned trial court has therefore erred in placing reliance on the evidence of recovery of knife. It is further contended that the complainant Madan Singh (P.W. 1) in his cross-examination has admitted that his son was surrounded and assaulted by 4-5 boys and at that time he was going with Mohit and Puneet, so Madan Singh (P.W. 1) has also admitted the presence of defence witness Mohit Tomar (D.W.1) at the time of occurrence. The learned trial court has not taken into consideration the statement of D.W. 1 Mohit Tomar. The learned trial court has not analysed the oral testimony of Mohit Tomar (D.W. 1) and has given no reason to disbelieve him. Lastly it is contended that the trial court has committed grave error in recording the finding that the appellant-accused is guilty. The finding of the trial court is illegal and against the evidence on record.

SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF STATE

15. Per contra; learned A.G.A. contended that complainant Madan Singh (P.W. 1) from his statement has proved the motive of the incident. Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) is an eye witness. Although he is related with the deceased and also resident of other village but he has explained the circumstances of his presence on the spot. He has stated that on the day of incident he came to take his Bua (mother of the deceased) from village Luhara. He reached Baraut by train at 12:00 noon. He contacted the deceased on telephone. The deceased reached the railway station from where both were going towards C-field when the incident occurred. It is further contended that the witness has stated that the deceased was assaulted with knife by appellant-accused. The medical evidence fully corroborates the ocular version. According to postmortem report the deceased has suffered several incised wounds on his body resulting in his death. There is no discrepancy in respect of time of incident. Place of occurrence is also established. The testimony of the sole eye witness Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) is consistent. There is no major discrepancy in it. There was no reason to disbelieve him. The learned trial court has rightly placed reliance on his statement. It is further contended that blood stained knife used in the offence has been recovered on the pointing out of the appellant-accused. The aforesaid recovery has been proved by S.I. Rajvir Singh (P.W. 5) It is mere lapse on the part of the I.O. that he has not sent it for forensic examination but the recovery is established and it further supports the ocular version. Learned A.G.A. further contended that the testimony of an eye witness can not be discarded solely on the ground that he is interested or chance witness. If his testimony is otherwise reliable and trustworthy and there is no major discrepancy in it, it can be safely relied on and conviction can be based on it. So there is no illegality in the finding of the trial court that the appellant-accused is guilty of offence of murder.

ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE

16. Out of two public witnesses produced by the prosecution, Madan Singh (P.W. 1), the complainant, is not an eye witness. He has admitted in his cross-examination that he got the information at his shop/medical store and on receiving the information he arrived at Akshaya Nursing Home where the dead body of his son was kept. He was informed about the incident by Kripal and Deepak. He has not witnessed the incident.

17. The prosecution has relied on the sole eye witness account rendered by Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2).. In his examination-in-chief P.W. 2 has said that on 12.1.2007, at about 12:30 p.m., he, Kripal and Badal were going on Nehru Road and when they reached near C-field of Jain College, the accused Kala and Manish came there. Manish caught hold Badal and Kala @ Ankit inflicted knife blows on Badal causing him serious injuries and he fell down. The witness has also stated that Ankit, Puneet and Mohit also came on the spot and they all took Badal to Akshaya Nursing Home on a rickshaw. Admittedly this witness is a close relative of the deceased being the cousin (son of maternal uncle) of the deceased Badal. This witness is also a chance witness. He is a resident of village Bassi, P.S. Khekara while the incident has occurred at Baraut town. It is well settled principle of law that the testimony of a witness can not be discarded solely on the ground that he is an interested witness or a chance witness. What is required is to make a close scrutiny of the probability and reason for a chance witness being present on the spot. The court must also be cautious in appreciating and accepting the evidence of an interested witness. The evidence of a related and a chance witness requires cautious and close scrutiny to test whether it is reliable. Regarding his presence, P.W. 2 has said that on the day of the incident he had come to take his Bua from village Lohara. He reached Baraut by train at 12:00 O'clock. He was alone. Badal met him at the station and they went to Nehru Road from the station. The fact that on the day of incident witness Deepak Kumar had come to Baraut by train to take his Bua, has been disclosed for the first time in the court. In the statement recorded by the I.O. under section 161 Cr.P.C., there is no such statement. From the statement of Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) it is also not clear that under what circumstances he along with Badal were going to Nehru Road near C-field. In the FIR, the name of Deepak (P.W. 2) has not been taken by Madan Singh

(P.W. 1) as a person who has come to his shop to give information of the incident. He has taken only the name of Kripal. P.W. 1 was confronted with this information.

The witness has assigned the role of grasping Badal to co-accused Manish and role of inflicting the knife blows to the appellant-accused Kala @ Ankit. If the statement of Deepak (P.W. 2) that Manish caught hold Badal and Kala @ Ankit inflicted knife blows on his body is to be believed then in such a situation there is no possibility of injuries on the back side of the deceased but in the autopsy report injury nos. 6, 7 and 8 are on the back side of the body. Injury no. 6 is on the back of neck, injury no. 7 is on scapular area while injury no. 8 is on the back. It also appears from the autopsy report that deceased has resisted and tried to save himself from both his hands. He has received injuries on his hands. According to Dr. Krishna Kumar (P.W. 3), there was incised fracture in the bone of the left palm and major blood vessels were cut. Injury no. 9 and 10 which are multiple incised wounds, 4 in numbers and 7 in numbers respectively are also on both the hands. The nature of injuries as mentioned in the autopsy report reflects that the deceased was surrounded and then assaulted with knife. The size of the injuries also differs. The largest is 11 x 4 cm while the smallest is 2 x 0.5 cm. The number and nature of injuries and its size reflects that after surrounding the deceased more than one person have inflicted the knife blows from different directions. The manner of assault as described by Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) is not in consonance with the autopsy report. So his oral statement does not stand corroborated by the medical evidence.

18. In the FIR Deepak and Kripal are named as eye witnesses. Madan Singh (P.W. 1) has also added the name of Dharmendra as an eye witness in his statement. All the three Deepak, Kripal and Dharmendra are close relations of the complainant. Kripal is the real uncle of complainant and Dharmendra is son of Kripal while Deepak is nephew of the wife of the complainant. So according to prosecution version at the time of incident three close relations of Badal were also present while accused were only two in number. There is no satisfactory explanation that how the accused two in number over powered Badal. It is also not established from the evidence that they made any serious efforts to save Badal. Further in the aforesaid context if the testimony of Deepak (P.W. 2) is to scrutinized then according to his statement the co-accused Manish was catching hold Badal and actually one of the accused the appellant was involved in inflicting knife blows. In such a situation absence of an effort on the part of the three companions of Badal raises serious doubts as regards their presence on the spot.

Deepak (P.W. 2) is a resident of village Bassi, P.S. Khekara while Kripal and Dharmendra are residents of village Luhara, P.S. Chhaprauli. The incident has occurred at Baraut town. According to prosecution, the deceased was a student of class 12 at Priya Bharati School, Baraut and on the date of occurrence he had gone to attend his school. So the presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence is unnatural being resident of distant places. The reason for presence of Kripal and Dharmendra at the place of occurrence is unexplained. All the aforesaid facts and circumstances clearly establishes that the name of close relations as eye witnesses in the FIR is a result of deliberation and it is an after thought. There is no good reason for their presence on the spot at the time of occurrence.

19. There are other serious infirmities in the oral testimony of sole eye witness Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2). In his examination-in-chief the witness has stated that on 12.1.2007 at 12:30 p.m. he, (the witness) Kripal and Badal were going on Nehru Road and when they reached near C-field of Jain College the incident occurred. While in his cross-examination the witness has said that he alone reached Baraut by train and Badal met him at the station and they went to Nehru Road from the station. Further in the cross-examination the witness has stated that when they were going then Kripal was coming towards them. This statement is also contradictory to his statement made during examination-in-chief that he, Kripal and Badal were going to Nehru Road when this incident occurred.

20. The presence of defence witness Mohit Tomer (D.W. 1) has been admitted by the complainant Madan Singh (P.W. 1) as well as Deepak (P.W. 2) and the defence witness Mohit Tomer (D.W. 1) has completely denied the prosecution case. He has also denied that Deepak or any other relative or family member of the deceased was present at the time of occurrence or at the hospital. The witness has also stated that Badal was taken to Akshaya Nursing Home by him, Ankit and Puneet.

From the statements of prosecution witnesses also it is established that the deceased was taken on a rickshaw to Akshaya Nursing Home. To establish the presence of the witness Deepak (P.W. 2) at the time of incident the document of admission of the deceased Badal in Akshaya Nursing Home was very relevant but the I.O. has not collected it and this material documentary evidence appears to be intentionally concealed.

21. Applying the test as prescribed for an interested and chance witness, the testimony of the sole eye witness Deepak (P.W. 2) is not confidence inspiring and trustworthy. His presence on the spot is highly doubtful.

22. Madan Singh, complainant (P.W. 1) in his cross-examination has given the following statement:

"करीब बारह एक बजे मेरा लड़का बादल अपने साथी मोहित पुनीत आदि के साथ नेहरू रोड पर जा रहा था। यह सही है कि वहां मेरे लड़के को चार पांच लड़कों ने पकड़ लिया व घेर लिया और उनमे से एक ने कोली भर ली और एक ने चाकू मार दिया।"

The aforesaid statement runs contrary to the prosecution case as alleged in the FIR and the oral testimony of sole eye witness Deepak (P.W. 2).

23. The prosecution has also relied on the evidence of recovery of knife. S.I. Rajvir Singh (P.W. 5), who has made the recovery, has stated that on 14.1.2007 he arrested accused Kala @ Ankit and in presence of the witnesses Dayanand Malik and Pramod Kumar interrogated the accused. The accused confessed his crime and made disclosure statement. A memo of disclosure statement was prepared and got signed. Thereafter, the knife was recovered at the pointing out of accused from bushes of C-field Nehru Road at about 8:00 O'clock. Except the oral statement of S.I. Rajvir Singh (P.W. 5), there is no other evidence in support. No public witness of this recovery has been produced in the court. The knife has also not been sent for forensic examination. Both the Investigating Officers Rajvir Singh (P.W. 5) and S.I. Nathi Ram (P.W. 6) have accepted this in their cross-examination. The place of recovery is an open place accessible to public at large without any hindrance. Considering the aforesaid facts no reliance can be placed on this piece of prosecution evidence.

24. From the analysis of the prosecution evidence it is clear that the ocular testimony of sole eye witness Deepak Kumar (P.W. 2) is not reliable and trustworthy. No reliance can also be placed on the evidence of recovery of knife. So there is no reliable and cogent evidence on record to hold the accused guilty. The trial court has failed to appreciate the evidence in proper manner. The trial court has erred in placing reliance on the testimony of the sole eye witness Deepak Kumar (P.W.2) who is related as well as a chance witness and whose presence at the spot appeared doubtful. The learned trial court has also failed to take into consideration the defence evidence and also ignored the fact that the evidence of recovery of knife is not supported with any forensic report confirming that the recovered knife has been used in the offence. The learned trial court therefore erred in holding that from the prosecution evidence the case stands proved and appellant accused is guilty. The finding of conviction and sentence as recorded by the learned trial court is not sustainable in the eye of law and is liable to be set-aside and the appeal is liable to be allowed.

25. The criminal appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 28.10.2010 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No. 1, Bagpat in S.T. No. 166 of 2007, Case Crime No. 16 of 2007, under section 302 IPC, P.S. Baraut, District Bagpat (State Vs. Kala @ Ankit) is hereby set-aside. The appellant Kala @ Ankit is acquitted from the charge of offence punishable under section 302/34 IPC. He is in jail. He shall be released forthwith subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C. to the satisfaction of trial court, if not wanted in any other case.

26. The order be communicated to all concerned for necessary compliance.

Lower court's record along with the copy of the judgment be transmitted to the trial court immediately

A. Civil Law -Code of Civil Procedure, 1908-Section 115 - Order VI Rule 17 & Order I Rule 10(2)-Declaratory suit-plaintiff-revisionist filed a suit for declaration declaring him the Mahant of one Sant Kabir Math- Relief of permanent injunction was also claimed against defendants from not interfering into the peaceful possession of the plaintiff over the property of the Math and also not to evict the plaintiff-An amendment application under Order 6 Rule 17 was filed by plaintiff in the year 2020 after the suit was being contested by defendant no. 3 for striking off her name from the plaint- The application was contested by defendant no. 3 by filing her objection that property in dispute was entered into the name of her father in whose favour one Jamuna Das had executed the Will. Her father had executed a Will in favour of defendant no. 3 and after the death of her father, name of defendant no. 3 was entered in the revenue records- Against the said order, a revision was preferred before the Additional Commissioner, Gorakhpur who dismissed the revision- The suit filed by the plaintiff relief for declaration as well as injunction has been sought, now at a later stage, the plaintiff cannot get the suit amended to the extent by deleting name of defendant no. 3 on the ground that only declaration as a Mahant has been sought-Hence, The trial court rightly rejected the application filed under Order 6 Rule 17 C.P.C. on the ground that in case the name of defendant no. 3 is deleted from the array of parties, it will give cause to the multiplicity of litigation.(Para 1 to 19)

B. The Sub-rule (2) of Rule 10 of Order 1 C.P.C. clearly provides for the addition of (i) necessary parties and (ii) proper parties. "Necessary parties' are parties, "who ought to have been joined", i.e., parties necessary to the constitution of suit without whom no decree can be passed at all. In order that a party may be considered a necessary party defendant, two conditions must be satisfied; first, that there must be a right to some relief against him in respect of matter involved in the suit. A necessary party is one without whom no decree can be made effectively.(Para 9)

The revision is dismissed. (E-6)

1. This revision under Section 115 of Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter called as "C.P.C.') arises out of order dated 08.01.2021 passed by Civil Judge (Senior Division), Fast Track Court, Gorakhpur in Original Suit No. 400 of 2017, whereby the amendment application moved by the revisionist under Order 6 Rule 17 C.P.C. being Paper No. 25/K2 for striking out the name of defendant no. 3 from array of parties was

2. Facts in nutshell, are that plaintiff-revisionist filed a suit for declaration declaring him the Mahant of one Sant Kabir Math. Relief of permanent injunction was also claimed against defendants from not interfering into the peaceful possession of the plaintiff over the property of the Math and also not to evict the plaintiff. An amendment application under Order 6 Rule 17 was filed by plaintiff in the year 2020 after the suit was being contested by defendant no. 3 for striking off her name from the plaint. The application was contested by defendant no. 3 by filing her objection being Paper No. 28Ga and affidavit 29Ga on the ground that the property in dispute was entered into the name of her father Ram Nagina in whose favour one Jamuna Das had executed the Will. Ram Nagina had executed a Will in favour of defendant no. 3 on 05.01.2002, and after the death of Ram Nagina, name of defendant no. 3 was entered in the revenue records vide order dated 20.03.2007. Against the said order, a revision was preferred before the Additional Commissioner, Gorakhpur who dismissed the revision on 08.04.2013, against which writ petition has been filed before this Court which is pending. According to defendant no. 3, her name is still recorded in the revenue records and the order dated 20.03.2007 is still standing in the revenue records. The court below after the exchange of pleadings vide order dated 08.01.2022 rejected the application of the plaintiff-revisionist. Hence, the present revision.

3. Sri A.P. Tewari, learned counsel appearing for the revisionist submitted that plaintiff is the dominus litis, and is master of the suit. According to him, defendant no. 3 is neither a necessary or a proper party and thus plaintiff sought for amendment for deleting the name of defendant no. 3. He then submitted that court below did not consider the true import of Order 1 Rule 10(2) C.P.C. and passed the order on non existent and unfounded grounds.

4. He then contended that as no relief was sought against defendant no. 3, thus, the court below was not justified in refusing the amendment sought. Reliance has been placed upon decisions of Apex Court in case of Kasturi vs. Iyyamperumal and Ors1, and decision rendered in Gurmit Singh Bhatia vs. Kiran Kant Robinson and others2.

5. I have heard learned counsel for the revisionist and perused the material on record.

6. Before adverting to decide the issue in hand, a cursory glance of Order 1 Rule 10 (2) is necessary for better appreciation of the case, which is extracted hereasunder:-

"Order 1 Rule 10 (2) Court may strike out or add parties.--The Court may at any stage of the proceedings, either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the Court to be just, order that the name of any party improperly joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, be struck out, and that the name of any person who ought to have been joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, or whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit, be added."*

7. From perusal of Sub-rule (2) of Rule 10 of Order 1, it is clear that the court may at any stage of proceeding add parties or delete a party either on the application of a party or suo moto or by a third party who desires to be added as a party.

8. In exercise of the power to implead a person suo moto, the court has to see that a collusive decree is not obtained against real owner or interested owner without impleading him as a party and it does not become final affecting vitally the rights of such a person. The power of the court under this sub-rule is of discretion to be exercised judicially, keeping in mind that one of its object is to prevent multiplicity of suits and conflicts of decisions. Though, it is not in dispute that plaintiff is dominus litis, he cannot be compelled to sue a person against whom he does not claim any relief, unless it is held keeping in view pleading and relief claimed therein that a person sought to be added as a party is a necessary party and without his presence neither the suit can proceed nor the relief can be granted. The doctrine of dominus litis was thus explained by the Apex Court in case of Mohamed Hussain Gulam Ali Shariffi vs. Municipal Corporation of Greater Bombay and Ors.3.

9. The Sub-rule (2) of Rule 10 of Order 1 C.P.C. clearly provides for the addition of (i) necessary parties and (ii) proper parties. "Necessary parties' are parties, "who ought to have been joined", i.e., parties necessary to the constitution of suit without whom no decree can be passed at all. In order that a party may be considered a necessary party defendant, two conditions must be satisfied; first, that there must be a right to some relief against him in respect of matter involved in the suit. A necessary party is one without whom no decree can be made effectively.

10. A proper party is one in whose absence, an effective order can be made but whose presence is necessary for complete and final decision on the question involved in the proceedings. Failure to implead a necessary party as a party to a proceeding is fatal. Proper parties are those whose presence enables the court to adjudicate more "effectually and completely", as held in case of Shahsaheb vs. Sadashiv4.

11. In Kashi vs. Sadasiv5, the Court held that a person may be impleaded as a defendant to a suit, though, no relief can be claimed against him, provided his presence is necessary for a complete and final decision of the questions involved in the suit.

12. In Anil Kumar Singh vs. Shivnath Mishra6, the Apex Court held that object of Order 1 Rule 10(2) of C.P.C. is to bring on record all the persons who are parties to the dispute relating to the subject-matter so that dispute may be determined in their presence and at the same time without any protraction, inconvenience and also to avoid multiplicity of proceedings. Relevant para 9 of the judgment is extracted hereasunder:-

"9. Sub-rule (2) of Rule 10 of Order 1 provides that the Court may either upon or without an application of either party, add any party whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all questions involved in the suit. Since the respondent is not a party to the agreement of sale, it cannot be said that without his presence the dispute as to specific performance cannot be determined. Therefore, he is not a necessary party."

13. In Vidur Impex and Traders Pvt. Ltd. and Ors. vs. Tosh Apartments Pvt. Ltd. and Ors7, the Apex Court laid broad principles which should govern disposal of application for impleadment. Relevant paras are extracted hereasunder:-

"41.1. The court can, at any stage of the proceedings, either on an application made by the parties or otherwise, direct impleadment of any person as party, who ought to have been joined as plaintiff or defendant or whose presence before the court is necessary for effective and complete adjudication of the issues involved in the suit.

41.2. A necessary party is the person who ought to be joined as party to the suit and in whose absence an effective decree cannot be passed by the court.

41.3. A proper party is a person whose presence would enable the court to completely, effectively and properly adjudicate upon all matters and issues, though he may not be a person in favour of or against whom a decree is to be made.

41.4. If a person is not found to be a proper or necessary party, the court does not have the jurisdiction to order his impleadment against the wishes of the plaintiff.

41.5. In a suit for specific performance, the court can order impleadment of a purchaser whose conduct is above board, and who files application for being joined as party within reasonable time of his acquiring knowledge about the pending litigation.

41.6. However, if the applicant is guilty of contumacious conduct or is beneficiary of a clandestine transaction or a transaction made by the owner of the suit property in violation of the restraint order passed by the court or the application is unduly delayed then the court will be fully justified in declining the prayer for impleadment."

14. Admittedly, defendant no. 3 is claiming right over the land for which relief for permanent injunction has been sought by plaintiff, and her name has been mutated on revenue records on the basis of the Will executed by her father in the year 2002 and is continuing over the possession since then. The defendant no. 3 is a necessary party in view of fact that her name has already been recorded in the revenue records on the basis of Will and plaintiff had sought relief of permanent injunction against defendants.

15. Though, in the suit filed by the plaintiff relief for declaration as well as injunction has been sought, now at a later stage, the plaintiff cannot get the suit amended to the extent by deleting name of defendant no. 3 on the ground that only declaration as a Mahant has been sought.

16. The trial court rightly rejected the application filed under Order 6 Rule 17 C.P.C. on the ground that in case the name of defendant no. 3 is deleted from the array of parties, it will give cause to the multiplicity of litigation. In Anil Kumar Singh (supra), the Hon'ble Apex Court had rightly held that all parties to dispute relating to a subject-matter should be brought on record and dispute be determined in their presence so as to avoid multiplicity of proceedings.

17. It is not in dispute that name of defendant no. 3 is recorded in the revenue records over the property in dispute for which the injunction has been sought by the plaintiff, while the first relief claimed is for declaring the plaintiff as Mahant of Sant Kabir Math. In case the name of defendant no. 3 is deleted it would lead to multiplicity of litigation.

18. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court finds that no interference is required in the order dated 08.01.2021 passed by court below rejecting the application for amendment.

19. The revision fails and is hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard Sri K.K. Arora, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri Rakesh Prasad, learned counsel for opposite party.

2. Present revision has been preferred challenging the judgment and decree dated 03.10.2018 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge/ F.T.C., Kanpur Nagar in S.C.C Suit No. 165 of 2015.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that revisionist is tenant and suit for eviction being SCC Suit No. 165 of 2015 was filed after sending notice dated 6.4.2015 through registered post as required under Section 106 of Transfer Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1882"). He next submitted that said notice was returned back by the postman on the very next date i.e. 7.4.2015 with remark "दरियाफत करने पर घर वालों ने बताया कि प्राप्तकर्ता अपने निजी कार्य से बाहर गये हैं आने का कोई निश्चित समय नहीं है। " He next submitted that as per letter dated 8.6.2015, same has been returned to addressee i.e. Jai Prakash Yadav on 10.04.2015. Therefore, under such facts of the case, once the notice has not been served and on the very next date i.e. 7.4.2015, it was returned back with the endorsement of postman and further, notice has been sent back to addressee on 10.04.2015, it shall not be treated to be sufficient. It is settled position of law that without service of notice under Section 106 of Act, 1882, no SCC Suit can be maintained. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgements of this Court in the matter of Shamim Ahmad Alvi Vs. Azizul Rahman Khan passed in Second Appeal No. 979 of 1972 decided on 11.3.1972, Shiv Narayan Goswami Vs. Jagdish Prasad Gupta; 2015(3) ARC 171, Satish Chandra @ Satish Pandit Vs. Raghunath Patnaik and others; 2007 (68) ALR 464.

4. Learned counsel for opposite party has not disputed the said fact, but submitted that sending notice dated 6.4.2015 shall be treated to be sufficient in light of Section 27 of General Clauses Act, 1897 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1897"). In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgements of Full Bench of this Court in the matter of Ganga Ram Vs. Phulwati; 1970 SCC Online All 42. He also placed reliance upon the judgments of Apex Court as well as different High Courts in the matters of Ms/. Madan and Co. Vs. 5. I have considered the rival submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, perused the relevant provisions of law as well as judgments relied upon.

6. The controversy before this Court is as to when service of notice shall be treated sufficient. To deal with present controversy, Section 114 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872") as well as Section 27 of Act, 1897 is relevant provision of law, in light of which controversy has to be decided, therefore, the same is quoted below;

Section 114 of Act, 1872

"Section 114- Court may presume existence of certain facts.- The Court may presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened. regard being had to the common course of natural events human conduct and public and private business, in their relation to the facts of the particular case.

Illustrations

The Court may presume-

(f) That the common course of business has been followed in particular cases;

Section 27 of Act, 1897

"27. Meaning of service by post. –

Where any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act authorizes or requires any document to be served by post, whether the expression serve or either of the expressions give or send or any other expression is used, then, unless a different intention appears, the service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, pre- paying and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document, and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post."

7. Learned counsel for the revisionist placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Shamim Ahmad Alvi (Supra). Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"From his deposition, it is clear that on the first day the postman could not meet the appellant. The endorsement on the cover of the letter was, therefore, made "not met". Next day, he again went to the appellant's house but the postman was informed by the brother of the appellant that he was out of station and on the request of the postman, he refused to supply the address of the appellant. The endorsement of refusal made by the postal department was on the basis of the report given by the postman that the brother of the appellant refused to supply him the address of the appellant. On the evidence of the postman, it is not possible to hold that any offer was made by the postman to the appellant and in the absence of any offer, it is illegal to hold that the notice was refused by the appellant.

It is true that the lower appellate court has recorded a finding that the appellant was at Moradabad, as he must have come to meet the children during Id holidays and must have remained at Moradabad as Holi holidays followed the Id holidays. Sri Bashir Ahmad sought to challenge even that finding of the lower appellate court, but it is not necessary to enter into that question. I assume for the purposes of this case that the appellant was present at Moradabad on the relevant date, but unless the Court recorded a finding that he was present at home, the endorsement of refusal by the appellant would be wholly illegal. There is no finding by the lower appellate court that the appellant was present at home. The testimony of the postman, which is the only evidence on this material question, does not indicate that the appellant was present at home. He has not deposed that he offered the registered letter to the appellant and he refused to take the same. His evidence, on the other hand, clearly goes to show that he was not present at home and his brother refused to give the address. It is on this basis that the postal department has made the endorsement of refusal.

In Lakshmi Prasad Sharma v. Thakur Mahadeoji, (1971 All WR (HC) 622), it was held that unless there was an offer made, there could be no refusal. In this view of the matter, the finding that the appellant refused to receive the notice is wholly unwarranted on the evidence on the record. In my opinion, as there was no service of notice under Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act on the appellant, there was no termination of his tenancy and the suit for ejectment could not possibly be decreed."

7. He further placed reliance upon the judgment of Shiv Narayan Goswami (supra) and submitted that after considering so many judgments of Apex Court, Court has taken same view. Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"The service of notice sent by registered post can be presumed to have been served upon the addressee when it is not returned undelivered or returned with postal endorsement of 'refusal' etc., but where the registered letter is received back with endorsement like "addressee is not available at the address" or "not met" or "out of station" etc., which shows that there was no occasion for postal authority to offer the letter to the addressee and there was no act on the part of addressee having the effect of denying receipt of such letter, such presumption of service in respect of registered letter cannot arise.

Section 27 of General Clauses Act, 1897 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1897") reads as under:

"27. Meaning of service by post.- Where any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act authorizes or requires any document to be served by post, where the expression "serve" or either of the expressions "give" or "send" or any other expression is used, then, unless a different intention appears, the service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing pre-paying and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document, and unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post."

Here the presumption in respect of registered letter applies only if otherwise is not proved. In the present case letters have been received back with endorsement "not met" and that being so there cannot be a presumption that registered letter must be deemed to have been proved. Here is also not a case where letter has been received with endorsement of 'refusal'.

In Sukumar Guha Vs. Naresh Chandra Ghosh AIR 1968 Cal. 49, a Single Judge (Hon'ble Amresh Roj, J.) referring to Section 114, Illustration (f) of Act, 1872, Section 106 of Act, 1882 and Section 27 of Act, 1897 said that presumption under Section 27 of Act, 1897 can arise only when a notice is sent by registered post while there may arise a presumption under Section 114 of Act, 1872 when notice is sent by ordinary post or under certificate of posting. Both the presumptions are rebuttable. When the cover containing notice has been returned to the sender by postal authorities, then that fact is direct proof of the fact that the notice sent by post was not delivered to the party to whom it was addressed. Similarly, presumption under Section 114, illustration (f) of Evidence Act also, in my view, has no application in the case in hand.

The court below, therefore, in holding that since letters were sent by registered post, they will must be deemed to have been delivered to the addressee and the mere fact that letters have been received with endorsement that addressee did not meet would make no difference, in my view, is not correct. Since no valid notice was served upon revisionist, it cannot be said that tenancy was validly terminated entitling revisionist to have a decree of eviction against him."

8. He also placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Satish Chandra @ Satish Pandit (supra) and submitted that in that case too, Court has taken the similar view. Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"The basic question which arises for consideration is the validity of the notice determining tenancy and its services in the absence of which the suit could not have decreed.

The tenancy of the defendant revisionist is said to have been determined vide notice dated 02.01.2009 which was brought on record. The trial court while deciding the issues No. 3 and 4 regarding the validity of the notice and if the defendant revisionist is liable to be evicted on its basis has recorded a finding that since the notice dated 02.01.2009 (Paper No.7Ga) has been filed in evidence it clearly shows that the tenancy of the defendant revisionist has been determined.

In the later part of the finding, the court below poses a question as to whether the notice was served upon the defendant revisionist but solely on the reasoning that the copy of the notice is on record held that the tenancy has been determined without recording any specific finding with regard to the service of the notice.

In view of above, there is no finding by the court below regarding the service of notice dated 02.01.2009 upon the defendant revisionist.

Sri B.N. Rai, learned counsel appearing for the plaintiff respondent has pointed out that the notice dated 02.01.2009 was sent to the defendant revisionist by registered post and it was served upon him on 04.01.2009. The copy of the notice, its dispatched receipt dated 03.01.2009 and acknowledgement (Paper No. 9 Ga) were filed in evidence and therefore, it is clear that the notice determining tenancy was duly served upon the defendant revisionist.

It is true that the plaintiff respondent pleaded issuance of the aforesaid notice and its service but the service was denied by the defendant revisionist in the written statement. The mere filing of the copy of the notice, its receipt of dispatched and acknowledgement is not sufficient to prove that the notice was served upon the defendant revisionist.

The court below has not recorded any finding regarding the service of notice. The tenancy will not stand determined unless the notice determining tenancy is reported to be served upon the tenant.

In the absence of any finding in this regard the court below committed jurisdictional error in decreeing the suit by holding that the tenancy of the defendant revisionist stood determined by the said notice."

9. Further, he placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Rama Devi (supra). Relevant paragraph is being quoted below;

"When the first appellate Court has been confused on account of wrong reading of evidence and has referred to such wrong evidence naturally it will be now open to this Court to consider whether the evidence of Moti Lal, defendant No. 2, amounts to or serves as rebuttal of the initial presumption raised. Moti Lal has stated that the Moran of his son was to be performed at Vindhyachal and he has sent a postcard to his mother to reach Mirzapur by 6th evening so that she can accompany Moti Lal and others to Vindhyachal for such Mooran ceremony and his mother so accompanied and after performing the Mooran ceremony the party returned to Varanasi in the night of 8th Aug. 1970. True that if there is conduct or admission of the party belying such denial or rendering it improbable then their denial will not be proof but the conduct of the party denying the service does not appear to be such, rather circumstances are available to considerate be Moti Lal. (sic) A postcard was addressed to the mother much earlier and that evidence could not have been created later as an after-thought. This would mean that Mooran was planned as alleged and even defendant No. 1 the mother was summoned to accompany. There is another circumstance, namely, the leave taken by Moti Lal for 7-8-70, 8th being Saturday. I am really surprised how the lack of any permission to leave the station would be relevant. In fact he was out of station all right. The plaintiffs case is that he was in Varanasi proper. The defendant's case is that Moti Lal had gone to Mirzapur. I for one cannot apply two standards. If lack of permission is vague it is also vague against the case alleging that defendant No. 2 was at Varanasi so the question of permission has become irrelevant. The first appellate Court has fallen in error by misreading the evidence of the plaintiff and this Court can therefore well interfere with the findings of the first appellate Court. Moti Lal's evidence rebutted the presumption of service of notice by denial and in such situation it became incumbent upon the plaintiff to lead further evidence to prove otherwise. The first appellate Court has observed that there should have been some additional evidence including production of the mother. The mother's production as the other party would have simply meant multiplication of evidence in case of denial when it is a negative statement and the circumstances supporting or rebutting such statement are the only relevant facts of importance and this aspect has been overlooked by the first appellate Court. The presumption having stood rebutted the plaintiff should have given additional evidence as the burden again shifted upon the plaintiff to prove the service of notice which has not been done."

10. Lastly, he placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matter of A. Rama Rao and others (supra). Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"It appears that stand was that when the defendant No. 1 on oath stated that he did not receive the notice allegedly sent by post, the same would prevail over the postal remarks that it was "refused" unless the postman was examined. Further, the plea that there was no specific averment regarding sending the notice by post or its refusal has not been considered. Learned Counsel for the respondents has submitted that suit was filed on 5.4.1984 i.e. the date of refusal overlooks the plea raised to the effect that the same could have been brought in by way of an amendment and/or that the alleged date of refusal was 8.4.1984.

Learned Counsel for the appellants has produced before us original paper books filed before the High Court which show the endorsement that their refusal was 8.4.1984.

In above view of the matter, we direct the High Court to record its findings on the question of service of notice and also the effect of the absence of any definite and specific plea regarding dispatch of notice by post and/or its refusal. Even if it is accepted that the refusal was on 5.4.1984 i.e. the date of filing of the suit nothing prevented the plaintiff to at least mention that the notice has been sent by post. The findings shall be recorded by the High Court after granting opportunity to the parties to place their respective stand. The High Court shall send its findings to this Court after recording the same within a period of three months. Call this matter after four months."

11. Learned counsel for opposite party submitted that judgments so relied by learned counsel for the revisionist have not considered the consistent pronouncements made by this Court as well as Apex Court where the Court has taken specific view that once notice has been sent on correct address in light of Section 114 of Act, 1872 as well as Section 27 of Act, 1897 shall be treated sufficient.

12. First, he placed reliance upon judgment of Full Bench of this Court in the matter of Ganga Ram (supra). Relevant paragraph of said judgment is quoted below;

"The fact that the notice was returned back to the sender with an endorsement "Refused" does not in our opinion, dislodge the presumption that the registered notice had reached the addressee. On the other hand, it strengthens the presumption that the notice had reached the addressee. It could not be delivered to him because he refused to accept it. In view of what we have stated above, we proceed to answer as follows the three questions referred to the Full Bench:- -

Question Our Reply

1. Whether a notice under S. 3 of the U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act, even if combined with a notice under S.109 of the Transfer of Property Act, has to be served on the tenant personally?

Ans. The answer is in the negative. Even a notice of demand deemed or presumed to have been served on a tenant will be "service upon him of notice of demand".

2. Whether it is incumbent on the plaintiff to prove the endorsement of refusal on the notice sent by registered post by producing the postman or other evidence in case the defendant denies service on him ?

Ans. The answer is in the negative.

3. Whether in the circumstances of the present case the Courts below were right in raising the presumption under S.114 of the Evidence Act in favour of the landlord ?

Ans. The answer is in the affirmative. The presumption regarding service of such notice has also be made under S. 27, General Clauses Act."

13. He next relied upon the judgment of Apex Court in the matter of M/s. Madan and Co. (supra) in which the Apex Court has taken the very same view. Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"We are of opinion that the conclusion arrived at by the courts below is correct and should be upheld. It is true that the proviso to (i) of section 11(1) and the proviso to section 12(3) are intended for the protection of the tenant. Nevertheless it will be easy to see that too strict and literal a compliance of their language would be impractical and unworkable. The proviso insists that before any amount of rent can be said to be in arrears, a notice has to be served through posts. All that a landlord can to comply with this provision is to post a prepaid registered letter (acknowledgment due or otherwise) containing the tenant's correct address. Once he does this and the letter is delivered to the post office, he has no control over it. It is then presumed to have been delivered to the addressee under s.27 of the General Clauses Act. Under the rules of the post office, the letter is to be delivered to the addressee or a person authorised by him. Such a person may either accept the letter or decline to accept it. In either case, there is no difficulty, for the acceptance or refusal can be treated as a service on, and receipt by, the addressee. The difficulty is where the postman calls at the address mentioned and is unable to contact the addressee or a person authorised to receive the letter. All that he can then do is to return it to the sender. The Indian Post Office Rules do not prescribe any detailed procedure regarding the delivery of such registered letters. When the postman is unable to deliver it on his first visit, the general practice is for the postman to attempt to deliver it on the next one or two days also before returning it to the sender. However, he has neither the power nor the time to make enquiries regarding the whereabouts of the addressee; he is not expected to detain the letter until the addressee chooses to return and accept it; and he is not authorised to affix the letter on the premises because of the assessee's absence. His responsibilities cannot, therefore, be equated to those of a process server entrusted with the responsibilities of serving the summons of a Court under Order V of the C.P.C. The statutory provision has to be interpreted in the context of this difficulty and in the light of the very limited role that the post office can play in such a task. If we interpret the provision as requiring that the letter must have been actually delivered to the addressee, we would be virtually rendering it a dead letter. The letter cannot be served where, as in this case, the tenant is away from the premises for some considerable time. Also, as addressee can easily avoid receiving the letter addressed to him without specifically refusing to receive it. He can so manipulate matters that it gets returned to the sender with vague endorsements such as "not found", "not in station", "addressee has left" and so on. It is suggested that a landlord, knowing that the tenant is away from station for some reasons, could go through the motions of posting a letter to him which he knows will not be served. Such a possibility cannot be excluded. But, as against this, if a registered letter addressed to a person at his residential address does not get served in the normal PG NO 990 course and is returned, it can only be attributed to the addressee's own conduct. If he is staying in the premises, there is no reason why it should not be served on him. If he is compelled to be away for some time, all that he has to do is to leave necessary instructions with the postal authorities either to detain the letters addressed to him for some time until he returns or to forward them to the address where he has B gone or to deliver them to some other person authorised by him. In this situation, we have to chose the more reasonable, effective, equitable and practical interpretation and that would be to read the words "served" as "sent by post", correctly and properly addressed to the tenant, and the word "receipt" as the tender of the letter by the postal peon at the address mentioned in the letter. No other interpretation, we think, will fit the situation as it is simply not possible for a landlord to ensure that a registered letter sent by him I gets served on, or is received by, the tenant.

Much emphasis has been placed by the courts below and counsel for the landlord on the attempt made by the landlord to serve the notice on the premises in the presence of the witnesses. While the counsel for the landlord would have it that the steps show the landlord's bona fides counsel for the tenant submits that the haste with which the 'substituted service' was effected and the lack of any real attempt to find out the whereabouts of the tenant (who had, according to him, been compelled to be away at Amritsar for medical treatment) throw consideration doubts on the claim of bona fides. We do not think that any statutory significance can at all be attached to the service by affixture claimed to have been effected by the landlord. The statute prescribes only one method of service for the notice and none other. If, as we have held, the despatch of the notice by registered post was sufficient compliance with this requirement, the landlord has fulfilled it. But, if that is not so, it is no compliance with the statute for the landlord to say that he has served the notice by some other method. To require any such service to be effected over and above the postal service would be to travel outside the statute. Where the statute does not specify any such additional or alternative mode of service, there can be no warrant for importing into the statute a method of service on the lines of the provisions of the C.P.C. We would therefore not like to hold that a "substituted" service, such as the one effected by the landlord in the present case, is a necessary or permissible requirement of the statute. It may be even an impracticable, if not impossible, requirement to expect some such service to be effected in cases where the landlord lives outside the town, or the State in which the premises are situated. If, in the present case, the landlord attempted such service because he was in the same town, that can only show His bona fides and it is only in this view that we proceed to express our findings in this regard."

14. He further placed reliance upon the judgment of Calcutta High Court in the matter of Subhas Chandra Mitra (supra). Relevant paragraph is being quoted below;

"So far as the first limb of argument of Mr. Chatterjee is concerned, as rightly pointed out by Mr. Dutta, it appears from the Ext. 3 that the notice was tendered on several occasions. It is not mentioned that the tenant was absent or had the left the premises. No such endorsement is appearing from Ext. 3. This position could not be disputed by Mr. Chatterjee. Admittedly, the notice was issued in the suit premises. Mr. Dutta had pointed out and contended that it was the address recorded with the landlord. That this was also an address of the tenant is also not denied by the tenant. It is not a case made out by the tenant that he had left the premises altogether and was residing elsewhere and that he did not come to or visit the suit premises. He had neither established nor contended that during the period when the notice was tendered, he had never been to the suit premises nor he had proved that he was absent or had left the suit premises when the notice was tendered successively. The fact that the landlord had addressed the earlier notice at different place will not invalidate the second notice addressed to the suit premises when the notice addressed to some other place was not the address recorded with the landlord. The Tenant was connected with the tenancy and it could not be presumed that he had never visited the suit premises when admittedly he was running a Boarding house in the suit premises, as was pleaded in the written statement and in the reply to the first notice and as well as in the evidence of the DW-1, given by his son. Therefore, the action of the postal authority, which is done in the usual course of business, is to be accepted as correct unless it is otherwise proved by the tenant to show that he had no occasion to be in the premises during that period or that he had left the suit premises altogether. When it is not recorded on the postal endorsement by the postal authority that the tenant was absent or has left, we cannot presume that the tenant was absent from the suit premises during the period when the notice was tendered or had left the same. Therefore, we do not find any perversity in the concurrent finding of the Courts below that the service was good. Therefore, we are not inclined to interfere with the finding with regard to the validity of the service of notice on the basis of the endorsement "not claimed" by the postal authority."

15. He also placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Sharda Prasad @ Chhulli (supra) in which Court has considered the very same issue and taken same view about service of notice. Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"The postman initiated and put the date as 23.3.78.

In the instant case, both the Courts below after close scrutiny of the evidence on record found that there was presumption of service of notice on the tenant. Section 114 Clause (f) of the Evidence Act provides that the Court may presume that the common course of business has been followed. It was held by a Full Bench of this Court Ganga Ram's case (supra) that it is not incumbent on the plaintiff to prove the endorsement of refusal on the notice sent by registered post by producing the postman or other evidence in case the defendant denies service on him. The Bench further held that the Court below was right in raising the presumption under Section 114 of the Evidence Act in favour of the landlord where notice sent to the tenant was returned with an endorsement of refusal. The presumption regarding service has also to be made under Section 27 of General Clauses Act. This was held by the Supreme Court also in Puwada Venkateshwar Rao v. Chidamana Ventata Ramana,: AIR 1976 SC 869. The Apex Court of the country has also held in Gujarat Electricity Board (supra) that there is presumption of service of letter sent under registered cover, if the same is returned back with a postal endorsement that the addressee refused to accept the same. No doubt the presumption is rebuttable and it is open to the party concerned to place evidence before the Court to rebut the presumption by showing that the address mentioned on the cover was incorrect or that the postal authorities never tendered the registered letter to him or that there was no occasion for him to refuse the same. The burden to rebut the presumption lies on the party, challenging the factum of service. In the instant case, the petitioner failed to discharged this burden as he failed to produce material before the Court to show that the endorsement of the postman was wrong. Mere denial by the petitioner in the circumstances of the case was not sufficient to rebut the presumption. The petitioner deposed in the Courts below that no notice was served on him nor he refused to receive the notice. When he was confronted that he had refused to receive the letter in the presence of Ramesh Chandra, he denied the suggestion. He however admitted that Ramesh Chandra resided in front of his house. In this view of the matter I find that the presumption was not rebutted by the petitioner and he failed to show that letter was not sent on the correct address or there was no occasion for him to refuse. I therefore, find that the Courts below rightly found that notice was served on the tenant by refusal.

No other point was pressed in this petition."

16. He next placed reliance upon the judgment of Apex Court in the matter of C.C. Alavi Haji (supra) in which Apex Court has considered the matter in detail. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgment are quoted below;

"Therefore, the moot question requiring consideration is in regard to the implication of Section 114 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 insofar as the service of notice under the said proviso is concerned. Section 114 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 reads as follows:

Section 114 - Court may presume existence of certain facts - The Court may presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events human conduct and public and private business, in their relation to the facts of the particular case.

Illustrations

The Court may presume--------

(f) That the common course of business has been followed in particular cases.

According to Section 114 of the Act, read with illustration (f) thereunder, when it appears to the Court that the common course of business renders it probable that a thing would happen, the Court may draw presumption that the thing would have happened, unless there are circumstances in a particular case to show that the common course of business was not followed. Thus, Section 114 enables the Court to presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct and public and private business in their relation to the facts of the particular case. Consequently, the court can presume that the common course of business has been followed in particular cases. When applied to communications sent by post, Section 114 enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. But the presumption that is raised under Section 27 of the G.C. Act is a far stronger presumption. Further, while Section 114 of Evidence Act refers to a general presumption, Section 27 refers to a specific presumption. For the sake of ready reference, Section 27 of G.C. Act is extracted below:

27. Meaning of service by post-

Where any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act authorizes or requires any document to be served by post, whether the expression served by post, whether the expression serve or either of the expressions give or send or any other expression is used, then, unless a different intention appears, the service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, pre-paying and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document, and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

Section 27 gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post. In view of the said presumption, when stating that a notice has been sent by registered post to the address of the drawer, it is unnecessary to further aver in the complaint that in spite of the return of the notice unserved, it is deemed to have been served or that the addressee is deemed to have knowledge of the notice. Unless and until the contrary is proved by the addressee, service of notice is deemed to have been effected at the time at which the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of business. This Court has already held that when a notice is sent by registered post and is returned with a postal endorsement refused or not available in the house or house locked or shop closed or addressee not in station, due service has to be presumed. (Vide Jagdish Singh v. Natthu Singh: AIR 1992 SC 1604; State of M.P. v. Hiralal and Ors. : (1996) 7 SCC 523 and V. Raja Kumari v. P. Subbarama Naidu and Anr. : (2004) 8 SCC 774. It is, therefore, manifest that in view of the presumption available under Section 27 of the Act, it is not necessary to aver in the complaint under Section 138 of the Act that service of notice was evaded by the accused or that the accused had a role to play in the return of the notice unserved."

17. He also placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Ghulam Waris Khan (supra). Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"Section 27 of the General Clauses Act also deals with the meaning of word 'service' by post and according to the same the service shall be deemed to be effected if the letter is properly addressed and the same is sent by registered post after the postal charges have already been paid unless contrary is proved to have been effected at the time if letter would have been delivered in ordinary course.

Hon'ble Supreme Court in M/s. Madan and Company v. Wazir Jaivir Chand : 1989 (2) ARC page 381, cited on behalf of revisionists has observed that if a registered letter addressed to a person at his residential address does not get served in normal course and is returned, it can only be attributed to the addressee's own conduct. It has been further observed that the dispatch of the notice by registered post is sufficient compliance, the landlord is required to fulfill.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court in K. Bhaskaran v. Sankaran Vaishyan Balan and another : (1999) 7 SCC 510, has held that there is no significant difference when the notice is returned as "unclaimed" and not as "refused" and has further held that under section 27 of the General Clauses Act, there would be presumption of service in such cases and that it is upto the other party to rebut this presumption of service by post Although the said case was under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act but the principle in such matter regarding service of notice will be applicable in the instant case also. Therefore, in the instant case also, in view of the above endorsements it can safely be said that presumption would be that the notice was served on the defendant as he failed to rebut the said presumption by adducing any notice in rebuttal. It was open to the revisionist to produce either any of his employees to belie the endorsement of postman or postman himself."

18. Further, he placed reliance upon the judgment of Calcutta High Court in the matter of Mohanlal Manna (supra). Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"It is true that learned Lower Appellate Court in a cryptic manner accepted said postal endorsement 'not claimed' as a good service, but he relied on the findings of learned Trial Court on this score. Accordingly, it may be held that learned Lower Appellate Court did not make any elaborate discussion on the findings of learned Trial Court on this issue, as he concurred with learned Trial Court. Though a more detailed discussion on this point from the learned Lower Appellate Court was desirable but this cannot be a ground for not accepting the findings of learned Lower Appellate Court on this issue when he put reliance on the findings of the learned Trial Court who discussed this issue elaborately.

Accordingly, I am of opinion that the endorsements 'not claimed' on the notice sent under registered post amounted to good service in the facts and circumstances of this case and that findings of learned Courts on this score did not call for any interference by this Court."

19. He next placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the matter of Smt. Vandana Gulati (supra). Relevant paragraphs are quoted below;

"A Division Bench of this Court in Ram Nath and others v. Angan, 1984 (2) ARC 290, held that where a registered envelope with correct address of the tenant is posted and the tenant refuses to take notice or it is returned with the endorsement "not met" the notice shall be deemed to have been properly served upon him and the landlord is not required to examine the postman.

The above view is fulfilled by the observations of the Supreme Court in M/s. Madan and Co. v. Wazir Jaivir Chand, AIR 1989 SC 630, wherein it was remarked that when the postman is unable to deliver the letter/notice on repeated attempts either on account of the addressee 'not found' not in station, addressee is left or not met' the presumption of service arises as it is not possible for a landlord to ensure that the registered letter/notice sent by him is actually received by the tenant.

In the light of the above legal position, the argument that the endorsement "not claimed/not met" is not sufficient to prove deemed service of the notice cannot be accepted, particularly when there is no evidence to rebut the presumption of service which arises both on fact and law."

20. Again, Apex Court in the matter of Ajeet Seeds Limited (supra), reiterated the same view and relevant paragraph of the same is quoted hereinbelow;-

"This Court then explained the nature of presumptions under Section 114 of the Evidence Act and under Section 27 of the GC Act and pointed out how these two presumptions are to be employed while considering the question of service of notice under Section 138 of the NI Act. The relevant paragraphs read as under:

"13. According to Section 114 of the Act, read with Illustration (f) thereunder, when it appears to the Court that the common course of business renders it probable that a thing would happen, the Court may draw presumption that the thing would have happened, unless there are circumstances in a particular case to show that the common course of business was not followed. Thus, Section 114 enables the Court to presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct and public and private business in their relation to the facts of the particular case. Consequently, the court can presume that the common course of business has been followed in particular cases. When applied to communications sent by post, Section 114 enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. But the presumption that is raised under Section 27 of the G.C. Act is a far stronger presumption. Further, while Section 114 of Evidence Act refers to a general presumption, Section 27 refers to a specific presumption. For the sake of ready reference, Section 27 of G.C. Act is extracted below:

"27. Meaning of service by post.- Where any Central Act or regulation made after the commencement of this Act authorizes or requires any document to be served by post, whether the expression ''serve' or either of the expressions ''give' or ''send' or any other expression is used, then, unless a different intention appears, the service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, pre-paying and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document, and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post".

14. Section 27 gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post. In view of the said presumption, when stating that a notice has been sent by registered post to the address of the drawer, it is unnecessary to further aver in the complaint that in spite of the return of the notice unserved, it is deemed to have been served or that the addressee is deemed to have knowledge of the notice. Unless and until the contrary is proved by the addressee, service of notice is deemed to have been effected at the time at which the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of business. This Court has already held that when a notice is sent by registered post and is returned with a postal endorsement ''refused' or ''not available in the house' or ''house locked' or ''shop closed' or ''addressee not in station', due service has to be presumed. [Vide Jagdish Singh Vs. Natthu Singh (1992) 1 SCC 647; State of M.P. Vs. Hiralal & Ors. (1996) 7 SCC 523 and V.Raja Kumari Vs. P.Subbarama Naidu & Anr. (2004) 8 SCC 74] It is, therefore, manifest that in view of the presumption available under Section 27 of the Act, it is not necessary to aver in the complaint under Section 138 of the Act that service of notice was evaded by the accused or that the accused had a role to play in the return of the notice unserved."

It is thus clear that Section 114 of the Evidence Act enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. Section 27 of the GC Act gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post. It is not necessary to aver in the complaint that in spite of the return of the notice unserved, it is deemed to have been served or that the addressee is deemed to have knowledge of the notice. Unless and until the contrary is proved by the addressee, service of notice is deemed to have been effected at the time at which the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of business."

21. He next submitted that this Court again considered the very identical issue in the matter of Alok Kumar Kaushik (supra) where there is a postal remark that postman went at the addressee place, but either he had not met or door was locked. This Court has framed question no. 1 and finally replied that in such cases, notice shall be treated sufficient. Question No. 1 is quoted below;

"(i) Whether under the facts and circumstances of the case, there was a valid service of notice upon the defendant-revisionist terminating the tenancy and demanding arrears of rent ? "

22. The Court has replied the same, which is also quoted herein below;

"In the present set of facts, on account of default in payment of rent and also on account of expiry of the term of tenancy; the plaintiffs-respondents were seriously pursuing the matter terminating the tenancy of the defendant-revisionist and for recovery of arrears of rent amounting to Rs.54600/-. They sent repeated notices both at the residential address and Chamber address by registered post and also simultaneously under certificate of posting. The evidence being paper no.60-C and 61-C shows that they sent the notices at the residential address of the defendant-revisionist as well as at his Chamber address in Civil Court Compound, Ghaziabad. There is no dispute that the plaintiffs-respondents correctly mentioned the addresses of the defendant-revsionist on the envelops sent by registered post and under certificate of posting. The postman visited to deliver the registered envelops containing the notice, to the defendant-revisionist at his residential address and also Chamber address on several dates. Under the circumstances and also for the reasons recorded in preceding paragraphs no. 11,13 and 14 and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court as discussed in preceding paragraphs no. 12,14,15 and 16, I have no hesitation to hold that the facts of the present case fully justify a presumption to be drawn for valid service of notice upon the defendant-revisionist whereby the tenancy of the defendant-revisionist was terminated and arrears of rent were demanded."

23. He further placed reliance upon the judgment of Bombay High Court in the matter of Jain Developers and 3 others (supra). Relevant paragraph is being quoted below;

"Section 27 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 deals with summons to be served to the defendants. It provides that where a suit has been duly instituted, a summons may be issued to the defendants to appear and answer the claim and may be served in the manner prescribed not beyond 30 days from the date of institution of the suit. Order V of the CPC deals with service of summons. Rule 2 mandates that every summons shall be accompanied by a copy of the plaint. As per Rule 5, the summons may be issued either for settlement of issues or final disposal of the suit and it is mandatory to mention the date of appearance of the defendants on receipt of service of summons. On receipt of the summons, the defendant may produce the documents which he intends to rely upon in his defence and if the summons is for final disposal, he may produce his witnesses on whom he intends to rely in support of his case. Rule 9 prescribes the manner in which the summons are to be delivered to the defendant and the summons can be delivered or sent either to the proper office to be served by him or it can be served through a courier service approved by the Court. Rule 10 provides mode of service of summons by delivery or tendering a copy thereof signed by the Judge or any officer authorized on its behalf and sealed with the seal of the Court. Rule 17 prescribes the procedure when the defendant refuses to accept the service or cannot be found and it requires the serving officer to affix the copy of the summons on the door or some conspicuous part of the house in which the defendants ordinarily reside or carries on business or personally works for gain and to return the original to the Court from which it was issued. Rule 18 mandates the serving officer to endorse or annex or caused to be served, annexed or caused to be served, annexed or to the original summons returned stating the time and the manner in which the summons were served. When the summons is returned unserved, the Court is duty bond to examine the serving officer on oath and may make further enquiry about service of such summons."

24. He further placed reliance upon the judgment of Apex Court in the matter of P.T. Thomas (supra) and submitted that once the endorsement has been made by the postman with regard to service of notice, there is no requirement to examine the postman. Relevant paragraph of the said judgment is quoted below;

"The High Court, in our view, has also misinterpreted Section 27 of the Post Office Act. The requirement of Section has been complied with in this case. The reasoning of the High Court on this issue is not correct and not in accordance with factual position. In the notice issued, the Postman has made the endorsement. This presumption is correct in law. He had given notice and intimation. Nevertheless, the respondent did not receive the notice and it was returned unserved. Therefore, in our view, there is no obligation cast on the appellant to examine the Postman as assumed by the High Court. The presumption under Section 114 of the Evidence Act operates apart from that under the Post Office Act, 1898. "

25. From the perusal of Section 27 of Act,1897, it clearly transpires that service shall be deemed to be affected by properly addressing, pre paying postal charges and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document shall be treated to be sufficient unless the contrary is proved. It shall also be seen in light of Section 114 (f) of of Act, 1872 which provides that in common course of business has to be followed and in present case, in light of Section 27 of Act,1897, common course of business is that letter has to be sent alongwith proper addressee, paying postal charges, having documents and further it will be presumed that address shall receive the same unless address is not correct.

26. Now coming to the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the revisionist, there is no doubt that earlier judgments so relied upon by learned counsel for the revisionist has taken a different view and different interpretation of Section 27 of Act, 1897 read with Section 114 (f) of of Act, 1872, but later judgments, which relied by learned counsel for opposite party has taken entirely different view. The very same question was subject matter of Full Bench of this Court in the matter of Ganga Ram (supra) whereafter framing the very same question as to whether it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to prove the endorsement of refusal on the notice sent by registered post by producing the postman or other evidence in case the defendant denies service on him and answer is in the negative. Not only this, Apex Court in the matter of M/s Madan and Co. (supra) has taken a very same view by detailed interpretation of Section 27 of Act, 1897, which is followed by Calcutta High Court in the matter of Subhas Chandra Mitra (supra) as well as by this Court in the matter of Sharda Prasad @ Chhulli (supra).

27. Again, Apex Court in the matter of C.C. Alavi Haji (supra) has considered the very same issue and after interpretation of Section 114 (f) of of Act, 1872 as well as Section 27 of Act, 1897, has taken a view that once notice has been sent with proper address and stamping to registered post, which was returned back with postal endorsement refused or not available in the house or house locked or shop closed or addressee not in the station, shall be treated sufficient. While coming to this conclusion, Apex Court has considered many other judgments earlier decided by Apex Court. The very same dictum of law has been followed by this Court as well as Calcutta High Court in the matters of Ghulam Waris Khan (supra), Mohanla Manna (supra) and Smt. Vandana Gulati (supra). Once again, in the year 2014, this matter went up to Apex Court in the matter of Ajeet Seeds Limited (supra) and Apex Court after interpretation of Section 114 (f) of of Act, 1872 as well as Section 27 of Act, 1897, has taken same view, which was earlier taken by this Court and held that once notice has been sent and came back with postal remark about refusal or any other remark with regard to non service of notice, shall be treated sufficient. This Court again in the matter of Alok Kumar Kaushik (supra) has considered this issue by framing question about service of notice after having discussion of Act, law laid down by Apex Court as well as this Court and has held that in such circumstances whether notice has been sent upon proper address in duly stamped envelop shall be treated sufficient after endorsement of postman with regard to non service of any reason except incorrect address.

28. This dictum of law has also been followed by Bombay High Court in the matter of Jain Developers and 3 others (supra). Not only this, in such cases where the examination of postman is required or not, Apex Court in the matter of P.T. Thomas (supra) has taken a specific view that no such examination of postman is required under such circumstances.

29. In the present case too, facts are undisputed. Letter was sent through registered post on correct address, which was returned back with endorsement of postman "दरियाफत करने पर घर वालों ने बताया कि प्राप्तकर्ता अपने निजी कार्य से बाहर गये हैं आने का कोई निश्चित समय नहीं है।". Therefore, notice under Section 106 of Act, 1882 shall be treated to be sufficient for filing SCC Suit.

30. Accordingly, in light of provisions of Section 27 of Act, 1897 read with Section 114 (f) of Act, 1872 and law discussed hereinabove, this Court finds no good reason to hold that notice shall not be treated to be sufficient. I find no illegality in the impugned judgment and decree dated 03.10.2018 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge/ F.T.C., Kanpur Nagar in SCC Suit No. 165 of 2015.

31. Accordingly, revision lacks merit and is dismissed.

32. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pradip Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the applicants.

2. This is an application under Section 34 of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996 (hereinafter referred as the "Act of 1996') laying challenge to the award dated 26.03.2022 passed by Sri J.P. Narayan, Additional District & Sessions Judge (Rtd.), sole Arbitrator.

3. The Stamp Reporter has made a report that the present application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is not maintainable in view of the order passed in Civil Misc. Arbitration Application No. 01 of 2018.

4. Sri P.K. Srivastva, learned counsel appearing for the applicants, while addressing on the maintainability of the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, submitted that the word "Court" used in Section 34 read with Section 2 (1) (e) (i) means the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction. According to learned counsel, both the Principal Civil Court and the High Court has jurisdiction to entertain the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996.

5. He has placed reliance upon decision of Apex Court rendered in case of Executive Engineer, Road Development Division No. III, Panvel Vs. Atlanta Limited, 2014 AIR (SC) 1093.

6. I have heard learned counsel for the applicants and perused the material on record.

7. The sole question which has to be adjudicated is in regard to maintainability of the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 before this Court against the arbitral award passed by the sole Arbitrator.

8. Before adverting to decide the issue in hand a cursory glance of provisions of Section 2 (1) (e) (i) and Section 34 of the Act of 1996 are necessary for better appreciation of the case, thus, both the provisions are extracted here as under;

"2. Definitions.--(1) In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,--

[(e) "Court" means--

(i) in the case of an arbitration other than international commercial arbitration, the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject-matter of the arbitration if the same had been the subject-matter of a suit, but does not include any Civil Court of a grade inferior to such principal Civil Court, or any Court of Small Causes;

.....

34. Application for setting aside arbitral award.--(1) Recourse to a Court against an arbitral award may be made only by an application for setting aside such award in accordance with sub-section (2) and sub-section (3).

(2) An arbitral award may be set aside by the Court only if--

(a) the party making the application 1[establishes on the basis of the record of the arbitral tribunal that]--

(i) a party was under some incapacity, or

(ii) the arbitration agreement is not valid under the law to which the parties have subjected it or, failing any indication thereon, under the law for the time being in force; or (iii) the party making the application was not given proper notice of the appointment of an arbitrator or of the arbitral proceedings or was otherwise unable to present his case; or

(iv) the arbitral award deals with a dispute not contemplated by or not falling within the terms of the submission to arbitration, or it contains decisions on matters beyond the scope of the submission to arbitration:

Provided that, if the decisions on matters submitted to arbitration can be separated from those not so submitted, only that part of the arbitral award which contains decisions on matters not submitted to arbitration may be set aside; or

(v) the composition of the arbitral tribunal or the arbitral procedure was not in accordance with the agreement of the parties, unless such agreement was in conflict with a provision of this Part from which the parties cannot derogate, or, failing such agreement, was not in accordance with this Part; or

(b) the Court finds that--

(i) the subject-matter of the dispute is not capable of settlement by arbitration under the law for the time being in force, or

(ii) the arbitral award is in conflict with the public policy of India.

[Explanation 1.--For the avoidance of any doubt, it is clarified that an award is in conflict with the public policy of India, only if,--

(i) the making of the award was induced or affected by fraud or corruption or was in violation of section 75 or section 81; or

(ii) it is in contravention with the fundamental policy of Indian law; or

(iii) it is in conflict with the most basic notions of morality or justice.

Explanation 2.--For the avoidance of doubt, the test as to whether there is a contravention with the fundamental policy of Indian law shall not entail a review on the merits of the dispute.]

9. From the conjoint reading of both the provisions, it is clear that the word "Court' used in Section 34 has been defined under the definition clause 2 (1) (e) (i) and it means the Principal Civil Court of Original Jurisdiction in a district and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject matter of arbitration if the same had been the subject matter of suit.

10. The law in regard to the maintainability of the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 against an arbitral award has already been settled by the various judgments of Apex Court and the matter is no more res integra.

11. In Hindustan Cooper Limited Vs. Nicco Corporation Limited, 2009 (6) SCC 69, Apex Court while dealing with the said issue held that the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is to be filed before a Court which is a Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the question forming the subject matter of the arbitration. It was a case where application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was preferred before Jharkhand High Court which was not a Court having ordinary original civil jurisdiction, and the Apex Court found that the challenge being made directly to the High Court was not permissible under Section 34 and it remitted the matter filed under Section 34 to the Civil Court competent to hear and decide the same.

12. In case of Atlanta Limited (Supra) one of the parties had approached the Principal Civil Court at district Thane, while the other party approached Bombay High Court which had the ordinary original civil jurisdiction, the Apex Court held that the High Court was competent to entertain the application under Section 34 being the superior Court. Relevant paragraph no. 25 is extracted here as under;

"25. All the same, it is imperative for us to determine, which of the above two courts which have been approached by the rival parties, should be the one, to adjudicate upon the disputes raised. For an answer to the controversy in hand, recourse ought to be made first of all to the provisions of the Arbitration Act. On the failure to reach a positive conclusion, other principles of law, may have to be relied upon. Having given out thoughtful consideration to the issue in hand, we are of the view, that the rightful answer can be determined from Section 2(1)(e) of the Arbitration Act, which defines the term "Court". We shall endeavour to determine this issue, by examining how litigation is divided between a High Court exercising "ordinary original civil jurisdiction", and the "principal civil court of original jurisdiction" in a district. What needs to be kept in mind is, that the High Court of Bombay is vested with "ordinary original civil jurisdiction" over the same area, over which jurisdiction is also exercised by the "principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction" for the District of Greater Mumbai (i.e. the Principal District Judge, Greater Mumbai). Jurisdiction of the above two courts on the "ordinary original civil side" is over the area of Greater Mumbai. Whilst examining the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant under Section 15 of the Code of Civil Procedure, we have already concluded, that in the above situation, jurisdiction will vest with the High Court and not with the District Judge. The aforesaid choice of jurisdiction has been expressed in Section 2(1)(e) of the Arbitration Act, without any fetters whatsoever. It is not the case of the appellants before us, that because of pecuniary dimensions, and/or any other consideration(s), jurisdiction in the two alternatives mentioned above, would lie with the Principal District Judge, Greater Mumbai. Under the scheme of the provisions of the Arbitration Act therefore, if the choice is between the High Court (in exercise of its "ordinary original civil jurisdiction") on the one hand, and the "principal civil court of original jurisdiction" in the District i.e. the District Judge on the other; Section 2(1)(e) of the Arbitration Act has made the choice in favour of the High Court. This in fact impliedly discloses a legislative intent. To our mind therefore, it makes no difference, if the "principal civil court of original jurisdiction", is in the same district over which the High Court exercises original jurisdiction, or some other district. In case an option is to be exercised between a High Court (under its "ordinary original civil jurisdiction") on the one hand, and a District Court (as "principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction") on the other, the choice under the Arbitration Act has to be exercised in favour of the High Court."

13. In State of West Bengal Vs. Associated Contractors, AIR 2015 (SC) 260, Apex Court considering the decision rendered in Atlanta Limited (Supra) as well as 7 Judge Bench decision in case of S.B.P. Company Vs. Patel Engineering Limited and another (2005) 8 SCC 618, held as under;

"25. Our conclusions therefore on Section 2(1)(e) and Section 42 of the Arbitration Act, 1996 are as follows:

(a) Section 2(1)(e) contains an exhaustive definition marking out only the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district or a High Court having original civil jurisdiction in the State, and no other court as "court" for the purpose of Part-I of the Arbitration Act, 1996.

(b) The expression "with respect to an arbitration agreement" makes it clear that Section 42 will apply to all applications made whether before or during arbitral proceedings or after an Award is pronounced under Part-I of the 1996 Act.

(c) However, Section 42 only applies to applications made under Part-I if they are made to a court as defined. Since applications made under Section 8 are made to judicial authorities and since applications under Section 11 are made to the Chief Justice or his designate, the judicial authority and the Chief Justice or his designate not being court as defined, such applications would be outside Section 42.

(d) Section 9 applications being applications made to a court and Section 34 applications to set aside arbitral awards are applications which are within Section 42.

(e) In no circumstances can the Supreme Court be "court" for the purposes of Section 2(1)(e), and whether the Supreme Court does or does not retain seisin after appointing an Arbitrator, applications will follow the first application made before either a High Court having original jurisdiction in the State or a Principal Civil court having original jurisdiction in the district as the case may be.

(f) Section 42 will apply to applications made after the arbitral proceedings have come to an end provided they are made under Part-I.

(g) If a first application is made to a court which is neither a Principal Court of original jurisdiction in a district or a High Court exercising original jurisdiction in a State, such application not being to a court as defined would be outside Section 42. Also, an application made to a court without subject matter jurisdiction would be outside Section 42.

The reference is answered accordingly."

14. A coordinate Bench of this Court in case of P.T.C. Techno Private Limited Vs. Samsung India Electronics Private Limited, Civil Misc. Arbitration Application No. 01 of 2018, decided on 26.02.2019 held that Allahabad High Court does not exercise ordinary original civil jurisdiction, hence the application under Section 34 was not maintainable before this Court.

15. The judgment in Atlanta Limited (Supra) relied on by the the applicants' counsel is of no help to him as Bombay High Court exercises ordinary original civil jurisdiction and, thus, Apex Court held that in view of Section 2 (1) (e) (i) it was empowered to entertain the application under Section 34 being a Court.

16. The said ratio is not applicable in the present case as Allahabad High Court does not exercises ordinary original civil jurisdiction and, thus, would not come within the ambit of Court as provided under Section 34 read with Section 2 (1) (e) (i) of the Act of 1996.

17. The application moved by the applicants under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 challenging the arbitral award passed by the sole Arbitrator is only maintainable before the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction and not this Court.

18. In view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in case of Atlanta Limited (Supra) and Associated Contractors (Supra), the present application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is not maintainable and same is hereby dismissed as not maintainable.

A. Civil Law - Constitution of India,1950-Article 226-maintainability of-Land acquisition-delay-petition filed after 10 years of passing of impugned order- Order passed by the Secretary, Department of Industrial Development, in terms of directions issued by this Court vid has been challenged by filing the present writ petition after a decade-Hence,Delay not condoned- even if there is no period prescribed for filing the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, yet it should be filed within a reasonable time. Relief to a person, who puts forward a stale claim can certainly be refused relief on account of delay and laches. Anyone who sleeps over his rights is bound to suffer. (Para 1 to 14)

B. Now the doctrine of laches in Courts of Equity is not an arbitrary or a technical doctrine. Where it would be practically unjust to give a remedy, either because the party has, by his conduct, done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it, or where by his conduct and neglect he has, though perhaps not waiving that remedy, yet put the other party in a situation in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted in either of these cases, lapse of time and delay are most material. But in every case, if an argument against relief, which otherwise would be just, is founded upon mere delay, that delay of course not amounting to a bar by any statute of limitations, the validity of that defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. Two circumstances, always important in such cases, are, the length of the delay and the nature of the acts done during the interval, which might affect either party and cause a balance of justice or injustice in taking the one course or the other, so far as relates to the remedy. ORDER

1. Order dated February 10, 2012 passed by the Secretary, Department of Industrial Development, in terms of directions issued by this Court vide order dated September 20, 2010 passed in Writ-C No.55926 of 2010, titled as Ram Avtar Sharma v. State of U.P. and others, has been challenged by filing the present writ petition.

2. In terms of aforesaid directions, application filed by the petitioner under Section 48 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') was to be decided. The writ petition challenging the acquisition of land otherwise was dismissed.

3. After hearing learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner, we do not find any case is made out for interference in the present writ petition, on account of huge delay and laches. The impugned order was passed by the Secretary of the Department concerned on February 10, 2012 and the writ petition has been filed more than a decade thereafter. As to how the petition, filed after huge delay, has to be dealt with has been considered by the Courts on number of occasions and the opinion expressed is that these petitions are required to be dismissed at the threshold.

4. In P. S. Sadasivasway v. State of Tamil Nadu, (1975) 1 SCC 152, wherein it has been laid down that a person aggrieved by an order of promoting a junior over his head should approach the court at least within six months or at the most a year of such promotion. It is not that there is any period of limitation for the Courts to exercise their powers under Article 226 nor is it that there can never be a case where the Courts cannot interfere in a matter after the passage of a certain length of time, but it would be a sound and wise exercise of discretion for the Courts to refuse to exercise their extraordinary powers under Article 226 in the case of persons who do not approach it expeditiously for the relief.

5. In New Delhi Municipal Council v. Pan Singh and others, (2007) 9 SCC 278, the Court has opined that though there is no period of limitation provided for filing a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, yet ordinarily a writ petition should be filed within a reasonable time. In the said case the respondents had filed the writ petition after seventeen years and the court, as stated earlier, took note of the delay and laches as relevant factors and set aside the order passed by the High Court which had exercised the discretionary jurisdiction.

6. In State of Uttaranchal and another v. Sri Shiv Charan Singh Bhandari and others 2013 (6) SLR 629, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, while considering the issue regarding delay and laches observed that even if there is no period prescribed for filing the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, yet it should be filed within a reasonable time. Relief to a person, who puts forward a stale claim can certainly be refused relief on account of delay and laches. Anyone who sleeps over his rights is bound to suffer.

7. In Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board and others v. T. T. Murali Babu 2014 (4) SCC 108, Hon'ble the Supreme Court opined as under:-

"13. First, we shall deal with the facet of delay. In Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation v. Balwant Regular Motor Service, Amravati and others, AIR 1969 SC 329, the Court referred to the principle that has been stated by Sir Barnes Peacock in Lindsay Petroleum Co. v. Prosper Armstrong Hurd, Abram Farewall, and John Kemp, (1874) 5 PC 221, which is as follows:-

"Now the doctrine of laches in Courts of Equity is not an arbitrary or a technical doctrine. Where it would be practically unjust to give a remedy, either because the party has, by his conduct, done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it, or where by his conduct and neglect he has, though perhaps not waiving that remedy, yet put the other party in a situation in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted in either of these cases, lapse of time and delay are most material. But in every case, if an argument against relief, which otherwise would be just, is founded upon mere delay, that delay of course not amounting to a bar by any statute of limitations, the validity of that defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. Two circumstances, always important in such cases, are, the length of the delay and the nature of the acts done during the interval, which might affect either party and cause a balance of justice or injustice in taking the one course or the other, so far as relates to the remedy."

15. In State of M. P. and others etc. etc. vs. Nandlal Jaiswal and others etc. etc., AIR 1987 SC 251, the Court observed that it is well settled that power of the High Court to issue an appropriate writ under Article 226 of the Constitution is discretionary and the High Court in exercise of its discretion does not ordinarily assist the tardy and the indolent or the acquiescent and the lethargic. It has been further stated therein that if there is inordinate delay on the part of the petitioner in filing a petition and such delay is not satisfactorily explained, the High Court may decline to intervene and grant relief in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction. Emphasis was laid on the principle of delay and laches stating that resort to the extraordinary remedy under the writ jurisdiction at a belated stage is likely to cause confusion and public inconvenience and bring in injustice.

16. Thus, the doctrine of delay and laches should not be lightly brushed aside. A writ court is required to weigh the explanation offered and the acceptability of the same. The court should bear in mind that it is exercising an extraordinary and equitable jurisdiction. As a constitutional court it has a duty to protect the rights of the citizens but simultaneously it is to keep itself alive to the primary principle that when an aggrieved person, without adequate reason, approaches the court at his own leisure or pleasure, the court would be under legal obligation to scrutinize whether the lis at a belated stage should be entertained or not. Be it noted, delay comes in the way of equity. In certain circumstances delay and laches may not be fatal but in most circumstances inordinate delay would only invite disaster for the litigant who knocks at the doors of the court. Delay reflects inactivity and inaction on the part of a litigant "a litigant who has forgotten the basic norms, namely, "procrastination is the greatest thief of time" and second, law does not permit one to sleep and rise like a phoenix. Delay does bring in hazard and causes injury to the lis. ... A court is not expected to give indulgence to such indolent persons- who compete with `Kumbhakarna' or for that matter 'Rip Van Winkle'. In our considered opinion, such delay does not deserve any indulgence and on the said ground alone the writ court should have thrown the petition overboard at the very threshold."

8. In State of Jammu & Kashmir vs. R. K. Zalpuri and others 2015 (15) SCC 602, Hon'ble the Supreme Court considered the issue regarding delay and laches in raising the dispute before the Court. It was opined that the issue sought to be raised by the petitioners therein was not required to be addressed on merits on account of delay and laches. The relevant paras thereof are extracted below:-

"27. The grievance agitated by the respondent did not deserve to be addressed on merits, for doctrine of delay and laches had already visited his claim like the chill of death which does not spare anyone even the one who fosters the idea and nurtures the attitude that he can sleep to avoid death and eventually proclaim "Deo gratias - thanks to God".

28. Another aspect needs to be stated. A writ court while deciding a writ petition is required to remain alive to the nature of the claim and the unexplained delay on the part of the writ petitioner. Stale claims are not to be adjudicated unless non-interference would cause grave injustice. The present case, need less to emphasise, did not justify adjudication. It deserves to be thrown overboard at the very threshold, for the writ petitioner had accepted the order of dismissal for half a decade and cultivated the feeling that he could freeze time and forever remain in the realm of constant present."

9. The aforesaid view was followed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Union of India and others v. Chaman Rana 2018 (5) SCC 798.

10. Subsequently, a Constitution Bench of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Senior Divisional Manager, Life Insurance Corporation v. Shree Lal Meena (2019) 4 SCC 479, considering the principle of delay and laches, opined as under:-

"36. We may also find that the appellant remained silent for years together and that this Court, taking a particular view subsequently, in Sheel Kumar Jain v. New India Assurance Company Limited, (2011)12 SCC 197 would not entitle stale claims to be raised on this behalf, like that of the appellant. In fact the appellant slept over the matter for almost a little over two years even after the pronouncement of the judgment.

37. Thus, the endeavour of the appellant, to approach this Court seeking the relief, as prayed for, is clearly a misadventure, which is liable to be rejected, and the appeal is dismissed."

11. Recently, in Bharat Coking Coal Ltd. And othyers v. Shyam Kishore Singh (Civil Appeal No.1009 of 2020, decided on 5.2.2020), the issue regarding the delay and laches, was considered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court and a petition filed belatedly, seeking change in the date of birth in the service record, was dismissed.

12. Relying on T.T. Murali Babu' case (supra) and R.K. Zalpuri'case (supra), same view has been expressed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Union of India and others Vs. N. Murugesan and others (2022) 2 SCC 25 observing:

"We have already dealt with the principles of law that may have a bearing on this case. ... there was an unexplained and studied reluctance to raise the issue .... Hence, on the principle governing delay, laches ... Respondent No. 1 ought not to have been granted any relief by invoking Article 226 of the Constitution of India."

13. In the case in hand, after hearing learned counsel for the parties and taking the above authorities into account, in our opinion, the petitioner is not entitled to any relief. It is, however, sought to be contended that the order dated February 10, 2012 was communicated vide Communication dated December 30, 2021, which is sought to be relied upon to show that the order was communicated to the petitioner quite late in the year 2021. However, a perusal thereof shows that it is not addressed to him. It is merely an inter-departmental communication from the Joint Secretary in the State of U.P. to the Greater

NOIDA. In any case, the same cannot be taken to be a reasonable explanation for condoning huge delay in filing the present writ petition. In this case, the direction was issued by this Court about a decade back. The petitioner should have been vigilant and enquired about the status of the application filed by him before the competent authority. There is nothing on record to suggest that he ever made any representation or enquired about the order passed on his representation. In any case, the release of land under Section 48 of the Act is not a matter of right with the landowner. It is a power conferred on the Government.

14. For the reasons mentioned above, we do not find any merit in the present writ petition. The same is, accordingly, dismissed.

The petition is dismissed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The petitioner is Pramukh of Kshetra Panchayat, Gulavathi, Bulandshahr. She has preferred the instant petition calling in question a notification issued from the office of respondent no.2, Assistant Development Officer showing two vacancies of members on account of respondents no. 4 and 5 having tendered their resignations. The date of vacancy as per the said chart is 5.04.2022 in case of respondent no. 5 and 26.04.2022 in case of respondent no. 4.

2. It is not disputed before us that the resignation letter of the members namely respondents no.4 and 5 have been received in the office of Kshetra Panchayat on respective dates from which the vacancies have been made effective.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that mere submission of resignation by respondents no.4 and 5 will not result in vacancy unless the resignations are approved in the meeting of the Kshetra Panchayat. He submitted that D.P.R.O. had sent communications to the Additional Chief Officer, Zila Panchayat on 5.5.2022 and 7.4.2022 for requisitioning a meeting of Zila Panchayat members for the purposes of accepting their resignations. It is submitted that since the resignations have yet not been accepted, therefore, the notification of the vacancy is illegal.

4. In order to consider as to when the resignation of an elected member of a Kshettra Panchayat would be effective, the provision contained under Section 11 of the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Samitis and Zila Parishads Adhiniyam, 1961 [U.P. Act No. 33 of 1961], would be required to be adverted to.

5. Section 11 of the Act, 1961 as it originally stood, reads as follows:

"11. Resignation of Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or member. - (1) A Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or any member mentioned in clause (iii) of section (1) of section 6, or in sub-section (2) of that section may resign his office by giving notice of writing to the Kshettra Samiti.

(2) The resignation of the Pramukh shall take effect on the from the date on which the sanction thereto of the Adhyaksh is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti and the resignation of the Up-Pramukh or member shall take effect on and from the date on which the notice is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti."

6. Consequent to the Constitution (73rd Amendment) Act, 1992, the State Legislature considered it expedient to amend the United Provinces Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 and the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Samitis and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961 in keeping with the objectives and the guidelines incorporated in the Constitution amendment. The amendments were brought forth by the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Laws (Amendment) Act, 1994 [U.P. Act No. 9 of 1994].

7. Section 66 of the amending Act of 1994, relates to amendment of Section 11 of the U.P. Act No. 33 of 1961 and the same was in the following terms:

"66. Amendment of Section 11 - In Section 11 of the principal Act, -

(a) for sub-section (1), the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely, -

"(1) A Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or any elected member of the Kshettra Panchayat may resign his office by writing under his hand addressed, in the case of the Pramukh, to the Adhyaksha of the Zila Panchayat concerned, and in other cases to the Pramukh of the Kshettra Panchayat;";

(b) in sub-section (2), after the words "notice is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti", the words "and such Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or the member shall be deemed to have vacated his office" shall be inserted."

8. Section 11 of the Act of 1961, as it stood consequent to the amending Act of 1994, was as follows:

"11. Resignation of Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or member. - (1) A Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or any elected member of the Kshettra Panchayat may resign his office by writing under his hand addressed, in the case of Pramukh, to the Adhyaksha of the Zila Panchayat concerned, and in other cases to the Pramukh of the Kshettra Panchayat.

(2) The resignation of the Pramukh shall take effect on the from the date on which the sanction thereto of the Adhyaksh is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti and the resignation of the Up-Pramukh or member shall take effect on and from the date on which the notice is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti and such Pramukh, Up-Pramukh or the member shall be deemed to have vacated his office."

9. The Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Laws (Amendment) Act, 2007 [U.P. Act No. 44 of 2007] inter alia, brought about a general amendment in U.P. Act No. 33 of 1961 by providing for omission of the word "Up-Pramukh" wherever occurring in the Act, including the marginal headings and the Schedules. Section 9 of the Amending Act of 2007 which brought about the aforestated general amendment, reads as follows:-

"9. General Amendment of U.P. Act No. 33 of 1961. - In the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Panchayats and Zila Panchayats Adhiniyam, 1961, hereinafter in this chapter referred to as the principal Act, the words "Up-Pramukh", "Senior Up-Pramukh", "Junior Up-Pramukh" and "Upadhyaksha" wherever occurring including marginal headings and Schedules, shall be omitted."

10. Section 11 of the U.P. Act No. 33 of 1961, after the amendments brought into effect in terms of the amending Act of 2007, presently stands as under:-

"11. Resignation of Pramukh or member. - (1) A Pramukh, or any elected member of the Kshettra Panchayat may resign his office by writing under his hand addressed, in the case of Pramukh, to the Adhyaksha of the Zila Panchayat concerned, and in other cases to the Pramukh of the Kshettra Panchayat.

(2) The resignation of the Pramukh shall take effect on the from the date on which the sanction thereto of the Adhyaksh is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti and the resignation of member shall take effect on and from the date on which the notice is received in the office of the Kshettra Samiti and such Pramukh or the member shall be deemed to have vacated his office."

11. Thus, Section 11(2) of the U.P. Kshetra Panchayats and Zila Panchayats Adhiniyam, 1961 stipulates that a member shall be deemed to have vacated his office from the date on which notice of his resignation is received in the office of Kshetra Panchayat. The vacancy becomes effective from a date envisaged under the deeming provision engrafted in the statute. It thus becomes operative by operation of law from the date notice is received in the office of the Kshetra Panchayat. Unlike in case of Pramukh, the resignation to become effective, in case of a member, does not require any approval.

12. Indisputably, the notices of resignation were received in the office of Kshetra Panchayat on 5.04.2022 and 26.4.2022, respectively. Consequently, there is no illegality in the impugned notification.

13. The petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

A. Civil Law - Kazis Act,1880-Sections 2,4-Appointment of Kazi-Claim of petitioner for appointment as City Kazi has been rejected-Even there was not considerable number of persons belonging to Muslim Community of locality expressing their support for appointment of the petitioner as "Kazi"-Appointment of a person as Kazi does no confer any exclusive right upon that person-It is a mere title, conferment of which rests in the discretion of State-Hence, no interference requires.(Para 1 to 12)

B. A close examination of the provisions of section 2 of the Act would indicate that for appointment of a person as Kazi there are two stages. The first stage is that it must appear to the State Government that a considerable number of the Mohammedans residing in any local area desire that one or more Kazis should be appointed for such local area. Once, the first stage is crossed, the State gets discretion to appoint, if it thinks fit, one or more fit persons, after consultation with the principal Mohammedan residents of such local area. (Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.
Hon'ble Anil Kumar Ojha, J.)

1. This matter has been heard through video conferencing.

2. We have heard Sri Mahabir Yadav for the petitioner; the learned Standing Counsel for the respondents 1 to 7; and have perused the record.

3. The petitioner seeks quashing of the order dated 20.6.2019 passed by Principal Secretary (Nyay Anubhag-3) (Appointments), Govt. of U.P., Lucknow rejecting the representation of the petitioner for appointment as a "Kazi" under Section 2 of the Kazis Act, 1880 (for short the Act).

4. Briefly stated the facts giving rise to this petition are as under: One Janab Sayed Sabir was earlier appointed as Kazi in Agra City. He died in the year 2013. After his death no City Kazi has been appointed by the State. The petitioner, by claiming that he had been performing duty as a Naib City Kazi, applied to the State Government seeking for his appointment as "Kazi". When no decision was taken on the application of the petitioner, a writ petition was filed which was disposed off by requiring the concerned Secretary in the Government to take decision on petitioner's claim. When a decision was not taken, contempt application was filed. Now, by the impugned order, the claim of the petitioner for appointment as Kazi has been rejected.

5. A perusal of the impugned order reveals that the State Govt., upon consideration of the provisions of Section 2 of the Act, found that there was not considerable number of persons belonging to the Muslim Community of the locality expressing their support for appointment of the petitioner as "Kazi" inasmuch as recommendation for his appointment came from only six persons.

6. The learned counsel for the petitioner by inviting our attention to various recommendation letters as also to paragraph 6 of the writ petition wherein it is stated that Janab Sayed Sabir, the erstwhile "City Kazi", had required the petitioner to perform as Naib City Kazi, submitted that rejection of petitioner's claim for appointment as "Kazi" is arbitrary.

7. In reply, the stand of the respondents is that, under Section 2 of the Act, the State Government has complete discretion whether to appoint a person as Kazi or not, after drawing satisfaction that considerable number of Mohammedans residing in any local area desire that one or more Kazis be appointed for such local area. It is therefore the case of the respondents that once a decision has been taken upon finding that the support for appointment of the petitioner is not considerable, such decision is not justiciable.

8. Before we proceed to weigh the rival submissions, it would be useful to have a glimpse at the relevant provisions of the Act. Sections 2 and 4 of the Act are relevant to understand the true import of its provisions. They are thus extracted below:

"Section 2.-- Power to appoint Kazis for any local area.-- Wherever it appears to the State Government that any considerable number of the Muhammadans resident in any local area desire that one or more Kazis should be appointed for such local area, the State Government may, if it thinks fit, after consulting the principal Mohammedan residents of such local area, select one or more fit persons and appoint him or them to be Kazis for such local area.

If any question arises whether any person has been rightly appointed Kazi under this section, the decision thereof by the State Government shall be conclusive.

The State Government may, if it thinks fit, suspend or remove any Kazi appointed under this section who is guilty of any misconduct in the execution of his office, or who is for a continuous period of six months absent from the local area for which he is appointed or leaves such local area for the purpose of residing elsewhere, or is declared an insolvent, or desires to be discharged from the office, or who refuses or becomes in the opinion of the State Government unfit, or personally incapable, to discharge the duties of the office."

Section 4.-- Nothing in the Act to confer judicial or administrative powers; or to render the presence of Kazi necessary; or to prevent any one acting as Kazi.-- Nothing herein contained and no appointment made hereunder, shall be deemed--*

(a) to confer any judicial or administrative powers on any Kazi or Naib Kazi appointed hereunder; or

(b) to render the presence of a Kazi or Naib Kazi necessary at the celebration of any marriage or the performance of any rite or ceremony; or

(c) to prevent any person discharging any of the functions of a Kazi."

9. A close examination of the provisions of section 2 of the Act would indicate that for appointment of a person as Kazi there are two stages. The first stage is that it must appear to the State Government that a considerable number of the Mohammedans residing in any local area desire that one or more Kazis should be appointed for such local area. Once, the first stage is crossed, the State gets discretion to appoint, if it thinks fit, one or more fit persons, after consultation with the principal Mohammedan residents of such local area. Section 4 of the Act by declaring that no appointment made under the Act could prevent a person from discharging any of the functions of a Kazi clarifies that appointment of a Kazi does not confer any exclusive status or powers.

10. A Division Bench of the Madras High Court in Katil Sheikh Ummar Saheb V. Khazi Budan Khan Saheb, AIR 1915 Madras 28 upon examination of the provisions of Sections 2 and 4 of the Act held that the object of the Kazis Act was merely to appoint a person whose duty it would be to render certain services to such Mohammedans as may choose to resort to him for certain purposes, and does not confer on him any exclusive right to perform the functions which his office requires him to discharge.

11. Having examined the scheme of the Act and the decision noticed above, we are of the view that the appointment of a person as Kazi does not confer any exclusive right upon that person. It is therefore a mere title, conferment of which rests in the discretion of the State, subject to the provisions of the Act. No one therefore, gets a right to claim appointment as Kazi under the Act. Thus, keeping in mind that denial of appointment does not affect any right of the petitioner, the decision of the State Government rejecting petitioner's claim for appointment as Kazi does not give a cause of action to the petitioner to maintain a writ petition. Had it been a case of taking away the conferred title of Kazi from the petitioner, situation would have been different and he would have had a right to question the same on grounds permissible for judicial review. But here the petitioner was never appointed by the State Government therefore a question of his removal does not arise.

12. For the reasons aforesaid, we do not find a good reason to entertain this petition. The petition is dismissed.

A. Civil Law - Constitution of India, 1950 & Central Goods and Services Tax Act,2017 –Challenge to appellate order- In the present case, the show cause notice as issued to the petitioner had made three precise allegations that the supplier of the goods to the respondents had supplied the goods without generation of the e-way bills which was contrary to the E-Way Bill Rules and thus, the claim of the respondents was liable to be rejected- That being the nature of the allegations levelled in the show cause notice, the submission that the goods sent from Surat to Kanpur for export did not carry e-way bills as admitted by the respondents in their memo of appeal, cannot be accepted as it is well settled that the allegations as levelled in the show cause notice should be clear and specific and the findings cannot go beyond the allegations as levelled in the show cause notice- It is well settled that the show cause notice is issued to make the noticee understand the allegation and facts as are levelled in the show cause notice and it is aimed that putting the noticee to whom the show cause notice is issued on guard, In the present case, no allegations were levelled in the show cause notice to the effect that the respondents had transferred the finished goods for export from Surat to Kanpur without e-way bill as such the arguments of petitioner on that count are without any foundation and thus liable to be rejected. the specific finding by the Commissioner (Appeals) that the goods were received by the respondents through e-way bills within the same city, there was no requirement of generation of e-way bills as provided under the notification dated 19.09.2018, the said finding has not been shown to be perverse or in any way arbitrary or illegal.(Para 1 to 17)

B. In the present case, the respondents moved an application seeking refund of the CGST through their application dated 20.02.2020 claiming an amount of Rs.1,84,17,252/- on the tax paid inputs of the Goods, which was ultimately exported by the respondents. It is claimed that after verifying the claims, prima-facie an acknowledgment was issued to the respondents and a provisional order dated 04.03.2020 allowing partial refund amounting to Rs.1,65,75,526.80 was granted on a provisional basis out of the total refund claimed. When the claims of the respondent were subjected to scrutiny, the department was of the view that the provisional refund granted to the respondents was erroneous refund and, as such, a show cause notice dated 07.04.2020 was issued to the respondents calling upon the respondents to show cause as to why the application for grant of refund may not be rejected. (Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard the counsel for the petitioner and Sri Jayant Kumar assisted by Sri Vibhanshu Srivastava, the counsel for the respondents.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the appellate order dated 13.08.2021 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Appeals), Customs, GST and Central Excise whereby the Appeal No.31-GST/2020 has been allowed. The said appeal is stated to have been preferred by the respondents against the Order-in-Original dated 24.04.2020 passed by the Deputy Commissioner, Central Excise and Service Tax, Division-I, Lucknow whereby the claim of the respondents was rejected.

3. The facts, in brief, are that the respondents moved an application seeking refund of the CGST through their application dated 20.02.2020 claiming an amount of Rs.1,84,17,252/- on the tax paid inputs of the Goods, which was ultimately exported by the respondents. It is claimed that after verifying the claims, prima-facie an acknowledgment was issued to the respondents and a provisional order dated 04.03.2020 allowing partial refund amounting to Rs.1,65,75,526.80 was granted on a provisional basis out of the total refund claimed. When the claims of the respondent were subjected to scrutiny, the department was of the view that the provisional refund granted to the respondents was erroneous refund and, as such, a show cause notice dated 07.04.2020 was issued to the respondents calling upon the respondents to show cause as to why the application for grant of refund may not be rejected and further why the recovery of the sanctioned amount should not be initiated against the respondents and why the recovery of Input Tax Credit of the remaining amount should not be initiated along with the interest thereupon. The show cause notice is contained in Annexure no.2 to the writ petition.

4. From perusal of the show cause notice, it is clear that the allegations were that the respondents had claimed the Input Tax Credit in the form of IGST against the supply received from three Tax Payers named therein. It was further alleged that one of the supplier namely M/s Risuddeen Kamruddin Shekh had issued 132 invoices totaling to Rs.10,02,08,500/- in the month of January 2019, similarly one supplier namely M/s Sagar Rajendra Sonvane had issued 84 invoices totaling to Rs.6,38,07,492/- in the month of March 2019 and similarly M/s Ahmed Tax had issued 10 invoices in the month of April 2019 totaling to Rs.9,70,666/-, 18 invoices in May 2019 totaling to Rs.17,81,692/- and three invoices in the month of June 2019 totaling to Rs.3,07,592/-. It was further alleged that as per the E-way Bill Rules contained in Chapter XVI of the CGST Rules 2017, the information was required to be furnished prior to the commencement of the movement of the goods and generation of e-way bill by the registered person, which has not been done. This fact was revealed to the department on the scrutinizing of GSTR-2A return filed by the respondents. It was further alleged that all theses three suppliers named above had done huge volume of business in a very short span of time and subsequently their registration was canceled.

5. The respondents were called upon to show cause and to produce the invoices raised by the said suppliers / taxpayers and e-way bills generated in the process so as to ascertain if the goods were indeed received by the respondents and the Input Tax Credit has been claimed in accordance with the Section 16(2) of the CGST Act 2017. It has been alleged that despite asking for the same, the respondents failed to produce the same and thus, they were asked to show cause as to why the action as prescribed in the show cause notice may not be taken. It is claimed that the respondents did not give the reply which led to the passing of the order dated 24.04.2020 (Annxure no.3). In the said order, it has been recorded that the taxpayer did not respond against the charges raised in the show cause notice and neither did the taxpayer appear on the personal hearing date and thus agreeing with the allegations levelled in the show cause notice, a view was formed by the Deputy Commissioner that the suppliers to the respondents had actually not supplied the goods in the absence of their being any e-way bill generated in favour of the respondents and thus the following order came to be passed :

"(i). I reject the remaining 10% of the Refund claim amounting to Rs. 18,41,725/-.

(ii). I confirm the recovery of Input Tax Credit of the remaining refund amount i.e. Rs. 18,41,725/- under Section 74 read with Section 16 of the CGST Act, 2017 read with the IGST Act, 2017.

(iii). I confirm that the refund to the taxpayer has erroneously been made and accordingly, the already sanctioned amount to the tune of Rs. 61,18,640/- may be recovered under Section 74 of the CGST Act, 2017, read with the IGST Act, 2017.

(iv). I confirm the interest on the above points (ii) and (iii) under Section 50 read with Section 54 of the CGST Act, 2017, read with the IGST Act, 2017.

(v). I impose the penalty amounting to Rs.79,60,365/- under Section 74 of the CGST Act, 2017, read with the IGST Act, 2017.

(vi). I impose the penalty amounting to Rs.79,60,365/- under Section 122 (1)(viii) of the CGST Act, 2017 for obtaining refund fraudulently, read with the IGST Act, 2017.

(vii). I impose the penalty amounting to Rs.79,60,365/- under Section 122 (1)(xiv) of the CGST Act, 2017 for transporting taxable goods without the cover of specified documents i.e. e-way bill, read with the IGST Act, 2017."

6. The respondents aggrieved against the said order preferred an appeal before the Additional Commissioner (Appeals) CGST, Lucknow wherein it was specifically stated that the inputs received by the respondents were sent from Surat to the warehouse of the respondents at Surat where they were processed and subsequently the goods were exported through ICD Kanpur after transporting the goods from Surat to Kanpur. They placed reliance upon the notification No.GSL/GST/Rule-138 (14)/B.19 dated 19.09.2018 issued by the Commissioner of State Tax, Gujarat State Ahmadabad wherein the authority had issued a notification providing that e-way bill was not required to be generated for intra-city movement of any goods irrespective of the value.

Placing reliance on the said notification, the respondents argued before the Commissioner (Appeals) that the foundation for passing of the order, namely non-generation of e-way bills had no basis as the goods were received by the respondents from suppliers at Surat at their office at Surat and thus there was no requirement of the generation of e-way bill by the suppliers. The Commissioner (Appeals) agreeing with the contentions as raised by the respondents proceeded to allow the appeal by means of the impugned judgment dated 13.08.2021 whereby, the appeal was allowed and the order under challenge was set aside and further directions were issued to sanction the refund of amount of Rs.18,41,725/- to the appellant.

7. The department has preferred the present writ petition challenging the said order in view of the fact that the appellate tribunal has not been created as prescribed under the statute and the petitioner cannot be left remedy-less in the absence of creation of the statutory tribunal.

8. Sri K. D. Nag appearing on behalf of the petitioner argues that in view of the averments as made in the memo of the appeal, the respondents admit that the goods were transported from Surat to ICD Panki Kanpur for its further export without the e-way bills and in view of the statement as contained in the memo of appeal, the appellate authority has erred in allowing the appeal.

9. Subsequent to the filing of the appeal, a supplementary affidavit was filed duly sworn by one Sri Rakesh Srivastav wherein he had specifically stated that no e-way bills were ever annexed with the appeal and they were not produced before the learned Additional Commissioner (Appeals). The said averments made in paragraph 7 of the supplementary affidavit were sworn on the basis of the records.

10. The counsel for the respondents had drawn my attention to the specific assertions made highlighting that the invoices depicting the purchase of the goods by the respondents were duly produced through an excel sheet filed during the pendency of the appeal on 02.03.2020. The appellate authority in the impugned order also recorded that in view of the e-way bills, the respondents were entitled to the benefit of the notification dated 19.09.2018 and on the said foundation had allowed the appeal. This court finding contradictions in the supplementary affidavit filed by the department and the stand taken by the respondents had called for the records of the case before the Commissioners (Appeals), which has been produced today. I have perused the record which contain the invoices whereby the goods were supplied by the suppliers to the respondents at Surat.

11. In view of the records as produced today, prima-facie the supplementary affidavit filed by Sri Rakesh Srivastava, prima-facie does not appear to be correct. Sri K. D. Nag clarifies that the affidavit was filed based upon the copy of the memo of the appeal served by the respondents to the department and there was no deliberate error or misleading of the facts. The court accepts the said explanation offered by Sri Nag with a advice that the department should be careful in future in filing such affidavit.

12. Coming to the facts leading to the present case, the show cause notice as issued to the petitioner had made three precise allegations that the supplier of the goods to the respondents had supplied the goods without generation of the e-way bills which was contrary to the E-Way Bill Rules and thus, the claim of the respondents was liable to be rejected. That being the nature of the allegations levelled in the show cause notice, the submission of Sri K. D. Nag that the goods sent from Surat to Kanpur for export did not carry e-way bills as admitted by the respondents in their memo of appeal, cannot be accepted as it is well settled that the allegations as levelled in the show cause notice should be clear and specific and the findings cannot go beyond the allegations as levelled in the show cause notice.

13. It is well settled that the show cause notice is issued to make the noticee understand the allegation and facts as are levelled in the show cause notice and it is aimed that putting the noticee to whom the show cause notice is issued on guard, this view has been expressed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Oryx Fisheries Private Limited vs. Union of India and others; (2010) 13 SCC 427, judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Siemens Public Communication Networks Private Limited and another vs. Union of India and others reported at (2008) 16 SCC 215 and explaining in Gorkha Security Services vs. Government of NCT (2014) 9 SCC 105. In the present case, the show cause notice is confined to the allegations against the respondents receiving the supplies of goods without the e-way bills, which fact has been dealt with by the appellate authority after perusing the invoices that the goods were supplied to the respondents from Surat to Surat and thus, the notification dated 19.09.2018 was clearly in favour of the respondents.

14. In the present case, no allegations were levelled in the show cause notice to the effect that the respondents had transferred the finished goods for export from Surat to Kanpur without e-way bill as such the arguments of Sri Nag on that count are without any foundation and thus liable to be rejected.

15. In view of the specific finding by the Commissioner (Appeals) that the goods were received by the respondents through e-way bills within the same city, there was no requirement of generation of e-way bills as provided under the notification dated 19.09.2018, the said finding has not been shown to be perverse or in any way arbitrary or illegal in the arguments as raised by Sri Nag and referred to above.

16. In view thereof, no interference is called for in the appellate order.

17. The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

A. Civil Law - Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- in the instant case, no document was required to be filed along with the application form- The procedure followed by HPCL was that after an applicant is selected, he is informed of the same and at that stage, he was required to submit documents, therefore, even if the affidavit, as initially filed by the petitioner, was of a subsequent date, it would have no adverse effect nor would render his candidature ineligible-In alternative, he submitted that the petitioner having filed on record the affidavit of his mother of a date prior to submission of application form and there being no time limit prescribed under the brochure for supplying the documents, the affidavit filed along with the representation dated 24.7.2019 ought to have been considered-the decision taken by the respondent No. 2 declining to consider the affidavit submitted by the

3. The facts, in brief, necessary for decision of the instant petition are that the petitioner applied online on 22.12.2018 for allotment of retail outlet dealership at Gram Chhaparapuri, Pargana Mahuli Purab Tehsil Dhanghata, District Sant Kabir Nagar under OBC category in pursuance of advertisement dated 25.11.2018 issued by Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited (in short "HPCL'). The petitioner offered, for setting up of the retail outlet, a piece of land owned by his mother on long term lease for a period of nineteen years and eleven months. The petitioner's application was considered by HPCL along with other applicants falling under Group 1. It is pertinent to note that Group 1 applicants are those, who have suitable piece of land in the advertised location/area or long term lease for a period of minimum nineteen years and eleven months. The petitioner was found successful in the Draw of Lots of Group 1 applicants held on 4.7.2019. He was intimated about the same by HPCL by letter dated 5.7.2019 and was required to complete various formalities including the one relating to submission of certain documents. Amongst other, the documents required to be submitted were declaration in Appendix- III A (for offer of land) and Appendix- III B (Advocate's letter). It further stipulated that verification of all attested copies with the original documents would be done during Field Verification of Credentials and that applicant should be in possession of original documents, photostat whereof had been submitted. It further provided that the candidature would be cancelled, in case, initial security deposit is not remitted or the documents listed above, are not submitted within ten days from the date of intimation. It seems that the petitioner in purported compliance of the requirements contained in letter dated 5.7.2019 submitted various documents on 11.7.2019 enclosing therewith affidavit of his mother dated 10.7.2019 in Appendix-

III A and Certificate of Advocate in Appendix- III B (dt. 22.12.2018). Respondent No. 2 by order dated 18.7.2019 informed the petitioner that the documents submitted by him are not valid for considering the offer of land in Group I. Accordingly, he was declared ineligible. He was also informed that now his candidature would be considered along with Group III applicants as per guidelines. On receipt of the said letter, the petitioner made a representation on 24.7.2019 stating therein that, by inadvertence, he had filed a recent affidavit of his mother in Appendix- III A albeit having filed the Declaration of Advocate in form III B of a date on which application was filed. He further stated that at the time of submitting the documents, he was informed that documents were in order. Now, he has come to know that his candidature has been rejected finding fault with the affidavit of his mother in Appendix- III A inasmuch as it was not of a date on which original application was filed or prior to it. He submitted that affidavit of his mother in Appendix- III A, which was dated 17.12.2018, i.e. prior to the date on which the application was submitted (22.12.2018) was in his possession and the same was duly enclosed with the representation, with prayer to consider the same. By the impugned order dated 30.12.2019, the respondent No. 2 has declined to consider the affidavit dated 17.12.2018 on the ground that it has been submitted after due date of submission of documents.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the petitioner was in possession of affidavit of his mother dated 17.12.2018 and Certificate of Advocate dated 22.12.2018 (Appendix- III-A and III-B respectively) of a date prior to the last date specified in the advertisement for submission of application form. At the time of submission of documents, in pursuance of letter dated 5.7.2019, one of the document submitted by the petitioner was Certificate of Advocate in Appendix- III B dated 22.12.2018 (on which date, the application form was submitted). However, under some misapprehension, he filed recent affidavit of his mother along with other documents. As soon as the petitioner came to know that respondents were insisting for an affidavit of a date prior to the submission of application form, the petitioner immediately filed affidavit of his mother dated 17.12.2018, which he was having in his possession even at the time of making the application, along with representation dated 24.7.2019 and requested the respondents to consider the same before proceeding any further in the matter. However, the respondents, in a wholly illegal and arbitrary manner, refused to consider the same. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that submission of documents was a stage after a candidate is declared successful, therefore, in any event, the affidavit in Appendix- III A, which was filed by the petitioner along with his representation dated 24.7.2019 ought to have been considered. It is further submitted that the time limit prescribed for filing the documents by letter dated 5.7.2019 was directory in nature and not mandatory, and in appropriate case, it can be relaxed. Thus, once the petitioner had duly brought to the notice of the respondents, the fact that the petitioner was in possession of affidavit of his mother dated 17.12.2018 but on account of some confusion and inadvertence, he filed a recent affidavit, the respondents ought to have considered the same.

5. Sri Nishant Mehrotra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent No. 2 submitted that the documents should be of a date on which application was filed or prior to it. In support of his contention, he has relied upon Note 1, page 12 of the brochure relating to selection of dealership for regular and rural retail outlets, which reads as follows:

"1. All certificate/documents required for meeting Eligibility/Specific eligibility criteria should be in possession of the applicant and valid as on date of application."

6. He has further placed reliance on the stipulation in Clause 13 of the Application Form to the effect that "The above piece of plot owned by me/my family member (as defined in clause 4(v)e of the Brochure) either by way of ownership/long term lease, would be made available for a period of minimum 19 years 11 months as advertised by the Oil Company Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd..

That as per the documents and report from advocate, available with me/us, my/our offer qualifies for being considered under "GROUP 1" as defined in clause 4 (v) of the Brochure for retail outlet dealer selection by the Oil Company Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd."

7. It is submitted that the applicant can make the above declaration only if he was already in possession of the documents contemplated under Appendix- III A and III B. It is urged that this is further clear from paragraph 3 of the Appendix III A, which is as follow:-

"3. That in case he/she/M/s. (name of the Entity) is selected for RO dealership I will either sell/transfer/lease the above mentioned piece of land to Oil Company or to Shri/Smt/Kum/M/s. (name of the Entity _____ for setting of Retail Outlet facilitates at the above mentioned location as per the site plan duly signed by me/all co-owners. In case of lease, I further confirm that I have no objection if the subject piece of land leased to Shri/Smt./Kum/M/s. (name of the Entity) _____ is further leased/sub-leased to the Oil Company by him/her as per terms of the Oil Company."

8. Sri Nishant Mehrotra further submitted that since the affidavit in Appendix- III A was of a date subsequent to the date of filing the application form, the respondent-Corporation is fully justified in rejecting petitioner's application under category Group 1. He further submitted that since by letter dated 5.7.2019 while informing the petitioner about his selection, he was granted ten days' time to supply documents, therefore, the documents supplied at a later stage cannot be considered. In support of the said submission, he placed reliance on judgment of Bombay High Court in Nikhil S/o Dilipsing Rajput Vs. Union of India and others, 2021 SCC OnLine Bom 489 and Madras High Court in Ganapathiraman Srinivasan Vs. India Oil Corporation Ltd., 2021 SCC OnLine Mad 1172.

9. In reply, learned counsel for the petitioner tried to distinguish the above judgments by contending that the selection procedure followed in these cases required the applicants to submit documents along with application form, therefore, the documents had to be in possession of the applicant on the date of filing of the application form and the said deficiency cannot be made good at a later stage by submitting certificate/affidavit on a subsequent date. However, in the instant case, no document was required to be filed along with the application form. The procedure followed by HPCL was that after an applicant is selected, he is informed of the same and at that stage, he was required to submit documents, therefore, even if the affidavit, as initially filed by the petitioner, was of a subsequent date, it would have no adverse effect nor would render his candidature ineligible. In alternative, he submitted that the petitioner having filed on record the affidavit of his mother of a date prior to submission of application form and there being no time limit prescribed under the brochure for supplying the documents, the affidavit filed along with the representation dated 24.7.2019 ought to have been considered.

10. We have considered the rival submissions and perused the relevant provisions of the brochure relating to selection of dealership.

11. At the outset, we may mention that we made a specific query from Sri Nishant Mehrotra as to whether any document was required to be filed along with application form. He verified the said fact from the officials of HPCL. In this regard, email received by him from the concerned official of HPCL has been placed on record and it clarifies the position thus:- "We seek documents including Appendix IIIA only after selection of applicant in Draw of lots/Bid opening."

12. The first issue for consideration is whether the affidavit filed by the petitioner in Appendix- III A of a date subsequent to the submission of application form can be considered as valid compliance of the conditions as stipulated in the brochure. In this regard, he may like to refer to Note. 1 at page 12 of the brochure quoted above. According to it, all certificates/documents required for meeting specific eligibility criteria should be in possession of the applicant and valid as on date of application. According to the brochure, there is a common eligibility criteria for all applicants applying as individual as on date of application, unless mentioned otherwise. Thereunder, land and various conditions and requirements attached thereto is also covered. The other type of eligibility prescribed is specific eligibility for those applying in different reserved categories.

13. The stipulation in the application form contained in Clause 13 to the effect that piece of land offered belonging to family member either by way of ownership or long term lease would be made available for a period of nineteen years and eleven months as advertised by the Oil Company as well as paragraph 3 of the form in Appendix III A clearly reveals that an applicant would be in position to make concrete offer of land belonging to his family members only if he is in possession of affidavit in form III -A on or before the date of submission of the application form. The same view has been taken in the judgments cited by the learned counsel for the respondent No. 2. Therefore, we do not find any force in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the affidavit of his mother of a date subsequent to the date of filing of the application form was valid compliance of the requirements under the selection procedure.

14. Coming to the alternative submission, it may be noted that in the selection procedure, which has been adopted by respondent No. 2 in the case at hand, indisputably documents were not required to be submitted along with the application form but after the applicant is declared successful in Draw of Lots, which has been confirmed by the official of respondent No. 2 via email sent to their counsel, Sri Nishant Mehrotra and a copy of which, has also been placed on record. In fact, the same is also clear from the stipulation made in the communication dated 5.7.2019 whereby the petitioner was informed about his selection and was required to submit various documents, one amongst them being affidavit as prescribed by Appendix- III A. Sri Nishant Mehrotra, learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation admits that, in the brochure, there is no time limit prescribed for filing of the documents, however as noted above, the petitioner was provided ten days for submitting the documents in question. Indisputably, the petitioner had submitted the documents on 11.7.2019 and along with which, apart from the Certificate of Advocate in Appendix- III B dated 22.12.2018 (the date on which the application form was submitted), the petitioner also filed affidavit of his mother in Appendix III A dated 10.7.2019. As soon as the petitioner came to know that the said affidavit is not acceptable to the respondents, he submitted a representation on 24.7.2019 and along with it, he filed an affidavit of his mother in Appendix- III A dated 17.12.2018, a date prior to the date of submission of the application form.

15. Concededly, vide allotment letter dated 5.7.2019, the petitioner was permitted ten days time to supply documents. Thus, even if it is assumed that letter dated 5.7.2019 was communicated to the petitioner on the same date, the said period of ten days expired on 15.7.2019. Consequently, it is evident that the affidavit in Appendix- III A dated 17.12.2018 was put on record before the respondent-Corporation by the petitioner with a delay of merely nine days. It is an admitted position that since the passing of order dated 30.12.2019, the selection rests at the same stage and has not proceeded any further so far. As noted above, in the brochure for selection of dealership, no specific time limit is prescribed for submitted documents in response to the letter of allotment. We, therefore, are of the considered opinion that in the absence of any statutory prohibition in accepting the documents beyond time frame prescribed in the letter of allotment and having regard to the fact that the petitioner submitted the affidavit of his mother in Appendix- III A of a date prior to the submission of application form soon after he came to know that recent affidavit is not acceptable as well as the fact that by that time, the selection had not progressed any further, respondent No. 2 ought to have considered the said affidavit.

16. In view of above, we are of the opinion that the decision taken by the respondent No. 2 declining to consider the affidavit submitted by the petitioner along with representation dated 24.7.2019 and communication dated 13.12.2019 are not sustainable and are hereby quashed. Since the respondent has yet not examined whether the said affidavit is genuine or not but has refused to consider the same solely on the ground that it was filed beyond time prescribed for submitting documents, therefore, we grant liberty to the respondent-Corporation to examine the said aspect and if it is found that affidavit is a genuine one, the respondent-Corporation shall proceed to consider the same as due compliance of the requirement relating to submission of affidavit in Appendix- III A and will proceed accordingly. The aforesaid exercise shall be completed by the respondent-Corporation within three weeks from today.

17. The writ petition stands disposed of with the above directions.

A. Civil Law - Code of Civil Procedrue,1908-Section 115, Order 26, Rule 9-Civil suit-Appointment of Court Commissioner- The case of the respondents/plaintiffs is that suit property is a joint family property in which a business of jewellery is being run-According to the plaint allegation, respondent no.2 was also a sleeping partner in the family business to the extent of 30% share- At the time of filing of the suit, respondents/plaintiffs also filed an application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. for the appointment of the court commissioner to make an inventory of the accounts and gold, silver, and jewellery lying in the stock of the firm-The trial court instead of going into the merits of the case proceeded to reject the same on the ground that more than three and half years have passed since the institution of suit and respondents/plaintiffs have not pressed the application therefore, there is no good ground to appoint court commissioner at this stage- Hence, the revision court has not committed any error in holding that revision is maintainable against the order passed by the trial court and has rightly remanded the matter to the trial court to decide the application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. afresh.(Para 1 to 30)

B. A Commissioner for local investigation is deputed under Order 26 Rule 9 CPC when the Court deems a local investigation to be requisite or proper for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute or for ascertaining any other matter mentioned in the said rule. The object of local investigation under the above provision is to obtain evidence which from its peculiar nature can best be had from the spot itself. Such evidence enables the Court to properly and correctly understand and assess the evidence on record already recorded. It clarifies or explains any point which is left doubtful on the evidence on record- Thus, keeping in view the law on the point in issue, as stated herein above, and the rival averments made by the parties as well as the evidence on record, a Commissioner's report of local investigation was absolutely necessary in this case.(Para 17)

7. Rajesh Kumar Gautam Vs Maha Mandleshwar Vedabayasanad Geeta Ashram (2003)95 RD 521.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for petitioners.

2. The petitioners who are defendants in the suit have assailed the order dated 03.07.2013 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Jaunpur in Civil Revision No.148 of 2007 whereby the revision court has allowed the application of respondents/plaintiffs for appointment of court commissioner.

3. The facts, in brief, are that respondent no.1 and 2 instituted a suit bearing Original Suit No.589 of 2003 praying for a decree of injunction in respect of their 1/3 share and rendition of account in respect of jwellery business being run in the suit property.

4. The suit has been instituted on the ground that the suit property was joint property and was purchased in the name of Urmila Devi, Lalti Devi, and Bindu Devi through various sale deeds. The construction lying before the sale deed on the suit property was demolished, and a house and shop were constructed over the said suit property after obtaining permission from the competent authority. It is further pleaded that it was agreed upon between the brothers i.e. husband of Urmila Devi, Lalti Devi, and Bindu Devi that the house shall remain joint property, and business in the house shall be run in the name of the wife of Bindu Bihari Verma (plaintiff no.1) and Nanhe Lal Verma (defendant no.2). It was also agreed that business shall be run under the supervision of Nanhe Lal Verma and in the name of 'Kirti Kunj Jwellers. In the said business, Urmila Devi-plaintiff no.2 wife of Bindu Bihari Verma (plaintiff no.1), and Lalti Devi wife of Nanhe Lal Verma-(defendant no.1) will be sleeping partners, and Nanhe Lal Verma will act as an acting partner.

5. It is further pleaded that respondents/plaintiff came to know that Bindu Devi-defendant no.3 and Ram Asrey Verma-defendant no.4 adopted the son of Lalti Devi and Nanhe Lal Verma. The respondents/plaintiffs further pleaded that they came to know that share of Bindu Devi in the suit property has been given to Nanhe Lal Verma which led to creating a doubt in the mind of respondents/plaintiffs that their share may be usurped by the petitioners/defendants. The respondents/plaintiffs demanded the petitioners/defendants to show accounts of the business, but petitioners/defendants refused to show the account of the business which led to filing the present suit praying for the aforesaid relief.

6. In the said suit, respondents/plaintiffs submitted an application 8Ga on 08.12.2003 under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. to prepare a map of the suit property and also make an inventory of gold, silver, and jwellery in the shop and the accounts of the business.

7. The aforesaid application was contested by the petitioners/defendants by filing objection 20Ga contending inter-alia that application 8Ga is misconceived.

8. The application 8Ga was rejected by the trial count on the ground that more than three and half years have passed since the institution of the suit, but respondents/plaintiffs did not press for disposal of the said application, therefore, at this stage, no ground is made out for entertaining the application 8Ga. Accordingly, the trial court dismissed the application 8Ga vide order dated 26.07.2007.

9. The respondents/plaintiffs preferred Civil Revision No.148 of 2007 against the order dated 26.07.2007 on the ground that the trial court has committed material irregularity in rejecting the application 8Ga of the respondents/plaintiffs. The aforesaid revision was contested by the petitioners/defendants contending interalia that revision under Section 115 of C.P.C. against an order rejecting or allowing the application is not maintainable.

10. The revision court vide order dated 03.07.2013 allowed the revision and remanded the matter to the trial court to decide the application 8Ga under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. afresh.

11. Challenging the aforesaid order, learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that an order allowing or rejecting the application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. is an interlocutory order, and as it has not decided any issue between the parties or disposed of the suit finally, therefore, revision is not maintainable against the said order.

12. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Ram Ishwar @ Rameshwar and Others Vs. Laxmi Narain and Another 2007 (102) RD 258 and judgement of Uttrakhand High Court in the case of Rajesh Kumar Gautam Vs. Maha Mandleshwar Vedabayasanad Geeta Ashram 2003 (95) RD 521.

13. Counsel for the respondents was not present. However, a counter affidavit has been filed by the respondents in which it has been pleaded that appointment of the court commissioner was necessary as the suit is for accountancy. It is further stated that an order rejecting or allowing the application amounts to a 'case decided' and as such revision is maintainable against the said order.

14. I have considered the argument of learned counsel for the petitioners and perused the record.

15. The fact as emanates from the record reflects that case of the respondents/plaintiffs is that suit property is a joint family property in which a business of jwellery is being run. According to the plaint allegation, respondent no.2 was also a sleeping partner in the family business to the extent of 30% share. At the time of filing of the suit, respondents/plaintiffs also filed an application 8Ga under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. for the appointment of the court commissioner to make an inventory of the accounts and gold, silver, and jwellery lying in the stock of the firm. The trial court instead of going into the merits of the case proceeded to reject the same on the ground that more than three and half years have passed since the institution of suit and respondents/plaintiffs have not pressed the application 8Ga filed on 08.12.2003, therefore, there is no good ground to appoint court commissioner at this stage.

16. The trial court did not dwell upon the merits of the case nor endeavoured to find out as to whether the appointment of the court commissioner is necessary for effective and proper adjudication of the lis involved in the suit between the parties.

17. This Court in the case of New Meena Sahkari Awas Samiti Ltd. LKO. Vs Additional District Judge, CT. No. 2 LKO; 2016 6 ADJ 595, after considering various pronouncements of the Apex Court, has held that the court cannot prevent a party from adducing the best evidence, if such evidence, can be gathered with the help of the Commissioner. In this respect, it would be apt to reproduce paragraph no. 29, 30, 32, 33, 34, and 35 of the said judgement:-

"29. In a suit for injunction to restrain the defendants from interfering with the possession due to alleged encroachment into the land of the plaintiff, one of the methods to find out as to whether or not there is encroachment is to have the local investigation done by a competent Commissioner.

30. A Commissioner for local investigation is deputed under Order 26 Rule 9 CPC when the Court deems a local investigation to be requisite or proper for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute or for ascertaining any other matter mentioned in the said rule. The object of local investigation under the above provision is to obtain evidence which from its peculiar nature can best be had from the spot itself. Such evidence enables the Court to properly and correctly understand and assess the evidence on record already recorded. It clarifies or explains any point which is left doubtful on the evidence on record.

32. Accordingly, rejected the same on the ground that at the stage of arguments there is no necessity for issue of Amin Commissioner. Thus, keeping in view the law on the point in issue, as stated herein above, and the rival averments made by the parties as well as the evidence on record, a Commissioner's report of local investigation was absolutely necessary in this case. The appellate Court, therefore, was not justified in rejecting the prayer of the petitioner/ plaintiff for issue of commission. As in the case of Ponnusamy v. Salem Vaiyappamalai Jangamar Sangam, AIR 1986 Mad 33, it is observed as follows : -

"The object of the local investigation under Order 26 Rule 9 is to collect evidence at the instance of the party who relies on the same and which evidence cannot be taken in Court but could be taken only from its peculiar nature on the spot. This evidence will elucidate a point which may otherwise be left in doubt or ambiguity on record. The Commissioner in effect is a projection of the Court appointed for a particular purpose. In this regard the implication of Order 26, Rule 10 cannot be lost sight of when it says that the report of the Commissioner and the evidence taken by him shall be evidence in the suit and shall form part of the record. A party has a right to place evidence which he could require to substantiate his case before the Court and it is the duty of the Court to receive such evidence unless there are other justifiable factors in law to decline to receive it. This right of the party to adduce evidence gets adjudicated in the interlocutory proceedings under Order 26 Rule 9, When the Court declines to issue the Commission asked for to make local investigation that order certainly disposes of the right claimed by the party to place the requisite evidence on his behalf. Therefore, an order refusing to appoint a Commissioner under Order 26 Rule 9 to make local investigation and report is a "case decided" and hence revisable under Section ".

33. And in the case of Shreepat vs. Rajendra Prasad & Ors., 2000 (2) JCLR 462 (SC), Hon'ble the Apex Court held as under :-

"In our opinion, this contention is correct. Since there was a serious dispute with regard to the area and boundaries of the land in question, especially with regard to its identity, the courts below, before decreeing the suit should have got the identity established by issuing a survey commission to locate the plot in dispute and find out whether it formed part of Khasra No. 257/3 or Khasra No 257/1. This having not been done has resulted ' in serious miscarriage of justice. We consequently allow the appeal, set side' the order passed by the courts below as affirmed by the High Court and remand the case to the trial court to dispose of the suit afresh in the light of the observations made above and in accordance with law".

34. In the case of Haryana Waqf Board vs. Shanti Sarup and others (2008) 8 SCC 761, Hon'ble the Supreme Court held as under:-

"It is also not in dispute that even before the appellate court, the appellant Board had filed an application for appointment of a Local Commissioner for demarcation of the suit land. In our view, this aspect of the matter was not at all gone into by the High Court while dismissing the second appeal summarily. The High Court ought to have considered whether in view of the nature of dispute and in the facts of the present case, whether the Local Commissioner should be appointed for the purpose of demarcation in respect of the suit land."

35. Accordingly, the Court cannot prevent a party from adducing the best evidence, if such evidence can be gathered with the help of a Commissioner. Refusal of the request of the party to appoint a Commissioner under Order 26 Rule 9 CPC to make a local investigation in an appropriate case amounts to failure of exercise of jurisdiction vested in it. In this view of the matter, I find that the impugned order cannot be sustained and the action on the part of appellate court, rejecting the prayer of the petitioner/ plaintiff for issue of commission most probably will produce error or defect in the decision of the case on merits. Therefore, the impugned order dated 23.2.2012 passed by opposite party no.1/ Additional District Judge, Court no.2 Lucknow liable to be set aside."

18. In view of the judgement of this Court in the case of New Meena Sahkari Awas Samiti Ltd. (supra), the trial court in the instant case ought to have considered the application of the respondent under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. on merit so as the valuable rights of the respondents to produce the best evidence may not be defeated. The trial court instead of considering the application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. on merit took a very technical approach in rejecting the application of respondents.

19. In such view of the fact, this Court finds that the trial court has committed jurisdictional error in not deciding the application 8Ga within the parameters of Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. rather it was swayed by the fact of delay in pressing the application 8Ga by the respondents/plaintiffs.

20. Now, the question which arises for consideration is whether in the facts of the present case when the trial court has committed jurisdictional error in rejecting the application 8Ga whether revision under Section 115 of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P. shall lie or not.

21. In this respect, it would be apt to reproduce Section 115 C.P.C. as applicable in the States of U.P:-

"115. Revision (1) A superior court may revise an order passed in a case decided in an original suit or other proceeding by a subordinate court where no appeal lies against the order and where the subordinate court has--

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.

(2) A revision application under sub-section (1), when filed in the High Court, shall contain a certificate on the first page of such application, below the title of the case, to the effect that no revision in the case lies to the district court but lies only to the High Court either because of valuation or because the order sought to be revised was passed by the district court.

(3)The superior court shall not, under this section, very or reverse any order made except where,-

(i) the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceeding; or

(ii) the order, if allowed to stand, would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made."

22. In the case of Rama Shanker Tiwari Vs. Mahadeo and Others 1968 A.W.R. 103 (F.B.), Full Bench considered the meaning of the 'case decided' and held that the order allowing or disallowing an application for amendment in pleading is a case decided and is revisable in this Section, if the amendment sought has or is likely to have a direct bearing on the rights and obligation of the parties. Paras 23 & 24 of the said judgement are reproduced herein below:-

"23. I am, therefore, of opinion that every order granting or dismissing an application for amendment of pleading will not give rise to a case decided revisable u/S. 115 of the Code. An order allowing or disallowing an application for amendment of pleading may however, give rise to a case decided revisable under that Section if the amendment sought has or is likely to have a direct bearing on the rights and obligations of the parties and affects or is likely to affect the jurisdiction of the Court. To this extent the decision in Mst. Suraj Pali's case can, in may opinion, be said to be no longer good law.

24. The opinion of the majority of Judges constituting the Full Bench is that an order passed u/O. VI R.17 of the CPC, either allowing an amendment or refusing to allow an amendment, is a "case decided" within the meaning of that expression in S.115, Code of Civil Procedure."

23. Now, applying the principles laid down in the case of Rama Shanker Tiwari (supra), it can safely be concluded that if an order deciding an application would have a direct bearing on the rights of the parties, if it is allowed or rejected, same would amount to 'case decided' and revision would lie.

24. Section 115 (3) (ii) of C.P.C. as applicable in Uttar Pradesh clearly states that the order, if allowed to stand, results in failure of justice or causes irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made, the revision under Section 115 of C.P.C as applicable in the State of U.P. is maintainable.

25. Viewed from this angle, if any order illegally passed by the court below on any application is allowed to stand affecting the rights of parties, it would cause the failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made, therefore, if said condition is present, the revision against such order passed by the court below vide Section 115 (3) (ii) of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P. would lie.

26. In view of aforesaid discussions, this Court believes that the trial court in not deciding the application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. on merit and dismissing the same by taking a pedantic view has exercised its jurisdiction illegally and with material irregularity, therefore, the case being covered under Section 115 (1)(c) and Section 115 (3)(ii) of C.P.C., the revision would lie. In such view of the fact, this Court finds that revision in the instant case is maintainable.

27. So far as the judgement relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioners in the case of Ram Ishwar @ Rameshwar (supra) is concerned, this Court finds that in the said case, the Court did not consider the Full Bench judgement of this Court in the case of Rama Shanker Tiwari (supra) which defines the meaning of 'case decided' and further the Court has not considered the issue in the light of Section 115 (3)(ii) of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P.

28. So far as another judgement relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner in the case of Uttrakhand High Court in the case of Rajesh Kumar Gautam (supra) is concerned, the Uttrakhand High Court was considering Section 115 of Central Act and did not consider the Section 115 of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P.

29. In such view of the fact, this Court finds that the revision court has not committed any error in holding that revision is maintainable against the order passed by the trial court and has rightly remanded the matter to the trial court to decide the application under Order 26 Rule 9 of C.P.C. afresh.

30. Thus, for the reasons writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed with no order as to costs.

THE HON'BLE RAHUL CHATURVEDI, J.

Habeas Corpus Writ No. 402 of 2022

Poonam Kushwaha ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Manish Dwivedi

Counsel for the Respondents:
G.A.

A. Criminal Law-Constitution of India, 1950-Article 226 - Indian Penal Code,1860 - Section 366-Maintainability of-writ of Habeas Corpus can only be issued when there is specific assertion in the writ petition that the corpus is in the illegal captivity or wrongful confinement of an individual against his/her wish and desire- In the instant case, when the girl, major girl of 24 years, no doubt, without any information to her parent, fled away with respondent no.4 and she has allegedly solemnized marriage and happily residing with him, it is a million dollar question as to whether she could be considered in the illegal confinement of the said boy- This is a precise question of investigation- in this backdrop, the custody of the victim being disputed, now it is the police who has to investigate this factual issue that the corpus is residing with respondent no.4 on her sweet will OR respondent no.4 is keeping her in his illegal captivity, against her desire. This comes within exclusive domain of police to investigate into the matter-Since the parent are against this marriage and that's why after concocting the facts of the case, wants to involve the High Court to exert pressure upon the police, to hold a futile exercise- Filing of the present Habeas Corpus Petition is nothing but an arm twisting of the local police officials who are already engaged, after lodging of the FIR. This Court feels that after the girl is fled away from the guardianship of her parent, it is their personal perception that their son or daughter has been kept in the illegal captivity of the offence. But, in majority of the cases, when these couples are brought before the Court, after the notices, these couples ruthlessly blasts the perception of their parent, resultantly, the Habeas Corpus Petition would end into big zero and an exercise in vanity-where the FIR with regard to alleged act of kidnapping, abduction or illegal confinement or for ransom has already been filed and police personnel are pursuing the matter at their end, the lodging of parallel Habeas Corpus Petition is motivated and purposive one- By filing such type of petitions, the impatient petitioner wants to involve the Courts to exert their pressure upon the police to speed up their investigation. The Habeas Corpus Petitions should not to be used as whip over the police to officials, just to serve out the petition's vanity over the police-Accordingly instant Habeas Corpus Petition is dismissed at the admission stage itself. (Para 1 to 31)

B. A writ of habeas corpus can only be issued when the detention or confinement of a person is without the authority of law. Though the literal meaning of the Latin phrase habeas corpus is "to produce the body", over a period of time production of the body is more often than not insisted upon but legally it is to be decided whether the body is under illegal detention or not. Habeas corpus is often used as a remedy in cases of preventive detention because in such cases the validity of the order detaining the detenu is not subject to challenge in any other court and it is only writ jurisdiction which is available to the aggrieved party. The scope of the petition of habeas corpus has over a period of time been expanded and this writ is commonly used when a spouse claims that his/her spouse has been illegally detained by the parents. This writ is many times used even in cases of custody of children. Even though, the scope may have expanded, there are certain limitations to this writ and the most basic of such limitation is that the Court, before issuing any writ of habeas corpus must come to the conclusion that the detenu is under detention without any authority of law. (Para 16)

The writ petition is dismissed. (E-6)

11. Manohar Lal Sharma Vs Prin. Secy & ors. (2014) 2 SCC 532

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rahul Chaturvedi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Manish Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner as well as Sri Ghanshyam Kumar and Sri Mohd. Afzal, learned counsels appearing for the State and perused the records of the case.

2. At the outset, learned A.G.A. has raised strong preliminary objection with regard to the maintainibility of the present Habeas Corpus petition and floated certain arguments against this petition, which would be considered in the later part of the judgment.

3. From the petition, Sri Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner has sought following prayer mentioned hereinbelow viz:-

"a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Habeas Corpus direction the respondent no.2 to produce the corpus-Km. Poonam from the custody of respondent no.4(Manish Kumar Sharma) before this Hon'ble Court to ensure his safety and happy life

b) Issue any other suitable writ, order or direction, as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case.

c) Award cost of this petition in favour of the petitioner."

In this petition, Ms. Poonam Kushwaha (25 years) is the daughter of Kailash Chandra Kushwaha who in fact, is the "petitioner no.2" has arrayed (i) State of U.P. Principal Secretary, Homes, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh; (ii) Superintendent of Polilce, Banda ; (iii) S.H.O. Police Station-Kalinger, Banda ;(iv) Manish Kumar Sharma aged 29 years s/o Rajesh Sharma, r/o village-Talahati, police station-Kalinger, District-Banda, as respondents from whom he has sought aforementioned prayer.

4. The bare skelton fact which has given rise to the present Habeas Corpus petition are formulated hereinbelow: -

(A) Submission advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner no.2 is that Kailash Chandra Kushwaha, has lodged the FIR on 24.01.2022 for the alleged act of enticement of his daughter Poonam Kushwaha on 22.01.2022 from Kalinger. This FIR was got registered as case crime no.25 of 2022 under section 366 IPC at Police Station-Kalinger, District-Banda.

(B) On account of certain misconceptions and mis-information received to the informant, initially the FIR was registered against one Biru Prajapati, but later on, it was revealed to the informant that a person Rohit Bhatt@Manish Kumar Sharma, after hatching the conspiracy with one Afsar, Chand Khan and two others, has forcibly taken away Km. Poonam Kushwaha (24 years) from the custody of her father/petitioner no.2. Consequently, an application was moved on the same day i.e 24.01.2022 itself to the concerned Investigating Officer giving the correct information about the real offenders.

(C) During the pendency of the investigation, petitioner no.2 came to know that Rohit Bhatt@Manish Kumar Sharma carried her daughter to the Bench of this Hon'ble Court seeking civil protection, projecting that both of them are major and now are married couple and thus, their future may be secured by giving certain civil protection to them, accordingly, a Civil Writ Petition No.3002 of 2022 was filed by them and on 17.02.2022, co-ordinate Bench of this Court while relying upon the judgments of Lata Singh Vs. State of U.P. 2006 Cr.L.J. 3312 and Bhagwan Das Vs. NCT, New Delhi,(2011) 6 SCC 396 disposed of the aforesaid petition protecting the interest of the couple with certain conditions.

(D) The father of the corpus Mr. Kailash Chandra Kushwaha also came to know that his daughter Poonam Kushwaha got married with respondent no.4.

(E) In the present petition, father has levelled all sorts of severe allegations about the nature and character of respondent no.4 that after laying love trap, Rohit Bhatt@Manish Kumar Sharma spoiled the life of many other young girls, were trapped in his love and thereafter, utilized them for women trafficking and thrown them into flesh market etc.

(F) Raising all his suspicion, father of the girl moved an application on 04.04.2022, raising his grievance regarding his daughter before the Superintendent of Police, Banda but it seems that no heed was paid on the said letter. In addition to this in paragraph no.12 of the petition, it is also alleged that informant's wife Ram Janki(mother of Poonam Kushwaha) has received phone calls allegedly from Manish Bhatt@Manish Kumar Sharma demanding Rs.5 lacs for the safety and security of the kidnapee Ms. Poonam Kushwaha. Perturbed by this, Ram Janki too made an application to the concerned S.H.O., Kalinger on 09.05.2022 but that application too gone into deaf ear of concerned S.H.O.

In paragraph no.14 of the petition, on 24.01.2022, Manish Kumar Sharma and Poonam Kushwaha got married but this marriage was never accepted by her parent. The marriage certificate is from Ram Janki Mandir, Prayagraj dated 24.01.2022 certified by one Acharya Vijay Shashtri annexed as Annexure-8 to the petition.

5. The petitioner/father was anxious to know about the well-being of his daughter and it is the petitioner who also received unconfirmed information that her daughter may be carried way outside the country and on this ground, it is prayed that S.P. Banda(respondent no.2) was directed to produce the corpus of Poonam Kushwaha from the custody of respondent no.4-Manish Kumar Sharma to ensure the safety and security of her life so that justice could be done during the pendency of the present petition.

Interestingly, in the entire writ petition, there is not even a whisper, that his daughter was in the illegal confinement of respondent no.4 or she has been kept forcibly against her wish with respondent no.4.

6. After hearing these factual submissions advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner, learned A.G.A. relying upon the instructions received from the S.H.O. Kalinger, Banda have pointed out that pursuant to the FIR as case crime no.25 of 2022 under section 366 IPC, police station-Kalinger dated 24.01.2022, the investigation is still going on with full swing. It is the informant who has initially lodged the FIR againt one Biru Prajapati and later on, gave an application, have replaced him by inserting Manish Kumar Sharma. During investigation, it has come to the knowledge of the Investigating Agency that the aforesaid couple have solemnized marriage in some temple at Prayagraj and appeared before the Court for having a civil protection by means of Writ-C No.3002 of 2022 and vide order dated 17.02.2022, the single Bench of this Court has protected the interest of the couple with certain conditions.

7. Besides this, petitioner no.1-Poonam Kushwaha on 27.02.2022 has given an application to the S.P. Banda annexing the certified copy of the aforesaid order levelling specific allegations against her own father, that petitioner no.2 Kailash Chandra Kushwaha was planning to get her married with a person double of her age. Meanwhile, she, on her own, contacted Manish Kumar Sharma, respondent no.4 and both of them got married on 24.01.2022 at Prayagraj. This marriage was performed by them as per their own sweet will without any coercion or duress from any quarter and now, they are leading happy marital life.

However, as per the wild allegations levelled in paragraph 12, 13, 15, 16 and 17 of the writ petition, that ransom of Rs.five lacs were demanded on telephone of Ram Janki, mother of Poonam Kushwaha is concerned, the police is examining all these allegations in a thorough professional way and yet to file their report under section 173(2) Cr.P.C.

Learned A.G.A. has accused the petitioner with regard to the maintainability that by filing the present Habeas Corpus petition, the father Kailash Chandra Kushwaha wants to exploit its extra-ordinary power just to exert extra pressure on the police who are in the midst of the investigation. It is further contended by learned A.G.A. that this Habeas Corpus petition is nothing but a device of arm twisting by involving the High Court in this ongoing investigation thus, it is not only purposive but also misconceived.

8. It has been further contended that writ of Habeas Corpus can only be issued when there is specific assertion in the writ petition that the corpus is in the illegal captivity or wrongful confinement of an individual against his/her wish and desire. In the instant case, when the girl, major girl of 24 years, no doubt, without any information to her parent, fled away with respondent no.4 and she has allegedly solemnized marriage and happily residing with him, it is a million dollar question as to whether she could be considered in the illegal confinement of respondent no.4?

9. After hearing the rival parties, the father is asserting that his daughter is being enticed away by respondent no.4 in the dead hours of the night of 21/22.01.2022 whereas the other documents especially Annexure-4 order in the writ petition Smt. Poonam Kushwaha and ors. Vs. State of U.P., indicates that both of them got married and leading a happy marital life. This is a precise question of investigation. However, in this backdrop, the custody of the victim being disputed, now it is the police who has to investigate this factual issue that the corpus is residing with respondent no.4 on her sweet will OR Manish Kumar Sharma respondent no.4 is keeping her in his illegal captivity, against her desire. This comes within exclusive domain of police to sinvestigate into the matter.

After hearing the rival submission, the Court has formulated following proposition of law for the judicial scrutiny, viz :-

WHEN THE POLICE IS PURSUING ITS INVESTIGATION AFTER LODGING OF THE FIR, AND, IS IN THE MIDST OF INVESTIGATION, WHETHER HABEAS CORPUS PETITION IS MAINTAINIBLE OR NOT ?? OR IN OTHER WORDS, THE HABEAS CORPUS PETITION AND INVESTIGATION WITH REGARD TO THE SAME ISSUE CAN GO PARALLELLY OR NOT ?

Let us examine this instant prelimnary objection raised by the learned A.G.A.

10. So far as this pertinent question regarding maintainability of the present Habeas Corpus petition is concerned, it is imperative to examine the meaning and scope of Habeas Corpus petition from its historical background.

11. The Latin phrase habeas corpus means literally that "you", that is, the person with custody over the prisoner, must "have the body" of the prisoner produced in court at the place and time ordered by a judge. The writ of habeas corpus provides individuals with protection against arbitrary and wrongful imprisonment.

12. The meaning of the term habeas corpus is "you must have the body". In Halsbury Laws of England, 4th Edition, Vol.11, p.1452, p.768, it is observed:

"The writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum" which is commonly known as the writ of habeas corpus, is a prerogative High Court process for securing the liberty of the subject by affording an effective means of immediate release from the unlawful or unjustifiable detention whether in prison or in private custody. It is a prerogative writ by which the queen has a right to inquire into the causes for which any of her subjects are deprived of their liberty. By it the High Court and the judges of that Court, at the instance of a subject aggrieved, command the production of that subject, and inquiry into the cause of his imprisonment. If there is no legal justification for the detention, the party is ordered to be released. Release on habeas corpus is not, however, an acquittal, nor may the writ be used as a means of appeal."

13. Habeas corpus ad subjiciendum means "that you have the body to submit or answer."

May in his Constitutional History of England (1912), Vol.II, p.130, described writ of habeas corpus as "the first security of civil liberty". Blackstone called the writ of habeas corpus as "the great and efficacious writ in all manner of illegal confinement."

14. Julius Stone in Social Dimensions of Law and Justice, (1966), p.203 described the writ of habeas corpus as a picturesque writ with an extraordinary scope and flexibility High Court of an application.

15. According to Dicey (A.C. Dicey), Introduction to the Study of Law of the Constitution, Macmillan and Co., Ltd., p.215(1915): "if, in short, any man, woman or child is, or is asserted on apparently good grounds to be deprived of liberty, the court will always issue a writ of habeas corpus to anyone who has the aggrieved person in his custody to have such person brought before the court and if he is suffering restraint without lawful cause, set him free."

16. In Greene vs. Home Secretary, (1941) 3 All ER 388, it has been observed:

"Habeas corpus is a writ in the nature of an order calling upon the person who has detained another to produce the later before the court, in order to let the court know on what ground he has been confined and to set him free if there is no legal jurisdiction of imprisonment."

17. The prerogative writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum is the most renowned contribution of English common law to the protection of human member.

In India, the jurisdiction to issue prerogative writs came with the establishment of the Supreme Court by regulating Act of 1773. The charter of 1774 gave power to each High Court of the justices of the Supreme Court of Calcutta to issue a writ of habeas corpus. The three Supreme Courts in Calcutta, Bombay and Madras by the Act of Parliament in 1861 were abolished and High Courts were established and the power to issue writs of habeas corpus was inherited by them. This power to issue writ of habeas corpus was taken away from 1875 and new power of the High Court arose under Section 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 to issue statutory directions in the nature of habeas corpus. By Articles 32 and 226, the Supreme Court and all the High Court got jurisdiction to issue writ of habeas corpus throughout their respective territorial jurisdiction when the Constitution came into force.

18. Considering the decision of the Constitution Bench, recently the Apex Court in State Vs. H. Nilofer Nisha, since reported in (2020) 14 SCC 161 has considered the expanding scope of the writ of habeas corpus and has held as under :-

"16. A writ of habeas corpus can only be issued when the detention or confinement of a person is without the authority of law. Though the literal meaning of the Latin phrase habeas corpus is "to produce the body", over a period of time production of the body is more often than not insisted upon but legally it is to be decided whether the body is under illegal detention or not. Habeas corpus is often used as a remedy in cases of preventive detention because in such cases the validity of the order detaining the detenu is not subject to challenge in any other court and it is only writ jurisdiction which is available to the aggrieved party. The scope of the petition of habeas corpus has over a period of time been expanded and this writ is commonly used when a spouse claims that his/her spouse has been illegally detained by the parents. This writ is many times used even in cases of custody of children. Even though, the scope may have expanded, there are certain limitations to this writ and the most basic of such limitation is that the Court, before issuing any writ of habeas corpus must come to the conclusion that the detenu is under detention without any authority of law."

19. Illegal confinement is the pre-condition to issue a writ of habeas corpus. Though a writ of right, it is not a writ of course. It is an extra ordinary remedy and cannot be granted on mere asking. It cannot be resorted to in a casual and routine manner. Who is responsible for kidnapping the son of the petitioner and who is wrongfully confining him are maters of investigation and definite opinion in this regard is lacking in the present case.

20. In a criminal investigation, what action should have been taken by the police that cannot be a matter of habeas corpus because there is no application whatsoever that there has been wrongful confinement by the police.

In Union of India vs. Yumnam Anand M. @ Bocha @ Kora @ Suraj, (2007) 10 SCC 190 while explaining the nature of writ of habeas corpus, the Supreme Court held that it is writ of right, it is not a writ of course. The application must show a prima facie case of his unlawful detention. Relevant para-7 of the judgment reads as under:

"7.Article 21 of the Constitution having declared that no person shall be deprived of life and liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law, a machinery was definitely needed to examine the question of illegal detention with utmost promptitude. The writ of habeas corpus is a device of this nature. Blackstone called it "the great and efficacious writ in all manner of illegal confinement". The writ has been described as a writ of right which is grantable ex debito justitiae. Though a writ of right, it is not a writ of course. The applicant must show a prima facie case of his unlawful detention. Once, however, he shows such a cause and the return is not good and sufficient, he is entitled to this writ as of right."

21. In Kanu Sanyal vs. Distt. Magistrate, *(1973) 2 SCC 674 , the Supreme Court held that while dealing with a writ of habeas corpus, the Supreme Court held that it is essentially a procedural writ. It deals with the machinery of justice, not the substantive law. The object of the writ is to secure release of a person who is illegally restrained of his liberty.

22. In Swapan Das vs. the State of West Bengal & Ors. *2013 SCC Online Cal 11681, the High Court Calcutta held as under:

"A habeas corpus writ is to be issued only when the person concerning whose liberty the petition has been filed is illegally detained by a respondent in the petition. On the basis of a habeas corpus petition the power under art.226 is not to be exercised for tracing a missing person engaging an investigating agency empowered to investigate a case under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The investigation, if in progress, is to be overseen by the criminal court. Here the petitioner is High Court asking this court to direct the police to track down his missing son. For these reasons, we dismiss the writ petition."

23. Similarly, in Sulochana Bai vs. State of M.P. & Ors, *2008 (2) MPHT 233, the High Court of Madhya Pradesh observed as under:

"12. We have referred to the aforesaid decisions only to highlight that the writ of habeas corpus can only be issued when there is assertion of wrongful confinement. In the present case, what has been asserted in the writ petition is that her father-in-law has been missing for last four years and a missing report has been lodged at the Police Station. What action should have been taken by the Police that cannot be the matter of habeas corpus because there is no allegation whatsoever that there has been wrongful confinement by the police or any private person. In the result, the writ petition is not maintainable and is accordingly dismissed."

24. In Selvaraj vs. the State, Rep. by the Superintendent of Police, Nagapattinam District, in 2018(3) MLJ (Cri) 712, a Division Bench of the Madras High Court observed as under:

The constitutional Courts across the country predominantly held in catena of judgments that establishing a ground of "illegal detention" and a strong suspicion about any such "illegal detention" is a condition precedent for moving a Habeas Corpus petition and the Constitutional Courts shall be restrained in entertaining such Habeas Corpus petition, where there is no allegation of "illegal detention" or suspicion about any such "illegal detention". Man/Women missing cases cannot be brought under the provision of the Habeas Corpus petition. Man/Women missing cases are to be registered under the regular provisions of the Indian Penal Code and the Police officials concerned are bound to investigate the same in the manner prescribed under the Code of Criminal Procedure. Such cases are to be dealt as regular cases by the competent Court of Law and the extraordinary jurisdiction of the Constitutional Courts cannot be invoked for the purpose of dealing with such Man/Women Missing cases.

To hold investigation in a cognizable offence is the statutory right of the police. It is well settled that at the stage of investigation the Court has no role to play. However, the investigating agency is required to take all necessary steps to conclude the investigation and submit its report to the Magistrate concerned. If the police fail to perform their statutory duty in accordance with law, the Court has a bounden statutory obligation to ensure that the investigation is conducted in accordance with law.

25. In Amar Nath Chaubey Vs. Union of India (SLP (Cr.) no.6951 of 2018) by order dated 14 th December, 2020, a three-Judge Bench of the Supreme Court observed as under :-

"8. The police has a statutory duty to investigate into any crimein accordance with law as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure. Investigation is the exclusive privilege and prerogative of the police which cannot be interfered with. But if the police does not perform its statutory duty in accordance with law or is remiss in the performance of its duty, the court cannot abdicate its duties on the precocious plea that investigation is the exclusive prerogative of the police. Once the conscience of the court is satisfied, from the materials on record, that the police has not investigated properly or apparently is remiss in the investigation, the court has a bounden constitutional obligation to ensure that the investigation is conducted in accordance with law. If the court gives any directions for that purpose within the contours of the law, it cannot amount to interference with investigation. A fair investigation is, but a necessary concomitant of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India and this Court has the bounden obligation to ensure adherence by the police."

26. In Manohar Lal Sharma Vs. Principal Secretary & Ors., since reported in (2014) 2 SCC 532, the Supreme Court observed as under :-

"24. In the criminal justice system the investigation of an offence is the domain of the police. The power to investigate into the cognizable offences by the police officer is ordinarily not impinged by any fetters. However, such power has to be exercised consistent with the statutory provisions and for legitimate purpose. The courts ordinarily do not interfere in the matters of investigation by police, particularly, when the facts and circumstances do not indicate that the investigating officer is not functioning bona fide. In very exceptional cases, however, where the court finds that the police officer has exercised his investigatory powers in breach of the statutory provision putting the personal liberty and/or the property of the citizen in jeopardy by illegal and improper use of the power or there is abuse of the investigatory power and process by the police officer or the investigation by the police is found to be not bona fide or the investigation is tainted with animosity, the court may intervene to protect the personal and/or property rights of the citizens."

27. Now, in this backdrop of settled tenets of law with regard to Habeas Corpus petition from its very inception, its historical background and thereafter its gradual evolution by various court of law in India, one of the basic and essential convenent that, an individual must be detained or confined without any authority of law. Confinment means, "the state of being forced to stay in prison or another place which one cannot leave". Thus the basic ingredient of illegal confinement or detention is forced stay and against one's wish or desire. If a person is residing on his own sweet free will or on his own volition, cannot be fall within realm of illegal confinement, under these circumstances, Habeas Corpus Petition is simply a futile exercise.

In the instant case, when both the victim(girl) and respondent no.4 themselves reached to the Bench of this Court by filing a Writ C No.3002 of 2022 and entertaining that writ, on 17.02.2022, Bench has protected their interest that by no stretch of imagination, the girl is said to be in illegal confinement or detention of respondent no.4. Not only this, after obtaining the order from this Court, she has submitted the same by giving a covering letter in her own writing to the concerned police station, accusing her own father, that she was compelled to marry of a person double of her age, an elderly person and thus, she on her own, decided to fled away with the boy(respondent no.4) with whom she has got an early acquaintance/friendship and a tender relationship and both of them have decided to marry. Since, both of them were major, they decided to marry with each other and now they are married couple. It seems that the parent are against this marriage and that's why after concocting the facts of the case, wants to involve the High Court to exert pressure upon the police, to hold a futile exercise.

28. From above, this Court is of the strong opinion, that petitioner no.2 invoking this extra-ordinary powers by way of Habeas Corpus petition, when he has already lodged an FIR and the police is seized with the matter. It is expected from the S.S.P. and S.H.O. Concern district and police station to look into the matter with all their professional skills and competence at the earliest, else the petitioner may explore other alternative avenues from their redressal of grievance, but certainly not, the Habeas Corpus Petition. In the instant Habeas Corpus Petition, there is not even a whisper that the corpus has been kept forcibly by respondent no.4 against her wish. In the absence of the basic pleadings in the petition, it lacks merits and liable to be dismissed on this score alone.

29. In my view, filing of the present Habeas Corpus Petition is nothing but an arm twisting of the local police officials who are already engaged, after lodging of the FIR. This Court feels that after the girl is fled away from the guardianship of her parent, it is their personal perception that their son or daughter has been kept in the illegal captivity of the offence. But, in majority of the cases, when these couples are brought before the Court, after the notices, these couples ruthlessly blasts the perception of their parent, resultantly, the Habeas Corpus Petition would end into big zero and an exercise in vanity.

30. Rightly so, the Court too is of the considered opinion that where the FIR with regard to alleged act of kidnapping, abduction or illegal confinement or for ransom has already been filed and police personnels are pursuing the matter at their end, the lodging of parallel Habeas Corpus Petition is motivated and purposive one. By filing such type of petitions, the impatient petitioner wants to involve the Courts to exert their pressure upon the police to speed up their investigation. The Habeas Corpus Petitions should not to be used as whip over the police to officials, just to serve out the petition's vanity over the police.

31. Thus, after marshalling of facts and circumstances of the instant case and the law in this regard, the preliminary objection raised by learned A.G.A., finds force and accordingly instant Habeas Corpus Petition is dismissed at the admission stage itself.

32. It is made clear that the ratio adopted in the present case shall not apply in the case of minors because any amount of their consent or willingness is not a valid consent in the eye of law and therefore, the police report shall not be precluded in the matter of minors.

Habeas Corpus Writ No. 30758 of 2021

Ram Sevak ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Arvind Kumar Tripathi, Dr. Ravi Kumar Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Criminal Law - Constitution of India,1950-Article 226 - National Security Act, 1980- Section 3 (2) - Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 302 , 201 & 376 read with Section 5(d)/6 of Prevention of Children from Sexual Offence Act, 2012- Preventive detention- It is not a case involving merely law and order, but, a case where the public order got disturbed initially and, the District Magistrate was well within his rights to form a subjective opinion on the basis of objective material before him that in the event the petitioner was enlarged on bail it would prejudice the public order and create fear and terror in the locality-The fact that the petitioner does not have a prior criminal history is irrelevant considering the impact of his alleged crime on the even tempo of life in the locality as an incident involving rape and murder of a minor girl is bound to send shock waves and create a sense of fear and terror amongst residents of the locality-Such an offence cannot be said to be an individual offence against the person of the deceased- Crime, generally, is not only against the individual in respect to whom it is committed but also against the society, but it is more so, in the case of rape and murder of a girl child as such crimes, send shock waves throughout the society-There is material on record in the form of statements of Gram Pradhan, etc. as also newspaper items to show the impact of the incident on the residents of the local area. This is not a simple case of law and order, but, a case where the District Magistrate has correctly formed the opinion that public order got disturbed and in the event the petitioner is enlarged on bail, there is a likelihood of repetition of such crimes and also a general and genuine apprehension in the mind of the residents of the area about such repetition of crime by the petitioner endangering the life and liberty of their women and children, therefore, preventive detention of the petitioner satisfies the ingredients of Section 3 (2) of the Act 1980 and the contentions of the petitioner are not acceptable.(Para 1 to 19)

The writ petition is dismissed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. Heard Dr. Ravi Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner and Mr. S.P. Singh, learned AGA for the State.

2. This petition has been filed seeking issuance of writ of certiorari quashing the order of detention dated 01.10.2021 passed by the District Magistrate, Sitapur under Section 3 (2) of the National Security Act, 1980 (for short the 'Act 1980'). A writ of mandamus has also been sought commanding the opposite parties to set the petitioner at liberty forthwith.

3. The facts of the case are that an incident took place on 18.08.2021 at about 7 PM, when minor daughter of Kamal Kishore aged about 10 years went missing. The villagers searched her and ultimately her body was found in a field at about 10 PM. The aforesaid Kamal Kishore lodged a First Information Report bearing case Crime No. 229 of 2021 under Section 302 IPC. Subsequently, Sections 201 and 376 IPC read with Section 5(d)/6 of Prevention of Children from Sexual Offence Act, 2012 were also added. The petitioner herein was apprehended on 20.08.2021 in connection with the said crime and was sent to jail. The petitioner applied for bail in the said case. During pendency of the bail application, the impugned order of preventive detention was passed by the District Magistrate on 28.09.2021 under Section 3(2) of the Act 1980 so as to prevent him from acting in a manner prejudicial to the maintenance of public order. The District Magistrate passed the order on the report of the Sponsoring Authority. The supporting material which is the basis for preventive detention was supplied to the petitioner and has been annexed by him. Apart from the satisfaction recorded by the District Magistrate with reference to the ingredients of Section 3 (2) of the Act 1980, as claimed by the learned AGA, he has also mentioned that enlargement of the petitioner on bail could endanger public order, hence the preventive detention.

4. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner was that the alleged incident of rape and murder took place at a secluded place and was an individual offence which could very well be dealt with under the ordinary law of the land and there was no requirement of invoking the provisions of the Act 1980 for the petitioner's preventive detention. It was at best a case involving law and order and not public order. He submitted that the District Magistrate has not independently exercised his mind to the material before him.

5. Learned AGA opposed the writ petition. He submitted that the crime was gruesome which disturbed the even tempo of life of the persons residing in the locality where the crime was committed, therefore, based on the material supplied by the Sponsoring Authority, the District Magistrate has formed an independent opinion for preventive detention of petitioner which does not suffer from any error.

6. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

7. We take note of the fact that vide order dated 10.06.2022, the petitioner-Ram Sewak has been enlarged on bail by the High Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 2393 of 2022.

8. The term of detention of the petitioner, which cannot exceed 12 months, is to expire in October, 2022.

9. As regards the contention of petitioner's counsel that the offence having been committed in a secluded area and not in a public place, therefore, the ingredients of Section 3 (2) of the Act 1980 were not satisfied, we are not ready to accept this contention. Merely because the offence was committed in a secluded area does not mean that public order cannot be disturbed. We may in this regard refer to the decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Arun Ghosh vs. State of West Bengal and others wherein a Four Judge Bench had the occasion to consider the scope of Section 3 (2) of the Preventive of Detention Act, 1950 and in that context had the occasion to consider as to which act would be subversive of public order. It considered the difference between the maintenance of law & order and its disturbance and the maintenance of public order and its disturbance. Public order was said to embrace more of the community than the law & order. Public order is even tempo of life of the community taking the country as a whole or even a specified locality. Disturbance of public order is to be distinguished, from acts directed against individuals which do not disturb the society to the extent of causing a general disturbance of public tranquility. It is the degree of disturbance and its effect upon the life of the community in a locality which determines whether the disturbance amounts only to a breach of law and order. Then, their Lordships referred to various instances. One of the instances was that a man who molests women in lonely places. Their Lordships opined that as a result of his activities girls going to colleges and schools are in constant danger and fear. Women going for their ordinary business are afraid of being waylaid and assaulted. The activity of this man in its essential quality is not different from the act of the other man (other instance referred where public order was not disturbed) but in its potentiality and in its affect upon the public tranquility, there is a vast difference. The act of the man who molests the girls in lonely places causes a disturbance in the even tempo of living which is the first requirement of public order. He disturbs the society and the community. His act makes all the women apprehensive of their honour and he can be said to be causing disturbance of public order and not merely committing individual actions which may be taken note of by the criminal prosecution agencies. The question whether a man has only committed a breach of law and order or has acted in a manner likely to cause a disturbance of the public order is a question of degree and the extent of the reach of the act upon the society. Their Lordships further observed that similar acts in different context affect differently law and order on the one hand and public order on the other hand. It is always a question of degree of the harm and its effect upon the community. The question to ask is : does it lead to disturbance of the current of life of the community so as to amount to a disturbance of the public order or does it affect merely an individual leaving the tranquility of the society undisturbed? This question has to be faced in every case on facts. There is no formula by which one case can be distinguished from another. In this context, their Lordships referred to earlier decisions in the case of Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia vs. State of Bihar; Pushkar Mukherjee and others vs. State of West Bengal; and, Shyamal Chakraborty vs. The Commissioner of Police, Calcutta and another.

10. The aforesaid observations and enunciation of the law on the subject by Hon'ble Supreme Court apply squarely to the facts of the case.

11. We have perused the detention order as also the material on the basis of which it has been passed. The District Magistrate has opined in the impugned order that a minor girl was raped and then murdered with the use of silk lace. Her body was hidden in a sack of husk. The incident was gruesome and of such nature that it created an environment of fear in the area. The people of the area were anguished and angry. They collected in large number. The general tempo of life in the area was disturbed. People in general were terrorized and fearful of any such happening against their own women and children. The entire area where the crime had been committed was tense for several days and police had to be deployed to restore the confidence of the public. The police had to be called from various police stations to meet the needs of the situation and instill confidence in the public. The public had to be assured about the well being of their women and children. The police had to be deployed for several days for maintaining public order and ensuring that it is not disturbed any further. The District Magistrate referred to the report of the Station House Officer, Rampur Kala in this regard. He has mentioned about the terror and fear created by the incident in the public of the locality. Women and children got frightened on account of the diabolical act of the petitioner. Small girls stopped going out of their house. Some of the shops were closed. Girl children were not being sent to school. The incident, thus, in the opinion of the District Magistrate disturbed public order in the locality. The incident hogged the limelight in various newspapers. The District Magistrate has further opined that the petitioner was in District Jail, Sitapur in connection with the aforesaid crime and had applied for bail which was fixed for hearing on 04.10.2021.

Based on the material available with him, the District Magistrate opined that there was likelihood of the petitioner being enlarged on bail and this information had created terror and fear in the locality.

12. He has also opined that if the petitioner is enlarged, considering his criminal mentality and the brutal act committed by him, there was a likelihood of repetition of such acts by him which would prejudice and endanger public order which had been restored after lot of efforts. In order to prevent public order from being prejudiced, it was necessary to detain the petitioner as a preventive measure under the Act 1980. It is permissible in law, in the facts of a case, to take into account the possibility of release of a detenue on bail while considering preventive detention under Section 3 (2) of the Act 1980. We may in this contest refer to the decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Rameshwar Shaw vs. District Magistrate, Burdwan and Anr. We have no doubt that it was a relevant factor in the facts of this case.

13. Along with the writ petition, statements of Gram Pradhan, etc. have been annexed wherein they have spoken about the fear and terror created in the area on account which girl children were not being sent to school and were not leaving their house, etc.

14. An incident involving rape and murder of a minor girl is bound to send shock waves and create a sense of fear and terror amongst residents of the locality. Crimes on women and crime on minor girls create sensation in the locality wherein the residents become fearful of well being of women, especially girls in their family. It is bound to disturb public order. Crime of rape and murder on a minor girl can be committed only by a depraved person with a hardened criminal mentality who lacks sensitivity and emotions towards the fairer sex, especially small children. Such an offence cannot be said to be an individual offence against the person of the deceased. Crime, generally, is not only against the individual in respect to whom it is committed but also against the society, but it is more so, in the case of rape and murder of a girl child as such crimes, send shock waves throughout the society.

15. There is material on record in the form of statements of Gram Pradhan, etc. as also newspaper items to show the impact of the incident on the residents of the local area. This is not a simple case of law and order, but, a case where the District Magistrate has correctly formed the opinion that public order got disturbed and in the event the petitioner is enlarged on bail, there is a likelihood of repetition of such crimes and also a general and genuine apprehension in the mind of the residents of the area about such repetition of crime by the petitioner endangering the life and liberty of their women and children, therefore, the contentions of the petitioner's counsel in this regard, especially that it was a case which could have been dealt with under the ordinary law of the land, are not acceptable.

16. It is not a case involving merely law and order, but, a case where the public order got disturbed initially and, the District Magistrate was well within his rights to form a subjective opinion on the basis of objective material before him that in the event the petitioner was enlarged on bail it would prejudice the public order and create fear and terror in the locality. The fact that the petitioner does not have a prior criminal history is irrelevant considering the impact of his alleged crime on the even tempo of life in the locality as already discussed. We are not concerned as to whether the offence was actually committed by the petitioner or not as that is a matter which will be seen during trial.

17. Based on the discussions already made and law discussed in the case of Arun Ghosh (supra), we are of the opinion that the order of the District Magistrate for preventive detention of the petitioner satisfies the ingredients of Section 3 (2) of the Act 1980 and the contentions of the petitioner's counsel are not acceptable.

18. We find no reason to interfere with the satisfaction recorded by the District Magistrate as the same does not suffer from any error.

19. The writ petition is dismissed.
