मैं महंत नरेन्द्र गिरी, आनंद गिरी के कारण आत्महत्या करने जा रहा हूं, आनंद गिरी के कारण मेरी बडी बदनामी हुई, गलत आरोप लगाये गये, जो असत्य है। अभी कुछ दिन पहले समाचार आया कि आनंद गिरी मेरी फोटो-कांड किसी लडकी के साथ गलत काम करते हुये मुझे बदनाम करने, करेगा, लोग-बाग, मेरा नाम बडा है, पद बडा है। ये लोग मुझे बदनाम कर देगे, सच्चाई तो बाद में आयेगी, सच्चाई लोग बाद में जानेगे, इसलिए मर जाना ही ठीक है। मैं सभी संत महात्माओं से बाघम्बरी गद्दी के सभी विद्यार्थियों से, सभी कर्मचारियों से, जो मेरे पूर्व विद्यार्थी है उनसे भी क्षमा मांगता हूं। अपनी जीवन लीला समाप्त करता हूं। दुख हमको भी है लेकिन बदनामी से मर जाना ही ठीक है। यही निर्णय मैंने लिया है और आत्महत्या करने जा

13. During investigation, statements of about 120 persons were recorded by the investigating officer, out of which relevant statements of Manish Shukla, Sarvesh Kumar Dwivedi, Dhananjay Tiwari, Sumit Tiwari, Sandeep Tiwari, Mahant Ravindra Puri, Purroshotam Mishra, Ashish Mishra, Indu Prakash Mishra, Sushil Mishra, Om Prakash, Balbir Giri, Satuwa Maharaj, Abhishek Mishra, Shailendra Singh, Arvind Kumar, Shailesh Modi and Hasim Ali have been brought on record along with the bail application.

14. Bail application of the applicant-Anand Giri was rejected on 11.11.2021 by learned Special Judge (EC Act), Allahabad.

15. Investigating officer after recording the statement of the witnesses and collecting other material evidences submitted charge sheet dated 20.11.2021 against accused Anand Giri (applicant), Adhya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari for the offence under sections 120 B and 306 IPC with the observation in para 16.40 of the charge sheet that further investigation in respect of other aspects of the case is in progress. Further investigation report, if necessary, along with the opinion of experts shall be filed in due course. Hence investigation in this regard is kept open u/s 173(8) Cr.P.C.

16. Heard Mr. Gopal Swaroop Chaturvedi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Vineet Vikram and Mr.

Imran Ullah, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Shiv Kumar Pal, learned Government Advocate for the State of U.P., Mr. Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the CBI and Mr. Niraj Tiwari, learned counsel for the informants/complainants at length.

Submissions on behalf of accused-applicant

17. Mr. G.S. Chaturvedi learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the applicant made the following submissions:

17.1. Applicant on account of dispute with deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri had left Prayagraj in March, 2021 and shifted to Haridwar and thereafter, he was neither concerned with the deceased nor with the Math "Baghambari Gaddi", at Prayagraj, rather was concentrating at Haridwar with his disciples.

17.2. The last interaction between the applicant and the deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri was on 26 May 2021 in Lucknow, when compromise took place between them and after compromise all the issues were buried, as such there is no proximity between the interaction of the applicant with the deceased and the suicide committed by the deceased on 20 September 2021.

17.3. After 26 May, 2021, there was no conversation between Anand Giri and the deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri. Even on the day of "Guru Purnima" on 24.07.2021 also Anand Giri did not come to Prayagraj to meet Mahant Narendra Giri.

17.4. The Investigating Officer in the most superficial manner filed charge-sheet against the applicant only on the basis of suicide note and video made by the deceased before his death, in which no source of information has been disclosed by the deceased that who gave information to him that "tomorrow applicant-Anand Giri, in order to defame him, will viral his morphed obscene video with a girl in an objectionable position".

17.5. Mr.Chaturvedi referring the statement of Mahant Santosh Dass @ Satua Baba emphasized a lot that deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri during his conversation with Mahant Santosh Dass @ Satua Baba also did not disclose the source of aforesaid information received to him against the applicant Anand Giri, therefore, there is no direct evidence against the applicant regarding abetment to commit suicide by the deceased. It is also submitted that in the suicide note and video of Mahant Narendra Giri, imaginary allegations have been levelled against the applicant-Anand Giri.

17.6. It is next submitted that at no point of time the applicant had ever asked Ravindra Puri or any other person to play or show any disputed audio or video in front of the deceased. The applicant had forwarded the audio clip of conversation between Purrushotam Mishra and Ashish Mishra @ Lavkush Mishra titled as "AUD-2021-0522-WA0012" to Ravindra Puri only to demonstrate that the disciples who were living in "Baghambari Math" with deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri were talking in such an indecent language behind him and the persons who were closely associated with Math are not trustworthy.

17.7. The applicant who is presently aged about 41 years is a Religious and Spiritual Guru and a Saint by profession. Earlier, he was a member of "Bade/Lete Hanuman Mandir" in Prayagraj and was also a member of Math "Baghambari Gaddi". He has also been actively espousing a series of public causes including 'Ganga Seva Campaign' and has also formed "Ganga Sena" for rejuvenation of river Ganga which has no concern with Math "Baghambari Gaddi".

17.8. In May, 2019, when the applicant went to Sydney, Australia for a religious program, he was falsely implicated there under conspiracy in two molestation cases and was arrested on 07.05.2019 in order to malign his image and reputation. Referring the letter dated 11.09.2019 of Solicitor of legal firm- "Christopher Levingston & Associates Pty Ltd, Sydney" (filed as Annexure no. 1 to the second supplementary affidavit), it is submitted that charges of molestation against applicant had been dropped and applicant was acquitted by the local court in Parramatta, Australia. Here it is relevant to mention that order of alleged acquittal of the applicant has not been filed by the applicant.

17.9. The prosecution has come-up with a case that applicant was blackmailing the deceased due to which he has committed suicide, however, the CBI has failed to bring on record any audio, video or documentary or electronic evidence which can substantiate the prosecution case.

17.10. There is no direct evidence against the applicant that he got a fake / morphed obscene videos of the deceased with a women prepared through computer and was going to viral the same.

17.11. The deceased has committed suicide due to some other reason, but applicant has been falsely implicated in this case only because of internal rivalry and politics going on in the Math "Baghambari Gaddi", Prayagraj.

17.12. Referring the statement dated 21.10.2021 of one Hashim Ali, it is pointed out that Hashim Ali in his statement has stated that on 12.09.2021 Mahant Narendra Giri called him and asked to format the CCTV camera. Accordingly he formatted the CCTV camera on the direction of deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri. On the strength of said statement, it is argued that deceased deliberately got the CCTV camera formatted, so that after his death anyone else could not know his activities/misdeed.

17.13. Lastly, it submitted that no offence of instigation and abetment is made out against the applicant-Anand Giri, who is languishing in jail since 21.09.2021, therefore he is liable to be released on bail.

18. Here it is relevant to mention that though several other grounds have been taken in the bail application but except the aforesaid submissions, no other point has been pressed by Mr. Chaturvedi, learned counsel for the applicant.

19. In support of his submissions, Mr. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Counsel for the applicant placed reliance upon the following judgments:-

i. Arnab Manoranjan Goswami vs. State of Maharashtra and others, (2021) 2SCC 427

ii. M.Ravindran vs. Intelligence Officer, Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (2021) SCC 485

iii. Geo Varghese vs. The State of Rajasthan & Anr. 2021 SCC OnLine SC 873

iv. Gurcharan Singh vs. The State of Punjab 2020 SCC OnLine SC 796

v. The State of West Bengal vs. Indrajit Kundu & Ors. 2019 SCC OnLine SC 1364

Submissions on behalf of C.B.I.

20. Mr. Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the C.B.I, by refuting the aforesaid submissions of

Mr. Chaturvedi, learned counsel for the applicant, argued that the facts and circumstances of the case as revealed from the investigation including the suicide note and dying declaration of Mahant Narendra Giri as reflected from the contents of his video titled as "20210920_132921" dated 20.09.2021 irresistibly established that accused persons namely Anand Giri (applicant), Adhya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari hatched a criminal conspiracy to create circumstances with a motive to compel/force the deceased-Mahant Narander Giri to commit suicide so that they may be able to achieve their ill object. Mr. Anurag Kumar Singh stretching his argument referred several facts and materials collected by the investigating officer as mentioned in the charge-sheet and other documents on record, which are as follows:-

20.1. The applicant is named accused in the FIR lodged by Amar Giri and Pawan Maharaj, who have stated in the FIR that the deceased was disturbed due to harassment caused by the applicant, and he (deceased) had himself said this number of times. The first informant Amar Giri has reiterated in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C that deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri used to say that the applicant-Anand Giri was persistently harassing him.

20.2. The suicide note of deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri was recovered from the spot of crime by the police which mentioned in details the harassment, false allegation and character assassination by the applicant and his associates due to which deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri was under acute mental agony and committed suicide. Hand writing of deceased on the suicide note has been established by witnesses as well as by Central Forensic Science Laboratory (CFSL), New Delhi.

20.3. In the suicide note of the deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri, it is mentioned that on the date of incident, he received information from Haridwar that his morphed photographs with a woman in compromising position is going to be circulated by the applicant-Anand Giri. Realizing that his reputation would be tarnished by the time the falsity of the allegations and such photographs would be established, he committed suicide.

20.4. After the incident a self-made video clip of the deceased was also recovered from his mobile phone in which also he has clearly mentioned that his image has been tarnished due to false allegations made previously by the applicant and he has also received information recently that the applicant is going to circulate his morphed photographs with a woman in order to malign his image. Mahant Narendra Giri has also stated in the video clip that the truth would come to surface after investigation, but during this period his image would be tarnished due to which he thought of taking this extreme step to commit suicide to avoid loss of his reputation in the society and held Anand Giri (applicant), Adya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari responsible for this extreme step. In the above-mentioned video, Mahant Narendra Giri and his voice was also got identified by various witnesses who had met / talked to the deceased.

20.5. During investigation a conversation between Purushottam Mishra and Lav Kush has been recovered by the investigation officer. In the said conversation, allegations have been made that the deceased had illicit relations with a woman. This conversation was shared by Purshottum Mishra with co-accused Sandeep Tiwari, who forwarded it to the applicant- Anand Giri and thereafter Anand Giri forwarded it to Mahant Ravindra Puri, the Secretary of Niranjani Akhada knowing fully well that he would bring it to the notice of deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri. This act of the applicant-Anand Giri established that he compelled Mahant Narendra Giri to commit suicide using the conversation as a tool that could tarnish his image. Mahant Ravindra Puri in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C has admitted that on 23.05.2021, the applicant forwarded an audio clip of the conversation between Purshottum Mishra and Ashish Mishra @ Lav Kush to him, which he had forwarded to Sumit Tiwari, the Sewadar/disciple of deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri.

20.6. The said conversation had been prepared by Purushottam Mishra, who is a close associate of Sandeep Tiwari, who was appointed as the District president of "Ganga Sena" Prayagraj by the applicant-Anand Giri, which demonstrates that he is a very close confidant of applicant-Anand Giri.

20.7. Purushottam Mishra in his statement under Section 161 CrPC has stated that he had prepared the recording of the conversation with Lav Kush Mishra on the instructions of Sandeep Tiwari. Referring the statement of Ashish Mishra @ Lav Kush Mishra, it is pointed out that he in his statement clearly stated that the allegations made against deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri in his conversation with Purushottam Mishra are totally false.

20.8. The false allegations were circulated by the applicant and his associates which establish the fact that the applicant intended to pressurize Mahant Narendra Giri so that he may succumb to the pressure.

20.9. During investigation, several comments, chats, texts and malicious allegations against deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri which were put on social media by the associates/supporters of Anand Giri on his directions were also collected/recovered by the investigating officer, which are clearly suggestive of ill motive of Anand Giri.

20.10. During triangular conversations between the applicant, Mahant Narendra Giri and Mahant Ravindra Puri of Niranjani Akhada, threat was also extended by the applicant to deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri saying that he was in possession of audio and video clips which, in case, are seen by deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri, he would be shocked. The transcript of this conversation was recovered from the mobile phone of the applicant-Anand Giri. During said conversation, deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri realized that by levelling false allegations against him on social media, the applicant was making an attempt to grab the seat of Head of "Bagambhari Gaddi'.

20.11. There is sufficient crystal clear evidence against Anand Giri to establish that he has committed the offence in question. It is also evident on record that earlier also Mahant Narendra Giri made an attempt to commit suicide.

20.12. During May, 2019, Anand Giri visited Australia and he was arrested on 5th May 2019 in a molestation case, for which he remained in police custody. Mahant Narendra Giri sent huge amount and also used his political connections, as a result thereof, Anand Giri was released from custody and returned to India safely.

20.13. It is further submitted that during pendency of this bail application, the informants filed affidavit dated 03.07.2022 mentioning inter alia that they do not want to make any comment in the matter and want to take F.I.R. back, which clearly indicates that they have been won over from the side of accused persons. It is also pointed out that in similar manner molestation cases against the applicant-Anand Giri were dropped in Australia on account of withdrawal of complaint by the complainants.

20.14. Lastly, on the strength of aforesaid facts, it is prayed that considering the gravity of the offence where a Head of a Religious Monastic Order has been compelled to commit suicide by the applicant-Anand Giri in order to satisfy his lust for power, the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail. The charge sheet has been submitted in this case and 19.09.2022 is the date fixed before the trial court for framing the charges. The bail application of the applicant is liable to be rejected.

20.15. Anand Giri has put the pious relationship of "guru" and "chela" on shame because in this case, unfortunately, a guru had to commit suicide because of his disciple, which is a very rare case.

21. Learned counsel for the CBI placed reliance upon the following judgments:

i- Kalyan Chandra Sarkar vs. Rajesh Ranjan Alias Pappu Yadav and another (2004) 7 SCC 528

ii- Chenna Boyanna Krishna Yadav vs. State of Maharashtra and Another (2007) 1 SCC 242

iii- Praveen Pradhan vs. State of Uttranchal and Another (2012) 9 SCC 734

v- Ude Singh and Others vs. State of Harayana (2019) 17 SCC 301

Much emphasis has been given by the learned counsel for the CBI in paragraph 18 of thecase of State of Kerala and Others vs. S. Unnikrishnana Nair and Others (Supra), , which is reproduced herein below:-

"18.....we are compelled to recapitulate the saying that suicide reflects a "species of fear". It is a sense of defeat that corrodes the inner sould and destroys the will power and forces one to abandon one's own responsibility. To think of self-annililation because of something which is disagrreable or intolerable or unbearable, especially in a situation where one is required to perform public duty, has to be regarded as a non-valiant attitude that is scared of the immediate calamity or self-perceived consequence....."

Submissions on behalf of informants

22. Mr. Niraj Tiwari, learned counsel, who has been subsequently engaged by the informants submits that now previous counsels who were earlier appearing in this matter on behalf of informants have no instruction. He next submits that now both the informants do not want to oppose the prayer for bail of the applicant- Anand Giri. It is pointed out that informant-Amar Giri has filed affidavit dated 03.07.2022 in this case on his behalf as well as on behalf of another informant-Pawan Maharaj mentioning in paragraph no. 7 that they had not lodged F.I.R against any particular person. Only Bade Maharaj Ji's death was reported. They do not want any action on the First Information Report and want to take it back. They are also ready to give such affidavit before the Trial Court. They also do not want to give reply or make any comment on contents of Paragraph no.1 to 112 of the bail application of accused-Anand Giri.

23. Here it would be apposite to quote the contents of paragraph 7 of the affidavit dated 03.7.2022 filed by the informants, which are reproduced herein under:

"7- यह कि हम शपथकर्तागण/प्रथम सूचनाकर्ता (अमरगिरी एवं पवन महाराज) ने किसी व्यक्ति विशेष के विरूद्ध या नाम विशेष से प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट (एफ.आई.आर.) दर्ज नहीं करायी थी, मात्र बड़े महाराज के शरीर पूरे होने की सूचना मात्र दी थी और उक्त घटना दिनांक 20.09.2021 की जो भी वास्तविकता हो उसे हम शपथकर्तागण श्री लेटे हुए हनुमान जी महाराज को सुपुर्द करते है कि वही न्याय करेंगे कारण कि हम शपथकर्तागण ने किसी भी व्यक्ति विशेष को घटना में सम्मिलित या घटना कारित करते नहीं देखा है। इसलिए हम शपथकर्तागण उक्त प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट के आधार पर कोई कार्यवाही नहीं चाहते और इसे वापस लेना चाहते हैं, साथ ही इस आशय का हलफनामा/शपथपत्र सम्बन्धित परीक्षण न्यायालय में भी देने को तैयार है।"

Submissions on behalf of State of U.P.

24. Mr. S.K. Pal, learned Government Advocate for the State of U.P. submits that First information Report of this case was lodged on 21.09.2021 on the oral complaint / information of informants Amar Giri and Pawan Maharaj. Thereafter both of them supported the prosecution case in their Statement under Section 161 CrPC before the police as well before the C.B.I. In reply to the contents of paragraph no.7 of the affidavit dated 03.07.2022 of the informants, it is argued that same has been filed for the first time before this Court after submission of charge sheet dated 20.11.2021 against the applicant-Anand Giri and other co-accused, which shows that informants are either under any threat or they have been won over by the accused side. It is also submitted that this is a state case on the basis of F.I.R., which does not depend upon the mercy of the informant, whose status is not more than a witness.

25. Lastly it is vehemently argued that the manner in which affidavit dated 03.07.2022 has been filed by the informants in this case, there is every likelihood of tampering of the evidences and witnesses, in case applicant is released on bail.

The basic principles for considering bail prayer

26. The Apex Court in a plethora of decisions has setteled the factors to be borne in the mind while considering an application for bail are:-

(i) Whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to believe that the accused had committed the offence;

(ii) Nature and gravity of the accusation;

(iii) Severity of the punishment in the event of conviction;

(iv) Danger of the accused absconding or fleeing, if released on bail;

(v) Character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused;

(vi) Likelihood of the offence being repeated;

(vii) Reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being influenced; and (viii) Danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail.

"Abetment" and " Abetment of Suicide"

27. "Abetment" and "abetment of suicide" has been defined under Section 107 and 306 of IPC respectively. Before delving into the matter, I deem is appropriate to reproduce Section 107 and 306 of IPC, which reads as under:-

107. Abetment of a thing.

A person abets the doing of a thing, who--

First-- Instigates any person to do that thing; or

Secondly -- Engages with one or more other person or persons in any conspiracy for the doing of that thing, if an act or illegal omission takes place in pursuance of that conspiracy, and in order to the doing of that thing; or Thirdly-- Intentionally aids, by any act or illegal omission, the doing of that thing.

Explanation 1.--A person who, by wilful misrepresentation, or by wilful concealment of a material fact which he is bound to disclose, voluntarily causes or procures, or attempts to cause or procure, a thing to be done, is said to instigate the doing of that thing

Explanation 2.--Whoever, either prior to or at the time of the commission of an act, does anything in order to facilitate the commission of that act, and thereby facilitate the commission thereof, is said to aid the doing of that act.

306. Abetment of suicide.

If any person commits suicide, whoever abets the commission of such suicide, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall alsobe liable to fine.

Analysis of case

28. Having heard the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and examined the materials on record in its entirety as well as case diary of this case produced by the counsel for the State and CBI, this Court finds that:-

28.1. Mahant Narendra Giri had taken over as Head of Baghambari Gaddi, Allahpur, Prayagraj in the year 2004, after the death of Mahant Bhagwan Giri who had nominated Mahant Narendra Giri as his successor.

28.2. In the year 2005, accused-applicant Anand Giri joined Baghambari Gaddi as disciple of Mahant Narendra Giri and started living there. Initially applicant Anand Giri was most trusted and favourite disciple of Mahant Narendra Giri.

28.3. From the Kumbh Mela 2008, accused Anand Giri had raised a separate entity namely "Ganga Sena" and started organizing a camp at Magh Mela. Since there was no connection of this Ganga Sena with "Baghambari Gaddi" and no permission for the same was obtained by Anand Giri from Mahant Narendra Giri, therefore, Mahant Narendra Giri was little annoyed with Anand Giri on this count.

28.4. Mahant Narendra Giri vide his will deed dated 07.01.2010 had nominated Swami Balbir Giri as his successor. Later on Mahant Narendra Giri executed another will deed dated 29.08.2011, whereby he nominated Anand Giri (applicant) as his successor in place of Swami Balbir Giri cancelling his first will deed dated 07.01.2010.

28.5. Mahant Narendra Giri had also executed a lease deed dated 12.12.2018 of 744 Sqr. Mtrs. of land of "Baghambari Gaddi" in favour of accused Anand Giri for installation of a petrol pump of HPCL. Having been completed all formalities by means of the application dated 15.12.2018 of Anand Giri, letter of Intent (LOI) was issued in favour of Anand Giri on 09.03.2019.

28.6. In April 2019 applicant-Anand Giri had gone to Sydney, Australia for a period of five weeks. His program was arranged and hosted by Hindu Cosmos Mandir, Oxley Park. During his stay Anand Giri has also been invited by devotees to their home for performing various kind of religious ceremonies / rituals Bhagwad reading. On 5th May 2019 he was arrested there in two molestation cases on the complaint lodged by two Fiji origin Australian women on the charge of indecent behaviour and remained in police custody for some time. Correspondence made between Government of India, Ministry of Home Affairs, New Delhi and Consul General, Congendia Sydney, Australia reveal that bail was granted to Anand Giri by Mt Druitt Court on certain conditions. As per email dated 15.03.2022 (filed at page No. 21 of the second supplementary counter affidavit dated 05.4.2022 filed by CBI) received to OIA-II Division, MEA, New Delhi from Consul General, Congendia Sydney, Australia, both the complainants made complaint to police that Anand Giri touched them on their private parts in bedroom whereas Anand Giri denied these allegations. Later on complainant submitted application for withdrawal of their complaints against Anand Giri. Thereafter he returned to India. I also find that Ravindra Puri, Balbir Giri and Sarvesh Kumar Dwivedi in their statements have stated that deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri helped a lot for the return of Anand Giri in India. Sarvesh Kumar Dwivedi also stated that Mahant Narendra Giri had sent huge amount to Australia, whereas there is denial of this fact from the side of the applicant. Here it is relevant to note that applicant has neither filed copy of complaint nor withdrawal application of the complainants nor the judgement of the alleged acquittal of Anand Giri.

28.7. After arrest of Anand Giri in molestation case in Australia, Mahant Narendra Giri was very upset and he realized that on account of the act and conduct of Anand Giri, the reputation of "Math" "Baghambari Gaddi" had been deteriorating on international level, therefore on 04.06.2020, Mahant Narendra Giri had executed a third will deed vide which he again nominated Swami Balbir Giri as his successor mentioning that Anand Giri has frequently visiting to foreign countries for participating in different programs. He had raised a separate entity namely "Ganga Sena" which has a different motive than that of "Baghambari Gaddi". Mahant Narendra Giri had also mentioned in his will deed that Anand Giri had involved himself in anti-religious activities in foreign countries due to which the reputation of Math "Baghambari Gaddi", "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Temple" and that of Mahant Narendra Giri had been deteriorating on international level.

28.8. Anand Giri had started construction of his own Ashram at Shyampur, Haridwar in the name & style of "Vikram Yog Peeth" and he being a member of "Baghambari Gaddi", had not taken permission of Mahant Narendra Giri. On 01.04.2021, Anand Giri had fixed the date of inauguration of his Ashram at Haridwar. He came to Niranjani Akhada and invited all the saints available there, but did not invite Mahant Narendra Giri. Due to non-invitation from accused Anand Giri, Mahant Narendra Giri was so disappointed that he had warned all the saints who were present there that if anyone would go to attend the said function, they need not return to Niranjani Akhada.

28.9. In the first week of April, 2021, Mahant Narendra Giri was diagnosed with CORONA and he was admitted to AIIMS, Rishikesh for treatment on 12.04.2021. On 13.04.2021, Anand Giri visited AllMS, Rishikesh to see Mahant Narendra Giri but Mahant Narendra Giri was so annoyed with him that he declined to meet Anand Giri. While accused Anand Giri was leaving the Hospital, he told Sumit Tiwari, who was attending the ailing Mahant Narendra Giri at that time that he had seen Mahant Ji who would not survive and would die in few days. Thus, before his death, Mahant Ji should nominate him as his successor of "Baghambari Gaddi", Prayagraj.

28.10. After recovery from CORONA, Mahant Narendra Giri returned to Prayagraj on 24.04.2021. After a few days of quarantine, Mahant Narendra Giri had started meeting to his followers. During one such meeting Mr. Indu Prakash Mishra, Sushil Mishra and Om Prakash Pandey met Mahant Narendra Giri. During their discussion, Mahant Narendra Giri had disclosed that relations between him and Anand Giri had gone bad to worse and Anand Giri is disturbing him a lot.

28.11. On 12.05.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri wrote a letter to the Panch Parmeshwar of Niranjani Akhada, Haridwar, mentioning therein the ill-deeds are being committed by accused Anand Giri as well as allegation of misappropriating the funds of Gaddi and temple and requested them to expel Anand Giri from "Niranjani Akhaa" alleging that he had already expelled accused Anand Giri from "Baghambari Gaddi", Prayagraj as well as from "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Ji Temple", Prayagraj.

28.12. Thereafter on 13.05.2021 accused Anand Giri was expelled from Niranjani Akhada, Haridwar for a period of three years, which was formally announced on 14.05.2021.

28.13. After expulsion of accused Anand Giri from Niranjani Akhada, a war of words started by Anand Giri and his associates through print/electronic/social media etc. making allegations against deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri. Thereafter relation of Anand Giri with Mahant Narendra Giri further worsen. Investigating officer has collected those materials during investigation.

28.14. During that period Purushottam Mishra on 22.05.2021 having talked to his relative Ashish Mishra @ Lav Kush, over phone recorded the said conversation and sent the same to co-accused Sandeep Tiwari, who transmitted the said conversation on 22.05.2021 to applicant- Anand Giri. On 23.05.2021, Anand Giri forwarded the said conversation to Mahant Ravindra Puri, Secretary, Niranjani Akhada, Haridwar, stating that the said conversation had been received by him from the disciple of Mahant Narendra Giri and further told Mahant Ravindra Puri that he may bring the same to the knowledge of Mahant Narendra Giri. As told by applicant- Anand Giri, Mahant Ravindra Puri forwarded the said conversation to Sumit Tiwari with the direction to play the same before deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri. Accordingly Sumit Tiwari did the same. During investigation of the case on 02.10.2021, the data of mobile phone of Purshottam Mishra was extracted in a Hard Disk and during scrutiny, aforesaid audio clip "AUD-20210522-WA0012-sizing 1.63 MB" pertaining to conversation between Purshottam Mishra and Ashish Mishra @ Lav Kush Mishra was noticed. Transcription of this audio was prepared, which has been filed as Annexure No. 17 to the bail application. Perusal of the same reveals that vulgar, filthy and abusing language have been used for the deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri and his character was also assassinated making allegations inter alia that Mahant Narendra Giri has illicit relation with the mother of his disciple Manish Shukla, that is why Manish Shukla became very rich with Mahant Narendra Giri's money. The aforesaid conversation also indicates the conspiracy against Mahant Narendra Giri. Both Purushottam Mishra and Ashish Mishra @

Lav Kush, have admitted the aforesaid conversation between them in their statement before the C.B.I. when statement of Ashish Mishra alias Lav Kush Mishra was recorded, he stated that aforesaid allegation against Mahant Narendra Giri was false.

28.15. Co-accused Sandeep Tiwari after sending the recorded conversation between Purushottam Mishra and Ashish Mishra @ Lav Kush on 22.05.2021 to Anand Giri, having guilty mind and fear against him left Prayagraj in the night of 23.05.2021 for Dewas, Madhya Pradesh along with Shri Ved Prakash Pandey and Shri Manoj Dwivedi. While leaving Prayagraj, accused Sandeep Tiwari took a bag of accused Anand Giri which was kept with him. On 24.05.2021, they reached at Dewas, Madhya Pradesh in the noon. From the residence of Rajmata Gayatri Raje Panwar, MLA, Dewas, accused Sandeep Tiwari collected a parcel for handing over the same to Anand Giri. Thereafter, accused Sandeep Tiwari alongwith his above two friends left Dewas and they reached Haridwar in the morning of 25.05.2021 and met accused Anand Giri because the date of compromise between Mahant Narendra Giri and accused Anand Giri had already fixed for 26.05.2021. The above act of co-accused Sandeep Tiwari reflects that he was in guilty mind and was afraid of legal action against him if Mahant Narendra Giri would have reported about the conversation to police.

28.16. In the evening of 23.05.2021, accused Anand Giri came to Mahant Ravindra Puri at Niranjani Akhada, Haridwar and asked him to convince Mahant Narendra Giri to revoke his expulsion from Niranjani Akhada. Thereafter on 23.05.2021 on insistence of accused applicant Anand Giri, Mahant Ravindra Puri from his mobile number 9548565816 talked to Mahant Narendra Giri on his Mob. No. 9415340862 at around 16:24 hours for revocation of expulsion of accused Anand Giri. This conversation was recorded by accused Anand Giri in the Niranjani Akhada at Haridwar from his I-phone mobile keeping the mobile phone of Mahant Ravindra Puri on speaker mode. During triangular conversation which held on 23.5.2021 amongst accused Anand Giri, Mahant Ravindra Puri and deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri, accused Anand Giri mounted pressure on Mahant Narendra Giri to revoke his expulsion immediately and threatened Mahant Narendra Giri to defame him by circulating his objectionable videos and audios, which are in his possession. Anand Giri also said that if he sends those videos and audios to him, he would be stupefied. The wordings of Anand Giri were 'MAI AAPKO BHEJUGA TO AAPKE PAIRO KI ZAMEEN KHISAK JAYEGI, AISE AISE VIDEO AUDIO MERE PASS HAI'. The said conversion indicates that Anand Giri had expressed his intention that in case of non revocation of his expulsion immediately, he will not sit silent. During the said conversation, it was settled that a decision to revoke expulsion of Anand Giri from Niranjani Akhada would be taken in next ten days. The said audio recordings containing the conversation between Mahant Narendra Giri, Mahant Ravindra Puri and accused Anand Giri were also recovered from the mobile of accused Anand Giri during investigation. Here it is relevant to mention that Mahant Ravindra Puri in his statement during investigation has also disclosed inter alia that Mahant Narendra Giri used to tell him time and again during the conversation that Anand Giri used to harass him.

28.17. On going through the transcript of audios titled as "20200117-

191026, 20200117-192332, 20200117-192648 and 20200117-193449" of triangular conversation between the accused-Anand Giri and his two associates namely Indu Prakash Mishra and Sushil Kumar Mishra, which have been filed at page No. 247 to 260 of paper-book, I find that Indu Prakash Mishra and Sushil Kumar Mishra were also deeply concerned with the dispute between the accused-Anand Giri and deceased Mahant Narendra Giri. Indu Prakash Mishra and Sushil Kumar Mishra were in touch with both Anand Giri as well as in Mahant Narendra Giri and they were working as a middleman/liaisoner between Anand Giri and Mahant Narendra Giri. Unhealthy conversations between them indicate that there was dispute / exasperation for supremacy and post as well as power and management relating to property of "Baghambari Gaddi".

28.18. On 26.05.2021 a meeting between Mahant Narendra Giri and Anand Giri was arranged by Indu Prakash Mishra and Sushil Kumar Mishra at Lucknow. Anand Giri along with co-accused Sandeep Tiwari, Ved Prakash, Manoj Dwivedi, Prashant Shukla, and Aviral Tiwari @ Shibu reached Lucknow from Haridwar. Mahant Narendra Giri along with Sushil Mishra and O.P. Panday also reached Lucknow from Prayagraj. A compromise took place between Mahant Narendra Giri and Anand Giri in the house of Indu Prakash Mishra at Lucknow and compromise note was also prepared by Sushil Kumar Mishra. In the said compromise note, accused Anand Giri had taken back all the allegations raised against Mahant Narendra Giri in the print/electronic media and Mahant Narendra Giri had forgiven his disciple keeping in view the relations between Guru and Chela. Indu Prakash Mishra and Sushil Kumar Mishra played a pivotal role in this regard. A video of said compromise was recorded by Sushil Kumar Mishra and thereafter it was circulated on social media.

28.19. On 30.05.2021, Purushottam Mishra alongwith Adhya Prasad Tiwari visited Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Mandir for tendering apology from Mahant Narendra Giri, but due to sudden provocation, abusive arguments took place between Mahant Narendra Giri and co-accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari. Thereafter Mahant Narendra Giri removed him and his elder son Dilip Tiwari from the post of priest of "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Mandir". He had also taken back flower-garland shop from Adhya Prasad Tiwari, which was being run by his son co-accused Sandeep Tiwari.

28.20. Due to vacation of flower shop which was allotted to co-accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari, he was so frustrated that accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari talked to Indu Prakash Mishra to persuade Mahant Narendra Giri to return the said shop to him, but he advised Adhya Prasad Tiwari to remain silent for the time being.

28.21. On 24.07.2021, on the occasion of "Guru Purnima" Anand Giri did not turn up. Due to absence of accused Anand Giri even after compromise, the differences further widened up between Mahant Narendra Giri and accused Anand Giri.

28.22. On 11.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri asked Sarvesh Dwivedi @ Bablu to bring Sulphate "Sulphas" from the market for use in food grains which Sarvesh Dwivedi had purchased from a shop namely M/s New Agro Seeds Company, Alopibagh, Prayagraj.

28.23. Between 10.09.2021 and 12.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri had held a discussion with his disciple Vasudev Shukla and Abhyuday Tiwari about the effects of consumption of sulphate and the time taken in death when someone consumes sulphate. He also enquired from them, if the medical treatment is received by the person who consume sulphate, can he survive.

28.24. On 12.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri had again planned to visit Haridwar. He had to meet to several property dealers such as Mr. Shailendra Singh, Mr. Shailesh Modi, Mr. Arvind Kumar @ Babli, etc., but due to bad weather he could not go there. On the same day, Mahant Narendra Giri had asked one Mr. Hashim Ali, who had installed CCTV at Baghambari Gaddi, to come at "Baghambari Gaddi" to format/delete the CCTV footages stored in DVR. Hashim Ali did the same accordingly, however, due to some technical issue, CCTV footages of one DVR could not be deleted.

28.25. On 18.9.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri had enquired from few persons whether the video/photo of one person could be edited showing face of other person with the help of computer.

28.26. On 19.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri asked Sarvesh Dwivedi @ Bablu to bring nylon rope from the market for fixing the same on the roof of first floor of his living room for drying the clothes. Accordingly, Sarvesh Dwivedi went to market and purchased 50 metre nylon rope of 08 Gauge from M/s Indira Traders, Tularambagh, Prayagraj. In the evening, when Mahant Narendra Giri was sitting outside the guest room, he told Sarvesh Kumar Dwivedi to bring a piece of rope after cutting the same from the bundle of nylon rope. Mahant Narendra Giri had also briefed him about the length of rope to be cut from the bundle.

28.27. In the evening of 19.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri had surprisingly asked one Suraj Pandey regarding process of recording video in the mobile phone. Suraj Pandey taught Mahant Narendra Giri about the same and also taught him how videos are deleted from mobile phone. The video in which Mahant Narendra Giri was seen learning how to make videos, was also recovered from his mobile phone.

28.28. On 20.09.2021, Mahant Narendra Giri also told Manish Kumar Shukla and Abhishek Mishra that he is very disturbed as he had received reliable information that Anand Giri is going to release his edited video showing him (Mahant Narendra Giri) with some female in objectionable position.

28.29. Record reveals that on the day of incident, Mahant Narendra Giri, on 20.09.2021 at around 7.00 AM, before committing suicide, lastly talked to Mahant Santosh Dass @ Satua Baba of Varanasi and also informed him that he had received a reliable information that Anand Giri had made a video by computer and in that video he has shown him (Mahant Narendra Giri) doing wrong with a woman and Anand Giri says that he will make that video circulate/viral. Mahant Narendra Giri further told Mahant Santosh Dass alias Satua Baba that Anand Giri had shown the said video to two persons of Haridwar and one person of Prayagraj.

28.30. Here it would be relevant to reproduce the statement of Mahant Santosh Dass alias Satua Baba which are as under:-

बयान महन्त सन्तोष दास @ सतुआ s/o महन्त जमुना दास जन्म तिथि 14-7-1984 निवासी सी०के० 10/48 मनकर्णिका घाट वाराणसी उ०प्र०)मूल निवासी पुत्र श्री स्व० शोभाराम तिवारी ग्राम मसौरा कला. पो० मसौरा खुर्द थाना कोतवाली सदर जिला ललितपुर

उ०प्र० धारा 161 सी०आर०पी०सी० के अन्तर्गत दर्ज।

मेरे श्री अखिलेख यादव पूर्व मुख्य मन्त्री एवं श्री शिवपाल यादव से अच्छे सम्बन्ध बहुत समय से रहे है।

मैं आगे बयान करता हूं कि कुम्भ मेला 2021 के दौरान महन्त नरेन्द्र गिरी जी व आनन्द गिरि के आपसी सम्बन्ध बहुत खराब हो गये थे। इसके बाद लगभग मई मध्य में महन्त नरेन्द्र गिरि जी का मुझे फोन आया तथा उन्होने मुझसे पूछा कि आनन्द गिरि से मेरी कब से बात नहीं हुई है। मैंने महन्त जी से कहा कि काफी समय से बात नहीं हुई है। महन्त जी ने मुझसे पूछा कि क्या अखबार नहीं पढते हो वह (आनन्द गिरि) उनपर अनरगल मिथ्या आरोप लगा रहा है कहता है बच्चो पर बहुत पैसा खर्च कर रहे है उनके मकान बनवा रहे है। महन्त नरेन्द्र गिरी जी ने मुझे कहा कि कोराना बीमारी के दौरान बच्चो ने ही उनकी सेवा की है।

मैंने फोन पर महन्त नरेन्द्र गिरि जी से बात की तो उन्होने कहा कि आनन्द गिरि झूठ बोल रहा है।

नहीं बताये दो लोगो को दिखाया है तथा एक व्यक्ति को जो प्रयागराज का रहने वाला है उसे भी दिखाया है उस वीडियों में उसने कम्प्यूटर से उनका चेहरा जोडा है।

इनके बाद शाम को मुझे उनके देहान्त की सूचना मिली। दि०21.9.2021 को मैं प्रयागराज गया तथा पूरे दिन वहां पर रहकर शाम को वापस वनारस आ गया।

28.31. A suicide note as mentioned above was recovered from the place of incident. During investigation the handwriting of Mahant Narendra Giri on the suicide note was also identified by witnesses namely Amar Giri, Pawan ji Maharaj, Manish Shukla and Sumit Tiwari and others. As per CFSL report dated 03.01.2022 also the said suicide note was written by Mahant Narendra Giri. In the suicide note Mahant Narendra Giri had categorically held applicant- Anand Giri, co-accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari responsible for taking extreme step to end his life.

28.32. The videos titled as "20210920_132907" and "20210920_132921" made by Mahant Narendra Giri have also been recovered from his Samsung Mobile phone. These two videos were made by deceased just before his death. First video of the deceased titled as "20210920_132907" is regarding learning of making video. In second video titled as "20210920_132921", Mahant Narendra Giri was seen holding Anand Giri, Adhya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari responsible for his suicide as Anand Giri was going to release an edited video showing him (Mahant Narendra Giri) with some female in objectionable position.

28.33. Here it is relevant to mention that on going through the transcript of audio titled as "20210618-195140" of triangular conversation" between the accused-Anand Giri and his two associates A & B, which has been filed at page no. 242 to 245 of paper-book, I find that during said conversations they used vulgar language related to debauchery, womanizing and sex also. Such conversations and using vulgar language do not suit to "religious *guru*s", his close associates and "sages". Such vulgar conversations cannot be expected from a man who claims himself to be a sage or religious/spiritual guru in real sense. This reflect his dual personality in the guise of wearing a religious cloak. This Court is of the view that the conduct of any person should be in accordance with dignity of his position. The higher is the position, the grater is the responsibility. A man is also known by the company he keeps in the society.

28.34. In any religion, "religious *guru*s" have a special position and respect in the eyes of the people, because of their special spiritual knowledge about the religion concerned, scriptures, purity, grace and other virtuous qualities. Most of the people touch their feet in their honor due to spiritual preceptor and vibrant. They must have a pure and pious mind with ethical perfection and must be intensely virtuous, because in a civilized society, generally it is presumed that spiritual guru is free from greed, fraud and lust and the people who have blind faith in them are spiritually inspired from them extending their full faith and devotion and in their company they feel themselves spiritually elevated. A real "guru" inspires spiritual devotion in others and it is presumed that their presence purifies all, ergo high responsibility lies upon them towards the society in order to maintain the public confidence.

Conclusion

29. After analyzing the case in hand, I find that the crux of the case is that Mahant Narendra Giri vide his will deed dated 29.08.2011 had nominated Anand Giri (applicant) as his successor, but after arrest and involvement of Anand Giri in molestation cases in Australia as mentioned above, Mahant Narendra Giri had executed a fresh will deed dated 04.06.2020, vide which he removed the accused-applicant Anand Giri from his successor and again nominated Swami Balbir Giri as his successor. Thereafter Mahant Narendra Giri making several allegations, expelled Anand Giri from "Baghambari Gaddi", Prayagraj as well as from "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Ji Temple", Prayagraj and subsequently Anand Giri was also expelled from "Niranjani Akhada" for a period of three years on the persuasion of Mahant Narendra Giri. Co-accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari was head priest at " Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Mandir" and is closely associated with Anand Giri. Other priest including informant Pawan Shukla and Dileep Tiwari, elder son of Adhya Prasad Tiwari were also kept for worship and they were also given monthly salary. There are shops of flower-garland, Prashad, Sweet, Rudraksha etc. in the premises of "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Ji temple". Temple is managed by the Mahant of "Baghambari Gaddi", Prayagraj. There are thirteenth Akhadas of saints in India. Niranjani Akhada is also one of them. According to old customs and traditions, as per will of late Mahant of "Bhaghambari Gaddi", his successor is declared by Niranjani Akhada. Mahant Narendra Giri had given the flower-garland shop on rent to co-accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari, whose management was looked after by his younger son co-accused Sandeep Tiwari. From the said shop, co-accused Adya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari made a lot of money. Mahant Narendra Giri had removed Adhya Prasad Tiwari and his son Dileep Tiwari from the post of Priest and flower-garland shop was also taken back from Adhya Prasad Tiwari because of their involvement in conspiracy and raising voice against him and given flower-garland shop to his another disciple Sumit Tiwari. Therefore, accused persons namely Anand Giri, Adhya Prasad Tiwari and Sandeep Tiwari along with their other associates in collusion with each other adopting different modus-oparandi hatched a criminal conspiracy and mounted pressure upon Mahant Narendra Giri making his character assassination etc. and created in-conducive circumstances with a motive to compel Mahant Narendra Giri to revoke expulsion of accused Anand Giri from Niranjani Akhada, to return the shop of accused Adhya Prasad Tiwari and his son accused Sandeep Tiwari and to restore their position back. In furtherance of the same, they got the objectionable audio dated 22.05.2021 prepared by Purshottam Mishra on the direction of Sandeep Tiwari and further got it circulated with an oblique motive to tarnish the reputation of Mahant Narendra Giri. During triangular conversation which held on 23.5.2021 amongst accused Anand Giri, Mahant Ravindra Puri and Mahant Narendra Giri (deceased), accused Anand Giri mounted pressure on Mahant Narendra Giri to revoke his expulsion immediately and threatened Mahant Narendra Giri to defame him by circulating his objectionable videos and audios which are in his possession, which mounted immense mental pressure on him and compelled him to think about committing suicide.

30. Here it would be apposite to mention that the meaning of suicide requires no explanation. It is an act of self-killing. Suicidal ideation and behaviour in human beings are complex and multifaceted. Every human has different concept and perspective about his life. No standard or straightjacket formula can be laid down with regard to sensitivity of each individuals, because different people behave differently in same situation. Each person has his own idea of self esteem and self respect. Sometime a comment passed against a person on lighter side are taken very seriously by such persons, who are hyper-sensitive while other persons, who are not so sensitive, behave differently, they ignore even serious comment made against them and try their best to face the situation. Each individual's suicide-ability pattern depends on his inner consciousness of mental pain, fear and loss of self respect. These factors are crucial and exacerbating contributor to an individual's vulnerability to end his life, which may either be an attempt for self-protection or escapism from intolerable self. Therefore in the matters of suicide each case has to be decided on the basis of its own facts and circumstances. If the accused kept on mental torture the deceased by words, deeds or conduct, which may provoke, urge or encourage the deceased to commit suicide is an abetment. It is the basic principle of criminal jurisprudence that a man may tell a lie, but circumstances do not. Even an indirect act of incitement to the commission of suicide would constitute the offence of abetment of suicide under Section 306 of the IPC. The factum of abetment/instigation differs from case to case. Even spectrum of harassment is quite varied as it can be ranged from physical, verbal, mental or even emotional. Where the accused by his acts or continued course of conduct creates such circumstances that deceased was left with no other option except to commit suicide, an instigation may be inferred.

31. Under the facts of the case as mentioned above, I find that there was a proximate between the unfortunate incident of suicide of Mahant Narendra Giri and acts of the accused persons and their other concerned associates. The test of proximity cannot be too literally construed and practically reduced to a cut-and-dried formula of universal application so as to be confined in a straitjacket. Where the death by suicide is a logical culmination of a continuous harassment or mental pain, each step directly or indirectly connected with the end of life of the deceased are relevant. The facts having a bearing in this case cannot be ignored particularly suicide note and video made by the deceased just before committing suicide and, therefore, I am not inclined to accept the submission of Mr. G.S. Chaturvedi, learned senior counsel for the applicant that there was no proximate link between the suicide of the deceased and acts of the accused persons.

32. Though Mahant Narendra Giri has died because of hanging, but facts of the case reflect that he was hyper-sensitive man and considering his post and position in the society that he was President of "All India Akhada Parishad", Mahant / Head of Shri Math "Baghambari Gaddi" and "Shri Bade/Lete Hanuman Ji Temple, Prayagraj" was very much depressed on account of the reason that if Anand Giri makes his edited obscene video with a girl viral, then he will not be able to show his face in the society and feels himself humiliated among his known persons and in the society on account of his character assassination by the accused persons and to avoid defamation and insult in the eyes of society, his followers and devotees, he has committed suicide. The said facts are corroborated by the suicide note written by the deceased and video made by the deceased just before his death as well as other attending circumstances mentioned above. The deceased in his suicide note and video has disclosed the reasons and other compelling circumstances implicating Anand Giri, which prevailed upon him for committing suicide. At this stage, there is no reason to disbelieve the suicide note and video made by the deceased just before his death. Normally it is presumed that no one tells a lie while dying by committing suicide. Thus, abetment of suicide by Anand Giri and his associates, cannot be ruled out at this stage. The submission of Mr. G.S. Chaturvedi that no offence for abetment against Anand Giri is made out, is not liable to be accepted. Further, the contention of Shri Chaturvedi that Mahant Narendra Giri called Mr. Hashim Ali and asked to format the CCTV camera so that after his death anyone else could not know about his activities/misdeed, has no leg to stand inasmuch as there may have been various reasons including technical one for getting the CCTV camera formatted, which does not have any bearing on the fact of the case at this stage.

33. The next submission of Mr. G.S. Chaturvedi that deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri, neither in the suicide note nor during his conversation with Mahant Santosh Das @ Satua Baba disclosed that as to who gave information to him that tomorrow applicant-Anand Giri will viral his edited obscene video with a girl, is concerned, the same is immaterial and submission of Mr. Chaturvedi in this regard is also not liable to be accepted, because suicide note cannot be taken to be encyclopedia of each and every minute details. Merely by non-disclosure of the source of information by the deceased in the suicide note, the same cannot be disbelieved, because the contents of suicide note depend upon the mental balance of the person concerned at the time of writing the suicide note. Deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri during his last conversation dated 20.09.2021 at about 07:00 AM with Mahant Santosh Das @ Satua Baba also clearly made allegation against Anand Giri. It is also possible that deceased-Mahant Narendra Giri may not have intentionally disclosed the name of the informer, who gave information to him about the act and intention of accused-Anand Giri so that after his death the informer may not be harassed by the accused and his associates in future.

34. The materials collected by the C.B.I. during investigation, tend to show that on account of acts of the applicant and co-accused, the deceased was put under tremendous pressure to do something which he was perhaps not willing to do. The conduct of the applicant and his accomplices was such that the deceased because of fear of his slander was left with no other option, but to end his life. The manner in which the deceased committed suicide, prima facie, indicates that the same is the outcome of cumulative effect of series of acts of accused persons as mentioned above. So far as information gathered by deceased from Haridwar that tomorrow Anand Giri will make his edited obscene video with a girl viral, as mentioned in the suicide note and video made by him just before his death also appear that the same was of definite nature (not imaginary or inferential one), therefore, Mahant Narendra Giri committed suicide. As such, prima-facie case for abetment and instigation is made out against the applicant Anand Giri, hence the provisions of Section 107 IPC are attracted.

35. On the basis of aforesaid analysis of the case, the submission of Mr. G.S.Chaturvedi, learned senior counsel that the applicant is innocent is not liable to be accepted at this pre-trial stage.

36. The further detailed discussion relating to the incident need not be referred to herein since the allegations and the defence thereto is still open to be urged by the parties in the trial Court.

37. So far as judgments relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant are concerned, there is no dispute about the proposition of law laid down therein, but the same are not helpful to the applicant because the same are distinguishable on facts of this case. It is well settled that every case turns on its own facts. Even one additional or different fact may make a big difference between the conclusion in two cases, because even a single significant detail may alter the entire aspect.

38. So far as affidavit dated 03.07.2022 of the informants is concerned, I find that first information report of this case was lodged on 21.09.2021 on the oral complaint / information of informants Amar Giri and Pawan Maharaj, who are also witnesses, out of five witnesses of the inquest proceeding. Statement under Section 161 CrPC of Amar Giri and Pawan Maharaj were recorded by the then investigating officer of police on 21.09.2021 and both of them supported the contents of F.I.R. During investigation by CBI, their statements were again recorded in which also they did not dispute their statements recorded by the police. Perusal of order-sheet of this case shows that without issuing any notice to informants namely Amar Giri and Pawan Maharaj, four counsel namely Alok Kumar Dubey, Saumitra Dwivedi, Rishi Shankar Dwivedi and Vinay Prakash Shukla filed their Vakalatnama dated 21.03.2022 on behalf of the informant Amar Giri and they have appeared on several dates to oppose the prayer for bail of the applicant, but on 25.07.2022, when matter was taken up, it was informed by those learned counsel that now they have no instruction to appear in the matter because the informants have engaged new counsel Mr. Niraj Tiwari on 02.07.2022 and got an affidavit dated 03.07.2022 filed through him stating inter-alia that they do not want to oppose the bail application and to say anything. On perusal of the same, I find that the said affidavit dated 03.07.2022 has been filed after six months eleven days of submission of charge sheet dated 20.11.2021 against the applicant-Anand Giri without any explanation of delay. In the affidavit informants taking U-turn stated inter alia that they had not lodged F.I.R. against any particular person. Only Bade Maharaj Ji's death was reported. They do not want any action on the First Information Report and want to take it back, which itself indicates that something is fishy in the matter and possibility of winning over the informants from the accused side cannot be ruled out.

39. In view of the above, this Court is prima-facie satisfied and finds force in the submission of learned counsel for the State and C.B.I. that in case, applicant is released on bail, there is every likelihood of winning over the other witnesses and tampering the evidences.

40. As a fallout and consequence of aforesaid discussion, considering the facts, materials on record and other attending circumstances of the case, which are relevant for the purpose of deciding this bail application, submissions advanced on behalf of parties, complicity of the applicant, gravity of the offence and severity of the punishment as well as possibility of tampering the evidences and winning over the witnesses as noted above, I do not find any good ground to grant bail to the applicant at this stage.

Result

41. The bail application lacks merit and is accordingly rejected.

Observation and direction

42. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made herein above are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and shall not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

43. However, considering the detention period of the applicant-Anand Giri alias Ashok Kumar Chotiya in jail since 21.09.2022, it is directed that the trial Court shall make all endavour to conclude the trial of the applicant expeditiously without granting unnecessary adjournment to either of the parties. Applicant-Anand Giri shall co-operate with the trial and either of the parties shall not seek unnecessary adjournment.

44. Office is directed to send a copy of this order forthwith to the concerned court below for compliance.

2. The present jail appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 27.02.2019 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut in Session Trial No. 277/2017, crime No. 390/2016, under Sections 452/307/504/506 I.P.C., P.S. 3. The prosecution case as per the written report is that the brother-in-law of Raju son of the informant Kanwar Pal came since few days to do the agricultural work. Santram (accused-appellant) who is from the village of the informant and is a scoundrel person by threatening to Raju, he used to take money for drinking liquor. Today on 21.10.2016 in the evening Santram demanded money for liquor and when Raju did not gave money, then Sant Ram threatened him to teach a lesson. After sometime at around 6:20 PM, Raju, the complainant and his son Kanwar Pal were talking inside the house, then Sant Ram came abusing inside the house with a knife in his hand forcibly and by telling that he will not leave Raju alive today, he after catching hold of Raju with an intent to kill attacked from knife in his abdomen. In a pursuit to save by the complainant, the second blow was inflicted by the appellant in the stomach of Raju and as a result thereof his intestine came out. While raising alarm, the complainant tried to catch, the accused Santram turned and ran hurriedly and in this process, in the iron gate his head crushed, still he ran away. Raju was taken from ambulance. After this a written report given by the complainant Vijay Pal and on the basis of that chik F.I.R. was registered on the same day.

4. The injured Raju was examined at Community Health Centre, Hastinapur, Meerut. He received incised wound 9 cm x 2 cm depth on the left side of abdomen, 12 cm below left nipple. The second injury was also an incised wound 2 cm x 5 cm, bone depth right side of chest 13 cm below right nipple. These injuries were kept under observation. Doctor opined that the injury caused by a sharp edged object and bleeding was fresh. A supplementary report was prepared wherein x-ray of chest and ultrasound were done which were found to be normal. The investigating officer after taking examination of the prosecution witnesses prepared the site plan and after completing the investigation has submitted the charge sheet under Section 452/307/504/506 I.P.C. Learned trial court vide order dated 21.06.2017 has framed the charges on the appellant-accused under Section 452/307/504/506 I.P.C.

5. PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has reiterated the prosecution version written in the written report clearly stating that Santram with a knife in his hand came inside the house and with an intent to kill caused two blows on the stomach of Raju and prior to that on the same day i.e. 21.10.2016 Santram demanded money from Raju for drinking liquor and when Raju refused to pay, Santram after extending threats went away. In the cross, he has stated that he had not seen Santram abusing and threatening Raju. He has also stated that money was not demanded in front of him. It has been further stated that the incident took place in his house and when he came out from the house he saw Santram running after assaulting Raju with knife, however, had not seen Santram stabbing Raju. He has further stated that apart from him and his son there was no one else.

6. PW-2 is Raju (injured witness) has stated that on 21.10.2016 in the evening Santram demanded money from him for drinking liquor which he refused to give and then Santram threatened him to teach lesson and went away. After some time, at about 6:20 PM, while he was sitting with PW-1 and his son inside their house and were talking, then Santram armed with knife abusing forcibly came inside the house and told him that he will not leave him leave him alive today. After saying this, with an intent to kill, he attacked upon him with knife which came in his stomach and he got injured. After raising alarm, the accused-appellant Santram ran away. In the cross, he has stated that he was attacked by Santram twice in the stomach. He has lastly stated that after some time Rishipal also came there.

7. PW-3 Kanwar Pal, in chief has supported the prosecution case and while reiterating the prosecution version, he has also said that in the evening around 6 PM

Santram came inside his house and started demanding money from Raju for drinking liquor. Upon refusal by Raju, he went away abusing. After some time he came armed with knife and abusing forcibly entered into their house and told Raju that today he will not leave him alive and gave two knife blows in the stomach of Raju. Upon alarm being raised, the villagers came and Rishipal also came. In the cross, he has stated that he did not see Santram talking to Raju and when he came out, Rishipal was coming to his house.

8. PW-4 Vijay Kumar is a formal witness who has proved chik F.I.R. and primary GD.

9. PW-5 is Rishi Pal Singh in whose presence at the time of assault has been denied by PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 and all three witnesses have said that he came after assault was already made.

10. PW-6 is doctor Satish Chandra who has medically examined the injured. He further stated that the injuries have come from sharp edged weapon, however, are simple in nature. He has also said that two incised wounds were found on the body of the injured and such injury may not cause death.

11. PW-7 Gaurav Gupta who conducted the operation of the injured and prepared a supplementary report. He has also stated that on the basis of supplementary report, he could not say that on which part of the stomach, the injured sustained injuries. He has denied the suggestion that the injuries could not have caused death. He further denied suggestion that the injuries were simple in nature.

12. PW-8 is the investigating officer who has conducted the investigation and has supported the prosecution case. The statement of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded where his defence was of denial and while denying the incident he has stated that he has been falsely implicated due to enmity.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that there is inconsistency in the statement of the prosecution witnesses. The medical report does not corroborate the prosecution version and nature of the injury does not attract the offence under Section 307 I.P.C.

14. Learned A.G.A. has opposed this contention submitting that grievous injury is not a sin qua non for bringing home the charges under Section 307 I.P.C.

15. Perusal of the site plan which is exhibited as Exh. Ka-4 prepared by the investigating officer, shows that the occurrence has been committed inside the house of Vijay Pal Singh (PW-1). The testimony of the injured witness Raju corroborates the prosecution case who has clearly said that he had been assaulted twice by the appellant. PW-1 in his chief, though has claimed himself to be eye witness of the occurrence, however, in his cross, he has again said that the incident took place inside his house and he did not see Santram talking to Raju or abusing or threatening him rather when he came out, he only saw Santram running after stabbing Raju. Thus, PW-1 though has not seen the appellant stabbing Raju, however, he saw him running after stabbing Raju. PW-1 has corroborated the testimony of PW-2. Likewise PW-3 Kanwar Pal, in the examination-in-chief, has claimed himself to be the eye witness, however, in the cross he has stated that he did not see Santram stabbing Raju rather he has stated that after hearing alarm when he came out, Santram was gone. He has stated that he has not seen Santram stabbing Raju, thus, PW-3 is also not the eye witness of the incident, however, he was very much present in the house and had heard the alarm and when he came out, he saw that Raju has held his stomach and there were two wounds of knife on his stomach and thus his presence cannot be doubtful. PW-3 has supported the prosecution version.

16. The presence of PW-5 Rishipal has been denied at the time of occurrence by PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, therefore, his testimony is of no relevance.

17. PW-6 Doctor Satish Chandra Bhaskar has corroborated the prosecution version and has proved the two incised wounds sustained by the injured and has further corroborated that these injuries could have come from sharp edged weapon. Doctor Satish Chandra Bhaskar has conducted operation as well as ultrasound and x-ray of the injured.

18. The cumulative reading of the statement of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 shows that the incident took place on 21.10.2016 around 6 PM which has been committed in two parts. In the first part, the money was demanded by the appellant from the injured Raju which was denied and upon this the appellant has threatened the injured. In the second part of the incident, the appellant returned and entered into the house of PW-1 with a knife in his hand and gave two blows in the stomach of the injured, as a result thereof, he got injured. The testimony of the injured witness PW-2 is intact and has supported the prosecution case which is corroborated by the testimony of the doctor PW-6 and also of PW-1 and PW-2.

19. Law in this regard is settled; the testimony of the injured witness alone is sufficient to prove the charge under Section 307 I.P.C., whereas in this case apart from the testimony of the injured witness, there is corroborative medical evidence in form of injury report and the testimony of PW-6, coupled with the testimony of PW1 and PW-3 who were very much present in the same house, it is further corroborated by the testimony of the investigating officer who has prepared the site plan.

20. The testimony of the injured witnesses has a great evidentiary value and unless the compelling reasons are present, the statement of the injured witnesses cannot be discarded lightly as held by the Apex Court in the case of "State of M.P. v. Mansingh, (2003) 10 SCC 414".

21. On due consideration to the argument advanced by the parties as well as perusal of the record, so far as the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that the injury sustained by the injured was simple in nature and therefore no offence under Section 307 I.P.C. is made out is concerned, it will be appropriate to extract Section 307 I.P.C.:-

307. Attempt to murder.--Whoever does any act with such intention or knowledge, and under such circumstances that, if he by that act caused death, he would be guilty of murder, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine; and if hurt is caused to any person by such act, the offender shall be liable either to 1[imprisonment for life], or to such punishment as is hereinbefore mentioned. Attempts by life convicts.--2[When any person offending under this section is under sentence of 1[imprisonment for life], he may, if hurt is caused, be punished with death.

Perusal of the definition shows that an act done by the accused with an intention or knowledge and under such circumstances that, if he by that act caused death, he would be guilty of murder. The next part of Section 307 I.P.C. refers to a heavier punishment in case hurt is caused pursuant to such act. Language of the section makes it clear that mere sustaining injury is not required to attract offence under Section 307 I.P.C., however, in case hurt is caused by such act, the punishment can be severe. Likewise it is not necessary that the injury should be such from which under normal circumstances death may be caused. In State of Maharashtra v Balram Bama Patill (1983)2 SCC 28, the Supreme Court held that it is not necessary that a bodily injury sufficient under normal circumstances to cause death should have been inflicted. Relevant portion of para 9 of Balram Bama Patill's case is reproduced as under :-

"9...To justify a conviction under this section it is not essential that bodily injury capable of causing death should have been inflicted. Although the nature of injury actually caused may often give considerable assistance in coming to a finding as to the intention of the accused, such intention may also be deduced from other circumstances, and may even, in some cases, be ascertained without any reference at all to actual wounds. The section makes a distinction between an act of the accused and its result, if any. Such an act may not be attended by any result so far as the person assaulted is concerned, but still there may be cases in which the culprit would be liable under this section. It is not necessary that the injury actually caused to the victim of the assault should be sufficient under ordinary circumstances to cause the death of the person assaulted. What the Court has to see is whether the act, irrespective of its result, was done with the intention or knowledge and under circumstances mentioned in this section. An attempt in order to be criminal need not be the penultimate act. It is sufficient in law, if there is present an intent coupled with some overt act in execution thereof."

In State of M P v Saleem (2005)5 SCC 554, the Supreme Court held as under:

"13. It is sufficient to justify a conviction under Section 307 if there is present an intent coupled with some overt act in execution thereof. It is not essential that bodily injury capable of causing death should have been inflicted. The section makes a distinction between the act of the accused and its result, if any. The court has to see whether the act, irrespective of its result, was done with the intention or knowledge and under circumstances mentioned in the section. Therefore, an accused charged under Section 307 IPC cannot be acquitted merely because the injuries inflicted on the victim were in the nature of a simple hurt."

In Jage Ram v State of Haryana (2015)11 SCC 366, it has been held that to establish the commission of an offence under Section 307 , it is not essential that a fatal injury capable of causing death should have been inflicted. To reproduce:

"12. For the purpose of conviction under Section 307 IPC, the prosecution has to establish (i) the intention to commit murder; and (ii) the act done by the accused. The burden is on the prosecution that the accused had attempted to commit the murder of the prosecution witness. Whether the accused person intended to commit murder of another person would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. To justify a conviction under Section 307 IPC, it is not essential that fatal injury capable of causing death should have been caused. Although the nature of injury actually caused may be of assistance in coming to a finding as to the intention of the accused, such intention may also be adduced from other circumstances. The intention of the accused is to be gathered from the circumstances like the nature of the weapon used, words used by the accused at the time of the incident, motive of the accused, parts of the body where the injury was caused and the nature of injury and severity of the blows given, etc."

In Md. Umar Ali and others Vs. State of Bihar and others, the Patna High Court held as under:-

"19. It is well settled that evidence of injured eye witness cannot be discarded in toto on the ground of inimical disposition towards the accused or improbabilities of narrating the details of actual attack. His evidence has to be scrutinized with caution taking into account the factum of previous enmity and tendency to exaggerate and to implicate as many as possible. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be interested. A witness is interested only when he derives some benefit from the result of the litigation. If evidence of injured witness if otherwise reliable and trustworthy then it carries more weight and cannot be thrown away merely because it is not corroborated by any independent witness. Little discrepancies cannot make evidence of injured witness unacceptable, when his evidence as a whole has a ring of truth. "

22. Hence from the discussion herein made above as well as the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Balram Bama Patil (supra) it is evident that proof of life threatening injury is not required for the offence under Section 307 I.P.C. rather it is the intention of the accused which matters and which can be ascertained from surrounding circumstances as wellas the injury sustained, nature of the weapon used and the severity of the blows etc. In this case the accused first threatened the injured then went away and thereafter again came armed with a knife in his hand and entered into the house of PW-1 and gave two repetitive blows on the abdomen of the injured. The fact is that the accused after extending threat again came on the same day and gave two blows to the injured. Not only this while entering into the house of the injured witness PW-2 he has also told that he will not leave PW-2 alive today and thereafter gave two blows on the vital part of the body i.e. abdomen. The entire series of events show that first threat was given by the appellant to the injured and secondly after some time the appellant came prepared with knife in his hand and again said that he will not leave PW-2 alive today and after saying this gave two blows to the accused, coupled with the injury report of the injured PW-2 prepared by the doctor PW-6 Dr. Satish Chandra Bhaskar who has said that two incised wounds by a sharp edged weapon have been sustained by the injured has duly corroborated by the prosecution version read with testimony of PW-1 and PW-3. All these attending circumstances show that there was a clear intention to commit murder. The presence of two incised wounds on the body of the injured attracts the second part of Section 307 I.P.C.

23. In this case the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that the injuries were not grievous rather were simple has no force; the injuries found to be caused by a sharp edged weapon and they were kept under observation, x-ray and ultrasound was done; the accused had clear motive for committing the crime as he often used to take money from PW-2 for drinking liquor and on the date of occurrence since the money was refused by PW-2, the accused committed the offence after extending him threat and breaking into the house of PW-1.

24. In view of the above observation, I am of the opinion that the trial court has rightly convicted the accused under Section 307 I.P.C. read with Section 452, 504, 506 I.P.C. and therefore the jail appeal is dismissed and accordingly, the conviction order of the trial court is upheld.

25. On the question of sentence, learned amicus curiae appearing for the appellant submits that condition of the appellant is very poor and he could not arrange a lawyer so that he can apply bail in the trial court during trial. He was arrested on 28.11.2016 and against the maximum sentence of seven years approximately about 5 years 9 months as per custody certificate have been incarcerated by the appellant and therefore, it is submitted that looking to the fact that the appellant has no prior criminal history, he has already incarcerated more than five years in jail, the sentence of the appellant may be reduced to the period undergone by the appellant.

26. Learned AG.A. though has opposed the appeal, however, could not dispute the fact that the appellant has already undergone 5 years and 9 months approximately in jail and he is in custody since 28.11.2016.

27. On due consideration to the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the parties as well as considering the the financial position of the appellant, the sentence and fine imposed by the trial court vide its judgment and order dated 27.02.2019 is reduced to the period already undergone by the appellant.

28. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted to the learned trial court as well as concerned Jail Superintendent for compliance. Lower court record be sent back to the lower court.

I appreciate the assistance rendered by Shri Raj Kumar Sharma, learned Amicus Curiae, and we direct the State Government to pay ₹ 20,000/- as honorarium.

1. Heard Sri Kamta Prasad for the accused appellant - Gaya Prasad Tiwari and Sri Kameshwar Singh for Mukundi Singh. Sri Vikas Goswami and Sri N.K. Srivastava for the State.

2. By way of these appeals, the appellants-Gaya Prasad Tiwari and Mukundi Singh have challenged the judgment and order dated 22.12.2012 passed by Addl. Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Hamirpur in Case Crime No.572/2008, S.T. No.234/2008, State Vs. Gaya Prasad Tiwari and another whereby appellants were convicted under Section 304 (1) read with Section 34 and awarded sentence of life imprisonment under Section 304 (1) read with Section 34 IPC coupled with fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in case of default of payment of fine, appellants would undergo one year additional sentence.

3. The appellant - Mukundi Singh has been enlarged on bail by this Court and during the trial also he was on bail. Gaya Prasad Tiwari is in jail for more than 14 years.

4. The brief facts of the case as culled out from the record and proceedings and the F.I.R. are that a first information report was lodged by one Krishna Kumar Diwedi on 9.4.2008 at 7:30 a.m. against appellants being registered as Case Crime No.572 of 2008 for commission of offence under Section 304 IPC with regard to the incident dated 8.4.2008 at 11:30 p.m.

5. S.I. Siya Ram took up the investigation and kept investigation into motion. The Investigating Officer visited the spot, prepared site plan, recorded statements of the eye witness and witnesses and after completing investigation submitted charge sheet against both the accused.

6. The matter being triable by court of sessions the learned Magistrate committed the case to court of sessions.

7. The learned trial court summoned the accused and framed charge under Section 304 Part-I read with Section 34 IPC, which was read over to the accused. The accused denied the charge and claimed to be tried.

8. The prosecution so as to bring home the charge, examined 5 witnesses, who are as under:-

1	Krishna Kumar	P.W.1
2	Ram Teerath	P.W.2
3	Dr. R.K. Misra	P.W.3
4	Siya Ram	P.W.4
5	Mahendra Singh	P.W.5

9. The following documents were produced and contents were proved by leading evidence:

1.	F.I.R.	Ext. Ka-14
2.	Written report	Ext. Ka-1
3.	Recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth.	Ext. Ka-4
4.	Post mortem report	Ext. Ka-2
5.	Site-plan	Ext. Ka-6
6.	Site-plan (II)	Ext. Ka-3
7.	Report of Vidhi Vigyan Prayogshala	Ext. Ka-16
8.	Panchayatnama	Ext. Ka-9
9.	Charge Sheet	Ext. Ka-8

10. After completion of prosecution evidence, both the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused did not examine any witness in defence.

11. Learned Counsel for the appellants submits that the punishment is too harsh as there was a single blow which caused injury to deceased. The parties are inter related. There was no premeditated action so as to do away with the deceased. There was an altercation, it is the say of the prosecution witness that Gaya Prasad Tiwari went in home and brought a sharp edged weapon from the house and inflicted the blow to the deceased. The witnesses also have in their occular version opined that had proper treatment being made available to the deceased in time, the deceased would have survived. The role assigned to Mukundi Singh was to see that the deceased fell to ground from the motorcycle he was driving. Learned Counsel has relied on the following judgements:-

(i) Surain Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 374;

(ii) Atul Thakur Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh etc. etc., 2018 0 Supreme (SC) 46; and so as to contend that the accused have been falsely implicated and in alternative there was no premeditated action whereby the trial court convicted the accused with aid of section 34 of I.P. Code.

(iii) Ramroop Vs. State of U.P., Jail Appeal No.4722 of 2015, decided on 22.11.2021.

12. The learned Counsel Sri Kameshwar Singh submits that there were no injury marks on the body of deceased which would show that the deceased was assaulted and that Mukundi Singh had caught hold of the deceased. The version of PW2-Ram Teerath does not find place in the evidence of PW1-Krishna Kumar, neither are these facts mentioned in the F.I.R. Learned Counsel has relied on the following judgements to press the submission that if there are contradiction in the testimony, the accused be given benefit of doubt:

(i) Virender Vs. State of Haryana, Criminal Appeal No.1339 of 2010, decided on 16.12.2019;

(ii) Ezajhussain Sabdarhussain and another Vs. State of Gujarat, 2019 0 Supreme (SC) 163;

(iii) Mohan Singh and another Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1963 SUPREME COURT 174; and

(iv) Mukesh Vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh, 2022 0 Supreme (SC) 33.

13. It is further submitted by Sri Kameshwar Singh that this is not a case where there is common intention to do away with the deceased said to be presented when incident occurred. It is further submitted that out of 4 eye witnesses, none has tried to save the deceased and the prosecution has misreadibly failed and they have not purposely examined these witnesses. It is further submitted that he seeks clean acquittal of the accused, who is wrongly roped in this case as it is stated in the F.I.R. that the deceased came on the motorcycle and Mukundi Singh pulled him and the deceased fell down. If the vehicle was already there, there was no question for searching the vehicle to take the injured to the hospital. The version of witness causes doubt about prosecution case. The F.I.R. is lodged after a considerable delay. PW1-Krishna Kumar has remained silent as far as catching hold of the deceased by Mukundi Singh is concerned.

14. Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A., has submitted that the punishment is just and proper and no retributive theory is required to be applied as the injury was on the very vital part of the body of the deceased and Mukundi Singh is also equally liable as there was common intention to commit the offence and to do away with the accused.

15. Learned A.G.A. Sri N.K. Srivastava submits that as far as cross-examination of PW2 is concerned, nor in the statement recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. of accused, this aspect has been answered or rebutted that the accused had not caught hold of the deceased just because this aspect is not mentioned in the F.I.R. It will not prove fatal to the accused. The oral testimony of PW2 cannot be discarded. It is further submitted that the evidence of the doctor clinches the issue and the accused with common intention inflicted injury to the deceased.

16. After advancing aforesaid arguments, learned counsels for the appellants alternatively submitted that if this Court in appeal holds the accused guilty, it may consider the alternative prayer for reduction of the sentence as the sentence of life imprisonment and fine awarded to the appellants by the trial court is very harsh and not commensurate to the injury caused.

17. While coming to the conclusion that the accused are the perpetrators of the offence, whether sentence of life imprisonment and fine is adequate or the sentence requires to be modified in the facts and circumstances of this case and in the light of certain judicial pronouncements and precedents applicable in such matters requires to be considered from the aspect of injuries of deceased. The post-mortem reveals that there were following injuries on the dead body.

18. This Court would refer to the following precedents, namely, Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], which explains rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court in the said decision as follows:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

19. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

20. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

21. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

22. While going through the record and the testimony of the witnesses specially the FIR and the medical evidence, the guilt of the accused is proved to the hilt and we are unable to disagree with the learned court below in recording the finding of guilt of the accused.

23. The evidence of doctor who had performed the post mortem as narrated herein-above also fortified that the injuries were possible by knife used by appellant - Gaya Prasad. Section 34 of I.P. Code reads as under:-

"Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention. --When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."

24. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

25. Learned AGA also admitted the fact that appellant - Gaya Prasad Tiwari is languishing in jail for the last more than 14 years. The accused-appellants are convicted for commission of offence under Section 304 Part-I read with Section 34 IPC, which is a major offence and is sentenced for life imprisonment along with fine. In our opinion, ends of justice would be met if sentence is reduced to the period of 10 years imprisonment for the aforesaid offence.

26. Gaya Prasad Tiwari is punished for period undergone rigorous imprisonment. The fine of Rs. 10,000/- is reduced to Rs. 5,000/- to him. As far as Mukundi Singh is concerned, we hold that looking to the factual data and as ingredient of Section 34 I.P. Code are not proved as there was no common intention to do away with the deceased or injure him. We are fortified in our view by the decision of the Apex Court in Khokan @ Khokhan Vishwas Vs. State of Chhattisgarh, Criminal Appeal No.121 of 2021, decided on 11.2.2021 and The State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Subhash @ Pappu, Criminal Appeal No.436 of 2022, decided on 1.4.2022.

27. Once we hold that there was no common intention, role of person has to be evaluated and the act the accused had committed would have to be viewed in the light of evidence against the accused. It cannot be said that Mukundi Singh was not present and there was no overt act committed by him. The deceased succumbed is not negated in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. However, as long period has elapsed, we reduce the punishment of Mukundi to sentence undergone but enhance the fine from Rs. 10,000/- to Rs. 15,000/-. The fine be deposited within 3 months from his release from jail failing which he shall be incarcerated for further 2 years.

28. Hence, the sentence awarded to the appellant-Gaya Prasad Tiwari and Mukundi Singh by the learned trial-court is modified as above under Section 304 Part-I read with Section 34 IPC and fine as above mentioned.

29. Accordingly, both the appeals are partly allowed with the modification of the sentence, as above.

30. The Jailer to release the accused if not wanted in other offence. Mukundi Singh is on bail. Jailor of concerned jail to do the needful as per jail manual.

31. Record be sent back to the court below.

32. This Court is thankful of all the Counsels for ably assisting this Court ad getting these old appeals disposed off.

Therefore, there is no delay in lodging the FIR. In the FIR the informant has named his son Ramesh Yadav as accused who injured and killed his wife Sukhraji Devi from an axe. He has proved the tahrir Ex.Ka-1 and inquest Ex.Ka-2. In tahrir the informant has not endorsed that accused had also injured his daughter, Bindu Devi but in oral examination he has deposed that when Bindu Devi went to save her mother, accused also attacked on her and caused 2-3 injuries from the same axe and both were admitted in District Hospital, Gyanpur. From the circumstances, it transpires that the informant was in haste and as his wife and daughter were seriously injured, therefore, in harried manner he briefly informed the police writing few words about the incident. The FIR is an instrument only to accelerate the police machinery and to start the investigation. It is not an encyclopedia, Rotash Vs. State of Rajasthan, 2007 CrLJ 758. In Krishnan and another Vs. State rep. by Inspector of Police, AIR 2003 SC 2978 it is held that the FIR filed immediately after occurrence rules out any possibility of deliberation to falsely implicate any person. In Motilal Vs. State of UP, AIR 2010 SC 281 it is held that FIR need not contain every minute detail about the occurrence. It is not necessary that name of every individual present at the scene of occurrence is required to be stated in the FIR. In Mohd. Maqbool Vs. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2010 AIR SCW 3194 it is held that FIR is not substantive piece of evidence, it can only be used to corroborate its maker.

11.2. It is noteworthy that in this case the informant is the father of the accused, deceased Sukhraji is his mother and another injured is his real sister. It is also pertinent to mention that informant has only one son i.e. accused Ramesh Yadav as the another son Mukesh had died prior to the incident due to cancer. Any enmity among the accused-appellant, deceased, informant and sister, Bindu Devi is not established, therefore, it is concluded that the FIR has correctly been lodged by the informant against the accused.

11.3.(II). In this case no major issue or motive appears to be present among the parties. As per scene of the occurrence the accused reached to his mother at the well hiding an axe and explored the reason of causing the incident by asking to wash his clothes and when she replied to wash his clothes tomorrow, he attacked from the axe. It appears that the cause of committing the crime was something else. From the evidence of PW-2, Meena Devi it transpires that the accused also used to beat his wife and children due to which his wife leaving him had gone to her parental house with her child. PW-3, Bindu Devi, sister of the accused has also admitted that wife of the accused lives in her parental house.

11.4. It appears that the accused-appellant Ramesh Yadav is not a person of cool mind and due to his aggressive behaviour his wife had left him and is living with her parents. Admittedly, the deceased was the mother-in-law of his wife. Accused might would be thinking that his wife had left him due to the shortcomings of his mother. Therefore, inventing the reason of attack he might have killed his mother.

11.5. In cases based on direct evidence there is no need to prove the motive. Here the prosecution has not put any substantive or reasoned motive but has put the mere fact that when deceased ignored to wash clothes of the accused-appellant same day, he started attack at her with the axe. The fact that at the time of occurrence the deceased was washing clothes at the well and there PW-2, Meena Devi, PW-3, Bindu Devi and PW-4, Om Prakash were also present, is proved beyond any doubt. In this case the informant has named his sole real son alone.

11.6.(III). In this case the place of occurrence is the well shown from Letter-A in the map, Ex.Ka-6. At this point there is no difference in the evidence of PWs-1 to 4 and the Investigation Officer, therefore, it is concluded that this occurrence took place at place-A as alleged by the prosecution and the place of occurrence has not been changed.

11.7.(IV). It is a day-light occurrence based on direct evidence of PW-1, Banarsi, father of the accused-appellant and husband of the deceased; PW-2, Meena Devi, an independent eye-witness; PW-3, Bindu Devi, daughter of the deceased and sister of the accused; PW-4, Om Prakash an independent eye-witness. There is no difference in the evidence of eye-witnesses PWs-1 to 4. Thus it is established that it is a case based on direct evidence and the evidence of the witnesses proved the prosecution case beyond reasonable doubt.

11.8.(V). In this case occurrence occurred on 16.02.2016 whereas the deceased died at Raja Ka Talab on 02.03.2016 when she, after discharge from Trauma Centre, BHU on account of no hope of her survival, was on the way of her home. Thereafter he directly reached concerned police station with the dead body where inquest (Ex.Ka-2) was conducted. In inquest injury on the back side of the head, on left shoulder, on left thigh and cutting wounds on forehead and left finger were noted. They also opined that these injuries were cause by son Ramesh from the axe.

12. The inquest is not substantive piece of evidence. It is only a paper to know the prima facie reason of unnatural death of any person whose dead body is scheduled for post mortem. It is found that there is no infirmity in the inquest.

13. The post mortem report is not a substantive piece of evidence but it is essential to know the actual cause of death. In post mortem report (Ex.Ka-17) dated 03.03.2016 conducted after 15 days from the date of occurrence PW-8, Dr. Amar Bahadur Singh has opined that deceased, Sukhraji Devi had died due to septicaemic shock. He on the internal and external examination of the dead body found 6 injuries, 7th injury was alimentary and urinary tube attached in the body which cannot be said to be an injury. It appears that the septicaemia developed in injuries caused by the accused. The injuries had not occurred in any accident or usual course of life. From the evidence of PW-1, informant - Banarsi, it is confirmed that due to injuries caused by the accused there was no hope of life or survival of the deceased, therefore, she was discharged to spend few days/hours at her home, but she died on the way before reaching her home.

14. Learned counsel for the appellant has argued that it is not a case of Section 302 IPC but it is a case of Section 304, Part II IPC which shall be dealt with later on.

15. Recovery of axe and its memo Ex.Ka-3 has been proved by Pws-2, 3 and 6. Such injuries can be caused from an axe and from its blunt object.

16. Mainly, from the accused side two arguments are advanced: firstly, that at the time of occurrence the accused was a person of unsound mind so the act done by him is protected under Section 84 IPC and is no offence as it falls under the general exceptions; and secondly, that it is not a case under Section 302 IPC but it is a case under Section 304, Part II IPC.

17. First of all, it would be proper to discuss the facts regarding Section 84 IPC. According to learned counsel for the appellant, at the time of occurrence the accused was a person of unsound mind. Section 84 IPC is as under:-

"84. Act of a person of unsound mind.--Nothing is an offence which is done by a person who, at the time of doing it, by reason of unsoundness of mind, is incapable of knowing the nature of the act, or that he is doing what is either wrong or contrary to law."

18. This provision has been made with the reason that a person of unsound mind is incapable of forming mens rea that is, criminal intent. In the case of M'Naughten, (1843) 8 Eng Rep. 718, the accused, Daniel M'Naughten suffered from a delusion that Sir Robert Peel, the then Prime Minister of Britain had injured him and in order to take revenge, he mistook Edward Drummond, the Secretary to the Prime Minister, for Sir Robert Peel and shot him dead. When charged of murder, the accused took the defence of insanity. The medical evidence testified that he was under a morbid delusion which carried him away beyond the powers of his self-control. The jury found him "not guilty by reason of insanity". Following principles were laid down in the aforesaid case:-

"1. Every person is supposed to be sane and to possess sufficient decree of reason to be responsible for his crimes, until the contrary is proved.

2. In order to establish the defence of insanity, it must be clearly proved that at the time of committing the crime, the person was so insane as not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or if he did know it, he did not know what he was doing was wrong.

3. The test of wrongfulness of the act is in the power to distinguish between right and wrong, not in the abstract or in general, but in regard to the particular act committed."

19. In several cases the rule of M'Naughten case have been followed in India, therefore, the reference has been made.

20. The Gauhati High Court in Someswar Bora Vs. State of Assam, (1981) CrLJ (NOC) 51 (Gau) held that in order to seek protection under Section 84, it must be established that "the accused, at the time of committing the offence, was labouring under such defect of reason from disease of mind, as not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or that he did not know what he was doing was wrong".

21. In the case of Amrit Bhushan Gupta Vs. Union of India, AIR 1977 SC 608 the term unsoundness of mind or insanity denotes a state of mind in which the accused is incapable of knowing the nature of his act and that what he is doing is wrong or contrary to law.

22. In the case of Dahyabhai Chhaganbhai Thakkar Vs. State of Gujarat, AIR 1964 SC 1563 it is held that the criminal law recognises only legal insanity as a defence under Section 84 IPC and not all kinds of medical insanities. Legal insanity is one which completely impairs the cognitive faculty of the mind, to such an extent that a person is incapable of knowing the nature of his act or what he is doing is wrong or contrary to law.

23. But, in this case no medical treatment papers or medical expert have been produced and examined and during the course of trial no application was moved to exempt the accused-appellant from the trial. In this respect Section 328(i) CrPC is important which is noted herein below:-

"328. Procedure in case of accused being lunatic.--(1) When a Magistrate holding an inquiry has reason to believe that the person against whom the inquiry is being held is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, the Magistrate shall inquire into the fact of such unsoundness of mind, and shall cause such person to be examined by the civil surgeon of the district or such other medical officer as the State Government may direct, and thereupon shall examine such surgeon or other officer as a witness, and shall reduce the examination to writing.

(2) Pending such examination and inquiry, the Magistrate may deal with such person in accordance with the provisions of section 330.

(3) If such Magistrate is of opinion that the person referred to in sub-section (1) is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, he shall record a finding to that effect and shall postpone further proceedings in the case."

24. In this case accused-appellant had not moved any application in the trial court that he being a person of unsound mind cannot defend himself, cannot understand the language of charge, cannot reply under Section 313 CrPC and surprising that no such ground is taken in appeal, therefore, such plea cannot be raised now. Despite that learned counsel for the appellant has argued the point.

25. However, in this regard the details available on the file are cited:

25.1.(I). That in FIR PW-1, informant - Banarsi has not mentioned that his son accused, Ramesh Yadav was a person of unsound mind.

25.2.(II). That the Investigating Officer has not found the accused-appellant a person of unsound mind and none of the witnesses stated to the Investigating Officer that Ramesh was a person of unsound mind.

25.3.(III). That there is no medical report on record to prove that the accused-appellant was ever or particularly at the time of incident, a person of unsound mind. At the time of framing charge on 26.05.2016 the accused-appellant has not moved any application that being a person of unsound mind, he is unable to understand the charge levelled against him and he is unable to face the trial. No application under Chapter XXV CrPC was moved.

25.4.(IV). That during the examination of the witnesses and at the time of recording statement under Section 313 CrPC the accused-appellant or his counsel (amicus curiae) has not claimed him to be a person of unsound mind.

25.5. PW-1, informant - Banarsi, husband of the deceased and father of the accused-appellant has not deposed in examination-in-chief that accused-appellant is a person of unsound mind and was also a person of unsound mind at the time of commission of crime. During the cross-examination this witness has deposed that he had admitted the accused-appellant in Varanasi for treatment of his mental illness and the treatment was going on since before one year. Accused-appellant, Ramesh lived well at home and used to eat and drink. When the informant gave him medicine, the accused-appellant used to throw it. His second son was a cancer patient and he was busy in his treatment, therefore, he could not make proper treatment of the accused. According to this witness, he took much pains for treatment of accused but he could not be cured. He further deposed that for the treatment of accused his younger son Mukesh used to go to Varanasi. Except the above questions no other suggestion regarding unsoundness of the accused-appellant has been given by the amicus curiae. This witness has also not produced any document regarding mental illness and treatment of the accused-appellant.

25.6.(V). PW-2, Meena Devi has also not deposed in her examination-in-chief that the accused was suffering from any kind of unsoundness but when the amicus curiae asked her regarding unsoundness of the accused, she replied that long ago father of the accused Ramesh had got him treated at Varanasi. Accused Ramesh used to beat his wife and children also, due to which his wife left him with her child and went to her parental home. This witness has not deposed that at the time of incident the accused was suffering from unsoundness of mind.

25.7.(VI). PW-3, Bindu Devi, sister of the accused-appellant and daughter of the deceased has not deposed in her examination-in-chief that accused was unsound at the time of occurrence. Learned amicus curiae for the accused, Ramesh has not asked any question and has not given any suggestion regarding unsoundness of the accused before, after or at the time of occurrence. This witness has simply replied that at the time of occurrence her brother was not doing any job.

25.8.(VII). PW-4, Om Prakash has also not deposed in his examination-in-chief that accused was a person of unsound mind before or after or at the time of incident. Neither any question regarding the soundness of the accused has been asked nor any suggestion has been given by the amicus curiae.

26. In Nanhe Khan Vs. State (Delhi Administration), (1986) 2 Primes 328 (Del) no question was put to the witnesses about the mental condition of the accused at the time of occurrence nor the accused took plea in examination under Section 313 CrPC, it was held that plea of insanity before the Appellate Court was not available. Here from all the witnesses even from PW-3, Bindu Devi, sister of the accused no question regarding insanity has been asked from the side of the accused and no plea has been taken under Section 313 CrPC or in appeal.

27. Similarly in Tolaram Vs. State of Rajasthan, 1996 CrLJ 8 (Raj) the accused killed his wife by bolting the door from inside and then tried to escape. He raised plea of insanity for the first time in appeal. It was held that the plea was not tenable.

28. On the basis of above discussion it is concluded that neither it is proved that accused was a person of unsound mind at the time of commission of crime or before or after the incident nor any ground of unsoundness had been taken during the investigation, trial and in appeal.

Whether the accused has also committed the crime under Section 307?

29. Initially the FIR was lodged under Section 324 IPC but after death of the deceased, Sukhraji Devi Section 302 IPC was added and the charge sheet was submitted under Sections 324, 307, 302 IPC.

30. So far as the injuries occurred to the injured PW-3, Bindu Devi is concerned there were two lacerated wounds which are as under:-

"(i) 3 x 7 cm on the head;
(ii) on the back of the injured in the area of 7 x 2 cm with oozing blood."

31. It has been proved that all the injuries were caused by blunt side of kulhadi. Such injuries may occur from the blunt side of the axe.

32. According to PW-5, Dr Girish Chandra Rawat, such injuries have been caused by hard and blunt object. Both the witnesses were referred to some other medical institutions. PW-3, Bindu Devi was treated in Aurai.

33. Section 324 IPC is being reproduced as under:-

"324. Voluntarily causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means.--Whoever, except in the case provided for by section 334, voluntarily causes hurt by means of any instrument for shooting, stabbing or cutting, or any instrument which, used as weapon of offence, is likely to cause death, or by means of fire or any heated substance, or by means of any poison or any corrosive substance, or by means of any explosive substance or by means of any substance which it is deleterious to the human body to inhale, to swallow, or to receive into the blood, or by means of any animal, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both."

34. Considering the oral, medical and documentary evidence on record, this Court is in conformity with the conclusion of the lower court that accused had also committed the crime under Section 324 IPC for which he has been convicted and sentenced for 03 years rigorous imprisonment. This Court confirms the order of conviction passed under Section 324 IPC by the lower court.

35. The accused has also been charged under Section 307 IPC under which the lower court had convicted the accused for 10 years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/-. Since injured, Sukhraji Devi had died and a charge has been framed under Section 302 IPC, the charge under Section 307 IPC remains for the crime committed against the victim PW-3, Bindu Devi.

36. According to this Court, there is no evidence on record that from the injury no.1 any bone of head had been broken and from injury no.2, the spine was cut down. It cannot be said that the injuries caused to the victim PW-3, Bindu Devi was with such intention or knowledge or under such circumstance that accused by that act would have caused her death. Therefore, this Court is of opinion that considering the nature of injuries and the fact that after 3-4 days the victim, Bindu Devi had been discharged, accused cannot be said to be guilty of an offence under Section 307 IPC. In this regard evidence of PW-5, Dr. Girish Chandra Rawat is also material, who, in cross-examination, admitted that though he had referred the injured, Bindu Devi for further treatment and no X-Ray was done in his hospital. No X-Ray report was produced before him for preparation of supplementary medical report. Victim Bindu Devi has also not supplied her X-Ray report and the report of the radiologist for giving supplementary medical report. This witness has not given opinion that injury caused to the victim PW-3, Bindu Devi is of what nature, simple, grievous or fatal. Therefore, treating the injuries caused to the victim Bindu Devi to be simple in nature, this Court is concluding that only case under Section 324 IPC has been proved against the accused in respect of the injuries caused to the victim Bindu Devi and on the basis of above discussion no case under Section 307 IPC is proved.

Whether it is a murder or culpable homicide?

37. Now the question remains as to whether the crime committed by the accused-appellant against the deceased Sukhraji Devi is an offence under Section 302 IPC or Section 304 IPC.

38. In this regard Sections 299 and 300 IPC are reproduced herein below:-

"299. Culpable homicide.--Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide.

300. Murder.--Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or--*

(Secondly)--If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or--

(Thirdly)--If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or--

(Fourthly)--If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid."

39. The ingredients of Section 299 IPC are:--

(1) Causing of death of a human being;

(2) Such death must have been caused by doing an act or omission:

(i) There should be intention to cause death; or

(ii) With the intention of causing death, some bodily injury must have been caused which is likely to result in death; or

(iii) It should be with the knowledge that by such act, the doer is likely to cause death.

40. The three explanations appended to Section 299 IPC describe three situations when presence or absence of certain factors in causing death are treated as committing the offence of culpable homicide.

1. Act or omission.--On the basis of fact it can be decided that an act or omission of the accused is covered under the definition of culpable homicide or not and whether death is direct result of such act or omission.

2. Intention.--Intention or mens rea is an essential ingredient of offence of culpable homicide which can be determined on the basis of fact and circumstances of the case. In Jagroop Singh Vs. State of Haryana, AIR 1981 SC 1552 the Supreme Court held that while deciding cases involving the offence of culpable homicide, the weapons used by the accused, the injuries caused by him to the victim and their gravity etc. along with his mens rea should also be taken into consideration. In Prabhu Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh , AIR 1991 SC 1069 the causing of injuries to daughter-in-law was held to be sufficient cause for her death, therefore, the husband and in-laws were convicted for the offence of culpable homicide under Section 299 IPC.

3. Intentionally causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death.--Whether the injuries caused to the victim were sufficient for causing death of the victim can be inferred from the nature of injuries and act of the accused. Where the injury is caused on vital part of the body, therefore, death is more likely to result than an injury caused on a non-vital part of the body. An injury may be simple, grievous or superficial. The nature of weapon used by the accused is also taken into consideration while deciding his guilt [Jagroop Singh (supra)]. Lethal weapons such as gun, pistol, revolver, sword, spear, dagger etc. may prove more fatal than the non-lethal weapons such as lathi, stick, bamboo, fist-blow etc. Whether the bodily injury caused by the accused was likely to cause death has to be decided objectively keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case. In this case, accused had attacked his deceased mother with the blunt part of the axe not from the sharp edged part of the axe.

4. With knowledge that he (accused) is likely to cause death by such act.--Clause third of Section 299 IPC provides that causing death with the knowledge that the accused by such act is likely to cause death makes him liable for culpable homicide. In this connection, where such probability is almost certain then fourth clause of Section 300 IPC would be applicable making the accused liable for murder. As soon as it is proved that the incident was not accidental or due to rashness but was caused deliberately, the accused shall be convicted for the offence of culpable homicide under Section 299 IPC, Afrahim Sheikh Vs. State, AIR 1964 SC 1263.

41. In Chahat Khan Vs. State, 1973 CrLJ 36 (SC) it was held that though on the basis of single lathi blow generally it cannot be gathered that accused had knowledge that he can cause death of the victim but if accused is hitting the deceased with the single lathi blow using full force with a calculated design that it should cause the death of the victim, he will be held guilty of culpable homicide.

42. In Vasanta Vs. State, 1983 CrLJ 693 (SC), the accused attacked the deceased with a knife on his chest which seriously injured his heart and lungs causing his death. He was held guilty of culpable homicide under Section 299 IPC.

43. The Explanation-2 of Section 299 IPC being explicit, leaves no room for the accused to argue that death could have been prevented on the injured or affected victim getting medical treatment timely which would have saved the life of the victim (deceased) and the death is direct result of the act of the accused, it would be no defence for him to contend that the life of the deceased could have been saved by proper medical treatment.

44. In this case informant, PW-1 immediately transported both the injured to the hospital. On reference to BHU he then and there admitted the victim to the Trauma Centre, BHU. Therefore, it cannot be said that no timely medical treatment was provided to the deceased. Unfortunately, septicaemia developed and due to septicaemic shock she died.

45. In Mahavir Prasad Vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1991 SC 272 though accused had caused simple injury to the victim but subsequently victim died of septicaemic anxiety due to improper medical treatment and negligence of the doctor, it was held that the person causing injury cannot be convicted of culpable homicide not amounting to murder under Section 304 IPC. In the case in hand, several injuries were caused by the accused out of which injury no.1 shown in Ex.Ka-5 was on upper region of right temporal bone of scalp. Doctor advised for X-Ray and radiological opinion but the patient was referred to Trauma Centre, BHU for X-Ray, further investigation and management where she was under treatment upto 02.03.2016. No medical papers of Trauma Centre, BHU have been produced. Autopsy doctor found six stitched wounds. Injury no.6 was containing three parallel stitched wounds on the middle portion to right parietal region i.e. 8cm, 3cm and 6cm length, respectively. On the basis of variation of injuries this judicial precedent cannot be applied in favour of the accused.

46. While drawing a distinction between clause (2) of Section 299 IPC and clause 'Third' of Section 300 IPC, the Supreme Court in State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. Rayavarpu Punnayya, 1977 (1) SCR 601.

47. Elaborating the scheme of the Penal Code relating to culpable homicide, the Supreme Court observed as follows:-

"In the scheme of the Penal Code, 'culpable homicide' is genus and 'murder' its specie. All 'murder' is 'culpable homicide' but not the vice-versa. Speaking generally, 'culpable homicide' sans 'special characteristics of murder, is 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. For the purpose of fixing punishment proportionate to the gravity of this generic offence, the IPC practically recognises three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called "culpable homicide of the first degree". This is the gravest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Section 300 as "murder". The second may be termed as "culpable homicide of the second degree", which is punishable under Section 304, Part I. Then, there is "culpable homicide of the third degree", which is the lowest type of culpable homicide and is punishable under Section 304, Part II.

The question to be considered by the Court is whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused death of another. The question whether it is murder or culpable homicide will on proof of such casual connection between the act of the accused and the resultant death."

48. In other words, it is the degree of probability of death which determines whether a culpable homicide is of a gravest nature or of lowest degree. The word "likely" used in Section 299(2) conveys a sense of probability as distinguished from mere possibility. The expression "bodily injury.....sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death", used in clause 'Thirdly' of Section 300, connotes that death will be the most probable result of the injury having regard to the ordinary course of nature.

49. Some relevant judicial precedents are referred herein below:-

I. In Purna Padhi Vs. State of Orissa, 1992 CrLJ 687 the deceased by the two accused sustained multiple injuries by sharp cutting weapons. The injury on the right foot of the victim led to the amputation of the right foot from the level of the ankle. The victim was removed to hospital where 18 days after the occurrence the deceased died due to ureamia. As to the injury on the foot the High Court held the offence committed could not be said to be murder. But no doubt by causing the foot injury alongwith others with weapon like farsa and bhujali, the assailants must have intended to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death and the offence thus attracts the mischief of part I of Section 304, IPC, the accused were convicted under Section 304, Part I IPC.

II. In Subran Vs. State of Kerala, 1993 CrLJ 1387 (SC) the accused inflicted the injuries on non-vital part of the deceased which were not found to be sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death but it was proved that he inflicted the injury with a knowledge that with these injuries the victim was likely to die. It was held that this case would fall under Section 299 IPC and will be punishable under Section 304, Part I.

III. In case of Jagwshar Singh Vs. State of Bihar, 1968 Cr App R (SC) 73 it is held that when the injury eventually produced the diseases i.e. tetanus, peritonitis, septicaemia etc. resulting in death, the accused must be held to have committed culpable homicide.

IV. In Balbir Singh Vs. State of Haryana, 1996 CrLJ 2663 (P&H) the accused in a sudden fight caused injuries to deceased who died 17 days after the date of occurrence. Singh act of the accused was not preplanned, he was convicted under Section 304 IPC. Though the facts of this case are slightly different as the accused in this case reached at the well hiding axe in his clothes.

V. In Jeevan Vs. State of Rajasthan 1996 CrLJ 3929 facts of both the cases are almost similar. In cited case the accused was charged for causing the murder of the deceased by the blunt side of the axe and deceased had died three days after the incident. It was held that he had no intention to cause death but he had knowledge that death was likely to be caused. Hence conviction under Section 302 IPC was altered to one under Section 304 IPC.

VI. Nashari Naik Vs. State of Orissa, 1998 CrLJ 3948 the accused caused *lathi*es blows and one accused used cycle chain to cause death of the deceased. It was held that accused using *lathi*es were guilty under Section 304 IPC and other under Section 323 IPC for using cycle chain.

50. In this case though the accused had used axe but he attacked from the blunt side of the axe. Except one wound from sharp edged side of the axe upon the hand of the deceased, remaining injuries are caused from the blunt side of the axe which shows that he had no intention to kill the deceased.

51. In this case following points are material to decide as to whether death of the deceased is culpable homicide not amounting to murder or murder. For determining this question following facts and evidences must be looked into:-

(I) Prior to this incident, the accused has never abused, beaten or meted any kind of ill-treatment upon his parents;

(II) He caused injuries to his mother but mainly from the blunt side of the axe, not from the sharp edged side.

(III) When sister of the accused intervened, he caused 2-3 injuries to her from the blunt side of the axe due to which she had become unable to further defend her mother. Therefore, the accused had again opportunity to attack upon the deceased but he did not make any further attempt to kill his mother.

(IV) Except this fact that he used to beat his wife, there is no other instance that the accused had committed any offence against any one.

(V) That there is no supplementary report of doctor to establish that injuries were grievous or fatal in nature. The deceased was referred to BHU Trauma Centre where septicaemia developed and pus were found in some parts of her body. P.M. doctor opined that due to septicaemic shock deceased had died, though septicaemia developed during the course of treatment due to the injuries caused by the accused.

52. Considering the over all facts and circumstances of the case this Court comes to the conclusion that the criminal act of accused is not an act of murder but it is an act of culpable homicide not amounting to murder punishable under Section 304 IPC.

53. There are two Parts of Section 304 IPC. Under Part I an accused may be punished if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death.

54. Under Part II an accused may be punished if the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death, but without any intention to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death.

55. In this case the accused had used axe in commission of crime though except one injury from the sharp edged side of the axe rest of the injuries are caused from the blunt side of the axe to the deceased. It could not be proved that accused was a person of unsound mind and also that there was any proper reason due to which he had intention to cause death of his mother. Therefore, it can be assumed that the accused was having knowledge that from the attack of axe such bodily injury would be caused which would likely cause death. Therefore, the criminal act of accused towards the deceased is covered under the later portion (or of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death) of Section 304, Part I IPC.

56. On the basis of above discussion the conviction and sentence passed by the lower court under Section 302 IPC is liable to be modified under Section 304, Part I IPC and under which 10 years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.5,000/- would certainly meet the ends of justice.

57. The appeal in respect of conviction and sentencing under Section 302 and 307 IPC is allowed.

58. The conviction and sentence awarded under Section 302 IPC is set aside. The accused Ramesh Yadav is convicted under Section 304, Part I IPC and ten years rigorous imprisonment and fine Rs.5,000/- is awarded. In case of non-payment of fine he shall undergo one year additional rigorous imprisonment.

59. The conviction and sentencing under section 307 IPC is set aside and the conviction and sentence order passed under section 324 IPC is maintained.

60. All the sentences shall run concurrently. The incarceration period of the accused shall be adjusted in accordance with existing law.

61. A copy of this order be sent to the lower court concerned along with the record of the lower court and a copy also be sent to the concerned Jail Superintendent for necessary compliance.

Sukhar Vs St. of U.P., (1999) 9 SCC 507

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishan Pahal, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Dharam Pal Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Siddharth Niranjan, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Vinod Kumar Singh Parmar, learned AGA for the State.

2. Present Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) of the Cr.P.C. has been preferred by accused-appellants Mohan Lal and Sanjay Kumar against the judgment and order dated 5.3.1991 passed by Special Judge, D.A.A. Kanpur Dehat in Special Sessions Trial No.33 of 1990 (State Vs. Mohan Lal and Another), whereby accused-appellants were convicted u/s 394 IPC and sentenced to three years rigorous imprisonment.

PROSECUTION STORY:

3. On the basis of written report dated 29.9.1989 (Ex.Ka-1), an FIR was lodged by informant Pratap Singh s/o Raghuveer Singh with the allegation that in the night of 28/29.9.1989 at about 11:45 PM, when the informant was sleeping along with his family members in his house, four miscreants are stated to have climbed up to the roof of his house and started stealing the articles. Two of the miscreants are stated to have taken the boxes of his daughter-in-law with them to the roof of the house and the other two miscreants were in the courtyard of the house. The informant and the inmates woke up on hearing the noise and one of the miscreants at the roof is stated to have thrown bricks upon the informant injuring him on his head. Two miscreants i.e. the appellants herein were apprehended in the courtyard itself by the informant with the help of his sons and people of locality, namely, Dharam Pal, Madan Singh, Chatrapal Singh etc. A list of the looted articles was also given by the informant. The FIR of the said incident was lodged by the informant at the Police Station Gajner, Kanpur Dehat on the very next date i.e. 08:30 AM and had taken the two apprehended accused persons to the police station along with him.

4. The arrested accused persons were kept in the hawalat in the police station and a quilt was provided to them. Investigation was taken up by S.I. Jagroop Singh who after recording the statement of the witnesses, preparing the site plan etc., filed a charge-sheet against the appellants u/s 394 IPC.

TRIAL

5. During trial, the prosecution chose to examine the two witnesses of fact i.e. PW-1 Pratap Singh and PW-2 Dhirendra. The Investigating Officer S.I. Jagroop Singh was examined as PW-3.

6. PW-1 Pratap Singh has corroborated the prosecution story as per the FIR and has stated that the appellants were caught by him and other inmates of the family with the help of other members of the locality. He has also stated that there was an enmity between the appellants and the informant as the appellants belong to the group of the present Gram Pradhan and the informant belong to the other party opposed to the Gram Pradhan. He has proved the written report as Ex.Ka-1.

7. PW-2 Dhirendra is the son of the informant. He has corroborated the prosecution story but has also admitted the fact that there was an enmity between the informant and appellants.

8. PW-3 S.I. Jagroop Singh has proved other documents although Constable Amar Singh is their scribe i.e. FIR and G.D. of institution of FIR i.e. G.D. No.15/8:30 AM dated 29.9.1989. The formal proof of the injury report was dispensed with by the defense counsel so it also stood proved. The charge-sheet was exhibited as Ex.Ka-4 and the injury report dated 30.9.1989 at 11:30 AM was exhibited as Ex.Ka-5.

9. The statement of the accused-appellants was recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. in which both the accused persons have stated that they have been falsely implicated due to previous enmity between the parties as the appellants were ardent supporters of the present Gram Pradhan.

RIVAL CONTENTIONS

10. At the outset, Sri Dharam Pal Singh, learned Senior Counsel has stated that the FIR is delayed by about 9 hours and there is no explanation of said delay. It is an admitted fact as it transpires from the statement of PW-1 that the police station is 8 kilometers away from the place of occurrence and the inordinate delay of 9 hours itself falsifies the prosecution story. He has also stated that it has come up in the statement of the PW-1 that there is a police chowki at a distance of 3 kilometers away from the village and during the said intervening 9 hours, the informant or any other members of the family or of the vicinity did not care to inform the police personnel posted at the police station or the said chowki. A false explanation to the said delay has been given by the informant that out of fear, he did not go to lodge the FIR while he has stated in his statement itself that a lot of people of the locality have gathered and even two of his sons were also in the house at the time of the said offence. There is nothing on record to suggest that how the said fear factor was overcome by the informant.

11. Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that no weapon of crime or incriminating material has been recovered from the possession of the appellants. No stolen/robbed property has been recovered from their possession. Even no attempt has been made by the Investigating Officer to ascertain the identity of the other accused persons who had run away and are stated to have assaulted the informant by brick and taken away the booty.

12. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that PWs-1 and 2 are the interested witnesses as indicated in their statements as there was a political rivalry between the informant and the appellants. The enmity is a double-edged sword as it may be the cause of offence but may also be cause of false implication. There is no possibility of a person to rob a person in the same village and that too, without muffled faces. The witnesses are interested witnesses, their sole interest was to get the appellants convicted to settle political scores.

13. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that no independent witness has been produced by the informant as prosecution witness. The three eye witnesses named in the FIR i.e. Dharam Pal Singh, Madan Singh and Chatrapal Singh have not been examined.

14. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that a perusal of G.D. of institution of crime i.e. G.D. No.15/8:30 AM dated 29.9.1989, which is exhibited as Ex.Ka-3, categorically indicates that the informant along with the appellants had gone to the police station with four more persons who are Sudhir Singh, Munna Singh, Ashok and Upendra but none of these witnesses have been examined as prosecution witnesses which clearly indicates that the prosecution story is false and lacks any credence. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that in the aforesaid G.D. Ex.Ka-3, nothing has been recovered from the possession of the appellants except their clothes.

15. Learned Senior Counsel has also pointed out that as per the statement of the witnesses, the appellant no.1 Mohan Lal was wearing a vest, although in the villages, in the fag end of month of September, it is quite cold in the night and even Ex.Ka-3 itself indicates that a quilt was provided to them at the police station. It further falsifies the prosecution story.

16. Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that the informant has been medically examined after inordinate delay of one and a half day i.e. on 30.9.1989 at about 11:20 AM. The said injury report Ex.Ka-5 categorically indicates that injury no.1 is lacerated wound 1cm x 1cm on the left parietal bone 7cm above left ear. As per opinion of doctor, the said injury is simple in nature and caused by hard and blunt object.

17. Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that in the column of B/B i.e. the person who had taken the injured person to the hospital for examination, there is overwriting of the word "Self" and later on, the name of Homeguard Shyam Lal has been added. It also indicates that the said injury report has been prepared after much delay in connivance with local doctor as such he has not been examined by the prosecution, although said fact finds mentioned in Ex.Ka-3 itself.

18. Learned Senior Counsel has indicated several other contradictions in the statements of PWs-1 and 2. He has further stated that there are various inconsistencies in their statements. The star witnesses, who are stated to have taken the appellants to the police station or who had come on hearing the shrieks of the informant and his family members, have been withheld by the prosecution which categorically shakes the root of the prosecution story.

19. Per contra, Sri Vinod Kumar Singh Parmar, learned AGA has vehemently opposed the criminal appeal on the ground that the enmity between the parties is proved, the appellants have been apprehended within the precincts of the house of informant. Although he could not deny the fact that there is no recovery from the appellants and no independent witness has been examined.

CONCLUSION

20. It is an admitted fact that there was an enmity between the informant and the appellants. The appellant no.1 Mohan Lal is the resident of the same village and the appellant no.2 is the relative of a lady residing in the same village belonging to the rival party of the informant. It is true that in the modern society, it is seen that no independent person dares to depose against the dreaded criminals but herein nothing has come up in the judgement of the Trial Court regarding any criminal antecedents of the appellant. It is also an admitted fact that there is no further criminal history of the appellants during the pendency of the appeal. There is no recovery of any robbed material from the possession of the appellants. The witnesses are inimical to the appellants as stated by the witnesses of fact i.e. PW-1 and PW-2. It has been settled by the Apex Court in Sukhar Vs. State of U.P.1 that the testimony of inimical witnesses cannot be accepted without corroboration. The prosecution has deliberately withheld the seven independent witnesses, who could have substantiated their version. The rule of corroboration is not a mere formality, it becomes more vital when the witnesses are found interested one's. PW-1 has stated that three of the witnesses have been won over but he is silent on the other four witnesses available, thus, the prosecution is unable to stand on its own legs.

21. Investigation has been taken up in a very lethargic and lackadaisical manner. The Investigating Officer did not even care to ascertain the whereabouts and identities of other co-accused persons who are stated to have accompanied the appellants. No effort whatsoever has been made by the Investigating Agency to recover the household items allegedly robbed in the said incident.

22. The discrepancies indicated by the learned Senior Counsel in the G.D. of institution of crime (Ex.Ka-3) are vital as none of the independent witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. It is the admitted fact that the instant case was instituted in the absence of PW-3 S.I. Jagroop Singh as he was busy in some other case and he was entrusted the investigation after institution at the police station, therefore, the PW-3 is not the witness of the production of the appellants at the police station. The only other witness, who could have proved the said production of accused-appellants by the informant along with other persons of the village, would have been the Constable 620 CP Amar Singh who has instituted the said FIR at the police station and is also the transcriber of the said G.D. However, Constable Amar Singh has also not been produced before the Court. Withholding of these relevant witnesses does not help the prosecution at all. The prosecution has to prove its own case and has to stand on its own legs. It is true that the instant case is not of identification as the appellants were known to the informant and other persons of the locality but the factum of robbery is not proved by the statements of PWs-1, 2 and 3 either. Withholding of material witnesses i.e. seven in number does not help the prosecution and categorically vitiates the trial.

23. The delay in lodging of FIR has proved fatal in this case as there was a chowki barely 3 kilometers from the village as admitted by the PW-1 in his cross-examination. This also shakes the very version of the prosecution. The medical examination of the informant after a delay of one and a half day also falsifies its story.

24. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case and perusing the record of the court below, this Court is of the considered opinion that the learned Trial Court has overlooked the aforesaid discrepancies in the prosecution case. The impugned judgement and order is found devoid of merits and is liable to be set aside.

25. In view of the above, the appeal is allowed. The impugned judgement and order dated 5.3.1991 passed by Special Judge, D.A.A. Kanpur Dehat in Special Sessions Trial No.33 of 1990 (State Vs. Mohan Lal and Another) is set aside.

26. The appellants Mohan Lal and Sanjay Kumar need not surrender. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

27. Let a copy of this judgement along with Lower Court Record be returned to the court concerned forthwith for compliance. A compliance report be also sent to this Court.

These protesters had Congress Party flags and banners. These protesters were staging the protest under the leadership of Annu Tandon, appellant no.1, Ex-Member of Parliament, Surya Narayan Yadav and Amit Shukla etc., and all these persons were demanding that the City Magistrate, Unnao should come there and accept a memorandum from them, which was in the name of the President of India. 14. P.W.-6, Constable, Aman Kumar deposed that on 12.5.2017 he was posted as Constable at the RPF Post-Unnao. His duty was to maintain the diary from 0800 hours to 1600 hours. At around 1300 hours, In-charge Inspector, Srinivas Mishra with Constables Antesh Kumar, Dheeraj Kumar and Durgesh Kumar came to the office and said that Ex-Member of Parliament of Congress Party, Annu Tadon, Surya Narayan Yadav and Amit Shukla and 150-200 other people had stopped Train No.18191 UP near the railway over bridge at KM .54/35-37. The train remained stopped from 11.39 Am to 11.54 Am. In-charge, Sub-Inspector got the FIR registered at case Crime No.243 of 2017, under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act on the same day at 1300 hours, which was entered in the General Diary by him. 16. Accused-appellants in their statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. said that they were not involved in stopping the train, but the protest was going on in an open area near the railway track. In respect of the statements of the witnesses, they said that they had no knowledge about it. However, they did not produce any defence witness.

17. Learned trial court has held that the prosecution witnesses have proved the presence of the appellants at the time and place of the incident. The witnesses have also said that they were the eye witnesses to the incident. The trial court also held that there was no such a glaring contradiction, which would raise suspicion regarding the prosecution case. It has also held that the prosecution has proved the case beyond reasonable doubt by leading oral and documentary evidence that on 12.6.2017, the accused-appellants had led the protest/Rail Roko Agitation at the Unnao Railway Station and in this sequence, Train No.18191UP was stopped near the railway over bridge and the railway traffic got disrupted for 15 minutes because of the said agitation.

18. The trial court also held that the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act has been proved against the accused-appellants. Therefore, vide impugned judgment and order, the accused-appellants have been convicted for offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act and sentenced them as mentioned above. The trial court also held that the Railways had suffered Rs,3,06,0015/- @ Rs.20,402/- per minute loss for 15 minutes disruption of the railway traffic, therefore, under Sections 357 and 359 Cr.P.C. each accused was fined for Rs.25,000/-, which fine has been deposited by the appellants.

19. Ms. Kamini Jaiswal, learned counsel assisted by Sri Rohit Kumar Singh and Sri Rohit Kumar Tripathi, appearing for the appellants has submitted that the protest was staged at the open space near the railway track by the appellants and other Congress workers, and it was not the Rail Roko Agitation as held by the learned trial court. The Congress workers led by the appellants wanted to give a representation/memorandum to the President of India through the City Magistrate, Unnao regarding the alleged atrocities on the farmers of the Madhya Pradesh by the Bhartiya Janta Party Government of the said State. A protest against the alleged atrocities on the farmers of the Madhya Pradesh, was organized near the railway track in the open space by the Congress workers. The driver seeing the crowd near the railway track, slowed down the train and stopped the train and some protesters allegedly climbed on the engine of the train and after some time, they came down from the train and allowed the train to move.

20. Learned counsel for the appellants has forcefully submitted that it is not the prosecution case that appellants instigated or exhorted the people gathered near the railway track to stop the train, which was going to the Railway Station. The appellants did not ask the protesters to come on the railway track or climb on the engine of the train. She has further submitted that this was neither "Rail Roko' Agitation nor the protest on the railway track, but it was a symbolic protest to hand over the memorandum to the President of India through City Magistrate, Unnao. If some protesters came on the railway track and climbed on the engine of the train, it would not come within the meaning of Section 174(a) of the Railways Act. To organise and hold peaceful protest against the Government, is permitted in democratic polity. It is part of right of freedom of speech and expression. These are fundamental rights guaranteed under Articles 19(1)(a) and 19(1)(b) of the Constitution of India. The appellants and other protesters were exercising the said fundamental right on 12.6.2017 and they were holding the symbolic agitation to raise the issue. This was not a violent protest. For holding a peaceful protest, the appellants could not have been prosecuted for offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance on the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Mazdoor Kisan Shakti Sangathan Vs. Union of India and another, (2018) 17 SCC 324 to buttress her submissions. She has also submitted that except for the appellants, charge sheet was not filed against any other person though it was mentioned that the appellants and 150-200 people had assembled and stopped the train and disrupted the railway traffic movement for 15 minutes. She has further submitted that the prosecution has failed to prove by leading the unimpeachable, cogent, credible, reliable and specific evidence to distinguish the case of four appellants from the rest of the crowd, but only the appellants have been prosecuted for offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act, and they have been convicted and sentenced vide impugned judgement and order. It is submitted that the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act, is not attracted in the facts and circumstances of the case. Therefore, the impugned judgment and order passed by the trial court may be set aside and the appellants should be acquitted of the charges.

22. On the other hand, Sri Shiv P. Shukla, learned counsel for the respondent has submitted that it is admitted case that the train was stopped for 15 minutes due to the agitation led by the appellants and other protesters, and the track got cleared after the RPF/GRP team reached there. Appellant no.1 was leading the protest with three other appellants and other Congress workers had obstructed the running of the train for 15 minuted inasmuch as they were on the railway track and they also climbed the engine of the train, which would amount to picketing. The prosecution by cogent and credible evidence had proved the case against the appellants, and there is no ground to interfere with the well reasoned judgement and order passed by the learned trial court, which is based on sound reasoning and appreciation of evidence. He submits that the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

23. I have considered the submissions advanced on behalf of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

24. As mentioned above, the facts are not in dispute inasmuch as on 12.6.2017 the appellants, who were leading the protest along with 150-200 Congress workers were staging a protest with flags and banners of the Congress Party in their hands and demanding that the City Magistrate, Unnao should come there to receive the memorandum in the name of the President of India. It is nobody's case that it was a violent protest. However, the fact remains that Train No.18191 UP was detained by the protesters, including the appellants, and as per the prosecution case, when the train reached near the railway over bridge, the protesters in large number came on the railway track and the driver slowed down the train and stopped it finding large number of protesters on the track. Statement of the Driver (P.W.-4) is cogent and credible piece of evidence, which cannot be brushed aside. Thus, because of the protest by the appellants and other Congress workers, the railway traffic got disrupted for 15 minutes on 12.6.2017 between 11.39 AM to 11.54 AM. The presence of appellants on the date, time and place of incident is not in dispute nor the incident is denied except to say in their 313 Cr.P.C. statements that they were not involved in stopping the train in question.

25. The question which arise for consideration, is whether the said incident would come within the definition of Section 174(a) of the Railways Act or not. Section 174(a) of the Railways Act is in respect of obstruction of running of train, which is clear from the heading of the section itself, which reads as under :-

"174. Obstructing running of train, etc.--If any railway servant (whether on duty or otherwise) or any other person obstructs or causes to be obstructed or attempts to obstruct any train or other rolling stock upon a railway,--

(a) by squatting or picketing or during any rail roko agitation or bandh; or

(b) by keeping without authority any rolling stock on the railway; or

(c) by tampering with, disconnecting or interfering in any other manner with its hose pipe or tampering with signal gear or otherwise, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both."

26. Thus, if any Railway servant or any other person obstructs any train by squatting or picketing or during Rail Roko Agitation and Bandh etc., the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act would get attracted. Though the trial court has mentioned that it was a "Rail Roko' Agitation. If the said finding is discarded, even then this Court would be required to consider as to whether the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act was committed by the appellants or not. As per provisions of Section 174(a) of the Railways Act, if running of the train is obstructed by squatting or picketing, this would attract the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act.

27. The Driver of the train in his evidence very categorically said that he found that large number of people having Congress Party flags and banners standing on the railway track on the date, time and place of the incident, and then he had to slow down the train and had to stop the train near the railway over bridge. Large number of people on railway track staging protest would amount to picketing. It has also come in evidence that as soon as the train got stopped, several persons/Congress workers climbed on the engine of the train. Appellant no.1, Smt. Annu Tandon and other appellants were persuaded to come down from the engine of the train and the railway track was cleared. Thereafter, the train could move and in this process, the train got detained for 15 minutes. Therefore, presence of the appellants at the site is not in dispute. The defence has not led any evidence to support their case that the protest was being staged at nearby ground and field, whereas the prosecution had led cogent and credible evidence to say that the protesters staged the protest on the railway track and stopped the train. It was not a "Rail Roko' Agitation, but the incident would amount to picketing, which obstructed the running of Train No.18191 UP on 12.6.2017 between 11.39 Am to 11.54 AM by the protesters, including the appellants.

28. Even if a peaceful agitation/protest can lead to obstruction of running of any train by squatting or picketing or during any Rail Roko Agitation or bandh, the same would amount to an offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act. It is no one's case that the protest was violent, but the fact remains that the protesters, including the appellants, had stopped the train for 15 minutes by picketing on the railway track and climbed on the engine of the train when it was stopped.

29. In view thereof, the offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act is clearly established against the appellants and the trial court has not committed any error of law or jurisdiction or evidence in convicting them for offence under Section 174(a) of the Railways Act.

30. In a democratic polity governed by a written Constitution, people have rights of protest against the Government's policies, perceived atrocities. The right to protest, is also part of fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 19 of the Constitution of India. The citizens of this country have rights for demonstration, agitation and staging protest. However, this right is not an absolute right, and it is subject to reasonable restriction. If law prohibits or restricts exercise of this right in certain ways and manners, then such a law would amount to putting reasonable restriction in exercise of the said right. The citizens of this country are not permitted to violate a law enacted by the legislation while exercising their right of protest, freedom of speech and expression.

31. However, so far as the sentence is concerned, this Court finds that awarding the sentence to the appellants for maximum sentence of two years of simple imprisonment in the facts and circumstances of the case, is excessive. In democracy under our Constitution, people have right to protest against Government policies/action/inaction, provided the protest does not lead to commission of an offence by the protesters. Except for detaining the train for 15 minutes, there was no damage to private and public property by the protesters by and large it was a peaceful and symbolic protest.

32. In view thereof, this Court finds that imprisonment of two years is unwarranted in the facts and circumstances of the case and, therefore, the impugned judgement and order dated 18.3.2021 passed by the trial court is modified to the extent that the appellants are sentenced with fine only. The appellants had already deposited the fine of Rs.25,000/- each and, therefore, no further fine is required to be deposited by them. The appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

33. Subject to above modification of the impugned judgement and order, the appeal is allowed in part.

2. We have heard Mr. Ran Vijay Singh, Advocate and Ms. Katyayani, Advocate, who was earlier appointed as Amicus Curiae on behalf of the appellants and Mr. Arunendra Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State as also perused the entire materials available on record.

3. The prosecution story, as reflected from the records, is as follows:

The deceased, namely, Halku and Khuman were real brothers and were father and uncle of the informant/P.W.-2 Lakhan and they used to do cultivation in village Baragaon. The accused persons, namely, Zalim, Baldua and Ram Charan belong to the same village and their fields were also adjacent to field of Khuman. On 30th September, 1977 at about 10:00 a.m., the accused Khuman, his nephew Lakhan and niece Panna went to their fields. Panna started to cut grass from the Mendh. At about 11:00 a.m. on the same day i.e. 30th September, 1977, the accused Zalim and the wives of the accused Baldua and Ram Charan also came there and started to cut grass from the filed of Khuman. Khuman objected them not to cut grass from his field on which all the women started a row and told him that they were cutting grass from their own fields. They started to abuse

Panna, thereupon Khuman objected and asked the women of the house of the accused to go from there. The aforesaid women, thereafter, went away towards the village but at about 01:00 p.m. on the same day i.e. 30th September, 1977, the accused came to the field of Khuman and out of them, the accused Zalim having Pharsa, accused Baldua having Axe (Kulhari) and accused Ram Charan having Lathi asked the deceased Khuman as to why they forbidden the women of their house to cut grass, while they were cutting the same from their own field. The accused persons also started abusing Khuman on which Khuman said that they were cutting grass from his field that is why he objected. Thereupon, the accused attacked Khuman due to which he sustained injuries. Then Lakhan, Panna and Ghasiram tried to save Khuman, they were also beaten by the accused persons and thereafter they ran way towards the village. Because of the said assault, Lakhan, Panna and Ghasiram also sustained injuries. Due to injuries caused by the accused persons, Khuman died on the spot. Thereafter, the accused persons at about 02:00 p.m. reached the house of Halku and at that time, Halku along with ladies of his house was sitting at the entrance of his house. The accused persons entered into entrance and started to beat Halku badly. Thereafter the accused persons dragged Halku to the entrance and took him to a place near the house of Daasau, where they again beat him. Hearing the alarm raised by Halku, witnesses/villagers reached the said place of occurrence. On seeing the said witnesses, the accused persons ran away. As Halku did not die, he was taken by Lakhan along with Panna and Ghasiram to the Police Station but he died on the way of Police Station. Thereafter, Lakhan lodged a report, resultantly, a case was registered. On registration of the said case, the injured were sent for medical examination and investigation was commenced. Panchayatnama (inquest report) of the dead body of Halku was also prepared at the Police Station. 13. After recording of the prosecution evidence, the incriminating evidence were put to the accused for recording their statements under section 313 Cr.PC. In their statements recorded U/s 313 Cr.P.C. all the accused appellants denied their involvement in the crime. Accused appellants Ram Charan, Baldev and co-accused Zalim specifically stated before the trial court that they have been falsely implicated in this case. The defence did not examine any witness from its side.

14. The trial court after relying upon the evidence adduced by the prosecution and recording its finding, has come to the conclusion under the impugned judgment of conviction that the prosecution has been able to fully prove that all the three accused including the appellants, in furtherance of their common intention, committed the murder of Khuman in his field and the murder of Halku near his house. The trial court has also recorded that it has also been proved that all the accused including the appellants caused simple injuries to injured Lakhan and Panna and caused grievous injuries to the injured Ghasiram. On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, the trial court has held that all the accused including the present appellants are guilty of offence punishable under Sections 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. for the murders of both the deceased, namely, Khuman and Halku. All the accused were also found guilty by the trial court for the offences punishable under Sections 323/34 I.P.C. and 325/34 I.P.C. and Section 452 I.PC. As such, the trial court convicted and sentenced all the accused including the present appellants for the aforesaid offences. It is against this judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court that the present jail appeal has been filed on the ground that conviction is against the weight of evidence on record and against the law and the sentence awarded to the accused-appellants is too severe.

15. Assailing the impugned judgment and order of conviction, learned counsel appearing for the appellants have advanced following submissions:

(i) the informant/P.W.-2,namely, Lakhan, son of one of the deceased Halku was not present at both the places of occurrence;

(ii) there is a distance of half mile between both the places of occurrence i.e. where the deceased Khuman and Halku were said to have been murdered, therefore, it is not possible for the accused-appellants that they have committed both the murders;

(iii) both the deceased, namely, Khuman and Halku were dacoits;

(iv) the blood stained earth recovered by the Investigating Officer from both the places of occurrence has not been proved;

(v) According to the statement of P.W.-4, there was an incident of Maarpeet but no weapon was recovered from all the accused including the present appellants on their pointing out;

(vi) the contents, which were found in the stomachs of both the deceased, namely, Khuman and Halku at the time of post-mortem do not support the prosecution version on the ground that as per the statements of Ghasiram (P.W.-3) and Beti Bai, in the break fast, the deceased Khuman had taken fish and rice, before leaving his house for field and another deceased Halku had also taken rice and gravy of fish in break fast and the murder of Khuman occurred at about 1:00 p.m. (after noon), whereas the murder of Halku occurred at 02:00 p.m. but as per the post-mortem reports, the stomach of Halku was found empty, whereas in the stomach of Khuman, liquid material was found.

(vii) All the accused including the present appellants were in jail for 13 years i.e. from the date of judgment of conviction i.e. 16th September, 1978 to the date of order of the High Court in the present appeal granting bail to the appellants i.e. 15th May, 1991, without remission and as the date of incident is of the year 1977, now they are very old and weak.

On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned counsel appearing for the appellants submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction cannot legally sustained and is hereby quashed.

16. On the other-hand, Mr. Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State, supporting the judgment and order of conviction, has made following submissions:

(i) the first information report has been lodged promptly naming the accused persons;

(ii) there is clinching evidence to support the prosecution's case;

(iii) the incidents in which the deceased Khuman and Halku are alleged to have been murdered by the accused persons, occurred in broad day light;

(iv) there are three injured eye witness of the alleged incident;

(v) the independent witnesses, namely, P.W.-4 Daram Das, who saw the incident in which Khuman was murdered and P.W.-5, Virendra Singh, who saw the incident in which Halku was murdered, supported the prosecution story;

(vi) the places of occurrence has not been disputed by the defence;

vii) In the document, which is on record at page-4 of paper book, one of the accused person, namely, Zalim has stated that due to cutting of his crops, which was standing on his field, a quarrel took place on 30th September, 1977 in the afternoon between his side and the side of informant in which he sustained some injuries. For the said incident, a report was lodged by the accused Zalim against the informant Lakhan, Gulma, Bal Kishan and deceased Halku, which has been registered on 30th September, 1977 at 16:45 hours, bearing Chik Gairdastanji No. 377, under Sections 323/434/427 I.P.C. at Police Station--Mauranipur, District-Jhansi. Therefore, it is clear that the incidents as alleged by the prosecution, took place, which has not been disputed by the accused persons.

On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid submissions, learned A.G.A. submits that as this is a case of direct evidence, the impugned judgment and order of conviction does not suffer from any illegally and infirmity so as to warrant any interference by this Court. As such the present jail appeal filed by the accused appellants who committed heinous crimes by murdering two persons, is liable to be dismissed.

17. We have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have examined the original records of the court below as well as the impugned judgment and order of conviction challenged before us.

18. The only question which is required to be addressed and determined in this jail appeal is whether the conclusion of guilt arrived at by the learned trial court and the sentence awarded is legal and sustainable under law and suffers from no infirmity and perversity.

19. Before entering into the merits of the case set up by the learned counsel for the appellants and the learned A.G.A. for the State qua impugned judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court referred to above, it is important for us to record statements of the prosecution witnesses in brief.

20. In the examination, PW-1 Dr. B.D. Magal, who conducted the post-mortems of both the deceased, namely, Khuman and Halku, both sons of late Chellu and proved both the post-mortem reports before the trial court, which were marked as Exhibits-Ka-1 and 2, P.W.-2, has specifically stated that he has found various ante-mortem injuries (external injuries) on the dead body of the deceased Khuman, which have already been quoted herein above. He further stated that on internal examination of the dead body of Khuman, he found that there was blood clots below the scalp. The left parietal bone was broken and frontal parietal bone was fractured. The brain membranes were congested and there was blood clots on or below the same. The brain had become soft and very congested and the blood pooled on it. There was 2½ Ounce liquid material in the stomach of the deceased. There was faecal in the small and large intestines. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death of Khuman was due to shock and bleeding that resulted from injuries.

21. In respect of deceased Halku, P.W.-1 has stated in his examination-that he found various ante-mortem injuries on the dead body of deceased Halku, which have also been quoted herein above. He further stated that on internal examination of the dead body of Halku, he found that there were blood clots in and near the scalp. The frontal bone was cut and pierced through two places. The membrane was bruised and swollen and there was blood clots on the membrane and below the same. The brain was also hurt. And the pieces of the front bone were inserted in two places in the brain. There was blood clot in his brain. The stomach and intestine of the deceased Halku were empty. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death of deceased Halku is due to Haemorrhage, which resulted from injuries.

22. In the examination, Lakhan i.e. informant/P.W.-2 has stated that he is the son of deceased Halku. The field of deceased Khuman is adjacent to the field of the accused persons. On the date of occurrence, P.W.-2, the deceased Khuman, Panna and Ghasiram went to the field of Khuman and when Panna started cutting grass, the women of the house of accused came there and started cutting grass from the field of Khuman and not from their own field. When Khuman objected not to cut grass from his field, the women of the house of the accused started abusing Panna due to which some altercations occurred, thereafter, the Khuman asked them to get away from his field on which they went towards the village. However, at 01:00 p.m. the accused persons, namely, Zalim, who was having Pharsa, Baldev with Axe (Kulhari) and Ram Charan with Lathi came to the field of Khuman and asked Khuman as to why he had asked women of their house to go away on which Khuman replied that as they were cutting grass from his field, he asked them to go away. Thereupon, all the three accused persons started beating Khuman and when Lakhan-

Informant/P.W.-2, Ghasiram-P.W.-3 and Panna tried to save him, they also beat them badly. It is further stated by P.W.-2 that Khuman died on the spot and thereafter, P.W.-2, P.W.3 and Panna went to the village, where, near the Bara of one Desrau, they saw that Halku was lying on the ground in an injured condition. They were told that the accused persons, after dragging Halku out of the entrance of his house, beat him badly. Thereafter the informant-P.W.-2 took Halku in a bullock-cart to the Police Station but on the way Halku also died. Resultantly, the informant/P.W.-2 lodged the first information report.

23. The P.W.-3, namely, Ghasiram, in his examination, corroborating the entire statement of informant-P.W.-2, has stated that the accused beat Khuman badly and when he, P.W.-2 and Panna tried to save him, they were also beaten by the accused persons in which he received fracture. Due to injuries caused by the accused persons, Khuman died on the spot. The P.W.-3 further stated that when he, P.W.-2 and Panna went to the village, near the Bara of one Desrau, they found their father Halku was lying on the ground in an injured condition.

24. P.W.-4 Dharam Das, who is also an independent witness of the incident took place in the field of Khuman, has stated that at the time of occurrence, he along with some other persons, was cutting grass in the filed of one Nand Kishor, which was at a distance of 50 paces from the field of Khuman. At 01:00 p.m. in the afternoon, they heard screaming of Lakhan, Panna and Ghasiram and on hearing the same, they reached the field of Khuman, where they saw that the accused persons were beating Khuman and when Lakhan-P.W.2, Ghasiram-P.W.3 and Panna tried to save him, they were also beaten by the accused persons. He also stated that Khuman had died on the spot and P.W.-3 Ghasiram sustained injuries, which were caused by the accused persons including the appellants.

25. P.W.-5, namely, Virendra Singh, who is resident of the same village and is an independent eye witness, has stated in his examination that on the date of occurrence at about 02:00 p.m. when he was returning from the house of the Pradhan, he heard shouts of the family members of Halku and on hearing the same, he reached near the door of house of Halku and saw that the accused persons, after dragging out Halku from his Entrance of his house and taking him to the Bara, started beating him and thereafter they ran away. P.W.-5 is also the witness of the Panchayatnama of Khuman and recovery of ordinary earth and blood stained earth from the field of Khuman as also from the Bara of Desrau and from the entrance of Halku.

26. P.W.-6 Dr. S.K. Jain, who has medically examined the injured P.W.-2 Lakhan, P.W.-3 Ghasiram and Panna on 30th September, 1977, has found injuries on the body of the aforesaid injured, which have already been quoted herein above. He has stated that except injury no.1 sustained by P.W.-3 Ghasiram, all injuries sustained by all the injured are simple in nature and caused due to blunt object. Qua injury no.1 sustained by P.W.-3, he has advised him for X-ray.

27. P.W.-7, namely, Beti Bai, who is married daughter of the deceased Halku and eye witness of incident in which her father was murdered, has stated in her examination that on the date of incident, when she along with Halku and some members of her family was sitting in the entrance of her house, accused persons came and started beating Halku and then after dragging him to Bara of Desrau, they again started beating Halku with Pharsa, Kulhari and Lathi. After beating Halku, all the accused persons ran away. Just after, P.W.-2 Lakhan, P.W.-3 Ghasiram and Panna reached there and they took Halku to the Police Station.

28. In the examination, P.W.-8, namely, Dr. R.C. Gupta, has taken X-ray of left forearm of P.W.-3 and found fracture.

29. P.W.-9, Head Constable Rajendra Kishore, who had prepared the chik report (Exhibit-Ka3) and also registered the case in the General Diary. He stated in his examination that he had also received sealed bundles of the earth recovered by the Investigating Officer (P.W.-10) from the field of Khuman, from Bara of Desrau and from the entrance of the house of Halku as well as other sealed bundles of material, which were marked as exhibits.

30. P.W.-10 Sub-Inspector Vishwambhar Dayal, who was posted at Police Station-Mauranipur, District Jhansi where the case was registered, has stated in his examination that the dead body of the deceased Halku had been brought to the Police Station by the informant-P.W.-2 Lakhan and he prepared the Panchayatnama (inquest report) of the dead body. He also recovered blood stained kurta and pancha (paijama) from the dead body of Halku and prepared the recovery memo (Exhibit-Ka-20). He further stated that he sent the dead body of Halku for post-mortem and recorded statements of informant-P.W.2, Panna and Ghasiram-P.W.-3. Thereafter he went to the field of Khuman and found the dead body of Khuman on his field. After preparing panchayatnama (inquest report), P.W.-10 sent the dead body of Khuman for post-mortem. After inspection, he prepared the site plan (Exhibit-Ka-20). P.W.-10 had also recovered the blood stained and ordinary earth from the places of occurrence, like field of Khuman, Bara of Desrau and entrance of the house of Halku. After collecting necessary evidence and recording statements of witnesses, he had submitted the charge-sheet against all the accused persons.

31. From the testimony of the aforesaid ten prosecution witnesses, it is apparently clear that there are two injured eye witnesses of murder of the deceased Khuman, namely, Lakhan and Ghasiram (P.W.-2 and P.W.-3), whereas Panna, who was also injured eye-witness of murder of the deceased Khuman, had not been adduced as prosecution witness. Apart from the above, there are two independent eye-witnesses, namely, Dharam Das and Virendra Singh (P.W.-4 and P.W.-5), Dharam Das is an independent eye-witness of the murder of Khuman and Virendra Singh is an independent eye-witness of murder of Halku. Apart from the above, Beti Bai (P.W.-7), daughter of the deceased Halku, is also an eye-witness of the decreased Halku. All the aforesaid witnesses have fully supported the prosecution story.

32. For examining the correctness or otherwise of the judgment and order of conviction, the version of prosecution as well as defence and the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, it is necessary for us to refer certain case laws laid down by the Apex Court on the subject.

33. In the case of Kartik Malhar V State of Bihar reported in 1996 CRL. L.J. 889, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently, being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case, AIR 1953 SC 364 in which this Court expressed its surprise over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses."

34. In the case of Shyam Babu V State of UP AIR reported in 2012 SC 3311, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"Where the presence of the eye-witnesses is proved to be natural and their statements are nothing but truthful disclosure of actual facts leading to the occurrence, it will not be permissible for the Court to discard the statement of such related or friendly witnesses. There is no bar in law on examining family members or any other person as witnesses. In fact, in cases involving family members of both sides, it is a member of the family or a friend who comes to rescue the injured. If the statement of witnesses, who are relatives or known to the parties affected is credible, reliable, trustworthy and corroborated by other witnesses, there would hardly be any reason for the court to reject such evidence merely on the ground that the witness was a family member or an interested witness or a person known to the affected party or friend etc"

35. The Apex Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Kishan Chand & Others reported in (2004) 7 SCC 629, has opined that just because the witnesses are related to the deceased would be no ground to discard their testimony, if otherwise, their testimony inspire confidence. In the given facts of the present case, they are but natural witnesses. The Apex Court has further opined that the testimony of an injured witness has its own relevance and efficacy. The fact that the witnesses sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence lends support to their testimony that the witnesses were present during the occurrence. The injured witnesses were subjected to lengthy cross-examination but nothing could be elicited to discredit their testimony (Reference-paragraph nos. 9 and 10 of the aforesaid judgment of the Apex Court).

36. The Apex Court in the case of State of Jammu and Kashmir vs. S. Mohan Singh & Others reported in (2006) 9 SCC 272, the Apex Court has observed that it is well settled that in a murder trial, merely because a witness is interested or inimical, his evidence cannot be broadly discarded unless the same is otherwise found to be not trustworthy. In the said case, the view of the Apex Court was that the evidence of these two witnesses is credible more so when witness Ram Lal received injuries. For ready reference, relevant paragraph of the said judgment reads as follows:

"Other two eyewitnesses are the informant Ram Lal and his brother Babu Ram. Ram Lal is father of deceased Yush Paul Singh whereas witness Babu Ram is uncle of deceased Yush Paul Singh. These two witnesses have supported the prosecution case disclosed in the first information report in all material particulars and consistently stated that respondent No. 1 caught hold of the deceased and respondent No. 2 inflicted injuries upon him with knife. We have been taken through the evidence of these two eyewitnesses in extenso. Their evidence is quite consistent, natural and both the witnesses have stood the test of lengthy cross-examination broadby the defence. Out of these two witnesses, Ram Lal was the informant and an injured witness as the doctor who examined him on the date of occurrence itself found that he received injuries by hurling of stone. Nothing could be pointed out on behalf of defence to show that the evidence of these two eyewitnesses is not credible, excepting this that they were interested witnesses. The High Court was not justified in disbelieving them on the sole ground that they were interested persons. It is well settled that in a murder trial, merely because a witness is interested or inimical, his evidence cannot be discarded unless the same is otherwise found to be not trustworthy. In the present case, we are of the view that the evidence of these two witnesses is credible more so when witness Ram Lal received injuries....."

37. From the above mentioned pronouncements of the Apex Court, it is apparently clear that the evidence of interested or inimical witnesses is to be scrutinised with care but can not be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy there is no bar in relying on the said evidence. It is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon. In Ramashish Rai Vs. Jagdish Singh, reported in (2005) 10 SCC 498, it was observed that the requirement of law is that the testimony of inimical witnesses has to be considered with caution. If otherwise the witnesses are true and reliable their testimony cannot be thrown out on the threshold by branding them as inimical witnesses. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double- edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence. A survey of the judicial pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court on this point leads to the inescapable conclusion that the evidence of a closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

38. In the present case, it is no doubt true that eye-witnesses of the incident in which Khuman was murdered, namely, (I) the informant/P.W.-2 Lakhan, P.W.-3 Ghasiram and Panna are sons and daughter of the deceased Halku respectively and nephews and niece of the deceased Khuman respectively. Similarly, another eye witness of the incident in which Halku was murdered, namely, ,Beti Bai (P.W.7) is married daughter of the deceased Halku but their credibility is not affected on the ground that they are relatives of both the deceased. Even otherwise, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and Panna themselves had sustained injuries, thus, their presence at the spot, where Khuman was murdered, is established,

39. In the present case, there are two independent eye witnesses, namely, P.W.-4 Dharam Das and P.W.-5 Virendra Singh, both are villagers of the village of the accused persons and prosecution side. P.W.-4 is an eye witness of the incident in which Khuman was murdered and the injured i.e. P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and Panna were caused injuries by the accused persons at the field of Khuman. P.W.-5 is an eye witness of the incident in which Halku was murdered near Bara Dasrau. P.W.-5 is also witness of Panchayatnama of Khuman. In their testimony, both the independent witnesses have explained about their presence at the places of occurrence.

40. The Apex Court in the case of Mahender Chawla V Union of India, Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 156 / 2016 decided on 5 December, 2018 it was observed as under:-

"Witnesses are important players in the judicial system, who help the judges in arriving at correct factual findings. The instrument of evidence is the medium through which facts, either disputed or required to be proved, are effectively conveyed to the courts. This evidence in the form of documentary and oral is given by the witnesses. A witness may be a partisan or interested witness, i.e., a witness who is in a near relation with the victim of crime or is concerned with conviction of the accused person. Even his testimony is relevant, though, stricter scrutiny is required while adjudging the credence of such a victim. However, apart from these witnesses or the witnesses who may themselves be the victims, other witnesses may not have any personal interest in the outcome of a case. They still help the judicial system. ....."

41. It has again been observed by the Apex Court in the case of Kuna @ Sanjaya Behera V State of Orrisa, reported in 2017 SCC Online Supreme Court 1336 that the conviction can be based on the testimony of single eye witness if he or she passes the test of reliability and that is not the number of witnesses but the quality of evidence that is important.

42. Again the Apex Court in the case of Veer Singh & others V State of UP, reported in (2014) 2 SCC 455 observed as under:-

"Legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is not the number of witnesses but quality of SC 42/17 STATE V GULFAM @ SAJID FIR NO 323/16 5/21 their evidence which is important as there is no requirement under the Law of Evidence that any particular number of witnesses is to be examined to prove/disprove a fact. Evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided Under Section 134 of the Evidence Act. As a general rule the Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he is wholly reliable."

43. Further in Namdeo V State of Maharashtra, reported in (2007) 14 SCC 150, the Apex Court held as under:-

"In the leading case of Shivaji Sahebrao vs. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793, this Court held that even where a case hangs on the evidence of a single eye witness it may be enough to sustain the conviction given sterling testimony of a competent, honest man although as a rule of prudence courts call for corroboration. "It is a platitude to say that witnesses have to be weighed and not counted since quality matters more than quantity in human affairs."In Anil Phukan Vs. State of Assam, (1993) 3 SCC 282 : JT 1993 (2) SC 290, the Court observed; "Indeed, conviction can be based on the testimony of a single eye witness and there is no rule of law or evidence which says to the contrary provided the sole witness passes the test of reliability. So long as the single eyewitness is a wholly reliable witness the courts have no difficulty in basing conviction on his testimony alone. However, where the single eye witness is not found to be a wholly reliable witness, in the sense that there are some circumstances which may show that he could have an interest in the prosecution, then the courts generally insist upon some independent corroboration of his testimony, in material particulars, before recording conviction. It is only when the courts find that the single eye witness is a wholly unreliable witness that his testimony is discarded in toto and no amount of corroboration can cure that defect."

44. The medical evidence adduced by the prosecution fully supports the prosecution version. In the present case, two murders (Khuman and Halku) were committed and three persons (P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and Panna) were alleged to have been caused simple and grievous hurt. From the statements of P.W.-2, P.W.3, P.W.-4, PW.5 and P.W.-7, it is clear that at the time of both the incidents, the accused persons, namely, Zalim, Baldev and Ram Charan were having Pharsa, Axe (Kulhari) and Lathi respectively. From the post-mortem reports of the deceased Khuman and Halku, it is apparent that the aforesaid weapons were used in committing such offence. In the injuries caused to P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and Panna by the accused persons, said weapons were used as is evident from the injury reports of the said injured.

45. So far as the motive is concerned, after perusal of the evidence adduced from the prosecution side, we are of the considered opinion that the prosecution has proved the same. In the present case, motive arises when P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and injured Panna went to the field of their uncle, namely, Khuman (now deceased), where he was present and Panna started cutting grass from the field of her uncle and at that time, the women of the house of the accused also came to the field of the deceased Khuman. When the women of the house of the accused persons also started cutting grass from the field of Khuman, he objected not to cut grass from his field due to which an altercation took place between them. Khuman also asked them to get away from there. Thereafter the women of the house of the accused persons went towards village and they told the entire incident to the accused persons. Since the women of the house of the accused persons were forbidden to cut grass and they were scolded and reprimanded by the Khuman, all the accused persons first murdered Khuman and thereafter Halku to take revenge for this. The motive in the present case is also proved from the document, which is on record at page-4 of paper book, in which one of the accused person, namely, Zalim has stated that due to cutting of his crops, which were standing on his field, a quarrel took place on 30th September, 1977 at about Noon between his side and the side of prosecution in which he sustained some injuries. For the said incident, a report was lodged by the accused Zalim against the informant Lakhan, Gulma, Bal Kishan and deceased Halku, which has been registered on 30th September, 1977 at 16:45 hours, bearing Chik Gairdastanji No. 377, under Sections 323/434/427 I.P.C. at Police Station--Mauranipur, District-Jhansi.

46. In Suresh Chandra Bahri Vs. State of Bihar reported in 1995 Supp (1) SCC 80, the Apex Court has opined that a motive is something which prompts a person to form an opinion or intention to do certain illegal act or even a legal act but with proof of motive for the commission of the crime it affords added support to the finding of the court that the accused was guilty of the offence charged with. Paragraph nos. 21 and 25 of the said judgment which are relevant are quoted here-under:

"21.At the very outset we may mention that sometimes motive plays an important role and becomes a compelling force to commit a crime and therefore motive behind the crime is a relevant factor for which evidence may be adduced. A motive is something which prompts a person to form an opinion or intention to do certain illegal act or even a legal act but with illegal means with a view to achieve that intention. In a case where there is clear proof of motive for the commission of the crime it affords added support to the finding of the court that the accused was guilty of the offence charged with. But it has to be remembered that the absence of proof of motive does not render the evidence bearing on the guilt of the accused nonetheless untrustworthy or unreliable because most often it is only the perpetrator of the crime alone who knows as to what circumstances prompted him to a certain course of action leading to the commission of the crime. In the present case before us the prosecution has adduced evidence that the appellant Suresh Bahri had strong motive to eliminate his wife and two children from his way which evidence has been accepted by both the courts below. We shall, therefore, have a look at the said evidence to see whether the two courts are justified or not in taking the view that the appellant Suresh Bahri had a strong motive to hatch a conspiracy with the assistance of the other two appellants, namely, Raj Pal Sharma and Gurbachan Singh to commit the murder of his wife and the two children."

25. .....It is difficult to lay down a hard and fast rule as to how and in what manner a person would react and to achieve his motive could go to what extent in the commission of crime under a particular circumstance. It is not possible to measure up the extent of his feelings, sentiments and desire and say as to what compelled him to commit a particular crime. There may be persons who under frustration and on mere trifling domestic matters take decision to commit a serious crime, while others may approach it with cool and calm mind and think more dispassionately before taking any hazardous and serious steps. It all depends as to how a person reacts in a given circumstance and it is he alone who best knows his intention and motive to commit a crime and the extent thereof. ....."

47. From the aforesaid facts, which have been noted herein above, we find substance in the submissions made by the learned A.G.A. that there is a case of direct and clinching evidence like three injured eye witnesses of the incident, namely, P.W.-2,. P.W.-3 and Panna in which Khuman was murdered, two independent witnesses, namely, P.W.-4 and P.W.5 (P.W.-4 is an independent eye witness of the murder of Khuman and P.W.-5 is of Halku). P.W.-7 Beti Bai, who is married daughter of the deceased Halku is also an eye witness of the murder of Halku. The medical evidence fully supports the prosecution evidence. Both the incidents occurred in broad day light. The first information report lodged by the informant is prompt, which was lodged within 4-5 hours on 30th September, 1977 of both the incidents. The accused persons including the appellants had also motive to commit such offence. The incidents and the places of incidents were not disputed by the defence side.

48. Considering the same set of facts, the Apex Court in its latest judgment in the case of Mekala Sivaiah vs. State of Andhara Pradesh reported in 2022 SCC Online SC 887, in paragraph nos.25 and 26 has held as follows:

"25. The facts and evidence in present case has been squarely analyzed by both Trial Court as well the High Court and the same can be summarized as follows:

i. The prosecution has discharged its duties in proving the guilt of the appellant for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt.

ii. When there is ample ocular evidence corroborated by medical evidence, mere non-recovery of weapon from the appellant would not materially affect the case of the prosecution.

iii. If the testimony of an eye witness is otherwise found trustworthy and reliable, the same cannot be disbelieved and rejected merely because certain insignificant, normal or natural contradictions have appeared into his testimony.

iv. The deceased has been attacked by the appellant in broad daylight and there is direct evidence available to prove the same and the motive behind the attack is also apparent considering there was previous enmity between the appellant and PW-1.

26. Having considered the aforesaid facts of the present case in juxtaposition with the judgments referred to above and upon appreciation of evidence of the eyewitnesses and other material adduced by the prosecution, the Trial Court as well as the High Court were right in convicting the appellant for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. Therefore, we do not find any ground wa*rranting interference with the findings of the Trial Court and the High Court."*

(Emphasis added)

49. So far as submission no. (i) made by the learned counsel for the appellants that at the time of incident in which Khuman was murdered, the informant was not present, is concerned, we may record that from the evidence adduced by the prosecution, it is apparent from the version of the injured and independent witness i.e. P.W.-4 Dharam Das that the informant was present at the time of incident, when Khuman was murdered by the accused persons and when he along with P.W.-3 and Panna tried to save Khuman, they were also caused injuries by the accused persons. Therefore, the first submission made on behalf of the appellants has no legs to stand.

50. To the submission no.(ii) made by the learned counsel for the accused-appellants regarding the distance between the place where the Khuman was murdered i.e. field of Khuman and the place where Halku was murdered i.e. entrance of house of Halku and Bara of Dasrau, this Court may record that as the first incident in which the Khuman was murdered occurred at 01:00 p.m. (noon) and the second incident in which Halku was murdered occurred at 02:00 p.m. (noon), therefore, one hour was sufficient time for the accused-appellants to reach both the places of occurrence and murder both the deceased. In such circumstances, we find no substance in the said submission.

51. So far as the submission no. (iii) made on behalf of the appellants that both the deceased were dacoits, it may be recorded that such evidence that both the deceased, namely, ,Khuman and Halku were dacoits, has not been produced by the defence before the trial court. Therefore, we are not required to make any observation on the said submission. Apart from the above, this Court may record that nobody has a right in this country to take law in his/her own hand by murdering any person, whosoever it may be, like criminal, dacoit etc. Therefore, this plea taken on behalf of the appellants is also liable to be rejected.

52. Qua submission nos. (iv) & (v) made on behalf of the appellants, this Court may record that same are treated to be minor discrepancies in the evidence of prosecution which has fully been supported by the injured eye witnesses, independent eye witnesses, medical evidence, inasmuch as motive is also involved therein. Such discrepancies which do not otherwise affect the case of the prosecution, even if present, that itself would not prompt the court to reject the evidence on minor discrepancies.

53. The Apex Court in the case of State Represented by Inspector of Police VS. Saravanan @ Another reported in (2008) 17 SCC 587, in paragraph 18 has opined as follows:

"18. The High Court also held that as there were some discrepancies and improvements in the statement of the witnesses, their evidence should not be relied upon. In State of U.P. Vs. M.K. Anthony, [(1985) 1 SCC 505] this Court has laid down the approach which should be followed by the Court in such cases:

"10. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper- technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals. Cross- examination is an unequal duel between a rustic and refined lawyer....."

Even otherwise, it has been said time and again by this Court that while appreciating the evidence of a witness, minor discrepancies on trivial matters without affecting the core of the prosecution case, ought not to prompt the court to reject evidence in its entirety. Further, on the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness, the trial court upon appreciation of evidence forms an opinion about the credibility thereof, in the normal circumstances the appellate court would not be justified to review it once again without justifiable reasons. It is the totality of the situation, which has to be taken note of. Difference in some minor detail, which does not otherwise affect the core of the prosecution case, even if present, that itself would not prompt the court to reject the evidence on minor variations and discrepancies."

54. To the last submission i.e. (vi), this Court may record that for the same, a categorical finding has been recorded by the trial court while passing the impugned judgment and order of conviction. In respect of deceased Halku, who was said to have taken rice and gravy of fish in the break fast, the trial court has recorded that as per the post-mortem report, stomach and small intestine of Halku were empty and there was slight faecal matter at places and faecal matter was also escaping from the anus of Halku. Consequently, it appears that he must have taken food more than six hours before he died, this is also true, as alleged by the prosecution. Since deceased Halku had taken rice and gravy of fish only, which is easily digestible and by the time he died, it must have been converted into faecal matter. So far as the deceased Khuman, who had taken rice and fish in the breakfast before leaving his house for his field, is concerned, the trial court has recorded that as per the post-mortem, there was liquid food material 2½ ounces in his stomach, there was slight faecal matter in small intestines as also in the large intestine, the faecal matter was present. Since the deceased Khuman had also died at the expiry of six hours of taking food and he had taken rice and fish, which is quite easily digestible. Consequently, the contents of stomach of Khuman, which the Doctor found during the course of post-mortem, cannot be said to be contradictory to the fact that he had taken rice and fish in his breakfast. On the basis of the aforesaid fact, the trial court came to the conclusion that the post-mortem reports of both the deceased fully support the prosecution version qua occurrence of both the incidents. We are in resepctful agreement with the finding recorded by trial court on the said issue. Apart from above, this Court may also record that while conducting the post-mortem of dead bodies of both the deceased, the Doctor B.D. Magal (P.W.1), who conducted the same, had found that there were vomiting materials in the mouths of both the deceased.

55. Taking cumulative effect of the evidence, we are of the view that the trial court was fully justified in convicting the appellant. Accordingly, we confirm the order of trial court.

56. The appeal has no substance and the same is dismissed. The appellants are reported to be on bail. Their bail bonds stand cancelled and they be taken into custody for serving the remaining sentence.

57. However, it is provided that it shall be open for the accused appellants to approach the State Government, which may consider the request of permanent release of the accused-appellants after calling for reports from the Jail Superintendent concerned qua total period of their incarceration with remission, seeing the facts that the incident in question took place in September, 1977, judgment of conviction was passed in September, 1978, the accused-appellants had been in jail for more than 13 years (from 1977 to 15th May, 1991 i.e. the date of order of the High Court in the present appeal granting bail to the appellants), their work and conduct during their incarceration, now they are very old and weak.

58. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the concerned trial Court forthwith for compliance.

Ram Kishan Manik witness of the inquest report, P.W.6 Cons. Omkar Singh Scribe of the Chick FIR and G.D. P.W.7 Dr. Anuj Kumar, P.W.8 S.S.I. 10. The statement of accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. who claimed his false implication on the basis of forged story and has denied his any kind of involvement in the crime, however no evidence in defence has been adduced by the accused.

11. Heard learned advocates for the parties.

12. P.W.1 Govind Kumar is said to be the eyewitness of the occurrence. Corroborating the prosecution versions, he has stated in his deposition that his sister Archana was married to the accused Anil before 14-15 years. The accused used to live with them and had a betel shop. He had made a demand of Rs.5 lacs for his business and as money was not given, for this reason he was not happy with his sister. On 18.08.2010 at about 5.00 p.m. when Archana came to the shop of the accused to take gas cylinder, a quarrel started between the two. The accused inflicted injury to his sister by patal. He along with his mother Smt. Jaiwati reached there and saw the occurrence. He has further stated that when they tried to save Archana accused fled away leaving his sister in a bitterly injured condition, thereafter his father lodged the report of the occurrence.

13. P.W.2 Smt. Jaiwati, the mother of the deceased has also corroborated the deposition of P.W.1 and has clearly stated that at the time of the occurrence she was present on spot with his son Govind and they saw the accused inflicting injuries upon Archana by patal. The left hand palm of Archana was imputed and she had got injuries on various parts of her body. The occurrence happened in front of the shop of Syed Nai and the people assembled there.

14. P.W.3 doctor Bhojraj has conducted the autopsy of body of the deceased. He in his deposition has proved the proceedings of the post mortem, the injuries found on the body of the deceased and has proved the autopsy report Ex.-1. He opined that the cause of death was hemorrhage due to anti mortem injuries and it was caused about one day prior to the post mortem.

15. P.W.4 Cons. Vijay Pal carried the body of the deceased for post mortem along with HG Prem Chand, on 19.8.2010 at 11.30 pm. he has proved this fact in his evidence.

16. P.W.5 S.I. Ram Kishun Manik has deposed that he conducted the inquest proceeding on 19.8.2010 at 10 p.m. and also prepared the required documents for post mortem and had sent the dead body for the same. He has proved the inquest report and papers relating to autopsy as Ex.A-2 to A-7 respectively.

17. P.W.-6 Cons. Omkar Singh is the scribe of the FIR in his deposition he has proved this fact that on 18.8.2010 at 18.10 hours the informant Jai Prakash had come to P.S. Mandawar along with a written report written by Anil Kumar, on the basis of which he had lodged the FIR of this case and G.D. no. 36 was also prepared by him at the same time.

18. P.W.7 doctor Anuj Kumar was posted as C.M.O in the District Hospital Ghaziabad and on 18.8.2010 at 6.30 p.m. he had medically examined the deceased Smt. Archana then alive. This witness has proved the injury report Ex.A10 in his evidence and the injuries found on the body of the injured. He has also mentioned this fact that the general condition of the injured was very critical and she was in a gasping position, her pulse and b.p were missing. During examination at 6.50 pm she died.

19. P.W.8 Sunil Sharma has proved the F.S.L. report in his deposition as Ex.A-15 and A-16. He has also proved the murder weapon patal as material Ex.A-1 and also blood stained earth and plain earth as material Ex.-2 and Ex.-3 respectively. He has also proved the clothes of the deceased recovered from dead body as material Ex.-4 to Ex.-7. Other articles recovered from her body as material Ex.-8 to Ex.-14.

20. P.W.9 Jai Prakash is the informant of the case who is a deaf person. The question were asked to him in writing and he has replied thereof. He has proved the written report Ex.A-17. He has declared hostile by the prosecution. He has mentioned that at the time of the occurrence he was not present on the spot.

21. P.W.10 Amit Kumar is the scribe of the written report Ex.A-17, who has identified his hand writing over written report. He has also been declared hostile by the prosecution.

22. On the basis of the aforesaid evidence the learned trial Court found that the evidence adduced by the prosecution was cogent, consistent and reliable and the prosecution has succeeded to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt and accordingly he was convicted under Section 302 I.P.C.

23. The learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the impugned judgments on various grounds. It has been argued that the prosecution evidence rests upon the ocular version of P.W.1 and P.W.2, who are not reliable witnesses. They are interested witnesses and their presence at the place of occurrence is doubtful at the time of crime. It has been further argued that according to the FIR several persons reached at the spot but none was examined. It is next submitted that no recovery of murder weapon has been made from the possession of the accused and on this point the prosecution evidence is not reliable and does not find support from the version of any independent witness. The question has been raised upon the truthfulness of the medical evidence also. Learned counsel for the appellant has also argued that as per the prosecution story and the ocular version of the witnesses, it was not a pre-meditated murder and the offence, if any was caused in a spur of moment and in a heat of passion of the quarrel which suddenly took place between the deceased and the accused at the place of occurrence. It has been submitted that if the guilt of the accused is proved he may be convicted under Section 304 part I or part II I.P.C. instead of Section 302 I.P.C.

24. The submissions of the learned counsel for the appellant have been vehemently objected by learned A.G.A. for the State. It has been submitted that many injuries have been found by the doctor on the body of the deceased which show that it was a brutal murder at a public place. The murder weapon has been recovered from the possession of the accused. The ocular version of P.W.1 and P.W.2 is trustworthy and cogent and there was no necessity to get any corroboration of their evidence. It has been further submitted that the prosecution case is very well supported by the medical evidence and there is no contradiction in between the ocular evidence and the medical evidence. There was no chance of false implication of the accused, as he was the real son-in-law of the informant. It has been further submitted that there are no material contradictions in the statements of the witnesses. FIR is prompt and the place of occurrence is certain.

25. On the basis of the above, the learned A.G.A. has prayed for the dismissal of this appeal.

26. We were taken through the evidence and the judgment delivered by the trial Court and the various aspects discussed therein.

27. A careful scrutiny of the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 clearly shows that a quarrel took place at the place of occurrence on the date and time as claimed by the prosecution between the accused and deceased. The accused/ appellant with a patal (sharp edged weapon) hit the deceased, who got fatal injuries and subsequently succumbed to the injuries and died. There are no material contradictions in the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 in material particulars. Their evidence is almost identical on the material points viz. place, date and time of occurrence, manner of assault, weapon used etc. It is true that P.W.1 during the course of very lengthy cross examination has given some contradictory statements probably in a state of confused mind as it some times happens with the witnesses particularly with village back ground and not very literate but it is a settled position of law that the evidence adduced of a witness should be taken as a whole. The law of evidence does not mean that if a witness makes one or two confusing or contradictory statements during his lengthy cross examination, the rest of his evidence may be discarded. P.W.1 is a labourer as he has stated in his deposition likewise P.W.2 is a illiterate lady as she has put her thumb impression over her deposition.

28. As a matter of fact, the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 has been recorded in parts after a long gap from the date of occurrence. P.W.1 has been examined in pieces from 4.4.2011 to 8.1.2013 and P.W.2, an illiterate lady, was examined on 27.5.2011, 4.4.2011 and 22.1.2013.

29. Recourse may be taken of the case of Jaishree Yadav vs. State of U.P., (2005)

9 SCC 788 (F) wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as follows:

"20.....These shortcomings in the evidence of this witness will have to be considered in the background of the fact that this witness was subjected to nearly 217 questions over a period of 14 months i.e. his cross-examination starting on 14-8-1994 and ending on 28-11-1995. Both the courts below have taken judicial notice of this fact, not only in regard to this witness but in regard to other witnesses also and have come to the concurrent conclusion that when a witness is subjected to such lengthy arduous cross-examination over a lengthy period of time there is always a possibility of the witnesses committing mistakes which can be termed as omissions, improvements and contradictions, therefore, those infirmities will have to be appreciated in the background of ground realities which make the witness confused because of the filibustering tactics of the cross-examining counsel".

30. The oral evidence adduced by the prosecution in the form of P.W.1 and P.W.2 find force from the above mentioned observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Hence, we do not find force in the submissions of learned counsel for the appellant that P.W.1 and P.W.2 both have made statements in hostile terms and as such they are not reliable witnesses.

31. Emphasis has been laid down by the learned A.G.A. for the State on decision titled Ashok Kumar Chaudhary. Vs. State of Bihar 2008 (61) ACC 972 (SC) wherein it has been held that if the testimony of an eyewitness is otherwise found trustworthy and reliable, the same cannot be disbelieved and rejected because certain insignificant, normal or natural contradictions have appeared in the testimony. If the inconsistencies, contradictions, exaggerations, embellishments and discrepancies in the testimony are only normal and not material in nature, then the testimony of an eyewitness has to be accepted and acted upon. Distinctions between normal discrepancies and material discrepancies are that while normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so.

32. So far as the hostile witness is concerned, the law is settled that if the prosecution witness has turned hostile, the Court may rely upon so much of his testimony which supports the case of the prosecution and is corroborated by other evidence as held in Sidhartha Vashisht @ Manu Sharma Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) 2010 (69) ACC 833 (Supreme Court) and many other judgments.

33. It has been argued by the learned A.G.A. that patal is a sharp edged weapon, the deceased was attacked by patal and she has got incised wound over her body, which is evident from the evidence of P.W.3 who has prepared the autopsy report and P.W.7 who has got the opportunity of medical examination of the deceased when she was injured and brought before him for the first time in this way the prosecution finds support from the medical evidence.

34. We find force in the submission of the learned A.G.A. for the State and in our opinion the prosecution case is proved by the medical evidence also. A perusal of inquest report Ex.A-2 is also desirable wherein the panchas has also opined that death of the deceased was caused by inflicting serious injuries by a sharp edged weapon.

35. So far as the topography of the place of occurrence is concerned, Ex.A-17 site plan has been prepared and proved by the P.W.8 the I.O. In the FIR it has been mentioned that the occurrence took place at the shop of the accused/ appellant. In the site map Ex.A-11 the place of occurrence is shown nearby the shop of the accused Anil. P.W.1 and P.W.2 both have categorically stated that when the deceased went to take a gas cylinder to the shop of the accused they had a quarrel and the offence was committed by the accused. P.W 2 has stated that the occurrence took place in front of shop of Saeed Nai. In the site plan EX. A-17, the same position has seen shown and the shop of the accused has also been shown nearby. P.W. 8 in his testimony has also stated that he has found the injured Archana from that very place of occurrence. The FIR also speaks the same, hence so far as the place of occurrence is concerned, the prosecution case is absolutely proved.

36. P.W.8 has also stated that when he got information about the accused surrounded by the public he immediately rushed to the place and arrested the accused with patal in his right hand and in presence of the recovery witnesses Namepal, Mahipal the murder weapon was recovered from the possession of the accused and recovery memo Ex.A13 was prepared, the memo of recovery Ex.A13 is on record which has been proved by P.W.8. Signatures of independent witnesses Mahipal and Nam Pal Singh have been obtained upon it. This recovery has been made on the very day of the occurrence. Although the learned counsel for the appellant has made it a ground to hit the prosecution case that recovery memo Ex.A13 has not been proved by any independent witness but in our view there was no necessity of corroboration of the statement of I.O. from any independent witness. P.W.8 in his deposition has clearly proved the factum of recovery of murder weapon from the accused and his arrest as well. He has named the witness Name Pal and Mahi Pal in his statement, who have endorsed there signatures upon the recovery memo.

37. Reliance has been placed by the learned A.G.A. on Mukesh Vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 wherein it has been held that if any of the weapon etc. are recovered at the instance of the accused (under Section 27 Evidence Act) only in the presence of police party and there is no public witness to such recovery or recovery memo, the testimony of police personal proving the recovery and the recovery memo cannot be disbelieved merely because there was no witness to the recovery proceedings or recovery memo from the public particularly when no witness from public could be found by the police party despite efforts at the time of recovery.

38. The above mentioned case was a case of recovery under Section 27 of Indian Evidence Act but the present case is on a little different footing. Here the police arrested the accused on the basis of the information from an informer and recovered the murder weapon which he had taken with him and public witnesses were available to the police and their signatures were also obtained over the recovery memo.

39. Learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 on the ground that they are the witnesses related to the deceased being her brother and mother respectively and as such they are interested witnesses. It has also been argued that it has been stated in the version of P.W. 1 and P.W.2 that several other persons reached the spot at the time of occurrence but none of them was examined as prosecution witness.

40. Per-contra learned A.G.A. has vehemently argued that relationship is not a factor to discredit a testimony of a witness.

41. P.W. 1 in his cross examination has stated that the place of occurrence is situated at a distance of 15-20 steps from his house. He has also stated that he along with his mother reached the spot immediately. P.W.2 has also stated in her cross-examination that her house is situated at a distance of 20-25 steps from the place of occurrence. Hence the presence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 at the place of occurrence is natural and trustworthy.

42. In this context the Hon'ble Apex Court in Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharastra (2016) 10 SCC 537 has held that the testimony of a witness in a criminal trial cannot be discarded merely because the witness is a relative or family member of the victim of the offence. In such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach in analyzing the evidence of such witness and if the testimony of the related witness is otherwise found credible, accused can be convicted on the basis of the testimony of such related witness.

43. In Surinder Kumar Vs. State of Punjab (2020) 2 SCC 563 this principle has been reiterated by holding that merely because the prosecution did not examine any independent witness, would not necessarily lead to conclusion that accused was falsely implicated.

44. It is noteworthy that in the case in hand a careful scrutiny of the evidence of eye-witnesses P.W.1 and P.W.2 clearly shows that they are reliable and trustworthy witnesses and their evidence is found credible and acceptable.

45. Another submission made by the learned counsel for the appellant is regarding the genuineness of the FIR. To meet out this contention we carefully perused the contents of the FIR. The offence is said to have been committed on 18.8.2010 at about 5.00 pm and the FIR has been lodged about after 1 hour of the incident. On inquest report Ex.A-2 the case crime number has been clearly mentioned which again goes to show that at the time of inquest, FIR had been lodged.

46. P.W. 6 the scribe has proved the FIR and case registration G.D. as Ex.A-8 and Ex.A-9 in his evidence.

47. P.W. 10 has stated that when he wrote the written report as dictated by Jai Prakash it was not read over to him because he is a deaf person but when Ex.A-1 written report was shown to P.W.10 he admitted that the same was written on the dictation of P.W.9, Jai Prakash.

48. P.W.9 was declared hostile by the prosecution but his hostality hardly makes any difference because whatsoever has been narrated in the written report Ex.A.17, has been totally corroborated by P.W.10 the scribe of the written report and the contents of the written report have been mentioned in the FIR itself. The contents of the FIR have been proved by the ocular version of P.W.1 and P.W.2. Hence, the written report and FIR of the case are genuine documents. FIR is not after thought and it has been lodged without any delay after the occurrence.

49. Hence, we find no force in the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant so far as the genuineness of the FIR is concerned.

50. Our attention is drawn towards F.S.L report Ex. A-15 and A-16. The murder weapon patal, blood stained & plain earth and the clothes of the deceased recovered by the I.O. were sent to Forensic Science Laboratory for examination. All the aforesaid materials have been produced during course of evidence before P.W.8, I.O., who has proved them as Material Ex.A-1 to material Ex.A-14. The F.S.L. report Ex.A-15 and A-16 are also on record. A perusal of Ex. A-16 shows that human blood was found on the murder weapon as well as clothings and peace of earth in the serological examination. Ex.A-15 is the returning memo of the materials which were sent for examination. The aforesaid expert report Ex.A-16 also favours the prosecution case.

51. Considering the evidence of the witnesses and also considering the medical evidence including post mortem report, there is no doubt left in our mind about the guilt of the present appellant. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. of the Indian Penal Code should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which reads as under:

52. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

53. The evidence available on record carries us to the conclusion that the incident was not a pre-motivated one. It was a result of a sudden quarrel. Whilst deprived of power of self control and sudden provocation, the accused offender caused the death of his wife when the deceased gave him provocation. The ocular evidence goes to show that when the deceased came to the shop of the accused a quarrel took place between the two and the accuded depriving of the power of the self control by grave and sudden provocation committed the crime with the intention of causing death of the deceased.

54. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be one punishable under Section 304 part-I of the IPC.

55. In view of the aforementioned discussion, we are of the view that this appeal has to be partly allowed, hence, is partly allowed.

56. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code and the appellant is sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with fine, reduced to Rs.10,000/-. Default sentence is reduced to three months.

57. Appellant-accused is in jail. If ten years of incarceration is over, he shall be released forthwith, if not required in any other case. He would be entitled to all kind of remissions. The judgement and order dated 12.02.2013 shall stand modified accordingly.

Vinod Harijan and another) arising out of Case Crime No.147 of 2016, under Sections 302, 376 and 326 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in brevity 'IPC'), Police Station Mohammadabad, District Gazipur.

3. The learned Additional Sessions Judge has sentenced the accused-appellants in the following manner and has directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently:

Conviction under Section	Sentence Awarded	Fine	Default Sentence

326 of I.P.C.	10 years	Rs.20,000/-	1 year
376 of I.P.C.	Life imprisonment	Rs.20,000/-	1 year

4. The facts of the present case are that complainant Parvati w/o Jaggu Harijan had given written report in police station Muhammadabad that when she had gone to Bihar with her husband to harvest paddy, her daughter namely Soni (hereinafter called as victim/deceased) aged about 18 years was alone at home. On 07.01.2016, Vinod Harijan S/o Patiram Harijan and Brijesh Harijan S/o Phool Chand Harijon, having found her daughter alone, started molesting her. When her daughter namely Soni opposed, they set her ablaze pouring kerosene oil on her person as a result of which entire person of her daughter got burnt thereafter the villagers admitted her daughter in District Hospital, Ghazipur. On receiving information, when she reached near her daughter she had conveyed the aforesaid facts and that was the basis of the said written-complaint of the case by complainant Parvati Devi registered as case crime no.-147/2016 being registered against the accused persons Vinod Harijan and Brijesh Harijan u/s 354, 326-A I.P.C. in police-station Muhammadabad.

5. On the basis of the written-complaint of the complainant Parvati Devi, entry of chik-report dated 17.01.2016 was made at police-station Muhammadabad at 9:30 o'clock(sic). Very strangely dying declaration recorded on 17.1.2016 i.e. 10 days after the occurrence. The investigation of the case was conducted by the then Investigating-Officer who inspected the scene of the occurrence, prepared the site-map of the scene of occurrence, recorded the statements of the witnesses and after completing all the necessary formalities, the charge-sheet was filed against accused persons Vinod Harijan and Brijesh Harijan under Section 302, 376-D and 326-A of Indian Penal Code for trial in the Sub-ordinate court. Investigation was moved into motion and after recording statements of various persons, the Investigating Officer submitted the charge-sheet against accused.

6. The case being exclusively triable by sessions court, copies of prosecution documents were supplied to the accused persons by the Hon'ble Sub-ordinate Court u/s 207 Cr.P.C., and the case was committed to the sessions court for trial on 10.03.2016.

7. On being summoned, the accused-appellants pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried, hence, the trial started and the prosecution examined about 12 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Deposition of Parvati Devi	12.5.2016 31.5.2016	PW1

9. After concluding the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused persons were recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C., in which the accused persons have stated the prosecution story to be wrong and the case to have been initiated against them out of enmity. The accused persons have, in additional statement, stated that the police of PS Muhammadabad has filed charge-sheet by collecting fake evidence in collusion with the opposite parties of the village and out of their enmity.

10. At the end of the trial and after recording the statement of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Sessions Judge convicted the appellants as mentioned herein above. Being aggrieved by and dissatisfied with the aforesaid judgement and order passed by the Sessions Court, the appellants have preferred the present appeal.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that no offence as alleged has been committed by the accused. It is further submitted that the accused had no motive to do away with the deceased and that the death of the deceased was due to medical negligence and was after a considerable period of time from the date of commission of offence.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant has relied on the decision of Supreme Court in (a) State of Assam Versus Ramen Dowarah, LAWS(SC) 2016 19 (b) Mahavir Singh Vs. State of Haryana, LAWS(SC) 2014 5 62 (c) Criminal Appeal No.436 of 2022 (The State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Subhash @ @ Pappu) decided on 1.4.2022 by the Apex Court and in Criminal Appeal No.121 of 2021 ( Khokan @ Khokhan Vishwas Vs. State of Chhattisgarh) decided on 11.2.2021 by the Apex Court so as to contend that the decision of imprisonment for life is bad and life could not be till the last breath and the conviction under Section 302 read with Section 326 and 376 of I.P.C. is not made out. In alternative, it is submitted that the the offence would be under Section 304 Part II or Section 304 Part I of I.P.C as per the decisions narrated herein above on which heavy reliance is being placed by the counsel for the appellants. It is further submitted that if the Court comes to the conclusion that the accused has committed the offence, in that case as the accused have been in jail for more than 6 years without remission, he may be granted fixed term punishment of incarceration.

13. It has been vehemently submitted by learned A.G.A. for the State that the offences alleged are gruesome and the offences having been committed by the appellants is conclusively proved by dying declaration. Learned counsel has taken us through the evidence on record and the manner in which the deceased was raped and then out of fear was done to death. Sri Vikas Goswani, learned A.G.A. for the state has submitted that life imprisonment awarded to the accused in the facts and circumstances of the case was the only punishment which could be awarded to the accused-appellants and requested for dismissal of appeal.

14. Before we start considering the evidence which we are not elaborately discussing, the reason being it is proved conclusively that the accused have caused injuries to the deceased and set her ablaze which was primarily responsible for her death. The alternative prayer about lesser punishment is to be considered.

15. After some arguments, learned counsel for the appellant submitted that he is not pressing this appeal on its merit, but he prays only for reduction of the sentence as the sentence of life imprisonment awarded to the appellant by the trial court is very harsh. Learned counsel also submitted that appellant is languishing in jail for the past more than 6 years.

16. Considering the evidence of the witnesses and also considering the medical evidence including post mortem report, there is no doubt left in our mind about the guilt of the present appellants as far as death of deceased is concerned.

17. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302, 376 and 326 of I.P.C. should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which read as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

18. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

19. While considering the evidence as considered by the learned Trial Judge and looking to the medical evidence, the accused were earlier charged with commission of offence under section 354 of IPC read with 326 of IPC. The deceased was aged 28 years of age. The postmortem of the deceased was conducted. The dying declaration dated 17.1.2016 read with the ocular version of witnesses and the evidence narrates that the deceased was raped and after being scared, both the accused tried to set her ablaze. The dying declaration dated 17.1.2016 was recorded, namely ten days after the said incident occurred. The injuries report, the medical report and the finding of facts would go to show that the death occurred due to burn injuries. In evidence of PW-1, he has mentioned that both the accused tried to molest her daughter and when she resisted, they set her ablaze. In cross examination, she has accepted that she and her husband were not in their house. PW-2 came to know about the said accident on telepathically information given by the villagers. PW-1, PW-2 & PW-3 were not eye witnesses. PW-4 who was the Naib Tehsildar stated that his daughter was 70% burned and was admitted in the Hospital.

20. We are pained to mention that the dying declaration is recorded about after 10 days of the incident. The medical evidence for Section 376 D of IPC is absent and therefore it is very difficult to concur with the trial court as far as punishment under Section 376 D of IPC is concerned. Learned Judge nowhere discusses as to how and on what basis he accepts that offence under Section 376 D of IPC was committed when the other witnesses have mentioned that the accused tried to molest the deceased. The evidence of Doctors, PW-5, PW-6 and PW-7 are also silent to this effect. Very unfortunate that PW-4 and PW-5 do not throw any light whether the deceased was forced to forcible sex or not. PW-6 had also examined the deceased on the very same date. She was in her senses when dying declaration was recorded. Even PW-7 who had performed the postmortem nowhere mentioned that there was forcible sex with the deceased. Except the dying declaration recorded after 11 days, there is no medical evidence to corroborate that the rape was committed on the deceased.

21. This case pertains to the offence of 'rape', defined under Section 375 IPC, which is quoted as under:

[375. Rape.- A man is said to commit "rape" if he-

(a) penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(b) inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(c) manipulates any part of the body of a woman so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any part of body of such woman o/r makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(d) applies his mouth to the vagina, anus, urethra of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person, under the circumstances falling under any of the following seven descriptions :-

First.- Against her will.*

Secondly.- Without her consent.*

Thirdly.- With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person in whom she is interested, in fear of death or of hurt.*

Fourthly.- With her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully married.*

Fifthly.- With her consent when, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind of intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.*

Sixthly.- With or without her consent, when she is under eighteen years of age.*

Seventhly.- When she is unable to communicate consent.*

Explanation 1.- For the purposes of this section, "vagina" shall also include labia majora.*

Explnation 2.- Consent means an unequivocal voluntary agreement when the woman by words, gestures or any form of verbal or non-verbal communication, communicates willingness to participate in the specific sexual act.*

Provided that a woman who does not physically resist to the act of penetration shall not by the reason only of that fact, be regarded as consenting to the sexual activity.

Exception 1.- A medical procedure or intervention shall not constitute rape.*

Excpetion 2.- Sexual intercourse or sexual acts by a man with his own wife, the wife not being under fifteen years of age, is not rape.]*

22. In that view of the matter the conviction u/s 376 IPC cannot be concurred with and requires to be set aside as there are no sign of forcible sex with deceased. The dying declaration for this aspect could not be acted upon.

23. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death was caused by the accused in unison and it was a homicidal death whether the same was not premeditated or premeditated will have to be seen. The accused had no intention to cause death of deceased, the injuries were though sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, accused had no intention to do away with deceased, hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

24. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be one punishable under Section 304 part-I of the IPC.

25. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

26. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

27. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

28. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

29. Since the learned counsel for the appellant has not pressed the appeal on merit, however, after perusal of entire evidence on record and judgment of the trial court, we consider that the appeal is required to be partly allowed as guilt of accused is established from dying declaration and the ocular evidence of witnesses plus injuries caused on the deceased primary sufficient to fastening her death at a very young age.

30. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

31. We are unable to agree with the submission of learned learned A.G.A. as far as it relates to the finding of the court below that the death was a premeditated murder and falls within provisions of Section 300 of IPC and the sentence under Section 302 IPC is just and proper. The reason for the same is that the deceased did not die and insistence death had it been a premeditated murder, the injuries on the body would have caused her immediate death.

32. One more glaring fact is that from the record of the medical papers that the deceased survived for more than ten days. She was admitted in District Hospital, Ghazipur and thereafter she developed fissure and later on during treatment, she breathed her last due to septicemia. Though we concur with learned Trial Judge that the death was homicidal death we are unable to accept the submission of Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A.

Punishment:

33. In view of the judgment of the Apex Court in State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Subhash @ Pappu (supra) and Khokan @ Khokhan Vishwas Vs. State of Chhattisgarh (supra) will enure for the benefit for the accused-appellants as the death occurred after ten days was not a premeditated.

34. We come to the definite conclusion that the death was due to septicemia. The judgments cited by the learned counsel for the appellant would permit us to uphold our finding which we conclusively hold that the offence is not under Section 302 of I.P.C. but is culpable homicide.

35. The accused are in jail since 17.1.2016. The Apex Court in such cases has converted the conviction under Section 302 of I.P.C. to Section 304 Part I of I.P.C. which will come to the aid of the accused.

36. In view of the aforementioned discussion, we are of the view that the appeals have to be partly allowed, hence, appeals are partly allowed.

37. The conviction of the appellants under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code read with Section 326 of Indian Penal Code is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) of Indian Penal Code read with Section 326 of Indian Penal Code and the appellants are sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with fine reduced at Rs.10,000/- for offence u/s 304(Part-I) of IPC and 10 years for offence under Section 326 with fine of Rs.5,000/- for default sentence . The accused shall under go incarceration for six month both serves to run concurently.

38. Appellants-accused are in jail since 17.1.2016. On completion of 10 years of incarceration with remission is over for all the offences and if fine is not deposited, the default sentence would start after the period of ten years. The accused- appellants shall be released on completion of said period, if not required in any other case. The accused-appellants would be entitled to all remissions. The judgment and order impugned in this appeal shall stand modified accordingly.

39. Let a copy of this judgment along with the trial court record be sent to the Court and Jail Authorities concerned for compliance.

4. Rafique Ahammad @ Rafi Vs St. of U.P., AIR 2011 Supreme Court 3114

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satyaveer Singh, learned Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant and Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This is an appeal against the judgment and order dated 13.04.2010 passed by learned Additional District and Session Judge/F.T.C.-3, Bijnor in Session Trial No. 638 of 2009 (State vs. Shamshad) in Case Crime No. 920 of 2009 under Section 302 IPC, Police Station-Afzalgarh, District-Bijnor and sentenced to imprisonment for life and imposed fine of Rs. 1,00,000/- and further imprisonment of three years in default thereof.

3. As per the prosecution case, the lone named accused Shamshad, murdered his pregnant step-mother alongwith her three kids i.e., his step siblings by assaulting them and inflicting injuries on vital parts with an axe on the night of 26.08.2009 at around 10 pm. The FIR was lodged by his own father Abdul Rashid, the same day at 22.45 hours.

4. The prosecution examined two eye-witnesses namely, Chhote and Sirajuddin as PW1 and PW2 respectively, the informant Abdul Rashid as PW4. The prosecution also examined PW9-Ishrar in whose presence the weapon of offence "kulhari' was retrieved by the accused himself after giving a disclosure statement. The prosecution in all examined ten witnesses and furnished the documentary evidence Exhibit Ka-1 to Exhibit Ka-41.

5. Before proceeding further, it shall be useful to briefly state the FIR version which said that the informant-Abdul Rashid, on returning to his house, found a crowd of people at his doorstep and was told by them that his own son Shamshad, who was in inebriated state assaulted and inflicted wounds by a "kulhari' on the neck of the informant's wife Chhoti, who had died by then and also inflicted fatal injuries to his children. His daughters Ruksana and Farzana, aged about 12 years and 6 years respectively and 5 years old son Faizan, were found by him lying in an injured condition on the cots. All of them, died before they could avail any medical help in the hospital. It is also mentioned in the FIR that the people of the locality saw the accused Shamshad escaping with "kulhari' held in his hands.

6. As per the prosecution version, the inquest was carried out on 26.08.2009, the same night from 22:45 onwards and continued till 6:00 am on 27.08.2009 in the precincts of the Hospital. The dead bodies had fatal injuries on their neck, faces and areas around it. As per the opinion of Dr. S.R. Soni PW3, the victims died because of shock and hemorrhage following ante-mortem injuries. The postmortem on all four dead bodies was conducted on 27.08.2009 between 1.30 pm to 3.45 pm and all of them found to have incised wounds on face, neck, skull and other body parts.

7. PW1-Chhotte and PW2-Sirajuddin, the residents of same Village deposed that Chhotte's sister namely, Chhoti, the victim was often harassed by his step-son. They went to her house between 09.40 to 10.00 pm and saw with their own eyes that Shamshad was assaulting the deceased persons with an axe inflicting injuries. When they tried to intervene, he ran towards them in attacking mode. The witnesses tried to catch hold of him, but he escaped towards the jungle and could not be apprehended.

8. We have gone through the testimony of PW1 and PW2, in the light of the submission of the defence that the above two witnesses are in fact not the eye-witnesses but have been planted by the prosecution to give credence to its version. In our view, in the brief cross-examination done by the defence, nothing has come to lead us to disbelieve their testimony. We cannot scrutinise the testimony of witnesses with an air distrust unless there are some strong indicators compelling the Court to draw a different conclusion. If no material is coming forth to indicate that witnesses may be lying or may be giving a wrong evidence for certain ulterior motives or extraneous reasons, the Court is not supposed to discard such testimony for non-existent or imaginary reasons. In our view, the conclusion drawn by the trial court is based upon the evidence available before it which may be direct or circumstantial and not on conjunctures.

9. PW4-Abdul Rashid, the husband of deceased Chhoti and father of three innocent kids, has deposed that when he returned to his house, he found a crowd of people there and they told him that his son Shamshad escaped holding an axe, soaked in blood. In his cross-examination, he fairly admitted that he did not witness the incident. He did not himself see anybody fleeing from the scene of crime and that he lodged the FIR on the basis of things narrated by the people of the locality present at the spot at that time. This has come in a very brief cross-examination done by the defence.

10. This fact cannot escape attention of the Court that though his whole family got killed but he refrained from giving any exaggerated version. His testimony evokes confidence of the Court and is, in our view, one of the most important pieces of evidence in this case. With regard to his testimony, the Illustration (a) to Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is worth notice, which reads as under:-

"(a) A is accused of the murder of B by beating him. Whatever was said or done by A or B or the by-standers at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact."

11. Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 makes those facts relevant which though not in issue, are so connected with a fact in issue so as to form part of same transaction, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and place.

12. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sukhar vs. State of U.P. (1999) 9 SCC 507, discussed several landmark judgments and gave an opinion in-line with settled legal proposition that the statement must be contemporaneous with the act or must have been made immediately thereafter. It is the spontaneity and immediate nature of such statement which makes them admissible and reliable. In Arjun vs. State of U.P.; 2003 (1) A.Cr.R. 329, PW2 rushed to the spot on hearing distress cries and gained knowledge through others present there (PW3) that it was the accused appellant who stabbed the victim. His evidence was found admissible under Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act.

13. The evidence given by PW4 comes within the scope of Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act. It is such a piece of circumstantial evidence which cannot be ignored. It passes the test of proximity in time and of spontaneity as held in umpteen cases by the Hon'ble Courts. The evidence of PW4 gets intrinsic support from documentary evidence Exhibit Ka-41 which is a Memo prepared by the Police at the time of the arrest of the accused. This paper mentions that at the time of his arrest, there were blood spots on the clothes worn by the appellant. It should be noted that the accused was arrested shortly after the occurrence on 27.08.2009 at 12.30.

14. PW9-Ishrar has given an evidence that alongwith the Police personnels, he went to the place Ghasi Wala Park, Jungle where the vehicle was stopped and the accused retrieved a blood stained axe, hidden inside the bushes at about 1 pm in the afternoon of 27.08.2009, before him.

15. PW10- S.I. Sri Ram has given a similar statement and has also proved Exhibit Ka-40, Memo of recovery and has stated that the blood stained axe was recovered from the spot different from the place of occurrence of crime. The accused himself retrieved the weapon hidden in bushes.

16. Recovery of an article from a place hitherto unknown to anybody else including the investigating officer, is a fact which underlines the confirmation theory which is at the heart of provisions of Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act. The discovery of facts includes not only the object found but more importantly the place from which it was produced and the knowledge of the accused as to its existence. The importance of disclosure statement and the discovery of fact has been very well examined in Charan Das Swami vs. State of Gujrat; (2017) 7 SCC 177. In this case before us, the evidence of PW9 and PW10 further strengthens the prosecution case in the light of the above provisions of law. In our view, the evidence led by the prosecution on this count, is not only admissible and relevant under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act but also tantamounts to the evidence of conduct of an accused which too is relevant.

17. The accused was given an opportunity as provided under Section 313 Cr.P.C. to enable him to explain his side and to give explanation, if any, for testimony which came against him implicating him in the crime. However, to all the questions put by the Court, he simply gave a bald reply that the evidence is wrong. He refrained from saying anything else.

18. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Rafique Ahammad @ Rafi vs. State of U.P.; AIR 2011 Supreme Court 3114, observed that the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. cannot form sole basis for conviction but certainly it can be a relevant consideration for the courts to examine, particularly when the prosecution has otherwise been able to establish the chain of events.

19. In view of the above, the only conclusion which can be drawn is that perhaps he had no plausible explanation to offer before the Court. Though the fact of non-explanation cannot replace the burden of prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, however, where such burden stands discharged fully the defence is expected to offer whatever reasonable explanation it might have. Here there is none, which further strengthens the prosecution case.

20. To sum up the PW1 and PW2 have given the eye-witness account of the incident. The informant, who happens to be the father of the accused (and husband of the deceased-Chhoti and father of rest of the deceased persons, Ruksana, Farzana and Faizan) has given an unimpeachable evidence found relevant under Section 6 of the Indian Evidence Act. An incriminating article i.e., weapon of offence was recovered on the basis of the disclosure statement given by the accused during investigation. The FIR has been lodged with requisite promptness ruling out any probability of embellishment therein. There is no material before the Court to indicate even remote probability of false implication. In our view, there is no infirmity in the conclusion drawn by the trial Court as to the culpability of the appellant.

21. There has been a very faint submission on behalf of the appellant that PW1 and PW9 are not reliable because they happen to be closely related to the informant. In our view, a relationship howsoever close it may be, cannot by itself be a ground to discard the testimony unless there is some material which may have tendency to corrode the credibility of a witness. The court has to examine the evidence in toto to determine whether it has, on the whole a ring of truth. While evaluating the evidence, it cannot be held to be unworthy of credit just because the witnesses were closely related.

22. This appeal lacks merits and is liable to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed. The judgment of the trial court is hereby affirmed. The appellant is in jail. He shall serve out the sentence as awarded by the trial court.

23. Office is directed to certify this order to the court concerned forthwith to ensure compliance and also to send back the lower court record.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. This criminal appeal is preferred by appellant-Raj Kumar against the order and judgement dated 17.09.2011 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.17, Bulandshahr in Session Trial No.1398 of 2007 (State Vs. Raj Kumar) and Session Trial No.86 of 2008 (State Vs. Smt. Geeta and others) arising out of Case Crime No.301 of 2007, under Section 498A, 304B of IPC alternatively under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC and Section 3 and 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station- Pahasu, District- Bulandshahr, by which the accused persons Smt. Geeta, Tej Pal and Ram Pratap were acquitted of all the charges. During the course of trial, accused Dharmwati has passed away and trial was abated against her and appellant-Raj Kumar was convicted for the offence under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC and sentenced for life imprisonment with fine of Rs.10,000/- and one year S.I. in case of default of fine. Appellant-Raj Kumar was also convicted under Section 3 of Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 and sentenced to five years R.I. and fine of Rs.15,000/- and one year S.I. in case of default of fine. Appellant-Raj Kumar was further convicted under Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 and sentenced to two years R.I. with fine of Rs.5,000/- and six months additional S.I. in case of default of fine. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. Heard Shri Mohd. Samiuzzaman Khan, learned counsel for the appelllant, Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

3. The brief facts as culled out from record are that informant Ompal Singh gave a written report in police station-Pahasu, District- Bulandshahr on 13.08.2007 alleging that he is resident of Bank Colony, Bhiwani, Haryana. He had solemnized the marriage of his daughter Pooja on 06.05.2007 with Raj Kumar son of Heera Singh resident of District-Bulandshahr. He had given dowry more than his capacity but in-laws of his daughter were not happy with the dowry given and demanded more amount. He had incurred more than Rs.3 lacs as expenditure in the aforesaid marriage. There was also a plot in the name of his daughter Pooja. It is further stated that in-laws of his daughter Pooja used to pressurize him and his relatives to sell the aforesaid plot and purchase a plot in Khurja for them. It is also stated that before two days of the occurrence, he and his wife went to the matrimonial home of Pooja, where she told them that pressure was being mounted on her for selling the plot, and, she was being threatened for her life. Informant has further stated that he had refused to sell the plot, hence, due to this reason, husband of his daughter Raj Kumar, mother-in-law, sister-in-law Geeta, husband of Geeta, Tej Pal and younger brother of husband Ram Pratap had murdered his daughter Pooja by burning her. On receiving a phone call, he and his wife went to the matrimonial home of Pooja, where they found her burnt body and they came to know that Raj Kumar had also committed similar act with his first wife by burning her.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid written report, a Case Crime No.301 of 2007 was registered at Police Station-Pahasu, under Section 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act. Investigation was taken up by the investigating officer, who visited the spot and recovered kerosene oil can, match box and plastic rope from the spot and half burnt leaves of guava tree of which recovery memos were prepared separately. Inquest report was prepared and the post mortem of deceased Pooja was conducted by the panel of two doctors and post mortem report was prepared. During the course of investigation, I.O. recorded the statements of witnesses and site plan was prepared. After completion of investigation, I.O. submitted charge sheet against Raj Kumar and Dharmwati under Section 498A, 304B, 201 and 120B IPC and under Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act. Second charge sheet was submitted to the court against the accused Smt. Geeta, Tej Pal and Ram Pratap under the aforesaid offences.

5. The case, being triable exclusively by the court of Sessions, was committed to the court of the Sessions for trial by the concerned Magistrate.

6. The trial court framed charges against all the accused persons under Sections 304B, 498A of IPC and under Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The accused persons denied the charges and claimed to be tried. After the examination of all the prosecution witnesses, learned trial court framed alternative charge on 25.08.2011 under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC.

7. Prosecution produced following witnesses before learned trial court in oral testimony:

1.	Asha	PW1
2.	Yogendra	PW
3.	Dr. Rajkumar	PW
4.	R.K. Singh	PW
5.	Vijendra Singh Tomar	PW
6.	Padam Singh	PW
7.	Ompal	PW
8.	Rajpal Singh	PW

Court witness No.1 Bangali Rai Gautam was also examined by the court.

8. In support of its case, the prosecution filed following documentary evidence before the trial court, which was proved by leading the evidence:

1.	FIR	Ex.ka.13
2.	Written report	Ex.ka.1
3.	Recovery memo of kerosene oil can, match box and plastic rope	Ex.ka.4
4.	Recovery memo of half burnt leaves of guava tree	Ex.ka.5
5.	Post mortem report	Ex.ka.2
6.	Panchayatnama	Ex.ka.7
7.	Site plan	Ex.ka.3

9. After conclusion of evidence, statements of accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., in which they contended that false evidence was led against them and they were falsely implicated. Accused persons examined no witness in their defence.

10. All the accused except accused-appellant Raj Kumar were acquitted of all the charges and Raj Kumar was convicted and sentenced under Section 302 r/w section 149 of IPC along with Sections 3 and 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act.

11. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that all the accused persons except the appellant were acquitted by the learned trial court on the same set of the evidence. Hence, the conviction of appellant is bad in the eyes of law. Learned counsel for appellant has raised a legal question namely that initially the charge was framed under Section 304B of IPC along with other offences but after recording of the entire oral evidence by the prosecution, learned trial court framed alternative charge under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC and no opportunity was given to the appellant to defend himself against the aforesaid alternative charge. Learned counsel for appellant submitted that prosecution had examined 8 witnesses, namely PW1 to PW8 and the last witness was examined on 24.08.2009. After about two years, on 25.08.2011 after change of presiding Judge alternative charge under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC was framed by learned trial court, the accused-appellant was not given opportunity to cross-examine any of the witnesses examined i.e. PW1 to PW8 with regard to the charge under Section 302 of IPC., hence, accused had no get opportunity to defend himself against alternative charge for higher offence framed by learned trial court. By this way, the accused was prejudiced. It is submitted that on this ground alone, the trial was vitiated and appellant could not have been convicted under Section 302 of IPC.

12. Learned counsel heavily relied on the judgement of this Court in the case of Santosh Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2021 0 Supreme (All) 173, where one of us (Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thakar, J.) was signatory to the said judgement. The only defence in the said matter was that in the aforesaid case, the witnesses had turned hostile. In our case, witnesses have not turned hostile, but the fact remains that the accused-appellant was never put to questions even while examining the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. with regard to the offence under Section 302 of IPC. Learned counsel for the appellant also submitted that no additional demand of dowry was proved by the prosecution. The appellant had never pressurized his deceased wife for selling the plot in question and purchasing another plot in Khurja. Rather the informant, father of the deceased, himself entered into agreement to sell the aforesaid plot with someone and received Rs.1 lac. For this reason, the deceased was upset and she accidentally died and appellant along with his family members were roped in.

13. Learned counsel has further submitted that learned trial court placed reliance on the evidence of Dr. Rajkumar PW3 who had deposed in connection with the post mortem of the deceased. PW3 had opined that the cause of death of the deceased was asphyxia as a result of smothering. On the basis of this statement alone, the learned trial court convicted the appellant under Section 302 of IPC. It is submitted that it was not proved that the act of smothering was committed by the appellant. Learned trial court convicted the accused on the basis of surmises and conjectures and in preconceived notions on basis of altered charge only.

14. Learned AGA for the State opposed the submissions made on behalf of the appellant and submitted that the deceased died in her matrimonial home after only three months of her marriage and her body was found in burnt condition in matrimonial home. Learned AGA also submitted that all the witnesses of fact have supported the prosecution case and have categorically stated that the deceased was being pressurized for selling the plot of land, which was in her name and she was killed by smothering, which could not be accidental. Hence, the learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellant under Section 302 of IPC. There is no illegality in impugned judgement which calls for any interference by this Court.

15. The legal question, raised by the learned counsel for the appellant is answered by this Court, with regard to the conviction of accused-appellant under Section 302 of IPC. It is evident from the record that in this case PW1 Smt. Asha was examined on 07.04.2008 and the last prosecution witness PW8 Rajpal Singh C.O., Anoopshahr was examined on 24.08.2009. Alternative charge under Section 302 r/w Section 149 of IPC was framed by learned trial Judge on 25.08.2011. First charge was framed under Section 304B of IPC along with other offences and after framing the alternative charge under Section 302 IPC on 25.08.2011, none of the prosecution witness, namely PW1 to PW8 was re-examined nor recalled nor any opportunity was given to appellant-accused to cross-examine any of the aforesaid witnesses on the fresh charge framed. It is also very relevant to note that no evidence with regard to the offence under Section 302 of IPC was led. The accused-appellant was not put to any question during recording of his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and no additional statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

16. It would be pertinent to reproduce Section 216 of Cr.P.C. regarding the alteration of charge which reads as follows:

216. Court may alter charge.

(1) Any Court may alter or add to any charge at any time before judgment is pronounced.

(2) Every such alteration or addition shall be read and explained to the accused.

(3) If the alteration or addition to a charge is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is not likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused in his defence or the prosecutor in the conduct of the case, the Court may, in its discretion, after such alteration or addition has been made, proceed with the trial as if the altered or added charge had been the original charge.

(4) If the alteration or addition is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused or the prosecutor as aforesaid, the Court may either direct a new trial or adjourn the trial for such period as may be necessary.

(5) If the offence stated in the altered or added charge is one for the prosecution of which previous sanction is necessary, the case shall not be proceeded with until such sanction is obtained, unless sanction has been already obtained for a prosecution on the same facts as those on which the altered or added charge is founded.

17. It has been time and again held by the Apex Court that Section 313 of Cr.P.C. has its own importance and opportunity to defend anything adverse to the accused should have been given to the accused. The opportunity to cross-examine the prosecution witnesses was not given to the accused-appellant even the prosecution witnesses deposed much before the alternative charge. After framing the alternative charge, learned trial court should have recalled the prosecution witnesses and they should have been permitted to be cross-examined by the accused-appellant, in the absence of which, the accused could not have thought that the said alteration of charge would be acted upon and the trial would culminate into the returning the finding of punishment to him under Section 302 of IPC. The ingredients of Section 302 of IPC were not present in the charge of which the appellant was put to trial. The object and scope of altering the charge and principles therein have been summarized by the Apex Court in Nallapareddi Sridhar Reddy Vs. State of A.P. (2020) 12 SCC 467, which are applicable in our case. The Apex Court in R. Rachaiah Vs. Home Secretary 2016 0 Supreme (SC) 383 has held that alteration of charge in violation of mandate as per Section 216 and 217 Cr.P.C. and conviction recorded under altered charge seriously causes prejudice to the accused. Therefore, this impropriety of the trial court stands vitiated and there could have been no conviction under altered charge namely under Section 302 of IPC. Hence, we hold that the conviction on altered charge was bad because the accused was never given opportunity to defend himself for the offence under Section 302 of IPC and his interest was prejudiced. We are supported in our view by the reasonings in Santosh (supra).

18. We find it very strange that even in alternative charge, the learned trial court has mentioned the ingredients of dowry death, as demand of plot as additional dowry is there. Homicidal death of the deceased Pooja for not meeting out the demand of additional dowry is also there. It is admitted fact that the death of the deceased occurred in her matrimonial home even before seven years of marriage because the occurrence had taken place after three months of the marriage of the deceased. It is also evidence that before two days of the occurrence, the deceased had told her parents for demand of the plot and harassment for that. Hence, in this matter all the ingredients of offence under Section 304B of IPC are present yet, the learned trial court framed alternative charge under Section 302 r/w 149 of IPC. This exercise of learned trial Judge was futile.

19. For dowry death, presumption under Section 113B of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is drawn, if it is shown soon before her death such woman had been subjected by the person causing death to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with any demand of dowry, the court shall presume that such person had caused dowry death. The concept of "soon before death" varies from case to case. What is "soon before death" depends upon the facts of each case, keeping in view the proximity live link between the harassment or cruelty and the death of deceased. In our case, it is evident on record that the pressure was being mounted on the deceased for selling the plot, which stood in her name and she was being threatened to life also. In this case facts go to show and it is proved that "soon before her death" the deceased was subjected to harassment in connection with demand of additional dowry because pressurizing the deceased for selling the plot was indirect way of demand of dowry. Hence, when presumption under Section 113B of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is drawn then the matter falls within the purview of offence under Section 304B of IPC because the marriage of the deceased was solemnized just before three months of the occurrence. Hence, the death of the deceased was within seven years of the marriage and as discussed above it is shown that soon before her death, she was subjected to cruelty/harassment by the appellant in connection with demand of dowry, the death of the deceased would be considered "dowry death".

304B. Dowry death.-

(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation. For the purposes of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.

20. While going through the provision of Section 304B of IPC, it is very clear that it can be read with Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act and coupled with Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act. We are fortified in a view that the matter is covered by the ingredients of the said sections. The fact that Section 302 IPC conviction cannot stand but the same time acquittal cannot be ordered in favour of the accused. The ground allegedly taken by accused is also not stated by any cogent evidence being led under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. As we considered the totality we are of the confirmed opinion that the accused has to be dealt with Section 304B IPC and acquittal under Section 304B IPC and conviction under Section 302 IPC cannot be sustained.

21. In case of offence under Section 304B of IPC, there is reverse burden of proof on the accused, which is not in the case of Section 302 of IPC. The learned trial court has committed manifest error by convicting the accused-appellant under Section 302 of IPC on the basis of reverse burden of proof on the shoulders of the appellant. The evidence in this case does not show that Section 302 of IPC is applicable to the facts of this case.

22. Hence, we upturn the judgement and order of the learned trial court to the extent of conviction and sentence of accused-appellant with regard to the offence under Section 302 r/w Section of 149 IPC and convict the accused-appellant for the offence under Section 304B of IPC. The period undergone would be just and proper as the accused-appellant is in jail for more than 10 years. The conviction and sentence of appellant under Section 302 of IPC is set aside and appellant is convicted and is sentenced under Section 304B of IPC to the period already undergone. The conviction and sentence under Section 3 and 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act is maintained. All the sentences to run concurrently as directed by learned trial court. Fine and default sentence maintained.

23. With these observations, the appeal is partly allowed as modified above.

24. Record and proceedings be sent back to the court below.

Both the accused persons got down from the motor cycle and opened fire with country made pistols upon the informant and his brother Suraj Mehto. When they rushed from the spot to save themselves, the accused persons fired upon his brother Suraj Mehto who fell down in the wheat field and died. The accused persons fled away on motorcycle. Cause of death in his opinion was haemorrhage and shock due to anti mortem injuries.

4. The I.O. recorded the statement of the witnesses of fact and formal witnesses, prepared map Exhibit A-13 after spot inspection and after completing the investigation charge sheet Exhibit A-6 was submitted to the Court.

5. The case of the accused persons after their appearance before the Court being exclusively triable by Sessions Court was committed to the Court of Sessions by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gorakhpur on 27.6.2002.

6. The charges under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and Section 307 read with Section 34 I.P.C. were framed against the accused persons who denied of the charges and claimed to be tried.

7. To bring home the guilt of the accused persons, oral evidence was recorded as PW-1 Muneshwar Mehto- first informant, P.W.-2 Rameshwar witness of inquest report, P.W.-3 Dr. V.K. Dubey, P.W.-4 Constable Saroj Kumar Scribe, P.W.-5 S.I. Parshuram Singh, Second I.O. P.W.-6 S.I. Suresh Singh witness of inquest report and secondary witness of S.I. Rameshwar, first I.O and C.W.-1 Constable Musafir Prasad.

8. Documentary evidence was produced as written report Ex. A-1 , inquest report Ex.A-2, autopsy report Ex.A-3, FIR Ex.A-4, G.D Ex. A-5, charge sheet Ex.A-6, photo nash Ex.A-7, Form No. 33 Ex.A-8, Form No.13 Ex.A-9, R.I. letter Ex.A-10, C.M.O. letter Ex.A-11, Memo of recovery of articles taken from the spot Ex.A-12 and site plan Ex.A-13.

9. The statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused persons denied the allegations and incriminating evidence against them and stated that due to family enmity they have falsely been implicated in this case, however, no defence evidence has been adduced by the accused persons.

10. P.W-1 namely Muneshwar Mahto, who is the sole witness of fact in his oral testimony has stated that he, his brothers Suraj Mehto and Rameshwar Mehto are engaged in the business of sale of biscuits and slice bread. Accused persons Umesh Mahto and Krishna Mahto are their relatives and cousins to each other. Both the parties had earlier village disputes and the accused persons were not ready to compromise. On 22.3.2002 when the informant along with his brother Suraj Mahto, was returning from Pipraich to Gorakhpur after routine business work, accused persons Umesh Mahto and Krishna Mahto coming from the side of Pipraich by motorcycle surrounded both of them near farm house of Pappu Jaiswal at 5.30 p.m. When the accused persons pulled desi pistol from their pockets, the informant and his brother ran away and when looked back, the accused persons opened fire upon his brother, who got injured and died. He and the passers-by witnessed the occurrence. A report in respect of the occurrence was written by Ajay Kumar Ojha, which was given in the police station and FIR was lodged. He has further stated that it was broad light at the time of occurrence and the accused persons killed his brothers due to enmity of the village. He has proved the written report Ex. A-1 and has also stated that the inquest report was prepared before him. Inquest Ex.A-2 has also been proved by this witness.

11. P.W.-2 Rameshwar, the real brother of the informant is also a witness of the inquest report who had identified his thumb impression made over the inquest report Ex.A-2 in his deposition. He has stated that his brother Muneshwar Mahto had informed him regarding the murder of his brother Suraj. He has further stated that at the time of occurrence he was at his room and preparing dinner.

12. P.W.-3 Dr. V.K. Dubey has prepared autopsy report of the deceased which he has proved as Ex.A-3 in his evidence. He has opined that the cause of death of the deceased was haemorrhage and shock due to anti mortem fire arm injuries.

13. P.W.-4 Head Moharrir, Saroj Kumar, the Scribe in his evidence has proved the FIR of the case as Ex.A-4 and has stated that on the basis of the written report of the informant Muneshwar Mahto he had prepared the Chick FIR which is on record before him. He has also proved the G.D. of the case as Ex.A-5 as secondary witness for Head Cons. Musafir Prasad. However, the aforesaid Head Cons. Musafir Prasad has subsequently been examined as C.W.-1 who has proved his hand writing and signature over the G.D. Ex. A-5, rapat no. 37 prepared on 22.03.2002 at 19 p.m.

14. P.W.-6 S.I. Suresh Singh, who is the witness of the inquest report has proved his hand writing and signature over the inquest report Ex.A-2 and has also narrated that the related documents i.e. photo nash Ex. A-7, form number 33 Ex.A-8, form number 13 Ex.A-9, R.I. letter Ex.A-10, C.M.O. letter Ex.A-11 were also prepared by him in his own hand writing and signature. This witness has also proved the fard recovery Ex. A-12 relating to the articles found on the body of the deceased and also the articles found on the spot. This witness is a secondary witness to S.I. Ram Singh, the first I.O. of the case and has proved the site plan Ex.A-13.

15. P.W.-5 S.I. Parshuram Singh is the second I.O. of the case, who has deposed before the Court that he started the investigation on 7.5.2002 and after recording the evidence of the eye-witnesses and witnesses of fard recovery and scribe and submitted charge sheet Ex.A-6 to the Court.

16. On the basis of the aforesaid evidence, the learned trial Court came to the conclusion that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing the guilt against the accused persons, on the basis of cogent, consistent and reliable evidence and the charges against the accused persons were proved beyond reasonable doubt and, accordingly, conviction order was passed.

17. Learned counsel for the appellants has assailed the impugned judgement on various grounds. It has been argued that the prosecution version rests upon the sole testimony of P.W.-1 Muneshwar Mahto, who is not a reliable witness. It is submitted that it is mentioned in the FIR that several independent persons came over the spot but none was examined by prosecution during trial. It has also been argued that the place of occurrence is not fixed which creates doubt in respect of truthfulness of the prosecution story. It has further been submitted that it is an admitted fact that the parties were on inimical terms since prior to the occurrence and the accused persons/ appellants have falsely been implicated due to enmity but the learned trial Court did not pay attention to this fact at all. It has also been argued that the prosecution story does not find corroboration from the medical evidence and the investigation of the case has been very faulty. The trial Court in an arbitrary manner without considering the evidence on record in proper way passed the conviction order, which is liable to be set aside by allowing the appeal.

18. Per-contra, learned A.G.A. has contended that the prosecution has succeeded to prove its case on the basis of cogent and reliable evidence, there is no force in any of the contentions raised by the appellants and the appeal as such is liable to be dismissed.

19. Heard Shri M.P. Yadav, for the original accused-appellant herein, Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

20. From perusal of the record it is evident that P.W.1 Muneshwar Mahto, brother of the deceased is the sole witness of fact examined by the prosecution. In charge sheet Ex. A-6 the names of some other witnesses as eye witness of the case have been mentioned. P.W.1 in his examination in chief has also stated that the other passers-by and the neighbours

21. Whether non-examination of other eye-witnesses by the prosecution vitiates the prosecution story, needs to be examined in light of the legal position. It is an established principle of law that to prove a given fact particular number of witness need not be examined. In Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act it has been provided that "No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact. Reference can be placed on the Hon'ble Apex Court decision in Raj Narain Singh Vs. State of U.P. 2010 AIR SCW 521 wherein it has been held that it is not necessary that all those persons who were present at spot must be examined. It is quality of evidence which is required to be taken note of by Courts.

nothing in the cross-examination of P.W.1 which goes to show any infirmity or material contradiction. In the autopsy report Ex.A-3 the doctor has found that the cause of death was haemorrhage and shock due to anti mortem injuries and two fire arm entry wounds coupled with the exit wounds were found on the body of the deceased. In the inquest report Ex.A2, the panchas have also opined that due to the gun shot injury the death of the deceased has been caused. During investigation, this theory was found reliable and cogent and decision of trial Court is based on these facts. P.W.1 has also deposed regarding the prior enmity between the parties.

23. Learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that P.W.1 in his cross-examination has stated that they were coming by cycles and the accused came from behind by motor cycle from the right direction but while driving the motor cycle they did not open fire upon them. He has also stated that the accused persons had opened only two fires and the injuries thereof were inflicted only upon his brother. Learned counsel has further submitted that the statement of P.W.1 creates a doubt regarding the truthfulness of the prosecution story. Had the accused persons any intention to kill the deceased, it was very easy for them to fire upon him when he was on bicycle and the accused persons were coming from behind.

24. We do not find any force in this contention of the learned counsel for the appellants.

25. The perusal of the statement of P.W.1 shows that the accused persons firstly surrounded the informant and his brother and when they tried to escape they opened fire and committed the murder of the deceased. It makes no difference if they did not open fire on them when they were on their bicycles. It was the choice of the accused persons as to what mode of attack they opted.

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kusti Mallaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh (2013) 12 Supreme Court Cases 680 has laid down as follows:

*"23. It has been held in catena of decisions of this Court that there is no legal hurdle in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness if his version is clear and reliable, for the principle is that the evidence has to be weighed and not counted. In Vadivelu Thevar v. The State of Madras AIR 1957 SC 614, it has been held that if the testimony of a singular witness is found by the court to be entirely reliable, there is no legal impediment in recording the conviction of the accused on such proof. In the said pronouncement it has been further ruled that the law of evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely, (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable, and (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. In the first two categories there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness. Similar view has been expressed in Lallu Manjhi and another v. State of Jharkhand (2003) 2 SCC 401, Prithipal Singh and others v. State of Punjab and another (2012) 1 SCC 10 and Jhapsa Kabari and others v. State of Bihar (2001) 10 SCC 94.

27. The same view has been reiterated in Amar Singh Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (2020) 19 Supreme Court Cases 165 wherein it has been held as follows:

....As a general rule the Court can and may act on the testimony of single eye witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of the Evidence Act, 1872. But if there are doubts about the testimony Courts will insist on corroboration. It is not the number, the quantity but quality that is material. The time honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. On this principle stands the edifice of Section 134 of the Evidence Act. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise (see Sunil Kumar V/s State (NCT of Delhi) (2003) 11 SCC 367).

28. On the analysis of evidence of P.W.1 we find that his evidence is cogent and trustworthy and further gets corroboration from the medical evidence.

29. The minor discrepancies found in his evidence are ignorable and he is a wholly reliable witness.

30. In Ashok Kumar Chaudhary. Vs. State of Bihar 2008 (61) ACC 972 (SC) it has been categorically held that if the testimony of an eyewitness is otherwise found trustworthy and reliable, the same cannot be disbelieved and rejected because certain insignificant, normal or natural contradictions have been appeared into his testimony. If the inconsistencies, contradictions, exaggerations, embellishments and discrepancies in the testimony are only normal and not material in nature, then the testimony of an eyewitness has to be accepted and acted upon. Distinctions between normal discrepancies and material discrepancies are that while normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's that the case, material discrepancies do so. The evidence of P.W.1 has also been assailed on the ground that he is the real brother of the deceased and as such he is an entrusted witness and his evidence cannot be accepted as a gospel truth.

31. Learned counsel for the appellants has contended that the prosecution case does not find support from the medical evidence and has submitted that there are material contradictions between the occular evidence and medical evidence. He has referred the deposition of P.W.1, who in his examination-in-chief has stated that when the informant and his brother were running away they were chased by both the accused persons who opened fire upon the deceased. It has been argued that in the autopsy report a fire arm entry wound has been found on right side chest which was 5 cm lateral to the right nipple. The second fire arm entry wound was found on medial side of right upper arm in middle. Both the entry wounds had corresponding exit wounds. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that if the informant and the deceased were running and they were being chased by the accused persons then how the one gun shot injury could be inflicted into the chest of the deceased instead of, on the back of the chest. In this respect my attention is drawn towards the statements of P.W.1 who in his examination-in-chief has stated that when he and his brother were being chased by the accused persons they looked back them and at the same time the fire was opened. In his cross-examination also he has clarified that when he and his brother were being chased by the accused persons they turned and looked back and at the same moment the fire was opened. That is why the fire was not inflicted upon the back of the deceased but since he was in a little bit turning position the fire inflicted upon his chest and also upon the right upper arm. The doctor P.W.3 in his deposition has proved the autopsy report. He has also stated that in the first entry wound blackening and charring was present, which means that it was a close fire. P.W.1 in his cross-examination has stated that fire was made from a distance 2-1/2 -3 feet, which inflicted upon his brother.

32. Keeping in view the principles of medical jurisprudence, it can be safely opined that broadly speaking rifles, pistol and revolvers, if fired within 3 feet may show blackening, tattooing, charring and wad of cartridge may be present in or around the wound.

33. P.W.3 in his cross-examination has stated that:

"मृतक के शरीर पर दो अलग-अलग फायर से चोटे आयी थी। पहली चोट सामने से शरीर के दाहिने तरफ से मारने से आयी होंगी। मृतका के शरीर पर आयी चोट नं० 3 कुछ दूर से गोली चलाने से आयी होंगी। चोट नं० 1 कम दूरी नजदीक से गोली चलाने से आयी होगी।"

34. Hence, from the above, it is clear that the prosecution case is fully corroborated with the medical evidence and evidence of P.W.1 is also consistent with the medical evidence.

35. It has been further contended by learned counsel for the appellants that the place of occurrence is doubtful which creates a genuine suspicion about truthfulness of the prosecution story.

36. The site plan Ex.A-13 is on record, which has been proved by P.W.6 S.I. Suresh Sharma as secondary witness for the first I.O. S.I. Raghuveer Singh. In the site plan Ex.A-13 the places where the accused persons were present and where they stopped their motor cycle, the direction towards which the deceased and the informant ran away, the place from where the fire was open, the field where the dead body was recovered, and the other existing fields, roads and village situated nearby have been clearly shown by the Investigating Officer. All the positions shown in the site plan get support from the evidence of P.W.-1.

37. P.W.6, who is the witness of inquest report has stated that he had found the dead body in the standing crops of wheat field and the same has been shown in the site plan Ex.A-13. The wheat field of Jitendra Jaiswal which is situated on spot has also been shown in Ex.A-13. It has been clearly stated in the statement of P.W.1 and also find place in the written report Ex.A-1 as to whom the occurrence happened and the I.O. has inspected the spot with the informant as P.W.1. In the FIR Ex.A-4 the place of occurrence has been mentioned as in the village Padri Bazar infront of farm of Jitendra Jaiswal and the I.O has also found the same. Thus the entire oral and documentary evidence in respect of the place of occurrence are in consonance with each other and the place of occurrence is fixed and proved without any doubt.

38. Learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that the motive assigned behind the crime has not been properly proved. It has also been argued that if there was an enmity between the parties the accused undoubtedly have been falsely implicated due to enmity. To meet out this plea, it is to be remembered that in the factual scenario of this case it is very much clear that the prosecution case rests upon direct evidence. P.W.1 is the witness of the occurrence who has clearly proved the occurrence and all the incriminating circumstances relating thereto.

39. The trial Court has discussed the various aspects of motive and enmity existing between the parties in the present case. Reliance has been placed upon Bikau Pandey Vs. State of Bihar (2003) 12 SCC 616 wherein it has been held that when the direct evidence establishes the crime, motive is of no significance and pales into insignificance.

40. In Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar (2001) 7 SCC 318 it has been held that enmity is a double edged weapon which can be a motive for the crime as also the ground for false implication of the accused persons.

41. There are catena of decisions on the point that in a case based upon the eye witness account, the motive loses its significance. In Deepak Verma Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (2011) 10 SCC 129 It has been held as under:

"...Proof of motive is not a sine qua non before a person can be held guilty of commission of crime. Motive being a matter of mind, is more often than not difficult to establish through evidence."

42. However, in this case a motive has been assigned in the FIR to the effect that the parties have been on enmical terms as they have some land and litigation disputes. Enmity between the parties is no doubt a double edged weapon. If on account of enmity the accused can be falsely implicated by the complainant party, at the same time due to that very enmity the accused may commit crime also against the complainant party.

43. P.W.1 in his examination-in-chief has admitted the factum of previous enmity between the parties. He has been cross examined at length, on this point wherein he has clarified that the parties belonged to one Khandan and they have some land disputes in respect of the ancestral property. Civil litigation had also been pending in respect of the aforesaid land and the parties had quarrel also in respect thereof much before the present incident.

44. In the discussion mentioned herein above, it has been found that the evidence of P.W.1 is cogent, trustworthy and innocent, hence, if there was any enmity between the parties prior to the present occurrence, it does not affect adversely the prosecution case which is otherwise proved by the reliable ocular evidence of P.W.1 and the theory of false implication fails as such.

45. On the basis of the above, I do not find any substance in the contention of the learned counsel for the appellants so far as the motive is concerned.

46. The genuineness of the FIR has also been hit by the learned counsel for the appellants. It has been argued that FIR has been lodged after 1-1/2 hours of the occurrence whereas the police station is only 5 km. away from the place of occurrence.

47. Per-contra, learned A.G.A. has contended that the FIR was prompt one and has been lodged only after 1-1/2 hours of the occurrence.

48. To examine this issue we have to consider certain other aspects also. Chick FIR Ex.A-4 and G.D. Ex.A5 have been proved by the scribe of the FIR. Perusal of Ex.A-4 shows that the FIR was lodged on 22.03.2002 at 19 p.m, the police station is situated at a distance of 5 km from the place of occurrence. P.W.1 in his cross-examination has stated that after the occurrence he remained at the place of occurrence for 45 minutes and then he dictated the report to Ajay Kumar Ojha who came over there. It can be easily understood that after the blind murder of his brother the informant-P.W.1- would have been in a state of shock and grief. He has further stated in his cross-examination that after dictating the tehrir he along with Ajay Ojha went to the police station by cycle and then FIR was lodged. No doubt it explains the whole story of time from the occurrence up to the lodging of the FIR. This fact cannot be ignored that the inquest report has been prepared on 23.03.2002 which bears the crime number of the case as 126 of 2002 under Section 302, 307 I.P.C. Hence it cannot be said from any corner that the FIR was lodged delayed or anti time or it was a result of deliberations and after thought. The trial Court has discussed this issue at length in the impugned order and has arrived at the right conclusion that the FIR was not delayed and it was a genuine document.

49. Learned counsel for the appellants has also pointed out some contradictions in the statement of P.W.1. so far as the contents of FIR and written report are concerned but from perusal of the whole testimony of P.W.1 it is evident that the so called contradictions are minor contradictions and are ignorable. It is also pertinent to mention here that the FIR is not an encyclopedia and there is no requirement of law that every minute detail should find place in the FIR. One should always remember the mental state of P.W.1 before whom the real brother was shot dead.

50. Another submission made by the learned counsel for the appellants is that investigation of this case is faulty and no murder weapon has been recovered from either of the accused persons.

51. So far as the recovery of the murder weapon is concerned, emphasis may be laid down upon Gopal Singh Vs. State of Uttrakhand (2013) 7 SCC 545 (para 12 & 13) wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court found that the "katta" and "knife" used in causing the injuries to the victim were not recovered by the Investigating Officer but the doctor's evidence was available to prove that the victim had sustained gun shot and knife injuries, it was held that non-recovery of the said weapon was not fatal to the prosecution case as the injuries sustained by the victim proved the nature of the weapon used.

52. No other material negligence on the part of the I.O. as been pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellants. From perusal of the evidence on record, particularly on the deposition of the I.O. of the case, no material negligence or omission on the part of the I.O. is found. Moreover, since the prosecution case is well established and proved by the ocular evidence of the sole eye-witness supported with the medical evidence, negligence or omission, if any, on the part of the I.O. does not adversely effect the prosecution version at all.

53. In Hema Vs. State (2013) 81 ACC 1 (Supreme Court) it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that any irregularity or deficiency in investigation by I.O. need not necessarily lead to rejection of the case on prosecution when it is otherwise proved. The only requirement is to use of extra caution. The defective investigation cannot be fatal to prosecution when ocular testimony is found credible and cogent. It may be reiterated at the cause of repetition that investigation in the present case does not suffer with any material irregularity in the investigation.

54. Learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that the P.W.1 Muneshwar Mahto, who is said to be the sole eye-witness of the occurrence is the real brother of the deceased and as such he is an interested witness. The prosecution was under obligation to produce any other independent witness of fact but it has not been done deliberately. It has been submitted that the evidence of an interested and relative witness cannot be relied upon particularly when the ocular version of only that witness is available on record.

55. In this context the Hon'ble Apex Court in BhagwanJagannathMarkad Vs. State of Maharastra (2016) 10 SCC 537 has held that the testimony of a witness in a criminal trial cannot be discarded merely because the witness is a relative or family member of the victim of the offence. In such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach in analyzing the evidence of such witness and if the testimony of the related witness is otherwise found credible, accused can be convicted on the basis of the testimony of such related witness.

56. Reliance has been placed on Surinder Kumar Vs. State of Punjab (2020) 2 SCC 563 by the learned A.G.A. wherein it has been reiterated that merely because prosecution did not examine any independent witness, would not necessarily lead to conclusion that accused was falsely implicated.

57. In the present case, no doubt the witness Muneshwar Mahto is the real brother of the deceased but on this ground his evidence cannot be discarded because from the discussion made above even after a careful scrutiny his evidence is found credible and trustworthy and his presence at the place of occurrence is quite natural .

58. From the aforesaid discussion, it is very much clear that cumulative effect of the statement of witnesses examined by the prosecution, overwhelmingly establishes commission of offence by the appellants and in the facts and circumstances of the case their guilt has been proved beyond reasonable doubt.

59. One more aspect to be taken into consideration is that both the accused appellants have been convicted through the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. Section 34 I.P.C. reads like this:

Section 34. "Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention.--When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone".

60. Now, what a "common intention' is, has been explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Deepak

Verma (supra) wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained it like this:

"12 "Common intention" implies pre-arranged plan and acting in concert pursuant to the pre-arranged plan. Under this Section a preconcert in the sense of distinct previous plan is not necessary to be proved. The common intention to bring about a particular result may well develop on the spot as between a number of persons, with reference to the facts of the case and circumstances of the situation. Though common intention may develop on the spot, it must, however, be anterior in point of time to the commission of offence showing a pre-arranged plan and prior concert (See Krishna Govind Patil Vs. State of Maharastra AIR 1963 SC 1413)

61. In Indrapal Singh v. State of U.P., (2022) 4 SCC 631 the Hon'ble Apex Court held as under:

".....16.Suresh [Suresh v. State of U.P., (2001) 3 SCC 673, is also a case under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. This Court relied upon the judgments of the Privy Council in Barendra Kumar Ghosh [Barendra Kumar Ghosh v. King Emperor, 1924 SCC OnLine PC 49 : (1924-25) 52 IA 40 : AIR 1925 PC 1] and Mahbub Shah v. King Emperor [Mahbub Shah v. King Emperor, 1945 SCC OnLine PC 5 : (1944-45) 72 IA 148 : AIR 1945 PC 118] and also a three-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Pandurang v. State of Hyderabad [Pandurang v. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1955 SC 216 : 1955 Cri LJ 572] in the said case. This Court opined that to attract the applicability of Section 34 IPC the prosecution is under an obligation to establish that there existed a common intention which requires a prearranged plan. That before a man can be vicariously convicted for the criminal act of another, the act must have been done in furtherance of the common intention of all. In the absence of a prearranged plan and thus a common intention, even if several persons simultaneously attack the man, each one of them would be individually liable for whatever injury he caused and none could be vicariously convicted for the act of any or the other. Thus, it is necessary either to have direct proof of prior concert or proof of circumstances which necessarily lead to that inference and incriminating facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation or any other reasonable hypothesis".

62. Since the learned counsel for the appellants has argued on this point that the act alleged was never done in furtherance of common intention of both the accused, we have given our anxious consideration to the arguments of the respective counsels and perused the material on record to satisfy ourselves whether the present case is one where the offence has been committed in furtherance of common intention of both the accused

63. It has been proved by the evidence on record that the accused appellants were waiting for the deceased and informant to reach the spot and when they reached there they chased them with country made pistols (tamancha) in their hands, both of them opened fire upon the deceased and he succumbed to injuries. On this aspect, the ocular version of P.W.1 has been held absolutely credible and reliable, hence there is left no room of doubt that the offence of murder was committed by both the accused appellants in furtherance of common intention of both. They have premeditated plan to kill the deceased and that is why they along with fire arms were present nearby the place of occurrence and when the deceased tried to escape they chased him and killed him by fire. Hence we find no force in contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that the crime alleged was not committed in furtherance of common intention of both the accused appellants.

64. The accused appellants have also been convicted under Section 307/34 I.P.C. It has been alleged that during commission of the same occurrence the accused appellants in furtherance of common intention of them opened fire upon the informant Muneshwar Mahto with their desi pistols with intention to kill him.

65. It this context it is noteworthy that the P.W.1 was not caused any injury at all. There is no injury report of P.W.1 Muneshwar Mahto, the informant on record. A perusal of the cross examination of P.W.1 shows that offence under Section 307/34 I.P.C. has not been proved against the accused appellants beyond doubt. P.W.1 in his cross examination has stated that when the accused persons stopped their motor cycle they did not open any fire. He and his brother fled away together side by side and his brother was running at a distance of 2-1/2--3 feet from him. He has further stated that the accused persons had fired only twice and both the fires inflicted upon his brother. After the second fire, the accused persons did not open any fire upon him. The aforesaid statements of P.W.1 make the conviction of the accused persons under 307/34 doubtful and not convincing. The learned counsel for the appellants has drawn our attention towards the aforesaid statements of P.W.1 and we find force in his argument and, accordingly, conclude that offence under Section 307/34 has not been proved against the accused appellants beyond reasonable doubt.

66. From the discussion made above and in the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, it is evident that the prosecution has proved each and every circumstance leading to the homicidal death of the deceased by cogent and trustworthy evidence. Both ocular and medical evidence corroborate each other. The murder was committed at a public place. The version of P.W.1 has been wholly reliable and his ocular version finds support from the medical evidence. He has deposed without any material contradiction about the whole occurrence right from the beginning till the death of the deceased who had succumbed to the injuries. The learned trial Court has examined each and every aspect of the matter and well appreciated the evidence on record, no infirmity, therefore, could be found in the judgment of the trial Court. We are of considered opinion that the prosecution has proved charge under Section 302/34 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt against both the accused appellants Umesh Mahto and Krishna Mahto but charge under Section 307/34 I.P.C. has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt against them.

67. Resultantly, appeal is partly allowed in the aforesaid terms. The conviction and sentence under Section 302/34 is hereby confirmed and the conviction and sentence under Section 307/34 I.P.C. is hereby set aside.

68. The appellants Umesh Mahto and Krishna Mahto are on bail, their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

69. The concerned Court is directed to take the appellants Umesh Mahto and Krishna Mahto into custody and send them to jail to serve out the remaining sentence.

70. The case of the convicts/ appellants be considered for remission by the State after completing therein incarceration period of 14 years as per the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court passed in Criminal Appeal No. 308/2022 (Saudan Singh Vs. State of U.P.) arising out of S.L.P. (Cr.) No. 4633 of 2021 and the judgement of this High Court passed in Vishnu Vs. State of U.P. being Criminal Appeal No. 204 of 2021.

71. Let the lower Court record be transmitted back along with the certified copy of this judgement for information and necessary compliance.

72. Certify this judgement to the Court below immediately for necessary action.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred against the judgment and award dated 26.05.2012 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Court No.9, Saharanpur (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal') in M.A.C.P. No. 210 of 2010 (Smt. Sunita Khera and Others Vs. Jabbar and another), by which the learned Tribunal has awarded a sum of Rs.12,01,985/- with 6% per annum simple rate of interest. Learned Tribunal also held contributory negligence to the tune of 50% of each of the drivers, involved in the accident.

2. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that a claim petition was filed by appellants-claimants on account of death of Ram Kumar Khera with the averments that on 10.05.2010, the deceased was going on motorcycle No. UP 11B 9754, driving himself, at a moderate speed from Saharanpur to his house Yamunanagar. At about 7:00 pm when he reached near Bajaj Agency from Sarsawa, a truck Tata 407 bearing No.11 T 1174 came from opposite direction. This truck was being driven rashly and negligently and at a high speed by its driver. The truck driver hit the motorcycle of the deceased after coming from the wrong side in order to overtake a three wheeler. In this accident, Ram Kumar Khera sustained serious injuries. He was admitted to District Hospital, Saharanpur, where he was declared dead by the doctor. The age of the deceased was 39-40 years and he was working in Punjab National Bank as Head Cashier.

3. Heard Shri Avinash Pandey, learned counsel for the appellants-claimants and Shri Aditya Singh Parihar, learned counsel for the Insurance Company-respondent. Perused the record.

4. Learned counsel for the appellants-claimants has submitted that learned Tribunal has held that drivers of truck and motorcycle were guilty of 50% contributory negligence. Learned counsel submitted that this finding of learned Tribunal cannot be sustained because there is no evidence on record with regard to the fact that the deceased was also co-author of the accident. Plea of the contributory negligence, taken by the insurance company, is not proved. It is further submitted that at the time of accident, the truck driver was driving at a high speed and in order to overtake a three wheeler, the truck came from wrong side and hit the motorcycle of the deceased. In this way, the truck driver was solely negligent but learned Tribunal erroneously held the deceased also negligent to the tune of 50% while there is no basis on which the learned Tribunal has fixed the percentage of the negligence.

5. Learned counsel for the appellants-claimants next submitted that learned Tribunal has not calculated the amount of compensation in a right way because the deceased was serving in Punjab National Bank as a Head Cashier and at the time of his death in an accident his income was nearly Rs.35,000/- per annum but learned Tribunal has assessed the income on lower side. Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that the income of the deceased is proved by witness PW6 but his testimony was wrongly disbelieved by the Tribunal. It is also submitted that learned Tribunal has not awarded any sum towards future loss of income and no reason for it is assigned in the impugned judgement. It is next submitted that non-pecuniary damages, awarded by the Tribunal, are on lower side and not in consonance with the settled law.

6. Per contra, learned counsel for the insurance company submitted that learned Tribunal has rightly held the deceased guilty of contributory negligence to the tune of 50% because it is proved on record that both the vehicles i.e. truck and motorcycle met with accident in the middle of road from opposite direction. In fact, it was head-on collision. Learned counsel vehemently argued that the truck driver is examined by insurance company as DW1 and the driver has deposed that at the time of accident, the deceased was coming from opposite direction and there were other bikers riding other bikes with him and all of them were involved in racing and the deceased lost balance of his motorcycle and dashed into the rear wheel of the truck. Learned counsel further submitted that in fact the accident had taken place due to sole negligence of the deceased. Learned counsel drew our attention towards site-plan also and submitted that site plan also goes to show that the accident had taken place in the middle of the road and not at the rear portion of the truck. It is submitted that learned Tribunal has not committed any error in holding the deceased also negligent.

7. With regard to the quantum of compensation, learned counsel for the insurance company submitted that PW6 was not rightly believed by learned Tribunal because he appeared before the Tribunal to prove the salary of the deceased but without original record and moreover the learned Tribunal has committed no mistake in relying upon the copy of the acknowledgment of the income tax return. Learned counsel for the insurance company very fairly admitted that no reason has been assigned by the learned Tribunal for not granting the future prospects but submitted that the Tribunal has applied multiplier of 15 which should have been of 14 as per the settled law in the case of Sarla Verma and Others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and Another, 2009 ACJ 1298.

8. This appeal has been preferred mainly on two grounds, one for challenging contributory negligence attributed to the deceased and second on the issue of quantum of compensation awarded.

9. The controversy as to whose negligence was there in commission of accident has to be decided. The term negligence has to be viewed from the perspective of the law laid down till date.

10. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

11. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

12. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.

20. These provisions (section 110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

(Emphasis added)

13. It is not disputed that the accident had taken place when, the vehicles involved were coming from opposite directions and colluded in middle of the road. Although the site-plan is relied on by the insurance company and Tribunal cannot be disputed so as to show the place of accident, which is middle of the road. The driver of the truck Adesh Tyagi has deposed as DW1. He has appeared before the learned Tribunal and deposed in his testimony he has opined that at the time of accident, the deceased was coming on motorcycle from opposite direction and some other boys were also riding vehicles along with the deceased and all these bikers were involved in racing activity. It is deposed by DW1 that in the process of the racing, the deceased lost his control and dashed his motorcycle in the rear wheel of the truck. Keeping in view the evidence on record, we are in agreement with the finding of learned Tribunal with regard to the negligence of the deceased and we do not disturb the finding that the driver of truck and deceased both were co-authors of the accident and were negligent to the tune of 50% each.

Compensation:-

14. The issue so as to grant of quantum of compensation, has to be re-evaluated. It is not disputed that at the time of death, the deceased was serving in bank as a Head Cashier meaning thereby he was a salaried person. Learned Tribunal has held that PW6 has not produced original record before the Tribunal to prove the salary of the deceased. Although the standard of proof in motor accident claim case is not as strict as in civil suit or criminal trials but to prove the income/salary of the deceased, official record must be brought before the learned Tribunal. In this case, learned Tribunal has mentioned in impugned judgement that PW6 did not produce the original record and admitted that he has not brought the original record. But learned Tribunal took the holistic view and relied on the copy of the acknowledgment of the income tax return of the deceased for the assessment year 2009-10. The income tax return is authentic documentary proof of the income. Learned Tribunal deducted the amount of income tax from the gross income and considered the annual income of the deceased at Rs.2,36,357/-, but learned Tribunal has relied on the acknowledgement of the income tax return which is not even signed and not disclosing the period. We find on record the best document to be relied on in connection with income of a salaried person, which is known as Form-16, which is issued by Punjab National Bank, Islam Nagar, where the deceased was an employee, which is paper No.79-C on record. The perusal of the aforesaid Form-16 shows that it pertains to the period from 01.04.2009 to 31.03.2010. This is the relevant period for assessment of income of the deceased because the death of the deceased had taken place on 10.05.2010. The aforesaid document shows gross income of salary at Rs.3,14,236/- and Rs.4880/- was deducted towards income tax. No other amount except income tax could be deducted in the light of the judgement of Apex Court in Vimal Kanwar and Others Vs. Kishore Dan and Others, 2013 (3) T.A.C. 6 (SC). Hence, the learned Tribunal has lost the sight and did not consider the Form-16 of the deceased, which is the mirror of his actual annual income, reflecting the tax component also. Hence, the annual income of the deceased at Rs.3,14,236 - Rs.4,880 = Rs.3,09,356/-.

15. Learned Tribunal has not awarded any sum for future prospects and no reason is assigned for non-granting the same. Learned counsel for the insurance company has vehemently submitted that at the time of accident the age of the deceased was above 40 years. The original educational certificate of the deceased is available on record in which his date of birth is mentioned as 21.01.1970. The accident had taken place on 10.05.2010 and, hence, at the time of accident, the age of the deceased was above 40 years and undoubtedly he was Head Cashier in Punjab National Bank. In the light of judgement of National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093, 30% would be added towards future loss of income. Learned Tribunal has rightly deducted 1/3 for personal expenses of the deceased with which we concur because he was survived by three dependents. Learned Tribunal has applied multiplier of 15 but as per judgement of Sarla Verma and others (supra) as the age of the deceased was within the bracket of 40-45 years, the multiplier of 14 will be applied. Apart from it, in the light of judgement of Pranay Sethi (supra) appellants would be entitled to get Rs.15,000/- for loss of estate and Rs.15,000/- for funeral expenses. The wife of the deceased would also be entitled to get Rs.40,000/- for loss of consortium. Hence appellants-claimants will be entitled to Rs.15000+15000+40000= Rs.70,000/- towards non-pecuniary heads with 10% increase for every three years. We fix lump-sum amount of Rs.1,00,000/- under non-pecuniary heads.

16. Hence, the total amount of compensation, payable to the appellant-claimants is computed herein below:-

(i) Annual income : Rs.3,09,356/-

(ii) Percentage towards future prospects : 30% namely Rs.92,806/-

(iii) Total income : Rs.4,02,162/-

(iv) Income after deduction of 1/3rd: Rs.4,02,162 - Rs.1,34,054= Rs.2,68,108/-

(v) Multiplier applicable : 14

(vi) Loss of dependency: Rs.2,68,108/- X 14 = Rs.37,53,512/-

(vii) Amount under non pecuniary head : Rs.1,00,000/-

(viii) Total compensation: Rs.37,53,512/- + 1,00,000/- = Rs. Rs.38,53,512/-

(ix)Amount after 50% deduction towards contributory negligence : Rs. 38,53,5012/- - 19,26,756 = Rs.19,27,000 /- (round off)

17. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

18. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 6% per annum but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

19. We deem it fit to rely on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma and others Vs. R. Venugopal, 2012 (3) SCC 378 wherein the Apex Court has considered the judgment rendered in General Manager, Kerala State Road Transport Corporation, Trivandrum Vs. Susamma Thomas and others, AIR 1994 SC 1631 for disbursement.

20. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma (supra), the order of investment is not passed because claimants are neither illiterate nor rustic villagers.

21. Recently the Gujarat High Court in case titled the Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Chief Commissioner of Income Tax (TDS), R/Special Civil Application No.4800 of 2021 decided on 05.04.2022, it is held that interest awarded by the tribunal or appellate court under Section 171 of Motor Vehicles Act is not taxable under the Income Tax Act, 1961.

22. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. v. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As 12 years have elapsed since occurrence of accident, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank. The amount shall be credited in the said account with without investment as the case may be.

23. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the learned Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

24. Record be transmitted to Tribunal.

A. Tax Law – Reassessment - Income Tax Act, 1961 - Sections 147, 148, 151 & 282A - Information Technology Act, 2000 - Sections 2(d), 2(p) & 2(t) - General Clauses Act, 1897 - Section 3(56).

Assumption of jurisdiction – Unsigned Approval - Sub-section (1) of S.282A contains the following necessary conditions:

(i) such notice or other document shall be signed by that Authority and
(ii) issued in paper form or communicated in electronic form by that authority
(iii) in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed. (Para 16)

Words and Phrases – (a) 'and' - The word "and" should normally be given its ordinary meaning and should be understood in conjunctive sense. The first and foremost condition u/s 282A(1) is that notice or other document to be issued by any income-tax authority shall be signed by that authority. The word "and" has been used in sub-section (1), in conjunctive sense meaning thereby that such notice or other document has first to be signed by the authority and thereafter it may be issued either in paper form or may be communicated in electronic form by that authority. In the present set of facts, it is the admitted case of the respondents that the PCIT has not recorded satisfaction under his signature prior to the issuance of notice by the Assessing Officer u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. (Para 18, 19, 27)

(b) 'Signed' - General Clauses Act, 1897: Section 3(56) - 'sign', with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions, shall, with reference to a person who is unable to write his name, include 'mark', with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions. As per Webster's New World Dictionary, the word "sign" means "to write one's name on, as in acknowledging authorship, authorising action etc." (Para 20, 21)

(c) 'shall be signed' - The expression "shall be signed" used in S.282A(1) of the Act, 1961 makes the signing of the notice or other document by that authority a mandatory requirement. It is not a ministerial act or an empty formality which can be dispensed with. (Para 23)

"Signed" means to sign one's name; to signify assent or adhesion to by signing one's name; to attest by signing or when a person is unable to write his name then affixation of "mark" by such person: The document must be signed or mark must be affixed in such a way as to make it appear that the person signing it or affixing his mark is the author of it. Therefore, a notice or other document as referred in S.282A(1) of the Act, 1961 will take legal effect only after it is signed by that income-tax authority, whether physically or digitally. The usage of the word "shall" make it a mandatory requirement. (Para 22, 23, 25, 28)

B. Validity of recording satisfaction u/s 151 by the Commissioner for the purposes of issuance of notice u/s 148 of the Act, 1961 – An Assessing Officer may issue jurisdictional notice u/s 148 only after the prescribed authority u/s 151 of the Act records his satisfaction that it is fit case for issue of notice u/s 148 - S.151 of the Act, 1961 specifically provides recording of satisfaction by the prescribed authority, on the reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer that it is a fit case for the issue of notice u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. Unless the prescribed authority u/s 151 of the Act, 1961 records his satisfaction on application of mind and under his signature, there cannot be a valid satisfaction empowering the Assessing Officer to assume jurisdiction to issue notice u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. (Para 28)

In the present case, there was no valid satisfaction recorded by the by the prescribed authority u/s 151 of the Act, 1961 when the Assessing Officer issued notice to the assessees u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. Subsequent to issuance of the notice u/s 148 of the Act 1961 by the Assessing Officer, the satisfaction u/s 151 was digitally signed by the prescribed authority. Therefore, the point of time when the Assessing Officer issued notices u/s 148, he had no jurisdiction to issue the impugned notices u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. (Para 29)

There was no valid satisfaction u/s 151, therefore, the question whether Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner of Income-tax for the purposes of recording of satisfaction u/s 151 is a designated income-tax authority u/s 282A of the Act, 1961, is left open. Writ Tax No. 554 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 370 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 427 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 475 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 487 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 555 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 642 of 2022 and Writ Tax No. 710 of 2022 are hereby allowed. The impugned notices u/s 148 of the Act, 1961 and the reassessment orders, if any, passed by the Assessing Officer and all consequential proceedings are hereby quashed. The concerned income-tax authority shall be at liberty to initiate proceedings, if still permissible, strictly in accordance with law and on due observance of the relevant provisions of the Act, 1961 and the Rules framed thereunder. Writ Tax No. 694 of 2022 is dismissed inasmuch as recording of satisfaction by the PCIT and issuance of notice u/s 148 by the Assessing Officer are simultaneous. Liberty is granted to the petitioner to file appeal to challenge the reassessment order. (Para 30 to 32) (E-4)

Facts:-

5. In this batch of writ petitions, the admitted facts are that on the basis of unsigned alleged digital approval under Section 151, Assessing officer issued notices to the assessees under Section 148 of the Act, 1961. The point of time when the aforesaid approval under Section 151 of the Act, 1961 was signed, is subsequent to the issuance of notices by the Assessing Officer under Section 148 of the Act, 1961.

6. Facts of Writ Tax No.554 of 2022 are that as per approval under Section 151 of the Act, 1961 for the Assessment Year 2013-14 filed as Annexure-4 to the writ petition, the Principal Commissioner of Income Tax (for short "PCIT') granted approval on 31.03.2021 at 07:05 P.M., i.e. 19:05 hours by digitally signing the approval. Jurisdictional notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 was digitally signed by the respondent No.3/ Assessing officer on 31.03.2021 at 05:43 P.M., i.e. 17:43 hours, which is prior to the grant of digitally signed approval by the PCIT under Section 151 of the Act, 1961. As per Section 151 of the Act, 1961, as stood at the relevant time no notice shall be issued by the Assessing Officer after expiry of four years from the end of the Assessment Year unless the Principal Chief Commissioner/ PCIT is satisfied on the reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer that it is a fit case for issuing such notice.

7. In Writ Tax No. 370 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2015-16 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 6.33 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 7.15 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No. 427 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2014-15 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 3.32 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 4.02 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No. 475 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2014-15 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 3.34 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 4.02 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No. 487 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2015-16 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 3.38 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 4.02 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No. 555 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2013-14 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 6.32 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 7.00 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No.

642 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2013-14 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 6.25 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 7.07 p.m. on the same day. In Writ Tax No. 710 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2013-14 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 2.40 p.m. whereas the satisfaction under section 151 was recorded by the PCIT subsequently at 3.52 p.m. on the same day.

8. In Writ Tax No. 694 of 2022 the impugned notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 relating to the assessment year 2013-14 was issued on 31.3.2021 at 4.01 P.M. by Assessing Officer and satisfaction was recorded by the PCIT at 4.01 p.m. Thus the recording of satisfaction under section 151 and issuance of notice under section 148 are simultaneous.

Submissions on behalf of the Petitioners:-

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the impugned notices under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 are wholly without jurisdiction, inasmuch as, it was issued without prior satisfaction/approval of the competent authority under Section 151 of the Act, 1961. Since at the point of time when notices under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 were issued, there was no valid satisfaction/ approval of the competent authority, therefore, the Assessing Officer could not assume jurisdiction to issue notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961. Hence, the notices under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 are without jurisdiction and thus invalid. Consequently, the subsequent proceedings including reassessment orders are also without jurisdiction. Section 282A of the Act, 1961 has no relevance with respect to the recording of satisfaction or prior permission by the PCIT under Section 151 of the Act, 1961.

Submissions on behalf of the respondents:-

10. Learned Additional Solicitor General of India has submitted that the unsigned satisfaction of the PCIT stands validated in view of Section 282A of the Act, 1961 inasmuch as the digital or physical unsigned satisfaction recorded by the PCIT shall be deemed to be authenticated under Section 282A of the Act, 1961 read with Rule 127A of the Income Tax Rules, 1962 and Sections 2(d), 2(p) and 2(t) of the Information Technology Act, 2000 inasmuch as satisfaction bears the name and office of a designated income tax authority, i.e. PCIT. He submits that the moment the PCIT has pushed in "Generate Tap in ITBA System" his satisfaction under Section 151 of the Act, 1961, would be deemed to be an authenticated document in terms of Section 282A and thus is a valid satisfaction under Section 151 of the Act, 1961. The digital signature affixed by the PCIT on his aforesaid satisfaction under Section 151 of the Act, 1961, subsequent to issuance of the notice by the Assessing Officer under Section 148, would not invalidate the notices under Section 148 of the Act, 1961. He referred to paragraphs 17, 18 and 19 of the supplementary counter affidavit dated 02.05.2022 sworn by Nisha Gupta, Income Tax officer, Ward-5(2)(5), NOIDA, which read as under:

"17. That a perusal of the aforesaid provisions demonstrates that if a notice or other document is issued served or given for the purpose of the Act by any income tax authority, the same shall be deemed to be authenticated, if the name and office of a designated income tax authority is printed, stamp or otherwise written thereon.

18. That the aforesaid provisions of law clearly demonstrates that the approval issued by the PCIT in electronic form, without affixing digital signature is also deemed to be authenticated and therefore affixation of digital signature is not a precondition for validation of the document.

19. That it is respectfully submitted that in view of the above, the approval granted by PCIT is valid approval even if the digital signature was affixed later in point of time."

Discussion and Findings:-

11. We have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the records of the writ petitions. Before we proceed to examine the rival contentions of learned counsels for the parties, it would be appropriate to reproduce below the relevant provisions of the Act, 1961, the Income Tax Rules, 1962 and Information and Technology Act, 2000:-

B. Income Tax Rules, 1962:-

Authentication of notices and other documents.

Rule 127A*. (1) Every notice or other document communicated in electronic form by an income-tax authority under the Act shall be deemed to be authenticated,-*

(a) in case of electronic mail or electronic mail message (hereinafter referred to as the e-mail), if the name and office of such income-tax authority-

(i) is printed on the e-mail body, if the notice or other document is in the e-mail body itself; or

(ii) is printed on the attachment to the e-mail, if the notice or other document is in the attachment, and the e-mail is issued from the designated e-mail address of such income-tax authority;

(b) in case of an electronic record, if the name and office of the income-tax authority-

(ii) is printed on the attachment in the electronic record, if the notice or other document is in the attachment, and such electronic record is displayed on the designated website.

(2) The Principal Director General of Income-tax (Systems) or the Director General of Income-tax (Systems) shall specify the designated e-mail address of the income-tax authority, the designated website and the procedure, formats and standards for ensuring authenticity of the communication.

Explanation. - For the purposes of this rule, the expressions-

(i) "electronic mail" and "electronic mail message" shall have the same meanings respectively assigned to them in Explanation to section 66A of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000);

(ii) "electronic record" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000).

Section 2(p) —digital signature means authentication of any electronic record by a subscriber by means of an electronic method or procedure in accordance with the provisions of section 3;

Section 2(t) —electronic record means data, record or data generated, image or sound stored, received or sent in an electronic form or micro film or computer generated micro fiche;*

Explanation to Section 66-A-- For the purposes of this section, terms "electronic mail" and "electronic mail message" means a message or information created or transmitted or received on a computer, computer system, computer resource or communication device including attachments in text, image, audio, video and any other electronic record, which may be transmitted with the message."*

12. Annexure-4 to the writ petition is the alleged approval, under section 151 of the Act, 1961 for the Assessment Year 2013-14 which was granted by the PCIT on 31.03.2021 at 7:05 P.M. i.e. 19:05 hours by digitally signing the approval. Notice under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 was digitally signed by the respondent no.3 on 31.03.2021 at 5:43 P.M. i.e. 17:43 hours, which is prior to the satisfaction recorded by the PCIT. Section 151 of the Act, 1961 as stood at the relevant time provides that no notice shall be issued under section 148 of the Act by Assessing Officer after expiry of period of 4 years from the end of assessment year unless Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner is satisfied, on the reason recorded by the assessing officer that it is a fit case for issuing such notice.

13. Thus, as per provision of Section 151 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, an assessing officer gets jurisdiction to issue notice to an assessee under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 after Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner of Income Tax is satisfied on the reason recorded by the assessing officer that it is a fit case for issuing such notice. The date and time of the approval granted digitally under Section 151 of the Act and the date and time of the notice under section 148 of the Act, shows that the satisfaction was recorded by the PCIT digitally after the notice under section 148 was digitally signed and issued by the Assessing Officer.

14. Thus, the following questions arise for consideration:-

(a) Whether an unsigned content in an electronic record said to be pushed through electronic mode at a particular point of time, can be said to be a valid satisfaction of the PCIT under Section 151 for assumption of jurisdiction by the Assessing Officer to issue jurisdictional notice to an assessee under Section 148 of the Act, 1961?

(b) Whether impugned notices under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 issued by the Assessing Officer without satisfaction signed by the PCIT under Section 151 of the Act, 1961, is a valid notice?

15. The whole case set up by the respondents is that "unsigned approval" issued in electronic form to the Assessing Officer is a valid approval as it is an authenticated document within the meaning of Section 282A of the Act, 1961. Therefore, we proceed to examine correctness of the stand taken by the respondents in their oral submissions as also made in paragraphs 17, 18 and 19 of supplementary counter affidavit dated 02.05.2022.

16. Sub-section (1) of Section 282A contains the following necessary conditions:

(i) such notice or other document shall be signed by that Authority and

(ii) issued in paper form or communicated in electronic form by that authority

(iii) in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed.

17. The procedure for communication in electronic form has been prescribed under Rule 127A of the Rules 1962.

18. The first and foremost condition under Section (1) of Section 282A is that notice or other document to be issued by any Income Tax Authority shall be signed by that authority. The word "and" has been used in sub-Section (1), in conjunctive sense meaning thereby that such notice or other document has first to be signed by the authority and thereafter it may be issued either in paper form or may be communicated in electronic form by that authority. In the present set of facts, it is the admitted case of the respondents that the PCIT has not recorded satisfaction under his signature prior to the issuance of notice by the Assessing Officer under Section 148 of the Act, 1961.

19. In the case of Maharaja Sir Pateshwari Prasad Singh vs. State of U.P. (1963) 50 ITR 731, three judges bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the word "and" should normally be given its ordinary meaning and should be understood in conjunctive sense. Thus, as per provisions of sub-Section (1) of Section 282A, the notice or other document shall be signed and thereafter it shall be issued in paper form or may be communicated in electronic form then the document or notice so issued or communicated, shall be deemed to be an authenticated notice or document in terms of Rule 127A of the Rules, 1962.

Signed - Meaning:-

20. The word "signed" has not been defined under the Act, 1961, which is a central Act. However, it has been defined in Section 3(56) of the General Clauses Act, 1897, as under:

"3(56) "sign", with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions, shall, with reference to a person who is unable to write his name, include "mark", with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions;"

21. As per Webster's New World Dictionary, the word "sign' means "to write one's name on, as in acknowledging authorship, authorising action etc.' In Rattan Anmol Singh vs. Ch. Atma Ram, 1955 (1) SCR 481 : AIR 1954 SC 510 (para-6), Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the meaning of the word "sign' and held as under:

"6. The Oxford English Dictionary sets out thirteen shades of meaning to the word "subscribe", most of them either obsolete or now rarely used. The only two which can have any real relation to the present matter are the following:

1. "To write (one's name or mark) on, originally at the bottom of a document, especially as a witness or contesting party; to sign one's name to."

This meaning is described as "rare."

*2. "To sign one's name to; to signify assent or adhesion to by signing one's name; to attest by signing."

This appears to be its modern meaning, and is also one of the meanings given to the word "sign", namely "to attest or confirm by adding one's signature; to affix one's name to (a document) etc."

22. In Hindustan Construction Co. Ltd. vs. Union of India, 1967 (1) SCR 543 : AIR 1967 SC 526 (Para-7), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"7. This brings us to the meaning of the word "sign" as used in the expression "signed copy". In Webster's New World Dictionary, the word "sign" means "to write one's name on, as in acknowledging authorship, authorising action etc." To write one's name is signature. Section 3(56) of the General Clauses Act, No. 10 of 1897, has not defined the word "sign" but has extended its meaning with reference to a person who is unable to write his name to include "mark" with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions. This provision indicates that signing means writing one's name on some document or paper. In Mohesh Lal v. Busunt Kumaree, (1881) ILR 6 Cal 340, a question arose as to what "signature" meant in connection with S.20 of the Limitation Act, No. IX of 1871. It was observed that "where a party to a contract signs his name in any part of it in such a way as to acknowledge that he is the party contracting, that is a sufficient signature". It was further observed that the document must be signed in such a way as to make it appear that the person signing it is the author of it, and if that appears it does not matter what the form of the instrument is, or in what part of it the signature occurs. "

23. In Dakshin Haryana Bijli Vitran Nigam Ltd. vs. Navigant Technologies (P.) Ltd. (2021) 7 SCC 657 (paras 25 and 26), Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that the words ''shall be signed', makes signing mandatory for authentication and held as under:

"Legal requirement of signing the award

25. The legal requirement of signing the arbitral award by a sole arbitrator, or the members of a tribunal is found in Section 31 of the 1996 Act, which provides the form and content of an arbitral award. Section 31 provides that :

"31. Form and contents of arbitral award.- (1) An arbitral award shall be made in writing and shall be signed by the members of the arbitral tribunal. (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), in arbitral proceedings with more than one arbitrator, the signatures of the majority of all the members of the arbitral tribunal shall be sufficient so long as the reason for any omitted signature is stated.

(4) The arbitral award shall state its date and the place of arbitration as determined in accordance with section 20 and the award shall be deemed to have been made at that place.

(5) After the arbitral award is made, a signed copy shall be delivered to each party."

26. Section 31 (1) is couched in mandatory terms, and provides that an arbitral award shall be made in writing and signed by all the members of the arbitral tribunal. If the arbitral tribunal comprises of more than one arbitrator, the award is made when the arbitrators acting together finally express their decision in writing, and is authenticated by their signatures. An award takes legal effect only after it is signed by the arbitrators, which gives it authentication. There can be no finality of the award, except after it is signed, since signing of the award gives legal effect and validity to it. The making and delivery of the award are different stages of an arbitration proceeding. An award is made when it is authenticated by the person who makes it. The statute makes it obligatory for each of the members of the tribunal to sign the award, to make it a valid award. The usage of the term "shall" makes it a mandatory requirement. It is not merely a ministerial act, or an empty formality which can be dispensed with."

24. In the case of Commissioner of Agricultural Income Tax vs. Keshab Chandra Mandal, 1950 SCR 435 : AIR 1950 SC 265 : (1950) 18 ITR 569 (para-17, 19 and 26), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"17. Then after stating that the Courts ought not to restrict the common law rule qui facit per alium facit per se, unless the statute makes a personal signature indispensable, and referring to certain decided cases, enunciated the proposition that when the word "sign" or "signature" is used by itself and unless there be a clear indication requiring the personal signature by the hand of the person concerned, the provision would be satisfied by a person signing by the hand of an agent. Applying this test the High Court came to the conclusion that there was not only not anything in the Act or the rules requiring the personal signature of the individual assessee but that insistence on such a requirement would create an anomaly, in that while an assessee who is an individual will have to sign personally, the persons authorised to sign for the other categories of assessees, namely, a Hindu undivided family, a company, the Ruler of an Indian State, a firm or any other association will not be compellable to sign personally. The High Court took the view that to avoid such a patent anomaly which would inevitably result if the interpretation proposed by the department were to be accepted, the Court should follow the common law rule mentioned above. In the result, the High Court answered the point of law referred to them in the affirmative.

19. There is no doubt that the true rule as laid down in judicial decisions and indeed, as recognised by the High Court in the case before us, is that unless a particular statute expressly or by necessary implication or intendment excludes the common law rule, the latter must prevail. It is, therefore, necessary in this case to examine the Act and the rules to ascertain whether there is any indication therein that the intention of the legislature is to exclude the common law rule.

26. Turning now to the judicial decisions cited before us it will be found that Courts have insisted on personal signature even when there were not so many clear indications in the statutes under consideration in those cases as there are in the statute and the rules before us. Thus in Monks v. Jackson (1876) 1 C.P.C. 683 : (46 L.J.C.P. 162), which was a case under s.1(3), Municipal Elections Act (38 and 39 Vic. c. 40) which required delivery of the nomination paper" by the candidate himself or his proposer or seconder to the Town Clerk" it was held that this requirement was not satisfied by the delivery it by an agent. In The Queen v. Mansel Jones, (1889) 23 Q B.D. 29 : (60 L.T. 860) it was held that a person charged with any corrupt or illegal practice at a municipal election who was entitled, under s.38, Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, to be "heard by himself" was not entitled to be heard by his counsel or solicitor. In re-Prince Blucher, (1931) 2 Ch. 70 : (100 L.J.Ch. 292) the English Court of Appeal held that a proposal of composition signed by the solicitors of a debtor, who was, by reason of his serious illness, unable to sign it, did not comply with the requirements of s.16(1) of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914, which required "a proposal in writing signed by him." The Court of Appeal applied the principles of the decision in Hyde v. Johnson, (1836) 2 Bing. (N.C.) 776 : (5 L.J.C P.291) and in In re Whitley Partners Ltd., (1886) 32 Ch.B. 337 : (55 L.J.Ch. 540). In Luchman Bukshi Roy v. Runjeet Ram Panday, 20 W.R-375 : (13) Beng. L. R. 197), a Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court held that an acknowledgment by a Mooktear was not sufficient for the purposes of s.1 (5), Limitation Act (XIV [14] of 1859) which required an acknowledgment signed by the mortgagee. Rankin C.J. held in Japan Cotton Trading Co. Ltd. v. Jajodia Cotton Mills, Ltd., 54 Cal. 345 : (A.I.R. (14) 1927 Cal. 625) that a demand letter signed by the solicitors of the petitioning creditor was not a notice under section 163, of the Indian Companies Act which as it then stood required a demand "under his hand." A similar view was taken by the Rangoon High Court in Manjeebhai Khataw & Co. v. Jamal Brothers & Co. Ltd., 5 Rang. 483 : (A.I.R. (14) 1927 Rang. 306) and M.A. Kureshi v. Argus Footwear, Ltd., 9 Rang. 323 : (A.I.R. (18) 1931 Rang. 306. See also Wilson v. Wallani , (1880) 5 Ex D.155 : (49 L.J.Ex. 437). In Nachiappa Chettyar v. Secy. of State, 11 Rang. 380 : (A.I.R. (20) 1933 Rang. 229), it was held that the registration of a firm on an application signed by the agent of the partners was ultra vires inasmuch as the rules framed under s.59, Income-tax Act, required an application signed by at least one of the partners. In Commr. of Income-tax, Madras v. Subba Rao, I.L.R. (1947) Mad. 167 : (A.I.R. (33) 1946 Mad. 411) it was held that by reason of the word "personally" occurring in R.6, Income-tax Rules framed under s.59, Income-tax Act, 1922, a duly authorised agent of a partner was precluded from signing on behalf of the partner an application under s.26-A of the Act for registration of the firm. In all these cases the common law rule was not applied, evidently because the particular statutes were held to indicate that the intention was to exclude that rule. This intention was gathered from the use of the word "himself" or "by him" or "under his hand" or "personally." It is needless to say that such an intention may also be gathered from the nature of the particular statute or inferred from the different provisions of the statute and the rules framed thereunder. As already stated, there are many indications in the Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1944, and the rules made thereunder evidencing an intention to exclude the common law rule in the matter of the signature of the assessee, appellant or applicant on the return, appeal or application."

25. Thus the expression "shall be signed" used in Section 282A(1) of the Act 1961 makes the signing of the notice or other document by that authority a mandatory requirement. It is not a ministerial act or an empty formality which can be dispensed with. "Signed" means to sign one's name; to signify assent or adhesion to by signing one's name; to attest by signing or when a person is unable to write his name then affixation of "mark" by such person. The document must be signed or mark must be affixed in such a way as to make it appear that the person signing it or affixing his mark is the author of it. Therefore, a notice or other document as referred in Section 282A (1) of the Act, 1961 will take legal effect only after it is signed by that Income Tax Authority, whether physically or digitally. The usage of the word "shall" make it a mandatory requirement.

26. In the case of Chhugamal Rajpal vs. S.P. Chaliha and others, (1971) 1 SCC 453 (para-5) : AIR 1971 SC 730 : (1971) ITR 603, Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the validity of recording satisfaction under Section 151 by the Commissioner for the purposes of issuance of notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 and held as under:

"5. In his report the Income-tax Officer does not set out any reason for coming to the conclusion that this is a fit case to issue notice under Section 148. The material that he had before him for issuing notice under Section 148 is not mentioned in the report. In his report he vaguely refers to certain communications received by him from the C.I.T., Bihar and Orissa. He does not mention the facts contained in those communications. All that he says is that from those communications "it appears that these persons (alleged creditors) are name lenders and the transactions are bogus". He has not even come to a prima facie conclusion that the transactions to which he referred are not genuine transactions. He appears to have had only a vague feeling that they may be bogus transactions. Such a conclusion 'does not fulfil the requirements of Section 151(2). What that provision requires is that he must give reasons for issuing a notice under Section 148. In other words he must have some prima facie grounds before him for taking action under Section 148. Further his report mentions : "Hence proper investigation regarding these loans is necessary. In other words his conclusion is that there is a case for investigating as to the truth of the alleged transactions. That is not the same thing as saying that there are reasons to issue notice under Section 148. Before issuing a notice under Section 148, the Income-tax Officer must have either reasons to believe that by reason of the omission or failure on the part of the assessee to make a return under Section 139 for any assessment year to the Income-tax Officer or to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment for that year, income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for that year or alternatively notwithstanding that there has been no omission or failure as mentioned above on the part of the assessee, the Income-tax Officer has in consequence of information in his possession reason to believe that income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year. Unless the requirements of clause (a) or (b) of Section 147 are satisfied, the Income-tax Officer has no jurisdiction to issue a notice under Section 148. From the report submitted by the Income-tax Officer to the Commissioner, it is clear that he could not have had reasons to believe that by reason of the assessee's omission to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment for the accounting year in question, income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for that year; nor could it be said that he as a consequence of information in his possession, had reasons to believe that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for that year. We are not satisfied that the Income-tax Officer had any material before him which could satisfy the requirements of either clause (a) or (b) of Section 147. Therefore he could not have issued a notice under Section 148. Further the report submitted by him under Section 151(2) does not mention any reason for coming to the conclusion that it is a fit case for the issue of a notice under Section 148. We are also of the opinion that the Commissioner has mechanically accorded permission. He did not himself record that he was satisfied that this was a fit case for the issue of a notice under Section 148. To Question No. 8 in the report which reads "Whether the Commissioner is satisfied that it is a fit case for the issue of notice under section 148", he just noted the word "yes" and affixed his signatures thereunder. We are of the opinion that if only he had read the report carefully, he could never have come to the conclusion on the material before him that this is a fit case to issue notice under Section 148. The important safeguards provided in sections 147 and 151 were lightly treated by the Income-tax Officer as well as by the Commissioner. Both of them, appear to have taken the duty imposed on them under those provisions as of little importance. They have substituted the form for the substance."

Question No. (a) and (b)

27. The first and foremost condition under sub-Section (1) of Section 282A is that notice or other document to be issued by any Income Tax Authority shall be signed by that authority. The word "and" has been used in sub-Section (1), in conjunctive sense, meaning thereby that such notice or other document has first to be signed by the authority and thereafter it may be issued either in paper form or may be communicated in electronic form by that authority. In the present set of facts, it is the admitted case of the respondents that the PCIT has not recorded satisfaction under his signature prior to the issuance of notice by the Assessing Officer under Section 148 of the Act, 1961.

28. Section 282A (1) of the Act, 1961 specifically provides that a notice or other documents issued by any Income Tax Authority shall be signed by that authority in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed. Section 151 of the Act, 1961 specifically provides recording of satisfaction by the Prescribed Authority, on the reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer that it is a fit case for the issue of notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961. Unless such satisfaction is recorded, the Assessing Officer could not get jurisdiction to issue notice under section 148. A satisfaction, to be a valid satisfaction under section 151 of the Act, 1961, has to be recorded by the Prescribed Authority under his signature on application mind and not mechanically, as also held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chhugamal Rajpal (supra). Unless the Prescribed Authority under section 151 of the Act, 1961 records his satisfaction on application of mind and under his signature, there cannot be a valid satisfaction empowering the Assessing Officer to assume jurisdiction to issue notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961. In other words, an Assessing Officer may issue jurisdictional notice under Section 148 only after the Prescribed Authority under section 151 of the Act records his satisfaction that it is fit case for issue of notice under section 148.

29. In the present set of facts there was no valid satisfaction recorded by the by the Prescribed Authority under section 151 of the Act, 1961 when the Assessing Officer issued notice to the assessees under section 148 of the Act, 1961. At the time when the notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961was issued by the Assessing Officer to the petitioner there was no valid satisfaction recorded by the Prescribed Authority i.e. the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner. Subsequent to issuance of the notice under section 148 of the Act, 1961 by the Assessing Officer, the satisfaction under section 151 was digitally signed by the Prescribed Authority. Therefore, the point of time when the Assessing Officer issued notices under section 148, he was having no jurisdiction to issue the impugned notices under section 148 of the Act, 1961. Consequently the impugned notices issued by the Assessing Officer under section 148 of the Act, 1961 were without jurisdiction. The questions no. (a) and (b) are answered accordingly.

30. Since we have come to the conclusion that there was no valid satisfaction under section 151, therefore, the question whether Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner of Income Tax for the purposes of

31. For all the reasons aforestated, the above noted writ petitions, namely, Writ Tax No. 554 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 370 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 427 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 475 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 487 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 555 of 2022, Writ Tax No. 642 of 2022 and Writ Tax No. 710 of 2022 are hereby allowed. The impugned notices under section 148 of the Act, 1961 and the reassessment orders, if any, passed by the Assessing Officer and all consequential proceedings are hereby quashed. Concerned Income Tax Authority shall be at liberty to initiate proceedings, if still permissible, strictly in accordance with law and on due observance of the relevant provisions of the Act, 1961 and the Rules framed thereunder.

32. Writ Tax No. 694 of 2022 is dismissed inasmuch as recording of satisfaction by the PCIT and issuance of notice under section 148 by the Assessing Officer are simultaneous. Liberty is granted to the petitioner to file appeal to challenge the reassessment order.

Sri Alok Saxena

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.S.G.I., Sri Sudarshan Singh, Sri Dhananjay Awasthi

A. Tax Law – Attachment of bank accounts - The Central Goods & Services Tax Act, 2017- Sections 74 & 83 - A more stringent requirement than a mere expediency, has been provided in S.83. The exercise of unguided discretion cannot be permissible because it will leave citizens and their legitimate business activities to the peril of arbitrary power. There must be a valid formation of the opinion that a provisional attachment is necessary for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue. This necessarily requires existence of tangible material before the Commissioner so as to enable him to form his opinion for provisional attachment of the property of an assessee/person including bank account, which may indicates a live link to the necessity to order a provisional attachment to protect the interest of the Government Revenue. (Para 7, 11)

When the exercise of the power is challenged, the validity of its exercise will depend on a strict and punctilious observance of the statutory pre-conditions by the Commissioner. While conditioning the exercise of the power on the formation of an opinion by the Commissioner that "for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue, it is necessary so to do", it is evident that the statute has not left the formation of opinion to an unguided subjective discretion of the Commissioner. The formation of the opinion must bear a proximate and live nexus to the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue. (Para 7)

An anticipatory attachment of this nature must strictly conform to the requirements, both substantive and procedural, embodied in the statute and the rules. (Para 7)

Plane reading of Section 83 of the CGST Act leaves no manner of doubt that

1) firstly, there is necessity of the formation of opinion by the Commissioner;
2) secondly, the opinion must be formed before ordering a provisional attachment;
3) thirdly, the opinion must indicate that it is necessary so to do for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue;
4) fourthly, the order must be in writing for the attachment of any property of the taxable person; and
5) fifthly, observance of the Rules by the Commissioner in regard to the manner of attachment. Each of these components of S.83 are integral to a valid exercise of power.
6) The expression "it is necessary so to do" clearly evidences an intent of the legislature that an attachment is authorized not merely because it is expedient to do so but because it is necessary to do so in order to protect interest of the government revenue.
7) The word "necessary" postulates that the interest of the revenue can be protected only by a provisional attachment without which the interest of the revenue would stand defeated. (Para 11)

Each of the aforenoted ingredients of S.83 must be strictly applied and complied before a provisional attachment on the property of an assessee can be made. (Para 7, 11)

Facts of the present case clearly reveal that no proceedings u/s 74 of the C.G.S.T. Act has yet been initiated. Respondent No. 2 while passing the impugned order, has neither recorded his opinion nor referred to any tangible material which necessitated him to pass the impugned provisional attachment order so as to protect the interest of the Government revenue. The basic ingredients required for passing the impugned order u/s 83 of the CGST Act as also authoritatively pronounced by Hon'ble SC and binding upon the respondents u/Art. 141 of the Constitution of India, have been deliberately and completely ignored by the respondent No. 2. Despite the earlier order having been quashed by this Court, the respondent No. 2 has chosen to pass the impugned order on the very next day of withdrawing the earlier order. The impugned order has been passed in a most arbitrary and illegal manner and in complete disregard of provisions of S.83 of the C.G.S.T. Act r/w Rule 159 of the C.G.S.T. Rules 2017 and the law laid down by Hon'ble SC in the case of Radha Krishan Industries (infra). Consequently, the impugned order cannot be sustained and deserves to be quashed with exemplary cost. (Para 14)

B. Imposition of Cost - Cost should be in real and compensatory terms and not merely symbolic. There can be exemplary costs as well when the appeal is completely devoid of any merit. Imposition of cost on the State/PSU's alone is not going to make much difference as the officers taking such irresponsible decisions to file appeals are not personally affected because of the reason that cost, if imposed, comes from the government's coffers. Time has, therefore, come to take next step viz. recovery of cost from such officers who take such frivolous decisions of filing appeals, even after knowing well that these are totally vexatious and uncalled for appeals. We clarify that such an order of recovery of cost from the officer concerned be passed only in those cases where appeal is found to be ex-facie frivolous and the decision to file the appeal is also found to be palpably irrational and uncalled for. (Para 15)

Writ Petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Radha Krishan Industries Vs St. of H. P. & ors., (2021) 6 SCC 771 (Para 6, 12)

2. Punjab State Power Corp. Ltd. Vs Atma Singh Grewal, (2014) 13 SCC 666 (Para 15)

Present writ petition assails order dated 19.05.2022, passed by Commissioner of Central Goods and Service Tax Act, Ghaziabad.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Alok Saxena, learned counsel for the petitioner; Sri S.P. Singh, learned Additional Solicitor General of India assisted by Sri Sudarshan Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no.1 and Sri Dhananjay Awasthi, learned Senior Standing Counsel for the respondent no.2.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief :

"1. Issue a writ of certiorari quashing order dated 19.05.2022 passed by the respondent no.02 i.e. the Commissioner of Central Goods and Service Tax Act, Ghaziabad directing provisional attachment of the bank accounts of the petitioner and of his firm, detailed in Para 5 of this Writ (Tax) Petition."

3. The petitioner is a proprietor of M/s. S G Plastic Industries, B-19 Roop Nagar Industrial Area, Loni, Ghaziabad, engaged in manufacturing of plastic granules and its compounding.

4. Earlier, Bank account of the petitioner was attached under Section 83 of The Central Goods & Services Tax Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "the CGST Act, 2017') by order dated 22.10.2021, passed by the respondent no.2, against which the petitioner filed Writ Tax No. 448 of 2022 (Varun Gupta Versus Union of India and another) and the writ petition was allowed by order dated 11.05.2022 on the ground that no proceeding under Section 74 of CGST was pending as on the date of attachment. It was further observed that amended provisions of Section 83 of the CGST Act were not available when the attachment order was passed.

5. Consequently, the respondent no.2 has passed the order dated 18.05.2022 intimating the Bank that the attachment has been quashed but on the very next day, the respondent no.2 has passed the impugned order dated 19.05.2022, which is reproduced below:-

"To The Branch Manager
AXIS Bank, D-46,
RDC, Raj Nagar, Ghaziabad

Provisional attachment of property under section 83 of CGST Act, 2017

Proceedings have been launched against the aforesaid person under section 67 and Section 74 of the said Act to determine the tax or any other amount due from the said person. As per information available with the department, it has come to my notice that the said person has a bank account in your bank having account no.916010071529025.

In order to protect the interests of revenue and in exercise of the powers conferred under section 83 of the Act, I Alok Jha, Commissioner, CGST, Ghaziabad, hereby provisionally attach the aforesaid account.

No debit shall be allowed to be made from the said account or any other account operated by the aforesaid person on the same PAN without the prior permission of this department.

(ALOK JHA)
Commissioner "

6. As per impugned order proceedings under Sections 67 and 74 has been launched against the petitioner. However, learned counsels for the respondents have admitted before this Court on 14.07.2022 that "no proceedings under Sections 74 of the CGST Act, 2017 has yet been initiated". This fact has been recorded by this Court in paragraph 3 of the order dated 14.07.2022. After noticing the facts of the case in the aforesaid order date 14.07.2022, this Court referred to various paragraphs of the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Radha Krishan Industries Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (2021) 6 SCC 771 and observed in paragraph 4 as under :

*"Despite being being repeatedly asked by us, learned ASGI and learned counsel for respondent no. 2 could not produce any opinion of the respondent no. 2 before this Court under Section 83 of the CGST Act, 2017 indicating that the Commissioner has recorded his opinion on some materials that it is necessary to attach the bank account of the petitioner to protect the interest of revenue."

7. In the case of Radha Krishan Industries (supra) Hon'ble Supreme Court has dealt with almost similar order under Section 83 of the C.G.S.T. Act and held as under :

*"49 Now in this backdrop, it becomes necessary to emphasize that before the Commissioner can levy a provisional attachment, there must be a formation of "the opinion" and that it is necessary "so to do" for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue. The power to levy a provisional attachment is draconian in nature. By the exercise of the power, a property belonging to the taxable person may be attached, including a bank account. The attachment is provisional and the statute has contemplated an attachment during the pendency of the proceedings under the stipulated statutory provisions noticed earlier. An attachment which is contemplated in Section 83 is, in other words, at a stage which is anterior to the finalization of an assessment or the raising of a demand. Conscious as the legislature was of the draconian nature of the power and the serious consequences which emanate from the attachment of any property including a bank account of the taxable person, it conditioned the exercise of the power by employing specific statutory language which conditions the exercise of the power. The language of the statute indicates first, the necessity of the formation of opinion by the Commissioner; second, the formation of opinion before ordering a provisional attachment; third the existence of opinion that it is necessary so to do for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue; fourth, the issuance of an order in writing for the attachment of any property of the taxable person; and fifth, the observance by the Commissioner of the provisions contained in the rules in regard to the manner of attachment. Each of these components of the statute are integral to a valid exercise of power. In other words, when the exercise of the power is challenged, the validity of its exercise will depend on a strict and punctilious observance of the statutory pre-conditions by the Commissioner. While conditioning the exercise of the power on the formation of an opinion by the Commissioner that "for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue, it is necessary so to do", it is evident that the statute has not left the formation of opinion to an unguided subjective discretion of the Commissioner. The formation of the opinion must bear a proximate and live nexus to the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue.

50 By utilizing the expression "it is necessary so to do" the legislature has evinced an intent that an attachment is authorized not merely because it is expedient to do so (or profitable or practicable for the revenue to do so) but because it is necessary to do so in order to protect interest of the government revenue. Necessity postulates that the interest of the revenue can be protected only by a provisional attachment without which the interest of the revenue would stand defeated. Necessity in other words postulates a more stringent requirement than a mere expediency. A provisional attachment under Section 83 is contemplated during the pendency of certain proceedings, meaning thereby that a final demand or liability is yet to be crystallized. An anticipatory attachment of this nature must strictly conform to the requirements, both substantive and procedural, embodied in the statute and the rules. The exercise of unguided discretion cannot be permissible because it will leave citizens and their legitimate business activities to the peril of arbitrary power. Each of these ingredients must be strictly applied before a provisional attachment on the property of an assesses can be levied. The Commissioner must be alive to the fact that such provisions are not intended to authorize Commissioners to make preemptive strikes on the property of the assessee, merely because property is available for being attached. There must be a valid formation of the opinion that a provisional attachment is necessary for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue.

52 We adopt the test of the existence of "tangible material". In this context, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in the Commissioner of Income Tax v Kelvinator of India Limited38. Mr Justice SH Kapadia (as the learned Chief Justice then was) while considering the expression "reason to believe" in Section 147 of the Income Tax Act 1961 that income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment inter alia by the omission or failure of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for the assessment of that year, held that the power to reopen an assessment must be conditioned on the existence of "tangible material" and that "reasons must have a live link with the formation of the belief". This principle was followed subsequently in a two judge Bench decision in Income Tax Officer, Ward No. 162 (2) v Techspan India Private Limited39. While adverting to these decisions we have noticed that Section 83 of the HPGST Act uses the expression "opinion" as distinguished from "reasons to believe". However for the reasons that we have indicated earlier we are clearly of the view that the formation of the opinion must be based on tangible material which indicates a live link to the necessity to order a provisional attachment to protect the interest of the government revenue.

70 Ex facie, the above order passed by the Joint Commissioner does not indicate any basis for the formation of the opinion that the levy of a provisional attachment was necessary to protect the interest of the government revenue. The order in the file noting refers to the fact that the case of GM Powertech had been decided under Section 74 resulting in an additional demand of Rs. 39 crores on account of a fraudulent claim of ITC for FY 2017-18 and 2018-19. GM Powertech is alleged to have passed on the ITC to various Registered Tax Persons40 situated in Himachal Pradesh by issuing invoices inter alia to the appellant during 2018-19 for which a case under Section 74 had been initiated. The order records that the appellant had claimed ITC of Rs 3.25 crores on the strength of the invoices issued by GM Powertech. The order merely records that the submissions which were urged by the appellant on 5 August 2020 "are not sustainable". "In view of the facts involved in the case", the Joint Commissioner concluded that it is necessary at this stage to safeguard the government revenue and since the appellant had sold goods to Fujikawa the payment due to it was being attached provisionally. The order of the Joint Commissioner contains absolutely no basis for the formation of the opinion that a provisional attachment was necessary to safeguard the interest of the revenue. No tangible material has been disclosed. The record clearly reveals a breach of the mandatory pre-conditions for the valid exercise of powers under Section 83 of the HPGST Act.

77 For the above reasons, we allow the appeal and set aside the impugned judgment and order of the High Court dated 1 January 2021.

78 The writ petition filed by the appellant under Article 226 of the Constitution shall stand allowed by setting aside the orders of provisional attachment dated 28 October 2020."

8. Amended Section 83 of the CGST Act reads as follows :

"83. Provisional attachment to protect revenue in certain cases.

(1) Where, after the initiation of any proceeding under Chapter XII, Chapter XIV or Chapter XV, the Commissioner is of the opinion that for the purpose of protecting the interest of the Government revenue, it is necessary so to do, he may, by order in writing, attach provisionally, any property, including bank account, belonging to the taxable person or any person specified in sub-section (1A) of section 122, in such manner as may be prescribed.

(2) Every such provisional attachment shall cease to have effect after the expiry of a period of one year from the date of the order made under sub-section (1)."

9. In Section 83 of the CGST Act, following expressions have been used :

(i) Commissioner is of the opinion

(ii) that for the purpose of protecting the interest of the Government revenue

(iii) it is necessary so to do

(iv) by order in writing, attach provisionally

(v) in such manner as may be prescribed.

10. Chapter XII of the CGST Act contains Sections 59 to 64 providing for assessment. Chapter XIV contains Sections 67 to 72 providing for inspection, search, seizure and arrest. Chapter XV contains Sections 73 to 84 providing for demands and recovery.

11. Plane reading of Section 83 of the CGST Act leaves no manner of doubt that firstly, there is necessity of the formation of opinion by the Commissioner; secondly, the opinion must be formed before ordering a provisional attachment; thirdly, the opinion must indicate that it is necessary so to do for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue;

fourthly, the order must be in writing for the attachment of any property of the taxable person; and fifthly, observance of the Rules by the Commissioner in regard to the manner of attachment. Each of these components of Section 83 are integral to a valid exercise of power. The statute has not left the formation of opinion to an unguided subjective discretion of the Commissioner. The formation of the opinion must bear a proximate and live nexus to the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue. The expression "it is necessary so to do" clearly evidences an intent of the legislature that an attachment is authorized not merely because it is expedient to do so but because it is necessary to do so in order to protect interest of the government revenue. The word "necessary" postulates that the interest of the revenue can be protected only by a provisional attachment without which the interest of the revenue would stand defeated. Thus, a more stringent requirement than a mere expediency, has been provided in Section 83. The exercise of unguided discretion cannot be permissible because it will leave citizens and their legitimate business activities to the peril of arbitrary power. There must be a valid formation of the opinion that a provisional attachment is necessary for the purpose of protecting the interest of the government revenue. This necessarily requires existence of tangible material before the Commissioner so as to enable him to form his opinion for provisional attachment of the property of an assessee/person including bank account, which may indicates a live link to the necessity to order a provisional attachment to protect the interest of the Government Revenue. Each of the aforenoted ingredients of Section 83 must be strictly applied and complied before a provisional attachment on the property of an assesses can be made. In the impugned provisional attachment order there is absence of the aforesaid ingredients of Section 83. Therefore, the impugned order having been passed by the respondent No.2 by arbitrarily exercising his power, can not be sustained. Therefore, it deserves to be quashed.

12. In paragraph 11 of the aforesaid judgment in the case of Radha Krishan Industries (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court reproduced the order under Section 83 of the Act dated 28.10.2020, as under :

"In order to protect the interests of revenue and in exercise of the powers conferred/delegated by Commissioner of the State Taxes & Excise, HP vide office order No.12-4/78-EXN-Tax-Part-278/22(a)- 26780-82 dated 21.10.2020 under section 83 of the Act, I, U.S. Rana, Joint Commissioner of State Taxes & Excise, South Enforcement Zone, Parwanoo, hereby provisionally attach the payment to the extent of Rs.5,03,82,554/- of M/s Radha Krishan Industries, Kala-Amb. Henceforth, no payment shall be allowed to be made from your company to M/s RadhaKrishan Industries without the prior permission of this department / office."

13. The order impugned in the present writ petition is almost similar to the order which was impugned before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Radha Krishan Industries (supra) which has been quashed by Hon'ble Supreme Court with observations aforequoted.

14. Facts of the present case clearly reveals that no proceedings under Section 74 of the C.G.S.T. Act has yet been initiated. That apart the respondent No.2 while passing the impugned order, has neither recorded his opinion nor referred to any tangible material which necessitated him to pass the impugned provisional attachment order so as to protect the interest of the Government revenue. The basic ingredients required for passing the impugned order under Section 83 of the CGST Act as also authoritatively pronounced by Hon'ble Supreme Court and binding upon the respondents under Article 141 of the Constitution of India, have been deliberately and completely ignored by the respondent No.2. Despite the earlier order having been quashed by this Court, the respondent no.2 has chosen to pass the impugned order on the very next day of withdrawing the earlier order. The impugned order has been passed in a most arbitrary and illegal manner and in complete disregard of provisions of Section 83 of the C.G.S.T. Act read with Rule 159 of the C.G.S.T. Rules 2017 and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Radha Krishan Industries (supra). Consequently, the impugned order can not be sustained and deserves to be quashed with exemplary cost.

Imposition of Cost:-

15. In the case of Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. vs. Atma Singh Grewal, (2014) 13 SCC 666 (para 14), Hon'ble Supreme Court stressed that cost should be in real and compensatory terms and not mrely symbolic. It further expressed the need to recover the cost from erring officers. Paragraph-14 of the Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. (supra) is reproducecd below:

"14. No doubt, when a case is decided in favour of a party, the Court can award cost as well in his favour. It is stressed by this Court that such cost should be in real and compensatory terms and not merely symbolic. There can be exemplary costs as well when the appeal is completely devoid of any merit. [See Rameshwari Devi v. Nirmala Devi (2011) 8 SCC 249]. However, the moot question is as to whether imposition of costs alone will prove deterrent? We do not think so. We are of the firm opinion that imposition of cost on the State/PSU's alone is not going to make much difference as the officers taking such irresponsible decisions to file appeals are not personally affected because of the reason that cost, if imposed, comes from the government's coffers. Time has, therefore, come to take next step viz. recovery of cost from such officers who take such frivolous decisions of filing appeals, even after knowing well that these are totally vexatious and uncalled for appeals. We clarify that such an order of recovery of cost from the officer concerned be passed only in those cases where appeal is found to be ex-facie frivolous and the decision to file the appeal is also found to be palpably irrational and uncalled for."

16. For all the reasons aforestated, the impugned order dated 19.05.2022 under Section 83 of the C.G.S.T. Act 2017 passed by the respondent no.2, can not be sustained and is hereby quashed. Writ petition is allowed with cost of Rs. 50,000/- which shall be paid by the respondents to the petitioner within two weeks.

A. Tax Law – Reassessment – Jurisdiction - Income Tax Act, 1961 - Sections 143(3), 148, 132A, 120(1), 120(2), 148A(d), 2(7A), 124(1) & 124(5) - Concurrent jurisdictions are not an anathema but an accepted position under the Act. The term "jurisdiction" in Section 120 of the Act has been used loosely and not in strict sense to confer jurisdiction exclusively to a specified and single assessing officer, to the exclusion of others with concurrent jurisdiction. The Act does not authoritatively confer exclusive jurisdiction to specific Income Tax Authority. It is left to the Board to issue directions for exercise of power and functions taking into consideration territorial area, class/types of persons, income and case, and Board have been given wide power and latitude. Section 120 by necessary implication postulates and acknowledges that multiple or more than one Assessing officer could exercise jurisdiction over particular assessee. (Para 21)

It has been admitted that respondent No. 1 i.e the ITO-2(1), Moradabad has the territorial jurisdiction over the petitioner, but only objection to the jurisdiction has been raised merely on the ground that on account of pecuniary limit, the proceedings ought to have been initiated by ACIT-2, Moradabad. (Para 18)

Merely because some pecuniary limit has been fixed for purpose of distribution of work between officers, it would not mean that there shall be inherent lack of jurisdiction of respondent No. 1. Once the territorial jurisdiction of respondent No. 1 is admitted by the petitioner, there existed no occasion for the Assessing Officer to refer the matter for determination u/s 124(2) before the assessment was made. Therefore, it cannot be said that respondent No. 1 lacked inherent jurisdiction while issuing the impugned notice u/s 148 of the Act, 1961. (Para 19, 20)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Abhishek Jain Vs Income Tax Officer, Ward-55 (1), New Delhi; 2018 (94) Taxmann.Com 355 (Delhi) (Para 21)

Present petition assails notice dated 31.03.2021, issued u/s 148 and order dated 13.09.2021, passed by Income Tax Officer ITO-2(1), Moradabad.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.
Hon'ble Jayant Benerji, J.)

1. Heard Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Gaurav Mahajan, learned Senior Standing Counsel for the respondent no.2 and Sri Sudarshan Singh, learned counsel for respondent no.3.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:-

"(i) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the notice dated 31.3.2021 issued under Section 148 of the Act, for A.Y. 2017-18 issued by the Income Tax Officer ITO-2(1), Moradabad, respondent no.1(Annexure no.7).

(ii) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order dated 13.9.2021 passed by Income Tax Officer ITO-2(1), Moradabad respondent no.1, rejecting the objection of the petitioner (Annexure no.13).

(iii) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Prohibition restraining the respondent no. 1 from completing the reassessment proceeding u/s 148 of the Act, for A.Y. 2017-18."

3. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that for the assessment year in question i.e. 2017-18, the petitioner, which is a corporate entity, filed its return of income on 11.10.2017 with the Income Tax Officer (ITO-2(1), Moradabad disclosing total income of Rs. 32,57,900/. It has been admitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner before us that ITO Ward-2(1) is the Assessing Officer who has territorial jurisdiction over the petitioner.

Facts.

4. The case of the petitioner is that since monetary limit fixed for assessment by the ITO for return is upto Rs. 15 lacs and if it is above Rs. 15 lacs, the assessment was to be made by Assistant/Deputy Commissioner, therefore, for that reason the assessment for the Assessment Year 2017-18 was completed by the Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax, Moradabad (ACIT) vide assessment order dated 26.11.2019 under Section 143(3) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the Act, 1961). Therefore, the notice under Section 148 of the Act would have been issued only by the ACIT-2, Moradabad and not by the ITO Ward-2(1), Moradabad.

5. From the record, it appears that thereafter, the ITO, Ward-2(1) received certain information from DDIT (Investigation), Unit 7(4), New Delhi. It came to light in the search conducted under Section 132A of the Act at the premises of Mr. Mohit Garg and others on 11.03.2018 and in subsequent investigations, which, according to the respondent- department revealed that an accommodation purchase entry of Rs.20,32,46,098/- which was not shown by the petitioner. Based on this information, the ITO Ward-2 issued a notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 to the petitioner and supplied the reasons recorded for issuance of the notice. The petitioner submitted objection to it which was rejected by order dated 13.09.2021 passed by the ITO-2(1), Moradabad. Being aggrieved, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition, challenging the notice dated 31.03.2021 under Section 148 as well as the order dated 13.09.2021 rejecting the objection.

Submission:

6. The only submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the impugned notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 issued by the respondent No.1 [ITO-2(1)] is without jurisdiction inasmuch as the ITO Ward 2(1) is not the jurisdictional assessing officer for the Assessment Year 2017-18. He further submits that jurisdictional assessing officer for the Assessment Year 2017-18 is the ACIT, Range-2, Moradabad. Therefore, the impugned notice is without jurisdiction and consequently it cannot be proceeded with by the respondent No.1. For the same reason, the impugned order rejecting the objection, also deserves to be quashed along with the impugned notice under Section 148.

7. Learned Central Government Standing Counsel and the learned standing counsel for the Income Tax Department - respondent No.1 and 2 jointly supported the impugned notice and the order rejecting the objection.

Discussion and findings:

8. We have carefully considered the submission of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record of the writ petition.

9. Before we proceed to consider the rival submission, it would be appropriate to reproduce the relevant provisions of the Act, 1961 as under:-

(i) Section 2(7A) defines the word Assessing Officer, as under:-

"2(7A) " Assessing Officer" means the Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Director or Deputy Director or the Income- tax Officer who is vested with the relevant jurisdiction by virtue of directions or orders issued under sub- section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120 or any other provision of this Act, and the Additional Commissioner or Additional Director or Joint Commissioner or Joint Director who is directed under clause (b) of sub- section (4) of that section to exercise or perform all or any of the powers and functions conferred on, or assigned to, an Assessing Officer under this Act;"

(ii) Section 120 of the Act, 1961 provides for jurisdiction of income tax authorities as under:-

"Jurisdiction of income-tax authorities:-

120. (1) Income-tax authorities shall exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the functions conferred on, or, as the case may be, assign to such authorities by or under this Act in accordance with such directions as the Board may issue for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of those authorities.

Explanation:- For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that any income-tax authority, being an authority higher in rank, may, if so directed by the Board, exercise the powers and perform the functions of the income-tax authority lower in rank and any such direction issued by the Board shall be deemed to be a direction issued under sub-section-(1).

(2) The directions of the Board under sub section (1) may authorize any other income-tax authority to issue orders in writing for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of the other income-tax authorities who are subordinate to it.

(3) In issuing the directions or orders referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2), the Board or other income-tax authority authorized by it may have regard to any one or more of the following criteria, namely:-

(a) territorial area;

(b) persons or classes of persons;

(c) income or classes of income; and

(d) cases or classes of cases.

(4)Without prejudice to the provisions of sub- sections (1) and (2), the Board may, by general or special order, and subject to such conditions, restrictions or limitations as may be specified therein,-

(a)authorise any Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director to perform such functions of any other income- tax authority as may be assigned to him by the Board;

(b)empower the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner to issue orders in writing that the powers and functions conferred on, or as the case may be, assigned to, the Assessing Officer by or under this Act in respect of any specified area or persons or classes of persons or incomes or classes of income or cases or classes of cases, shall be exercised or performed by an Additional Commissioner or an Additional Director or a Joint Commissioner or a Joint Director, and, where any order is made under this clause, references in any other provision of this Act, or in any Rule made thereunder to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such Additional Commissioner or Additional Director or Joint Commissioner or Joint Director by whom the powers and functions are to be exercised or performed under such order, and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of the Joint Commissioner shall not apply.

(5)The directions and orders referred to in sub- sections (1) and (2) may, wherever considered necessary or appropriate for the proper management of the work, require two or more Assessing Officers (whether or not of the same class) to exercise and perform, concurrently, the powers and functions in respect of any area or persons or classes of persons or incomes or classes of income or cases or classes of cases; and, where such powers and functions are exercised and performed concurrently by the Assessing Officers of different classes, any authority lower in rank amongst them shall exercise the powers and perform the functions as any higher authority amongst them may direct, and, further, references in any other provision of this Act or in any rule made thereunder to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such higher authority and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of any such authority shall not apply.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in any direction or order issued under this section, or in section 124, the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that for the purpose of furnishing of the return of income or the doing of any other act or thing under this Act or any rule made thereunder by any person or class of persons, the income- tax authority exercising and performing the powers and functions in relation to the said person or class of persons shall be such authority as may be specified in the notification."

(iii) Section 124 of the Act, 1961 provides for jurisdiction of Assessing Officers, as under:-

"Jurisdiction of Assessing Officers

124. (1) Where by virtue of any direction or order issued under sub- section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120, the Assessing Officer has been vested with jurisdiction over any area, within the limits of such area, he shall have jurisdiction -

(a) in respect of any person carrying on a business or profession, if the place at which he carries on his business or profession is situate within the area, or where his business or profession is carried on in more places than one, if the principal place of his business or profession is situate within the area, and

(b) in respect of any other person residing within the area.

(2) Where a question arises under this section as to whether an Assessing Officer has jurisdiction to assess any person, the question shall be determined by the Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner; or where the question is one relating to areas within the jurisdiction of different Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners, by the Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners concerned or, if they are not in agreement, by the Board or by such Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner as the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify.

(3) No person shall be entitled to call in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer -

(a) where he has made a return under sub- section (1) of section 115WD or under sub- section (1) of section 139, after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under sub-section (1) of section 142 or sub-section (2) of section 115WE or sub-section (2) of section 143 or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier;

(b) where he has made no such return, after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice under sub-section (2) of section 115WD or sub- section (1) of section 142 or under sub-section (1) of section 115WH or under section 148 for the making of the return or by the notice under the first proviso to section 115WF or under the first proviso to section 144 to show cause why the assessment should not be completed to the best of the judgment of the Assessing Officer, whichever is earlier.

(c) Where an action has been taken under section 132 or section 132A, after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under sub-section (1) of section 153A or sub-section (2) of section 153C or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier.

(4) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), where an assessee calls in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer, then the Assessing Officer shall, if not satisfied with the correctness of the claim, refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) before the assessment is made.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section or in any direction or order issued under section 120, every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred by or under this Act on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120."

10. Thus, sub-section (1) of Section 120 of the Act, 1961 confers powers on the Board to issue directions to the Income Tax authorities for exercise of powers and performance of the functions by all or any of those authorities. Sub-section (2) of Section 120 permits directions of the Board made under sub-section (1) for authorising any other income-tax authority to issue orders in writing for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of the other income tax authorities who are subordinate to it.

Sub-section (3) of Section 120 provides for the Board or other income tax authority authorised by it to have regard to one or more of the mentioned four criteria in issuing directions or orders referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) of Section 120. The criteria are:

(a) territorial area;

(b) persons or classes of persons;

(c) incomes or classes of income; and

(d) cases or classes of cases.

Sub-section (5) of Section 120 enables issuance of directions and orders referred to in sub-section (1) and (2) requiring two or more Assessing Officers (whether or not of the same class) to exercise and perform concurrently the powers and functions referred to in the four criteria mentioned in sub-section (3).

Section 124 of the Act deals with jurisdiction vested in any Assessing Officer under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of Section 120 of the Act with regard to territorial area. Where any question arises as to whether an Assessing Officer has jurisdiction to assess any person, (qua the territorial area), the question is required to be determined administratively by the authority in the manner mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 124.

Sub-section (3) of Section 124 limits and negativates the right of any person to call in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer where any of the three conditions mentioned in clause (a),(b) and (c) of sub-section (3) respectively exist. Clause (a) of sub-section (3) of Section 124 refers to situations, inter alia, where a person has made a return under sub-section (1) of Section 139, who has been served with a notice under sub-section (1) of Section 142 or sub-section (2) of Section 143. Given the provision of clause (a) of sub-section (3) of Section 124, no person is entitled to call in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer after expiry of one month from the date on which he is served with such notice, whichever date is earlier.

Sub-section (4) of Section 124 mandates the Assessing Officer to refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) before the assessment is made, if he is not satisfied with the correctness of the claim of the assessee calling in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3).

Sub-section (5) of Section 124 which begins with a non-obstante clause, is as under:-

"(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section or in any direction or order issued under section 120, every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred by or under this Act on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120."

11. It is undisputed that ITO Ward-2(1), Moradabad who issued the impugned notice dated 31.3.2021 under Section 148 of the Act, 1961 for the Assessment Year 2017-18 and passed the impugned order dated 10.9.2021/13.9.2021 under Section 148A(d) rejecting the objections, is the Assessing Officer within the meaning of Section 2 (7A) of the Act, 1961.

12. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that since on account of the mandated monetary limit, the impugned order was passed by the ACIT-2, Moradabad, therefore, only ACIT-2, Moradabad could have issued notice under Section 148 of the Act and not the ITO Ward-2(1). We do not find any substance in the submission.

13. Section 120(1) of the Act, 1961 confers powers upon the Income Tax Authorities to exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the functions conferred on, or, as the case may be, assign to such authorities by or under this Act in accordance with such directions as the Board may issue for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of those authorities.

Sub-section (3) provides the criteria to be considered by the Board in issuing directions for purposes of sub-section (1) and (2).

14. Admittedly, the Board has issued a direction by Instruction No. 01 of 2011 dated 31.01.2011 and 6 of 2011 dated 8.4.2011 for equitable distribution of works amongst the Assessing Officers and pursuant thereto, the Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Bareilly issued an order dated 19.2.2018 as under:-

"Order
Dated 19.02.2018.

In exercise of powers conferred on me by CBDT Instructions No. 01/2011 dated 31.01.2011 and 06/2011 dated 08.4.2011 and all other powers enabling me in this behalf, I hereby order that the monetary limit for assigning Non-Corporate cases among Income Tax Officers and Deputy/Assistant Commissioners of Income Tax under the charges of Pr. Commissioner of Income Tax, Bareilly & Moradabad, falling in Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Bareilly, Region will henceforth be as under:

	Income/Loss Declared.
	ITOs	Dy./Asst. CsIT.
In case of Non-Corporate Returns	Upto Rs. 15 lac	Above Rs. 15 lac.

The notification will come into effect from 1.4.2018 onwards till further order.

(Praveen Kumar)
Chief Commissioner of Income Tax
Bareilly.

15. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also referred to the jurisdictional chart enclosed with the objection against issuance of notice under Section 148, showing Assessing Officer-wise jurisdiction in respect of Corporate cases.

16. It is reiterated that Sub-section (1) of Section 124 of the Act, 1961 provides that where by virtue of any direction or order issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120, the Assessing Officer has been vested with jurisdiction over any area, within the limits of such area, he shall have jurisdiction- (a) in respect of any person carrying on a business or profession, if the place at which he carries on his business or profession is situate within the area, or where his business or profession is carried on in more places than one, if the principal place of his business or profession is situate within the area, and (b) in respect of any other person residing within the area.

17. Thus, under sub-section (1) of Section 124 of the Act, 1961 the Assessing Officer who has been vested with jurisdiction over any area, shall have jurisdiction within the limits of such area. Sub-section (5) of Section 124 of the Act, 1961 starts with a non-obstante clause and provides that every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred by or under the Act,1961 on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120. Thus, the Assessing Officer vested with jurisdiction by virtue of direction of sub-section (1) and (2) of Section 120 shall have all powers conferred by or under the Act, 1961 on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction.

18. It has been admitted before us that respondent no.1 i.e the ITO-2(1), Moradabad has the territorial jurisdiction over the petitioner, but only objection to the jurisdiction has been raised merely on the ground that on account of pecuniary limit, the proceedings ought to have been initiated by ACIT-2, Moradabad.

19. Once the territorial jurisdiction of respondent no.1 is admitted by the petitioner, there existed no occasion for the Assessing Officer to refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) of Section 124 before the assessment was made.

20. The facts and legal position as discussed above leave no manner of doubt that the respondent no.1 is the Assessing Officer having territorial jurisdiction over the petitioner. Merely because some pecuniary limit has been fixed for purpose of distribution of work between officers, it would not mean that there shall be inherent lack of jurisdiction of respondent no.1. Therefore, it cannot be said that respondent no.1 lacked inherent jurisdiction while issuing the impugned notice under Section 148 of the Act, 1961.

21. A similar controversy came up before the Delhi High Court in the case of Abhishek Jain Vs. Income Tax Officer, Ward-55 (1), New Delhi; 2018 (94) taxmann. Com 355 (Delhi) in which it has been held as under:-

"16. Section 120 of the Act which relates to jurisdiction of the Income-tax Authorities stipulates that Income-tax Authorities shall exercise any of the powers and perform all or any of the functions conferred or assigned to such authority by or under this Act as per the directions of the Board i.e., Central Board of Direct Taxes. As per Explanation to sub-section(1), the power can also be exercised, if directed by the Board, by authorities higher in rank. Under sub-section (2), the Board can issue orders in writing for exercise of power and performance of functions by the Income-tax Authorities and while doing so in terms of sub-section (3), the Board can take into consideration and have regard to the four-fold criteria namely, territorial area; persons or classes of persons; incomes or classes of income; and cases or classes of cases. Thus, the Act does not authoritatively confer exclusive jurisdiction to specific Income Tax Authority. It is left to the Board to issue directions for exercise of power and functions taking into consideration territorial area, class/types of persons, income and case, and Board have been given wide power and latitude. The said Section by necessary implication postulates and acknowledges that multiple or more than one Assessing officer could exercise jurisdiction over particular assessee. Concurrent jurisdictions are therefore not an anathema but an accepted position under the Act. The term "jurisdiction" in Section 120 of the Act has been used loosely and not in strict sense to confer jurisdiction exclusively to a specified and single assessing officer, to the exclusion of others with concurrent jurisdiction. It would refer to "place of assessment", a term used in the Income Tax Act, 1922. Sub-section (5) to Section 120 of the Act again affirms and accepts that there can be concurrent jurisdiction of two or more assessing officers who would exercise jurisdiction over a particular assessee in terms of the four-fold criteria stated in sub-section (3) to Section 120. Second part of sub-section (5) states that where powers and functions are exercised concurrently by Assessing Officers of different classes, then the higher authority can direct the lower authority in rank amongst them to exercise the powers and functions.

19. We would reiterate that sub-section (1) to Section 124 states that the Assessing Officer would have jurisdiction over the area in terms of any direction or order issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) to Section 120 of the Act. Jurisdiction would depend upon the place where the person carries on business or profession or the area in which he is residing. Sub- section (3) clearly states that no person can call in question jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer in case of non-compliance and/or after the period stipulated in clauses (a) and (b), which as observed in S.S. Ahluwalia (supra) would negate and reject arguments predicated on lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Where an assessee questions jurisdiction of the Assessing Officer within the time limit and in terms of sub-section (3), and the Assessing Officer is not satisfied with the correctness of the claim, he is required to refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) before the assessment is made. Reference of matter under sub-section (2) would not be required when Assessing Officer accepts the claim of the assessee and transfers the case to another Assessing Officer in view the objection by the assessee. (In terms of sub-section (3) to Section 124 of the Act, the petitioner had lost his right to question jurisdiction of the Income Tax Officer, Ward No. 1(1), Noida.

20. Sub-section (5) to Section 124, though limited in scope, would also be applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present case as the Income-Tax Officer, Ward-1 (1), Noida had the power to assess income accruing or arising within the area as it is not the case of the petitioner-assessee that the said officer did not have jurisdiction in view of location of the bank account and/or petitioner's place of work. Section 124(5) of the Act saves assessment made by an assessing officer provided that the assessment does not bring to tax anything other than income accruing, arising or received in that area over which the assessing officer exercises jurisdiction. However, notwithstanding Section 124(5), the Act does not postulate multiple assessments by different assessing officers, or assessment of part or portion of an income [see Kanjimal & Sons Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, New Delhi, (1982) 138 ITR 391 (Delhi)]. Thus, it is necessary that the Assessing Officers having concurrent jurisdiction ensure that only one of them proceeds and adjudicate. This is the purport and objective behind sub-section (2) to Section 124 of the Act."

22. The aforesaid judgement of Delhi High Court only supports the view taken by us herein above.

23. No other point has been argued before us by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

24. For all the reasons aforestated, we do not find any merit in this writ petition. Consequently, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Tripathi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned counsel for opposite party no.2, learned A.G.A for the State and also perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicants with a prayer to quash the summoning order dated 17.12.2015 as well as entire proceedings of Misc. Case No. 137 of 2015 (Tej Singh Verma vs. Ghanshyam Das and others) (Case No.3648 of 2015), under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 504, 506, 379 IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Etawah, pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etawah.

3. The facts of the present case is that marriage of applicant no.5 solemnized with son of opposite party no.2 according to Hindu Rites and Rituals on 30.11.2013. Thereafter, applicant no.5 namely, Shalu Patel lodged the first information report against opposite party no.2 on 05.07.2014 in Case Crime No.316 of 2014, under Sections 498A, 323, 506 IPC. Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against opposite party no.2 on 31.07.2014. Subsequently, complaint was filed by opposite party no.2 against the applicants on 10.03.2015, under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C in Case Crime No.116 of 2015, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 323, 504, 506, 307, 379 IPC, with the allegation that on 05.07.2014, applicants entered in the house of opposite party no.2 having lathi and danda in their hands and committed mar-peet with opposite party no.2 and his family members. Investigating Officer submitted a final report on 20.04.2015. Thereafter, learned court below issued notice to opposite party no.2 as such opposite party no.2 filed protest petition under Section 190(1)B Cr.P.C. against the aforesaid final report. Thereafter, learned court below only on the basis of statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and without recording statement of opposite party no.2 and other witnesses, applicants were summoned. Investigating Officer submitted final report on the basis of statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

4. Perused the impugned order dated 17.12.2015 by which final report no.88 of 2015 dated 20.04.2015 relating to Crime No.116 of 2015 has been rejected and protest petition of the applicants has been accepted and applicants Ghansyam Das, Ashok, Ram Chandra @ Rammo, Vinay Patel, Shalu Patel and Shibhu has been summoned under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 504, 506, 379 IPC and cognizance has been taken under Section 190(1)(b). This shows that after investigation, final report has been filed and applicants have been summoned on the basis of protest petition filed by the complainant Tej Singh Verma, who is retired lecturer.

5. During pendency of this application, learned counsel for the parties contended that dispute between the parties have been amicably settled outside the court by way of compromise. Consequently, a compromise application has been filed before court below and this Court vide order dated 18.04.2022 directed for verification of the compromise filed by the parties which was duly verified by the court concerned on 10.05.2022 and report from Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etawah has been sent to this Court on 17.05.2022.

6. It is submitted that no useful purpose shall be served by prolonging the proceedings of above mentioned case. Learned counsel for applicants further submits that interest of justice shall better be served in case entire proceeding of above mentioned case are quashed by this Court itself in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. instead of relegating the parties to court below.

7. Learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel representing opposite party no.2 could not oppose the submissions urged by learned counsel for applicants. Learned counsel for informant/opposite party no.2 further contends that once opposite party no.2 has himself compromised the dispute with applicants and in pursuance thereof, he submitted a joint application before court concerned praying therein that case be decided on the basis of compromise, he cannot have any objection in case the matter is finally decided on the basis of said compromise. He has further invited the attention of the Court that opposite party no.2/informant was present at the time of verification of compromise.

9. This Court is not unmindful of the following judgements of Apex Court:

i. B.S. Joshi and others Vs. State of Haryana and another (2003)4 SCC 675

ii. Nikhil Merchant Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation[2008)9 SCC 677]

iii. Manoj Sharma Vs. State and others (2008) 16 SCC 1,

iv. Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab (2012) 10 SCC 303

v. Narindra Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab (2014) 6 SCC 466.

vi. State of M.P. V/s Laxmi Narayan & Ors. [AIR 2019 SC 1296]

8. In the aforesaid judgments, Apex Court has categorically held that compromise can be made between the parties even in respect of certain cognizable and non compoundable offences. Reference may also be made to the decision given by this Court in Shaifullah and others Vs. State of U.P. And another [2013 (83) ACC 278] in which the law expounded by the Apex court. Various litigations are pending/decided between parties detailed as under :

9. From the perusal of record, it appears that one criminal case no.1925 of 2015 (State vs. Nikhil Verma and others), Case Crime No.316 of 2014 under Sections 498A, 323, 506 IPC, P.S. Kotwali, District Etawah has been decided by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etawah on 29.01.2019 and accused were acquitted. Another case was Hindu Marriage Act bearing Case No.555 of 2018 under Section 13(B) of Hindu Marriage Act has been decided on 28.08.2019, in which, marriage of Smt. Shalu Patel and Nikhil Verma has been dissolved. Another case no.658 of 2014 (Smt. Shalu Patel vs. Nikhil Verma), under Section 12 of Domestic Violence Act comes to an end on 10.12.2018 and application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. has been rejected on 10.12.2018. Complaint Case no.6595 of 2017 (Tej Singh Verma vs. Ghanshyam Das), under Section 500 IPC has been disposed of on 07.01.2019 as withdrawn. One case has been filed by Nikhil Verma under Section 13 of Hindu Marriage Act numbered as HMA No.20 of 2018 which has been dismissed as not pressed. Criminal Case No.4172 of 2016 (State vs. Saurabh Verma) under Sections 504, 506 IPC has been decided by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etawah on 02.02.2019 and accused were acquitted under Sections 504, 506 IPC.

10. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, as noted herein above, and also the submissions made by the counsel for the parties, the court is of the considered opinion that no useful purpose shall be served by prolonging the proceedings of above mentioned case. It is also submitted that case has also been compromised relating to matrimonial dispute.

11. As mentioned above, applicants as well as opposite party no.2 has filed several suit/applications against each other only with intend to create undue pressure. Such sort of unwarranted litigations create burden over our judicial system. Courts are overburdened by such sort of litigations especially relating to family matters. Courts are used as a tool of harassment. Precious time of Courts consumed by such frivolous/vexatious litigations and due to paucity of time substantial litigations are delayed. Frivolous/vexatious incoming of cases should be checked. Legal awareness does not mean frivolous/vexatious litigations. Litigations should be for genuine cause/relief. Informant Tej Singh Verma, who is retired lecturer is well educated person. He has filed FIR against the applicants and after lodging the FIR police machinery came into motion and investigation has been completed by the police and final report has been filed. Thereafter, protest petition has been filed by the informant and on protest petition, applicant has been summoned by the concerned court. Thereafter, case is pending since 2015 and accused persons (applicants) had approached this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing impugned order dated 17.12.2015 in 2016 and thereafter, entire dispute has been compromised in 2022. The exercise made by the informant has created burden on the system.

12. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, the proceedings of Misc. case No. 137 of 2015 (Case No.3648 of 2015), under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 504, 506, 379 I.P.C., Police Station- Kotwali, District- Etawah, is hereby quashed on the basis of compromise and the present application is allowed, subject to deposit of Rs.10,000/- as exemplary cost upon the applicants and opposite party no.2 each. The total amount of cost is Rs.20,000/- shall be deposited in the account of District Legal Services Authority, Etawah within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order. This amount shall be utilized for benefit of the litigants according to the satisfaction of Chairman, District Legal Services Authority, Etawah. Trial Court shall ensure the deposition of the said amount, before consigning the record. In default of payment of cost directed as above, order shall be deemed vacated automatically.

15. Uma Shankar Gopalika Vs St. of Bih. & anr. (2005) 10 SCC 336

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. The facts, in brief, as evident from material on record as well as from submissions raised on behalf of rival parties are that, the Complainant and his wife have commercial relationship with accused persons so much that the Complainant was appointed as a Legal Advisor of the Company, namely, Culture Home Developer Pvt. Ltd., on remuneration. Further, wife of Complainant has entered a Memorandum of Understanding/ Agreement (hereinafter referred to as "MOU/Agreement") for adjusting the amount paid by Complainant and his wife towards allotment of flats as well as share.

2. It appears that relationship between parties became soar and a dispute arose to the extent that payment of remuneration of Complainant was discontinued as well as condition of MOU/Agreement were allegedly not complied with and this led to appointment of an Arbitrator in terms of aforesaid agreement wherein an interim order was also passed and recently the Arbitrator has pronounced award dated 27.11.2021 in favour of Complainant and his wife. The said award is challenged by accused persons under the provisions of Section 34 of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1996").

3. During pendency of arbitration proceedings the Complainant filed a First Information Report against accused persons (applicants herein in both applications), for allegedly committing offences under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 506 IPC.

4. The contents of First Information Report are very lengthy, however, crux is that, very initiation of relationship between parties was based on dishonesty and accused persons allegedly, in order to deceive the Complainant and his wife, induces them to invest money and it was part of cheating that Complainant was appointed as a Legal Advisor to the Company as well as a MOU/Agreement was executed to show that all the transactions were bona fide. In the First Information Report there are further allegations that accused persons have committed forgery of valuable security, forgery for the purpose of cheating and forgery for using a genuine document, which has reason to believe to be forged.

5. Sri Sujit Kumar, learned counsel for applicants in both the applications, has vehemently argued that Complainant and his wife has already taken appropriate remedy under Act, 1996 and an award has been passed in their favour, though challenged under Section 34 of Act, 1996. The document of retainership as well as MOU/Agreement are not in dispute. The allegations of cheating or forgery are not based on any evidence. The Complainant side, with their open eyes, have entered not only into an agreement but also acted as a Legal Advisor of Company for which Complainant was paid also. Only in order to put pressure on accused/ applicants the criminal proceedings were initiated and First Information Report was lodged wherein after investigation charge sheet has been filed and cognizance has also been taken. The investigation was not fair and in absence of ingredients of aforesaid offences charge sheet was filed and without applying judicial mind, the Trial Court has taken cognizance for all the above referred alleged offences. It is a purely civil dispute which has been given criminal colour and criminal proceedings are initiated only after the proceedings initiated by Complainant under Act, 1996, therefore, the criminal proceedings as well as cognizance order are liable to be set aside.

6. The above submissions are vehemently opposed by Sri Paritosh Malviya, learned A.G.A. and Sri Syed Imran Ibrahim, Advocate for Opposite Party No. 2. They submitted that there might be some overlapping of facts but only on the ground that Complainant had availed remedy under Act, 1996 the First Information Report lodged for committing offences under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 506 IPC cannot be quashed, as there is no bar for lodging FIR for cognizable offence. In the criminal proceedings offences are to be proved by prosecution and it was a case of Complainant that since inception, in the relationship between parties, element to deceive and to induce the Complainant and his wife, was present which remained continued when Complainant was appointed as Legal Advisor and further entering into MOU/Agreement with the wife of Complainant.

7. Heard learned counsel for parties and perused the material available on record.

8. Before adverting to the rival submissions it would be apposite to refer a recent judgment of Supreme Court passed in Mitesh Kumar J. Sha vs. State of Karnataka and others, AIR 2021 SC 5298:2021 SCC OnLine SC 976, wherein somewhat similar controversy was involved. Considering various judgments passed by Court it was held that, "Although, there is perhaps not even an iota of doubt that a singular factual premise can give rise to a dispute which is both, of a civil as well as criminal nature, each of which could be pursued regardless of the other." Court further held that only on the ground that complainant instituted multiple civil suit, it is not necessary that it was only to import it a criminal colour and ultimately the Court has to scrutinize, whether the relevant ingredients for a criminal case are even prima facie made out or not. The Court has also taken note that the criminal proceedings cannot be quashed solely because the dispute was referred to arbitration and arbitration proceedings had taken place thereafter.

9. Inherent Power of the High Court under Section 482 Criminal Procedure Code 1973 :-

(I) "Inherent Power" of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C., an extraordinary power is with purpose and object of advancement of justice, which is to be exercised "to give effect to any order under the Cr.P.C.", or "to prevent abuse of process of any Court", or "to secure ends of justice", making arena of the power very wide, yet it is to be exercised sparingly, with great care and with circumspection, that too in the rarest of rare case.

(II) It is no more res integra that exercise of inherent power could be invoked to even quash a criminal proceeding/First Information Report/complaint /chargesheet, but only when allegation made therein does not constitute ingredients of the offence/offences and /or are frivolous and vexatious on their face, without looking into defence evidence, however such power should not be exercised to stifle or cause sudden death of any legitimate prosecution. Inherent power does not empower the High Court to assume role of a trial court and to embark upon an enquiry as to reliability of evidence and sustainability of accusation, specifically in a case where the entire facts are incomplete and hazy. Similarly quashing of criminal proceedings by assessing the statements under section 161 Cr.P.C. at initial stage is nothing but scuttling a full fledged trial.

(III) There can not be any straight jacket formula for regulating the inherent power of this Court, however the Supreme Court has summarised and illustrated some categories in which this power could be exercised in catena of judgments. Some of them are State of Haryana Vs Bhajan Lal : 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd Vs Mohd Sharaful Haque: (2005) 1 SCC 122, Ahmed Ali Quarashi and Anr Versus The State of Uttar Pradesh : 2020 SCC Online SC 107, Joseph Salvaraja A v. State of Gujarat (2011) 7 SCC 59, Sushil Sethi and another Vs The State of Arunachal Pradesh and others (2020) 3 SCC, 240, Priti Saraf and Anr Vs State of NCT of Delhi and Anr : 2021 SCC Online SC 206. Some categories/ circumstances as illustrations but not exhaustive are : allegations made in FIR / complaint, if are taken at their face value and accepted do not prima facie constitute any offence or are so absurd and inherently improbable to make out any case or no cognizable offence is disclosed against the accused, criminal proceedings is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive and with a view to spite the accused due to private and personal grudge, or where there is a specific legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or in the concerned Act to the institution and continuance of the proceedings or when dispute between the parties constitute only a civil wrong and not a criminal wrong, further Courts would not permit a person to be harassed although no case for taking cognizance of the offence has been made out.

(IV) In Sau. Kamal Shivaji Pokarnekar v. The State of Maharashtra : (2019) 14 SCC 350, the Apex Court has laid emphasis on the principles laid down in two of its previous judgements namely, State of Karnataka v. M. Devendrappa : 2015 (3) SCC 424 and Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd. & Ors.: (2006)6 SCC 736 and held that quashing of criminal proceedings is called for only when the complaint does not disclose any offence, or the complaint is frivolous, vexatious, or oppressive and further clarified that defences available during a trial and facts/aspects whose establishment during the trial may lead to acquittal cannot form the basis of quashing a criminal complaint. The criminal complaints cannot be quashed only on the ground that the allegations made therein appear to be of a civil nature, if the ingredients of the alleged offence are prima facie made out in the complaint.

(V) The Supreme Court in M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd Versus State of Maharashtra and Others : (2020) 10 SCC 118, has categorically held that High Court is not justified in passing the order of not to arrest and or no coercive steps either during the investigation or till the final report/ charge sheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing petition under Section 482Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution and even in exceptional cases where High Court is of the opinion that a prima facie case is made out for stay of further investigation,such order has to be with brief reasons, though such orders should not be passed routinely, casually and/or mechanically.

(VI) Whether the allegations are true or untrue, would have to be decided in the trial. In exercise of power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegations in a complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence. (see Ramveer Upadhyay & Anr. versus State of U.P. & Anr. 2022 SCC Online SC 484)

(VII) "A careful reading of the complaint, the gist of which we have extracted above would show that none of the ingredients of any of the offences complained against the appellants are made out. Even if all the averments contained in the complaint are taken to be true, they do not make out any of the offences alleged against the appellants. Therefore, we do not know how an FIR was registered and a charge-sheet was also filed.....It is too late in the day to seek support from any precedents, for the proposition that if no offence is made out by a careful reading of the complaint, the complaint deserves to be quashed." (See, Wyeth Limited & others vs, State of Bihar & another, Criminal Appeal No.1224 of 2022 (Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No.10730 OF 2018), decided on 11th August, 2022).

10. Now the Court proceed to scrutinize, whether the relevant ingredients for a criminal case are prima facie made out or not. Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 and 506 IPC are mentioned hereinafter:

"420. Cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property.--Whoever cheats and thereby dishonestly induces the person deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to make, alter or destroy the whole or any part of a valuable security, or anything which is signed or sealed, and which is capable of being converted into a valuable security, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

"467. Forgery of valuable security, will, etc.--Whoever forges a document which purports to be a valuable security or a will, or an authority to adopt a son, or which purports to give authority to any person to make or transfer any valuable security, or to receive the principal, interest or dividends thereon, or to receive or deliver any money, movable property, or valuable security, or any document purporting to be an acquittance or receipt acknowledging the payment of money, or an acquittance or receipt for the delivery of any movable property or valuable security, shall be punished with imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine."

"468. Forgery for purpose of cheating.--Whoever commits forgery, intending that the document or electronic record forged shall be used for the purpose of cheating, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

"471. Using as genuine a forged document or electronic record.--Whoever fraudulently or dishonestly uses as genuine any document or electronic record which he knows or has reason to believe to be a forged document or electronic record, shall be punished in the same manner as if he had forged such document or electronic record."

"506. Punishment for criminal intimidation.--Whoever commits, the offence of criminal intimidation shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both; If threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, etc.--And if the threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, or to cause the destruction of any property by fire, or to cause an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or to impute, unchastity to a woman, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both."

11. In order to find out, whether there are prima facie case made out for committing offence of cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property as well as forgery of valuable security for the purpose of cheating and using as genuine any document believed to be forged with dishonest intention, the element of dishonesty and intent to commit fraud by cheating or forgery is necessary. However, the facts are different so much as the Complainant has not only paid amount for the purpose of flats but became Legal Advisor of the Company of accused also on retainer basis and for that he was paid on month-to-month basis. Further, his wife has entered into the MOU/Agreement with accused person duly signed by both parties. Therefore, the parties have entered into a business transaction after understanding the terms of MOU/Agreement with expectation of profit of amount deposited in terms of flats and share and since the conditions were not followed and there was a breach of conditions, the Complainant has taken remedy available under Act, 1996 and recently an award has been passed in their favour, therefore, the element of inducement on the basis of fraudulent and dishonest act by accused persons is missing as well as the allegation of forgery is also not prima facie made out as there is no allegation that MOU/Agreement made was a forged document. The allegations of forgery as made in the complaint were in anticipation as well as no evidence was collected, whether any forged documents were prepared. For reference the relevant part of complaint is reproduced hereinafter:

"Inke Dwara Comapny Me Jhuthe Dastavej/ Khata/ Vivran Patra Vouchers Aadi Nuksan Pahunchane Ki Niyat Se Taiyar Kiye Gaye Hai Aut Taiyar Kiye Ja Rahe Hai Jisse Hamare Alawa Anya Niveshakon Ko Bhi Dhanrashi Ka Nuksan Ho."

12. Therefore, there was no material on record that any offence of forgery was prima faice committed.

13. Considering the above analysis, this Court come to definite conclusion that ingredients of offences of committing cheating and forgery are not satisfied since there is no element of dishonesty from inception specifically when parties have entered into MOU/Agreement duly signed and without any allegation of forgery in the said document. The essential ingredients of forgery, i.e., to make any false document with intent to commit fraud is also absent as the allegation in complaint was only in anticipation without any evidence in this regard. Accordingly, this Court finds it to be a fit case where the inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised that no offence is made out on the basis of complaint and material on record and thus the facts of present case falls under the category of exceptionally rare case where it is patently clear that allegations do not disclose any offence. It would be beneficial to extract relevant part of para 15 of Hridaya Ranjan Prasad Verma and others vs. State of Bihar and another, (2000) 4 SCC 168 and para 6 and 7 of Uma Shankar Gopalika vs. State of Bihar and another, (2005) 10 SCC 336:

Hridaya Ranjan Prasad Verma (supra)

"15. ....that the distinction between mere breach of contract and the offence of cheating is a fine one. It depends upon the intention of the accused at the time to inducement which may be judged by his subsequent conduct but for this subsequent conduct is not the sole test. Mere breach of contract cannot give rise to criminal prosecution for cheating unless fraudulent or dishonest intention is shown right at the beginning of the transaction, that is the time when the offence is said to have been committed. Therefore it is the intention which is the gist of the offence. To hold a person guilty of cheating it is necessary to show that he had fraudulent or dishonest intention at the time of making the promise..."

"6. Now the question to be examined by us is as to whether on the facts disclosed in the petition of complaint any criminal offence whatsoever is made out much less offences under Sections 420/120-B IPC. The only allegation in the complaint petition against the accused persons is that they assured the complainant that when they receive the insurance claim amounting to Rs 4,20,000, they would pay a sum of Rs 2,60,000 to the complainant out of that but the same has never been paid. Apart from that there is no other allegation in the petition of complaint. It was pointed out on behalf of the complainant that the accused fraudulently persuaded the complainant to agree so that the accused persons may take steps for moving the Consumer Forum in relation to the claim of Rs 4,20,000. It is well settled that every breach of contract would not give rise to an offence of cheating and only in those cases breach of contract would amount to cheating where there was any deception played at the very inception. If the intention to cheat has developed later on, the same cannot amount to cheating, hi the present case it has nowhere been stated that at the very inception there was any intention on behalf of the accused persons to cheat which is a condition precedent for an offence under Section 420 IPC.

7. In our view petition of complaint does not disclose any criminal offence at all much less any offence either under Section 420 or Section 120-B IPC and the present case is a case of purely civil dispute between the parties for which remedy lies before a civil court by filing a properly constituted suit. In our opinion, in view of these facts allowing the police investigation to continue would amount to an abuse of the process of court and to prevent the same it was just and expedient for the High Court to quash the same by exercising the powers under Section 482 CrPC which it has erroneously refused."

14. In the result, both the applications are allowed. Entire criminal proceedings in Criminal Case No. 2317 of 2017 (State vs. Atul Saxena and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 0726 of 2016, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 506 IPC, Police Station Vrindaban, District Mathura as well as the charge sheet dated 19.01.2017 and cognizance order dated 20.04.2017, are hereby quashed.

15. There shall be no order as to costs.

A. Education Law – Correction of Date of Birth – Limitation - Regulations framed under the Uttar Pradesh Intermediate Education Act, 1921 - Regulation 7 of Chapter III - The Rule of Limitation would not apply if the mistake is in the records maintained by the Board as distinguished from a mistake in the certificate of passing. (Para 11)

In the present case, the petitioner's DOB has been correctly recorded in all the school records, including the one wherefrom she sat the High School Examination leading to the issue of the High School Certificate. It is also not disputed that the petitioner filled her DOB in her application form submitted to the Board for the purpose of appearing in her High School Examination correctly mentioning it as 07.07.1987. The mistake was made in the records of the Board. It is not just a mistake in the High School Certificate issued to the petitioner so as to attract the Rule of Limitation carried in Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations.

The Rule of Limitation seeks to protect and preserve the sanctity of DOB entered in the High School Certificate against changes, where some benefit from the change may be drawn by the applicant. Invariably, the benefit may be claimed for the purpose of eligibility in matters of employment or assertion of a right or the date when a person would superannuate, if in government service. The change that is desired will enhance the age of the first respondent by about 12 years if the DOB is corrected from the one mistakenly recorded by the Board in their records. It does not ostensibly or otherwise afford any kind of gain or advantage to the petitioner-respondent no. 1. (Para 13)

Present special appeal assails judgment and order dated 26.07.2021, passed by learned Single Judge in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 5412 of 2021.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.
Hon’ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is a respondents' appeal arising out of the judgment and order dated 26.07.2021 passed by the learned Single Judge, allowing Writ-C No. 5412 of 2021.

2. The writ petitioner, who is respondent no. 1 to this appeal, passed her High School Examination in the year 2014 from the Board of High School & Intermediate Education, U.P. She was issued with a certificate-cum-marks sheet dated 30th May, 2014. Her High School Certificate-cum-Mark Sheet indicates her date of birth to be 20.07.1999. It is the petitioner's case that she passed her Primary Education (Class-V) from the Primary Vidyalya, Saraiya-I, District Basti on 20.07.1999 and her date of birth recorded in her school records, including the School Leaving Certificate, is 07.07.1987. She passed her Class-VIII examination from Janta Laghu Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalaya, Mahulani Bujurg Bajar, Govindpara, Basti on 30.06.2002. In the Scholar's Register and the Transfer Certificate issued by the Institution last mentioned, the petitioner's date of birth is again recorded as 07.07.1987. She sought admission to Class-IX in the Ramdas Uday Pratap Audyogik Inter College, Bhatpurwa, Chilma Bajar, Basti through an application made for the purpose. In the said application form, jointly signed by the petitioner-respondent no. 1 and her guardian, her date of birth was accurately mentioned as 07.07.1987.

3. It is the petitioner's further case that while making her application to the Board of High School & Intermediate Education to appear in the High School Examination of the year 2014, she correctly mentioned her date of birth as 07.07.1987, which accords with her recorded date of birth in the different institutions that she has attended.

4. Nevertheless, in her High School Certificate issued, the Authorities of the Board incorrectly recorded her date of birth as 20.07.1999, instead of 07.07.1987. The petitioner thereafter married. Her husband was employed with the Medical Health Department. The petitioner's husband's employer demanded details of his family members with their names, age and other details. It was then that the petitioner noticed that her date of birth has been incorrectly mentioned in her High School Certificate-cum-Mark Sheet.

5. The petitioner-respondent no. 1 filed an application on the prescribed proforma, seeking correction of her date of birth in the month of August, 2020. The application aforesaid was made to the Regional Secretary, Board of High School & Intermediate Education, Varanasi. It was duly supported by an affidavit and other documents. Faced with inaction, the petitioner submitted, through registered post, a reminder dated 26.10.2020 and again one dated 02.11.2020, also addressed to the Regional Secretary. The Board of High School & Intermediate Education, Varanasi took no action on the petitioner's application for correction sought to her date of birth. In the circumstances, the writ petitioner-respondent no. 1 preferred Writ-C No. 5412 of 2021, which has come to be allowed by the learned Single Judge, ordering the appellant-Board and the State of U.P. in the appropriate department to correct the petitioner's date of birth in her High School Certificate-cum Mark Sheet by substituting the date as 07.07.1987 for 20.07.1999. The corrected certificate has been ordered to be issued to the petitioner within one month of the date of presentation of a copy of the judgment passed by the learned Single Judge.

6. The appellant-Board and the State of U.P. in the Department of Secondary Education have challenged the aforesaid judgment and order, seeking its reversal.

7. Heard Mr. Ramanand Pandey, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the appellants and Mr. Ashish Pandey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of petitioner-respondent no. 1.

8. The appellants assail the mandamus issued by the learned Single Judge on the sole ground that the writ petitioner had no right to correction of her date of birth, inasmuch as she filed application beyond the period of two years of the date of issue of her High School Certificate-cum-Marks Sheet. The Rule of Limitation provided under Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Uttar Pradesh Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (for short, 'the Act of 1921') bars the petitioner's right to seek correction. The learned Counsel for the appellants submits that the Rule of Limitation cannot be circumvented by falling back on considerations of any kind of equity. It is urged that the Rule of Limitation cannot be given a go-by.

9. On the other hand, learned Counsel appearing for the petitioner-respondent no.1 submitted that the prohibition carried in Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921 is confined to cases, where there is a mistake in any "Pass Certificate' issued by the Board, and not where the mistake is in the records maintained by the Board that is reflected in the certificate.

10. We have considered the submissions advanced at the Bar on behalf of both parties, perused the record and the judgment impugned.

11. The Rule of Limitation postulated in Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations has to be understood for its true purpose and not applied to every situation where correction is sought to particulars mentioned in the certificate-cum-statement of marks. A Division Bench of this Court in Babu Ram v. State of U.P. and another, 2010 SCC OnLine All 1403 held that the Rule of Limitation would not apply if the mistake is in the records maintained by the Board as distinguished from a mistake in the certificate of passing. It was held in Babu Ram (supra):

"In the instant case, we find that Regulation 7, referred to above, refers to correction in the certificate of passing. There is no mistake in the certificate of passing. The mistake is in the records maintained by the Board. Therefore, the said Regulation would not be applicable so far as the case of the appellant is concerned. Once the respondents themselves had issued the certificate showing the Date of Birth of the appellant as 1st September, 1949, the respondent no.2 was bound to correct the clerical mistake in the record of the Board."

12. This decision has been followed by a learned Single Judge of this Court in Ajay Kumar v. Secretary Secondary Education Board, U.P., Allahabad and others, 2014(2) AWC 1765. In Ajay Kumar (supra), it was observed:

"6. From the records it is evident that in all the previous certificates of the petitioner, his date of birth is shown as 16.01.1994. Thus, the mistake appears to be clerical one. It is not the case that the petitioner wants to get his age reduced by the correction, but his age would be enhanced. Thus, the intention of the petitioner does not appear to take undue advantage by moving such application. The application is evidently bona fide.

7. A Division Bench of this Court had the occasion to deal with the similar facts and also the Regulation-7 in Special Appeal No. 1202 of 2010 (Babu Ram v. State of U.P. and another), decided on 03rd August, 2010. The Court has found that Regulation-7 refers to correction in the certificate of passing and if there is any mistake in the record maintained by the Board, Regulation-7 would not be applicable. For the sake of convenience, the relevant part of the judgment of the Division Bench is quoted below:

"Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations, which is relevant for the purpose, reads as under:-

"7. सचिव, परिषद की ओर से सफल उम्मीदवारों को परिषद् की परीक्षा में उत्तीर्ण होने का प्रमाण-पत्र विहित प्रपत्र में देगा और बाद में उसकी प्रविष्टियों में कोई शुद्धि करेगा, बशर्ते कि प्रमाण-पत्र में किसी ऐसी गलत प्रविष्टि, किसी अवचारित लिपिकीय भूल या लोप के कारण या किसी प्रेस लिपिकीय भूल के कारण की गई हो जो असावधानी से परिषद के स्तर के या उस संस्था के, जहाँ से अन्तिम बार शिक्षा प्राप्त की हो, स्तर पर अभिलेख में हो गई हो। यह शुद्धि सचिव द्वारा उसी स्थिति में की जा सकेगी जबकि अभ्यर्थी ने सम्बन्धित परीक्षा के प्रमाण-पत्र को परिषद द्वारा निर्गमन करने की तिथि से दो वर्ष के अन्दर ही लिपिकीय त्रुटि की ओर ध्यान आकृष्ट करते हुए सम्बन्धित प्रधानाचार्य/ केन्द्र व्यवस्थापक को त्रुटि के संशोधन हेतु प्रार्थना-पत्र प्रस्तुत कर दिया हो और उसकी प्रति पंजीकृत डाक से सचिव, परिषद् को भी प्रेषित की हो।"

In the petition filed by the appellant, that plea was also taken before the learned Single Judge. However, the learned Judge held that as the application was filed beyond the time and was not maintainable, and that the appellant herein may file a civil suit for declaration of his Date of Birth.

In the instant case, we find that Regulation 7, referred to above, refers to correction in the certificate of passing. There is no mistake in the certificate of passing. The mistake is in the records maintained by the Board. Therefore, the said Regulation would not be applicable so far as the case of the appellant is concerned. Once the respondents themselves had issued the certificate showing the Date of Birth of the appellant as 1st September, 1949, the respondent no.2 was bound to correct the clerical mistake in the record of the Board."

8. Keeping in the mind the aforesaid law it is evident in the present case that the petitioner's date of birth has been correctly mentioned in the School Leaving Certificate of Class-V, School Leaving Certificate of Class-VIII as well as in the Transfer Certificate of Intermediate, however, in the record of the Board an incorrect date as 11.01.1996 has been recorded. Thus, the provisions of Regulation-7 is not attracted in the facts of the present case."

13. Here too, the petitioner's date of birth has been correctly recorded in all the school records, including the one wherefrom she sat the High School Examination leading to the issue of the High School Certificate. It is also not disputed that the petitioner filled her date of birth in her application form submitted to the Board for the purpose of appearing in her High School Examination correctly mentioning it as 07.07.1987. The mistake was made in the records of the Board. It is not just a mistake in the High School Certificate issued to the petitioner so as to attract the Rule of Limitation carried in Regulation 7 of Chapter III of the Regulations. The principle adumbrated by the Division Bench in Babu Ram's case squarely applies here. Quite apart, the Rule of Limitation seeks to protect and preserve the sanctity of date of birth entered in the High School Certificate against changes, where some benefit from the change may be drawn by the applicant. Invariably, the benefit may be claimed for the purpose of eligibility in matters of employment or assertion of a right or the date when a person would superannuate, if in government service. Here, the petitioner is a married woman, who avowedly seeks the rectification to ensure that the particulars of her husband's family members furnished to his employers are accurate. More so, the change that is desired will enhance the age of the first respondent by about 12 years if the date of birth is corrected from the one mistakenly recorded by the Board in their records. It does not ostensibly or otherwise afford any kind of gain or advantage to the petitioner-respondent no.1.

14. In the entirety of circumstances, in our considered opinion, the appellants have erred in resisting petitioner-respondent no.1's claim to the rectification of the date of birth in the records of the Board and her High School Certificate-cum-Mark Sheet. It may be noticed that no decision, contrary to the view expressed by the Division Bench in Babu Ram's case, has been brought to our notice by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the appellants. Also, we are supported in the view that we take on broader principle by the holding of the Supreme Court in Jigya Yadav (Minor) (Through Guardian/ Father Hari Singh) v. Central Board of Secondary Education and others, (2021) 7 SCC 535.

15. In the circumstances, we do not find any infirmity in the order impugned passed by the learned Single Judge, which we hereby affirm. The appeal is dismissed, but without any order as to costs.

Counsel for the Petitioners:
C.S.C.

Counsel for the Respondent:

A. Service Law – Disciplinary Inquiry – Punishment - Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - Rules 7, 8 & 9 - It is well-established principle of law that if manner of doing a particular act is prescribed under any statute then the act must be done in that manner or not at all. An Inquiry Officer is a quasi-judicial authority. Therefore, he must perform his functions fairly and reasonably which is even otherwise the requirement of the principles of natural justice. (Para 14, 16)

The prosecution has to prove the charges by producing documents through witnesses and placing such witnesses to be cross examined by the charged Government servant. Even in the absence of the charged Government servant, the Inquiry Officer is obliged to examine the evidence presented by the Department to see as to whether the unrebutted evidence is sufficient to hold that the charges are proved. In the present case the aforesaid procedure has not been observed. A perusal of the charge-sheet would show that the charges are based on the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 of the Joint Director. Since no oral evidence has been examined, the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 has not been proved, and could not have been taken into consideration to conclude that the charges have been proved against the respondent.

Prejudice is evident in cases where the Department has not even proved the documents and evidence which has been presented on its own behalf, and the governing rules have been blatantly violated. In the absence of any oral inquiry, any amount of reasoning given by the Inquiry Officer regarding each and every one of the instance in the inquiry report is not going to validate the proceeding. Merely because the Respondent in his reply to the charges didn't express his desire for any cross-examination or examination of his witnesses as alleged, it would not absolve the Inquiry Officer from holding an oral inquiry against the Respondent. (Para 11)

Inquiry proceedings stood vitiated for not following the mandatory provisions of Rule 7(vii) of the Rules. (Para 17)

B. It is undoubtedly open for the disciplinary authority to deal with the delinquency and once charges are established, to award appropriate punishment. But when the charges are same and identical in relation to one and the same incident, then to deal with the delinquents differently in the award of punishment, would be discriminatory. (Para 22)

If all fish stink, to pick one and say only it stinks is unfair in the matter of unanimous decision of the Committee. (Para 21)

The fact that the disciplinary inquiry was initiated against the Respondent, T.K. Sharma, Mukhtar Khan and Javir Ali on the basis of the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2021 is not in dispute is not in dispute. It is also not disputed that the other officers were exonerated by the Inquiry Officer, but on the same charges the Respondent was found guilty. In the punishment order, the St. Government has failed to give any reason or justification as to why the basis for exoneration of other three employees is inapplicable to the case of Respondent. (Para 20, 24)

C. There may be situations where because of a long time-lag or such other supervening circumstances the writ court considers it unfair, harsh or otherwise unnecessary to direct a fresh inquiry or fresh order by the competent authority. It is settled legal preposition, that once the court sets aside an order of punishment, on the ground that the inquiry was not properly conducted, it must remit the case concerned to the disciplinary authority for it to conduct the inquiry from the point that stood vitiated, and conclude the same. But that course may not have been the only course open in a given situation. (Para 25, 26)

In the present case, disciplinary inquiry was initiated against the Respondent in the year 2014. The punishment order dated 11.08.2017 was served upon him on 31.08.2017, the date on which the Respondent attained the age of superannuation and retired from service. The Respondent may by now must have turned 66 years of age. Any remand either to the inquiry officer for a fresh inquiry or to the disciplinary authority for a fresh order would thus be very harsh and would practically deny to the Respondent any relief whatsoever. Furthermore, in light of the fact that the Respondent has been discriminated against in the matter of imposition of punishment, and that he is entitled to parity qua other exonerated officers. The Tribunal has rightly exercised its discretion in not remanding the matter back. (Para 27)

2. On 13.07.2015, the State Government issued a corrigendum to the charge-sheet dated 21.04.2014, amending the figure Rs. 2,25,739/-, wherever it appeared in the charge-sheet by the figure Rs. 3,96,500/-. On 10.09.2015, a supplementary charge-sheet was issued to the Respondent with an additional charge of withdrawal of Rs. 76,500/-. On 09.08.2016, the Respondent submitted his reply denying the charges levelled against him. On 28.12.2016, the Inquiry Officer submitted his inquiry report. Thereafter, a show cause notice dated 16.01.2017 was issued to the Respondent. On 07.02.2017, the Respondent submitted his reply to the said show cause notice. The State Government passed the punishment order dated 11.08.2017, whereby the Respondent was ordered to be reverted to the initial pay scale and a sum of Rs. 4,72,000/- was ordered to be recovered from him. The order dated 11.08.2017 was served upon the Respondent on 31.08.2017. In compliance of the order dated 11.08.2017, the Administrator, Greater Sharda Sahayak Command, passed an order dated 07.11.2017 fixing the salary of the Respondent at Rs. 35,400/- as on 11.08.2017, in the basic pay scale of Junior Engineer.

3. The Respondent assailed the punishment order dated 11.08.2017, as well as the consequential order dated 07.11.2017, before the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal (for short 'the Tribunal') in Claim Petition No. 2079 of 2017, Dinesh Kumar Katiyar v. State of U.P. and another. By its judgment and order dated 04.10.2021, the Tribunal has allowed the claim petition. The orders dated 11.08.2017 and 07.11.2017 have been quashed with all consequential benefits. The amount, if any, recovered from the Respondent has been ordered to be refunded. Aggrieved by the said judgment and order dated 04.10.2021 of the Tribunal, the Petitioners have preferred the present writ petition.

4. Shri Vivek Kumar Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, appearing for the Petitioners, submitted that the Respondent, at any stage of the proceedings, did not ask for any oral inquiry and in the absence of the Respondent showing any prejudice having been caused to him, the Tribunal has erred in setting aside the punishment order on the ground that no oral inquiry was held. He further submitted that, once the order of punishment was set aside by the Tribunal on the ground that the inquiry was not properly conducted, the Tribunal was obliged to remit the case to the disciplinary authority for it to conduct the inquiry from the point that it stood vitiated, and to conclude the same.

5. Shri Ajey Shanker Tewari, Advocate appearing for the Respondent has supported the impugned judgment.

6. The relevant facts for the adjudication of this case are as follows: the Respondent, was appointed as a Junior Engineer on 08.10.1980. He was promoted to the post of Soil Conservation Officer on 07.02.2013 on probation for a period of two years. On 31.07.2012, the Joint Director (Agriculture), Ramganga Command Project, Kanpur submitted a preliminary inquiry report holding the personnel named therein responsible for wastage of money. On the basis of the report dated 31.07.2012 mentioned above, disciplinary proceedings were initiated against four persons, namely, the Respondent, Shri T.K. Sharma, Deputy Director, Shri Mukhtar Khan, Assistant Soil Conservation Officer and Shri Javir Ali, Junior Engineer. The Respondent was served with a charge-sheet dated 21.04.2014, containing two charges pertaining to the period he was posted as Incharge Soil Conservation Officer in Land Development and Water Resources Department at Orai w.e.f. 27.06.2008 to 22.04.2010. The Respondent denied the charges levelled against him. The Inquiry Officer without holding any oral inquiry submitted his inquiry report which led to the passing of the orders dated 11.08.2017 and 07.11.2017.

7. Admittedly, the inquiry against the Respondent has been held under the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (for brevity "the Rules"). The said Rules have been framed by the Government of Uttar Pradesh in exercise of powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution. The Rules prescribe the detailed procedure to be followed in the matters of enforcing discipline and imposing penalty/punishment against Government servants and in appeals in case of proven misconduct. The procedure and the manner in which an inquiry has to be conducted before imposing any major penalty is laid down in Rule 7 of the Rules. Sub-rule (v), (vi), (vii) & (x) of Rule 7 being relevant are being extracted below for ready reference:

7. Procedure for imposing major penalties. - Before imposing any major penalty on a Government servant, an inquiry shall be held in the following manner:

(i) to (iv) (omitted as unnecessary)

(v) The charge-sheet, along with the copy of the documentary evidences mentioned therein and list of witnesses and their statements, if any shall be served on the charged Government servant personally or by registered post at the address mentioned in the official records. In case the charge-sheet could not be served in aforesaid manner, the charge-sheet shall be served by publication in a daily newspaper having wide circulation:

Provided that where the documentary evidence is voluminous, instead of furnishing its copy with charge-sheet, the charge Government servant shall be permitted to inspect the same before the Inquiry Officer.

(vi) Where the charged Government servant appears and admits charges, the Inquiry Officer shall submit his report to the disciplinary authority on the basis of such admission.

(vii) Where the charged Government servant denies the charge the Inquiry Officer shall proceed to call the witnesses proposed in the charge-sheet and record their oral evidence in presence of the charge Government servant who shall be given opportunity to cross-examine such witnesses. After recording the aforesaid evidences, the Inquiry officer shall call and record the oral evidence which the charged Government servant desired in his written statement to be produced in his defence:

Provided that the Inquiry Officer may for reasons to be recorded in writing refuse to call a witness.

(viii) & (ix) (omitted as unnecessary)

(x) Where the charged Government servant does not appear on the date fixed in the inquiry or at any stage of the proceeding in spite of the service of the notice on him or having knowledge of the date, the inquiry officer shall proceed with the inquiry ex parte. In such a case the inquiry officer shall record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet in absence of the charged Government servant.

(xi) to (xii) (omitted as unnecessary)"

8. Rule 8 of the Rules provides that after the inquiry is completed, the Inquiry Officer shall submit his inquiry report to the disciplinary authority along with all the records of the inquiry. Rule 9 of the Rules prescribes the procedure to be adopted by the disciplinary authority after receiving the inquiry report.

9. As per sub-rule (vi) of Rule 7 of the Rules, it is only where the delinquent Government servant appears and admits the charges that the Inquiry Officer is at liberty to submit his report to the disciplinary authority on the basis of such admission. However, where the delinquent Government servant denies the charges levelled against him, sub-rule (vii) of Rule 7 enjoins upon the Inquiry Officer to hold an oral inquiry in accordance with the procedure prescribed in the said Rule. It is only after the inquiry is completed, strictly as per the procedure laid down for the purpose, that the Inquiry Officer can submit his inquiry report to the disciplinary authority. The disciplinary authority, having regard to the findings in the inquiry report, and after giving an opportunity to show cause, as specified, may by a speaking order impose any penalty whether minor or major specified in Rule 3 of the Rules.

10. By a catena of decisions, the Apex Court has laid down the principles regarding the manner in which disciplinary proceedings are to be conducted and the procedure to be followed therein. It is not necessary to refer to all these decisions. Suffice it to refer to a few decisions on this topic.

11. In State of Uttranchal and others v. Kharak Singh, (2008) 8 SCC 236, after referring to some leading decisions on the issue, the Apex Court consolidated the principles to be followed in disciplinary proceedings. The relevant portion of Paragraph 15 of the said report is being extracted below:

"15. From the above decisions, the following principles would emerge:

(i) The enquiries must be conducted bona fide and care must be taken to see that the enquiries do not become empty formalities.

(ii) omitted

(iii) In an enquiry, the employer/department should take steps first to lead evidence against the workman/delinquent charged and give an opportunity to him to cross-examine the witnesses of the employer. Only thereafter, the workman/delinquent be asked whether he wants to lead any evidence and asked to give any explanation about the evidence led against him.

(iv) On receipt of the enquiry report, before proceeding further, it is incumbent on the part of the disciplinary/punishing authority to supply a copy of the enquiry report and all connected materials relied on by the enquiry officer to enable him to offer his views, if any.

12. In Roop Singh Negi v. Punjab National Bank & Ors., (2009) 2 SCC 570 the Apex Court reiterated that charges levelled against the charged Government servant must be proved by leading cogent evidence. Paragraph 14 of the said report is reproduced below: -

"Indisputably, a departmental proceeding is a quasi judicial proceeding. The Enquiry Officer performs a quasi judicial function. The charges leveled against the delinquent officer must be found to have been proved. The enquiry officer has a duty to arrive at a finding upon taking into consideration the materials brought on record by the parties. The purported evidence collected during investigation by the Investigating Officer against all the accused by itself could not be treated to be evidence in the disciplinary proceeding. No witness was examined to prove the said documents. The management witnesses merely tendered the documents and did not prove the contents thereof. Reliance, inter alia, was placed by the Enquiry Officer on the FIR which could not have been treated as evidence."

and then in paragraph 23 of the said decision, the Apex Court held as follows:

".....The materials brought on record pointing out the guilt are required to be proved. A decision must be arrived at on some evidence, which is legally admissible.

The provisions of the Evidence Act may not be applicable in a departmental proceeding but the principles of natural justice are. As the report of the Enquiry Officer was based on merely ipse dixit as also surmises and conjectures, the same could not have been sustained. The inferences drawn by the Enquiry Officer apparently were not supported by any evidence. Suspicion, as is well known, however high may be, can under no circumstances be held to be a substitute for legal proof."

13. In State of U.P. and others v. Saroj Kumar Sinha, (2010) 2 SCC 772, where the delinquent employee had not even submitted his reply to the charge-sheet, while considering the impact of Rule 7 of the Rules, the Apex Court observed as under: -

"26. A bare perusal of the aforesaid sub-rule shows that when the respondent had failed to submit the explanation to the charge-sheet it was incumbent upon the inquiry officer to fix a date for his appearance in the inquiry. It is only in a case when the government servant despite notice of the date fixed failed to appear that the inquiry officer can proceed with the inquiry ex parte. Even in such circumstances it is incumbent on the inquiry officer to record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet. Since the government servant is absent, he would clearly lose the benefit of cross-examination of the witnesses. But nonetheless in order to establish the charges the Department is required to produce the necessary evidence before the inquiry officer. This is so as to avoid the charge that the inquiry officer has acted as a prosecutor as well as a judge. An inquiry officer acting in a quasi-judicial authority is in the position of an independent adjudicator. He is not supposed to be a representative of the department/ disciplinary authority/ Government. His function is to examine the evidence presented by the Department, even in the absence of the delinquent official to see as to whether the unrebutted evidence is sufficient to hold that the charges are proved."

14. It is a well-established principle of law that if manner of doing a particular act is prescribed under any statute then the act must be done in that manner or not at all. (see Babu Verghese v. Bar Council of Kerala, (1999) 3 SCC 422 and Brajendra Singh Yambem v. Union of India, (2016) 9 SCC 20).

15. In the case in hand, the Respondent 1 had submitted his reply denying the charges levelled against him. Admittedly, the Inquiry Officer did not hold any oral inquiry and has given his report only on the basis of the reply submitted by the Respondent. Sub-rule (vii) of Rule 7 of the Rules mandates that in all cases where the charged Government servant denies the charges, the Inquiry Officer shall proceed to call the witnesses proposed in the charge-sheet and record their oral evidence in the presence of the charged Government servant, who shall then be given an opportunity to cross-examine such witness. It is no more res integra that the prosecution has to prove the charges by producing documents through witnesses and placing such witnesses to be cross examined by the charged Government servant. Even in the absence of the charged Government servant, the Inquiry Officer is obliged to examine the evidence presented by the Department to see as to whether the unrebutted evidence is sufficient to hold that the charges are proved. In the present case the aforesaid procedure has not been observed. A perusal of the charge-sheet would show that the charges are based on the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 of the Joint Director. Since no oral evidence has been examined, the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 has not been proved, and could not have been taken into consideration to conclude that the charges have been proved against the Respondent. Prejudice is evident in cases where the Department has not even proved the documents and evidence which has been presented on its own behalf, and the governing rules have been blatantly violated. In the absence of any oral inquiry, any amount of reasoning given by the Inquiry Officer regarding each and every one of the instance in the inquiry report is not going to validate the proceeding. Merely because the Respondent in his reply to the charges did not express his desire for any cross-examination or examination of his witnesses as alleged, it would not absolve the Inquiry Officer from holding an oral inquiry against the Respondent.

16. In Union of India v. Prakash Kumar Tandon, (2009) 2 SCC 541, while dealing with the issue of prejudice in departmental proceedings, the Apex Court observed that an Inquiry Officer is a quasi-judicial authority. Therefore, he must perform his functions fairly and reasonably which is even otherwise the requirement of the principles of natural justice and held as under:

"16. In M.V. Bijlani v. Union of India this Court has held: (SCC p. 95, para 25)

"25. ... Although the charges in a departmental proceeding are not required to be proved like a criminal trial i.e. beyond all reasonable doubt, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the enquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with."

17. If the disciplinary proceedings have not been fairly conducted, an inference can be drawn that the delinquent officer was prejudiced thereby.

18. In S.L. Kapoor v. Jagmohan this Court has held that non-compliance with the principles of natural justice itself causes prejudice. We are not oblivious of the fact that the said principle has since been watered down but in a situation of this nature, we are of the opinion that the concurrent findings of the Tribunal, as also the High Court cannot be said to be unreasonable or suffering from any legal infirmity warranting interference."

17. In view of the above discussion, this Court is constrained to uphold the conclusion drawn by the Tribunal that the inquiry proceedings stood vitiated for not following the mandatory provisions of sub-Rule (vii) of Rule 7 of the Rules.

18. Turning to the second contention of the Petitioner, it is to be seen that in his reply dated 07.02.2017, to the show cause notice dated 16.01.2017, the Respondent had specifically stated that the departmental proceedings were initiated against him, Shri T.K. Sharma, Shri Mukhtar Khan and Shri Javir Ali and on the basis of the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 of the Joint Director. However, except for the Respondent, all other officers were exonerated. In the punishment order dated 11.08.2017, the disciplinary authority has stated some facts and extracted the charges levelled against the Respondent, the reply submitted by him to the said charges, the findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer in connection with the respective charges and, thereafter, without even adverting to the submissions made by the Respondent, the disciplinary authority has upheld the findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer by a cryptic order.

19. The Tribunal after hearing the counsel for the contesting parties and after perusing the original records has returned a finding that there was discrimination in imposing punishment. Relevant paragraphs of the judgment dated 04.10.2021 are extracted below:

"17. Sri Shri T.K. Sharma Deputy Director, Sri Javir ali, and Mukhtar Khan all were charged along with the petitioner on the basis of report of Joint Director dated 31.07.2012.

18. Enquiry officer Sri Satyabhan, Additional Administrator found charge No.1, 2 and 5 of the main chargesheet and charge no.1 of the Supplementary Chargesheet partially proved in his enquiry report dated 28.12.2016, This enquiry was in respect of period 27.6.2008 to 22.04.2010. Disciplinary Authority Chairman/ Administrator, Ram Ganga Command taking note of partially proved charges has observed that measurement was done in pursuance of the letter of Soil Conservation Officer and payment of the work was recommended according to standard. Shri Javir Ali, Junior engineer was exonerated as the payment was done and executed work was found to be according to the standard and up to the mark. Reference to Javir Ali Junior Engineer was specially made in his reply to enquiry officer on 09.08.2016.

19. Similarly, Shri Mukhtar Khan, assistant soil Conservation Officer who got repairing work done through Sri Javir Ali, Junior engineer was also chargesheeted similarly but he was let off with a warning on 13.01.2016 by the Disciplinary Authority/ Chairman of the Ram Ganga Command. In this matter also enquiry officer had found charge No.1, 2, 4, 5 and charge no.1 of the supplementary chargesheet partially proved.

20. Shri T.K. Sharma, Deputy Director was also charged similarly and the enquiry officer had found charge no.1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 fully established and charge no.1 of the supplementary chargesheet was not found proved. State Government while passing the final order came to the conclusion that charge no.1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 were found not established and consequently, he was exonerated. It was specially observed that in the absence of date, time and place of the enquiry, defence of non production of measurement book was liable to be accepted. Further, finding of the enquiry officer was upset on the basis of letter of Deputy Director who found that necessary work was done and disagreeing with the findings of the enquiry officer, State Govt. exonerated Sri T.K. Sharma.

21. Petitioner had referred to these three names as these persons were mentioned in the report dated 31.7.2012 submitted by Joint Director. This report was basis of departmental enquiry and the chargesheet was accordingly issued to the petitioner as well as Sri T.K. Sharma, then Deputy Director, Shri Javir Ali, Junior Engineer and Shri Mukhtar Khan, Assistant Soil Conservation Officer.

22. Since report of Joint Director was made the basis of departmental enquiry, so a look of said report is also necessary.

23. The relevant part of the report dated 31.7.2012 is reproduced below: -

"पत्रावली, मापन पुस्तिका, चिट्ठा आदि उपलब्ध न होने के कारण कार्यस्थल की जांच किया जाना सम्भव नहीं हो पाया, जबकि दिनांक 10 जनवरी, 2012 को मा0 मंत्रीजी की अध्यक्षता में मासिक समीक्षा बैठक में श्री शंकरदीन उपनिदेशक, झांसी प्रथम ने अवगत कराया था कि मापन का कार्य पूर्ण हो गया है, समायोजन कर लिया जायेगा। उपलब्ध तथ्यों से यह स्पष्ट है कि जल संग्रहण समिति के धन का जो हरियाली बाइड लाइन के पैरा–36 के अनुसार सामुदायिक कार्यो पर व्यय किया जाना था, वह गाइड लाइन के अनुसार सामुदायिक कार्यो पर व्यय न होकर भूमि संरक्षण अधिकारी श्री डी0के0 कटियार व उपनिदेशक/भूमि संरक्षण अधिकारी श्री टी0के0 शर्मा के द्वारा विहरण की नियत से उक्त धनराशि का आहरण किया गया है। डब्लू0डी0एफ0 से आहरित धनराशि को निकालने का अधिकारी भूमि संरक्षण अधिकारी, हरियाली गाइड लाइन के प्रस्तर–29 एवं 36 का उल्लंघन करते हुए आहरण किया गया है।

उक्त के अलावा आई0डब्लू0डी0पी0 योजनान्तर्गत आई0डब्लू0डी0पी0 प्रथम कुठौत ब्लाक की 10 परियोजनाओं में डब्लू0डी0एफ0 खतों में जमा धनराशि रु0 28,80,459 में से रु0 22,96,900 07 अगस्त 2010 से 20 सितम्बर 2010 तक श्री टी0के0शर्मा उपनिदेशक/भूमि संरक्षण अधिकारी के कार्यकाल में आहरित की गई है। इस प्रकार की टी0के0शर्मा के कार्यकाल में डी0पी0ए0पी0 एवं आई0डब्लू0डी0पी0 के विभिन्न परियोजनाओं के डब्लू0डी0एफ0 खातों से रु0 60,71,372 एवं श्री डी0के0 कटियार प्रभारी भूमि संरक्षण अधिकारी के कार्यकाल में रु0 2,25,739,00 का अध्यक्ष एवं सचिव के माध्यम से आहरण कराया गया। उक्त सम्पूर्ण आहरण से संबंधित कोई स्टीमेट, श्रमिक चिट्ठा, माप पुस्तिका समायोजन हेतु कार्यालय में उपलब्ध नहीं है। .....

On the basis of this report enquiry was instituted against the petitioner, Sri T.K. Sharma, Deputy Director, Shri Mukhtar Khan, Assistant Soil Conservation Officer and Sri Javir Ali, Junior Engineer, Enquiry Officer submitted his enquiry report finding most of the charges established against all four persons. shri Javir Ali, Junior Engineer was exonerated and Shri Mukhtar Khan, Assistant Soil Conservation Officer was given stern warning by their punishing authority. Tri T.K. Sharma, Deputy Director was exonerated without without any punishment by State Government. Only petitioner has been punished on the basis of said enquiry report."

20. The fact that disciplinary inquiry was initiated against the Respondent, T.K. Sharma, Mukhtar Khan and Javir Ali on the basis of the preliminary inquiry report dated 31.07.2012 is not in dispute. It is also not disputed that the other officers were exonerated by the Inquiry Officer, but on the same charges the Respondent was found guilty. In the punishment order, the State Government has failed to give any reason or justification as to why the basis for exoneration of other three employees is inapplicable to the case of the Respondent.

21. In Bongaigaon Refinery & Petrochemicals Ltd. v. Girish Chandra Sarma, (2007) 7 SCC 206, while dealing with discrimination in imposition of punishment, the Apex Court has stated as under: -

"18. After going through the report and the finding recorded by the Division Bench of the High Court, we are of opinion that in fact the Division Bench correctly assessed the situation that the respondent alone was made a scapegoat whereas the decision by all three Committees was unanimous decision by all these members participating in the negotiations and the price was finalised accordingly. It is not the respondent alone who can be held responsible when the decision was taken by the Committees. If the decision of the committee stinks, it cannot be said that the respondent alone stinks; it will be arbitrary. If all fish stink, to pick one and say only it stinks is unfair in the matter of unanimous decision of the Committee."

22. In yet another case in State of U.P. and others v. Raj Pal Singh, (2010) 5 SCC 783, the Apex Court has observed as under: -

"5. Though, on principle, the ratio in aforesaid cases would ordinarily apply, but in the case in hand, the High Court appears to have considered the nature of charges leveled against the 5 employees who stood charged on account of the incident that happened on the same day and then the High Court came to the conclusion that since the gravity of charges was the same, it was not open for the disciplinary authority to impose different punishments for different delinquents. The reasonings given by the High Court cannot be faulted with since the State is not able to indicate as to any difference in the delinquency of these employees.

6. It is undoubtedly open for the disciplinary authority to deal with the delinquency and once charges are established, to award appropriate punishment. But when the charges are same and identical in relation to one and the same incident, then to deal with the delinquents differently in the award of punishment, would be discriminatory. In this view of the matter, we see no infirmity with the impugned order requiring our interference under Article 136 of the Constitution."

23. In Tata Engineering and Locomotive Co. Ltd. v. Jitendra Prasad Singh and others, (2001) 10 SCC 530, the Apex Court has upheld the finding recorded by the High Court by observing as under: -

"Since as many as three workmen on almost identical charges were found guilty of misconduct in connection with the same incident, though in separate proceedings, and one was punished with only one month's suspension, and the other was ultimately reinstated in view of the findings recorded by the Labour Court and affirmed by the High Court and the Supreme Court, it would be denial of justice to the appellant if he alone is singled out for punishment by way of dismissal from service."

24. For the reasons stated above, it is apparent that the Respondent has been discriminated against in the matter of imposition of penalty. In the facts and circumstances of the case, the Respondent is entitled to parity qua Shri T.K. Sharma, Shri Mukhtar Khan and Shri Javir Ali.

25. It is a settled legal proposition, that once the court sets aside an order of punishment, on the ground that the inquiry was not properly conducted, it must remit the case concerned to the disciplinary authority for it to conduct the inquiry from the point that it stood vitiated, and conclude the same.

26. That course could have been followed even in the present case. The matter could be remanded back to the disciplinary authority or to the inquiry officer for a proper inquiry and a fresh report and order. But that course may not have been the only course open in a given situation. There may be situations where because of a long time-lag or such other supervening circumstances the writ court considers it unfair, harsh or otherwise unnecessary to direct a fresh inquiry or fresh order by the competent authority. (see Allahabad Bank v. Krishna Narayan Tewari, (2017) 2 SCC 308)

27. In the present case, disciplinary inquiry was initiated against the Respondent in the year 2014. The punishment order dated 11.08.2017 was served upon him on 31.08.2017, the date on which the Respondent attained the age of superannuation and retired from service. The Respondent may by now must have turned 66 years of age. Any remand either to the inquiry officer for a fresh inquiry or to the disciplinary authority for a fresh order would thus be very harsh and would practically deny to the Respondent any relief whatsoever. Furthermore, in light of the fact that the Respondent has been discriminated against in the matter of imposition of punishment, and that he is entitled to parity qua Shri T.K. Sharma, Shri Mukhtar Khan and Shri Javir Ali, this Court is of the opinion that the Tribunal has rightly exercised its discretion in not remanding the matter back.

28. Resultantly, we do not perceive any merit in this writ petition and the same is, accordingly, dismissed.

THE HON'BLE RAJAN ROY, J.

Writ A No. 6045 of 2022

Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Vinod Kumar Pandey

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Ravi Singh

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment - Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants (Dying in Harness) Rules, 1974 - Rule 5(1) - The exception in Rule 5(1) will not come into play where the spouse of the deceased was not in employment on the date of her death and was also not getting any pension, subject, of course, to an enquiry in this regard as to the financial condition of the family. (Para 7)

The words 'is not already employed' occurring in Rule 5(1) implies an existing employment and does not cover a scenario where the spouse has retired on the date of death. If such retired spouse is getting pension then this aspect can be considered separately while assessing the financial condition of the family, but then, in such a situation the exception carved out in Rule 5(1) would not be applicable. (Para 7)

Apparently the opposite parties have misconstrued Rule 5(1), the same will have no application where the spouse who was in service had already retired prior to the death of the wife. The opposite parties are under an obligation to reconsider the claim of the petitioner in the light of the law on the subject, meaning thereby, they shall ascertain financial condition of the family as to whether the petitioner has adequate means to sustain herself and then take a considered decision in the light of the Full Bench decision. The impugned order dated 22.01.2021 is quashed. Let a fresh decision be taken within two months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order. (Para 8, 9)

Writ Petition disposed of. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Shiv Kumar Dubey Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Special Appeal No. 356 of 2012, Full Bench decision dated 06.04.2012.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. There is no need to call for a counter affidavit in the matter as the facts as stated in the impugned order, if they are taken on their face value, even then the same cannot sustain.

2. Counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel and Mr. Ravi Singh, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 have been heard.

3. The petitioner filed an application seeking compassionate appointment consequent to the death of her mother, namely, Vimla, who died on 11.06.2018. Annexure-3 is the death certificate mentioning the date of death of Vimla as 11.06.2018. The claim of the petitioner has been denied by relying upon Rule 5 (1) of U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants (Dying-in-Harness) Rules, 1974 on the ground that husband of late Vimla was employed as Sweeper under UPSRTC, therefore, in view of the exception carved out in the said Rule, the petitioner is not entitle to compassionate appointment. Though the said Rules are applicable to Government Servants, but, it appears that they have been applied in Nagar Nigam also as this is the Rule which is referred in the impugned order. Rule 5 reads as under:

"5. Recruitment of a member of the family of the deceased.- (1) In case a Government servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except the post which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, in relaxation of the normal recruitment rules if such person-

(i)fulfills the educational qualifications prescribed for the post,

(ii) is otherwise qualified for government service; and

(iii) makes the application for employment within five years from the date of the death of the government servant:

Provided that where the State Government is satisfied that the time limit fixed for making the application for employment causes undue hardship in any particular case, it may dispense with or relax the requirement as it may consider necessary for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner.

Provided further that for the purpose of the aforesaid proviso, the person concerned shall explain the reasons and give proper justification in writing regarding the delay caused in making the application for employment after the expiry of the time limit fixed for making the application for employment along with the necessary documents/proof in support of such delay and the Government shall, after taking into consideration all the facts leading to such delay take the appropriate decision.

(2) As far as possible, such an employment should be given in the same department in which the deceased Government servant was employed prior to his death.

(3) Every appointment made under sub-rule (1) shall be subject to the condition that the person appointed under sub-rule (1) shall maintain other members of the family of deceased Government servant, who were dependent on the deceased Government servant immediately before his death and are unable to maintain themselves.

(4) Where the person appointed under sub-rule (1) neglects or refuses to maintain a person to whom he is liable to maintain under sub-rule (3), his services may be terminated in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999, as amended from time to time."

4. Rule very clearly says that in case a Government servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except the post which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, in relaxation of the normal recruitment rules.

5. The impugned order itself says that the husband of Vimla i.e. father of the petitioner was employed as Sweeper in Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation and he retired on 31.12.2015 i.e. prior to the death of Vimla.

6. On a specific query being put, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the post of Sweeper in UPSRTC was not pensionable and paltry sum of couple thousand was paid as post retiral dues which was inadequate for sustenance.

7. The Court finds merit in the submission of petitioner that the exception in Rule 5(1) will not come into play where the spouse of the deceased was not in employment on the date of her death and was also not getting any pension, subject, of course, to an enquiry in this regard as to the financial condition of the family in the light of the Full Bench decision dated 06.04.2014 in Special Appeal No. 356 of 2012 (Shiv Kumar Dubey vs. State of U.P. and others). The words 'is not already employed' occurring in Rule 5 (1) implies an existing employment and does not cover a scenario where the spouse has retired on the date of death. If such retired spouse is getting pension then this aspect can be considered separately while assessing the financial condition of the family, but then, in such a situation the exception carved out in Rule 5(1) would not be applicable.

8. Apparently the opposite parties have misconstrued Rule 5 (1), the same will have no application where the spouse who was in service had already retired prior to the death of the wife. The opposite parties are under an obligation to reconsider the claim of the petitioner in the light of the law on the subject, meaning thereby, they shall ascertain financial condition of the family as to whether the petitioner has adequate means to sustain herself and then take a considered decision in the light of the aforesaid Full Bench decision.

9. The impugned order dated 22.01.2021 is quashed. Let a fresh decision be taken within two months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order.

10. It is open for the opposite parties to verify as to whether the father of the petitioner was receiving any pension or had received any other post retiral dues, if so, what was the amount in this regard.

11. The writ petition is disposed of.

(Para 22 and 23)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

List of Cases cited:-

1. Somesh Tiwari Vs U.O.I. & ors.; AIR 2009 SC 1399

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

1. The petitioner has challenged the order dated 13.07.2020 passed by State Radio Officer (Administration), U.P. Police Radio Headquarter, Mahanagar, Lucknow, as well as the relieving orders dated 14.07.2020 and 15.07.2020 passed by Radio Inspector, Gyanvapi, Varanasi. The petitioner has also challenged the order dated 07.10.2020 passed by Additional Director General of Police (Telecom), Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow.

2. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was working on the post of Head Operator (Mechanic) in U.P. Police Radio Department and was posted in District Mau from July, 2001 to July, 2019. The petitioner made a request for his transfer to Varanasi because his mother was being treated at Varanasi. The petitioner was transferred from District Mau to District Varanasi on 8.7.2019 by the Competent Authority i.e. Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom), U.P. Police Radio Headquarter, Mahanagar, Lucknow.

It has been argued that while the petitioner was working in Mau, he had made a complaint against his higher officials alleging personal animosity with the petitioner. When the petitioner had made application for transfer from District Mau to District Varanasi, an adverse report was made on such application by the Additional State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi on 30.05.2019, a perusal of which would go to show that the Additional State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi was inimical to the petitioner and did not want his transfer to Varanasi. Now the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi on the recommendation of Additional State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi had recommended the transfer of the petitioner to a different district. His recommendation dated 24.05.2020 was relied upon and without any opportunity of hearing being given to the petitioner and without seeking approval of the Competent Authority i.e. Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom), the petitioner was transferred from Varanasi to Fatehpur on 13.07.2020. The petitioner went on leave. Suddenly relieving order was issued on 14.07.2020 by the State Radio Officer (Administration), U.P. Police Radio Headquarter, Mahanagar, Lucknow and he was relieved in absentia and the order was pasted at his residence on 15.07.2020.

3. The petitioner being aggrieved, filed writ petition before this Court namely Writ-A No. 6619 of 2020 (Sanjay Kumar Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others).

4. This Court noted the submission made by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the order was passed with malicious intent and that it was passed by an incompetent authority and also noted the submissions made by the learned Standing Counsel that under the Uttar Pradesh Police Radio Sub-ordinate Officers' Service Rules, 2015, the Appointing Authority of the petitioner is the State Radio Officer and the Appointing Authority can also transfer the petitioner. Moreover, such transfer order had been issued after recommendation dated 13.07.2020 of the U.P. Police Radio Establishment Board of which Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) and Inspector General of Police (Telecom) are members and an employee of the Police Radio Department can be transferred from one Zone to another Zone only by the U.P. Police Radio Establishment Board. This Court was not satisfied with the submission of the learned counsel for the parties but observed that the petitioner had already approached the authority concerned by moving a representation and the matter be looked into and decided by the Competent Authority i.e. Deputy Inspector General of Police within a period of two weeks from the date of passing of the order dated 28.09.2020 and that for a period of two weeks, since the petitioner was already on medical leave, no action be taken against him for not joining at his transferred place of posting and the final decision of the Authority be awaited.

5. It has been argued that in pursuance of the order passed by this Court, the petitioner again made a representation along with a copy of the order of this Court to the Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) and now the impugned order has been passed by the respondent reiterating their earlier stand and affirming the transfer order dated 13.07.2020, without considering any of the grounds mentioned by the petitioner in his representation.

6. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the transfer order is punitive in nature and has referred to the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Somesh Tiwari v. Union of India and others reported in AIR 2009 SC 1399. An ex parte enquiry had been conducted by the Superintendent of Police Varanasi and the Assistant State Radio Officer against the petitioner and it was made the basis of the order of transfer dated 13.07.2020. It amounted to punishing the petitioner without giving opportunity of hearing to him.

7. It has also been argued that the three grounds raised by the petitioner in his representation against the transfer order dated 13.07.2020 have been mentioned in the impugned order but none of the grounds taken by him have been considered or discussed and no finding has been recorded by the respondents.

8. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that power of transfer of the government employees of the Police Department/Police Radio Department is vested with the Inspector General of Police (Telecom) / Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) and even recommendation for transfer had to be made by such officers as per the Standing Order No. 32/1-2001 dated 27.10.2001. In paragraph 5 of the said Standing Order, the control / administration of working staff in the concerned district of the Radio Wing would be vested with the concerned State Radio Officer. It has been argued that the disciplinary proceedings initiated on a complaint made by the Additional State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi against the petitioner are still continuing and during the continuance of such proceeding, the transfer order could not have been passed.

9. The learned Standing Counsel, Shri Sharad Upadhyay on the basis of the counter affidavit filed by the State-respondents has argued that the petitioner was posted at Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi. The Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi conducted an enquiry against the petitioner where it was found that the petitioner is habitual of making representations against his higher officers of the department on misconceived and incorrect grounds. As the conduct of the petitioner was unbecoming of a member of disciplined force, and had the tendency to have a deleterious effect on other employees posted at a very sensitive place i.e. Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi, recommendation had been made for his transfer outside District Varanasi by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi on 24.05.2020.

10. It has been argued by the learned Standing Counsel that by a Government Order dated 25.05.2015, an Establishment Board has been constituted for transfer of non-gazetted employees of the Police Radio Department wherein the Director General of Police/Additional Director General of Police (Telecom.) is the Chairman and the Inspector General of Police/Director (Telecom) is a Member and the State Radio Officer (Admn.) is a Member. A copy of the Government Order has also been filed as Annexure C.A.1 to the counter affidavit. On the recommendation of the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi, the Police Radio Establishment Board held a meeting on 13.07.2020 which was attended by the Additional Director General of Police (Telecom.) and the State Radio Officer (Admin.). The matter of transfer of the petitioner along with 14 other Police Radio Employees was considered and consequently recommendations were made. A copy of the minutes of meeting dated 13.07.2020 have been filed as Annexure-C.A.3 to the counter affidavit. In pursuance to the said meeting, a direction was issued by the Radio Establishment Board to the State Radio Officer (Admin.) U.P. Police Radio Headquarters, Mahanagar, Lucknow to issue the transfer order. Consequently, the State Radio Officer (Admin.) had issued transfer order of the petitioner on 13.07.2020 and the decision of the Police Radio Establishment Board was communicated to the petitioner. It has been argued by the learned Standing Counsel that as per the Service Rules of 2015, the Appointing Authority of the petitioner is the State Radio Officer.

11. The petitioner however went on leave without any prior approval of the Competent Authority and consequently the relieving order was passed in absentia on 14.07.2020. Information was given to the petitioner and others concerned on 15.07.2020 by the Radio Inspector, Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi.

12. On the disposal of the petitioner?s Writ Petition Number 6619 of 2020, the representation of the petitioner dated 30.09.2020 was received which representation was considered and disposed of by the Additional Director General of Police (Telecom), Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow by his order dated 7.10.2020, after fresh consideration of the same was made in a meeting of the Police Radio Establishment Board attended by the Additional Director General of Police (Telecom.) and the State Radio Officer (Admin.) at the Headquarters, Lucknow. In pursuance of the transfer order dated 7.10.2020, the petitioner has joined his transferred place of posting at district Fatehpur on 10.10.2020. In paragraph 7, 8 and 9 of the counter affidavit, the report of the Additional Radio Officer, Varanasi dated 30.05.2019 and also the recommendation of the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi for the petitioner to be transferred outside Varanasi.

It has been submitted that the petitioner was found habitual of making representations/complaints against the higher officers of the department on misconceived and incorrect grounds. As the conduct of the petitioner was unbecoming of a member of a disciplined force and had the tendency to have a bad effect on other employees posted at a very sensitive place at Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi. Such recommendation was duly considered by the Police Radio Establishment Board which has taken a decision for transfer of the petitioner on its own, although it has also considered the recommendation made by Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi. A copy of recommendation made by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi dated 24.05.2020 has been filed as Annexure-C.A.1 to the counter affidavit.

13. The counsel for the petitioner in rejoinder has submitted that it has been admitted by the respondents that the petitioner was transferred on the recommendation of the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi. Only the Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) is competent to make any recommendation and only the Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) can transfer the petitioner. It has also been submitted on the basis of the Government Order dated 1.7.2020 issued by the Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Home, Government of U.P. that Zero Transfer Session has been declared in pursuance of Covid-19 pandemic by the State Government for State Government Employees but such Government Order dated 12.05.2020 was not applicable to police employees and the recommendation of the various Police Establishment Boards constituted under the Government Order No. 408/6-POO-10-2018-27(45)/2008 dated 09.05.2018 were exempted from the operation of the Government Order dated 12.05.2020 issued by the Karmik Anubhag-4. It has been submitted that U.P. Police Radio Establishment Board had not been mentioned in the Government Order dated 1.7.2020 issued by the Grah (Police) Anubhag-1, therefore it shall be deemed that the Police Radio Establishment Board could not have transferred the petitioner during the subsistence of the Government Order dated 12.05.2020 issued by the Karmik Anubhag-4.

Learned counsel for the petitioner in rejoinder has also pointed out Annexure-5 to the writ petition and submitted that the petitioner is being harassed repeatedly by his superior officers and that if the petitioner is indeed guilty or has committed any mistake, the respondents should have started disciplinary proceedings against him but no disciplinary proceeding have been initiated against him and he has been transferred on the basis of an ex parte report.

14. This Court has perused the Annexure-5 of the writ petition which is a report dated 30.05.2019 sent by the State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi to the Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom), U.P. Police Radio Headquarter, Mahanagar, Lucknow. It refers to the petitioner?s complaint dated 26.04.2019 which was forwarded to the Radio Inspector, Mau on 15.05.2019 and detailed comments were asked for from the Assistant Radio Officer, Azamgarh. The Assistant Radio Officer, Azamgarh sent his comments on 27.05.2019 where reference was made to several complaints made by the petitioner against various officers who were superior to him. It was stated in the said comments that the petitioner was in the habit of making frivolous complaints and making unnecessary correspondence just to hamper smooth functioning of the Police Radio Office at Azamgarh. Not only was the smooth functioning of the Radio Office at Azamgarh being affected but it had the tendency to generated indiscipline amongst fellow officers, therefore, a request was made for his transfer outside Mau. The Additional State Radio Officer, Varanasi Zone, Varanasi thereafter had carefully perused the record of the petitioner and had found that when the petitioner was posted on election duty in Shrawasti he had made a representation that he was not fit to perform strenuous duty and he be assigned duty somewhere else. Not only was such representation made to the Radio Inspector but also to the Additional State Radio Officer, Azamgarh Zone, Azamgarh. A report was called for from the concerned officer and it come out that the petitioner was habitual of making unnecessary correspondence against his higher officer and when directed to perform duty he tendered unwillingness on the ground of his health and on the ground that he had filed a case in Court which required him to be present for its proper persecution and that he was afraid for safety of his life from various political persons. It was also found on enquiry into another complaint made by the petitioner that when the petitioner was not assigned VVIP duty but had been nominated to do maintenance work for Radio Sets established in rural areas, to avoid doing duty in rural areas he had made such complaints. It was reported that the petitioner was making unnecessary correspondence only to avoid performing duties that were assigned to him. In all such representations of the petitioner, the petitioner had given excuses that he was afraid of his life from political persons and therefore, he did not wish to leave Headquarters. The petitioner did not perform any election duty as was assigned to him and went on unauthorized leave. Later on a compromise was arrived at between the Assistant Radio Officer, Mau and the petitioner. Thereafter, the petitioner by his letter dated 23.3.2019 addressed to Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom), U.P. Police Radio Headquarter, Mahanagar, Lucknow stated that all misunderstanding had been resolved and the same had been due to communication gap and that he had made several complaints earlier and he did not wish to pursue the matter further and that no action be taken on his complaints.

Again comments were called for by the Police Radio Headquarter and the 43 pages of complaints/representation that were made by the petitioner were sent to the U.P. Police Radio Headquarter by letter dated 6.4.2019. Reference was also made in the report dated 30.05.2019 of an earlier occasion when the petitioner was deputed to work at Flood Control Room at Turtipur Shrinagar Bandh Chandpur, the petitioner had avoided duty and started making unnecessary allegations and complaints against the then Assistant Radio Officer, Azamgarh, regular disciplinary proceedings were initiated against him and on the basis of Inquiry Report dated 04.02.2017, the petitioner was awarded Censure Entry on 8.8.2017 by the State Radio Officer (Admin.) as he was on unauthorized leave and his absence was regularized as 30 days leave without pay.

15. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that it is evident from the perusal of Annexure-5 to the writ petition, as also Annexure-5 to the counter affidavit filed by the Respondents that the petitioner is being harassed repeatedly by the Superior Officers and the order of transfer has been passed with malicious intention.

16. This Court had carefully perused the earlier order passed by this Court on 28.9.2020 wherein although the petitioner had raised similar arguments, this Court had not found it appropriate to address the same or to quash the transfer order dated 13.7.2020. The writ petition was disposed of without entering into the merits of the controversy by referring the matter to the Competent Authority to decide the representation of the petitioner by a reasoned and speaking order. Now a reasoned and speaking order has been passed by the respondents which has been challenged in this writ petition.

17. This Court has perused the impugned order dated 07.10.2020 and finds that it refers to the recommendations made by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi dated 24.05.2020 regarding an enquiry conducted by him on a complaint made by the petitioner regarding entry given to him. The Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi had found no substance in the complaint made by the petitioner dated 27.03.2020 on conducting a fact finding enquiry on the same and he had also referred to several such complaints being made earlier by the petitioner, and that he was apprehensive of the fact that such conduct of the petitioner would have a deleterious effect on other employees as he was posted at a very sensitive place at Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi. A request was therefore made that the petitioner be transferred to some other place outside Varanasi.

18. The Police Radio Establishment Board which is the Competent Authority to consider all recommendations for transfer made by Superintendent of Police/Senior Superintendent of Police and other District Level Officers considered the recommendation of the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi and eventually passed transfer order dated 13.07.2020. The petitioner went on leave without prior sanction and such order was served upon him at his current place of residence of Varanasi and he was relieved in absentia. After this Court passed an order on 28.09.2020, the Police Radio Establishment Board again held a meting on 07.10.2020 chaired by Additional Director General of Police (Telecom), Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow which was attended by the State Radio Officer (Administration). The allegation of the petitioner to the effect that the order was passed maliciously was considered and it was found to have no substance although reference was made duly to the recommendation made by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi dated 24.05.2020. Reference was also made to the petitioner?s allegation that the impugned transfer order has been passed by an incompetent authority i.e. State Radio Officer (Administration). It was found that as per the relevant Government Order, the recommendation of transfer was made by the Police Radio Establishment Board which had considered the recommendation of transfer for the petitioner and recommendations with regard to four other employees of the Police Radio Establishment. The order was only communicated by the State Radio Officer. After this Court?s order dated 28.09.2020, the petitioner?s representation was again considered by the same Police Radio Establishment Board and they did not find any merit in the grounds taken by the petitioner regarding recommendation of the Senior Superintendent of Police Varanasi in violation of relevant Government Order.

19. This Court having carefully perused the order dated 07.10.2020 which has been communicated by the Deputy Inspector General of Police (Telecom) does not find any good ground to show interference as it is well considered detailed order, referring to the power of the Police Radio Establishment Board to consider recommendations of transfers made by District Level Officers and to pass orders in turn for transfer of subordinate officers of the Police Radio Establishment.

20. The counsel for the petitioner has referred to judgment rendered by the Hon?ble Supreme Court in the case of Somesh Tiwari (surpa). This Court has carefully perused the order passed by the Supreme Court. The question that was being considered by the Supreme Court has been mentioned in paragraph 1 of the said judgment which is being quoted hereinbelow :

?A short but an interesting question that arises for consideration in this appeal is as to whether the High Court while quashing an order of transfer passed against the appellant was correct in directing that he would not be entitled to salary for the period commencing 15 days after the modified order of transfer to Ahmedabad was passed till the date he again joined his duties at the original place.?

21. The Supreme Court was considering the case of an officer of the Indian Revenue Services who was posted as a Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise at Bhopal. The employees posted at the Bhopal office of the respondents apprehending disciplinary as also criminal proceedings at the hands of the appellant, on the basis of reassessment of the files undertaken by him, had sent an anonymous complaint alleging caste-bias on his part; pursuant whereto an order of transfer was passed against him on 22.08.2005. The appellant had contended before the Supreme Court that since he had taken action against some erring officers, they were instrumental in sending the said anonymous complaint and no action should have been taken on such a complaint in the light of the circulars/letters issued by the Central Vigilance Commission. However, an enquiry was got conducted by an Assistant Commissioner, Directorate of Vigilance, and the allegation made against the appellant were not found to be true. Still recommendations were made that he be transferred outside Bhopal, consequently, he was transferred to Shillong. The appellant had made a representation for his retention on humanitarian grounds which was not considered. He therefore filed Original Application before the Central Administrative Tribunal, Jabalpur where the Tribunal directed the respondents to consider and decide the representation of the appellant by a reasoned and speaking order and till such decision is taken, the appellant be not disturbed. The representation of the appellant was rejected. He filed another representation which was again rejected. The appellant then filed another Original Application before the Tribunal at Jabalpur and during the pendency of the said Original Application, the respondents promoted him and posted him to Ahmedabad. The appellant amended his Original Application suitably which was disposed of by the Tribunal by observing that the transfer order was on administrative exigencies and the appellant was an All India Service Officer liable to be transferred throughout India and that Tribunal cannot substitute its own decision in the matter of transfer and that his transfer order being passed by the Competent Authority was after consideration of administrative needs and requirements of the station concerned.

The appellant had approached the High Court against such order of the CAT while also challenging his transfer. The High Court of Madhya Pradesh at Jabalpur noted that during the pendency of the writ petition, disciplinary proceeding had been initiated against the appellant on the ground that he had not joined at the place of posting at Ahmedabad. The Court therefore directed that during the pendency of the writ petition, disciplinary proceeding should not be conducted and then finally disposed of the writ petition of the appellant quashing the transfer order and he was directed to join at Bhopal but he was not held entitled to be paid his salary for the period he had not worked. The Supreme Court observed after recording in detail the observations in the judgment rendered by the High Court, that while quashing the transfer order, no such observation could have been made as was done by the High Court.

It also referred to the transfer order being an administrative order but nevertheless having been passed on the ground of complaint against the appellant alleging caste bias which anonymous complaint was not found to be true on enquiry being conducted in the matter. Having regard to the directives of the Central Vigilance Commission, it held that no enquiry could have been initiated against him but it is beyond any doubt or dispute that in the said enquiry, the allegations were found to be untrue. The Court also observed that respondents knew that the matter was pending before the Tribunal but they did not approach the Tribunal to obtain leave before passing the second order of transfer of the appellant from Shillong to Ahmedabad. They passed the order of transfer while considering the cases for promotion and transfer of a large number of officers and the order of transfer suffered from a total non application of mind in so far as it proceeded on the premise that the appellant had already joined his post at Shillong.

22. Certain observations were no doubt made by the Supreme Court on the principles of malice in law and malice in fact and it had observed that transfer order was based on an irrelevant ground i.e. on the allegations made against the appellant in the anonymous complaint. The Supreme Court had also observed that employer is entitled to pass an order of transfer in administrative exigencies but an order of transfer cannot be passed by way of, or in lieu of punishment and that when an order of transfer is passed in lieu of punishment, the same is liable to be set aside being wholly illegal.

23. Having considered the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in Somesh Tiwari (surpa), this Court finds that the order of transfer dated 13.07.2020 was not passed in lieu of or by way of any punishment. In Pratap Singh Vs. Union of India; 2006 (8) SCC 1, measure to insulate police machinery from political/executive interference and to make it more effective and efficient to strengthen the rule of law in the country were considered. The Supreme Court had observed that there should be a Police Establishment in each State which shall decide all transfers, postings, promotions and other service related matters of officers below the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police. This Court in its Full Bench decision in Constable Vinod Kumar v. State of U.P. and others; (2010) 7 ADJ 315 had approved the validity of different Police Establishment Board set up by the Government for different branches of the Police Force and for different cadres and it being headed by Inspector Generals of Police instead of by the Director General of Police for non-gazetted officers. The Police Radio Establishment Board is the Competent Authority to consider recommendations of the District Officers and then to pass appropriate orders. Several complaints had been made by the petitioner which ran into 43 pages and such 43 pages had been duly forwarded by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi to the Police Radio Establishment Board for its consideration, the Police Radio Establishment Board had of its own come to the conclusion that indeed it was not conducive to the discipline of unit incharge of safety and security of a highly sensitive place i.e. Shri Kashi Vishwanath Temple/Gyanvapi Mosque, Varanasi for such a person as the petitioner to continue to be posted there. Such an order cannot be faulted with.

15. The writ petition is dismissed as being devoid of merit. No order as to costs.

The order under challenge is the impugned order dated 16.8.2022 issued by the opposite party no. 2 (Annexure no. 1) offering an appointment to the petitioner on Class-IV post on compassionate ground on the recommendation report of opposite party no. 3 dated 22.2.2022 (Annexure no. 3). The petitioner has also assailed the order dated 3.3.2022 issued by the opposite party no. 2 addressing to the opposite party no. 1 seeking approval of appointment of the petitioner on Class III post. Precisely, the request of the petitioner for seeking appointment under Dying in Harness Rules was placed before the opposite party no 3 i.e. Consultative Committee at Agra which submitted its report on 22.2.2022 before the District Judge, Agra. The District Judge, Agra placed such report before this Court through Registrar General vide letter dated 3.3.2022 seeking approval of the appointment of the petitioner on Class-IV post and thereafter the District Judge, Agra issued an offer of appointment to the petitioner vide letter dated 16.8.2022. Therefore, the foundation of impugned orders dated 3.3.2022 and 16.8.2022 is the report of the Committee dated 22.2.2022.

4. As per the impugned report dated 22.2.2022, though the petitioner has not produced 'CCC Certificate' but he is having qualification of B.C.A. (Bachelor of Computer Application), therefore, it may be presumed that he is having sufficient knowledge of computer application but the petitioner has not produced any document or certificate to show that he is having knowledge of Urdu and Hindi / English typing with the speed of 20/30 words per minute, therefore, his candidature may not be presumed to be sufficient for offering him appointment on Class-III post. Therefore, the petitioner has been offered an appointment on Class-IV post.

5. The precise facts of the case is that the father of the petitioner was serving on the post of 'Personal Assistant' in the office of opposite party no. 2 and after his demise the petitioner approached the competent authority to provide any suitable appointment under the Dying in Harness Rules.

Undoubtedly, the petitioner is otherwise eligible to be appointed on Class-III post as he is having other requisite qualifications but he could not produce any document / certificate to show that he is having knowledge of Urdu and typing certificate showing his knowledge of Hindi / English typing with the speed of 20/30 words per minute so, such appointment has not been offered to him and he has been offered appointment on Class-IV post. Though the impugned report says that the petitioner has not produced any document relating to the knowledge of typing but such document has been filed with this petition which may be perused and considered by the opposite parties.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has shown result of petitioner, which is enclosed as Annexure no. 5, relating to the 'Master in Computer Application' (MCA). He has also shown the document / certificate showing that the petitioner has completed the course of English and Hindi typing. So far as the certificate relating to the knowledge of Urdu is concerned the petitioner has clearly indicated in para 15 of the writ petition that the petitioner is having special knowledge of Urdu. In para 15 the petitioner has indicated the reason as to why such certificate has not been produced. As per the petitioner since those documents were not required to be filed, therefore, he could not file those documents. For convenience para 15 reads as under :

"15. That, it is respectfully submitted that the petitioner is having special knowledge of Urdu and the petitioner is also having certificate of typing of Hindi/English as required by the respondent no. 2, however, since no demand of any certificate of typing and special knowledge of Urdu was made from the petitioner and as such, he could not supply the certificate of typing and special knowledge of Urdu. Although, the petitioner supplied the copy of certificate of typing test later on when he obtained the certificate from the Unique Computer Solution, but it appears that the respondent no. 3 has not taken into consideration the certificate of typing course submitted by the petitioner."

7. So as to substantiate the aforesaid arguments learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards para 19 explaining the relevant portion of the Rule wherein it has not been indicated that those documents should be produced before the competent authority. For the convenience para 19 is being reproduced herein below :

"19. That, as per the Uttar Pradesh State District Court Service Rules, 2013 for appointment on the post of Junior Assistant following qualifications is prescribed :-

Intermediate with maths with special knowledge of Urdu and Hindi along with a CCC Certificate issued by DOEACC Society and 25/30 words per minute for Hindi/English typing on computer, (as per G.O. No. 1595/VII-Nyaya-2-2011-68G/2011 dated 17.02.2012 (Arithmetic mensuration) elementary land Surveying and Mapping, Order XXVI of Act No. V of 1908 and Rules (Civil) relating to the work and duties of the Junior Assistant."

8. Sri Nikhil Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards the dictum of Apex Court in re: Suneel Kumar vs. State of U.P. & others reported in 2022 Live Law (SC) 675 referring para 10 which reads as under :

"10. At the same time, as far as the question relating to the entitlement as it were of the appellant to be considered to the post of Gram Panchayat Officer is concerned, it is without doubt a post borne in Class-III. The father of the appellant was working as a Sweeper borne in Class-IV post. We have noticed the view taken by this Court in Premlata (supra). In other words, the law as declared is to the effect that the words "suitable employment" in Rule 5 must be understood with reference to the post held by the deceased employee. The superior qualification held by a dependent cannot determine the scope of the words "suitable employment".

[Emphasis Supplied]

9. Per contra, the learned counsel for the High Court has submitted that the opposite party nos. 2 and 3 has taken a liberal approach considering the other qualifications of the petitioner sufficient but since he could not produce any document / certificate showing his knowledge of Urdu and typing in Hindi and English, therefore, he may not be provided any appropriate appointment in Class III post.

10. On being confronted the learned counsel for the High Court on the point that if the petitioner produces those documents with expedition, as to whether any appropriate decision may be taken considering his qualification and suitability in the light of dictum of Apex Court in re: Suneel Kumar (supra), learned counsel for the High Court has submitted that if the petitioner would be fulfilling all requisite conditions bringing on record the required documents, the competent authority may consider his case strictly in accordance with law, if this Court so directs.

11. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

12. Notably, it it not disputed that the petitioner is otherwise eligible to be considered for appointment on Class- III post so he may be offered such appointment under Dying in Harness Rules in view of the dictum of Apex Court in re: Suneel Kuamr (supra).

13. The analogy of para 10 of the judgment in re: Suneel Kumar (supra) is that the term "suitable appointment" so indicated in Rule 5 should be understood with the reference to the post held by the deceased employee and in the present case since the deceased employee was holding Class-III post, therefore, any suitable appointment to his dependent should be given in the same category if the petitioner is having all required qualifications.

14. The qualification of the petitioner is Masters in Computer Application (MCA) and he has got knowledge of Hindi and English typing. As per learned counsel for the petitioner he can produce the document / certificate showing that he has got knowledge of Urdu.

15. In view of the specific recital vide para 15 and 19 of the petition, the required documents, so enclosed with the writ petition as well as the dictum of Apex Court in re: Suneel Kumar (supra), I find it appropriate that the liberty be given to the petitioner to furnish all required documents before the opposite parties including any document / certificate relating to his knowledge of Urdu as well as of Hindi & English typing with required speed within a period of two weeks from today supporting with an exhaustive representation and if such representation along with the required documents is produced before the concerned opposite party, the appropriate decision shall be taken in favour of the petitioner in view of what has been considered and directed above and any suitable appointment shall be provided to the petitioner strictly in accordance with law with expedition preferably within a period of four weeks thereafter.

16. In view of the aforesaid observations and directions, I also find it appropriate that the impugned report dated 22.2.2022 passed by the opposite party no. 3 i.e. Chairman, Consultative Committee / 1st Additional District Judge, Agra as well as the consequential letters / orders dated 3.3.2022 and 16.08.2022 are hereby set aside and quashed and a fresh decision shall be taken strictly in accordance to law in terms of the aforesaid directions within aforesaid stipulated time.

17. Accordingly the writ petition is allowed.

18. No order as to costs.

1. The reliefs sought in this petition are so many and so much lavish in detail, that it would be wise to quote the prayer clause verbatim. The prayer clause (limited to the material reliefs alone here) reads:

viii) issue, a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents that a sum of Rs. 385/- of G.P.F. may be paid to the petitioner alongwith interest."

2. Out of these manifold reliefs, the learned Counsel for the petitioner in his wisdom has not pressed Relief Nos. (vii) and (viii) at the hearing.

3. In order to appreciate the petitioner's grievance, the redressal whereof he seeks, it would be apposite to refer to facts that have given rise to this petition. The Ram Prasad Bismil Higher Secondary School, Divnapur, District Bareilly is a recognized College under the Uttar Pradesh Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (for short, 'the Act of 1921'). The aforesaid intermediate college shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the College'. The College is in receipt of grant-in-aid from the State Government and salaries to its teachers and other employees are paid out of funds provided by the State Government under the Uttar Pradesh High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1971. The said Act shall hereinafter be called as 'the Act of 1971'.

4. The petitioner was appointed as a teacher in the College in the B.T.C. Grade on 01.02.1973. After completion of five years' service in the B.T.C. Grade, the petitioner was appointed as an assistant teacher in the C.T. Grade. Upon the C.T. Grade being declared a dying cadre and the petitioner completing ten years' service in the C.T. Grade, he automatically became a teacher in the L.T. Grade. He was absorbed in the L.T. Grade w.e.f. 01.02.1988. Upon completion of ten years of regular service in the L.T. Grade, the petitioner was granted L.T. Selection Grade w.e.f. 01.02.1998. He was appointed as the ad hoc Principal vide order dated 06.01.2010 passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly and worked as such up to April, 2011. He retired from service on 30.06.2012 upon attaining the age of superannuation. At the time of his retirement, he was serving the College as an assistant teacher in the L.T. Grade (placed in the Selection Grade).

5. At this stage, it is necessary to look at some events that happened in the year 2009 and their cascading effect upon the petitioner's service record, emoluments and post retiral benefits. While the petitioner was the seniormost L.T. Grade Teacher in the College, he was given the charge of Centre Superintendent for the purpose of holding the Board Examinations, conducted by the U.P. Board of High School and Intermediate Education in the year 2009. On 19.03.2009, a Flying Squad of the Intermediate Education Board alighted on the College premises, just 10 minutes into the examinees commencing writing their scripts. No examinee was using or found to be using unfair means by the Flying Squad.

6. A First Information Report dated 24.03.2009, giving rise to Case Crime No.209 of 2009, under Section 3/10 of the Uttar Pradesh Public Examination (Prevention of Unfair Means) Act, 1998 (for short, 'the Act of 1998'), Police Station Hafijganj, District Bareilly, was lodged against the petitioner at the behest of the Principal of the College, who is now the Manager, inasmuch as the Principal had not been entrusted with the assignment of the Centre Superintendent by the Board. The petitioner further asserts that no examinee was found using unfair means by the Board, in consequence whereof results of all the examinees were declared by the Board. Nevertheless, a charge sheet dated 26.05.2009 was filed against the petitioner in the crime under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998.

7. The petitioner challenged this charge sheet before this Court through an application under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. In the aforesaid case, being Application u/s 482 No. 34506 of 2009, this Court vide order dated 04.01.2010 ordered issue of notice to the other side and directed that till the next date of listing, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioner.

8. On account of the FIR, that was lodged against the petitioner, the petitioner points out that he was placed under suspension by the Management on 29.03.2009. Later on, by an order dated 29.05.2010 passed by the Committee of Management of the College, the suspension was revoked, subject to the following conditions:

"(1) Two increments shall be denied to the petitioner until time that the Court of competent jurisdiction delivers judgment. After judgment by the Court alone, the Management would consider reviewing its decision about withholding the two increments;

(2) The petitioner would not receive any emolument for the period that he remained under suspension in addition to the subsistence allowance; and,

(3) The petitioner would not be entrusted with any administrative work of the College."

9. In terms of the aforesaid order, the petitioner was reinstated in service on 01.06.2010.

10. It is emphasized by the learned Counsel for the petitioner that neither any disciplinary proceedings were initiated against him nor any charge sheet ever issued. Pursuant to the resolution to suspend the petitioner, no disciplinary proceedings were taken, but in terms of the order of reinstatement, the petitioner has been virtually punished without inquiry, with an order withholding two increments until the competent Criminal Court delivered judgment in the case. It is submitted by the learned Counsel for the petitioner that unless disciplinary proceedings were initiated and brought to their logical conclusion, the respondents never had the right to withhold two increments, which constitute one of the punishments envisaged under the regulations framed under the Act of 1921.

11. It is argued that in order to inflict punishment of any kind upon a teacher serving an institution governed by the Act of 1921, approval has to be obtained from the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board constituted under the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education (Services Selection Board) Act, 1982 (for short, 'the Act of 1982'). The aforesaid mandatory permission by the Board, before infliction of any of the penalties upon a teacher contemplated under Section 21 of the Act of 1982, is essential. If the requisite permission is not taken, the resolution of the Management inflicting any of the punishments envisaged under Section 21 of the Act of 1982 would be void. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has drawn the Court's attention to Section 21 of the Act of 1982, which reads:

"21. Restriction on dismissal etc. of teachers.-The Management shall not, except with the prior approval of the Board, dismiss any teacher or remove him from service, or serve on him any notice of removal from service, or reduce him in rank or reduce his emolumcnis or withhold his increment for any period (whether temporarily or permanently) and any such thing done without such prior approval shall be void."

12. It is urged on behalf of the petitioner that upon reinstatement w.e.f. 01.06.2010, the petitioner is entitled to payment of the difference, between his salary for the period of his suspension and the subsistence allowance, that he received during the relevant period of time, in view of the provisions of Regulation 40 of Chapter III, framed under the Act of 1921. However, the petitioner was paid nothing beyond the subsistence allowance in enforcement of the order dated 29.05.2010 passed by the Management, which is manifestly illegal. It is next submitted that the petitioner is entitled to receive the promotion pay scale with the grade pay of Rs.5400/- w.e.f. 01.02.2010 as he completed 12 years of service in the L.T. Selection Grade, reckoned with effect from 01.02.1998. It is pointed that this denial has come owing to the criminal case pending against him under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998. It is urged that the pendency of the aforesaid case cannot be held against the petitioner to deny his due promotion pay scale.

13. The petitioner, aggrieved by the aforesaid myriad denials of his service dues, approached this Court by instituting Writ-A No.67465 of 2012, seeking restoration of all the benefits due to him. The said petition was disposed of, granting liberty to the petitioner to represent his case before the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly, who was directed to look into the petitioner's grievances and redress the same, in accordance with law, by means of a reasoned and speaking order, within two months next of the date of receipt of the petitioner's representation, accompanied by a certified copy of this Court's order dated 20.12.2012.

14. In order to avail of whatever relief this Court extended, the petitioner submitted a representation to the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly, a copy whereof is annexed as Annexure No.2 to the writ petition. All the legal and other infirmities pointed out hereinabove, vitiating the conditions imposed by the respondent Management while reinstating the petitioner, were set forth in the representation and pleaded to be illegal in view of the various statutory provisions above indicated, or the law generally applicable. It was, amongst other things, pointed out in the representation to the District Inspector of Schools that the petitioner was entitled to the promotion pay scale upon completion of 12 years' service in the L.T. Selection Grade w.e.f. 31.01.2010, but the said claim of the petitioner was rejected by the respondent Management on ground that his services were not satisfactory. It was pleaded in the representation addressed to the District Inspector of Schools that the petitioner had never been communicated with any adverse entry nor the service-book placed before him for signatures. The petitioner was not allowed to examine the service-book. The petitioner's representation was rejected by the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly vide the order impugned dated 12.12.2014.

15. Disillusioned by the order impugned dated 12.12.2014, the petitioner has preferred the present writ petition.

16. Heard Mr. Santosh Kumar Mishra, learned Counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Sharad Chandra Upadhyay, learned State Law Officer appearing on behalf of respondent nos. 1 to 5 and Mr. Arun Kumar Gupta, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent nos. 6 and 7.

17. The record has been perused, in particular, the petitioner's service-book that was produced before the Court in sealed cover, since opened and placed on record.

18. The most unusual feature of this case is that the petitioner stands punished in terms of the order dated 29.05.2010, by which he has been reinstated in service. There are apparently no disciplinary proceedings taken against the petitioner, for which there is an elaborate procedure provided under Regulations 31 to 45 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921. He has also not been convicted while in service by the Court of criminal jurisdiction, where a charge sheet has been filed against him. Thus, until his superannuation on 30.06.2012, the petitioner was neither held guilty in disciplinary proceedings nor by a Court of criminal jurisdiction for an offence involving moral turpitude. In the absence of either, it was not at all open to the respondents to punish the petitioner by stopping his increments until judgment by the Criminal Court, in connection with the charge on the basis of which he was placed under suspension. The respondents have called it a condition for the petitioner's reinstatement, but in substance the condition is virtually another name for the postulated penalty of stoppage of increments. The increment no doubt has been stopped until the happening of an event i.e. the judgment of the Criminal Court. It is not known when the Criminal Court would deliver judgment. Therefore, the jurisdiction exercised by the respondents to stop the petitioner's increments numbering two, is absolutely ultra vires the powers conferred upon them under Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921. The power to inflict any of the punishments, postulated under Regulations 32 and 33 of Chapter III, can be exercised at the end of disciplinary proceedings, duly drawn and concluded or taking cognizance of the judgment of a Court of criminal jurisdiction, convicting the employee on a charge involving moral turpitude. The exercise of the power to withhold the petitioner's increments, numbering two in this case, pending a decision of the relative criminal case by the Court is not a valid exercise of power by the respondents.

19. There is an averment to be found in Paragraph No. 17 of the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the respondent-Management to the effect that the petitioner is not entitled to arrears of the difference in salary and the subsistence allowance for the period 01.04.2009 to 31.05.2010, as the charges levelled against him in the departmental proceedings were found well proved and he was also punished, stopping two increments. Nothing has been brought to the notice of the Court during the hearing that any order of punishment was ever passed against the petitioner. The punishment, as the respondent-Management unwittingly concede in Paragraph No.17 of the counter affidavit filed on their behalf, was imposed through the exercise of a most anomalous jurisdiction, besides being ultra vires, in the form of an order reinstating the petitioner in service subject to terms and conditions. It is the terms and conditions of reinstatement that carry the order of punishment, withholding two increments. This, as already said, could never have been done.

20. There is nothing said in the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent Nos. 1 to 5 or the State-respondents, that may show that any order of punishment was ever passed against the petitioner, and that too with the due approval of the competent Authority, an issue to which allusion would shortly be made. In Paragraph No.8 of the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent Nos. 1 to 5, all that is said in defence of the order withholding increments is that since a final order has not been passed in the criminal case, some conditions to the petitioner's reinstatement have been imposed. This, as already said, more than once is not a valid ground to punish a teacher or an employee by withholding his increment, as done in the present case.

21. A perusal of the impugned order dated 12.12.2014 passed by the District

Inspector of Schools shows that he has utterly failed to understand the deep flaw in punishing a teacher, without following the procedure envisaged in Regulations 32 and 33 of Chapter III of the Regulations, framed under the Act of 1921. There is nothing, for a fact, noticed in the impugned order passed by the District Inspector of Schools that an order of punishment has ever been passed against the petitioner. All that is said is that he was found involved by the Flying Squad in some activity, while acting as the Centre Superintendent, leading to the registration of an FIR against him under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998 and suspended from service-pending inquiry, investigation or prosecution, is not at all indicated by the District Inspector of Schools in the order impugned. It also does not appear anywhere from the records of the case, produced by the Management, as to what was the character of the order of suspension. The District Inspector of Schools in his order has also held it a valid exercise of power by the Management that as a condition for the petitioner's reinstatement, they could withhold two of his increments, pending decision of the Criminal Court. The District Inspector of Schools, untrained in law as he is, cannot be expected to understand the subtlety of the law about the valid exercise of power to punish an employee or a teacher, generally in disciplinary proceedings or in consequence of a conviction by a Court, and particularly, with reference to the provisions of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921. The District Inspector of Schools has proceeded to uphold the validity of the order punishing the petitioner in an absolutely invalid exercise of jurisdiction, by withholding two of his increments by the Management while reinstating him in service, depending on vague reasoning and on irrelevant considerations. Thus, on this score alone, the impugned order, insofar it upholds the punishment of withholding two increments due to the petitioner, is vitiated.

22. The other reasoning, on the basis of which this part of the impugned order is criticized by the learned Counsel for the petitioner, is that no order of punishment can be validly passed, unless a prior approval thereof is granted by the Board, constituted under the Act of 1982, in terms of Section 21 of the said Act. This contention would proceed on the supposition that a valid order of punishment has been made against the petitioner. Here, we have found that there is no valid order of punishment made against the petitioner after following the procedure prescribed in Regulations 32 and 33 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921. The matter can, therefore, be left at that and the contention not examined at all.

23. Assuming, however, that the punishment of withholding two increments, has been inflicted in accordance with law, after following the procedure prescribed under the Regulations contained in Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921, the punishment would still be void, unless there was prior approval thereof by the Board constituted under the Act of 1982. This plea was raised by the petitioner in his representation to the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly dated 08.01.2013, annexed as Annexure No.2 to the writ petition, but does not find mention in the order impugned.

24. The necessity of obtaining prior permission of the Board constituted under the Act of 1982, before the valid imposition of any punishment, fell for consideration of a Division Bench of this Court in Ramesh Chandra Mishra v. U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission, Allahabad and others, (1990) 1 UPLBEC 488. In Ramesh Chandra Mishra (supra), it was held:

"13. In the year 1982 U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission and Selection Boards Act, 1982 (U.P. Act No. V of 1982) was promulgated by the Uttar Pradesh Legislature. This Act shall hereinafter be referred to as the 'Commission Act'. The object of this Act was to establish Secondary Education Services Commission and Selection Board for the selection of teachers in the institution recognised under the Education Act. Section 21 of the Act provides for restriction on dismissal removal or reduction in rank of teachers. Section 21 provides that no teacher specified in the schedule shall be dismissed or removed from service or reduced in rank and neither his emoluments may be reduced nor he may be given notice of removal from service by the Management unless prior approval of the Commission has been obtained. Section 21 came into force with effect from January 1, 1984 by notification issued by the State Government on 27th December, 1983. The resultant effect was that on or after 1st January, 1984 if any action of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank of teacher, Head master or Principal is taken then such action can only be taken after obtaining prior approval of the Commission in accordance with the Scheme of the Education Act, Regulations framed thereunder and the Commission Act. The action for dismissal, removal or reduction in rank against a teacher, Headmaster or Principal can only be taken in the manner prescribed viz. holding an enquiry under Regulation 35 and thereafter following the procedure as required in Regulations 36 and 37 and subsequent thereto taking prior approval of the Commission. If any of the steps which are condition precedent for taking action are not followed, the action in our opinion would be vitiated in law and would be void. Section 21(3) of the Commission Act also specifically provides that after the order of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank of removal from service or reduction in emoluments of a teacher in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be void."

25. There being nothing to show that the punishment of withholding two increments, if at all there be any punishment validly imposed, was inflicted with the prior approval of the Board, under the Act of 1982, would vitiate the order directing withholding of the petitioner's increments, in any case. Though, this question, as already noticed, does not arise in the present case, because there is indeed no order of punishment passed in accordance with Chapter III of Regulations, the validity of the order passed by the Management and upheld by the District Inspector of Schools, directing withholding of increments, has been examined on all possible scores. It must be recorded that the learned Counsel for the parties elaborately addressed this Court on this point. Hence, these remarks.

26. This Court is, therefore, of opinion that the order withholding the petitioner's increments cannot be countenanced at all.

27. The next facet of the petitioner's grievance is that he has been denied his promotion pay scale in the L.T. Grade that fell due w.e.f. 01.02.2010. The said denial has come in the wake of the petitioner being involved allegedly in aiding candidates using unfair means during the High School and Intermediate Education Board Examination, 2009, where he was functioning as the Centre Superintendent. The aforesaid misdemeanour attributed to the petitioner led to the registration of Case Crime No.209 of 2009, under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998 against him and a charge sheet being filed in Court. The petitioner is facing trial in the said case. No disciplinary proceedings have been initiated against the petitioner on the basis of the aforesaid misconduct. He was placed under suspension, though as said earlier, it is not clear if the suspension was pending investigation, trial or disciplinary proceedings. Certainly, no disciplinary proceedings were initiated against the petitioner, but the criminal case is pending. He has been reinstated in service subject to certain conditions, one of which about infliction of the penalty or withholding two increments, has been found invalid by this Court in terms of the findings recorded hereinabove.

28. Now, there could be two sources to deny the petitioner's promotion pay scale. One is the award of adverse entries in his Annual Confidential Report (for short, 'the A.C.R.') and the other could be just the fact that a criminal case is pending against him in the Court, where judgment is still awaited. The objection to the latter limb of the obstacle to the grant of promotion pay scale, is based upon the principle that so long as a person is facing disciplinary proceedings, i.e., post the issue of a departmental charge-sheet or a criminal case, subsequent to filing of a charge-sheet in the Criminal Court, he/ she is not to be denied consideration for promotion or the grant of selection grade, crossing the efficiency bar or award of a higher scale of pay, but implementation of the decision is to be postponed until the outcome of the disciplinary proceedings or the criminal case, as the case may be. In case of promotion, properly so called 'sealed cover procedure' is to be adopted, but not a denial of consideration for promotion.

29. Before this Court, the award of promotion pay scale was resisted by the respondents taking up a plea that the petitioner is not entitled, because his services were not satisfactory, during the relevant period of time. This submission came forth on behalf of the State through the supplementary counter affidavit dated 14.09.2021 filed on behalf of the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly. In the said affidavit, a photostat copy the petitioner's service-book was annexed, and it was averred that under a Government Order dated 20.12.2001, a copy whereof is annexed to the supplementary counter affidavit under reference as Annexure No. SCA-1, the grant of selection grade and promotion pay scale to teachers working in secondary institutions depends upon 12 years of satisfactory service in the selection grade. Though not much is said in the affidavit itself about the petitioner's service record, the relevant ACR entries in the photostat copy of the service-book were brought to the Court's notice by Mr. Upadhyay, learned State Law Officer and Mr. Arun Kumar Gupta, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent Nos. 6 and 7 to submit that the petitioner's service record has not been satisfactory.

30. The learned Counsel for the respondents have drawn the attention of the Court to the character roll of the petitioner and the adverse entries awarded to him for the years 2000-01, 2001-02, 2002-03 and 2003-04. A reading of the character roll for the aforesaid years do show that the petitioner was awarded adverse entries. Learned Counsel for the respondents submits that it was for these service entries that the petitioner's services for the period of 12 years in the selection grade were not found satisfactory, so as to entitle him to award of promotion pay scale.

31. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that this contention of the respondents was the outcome of mala fides on the Management's part. The relevant entries in the service record that the Xerox copy of the service-book showed, were never communicated to him, as required by Regulation 72 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act of 1921. He submits that if the entries had been communicated, he would have made a representation against the relevant entries in his character roll to the Committee of Management. It is argued that since these entries were not communicated, they cannot be relied upon to hold that the petitioner's services were not satisfactory during the entire period of 12 years while functioning in the selection grade. It was further pointed out by the learned Counsel for the petitioner, during the course of hearing, that the service-book, a xerox copy whereof was annexed to the supplementary counter affidavit filed on behalf of the District Inspector of Schools, was a duplicate copy, as appeared from its face. It was not his original service-book. The Management has deliberately removed his original service-book and substituted it by a duplicate and interpolated entries in his character roll, adverse to him.

32. It was, particularly, pointed out that the adverse entries were not there up to the year 1999-00, but suddenly appeared in the year 2000-01. The respondent Management had not obtained the petitioner's signatures of acknowledgement on the relative adverse entries in his character roll, as required by Regulation 72. This clearly proved that the service-book was an interpolated document and the adverse entries made there, apart from being fabricated, were never communicated to the petitioner. In the circumstances, this Court summoned the petitioner's original service-book vide order dated 25.08.2021. It was after some adjournment that the service-book was produced before the Court on 14.09.2021 by Mr. Sharad Chandra Upadhyay, learned State Law Officer. It was retained in a sealed cover and ordered to be kept in the safe custody of the Registrar General. During the hearing, the petitioner's service-book has been produced in Court and perused, opening the sealed cover.

33. At the hearing, the learned Counsel for the petitioner pointed out that the service-book was duplicate and not the original, when it was opened on 30.09.2021 and the parties inspected it on the said day. The Court also found that it was indeed duplicate. This Court then directed the State to produce the original service-book, duplicate whereof had been produced. The District Inspector of Schools was required to file his personal affidavit, indicating why a duplicate service-book has been produced. The duplicate service-book that was produced before the Court was inspected by the Court and indeed in the confidential roll up to the year 1999-00, there are no entries; neither adverse nor favourable to the petitioner. However, for the years 2000-01, 2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05, there are stringing adverse entries, but none appears to be communicated. There are no signatures of acknowledgement by the petitioner in accordance with the mandate of Regulation 72 of the Regulations framed under Chapter III.

34. In compliance with the Court's order dated 30.09.2021, the District Inspector of Schools filed his personal affidavit dated 07.10.2021. This Court must remark that the personal affidavit of the District Inspector of Schools, Dr. Amar Kant Singh, is a candid disclosure of all relevant facts. It has been explained there, on the basis of information received from Dr. Saudan Singh Shakya, the Principal of the institution, that after being transferred and taking over the Krishak Samaj Inter College, Ghughli, Tabibpur, District Bijnore, he found that the institution had a duplicate service-book of the petitioner alone. The said book was handed over to the District Inspector of Schools for production before this Court. Upon inquiry by the District Inspector of Schools as to why a duplicate service-book alone was available, it was brought to his notice that the first page of the duplicate service-book had been signed by the then Manager, Dushyant Kumar, the Principal, Ayodhya Lal and the petitioner. The petitioner did not deny his signatures on the first page of the service-book. It was also pointed out that the entries on the first page of the duplicate service-book were made in the petitioner's handwriting. The District Inspector of Schools asserted that the petitioner was fully aware about the circumstances attending the preparation of a duplicate service-book. It is then said further in his affidavit that the petitioner's service-book, along with that of four other employees, was lost. An FIR in this regard was lodged by the then Clerk, the late Tek Chand on 20.11.1998 at P.S. Hafijganj, Nawabganj, District Bareilly. It was, thereafter, that the duplicate service-book was constructed under the directions of the then Manager, Dushyant Kumar Gangwar. A copy of the written information given to the S.O., P.S. Hafijganj, Bareilly by the Institution's Clerk is annexed as Annexure No.3 to the District Inspector of Schools' personal affidavit.

35. It, thus, appears that the duplicate service-book that has been constructed is well within the petitioner's knowledge. It was not seriously disputed before this Court that the entries on the first page of the service-book were signed by the petitioner or in his hand. There are fingerprints of the petitioner too on the second page, attested by the then Principal on 23.11.1998. Still, what baffles one is that if the duplicate service-book was reconstructed in the year 1998, as the information to the Police also would corroborate, what would be the material on the basis of which entries in the service-book were made for the period 01.02.1973 to 31.03.1998. It is no matter of surprise that the service-book does not carry any remarks for the period 01.02.1973 to 31.03.1998. Possibly, there was no material left with the institution to post those entries in the service-book, after the original was lost. Nevertheless, it is true that there is no adverse entry against the petitioner for the period 01.04.1998 to 31.03.1999 and 01.04.1999 to 31.03.2000. In fact, there is no entry of any kind for the said period. These two years relate to the period of time when the current duplicate service-book was in use. It is only for the period 01.04.2000 to 31.03.2001, and thereafter, that adverse entries have suddenly cropped up. As said earlier, none of these entries have been got acknowledged by the petitioner.

36. The position of the law that uncommunicated service entries cannot be made the basis of denying promotion or promotion pay scale would be dealt with a little later.

37. At this stage, it is of the prime importance to notice the stand of the District Inspector of Schools about the adverse entries awarded to the petitioner during the years 2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05. The stand of the District Inspector of Schools in this regard is disclosed in Paragraph Nos. 17 and 18 of his personal affidavit dated 07.10.2021. The said paragraphs read:

17. That bare perusal of the duplicate service book of the petitioner it clearly transpires that uptill 2000 there was no any adverse entry against him and in the year 2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04, 2004-05 adverse remarks were made against the service of the petitioner as the same was not found satisfactory and even his integrity was also found doubtful as such warning as well as adverse entry, withholding of increment as well as deduction from salary, such type of orders were found but there was not a single whisper about this respect that whether prior to awarding the aforesaid punishment due procedure was followed or not and even the petitioner was whether provided opportunity of hearing or not and bare perusal of the said orders it clearly transpires that the then manager and Principal done the alleged proceedings against the petitioner without following any procedure with ill intention as such the said entries are itself void and on the basis of the same no benefit of the petitioner can be stopped on the basis of said illegal entries.

18. That bare perusal of the aforesaid service book it also clearly transpires that vide order dated 29.03.2009 a decision was taken by the respondent No. 6 to suspend the petitioners and the approval of the same was also alleged to be granted by the then D.I.O.S. on 26.05.2009 and later on vide final order dated 28.05.2010 passed by the respondent no. 6 two increment of the petitioner was directed to withheld and even the salary during the suspension period was also directed to be forfieted except the subsistence allowance and later on the petitioner was reinstated in service but as provided under Regulation 21 no approval of the said order was ever done by Secondary Education Service Selection Board as such the said punishment order is also illegal and void."

38. Indeed, the act of the Manager in recording adverse entries behind the petitioner's back, which were never communicated to him, contrary to the provisions of Regulation 72, cast a shadow of grave doubt about the authenticity and the resultant validity of the adverse entries, on which the respondents rely. If statutory regulations require a particular thing to be done in a specified manner, it has to be done in that manner, is a principle too well-known. If a mandatory provision in a statutory regulation, that has adverse civil consequences on the rights of an employee, is observed in breach, there is a clear case of mala fides in law. Here, the District Inspector of Schools has opined breach of the regulation in failing to communicate the adverse entries and getting them signed by the petitioner to be an instance of mala fide in fact. The circumstances, indeed, indicate that the non-communication was mala fide. The mala fides were clearly on the Management's part in not getting the adverse entries duly acknowledged by the petitioner under his signatures on the service-book, which would be due notice to him. The petitioner could then represent against those adverse entries in the manner provided under Regulation 73. All this has not all been done. Apart from the provisions of Regulations 72 and 73, the law is clear on the point that the remarks entered in the ACRs must be communicated to the employee concerned within a reasonable period of time, as held by the Supreme Court in Sukhdev Singh v. Union of India and others, (2013) 9 SCC 566. In Sukhdev Singh (supra), it was held:

3. Subsequent to the above two decisions, in Dev Dutt v. Union of India [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725:(2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771], this Court had an occasion to consider the question about the communication of the entry in the ACR of a public servant (other than military service). A two-Judge Bench [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] on elaborate and detailed consideration of the matter and also after taking into consideration the decision of this Court in U.P. Jal Nigam [U.P. Jal Nigam v. Prabhat Chandra Jain, (1996) 2 SCC 363 : 1996 SCC (L&S) 519 : (1996) 33 ATC 217] and principles of natural justice exposited by this Court from time to time particularly in A.K. Kraipak v. Union of India [(1969) 2 SCC 262] ; Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India [(1978) 1 SCC 248] ; Union of India v. Tulsiram Patel [(1985) 3 SCC 398 : 1985 SCC (L&S) 672]; Canara Bank v. V.K. Awasthy [(2005) 6 SCC 321: 2005 SCC (L&S) 833] and State of Maharashtra v. Public Concern for Governance Trust [(2007) 3 SCC 587] concluded that every entry in the ACR of a public servant must be communicated to him within a reasonable period whether it is poor, fair, average, good or very good entry. This is what this Court observed in paras 17 and 18 of the Report in Dev Dutt [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] at SCC p. 733:

"17. In our opinion, every entry in the ACR of a public servant must be communicated to him within a reasonable period, whether it is a poor, fair, average, good or very good entry. This is because non-communication of such an entry may adversely affect the employee in two ways: (1) had the entry been communicated to him he would know about the assessment of his work and conduct by his superiors, which would enable him to improve his work in future; (2) he would have an opportunity of making a representation against the entry if he feels it is unjustified, and pray for its upgradation. Hence non-communication of an entry is arbitrary, and it has been held by the Constitution Bench decision of this Court in Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India [(1978) 1 SCC 248] that arbitrariness violates Article 14 of the Constitution.

18. Thus, it is not only when there is a benchmark but in all cases that an entry (whether it is poor, fair, average, good or very good) must be communicated to a public servant, otherwise there is violation of the principle of fairness, which is the soul of natural justice. Even an outstanding entry should be communicated since that would boost the morale of the employee and make him work harder."

4. Then in para 22 at SCC p. 734 of the Report this Court in Dev Dutt case [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] made the following weighty observations:

"22. It may be mentioned that communication of entries and giving opportunity to represent against them is particularly important on higher posts which are in a pyramidical structure where often the principle of elimination is followed in selection for promotion, and even a single entry can destroy the career of an officer which has otherwise been outstanding throughout. This often results in grave injustice and heart-burning, and may shatter the morale of many good officers who are superseded due to this arbitrariness, while officers of inferior merit may be promoted."

5. In paras 37 and 41 of the Report this Court then observed as follows: (Dev Dutt case [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] , SCC pp. 737-38)

"37. We further hold that when the entry is communicated to him the public servant should have a right to make a representation against the entry to the authority concerned, and the authority concerned must decide the representation in a fair manner and within a reasonable period. We also hold that the representation must be decided by an authority higher than the one who gave the entry, otherwise the likelihood is that the representation will be summarily rejected without adequate consideration as it would be an appeal from Caesar to Caesar. All this would be conducive to fairness and transparency in public administration, and would result in fairness to public servants. The State must be a model employer, and must act fairly towards its employees. Only then would good governance be possible.

41. In our opinion, non-communication of entries in the annual confidential report of a public servant, whether he is in civil, judicial, police or any other service (other than the military), certainly has civil consequences because it may affect his chances for promotion or get other benefits (as already discussed above). Hence, such non-communication would be arbitrary, and as such violative of Article 14 of the Constitution."

6. We are in complete agreement with the view in Dev Dutt [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] particularly paras 17, 18, 22, 37 and 41 as quoted above. We approve the same.

7. A three-Judge Bench of this Court in Abhijit Ghosh Dastidar v. Union of India [(2009) 16 SCC 146 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 959] followed Dev Dutt [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] . In para 8 of the Report this Court with reference to the case under consideration held as under: (Abhijit Ghosh Dastidar case [(2009) 16 SCC 146 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 959] , SCC p. 148)

"8. Coming to the second aspect, that though the benchmark "very good' is required for being considered for promotion, admittedly the entry of "good' was not communicated to the appellant. The entry of "good' should have been communicated to him as he was having "very good' in the previous year. In those circumstances, in our opinion, non-communication of entries in the ACR of a public servant whether he is in civil, judicial, police or any other service (other than the armed forces), it has civil consequences because it may affect his chances for promotion or getting other benefits. Hence, such non-communication would be arbitrary, and as such violative of Article 14 of the Constitution. The same view has been reiterated in the abovereferred decision (Dev Dutt case [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] , SCC p. 738, para 41) relied on by the appellant. Therefore, the entries "good' if at all granted to the appellant, the same should not have been taken into consideration for being considered for promotion to the higher grade. The respondent has no case that the appellant had ever been informed of the nature of the grading given to him."

8. In our opinion, the view taken in Dev Dutt [Dev Dutt v. Union of India, (2008) 8 SCC 725 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 771] that every entry in ACR of a public servant must be communicated to him/her within a reasonable period is legally sound and helps in achieving threefold objectives. First, the communication of every entry in the ACR to a public servant helps him/her to work harder and achieve more that helps him in improving his work and give better results. Second and equally important, on being made aware of the entry in the ACR, the public servant may feel dissatisfied with the same. Communication of the entry enables him/her to make representation for upgradation of the remarks entered in the ACR. Third, communication of every entry in the ACR brings transparency in recording the remarks relating to a public servant and the system becomes more conforming to the principles of natural justice. We, accordingly, hold that every entry in ACR--poor, fair, average, good or very good--must be communicated to him/her within a reasonable period.

39. The precise point, that uncommunicated adverse ACRs/ entries cannot be relied upon for the purpose of consideration for promotion, was subject matter of consideration before the Supreme Court in Rukhsana Shaheen Khan v. Union of India and others, (2018) 18 SCC 640. Their Lordships in Rukhsana Shaheen Khan (supra) held:

1. The sole issue involved in this appeal is whether the uncommunicated Annual Confidential Reports (ACRs), which are adverse to the appellant, should have been relied upon for the purpose of consideration of the appellant for promotion.

2. In view of the decision of this Court in Sukhdev Singh v. Union of India [Sukhdev Singh v. Union of India, (2013) 9 SCC 566 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 279] , there cannot be any dispute on this aspect. This Court has settled the law that uncommunicated and adverse ACRs cannot be relied upon in the process.

3. This appeal is, accordingly, allowed and the impugned judgment [Rukhsana Shaheen Khan v. Union of India, 2006 SCC OnLine Del 1840] is set aside with the following directions:

(a) The competent authority is directed to ignore the uncommunicated adverse ACRs and take a fresh decision in accordance with law.

(b) The appellant shall be afforded an opportunity of hearing in the process.

4. It will be open to the appellant to make all available submissions, including the reference to the judgment of this Court in Prabhu Dayal Khandelwal v. UPSC [Prabhu Dayal Khandelwal v. UPSC, (2015) 14 SCC 427 : (2016) 1 SCC (L&S) 825].

40. The legal position being clear that uncommunicated adverse entries cannot form the basis to deny promotion and a fortiori denial of promotion pay scale to an employee, the action of the respondents in seeking to deny consideration for grant of promotion pay scale to the petitioner on the basis of uncommunicated ACRs/ entries for the years 2000-01, 2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04 and 2004-05, cannot be countenanced. The District Inspector of Schools in his affidavit has, on larger grounds, opined those entries to be inherently vitiated.

41. Be that as it may, this Court is of the firm opinion that the adverse ACRs/ entries in the petitioner's service-book cannot be made the basis of denying him consideration for the grant of promotion pay scale. It is, accordingly, held.

42. The other ground, on the basis of which the petitioner's right to be granted, or so to speak, considered for grant of promotion pay scale, has been denied by the respondents, is that a criminal case is pending against him under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998. During the course of hearing, it has not been disputed before this Court that the aforesaid criminal prosecution is pending and during its pendency, the petitioner has retired from service. The law relating to promotion, grant of promotion pay scale etc. against an employee, who is facing disciplinary proceedings or criminal charges, is not that such an employee is not to be considered for the grant of promotion or promotion pay scale at all. A distinction has been drawn in such cases based on the stage of proceedings against an employee, be these departmental or criminal. If departmental proceedings are in contemplation, say pending consideration at the stage of a preliminary inquiry or a fact finding inquiry, the employee concerned is to be considered for promotion like any other. Similarly, if there is just an FIR lodged against an employee, his case for promotion is to be considered on merits and the process remains unaffected. However, in both cases, that is to say, disciplinary proceedings or criminal charges, the decisive point is the issue of a departmental charge-sheet in the former and the submission of a police report (charge-sheet) in Court in the latter.

43. In cases, where either a charge-sheet has been issued in departmental proceedings or a police report (charge-sheet) filed in Court after investigation by the Police/ other competent Investigating Agency, the employee's case for promotion is still to be considered; but not disposed of like that of any other employee. Post consideration, the recommendations of the Departmental Promotion Committee (DPC) or the other body or Authority competent to consider promotion or the grant of promotion pay scale are to be kept in a sealed cover, awaiting outcome of the disciplinary proceedings or the criminal trial, as the case may be. The question fell for consideration before the Supreme Court in Union of India and others v. K.V. Jankiraman and others, (1991) 4 SCC 109, where broad principles were laid down that have been since followed. The questions that fell for consideration in K.V. Jankiraman (supra) are set out in Paragraph No.8 of the report, which reads:

8. The common questions involved in all these matters relate to what in service jurisprudence has come to be known as "sealed cover procedure". Concisely stated, the questions are: (1) What is the date from which it can be said that disciplinary/criminal proceedings are pending against an employee? (2) What is the course to be adopted when the employee is held guilty in such proceedings if the guilt merits punishment other than that of dismissal? (3) To what benefits an employee who is completely or partially exonerated is entitled to and from which date? The "sealed cover procedure" is adopted when an employee is due for promotion, increment etc. but disciplinary/criminal proceedings are pending against him at the relevant time and hence, the findings of his entitlement to the benefit are kept in a sealed cover to be opened after the proceedings in question are over. Hence, the relevance and importance of the questions.

44. The questions were dealt with in K.V. Jankiraman with their Lordships holding thus:

16. On the first question, viz., as to when for the purposes of the sealed cover procedure the disciplinary/criminal proceedings can be said to have commenced, the Full Bench of the Tribunal has held that it is only when a charge-memo in a disciplinary proceedings or a charge-sheet in a criminal prosecution is issued to the employee that it can be said that the departmental proceedings/criminal prosecution is initiated against the employee. The sealed cover procedure is to be resorted to only after the charge-memo/charge-sheet is issued. The pendency of preliminary investigation prior to that stage will not be sufficient to enable the authorities to adopt the sealed cover procedure. We are in agreement with the Tribunal on this point. The contention advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant-authorities that when there are serious allegations and it takes time to collect necessary evidence to prepare and issue charge-memo/charge-sheet, it would not be in the interest of the purity of administration to reward the employee with a promotion, increment etc. does not impress us. The acceptance of this contention would result in injustice to the employees in many cases. As has been the experience so far, the preliminary investigations take an inordinately long time and particularly when they are initiated at the instance of the interested persons, they are kept pending deliberately. Many times they never result in the issue of any charge-memo/charge-sheet. If the allegations are serious and the authorities are keen in investigating them, ordinarily it should not take much time to collect the relevant evidence and finalise the charges. What is further, if the charges are that serious, the authorities have the power to suspend the employee under the relevant rules, and the suspension by itself permits a resort to the sealed cover procedure. The authorities thus are not without a remedy. It was then contended on behalf of the authorities that conclusions Nos. 1 and 4 of the Full Bench of the Tribunal are inconsistent with each other. Those conclusions are as follows: (ATC p. 196, para 39)

"(1) consideration for promotion, selection grade, crossing the efficiency bar or higher scale of pay cannot be withheld merely on the ground of pendency of a disciplinary or criminal proceedings against an official;

(4) the sealed cover procedure can be resorted to only after a charge memo is served on the concerned official or the charge-sheet filed before the criminal court and not before;"

17. There is no doubt that there is a seeming contradiction between the two conclusions. But read harmoniously, and that is what the Full Bench has intended, the two conclusions can be reconciled with each other. The conclusion No. 1 should be read to mean that the promotion etc. cannot be withheld merely because some disciplinary/criminal proceedings are pending against the employee. To deny the said benefit, they must be at the relevant time pending at the stage when charge-memo/charge-sheet has already been issued to the employee. Thus read, there is no inconsistency in the two conclusions.

18. We, therefore, repel the challenge of the appellant-authorities to the said finding of the Full Bench of the Tribunal.

19. The Full Bench of the Tribunal, while considering the earlier Memorandum dated January 30, 1982 has, among other things, held [Ed.: See (1987) 3 ATC 174, 195 in para 36] that the portion of paragraph 2 of the memorandum which says "but no arrears are allowed in respect of the period prior to the date of the actual promotion" is violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution because withholding of salary of the promotional post for the period during which the promotion has been withheld while giving other benefits, is discriminatory when compared with other employees who are not at the verge of promotion when the disciplinary proceedings were initiated against them.

20. The Tribunal has, therefore, directed that on exoneration, full salary should be paid to such employee which he would have received on promotion if he had not been subjected to disciplinary proceedings.

21. We are afraid that the Tribunal's reference to paragraph 2 of the Memorandum is incorrect. Paragraph 2 only recites the state of affairs as existed on January 30, 1982 and the portion of the Memorandum which deals with the relevant point is the last sentence of the first sub-paragraph after clause (iii) of paragraph 3 of the Memorandum which is reproduced above. That sentence reads as follows:

"But no arrears of pay shall be payable to him for the period of notional promotion preceding the date of actual promotion."

22. This sentence is preceded by the observation that when the employee is completely exonerated on the conclusion of the disciplinary/court proceedings, that is, when no statutory penalty, including that of censure, is imposed, he is to be given a notional promotion from the date he would have been promoted as determined by the Departmental Promotion Committee. This direction in the Memorandum has also to be read along with the other direction which follows in the next sub-paragraph and which states that if it is found as a result of the proceedings that some blame attaches to the officer then the penalty of censure at least, should be imposed. This direction is in supersession of the earlier instructions which provided that in a case where departmental disciplinary proceedings have been held, "warning" should not be issued as a result of such proceedings.

23. There is no doubt that when an employee is completely exonerated and is not visited with the penalty even of censure indicating thereby that he was not blameworthy in the least, he should not be deprived of any benefits including the salary of the promotional post. It was urged on behalf of the appellant-authorities in all these cases that a person is not entitled to the salary of the post unless he assumes charge of the same. They relied on F.R. 17(1) of the Fundamental Rules and Supplementary Rules which reads as follows:

"F.R. 17. (1) Subject to any exceptions specifically made in these rules and to the provision of sub-rule (2), an officer shall begin to draw the pay and allowances attached to his tenure of a post with effect from the date when he assumes the duties of that post, and shall cease to draw them as soon as he ceases to discharge those duties:

Provided that an officer who is absent from duty without any authority shall not be entitled to any pay and allowances during the period of such absence."

24. It was further contended on their behalf that the normal rule is "no work no pay". Hence a person cannot be allowed to draw the benefits of a post the duties of which he has not discharged. To allow him to do so is against the elementary rule that a person is to be paid only for the work he has done and not for the work he has not done. As against this, it was pointed out on behalf of the concerned employees, that on many occasions even frivolous proceedings are instituted at the instance of interested persons, sometimes with a specific object of denying the promotion due, and the employee concerned is made to suffer both mental agony and privations which are multiplied when he is also placed under suspension, When, therefore, at the end of such sufferings, he comes out with a clean bill, he has to be restored to all the benefits from which he was kept away unjustly.

25. We are not much impressed by the contentions advanced on behalf of the authorities. The normal rule of "no work no pay" is not applicable to cases such as the present one where the employee although he is willing to work is kept away from work by the authorities for no fault of his. This is not a case where the employee remains away from work for his own reasons, although the work is offered to him. It is for this reason that F.R. 17(1) will also be inapplicable to such cases.

26. We are, therefore, broadly in agreement with the finding of the Tribunal that when an employee is completely exonerated meaning thereby that he is not found blameworthy in the least and is not visited with the penalty even of censure, he has to be given the benefit of the salary of the higher post along with the other benefits from the date on which he would have normally been promoted but for the disciplinary/criminal proceedings. However, there may be cases where the proceedings, whether disciplinary or criminal, are, for example, delayed at the instance of the employee or the clearance in the disciplinary proceedings or acquittal in the criminal proceedings is with benefit of doubt or on account of non-availability of evidence due to the acts attributable to the employee etc. In such circumstances, the concerned authorities must be vested with the power to decide whether the employee at all deserves any salary for the intervening period and if he does, the extent to which he deserves it. Life being complex, it is not possible to anticipate and enumerate exhaustively all the circumstances under which such consideration may become necessary. To ignore, however, such circumstances when they exist and lay down an inflexible rule that in every case when an employee is exonerated in disciplinary/criminal proceedings he should be entitled to all salary for the intervening period is to undermine discipline in the administration and jeopardise public interests. We are, therefore, unable to agree with the Tribunal that to deny the salary to an employee would in all circumstances be illegal. While, therefore, we do not approve of the said last sentence in the first sub-paragraph after clause (iii) of paragraph 3 of the said Memorandum, viz., "but no arrears of pay shall be payable to him for the period of notional promotion preceding the date of actual promotion", we direct that in place of the said sentence the following sentence be read in the Memorandum:

"However, whether the officer concerned will be entitled to any arrears of pay for the period of notional promotion preceding the date of actual promotion, and if so to what extent, will be decided by the concerned authority by taking into consideration all the facts and circumstances of the disciplinary proceeding/criminal prosecution. Where the authority denies arrears of salary or part of it, it will record its reasons for doing so."

27. To this extent we set aside the conclusion of the Tribunal on the said point.

28. The Tribunal has also struck down the following portion in the second sub-paragraph after clause (iii) of paragraph 3 which reads as follows: "If any penalty is imposed on the officer as a result of the disciplinary proceedings or if he is found guilty in the court proceedings against him, the findings in the sealed cover/covers shall not be acted upon" and has directed that if the proceedings result in a penalty, the person concerned should be considered for promotion in a Review DPC as on the original date in the light of the results of the sealed cover as also the imposition of penalty, and his claim for promotion cannot be deferred for the subsequent DPCs as provided in the instructions. It may be pointed out that the said sub-paragraph directs that "the officer's case for promotion may be considered in the usual manner by the next DPC which meets in the normal course after the conclusion of the disciplinary/court proceedings". The Tribunal has given the direction in question on the ground that such deferment of the claim for promotion to the subsequent DPCs amounts to a double penalty. According to the Tribunal, "it not only violates Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution compared with other employees who are not at the verge of promotion when the disciplinary proceedings are initiated against them but also offends the rule against double jeopardy contained in Article 20(2) of the Constitution". The Tribunal has, therefore, held that when an employee is visited with a penalty as a result of the disciplinary proceedings there should be a Review DPC as on the date when the sealed cover procedure was followed and the Review DPC should consider the findings in the sealed cover as also the penalty imposed. It is not clear to us as to why the Tribunal wants the Review DPC to consider the penalty imposed while considering the findings in the sealed cover if, according to the Tribunal, not giving effect to the findings in the sealed cover even when a penalty is imposed, amounts to double jeopardy. However, as we read the findings of the Tribunal, it appears that the Tribunal in no case wants the promotion of the officer to be deferred once the officer is visited with a penalty in the disciplinary proceedings and the Tribunal desires that the officer should be given promotion as per the findings in the sealed cover.

29. According to us, the Tribunal has erred in holding that when an officer is found guilty in the discharge of his duties, an imposition of penalty is all that is necessary to improve his conduct and to enforce discipline and ensure purity in the administration. In the first instance, the penalty short of dismissal will vary from reduction in rank to censure. We are sure that the Tribunal has not intended that the promotion should be given to the officer from the original date even when the penalty imparted is of reduction in rank. On principle, for the same reasons, the officer cannot be rewarded by promotion as a matter of course even if the penalty is other than that of the reduction in rank. An employee has no right to promotion. He has only a right to be considered for promotion. The promotion to a post and more so, to a selection post, depends upon several circumstances. To qualify for promotion, the least that is expected of an employee is to have an unblemished record. That is the minimum expected to ensure a clean and efficient administration and to protect the public interests. An employee found guilty of a misconduct cannot be placed on par with the other employees and his case has to be treated differently. There is, therefore, no discrimination when in the matter of promotion, he is treated differently. The least that is expected of any administration is that it does not reward an employee with promotion retrospectively from a date when for his conduct before that date he is penalised in praesenti. When an employee is held guilty and penalised and is, therefore, not promoted at least till the date on which he is penalised, he cannot be said to have been subjected to a further penalty on that account. A denial of promotion in such circumstances is not a penalty but a necessary consequence of his conduct. In fact, while considering an employee for promotion his whole record has to be taken into consideration and if a promotion committee takes the penalties imposed upon the employee into consideration and denies him the promotion, such denial is not illegal and unjustified. If, further, the promoting authority can take into consideration the penalty or penalties awarded to an employee in the past while considering his promotion and deny him promotion on that ground, it will be irrational to hold that it cannot take the penalty into consideration when it is imposed at a later date because of the pendency of the proceedings, although it is for conduct prior to the date the authority considers the promotion. For these reasons, we are of the view that the Tribunal is not right in striking down the said portion of the second sub-paragraph after clause (iii) of paragraph 3 of the said Memorandum. We, therefore, set aside the said findings of the Tribunal.

45. The principles laid down in K.V. Jankiraman have been followed in Union of India and others v. Anil Kumar Sarkar, (2013) 4 SCC 161. Though, both in K.V. Jankiraman and Anil Kumar Sarkar, the Court before it had office memoranda issued by the Government dealing with the issue as to in what manner cases for promotion are to be considered in the case of employees, against whom disciplinary proceedings or criminal cases are pending, which is not the case here, the broad principles laid down in K.V. Jankiraman and subsequently followed, would apply to the case of any employee governed by a statutorily protected tenure, where the rules provide for promotion or the grant of a selection grade or promotion pay scale.

46. In the circumstances, this Court is of opinion that the petitioner's case for the grant of promotion pay scale is to be considered by the Management and the District Inspector of Schools w.e.f. the date the petitioner became entitled to such consideration, that is to say, 12 years service as an Assistant Teacher in the selection grade. The consideration of the petitioner's case for the grant of promotion pay scale shall not take into account the uncommunicated adverse entries entered in his ACR and shall receive requisite consideration ignoring those adverse entries. In assessing the satisfactory service of 12 years in the selection grade for the purpose of grant of promotion pay scale, the adverse entries shall be ignored. The result of the consideration shall, however, be kept in a sealed cover or in abeyance through some other suitable mode, as may be in practice or sanctioned by rules, until such time that the judgment in the criminal case is pronounced. Depending on the outcome of the decision of the criminal Court, the result of the consideration for the grant of promotion pay scale shall be implemented by the respondents.

47. So far as the question of payment of the difference in salary and the subsistence allowance for the period of suspension is concerned, the same shall also abide by the outcome of the decision that the criminal Court renders. In case, the petitioner is acquitted in the criminal case honourably, he will be entitled to payment of the difference between the salary and the subsistence allowance for the period 01.04.2009 to 31.05.2010, without reservation and promptly so.

48. In the above conspectus of facts, this petition succeeds and is allowed in part. The impugned order dated 12.12.2014 passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly is hereby quashed. A mandamus is issued to the respondents to grant the petitioner's two increments withheld i.e. for the period July, 2009 to November, 2010. The petitioner's salary, by adding those increments, shall be revised and the arrears paid within two months of the date of receipt of a copy of this order together with simple interest @ 6% per annum from the date it fell due until payment. The petitioner shall be entitled to consideration for the grant of promotion pay scale without reference to the adverse entries made in his ACRs for the years 2000-01, 2001-02, 2002-03 and 2003-04, the result whereof shall be kept in a sealed cover, or otherwise in abeyance as the rules or the practice may permit until delivery of judgment by the Criminal Court in Case Crime No.209 of 2009, under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998, Police Station Hafijganj, District Bareilly. Depending on the outcome of the criminal case, the result of the consideration for the grant of promotion pay scale shall be implemented, within six weeks of the delivery of the Criminal Court's judgment. Likewise, the petitioner's entitlement to subsistence allowance shall depend on the outcome of the judgment in Case Crime No.209 of 2009, under Section 3/10 of the Act of 1998, Police Station Hafijganj, District Bareilly, which too shall be decided by the respondent Management and the Authorities within six weeks of the delivery of that judgment. It is made clear that the respondent Management and the respondent Authorities shall carry out all directions in this judgment, strictly in point of time and in the terms made, without delay. Considering the circumstances of the case, there shall be no order as to costs.

49. Let the petitioner's service-book be returned to the Registrar General for its onward and secure transmission to the District Inspector of Schools, Bareilly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Mr. H. P. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners and Mr. Madhusudan Dixit, learned counsel for contesting respondent Nos.5 and 6.

2. Brief facts of the case are that in the Basic year of the Consolidation operation, Chandra Shekhar and Laxmi Shanker sons of Ram Dularey were recorded over plot of Khata Nos.5 and 13 situated in village-Shivpur, Pargana-Hathgaon, District-Fatehpur while Ram Kishore son of Ram Dularey and Vidya Sagar sons of Brij Kishore were recorded over Khata No.13. On 18.02.1975 Ram Kishore and Vidya Sagar transferred their interest in the land of Khata No.13 to petitioners by means of a registered sale deed. Chandra Shekhar and Laxmi Shanker also transferred their interest in favour of the petitioners by means of the registered sale deed dated 03.02.1975. An objection under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act was filed by petitioners to record their names on the basis of sale deed, the Assistant Consolidation Officer by his order dated 22.04.1975 ordered to record the names of petitioners on the basis of sale deed. Respondent No.4 Vidya Sagar filed an objection under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H, Act claiming right in the disputed plot but Consolidation Officer by his order dated 25.01.1979 held that order dated 22.04.1975 passed by Assistant Consolidation Officer is binding on the parties and he could not sit in appeal over the order of Assistant Consolidation Officer passed under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act accordingly, objection filed by respondent No.4 under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H,. Act was rejected. An appeal under Section 11 of U.P.C.H. Act was filed by respondent Nos.5 and 6 before Settlement Officer of Consolidation, the appeal was allowed vide order dated 05.12.1979 and matter was remanded before Consolidation Officer for fresh decision of objection on merit. Although, no appeal was filed by respondent No.4 against the order of Consolidation Officer dated 25.01.1979. Against the appellate order dated 05.12.1979 revision under Section 48 of U.P.C.H,. Act was filed by petitioners, Deputy Director of Consolidation by order dated 18.03.1982 dismissed the revision filed by petitioners as well as exercising the power under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act order dated 22.04.1975 passed under Section 12 of U.P.C.H.Act was set aside being without jurisdiction. Hence this writ petition.

3. Counsel for the petitioners submitted that one order under Section 12 of U.P.C.H,. Act has been passed in favour of petitioners and the order has attained finality then objection under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act filed by respondent No.4 cannot be entertained as order passed under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act between the parties will operate as res judicata in the proceedings under Section 9A (2) of U.P.C.H. Act. He further submitted that order dated 22.04.1975 passed in the proceedings under Section 12 of U.P.C.H,. was not challenged in Appeal or revision as such the same cannot be set aside in the present proceedings under Section 9A (2) of U.P.C.H,. Act exercising suo motu power under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act accordingly counsel for the petitioners submitted that impugned revisional order dated 18.03.1982 passed by revisional Court and order dated 5.12.1979 passed by appellate Court be set aside.

4. On the other hand, counsel for the respondent Nos.5 and 6 has submitted that order passed in the proceeding under Section 12 will not operate as res judicata in the title proceedings under Section 9 A(2) of U.P.C.H,. Act. He placed provisions of Sections 9A, 11-A and 12 of U.P.C.H. Act which are as follows:

*" [9A. Disposal of Cases relating to claims to land and partition of joint holdings. -

(1) The Assistant Consolidation Officer shall -

(i) where objections in respect of claims to land or partition of joint holdings are filed, after hearing the parties concerned, and

(ii) where no objections are filed after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, settle the disputes, correct the mistakes and effect partition as far as may be by conciliation between the parties appearing before him and pass orders on the basis of such conciliation :

[Provided that where the Assistant Consolidation Officer, after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, is satisfied that a case of succession is undisputed, he shall dispose of the case on the basis of such enquiry.]

(2) All cases which are not disposed of by the Assistant Consolidation Officer under sub-section (1), all cases relating to valuation of plots and all cases relating to valuation of trees, wells or other improvements, for calculating compensation therefor, and its apportionment amongst co-owners, if there be more owners than one, shall be forwarded by the Assistant Consolidation Officer to the Consolidation Officer, who shall dispose of the same in the manner prescribed.

(3) The Assistant Consolidation Officer, while acting under sub-section (1) and the Consolidation Officer, while acting under sub-section (2), shall be deemed to be a Court of competent jurisdiction, anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force notwithstanding.]

[11A. Bar on objection. - No question in respect of -

(i) claims to land,

(ii) partition of joint holdings, and

(iii) valuation of plots, trees, wells and other improvements, where the question is sought to be raised by a tenure-holder of the plot or the owner of the tree, well or other improvements recorded in the annual register under Section 10, relating to the consolidation area,] [which has been raised under Section 9 or which might or ought to have been raised under that section], but has not been so raised, shall be raised or heard at any subsequent stage of the consolidation proceedings.]

[12. Decision of matters relating to changes and transactions affecting rights or interests recorded in revised records. -

(1) All matters relating to changes and transfers affecting any of the rights or interests recorded in the revised records published under sub-section (1) of Section 10 for which a cause of action had not arisen when proceedings under Sections 7 to 9 were started or were in progress, may be raised before the Assistant Consolidation Officer as and when they arise, but not later than the date of notification under Section 52, or under sub-section (1) of Section 6.

(2) The provisions of Sections 7 to 11 shall mutatis mutandis, apply to the hearing and decision of any matter raised under sub-section (1) as if it were a matter raised under the aforesaid sections.]"

5. On the basis of the provisions contained in Section 9A, 11A and 12 of U.P.C.H. Act counsel for the respondents submitted that order passed under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act will operate as res-judicata in the subsequent proceedings but alleged order passed under section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act cannot operate as res-judicata in the proceedings under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act. He further submitted that appellate Court has rightly allowed the appeal of respondents and remitted the matter back to the court of Consolidation Officer for decision of proceedings under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act on merit. He next submitted that Deputy Director of Consolidation rightly set aside the order dated 22.04.1975 passed under Section-12 of U.P.C.H. Act exercising power under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act on the ground that order was without jurisdiction according to the provisions contained under Sections 9A, 11-A and 12 of U.P.C.H. Act. He lastly submitted that interest of both parties will be examined under Section 9A(2)of U.P.C.H. Act in pursuance of the impugned appellate order and revisional order as such writ petition filed by petitioners is liable to be dismissed.

6. I have considered the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

7. There is no dispute about the fact that no objection under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act was filed by petitioners under Section 9A(2)of U.P.C.H. Act rather alleged proceeding under Section-12 of U.P.C.H.

Act was initiated at the instance of petitioners and order dated 22.04.1975 was passed under Section-12 of U.P.C.H. Act on the basis of alleged sale deed dated 18.02.1975 and 03.02.1975, which was before the notification under Section-9A of U.P.C.H. Act. Proceeding under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act was initiated at the instance of respondents, according to the provisions of Section 9-A of U.P.C.H. Act, which has been ordered to be adjudicated on merit by Consolidation Officer under impugned orders.

8. On the basis of provisions contained under Section 9A, 11A and 12 of U.P.C.H. Act as quoted above, there appears to be no scope to file objection under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act first and get it decide as uncontested by Assistant Consolidation Officer without filing objection under Section 9-A of U.P.C.H. Act. In the case in hand cause of action for filing objection and laying claim on the basis of sale-deed had already arisen for which steps were not taken by petitioners under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act rather initiated proceedings under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act and got the order passed by Assistant Consolidation Officer, which appears to be without jurisdiction as Section 11-A of U.P.C.H. Act will come in picture. The regular objection under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act at the instance of the respondents cannot be held to be bar by res judicata due to decision/order alleged to be passed under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act.

9. This Court in a case reported in 2003 (95) R.D.44 Aparbal Yadav and another vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Gorakhpur and others has considered the scope of Section 9A and 12, the relevant paragraph No.7 of the judgment is as follows:

....7. In view of the aforesaid it is clear that in the event a question had already arisen when proceedings under Sections 7 to 9 were started or were in progress and an objection under Section 9-A(2) of the U.P.C.H. Act claiming right in the land on the basis of the sale deed dated 27.06.67 was already filed by the predecessor of the petitioners, there appears to be no scope of filing fresh objection under Section 12 of the U.P.C.H. Act. Section 11-A of the Act clearly bars raising of any question in respect to claim of the land, which has been raised under Section 9 or which might or ought to have been raised under that Section. It is clearly mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 12 that provisions of Sections 7 to 11 shall mutatis mutandis apply to the hearing and decision of any matter raised under Sub-Section (1) of the Act. In view of this it is clear that the objection and claim in respect to the land in dispute on the basis of the sale-deed. In question was not only decided on merits but also concurred by all three Consolidations Courts which was never challenged before this court. Whatever law as existed to that time the judgment of the Consolidation Courts attained finality. it is in the case where any fresh cause of action has arisen to a party after publication of the revised record under Section 10 (1) of the Act which was not available when the proceedings under Sections 7 to 9 were started or where in progress filing of objection under Section 12 of the act could be permitted. Hence in the case in hand, as the cause of action for filing objection and laying claim on the basis of the sale-deed dated 27.06.67 had already arisen for which steps were also taken in the proceedings under Sections 9-A(2) of the Act the finality which has attained cannot be permitted to be re-opened in the garb of filing of objection under Section 12 of the Act which was filed in the year 1976 after the final judgment of the Deputy Director Consolidation which was passed in the year 1970. Three Consolidation Courts have rightly not permitted the petitioner to get fresh inning opened for adjudication of their claim on the merits in the garb of the proceedings under Section 12 of the Act. It could only be entertained when the matter relating to change and transfer affecting any of the right or interest recorded in the revised records published under Sub-Section (1) of Section 10 for which a cause of action had not arisen when proceedings under Sections 7 to 9 were started or were in progress. This being not the situation, so far the case in hand is concerned rather cause of action having already arisen, to which petitioner's predecessor having reacted had filed objection under Section 9-A (2) of the Act has failed and thus filing of the fresh objection under Section 12 of the Act by the petitioners is clearly barred under Section 11-A of the Act read with Section 12 (2) of the Act. It is not to be repeated that by change of law or if earlier judgment has been over ruled, that do not give any cause of action for re-adjudicating the claim on the merits and to get earlier order reviewed as has been clearly opined by the Apex Court in the decision given in case of Shanti Devi (Supra). Thus arguments of the learned counsel for the petitioner that as vendor has got Bhumidhari rights in view of the subsequent declaration of law petitioner's claim is to be accepted, on the facts of present case of no help to them. Other decisions also as cited by the learned counsel for the petitioners on the fact and reasoning given above have no application to the case in hand."

10. Considering the provisions of Section 9A, 11A and 12 of U.P.C.H. Act, ratio of law laid down by which Court in Aparbal Yadav (supra) as well as facts and circumstances of the case ends of justice requires that objection under Section 9A(2)of U.P.C.H. Act in respect to disputed plot initiated at the instance of respondents be adjudicated on merit, in which both parties will have opportunity to contest their claim on merit under the impugned order, the same things has been done as such no interference is required against the impugned orders. Writ petition filed by petitioners fails and is dismissed. No order as to costs.

11. Since the matter is very old, it is directed that Consolidation Officer Fatehpur, shall decide the objection under Section 9A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act after notice and opportunity of hearing to both parties on merit expeditiously preferably within six months from the date of production of certified copy of this Judgment.

A. Civil Law – UP Revenue Code, 2006 – Sections 33, 34 & 35 – Mutation – Claim on the basis of decree passed in a suit u/s 229-B – No appeal against decree filed –

Mutation proceeding – maintainability – Phrase 'upon facts otherwise coming to his knowledge' is used – Effect – Held, the words and phrase 'upon facts otherwise coming to his knowledge' is indication of intended of litigation to cover all such cases that may require mutation – A declaratory decree of a competent revenue court holding and declaring a person to be title holder of a land falling in a revenue village, would be such a case and, therefore, in such circumstances, if decree holder takes a plea before the Tehsildar that he having been declared owner in possession of the land, is entitled for mutation. (Para 11 and 13)

Writ petition disposed of. (E-1)

List of Cases cited:-

1. Parabhu Vs Board of Revenue, U.P., Allahabad; 1968 SCC OnLine All 398 : 1968 RD 195,

2. Satpal Singh & ors. Vs St. of Har. & ors. decided by the Punjab & Haryana High Court

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. In view of office report dated 19.4.2022 service upon respondent nos. 4 and 5 is deemed sufficient.

2. Heard Udai Chandani learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri J.P.N.Raj, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State.

3. By means of this writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has challenged the order of the Tehsildar (Judicial), Tehsil - Sadar, Varanasi (Respondent no. 3) dated 18.01.2020, whereby he has rejected the application of the petitioner for mutation holding that on the basis of decree of compromise or settlement made by the competent court, mutation proceedings cannot be initiated.

4. Petitioner's appeal against the order dated 18.01.2020 has also come to be rejected by the Sub-Divisional Officer (Revenue)/ Dy. Collector (Revenue), Tehsil - Sadar, Varanasi (Respondent no. 2) by order dated 20.12.2021 confirming the order of respondent no. 3.

5. It is argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that once suit has been decreed under section 229-B of UPZA & LR Act, 1950 and the said decree has remained un-appealed against and has thus attained finality, then the name of decree holder is required to be mutated in the revenue records. He submits that the application for correction of records would lie in those cases only where wrong entry has been carried out on the part of the revenue authorities or any omission has taken place. He submits that here is a case where petitioner filed a suit for declaratory rights under section 229-B of UPZA & LR Act, 1950 and was decreed on the basis of compromise reached between recorded tenure holder and the petitioner and, therefore, the petitioner's application for mutation was absolutely maintainable.

6. Per contra, it is argued by the learned Standing Counsel that once revenue authorities have entered the name in the revenue records of a tenure holder, who is a rightful claimant and if somebody has obtained the order on the basis of compromise, it is a case were right is to be taken as to have always existed and so no entry of such a person in revenue records be taken as omission and so application would lie for correction of records. It is further submitted that under the UP Revenue Code, 2006 under section 34 and 35 mutation may not be permissible on the basis of a decree of court of law in view of other provisions contained in U.P. Revenue Code, 2006.

7. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and their respective arguments raised across the bar, I find that Sections 34 and 35 of UP Revenue Code, 2006 provides for mutation to be carried out in the revenue records by way of succession or transfer which also includes family settlement. Sections 33, 34 and 35 of UP Revenue Code, 2006 are reproduced herein below.

Section 33. (1) Every person obtaining possession of any land by succession shall submit report of such succession to the Revenue Inspector of the circle in which the land is situate in such form as may be prescribed.

(2) On receipt of a report under sub-section (1) or on facts otherwise coming to his knowledge, the Revenue Inspector shall -

(a) if the case is not disputed, record such succession in the record of rights (Khatauni);

(b) in any other case, make such inquiry as may appear to him to be necessary and submit his report to the Tahsildar.

[(3)] Any person whose name has not been recorded by Revenue Inspector or is aggrieved by the order passed by the Revenue Inspector [under clause (a) or (b) of sub-section (2)] may move an application before Tahsildar.

[(4)] The provisions of this section shall mutatis mutandis apply to every person admitted as a Bhumidhar with non-transferable rights or as an asami by the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti in accordance with the provisions of this Code or any enactment repealed by it.

34. Duty to report in cases of transfer - [(1)] Every person obtaining possession of any land by transfer, other than transfer referred to in sub-section (3) of Section 33 shall report such transfer, in the manner prescribed, to the Tahsildar of the Tahsil in which the land as situate.

Explanation. - (1) For the purposes of this section, the word transfer includes a family settlement [].

[(2) State Government may fix a scale of fees for getting entry recorded in the record of rights on the basis of transfer. A fee in respect of any such entry shall be payable by the person in whose favour the entry is to be made.]

35. Mutation in cases of succession or transfer. (1) On the receipt of a report under Section 33 or Section 34, or upon facts otherwise coming to his knowledge*, the Tahsildar shall issue a proclamation and make such inquiry as appears and -*

(a) if the case is not disputed, he shall direct the record of rights (Khatuani) to be amended accordingly;

[(c) if the case is disputed, he shall decide the dispute and direct, if necessary, the record of rights (khatauni) to be amended accordingly.]

[(2) Any person aggrieved by an order of the Tahsildar under sub-section (1) may prefer an appeal to the Sub-Divisional Officer within a period of thirty days from the date of such order.]

8. Section 38 of UP Revenue Code, 2006 talks about correction or error and omission. the main substantive provision of Section 38(1) is reproduced herein below.

38. Correction of error and omission. (1) An application for correction of any error or omission in the map, field-book (Khasra) or record of rights (Khatauni) shall be made to the Tahsildar in the manner prescribed.

(Emphasis added).

9. The language of Sub-section 4 of the Section 33 provides for mutation in the event a person is admitted as Bhumidhar with non-transferable rights or Asami by Land Management Committee. So the legislature intended mutation not only in cases of transfer and succession but also where rights are created under the provisions of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006.

10. Upon reading of section 34, it clearly transpires that in case of succession by way of transfer which includes family settlement, mutation application would be maintainable.

11. The words and phrase "upon facts otherwise coming to his knowledge" is indication of intended of litigation to cover all such cases that may require mutation as and end right of any lawful proceedings drawn to enable Tehsildar to carryout mutation after holding due enquiry.

12. From a bare reading of provisions of section 38 of UP Revenue Code, 2006, I find that an application for correction of any error or omission in the map, field book (Khasra) or record of rights, shall be made to the Tehsildar in the manner prescribed. Sub section 5 deals with those cases where the entries are manipulated in the records of Khasra and Khatauni, they may have to be expunged. Thus the two provisions operate in two different directions: while one permits the revenue authorities to entertain the mutation application to enter the name in the revenue records on the basis of succession/transfer which includes family settlement; the other provision provides that where entry may have been entered for some mistake on the part of the revenue authorities and if such an entry is found fraudulent, the entries are required to be expunged.

13. Besides what is discussed above, I find that section 34(1) uses words and expression "upon facts otherwise coming to his knowledge". These words and expressions denote a situation where facts placed before the Tehsildar indicate a situation where a person's name is required to be entered into the records of rights as such rights got accrued. This power of Tehsildar besides being suo motu, can also be exercised upon application being made in that behalf. A declaratory decree of a competent revenue court holding and declaring a person to be title holder of a land falling in a revenue village, would be such a case and, therefore, in such circumstances, if decree holder takes a plea before the Tehsildar that he having been declared owner in possession of the land, is entitled for mutation, Tehsildar concerned shall have to pass order thereupon and if someone disputes, he will decide the case on merits.

14. In such above view of the matter, therefore, in so far as the view taken by the Teshildar qua maintainability of mutation application appears to be misplaced. In my considered view, if a person who is in possession of any land either by succession or otherwise having rightful claim, can apply for mutation by virtue of provisions contained under Section 34 of the UP Revenue Code, 2006 and therefore, the person who has obtained decree, would be entitled to move an application under Section 34 of the UP Revenue Code, 2006, to get the name mutated in the revenue records. A declaratory suit under Section 229-B of U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act, 1950 or under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 is a lawful proceeding under the Act and therefore, a suit if decreed, may be upon a compromises reached between the parties, such a decree unless and until set aside, is binding and mutation application for carrying out entry in revenue records would be maintainable under the Act.

15. The authorities cited by learned counsel for the petitioner are worth consideration. In the case of Parabhu Vs. Board of Revenue, U.P., Allahabad reported in 1968 SCC OnLine All 398 : 1968 RD 195, the Court declined to interfere in the order of the Board of Revenue whereby it had directed the Naib Tehsildar concerned to proceed and conclude the matter of mutation on the basis of decree passed by civil court, Vide paragraph Nos. 5,6,7 and 8 it has been hed thus :

5. The Sub-Divisional Officer dismissed the application on the ground that there was no evidence to show that plot No. 71 corresponds to the old plot No. 789 in respect of which civil litigation took place between the parties. The petitioners' revision was dismissed by the Additional District Magistrate by affirming this finding and also on the ground that the civil court decree did not entitle the applicants to any right in respect of the whole of the plot No. 789 and that it could not be found out from the civil court judgments and decree as to in respect of what portion the right was granted in favour of the petitioners. He also doubted whether the finding of the civil court given in the suit for injunction had any binding effect on the parties. The Board of Revenue dismissed the petitioners' revision on the ground that it agreed with the lower court.

6. It has been stated in the present petition that there was no dispute between the parties that the old plot No. 789 was renumbered as plot No. 71 during consolidation operations. In fact, respondent No. 5, who had appeared in the witness-box, had admitted this fact. The authorities below were, therefore, in error in presuming that there was no evidence on the point. Further, the appellate judgment in the civil suit shows that the appellate court had demarcated the area over which the petitioners were held entitled as owners in the map of the commissioner dated October 13, 1959. It cannot, therefore, be said that the decree was not executable or that the land given to the plaintiffs was not identifiable. The view of the Additional District Magistrate that the judgments of the civil courts were not binding on the parties does not appear to have any substance. Since the plot had been excluded from consolidation operations the title in respect of it could be adjudicated upon by the regular courts. The decree of the appellate court in the civil suits had become final and did operate as binding upon the parties. It was incumbent upon the revenue authorities to mutate the names according to that judgment.

7. It was urged that since the records were revised during consolidation operations, no application lay before the revenue authorities for mutation under Section 33 of the Land Revenue Act. In view of the further fact that the civil court decree declared the rights of the parties, that decree had to be effectuated in the revenue records. The application could not, therefore, be rejected on that ground.

8. The petition, therefore, succeeds and is allowed. The impugned orders of the courts below are set aside. The matter is sent back to the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sadar, Azamgarh with a direction to decide the petitioners' application afresh in accordance with law and in the light of the observations made above. The petitioners will be entitled to their costs.

16. In the case of Satpal Singh and others Vs. State of Haryana and others, the issue before Punjab and Haryana High Court was that application for mutation had been rejected on the ground that earlier mutation orders passed on the basis of Will and succession were not set aside by any declaratory decree in a suit in terms of Section 45 of the Punjab Land Revenue Act. It was argued before the High Court that decree of the civil court had attained finality up to the Supreme Court and, therefore, the Naib Tehsildar-cum-Assistant Collector, Ambala Cantt. was not justified in rejecting mutation application merely on the ground that earlier mutation orders were not challenged in civil suit proceedings and so those orders were binding.

17. The High Court referred to various authorities and finally held that the mutation application was maintainable and directed Naib Tehsildar concerned to decide the same. The discussions and observations made and the ultimate order passed by the Punjab and Haryana High Court are reproduced hereunder:

"In reply, learned senior counsel for the petitioners, in support of his arguments, has relied upon a judgment of this Court in Sube Singh Vs. Financial Commissioner, Revenue, Haryana, 2001 (4) RCR (Civil) 766, to submit that it has been held by the Division Bench that the approach adopted by the revenue authorities ignoring the decree of Civil Court, merely because a subsequent suit is pending, is erroneous, as the revenue authorities have to sanction the mutation on the basis of Civil Court decree.

Learned senior counsel has further relied upon another judgment of Division Bench of this Court in Bachan Singh and others Vs. Financial Commissioner, Appeal (I), Punjab and others, 2008 (3) RCR (Civil) 887, wherein a similar view has been taken that the order passed by the Civil Court is binding on the revenue authorities and there is no requirement of a formal direction for incorporating the verdict of the Civil Court in the revenue record by sanctioning the mutation.

Learned senior counsel has also relied upon judgment in Baljit Singh Vs. Financial Commissioner, Animal Husbandry, Punjab, Chaandigarh and others, 2012 (2) RCR (Civil) 384, wherein this Court has held that where under Section 34 of Punjab Land Revenue Act, mutation of inheritance is sanctioned ignoring the Civil Court decree, a revenue officer has no jurisdiction to disregard the judgment and decree passed by the Civil Court.

Learned senior counsel has next relied upon judgment in Rajesh Kumar Vs. Financial Commissioner and others, 2009 (11) RCR (Civil) 316, wherein this Court held that the mutations according to decree of the Court are to be given effect even if an appeal is pending against the decree and the revenue authorities are not bound to wait for order of the Court.

It is argued that in this case, both the proprietary body as well asw private individuals, who were contesting against the petitioners, lost their cases up to the Hon'ble Supreme Court, therefore, on all counts, Naib Tehsilar-cum-Assistant Collector, 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt has erroneously ignored the Civil Court decree, as upheld up to the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

It is further submitted that the ground taken by the Naib Tehsildar-cum-Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt is that earlier mutations sanctioned in the year 1961-62 were already put up as defence before the Civi Court and once the Will dated 09.06.1917 in favour of Bhondu was upheld, those two mutations No. 543 and 735 looses their sanctity. It is also argued that during the aforesaid mutation proceedings, it is recorded that Thakur Singh made some concession, also stands tested by the Civil Court and this ground was never upheld by the Civil Court.

The next ground taken by Naib Tehildar-cum-Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt that no specific suit for declaration under Section 45 of Punjab Land Revenue Act has been filed challenging the mutations and for setting aside the same, is totally illogical and illegal, as once the decree has been passed, in which predecessor of the petitioners Bhondu was held to be owner of the land by way of Will dated 09.06.1917, it amounts to declaration regarding their title over the land in dispute.

After hearing learned counsel for the parties, I find merit in the present writ petition. None of the reasons given in the impugned order dated 18.05.2022 passed by Naib Tehsildar-cum-Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt are sustainable in the eyes of law, in view of the observations made above.

Naib Tehsildar-cum-Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt has daringly ignored the judgment of the Civil Court, holding the Will dated 09.06.1917 to be a valid Will in favour of predecessor of the petitioners and this finding is upheld upto the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Therefore, it is duty of revenue officials to incorporate the decree in the revenue record in letter and spirit and the impugned order dismissing the application for entering the mutations, cannot be upheld in any manner. Though this Court finds that the impugned order has been passed to violate the mandate of the decree, however, instead of initiating contempt proceedings, one opportunity is granted to Naib Tehsildar-cum-Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Ambala Cantt to pass a fresh order, strictly in compliance of the decree dated 14.08.1978, as upheld upto the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India."

18. Thus in view of the above legal prepositions as referred and discussed and since I do not find any reason to take a different view, the order of the Tehsildar (Judicial), Tehsil - Sadar, Varnasi (Respondent no. 3) dated 18.1.2020 and the order dated 20.12.2021 passed by Sub-Divisional Officer (Revenue)/ Dy. Collector (Revenue), Tehsildar - Sadar, Varanasi (Respondent no. 2) confirming the order dated 18.01.2020 are held unsustainable in the eye of law and accordingly both the orders are hereby set aside. Mutation application of the petitioner before the Tehsildar stands restored and the Tehsildar (Respondent no. 3) is directed to proceed in the matter strictly in accordance with law by ensuring service of notice upon the parties concerned through an advertisement such as may be prescribed for and shall proceed to decide the matter after recording satisfaction regarding service of the notice upon all the parties concerned and also will give opportunity of hearing to the appearing parties. The entire proceeding shall be concluded by the Tehsildar (Respondent no. 3) positively within a period of five months from the date of receipt of copy of this order.

19. With the aforesaid observations and directions this writ petition is disposed of with no order as to cost.

Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 311- The CMM suo-motu recalled the passed by CMM, Court No. IX, District Kanpur by which summoned the N.O.C. as well as other documents from the concerned department further directed for obtaining the handwriting expert against which order-Specific allegation against the petitioner is that he in order to grab the company without any resolution of Board of Directors as well as without any permission of Registrar of Companies submitted a renewal form before the Assistant Director Factory (Karkhana), Uttar Pradesh, Kanpur Division, Kanpur alleging himself to be a proprietor and when the authority asked for the resolution passed by Board of Directors, the petitioner submitted a forged and fabricated document along with N.O.C. alleged to have been issued by the respondent no.2/complainant, thus to arrive at a just decision of the case it was incumbent upon the learned Magistrate to summon those documents from the concerned authority and therefore, there is no illegality in the impugned order, which has been rightly upheld by the learned Sessions Court.

Settled law that it is mandatory for the court tol recall and re-examine any person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case, hence no illegality committed in summoning the documents by the Magistrate. (Para 8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Gautam Chowdhary, J.)

1. The instant petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed for setting aside the order dated 16.11.2019 passed by learned Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar in Complaint Case No. 6077 of 2018 (Dinesh Kumar Gupta Vs. Kamlesh Kumar Gupta and another) under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C. Police Station Kakadeo, District Kanpur Nagar, whereby the learned Magistrate after exercise its powers under Sections 311 and 202 Cr.P.C. to arrive at just decision of the case has summoned the N.O.C. along with relevant documents from the concerned department as well as to set aside the Judgement and order dated 29.09.2021 passed by learned Sessions Judge, Kanpur Nagar (Kamlesh Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and another), whereby criminal revision filed by the petitioner against the order dated 16.11.2019 has been rejected.

2. Brief facts of the case are that the respondent no.2 lodged a first information report against the petitioner and his son namely, Aseem Gupta with the averments that the petitioner and the respondent no.2 are real brother. Sri Chunni Lal, the father of the petitioner as well as of the respondent no.2 had established a company in the year 1983 in the name and style of M/s Hazari Lal Laxmi Narayan Private Limited, of which company, the father was the Managing Director, on the other hand, the petitioner and the respondent no.2 were Directors. In the meantime, the company purchased another company running in the name and style of Kannico Cleaners from its erstwhile owners and since then the company was running in the name and style of Kannico. On 30.03.2007, Sri Chunni Lal died. After his death, the petitioner was looking after the finance and account of the company and the petitioner in order to grab the company without any resolution of Board of Directors as well as without any permission of Registrar of Companies submitted a renewal form before the Assistant Director Factory (Karkhana), Uttar Pradesh, Kanpur Division, Kanpur alleging himself to be a proprietor and when the authority asked for the resolution passed by Board of Directors, the petitioner submitted a forged and fabricated document along with N.O.C. alleged to have been issued by the respondent no.2/complainant and Sri Aseem Gupta, the son of the petitioner also conspired in the act of the petitioner. Upon aforesaid averments, a first information report was lodged in Case Crime No. 0213 of 2018 under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C. at Police Station Kakadeo, District Kanpur Nagar. Thereafter, the matter was entrusted for investigation and on 31.07.2018, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet on the ground that another Complaint Case No. 4961 of 2016 was filed by the respondent no.2 against the accused person, wherein the accused persons are facing trial and thus it is not legally tenable to initiate another criminal proceedings but on the protest petition, the learned Magistrate directed for further investigation pursuant to which, again final report dated 16.02.2019 was submitted, again another protest petition was filed upon which, the learned Magistrate, vide order dated 22.05.2019 treated the case as a complaint case. The case was registered as Complaint Case No. 6077 of 2018 (Dinesh Kumat Gupta Vs. Kamlesh Kumar Gupta) under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C., in which statement of the respondent no.2 was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. During the pendency of the proceedings, the respondent no.2 moved an application under 91 Cr.P.C. for summoning the N.O.C. as well as other documents from the concerned department as a documentary evidence but the same was rejected vide order dated 19.08.2019, which order was never challenged before any Court as such the order dated 19.08.2018 became final. Thereafter, the statement of son of Shubam Gupta was recorded under Sections 200 Cr.P.C. and during the course of trial, the learned Chief Metropolitan Magistrate suo-motu recalled the order dated 19.08.2019 passed by Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court No. IX, District Kanpur by which summoned the N.O.C. as well as other documents from the concerned department further directed for obtaining the handwriting expert against which order, the petitioner preferred a criminal revision no. 580 of 2021 CNR No. UPKN01-006606 of 2021 (Kamlesh Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and another) which was also rejected. It is these two orders which are under challenge before this Court.

3. Sri Manish Tiwary, learned Senior Counsel submits that prior to initiation of the instant proceedings civil suit was filed by the respondent no.2 as well as his wife being its Original Suit No. 984 of 2017 for permanent injunction whereby restraining the petitioner to run the dry cleaning business in the name of Kannico Dry Cleaners as the trade mark was allocated to them since 2002 and another Original Suit No. 148 of 2017 was filed by the petitioner against the respondent no.2 being its Original Suit No. 148 of 2017 which suits are pending consideration. He further submits that apart from the aforesaid civil suits, the respondent no.2 in order to cause harm and harassment had also filed a complaint before the Senior Superintendent of Police, Kanpur Nagar for lodging of the F.I.R. against the petitioner upon which an enquiry was conducted by the Circle Officer, Swaroop Nagar, District Kanpur Nagar, stating therein that on the same set of allegations another Complaint Case No. 4961 of 2016 was filed by the respondent no.2 as well as Civil Suit No. 148 of 2018 are also pending consideration. Again another complaint was filed for registration of the F.I.R. against the petitioner upon which a report was submitted stating therein that on the same set of facts a complaint case no. 4961 of 2016 is pending consideration thus no further police proceedings is required. The sole malafide intention of the respondent no.2 to exert pressure and influence upon the pending suits and lastly the respondent no.2 succeded in getting the F.I.R. lodged against the petitioner upon which twice final report was submitted inpsite of the same, the learned Magistrate has treated the case as a complaint case. He further submits that once the application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. filed by the respondent no.2 itself, for summoning the N.O.C. as well as other documents from the Assistant Registrar Director Factory (Karkhana) has been rejected vide order dated 19.08.2018, which order was never challenged before any Court by the respondent no.2, and recording of the statement of son of the respondent no.2 under Section 202 Cr.P.C. the respondent himself has made an endorsement on the order sheet that he does not want to file any evidence which was also observed in the order dated 02.11.2019 then there was no occasion for the learned Magistrate to suo-motu recalled its order dated 19.08.2018 vide order dated 16.11.2019 and the same is also barred by Section 362 Cr.P.C. He next submits that even the handwriting expert came to the conclusion that disputed signature respondent no.2 was not executed by petitioner on the N.O.C. and therefore, the impugned order is not tenable in the eyes of law.

4. The petitioner being aggrieved by the order dated 19.08.2018 had preferred a criminal revisional before the learned Sessions Court but the learned Sessions Court instead of setting aside the order dated 19.08.2018 has rejected the revision in the illegal and arbitrary manner. Learned counsel has lastly argued that the learned Magistrate while exercise its powers under Sections 311 and 202 Cr.P.C. had passed the impugned order dated 16.11.2019 suo-motu whereas Section 311 Cr.P.C. specifically provides powers that at any stager of any inquiry or trial or other proceedings under the Code, the Court may summon any person as a witeness or examine any person in atteance, though not summoned as a witness or recall and re-examine any person already examined and the Court shall summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case, while in the instant case, the learned has not summoned or recall any witness.

5. Advocate Gaurav Kakkar, appeared before this Court and expressed his desire to assist the Court upon which there is no objection. Sri Kakkar has provided some material to the court to decide this issue. He placed the reliance of Hanuman Ram Vs. The State of Rajasthan and Ors 2009 (1) ACR 789 (SC). Paragraph Nos.. 5,6 and 9 are mentioned below:

"5. Reference may be made to Section 311 of the Code which reads as follows:

311. Power to summon martial witness, or examine person present,-

Any court may, at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code, summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness or recall and re-examine any person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case.

6. The section is manifestly in two parts. Whereas the word used in the first part is "may", the second part uses "shall". In consequences, the first part gives purely discretionary authority to a Criminal Court and enables it at any stage of an enquiry, trial or proceeding under the Code (a) to summon any one as a witness, or (b) to examine any person present in Court, or (c) to recall and re- examine any person whose evidence has already been recorded. On the other hand, the second part is mandatory and compels the Court to take any of the aforementioned steps if the new evidence appears to it essential to the just decision of the case. This is a supplementary provision enabling, and in certain circumstances imposing on the Court by duty of examining a material witness who would not be brought before it. It is couched in the widest possible terms and calls for no limitation, either with regard to the stage at which the powers of the Court should be exercised, or with regard to the manner in which it should be exercised. It is not only the prerogative but also the plain duty of a Court to examine such of those witnesses as it considers absolutely necessary for doing justice between the State and the subject. There is a duty cast upon the Court to arrive at the truth by all lawful means and one of such means is the examination of witnesses of its own accord when for certain obvious reasons either party is not prepared to call witnesses who are known to be in a position to speak important relevant facts.

9. The object of Section 311 is to bring on record evidence not only from the point of view of the accused and the prosecution but also from the point of view of the orderly society. If a witness called by Court gives evidence against the complainant he should be allowed an opportunity to cross-examine. The right to cross-examine a witness who is called by a Court arises not under the provision of Section 311, but under the Evidence Act which gives a party the right to cross-examine a witness who is not his own witness. Since a witness summoned by the Court could not be termed a witness of any particular party, the Court should give the right of cross-examination to the complainant. These aspects were highlighted in Jagat Ravi v. State of Maharashtra (AIR 1968 SC 178), Rama Paswan and Ors. v. State of Jharkhand (2007 (11) SCC 191) and Iddar and Ors. v. Aabida and Anr. (2007 (11) SCC 211)."

6. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent no.2 as well as learned A.G.A. for the State has vehemently opposed the contentions as advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner. Learned counsel for the respondent no.2 has submitted that the learned Magistrate has committed no illegality in recalling the order dated 19.08.2018 vide order dated 16.11.2019 to arrive at a just decision of the case. He next submits that Sri Arun Kumar Assistant Director (Factories) submitted all the original documents, which were five in numbers) including the forged NOC filed by the accused person and on 07.12.2019 , the respondent no.2 filed an application requesting the Court to keep all the original documents produced by the Factory Director under the sealed cover and the learned trial Court after considering the evidence under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.c. came to the conclusion that the accused persons has to be summoned and thus has rightly summoned the petitioner as well as his son Aseem Gupta under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C. vide order dated 13.12.2019 against the said summoning order, the petitioner filed a Criminal Revision No.81 of 2020 before the learned Sessions Court, which too has been dismissed. He next submits that the petitioner also preferred a Criminal Misc. (482) Application No. 9738 of 2021 against the summoning order as well as order passed by the revisional Court, before this Court which was dismissed as withdrawn vide order dated 22.07.2021. In the meantime, the petitioner also filed a Anticipatory Bail Application before the learned Sessions Judge which was rejected and the same is under challenge before this Court and is now pending consideration. He also submits that the order dated 16.11.2019 by which the learned Magistrate has summoned the relevant documents in exercise of powers under Section 200 Cr.P.C. is a fresh order and independent order, which cannot be said to recalling the earlier order dated 19.08.2018 .Learned counsel for the respondent no.2 has placed reliance upon the Judgement of Hon'ble Apex Court reported in AIR 2019 Supreme Court 2390 in the matter of Birla Corporation Limited Vs. Adventz Investments and Holdings Limited and ors, reported in AIR 2019 Supreme Court 2390 wherein it has been held that the order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. The application of mind has to be indicated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction. Considering the duties on the part of the Magistrate for issuance of summons to accused in a complaint case and that there must be sufficient indication as to the application of mind and observing that the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of the complaint, At the stage of issuance of process to the accused, the Magistrate is not required to record detailed orders. But based on the allegations made in the complaint or the evidence led in support of the same, the Magistrate is to be prima facie satisfied that there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused. Extensive reference to the case law would clearly show that the allegations in the complaint and complainant's statement and other materials must show that there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused..While ordering issuance of process against the accused, the Magistrate must take into consideration the averments in the complaint, statement of the complainant examined on oath and the statement of witnesses examined. since it is a process of taking a judicial notice of certain facts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind whether the materials brought before the court would constitute the offence and whether there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused. It is not a mechanical process. the object of an enquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is for the Magistrate to scrutinize the material produced by the complainant to satisfy himself that the complaint is not frivolous and that there is evidence/material which forms sufficient ground for the Magistrate to proceed to issue process under Section 204 Cr.P.C. It is the duty of the Magistrate to elicit every fact that would establish the bona fides of the complaint and the complainant. Since number of accused are residents beyond the local limits of the trial court, as per amended provision of Section 202 Cr.P.C., it is obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused, he shall enquire into the case or direct the investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit for finding out whether or not there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused. In the present case, the learned Magistrate has opted to hold such enquiry himself.

7. Heard Sri Manish Tiwari, learned senior counsel assisted by Sunil Kumar, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State, Sri V.P.Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Padmakar Pandey, learned counsel for respondent no.2 and Sri Gaurav Kakkar, Advocate and perused the record.

8. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties and after perusing the material on record, it is evident that the question before this Court as to whether the order dated 16.11.2019 has been passed in correct perspective or not? This Court is of the opinion that the learned Magistrate in exercise powers conferred under Section 202 Cr.P.C. the Magistrate may inquire into the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by the police officer or by such person as he thinks fit for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding. In the instant case, specific allegation against the petitioner is that he in order to grab the company without any resolution of Board of Directors as well as without any permission of Registrar of Companies submitted a renewal form before the Assistant Director Factory (Karkhana), Uttar Pradesh, Kanpur Division, Kanpur alleging himself to be a proprietor and when the authority asked for the resolution passed by Board of Directors, the petitioner submitted a forged and fabricated document along with N.O.C. alleged to have been issued by the respondent no.2/complainant, thus to arrive at a just decision of the case it was incumbent upon the learned Magistrate to summon those documents from the concerned authority and therefore, there is no illegality in the impugned order dated 16.11.2019, which has been rightly upheld by the learned Sessions Court vide its Judgement and order dated 29.09,2021.

9. In view of above, the instant petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed

10. This Court appreciate the assistance rendered by Sri Gaurav Kakkar, Advocate in the instant case.

Criminal Law- Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 397/ 401- U.P Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act- 1955 -Sections 3/5A/8 –Transportation of Leather Skins-Release of vehicle- From perusal of Section 5A Cow Slaughter Act, it is very much clear that there is no contravention of transportation of cow skin leather from outside of the State- In case where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of such, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the provision of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 shall be affected thereto- In such a matter, the District Magistrate/Commissioner of the Police has no jurisdiction to confiscate such vehicle in the event of seizure of vehicle by law enforcement officer- In above circumstances, the Judicial Magistrate has jurisdiction to release the Canter DL1GC5909 as being the case property- It is, prima facie, established that the skin leather of cow was not transported in contravention of the provisions of Cow Slaughter Act or rule of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter Rules. In above circumstances, the Special Magistrate, Agra has jurisdiction to decide the release of the vehicle in question by which the skin leather of cow or its progeny was transported. Learned Magistrate has jurisdiction to decide the release application of the revisionist/applicant and learned lower court has illegally held that he has no jurisdiction to hear on the release application of Canter DL1GC5909.

As Section, 5A of the Cow Slaughter Act does not take into its ambit transportation of leather skins hence the proceedings will be under the Code of Criminal Procedure and not the Cow Slaughter Act therefore, the Judicial Magistrate has jurisdiction to release the seized vehicle as being case property.(Para 12, 13, 14, 15)

Judgements/ Case law relied upon:-

1. Crl. Misc. Application No.20507 of 2008 (Mohd. Haneef Vs St. of U.P. & ors. dec. on 08.01.2010)

2. Yaash Mohammad Vs St. of U.P & Ors., 2021 SCC Online Allahabad 608

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Aslam, J.)

1. Heard Sri Irfan Raza Khan, learned counsel for revisionist, Sri L.D. Rahbhar, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant revision has been preferred against the impugned order dated 11.11.2021 passed by learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra by which the application of the revisionist/applicant for release of Vehicle No. Eicher Canter DL 1 GC 5909 in Case Crime No. 36 of 2021, under Sections 3/5A/8 Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, Police Station- Saiyan, District- Agra was rejected.

3. The brief facts necessary for disposal of this case are that on 24.03.2021 Sub-Inspector Virendra Kumar along with his companion Constables Lalit Kumar, Ravi Kant Yadav and Saurabh Kumar and Driver Brij Kumar proceeded from Police Station Sainya vide entry in general diary report no. 27 at about 14:10 hours and were busy in patrolling duty and when they reached at Saiyan crossing they were informed by the informer that a red colour Tata Eicher Canter loaded with banned cow skin was coming from the side of Dhaulpur, Rajasthan to Agra. On the information, Sub-Inspector Virendra Kumar started checking the vehicles by putting barrier near Saiyan Toll for apprehending the aforesaid Canter and tried to take public witnesses, but none agreed to testify, under that compulsion the police party searched each other and no incriminating articles was found from any members of the police party. As soon as the informer saw the red colour Tata Eicher Canter bearing Registration No. DL 1 GC 5909, he pointed out the police party and left from the place, thereafter, the policemen signalled the driver of the aforesaid Canter to stop the vehicle. On seeing the police party, the driver stopped the aforesaid vehicle some distance ahead and started turning back the Canter in a hurry, then the police party convinced that there were definitely some illegal goods in the Canter and they apprehended the driver who told his name as Akash son of Man Singh, resident of Mohalla- Maha Talee Lane, Police Station- Shikohabad, District- Firozabad and present address Tyagi Chaupal near Chhatarpur Temple, Police Station- Mehrauli, New Delhi and he also told that his permanent address is village Jarar, Police Station- Wah, District- Agra and told that he is aged about 24 years. On his personal search, a mobile phone of OPPO company was recovered from the right pocket of his trousers. The IMEI numbers of the phone was obtained as (1) 863885033196312 (2) 863885033196304 and Rs. 3100/-and an Aadhar Card in the name of Akash Pratiman Singh resident of Mohalla- Mahteli Gali, Shikohabad, District Firozabad were also recovered from him. On being asked about the reason for turning the vehicle back, he told that the vehicle was loaded with cow skin on which the policemen removed the Tripal and found 145 bundles of cow skin from which smell of rotten meat was coming out and Dr. Mahendra Verma, Veterinary Medical Officer, Saiyan, Agra was asked to come at the spot over phone who came there in no time and after closely checking he told that the bundles of the skin loaded in the Canter is the skin of cow and took three pieces of skin from different bundles for sample which were separately kept in three jars and sealed and sample seal was prepared. The accused Akash could not produce the papers of the vehicle, therefore, the aforesaid vehicle was seized under Section 207 of Motor Vehicle Act and the accused was arrested after informing him that his act is punishable under Sections 3/5Ka/8 of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter (Prevention) Act. The recovery memo was prepared on the spot by Sub-Inspector Virendra Singh and companion police constables and Dr. Mahendra Verma. On the basis of recovery memo, Case Crime No.0036 of 2021, under Sections 3/5Ka/8 was registered against the accused/Driver Akash, later on who was released by the coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 31.08.2021 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 24517 of 2021 (Akash vs. State of UP).

4. The revisionist is owner of the aforesaid Vehicle No. Eicher DL 1 GC 5909 who moved an application for the release of aforesaid Canter which was rejected by learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra vide impugned order dated 11.11.2021.

5. Feeling aggrieved by the aforesaid impugned order, the revisionist has preferred this revision and has filed the photocopy of e-Way Bill System as Annexure No.3, Registration Certificate of Canter DL1GC5905, Fitness Certificate, Permit, Insurance Certificate, Motor Insurance Certificate Cum GCCV- Public Carriers Other Than Three Wheelers Package Policy-Zone A (Annexure No.4), Bill of Supply in favour of Maaz Traders, Mohalla- Peer Khan Soldpur Road, Gulaathi (BSR) Uttar Pradesh issued by Maharashtra Leather Merchant dated 22.03.2021 (annexure no.5), Extract of Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act (annexure no.6), copy of NPPA document (annexure no.7), photocopy of certified copy of impugned order dated 11.11.2021 passed by Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra in Case Crime No. 36 of 2021, under Sections 3/5A/8 Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, P.S. Saiyan, District- Agra.

6. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted that the lower court has illegally held that in view of the law laid down by this Court in "Yaash Mohammad vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others, reported in 2021 SCC Online Allahabad 608" that the Canter was seized under special criminal act and it has no jurisdiction to release the Canter under Sections 451, 452, 457 of Code of Criminal Procedure and has rejected his release application. It is further submitted that the facts of the aforesaid case referred by learned lower court while rejecting the application do not apply in this case. Learned counsel has submitted that this Court in Criminal Misc. Application No. 20507 of 2008 (Mohd. Haneef vs. State of UP and Others) decided on 08.01.2010 relying upon the order passed by this Court dated 06.01.2005 in Criminal Revision No. 23 of 2005, the skin to be released in favour of the accused-revisionist wherein it is also held that "A perusal of above order passed in Criminal Revision goes to show that 456 pieces of leather were recovered from possession of one Babu and a case under Section 3/5/8 of Cow Slaughter Act was registered. The applicant/revisionist who is the owner of above leather, approached the lower court for release of the above leather pieces, which was rejected by the court below. The submission was made by the learned counsel for the revisionist in that case that no offence under section 3/5/8 of Cow Slaughter Act was made out as the leather pieces were recovered and the recovery of said leather pieces was not an offence under the Act and only slaughtering and keeping the beef is an offence under the Cow Slaughter Act. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and without going into the merits of the same, this Court allowed the said revision and directed the Magistrate to release 456 pieces of leather in favour of the revisionist."

7. In view of above analogy, this Court had allowed the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. in Mohd. Haneef vs. State of UP and others (supra). Learned counsel for revisionist has submitted that on the above anology and the above law laid down by this Court, the impugned order dated 11.11.2021 passed by learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra in in Case Crime No. 36 of 2021 (State vs. Manjeet Tanwar) is liable to be quashed and the lower court may be directed to release the aforesaid Eicher Canter bearing Registration No. DL 1 GC 5909 in favour of revisionist/applicant.

8. It has been further submitted by learned counsel for revisionist that Section 2 (a) which deals definition read as follows:-

Section 2 - Definitions

"In this act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject to context- (a) "Beef' means flash of cow but does not include such flesh contained in sealed containers and imported as such in Uttar Pradesh."

9. It is further submitted that leather does not fall within the definition of "Beef', therefore, Canter cannot be seized under Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act. It is further submitted that the aforesaid Canter was transporting the leather skins of cow which is not prohibited by the provisions of Cow Slaughter Act. In above circumstances, learned lower court has illegally held that it was contravention of cow slaughter and it has no jurisdiction to release the Canter.

10. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the release of the vehicle Eicher Canter bearing Registration No. DL 1 GC 5909 and submitted that learned lower court has rightly held that it has no jurisdiction to decide the release application of the revisionist/applicant and rejected the release application according to law vide impugned order dated 11.11.2021 which requires no interference by this Court.

11. I have given thoughtful consideration to the contentions raised by learned counsel for the applicant as well as learned A.G.A. In this case, it is admitted to the parties that the Eicher Canter DL 1 GC 5909 is seized in Crime No. 36 of 2021, under Section 3/5A/8 of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter Act. It is also admitted to the parties that the revisionist is the registered owner of the aforesaid vehicle. Now, the question arose whether transportation of leather skin outside the State is contravening the provisions of Cow Slaughter Act as amended from time to time:-

"Section 3. Prohibition of Cow Slaughter.- No person shall slaughter or cause to be slaughtered, or offer or cause to be offered for slaughter, a cow, bull or bullock in any place in Uttar Pradesh, anything contained in any other law for the time being in force or any usage or custom, to the contrary notwithstanding.

5. Prohibition on sale of beef.- Except as herein excepted and notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, no person shall sell or transport or offer for sale or transport or cause to be sold or transported beef or beef-products in any form except for such medicinal purposes as may be prescribed.*

Exception.- A person may sell and serve or cause to be sold and served beef or beef products for consumption by a bona fide passenger in an air-craft or railway train.*

5-A. Regulation on transport of cow etc. - (1) No person shall transport or offer for transport or cause to be transported any cow, or bull or bullock, the slaughter whereof in any place in Uttar Pradesh is punishable under this Act, from any place within the State to any place outside the State, except under a permit issued by an officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf by notified order and except in accordance with the terms and conditions of such permit.*

(2) Such officer shall issue the permit on payment of such fee not exceeding five hundred rupees for every cow, bull or bullock as may be prescribed:

Provided that no fee shall be chargeable where the permit is for transport of the cow, bull or bullock for a limited period not exceeding six months as may be specified in the permit.

(3) Where the person transporting a cow, bull or bullock on a permit for a limited period does not bring back such cow, bull or bullock into the State within the period specified in the permit, he shall be deemed to have contravened the provision of sub-section (1).

(4) The form of permit, the form of application therefor and the procedure for disposal of such application shall be such as may be prescribed.

(5) The State Government or any officer authorised by it in this behalf by general or special notified order, may, at any time, for the purpose of satisfying itself, or himself, as to the legality or propriety of the action taken under this section, call for and examine the record of any case and pass such orders thereon as it or he may deem fit.

(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/ Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(9) The expenditure on the maintenance of the seized cows and its progeny shall be recovered from the accused for a period of one year or till the release of the cow and its progeny in favour of the owner thereof whichever is earlier.

(10) Where a person is prosecuted for committing, abetting, or attempting to an offense under Sections 3, 5 and 8 of this Act and the beef or cow-remains in the possession of accused has been proved by the prosecution and transported things are confirmed to be beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory, then the court shall presume that such person has committed such offence or attempt or abetment of such offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

(11) Where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of search, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall be effective thereto.

5B- Insertion of Section 5B-. Whoever causes any physical injury to any cow or its progeny so as to endanger the life thereof such as to mutilate its body or to transport it in any situation whereby endangering the life thereof or with the intention of endangering the life thereof does not provide with food or water shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one year and which may extend to seven years and with fine which shall not be less than one Lakh* rupees and which may extend to three Lakh rupees.

8. Amendment of section 8- (1) Whoever contravenes or attempts to contravene or abets the contravention of the provisions of Section 3, Section 5 or Section 5-A shall be guilty of an offence punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three years and which may be extend to ten years and with fine which shall not be less than three Lakh rupees and which may extend to five Lakh rupees.

(2) Whoever after conviction of an offence under this Act is again guilty of an offence under this Act, shall be punished with double the punishment provided for the said offence for the second conviction.

(3) The names and the photograph of the person accused of the contravention of the provision of Section 5-A shall be published at some prominent place in locality where the accused ordinarily resides or to a public place, if he conceals himself from the law enforcement officers."

12. From perusal of Section 5A Cow Slaughter Act, it is very much clear that there is no contravention of transportation of cow skin leather from outside of the State. In such a matter, the District Magistrate/Commissioner of the Police has no jurisdiction to confiscate such vehicle in the event of seizure of vehicle by law enforcement officer. This Court in Criminal Revision No. 23 of 2005 had held that transport of cow skin leather does not amount any contravention of provisions of Cow Slaughter Act which is followed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Application No.20507 of 2008 (Mohd. Haneef vs. State of UP and others decided on 08.01.2010).

13. In above circumstances, the Judicial Magistrate has jurisdiction to release the Canter DL1GC5909 as being the case property. The ruling of Single Bench of this Court in Yaash Mohammad vs. State of UP (supra) on which learned lower court has relied and held that the lower court has no jurisdiction to release the Canter in question is not applicable in this case because in the aforesaid case the application for the release of vehicle was rejected on the ground that the cow or its progeny was transported in contravention of Section 5A of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter Act regarding which special provisions were prescribed and only District Magistrate/Commissioner of the Police was authorised to pass order for confiscation in the event of seizure of cow or its progeny and transport medium.

14. It is further provided that in case where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of such, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the provision of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 shall be affected thereto.

"5A(11). Where the provision of this Act or the related rules in context of such, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the provision of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall be effective thereto."

15. From above discussion, it is, prima facie, established that the skin leather of cow was not transported in contravention of the provisions of Cow Slaughter Act or rule of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter Rules. In above circumstances, the Special Magistrate, Agra has jurisdiction to decide the release of the vehicle in question by which the skin leather of cow or its progeny was transported. Learned Magistrate has jurisdiction to decide the release application of the revisionist/applicant and learned lower court has illegally held that he has no jurisdiction to hear on the release application of Canter DL1GC5909, hence, the revision is liable to be allowed and order of the lower court is liable to be set-aside.

16. Accordingly, the criminal revision is allowed. The impugned order dated 11.11.2021 passed by Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra is set-aside and learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra is directed to decide the release application of applicant within a period of one month from the date of production of the certified copy of this order.

Criminal Law- Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Sections 145 & 146 - The proceeding under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and 146 Cr.P.C. are summary in nature and the power is conferred upon the executive Magistrate. The object of this part is merely to maintain law and order and to prevent to breach of peace by maintaining one or other parties of the possession, which the court finds that they had immediately before the dispute and until the actual right of one of the parties has been determined by the civil court. The Magistrate should careful enough to see that the criminal court are not being used by the parties for the settlement of civil dispute or for manoeuvring of possession for the previous and subsequent civil litigation or easy way of keeping the possession of the property in dispute without going to the civil court or for driving the other side of the civil court to prove his title. The action which may ultimately be taken is not of punitive but preventive one and for that purposes of is provisional only, until such time, a formal adjudication over the rights affected may be obtained and carried into effect by the competent court to deal with the matter in due course of law. The action to be taken is quasi executive action, and having for its object and justification. The prevention of breach of public peace, the existence of dispute is likely ot cause breach of peace is a condition laying at the root of the power conferred.

The proceedings under Section 145 and 146 of the Cr.P.C are preventive and not punitive, the same to be taken recourse to for only preventing the likelihood of breach of public peace, and do not confer any right or title to any of the parties, as the same is the domain of the civil court and hence it is incumbent for the Magistrate to prevent the misuse of the said proceedings by either of the parties who may attempt to possess the property in dispute by circumventing the course of law. Criminal Revision allowed. (E-3)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rahul Chaturvedi, J.)

1. Pursuant to my earlier orders of this Court dated 08.08.2022, the Court was compelled to call Sri Prabhakar Chaudhary, S.S.P.,Agra and Sri Bhupendra Singh, S.H.O., Tajganj, Agra before the Court. On the earlier occasion dated 19.07.2022, the S.H.O., Tajganj, Agra was summoned but his conspicuous absence in the defiance of this Court's earlier order has compelled the Court to summon the S.S.P, Agra. Both the police officials are present before this Court today.

2. Heard S/Shri Bala Nath Mishra, Sri Sachin Mishra, learned counsel for the revisionists, Sri O.P.Singh, Senior Advocate assisted by Rakesh Chandra Upadhyay, learned counsel for the opposite party and learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

3. This is an interesting case, whereby, the S.H.O. of P.S. Tajganj assuming the powers of civil court have decided the title and the ownership over property in dispute in the proceeding under Section 145 and 146 Cr.P.C. and have handed over the property to the person of his choice i.e. opposite party nos. 3 and 4. The concerned City Magistrate, Agra blindly toeing the lines of S.H.O., Tajganj, vide impugned order dated 31.05.2022 have dropped the proceeding under Section 145(5) Cr.P.C. and have consciously passed the ambiguous order dated 31.05.2022 giving full opportunity to the concerned S.H.O. to interpret the order in his own way and hand over the keys & possession to opposite party nos. 3 and 4.

It is pertinent to mention here that property in question is still subject matter of civil suit in which interim injunction order is in favour of the revisionists but ignoring the parallel proceedings before the civil court, concerned City Magistrate, Agra and S.H.O., Tajganj, Agra have committed a judicial blunder by keeping the injunction order at bay, just to benefit his own person (opposite party nos. 3 and 4) have committed all these illegalities & irregularities, ignoring the settled principles and norms in this regard.

4. This is the crux of the revision, which has to be adjudicated by this Court.

5. By means of the instant revision, the revisionists are jointly assailing the legality and validity of the order passed by the then S.I.-Sri Amar Malik, P.S. Tajganj, District Agra dated 26.04.2022 and present impugned order passed by IVth Additional City Magistrate Agra (respondent no.2) dated 31.05.2022, whereby the concerned City Magistrate have passed an ambiguous order, giving long rope to the S.H.O., Tajganj interpret the same in his own way, and thus has handed over the possession & keys to the opposite party nos. 3 and 4, under the teeth of injunction order about the same shop, by the learned Civil Judge(S.D.), Agra.

6. The perusal of the order impugned gives a bird's eye view of the entire controversy involved, which is spelled here-in-below:-

7. At the outset, it is submitted that the entire controversy revolves around Shop No. 15/77A, M.P. Pura, Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra, where the revisionists were running Sweet Mart Shop under the name and style of "Shree Ji Mishtan Bhandar". The shop in question was initially owned by one Brijendra Kushwaha @ Brijendra Singh who was recorded as tenure holder of concerned Khasra as per the records of Nagar Nigam, Agra. The said khasra owing as many as ten shops over the place, out of which shop no. 15/77A, M.P.Pura, Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra was given to the revisionists as his tenants. The revisionists remained in the said shop from 22.06.2006 to 2016 after executing an annual rental agreements on various successive years signed by Brijendra Kushwaha and the revisionists. There was no dispute between the revisionists and Brijendra Kushwaha up to the year 2013. It seems that dispute was cropped up between collaterals of Brijendra Kushwaha and qua him, who filed a civil suit as Original Suit No. 1271 of 2013, Inre: Sri Amar Singh and others Vs. Sri Vivek Gupta and others making Shree Ji Mishtan Bhandar as well as Brijendra Kushwaha as its defendants.

8. It is also surfaced from the records of the case, that some dispute were also cropped up between the revisionists and Brijendra Kushwaha, (the owner of the property) and thus the revisionists has filed civil suit bearing Original Suit No. 1240 of 2014 Inre: Sri Nawal Kishore and others Vs. Sri Brijendra Singh and others with the prayer to issue a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction in favour of the plaintiffs(revisionists) against the defendants, restraining the defendants or his agents/successors/associates not to interfere in plaintiff's peaceful possession over the property (shop in dispute).

9. Initially, learned Civil Judge (S.D.), Agra vide order dated 09.09.2014 keeping in view the plaintiffs(revisionists) are in the actual physical possession and doing their business from the aforesaid property/shop in question, have directed to parties to maintain status quo over the site and after exchange of pleadings have eventually allowed the plaintiffs(revisionists) "8C' application vide order dated 13.10.2021 granting temporary injunction in favour of the plaintiffs(revisionists) during pendency of suit and as such on the strength of status quo, thereafter injunction order the revisionists/plaintiffs,who are in the actual physical possession of shop in question, were doing their business work uninterruptedly & peacefully.

10. During the pendency of the aforesaid suit the defendant no.1 Brijendra Kushwaha died on 19.03.2015 thereafter descendant of late Brijendra Kushwaha, who were impleaded as defendants in place of Brijendra Kushwaha who have executed a sale deed in 2016 of the entire property in favour of Devendra Singh Chauhan and Sanjeev Singh Chauhan (opposite party nos. 3 and 4) by executing a sale deed dated 02.09.2016.

11. Interesting part of the issue is that there opposite party nos. 3 and 4 have consciously purchased the property, which is subject matter of litigation. Still they have decided to purchase it. It means they have purchased a litigation as well as the shop. Consequently, after purchasing the property under the litigation, they ave stepped into the shoes of the descendants of late Brijendra Kushwaha through the registered sale deed dated 02.09.2016.

12. Learned counsel for the revisionists submits, that as soon as they came to know that opposite party nos. 3 and 4 have purchased the property in question of the suit, they have moved an application under Order VI Rule 17 read with Section 151 of CPC, impleading Devendra Singh Chauhan and Sanjeev Singh Chauhan as defendant nos. 13 and 14 respectively with a suitable prayer to get them impleaded in the prayer part. This application was moved for impleading the aforesaid person as defendant nos.13 and 14 by making an application on 30.11.2021 which is remained undecided till date though pending since November 2021.

13. It is further contended that as soon as the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 have stepped into the shoes of erstwhile owner, they have tailored a fabricated story and lodged an FIR on 10.08.2021 as case crime no. 0546 of 2021 under Sections 406, 420, 384, 447, 120B, 323 and 504 IPC, P.S. Tajganj, District Agra and further in order to exert undue pressure upon the revisionists, the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 approached the S.I., Tajganj by cooking up an imaginary story regarding law & order situation and have managed to have police report under Section 145 Cr.P.C. addressed to IVth A.C.J.M., Agra on which the then, S.I. Tajganj without any proceeding on its own have given a "स्वप्रेरणा आख्या" requesting the authorities proceed under Section 145 Cr.P.C.. It is contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists, that this is a million dollar question that under how and what circumstances S.I., P.S.Tajganj, Agra has given this report to the City Magistrate with regard to the shop in question? The answer is quite obvious, which needs no elaboration, this report dated 11.09.2021 itself is a tainted and motivated one, just to oblige one of the contesting parties by the then S.I. Mr. Neeraj Kumar, P.S. Tajganj, Agra, a overzealous Sub-Inspector. It is further argued that till 11.09.2021, there was no proceedings pending for consideration by concerned City Magistrate, Agra under Section 145(1) Cr.P.C. namely, Neeraj Kumar.

14. After the aforesaid report, was submitted by Mr. Neeraj Kumar, S.I., Tajganj, Agra, thereafter, the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 moved an application under Section 145 Cr.P.C. as Computer Case No. D-202110101000832 6/2021, Inre: Devendra Singh Chauhan and another Vs. Nawal Kishore and anothers, on which learned Additional City Magistrate-IVth , Agra issued notices under Section 145(1) Cr.P.C. to the revisionists relying upon the aforesaid reports of S.I.

15. It is contended by the counsel for the revisionists, that on one hand learned Civil Judge (S.D.), Agra, after hearing both the parties i.e. plaintiffs(revisionists)and the defendants nos. 1/1 to 1/6 and defendant no. 2 while deciding the Application 8C in O.S. No. 1240 of 2014 have confirmed the earlier order of maintaining the status quo over the site and this time has granted temporary injunction in favour of the plaintiffs(revisionists) on 13.10.2021. On the other hand, the concerned City Magistrate, Agra, despite of the fact, was full in knowledge of above temporary injunction on 30.11.2021, ignoring the same on 30.11.2021 passed an earlier order under Section 146(1) Cr.P.C. directing the Incharge Inspector, P.S. Tajganj, Agra to seal the property (shop) in dispute after taking its physical possession from the revisionist. The only ground spelled out in the order impugned, is that since opposite party nos. 3 and 4 are not parties as deficiencies in O.S. No. 1240 of 2014, thus the said temporary injunction would not be operational against them.

It is urged by the counsel for the revisionist that this is the bogus reasoning by the City Magistrate while passing the impugned order of seizure dated 30.11.2021. The property in question/subject matter of both the proceedings are the same i.e. 15/77A,

M.P.Pura Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra & opposite party nos. 3 and 4 came into picture in the year 2016. The temporary injunction was granted in favour of the plaintiffs(revisionists) on 13.10.2021 after hearing the rival parties at that time and if opposite party nos. 3 and 4 consciously stepped into the shoes of erstwhile defendants, then by implication of law, the said temporary injunction would also deemed to be applicable to them, the impleadment application for impleading the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 pending before concerned civil court for consideration and appropriate orders.

16. It is contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that all these castle has been raised on an imaginary story and created a sham and frivolous threat to the peace and tranquillity to the society. It is further contended that where the police has played a partisan role in favour of the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 for the obvious reasons, who had given a report prior to the application of opposite party nos. 3 and 4 under Section 145(1) Cr.P.C.. On this application rapid action was ensured by the local police and the IVth Additional City Magistrate, Agra, while passing the order under Section 146(1) Cr.P.C..

Excercise of the powers of Section 145 & 146 Cr.P.C., is to maintain the peace, tranquillity & the order in the society. Though it is grey issue but in order to justifying its order under Sections 145/146 Cr.P.C, the concerned police as well as City Magistrate must spell out some confidence generating material on record justifying their objective satisfaction with regard to invoking its powers under Section 145/146 Cr.P.C. mere using of hyperbolic expressions would not going to justify the orders of City Magistrate or Sub-Inspector.

17. Meanwhile, the revisionists approached this Court by filing the Crl. Revision No. 1104 of 2021, in which this Court on 08.04.2022 passed the following order, the relevant extract is quoted herein below:-

"Order on Criminal Revision

By means of the present criminal revision, the revisionist is assailing the legality and validity of the two orders under section 145(1) dated 30.11.2021 and its seizure under section 146(1) dated 02.12.2021.

Submission made by learned counsel for the revisionist is that despite of the clear cut interim injunction order, while allowing 8-C application on 13.10.2021, a parallel proceeding under section 145(1) and 146(1) has been initiated by respondent nos.3 and 4. Learned City Magistrate, without taking into account the interim order, has passed the aforesaid impugned orders. Learned counsel for the revisionist also submitted that it is settled principal of law that when the court of civil proceeding is already seized with the matter, the proceeding of 145 and 146 which are summary in nature, cannot be invoked.

Under the circumstances, let notice be issued to opposite party no.3 and 4 through the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra to file their detailed counter affidavit within next two weeks.

Learned A.G.A. who is representing opposite party nos.1 and 2 are also required to take suitable instructions in the matter and file relevant counter affidavit within the same period.

Learned counsel for the revisionist may also file rejoinder affidavit within three days thereafter.

Put up this matter as fresh on 28.04.2022."

18. From the order sheet of the criminal revision, it is clear that time was granted to learned AGA to file counter affidavit and the notices were issued to opposite party nos. 3 and 4 through CJM, Agra to file detailed counter affidavit but ignoring the directions of the Court to file detailed counter affidavit the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 on their own, surreptitiously on 20.04.2022, moved an application by concerned City Magistrate, Agra, in which they themselves certified that, there is no threat to the peace & tranquillity to the society & thus opposite party nos. 3 and 4 moved an application for dropping the proceedings under Sections 145(5) Cr.P.C. with additional prayer that property in question may be released in their (opposite party nos. 3 and 4) favour. This by itself is a strange prayer and perfect clever example to dupe and play jugglery with legal procedure. As observed above, the local police was dancing on the tune of opposite party nos. 3 and 4. This time Mr. Amar Malik, S.I. Tajganj, Agra came to rescue of opposite party nos. 3 and 4, who, after responding to the above application for dropping the proceedings under Section 145(5) Cr.P.C. have reported to letter to concerned City Magistrate, Agra on 26.04.2022, which reads thus:-

सादर अवगत करना है कि उपरोक्त प्रा०पत्र की जाँच मुझ उ०नि० द्वारा की गयी तो वाक्यात इस प्रकार पाये कि आवेदक-श्री देवेन्द्र सिंह चौहान पुत्र श्री इन्दल सिंह चौहान निवासी-15/77एम०पी०पुरा, गुम्मट थाना-ताजगंज जनपद-आगरा द्वारा बास्ते अन्तर्गत धारा-145(5) सी०आर०पी०सी० मे विवादित सम्पत्ति सख्या-15/77ए को अवमुक्त किये जाने के सम्बन्ध मे आवेदन किया गया है। उपरोक्त विवादित सम्पत्ति के सम्बन्ध मे बाद सख्या- 8326/2021 अन्तर्गत धारा-145 सी०आर०पी०सी० के अनुपालन मे दोनो पक्षो की मौजूदगी मे कुर्की की कार्यवाही-दिनाँक-02/12/2021 को की जा चुकी है उसी दिन से विपक्षी-नवलकिशोर, सुषमा देवी, कैलादेवी द्वारा श्री०जी० मिष्ठान भण्डार की दुकान को विवादित सम्पत्ति के सामने सड़क पार सम्पत्ति सख्या-18/162/एच-1 मे दुकान खोलकर सुचारु रुप से चलायी जा रही है। उपरोक्त कार्यवाही के वाद दोनो पक्षो मे किसी प्रकार की कोई शान्ती-व्यवस्था भंग नही की गयी है और कोई विवाद नही है अतः उक्त सम्पत्ति को नियमानुसार जायज मालिक के हक मे अवमुक्त किये जाने के सम्बन्ध मे थाना-हाजा को कोई आपत्ति नही है।"

The expression "जायज मालिक" is very much significant expression used by concern Sub-Inspector here, of which the concerned police officer of Tajganj deliberately used this expression, to keep these blanks open, to be used by him in future.

19. The aforesaid application was remained pending. From the order sheet it is culled out that the aforesaid application was filed on 20.04.2022 but on 23.05.2022 behind the back of the revisionists, the matter was heard ex-parte and eventually the impugned order, whereby the proceeding of Section 145 Cr.P.C. was dropped and all the previous orders were stand quashed in the light of the unilateral declaration by the opposite party nos. 3 and 4, that there is no dispute over the property in question, directing the S.H.O., P.S. Tajganj, Agra to release the property in question bearing no. 15/77A, M.P.Pura, Fatehabad Road,Tajganj, Agra from the alleged seizure within a week. The concerned S.H.O. readily obeyed and released the property in question in favour of opposite party nos. 3 and 4.

The order impugned dated 31.05.2022 records thus :-

सम्पत्ति संख्या 15/77ए एम०पी०पुरा के सम्बन्ध में वाद संख्या डी 202101010008326 अन्तर्गत धारा-145 द०प्र०स० की समस्त कार्यवाही को उक्त धारा की उपधारा 145(5) के अन्तर्गत रोका जाता है एवं समस्त आदेश रद्द किये जाते है। धारा 146(1) के अन्तर्गत विवादित सम्पत्ति के सम्बन्ध में पक्षकारों के मध्य कब्जे का विवाद न रह जाने के कारण परिशान्ति भंग की सम्भावना नहीं होने के आधार पर उक्त सम्पत्ति की कुर्की वापस ली जाती है। प्रभारी निरीक्षक ताजगंज आगरा को निर्देशित किया जाता है कि सम्पत्ति संख्या 15/77ए एम०पी०पुरा को कुर्की से अवमुक्त कर अनुपालन आख्या एक सप्ताह में न्यायालय को प्रस्तुत करें। पत्रावली वाद आवश्यक कार्यवाही दाखिल दफ्तर की जाए।"

Suffice to say the order of City Magistrate, Agra on his own has passed an ambiguous order without specifying to whom the property in question be handed over. It is no where specifies that, after the seizure would lifted, to whom the property would be handed over. Taking the advantage of these blanks, the concerned S.I. Tajganj, Agra dishonestly released the shops in question in favour of opposite party nos. 3 and 4, though the same were taken from the revisionists. It is aruged, that in all fairness, the concerned S.I. should have return back the property in question from whom he has taken.

20. Per contra Sri O.P.Singh, learned Senior Counsel filed a detailed counter affidavit mentioning that revisionists have never paid any rent and were illegally occupied the property in question, neither he had deposited any agreed rent to the erstwhile owner Brijendra Kushwaha nor to his legal heirs or to his representatives and occupying the property in question. All these arguments are tangent to the primary issue, But he could not dispute the fact that there is temporary injunction in favour of plaintiffs(revsionists) of Original Suit No. 1240 of 2014. It is further contended by the counsel that the said interim order would not be operative against the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 as they are not the party in the aforesaid proceeding.

21. Sri O.P.Singh, learned Senior Counsel was completely at the loss to justify the conduct of concerned police officer of Tajganj, Agra, who after playing gimmick with the procedure of the law and have assured the powers of civil court, have decided the ownership and possession of the property on his own under the teeth of temporary injunction which is still operational in favour of revisionists have delivered the keys & possession to opposite party nos. 3 and 4.

This is basic crux, long and short of the entire controversy.

22. After hearing the learned counsel of both the parties and putting the aforesaid facts in the linear way, it is abundantly clear that property in question is 15/77A, M.P.Pura, Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra which is under actual physical possession of the revsionists and prior to initiate the proceeding and pursuant to the orders of Section 146(1) Cr.P.C., the concerned S.H.O. vide order dated 02.12.2021 has taken the possession of the property in question from the revisionists itself, then in all fairness, the concerned SHO ought to have handed over the keys to the person from whom he has taken the possession and should not have decided the title or the question of possession on his own. The concerned S.H.O. has clearly transgress his limits by handing over the property in dispute i.e. shop no. 15/77A, M.P.Pura, Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra to the opposite party no.3 and 4.

23. After coming to know this development behind the back, the plaintiffs(revsionists) immediately on 03.06.2022 moved an application to recall the exparte order dated 31.05.2022 before the Additional City Magistrate-IVth, Agra but it is alleged by learned counsel for the revisionist, that City Magistrate and the local police of P.S. Tajganj, Agra are hand in gloves with each other and as such the said application was rejected by the concerned Additional City Magistrate-IVth, Agra by making a mention that after passing the order under Section 145(5)Cr.P.C., the court cannot recall its own order and become "functus officio' and thus rejected the said recall application.

24. The City Magistrate has passed palpably vague and ambiguous order without making any mention or clarifying to whom the property in question should be handed over. The Magistrate ought to have clearly specified with the property in question should be handed over to the revisionists but these ambiguity was kept purposely by the Additional City Magistrate in its order to extend benefits to the opposite party nos. 3 and 4. Taking the advantage of this void the partisan S.H.O. of P.S. Tajganj had played fraud upon the procedure of the Court and has clearly played partisan role while handing over the property to his own person i.e. opposite party nos. 3 and 4, by making the entire civil proceeding to a BIG ZERO. The SHO concerned is not permitted to hold a court of decide the title or possession of the property in question under Chapter X Part "D' of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

25. It is settled principle of law that the proceeding under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and 146 Cr.P.C. are summary in nature and the power is conferred upon the executive Magistrate. The object of this part is merely to maintain law and order and to prevent to breach of peace by maintaining one or other parties of the possession, which the court finds that they had immediately before the dispute and until the actual right of one of the parties has been determined by the civil court. The Magistrate should careful enough to see that the criminal court are not being used by the parties for the settlement of civil dispute or for manoeuvring of possession for the previous and subsequent civil litigation or easy way of keeping the possession of the property in dispute without going to the civil court or for driving the other side of the civil court to prove his title. The action which may ultimately be taken is not of punitive but preventive one and for that purposes of is provisional only, until such time, a formal adjudication over the rights affected may be obtained and carried into effect by the competent court to deal with the matter in due course of law. The action to be taken is quasi executive action, and having for its object and justification. The prevention of breach of public peace, the existence of dispute is likely ot cause breach of peace is a condition laying at the root of the power conferred.

26. Putting all these orders in the line, this Court has regrettably deprecate the conduct of the concerned Additional City Magistrate,Agra and warns to act fairly in future, and quashed his order dated 31.05.2022 and expunge the orders of S.H.O., dated 26.04.2022 and 04.06.2022 (rejecting the application to recall his order dated 31.05.2022).

27. I.G., Agra Range/ SSP, Agra is directed that

(i) to hold indepth inquiry into the matter within 15 days from the date of production of certified copy of this order before them and take a suitable disciplinary action against the present S.H.O., P.S. Tajganj, Agra, and all other concerned Sub-Inspectors who involve in this scam, who have illegally handed over the keys of the shop in question to the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 after playing partisan role.

(ii) After quashing all the three orders as mentioned above, S.S.P., Agra is directed to ensure that the shop in question no. 15/77A M.P.Pura, Fatehabad Road, Tajganj, Agra should be immediately taken a vacant actual physical possession from the opposite party nos. 3 and 4 and shall put a lock and key after sealing the property latest by 10.09.2022 positively.

(iii) Circle Officer, Tajganj, Agra shall give a recent report after assessing the peace and tranquillity, the justification and the exigency of imposing Section 145/146 Cr.P.C.in the nearby area on account of seizure of the property and furnish the aforesaid report to the new City Magistrate dealing with the issue.

(iv) District Magistrate, Agra is requested to confer the records of the case to some other City Magistrate to re-visit and re-decide the entire issue after taking into account the settled principles of law in this regard within next two months after hearing both the parties, in the light of settled principles of law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court.

28. With this observation, the present criminal revision stands ALLOWED with the aforesaid conditions.

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Sri Raghawendra Kumar Singh, Sri Yogendra Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:

Criminal Law- Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 154, 174 & 154 Cr.P.C deals with information in cognizable offence for lodging F.I.R. Section 154 Cr.P.C. which stipulates that there must be an information relating to the commission of cognizable offence and the information can be termed as F.I.R., there is particular condition in respect of F.I.R. that there must be information of cognizable offence. When the Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar, Railway Authority, informed the Police regarding lying of a dead body near railwayline, it does not disclose commission of any cognizable offence. Therefore, the said information entered in G.D. cannot termed as F.I.R. The inquest was conducted in terms of Section 174 Cr.P.C. and police had rightly chosen not to lodge any F.I.R. on such information. The scrutiny done under Section 174 Cr.P.C. cannot be equated with the information under Section 154 Cr.P.C. which is meant for cognizable offence. Inquiry under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is more distinct.The inquest proceedings are in the nature of inquiry in case of accident which is entirely distincts from investigation under Section 157 Cr.P.C.

Merely an information to the police without any complaint, accusation or information about commission of an offence, cannot be termed as F.I.R. and the consequent inquest proceedings cannot be termed as investigation within the meaning of Section 157 Cr.P.C as the purpose of the inquiry under Section 174 of the Code is only for the limited purpose of discovering the cause of death.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Section 228- While framing the charge, the court below has to consider prima facie case even if the Court thinks that the accused might have committed the offence it would frame the charge at the stage of framing of charge and probative value of materials on record, cannot be gone into.

Settled law that at the stage of framing the Charge the Court is required to see only as to whether a prima facie case is made out from the material collected during the investigation but the probative value of said material cannot be gone into at this stage. (Para 10, 11, 13, 15, 18, 19)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

The present revision has been preferred with a prayer to allow this revision and quash/set aside the order dated 26.04.2022 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge-14, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No.942 of 2022 (State of U.P. Vs. Gaurav @ Govind) arising out of Case Crime No.74 of 2021, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Aligarh Junction, District Aligarh.

2. Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar and Deputy Superintendent of Police, Hathras Railway Station were informed on 26.10.2021 about unidentified dead body laid down near platform no.2, up line to the out post of the G.R.P. Hathras Junction. The inquest was conducted on the body of the deceased on 26.10.2021 and Panchnama was prepared and thereafter the postmortem was also conducted on 26.10.2021, which indicates that the deceased died due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of antemortem injury.

3. The family members of the deceased reached at the place of occurrence, where inquest was prepared by the concerned police station. The report was registered under Section 174(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. After conducting Panchnama, postmortem report and detailed accident report were submitted on 26.10.2021. The brother of deceased, lodged a report on 28.10.2021 mentioning therein that he had come to Aligarh on 28.10.2021 to take postmortem report and while he was sitting in waiting room of Aligarh Railway Station, he heard from one Omjeet @ Chhotu, son of Kishori Lal that he was sitting in General Bogie of Unchahar Express from Fafund Railway Station on 25.10.2021, which was going to Chandigarh, one Gaurav @ Govind, a Mechanic of Bike met him in the train, after sometime, there was quarrel at Hathras Railway Station between a boy (deceased) and Gaurav and the boy was thrown from the train by accused.

4. The first information report was lodged on 28.10.2021, under Section 302 I.P.C. at G.R.P. Aligarh Junction, Aligarh. The investigation was conducted and statement of complainant as well as other witnesses was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and charge sheet was filed against the applicant on 20.12.2021 before the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh, under Section 302 I.P.C. The cognizance was taken and charges were framed.

5. The applicant has challenged the charge sheet dated 26.04.2022, framed by Additional District and Sessions Judge-14, Aligarh.

6. It has been submitted by Sri Yogendra Singh, learned counsel for the revisionist that there are two F.I.Rs. in the present case and two investigations were carried out by the Police but no police report under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. has been submitted before Chief Judicial Magistrate with respect to the information and the charges have been framed in pursuance of the second F.I.R., which is not legally sustainable. He has submitted that for the same cause of action, it is the second F.I.R., therefore, proceeding initiated for framing the charge dated 26.04.2022 by the Additional District and Sessions Judge, Aligarh, is bad in the eyes of law and according to his submission investigation of second F.I.R. is bad in the eyes of law, whereas, the first report should be taken into consideration. He has further submitted that the materials collected under Section 302 I.P.C. against the applicant, is based on hearsay witness. He has relied upon the judgment passed by High Court of Madras (Madurai Bench) in the case of Manohari Vs. The District Superintendent of Police reported in 2018 (2) LW (Cri) 522, Rhea Chakraborty Vs. State of Bihar and others reported in 2020 (0) SC 490 and Radha Mohan Singh @ Lal Saheb and others Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2006 (2) SCC 450.

7. On the other hand, Sri Rupak Chaubey, learned A.G.A. for the State-opposite party has opposed and submitted that there is only one F.I.R., which was registered on 28.10.2021, as Case Crime No.74 of 2021, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station G.R.P. Aligarh Junctiion, District Aligarh. The information tendered by Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar and police authority dated 26.10.2021 that an unknown dead body was lying near railway line, cannot be termed as F.I.R. and therefore, the police authority has rightly chosen not to lodge the F.I.R. upon receiving such information. He has further submitted that the preparation of inquest report under Section 174 Cr.P.C. regarding the death of deceased, postmortem examination and detailed accident report were, in fact, in the nature of inquiry and it cannot be equated with the investigation contemplated under Section 157 Cr.P.C. which commenced after lodging of F.I.R. under Section 154 Cr.P.C. Moreover, this aspect cannot be considered when the trial has been commenced and charges have been framed and trial court bring the evidence on the basis of material on record. There is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence and the Court framed the charge even strong suspension based on material on record.

8. Sri Rupak Chaubey, learned A.G.A. has further submitted that there is statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of witness, namely, Omjeet @ Chhotu, who had stated that he himself had witnessed the incident, wherein, it is mentioned that the revisionist had pushed out the deceased from running train which resulted homicidal death of the deceased. The statement of other witnesses recorded in the investigation also support this allegation.

9. Heard Sri Yogendra Singh, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri Rupak Chaubey, learned A.G.A. for the State-opposite party.

10. Section 154 Cr.P.C. deals with information in cognizable offence for lodging F.I.R. Section 154 Cr.P.C. which stipulates that there must be an information relating to the commission of cognizable offence and the information can be termed as F.I.R., there is particular condition in respect of F.I.R. that there must be information of cognizable offence. When the Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar, Railway Authority, informed the Police regarding lying of a dead body near railwayline, it does not disclose commission of any cognizable offence. Therefore, the said information entered in G.D. cannot termed as F.I.R. The inquest was conducted in terms of Section 174 Cr.P.C. and police had rightly chosen not to lodge any F.I.R. on such information. The said view is enunciated in the Judgment passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Patai alias Krishna Kumar Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh reported in (2010) 4 SCC 429. Paragraph No.16 of the said judgment is relevant and is quoted below:-

"16. In order for a message or omunication to be qualified to be a first information report, there must be something in the nature of a complaint or accusation or at least some information of the crime given with the object of settting the police or criminal law into motion. It is true that a first information report need not contain the minutest details as to how the offence had taken place nor it is required to contain the names of the offenders or the witnesses. But it must at least contain some information about the crime committed as also some information about the manner in which the cognizable offence has been committed. A cryptic message recording an occurrence cannot be termed as a first information report."

11. Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the proceeding under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is for the purpose of discovering the cause of death, and the evidence taken was very short. When the body cannot be found or has been buried, there can be no investigation under Section 174 Cr.P.C. The scrutiny done under Section 174 Cr.P.C. cannot be equated with the information under Section 154 Cr.P.C. which is meant for cognizable offence. Inquiry under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is more distinct.

12. The case of inquiry under Section 174 and 154 is considered in case of Manoj Kumar Sharma and others Vs. State of Chhattisgarh and another reported in (2016) 9 SCC 1. Paragraph nos.19, 20, 21 and 22 of the said judgment are relevant, which are quoted below:-

"19. The proceedings under Section 174 have a very limited scope. The object of the proceedings is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and if so what is the apparent cause of the death. The question regarding the details as to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of the proceedings under Section 174 of the Code. Neither in practice nor in law was it necessary for the police to mention those details in the inquest report. It is, therefore, not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report. The procedure under Section 174 is for the purpose of discovering the cause of death, and the evidence taken was very short. When the body cannot be found or has been buried, there can be no investigation under Section 174. This section is intended to apply to cases in which an inquest is necessary. The proceedings under this section should be kept more distinct from the proceedings taken on the complaint. Whereas the starting point of the powers of the police was changed from the power of the officer in charge of a police station to investigate into a cognizable offence without the order of a Magistrate, to the reduction of the first information regarding commission of a cognizable offence, whether received orally or in writing, into writing. As such, the objective of such placement of provisions was clear which was to ensure that the recording of the first information should be the starting point of any investigation by the police. The purpose of registering FIR is to set the machinery of criminal investigation into motion, which culminates with filing of the police report and only after registration of FIR, beginning of investigation in a case, collection of evidence during investigation and formation of the final opinion is the sequence which results in filing of a report under Section 173 of the Code. In George v. State of Kerala, it has been held that the investigating officer is not obliged to investigate, at the stage of inquest, or to ascertain as to who were the assailants. A similar view has been taken in Suresh Rai v. State of Bihar .

20. In this view of the matter, Sections 174 and 175 of the Code afford a complete Code in itself for the purpose of "inquiries" in cases of accidental or suspicious deaths and are entirely distinct from the "investigation" under Section 157 of the Code wherein if an officer in charge of a police station has reason to suspect the commission of an offence which he is empowered to investigate, he shall proceed in person to the spot to investigate the facts and circumstances of the case. In the case on hand, an inquiry under Section 174 of the Code was convened initially in order to ascertain whether the death is natural or unnatural. The learned Senior Counsel for the appellants claims that the earlier information regarding unnatural death amounted to FIR under Section 154 of the Code which was investigated by the police and thereafter the case was closed.

21. On a careful scrutiny of materials on record, the inquiry which was conducted for the purpose of ascertaining whether the death is natural or unnatural cannot be categorised under information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence within the meaning and import of Section 154 of the Code. On information received by Police Station Mulana, the police made an inquiry as contemplated under Section 174 of the Code. After holding an inquiry, the police submitted its report before the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Ambala stating therein that it was a case of hanging and no cognizable offence is found to have been committed. In the report, it was also mentioned that the father of the deceased, R.P. Sharma (PW 1) does not want to take any further action in the matter. In view of the above discussion, it clearly goes to show that what was undertaken by the police was an inquiry under Section 174 of the Code which was limited to the extent of natural or unnatural death and the case was closed. Whereas, the condition precedent for recording of FIR is that there must be an information and that information must disclose a cognizable offence and in the case on hand, it leaves no matter of doubt that the intimation was an information of the nature contemplated under Section 174 of the Code and it could not be categorised as information disclosing a cognizable offence. Also, there is no material to show that the police after conducting investigation submitted a report under Section 173 of the Code as contemplated, before the competent authority, which accepted the said report and closed the case.

22. In view of the above, we are of the opinion that the investigation on an inquiry under Section 174 of the Code is distinct from the investigation as contemplated under Section 154 of the Code relating to commission of a cognizable offence and in the case on hand there was no FIR registered with Police Station Mulana neither any investigation nor any report under Section 173 of the Code was submitted. Therefore, challenge to the impugned FIR under Crime No. 194 of 2005 registered by Police Station Bhilai Nagar could not be assailed on the ground that it was the second FIR in the garb of which investigation or fresh investigation of the same incident was initiated."

13. Section 2 (H) Cr.P.C. includes all the proceedings under the Code for collection of evidence by a Police Officer or by any person other than the Magistrate, who is authorised by the Magistrate. Section 157 Cr.P.C. prescribed the procedure for investigation. Section 174 deals with the inquest proceeding upon receiving information by the police that a person has committed suicide or has been killed in an accident or has died under circumstances raising suspicion that some other person has done some offence. The body of inquest proceeding is to ascertain the apparent cause of death. The inquest proceedings are in the nature of inquiry in case of accident which is entirely distincts from investigation under Section 157 Cr.P.C. Under Section 157 Cr.P.C., the Officer in Charge of a Police Station having reason to suspect the commission of an offence for which he is empowered to investigate, proceeds on the spot. The investigation is done by the Police after receiving information of a cognizable offence and investigation can be done only under Section 157 Cr.P.C. which results in submission of police report. However, during the inquest proceeding, the Police Officer finds commission of cognizable offence then he can lodge F.I.R. and can investigate further in terms of Section 157 Cr.P.C.

14. In the present case, the information for cognizable offence was given by the informant on 28.10.2021 and thereafter, the police started investigation because act of commission of murder was disclosed in the F.I.R.

15. Insofar as the charge is concerned, it is framed after submission of charge sheet which contains the F.I.R. and statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the cognizable offence is made out and charges have been framed on the basis of the material collected by the Investigating Officer. While framing the charge, the court below has to consider prima facie case even if the Court thinks that the accused might have committed the offence it would frame the charge at the stage of framing of charge and probative value of materials on record, cannot be gone into. Paragraph Nos. 26 to 32 of the judgment passed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of State of Maharashtra and others Vs. Som Nath Thapa and others reported in (1996) 4 SCC 659, are relevant which are quoted below:-

"26. Shri Ram Jethmalani has urged that despite some variation in the language of the three pairs of sections, which deal with the question of framing of charge or discharge, being relatable to either a sessions trial or trial of a warrant case or a summons case, ultimately converge to a single conclusion, namely, that a prima facie case must be made out before a charge can be framed. This is what was stated by a two-Judge Bench in R.S. Nayak v. A.R. Antulay.

27. Let us note the three pairs of sections Shri Jethmalani has in mind. These are Sections 227 and 228 insofar as sessions trial is concerned; Sections 239 and 240 relatable to trial of warrant cases; and Sections 245(1) and (2) qua trial of summons cases. They read as below:

"227. Discharge.--If, upon consideration of the record of the case and the documents submitted therein, and after hearing the submissions of the accused and the prosecution in this behalf, the Judge considers that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, he shall discharge the accused and record his reasons for so doing.

228. Framing of charge.--(1) If, after such consideration and hearing as aforesaid, the Judge is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence which--

(a) is not exclusively triable by the Court of Session, he may frame a charge against the accused and, by order, transfer the case for trial to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, and thereupon the Chief Judicial Magistrate shall try the offence in accordance with the procedure for trial of warrant-cases instituted on a police report;

(b) is exclusively triable by the court, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused.

(2) Where the Judge frames any charge under clause (b) of sub-section (1), the charge shall be read and explained to the accused and the accused shall be asked whether he pleads guilty of the offence charged or claims to be tried.

239. When accused shall be discharged.--If, upon considering the police report and the document sent with it under Section 173 and making such examination, if any, of the accused as the Magistrate thinks necessary and after giving the prosecution and the accused an opportunity of being heard, the Magistrate considers the charge against the accused to be groundless, he shall discharge the accused, and record his reasons for so doing.

240. Framing of charge.--(1) If, upon such consideration, examination, if any, and hearing the Magistrate is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence triable under this Chapter, which such Magistrate is competent to try and which, in his opinion, could be adequately punished by him, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused.
(2) The charge shall then be read and explained to the accused, and he shall be asked whether he pleads guilty of the offence charged or claims to be tried.

245. When accused shall be discharged.--If, upon taking all the evidence referred to in Section 244, the Magistrate considers, for reasons to be recorded, that no case against the accused has been made out which, if unrebutted, would warrant his conviction, the Magistrate shall discharge him.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless."

28. Before adverting to what was stated in Antulay case let the view expressed in State of Karnataka v. L. Muniswamy be noted. Therein, Chandrachud, J. (as he then was) speaking for a three-Judge Bench stated (at SCR p. 119 : SCC p. 704) that at the stage of framing the charge the court has to apply its mind to the question whether or not there is any ground for presuming the commission of the offence by the accused. As framing of charge affects a person's liberty substantially, need for proper consideration of material warranting such order was emphasised.

29. What was stated in this regard in Stree Atyachar Virodhi Parishad case which was quoted with approval in paragraph 78 of State of W.B. v. Mohd. Khalid is that what the court has to see, while considering the question of framing the charge, is whether the material brought on record would reasonably connect the accused with the crime. No more is required to be inquired into.

30. In Antulay case Bhagwati, C.J., opined, after noting the difference in the language of the three pairs of sections, that despite the difference there is no scope for doubt that at the stage at which the court is required to consider the question of framing of charge, the test of "prima facie" case has to be applied. According to Shri Jethmalani, a prima facie case can be said to have been made out when the evidence, unless rebutted, would make the accused liable to conviction. In our view, a better and clearer statement of law would be that if there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence, a court can justifiably say that a prima facie case against him exists, and so, frame a charge against him for committing that offence.

31. Let us note the meaning of the word "presume'. In Black's Law Dictionary it has been defined to mean "to believe or accept upon probable evidence". (emphasis ours). In Shorter Oxford English Dictionary it has been mentioned that in law "presume' means "to take as proved until evidence to the contrary is forthcoming", Stroud's Legal Dictionary has quoted in this context a certain judgment according to which "A presumption is a probable consequence drawn from facts (either certain, or proved by direct testimony) as to the truth of a fact alleged." (emphasis supplied). In Law Lexicon by P. Ramanath Aiyer the same quotation finds place at p. 1007 of 1987 Edn.

32. The aforesaid shows that if on the basis of materials on record, a court could come to the conclusion that commission of the offence is a probable consequence, a case for framing of charge exists. To put it differently, if the court were to think that the accused might have committed the offence it can frame the charge, though for conviction the conclusion is required to be that the accused has committed the offence. It is apparent that at the stage of framing of a charge, probative value of the materials on record cannot be gone into; the materials brought on record by the prosecution has to be accepted as true at that stage."

16. The same view has been taken by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Bhawna Bai Vs. Ghanshyam and others reported in (2020) 2 SCC 217. Paragraph nos.16 and 17 of the said judgment are relevant and are quoted below:-

"16. After referring to Amit Kapoor in Dinesh Tiwari v. State of U.P., the Supreme Court held that for framing charge under Section 228 CrPC, the Judge is not required to record detailed reasons as to why such charge is framed. On perusal of record and hearing of parties, if the Judge is of the opinion that there is sufficient ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence triable by the Court of Session, he shall frame the charge against the accused for such offence.

17. As discussed above, in the present case, upon hearing the parties and considering the allegations in the charge-sheet, the learned Second Additional Sessions Judge was of the opinion that there were sufficient grounds for presuming that the accused has committed the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC read with Section 34 IPC. The order dated 12-12-2018 framing the charges is not a detailed order. For framing the charges under Section 228 CrPC, the Judge is not required to record detailed reasons. As pointed out earlier, at the stage of framing the charge, the court is not required to hold an elaborate enquiry; only prima facie case is to be seen. As held in Kanti Bhadra Shah v. State of W.B., while exercising power under Section 228 CrPC, the Judge is not required to record his reasons for framing the charges against the accused. Upon hearing the parties and based upon the allegations and taking note of the allegations in the charge-sheet, the learned Second Additional Sessions Judge was satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused and framed the charges against the accused-Respondents 1 and 2. While so, the High Court was not right in interfering with the order of the trial court framing the charges against the accused-Respondents 1 and 2 under Section 302 IPC read with Section 34 IPC and the High Court, in our view, erred in quashing the charges framed against the accused. The impugned order cannot therefore be sustained and is liable to be set aside"

17. Sri Yogendra Singh, learned counsel for the revisionist has relied upon the judgment of Manohari Vs. The District Superintendent of Police *(supra), the said judgment is not applicable in the present case. In the said case, the information under Section 174 Cr.P.C. was given and the Court has observed that on conclusion of the investigation, the police shall file a final report under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. only before the Jurisdictional Magistrate and not before the Executive Magistrate. This will apply in both cases, where the final report is positive report or is a closure report.

18. In the present case, there is only one F.I.R. registered on 28.10.2021, as Case Crime No.74 of 2021, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station G.R.P. Aligarh Junction, District Aligarh. The earlier information by Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar to the Police dated 26.10.2021, was an information regarding unknown dead body lying near railway line which can be termed as F.I.R. Preparation of inquest under Section 174 Cr.P.C. regarding death of the deceased, postmortem examination and detailed accident report was in fact in the nature of inquiry and it cannot be equated with the investigation contemplates under Section 157 Cr.P.C. which commenced after lodging of F.I.R. under Section 154 Cr.P.C.

19. In view of the aforesaid discussion, it is obvious that the F.I.R. lodged on 28.10.2021 for offence which is cognizable, therefore, investigation was conducted under Section 157 Cr.P.C. The first report dated 26.10.2021 was an information tendered by Portal/Pointsman, Mukesh Kumar, the railway authority regarding an unknown dead body which was lying near railway line and the same cannot be termed as F.I.R. The preparation of inquest report under Section 174 Cr.P.C. regarding death of deceased, postmortem examination and detailed accident report, was in fact, in the nature of inquiry and it cannot be equated with investigation contemplated under Section 157 Cr.P.C.

20. The charges have been framed after collecting material on record and court below had no option but to frame the charge.

21. In view of the aforesaid discussion, the revision lacks merit and it is dismissed.

22. No order as to costs.

REVISIONAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.08.2022

THE HON'BLE MRS. SADHNA RANI (THAKUR), J.

Criminal Revision No. 3607 of 2021

Rajdhari Yadav ...Revisionist
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Sri Lal Chandra Mishra

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:

Sri Ashish Pandey,G.A.

Criminal Law- Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Sections 451 & 457- Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985- Section 36-C –Section 51- Application of the revisionist for release of vehicle rejected- A perusal of Section 36- C and 51 of the NDPS Act indicates that the provisions of Cr.PC. so far as, they are not in contradictions with the special Act NDPS Act, shall be applicable to the NDPS Act and as in the NDPS Act no procedure for interim custody of the vehicle is prescribed Sections 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C. specifically deal with the custody and disposal of property pending trial and the procedure to be followed by the police upon seizure of property. Consequently the judgment Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai (supra) shall be applicable to the facts of the present case and as in the judgment Union of India Vs Mohanlal and another (supra), only the disposal of seized narcotic drug, psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances were discussed and there was no occasion to consider the matter of release or the interim custody of the vehicle (conveyance)- Law laid down by the Apex Court in Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai (supra) will apply to the vehicle seized under the NDPS Act as well. Thus, the Magistrate/ Special Judge, NDPS Act shall have power to consider the application for the interim custody of the conveyance/ vehicle under the provision of Section 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C. The finding of the trial court that the Drug Disposal Committee would dispose of the vehicles seized under NDPS Act is against the mandate of the Apex Court in Union of India Vs Mohanlal and another (supra).

As the NDPS Act does not provide for the procedure to be followed for the interim custody and disposal of the seized property, hence the provisions of Sections 451 and 457 of the Cr.P.C shall be applicable- law laid down in Union of India Vs Mohanlal and another held not to be applicable in facts of the case while law laid down in Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai held to be applicable.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sadhna Rani (Thakur), J.)

1. The present criminal revision has been preferred by the revisionist Rajdhari Yadav against the order dated 29.10.2021 passed by the Special Judge N.D.P.S. Act/ Additional Session Judge, Court No.6, Allahabad in Misc. Case No.381 of 2021, arising out of Case Crime No.19 of 2021, under Sections 8/20/27A/ 29 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station Lucknow NCB, District Prayagraj whereby the application of the revisionist for release of Tata Mini Truck No.GJ 16 AU 9781 was rejected.

2. It is argued by the learned counsel for the revisionist that the Tata Mini Truck No. GJ 16 AU 9781 of the revisionist was being repaired by the mechanic near Naribari Police Chowki. The STF force detained his driver, helper and vehicle from there on 27.05.2021 at about 3:00 PM. Nothing was recovered from the truck of the revisionist. The recovery was made from the Eicher Mini Truck but the police let that vehicle go after getting huge amount and illegally implicated his truck by taking his truck to Police Station Shankargarh, at a distance of 50 km from the Naribari Police Chowki. From the spot nothing is shown to be recovered from his truck. After planting the alleged ganja the arresting officer badly damaged the mangoes loaded upon his vehicle and looted the cash of Rs. 25,000/- from the driver and challaned the driver and helper in the present case. He is not named in the complaint. He has neither committed any offence nor has any concern with the aforesaid case. He is wrongly and illegally being implicated in the present case on the basis of the fake recovery. The Special Judge N.D.P.S. Act/ Additional Session Judge, Court No.6, Allahabad has not exercised the jurisdiction vested in him according to the provisions of law. The impugned order is totally against the provisions of law, hence, the revision be allowed and the impugned order rejecting the release application of his vehicle No. GJ 16 AU 9781 be quashed.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist has drawn the attention of the Court towards the judgment passed in Criminal Revision No.1926 of 2018, Dhirendra Singh Thapa Vs. State of U.P. and another and has argued that in that case the Court allowed the revision, impugned order was set aside, and release application was allowed, hence, on the basis of the said judgment the impugned order is prayed to be set aside.

4. Counter affidavit has been filed by the opposite party no.2- NCB wherein it is narrated that the specific information with regard to the transportation of huge quantity of 'ganja', by the nominated accused persons, by the vehicle of the revisionist was received in their office at Lucknow. A team constituted to conduct search and seizure. The team so constituted intercepted the vehicle in question and nominated accused persons and recovered 975:00 kg ganja from the vehicle of revisionist. During search and seizure the officers of NCB complied with all the mandatory provisions of NDPS Act. Memo of recovery was prepared on spot and was signed by accused persons, who were present at the time of recovery. On the national highway due to heavy traffic and security reasons it was not possible to unload mango cartons and bags of ganja. So the intercepted vehicles and the persons were taken to the Police Station Shankargarh for the proceedings of search and seizure and there is no illegality in the same. After recovery of 975:00 kg. ganja from the vehicle of the revisionist, Ganja and vehicle were seized under the N.D.P.S. Act and were deposited in malkhana of concerned police station by the order of concerned court.

5. The statement of accused persons were recorded. Several notices were sent to the revisionist as he was found the owner of the vehicle in question, but despite the service of notices, the revisionist did not appear before the investigating officer and, accordingly, the investigation with regard to the revisionist is kept open and is still pending. The court below has rightly rejected the vehicle release application of the revisionist as the vehicle was being used for the transportation of narcotic substance and was seized under Section 60 of N.D.P.S. Act. The impugned rejection order is a detailed and reasoned order, which was passed after considering the relevant provisions of N.D.P.S. Act and the material available on record.

6. The judgment Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai Vs. State of Gujrat, (2002)10 SCC 283 does not apply on the facts of the present case as the N.D.P.S. Act is a self contained Act and Section 8(C) of the Act prohibits the transportation of any narcotic drugs or psychotropic substances except for medical or scientific purposes, with the terms and condition of license permit or authorization. As the truck in question has been seized under Section 60 of NDPS Act which was being used by the accused persons for transportation of recovered ganja, without any authorization and the driver of the revisionist was present at the time of seizure, who had admitted his involvement in the trafficking of ganja. As per Section 63 of NDPS Act the seized ganja and the conveyance are liable to be confiscated. N.D.P.S. Act being a special Act has over riding effect on the provisions of Cr.P.C. Section 451 of Cr.P.C. does not apply in the case of N.D.P.S. Act. Such a huge quantity of recovered ganja cannot be planted. There is nothing on record to establish any type of enmity between the accused persons and the officers of NCB.

7. On the basis of judgments Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (2016) 3 SCC 379, State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Udai Singh Criminal Appeal No.524 of 2019, Bhupendra Pathak Vs. State of U.P. and another passed by this Court in Criminal Revision No. 4509 of 2018, and Shajahan Vs. Inspector of Excise and others, 2019 SCC Online Kerala 3685, the prayer is made to dismiss the present revision.

8. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and learned A.G.A. Perused the record.

9. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.2- N.C.B. is not present.

10. There is no dispute that the revisionist is the owner of the vehicle in question having all the documents with regard to his vehicle. The only question involved is whether the trial court had jurisdiction to release the truck in question?

11. As per the facts of the case, the NCB team had intercepted the truck and the alleged recovery of 975 kg. ganja is shown from the vehicle of the revisionist. It is true that in recovery memo at some places the word Eicher Mini Truck has been used in place of Tata Mini Truck, but the revisionist cannot take benefit of this bonafide mistake of the scribe of the recovery memo, as in the recovery memo the number of the vehicle has been clearly mentioned as GJ 16 AU 9781 with the name of owner Rajdhari Yadav and as per revisionist Rajdhari Yadav, he is the owner of the Tata Mini truck No. GJ 16 AU 9781. From the information received from the R.T.O. office also, intercepted Tata Mini Truck No. GJ 16 AU 9781 has been found registered in the name of the revisionist, Rajdhari Yadav.

12. Admittedly, the vehicle in question is seized the provisions of the NDPS Act. To ascertain the role of the vehicle owner various notices are alleged to have been sent by the NCB, but as per the version of NCB the revisionist refrained himself from attending the office of NCB. Though, the revisionist denies the fact that he had received any notice from NCB, but it is an admitted fact that the revisionist did not attend the office of NCB and due to non appearance of the revisionist the confiscation proceedings regarding the aforesaid Tata Mini Truck could not be started and the investigation is still in progress.

13. It is claimed by the revisionist that his vehicle be released as per provisions of Cr.P.C. (Sections 451 and 457) in light of judgment Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai (supra). The revisionist has also claimed benefit of judgment Dhirendra Singh Thapa (supra) passed by this Court.

14. If we go through the general provisions in this regard, in the Cr.P.C. the seized vehicle can be released as per Sections 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C. but here in the case in hand the vehicle has been seized under the provisions of NDPS Act and NDPS Act admittedly is a special act which prescribes a procedure for dealing in specified case and NDPS Act being a special statute, the provisions of special statue has to be followed by the Court. Section 63 of the NDPS Act provides a procedure for making confiscation. Admittedly the vehicle in question has not been confiscated yet. Section 52-A of NDPS Act provides for the seizure and disposal of seized narcotic drug psychotropic substances and the conveyances. Before the amendment of Section 52-A of the Act in 1989 the word 'Conveyance' was not included as item which could be disposed of under Section 52-A of NDPS Act. As per the learned A.G.A. the very fact that word 'Conveyance' had been incorporated, the amendment itself indicates that the Government intended to provide a special procedure to deal with the disposal of such conveyances. While taking into account the fact that most of the transportation are done in conveyance which itself is defined under Section 2 (viii) as meaning "a conveyance of any description whatsoever and includes any aircraft, vehicle or vessel". Therefore, if any, vehicle is involved in transportation of narcotic drug, psychotropic substance or controlled substance, such vehicle also could be seized and disposed of in terms of Section 52 A(1) of the Act.

15. It is held by Kerala High Court in Shajahan Vs. Inspector of Excise and others (supra) that because the special statute has been amended giving the power of disposal of narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances, controlled substances or conveyance to special officer, he will have power to act in accordance with the procedure prescribed under the Act or the rules framed thereunder.

16. In judgment Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra), the Apex Court hold that when any narcotic drug, psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances are seized, the same shall be forwarded to the officer in-charge nearest to the police station, who shall approach the magistrate concerned and with his permission the sampling shall be done under the supervision of the magistrate. Further, it is directed by the Apex Court that Central Government and its agencies and so also the State Governments shall within six months from today take appropriate steps to set up storage facilities for the exclusive storage of seized Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic and controlled Substances and Conveyances. The Central Government and the State Governments shall also designate an officer each for their respective storage facility and provide for other steps, measures.

17. The question to be decided in this revision is that in view of the amended provisions of Section 52A of the NDPS Act and the notification dated 16.01.2015, whether the learned magistrate/ special court has the authority under the provisions of Sections 451 and 457 Cr.P.C., or Drug Disposal Committee is to release the vehicle to consider the application for interim custody of the vehicle/conveyance.

18. The same questions were decided by the Division Bench of the Karnataka High Court At Bengaluru on 17.05.2022 in Criminal Petition No.3571/2021 Rathnamma Vs. State represented by PSI Channagiri Police Station Davanagere, State Public Prosecutor High Court of Karnataka, Bengaluru and accompanied petitions in a reference made to that Court.

19. As per Division Bench of Karnataka, High Court at Bengaluru provisions of Section 451 of Cr.P.C. are not inconsistent with the provisions of NDPS Act, paragraph-47 of the judgment reads as follows:-

"47. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of the present case, we are of the considered opinion, that we have no hesitation in holding that there is no provision under the NDPS Act debarring release of the vehicle for interim custody. The provisions of Section 451 of Cr.P.C., as already stated supra, is found not inconsistent with the provisions of the NDPS Act and is applicable to the vehicle seized under the NDPS Act as well. Thereby, the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai's case stated supra will apply to the vehicles seized under the NDPS Act as well. Any contrary view taken by the Courts of law would be against the interest of the owner of the vehicles, the public at large and the State."

20. In paragraph-50 of the same judgment the Division Bench held that:-

"50. Since the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure including Section 451/457 have been expressly made applicable by virtue of Sections 36-C and 51 of the NDPS Act to the proceedings before the Special Court and there is no express bar contained in the NDPS Act for grant of interim custody as contained in Section 52C of the Indian Forest Act, 1927, therefore, merely on the ground that the vehicle is liable to confiscation under Section 60 of the NDPS Act, it cannot be held that once the vehicle is seized for commission of offence under the NDPS Act, interim custody cannot be granted, as jurisdiction of criminal court has to be construed strictly unless expressly excluded."

21. Regarding Standing Order No.1/ 1989 and notification dated 16.01.2015, the Apex Court in judgment Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra) held that the earlier Notification/ Standing Order No.1 of 1989 shall be treated to be superseded to the extent the subsequent notification dated 16.01.2015 prescribes a different procedure.

22. In order to avoid any confusion arising out of the continued presence of two notifications on the same subject it was made clear by the Division Bench of Karnataka High Court that disposal of narcotic drugs and psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances shall be carried out in the manner prescribed, till such time the Government prescribed a different procedure for the same.

23. Admittedly, in the present case also, the respondents have not produced any procedure prescribed by the Central Government as directed by the Hon'ble

Supreme Court in Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra).

24. Regarding applicability of the provisions of Cr.P.C., in this regard the Division Bench of Karnataka High Court in its judgment in paragraph-55 held that:-

"55. In view of the above, there is no expression to release the interim custody of the vehicle or exclude the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure in view of the Section 36-C of the NDPS Act. It is also relevant to consider, at this stage, that either in the Notification dated 16.01.2015 or the amended provisions of Section 52-A of the NDPS Act, no mechanism is provided for consideration of application for grant of interim custody of the vehicle."

25. In paragraph- 56 of the judgment the Division Bench held as follows:-

"56. The entire object of the Notification is to either dispose or destroy the drugs. Clause 9(1), (2), (4), (5)(a)(c)(d) of the Notification concerns with Disposal*, while Clause 9(5)(b), (6), (7) concerns with* Destruction. The only clause which has relevance to conveyances is Clause 9(5)(e) which depicts that seized conveyances shall be sold off by way of tender or auction as determined by the Drug Disposal Committee. The said Clause does not concern to interim custody and it only concerns with Disposal which is akin to Section 452 of the Cr.P.C. Needless to emphasize that this sale is post-trial. Thereby the Notification, dated 16.01.2015 or the provisions of Section 52A of the NDPS Act does not deal with the interim custody of the seized Articles or Conveyances. The Legislature has intentionally not used the word "Custody" under Section 52A of the NDPS Act, as can be seen under Sections 451 and 457 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Therefore, the power or jurisdiction cannot be conferred to authority/officer including the Drug Disposal Committee, who is not vested with the same by the Statute. The power under the Notification issued cannot go beyond the statutory provisions of Section 52A of the NDPS Act."

26. Lastly, the Division Bench of Karnataka High Court held that the judgments in Shahjahan Vs. Inspector of Excise (supra) and Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra), there was no occasion to consider the application for release of the interim custody of the vehicle (conveyances) and in that view of the matter, the said judgments relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents to the effect that Drug Disposal Committee has power and not the Magistrate or the Special Court under the NDPS Act have no application to the facts and circumstances of the present petitions.

27. A perusal of Section 36- C and 51 of the NDPS Act indicates that the provisions of Cr.PC. so far as, they are not in contradictions with the special Act NDPS Act, shall be applicable to the NDPS Act and as in the NDPS Act no procedure for interim custody of the vehicle is prescribed Sections 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C. specifically deal with the custody and disposal of property pending trial and the procedure to be followed by the police upon seizure of property. Consequently the judgment Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai (supra) shall be applicable to the facts of the present case and as in the judgment Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra), only the disposal of seized narcotic drug, psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances were discussed and there was no occasion to consider the matter of release or the interim custody of the vehicle (conveyance).

28. So on the basis of above discussions, this Court is of the opinion that law laid down by the Apex Court in Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai (supra) will apply to the vehicle seized under the NDPS Act as well. Thus, the Magistrate/ Special Judge, NDPS Act shall have power to consider the application for the interim custody of the conveyance/ vehicle under the provision of Section 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C.

29. The finding of the trial court that the Drug Disposal Committee would dispose of the vehicles seized under NDPS Act is against the mandate of the Apex Court in Union of India Vs. Mohanlal and another (supra).

30. The revision is hereby allowed. The order dated 29.10.2021 passed by the Special Judge N.D.P.S. Act/ Additional Session Judge, Court No.6, Allahabad in Misc. Case No.381 of 2021, arising out of Case Crime No.19 of 2021, under Sections 8/20/27A/ 29 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station Lucknow NCB, District Prayagraj is hereby set aside. The revisionist is directed to appear before the court concerned within a period of 15 days from today to get his application decided on the basis of law discussed above.

1. Heard Sri Vishwajeet Rai, Advocate holding brief of Sri Kripa Shankar Rai, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State authorities and Sri Kumar Ayush, learned counsel representing the Lucknow Development Authority.

2. By instituting these proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner-Kripa Shanker Singh has prayed that the opposite party nos.1 to 4 may be directed for registry of House No.M/213/G, L.D.A. Colony, Kanpur Road Yojna, Lucknow in his favour. Further, the petitioner has also prayed that the registry of the said house may not be done in favour of opposite party no.7. Although the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow and the Station House Officer, Police Station Ashiyana, District Lucknow have been arrayed as opposite party nos.5 and 6 respectively, however, no prayer has been made by the petitioner against them.

3. The case set up by the petitioner in the writ petition is that one Smt. Kavita Singh was issued a letter dated 22nd January, 1992 informing her that her application dated 03.01.1992 was accepted by the Lucknow Development Authority for allotment of Plot No.A/863/I, L.D.A. Colony, Kanpur Road Yojna, Lucknow. It seems thereafter the said Smt. Kavita Singh has applied for alternate plot to the Lucknow Development Authority, which was allowed vide an order dated 13.09.1996 and as such an alternate property being M/213/G, was allotted to said Smt. Kavita Singh for and in place of the earlier plot in the same locality. The petitioner has relied on a document dated 23.09.1996 issued by L.D.A. informing the said Kavita Singh that the petitioner's request and affidavit have been accepted by them and as such the plot allotted was allowed to be transferred to the petitioner on the same terms and conditions. It is the further case of the petitioner that subsequently a "Hire purchase agreement" was executed in his favour by L.D.A. on 25.09.1996 for the said property number M/213/G for a consideration of Rs.2,63,900/- on hire purchase basis and pursuant to which he was also issued a possession letter dated 25.09.1996 for the said property. The tenure for the said hire purchase agreement was 20 years and it was expected that L.D.A. would execute the sale deed for the said plot after the completion of the said tenure of hire purchase agreement.

4. It is the further case of the petitioner that the actual possession was given to him by the L.D.A. on 27.09.1996 by the Engineer concerned. The petitioner relied on an unverified computer sheet purported to be a report dated 15.10.2005, estimated for registry by the L.D.A.

depicting a payment of Rs. 51,700/- made against the property in question and narrating the installment information relating to the said property. The learned counsel also relied on an internal register/document purported to be of L.D.A. wherein name of the petitioner is reflected at serial no.61 and various payments to have been made, although dates of payments are mentioned in the said extract of register but no dates have been mentioned therein. The learned counsel referring to the said documents has argued that since the name of the petitioner finds mentions in the records of the L.D.A., he should be construed as the only rightful owner of the property M/213/G, L.D.A. Colony, Kanpur Road Yojna, Lucknow.

5. The learned counsel continuing with his arguments vociferously went on to submit and rely on several documents relating to the raising and payment of house tax, water tax and electricity bills raised by the concerned Department and paid by the petitioner over a passage of time to further his argument relating to the petitioner being the rightful allottee of the property in question. Further, an internal document of the L.D.A. relating to a list of plot/building numbers and the allotees name, for which it was proposed to open a duplicate application for registration purpose as on 23.12.2008 has also been relied upon by the petitioner. However, the next document brought to the notice of this Court shows that although the petitioner's name is registered in the computer sheet printed and annexed as Annexure-18 to the writ petition, but there is no explanation as to why the registration and issue date of the said registration is 17.01.1984, when actually the plot was not even in existence.

6. The petitioner has vehemently relied on the form for registration for one time settlement (O.T.S.) filled by the petitioner on 02.12.2008, wherein the date of allotment has been mentioned as 13.09.1996 to explain that there was some discrepancy in the registration and the issue date, however, again we are not able to find any document on record, which would show that any objection had been filed by the petitioner with the L.D.A. for correcting the said error. In fact, it is the other way around, wherein the petitioner vide letter dated 10.12.2009 although has represented the L.D.A. for considering the O.T.S. by mentioning the opening of the duplicate application for registration purpose, however any mention of the correction in the computer record was conspicuously absent. It is seen that the petitioner had been giving series of representations in similar manner as is apparent from the letter dated 25.04.2010, 27.01.2012 but without any results, although the petitioner was made to deposit Rs.26,000/- with the L.D.A. for processing and administrative fees on 27.02.2012, Rs.50,000/- on 14.06.2012, Rs.45,000/- on 21.10.2013. Consequently, it is the case of the petitioner that he has also got sent a complaint to the Director General of Police, Lucknow relating to some named property dealers and some unidentified persons approaching him and intimidating to vacate the property as purportedly these new persons have told him that they have purchased the plot in question from the Lucknow Development Authority. These letters dated 19.10.2013 was alleged followed by another letter dated 21.10.2013 to the L.D.A. and 31.10.2013 to the Secretary, L.D.A. It is the case of the petitioner that since the opposite parties did not heed to his request, he was left with no alternative but to file the present writ petition.

7. Learned counsel for the opposite parties no.1 to 6 appeared on advance notice and as such notice was issued to the opposite parties no.7 on 20.11.2013, wherein all the parties were directed to file their counter affidavit and rejoinder thereto and status-quo with regard to possession of plot in question was directed to be maintained.

8. The assertions made in the writ petition have categorically been denied by the Lucknow Development Authority in the counter affidavit filed by the O.S.D., Lucknow Development Authority, wherein they specifically mention that the petitioner was not the alltotee of House No.M/213/G, Kanpur Road, L.D.A. Colony, Lucknow and he was never allotted the said house. They have denied having given any possession. It was mentioned that the computer generated receipt (Anneuxre-1) is in the name of opposite party no.7 (Vishwambhar Nath Dubey) is of dated 20.09.2004 and it does not have any bearing to the petition as the opposite party no.7 has no relation with the petitioner. They further stated on affidavit that the documents filed by the petitioner are forged and no agreement of any nature was executed by them with the petitioner. The authority has stated in its affidavit that no receipt has been filed by the petitioner under the cash sale procedure which could establish registration of the said plot in favour of the petitioner because as per their contention and as per the Rules, without registration, allotment of plot is not possible. They raised doubt on the filing of Anneuxre-4 filed in the writ petition, which according to them was an advance payment of one shop in paper mill and as such verification cannot be done by them. The L.D.A. has also stated that in the cash sale allotment scheme, the registration cost was 10% of the sale consideration and until such registration by depositing 10% of the sale consideration is not made it was not possible for any allotment under the law. The L.D.A. has also raised an issue relating to possession and mutation not being in favour of Smt. Kavita Singh and as such they submit that since Kavita Singh was not given possession or her name was not mutated, how she could have transferred the property in question to the petitioner.

9. Learned counsel for L.D.A. has also highlighted the aspect that as per the identity card annexed with the writ petition, the petitioner's birth year was depicted as 1983 and in case the execution of the document was proposed to be found correct, the same was not legally tenable and void as the petitioner was merely 13 years in the year 1996 and as such any document signed by him does not hold any legal sanctity. The counsel for the L.D.A. has also drawn the attention of the Court to the affidavit filed in support of the present writ petition, which mentions the age of the petitioner as 30 years and as such he reiterates that since the petitioner on the year of filing of the writ petition i.e. 2013 was 30 years, he ought to have been of 13 years in the year 1996 and as such he claims that all the documents filed by the petitioner are forged, even the age claimed by him is forged and as such the petitioner is not entitled for any relief from this Court.

10. Lucknow Development Authority has denied the deposit of Rs.50,000/- (Annexure-9A) and have claimed that it bears no date and they have further challenged the aspect of procurement and filing of photocopy of disposal register, as it was an internal document of the L.D.A. They have claimed that the documents are self-manufactured and forged and as such has called for serious action against the petitioner. Regarding the procurement of electricity and water connection, L.D.A. has stated that it might have been procured on the basis of forged documents by the petitioner.

11. The petitioner filed his rejoinder almost reiterating the stand taken by him in the writ petition. The petitioner repeatedly referred to the computer costing estimate made by the L.D.A. on 05.10.2005 and a list of defaulters allegedly published by L.D.A. in newspaper on 22.02.2011, wherein the petitioner's name was mentioned, to buttress his argument about the allotment made to the petitioner. He referred to various documents filed along with the rejoinder affidavit and claimed that an agreement with a minor was not void but voidable. He contends that the documents filed are genuine and he states that there were no takers of plot under Kanpur Road Yojna at that point of time and in case any person chose and applied for allotment, then L.D.A. was obliged to allot those plots and house and possession used to be given after complying with the legal formalities.

12. The petitioner in rejoinder also stated that the L.D.A. had not disclosed to him the balance amount due as on the present time. As regarding the working of Lucknow Development Authority, the petitioner relies on newspaper clip of Amar Ujala dated 20.03.2016 and 16.07.2015 to further his point that fabrication of registry is rampant in L.D.A. In the news clip 18 plots have been found to be having a forged registry. He states that enquiry relating to 40 plots were initiated by L.D.A. on which 18 were found to be forged and his plot number does not figure in the said list and in any case action has be taken against L.D.A. officials who have been working collusively with people for allotment of plots, which actually were never allotted to this person by preparing forged documents. The petitioner has also filed certain deposit slips relating to Kavita Singh, O.T.S. fees paid by the petitioner etc. He has also filed L.D.A. portal registration details as on 10.09.2017, which shows his name in the said portal and also mentions that Rs. 78,000/- stands paid on various dates. Towards the end, the petitioner has filed electricity bill, water tax and house tax paid by him till date. As regards the variants in the birth date in voter I.D. and PAN, he claims that he belongs to a poor family and the same has been mistakenly printed and immediately after coming to his knowledge has applied for correction. The petitioner has filed his Aadhar card wherein he has declared his date of birth as 01.0.1974, however, the PAN card again shows his date of birth as 01.01.1984.

13. Having heard the learned counsel appearing for the parties and perused the record of the writ petition available before us, we have considered the rival submissions, but are unable to convince ourselves with the submissions and prayers made by learned counsel for the petitioner for various reasons as would follow hereinafter.

14. As per the petitioner, the plot house in question was allotted to him by L.D.A. vide a Hire purchase agreement dated 25.09.1996 for a total sale consideration of Rs. 2,63,900/- of which Rs.46,000/- has been mentioned to be paid as part payment of the sale consideration and the balance money was payable at the rate of Rs.2539.35 in equal monthly installments payable in advance within first week of each due English calendar month spread over a period of 20 years. Thus, as per the said analogy, the total amount to be paid by the petitioner would be Rs.6,09,440/- having been paid as equal monthly installments plus Rs.46,000/- having paid as part payment at the time of Hire purchase agreement, which totals to about Rs.6,55,4e40/-, provided the petitioner has paid all the equal monthly installments on time, this court painstakingly undertook to understand the said mathematical calculation as the fulcrum of the writ petition is a direction to L.D.A. for getting a property registered in favour of the petitioner, a right which kicks in when the entire sale consideration stands paid to the authority. Paragraph 5 of the Hire purchase agreement in as many word says clearly:

"5. that upon payment of all the installments in respect of the demised property by the purchaser the seller will execute the sale deed of the aforesaid house the land in favour of the purchaser."

Similarly, paragraph 12 and 13, which are relevant to the context, inter alia says:

"12. That in case of default of payment for continuous three regular installments on the part of the purchaser, the seller shall have every right to terminate this agreement or to take any action against the purchaser and the purchaser shall be bound to surrender the property with the seller, as directed in a notice issued by L.D.A.

13. That the seller on re-entry consequent upon the termination of this agreement will be entitled to sell the demised property in favour of any third persons."

15. A conjoint reading of paragraphs 5, 12 and 13 of the Hire purchase agreement would mean that the L.D.A. can be called upon to execute a sale deed only after all the installments in respect of the subject property is paid, which is the last stage of relationship between purchaser and his seller. In the interregnum, paragraph 12 and 13 has to be pressed for service, in case of default of payment for continuous three regular installments on the part of the purchaser. In default, L.D.A. may terminate the agreement and after termination may reenter the property and sell it to any third party. This Court is bereft of any evidence on record, which could show that the petitioner had defaulted and on his default any action has been taken by L.D.A. or that L.D.A. has reentered the property and sold to some other third party. Neither of the sides have assisted this Court on the said aspect and the only reply which has come from L.D.A. is that they have not made any allotment to the petitioner and as such there was no question of termination or re-entry. While that question would have been pertinent to adjudicate the matter in its right perspective, especially when the matter had been pending for nearly a decade, however complacency of both the petitioner and L.D.A. in not finally getting the matter adjudicated is quite rife as the petitioner has on the one hand filed huge numbers of documents of which mostly are irrelevant to establish his allotment of the house in question, whereas on the other hand L.D.A. did not choose to file any documents to justify and substantiate its ground as mentioned in the counter affidavit. As regards the Hire purchase agreement, which forms the key to claim the allotment of the house by the petitioner is concerned, the law relating to ownership in such kind of arrangement stands settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The ratio of the judgment passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M/S Magma Fincorp Ltd. VS Rajesh Kumar Tiwari, (2020) 10 SCC 399 is relevant to the context, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court relying on its earlier judgments passed in Charanjit Singh Chadha And Ors. Vs. Sudhir Mehra, (2001) 7 SCC 417, K. L. Johar and Company Vs. Deputy Commercial Tax Officer, AIR (1965) SC 1082, Anup Sarmah Vs. Bhola Nath Sharma & Others (2013) 1 SCC 400, held that the financier, which in this case is the L.D.A., is the real owner of the house in a Hire purchase agreement. The court in that case, as it was relating to financing of the vehicle in that case, held that the financier being the owner of the vehicle which is a subject of a Hire purchase agreement, there can be no impediment to the financier taking possession of the vehicle when the hirer does not make payment of installments/hire charges in terms of the Hire purchase agreement. However, such repossession cannot be taken by recourse to physical violence, assault and/or criminal intimidation. Nor can such possession be taken by engaging gangsters, goons and muscleman or so called recovery agents. The ratio of the said judgment applies to the present case on all its four corners. Although, L.D.A. might have some right under the hire purchase agreement, but again as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court the same is subject to due process of law and L.D.A. cannot take recourse to violence, assault or intimidation, nor the said dispossession can take place with engaging goons or muscleman. We are conscious of the fact that the petitioner has filed a complaint relating to his forceful dispossession from the house in question, but it seems there is no real threat to his dispossession and as such no relief has been claimed by the petitioner against the police authorities in the writ petition. In any case, the petitioner shall always have the benefit of the settled position of law that any forceful dispossession is illegal and any dispossession has to be as per the due process of law.

16. The next issue raised in the petition is relating to the installment amount paid or the part payments made. The petitioner has heavily relied on numerous documents filed by him in the writ petition, which shows the following payments made by the petitioner; (i) Rs.46,000/- on 10.09.1996, (ii) Rs. 3000/- paid on 22.08.2005, (iii) Rs.2500/- paid on 26.08.2005, (iv) Rs.50,000/- paid on 01.03.2007, (v) Rs.26,000/- paid on 27.02.2012, (vi) Rs.50,000/- paid on 14.06.2012, and (vii) Rs.45,000/- on 21.10.2013. Although, L.D.A. has strongly objected to the receipt and veracity of these payments made by the petitioner, however, even for the sake of argument, if these payments are construed to be correct and paid to the L.D.A. for the plot/house in question, the petitioner as per his own showing has made only payments of Rs.2,22,500/- against the total amount of Rs.6,55,440/- or Rs.15,05,465/- as on 22.02.2011 as notified in the newspaper publication relied by the petitioner. Although, the petitioner has filed an application for O.T.S. in the year 2013, however again the said O.T.S. proposal/application is cryptic and does not mentions as to what demand has been raised by the L.D.A. as in 2013 or what is the offer of the petitioner under said O.T.S. In any case, the pendency of O.T.S. does not take the petitioner anywhere as the L.D.A. has been denying any relationship with the petitioner in their counter affidavit filed to the present writ petition.

17. The petitioner has strenuously relied on the aspect that his name appears in an internal document of the L.D.A., wherein it has been mentioned and proposed to open duplicate files of certain persons including the petitioner. First and foremost, this court was unable to elicit any answer from the parties as to how and in what perspective these duplicate files were to be opened by the L.D.A. Secondly, since it was an internal document of L.D.A., how the petitioner was able to lay his hands on the said document and finally it is no body's case as to what eventually happened to this document and as to whether it was acted upon by the L.D.A. and as to any duplicate files were actually opened by the petitioner or not as pertinently the said internal communication not only mentions the name of the petitioner, but also 31 other persons.

18. There is another aspect of the matter, as per the own showing of the petitioner a default list was published by the L.D.A. on 22.02.2011, which mentions the name of the petitioner as defaulter for Rs.15,05,465/-, which the petitioner may argue to show that he is a bona fide allottee, however in the same breath it also means that the petitioner had admitted to be defaulting in payment as it is for that reason only that his name might have appeared in the default list published by the L.D.A. Additionally, the petitioner has referred to news clip of Amar Ujala dated 20.03.2016, 16.07.2015 and 24.01.2018, Hindustan dated 18.01.2018 to further his point that fabrication of registry is rampant in L.D.A. and 18 plots have been found to be having a forged registry against the total enquiry of 40 plots. This Court fails to understand as to how this newspaper clipping would further the case of the petitioner. The enquiry relating to 40 plots having been initiated by the L.D.A. and actions being proposed against the delinquent officers of L.D.A. and a having F.I.R. filed against the erring officers of L.D.A., in fact dilutes the case of the petitioner and furthers the case of the opposite party-L.D.A., who has been consistently in the counter affidavit denying any relationship and terming all the documents filed by the petitioner as forged. In any case, the evidentry significance of these newspapers clippings cannot be taken into consideration in this summary proceedings. The Hon'b;e Supreme Court of India in the case of Laxmi Raj Shetty and anotehr Vs. State Of Tamil Nadu, [(1988) AIR 1274], held as follows:

"Judicial notice cannot be taken of the facts stated in a news item being in the nature of hearsay secondary evidence, unless proved by evidence aliunde. A report in a newspaper is the only hearsay evidence. A newspaper is not one of the documents referred to in Section 78 (2) of the Evidence Act, by which an allegation of fact can be proved.

The presumption of genuineness attached under Section 81 of the Evidence Act to a newspaper report cannot be treated as proof of facts reported therein. It is now well-settled that a statement of fact contained in a newspaper is merely hearsay and, therefore, inadmissible in evidence in the absence of the maker of the statement appearing in Court and deposing to have perceived the fact reported."

19. The next point raised by the petitioner is relating to payment of various electricity bills, water bills and the house tax paid to the concerned authorities over a passage of time for the house in question. Although, the respondent/L.D.A. has given an innocuous reply that the same has been obtained on the basis of forged documents, but again neither of the parties have taken pain to prove this document, which could be by way of leading evidence. No doubt the electricity bills, water bills and house tax gives an impression of the possession of the plot / house, but as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in several occasions that the title of the property can be proved by documents like sale deed, gift deed, will etc. The courts have been very slow even in recognizing the title of the property by virtue of the mutation in the name of revenue records. The Hon'ble Apex Court has consistently held that mutation of a land in the revenue records does not create or extinguish the title over a land nor it has any presumptive value on the title. It only enables the person in whose favour mutation is ordered to pay the land revenue in question. [See: Sawarni (Smt.) Vs. Inder Kaur (Smt.) (1996) 6 SCC 223, Balwant Singh And another Vs. Daulat Singh (Dead) By Lrs. And Others, (1997) 7 SCC 127 and Narasamma and Others v. State Of Karnataka and Others (2009) 5 SCC 591]. Thus, although the payments of electricity bills, water bills and house tax have relevance relating to the possession of the house by the petitioner, but the allotment and the right flowing from the hire purchase agreement has to be adjudicated and proved by leading evidence in a competent court of civil jurisdiction.

20. It is settled law that, when there is an alternative efficacious remedy available, the special and extraordinary remedy available under Article 226 of the Constitution of India cannot be exercised. The question as to whether the petitioner is entitled to registry and retain possession of the house in question are all pure questions of facts and could be answered one way or the other only by the Civil Court in a properly instituted civil suit on the basis of evidence adduced by the parties but not in a writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

21. It has been consistently held by Hon'ble Supreme Court as in the case of Roshina T Vs. Abdul Azeez K.T., (2018) SCC Online 2654, that "the High Court cannot allow its constitutional jurisdiction to be used for deciding disputes, for which remedies under the general law whether civil or criminal are available." and that the writ jurisdiction of the Court "is not intended to replace the ordinary remedies by way of a civil suit or application available to an aggrieved person." The proposition is emphasized by the subsequent sentence which states that the decision of the writ court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India being special and extraordinary, should not be exercised casually or lightly or merely on the asking of the litigant. Paras 13 to 15 of the said judgment relevant to the context read thus:

"13. The question as to who is the owner of the flat in question, whether respondent No. 1 was/is in possession of the flat and, if so, from which date, how and in what circumstances, he claimed to be in its possession, whether his possession could be regarded as legal or not qua its real owner etc. were some of the material questions which arose for consideration in the writ petition.

14. These questions, in our view, were pure questions of fact and could be answered one way or the other only by the Civil Court in a properly constituted civil suit and on the basis of the evidence adduced by the parties but not in a writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution by the High Court.

15. It has been consistently held by this Court that a regular suit is the appropriate remedy for settlement of the disputes relating to property rights between the private persons. The remedy under Article 226 of the Constitution shall not be available except where violation of some statutory duty on the part of statutory authority is alleged. In such cases, the Court has jurisdiction to issue appropriate directions to the authority concerned. It is held that the High Court cannot allow its constitutional jurisdiction to be used for deciding disputes, for which remedies under the general law, civil or criminal are available. This Court has held that it is not intended to replace the ordinary remedies by way of a civil suit or application available to an aggrieved person. The jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution being special and extraordinary, it should not be exercised casually or lightly on mere asking by the litigant."

22. The facts of the case as discussed above and also as culled out from the pleadings of the respective parties available on the record lead to the only indefeasible conclusion that there exist serious disputed question of facts which cannot be adjudicated in a writ petition. The petitioner claims to be the purchaser of the property in question. However, it appears that the respondents are disputing the said allotment. How, when and under what circumstances, the petitioner was allotted and came into possession of the property in question and as to whether the petitioner is entitled for registry of the said property is to be ascertained as per the subsisting rights between the parties flowing from the hire purchase agreement or any subsequent development. All these facts, according to this court, have to be established by leading evidence in accordance with law. The petitioner has to establish its right under the law to claim the substantial reliefs as claimed in the present writ petition.

23. In view of the facts and the reasoning discussed hereinabove, this court is not inclined to exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed. The petitioner is however at liberty to pursue other remedies as available under the law for establishing his rights to claim substantial reliefs as claimed under this writ petition. It is clarified that this Court has examined the matter on the limited issue on its maintainability and no opinion has been expressed on the merits of the petition.

24. Resultantly, the writ petition is dismissed and all interim orders stand vacated.

25. Before parting with the case, we find it appropriate to observe that the manner in which the officers and authorities of the Lucknow Development Authority have conducted themselves in this case, cannot be appreciated. The stand of the Lucknow Development Authority is that the documents relating to the allotment of House No.M/213/G, Kanpur Road, Lucknow is not available in their records and forged, thus in the background of the above narrated fact, how the money deposited by the petitioner was adjusted as is apparent from the records remains unexplained by the Lucknow Development Authority. In absence of allotment of house No.M/213/G, Kanpur Road, Lucknow, how the L.D.A. could have published the default list and mention the name of the petitioner corresponding to the house in question the internal correspondence and the records of L.D.A. also remains a mystery. The facts of the case compel us to observe that the officers of the Lucknow Development Authority and the administration thereof have been extremely lackadaisical in performing their duties. It is high time that these officers self-introspect and take extraordinary measures which will improve its working so that the development authority is able to discharge its statutory functions entrusted under the Uttar Pradesh Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973. We hope and expect that the top administration of Lucknow Development Authority take notice of the observation of this Court and take appropriate steps not only to put its house in order, but also improve its functioning and administration in the future, keeping in view the solemn discharge of its duty of planning, developing and providing housing solutions effecting the public at large.

26. There shall be no order as to the costs.

Order on C.M. Application No. 02 of 2022 (Application for Condonation of Delay)

1. Heard learned State counsel representing the appellant- State authorities, Sri Pradeep Chandola and Sri Abhishek Dwivedi, learned counsel representing the respondent no.1- petitioner and Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel representing the Vice-Chancellor, Lucknow University, Lucknow.

2. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the averments made in the application seeking condonation of delay, we are satisfied that the delay has sufficiently been explained.

3. Accordingly the application is allowed and the delay in preferring the special appeal is hereby condoned.

Order on Special Appeal

1. Heard the learned counsel representing the respective parties and perused the record available before us on this special appeal.

2. By means of this intra-court appeal instituted under the provisions of Chapter VIII Rule V of the Rules of the Court, the State authorities have laid a challenge to the judgement and order dated 14.12.2020 passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No. 24316 (SS) of 2020, whereby the writ petition filed by the respondent no.1- petitioner was allowed with a direction to the appellant - State authorities to provide her benefit of leave encashment. Learned Single Judge while allowing the said writ petition and ordering to extend the benefit of leave encashment to the respondent no.1-petitioner has relied upon a judgement passed by another learned Single Judge, dated 27.05.2019 rendered in the case of Ram Kumar and others versus State of UP and others; Writ-A No.62389 of 2014.

3. Impeaching the judgement and order passed by learned Single Judge, learned State counsel has vehmentaly argued that the judgement and order under appeal herein is erroneous and as a matter of fact the judgement rendered by the Court in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) requires a re-look for the reason that the relevant provisions contained in the Financial Handbook which govern leave rules and matter related thereto, including leave encashment, have not been taken into consideration by learned Single Judge while deciding the case of Ram Kumar (supra). It has been argued by learned State counsel that in terms of provisions contained in Fundamental Rules 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook (Volume II, Part II to IV), in absence of any Government Orders having been issued by the State Government allowing leave encashment to an employee of an Associated College of Lucknow University, the respondent no.1- petitioner is not entitled to the said benefit. It has, thus, been argued that this aspect of the matter does not appear to have been considered by the learned Single Judge in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) and accordingly it is not only that the judgement in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) is erroneous but also that reliance placed by learned Single Judge while passing the judgement and order under appeal herein also suffers from the said error.

4. On the other hand learned counsel for the respondent No.1-petitioner has submitted that the judgement in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) is based on elaborate discussion of the provisions contained in the U.P. State Universities Act 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "the 1973 Act), the first Statutes of the University concerned and the provision of Fundamental Rules 58 to 104 including sub-Rule 1 and 2 of Rule 81-B, and hence neither the said judgement in the case of Ram Kumar need any re-look, nor the judgement and order under appeal herein warrants any interference by this Court in this Special Appeal.

5. Sri Anurag Kumar Singh representing the University has stated that there is no irregularity in the judgement and order under appeal in this case and the special appeal is thus liable to be dismissed.

6. We have given our anxious consideration to the rival submissions made by learned counsel representing the respective parties.

7. Respondent No.1- petitioner was employed with Nari Siksha Niketan Post Graduate College, Lucknow against a Class III post, who after serving the said institution retired on 31.03.2018 on attaining the age of superannuation. Nari Siksha Niketan Post Graduate College is an Associated College listed at serial number 14 of the list of Colleges mentioned in the Statute 13.01 of the First Statutes of Lucknow University. "Associated College' under the 1973 Act has been defined to mean, in section 2 (4), any institution recognised by the University as such. Similarly "Affiliated College' has been defined in Section 2 (2) of the 1973 Act to mean any institution affiliated to the University in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the Statutes of that University. Section 37 which falls under Chapter VII of the 1973 Act provides for affiliation and recognition of the affiliated colleges and as per Section 37 (1), the said provision does not apply so far as the University of Lucknow is concerned. In other words, in Lucknow University there are no affiliated colleges rather Associated Colleges and other category of educational institutions such as Constituent Colleges and Institute etc. The provision relating to Associated Colleges is found in Section 38 of the 1973 Act which clearly provides that the said provision shall apply to the University of Lucknow.

8. Thus as per the scheme of 1973 Act, there is no concept of affiliated colleges so far as Lucknow University is concerned and similarly there is no concept as Associated Colleges so far as other State universities are concerned. This distinction became necessary for us to discuss for the reason that the judgement under appeal is based on the judgement in the case of Ram Kumar (supra), who was an employee of an affiliated college of Chaudhary Charan Singh Meerut University, Meerut and the relevant Statute available in the first Statutes of the Meerut University applicable in the case of employees working in an affiliated college has been quoted and relied upon in Ram Kumar's case. The said distinction also became necessary for us to discuss for the reason that the learned Single Judge in the judgement and order under appeal in this case has relied upon in the case of Ram Kumar (supra), which is based on the first Statutes applicable to the employees of affiliated colleges of Meerut University, whereas the claim in the instant case of the respondent No.1- petitioner is based on the relevant Statute of the First Statutes of the Lucknow University applicable to the non-teaching staff of Associated Colleges.

9. However, the relevant Statute governing the conditions of service of the non-teaching staff of Meerut University is couched in identical language as the relevant Statute which governs the condition of service of a class III employee working in the Associated Colleges of Lucknow University.

10. Statute 36.01 of the First Statutes of Meerut University is quoted here under:-

"36.01: The leave rules applicable to the Government servants from time to time shall mutatis mutandis apply to the employees of like satute."

11. The Statute which is relevant for resolving the issue involved in this matter is Statute 37.01 of First Statutes of Lucknow University, which is also extracted herein below:-

"37.01 Leave- The leave rules applicable to the Government servants from time to time shall mutatis mutandis apply to the employees of like status."

12. Thus there is no doubt that Statute 37.01 of the First Statutes of the Lucknow University and the Statute 36.01 of the First Statutes of Meerut University are akin to each other and accordingly any decision in this matter will necessarily require the discussion in relation to and consideration of judgement in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) rendered by learned Single Judge.

13. We may, at this juncture, notice that Statute 37.01 of the Lucknow University falls in Chapter XXIII of the First Statutes which is in relation to, "Qualification and Conditions of Service of non-Teaching Staff of the Associated Colleges". Statute 37.01 clearly and categorically states that leave rules applicable to the government servants from time to time shall apply to the employees of the Associated Colleges of like status mutatis mutandis. Employees of like status mentioned in Statute 37.01 refers to the non-teaching staff of the Associated Colleges. Admittedly, the respondent No.1 - petitioner was employed against a class III post in an Associated College of Lucknow University, as such she will be governed in the matters of leave by Statute 37.01 of the First Statutes of the Lucknow University. There is no ambiguity in our mind regarding applicability of leave rules which govern the State Government employees, to the employees of an Associated College of Lucknow University.

14. We, thus, now need to examine as to what are the leave rules applicable to the State Government employees. There is no dispute at the bar that leave rules applicable to the State Government employees can be found under Chapter X, Section I of the Financial Handbook (Volume II, Part II to IV). The leave in respect of the State Government employees is thus governed by Fundamental Rules 58 to 104 of the Financial Handbook.

15. Fundamental Rules 81-B (1) of the Financial Handbook provides for certain leave rules applicable to the State Government employees. Rule 81-B (1) states that the procedure given therein shall be deemed to have come into force with effect from 01.01.1978 in regard to the calculation of earned leave in respect of the State Government employees. Clause 1 of Rule 81-B of the Fundamental Rules contains various other sub-clause from (i) to (xii). Sub-Clause xii of Clause 1 of Rule 81-B runs as under:-

"(xii) A Government servant may be permitted to surrender a portion of earned leave at his credit and allowed cash payment in lieu thereof in accordance with the orders issued by Government, in this regard, from time to time."

16. There cannot be any dispute that in terms of the provisions contained in Statute 37.01 as quoted above sub-clause (xii) of Clause 1 of Rule 81-B will have its application to the employees working in the Associated Colleges of Lucknow University by virtue of express provision that leave rules as applicable to the State Government employees shall apply to the employees of Associated Colleges as well. We do not have any doubt that provisions contained in sub-clause (xii) of Clause I of Rule 81-B will have application in case of respondent No.1 - petitioner as well.

17. We are also of the considered opinion that the kind of language in which sub-clause (xii) of Clause I of Fundamental Rules 81-B is framed gives a substantive right to an employee to surrender a portion of earned leave available in his credit and to ask for cash payment in lieu thereof. In other words, the said provision confers a substantive right upon a Government servant to surrender a portion of earned leave and seek encashment instead of the leave.

18. By virtue of Statute 37.01, the petitioner as well, is thus conferred with the substantive right of surrendering a portion of her earned leave which might be available in her credit and to seek cash payment in lieu of such surrender of the earned leave.

19. The only issue/ question which has been raised by learned counsel for the State-Appellant is that so far as the State Government employees are concerned, the State Government has issued orders from time to time and payment of leave encashment in terms of the provisions contained in Rule 81-B(1)(xii) is permissible only in accordance with the Government Orders, however in case of employees of Associated Colleges, till date no Government Order has been issued. In this view, the submission is that in absence of any Government Order having been issued as per the requirement of sub-clause (xii) of Clause I of Fundamental Rule 81-B, the respondent No.1 - petitioner is not entitled to leave encashment.

20. Learned State Counsel has drawn our attention to a Government Order dated 26.04.1978 which provides that benefit of leave encashment will be available to the State Government employees equivalent to maximum of 180 days leave. The said Government Order also provides that benefit of leave encashment will be available after the Government employee attains the age of superannuation and retires and accordingly in terms of the formula for payment given in the said Government Order, a government employee shall be paid the amount of leave encashment at the time of his retirement.

21. Learned State Counsel while arguing further has also drawn our attention to yet another Government Order dated 01.07.1999, according to which the benefit of leave encashment was enhanced from 180 days to 300 days' earned leave. His submission, thus, is that so far as the State Government employees are concerned, the Government Order from time to time have been issued and accordingly they are entitled to the benefit of leave encashment, however in the case of employees working in the Associated College of Lucknow University, since the State Government has not issued any Government Order as such they are not entitled for payment of leave encashment.

22. Emphasis of the learned State Counsel is on the occurrence of the words, "in accordance with the orders issued by the Government in this regard, from time to time" as can be found in Clause 81-B (1)(xii) of the Fundamental Rules. When we examine and consider the aforesaid arguments advanced by the learned State counsel, we do not find ourselves in agreement with the same for the reasons which follows.

23. If we scrutinize the two Government Orders as pointed out by learned State Counsel, namely, Government Order dated 26.04.1978 and 01.07.1999, what we find is that the said Government Orders do not in any manner accord or vest any substantive right of leave encashment. The Government Orders only provide the point of time at which an employee shall be entitled to encash his/ her earned leave and the extent of the amount to be paid in lieu of the earned leave. As already pointed out, the first Government Order dated 26.04.1978 provides that the Government Employee shall be entitled to benefit of leave encashment at the time when he retires on his attaining the age of superannuation. This Government Order further provides that a Government employee shall be entitled to leave encashment up to 180 days of earned leave. Similarly the Government Order dated 01.07.1999 provides that leave encashment will be permitted upto 300 days earned leave. Thus, the Government Orders determine two things, firstly, the point of time when the employee shall be entitled to encash her earned leave and secondly, the extent or quantum of leave encashment admissible. Thus, Government Orders do not, clearly, create or vest any right in the employees so far as payment of leave encashment is concerned. The substantive right available to the employees is referable to the provisions Rule 81-B (1) (XII) of the Fundamental Rules.

24. In our considered opinion, the substantive right of leave encashment to an employee flows from the provisions contained in Fundamental Rule 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook. The said provision of the Fundamental Rules confers right rather, substantive right upon an employee to surrender a portion of his/her earned leave and claim encashment in lieu thereof. The occurrence of the phrase "in accordance with the orders issued by the State Government, in this regard from time to time", in our considered opinion only permits the State Government to prescribe the manner in which leave encashment is to be made avaialble. Thus the Government Orders issued from time to time do not confer the substantive right of claiming leave encashment which rather flows from the earlier part of provision contained in Fundamental Rule 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook.

25. In other words, sub-clause (xii) of Fundamental Rule 81-B (1) after conferring the right in a State Government to encash a portion of his earned leave only permits the State Government to issue Government Orders for the purposes of prescribing the procedure etc. "In accordance with the orders" clearly refers to the nature of Government Orders which may be issued by the State Government which may be referable to the provision contained in Rule 81-B(1)(xii).

26. In view of the aforesaid discussion, insistence of the learned State Counsel that for entitling any Government servant to leave encashment, it is necessary that Government Order should be issued and unless and until the Government Order is issued, a Government employee will not be entitled to leave encashment, in our considered opinion, is fallacious and such an argument is clearly based upon a complete misreading of the provisions of Fundamental Rule 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook.

27. So far as the respondent no.1- pettioner is concerned, as already observed above, she retired from a Class III post working in an Associated College of Lucknow University and Statute 37.01 of the First Statute of the Lucknow University clearly provides that leave rules applicable to the employees of Associated Colleges will be the same as are applicable to the Government servant. Accordingly, we are of the considered opinion that Fundamental Rule 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook will be applicable to the respondent no.1- petitioner as well and further that the said provision confers a right upon the respondent no.1- petitioner to surrender a portion of her earned leave and encash the same. Merely because the State Government has not issued any Government Order prescribing the manner and quantum and point of time etc. for leave encashment, will not, in our opinion, dis-entitle the respondent no.1-petitioner to seek the benefit of leave encashment. We may also emphasise that while framing Statute 37.01, the Statute making authority was conscious and accordingly it has used latin phrase "mutatis mutandis" in the said provision. The purpose of using such a phrase in the First Statute is not difficult to gather. In our opinion the intention of the Statute making authority/ body was clear and infact it intended to provide all the leave benefits to the employees of Associated College, which are applicable on and available to a Government employee.

28. There is yet another aspect of the matter which cannot be lost sight of. The respondent no.1- petitioner has been legitimately expecting throughout her service career that she shall be entitled to the leave encashment in terms of the provisions contained in Statute 37.01 and accordingly instead of availing the leaves, which she could have, she rather allowed certain number of leaves to be credited in her leave account. In such a view of the matter, the stand being now taken by the State Government is not only contrary to the statutory prescription available in the Statute 37.01 read with Fundamental Rules 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook but is also against the principle of legitimate expectation.

29. So far as the reliance placed by learned Single Judge in the judgment under Appeal before us on the judgement by another learned Single Judge in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) is concerned, the only difference in the facts of these two cases is that the employee in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) was employed with an Affiliated College of Meerut University, whereas in the present case the respondent no.1-petitioner was employed with the Associated College of Lucknow University. The Statute 36.01 of the First Statute of Meerut University, as already noticed above, is identically worded as Statute 37.01 of the First Satutes of Lucknow University. Learned Single Judge in the case of Ram Kumar (supra) has elaborately discussed the provisions of relevant Statute and those of the Financial Handbook including the Fundamental Rules 81-B (1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook and has concluded that in view of the said provisions, the benefit of leave encashment is available to an employee of a Affiliated College of Meerut University.

30. It has also been argued by learned counsel for the appellant- State authorities that in view of the provisions contained in Section 21(3), no expenditure where approval of State Government is required by the 1973 Act or the Statute or the Ordinances, shall be incurred except with such approval previously obtained from the State Government and since there is no approval accorded by the State Government for payment of leave encashment, which will of course be an expenditure, the respondent no.1-petitioner is not entitled to the benefit of the leave encashment.

31. On behalf of the appellant it has further been urged that in terms of the provisions contained in sub-section (4) of Section 21 of the 1973 Act, pay and other allowances to various categories of employees of the University or any Institute or a Constituent or Affiliated or Associated College shall be such as may be approved by the State Government. The submission is that leave encashment forms part of pay and unless and until this is approved by the State Government the respondent no.1- petitioner will not be entitled to leave encashment.

32. When we examine sub-clause (3) of Section 21, what we find is that approval of the State Government is required only in a situation where expenditure can be incurred by the University for which approval of the State Government is required either under the 1973 Act or under the first Statute or Ordinance. Learned counsel representing the appellant has utterly failed to show that there is any requirement of approval for expenditure for meeting the expenditure in making payment of leave encashment either under the 1973 Act or in the first Statutes or in the Ordinances of Lucknow University. On the contrary, so far as the leave related matters are concerned, Statute 37.01 is clear, according to which the said matters shall be governed by the Rules applicable to the State Government employees. There being specific provision in Statute 37.01 regarding applicability of leave rules applicable to the government employees, we are of the opinion that all the leave rules applicable to the State Government employees as are contained in the Fundamental Rules will have application in case of the respondent no.1- petitioner as well and thus she is legally entitled for grant of benefit of leave encashment as per the conferment of rights in terms of Fundamental Rule 81-B(1)(xii) of the Financial Handbook.

33. So far as the arguments based on sub-Section (4) of Section 21 of the 1973 Act is concerned, we find that the said issue has been considered by the learned Single Judge in the case of Ram Kumar (supra), wherein it has been observed that such argument would have been justified in case a provision such as Statute 36.01 (in case of Meerut University which is akin to Statute 37.01 applicable to the Lucknow University) was not in existence in the first Statutes and no approval was granted by the Sate Government in that regard. The reasoning given by learned Single Judge in the case of the Ram Kumar (supra) appears to be correct. The argument based on Section 21(4) could be said to be available to the learned State Counsel only in absence of the provisions which are contained in Statute 37.01 of the First Statutes.

34. For the reasons aforesaid, we are unable to find ourselves in agreement with the submission made by the learned counsel for the appellant- State authorities. The judgment and order passed by learned Single Judge which is under Appeal herein does not warrant any interference by us in this Special Appeal.

35. The Special Appeal is thus dismissed.

36. However, there will be no order as to Costs.

A. Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Maintainability – Committee of management dispute – Bye-Laws authorized the Manager to initiate proceeding in a Court of Law, however, the proceeding was initiated by the President – Proceeding by the President in individual capacity – Permissibility – Word 'pairvi' in the Bye-Laws of the society – Scope defined – Held, word "pairvi" in common parlance implies that all proceedings including institution of legal proceedings in a Court of Law is to be done by the Manager and as such, there appears to be some force in the preliminary objection – However, the Court finds that even if the writ petition is held to be not maintainable by the Committee of Management through its President, it is certainly maintainable by the President in his/her individual capacity. (Para 10)

B. Societies Registration Act, 1860 – Sections 4(1) & 25(1) – Election – Dispute or doubt – Duty of Assistant Registrar to refer the dispute, when can be discharged – Assistant Registrar found the rival claim not bonafide – Validity challenged – Held, only genuine rival claim / disputes or doubts about the office bearers of the Society are required to be referred for adjudication by Prescribed Authority under Section 25 (1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and the Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits while referring the dispute is not to function as a post office/rubber stamp – High Court found no error in the order of the Assistant Registrar to proceed u/s 4(1) . 3. Committee of Management, Rashtriya Junior High School (Society) Vs The Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits & ors.; 2005 (61) ALR 74

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri Indra Raj Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri G. K. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Anshu Chaudhary, leaned counsel appearing for the caveator-respondent No. 3. The learned Standing Counsel has appeared on behalf of respondent No. 1 & 2.

2. The challenge laid in the writ petition is to an order dated 2.6.2022 passed by the Assistant Registrar, Firms Societies and Chits, Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh / respondent No. 1 whereby and whereunder, the claim of the petitioner No. 2 to hold the post of President of the Committee of Management has been negated while the claim of the respondent No. 3 has been approved.

3. The facts shorn of unnecessary details, necessary for the purposes of adjudicating the controversy involved in the instant writ petition, briefly, stated are that there is a Society in the name and style of "Maulana Abdul Kalaam Azad Education Society, Gram Aadedhi, Post Umapur, Tehsil Sadar, Janpad Mau" duly registered under the provisions of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Society has its approved bye laws and the Certificate of Registration is renewed from time to time. The Society has established and runs an educational institution in the name of Maulana Abdul Kalaam Azad Alpsankhayak Shikshak Prasikshan Sansthan, Pardaha, Mau which is duly recognized under the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 and is managed by recognized Committee of Management whose term is five years. The Certificate of Registration of the Society was lastly renewed vide order dated 16.10.2019 by the Assistant Registrar/ respondent No. 1 for a period of five years on the proceedings submitted by Shri Mohd. Javed as Manager and Shri Amit Kumar Singh, as President of the Committee of Management of the Society.

4. The General Body of the Society in its meeting held on 7.2.2021 presided over by the President Amit Kumar Singh resolved to induct at least two new members and in furtherance thereof an Advertisement dated 9.2.2021 was published in the News Daily "Devbrat", Azamgarh. The petitioner No. 2 Smt. Mridula Mishra and one Nisha Khan are stated to have been inducted as Life Members of the General Body of the Society. Meanwhile, Shri Amit Kumar Singh, the recognized President is stated to have died on 16.4.2021. The Vice President, Shri Wahadullah is stated to be residing in a foreign country. A meeting of the General Body is stated to have been held on 3.10.2021 and the petitioner No. 2 is stated to have been elected as President against the casual vacancy occurred on the death of the President Shri Amit Kumar Singh, for the remaining term of the Committee of Management of the Society. The petitioner No.2 is stated to have submitted the proceedings along with an application dated 12.11.2021. Another set of proceedings were submitted by one Gulam Nabhi alleging himself to be Manager and Ajit Kumar Singh, as President with the Assistant Registrar / respondent No. 1.

5. The Assistant Registrar, Firms Societies and Chits, Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh/respondent No. 1 issued notices to both the rival claimants and after hearing them reserved the judgment on 12.5.2022. By the impugned judgment dated 2.6.2022, the respondent No. 1 has proceeded to reject the claim of the petitioner No. 2 and has approved the proceedings submitted by Gulam Nabhi. The said order is under challenge in the present writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioners has assailed the order dated 2.6.2022 principally on the ground that:- the respondent No. 1 even after reserving the judgment after hearing the parties on 12.5.2022 has relied upon documents submitted by the rival claimant Gulam Nabhi on 20.5.2022 even without serving a copy of the same upon the petitioners.

the petitioners had submitted written arguments with certain documents and application on 19.5.2022, but the respondent No. 1 failed to consider the same in a prospective manner.

the impugned order has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice.

the impugned order is without jurisdiction inasmuch as the Assistant Registrar is not vested with powers under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 to adjudicate any doubt or dispute with regard to the office bearers of the Society and the dispute was liable to be referred under Section 25 (I) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners Shri Indra Raj Singh in order to buttress his arguments has placed reliance upon the decisions in case of Gram Shiksha Sudhar Samiti Junior High School Sikandra District Manpur Dehat and another Vs. Registrar Firms, Societies and Chits, U.P. Lucknow and others reported in 2010 (3) UPLBEC 2522 (Paras 7, 8 & 9) and in case of Ramadhar Shashtri & Anr. Vs. Deputy Director of Education, IV Region, Allahabad & Ors., reported in 1987 UPLBEC 14 (Paras 2, 3 & 4).

8. A preliminary objection as to the maintainability of the writ petition at the instance of the petitioner No. 2 describing herself as the President of the Committee of Management has been raised by Shri G. K. Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Shri Anshu Chaudhary, learned counsel representing the respondent No. 3. The objection proceeds on the premise that under the approved bye laws of the Society proceedings in a Court of Law on behalf of the Society can be maintained on behalf of the Manager of the Society and the President is not authorized to maintain the proceedings.

9. Considering the aspect of the preliminary objection regarding the maintainability of the writ petition, the Court finds that Clause 14 of the approved bye laws of the Society which have been brought on record as Annexure-1 to the writ petition provides that the pairvi of the legal proceedings for and against the Society is to be done by the Manager.

10. In the opinion of the Court, the word "pairvi" in common parlance implies that all proceedings including institution of legal proceedings in a Court of Law is to be done by the Manager and as such, there appears to be some force in the preliminary objection raised by the learned counsel for the respondent. However, the Court finds that the President of the Society has arrayed herself as petitioner No. 2 and even if the writ petition is held to be not maintainable by the Committee of Management through its President, it is certainly maintainable by the President in his/her individual capacity. In such view of the matter, the preliminary objection raised about the non maintainability of the writ petition is overruled. The writ petition is held to be maintainable.

11. Now coming to the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner No. 2, on the merits, the Court finds that the Assistant Registrar in the impugned order has clearly recorded the factum that arguments of the parties were heard on 12.5.2022 and the judgment was reserved. It was agreed between the parties that they would submit written submissions and original documents by 20.5.2022. In pursuance to the order dated 12.5.2022, Shri Gulam Nabhi submitted the original documents pertaining to the proceedings while Smt. Mridula Mishra failed to produce any original documents and only submitted her written arguments. The Court is not impressed with the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the respondent No. 1 even after reserving the judgment, after hearing the parties on 12.5.2022 relied upon documents submitted by Gulam Nabhi on 20.5.2022 inasmuch as it had been agreed between the parties to do so. The respondent No. 1 had permitted the original records to be filed. Shri Gulam Nabhi filed the original records, but Smt. Mridula Mishra, petitioner No. 2 failed to filed any original documents and pleaded that the documents had been stolen as an after thought. The case law relied upon by the learned counsel reported in Ramadhar Shashtri's case (supra) is clearly distinguishable on facts as in that case the Deputy Director permitted both parties to file documents after hearing the case on his own, but in the case at hand, the parties had themselves agreed to submit the original records by a particular date. The impugned order cannot be said to have been passed in violation of principal of natural justice as ample equal opportunity had been given to the petitioner No. 2 to establish her case.

12. It has also been argued that the impugned order dated 2.6.2022 passed by the Assistant Registrar/respondent No. 1 is without jurisdiction inasmuch as instead of referring the rival claims set up before him under Section 25 (I) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, the Assistant Registrar proceeded to adjudicate the doubt or dispute with regard to the office bearers of the Society. Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon the decision of Division Bench of this Court reported in Gram Shiksha Sudhar Samiti's case (supra). There can be no quarrel about the law laid down by Their Lordships in the decision reported in Gram Shiksha Sudhar Samiti's case (supra). However, the Court is of the opinion that only genuine rival claim / disputes or doubts about the office bearers of the Society are required to be referred for adjudication by Prescribed Authority under Section 25 (i) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and the Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits while referring the dispute is not to function as a post office/rubber stamp.

Sufficient, prima facie, material must be produced before the Registrar before he can validly exercise his jurisdiction of referring the dispute.

13. In the case at hand, the Assistant Registrar while, prima facie, considering the existence of a bona fide dispute regarding the office bearers of the Society has recorded in his order that in the typed copy of the proceedings submitted along with her application / objection dated 12.11.2021, the petitioner No. 2 Smt. Mridula Mishra, the details of the number of members of present are not mentioned. It has also not been mentioned as to who convened the meeting of the General Body and who informed the members. The said aspect has neither been clarified nor any evidence has been filed in support thereof. In the absence of proof of convening the meeting as per the registered bye laws of the Society, the proceedings submitted by Smt. Mridula Mishra appears to be doubtful. Besides the above, the Assistant Registrar has in its order recorded the factum that in respect of the meeting of the General Body on 3.10.2021 in which the vacant post of the President Shri Amit Kumar Singh has been filled up by Smt. Mridula Mishra. Much prior to the said date on 15.4.2021, the President Shri Amit Kumar Singh is stated to have expired and in terms of Rule 10, the then Manager Mohd. Javed was authorized to convene the meeting of the General Body on 3.10.2021 and send information to the members. No statement has been made by Smt. Mridula Mishra that the meeting had been convened by Mohd. Javed nor any document to that effect has been presented. In contrast to the above, much before the submission of the proceedings on 12.11.2021 i.e. 28.5.2021, the proceedings of filling the casual vacancy of the post of President has been submitted by Mr. Mohd. Javed on 29.4.2021. The Assistant Registrar has on this basis returned a finding that the meeting of the General Body convened on 3.10.2021 was convened unauthorizedly and is void since the beginning. In contract to the above, the proceedings presented by Shri Gulam Nabhi and available in the office file have been found to confirm to the original records and as per the approved bye laws, the Assistant Registrar thus concluded that the application/objection dated 12.11.2021 submitted by the petitioner No. 2 Smt. Mridula Mishra as President and the proceedings attached with the objections are not found in accordance with the registered bye laws of the Society. In substance the Assistant Registrar has found that the rival claim set up by the petitioner No. 2 Smt. Mridula Mishra is not bona fide and accordingly has declined to refer the dispute to the prescribed authority under Section 25 (I) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and has ordered for proceeding under Section 4 (1) of the Act in respect of the proceedings submitted by Gulam Nabhi.

14. The Court finds no error in the view taken by the Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits in refusing to refer the rival disputes for adjudication to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25 (I) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 so as to warrant any interference in exercise of writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The view of the Assistant Registrar is in consonance with the ratio of the decision of a Division Bench of this Court reported in Committee of Management, Rashtriya Junior High School (Society), Babhaniyaon, District Jaunpur versus The Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Varanasi Region, Varanasi and others, 2005 (61)

ALR 74 decided on 11.8.2005. The relevant paragraph 4 of the aforesaid decision is being reproduced hereunder:-

"4. It is the standard law that if any bona fide dispute as to two rival Committees of Managements is shown to be in existence to the Registrar or Assistant Registrar, a reference by him of the dispute to the Prescribed Authority follows as a matter of course. But a bona fide dispute does come into existence merely because one member, even if he is a founder member, chooses simply to he has say or assert that he has a rival Committee and therefore, a bona fide dispute as to Management exists. Sufficient prima facie material must be produced before the Registrar before he can validly exercise his jurisdiction of referring the dispute. He must, simply put, be satisfied that there is something to refer and he is not merely sending litigations before the Prescribed Authority, without there being even a shadow of real cause for litigation."

15. In view of the above, the writ petition lacks merit. It is accordingly dismissed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.

1. This writ petition has been filed challenging an order dated 26th May, 2022 passed by the State Government declining to declare proceedings for acquisition of the petitioner's land comprised of Gata No. 340/1, measuring 0-10-3 (0.12836 hectares), situate in Village Kunda, District Meerut lapsed under Section 24(2) of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 (for short, "the Act of 2013').

2. Heard Mr. Vivek Saran, learned Counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Rajeev Singh, learned Standing Counsel for appearing on behalf of respondent Nos. 1 to 4 and Mr. J.N. Maurya, learned Counsel appearing for respondent No. 5.

3. The facts leading to this petition are that large tracts of land, part of Revenue Villages of Achraunda, Kanchanpur Ghopla, Kansa, Nagla Sherkho, Kunda and Rithani in District Meerut were proposed to be acquired for the purpose of development of Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna, Meerut. A notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (for short, "the Act of 1894) dated 14.08.1987 was issued. The aforesaid notification was followed by a declaration under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act of 1894 dated 04.09.1987. Award for the land acquired was announced on 22.02.1990, which was amended on 15.03.1990 and 25.06.1990. A part of this acquisition was a plot bearing No. 340/1, measuring 0-10-3 (0.12836 hectares) in Village Kunda, District Meerut. The aforesaid land belongs to the petitioner, Smt. Kamla Devi. The dispute in this writ petition relates to the aforesaid plot, which shall be hereinafter referred to as "the land in dispute'.

4. It is the petitioner's case that physical possession of the land in dispute was never taken by the State or transferred to the Meerut Development Authority (for short, "the Development Authority') and no compensation has been paid to her till date. In the circumstances, upon coming into force of the Act of 2013 w.e.f. 1st January, 2014, a period of five years have elapsed since the making of the award, and physical possession of the land has not been taken by the State Government. It is the petitioner's case that in similar circumstances, one Harbhajan Singh, whose land was acquired for the same purpose and through the same notification, had the subject land returned to him by a decision of the State Government dated 23rd January, 2015, holding the acquisition to have lapsed under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013.

5. The petitioner has made a grievance that his case has been treated differentially than Harbhajan Singh, though identical on all premises. The petitioner approached this Court, seeking a declaration that proceedings relating to the land in dispute for acquisition be declared as lapsed under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 through Writ-C No. 34122 of 2015. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court vide order dated 02.03.2017, granting liberty to the petitioner to raise her claim before the Collector, Meerut, who was directed to process the petitioner's claim within four months from the date of receipt of a copy of this Court's order. The Collector was further directed to convey his recommendations to the State Government after processing the petitioner's claim, whereas the State Government was directed, upon receiving the Collector's recommendation, to decide the petitioner's claim about lapsing of acquisition.

6. The petitioner submitted her claim to the District Magistrate, Meerut in terms of this Court's order dated 02.03.2017. The District Magistrate called for reports from the Tehsildar, who in turn sought the Lekhpal's report. The Lekhpal and the Tehsildar submitted a report on 16.11.2017 to the District Magistrate saying that the petitioner is in actual physical possession of the land in dispute. The Tehsildar/ Lekhpal's report dated 16.11.2017 is on record as Annexure No.5 to the writ petition. It was, however, reported by the Lekhpal that Gata No. 340 of Village Kunda was a much subdivided plot and its subdivisions were located in different Khata numbers of the village. It was reported that so far as the land in dispute is concerned (Gata No. 340/1, measuring 0.1260 hectares), it was recorded in the khatauni in the name of the Meerut Development Authority Shatabdi Nagar Yojna. However on the spot, on the land in dispute, there was a Kasana Guest House, a permanent construction in existence, besides A Dharm Kanta and an office (private), where a property dealership was established. The remainder of the plot was surrounded by a boundary-wall. It is the petitioner's further case that upon information being sought from the office of the Land Acquisition Officer (Joint Organization), Meerut under the Right to Information Act about the status of payment of compensation to the landowner relating to the land in dispute, the answer was that the awarded compensation had not been deposited in Court. This information was given on 17.12.2016 and is on record as Annexure No. 6 to the writ petition.

7. The petitioner further asserts that though the land in dispute was acquired by the State for the development of the scheme, known as Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna, by the Development Authority, they never took steps to take possession thereof. No compensation was also paid to the petitioner. There is a pointed reference to certain resolutions of the Development Authority's Board dated 21.10.1999 and 19.12.2011, where it was resolved that such land that has house/ constructions be released from acquisition as it was not required any more. It is pointed out that regarding the land in dispute, the resolution dated 21.10.1999 shows that the Board resolved that the said land be freed from acquisition as it was not required for the Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna. Copies of the resolutions dated 21.10.1999 and 19.12.2011 are attached as Annexure Nos. 9 and 10, respectively.

8. It must be noticed here that the resolution of the Board dated 21.10.1999 does not show any decision specifically with regard to the land in dispute (Gata No. 340/1, measuring 0.3612 hectares). Rather, there is a supplementary Item No. 13, where there is an omnibus resolution proposing to exempt from acquisition 2.56 acres of land in Village Kunda, that was acquired for the Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna. The resolution does not indicate that it particularly refers to the land in dispute, or that it proposes to exempt from acquisition all lands in Village Kunda, acquired for the scheme aforesaid.

9. It is urged by the petitioner that after the last of these resolutions was passed by the Development Authority, the Act of 2013 came into force and since possession of the land in dispute was never taken from the petitioner or the compensation paid in terms of the award dated 22.02.1990, as last amended on 25.06.1990, the acquisition stood lapsed under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013. Attention of this Court has also been drawn to a report of the Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition) dated 13.10.2018, that was drawn up for the purpose of the State to take a decision in the matter of lapse claimed by the petitioner under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013. The said report is said to have been made by the Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition), Meerut after hearing the petitioner and the Development Authority. A copy of this report dated 13.10.2018 is on record as Annexure No. 12 to the writ petition. The said report is asserted to have been forwarded to the State Government. It appears that the directions of this Court carried in the order dated 02.03.2017 passed in Writ-C No.34122 of 2015, were not carried to their logical conclusion promptly by the State and no decision was taken. This led the petitioner to file a contempt application, wherein notice was issued to the respondents. It is the petitioner's case that the contempt rule did not avail and the petitioner was driven to bring another writ petition being Writ-C No.28526 of 2021, where a prayer was made that a mandamus be issued to the State Government to take appropriate decision for exemption of the land in dispute on the basis of the report made by the A.D.M. (L.A.), Meerut dated 13.10.2018. The said petition was entertained and the respondents were required to file a counter affidavit. However, before Writ-C No.28526 of 2021 could proceed further, the State Government rejected the petitioner's claim, seeking a declaration about lapse, relating to the land in dispute under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 vide order dated 26.05.2022.

10. This petition has been preferred challenging the aforesaid order, which shall be called hereinafter as 'the impugned order'.

11. Before us, Mr. Vivek Saran, learned Counsel for the petitioner has emphasized the fact that in writing the impugned order, the State Government has ignored from consideration the fact that physical possession of the land in dispute was not taken from the petitioner, pursuant to the proceedings initiated under the Act of 1894 until enforcement of the Act of 2013, and further that a period of five years and much more had elapsed from the date of the award, under the Act of 1894, when the Act of 2013 came into force, without the petitioner being paid compensation, due under the award. It is emphasized by the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the impugned order has been passed ignoring from consideration the resolutions dated 21.10.1999 and 19.12.2011, proposing to exempt from acquisition the acquired land, including the land in dispute, whereon the residents of the village concerned had constructed houses, or as said in the resolution of the year 1999, exempt 2.56 acres of land in Village Kunda. It is also argued that the impugned order is based on a unilateral report made by the Collector, where the petitioner has not been given any opportunity of hearing.

12. Mr. Rajeev Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent Nos. 1 to 4 and Mr. J.N. Maurya, learned Advocate appearing on behalf of the Development Authority, on the other hand, submitted that the land in dispute is an acquired land of the State, that has vested in the State, free from all encumbrances long ago. It has been transferred to the Development Authority and it is up to them when, how and in what manner they would utilize different parts of the large tracts of the acquired land, spread across five villages. They have urged that case of lapse under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 is not even remotely established.

13. We have carefully considered the submissions made at the Bar and perused the record.

14. It is not in dispute that the land in dispute was acquired by the State for the purpose of a residential scheme to be developed by the Development Authority. The acquisition was proposed through a notification dated 14.08.1987 under Section 4 read with Section 17(1) of the Act of 1894 followed by a declaration under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act of 1894. The invocation of Section 17(1) followed by Section 17(4) shows that considering the urgency involved, inquiry under Section 5-A was dispensed with. Possession was immediately taken under Section 17(2) and the land in dispute vested in the State, free from all encumbrances. Award in this case was passed on 22.02.1990, which was amended on 15.03.1990 and further on 25.06.1990. The Collector has recorded it as a fact that the State transferred possession of the land in dispute (Gata No. 340/1, measuring 0-10-3) to the Development Authority. The title in the name of the Development Authority has been entered in the revenue records.

15. In this regard, we must remark that in aid of the decision taken by the State Government upon the petitioner's claim of lapse of acquisition under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013, there is a report dated 16.11.2017 submitted by the Lekhpal to the Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition), Joint Organization, Meerut. The said report bears out with the finding recorded in the order impugned that the land in dispute was recorded in the revenue records in the name of the 'Meerut Development Authority Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna'. For a fact, therefore, it is very difficult to accept the petitioner's contention that possession of the land in dispute was not taken from her. The petitioner does not dispute the fact that the land in dispute was acquired as part of an acquisition for the Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna, that involved acquisition of large tracts of land, spread across five villages. The acquisition was completed by invoking urgency clause under Section 17(1), dispensing with inquiry under Section 5-A of the Act of 1894. In the circumstances, possession of the land in dispute, along with all the land acquired, would have to be done by the State by drawing the memorandum of possession or the panchnama. This kind of a panchnama is not to be signed by each individual landholder. It is signed by the relevant Authorities of the State and possession of the land is taken under it. It leads to vesting of the acquired land, free from all encumbrances under Section 17(2) of the Act of 1894.

16. If some of the individual, who was the owner of the land in possession at the time of acquisition, continues in possession, may be by building a house, or raising some other construction, the act of the person continuing in possession, would be trespass; it would not be evidence of possession, not being taken in the context of proceedings under Sections 4(1) and 6(1) of the Act of 1894, invoking Section 17(1). The aforesaid issue fell for consideration consideration of a Division Bench of this Court in Shyoraj Singh and another v. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 873, where their Lordships following the decision of the Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority v. Manoharlal and others, (2020) 8 SCC 129, held:

"20. The issue as to what is meant by "possession of the land by the State after its acquisition" has also been considered by Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority Vs. Manoharlal and others AIR 2020 SC 1496. It is opined therein that after the acquisition of land and passing of award, the land vests in the State free from all encumbrances. The vesting of land with the State is with possession. Any person retaining the possession thereafter has to be treated trespasser. When large chunk of land is acquired, the State is not supposed to put some person or police force to retain the possession and start cultivating on the land till it is utilized. The Government is also not supposed to start residing or physically occupying the same once process of the acquisition is complete. If after the process of acquisition is complete and land vest in the State free from all encumbrances with possession, any person retaining the land or any re-entry made by any person is nothing else but trespass on the State land. Relevant paragraphs 244, 245 and 256 are extracted below:

"244. Section 16 of the Act of 1894 provided that possession of land may be taken by the State Government after passing of an award and thereupon land vest free from all encumbrances in the State Government. Similar are the provisions made in the case of urgency in Section 17(1). The word "possession" has been used in the Act of 1894, whereas in Section 24(2) of Act of 2013, the expression "physical possession" is used. It is submitted that drawing of panchnama for taking over the possession is not enough when the actual physical possession remained with the landowner and Section 24(2) requires actual physical possession to be taken, not the possession in any other form. When the State has acquired the land and award has been passed, land vests in the State Government free from all encumbrances. The act of vesting of the land in the State is with possession, any person retaining the possession, thereafter, has to be treated as trespasser and has no right to possess the land which vests in the State free from all encumbrances.

245. The question which arises whether there is any difference between taking possession under the Act of 1894 and the expression "physical possession" used in Section 24(2). As a matter of fact, what was contemplated under the Act of 1894, by taking the possession meant only physical possession of the land. Taking over the possession under the Act of 2013 always amounted to taking over physical possession of the land. When the State Government acquires land and drawns up a memorandum of taking possession, that amounts to taking the physical possession of the land. On the large chunk of property or otherwise which is acquired, the Government is not supposed to put some other person or the police force in possession to retain it and start cultivating it till the land is used by it for the purpose for which it has been acquired. The Government is not supposed to start residing or to physically occupy it once possession has been taken by drawing the inquest proceedings for obtaining possession thereof. Thereafter, if any further retaining of land or any re-entry is made on the land or someone starts cultivation on the open land or starts residing in the outhouse, etc., is deemed to be the trespasser on land which in possession of the State. The possession of trespasser always inures for the benefit of the real owner that is the State Government in the case.

256. Thus, it is apparent that vesting is with possession and the statute has provided under Sections 16 and 17 of the Act of 1894 that once possession is taken, absolute vesting occurred. It is an indefeasible right and vesting is with possession thereafter. The vesting specified under Section 16, takes place after various steps, such as, notification under Section 4, declaration under Section 6, notice under Section 9, award under Section 11 and then possession. The statutory provision of vesting of property absolutely free from all encumbrances has to be accorded full effect. Not only the possession vests in the State but all other encumbrances are also removed forthwith. The title of the landholder ceases and the state becomes the absolute owner and in possession of the property. Thereafter there is no control of the landowner over the property. He cannot have any animus to take the property and to control it. Even if he has retained the possession or otherwise trespassed upon it after possession has been taken by the State, he is a trespasser and such possession of trespasser enures for his benefit and on behalf of the owner." (emphasis supplied)

17. In the background of the aforesaid well established legal proposition in cases of acquisition concluded under the Act of 1894, invoking the provisions of Sections 17(1) and 17(4), it is difficult to accept the petitioner's contention that possession was never taken. Moreover in this case, there is documentary evidence to show that possession was taken and the revenue records were corrected. The Lekhpal's report shows that the land in dispute is recorded in the name of the 'Meerut Development Authority Shatabdi Nagar Awasiya Yojna', which is evidence enough of possession being taken by the State and transferred to the Development Authority.

18. We are, therefore, not inclined to accept the petitioner's case that possession of the land in dispute was never physically taken so as to bring into existence one of the conditions (not taking physical possession) entitling the petitioner to claim lapse under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 upon its enforcement. The other condition about the compensation not being paid to the petitioner, though no longer in itself enough to entitle the petitioner to claim lapse under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 is also not established on facts.

19. It has been recorded in the impugned order that due compensation in respect of the land in dispute has been deposited in the Meerut Treasury in the account of revenue deposit. The contention of the petitioner that there is no deposit made in Court is no longer the requirement of the law to prevent lapse under Section 24(2) of the Act of 2013 in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority's case (supra).

20. A reading of the impugned order shows that in terms of the award that was made for the large tracts of land acquired, a total sum of ₹37.73 crores was payable by the Development Authority. In satisfaction of the said award, the requisite sum of money was deposited by the Development Authority in parts up to 19.07.2010, out of which 98%, that is to say, ₹36.49 crores was paid to the land oustees. It is, thus, evident that the sum of money due under the award was deposited by the Development Authority with the Meerut Treasury in the account of revenue deposit. The finding, therefore, recorded in the order impugned that compensation relating to the land in dispute was deposited in the Meerut Treasury in the account of revenue deposit is well founded. This deposit has clearly been made on or before 19.07.2010 and much before the enforcement of the Act of 2013.

21. It is, thus, evident that the compensation due under the award was deposited in the Government Treasury prior to enforcement of the Act of 2013 and physical possession of the land in dispute was also taken under the Act of 1894, which was handed over to the Development Authority on 06.01.1998.

22. It must be remarked that it is not necessary that the compensation in terms of the award passed under the Act of 1894 be deposited in Court prior to enforcement of the Act of 2013. It would suffice if the requisite compensation is deposited in the Government Treasury prior to the enforcement of the Act aforesaid. This position of the law would be clear from the holding in Indore Development Authority (supra), which reads:

366. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we answer the questions as under:

366.1. Under the provisions of Section 24(1)(a) in case the award is not made as on 1-1-2014, the date of commencement of the 2013 Act, there is no lapse of proceedings. Compensation has to be determined under the provisions of the 2013 Act.

366.2. In case the award has been passed within the window period of five years excluding the period covered by an interim order of the court, then proceedings shall continue as provided under Section 24(1)(b) of the 2013 Act under the 1894 Act as if it has not been repealed.

366.3. The word "or" used in Section 24(2) between possession and compensation has to be read as "nor" or as "and". The deemed lapse of land acquisition proceedings under Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act takes place where due to inaction of authorities for five years or more prior to commencement of the said Act, the possession of land has not been taken nor compensation has been paid. In other words, in case possession has been taken, compensation has not been paid then there is no lapse. Similarly, if compensation has been paid, possession has not been taken then there is no lapse.

366.4. The expression "paid" in the main part of Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act does not include a deposit of compensation in court. The consequence of non-deposit is provided in the proviso to Section 24(2) in case it has not been deposited with respect to majority of landholdings then all beneficiaries (landowners) as on the date of notification for land acquisition under Section 4 of the 1894 Act shall be entitled to compensation in accordance with the provisions of the 2013 Act. In case the obligation under Section 31 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 has not been fulfilled, interest under Section 34 of the said Act can be granted. Non-deposit of compensation (in court) does not result in the lapse of land acquisition proceedings. In case of non-deposit with respect to the majority of holdings for five years or more, compensation under the 2013 Act has to be paid to the "landowners" as on the date of notification for land acquisition under Section 4 of the 1894 Act.

366.5. In case a person has been tendered the compensation as provided under Section 31(1) of the 1894 Act, it is not open to him to claim that acquisition has lapsed under Section 24(2) due to non-payment or non-deposit of compensation in court. The obligation to pay is complete by tendering the amount under Section 31(1). The landowners who had refused to accept compensation or who sought reference for higher compensation, cannot claim that the acquisition proceedings had lapsed under Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act.

366.6. The proviso to Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act is to be treated as part of Section 24(2), not part of Section 24(1)(b).

366.7. The mode of taking possession under the 1894 Act and as contemplated under Section 24(2) is by drawing of inquest report/memorandum. Once award has been passed on taking possession under Section 16 of the 1894 Act, the land vests in State there is no divesting provided under Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act, as once possession has been taken there is no lapse under Section 24(2).

366.8. The provisions of Section 24(2) providing for a deemed lapse of proceedings are applicable in case authorities have failed due to their inaction to take possession and pay compensation for five years or more before the 2013 Act came into force, in a proceeding for land acquisition pending with the authority concerned as on 1-1-2014. The period of subsistence of interim orders passed by court has to be excluded in the computation of five years.

366.9. Section 24(2) of the 2013 Act does not give rise to new cause of action to question the legality of concluded proceedings of land acquisition. Section 24 applies to a proceeding pending on the date of enforcement of the 2013 Act i.e. 1-1-2014. It does not revive stale and time-barred claims and does not reopen concluded proceedings nor allow landowners to question the legality of mode of taking possession to reopen proceedings or mode of deposit of compensation in the treasury instead of court to invalidate acquisition.

(emphasis by Court)

23. In view of what has been said above, no good ground made out to interfere with the order impugned.

24. This petition fails and is dismissed.

Writ petition allowed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri G.K. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Prabhakar Awasthi, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Sarvesh Kumar, learned counsel for the caveator/respondent No.5 and the learned Standing Counsel representing the State-respondents.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed assailing the order dated 29.7.2022 (Annexure-17 to the writ petition) passed by the State Government, Higher Education Department, whereby exercising powers under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 the petitioners' - Committee of Management has been superceded and the District Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar has been appointed as the Authorised Controller for a period of next one year or till further orders whichever occurs earlier. A challenge to the consequential order dated 30.7.2022 passed by the District Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar / Authorised Controller/respondent No.3 whereby he has proceeded to delegate his authority to discharge his duties as Authorised Controller in favour of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sadar Kanpur Nagar has also been laid.

3. The facts shorn of unnecessary details giving rise to the present proceedings are that the petitioner - Committee of Management through its Manager, petitioner No.2, has been managing the affairs of a Degree College, established in the year 1953 in the name and style of "S.N. Sen Balika Vidyalaya Post Graduate College at District Kanpur Nagar" affiliated with Chhatrapati Shahu Ji Maharaj University. The respondent No.5, Dr. Suman, was recommended vide order dated 22.10.2021 of the Director of Education (Higher) for appointment as Principal which was lying vacant in the institution and was required to be filled up by way of regular appointment. On the strength of the recommendation dated 22.10.2021 the Regional Higher Education Officer wrote to the petitioner Committee of Management on 2.11.2021 to ensure the joining of the respondent No.5. A formal request was also made by the respondent No.5 by way of communication dated 8.11.2021. The petitioner Committee of Management began processing the appointment of the respondent No.5 and prior to issuance of the appointment letter sought to verify the testimonials of the respondent No.5 for Chaudhary Charan Singh University, Meerut and other universities from where the respondent No.5 had obtained her qualifications. During the course of such verification by the petitioners, the Regional Higher Education Officer as also the Director of Higher Education wrote to the petitioner Committee of Management vide letters dated 27.11.2021 and 1.12.2021, respectively, to ensure the joining of the respondent No.5. During the course of the verification of the testimonials of the respondent No.5, it was revealed that not a single student had done his PhD under the guidance of the respondent No.5. As per the qualification prescribed under the UGC Regulations an incumbent who seeks appointment on the post of Principal in a Post Graduate College has to have essential qualification of research guidance experience. The petitioners required the respondent No.5 to clarify her position in that regard. When no clarification was received from the respondent No.5, the petitioners vide letter dated 12.3.2022 requested the respondent Authorities to clarify whether the respondent No.5 stood qualified to be appointed as Principal of the Institution. Instead of clarifying the position, the State Government exercising powers under Section 57 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973, issued notices dated 20.5.2022 to it purporting to be under Section 57(ii) of the Act, 1973. The notice was duly replied by the petitioner by submitting its reply dated 6.6.2022. The State Government without considering the reply of the petitioner proceeded to pass the impugned order dated 29.7.2022 and consequent thereto the Authorised Controller proceeded to pass the order dated 30.7.2022.

4. Sri G.K. Singh, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners submits that the impugned order dated 29.7.2022, passed by the State Government appointing the Authorised Controller, superceding the petitioner Committee of Management, is patently illegal and is liable to be quashed on the grounds that:-

(i) the order dated 29.7.2022 suffers from the vice of procedural impropriety;

(ii) the order has been passed in utter violation of the principles of natural justice;

(iii) the very basis of passing the order dated 29.7.2022 having been extinguished on the joining of the respondent No.5 on 2.8.2022 the continuance of the order is unwarranted.

5. As regards the consequential order dated 30.7.2022 passed by the District magistrate Kanpur Nagar / Authorised Controller appointing the Sub-Divisional Officer, Sadar Kanpur Nagar to discharge duties as Authorised Controller, learned counsel submits that the said order also cannot be sustained on the principle of that delegated power cannot be further deligated.

6. Elaborating his arguments further, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners contends that the Institution in question is a Degree College and as such the appointment of the respondent No.5 as Principal of the Institution is to be governed by the provisions of the U.P. Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980. He has drawn the attention of the Court to Section 15 of the Act which reads as under:-

"15. Inquiry by Director. - (1) Where any person is entitled to be appointed as a teacher in any college in accordance with Sections 12 to 14, but he is not so appointed by the management within the time provided therefor, he may apply to the Director for a direction under sub-section (2).

(2) On receipt of an application under sub-section (1), the Director may hold an inquiry, and if he is satisfied that the management has failed to appoint the applicant as a teacher in contravention of the provisions of this Act, he may by order, require -

(a) the management to appoint the applicant as a teacher, and to pay him salary from the date specified in the order; and

(b) the Principal of the College concerned to take work from him as a teacher.

(3) The amount of salary, if any, due to such teacher shall, on a certificate issued by the Director, be recoverable by the Collector as arrears of land revenue."

7. Learned Senior Counsel has also invited the attention of the Court to Sections 57 and 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 which are being quoted hereunder:-

"57. Power of the State Government to issue notice.- If the State Government receives information in respect of any affiliated or associated college (other than a college maintained exclusively by the State Government or a local authority) -

(i) that its management has persistently committed wilful default in paying the salary of the teachers or other employees of the college by the twentieth day of the month next following the month in respect of which or any part of which it is payable; or

(ii) that its management has failed to appoint teaching staff possessing such qualifications as are necessary for the purpose of ensuring the maintenance of academic standards in relation to the college or has appointed or retained in service any teacher in contravention of the Statute or Ordinances [or has failed to comply with the orders of the Director of Education (Higher Education) made on the basis of the recommendation of the Uttar Pradesh Higher Education Service Commission under the Uttar Pradesh Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980,] or

(iii) that any dispute with respect to the right claimed by different person to be lawful office-bearers of its Management has affected the smooth and orderly administration of the college; or

(iv) that its management has persistently failed to provide the college with such adequate and proper accommodation, library, furniture, stationery, laboratory, equipment and other facilities, as are necessary for efficient administration of the college; or

(v) that its Management has substantially diverted, misapplied or misappropriated the property of the college to the detriment of the college;

it may call upon the Management to show cause why an order under Section 58 should not be made :

Provided that where it is in dispute as to who are the office-bearers of the Management, such notice shall be issued to all persons claiming to be so.

58. Authorised Controller.- (1) If the State Government after considering the explanation, if any, submitted by the Management under Section 57 is satisfied that any ground mentioned in that section exists, it may, by order, authorise any person (hereinafter referred to as the Authorised Controller) to take over, for such period not exceeding two years as may be specified, the Management of the college and its property to the exclusion of the Management and whenever the Authorised Controller so takes over the Management, he shall, subject only to such restrictions as State Government may impose, have in relation to the Management of the college and its property all such powers and authority as the Management would have if the college and its property were not taken over under this sub-section :

Provided that if the State Government is of opinion that it is expedient so to do in order to continue to secure the proper Management of the colleges and its property, it may, from time to time, extend the operation of the order for such period, not exceeding one year at a time, as it may specify, so however, that the total period of operation of the order, including the period specified in the initial order under this sub-section does not exceed[five years]:

[Provided further that if at the expiration of the said period of five years, there is no lawfully constituted Management of the college the Authorised Controller shall continue to function as such, until the State Government is satisfied that the Management has been lawfully constituted :

Provided also that the State Government may, at any time, revoke an order made under this sub-section.]

(2) Where the State Government while issuing a notice under Section 57 is of opinion, for reasons to be recorded, that immediate action is necessary in the interest of the college, it may suspend the Management, which shall thereupon cease to function, and make such arrangement as it thinks proper for managing the affairs of the college and its property till further proceeding are completed :

Provided that no such order shall remain in force for more than six months from the date of actual taking over the Management in pursuance of such order :

Provided further that in computation of the said period of six months, the time during which the operation of the order was suspended by any order of the High Court passed in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution or any period during which the Management failed to show cause in pursuance of the notice under Section 57, shall be excluded.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (1), shall be construed to confer on the Authorised Controller the power to transfer any immovable property belonging to college (except by way of letting from moth to month in the ordinary course of Management or to create any charge thereon) except as a condition of receipt of any grant-in-aid of the college from the State Government or the Government of India.

(4) Any order made under this section shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other enactment or in any instrument relating to the Management and control of the college or its property :

Provided that the property of the college and any income therefrom shall continue to be applied for the purposes of the college as provided in any such instrument.

(5) The Director of Education (Higher Education) may give to the Authorised Controller such directions as he may deem necessary for the proper management of the college or its property, and the Authorised Controller shall carry out those direction."

8. Placing reliance upon the above mentioned sections, learned Senior Counsel submits that there is no dispute that if the Committee of Management of an institution does not give appointment to the selected candidate action can be taken against the Management under Section 15(2) of the U.P. Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980 as well as Sections 57 and 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 but such action can be taken only after following the procedure prescribed. Section 15(2) of the Act, 1973 contemplates that the Director is required to hold an enquiry and record a satisfaction that the Management has failed to appoint the teacher in contravention of the provisions of the Act. In the case at hand no such enquiry has been undertaken by the Director of Higher Education nor any satisfaction has been recorded that the petitioner Committee of Management has failed to appoint the respondent No.5.

9. Learned Senior Counsel further submits that the State Government has also been given the powers under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 to supercede the Committee of Management and appoint an Authorised Controller but such power also can be exercised only after considering the reply/explanation submitted by the Committee of Management pursuant to issue of notice under Section 57 of the Act. In the case at hand the State Government issued notice under Section 57 of the Act and pursuant thereto the petitioners submitted their reply dated 6.6.2022. However, the State Government without adverting to the reply of the petitioner and recording its satisfaction as to whether the same was satisfactory or not, proceeded to pass the order dated 29.7.2022 under Section 58 of the Act.

10. Learned Standing Counsel and Sri Sarvesh Kumar, learned counsel for the caveator/respondent No.5 have been unable to refute the legal submission made by Sri G.K. Singh, learned Senior Counsel. Sri Sarvesh Kumar, learned counsel for respondent No.5 does not dispute the fact that Dr. Suman/respondent No.5 has since joined the institution as Principal on 2.8.2022 and is functioning as such.

11. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, the Court finds that the exercise of powers by Director under Section 15 of the U.P. Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980 and the power of the State Government under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 operate in different fields. While Section 15(2) of the 1980 Act empowers the Director to order the Management of the Institution to appoint the selected applicant as Teacher and pay him his salary, order the Principal of the College concerned to take work from him as a teacher, the Director lack power to order for appointment of Authorised Controller. The said power vests only with the State Government under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973. The Court finds that the impugned order takes note of the reply/explanation of the petitioners dated 6.6.2022 and has considered the same in the light of the report dated 7.7.2022 submitted by the Director of Higher Education and concluded that it is not in the domain of the Committee of Management to assess the eligibility and qualification of the selected candidate and such power vests only with the Commission. Thus the Court finds that the State Government while exercising the powers under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 has complied with the requirements of the provisions. The Court is not impressed with the submissions of the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners that the order dated 29.7.2022 suffers from the vice of procedural impropriety and has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice.

12. However the Court finds substance in the submission of the learned Senior Counsel that the respondent No.5 having joined the Institution as Principal on 2.8.2022 and is also working as such which fact is not disputed by the parties, the very basis of passing the order dated 29.7.2022 stands extinguished and there is no need for the Authorised Controller to continue, particularly when no other grounds for ousting the Committee of Management and for continuance of the Authorised Controller have been shown to exist. So far as the order dated 30.7.2022 passed by the District Magistrate/Authorised Controller appointing the Sub Divisional Officer, Sadar to discharge the duties as Authorised Controller is concerned the Court is of the opinion that such an order cannot be sustained on the principle "Delegatus non potest delegare", i.e. one to whom a power is delegated cannot himself further delegate that power.

13. In view of the above, considering the totality of the circumstances the order dated 29.7.2022 passed by the State Government exercising powers under Section 58 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 (Annexure-17 to the writ petition) as also the order dated 30.7.2022 passed by the District Magistrate / Authorised Controller (Annexure-18 to the writ petition) are set aside.

14. The writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Attau Rahman Masoodi, J.)

1. This batch of writ petitions involving common question of facts and law were heard together and are being decided by a common judgment.

2. The petitioners have questioned the legality of Clause 12 of the Government Order dated 1st June, 2021, which was issued in modification of the earlier Government Orders dated 6th April, 2021 and 4th May, 2021. By means of the impugned government order, the State of Uttar Pradesh raised the amount of ex-gratia payment to the dependants of a deceased employee dying on election duty due to COVID-19 from Rs.15 lacs to Rs.30 lacs subject to the fulfilment of conditions in Clause-12.

3. In usual course, the National Authority by virtue of Section 12 of the Disaster Management Act, 2005 is empowered to recommend guidelines for the minimum standards of relief which is to be provided to persons affected by disaster. Section 12 of the Act of 2005 for ready reference is extracted hereunder:-

"12. Guidelines for minimum standards of relief. --The National Authority shall recommend guidelines for the minimum standards of relief to be provided to persons affected by disaster, which shall include,--

(i) the minimum requirements to be provided in the relief camps in relation to shelter, food, drinking water, medical cover and sanitation;

(ii) the special provisions to be made for widows and orphans;

(iii) ex gratia assistance on account of loss of life as also assistance on account of damage to houses and for restoration of means of livelihood;

(iv) such other relief as may be necessary."

4. It is evident from the above quoted provision that ex-gratia assistance on account of loss of life is one of the measures for restoration of the means of livelihood to the members of aggrieved family. The State Government is also empowered under Section 38 of the Act of 2005 to take measures defined under Section 38(2) which include the financial help in the nature of ex-gratia payment under Section 38(2)(l) and this is how the aforesaid government orders have come to be issued for compensating the loss of lives to the dependants of those who on being deputed to perform election duties in the U.P. Panchayat Elections - 2021 contracted COVID-19 and died. Section 38(2)(l) for ready reference is reproduced hereunder:-

"Section 38(2)(l):- such other matter as it deems necessary or expedient for the purpose of securing effective implementation of provisions of this Act."

5. A person having contracted pandemic i.e. COVID-19 while on election duty became a matter of consideration in the light of recommendations made by the Election Commission of India as well as the National Authority. Therefore, to avoid litigation as against the claims which may have arisen on account of the death of a person discharging election duty by his dependants, the ex-gratia payment to the tune of Rs.30 lacs was a measure evolved by the State Government to compensate the dependants of any such loss of life, whose death occurred on account of COVID-19 having been contracted while on election duty. The Election Commission of India for the purpose of ex-gratia payment is said to have defined the election duty to mean the performance of such duty by leaving one's house on a scheduled day till a person returned back home. The election duty included training, polling duty, counting duty or any other duty relating to election. It implies that contracting COVID-19 while on election duty after leaving one's place of residence till reaching back home was the range of movement to which every case has to be corroborated.

6. In the present case, the U.P. Panchayat Election was notified in the month of March, 2021 whereafter the schedule of election duty in various capacities came to be issued on 6th April, 2021. The chart below indicates the relevant details as regards the petitioners being sent on election duty, date of diagnosis of COVID-19 followed by their hospitalization and date of death in the hospitals or otherwise.

7. Taking into account the fatal impact of COVID-19, it was for this reason that the State Government by a Government Order dated 6th April, 2021 decided to compensate for the loss of life of any employee sent on election duty to the dependants with the payment of Rs.15 lacs which was enhanced to Rs.30 lacs. The definition of election duty specified by the Election Commission of India adopted in paragraph 2 of the Government Order dated 1st June, 2021 of which Clause 12 has been impugned herein remained para materia. The hardship in the matter of implementation of the ex-gratia payment to the dependents of pandemic victims was experienced on account of relating the COVID-19 deaths during election duty which fell for consideration before the State Government and the matter was considered in the background of published opinions in Lancet journal which were relied upon by the State Advisory Board of COVID-19/Director, SGPGI, Lucknow.

8. The Government Order issued by the State of U.P. on 1st June, 2021 dispelled many confusions as regards contracting COVID-19 and broader principles were adopted to ameliorate the implementation of the compensatory scheme evolved by the State. In the first place, the definition of the election duty was liberally adopted to include all the activities in relation to election duties where the probability of contracting COVID-19 prior to its diagnosis was prominent. The definition clause however made it dependant upon a person going to election duty on a scheduled date till he returned back home. The most difficult aspect of the scheme is to relate a COVID-19 death to the date of election duty. For any death on account of COVID-19, it is essential for a claimant to establish that the deceased had attended the election duty prior to his death which he contracted while on election duty. The difficulty certainly arises in the determination of the fact of contracting Covid infection but where it is definite that a person prior to diagnosis or death had performed election duty, it is to be assumed that COVID-19 was contracted while on election duty unless proved otherwise. The State Government in order to mitigate the technical hardship considered the entire issue with the assistance of experts and it was found that a COVID-19 patient from the date of disease onset had mortality expectancy within 28 days. There is however, no scientifically proven assessment of time, after the disease onset, within which a person may be diagnosed as COVID positive during the range of mortality expectancy period as derived from experimentation or data.

9. In these circumstances, the State Government in order to have a broader application of the policy decision proceeded to lay down the parameters for entitlement of ex-gratia payment. Paragraph 12 of the impugned Government Order lays down three parameters. Firstly, COVID-19 deaths which occur within 30 days of the election duty would entitle a claim. Secondly, the test reports Antigen/RT PCR positive, blood report or CT Scan would be a sufficient proof to prove the death having occurred on account of COVID-19 and thirdly, an asymptomatic case meeting with the death on account of COVID-19 within 30 days of election duty was also covered under the scheme.

10. In this background, three type of cases have emerged before this Court. In first category, the asymptomatic deaths having occurred within 30 days from the date of election duty on account of COVID-19 and in the second category, where symptoms were detected within a gap of 30 days from the date of election duty but the actual death occurred beyond 30 days from the date of election duty and, thirdly, where symptoms were detected beyond 30 days of election duty and death occurred within 30 days of detection of symptoms or later.

11. The case put-forth by the State in response to the above situations in two fold. It is urged that the first category cases are not entitled to the ex-gratia payment as there is no proof of a deceased having contracting COVID-19 while on election duty and to deny the claim of second and third category, it is submitted that any death that has occurred beyond a period of 30 days from the date of election duty is not relatable to the election duty, hence the claim is liable to rejection.

12. Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the petitioners has argued in the light of order passed by the Apex Court on 4th October, 2021 passed in Writ Petition (Civil) No. 539 of 2021 (Gaurav Kumar Bansal Vs. Union of India and others) but the guidelines embodied therein being of a later point of time do not provide us a complete answer. The ICMR guidelines pointed out also do not doubtlessly support or counter the stand of the State Government put-forth.

13. Learned counsel for the State has also laid emphasis on the point that the controversy involves a policy decision of the State based on the opinion of experts, therefore, the Court has no option of reading down the scope of Government Order otherwise than the manner in which it is supported by its scientific understanding. The submission put-forth is to the effect that any irrational or layman's understanding of the Government Order would bring in a heterogeneous classification or class within the class which shall offend the mandate of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. In support of the argument put-forth, learned Additional Advocate General for the State has relied upon certain decisions.

14. It is a well known fact that COVID-19 was witnessed no less than a largest precedented catastrophe leading to mortality of human lives on a very high scale. The scientific advancement was almost bent on its knees to acknowledge helplessness, yet, some how the preventive measures sensitised by the State coupled with medical aid overcame upon the threat to human life for restoration of normalcy. It is not to forget that the behavioural obedience i.e. use of mask and following guidelines on free movement was as significant as the medicinal values and much was attributed to the superstitions as well. In the general perception of the people, the asymptomatic and symptomatic cases of COVID-19 were marginally distinct and in both the type of cases, the common cause was Covid infection. It is not the case before us that the deaths have not occurred because of COVID-19 but what is disputed is that the deaths having taken place beyond 30 days from the date of election duty would not entitle the dependants for the ex-gratia payment. This defence is based on Clause-12 of the Government Order dated 1st June, 2021 impugned herein this bunch of writ petitions.

15. In the background stated above, the question that crops up for consideration is as to whether a COVID-19 death for the purposes of ex-gratia payment is rightly regulated and understood by the executive as per Clause-12 of the Government Order, if not, whether the defence put forth is violative of the object of equality read with the purpose of Section 12(iii) of the Act of 2005.

16. This Court may note that the life and its dignified protection is the first and foremost duty of the welfare state. During the course of disaster management, certain duties on the part of the State assume more significance. We have experienced that during COVID-19, broader guidelines striking note of caution were issued from time to time to restrict free movement, yet for the purposes of governance within our democratic organization, the guidelines prohibiting assembly had to be compromised by the State of U.P. itself so as to carry out the U.P. Panchayat Elections in furtherance of the mandate of law. The sovereign function thus necessitated the engagement of human resource in bulk which necessarily visited the state with a more onerous duty to protect the lives of those who were engaged in election duty. It is needless to reiterate that the protection of life of all such individuals engaged in election duty even on a single day during COVID-19 became an absolute duty of the State. The State at the time of outbreak of pandemic remained under an obligation to free the environment from the probabilities of outbreak or spread of infection and the hospital services were equally liable to be maintained conducive to the survival of human life. In the case at hand, all these claims where the persons sent on election duty died of COVID-19, it necessarily must be understood that all such persons for the purpose of care, treatment and protection of life remained at the mercy of the State. The wisdom of the policy devised by the State lies in meeting the emerging situation for the dependants of a COVID-19 victim, therefore, equal treatment of all is bound to be achieved by adopting a pragmatic approach.

17. Having regard to the three parameters provided in para-12, this Court would note that any case detected beyond the period of 30 days from election duty as covid positive is certainly a category not covered under the scheme. The death of asymptomatic cases within 30 days of election duty as per the mandate of government order is covered under the G.O. Provided the death certificate on account of COVID-19 is produced by the claimants. This principle broadens the scope of G.O. for symptomatic cases where the infection after election duty was detected within 30 days, however, death in such a case occurred beyond the period of 30 days. The two situations that deserve to be treated at par are; firstly, where the death occurred due to covid-19 within a period of 30 days of participation in election duty in an asymptomatic case and; secondly, where the infection of COVID-19 was detected within 30 days of election duty but the death occurred thereafter during treatment or otherwise.

18. The bar of 30 days period in the cases where infection was detected within 30 days of election duty but death occurred beyond the same is not attributable to any negligence on the part of victim that would defeat the claim rather it is owing to the lack of extra ordinary care or treatment of which the duty would lay on the State. Therefore, all the detected cases within 30 days of election duty cannot be segregated from those where the infection despite remaining undetected resulted into the death of a victim due to COVID-19 within the period prescribed i.e. 30 days. Any other principle derived by the State on the basis of scientific understanding is bound to defeat the very object of the Government Order and the purpose will frustrate. It is not necessary for the State Government to ahdere to the strict scientific principles in the matter of situations which went beyond the control of scientific means, therefore, the State Government in its caveat cannot impose an embargo upon the Courts of law to construe the scope of policy strictly within the scientific principles.

19. The scientific understanding alone is not decisive to implement the policy of the State which by its very nature is a mix of multiple variables. The State is not to be guided by the laboratory results or publication in journals alone but what is relevant is the impact of a disaster as it may be understood in common parlance not opposed to scientific principles altogether. Scientific temper is itself a matter of concern and debatable. For example the elephant's head on the holy mankind body of 'deity' of Lord Ganesha may or may not be opposed to scientific beliefs but it accompanies our mystical belief from ages and likewise many more. The scientific discoveries and inventions promote scientific temper but failure of science is bound to leave a grey area for our personal faith, traditional usages, beliefs and superstitions until modern science or spiritual attainments unfold the absolute truth. By quoting one instance, it is not meant to hurt anyone's sentiments rather is illustrative of our understanding. Embracing personal faith, usages, belief and superstitions besides scientific temperament is the beauty of Article 21 of the Constitution of India within which the horizons of our freedom grow for an inclusive dignified existence. This, however, does not suggest that the State has a religion as opposed to democracy that guarantees the rule of law to achieve the object of equality amongst the citizens.

20. This Court would thus reject the argument of the State to approach the issue at hand purely on the basis of scientific principles as portrayed on the strength of some publication in the Lancet Journal and expect the State to implement the impugned clause of Government Order dated 1st June, 2021 without discriminating between the deaths of asymptomatic and symptomatic cases on the yardstick of 30 days from the date of election duty. It must be read beneficially for those cases too which were detected within 30 days and in that event, the date of death would become immaterial once it is on account of COVID-19.

21. The constitutional morality under the directive principles of the State is well reflected from Article 38 of the Constitution of India which postulates eradication of inequality. This Article is the driving force of the public policy and offers ample guidance to the executive as well as all other organs of the State to streamline the beneficent decisions serve the purpose and object of social and economic justice equally. The apex court as far back as in the decision reported in (2008) 2 SCC 672 (Delhi Development Authority, & another vs. Joint Action Committee, Allottee of SFS Flats & Ors) in para-65 observed as under:

"65. Broadly, a policy decision is subject to judicial review on the following grounds :

(a) if it is unconstitutional;

(b) if it is dehors the provisions of the Act and the Regulations;

(c) if the delegatee has acted beyond its power of delegation;

(d) if the executive policy is contrary to the statutory or a larger policy."

In a recent decision of the apex court reported in (2021) 7 SCC 772 (Distribution of Essential Supplies and Services During Pandemic, In Re.), the apex court has succinctly dealt with the permissible extent of judicial review in policy decisions of the State and for our purpose paras 15 to 19 of the judgement being relevant are extracted as under:

"15. It is trite to state that separation of powers is a part of the basic structure of the Constitution. Policy-making continues to be in the sole domain of the executive. The judiciary does not possess the authority or competence to assume the role of the executive, which is democratically accountable for its actions and has access to the resources which are instrumental to policy formulation. However, this separation of powers does not result in courts lacking jurisdiction in conducting a judicial review of these policies. Our Constitution does not envisage courts to be silent spectators when constitutional rights of citizens are infringed by executive policies. Judicial review and soliciting constitutional justification for policies formulated by the executive is an essential function, which the courts are entrusted to perform.

16. We had clarified in our order dated 30 April 2021, that in the context of the public health emergency with which the country is currently grappling, this Court appreciates the dynamic nature of the measures. Across the globe, the executive has been given a wider margin in enacting measures which ordinarily may have violated the liberty of individuals, but are now incumbent to curb the pandemic. Historically, the judiciary has also recognized that constitutional scrutiny is transformed during such public health emergencies, where the executive functions in rapid consultation with scientists and other experts. In 1905, the Supreme Court of the United States in Jacobson vs Massachusetts` considered a constitutional liberty challenge to a compulsory vaccination law that was enacted to combat the smallpox epidemic. Harlan, J had noted the complex role of the Government in battling public health emergencies in the following terms (Jacobson case SCC OnLine US SC paras 6 and 18):

"6.....the State may invest local bodies called into existence for purposes of local administration with authority in some appropriate way to safeguard the public health and the public safety...

18.....While this court should guard with firmness every right appertaining to life, liberty or property as secured to the individual by the Supreme Law of the Land, it is of the last importance that it should not invade the domain of local authority except when it is plainly necessary to do so in order to enforce that law. The safety and the health of the people of Massachusetts are, in the first instance, for that Commonwealth to guard and protect.....So far as they can be reached by any government, they depend, primarily, upon such action as the State in its wisdom may take, and we do not perceive that this legislation has invaded any right secured by the Federal Constitution."

17. The Supreme Court of United States, speaking in the wake of the present COVID-19 pandemic in various instances, has overruled policies by observing, inter alia, that "Members of this Court are not public health experts, and we should respect the judgment of those with special expertise and responsibility in this area. But even in a pandemic, the Constitution cannot be put away and forgotten" and "a public health emergency does not give Governors and other public officials carte blanche to disregard the Constitution for as long as the medical problem persists. As more medical and scientific evidence becomes available, and as States have time to craft policies in light of that evidence, courts should expect policies that more carefully account for constitutional rights".

18. Similarly, courts across the globe have responded to constitutional challenges to executive policies that have directly or indirectly violated rights and liberties of citizens. Courts have often reiterated the expertise of the executive in managing a public health crisis, but have also warned against arbitrary and irrational policies being excused in the garb of the "wide latitude" to the executive that is necessitated to battle a pandemic. This Court in Gujarat Mazdoor Sabha vs State of Gujarat, albeit while speaking in the context of labour rights, had noted that policies to counteract a pandemic must continue to be evaluated from a threshold of proportionality to determine if they, inter alia, have a rational connection with the object that is sought to be achieved and are necessary to achieve them.

19. In grappling with the second wave of the pandemic, this Court does not intend to second-guess the wisdom of the executive when it chooses between two competing and efficacious policy measures. However, it continues to exercise jurisdiction to determine if the chosen policy measure conforms to the standards of reasonableness, militates against manifest arbitrariness and protects the right to life of all persons. This Court is presently assuming a dialogic jurisdiction where various stakeholders are provided a forum to raise constitutional grievances with respect to the management of the pandemic. Hence, this Court would, under the auspices of an open court judicial process, conduct deliberations with the executive where justifications for existing policies would be elicited and evaluated to assess whether they survive constitutional scrutiny."

22. The ex-gratia payment payable by the State was notified in terms of Section 38 of the Act of 2005 referred to above and this was a promise held to the dependants of any such person who died due to COVID-19 having contracted the infection while on election duty. The compensation for loss of life certainly is an actionable claim and it is for this reason that Section 71 of the Act of 2005 provides as under:-

"71. Bar of jurisdiction of court. --No court (except the Supreme Court or a High Court) shall have jurisdiction to entertain any suit or proceeding in respect of anything done, action taken, orders made, direction, instruction or guidelines issued by the Central Government, National Authority, State Government, State Authority or District Authority in pursuance of any power conferred by, or in relation to its functions, by this Act.

23. We must remember that the State is not to be driven by the scientific understanding of situation alone but what is relevant is the general perception of people which settles for acceptance. If judiciary cannot form an opinion contrary to law, it equally applies on the executive not to loose sight of the purpose for which laws are made. Scientific reasons are not always sacrosanct but what remains is the purpose and objects of legislation.

24. The Supreme Court as well as the High Courts have been empowered to entertain any suit or proceeding in respect of anything done, action taken, orders made etc. by the respective authorities/ governments.

25. Therefore, for any claim that has trammelled in law through a government order within the scope of Section 12 read with Section 38 of the Act of 2005, the jurisdiction has been vested in the Supreme Court of India and the High Courts to entertain a proceeding of suit or other proceeding, hence this Court is convinced that all the writ petitions filed for payment of ex-gratia amount are maintainable. This is, however, not to suggest that Article 21 of the Constitution of India in the matter of pandemic or disasters imposes a blanket pecuniary liability upon the State as regards the loss of life of citizens or their property to which any negligence of the State authorities or agents or misconstruction of a policy decision arrived at for a larger purpose is an exception. It can, therefore, be inferred that a suit for recovering damages as a measure of compensation can be filed against the State for negligence of its agents within the scope of Section-9 CPC unless specifically barred by law or necessary intendment. Section-71 reproduced above supports the position of law and is well supported by a decision of the apex court reported in AIR 1969 SC 78 (Dhulabhai etc. v. State of M.P. and another).

26. This Court may further note that Section 73 and 74 of the Disaster Management Act protect the State and its agents or officers from any legal action for anything done in good faith. The statutory protection, however, does not render a suit or proceeding non-maintainable for it may be possible for the claimant to establish by leading evidence that action or omission was deliberate and not in good faith. This Court may take note of the definition of "good faith' as provided under Section-52 of Indian Penal Code as under:

"52. "Good faith".--Nothing is said to be done or believed in "good faith" which is done or believed without due care and attention."

The negligence co-exists with bad faith. The burden of proof shall lay heavily on the claimants but it does not render the suit or claim as non-maintainable.

27. The position of law is further supported under an apex court judgement reported in (1994) 6 SCC 205 (N. Nagendra & Co. v. State of A.P.) wherein it is held that the State cannot claim sovereign immunity from compensation due to negligence of its agents in cases directly resulting in breach of Article 21 of the Constitution of India. The decision holds good until now.

28. Thus, we are of the considered opinion that the field of compensation beyond the scope of section 12 (iii) of the Disaster Management Act, 2003 is well protected as against negligence or things not done in good faith irrespect of any measure such as ex-gratia but in the present case it is the claim of ex-gratia payment which we are concerned with.

29. Now coming to the aspect as to whether the victims named in the chart set out hereinabove have died of Covid-19 or otherwise. Sri Ashok Khare has taken us through the apex court judgement passed in the case of Gaurav Kumar Bansal v. Union of India and others. We find that deaths having taken place in the hospitals on account of Covid-19 fully stand the test of certification. The argument that the medical reports mentioning cardiac failure or otherwise may not be attributed to Covid-19 does not impress the Court for the reason that Covid-19 is an infection that may result to the mortality of a person affecting any organ be it lungs or heart etc. Once the admission of deceased persons was on account of Covid-19, the resulting cause being heart failure or dysfunction of any other organ leading to death is immaterial and would nevertheless be treated as Covid-19 death. No other argument was advanced for our consideration, therefore, having given our anxious consideration, we allow the claims in terms of our observations made hereinabove.

27. As a result, all the writ petitions except Writ-C No. 3276 of 2022 (Smt. Khushboo v. State of U.P. and others) are allowed and the opposite parties are directed to release the ex-gratia payment to the dependents entitled thereto within a period of one month failing which the claims so allowed shall be made good inclusive of simple interest @ 9% p.m. from the date of judgement upto the date of actual payment.

The Writ-C No. 3276 of 2022 (Smt. Khushboo v. State of U.P. and others) is accordingly dismissed.

28. Each of the petitioners, whose claims are allowed shall be entitled to a cost of Rs. 25000/- in each case.

A. Land Law – UP Revenue Code, 2006 – Section 67-A – UP Revenue Code Rules, 2016 – Ss. 64 and 68 – Settlement of Abadi site land – Maximum area required to be settled is 200 Square meter – Violation – Effect – Held, an area upto 200 square meters of land with structure thereon could be settled with the petitioners under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006 and not the entire area of 0.0580 hectares (580 square metes) – No right can be said to have accrued to the petitioners in respect of Plot No. 139M and 140M in excess of 200 square meters. (Para 19)

B. Doctrine of President – Exception – Per incuriam – Earlier Writ order was passed in ignorance of the provisions – Order falls under the spectrum of per incuriam was not followed. (Para 19)

C. Acquisition Law – Railways Act, 1989 – Sections 20-A, 20-E & 20-F (2) – Lapse of proceeding – Acquisition for special railway project – Plot, in question was included in the Notification u/s Section 20-A, not u/s 20-E of the Act – Effect – Held, it can safely be concluded that the Plot, in question has not been acquired for the Special Railway Project. If the plot has not been acquired, there is no question of the acquisition proceedings to have lapsed. (Para 23)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J.
Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. The writ petitioners who claim to have right, title and interest in Arazi / Plot No. 139M having area 0.0140 hectare, situate in Village Pirallipur, Pargana Haveli, Post Chunar, District Mirzapur, have approached this Court seeking issuance of a writ of mandamus commanding the respondents not to create any interference in their peaceful possession over the said arazi/plot on the ground that the entire proceedings of the acquisition of the plot for special railway project stands lapsed under Section 20-F (2) of the Railways Act, 1989. The petitioners have further prayed that no coercive action be taken against the petitioners during the pendency of the writ petition.

2. The facts giving rise to the controversy involved in the writ petition, briefly stated, as borne out from the record, are that one Chhavinath, father of petitioner No. 1 and husband of petitioner No. 2, was residing in a double storied house constructed over arazi/plot No. 139 and 140 since the time of his ancestors. The Plot No. 139 and 140 were recorded as "Banjar" under category 5-3 (^{3}) in the revenue records with area 0.1390 hectares and 0.3790 hectares, respectively. It may be stated here that an area of 0.0560 hectares of plot No. 140 was settled in favour of residents of village under Section 123 (1) UPZA&LR Act vide order dated 6.10.1993. Proceedings under Section 122-B of the U.P.Z.A.&.L.R. Act for eviction of Chhavinath were drawn by the Land Management Committee/Gaon Sabha of the village concerned which resulted in an exparte order dated 22.5.2008, being passed against Chhavinath. A restoration application was filed by Chhavinath stating his inability to appear in the proceedings whereafter the proceedings were restored after recalling the order dated 22.5.2008. On the restoration of the proceedings and after hearing Chhavinath, the report under Section 122-B U.P.Z.A.&.L.R. Act was rejected and the Notice 49-A was withdrawn by order dated 6.10.2008 passed by the Tehsildar, Chunar with further direction requiring the Revenue Inspector to proceed under Section 123 (1) of U.P.Z.A.&.L.R. Act. It appears that necessary order under Section 123 (1) of U.P.Z.A.&.L.R. Act were not passed and meanwhile, the said Chhavinath expired. An area of 0.1250 hectares of plot No. 139 was resumed by Commissioner, Vidhyachal Division, Mirzapur for the Dedicated Freight Corridor vide order dated 20.5.2012. After resumption of an area of 0.1250 hectares an area of 0.0140 hectares remained. Thereafter, the petitioners who are the heirs of the deceased Chhavinath moved the Assistant Collector under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 praying that the house site be settled in their favour. The Assistant Collector vide order dated 16.6.2016 required the Tehsildar, Chunar to do the needful in accordance with law and submit report. Thereafter the abadi site in respect of arazi/Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare and arazi/plot No. 140 M, area 0.125 hectare were settled in favour of the petitioners under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006 vide order dated 30.8.2016. The names of the petitioners stand recorded over the Plot No. 139 M area 0.0140 hectares in the relevant revenue records. It is relevant to mention here that Chhavinath was survived by his wife Kamla Devi (petitioner No. 2) and sons Ajay Kumar (petitioner No. 1) Vijay Shanker, Subhash Chandra, Sanjay Kumar, Ishwar Chand.

3. On 24.6.2016, a Notification under Section 20-A of the Railways Act, 1989 was issued by the Central Government wherein it was provided that certain lands in the district Mirzapur of the State of U.P. are required for the purpose of Special Railway Project i.e. Eastern Dedicated Freight Corridor and declared intention to acquire the plots including the Plot No. 139-M area 0.0140 hectare settled in favour of the petitioners. Thereafter a declaration under Section 20-E of the Railways Act, 1989 was published on 12.1.2017. The plot No. 139M area 0.0140, however, did not find place in the declaration of acquisition under Section 20-E of the Railways Act, 1989. An award in respect of the acquisition was also made on 18.4.2017 and the Plot No. 139 M area 0.0140 did not find mention in the award.

4. It is also relevant to record here that three members of the family of Chhavinath i.e. the petitioners herein and one Ishwar Chand have been granted benefit of Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 and a total area of 0.0580 hectares comprised in plot No. 139-M to the extent of 0.0140 hectares and plot No. 140M to the extent of 0.0440 hectares have been settled in their favour under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006.

5. On the basis of the above admitted facts, the petitioners submit that although initially vide Notification dated 24.6.2016 under Section 20-A of the Railways Act, 1989 the Central Government had declared its intention to acquire the arazi/plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare, but subsequently vide Notification dated 12.1.2017, under Section 20-E, the Central Government declared that the land excluding Arazi/Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare be acquired. Further, since no award has been made in respect of the Arazi/Plot No. 139M, area, 0.0140 hectare within one year from the date of publication of the declaration under Section 20-E, the entire proceedings for the acquisition in respect of the Arazi/Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare shall be deemed to have lapsed and the respondent authorities have no authority to interfere in the peaceful possession and beneficial enjoyment of the petitioners over their house constructed over Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectares.

6. The petitioners by way of a supplementary affidavit have brought on record the fact that by order dated 23.2.2021, the Assistant Collector had expunged the name of the petitioners from the revenue records and restored that of the Gaon Sabha, however, the petitioners assailed the order dated 23.2.2021 before this Court in Writ-C No. 17755 of 2021 (Ajay Kumar versus State of U.P. and 4 others) and Writ-C No. 10279 of 2021 (Kamla Devi versus State of U.P. and 4 others) and this Court by orders dated 4.8.2021 and 16.8.2021, respectively, have allowed the writ petitions.

7. This Court vide order dated 3.1.2019 while entertaining the writ petition invited counter affidavit from the respondents and at the same time directed parties to maintain status quo as on that day in respect of possession over the disputed land until further orders.

8. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the respondent Nos. 1 and 7 wherein it has been stated that plot No. 139 area 0.1390 hectares has been recorded as Banzar and notified under category 5-3 (³) and as such, vested in the gram sabha/state. In such view of the matter, no proceedings for its acquisition were required to be initiated and the plot was resumed by the Commissioner, Vindhyachal Division, Mirzapur vide order dated 26.4.2017 to the extent of an area of 0.0140 hectares out of an area of 0.1390 hectares and to the extent of an area of 0.3230 of plot No. 140 for the purposes of Dedicated Freight Corridor of the Railways. After the resumption of the Plot No. 139M to the extent of an area of 0.0140 hectare and acquisition of an area of 0.0440 hectares of plot No. 140M, the compensation in respect of the dwelling house of the petitioners has been determined under the National Rehabilitation and Settlement Policy, 2007 for the affected families by the competent authority and a sum of Rs.33,42,507/- has been determined in respect of arazi/plot No. 139 and 140. However, the petitioners have not collected their share.

9. A counter affidavit on behalf of respondent Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 6 has been filed by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel wherein identical grounds as taken by the respondent Nos. 1 & 7 has been taken to resist the writ petition.

10. In the rejoinder affidavit the petitioners in response to the counter affidavit of respondent nos. 1 and 7 have reiterated their stand that the acquisition proceedings in respect of Arazi/Plot No. 139M stands lapsed as admittedly no award has been made in respect of the said plot within the time provided under Section 20-F (2) of the Railways Act, 1989. The petitioners have right and title over the land in question. Once the land was notified under Section 20-A of the Railways Act it became mandatory to decide the objections under Section 20-D and make notification under Section 20-E for declaration. In response to the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent Nos. 3, 4, 5 & 6, the petitioners submit that the resumption order dated 26.4.2017 is void as also barred by Rule 68 (2) (f) of the U.P. Revenue Code Rules, 2016.

11. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 1 & 7 that the Government of India, Ministry of Railways issued Notification under Section 2 (37-A) of the Railways Act, 1989 inter alia declaring Eastern Dedicated Freight Corridor and Western Dedicated Freight Corridor as a Special Project for railways covering 9 States including the State of U.P. The Eastern Dedicated Freight Corridor with a route length of 1873 Km., links Ludhiana in Punjab and Darkauni in West Bengal. The Western Dedicated Frieght Corridor covers a distance of 1504 Km., double line electric (2 X 25 Kv) track from Mumbai to Dadri and thus, the Freight Corridor is a project of National Importance and would be the lifeline to the economy of the country and would provide infrastructure to reduce the time period substantially in transporting goods as well as consumption of fuel involved in transportation of the goods in comparison of road transport. The total estimated cost of DFCC Project from Pt. Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Junction (Mughalsarai) to Prayagraj Junction is more than 3000 crores which has increased by a significant amount owing to delays in land acquisition and cost overruns. The date of commissioning the project is being shifting from time to time. The house of the petitioners is built upon plot No. 139M and 140 jointly. Compensation for the same has already been determined under National Rehabilitation Policy, but petitioners have not collected the same. The house of the petitioners situate at Km. 155+30 in village Pirallipur, Tehsil Chunar, District Mirzapur is an obstruction in completion of the project and account of this only partial width of formation was available and mechanized track linking work along with electrical and signal works is not possible beyond the above location at Km. 155+30. Entire work in 181 Kms., section have almost been completed except this 50 meters patch of land which is pending due to the interim order in operation. It is, thus submitted that higher public purpose must give way to individual rights.

12. In the above backdrop, this Court is required to adjudicate the controversy and determine as to whether the claim of the writ petitioners is justified. From the pleadings of the parties, the following issues arise for consideration in the writ petition:-

i. Whether the writ petitioners have right, title and interest in plot Nos. 139 M, area 0.0140 hectare as claimed by them and if so, what is the nature of such right?

ii. Whether the proceedings in respect of the acquisition of Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare included in the Notification dated 24.6.2016, under Section 20-A of the Railways Act, 1989, but not included in Notification/Declaration dated 12.1.2017 under Section 20-E and non declaration of award in respect thereof will result in proceedings having lapsed under Section 20-F (2) of the Railways Act, 1989 as claimed by the petitioners?

iii. Whether the resumption proceedings of the Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare under Section 59 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, by the Commissioner, Vindhyachal Division, Mirzapur by order dated 26.4.2017 is in accordance with law in the wake of the plot/land having settled in favour of the petitioners under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006?

iv. Whether higher public purpose will have preference over individual rights as argued by learned counsel for respondents?

13. Before we proceed to decide the aforesaid issues which arise for consideration in this writ petition, it would be apt to consider certain provisions of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. The petitioners claim their right over the Plot No. 139M, area 0.0140 hectare by virtue of Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. Section 67-A is being reproduced hereunder:

"Section 67-A. Certain house sites to be settled with existing owners thereof -

(1) If any person referred to in sub-section (1) of Section 64 has built a house on any land referred to in Section 63 of this Code, not being land reserved for any public purpose, and such house exists on the November 29, 2012, the site of such house shall be held by the owner of the house on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed.

(2) Where any person referred to in sub-section (1) of Section 64, has built a house on any land held by a tenure holder (not being a government lessee) and such house exists on November 29, 2000, the site of such house, notwithstanding anything contained in this Code, be deemed to be settled with the owner of such house by the tenure holder on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed.

Explanation.- For the purpose of sub-section (2), a house existing on November 29, 2000, on any land held by a tenure holder, shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to have been built by the occupant thereof and where the occupants are members of one family by the head of that family.]"

14. Section 67-A (1) provides that if any agricultural labourer or village artisan belonging to scheduled caste, scheduled tribes or other backward class or a person of general category living below poverty line, has built a house on any land which may be allotted for abadi sites under Section 63, not being a land reserved for any public purpose and such house exists on 29th November, 2012, the site of such house shall be held by the owner of the house. That is to say it shall be settled with the owner of such house on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed.

15. Section 67-A (2) on the other hand provides that where any person belonging to the category given as above has built a house on any land held by a tenure holder and such house exists on 29th November, 2000, it be deemed to be settled with the owner of such house by the tenure holder.

16. In the case at hand, we are concerned with Section 67-A (1) only and Section 67-A (2) is not attracted as the petitioners have not built their house on any land held by a tenure holder. Now, the terms and conditions prescribed for regularization of certain house sites with their existing owners is referable to Rule 68 of the U.P. Revenue Code Rules, 2016 which is reproduced hereunder:

"68. Settlement of house sites with existing owners thereof (Section 67 A) -

(1) Where any person referred to in sub-section (1) of section 64 has built a house on any land referred to in section 63 of the Code, not being land reserved for any public purpose and such house exists on twenty-ninth day of November 2012, the site of such house shall be held by the owner of the house on terms and conditions prescribed in rule 64.

Note:- For the removal of doubt it is hereby declared that the maximum area of the site settled under section 67-A (1) of the Code or the rules framed there under shall not exceed two hundred square meters.

(2) Where any person referred to in sub-section (1) of section 64 has built a house on any land held by a tenure holder (not being a government lessee) and such house exists on twenty-ninth day of November 2000, the site of such house shall be deemed to be held by the owner of the house on the following terms and conditions -

(a) the maximum area of the site settled under section 67-A (2) of the Code or the rules framed thereunder shall not exceed two hundred square meters.

(b) the owner of the house as well as his heirs shall have a heritable interest in the site and shall also have unrestricted right to use the trees and wells existing on the site subject to existing rights of easements.

(c) he shall have a right to use the site for construction of a residential house, subject to existing rights of easement.

(d) the owner of the house shall not be liable to pay to the tenure holder or the State Government any future rent in respect of the site.

(e) the succession over the site shall be governed by personal law which the house owner was subject to.

(f) the owner of the house and his heirs shall not be liable to ejectment on any ground whatsoever.

(g) if the building is abandoned or if the owner thereof dies without any heir entitled to succeed, the land or site shall escheat to the State.

(h) the tenure holder shall be allowed remission of the proportionate land revenue for the portion of his holding settled under this rule with house owners. The land shall also be classified as abadi in the Khatauni maintained under the Code."

17. A perusal of the Rule 68 shows that the terms and conditions for settlement have been provided in Rule 64 of the 2016 Rules. The Rule 64 of the 2016 Rules is being quoted hereunder:

"64. Maximum area and other conditions of allotment (Sections 63 and 64) -

(1) The maximum area of allotment under rule 61 or 62 shall not exceed 200 square meters.

(2) The allottee of an abadi site shall not be liable to pay any premium or ground rent, but he shall hold such abadi site on the following terms and conditions:-

(a) The allottee shall build a house and shall begin to reside in it or use it for the purpose for which the site was allotted within a period of three years from the date of delivery of possession of the site allotted.

(b) If the allottee fails to comply with the terms and conditions incorporated in clause (a) of sub-rule (2) of this rule, the Collector may cancel the allotment in accordance with section 66:

Provided that in the case of the persons belonging to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe the aforesaid time limit for building of the house shall not apply.

(c) The allottee or his heirs shall not be entitled to transfer the site or the house built thereon by sale within a period of five years from the date of allotment. If the site or house is transferred after the expiry of five years from the date of allotment, the allottee shall not be eligible for re-allotment.

(d) The allottee shall have heritable interest in the land so allotted.

(e) The succession to the land shall be governed by the personal law of the allottee.

(f) Subject to the provisions of section 66, the allottee or his heirs shall not be liable to be ejected from the land allotted or from the house built thereon.

(g) If the land or the house built thereon is abandoned or if the allottee or his heirs die without any heir, the property shall re-vest in the Gram Panchayat."

18. The settlement of the abadi site is subject to the provisions of Section 66 of the U.P. Revenue Code whereunder the Collector has been empowered to hold an inquiry suo moto or on the application of any person aggrieved by allotment of land and cancel the allotment after recording satisfaction that the allotment is irregular and in that event the right, title and interest of the allottee and every other person claiming through him in the land allotted shall cease. However, no application in this regard shall be entertained after the expiration of a period of three years from the date of allotment.

19. In the case at hand, we find that plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares (140 square meters) along with an area of 0.0440 hectares (440 square meters) of Plot No. 140M, i.e. a total area of 0.0580 (580 square meters) of land contained in Plot No. 139M and 140M have been settled with the petitioners and other heirs of Chavvinath. The Rule 68 of the U.P. Revenue Code Rules, 2016 governing the settlement of the house sites under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006 clearly provides that the maximum land that could have settled with an owner of house is 200 square meters. Here the heirs of Chhavinath have to be taken as one unit and thus could not be entitled to settlement of an area in excess of 200 square meters under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code vide order dated 30.8.2016. The said order was recalled by the Assistant Collector vide order dated 23.2.2021 and the name of the petitioners were expunged from the revenue records and the entry of Gaon Sabha was restored. However, this Court in Writ-C No. 17755 of 2021 (Ajay Kumar versus State of U.P. and 4 others) and Writ-C No. 10279 of 2021 (Kamla Devi versus State of U.P. and 4 others) set aside the order dated 23.2.2021 and allowed the writ petitions vide orders dated 4.8.2021 and 16.8.2021. The orders dated 4.8.2021 and 16.8.2021 have been passed in complete ignorance of the fact that under law land in excess of 200 square meters could not be settled in favour of an allottee or otherwise under the provisions of Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006. The house of the petitioners is admittedly built over Plot No. 140M and 139M, with major portion lying on Plot No. 140M. In the opinion of the Court, an area upto 200 square meters of land with structure thereon could be settled with the petitioners under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006 and not the entire area of 0.0580 hectares (580 square metes) comprised in Plot No. 140M and 139M. No right can be said to have accrued to the petitioners in respect of Plot No. 139M and 140M in excess of 200 square meters. Thus, in our view, the plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares (140 square meters) does not stand settled with the petitioners along with the house constructed over it under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code. The petitioners are not the owners of the house as also the site under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. The first issue thus stands answered against the petitioners.

20. Now, coming to the second issue as to whether the proceedings of acquisition of Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares included in the Notification dated 24.6.2016, under Section 20-A of the Railways Act, 1989 but not included in the Notification/Declaration under Section 20-E and non declaration of award in respect thereof will result in the proceeding having lapsed under Section 20-F (2) of the Act, it would be apt to refer to the respective provisions under the Railways Act, 1989. Chapter IV-A of the Railways Act, 1989 deals with the land acquisition for Special Railway Project. Section 20-A relates to the power to acquire land etc., and reads as under:

"20A. Power to acquire land, etc.-- (1) Where the Central Government is satisfied that for a public purpose any land is required for execution of a special railway project, it may, by notification, declare its intention to acquire such land.

(2) Every notification under sub-section (1), shall give a brief description of the land and of the special railway project for which the land is intended to be acquired.

(3) The State Government or the Union territory, as the case may be, shall for the purposes of this section, provide the details of the land records to the competent authority, whenever required.

(4) The competent authority shall cause the substance of the notification to be published in two local newspapers, one of which shall be in a vernacular language."

21. Section 20-E of the Act deals with declaration of acquisition and reads as under:-

20E. Declaration of acquisition.-- (1) Where no objection under sub-section (1) of section 20D has been made to the competent authority within the period specified therein or where the competent authority has disallowed the objections under sub-section (2) of that section, the competent authority shall, as soon as may be, submit a report accordingly to the Central Government and on receipt of such report, the Central Government shall declare, by notification, that the land should be acquired for the purpose mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 20A.

(2) On the publication of the declaration under sub-section (1), the land shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances.

(3) Where in respect of any land, a notification has been published under sub-section (1) of section 20A for its acquisition, but no declaration under sub-section (1) of this section has been published within a period of one year from the date of publication of that notification, the said notification shall cease to have any effect:

Provided that in computing the said period of one year, the period during which any action or proceedings to be taken in pursuance of the notification issued under sub-section (1) of section 20A is stayed by an order of a court shall be excluded.

(4) A declaration made by the Central Government under sub-section (1) shall not be called in question in any court or by any other authority.

22. Perusal of the recitals contained in Section 20-A of the Railways Act, 1989 reveals that the Central Government under the section merely declares its intention to acquire land under the Notification for special railways project. It is merely a proposal. However, the recitals of Section 20-E reveals that on publication of the Notification under Section 20-E, the land shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. Sub section (3) of Section 20-E provides that where in respect of any land, a Notification under Section 20-A (1) of the Act has been published, but no declaration under Section 20-E (1) of the Act is published within one year from the date of Notification issued under sub-section (1) of Section 20-E the said Notification shall cease to have effect. Section 20-F deals with determination of amount payable as compensation. Section 20-F (2) provides that an award is to be made within a period of one year from the date of publication of Notification under Section 20-E (1) and if no award is made within that period, the entire proceedings for acquisition of the land shall lapse.

23. Applying the provisions discussed above to the case at hand, we find that, admittedly, the plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare was included in the Notification dated 24.6.2016 under Section 20-A of the Act, but the said plot was not included in the Notification/Declaration dated 12.1.2017 under Section 20-E and as such, it can safely be concluded that the Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare has not been acquired for the Special Railway Project. If the plot has not been acquired, there is no question of the acquisition proceedings to have lapsed. The submissions of the learned counsel for the petitioners in this regard is misconceived and is hereby rejected. The second issue is answered, accordingly, against the petitioners.

24. Now, coming to the third and most important issue as to whether the resumption proceedings in respect of Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare under Section 59 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, under the order dated 26.4.2017 of the Commissioner, Vindhyachal Division, Mirzapur is in accordance with law. We have already held that the Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare along with the structure (house) constructed thereon could not be settled with the petitioners under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 as an area in excess of 200 square meters cannot be settled in favour of the petitioners under Section 67-A of the Revenue Code, 2006. The settlement has attained finality so far as the petitioners are concerned only to the extent of 200 square meters of Plot No. 140M. Area in excess of 200 square meters of Plot No. 140M and 139M combined i.e. 380 square meters is liable to be treated to continue as Gaon Sabha land. The Land Management Committee/Gaon Sabha as also the State Government cannot be said to be divested of any right, title or interest in the said plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares and 380 square meters of Plot No. 140M and we are of the considered view that the plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares could be resumed treating it to be Gaon Sabha Land. The third issue is thus answered against the petitioners.

25. Learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 1 & 7 has argued that land in question i.e. Plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectare is involved in a project of national importance i.e. for construction of a dedicated freight corridor that is the eastern dedicated freight corridor with a route length of 1873 Km., linking Ludhiana in Punjab and Darkauni in West Bengal. The project should be the lifeline to the economy of the county and would provide the infrastructure to reduce the time period substantially in transporting goods as well as the consumption of fuel involved in transportation of the goods in comparison of road transportation. The dedicated freight corridor is the need of the day. The dedicated freight corridor will decongest already saturated road network and promote shifting of freight transport to more efficient rail transport. The total estimated cost of DFCC project from Pt. Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Junction to Prayagraj Junction is more than Rs.3,000/- crores which has increased by a significant amount owing to delays in land acquisition and other cost overruns. The target date for commissioning of the project earlier fixed as June, 2022 has since passed. For commissioning, both the tracks Up and Down need to be completed along with signal, telecom and electrical supply. On account of the interim order dated 3.1.2019 operating in the case, hindrance is being caused by the private house of the petitioners at Km. 155+030 and the contractors are demanding hefty amount owing to stoppage of work, idling of man and machine. The house of the petitioners which is existing over the plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares is an obstruction in the completion of the project. It is, thus, prayed that the interim order passed by the Court is liable to be vacated on the principle that the higher public purpose shall have preference over individual rights.

26. We have given our anxious consideration to the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the respondent

Nos. 1 & 7 and find substance in the same. The Dedicated Freight Corridor project of the railways is certainly a project of national importance. The project has certainly suffered on account of the present litigation and on account of the status quo order operating since 3.1.2019.

27. We find that the petitioners have no right, title or interest in plot No. 139M area 0.0140 hectares (140 square meters) situate in village Pirallipur, Pargana Haveli, Post Chunar, District Mirzapur as pleaded and the same does not stand settled with them under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. The house of the petitioners is built over plot No. 140M and 139M with major portion lying over plot No. 140M. An area upto 200 square meters with structure thereon could alone be settled with the petitioners under Section 67-A of the U.P. Revenue Code and not the entire area of 0.0580 hectares (580 square meters) comprised in plot No. 140M and 139M. No right can be said to have accrued to the petitioners in respect of plot No. 139M and 140M in excess of 200 square meters. The respondent Nos. 1 and 7 have already determined the compensation in respect of the dwelling house constructed over plot No. 139M and 140M to the tune of Rs.33,42,507/- which the petitioners are entitled to collect from the respondents.

28. For the forgoing reasons, the writ petition lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed. The interim order dated 3.1.2019 is discharged

29. In the connected Writ-C No. 17435 of 2018 separate order would be passed.

A. required to be examined whom the complainant considers material to make out a prima facie case for issuance of process-At the stage of taking cognizance the Magistrate has only to see whether there exists sufficient ground or not. the list of witnesses can be called at later stage from the complainant, if the learned Magistrate is of the opinion that the offence is exclusively triable by the Sessions Court in order to examine the complainant witnesses on oath to hold an enquiry u/s 202 Cr.P.C. 3. Allowed.

4. Order dated 12.04.2022 is hereby recalled.

5. The petition is restored to its original number.

(Order on Memo)

6. Present petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed seeking quashing of the proceedings of Criminal Case No.3682 of 2010: Smt. Madhuri vs Anoop Kumar & Ors, arising out of Case Crime No. 879 of 2008 under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC, Police Station Mishrikh, District Sitapur as well as summoning order dated 23.12.2015 whereby the petitioners have been summoned to face trial under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC.

Further challenge has been made to the order passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.11, Sitapur in Criminal Revision No.50 of 2016 dismissing the revision of the petitioners instituted against the summoning order dated 23.12.2015.

7. The complainant/respondent No.2 filed an application on 14.12.2007 under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. alleging that her son was killed on 12.11.2007 at around 9 A.M. by the accused-petitioners and his dead body was hanged from a tree. On the basis of order passed by learned Magistrate the FIR at Case Crime No.879 of 2008 came to be registered on 11.07.2008 under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC against the accused-petitioners.

8. The investigating agency, however, filed closure report in favour of the petitioners on 24.07.2008. Against the closure report, the complainant filed a protest petition, and the learned Magistrate considering the evidence and material, took cognizance under Section 190 Cr.P.C. and summoned the accused-petitioners for offences under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC vide order dated 29.07.2010.

9. The petitioners thereafter filed a petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. being Criminal Miscellaneous Case No.48 of 2011.

10. This Court on 31.01.2011 passed the following order in the said petition:-

"Supplementary affidavit filed by the petitioners is taken on record.

The petitioners have challenged the order dated 29th of July, 2010, passed by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sitapur on the ground that the learned Magistrate has taken cognizance of offence on the protest application under Section 190(1)(b)Cr.P.C., which provides that the Magistrate may take cognizance of any offence in exercise of power provided under the aforesaid section, but the Magistrate may take cognizance of offence only upon the police report of such facts. He further submits that the complaint case can never be treated as a police case, whereas the learned Magistrate has directed to proceed as State Case.

Upon perusal of the order impugned the submission of learned counsel for the petitioners cannot be disputed. I am of the view that the learned Magistrate on the basis of complaint can may take cognizance of offence only under Section 190 (1)(a) Cr.P.C. and that is not the State case in any manner, therefore, I hereby modify the order impugned to the extent that the cognizance taken by the learned Magistrate shall be considered as cognizance taken under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. and the learned Magistrate shall proceed with the case accordingly.

In the aforesaid terms the petition is disposed of finally. "

11. From perusal of the aforesaid order, it is evident that learned Single Judge was of the opinion that this petition was not a state case and, therefore, the order dated 29.07.2010 passed by the Magistrate was modified to the extent that cognizance taken by the learned Magistrate should be considered as cognizance taken under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. and the Magistrate should proceed with the case accordingly.

12. Thus, this Court directed the learned Magistrate to treat the protest petition as a complaint case. After passing of the aforesaid order by the this Court, the case was registered as a complaint case vide Case No.3692 of 2010.

13. Statement of the complainant was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. on 09.06.2019. In her statement recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C., the complainant said that on 22.11.2007 at around 9 A.M. accused-Anup Kumar took her paralyzed son, Sohit in respect of some theft allegedly committed by Sohit in the shop of Anup's uncle. Accused-Anup was an occultist. On the same day, the body of the son of the complainant was found in a field hanging from a tree which is near to the worship place of Anup Kumar. In the evening, the accused-Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash, Krishna Prakash and many other persons brought the dead body of her son to the house of the complainant. At that time, no male member of the family was present. When the husband of the complainant came home, he found the dead body of his son lying in the house, he became unconscious and the dead body was buried by accused-Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash, Krisha Prakash and others. Later on, elder brother of the husband of the complainant got the full information about the incident from Munni Devi an eye witness and other persons that accused-Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash and Krishna Prakash had strangulated the deceased and after killing him hanged his body from the tree. He gave information to the higher authorities and then dead body was exhumed and post mortem on the body gotconducted.

14. Mr.Uttam Kumar Mishra, Smt. Munni, Mr. Bhagauti Prasad and Dr.Arun Kumar were examined under Section 202 Cr.P.C.

15. Mr. Uttam Kumar Mishra was the elder brother of the husband of the complainant. He said that Sohit's one hand was amputated and, therefore, he could not have hanged himself from a tree. When he enquired about the incident from people, he was informed that Anup took the deceased on 22.11.2007 at 9:00 A.M. from the house and he was of the confirmed view that it was accused-Anup, who had killed the deceased on which he gave a complaint on 23.11.2007 at the police station and, thereafter, dead body was taken out from the grave and post mortem was conducted. It was further said that from interration with Munni Devi, he could come to know Anup, Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash had killed his nephew.

16. Smt. Munni Devi in her statement recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. stated that she witnessed accused-Anup, Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash, Krishna Prakash strangulating the deceased by a rope. Sohit was crying and she tried to stop the accused but they threatened her and chased her away from the place of the incident. She came home and after sometime, she could come to know that Sohit was killed.

17. Mr.Bhagwati Prasad, grandfather of the deceased-Sohit in his statement stated that deceased-Sohit's left hand was amputated in a flour mill, and his both legs were also broken. He used to have difficulty even in answering the natural call. Some theft was committed in the shop of Anup's uncle, Sohit's name came in relation to said theft. On 22.11.2007 Anup took Sohit from his house and on the same day at around 12:30 Hours, his dead body was found hanging from a tree near his worship place. He could come to know from Munni Devi and others that Anup, Gulshan, Ashutosh, Om Prakash, Krishna Prakash had killed the deceased by strangulating him by a rope.

18. Dr.Arun Kumar Gautam, who conducted the post mortem examination on the body of the deceased was also examined.

19. Learned Magistrate after considering the statements of the complainant and the witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. respectively summoned the petitioners vide impugned order dated 23.12.2015 and was of the opinion that prima facie offence under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC was made out against the accused-petitioners. They were summoned vide impugned order dated 23.12.2015. The complainant was directed to file a list of witnesses.

20. Mr. Rajendra Prasad Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the learned Magistrate has failed to appreciate that there is no evidence to take cognizance or for summoning the petitioners for offences under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC. Police had already filed closure report earlier after considering the statements of the complainant and witnesses. Their evidence is neither credible nor cogent and, therefore, summoning the petitioners on the basis of statements of the complainant and the witnesses is wholly illegal and impugned order is liable to be set aside.

21. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the cause of death in the post mortem report is not strangulation but it is asphyxia as a result of hanging. He, therefore, has submitted that the allegation that the deceased was strangulated by the petitioners, and other accused, and he was hanged from the tree cannot be believed. Learned counsel for the petitioners has also submitted that the complainant has not filed any list of witnesses along with protest petition and, therefore, in absence of this mandatory requirement under proviso 2 of Section 202(2) Cr.P.C. the complaint was required to be rejected.

22. On the other hand, Mr.Anurag Singh, learned counsel appearing for opposite party No.2 and Mr.Rao Narendra Singh, learned A.G.A have opposed the petition and have submitted that the learned Magistrate had taken cognizance on the closure report submitted by the police but his Court vide order dated 31.01.2011 had directed that the protest petition to be treated as complaint. They have submitted that evidence of eye witnesses, Munni and others would prima facie disclose commission of the offence by the petitioners. At the stage of taking cognizance and summoning the accused, only prima facie case is to be considered. From reading of the statements of the complainant and the witnesses, it cannot be said that no prima facie offence is made out against the petitioners. They therefore, have submitted that this petition challenging the impugned order 23.12.2015 taking cognizance and summoning the petitioners has no merit and liable to be dismissed.

23. In respect of submission that mandatory provision of proviso 2 to sub section 2 of Section 200 Cr.P.C. has not been complied with, they have submitted that it was the protest petition which was treated as complaint case by the learned Magistrate and after examining the complainant and witnesses, when learned Magistrate has found prima facie case to hold further enquiry, he has directed the complainant to file a list of witnesses. List of witnesses has already been filed. Learned Magistrate will examine the complainant and the witnesses on oath to hold an enquiry as provided under Section 202 Cr.P.C. before committing matter of Sessions Court. They have, therefore, submitted that there is no illegality in the procedure adopted by learned Magistrate, and the present petition has no merit which is liable to be dismissed.

24. I have considered the submissions of Mr.R.P. Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners, Mr.Anurag Singh, learned counsel appearing for the complainant and Mr.Rao Narendra Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State.

25. From the statements of the complainant and the witnesses recorded under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., it cannot be said that no offence under Sections 147, 302, 201 IPC has been made out. Post mortem report has only corroborative value, and it is not a primary evidence. Post mortem is an expert opinion and if there is an eye witness account, the accused cannot get away only on the basis of post mortem report.

26. I, therefore, do not find any substance in the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioners that there is no evidence available against the petitioners for summoning them to face trial under Sections 147, 201, 302 IPC

27. So far as submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners that in absence of list of witnesses with the complaint/protest petition, protest petition was required to be rejected, this Court considers that proviso 2 to Section 202(2) Cr.P.C. provides that in an enquiry if the Magistrate is of the opinion that offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, then the learned Magistrate is required to call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and then he should examine them on oath.

28. In this case, after considering the statement of the complainant and the witnesses recorded under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. learned Magistrate was of the opinion that prima facie offence under Sections 147, 201, 302 IPC is made out against the petitioner which is triable by the Sessions Court, therefore, learned Magistrate has called upon the complainant to submit list of witnesses for examining them on oath. Learned Magistrate has not committed any error of law in passing the impugned order and directing the complainant to file a list of witnesses to be examined on oath before committing the case to the learned Sessions Court.

29. The Supreme Court in the case of Rosy & Anr vs State of Kerala : (2000) 2 SCC 230 has held that under Section 200 read with 202 Cr.P.C., it is only at the discretion of Magistrate to decide whether to hold an inquiry or not before issuing process to the accused. Question of complying with the proviso 2 to Section 202(2) Cr.P.C. would arise only in cases where the Magistrate before taking cognizance of the case decides to hold the inquiry, and further decides to take evidence of witnesses on oath. The object and purpose of holding inquiry or investigation under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is to find out whether there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused or not and that holding of inquiry or investigation is not an indispensable course before issuing of process against the accused or dismissal of the complaint. The Supreme Court has held that it is an enabling provision to form an opinion as to whether or not process should be issued and to remove from his mind any doubt that he may have felt upon the mere perusal of the complaint and the consideration of the complainant's evidence on oath.

30. Enquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is of limited nature. Firstly, to find out whether there is prima facie case in issuing process against the person accused of the offence in the complaint and secondly, to prevent the issue of process in the complaint which is either false or vexatious or intended only to harass such a person. At that stage, the evidence is not to be meticulously appreciated, as the limited purpose being of finding out whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. The standard to be adopted by the Magistrate in scrutinizing the evidence is also not the same as the one which is to be kept in view at the stage of framing charges. At the stage of inquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. accused has no right to intervene and that it is the duty of the Magistrate while making an enquiry to elicit all facts not merely with a view to protect the interests of an absent accused person, but also with a view to bring to book a person or persons against whom grave allegations are made.

31. The Supreme Court in the case of Shivjee Singh vs Nagendra Tiwary & Ors: (2010) 7 SCC 578 has held that non examination on oath of any or some of the witnesses cited by the complainant is, by itself, not sufficient to denude the Magistrate of the jurisdiction to take cognizance and issue of process provided he is satisfied that prima facie case is made out for doing so.

32. The complainant is not bound to examine all the witnesses named in the complaint or whose names are disclosed in response to the order passed by the Magistrate. Only those witnesses are required to be examined whom the complainant considers material to make out a prima facie case for issuance of process. Then the choice being of the complainant, he may choose not to examine other witnesses. Consequence of such non-examination is to be considered at the trial and not at the stage of issuing process when the Magistrate is not required to enter into detailed discussions on the merits or demerits of the case. At the stage of taking cognizance and issuing process, the Magistrate has only to see whether there exists sufficient ground or not.

33. Considering the proviso 2 of Section 202 (2) Cr.P.C. and the judgments cited above, I am of the considered view that the list of witnesses can be called at later stage from the complainant, if the learned Magistrate is of the opinion that the offence is exclusively triable by the Sessions Court in order to examine the complainant witnesses on oath to hold an enquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. at the initial stage, even if the list of witnesses are not filed with the complaint/protest petition, but on examination of the complainant and the witnesses produced, learned Magistrate is of the opinion that there is a prima facie case against the accused, the order passed by the learned Magistrate would not get vitiated.

34. In the present case, learned Magistrate has called upon the complainant to furnish list of witnesses to be examined on oath to hold an enquiry as the offence is exclusively triable by the Sessions Court, and this Court does not find that learned Magistrate has committed any error of law or jurisdiction in doing so.

35. In view of the aforesaid discussion, present petition being devoid of merit and substance is hereby dismissed. If the petitioners surrender before the trial Court and apply for regular bail, their bail application(s) should be considered expeditiously in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sameer Jain, J.)

1. Despite service of notice upon opposite party no.2, nobody appeared on behalf of opposite party no.2.

2. Heard Sri N.K. Singh, learned counsel for the applicants and Sri Arvind Kumar, learned AGA for the State.

3. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicants to quash the Complaint Case No. 2439 of 2012 dated 05.07.2011 under Sections 420, 468, 471, 506, 120B IPC pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad as well as summoning order dated 19.09.2012 and order dated 03.11.2015 passed by revisional court in Criminal Revision No. 308 of 2012.

4. The necessary facts of the case for the purpose of present application is that opposite party no.2, the complainant on 05.07.2011 filed impugned criminal complaint against the applicants and Raj Bahadur Singh (not applicant), the father of applicant no.1 with the allegation that opposite party no.2 is the son-in-law of Vijay Bahadur Singh, the brother of Raj Bahadur Singh (not applicant) and his marriage was performed with the youngest daughter of Vijay Bahadur Singh. It is further alleged in the complaint that Raj Bahadur Singh (not applicant) with intention to grab the property of father-in-law of opposite party no.2 executed a forged registered Will of Vijay Bahdur Singh (father-in-law of opposite party no.2

and brother of Raj Bahdur Singh) on 30.11.2000 in favour of his grand sons, namely Rohit Bhadauriya and Mohit Bhadauriya under the guardianship of applicant no.2 (daughter-in-law of Raj Bahadur Singh), the mother of Rohit and Mohit. In the complaint dated 05.07.2011 it is further alleged that in the registered Will dated 30.11.2000, applicant nos. 3 and 4 were witnesses and opposite party no.2 came to know about the forged Will dated 30.11.2000 only when mutation proceeding was started and when he made a request from Raj Bahadur Singh and applicants to cancel the forged Will dated 30.11.2000 of Vijay Bahadur Singh then they refused to cancel the same and when opposite party no.2 tried to lodge the FIR then police did not lodge his FIR, therefore, he filed impugned complaint on 05.07.2011.

5. In support of complaint dated 05.07.2011, opposite party no.2 was examined under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and Yogesh Pal Singh and Ghambheer Singh both sons-in-law of Vijay Bahadur Singh were examined under Section 202 Cr.P.C. as PW-1 and PW-2. On 19.09.2012 on the basis of complaint and statements recorded under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., ACJM, Farrukhabad summoned the applicants and Raj Bahadur Singh (not applicant), under Sections 420, 468, 471, 506, 120B IPC.

6. Against the summoning order dated 19.09.2012 applicant nos. 1 and 2 preferred Criminal Revision No. 308 of 2012 before the Sessions Judge but on 03.11.2015 their revision was dismissed, hence the instant application has been moved challenging the complaint dated 05.07.2011, summoning order dated 19.09.2012 and lower revisional court order dated 03.11.2015.

7. Learned counsel for the applicants submitted that present dispute is purely civil dispute and opposite party no.2 has filed the impugned complaint only with intention to harass the applicants. He further submitted that the Will dated 30.11.2000 was a registered Will and on the basis of Will dated 30.11.2000, mutation proceeding was commenced, which ultimately decided in favour of applicants after hearing both the parties and opposite party no.2 neither challenged the order of mutation dated 10.04.2012 nor he ever challenged the Will dated 30.11.2000. Learned counsel for the applicants next submitted that as opposite party no.2, son-in-law of Vijay Bahadur Singh was well aware that Will dated 30.11.2000 is not forged one, therefore, he did not challenge the same before any competent civil court and without filing any suit for cancellation of Will dated 30.11.2000, he directly filed impugned complaint, which is bad in law. He further submitted that opposite party no.2 tried to negotiate the matter but when negotiation could not be finalized then ultimately he lodged the impugned complaint on 05.07.2011 on the basis of false allegation and the fact of negotiation is evident from the complaint itself. Learned counsel for the applicants further submitted that as opposite party no.2 filed impugned criminal complaint with malicious intention only to harass the applicants and impugned complaint does not disclose any criminal offence and efficacious remedy was available to opposite party no.2 before civil court, therefore, impugned complaint as well as summoning order are liable to be quashed. Learned counsel for the applicants next submitted that both the courts below failed to consider these facts and merely on the basis of averments made in the complaint, applicants were summoned and when applicant nos. 1 and 2 challenged the summoning order before the lower revisional court in revision then, their revision was also dismissed, therefore, both the courts below committed an error of law.

8. Per contra, learned AGA opposed the prayer and submitted that there is specific allegation against the applicants in the impugned complaint that on the basis of forged Will of Vijay Bahadur Singh dated 30.11.2000, the names of the sons of applicant nos. 1 and 2 were mutated over the property of Vijay Bahadur Singh, who was father-in-law of opposite party no.2 and applicant no.2 was the guardian of her sons, namely Rohit Bhadauriya and Mohit Bhadauriya in the Will dated 30.11.2000, therefore, prima facie offence under Sections 420, 468, 471, 506, 120B IPC is made out against the applicants. Learned AGA further submitted that as applicant nos. 3 and 4 are the witnesses of the forged Will and they were very well aware that Will of Vijay Bahadur Singh dated 30.11.2000 is forged one, therefore they too cannot scape from their liability and court below rightly summoned the applicants in the present matter.

9. Learned AGA next submitted that the argument advanced by learned counsel for the applicants can only be properly appreciated during the course of trial and not at this stage. He next submitted that merely on the basis of fact that dispute is civil in nature, the proceeding pending against the applicants cannot be quashed as complaint dated 05.07.2011 also discloses prima facie cognizable offences against the applicants, therefore, instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is liable to be dismissed.

10. I have given thoughtful consideration on the rival submissions and perused the record of the case.

11. The power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. of this court is although wide enough but law has been settled by catena of decisions of the Apex Court that only in rarest of rare cases, the criminal proceedings should be quashed at its inception.

12. The three judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1690 SC 866 after discussing the power of this Court under Section 561A old code (pari materia with Section 482 Cr.P.C.) observed in paragraph no.6 as:-

"6. Before dealing with the merits of the appeal it is necessary to consider the nature and scope of the inherent power of the High Court under Section 561 -A of the Code. The said section saves the inherent power of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code or to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. There is no doubt that this inherent power cannot be exercised in regard to matters specifically covered by the other provisions of the Code. In the present case the magistrate before whom the police report has been filed under Section 173 of the Code has yet not applied his mind to the merits of the said report and it may be assumed in favour of the appellant that his request for the quashing of the .proceedings is not at the present stage covered by any specific provision of the Code. It is well-established that the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court can be exercised to quash proceedings in a proper case either to prevent the abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Ordinarily criminal proceedings instituted against an accused person must be tried under the provisions of the Code, and the High Court would be reluctant to interfere with the said proceedings at an interlocutory stage. It is not possible, desirable or expedient to lay down any inflexible rule which would govern the exercise of this inherent jurisdiction. However, we may indicate some categories of cases where the inherent jurisdiction can and should be exercised for quashing the proceedings. There may be cases where it may be possible for the High Court to take the view that the institution or continuance of criminal proceedings against an accused person may amount to the abuse of the process of the court or that the quashing of the impugned proceedings would secure the ends of justice. If the criminal proceeding in question is in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by an accused person and it manifestly appears that there is a legal bar against the institution or continuance of the said proceeding the High Court would be justified in quashing the proceeding on that ground. Absence of the requisite sanction may, for instance, furnish cases under this category. Cases may also arise where the a11egations in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not constitute the offence alleged; in such cases no ques- tion of appreciating evidence arises; it is a matter merely of looking at the complaint or the First Information Report to decide whether the offence alleged is disclosed or not. In such cases it would be legitimate for the High Court to hold that it would be manifestly unjust to allow the process of the criminal court to be issued against the accused person. A third category of cases in which the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court can be successfully invoked may also arise. In cases falling under this category the allegations made against the accused person do constitute an offence alleged but there is either no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to prove the charge. In dealing with this class of cases it is important to bear in mind the distinction between a case where there is no legal evidence or where there is evidence which is manifestly and clearly inconsistent with the accusation made and cases where there is legal evidence which on its appreciation may or may not support the accusation in question. In exercising its jurisdiction under Section 561-A the High Court would not embark upon an enquiry as to whether the evidence in question is reliable or not. That is the function of the trial magis- trate, and ordinarily it would not be open to any party to invoke the High Court's inherent jurisdiction and' contend that on a reasonable appreciation of the evidence the accusation made against the accused would not be sustained. xxxxxxxx"

13. Again Supreme Court discussed the power of this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. very elaborately in the case of State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335 and in paragraph 102 enumerated 7 categories of the cases where power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by this Court which is quoted below:-

"102. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156 (1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155 (2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155 (2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

14. Recently the three Judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of M/s. Neeharika Inrastructure Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State of Maharashtra and others reported in [AIR 2021 Supreme Court 1918] again discussed the scope of Section 482 Cr.P.C. and Article 226 of Constitution of India in detailed manner and summarised in paragraph-23 as under:-

"23. In view of the above and for the reasons stated above, our final conclusions on the principal/core issue, whether the High Court would be justified in passing an interim order of stay of investigation and/or "no coercive steps to be adopted", during the pendency of the quashing petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and in what circumstances and whether the High Court would be justified in passing the order of not to arrest the accused or "no coercive steps to be adopted" during the investigation or till the final report/chargesheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing of/not entertaining/not quashing the criminal proceedings/complaint/FIR in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, our final conclusions are as under:

i) Police has the statutory right and duty under the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure contained in Chapter XIV of the Code to investigate into a cognizable offence;

ii) Courts would not thwart any investigation into the cognizable offences;

iii) It is only in cases where no cognizable offence or offence of any kind is disclosed in the first information report that the Court will not permit an investigation to go on;

iv) The power of quashing should be exercised sparingly with circumspection, as it has been observed, in the "rarest of rare cases (not to be confused with the formation in the context of death penalty).

v) While examining an FIR/complaint, quashing of which is sought, the court cannot embark upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR/complaint;

vi) Criminal proceedings ought not to be scuttled at the initial stage;

vii) Quashing of a complaint/FIR should be an exception rather than an ordinary rule;

viii) Ordinarily, the courts are barred from usurping the jurisdiction of the police, since the two organs of the State operate in two specific spheres of activities and one ought not to tread over the other sphere;

ix) The functions of the judiciary and the police are complementary, not overlapping;

x) Save in exceptional cases where non-interference would result in miscarriage of justice, the Court and the judicial process should not interfere at the stage of investigation of offences;

xi) Extraordinary and inherent powers of the Court do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the Court to act according to its whims or caprice;

xii) The first information report is not an encyclopaedia which must disclose all facts and details relating to the offence reported. Therefore, when the investigation by the police is in progress, the court should not go into the merits of the allegations in the FIR. Police must be permitted to complete the investigation. It would be premature to pronounce the conclusion based on hazy facts that the complaint/FIR does not deserve to be investigated or that it amounts to abuse of process of law. After investigation, if the investigating officer finds that there is no substance in the application made by the complainant, the investigating officer may file an appropriate report/summary before the learned Magistrate which may be considered by the learned Magistrate in accordance with the known procedure; xiii) The power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is very wide, but conferment of wide power requires the court to be more cautious. It casts an onerous and more diligent duty on the court;

xiv) However, at the same time, the court, if it thinks fit, regard being had to the parameters of quashing and the self-restraint imposed by law, more particularly the parameters laid down by this Court in the cases of R.P. Kapur (supra) and Bhajan Lal (supra), has the jurisdiction to quash the FIR/complaint;

xv) When a prayer for quashing the FIR is made by the alleged accused and the court when it exercises the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C., only has to consider whether the allegations in the FIR disclose commission of a cognizable offence or not. The court is not required to consider on merits whether or not the merits of the allegations make out a cognizable offence and the court has to permit the investigating agency/police to investigate the allegations in the FIR; xvi) The aforesaid parameters would be applicable and/or the aforesaid aspects are required to be considered by the High Court while passing an interim order in a quashing petition in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. However, an interim order of stay of investigation during the pendency of the quashing petition can be passed with circumspection. Such an interim order should not require to be passed routinely, casually and/or mechanically. Normally, when the investigation is in progress and the facts are hazy and the entire evidence/material is not before the High Court, the High Court should restrain itself from passing the interim order of not to arrest or "no coercive steps to be adopted" and the accused should be relegated to apply for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. before the competent court. The High Court shall not and as such is not justified in passing the order of not to arrest and/or "no coercive steps" either during the investigation or till the investigation is completed and/or till the final report/chargesheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing of the quashing petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

xvii) Even in a case where the High Court is prima facie of the opinion that an exceptional case is made out for grant of interim stay of further investigation, after considering the broad parameters while exercising the powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India referred to hereinabove, the High Court has to give brief reasons why such an interim order is warranted and/or is required to be passed so that it can demonstrate the application of mind by the Court and the higher forum can consider what was weighed with the High Court while passing such an interim order.

xviii) Whenever an interim order is passed by the High Court of "no coercive steps to be adopted" within the aforesaid parameters, the High Court must clarify what does it mean by "no coercive steps to be adopted" as the term "no coercive steps to be adopted" can be said to be too vague and/or broad which can be misunderstood and/or misapplied."

15. Therefore, the law is now settled that if a case falls under the parameters of R.P. Kapur case (supra) and State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others (supra) then this Court can quash the proceedings while exercising its power under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

16. Before proceeding further it is necessary to have a glance of Section 482 Cr.P.C. which runs as:-

"482. Saving of inherent power of High Court. Nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice."

17. Therefore, Section 482 Cr.P.C. deals with the inherent power of this Court to prevent the abuse of process of any Court or to secure the ends of justice.

18. The three judges Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Parbatbhai Aahir alias Parbatbhai Bhimsinhbhai Karmur and others Vs. State of Gujarat and another (2017) 9 SCC 641 held that Section 482 Cr.P.C. is prefaced with an overriding provision and this Court being a superior Court has the inherent power to make such orders as are necessary (i) to prevent an abuse of the process of any Court; or (ii) otherwise to secure the ends of justice.

19. Recently, the Apex Court in the case of Kapil Agarwal and others Vs. Sanjay Sharma and others (2021) 5 SCC 524 observed in paragraph no. 18.1 in respect of power of this court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. as:-

"As observed and held by this Court in catena of decisions, inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution is designed to achieve salutary purpose that criminal proceedings ought not to be permitted to degenerate into weapon of harassment. When the Court is satisfied that criminal proceedings amount to an abuse of process of law or that it amounts to bringing pressure upon accused, in exercise of inherent powers, such proceedings can be quashed."

20. Applying the law laid down by the Apex Court referred to herein-above, now I will proceed to discuss the fact of the present case.

21. The impugned complaint was filed by opposite party no.2 against the applicants with the allegation that on the basis of forged Will of his father-in-law applicant no.1 and 2 mutated the name of their sons but admittedly Will in dispute dated 30.11.2000 was registered one and on the basis of registered Will after hearing both the parties, the mutation court passed the order in favour of applicants and except the bald allegation, there is no evidence on record on the basis of which, it can be said that the alleged registered Will dated 30.11.2000 was forged one.

22. The Apex Court in case of R.P. Kapur (supra) observed that if there is no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to charge then proceedings of such cases can be quashed while exercising the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. (Section 561A of the old code).

23. In the present case except bald allegation there is no legal evidence on record which can show that either applicants prepared the forged Will or they executed the forged Will, rather there is order of mutation dated 10.04.2012 (Annexure No.9 to the affidavit filed in support of present application) which shows that after hearing both the parties, on the basis of registered Will dated 30.11.2000, the name of sons of applicant nos. 1 and 2 were mutated and opposite party no.2 did not even challenge the order dated 10.04.2012, therefore, in view of the law laid down in R.P. Kapur (supra), the instant application is liable to be succeeded.

24. Further, opposite party no.2 did not even challenge the alleged forged Will dated 30.11.2000 in any competent civil court and directly filed impugned complaint and further as per the complaint itself he tried to negotiate the matter with the applicants but when failed then he filed the impugned complaint against the applicants and Raj Bahadur Singh (not applicant). Apparently, the present dispute is of civil nature, therefore, question arises, whether in such cases, which are purely civil in nature, criminal proceedings should be permitted to continue.

25. The Apex Court in the case of G. Sagar Suri and another Vs. State of U.P. and others (2000) 2 SCC 636 observed in paragraph no. 8 as:-

"Jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code has to be exercised with a great care. In exercise of its jurisdiction High Court is not to examine the matter superficially. It is to be seen if a matter, which is essentially of civil nature, has been given a cloak of criminal offence. Criminal proceedings are not a short cut of other remedies available in law. Before issuing process a criminal court has to exercise a great deal of caution. For the accused it is a serious matter. This Court has laid certain principles on the basis of which High Court is to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code, Jurisdiction- under this Section has to be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice."

26. The Supreme Court in the case of Indian Oil Corporation Vs. NEPC India Limited and others (2006) 6 SCC 736 observed as:-

"13. xxxxx There is also an impression that if a person could somehow be entangled in a criminal prosecution, there is a likelihood of imminent settlement. Any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure though criminal prosecution should be deprecated and discouraged"

27. The three judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of M. Subramaniam and another Vs. S. Janki and another (2020) 16 SCC 728 cautioned that a civil dispute should not be given the colour of criminal offence.

28. If I apply the above principles on the facts of the case at hand then I find that opposite party no.2 has given the colour of criminal offence to a purely civil dispute. As per the allegation, on the basis of forged Will, the mutation proceeding was ended in favour of the applicants but there is no evidence that the Will dated 30.11.2000, the registered Will was forged one, therefore, only competent civil court having jurisdiction over the matter could decide the issue whether the Will in dispute dated 30.11.2000 was forged one or not but opposite party no.2 did not choose to file any suit for cancellation of Will dated 30.11.2000, therefore, it appears that he wanted to settle his score through criminal proceedings as criminal proceedings can be very easily initiated and can harass the applicants too. Therefore, from this point of view too, the present application filed on behalf of the applicants can succeed.

29. The three judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Inder Mohan Goswami and another Vs. State of Uttaranchal and others (2007) 12 SCC 1 also deprecated the practice that if the dispute is purely of civil in nature and can only be ascertained on the basis of evidence by competent court then criminal proceedings should not be permitted to continue.

30. In case at hand, the question whether Will dated 30.11.2000 is forged could only be ascertained through evidence and documents by a civil court of competent jurisdiction but opposite party no.2 did not challenge the Will before any civil court, therefore, impugned complaint can be nipped in the bud while exercising the jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

31. As, the present dispute is in respect of registered Will deed of deceased and registered Will was never challenged by opposite party no.2 in any competent civil court and there is no evidence on record, which can even indicate that the Will in question dated 30.11.2000 was forged one, therefore, in my considered view, the criminal proceedings instituted by the opposite party no.2 is nothing but an abuse of the process of law and it has been used by him only as a weapon of oppression against the applicants.

32. Therefore, from the discussion made above, I find merit in the case and accordingly the proceedings of Complaint Case No. 2439 of 2012 dated 05.07.2011 under Sections 420, 468, 471, 506, 120B IPC pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad as well as summoning order dated 19.09.2012 and order dated 03.11.2015 passed by revisional court in Criminal Revision No. 308 of 2012, Police Station Maudarwaza, District Farrukhabad are hereby quashed.

33. The instant application stands allowed.

In the marriage, her father had spent about a sum of Rs.11 lakhs. Her husband was working in a private company and was getting about Rs.20,000/- as salary. 4. Investigating Officer recorded the statement of opposite party no. 2 under Section 161 Cr.P.C. (typed copy of the statement has been annexed as annexure no.3), wherein she stated that the members of her in-laws' family were not satisfied with the dowry given in the marriage and were demanding Rs. 2 lakh as additional dowry and on account of non-fullfilment of demand of additional dowry, her husband (applicant no.1), mother-in-law (applicant no.2), father-in-law (applicant no.3), sister-in-law, unmarried Nanad (applicant no.4) and brother-in-law, Devar (applicant no.5) started beating and maltreating her. The opposite party no.2 was medically examined on 15.02.2018 at Pt. Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital, Aligarh. On internal examination, no fresh injury was seen. On external examination no fresh injury of recent use of force was found. Two smear slides were prepared and sent for pathological examination in which no spermatozoa was seen and supplementary injury report was prepared in which doctor opined that on the basis of pathological, medical and physical examination, there was no sign of recent use of force, however, final opinion was reserved depending on FSL report. The above reports were copied by investigating officer in the case diary (the typed and photocopy of the case diary is annexed as annexure no.4 to the affidavit). Investigating officer also recorded statement of Ranveer Singh, father of the informant, Smt. Pushpa Devi, mother of the informant, the copy of the statements is annexed as annexure no.6. The statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of the informant/victim was recorded by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-VIII, Aligarh, copy of which has been annexed as annexure no.7 to the affidavit. In the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she stated that her marriage with Shani, resident of New Delhi was solemnized on 05.02.2017. After marriage, she was living happily at her matrimonial home, but on 25.04.2017 her husband in drunken condition lacerated her private part mercilessly, thereafter, her husband, mother-in-law, Nanad and Devar got her admitted in Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi on 26.04.2017. She further stated that accused persons were not keeping her properly and used to beat her on account of demand of Rs. 2 lakhs as dowry. On 15.10.2017 her husband took her at Aligarh and left her at the bus stand. Investigating Officer also recorded the statement of Dr. Vijaya Jutesi, Medical Officer, Safdarjung Hospital, Delhi and Dr. Alveera Shah, Medical Officer, Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital, Aligarh, copies of the same have been annexed as annexure nos. 8 & 9. After investigation, it was found that offence under Section 376 I.P.C. is not made out and the charge-sheet was submitted against the accused-applicants under Sections 498-

A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act.

5. It has been submitted by learned counsel for the applicants that in this case mother, father, brother and unmarried sister of husband (applicant no.1) of opposite party no.2 have been falsely implicated in this case. The general allegations have been levelled against the accused, therefore, no case is made out against the applicants in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Geeta Mehrotra & Anr. vs. State of UP & Anr., reported in AIR 2013 Supreme Court 181, Mirza Iqbal @ Golu & Anr. vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh, 2021 0 Supreme(SC)795, and the law laid down by this Court in Pankaj Jaiswal vs. State of U.P. & Another, 2021 0 Supreme(All) 491. It is further submitted that according to prosecution version, the cause of action arose from 05.02.2017 to 15.10.2017 at the residence of applicants, i.e., House No. 63/331, Nai Basti, Village Jamiya Nagar, South Delhi but opposite party no.2 lodged the first information report at Police Station- Mahila Thana, District- Aligarh. According to Sections 177 and 178 Cr.P.C., every offence shall ordinarily be enquired into and tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed and when it is uncertain in which of several local areas an offence was committed, or where an offence is committed partly in one local area and partly in another, or where an offence is a continuing one, and continues to be committed in more local areas than one, or where it consists of several acts done in different local areas, it may be enquired into or tried by a court having jurisdiction over any of such local areas. In this case, the offence is alleged to have been committed in Delhi, therefore, the court at Aligarh has no territorial jurisdiction to take cognizance of the offence on the basis of charge-sheet. It is further submitted that according to prosecution case, applicant no.1 assaulted the opposite party no.2 for non-fulfilment of demand dowry of Rs. 2 lakhs on the goading of his family members, but she did not get herself medically examined by any doctor nor any medico-legal injury report has been filed which establishes that she was assaulted by applicant no.1 on the direction of his family members. Neither any demand of dowry was made by the applicants nor she was tortured in any manner. In fact, the opposite party no.2 had gone to her parental house on her own free will and volition and was continuously residing with her parents since 11.10.2017, thereafter, she has lodged the first information report on the basis of false, fabricated and concocted story with ulterior motive to harass the applicant no.1 (husband) and his family members to pressurise her husband to live with her separately on rental house. It is further submitted that opposite party no.2 sustained injury in her private part during coitus and the treating doctor in her statement has stated that the injury in question on the private part of opposite party no.2 cannot be caused by hand as alleged by the prosecution. The applicant no.1 is ready to keep opposite party no.2 and he has filed a suit for restitution of conjugal rights in the court of Principle Judge Family Court (South-East), Saket Court, New Delhi. It is further submitted that applicant no.3 is a tailor and running a shop on rent of Rs.5000/- per month village of Okhla Jamiya Nagar, New Delhi and applicant no.1 is helping him in tailoring work. The aforesaid criminal proceedings have been initiated by opposing party no.2 against the applicants in abuse of process of law and the same is liable to be set-aside.

6. Per contra, learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for opposite party no.2 have submitted that perusal of first information report, statements under Section 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. of opposite party no.2, statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of her parents, namely, Ranveer Singh, Smt. Pushpa Devi and the material available on record, prima facie, discloses the commission of cognizable offence punishable under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, therefore, in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in State of Haryana & Ors. vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal & Ors., 1992 AIR 604, 1990 SCR Supl. (3) 259 and M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Maharashtra & Ors, 2020 SCC Online SC 850, the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is not maintainable. It is further submitted that so far as the genuineness of the prosecution case is concerned, it cannot be adjudicated in the proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and it can only be adjudicated by trial court after recording the evidence. In exercise of power conferred under jurisdiction 482 Cr.P.C., the High Court cannot appreciate the pros and cons of the evidence in view of law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1960 (SC) 866. It is further submitted that although the occurrence has taken place at New Delhi but the part of act of cruelty was taken place at Aligarh, because due to injury in her private parts, her private part was not in good condition as it was earlier on account of which applicant no.1 cut-off his relation with her, and thereafter, on 15.10.2017 in continuance of cruelty her husband left her at Aligarh bus stand and threatened her that she is not suitable for him and when she reached at her parental house, she narrated the entire incidents to her parents. The part of the cruelty punishable under Section 498-A was committed by the accused-applicants at New Delhi and the part of the cruelty i.e. "the act of threatening her that she is not suitable for him" was committed at Aligarh, therefore, the court at Aligarh has jurisdiction to take cognizance of occurrence and police at Aligarh is empowered to lodged first information report and to investigate the matter. The marriage of opposite party no.2 with the applicant no.1 has taken place on 05.02.2017 at Damodar Guest House, Aligarh and just after marriage she had gone to her matrimonial house. It is also submitted that the injury in vagina may be sustained in the early weeks of coitus and it will not happen after passage of about more than two months. There was 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm tear in the vagina of opposite party no.2 and on 26.04.2017 she was admitted to Safdarjung Hospital, Delhi at that time the injury was found bleeding continuously. From the perusal of treatment prescription of Safdarjung Hospital, it transpires that the doctor has repaired tears by stitching under I/V sedition and medicines were prescribed. Although, Dr. Vijaya Jutesi in her statement has stated that the injury in question may occur during sexual intercourse and it could not be caused by hand, but the victim in her statement stated that the accused-applicant no.1 had torned her vagina by hands. It is further submitted that it can only be decided after recording the evidence of doctor at the time of trial, because at that stage the prosecution may suggest the manner in which the alleged injury was caused by applicant no.1. In the first information report, opposite party no.2 has also alleged that her husband, mother-in-law, father-in-law, unmarried Nanad and Devar were taking all the household work by her day and night and were not treating her with honour. She has further stated that the demand of dowry was made by the accused-applicants to construct the house and on account of its non-fulfillment her husband and other in-laws were beating and maltreating her. It is next submitted that specific allegations have been levelled against all the accused-applicants and the facts and circumstances of this case is different than that of the case relied on by learned counsel for the applicants in Geeta Mehrotra & Anr. vs. State of UP & Anr., reported in AIR 2013 Supreme Court 181, Mirza Iqbal @ Golu & Anr. vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh, 2021 0 Supreme(SC)795, and the law laid down by this Court in Pankaj Jaiswal vs. State of U.P. & Another, 2021 0 Supreme(All) 491, and therefore, the above cited case law is not applicable in the case in hand. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is devoid of merits and is liable to be dismissed.

7. I have given thoughtful consideration to the contentions raised by learned counsel of the parties as well as learned A.G.A. for the State and gone through the file.

8. The informant in the first information report stated that her marriage had taken place at Aligarh with applicant no.1 Shani on 05.02.2017 and her father had given dowry according to his capacity. After marriage, she had gone to her matrimonial house at Nai Basti Okhla, Jamiya Nagar, New Delhi. She had further alleged that her husband, mother-in-law, father-in-law, Nanad and Devar were taking all household work from her day and night and were not giving her respect. After sometimes of marriage her husband started demanding Rs.2 lakhs for construction of house and on refusal to meet out the demand, her husband on persuasion of his family members started assaulting and maltreating her. She had further alleged that her husband had torn her private part in the night on 25.04.2017 at that time her husband was drunken. On 26.04.2017, she was admitted in Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi by her husband and in-laws in critical condition, where she was threatened not to tell anything to anyone otherwise they would give poison to her, due to this reason she kept mum. She further alleged that her private part was not getting normal due to which her husband refused to have a relationship with her like husband and wife and on 15.10.2017 her husband left her at Aligarh bus stand saying that now she is not suitable for him. Thereafter, her relatives had tried to persuade the accused persons, but it resulted in vain. In the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., she stated that all accused-applicants were demanding Rs. 2 lakhs as dowry for construction of house and on refusal they assaulted her and on 25.04.2017 her husband came house after consuming liquor and started abusing her in obscene words and torn her private part ruthlessly by his both hands, and thereafter, they got her admitted in Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi on 26.04.2017. In the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she corroborated the version of her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. From the perusal of medical prescription, it is very much clear that the victim/informant sustained injury in her private part on 25.04.2017 and continued to bleed till the time of admission in the hospital in the next morning where the tear was repaired by stitching under I/V seditions, and thereafter, she was discharged from the hospital. It has also been alleged that when the victim sustained injury in her private part, the family members of her in-laws were making fun of her saying that she only deserves it.

9. So far as the submission of learned counsel for applicants regarding applicability of the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Geeta Mehrotra & Anr. vs. State of UP & Anr. (supra) is concerned, in that ruling it was held that in the first information report allegation against Geeta Mehrotra and Ramji Mehrotra, who are unmarried sister elder brother of husband of the complainant, was found absent and mere casual reference to their names in the first information report was found insufficient to take cognizance against unmarried sister and elder brother of husband of the complainant. In the case in hand, the victim/complainant had alleged in her statements under 161 & 164 Cr.P.C. that all the accused-applicants were not treating her well and were demanding Rs. 2 lakhs as additional dowry and used to harass and torture her and even after she sustained injury in her private part, her husband after treatment told her that now she is not suitable for him and left her at Aligarh bus stand. In above circumstances, prima facie, it cannot be said that there was no active involvement of accused-applicants including father-in-law, mother-in-law, Nanad and Dever in the present case. It is also pertinent to mention that when the victim/complainant sustained injury in her private part, the accused-applicants were making fun of her saying that she deserves only it. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Geeta Mehrotra & Anr. vs. State of UP & Anr. (supra) had relied on the law laid down in Ramaesh vs State of Tamil Nadu, reported in (2005) SCC (Crl.) 735 at 738, where the sister of husband of the complainant, who was living at a different place, was named in the first information report. In that circumstances, Hon'ble Apex Court held that sister of husband of the complainant was roped in on the basis of bald allegation which was not sufficient to take cognizance against her and the cognizance order against sister of husband of the complainant, who was living at a different place, was quashed. So far as the applicability of the case law of Hon'ble Apex Court in Kahkashan Kausar @ Sonam vs The State Of Bihar 2022 0 Supreme (SC) 117 is concerned, in that case it was held that if the allegations made against the in-laws (appellants) are general and omnibus allegations, they are liable to be quashed and also held that in absence of any specific role attributed to accused persons, it would be unjust if appellants are forced to go through tribulations of a trial, i.e., general and omnibus allegations cannot manifest in a situation where the relatives of the complainant's husband are forced to undergo trial and a criminal trial leading to an eventual acquittal also inflicts severe scars upon the accused, and such an exercise must therefore be discouraged. In this case, specific allegations were made against the accused persons that all applicants were demanding Rs. 2 lakhs as additional dowry for construction of joint house; they were treating the victim/complainant like a mad and were taking all the household work by her day and night; and were not respecting her and harassing her and also persuading her husband to beat her and even when she sustained injury in her private part they were making fun of her. In above circumstances, the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Kahkashan Kausar @ Sonam vs The State Of Bihar (supra) is not applicable in this case because the facts and circumstances of this case are different and specific allegations were made against all the accused-applicants. So far as the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Mirza

Iqbal @ Golu & Anr. vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh (supra) is concerned, the 1st Appellant therein, was brother-in-law of the deceased was working as a Cashier in ICICI Bank, Khalilabad. On the date of incident i.e. on 24.07.2018, he was on duty and was residing at Khalilabad in view of his employment in ICICI Bank and his mother 2nd Appellant Shamima Bano alias Sammi was also living with him at Khalilabad. In that case, the occurrence had taken place at Gorakhpur, in above circumstances, the proceeding against brother-in-law and mother-in-law of the complainant-respondent was quashed. The facts and circumstances of this case are different from that of aforesaid case, therefore, the law laid down in Mirza Iqbal @ Golu & Anr. vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh (supra) is not applicable in this case.

10. In this case, the order of cognizance was passed on the order-sheet and not on the printed proforma, therefore, there is no illegality in passing the impugned order.

11. So far as the submission of the counsel of applicants regarding lodging of false and concocted first information report is concerned, it can be adjudicated after recording the evidence by trial court. At the stage of proceeding under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the Court is to see whether perusal of uncontroverted evidence recorded by Investigating Officer during investigation discloses any cognizable offence or not. At this stage, Court cannot marshal the evidence and adjudicate on the reliability of the evidence. The court has to only see whether the prima facie case of commission of cognizable offence is made out or not in the light of law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in "R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1960 (SC) 866, State of Haryana & Ors. vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal & Ors., 1992 AIR 604, 1990 SCR Supl. (3) 259 and M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Maharashtra & Ors, 2020 SCC Online SC 850". In above circumstances, the impugned order of taking cognizance of offence on the basis of charge-sheet, impugned charge-sheet and the proceedings of lower court are not liable to be quashed and the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is moved with mala fide intention to delay the proceedings of the lower court.

12. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

2. Smt. Manbhawati Vs St. of U.P. & anr. (2006) 55 ACC 509

(Delivered by Hon'ble Gautam Chowdhary, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rama Shanker Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Bablu Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2, Sri Rakesh Chandra Srivastava and Si Adarsh Kumar Pandey, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material on record.

2. By means of the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the applicant is challenging the proceedings of Case No. 4912 of 2017 (State Vs. Yogesh Pandey and another) arising out of Case Crime No. 0159 of 2017 under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506, 406 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, at Police Station Mahila Thana, District Ghaziabad pending before learned VIIIth Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, District Ghaziabad.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the marriage of the applicant was solemnised with the opposite party no.2 on 26.11.2015 according to Hindu rites and rituals but due to matrimonial discord, the party started living separately since 28.11.2016. Later on, a first information report dated 27.04.2017 was lodged by the opposite party no.2 in Case Crime No. 0159 of 2017 under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506, 406 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, at Police Station Mahila Thana, District Ghaziabad against the applicant and one Sudha Pandey. Thereafter, the matter was entrusted for investigation, which culminated in submission of charge sheet against the applicant and co-accused Sudha Pandey, upon which cognizance was taken and case was registered as Case No. 4912 of 2017 (State Vs. Yogesh Pandey and another).

4. Perusal of the record shows that earlier Criminal Misc. (482) Application No. 4996 of 2018 (Yogesh Pandey and another Vs. State of U.P. and another) was filed before this Court challenging the chargesheet as well as the proceedings of Case No. 4912 of 2017, which was disposed of vide order dated 23.07.2018, with the direction to the present applicant to appear and surrender before the Court below and apply for bail, pursuant to which, the applicant appeared before the Court below and was enlarged on bail. Thereafter, mediation between the parties was held at District Court at Ghaziabad in which both the parties have agreed to live together peacefully as husband and wife, copy of compromise deed dated 12.11.2018 has been annexed as Annexure SCA-1 to the short counter affidavit.

5. Present second Criminal Misc. (482) Application has been filed for quashing the proceedings of the Case No. 4912 of 2017 (State Vs. Yogesh Pandey and another) on the basis of compromise dated 12.11.2018. Vide order dated 30.05.2019, a co-ordinate Bench of this Court had referred the matter before the Mediation and Conciliation Centre of this Court. Thereafter, mediation took place between the parties before Mediation and Conciliation Centre of this Court, where the parties had decided to re-unite and live together as husband and wife and in this regard interim settlement agreement dated 03.7.2019 was also executed and the matter was fixed for 07.08.2019 but thereafter, the dispute continued between the parties ultimately the mediation between the parties had failed as per report of the incharge Mediation Centre dated 16.10.2019.

6. When the case was listed on 19.01.2021, the counsel for the parties argued that the matter has been compromised between the parties and relying upon the statement of learned counsel for the parties, the co-ordinate Bench of this Court had referred the matter to the trial Court to ascertain the veracity of the compromise pursuant to which, the parties appeared on 27.01.2021 before the court below and the said compromise was verified by the Court below vide order dated 15.02.2021, copy of which is annexed as Annexure-SA1 to the supplementary affidavit dated 14.03.2021. Again the matter was listed on 05.10.2021, on which date, the learned counsel for the parties jointly submitted that the husband and wife are willing to live together and the co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 05.10.2021 had directed the applicant Yogesh Pandey as well as opposite party no.2 Smt. Mamta Dubey to remain present before the Court fixing the matter for 10.11.2021. It appears that after verification of compromise and prior to 05.10.2021, some dispute again arose between the parties which was again settled on account of which, the learned counsel for the parties jointly made statement that parties are willing to live together. Considering the statement, co-ordinate Bench of this Court directed the parties to remain present on 10.11.2021. Thereafter, the case was listed before this Court on 10.11.2021 on which date, the husband and wife appeared before this Court and had jointly stated that they want to live together and have buried all their disputes but they had stated that the matter may again be placed on board after six months by that time, the pending cases filed against each other may be withdrawn, thus the Court had directed the matter to be listed on 11.05.2022. The parties appeared before this Court on 11.05.2022 on which date again the husband and wife had sought further three months' time to resolve all their disputes. For the said reason, the case was directed to be listed on 23.08.2022 in Chambers.

7. Today when the case was taken up in Chambers, the applicant-Yogesh Pandey (husband) and opposite party no.2 Smt. Mamta Devi (wife) are present before this Court. Both the parties have stated that this Court has granted plenty of time to resolve their disputes due to which the parties got ample opportunity to settle their differences and they have understood each other and now they have finally decided to live together. The statement of the husband-Yogesh Pandey has been recorded in a separate sheet, which is kept as a part of the record, wherein it has been stated that out of their mutual consent they have decided to live together and will withdraw all the pending cases filed by him against his wife (opposite party). Furthermore, he has stated that he will also pay Rs. 5000/- per month through R.T.G.S. to the opposite party no.2 for a period of 12 years. On the other hand, the statement of the opposite party no.2 (wife) has also been reduced in writing on a plain sheet, which is also kept as a part of the record. She stated that the matter has been compromised between her and her husband and she is living with her husband since 16.11.2021, furthermore she will withdraw all the cases filed by her against the applicant and there is no dispute between the parties.

8. The Hon'ble Apex Court in catena of Judgements has held that it becomes the duty of the Court in the matrimonial matters to encourage genuine settlements of the matrimonial disputes and in the case of Jitendra Raghuvanshi and others vs. Babita Raghuvanshi and others, [2013 (4) ADJ 40], the Hon'ble Supreme Court has again reiterated the findings as laid down in the case of B.S. Joshi's case. Relevant paragraphs 12 & 13 of the judgment are reproduced herein below:-

"12) In our view, it is the duty of the courts to encourage genuine settlements of matrimonial disputes, particularly, when the same are on considerable increase. Even if the offences are non-compoundable, if they relate to matrimonial disputes and the court is satisfied that the parties have settled the same amicably and without any pressure, we hold that for the purpose of securing ends of justice, Section 320 of the Code would not be a bar to the exercise of power of quashing of FIR, complaint or the subsequent criminal proceedings.

13) There has been an outburst of matrimonial disputes in recent times. The institution of marriage occupies an important place and it has an important role to play in the society. Therefore, every effort should be made in the interest of the individuals in order to enable them to settle down in life and live peacefully. If the parties ponder over their defaults and terminate their disputes amicably by mutual agreement instead of fighting it out in a court of law, in order to do complete justice in the matrimonial matters, the courts should be less hesitant in exercising its extraordinary jurisdiction. It is trite to state that the power under Section 482 should be exercised sparingly and with circumspection only when the court is convinced, on the basis of material on record, that allowing the proceedings to continue would be an abuse of the process of the court or that the ends of justice require that the proceedings ought to be quashed. We also make it clear that exercise of such power would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case and it has to be exercised in appropriate cases in order to do real and substantial justice for the administration of which alone the courts exist. It is the duty of the courts to encourage genuine settlements of matrimonial disputes and Section 482 of the Code enables the High Court and Article 142 of the Constitution enables this Court to pass such orders."

9. In the matter of Smt. Manbhawati Vs. State of U.P. and another, reported in (2006)55 ACC 509, wherein initially panchayat was convened but the attempt of compromise failed but by the efflux of time parties have entered into compromise and thus this Court quashed the pending proceedings on the basis of compromise entered into between the parties.

10. Following the view that efforts and encouragement should be made to resolve controversy through mediation especially in the matrimonial cases, in the instant case, the Court has devoted too much precious time and had granted accommodation to the parties in order to enable them to reach an amicable settlement of the dispute as all is well that ends well.

11. In the instant case, the compromise has been entered into between the parties and the proceedings are liable to be quashed but prior to compromise, this Court had granted ample opportunities to the parties to settle their dispute. Initially the applicant was directed to appear before Court below to apply for bail and was enlarged on bail, later on, parties entered into compromise and before the Mediation Centre at District Ghaziabad, where they have decided to live together as husband and wife but thereafter, dispute again arose and both parties started living separately. Again, they entered into compromise, which gave rise to filing of present second 482 Cr.P.C. petition in which the co-ordinate Bench had referred the matter before the mediation centre of this Court, where the parties arrived at interim settlement but that later on failed. Relying on the statement of the parties that the matter has been settled, a co-ordinate Bench of this Court had sent the matter for verification of the compromise, which compromise was verified but it appears that some misunderstanding again took place between the parties and on several occasions, this Court granted accommodation to the parties, as per their whims and fancies once for six months and again for three months, enabling them to resolve their disputes as the Court considers it to be its societal duty to make attempts to repair the strained relations of husband and wife by way of amicable settlement since the marriage occupies vital role to play in the society. Ultimately, the efforts of the Court succeeded and the differences as well as plight between the husband and wife got amicably settled in terms of the compromise entered between the parties. The parties appeared before the Court and have stated that they are living happily and have no grievance against each other. Furthermore, the opposite party no.2 has stated that she has no objection in case, the proceedings are quashed by this Court.

12. Accordingly, the instant application is allowed. The proceedings of Case No. 4912 of 2017 (State Vs. Yogesh Pandey and another) arising out of Case Crime No. 0159 of 2017 under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506, 406 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, at Police Station Mahila Thana, District Ghaziabad pending before learned VIIIth Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, District Ghaziabad are hereby quashed.

Sri Satyendra Narayan Singh

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Sections 482 & 311 - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 364-rejection-recall application u/s 311 Cr.P.C.-victim was kidnapped and murdered-during pendency of the investigation, one co-accused was kidnapped by rest of the accused persons-second FIR lodged in which mother stated that his son was also accused in earlier murder in which first FIR was lodged and she was examined as PW-4 but she had been declared hostile-the present applicant moved application for re-examination of PW-4 on the ground that in the audio cassette she had accepted that her son and other accused were involved in the murder of victim and in that case she was examined as PW-1-Trial court rejected the application on the ground that her extra judicial confession before the news channel is not documentary evidence while she had been examined and cross-examined earlier-the same had been filed only for lingering on the trial of the case-the fairness of trial has to be seen not only from point of view of the victim, but also from the point of view of the accused and the society-The accused cannot have the witness recalled for re-examination as a matter of right and extraordinary provision cannot be used as an afterthought to fill the gaps.(Para 1 to 30)

B. It is well settled that the power conferred u/s 311 Cr.P.C. should be invoked by the court only to meet the ends of justice. The power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The court has vide power under this section to even recall witnesses for re-examination or further examination, necessary in the interest of justice, but the same has to be exercised after taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of each case. The power under this provision shall not be exercised if the court is of view that the application has been filed as an abuse of the process of law.(Para 23)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Satyendra Narayan Singh, learned counsel for the applicant and Mr. Mayank Awasthi, learned counsel representing for the State as well as perused the entire material available on record.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the order dated 04.10.2021 passed by learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.12, Muzaffar Nagar, in Session Trial No.592 of 2004 (State vs. Dharmpal), arising out of Case Crime No.24 of 2004, under Section 364 IPC, Police Station-Nai Mandi, District-Muzaffar Nagar whereby the application of the applicant under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for further examination of P.W.4/Smt. Rajeeri, has been rejected.

3. Brief facts of the case are that for the incident dated 24.01.2004 at about 07:00 pm, the F.I.R. was lodged on 25.01.2004 at about 06:30 p.m. stating therein that the applicant's son, namely, Sachin Jain aged about 20 years had gone with his Maruti Car bearing No.UP 12G 2333, but he did not return in the night and on the next day at about 11:00 a.m., the student leader Katar Singh informed that Sachin Jain was seen at about 09:00 p.m. on 24.01.2004 alongwith Raju s/o Vedpal, who had abducted him with the help of his friend.

An application was moved on 26.01.2004 before the concerned S.O. furnishing the name of two eye witnesses, namely, Tasavvar Husain and Mam Chand Verma, who have seen the incident dated 24.01.2004 wherein the victim Sachin Jain was kidnapped by Rohit, Katar Singh, Dharmpal, Raju and Kapil. On the aforesaid application, the Investigating Officer recorded the statements of Mam Chand and Tasavvar, who have stated that they were eye witness of abduction of Sachin Jain by Dharmpal, Rohit, Kapil and Raju. During course of investigation, maruti car of Sachin Jain bearing No.UP 12G 2333 was recovered in the presence of two independent witnesses, namely, Babu Bangali and Sonu wherein the seat of Maruti Car was found blood stained. The aforesaid blood stained seat cover was sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, U.P. for examination and its report has been submitted on 06.08.2004. From the said report dated 06.08.2004, it was found that the blood stained seat cover of the Maruti car was that of victim Sachin Jain, whose dead body was found in the canal. The aforesaid fact of throwing the dead body of victim Sachin Jain in the canal has been admitted by the accused persons. During investigation, the statements of co-accused Dharmpal was recorded, who has stated that the victim Sachin Jain was kidnapped by him alongwith other co-accused persons and subsequently, murdered, thereafter, his dead body was thrown in the canal. Stereo and two speakers of the said Maruti car was also recovered on pointing out of co-accused Dharmpal.

During pendency of the aforesaid investigation, the co-accused Raju was kidnapped by rest of the accused persons, hence an F.I.R. has been lodged by Smt. Rajveeri, (mother of co-accused Raju) against the co-accused persons Dharmpal and Rohit on 14.04.2008 at about 11:00 a.m., which was registered as Case Crime No.151 of 2004, under Section 364 IPC, P.S.-Nai Mandi, District-Muzaffar Nagar. After investigation, charge sheet has been submitted against the named accused persons and trial of the accused persons has been proceeded as Session Trial No.457 of 2004. During trial, Smt. Rajveeri has been examined before the court concerned as P.W.-1, who has supported the version of FIR as lodged by her. She has stated that her son, namely, Raju was also accused in the murder of Sachin Jain and the aforesaid fact was also disclosed by the co-accused Dharmpal in his statement. Subsequently, in the incident of murder of co-accused Raju, the co-accused Dharampal and other co-accused persons have been acquitted in Session Trial No.457 of 2004.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that earlier the applicant approached before this Court by means of filing an application U/s 482 No.19433 of 2007 wherein the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 20.08.2007 has stayed the further proceedings of Session Trial No.592 of 2004. The said order dated 20.08.2007 was extended from time to time. Thereafter, in view of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Asian Surface Road Transport vs. State, the court concerned has proceeded in Session Trial No.592 of 2004 and the statements of PW-1, Pradeep Jain and PW-2, Amit Kumar Jain has been recorded.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that during pendency of trial, the applicant moved an application before the trial court to summon the Fard recovery which was identified by the applicant, however, the trial court has rejected the said application vide order dated 05.04.2021. Aggrieved by the order dated 05.04.2021, the applicant approached this Court by means of filing application U/s 482 No.13699 of 2021, which is still pending before this Court.

6. He further submits that in Session Trial No.592 of 2004, Smt. Rajveeri has been examined before the trial court as PW-4, but she has been declared hostile. However, in the entire record which was recorded in the case diary, SCD-15, Smt. Rajveeri has accepted the murder of Sachin Jain and in the Case Crime No.151 of 2004, Smt. Rajveeri has also stated that in the murder of Sachin Jain, the co-accused Dharmpal and Rohit etc. are involved. Subsequently, the applicant moved an application u/s 311 Cr.P.C. before the trial court for re-examination of Smt. Rajveeri on the ground that in the audio cassette Smt. Rajveeri has accepted that involvement of co-accused Dharmpal, Rohit and other persons and the same has also been stated by her in her statement given in Case Crime No.151 of 2004, under Section 364 IPC in Session Trial No.757 of 2004 wherein she was examined as P.W.-1. The said application was also moved on the ground of re-examining Smt. Rajveeri with respect to her extra judicial confession before the news channel.

7. The trial court has rejected the said application U/s 311 Cr.P.C. of the applicant vide impugned order dated 04.10.2021 on the ground that the question which has been stated to be asked from Smt. Rajveeri is not documentary evidence.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the trial court has not considered the contents of the application u/s 311 Cr.P.C. dated 23.09.2021 in which he has been categorically stated regarding the question for cross examination from P.W.-4 Smt. Rajveeri and without considering the same, rejected the said application u/s 311 Cr.P.C. in mechanical manner, which is unjust, improper and bad in the eye of law.

9. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that since some relevant facts had been left to be examined, therefore, re-examination of PW-4 is necessary for proper adjudication of the trial. While exercising the power under Section 311 Cr.P.C., paramount consideration of the court is to do justice to the case and court concerned can examine a witness at any stage, even if the same results in filling up lacuna or loop holes. Learned counsel for the applicant lastly submits that the impugned order may kindly be quashed and the applicant may be permitted to cross examine PW-4 Smt. Rajveeri in the interest of justice.

10. Per contra, Mr. Mayank Awasthi, learned counsel representing for the State has opposed the submission made by the learned counsel for the applicant by contending that the order impugned passed by the court below is legal and valid. The court below has recorded pure finding of fact while rejecting the application filed by the applicant under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for re-examination of P.W.-4 Smt. Rajveeri. The court below has not committed any error in passing the impugned order, therefore, it does not call for any interference by this Court. Hence, he submits that the present application is liable to be rejected.

11. I have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the records of the present application.

12. Before fathoming correctness of the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, it will be worthwhile to refer to Section 311 Cr.P.C., which reads as under:-

"311. Power to summon material witness, or examine person present:-. Any Court may, at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code, summon any person as a witness, or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re- examine any person already examined; and the Court shall summon and examine or recall and reexamine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case."

13. Assiduous scrutiny of aforesaid provision clearly suggests that court enjoys vast power to summon any person as a witness or recall and re-examine a witness, provided, same is essentially required for just decision of the case. Moreover, such exercise of power can be at any stage of inquiry, trial or proceedings under the Code, meaning thereby, applicant can file an application at any time before conclusion of trial. Very object of Section 311 is to bring on record evidence not only from the point of view of accused and prosecution, but also from the point of view of the orderly society.

14. The scope and object of the provision is to enable the Court to determine the truth and to render a just decision after discovering all relevant facts and obtaining proper proof of such facts, to arrive at a just decision of the case. Power must be exercised judiciously and not capriciously or arbitrarily, as any improper or capricious exercise of such power may lead to undesirable results. An application under Section 311 of Cr.P.C. must not be allowed only to fill up a lacuna in the case of the prosecution, or of the defence, or to the disadvantage of the accused, or to cause serious prejudice to the defence of the accused, or to give an unfair advantage to the opposite party. Further, the additional evidence must not be received as a disguise for retrial, or to change the nature of the case against either of the parties. Such a power must be exercised, provided that the evidence that is likely to be tendered by a witness, is germane to the issue involved. An opportunity of rebuttal however, must be given to the other party. The power conferred under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must therefore, be invoked by the Court only in order to meet the ends of justice, for strong and valid reasons, and the same must be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The very use of words such as 'any Court', 'at any stage', or 'or any enquiry, trial or other proceedings', 'any person' and 'any such person' clearly spells out that the provisions of this section have been expressed in the widest possible terms, and do not limit the discretion of the Court in any way. There is thus no escape if the fresh evidence to be obtained is essential to the just decision of the case. The determinative factor should therefore be, whether the summoning/recalling of the said witness is in fact, essential to the just decision of the case.

15. Fair trial is the main object of criminal procedure, and it is the duty of the court to ensure that such fairness is not hampered or threatened in any manner. Fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and of the society, and therefore, fair trial includes the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the person concerned, and the same must be ensured as this is a constitutional, as well as a human right. Thus, under no circumstances can a person's right to fair trial be jeopardized. Adducing evidence in support of the defence is a valuable right. Denial of such right would amount to the denial of a fair trial. Thus, it is essential that the rules of procedure that have been designed to ensure justice are scrupulously followed, and the court must be zealous in ensuring that there is no breach of the same.

16. Close scrutiny of aforesaid provision of law further suggests that Section 311 has two parts; first part reserves a right to the parties to move an appropriate application for re-examination of a witness at any stage; but definitely the second part is mandatory that casts a duty upon court to re-examine or recall or summon a witness at any stage if his/her evidence appears to be essential for just decision of case because, definitely the underlying object of aforesaid provision of law is to ensure that there is no failure of justice on account of mistake on the part of either of parties in bringing valuable piece of evidence or leaving an ambiguity in the statements of witnesses examined from either side.

17. In this backdrop, it would be useful to make a reference to certain decisions rendered by the Supreme Court on the interpretation of Section 311 of the Code, wherein the Apex Court highlighted the basic principles which are to be borne in mind while dealing with an application under Section 311of the Code.

18. In Natasa Singh v. C. B. I., reported in (2013) 5 SCC 741, the Apex Court, after referring the various decisions of the Supreme Court, has observed that the power conferred under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must therefore, be invoked by the court only in order to meet the ends of justice and such power should be exercised with great caution and circumspection.

19. The scope of Section 311 Cr.P.C. has been dealt in the case of Raja Ram Prasad Yadav vs. State of Bihar and another, reported in (2013)14 SCC 461, wherein the Apex Court has held that power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to summon any person or witness or examine any person already examined can be exercised at any stage provided the same is required for just decision of the case. It may be relevant to take note of the following paras of the judgment:-

"14. A conspicuous reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. would show that widest of the powers have been invested with the Courts when it comes to the question of summoning a witness or to recall or re-examine any witness already examined. A reading of the provision shows that the expression "any" has been used as a pre-fix to "court", "inquiry", "trial",

"other proceeding", "person as a witness", "person in attendance though not summoned as a witness", and "person already examined". By using the said expression "any" as a pre-fix to the various expressions mentioned above, it is ultimately stated that all that was required to be satisfied by the Court was only in relation to such evidence that appears to the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Section 138 of the Evidence Act, prescribed the order of examination of a witness in the Court. Order of re-examination is also prescribed calling for such a witness so desired for such re-examination. Therefore, a reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and Section 138 Evidence Act, insofar as it comes to the question of a criminal trial, the order of re-examination at the desire of any person under Section 138, will have to necessarily be in consonance with the prescription contained in Section 311 Cr.P.C. It is, therefore, imperative that the invocation of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and its application in a particular case can be ordered by the Court, only by bearing in mind the object and purport of the said provision, namely, for achieving a just decision of the case as noted by us earlier. The power vested under the said provision is made available to any Court at any stage in any inquiry or trial or other proceeding initiated under the Code for the purpose of summoning any person as a witness or for examining any person in attendance, even though not summoned as witness or to recall or re-examine any person already examined. Insofar as recalling and re-examination of any person already examined, the Court must necessarily consider and ensure that such recall and re-examination of any person, appears in the view of the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Therefore, the paramount requirement is just decision and for that purpose the essentiality of a person to be recalled and re-examined has to be ascertained. To put it differently, while such a widest power is invested with the Court, it is needless to state that exercise of such power should be made judicially and also with extreme care and caution."

20. In this context, I also wish to make a reference to the judgment of the Apex Court in Mannan SK and others vs. State of West Bengal and another reported in AIR 2014 SC 2950, wherein the the Apex Court Court has held as under:-

"10. The aim of every court is to discover truth. Section 311 of the Code is one of many such provisions of the Code which strengthen the arms of a court in its effort to ferret out the truth by procedure sanctioned by law. It is couched in very wide terms. It empowers the court at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code to summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as witness or recall and re-examine already examined witness. The second part of the Section uses the word 'shall'. It says that the court shall summon and examine or recall or re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case. The words 'essential to the just decision of the case' are the key words. The court must form an opinion that for the just decision of the case recall or reexamination of the witness is necessary. Since the power is wide it's exercise has to be done with circumspection. It is trite that wider the power greater is the responsibility on the courts which exercise it. The exercise of this power cannot be untrammeled and arbitrary but must be only guided by the object of arriving at a just decision of the case. It should not cause prejudice to the accused. It should not permit the prosecution to fill-up the lacuna. Whether recall of a witness is for filling-up of a lacuna or it is for just decision of a case depends on facts and circumstances of each case. In all cases it is likely to be argued that the prosecution is trying to fill-up a lacuna because the line of demarcation is thin. It is for the court to consider all the circumstances and decide whether the prayer for recall is genuine."

21. Further in the case of V.N. Patil vs. K. Niranjan Kumar and Ors. reported in (2021) 3 SCC 661 wherein the Apex Court has held that the aim of every Court is to discover the truth. Section 311 Cr.P.C. is one of many such provisions which strengthen the arms of a court in its effort to unearth the truth by procedure sanctioned by law. At the same time, the discretionary power vested under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has to be exercised judiciously for strong and valid reasons and with caution and circumspection to meet the ends of justice.

22. The principles related to the exercise of the power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. have been well settled by this Court in Vijay Kumar vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, reported in 2011 (8) SCC 136:-

"17. Though Section 311 confers vast discretion upon the court and is expressed in the widest possible terms, the discretionary power under the said section can be invoked only for the ends of justice. Discretionary power should be exercised consistently with the provisions of the Code and the principles of criminal law. The discretionary power conferred under Section 311 has to be exercised judicially for reasons stated by the court and not arbitrarily or capriciously. Before directing the learned Special Judge to examine Smt Ruchi Saxena as a court witness, the High Court did not examine the reasons assigned by the learned Special Judge as to why it was not necessary to examine her as a court witness and has given the impugned direction without assigning any reason."

23. This principle has been further reiterated in Mannan Shaikh and Others vs. State of West Bengal and Another, reported in 2014 (13) SCC 59 and thereafter in the case of Ratanlal vs. Prahlad Jat and Others, 2017 (9) SCC 340 and Swapan Kumar Chatterjee vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, 2019 (14) SCC 328. The relevant Paras of Swapan Kumar Chatterjee (supra) are as under:-

"10. The first part of this section which is permissive gives purely discretionary authority to the criminal court and enables it at any stage of inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code to act in one of the three ways, namely: (i) to summon any person as a witness; or (ii) to examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness; or (iii) to recall and reexamine any person already examined. The second part, which is mandatory, imposes an obligation on the court (i) to summon and examine or (ii) to recall and reexamine any such person if his evidence appears to be essential to the just decision of the case.

11. It is well settled that the power conferred under Section 311 should be invoked by the court only to meet the ends of justice. The power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The court has vide power under this section to even recall witnesses for reexamination or further examination, necessary in the interest of justice, but the same has to be exercised after taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of each case. The power under this provision shall not be exercised if the court is of the view that the application has been filed as an abuse of the process of law."

24. Aforesaid exposition of law clearly suggests that a fair trial is main object of criminal jurisprudence and it is duty of court to ensure such fairness is not hampered or threatened in any manner. It has been further held in the aforesaid judgments that fair trial entails interests of accused, victim and society and therefore, grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right. The Apex Court has categorically held in the aforesaid judgment that adducing evidence in support of the defence is a valuable right and denial of such right would amount to denial of a fair trial.

25. The Apex Court, while culling out certain principles required to be borne in mind by the courts while considering applications under Section 311, has held that exercise of widest discretionary powers under Section 311 should ensure that judgment should not be rendered on inchoate, inconclusive and speculative presentation of facts. Hon'ble Apex Court has further held that if evidence of any witness appears to be essential for the just decision of the case, it is the duty of the court to summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person because very object of exercising power under Section 311 is to find out truth and render a just decision. Most importantly, in the judgment referred to herein above, the Apex Court has held that court should bear in mind that no party in trial can be foreclosed from correcting errors and that if proper evidence was not adduced or a relevant material was not brought on record due to any inadvertence, the Court should be magnanimous in permitting such mistakes to be rectified.

26. From perusal of the records of the present application and applications filed by the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. as well as from examining the order impugned, it is an admitted position that the P.W. No.4 has already been examined and cross-examined. The plea of the applicant for summoning P.W. No.4, Smt. Rajveeri for further cross-examination has only been taken to be rejected on the ground that the question which has been stated to be asked from P.W-4 Smt. Rajveeri is not documentary evidence. From the application made by the applicant under Section 311 Cr.P.C., it is apparently clear that the same has been filed only for lingering on the trial of the case.

27. The fairness of trial has to be seen not only from the point of view of the victim, but also from the point of view of the accused and the society. It is not possible to lay down precise situations when such power can be exercised. The Legislature in its wisdom has left the power undefined. Thus, the scope of power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has to be considered from case to case.

28. The accused cannot have the witness recalled for re-examination as a matter of right and extraordinary provision cannot be used as an afterthought to fill the gaps.

29. Considering the materials brought on record and keeping the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court for exercise of power under section 311 Cr.P.C., this Court is of the opinion that observations and findings recorded by the trial Court in rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. of the applicant under the facts and circumstances of the case are fully sustainable. The trial Court has committed no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned by rejecting the application of the applicant. There appears no abuse of process of the Court also. There is no evidence on record to satisfy this Court that trial would be seriously prejudiced if the said witnesses is not recalled for re-examination or further examination.

30. In view of the above, the application of the applicant having no merit deserves to be rejected. In the result, the application is rejected.

31. The office is directed to communicate this order to the court concerned to proceed with the case in accordance with law.

32. The Court would like to appreciate the hard work put in by Mr. Hari Harsh Gaur, Law Clerk, who has drawn attention to detail and the same shows in his work of providing legal assistance in this matter.

The aforesaid application dated 25.10.2018 filed by the applicant is still pending.

(iv) As per the relevant section, the applicant cannot be said to be wrongfully withholding the company's quarter. As the interest on gratuity amount has not been paid to the applicant, hence the summoning order is not justified in the eyes of law and the entire proceedings are bad in the eye of law. In support of his contention, he has relied upon the judgment of this Court in the case of Beer Bala Gupta vs. 15th Additional Session Judge, Meerut reported in 2002 0 Supreme(All) 307 wherein it has been held that company did not discharge its obligation, inasmuch as it did not pay the gratuity amount to the petitioner and in such view of the matter, the petitioner cannot be said to have wrongfully retained the quarter belonging to the company and, therefore, the applicant is not liable for punishment under Section 452 of the Companies Act, 2013 (erstwhile Section 630 of the Companies Act, 1956).

(v) He has also placed reliance upon the judgment of Jagdish Chandra Nijhawan vs. S.K. Saraf reported in (1999) 1 SCC 119

(vi) Therefore, the prosecution against the applicant is bad in law and the entire proceedings of the aforesaid complaint case is liable to be quashed by this Court.

5. On the other hand, Mr. Mayank Awasthi, learned AGA as well as Mr. Anil Kumar Ray, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 have opposed the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the applicant by submitting that as per the license of quarter wherein one of the conditions of license mentioned is that the license shall stand automatically revoked on termination of service, the applicant was not entitled to retain the quarter after being dismissed from service on 07.03.2011, therefore, after 07.03.2011, the applicant, who had retained the company's quarter was illegally withholding the same, hence he was liable to be punished under the relevant section of Company Act.

6. So far as the submission made by the learned counsel for the applicant regarding payment of the funds for which the applicant was entitled, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has stated in his counter affidavit that the provident fund of Rs. 1,17,896/- and gratuity of Rs.2,10,610/- has already been paid through Cheque No.668080 dated 27.12.2017 and interest on gratuity of Rs.1,42,806/- has already been paid to the applicant through Cheque No.015289 dated 18.08.2018. Therefore, as per the Section 452 of the Companies Act, 2013, the applicant is liable to be punished for withholding the company's quarter.

7. Learned AGA as well as learned counsel for the opposite party no.2, therefore, submits that the application filed by the applicant for payment of interest on delayed payment, is nothing but a via media to show that certain payments have not been paid to the applicant in order to wrongly withhold the company's quarter allotted to him.

8. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 further submits that the applicant is not entitled for any relief, as, once the right of the employee to retain the possession of property on account of dismissal from services has extinguished, then he is under an obligation to return the property back to the company. In support of his contention, he has relied upon the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Gopika Chandrabhushan Saran and Another vs. M/s. XLO India Ltd. and Another reported in (2009) 3 SCC 342, wherein the Apex Court has held as under:-

"The capacity, right to possession and the duration of occupation are all features which are integrally blended with the employment. Once the right of the employee or the officer to retain the possession of the property, either on account of termination of services, retirement, resignation or death, gets extinguished, they (persons in occupation) are under an obligation to return the property back to the company and on their failure to do so, they render themselves liable to be dealt with under Section 630 of the Act for retrieval of the possession of the property."

6. On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned AGA as well as learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 submits that available material is enough to summon accused person and considering material on record, it can not be said that no evidence is made out against the applicant, therefore, the proceedings of the aforesaid case cannot be quashed, as such no interference is required in the matter by this Court at this stage.

10. I have considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties as well as have gone through the records of the present application along with the impugned order.

11. Before proceeding to deal with the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, it will be appropriate to place the extract of Section 452 of the Companies Act, 2013, which is as follows:-

"Section 452: Punishment for wrongful withholding of property.

(1) If any officer or employee of a company--

(a) wrongfully obtains possession of any property, including cash of the company; or

(b) having any such property including cash in his possession, wrongfully withholds it or knowingly applies it for the purposes other than those expressed or directed in the articles and authorised by this Act, he shall, on the complaint of the company or of any member or creditor or contributory thereof, be punishable with fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to five lakh rupees.

(2) The Court trying an offence under sub-section (1) may also order such officer or employee to deliver up or refund, within a time to be fixed by it, any such property or cash wrongfully obtained or wrongfully withheld or knowingly misapplied, the benefits that have been derived from such property or cash or in default, to undergo imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years. {Provided that the imprisonment of such officer or employee, as the case may be, shall not be ordered for wrongful possession or withholding of a dwelling unit, if the court is satisfied that the company has not paid to that officer or employee, as the case may be, any amount relating to--(a) provident fund, pension fund, gratuity fund or any other fund for the welfare of its officers or employees, maintained by the company;

(b) compensation or liability for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 in respect of death or disablement.}

12. Proviso to the aforesaid section provides that the punishment of the officer or employee, as the case may be, cannot be ordered for wrongful possession or withholding of the company's quarter, the company has not paid to that officer or employee the provident fund, pension fund, gratuity fund or any other funds for which the officer or employee is entitled.

13. From the records, it is clear that the complaint contains the allegation that the company's quarter allotted to the applicant was not vacated in spite of repeated notices to him, after the applicant was dismissed from service on 07.03.2011 and the funds for which the applicant was entitled, was already paid to him with interest, therefore, as per the provisions of Section 452 of the Company's Act, the applicant is liable to be punished for withholding the company's quarter.

14. In exercise of power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegations in a complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence. The Court can not look into the fact as to whether the allegations in the complaint are true or untrue and the same has to be decided by the trial court, thus no interference is required in such cases as the present one. Even though, the inherent power of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C., to interfere with criminal proceedings is wide, such power has to be exercised with circumspection, in exceptional cases. Jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. is not to be exercised for the asking.

15. The aforesaid has been held by the Apex Court in the case of State of Haryana and Ors. vs. Bhajan Lal and Ors. reported in 1992 Suppl.(1) SCC 335. The relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"103. We also give a note of caution to the effect that the power of quashing a criminal proceeding should be exercised very sparingly and with circumspection and that too in the rarest of rare cases; that the court will not be justified in embarking upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint and that the extraordinary or inherent powers do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the court to act according to its whim or caprice."

16. The following observations has also been made by the Apex Court in the latest judgment of Ramveer Upadhyay & another vs. State of U.P. & another reported in 2022 Livelaw (SC) 396. Paragraph no.39 of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"39. In our considered opinion criminal proceedings cannot be nipped in the bud by exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. only because the complaint has been lodged by a political rival. It is possible that a false complaint may have been lodged at the behest of a political opponent. However, such possibility would not justify interference under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. to quash the criminal proceedings. As observed above, the possibility of retaliation on the part of the petitioners by the acts alleged, after closure of the earlier criminal case cannot be ruled out. The allegations in the complaint constitute offence under the Attrocities Act. Whether the allegations are true or untrue, would have to be decided in the trial. In exercise of power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegations in a complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence....."

17. In fact while exercising the inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or while wielding the powers under Section 226 of the Constitution of India the quashing of the complaint can be done only if it does not disclose any offence or if there is any legal bar which prohibits the proceedings on its basis. The Apex Court decisions in R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab reported in AIR 1960 SC 866 and State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal reported in 1992 SCC(Cr.) 426 make the position of law in this regard clear recognizing certain categories by way of illustration which may justify the quashing of a complaint or charge sheet.

18. In view of the above, this Court finds that the applicant was dismissed from services on 07.03.2011, thus he is under an obligation to return back the company's quarter, but the applicant was illegally withholding the same, hence he is liable to be punished under the relevant section. The payment for which he was entitled has already been paid, therefore, the case laws referred by learned counsel for the applicant is not applicable in the present case and the court concerned has rightly summoned the applicant under Section 452 of the Companies Act, 2013.

19. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court finds that the present matter does not fall in any of the categories recognized by the Apex Court, which might justify interference by this Court in order to quash the proceedings. Therefore, the prayer for quashing the entire proceedings of aforesaid complaint case is refused as I do not see any abuse of the court's process either.

20. The present application lacks merit and is, accordingly, rejected.

5. Dataram Singh Vs St. of U.P. & anr., (2018) 3 SCC 22

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Pleadings have already been exchanged between the parties are on the record.

2. Heard Shri Suresh Kumar Yadav, the learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

3. The applicant, Puspha Devi, has moved the present bail application seeking bail in Case Crime No. 327 of 2018, under Sections 302, 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Mohammadpur Khala, District Barabanki.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that accused applicant has falsely been implicated in the present case. It is further submitted that the applicant was not named in the F.I.R. and she was summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C. on the premise of statements of witnesses, P.W.7, P.W.9 and P.W.10 in the trial court who have maliciously taken the name of applicant with intention to implicate the applicant falsely. The complainant in her statement before the trial court has not taken the name of applicant. As per prosecution case, the main role has been assigned to co-accused Gajraj Singh, who has already been granted bail by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 24.04.2019 passed in Bail No.8940 of 2018. One another co-accused, Jaikaran Singh @ Chhoti, who was not named in the F.I.R. and was summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C. has also been granted bail by a coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 26.02.2020 passed in bail No. 10612 of 2020, and the case of applicant is not on the worse footing than that of the co-accused, Jaikaran Singh @ Chhoti, who has been enlarged on bail.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that summoning order dated 31.07.2019 is also against the spirit of various judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court. He placed reliance upon a judgment of Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh Vs. State of Punjab & others, (2014) 3 SCC 92, wherein paragraphs-105 and 106 it has been observed as under:-

"105. Power under Section 319 CrPC is a discretionary and an extraordinary power. It is to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. It is not to be exercised because the Magistrate or the Sessions Judge is of the opinion that some other person may also be guilty of committing that offence. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the court that such power should be exercised and not in a casual and cavalier manner.

106. Thus, we hold that though only a prima facie case is to be established from the evidence led before the court, not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction. In the absence of such satisfaction, the court should refrain from exercising power under Section 319 CrPC. In Section 319 CrPC the purpose of providing if "it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence" is clear from the words "for which such person could be tried together with the accused". The words used are not "for which such person could be convicted". There is, therefore, no scope for the court acting under Section 319 CrPC to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused."

6. The above Constitution Bench judgment was duly considered by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Labhuji Amratji Thakor & others Vs. The State of Gujarat and another, 2018 (0) Supreme (SC) 1147. Paragraph-9 of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"9. The Constitution Bench has given a caution that power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and extraordinary power, which should be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. The crucial test, which has been laid down as noted above is "the test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction." The present is a case, where the trial court had rejected the application filed by the prosecution under Section 319 Cr.P.C. Further, in the present case, the complainant in the F.I.R. has not taken the names of the appellants and after investigation in which the statement of victim was also recorded, the names of the appellants did not figure. After carrying investigation, the Charge Sheet was submitted in which the appellants names were also not mentioned as accused. In the statement recorded before the Police, the victim has named only Natuji with whom she admitted having physical relations and who took her and with whom she went out of the house in the night and lived with him on several places. The mother of victim in her statement before the Court herself has stated that victim girl returned to the house after one and a half months. In the statement, before the Court, victim has narrated the entire sequence of events. She has stated in her statement that accused Natuji used to visit her Uncle's house Vishnuji, where she met Natuji. She, however, stated that it was Natuji, who had given her mobile phone. Her parents came to know about she having been given mobile phone by Natuji, then they went to the house of Natuji and threatened Natuji."

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has further made reliance upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Brijendra Singh and others vs. State of Rajasthan, (2017) 7 SCC 706, wherein in paragraphs-13 and 15 it has been observed as under:-

"13. In order to answer the question, some of the principles enunciated in Hardeep Singh?s case may be recapitulated:

Power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by the trial court at any stage during the trial, i.e., before the conclusion of trial, to summon any person as an accused and face the trial in the ongoing case, once the trial court finds that there is some ?evidence? against such a person on the basis of which evidence it can be gathered that he appears to be guilty of offence. The ?evidence? herein means the material that is brought before the Court during trial. Insofar as the material/evidence collected by the IO at the stage of inquiry is concerned, it can be utilised for corroboration and to support the evidence recorded by the Court to invoke the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. No doubt, such evidence that has surfaced in examination-in-chief, without cross- examination of witnesses, can also be taken into consideration. However, since it is a discretionary power given to the Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and is also an extraordinary one, same has to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrants. The degree of satisfaction is more than the degree which is warranted at the time of framing of the charges against others in respect of whom chargesheet was filed. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the Court that such power should be exercised. It is not to be exercised in a casual or a cavalier manner. The prima facie opinion which is to be formed requires stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity.

15. This record was before the trial court. Notwithstanding the same, the trial court went by the deposition of complainant and some other persons in their examination-in-chief, with no other material to support their so- called verbal/ocular version. Thus, the ?evidence? recorded during trial was nothing more than the statements which was already there under Section 161 Cr.P.C. recorded at the time of investigation of the case. No doubt, the trial court would be competent to exercise its power even on the basis of such statements recorded before it in examination-in-chief. However, in a case like the present where plethora of evidence was collected by the IO during investigation which suggested otherwise, the trial court was at least duty bound to look into the same while forming prima facie opinion and to see as to whether ?much stronger evidence than mere possibility of their (i.e. appellants) complicity has come on record. There is no satisfaction of this nature. Even if we presume that the trial court was not apprised of the same at the time when it passed the order (as the appellants were not on the scene at that time), what is more troubling is that even when this material on record was specifically brought to the notice of the High Court in the Revision Petition filed by the appellants, the High Court too blissfully ignored the said material. Except reproducing the discussion contained in the order of the trial court and expressing agreement therewith, nothing more has been done. Such orders cannot stand judicial scrutiny."

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has further relied upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Periyasami and others vs. S. Nallasamy, (2019) 4 SCC 342 wherein in paragraphs-14 and 15 it has been observed as under:-

"14. In the First Information Report or in the statements recorded under Section 161 of the Code, the names of the appellants or any other description have not been given so as to identify them. The allegations in the FIR are vague and can be used any time to include any person in the absence of description in the First Information Report to identify such person. There is no assertion in respect of the villages to which the additional accused belong. Therefore, there is no strong or cogent evidence to make the appellants stand the trial for the offences under Sections 147, 448, 294(b) and 506 of IPC in view of the judgment in Hardeep Singh case (supra). The additional accused cannot be summoned under Section 319 of the Code in casual and cavalier manner in the absence of strong and cogent evidence. Under Section 319 of the Code additional accused can be summoned only if there is more than prima facie case as is required at the time of framing of charge but which is less than the satisfaction required at the time of conclusion of the trial convicting the accused.

15. The High Court has set aside the order passed by the learned Magistrate only on the basis of the statements of some of the witnesses examined by the Complainant. Mere disclosing the names of the appellants cannot be said to be strong and cogent evidence to make them to stand trial for the offence under Section 319 of the Code, especially when the Complainant is a husband and has initiated criminal proceedings against family of his in-laws and when their names or other identity were not disclosed at the first opportunity."

9. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that prosecution story as set up is totally false and fabricated, no role has been assigned to the applicant, no incriminating article has been recovered from her possession or on her pointing out, the recover of alleged E-Shram Card of applicant from the place of occurrence is false and implanted by the police, there is no strong motive against the applicant and the alleged motive of dispute of money shown by the complainant is baseless and has no force because the alleged amount was taken by the deceased about ten years ago and since then there was no dispute and the applicant has falsely been implicated in the case, therefore, she should be released on bail by this Court sympathetically.

10. Several other submissions regarding legality and illegality of the allegations made in the F.I.R. have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused, have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that she is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make herself available before the court whenever required and is also ready to accept all the conditions which the Court may deem fit to impose upon her. The applicant undertakes that in case she is released on bail she will not misuse the liberty of bail and will cooperate in trial. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is not having any criminal history, which fact has been stated in para-33 of the affidavit filed in support of bail application. The applicant is in jail since 21.04.2022 and that in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the courts, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

11. Learned A.G.A. opposed the prayer for bail, but has not disputed that applicant was not named in the F.I.R. and her name was surfaced for the first time in the statements of P.W.7, P.W.9 and P.W.10.

12. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the Bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, and considering the fact that the applicant was not named in the F.I.R.; her name was taken by P.W.7, P.W.9 and P.W.10 and she was summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C., whereupon learned court below has not applied its judicial mind and in a cursory manner summoned the applicant to face the trial; and the main accused, Gajraj Singh has already been granted bail; another co-accused, Jaikaran Singh @ Chhoti, who was also not named and was summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C., has also been granted bail, as well as considering the larger mandate of the Article 21 of the Constitution of India and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Hardeep Singh (supra), Labhuji Amratji Thakor (supra), Brijendra Singh (supra), Periyasami and others (supra) and Dataram Singh vs. State of U.P. and another, reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

13. The prayer for bail is granted. The application is allowed.

14. Let the applicant, Puspha Devi, involved in Case Crime No. 327 of 2018, under Sections 302, 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Mohammadpur Khala, District Barabanki, be enlarged on bail on her executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date fixed in the court below and her personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

(3) The applicant shall cooperate in the trial sincerely without seeking any adjournment.

(4) The applicant shall not indulge in any criminal activity or commission of any crime after being released on bail.

(5) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail and in order to secure her presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against her, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(6) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court default of this condition is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of her bail and proceed against her in accordance with law.

(7) The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

(8) The concerned Court/ Authority/ Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

15. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

16. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merit of the case.

(A) Criminal Law - Bail in economic offences - The Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 - Section 74(7),132 (1) (a) r.w. Section 132 (1) (i) & 132 (5), Section 138 – Compounding of Offences - in determining whether to grant bail, both the seriousness of the charge and the severity of the punishment should be taken into consideration - right to bail is not to be denied merely because of the sentiments of the community against the accused - mere denial of bail by another High Court on the facts of a particular case, without laying down any proposition of law, would not amount to a binding precedent. (Para - 25,29,30)

Search on residential and official premises of applicant by Officers of DGGI - Cash amounting to Rs. 196.57 Crores seized - recovery of 23 kilograms gold - handed over to Officers of Directorate of Revenue Intelligence - applicant arrested - collectively engaged in illicit supply of finished goods, namely perfumery compounds - without issuing any tax invoice and without payment of GST – application for bail before trial court – rejected – ground – no reasonable explanation - matter serious in nature - very harmful to economic health of country - granting bail in such a matter would be likely to promote such type of modus-operandi in evasion of tax. (Para - 3,4,7)

(B) Criminal Law - basic jurisprudence relating to bail in economic offences - remains same - grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception - to ensure that accused has opportunity of securing fair trial - not advisable to categorize all the economic offences into one group and deny bail on that basis - Even if the allegation is one of grave economic offence - not a rule that bail should be denied in every case - no bar created in relevant enactment passed by legislature - nor does bail jurisprudence provide so. (Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anurag Khanna, the learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Rahul Agarwal, Ms. Tanya Makker, Sri. Malay Prasad, Ms. Saloni Mathur and Sri. Piyush Kant Shukla, the learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Dhananjay Awasthi and Sri Digvijay Nath Dubey, the learned Senior Standing Counsel for the Directorate General of Goods and Services Tax Intelligence (DGGI).

2. By means of the instant application, the applicant is seeking his release on bail in Criminal Case No. 7646 of 2022 in the Court of learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Economic Offences) / Additional Metropolitan Magistrate-III, Kanpur Nagar, arising out of a complaint filed in respect of offence under Section 132 (1) (a) read with Section 132 (1) (i) and 132 (5) of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017.

3. Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that on 22-12-2021 the Officers of the DGGI started making a search on the residential and official premises of the applicant at Kannuaj and Kanpur, which continued till 28-12-2021. Cash amounting to Rs. 196.57 Crores was seized from the applicant's premises besides recovery of 23 kilograms gold, which was handed over to the Officers of the Directorate of the Revenue Intelligence. The applicant was arrested on 26-12-2021.

4. On 22-02-2022, the DGGI filed a complaint before the learned Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Economic Offences) / Additional Metropolitan Magistrate-III, Kanpur Nagar against the applicant seeking his prosecution and punishment for committing the aforesaid offences. It has been stated in the complaint that the applicant is one of the partners in the firm M/S Odochem Industries and he used to operate and manage two proprietorship concerns namely Odosynth Inc., (of which the applicant's wife Smt. Kalpana Jain is the proprietor) and M/S Flora Naturale (of which Smt. Vijay Laxmi Jain, wife of Sri Ambrish Kumar Jain is the proprietor) and it was revealed during investigation that the aforesaid firms operated by the applicant along with his brother Ambrish Kumar Jain were collectively engaged in illicit supply of finished goods, namely perfumery compounds, without issuing any tax invoice and without payment of GST.

5. It has further been stated in the complaint that in his voluntary statement recorded on 25-26.12.2021, 06-07-08.01.2022 and 05.02.2022 under Section 70 of the CGST Act, 2017, the applicant had admitted having made illicit supply of perfumery compounds by the aforesaid firms and he had offered to pay Rs. 52 Crores towards his tax liability along with the applicable interest and penalty and that he has managed purchase of raw materials required for manufacturing of perfumery compounds without accounting for in the books and without payment of GST, but he has not disclosed the names and particulars of the buyers and sellers of the aforesaid firms.

6. As per the complaint averments, the amount of GST evasion far exceeds Rs. 500 lakhs prescribed under Section 132 (1) (i) of the Act and the offence committed by the applicant is punishable for a term which may extend to five years.

7. On 02-03-2022, the applicant filed an application before the learned Trial Court for being released on bail and on 05-02-2022, the Trial Court passed an order rejecting the bail application on the ground that the applicant is an active partner in all the three firms; that more than Rs. 196.58 Crores cash was seized from the applicant's premises; that the financial records of the firms showed different liability of tax than seized amount of cash and no reasonable explanation was provided for the huge amount of cash seized; that the applicant has neither denied the ownership of the searched premises nor did he deny possession of the huge amount of the cash; that the matter is serious in nature and is very harmful to the economic health of the country and granting bail in such a matter would be likely to promote such type of modus-operandi in evasion of tax.

8. On 04-04-2022, the applicant filed an application before the Sessions Judge seeking his release on bail, and the learned Sessions Judge rejected the bail application by means of an order dated 28-04-2022 on similar grounds.

9. It has further been stated in the affidavit that the applicant is suffering from multiple illnesses like double vision, glaucoma, insomnia, hypertension, anxiety and blood pressure for which he is undergoing treatment.

10. The DGGI has filed a counter affidavit stating that during the searches conducted at the business and residential premises of the firms operated by the applicant along with his family members, unaccounted cash of Rs.196,57,02,539/- has been seized; that the applicant has admitted that the amount seized is the sales proceed of the goods clandestinely supplied by him without payment of tax and the applicant has paid Rs. 54.09 crores towards GST liability along with interest and penalty as per his own calculation, but as the investigations are still in progress, DGGI is yet to ascertain the final tax liabilities under Section 74 (7) of the CGST Act, 2017.

11. It has further been stated in the counter affidavit that the department has recovered several fake invoices and fictitious LRs (transport documents) evidencing clandestine supplies of taxable goods. Additionally, 23 Kgs of Gold bullions believed to be having foreign origin markings, have also been recovered from the residential premises of the applicant and separate proceedings have been initiated against the applicant in respect thereof under the provision of the Customs Act, 1962.

12. In the rejoinder affidavit filed on behalf of the applicant it has been stated that the alleged "voluntary statement' of the applicant had been obtained by the DGGI under duress and coercion and it was not voluntary and that the applicant is a person of clean antecedents and he is not a habitual offender.

13. The rejoinder affidavit further contains an averment that after the applicant's firm paid the tax and interest, the DGGI has released the goods that had been seized from the applicant's premises.

14. The rejoinder affidavit further contains that the prosecution complaint had been filed way back on 22-02-2022 and yet even the charges have not been framed till date and there appears to be no likelihood that the trial will commence soon.

15. It has further been stated in the rejoinder affidavit that in the counter affidavit filed by the DGGI before the Trial Court, it was categorically stated that since the applicant has not made any payment of tax, the plea of the applicant cannot be entertained. Now the applicant has paid the amount of tax along with interest and penalty, the DGGI is pleading that the voluntary payment of tax has no impact on the present proceedings, which stand is clearly and afterthought and a mischievous and deliberate attempt to keep the applicant incarcerated.

16. Regarding the DGGI's contention that it is yet to ascertain the tax liability of the assessment, it has been stated in the rejoinder affidavit that the assessment proceedings (which typically start with the issuance of a show-cause notice) have not even been initiated till date.

17. Sri. Anurag Khanna, the learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has submitted that the offences alleged carry a minimum punishment of six months' imprisonment and a maximum of five years' imprisonment and the offence is compoundable, which indicates that the offence is not grave. Moreover, mere gravity of the offence cannot be a ground to deny bail. He has further submitted that the applicant has already paid a sum of Rs.54.09 Crores towards tax, interest and penalty and he has undertaken to deposit the amount of any additional liability whereas the Department is yet to ascertain his tax liability. He has further submitted that since the applicant has already deposited the amount of tax, interest and penalty and the DGGI has seized the cash amount of Rs. Rs.196,57,02,539/-, the interest of the Revenue as well as that of the public at large is protected; that the applicant has already spent more than 8 months in jail and during this period the department has not sought his custodial interrogation, which shows that his custody is not at all required. He has further submitted that investigation against the applicant stands completed and the trial is yet to commence and that the applicant cannot be kept in custody on the ground that investigation against the suppliers of the raw materials to the applicant and the buyers of the applicant is still pending.

18. Sri. Khanna has also submitted that the applicant does not have a passport and, therefore, he has not a flight risk. He has further submitted that the entire evidence in the present case is documentary in nature, which is already in possession of the department and the statement of the applicant has already been recorded and, therefore, there is no possibility of the applicant tampering with any evidence and moreover, a mere apprehension of the applicant tampering with the evidence is not a ground to deny bail to the applicant.

19. Before proceeding to decide the prayer for grant of bail, it would be apt to have a look at the following relevant statutory provisions contained in Section 132 and 138 of the Act: -

132. Punishment for certain offences.-- (1) Whoever commits, or causes to commit and retain the benefits arising out of, any of the following offences, namely:--

(a) supplies any goods or services or both without issue of any invoice, in violation of the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder, with the intention to evade tax;

* * *

(ii) receives or is in any way concerned with the supply of, or in any other manner deals with any supply of services which he knows or has reasons to believe are in contravention of any provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

* * *

shall be punishable--

(iii) in cases where the amount of tax evaded or the amount of input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised or the amount of refund wrongly taken exceeds five hundred lakh rupees, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years and with fine;

* * *

(3) The imprisonment referred to in clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) shall, in the absence of special and adequate reasons to the contrary to be recorded in the judgment of the Court, be for a term not less than six months.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), all offences under this Act, except the offences referred to in sub-section (5) shall be non-cognizable and bailable.

(5) The offences specified in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) or clause (d) of sub-section (1) and punishable under clause (i) of that sub-section shall be cognizable and non-bailable.

* * *

138. Compounding of offences.-- (1) Any offence under this Act may, either before or after the institution of prosecution, be compounded by the Commissioner on payment, by the person accused of the offence, to the Central Government or the State Government, as the case be, of such compounding amount in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply to--

(a) a person who has been allowed to compound once in respect of any of the offences specified in clauses (a)

to (f) of sub-section (1) of Section 132 and the offences specified in clause (l) which are relatable to offences specified in clauses (a) to (f) of the said sub-section;

(b) a person who has been allowed to compound once in respect of any offence, other than those in clause (a), under this Act or under the provisions of any State Goods and Services Tax Act or the Union Territory Goods and Services Tax Act or the Integrated Goods and Services Tax Act in respect of supplies of value exceeding one crore rupees;

(c) a person who has been accused of committing an offence under this Act which is also an offence under any other law for the time being in force;

(d) a person who has been convicted for an offence under this Act by a court;

(e) a person who has been accused of committing an offence specified in clause (g) or clause (j) or clause (k) of sub-section (1) of Section 132; and

(f) any other class of persons or offences as may be prescribed:

Provided further that any compounding allowed under the provisions of this section shall not affect the proceedings, if any, instituted under any other law:

Provided also that compounding shall be allowed only after making payment of tax, interest and penalty involved in such offences.

(2) The amount for compounding of offences under this section shall be such as may be prescribed, subject to the minimum amount not being less than ten thousand rupees or fifty per cent. of the tax involved, whichever is higher, and the maximum amount not being less than thirty thousand rupees or one hundred and fifty per cent. of the tax, whichever is higher.

On payment of such compounding amount as may be determined by the Commissioner, no further proceedings shall be initiated under this Act against the accused person in respect of the same offence and any criminal proceedings, if already initiated in respect of the said offence, shall stand abated.

20. A bare perusal of the aforesaid provisions leave no room to doubt that that the offences alleged carry a minimum punishment of six months' imprisonment and a maximum of five years' imprisonment and Section 138 of the Act provides that the offence is compoundable.

21. Although the learned Counsel for the DGGI have contended that the applicant is also accused of committing offence under the Customs Act and the present case falls under clause (c) of the Proviso appended to Section 138 and it is not compoundable, but the aforesaid submission appears to be misconceived. For the aforesaid clause to be attracted, the person should have been accused of c*ommitting an offence under this Act which is also an offence under any other law for the time being in force.* The allegations against the applicant which amount to an offence under the Customs Act, are not an offence under this act and vice versa and, therefore, clause (c) of the Proviso appended to Section 138 is not attracted in the present case.

22. The learned Counsel for the DGGI have also submitted that the applicant has not disclosed the names and particulars of his suppliers of raw material and, therefore, he is not co-operating in investigation and thereby he appears to have committed the offence under Section 132 (1) (k) of the Act. However, the complaint mentioned the accusations against the applicant only under Section 132 (1) (a) read with Section 132 (1) (i) and 132 (5) and there is no accusation for committing an offence under Section 132 (1) (k) of the Act. Therefore, I am of the view that the offence alleged against the applicant is compoundable.

23. The law regarding grant of bail has been explained in numerous decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and it will be apt to refer to a few of the relatively recent judgments on the subject. In the case of Dataram Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2018) 3 SCC 22, the Hon'ble Supreme Court was pleased to reiterate the law of bail in the following words:--

"2. A fundamental postulate of criminal jurisprudence is the presumption of innocence, meaning thereby that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. However, there are instances in our criminal law where a reverse onus has been placed on an accused with regard to some specific offences but that is another matter and does not detract from the fundamental postulate in respect of other offences. Yet another important facet of our criminal jurisprudence is that the grant of bail is the general rule and putting a person in jail or in a prison or in a correction home (whichever expression one may wish to use) is an exception. Unfortunately, some of these basic principles appear to have been lost sight of with the result that more and more persons are being incarcerated and for longer periods. This does not do any good to our criminal jurisprudence or to our society.

5. The historical background of the provision for bail has been elaborately and lucidly explained in a recent decision delivered in Nikesh Tarachand Shah v. Union of India [(2018) 11 SCC 1] going back to the days of the Magna Carta. In that decision, reference was made to Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab [(1980) 2 SCC 565] in which it is observed that it was held way back in Nagendra v. King-Emperor [AIR 1924 Cal 476] that bail is not to be withheld as a punishment. Reference was also made to Emperor v. Hutchinson [AIR 1931 All 356] wherein it was observed that grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception. The provision for bail is therefore age-old and the liberal interpretation to the provision for bail is almost a century old, going back to colonial days."

24. In P. Chidambaram v. CBI, (2020) 13 SCC 337, the Hon'ble Supreme court reiterated the following principles for grant of bail: -

"21. The jurisdiction to grant bail has to be exercised on the basis of the well-settled principles having regard to the facts and circumstances of each case. The following factors are to be taken into consideration while considering an application for bail:

(i) the nature of accusation and the severity of the punishment in the case of conviction and the nature of the materials relied upon by the prosecution;

(ii) reasonable apprehension of tampering with the witnesses or apprehension of threat to the complainant or the witnesses;

(iii) reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the time of trial or the likelihood of his abscondence;

(iv) character, behaviour and standing of the accused and the circumstances which are peculiar to the accused;

(v) larger interest of the public or the State and similar other considerations.

25. In a recent decision in the case of Satender Kumar Antil v. Central Bureau of Investigation, 2022 SCC OnLine SC 825, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has summarized and reiterated the law regarding grant of bail in economic offences, as laid down in its earlier decisions, in the following words:--

"66. What is left for us now to discuss are the economic offences. The question for consideration is whether it should be treated as a class of its own or otherwise. This issue has already been dealt with by this Court in the case of P. Chidambaram v. Directorate of Enforcement, (2020) 13 SCC 791, after taking note of the earlier decisions governing the field. The gravity of the offence, the object of the Special Act, and the attending circumstances are a few of the factors to be taken note of, along with the period of sentence. After all, an economic offence cannot be classified as such, as it may involve various activities and may differ from one case to another. Therefore, it is not advisable on the part of the court to categorise all the offences into one group and deny bail on that basis. Suffice it to state that law, as laid down in the following judgments, will govern the field:--

Precedents

-P. Chidambaram v. Directorate of Enforcement, (2020) 13 SCC 791:

23. Thus, from cumulative perusal of the judgments cited on either side including the one rendered by the Constitution Bench of this Court, it could be deduced that the basic jurisprudence relating to bail remains the same inasmuch as the grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception so as to ensure that the accused has the opportunity of securing fair trial. However, while considering the same the gravity of the offence is an aspect which is required to be kept in view by the Court. The gravity for the said purpose will have to be gathered from the facts and circumstances arising in each case. Keeping in view the consequences that would befall on the society in cases of financial irregularities, it has been held that even economic offences would fall under the category of "grave offence" and in such circumstance while considering the application for bail in such matters, the Court will have to deal with the same, being sensitive to the nature of allegation made against the accused. One of the circumstances to consider the gravity of the offence is also the term of sentence that is prescribed for the offence the accused is alleged to have committed. Such consideration with regard to the gravity of offence is a factor which is in addition to the triple test or the tripod test that would be normally applied. In that regard what is also to be kept in perspective is that even if the allegation is one of grave economic offence, it is not a rule that bail should be denied in every case since there is no such bar created in the relevant enactment passed by the legislature nor does the bail jurisprudence provide so. Therefore, the underlining conclusion is that irrespective of the nature and gravity of charge, the precedent of another case alone will not be the basis for either grant or refusal of bail though it may have a bearing on principle. But ultimately the consideration will have to be on case-to-case basis on the facts involved therein and securing the presence of the accused to stand trial.

-Sanjay Chandra v. CBI, (2012) 1 SCC 40:

"39. Coming back to the facts of the present case, both the courts have refused the request for grant of bail on two

grounds : the primary ground is that the offence alleged against the accused persons is very serious involving deep-rooted planning in which, huge financial loss is caused to the State exchequer; the secondary ground is that of the possibility of the accused persons tampering with the witnesses. In the present case, the charge is that of cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property and forgery for the purpose of cheating using as genuine a forged document. The punishment for the offence is imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years. It is, no doubt, true that the nature of the charge may be relevant, but at the same time, the punishment to which the party may be liable, if convicted, also bears upon the issue. Therefore, in determining whether to grant bail, both the seriousness of the charge and the severity of the punishment should be taken into consideration.

40. The grant or refusal to grant bail lies within the discretion of the court. The grant or denial is regulated, to a large extent, by the facts and circumstances of each particular case. But at the same time, right to bail is not to be denied merely because of the sentiments of the community against the accused. The primary purposes of bail in a criminal case are to relieve the accused of imprisonment, to relieve the State of the burden of keeping him, pending the trial, and at the same time, to keep the accused constructively in the custody of the court, whether before or after conviction, to assure that he will submit to the jurisdiction of the court and be in attendance thereon whenever his presence is required. xxxxxxxxx

46. We are conscious of the fact that the accused are charged with economic offences of huge magnitude. We are also conscious of the fact that the offences alleged, if proved, may jeopardise the economy of the country. At the same time, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the investigating agency has already completed investigation and the charge-sheet is already filed before the Special Judge, CBI, New Delhi. Therefore, their presence in the custody may not be necessary for further investigation. We are of the view that the appellants are entitled to the grant of bail pending trial on stringent conditions in order to ally the apprehension expressed by CBI."

26. In a recent decision of this Court in the case of Nitin Verma versus Union of India and another, 2022 Scc OnLine All 512, this Court granted bail to a person accused of committing offence under Section 132 (1) (b) and 132 (1) (i) of the CGST Act, 2017 where the allegation was that the total invoice value of the fake supplies made by the 126 bogus firms of the accused was Rs. 691.35 Crores and the total GST evasion involved in it is Rs. 100.30 Crores, after taking into consideration the legal position referred to in the last preceding paragrahs, on the following reasons: -

"28. Analyzing the facts of the case in light of the law laid explained in the case of Y. S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, Dataram Singh and Satender Kumar Antil (Supra), it has to be taken into consideration that (1) the applicant has been implicated on the basis of the statement of a co-accused Chandra Prakash Kriplani, who has already been granted bail by this Court; (2) earlier, the applicant himself had been granted anticipatory bail by this Court; (3) the applicant has no criminal history; (4) the department had initiated proceedings on 31.12.2019 by issuing a summons under Section 70 of CGST Act and after completion of the investigation, on 22.11.2021 the department has filed a complaint in the Court of Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra and, therefore, it cannot be said that now the applicant is in a position to influence the investigation of the case; (5) the applicant is languishing in jail since 26-09-2021; (6) the maximum punishment that can be imposed upon the applicant is five years' imprisonment and (7) the offence is compoundable as per the provision contained in Section 138 of the CGST Act, I am of the considered view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail."

27. In Paras Jain versus Union of India, Criminal Miscellaneous Bail Application No. 21848 of 2022, decided on 29-07-2022, wherein it was stated in the counter affidavit that "from the analysis of incriminating material recovered, the involvement of the applicant with 75 fake firms was discovered. No one turned up in response to the summons from 75 firms. The aforesaid firms have availed fraudulent I.T.C. Of Rs.5,28,91,94,250/-.", a co-ordinate Bench of this Court granted bail in an offence under Section 132 (1) (b) of the CGST Act, 2017, keeping in view the facts that the applicant was in jail since 18-02-2022, he had no criminal history, the offence is compoundable and the trial will take a its own time to conclude.

28. The learned Counsel for the DGGI have submitted that in the case of Vimal Yashwantgiri Goswami versus State of Gujarat, R/Special Civil Application No. 13679 of 2019 decided on 20-10-2019, the Gujarat High Court had declined to give any relief to the petitioner, as the case against him involving allegations of GST evasion was found to be serious in nature and the petitioners had not offered to compound the offence. In the aforesaid case, the relief sought by the petitioner which was declined by the High Court was stay of arrest of the petitioner. However on 28-04-2022, the Gujarat High Court has passed an order granting bail to the petitioner Vimal Yashwantgiri Goswami versus State of Gujarat, in its order reported in 2022 Scc OnLine Guj 713: -

"9. _ _ _Even, if the tax evasion is taken more than 5 crores, the maximum punishment which can be imposed is five years. It is not disputed by the department that if the tax evasion of the applicant is less than Rs. 5 crores, then it will be a bailable offence as per the provisions of Section 132(1)(i) read with Sections 132(4) and 132(5) of the Gujarat GST Act and the Central GST Act, 2017. Considering the aforesaid observations, the applicant has carved out his case for grant of bail under the provision of section 438 of the Cr.P.C."

29. The learned Counsel for the DGGI have placed reliance upon a judgment of the Chhattisgarh High Court in the case of Basudev Mittal versus Union of India, MCRC No. 3919 of 2022 decided on 15-07-2022 and the decision dated 24-12-2019 given by Calcutta High Court in Arvind Kumar Munka versus Union of India, CRM No. 10075 of 2019, in which the High Courts had denied bail to the accused. However, mere denial of bail by another High Court on the facts of a particular case, without laying down any proposition of law, would not amount to a binding precedent.

30. The position of law regarding grant of bail which emerges from the judgments of the Supreme Court referred to above, is that the basic jurisprudence relating to bail in economic offences remains the same inasmuch as the grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception so as to ensure that the accused has the opportunity of securing fair trial. It is not advisable to categorize all the economic offences into one group and deny bail on that basis. One of the circumstances to consider the gravity of the offence is the term of sentence that is prescribed for the offence the accused is alleged to have committed. Even if the allegation is one of grave economic offence, it is not a rule that bail should be denied in every case since there is no such bar created in the relevant enactment passed by the legislature nor does the bail jurisprudence provide so. While considering the prayer for grant of bail in any offence, including an economic offence, the Court has to consider: -

(i) the nature of accusation and the severity of the punishment to which the party may be liable in the case of conviction and the nature of the materials relied upon by the prosecution;

(ii) reasonable apprehension of tampering with the witnesses or apprehension of threat to the complainant or the witnesses;

(iii) reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the time of trial or the likelihood of his abscondence;

(iv) character, behaviour and standing of the accused and the circumstances which are peculiar to the accused;

(v) larger interest of the public or the State and similar other considerations.

A prayer for bail is not to be denied merely because of the sentiments of the community are against the accused. The primary purposes of bail in a criminal case are to relieve the accused of imprisonment, to relieve the State of the burden of keeping him, pending the trial, and at the same time, to keep the accused constructively in the custody of the court, whether before or after conviction, to assure that he will submit to the jurisdiction of the court and be in attendance thereon whenever his presence is required.

31. Having considered the facts and submissions made in light of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in various cases, which has been summarized in the preceding paragraphs and keeping in view that: -

(i) the offences alleged carry a minimum punishment of six months' imprisonment and a maximum of five years' imprisonment and that the offences are compoundable, which indicates that the offences are not grave;

(ii) The applicant has already paid a sum of Rs. 54.09 Crores towards tax, interest and penalty and he has undertaken to deposit the amount of any additional liability;

(iii) the Department is yet to ascertain the applicant's tax liability;

(iv) the amount of Rs.196,57,02,539/- seized by the DGGI from the applicant's premises is still lying with the Department and, therefore, the interest of the Revenue as well as that of the public at large is protected;

(v) the applicant has already spent more than 8 months in jail and during this period the department has not sought his custodial interrogation, which shows that his custody is not at all required;

(vi) the trial is yet to commence;

(vii) the applicant has no previous criminal history and he has already been granted bail in the case under the Customs Act;

(viii) the applicant does not hold a passport and, therefore, he is not at a flight risk;

(ix) Besides a mere vague allegation that the applicant may tamper with the evidence, no material is there to give rise to a reasonable apprehension that the applicant will misuse his liberty to subvert justice or tamper with the evidence or witnesses;

I find it a fit case to exercise this Court's discretion of granting bail to the applicant.

32. Let the applicant - Peeyush Kumar Jain be released on bail in Criminal Case No. 7646 of 2022 in the Court of the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Economic Offences) / Additional Metropolitan Magistrate-III, Kanpur Nagar, arising out of the complaint filed by DGGI in respect of offence under Section 132 (1) (a) read with Section 132 (1) (i) and 132 (5) of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, on his furnishing a personal bond of Rs.10,00,000/- and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the date fixed, unless his personal presence is exempted, in which case he will appear through his Counsel.

(iv) The applicant will not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

33. In case of breach of any of the above conditions, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application before this Court seeking cancellation of the present order bail.

10. First Appeal From Order No. 3381 of 2003(Raghuraj Singh Vs Gyan Singhh& ors.) decided on 8.4.2022

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.K. Porwal, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri P.K. Sinha, learned counsel for respondent-insurance company and perused the judgment and order impugned.

2. This appeal, at the behest of the claimant, challenges the judgment and award dated 14.10.1999 passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/VIIth Additional District Judge, Etawah (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') in M.A.C.P No.121 of 1997 awarding a sum of Rs.3,29,500/- as compensation with interest at the rate of 12%.

3. The accident is not in dispute. The issue of negligence decided by the Tribunal is also not in dispute. The issue to be decided is the quantum of compensation awarded and oral objection to finding of fact as far as licence is concerned and compensation is concerned.

4. The accident took place on 24.1.1997. The deceased was 56 years of age. Deceased- Man Singh Yadav who was 56 years of age left behind him, his widow, two minor son and two minor daughter which fact is not in dispute. The Tribunal considered his income to be Rs.15,000/- per month, deducted 1/3rd towards personal expenses of the deceased, granted multiplier of 8.

5. In this appeal a very technical issue has arisen before this Court in appeal filed under Section 173 of Motor Vehicles Act,1988. It is contended that in the body of the application for compensation, the appellants had mentioned that the application was filed under Section 166 and 163(A) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. Claim petition was filed in the year 2000; namely, much before the judgment in Deepal Girishbhai Soni and Ors. Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited, Baroda, AIR 2004 SC 2017, has held that claim petition preferred u/s 163A is under No Fault Liability and though decided the petition as of it is under Section 166 of Act granted compensation as per Section 163A whether such approach is sustainable.

6. It is clear that the matter when it proceeded, the learned Judge also mentioned that it was filed under Section 166 read with Section 163A of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 and while passing the award granted a sum of Rs.3,29,500/- holding that under the Section 163A of Motor Vehicles Act, the said amount was admissible and granted interest at the rate of 12%. The Tribunal has decided issue no.1, namely, the issue of negligence in favour of claimants.

7. It is contended by Sri R.K.Porwal, learned counsel for appellants that the matter has been decided as per Section 166 of Motor Vehicles Act, if the Tribunal had decided the issue of negligence and it cannot grant compensation as per Section 163A which bad in eye of law. The income slab was not considered by the Tribunal as income of deceased was exceeding Rs.40,000/- per annum as per schedule.

8. Sri R.K.Porwal, learned Advocate further submits that in the year 1997, it was a general tradition to file claim petition under Section 166 read with Section 163A of Act as it was considered that to be interim application under 163A was interim compensation. Application substituting Section 140 of Act.

9. Sri R.K. Porwal, learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that the income of the deceased should be considered to be at least Rs.15,294/- per month. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that the Tribunal has not added any amount under the head of future loss of income which should be granted in view of decision in of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and others, 2017 Lawsuit (SC) 1093. It is also submitted that the Tribunal has granted the split multiplier of 8 for three years of service which would be 9 in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Sarla Verma and others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and Another, 2009 LawSuit (SC).

10. As against this, Sri P.K. Sinha, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent insurance company submits that just because the issue of negligence was decided it cannot be said that the matter was decided under Section 166 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. The compensation is decided as per the claim petition and does not call for any upward enhancement as despite the income being Rs.12,000/- per month, Tribunal has considered it as Rs.15,000/- per month.

11. Sri P.K. Sinha, learned Advocate further submits that as far as issue no. 4 is concerned, the Tribunal has decided that the income would be Rs.15,000/- p.m. The income on record was Rs.12,294/- p.m. and that is what the Tribunal had to consider, therefore, it is submitted that future prospect has not to be added as Rs.15,000/- is granted as amount is already granted and the Tribunal has considered the income to be Rs.12,294/- and deducted 1/3rd and granted multiplier of 8 as the deceased was aged about 56 years and therefore it is submitted that the appeal should be dismissed.

12. Sri P.K. Sinha, learned counsel for respondent has contended that multiplier of 8 granted by Tribunal is not exorbitant and it would suffice for non grant of amount under the head of non pecuniary loss and future loss of income. Learned counsel further submits that in the year of accident in the State of U.P., no future prospect was granted. Learned counsel further submits that even in the year of accident in 1997, the repo rate was not 12% and interest granted at the rate of 12 % is exorbitant and requires to be reworked. It is submitted by learned counsel on his oral submission that there is breach of policy as licence of driver was not produced and relied the judgment of this Court in F.A.F.O. No.2389 of 2016 (National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Smt. Vidyawati Devi And 2 Others) decided on 27.7.2016 and in First Appeal From Order No.3381 of 2003 (Raghuraj Singh Vs. Gyan Singh and other) decided on 8.4.2022. Order 43 Rule 1 (r) of C.P.C. learned counsel would like to press the issue of interest also which should be at the rate of 7% and not 12% as granted by the Tribunal in view of the decision of this Court in National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Lavkush and another, 2018 (1) T.A.C. 431 and U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules.

13. Heard the learned counsels for the parties and considered the factual data. It is an admitted position of fact that the Insurance Company has accepted the award and has not challenged the same. There is a categorical finding by the Tribunal that before Tribunal neither the driver was produced nor was policy produced and the Tribunal decided issue no.2 against the insurance company. Thus this ground taken for first time in appeal after 22 years cannot be accepted. This Court finds that the accident occurred on 24.1.1997 causing death of Man Singh Yadav who was 56 years of age at the time of accident. The Tribunal has assessed his income to be Rs.15000/- per month as he was a Principal in a Indra Gandi Inter College, Khadakpur, Saraiya which according to this Court, in the year of accident, is just and proper. To which as the deceased was in the age bracket of 56-60, 15% of the income will have to be added in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Pranay Sethi (Supra). Looking to the general trend even in Gobald Motor Service Ltd. and another Vs. R.M.K Veluswami and other, 1962 SCR(1) 929, the addition of 15% can be granted. The deduction as granted by the Tribunal is maintained. The multiplier would be 9 to which looking to the pendency of the matter which has been pending here since more than 22 years. Rs.70,000/- under the head of non pecuniary damages would suffice for claimants.

14. Sri R.K. Porwal, learned Advocate has relied on the judgment of Supreme Court in N. Jayasree and others Vs. Cholamandalam MS General Insurance Company Limited, 2021 LawSuit(SC) 656 on split multiplier and no deduction for pension.

i. Annual Income Rs.1,80,000/- (Rs.15,000/- per month)

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 15% namely Rs.27,000/-

iii. Total income : Rs.1,80,000/- + Rs.27,000/- = Rs.2,07,000/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd towards personal expenses : Rs.1,38,000/-

v. Multiplier applicable : 9(there cannot be split multiplier)

vi. Loss of dependency: Rs.1,38,000/- x 9 = Rs.12,42,000/-

vii. Amount under non pecuniary heads : Rs.70,000/- viii. Total compensation : Rs.13,12,000/-

16. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, the Tribunal has granted 12% rate of interest which is disturbed but on enhanced amount it would be slab-wise as held herein below.

17. No other grounds are urged orally when the matter was heard.

18. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. The award and decree passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today. The interest on the enhanced amount would be 7% from the date of filing of claim petition till the award and thereafter it would be 4% as the matter has remained pending without fault of insurance company. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

19. Record be sent back to Tribunal forthwith.

20. The finding of Tribunal in issue no.2 is that firstly, the xerox copy of cover note is there but no policy is filed and secondly that the insurance company has not tried to examine their application to examine the driver is sufficient. The fact that challenge by cross objection is not tried will not preclude from granting.

21. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

22. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagauri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

23. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. v. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As 22 years have elapsed, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank without F.D.R.

24. In view of the above, the Insurance Company is granted recovery rights subject to the aforesaid rider and in view of the judgment of this Court passed in First Appeal From Order No.3381 of 2003 (Raghuraj Singh Vs. Gyan Singh and other) decided on 8.4.2022.

25. This Court is thankful to both the counsels for getting this old matter decided.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
&
Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants and learned counsel for the respondents. Perused the record.

2. This appeal has been preferred by appellants/claimants against the judgment and award dated 13.01.2017 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Court No.3, Mathura (hereinafter referred to as, 'Tribunal') in Motor Accident Claim Petition No.268 of 2015 (Smt. Rajni Singh and Others v. Iffco Tokiyo General Insurance Co. Ltd. and Others) by which the claim petition of appellants was rejected by learned tribunal.

3. The brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 06.03.2015 at about 03:30 p.m. (night), deceased Jitendra Singh was coming to his Village Virzapur from Mandi Samiti on foot, when he reached on NH-2 near Jai Gurudev Ashram within the jurisdiction of Police Station Highway Mathura, a EON Car bearing No.UP 85 AF 2955 came from behind and hit him (deceased). The driver of the car was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently. In this accident, the deceased sustained serious injuries. The deceased was admitted in Prabha Hospital, Mathura, but due to serious condition of the deceased, he was referred to Kamayani Hospital, Agra where he was admitted from 06.03.2015 to 11.03.2015, when the condition of the deceased became more serious, he was admitted to Rainbow Hospital, Agra on 11.03.2015 and for better treatment he was carried to Delhi, but on the way he died on 23.03.2015, namely, after 20 days of the accident having taken place.

4. The Apex Court in UPSRTC Vs. Km. Mamta and others, reported in AIR 2016 SC 948, has held that all the issues raised in the memo of appeal are required to be addressed and decided by the first appellate court.

5. It is an admitted position of fact that deceased was a married person and the claimants are the legal representatives of the deceased, namely, widow, two minor sons and one minor daughter, the mother of the deceased was also dependent on him. The multiplier would be as per the judgment of Sarla Verma (infra), which would have to be as per the age of the deceased.

6. Learned counsel for claimants submitted that at the time of accident, deceased was Assistant Teacher in Primary School. Hence, the monthly income of the deceased was Rs.28,528/-. Learned counsel for claimants also submitted that for the future loss of income, 50% of the income should have been added by the learned tribunal which has not been added.

7. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that this case is covered by the judgment of this Court in Smt. Meenakshi Srivastava and others vs. Dhiraj Pandey and others, 2022 LawSuit All.247.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants has cited the following judgments so as to substantiate his written arguments:-

(i) Bimla Devi and others v. Himachal Road Transport Corporation and others reported inn AIR 2009 Sc 2819;

(ii) Ravi v. Badrinarayan and others reported in AIR 2011 V SC 1226 paragraph 20 relied upon;

(iii) Jai Prakash v. National Insurance Company Ltd and others; reported in 2010 2 SCC 607;

(iv) Dulcina Fernandes and others v. Joaquim Xavier Cruz and others reported in AIR 2014 SC 58;

(v) Mangla Ram v. The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and others;

(vi) Sunita and others v. Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation and others reported in AIR 2019 SC 994;

(vii) Anita Sharma the New India Assurance Co. reported in AIR 2021 SC 302;

(viii) Vimla Devi and others v. National Insurance Company Limited and others reported in AIR (2019) 2 SCC 186; and

(ix) Jai Prakash v. National Insurance Co. Ltd. and Ors, Special Leave petition (Civil) Nos. 11801-11804 of 2005 decided on 17.12.2009.

9. Learned counsel for Insurance Company vehemently objected the submissions made by appellant and further submitted that learned tribunal has considered each and every aspect while awarding compensation and has awarded just compensation. Hence, the impugned judgment does not call for any interference by this Court.

10. The facts as revealed which are not disputed are that the vehicle in question was involved in the accident is accepted by the owner of the said vehicle. The decision of this Bench in Ranjeet Singh v. The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and others., First Appeal From Order No.1902 of 2010 decided on 04.03.2022. The judgment of this Court in Deen Dayal and others v Nishan Singh and others, First Appeal From Order No.1556 of 2002 decided on 23.3.2022 will also enure for the benefit of the appellant herein. The judgment of Prabha Sharma and others v. The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. and others, First Appeal From Order No.3602 of 2021 dated 24.09.2021 will also enure for the benefit of the owner. In our case, it is also accepted that the accident having taken place.

11. In Vinita Kesarwani and others v. The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd and others, First Appeal From Order No.316 of 2012 decided on 01.04.2022 which judgment penned by one of us also will apply for the benefit of the appellants. In this backdrop, can it be said that the finding of the learned tribunal while rejecting the claim petition that it was not proved that vehicle was involved and that the appellants did not specify in which hospital the deceased was first moved for treatment. The second ground of rejection by the tribunal is that the First Information Report was belatedly lodged. The factual scenario as it goes enumerates that deceased after meeting with the accident was hospitalized, the family so busy looking after the injured so as to see that he survives, he was advised to be shifted from one hospital to another and the FIR was lodged immediately on his breathing last at the place of accident having taken place. The tribunal has not taken a holistic view of the beneficial piece of legislation.

12. The FIR cannot be said to be belated and holding that filing of charge sheet is not conclusive proof also belies the decisions of the Apex Court in catena of judgments. This Court time and again has held that filing of charge sheet is prima facie proof of accident having taken place. The charge sheet was laid and, therefore, it cannot be said that it was not proved that the vehicle was not involved in the accident, this hyper technical finding of fact cannot be accepted.

13. The burden of proof as far as motor accident claims cases are concerned, the civil jurisdiction that the tribunal should not go by what a known as strict proof of civil evidence rather filing of an FIR sine qua non for filing claim petition.

14. The eye witnesses have categorically mentioned that the accident took place. The two decades old judgment of the Himachal Pradesh reported in Brestu Ram v. Anant Ram & others, 1990 ACJ 333 (HP) and the decision of this Court in F.A.F.O. No.2190 of 2010 (All), ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd v. Smt. Reena Tyagi and ors. and also the judgment of Mangla Ram (supra) will apply in full force and the claim petition could not have been dismissed in the manner in which the tribunal has dismissed the same.

15. The evidence of PWs-2 and 3 have been brushed aside, the evidence of PW-1 and 3 is very important just because the documentary evidence of Prabhu Hospital is not filed, it cannot be said that the accident has not taken place. The judgment of Jai Prakash (supra) would apply in full force just because the number of vehicle was not mentioned by the informant will not make any difference of the Apex Court in Jai Prakash (supra) ought to have been applied by the learned tribunal and just because some persons did not inform the police about the number of the Car does not make it a doubtful propositions. The learned tribunal in its order to dismiss the claim petition as proceed the entire investigation papers, namely, post mortem report will goes to show that injuries were because of the accidental injuries, there were medical reports which were filed of several hospitals.

16. Paragraph 4 of the judgment itself is self contradictory, once the owner who is respondent no.2 files his reply can it be said that it is not proved that the accident occurred with the involvement of EON Car.

17. This takes us to the next issue orally mentioned by counsel for the State that the tribunal has not decided the issue of negligence. They may be permitted to raise even the issue of negligence if this Court comes to the conclusion that the vehicle was involved in the accident. We have permitted to same in view of propositions of Order 43 Rule 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

18. As far as the liability of the insurance company is concerned, while deciding issue No.2, the driving licence is found to be valid, the policy was produced and it is proved that the vehicle was insured on the said date of accident.

19. As far as issue No.4 is concerned, as the tribunal has held that against the claimants for issue No.1, it did not grant any compensation. The inquest report and the post mortem report are substantive piece of evidence and absence of rebuttal evidence being brought on record, the tribunal should not have decided the matter in the manner it has done.

20. As the issue of negligence is raised by Insurance company in this appeal contending that as this is a statutory appeal, the insurance company can raise objection even without filing appeal, would have to be decided, who was negligent whether the deceased had contributed in the accident having taken place will have to be evaluated on the fact and circumstances of the case.

21. The term Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

22. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

23. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

24. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.

25. These provisions (sec.110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

26. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).

27. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side.

28. The next issue which arises is that the matter has remained pending for long, the record and proceedings are before this Court and the matter whether be remanded to the Tribunal or decided here? The answer is in the affirmative as per the judgments of the Apex Court in Bithika Mazumdar and another Vs. Sagar Pal and others, (2017) 2 SCC 748 and of this Court in F.A.F.O. No. 1999 of 2007 (Oriental Insurance Company Limited vs. Smt. Ummida Begum and others) and in F.A.F.O. No. 1404 of 1999 (Smt. Ragini Devi and others Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited and another) decided on 17.4.2019 where in it has been held that if the record is with the appellate Court, it can decide compensation instead of relegating the parties to the Tribunal.

29. We are fortified in our view by the decision of the Apex Court in Anita Sharma vs. New India Assurance Co.Ltd., 2021 (1) SCC 171, in which it is held that standard of proof in claim petition under Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 cannot be equated with the standard of proof as it is in civil or criminal law. There is not requirement to decide the issue of accident in claim petitioners that it should be proved beyond all reasonable, but the standard of proof is much lesser and it should be decided on the basis of preponderance of probabilities keeping in mind the intent of legislature as this is benevolent piece of legislation.

30. The Division Bench of Madras High Court also held in Reliance General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Subbulakshmi and Others, passed in C.MA. No. 1482 of 2017 [C.M.P. No. 7919 of 2017. (CMA Sr. No. 76893 of 2016)] has referred the case of Puspabai Purshottam Udeshi Vs. Ranjit Ginning and Pressing Co., 1977ACJ 343 (SC), in which it is observed that the normal rule is that it is for the plaintiff to prove negligence but as in some cases considerable hardship is caused to the plaintiff as the true cause of the accident is not known to him but is solely within the knowledge of the defendant who caused it, the plaintiff can prove the accident but cannot prove how it happened to establish negligence on the part of the defendant. This hardship is sought to be avoided by applying the principle of res ipsa loquitur. The general purport of the words res ipsa loquitur is that the accident 'speaks for itself or tells its own story. There are cases in which the accident speaks for itself so that it is sufficient for the plaintiff to prove the accident and nothing more. It will then be for the defendant to establish that the accident happened due to some other cause than his own negligence. Where the maxim is applied the burden is on the defendant to show either that in fact he was not negligent or that the accident might more probably have happened in a manner which did not connote negligence on his part. For the application of the principle it must be shown that the car was under the management of the defendant and that the accident is such as in ordinary course of things does not happen if those who had the management used proper care.

Compensation :

31. Having heard learned counsels for the parties and considered the factual data, the accident occurred on 6.3.2015 causing death of Jitendra Singh who left behind him his wife, two sons, one daughter and mother. The Tribunal has not assessed the income of the deceased as per facts proved required to be granted to Rs.28,528/- per month. The age of the deceased was 30 years. Hence in the light of the judgment of Pranay Sethi (supra), 50% would be added as future loss of income.

32. In the judgment of Vimal Kanwar and others v. Kishore Dan and others, AIR 2013 SC 3830, the Hon'ble Apex Court held that it would be reasonable to say that a person who is self employed or is engaged on fixed wages will also get 50% increase in his total income for a period of time. Hence, 50% of the income shall be added for future loss of income. The appellant was of 30 years of age, hence multiplier of 17 would be applicable. There are five dependents on the deceased, hence 1/4 would be deducted for personal expenses in the light of the judgment of Sarla Verma Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, (2009) 6 SCC 121.

33. As far as beneficial piece of legislation is concerned, the strict rules of Civil Procedure Code and Evidence Act are not required to adhered to.

34. In this backdrop we evaluate the income in view of the judgment of National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050, Sarla Verma Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, (2009) 6 SCC 121 and Kurvan Ansari Alias Kurvan Ali v. Shyam Kishore Murmu, 2010 (0) AIJEL SC 67995, the recalculation of compensation would be as follows:

i. Income Rs.28,528/- p.m., it would be Rs.3,42,336/- p.a.

ii. Percentage towards future prospects :Rs.1,71,168/-

iii. Total income : Rs.5,13,504/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/4 : Rs.3,85,128/-

v. Multiplier applicable : 17 (as the deceased was in the age bracket of 26-30 years)

vi. Loss of dependency: Rs.3,85,128 x 17 = Rs.65,47,176/-

vii. Medical expenses : Rs.2,00,000/- viii. Under the head of non pecuniary damages = Rs.70,000/-

ix. Total compensation (vi+vii +viii) : Rs.68,17,176/-.

35. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National 7 Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

36. We deem it fit to rely on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma and others Vs. R. Venugopal, 2012 (3) SCC 378 wherein the Apex Court has considered the judgment rendered in General Manager, Kerala State Road Transport Corporation, Trivandrum Vs.

Susamma Thomas and others, AIR 1994 SC 1631 for disbursement.

37. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma (supra), the order of investment is not passed because claimants are neither illiterate nor rustic villagers.

38. Recently the Gujarat High Court in case titled the Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Chief Commissioner of Income Tax (TDS), R/Special Civil Application No.4800 of 2021 decided on 05.04.2022, it is held that interest awarded by the tribunal or appellate court under Section 171 of Motor Vehicles Act is not taxable under the Income Tax Act, 1961

39. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunal shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and judgment of A.V. Padma (supra), the same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

40. In view of the above, both the appeals are partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount of Rs.68,17,176/- within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited.

41. Record be transmitted to tribunal.

42. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. v. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As 7 years have elapsed since occurrence of accident, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank. The amount shall be credited in the said account with without investment as the case may be.

43. We are thankful to learned counsels for the parties for ably assisting this court in getting this old appeal disposed of.

Counsel for the Respondent:

A. Civil Law - Employees State Insurance Act, 1948-Section 82 - Appeal-ESIC preferred appeal against the judgment of Employees Insurance Court, Kanpur for awarding 10% loss of earning-respondent sustained employment injuries-medical board did not consider the injury as causing any loss of earning capacity-Whether the appeal involves a substantial question of law or not depends upon the facts of each case, if the substantial question of law arises, the High Court would admit the appeal for final hearing on merit else would dismiss in limini with reasons-In the present case, the so–called question of law framed by the Insurance Company are answered against it-In fact the substantial question of law raised are the question of fact.

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

2. E.S.I.C. Vs S.Prasad F.A.F.O. 1070 of 1993

3. North East Karnataka Road Trans. Corp. Vs Smt. Sujatha Civil Appeal No. 7470 of 2009

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Shri Rajesh Tiwari, learned counsel for appellant and perused the judgment and order impugned.

2. This appeal has been preferred under Section 82 of the Employees State Insurance Act, 1948, at the behest of the Employee State Insurance Corporation, has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 21.9.1993 passed by Employees Insurance Court, Kanpur in appeal. No. 70 of 1993 awarding 10% loss of earning.

3. The factual matrix as necessary for our purpose are that respondent sustained employment injuries on 11.6.1991 in his right eye. The medical board did not considerthe injury as causing any loss of earning capacity, which dissatisfied the respondent herein. The respondent preferred an appeal and has claimed 10% loss of earning capacity which appeal has been accepted by the 1st appellate authority.

4. The objections were filed by the appellant-herein and the medical examination of the injury of the insured person and the reports were also placed on record. The medical board did not find any diminution of vision and, therefore, held that the respondent was not entitled for any compensation.

5. The moot question which arises for consideration of this Court is that can this Court in appeal preferred under Section 82 of the Employees State Insurance Act 40 inquire with and the factual findings.

6. It is submitted by counsel for appellant that there is no evidence about diminution of vision of the eye and, there was no loss of earning capacity just holding that injury falls within Serial 32 of II Schedule of the Act can this be considered to be a substantial question of law, the answer to the same is 'No'. The reason being finding as to whether the injury was covered by Serial No.32 of the II Schedule is finding of fact and not question of law.

7. The grounds urged are basically question of facts. The award passed by Employees Insurance Court cannot be said to be perverse. It is not necessary that the owner should be declared as insolvent as alleged.

8. The appeal under Workmen Compensation Act has to be viewed very seriously in view of the judgment in Golla Rajanna Etc. Etc. Vs. Divisional Manager and Another, 2017 (1) TAC 259 (SC). The finding of fact is that the injured was an employee who had sustained employment injury and was incapacitated to the tune 10%.

9. The Apex Court recently in Golla Rajanna (Supra) has been considered by this High Court in F.A.F.O. 1070 of 1993 (E.S.I.C. Vs. S. Prasad) decided on 26.10.2017 wherein this Court has held as follows:

"The grounds urged before this Court are in the realm of finding of facts and not a question of law. As far as question of law is concerned, the aforesaid judgment in Golla Rajanna Etc. Etc. Versus Divisional Manager and another (supra) in paragraph 8 holds as follows "the Workman Compensation Commissioner is the last authority on facts. The Parliament has thought it fit to restrict the scope of the appeal only to substantial questions of law, being a welfare legislation. Unfortunately, the High Court has missed this crucial question of limited jurisdiction and has ventured to re-appreciate the evidence and recorded its own findings on percentage of disability for which also there is no basis."

10. I am even supported in my view by the decision of the Apex Court in Civil Appeal No.7470 of 2009 North East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation Vs. Smt. Sujatha decided on 2.11.2018 wherein it has been held that the Court has held as under:

"15. Such appeal is then heard on the question of admission with a view to find out as to whether it involves any substantial question of law or not. Whether the appeal involves a substantial question of law or not depends upon the facts of each case and needs an examination by the High Court. If the substantial question of law arises, the High Court would admit the appeal for final hearing on merit else would dismiss in limini with reasons that it does not involve any substantial question/s of law.

16. Now coming to the facts of this case, we find that the appeal before the High Court did not involve any substantial question of law on the material questions set out above. In other words, in our view, the Commissioner decided all the material questions arising in the case properly on the basis of evidence adduced by the parties and rightly determined the compensation payable to the respondent. It was, therefore, rightly affirmed by the High Court on facts.

17. In this view of the matter, the findings being concurrent findings of fact of the two courts below are binding on this Court. Even otherwise, we find no good ground to call for any interference on any of the factual findings. None of the factual findings are found to be either perverse or arbitrary or based on no evidence or against any provision of law. We accordingly uphold these findings."

11. A recent decision of the Apex Court in the case of Mayan Vs. Mustafa and another, 2022 ACJ 524 also holds that the Court cannot interfere unless there is a question of law involved. In our case the injury was during the course of employment. The percentage of injury was decided by the court below. The judgment of Apex Court in Salim Versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd. and another, 2022 ACJ 526 will also not permit this Court to interfere in the well-reasoned judgment of the court below.

12. In view of the above, the appeal fails and is dismissed. The show called questions of law framed by the Insurance Company are answered against it. In fact, the substantial questions of law raised are the questions of fact.

13. Interim relief, if any, shall stand vacated forthwith.

Second Appeal No. 2974 of 1982

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Kamlesh Kumar Kanojiya, Sri Bachchu Lal Yadav, Sri Kamlesh Kumar Kanojiya

A. Civil Law - Second Appeal- Civil Procedure Code, 1908 - Section 100 - Res-judicata-Section 11-Ingredients of-substantial question of law-whether suit barred by principle of res-judicata-discussed-Court below rightly adjudge the issue of res-judicata against the plaintiff.(Para 1 to 21)

B. "Where persons litigate bona-fide in respect of a public right or of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others, all persons interested in such right shall, for the purposes of this section be deemed to claim under the persons so litigating." But it is only when the conditions of Explanation VI are satisfied that a decision in the litigation will bind all persons interested in the right litigated and the onus of proving the want of bona fides in respect of the previous litigation is on the party seeking to avoid the decision. The words "public right" have been added in Explanation VI in view of the new Section 91 C.P.C. and to prevent multiplicity of litigation in respect of public right. In view of Explanation VI it cannot be disputed that Section 11 applies to public interest litigation as well but it must be proved that the previous litigation was the public interest litigation not by way of a private grievance. It has to be bonafide litigation in respect of a right which is common and is agitated in common with others. (Para 19)

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

List of Cases cited:

1. Forward Construction Co. Vs Prabhai Mandal Andheri & ors.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Mr. B.L. Yadav and Mr. K.K. Kanojiya, learned counsel for the appellant and Mr. Prem Shanker Prasad, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. This is plaintiff's second appeal under Section 100 of Civil Procedure Code against the judgment and decree dated 07.08.1982 passed in Civil Appeal No.153 of 1980 arising out of original suit No.880 of 1976.

3. The present second appeal was admitted on 21.07.1983 but substantial question was not framed at that time.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant is pressing the only substantial question of law which has been framed by him in his memo of Second Appeal, accordingly, this appeal shall be heard on following substantial question of law:

1. "Whether judgment and decree in a suit between the father of the appellant and some other defendant, who is defendant in the present suit about the same land, which is ancestral and not self acquired property of the father of the appellant, principle of res-judicata will apply or not?"

5. Both parties agreed that second appeal be heard and disposed of on the substantial question of law as framed by this Court today itself.

6. Plaint in brief is that plaintiff's house and Sahan is situated in plot No.998 Shikkimi Plot Nos. 248, 249, 250, 251 which is ancestral house and Sahan of the plaintiff; village in question is partitioned village; plaintiff's grand father Badloo was alive at the time of partition; one Doodh Nath brother of Badloo had died issueless accordingly, Badloo came in possession on the house and Sahan of Doodh Nath. Shikkimi No.248 was recorded as parti but plaintiff's grand father established his Sahan over the same with the permission of zamindar and the same is being used in the same manner till date. Shikkimi No.248 was in the shape of Banjar and abadi, as such it was recorded as Banjar in order to avoid any difficulty plaintiff got the settlement of the same from Gaon Sahba. Plaintiff was born before the date of vesting and he was living separate from his father as such father was impleaded as defendant IInd set. Defendant Ist set put a palani in the disputed land 2-3 months before the institution of the suit and plaintiff reside outside due to employment. Plaintiff requested the defendant Ist set to remove palani and ghoora etc. when plaintiff came back to his home defendant Ist set did not pay any attention to the request, hence the suit.

7. Defendant denied the plaint allegation and alleged in his additional statement that plaintiff and defendant No.6 are son and father and reside together for all purposes. He further alleged that in respect to disputed property plaintiff's father who is defendant No.6 (Naurangi) instituted a suit No.687 of 1967 in the court of Munsif IIIrd Deoria against defendant Ist and their predecessor in interest which was dismissed by trial court and the Civil Appeal filed before District Judge Deoria was also dismissed, hence present suit in respect of same property is barred by principle of res-judicata. He further alleged that suit is also barred by principle of estoppal and acquiescence. He further alleged that property has been settled with defendant Ist set under Section-9 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act as such suit filed by plaintiff is frivolous and is liable to be dismissed.

8. Plaintiff and Defendant Ist set adduced oral and documentary evidences in support of their. Defendant Ist filed judgment and decree of suit No. 687 of 1967 and Civil Appeal No. 290 of 1971 as well as the map prepared in suit No.687 of 1967 in order to demonstrate that property in dispute in both the cases are same and identical.

9. Before trial court 8 issues were framed in which issue No.3 was whether suit is barred by res-judicata as alleged in para No.5 of the written statement.

10. Trial Court considering the each and every oral and documentary evidence, came to conclusion that present suit filed by plaintiff is barred by res-judicata in view of judgment and decree passed in earlier suit No.687 of 1967 in respect of same property.

11. While deciding the issue No.3 trial Court has discussed about the oral statement of P.W.1 (Plaintiff himself) who in his examination-in-chief admit that he came to know about the suit No.687 of 1967 about 5-6 years before but in his cross-examination he denied about the knowledge of Suit No.687 of 1967 accordingly trial court recorded finding that plaintiff is making false statement as trial court while considering the documentary evidence relating to Suit No.687 of 1967 recorded finding that property of earlier Suit No.687 of 1967 as well as present suit is same and identical. Accordingly issue No.3 was decided against the plaintiff and in favour of the defendant Ist set. Other issues were decided accordingly.

12. Lower Appellate Court confirmed the finding of fact recorded by trial court on issue No.3 that present suit is barred by principle of res-judicata due to decree passed in suit No.687 of 1967 filed by plaintiff's grand father in respect to same property.

13. Counsel for the appellant submitted that present suit is not barred by principle of res-judicata as judgment and decree passed in earlier suit No.687 of 1967 was filed by plaintiff's father, although plaintiff and plaintiff's father were residing separate since long. He further submitted that property in dispute is ancestral property of the plaintiff. He further submitted that property in dispute has been settled with the plaintiff and his father under Section 9 of U.P.Z.A.& L.R. Act accordingly counsel for the appellant submitted that judgement and decree passed by courts below be set aside.

14. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent Ist set submitted that property in dispute of present suit is same and identical to the property in dispute of earlier suit No.687 of 1967 filed by plaintiff's father, as such present suit is barred by principle of res-judicata. He further submitted that concurrent finding of fact have been recorded by trial court as well as by lower appellate court that present suit is barred by principle of res-judicata, as such no interference is required and second appeal is liable to be dismissed.

15. Heard Counsel for the parties and perused the record on the substantial question of law as quoted above.

16. In order to appreciate the argument advanced by learned cousnel for the parties as well as to consider the substantial question of law as framed the perusal of section-11 of Civil Procedure Code will be necessary, which is as follows:

"CPC Section 11. Res judicata.

No Court shall try any suit or issue in which the matter directly and substantially in issue has been directly and substantially in issue in a former suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, litigating under the same title, in a Court competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised, and has been heard and finally decided by such Court.

Explanation I- The expression "former suit" shall denote a suit which has been decided prior to the suit in question whether or not it was instituted prior thereto.

Explanation II.- For the purposes of this section, the competence of a Court shall be determined irrespective of any provisions as to a right of appeal from the decision of such Court.

Explanation III.- The matter above referred to must in the former suit have been alleged by one party and either denied or admitted, expressly or impliedly, by the other.

Explanation VI- Where persons litigate bona fide in respect of public right or of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others, all persons interested in such right shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to claim under the persons so litigating.

1[Explanation VII.- The provisions of this section shall apply to a proceeding for the execution of a decree and reference in this section to any suit, issue or former suit shall be construed as references, respectively, to proceedings for the execution of the decree, question arising in such proceeding and a former proceeding for the execution of that decree.

"Explanation VIII.-An issue heard and finally decided by a Court of limited jurisdiction, competent to decide such issue, shall operate as res judicata in as subsequent suit, notwithstanding that such Court of limited jurisdiction was not competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised.]"

17. The trial Court while deciding the issue No.3 relating to res-judicata as held as follows:

जहां तक दोनों वादों कि विवादित भूमि का प्रश्न है कागज सं० 481 ग जो वाद सं० 687 सन् 67 नवरंगी प्रति श्रीमति तेतरी वगैरह बअदालत III Add. Munsif महोदय, देवरिया का निर्णय है, से यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि उक्त वाद में शिकमी नं० 248 पर ही वादी के पिता ने अनुतोष चाहा था और उक्त वाद में भी प्रतिवादीगण ने यही अभिकथित किया था कि विवादित शिकमी नं० 248 कभी वादी (उक्त वादी) का नहीं रहा और इस पर प्रतिवादीगण की धारी है और उक्त वाद में यह तथ्य पाया गया कि नौरंगी का शिकमी नं० 248 पर कोई स्वत्व प्राप्त नहीं है। अतएंव यह सिध्य हो जाता है कि दोनों वादों की विवादित भूमि एक ही है।

जहां तक वादी कि विश्वसनियता का प्रश्न है उसके मौखिक साक्ष्य का विवेचन आवश्यक है। उसने अपने ब्यान खास में कहा है कि उसे अपने पिता द्वारा संस्थित वाद की जानकारी 5-6 साल पहले हुई पर अपने प्रति परीक्षण में उसने इन्कार किया कि उसे ऐसे किसी वाद की जानकारी है। उसने यहां तक स्पष्ट कहा कि आज तक इस विषय में कुछ नहीं मालुम। इससे यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि वादी असत्य कथन कर रहा है।

विषय प्रांगन्याय से हटकर भी वादी की अविश्वशसनियता के अनेक उदाहरण है। अपने ब्यान खास में वह कहता है कि विवादित भूमि अब्बूराम जमीदार से उनके आजा ने ली थी पर अपने प्रति परीक्षण में कहता है कि मैं अपने पिता से बोलता नही अतएंव यह जमीन उनको कैसे मिली मैनें पूछा नहीं। उसने अपने प्रतिपरीक्षण में यह भी कहा है कि वह सन् 1967 से 1971 के बीच कम कम से कम 4 बार घर गया होगा पर यह भी कहता है कि उसके बाल-बच्चों ने किसी मुकदमें के बारे में नहीं बताया। वाद सं० 687 सन् 67 में नक्शा बनाने हेतु वकील आयुक्त गये थे और उनका बनाया हुआ नक्शा 471 ग2 दिनांक 15/2/70 का है। इस नक्शे को बनाने हेतु कमिश्नर महोदय मौके पर अवश्य गये होगें। नाप जोख भी हुई होगी और इसकी जानकारी भी करीब-करीब सभी गांव के लोगों को हो गयी होगी। ऐसी दशा में वादी के घर जाने पर उसे इस तथ्य की जानकारी नहीं होना असम्भव और सर्वथा अस्वभाविक प्रतीत होता है।

उपरोक्त समस्त चर्चा से यह प्रगट होता है कि वादी का यह कहना कि उसे वाद सं० 687 सन् 67 की कोई जानकारी नही थी सर्वथा असत्य है। इस कारण से वाद सं० 687 सन् 67 उसके विरूद्ध Res Judicata है और यह वाद धारा-11 दीवानी प्रक्रिया संहिता से बाधित है।

वाद यह तद्नुसार वादी के विरूद्ध तथा प्रतिवादिगण प्रथमपक्ष के पक्ष में निर्णित किया जाता है।

वाद पद सं०2, 4, 5 व 6 इन वाद पदो पर में चर्चा आवश्यक नहीं समझता क्योंकि वाद पद सं०3 की चर्चा से यही स्पष्ट हो गया है कि वाद धारा-11 दीवानी प्रक्रिया संहिता से वाधित है।"

18. Trial Court while deciding the issue No.3 has taken into consideration the oral evidence as well as documentary evidences adduced by the parties. In the oral evidence statement in chief of P.W.1 will be relevant where he stated that he came to know about the judgment and decree passed in suit No.687 of 1967, 5-6 years before although in cross examination he denied knowledge about the judgment and decree passed in suit No.687 of 1967, the trial court came to conclusion that pliantiff is stating wrong fact about the judgment and decree passed in suit No.687 of 1967. Trial Court further examined the judgment and decree as well as the map prepared in the suit and came to the conclusion that property in earlier No.687 of 1967 as well as in the present suit is same and identical. Trial court also recorded finding that according to plaint allegation plaintiff states that according to Hindu law plaintiff is owner of the disputed property having coparcenary right in the property as such the right decided in favour or against the plaintiff's father will bind plaintiff also. Considering each and every aspect trial court decided the issue No.3 against the plaintiff and recorded finding of fact that present suit is barred by principle of res-judicata and is barred by section-11 of Civil Procedure Code.

19. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Forward Construction Co. Vs. Prabhat Mandal Andheri and other interpreted the principle of Res-judicata specially explanation- IV to VI of Section 11 of Civil Procedure Code paragaraph Nos 19, 20 and 21 of the judgment rendered in Forward Construction Co. (Supra) are as follows:

The second question for consideration is whether the present writ petition is barred by res judicata. This plea has been negatived by the High Court for two reasons: (1) that in the earlier writ petition the validity of the permission granted under r.4(a)(i) of the Development Control Rules was not in issue; and (2) that the earlier writ petition filed by Shri Thakkar was not a bona fide one in as much as he was put up by some disgruntled builder, namely, of M/s. Western Builders.

"19. The second question for consideration is whether the present writ petition is barred by res judicata. This plea has been negatived by the High Court for two reasons: (1) that in the earlier writ petition the validity of the permission granted under r.4(a)(i) of the Development Control Rules was not in issue; and (2) that the earlier writ petition filed by Shri Thakkar was not a bona fide one in as much as he was put up by some disgruntled builder, namely, of M/s. Western Builders.

20. So far as the first reason is concerned, the High Court in our opinion was not right in holding that the earlier judgment would not operate as res judicata as one of the grounds taken in the present petition was conspicuous by its absence in the earlier petition. Explanation IV to S.11 C.P.C. provides that any matter which might and ought to have been made ground of defence or attack in such former suit shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in such suit. An adjudication is conclusive and final not only as to the actual matter determined but as to every other matter which the parties might and ought to have litigated and have had it decided as incidental to or essentially connected with the subject matter of the litigation and every matter coming with the legitimate purview of the original action both in respect of the matters of claim or defence. The principle underlying Explanation IV is that where the parties have had an opportunity of controverting a matter that should be taken to be the same thing as if the matter had been actually controverted and decided. It is true that where a matter has been constructively in issue it cannot be said to have been actually heard and decided. It could only be deemed to have been heard and decided. The first reason, therefore, has absolutely no force.

21. The second reason given by the High Court however, holds good. Explanation VI to S.11 provides :

"Where persons litigate bona fide in respect of a public right or of a private right claimed in common for themselves and others, all persons interested in such right shall, for the purposes of this section be deemed to claim under the persons so litigating."

But it is only when the conditions of Explanation VI are satisfied that a decision in the litigation will bind all persons interested in the right litigated and the onus of proving the want of bona fides in respect of the previous litigation is on the party seeking to avoid the decision. The words "public right" have been added in Explanation VI in view of the new S.91 C.P.C. and to prevent multiplicity of litigation in respect of public right. In view of Explanation VI it cannot be disputed that S.11 applies to public interest litigation as well but it must be proved that the previous litigation was the public interest litigation not by way of a private grievance. It has to be a bonafide litigation in respect of a right which is common and is agitated in common with others.

20. Judgment and decree of trial court dated 21.04.1980 has been maintained by lower appellate Court by dismissing civil appeal by judgment and decree dated 07.08.1982 considering the point of section-11 of Civil Procedure Code.

21. Considering the finding recorded by courts below ratio of law laid down by Apex Court as well as from the perusal of records it is very much clear that present suit filed by plaintiff is barred by principle of res-judicata, the substantial question of law framed is answered accordingly.

21. In the result, it cannot be said that the courts below have erred in deciding the issue of res-judicata against the plaintiff. The appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed. Appeal is hereby dismissed.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 19.09.2022

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.

Writ-A No. 12015 of 2016

Ashish Pandey & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Rakesh Kumar Singh, Pramendra Kumar Singh, Ravi Shanker Tripathi

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Dr. L.P. Mishra, Gaurav Mehrotra, Narendra Kumar Pandey, Prafulla Tiwari, Sameer Kalia, Sidharth Verma

A. Service Law – Selection - Uttar Pradesh Group-C Direct recruitment (Mode and Procedure) Rules-2015 - Rule 8 (1) - Expression prior approval and approval connotes different situation, where a statue uses the term prior approval anything done without the prior approval, is nullity. However, where a stature employs expression approval, in such cases subsequent rectification can make the act valid. (Para 15 to 17)

In the present case, it is apparent that the 20 maximum marks of the interview prescribed by the UPSSSC on 03.02.2016 has been approved by the Government on 10.06.2016, therefore the condition of Rule 8(1) of Rules of 2015 stands fulfilled, therefore it cannot be said that the selection has been held in violation of the said rule. (Para 18)

B. The examination of the record...not for the purpose to make a roving and fishing enquiry and fish out discrepancies in the selection process. The entire purpose of examining the record...limited to the extent of the allegations made by the petitioner in his writ petition and further fresh facts and grounds cannot be brought on record without the leave of the Court. Fresh facts and new grounds of attack can only be taken on the record only upon an amendment application being filed and not otherwise through supplementary affidavits. (Para 20)

In the present case, petitioner had also tried to argue that the selection has not been made in a fair and proper manner on the ground that in the interview a particular number of marks has been awarded to several candidates who have been selected, but neither there is any pleading in this regard in the petition nor any amendment has been made by the petitioners after coming to know about it. It goes without saying that in such cases the career of a number of candidates is on stake who have participated in the selection after making preparation and have successfully cleared the selection and got the appointment, therefore a roving and fishing enquiry to fish out the discrepancies in the selection process without proper pleading at the instance of unsuccessful candidate, who participated without any demur is not permissible. (Para 19)

C. Petitioners participated in the selection process without any demur or protest and having failed to get the place in the select list, have challenged the selection, whereas they cannot turn around and challenge the selection process. (Para 22)

D. The selection cannot be quashed, unless it is shown by the petitioners that they have prejudiced in any manner by it, even if it is found that there is any discrepancy. In the present case, the petitioners have failed to show that they have been prejudiced in any manner or suffered any harm, injury or they were at disadvantage by subsequent approval on the maximum marks by the Government, which were fixed by the Commission. (Para 23)

E. Words and Phrases – (a) 'approval' - The dictionary meaning of the word 'approval' includes ratifying of the action, ratification obviously can be given ex-post facto approval. (Para 15)

(b) 'prejudice' - As per the Law Lexicon, "Prejudice" means injurious effect, injury to or impairment of a right, claim, statement etc. "Prejudice" is generally defined as meaning "to the harm, to the injury, to the disadvantage of someone" and it also means injury or loss. (Para 24)

1. Dharmendra Kumar &ors. Vs Abhishek Kumar & ors., Special Appeal No.416 of 2016 (Para 21)

Present petition assails select list dated 17.05.2016, issued by Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Commission (UPSSSC), which has been issued after selection in pursuance of the advertisement no.14 / 15 dated 03.09.2015.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard, Shri Rakesh Kumar Singh & Shri Pramendra Kumar Singh, learned counsels for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel for respondents no.1 and 2, Shri Gaurav Mehrotra, learned counsel for respondent no.3 and Shri Sameer Kalia, learned counsel appearing for respondents no.6, 8, 9 and 10. Shri Prafulla Tiwari, learned counsel appearing on behalf of some of the private respondents submitted that he has instructions not to appear and argue on their behalf.

2. By means of the instant writ petition, the petitioners have approached this Court challenging the select list dated 17.05.2016 issued by the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Commission (here-in-after referred as UPSSSC) / opposite party no.3, which has been issued after selection in pursuance of the advertisement no.14/15 dated 03.09.2015. A further prayer has been made for a direction to the opposite party no.3 for re-selection for the post of X-Ray Technician in accordance with law.

3. The brief facts of the case, as culled out from the pleadings on record, are that the opposite party no.3 issued the advertisement no.14/15 on 03.09.2015 for various posts including the post of X-Ray Technician under the Director, Medical and Health, U.P., Lucknow. The total number of posts advertised were 403. The mode of selection on the post of X-Ray Technician was interview. It was also provided in the advertisement that the marks of the interview would be fixed with the approval of the State Government in accordance with the notification dated 11.05.2015, by which the Uttar Pradesh Group-C Direct recruitment (Mode and Procedure) Rules-2015 (here-in-after referred as Rules of 2015) were notified. In pursuance thereof the selection has been held after holding interview, in which the petitioners had also participated, however they could not get the place in select list issued by the UPSSSC, which is impugned in the present writ petition.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the selection for the post in question of X-Ray Technician has been held in violation of Rule 8 (1) of the Rules of 2015 without fixing and disclosing the marks of interview with the approval of the Government. The interviews were held in hurried manner. The interviews were held w.e.f. 06.05.2016 to 14.05.2016, thereafter 15.05.2016 and 16.05.2016 were Saturday and Sunday and the result was declared on 17.05.2016. After filing of the instant petition by the petitioners on 18.05.2016, appointment letters were issued on 01.06.2016 but the approval of marks of interview in terms of Rule 8 (1) of the Rule of 2015 has been granted by the State Government on 10.06.2016. Therefore, the whole selection vitiates as the interviews have been held and the selection has been held without approval of marks of the interview by the Government in violation of the aforesaid rule. Thus, the selection can not be allowed to continue and the select list is liable to be quashed by this Court with a direction to the respondent no.2 and 3 to make re-selection for the post of X-Ray Technician in accordance with law.

5. Learned counsel for the respondent no.3 submitted that the present writ petition, on behalf of the petitioners, who had participated in the selection without any demur and are unsuccessful, is not maintainable. He further submitted that Rule 8 (1) of the Rules of 2015 only prescribes that the marks of written examination/interview and rules relating thereof shall be such as prescribed by the Commission from time to time with the approval of the Government. The UPSSSC fixed the maximum marks of interview as 20, in its meeting held on 03.02.2016, which were sent to the Government for approval on 05.02.2016 and thereafter the selection proceeded in view of the request of the department through letter dated 19.08.2015 for selection with utmost expedition and the selection was made in accordance with the marks fixed by the UPSSSC and the maximum marks fixed by the Commission has been approved by the Government by means of the letter dated 10.06.2016, and once the approval has been granted by the Government, the condition prescribed under Rule 8 (1) of the Rules of 2015 stands fulfilled because it does not prescribe the prior approval for selection.

6. On the basis of above, learned counsel for the respondent no.3 submitted that there is no illegality or error in the selection in question and the select list has been issued after holding the selection in accordance with law and the rules. The writ petition is misconceived and lacks merit. It is liable to be dismissed.

7. Learned counsel for the respondent no.3 relied on Ashok Kumar Das and Others Vs. University of Burdwan and Others; (2010) 3 SCC 616, Bajaj Hindustan Ltd. Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others; (2016) 12 SCC 613, Ms. Shaija Shah Vs. Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya national Association and Another; 1994 SCC Online All 654/ (1995) All LJ 2033, Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Mandal and Another Vs. Udai Raj Vishwakarma and Another; 2007 SCC Online All 964/ (2007) 3 All LJ 33 (DB) and judgment and order dated 13.03.2013 passed by a coordinate Bench of this Court in Writ-A No.50119 of 2006; Pawan Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and Others.

8. Learned counsel for the respondents no.6, 8, 9 and 10, adopting the submissions of learned counsel for the respondent no.3, further submitted that the merit of selection does not affect in any manner by the approval of marks subsequent to the issuance of the select list in any manner. He further submitted that the petitioners has failed to point out any prejudice which may have been caused to the petitioners by approval of the maximum marks of interview after issuance of the select list and if no prejudice has been caused to the petitioners, it does not give right to the petitioners to challenge the selection and would not call for any interference by this Court as the selection has been held in accordance with law and there is no illegality or error in the selection made by the UPSSSC. The writ petition is misconceived and lacks merit. It is liable to be dismissed.

9. I have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

10. The select list has been challenged on the ground that the interview has been held in violation of terms of advertisement and Rule 8 (1) of the Rules of 2015 without fixing and disclosing the marks of interview.

11. In view of above challenge to the select list, Rule 8 (1) of Rules of 2015 needs to be examined by this Court, therefore the same is extracted here-in-below, for ready reference:-

"8. (1) The procedure for direct recruitment, the syllabus, marks of written examination/interview and the rules relating thereof shall be such as prescribed by the Commission from time to time with the approval of the Government."

12. The selection on the post of X-Ray Technician under the Directorate of Medical and Health, U.P., Lucknow has been held after holding interviews in pursuance of the advertisement no.14/15 dated 03.09.2015. It was provided in the advertisement that the marks of the interview would be fixed with the approval of the State Government in accordance with the provision made in the Uttar Pradesh Group-C Direct recruitment (Mode and Procedure) Rules-2015, notified on 11.05.2015. The UPSSSC decided to fix the marks of interview in its meeting held on 03.02.2016, a copy of which has been filed by the respondent no.3 as annexure no.2 to the counter affidavit. The aforesaid decision of the UPSSSC was communicated to the Government for required approval under Rule 8(1) of the Rules of 2015 by means of letter dated 05.02.2016, a copy of which is as annexure no.3 to the counter affidavit. In the meantime, the UPSSSC proceeded with the selection in view of the request of the Government, by means of the letter dated 19.08.2015, to hold the selection with utmost expedition, a copy of which is annexure no.4 to the counter affidavit. The interviews were held w.e.f. 06.05.2016 to 14.05.2016, for which the petitioners were also called and they participated without any protest. After holding the interviews, the respondent no.3 declared the result of the selection on 17.05.2016. In pursuance of the selection, the appointment letters were issued by the Government on 01.06.2016. The State Government, in pursuance of the letter dated 05.02.2016 of the UPSSSC, granted approval on the maximum marks of 20 of interview fixed by the UPSSSC, under Rule 8(1) of the Rules of 2015, by means of the letter dated 10.06.2016, a copy of which is annexed as annexure no.5 to the counter affidavit filed by the respondent no.3. Thus, the approval on the maximum marks fixed by the Commission for interview was granted by the State Government.

13. The action of the UPSSSC in holding the interviews without approval on the marks fixed by the Commission has been assailed in this petition on the ground that it is in violation of Rule 8(1) of the Rules of 2015. Sub-Rule (1) of Rule 8 provides that the marks of written examination / interview shall be such as prescribed by the Commission from time to time with the approval of the Government, meaning thereby the maximum marks of the interview are to be prescribed by the Commission i.e. UPSSSC, on which the approval of the Government is required, therefore on approval of maximum marks of interview, by the Government which have been fixed by the Commission before interviews, the condition of Rule 8 (1) stands fulfilled, even if it is after the selection has been held because the Rule does not prescribes prior approval or permission on the makrs fixed by the Commission.

14. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ashok Kumar Das and Others Vs. University of Burdwan and Others (Supra), in regard to an identical provision of determining the terms and conditions of service of non-teaching staff with the approval of the State Government held that since the words used are "with the approval of the State Government", the Executive Council of the University could determine the terms and conditions of service of the non-teaching staff and obtain the approval of the State Government subsequently and in case the State Government did not grant approval subsequently, any action taken on the basis of the decision of the Executive Council of the University would be invalid and not otherwise. The relevant paragraphs 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 are extracted below:-

"11. In Black's Law Dictionary (Fifth Edition), the word "approval" has been explained thus:

"the act of confirming, ratifying, assenting, sanctioning, or consenting to some act or thing done by another." Hence, approval to an act or decision can also be subsequent to the act or decision.

12. In U. P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad (supra), this Court made the distinction between permission, prior approval and approval. Para 6 of the judgment is quoted hereinbelow:

"6. This Court in Life Insurance Corpn. of India v. Escorts Ltd. [(1986) 1 SCC 264], considering the distinction between "special permission" and "general permission", previous approval" or "prior approval" in para 63 held that: "We are conscious that the word `prior' or `previous' may be implied if the contextual situation or the object and design of the legislation demands it, we find no such compelling circumstances justifying reading any such implication into Section 29(1) of the Act.

" Ordinarily, the difference between approval and permission is that in the first case the action holds good until it is disapproved, while in the other case it does not become effective until permission is obtained. But permission subsequently granted may validate the previous Act, it was stated in Lord Krishna Textiles Mills Ltd. v. Workmen [AIR 1961 SC 860], that the Management need not obtain the previous consent before taking any action. The requirement that the Management must obtain approval was distinguished from the requirement that it must obtain permission, of which mention is made in Section 33(1)."

13. Following the decision in U. P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad (supra), this Court again held in High Court of Judicature for Rajasthan v. P. P. Singh & Ors. (supra) in para 40:

"40. When an approval is required, an action holds good and only if it is disapproved it loses its force. Only when a permission is required, the decision does not become effective till permission is obtained. (See U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd.)."

14. Section 21 (xiii) of the Burdwan University Act, 1981 is quoted herein below:-

"21. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Executive Council shall exercise the following powers and perform the following functions:

(i) to (xii) .....

(xiii) to determine, with the approval of the State Government, the terms and conditions of service of Librarians and non-teaching staff."

15. The words used in Section 21 (xiii) are not "with the permission of the State Government" nor "with the approval of the State Government", but "with the approval of the State Government". If the words used were "with the permission of the State Government", then without the permission of the State Government the Executive Council of the University could not determine the terms and conditions of service of non-teaching staff. Similarly, if the words used were "with the prior approval of the State Government", the Executive Council of the University could not determine the terms and conditions of service of the non-teaching staff without first obtaining the approval of the State Government. But since the words used are "with the approval of the State Government", the Executive Council of the University could determine the terms and conditions of service of the non-teaching staff and obtain the approval of the State Government subsequently and in case the State Government did not grant approval subsequently, any action taken on the basis of the decision of the Executive Council of the University would be invalid and not otherwise."

15. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Bajaj Hindustan Ltd. Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others (Supra), relying on the aforesaid judgment and order rendered in the case of Ashok Kumar Das and Others Vs. University of Burdwan and Others, held that the dictionary meaning of the word 'approval' includes ratifying of the action, ratification obviously can be given ex-post facto approval. It has further been observed that in the case of approval, the action holds until it is disapproved while in other case until permission is obtained. The relevant paragraph 7 is extracted here in below:-

"7. As is clear from the above, the dictionary meaning of the word "approval" includes ratifying of the action, ratification obviously can be given ex post facto approval. Another aspect which is highlighted is a difference between approval and permission by the assessing authority that in the case of approval, the action holds until it is disapproved while in other case until permission is obtained. In the instant case, the action was approved by the assessing authority. The Court also pointed out that if in those cases where prior approval is required, expression "prior" has to be in the particular provision. In the proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 3-A word "prior" is conspicuous. For all these reasons, it was not a case for levying any penalty upon the appellant. We, therefore, allow this appeal and set aside the impugned judgment [Bajaj Hindustan Ltd. v. State of U.P., Misc. Single No. 3088 of 1999, order dated 30-9-2004 (All)] of the High Court as well as the penalty. No order as to costs.."

16. A division bench of this Court, in the case of Ms. Shaija Shah Vs. Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya national Association and Another (Supra), observed that expression prior approval and approval connotes different situation, where a statue uses the term prior approval anything done without the prior approval, is nullity. However, where a stature employs expression approval, in such cases subsequent rectification can make the act valid.

17. Another division bench of this Court, in the case Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Mandal and Another Vs. Udai Raj Vishwakarma and Another (Supra), held that in case the act requires only approval the action holds the action holds good until it is disapproved. The relevant paragraphs 16 and 17 are extracted here-in-below:-

"16. On the contrary where the statute specifically provides "prior approval" before passing any order, what its effects would be has been considered in some other cases which we propose to refer as under. Rule 11 of U.P. Recognized Basic Schools (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Teachers and other Conditions) Rules, 1975 provides that no service can be terminated without prior permission from the District Basic Officer. A Division Bench of this Court in Ms. Shilaja Shah v. Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya National Association, 1995 (25) ALR 88 : (1995 All LJ 2033) held that expression "prior approval" and "approval" connotes different situation. Where a statute uses the term "prior approval" anything done without prior approval is nullity. Where a statute employs expression "approval", however, in such cases subsequent ratification can make the act valid.

17. Section 59(1)(a) of U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 provides for "prior approval". The Apex Court in U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd., 1995 Supp (3) SCC 456 : (1995 All LJ 2066) held that "prior approval" and "approval" are two different connotations and if the statute does not mention "prior approval" what is material would be only "approval". The earlier judgment in Life Insurance Corporation of India v. Escorts Ltd., (1986) 1 SCC 264 : (AIR 1986 SC 1370) was also referred where it was held that the word "prior' and "previous' may be implied if the contextual situation or circumstances justify such reading and the Act which requires only approval, the action holds good until it is disapproved."

18. Adverting to the facts of the present case, it is apparent that the 20 maximum marks of the interview prescribed by the UPSSSC on 03.02.2016 has been approved by the Government on 10.06.2016, therefore the condition of Rule 8(1) of Rules of 2015 stands fulfilled, therefore it can not be said that the selection has been held in violation of the said rule.

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner had also tried to argue that the selection has not been made in a fair and proper manner on the ground that in the interview a particular number of marks has been awarded to several candidates who have been selected, but neither there is any pleading in this regard in the petition nor any amendment has been made by the petitioners after coming to know about it. Therefore, this Court is of the view that in absence of any pleading, the contention raised at the time of argument can not be accepted. It goes without saying that in such cases the career of a number of candidates is on stake who have participated in the selection after making preparation and have successfully cleared the selection and got the appointment, therefore a roving and fishing enquiry to fish out the discrepancies in the selection process without proper pleading at the instance of unsuccessful candidate, who participated without any demur is not permissible. Such contention is only liable to be repelled.

20. A coordinate Bench of this Court, in the case of Pawan Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and Others; Writ-A No.50119 of 2006 (Supra), has held that the examination of the record was not for the purpose to make a roving and fishing enquiry and fish out discrepancies in the selection process. The entire purpose of examining the record was limited to the extent of the allegations made by the petitioner in his writ petition and further fresh facts and grounds cannot be brought on record without the leave of the Court and such practice adopted in the present case is deprecated. The Court is of the opinion that fresh facts and new grounds of attack can only be taken on the record only upon an amendment application being filed and not otherwise through supplementary affidavits. The relevant paragraph is extracted here-in-below:-

"The Court is constrained to observe that the examination of the record was not for the purpose to make a roving and fishing enquiry and fish out discrepancies in the selection process. The entire purpose of examining the record was limited to the extent of the allegations made by the petitioner in his writ petition. Further, fresh facts and grounds cannot be brought on record without the leave of the Court. Such practise adopted in the present case is deprecated. The Court is of the opinion that fresh facts and new grounds of attack can only be taken on the record only upon an amendment application being filed and not otherwise through supplementary affidavits."

21. So far as the judgment and order dated 06.04.2017, passed in bunch of special appeals leading being Special Appeal No.416 of 2016; Dharmendra Kumar and 2 Others Vs. Abhishek Kumar and Others, relied by learned counsel for the petitioners, is concerned, the same is not applicable on the facts and circumstances of the present case and is of no assistance to the petitioners. In the said case the selection was assailed on the ground that it is contrary to service rules and the instructions, therefore it has been held to be in one the exceptions carved out by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, whereas in the present case the selection has been held in accordance with the rules as discussed above.

22. This Court also finds that the petitioners, having participated in the selection process without any demur or protest and having failed to get the place in the select list, have challenged the selection, whereas they can not turn around and challenge the selection process. This issue has been settled by a series of decisions of Hon'ble the Supreme Court, namely, Madan Lal Vs. State of Jammu and kashmir; 1995 (3) SCC 486, Marripati Nagraja Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh; 2007 (11) SCC 522, Dhananjay Malik Vs. State of Uttarakhand; 2008 (4) SCC 171, Amlan Jyoti Barooah Vs. State of Assam; 2009 (3) SCC 227, K.A. Nagamani Vs. Indian Airlines; 2009 (5) SCC 515, Manish Kr. Shahi Vs. State of Bihar and others; 2010 (12) SCC 576, Hc Pradeep Kumar Rai & Ors vs Dinesh Kumar Pandey & Ors; (2015) 11 SCC 493 and Madras Inst.Of Dev. Studies & Anr vs K. Sivasubramaniyan & Ors; (2016) 1 SCC 454.

23. There is another aspect of the matter, as argued by learned counsel for some of the private respondents also, that even if it is found that there is any discrepancy, the selection can not be quashed, unless it is shown by the petitioners that they have prejudiced in any manner by it. In the present case, the petitioners have failed to show that they have been prejudiced in any manner or suffered any harm, injury or they were at disadvantage by subsequent approval on the maximum marks by the Government, which were fixed by the Commission.

24. As per the Law Lexicon, "Prejudice" means injurious effect, injury to or impairment of a right, claim, statement etc. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Manharibhai Muljibhai Kakadia and Another Vs. Shaileshbhai Mohanbhai Patel and Others, (2012) 10 SCC 517, has held that "Prejudice" is generally defined as meaning "to the harm, to the injury, to the disadvantage of someone" and it also means injury or loss. The relevant paragraphs 47.1 to 47.4 are extracted here-in-below :-

"47.1. Black's Law Dictionary (8th Edn.) explains "prejudice" to mean damage or detriment to one's legal rights or claims. Concise Oxford English Dictionary [10th Edn., Revised] defines "prejudice" as under:

"Prejudice.-- n. (1) preconceived opinion that is not based on reason or actual experience. ≫ unjust behaviour formed on such a basis. (2) chiefly Law harm or injury that results or may result from some action or judgment. ≫ v. (1) give rise to prejudice in (someone); make biased. (2) cause harm to (a state of affairs)."

47.2. Webster Comprehensive Dictionary (International Edn.) explains "prejudice" to mean (i) a judgment or opinion, favourable or unfavourable, formed beforehand or without due examination ... detriment arising from a hasty and unfair judgment; injury; harm.

47.3. P. Ramanatha Aiyar; the Law Lexicon (The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary) explains "prejudice" to mean injurious effect, injury to or impairment of a right, claim, statement, etc.

47.4. "Prejudice" is generally defined as meaning "to the harm, to the injury, to the disadvantage of someone". It also means injury or loss."

25. In view of above, this Court is of the view that there is no illegality or error and violation of Rule 8(1) of the Rules of 2015 in selection in question, therefore this Court is of the view that the writ petition has been filed on misconceived ground, which lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

26. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Kumar Srivastava-I, J.)

1. Counter affidavit filed by the State is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Arsh R. Shaikh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Shiv Nath Tilhari, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the entire record.

3. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed praying inter alia following reliefs:-

"1. Allow this application and quash and set aside the impugned order dated 27.04.2022 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, ADJ-3, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh in CMRA number 2823 of 2022;

2. Release the applicant on default bail in connection with Case Crime number 9 of 2021 registered with ATS Gomtinagar police station, Lucknow pending in the court of Learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, ADJ-3 in connection with sections 153A, 153B, 295A, 417, 298, 121A, 123 and 120B of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and sections 3, 5 and 8 of The Prohibition of Unlawful Religious Conversion Act, 2021.

3. Release the applicant on ad-interim bail during pending admission, hearing and final disposal of the present application in the interest of justice."

4. The facts as culled out from the pleadings are that the applicant, Sallahuddin was arrested on 30.06.2021 from District Ahmedabad, Gujarat in connection with Crime No.9/2021 under Sections 420, 120B, 153A, 153B, 295A, 511 I.P.C. and 3/5 Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act 2021. His transit remand was allowed from 18:00 hours on 30.06.2021 upto 17:00 hours on 03.07.2021 by the learned Magistrate at Ahmedabad. The accused/ applicant was produced before the Special CJM Custom, Lucknow on 02.07.2021 and his judicial custody remand was granted for 14 days by an order passed by the learned Special CJM Custom, Lucknow. For a period from 06.07.2021 to 13.07.2021, his first police custody remand was allowed. For a period from 13.07.2021 to 15.07.2021, his second police custody remand was allowed. Thereafter, his judicial custody remand was granted from time to time i.e. from 15.07.2021 to 26.07.2021, from 26.07.2021 to 09.08.2021 and from 09.08.2021 to 18.08.2021. Charge sheet dated 13.08.2021, under Sections 471, 120-B, 153-A, 153-B, 295-A, 298-A I.P.C. and Sections 3/5/8 U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 against the applicant came to be filed in the court below on 18.08.2021 keeping the investigation pending. This charge sheet against the accused/ applicant was filed on 48th day from the date of first remand, which was well within the prescribed period under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. During the course of further investigation, the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. were added on 31.08.2021 and the remand was obtained on 01.09.2021 for the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. As the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. are scheduled offences as mentioned in the Shedule to the National Investigating Agency Act, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as "N.I.A. Act'), the information to this effect was sent to the State Government on 02.09.2021 in compliance with the provision contained under Section 6 of N.I.A. Act. The State Government sent the information to the Central Government on 21.09.2021. The supplementary charge sheet dated 17.09.2021 for the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. came to be filed in the court on 18.09.2021 i.e. on 79th day from the date of first remand by competent court at Lucknow and 81st day, inclusive of the time of transit remand too. The sanction for prosecution for the offences under Section 121-A/ 123 I.P.C. appears to have been granted on 22.11.2021. The learned court below took cognizance of the matter on 18.12.2021.

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant was taken into custody and transit remand for three days was granted by the court of Ahmedabad. However, he was produced before the court at Lucknow on 02.07.2021 and the Chief Judicial Magistrate granted seven days' remand from 06.07.2021 to 13.07.2021. The applicant is in judicial custody since 15.07.2021.

6. His further submission is that on 14.09.2021, the applicant applied for default bail under Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. which was disposed of by order dated 22.09.2021. The accused/ applicant again filed an application for default bail by challenging the earlier order dated 22.09.2021 and the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge ADJ-3 was pleased to reject the second application for default bail by the order dated 27.04.2022, both the orders as aforesaid, denying the applicant the benefit of default bail are illegal.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has also submitted that the first charge sheet was filed on 18.08.2021 and thereafter the Investigating Officer filed an application dated 31.08.2021 for adding Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. Thereafter, the supplementary charge sheet came to be filed on 18.09.2021, without obtaining sanction as required by Section 196 Cr.P.C.

8. He then contended that the applicant was entitled to default bail as investigation was not concluded within sixty days. The investigating agency, only to deprive the applicant of his right of getting default bail, moved an application for adding Section 121A and 123 I.P.C. with a view to extend the time limit of investigation upto 90 days. There is no provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1989 for addition/substraction/ alteration in the charge sheet once submitted and as such the application dated 31.08.2021 for adding Sections 121A and 123 I.P.C. was not liable to be allowed by the learned Magistrate.

9. In order to substantiate his aforesaid contentions, the learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance on the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Case of Fakhrey Alam vs. State of Uttar Pradesh reported in 2021 SCC Online 532, Achpal @ Ramswroop & Another vs. State of Rajasthan reported in (2019) 14 SCC 599 as well as law laid down by Gauhati High Court in the case of Ved Kumar Seth and another vs. The State of Assam reported in 1974 SCC Online Gau 44. He has also placed reliance on the judgment passed by Jammu and Kashmir High Court in the case of Zakir Hussain vs. UT of Ladakh and others reported in 2021 SCC Online J&K 64, judgment passed by Kerala High Court in the case of S.M. Purtado and etc. vs. Dy. S.P. C.B.I. Cochin and etc. reported in 1996 Cri. L.J. 3042. and judgdment passed by Punjab and Haryana High Court in the case of Tarlok and others vs. State of Haryana, 2019 (3) R.C.R. (Criminal) 348.

10. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer by submitting that the first charge sheet for the offence under Sections 471, 120B, 153A, 153B, 295A, 298A I.P.C. and Sections 3/5/8 of U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 was filed in the court below on 18.08.2021 keeping the investigation pending and as such the first charge sheet was filed on the 48th day from the date of first remand and keeping the investigation pending in respect of alleged anti-national activities committed by the accused person. Thereafter, the supplementary charge sheet dated 17.09.2021 was filed in respect of the offence under Sections 121A and 123 I.P.C. on 79th day from the date of first remand.

11. His further submission is that both the charge sheets were filed well within the time prescribed under Section 167 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, the applicant has no right to claim default bail. The prayer for default bail itself is not maintainable as the charge sheet was filed well within time. The right of being enlarged on bail under Section 167

Cr.P.C., arises only when the charge sheet is not filed within time.

12. Learned A.G.A. for the State has also submitted that the contention of the applicant to the effect that the addition/ alteration of the other sections during investigation is not permissible under Cr.P.C., is neither acceptable nor tenable in the eyes of law as Section 173(8) Cr.P.C. permits the further investigation in respect of an offence even after the report under sub Section 2 of Section 173 Cr.P.C. has been forwarded to the Magistrate. Therefore, the filing of the first charge sheet and thereafter undertaking further investigation was legally sustainable and filing of supplementary charge sheet, well within ninety days from the date of first remand was within the domain of the investigating agencies. There is no illegality in filing the first charge sheet dated 13.08.2021 in the court below on 18.08.2021 and the supplementary charge sheet in court below on 17.09.2021 because the first charge sheet was filed on 48th day and supplementary charge sheet was filed on 79th day.

13. His further submission is that the first application for default bail filed by the applicant on 14.09.2021 was not pressed by the applicant before the court below. The order dated 22.09.2021, on the face of the application dated 14.09.2021, which is available at page No.58 to the instant application, goes to show that the default bail application was rejected because the same was not pressed. The applicant after getting his first application for default bail rejected after not pressing the same, filed another application for default bail on 13.04.2022 was not maintainable on two counts, first that the charge sheet was already filed well within ninety days and, therefore, the default bail application was not maintainable and second is that the application for default bail dated 13.04.2022 was filed much after filing of charge sheet and order of prosecution sanction dated 18.12.2021 and the order of cognizance dated 18.12.2021.

14. Learned A.G.A. for the State has contended that it would not be open to accused to claim that he is entitled to bail under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. even if charge sheet is filed within time or the charge sheet is filed before any time prior to filing of application for default bail and making any submission that accused is prepared to furnish bail. In the present case, both the conditions are not available. Charge sheet was filed within ninety days. Further, the application for default bail being moved on 13.04.2022 does not entitle the applicant in any manner to get the default bail.

15. He has concluded his submissions by stating that the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Case of Fakhrey Alam (supra), Achpal @ Ramswroop (supra) as well as law laid down by Gauhati High Court in the case of Ved Kumar Seth (supra), Jammu and Kashmir High Court in the case of Zakir Hussain (supra), judgment passed by Kerala High Court in the case of S.M. Purtado and etc. (supra) and judgment passed by Punjab and Haryana High Court in the case of Tarlok and others (supra), which have been relied by learned counsel for the applicant have no application in this case for the reason that the same are not applicable in the facts of the present case.

16. His further submission is that the other contentions of the applicant are that in want of sanction, order taking cognizance was bad in law, is not sustainable as the learned court below took cognizance on 18.12.2021, only after the sanction for prosecution was granted on 22.11.2021 as is evident from Annexures No.14 and 15 to counter affidavit. Whether, the cognizance is taken or not is not material as far as grant of default bail under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. is concerned. Merely because sanction has not been obtained to prosecute the accused and to proceed to the stage of Section 309 Cr.P.C., it cannot be said that the accused is entitled to get default bail. Grant of sanction is nowhere contemplated under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. To buttress his aforesaid contention, reliance has been placed on the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Kumar Bhikamchand Jain vs. State of Maharashtra and others, 2013 (3) SCC 77.

17. Having heard the learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and upon perusal of record, it transpires that the applicant, Sallahuddin was arrested on 30.06.2021 from District Ahmedabad, Gujarat in connection with Crime No.9/2021 under Sections 420, 120B, 153A, 153B, 295A, 511 I.P.C. and 3/5 Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act 2021. His transit remand was allowed from 18:00 hours on 30.06.2021 upto 17:00 hours on 03.07.2021 by the learned Magistrate at Ahmedabad. The accused/ applicant was produced before the Special CJM Custom, Lucknow on 02.07.2021 and his judicial custody remand was granted for 14 days by an order passed by the learned Special CJM Custom, Lucknow. For a period from 06.07.2021 to 13.07.2021, his first police custody remand was allowed. For a period from 13.07.2021 to 15.07.2021, his second police custody remand was allowed. Thereafter, his judicial custody remand was granted from time to time i.e. from 15.07.2021 to 26.07.2021, from 26.07.2021 to 09.08.2021 and from 09.08.2021 to 18.08.2021. Charge sheet dated 13.08.2021, under Sections 471, 120-B, 153-A, 153-B, 295-A, 298-A I.P.C. and Sections 3/5/8 U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 against the applicant came to be filed in the court below on 18.08.2021 keeping the investigation pending. This charge sheet against the accused/ applicant was filed on 48th day from the date of first remand, which was well within the prescribed period under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. During the course of further investigation, the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. were added on 31.08.2021 and the remand was obtained on 01.09.2021 for the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. As the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. are scheduled offences as mentioned in the Shedule to the National Investigating Agency Act, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as "N.I.A. Act'), the information to this effect was sent to the State Government on 02.09.2021 in compliance with the provision contained under Section 6 of N.I.A. Act. The State Government sent the information to the Central Government on 21.09.2021. The supplementary charge sheet dated 17.09.2021 for the offence under Sections 121-A and 123 I.P.C. came to be filed in the court on 18.09.2021 i.e. on 79th day from the date of first remand by competent court at Lucknow and 81st day, inclusive of the time of transit remand too. The sanction for prosecution for the offences under Section 121-A/ 123 I.P.C. appears to have been granted on 22.11.2021. The learned court below took cognizance of the matter on 18.12.2021.

18. Therefore, no occasion for accused/ applicant arose to seek default bail under the provision contained in proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. Thus, the impugned order dated 27.04.2022, whereby the Special Court has rejected the application moved by the applicant seeking default bail does not suffer from any illegality.

19. A Division Bench of Kerala High Court in the case of Abdul Azeez vs. National Investigation Agency, (2014) 144 AIC 380, has held that in case, after further investigation under Section 173(8) Cr.P.C., any supplementary charge sheet is submitted, in such a case it cannot be said that filing of such supplementary charge sheet within statutorily stipulated period is designed to defeat the right of an accused to get default bail.

20. Be that as it may, the application seeking default bail came to be filed by the applicant on 13.04.2022 after filing of charge sheet/ supplementary charge sheet and even after cognizance of the matter was taken by the court below. Therefore, the application seeking default bail under proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. was not maintainable. The question that whether sanction was necessary or not or whether sanction was obtained or not, does not appear to be material in view of admitted fact that the application seeking default bail by the applicant came to be filed after cognizance was taken by the learned trial court. The first charge sheet was filed on 13.08.2021 and the supplementary charge sheet was filed on 17.09.2021. Therefore, this Court does not find any substance in the submissions of learned counsel for the applicant to the effect that the applicant was wrongly denied default bail to which he was entitled to get in this matter.

21. From a bare perusal of provisions contained in proviso (a) to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. makes it clear that any bail, purportedly granted in exercise of power vested by the aforesaid proviso, would have effect of the bail granted under Chapter XXXIII Cr.P.C., which pertains to grant or refusal of bail.

22. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Hitendra Vishnu Thakur vs State Of Maharashtra, AIR 1994 SC 2623 has held that the object behind the enactment of Section 167 Cr.P.C. is to see that the detention of the accused should not be permitted for any unreasonably longer period. The Parliament has introduced the proviso to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C. prescribing the outer limit within which the investigation must be completed. If the investigation is not completed within the specified period the accused would acquire a right to be released on bail and if he is prepared to and does furnish the bail, the Magistrate shall release him on bail and such release shall be deemed to be grant of bail under Chapter XXXIII of the Code.

23. In view of the above, this matter may be viewed from another perspective also. The impugned order rejecting the application seeking default bail was passed on 27.04.2022 by the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge-3/ Special Judge NIA/ATS, Lucknow. This Special Court was constituted under Section 22 of N.I.A. Act and as such the impugned order dated 27.04.2022 passed by the special court is appealable under Section 21(4) of N.I.A. Act which, for ready reference, is quoted herein below:-

"21 Appeals. -

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code, an appeal shall lie from any judgment, sentence or order, not being an interlocutory order, of a Special Court to the High Court both on facts and on law.

(2) Every appeal under sub-section (1) shall be heard by a Bench of two Judges of the High Court and shall, as far as possible, be disposed of within a period of three months from the date of admission of the appeal.

(3) Except as aforesaid, no appeal or revision shall lie to any court from any judgment, sentence or order including an interlocutory order of a Special Court.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (3) of section 378 of the Code, an appeal shall lie to the High Court against an order of the Special Court granting or refusing bail.

(5) Every appeal under this section shall be preferred within a period of thirty days from the date of the judgment, sentence or order appealed from: Provided that the High Court may entertain an appeal after the expiry of the said period of thirty days if it is satisfied that the appellant had sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal within the period of thirty days: Provided further that no appeal shall be entertained after the expiry of period of ninety days."

24. Thus, on the basis of aforesaid, it can safely be said that rejection of application seeking default bail by Special Court vide order dated 27.04.2022 is an appealable order in view of the provisions contained in Section 21(4) N.I.A. Act.

25. In this view of matter also, this Court does not find the instant application to be maintainable.

26. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court does not see any illegality, impropriety and incorrectness in the impugned order. There is no abuse of court's process either. Therefore, the instant application lacks merit, which deserves to be dismissed.

27. Accordingly, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is dismissed.

2. By means of this application, applicants have prayed for setting-aside the impugned judgment and order dated 29.9.2021 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Hathras in Criminal Revision No.106 of 2020, (C.N.R. No.UPHT010030162020) Smt. Shalu Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.

3. Complainant/opposite party No.2, Shalu lodged an F.I.R. No.0333 dated 9.11.2019 at Police Station-Hathras Junction, district-Hathras against her husband Rohit Kashyap (applicant no.2), her Jeth Rishi, her father-in-law Amar Nath, her sister-in-law (wife of dewar and applicant no.1) and Arvind Kumar (Relative) for allegedly committing offence under Sections 498-A, 504, 506, 120-B, 342, 377, 376 I.P.C. and ¾ D.P.Act

4. After investigation, a charge-sheet No.188/2020 dated 1.9.2020 was filed only against Rohit, Rishi and Amar Nath for offence under Sections 498-A, 504, 506 I.P.C. and 3 / 4 D.P.Act.

7. The learned Magistrate partly allowed the Revision Petition by impugned order dated 29.9.2021 interalia that:

"there is prima-facie evidence to summon Rohit under Section 377 I.P.C."

and

"there is prima-facie evidence to summon accused Shalini under Sections 498-A, 406, 504, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P.Act."

and

"there is no prima-facie evidence to summon Shalini and Rishi under Sections 376, 342 and 120-B I.P.C."

and

"There is prima-facie evidence to summon Arvind under Sections 498-A, 406, 504, 506 I.P.C. and ¾ D.P.Act."

8. Learned counsel for applicants has submitted his argument in two folds.

9. Firstly, he submitted that the Magistrate cannot add or substract any offence other than the offence for which charge-sheet is filed.

10. Learned counsel for applicants submitted that in the present case, learned Magistrate took cognizance on offence other than the offence for which charge-sheet was filed and in this regard, he has placed reliance upon the judgment of Supreme Court in State of Gujarat Vs. Girish Radhakrishnan Varde, (2014) 3 SCC 659. Relevant paragraph nos.14,15,16 and 17 thereof are extracted hereinafter:

"14. But if a case is registered by the police based on the FIR registered at the Police Station under Section 154 Cr.P.C. and not by way of a complaint under Section 190 (a) of the Cr.P.C. before the magistrate, obviously the magisterial enquiry cannot be held in regard to the FIR which had been registered as it is the investigating agency of the police which alone is legally entitled to conduct the investigation and, thereafter, submit the chargesheet unless of course a complaint before the magistrate is also lodged where the procedure prescribed for complaint cases would be applicable. In a police case, however after submission of the chargesheet, the matter goes to the magistrate for forming an opinion as to whether it is a fit case for taking cognizance and committing the matter for trial in a case which is lodged before the police by way of FIR and the magistrate cannot exclude or include any section into the chargesheet after investigation has been completed and chargesheet has been submitted by the police.

15. The question, therefore, emerges as to whether the complainant/informant/prosecution would be precluded from seeking a remedy if the investigating authorities have failed in their duty by not including all the sections of I.P.C. on which offence can be held to have been made out in spite of the facts disclosed in the FIR. The answer obviously has to be in the negative as the prosecution cannot be allowed to suffer prejudice by ignoring exclusion of the sections which constitute the offence if the investigating authorities for any reason whatsoever have failed to include all the offence into the chargesheet based on the FIR on which investigation had been conducted. But then a further question arises as to whether this lacunae can be allowed to be filled in by the magistrate before whom the matter comes up for taking cognizance after submission of the chargesheet and as already stated, the magistrate in a case which is based on a police report cannot add or substract sections at the time of taking cognizance as the same would be permissible by the trial court only at the time of framing of charge under section 216, 218 or under section 228 of the Cr.P.C. as the case may be which means that after submission of the chargesheet it will be open for the prosecution to contend before the appropriate trial court at the stage of framing of charge to establish that on the given state of facts the appropriate sections which according to the prosecution should be framed can be allowed to be framed. Simultaneously, the accused also has the liberty at this stage to submit whether the charge under a particular provision should be framed or not and this is the appropriate forum in a case based on police report to determine whether the charge can be framed and a particular section can be added or removed depending upon the material collected during investigation as also the facts disclosed in the FIR and the chargesheet.

16. In the alternative, if a case is based on a complaint lodged before the magistrate under Section 190 or 202 Cr.P.C., the magistrate has been conferred with full authority and jurisdiction to conduct an enquiry into the complaint and thereafter arrive at a conclusion whether cognizance is fit to be taken on the basis of the sections mentioned in the complaint or further sections were to be added or substracted. The Cr.P.C. has clearly engrafted the two channels delineating the powers of the magistrate to conduct an enquiry in a complaint case and police investigation based on the basis of a case registered at a police station where the investigating authorities of the police conducts investigation under Chapter XII and there is absolutely no ambiguity in regard to these procedures.

17. In spite of this unambiguous course of action to be adopted in a case based on police report under Chapter XII and a magisterial complaint under Chapter XIV and XV, when it comes to application of the provisions of the Cr.P.C. in a given case, the affected parties appear to be bogged down often into a confused state of affairs as it has happened in the instant matter since the magisterial powers which is to deal with a case based on a complaint before the magistrate and the police powers based on a police report/FIR has been allowed to overlap and the two separate course of actions are sought to be clubbed which is not the correct procedure as it is not in consonance with the provisions of the Cr.P.C. The affected parties have to apprise themselves that if a case is registered under Section 154 Cr.P.C. by the police based on the FIR and the chargesheet is submitted after investigation, obviously the correct stage as to which sections would apply on the basis of the FIR and the material collected during investigation culminating into the chargesheet, would be determined only at the time framing of charge before the appropriate trial court. In the alternative, if the case arises out of a complaint lodged before the Magistrate, then the procedure laid down under Sections 190 and 200 of the Cr. P.C. clearly shall have to be followed."

11. The second argument of counsel for applicants is that learned Revisional Court has summoned the accused persons against whom no charge-sheet was submitted and for that he has placed reliance upon Dharam Pal & Ors. Vs. State of Haryana & Anr, (2014) 3 SCC 306, relevant paragraph 27 thereof is mentioned hereinafter:

"27. This takes us to the next question as to whether under Section 209, the Magistrate was required to take cognizance of the offence before committing the case to the Court of Session. It is well settled that cognizance of an offence can only be taken once. In the event, a Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence and then commits the case to the Court of Session, the question of taking fresh cognizance of the offence and, thereafter, proceed to issue summons, is not in accordance with law. If cognizance is to be taken of the offence, it could be taken either by the Magistrate or by the Court of Session. The language of Section 193 of the Code very clearly indicates that once the case is committed to the Court of Session by the learned Magistrate, the Court of Session assumes original jurisdiction and all that goes with the assumption of such jurisdiction. The provisions of Section 209 will, therefore, have to be understood as the learned Magistrate playing a passive role in committing the case to the Court of Session on finding from the police report that the case was triable by the Court of Session. Nor can there by any question of part cognizance being taken by the Magistrate and part cognizance being taken by the learned Session Judge."

12. Learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for informant have opposed the above submission and supported the impugned orders that learned Magistrate has not committed any error and on the basis of material available in Case Diary, he summoned the applicants as well as took cognizance of the offence for which the charge-sheet was not submitted. They further submitted that Magistrate cannot act as a Post Master and he can apply its mind on the basis of material available not only to summon the accused persons against whom charge-sheet was not filed but can also take cognizance of other than offence in event there was a material for commission of the said offence, therefore, Revisional Court has also not committed any error.

13. The first argument of learned counsel for applicants that addition or substraction of charge for any offence any section is not permissible at the stage of cognizance and it is permissible by the Trial Court only at the time of framing of charge under Sections 216, 218 or Section 228 Cr.P.C. as the case may be.

14. The above submissions have a support of the judgment passed by Supreme Court in State of Gujarat (supra), wherein the Supreme Court has specifically held that Magistrate in a case which is based on a police report cannot add or substract section at the time of taking cognizance as the same would be permissible by the trial court only at the time of framing of charge, therefore, I find merit in the first argument of counsel for the applicants, that learned Magistrate has committed error by adding sections at the time of taking cognizanace as well as by the Revisional Court.

15. So far as second argument of counsel for applicants is concerned that Magistrate cannot summon other accused persons at the time of taking cognizance even though the material exists has no force and it has been reiterated by the Supreme Court in a recent case of Nahar Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Anr, (2022) 5 SCC 295. Relevant paragraphs 15,16,17,18,19,20,21,22,23,24,25,26,27 and 28 thereof are reproduced below:

"15. There was divergence of views of different Benches of this Court on this point and ultimately the issue has been settled by a Constitution Bench in Dharam Pal Vs. State of Haryana, (2014) 3 SCC 306. Before dealing with the ratio of this decision, we shall narrate the journey of the legal dispute to that stage, which has been recorded in the judgment of Dharam Pal (supra) itself by the Constitution Bench:-(SCC pp 310-11, paras 1-5)

"1. This matter was initially directed to be heard by a Bench of three Judges in view of the conflict of opinion in the decisions of two two-Judge Benches, in Kishori Singh v. State of Bihar, (2004) 13 SCC 11, Rajinder Prasad v. Bashir, (2001) 8 SCC 522 and SWIL Ltd. v. State of Delhi, (2001) 6 SCC 670. When the matter was taken up for consideration by the three-Judge Bench on 1-12-2004, Dharam Pal v. State of Haryana, (2004) 13 SCC 9, it was brought to the notice of the Court that two other decisions had a direct bearing on the question sought to be determined. The first is Kishun Singh v. State of Bihar, (1993) 2 SCC 16 and the other is a decision of a three-Judge Bench in Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149.

2. Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149 disapproved the observations made in Kishun Singh v. State of Bihar, (1993) 2 SCC 16 which was to the effect that the Sessions Court has power under Section 193 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, hereinafter referred to as "the Code", to take cognizance of an offence and summon other persons whose complicity in the commission of the trial could prima facie be gathered from the materials available on record.

3. According to the decision in Kishun Singh v. State of Bihar, (1993) 2 SCC 16, the Sessions Court has such power under Section 193 of the Code. On the other hand, in Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149, it was held that from the stage of committal till the Sessions Court reached the stage indicated in Section 230 of the Code, that Court could deal only with the accused referred to in Section 209 of the Code and there is no intermediary stage till then enabling the Sessions Court to add any other person to the array of the accused.

4. The three-Judge Bench Dharam Pal v. State of Haryana, (2004) 13 SCC 9, took note of the fact that the effect of such a conclusion is that the accused named in column 2 of the charge-sheet and not put up for trial could not be tried by exercise of power by the Sessions Judge under Section 193 read with Section 228 of the Code. In other words, even when the Sessions Court applied its mind at the time of framing of charge and came to the conclusion from the materials available on record that, in fact, an offence is made out against even those who are shown in column 2, it has no power to proceed against them and has to wait till the stage under Section 319 of the Code is reached to include such persons as the accused in the trial if from the evidence adduced, their complicity was also established. The further effect as noted by the three-Judge Bench was that in less serious offences triable by the Magistrate, he would have the power to proceed against those mentioned in column 2, in case he disagreed with the police report, but in regard to serious offences triable by the Court of Session, the Court would have to wait till the stage of Section 319 of the Code was reached.

5. The three-Judge Bench disagreed with the views expressed in Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149, but since the contrary view expressed in Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149, had been taken by a three-Judge Bench, the three- Judge Bench hearing this matter, by its order dated 1-12- 2004, Dharam Pal v. State of Haryana, (2004) 13 SCC 9 , directed the matter to be placed before the Chief Justice for placing the same before a larger Bench."

16. The questions which were formulated for answer by the Constitution Bench in the case of Dharam Pal (supra) were:-

"7.1. Does the Committing Magistrate have any other role to play after committing the case to the Court of Session on finding from the police report that the case was triable by the Court of Session?

7.2. If the Magistrate disagrees with the police report and is convinced that a case had also been made out for trial against the persons who had been placed in column 2 of the report, does he have the jurisdiction to issue summons against them also in order to include their names, along with Nafe Singh, to stand trial in connection with the case made out in the police report?

7.3. Having decided to issue summons against the appellants, was the Magistrate required to follow the procedure of a complaint case and to take evidence before committing them to the Court of Session to stand trial or whether he was justified in issuing summons against them without following such procedure?

7.4. Can the Sessions Judge issue summons under Section 193 CrPC as a court of original jurisdiction?

7.5. Upon the case being committed to the Court of Session, could the Sessions Judge issue summons separately under Section 193 of the Code or would he have to wait till the stage under Section 319 of the Code was reached in order to take recourse thereto? 7.6. Was Ranjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1998) 7 SCC 149, which set aside the decision in Kishun Singh v. State of Bihar, (1993) 2 SCC 16, rightly decided or not?"

17. As regards scope of jurisdiction of the Magistrate in a situation of this nature, it was held by the Constitution Bench in the case of Dharam Pal (supra): (SCC p. 319, paras 35-36)

"35. In our view, the Magistrate has a role to play while committing the case to the Court of Session upon taking cognizance on the police report submitted before him under Section 173(2) CrPC. In the event the Magistrate disagrees with the police report, he has two choices. He may act on the basis of a protest petition that may be filed, or he may, while disagreeing with the police report, issue process and summon the accused. Thereafter, if on being satisfied that a case had been made out to proceed against the persons named in column 2 of the report, proceed to try the said persons or if he was satisfied that a case had been made out which was triable by the Court of Session, he may commit the case to the Court of Session to proceed further in the matter.

36. This brings us to the third question as to the procedure to be followed by the Magistrate if he was satisfied that a prima facie case had been made out to go to trial despite the final report submitted by the police. In such an event, if the Magistrate decided to proceed against the persons accused, he would have to proceed on the basis of the police report itself and either inquire into the matter or commit it to the Court of Session if the same was found to be triable by the Sessions Court."

18. Another Constitution Bench in the case of Hardeep Singh vs. State of Punjab (2014) 3 SCC 92 followed Dharam Pal (supra). It was opined by the Constitution Bench in the case of Hardeep Singh (supra):-

"111. Even the Constitution Bench in Dharam Pal (supra) has held that the Sessions Court can also exercise its original jurisdiction and summon a person as an accused in case his name appears in Column 2 of the charge-sheet, once the case had been committed to it. It means that a person whose name does not appear even in the FIR or in the charge-sheet or whose name appears in the FIR and not in the main part of the charge-sheet but in Column 2 and has not been summoned as an accused in exercise of the powers under Section 193 CrPC can still be summoned by the court, provided the court is satisfied that the conditions provided in the said statutory provisions stand fulfilled." (emphasis added)

19. Earlier, a Coordinate Bench in the case of Raj Kishore Prasad vs. State of Bihar (1996) 4 SCC 495 expressed the view that power under Section 209 of the Code to summon a new offender was not vested with a Magistrate. In this decision, the correctness of the view taken in the cases of Kishun Singh vs. State of Bihar (1993) 2 SCC 16] and Nisar and Another vs. State of U.P. [(1995) 2 SCC 23] was doubted. The latter decision followed Kishun Singh (supra). The Constitution Bench in the case of Dharam Pal (supra) affirmed the view taken by this Court in the case of Kishun Singh (supra) and overruled Raj Kishore Prasad (supra). In fact, again a Coordinate Bench in the case of Balveer Singh vs. State of Rajasthan (2016) 6 SCC 680 has followed both Dharam Pal (supra) and Kishun Singh (supra). In the latter authority (i.e., Kishun Singh supra), it was, inter-alia, held:-

"13. The question then is whether de hors Section 319 of the Code, can similar power be traced to any other provision in the Code or can such power be implied from the scheme of the Code? We have already pointed out earlier the two alternative modes in which the Criminal Law can be set in motion; by the filing of information with the police under Section 154 of the Code or upon receipt of a complaint or information by a Magistrate. The former would lead to investigation by the police and may culminate in a police report under Section 173 of the Code on the basis whereof cognizance may be taken by the Magistrate under Section 190(1)(b) of the Code. In the latter case, the Magistrate may either order investigation by the police under Section 156(3) of the Code or himself hold an inquiry under Section 202 before taking cognizance of the offence under Section 190(1)(a) or (c), as the case may be, read with Section 204 of the Code. Once the Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence he may proceed to try the offender (except where the case is transferred under Section 191) or commit him for trial under Section 209 of the Code if the offence is triable exclusively by a Court of Session. As pointed out earlier cognizance is taken of the offence and not the offender.This Court in Raghubans Dubey v. State of Bihar, AIR 1967 SC 1167 stated that once cognizance of an offence is taken it becomes the Court's duty "to find out who the offenders really are' and if the Court finds "that apart from the persons sent up by the police some other persons are involved, it is its duty to proceed against those persons' by summoning them because "the summoning of the additional accused is part of the proceeding initiated by its taking cognizance of an offence'. Even after the present Code came into force, the legal position has not undergone a change; on the contrary the ratio of Raghubans Dubey (supra) was affirmed in Hareram Satpathy v. Tikaram Agarwala (1978) 4 SCC 58. Thus far there is no difficulty."

20. There is a difference so far as the position of law on which the opinions of the two Constitution Benches were delivered in relation to the facts of the present case. In the cases of Dharam Pal (supra) and Hardeep Singh (supra), summons were issued against the persons whose names had figured in column (2) of the chargesheet. Both these authorities also dealt with exercise of jurisdiction of the Court of Session under Section 193 of the Code. This provision reads:-

"193. Cognizance of offences by Courts of Session-Except as otherwise expressly provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, no Court of Session shall take cognizance of any offence as a Court of original jurisdiction unless the case has been committed to it by a Magistrate under this Code."*

21. It would appear from the Code that the jurisdiction to take cognizance has been vested in the Magistrate (under Section 190 thereof) as also Court of Session under Section 193, which we have quoted above. This question has been examined in the case of Dharam Pal (supra) and on this point it has been held:- (SCC pp.319-20, para 39)

"39. This takes us to the next question as to whether under Section 209, the Magistrate was required to take cognizance of the offence before committing the case to the Court of Session. It is well settled that cognizance of an offence can only be taken once. In the event, a Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence and then commits the case to the Court of Session, the question of taking fresh cognizance of the offence and, thereafter, proceed to issue summons, is not in accordance with law. If cognizance is to be taken of the offence, it could be taken either by the Magistrate or by the Court of Session. The language of Section 193 of the Code very clearly indicates that once the case is committed to the Court of Session by the learned Magistrate, the Court of Session assumes original jurisdiction and all that goes with the assumption of such jurisdiction. The provisions of Section 209 will, therefore, have to be understood as the learned Magistrate playing a passive role in committing the case to the Court of Session on finding from the police report that the case was triable by the Court of Session. Nor can there be any question of part cognizance being taken by the Magistrate and part cognizance being taken by the learned Sessions Judge." (emphasis added)

22. The scope of jurisdiction of the Magistrate in taking cognizance of an offence was earlier examined by a three-judge Bench of this court in the case of Raghubans Dubey vs. State of Bihar AIR 1965 SC 1167. This authority was relied upon by the Coordinate Bench in the case of Kishun Singh (supra). Dealing with broadly similar provisions of the old Code, of 1898, it was observed by this Court:- (AIR pp.1169-70, para9)

"9. .....In our opinion, once cognizance has been taken by the Magistrate, he takes cognizance of an offence and not the offenders; once he takes cognizance of an offence it is his duty to find out who the offenders really are and once he comes to the conclusion that apart from the persons sent up by the police some other persons are involved, it is his duty to proceed against those persons. The summoning of the additional accused is part of the proceeding initiated by his taking cognizance of an offence. As pointed out by this Court in Pravin Chandra Mody v. State of Andhra Pradesh (1965) 1 SCR 269 the term "complaint" would include allegations made against persons unknown. If a Magistrate takes cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) on the basis of a complaint of facts he would take cognizance and a proceeding would be instituted even though persons who had committed the offence were not known at that time. The same position prevails, in our view, under Section 190(1)(b)."

23. In the case of Kishun Singh (supra), the scope of jurisdiction of the Court of Session under Section 193 of the Code was explained, relying on an authority dealing with similar provision under the 1898 Code (P.C. Gulati vs. Lajya Ram and Others, AIR 1966 SC 595. The phrase used to explain the implication of taking cognizance by a Court of Session in the judgment of Kishun Singh (supra) was "cognizance in the limited sense."

24. In paragraph 8 of the report (in Kishun Singh's case (supra), it has been held observed:- (SCC pp.24-25)

"8. Section 193 of the old Code placed an embargo on the Court of Session from taking cognizance of any offence as a court of original jurisdiction unless the accused was committed to it by a Magistrate or there was express provision in the Code or any other law to the contrary. In the context of the said provision this Court in P.C. Gulati v. Lajya Ram, 1966 Cri LJ 465, SCR p 568, AIR p.599, Cri.LJ p.469 observed as under: (AIR p.599 para 21)

" 21. When a case is committed to the Court of Session, the Court of Session has first to determine whether the commitment of the case is proper. If it be of opinion that the commitment is bad on a point of law, it has to refer the case to the High Court which is competent to quash the proceeding under of the Code. It is only when the Sessions Court considers the commitment to be good in law that it proceeds with the trial of the case. It is in this context that the Sessions Court has to take cognizance of the offence as a court of original jurisdiction and it is such a cognizance which is referred to in Section 193 of the Code.""

25. Jurisdiction of the Magistrate to take cognizance of an offence triable by a Court of Session is not in controversy before us. The course open to a Magistrate on submission of a police report has been discussed in the case of Dharam Pal (supra). In paragraph 39 of the report in Dharam Pal's case, such power or jurisdiction of the Magistrate has been spelt out. We have quoted this passage earlier in this judgment.

26. The other difference so far as this case is concerned in relation to the factual basis on which the decision of the Constitution Bench in Dharam Pal (supra) as also the judgment in the case of Raghubans Dubey (supra) were delivered is that in both these cases, the names of the persons arraigned as accused had figured in column (2) of the charge sheet. This column, as it appears from the judgment in the case of Raghubans Dubey (supra), records the name of a person under the heading "not sent up". In that case, the person concerned was named in the F.I.R. But that factor, by itself, in our opinion ought not to be considered as a reason for the Court in not summoning an accused not named in the F.I.R. and whose name also does not feature in chargesheet at all. These judgments were delivered in cases where the names of the persons sought to be arraigned as accused appeared in column (2) of the police report. In our opinion the legal proposition laid down while dealing with this point was not confined to the power to summon those persons only, whose names featured in column (2) of the chargesheet.

27. In Dharam Pal (supra), the second point formulated (para 7.2) related to persons named in column (2), but the issue before the Constitution Bench related to that category of persons only. This is the position of law enunciated in the cases of Hardeep Singh (supra) and Raghubans Dubey (supra). In the latter authority, the duty of the Court taking cognizance of an offence has been held "to find out who the offenders really are and once he comes to the conclusion that apart from the persons sent up by the police some other persons are involved, it is his duty to proceed against those persons". Such duty to proceed against other persons cannot be held to be confined to only those whose names figure in column (2) of the chargesheet.

28. As we have already observed that in the aforesaid authorities, the question of summoning the persons named in column (2) of the chargesheet was involved, in our opinion inclusion in column (2) was not held to be the determinant factor for summoning persons other than those named as accused in the police report or chargesheet. The principle of law enunciated in Raghubans Dubey (supra), Dharam Pal (supra) and Hardeep Singh (supra) does not constrict exercise of such power of the Court taking cognizance in respect of this category of persons [i.e., whose names feature in column (2) of the chargesheet]."

16. In view of the above, learned Magistrate has not committed any error in summoning other accused not being named in charge-sheet on the basis of material available with case diary. There is no dispute that material was available in regard to said accused persons for summoning.

17. The outcome of the above discussion is that cognizance for offence under Section 406 I.P.C. by learned Magistrate against all the accused persons is legally erroneous, therefore, cognizance order is set-aside qua to taking cognizance for the offence under Section 406 I.P.C. as well as order passed in the revision petition is interfered to the extent of observation that there is prima-facie evidence against Rohit Kashyap (applicant no.2) to summon him under Section 377 I.P.C., as at this stage of charge-sheet no offence could be added or deleted and further that there is prima-facie evidence to summon Arvind under Sections 498-A, 406, 504, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 D. P. Act only to the extent to summon him under Section 406 I.P.C. also. However, the learned Magistrate is at liberty to consider the material available to take cognizance of other offence, if any, against any accused, at the time of framing of charge.

18. With the above mentioned direction, this application is allowed partly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Sri Alok Saxena, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for respondent - State and Ms. Divya Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent No.2.

2. The present application for cancellation of bail has been filed under Section 439(2) Cr.P.C. seeking cancellation of bail granted order dated 18.08.2021 in Bail No.8763 of 2021.

3. It is contended that respondent No.2 is being tried under Sections 394, 397 and 411 IPC in Case Crime No.158 of 2017 and was granted bail vide this Court's order dated 18.08.2021 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.8763 of 2021.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for applicant that respondent-2 was initially granted bail by coordinate bench of this Court vide order dated 02.01.2019 in Bail No.10865 of 2017 with a condition that in case of breach of conditions mentioned in the bail order, the bail granted to him shall be cancelled. He further submitted that, after being released, the accused - respondent No.2 has misused the liberty of bail and breached the conditions of the bail order, as he indulged himself in case crime No.0118 of 2020 under Sections 457, 497, 407 IPC on 25.11.2020 and in case crime No.0119 of 2020 under Sections 3/25 Arms Act (as mentioned in paragraph-11 of application) was registered at police station Jafarganj, District Fatehpur and has also not co-operated in trial and absconded from the same, therefore, learned trial court issued process against him under Section 82 Cr.P.C.

5. He further submitted that learned trial court has rejected the bail application of accused-respondent No.2 on 03.03.2021 in case crime No.158 of 2017 under Sections 394, 397, 411 IPC registered at police station Asoha, District Unnao. Thereafter, he approached to this Court by way of Bail Application No.8763 of 2021 taking shelter of medical ground only and by concealing material fact regarding misuse of bail granted to him. The said bail application was allowed by this Court, however, fact regarding breach of conditions of earlier bail granted to the accused, has been suppressed from this Court.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel for respondent No.2 - accused submitted that due to ill health, respondent No.2 could not appear before the trial Court and thereafter, non bailable warrant has been issued against him.

7. Learned A.G.A. submitted that in case the accused- respondent No.2 has breached the conditions of bail and is not co-operating in conclusion of trial, it is a fit case for cancellation of bail.

8. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

9. The earlier bail application of respondent No.2 - accused was allowed by co-ordinate bench of this Court in between respondent No.2 breached the conditions of the bail granted to him and indulged himself in case crime Nos.0118 & 0119 of 2020, therefore, learned Additional Sessions Judge / FTC, Unnao has rejected his application for bail on 03.03.2021, however, taking shelter of medical grounds, he obtained the bail from this court on 18.08.2021. This material fact has also not been disclosed by learned counsel representing accused - respondent No.2.

10. On perusal, it is also evident that the FIR No.0118 of 2020 has been lodged against the accused - respondent No.2 under Sections 307, 380 & 457 IPC on 25.11.2020 and another FIR No.0119 of 2020 was registered under Sections 3/25 Arms Act against respondent No.2 on 25.11.2020.

11. The ground for cancellation of bail is misuse of the liberty provided by respondent No.2. In the matter of cancellation of bail, the court has to examine the matter in a totally different context and such matter cannot be scrutinized on the principles which are normally taken note when the bail application is considered.

12. It is now well settled that considerations and relevant aspects by a Court while granting a bail are different than those when an application for cancellation of bail has come up before the Court.

13. A three-Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State (Delhi Administration) vs. Sanjay Gandhi (1978) 2 SCC 411 had an occasion to consider an order dated 11.04.1978 passed by Delhi High Court rejecting Delhi Administration's application for cancellation of bail of respondent Sanjay Gandhi. The Court observed that rejection of bail, when bail applied is one thing; cancellation of bail already granted is quite another. It is easier to reject a bail application in a non-bailable case than to cancel a bail granted in such a case. Cancellation of bail necessarily involves review of a decision already made and can, by and large, be permitted only, if, by reason of supervening circumstances, it would be no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow accused to retain his freedom during the trial.

14. While considering degree of burden of prove lie upon prosecution or complainant/Informant, when an application for cancellation of bail moved, is not to the extent of proving by a mathematical certainty or beyond reasonable doubt but it must establish its case by showing on a preponderance of probabilities that accused has attempted or may attempt to or tamper or has tampered with witnesses. It may also be proved by test of balance of probabilities that accused has abused his liberty or it may show that there is reasonable apprehension that he will interfere with course of justice. The court approved Bombay High Court's decision in Madhukar Purshottam Jondkar vs. Talab Haji Hussain; 60 Bombay Law Reporter 465, that test adopted by the Court would be, whether material placed before it is such as to lead to the conclusion that there is a strong prima facie case that accused if allowed to be at large, he would tamper with prosecution witnesses and impede course of justice. Mere unfounded apprehension or self imagined threat by prosecution or Informant-Complainant would not justify cancellation of bail, granted to accused.

15. In the case of Raghubir Singh vs. State of Bihar; (1986) 4 SCC 481, the court said that grounds for cancellation of bail under Sections 437(5) and 439(2) are identical, namely, bail granted under Section 437(1) or (2) or Section 439(1) can be cancelled where (i) accused misuses his liberty by indulging in similar criminal activity, (ii) interferes with the course of investigation, (iii) attempts to tamper with evidence or witnesses, (iv) threatens witnesses or indulges in similar activities which would hamper smooth investigation, (v) there is likelihood of his fleeing to another country, (vi) attempts to make himself scarce by going underground or becoming unavailable to the investigating agency, (vii) attempts to place himself beyond the reach of his surety, etc.

16. It was also held that above grounds are illustrative and not exhaustive. Rejection of bail stands on one footing but cancellation of bail is a harsh order since it interferes with liberty of individual and must not be lightly resorted to.

17. Above decision was followed in the case of Manjit Prakash and Ors. vs. Shobha Devi and Anr.; (2009) 13 SCC 785 as also in the case of Pooja Bhatia vs. Vishnu Narain Shivpuri and others; (2014)13 SCC 492.

18. In the case of Pooja Bhatia (supra), considering the conduct of accused i.e. charge of throwing acid on complainant, Court held that it was a serious aspect and therefore, accused is not entitled to continue with the benefit of bail.

19. In the case of Dolat Ram and others vs. State of Haryana; (1995) 1 SCC 349, the court said that rejection of bail in a non-bailable case at initial stage and cancellation of bail so granted, has to be dealt with and considered on different basis. Very cogent and overwhelming circumstances are necessary for an order directing cancellation of bail, already granted. The court further said that generally speaking grounds of cancellation of bail, broadly i.e. illustrative and not exhaustive are : (i) interference or attempt to interfere with the due course of administration of justice; (ii) evasion or attempt to evade due course of justice; (iii) abuse of the concession granted to the accused in any manner; (iv) Satisfaction of Court, on the basis of material placed on record of possibility of accused absconding.

20. The court also reminded that bail once granted should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without considering whether any supervening circumstances have rendered it no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow the accused to retain his freedom by enjoying concession of bail during trial.

21. In the case of Prahlad Singh Bhati vs. NCT, Delhi; (2001) 4 SCC 280, the court said that while granting bail, nature of accusations, severity of punishment, if accusation entails a conviction, nature of evidence in support of the accusations should be kept in mind. Further, reasonable apprehensions of witnesses being tampered with or apprehension of there being a threat for complainant also need be weighed by Court. No discussion of entire evidence to form an opinion whether evidence would established guilt beyond reasonable doubt is expected at the stage of considering matter of bail but prima facie satisfaction of Court in support of charge must be there. Lastly, the court should also consider whether prosecution has element of genuineness or there is some fragility. In case of any doubt as to genuineness, normal course is to grant bail. To the same effect are the observation made in the case of Chaman Lal vs. State of U.P.; (2004) 7 SCC 525.

22. In the case of Ram Govind Upadhyay vs. Sudarshan Singh; (2002) 3 SCC 598, it was held that grant of bail though discretionary in nature, yet such exercise cannot be arbitrary, capricious and injudicious. Heinous nature of crime warrants more caution.

23. In the case of CBI, Hyderabad vs. Subramani Gopalakrishnan and others; (2011) 5 SCC 296, in para 23, the court held as under :

"....that there is difference between yardstick for cancellation of bail and appeal against the order granting bail. Very cogent and overwhelming circumstances are necessary for an order directing the cancellation of bail already granted. Generally speaking, the grounds for cancellation of bail are, interference or attempt to interfere with the due course of administration of justice or evasion or attempt to evade the due course of justice or abuse of the concessions granted to the accused in any manner. These are all only few illustrative materials. The satisfaction of the Court on the basis of the materials placed on record of the possibility of the accused absconding is another reason justifying the cancellation of bail. In other words, bail once granted should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without considering whether any supervening circumstances have rendered it no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow the accused to retain his freedom by enjoying the concession of bail during the trial."

19. Position, influence and resources of accused have also been held relevant factors to adjudge whether accused is likely to interfere with administration of justice, trial or tamper with witness or evidence."

24. In the case of C.B.I. vs. Anil Sharma; (1997) 7 SCC 187, anticipatory bail was granted by Himachal Pradesh High Court and C.B.I. approached for cancellation of bail stating that accused was a former Minister of Himachal Pradesh and being a high authority in power is likely to disrupt even investigation but High Court did not accept application for cancellation of bail. On appeal, Supreme Court accepted C.B.I. contention and observed that in case of such highly influenced political person, the very interrogation and investigation may become a mere ritual hence Court cancelled order of anticipatory bail.

25. In the case of Padmakar tukaram Bhavnagare and Ors. vs. The State of Maharashtra and Ors.; (2012) 13 SCC 720, Hon'ble Supreme Court while confirming the order of anticipatory bail took into accunt that accused are aged and rustic, not influential persons holding high office who can bring pressure upon investigating agency and it is unlikely that Police would find it difficult to interrogate them because they are protected by an order granting anticipatory bail. That is how judgment in State Represented by the C.B.I. vs. Anil Sharma (supra) was also distinguished. However, Court also clarified that grounds for cancellation of bail, broadly, are interference or attempt to interfere with due course of justice or abuse of concession granted to the accused in any manner but an order of bail can also be cancelled where it is found to be perverse, passed ignoring evidence on record or taking into considering irrelevant material. Relying on the case of Dinesh M.N. (S.P.) vs. State of Gujarat; (2008) 5 SCC 66, the court said that such vulnerable bail order must be quashed in the interest of justice.

26. In the case of State of Maharashtra and Ors. vs. Pappu; (2014) 11 SCC 244, the accused was convicted under Section 302 read with 120-B IPC for hatching criminal conspiracy in killing of deceased Inder Bhatija. In appeal, High Court while admitting appeal, enlarged accused on bail and this order of bail was challenged in Supreme Court by the State on the ground that accused was involved in as many as 52 cases, out of which 20 cases offences were registered against him before going to jail and while he was in jail; and 32 cases were registered when he was released by Court on conditional bail. The defence taken on behalf of accused, besides other, was that he has already spent 9 years in jail during pendency of trial and no witness has supported prosecution case and that it was a political rivalry in which he was falsely implicated. Supreme Court said that reason given by High Court that father and wife of deceased have turned hostile, cannot be a ground to grant bail since there were other witnesses and material available. High Court should not have ignored the fact that accused was involved in as many as 52 cases out of which 20 were registered before going to jail and during stay in jail, and whenever he was on bail or conditional bail, 32 cases were registered. Court also found that in some cases accused was acquitted but still 15 trials were pending in which two cases were under Section 302 read with 120B IPC. Having said so, Court observed that since accused was in jail for 9 years and as per pendency, High Court would have taken a large number of years in deciding appeal, therefore, Court should decide appeal expeditiously and with the above direction, appeal was allowed and order of bail granted by High Court was set aside.

27. In the case of Neeru Yadav vs. State of U.P.; (2014)16 SCC 508, this Court had granted bail to accused for offences punishable under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 394, 411, 454, 506, 120B and 34 IPC on the ground of parity as another accused Ashok was already enlarged on bail. The wife of deceased filed appeal for setting aside order of bail granted by this Court. The court considered various earlier authorities and said in para 13 of judgment as under :

"...It is well settled in law that cancellation of bail after it is granted because the accused has misconducted himself or of some supervening circumstances warranting such cancellation have occurred is in a different compartment altogether than an order granting bail which is unjustified, illegal and perverse. If in a case, the relevant factors which should have been taken into consideration while dealing with the application for bail and have not been taken note of bail or it is founded on irrelevant considerations, indisputably the superior court can set aside the order of such a grant of bail. Such a case belongs to a different category and is in a separate realm. While dealing with a case of second nature, the Court does not dwell upon the violation of conditions by the accused or the supervening circumstances that have happened subsequently. It, on the contrary, delves into the justifiability and the soundness of the order passed by the Court."

28. Thereafter, referring to 15 cases registered again accused showing that he was a history-sheeter and mostly under Section 302 IPC, order of bail was set aside. The court observed that there has to be a balance between personal liberty of an individual and peace and harmony of Society. No individual interest can be allowed to create a concavity in the stem of social stream otherwise it would bring chaos and anarchy in the Society. Relevant observations made in this regard are reproduced as under :

"....We are not oblivious of the fact that the liberty is a priceless treasure for a human being. It is founded on the bed rock of constitutional right and accentuated further on human rights principle. It is basically a natural right. In fact, some regard it as the grammar of life. No one would like to lose his liberty or barter it for all the wealth of the world. People from centuries have fought for liberty, for absence of liberty causes sense of emptiness. The sanctity of liberty is the fulcrum of any civilized society. It is a cardinal value on which the civilisation rests. It cannot be allowed to be paralysed and immobilized. Deprivation of liberty of a person has enormous impact on his mind as well as body.

A democratic body polity which is wedded to rule of law, anxiously guards liberty. But, a pregnant and significant one, the liberty of an individual is not absolute. The society by its collective wisdom through process of law can withdraw the liberty that it has sanctioned to an individual when an individual becomes a danger to the collective and to the societal order. Accent on individual liberty cannot be pyramided to that extent which would bring chaos and anarchy to a society. A society expects responsibility and accountability from the member, and it desires that the citizens should obey the law, respecting it as a cherished social norm. No individual can make an attempt to create a concavity in the stem of social stream. It is impermissible. Therefore, when an individual behaves in a disharmonious manner ushering in disorderly things which the society disapproves, the legal consequences are bound to follow. At that stage, the Court has a duty. It cannot abandon its sacrosanct obligation and pass an order at its own whim or caprice. It has to be guided by the established parameters of law." (emphasis added)

29. In the case of Virupakshappa Gouda and Ors. Vs. The State of Karnataka and Ors.; (2017) 5 SCC 406, the application for bail was rejected by Sessions Judge as also High Court. Even second bail application was rejected by Sessions Judge as also High Court. This time accused went to Supreme Court also but Special Leave Petition was also rejected. Then a third application was filed before Additional Sessions Judge, Raichur, which was allowed and accused were enlarged on bail. Informant brought the mater to High Court under Section 439(2) Cr.P.C. seeking cancellation of bail. He succeeded and High Court cancelled bail. Thereafter accused brought the matter to Supreme Court. Court made serious observations in respect of approach of Trial Court in granting bail by treating filing of charge-sheet as a change of circumstance but ignoring that already two bail applications were rejected and one has attained finality up to Supreme Court. Court said that bail application cannot be allowed solely or exclusively on the ground that in criminal jurisprudence accused is presumed to be innocent till found guilty by the Court. Trial Court has relied on Supreme Court judgment in Sanjay Chandra vs. Central Bureau of Investigation (2012) 1 SCC 40 wherein it was observed that object of bail is to secure appearance of accused at trial and not punitive or preventive. Deprivation of liberty should be considered a punishment. Court should appreciate that punishment begins after conviction and every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and found guilty. Supreme Court said that above observations in Sanjay Chandra (supra) have their relevance but cannot be made applicable in each and every case for grant of bail. It all depends upon factual matrix of each case, nature of crime and manner in which it was committed. A bail application is not to be entertained on the basis of certain observations made in a different context. There has to be application of mind and appreciation of factual score and understanding of pronouncements in the field. The court relied upon a judgment in the case of Prasanta Kumar Sarkar vs. Ashis Chatterjee and Anr.; (2010) 14 SCC 496, where it was opined that while exercising power for grant of bail, Court must to keep in mind certain circumstances and factors as under :

"(i) whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to be believed that the Accused had committed the offence.

(ii) nature and gravity of the accusation;

(iii) severity of the punishment in the event of conviction;

(iv) danger of the Accused absconding or fleeing, if released on bail;

(v) character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused;

(vi) likelihood of the offence being repeated;

(vii) reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being influenced; and

(viii) danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail." (emphasis added)

30. It was also held that where a bail is granted considering irrelevant materials or keeping out of consideration relevant material, the order becomes vulnerable and warrants annulment. The order of High Court setting aside bail granted by Trial Court was upheld by Supreme Court.

31. In the case of Dataram Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Ors.; (2018) 3 SCC 22, the court enlarged to certain more aspects for granting bail, whether accused was arrested during investigation when he had best opportunity to tamper with evidence and influence witness or Investigating Officer found it not necessary to arrest accused during investigation and this factor would go in favour of accused. Similarly, whether accused was participating in investigation regularly and not absconding or avoiding investigation. Further, whether accused is a first-time offender or is accused of other offences and if yes, nature of such offences and his general conduct. Poverty or deemed indigent status of an accused, Court held, is also an important factor to be taken note. It observed that grant of bail is a rule and refusal is an exception. Finding that accused was not said to be a person of shady character and there was no history of his involvement in any unacceptable activity etc., accused was granted bail, though it was rejected by Trial Court as well as High Court.

32. In the case of State of Orissa and Ors. Vs. Mahimananda Mishra and Ors.; (2018) 10 SCC 516, the accused was granted bail by High Court and it was set aside by Supreme Court. The court observed that accused was a powerful and influential person in his locality and even Investigating Officer apprehends that he may influence witnesses by intimidating them and this may influence trial by creating fear in the minds of witnesses. Court also looked into past attempt of accused to evade process of law and then found that order of grant of bail was not proper and it was set aside.

33. In the case of X vs. The State of Telangana and Ors.; (2018)16 SCC 511, the accused, a Film Producer, based in Mumbai, was charged of offences under Sections 376, 342, 493, 506, 354(C) of IPC. Accused got anticipatory bail from Sessions Judge on 13.01.2017 and had advantage of that order for about eight months. The said order was cancelled by Sessions Judge on the ground that accused has not disclosed that he was also accused in 2G Spectrum case. This cancellation order was affirmed by High Court and also by Supreme Court. Thereafter accused moved a bail application under Section 439 Cr.P.C., which was allowed by High Court and accused was released on bail. This order was challenged in appeal before Supreme Court. Upholding the said order, Court said that bail once granted should not be cancelled unless a cogent case, based on supervening event has been made out.

34. In the case of Seema Singh vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and Ors.; (2018) 16 SCC 10, the bail granted to accused by High Court in the case registered under Sections 498-A, 302, 120-B IPC was challenged in appeal before Supreme Court. Court noticed that accused-2's bail application was rejected by Special Judicial Magistrate, CBI, Ghaziabad and thereafter bail was granted by High Court. Court said that gravity of offence is a relevant factor but not the sole ground to deny bail if there are other overwhelming circumstances justifying grant of bail. Noticing special feature, Court upheld order of High Court granting bail.

35. Thus, the broad principles, which are to be considered by this Court while granting bail and when bail is already granted but an application for cancellation has come up for consideration, as discussed above, show that there is no thumb rule in both the situations. However, it is true that factors relevant for grant of bail are different and approach required to be adopted while considering application for cancellation of bail is different.

36. Liberty granted to accused - respondent No.2 by enlarging him on bail has been misused in view of the facts stated on oath by the applicant, which are uncontroverted since respondent No.2 has chosen to opt for grant of bail by concealing material fact that while enlargement on bail he involved himself into two criminal cases and to contest this application. The conduct and nature of violations on the part of respondent No.2, has already been discussed above.

37. Looking into all the facts and circumstances, this court is of the view that here is a case in which it has clearly substantiated that accused-respondent No.2 has misused the bail granted to him and, therefore, it is justified to cancel the bail.

38. In the result, the application for cancellation of bail is allowed.

39. The bail granted to accused - respondent No.2, namely, Pinku @ Mustakeem @ Irfan Ahmad vide order of this Court dated 18.08.2021 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.8763 of 2021 in Case Crime No.157 of 2017, under Sections 394, 397 and 411 IPC registered at Police Station Asoha, District Unnao, is hereby cancelled.

40. However, it is stated by learned counsel for the parties that the accused - respondent No.2 is in jail, however, if that be not so, he shall surrender before concerned Chief Judicial Magistrate positively by 19.09.2022, failing which, the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned shall ensure his arrest and send him to jail.

4. As per F.I.R., it is stated that M/s Globiz Exim Private Limited had entered into criminal conspiracy and the verbatim of FiR is quoted below:-

"A complaint No.RO/CRM/2019-2020 dated 05.06.2020 have been received from Sh. Niranjan Panda, Chief Regional Manager, Indian Overseas Bank, Regional Office, Lucknow requesting therein to register FIR against M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd, 402-403, Kalpana Plaza, 24/147B, Birhana Road, Kanpur, Shri Arvind Srivastava, Independent Director , M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd., R/o BM 783, Malviya Nagar-1st Floor, New Delhi; Sri Saral Verma, Director, M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd., R/o 3a/2017, Azad Nagar, Kanpur and other unknown third parties which is enclosed as Annexure of FIR Gist of the allegations are that M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd., Kanpur and it's Promoters/Directors entered into a criminal conspiracy among themselves and cheated the Indian Overseas Bank to the tune of Rs.10.01 Crores by way of misrepresenting the facts and diverting the funds extended by the Bank in the form of loans/Letter of Credits.

Information discloses that M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. Having its registered office at Kalpna Plaza, 24/147 B, Birhana Road, Kanpur (UP) was enjoying various credit facilities with Indian Overseas Bank under multiple banking arrangements viz. Letter of Credit (foreign) to the tune of Rs.2,000 crores; Letter of Credit on DP/180 days comes for purchase of goods for trading to the tune of Rs.128 crores etc. All the said facitilites were sanctioned by the Indian Overseas Bank, MCB, Central Office in the year 2014 and 2016. M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. was incorporated as S.N.V. Trading Pvt. Ltd. On 14 July, 2005, however, the company later changed its name to M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. On 2.9.2009. Initially, the company was engaged in manufacturing of leather items from its manufacturing plant at Jajmau at Kanpur but later on, it concentrated in trading of pluses and other commodities like Laptop/Computers, Coal, Copper Cathode etc.

M/s. Globiz Exim Pvt Ltd. and it's Promoters/Directors with intent to cheat the Bank, while availing the credit facilities from the IOB, had fraudulently siphoned off its funds through unsecured loans and advances to as many as 34 parties without any loan agreements or entering into any formal contract with such parties. The company duped the Bank by showing false Merchanting Trade Transactions amongst known companies/customers. The documents purportedly issued by different purchasers/suppliers were prepared by one and the same person related to the suspicious Merchanting Trade Transactions. The borrower company has further shown bogus local trades without support of related documents to falsify its Balance Sheet and mislead the Bank by way of showing false inflated stock. The account of the Company was classified Non Performing Asset (NPA) on 30.9.2018 and as on the date of NPA the total loss to the Bank was Rs.10.01 crores.

The contents of the complaint dated 05.06.2020 prima facie discloses commission of cognizable offences u/s 120-B, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. and substantive offences thereof against the aforesaid accused persons. Hence, a Regular Case is registered and investigation entrusted to Sh. Sanjay Sharma, ASP, CBI, SCB, Lucknow."

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that though the charge sheet has been filed in the present case but the anticipatory bail application filed by the applicant is maintainable in view of the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bharat Chaudhary and another Vs. State of Bihar and another, (2003) 8 SCC 77.

6. It has been further submitted that the applicant is innocent and has not committed the offence and he is not named in the FIR. It has been next submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant was not arrested during investigation, therefore, after filing of the charge sheet, the applicant should not be remanded to judicial custody and there is no purpose to remand him because he had cooperated in the investigation.

7. It has been further submitted on behalf of the applicant that the goods was transferred between the foreign seller, Globiz and foreign buyer in that sequence of the transaction of the business. The transfer of title in goods was done by way of endorsement in the bill of lading which is the prevaling practice. On the import of the transactions the bill of lading was provided to Globiz by the foreign supplier.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that in same subject matter in respect of Flagship Company of the Frost Group i.e. Frost International Limited (FIL), SFIO and ED had initiated proceedings and the applicant was arrested by both SFIO and ED. In both cases, applicant had been granted regular bail by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and by this High Court respectively. It has been further submitted that the applicant did not play any role in preparation of document relating to merchanting trade and allegation of forgery cannot be attributed to the applicant. It has been further submitted that the merchanting documents were prepared by the foreign parties and sent to Globiz in India through the banks on acceptance. After acceptance by Globiz, these documents were then forwarded by the banks to the foreign buyer for their acceptance. Merchanting trade documents were approved by multiple banks once on the import leg of transaction and again on the export leg of transaction but the applicant did not prepare the document.

9. It has been further submitted that the bank officials are not named as accused in the present case. It has been submitted that bank officials have checked and verified the documents but they are not made accused. It has been submitted that there is no possibility of tampering with evidence or influencing witnesses because the documents have already been collected. There is no question to influence the witnesses in any manner, therefore, the applicant may be enlarged on bail. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the business was carried out as per RBI guidelines. The transaction was done after approving the multiple level cheques done by the bank. In this regard, paragraph 44 of the submission of the bail application is quoted below:-

"44. That it is also submitted that the MT business was carried out in line with the extant RBI guidelines. As mentioned earlier, these guidelines are issued under FEMA, and banks, being authorized persons under such law, are required to ensure compliance. Once the entire business details and documentation required for obtaining the credit facilities were submitted to the banks, and the banks, approved of the same and granted sanction, it would be accurate to presume that the RBI guidelines were satisfied. Further, no show cause notice was ever issued by RBI to the company regarding any non-compliance with the RBI guidelinses."

10. It has been further submitted that there is no common directorship or any shareholding between Globiz and the foreign buyers ans sellers and merely because the foreign parties were known to each other as they worked with each, therefore, it cannot be the basis of alleging connivance.

11. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the multiple levels of scrutiny is not done through the Foreign Bank and then Indian AD Bank and as per the guidelines of the R.B.I. documents were verified and then the transaction has been completed. In this regard, Paragraphs 48 and 49 of the bail application are quoted below:-

"48. That it is also noteworthy that all documents pertaining to MT transactions undergo multiple levels of scrutiny, first through the Foreign Bank and then through the Indian AD Bank. While executing the MT transactions, the Indian AD banks are required to ensure that the terms and conditions for LCs have been satisfied and the MT documents presented by the contracting parties are in compliance with the said terms and conditions. As per the guidelines of RBI, the Authorized Dealer ("AD') Banks have to satisfy itself on the genuineness of the trade (provided under RBI Guidelines bearing reference "Master Circular on Import of Goods and Services (RBI/2013-14/13)" dated 01 July 2013 under instruction C.15). In case of MT transactions of Globiz as well, the Complaint Bank had duly verified the documents and only upon being satisfied that the documents are proper, processed the payments to the foreign suppliers.

49. Thus, it is submitted that the MT business of Globiz was perfectly legal, bona fide and had commercial substance. As explained above, the MT business involved the buying and selling of goods from genuine foreign parties without the goods entering India. Over the years, Globiz made substantial profits from such business and paid substantial amounts towards income-tax. In light of the above, it is submitted that the allegations raised in the FIR that the MT business of Globiz was not genuine are completely erroneous and baseless."

12. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the discrepencies, if any, were merely technical and procedural in nature, therefore, it is no ground to doubt the genuineness and veracity of the transaction of the Globiz. In this regard learned counsel for the applicant has made averment in paragraph 80 of the bail application.

13. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the contents of the certificate of origin were correct. Regarding the origin of the goods, it has been further submitted that the certificate of origin was issued by the foreign supplier and the same was accepted by the banks and this discrepancy was never considered a major one. Once the certificate of origin was issued by the foreign supplier can at best be treated as a technical non-compliance and cannot be veracity of transaction.

14. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that no offence under Sections 120B, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. is made out in the present case. It has been further submitted that the business of Globiz was a genuine and profitable business which involved movement of goods and transfer of title in the goods between the goods and contracting parties. It has been further submitted that funds were utilized solely for the business transaction and for the purpose for which they were sanctioned by the banks. It has been submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that there is no evidence which indicate that the bank funds were siphoned or diverted.

15. It has been further submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that the business was regulated and the documents were thoroughly scrutinized by the multiple banks, hence, it can be concluded that the transactions were executed with the approval of all banks.

16. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment of Siddharth Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another reported in (2022) 1 SCC 676; Aman Preet Singh Vs. C.B.I. through Director (Criminal Appeal No.929 of 2021); Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation & another, (AIR 2022 SC 3386); Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation & another; (2021 10 SCC 773).

17. He has also relied some judgments in paragraph nos.92, 93, 94 &

96 in the bail application which are pertaining to different sections of the Indian Penal Code, which has been invoked against the applicant and as per his argument the offence under Sections 120B, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. is not made out in view of the aforementioned law by the applicant.

18. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I. has made following submissions on the basis of instructions:-

19. It has been submitted that the applicant is the Director and CEO of Frost International Ltd. M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. is a company of the Frost Group wherein the applicnat is a Shareholder, Promoter and Incharge of the day-to-day operations of company at Kanpur. The Frost Group of companies are:-

(i) M/s Frost International Pvt. Ltd.
(ii) M/s Frost Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd.
(iii) M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd.
(iv) M/s Olympic Oil Industries Pvt. Ltd.
(v) M/s Viva Merchant Pvt. Ltd.

20. The F.I.R. has been lodged in the present case on the basis of the complaint of Indian Overseas Bank.

21. It has been submitted that the allegation in the FIR is that M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. was enjoying credit facilities including an arrangement known as Letter of Credit (hereinafter referred to as "LC").

22. It has been further submitted that it is admitted case of the applicant that the total amount of defrauded by the Frost Group of Companies is approximately Rs.4000 crores. In the present case, M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. Rs.10.01 Crores and M/s Olympic Oil Industries Pvt. Ltd. Rs.6.67 Crores. It has been submitted that investigation by CBI in respect of the fraudulent activities done by other two companies involving the credit facilities availed are in progress.

23. Learned counsel for the CBI has further made submission that as to how Letter of Credit (LC) works:-

A. For availing LC, bank takes securities from companies to the extent of 85-90% of the amount of which LC is applied.

B. For merchanting business, there has to be an exporter situated in a foreign country from which the Indian Company purchases the goods and there also has to be an importer situated in a foreign country that purchases the goods from the Indian merchanting company.

C. After LC is established, the information is given by the bank of the applicant company to the bank of the exporter company.

D. There is a facility called as SWIFT messaging by means of which the banks communicate.

E. For the release of the payment of LC, the foreign bank has to sent certain documents pertaining to the shipment to the Indian Bank, i.e. Indian Overseas Bank (IOB) in this case.

F. These documents certify the genuineness of the transaction and in case there is some discrepancy, the documents are provided to the Indian party.

G. Documents contain Container No., Name of the Shipping Co., Name of the Ship, Name of Port of Dispatch, Description of goods, etc.

H. When the exporter dispatches consignment, he provided the documents to his own bank to be sent to the Indian Bank.

I. The Indian bank examines the documents and if they are in order, LC is released and if there is some discrepancy, they are provied to the Indian party for verification.

Submissions of Counsel for C.B.I.:-

24. Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for CBI has explained as to how the transaction has been done in the present case:-

A. Documents were found discrepant by Indian Overseas Bank.

B. The applicant's party accepted the discrepancy/forged documents and asked the bank to release the payment to the Foreign Bank which in turn would release it to the alleged exporter based at Singapore. This is despite the fact that the documents on the face of it are forged. (page 135 of bail application)

C. The goods were directly shipped to Hong Kong.

D. Ironically, M/s Fareast Distribution based at Singapore and M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd. based in Hong Kong are both controlled by one person named Rajesh Bothra.

E. So, the same person cannot sell the goods at a lower rate and purchase the same goods at a higher rate through the company of the applicant.

F. In the present case, there was no transaction, and no goods were exported or imported. .

G. Therefore, no payment was made from M/s Gulf Distribution Pvt. Ltd. to the applicant as in fact no export or import took place.

H. Since, the bank takes only 85-90% securities against LC, therefore, loss of 15-10% has been caused to the bank because of the false transaction and forgery of the documents.

I. Shiphoning of public money has been done in systematic manner by all the member companies of the Frost Group controlled by the applicant, causing a planned theft of public money.

J. The offences committed by:

(i) M/s Frost International Pvt. Ltd. are being investigated by Delhi Banking Securities and Fraud Branch);

(ii) M/s Frost Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. are being investigated by CBI/ACB, Lucknow; and

(iii) M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd.; M/s Olympic Oil Pvt. Ltd. and M/s Viva Merchant Pvt. Ltd. are being investigated by CBI/SCB, Lucknow.

K. It is the admitted case of the applicant that he was looking after the financial affairs of the company.

L. PMLA case has also been registered against the applicant in which he has been granted regular bail. (order page 95 of bail application).

M. SFIO also registered a case against the applicant for offences committed under Companies Act in which he has been granted regular bail. (order page 117 of bail application).

N. Payment adjustment window is 180 days, that has been exploited by the applicant for making huge amount of loss by making several transactions one after the other.

O. The offence is grave and such offenders have fled the country in the past, as such the applicant is not entitled to bail.

P. The applicant has been charge-sheeted under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 I.P.C. in the present case.

Q. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another, reported in 2022 SCC online 825 has issued some guidelines for granting bail in cases where charge sheet has already been filed and accused was not arrested during investigation. According to these guidelines, the present case falls under category B/D. For the category B/D which involves the offences punishable with imprisonment for life, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has directed that "on appearance of the accused in court pursuant to process issud bail application to be decided on merits".

R. It is well settled that economic offences stand as a different class as they affect the economic fabric of the society and poses a serious threat to the nation's economy and financial integrity, and therefore in economic offences, the accused is not entitled to anticipatory bail, as observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in P. Chidambaram Vs. Directorate of Enforcement reported as (2019) 9 SCC 24.

25. The charge sheet filed by C.B.I. has been annexed by the applicant as Annexure no.7 to the bail application. The relevant portion of the charge sheet regarding Letter of Credit no.148/18 is extracted here-in-below:-

"After establishment of LC, the IOB Mall Road Branch, Kanpur had received documents viz. Bill of Lading; Certificate of Origin; Packing List; Beneficiary Certificate and Pre Shipment Certificate from Bank of India, Singapore. The Branch on receipt of documents had scanned the copies of the said document and transmitted the same to the CFEPC Chennai on 24.11.2017 for import lodgement under LC 148/2017. Since the Bill of Lading and Certificate of Origin were discrepant in terms of the conditions of the LC, the CFEPC Chennai issued an Advise of Refusal (SWIFT 734) dated 27.11.2017 and refused to honour the documents on the grounds that the BL was issued prior to LC and the Certificate of Origin was issued by the Beneficiary iteself instead of Chamber of Commerce. The CFEPC had further observed that they were holding the documents until it receive waiver from the applicant or receives further instructions from the Bank of India, Singapore.

In the meantime, the Branch had supplied a set of documents to the company, received from Bank of India, Singapore. The company vide letter dated 24.11.2017 accepted the documents despite of discrepancies and given an undertaking to make the payment under the said LC by its due date. After accpetance of documents by the Company, the CFEPC had accepted the import under LC No.148/2017 vide SWIFT 754 ON 29.11.2017.

Before the due date of payment, the company vide letter dated 21.05.2018 had requested the Branch to make payment of USD 3232174 to M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistics Pte. Ltd., Singapore by way of creating a Temporary Over Draft (TOD) as there was a short fall in its current account. The company had also given an undertaking that the TOD would be cleared by the next 10 days.

After creating a TOD, a payment of USD 3232174 (equivalent Rs.21.15 Crores) was made to the Bank of India, Singapore for crediting the account of M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistics Pte. Ltd., Singapore as per the terms and conditions of the LC. However, the company as per its undertaking did not adjust the TOD.

Facts emerged during the course of investigation

1. As per IOB circular No. FX/96/2014-15 dated 20.02.2015, an insurance policy should not be later than the date of issuance of Bill of Lading. However in the present case, the Insurance Certificate dated 21.11.2017 was issued after the issuance of Bill of Lading dated 18.11.2017 which is contrary to the guidelines of the Bank.

2. As per the terms and conditions of the Letter of Credit No.148/2017 as mentioned in SWIFT 700 (Issueance of a Documentary Credit) bearing Sequence No.288796 dated 21.11.2017 (Page No.44-48 MR No. 17/20 SL No.15), at Additional conditions No.47-A' transport documents must not be dated prior to the date of this Credit". Further, as per the guidelines as well as procedure laid down by the bank, a Bill of Lading under an LC, is issued after execution of a Contract between the Seller and the Buyer as well as establishment of an LC by the concerned bank. In the instance case, the Bill of Lading dated 18.11.2017 was issued earlier than the Contract No. FEGE2111/17487 dated 21.11.2017. It is pertinent to mention here that as per the Bill of Lading dated 18.11.2017, the freight was "shipped on board" on 13.11.2017 meaning thereby that the goods under the said Contract were dispatched on 13.11.2017 i.e. much before the commencement of the Contract dated 21.11.2017 as well as establishment of LC No.148/2017 dated 21.11.2017. It is therefore apparent that the freight dated 13.11.2017 under Bill of Lading dated 18.11.2017 was not covered under the contract No. FEGE2111/17487 dated 21.11.2017 and LC No.148/2017 dated 21.11.2017.

3. The Bill of Lading No. SZAELM11221394/1F dated 18.11.2017 issued by the Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC, Dubai in favour of M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd., Kanpur is having a reference of Sales Contract No.FAGE2111/17487 (IOB) dated 21.11.2017 and also the documentary credit No.047860117000148 dated 21.11.2017. Thus, the BL issued on 18.11.2017 was having references of such documents i.e. sales contract and documentary credit which were not in existeance as on 18.11.2017. Therefore, the bill of lading dated 18.11.2017 issued by the Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC in favor of M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd., Kanpur is a bogus document.

4. Likewise, a Pre Shipment Certificate dated 13.11.2017 shown to have been issued by M/s Enlight Corporation Ltd., Hong Kong, received by the IOB, Mall Road Branch, Kanpur alngwith the transport documents is having reference of Contract No. FEGE2111/17487 dated 21.11.2017 (not in existence as on 13.11.2017). Therefore, the said document cannot be termed as a genuine document rather the same was bogus document.

5. As per the terms & conditions of the Letter of Credit No.148/2017 as mentioned in SWIFT 700 (Issue of a Documentary Credit) bearing Sequence No.288796 dated 21.11.2017 (Page No.44-48 MR No.17/20 SL No.15), at Additional Conditions No.46-A "Certificate of Origin in duplicate issued by a Chamber of Commerce or Attested by a Chamber of Commerce" was to be forwarded by Bank of India, Singapore to the IOB, Mall Road Branch, Kanpur. In the instant case, a Certificate of Origin dated 21.11.2017 (Page No.27 MR No.17/20 SL No.15) was not issued by a Chamber of Commerce or Attested by a Chamber of Commerce rather the same was issued by the Seller M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd. Singapore itself.

6. As per the Bill of Lading No. SZAELM11221394/1F dated 18.11.2017, the Shipment was shipped on board on 13.11.2017 in a Vessel "Cape Artemisio/004W" at Shekou port, China in a container bearing No. NYKU9819056. The said Bill of Lading was shown to have been issued by M/s Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC on behalf of the carrier "NYK". During the course of investigation, a copy of the said Bill of Lading was sent to M/s NYK Line (India) Pvt. Ltd., Mumbai to confirm whether the said Bill of Lading was issued by it or M/s Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC on behalf of M/s NYK Line (India) Pvt. Ltd. With reference to the letter No.1832 dated 21.09.2020 of the CBI, SCB, Lucknow, M/S NYK Line (India) Pvt. Ltd., Mumbai vide letter dated 06.10.2020 has informed that the Bill of Lading No. SZAELM11221394/1F dated 18.11.2017 covering container NYKU9819056 was not an NYK document. This fact further establish that the bill of lading No.SZAELM11221394/1F dated 18.11.2017 shown to have been issued on behalf of M/s NYK was not a genuine document.

7. As per the documents submitted by the company with the IOB, Mall Road Branch, Kanpur for establishment of a Letter of Credit, the company had to import the goods viz computer accessories from M/s Fareast Distrbution & Logistic Pte Ltd., Singapore and to export the same consignment to M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd., Hong Kong at Dubai.

Investigation in respect of M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd., Singapore has revealsed that the said company was incorporated under the Territory of the British Virgin Islands on 31.08.2012 by Ms. Ooi Ai Ling. The said company has been maintaining an account No.JPY7111000197 with Punjab National Bank, Des Voeux Road, Central, Hong Kong since December, 2012. Since, opening of the said account, the authorized signatory to the said bank account was Shri Rajesh Bothra, General Manager having Passport Number E0614726E. By virtue of being General Mangar having Passport Number E0614726E. By virtue of being General Manager and single Authorized Signatory of the said company Shri Rajesh Bothra was looking after the overall activities of M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd Singapore. As per the bank records, M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd was having a correspondence address at 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commercial Centre, 302, Des Voeux Road, Central Hong Kong.

Investigation in respect of M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong has revealed that the company was maintaining a JPY account no.7111000198 with Punjab National Bank, Des Voeux Road, Central, Hong Kong. The Charirman of the said company as well as Authorized Signatory to the account no.JPY7111000198 of PNB, Hong Kong was Shri Rajesh Bothra. He was holding a Singapore passport No.E0614726E. The said account was opened on 03.05.2011. As per the Bank records, M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong was having a correspondence address at 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commercial Centre, 302, Des Voeux Road, Central Hong Kong.

In view of the facts mentioned above it is established that M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore and M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong are not only the sister concern companies but also owned by the same person namely Shri Rajesh Bothra. Further both the companies were having the same common address i.e. 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commercial Centre, 302, Des Voeux Road, Central Hong Kong. Therefore, the claim of the company that it had purchased/imported the goods from

M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte. Ltd, Singapore and sold/exported the same to M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong was just an adjustment of the entries/funds."

26. The fact which has emerged during the course of investigation and which is part of charge sheet is also important which is quoted below:-

"As per the terms and conditions of the Letter of Credit No.05/2018 as mentioned in SWIFT 700 (Issue of a Documentary Credit) bearing Sequence No.304176 dated 08.01.2018 (Page No.48-53 MR No.17/20 SL No.16), at Additional Conditions No.46-A "Certificate of Origin in duplicate issued by a Chamber of Commerce or Attested by a Chamber of Commerce" was to be forwarded by Canara Bank, Hong Cong to IOB, Mall Road Branch, Kanpur. In the instant case, a Certificate of Origin dated 21.11.2017 (Page No.44 MR No.17/20 SL No.16) was not issued by a Chamber of Commerce or Attested by a Chamber of Commerce rather the same was issued by the Seller M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd., Singapore itself.

A Packing List for export of a consignment is always issued before the shipment of that particular consignment. Whereas, in the instant case, a Packing List was issued on 09.01.2018 (Page No.31 MR No.17/20 SL No.16) i.e. after the issuance of a Bill of Lading dated 08.01.2018.

As per the documents submitted by the company with the IOB, Mall Road Branch, Kanpur for establishment of a Letter of Credit, the company had to import the goods viz computer accessories from M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore and to export the same consignment to M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong at Dubai.

Investigation in respect of M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore has revealed that the said company was incorporated under the Territory of the British Virgin Islands on 31.08.2012 by Ms. Ooi Ai Ling. The said company have been maintaining an account No.JPY7111000197 with the Punjab National Bank, Des Voeus Road, Central, Hong Kong since December, 2012. Since, opening of the said account, the authorized signatory to the said bank account was Shri Rajesh Bothra, General Manager having Passport Number E0614726E. By virtue of General Manager, Shri Rajesh Bothra being single authorize signatory was looking after the overall activities of M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore. As per the Bank records, M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd was having a correspondence address at 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commercial Centre, 302, Des Voeus Road, Central Hong Kong.

Investigation in respect of M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong has revealed that the company was maintaining a JPY account no.71110001998 with Punjab National Bank, Des Voeux Road, Central Hong Kong. The Chairman of the said company as well as authorized signatory to the account no.JPY7111000198 of PNB, Hong Kong was Shri Rajesh Bothra. He was holding a Singapore passport No.E0614726E. The said account was opened on 03.05.2011. As per the Bank records, M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong was having a correspondence address at 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commercial Centre, 302, Des Voeus Road, Central Hong Kong.

It is therefore established that M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore and M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong are sister concerns companies owned by Shri Rajesh Bothra. Further both the companies were having the same common address i.e. 13/F, Block-A, Wah Kit Commerical Centre, 302, Des Voeus Road, Central Hong Kong. Therefore, the claim of the company that it had purchased/imported the goods from M/s Fareast Distribution Logistic Pte Ltd, Singapore and sold/exported to M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd, Hong Kong was just an adjustment of the entries/funds.

In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, it is established that M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd and its directors namely Arvind Srivastava and Saral Verma were the actual benericiary out of the defrauded amount of Rs.10.01 Crores. The company through its directors in criminal conspiracy with each other as well as Sujay Desai in order to cheat the IOB had accepted discrepant/bogus document knowing fully well that the same were bogus and that there was no movement of the goods as reflected in the documents presented before the IOB, Kanpur. Further , the company with malafide intention and with intent to cheat the bank had accepted that discrepant papers received under the alleged LCs despite of the facts that the same were not in accordance with terms of the contracts/LCs which is evident from the Bill of Lading; Certificate of Origin; Packing List; Pre Shipment Certificate etc. More so, the documents like Bill of lading and Pre Shipment Certificate were bearing the references of alleged LCs which were in existence as on the dates of issuance of such Bls/Pre Shipment Certificates.

As regard the role of Sujay Desai is concerned, he was looking after the overall trade and financial activities of the Frost Group of Companies including M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd. He used to contact Sujay Desai, a citizen of Singapore for imports of goods from M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte. Ltd, Singapore and export of the same goods to M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd. under alleged LCs. Sujay Desai in India and Rajesh Bothra in Hong Kong/Singapore used to play pivotal role in the questioned matter. He was also aware that LCs were got realized without any actual import/export business.

M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte. Ltd is based at Hong Kong and was responsible for procuring the alleged documents viz. Bill of lading, Packing List, Certificate of Origin, Invoice, Pre Shipment Certificate etc. under both the alleged Letters of Credit no.148/2017 and 05/2018, which were found to be bogus.

M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd. is based at Hong Kong. The export under the alleged Letters of Credit shown to have been made to this company. As per the investigation, both M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd. (Importer of goods under alleged LCs) and M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pte. Ltd, Hong Kong (Exporter of goods under alleged LCs) were controlled by one and the same person namely Rajesh Bothra.

M/s Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC is based at Dubai. This company alleged to have issued Bills of Lading under the alleged Letters of Credit. As per the investigation, the Bills of Lading purportedly issued by the said company were bogus.

Further investigation is kept open u/s 173(8) Cr.P.C. to ascertain the role of overseas companies M/s Fareast Distribution & Logistic Pvt. Ltd.; M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd.; M/s Landmark Clearing & Forwarding LLC and Shri Rajesh Bothra.

Further investigation is also kept open u/s 173(8) Cr.P.C. to ascertain the role of Bank Officials, IOB, Mall Road, Kanpur and CFEPC Officials of IOB, Chennai who had processed and accepted the discrepant documents under the alleged LCs.

Therefore, M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd.; its directors namely Arvind Srivastava; Saral Verma and Sujay Desai had cheated the Indian Overseas Bank, Mall Road Branch to the tune of Rs.10.01 Crores in respect of both the alleged Letters of Credit. The above mentioned facts prima facie discloses commission of cognizable offences punishable u/s 120 B, 420, 467, 468 & 471 I.P.C. against M/s Globiz Exim Pvt. Ltd, Kanpur; Arvind Srivastava; Saral Verma and Sujay Desai."

27. Heard Sri Anurag Khanna, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Nadeem Murtaza, Sri Raghav Deo Garg and Sri Amar Ghelot, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party-C.B.I.

28. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment of Siddharth (supra), Aman Preet Singh (supra), Satender Kumar Antil (supra).

29. Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation & another decided on 11.07.2022 is landmark judgment which has categorized the type of offences. It is further relevant to mention here that the case of Siddharth (supra) has been considered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil (supra) which is latest judgment decided on 11.07.2022. The relevant portion of the judgment is quoted below:-

"We are inclined to accept the guidelines and make them a part of the order of the Court for the benefit of the Courts below. The guidelines are as under:

Categories/Types of Offences

A) Offences punishable with imprisonment of 7 years or less not falling in category B & D.

B) Offences punishable with death, imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for more than 7 years.

C) Offences punishable under Special Acts containing stringent provisions for bail like NDPS (S.37), PMLA (S.45), UAPA (S.43D(5), Companies Act, 212(6), etc.

D) Economic offences not covered by Special Acts.

REQUISITE CONDITIONS

1) Not arrested during investigation.

2) Cooperated throughout in the investigation including appearing before Investigating Officer whenever called.

(No need to forward such an accused along with the chargesheet (Siddharth v. State of UP, 2021 SCC Online SC615)

CATEGORY A

After filing of chargesheet/complaint taking of cognizance

a) Ordinary summons at the 1st instance/ including permitting appearance through Lawyer.

b) If such an accused does not appear despite service of summons, then Bailable Warrant for physical appearance may be issued.

c) NBW on failure to failure to appear despite issuance of Bailable Warrant.

d) NBW may be cancelled or converted into a Bailable Warrant/Summons without insisting physical appearance of accused, if such an application is moved on behalf of the accused before execution of the NBW on an undertaking of the accused to appear physically on the next date/s of hearing.

e) Bail applications of such accused on appearance may be decided w/o the accused being taken in physical custody or by granting interim bail till the bail application is decided.

CATEGORY B/D

On appearance of the accused in Court pursuant to process issued bail application to be decided on merits.

CATEGORY C

Same as Category B & D with the additional condition of compliance of the provisions of Bail under NDPS S.37, 45 PMLA, 212(6) Companies Act 43 d(5) of UAPA, POSCO etc."

Needless to say that the category A deals with both police cases and complaint cases.

The trial Courts and the High Courts will keep in mind the aforesaid guidelines while considering bail applications. The caveat which has been put by learned ASG is that where the accused have not cooperated in the investigation nor appeared before the Investigating Officers, nor answered summons when the Court feels that judicial custody of the accused is necessary for the completion of the trial, where further investigation including a possible recovery is needed, the aforesaid approach cannot give them benefit, something we agree with.

We may aslo notice an aspect submitted by Mr. Luthra that while issuing notice to consider bail, the trial Court is not precluded from granting interim bail taking into consideration the conduct of the accused during the investigation which has not warranted arrest. On this aspect also we would give our imprimature and naturally the bail application to be ultimately considered, would be guided by the statutory provisions.

The suggestions of learned ASG which we have adopted have categorized a separate set of offences as "economic Offences" not covered by the special Acts. In this behalf, suffice to say on the submission of Mr. Luthra that this Court in Sanjay Chandra v. CBI, (2012) 1 SCC 40 has observed in para 39 that in determining whether to grant bail both aspects have to be taken into account:

a) seriousness of the charge and

b) severity of punishment

Thus, it is not as if economic offences are completely taken out of the aforesaid guidelines but do form different nature of offences and thus the seriousness of the charge has to be taken into account but simultaneously, the severity of the punishment imposed by the statute would also be a factor."

30. The case of economic offences stand on a different footing which affect the economic fabric of the society and poses a serious threat to the nation's economy and financial integrity, which has been upheld by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of P. Chidambaram (supra) is quoted below:-

"78. Power under Section 438 CrPC being an extraordinary remedy, has to be exercised sparingly; more so, in cases of economic offence. Economic offences stand as a different class as they affect the economic fabric of the society . In Directorate of Enforcement v. Ashok Kumar Jain [Directorate of Enforcement v. Ashok Kumar Jain, (1998) 2 SCC105 : 1998 SCC (Cri) 510], it was held that in economic offences, the accused is not entitled to anticipatory bail."

31. Again the matter of economic offence has been decided by Hon'ble

Suprement Court in the case of Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy Vs. CBI reported in (2013) 7 SCC 439. Paragraph nos.34 and 35 of the said judgment is quoted below:-

"34. Economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail. The economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country.

35. While granting bail, the court has to keep in mind the nature of accusations, the nature of accusations, the nature of evidence in support thereof, the severity of the punishment which conviction will entail, the character of the accused, circumstances which are peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with, the larger interests of the public/State and other similar considerations."

32. In the case of Aman Preet (supra) the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that earlier direction in Criminal Appeal No.668 of 2021 was given on 06.05.2021 with observation which is quoted below:-

"A reading of the aforesaid thus makes it clear that custodial interrogation of the appellant was not required during investigation and charge sheet having been filed, there was really no occasion to arrest the appellant. We thus granted liberty to the appellant to appear before the trial Court and apply for regular bail while protecting him during the interregnum period. The present proceedings have arisen out of the requirement of the appellant to seek regular bail in terms aforesaid. Suffice to say that the special Chief Judicial Magistrate (CBI), Bhubaneshwar, vide order dated 22.07.2019 noticed that since the accused persons had been charge sheeted for Economic offences, it was appropriate to issue non-bailable warrants of arrest against the accused, including the appellant before us."

33. It is thus clear that in the said case, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had granted interim protection for the period of eight weeks and directed Aman Preet to apply for regular bail before the trial court.

34. In the judgment of Satender Kumar Antil (supra), the guideline applicable in the present case is category B/D wherein it is provided that on appearance of the accused in the court pursuant to process issued bail application to be decided on merit. The present matter is pertaining to the defrauded huge amount of Rs.10.01 crores and specific allegation is levelled in the charge sheet against the applicant that he was looking after the overall trade and financial activities of the Frost Group of Companies including M/s Globiz Exim Private Limited and used to contact Rajesh Bothra and they were involved for imports of goods from M/s Fareast Distribution based at Singapore and export of the same goods of M/s Gulf Distribution Ltd. under the alleged (LC). M/s Globiz Exim Private Limited and its direcotr, namely, Arvind Srivastava and Saral Verma actually defrauded the amount of Rs.10.01 crores. The company through its directors in criminal conspiracy as well as Sujay Desai, had accepted the bogus document knowing fully well that the same were bogus as reflected in the documents presented before IOB, Kanpur.

35. Looking into the overall facts and circumstances of the above discussion, on the issue of economic offence up to the tune of Rs.10.01 crores, and the role of the applicant who was looking after day to day affairs of the Company, I do not find that it is a fit case for anticipatory bail.

36. Accordingly, the anticipatory bail application is rejected.

37. However, the court below will not be influenced, in any manner, by the observations made by this Court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the opposite parties-C.B.I.

2. This anticipatory bail application has been preferred by the applicant (Ravi Shankar Pandey) apprehending his arrest in R.C. No.2(A)/2020 (R.C. No.0062020A0002/2020), C.C. No.310/2021, C.B.I. vs. Prakash Chandra Vidhyarthi & Ors, under Sections 120-B, 409, 420, 467, 468 & 471 I.P.C. and Section 13 (2) R/W 13 (1) (C) & (D) of P.C. Act, 1988.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the present applicant has been falsely implicated in the aforementioned case as he has not committed any offence as alleged in the prosecution story so narrated in the First Information Report (in short F.I.R.).

4. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the present applicant was not named in the F.I.R. dated 09.01.2020 (Annexure No.1) and he has not committed any offence. The present applicant is serving on the post of Senior Customer Assistant (Level-II), State Bank of India, A.P. Sen Road Branch, Lucknow. The issue is relating to forgery and fraud from the year 2014 to 2017 in respect of Kisan Credit Cards. During investigation it has been found that some fake borrowers have been given benefit of Kisan Credit Card and the documents of those borrowers were found to be forged. The sanctioning authority of the said loan was one Sri K.K. Srivastava, Manager of the Branch whereas the duty attributed to the present applicant was to feed the data.

5. The attention has been drawn towards the appraisal/ assessment of such loan which has been annexed with the supplementary affidavit wherein the signatures of the Manager Sri K.K. Srivastava as well as the present applicant have been shown.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that during investigation the present applicant has co-operated with the Investigating Authority and has followed the process of law. He always appeared before the Investigating Officer as and when he was called and submitted his explanation in respect of his bonafide. He has submitted that the applicant was not the sanctioning authority and he was not having any ulterior motive inasmuch as nothing incriminating has been recovered from possession of the present applicant.

7. The charge-sheet has been filed against the present applicant as well as the then Manager Sri K.K. Srivastava. Besides, as per learned counsel for the applicant, the investigation is going on against Sri Anshul Mehdi Ratta and Sri Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava the then Managers of the State Bank of India and some unknown persons.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the present applicant is an employee within the category of Level-II. The C.B.I. has never issued any coercive steps against him since lodging of the F.I.R. on 09.01.2020 for the reason that he has co-operated in the investigation. Now, the charge-sheet has been filed.

9. Since he is an employee of State Bank of India, therefore, there is no likelihood of his absconding and he shall further co-operate with the proceedings. He has further submitted that any reasonable condition may be imposed against him but his liberty may be protected till conclusion of the proceedings.

10. Per contra, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I. has submitted that this is the case wherein the fraud and forgery has been committed by some fake persons with the collusion of some Bank Officers/ Officials. The investigation against the present applicant and the then Manager Sri K.K. Srivastava (since retired) has been completed and charge-sheet has been filed but against some other officers of the Bank it is still going on.

11. Sri Singh has however submitted that the present applicant has co-operated with the investigation, therefore, he has not been arrested till filing of the charge-sheet but he is duty bound to appear before the learned trial court to face the trial proceedings.

12. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the material available on the record, I am of the considered opinion that if any employee of the Government/ Corporation/ Instrumentality of the Government/ any Bank etc. co-operates with the investigation and does not flout the directions of the Investigating Agency and with his/her/ their co-operation the investigation is completed and the charge-sheet is filed, his/ her/ their arrest may not be warranted only for the reason that the charge-sheet has been filed unless the learned trial court is having any cogent reason to take him/ her/ them into custody.

13. In the judgment of Apex Court rendered in re: Joginder Kumar vs. State of Utter Pradesh reported in (1994) 4 SCC 260 wherein it has been observed that arrest is not mandatory if an accused person co-operates with the investigation as well as in the trial proceedings unless there is any specific or cogent reason to arrest him. The issuance of direction regarding arrest is the prerogative of the learned trial court concerned but such discretion should not be unreasoned inasmuch as the liberty of any person, which is guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, may not be compromised in a cursory manner. Therefore, before issuing such order to arrest such person the settled proposition of law and the parameters so fixed by the Apex Court should be considered.

14. The Apex Court in re: Siddharth vs. State of U.P. and another reported in (2021) 1 SCC 676 has observed as under:

"We are in agreement with the aforesaid view of the High Courts and would like to give out imprimatur to the said judicial view. It has rightly been observed on consideration of Section 170 of the Cr.P.C. that it does not impose an obligation on the Officer-in-charge to arrest each and every accused at the time of filing of the charge-sheet. We have, in fact, some across cases where the accued has co-operated with the investigation throughout and yet on the charge-sheet being filed non-bailable warrants have been issued for his production premised on the requirement that there is an obligation to arrest the accused and produce him before the court. We are of the view that if the Investigating Officer does not believe that the accused will abscond or disobey summons he/ she is not required to be produced in custody. The word "custody" appearing in Section 170 of the Cr.P.C. does not contemplate either police or judicial custody but it merely connotes the presentation of the accused by the Investigating Officer before the court while filing the charge-sheet."

(emphasis supplied)

15. The Apex Court in re: Aman Preet Singh vs. C.B.I. through Director,

Criminal Appeal No.929 of 2021 has observed as under:

"Insofar as the present case is concerned and the general principels under Section 170 Cr.P.C., the most apposite observations are in sub-para (v) of the High Court judgment in the context of an accused in a non-bailable offence whose custody was not required during the period of investigation. In such a scenario, it is appropriate that the accused is released on bail as the circumstances of his having not been arrested during investigation or not being produced in custody is itself sufficient to entitled him to be released on bail. The rationale has been succinctly set out that if a person has been enlarged and free for many years and has bot even been arrested during investigation, to suddenly direct his arrest and to be incarcerated merely because charge-sheet has been filed would be contrary to the governing principles for grant of bail. We could not agree more with this."

(emphasis supplied)

16. In the present case, what has been demonstrated in the material available on record that initially in the F.I.R. the present applicant was not named as no allegation was levelled against him. He is a Bank employee of Clerical Job (which comes within the category of Levell-II) who has co-operated with the investigation properly and thereafter the charge-sheet has been filed.

17. As per learned counsel for the applicant, the present applicant is giving undertaking that he shall appear before the learned court below/ trial court and shall face the trial proceedings. He shall not seek any unnecessary adjournments and shall not adopt any delayed tactics.

18. It is made clear that at any time if the learned trial court finds it necessary for any cogent and obvious reason that custody of the present applicant would be warranted in the interest of justice, he can pass such order but that order should not be passed in a mechanical exercise and the directions so given by the Apex Court in re: Joginder Kumar (supra), Siddharth (supra) and Aman Preet Singh (supra) shall be abide by being the law of the land.

19. Since this case has been investigated by the C.B.I. and a regular presence of the applicant would be required by the learned trial court, therefore, I find it appropriate in the interest of justice that if the present applicant is having any pass-port, the same shall be surrendered by him before the learned trial court and such pass-port shall be kept by the learned trial court till conclusion of the trial and may be handed over to the present applicant earlier only after any order having been passed by the learned trial court or by the Superior Court.

20. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances and also in view of the dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court rendered in re: Sushila Aggarwal Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)-2020 SCC online SC 98, I find it appropriate that liberty of the present applicant may be protected till conclusion of trial proceedings subject to the following conditions.

21. Therefore, without entering into merits of the issue, it is directed that in the event of arrest, applicant, Ravi Shankar Pandey, shall be released on anticipatory bail in the aforesaid case crime number, till conclusion of trial proceedings on his furnishing a personal bond of Rs.50,000/- with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the arresting authority/ court concerned with the following conditions:-

1. that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation made by a police officer as and when required;

2. that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade his from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

3. that the applicant shall not leave India without prior permission of the court;

4. that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

5. that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

6. that in case of breach of any of the above conditions the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail;

7. that in case the charge-sheet is submitted the applicant shall not tamper with evidence during trial;

8. that in default of any of the conditions mentioned above, the investigating officer shall be at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant.

22. In view of the aforesaid terms, the instant anticipatory bail application is allowed

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Sufia Saba, Mr. Rajiv Lochan Shukla and Mr. Mrityunjay Dwivedi, Advocates, the learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. D.K. Srivastava, Advocate, the learned A.G.A. for the State, Mr. Ashok Kumar Lal and Mr. Kundan Rai, Advocates, the learned counsel for the informant.

2. The presentapplication has been filed by the applicant seeking his release on bail in Case Crime No. 146 of 2019 under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471, 477 A, 204, 120 B of I.P.C. and Sections 66 C and 66 D of the Information Technology Act, Police Station Jawan, District Aligarh.

3. The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of a first information report dated 07.05.2019 lodged by a Junior Branch Manager of Zila Sahkari Bank Private Limited Aligarh against eight named accused persons, including the applicant, alleging that a three member committee had made an enquiry and submitted a report dated 15.07.2019, as per which the accused persons had made an embezzlement of an amount of Rs. 11,83,35,436.27/-.

4. It has been stated in the affidavit filed in support of the bail application that the applicant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated in the present case; that the applicant had been transferred from the concerned branch in September 2015 and the FIR has been lodged on 07.05.2019 after an inordinate delay whereas the bank's accounts are audited every year; that the FIR does not make any mention of the dates during which the alleged fraudulent transactions took place; that it has wrongly been mentioned in the enquiry report as also in the FIR that the amount of Rs. 11,83,35,000/- has been embezzled; that a committee constituted by the bank has re-examined the matter and had issued a report dated 24.02.2020 stating that the balance as on 30.08.2014 was Rs. 4.15 Crores only.

5. It has further been stated in the affidavit that during pendency of the criminal case, the bank has recovered a sum of Rs.2,18,00,000/- till 31.03.2019 from the members who had taken loans from the bank and, therefore, it cannot be said that the entire amount of loan was embezzled. The affidavit further states that the bank does not give any loan to the farmers directly. It has also been stated in the affidavit that the services of the applicant have already been terminated by means of a resolution dated 15-06-2020 passed by the Board of Directors of the Bank.

6. The affidavit further asserts that the applicant has not done any embezzlement or tampering of documents; that the applicant belongs to a respectable family; that he has clean antecedents and he was not arrested by the police, rather he had surrendered in the Court on 22.06.2021 and since then he is languishing in jail and a charge sheet has been submitted on 13.07.2021. The affidavit contains an undertaking that if the applicant is enlarged on bail, he will not abscond and he will not tamper with the evidence.

7. The informant-bank has filed a counter affidavit stating that the applicant was posted as the Branch Manager in Kasimpur Branch during the period 26-07-2006 to 07-09-2012 and 28-09-2012 to 06-09-2015, along with two cashiers Sanjay Kumar Maurya and Brijesh Awasthi, who have also been made accused in the present case. During this period, loans of Rs.9,52,04,742/- were disbursed to fake persons. On 28.06.2018, a complaint was made to the Secretary / Chief Executive Officer of District Cooperative Bank, Aligarh that the applicant had caused a loss of Rupees 03 Crores to the bank by making forgeries in collusion with some employees of the bank and Cooperative Societies. Upon the aforesaid complaint, the Secretary / Chief Executive Officer of the bank had constituted a three member enquiry committee and on 27.02.2019, the three member committee submitted a report alleging embezzlement of an amount of Rs. 11,83,35,436.2 and that many of the farmers were not found to be residents of the villages mentioned in their respective applications and it appeared that the loans had been granted to fictitious persons.

8. Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, the learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the applicant was transferred from the branch in question on 06.5.2015 and loans amounting to Rs. 4.57 Crores were disbursed during the period 2015 to 2019 and during the same period, an amount of Rs. 6.75 Crores was recovered by the bank, and the maximum share of the recovery amount belonged to old outstanding loans of Rs. 4.15 Crores. He has further submitted that the applicant has already been dismissed from service through a resolution passed by the Board of Directors in its meeting held on 15.06.2020. He has submitted that the bank does not grant any loan to any farmer directory. The loan accounts are maintained by primary Co-operative Societies and the particulars of the Societies are certified by the Secretary / Chief Executive Officer Society before the bank. In the present case also, the loan amounts had been disbursed to the individual farmers from the accounts of the societies, recovery of the loan amounts is also made through the primary Co-operative Societies and, therefore, the applicant, as the manager of the bank branch was not directly responsible either for disbursal or for recovery of the loans and the applicant cannot be held responsible for any irregularity committed by any of the Societies in disbursal / recovery of the loan amounts.

9. The learned counsel for the applicant has next submitted that the Branch Manager, who had taken over charge after transfer of the applicant, did not find any irregularity during the period 2015 to 2019, although the bank's accounts were audited each year during this period.

10. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that a co-accused Rajendra Prasad Sharma (former CEO / primary Cooperative Societies) had been granted anticipatory bail by means of an order dated 19.12.2020 passed by this Court in Anticipatory Bail Application No. 8992 of 2020. He has submitted that none of the other co-accused persons have been arrested in the present case. The applicant had surrendered on 22.06.2021 and he is languishing in jail for the last about 15 months.

11. Shri Shukla has submitted that the offences alleged against the applicant are all triable by a Magistrate of First Class. Although, offence under Section 409 IPC carries a maximum punishment of imprisonment for life or imprisonment for ten years, as per Section 29 of Cr.P.C., a Magistrate of the First Class can impose a maximum punishment of three years imprisonment. Even a Chief Judicial Magistrate, to whom the matter can be referred by a Magistrate of the First Class under Section 325 Cr.P.C., cannot award a punishment exceeding imprisonment for seven years. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that in view of the aforesaid legal position and also keeping into consideration the facts that the applicant has already been dismissed from service and that he is languishing in jail for the past 15 months, the applicant is entitled to be released on bail.

12. Per Contra, Sri. Kundan Rai, the learned Counsel for the informant Bank has relied upon a decision of the Bombay high Court in the case of Harshad Purushottam Mehta vs. The State of Maharashtra, 2020 (2) AIR Bombay R Criminal 785, wherein the Bombay High Court has held that "the Magistrate is empowered to commit the case to the court of Sessions if he is of the opinion that the case "ought to be tried by it."

13. Replying to the aforesaid submission made by the learned counsel for the informant bank, Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla has submitted that the law regarding power of referral contained in Section 325 Cr.P.C. has been discussed by the Gujarat High Court in Narendra Amratlal Dalal v. State of Gujarat, 1977 SCC OnLine Guj 61 = 1978 Cri LJ 1193, and the relevant portion of the aforesaid judgment is being reproduced below: -

"6.The first question which arises for consideration is, is it open to a Judicial. Magistrate or a Metropolitan Magistrate, in a case where he feels that the accused ought to receive a punishment different in kind from, or more severe than, that which he is empowered to inflict, to commit the case straightway to the Court of Session under Sec. 323 instead of exercising his powers in that connection under S. 325? A bare reading of the two sections will show that Section 323 is general in nature, whereas Section 325 provides for specific category of cases. In case of a Magistrate, therefore, where he feels that the accused ought to receive a punishment different in kind or more severe than that which he can impose, his only course is to resort to Sec. 325. That being a specific provision must govern the case. This is a well-known rule of interpretation. But then, it may well be said, though it has not been argued before this Court, that the Magistrate may feel that the given case before him deserves punishment exceeding seven years, which the Chief Judicial Magistrate or, for the matter of that, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, cannot award. Therefore, in such a case, it may be said that the Magistrate or the Metropolitan Magistrate can exercise his powers to commit the case to the Court of Session under Sec. 323 of the Code. Of course, it must be re-emphasised that, in the present case, that contingency never arose, and still, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Session, without applying his mind to the provisions of Sec. 325 of the new Code. But this possible contention must also be dealt with by a process of interpretation, so that, there may not be any uncertainty left as to the scope of the powers of a Magistrate or a Metropolitan Magistrate who wants to act on the ground that the accused before him ought to receive a punishment different in kind from, or more severe than the one which he is competent to inflict. It is, at this stage, that we can refer to Section 29 of the Code, according to which a Magistrate of First Class or a Metropolitan Magistrate can award sentence, not exceeding three years, or fine not exceeding Rupees 5,000/-, or both. The approach that the Magistrate or Metropolitan Magistrate should adopt in such cases is, whether the accused before him ought to receive punishment of more than three years, or a fine of more than rupees five thousand. He is not required to consider whether the punishment called for in the case before him is seven years or more than seven years and, on that consideration, to send the case to the Chief Judicial Magistrate or Chief Metropolitan Magistrate in one case and to the Sessions Court in other. There is no indication of legislative intent giving such free play in the exercise of power to a Magistrate or Metropolitan Magistrate in a case which deserves sentence higher than the one he could inflict. In fact, Sub-sec. (1) of Sec. 325 itself gives an indication that the relevent factor for consideration is, whether the punishment which ought to be received by the accused in the case before him should be more severethan the punishment which he is competent to inflict. Therefore, this is the only criterion which he has to follow, without worrying himself on the question whether the punishment larger than that within the competence of the Chief Judicial Magistrate or Chief Metropolitan Magistrate is required to be inflicted. If this is the correct criterion which the Magistrate or Metropolitan Magistrate should consider in such a situation, it is obvious that he cannot commit the case to the Court of Session directly. He must hear the evidence for the prosecution and the accused, form an opinion that the accused is guilty, and then, also form an opinion that the accused should receive a punishment, different in kind, or more severe than that which he is competent to inflict Having formed and recorded those two opinions, he has to submit the proceedings to the Chief Judicial Magistrate or to the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be. to whom he is subordinate. Therefore, on a correct interpretation of the relevant provisions, no Magistrate can straightway commit a case to the Court of Session, under Sec. 323, on the ground that the punishment that the accused should receive ought to be different in kind and more severe than that which he is competent to inflict he has got to follow the procedure under Sec. 325 of the Code and there is no other alternative left for him in such a case. It follows as a necessary consequence that, after following the procedure under Sec. 325, if he comes to the opinion contemplated by sub-sec. (1) thereof, he has to submit the proceedings to the Chief Judicial Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be."

14. An offence may carry a maximum punishment beyond the powers of a Magistrate, yet the Magistrate has to proceed with the trial, record evidence, form an opinion that the accused is guilty and thereafter form an opinion that the accused should be given a punishment higher than that which he is empowered to inflict and it is only thereafter that he can submit the proceedings to the Chief Judicial Magistrate and the Magistrate cannot commit the proceedings directly to the Court of Sessions. Therefore, even though the offences under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 477 A I.P.C. may carry a punishment higher than the maximum punishment which a Magistrate is empowered to inflict, the offences would still remain triable by a Magistrate.

15. Hon'ble Supreme court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil versus Central Bureau of Investigation, 2022 Scc OnLine SC 825, reiterated that "the jurisdictional Magistrate who otherwise has the jurisdiction to try a criminal case which provides for a maximum punishment of either life or death sentence, has got ample jurisdiction to consider the release on bail."

16. Since the offences involved in the present case are all triable by a Magistrate, the Magistrate has power to grant bail to the accused in the present case.

17. Sri. Ashok Kumar Lal, the learned counsel for the informant has submitted that the present case involves allegations of grave economic offences and bail ought not to be granted in economic offences. He has relied upon the decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Case of Y. S. Jag Mohan Reddy vs. C.B.I., 2013 (7) SCC 439, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as follows: -

"34. Economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail. The economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country.

35. While granting bail, the court has to keep in mind the nature of accusations, the nature of evidence in support thereof, the severity of the punishment which conviction will entail, the character of the accused, circumstances which are peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with, the larger interests of the public/State and other similar considerations."

18. In Satender Kumar Antil v. CBI, (2021) 10 SCC 773, the Hon'ble Supreme Court was pleased to lay down the following guidelines for considering the bail applications: -

"3..... The guidelines are as under:

Categories/Types of Offences

A) Offences punishable with imprisonment of 7 years or less not falling in category B & D.

B) Offences punishable with death, imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for more than 7 years.

C) Offences punishable under Special Acts containing stringent provisions for bail like NDPS (S.37), PMLA (S.45), UAPA (S.43D(5), Companies Act, 212(6), etc.

D) Economic offences not covered by Special Acts.

REQUISITE CONDITIONS

1) Not arrested during investigation.

2) Cooperated throughout in the investigation including appearing before Investigating Officer whenever called.

(No need to forward such an accused along with the chargesheet (Siddharthv.State of UP,2021 SCC OnLine SC 615)

CATEGORY A

After filing of chargesheet/complaint taking of cognizance

a) Ordinary summons at the 1stinstance/including permitting appearance through Lawyer.

b) If such an accused does not appear despite service of summons, then Bailable Warrant for physical appearance may be issued.

c) NBW on failure to failure to appear despite issuance of Bailable Warrant.

d) NBW may be cancelled or converted into a Bailable Warrant/Summons without insisting physical appearance of accused, if such an application is moved on behalf of the accused before execution of the NBW on an undertaking of the accused to appear physically on the next date/s of hearing.

e) Bail applications of such accused on appearance may be decided w/o the accused being taken in physical custody or by granting interim bail till the bail application is decided.

CATEGORY B/D

On appearance of the accused in Court pursuant to process issued bail application to be decided on merits.

CATEGORY C

Same as Category B & D with the additional condition of compli ance of the provisions of Bail under NDPS S.37, 45 PMLA, 212(6) Companies Act 43 d(5) of UAPA, POSCO etc."

Needless to say that the category A deals with both police cases and complaint cases.

The trial Courts and the High Courts will keep in mind the aforesaid guidelines while considering bail applications. The caveat which has been put by learned ASG is that where the accused have not co operated in the investigation nor appeared before the Investigating Officers, nor answered summons when the Court feels that judicial custody of the accused is necessary for the completion of the trial, where further investigation including a possible recovery is needed, the aforesaid approach cannot give them benefit, something we agree with."

19. Thus the economic offences do not form a class apart even in a case involving economic offences, the application for grant of bail has to be decided on its merits, in accordance with the settled principles. It has further been clarified in a subsequent order passed in the aforesaid case, which has been reported in 2022 Scc OnLine SC 825, The relevant part of the aforesaid judgment is being reproduced below: -

"66.What is left for us now to discuss are the economic offences. The question for consideration is whether it should be treated as a class of its own or otherwise. This issue has already been dealt with by this Court in the case ofP. Chidambaramv.Directorate of Enforcement,(2020) 13 SCC 791, after taking note of the earlier decisions governing the field. The gravity of the offence, the object of the Special Act, and the attending circumstances are a few of the factors to be taken note of, along with the period of sentence. After all, an economic offence cannot be classified as such, as it may involve various activities and may differ from one case to another. Therefore, it is not advisable on the part of the court to categorise all the offences into one group and deny bail on that basis. Suffice it to state that law, as laid down in the following judgments, will govern the field:--

Precedents

P. Chidambaramv.Directorate of Enforcement,(2020) 13 SCC 791:

23. Thus, from cumulative perusal of the judgments cited on either side including the one rendered by the Constitution Bench of this Court, it could be deduced that the basic jurisprudence relating to bail remains the same inasmuch as the grant of bail is the rule and refusal is the exception so as to ensure that the accused has the opportunity of securing fair trial. *However, while considering the same the gravity of the offence is an aspect which is required to be kept in view by the Court. The gravity for the said purpose will have to be gathered from the facts and circumstances arising in each case. Keeping in view the consequences that would befall on the society in cases of financial irregularities, it has been held that even economic offences would fall under the category of "grave offence" and in such circumstance while considering the application for bail in such matters, the Court will have to deal with the same, being sensitive to the nature of allegation made against the accused. One of the circumstances to consider the gravity of the offence is also the term of sentence that is prescribed for the offence the accused is alleged to have committed. Such consideration with regard to the gravity of offence is a factor which is in addition to the triple test or the tripod test that would be normally applied. I*n that regard what is also to be kept in perspective is that even if the allegation is one of grave economic offence, it is not a rule that bail should be denied in every case since there is no such bar created in the relevant enactment passed by the legislature nor does the bail jurisprudence provide so. Therefore, the underlining conclusion is that irrespective of the nature and gravity of charge, the precedent of another case alone will not be the basis for either grant or refusal of bail though it may have a bearing on principle. But ultimately the consideration will have to be on case-to-case basis on the facts involved therein and securing the presence of the accused to stand trial.

Sanjay Chandrav.CBI,(2012) 1 SCC 40:

"39. Coming back to the facts of the present case, both the courts have refused the request for grant of bail on two grounds : the primary ground is that the offence alleged against the accused persons is very serious involving deep-rooted planning in which, huge financial loss is caused to the State exchequer; the secondary ground is that of the possibility of the accused persons tampering with the witnesses. In the present case, the charge is that of cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property and forgery for the purpose of cheating using as genuine a forged document. The punishment for the offence is imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years. It is, no doubt, true that the nature of the charge may be relevant, but at the same time, the punishment to which the party may be liable, if convicted, also bears upon the issue. Therefore, in determining whether to grant bail, both the seriousness of the charge and the severity of the punishment should be taken into consideration.

40. The grant or refusal to grant bail lies within the discretion of the court. The grant or denial is regulated, to a large extent, by the facts and circumstances of each particular case. But at the same time, right to bail is not to be denied merely because of the sentiments of the community against the accused. The primary purposes of bail in a criminal case are to relieve the accused of imprisonment, to relieve the State of the burden of keeping him, pending the trial, and at the same time, to keep the accused constructively in the custody of the court, whether before or after conviction, to assure that he will submit to the jurisdiction of the court and be in attendance thereon whenever his presence is required.

46. We are conscious of the fact that the accused are charged with economic offences of huge magnitude. We are also conscious of the fact that the offences alleged, if proved, may jeopardise the economy of the country. At the same time, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the investigating agency has already completed investigation and the charge-sheet is already filed before the Special Judge, CBI, New Delhi. Therefore, their presence in the custody may not be necessary for further investigation*. We are of the view that the appellants are entitled to the grant of bail pending trial on stringent conditions in order to ally the apprehension expressed by CBI."*

20. The learned Counsel for the Bank has relied upon the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State Bank of India versus Bela Bagchi, (2005) 7 SCC 435, wherein it was held that "A bank officer is required to exercise higher standards of honesty and integrity. He deals with money of the depositors and the customers. Every officer/employee of the bank is required to take all possible steps to protect the interests of the bank and to discharge his duties with utmost integrity, honesty, devotion and diligence and to do nothing which is unbecoming of a bank officer. Good conduct and discipline are inseparable from the functioning of every officer/employee of the bank."

21. He has also relied upon Union Bank of India v. Vishwa Mohan, (1998) 4 SCC 310, wherein the Supreme Court observed that "in the banking business absolute devotion, diligence, integrity and honesty needs to be preserved by every bank employee and in particular the bank officer. If this is not observed, the confidence of the public/depositors would be impaired."

22. Both the aforesaid cases related to disciplinary action taken against the bank employees and the question of grant or refusal of bail was not adjudicated in the aforesaid cases. Therefore, these cases are not relevant for deciding the prayer for grant of bail to the applicant in the present case.

23. Sri. Lal has submitted that Criminal Miscellaneous Bail Application No. 12842 of 2022 filed by a co-accused Sanjay Kumar Maurya has been rejected by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court by means of an order dated 26-08-2022. The bail rejection order dated 26-08-2022 reads thus: -

"After hearing the rival contentions, considering the material on record, this Court does not finds that applicant is involved in economic offence and has conducted himself in a manner which is unbecoming of a bank employee who holds public money in trust. No ground for enlarging the applicant on bail at this stage is made out."

24. It is settled law that there cannot be any parity in rejecting an application for grant of bail. Moreover, from a bare reading of the aforesaid order, I do not find that the Court has recorded any reason for rejection of bail which can be applied in the present case also for rejecting the bail application.

25. In Sanjay Chandra v. CBI, (2012) 1 SCC 40, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that:

"21. In bail applications, generally, it has been laid down from the earliest times that the object of bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial by reasonable amount of bail. The object of bail is neither punitive nor preventative. Deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment, unless it is required to ensure that an accused person will stand his trial when called upon. The courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty.

22. From the earliest times, it was appreciated that detention in custody pending completion of trial could be a cause of great hardship. From time to time, necessity demands that some unconvicted persons should be held in custody pending trial to secure their attendance at the trial but in such cases, "necessity" is the operative test. In this country, it would be quite contrary to the concept of personal liberty enshrined in the Constitution that any person should be punished in respect of any matter, upon which, he has not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he should be deprived of his liberty upon only the belief that he will tamper with the witnesses if left at liberty, save in the most extraordinary circumstances.

23. Apart from the question of prevention being the object of refusal of bail, one must not lose sight of the fact that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refuse bail as a mark of disapproval of former conduct whether the accused has been convicted for it or not or to refuse bail to an unconvicted person for the purpose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson."

26. In Emperor v. H. L. Hutchinson AIR 1931 All 356, this Court had held that an accused person who enjoys freedom is in a much better position to look after his case and to properly defend himself than if he were in custody. As a presumably innocent person he is therefore entitled to freedom and every opportunity to look after his own case. A presumably innocent person must have his freedom to enable him to establish his innocence.

27. Analysing the facts of the present case in light of the legal position discussed above, I find that the following facts are relevant for considering the applicant's prayer for grant of bail: -

(i) The applicant has no criminal history;

(ii) The applicant was not arrested by the Police, rather he had surrendered in the Court on 22.06.2021

(iii) The applicant has already undergone more than 15 months' incarceration;

(iv) The offences alleged in the present case are all triable by a Magistrate;

(v) A charge sheet has already been submitted on 13.07.2021;

(vi) The applicant's services have already been terminated through a resolution dated 15-06-2020 and he is not in a position to tamper with the evidence.

(vii) The affidavit filed in support of the bail application contains an undertaking that if the applicant is enlarged on bail, he will not abscond and he will not tamper with the evidence.

(viii) No material has been placed by the informant Bank to doubt the aforesaid undertaking given in the affidavit and to show that there is any circumstance necessitating continuance of the applicant's incarceration without his guilt being established in trial and without his conviction.

28. Keeping in view the aforesaid facts, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail pending conclusion of the trial. The bail application is accordingly allowed.

29. Let the applicant - Anil Kumar Nanda, be released on bail in Case Crime No. 146 of 2019 under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471, 477 A, 204, 120 B of I.P.C. and Sections 66 C and 66 D of the Information Technology Act, 2000, Police Station Jawan, District Aligarh, on his furnishing a personal bond and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the dates fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

30. In case of breach of any of the above condition, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application before this Court seeking cancellation of bail.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vidya Kant Shukla, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Rajiv Ojha, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company.

2. This appeal, at the behest of the claimants, challenges the judgment and award dated 23.11.1998 passed by IInd-Additional District Judge (Motor Accident Claims Tribunal) Azamgarh, (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') in M.A.C. No. 87 of 1990.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 07.05.1990 at 2:00 p.m in front of house of Madhuban Murari Kahar, Police Station Kandharpur, District

Azamgarh, driver of jeep bearing no. U.H.W.-5319 driving his jeep negligent and rashly hits Prabhuram's tempo and as a result of which Prabhuram sustained grievous injuries and succumbed to his injuries on the spot.

4. The deceased was 25 years of age at the time of accident. He was driving tempo and earning Rs. 1000/- p.m and maintaining agriculture field. He was survived by his mother, widow and three sons and two daughters. The Tribunal has considered his income to be Rs. 15,000/- p.a, deducted 1/3rd towards personal expenses of the deceased, granted multiplier of 17, granted Rs.5,000/- towards consortium, granted Rs.2,000/- towards funeral expenses and ultimately assessed the total compensation to be Rs. 92,000/-.

5. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the witnesses have deposed that driver of the jeep was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently. The charge-sheet was laid against the driver of the jeep and not against the deceased. The ocular version is in favour of deceased. It is further submitted that therefore issue of negligence has been wrongly decided just because of vehicles had collided on the highway but on tempo side which can be said to be a non metal road. It is further submitted that income of Rs. 15,000/- p.a is on the lower side. No amount of future loss of income is granted. Multiplier of 18 should have been granted instead of 17 and Rs. 7,000/- was the only amount is granted for loss of consortium and towards funeral expenses. The Tribunal has not granted any amount under the head of interest. The undisputed facts are that accident occurred on 07.05.1990. The deceased was the driver and owner of the tempo, he was driving the vehicle and was maintaining agricultural field. He was young person of 25 years who had left behind him three sons and two daughters, a mother and a widow and therefore, the deductions should have been 1/5th as per the judgements of Sarla Verma and Sushma Thomas and was applicable to facts of those days and multiplier should have been given 18 and not 17.

6. As against this, Shri Rajiv Ojha, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company contends that as far as issue of negligence is concerned it was the tempo vis-a-vis jeep and the deceased was driving tempo which is bigger vehicle then the jeep. It is further submitted that the finding of fact as far as negligence is concerned should not be disturbed. It is further submitted that the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal is just and proper and does not call for any interference by this Court.

7. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties, as far as negligence is concerned I have perused the judgement, the fact that deceased was not having permanent license and his vehicle was overloaded is a factor which goes against the applicant. I am in agreement with Shri Rajiv Ojha, learned counsel for respondent-Insurance Company that the finding as far as negligence is concerned not to be interfered and the same not interfered.

8. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

9. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

10. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under: :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

11. The Apex Court in Khenyei Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited & Others, 2015 LawSuit (SC) 469 has held as under:

"4. It is a case of composite negligence where injuries have been caused to the claimants by combined wrongful act of joint tort feasors. In a case of accident caused by negligence of joint tort feasors, all the persons who aid or counsel or direct or join in committal of a wrongful act, are liable. In such case, the liability is always joint and several. The extent of negligence of joint tort feasors in such a case is immaterial for satisfaction of the claim of the plaintiff/claimant and need not be determined by the by the court. However, in case all the joint tort feasors are before the court, it may determine the extent of their liability for the purpose of adjusting inter-se equities between them at appropriate stage. The liability of each and every joint tort feasor vis a vis to plaintiff/claimant cannot be bifurcated as it is joint and several liability. In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between tort feasors for making payment to the plaintiff is not permissible as the plaintiff/claimant has the right to recover the entire amount from the easiest targets/solvent defendant.

14. There is a difference between contributory and composite negligence. In the case of contributory negligence, a person who has himself contributed to the extent cannot claim compensation for the injuries sustained by him in the accident to the extent of his own negligence;whereas in the case of composite negligence, a person who has suffered has not contributed to the accident but the outcome of combination of negligence of two or more other persons. This Court in T.O. Anthony v. Karvarnan & Ors. [2008 (3) SCC 748] has held that in case of contributory negligence, injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong doer separately. It is only in the case of contributory negligence that the injured himself has contributed by his negligence in the accident. Extent of his negligence is required to be determined as damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries have to be reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence. The relevant portion is extracted hereunder :

"6. 'Composite negligence' refers to the negligence on the part of two or more persons. Where a person is injured as a result of negligence on the part of two or more wrong doers, it is said that the person was injured on account of the composite negligence of those wrong-doers. In such a case, each wrong doer, is jointly and severally liable to the injured for payment of the entire damages and the injured person has the choice of proceeding against all or any of them. In such a case, the injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong-doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong-doer separately. On the other hand where a person suffers injury, partly due to the negligence on the part of another person or persons, and partly as a result of his own negligence, then the negligence of the part of the injured which contributed to the accident is referred to as his contributory negligence. Where the injured is guilty of some negligence, his claim for damages is not defeated merely by reason of the negligence on his part but the damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries stands reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence.

7. Therefore, when two vehicles are involved in an accident, and one of the drivers claims compensation from the other driver alleging negligence, and the other driver denies negligence or claims that the injured claimant himself was negligent, then it becomes necessary to consider whether the injured claimant was negligent and if so, whether he was solely or partly responsible for the accident and the extent of his responsibility, that is his contributory negligence. Therefore where the injured is himself partly liable, the principle of 'composite negligence' will not apply nor can there be an automatic inference that the negligence was 50:50 as has been assumed in this case. The Tribunal ought to have examined the extent of contributory negligence of the appellant and thereby avoided confusion between composite negligence and contributory negligence. The High Court has failed to correct the said error."

18. This Court in Challa Bharathamma &Nanjappan (supra) has dealt with the breach of policy conditions by the owner when the insurer was asked to pay the compensation fixed by the tribunal and the right to recover the same was given to the insurer in the executing court concerned if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject-matter of determination for the tribunal and the issue has been decided in favour of the insured. The same analogy can be applied to the instant cases as the liability of the joint tort feasor is joint and several. In the instant case, there is determination of inter se liability of composite negligence to the extent of negligence of 2/3rd and 1/3rd of respective drivers. Thus, the vehicle - trailor-truck which was not insured with the insurer, was negligent to the extent of 2/3rd. It would be open to the insurer being insurer of the bus after making payment to claimant to recover from the owner of the trailor-truck the amount to the aforesaid extent in the execution proceedings. Had there been no determination of the inter se liability for want of evidence or other joint tort feasor had not been impleaded, it was not open to settle such a dispute and to recover the amount in execution proceedings but the remedy would be to file another suit or appropriate proceedings in accordance with law.

What emerges from the aforesaid discussion is as follows :

(i) In the case of composite negligence, plaintiff/claimant is entitled to sue both or any one of the joint tort feasors and to recover the entire compensation as liability of joint tort feasors is joint and several.

(ii) In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between two tort feasors vis a vis the plaintiff/claimant is not permissible. He can recover at his option whole damages from any of them.

(iii) In case all the joint tort feasors have been impleaded and evidence is sufficient, it is open to the court/tribunal to determine inter se extent of composite negligence of the drivers. However, determination of the extent of negligence between the joint tort feasors is only for the purpose of their inter se liability so that one may recover the sum from the other after making whole of payment to the plaintiff/claimant to the extent it has satisfied the liability of the other. In case both of them have been impleaded and the apportionment/ extent of their negligence has been determined by the court/tribunal, in main case one joint tort feasor can recover the amount from the other in the execution proceedings.

(iv) It would not be appropriate for the court/tribunal to determine the extent of composite negligence of the drivers of two vehicles in the absence of impleadment of other joint tort feasors. In such a case, impleaded joint tort feasor should be left, in case he so desires, to sue the other joint tort feasor in independent proceedings after passing of the decree or award."

12. The latest decision of the Apex Court in Khenyei Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited & Others, 2015 Law Suit (SC) 469 has laid down one further aspect about considering the negligence more particularly composite/contributory negligence. The deceased or the person concerned should be shown to have contributed either to the accident and the impact of accident upon the victim could have been minimised if he had taken care. In this case the deceased was not the author or the co-author of the accident. Hence, the oral prayer that deduction of 50% from the compensation be made is rejected.

13. This takes this Court to the issue of compensation. The Apex court decision in Malarvizhi & Ors Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited and Another, 2020 (4) SCC 228 and United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Indiro0 Devi & Ors, 2018 (7) SCC 715. and in The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Mangey Ram and others, 2019 0 Supreme (All) 1067 and the recent judgment of the Apex Court in New India Assurance Company Vs. Urmila Shukla decided by the Apex Court on 6.8.2021 reported in MANU/SCOR/24098/2021 and Kirti and others vs oriental insurance company ltd reported in 2021(1) TAC 1It could not be culled out from record that on what basis, the Tribunal has deducted the pecuniary benefits from the income cannot be fathomed. The income of the deceased in the year of accident and looking to his profession can be considered to be Rs.2,000/- per month as the deceased is below 50 years and driving tempo of his own but the accident took place in the year 1990, 40% as future loss of income requires to be added in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Pranay Sethi (Supra). Deduction should be 1/3rd and not 1/4th as submitted by Shri Vidya Kant Shukla. As far as amount under the head of non-pecuniary damages are concerned, it should be Rs.70,000/- as non-pecuniary damages. As far as multiplier is concerned, it is 18.

14. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants is computed herein below:

i. Income Rs 2,000/-p.m

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 40% namely Rs.8,00/-

iii. Total income : Rs. 2,000 + 8,00 = Rs.28,00/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd : Rs. 1,867/- (rounded up)

v. Annual Income : 1,867 x 12 = 22,400/-

vi. Multiplier applicable : 18

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs.22,400 x 18 = Rs.4,03,200/- viii. Amount under non-pecuniary head : 70,000/-

ix. Total compensation : Rs. 4,73,400/-

15. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 6% from the date of filing of the petition till 1999 and 4% thereafter as without any fault of the Insurance Company, the matter remains pending .

16. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Oral cross are allowed and compensation is recalculated. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited. The Insurance Company will deposit the entire amount can have their right to recover the amount from owner and the Insurance Company of the other vehicle. As far as deceased is concerned, it is a case of composite negligence, hence, the amount cannot be deducted from the compensation awarded to the claimants who are the heirs of a non tort-feasor.

17. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291 and this High Court in, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

18. Record be sent back to tribunal forthwith.

19. This Court is thankful to both the learned Advocates for ably assistting this Court.

First Appeal From Order No. 614 of 2019

United India Insurance Co. Ltd.
...Appellant
Versus
Smt. Sawari & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Mr. Deepak Kumar Agarwal

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Ravindra Pratap Singh

A. Civil Law - Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 163-A- no fault liability-the issue involved was as to whether compensation payable under section 163A of the Act as per the structured formula is in addition or in alternative for determination of the compensation on the principle of fault liability-The issue was answered in negative-in view of the non-obstante clause contained in Section 163A of the Act, it excludes determination of compensation on the principle of fault liability-The idea for adding Section 163A in the Act was to give relief to the victims of the motor accident at the earliest in a long drawn litigation-It had to be on the basis of structured formula as provided in the Second Schedule attached to the Act-the same claim cannot be defeated nor can compensation for the same be reduced on the basis of the share of the claimant in his/her responsibility in causing the death/permanent disablement of the victim.(Para 1 to 23)

B. 'Per incuriam' are those decisions given in ignorance or forgetfulness of some inconsistent statutory provision or of some authority binding on the court concerned, so that in such cases some part of the decision or some step in the reasoning on which it is based, is found, on that account to be demonstrably wrong. It is a settled rule that if a decision has been given per incuriam the court can ignore it.(Para 20) (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.)

1. The matter has been placed before this Bench for consideration of the following question, referred to a larger Bench, by the learned Single Judge vide order dated February 8, 2021:

"Whether in the proceedings under Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 it is open for the Tribunal to exercise discretion for the assessment of compensation contrary to second schedule appended to the Act, 1988 notwithstanding that a sum of rupees five lacs is the fixed amount w.e.f. 22.05.2018 in such a proceedings."

2. Brief facts of the case, as are found from the record of the case, are that on April 28, 2015 at about 9 O'clock Raj Bahadur, having a valid driving licence, while going to Lucknow from Tikait Nagar driving Bus bearing registration No.UP 41T 4269, met with an accident on Barabanki-Bahraich Road due to which he sustained grievous injuries. He succumbed to his injuries on April 30, 2015. The registered owner of the aforesaid vehicle was Shashi Bhushan and the vehicle was being operated by the U.P. Road Transport Corporation on contractual basis. At the time of accident, the vehicle was insured with United India Insurance Company Limited, which was valid. A claim petition was filed under Section 163A of the Act1 by the widow and three minor children of the deceased Raj Bahadur also impleading parents of the deceased as opposite party Nos.4 and 5 before the Tribunal2. The learned Tribunal allowed the claim petition vide order dated August 7, 2019 and awarded compensation of ₹9,97,200/- along with simple interest @ 7% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till the date of actual payment, which was to be paid by the appellant. The total awarded amount of compensation included the benefit of future prospect is to the tune of ₹2,59,200/-. Deduction of 1/4th was directed to be made towards personal expenses. A sum of ₹70,000/- was awarded towards conventional heads. Out of the total awarded compensation, ₹3,00,000/- along with interest were directed to be paid to the widow of the deceased and ₹5,00,000/- along with interest were directed to be divided amongst three minor children equally. Rest of the awarded compensation i.e. ₹1,97,200/- along with interest was directed to be paid to the parents of the deceased, who were opposite party Nos.4 and 5 in the claim petition.

3. The arguments raised by learned counsel for the appellant before the learned Single Judge was that in an application filed under Section 163A of the Act, only structured formula as contained in Second Schedule attached to the Act could be applied. In support, he referred to a judgment of this Court in Shriram General Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Asif and others3 and judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in National Insurance Company Limited v. Pushpa and others4, Smt. Sarla Verma and others v. Delhi Transport Corporation and another5 and Deepal Girishbhai Soni and others v. United India Insurance Company Ltd.6. Whereas the stand taken by the learned counsel for the claimant was that the Court is not bound to apply the structured formula, hence assessment of the compensation was just and fair.

4. Considering two conflicting views of this Court in F.A.F.O. No.560 of 2012 titled as Smt. Jagdish Kumari and others v. Om Prakash and others7 and in Asif's case (supra), the learned Single Judge found it appropriate to refer the matter to the larger Bench for consideration.

5. Mr. Deepak Kumar Agarwal, learned counsel for the Insurance Company/appellant submitted that the scope of Sections 163A and 166 of the Act is all together different. Section 163A of the Act provides for no fault liability while providing for assessment of compensation in terms of Second Schedule attached to the Act. Its' application is limited only to the cases where the actual income claimed is or restricted up to ₹40,000/-. This Section does not have any application in the present case. A plain reading of the aforesaid Section shows that it starts with non-obstante clause. Meaning thereby, no other provisions of the Act providing for assessment or payment of compensation will be applicable.

6. Section 140 of the Act provides for payment of interim compensation but the same does not have any application in an application filed under Section 163A of the Act. However, interim compensation payable under Section 140 of the Act can be set off against final compensation assessed for which application can be filed under Section 166 of the Act. In such application just amount of compensation is required to be assessed by the Court. The onus to prove number of issues lies on the claimant. In support of his arguments, he placed reliance upon the judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Deepal Girishbhai Soni's case (supra), Smt. Sarla Verma's case (supra), National Insurance Company Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi and others8, United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Sunil Kumar and another9 and the Full Bench judgment of Gujarat High Court in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Shah Mahasukhlal Mafatlal and others10. He further referred to the Rules11. In terms of Rule 204 of the Rules, separate forms have been prescribed to be filled up by a claimant while filing applications under Section 163A or 166 of the Act. Hence, the scope of both the sections are well defined.

7. On the other hand, Mr. Ravindra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the claimants submitted that Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Pranay Sethi's case (supra) also considered the scope of Section 163A of the Act. His submission is that once just and fair compensation is to be assessed, the same cannot be restricted to structured formula.

8. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the paper book.

9. To appreciate the issue involved, it is necessary to examine the relevant provisions of the Act, which stood at the relevant time read as under:-

"140. Liability to pay compensation in certain cases on the principle of no fault.-- (1) Where death or permanent disablement of any person has resulted from an accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle or motor vehicles, the owner of the vehicle shall, or, as the case may be, the owners of the vehicles shall, jointly and severally, be liable to pay compensation in respect of such death or disablement in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) The amount of compensation which shall be payable under sub-section (1) in respect of the death of any person shall be a fixed sum of fifty thousand rupees and the amount of compensation payable under that sub-section in respect of the permanent disablement of any person shall be a fixed sum of twenty-five thousand rupees.

(3) In any claim for compensation under sub-section (1), the claimant shall not be required to plead and establish that the death or permanent disablement in respect of which the claim has been made was due to any wrongful act, neglect or default of the owner or owners of the vehicle or vehicles concerned or of any other person.

(4) A claim for compensation under sub-section (1) shall not be defeated by reason of any wrongful act, neglect or default of the person in respect of whose death or permanent disablement the claim has been made nor shall the quantum of compensation recoverable in respect of such death or permanent disablement be reduced on the basis of the share of such person in the responsibility for such death or permanent disablement.

141. Provisions as to other right to claim compensation for death or permanent disablement.-- (1) The right to claim compensation under section 140 in respect of death or permanent disablement of any person shall be in addition to any other right, except the right to claim under the scheme referred to in section 163A such other right hereafter in this section referred to as the right on the principle of fault to claim compensation in respect thereof under any other provision of this Act or of any other law for the time being in force.

(2) A claim for compensation under section 140 in respect of death or permanent disablement of any person shall be disposed of as expeditiously as possible and where compensation is claimed in respect of such death or permanent disablement under section 140 and also in pursuance of any right on the principle of fault, the claim for compensation under section 140 shall be disposed of as aforesaid in the first place.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where in respect of the death or permanent disablement of any person, the person liable to pay compensation under section 140 is also liable to pay compensation in accordance with the right on the principle of fault, the person so liable shall pay the first-mentioned compensation and--

(a) if the amount of the first-mentioned compensation is less than the amount of the second-mentioned compensation, he shall be liable to pay (in addition to the first-mentioned compensation) only so much of the second-mentioned compensation as is equal to the amount by which it exceeds the first-mentioned compensation;

(b) if the amount of the first-mentioned compensation is equal to or more than the amount of the second-mentioned compensation, he shall not be liable to pay the second-mentioned compensation.

(4) The Claims Tribunal shall treat any report of accidents forwarded to it under sub-section (6) of section 158 as an application for compensation under this Act."

10. The background in which Section 163A was added in the Act was considered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and others v. Hansrajbhai V. Kodala and others12. The issue involved therein was as to whether compensation payable under Section 163A of the Act as per the structured formula is in addition or in alternative for determination of the compensation on the principle of fault liability after following the procedure prescribed under the Act. The issue was answered in negative. It was opined that in view of the non-abstante clause contained in Section 163A of the Act, it excludes determination of compensation on the principle of fault liability. The idea for adding Section 163A in the Act was to give relief to the victims of the motor accident at the earliest in a long drawn litigation. It had to be on the basis of structured formula as provided in the Second Schedule attached to the Act. It also opined that in case the question of determination of compensation on fault liability is also permitted, it would result in additional litigation and applications. Relevant paragraphs thereof are extracted below:-

"8. From the provisions quoted above, it appears that no specific mention is made that remedy provided under Section 163A is in addition or in the alternative to the determination of compensation on the basis of fault liability. Section 163Awas not there in the original Act of 1988. It was inserted by Act No. 54 of 1994 w.e.f. 14.11.1994. Hence, for arriving at the proper conclusion, it would be necessary to cull out legislative intent by referring to the legislative history as well as Objects and Reasons for inserting the said provision.

x x x x

14. In this context if we refer to the Review Committees Report, the reason for enactingSection 163Ais to give earliest relief to the victims of the motor vehicle accidents. The Committee observed that determination of cases takes long time and, therefore, under a system of structural compensation, the compensation that is payable for different classes of cases depending upon the age of the deceased, the monthly income at the time of death, the earning potential in the case of minor, loss of income on account of loss of limb etc. can be notified and the affected party can then have option of their accepting lump sum compensation under the scheme of structural compensation or of pursuing his claim through the normal channels. The Report of the Review Committee was considered by the State Governments and comments were notified. Thereafter, the Transport Development Council made suggestions for providing adequate compensation to victims of road accidents without going into long drawn procedure. As per the objects and reasons, it is a new pre-determined formula for payment of compensation to road accidents victims on the basis of age/income which is more liberal and rational. On the basis of the said recommendation after considering the Report of the Transport Development Council, the Bill was introduced with a new pre-determined formula for payment of compensation to road accident victims on the basis of age/income which is more liberal and notional, i.e.Section 163A. ..... The purpose of this Section and the Second Schedule is to avoid long drawn litigation and delay in payment of compensation to the victims or his heirs who are in dire need of relief. If such affected claimant opts for accepting the lump-sum compensation based on structured formula, he would get relief at the earliest. It also gives vital advantage of not pleading or establishing any wrongful act or neglect or default of the owner of the offending vehicle or vehicles.

11. With reference to interpretation of Section 163A of the Act and its scope, paragraphs 19 to 21 of the aforesaid judgment can be gainfully referred to, which read as under:-

"19. Lastly, for interpretation and construction of Section 163A , we would refer to its heading and language. The heading is "Special provisions as to payment of compensation on structured formula basis". At the outset, we would make it clear that for interpretation of the words of Section the language of the heading cannot be used to control the operation of the Section, but at the same time being part of the statute it prima-facie furnishes some clue as to the meaning and purpose of Section. [Re: K.P. Varghese v. ITO (1982) 1 SCR p.629 at 647]. In case of ambiguity or doubt heading can be referred to as an aid in construing the provision. This heading indicates that the legislature has envisaged special provision for paying compensation on structural formula basis instead of paying the compensation by long drawn litigation after establishing fault liability. Section also begins with non-obstante clause notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or any law for the time being in force. This would mean that it is not subject to any adjudication of right to claim compensation as provided under the Act. The owner of the motor vehicle or the authorised insurer would be liable to pay compensation due to accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle. Section 163B further clarifies that claim petition can be filed either under Section 140 or under Section 163A but not under both sections.

20. The learned counsel for the claimants however submitted that if we compare the language used in Sections 163A and 140(1), it would be apparent that Section 140 contemplates payment of compensation by the owner of the vehicle. As against this, Section 163A contemplates payment of compensation by the owner of the vehicle or authorised insurer. It is submitted that even if we read the said phrase "owner of the motor vehicle of authorised insurer" as "owner of the motor vehicle or authorised insurer" on the assumption that "of" is wrongly used, then also it is their contention that Section 163A envisages payment either by the authorised insurer or by the owner of the motor vehicle. It has wider implication and, therefore, compensation beyond maximum of Rs.50000/- is provided in Second Schedule and hence the payment under Section 163A should not be considered as alternative to payment of compensation under the fault liability. In our view, it is true that Section 140 talks of payment of compensation by the owner of the vehicle, while Section 163A after reading of as or would mean that owner of the vehicle or the authorised insurer would be liable to pay compensation under Section 163A. But that would not make any difference because determination of compensation under Section 163A is final and not as an interim measure. As stated above, the legislature has deliberately not provided that it is in addition to the compensation payable on the principle of fault liability. There is no provision for adjusting the compensation payable under Section 163A with the other payment on fault liability under the Act.

21. In the result, the contention of the claimants that right to get compensation under Section 163A is additional to claim compensation on no fault liability is rejected for the following reasons: -

(1) There is no specific provision in the Act to the effect that such compensation is in addition to the compensation payable under the Act. Wherever the Legislature wanted to provide additional compensation, it has done so. [Sections 140 and 141]

(2) In case where compensation is paid on no fault liability under Sections 140 and 161 in case of hit and run motor accidents, the Legislature has provided adjustment or refund of the said compensation in case where compensation is determined and payable under the award on the basis of fault liability under Section 168 of the Act. There is no such procedure for refund or adjustment of compensation paid where the compensation is paid underSection 163A .

(3) The words under any other law for the time being in force would certainly have different meaning from the words under this Act or under any other provision of this Act.

(4) In view of the non-obstante clause notwithstanding anything contained in this Act the provisions of Section 163A would exclude determination of compensation on the principle of fault liability.

(5) The procedure of giving compensation under Section 163A is inconsistent with the procedure prescribed for awarding compensation on fault liability. Under Section 163A compensation is awarded without proof of any fault while for getting compensation on the basis of fault liability claimant is required to prove wrongful act, neglect or default of the owner of the vehicle or vehicles concerned.

(6) Award of compensation under Section 163A is on predetermined formula for payment of compensation to road accident victims and that formula itself is based on criteria similar to determining the compensation under Section 168. The object was to avoid delay in determination of compensation."

12. It was a case in which in the order of the High Court impugned before Hon'ble the Supreme it was held that award under Section 163A of the Act was an interim award and claimants were entitled to proceed further for determination of compensation under Section 168 of the Act. The Supreme Court allowed the appeal of Insurance Company and judgment of the High Court was set-aside.

13. Correctness of the aforesaid judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court was under consideration in a subsequent judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Deepal Girishbhai Soni's case (supra). In the aforesaid case, Hon'ble the Supreme Court also considered the legislative history of Section 163A of the Act in paragraphs 18 to 23, which are extracted below:-

"18. A claim for damages owing to injuries suffered by reason of negligence on the part of the driver of a motor vehicle used to be governed only by law of tort. The Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914 is the first enactment relating to motor vehicles. The Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 which replaced the 1914 Act consolidated and amended the law relating to motor vehicles in India. Under the 1939 Act as also the Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 compensation was solely based on law of tort. The civil courts had the jurisdiction to try a suit claiming compensation by the plaintiffs for injuries or damages suffered by them by a party whose action had inflicted the injury. In the year 1956, the Motor Vehicle Accidents Claims Tribunals were established to deal with such claims purported to be for providing speedy trial. However, proof of negligence was a condition precedent for grant of compensation under the 1939 Act.

19. The 85th Law Commission in its report submitted in May, 1980, proposed two new measures, i.e. (i) introduction of Section 92-A in the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 by which the doctrine of liability without fault was to be introduced and, (ii) the imposition of strict liability as regard death or bodily injury caused by the accident or nature specified in Section 110(1) thereof. Recommendations were also made by the Law Commission to the effect that claim on fault basis should be barred but the same had not been accepted by the Parliament.

20. While making the aforementioned recommendations, the Commission referred to the following observations made by this Court in Bishan Devi and others Vs. Sirbaksh Singh and Anr. [(1980) 1 SCC 273]:

"the law as it stands requires that the claimant should prove that the driver of the vehicle was guilty of rash and negligent driving."

21. By reason of Section 92-A, 92-B in Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 inserted in the year 1982, a sum of Rs. 15,000/- was to be provided in case of death and a sum of Rs. 7,500/- in respect of permanent disablement by introducing the concept of "no-fault liability". The amount of compensation, however, had been revised from time to time.

22. The Law Commission furthermore recommended for laying of a scheme in terms whereof the victims of 'hit and run accident' could claim compensation where the identity of the vehicle involved in the accident was unknown. Yet again, the 199th Law Commission in its report submitted in 1987 stated the law as it stood then in the following terms:

"the law as it stands present, save the provisions in chapter VIIA inserted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1982, enables the victim or the dependants of the victim in the event of death to recover compensation on proof of fault of the person liable to pay the compensation and which fault caused the harm."

23. The present Act came into force thereafter in terms whereof inter alia Section 92-A to 92-E of the 1939 Act were replaced by Section 140 to 144 whereby and whereunder the amount of compensation in case of death was raised to Rs. 50,000/- and for permanent disablement to Rs.25,000/-. However, having regard to number of representations received from various quarters, a review committee was constituted by the Government of India in the year 1990 to examine the same and review such provisions of the said Act, as may be found necessary. In terms of the recommendations of the Review Committee as also the Transport Development Council, the Act was thereafter amended in the year 1994 in terms whereof a new pre-determined formula in the form of Section 163-A for payment of compensation to road accident victims on the basis of age and income on a no-fault basis was provided.

14. After considering the legislative history of Section 163A of the Act, Hon'ble the Supreme Court opined that determination of compensation under Sections 163A and 166 of the Act being final and independent of each other, the claimant cannot pursue his remedies thereunder simultaneously. One has to opt/elect to either proceed under Section 163A or Section 166 of the Act but not under both. The relevant paragraphs 42, 46 and 57 are extracted below:-

"42. Section 163A was, thus, enacted for grant of immediate relief to a section of people whose annual income is not more than Rs. 40,000/- having regard to the fact that in terms of Section 163-A of the Act read with the Second Schedule appended thereto; compensation is to be paid on a structured formula not only having regard to the age of the victim and his income but also the other factors relevant therefor. An award made thereunder, therefore, shall be in full and final settlement of the claim as would appear from the different columns contained in the Second Schedule appended to the Act. The same is not interim in nature. The note appended to column 1 which deals with fatal accidents makes the position furthermore clear stating that from the total amount of compensation one-third thereof is to be reduced in consideration of the expenses which the victim would have incurred towards maintaining himself had he been alive. This together with the other heads of compensation as contained in column Nos. 2 to 6 thereof leaves no manner of doubt that the Parliament intended to lay a comprehensive scheme for the purpose of grant of adequate compensation to a section of victims who would require the amount of compensation without fighting any protracted litigation for proving that the accident occurred owing to negligence on the part of the driver of the motor vehicle or any other fault arising out of use of a motor vehicle.

46. Section 163-A which has an overriding effect provides for special provisions as to payment of compensation on structured formula basis. Sub-Section (1) of Section 163-A contains non-obstante clause in terms whereof the owner of the motor vehicle or the authorised insurer is liable to pay in the case of death or permanent disablement due to accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle, compensation, as indicated in the Second Schedule, to the legal heirs or the victim, as the case may be. Sub-Section (2) of Section 163-A is in pari materia with Sub-Section (3) of Section 140 of the Act.

57. We, therefore, are of the opinion that remedy for payment of compensation both under Section 163-A and 166 being final and independent of each other as statutorily provided, a claimant cannot pursue his remedies thereunder simultaneously. One, thus, must opt/elect to go either for a proceeding under Section 163-A or under Section 166 of the Act, but not under both." (emphasis supplied)

15. The issue was further examined by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in National Insurance Company Limited v. Gurumallamma and others13 wherein it was opined that in a proceeding under Section 163A of the Act the amount of compensation has to be assessed in terms of Second Schedule attached to the Act. Relevant paragraph 8 thereof is extracted below:-

"8. ..... As the Second Schedule provides for a structured formula, the question of determination of payment of compensation by application of judicial mind which is otherwise necessary for a proceeding arising out of a claim petition filed under Section 166 would not arise. The Tribunals in a proceeding under Section 163-A of the Act is required to determine the amount of compensation as specified in the Second Schedule. It is not required to apply the multiplier except in a case of injuries and disabilities." (emphasis supplied)

16. In United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Sunil Kumar and others14, Hon'ble the Supreme Court while considering the question whether in a claim proceeding under Section 163A of the Act, it is open for the Insurer to raise the defence/plea of negligence, held following in paragraphs 7 and 8 which read as under:-

7. As observed in Hansrajbhai V. Kodala (supra) one of the suggestions made by theTransport Development Council was "to provide adequate compensation to victims of road accidents without going into long drawn procedure." As a sequel to the recommendations made by the Committee and the Council, Section 140 was enacted in the present Act in place of Section 92A to 92E of the Old Act. Compensation payable thereunder, as under the repealed provisions, continued to be on the basis of no fault liability though at an enhanced rate which was further enhanced by subsequent amendments. Sections 140 and 141 of the present Act makes it clear that compensation payable thereunder does not foreclose the liability to pay or the right to receive compensation under any other provision of the Act or any other law in force except compensation awarded under Section 163A of the Act. Compensation under Section 140 of the Act was thus understood to be in the nature of an interim payment pending the final award under Section 166 of the Act. Section 163-A, on the other hand, was introduced in the New Act for the first time to remedy the situation where determination of final compensation on fault basis under Section 166 of the Act was progressively getting protracted. The Legislative intent and purpose was to provide for payment of final compensation to a class of claimants (whose income was below Rs.40,000/- per annum) on the basis of a structured formula without any reference to fault liability. In fact, in Hansrajbhai V. Kodala (supra) the bench had occasion to observe that:

"Compensation amount is paid without pleading or proof of fault, on the principle of social justice as a social security measure because of ever-increasing motor vehicle accidents in a fast-moving society. Further, the law before insertion of Section 163-A was giving limited benefit to the extent provided under Section 140 for no-fault liability and determination of compensation amount on fault liability was taking a long time. That mischief is sought to be remedied by introducing Section 163-A and thedisease of delay is sought to be cured to a large extent by affording benefit to the victims on structured-formula basis. Further, if the question of determining compensation on fault liability is kept alive it would result in additional litigation and complications in case claimants fail to establish liability of the owner of the defaulting vehicles."

8. From the above discussion, it is clear that grant of compensation under Section 163-A of the Act on the basis of the structured formula is in the nature of a final award and the adjudication thereunder is required to be made without any requirement of any proof of negligence of the driver/owner of the vehicle(s) involved in the accident. This is made explicit by Section 163A(2). Though the aforesaid section of the Act does not specifically exclude a possible defence of the Insurer based on the negligence of the claimant as contemplated by Section 140(4), to permit such defence to be introduced by the Insurer and/or to understand the provisions of Section 163A of the Act to be contemplating any such situation would go contrary to the very legislative object behind introduction of Section 163A of the Act, namely, final compensation within a limited time frame on the basis of the structured formula to overcome situations where the claims of compensation on the basis of fault liability was taking an unduly long time. In fact, to understand Section 163A of the Act to permit the Insurer to raise the defence of negligence would be to bring a proceeding under Section 163-A of the Act at par with the proceeding under Section 166 of the Act which would not only be self-contradictory but also defeat the very legislative intention.

17. Again Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Ramkhiladi and others v. The United India Insurance Company and others15 has in paragraph 5.8 held as under:-

"5.8. ..... However, it is the case on behalf of the original claimants that there is an amendment to the 2nd Schedule and a fixed amount of Rs.5 lakh has been specified in case of death and therefore the claimants shall be entitled to Rs.5 lakh. The same cannot be accepted. In the present case, the accident took place in the year 2006 and even the Judgment and Award was passed by the learned Tribunal in the year 2009, and the impugned Judgment and Order has been passed by the High Court in 10.05.2018, i.e. much prior to the amendment in the 2nd Schedule. In the facts and circumstance of the present case, the claimants shall not be entitled to the benefit of the amendment to the 2nd Schedule. ..."

18. Similar view was expressed by the Division Bench of Calcutta High Court in The New India Assurance Company v. Jasmin Bibi16 and Sikkim High Court in The Branch Manager, Shriram General Insurance Company Limited v. Dilurai17 and Division Bench of this Court in Oriental Insurance Company Limited v. Smt. Maya18.

19. A perusal of the judgment of learned Single Judge in Smt. Jagdish Kumari's case (supra), which has taken a different view than what has been taken by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Hansrajbhai V. Kodala's, Deepal Girishbhai Soni's, Gurumallamma's and Sunil Kumar's cases (supra), shows that it had not considered the aforesaid judgments and held even for assessment of compensation under Section 163A, instead of structured formula, normal assessment is to be made. Whereas in Asif's case (supra), the learned Single Judge, after placing reliance on the aforesaid judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court, had granted compensation on the basis of structured formula as provided in Second Schedule attached to the Act.

20. As the issue, referred for consideration by a larger Bench, was already covered by judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court, even if there was different opinion expressed earlier by two Single Benches, the matter could be decided in the light of Supreme Court judgments ignoring the view expressed in the judgment taking a view contrary to the law laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court. Principles of per incuriam will be applicable in such cases. Reference can be made to judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in K.S. Panduranga v. State of Karnataka19 where the Supreme Court had considered the law with respect to the concept of per incuriam in detail. Paragraphs 30, 31, 32, 33 and 35 of the said judgment are extracted as under:-

"30. Presently, we shall proceed to deal with the concept of per incuriam. In A.R. Antulay v. R.S. Nayak, while dealing with the said concept, had observed thus: -

"42. ... "Per incuriam' are those decisions given in ignorance or forgetfulness of some inconsistent statutory provision or of some authority binding on the court concerned, so that in such cases some part of the decision or some step in the reasoning on which it is based, is found, on that account to be demonstrably wrong."

31. Again, in the said decision, at a later stage, the Court observed: -

"47. ... It is a settled rule that if a decision has been given per incuriam the court can ignore it."

32 In Punjab Land Development & Reclamation Corpn. Ltd. v. Labour Court, another Constitution Bench, while dealing with the issue of per incuriam, opined as under:

"40. The Latin expression "per incuriam' means through inadvertence. A decision can be said generally to be given per incuriam when this Court has acted in ignorance of a previous decision of its own or when a High Court has acted in ignorance of a decision of this Court."

33. In State of U.P. v. Synthetics and Chemicals Ltd., a two-Judge Bench adverted in detail to the aspect of per incuriam and proceeded to highlight as follows:

"40. "Incuria' literally means "carelessness'. In practice per incuriam appears to mean per ignoratium. English courts have developed this principle in relaxation of the rule of stare decisis. The "quotable in law' is avoided and ignored if it is rendered, "in ignoratium of a statute or other binding authority'. (Young v. Bristol Aeroplane Co. Ltd. Same has been accepted, approved and adopted by this Court while interpreting Article 141 of the Constitution which embodies the doctrine of precedents as a matter of law."

x x x x

35. In Government of A.P. and another v. B. Satyanarayana Rao (dead) by LRs and others this Court has observed that the rule of per incuriam can be applied where a court omits to consider a binding precedent of the same court or the superior court rendered on the same issue or where a court omits to consider any statute while deciding that issue."

21. In view of the above, the judgment of learned Single Judge rendered in Smt. Jagdish Kumari's case (supra), being in ignorance of the law laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court on the subject, the same could be ignored being per incuriam. The issue being covered by various judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court on the issue, we find the reference itself to be uncalled for. The matter is accordingly returned back to the learned Single Judge for further proceedings. The judgment of Smt. Jagdish Kumari's case (supra) being per incuriam shall not be a precedent.

22. While dealing with the matter referred to the larger Bench under the Motor Vehicle Act, 1988, this Court was reading the clauses in the Bare Act published by Eastern Book Company and Professional Book Publishers and found that it has not been correctly printed and the contents thereof are quite misleading. Some of the provisions, which have not yet been deleted, as the date of their endorsement has not been notified, have been deleted from the Act whereas some of the provisions, which were existing in the Act such as Sections 163A and 163B, have not even been published/printed. In the Bare Acts published by LexisNexis and Professional Book Publishers, the date of notification/coming into effect of Chapters-X and XI has wrongly been mentioned. This cannot be expected from the publishers of repute.

23. Let notices be issued to the publishers, namely, Eastern Book Company, 34-A, Lalbagh, Lucknow-

226001, LexisNexis, 14th Floor, Building No.10, Tower-B, DLF Cyber City, Phase-II, Gurgaon-122002, Haryana and Professional Book Publishers, 3520/2, Chotani Manzil, Nicholson Road, Mori Gate, Delhi-110006 for October 20, 2022 to explain as to why appropriate action be not taken against them for misleading the counsel as well as the Court and wasting their precious time. Wrong publication of bare Acts can lead to wrong decisions.

A. 2. Present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 13.02.2020 whereby the registration of the petitioner was cancelled as well as the appellate order dated 06.09.2022 whereby the appeal was dismissed as being beyond the prescribed period of limitation.

3. The facts, in brief, are that the petitioner is a proprietorship concern engaged in civil contractual works and was registered under the GST Act. It appears that as the GST returns was not filed by the counsel, a show-cause notice dated 04.02.2020 was served. In the said show-cause notice, the reasons as prescribed were as under:

"Whereas on the basis of information which has come to my notice, it appears that your registration is liable to be cancelled for the following reasons:

5. The petitioner could not prefer an appeal, which is prescribed under the Act, on account of Covid - 19 situation and the fact that the petitioner fell ill for which medical certificates were granted, as such, the petitioner preferred a delay condonation application alongwith the appeal. The Appellate Authority was of the view that in view of the Bar created under Section 107(4) of the GST Act, the delay cannot be condoned, as such, he proceeded to dismiss the appeal holding that no power of condonation of delay exists in the statutory scheme of Section 107 of GST Act.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that although no fault can be found with the appellate order dismissing the appeal as Aappellate Authority does not have the power to condone the delay in terms of the scheme of the Act, however, he argues that the order cancelling the registration is without application of mind; he draws my attention to the impugned order dated 13.02.2020, which does not disclose any application of mind. He, thus, argues that the quasi judicial order which has an adverse effect on the right of the petitioner to run business as guaranteed under Article 19 of the Constitution of India, the same has been done without any application of mind which is neither the intent of the Act nor can it be held to be in compliance of the mandate of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. He further argues that as the appeal has not been decided on merit, the doctrine of merger will have no application and it is only the order dated 13.02.2020 which affects the petitioner and as the same is devoid of any reasons, the same can be challenged before this Court as decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Whirlpool Corporation v. Registrar of Trademarks, Mumbai and Ors. - (1998) 8 SCC 1.

7. He further places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of Om Prakash Mishra v. State of U.P. & Ors.; Writ Tax No.100 of 2022 decided on 06.09.2022 wherein this Court had recorded that every administrative authority or a quasi judicial authority should necessarily indicate reasons as reasons are heart and soul of any judicial or administrative order.

8. In the present case from the perusal of the order dated 13.02.2020, clearly there is no reason ascribed to take such a harsh action of cancellation of registration. In view of the order being without any application of mind, the same does not satisfy the test of Article 14 of the Constitution of India, as such, the impugned order dated 13.02.2020 (Annexure - 2) is set aside. The petition is accordingly allowed.

9. It is, however, directed that the petitioner shall file reply to the show-cause notice within a period of three weeks from today. The Adjudicating Authority i.e. Assistant Commissioner, Lucknow shall proceed to pass fresh order after giving an opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and after considering whatever defence he may take.

10. As the order dated 13.02.2020 is set aside, the further action shall prevail in accordance with law as prescribed under Section 29 of the GST Act.

Civil Law - U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act (5 of 1954) - Section 48 – Revisional power of Director of Consolidation - Scope - may examine the record of any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the regularity of the proceedings; or as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order passed by such authority - prior to 10.11.1980, Revisional court had limited jurisdiction (Para 12, 13)

Consolidation Officer considered oral as well as documentary evidence as well as provisions of Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act -recorded finding of fact that adoption deed set up by respondent no. 2 was not proved and cannot be believed - but DDC held that adoption deed is proved and respondent no.2 is to be recorded over disputed plot in place of petitioner, without considering the oral as well as documentary evidences - DDC failed to consider the reasoning and findings recorded by the Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) on the question who is heir of Mathuri - revisional order quashed.

Allowed. (E-5)

List of Cases cited:

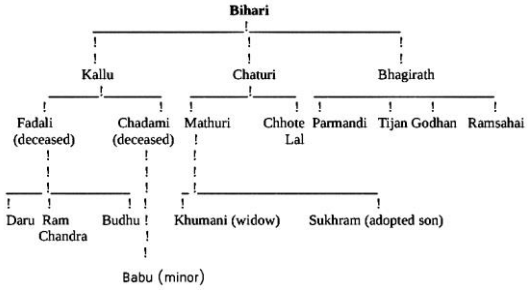
1. Sher Singh (dead) by legal representatives Vs Jt. Director of Consolidation & ors., 1978 R.D. 170

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamal Mehrotra and Sri Randhir Jain, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Babu Lal Ram, learned counsel for the contesting respondents.

2. Brief facts of the case are that in the Basic Year of the consolidation operation, Mathuri (husband of the petitioner) along with other co-sharer was recorded over plots of Khata Nos.343, 219 & 276, situated in village - Kursara, Pargana- Jalaun, District Jalaun.

3. Against the Basic Year entry, several objections were filed under Section 9-A(2) of the U.P. C.H. Act, one set of objection was filed by respondent no.2 / Sukh Ram on the basis of adoption deed alleged to be executed by Sri Mathuri in his favour on 13.6.1973 and another set of objection was filed by petitioner - Smt. Khumani, being daughter of deceased Shri Mathuri, so both claimed that their name be recorded on the place of deceased Shri Mathuri. In order to appreciate the controversy, family pedigree will be relevant which is as follows:-



4. Before Consolidation Officer, 4 issues were framed in which issue no. 2 was, who is legal heir of deceased Mathuri and issue no. 3 was whether Sukh Ram is adopted son of Mathuri?

5. Oral and documentary evidences were adduced before Consolidation Officer by petitioner as well as respondent no.2.

While deciding the issues nos. 2 & 3, Consolidation Officer considered the oral and documentary evidence, the provision of Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act as well as Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act were also taken into consideration. Consolidation Officer recorded finding of fact that formalities of adoption as provided under Section 9 of the Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act is not proved so Sukh Ram cannot be held as heir of Mathuri rather petitioner Khummani is the legal heir of deceased Mathuri, being his daughter, accordingly, Consolidation Officer by his order dated 30.4.1974 directed that name of Smt. Khummani - petitioner be recorded as legal heir of Mathuri, in respect of plots of Khata Nos.323, 276 & 219 and the objection of Sukh Ram - respondent no.2 on the basis of adoption deed was rejected. Respondent no.2 challenged the order dated 30.4.1974 through appeal under Section 11(1) of the U.P. C.H. Act which was dismissed by the Settlement Officer (Consolidation) by order dated 20.11.1974. Respondent no.2 challenged the appellate order dated 20.11.1974 through revision under Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act and the Deputy Director of Consolidation by order dated 24.09.1980, allowed the revision filed by respondent no.2, setting aside the orders of Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) and ordered to record the name of respondent no.2 over disputed Khata Nos. 343, 219 & 276 after expunging the name of petitioner-Mathuri, hence, this writ petition on behalf of the petitioner.

6. The writ petition was admitted on 8.1.1981 and the interim order was also granted staying the operation of the impugned order dated 24.9.1980. In the meanwhile, on 3.8.1982, interim order dated 8.1.1981 was modified to the extent that if the order dated 24.9.1980 has already not been implemented, then the operation of the order shall remain suspended till further orders.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that revisional court while passing the impugned order dated 24.9.1980 has exceeded his revisional jurisidiction as that time revisional court was having limited jurisdiction. He placed upon Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act as on prior to 10.11.1980 and subsequent with effect from 10.11.1980 which are as follows:-

Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act before 10.11.1980 was as follows:-

48(1) The Director of Consolidation may call for and examine the record of any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the regularity of the proceedings; or as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order passed by such authority in the case or proceedings, may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, make such order in the case or proceedings as he thinks fit.

(2) Powers under sub-section (1) may be exercised by the Director of Consolidation also on a reference under sub-section (3).

(3) Any authority subordinate to the Director of Consolidation may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, refer the record of any case or proceedings to the Director of Consolidation for action under sub-section (1).

Explanation- For the purposes of this section, Settlement Officers, Consolidation, Consolidation Officers, Assistant Consolidation Officers, Consolidator and Consolidation Lekhpals shall be subordinate to the Director of Consolidation.

Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act with effect from 10.11.1980 as amended by U.P. Act No.3 of 2002 which is as follows:

48(1) The Director of Consolidation may call for and examine the record of any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the regularity of the proceedings; or as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order other than an interlocutory order passed by such authority in the case or proceedings, may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, make such order in the case or proceedings as he thinks fit.

(2) Powers under sub-section (1) may be exercised by the Director of Consolidation also on a reference under sub-section (3).

(3) Any authority subordinate to the Director of Consolidation may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, refer the record of any case or proceedings to the Director of Consolidation for action under sub-section (1).

Explanation (1)- For the purposes of this section, Settlement Officers, Consolidation, Consolidation Officers, Assistant Consolidation Officers, Consolidator and Consolidation Lekhpals shall be subordinate to the Director of Consolidation.

Explanation (2)- For the purposes of this section the expression 'interlocutory order' in relation to a case or proceeding, means such order deciding any matter arising in such case or proceeding or collateral thereto as does not have the effect to finally disposing of such case or proceeding.

Explanation (3)- The power under this section to examine the correctness, legality or propriety of any order includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority, and also includes the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence."

(Explanation (3) has been inserted by Legislature by U.P. Act No.3 of 2002 w.e.f. 10.11.1980)

8. Accordingly, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that Deputy Director of Consolidation illegally allowed the revision, setting aside the order of Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) who recorded finding of fact on the issue of execution of adoption deed.

He next submitted that revisional court has failed to consider the school certificate of the respondent no.2 in which name of his natural father was mentioned rather name of adopted father. He also submitted that revisional court has failed to notice that tenure holder Mathuri died on 10.8.1973 and petitioner applied for mutation on 4.8.1973. He further submitted that revisional court failed to notice the provisions of Section 9 of Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act and which was discussed in detail by Consolidation Officer and recorded finding that adoption deed set up by respondent no.2 is not proved. He further submitted that oral evidence adduced and documentary evidences adduced by both parties were fully taken into consideration by Consolidation Officer but Deputy Directory of Consolidation without considering the evidences on record, in accordance with law, arbitrarily allowed the revision which is illegal and liable to be quashed and the order of Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) be maintained.

9. On the other hand, counsel for the respondent no.2 submitted that revisional court has rightly allowed the revision while exercising revisional power under Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act. He further submitted that adoption was duly proved by respondent no.2 but Consolidation Officer has recorded wrong finding that adoption deed was not proved, the Deputy Directory of Consolidation has rightly allowed the revision, holding that adoption deed has been proved, as such, no interference is required against the impugned orders.

10. I have considered the argument advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. There is no dispute about the fact that petitioner was claiming right under Section 9A(2) of the U.P. C.H. Act, being widow of recorded tenure holder Mathuri and respondent no.2 was claiming on the basis of adoption deed alleged to be executed on 13.6.1973 by Mathuri in favour of respondent no.2. Consolidation Officer allowed the objection of the petitioner in respect to Khata No.343, 276 & 219 and claim of respondent no.2 on the basis of alleged adoption deed was not accepted. Settlement Officer (Consolidation) maintained the order of Consolidation Officer by dismissing the appeal of respondent no.2. In revision, Deputy Director of Consolidation allowed the revision, set aside the orders of Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) and ordered to record the name of respondent no.2 on the basis of adoption deed.

12. The Apex Court in Sher Singh (dead) by legal representatives vs. Jt. Director of Consolidation and Others, 1978 R.D. 170 held as under:-

"The principal question that falls for our determination in this case is whether in passing the impugned order, the Joint Director of Consolidation, exceeded the limits of the jurisdiction conferred on him under section 48 of the 1953 Act. For a proper decision of this question, it is necessary to advert to section 48 of the 1953 Act is it stood on the relevant date before its amendment by Act No. VIII of 1963 "Section 48 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act: The Director of Consolidation may call for the record of any case if the Officer (other than the Arbitrator) by whom the case was decided appears to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in him by law or to have failed to exercise jurisdiction so vested, or to have acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with substantial irregularity and may pass such orders in the case as it thinks fit."

As the above section is pari materia with section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, it will be profitable to ascertain the scope of the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court. It is now well settled that the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court is confined to cases of illegal or irregular exercise or non-exercise or illegal assumption of the jurisdiction by the subordinate courts. If a subordinate court is found to possess the jurisdiction to decide a matter, it cannot be said to exercise it illegally or with material irregularity even if it decides the matter wrongly. In other words, it is not open to the High Court while exer- cising its jurisdiction under section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure to correct errors of fact howsoever gross or even errors of law unless the errors have relation to the jurisdiction of the- court to try the dispute itself.

13. Since the order passed by revisional court, was of 24.9.1980 when revisional court was having limited jurisdiction under Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act as quoted above, as such, impugned revisional order is without jurisdiction. Consolidation Officer after considering each and every oral as well as documentary evidence on record as well as provisions of Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act has recorded finding of fact that adoption deed dated 13.6.1973 set up by respondent no.2 is not proved and cannot be believed but Deputy Director of Consolidation has arbitrarily held without considering the oral evidence as well as documentary evidences adduced by the parties that adoption deed is proved and respondent no.2 is to be recorded over disputed plot in place of petitioner which is wholly without jurisdiction, order as Deputy Director of Consolidation while exercising revisional power on 24.9.1980 was having limited jurisdiction. Deputy Director of Consolidation further failed to consider the reasoning and findings recorded by the Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) on the question who is heir of Mathuri and whether Sukhram is adopted son of Mathuri, as such, impugned revisional order cannot be sustained.

14. In view of the facts and circumstances mentioned above as well as ratio of law laid down in Sher Singh (supra), the impugned revisional order dated 24.9.1980 passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation, Jalaun, Urai in Revision No.258, under Section 48 of the U.P. C.H. Act is liable to be quashed and the same is hereby quashed.

15. Writ petition is allowed. Order passed by the Consolidation Officer dated 30.4.1974 and Settlement Officer (Consolidation) dated 20.11.1974 are hereby maintained. No order as to costs.

A. Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Maintainability – Title of property – Question of fact – Scope of interference – Held, adjudication of disputed question of fact is a matter of discretion and not a bar to the exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226, but it is well known that one of the grounds against the exercise of discretionary power vested in the High Court under Article 226 is where disputed facts have to be investigated – When such dispute exists between the parties, the right claimed by the petitioner is not capable of being adjudicated in the summary proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution, because, it requires a detailed examination of evidence as may be had in a suit. (Para 18)

B. Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Object – Primary object of Article 226 is enforcement of an established right and not the establishment of a right or title itself – This Court cannot be converted into a trial court in exercising its power under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. 6. P.R. Murlidharan & ors. Vs Swami Dharamananda Theertha Padar & ors.; (2006) 4 SC 501

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Avinash Singh Baghel, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ratnesh Chandra, learned counsel for respondent no.1. None appeared on behalf of respondent no.2 and 3.

2. Before, this Court embarks into the narration of the facts of the present case, it is implicit to enunciate that this writ petition raises an interesting aspect, wherein the old adage "a stitch in time saves nine", is squarely applicable to all the four corners of the present case. Essentially a dispute of demarcation between the U.P. Housing & Development Board and Navneet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti Limited has metamorphosed into a never ending dispute of right, title, entitlement and possession over a piece of land/plot between two warring private individuals. Alas!, even during pendency of the present issue before this Court for nearly two decades, neither the private individuals nor the public authority and not to speak of the Navneet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti Limited have taken any steps which would have resolved the issue of demarcation and made the disputed land/plot readily identifiable with the ownership right of either of the parties.

3. Briefly stating, the petitioner as being aggrieved against alleged inaction on the part of the U.P. Housing and Development Board for selling/allotting her Plot No.-17, Sector-12, Indira Nagar, Lucknow falling in khasra No.131 to private respondent no.2 and 3, has filed the present petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for the following reliefs:-

"(a) to issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the Opp. Parties not to interfere in the peaceful possession of the Plot in question of the petitioner situated at Khasra 131 Sector 12 Indiranagar Lucknow.

(b) to issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the Opp. Party No. 2 & 3 not to takeover possession of the piece of land of Plot No.17 of the petitioner/

(c) to issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the Opp. Party No.1 not to allot the plot of petitioner in question without being acquired to anyone else and to pay compensation thereof of mental agony and loss incurred to the petitioner.

4. It is the case of the petitioner that one Navneet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti Limited, a society registered under the provisions of the Society Registration Act (hereinafter to be referred as "Samiti") had purchased two plots of land, including khasra No.131, Sector-12 Indiranagar ad-measuring about 2 bighas, which was demarcated by the society into 18 plots. The petitioner claims to have purchased one such plot being Plot No.17, ad-measuring about 2275 sq. feet vide a sale deed dated 19.05.1980. The petitioner has averred in her writ petition that the respondent no.1 permitted constructions on these plots in the year 1982 subject to deposit of development charges with respect to the said khasra by the persons who had been allotted these plots. Admittedly, construction had been made in all the aforesaid 18 plots, except for Plot No.17 belonging to petitioner, which could not be constructed due to bona fide reasons and as such the plot was lying vacant.

5. It is the contention of the petitioner that Plot No.17 allotted to her by the Samiti in the year 1980 was again allotted/sold by respondent no.1 to the private respondents no.2 and 3 without any notice either to her or the Samiti. She alleges that the respondent no.1 has allotted her plot to respondents no.2 and 3 under some wrong perception and she came to knowledge of the same, when respondent no.2 and 3 tried to take possession and construct over the said plot. Thus, the fulcrum of the argument of the petitioner is three-fold:-

(i) Plot No.17 (new number-12/678) was allotted to her by Nanveet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti in the year 1980 and ever since then the plot had been lying vacant under her possession;

(ii) Plot No.17 was never acquired by respondent no.1 under the scheme known as Grihsthan Yozna and it was left as it belonged to the housing society and it is for this reason that even the lay out plan of Sector-12 of Indiranagar does not include the plot of the petitioner;

(iii) In any case, there was no notice of acquiring the said plot given by the respondent no.1 to her or to the housing society from whom she has purchased the said plot.

6. Notice were issued by this Court to respondents on 16.01.2002 and a direction was issued to maintain status-quo with regard to the plot in question.

7. The respondent no.2 and 3 have filed a joint counter affidavit on 08.04.2002 and have stated that khasra no.131 is about 2 bighas, which translates into about 54450 sq. feet, however, the Samiti has occupied an area more than 2 bighas in an unauthorized and illegal manner, as it has submitted a lay out plan for an area of 55309 sq. feet land. It is their case that the Samiti has illegally occupied the excess area of 859 sq. feet, which actually belongs to the respondent no.1. Thus, it is their case that the sale deed dated 29.05.1980 executed in favour of the petitioner is a void document and does not confer any right or title on the petitioner. They went on to dispute the total area in possession of the petitioner and claimed that the respondent no.1 has prepared the lay out plan for the land acquired. It was pursuant to the said acquisition that auction for allotment was held on 01.04.2001 as advertised in Daily Dainik Jagran. It is the case of the respondent no.2 and 3, they have participated in the said auction and as such Plot No.12/678 ad-measuring about 152.23 sq. meter (1621.24 sq. feet) was allotted and registered in their favour vide sale deed dated 22.11.2001 and armed with the said sale deed they have taken possession of the said land and started construction. They say that the four walls of the house have already been constructed as per photographs filed by them and only the roof was to be constructed and the same was within the knowledge of the Samiti. According to them khasra no.131 adjacent to khasra no.127 is situated in Village-Ismailganj, District-Lucknow and the said Plot No.17 has been illegally carved out in the lay out plan of khasra no.131, which is actually not on the land purchased by the Samiti. They say that in fact the said Plot No.17 is situated on the land of khasra no.127 which had been acquired by the U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, Lucknow under Section 28 of the U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad Act. The sum and substance of their argument is:-

(i) The Samiti has got no right to illegally occupy and to submit the lay out plan on the land of the area more than what has been purchased by them from agriculturists;

(ii) The said Samiti has got no right to sell said Plot No.17 of its own scheme, which does not belong to it and which is a part of land of khasra no.127;

(iii) The land of Plot No.17 is not situated on khasra no.131 of Village-Ismailganj, District-Lucknow, rather it is situated on khasra no.127 of Village-Ismailganj, District-Lucknow which has been acquired by Awas Evam Vikas Parishad;

(iv) U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad had developed Sector-12 in Village-Ismailganj, District-Lucknow after acquisition of the said land as aforesaid;

(v) The entire khasra no. 127 was allotted to respected allottees but some of the plots carved out were left vacant as such auction of Plot Nos.714, 677, 678 of Sector-12 was conducted by the Parishad, wherein respondent no. 2 and 3 were allotted Plot No.678 in Sector-12, Indiranagar, Lucknow;

(vi) The respondent no.2 and 3 are rightful owners of Plot No.12/678 purchased from U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad and in total they have spent Rs. 9 lakhs on the said plot;

(vii) They further say that the plot in question was never in actual possession of the petitioner, whereas they have been in actual physical possession of the plot and had started constructing their house on the plot;

(viii) The respondent no.1 was functus-officio after the sale of the said land to them as they are main affected parties who are holding title of the plot in question;

(ix) Thus, according to them the matter is a purely civil dispute involving ascertaining of boundaries of the property in dispute as well as for possession for which only civil court is competent and writ was not maintainable.

8. The respondent no.1 filed their counter affidavit on 12.01.2011 primarily premised on the ground that the petitioner has to establish the rights of the society as well as her rights over the ownership of the plot in question. The petitioner was called upon to show the sanctioned or approved lay out plan of the plots of the Samiti as it was stated by respondent no.1 that the lay out plan of the Samiti was not sanctioned by the Parishad and in any case the petitioner ought to have impleaded the Samiti in the present writ petition. It is their submission that the issue relating to possession of the petitioner should be taken up with the Samiti and non-joinder of Samiti in the present petition is fatal. The respondent no.1 has further stated that the petitioner cannot take advantage of the illegal acts of the Samiti and the Parishad is the owner of the plot in question from much before and as such their cannot be two numbers of the same plot in same scheme. As per their averments in the counter affidavit, Plot No.12/678 was allotted in favour of respondent no.2 and 3 and if according to the petitioner any dispute relating to plot in question arose she should have raised the dispute before the proper forum, against the co-operative society from whom possession was allegedly taken by her. According to them the illegal plot had been sold to the petitioner by the Samiti and not by them and as such there is no cause against them for filing the present writ petition.

9. In rejoinder affidavit filed on 11.10.2004, the petitioner has stated that the contention of respondent no. 2 and 3 are based on surmises & conjectures. They reiterate that they are owner of the plot in question and the claim that the plot had been sold illegally to the respondent no.2 and 3 by respondent no.1 without acquiring the same. No records have been filed by respondent no.1 to show that the plot in question is falling in khasra no.127. She says that the Samiti has taken possession of the land which was left by the Awas Evam Vikas Parishad and not included while the land was acquired. They reiterate that the plot falls in khasra no.131 for which sale deed had been executed in her favour by the Samiti by total area of 2275 sq. feet. As regards filing of the lay out plan of the plot in question, she says that she is owner of the plot by virtue of a registered sale deed and filing of the lay out plan is not her duty. She also reiterates that till 21.04.2001 the land in question was vacant and it was not developed by Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, which says that the land was in possession of the petitioner and it belongs to khasra no.131 as land belonged to Sector-12 of Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, Indiranagar was sold during the decade of 1980. They say that the respondents are not rightful owner of Plot No.12/678 to the extent to which they have illegally taken the possession of the petitioner's land.

10. The respondent no.2 and 3 have filed supplementary counter affidavit dated 09.11.2004, in response to the rejoinder affidavit of the petitioner. Besides reiteration of earlier stand taken by them in their counter affidavit, they have also stated that the disputed land was developed by the Awas Evam Vikas Parishad much earlier in 1985 before the execution of the sale deed in favour of respondent no.2 & 3 and 9 meters wide road has been developed by the Awas Evam Vikas Parishad. They state that the plots developed by the Samiti having narrow road about 25 sq. feet wide is a stark difference and there is no confusion between the plot of the respondent no.2 and 3 which is existing near Nandini Montessori School and park on the other hand is situated on 9 meters wide road of Awas Evam Vikas Parishad from two sides of the plot and there is no question as to how can the disputed plot be termed to belong to the Samiti.

11. In the interregnum, the petitioner left for her heavenly abode on 04.11.2013 and as per the application preferred she was survived by five legal heirs namely:- (i) Ravindra Nath Srivastava, (ii) Anurag Srivastava ,(iii) Nishi Srivastava, (iv) Richa Srivastava, (v) Shikha Srivastava. It was on 12.08.2017 the legal heirs of petitioner chose to file a rejoinder affidavit to the counter affidavit filed by respondent no.1. The petitioners denied the contention of respondent no.1 as made out by them in the counter affidavit and also submitted that they have collected information through R.T.I. and other sources, wherein it is invariably available that:-

(i) respondent no.1 and his officers created far higher number of plots in the extension of Parishad's housing colony in Indiranagar, Lucknow than 656 plots of different sizes envisaged in relevant control and development plan of the Parishad in the year 1985;

(ii) Respondent no.1 did not exercise due diligence for demarcation of boundaries and table survey;

(iii) The process of allotment of plots in the Parishad's housing colony continued for about two decades and was piecemeal etc.

12. Armed with the aforesaid information provided under the provisions of R.T.I., the petitioner vehemently argued that the plot in question is a part of samayojan housing scheme, which was never acquired by respondent no.1 and demand of development charges from the Samiti for development of Samiti's samayojit housing colony on khasra no.131 of Village-Ismailganj is of no relevance to acquisition or non-acquisition. According to them the officers of respondent no.1 have acted in a high handed and illegal manner in creating and auctioning Plot No.12/677 and 12/678 in the year 2001, i.e. after 19 years of samayojan.

13. The petitioner has also disputed the lay out of the housing colony of the Samiti filed by the respondents as allegedly they are fabricated/tampered to support the illegal actions of the respondent no.1. The petitioner has filed certified copy of part map of khasra plots of Village-Ismailganj, Pargana, Tehsil and District-Lucknow showing khasra plot no.131 along with other contiguous plots, extract map of the housing colony of the Samiti. The petitioner categorically contends that plot no.12/674, 12/675 and 12/676 could not be seen in the record of the Sampatti Prabandhak or the concerned executive engineer, which obviously means that no such plots existed in the Parishad's housing scheme of Sector-12, Indira Nagar, Lucknow. There are too many insertions in the extract, unlike part site plan signed by Awas Ayukt. Further, there are many inaccuracies like school, shop figuring in the site plan included in the extract lay out plan, which were never provided in the housing scheme in Sector-12, Indiranagar, Lucknow. Thus, they say that the site plan filed by the respondents is totally unreliable. The petitioners have also filed various documents relating to seeking information and reply thereto under the provisions of R.T.I. from the authority and/or the appellate authority relating to the plot in question.

14. This Court has taken pain to pen down the facts in extenso, in order to satisfy itself about the real controversy between the parties. Essentially the crux of the dispute between the parties lies in the representation dated 31.12.2001 (annexure no.6 to the writ petition) sent by the petitioner to the respondent no.1, which is being extracted herein below:-

"Dear Sir.

Sub: Representation against acquisition of Plot of residential land belonging to me adjoining Sector 12 of Indra Nagar, Lucknow.

As a member of Navneet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti Ltd, L-10/2, Badshahnagar Colony, Lucknow was allotted Plot No. 17 in the Housing Scheme of the above society for my residential purposes. The above plot of land measuring about 2275 sq.ft was sold to me by the Society on 19th May 1980. The Plot was part of a piece of land purchased by the Society in Village Munshipurwa Mazra ismailganj, Post Ghazipur, Tahsil & District Lucknow situated on Kukrail Manoranjan Ban Road Khasra No 131 (Khatauni No 193).

Since my husband has been moving on transfer from place to place, it could not be possible so far to construct residential premises on the above Plot. One of my relatives has been looking after the property and only last week to our utter surprise he found that someone has dug up foundation of a building including nearly half of my Plot. On enquiry we learn that the person claims that adjoining land including part of my land has been allotted and sold by your good offices*. There has been no notice of any acquisition proceeding either to me or to the above named Housing Society.*

I register my strong protest and objection against this kind of illegal action and request that the same may be rescinded and the total area of the Plot be restored to me forthwith

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours faithfully

(SHEELA SRIVASTAVA)

CC: The Secretary

Navneet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samd: Lto L-102 Badshahnagar Colony, Lucknow

Secretary,

Navneet Sahakan Grih Nirman Samiti 12 Nandini Vihar,

Nandini Montessan School Fendra Nagar Lucknow (UP)

Ref enquiries made by my brother S Vay Kumar Sivastava with your Sri Bimal Chandra Stivastava." (emphasis supplied by underlying)

15. From the representation it is clear that the petitioner is aggrieved because nearly half of her plot being Plot No.17 has been dug up by respondent no. 2 & 3 for construction and apparently on enquiry it was learnt by her that the respondent no. 2 and 3 claims that the adjoining land including part of her land has been allotted and sold by respondent no.1.

16. Thus, the issue according to this Court primarily revolves around some over-lapping area between the plot owned by the petitioner on the one hand, which has been allotted as Plot No.17 by "Nanveet Sahkari Grih Nirman Samiti Ltd." in khasra no. 131, Village-Ismailganj, Pargana, Tehsil and District-Lucknow and the plot owned as Plot No.12/678 allotted by "U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad" in khasra no.127, Village-Ismailganj, Pargana, Tehsil and District-Lucknow.

17. There is no denial of the fact that both khasra no.127 and khasra no.131 are adjoining khasra of the same village. There is also no denial of the fact that the plot of the petitioner, which was allotted vide sale deed in the year 1980 remained unconstructed through the year 2001. There is also no denial of the fact that respondent no.1 developed khasra no. 127 into Sector-12, Indiranagar, Lucknow in the year 1985, however, the plot no. 12/678 came to be auctioned and subsequently occupied by respondent no. 2 and 3 in the year 2001 only. There is nothing on record to suggest as to how and in what manner the plot no.17 or plot no.12/678 can be identifiable as independent to each other or for that matter co-exist without causing any violation to the territory/ boundary of the other. The lay out plan of the respondents also does not clearly signifies anything and if the Court may say it makes the matter worse and complex. It is not a case wherein the same plot has been allotted to different individuals and each of them are claiming their right over the same plot, rather the issue is that a plot which is supposed to be belonging to the Samiti is allotted to the petitioner and the same plot is again supposed to be that of the respondent no.1 is now being allotted to respondent no.2 and 3.

18. The present case essentially is for title as possession and the consequential relief would follow the title of the property.

It is no gain saying that the adjudication of disputed question of fact is a matter of discretion and not a bar to the exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, but it is well known that one of the grounds against the exercise of discretionary power vested in the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is where disputed facts have to be investigated. The reason is that when such dispute exists between the parties, the right claimed by the petitioner is not capable of being adjudicated in the summary proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution, because, it requires a detailed examination of evidence as may be had in a suit.

19. The primary object of Article 226 is enforcement of an established right and not the establishment of a right or title itself. The petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India cannot be converted into a suit to resolve factual controversies as the proceedings are summary in nature. Intricate and complex questions of title to a property, its boundaries or possession, they cannot be ordinarily gone into by a writ court. After perusing pleadings of the parties, it is not possible for this Court to conclusively record findings on factual pleadings urged by the parties. It requires investigation of disputed facts by permitting the parties to lead evidences and it also involves appreciation of evidences that may be so led by the parties. This Court cannot be converted into a trial court in exercising its power under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, particularly, when the party which has approached this Court under Article 226 can work out his/its remedy by approaching the competent jurisdictional civil court. Indisputably, there is no dispute that khasra no.131 and khasra no.127 (later developed as Sector-12, Indiranagar) are situated in the same Village-Ismailganj, Pargana, Tehsil and District-Lucknow and both are adjoining to each other. It is quite possible that there must be some land over-lapping each other as admittedly there had been no demarcation and the dispute also exists relating to demarcation. As a matter of fact none of the parties have sought for demarcation of the disputed plots either before filing the present case or even after filing the same and each of them have been holding their ground in claiming that they are actual owners of the disputed plots. In any case, this Court cannot lose sight of the fact that it is only after proper demarcation that the rights of both the petitioners and respondents no.2 and 3 would flow from their respective sellers which can only be determined by leading evidences in a competent court of revenue/civil jurisdiction as advisable to the parties.

20. In any case, disputed question that arise for decision in the instant case cannot be resolved on the basis of pleadings and documents produced by the parties, and in fact it requires further investigation into the disputed facts. It is well settled by a catena of judgments that the disputed question of facts or a title to a property or a right to possession are not, normally, examined in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Suffice, if some of these judgments are taken note of:-

(i) In "Sohan Lal Vs. Union of India'; (1957) SCR 738, the Supreme Court held, thus:-

".....We do not propose to enquire into the merits of the rival claims of title to the property in dispute set up by the appellant and Jagan Nath. If we were to do so, we would be entering into a field of investigation which is more appropriate for a Civil Court in a properly constituted suit to do rather than for a Court exercising the prerogative of issuing writs. There are questions of fact and law which are in dispute requiring determination before the respective claims of the parties to this appeal can be decided. Before the property in dispute can be restored to Jagan Nath it will be necessary to declare that he had title in that property and was entitled to recover possession of it. This would in effect amount to passing a decree in his favour. In the circumstances to be mentioned hereafter, it is a matter for serious consideration whether in proceedings under Art. 226 of the Constitution such a declaration ought to be made and restoration of the property to Jagan Nath be ordered....." (emphasis supplied)

(ii) In "New Satgram Engineering Works Vs. Union of India'; (1980) 4 SCC 570, the Supreme Court held thus:-

"....."Where there is a dispute as to whether a particular property vests or not, the dispute undoubtedly is a civil dispute and must, therefore, be resolved by a suit. ....."(emphasis supplied)

(iii) In "Parvatibai Subhanaro Nalwade (Smt.) Vs. Anawarli Hasanali Makani'; (1992) 1 SCC 414, the Supreme Court held thus:-

".....Before closing this judgment we would like to emphasise that in cases relating to immovable properties which are governed by the ordinary civil law the High Court should not exercise its special jurisdiction under the Constitution unless the circumstances are exceptional....."(emphasis supplied)

(iv) In "Mohan Pandey and Another Vs. Usharani Rajgaria (Smt.) and Others'; (1992) 4 SCC 61, the Supreme Court held thus:-

".....It has repeatedly been held by this court as also by various High Courts that a regular suit is the appropriate remedy for settlement of disputes relating to property rights between private persons and that the remedy under Article 226 of the constitution shall not be available except where violation of some statutory duty on the part of a statutory authority is alleged. And in such a case, the court will issue appropriate direction to the authority concerned. If the real grievance of the respondent is against the initiation of criminal proceedings, and the orders passed and steps taken thereon, she must avail of the remedy under the general law including the criminal procedure code, the High Court allow the constitutional jurisdiction to be used for deciding disputes, for which remedies, under the general law, civil or criminal, are available. It is not intended to replace the ordinary remedies by way of a suit or application available to a litigant. The jurisdiction is special and extra-ordinary and should not be exercised casually or lightly....." (emphasis supplied)

(v) In "State of Rajasthan Vs. Bhawani Singh'; 1193 (Suppl.) 1 SCC 306, the Supreme Court held thus:-

".....Having heard the counsel for the parties, we are of the opinion, that the writ petition was misconceived insofar as it asked for, in effect, a declaration of writ petitioner's title to the said plot. It is evident from the facts stated hereinabove that the title of the writ petitioner in very much in dispute. Disputed question relating to title cannot be satisfactorily gone into or adjudicated in a writ petition....." (emphasis added)

21. Having narrated the aforesaid facts in extenso, this Court is of the view that the dispute between the parties is a property dispute which could be well resolved by filing a suit before the appropriate Court. Although, the petitioner has sought for possession of the plot in question but this Court is of the view that in the facts of this case such a relief cannot be given, especially when the possession has to be established first. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of "P.R. Murlidharan and Others Vs. Swami Dharamananda Theertha Padar and others", reported in (2006) 4 SC 501 held:-

"It would be an abuse of process for a writ petitioner to approach the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution seeking a writ of mandamus directing the police authorities to protect his claimed possession of a property without first establishing his possession in an appropriate civil court. The temptation to grant relief in cases of this nature should be resisted by the High Court. The wide jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution would remain effective and meaningful only when it is exercised prudently and in appropriate situations."

22. It needs no restatements at our hands that where there is a dispute as to whether a particular property vests or not, in the State or in any private individual the dispute undoubtedly is a civil dispute and must, therefore, be resolved by a suit and not in a proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. It is well recognized principle of law that a regular suit is the proper remedy for settlement of disputes relating to property rights between parties.

23. The upshot of the above discussion is that writ petition deserves to be dismissed, leaving it open to the petitioner to agitate her grievance in a suit before the civil court of competent jurisdiction. Since the writ petition is dismissed not on merits but on the ground that this Court, in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, would not, normally, adjudicate disputed questions of title, it is wholly unnecessary for this Court to examine the respondents contention and same are therefore, left open for adjudication, if need be, in appropriate proceedings.

24. The writ petition fails and is accordingly dismissed. However, in the circumstances without cost.

25. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prashant Chandra, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ansuman Singh the counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 08.10.2021 passed by the committee constituted under the Government Order whereby the request for grant of No Objection Certificate to the petitioner has been rejected.

3. The facts, in brief, are that the petitioner claims to be running a school which is recognized up to Class 8th by the State of U.P. and the petitioner, on account of enhancement of the students, desirous of obtaining affiliation with the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE for short), applied before the CBSE for grant of affiliation.

4. It is argued that in terms of the requirements as enumerated by the CBSE, the petitioner possesses all requisite criterias for grant of affiliation. As the Rules framed by the CBSE for grant of affiliation require the production of a NOC from the State of U.P., the petitioner applied for grant of NOC, which has been rejected and which is under challenge.

5. The counsel for the petitioner argues that in terms of the requirements of both the CBSE and ICSE, wherein a requirement for obtaining a NOC is specified, the State Government has issued a Government Order wherein, the procedure for grant of NOC, desired by various schools, is specified. The said GO provides for constitution of a Committee comprising of four persons which shall look into the issue with regard to the application for grant of NOC and shall pass orders thereupon. No further guidelines have been framed as to how and in what manner the said committee shall proceed to grant the NOC, thus, it is left to the discretion of the committee to either grant the NOC or to refuse the same.

6. It is on record that in pursuance to the application filed by the petitioner for grant of NOC, one of the Members of the Committee namely the DIOS of the district carried out some investigation and based upon the same submitted its report on 16.11.2019. The Joint Director of Education, Lucknow vide his order dated 16.11.2019 itself, quoting the report as submitted by the DIOS proceeded to reject the application of the petitioner. The reasoning as contained in the order of rejection dated 16.11.2019 are quoted herein below:

1. "शासन द्वारा भूमि का अधिग्रहण विद्यालय हेतु किया गया था। इस स्थिति में भूमि का प्रयोग माध्यमिक शिक्षा परिषद, उत्तर प्रदेश से मान्यता प्राप्त विद्यालय के निमित्त ही औचित्यपूर्ण है। यदि विद्यालय की भूमि को प्रबन्धतन्त्र द्वारा किसी अन्य शैक्षिक प्रयोग हेतु लिया जाना है तो उसकी औपचारिक अनुमति सक्षम अधिकारी स्तर से आस्तियों का अपव्यय निवारण अधिनियम-1974 की संगत धाराओं के अन्तर्गत प्राप्त की जानी अनिवार्य है, जो कि विद्यालय प्रबन्धतन्त्र द्वारा नहीं की गयी थी।

2. श्री योगेश्वर ऋषिकुल इण्टर कोज, मेहन्दीगंज लखनऊ की प्रबन्ध समिति के सचिव श्री सुव्रतों मजूमदार द्वारा उ०प्र० शैक्षिक संस्थायें (आस्तियों के अपव्यय का निवारण) अधिनियम 1974 का उल्लघंन कर हुए विद्यालय की कुल भूमि (22 बीघा, '12 बिस्वा, 10 विस्वांसी) की की आधी भूमि लगभग 29914.77 वर्ग मीटर मेसर्स डी लोटर्स बिल्डर्स एवं कालोनाइजर्स को बेच दी गयी।

3. उपाध्यक्ष लखनऊ विकास प्राधिकरण लखनऊ के पत्रांक - 747 / 117/14 दिनांक 28.08.201 द्वारा दिये गये निर्णय में स्पष्ट किया गया है कि शिक्षा के उपयोगार्थ श्री योगेश्वर ऋषिकुल इण्टर कोज मेहन्दीगंज लखनऊ द्वारा लगभग 22 बीघा, 12 बिस्वा, 10 विस्वांसी भूमि प्राधिकरण योजना के अन्तर्गत अर्जन से मुक्त की गयी थी, जिसमें से आधी से अधिक भूमि लगभग 31,918.80 वर्ग मी० भूमि सोसाइटी के सचिव श्री सुव्रतो मजूमदार द्वारा धोखाधड़ी एवं जालसाजी करके करोड़ो रूपये में निजी लाभ हेतु आवासीय एवं व्यवसायिक उपयोग के लिये बेच दी गयी, जो कि अवैधानिक एवं अवैध है।

4. विद्यालय प्रधानाचार्य द्वारा काइम संख्या0525 दिनांक 04.10.2018 द्वारा थाना बाजार खाला, लखनऊ में श्री सुब्रतो मजूमदार, श्री राजीव बिसारिया एवं केता दाऊ दयाल अग्रवाल एवं मेसर्स डी लोटर्स बिल्डर्स एवं कालोनाइजर्स के विरुद्ध भारतीय दण्ड संहिता की धारा 420, 467, 468, 471 के अर्न्तगत प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट दर्ज करायी गयी, जिसमें श्री सुब्रतो मजूमदार लगभग 40-45 दिन जेल पर रहे। वर्तमान समय में श्री मजूमदार जमानत पर रिहा हैं तथा प्रकरण माननीय न्यायालय में विचाराधीन है।"

7. Aggrieved against the said order dated 16.11.2019, the petitioner preferred a Writ Petition before this Court being Misc. Single No.3010 of 2021 before this Court. It was urged that the order has been passed by one person based upon the enquiry report of one of the constituent of the committee, as such, the order was bad in law.

8. The said argument found favour with this Court which vide its order dated 15.07.2021 proceeded to set aside the order dated 16.11.2019 giving liberty to the respondents to take a fresh decision in the light of the Government Order dated 14.07.2009. In pursuance to the said liberty granted by this Court, a fresh order has been passed, which is contained in Annexure no.1. The said order is similar to the earlier order dated 16.11.2009 and is under challenge in the present writ petition.

9. Sri PrashantChandra,senior advocate, appearing on behalf of the petitioner was called upon to address this court with regard to the points noticed in the report of the DIOS and as reproduced in the impugned order as well as the order dated 16.11.2019. In respect of the first objection, wherein it is recorded that the land in question was acquired by the State for setting up a school and thus it would be proper if the said land is used for setting up a school, which has affiliation with the Intermediate Education Board and not for any other school to use the same for academic activities. It was essential to take permission under The U.P. Educational Institutions (Prevention of Dissipation of Assets) Act, 1974 (for short Act of 1974). In response to the said observations, he argues that the land was acquired for setting up an academic institution and the petitioner is exactly serving the said cause, thus, the same has no basis.

10. The second objection recorded by the DIOS wherein it is recorded that the land in question after acquisition was allotted to one Society in the name of Baldev Vidya Peeth and the Manager of the said institution had sold a part of the property to one D-Lotus Builders and Colonizers in contravention of the 'Act of 1974'.

11. The third objection records that in terms of the letter issued by the Lucknow Development Authority to the effect that out of the total land acquired, a substantial part of the said land was left out of acquisition and was allotted to the society in question, which has been sold by the secretary of the society by playing fraud for personal benefit for housing and Commercial purposes, which was arbitrary and illegal.

12. In response to the objection as referred to in Clause 2 and 3 and referred in foregoing paragraphs, Sri Chandra argues that in respect of the property which are owned by the societies, after amendment in the Societies Registration Act, Section 5-A(as it then was) was introduced, wherein the District Judge is empowered to grant sanction of any property being transferred by the Society registered under the Act and the approval of the Court is essential for making any such transfer. In the light of the said amendment as contained in Section 5-A, he argues that prior to transfer in favour of the petitioner, an application for permission from the District Judge was sought for in Misc. Case no.142 of 1993 filed in the Court of District Judge, Lucknow wherein all the questions, including scope of Section 5-A of the Societies Registration Act was considered and the permission for transfer was granted by the District Judge vide an order dated 03.08.1995. He argues that the said order was challenged by the Lucknow Development Authority by filing a Writ Petition No.2719 of 1995 before this court, which too was dismissed by this court on 16.05.2005 and thus, the said order of the District Judge has attained finality. he argues that once there is a specific provision under the Act, the general provision as proposed to be relied upon by the respondents being the 'Act of 1974' looses significance.In any event even under the 1974 Act the final arbiter of disputes is the District Judge as specified under Section 5 of the 1974 Act. Thus, the objections mentioned in Clause 2 and 3 become irrelevant.

13. With regard to the objection mentioned at serial no.4 in the DIOS report and as extracted above, that a first information report has been registered against the secretary of the society, who was imprisoned and was later on enlarged on bail, in response to the said, Sri Chandra argues that the correct fact is that an FIR was registered however it will have no affect on the decree passed by the District Judge.

14. He also argues that in terms of the requirement as framed by the CBSE and as extracted herein below being paragraph 2:3:5, the requirement of a no objection certificate from the State Government cannot give unbridled powers to the State Government, the said requirement has to be interpreted keeping in view the requirements of the site on which the School is proposed to be established, the likelihood of the school causing any nuisance and that the school being constructed in an area, which is prohibited under any law, the requirement of NOC cannot give unbridled powers to the State Government to dwell on the validity and legality and correctness of all steps of the society in the school.

15. He further argues that the Government Order issued by the State Government is silent on that subject, which is resulting in state authorities exercising powers and entering into spheres which are beyond their jurisdiction only on the basis of the Government Order.

16. He argues that the NOC required under the regulations should have some relevant nexus to the objects sought to be achieved in granting of affiliation and cannot be understood to give unbridled powers to the State Government to harass the applicants. He further argues that the Right to Education now being a fundamental right is to be promoted by the State Government at all levels and the manner in which the decision has been taken, militates against the constitutional duties imposed upon the State Government for providing the education to the citizens. He places reliance on the following judgments:

i. Chintpurni Medical College and Hospital and another vs. State of Punjab and others; (2018) 15 SCC 1.

ii. Mangilal vs. State of M.P. (2004) 2 SCC 447;

iii. Gangotri Enterprises Limited vs. Union of India and others (2016) 11 SCC 720.

iv. Rattan Lal Sharma vs. Managing Committee Dr. Hari Ram (Co-Education) Higher Secondary School and others (1993) 4 SCC 10

v. A. K. Kraipak and others vs. Union of India and others; 1969 (2) SCC 262

vi. State of U.P. vs. Vijay Kumar Tripathi and another; 1995 Supp (1) SCC 552.

17. The Standing Counsel on the other hand argues that the State was well within its jurisdiction to deny the permission as sought by the petitioner. He argues that the permission granted by the District Judge was not an unconditional permission and the DIOS has rightly gone into the those questions while giving the report against the grant of NOC.

18. The State Government on Courts directions had produced the instructions, however there was no record produced by the State Government to the effect that the land granted in favour of the petitioner has ever been cancelled or that they do not continue to be the owners of the land as claimed by them.

19. In view of the submissions made at the bar, this court is to consider as to what are the scope of the powers conferred upon the State Government in pursuance to clause 2:3:5 of the CBSE Manual which prescribes for obtaining a no objection certificate from the State Government to the effect that the State Government has no objection to the affiliation of the school with the CBSE.

20. It is necessary to notice the requirements specified by CBSE for grant of affiliations to the schools desirous of seeking affiliation.The necessary requirements (for deciding the lis)are specified in paragraphs 2.3.4 and 2.3.5 which are quoted herein below.

*"2.3.4 : Recognition from the respective State Government.

The Schools seeking affiliation with the Board shall submit formal prior Recognition Certificate from concerned State Education Department as per extant rules and provisions contained in RTE Act 2009.

2.3.5 : No objection from the respective State Government.

The schools mentioned under clauses 2.1.5, 2.1.6, 2.1.7 and 2.1.8 seeking affiliation with the Board shall submit formal prior 'No Objection Certificate' to the effect that State Government has no objection to the affiliation of the School with CBSE. No Objection Certificate once issued to any school will be considered at par even if it prescribes a specific period and/ or level unless it is withdrawn."

21. While paragraph 2.3.4 prescribes recognition under Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education ,Act 2009 and Rules framed there under,paragraph 2.3.5 deals with affiliation.

22. The difference between 'recognition' and 'affiliation' was explained by Supreme Court in THE PRINCIPAL AND OTHERS vs THE PRESIDING OFFICER AND OTHERS (1978) 1 SCC 498 wherein the Court recorded as under :

"There is a significant difference between 'affiliation' and 'recognition. Whereas 'affiliation', it may be noted, is meant to prepare and present the students for public examination, 'recognition' of a private school is for other purposes mentioned in the Act and it is only when the School is recognised by the " appropriate authority' that it becomes amenable to other provisions of the Act."

23. In pursuance to the said requirement prescribing obtaining of no objection for affiliation under paragraph 2.3.5, the State Government has issued an extensive Government Order prescribing the manner in which the applications seeking no objection certificate shall be dealt with. The Government Order dated 14.07.2009 records the requirement as issued by the CBSE and also with the ICSE Board and proceeded to constitute a committee comprising of four persons who were conferred with the power of inspection and were further to provide a report in terms of the said inspection for being granted the no objection certificate.

24. It is interesting to note that the CBSE has issued extensive guidelines specifying requirements by the institutions seeking affiliation with them. The specifications include the requirements of Area, requirements of fullfilling essential safety guidelines, informations regarding staff, etc one of the requirements of CBSE for grant of affiliation as contained in paragraph no.2:3:5 is, that the State Government has no objection to the affiliation of the school with the CBSE. In the garb of the said requirement, the Government Order dated 14.07.2009 is framed specifying the requirements for grant of no objection certificate and in furtherance of the said guidelines has proceeded to pass the order impugned which has gone into the question of manner in which the property was acquired by the petitioner institute and the various stages of litigation. It further goes into the requirement which are prescribed for grant of affiliation by the CBSE in the Chapter III Rule 3.2 and Chapter II Rule 3.3 and Chapter II Rule 3.4.

25. From the perusal of the impugned order, it appears that the State Government took over the role of the CBSE to find whether the petitioner would be entitled for the affiliation or not. The said action of going into the title and the other requirements as prescribed by the CBSE were clearly beyond the requirement as specified in Clause 2:3:5 as well as in the Government Order dated 14.07.2009. The requirement as specified by CBSE is confined to a no objection only with regard to affiliation, thus the normal meaning that can be deciphered from interpretation of clause 2:3:5 is that the State Government has to grant a no objection certificate only to the effect that whether the State Government has any objection to the institutions being 'affiliated' with the CBSE. No other requirement is to be fulfilled by the State Government while deciding application for grant of NOC for affiliation.The other requirements are to be judged by the CBSE while granting or refusing to grant affiliation. The Government Order dated 14.07.2009 clearly goes beyond the prescribed scope of the grant of no objection certificate by the State, it clearly infringes the right of the petitioner's institution to run an educational institution after getting affiliation from CBSE which itself is a society registered under the Societies Registration Act. The requirement of obtaining a no objection certificate of affiliation from the State Government cannot confer the right on the State Government to act like a bull in a china shop and to carry a roving enquiry/investigation into the manner of acquisition of title as has been done by means of the impugned order.

26. The scope of no objection certificate as is required in terms of clause 2:3:5 is only confined to the objection by the State with regard to the grant of affiliation with CBSE, as sought by the petitioner from the CBSE. It cannot go into any other question. It is inconceivable as to what the four member committee constituted in terms of the Government Order dated 14.07.2009 is to oversee while granting the no objection certificate for affiliation. It appears that the Government Order as perceived the no objection certificate by the State for affiliation as the power on the State Government to see whether the institution fulfills all the requirements as are prescribed by the CBSE for grant of affiliation. The said fact is also evident from the manner in which the applications have been invited and the disclosures with regard to title etc. have been demanded and have been supplied by the petitioner.

27. In view of the my specific view that the scope of powers for grant of no objection certificate for affiliation is only confined to the powers of the State for objecting only to the affiliation and nothing beyond that. It appears that the requirement as specified in Clause 2:3:5 was incorporated because a State, in exercise of its powers can take a ground to promote education only through its Regional Boards and not otherwise and thus the no objection certificate as required under Clause 2:3:5 is confined to that issue alone.

28. The Supreme Court while dealing with some guidelines framed by the State of Kerala for granting NOC to the institutions applying for afffiliation with CBSE hads held in the case of State of Kerala vs Mythri Vidyabhavan English Medium School (2020) 20 SCC 669 held that the guidelines issued should have some relevant nexus with the object sought to be achieved.

29. In the present case, not only a roving enquiry has been made but the State has gone ahead in taking decisions which it could not had taken in the garb of requirement of grant of no objection certificate for affiliation. Thus, I have no hesitation in holding that the State Government has exceeded its mandate in rejecting the request for grant for no objection certificate for affiliation. I am not going into the question of validity of the Government Order as the same is not under challenge in the present writ petition. As there is no bar in affiliation of schools with Boards other than the U.P. Board in the State of Uttar Pradesh as various schools affiliated to both CBSE and ICSE Boards are imparting education in the State, there is no reason available with the State to deny the no objection certificate, which is required only for grant of affiliation and nothing more. All the other issues pertaining to the grant of affiliation as sought by the petitioner before the CBSE have to be dealt with by the CBSE in accordance with their rules which have been held to be pragmatic by the Supreme Court in case of State of Kerala (supra). Thus, the order dated 08.10.2021 is quashed with directions to the respondents to grant the no objection certificate for affiliation as sought by the petitioner within a period of two months from today.

30. The writ petition is allowed in terms of the said order.

A. Education – Constitution of India – Article 14 – Right to equality – Admission for medical course – Denial of admission – Permissibility – Rights to put back back in original position, restitution thereof – Held, an admission in medical course is very important in the professional life of a candidate/student and payment of compensation to such candidate/ student would not be a just and equitable relief – A right to equal and fair treatment is imbibed as a component of Article 14 of the Constitution and any denial of fair treatment to the petitioner would not only violate his/her right under Article 14 of the Constitution but would also seriously jeopardize his/her right under Articles 19 & 21 of the Constitution – The petitioners can claim restitution of their rights and must be put back in the original position. (Para 28 and 29)

B. Education – Admission for medical course – Cut-off dates – Violation – Effect – Two similarly situated candidates were allowed to join, how far relevant – Held, the cut-off dates are sacrosanct and the violation thereof cannot be compromised – Although, the petitioners claiming parity have been successful in demonstrating that they are entitled to be treated equally with candidates, however the hands of this court are tied and we would not depart from the settled view of academic schedule in order to add further anamolies – Further held, While our sympathies are with the petitioners and other similarly placed, we are unable to grant any relief to them or approve of the distinction pointed out; unfortunately, sympathies cannot supplant the Law – High Court granted liberty to the petitioners to pursue for compensation. (Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

2. The stream of allopathic medical education in Bharat at the level of post graduate courses is broadly academic or experience oriented. Diplomate of National Board (DNB) at the post graduate level lays more emphasis on experience, therefore, the allocation of selected candidates is preferred in the hospitals and now in the medical colleges as well. The experience oriented course recognised as DNB PG Diploma course is treated at par with PG medical courses recognised by Medical Commission of India

3. Mid session admissions to the medical courses, whether graduate or post-graduate, are impermissible in view of the judgement cited before us reported in (2002) 7 SCC 258 (Medical Council of India vs. Madhu Singh and others).

4. To buttress the submission put forth on behalf of the opposite parties, placing reliance upon the judgement rendered by the apex court in the case of Dr Astha Goel and others vs. Medical Counselling Committee and others reported in 2022 SCC OnLine SC 734, it was submitted that admission would not be permissible after the session has already begun.

5. The controversy before us, however, has fallen for consideration under peculiar circumstances. It is worthy to note that the petitioners, for the relief sought herein, have approached this Court promptly and without leaving any scope for the objection of delay.

6. The brief facts for appreciating the controversy may be set out as under.

7. The petitioners participated in NEET-2021-22 (PG) while being members of State Medical Services, U.P. All of them have qualified in NEET-21 (PG) whereafter they were to appear in counselling in order to be allotted respective hospitals or State medical colleges. All the petitioners have opted for DNB PG Course, the allotment whereof was based on counselling to be held by U.P Medical Education department as per schedule.

8. In the counter affidavit placed on record, the scheduled date of counselling started from the month of January and ended on 28.4.2022. The first round of counselling was held in January, 2022; round two was held in February, 2022 and mop-up round was held on 28.4.2022 insofar as State quota seats of which the figure corresponds to 44 and 25 in the respective courses of DNB Diploma and Primary DNB respectively are concerned.

9. The petitioners who had duly participated in the mop-up round of counselling on 28.4.2022, despite having presented themselves for allotment of State medical colleges, were not allotted the same for want of a NOC being issued by the department of Medical Health. It is for this reason that the colleges were not allotted to the petitioners hence they could not report to the colleges for admission and deposit of fee to pursue their course.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that once the petitioners had duly qualified NEET-2021(PG) and had participated in the mop-up round of counselling held on 28.4.2022, there was no reason for the department of Medical Education and Training to have withheld the allotment of respective medical colleges merely on account of non-issuance of NOC by the department of Medical Health, U.P.

11. The allotment of colleges being within the sole prerogative of the department of Medical Education, who, according to the petitioners, was vested with such a power ought not to have kept the candidature of the petitioners hanged over on that account particularly when the other candidates similarly situated were allotted the courses based on the same selection result of NEET-21 (PG)..

12. The petitioners who were not communicated any reason except orally that the colleges cannot be allotted unless NOC is granted by the department of Medical Health, approached this Court at the earliest objecting to the discriminatory treatment which they were meted with. The petitioners have prayed for the relief as under:

"(i) issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the opposite parties to ignore and suspend the terms and conditions of G.O. dated 10.02.2022 of Para-3(2) for permitting 10 seats and petitioners be allotted DNB PG seats in the colleges for 26 vacant seats, as per G.O. dated 01.11.2021 for DNB (Post M.B.B.S. Diploma) by extending the date of allotment of seats.

(ii) issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the opposite party nos.2 and 3 to provide the "No Objection Certificate" to petitioners after allotting the seats for DNB (Post M.B.B.S Diploma) course, so that they may submit the same for Post M.B.B.S Diploma Course with immediate effects.

(iii) issue any other order or direction, which this Hon'ble Court may deem, fit, just and proper in the circumstances of the case may also passed in favour of the petitioners."

13. On the aspect of NOC, the department of Medical Health, U.P. had placed reliance upon a government order dated 10.2.2022 whereunder only ten

NOCs were permitted to be granted to the successful candidates for allotment of seats in the medical colleges but the government order having come to be challenged before this Court in Writ-C No. 1624 of 2022 vide judgement dated 4.4.2022, was held to be prospective and inapplicable to the NEET-2021 (PG) held much prior to the issuance of such government order. Likewise an order was also passed in favour of Dr Akansha Verma on 3.6.2022 in Writ-A No. 3395 of 2022 for grant of NOC which was acted upon vide letter dated 18फ/56/2016 dated 14.9.2022.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the bar of ten seats as provided under the government order dated 10.2.2022 has also come to be lifted with the issuance of a subsequent government order dated 9.9.2022 in view of the orders passed by this Court.

15. It is rather an admitted position before us at this stage that the Director General of Medical Health, U.P. has already granted permission for NOCs vide letter dated 3फ/261/2015 in favour of the petitioners on 16.9.2022, therefore, the grievance that survives is as regards the allotment of the petitioners to the respective colleges against DNB-PG Diploma course for which the options exercised by the petitioners have to be acted upon like other similarly situated candidates.

16. This Court had granted time to the Director General, Medical Education and Training, U.P. to come up with a solution to the legitimate grievance of the petitioners but despite our order passed on 19.9.2022, the Director General failed to appear before this Court to assist in the matter and instead the Joint Director, namely, Dr V. B Singh. was deputed to attend the proceedings and assist the Court in the matter. This may be on account of some personal difficulty that should not sway away the Court proceedings. The officer present has taken us through the record.

17. Learned counsel appearing for the Director General, Medical Education vehemently argued that since the academic session has already begun, therefore, the petitioners cannot be accommodated against the vacant seats and there is no mechanism of redressal that can be invoked at this belated stage.

18. We have carefully gone through the material placed on record. In the first round of counselling held in the month of January, 2022, the start of session was mentioned to be w.e.f. 1.2.2022. Admittedly the second round of counselling proceeded thereafter in February/March and the candidates were allowed to join the respective courses as per the allotment of hospitals/colleges made. Insofar as the seats belonging to State quota against DNB-PG Diploma courses are concerned, the last round of counselling i.e. mop-up round was held on 28.4.2022 and except two candidates, namely, Dr Akansha Verma and Dr Sanjay Singh, no other candidate was allotted a college.

19. Even the two candidates who were allotted the college could not join before 7.5.2022 which was fixed as deadline for admissions against State quota. Interestingly all the candidates who were allowed to participate in the mop-up round of counselling on 28.4.2022, their commencement of admission as per the own circular of Director General, Medical Education issued on 22.4.2022, was fixed as "on spot'.

20. This position is evident from the schedule circulated on 22.4.2022 filed alongwith the counter affidavit. It is according to this schedule that the petitioners had participated in the mop-up round of counselling on 28.4.2022 but due to non-issuance of NOC, they were not allotted the respective colleges of which the list was available with the department in the same circular dated 22.4.2022.

21. The list of respective colleges and hospitals against which the allotment was to be made were readily opted by the petitioners during counselling process, however, the allotment was not made for want of NOC by the department of Medical Health, which hurdle, does not exist any more with the issuance of government order dated 9.9.2022 placed before us.

22. Rule of equality is fundamental in a level playing field. Moreover, the rights of a candidate who succeeds on the basis of competition and merit cannot be subjected to discrimination. NEET-21 (PG) is the foundation of rights against available seats.

23. Ms Saima Khan, learned counsel for the petitioner in support of her argument put forth, has placed reliance on a judgement of the apex court rendered in the case of Dr Rohit Kumar vs Secretary Office of Lt. Governor of Delhi and others (Civil Appeal No. 2739 of 2021) decided on 15.7.2022. Learned counsel for the petitioners invited our attention to para-33 of the judgement which is reproduced below:

"33. The proposition of law which emerges from the judgments of this Court in S. Krishna Sradha (supra) and in National Medical Commission v. Mothukuru Sriyah Koumudi and Others (supra) is that in rare and exceptional cases, a meritorious candidate, who has suffered injustice by reason of his/her inability to secure admission in a medical course, whether under-graduate or post- graduate, due to no fault of his/her own, who has taken recourse to law promptly, without delay, might be granted relief of being accommodated in the same post in the next session."

24. It is not in dispute that two candidates Dr Akansha Verma and Dr Sanjay Singh who were allotted colleges in the mop-up round held on 28.4.2022 were granted NOCs in September, 2022 and have been allowed to join the medical college in the month of September, 2022 itself. The NOC in favour of Dr Akansha Verma was issued on 14.9.2022 vide letter no. 18फ/56/2016, whereas, NOC in favour of Dr Sanjay Singh was granted vide letter no. 2फ/706/2014 dated 9.9.2022.

25. The distinction drawn by the department of Medical Education, U.P. that they were allotted the College on 28.4.2022, whereas, the petitioners were not, is superfluous according to learned counsel for the petitioners. The distinction drawn by learned counsel for the department of medical education cannot be accepted for the reason that admission to a course is not dependent on the mere allotment but joining of a candidate on grant of NOC before the deadline. In the present case the "on spot' presence of the petitioners on 28.4.2022 in the mop-up round stood frustrated due to non-issuance of NOC. The NOCs have now been permitted to be issued on 19th of September, 2022, therefore, equal benefit of the NOCs is bound to be accorded to the petitioners at par with Dr Sanjay Singh and Dr Akansha, who on the basis of same merit and participation, have joined the college after grant of NOCs on 9.9.2022 and 14.9.2022. Moreover, the present is not a case of mid-term admission or subsequent session; the petitioners belong to same very session whose admission schedule got delayed in 2021 due to covid-19.

26. Learned counsel for the petitioners has argued that it is rather a case of parity and there is no question of negative parity of which the benefit is claimed.

27. Learned counsel for the petitioners lastly submitted that there is an age bar for candidates to appear in the NEET-PG and one of the petitioners has now lost the opportunity having become overage, therefore, the benefit of merit cannot be denied to the candidates in absence of a fault attributable to them.

28. Having considered the entire gamut of facts & circumstances of the present case, this court holds that the case of the petitioners is similarly placed with the case of those two candidates, who have been allowed to join the course in the second half of September, 2022. Thus, this court cannot be oblivious of the fact that an admission in medical course is very important in the professional life of a candidate/student and payment of compensation to such candidate/student would not be a just and equitable relief. Further, a right to equal and fair treatment is imbibed as a component ofArticle 14of theConstitution and any denial of fair treatment to the petitioner would not only violate his/her right underArticle 14of the Constitution but would also seriously jeopardize his/her right under Articles 19 & 21 of the Constitution.

29. Since, no fault is attributable to the petitioners, as they have pursued their rights and legal remedies expeditiously and without any delay and there is obvious fault on the part of the authorities and apparent breach of the rules & regulations, this court is of the view that the petitioners can claim restitution of their rights and must be put back in the original position.

30. Although, in view of the celebrated judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Priya Gupta vs. State of Chattisgarh and Ors. reported in (2012) 7 SCC 433 and Asha vs. PT. B.D. Sharma University of Health Sciences and Others reported in (2012) 7 SCC 389 it has been held that in exceptional cases, the time schedule for admissions can be relaxed, however, this court is conscious of the fact that the last date for providing admission in the postgraduate course is declared as 07.05.2022 by the Central Government.

31. Since this court has noticed that two candidates pursuant to the issuance of NOC by the Directorate of Medical Health, U.P., have recently joined the PG course in the second half of September, 2022, this court, during the course of hearing, enquired from the parties as to how these two candidates were allowed to join even after the cut-off dates, the explanation whatsoever offered, in our opinion, is contrary to the dictum of the apex court. It has been argued at the Bar that as per the decisions of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in Priya Darshni Dental College and Hospital vs. Union of India reported in (2011) 4 SCC 623 and in Royal Medical Trust and Ors. vs. Union of India (UOI) and Ors. reported in AIR 2015 SC 3300, the Central Government is now statutorily empowered to modify the schedule for admissions in MBBS and postgraduate courses and as such this Court is also very well within its jurisdiction to modify the schedule in the admissions to P.G. courses.

32. However, this court being of the considered view that the cut-off dates are sacrosanct and the violation thereof cannot be compromised, therefore, negative parity of any sort does not pursuade us to direct modification of the schedule in PG courses as it may adversely affect the PG admissions calendar and it is open for the authorities to take corrective steps as regards any concession that may have been granted contrary to law. The judgment cited by the learned Counsel of the petitioners has been passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in exercise of its plenary power under Article 142 of the constitution of India. Although, the petitioners claiming parity have been successful in demonstrating before this court that they are entitled to be treated equally with candidates, who have been granted NOC by the state Government on 09.09.2022 & 14.09.2022 and have since then joined the PG course as late as in the second week of September, 2022, however the hands of this court are tied and we would not depart from the settled view of academic schedule in order to add further anamolies.

33. It is tragic that the super-specialty seats in medical courses are being wasted due to the lack of empathy of the state machinery, especially when there is a dearth of trained specialist doctors in our country. While our sympathies are with the petitioners and other similarly placed, we are unable to grant any relief to them or approve of the distinction pointed out; unfortunately, sympathies cannot supplant the law.

34. We do, however, find that the petitioners were wronged and were unnecessarily compelled to approach this court. Since, there is no claim for compensation by the petitioners as they have sought for allotment of medical colleges to them, this court in the peculiar facts & circumstances grants liberty to the petitioners to pursue for compensation/damages against the erring respondents in a separate proceeding.

35. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed, with the liberty as aforesaid. In the peculiar facts of the case, the respondent state is additionally burdened with a cost of Rs. 25,000/- to be paid to each petitioner towards the litigation cost of the present writ petition.

36. Let a copy of this judgment be forwarded to the Director General, Medical Education and Training, U.P, for necessary compliance forthwith. Any apportionment of the financial liability between the two directorates shall be an internal matter of the State but the actual payment of cost to each petitioner shall be made by the Director General, Medical Education & Training, U.P., within a month from today.

A. Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 226- Maintainability of –aggrieved party-cancellation of lease of building in favour of Samajwadi Party-No pleadings in writ petition regarding filing of petition on behalf of Samajwadi Party-Rather petition sought to be filed by petitioner in his individual capacity although lease deed stands in name of Samajwadi Party-Since petitioner not an aggrieved party, therefore, he has no locus to file present petition-Petition held not maintainable. (Para 2 to 14)

The petition is dismissed. (E-6)

List of Cases cited:

1. Jasbhai Motibhai Desai Vs Roshan Kumar, Hazi Bashir Ahmad & ors. (1976) AIR SC 578

2. M/s Northern Plastic Ltd. Vs Hindustan Photo film Mfg. Co. Ltd & ors. (1997) 4 SCC 452

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Rajendra Singh Chauhan, learned counsel for respondent no.4 and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. An interesting question arises in the present writ petition, wherein the petitioner claiming himself to be a member and former district president of Samajwadi Party, Mainpuri has sought to interdict an order dated 08.09.2022 passed by the Additional Chief Secretary, Panchayati Raj, State of U.P. The reason for such challenge is cancellation of a 90 years lease of a building, leased to Zila Panchayat, Mainpuri situated at Devi Road to Samajwadi Party on 10.06.2004 for office purposes.

3. It is the case of the petitioner that the impugned order dated 08.09.2022 has the effect of canceling a lease of 90 years by the State Government without any notice or opportunity of hearing to Samajwadi Party or any of its office bearers, although it has been alleged that the district president of Samajwadi Party, District Mainpuri was informed about the said cancellation vide a letter dated 09.09.2022 by the Apar Mukhya Adhikari, Zila Panchayat, Mainpuri. The petitioner also claims that there had been no violation of the terms of the lease and as such there was no occasion for the respondents to cancel the lease.

4. At the preliminary stage, when the case was called for hearing on 13.09.2022, this Court expressed its doubt on the locus of the petitioner in pursuing the present writ petition, wherein the petitioner sought some time and as such this Court permitted the petitioner to file supplementary affidavit to explain valid authorization so as to maintain the present writ petition.

5. The petitioner vide a supplementary affidavit dated 15.09.2021 filed an authorization in his name, repeating yet again, that he has been duly authorized by the national secretary of Samajwadi Party, and in support of the said contention, he has filed an office memorandum dated 14.09.2022 on the letter-head of Samajwadi Party issued by the national secretary of Samajwadi Party. It is noted that the petitioner while filing the present writ petition had filed an authorization dated 11.09.2022, which was also signed by the same national secretary. There is neither any affidavit from the national secretary nor any documents filed on record, which could satisfy this Court relating to a valid authorization. The authorization dated 14.09.2022 merely mentions about the earlier authorization dated 11.09.2022 and nothing more.

6. Having heard counsel for both the parties, this Court has given its anxious thought to the present petition. However, since a challenge to the maintainability qua the locus of the petitioner to file present writ petition has been raised at the very preliminary stage, this Court finds it's bounded duty to first deal with the locus of the petitioner in preferring the present petition.

7. Admittedly, the impugned order is directed towards the cancellation of lease deed executed in favour of Samajwadi Party, which is a registered political party under Section 29A of the Representatives of Peoples Act, 1951. So it is Samajwadi Party as a "person", who ought to have been an aggrieved person. It is also an admitted position that Samajwadi Party is not the petitioner nor is a party before this Court. The present petition has not been filed by Samajwadi Party through its office bearers. The petition has sought to be filed by the petitioner claiming himself to be an aggrieved party, although the records reveal that it must be Samajwadi Party who should have been an aggrieved party. In any case, this Court cannot be oblivious of the fact that pursuant to the impugned order, the peaceful possession of two rooms of previous old district office of Samajwadi Party situated at Devi Road has been handed over by the Samajwadi Party to the Zila Panchayt, Mainpuri in presence of the magistrate appointed by the district administrator. Apparently, it does not seem to this Court that Samajwadi Party could be an aggrieved person as has been rightly submitted by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel. This Court does not wish to dwell into the realm of contentious reasons argued by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel that Samajwadi Party had not been using the said premises for the purpose which was leased to them and which has enabled them to cancel the said lease; or that Samajwadi Party had already constructed new building for its district office at Mainpuri and has already shifted and as such the old place of district office was no longer in use by them; or that there was no reason for filing the present writ petition as Samajwadi Party has peacefully handed over the leased premises to the Zila Panchayat Mainpuri.

8. The concept of "locus standi' is not alien to litigation as the basic concept under both the inquisitorial and adversarial system of litigation is that the person, who approaches the court of law must first plead as to how the said person is aggrieved or deprived of his or her legal rights. Thus, the concept of locus standi has been imported into the writ jurisdiction.

9. According to our opinion a "person aggrieved", means a person who is wrongly deprived of his entitlement which he is legally entitled to receive and it does not include any kind of disappointment or personal inconvenience. "Person Aggrieved" means a person who is injured or he/she is adversely affected in a legal sense. It is a settled law that a person who suffers from legal injury only can challenge the act/action/order etc. by filing a writ petition. Writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is maintainable for enforcing a fundamental or legal right or when there is a complaint by the petitioner that there is a breach of a statutory duty on part of the authorities, therefore, there must be a justiciable right for the enforcement of which the writ jurisdiction can be resorted to. This Court can enforce the performance of a statutory duty by public bodies through its writ jurisdiction at the behest of a person, provided such person satisfies the Court that he has a legal right to insist on such performance. The existence of a said right is the condition precedent to invoke the writ jurisdiction. In "Jasbhai Motibhai Desai Vs. Roshan Kumar, Hazi Bashir Ahmad and Others" ;[AIR (1976) SC 578], the Apex Court has held that only a person who is aggrieved by an order, can maintain a writ petition. The expression "aggrieved person" has been explained by the Apex Court observing that such a person must show that he has a more particular or peculiar interest of his own beyond that of the general public in seeing that the law is properly administered. In the said case, a cinema hall owner had challenged the sanction of setting up of a rival cinema hall in the town contending that it would adversely affect monopolistic commercial interest, causing pecuniary harm and loss of business from competition. The Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

".....Such harm or Loss is not wrongful in the eye of law, because it does not result in injury to a legal right or a legally protected interest, the business competition causing it being a lawful activity. Judically, harm of this description is called "demnum sine injuria". The term injuria being here used in its true sense reason why law suffers a person knowingly to inflict harm of this description on another, without holding him accountable for it, is that such harm done to an individual is a gain to society at large.

In the light of the above discussion, it is demonstratively clear that the appellant has not been denied or deprived of a legal right. He has not sustained injury to any legally protected interest. In fact, the impugned order does not operate as a decision against him, much less does it wrongfully affect his title to something. He has not been subjected to a legal wrong. He has suffered no legal grievance. He 'has no legal peg for' a justiciable claim to hang on. Therefore he is not a 'person aggrieved' and has no locus standi to challenge the grant of the No-objection Certificate....." (Emphasis added)

10. In "M/s Northern Plastic Limited Vs. Hindustan Photofilm manufacturing Company Limited and Others; [1997 (4) SCC 452]," the Hon'ble Supreme Court again considered the meaning of "person aggrieved" and again "locus of a rival government undertaking" and held that a rival business man cannot maintain a writ petition on the ground that its business prospect would be adversely affected.

11. Now, therefore, the question arises as to whether the petitioner has a right to file a present writ petition? The petitioner claims to be a member and erstwhile district president of Samajwadi Party. There is no document on record to show his membership or that he was a former district president of Samajwadi Party. The only document relied upon by the petitioner is that the authorization dated 11.09.2022 and 14.09.2022, which according to the petitioner serves both the purposes of locus as well as the authority to file the present writ petition. According to this Court both the issues of locus and authorization are independent, however, in some cases they may overlap. In the present case, the petitioner has apparently failed to show and/or explain his membership as well as the authorization from Samajwadi Party. There is no pleading nor any document or any affidavit has been filed on record to show as to how and in what circumstances, the national secretary of Samajwadi Party has authorized or could authorize the petitioner to file the present petition for and on behalf of the Samajwadi Party. Thus, the petitioner has no right to maintain the present writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for and on behalf of the Samajwadi Party. Even the judgments quoted by the petitioner in his written submission do not come to his rescue.

12. This Court is also conscious of the law that "ordinarily" a person who seeks to file a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India should be one who has a personal or individual right in the subject matter of the petition and a personal right need not be in respect of proprietary interest, as it can also relate to an interest of a trustee. It is thing to say that a person has an individual right to maintain a petition and its other thing to say that the petition has been filed for and on behalf of some other aggrieved persons. The present case is not a case filed by the petitioner in his individual capacity, but it has been filed for and on behalf of Samajwadi Party. This Court is of the view that there is no valid authorization in favour of the petitioner to prosecute this case for and on behalf of Samajwadi Party. There is no pleadings in the writ petition that the petition has been filed for and on behalf of Samajwadi Party, rather the petition is sought to be filed by the petitioner in his individual capacity, since lease deed stands in the name of Samajwadi Party. This Court finds rather absurd as to how the petitioner can be an aggrieved party or as to how his individual right has been adversely affected. Thus, the present writ petition fails. The petitioner under Article 226 of the Constitution of India at the instance of petitioner is, therefore, not maintainable.

13. Since, the petition is held to be not maintainable on behalf of the petitioner, this Court does not wish to express any opinion on the merits or otherwise of the present writ petition, least it would prejudice to the rights and contention of the parties.

14. Leaving all questions of fact and law open, the present writ petition is dismissed.

A. Civil Law - Petitioner appeared in NEET exam and secured for the course of MBBS-petitioner deposited a total sum of Rs. 13,30,000/- and allotted college-subsequently the petitioner was allotted a seat in Madhya Pradesh, which the petitioner found to be better option, as such she applied for refund of fees and security money deposited by the petitioner-the same has been refused stating that Clause 8 of the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 there is a bar from withdrawal or resignation, after the start of second round of counseling also Clause 9 and 10 provides for confiscating the security money and fees-It is settled provision of law that the executive instructions cannot partake 'law' under Article 300-A-As such, confiscation of fees deposited by the student by the respondent no. 4 is without sanction of law and thus violates Article 300 A of Constitution of India-Even if the issuance of brochure and the application of the petitioner is accepted to be a contract, the retention of entire fees is clearly barred by Section 74 of the Contract Act as no loss has been shown to be caused to the respondent by way of resignation coupled with the fact that the seat of the State has not gone vacant, the DGME cannot even claim reasonable compensation-There appears to be no logic in confiscating the entire fees on the ground of Article 14 – The State cannot take a different stand for different years as is evident from the prescription for two different years of NEET Examination-Hence, Respondent no. 4 is directed to refund the entire amount of Rs. 13,30,000/- at the rate of 6% per annum-The Government Order dated 12.06.2018 is quashed.(Para 1 to 36)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Anupama Bhadauria, learned counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Sanjay Bhasin, assisted by Mr. Kshitiz Mishra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.4, Mr. Piyush Kumar, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State and Mr. Gyanendra Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent no.3 and Mr. Amrendra Singh Yadav holding brief of Mr. Amit Jaiswal, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent no.6/College.

2. The present petition has been filed seeking refund of the deposit of Rs.13,30,000/- along with interest paid by the petitioner to the respondent no.4 towards fees and security deposit.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner, in brief, is that the petitioner appeared in National Eligibility Entrance Test (NEET) of the year 2018 and secured the rank 333095 for the course of M.B.B.S. It is stated that after the first round of counseling the petitioner deposited Rs.2,00,000/- by means of a demand draft in favour of the opposite party no.4 on 22.06.2018 as security deposit. It is also stated that the petitioner was informed that she has been allotted respondent no.6/College for pursuing the M.B.B.S. Course for Academic Session 2018-19.

4. It is stated that after allocation of seat the petitioner was called upon by the respondent no.4 to deposit the fee, which was deposited by the petitioner amounting to Rs.11,30,000/- on 7.7.2018. Thus the petitioner deposited a total sum of Rs.13,30,000/- and was allotted the respondent no.6/College. It is claimed that subsequently the petitioner was allotted a seat in Madhya Pradesh, which the petitioner found to be better option, as such she applied for refund of fees and security money deposited by the petitioner, which has been refused by means of order dated 6.1.2020 (Annexure No.1).

5. A perusal of the order impugned reveals that the same has been refused on the ground that the resignation of the petitioner has been accepted on the condition that in the event the applicant resigns after the second round of counseling the amount deposited by the student towards the fees as well as the security shall not be refunded. It is also stated therein that in Clause 8 of the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 there is a bar from withdrawal or resignation, after the start of second round of counseling. It was also recorded that in the brochure issued for the NEET, 2018 in Clause 9 and 10 there is a provision for confiscating the security money and the "fee' deposited by the students thus, on this ground the request of the applicant was rejected for refund of Rs.13,30,000/-.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that the provision of security and deposit were introduced subsequent to the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Darul-Us-Slam Educational Trust and ors. Vs. Medical Council of India and Ors; Writ Petition (s) (Civil) No.(s).267/2017 she specifically makes a mention of paras 3, 4 and 6 of the said judgment which are quoted hereunder:

"3. As per the judgment of this Hon'ble Court in the case of Ashish Ranjan vs. Union of India & Ors. [(2016) 11 SCC 225], there shall be only two rounds of common counselling each conducted by the DGHS/State Government or authority designated by the State Government for All India Quota (including Deemed University) and State Quota seats respectively.

4. After the second round of counselling for All India Quota seats, the students who take admission in All India Quota seats should not be allowed/permitted to vacate the seats. This would ensure that very few seats are reverted to the State Quota and also All India Quota seats are filed by students from the all India merit list only. The students who take admission and secure admission in Deemed Universities pursuant to the second round of counselling conducted by the DGHS shall not be eligible to participate in any other counselling.

6. The students who secure admission in MBBS course pursuant to the Common Counselling conducted by the State Government, at the time of common counselling itself, should be made to deposit with the admission/cousnelling committee the Demand Draft towards the fees payable to the institution College/ University. The admission/counselling committee shall forthwith forward the Demand Draft to the respective Institution/Colleges/University. The necessity for including the above-mentioned requirement has arisen as it has been time and again noticed that when students report to the college after the counselling they are refused admission by the colleges on some pretext or the other and it is shown by the college as if the student never reported to the college for admission. If the Demand Draft is deposited by the admission/counselling committee then there would be no scope for colleges to refuse admission to any student."

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that it appears that in pursuance to the said judgment the State Government issued a Government Order dated 12.06.2018 which provides for forfeiture of the "security only' and there is no provision in the said Government Order for forfeiture of the fee deposited by the students. With regard to the other grounds, she argues that the students being in a vulnerable position do not have any choice but to sign on the dotted lines and thus the acceptance of resignation with the condition that the security money and the fees would be forfeited is beyond the control of the petitioner.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner further argues that the petitioner had tendered her resignation without accepting any condition, the acceptance of the said resignation with the condition was neither in the control of the petitioner nor justified and cannot bind the petitioner.

9. She further argues that the third basis being the provision as contained in brochure issued by the respondents is wholly arbitrary, illegal and has no nexus to the object sought to be achieved. She further argues that the Director General Medical Education/respondent no.4 is only authorized to oversee the counseling process and the amount retained by them is not only contrary to the government order, but the same are without any authority of law by the respondent no.4.

10. She argues that the petitioner has been deprived of her property without any authority of law and thus her rights guaranteed under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India have been violated. She further argues that in any event the provision for confiscating the fees as well as the entire security deposit is violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India, insofar, as there is no rational nexus sought to be achieved and there is no criteria for either fixing the quantum of security deposit or its confiscation. She argues that the State which is expected to promote the education is acting as shylock in confiscating the fees and security money in a country like India which is very poor. She thus claims that the writ petition is liable to be allowed and the amount of fees and security money be directed to be refunded along with interest as claimed by the petitioner.

11. Mr. Sanjay Bhasin, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no.4 seeks to defend the confiscation of the security money as well as the fees. In support of his submission, he draws source of of confiscation power from the regulations framed by the Medical Council of India being the Graduate Medical Education Regulations, 1997 as amended up to May, 2018. He argues that in terms of the said Regulations, 5-A (4) provides as under:

"5A (4)-In order to prevent seat blocking in common couseling for admission to MBBS course and permissiblity to exercise fresh choice during counseling, forfeiture of fee shall be in accordance with the Matrix contained in "Appendix-F."

S. No.	Round	Free Exit	Exit with forfeiture of fees	Ineligible for further counseling	Amount of registration fee
1.	AIQ I/Deemed

2.	AIQ II/Deemed		If not joined	If joined	Government Rs.10,000 (half for SC/ST/OBC Deemed-Rs.2,00,000
3.	State Quota I
4.	State Quota II		If not joined	If joined	Government - Rs.10,000 (half for SC/ST/OBC) Private-Rs.1,00,000
5.	State Quota Mop-up			If joined
6.	Deemed Mop-Up			If joined

12. It is argued that the matrix as contained in Annexure No.F to the said Regulation, would be the source of power for retaining the amount of security deposit fees by the respondent no.4. He defends the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 by arguing that the same is in pursuance to the guidelines issued by the Supreme Court in the case of Darul-Us-Slam Educational Trust (supra). He thus argues that the retention of the money deposited by the petitioner does not violate the right of the petitioner under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India. He further argues that for the students who are selected to the government colleges, the security money to be deposited is Rs.30,000/-, whereas for the private medical colleges the security money to be deposited is Rs.2,00,000/-, which is reasonable and acts as deterrent to the students who flip their seats and thus deprive the meritorious students of their rights of participating in counseling.

13. He further argues that even in terms of the brochure/guidelines issued in pursuance to which the petitioner had applied, there was a clear stipulation that the security deposit shall be forfeited in respect of candidates who do not join after the first round of counseling or resign after joining and the said brochure/guidelines were in nature of an offer which was accepted by the student and thus there was a contract created in between the parties by which the petitioner is bound. Shri Bhasin places reliance on Section 74 of Indian Contract Act.

14. Learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State, on the other hand, argues and justifies the Government Order on the ground that the same was inline of the prescriptions as contained in the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Darul-Us-Slam Educational Trust (supra) and thus prays that the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed the Government Order dated 29.10.2020 for the subsequent year NEET Examination, wherein the refund of fee deposited is prescribed and only 10 % of the total fees deposited is to be confiscated. She further says that in the case of private medical colleges even the security has to be refunded. She thus argues that the State Government has taken different stand for different years which is wholly arbitrary and illegal and is violative of Articles 14, 19 and 21 of the Constitution of India. She further argues that the retention of the money by the D.G.M.E. is unjust enrichment which is neither authorized nor favored by law. In reply to the argument of Shri Bhasing on the strength of Section 74 of the Contract Act she argues that unless damages are ascertained and established no amounts can be awarded.

16. In the light of the submissions made by parties' counsel at the bar, this court is to test the power of D.G.M.E. to confiscate the money deposited by the students who are pursuing the NEET Examination as well as the legality of the retention of the security deposited by the students.

17. To test the first argument raised by learned counsel for the petitioner and tried to be repelled by learned counsel for the respondents, as to whether the D.G.M.E. can confiscate the security deposit in pursuance to the Government Order dated 12.06.2018. To test the said argument as being violative of Article 300-A as inserted in the Constitution.It is clear Article 300-A of Constitution of India provides that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law.

18. The money deposited by the petitioner as a security deposit would be a property as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bombay Dyeing & Manufacturing Co. Ltd. Vs. State of Bombay and others; AIR 1958 SC 328 to the effect that the money would also amount to property and thus to deprive a person of property, there has to be an authority of law.

19. The word "law' as used in the context of Article 300-A of the Constitution has to mean the law framed by legislature and not the executive directions as given under Article 162 of the Constitution. This view is fortified by the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Bishambhar Dayal Chandra Mohan and others Vs. State of U.P. and others; (1982) 1 SCC 39, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 41 has observed as under:

"There still remains the question whether the seizure of wheat amounts to deprivation of property without the authority of law. Article 300-A provides that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. The State Government cannot while taking recourse to the executive power of the State under Article 162, deprive a person of his property. Such power can be exercised only by authority of law and not by a mere executive fiat or order. Article 162, as is clear from the opening words, is subject to other provisions of the Constitution. It is, therefore, necessarily subject to Article 300-A The word 'law' in the context of Article 300-A must mean an Act of Parliament or of a State Legislature, a rule, or a statutory order; having the force of law, that is positive or State made law. The decisions in Wazir Chand v. State of Himachal Pradesh and Bishan Das and others v. The State of Punjab and others are an authority for the proposition that an illegal seizure amounts to deprivation of property without the authority of law. In Wazir Chand's case (supra), the police in India seized goods in possession of the petitioner in India at the instance of the police of the State of Jammu and Kashmir. The seizure was admittedly not under the authority of law, inasmuch as it was not under the orders of any Magistrate; nor was it under Sections 51, 96, 98 and 165 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, since no report of any offence committed by the petitioner was made to the police in India, and the Indian police were not authorised to make any investigation. In those circumstances, the Court held that the seizure was not with the authority of law and amounted to an infringement of the fundamental right under Article 31 (1). This view was reaffirmed in Bishan Das's case (supra)."

20. Relying on the said judgment the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Hindustan Times and others Vs. State of U.P. and another; (2003) 1 SCC 591 has reaffirmed the same. The relevant paragraphs nos.23, 24 and 25 are as under:

"23. The expression 'law', within the meaning Article 300-A, would mean a Parliamentary Act or an Act of the State Legislature or a statutory order having the force of law.

24. In Bishambhar Dayal Chandra Mohan & Ors. etc. v. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors. etc. [(1982) 1 SCC 39], this Court held as under :-

"41. There still remains the question whether the seizure of wheat amounts to deprivation of property without the authority of law. Article 300-A provides that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. The State Government cannot while taking recourse to the executive power of the State under Article 162, deprive a person of his property. Such power can be exercised only by authority of law and not by a mere executive fiat or order. Article 162, as is clear from the opening words, is subject to other provisions of the Constitution. It is, therefore, necessarily subject to Article 300-A. The word "law" in the context of Article 300-A must mean an Act of Parliament or of a State legislature, a rule, or a statutory order, having the force of law, that is positive or State- made law."

25. It is not the contention of the respondents that any service is rendered to the petitioners herein. It is also not the contention of the respondents that the petitioners are bound to pay the amount in question by reason of their statutory obligation to pay retiral benefits to the working journalists. It is also not the case of the respondents that the petitioners herein have not been discharging their statutory obligations in the matter of payment of retiral benefits to the working journalists working in their own establishment in terms of the provision of the Central Acts as well as in terms of the Bachawat Award."

21. Further, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Khem Chand Vs. Union of India and others; AIR 1963 SC 687 has held as follows:

"Equally untenable is the appellant's next contention that the impugned rule contravenes the provisions of Article 19 (1)

(f) of the Constitution. The argument is that as a result of this Court's decree the appellant had a right to his arrears of pay and allowances. This right constituted his property; and as the effect of the impugned Rule is that he would not, for some time at least, get those arrears it restricts his right. It may be conceded that the right to arrears of pay and allowances constituted property within the meaning of Article 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution and further, that the effect of r. 12(4) is a substantial restriction of his right in respect of that property under Article 19 (1) (f). The question remains whether this restriction is a reasonable restriction in the interests of the general public. No body can seriously doubt the importance and necessity of proper disciplinary action being taken against government servants for inefficiency, dishonesty or other suitable reasons. Such action is certainly against the immediate interests of the Government servant concerned; but is absolutely necessary in the interests. of the general public for serving whose interests the government machinery exists and functions. Suspension of a government servant pending an enquiry is a necessary part of the procedure for taking disciplinary action against him. It follows, therefore, that when the penalty of dismissal has been set aside but the disciplinary authority decides to hold a further enquiry on the same facts against him a fresh order of suspension till the enquiry can be completed, in accordance with law, is a reasonable step of the, procedure. We have no hesitation in holding, therefore, that in so far as r.12(4) restricts the appellant's right under Article 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution, it is a reasonable restriction in the interests of the general public. Rule 12(4) is therefore within the saving provisions of Article 19 (1) (f), so that there is no contravention of the constitutional provisions."

22. In view of the settled proposition of law that the executive instructions cannot partake 'law' as referred to under Article 300-A, I have no hesitation in holding that the petitioner could not be deprived of refund of security deposit only on the basis of provisions made in the Government Order as relied upon by Mr. Bhasin to justify the confiscation of security deposit.

23. Now coming to the issue as to whether the fees could be confiscated. Fees is also a property at the hand of a student and to deprive the same, there is a need for sanction by law as framed by the legislature. There being no law as framed, clearly the confiscation of the fees deposited by the student by the respondent no.4 is without sanction of law and thus violates Article 300 A of Constitution of India.

24. Submission of Mr. Bhasin that there is a provision of confiscation of fees as provided in the Regulation of 1997 and the Appendix-F referred therein and quoted hereinabove, I do not see any prescription prescribed under Appendix-F permitting the confiscation of fees and to that extent the argument of Mr. Bhasin is repelled.

Whether the Fee and security deposit can be confiscated under Section 74 of Contract Act

25. The issue with regard to refund of fees is also to be tested on the anvil of the arguments of Mr. Bhasin raised on account of the conditions specified in the brochure. Even if the brochure is treated as an offer, the application of student in pursuance to the brochure be treated as an acceptance and for the purposes of arguments, the same is treated to be in the nature of contract, the retention of fees and security would be hit by Section 74 of the Contract Act. Section 74 of the Contract Act is quoted herein under:

"74. Compensation for breach of contract where penalty stipulated for:- 34 [When a contract has been broken, if a sum is named in the contract as the amount to be paid in case of such breach, or if the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty, the party complaining of the breach is entitled, whether or not actual damage or loss is proved to have been caused thereby, to receive from the party who has broken the contract reasonable compensation not exceeding the amount so named or, as the case may be, the penalty stipulated for.

Explanation.-- A stipulation for increased interest from the date of default may be a stipulation by way of penalty.]

(Exception) -- When any person enters into any bail-bond, recognizance or other instrument of the same nature or, under the provisions of any law, or under the orders of the 35 [Central Government] or of any 36 [State Government], gives any bond for the performance of any public duty or act in which the public are interested, he shall be liable, upon breach of the condition of any such instrument, to pay the whole sum mentioned therein. Explanation.-- A person who enters into a contract with Government does not necessarily thereby undertake any public duty, or promise to do an act in which the public are interested. Illustrations

(a) A contracts with B to pay B Rs. 1,000 if he fails to pay B Rs. 500 on a given day. A fails to pay B Rs. 500 on that day. B is entitled to recover from A such compensation, not exceeding Rs. 1,000, as the Court considers reasonable.

(b) A contracts with B that, if A practices as a surgeon within Calcutta, he will pay B Rs. 5,000. A practices as a surgeon in Calcutta. B is entitled to such compensation; not exceeding Rs. 5,000 as the court considers reasonable.

(c) A gives a recognizance binding him in a penalty of Rs. 500 to appear in Court on a certain day. He forfeits his recognizance. He is liable to pay the whole penalty.

37 [(d) A gives B a bond for the repayment of Rs. 1,000 with interest at 12 per cent. at the end of six months, with a stipulation that, in case of default, interest shall be payable at the rate of 75 per cent. from the date of default. This is a stipulation by way of penalty, and B is only entitled to recover from A such compensation as the Court considers reasonable.

(e) A, who owes money to B, a money-lender, undertakes to repay him by delivering to him 10 maunds of grain on a certain date, and stipulates that, in the event of his not delivering the stipulated amount by the stipulated date, he shall be liable to deliver 20 maunds. This is a stipulation by way of penalty, and B is only entitled to reasonable consideration in case of breach.

(f) A undertakes to repay B a loan of Rs. 1,000 by five equal monthly instalments, with a stipulation that, in default, of payment of any instalment, the whole shall become due. This stipulation is not by way of penalty, and the contract may be enforced according to its terms.

(g) A borrows Rs. 100 from B and gives him a bond for Rs. 200 payable by five yearly instalments of Rs. 40, with a stipulation that, in default of payment of any instalment, the whole shall become due. This is a stipulation by way of penalty.]"

26. The stipulation of confiscation of fees can clearly be qualified as penalty under Section 74 as quoted hereinabove.

27. Scope of Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act was considered and explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Fateh Chand v. Balkishan Dass - AIR 1963 SC 1405 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"10. Section 74 of the Indian Contract Act deals with the measure of damages in two classes of cases (i) where the contract names a sum to be paid in case of breach and (ii) where the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty. We are in the present case not concerned to decide whether a contract containing a covenant of forfeiture of deposit for due performance of a contract falls within the first class. The measure of damages in the case of breach of a stipulation by way of penalty is by Section 74 reasonable compensation not exceeding the penalty stipulated for. In assessing damages the Court has, subject to the limit of the penalty stipulated, jurisdiction to award such compensation as it deems reasonable having regard to all the circumstances of the case. Jurisdiction of the Court to award compensation in case of breach of contract is unqualified except as to the maximum stipulated; but compensation has to be reasonable, and that imposes upon the Court duty to award compensation according to settled principles. The section undoubtedly says that the aggrieved party is entitled to receive compensation from the party who has broken the contract, whether or not actual damage or loss is proved to have been caused by the breach. Thereby it merely dispenses with proof of "actual loss or damage"; it does not justify the award of compensation when in consequence of the breach no legal injury at all has resulted, because compensation for breach of contract can be awarded to make good loss or damage which naturally arose in the usual course of things, or which the parties knew when they made the contract, to be likely to result from the breach.

*11. Before turning to the question about the compensation which may be awarded to the plaintiff, it is necessary to consider whether Section 74 applies to stipulations for forfeiture of amounts deposited or paid under the contract. It was urged that the section deals in terms with the right to receive from the party who has broken the contract reasonable compensation and not the right to forfeit what has already been received by the party aggrieved. There is however, no warrant for the assumption made by some of the High Courts in India, that Section 74 applies only to cases where the, aggrieved party is seeking to receive some amount on breach of contract and not to cases where upon breach of contract an amount received under the contract is sought to be forfeited. In our judgment the expression "the contract contains any other stipulation by way of penalty" comprehensively applies to every covenant involving a penalty whether it is for payment on breach of contract of money or delivery of property in future, or for forfeiture of right to money or other property already delivered. Duty not to enforce the penalty clause but only to award reasonable compensation is statutorily imposed upon courts by Section 74. In all cases, therefore, where there is a stipulation in the nature of penalty for forfeiture of an amount deposited pursuant to the terms of contract which expressly provides for forfeiture, the court has jurisdiction to award such sum only as it considers reasonable, but not exceeding the amount specified in the contract as liable to forfeiture. We may briefly refer to certain illustrative cases decided by the High Courts in India which have expressed a different view."

28. The scope of Section 74 came up for consideration before the Hon'ble Supreme Court yet again in the case of MTNL V. TATA Communication Ltd.; (2019) 5 SCC 341 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court placing reliance on the earlier judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kailash Nath Associates v. D.D.A.; (2015) 4 SCC 136 approved the position of law as clarified by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kailash Nath Associates (supra) in the following para:

"11. In Kailash Nath Associates v. DDA [Kailash Nath Associates v. DDA, (2015) 4 SCC 136 : (2015) 2 SCC (Civ) 502], after considering the case law on Section 74, this Court held: (SCC p. 162, para 43)

"43. On a conspectus of the above authorities, the law on compensation for breach of contract under Section 74 can be stated to be as follows:

43.1. Where a sum is named in a contract as a liquidated amount payable by way of damages, the party complaining of a breach can receive as reasonable compensation such liquidated amount only if it is a genuine pre-estimate of damages fixed by both parties and found to be such by the court. In other cases, where a sum is named in a contract as a liquidated amount payable by way of damages, only reasonable compensation can be awarded not exceeding the amount so stated. Similarly, in cases where the amount fixed is in the nature of penalty, only reasonable compensation can be awarded not exceeding the penalty so stated. In both cases, the liquidated amount or penalty is the upper limit beyond which the court cannot grant reasonable compensation.

43.2. Reasonable compensation will be fixed on well-known principles that are applicable to the law of contract, which are to be found inter alia in Section 73 of the Contract Act.

43.3. Since Section 74 awards reasonable compensation for damage or loss caused by a breach of contract, damage or loss caused is a sine qua non for the applicability of the section.

43.4. The section applies whether a person is a plaintiff or a defendant in a suit.

43.5. The sum spoken of may already be paid or be payable in future.

43.6. The expression "whether or not actual damage or loss is proved to have been caused thereby" means that where it is possible to prove actual damage or loss, such proof is not dispensed with. It is only in cases where damage or loss is difficult or impossible to prove that the liquidated amount named in the contract, if a genuine pre-estimate of damage or loss, can be awarded."

29. Thus, even if the issuance of brochure and the application of the petitioner is accepted to be a contract, the retention of entire fees is clearly barred by Section 74 the stand taken by the respondent cannot be accepted and the respondents can at best can claim reasonable compensation for the loss suffered on account of breach of contract. As no loss has been shown to be caused to the respondent by way of resignation coupled with the fact that the seat of the State has not gone vacant, the DGME cannot even claim reasonable compensation and thus to that extent I have no hesitation in holding that the confiscation of fees by the respondent no.4 cannot be justified by virtue of Section 74 of The Contract Act as argued by Shri Bhasin.

30. There is another aspect to be considered in the matter that the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 also stipulates a candidate to submit the registration fees of Rs.2,000/- for two rounds of counseling and Rs.1,000/- for mop up round of counseling which as prescribed is non-refundable which is just and reasonable expenditure incurred by DGME for counselling. In addition to the registration fees, the students were directed to deposit the security money and the fees.

31. To test the argument further in the light of the prescriptions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Darul-Us-Slam Educational Trust (supra) was of the view that flows from paragraph no 6 that the students should be compelled to deposit the demand draft towards the fees payable to the institution/ college/ university which is to be transmitted forthwith to the respective institution/ college/ university. The Hon'ble Supreme Court itself has explained in the same very paragraph that the purpose of directing the students to deposit the demand draft is to ensure that there would be no scope for the colleges to refuse admission to any student. The judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court never prescribed for confiscation that too without any authority of law and thus the submission of Mr. Bhasin is liable to be rejected on that count also.

32. There is further anomaly in the stand taken by the respondents inasmuch as for the subsequent years, it prescribes lesser amounts to be confiscated for security as well as fees. The State cannot take a different stand for different years as is evident from the prescription for two different years of NEET Examination. The stand of the respondent no.4 as the State, do not appear to achieve any objective for which the deposits are made. Irrespective of the intent to provide for a deterrent, the same can be prescribed only in accordance with law as prescribed under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India and as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgments referred above.

33. Even testing the said arguments on the ground of Article 14 there appears to be no logic in confiscating the entire fees by the respondent no.4 and not even transmitting the same to the institution/university where the admission is granted, is a clear case of retention of money by the State without any authority of law which is clear violation of the rights of the students enshrined under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India. This observation is being made in view of the statement by the institution concerned that no seats were left vacant subsequently in respect of the seat for which the petitioner had tendered her resignation.

34. In view of the findings as recorded above, irresistible conclusion is that the writ petition is bound to be allowed.

35. The writ petition is accordingly allowed. The respondent no.4 is directed to refund the entire amount of Rs.13,30,000/- deposited by the petitioner along with interest payable at the rate of 6 % per annum from the date of application for refund till actual payment/realization. The amount of 6 % interest is what is prescribed under the Interest Act as there is no contract to the contrary in between the parties.

36. Once I have held that the provision for confiscation of security is in clear violation of Article 300-A of the Constitution of India, Clause 6 of the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 is quashed insofar as it prescribes the confiscation of security money. The challenge to Clause 8 in the Government Order dated 12.06.2018 is rejected inasmuch as the same does not violate any rights of the petitioner and is not prohibited under any law. The money as directed shall be paid to the petitioner within two months from today.

37. No order as to the costs.

A. Educational institution – National Council for Teachers Education Act, 1993 – Sections 14 & 15 – National Council for Teacher Education (Recognition Norms and Procedure) Regulations 2014 – Reg. 8(4) – Recognition for D.El.Ed. course – Minimum requirement of land – Prescription of lease from Government – Permissibility – Rational nexus of the prescription with the object of Act, how far relevant – Held, prescriptions of having the land as prescribed in Regulation 8(4) served a valid purpose, however the prescription of having a land on Government' lease or on a lease from 'Government institutions', appears to be arbitrary. (Para 13)

B. National Council for Teachers Education Act, 1993 – Object – Regulatory mechanism inconsistent to the object of the Act, how far permissible – Held, the Council is bound under the statute to promote the systematic education amongst the teachers and thus is duty bound to act in furtherance of the object sought to be achieved. The regulatory mechanism and the powers conferred on the Council, in terms of the Section 32(1) and in terms of the Regulations as framed, clearly cannot be inconsistent with the objects sought to be achieved. (Para 13)

C. Interpretation of statute – Delegated legislation – Scope of Rules making power – Duty of the Court – J. K. Industries Limited's case relied upon – Where the validity of subordinate legislation is challenged, the question to be asked is whether the power given to the rule making authority is exercised for the purpose for which it is given. Before reaching the conclusion that the Rule is intra vires, the court has to examine the nature, object and the scheme of the legislation as a whole – High Court held, order impugned denying the benefit of recognition solely based upon the petitioner not having a registered Government lease in his favour cannot be justified. List of Cases cited:-

1. J. K. Industries Ltd. Vs U.O.I.; (2007) 13 SCC 673

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard the counsel for the petitioner and Sri O.P.M. Tripathi, the counsel for the respondents.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 15.02.2018 whereby the request of the petitioner for granting recognition of conducting D.El.Ed. Course was rejected solely on the ground that the petitioner does not have the land as prescribed in the Regulations of 2014 as well as the appellate order whereby the appeal preferred has been dismissed on 13.8.2018.

3. The facts in brief are that the petitioner is a society which has established an educational institution to the girls student in the name and style of Dr. Rajendra Prasad Memorial College, Rajajipuram, Lucknow and is approved for imparting B.A., B.Sc., B.Com., and B.Ed. Degree Courses. It is stated that on 31.10.2009, the petitioner's college has applied for grant of recognition before the National Council for Teachers Education (N.C.T.E.), the respondent no.3, for imparting D.El. Ed. Course in the prescribed format in terms of the mandate of Section 14 and 15 of the NCTE Act, 1993. On the said application, the respondent no.3 found the same to be short of requirements and the same did not find favour with the respondent authorities, thereafter an appeal preferred by the petitioner was also rejected on 27.09.2010. The petitioner challenged the said two orders by filing a writ petition no.6995 (MS) of 2012, which was allowed and the matter was remanded vide judgment dated 18.07.2013 (Annexure no.5).

4. It is stated that subsequent to the remand, the respondents considered the application of the petitioner and granted recognition for running the D.El. Ed. Course for the academic session 2016-17, the petitioner claims that the petitioner also got the sanction for affiliation from the State Government. It is stated that all of a sudden vide order dated 15.02.2018, the petitioner was informed that the application for recognition has been rejected in exercise of the powers under section 14/15(3)(b) of the NCTE Act 1993 read with the regulations framed thereunder. The petitioner preferred an appeal against the said order, which too has been dismissed. Both the said orders are under challenge.

5. The contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that the sole reason disclosed in the order rejecting recognition is that the petitioner do not have the lease land as required in terms of the regulations.

6. The counsel for the respondent justify the order of cancellation on the requirement as is prescribed under section 8(4) of the Regulations 2014 and argues that the petitioner does not have the lease land given by the Government and thus, his case was rightly rejected.

7. The counsel for the petitioner has annexed a copy of the registered lease deed executed in his favour for a period of ninety years w.e.f. 06.01.1998. The said lease deed, on its perusal reveals that there is no forfeiture clause contained in the covenant.

8. To appreciate the controversy at hand, it is essential to look into the mandatory provision of the NCTE Act, which itself was framed for establishing and promoting Teacher Education System in the whole of the country, recognizing the need for teachers and the manner in which the said object can be achieved. Section 3 of the Act provides for Establishment of the Council comprising of the members specified therein and Chapter III of the said Act provides for the functions of the Council. Section 14 and 15 of the NCTE Act, which are relevant for the present case are quoted herein below :

Section 14. Recognition of Institutions Offering Course or Training in Teacher Education.?(1) Every institution offering or intending to offer a course or training in teacher education on or after the appointed day, may, for grant of recognition under this Act, make an application to the Regional Committee concerned in such form and in such manner as may be determined by regulations:

Provided that an institution offering a course or training in teacher education immediately before the appointed day, shall be entitled to continue such course or training for a period of six months, if it has made an application for recognition within the said period and until the disposal of the application by the Regional Committee.

(2) The fee to be paid along with the application under sub-section (1) shall be such as may be prescribed.

(3) On receipt of an application by the Regional Committee from any institution under sub-section (1), and after obtaining from the institution concerned such other particulars as it may consider necessary, it shall?

(a) if it is satisfied that such institution has adequate financial resources, accommodation, library, qualified staff, laboratory and that it fulfils such other conditions required for proper functioning of the institution for a course or training in teacher education, as may be determined by regulations, pass an order granting recognition to such institution, subject to such conditions as may be determined by regulations; or

(b) if it is of the opinion that such institution does not fulfill the requirements laid down in sub-clause (a), pass an order refusing recognition to such institution for reasons to be recorded in writing:

Provided that before passing an order under sub-clause (b), the Regional Committee shall provide a reasonable opportunity to the concerned institution for making a written representation.

(4) Every order granting or refusing recognition to an institution for a course or training in teacher education under sub-section (3) shall be published in the Official Gazette and communicated in writing for appropriate action to such institution and to the concerned examining body, the local authority or the State Government and the Central Government.

(5) Every institution, in respect of which recognition has been refused shall discontinue the course or training in teacher education from the end of the academic session next following the date of receipt of the order refusing recognition passed under clause (b) of sub-section (3).

(6) Every examining body shall, on receipt of the order under sub-section (4)?

(a) grant affiliation to the institution, where recognition has been granted; or

(b) cancel the affiliation of the institution, where recognition has been refused

Section 15: Permission for a new course or training by recognised institution.?(1) Where any recognized institution intends to start any new course or training in teacher education, it may make an application to seek permission therefor to the Regional Committee concerned in such form and in such manner as may be determined by regulations.

(2) The fees to be paid along with the application under sub-section (1) shall be such as may be prescribed.

(3) On receipt of an application from an institution under sub-section (1), and after obtaining from the recognized institution such other particulars as may be considered necessary, the Regional Committee shall?

(a) if it is satisfied that such recognized institution has adequate financial resources, accommodation, library, qualified staff, laboratory, and that it fulfills such other conditions required for proper conduct of the new course or training in teacher education, as may be determined by regulations, pass an order granting permission, subject to such conditions as may be determined by regulations; or

(b) if it is of the opinion that such institution does not fulfill the requirements laid down in sub-clause (a), pass an order refusing permission to such institution for reasons to be recorded in writing:

Provided that before passing an order refusing permission under sub-class (b), the Regional Committee shall provide a reasonable opportunity to the institution concerned for making a written representation.

(4) Every order granting or refusing permission to a recognized institution for a new course or training in teacher education under sub-section (3), shall be published in the Official Gazette and communicated in writing for appropriate action to such recognized institution and to the concerned examining body, the local authority, the State Government and the Central Government."

On a plain reading, the intent of scope of section 14 and 15 is to ensure that the institutions seeking recognition has adequate financial resources, accommodation, library, qualified staff, laboratory and other conditions which are required to promote the object for which the Act was framed.

Section 32 of the said Act confers the power upon the council to make regulations not in consistent with the provisions of this Act and the Rules made thereunder and to generally carryout the provisions of this Act. In terms of the power conferred upon the Council, the Council has framed the regulations known as The National Council for Teacher Education (Recognition Norms and Procedure) Regulations 2014 as notified on 28.11.2014. Rule 8(4) of the said Regulations with which we are concerned is quoted herein below:

"8. Conditions for grant of recognition. (1) .....

3. .....

(4) (i) No institution shall be granted recognition under these regulations unless the institution or society sponsoring the institution is in possession of required land on the date of application. The land free from all encumbrances could be either on ownership basis or on lease from Government or Government institutions for a period of not less than thirty years. In cases where under relevant State or Union territory laws the maximum permissible lease period is less than thirty years, the State Government or Union territory administration law shall prevail and in any case no building shall be taken on lease for running any teacher training programme.

(ii) The society sponsoring the institution shall have to ensure that proposed teacher education institution has a well demarcated land area as specified by the norms.

(iii) The society sponsoring the institution shall be required to transfer and vest the title of the land and building in the name of the institution within a period of six months from the date of issue of formal recognition order under sub-regulation (16) of regulation 7. However, in case, the society fails to do so due to local laws or rules or bye-laws, it shall intimate in writing with documentary evidence of its inability to do so. The Regional Office shall keep this information on record and place it before the Regional Committee for its approval."

11. The order apparently has been passed in exercise of the said powers. The counsel for the petitioner argues that Regulation 8 (4), lays down conditions which have no relevant nexus sought to be achieved under section 14 and 15 of the NCTE Act. He argues that the intent of the law is to ensure that the institutions granting recognition has adequate resources in terms of financial and requirement of accommodation. He argues that the condition that the lease should be from a 'Government' or 'Government institutions' has no relevant nexus sought to be achieved in terms of the mandate of Section 14 and 15 of the Act. He also argues that even under section 32 of the Act, the Council is empowered to make regulations which are not inconsistent with the statutory provisions and should act in furtherance of the objects sought to be achieved, whereas the condition of a lease from Government or Government institution, restricts the scope of objects sought to be achieved under section 14 and 15 of the Act.

12. Sri O.P.M. Tripathi the counsel for the respondent reiterates that prior to the passing of the order, an opportunity was given on 25.05.2017, however as the present case is being decided based upon the scope of the Regulations and has no relevance to the opportunity granted or not, this Court is not going to the question of grant of opportunity to the petitioner as argued by him.

13. The intent of the scope of Section 14 and 15 of the Act is clearly discernible in the language used in section 14 and 15 of the Act. The Act aims to promote systematic education for teachers training and thus seeks to achieve a socio beneficial effect on the society. The Council is bound under the statute to promote the systematic education amongst the teachers and thus is duty bound to act in furtherance of the object sought to be achieved. The regulatory mechanism and the powers conferred on the Council, in terms of the Section 32(1) and in terms of the Regulations as framed, clearly cannot be inconsistent with the objects sought to be achieved. The prescription of lease from 'Government' or 'Government institutions' alone clearly does not seem to achieve the objects sought to be promoted under the Act. There is no rational nexus as to how a 'Government' lease for thirty years suits the cause better than a registered lease for a period of ninety years (as is the case in the present writ). Although there is no challenge to the vires of Regulation 8(4), this court is of the view that the prescriptions of having the land as prescribed in Regulation 8(4) served a valid purpose, however the prescription of having a land on 'Government' lease or on a lease from 'Government institutions', appears to be arbitrary and to save it from it being declared ultra vires, the same has to be read down to hold that the registered lease for more than thirty years which is validly recognized lease under the Transfer of Property Act has to be held to be an adequate compliance of the requirements as prescribed under the Regulation 8(4)(i) of the Regulations 2014.

14. The Supreme Court in the case of J. K. Industries Limited vs. Union of India; (2007) 13 SCC 673, while interpreting the scope of Rules made in exercise of the delegated legislation recorded as under :

"Apart from the grounds referred to by this Court in the above judgment in the case of Indian Express Newspaper, it is important to bear in mind that where the validity of subordinate legislation is challenged, the question to be asked is whether the power given to the rule making authority (in the present case the Central Government under section 642 (1) of the Companies Act) is exercised for the purpose for which it is given. Before reaching the conclusion that the Rule is intra vires (we have to begin with the presumption that the Rule is intra vires), the court has to examine the nature, object and the scheme of the legislation as a whole and in that context, the court has to consider what is the Area over which powers are given by the section under which the Rule Making Authority is to act. However, the court has to start with the presumption that the impugned Rule is intra vires. This approach means that, the Rule has to be read down only to save it from being declared ultra vires if the court finds in a given case that the above presumption stands rebutted."

15. In the present case, as the petitioner has a registered lease in his favour and is running a B.Ed. course in the same institution and same premises for which recognition has been granted by NCTE under same regulation, the order impugned denying the benefit of recognition solely based upon the petitioner not having a registered Government lease in his favour cannot be justified, as such, the impugned orders dated 15.02.2018 and 13.08.2018 are set aside. The respondents are directed to process the application of the petitioner treating the registered lease deed in his favour to be a valid document as required under Regulation 8(4)(1) of the NCTE Regulations, 2014. The said decision shall be taken in accordance with law within a period of three months. The said direction shall be subject to the petitioner fulfilling all the requirements of deposit of requisite fee etc. that may be required to be paid.

16. The writ petition stands disposed off with the said observations.

1. Heard Sri G.C. Verma, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Pankaj Kumar Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel (A.C.S.C.) for respondent - State.

2. This writ petition has been filed seeking a direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 16.06.2008 issued by respondent No.1, whereby the representation filed by the petitioner - Committee of Management has been rejected.

3. Brief fact of the case is that the institution in question, namely, Raj Dutta Shukla Purva Madhyamik Vidyalaya Sarauli, Amaniganj, Faizabad was granted recognition in the year 1982 and posts of teaching and non-teaching staff were sanctioned by the competent authority and were filled up in accordance with law and in pursuance thereof, appointment letters to the respective appointments were issued on 10.08.1984.

4. The petitioner raised an objection against the inspection report by which the institution was not found suitable for taking into grant-in-aid list by submitting khatauni of khasra Nos.1408, 1413 & 1414.

5. On 07.09.2006, a Government Order has been issued, which substantiates the case of the petitioner. On 03.11.2006, another objection was raised by the petitioner and explanation to the same was submitted on 10.11.2006.

6. On 01.12.2006, the District Inspector of Schools (DIOS) submitted a report supporting the institution to be enlisted into grant-in-aid list. Subsequently, vide order dated 02.12.2006 Government itself took a decision to enlist the institution into grant-in-aid list on the basis of permanent recognition granted and District Level Committee as well as Regional Level Committee submitted its report in the matter but no heed was paid by the respondents.

7. Thereafter, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No.6234 (M/S) of 2007, which was finally disposed of with a direction to the respondents to take final decision within a period of one month from the date of order of this Court.

8. Against non-compliance of the aforesaid judgment and order, the petitioner filed a contempt petition. Thereafter, vide order dated 04.01.2007, the Assistant Director, Basic Education Department rejected claim of the petitioner. The petitioner submitted a representation in regard to its claim on 18.01.2007 & 20.01.2007 and in pursuance thereof, a Regional Level Committee was constituted on 17.05.2007. In pursuance thereof, the claim of the petitioner has been rejected vide impugned order dated 16.06.2008. Hence, the present writ petition has been instituted before this Court.

9. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner is running the institute in the name of Raj Dutta Shukla Purva Madhyamik Vidyalaya, which was granted temporary recognition on 21.04.1982 and a permanent recognition on 23.03.1985. It is submitted that although the institution of the petitioner was recognized, the same was not having the fruits of grant-in-aid. The State Government with a view to bring certain institutions under grant-in-aid issued a Government Order on 07.09.2006, wherein a decision was taken for bringing certain institutions under grant-in-aid, who were fulfilling the criteria as specified from serial No.1 to Serial No.8 in the said Government Order. The said Government Order also provided timeline for the institutions to file their applications, which were to be disposed of according to the time schedule as specified. Clause-3 of the said Government Order also created the committees at the directorate level as well as at the regional level comprising of a person as specified, who were to verify and to recommend the applications for bringing the institutions under grant-in-aid list.

10. In pursuance to the aforesaid Government Order, it is claimed that the institution of the petitioner filed an application before the District Level Committee and the said committee recommended the case of petitioner's institution for being considered to be brought under grant-in-aid (contained as Annexure No.-2 to the petition).

11. It is also submitted that the recommendation, as made in favour of the petitioner, came up for consideration before the Regional Level Committee, wherein one objection was raised against the application of the petitioner, which is contained in Annexure No.10 to the writ petition. The said objection was that approval of the appointment made with regard to clerk was not available in the records.

12. It is submitted by the petitioner that on 10.11.2006, the said objection was duly removed by the petitioner. On the said objection, it is submitted that the District Basic Education Officer sent a letter / report to the State Government, in which it was admitted that due to clerical mistake of department, the objection was raised and the approval is correct.

13. In this regard, it is also submitted that despite removal of the objection, name of the petitioner was not included in the list of institutions, which were approved for being taken under grant-in-aid list. The said list dated 02.12.2006 is on record of the writ petition as Annexure No.12, which demonstrates that all the boys colleges, which were granted recognition up to 30.04.1989 were taken in the list of grant-in-aid colleges.

14. It is also submitted that petitioner's institution was granted recognition prior in point of time than the institutions, which were granted the benefit. Subsequently, the Assistant Director, Basic Education raised fresh objection on 04.01.2007 in respect of the application filed by the petitioner (Annexure No.16). It is also submitted that on 20.01.2007, the petitioner gave a detailed reply to the new objection filed. On 17.05.2007, the Regional Level Committee considered the case of the petitioner's institution along with other institutions and recommended the name of the petitioner's institution in the list, wherein the name of petitioner's institution is contained at Serial No.10 (Annexure No.18).

15. It is further submitted that despite the recommendation made in favour of the petitioner by the Regional Level Committee, as no decision was being taken, the petitioner was constrained to approach this Court by filing Writ Petition No.6234 (M/S) of 2007, wherein directions were issued to the State Government to take a decision on the application of the petitioner in accordance with law within a period of two months.

16. It is further stated that despite the said order, as no decision was taken, the petitioner was constrained to file a contempt petition before this Court. In the said petition, it is argued that the notices were issued and during the pendency of the contempt petition, an order came to be passed on 16.06.2008 (Annexure No.1), wherein the application of the petitioner was rejected on the grounds as enumerated.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in terms of the directions issued by this Court, the order passed and impugned reveals that a meeting was convened on 31.12.2007, wherein the petitioner was heard and a report was called from the District Basic Education Officer, Faizabad. The order further records that the Director, Basic Education had sent its report dated 10.06.2008 and on going through the said report, it was found that the approval to the appointment was not issued according to the dispatch register and the institution has not annexed the ownership documents of the land, where the institution was situate as such, it was recorded that the petitioner's institution was not eligible in terms of the provisions of the Government Order dated 07.09.2006. In the said order, it is also stated that in terms of the Government Order dated 07.09.2006, the institutions, which were eligible, have already been taken under grant-in-aid list by means of Government Order dated 02.12.2006 and further subsequent thereto, no financial budget was available and thus, it was not possible to consider the case of the petitioner and the said order is under challenge.

18. He further submitted that in terms of Government Order dated 07.09.2006, it is incumbent that the decision be taken by a committee constituted, which has not been done in the case of the petitioner and despite there being a recommendation in favour of the petitioner, the order impugned has been passed on consideration other than that as were required under the Government Order dated 07.09.2006.

19. He next submitted that in any event the impugned order dated 16.06.2008 is violative of principles of natural justice inasmuch as the order itself records that the petitioner was heard on 31.12.2007, whereas the foundation for passing of the order is some report dated 10.06.2008, which was never given to the petitioner nor was ever the petitioner called to explain the discrepancies as allegedly noticed in the report dated 10.06.2008.

20. He further submitted that in any view the Government Order dated 07.09.2006 provided for a decision to be taken based upon the report of the committee constituted, whereas the order impugned has been passed based upon the report of the Director of Basic Education dated 10.06.2008, who is not empowered.

21. He next submitted that similarly placed institutions, which were granted recognition subsequent to the petitioner's recognition, have been brought under grant-in-aid and thus, the rights of petitioner enshrined under Article 14 of Constitution of India for being brought under grant-in-aid have been violated. He has also drawn attention of this Court to one of the condition as contained in the Government Order dated 07.09.2006 with regard to ownership of the land by the institution, which condition was set aside by this Court in the judgment passed by this Court in Writ-C No.66100 of 2006; C/M Adarsh Janta Junior High School Vs. State of U.P. and others, following the judgment in the case of Committee of Management Vs. State of U.P. and others; (1994) 2 UPLBED 1127, wherein Clause 8 was found to be arbitrary and illegal.

22. The counsel for the petitioner further argues that on filing of the application in terms of the Government Order, a right has accrued in favour of the petitioner for being considered within the parameters of the Government Order, which has been violated. He places reliance on the judgment of this Court in Writ - C No.4735 of 2017 (C/M Ram Daun Ram Raj Pre - Secondary School and another) wherein in similar circumstances this court had passed the order dated 27.02.2019 which was affirmed in the Special Appeal Defective No.975 of 2020 and further in Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.3359 of 202. He further places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of C/M Sri Satya Narain Junior High School and others vs. State of U.P. and others in Writ-C No.24767 of 2018 decided on 16.11.2021 wherein in similar circumstances, the court had considered the rights of the petitioner and have granted the relief to the petitioner therein. He also placed reliance on a similar matter being decided by this Court in Writ-C No.1000923 of 2011 (C/M Chandra Shekhar Azad Junior High School Lucknow vs. State of U.P. and others) decided on 15.07.2022. In the light of the said, he argues that the writ petition deserves to be allowed and the impugned order is liable to be set aside.

23. On the other hand, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has vehemently opposed the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner and has drawn attention of this Court to the order dated 16.01.2008, wherein the decision was taken in respect of the certain institution, which were brought under grant in aid on 27.12.2006 on the ground that adequate budget could not be sanctioned by the State Government. She further argues that this Court in the judgment reported in 2019 (6) ADJ 255 has given certain directions to the State Government for framing a policy in respect of the said institutions and in terms of the said order, the State Government has framed a policy on 14.07.2020 whereby a decision has been taken for not taking the institution under the grant in aid list for the reasons contained in paragraph Nos.7(7), 7(8) and 8 of the Government Order dated 14.07.2020. The said condition as specified in the Government Order dated 14.07.2020 is basically based on the ground that the State Government is concentrating on improving the standard of the education in the institution which are already on the grant in aid list. In the light of the said, she argues that the present petition is liable to be dismissed.

24. In the light of the arguments as recorded above, this court is to see whether the impugned order rejecting the application of the petitioner vide order dated 16.06.2008 is justified or not. It bears from the record that the State Government had issued a Government Order dated 07.09.2006 for bringing the certain institutions under grant in aid, the application filed by the petitioner in pursuance to the Government Order was duly recommended by the District Level Committee as well as by the Regional Level Committee as bears from the perusal of Annexure No.18 wherein the name of the petitioner had appeared at serial No.10.

25. It also bears from the record that the institutions similarly situated but granted recognition subsequent to the date of recognition granted to the petitioner institution have been taken under grant in aid. In view of the said, the order dated 16.06.2008 is clearly not sustainable firstly because the same is in violation of the principles of natural justice as it places reliance on a report dated 10.06.2008, which was obtained subsequent to the date of hearing which happened on 31.12.2007 without giving the said report to the petitioner or permitting him to rebut the same, the order impugned could not have been passed which has occasioned in violation of the principles of natural justice.

26. In normal circumstances, the matter deserves to be remanded, however considering the stand taken by the State Government in the impugned order of rejecting the application of the petitioner on the two grounds mentioned in the impugned order, this Court proposes to deal the same as sufficient time has elapsed and no useful purpose would be served in remanding the matter. The grounds based upon which the impugned order has been passed denying the benefit of grant in aid to the petitioner are;

i) the approval to the appointment of Clerk was not mentioned in the dispatch register, and

ii) the ownership documents of the land is not included in the certificate.

27. With regard to the second ground which has led to the passing of the impugned order, the same does not merit any acceptance for the reason that the District Basic Education Officer himself in his order dated 01.12.2006 had recorded that all the actions with regard to the approval of the appointment of the Clerk was duly made (Annexure No.12) and with regard to the first ground, which is the foundation of passing the order, that the ownership of the land documents have not been annexed is also not acceptable for the reason that in the report of the District Basic Education Officer dated 01.12.2006 (Annexure No.12), he has himself recorded that all the documents with regard to the ownership have been provided and further more that the said condition has already been set aside by this Court in Writ-C No.66100 of 2006 [C/M Adarsh Janta Junior High School vs. State of U.P. and others] decided on 13.02.2013. Even otherwise, the order impugned cannot be sustained as being without jurisdiction as the decision has to be taken by the State Government based upon the recommendation of the committees constituted under the Government Order. The State Government could not have gone beyond the said recommendations in accepting or rejecting the claim made by various institutions which has precisely been done in the present case wherein the request has been rejected despite there being a recommendation in favour of the petitioner. Even otherwise, the case of the petitioner is squarely covered by the judgment of this Court in the case of C/M Ram Daun Ram Raj Pre - Secondary School and another (supra) decided on 27.02.2019.

28. Thus, for all the reasons recorded above, the impugned order dated 16.06.2008 is clearly not sustainable and is liable to be quashed.

29. Accordingly, the order dated 16.06.2008 is set-aside. The State Government is directed to take the petitioner's institution under grant-in-aid in pursuance to the Government Order dated 07.09.2006 as has been done in the case of the other eligible institutions who were applied for being taken under grant-in-aid in pursuance to the Government Order dated 07.09.2006. The decision in that regard shall be taken without fail within a period of four months from today.

30. The Additional Chief Standing Counsel is directed to communicate a copy of this order to the State Government for its compliance and in accordance with law.

31. With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition succeeds and stands allowed.

Special Appeal No. 216 of 2022

Shiv Kumar Patel ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava, Sri Ajai Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Hare Ram Tripathi (S.C.), Sri A.P. Paul(State Law Officer), Sri Gyan Bahadur Singh

A. Civil Law – Misdemeanour in Office - Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 - Sections 95(1)(g) & 27 - Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Removal of Pradhan, Up-Pradhan and Members) Inquiry Rules, 1997 - Rule 3 - Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Rules, 1947- Rule 256, 257 - The purpose and scope of the provisions of Sections 95(1)(g) & 27 of the Act of 1947 are distinct and different. Whilst S.95(1)(g) is directed to ensure removal from office of an elected Pradhan on one or the other ground mentioned in sub-clauses (i) to (v) of Clause (g) of S.95(1). S.27 is designed to recover money occasioned on account of loss, waste or misapplication of money or property belonging to a Gram Panchayat by a Pradhan, if that loss, waste, etc. is the direct consequence of the Pradhan's neglect or misconduct. (Para 9)

It is true that upon the Pradhan demitting office, proceedings u/s 95(1)(g), if not initiated, cannot continue as the entire purpose of those proceedings is to oust the incumbent Pradhan from office. These proceedings certainly cannot commence after the Pradhan has already demitted office. But, the purpose of Section 27 of the Act of 1947 is to recover money belonging to the Gram Panchayat i.e. lost, wasted or misapplied, as a direct consequence of the Pradhan's neglect or misconduct while in office. (Para 11)

The learned Judge has exposited the provisions of S.95(1)(g) and S.27 of the Act of 1947 to mean that though the two are independent, yet action must commence u/s 95(1)(g), or for that matter u/s 27, while the Pradhan holds office in order to enable proceedings for recovery of the loss or surcharge to continue after he/she demits office. In the opinion of the learned Judge, the Pradhan's end of tenure closes all chapter of his liability to the Gram Panchayat. (Para 10)

B. The golden rule is that the words of a statute must prima facie be given their ordinary meaning when the language or phraseology employed by the legislature is precise and plain. This, by itself proclaims the intention of the legislature in unequivocal terms, the same must be given effect to and it is unnecessary to fall upon the legislative history, Statement of Objects and Reasons, framework of the statute, etc. Such an exercise need be carried out only when the words are unintelligible, ambiguous or vague. (Para 11)

It is an established principle of statutory construction, that if the words of a statute are clear and unmistakable in their import, they are to be given their ordinary, natural meaning. This is also called the literal rule of construction. It dictates attributing every word in the statute its plain and simple meaning, grammatically supported. (Para 11)

The words employed in Section 27(1), "if such loss, waste or misapplication is direct consequence of his neglect or misconduct while he was such Pradhan", hold the Pradhan liable for all loss or waste that he causes to the Gaon Sabha by acts of misconduct or negligence while still incumbent. The phraseology of the statute unmistakably points to loss caused by acts of negligence or misconduct of the Pradhan while he was in office. Nothing prevented the legislature to say while "he is such Pradhan,". The employment of the word "was" is a singular pointer to the fixation of liability for past actions done in office. The provisions of S.27(1) are of clear import and they clothe the Authorities under the Act of 1947, with jurisdiction to take proceedings against the Pradhan for recovery of loss, caused to the Gram Panchayat's by his/her neglect or misconduct, after the Pradhan ceases to hold office. (Para 11, 13)

C. The mere mention of a wrong provision in the complaint laid, in our opinion, would not be decisive - An objection on behalf of the respondents, is that the relief claimed in the writ petition is limited to a direction to conclude proceedings u/s 95(1)(g) of the Act of 1947, which is an infructuous prayer, once respondent no. 3 has demitted office. The complaint, that has been laid before the DM, shows on a wholesome reading that it is about misappropriation of funds of the Gram Panchayat by respondent no. 3 while in office. The facts set out in the complaint clearly lend themselves to initiation of appropriate action u/s 27 of the Act of 1947, though they might also have formed basis of proceedings, u/s 95(1)(g), if respondent no. 3 were in office. The complaint cannot be thrown out on the ground alone that respondent no. 3 has demitted office, on the date the complaint was laid before the District Magistrate (DM). The competent Authority, ought to inquire into the complaint independently u/s 27(1) of the Act of 1947, ignoring the fact that respondent no. 3 has demitted office as the Pradhan. Nothing shall be construed an expression on the merits of the complaint laid against respondent no. 3. (Para 14)

A writ of mandamus is issued to the District Magistrate, Prayagraj to consider the complaint dated 10.05.2021 laid by the writ petitioner, against respondent no. 3, as one u/s 27 of the Act of 1947 and proceed with the same in accordance with law.

Special appeal allowed. (E-4)

Present special appeal assails judgment and order dated 18.10.2021, passed by Hon'ble Single Judge in Writ-C No. 24314 of 2021.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J. & Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This special appeal is directed against the order of the learned Single Judge dated 18.10.2021, dismissing the appellant's writ petition. The petitioner-appellant instituted the writ petition, giving rise to this appeal, asking for the issue of a writ of mandamus to the District Magistrate, Prayagraj to decide proceedings under Section 95(1)(g) of the Uttar Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (for short, 'the Act of 1947'), pending before him against respondent no.3, Chamela Devi, the Village Pradhan, within some stipulated period of time as the Court may determine.

2. Shorn of unnecessary details, Chamela Devi was elected as the Village Pradyan of Village Shivlal Ka Pura, Post Gohri, Tehsil Soraon, District Prayagraj in the elections held in the year 2016. It is the petitioner-appellant's case that respondent no.3 committed misfeasance in office during her tenure. The petitioner-appellant, who shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the writ petitioner, instituted a Public Interest Litigation No. 1944 of 2020, Shiv Kumar and others v. State of U.P. and others, seeking a direction to the District Authorities to make an inquiry into those acts of misfeasance alleged, and cause an FIR to be lodged for the offence of the misappropriation and embezzlement of public moneys. A Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 08.02.2021 disposed of the writ petition virtually dismissing it on the ground of availability of an efficacious statutory remedy. That remedy was said to be available under Rule 3 of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Removal of Pradhan, Up-Pradhan and Members) Inquiry Rules, 1997 (for short, 'the Rules of 1997'). In fact, the said rules are referable to the powers available to the State Government, or on its behalf with the District Magistrate under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act of 1947.

3. The writ petitioner on 10.05.2021 moved a complaint to the District Magistrate, Prayagraj under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act of 1947, complaining of misdemeanour in office against respondent no.3, involving defalcation of public money. There was inaction on the District Magistrate's part to proceed further on the said complaint. This led the writ petitioner to move the present petition, seeking a mandamus in the terms prayed.

4. Before the learned Single Judge, it was contended by the learned Counsel for the writ petitioner that where any financial irregularities have been committed by a Pradhan, the District Magistrate ought to deprive her of her financial powers, after the necessary preliminary inquiry, with the ceasure of powers continuing until the Pradhan is exonerated in the final inquiry. It was also argued before the learned Single Judge, as would appear from the impugned judgment, that Section 27 of the Act of 1947 envisages proceedings by way of surcharge. These proceedings are designed to recover loss, waste or misappropriation of money or property belonging to the Gaon Sabha. The Prescribed Authority has been entrusted with the duty to fix the amount of surcharge, which shall be recovered from the Pradhan or the other person concerned by the Collector.

5. The State, on the other hand, contended that respondent no.3 was in office as the Village Pradhan until 02.05.2021, and after fresh elections to the post of Pradhan in the State of Uttar Pradesh were held in the month of April, 2021, respondent no.3 has been replaced by another incumbent. It was emphasized that the complaint moved by the writ petitioner was on 10.05.2021, that is, after respondent no.3 had demitted office. As such, the State or its Authorities, including the District Magistrate, could not proceed under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act of 1947, read with the Rules of 1997. It was, particularly, argued that it is only in an audit or inquiry that facts are discovered to show that any sum of money has been misappropriated, and, thereupon, proceedings for surcharge can be initiated against a Pradhan under Section 27 of the Act of 1947. It was also contended on behalf of the State that the writ petitioner had not been able to show that any sum of money, allegedly embezzled by respondent no.3, on an inquiry made by the competent Authority, had been found to be defalcated. The learned Single Judge, before whom the writ petition came up, proceeded to formulate the following question:

"Whether provision of Section 95 (1) (g) of the Act of 1947, as well as Section 27 and Rules 256 and 257 of the Rules of 1947 are applicable against an ex Pradhan on the complaint being lodged after he/she ceased to be a Pradhan"

6. The learned Judge undertook a survey of the provisions of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 of the Act of 1947, besides Rules 256 and 257 of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Rules, 1947, framed under the Act of 1947 (for short, "the Rules of 1947') that have been extracted in the impugned judgment. We would only refer to so much of them as elucidate the point upon which, according to us, the decision turns. The learned Judge, on a conjoint reading of the provisions of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 of the Act of 1947 together with Rule 256 of the Rules of 1947, held that though the provisions for surcharge under Section 27 entitle the State for recovering money on account of loss, waste or misuse of any money or property belonging to the Gaon Sabha, caused by a misconduct or neglect of the Pradhan, independent of proceedings under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act, but the powers under Section 27 can be invoked if proceedings against the Pradhan, under Section 95(1)(g) or Section 27, are initiated while the Pradhan is in office.

7. It has further been held that the Act and the Rules do not envisage a contingency, where a Pradhan, whose term has come to an end, can still have his conduct inquired into while in office and recovery made for loss, waste or misuse of Gaon Sabha money or property under Section 27. It has also been opined that launching of fresh proceedings after expiration of the term of office of the Pradhan is not permissible under the Act of 1947, as the word used is "the Pradhan' and not "an Ex-Pradhan'. The proviso to Section 27 that saves proceedings for recovery of money as surcharge on account of loss, waste or misapplication for a period of 10 years of the occurrence of the loss, waste etc. is attracted, where the complaint is made and proceedings initiated during the Pradhan's tenure, in the learned Judge's opinion. The proviso to Section 27(1) would not apply where no proceedings are initiated while the Pradhan was in office. It is on all these reasonings that the learned Judge has dismissed the petition.

8. Before us, elaborate arguments were advanced on both sides to assail and defend the order impugned.

9. We have carefully perused the record. There is hardly any doubt on facts here. By the time, the complaint against respondent no.3 was laid, for whatever reason, she had demitted office and was no longer the Pradhan. Nevertheless, the complaint was about the misconduct or inaction of respondent no.3 whilst she held the office of the Gram Pradhan. To our understanding, the purpose and scope of the provisions of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 of the Act of 1947 are distinct and different. Whilst Section 95(1)(g) is directed to ensure removal from office of an elected Pradhan on one or the other ground mentioned in sub-clauses (i) to (v) of Clause (g) of sub-Section (1) of Section 95 of the Act of 1947. Section 27 has an altogether different scope and purpose. Section 27 is designed to recover money occasioned on account of loss, waste or misapplication of money or property belonging to a Gram Panchayat by a Pradhan, if that loss, waste, etc. is the direct consequence of the Pradhan's neglect or misconduct. In this connection, we consider it apposite to refer to the provisions of Section 27 of the Act, which read:

"27. Surcharge.-(1) Every Pradhan or Up-Pradhan of a [Gram Panchayat] every member of a [Gram Panchayat] or of a Joint Committee or any other committee constituted under this Act and every Sarpanch, Sahayak Sarpanch or Panch of a Nyaya Panchayat shall be liable to surcharge for the loss, waste or misapplication of money or property [belonging to the Gram Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat] as the case may be, if such loss, waste or misapplication is direct consequence of his neglect or misconduct while he was such Pradhan, Up-Pradhan, Member, Sarpanch, Sahayak Sarpanch or Panch :

Provided that such liability shall cease to exist after the expiration of ten years from the occurrence of such loss, waste or misapplication, or five years from the date on which the person liable ceases to hold his office, whichever is later.

(2) The prescribed authority shall fix the amount of the surcharge according to the procedure that may be prescribed and shall certify the amount to the Collector who shall, on being satisfied that the amount is due, realise it as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

(3) Any person aggrieved by the order of the prescribed authority fixing the amount of surcharge may, within thirty days of such order, appeal against the order to the State Government or such other appellate authority as may be prescribed.

(4) Where no proceeding for fixation and realisation of surcharge as specified in sub-section (2) is taken the State Government may institute a suit for compensation for such loss, waste or misapplication, against the person liable for the same."

(emphasis by Court)

10. Now, in a case where no proceedings of any kind are initiated against a Pradhan while in office, for whatever reason, and still, there is a case with some evidence at hand to show that loss, waste or misapplication or for that matter misappropriation of Gram Panchayat's property has happened on account of negligence or misconduct of the Pradhan while he/ she was in office, nothing can be done to recover such loss, according to the learned Single Judge. The learned Judge has exposited the provisions of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 of the Act of 1947 to mean that though the two are independent, yet action must commence under Section 95(1)(g), or for that matter under Section 27, while the Pradhan holds office in order to enable proceedings for recovery of the loss or surcharge to continue after he/ she demits office. In the opinion of the learned Judge, the Pradhan's end of tenure closes all chapter of his liability to the Gram Panchayat.

11. We find the learned Judge's reasoning based on the interpretation of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 to be based on strained logic, if not altogether inexplicable. We have already pointed out that the purpose of Section 95(1)(g) and Section 27 is altogether different. It is true that upon the Pradhan demitting office, proceedings under Section 95(1)(g), if not initiated, cannot continue as the entire purpose of those proceedings is to oust the incumbent Pradhan from office. These proceedings certainly cannot commence after the Pradhan has already demitted office. But, the purpose of Section 27 of the Act of 1947 is to recover money belonging to the Gram Panchayat i.e. lost, wasted or misapplied, as a direct consequence of the Pradhan's neglect or misconduct while in office. We wish to emphasize the words employed in Section 27(1), "if such loss, waste or misapplication is direct consequence of his neglect or misconduct while he was such Pradhan,". The import of the words on a plain reading is unmistakable. It is to hold the Pradhan liable for all loss or waste that he causes to the Gaon Sabha by acts of misconduct or negligence while still incumbent. The phraseology of the statute unmistakably points to loss caused by acts of negligence or misconduct of the Pradhan while he was in office. Nothing prevented the legislature to say while "he is such Pradhan,". The employment of the word "was" is a singular pointer to the fixation of liability for past actions done in office. It is an established principle of statutory construction, often called the golden rule, that if the words of a statute are clear and unmistakable in their import, they are to be given their ordinary, natural meaning. This is also called the literal rule of construction. It dictates attributing every word in the statute its plain and simple meaning, grammatically supported. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Prabhudas Damodar Kotecha and others v. Manahbala Jeram Damodar and another, (2013) 15 SCC 358. The golden rule or the principle of literal construction has been enunciated by their Lordships thus:

Golden rule

31. The golden rule is that the words of a statute must prima facie be given their ordinary meaning when the language or phraseology employed by the legislature is precise and plain. This, by itself proclaims the intention of the legislature in unequivocal terms, the same must be given effect to and it is unnecessary to fall upon the legislative history, Statement of Objects and Reasons, framework of the statute, etc. Such an exercise need be carried out only when the words are unintelligible, ambiguous or vague.

32. It is trite law that if the words of a statute are themselves precise and unambiguous, then no more can be necessary than to expound those words in their natural and ordinary sense. The above principles have been applied by this Court in several cases, the judgments of which are reported in Chief Justice of A.P. v. L.V.A. Dixitulu [(1979) 2 SCC 34 : 1979

SCC (L&S) 99] , Kehar Singh v. State (Delhi Admn.) [(1988) 3 SCC 609 : 1988 SCC (Cri) 711 : AIR 1988 SC 1883] , District Mining Officer v. Tisco [(2001) 7 SCC 358] , Gurudevdatta VKSSS Maryadit v. State of Maharashtra [(2001) 4 SCC 534 : AIR 2001 SC 1980] , State of H.P. v. Pawan Kumar [(2005) 4 SCC 350 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 943] and State of Rajasthan v. Babu Ram [(2007) 6 SCC 55 : (2007) 3 SCC (Cri) 52].

12. The learned Counsel for the writ petitioner has placed reliance on a decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Indu Devi v. District Magistrate, Chitrakoot and others, 2006 (2) ADJ 552 (DB) to submit that proceedings under Section 27 of the Act of 1947 can very well continue after the Pradhan demits office and these are independent of proceedings for removal of the Pradhan under Section 95(1)(g). No doubt, there are some remarks in Paragraph No.8 of the report in Indu Devi's (supra) that seem to support the writ petitioner, but the decision may not be of much help on the point, because Indu Devi was a case where proceedings against the Pradhan commenced whilst she was in office. The decision there turned on a different point and the remarks in Paragraph No.8 of the report are not of much assistance to the writ petitioner.

13. Nevertheless, in our considered opinion, the provisions of Section 27(1) are of clear import and they clothe the Authorities under the Act of 1947, with jurisdiction to take proceedings against the Pradhan for recovery of loss, caused to the Gram Panchayat's by his/ her neglect or misconduct, after the Pradhan ceases to hold office.

14. An objection on behalf of the respondents, which must be dealt with, is that the relief claimed in the writ petition is limited to a direction to conclude proceedings under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act of 1947, which is an infructuous prayer, once respondent no.3 has demitted office. The mere mention of a wrong provision in the complaint laid, in our opinion, would not be decisive. The complaint, that has been laid before the District Magistrate, a copy of which is annexed as Annexure No.2 to the writ petition (Annexure No.7 to the affidavit filed in support of the Stay Application to the appeal), shows on a wholesome reading that it is about misappropriation of funds of the Gram Panchayat by respondent no.3 while in office. The facts set out in the complaint clearly lend themselves to initiation of appropriate action under Section 27 of the Act of 1947, though they might also have formed basis of proceedings, under Section 95(1)(g), if respondent no.3 were in office. We do not wish to say that the facts stated in the complaint are true or untrue. All that we say, is that the complaint cannot be thrown out on the ground alone that respondent no.3 has demitted office, on the date the complaint was laid before the District Magistrate. In our opinion, the District Magistrate, or whoever be the competent Authority, ought to inquire into the complaint independently under Section 27(1) of the Act of 1947, ignoring the fact that respondent no.3 has demitted office as the Pradhan. We emphasize twice over that nothing said by us shall be construed an expression on the merits of the complaint laid against respondent no.3.

15. In the result, this appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment dated 18.10.2021 passed by the learned Single Judge is set aside. A writ of mandamus is issued to the District Magistrate, Prayagraj to consider the complaint dated 10.05.2021 laid by the writ petitioner, against respondent no.3, as one under Section 27 of the Act of 1947 and proceed with the same in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J. & Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is a respondent's appeal arising out of a judgment and order passed by the learned Single Judge allowing the writ petition.

2. The Committee of Management, Madrasa Arbia Azizia Majaharool Uloom, Nichlaul Bazar, District Maharajganj has its affairs torn by factional war. One faction is represented by Abid Ali, who claims to be the lawfully elected Manager, whereas the other is represented by Muhammadullah.

3. Madrasa Arbia Azizia Majaharool Uloom, Nichlaul Bazar, District Maharajganj is a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (for short, 'the Act'). It was registered on 18.04.1975. The Society is governed by its bylaws. The Society maintains an educational institution. The institution that the Society maintains is funded by the State. The Society has a General Body and a Committee of Management. The tenure of the Committee of Management is three years under the bylaws. Bylaw 23 provides for the various office bearers, who are to be elected from amongst the Members of the General Body. The office bearers are the President, the Vice President, the Manager, the Deputy Manager, besides members of the Committee. Bylaw 26 provides for the contingency, where elections to the Committee of Management cannot be held on schedule and within three years of the last elections. It provides for a holding over in favour of the office bearers of the last elected management till their successors are elected.

4. It is the petitioners' case, who are respondent nos.4 to 6 to this appeal, that the last undisputed elections to the Committee of Management were held on 07.10.2018. In those elections, Muhammadullah, the appellant here, was elected the Manager whereas Iltaf Husain, respondent no.6 to the appeal, was elected the Vice President. The list of office bearers of the Committee of Management elected on 07.10.2018 was duly registered under Section 4 of the Act by the Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Gorakhpur. It is the petitioner-respondents' case that the appellant, who is effectively Muhammadullah, designed to grab control of the Society. For the purpose, he claimed that he had called a meeting of the General Body on 16.11.2019 for amending the bylaws of the Society. He moved an application on 29.02.2020 before the Assistant Registrar of Societies asking the amended bylaws to be registered. The petitioner-respondents claimed that the Assistant Registrar without issuing notice to all members of the General Body and without following the procedure envisaged for registering an amendment to the bylaws of the Society, registered the amended bylaws on 05.03.2020.

5. The petitioner-respondents then say that by concealing facts, Muhammadullah submitted a forged and fabricated list of office bearers to the Assistant Registrar, seeking its registration under Section 4 of the Act. The petitioner-respondents upon coming to know of the aforesaid fact, filed objections dated 13.07.2021 before the Assistant Registrar. It is the petitioner-respondents' case that upon coming to know of the amendments unauthorizedly made by Muhammadullah, petitioner-respondent no.6, Iltaf Husain, as the Vice President of the Society, invoked his powers under Clause 23 of the bylaws and convened an emergent meeting of the Committee of Management on 25.09.2020. It is pleaded on behalf of the petitioner-respondents that the agenda for the meeting convened on 25.09.2020 was issued to all members of the General Body in accordance with the bylaws. The meeting of the Committee of Management held on 25.09.2020 was attended by office bearers elected on the basis of the elections dated 07.10.2018. It was held under the Chairpersonship of the Vice President, Iltaf Husain. It was unanimously resolved, according to the petitioner-respondents, that Muhammadullah was acting against the Society's interest. He had submitted an annual list of office bearers for the year 2019-20, different from the one that was in accord with the undisputed elections held on 07.10.2018; also different from the annual list of office bearers registered for the year 2018-19.

6. A show cause notice was issued by the Committee of Management to Muhammadullah, asking him to explain his position with a stipulation that in the event he did not explain his position, the matter would be placed before the General Body, where proceedings would be taken for his removal. The show cause notice indicated that the meeting of the General Body would be held on 16.10.2020, where Muhammadullah could appear personally and submit his explanation along with others, who had factioned off.

7. Shorn of further detail, it is the petitioner-respondents' case that on 16.10.2020, the meeting of the General Body was convened on schedule, but Muhammadullah and those siding with him did not appear or show cause. They did not attend the meeting of the General Body. A resolution was passed by the General Body removing Muhammadullah from the post of the Manager. Nur Ali and Akhtar Husain were removed from the posts of Deputy Manager and Vice President, respectively. By a resolution of the same date passed by the General Body under the bylaws, Abid Ali was elected the Manager and Rizwan Ullah Khan the Deputy Manager. Guddu alias Mohd. Faruq was elected the Vice President of the Committee of Management for the year 2020-21. The Manager was directed to secure registration of the annual list of office bearers.

8. According to the petitioner-respondents, Muhammadullah, the former Manager and those siding with him being expelled, Abid Ali submitted an application dated 04.11.2020 to the Assistant Registrar with a request to register the list of office bearers of the Society for the year 2020-21, and further, to renew the Society's Certificate of Registration. It is the writ petitioner-respondents' case that the list of office bearers submitted by them was based on the undisputed elections held on 07.10.2018 with the necessary modification to it on account of the decision of the General Body to remove the Manager, Muhammadullah and the others, who had factioned off. Those elected in their stead were asked to be registered in the list of office bearers for the year 2020-21. The said list was submitted to the Assistant Registrar on 08.10.2021 along with the details of election proceedings dated 07.10.2021, with a request to register, as the writ petitioner-respondents claim. It is the petitioner-respondents' further case that in between, the appellant got a forged and fabricated election conducted on 08.10.2021 to the Committee of Management in accordance with the bylaws, which the petitioner-respondents say, were got illegally amended. The list of office bearers, different from the one presented by Abid Ali based on the General Body's resolution, was submitted by Muhammadullah on 12.10.2021 to the Assistant Registrar.

9. The writ petitioner-respondents say that their objections to the amendment made to the bylaws were pending, but they were not put to any notice regarding the list of office bearers submitted by Muhammadullah based on the elections dated 08.10.2021, different from theirs. Orders were reserved on 20.10.2021 and pronounced on 25.04.2022 by the Assistant Registrar. By the order dated 25.04.2022, the Assistant Registrar discarded both sets of elections, determined an electoral college of 25 members and appointed the District Minority Welfare Officer as the Election Officer to hold elections under Section 25(2) of the Act.

10. It is this order dated 25.04.2022, that was impugned by the writ petitioner-respondents before the learned Single Judge.

11. The learned Single Judge held that it was a case of a dispute in respect of elections, which the Prescribed Authority alone, under Section 25(1) of the Act, as amended in its application to the State of Uttar Pradesh, was competent to determine. The Assistant Registrar was not competent to direct holding of elections, invoking his powers under Section 25(2) of the Act, discarding both sets of elections before him.

12. Aggrieved by the aforesaid order, the fourth respondent to the writ petition, who are the faction represented by Muhammadullah, have preferred this appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules of the Court.

13. Heard Mr. Narendra Kumar Chaturvedi, learned Counsel for the appellant, Mr. Radha Kant Ojha, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Bhagwan Dutt Pandey, Advocate appearing for respondent nos.4 to 6 and Mr. A.K. Ray, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent nos.1, 2 and 3.

14. The thrust of the submissions advanced before us by Mr. Narendra Kumar Chaturvedi, learned Counsel for the appellant is that a reference under Section 25(1) of the Act is to be made by the Registrar or the Assistant Registrar, as the case may be, when confronted by two rival sets of elections, if the dispute is bona fide. He submits that the dispute on facts should be between two bona fide rival claims and not merely one where a dispute is raised apparently without basis. In case where a dispute has no basis to it ex facie, Mr. Chaturvedi says that the Assistant Registrar is not obliged to make a reference under Section 25(1) of the Act. He can decide and pass appropriate orders in the exercise of his powers under Section 4 with consequential orders under Section 25(2) of the Act.

15. On the other hand, Mr. R.K. Ojha, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Bhagwan Dutt Pandey, Advocate appearing for respondent nos.4 to 6, submits that the case is one where there was per-eminently a dispute about two sets of elections held by office bearers of the elected Committee of Management that was an office on the basis of the undisputed elections dated 07.10.2018. In between, the appellant had factioned off, amended the bylaws and conducted an election based on an incompetent electoral college, all resting on the illegally amended bylaws. The amendment to bylaws, that was undertaken single handedly and without authority of law, by Muhammadullah was also the subject matter of dispute. Mr. Ojha submits that Muhammadullah had been removed from the post of Manager of the Society by a competent resolution of the General Body dated 16.10.2020, that was passed after the purported elections, that he claims to have submitted, as he was acting without authority and contrary to the interest of the Society. In the background of the aforesaid facts, the elections convened by Muhammadullah were without the authority of law.

16. The learned Senior Advocate also submits that the Assistant Registrar ultimately held that both sets of elections were invalid and assumed jurisdiction under Section 25(2) of the Act. In doing that, he pronounced upon the validity of the elections held by the writ petitioner-respondents on 07.10.2018 in accordance with law and also upon the elections held on 08.10.2021 by Muhammadullah. Thus, according to the learned Senior Advocate, the Assistant Registrar proceeded to judge the validity of elections held by two office bearers coming from a Committee of Management that was elected in the last undisputed elections, which he had no jurisdiction to do. There was an election dispute involved, clearly bona fide, at least about the writ petitioner-respondents' claim, that merited reference to the Prescribed Authority.

17. We have bestowed our due consideration to the case of parties and the rival submissions at the Bar. We find that there is no issue about the fact that both the writ petitioner-respondents and the appellant were office bearers of an undisputed Committee of Management, that was elected to office on 07.10.2018. The Committee had a term of three years under the bylaws with a clause for holding over under until fresh elections. In between, it appears that a dispute in the Management surfaced, because the Manager Muhammadullah got the bylaws amended, which the Assistant Registrar registered on the basis of an application dated 29.02.2020. It is the writ petitioner-respondents' case that this amendment was registered without notice to them or issuing notice to all members of the General Body. It is seriously in dispute whether the procedure for effecting an amendment to the bylaws was followed by the Assistant Registrar. We find that the issue whether the bylaws were amended in accordance with law, or so to speak, the bylaws of the Society is an issue that is integral to the dispute about the validity of elections now held in two rival sets-one by the appellant and the other by the writ petitioner-respondents. The Assistant Registrar by the order impugned, before the learned Single Judge, held both sets of elections invalid, assumed jurisdiction under Section 25(2) of the Act to hold elections himself through his nominee. In doing that, he pronounced upon the validity of elections of both parties, whose claims cannot be said to be mala fide, fantastic, or ones that did not merit consideration. Both sets of elections have been held by two sets of office bearers of the last undisputed Committee of Management. The dispute between them is about the amendment made to the bylaws at the instance of the appellant and the electoral college competent to vote. It is, thus, in our opinion, a thick and bona fide election dispute, that was up before the Assistant Registrar and he had no jurisdiction to determine. He ought to have referred it to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Act, who is the competent Authority to summarily determine it, subject only to the final determination of the Civil Court of competent jurisdiction.

18. The issue whether the Assistant Registrar ought to have referred the issue to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Act fell for consideration of a Division Bench of this Court in C/M Anjuman Kherul Almin Allahganj and another v. State of U.P. and others, 2013 SCC OnLine All 14353, where it was held:

6. Both these provisions have been harmonized in the judgment of the Division Bench in All-India Council (AIR 1988 All 236) (supra) where it was held as follows:--

"Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act as amended by the State Legislature enacts a comprehensive code and creates a designated forum or tribunal for adjudication in a summary manner of all disputes or doubts in respect of the election or continuance in office of an office-bearer of such society. It also provides the grounds upon which the election of an office-bearer can be set aside. The procedure to be followed for filling up of the vacancies arising from the decisions rendered by the Prescribed Authority under sub-section (i) of Section 25 has also been laid down (Section 25(2)).

7. It will, therefore, be seen that insofar as disputes or doubts in respect of the election or continuance in office of the office-bearers of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh are concerned, the Legislature has created a specific forum and laid down an exhaustive procedure for determination of the same under Section 25. There is no other provision, express or otherwise, providing for determination of such disputes specifically. It is settled law that where, as here, the Legislature creates a specific forum and lays an exhaustive procedure for determination of a particular class of disputes in respect of matters covered by the statute, such disputes can be determined only in that forum and in the manner prescribed thereunder and not otherwise. If, therefore, a dispute is raised with regard to the election or continuance in office of an office-bearer of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh, the same has to be decided only by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) and not by the Registrar, save, of course, to the decision of the Prescribed Authority being subject to the result of a civil suit."

7. The judgment of the Division Bench came up for consideration in Gram Shiksha Sudhar Samiti (2010 (5) ALJ 41) (supra). In the subsequent judgment the Division Bench held that the earlier judgment has harmonized the provisions of both Sections 4 and 25 and what can be inquired into under Section 25 of the Act, cannot be gone into under the proviso to Section 4. In that case, the Division Bench held that the learned single Judge ought to have set aside an order of the Registrar dated 11 July 2010 and ought to have directed the Registrar to refer the objection to the Prescribed Authority tinder Section 25(1). The Division Bench held that once an application for talcing on record the name of the office bearers and an objection as to the validity of the office bearers who were duly elected has been filed, the Registrar considering under Section 25(1) ought to refer the matter to the Prescribed Authority. Undoubtedly, in the subsequent decision in the Committee of Management (supra) it has been held that the Registrar "is not a post office for referring any and every dispute". The Division Bench there held that more than three years after the holding of an election there was no reason to entertain a petition at the belated stage.

8. In the present case, a list was submitted by the third respondent, of office bearers under Section 4 for 2013-14. The list was objected too. The Deputy Registrar had conflicting claims between the appellants on the one hand and the third respondent on the other hand. Hence when an application for taking on record the names of the officer bearers was filed and an objection to the validity of the elected office bearers was placed before him, the Registrar ought to have referred the dispute to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1). In entertaining the dispute himself and going into merits of the rival claims, the Deputy Registrar has clearly transgressed his jurisdiction. The jurisdiction to decide any doubt or dispute in respect of an election of the office bearers of the Society lies with the Prescribed Authority and the Registrar ought to have made a reference to the Prescribed Authority.

9. The learned Single Judge is right in holding that the Prescribed Authority would have to decide under Section 25(1) upon the dispute which is raised. To that extent the observations of the learned single Judge are justi-fied. However, we find merit in the contention of the appellants that the petition could not have been dismissed merely with liberty to move the Prescribed Authority. The appropriate direction to pass, was to set aside the order of the Deputy Registrar which is an order without jurisdiction since the Deputy Registrar has decided an issue which fell within exclusive domain of the Prescribed Authority.

19. We, therefore, find that on the facts here, there is a dispute about two rival sets of elections raised bona fide before the Assistant Registrar, which ought to have been referred to the Prescribed Authority. The dispute has within its fold issues regarding the validity of amendments made to the bylaws and the electoral college competent to vote. These issues would also have to be determined by the Prescribed Authority and it is within the province of the Prescribed Authority seized of the proceedings under Section 25(1) of the Act to decide the question of membership of the General Body. In this regard, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in Kisan National Education Trust and others v. Prescribed Authority (Sub-Divisional Magistrate) and others, 2018 SCC OnLine All 6120, where it has been held:

62. In Vidur Sewa Ashram v. State of U.P.2018 (5) ADJ 717, a Coordinate Bench of this Court was considering the question whether membership of the general body of a society could be decided by the Prescribed Authority incidentally to the dispute relating to elections.

63. This Court considered the provisions of section 25(1)"of the Societies Registration Act and also the provisions of section 25(2) and also section 4(B) of the Act. It considered the judgment rendered by this Court in Sita Ram Rai v. Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and chits, Gorakhpur (2003) 52 ALR 246 and Vindhya Vasini v. Prescribed Authority (2002) 47 ALR 541 and observed that in Sita Ram Rai's case, it has been held that election disputes, if any, including validity of members entitled to vote can be decided by the Prescribed Authority under section 25(1) of the Act. In Vindhyawasni case, it was held, that the decision relating to number of members of general body entitled to participate in election is incidental for deciding the doubt about the validity of elections under sub-section (1) of section 25 of the Act, and therefore can be decided by the Prescribed Authority.

20. It is in the last contended by the learned Counsel for the appellant that the learned Single Judge could not have disposed of the writ petition finally at the admission stage without inviting a counter affidavit. True, it is that normally in a writ petition, particularly an original petition, the respondents must be given opportunity to respond by filing a counter affidavit, but here we find that the appellant was heard and was represented by the learned Counsel before the learned Single Judge. There is no case either on the grounds raised or in the affidavit that the learned Counsel representing the appellant before the learned Single Judge asked for time to file a counter affidavit, which was not granted. Apparently, the learned Counsel for the appellant, as the tenor of the judgment impugned would show, chose to address the Court on merits without seeking time to file a counter affidavit. In our opinion, therefore, the appellant cannot be permitted to raise a grievance of that kind once before the learned Single Judge the appellant chose to address the Court on merits, sans an affidavit on their behalf. Even otherwise, most of the papers were on record of the writ petition and the issue is essentially about jurisdiction based on facts, that are sufficiently available on the existing papers. No prejudice to the appellant, therefore, has been demonstrated. In our opinion, the learned Single Judge has committed no error in directing the Assistant Registrar to make a reference under Section 25(1) of the Act.

21. No point was argued or raised before us in addition to that which was considered and dealt with by the learned Single Judge.

22. We find no merit in the appeal. The appeal fails and is dismissed.

A. Service Law – UP Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 – R. 6 & 7 – Disciplinary proceeding – Principle of Natural Justice – No supply of preliminary enquiry report to the employee – Effect – Held, without supplying the preliminary enquiry report to the employee, the impugned order cannot be passed – The impugned order has been passed in utter disregard of the principles of natural justice, hence, is not sustainable in Law. (Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sudeep Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondent.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner is challenging an order dated 11.10.2000, passed by the respondent No.2 (Annexures-1 and 2 to the writ petition) with a further prayer for issuance of necessary direction to the respondent No.3 to accept the resignation letter dated 30.11.1996 by a formal order w.e.f. 30.11.1996. It is also prayed for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the alternative, in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to treat the petitioner's service terminated in pursuance of order dated 14.1.1998, passed by the respondent No.3.

3. Brief fact of the case is that the petitioner was initially appointed on the post of Senior Scientific Assistant in temporary capacity on 27.10.1990. The petitioner submitted an application to his appointing authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, Shahjahanpur for issuance of No Objection Certificate. The said application was forwarded by the Superintendent of Police, Shahjahanpur on 16.7.1996.

4. The petitioner came to know of his appointment in Consolidation Department, where he was posted as Senior Scientific Assistant, Field Unit, Shahjahanpur on 30.11.1996. The petitioner handed over his entire charge to one of his subordinates on the same day. The petitioner submitted his resignation letter to the Superintendent of Police, Shahjahanpur on 30.11.1996.

5. The respondent No.3 again required the petitioner to resume his duties on 20.6.1998. The petitioner expressed his reluctance to join in Forensic Science Laboratory. The respondent No.2 vide order dated 23.9.1999 required the petitioner to justify his resignation from service. Thereafter, on 14.1.2000, the respondent No.3 terminated the petitioner from service. On 2.3.2000, the Superintendent of Police, Shahjahanpur intimated the Director, Forensic Science Laboratory, U.P. at Lucknow that there was no dues lying against the petitioner, in his office.

6. The respondent No.2 advised the petitioner by letter to resign from consolidation department and to continue under their subordination on 23.9.2000. On 9.8.2000, an order was passed by the High Court, disposing of the writ petition of the petitioner. The petitioner submitted a representation to the respondent No.2 on 16.8.2000. Thereafter, on 24.8.2000, the petitioner submitted a supplementary representation to the respondent No.2. The respondent No.4 submitted his alleged report (enquiry report) on 28.8.2000.

7. The respondent No.2 issued his order dated 11.10.2000, dispensing with the departmental enquiry against the petitioner and dismissed him from service, under the provisions of U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999. The representation filed by the petitioner was rejected by the respondent No.3 on 11.10.2000.

8. Assailing the impugned orders, submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that there is gross violation of principles of natural justice as Rule 6 (2) of the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 provides that in case there are serious charges against the employee then enquiry by issuing charge sheet is to be initiated. Due to non issuance of charge sheet and non holding of regular enquiry, the impugned order vitiates in law and is liable to be set aside.

9. Second submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that relying on the preliminary enquiry report, the impugned order has been passed. He submits that law is very much settled that in case the order has been passed on the basis of preliminary enquiry, the order cannot be sustained.

10. In support of his submission, he placed reliance upon the following judgments :-

(i) Union of India and another Vs. Tulsiram Patel [(1985) 3 Supreme Court Cases 398]

(ii) Hari Niwas Gupta Vs. State of Bihar and another [(2020) 3 Supreme Court Cases 153]

(iii) Sudesh Kumar Vs. State of Haryana and others [(2005) 11 Supreme Court Cases 525]

(iv) Jaswant Singh Vs. State of Punjab and others [(1991) 1 Supreme Court Cases 362]

(v) Wing Commander Rajesh Kumar Nagar Vs. State of U.P. [2021 SCC OnLine All 477]

(vi) M.V. Bijlani Vs. Union of India and others [(2006) 5 Supreme Court Cases 88]

(vii) Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board Ltd. Vs. Mahesh Dahiya [(2017) 1 Supreme Court Cases 768]

11. Next submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that once vide Annexure-6, it was directed that in case of non joining within the stipulated period, service will be dispensed with, there was no occasion to passe the impugned order.

12. On the other hand, learned Standing Counsel submits that the impugned order does not suffer from any infirmity or illegality and is a just and valid order. He further requested to adjourn the case for production of record.

13. In the opinion of the Court, there is no requirement of producing of record and there is controversy or dispute in regard to the documentary evidence, placed by the petitioner.

14. After having heard the rival contention of learned counsel for the parties, I have perused the material on record.

15. To resolve the controversy, Rule 7(ii) of the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 is being quoted below :-

"7. Procedure for imposing major penalties. --

(ii) The facts constituting the misconduct on which it is proposed to take action shall be reduced in the form of definite charge or charges to be called charge-sheet. The charge-sheet shall be approved by the Disciplinary Authority :

Provided that where the Appointing Authority is Governor, the charge-sheet may be approved by the Principal Secretary or the Secretary, as the case may be, of the concerned department."

16. On bare perusal of the record, it is well established that the provision of Rule 7(ii) was not followed while initiating disciplinary proceeding against the petitioner, therefore, there is no hesitation to hold that the impugned order has been passed in utter disregard of the provision referred hereinabove.

17. On perusal of the impugned order, it is also established that the impugned order has been passed on the basis of preliminary enquiry conducted against the petitioner, without supplying the copy of the enquiry report and charge sheet to him.

18. Relevant portion of the judgments cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner is being reproduced hereunder :-

(i) Union of India and another Vs. Tulsiram Patel (Supra), paragraph 130

"130. The condition precedent for the application of clause (b) is the satisfaction of the disciplinary authority that "it is not reasonably practicable to hold" the inquiry contemplated by clause (2) of Article 311. What is pertinent to note is that the words used are "not reasonably practicable" and not "impracticable". According to the Oxford English Dictionary "practicable" means "Capable of being put into practice, carried out in action, effected, accomplished, or done; feasible". Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines the word "practicable" inter alia as meaning "possible to practice or perform : capable of being put into practice, done or accomplished : feasible". Further, the words used are not "not practicable" but "not" reasonably practicable". Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines the word "reasonably" as "in a reasonable manner : to a fairly sufficient extent". Thus, whether it was practicable to hold the inquiry or not must be judged in the context of whether it was reasonably practicable to do so. It is not a total or absolute impracticability which is required by clause (b).

What is requisite is that the holding of the inquiry is not practicable in the opinion of a reasonable man taking a reasonable view of the prevailing situation. It is not possible to enumerate the cases in which it would not be reasonably practicable to hold the inquiry, but some instances by way of illustration may, however, be given. It would not be reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry where the government servant, particularly through or together with his associates, so terrorizes, threatens or intimidate witnesses who are going to given evidence against him with fear of reprisal as to prevent them from doing so or where the government servant by himself or together with or through other threatens, intimidates and terrorizes the officer who is the disciplinary authority or member of his family so that he is afraid to hold the inquiry or direct it to be held. It would also not be reasonably practicable to hold the inquiry where an atmosphere of violence or of general indiscipline and insubordination prevails, and it is immaterial whether the concerned government servant is or is not a party to bringing about such an atmosphere. In this connection, we must bear in mind that numbers coerce and terrify while an individual may not. The reasonable practicability of holding an inquiry is a matter of assessment to be made by the disciplinary authority. Such authority is generally on the spot and knows what is happening. It is because the disciplinary authority is the best judge of this that clause(3) of Article 311 makes the decision of the disciplinary authority on this question final. A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary inquiry lightly or arbitrarily or out of ulterior motives or merely in order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the Department's case against the government servant is weak and must fail. The finality given to the decision of the disciplinary authority by Article 311(3) is not binding upon the court so far as its power of judicial review is concerned and in such a case the court will strike down the order dispensing with the inquiry as also the order imposing penalty. The case of Arjun Chaubey v. Union of India and others, [1984] 3 S.C.R. 302, is an instance in point. In that case, the appellant was working as a senior clerk in the office of the Chief Commercial Superintendent, Northern Railway, Varanasi. The Senior Commercial Officer wrote a letter to the appellant calling upon him to submit his explanation with regard to twelve charges of gross indiscipline mostly relating to the Deputy Chief Commercial Superintendent. The appellant submitted his explanation and on the very next day the Deputy Chief Commercial Superintendent served a second notice on the appellant saying that his explanation was not convincing and that another chance was being given to him to offer his explanation with respect to those charges. The appellant submitted his further explanation but on the very next day the Deputy Chief Commercial Superintendent passed an order dismissing him on the ground that he was not fit to be retained in service. This Court struck down the order holding that seven out of twelve charges related to the conduct of the appellant with the Deputy Chief Commercial Superintendent who was the disciplinary authority and that if an inquiry were to be held, the principal witness for the Department would have been the Deputy Chief Commercial Superintendent himself, resulting in the same person being the main accuser, the chief witness and also the judge of the matter."

(ii) Hari Niwas Gupta (Supra), paragraphs- 10, 11, 18 and 19

"10. Clause (1) states that persons employed in civil services or posts under the Union or the States or members of the all-India service shall not be dismissed, removed or reduced in rank by an authority subordinate to that by which he/she was appointed. Clause (2) provides that such a person could be dismissed or removed or reduced in rank only after an inquiry in which he has been informed of the charges against him and after being afforded a reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of those charges. The second proviso incorporates exceptions when the need for holding an inquiry under clause (2) can be dispensed with. Clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311(2) can be invoked to impose a punishment of dismissal, removal, or reduction in rank on the satisfaction, to be recorded in writing, that it is not reasonably practicable to conduct an inquiry before imposing the punishment. This Court in Jaswant Singh v. State of Punjab,1 relying on an earlier decision in Union of India v. Tulsiram

Patel,2 has affirmatively held that the obligation of the competent authority to record reasons when passing an order under clause (b) to the second proviso to Article 311(2) is mandatory, and it was inter alia observed:

"5. It was incumbent on the respondents to disclose to the court the material in existence at the date of the passing of the impugned order in support of the subjective satisfaction recorded by respondent 3 in the impugned order. Clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311(2) can be invoked only when the authority is satisfied from the material placed before him that it is not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry. This is clear from the following observation at page 270 of Tulsiram case: (SCC p. 504, para 130) A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary inquiry lightly or arbitrarily or out of ulterior motives or merely in order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the departments case against the government servant is weak and must fail."

11. In the present matter, the Division Bench vide the impugned judgment has as a fact found that the High Court had failed to record satisfaction in writing for dispensing with an inquiry before arriving at its decision to dismiss the judicial officers. For this reason, the order of dismissal dated 12th February 2014 passed by the Governor of the State of Bihar under clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311(2) was quashed and set aside. Consequently, the judicial officers were to be reinstated in service. This is what has been observed in the quoted portion of the final directions by the Division Bench, which refers to the fact that two (sic-one) judicial officers had attained the age of superannuation during the pendency of the writ petitions and, therefore, they would be deemed to be continuing in service for the limited purpose of enabling the disciplinary proceedings to continue. The other officer(s) would be deemed to be under suspension. The High Court was required to take a decision within two months and if no decision was taken, the proceedings would lapse and the judicial officers would be entitled to all consequential benefits as if the proceedings had been set aside in entirety. It was directed that the judicial officer(s) who continued to be in service, would be paid subsistence allowance, and the retired would be paid provisional pension to the extent of 25% forthwith.

18. The observations in our opinion are being misread as the aforequoted portion refers to the legal position that normally departmental inquiry should be held. It also refers to the scenario where a departmental inquiry cannot be conducted that is, when conducting of departmental enquiry was turning out to be a difficult task, in which case a decision could have been taken to dispense with the enquiry; by recording specific reasons. It is observed that the principles laid down in Tulsiram Patel (supra) and Tarsem Singh (supra) have to be kept in mind. Appropriate in this regard, would be a reference to the following observations in Tulsiram Patel (supra), which read:

"130. The condition precedent for the application of clause (b) is the satisfaction of the disciplinary authority that it is not reasonably practicable to hold the inquiry contemplated by clause (2) of Article 311. What is pertinent to note is that the words used are not reasonably practicable and not impracticable. According to the Oxford English Dictionary practicable means Capable of being put into practice, carried out in action, effected, accomplished, or done; feasible. Websters Third New International Dictionary defines the word practicable inter alia as meaning possible to practice or perform: capable of being put into practice, done or accomplished: feasible. Further, the words used are not not practicable but not reasonably practicable. Websters Third New International Dictionary defines the word reasonably as in a reasonable manner: to a fairly sufficient extent. Thus, whether it was practicable to hold the inquiry or not must be judged in the context of whether it was reasonably practicable to do so. It is not a total or absolute impracticability which is required by clause (b). What is requisite is that the holding of the inquiry is not practicable in the opinion of a reasonable man taking a reasonable view of the prevailing situation."

19. Thus, the authorities to invoke the power under clause (b) to the second proviso of Article 311(2) to dispense with a departmental inquiry must record a finding that such an inquiry cannot be conducted and record specific reasons for the same. In this case, the Division Bench had recorded the contention of the respondent- High Court as the disciplinary authority that it would be impossible to assimilate, collect and produce direct evidence and material as the acts and misdeeds were in another country. The Division Bench having found that reasons had not been recorded for dispensing with the inquiry, has neither accepted nor rejected this contention of the High Court. It will not be appropriate and correct to interpret the decision of the Division Bench by reading one or more sentences of a paragraph in isolation. The entire judgment has to be read to understand the ratio and finding and the observations must be read in the context in which they have been made."

(iii) Sudesh Kumar (Supra), paragraphs- 5, 6 and 7

"5. It is now established principle of law that an inquiry under Article 311(2) is a rule and dispensing with the inquiry is an exception. The authority dispensing with the inquiry under Article 311(2) (b) must satisfy for reasons to be recorded that it is not reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry. A reading of the termination order by invoking Article 311(2)(b), as extracted above, would clearly show that no reasons whatsoever have been assigned as to why it is not reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry. The reasons disclosed in the termination order are that the complainant refused to name the accused out of fear of harassment; the complainant, being a foreign national, is likely to leave the country and once he left the country, it may not be reasonably practicable to bring him to the inquiry. This is no ground for dispensing with the inquiry. On the other hand, it is not disputed that, by order dated 23-12-1999, the visa of the complainant was extended up to 22-12-2000. Therefore, there was no difficulty in securing the presence of Mr. Kenichi Tanaka in the inquiry.

6. A reasonable opportunity of hearing in Article 311(2) of the Constitution would include an opportunity to defend himself and establish his innocence by cross-examining the prosecution witnesses produced against him and by examining the defence witnesses in his favour, if any. This he can do only if inquiry is held where he has been informed of the charges levelled against him. In the instant case, the mandate of Article 311(2) of the Constitution has been violated depriving reasonable opportunity of being heard to the appellant.

7. In this view of the matter, we are of the view that the order terminating the services of the appellant is not sustainable in law. It is, accordingly, quashed and set aside. However, the respondents are at liberty, if so advised, to hold an inquiry against the appellant by affording him a reasonable opportunity of hearing and thereafter pass any order as it may deem fit and proper in accordance with law."

(iv) Jaswant Singh (Supra), paragraph-5

"5. "The impugned order of April 7, 1981 itself contains the reasons for dispensing with the inquiry contemplated by Article 311(2) of the Constitution. Paragraph 3 of the said order, which we have extracted earlier, gives two reasons in support of the satisfaction that it was not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry against the appellant. These are (i) the appellant has thrown threats that he with the help of other police employees will not allow holding of any departmental enquiry against him and (ii) he and his associates will not hesitate to cause physical injury to the witnesses as well as the enquiry officer. Now as stated earlier after the two Revision Applications were allowed on October 13, 1980. the appellant had re-joined service as Head Constable on March 5, 1981 but he was immediately placed under suspension. Thereafter, two show cause notices dated April 4, 1981 were issued against him calling upon him to reply thereto within 10 days after the receipt thereof. Before the service of these notices the incident of alleged attempt to commit suicide took place on the morning of April 6, 1981 at about 11.00 a.m. In that incident the appellant sustained an injury on his right arm with a knife. He was, therefore, hospitalised and while he was in hospital the two show cause notices were served on him at (5 of 8) about 10.00 p.m. on April 6, 1981. Before the appellant could reply to the said show cause notices the third respondent passed the impugned order on the very next day i.e. April 7, 1981. Now the earlier departmental enquiries were duly conducted against the appellant and there is no allegation that the department had found any difficulty in examining witnesses in the said inquiries. After the Revision Applications were allowed the show cause notices were (4 of 6) [CW-1737/2008] issued and 10 days time was given to the appellant to put in his replies thereto. We, therefore, enquired from the learned Counsel for the respondents to point out what impelled respondent No. 3 to take a decision that it was necessary to forthwith terminate the services of the appellant without holding an inquiry as required by Article 311(2). The learned Counsel for the respondents could only point out Clause (iv)(a) of sub-para 29(A) of the counter which reads as under:

"The order dated 7.4.81 was passed as the petitioner's activities were objectionable. He was instigating his fellow police officials to cause indiscipline, show insubordination and exhibit disloyalty, spreading discontentment and hatred, etc. and his retention in service was adjudged harmful."

This is no more than a mere reproduction of paragraph 3 of the impugned order. Our attention was not drawn to any material existing on the date of the impugned order in support of the allegation contained in paragraph 3 thereof that the appellant had thrown threats that he and his companions will not allow holding of any departmental enquiry against him and that they would not hesitate to cause physical injury to the witnesses as well as the enquiry officer if any such attempt was made. It was incumbent on the respondents to disclose to the Court the material in existence at the date of the passing of the impugned order in support of the subjective satisfaction recorded by respondent No. 3 in the impugned order. Clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311(2) can be invoked only when the authority is satisfied from the material placed (6 of 8) before him that it is not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry. This is clear from the following observation at p. 270 of Tulsi Ram's case:

"A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary authority lightly or arbitrarily or out of ulterior motives or merely in (5 of 6) [CW-1737/2008] order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the Department's case against the government servant is weak and must fail."

The decision to dispense with the departmental enquiry cannot, therefore, be rested solely on the ipse dixit of the concerned authority. When the satisfaction of the concerned authority is questioned in a court of law, it is incumbent on those who support the order to show that the satisfaction is based on certain objective facts and is not the outcome of the whim or caprice of the concerned officer. In the counter filed by the third respondent it is contended that the appellant, instead of replying to the show cause notices, instigated his fellow police officials to disobey the superiors . It is also said that he threw threats to beat up the witnesses and the Inquiry Officer if any departmental inquiry was held against him. No particulars are given. Besides it is difficult to understand how he could have given threats, etc., when he was in hospital. It is not shown on what material the third respondent came to the conclusion that the appellant had thrown threats as alleged in paragraph 3 of the impugned order. On a close scrutiny of the impugned order it seems the satisfaction was based on the ground that he was instigating his colleagues and was holding meetings with other police officials with a view to spreading hatred and dissatisfaction towards his superiors. This allegation is based on his alleged activities at Jullundur on April 3, 1981 reported by SHO/GRP, Jullundur. That report is not forthcoming. It is no one's contention that the said SHO was threatened. The third respondent's counter also does not reveal if he had verified the correctness of the information. To put it tersely the subjective satisfaction recorded in paragraph 3 of the impugned order is not fortified by any independent material to justify the dispensing with of the inquiry envisaged by Article 311(2) of the (7 of 8) Constitution. We are, therefore, of the opinion that on this short ground alone the impugned order cannot be sustained."

(v) Wing Commander Rajesh Kumar Nagar (Supra), paragraphs-53 to 58

"53. Once the decision is taken by the authorities to institute regular disciplinary proceedings then findings in the preliminary enquiry report ordinarily is not to be relied upon. In case such a report is to be relied upon then the delinquent employees has to be confronted with such materials, and only after hearing their version in the matter that such a report could be relied upon. Any other course followed would clearly be a violation of principles of natural justice.

54. In the facts of the present case, once the decision was taken to institute regular disciplinary proceedings against the petitioner and charge-sheet was issued, the enquiry officer was expected to have independently examined the evidence collected during the course of disciplinary proceedings and return its finding as to whether charges against the employees are made out.

55. In the instant case, it appears that the State Government is pre meditated and malafide, which is substantiated by a frequent change of the inquiry officers, who could align with the wishes of the authorities. The petitioner has not been given proper opportunity to submit the reply of the show cause notice as he has not been supplied the relevant documents for the preparation of the reply.

56. A recent decision of the Apex Court in H.P. State Electricity Board Ltd. Vs. Mahesh Dahiya, passed in Civil Appeal No.10913 of 2016, has been pleased to refer to and rely upon a previous decision of the Apex Court in M.V. Bijlani Vs. Union of India and others, (2006) 5 SCC 88 to observe as under:-

"24. ..... On the scope of judicial review, the Division Bench itself has referred to judgment of this Court reported in M.V. BIJLANI VERSUS UNION OF INDIA AND OTHERS (2006) 5 SCC 88. This Court, noticing the scope of judicial review in context of disciplinary proceeding made following observations in para 25: "It is true that the jurisdiction of the court in judicial review is limited. Disciplinary proceedings, however, being quasi-criminal in nature, there should be some evidence to prove the charge. Although the charges in a departmental proceeding are not required to be proved like a criminal trial i.e. beyond all reasonable doubt, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the enquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with."

25. The three Judge Bench of this Court in B.C. CHATURVEDI VERSUS UNION OF INDIA AND OTHERS 1995 (6) SCC 749 had noticed the scope of judicial review with regard to disciplinary proceeding. Following observations have been made in paras 12 and 13: "12. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. Power of judicial review is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eye of the court. When an inquiry is conducted on charges of misconduct by a public servant, the Court/Tribunal is concerned to determine whether the inquiry was held by a competent officer or whether rules of natural justice are complied with. Whether the findings or conclusions are based on some evidence, the authority entrusted with the power to hold inquiry has jurisdiction, power and authority to reach a finding of fact or conclusion. But that finding must be based on some evidence. Neither the technical rules of Evidence Act nor of proof of fact or evidence as defined therein, apply to disciplinary proceeding. When the authority accepts that evidence and conclusion receives support therefrom, the disciplinary authority is entitled to hold that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge. The Court/Tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as appellate authority to re-appreciate the evidence and to arrive at its own independent findings on the evidence. The Court/Tribunal may interfere where the authority held the proceedings against the delinquent officer in a manner inconsistent with the rules of natural justice or in violation of statutory rules prescribing the mode of inquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority is based on no evidence. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached, the Court/Tribunal may interfere with the conclusion or the finding, and mould the relief so as to make it appropriate to the facts of each case." "13. The disciplinary authority is the sole judge of facts. Where appeal is presented, the appellate authority has coextensive power to re-appreciate the evidence or the nature of punishment. In a disciplinary inquiry, the strict proof of legal evidence and findings on that evidence are not relevant. Adequacy of evidence or reliability of evidence cannot be permitted to be canvassed before the Court/Tribunal. In Union of India V. H.C. Goel this Court held at p. 728 that if the conclusion, upon consideration of the evidence reached by the disciplinary authority, is perverse or suffers from patent error on the face of the record or based on no evidence at all, a writ of certiorari could issued."

26. Both the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench have heavily relied on the fact that before forwarding the copy of the report by letter dated 02.04.2008 the Disciplinary Authority-cum-Whole Time Members have already formed an opinion on 25.02.2008 to punish the writ petitioner with major penalty which is a clear violation of principle of natural justice. We are of the view that before making opinion with regard to punishment which is to be imposed on a delinquent, the delinquent has to be given an opportunity to submit the representation/ reply on the inquiry report which finds a charge proved against the delinquent. The opinion formed by the Disciplinary Authority-cum-Whole Time Members on 25.02.2008 was formed without there being benefit of comments of the writ petitioner on the inquiry report. The writ petitioner in his representation to the inquiry report is entitled to point out any defect in the procedure, a defect of substantial nature in appreciation of evidence, any misleading of evidence both oral or documentary. In his representation any inputs and explanation given by the delinquent are also entitled to be considered by the Disciplinary Authority before it embarks with further proceedings as per statutory rules. We are, thus, of the view that there was violation of principle of natural justice at the level of Disciplinary Authority when opinion was formed to punish the writ petitioner with dismissal without forwarding the inquiry report to the delinquent and before obtaining his comments on the inquiry report. We are, thus, of the view that the order of the High Court setting aside the punishment order as well as the Appellate order has to be maintained.

27. In view of the above discussion, we are of the view that present is the case where the High Court while quashing the punishment order as well as Appellate order ought to have permitted the Disciplinary Authority to have proceeded with the inquiry from the stage in which fault was noticed i.e. the Stage under Rule 15 of Rules. We are conscious that sufficient time has elapsed during the pendency of the writ petition before learned Single Judge, Division Bench and before this Court, however, in view of the interim order passed by this Court dated 31.08.2015 no further steps have been taken regarding implementation of the order of the High Court. The ends of justice be served in disposing of this appeal by fixing a time frame for completing the proceeding from the stage of Rule 15.

28. We having found that principles of natural justice have been violated after submission of the inquiry report dated 29.12.2007 all proceedings taken by the Disciplinary Authority after 29.12.2007 have to be set aside and the Disciplinary Authority is to be directed to forward the copy of the inquiry report in accordance with Rule 15(2) of Rules 1965 and further proceedings, if any, are to be taken thereafter. "

57. In State of U.P. Vs. Shatrughan Lal and Another, (1998) 6 SCC 651. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment is reproduced as under:-

"It has also been found that during the course of the preliminary enquiry, a number of witnesses were examined against the respondent in his absence, and rightly so, as the delinquents are not associated in the preliminary enquiry, and thereafter the charge sheet was drawn up. The copies of those statements, though asked for by the respondent, were not supplied to him. Since there was a failure on the part of the appellant in this regard too, the principles of natural justice were violated and the respondent was not afforded an effective opportunity of hearing, particularly as the appellant failed to establish that non-supply of the copies of statements recorded during preliminary enquiry had not caused any prejudice to the respondent in defending himself."

58. Reliance is also placed upon a decision of this Court in Chandrika Yadav Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, passed in Writ Petition No.55836 of 2005, in which following observations have been made:-

"From the order of disciplinary authority and the pleadings of the counter affidavit, it is evident that the preliminary enquiry was conducted in the matter and various materials as well as the findings of the preliminary enquiry have been relied upon by the disciplinary authority. It is well settled law that findings and materials of the preliminary enquiry cannot be relied upon in the disciplinary proceeding if the delinquent was not associated with preliminary enquiry. Admittedly, in the present case, petitioner was not given any such opportunity. It is a trite law that object of the preliminary enquiry is to satisfy the employer itself that a disciplinary proceeding can be conducted against an employee. Its purpose is to collect the facts. Once the employer is satisfied on the basis of the materials and report of the preliminary enquiry that disciplinary proceeding may be initiated in terms of the relevant service Rule, the delinquent is placed under suspension, and a copy of the charge-sheet and other documentary evidences relied upon in support of the charges are served upon him.

It is noteworthy that if in the disciplinary proceeding the department wants to rely on some materials of preliminary enquiry, it is necessary to supply a copy of said materials to the employee. Reference may be made to the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Employees of Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co. (Private) Ltd. v. The Workmen, AIR 1968 SC 236. In a recent judgement in the case of Nirmala J. Jhala v. State of Gujarat and another, (2013) 4 SCC 301, the Supreme Court had the occasion to deal with the scope of preliminary enquiry at length. The observations of the Supreme Court in Nirmala J. Jhala (supra), which are relevant to the present controversy, read as under:

"45. In view of the above, it is evident that the evidence recorded in preliminary inquiry cannot be used in regular inquiry as the delinquent is not associated with it, and opportunity to cross-examine the persons examined in such inquiry is not given. Using such evidence would be violative of the principles of natural justice."

"47. The preliminary enquiry may be useful only to take a prima facie view, as to whether there can be some substance in the allegation made against an employee which may warrant a regular enquiry."

"51. There is nothing on record to show that either the preliminary enquiry report or the statements recorded therein, particularly, by the complainant-accused or Shri C.B. Gajjar, Advocate, had been exhibited in regular inquiry. In the absence of information in the charge-sheet that such report/statements would be relied upon against the appellant, it was not permissible for the enquiry officer or the High Court to rely upon the same. Natural justice is an inbuilt and inseparable ingredient of fairness and reasonableness. Strict adherence to the principle is required, whenever civil consequences follow up, as a result of the order passed. Natural justice is universal justice. In certain factual circumstances even non-observance of the rule will itself result in prejudice. Thus, this principle is of supreme importance. [Vide S.L. Kapoor v. Jagmohan, (1980) 4 SCC 379; D.K. Yadav v. J.M.A. Industries Ltd., (1993) 3 SCC 259; and Mohd. Yunus Khan v. State of U.P., (2010) 10 SCC 539)"

"52.2 The enquiry officer, the High Court on administrative side as well as on judicial side, committed a grave error in placing reliance on the statement of the complainant as well as of Shri C.B. Gajjar, Advocate, recorded in a preliminary enquiry. The preliminary enquiry and its report loses significance/importance, once the regular enquiry is initiated by issuing charge-sheet to the delinquent. Thus, it was all in violation of the principles of natural justice."

"52.4 The onus lies on the department to prove the charge and it failed to examine any of the employees of the court i.e. stenographer, Bench Secretary or peon attached to the office of the appellant for proving the entry of Shri Gajjar, Advocate in her chamber on 17-8-1993."

In the present case, no such procedure has been adopted by the respondents as the disciplinary authority has relied upon the preliminary enquiry but there is nothing on the record to indicate that said materials of the preliminary enquiry were supplied to the petitioner. Along with the counter affidavit the respondents have not filed the alleged statement of petitioner's wife Smt. Genda Devi or Smt. Seema Devi. Learned Standing Counsel also could not point out any material from the records produced by him, from which it can be established that the petitioner has contracted second marriage with Smt. Seema Devi. There is no evidence on the record to the said effect. Merely some letters purportedly written by the petitioner to Smt. Seema Devi cannot establish the relationship of husband and wife. Petitioner has denied that those letters were written by him and the department has not established that those letters were written by the petitioner. Even if those letters are assumed to be correct and written by the petitioner, a perusal thereof do not establish that there was a relationship of husband and wife between them.

After careful consideration of the facts and circumstances of the case as well as the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for the parties, I am of the view that the disciplinary proceeding conducted against the petitioner is vitiated on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice and as such, the orders passed by the disciplinary authority, appellate authority and revisional authority dated 07th May, 1997, 31st August, 2003 and 28th March, 2005 respectively (annexures-1, 5 and 7 respectively to the writ petition), impugned in this writ petition, cannot be sustained and are hereby quashed. The matter is remitted back to the disciplinary authority to conduct a fresh enquiry in the matter after serving a copy of the charge-sheet upon the petitioner. The enquiry may be conducted and completed in accordance with the law as expeditiously as possible preferably within a period of four months from the date of communication of this order. Petitioner is directed to cooperate in the enquiry and he will not take unnecessary adjournments."

(vi) M.V. Bijlani (Supra), paragraph-25

"25. It is true that the jurisdiction of the court in judicial review is limited. Disciplinary proceedings, however, being quasi-criminal in nature, there should be some evidences to prove the charge. Although the charges in a departmental proceedings are not required to be proved like a criminal trial, i.e., beyond all reasonable doubts, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the Enquiry Officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with."

(vii) Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board Ltd., paragraphs- 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 29, 30 and 31

"23. The basis of coming to the conclusion by both learned Single Judge and the Division Bench that Disciplinary Authority has violated the principle of natural justice is based on the fact that although the inquiry report was sent to the writ petitioner by letter dated 02.04.2008, the Disciplinary Authority-cum-Whole Time Members have already came to the opinion on 25.2.2008 that writ petitioner be punished with major penalty. The Division Bench of the High Court has placed reliance on Union of India and others v. R. P. Singh.

24. In the above case the issue was, as to whether non-supply of the copy of advise of U.P.S.C. to delinquent officer at pre-decision stage violates the principle of natural justice. This Court placed reliance on the Constitution Bench judgment in Managing Director, ECIL, HYDERABAD AND OTHERS Versus B. KARUNAKAR AND OTHERS and laid down following in para 21:

""21. At this juncture, we would like to give our reasons for our respectful concurrence with S.K. Kapoor (supra). There is no cavil over the proposition that the language engrafted in Article 320(3)(c) does not make the said Article mandatory. As we find, in the T.V.Patel's case, the Court has based its finding on the language employed in Rule 32 of the Rules. It is not in dispute that the said Rule from the very inception is a part of the 1965 Rules. With the efflux of time, there has been a change of perception as regards the applicability of the principles of natural justice. An inquiry report in a disciplinary proceeding is required to be furnished to the delinquent employee so that he can make an adequate representation explaining his own stand/stance. That is what precisely has been laid down in the B.Karnukara's(AIR 1994 SC 1074) case. We may reproduce the relevant passage with profit: -

""29. Hence it has to be held that when the enquiry officer is not the disciplinary authority, the delinquent employee has a right to receive a copy of the enquiry officers report before the disciplinary authority arrives at its conclusions with regard to the guilt or innocence of the employee with regard to the charges levelled against him. That right is a part of the employees right to defend himself against the charges levelled against him. A denial of the enquiry officers report before the disciplinary authority takes its decision on the charges, is a denial of reasonable opportunity to the employee to prove his innocence and is a breach of the principles of natural justice.""

25. The Constitution Bench in Managing Director, ECIL, HYDERABAD AND OTHERS Versus B. KARUNAKAR AND OTHERS after elaborately considering the principle of natural justice in the context of the disciplinary inquiry laid down following in para 29, 30 (iv)(v):

29. Hence it has to be held that when the enquiry officer is not the Disciplinary Authority, the delinquent employee has a right to receive a copy of the enquiry officer's report before the Disciplinary Authority arrives at its conclusions with regard to the guilt or innocence of the employee with regard to the charges levelled against him. That right is a par t of the employee's right to defend himself against the charges levelled against him. A denial of the enquiry officer's report before the Disciplinary Authority takes its decision on the charges, is a denial of reasonable opportunity to the employee to prove his innocence and is a breach of the principles of natural justice.

30. (iv). In the view that we have taken, viz., that the right to make representation to the disciplinary authority against the findings recorded in the enquiry report is an integral part of the opportunity of defence against the charges and is a breach of principles of natural justice to deny the said right, it is only appropriate that the law laid down in Mohd. Ramzan case should apply to employees in all establishments whether Government or non-Government, public or private. This will be the case whether there are rules governing the disciplinary proceeding or not and whether they expressly prohibit the furnishing of the copy of the report or are silent on the subject. Whatever the nature of punishment, further, whenever the rules require an inquiry to be held, for inflicting the punishment in question, the delinquent employee should have the benefit of the report of the enquiry officer before the disciplinary authority records its findings on the charges levelled against him. Hence question (iv) is answered accordingly.

(v). The next question to be answered is what is the effect on the order of punishment when the report of the enquiry officer is not furnished to the employee and what relief should be granted to him in such cases. The answer to this question has to be relative to the punishment awarded. When the employee is dismissed or removed from service and the inquiry is set aside because the report is not furnished to him, in some cases the non- furnishing of the report may have prejudiced him gravely while in other cases it may have made no difference to the ultimate punishment awarded to him. Hence to direct reinstatement of the employee with back-wages in all cases is to reduce the rules of justice to a mechanical ritual. The theory of reasonable opportunity and the principles of natural justice have been evolved to uphold the rule of law and to assist the individual to vindicate his just rights. They are not incantations to be invoked nor rites to be performed on all and sundry occasions. Whether in fact, prejudice has been caused to the employee or not on account of the denial to him of the report, has to be considered on the facts and circumstances of each case. Where, therefore, even after the furnishing of the report, no different consequence would have followed, it would be a perversion of justice to permit the employee to resume duty and to get all the consequential benefits. It amounts to rewarding the dishonest and the guilty and thus to stretching the concept of justice to illogical and exasperating limits. It amounts to an unnatural expansion of natural justice which in itself is antithetical to justice"

26. Present is not a case of not serving the inquiry report before awarding the punishment rather the complaint has been made that before sending the inquiry report to the delinquent officer, Disciplinary Authority has already made up its mind to accept the findings of the inquiry report and decided to award punishment of dismissal. Both the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench on the aforesaid premise came to the conclusion that principle of natural justice have been violated by the Disciplinary Authority. The Division Bench itself was conscious of the issue, as to whether, inquiry is to be quashed from the stage where the Inquiry Officer\Disciplinary Authority has committed fault i.e. from the stage of Rule 15 of the CCS (CCA) Rules as non-supply of the report. Following observations have been made in the impugned judgment by Division Bench in para 21:

""Having said so, the core question is whether the inquiry is to be quashed from the stage where the Inquiry Officer/Disciplinary Authority has committed fault, i.e. from the stage of Rule 15 of the CCS (CCA) Rules, i.e. non-supply of inquiry report, findings and other material relied upon by the Inquiry Officer/Disciplinary Authority to the writ writ petitioner- respondent herein to explain the circumstances, which were made basis for making foundation of inquiry report or is it a case for closure of the inquiry in view of the fact that there is not even a single iota of evidence, prima facie, not to speak of proving by preponderance of probabilities, that the writ petitioner has absented himself willfully and he has disobeyed the directions?""

27. The above observation clearly indicates that Division Bench was well aware that fault has occurred on the stage of Rule 15 of the CCS (CCA) Rules. The Division Bench had also relied on the judgment of this Court in KRUSHNAKANT B. PARMAR Versus UNION OF INDIA AND ANOTHER (2012) 3 SCC 178 where this Court had laid down that absence from duty without any application on prior permission may amount to unauthorised absence but it does not always mean willful. Learned counsel for the appellant, as noted above, has confined his submission on the proof of the second part of the charge and he has not invited us to enter into the issue as to whether absence of the writ petitioner was willful or not.

29. On the scope of judicial review, the Division Bench itself has referred to judgment of this Court reported in M.V. BIJLANI VERSUS UNION OF INDIA AND OTHERS (2006) 5 SCC 88. This Court, noticing the scope of judicial review in context of disciplinary proceeding made following observations in para 25: It is true that the jurisdiction of the court in judicial review is limited. Disciplinary proceedings, however, being quasi-criminal in nature, there should be some evidence to prove the charge. Although the charges in a departmental proceeding are not required to be proved like a criminal trial i.e. beyond all reasonable doubt, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the enquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with.

30. The three Judge Bench of this Court in B.C. CHATURVEDI VERSUS UNION OF INDIA AND OTHERS 1995 (6) SCC 749 had noticed the scope of judicial review with regard to disciplinary proceeding. Following observations have been made in paras 12 and 13:

12. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. Power of judicial review is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eye of the court. When an inquiry is conducted on charges of misconduct by a public servant, the Court/Tribunal is concerned to determine whether the inquiry was held by a competent officer or whether rules of natural justice are complied with. Whether the findings or conclusions are based on some evidence, the authority entrusted with the power to hold inquiry has jurisdiction, power and authority to reach a finding of fact or conclusion. But that finding must be based on some evidence. Neither the technical rules of Evidence Act nor of proof of fact or evidence as defined therein, apply to disciplinary proceeding. When the authority accepts that evidence and conclusion receives support therefrom, the disciplinary authority is entitled to hold that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge. The Court/Tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as appellate authority to re-appreciate the evidence and to arrive at its own independent findings on the evidence. The Court/Tribunal may interfere where the authority held the proceedings against the delinquent officer in a manner inconsistent with the rules of natural justice or in violation of statutory rules prescribing the mode of inquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority is based on no evidence. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached, the Court/Tribunal may interfere with the conclusion or the finding, and mould the relief so as to make it appropriate to the facts of each case.

13. The disciplinary authority is the sole judge of facts. Where appeal is presented, the appellate authority has coextensive power to re- appreciate the evidence or the nature of punishment. In a disciplinary inquiry, the strict proof of legal evidence and findings on that evidence are not relevant. Adequacy of evidence or reliability of evidence cannot be permitted to be canvassed before the Court/Tribunal. In Union of India V. H.C. Goel this Court held at p. 728 that if the conclusion, upon consideration of the evidence reached by the disciplinary authority, is perverse or suffers from patent error on the face of the record or based on no evidence at all, a writ of certiorari could issued.

31. Both the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench have heavily relied on the fact that before forwarding the copy of the report by letter dated 02.04.2008 the Disciplinary Authority-cum-Whole Time Members have already formed an opinion on 25.02.2008 to punish the writ petitioner with major penalty which is a clear violation of principle of natural justice. We are of the view that before making opinion with regard to punishment which is to be imposed on a delinquent, the delinquent has to be given an opportunity to submit the representation/reply on the inquiry report which finds a charge proved against the delinquent. The opinion formed by the Disciplinary Authority-cum-Whole Time Members on 25.02.2008 was formed without there being benefit of comments of the writ petitioner on the inquiry report. The writ petitioner in his representation to the inquiry report is entitled to point out any defect in the procedure, a defect of substantial nature in appreciation of evidence, any misleading of evidence both oral or documentary. In his representation any inputs and explanation given by the delinquent are also entitled to be considered by the Disciplinary Authority before it embarks with further proceedings as per statutory rules. We are, thus, of the view that there was violation of principle of natural justice at the level of Disciplinary Authority when opinion was formed to punish the writ petitioner with dismissal without forwarding the inquiry report to the delinquent and before obtaining his comments on the inquiry report. We are, thus, of the view that the order of the High Court setting aside the punishment order as well as the Appellate order has to be maintained."

19. On perusal of the aforesaid, it is clear that without supplying the preliminary enquiry report to the employee, the impugned order cannot be passed, thus, it is well established that the impugned order has been passed in utter disregard of the principles of natural justice, hence, is not sustainable in law.

20. In regard to the third submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that once there was stipulation in not joining the service, the service will be dispensed with, there was no occasion in not joining the petitioner into service in passing the impugned order. This submission also has merit and there was no occasion to pass the impugned order, relying on the preliminary enquiry report.

21. Submission of learned Standing Counsel on the point raised hereinabove are not attracted to this Court and being devoid of merit, is rejected.

22. Once the decision is taken by the authorities to institute regular disciplinary proceedings then findings in the preliminary enquiry report ordinarily is not to be relied upon. In case such a report is to be relied upon then the delinquent employees has to be confronted with such materials, and only after hearing their version in the matter that such a report could be relied upon. Any other course followed would clearly be a violation of principles of natural justice.

23. In view of the reasons recorded above, the impugned order dated 11.10.2000 is hereby quashed.

24. The writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

25. The respondents are directed to follow the consequential action in pursuance thereof.

A. Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 – Ch. XXII R. 7 – Writ – Maintainability – Res judicata – Claim subsequently rejected, how far barred the writ – Held, subsequent rejection of claims of petitioners clearly constitutes a fresh cause of action due to which, the same would not be barred under Ch. 22 R. 7 of the Allahabad High Court Rules. (Para 3)

B. Service Law – UP Aided Educational Institutions Employees Contributory Provident Fund, Insurance, Pension Rules, 1964 – GO dated 10.08.1978 and 29.08.181 – Benefit of Gratuity Scheme – Age of superannuation – Option to chose either 58 years or 60 years – Rule 4 provide that the benefits of Gratuity Scheme would be applicable only upon those teachers who would give an option to superannuate at the age of 58 years – Held, the natural corollary of the proposition was that in case of teachers exercising their right to continue in service up-till the age of 60 years, the benefit of gratuity would be unavailable since they would be getting extra salary for the two years of service rendered thereafter. (Para 12 and 32)

C. Service Law – Benefit of Gratuity Scheme – Entitlement – Petitioner's predecessors did not performed extra years service between the age of 58 years to 60 years – Payment of gratuity refused – Validity challenged – Held, the grant of gratuity is a natural corollary to services not being rendered for the extra period of two years in terms of conditions of Rules of 1981 and as such, such an option once granted earlier can definitely be revised – Denial of grant of gratuity to the petitioners in terms of conditions of Rules of 1981 is clearly contrary to provisions not only of the aforesaid Rules of 1981. (Para 66 and 67)

D. Interpretation of Statute – Beneficial legislation – Liberal construction – The beneficial provisions are required to be construed liberally in order to provide maximum effect to such provision. (Para 56)

1. Heard Mr. Rajesh Kumar, Mr. Ram Krishna Patel, Mr. Adarsh Singh, Mr. Om Prakash Chaube, Mr. Gorakh Yadav, Mr. Kamal Kumar Kesherwani, Mr. Chandra Sekhar Pandey,Sr. Advocate and Mr. Manoj Yadav, learned counsels appearing for petitioner and Mr. J.N. Maurya, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Mr. Chandan Kumar, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf respondent-State.

2. The question of law required to be adjudicated upon in this bunch of petitions is as follows:

(a) Whether option pertaining to grant of death-cum-retirement gratuity explicitly given or deemed to have given in terms of statutory rule by a member of teaching staff of Intermediate College can be revised without amendment in statutory rules only on the basis of subsequent Government Orders ?

(b) Whether such revision of option can be exercised at the instance of family members of such a teacher consequent upon his demise having failed to exercise such an option during his life time ?

3. At the very outset, learned counsel for respondents have taken a plea of some of the petition's not being maintainable in terms of Chapter 22, Rule 7 of the Allahabad High Court Rules since earlier also the same petitioners had filed petitions. However it is not disputed that the earlier petitions had not challenged the orders rejecting claims of petitioner, which are under challenge in the present petitions. As such, the subsequent rejection of claims of petitioners clearly constitutes a fresh cause of action due to which in the considered opinion of this Court, the same would not be barred under Chapter 22 Rule 7 of the Allahabad High Court Rules. The petitions are therefore held maintainable.

4. The predecessors-in-interest of petitioners were teachers serving in Government Aided Private Educational Institutions. There was disparity in service conditions of the teachers serving in Government run institutions and those serving in Government aided private educational institutions. Government of India appointed Secondary Education Service Commission, which made certain recommendations for removing disparity. On basis of these recommendations. State of Uttar Pradesh initially introduced a scheme known as "Triple Benefit Scheme' and framed Rules known as 'Uttar Pradesh Aided Educational Institutions Employees Contributory Provident Fund, Insurance, Pension Rules, 1964' which came in effect from 1st October, 1964. In pursuance of the aforesaid Rules, Government Order dated 17-12-1965 was issued for implementing the Scheme under which the benefits of (i) contributory provident fund, (ii) special life Insurance, and (iii) pension including the family pension were to be given to all the teachers serving in the State aided primary schools, Junior High Schools, Higher Secondary Schools, Degree Colleges, Training Colleges etc. However, the pensionery benefits under the above Triple Benefits Scheme were still not at par with pensionery benefits admissible to teachers serving in Government institutions. To remove this disparity and in order to provide the same pensionery benefits to the teachers of Government Aided Private Institutions which were admissible to Government teachers, State of Uttar Pradesh issued Government Order dated 31st March, 1978. However, as the age of superannuation in case of teachers serving in Government colleges was 58 years, the teachers serving in Government Aided Private Institutions were asked to opt for the age of superannuation at 58 years for getting the pensionery benefits at par with the teachers serving in Government Colleges. Government Order inviting such option was issued on 10-8-1978. Under this Government Order if teacher opted to retire at the age of 58 years, he was to get death-cum-retirement gratuity along with other pensionery benefits.

5. Additionally, the 'Rules of U.P. School and College Teachers' Gratuity Fund' were framed and came into effect from 01.04.1964 which postulated grant of gratuity to teachers of Aided Educational Institution. They were to apply to all members of the teaching staff of State Aided Educational Institutions managed either by local body or private management which were recognized and aided by the State Education Department pertaining to primary school, junior high school, higher secondary school and degree college. Paragraph 5 of the said Rules provided gratuity and methods of its calculation in view of services rendered provided the teacher at the time of his death in service had put in not less than three years continuous service. There was no option required to be given by a teacher for inclusion in the aforesaid scheme which became automatically applicable upon all such teachers indicated herein-above.

6. Since the pensionary benefits of teachers serving in State Aided Non-Government Educational Institution run by private management were not at par with their counter parts in Government Colleges, the State Government-considered the demand agitated by such teachers and issued a Government Order dated 31.03.1978 which provided that permanent whole time teachers in State Aided Secondary Educational Institutions run by the private management and local bodies retiring on or after 01.03.1977 would be entitled to get pension calculated at the same time and in the same manner as admissible to their counter parts employed in the Government Colleges in the equal rank and grade.

7. This benefit was, however, extended subject to the conditions, inter alia, that benefit of death-cum-retirement gratuity of family pension to dependents of a teacher after his death available to teachers in Government Colleges would not be available and the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme in relation to such teachers would be supplanted by General Provident Fund Scheme with effect from 01.03.1977.

The Triple Benefit and Contributory Provident Fund Schemes were deemed to be amended accordingly in respect of such teachers.

8. The teachers serving in State Aided Secondary Educational Institutions controlled by Private Managements, however, continued to agitate for more pensionary benefits and in consideration of their demand, the State Government issued another Government Order dated 10.08.1978, thereby extending the benefit of death-cum-retirement Gratuity to teachers of State Aided Non-Government Secondary Institutions on their opting for retirement at the age of 58 years and also subject to the fulfilment of other conditions stipulated therein. It may be usefully observed that benefit of death-cum-retirement gratuity was available to the teachers in Government colleges and it was by means of the said Government Order that the said benefit was extended for the first time to the teachers in the State Aided Non-Government Educational Institutions.

9. In order to avail of the benefit of death-cum-retirement gratuity, a teacher in State Aided Non-Government Educational Institution was required to give his option for retirement at the age of 58 years which, it may be stated, is the prescribed age for the retirement of teachers in Government Colleges as against 60 years which is the prescribed age of superannuation for teachers in State Aided Non-Government Secondary Institutions.

10. According to the Government Order dated 10.08.1978, teachers willing to opt for gratuity, were required to give their options in a prescribed proforma, in accordance with a Niyamawali which was required to be prepared by the Director of Education and publicized with the approval of the State Government as would be evident from paragraph 4 of the Government Order.

11. The Niyamawali known as "राज्य सहायता प्राप्त उच्चतर माध्यमिक विद्यालयों के अध्यापकों की मृत्यु तथा सेवावृित्तिक आनुतोषिक की नियमावली" was prepared by the Director of Education, as comprehended by Paragraph 4 of the Government Order dated 10.08.1978, was published/issued/notified vide Government Order dated 29.08.1981.

12. The Rules of 1981 however provided that option for inclusion in the rules would be required to be made by existing teachers in service within a period of six months from the date of notification of the Rules and subsequent appointees were required to give their option within a period of two years from entering into service. Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 issued on 29.08.1981 specifically provided that a teacher in service was required to give an option of continuing in service either up-till the age of 58 years or extended service upto 60 years. The benefit of the Gratuity Scheme was available only to those teachers who gave an option to superannuate at the age of 58 years. Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 also provided that option once given would be deemed to be final in nature.

13. Subsequent to the aforesaid Rules of 1981, the Government issued order dated 06.07.1982 indicating that the time limit of six months provided earlier for giving option to existing teachers was inadequate and therefore a further time limit up-till 31.12.1982 was provided for giving of option. Thereafter, Government issued another order dated 06.10.1990 in terms of the earlier Government Orders dated 31.03.1978, 28.07.1978 and 03.11.1978. It was indicated in the Government Order that since inadvertently various teachers were deprived of being included in the Gratuity Scheme since they were unable to give their option within the prescribed time limit, government after consideration extended the time limit for giving such option to a further 90 days from the date of issuance of the Government Order. Paragraph 2 of the aforesaid Government Order provided that in case of teachers who failed to give their option, it would be deemed that they had opted to superannuate at the age of 58 years and therefore would be covered by the Gratuity Scheme automatically. Paragraph 3 of the Government Order also provided that the option would be available also for those teachers who had already given their options so that maximum teachers would come within purview of beneficial scheme.

14. Subsequent to the said Government Order, another Government Order dated 04.11.1991 was issued, again with regard to providing options for inclusion under the Gratuity Scheme. This Government Order provided amendment of the earlier Government Order dated 06.10.1990 again extending the time limit for giving of option. The order also indicated similar provision of option being provided by the teachers for superannuation either at the age of 58 years or 60 years. Subsequent to the said order, another Government Order dated 18.11.1991 was issued finding that despite issuance of various Government Orders on the subject, many teachers had not been able to exercise their options and therefore another opportunity was provided for providing of such options.

15. Considering the Government Orders dated 06.10.1990 and 04.11.1991 a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Shri Kamla Sharma Versus Deputy Director of Education and another, Special Appeal No.482 of 1993 held that options exercised by teachers already could be changed in terms of the aforesaid Government Orders. However another Division Bench in the case of Prakash Chand Sharma versus Deputy Direction of Education, Bareilly Region, Bareilly and another passed in Special No.2891 of 1995 took a contrary view in the matter while distinguishing the earlier Division Bench on facts. However, the aforesaid contradictory judgments were thereafter referred for adjudication before the Full Bench in the case of Smt. Prabha Kakkar Versus Joint Director of Education, Kanpur and others 2000(2)UPLBEC 1378 (Allahabad). The questions framed before the Full Bench were whether in terms of the scheme provided in the Government Orders, acceptance of option exercised by teacher and its communication was necessary to make it final and irrevocable. The questions framed are as follows:-

1. Whether in the Scheme provided in the Government Orders dated 10.8.1978. 6.10.1990 and 4.11.1991 and the Rules of 1981 acceptance of the option exercised by the teacher and its communication was necessary to make it final and irrevocable?

2. Whether the option exercised by teacher became final and irrevocable after it was counter signed by the District Inspector of Schools?

3. Whether by efflux of long time the option exercised by teacher in pursuance of the Government Orders could be legally deemed to have been accepted and it could not be changed or revoked?

16. The Full Bench after considering aspects of the case, recorded its conclusion that the act of acceptance of option by the Deputy Director of Education and its communication to the employee was necessary in order to make it final before which option given by teachers could be withdrawn. The Full Bench also held that options once exercised by a teacher could be deemed to have been accepted but in view of subsequent Government Order dated 17.02.1999, teachers of Government Aided Private Higher Secondary Schools could change their option within a year before retirement. However since questions 1 and 2 had already been answered, the aforesaid question was not specifically answered since it was not necessary to decide.

17. The Full Bench noticed the Government Order issued subsequently on 17.02.1999 in which it was again stated by the Government that a number of teachers in recognized and government aided colleges have not been able to give their options and were therefore deprived of benefit of the Gratuity Scheme. It was therefore decided by the Government that such teachers could change their options already given, up-till 1st of July one year prior to date of superannuation. The said proposition was reiterated in the Government Order dated 17.11.1999 wherein facility to change their option already given earlier was also indicated.

18. Consequent thereupon, the Government Order dated 04.02.2004 was issued again pertaining to issue of option to be made by such teachers in view of the fact that Regulation 21 of the Regulations framed under the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 stood amended with the age of superannuation of a teacher now being 60 years instead of 58 years.

19. Mr. Adarsh Singh, learned counsel for petitioners has submitted that in all the petitions in the present bunch, the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioners who were earlier working as teachers in State Aided Private Institution had passed away prior to exercise of their facility of change in option. It is submitted that the Government Orders indicated herein-above and particularly the Government Order dated 17.02.1999 have been issued in terms of paragraph 20 of the Rules of 1981 which grant power upon the Government to issue necessary orders to remove any difficulty or confusion in the grant of benefits of gratuity to such teacher. As such, it is submitted that once power to remove difficulties has already been conferred upon the State Government by statutory rule itself, there was no occasion for the State Government to have first amended the rule and in such cases, the issuance of various Government Orders in terms of paragraph 20 of the Rule of 1981 would suffice. It is thus submitted that there is no occasion to hold that statutory provision by subordinate legislation has been overridden by administrative order.

20. It has also been submitted by learned counsel for petitioners that various government orders and wordings used therein clearly indicate that the Government had at all time wished a beneficial provision upon the teachers and required as many as possible to be covered by the aforesaid Gratuity Scheme.

21. It has also been contended that although the Rules of 1981 stipulate that option once given could not be changed thereafter but the government order issued on the subject clearly indicate that difficulties were being caused due to such a strict stipulation having been inserted in the Rules of 1981 and due to such difficulties having been caused, were sought to be removed by the government itself by issuance of the Government Orders which were clearly in terms of paragraph 20 of Rules of 1981. As such it is submitted that the government was fully empowered to bring about the change pertaining to options being given by teachers.

22. With regard to the second question, it has been submitted that since the predecessors-in-interest of the petitioners have passed away prior to exercise of change in option as stipulated in the Government Order, and the scheme being beneficial in nature,the family members of such deceased teacher would be entitled to exercise a change in option particularly in view of the stand of government itself indicated in the Government Order that benefit of said scheme should be available to as many teachers as possible.

23. Reliance has been placed by counsel for petitioners on the Division Bench judgment of Sri Ranjana Kakkar versus State of U.P. and others, 2008 (10) ADJ 63(DB), judgment and order dated 21.06.2022 Shikha Sharma versus State of U.P. and other and connected matter Writ A No.14575 of 2021 and other connected matters, Jagteshwari Maurya versus State of U.P. and others Writ Petition No. 2727 (Service Single) of 2014 and various other judgments to submit that issue in question already stands concluded by cited judgments.

24. Learned counsel for petitioners has also placed reliance on the case of Usha Rani vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ A No.17399 of 2019 decided on 07.11.2019 in similar facts and circumstances.

25. Mr. J.N. Maurya, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Mr. Chandan Kumar, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf State has refuted the submissions advanced by learned counsel for petitioners with the submission that all the judgments cited by learned counsel for petitioners are distinguishable on facts inasmuch as the specific provisions and prohibitions of Rules, 1981 had not been considered in any of them. It has been further submitted that the Rules of 1981 specifically provided that giving of options was mandatory upon all the teachers. It is further submitted that Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 had a clear stipulation that option once given could not be changed. It has also been submitted that the Government Orders issued on the subject pertain only for a change in the option and were inapplicable in the present cases where option was not given by the predecessors-in-interest of the petitioners and such option was therefore deemed in terms of Rule 3 of the Rules of 1981. It has been further submitted that even otherwise the option either given explicitly or deemed to have been given could not have been changed and therefore there was no occasion for any confusion which would require removal under Rule 20 of the Rules of 1981 and as such the Government Orders on the subject are inapplicable upon the petitioners.

26. It has been further submitted that even otherwise option once exercised by the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioners could have been changed only by such predecessor-in-interest being the teachers who were duly appointed. It is submitted that in none of the Government Orders, is any provision for family members of such teachers to exercise any option of revision particularly when the teacher concerned himself did not require any change in the option either given explicitly or deemed.

27. He has submitted that it is settled principle of law, if a statute provides something to be done in a certain manner then the thing has to be done in that very manner; from the bare perusal of the aforesaid Rules (emphasis on Rule 4), a teacher of a State Aided Non-Government Institution had to exercise an option to choose the date of his/her superannuation as it was, as per Chapter III Regulation 21 of Intermediate Education Act, 1921; either at the age of 58 years or 60 years and on the basis of this exercise of option, his or her retiral benefits were to be determined.

28. It has also been submitted that the submission of learned counsel for petitioners that vide Government Order dated 06.10.1990 read with Government Order dated 04.11.1991, successors of the deceased had an option to revoke the last exercise option is in-correct since the Government Order dated 06.10.1990 was issued in continuation of Government Orders dated 31.03.1978, 28.07.1978 and 03.11.1978, which did not pertain to death come retirement gratuity.

29. Submission is that Paragraph 2 of the Government Order dated 06.10.1990 no doubt, engendered some confusion due to ambiguous and incongruous words employed therein. The tenor of the Government Order however, unambiguously indicates that it was not intended to confer any right in favour of a teacher, to withdraw the option already exercised by him for gratuity and countersigned/accepted by the Competent Authority under and in accordance with the Government Order dated 10.08.1978 read with the Niyamawali issued vide Government Order dated 29.08.1981.

30. Learned counsel has also drawn attention to language of Government Order dated 17.02.1999 which states that an incumbent (teaching staff) can change its last exercised option on or before 1st July of the year in which he is superannuating (as per his last exercised option). If this thing is allowed then an incumbent who has exercised his option to superannuate at the age of 60 years (which was at that time before amendment), can he be allowed to change his option on attaining the age of 59 years (which was at that time before amendment), since there were only two options which an incumbent had to choose with regard to age of superannuation and those were 58 and 60 years. Dealing with this type of situation a Division Bench of this Hon'ble Court, in the case of State of U.P. V. Prabha Shukla, Special Appeal (D) No.1168 of 2020 has held that an incumbent can exercise his/her option to change his or her earlier option before attaining the age of 58 years only.

31. Learned counsel for respondents have also placed reliance on various judgments which shall be discussed herein-after.

32. Question No.1. Upon consideration of submissions advanced by learned counsel for parties and perusal of material available on record, it is evident that Government itself was cognizant of disparity of services between teachers employed by Private

Aided Institutions and those employed in Government Colleges or schools. To that effect and for removal thereof, the Rules of 1964 were notified which automatically became applicable upon all the teachers in service at that time. Evidently there was no requirement of any option to be exercised by any of the teachers. It was only with the advent of Rules of 1981 that the proposition of teachers giving an option was formulated with the provision that the benefits of Gratuity Scheme would be applicable only upon those teachers who would give an option to superannuate at the age of 58 years. The natural corollary of the aforesaid proposition was that in case of teachers exercising their right to continue in service up-till the age of 60 years, the benefit of gratuity would be unavailable since they would be getting extra salary for the two years of service rendered thereafter.

33. A perusal of the wordings of various Government Orders makes it evident that the government itself was quite anxious regarding the applicability of the Gratuity Scheme upon as many teachers as possible; clearly the scheme was in the nature of a beneficial provision provided by the State Government to such teachers.

34. The issue of whether the prohibition indicated in the Rules of 1981 regarding change in option can be done away with by means of Government Orders without effecting any amendment in the Rules of 1981 would be required to be considered.

35. The Rules of 1981 have been effected since 30.06.1978. Rule 11 of the aforesaid Rules clearly stipulate an option to be given by a teacher for superannuation either at the age of 58 years or continuance in service up-till the age of 60 years. Rule 20 of the Rules of 1981 clearly stipulate that government would be empowered to issue various orders for complete and effective implementation of the Gratuity Scheme as notified by the Rules of 1981 in case there is any difficulty or confusion with regard to such implementation.

36. In all the Government Orders indicated herein-above, it has been indicated that effective implementation of the Gratuity Scheme could not be made due to non exercise of option by most of the teachers. The Government Orders also indicate that option could not be exercised by the majority of teachers due to certain confusion or administrative laxity. Time and again Government Orders have been issued as indicated herein-above extending the limitation for exercise of option to be included under the Gratuity Scheme.

37. In paragraph 44 of the counter affidavit filed by the State, it is itself admitted that the Government Order dated 06.10.1990 engendered some confusion due to ambiguous language employed therein.

38. Clearly the Government itself envisaged the scheme to be beneficial in nature. A reading of not only the Rules of 1981 but the various Government Orders on the subject also clearly indicate that concept of death-cum-retirement gratuity was required to be implemented upon as many teachers as possible in order to provide them benefit of a beneficial scheme. The government itself appears to be quite anxious that the Gratuity Scheme should be made applicable upon as many teachers as possible.

39. A conspectus of the Rules and Government Orders issued by State particularly the Rules of 1964, 1981 and various Government Orders on the subject are all indicative of the fact that Government itself realized the serious disparity in service benefits pertaining to teacher employed in Private Aided Institutions viz-a-viz those employed in Government Institutions and a conscious effort was made by the Government at all times to remove such disparity. From the Government Orders issued in 1978 also it is evident that not only disparity pertaining to gratuity but to other pensionary benefits was also sought to be removed. Although the Rules of 1964 became automatically applicable upon teachers of Private Institutions but the Rules of 1981 took a divergent stand with such teachers requiring to give their options either to continue in service uptill the age of 58 years or the extended period of 60 years with the benefit of death-cum-retirement scheme being applicable only in case of continuation in service uptill the age of 58 years.

40. The aspect of such option was enforced for the first time by means of Rules of 1981 with Rule 3 requiring such an option within a period of six months from the teachers already in service and rule 4 requiring such an option from subsequent appointee within a period of two years from the date of regularization/confirmation in service. The said rule also indicated that options once given would be considered to be final.

41. As such submission of learned counsel for respondents is that the prohibition indicated in Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 would be construed to be final in nature under which an option once given or deemed to have been given cannot be changed. It has therefore been submitted that such a prohibition indicated in the Rules cannot be construed to have been waived by means of administrative Government Orders.

42. So far as aforesaid submission is concerned, it is evident that Rule 20 of the Rules of 1981 clearly stipulates that the Government would have power to issue directions to remove any difficulty or confusion with regard to implementation of the said Rules. The said Rule is clearly an exception to the prohibition indicated in Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 and specifically empowers the State Government to issue necessary directions for removal of such difficulty or confusion.

43. A perusal of the Government Orders issued subsequent to the Rules of 1981 enhancing the time limit for providing of options clearly state repeatedly that the aforesaid prohibition is creating a difficulty in smooth implementation of the beneficial concept of death-cum retirement gratuity. The respondents themselves have in their counter affidavit admitted the fact that there was confusion with regard to implementation of the Government Order dated 06.10.1990. Seen in that light, it is apparent that once statutory rules themselves provide an exception clause to the prohibitory nature of a previous paragraph or rule, such subsequent clause of the Rule can be construed to be an explanation to the mandatory prohibitory clause. Seen from that view, it is clear that Rule 20 of the Rules of 1981 is more in the nature of an explanation/exception to the prohibitory clause of Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981.

44. Since the various Government Orders issued subsequent to the notification of Rules of 1981 repeatedly indicate that they are being issued in order to remove doubt and confusion regarding implementation of the death-cum-retirement gratuity scheme, such Government Orders can be deemed to have been issued in terms of Rule 20 of the Rules of 1981.

45. It is also relevant that by means of Government Order dated 17.02.1999, it has been indicated that due to unavoidable circumstances, teachers of Private Aided Institutions were unable to provide an option in terms of Government Orders dated 06.10.1990 and 04.11.1991 and therefore it had been provided that due to constant demand for providing such facility, the State has taken a decision that option once earlier given could be changed by a teacher of such an institution within one year prior to his date of superannuation. The said Government Order along with the one issued subsequently on 17.11.1999 provided a change in the option granted earlier. The said Government Order is in continuation of the Government Order dated 06.10.1990 which in paragraph 3 states that the facility of option would be available also in case of a teacher who had already earlier given such an option.

46. Learned counsel for respondent State has submitted that even if assuming that the option once given could have been changed in terms of the Government Orders but such a facility even then would be available only to those teachers who had specifically given their options in terms of provisions of Rules of 1981 and would not be applicable in those cases where the options were not explicitly given but was deemed.

47. With regard to aforesaid submission, the wordings of Rules 3 and 4 conjointly of the Rules of 1981 makes it apparent that although specific option was required to be exercised by the teachers within stipulated time period but such an option was also deemed in case it was not given within the stipulated time period. The natural corollary of the aforesaid conditions would be that an option of such a teacher would be deemed in case it is not explicitly given. Thus option stands exercised in any case.

48. Evidently, the provisions of Rule 4 of 1981 specifically with regard to deeming clause excluded a number of teachers which did not solve the problem of disparity between teachers appointed in Private Aided Institutions and those working in Government Institutions and as such the Government felt, as evidenced in provisions of various Government Orders that the same did not extend the beneficial provisions which was the primary concern of the Government. As per wordings of subsequent Government Orders, this was the reason for giving an opportunity to change the option once earlier given.

49. From a perusal of the Rules of 1964 read with Rules of 1981 and various Government Orders on the subject, it is evident that the provisions of implementation of death-cum-retirement gratuity upon such teachers employed by Private Aided Institutions was a beneficial provision notified for the purpose of inclusion of as many teachers as possible in the Gratuity Scheme.

50. The Full Bench in the case of Prabha Kakkar (supra) has also answered the question no.1 to the effect that the act of acceptance of option by the Deputy Director of Education and its communication to the employee was necessary in order to make it final. It was further held that counter signature of District Inspector of Schools on such option could neither be taken as acceptance nor fully attached any kind of finality. As such, it can be discerned that the Full Bench has also taken the view that option once given in terms of the Government Orders dated 10.08.1978, 06.10.1990 and 04.11.1991 even after the advant of Rules of 1981 can be changed. It was upon answering of first question that the Full Bench concluded that questions pertaining to irrevocability of option exercised by a teacher and its option to be changed or revoked, was not required to be answered.

51. Evidently, the Full Bench having considered not only the aforesaid Government Orders but also the Government Order dated 17.02.1999 has also come to the conclusion that no finality could be attached to an option once given by a teacher and such an option once given can be changed or revoked subsequently as well as.

52. The aforesaid aspect has also been considered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Sushila Yadav versus State of U.P. and other (2021)10 ADJ 235 in which also the entire gamut of Government Orders and decision on the point have been considered particularly with regard to judgment rendered by other Coordinate Benches in the case of Usha Rani versus State of U.P. and others; Writ A No.17399 of 2019, Noor Jahan versus State of U.P. and others, Writ A No.40568 of 2016 and Smt. Omwati versus State of U.P. and others Writ A No.8679 of 2018 as well as in the case of Smt. Mala Tripathi versus State of U.P.and others. The said judgment also takes into account the judgment rendered by Ranjana Kakkar (supra) and Prabha Shukla (supra). Upon examination of various aspects, the judgment in the case of Prakash Chandra Sharma versus Deputy Director of Education, Bareilly Region Bareilly and others (1997)2 UPLBEC 1155 and in the case of Division Bench Judgment of State of U.P. and another versus Shashthi Dutt Shastri and others, 2017 (Suppl.) ADJ 768(DB). The relevant paragraphs are as under:

".....More importantly neither the 1963 Rules nor the various Government Orders issued in connection with the right of teachers working in primary educational institutions administered by the Board to claim gratuity provided for the same being lost forever or being forfeited consequent to a failure to submit an aged option. ....."

".....The absence of a negative stipulation and a prescription specifying the adverse consequences of inaction clearly operates in favour of teachers and the petitioners here. The Court also bears in mind the undisputed position on facts which has emerged of teachers being permitted to submit their options prior to attaining the age of superannuation and latest by 1st of July of the academic year in which they were to attain the age of retirement. Once that is conceded to be the the accepted procedure consistently followed, the Court fails to find any justification to hold teachers to be under an obligation to submit an option immediately upon entry into service. ....."

53. The aforesaid aspect has also been considered by another Coordinate Bench in the case of Shikha Sharma versus State of U.P. and others; in Writ A No.14575 of 2021 and other connected matters in which also after examining various aspects of the matter and particularly the Government Orders it has been held that an option once given earlier could be changed in terms of the Government Order particularly since no Government Order or amendment in instructions or rules have been issued restoring the provision prevailing prior to Government Order dated 06.10.1990. The relevant portion of the judgment is as follows:

"12. Considering the fact that the State Government by the aforesaid Government Order dated 06.10.1990 provided for a deeming clause of acceptance of option of retirement at the age of 58 years from all the teachers, who did not exercise an option, there does not appears to be any fault on the part of the deceased husband of the petitioner. No Government Order, amendment in instructions or rules have been brought on record which restores the position prevailing prior to the Government Order dated 06.10.1990. Therefore, it is clear that even the teachers who did not exercise their option to retire at the age of 58 years would not be deprived of benefit of gratuity only because the deceased did not exercise the option of retirement at the age of 58 years. Further reason is that it was open for the deceased to change his option as per subsequently issued government order a year before the date of superannuation but his/her untimely death robbed him/her of the opportunity. "

54. Learned State counsel has placed reliance on the judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Panchi Devi versus State of Rajasthan and others; (2009)2 SCC 589 to submit that an employee who had already received terminal benefits on death of the deceased spouse was not entitled to exercise change in option. The said judgment has been relied upon to buttress the submission that option once given cannot be changed particularly since the right which is created for the first time cannot be given retrospective effect.

55. The aforesaid judgment clearly on the facts is inapplicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case since the rights had accrued prospectively and not retrospectively whereas in the present case, all the Government Orders clearly have retrospective operation since they referred to the earlier Government Orders under which options were sought but could not be given due to administrative laxity or for any other reason.

56. With regard to interpretation of a beneficial provision, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Maniben Maganbhai Bhariya versus District Development Officer Dahod and others reported in AIR 2022 (SC) 2119 has held that beneficial provisions are required to be construed liberally in order to provide maximum effect to such provision. It has been held as under:-

"13. When social security legislations are being interpretated, it always has to be interpreted liberally with a beneficial interpretation and has to be given the widest possible meaning which the language permits, known as Beneficial Interpretation. When a statute is meant for the benefit of a particular class and if a word in the statute is capable of two meanings, i.e., one which would preserve the benefits and one which would not, then the former is to be adopted.

14. Maxwell on Beneficial Construction holds the following:

"The construction of a statute must not strain the words as to include cases plainly omitted from the natural meaning of the language. Nevertheless, even where the usual meaning of the words falls short of the object of the legislature, a more extended meaning will be attributed to them if they are fairly susceptible to it. The relaxation of strictly literal rule of interpretation is known as beneficial construction"

15. This Court had an occasion to examine discussions in detail about constructive and welfare legislations. The judgment in State Bank of India v. Shri N. Sundara Money, 1976(1) SCC 822 followed with Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board v. A. Rajappa and others, 1978(2) SCC 213; Sant Ram v, Rajinder Lal and others, 1979(2) SCC 274 and later the Constitution Bench in Steel Authority of India Ltd. and others v. National Union Waterfront Workers and others, 2001(7) SCC I are the exposition of law on the subject."

57. In view of the aforesaid discussion, it is clear that the stringent prohibition indicated in Rule 4 of the Rules of 1981 could have been explained or whittled down by subsequent Government Orders in terms of Rules 20 of the Rules of 1981 particularly since all the subsequent Government Orders clearly stipulate that they have been issued permitting a change in earlier option due to confusion or difficulty being faced in proper implementation of the Rules.

The man arranges his affairs in accordance with the wisdom given to him by God. The Almighty has reserved the powers of sustaining and guiding human destiny. No one, who was required to give an option under the scheme, could have predicted, whether he would survive to claim the benefits.

12. Where an event cannot be foreseen and a person is invited to give options with the understanding to arrange his affairs according to his own wisdom, his choice should not be allowed to work to his disadvantage after his death. He should be provided with the maximum of the benefits and social security after his death. Late Prof. Amamath Kakkar did not live beyond the age of 45 years.
