24. Dr. Anurag Parashar who had endorsed his medical opinion on the dying declaration regarding the fitness of the victim/later deceased to give a statement deposed as P.W.-7. P.W.-7 testified that the victim had burn injuries when she was brought to the District Hospital. After he had conducted a full mental and medical examination of the victim, he found her to be in a fit condition to give her statement. She was fully conscious when her statement was recorded. P.W. 6 identified the medical certificates given by him in the records of the trial court.

25. P.W. 7 has identified his signatures on the two certificates of fitness recorded by him in the dying declaration. The aforesaid two certificates at the beginning and at the conclusion of the dying declaration were proved by PW 7 which was marked as Exh. Ka 3.

Second Dying Declaration:

26. P.W. 8-S.I. Latesh Verma/I.O. had deposed that he had recorded that statement of the victim (later deceased) on 04.03.2017. The said statement of the victim (later deceased) was in fact the second dying declaration but was never produced before the trial court by the prosecution.

Oral Testimonies:-

27. The prosecution witnesses namely Shama Parveen mother of the deceased/informant/PW-1, Manjoor father of the deceased/PW-2, Shaanu brother of the deceased/PW-3 have repudiated the prosecution case in their testimonies before the trial court. The aforesaid witnesses were declared hostile at the instance of the prosecution. PW-4, Yameen, who is brother in law of the deceased refuted the prosecution case in his testimony while under cross-examination.

Submissions from the Bar:

Arguments on behalf of appellants:

28. Shri I.K. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Counsel and Amicus Curiae assisted by Shri Ali Jamal Khan, learned counsel for the appellants and Amicus Curiae made the following submissions:

I. All material prosecution witnesses have repudiated the prosecution case. The witnesses of fact have thus not supported the prosecution case during the trial.

II. The dying declaration is unreliable.

III. The prosecution deliberately suppressed the second dying declaration made by the deceased before the Investigating Officer. An adverse inference is liable to be drawn against the prosecution for suppressing the material evidence since it would have been adverse to the prosecution.

IV. The prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

V. The prosecution does not disclose commission of any offence under the alternative charge under Section 304-B, 498-A IPC read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act.

Arguments on behalf of State:

29. Shri Rishi Chaddha, learned AGA have vehemently opposed the submissions of learned Senior Counsel and has made following submissions:

I. The dying declaration is reliable and can be the sole basis of the convicting the appellants.

II. The second dying declaration was not produced since the first one was of impeccable credibility.

III. The dying declaration is relevant and was duly proved by the prosecution.

IV. The prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

V. Even if the appellants are found to be innocent of the charges under Section 302 IPC, they can still be convicted under Section 304-B, 498-A IPC read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The evidence in the record is sufficient to bring home the charges under Section 304-B, 498-A IPC read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act.

Appraisal of Evidence:

30. All material witnesses of fact have repudiated the prosecution case against the appellants. Hence the said witnesses do not lend any support to the prosecution case. The only piece of incriminating evidence is the dying declaration of the deceased recorded on 19.02.2017 at 12:20 P.M. by PW-6/Sanjay Kumar/Nayab Tehsildar. The prosecution case turns entirely on the credibility of the dying declaration.

Dying Declaration:

31. The contents of the dying declaration are as under:

"मृत्यु पूर्व बयान

प्रश्न- कौन बचाया?

उत्तर- किसी ने नही बचाया।

प्रश्न- तुम्हे यह लोग क्यों जलाये? व परेशान करते थे?

उत्तर- क्यों जलाया यह पता नही। लेकिन यह लोग परेशान करते थे।

प्रश्न- इस घटना का कौन जिम्मेदार है?

उत्तर- इस घटना का मेरे पति खालिद, उनका भाई राशिद, मेरी सास सायरा, मेरी ननद शबनम व दूसरी ननद मयनाज ने मिलकर जलाया। इसीलिए यह लोग जिम्मेदार है।

बयान बिना जोर दबाव के स्वीकार किया।"

32. The dying declaration is predicated by an endorsement made by Dr. Anurag Parashar/PW-7 that the deceased Jubia aged about 22 years was in a fit condition to give her statements. In her dying declaration the deceased stated that her in-laws including her husband Khalid, her brother-in-law Rashid, her mother-in-law Saayra, her sister-in-laws Shabnam and Mahnaz had poured kerosene oil on her and set her on fire. No one attempted to save her. She did not remember who brought her to the hospital. She did not know why she was set on fire, however she later added that the accused persons used to harass her. According to the victim's dying declaration all accused persons had set her on fire and they were responsible for the act. She did not give the statement under threat or coercion.

33. Dying declarations have been accorded acceptability by statute and judicial pronouncements alike. The consistent jurisprudential rationale for accepting dying declarations is that a declaration is made at the point of imminent death and the expectation of impending death inspires a person to speak only the truth. The solemnity of the occasion on death bed provides the assurance of veracity of the statement thus precludes possibilities of falsity.

34. A Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in Laxman vs. State of Maharashtra while reiterating the aforesaid time honoured principles for accepting dying declarations also emphasized the cautions to be exercised by Courts while appraising a dying declaration for its veracity and set forth the following proposition of law:

"3. The juristic theory regarding acceptability of a dying declaration is that such declaration is made in extremity, when the party is at the point of death and when every hope of this world is gone, when every motive to falsehood is silenced, and the man is induced by the most powerful consideration to speak only the truth. Notwithstanding the same, great caution must be exercised in considering the weight to be given to this species of evidence on account of the existence of many circumstances which may affect their truth. The situation in which a man is on the deathbed is so solemn and serene, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. It is for this reason the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with. Since the accused has no power of cross-examination, the courts insist that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the court in its truthfulness and correctness. The court, however, has always to be on guard to see that the statement of the deceased was not as a result of either tutoring or prompting or a product of imagination. The court also must further decide that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had the opportunity to observe and identify the assailant. Normally, therefore, the court in order to satisfy whether the deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration looks up to the medical opinion. But where the eyewitnesses state that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make the declaration, the medical opinion will not prevail, nor can it be said that since there is no certification of the doctor as to the fitness of the mind of the declarant, the dying declaration is not acceptable. A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. In most cases, however, such statements are made orally before death ensues and is reduced to writing by someone like a Magistrate or a doctor or a police officer. When it is recorded, no oath is necessary nor is the presence of a Magistrate absolutely necessary, although to assure authenticity it is usual to call a Magistrate, if available for recording the statement of a man about to die. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a Magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a Magistrate there is no specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the Magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement even without examination by the doctor the declaration can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certification by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and therefore the voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise."

35. More recently, Laxman (supra) was cited with approval by the Supreme Court in Irfan @ Naka vs. State of Uttar Pradesh .

36. The broad acceptance of dying declarations are thus caveated by strong cautions that are to be observed while determining the truth of such statements. Expectation of imminent death and extinguishment of hopes to survive induced by the grievous nature of injuries or parlous medical condition of the person are the prerequisites of bringing the statement of such person within the fold of a dying declaration. Imaginary fears of death which do not have any medical basis cannot be invoked to qualify a statement as a dying declaration.

37. There are some inherent limitations of dying declarations. The facts that the author of the dying declaration is never subjected to cross-examination is an aspect which cannot be neglected while appraising such a statement.

38. The proposition that solemnity of the near death experience is most conducive to telling the truth is a judicial principle which is tempered by judicial experience. The serenity of human mind facing fast approaching end of human life is not an iron clad guarantor of truth. While anticipating death moments of serenity can also be times of turmoil. Petty emotions of vindictiveness, imaginary fears, faults of subjectivity may make insistent demands on vulnerable minds and lead to falsehoods. A searching scrutiny of evidences in the records has to be made before finding on the reliability of the dying declaration is made.

39. The question now arises as to whether the aforesaid dying declaration in the facts and circumstances of this case can be the sole basis for convicting the accused persons.

40. Determination of credibility of the dying declaration has to be predicated by an examination of the medical condition of the deceased. More specifically it has to be established whether the deceased was in expectation of imminent death when she gave her statement. The prosecution has not produced any evidences documentary regarding hospitalization of the deceased including the bedhead ticket after she was rushed to the hospital on sustaining burn injuries. Medical case sheet of the deceased depicting the line of treatment has not been tendered in prosecution evidence. The doctors who had administered the medical aid too were not produced as witnesses. It is noteworthy that even the postmortem report does not depict the percentage of burn injuries. In such a situation the actual medical condition of the deceased remains vague.

41. From the available evidence, no accurate finding can be recorded regarding the medical condition of the victim prior to her death. In absence of evidence pertaining to the gravity of the victim's medical condition this Court is unable to find whether the injuries were fatal enough to foreclose possibilities of survival and grave enough to induce the expectation of imminent death. The conditions precedent for treating statement of the deceased as a dying declaration have not been established by the prosecution.

42. Moreover, in the dying declaration the deceased implicated her husband and all members of his family by making broad and sweeping allegations. The failure to provide relevant details and assign particular roles to accused persons dents the credibility of the dying declaration. It appears that the intent of the dying declaration is more to wreak vengeance on the husband and his family than to state the truth. The generalized description of the incident given in the dying declaration makes it unsafe for the Court to rely on the same to convict the appellants.

43. The victim's denial in the dying declaration about knowledge of the person who brought her to the hospital lacks credibility. The incident occurred in the morning of 19.02.2017. The victim's family including her mother spoke to the victim before lodgement of the FIR and recording of the dying declaration. The FIR clearly discloses that the victim was brought to the hospital by her husband and his family members. The victim's version as given to her mother is depicted in the FIR. The victim's mother/PW-1 and other members of her family including PW-2, PW-3 have consistently testified before the trial court that the victim's husband and his family has brought her to the hospital. P.W. 7-Dr. Anurag Parashar had testified that the victim (later deceased) was fully conscious and alert while giving the statement. In these circumstances it cannot be believed that the victim was unaware that her husband brought her to the hospital.

44. The victim in the dying declaration initially states that she was not aware of the motive of accused persons to commit the offence. The statement was later qualified to same the failing prosecution case, when the victim added that she was harassed by all the accused. The motive ascribed in the dying declaration is weak, vague and an afterthought. The said motive depicted in the dying declaration is not sufficiently strong to commit a heinous crime and is not worthy of any credence.

45. Prosecution case set out in the F.I.R. itself contradicts the dying declaration inasmuch as the two accused persons namely mother in law Shayara and sister in law Shabnam who are not named in the F.I.R. were introduced by the deceased in her dying declaration. The contradiction gains importance in view of the fact that the first informant had spoken to the deceased prior to lodgement of FIR. The mother in law has been assigned the role of pouring kerosene in the dying declaration. The first informant could not have missed the fact of such importance while lodging the F.I.R. The mother-in-law was evidently nominated as an afterthought.

46. The presence of P.W. 7 at the time of recording of the dying declaration is inconsistent with the testimony of P.W. 6. P.W. 6 under cross-examination testified that he had asked all the people to leave the room at the time he was recording the dying declaration. Hence presence of P.W. 7 at the time of recording of the dying declaration and his testimony that the victim was awake and conscious at the time of her statement become doubtful.

47. Another fault line in the prosecution case is that the second dying declaration of the deceased was recorded on 04.03.2017 by the Investigating Officer/P.W.8. The prosecution has however chose to suppress the aforesaid dying declaration and has not produced the same as evidence before the trial court. No cogent reason has been given by the prosecution regarding the failure to produce the said statement. The aforesaid dying declaration was a material piece of evidence and prosecution cannot escape the consequences of suppressing the same.

48. In the wake of the preceding discussions, the pre-conditions for drawing an adverse inference against the prosecution as contemplated under Section 114(g) of the Indian Evidence Act are fully satisfied. This Court hence draws an adverse inference against the prosecution by holding that in the event such dying declaration would have been adverse to the case of the prosecution.

49. Furthermore, the contents of the dying declaration that the harassment by the in laws are clearly contradicted by the testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W.5 i.e. all material prosecution witnesses of fact. The critical and incriminating aspects of the dying declaration are completely negated by the testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W.5 as regards the harassment of the deceased by her in laws.

50. It is equally noteworthy that the P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W.5 have also testified that the deceased was a person of extreme temperamental behavior and was prone to suicidal tendencies. The veracity of the dying declaration is also required to be seen in the context of the testimonies of the aforesaid material witnesses of fact. Apart from the burns or injuries from forceful assault or resistance no other ante-mortem injuries are depicted in the postmortem report. A composite reading of the aforesaid evidences negatives the prosecution case which hinges only the dying declaration.

51. The testimonies of PW 1, PW 2, PW 3 and PW 5 do not rule out the possibility of the deceased committing suicide or the death being caused in an accident resulting from aggravated behaviour of the deceased.

52. The first informant/PW-1 in the FIR has admitted that the deceased's condition deteriorated due to lack of sources and inability to access quality medical care. The possibility of the death due to septicemia from ante-mortem burns being caused by medical negligence or inadequate medical care cannot be ruled out. In fact the percentage of burn injuries is not recorded in the postmortem report.

53. In the wake of the preceding discussion it cannot be ruled out that the victim had nominated all the accused persons out of vindictiveness arising from matrimonial differences. The dying declaration has been repeatedly impeached by inherent contradictions, vague generalizations, testimonies of material prosecution witnesses. The other attending facts and circumstances of the case which are exculpatory in nature further impair the credit of the dying declaration discussed in the preceding part of the narrative. In such circumstances the dying declaration lacks reliability and is completely disbelieved. They dying declaration is the sole pivot of the prosecution case. After the dying declaration is discarded, the prosecution case has no legs to stand on.

54. Last but not the least the conduct of the appellants is of utmost importance in the facts of this case. It is admitted in the F.I.R. as well as the testimonies of all prosecution witness that the deceased was rushed to the hospital by her husband-Khalid and his family members for urgent medical treatment. The husband of the deceased also informed the in-laws about the incident with promptitude. Conduct of the husband of the deceased-Khalid as well his family members appears to be bonafide.

55. In the wake of the preceding discussion this court finds that the dying declaration of the deceased is unreliable. Further, in light of other attending facts and evidences which are exculpatory in nature the dying declaration is liable to be discarded.

Judgement of trial court

56. The learned trial court erred in law by relying on the said dying declaration (which has been found to be unreliable) to enter a verdict of conviction under Section 302/149 IPC against the appellants.

57. The judgment rendered by the learned trial court is perverse and contrary to the evidences in the record. The impugned order dated 06.09.2021 in Sessions Trial No. 419 of 2019 (State Vs. Khalid and others) is liable to be set aside and is set aside.

Alternative Charges:

58. Allegations of dowry demand and harassment due to failure to make good the demand could not be established by the prosecution. All prosecution witnesses refuted the case of dowry demands set out in the F.I.R. Furthermore, the deceased in her dying declaration too did not assert that any dowry demand was made upon her and that she was tortured for the same.

59. Demands of dowry and harassment of deceased for dowry by accused at a time immediately preceding her death have not been proved by the prosecution. There is complete absence of prosecution evidence to establish the said foundational facts to draw the presumption of a dowry death under Section 304-B, 498-A IPC read with Section $^{3/4}$ of Dowry Prohibition Act. The evidence in the record does not support the prosecution case under Section 304B IPC and the charge under Section 304-B, 498-A IPC read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act is liable to fail.

Conclusions:

60. This Court finds that the prosecution has failed to prove the charges under Sections 302/34 and 304 IPC beyond reasonable doubt. The accused/appellants are acquitted of the charges which were laid against them before the trial court and which are the subject matter of this appeal.

61. The accused persons namely Mahnaz and Jayara @ Shayara Bano, Rashid, Khalid and Shabnam are honourably acquitted.

62. Bail bonds and sureties of the appellants are discharged.

63. All the Criminal Appeals are allowed.

64. A copy of this judgment translated in Hindi to be served upon the appellants by the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority.

Dinesh Kumar and 4 others), arising out of Case Crime No. 665 of 2011*, relating to Police Station - Gilaula, District - Shravasti, wherein all these Appellants have been convicted and sentenced for offence (i) under Section 304 B I.P.C. for life imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 5,000/-, and in default of payment of a fine to undergo an additional imprisonment for 5 months; (ii) under Section 498-A I.P.C. for two years' imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 1,000/-, and in default of payment of fine, to undergo an additional a month's imprisonment; and (iii) under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act for six months' imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 500/- and in default of payment of the fine, to undergo an additional a month's imprisonment.

6. His sister's father-in-law, Bade Lal, Husband-Dinesh Kumar, brother-in-law's Sheshraj and Nanbabu, and mother-in-law, Bitta Devi, kept demanding a motorbike and one lakh rupees in cash as dowry. According to the complainant the dowry was given as per their status of Rs. 2,26,000/- in cash and other items during the marriage. According to him, these people while demanding a motorcycle and one lakh rupees in cash, tortured his sister physically and mentally in various ways. 13. Prosecution witness/P.W.-1, Vijay Karan deposed that his sister Meena was married to Dinesh Kumar, son of Bade Lal, resident of Barauwa Bhadauli, Gilaula police station, Shravasti, six years prior to the incident, according to Hindu customs. The marriage was performed as per the satisfaction of the groom side and they gave a dowry for an amount of ₹2,26,000/- in cash and other household goods at her sister's wedding, as per their family status. Within a year of the wedding, he performed his sister's Gauna ceremony. After his sister's Gauna ceremony, her husband Dinesh Kumar, her father-in-law Bade Lal, her brother-in-law's Sheshraj and Nanbabu and her mother-in-law-Bitta Devi were unhappy with the dowry given. They further demanded a motorcycle and ₹1,00,000/- in cash. However, when his family was unable to meet the dowry demand of in-laws of his sister, they subjected her to physical and mental harassment. Whenever his sister visited her parental home, she informed him about the demand of motorcycle and ₹1,00,000/- in cash. Whenever he visited his sister at her matrimonial home, she would inform him of the dowry demands from the Appellants.

Meanwhile, his sister gave birth to a baby girl (Soni). During this period, his sister again told his wife (P.W.-2) over the phone that her in-laws were harassing for dowry and that they would one day kill her and her daughter for the sake of dowry. P.W-1 also deposed that his wife over the phone explained his sister (deceased -Meena) that Nand Kishore, their younger brother was ill and was undergoing treatment in Lucknow and as such persuaded and reasoned Meena to somehow manage during this period. The said information was given to P.W-1 over phone as he was at Lucknow at that point of time for the treatment of his younger brother. Subsequently, when he visited his sister's matrimonial home at Barauwa Bhadauli, on meeting his sister, she started crying and complaining that her in-law's would kill her for dowry someday. P.W-1 has deposed further that she thereafter persuaded and explained her Husband -Dinesh Kumar and his family that his brother was unwell presently and that after his recovery, he would fulfill their dowry demands. The witness further deposed that his sister has visited her parental home 5-10 days before the incident and has again cried and told him that her in-laws were harassing her for dowry and has threatened to kill her and her daughter, and her husband - Dinesh would marry another woman. P.W-1 deposed further that on that visit, he had counselled his sister and Dinesh and somehow persuaded Dinesh Kumar and sent his sister along with Dinesh Kumar on that day.

14. The said P.W-1 further deposed that on 13.6.2011, at around 8-9 PM, he received a call from someone in Barauwa village stating that his sister and niece had been murdered with sharp weapons by Dinesh Kumar, Bade Lal Kori, Sheshraj, Nanbabu, and Mrs. Bitta Devi at around 7 pm. On receiving this information, he and his entire family went to his sister's in-laws' house in Barauwa Bhadauli by tractor trolley at 8-9 pm and found the bodies of his sister and her daughter lying in a pool of blood near the dehri/ dahleej/threshold of the thatched house. His sister's throat was slit and there were two injuries on her body and the niece's throat and temple were slit. Her sister's bangles were lying broken nearby and her hair was cut. The police had arrived and many people have gathered and the men of the house were hiding somewhere in the village. P.W.-1 proved the complaint as Exhibit-Ka-1 and the Panchayatnama as Exhibit-Ka-2 and Exhibit-Ka-3. He is a witness of the Inquest/Panchayatnama report prepared by Tehsildar.

15. The said witness in his cross-examination deposed that he had two siblings one brothers and one sister- deceased Meena. His brother- Nand Kishore has also died. He also deposed that on hearing the death of his sister and niece, he along with his mother, father, brother and other 20-30 people of his village had gone to the matrimonial village of his sister. He reached his sister′s matrimonial village after 2 hours of the information and found that there were 40-50 people at the crime-site. He admits that he accompanied the dead bodies for post mortem. He also deposed that there was a quarrel between his family and the in-law of his sister on the very day of marriage for dowry and it was only when Rs. 2,26,000/- was paid that a settlement was arrived. He says that thereafter his sister and his brother-in-law has been visiting his house of and on. He also reiterates that he had visited his sister′s matrimonial home some 8-9 days prior to the unfortunate incident. The witness remained unpreached in his cross-examination and nothing useful was elicited from him during his cross-examination, which could be in favour of the Appellant.

16. Prosecution Witness No. 2/P.W.-2, Smt. Saroj Devi, deposed that the deceased Meena was her sister-in-law (Nanad) and had been married to accused Dinesh, son of Bade Lal, resident of Village Barauwa Bhadauli, Police Station Gilaula, approximately six years prior to the occurrence. She stated that she had attended the marriage and that, at the time of the wedding, the bride's family had provided household articles, clothes, jewellery, furniture and other customary gifts, besides an amount of ₹2,26,000/- in cash towards dowry. P.W.-2 further stated that within one year of the marriage, the customary Gauna ceremony was performed and thereafter, Meena started residing at her matrimonial home. Whenever Meena visited her parental home, she informed that her husband Dinesh, father-in-law Bade Lal, mother-in-law Bitta Devi and brothers-in-law Nanbabu and Sheshraj were persistently demanding an additional dowry consisting of ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle. According to the witness, the family members advised Meena to maintain peace and, whenever her in-laws came to take her back, they counselled them not to harass or torture her and thereafter sent Meena along-with them.

17. P.W.-2 further deposed that Meena had given birth to a female child, namely Soni, who was about fifteen months old at the time of the incident. According to the witness, Meena frequently telephoned her while weeping and complained that her in-laws continued to press for the demand of ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle and subjected her to cruelty on account of non-fulfillment of the said demand. At the relevant time, the witness's brother-in-law was undergoing treatment at Lucknow and the family members were preoccupied with his medical care. Consequently, whenever Meena complained over the telephone, she was advised to somehow tolerate the harassment for the time being, and the witness informed her husband so that he could visit Meena after returning from Lucknow.

18. P.W.-2 further deposed that about eight to ten days prior to the occurrence of the incident, Meena telephoned her in a distressed condition and informed her that the accused persons were threatening that if the demand for ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle was not fulfilled, both she and her daughter would be killed. According to the witness, on the date of occurrence, at about 8.00-9.00 P.M., she received a telephone call from the matrimonial home of Meena, although she could not identify the caller. She was informed that accused Dinesh, Bade Lal, Sheshraj, Nanbabu and Bitta Devi had murdered Meena and her daughter Soni by slitting their throats. Upon receiving the said information, she along with other family members immediately proceeded to the matrimonial home of the deceased, where they found the dead bodies of Meena and her minor daughter lying in a grievously mutilated condition.

In her cross-examination, she withstood her deposition relating to the marriage of the deceased with the Appellant-Husband to have performed six years ago on her own accord. She admits that her husband has a Mobile and she gave a call to him on that Mobile phone. She clarified that deceased Meena called her on the phone of a co-villager named Keshav., who came and told that Meena was being harassed in her matrimonial home. After talking to Meena from the mobile of Keshav, she had also informed P.W.-1, her husband stationed at Lucknow about the harassment of Meena from the Mobile of Keshav. She also clarified that the dowry of Rs. 2,26,000/- was paid after making arrangement of the same from different people. The said amount was collected after selling domestic animals and raising a loan from some people; however, she was not able to name these people. She also deposed that her husband was a farmer and did not know his income. She also has admitted that some time an amount of Rs. 50,000/- is given to her for keeping safely by her husband and sometimes no money comes from him. She remained uncontroverted relating to her going to the deceased′s matrimonial home after hearing of her death, or not having visited the crime scene.

19. Prosecution Witness No. 3/P.W.-3, Rammilan, deposed that his niece was married to Kishore, the real brother of VijayKaran (P.W.-1), and the sister of Kishore had been married to Dinesh. He stated that he had arranged the marriage of Meena with accused Dinesh and was present at the marriage ceremony solemnized about six years before the incident. According to him, he was fully aware of the dowry articles and cash of ₹2,26,000/- given by Chhotey Lal at the time of marriage. The P.W.-3 further deposed that Meena's Gauna was performed within one year of the marriage. Thereafter, her in-laws began demanding an additional dowry of ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle and subjected her to harassment on account of non-fulfilment of the said demand. Meena used to complain that quarrels frequently took place in her matrimonial home over the said demand. The witness stated that the family members attempted to pacify Meena by informing her that her brother was undergoing treatment at Lucknow and, after his recovery, they would make efforts to arrange the demanded amount.

20. P.W.-3 further stated that Meena had an infant daughter, aged about one year at the time of occurrence. According to him, on the date of occurrence at about 8.00 P.M., while he was present at his brother-in-law's house, some villagers informed him that Bade Lal and his sons, namely Dinesh, Sheshraj and Nanbabu, had murdered Meena and her daughter. Upon receiving the information, he immediately went to the house of Bade Lal, where he found the dead bodies of Meena and her daughter lying inside the house. Thereafter, he telephonically informed Meena's brother, Vijay Karan, regarding the incident and requested him to reach the spot immediately.

In his cross-examination, the witness clarified that after visiting Bade Lal′s house, where he saw the dead body of deceased Meena and her 15 months old Baby, he had called Vijay Karan from his own Mobile on the said fateful night. However, he did not go to Bade Lal′s house after informing Vijay Karan about the said incident on the said night. He deposed that on the morning about 8 AM he went for some work of his co-villager- Jay Chand Singh and did no visit the crime-scene. He deposed that there were several villagers present on the crime-spot, but he was not present and as such did not know as to who brought the photographer. He also deposed that the marriage between the deceased Meena and the Appellant- Dinesh Kumar was performed some six years ago. He also confirmed that Meena had informed to him some two months ago, about the dowry demand of the Appellants for rupees one lakh and a motor cycle. The said information was given to him while Meena had gone to her parental home, on which he had told Meena to talk to her father and brother about the said dowry demand.

21. Prosecution Witness No. 4/P.W.-4, Suresh Singh, did not support the prosecution case. In his examination-in-chief, he denied that the Investigating Officer had taken accused Bade Lal, Dinesh Kumar, Sheshraj and Nanbabu to Village Barauwa Bhadauli, in his presence or that any blood-stained sickle had been recovered beneath the threshold of the house of accused Sheshraj at his instance. He further stated that the Investigating Officer had merely obtained his signatures on three or four blank papers.

The P.W.-4, however, admitted that the signatures appearing on documents marked as Paper Nos. A-8/1 to A-8/4 were his signatures, which were exhibited as Exhibits Ka-4, Ka-5 and Ka-6. In view of his departure from his previous statement, he was declared hostile and was cross-examined by the prosecution. During such cross-examination, the witness admitted that the blood-stained sickle had in fact been recovered from beneath the threshold.

In his cross-examination, the said witness although stated that he did not see the recovery of "hasiya", but admitted that the said "hasiya" was lying at a little distance from the dead body. He also deposed that the police had got his signature and that of one Jitendra Singh on a blank paper, but also admits that he had not made any complaint regarding the same to any higher officer of police. He also deposed that he could not see, if the "hasiya" was blood strained or not. He admits that the police had collected the blood strained soil and plain soil from the crime-scene. He also admits his presence on the crime spot after the incident at about 7:30 in the evening and staying there till the parents and other family members of the deceased Meena arrived at the crime-spot.

22. Prosecution Witness No. 5/P.W.-5, Smt. Lakhna Devi, the mother of the deceased Meena, deposed that she had two sons, namely Vijay Karan (P.W.-1) and Nand Kishore, and one daughter, Meena. She stated that Meena had been married to accused Dinesh Kumar, son of Bade Lal, resident of Village Barauwa Bhadauli. According to the witness, whenever Meena visited her parental home after the marriage, she complained that her husband Dinesh, father-in-law Bade Lal, brothers-in-law Sheshraj and Nanbabu, and other members of the matrimonial family were demanding ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle as additional dowry. P.W.-5 stated that at the time of marriage, the family had provided household articles, ornaments and cash amounting to ₹2,26,000/- according to their financial capacity. She further deposed that whenever her son Vijay Karan visited Meena at her matrimonial home, he returned and informed the family that Meena was being subjected to physical assault and harassment by the accused persons on account of non-fulfillment of the dowry demand. P.W.-5 further stated that Meena had a daughter named Soni, who was approximately fifteen months old at the time of the incident. According to P.W.-5, accused Dinesh occasionally visited the parental home of Meena and whenever he visited, P.W.-5 used to repeatedly request Dinesh to take proper care of her daughter and maintain cordial relations in view of the fact that they already had a child. She stated that on one occasion Meena telephoned and complained that the accused persons were persistently demanding ₹1,00,000/- and a motorcycle. As the witness herself could not speak to Meena, her daughter-in-law attended the call and advised Meena to somehow continue living in her matrimonial home. At the relevant time, her son was at Lucknow in connection with medical treatment of her other son, and after his return he visited Meena's matrimonial home, brought her to the parental house and found her weeping inconsolably. Thereafter, after counselling both Meena and accused Dinesh, she was again sent back to her matrimonial home.

P.W.-5 further deposed that on the date of occurrence, at about 8.00 P.M., she received telephonic information that both her daughter Meena and granddaughter Soni had been murdered. Upon receiving the information, she, along with her family members, travelled by tractor-trolley to Village Barauwa Bhadauli. On reaching the spot, she found that Meena had sustained deep incised injuries on her neck, armpit and back, while Soni had suffered grievous cut injuries on her neck and cheek, with flesh hanging from the wounds. Thereafter, she proceeded to Police Station Gilaula, along with her son Vijay Karan, where the First Information Report was lodged. Subsequently, they returned to the place of occurrence, where the police had already reached, and the dead bodies were thereafter sent to Bahraich for post-mortem examination on the following morning.

In her cross-examination, the said witness supported the prosecution case and the factum of phone call having received by her daughter-in-law by deceased Meena about demand of dowry. She also confirmed that her daughter-in-law has accordingly called her son Vijay Karan and informed about the dowry demand. She although has stated that both deceased Meena and Dinesh used to visit her house of and on and there was no fight between Dinesh and Vijay Karan or her other son, but she also deposed that the dowry demand of Rs. One lakh and a motorcycle was told to her by her deceased daughter Meena. She also confirmed her visit at the crime-spot along with other family members. She also told that at the spot, she was told by the appellant-Dinesh that he killed Meena because of dowry.

23. Prosecution witness / P.W.-6, Sudama Verma is a formal witness and has proved Panchayatnama, sample seal, letter to R.I., letter of C.M.O and Police Form, which are Exhibit-Ka-8 and Exhibit-Ka-17. The deposition of the said witness remained intact during his cross-examination.

24. Prosecution witness / P.W.-7, Dr. Sarvesh Kumar Shukla stated in his evidence that the post-mortem of the deceased Meena Devi, aged about 25 years, wife of Dinesh Kumar, resident of Barkhya Bhadauli, Police Station Gilaula, District Shravasti, which was brought by Constable Shobh Singh and Constable Ram Prakash Singh, was conducted by him on 12-6-2011 at 12:45 PM. The body was of normal height, with Rigor Mortis present in both hands and feet, eyes closed, and mouth half open. The body had the following injuries:

"1. Incised wound of 19 cm x 3.6 cm upto bone deep present over back of Neck extending Rt Ear to left Ear under bone (Cervical vertebra) 2nd and 3rd cut margin clean cut

2. Multiple Incised wound present over back of Neck just below Injury No 1 of varying size 7 cm x 0.5 cm to 3 cm x 0.2 cm Skin and muscle deep Margin clean cut and everted."

P.W.-7 deposed that the body was of average height, with Rigor Mortis present in the hands and feet. The eyes were slightly open. The post-mortem surgeon opined that the cause of death of the deceased Meena Devi was coma resulting from the ante-mortem injuries sustained by her. According to the medical opinion, the death had occurred approximately one day prior to the post-mortem examination, placing the probable time of death at about 7:00 p.m. on 11.06.2011, which was consistent with the prosecution case regarding the time of occurrence. The P.W.-7 further deposed that all the injuries found on the body of the deceased had been caused by a sharp-edged weapon. P.W.-7 clarified that a sickle, being a sharp-edged cutting instrument, was capable of causing the injuries noticed during the post-mortem examination and, therefore, the possibility of the injuries having been inflicted by such a weapon could not be ruled out.

25. P.W.-7 further deposed that on the same day, at about 1:15 p.m., the post-mortem examination of the body of the deceased Soni, a female child aged about 15 months, was conducted by him. The body had been brought for post-mortem examination by the aforesaid police constables. During the external examination, P.W.-7 found that the body was of average build. Rigor mortis was present in both the upper and lower limbs, and the eyes were found to be partially open. On examination, the following ante-mortem injuries were noted on the body of the deceased:

"1. Incised wound of 11 cm x 2 cm x bone deep present on Right face Neck extremities from 2 cm lateral to angle of mouth upto mid line on back of Neck underlying Vertebra muscle and vessel exposed.

2. Three Incised wound of each size varrying from 4 cm x 5 cm bone deep present on top of Rt Shoulder."

The Medical Officer opined that the deceased had died due to shock and haemorrhage resulting from the ante-mortem injuries sustained on her body. The doctor further stated that the injuries were consistent with those caused by a sharp-edged weapon, and the possibility of having been inflicted by a sickle could not be ruled out. The post-mortem reports pertaining to the deceased Meena Devi and the deceased Soni were duly proved and exhibited as Exhibits Ka-18 and Ka-19, respectively.

The deposition of the said witness remained intact during his cross-examination.

26. Prosecution witness/P.W.-8, Additional Superintendent of Police Swaminath, who is the Investigating Officer of the present case, has proved the site map Exhibit-Ka-20 and charge sheet Exhibit-Ka-21. The deposition of the said witness remained intact during his cross-examination, except that he stated that the complainant did not give any definite date of marriage, all the statements recorded in the charge-sheet are not in his hand-writing and that the recovery of the weapon was not made in his presence.

27. Prosecution witness / P.W.-9, Constable Hazari Prasad Bhaskar is a formal witness, who has proved the Chik First Information Report as Exhibit-Ka-22 and copy G.D. as Exhibit-Ka-23. The deposition of the said witness remained intact during his cross-examination.

28. After recording the statement of the Prosecution Witnesses, the statement of the Accused-husband was recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C., wherein all the circumstances were put to them, to which he denied. The Accused-husband, when asked the axiomatic question as to why the present case has been filed against him, he claimed innocence and having been falsely implicated. He also stated that there was no demand of dowry at the time of marriage. According to him, the murder of his wife and child had been done by unknown person, while trying to sexually assault the deceased, which was duly informed by him to his wife′s parents, for which they had arrived immediately after the incident on that very day. He stated that his brother-in-law- Vijay Karam demanded Rs. 5 lakhs, however, due to his poverty he could not pay the said amount and as such a false case was lodged against him by the said Vijay Karan. He had also informed the police, but however due to greed of money, they also did not help him. As far as the other Appellants are concerned, all of them claimed that they have been falsely implicated and that they are innocent. Although, the Appellants were permitted to produce evidence in defence, however, it seems none of the accused/appellants produced any defence witnesses in their support.

29. After considering the submissions advanced on behalf of the prosecution and the defence, and upon a comprehensive appraisal of the oral as well as documentary evidence available on record, the learned Trial Court recorded a finding that the prosecution had succeeded in establishing its case beyond reasonable doubt. The Trial Court held that the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses were cogent, reliable and duly corroborated by the documentary and medical evidence, thereby completing the entire chain of circumstances in a consistent and unbroken manner. The medical opinion tendered by the doctor was also found to be trustworthy and in consonance with the prosecution case.

30. The learned Trial Court further examined the evidence, in the light of the essential ingredients required to constitute an offence punishable under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code. It observed that three foundational facts were required to be established by the prosecution, namely:

(i) that the death of the deceased had occurred within seven years of her marriage;

(ii) that the death was otherwise than under normal circumstances; and

(iii) that soon before her death, the deceased had been subjected to cruelty or harassment in connection with a demand for dowry.

31. Upon an analysis of the evidence on record, the learned Trial Court concluded that all the aforesaid ingredients stood duly established. It recorded a finding that the deceased had died within seven years of her marriage and that her death had occurred under unnatural circumstances. The Trial Court further held that the prosecution had successfully proved that the deceased was subjected to cruelty and harassment in connection with the demand for dowry soon before her death. Consequently, the statutory presumption under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act became applicable. The learned Trial Court further observed that the appellants had failed to furnish any plausible explanation regarding the circumstances in which the deceased met with her unnatural death within the privacy of her matrimonial home. In the absence of any satisfactory explanation, the burden cast upon the appellants under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act remained undischarged.

32. In view of the aforesaid findings, the learned Trial Court held that the prosecution had proved the guilt of the appellants beyond reasonable doubt and, accordingly, recorded their conviction and sentenced all the Appellants in the following manner:

(i) under Section 304 B I.P.C. for life imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 5,000/-, and in default of payment of a fine to undergo an additional imprisonment for 5 months;

(ii) under Section 498-A I.P.C. for two years′ imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 1,000/-, and in default of payment of fine, to undergo an additional a month′s imprisonment; and

(iii) under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act for six months′ imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 500/- and in default of payment of the fine, to undergo an additional a month′s imprisonment.

33. However, all these appellants have been acquitted under Sections 147, 148, 302 I.P.C. read with Section 149 I.P.C.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THIS COURT

34. Challenging the aforesaid impugned Judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 19.10.2016, the present appeals being Criminal Appeal Nos. 1768 of 2016 and 1773 of 2016 came to be filed by the appellants.

35. With respect to the bail applications filed in the Criminal Appeal No. 1768 of 2016, the first bail application filed by the appellants was rejected by this Court vide an order dated 30.01.2018, passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 108505 of 2016.

Subsequently, the second bail application filed by the appellants also came to be rejected by this Court vide an order dated 25.01.2023, passed in Criminal Misc. Application No. (I.A.) 05 of 2023.

The third bail application, on behalf of the appellants came to be filed on 12.04.2024, in Criminal Misc. Application No. (I.A.) 06 of 2024. However, while arguing the third bail application, learned Counsel for the appellants submitted that he is not willing to address the bail application on merits and rather wishes to address his arguments on the appeals and, therefore, the bail application may be dismissed as not pressed. Resultantly, the third bail application of the appellants came to be dismissed being not pressed, vide an order dated 08.12.2025.

36. Similarly, in Criminal Appeal No. 1773 of 2016, the first bail application filed by the appellants was dismissed being not pressed by this Court vide an order dated 30.01.2018, passed in Criminal Misc. Case No.108517 of 2016.

Subsequently, the second bail application filed by the appellants also came to be dismissed for want of prosecution by this Court vide an order dated 29.09.2022, passed in Criminal Misc. Application No.143124 of 2018.

Thereafter, the third bail application, on behalf of the appellants came to be filed on 17.01.2023, in Criminal Misc. Application No. 10 of 2023. The third bail application filed on behalf of the appellants - Bitta Devi and Bade Lal Kori was allowed by a Co-ordinate bench of this Court vide an order dated 25.01.2023 and therefore, both the Appellants of the Criminal Appeal No. 1773 of 2016 are presently on bail.

37. It is also pertinent to mention at this point that taking into account the Custody Certificate dated 08.11.2025 filed the prosecution, the total period of sentence served including remission, by the appellants can be depicted in the following tabular chart:

Appellant	Actual years of custody	Year of Custody including remission
Dinesh Kumar (Husband)	15 Years 1 Month	Above 18 Years (17 Years 11 Months 21 Days)
Sheshraj (Brother-in-law)	15 Years 1 Month	Above 18 Years (17 Years 11 Months 21 Days)
NanBabu (Brother-in-law)	11 Years 5 Months 13 Days	14 Years 3 Months 19 Days
Bade Lal Kori	11 Years 8 Months	13 Years 3 Months

(Father-in-law)	5 Days	17 Days
Bitta Devi (Mother-in-law)	8 Years 1 Months 3 Days	9 Years 8 Months 15 Days

SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF THE PARTIES

38. At the very outset, the learned Counsel for the appellants highlighted the long incarceration of the appellants namely, Dinesh Kumar and Sheshraj. who have undergone more than 17 years of custody (including remission), Nanbabu more than 14 years, Bitta Devi more than 8 years and Badey Lal more than 11 years, as well as to the fact that the parents-in-law are aged about 62 years and are suffering from various old-age ailments. According to the learned Counsel, even if the conviction of the appellants are upheld, it is available from the records that each of the appellants have already suffered a sentence of more than seven years, which is the minimum sentence prescribed under Section 304 I.P.C. and there is no reasoning by the learned Trial Court for imposing the gravest punishment of life, which according to the learned Counsel can be given in a rarest of the rare case. Thus, it has been submitted that the present appeals may be partly allowed for the ends of justice. In order to buttress his arguments, reliance has been placed on the dictum of the hon'ble Supreme Court, rendered in the cases of V.K. Mishra v. State of Uttarakhand, reported in (2015) 9 SCC 588; and Hem Chand v. State of Haryana, reported in (1994) 6 SCC 727; State of Karnataka v. M.V. Manjunathegowda, reported in (2003) 2 SCC 188; and G.V. Siddaramesh v. State of Karnataka, reported in (2010) 3 SCC 152; to contend that maximum sentence of life imprisonment was not warranted in the facts of the present case.

39. On the merits of the present case, the Learned Counsel for the appellants has strenuously argued that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the ingredients of Section 304- B I.P.C., particularly the crucial requirement of cruelty or harassment "soon before death" in connection with dowry demand. It has been submitted that there are only general and omnibus allegations of demand of dowry and cruelty in the F.I.R. and in the depositions of the prosecution witnesses, with no specific allegation or role attributed to any individual appellant. It has been further contended that there is no cogent and reliable evidence establishing any demand of dowry or cruelty meted out to the deceased immediately preceding her death. The evidence of all the fact witnesses (P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5) is replete with improvements, contradictions and is largely hearsay, as none of them had witnessed any direct demand of dowry.

40. Learned Counsel for the appellants has also highlighted that the exact date of marriage has not been disclosed with precision and as such the same has to be to the advantage of the defence. It is next submitted that the F.I.R. is ante-timed and manipulated. P.W.-1 has admitted in his cross-examination that they reached the spot at about 11:00 PM on 11.06.2011, whereas the F.I.R. was lodged at 00:30 hrs on 12.06.2011. The distance between the police station and the place of occurrence being 15 kms, the timing raises serious doubt about the promptness and genuineness of the F.I.R.

41. Learned Counsel for the appellants has also submitted that the name of the person who allegedly informed the informant's family about the incident through telephone has not been disclosed by any witness. Keshav, on whose mobile phone the deceased had allegedly complained of cruelty, has also not been examined. There are contradictions regarding the financial arrangements of the Rs. 2,26,000/- made at the time of marriage between P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. Furthermore, the recovery of the 'Hasiya' at the instance of appellant Sheshraj is highly doubtful because P.W.-4 (Suresh Singh), the recovery witness, has turned hostile and has not supported the prosecution case. Moreover, the weapon was never shown to the doctor (P.W.-7, Dr. Sarvesh Kumar Shukla), who categorically stated in his cross-examination that he could not opine whether the injuries were caused by the recovered 'Hasiya' or any particular sharp weapon.

42. Learned Counsel for the appellants has argued that P.W.-5 (Smt. Lakhna Devi, mother of the deceased) has deposed about a cordial relationship between the parties and has denied any demand of dowry. The medical evidence does not fully support the prosecution story regarding the weapon used. The entire case rests on circumstantial evidence with no direct evidence of the appellants' involvement in the crime.

43. It has been lastly argued that the findings of the learned Trial Court are perverse, based on assumptions, and suffer from misreading of evidence. The prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the appellants deserve to be acquitted.

44. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing for the State has submitted that the impugned judgment is well-reasoned and based on proper appreciation of evidence. The prosecution has successfully established that the death of the deceased Smt. Meena Devi and her minor daughter Kumari Soni occurred within seven years of marriage under unnatural circumstances in the matrimonial home. It has been submitted that the consistent oral evidence of P.W.-1 (brother), P.W.-2 (bhabhi), P.W.-3 (relative) and P.W.-5 (mother) clearly establishes persistent demand of dowry and cruelty by all the appellants soon before the death. Minor contradictions and improvements in the testimony of interested witnesses, who are natural witnesses, do not demolish the core of the prosecution case.

45. It has been further argued that with respect to the date of marriage, the Trial Court has correctly relied upon the statements made during the examination-in-chief and other attending circumstances to hold that the marriage took place within seven years. Any minor discrepancy in cross-examination does not outweigh the overall evidence.

46. It has been further contented that the F.I.R. was lodged promptly after the informant reached the spot and received information about the incident. The slight variation in timing is natural and does not render the F.I.R ante-timed, especially when the distance to the police station is 15 kms. Non-examination of the informant's source or Keshav is not fatal, as the deceased's complaints to her family members have been consistently proved. Also, the recovery of the blood-stained crime weapon 'Hasiya' at the instance of appellant Sheshraj, even if P.W.-4 turned hostile, is supported by other circumstances and the Investigating Officer. The doctor (P.W.-7) has confirmed the injuries to be incised wounds caused by a sharp-edged weapon, consistent with the use of a 'Hasiya'.

47. Learned A.G.A. has further submitted that the presumption under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act has been rightly drawn against the appellants, in view of the death occurring in the matrimonial home within seven years of marriage coupled with evidence of cruelty and dowry demand soon before the incident. The medical evidence fully supports the prosecution case regarding the homicidal nature of the deaths of the deceased.

48. Lastly, it has been argued that the appellants have been rightly convicted on the basis of the material available on record. The sentences awarded to the appellants are commensurate with the gravity of the offence i.e. a brutal double murder, involving a young mother and her infant daughter, in a dowry-related crime. The long custody period and age of the appellants do not justify interference with the conviction of the appellants.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

49. Heard Shri Dhananjay Kumar Singh, learned Counsel appearing for and on behalf of the accused/appellants, as well as Shri S.P. Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing for and on behalf of the State- respondent. This Court has given its anxious thoughts to the facts and the submissions made by both the parties and perused the material available on records.

50. Admittedly, the present case is related to dowry death, of a young lady of 25 years and her infant daughter of 15 months, who had been done to death in their own home, wherein they ought to have thought of being fully secured and protected. The greed of dowry knows no limits and turns human being to beast and they can go to any extent. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in its Judgment titled In Re: Enforcement and Implementation of Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, reported in (2005) 4 SCC 565; made the following observation relevant to the context:

"10. When there is failure on the part of the Executive to strictly implement a law like the one in question, enacted to tackle a social problem which has assumed menacing proportions, the Court has a duty to step in with a mandamus to direct its implementation rigorously and effectively. In that context, we find that it is necessary to step in and issue some more directions to the respondents in addition to incorporating the directions already issued by this Court by way of interim measure as part of this final judgment.

11. Therefore, in addition to directing the respondents to implement all the interim directions which were issued in this case thus far, we further direct the Union of India and the States to take more effective steps to implement the provisions of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 with particular reference to Sections 3 and 4 thereof and the various rules framed thereunder. In that process, they are also directed to activate the Dowry Prohibition Officers. We also direct the Central Government to frame rules under Section 9(2)(b) of the Act if it has not already been framed. We direct the respondents to take steps to ensure that submitting of the list as contemplated by the Act and the Rules is strictly implemented. We direct the Union of India and the State Governments to consider whether appropriate rules cannot be framed for compelling males, seeking govt. employment, to furnish information on whether they had taken dowry and if taken, whether the same has been made over to the wife as contemplated by Section 6 of the Act, calling for such information also from those already in employment. Since, it is also necessary to arouse the conscience of the people against the demand and acceptance of dowry, we also direct the Union of India and the State Governments to take steps for the effective stepping up of Anti Dowry Literacy among the people through Lok Adalats, Radio Broadcasts, Television, and Newspapers.

These directions will be implemented and continue to be implemented rigorously by the respondents.

12. The conscience of the society needs to be fully awakened to the evils of the dowry system so that the demand for dowry itself should lead to loss of face in the society for those who demand it. We have no doubt that our young and enlightened women would rise to the occasion to fight the evil which tends to make them articles of commerce. We also hope that our educated young males would refuse to be sold in the marriage market and come forward to choose their partners in life in a fair manner.

13. The establishment of a committed and sincere machinery to implement the Act and the Rules can hasten the eradication of the evil. The Union of India and the State Governments are directed to devise means to create honest, efficient and committed machinery for the purpose of implementation of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 and the various Rules framed thereunder.″

51. Even after lapse of more than 21 years, since the aforesaid Judgment has been passed by the Hon′ble Supreme Court, the social and cultural menace of dowry has refused to recede from our society. The so called cultural practice of dowry, which was to ordinarily support the newly wedded couple, has now resulted in assigning a secondary status to women leading to various social ills, which often forces a woman to continue in abusive marriages either due to family or peer pressure or at times due to her own accord, resulting sometime to grave results of death.

52. This Court finds that the aforesaid Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, which made the offering or accepting of dowry illegal, remained ineffective as the practice of dowry thrived unabated with some expedition, however, during the supervening period Section 498A I.P.C. came to be inserted in the year 1983, which made the ill-treatment of women by her husband or in-laws, a punishable offence. Apparently, the said insertion also did not make much wonders, leaving the legislature to enact more stringent and heavier provision for curbing the said menace of dowry, leading to the insertion of Section 304B in the Indian Penal Code, which made dowry death punishable for a minimum sentence of 7 years and also a maximum punishment for life and raised a presumption against the person for all kinds of unnatural deaths, if the same has been occasioned within seven years of marriage, under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act. Both these Sections were inserted in the year 1986 and ever since then, contrary to the ordinary fundamental cannon of criminal jurisprudence of 'presumption of innocence′ that prosecution ought to proof the case beyond reasonable doubt stands transformed to 'presumption of guilt,′ if certain conditions are fulfilled as per Section 304B of the I.P.C. for culpability of the accused person. The law states that a foundational fact has to be merely proved against the accused person and by virtue of the legal presumption, the burden of proof stands shifted to the accused to prove his innocence by explanation and evidentiary proof, in view of Section 113 B of the Indian Evidence Act.

53. The landmark case on this issue is the judgment of the Hon′ble Supreme Court in the case of Kashmir Kaur v. State of Punjab, reported in (2012) 13 SCC 627; wherein the Apex Court after tracing the law and various judgments on dowry death, culled out the following principles at paragraph 17 of the said judgment as follows:

"17. From the above decisions the following principles can be culled out:

17.1. To attract the provisions of Section 304-B IPC the main ingredient of the offence to be established is that soon before the death of the deceased she was subjected to cruelty and harassment in connection with the demand of dowry.

17.2. The death of the deceased woman was caused by any burn or bodily injury or some other circumstance which was not normal.

17.3. Such death occurs within seven years from the date of her marriage.

17.4. That the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband.

17.5. Such cruelty or harassment should be for or in connection with demand of dowry.

17.6. It should be established that such cruelty and harassment was made soon before her death.

17.7. The expression "soon before" is a relative term and it would depend upon circumstances of each case and no straitjacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence.

17.8. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act.

17.9. Therefore, the expression "soon before" would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the cruelty or harassment concerned and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate or live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the death concerned. In other words, it should not be remote in point of time and thereby make it a stale one.

17.10. However, the expression "soon before" should not be given a narrow meaning which would otherwise defeat the very purpose of the provisions of the Act and should not lead to absurd results.

17.11. Section 304-B is an exception to the cardinal principles of criminal jurisprudence that a suspect in the Indian law is entitled to the protection of Article 20 of the Constitution, as well as, a presumption of innocence in his favour. The concept of deeming fiction is hardly applicable to criminal jurisprudence but in contradistinction to this aspect of criminal law, the legislature applied the concept of deeming fiction to the provisions of Section 304-B.

17.12. Such deeming fiction resulting in a presumption is, however, a rebuttable presumption and the husband and his relatives, can, by leading their defence prove that the ingredients of Section 304-B were not satisfied.

17.13. The specific significance to be attached is to the time of the alleged cruelty and harassment to which the victim was subjected, the time of her death and whether the alleged demand of dowry was in connection with the marriage. Once the said ingredients are satisfied it will be called "dowry death" and by deemed fiction of law the husband or the relatives will be deemed to have committed that offence."

54. Keeping the above principles in mind, this Court proceeds to marshal the evidence and material brought on record by the prosecution, so as to examine the culpability of the appellants under Section 304B I.P.C., 498A I.P.C. read with Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961.

55. Having already noted the Evidence brought on records of the present case, we find that P.W.-1 (Vijay Karan) is the brother of the deceased, P.W.-2 (Saroj Devi) is the sister-in-law/Bhabi,

P.W.-3(Ram Milan) is the mediator of the marriage between the deceased and Appellant/Dinesh (Husband), who is also the co-villager of the Appellants, P.W.-5 (Lakhna Devi) is the mother of the deceased. These are the fact witness of the case and a meaningful reading of their statement does not show any kind of inconsistency.

P.W.-1 is the de-facto complainant of the F.I.R. and has stated that he got his sister (deceased-Meena) married to Dinesh (Appellant No.1 of Criminal Appeal No. 1768 of 2016) about six years prior to the incident. He stated that dowry amount of Rs. 2,26,000/- was arranged and made during the marriage of the deceased as per his family's capability. He has further deposed that thereafter additional dowry demand of Rs. 1,00,000/- and a Motorcycle was made by the Appellants and the said dowry not having been paid by him due to the ongoing medical expenses of his brother being carried at Lucknow, his sister was killed. According to P.W.-1, he had visited his sister's matrimonial home and it was with great pampering and effort that he sought some time from the Appellants and the Husband of the deceased namely, Dinesh Kumar for fulfilling the demand of dowry. According to P.W.-1, his sister was harassed and beaten at her matrimonial home for not bringing the said dowry of Rs. 1,00,000/- and a motor cycle, which was told to him by his sister and even his wife (P.W.-2) over mobile phone, when he was at Lucknow. The said witness has also stated that his deceased-sister was done to death along with her daughter of 15 months brutally with a Sickle in the night of 11.06.2011. He has exhibited the written Tehrir (Exhibit- Ka-1) and confirmed the date of incident and place of incident being the matrimonial home of the deceased. The version of this witness remained intact, although, he has been put to extensive cross-examination. There appears to be no inconsistency in the statement made by the said witness.

Similarly, P.W.-2 (Saroj Devi) is the sister-in-law/ Bhabi of the deceased. She has stated that her sister-in-law/Nanad was married to convict-Dinesh Six years before the incident. She also supported the version of demand of dowry of Rs. 100000/- and a Motor cycle and deposed that the deceased have been continuously harassed by her in-laws for that said reason. She stated that her deceased Nanad had told her that she was being beaten for not brining the said dowry.

In her cross-examination, P.W.-2 states :

"मीना के मृत्यु के आठ-दस दिन पहले मेरे यहां फोन आया था। मीना रो-रो कर कह रही थी कि मेरे ससुराल वाले, मेरे पति कह रहे है कि मां-बेटी को काट डालेगें नही तो एक लाख रूपये व एक मोटर साइकिल अपने मयके वालों से मगवाओ।)"

P.W.-3 (Ram Milan) is the mediator of marriage between the deceased-Meena and Dinesh. The said witness is also the relative of the P.W.-1 and a co-villager of the Appellants. He has supported the case of the prosecution and deposed in his examination-in-chief:

"मीना के ससुराल वाले मीना के मायके वालों से एक गाड़ी व एक लाख रूपये मांग रहे थे। अतिरिक्त दान दहेज न देने पर उसे प्रताड़ित करते थे। मीना बताती थी कि दहेज के वावत लड़ाई झगड़ा करते है। हम लोगों ने मीना को समझाया कि तुम्हारे भाई की तबीयत खराब चल रहा है और उनका दवा

लखनऊ चल रहा है, हो सकता है कि जब वो ठीक हो जाय तो इधर उधर से रूपये का इन्तजाम करके तुम्हारे ससुराल वालों को दे दें।"

P.W.-5 (Lakhna Devi) is the mother of the deceased -Meena Devi. She has supported the case of the prosecution and deposed in her cross-examination:

"एक लाख रूपये व एक मोटर साइकिल मांगने की बात मुझसे मीना ने बताई थी। यह बात मुझसे मीना ने गौने से विदा होने के बाद जब तीसरे दिन अपने ससुराल से मेरे यहाँ आई तब बताई थी। इसके पहले इस बात की जानकारी हम लोगों को नही थी। तभी दिनेश को समझा बुझा दिया था। जब छः साल बाद मरने की सूचना आई तब दिनेश कुमार ने कहा इसी वजह से मीना को मार डाला है।)"

56. The statements of all these four fact-witness appears to be natural and their statement remained intact, although they were subjected to extensive cross-examination. This witness stood the test of veracity and this Court does not find any reason to disbelieve the version of the brother, sister-in-law and Mother, who had lost their beloved 25 years old married sister/daughter, in the hands of menace of dowry.

57. Further, P.W.-6 (Sudama Verma) is the Naib Thesildar, who has proved the Inquest report of deceased Meena Devi as Exhibit- Ka-2 and that of 15 months old daughter (Soni) of deceased as Exhibit- Ka-3, to have been written in his own hand-writing. The said witness along with other witnesses, visited the crime spot and on his instruction recovery memo was prepared by the concerned Police station and the dead bodies were was sent for post-mortem. The said report mentions the date, time and place of dead bodies recovered at the matrimonial village. It also mentions that pieces of broken bangles and hair and lot of blood was also found at the crime site. As far as the status of the body is concerned, the said report mentioned that the body was found lying inside a khapral/thatched house at the very threshold. P.W.-6 gathered information to the effect that the in-laws have killed the deceased and her innocent daughter due to non-fulfillment of dowry demand. Body had large incised wound on the neck. Altogether five panchas have signed the panchayatnama and all of them opined that the deceased had been killed with a sharp weapon by her in-laws for nonfulfillment of dowry demand. Therefore, there is no dispute relating to the place of recovery of the dead bodies.

58. On the conspectus of the aforesaid evidence, the following uncontroverted facts evolve from the aforesaid version of the fact witness, P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 P.W.-5 and P.W.-6:

(a) The marriage of deceased with the convict- Dinesh was solemnized six years before the incident and as such the incident of death was within seven years of marriage;

(b) The dead body of the deceased was found at her matrimonial home, as proved by the Inquest report (Exhibit Ka-2 and Ka-3) and Site plan (Exhibit- Ka-20).

(c) There was demand of dowry immediately (9-10 days) before the incident of death. The demand of dowry of Rs. 1,00,000/- and motor cycle existed even before 9-10 days of death of the deceased i.e. soon before her death.

59. Before proceeding any further, this Court is conscious that the usage of the word "soon" in Section 304B I.P.C. ought not to be interpreted in terms of days or months or years, but as necessarily should indicate that the demand of dowry should not be stale or an aberration of the past, but rather should be a continuing cause for the death under Section 304B of the I.P.C. However, on an appreciation of the evidence of P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5, it is apparent that the demand of dowry was within 10 days of the death of the deceased and as such it can be well construed that the demand of dowry was "soon before her death".

60. The next question which falls for our consideration is the cause of death because Section 304B of the I.P.C. prescribed that death should be otherwise than under normal circumstances. It would be profitable to quote Section 304 B I.P.C., which inter-alia states:

"304B. Dowry death.-- (1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation. For the purposes of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).*

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life."

61. As far as the cause of death of the deceased persons are concerned, there is no dispute that the injuries sustained by them were not natural. The injuries recorded by the doctor, who conducted and proved the post mortem report (Exhibits Ka-18 and Ka-19) i.e. P.W.-7 (Dr. Sarvesh Kumar Shukla) deposed as follows:

*"Injuries of deceased- Meena:

1. Incised wound of 19 cm x 3.6 cm upto bone deep present over back of Neck extending Rt Ear to left Ear under bone (Cervical vertebra) 2nd and 3rd cut margin clean cut*

2. Multiple Incised wound present over back of Neck just below Injury No 1 of varying size 7 cm x 0.5 cm to 3 cm x 0.2 cm Skin and muscle deep Margin clean cut and everted."*

The post-mortem surgeon opined that the cause of death of the deceased Meena Devi was coma resulting from the ante-mortem injuries sustained by her. The P.W.-7 further deposed that all the injuries found on the body of the deceased had been caused by a sharp-edged weapon. P.W.-7 clarified that a sickle, being a sharp-edged cutting instrument, was capable of causing the injuries noticed during the post-mortem examination and, therefore, the possibility of the injuries having been inflicted by such a weapon could not be ruled out.

As far as injuries sustained by the 15-month-old baby (Soni) is concerned, the said P.W.-7 enumerated the following injuries:

"1. Incised wound of 11 cm x 2 cm x bone deep present on Right face Neck extremities from 2 cm lateral to angle of mouth upto mid line on back of Neck underlying Vertebra muscle and vessel exposed.

2. Three Incised wound of each size varrying from 4 cm x 5 cm bone deep present on top of Rt Shoulder."*

The doctor further stated that the injuries were consistent with those caused by a sharp-edged weapon, and the possibility of having been inflicted by a Sickle could not be ruled out.

Further, the said injuries also find support from the Inquest report proved by P.W.-6 (Sudama Verma), Naib Tehsildar, who exhibited and proved the same as Exhibit- Ka-2 and Ka-3. The P.W.-6 along with other witnesses of the Panchayatnama (Inquest), visited the crime spot and on his instruction recovery memo was prepared by the concerned Police station and the dead bodies were sent for post-mortem. The said report mentions the date, time and place of dead bodies recovered at the matrimonial house. It also mentions that pieces of broken bangles and hair and lot of blood at the crime scene. As far as the status of the body is concerned, the said report mentioned that the body was found lying inside a khapral/ thatched house at the very threshold. He gathered information to the effect that the in-laws have killed the deceased and her innocent daughter due to non-fulfillment of dowry demand. Body had large incised wound on the neck. Even, the five panchas have signed the panchayatnama and all of them opined that the deceased had been killed with a sharp weapon by her in-laws for nonfulfillment of dowry demand.

62. In view of the above, for the cause of death, we find that the death having been caused otherwise than under normal circumstances, an important ingredient to attract the penal provision of Section 304B of the I.P.C is proved against the Appellants.

63. The moment, we arrive at a proposition that the death of the deceased- Meena Devi has occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances, within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and therefore, such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

64. Once the presence of this concomitants are established or shown or proved by the prosecution even to their foundational effect by preponderance of possibility, the initial presumption of innocence is faded and replaced by an assumption of guilt by the deeming provision of law, thereby shifting the burden of proof upon the guilty to dislodge his guilt beyond reasonable doubt as per Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act, which inter-alia states as herein under:

"113B. Presumption as to dowry death.-- When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman had been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death.*

Explanation: For the purposes of this section, dowry death shall have the same meaning as in section 304B of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

65. As far as the explanation and evidence led by the convict to dispel the presumption raised against them under Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act is concerned, this Court does not find any witness has been produced by the Appellants in defence. The Accused-husband, when asked in his statement recorded under Section 313 of the Criminal Procedure Code, as to why the present case has been filed against him, he claimed innocence and having been falsely implicated. The Appellant-Husband claimed that, when he married the deceased there was no demand of dowry. According to him, the murder of his wife and child had been done by unknown person, while trying to sexually assault the deceased, which was duly informed by him to his wife's parents, for which they had arrived immediately after the incident on that very day. He further stated that his brother-in-law- Vijay Karan demanded Rs. 5 lakhs, however, due to his poverty he could not pay the said amount and as such a false case was lodged against the said Vijay Karan after advice. The Accused-husband had also stated in his statement that although he had informed the police, but however due to greed of money, the police also did not helped him. As far as the other Appellants are concerned, all of them claimed that they have been falsely implicated and that they are innocent.

66. Although, the Appellants were permitted to produce evidence in defence, however, none of the accused/appellants produced any defence witnesses. There is absolutely no material on record to substantiate the aforesaid assertion of the Appellants as stated by the convict-Husband in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Neither, the husband has lodged any complaint/F.I.R. relating to the alleged sexual assault of his wife and his 15 months old, nor he was able to explain as to how can the said incident take place at about 7 PM in the evening, when the entire village was awake. It is not the case of the Appellants that their house was located in a secluded place or that they were leaving in a Jungle. The said theory is also unbelievable as a person, whose wife and 15-month-old daughter has been murdered would in the first instance try to save them. There is no word from the husband or any of the Appellants, five in number, as to where were they when the alleged attack had happened, wherein the wife and 15-month-old baby was brutally killed by a "hasiya". There is no evidence or any endevour on the part of the husband to save his wife and baby nor any prove as to what steps he had taken after the discovery of two dead bodies in his house. These subsequent conduct of the Husband and the other Appellants is a relevant fact in view of Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act. Further, this Court cannot be oblivious to the fact that there is afresh injury sustained by one of the Devar (Shesh Raj), who got recovered the "Hasiya" on his pointing. There is absolutely no evidence led to explain the said injury.

67. Moreover, it was quite strange that even the noise of the deceased persons while their throat was being cut was not heard by any of its neighbour, although it has come in the site-plan that there are many houses adjoining to the crime spot. There appears to be something amiss and flawed in the statement of the Husband built around the dead body and most importantly, if the story of sexual assault had been, the doctor (P.W.-7), who conducted the post-mortem would have reported of any external struggle or any injury caused. Further, certain provocative question still remains to be answered as to why the assaulter would had cut the hair and why he would have killed the baby? According to this Court, the threshold of presumption under dowry death having been met and the basic foundational fact proved against the appellants. It was incumbent on the Appellants to prove that the death had been caused due to other reasons and not any reason connecting their culpability.

68. Further, this Court also could not shut its eyes to the fact that the Husband ought to be the protector of his wife and 15 months old girl child. It is he who is responsible for their safety and well-being. Further, we cannot be oblivious to the fact that two dead bodies were found at the house of the Appellants and they were unable to give any plausible explanation as is required under Section 108 of the Indian Evidence Act from them.

69. The contention of the learned Counsel for the Appellants that the ingredients of Section 304B I.P.C. have not been proved against the Appellants is misconceived. Once, the foundational facts are proved by the prosecution, there is a presumption in law and as such the burden to prove otherwise lies entirely on the defence i.e. the Appellants herein. Admittedly, no evidence has been led to discharge their burden of proof. As far as the date of marriage is concerned, no doubt no specific dates were available of marriage, but the fact witnesses, namely P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5 have stated that the marriage was six years old. It has also been proved that there was a demand of dowry soon before the death. It was also proved by P.W.-7 that the death was caused not in normal circumstances, therefore this Court does not find any ground as to why the provision of Section 304B I.P.C. cannot be invoked to avail the presumption against the Accused/Appellants, who all are husband and relatives of the husband of the deceased-Meena Devi.

70. The contention of the Appellants that Keshav, on who′s mobile the P.W.-2 was informed by the deceased- Meena, about the dowry demand having been not examined is also not fatal, as we find that besides the said evidence, there are other evidence on record to substantiate that there was a dowry demand by the Appellants. The deposition of P.W.-1 and P.W.-3 as far as the dowry is concerned remained unchallenged. The contradiction relating to the financial arrangement of Rs. 2,26,000/- at the time of marriage, some six years ago amongst the witnesses is not crucial as the law provides to examine as to whether there was any dowry demand soon before the death of the victim or not. Since, it has come in the evidence of P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5 that the demand for dowry was 9-10 days before the said incident, the same has to be construed to be soon before the death of the deceased. As far as the witness of recovery of "Hasiya" i.e. P.W.-4 is concerned, no doubt he has been declared hostile by the prosecution. However, the same is also not fatal as the said witness has himself also told that the 'hasiya′ was lying at "Thodi dur" (little distance) from the dead body, in his cross-examination. As far as the consideration of the evidence/deposition of a hostile witness is concerned, the rejection of the entire testimony of a prosecution witness, who has been cross- examined by the prosecution, would not only harm the case of the prosecution but perhaps also of the defence in a given case. This is because as the law stands today, the benefit of the testimony of such witness can be taken by both the prosecution and the defence, allowing them to use it to build their case [See: Paulmeli v. State of T.N. (2014) 13 SCC 90, Ramesh Harijan v. State of U.P. (2012) 5 SCC 777]. In any case, ultimately, it will be the cause of justice that will suffer if the testimony of such witness is totally discarded. It is, therefore, rightly left to the discretion of the Court to test the evidentiary value of such a testimony.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bhajju v. State of M.P., reported in (2012) 4 SCC 327; discussed the worth of the evidence of a hostile witness in the following words:

"36. It is settled law that the evidence of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon by the prosecution to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version of the incident. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as washed off the records, it remains admissible in trial and there is no legal bar to base the conviction of the accused upon such testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence. Section 154 of the Evidence Act enables the court, in its discretion, to permit the person, who calls a witness, to put any question to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party."

In the present case, we find that P.W.-4, has deposed in his cross-examination that the crime weapon 'hasiya' was lying at "Thodi dur", which means near the body, which can be simply construed to be a recovered crime weapon, especially when it has also come in evidence that P.W.-4 has been at the crime-spot immediately after the death of the deceased at 7:30 P.M.

71. One of the contentions raised by the learned Counsel for the Appellants that there are only general and omnibus allegations of demand of dowry and cruelty in the F.I.R. and in the depositions of the prosecution witnesses, with no specific allegation or role attributed to any individual appellant. This Court finds that a plain reading of Section 304-B I.P.C. would envisage that when a question arises whether a person has committed an offence of dowry death of a woman, what all that is necessary is, it should be shown that soon before her unnatural death, which took place within seven years of the marriage, the deceased had been subjected, by such person, to cruelty or harassment for or in connection with demand for dowry. If that is shown then the Court shall presume that such a person has caused the dowry death. It can therefore be seen that irrespective of the fact whether such person is directly responsible for the death of the deceased or not by virtue of the presumption, he is deemed to have committed the dowry death if there were such cruelty or harassment and that if the unnatural death has occurred within seven years from the date of marriage. Likewise, there is a presumption under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act as to the dowry death. It lays down that the Court shall presume that the person who has subjected the deceased wife to cruelty before her death caused the dowry death if it is shown that before her death, such woman had been subjected, by the accused, to cruelty or harassment in connection with any demand for dowry. Practically, this is the presumption that has been incorporated in Section 304-B I.P.C. also. It can therefore be seen that irrespective of the fact whether the accused has any direct connection with the death or not, he shall be presumed to have committed the dowry death provided the other requirements mentioned above are satisfied. Therefore, the argument of learned Counsel that the allegations are general and no specific role has been assigned to the individual appellant is also without any basis and as such the same is rejected.

72. For all the aforesaid reasons and taking into account all the above supervening factors, the evidence brought on records clearly established the legal requirements for an offence falling under Sections 304B and 498A of the I.P.C. with the aid of Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act to be conclusively proved against the appellant and the conviction, therefore, do not call for any interference.

73. Further, nothing was pointed out to hold that the conclusion arrived by the learned Trial Court was perverse or was there any illegality or irregularity in the impugned judgment. Thus, the judgment as far as the conviction by the learned Trial Court under Section 304-B I.P.C., 498-A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act is concerned the same are upheld.

74. Now, the question arises as to whether this Court can reduce the appellant's sentence and if so, to what extent, as urged by the learned Counsel for the appellant, keeping in view the rule of proportionality of sentencing, prayer of leniency and the Evidence brought on record.

75. The learned Counsel for the Appellants has relied on various judgments to buttress his submission that the sentence under Section 304B I.P.C. merits interference by this Court. The learned Counsel has submitted that in the case of Hem Chand (supra), the Trial Court had awarded life term to the accused under Sections 304B read with 498A I.P.C., however, the Supreme Court reduced the sentence to 10 years and held that Section 304-B I.P.C. only raises presumption and lays down that minimum sentence should be seven years and it may extend to imprisonment for life. Therefore, awarding extreme punishment of imprisonment for life should be in rare cases and not in every case. The said proposition of law was consistently followed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M.V. Manjunathegowda (supra) and G.V. Siddaramesh (supra), wherein in both the cases the life term was reduced to 10 years.

76. This issue has engaged the attention of this Court, as well as the Hon'ble Supreme Court in several cases, which arose out of Section 304B read with 498A I.P.C. and wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court while interpreting the expression 'may' mentioned in Section 304B I.P.C. held that it is not mandatory for the Courts in every case to award life imprisonment to the accused, once he is found guilty of offence under the said provision. It was held that the Courts could award sentence in exercise of its discretion between seven years to life imprisonment, depending on the facts of each case, which must not be less than 7 years and the extreme punishment of life terms should be awarded in 'rare cases' but not in all cases as a routine. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Hari Om v. State of Haryana, reported in (2014) 10 SCC 577; after tracking the various precedents holding the ground reduced the life term awarded by the Trial Court and the High Court to a term of 10 years, while recording that Courts below did not assign any reasons as to why the case was found to be a rare case for conviction under Section 304B I.P.C.

77. This Court is also unable to find any reason in the impugned judgment as to when the prescription under law is that punishment under Section 304B I.P.C. cannot be less than 7 years and may extend to Life Imprisonment, as to why all the Appellants have been placed in the same bracket and awarded the maximum punishment of life under Section 304B I.P.C. There is no automatic award of life imprisonment under Section 304B I.P.C after conviction. Some finding and/or reasoning ought to be given by the learned Trial Court for arriving at such a belief for awarding a life imprisonment under the provisions of Section 304B I.P.C. This Court does not find any plausible reason appended by the learned Trial Court as to why the maximum punishment of life imprisonment had been awarded to the appellants in this present case.

78. Once, we come to the conclusion that the sentence of life imprisonment is not proper by the learned Trial Court, the next course of action would be to examine and test the case on the various mitigating factors, which has been evolved in various judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. As far as the present case is concerned, considering the aforesaid proposition of law and the overall facts and circumstances, keeping in view the evidence brought on record, by virtue of which the appellants were convicted, we in our considered view need to set a chord of balance between the culpability of the convict on the basis of evidence collected and brought on record on the one hand with the amount of punishment inflicted due to the said culpability. In this regard, it would be profitable to quote the ratio of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Navas v. State of Kerala, reported in (2024) 14 SCC 82; wherein an illustrative list of mitigating circumstances have been enumerated in the following words; relevant to the context:

"78. A journey through the cases set out hereinabove shows that the fundamental underpinning is the principle of proportionality. The aggravating and mitigating circumstances which the Court considers while deciding commutation of penalty from death to life imprisonment, have a large bearing in deciding the number of years of compulsory imprisonment without remission, too. As a judicially trained mind pores and ponders over the aggravating and mitigating circumstances and in cases where they decide to commute the death penalty they would by then have a reasonable idea as to what would be the appropriate period of sentence to be imposed under the Swamy Shraddananda [Swamy Shraddananda (2) v. State of Karnataka, (2008) 13 SCC 767 : (2009) 3 SCC (Cri) 113] principle too. Matters are not cut and dried and nicely weighed here to formulate a uniform principle. That is where the experience of the judicially trained mind comes in as pointed out in V. Sriharan [Union of India v. V. Sriharan, (2016) 7 SCC 1 : (2016) 2 SCC (Cri) 695] .

79. Illustratively, in the process of arriving at the number of years as the most appropriate for the case at hand, which the convict will have to undergo before which the remission powers could be invoked, some of the relevant factors that the courts bear in mind are:

(a) the number of deceased who are victims of that crime and their age and gender;
(b) the nature of injuries including sexual assault if any;
(c) the motive for which the offence was committed;
(d) whether the offence was committed when the convict was on bail in another case;
(e) the premeditated nature of the offence;
(f) the relationship between the offender and the victim;
(g) the abuse of trust if any;
(h) the criminal antecedents; and whether the convict, if released, would be a menace to the society.

Some of the positive factors have been:
(1) age of the convict;
(2) the probability of reformation of convict;
(3) the convict not being a professional killer;
(4) the socio-economic condition of the accused;
(5) the composition of the family of the accused; and
(6) conduct expressing remorse.

80. These were some of the relevant factors that were kept in mind in the cases noticed above while weighing the pros and cons of the matter. The Court would be additionally justified in considering the conduct of the convict in jail; and the period already undergone to arrive at the number of years which the Court feels the convict should serve as part of the sentence of life imprisonment and before which he cannot apply for remission. These are not meant to be exhaustive but illustrative and each case would depend on the facts and circumstances therein."

79. From the conspectus of the matter, we find that the appellants have no prior history of engaging in any criminal activities. The Custody Certificate itself exhibits long incarceration. There is no untoward conduct and/or activities reported against any of the Appellants. The entire male members of the family of the Appellant along with the mother is reported to be involved in the present case. We also find that at the relevant time of incident in 2011, the Dinesh Kumar (Husband) was 25 years; Shesh raj (Brother-in-law) was 21 years; Nan Babu (Brother-in-law) was 20 years; Bade Lal (father-in-law) and Bitta Devi (Mother-in-law) were 46 years.

80. No doubt, the age by itself is not a determinative factor, however, it remains that the Apex Court has held that age at the time of crime is also a mitigating factor for consideration while assessing the possibility of reformation and reintegration of the convict into society. The probability of the accused being reformed and rehabilitated, and the likelihood of his and/or her not indulging in criminal conduct again, are equally important considerations while evaluating whether continued incarceration for the remainder of natural life would serve the ends of justice.

It has come on record that the Appellants have been in Jail for term spanning more than seven years, which is the minimum prescribed under Section 304B I.P.C. Their conduct in jail does not indicate any adverse remarks, may be demonstrating remorse and reflecting a genuine possibility of reformation. The socio-economic condition of the Appellants also deserves consideration. The material on record reflects that the family of the accused belonged to a financially weak background and are villagers engaged in agricultural activities.

81. Thus, keeping in view the totality of the facts and considering the balance sheet of aggravating and mitigating circumstances and there being no criminal background and adverse history against the convict/appellants, we consider that the ends of justice would be met in this case, if the maximum sentence of life under Section 304B of the I.P.C is reduced to the period already undergone, by the appellants. However, the sentence under Section 498A I.P.C., and Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 including the fine amount imposed shall remain unaltered.

82. As a sequel to the above, the present appeal as far as the conviction of the Appellants under Sections 304B, 498A of the I.P.C. read with Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 are concerned, the same is dismissed and the Judgment of the Trial Court is upheld; however, on the point of sentence, both the Appeals are partly allowed to the extent of sentence of the period already undergone by the appellants. However, the entire amount of fine awarded by the Trial Court shall be deposited by the appellants, within four weeks from the date of their release, in default, they shall be liable to undergo the same punishment of imprisonment, as the learned Trial Court has awarded.

83. Having said so, it is directed that the appellant- Dinesh Kumar, Sheshraj, Nan Babu, may be released forthwith, having already undergone the sentence of punishment under the present Sessions Trial No. 137 of 2011 (State Vs. Dinesh Kumar and 4 others), arising out of Case Crime No. 665 of 2011, relating to Police Station - Gilaula, District - Shravasti, if they are not required in any other case(s). Appellant- Bitta Devi and Bade Lal Kori are already on Bail. Their Bail bonds are discharged.

All the Appellants shall be subject to compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C./481 BNSS.-2023.

84. Let the Trial Court record, along with copy of this judgment and order, be transmitted to the Court concerned for compliance.

85. There shall be no order as to cost(s).

86. All pending application(s) shall stand disposed of.

EPILOGUE

87. The present case is one such case wherein the deceased, on several occasions, communicated to her family members, particularly her brother, sister-in-law and mother, the persistent dowry demands and the cruelty to which she was being subjected by her in-laws. According to this Court, such repeated complaints ought not to have been treated as ordinary matrimonial disagreements; rather, they must have been recognized as genuine cries for help, protection and timely intervention. This Court is of the view that the facts of the present case serves as a reminder that whenever a daughter repeatedly approaches her family seeking assistance and expresses the harassment, fear and humiliation she is facing in her matrimonial home, her concerns deserve to be heard with empathy, seriousness and urgency. It is the moral as well as the social responsibility of the family to support her, believe her version and take all necessary steps to ensure her safety and dignity. According to this Court the safety, well-being and welfare of the married daughter should be of paramount concern for her family.

88. This Court cannot be oblivious to the fact and as is also available from the present case that, quite often a victim of dowry-related harassment is advised to adjust, compromise or save the marriage, despite repeatedly informing their families about the cruelty being inflicted upon her. This Court is of the view that seldom such advice may unintentionally embolden the perpetrators and expose the victim to continued abuse, ultimately resulting in tragic and irreversible consequences of even death of the victim. The present case highlights the unfortunate reality that meaningful action is frequently initiated only after the death of the victim. No doubt, the pursuit of justice through legal proceedings is both necessary and commendable, but it cannot substitute the timely intervention that might have prevented the loss of life.

89. The legislative intent behind provisions such as Sections 498A and 304B of the Indian Penal Code was not merely to punish offenders after the commission of the offence, but also to deter such conduct and provide effective legal protection to married women. The present case is not merely about holding the accused accountable and convicting them as per law, rather it conveys a larger message that every plea for help made by a daughter must be treated with compassion, seriousness and prompt action. Timely intervention can prevent irreparable loss, whereas delayed remorse and litigation cannot bring back a life that has already been lost.

90. Ultimately, this case reminds us that combating the social evil of dowry extends beyond the courtroom. It is a shared responsibility of families, communities and society to ensure that no woman is compelled to suffer in silence and that every call for help is answered before it culminates in tragedy of death of the victim. No judicial pronouncement, however just, can restore a life once it has been lost. This case also reflects the broader societal responsibility of responding to a woman's plea for help. Families, relatives and society at large must recognize that every complaint of dowry harassment or domestic cruelty deserves immediate attention, so as to have meaningful and effective resolution, before it is too late.

Charat Kumar Bansal*, 2025 (3) ADJ 86, for preventing stay of proceedings before the trial Court-aforesaid directions would not apply to Criminal Appeals filed against final order of acquittal or conviction- regarding which there is a specific provision in Rule 9 of Chapter XVIII of Part III of the Allahabad High Court Rules-after conclusion of trial and conviction or acquittal - nothing remains to be done by the trial Court which may need the record of the trial-sending the original records of a concluded criminal trial would not hold up any proceeding before the trial Court-trial court directed to forward its original record without any further delay. Appeal pending. . (Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Brijesh Kumar Shukla, Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Aishwarya Shukla, the learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Anurag Kumar Singh, the learned counsel for the respondent-CBI.

2. The instant criminal appeal has been filed challenging the validity of a judgment and order dated 19.12.2012 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Prevention of Corruption (Central), Lucknow in Case No.12 of 1998 whereby the appellant has been convicted under Sections 120B, 420, 467, 471 I.P.C. and Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and sentenced to a maximum term of five years rigorous imprisonment with fine and a default stipulation. The appeal was admitted by means of an order dated 17.01.2013 and the trial Court's record was summoned. Instead of sending the record in compliance of the order dated 17.01.2013, the office merely sent a certified copy of the record to this Court.

3. Before proceeding any further, it would be appropriate to take a look at the relevant provisions contained in the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952. Chapter XVIII falling in Part III of the Rules deals with "Proceedings Other Than Original Trials". Rule 9 of Chapter XVIII of the Allahabad High Court Rules provides as follows: -

"9. Issue of Notice - If an appeal is not dismissed summarily a day shall be fixed for its hearing and notices in the prescribed form shall be issued.

If an application for revision or other application is not rejected and an order directing the issue of notice is made, a day shall be fixed for its hearing and notices in the prescribed form shall be issued.

After notices have been issued in an appeal or revision the record shall be sent for unless otherwise ordered.*

In the case of an appeal under Section 341 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, the record of the case out of which the proceedings under appeal arose shall also be sent for unless otherwise ordered."

4. When this Court had passed an order summoning the trial Court's record, the trial Court ought to have sent the original record and not its certified copy. As the trial Court did send the original record and has forwarded merely a certified copy of its record, the office cannot provide copies of the trial Court's record to the learned counsel for the parties, because the Rules prohibit providing copies of a copy of a document. In absence of a copy of the trial Court's record being provided to them, the learned Counsel for the parties cannot provide effective assistance to the Court in deciding the appeal.

5. It appears that the practice of not sending the original records of cases to the High Court came into being after the judgment passed in the case of Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P)

Ltd. v. CBI: (2018) 16 SCC 299 (decided on 28.03.2018). That case arose from an order passed by the trial Court rejecting an application seeking discharge of the accused and framing charges against him. The challenge to the order framing charges reached the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Hon'ble Mr. Justice A. K. Goel delivered the majority judgment for himself and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Navin Sinha and Hon'ble Rohinton Nariman J. concurred with it. It was held in the majority judgment that: -

"37. Thus, we declare the law to be that order framing charge is not purely an interlocutory order nor a final order. Jurisdiction of the High Court is not barred irrespective of the label of a petition, be it under Sections 397 or 482 CrPC or Article 227 of the Constitution. However, the said jurisdiction is to be exercised consistent with the legislative policy to ensure expeditious disposal of a trial without the same being in any manner hampered. Thus considered, the challenge to an order of charge should be entertained in a rarest of rare case only to correct a patent error of jurisdiction and not to reappreciate the matter. Even where such challenge is entertained and stay is granted, the matter must be decided on day-to-day basis so that stay does not operate for an unduly long period. Though no mandatory time-limit may be fixed, the decision may not exceed two-three months normally. If it remains pending longer, duration of stay should not exceed six months, unless extension is granted by a specific speaking order, as already indicated. Mandate of speedy justice applies to the PC Act cases as well as other cases where at trial stage proceedings are stayed by the higher court i.e. the High Court or a court below the High Court, as the case may be. In all pending matters before the High Courts or other courts relating to the PC Act or all other civil or criminal cases, where stay of proceedings in a pending trial is operating, stay will automatically lapse after six months from today unless extended by a speaking order on the above parameters. Same course may also be adopted by civil and criminal appellate/Revisional Courts under the jurisdiction of the High Courts. The trial courts may, on expiry of the above period, resume the proceedings without waiting for any other intimation unless express order extending stay is produced.

(emphasis added)

6. Thereafter in Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P) Ltd. v. CBI: (2018) 16 SCC 340, the Hon'ble Supreme Court issued the following directions on 25.04.2018: -

"3. To give effect to the directions in the judgment of this Court dated 28-3-2018 [Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P) Ltd. v. CBI, (2018) 16 SCC 299], noted above, we direct that wherever original record has been summoned by an appellate/Revisional Court, photocopy/scanned copy of the same may be kept for its reference and original returned to the trial courts forthwith.

4. We also direct that if in future the trial court record is summoned, the trial courts may send photocopy/scanned copy of the record and retain the original so that the proceedings are not held up. In cases where specifically original record is required by holding that photocopy will not serve the purpose, the appellate/Revisional

Court may call for the record only for perusal and the same be returned while keeping a photocopy/scanned copy of the same."

(emphasis added)

7. The direction issued in Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P) Ltd. (supra), that all interim orders will stand vacated automatically after expiry of six months, was set aside by a Constitution Bench consisting of five Hon'ble Judges in the case of Allahabad High Court Bar Assn. v. State of U.P.:, (2024) 6 SCC 267, wherein it was held that: -

"57. Sometimes, in quest of justice we end up doing injustice. Asian Resurfacing [Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P) Ltd. v. CBI, (2018) 16 SCC 299] is a clear example of the same. Such a situation created ought to be avoided in the normal course or if at all it arises be remedied at the earliest. In doing so, we have to adopt a practical and a more pragmatic approach rather than a technical one which may create more problems burdening the courts with superfluous or useless work. It is well said that useless work drives out the useful work. Accordingly, it is expedient in the interest of justice to provide that a reasoned stay order once granted in any civil or criminal proceedings, if not specified to be time-bound, would remain in operation till the decision of the main matter or until and unless an application is moved for its vacation and a speaking order is passed adhering to the principles of natural justice either extending, modifying, varying or vacating the same."

(emphasis added)

8. In Prem Chand and Ors. Vs. Charat Kumar Bansal: 2025 (3) ADJ 86, a coordinate Bench of this Court was dealing with a mention made in a Second Appeal under Section 100 CPC, for returning the original record of the first Appellate Court and the trial court, which had been summoned without admitting the appeal. The High Court had summoned the original record seven years ago. Although an order was passed on 07.03.2019 to the effect that mere pendency of the appeal would not mean passing of any interim order staying execution of the decree, since the original record was lying before this Court for hearing on admission, the execution proceedings were held up. The coordinate Bench referred to the order dated 25.04.2018 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency (P) Ltd. v. CBI: (2018) 16 SCC 340 and noted that: -

"The said directions were, later on, set aside by the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in High Court Bar Association, Allahabad vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others: (2024) 6 SCC 267. This Court finds that reversal of previous decision in Asian Resurfacing by the subsequent decision in High Court Bar Association (supra) is an authority on the issue as to whether stay order granted by the High Court would automatically lapse after expiry of six months period. The judgment of the Supreme Court, with great respect, would not affect the directions contained in the order dated 25.04.2018 insofar as summoning of the photostat/scanned copy of the record of subordinate court is concerned nor did the said issue form subject matter of deliberations or consideration before the Apex Court."

9. Keeping in view the fact that by summoning the record of the trial Court without admission of the Second Appeal, which had resulted in a stay of the execution proceedings without admission of the second appeal, the coordinate Bench issued the following directions: -

"10. In view of the above, since, even after reversal of the decision in Asian Resurfacing (supra), the Registry is summoning the photostat/scanned copy of the records of the courts subordinate to this Court, following directions are issued to the office of this Court:-

(a) Henceforth, the original record shall not be summoned by the office, unless otherwise specifically directed by this Court in a particular case and only photostat/scanned copy of the same shall be summoned.

(b) Whenever, in the past, original record has been summoned by this Court, office shall remit back the same to the concerned District Judgeship with a direction to the concerned District Judgeship to immediately send photostat/scanned copy of the said record to this Court and, thereafter, it is the said photostat/scanned copy that shall be kept for the purpose of consideration of the matter by this Court pursuant to previous directions issued by it."

10. It is to be noted that the Hon'ble Supreme Court had issued the directions in the case of Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency Pvt. Ltd. & Anr. (supra) in proceedings arising out of an order passed by the trial Court framing charges against the accused and keeping in view the fact that summoning of the trial Court's record in such a situation results in stay of the proceedings of trial and it may continue for a very long period. Moreover, the scope of scrutiny at the stage of framing charges is very limited and the Court is not required to hold a mini trial so as to record a satisfaction of guilt of the accused or otherwise.

11. The directions in the case of Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency Pvt. Ltd. & Anr. (supra) were that the trial courts may send photocopy/scanned copy of the record and retain the original so that the proceedings are not held up, but in some cases, the trial Courts misunderstood the direction so as to mean that the trial Court's record is not to be transmitted to the High Court in any situation, even where there are no proceedings pending / no proceedings might be instituted in the trial Court which might be held up by sending the records to the High Court. The directions were in fact that the record of the trial Court should not be called for so as to create an unwarranted obstacle in continuance of proceedings pending in the trial Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court did not direct that even when the matter before the trial Court stands decided finally, the trial Court will not send its record upon being called for by the High Court.

12. In Prem Chand and Ors. Vs. Charat Kumar Bansal (supra) also, the coordinate Bench was dealing with a situation where the records of a trial Court had been summoned in a Second Civil Appeal filed under Section 100 C.P.C., even without admission of the appeal. The decree under challenge in the Second Appeal had to be executed by the trial Court in Execution proceedings, in which the original record of the suit is needed. Although an order was passed on 07.03.2019 to the effect that mere pendency of the appeal would not mean passing of any interim order staying execution of decree, since the original record was lying before this Court for hearing on admission, the execution proceedings were held up. This direction would also apply in the factual background in which it was issued, i.e., the original record of the trial Court would not be summoned without admission of a second appeal so as to hold up the execution proceedings without a stay order having been passed by this Court.

13. The aforesaid directions would not apply to Criminal Appeals filed against final order of acquittal or conviction, regarding which there is a specific provision in Rule 9 of Chapter XVIII of Part III of the Allahabad High Court Rules that after notices have been issued in an appeal or revision the record shall be sent for unless otherwise ordered.

14. Moreover, after conclusion of trial and conviction or acquittal of an accused, nothing remains to be done by the trial Court which may need the record of the trial, unlike a civil appeal against a decree, in which case the trial Court has to execute the decree. Sending the original records of a concluded criminal trial would not hold up any proceeding before the trial Court. Therefore, the directions which were issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Asian Resurfacing of Road Agency Pvt. Ltd. & Anr. (supra) and by a coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Prem Chand and Ors. Vs. Charat Kumar Bansal (supra) for preventing stay of proceedings before the trial Court, will not apply to sending records of a concluded trial of a criminal case.

15. The Rules are meant to be obeyed by everyone, more so, by all the Courts of law. (Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. These two connected criminal appeals have been preferred by Abrar Ahmad, Lal Babu and Shabana Khatoon, who stood their trial before Mr. Abhimanyu Singh, the then Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Kushinagar at Padrauna in connection with Crime No.648 of 2013, under Sections 498-A, 304-B of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, 'IPC') and Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (for short, 'DP Act'), Police Station Vishunpura, District Kushinagar and were convicted of offences punishable under Sections 304-B/ 34, 498-A/ 34 IPC and Section 4 of the DP Act. The appellants were, however, acquitted of the offence under Sectio 3 of the DP Act.

2. The learned Judge passed sentences of imprisonment for life upon each of the appellants for the offence under Section 304-B IPC and for the offence under Section 4 DP Act, each of the appellants received a two year term of simple imprisonment together with fine in the sum of Rs.5000/-. In the event of default in payment of fine, an additional term of two months simple imprisonment was directed to be suffered by the appellants. No sentence has been passed under Section 498-A IPC, notwithstanding the conviction on the aforesaid charge.

3. An information was given to the Station House Officer, Police Station Vishunpura, District Kushinagar in the form of a written report by Nurul Huda son of Idrish Ansari, a resident of Village Nonia Patti, Post and P.S. Padrauna, District Kushinagar, saying that the informant had married his daughter Tajrun Khatoon on 29.06.2013 to Abrar Ahmad son of Amiruddin, a resident of Jama Masjid, Post Dudahi, P.S. Vishunpura, District Kushinagar. After his daughter went to her matrimonial home and a month had passed by, he received a phone call from his daughter that her in-laws were demanding a motorcycle, a chain, a ring, apparently of gold. To this, the informant reported that he told his daughter that he had given cash and all necessaries in her marriage and that he could not fulfill the aforesaid demand. His daughter in answer told the informant, as he reports, that her in-laws say that if she did not listen to them and get a motorcycle, chain and ring from her family, she would be done to death. The informant has narrated that at the time of marriage, he had given away Rs.1 lac in cash, a chain, a ring, a nathia, jhumka and payal, besides all necessaries for the household. On 06.10.2013, which fell on a Sunday in the evening hours, at about 6.00 p.m., the informant received a phone call from his daughter that her in-laws were beating her up, telling her that if within a week, their demands were not fulfilled, she would be killed. Today, on 10.10.2013, which was a Thursday, he received a phone call late in the night from his son-in-law, Abrar Ahmad, that his daughter was seriously unwell. Upon receiving this information, it is said by the informant that he immediately left for Dudahi, that is to say, his son-in-law's home and found there that his daughter was dead. Nurul Huda said in his report to the Police that he was convinced that his daughter had been murdered by throttling her and in this murder, his son-in-law Abrar Ahmad, elder brother Lal Babu and Lal Babu's wife Shabana Khatoon, besides others in the family, were involved. This written information dated 10.10.2013 is on record as Ex. Ka-1.

4. On the basis of the written information, the Police at P.S. Vishunpura registered a First Information Report (for short, 'FIR') and the check FIR shows that the crime was registered on 10.10.2013 at 9.35 p.m. The crime occurred in the night intervening 09/10.10.2013. The check FIR shows that the crime was registered as Crime No. 648 of 2013, under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC and Section 3/4 DP Act, P.S. Vishunpura, District Kushinagar. The check FIR is on record and marked as Ex. Ka-7. Inquest for the deceased was held on 10.10.2013, commencing at 10.00 a.m. and ending at 11.30 a.m. The inquest report dated 10.10.2013 is on record as Ex. Ka-3. According to the autopsy report dated 10.10.2013, Ex. Ka-2, the cause of death is asphyxia as a result of strangulation. The ante-mortem injury, that is noticed, is a contused ligature mark of size 18 cm x 2.5 cm on the anterior part of the neck, extending from right mastoid to mid of anterior part of left side neck. The external examination reveals that both eyes and mouth were closed, hyoid bone was fractured and subcutaneous haemorrhage was present. The time of death was opined to be about one day before the examination.

5. The investigation was handed over to Police Station Tarya Sujan, District Kushinagar and assigned to a Deputy Superintendent of Police, one Dinesh Kumar Singh, PW-7. He commenced investigation recording statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and visiting the scene of crime, whereof a site-plan was drawn up. The site-plan is on record as Ex. Ka-9. The Investigating Officer filed a charge-sheet, bearing No. 48 dated 26.12.2013 against the appellant Abrar Ahmad and Lal Babu together. This charge-sheet is marked as Ex. Ka-10. A separate charge-sheet dated 02.01.2014 was filed against the appellant Shabana Khatoon, which is marked as Ex. Ka-11.

6. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kushinagar took cognizance, the appellants were furnished relevant prosecution papers as provided under Section 207 Cr.P.C. and vide order dated 25.06.2015, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial.

7. Before the learned Sessions Judge, two sessions trials were registered, to wit, Sessions Trial No.331 of 2015, where the appellant Abrar Ahmad was the sole accused, and Sessions Trial No.501 of 2015, where Lal Babu and Shabana Khatoon were the accused. Both the trials came up before Mr. Rajeev Kamal Pandey, Additional Sessions Judge/ F.T.C. Kushinagar at Padrauna for framing of charge. In S.T. No.331 of 2015, on 07.08.2015 four charges were framed against the appellant Abrar Ahmad, viz: the first charge was for the offence punishable under Section 498-A IPC, the second under Section 3 DP Act, the third under Section 4 DP Act and the fourth under Section 304-B IPC. Here, there was an alternate charge under Section 302 IPC as well. Likewise, in S.T. No.501 of 2015, on 07.10.2015 four charges were also framed against the appellants Lal Babu and Shabana Khatoon, i.e., the first under Section 498-A/ 34 IPC, the second under Section 3 DP Act, the third under Section 4 DP Act, and the fourth under Section 304-B/34 IPC; alternatively, under Section 302/34 IPC. In both the trials, the accused-appellants, who are the appellants here, pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

8. Both the cases, being ones arising out of the same crime, were tried together.

9. The prosecution examined the following witnesses in support of their case:

11. After the prosecution evidence was over, the statements of the appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded, all on 08.08.2018. In their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in answer to the last question, if the accused had anything to say, all the three appellants have come up with substantial explanations, which would be noticed later on in the course of this judgment.

12. The accused-appellants entered defence and three witnesses were produced, to wit: Istiyak Alam, DW-1, Husain Ansari, DW-2, and Amir Hasan, DW-3.

13. After holding trial and hearing parties, the learned Additional Sessions Judge convicted and sentenced each of the appellants by means of the impugned judgment and order.

14. Aggrieved, these appeals have been preferred.

15. Heard Mr. Arvind Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the appellants and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate along with Mr. Kamlesh Kumar Nishad, learned State Law Officer appearing on behalf of the State in both the appeals.

16. Mr. Arvind Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the appellants has urged that the FIR is ante-timed. The inquest shows that information to the police station was given on 10.10.2013 at 6.15 a.m. Amar Nath Srivastava, PW-6, was the Moharrir at the police station who has said in his testimony that the written information was received on 10.10.2013 at 12.35 p.m. It was, however, lodged at 9.35 p.m. with a delay of eight hours from receiving it and twenty hours after the incident. The exact date and time of incident are not mentioned in the G.D. The medical report, in the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellants, does not support the prosecution. It is next submitted that the Call Detail Record (CDR) was not collected during course of investigation. No complaint about cruelty in connection with dowry demand was made prior to the incident. There is no evidence that the deceased was subjected to cruelty in connection with demand for dowry soon before her death. The prosecution have failed to prove that the appellants had subjected the deceased to cruelty in connection with demand of dowry soon before her death. This is an essential ingredient, which the prosecution have to prove beyond reasonable doubt in order to raise the presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act. The appellant Abrar Ahmad, who is the husband of the deceased, informed the deceased's father about the incident. Abrar Ahmad, Lal Babu and Shabana were present at the spot on 10.10.2013. The last fact shows the absence of a guilty mind and honourable behaviour. Abrar Ahmad and Lal Babu were arrested on 10.10.2013, but the arrest memo was prepared on 12.10.2013. It is submitted that the testimonies of PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 are not reliable and do not inspire confidence. It is a case of suicide and not homicide. The deceased committed suicide by hanging herself to death, not on account of any harassment in connection with dowry, but for reason of other bickerings between the husband and wife and their circumstances. It is emphasized that Lal Babu and Smt. Shabana lived separately in the same house and they were not on good terms. There is absolutely no involvement of these two appellants in the affairs of the deceased's family. Learned Counsel for the appellants submits that the explanation offered about the victim's unnatural death and the circumstances that figure in the statements of Abrar Ahmad, Lal Babu and Smt. Shabana under Section 313 Cr.P.C. have not been considered by the learned Trial Judge. It is particularly emphasized that the Investigating Officer has neither collected the CDR nor an FIR has been lodged about cruelty in connection with dowry demand prior to the incident, which would show that the ingredients of the offence under Section 304-B IPC are not attracted. The learned Counsel for the appellants has placed reliance upon the authority of the Supreme Court in Charan Singh v. State of Uttarakhand, (2024) 13 SCC 649. It is lastly submitted that the extreme punishment of life imprisonment has been awarded for the offence under Section 304-B IPC without assigning any cogent reasons. It should not be awarded in every case as held by the Supreme Court in Hem Chand v. State of Haryana, (1994) 6 SCC 727. The learned Counsel for the appellants brings it to our notice that Abrar Ahmad has already served more than 13 years in jail in the aforesaid case.

17. Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned A.G.A. along with Mr. Kamlesh Kumar Nishad, learned State Law Officer have supported the impugned judgment and said that it is a case of a young women's death within seven years of marriage in her matrimonial home with a background of cruelty in connection with demand of dowry shortly before her death. In the learned A.G.A.'s submission, presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act would, therefore, arise and burden would lie upon the appellants to prove their innocence.

18. Upon hearing learned Counsel for the parties, we are of opinion that the case in the appeal of Abrar Ahmad, on one hand, and that in the appeal of Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu, on the other, have very different facts and evidence, vis-a-vis the charge involved. We also find that though the Trial Court was right in framing a charge under Section 302 IPC, but as the legal position would have it, the charge under Section 302 IPC could not have been the alternate charge. Rather, the charge under section 304-B IPC should have been the alternate or just the next charge to be considered, if the charge under Section 302 IPC was not substantiated by the prosecution evidence. The law, that is crystallized in this regard, is clear and it is not that, that the murder of a woman within seven years of marriage within the four-walls of her matrimonial home, where soon before her death, there was cruelty inflicted upon her in connection with dowry, would become a case punishable under section 304-B alone. In both offences, that is to say, Sections 302 and 304-B IPC, there is essentially an unnatural death involved. Both the charges have different ingredients. Whereas the charge under Section 302 IPC requires the intention to do another to death followed up by the necessary action, a case under Section 304-B includes any kind of unnatural death of a woman in her matrimonial home within seven years of marriage, if immediately before her death, she was subjected to cruelty in connection with demand of dowry. Thus, a purely suicidal death, where ingredients of Section 304-B are attracted, would lead to proof of the charge with burden shifted upon the accused to establish his/ her innocence, provided the prosecution discharge its burden regarding commission of acts of cruelty in connection with dowry demand immediately before the unnatural death of the woman in her matrimonial home, the period of marriage not having exceeded seven years. Therefore, where the Court finds that there is material to frame a charge under Section 302 IPC, the Court must consider evidence to see if the charge under Section 302 IPC is proved. If it is not proved, the Court can then consider evidence to decide whether the alternative charge of dowry death punishable under Section 304-B is established. In this connection, reference may be made to Jasvinder Saini v. State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), (2013) 7 SCC 256. In Jasvinder Saini (supra), it was held:

"15. It is common ground that a charge under Section 304-B IPC is not a substitute for a charge of murder punishable under Section 302. As in the case of murder in every case under Section 304-B also there is a death involved. The question whether it is murder punishable under Section 302 IPC or a dowry death punishable under Section 304-B IPC depends upon the fact situation and the evidence in the case. If there is evidence whether direct or circumstantial to prima facie support a charge under Section 302 IPC the trial court can and indeed ought to frame a charge of murder punishable under Section 302 IPC, which would then be the main charge and not an alternative charge as is erroneously assumed in some quarters. If the main charge of murder is not proved against the accused at the trial, the court can look into the evidence to determine whether the alternative charge of dowry death punishable under Section 304-B is established. The ingredients constituting the two offences are different, thereby demanding appreciation of evidence from the perspective relevant to such ingredients. The trial court in that view of the matter acted mechanically for it framed an additional charge under Section 302 IPC without adverting to the evidence adduced in the case and simply on the basis of the direction issued in Rajbir case [Rajbir v. State of Haryana, (2010) 15 SCC 116 : (2013) 2 SCC (Cri) 149 : AIR 2011 SC 568] . The High Court no doubt made a half-hearted attempt to justify the framing of the charge independent of the directions in Rajbir case [Rajbir v. State of Haryana, (2010) 15 SCC 116 : (2013) 2 SCC (Cri) 149 : AIR 2011 SC 568] , but it would have been more appropriate to remit the matter back to the trial court for fresh orders rather than lending support to it in the manner done by the High Court."

19. In this case, what we find is that the husband and wife were staying together in one part of the house belonging to the husband's father, who would stay at Lucknow with his wife, whereas in another part, his brother and sister-in-law, the appellants in the connected appeal, Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu had their living quarters. There is evidence adduced in defence on behalf of all the appellants that Abrar Ahmad had soured relations with his brother Lal Babu, after the latter's marriage, on account of which their father had put them up in separate accommodation within the same premises. This stand has come in the explanation given by the appellants to the incriminating circumstances appearing against them, in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and the defence evidence led. Of course, this does not figure in the prosecution evidence and nothing on the point could be elicited during the cross-examination as well. However, the cross-examination of the three witnesses for the prosecution, who are the father, brother and sister of the deceased, and for that matter, their examinations-in-chief as well, show that they were strangers to Abrar's household after all. In the short life of the parties' marriage, PW-1, the deceased's father, had visited the deceased's matrimonial home on one occasion alone. All his information about the affairs in his daughter's life were based on three telephonic conversations that he had with his daughter. In this kind of an interaction between the two families, after matrimony, if it can at all be called any kind of interaction, it is difficult to infer or hold that PW-1 would have known that the two brothers were estranged and living in separate quarters, albeit in the same house.

20. So far as PW-2, the deceased's sister, is concerned, she never went to her sister's matrimonial home and her interaction with the deceased after the latter's marriage was limited to a telephonic contact, which too, from the evidence, appears to be brief and infrequent. PW-3, the deceased's brother, appears to have visited his sister, but again not any more than his father, PW-1. None of the witnesses for the prosecution would know that the deceased and her brother-in-law were living apart. To the contrary, the defence witnesses, who have no axe to grind or reason to speak falsehood, have spoken about the estrangement of the two brothers and their separate households within the same premises, separated by their father on account of the soured relationship between the two brothers. The circumstances, in which the relations had soured, have also been spoken about by the defence witnesses. The Trial Court has not paid any attention to the defence evidence. It is not fair to condemn defence evidence or look upon it with suspicion as second grade evidence, inferior to that of the prosecution. As regards the awareness that PW-1 had about his son-in-law's household and the limited contact that he had with his daughter, would be evident from the following part of his cross-examination:

"अबरार के पास मोबाइल था। मेरी बेटी ने अपनी शादी के बाद अबरार के मोबाइल से मुझसे 3 बार बात की थी। एक बार घटना के एक महिना पहले बात किया था। बात मुझसे हुई थी। तारीख व समय नहीं बता सकता। मुझे मेरे मोबाइल का नम्बर याद नही है। मैं पढ़ा लिखा नही हूँ। फिर इस घटना के पहले भी मेरी बेटी ने मुझसे फोन किया था। कब किया था समय याद नही है। तीसरी बार छः रोज पहले फोन किया था। यकिन के साथ समय याद नही आ रहा है। शादी के बाद मैं एक ही बार उसकी ससुराल गया हूँ। मैं शादी के बाद पहली बार अपनी लड़की के ससुराल हाल चाल लेने गया था। मेरी लड़की ने जब पहली बार मुझसे फोन किया तो हाल चाल लेने के संबंध में की थी। अबरार कुल कितने भाई है इस समय मुझे याद नही है। अबरार का सबसे बड़ा भाई लालबाबू है। और अबरार के कितने भाई है मुझे नहीं मालूम है। मेरी बेटी के लिए ससुराल में अलग से कोई कमरा मिला था कि नहीं इसकी जानकारी मुझे नही है।"

21. Likewise, PW-2, Smt. Najroon, who was the deceased's sister, had no contact with the deceased nor had she visited her matrimonial home. This fact would be evident from the following part of her cross-examination:

"मैं हमेशा अपनी बहन का हाल चाल फोन करके पूछती थी। मैं किस नम्बर से अपनी बहन से बात करती थी नम्बर मुझे याद नहीं है। फोन खराब हो गया था। इसलिये फेंक दिया। मैं अबरार के नम्बर पर ताजरुन से बात करती थी। मैं जब अबरार के फोन पर फोन करती थी तथा कहती थी कि ताजरुन से बात कराइये तो वह ताजरुन से बात करा देते थे। फोन में दिन में ही करती थी।

ताजरुन किस नं. से बात करती थी मुझे मालूम नहीं। मैं कभी ताजरुन के घर नहीं गयी थी। मेरे शौहर भी कभी ताजरुन के घर नहीं गये थे। मुझे इस बात की जानकारी नहीं है कि शादी के बाद मेरे पिता जी ताजरुन के घर गये थे कि नहीं मैंने अपने पिता जी से ताजरुन के सम्बन्ध में कोई बात नहीं किया था।

शबाना खातून और लाल बाबू से कभी नहीं मिली हूँ।"

22. PW-3, Naeem Ansari, who is the deceased's brother, also had scanty contact with the deceased and her matrimonial household, as would appear from the following part of his cross-examination:

"शादी के बाद से मेरी बहन से मुलाकात नहीं हुई। केवल मोबाइल से बात हुई। ताजरुन को शादी में गिफ्ट के रूप में मोबाइल नहीं दिया गया था ताजरुन से बात उसके पति अबरार के मोबाइल से ही होती थी ताजरुन से मेरी बात तीन चार बार हुई।

अबरार ने मुझे कभी फोन नहीं किया किस तारीख को ताजरुन से बात हुई तारीख नहीं बता सकता। ताजरुन से जितने बार बात हुई दिनांक व समय याद नहीं है। ताजरुन के निकाह से 1 माह तक मेरी ताजरुन से कोई बात नहीं हुई। उस समय मैं पडरौना में ही था। मैंने बहन का हाल चाल लेने के लिए फोन नहीं किया वही फोन करती थी।"

23. All this evidence would show the scanty nature of interaction that the deceased's family had with her husband's family. They would possibly not know, therefore, that the two brothers were living separately.

24. In his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant Lal Babu, Abrar's brother, has stated:

"मैं और अबरार दोनो बेरोजगार थे। दोनो लोगो के खर्चे का पैसा मेरे पिता अमीरूद्दीन भेजा करते थे। इसकी वजह से अबरार के साथ मेरे तालमेल बहुत खराब हो गए थे इसलिए हमारे पिता ने घर का बटवारा करके मुझे व मेरी पत्नी को अलग कर दिया था। मैं अपनी पत्नी के साथ अलग रहता था तथा अलग खाना बनता था। अलग हो जाने के कारण अबरार से मेरी कोई बातचीत नहीं होती थी। दादी के जागने के कारण इस घटना की जानकारी हुई। अबरार और उसकी पत्नी के बीच किस प्रकार के संबंध थे तालमेल न होने के कारण नहीं जान पाया। अबरार की ग्रहस्थी में मेरा व मेरी पत्नी का कोई हस्तक्षेप नहीं था अबरार ने अपनी पत्नी को हम लोगो से बात करने से मना किया था।"

25. DW-1 is a brother-in-law of sorts to Lal Babu. He stated in his examination-in-chief:

"लाल बाबू व अबरार के पिता अमीरुद्दीन लखनऊ में ठेकेदारी का काम करते हैं। लाल बाबू व अबरार की माँ व अन्य भाई बहन लखनऊ में रहते हैं, लालबाबू व अबरार दुदही में अपने पैतृक घर पर रहते हैं, लालबाबू व अबरार के खर्च के लिए उनके पिता पैसा भेजते थे, अमीरुद्दीन ने लालबाबू के पास पैसा खर्च के लिए भेजते थे, लालबाबू की शादी के बाद से लालबाबू व अबरार में खर्च को लेकर झगड़े होते थे इस झगड़े को देखकर सन् 2012 में अमीरुद्दीन ने अपने दोनों लड़को को अलग कर दिया तब से लालबाबू अपनी पत्नि के साथ उसी घर में अलग रहते थे वह अपना अलग भोजन बनाते थे अलग खाते पीते थे। इन लोगों के पास खेतीवारी नही है उसके बाद दिनांक 29.06.2013 को अबरार की शादी ताजरुन के साथ हुई शादी व ताजरुन की मृत्यु के समय लालबाबू अलग रहता था। लालबाबू व अवरार के बीच कोई सम्बन्ध नही था,"

26. In his cross-examination, he has stated:

"मेरी जानकारी मे ताजरुन के शादी के लगभग एक-डेढ़ साल पहले से लालबाबू व शबाना अलग बनाते खाते थे लेकिन लालबाबू अबरार आदि सब लोग एक ही घर में रहते थे लालबाबू व अबरार में सम्बन्ध अच्छे नही थे और कोई विवाद नही था, उन लोगों में कोई बात चीत नहीं होती थी,"

27. DW-2, Husain Ansari, is some kind of a medical man, who runs a pathology centre for the testing of blood, urine etc. Abrar would work with him before his marriage. Abrar worked with Husain Ansari (DW-2) for a period of one and a half years before his marriage and about a month and two afterwards. He is otherwise an independent witness, not connected to either the deceased's family or the appellants' family. However, he knew their affairs well because Abrar would work for him. He has said in his examination-in-chief:

"लालबाबू अबरार के बड़े भाई है अबरार की शादी के पूर्व से ही लालबाबू और उसकी पत्नी शबाना खातुन को अबरार के पिता ने अबरार के शादी के पहले से अलग कर दिया था, लालबाबू अपनी शादी के पहले अबरार के साथ रहता था इनके पिता शेष परिवार के साथ लखनऊ रहते हैं वे लालबाबू व अबरार के खर्ज के लिए पैसा लालबाबू के पास भेजते थे लालबाबू की शादी के बाद दोनों भाइयों मे टकरार होती थी जिसके कारण पिता अमरुद्दीन ने लालबाबू के शादी के बाद लालबाबू व उसकी शबाना खातुन को उसी मकान में अलग कमरा दे दिया और वह अलग रहने लगे यह बात सन् 2011 की है। लालबाबू अपनी पत्नी शबाना खातुन व अपनी दादी के साथ अलग रहते थे अलग खाना खाते पीते थे लालबाबू की दादी मर गयी है।"

28. This witness in his cross-examination has testified:

"मैं MLC दिल्ली होल्डर हूँ हमारा घर मुल्जिमान लालबाबू व अबरार के घर से 500 मीटर की दूरी पर है मैं अभियुक्त लालबाबू व अबरार के घर रोज नही जाता रहा हूँ जब कोई अवसर पर काम पड़ता था तो मैं उनके घर जाता हूँ लालबाबू के शादी होने के कुछ दिन समय बाद जब अबरार अविवाहित था उसी समय से अमीरुद्दीन ने दोनों को अलग कर दिया था अबरार अकेले बनाता खाता था।"

29. DW-3, Amir Husain, is a neighbour of the deceased's in-laws. He has said in his examination-in-chief:

"लालबाबू, अबरार को जानता हूँ लालबाबू व अबरार का घर मेरे घर के एक घर के बाद है लालबाबू के पिता लखनऊ में रहकर ठीकेदारी करते हैं लालबाबू और अबरार के अलावे उनके परिवार के लोग लखनउ रहते है लालबाबू व अबरार का खर्च अमरुद्दीन भेजते थे अबरार की शादी से पूर्व ही लालबाबू अलग रहते थे अमरुद्दीन ने लालबाबू की शादी के बाद से लालबाबू को अलग कर दिया था लालबाबू व अबरार का खाना अलग-अलग बनाते खाते है घर एक ही कोठरी अलग अलग बटवारा हुआ है अबरार की शादी हुई तो लालबाबू अलग रहते थे और लालबाबू की दादी नगैतुन लालबाबू के साथ रहती थी लालबाबू अबरार के बीच अबरार की शादी से पहले से बोल चालू बन्द था लालबाबू अपनी पत्नी शबाना के साथ अलग रहते हैं।"

30. He has said in his cross-examination:

"अबरार के पिता लखनऊ रहते थे बाकी लालबाबू अबरार व उनकी पत्नियां एक ही घर मे रहती थी उस घर का मुख्य एक ही दरवाजा है।"

31. The explanation offered by Lal Babu in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and the preponderant evidence of three defence witnesses, one of whom is related to the appellants' family, though apparently not a blood-relative and the two other independent witnesses, DW-2 and DW-3, who have broadly spoken about the strained relations between the two brothers, both of whom were supported in their livelihood by their father's exertions and the fact that upon Lal Babu's marriage, their father had placed them in separate living quarters in the same house with no hearth to share, shows that two brothers hardly had any interaction as a family. There is consistent evidence that the two brothers did not speak to each other.

32. Now, in this background, whatever happened on the fateful night, was a matter between the appellant Abrar and the deceased. It is true that the marriage was a very short live one, and in that short period, there is testimony of PW-1 in his examination-in-chief that one month after marriage, the deceased had called him up to say that her in-laws Abrar and Lal Babu @ Ajmeri and Shabana Khatoon were demanding in dowry a gold chain, a gold ring and a motorcycle. The witness has testified that he told his daughter that whatever he had, he had given away in her marriage and now his circumstances did not permit him to give anything more. A week after this call, the deceased again called up PW-1, her father, and informed him that Abrar, Lal Babu and Shabana were threatening her that in the event the chain, the ring and the motorcycle were not given, they would not let her live. On 06.10.2013, there was yet another phone call from the deceased, where she told PW-1 that the three of her named in-laws were torturing her and demanding the dowry to be made good within a week, and else, they would do her to death. On 10.10.2013, the fateful phone call came from the appellant Abrar to PW-1 that he should immediately come over as Tajroon was very ill. PW-1 then went over to Tajroon's place, located in Dudahi only to find that her dead body was lying there. There was a ligature mark on her neck, a fact which convinced PW-1 that her in-laws had murdered her.

33. This witness in his cross-examination has testified to the effect that when he first spoke to his daughter over telephone to know about her welfare, she had told him that her in-laws were troubling her. He has said that he never informed the Police about his daughter being ill-treated or troubled by her in-laws. As regards, the appellants, Lal Babu and Shabana Khatoon, PW-1 has stated that none of them ever called him up on phone. He has further said that Shabana Khatoon had greeted him, but both of them did not say anything else. The relevant part of PW-1's cross-examination reads:

"लालबाबू ने कभी मुझे फोन नही किया। शवाना ने भी कभी हमे फोन नहीं किया। मैं जब अपनी बेटी से मिलने गया था तो शवाना ने मुझे सलाम किया। उन लोगों ने मुझसे और कोई बात नहीं किया। मैंने भी उनका हाल चाल नही पूछा था।"

34. So far as PW-2, Smt. Nazroon, the deceased's sister is concerned, she has testified in her examination-in-chief that her younger sister was treated with cruelty and violence by her husband, brother-in-law Lal Babu and sister-in-law Shabana Khatoon in connection with their demand of a motorcycle, a gold chain and a gold ring that they wanted in dowry. This information was given to her by the deceased Tajroon over mobile phone, during conversation the two had. In her cross-examination, in one part of it, that is reproduced hereinabove, this witness has expressed her lack of acquaintance with the deceased's husband and in-laws and acknowledged having never visited her sister. In her cross-examination, she has asserted that the deceased had told her that the appellants Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu would demand a motorcycle, gold chain and a gold ring in dowry. This information, the witness had acquired during a telephonic conversation with the deceased, as the cross-examination would show. She had never been to their households or knew any of the appellants personally, much less intimately. In her cross-examination, this witness has further said in answer to a question by the Court that she knew about violence and cruelty for the purpose of demand of dowry, but did not know how Tajroon died.

35. PW-3, Naeem Ansari, in his examination-in-chief has said that a month after her marriage, his sister called him up on phone to say that her husband Abrar, brother-in-law Lal Babu and his wife Shabana Khatoon would beat her up and torture her demanding in dowry a motorcycle and they had further said that in the event the demand was not made good, they would not spare her life. In his cross-examination, this witness has said about the demand for dowry that when his sister called his father, she had told the latter about the dowry demand by her in-laws, but they did not lodge any complaint with the Police. It is also said in the cross-examination by this witness that his sister had told them, which means her parents' family, that the appellants are greedy in nature and it is for that reason that they were demanding a motorcycle, a chain and a ring. About the motorcycle, that was already given at the time of marriage, the witness has said, he does not remember in whose name it was purchased. It is further on said that it was Abrar, who would repeatedly come up with the demand for dowry. The witness also says in his cross-examination that notwithstanding the information about cruelty in connection with demand of dowry, they did not lodge any complaint with the Police nor did they seek the intervention of their close relatives or friends in order to resolve the matter through a panchayat.

36. Now, so far as cruelty and the demand of dowry is concerned, there are consistent allegations by the three prosecution witnesses against the appellant Abrar, who was the deceased's husband, with convincing reasons why this kind of a demand would have been made. After all, it was Abrar, who was the deceased's husband, and for small gains to be made, like a motorcycle, a gold chain or gold ring, it is natural that these would be considerations for the appellant Abrar to act in the manner he appears to have done. There is convincing evidence on record to show that Abrar and his brother Lal Babu had separate households within the same premises with a partition being brought about by their father, who appears to be the earning member of the family, living in Lucknow. The separate households for the two sons were set up by their father, when Lal Babu was married, and it has come in evidence of the defence witnesses that the two brothers did not see eye-to-eye and were hardly on speaking terms. In our opinion, therefore, the fact that there was cruelty inflicted upon the deceased in connection with demand for dowry has to be limited to the appellant Abrar, the deceased's husband. We say so because Lal Babu and wife Shabana lived in a separate household and Lal Babu apparently was not on good terms with his brother. The two hardly spoke to each other. In these circumstances, to infer that Lal Babu and his wife Shabana would join cause with Abrar, the appellant, in subjecting the deceased to cruelty in connection with demand for dowry, is rather illogical. The gainer would be the husband and so the perpetrator.

37. The evidence against Lal Babu and Shabana, indulging in violence or treating the deceased with cruelty in connection with demand for dowry along with Abrar, is based mostly on telephonic conversations, that PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 had with the deceased. The evidence shows that post marriage, the deceased had never come back home to her parents nor the parents or siblings had opportunity to interact with her. The information that the witnesses had from the deceased was, therefore, scanty and one which cannot be mechanically accepted for all the appellants. Abrar, being the husband, would of course take the blame for any cruelty that was inflicted in connection with the demand for dowry, but there is no reason to accept this part of the evidence against Abrar′s brother and sister-in-law, who are already estranged with him. In our opinion, the learned Trial Judge has not given due weightage to the defence witnesses or the explanation by the appellants Lal Babu and Shabana and gone mostly by the prosecution evidence and almost a presumption to find against them on the fact of infliction of cruelty in connection with demand for dowry upon the deceased.

38. Coming to the homicide or the unnatural death that the deceased met, it again happened in the room where Abrar and his wife stayed. Apparently, it happened by night and there was no reason at that hour for the appellants Lal Babu and Shabana to be there. The two were living in separate households, albeit in the same house and premises. It is true that the cause of death is asphyxia on account of strangulation and the hyoid bone is fractured, as the doctor reports. Abrar, who was presumed to be with his wife by night, could have the charge under Section 302 IPC considered against him on the basis of circumstantial evidence. The Trial Court logically should have first considered evidence on the charge under Section 302 IPC and tested it, if the charge could be proved by the exacting standards required in a case of circumstantial evidence. If the said charge was not proved, then the case under Section 304-B IPC could have been examined on a presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, because the prosecution has after all proved cruelty in connection with dowry demand, at least by Abrar, immediately before the unnatural death. The marriage, of course, was well within seven years. Thus, the Trial Court did not do, and instead, proceeded straight away to consider the charge under Section 304-B IPC with reference to the evidence on record. This charge, it held proved against the appellant Abrar, besides the two other appellants.

39. Even if this Court were to feel that there is a case where the Court should consider circumstantial evidence against Abrar on the charge under Section 302 IPC, we cannot do that in view of the provisions of Section 386(b) Cr.P.C. in the absence of an appeal for enhancement of sentence under Section 386(c) Cr.P.C. There is neither an appeal for enhancement of sentence by the State nor by the complainant nor a revision by either of them. The only other option available with the Court is to order a retrial. This is not a case of ordering a retrial because that is a course which has to be treaded with much caution. The reason is that retrial wipes out all evidence that has hither to been recorded and with passage of time, it may not be possible for good and sound evidence to be led again. Therefore, this Court has to exercise powers in accordance with Section 386(b) Cr.P.C., either reversing the finding and sentence and acquitting the appellant, alter the finding, maintaining the sentence, or with or without altering the finding, alter the nature or the extent, or the nature and extent, of the sentence, but without enhancing the same, to borrow almost the phraseology of the statute. Reference in this connection, on the limitation of our powers to convict the appellant on a different charge and enhance the sentence, is well elucidated in Sachin v. State of Maharashtra, (2025) 9 SCC 507, where it has been held:

"57. However, in this case, our focus of attention is whether, in the absence of any appeal or revision filed by the State, a complainant or a victim in a particular case and when the appeal has been filed only by the accused assailing the judgment of conviction and sentence, the High Court can exercise its revisional jurisdiction while dealing with an appeal filed by the accused/convict. In other words, when an accused is seeking setting aside of a judgment of conviction and sentence, can the High Court, in the absence of there being any challenge to the same from any other quarter, suo motu exercise its revisional power and thereby condemn the accused by awarding an enhancement in his sentence. Even if an opportunity of hearing is given to such an accused/convict, we do not think that the High Court can exercise its revisional jurisdiction under Section 401CrPC while exercising its appellate jurisdiction in an appeal filed by the accused/convict in the High Court. All that the High Court can do is to set aside the judgment of conviction and sentence and acquit the accused, or while doing so, order for a retrial or, in the alternative, while maintaining the conviction, reduce the sentence. In other words, in an appeal filed by the accused/convict, the High Court cannot suo motu exercise its revisional jurisdiction and enhance the sentence against the accused while maintaining the conviction.

58. In this regard, we find that the expression "but not so as to enhance the same" in sub-clause (iii) of clause (b) of Section 386CrPC throws some light on the view we have taken, which reads as under:

"386. Powers of the appellate court.-

(b) in an appeal from a conviction-

(iii) with or without altering the finding, alter the nature or the extent, or the nature and extent, of the sentence, but not so as to enhance the same;"

Although the said expression "but not so as to enhance the same" is in the context of sub-clause (iii) of clause (b) of Section 386, the spirit of the said provision must be understood, inasmuch as while maintaining the finding of conviction, the High Court cannot exercise its suo motu revisional jurisdiction under Section 401CrPC and enhance sentence awarded to the appellant-accused.

61. In this regard, it must be noted that for exercise of powers of the appellate court for enhancement of sentence in an appeal filed either by the State or the complainant or the victim, CrPC provides that the appellate court can reverse the finding and sentence and acquit or discharge the accused or order him to be retried by a court competent to try the offence or alter the finding by maintaining the sentence or with or without altering the finding, alter the nature or the extent, of the sentence but not so as to enhance the same. Thus, the power to enhance the sentence can be exercised by the appellate court only in an appeal filed by the State, victim or complainant provided the accused has had an opportunity of showing cause against such enhancement. It is further provided that the appellate court shall not inflict greater punishment for the offence which in its opinion the accused has committed, than might have been inflicted for that offence by the court passing the order of sentence under appeal. Therefore, even in an appeal for enhancement of sentence, unless the conditions prescribed in the form of provisos are complied with by the appellate court, there cannot be an enhancement of sentence. Obviously in such an appeal for enhancement of sentence, the convict or the accused is the respondent and therefore there cannot be enhancement of sentence unless the accused or convict has been heard.

62. However, under the scheme of Section 386 vis-a-vis in an appeal for enhancement of sentence there can also be an acquittal of the accused as per sub-clause (i) of clause (c) of Section 386. But, on the other hand, in an appeal from a conviction, it has been expressly stated that there cannot be enhancement of the sentence. Therefore, while in an appeal for enhancement of sentence filed by the State, the accused can make out a case for acquittal or discharge or retrial, in the case of an appeal from conviction, the respondent in such an appeal, namely, the State or the victim or the complainant cannot seek enhancement of the sentence than what has been awarded by the trial court. The above distinction can be explained by way of a Latin maxim which has been discussed by Ujjal Bhuyan, J., while in the Bombay High Court [Jyoti Plastic Works (P) Ltd. v. Union of India, (2021) 15 GSTR-OL 453 : 2020 SCC OnLine Bom 2276] , in the following words: (Jyoti Plastic Works case [Jyoti Plastic Works (P) Ltd. v. Union of India, (2021) 15 GSTR-OL 453 : 2020 SCC OnLine Bom 2276] , SCC OnLine Bom para 40)

"40. In this connection we may refer to the maxim reformatio in peius. It is a Latin phrase meaning a change towards the worse i.e. a change for the worse. As a legal expression it means that a lower court judgment is amended by a higher court into a worse one for those appealing it. In many jurisdictions, this practice is forbidden ensuring that an appellant cannot be placed in a worse position as a result of filing an appeal. When the above phrase is prefixed by the words "no" or "prohibition", which would render the maxim as no reformatio in peius or prohibition of reformatio in peius, it would denote a principle of procedure as per which using a remedy available in law should not aggravate the situation of the person who avails the remedy. In other words, a person should not be placed in a worse position as a result of filing an appeal. No reformatio in peius or prohibition of reformatio in peius is a part of fair procedure and thus by extension can also be construed as part of natural justice. It is not only a procedural guarantee but is also a principle of equity."

63. The rationale of the above can be explained in simple language by stating that no appellant by filing an appeal can be worse off than what he was. That is exactly what we are seeking to reiterate in our judgment having regard to the facts of the present case.

40. Now, that the Trial Court has not considered the charge under Section 302 IPC, and instead, the charge under Section 304-B IPC alone has been tested vis-a-vis the appellant Abrar, besides the two other appellants, pragmatically, we can either affirm the finding and sentence or acquit the appellant, or alter the finding and alter the nature or the extent, or the nature and extent of the sentence. The evidence against Abrar, that appears, surely shows, as already found, that it was he who would treat his wife with cruelty in connection with demand of dowry immediately before her death, so much so that a distress call was given by the deceased to her father earlier in the evening and in the night died an unnatural death on account of strangulation. The presumption under section 113-B of the Evidence Act would attach. Abrar, the appellant, has hardly discharged the burden of proof cast upon him under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act to show that he had not caused the dowry death charged against him.

41. Considering the nature of evidence, which is about strangulation and Abrar being the husband, we are of opinion that no interference with the impugned judgment, vis-a-vis Abrar is called for. We would, therefore, in the case of Abrar affirm both the conviction and the sentence. So far as the appellants, Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu are concerned, we have already held that there is not much reliable evidence against them that they too treated the deceased with cruelty in connection with demand for dowry immediately before her unnatural death. There is no scope to delve into the feasibility of considering if the charge under Section 302 IPC is proved against these appellants, in the absence of an appeal by the State for enhancement of sentence or a revision or appeal by the complainant. Even otherwise, circumstantially the evidence against Lal Babu and his wife does not inspire confidence about their involvement in the deceased′s unnatural death in any manner. We have expressed our reasons for so concluding and need not recapitulate. In a conviction under Section 304-B IPC unless it is established by evidence that soon before the victim′s unnatural death, she was subjected to cruelty in connection with demand for dowry, the presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act cannot be raised. This is precisely the case here. Reference in this connection may be made to Baijnath v. State of M.P., (2017) 1 SCC 101. In Baijnath (supra), it was held by the Supreme Court:

"29. Noticeably this presumption as well is founded on the proof of cruelty or harassment of the woman dead for or in connection with any demand for dowry by the person charged with the offence. The presumption as to dowry death thus would get activated only upon the proof of the fact that the deceased lady had been subjected to cruelty or harassment for or in connection with any demand for dowry by the accused and that too in the reasonable contiguity of death. Such a proof is thus the legislatively mandated prerequisite to invoke the otherwise statutorily ordained presumption of commission of the offence of dowry death by the person charged therewith.

30. A conjoint reading of these three provisions, thus predicate the burden of the prosecution to unassailably substantiate the ingredients of the two offences by direct and convincing evidence so as to avail the presumption engrafted in Section 113-B of the Act against the accused. Proof of cruelty or harassment by the husband or his relative or the person charged is thus the sine qua non to inspirit the statutory presumption, to draw the person charged within the coils thereof. If the prosecution fails to demonstrate by cogent, coherent and persuasive evidence to prove such fact, the person accused of either of the abovereferred offences cannot be held guilty by taking refuge only of the presumption to cover up the shortfall in proof.

31. The legislative primature of relieving the prosecution of the rigour of the proof of the often practically inaccessible recesses of life within the guarded confines of a matrimonial home and of replenishing the consequential void, by according a presumption against the person charged, cannot be overeased to gloss over and condone its failure to prove credibly, the basic facts enumerated in the sections involved, lest justice is the casualty.

32. This Court while often dwelling on the scope and purport of Section 304-B of the Code and Section 113-B of the Act have propounded that the presumption is contingent on the fact that the prosecution first spell out the ingredients of the offence of Section 304-B as in Shindo v. State of Punjab [Shindo v. State of Punjab, (2011) 11 SCC 517 : (2011) 3 SCC (Cri) 394] and echoed in Rajeev Kumar v. State of Haryana [Rajeev Kumar v. State of Haryana, (2013) 16 SCC 640 : (2014) 6 SCC (Cri) 346] . In the latter pronouncement, this Court propounded that one of the essential ingredients of dowry death under Section 304-B of the Code is that the accused must have subjected the woman to cruelty in connection with demand for dowry soon before her death and that this ingredient has to be proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt and only then the Court will presume that the accused has committed the offence of dowry death under Section 113-B of the Act. It referred to with approval, the earlier decision of this Court in K. Prema S. Rao v. Yadla Srinivasa Rao [K. Prema S. Rao v. Yadla Srinivasa Rao, (2003) 1 SCC 217 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 271] to the effect that to attract the provision of Section 304-B of the Code, one of the main ingredients of the offence which is required to be established is that "soon before her death" she was subjected to cruelty and harassment" in connection with the demand for dowry"."

42. In this case, we have already held that on the evidence led by the prosecution, a case of cruelty in connection with dowry demand is not at all established against Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu, the two appellants in Criminal Appeal No. 856 of 2020. Once the presumption is not raised, conviction as ordered by the Trial Court on its basis under Section 304-B IPC cannot be sustained. No case under Section 4 of the DP Act and under Section 498-A IPC, for the selfsame reason, is also made out against these two appellants.

43. Therefore, so far as Criminal Appeal No.856 of 2020 is concerned, we would acquit the appellants, Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu on all three counts, to wit, under Section 304-B/ 34, 498-A/ 34 IPC and Section 4 of the DP Act.

44. In the result, Criminal Appeal No.1080 of 2020 fails and is dismissed. Criminal Appeal No. 856 of 2020 succeeds and is allowed. The appellants, Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu, are acquitted. They need not surrender. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged.

45. The appellants, Smt. Shabana Khatoon and Lal Babu shall execute a personal bond each in the sum of Rs.25,000/- under Section 481 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (corresponding to Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) for their appearance, in the event of an appeal being preferred against their acquittal.

46. Let this order be communicated to the appellant Abrar Ahmad in Criminal Appeal No.1080 of 2020 through the Jail Superintendent of the Jail, where he is serving, by the Registrar (Compliance).

47. Let the lower court records be returned.

FACTS

(2) The prosecution case, in short, is that complainant, Banwari Lal son of Nazeer Lal, resident of village Mansa-Ka-Purwa, Police Station Salon, District Raebareli, had submitted written report (Ext. Ka.1) at police station Unchahar, district Raebareli on 25.05.2002, alleging therein that they (complainant and his companions) move from place to place and live by setting up temporary camps. On 24.05.2002, they had shifted from village Kakriha, police station Sangramgarh, district Pratapgarh to village Hariharpur, a hamlet of Nigoha, Police Station Unchahar and set up their camps at 03:00 p.m., in the field of Raja Ram Maurya, located to the south of Gram Pradhan Jagat Narayan's house. Due to storm and rains in night, their camp collapsed, on account of which, some people were sleeping in the verandah in front of the shop of Pradhan; some people were awake and some people were in camp. Meanwhile, 3-4 persons were seen coming from the southern side towards the village. They (assailants), upon reaching the camp, started beating with danda (sticks), then, they (complainant and others) ran shouting, upon which the assailants dragged the victim (wife of Sitaram) to some distance. Pokhai son of Nazeer Lal ran to rescue her, therefore, one of the assailant fired at him (Pokhai) with a country-made pistol (dV~Vk). Pokhai, shouting and running, fell down in a ditch ([kUrh) aside the road and died. Among them (complainant and his companions), Teerath Nath son of Pokhai, Bhungi son of Chattrapal, Shobnath son of Navrangi, Lalalu Navrangi and Jokhai son of Langad, resident of village Mansa-Ka-Purwa and Mithilesh Kumar son of Sitaram and Suresh Kumar son of Nandlal and Sanjay Kumar son of Rampher and others of Hariharpur etc., ran shouting and identified the assailants, but on account of fear, they (complainant and others) could not go ahead. They would identify the assailants, if came before them. After taking the victim to some distance and committing wrongful act with her, the assailants left her. This incident is of 25.05.2002 at about 01:30 in the night. Report may be registered and legal action may be taken.

(10) Thereafter, further investigating was entrusted to Circle Officer Avadh Bihari Rakesh on 09.07.2002 against accused Anwar Ali. (15) In addition to the aforesaid, the prosecution also placed on record x-ray plate of the victim as material exhibit-1 and proved it.

(16) After closure of evidence of prosecution, the statement of accused persons under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 09.11.2010, in which they stated that the case has been instituted against them on account of enmity and conspiracy of police.

In addition, accused Udai Raj, in his statement, has stated that he is innocent. He has been implicated in the murder case of Rajendra Maurya, in which he was acquitted. After being acquitted in that case, he had written letter against the police officials, due to which the police bore a grudge against him.

Accused Ramu, in his statement, has stated that he was not involved in the incident. The police, on account of malice, have falsely challaned him.

Accused Anwar Ali, in his statement, has stated that he was not involved in any such incident.

Accused Shankar Nai, in his statement, has stated that he was falsely implicated in the murder case of Rajendra Maurya, in which he was acquitted and he had taken action against the police, on account of which he has been falsely implicated.

Accused Paras Nath, in his statement, has stated that he did not commit any incident. He was working at Kamlesh′s brick kiln and was staying there on that night. The police have falsely challaned him.

Accused Ram Sajeevan, in his statement, has stated that he did not commit any incident. Earlier, the police of Police Station Unchahar had implicated him in the murder of Rajendra Maurya and after being acquitted from that case, he had written letter against the police, on account of which, the police has falsely implicated him in this case.

Accused Rati Pal has also stated in his statement that in the murder case of Rajendra Maurya, the police of Police Station Unchahar had falsely implicated him after being acquitted in that case, he had taken action against the police, on account of which, the police has again falsely implicated him.

(17) In defence, one witness, namely, Mithilesh Kumar was examined as D.W.1 in oral evidence. In documentary evidence, a certified copy of the order passed in Case Crime No. 294 of 2004 of Police Station Unchahar, District Raebareli, was placed on record.

(18) The trial Court, after hearing learned Counsel for the parties and considering oral and documentary evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused persons by means of the impugned judgment and order dated 03.02.2011 in the manner as stated in paragraph-1 here-in-above in this judgment.

(19) Feeling aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and order dated 03.02.2011, accused/convicts Anwar Ali, Ramu alias Ram Kumar and Ram Sajivan Patel have preferred Criminal Appeal No. 538 of 2011 and accused/convicts Rati Pal Patel, Paras Nath Patel, Udai Raj and Shanker Nai preferred Criminal Appeal No. 550 of 2011.

(20) Since both, Criminal Appeal No. 538 of 2011 and Criminal Appeal No. 550 of 2021, arising out of a common case crime number and common judgment and order dated 03.02.2011 and common facts, therefore, they have been clubbed, heard and are being decided together by means of this common judgment and order.

(21) It is pertinent to mention that appellant no.1-Rati Pal Patel in Criminal Appeal No. 550 of 2011 is on bail granted by Hon′ble Supreme Court vide order dated 04.02.2025 passed in Criminal Appeal No. 574 of 2025; Rati Pal Patel Versus State of U.P., whereas other appellants in both the appeals are in jail.

Arguments :

(22) Heard Shri Jagdish Prasad Upadhyay, learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants and Shri Pawan Kumar Mishra, learned A.G.A. for the State.

Submissions on behalf of the appellants:

(23) Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the impugned judgment and order has been passed by the trial Court against the law and facts as well as against the weight of evidence on record, recording perverse and erroneous findings on the basis of surmises and conjectures. The prosecution has failed to prove it′s case beyond all reasonable doubt and apparently no case, under which the conviction could be made, is made out against the appellants. He further submitted that the appellants were not named in the FIR, which was lodged against 3-4 unknown persons, but subsequently seven persons were implicated, without any identification parade from prosecutrix (name is not being given as she is victim), on account of police enmity with the connivance of police because the victim belonged to Banjara community and had come with the group on the same day, therefore, she could not have personally known to the appellants and identified. She also could not personally identify the appellants in Court room. He further submitted that the victim was major in age and the medical report does not corroborate the prosecution story, therefore, the allegation of gang rape is false. It has also been submitted that the ghaghra of the victim was allegedly seized, but the petticoat was sent for forensic examination, which renders recovery doubtful and also bellies the prosecution case because the victim was not wearing anything under ghaghra.

(24) Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the prosecution witnesses of fact are interested witnesses and does not inspire any confidence and all other witnesses are formal witnesses. There is no corroborative evidence. The post- mortem report and medical of the victim does not support the prosecution case. Learned trial court has failed to consider and rely eye account of the defence witness. PW.1 and PW.2 have not assigned any role of firing to the appellants, hence the allegation under Section 302 I.P.C. is not corroborated by statement of witnesses. Even otherwise, it has been submitted that the prosecution witnesses have unequivocally deposed that assailant had fired on Pokhai, when he chased the culprit attempting to take away the victim, therefore, the murder was not premeditated so the conviction could not have been made under Section 302 IPC and it could have been made only under section 304 IPC, if the Court was of the view that the offence of murder proved all beyond reasonable doubt.

(25) Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that there is no evidence on record to prove essential elements to constitute unlawful assembly as defined under Section 141 I.P.C. The FIR and the statements under section 161 Cr.P.C. shows involvement of only 3-4 persons and the purpose of unlawful assembly has not been proved, therefore, the provisions of section 149 I.P.C. are not attracted. It has further been submitted that the conviction could not have been made separately under Sections 147 and 148 I.P.C. together for the same offence, for the reason that if the accused is being convicted in an aggravated form of offence under section 148 I.P.C., he could not have been convicted separately under section 143 I.P.C. or 147 I.P.C.

(26) Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that this Court may take judicial notice of certain universal, social, legal and behavioural facts for evaluating the prosecution case, such as the natural basic instinct of living and non-living being for sexual desire for which they involve themselves in all kinds of fear and foul play. It is also recognized by the international covenant on human rights. It has also been submitted that to fulfill the said desire the partners may go to any extent, even causing murder, if obstructed in any manner. The laws, relating gender equality and protection to weaker section and female are being misused instead of following in letter and spirit. The courts have already observed that the police is an organized group of dacoits in uniform. The witnesses may lie but circumstances do not. Thus, it has been submitted that victim may have been seen with her partner by her uncle, therefore, he would have killed her uncle and the appellants have falsely been implicated due to police enmity.

(27) Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the provisions of SC/ST Act are not attracted in the present case because neither deceased nor the victim belonged to any of the cast notified as SC or ST by the State Government. It has also not been proved that the crime was committed only because the victim or the complainant belonged to SC or ST community. It has also been submitted that the charge-sheet was submitted under the provisions of S.C./S.T. Act also, therefore, the trial should have been held before the Special Court under the S.C./S.T. Act but it was held before a F.T.C. Court. Thus, the impugned judgment and order is liable to be set-aside only on the ground of without jurisdiction.

(28) Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the entire investigation was tainted and made in a very casual manner only to implicate the appellants only without following the due procedure, therefore, on the basis of said investigation neither the charge-sheet could have been filed nor the appellants would have been convicted. Thus, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the impugned judgment and order is not sustainable in the eyes of law and liable to be set aside and the appellants are liable to be acquitted of all the charges.

(29) Learned Counsel for the appellants relies on Gireesan Nair Vs. State of Kerala; AIR OnLine 2022 SC 919, Dana Yadav @ Dahu & others Vs. State of Bihar; 2002 (7) SCC 295, Bhagwan Singh & others Vs. State of M.P.; 2003 (3) SCC 21, Allauddin Mian and others Sharif Mian and another Vs. Submissions on behalf of the State:

(30) Learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed the submissions of learned counsel for the appellants. He submitted that the PW1, PW2 and PW4 have supported the prosecution case and the post-mortem report as well as medical report of the victim corroborates the prosecution case. Thus, the prosecution has proved the case beyond all reasonable doubt. The submissions advanced by learned counsel for the appellants in regard to the applicability of the legal provisions is totally misconceived and not tenable in the eyes of law. The contention that this Court may take judicial notice of certain facts, as stated by learned counsel for the appellants, is misconceived and not tenable; firstly because the same are based on unauthenticated documents and secondly judicial notice, if any, can be drawn only of the facts in terms of section 57 of the Evidence Act. Thus, the contentions raised by learned counsel for the appellants are highly misconceived and not tenable in the eyes of law. The learned trial court has passed the impugned judgment and order, considering and dealing the evidence and material on record appropriately by a reasoned and speaking order, which does not suffer from any error or illegality. The appeals have been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds, having no merit, liable to be dismissed.

(31) We have cogitated on the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and examined the records.

(32) The facts, on which there seems no dispute on the basis of submissions of learned counsel for the parties and records, are that the victim and the complainant belonged to a nomadic (Banjara) community, which roam around place to place with their group for livelihood and live setting up their camps, which is called 'Dera'. On 24.05.2002, they shifted from village Kakriha, Police Station Sangramgarh, Pratapgarh to Hariharpur, a hamlet of Nigoha. Police Station Unchahar, Raibareli. The camps were set up at about 3.00 PM in the field of Raja Ram Maurya, located in the South of Gram Pradhan Jagat Narayan's house. There was an storm and rains on that very night, on account of which the camps had collapsed, consequently some people were sleeping in the veranda in front of the shop of the Pradhan, some people were awake and some people were in their camps. An incident occurred in the intervening night of 24/25.05.2002, on account of which an FIR was came to be lodged by the complainant on the basis of a written complaint against 3-4 unknown persons. Thus, the first contention raised by learned Counsel for the appellants is that since FIR was lodged only against 3-4 persons, 7 persons have wrongly and illegally been implicated on account of enmity with the police and with their collusion, therefore, the prosecution case is not sustainable on this ground alone and impugned judgment and order is liable to be set aside.

(33) The aforesaid contention of learned counsel for the appellants is misconceived and not tenable only on the aforesaid ground of increase in numbers of the accused persons during investigation because it is settled in law that FIR is not an encyclopedia of the prosecution case. It is only the first information of the occurrence, as is apparent from the nomenclature FIR; First Information Report of the occurrence, meaning thereby it is only to inform to the police as to what kind of incident has taken place. Thus, it is neither expected nor required that the FIR would contain every minute detail of the occurrence and the number of the persons also, particularly where the occurrence had taken place under the darkness of night.

(34) The evidence on record shows that the complainant (P.W.2), the victim (P.W.1) and son of deceased Pokhai (P.W.4), who are witnesses of fact, were persons of a nomadic community residing temporarily in the camps along with their group, which roam around and had come to the place of occurrence only on the previous day of occurrence at about 03:00 in the afternoon and they were not previously acquainted with the persons of area and know them or the assailants. Thus, when the accused were unknown, it is natural that their names did not find place in the F.I.R. However, the prosecution is required to prove the involvement of all the accused persons in the alleged crime, surfaced during investigation, beyond all reasonable doubt with their identity on the basis of cogent evidence, particularly in the facts and circumstances of the case in which the FIR was lodged, promptly after the incident by the person, who was witness to the incident of crime of murder, kidnapping and rape and no description of any of the assailant was given. This Court is also conscious of the fact that in such cases the Court is required to evaluate the evidence and material on record with due care and caution keeping in mind the settled principles governing appreciation of testimony of the victim as well as other witnesses.

(35) The FIR of the incident, at about 1.30 AM, in the intervening night of 24/25.05.2002, was lodged on the basis of written complaint at 5:30 AM on 25.05.2002. According to the prosecution version, 3-4 persons were seen coming from the south towards the village and upon reaching the 'Dera', they started beating by stick (danda), therefore, the complainant and other persons started shouting, upon which they dragged the victim wife of Sitaram to some distance. Pokhai son of Nazeer ran to get freed the victim, when a person from them fired on him by a country made pistol, on account of which he ran shouting and fell in a ditch near the road and died. Teerath Nath s/o Pokhai, Bhungi s/o Chhtrapal, Shobhnath s/o Navrangi, Lalau s/o Navrangi, Pokhai s/o Langad r/o Mansha ka Purwa and Mithilesh Kumar s/o Sitaram, Suresh Kumar s/o Nand Lal and Sanjay Kumar of Hariharpur etc. ran exhorting and identified, but on account of fear could not go behind them, however, they can recognise them on seeing. They took the victim to a long distance and after doing bad work left her.

(36) The victim appeared as PW1. She deposed that she is of Mangta caste. The Dera was set up at 3.00 in the noon. The storm and rain had come in the night after taking food. Some people went in Dera and some slept in the Verandah of Pradhan. She was in camp along with her uncle, aunt and son of her aunt and Pokhai, who was her grandfather, but subsequently referred him as uncle. At about 12:00-1:00 in the night, miscreants came and started beating. As she tried to ran, the accused, Anwar present in Court caught her. Pokhai ran to save her, then Anwar fired on him by country made pistol, on account of which he died. Anwar handed her over to his colleagues, who dragged her to the bed of canal. Five miscreants came and all the seven plundered her dignity against her wishes and forcibly raped. Firstly Anwar raped her and thereafter the remaining persons raped her one by one. Thereafter, Anwar gave her Rs. 60/- to get her treatment done. He also asked not to tell about it to anybody and the accused persons left her at some distance. She was medically examined. She further deposed that after three days of the incident the police personals had shown her the photographs first and thereafter caught certain persons and brought. She identified. They had committed rape with her.

(37) P.W.1 further deposed that the night was alight. She could identify the accused persons. She identified 6 out of 9 accused persons present in court and deposed that they had committed rape with her. The trial Court has recorded that there are seven accused persons out of which one has given an application for exemption. The remaining are standing in the cage. Their names were asked, upon which they told their names as Shankar, Ratipal, Udairaj, Parasnath, Ram Sajeevan and Anwar. The defence raised objection on this proceeding.

(38) P.W.1 further deposed that she could identify all the accused. The accused Anwar had given her Rs. 60/-. She had objected to it. He, after giving Rs. 60/-, asked to get the treatment done of all the places, wherever she had got injuries. He had also given four tablets but she had not taken. The medicine and Rs. 60/- were given by her to the Constable, but subsequently she said that she had given it to Banwari, who gave to police. On the next date also, she identified all the accused persons, who were present in the trial Court. The trial Court recorded its observation that all the accused persons named in the charge-sheet are present.

(39) P.W.1 further deposed that on account of rape, her ghagra was blood stained, which was black, white, red, green and blue stripped. It was taken into custody by the police. Her medical examination was done in the District Hospital Raebareli and x-ray was also done.

(40) P.W.1 was extensively cross-examined. She deposed that she did not know the accused persons previously. They have no permanent residence. They had come in the village on the date of incident at 3:00 in the day. She further deposed that when the miscreants had come, they were sleeping. They had not made any robbery. She also deposed that they were beating by white lead. The miscreants had first started beating the people in camp. They had beaten all the persons in the camp but she could not tell as to how many persons were beaten. She had suffered injuries of stick over her whole body, which was shown by her to the doctor. She also deposed that on account of sudden attack many persons had left the place and ran away but she could not run because as soon as she tried to run she was caught by the miscreants. She also deposed that she does not have the knowledge of directions. She was taken out of the camps towards the canal and not towards the village. The canal is about one kilometer away and they did not took her across the canal. She was not taken dragging, rather the accused lifted her. Her uncle was shot by a country-made pistol, on account of which she could not cry.

(41) P.W.1 further deposed that there was no clothe on her body because the clothes were torn by the accused, however, the clothes were not thrown and given to her. She further deposed that she had told to the Inspector that when they took her lifting then she was naked. Her clothes were torn. If it was not written by the Inspector in her statement, she cannot tell the reason. She also deposed that she had handed over to the police. She further deposed that neither her shirt was torn nor she had given it to the police. She further deposed that she had given the statement on the last date by mistake that at that time clothes were not on her body, clothes were torn, the clothes were not thrown by the accused but given to her. She is stating it on the memory and not on tutoring.

(42) P.W.1 also deposed that while she was being taken by the accused persons, she was throwing her legs and hands. Her bangles were broken, on account of which she had suffered injuries in the hands and she had shown them to the doctor. She also deposed that the canal, where she was taken, had no water. She had not seen that she was taken across the canal. She again reiterated that the accused persons had came to some distance and the accused had given her Rs. 60/-. She also deposed that the ground, where the rape was committed was uneven. She does not recollect as to whether there was any water. She did not wear anything under the ghaghra. She also deposed that at the time of rape also, she was objecting and throwing hands and legs. Accused persons did bite on her cheeks. The marks of the teeth and scratches were left on her body. She had not made any objection to the rape with her. She had not kept her leg on leg. The bad work was done by all seven accused persons. She does not recollect as to how much time they had taken in rape. The blood had come from vagina, which spread in the clothes. She had shown the marks of blood and scratch of nails to the police personals. She also deposed that she had not taken bath between the incident and going with the police.

(43) P.W.1 further deposed that she also does not recollect as to how much time she remained with the police personals. The medical was conducted on the same day and she had not taken bath before medical. She further deposed that when she came back after the incident of rape, she came to know that her uncle has died. She, pointing out towards the accused Anwar, said that at the place of incident, he had asked not to flaunt, otherwise she would also be killed as her uncle has been killed. Before that she did not know that uncle has been killed. She further deposed that she had not told about the height, age, body etc. of the accused to the police. The identification of the accused persons was got done by the police in the police station Unchahar. At that time all the accused persons were lodged in police station Unchahar. Firstly, the photographs of the accused persons were shown to her but she could not identify. Secondly the police had got identified after 2-3 days, then she identified. She also deposed that she had gone with the Inspector at the place of incident of rape. The constable had also accompanied them. The place of incident of rape was at a distance of 10 - 15 steps from canal. A staple fibre (Phuchada) of Ghaghra was found at the place of incident. The police had taken it in custody. She denied the suggestion that any such incident had not happened and she has given false evidence on tutoring by the counsel. She also admitted that besides the government counsel, she has also engaged a private counsel.

(44) The victim, who appeared as P.W.1, is the star witness of the prosecution. However, there are contradictions and inconsistencies in her testimony, particularly in regard to identification of accused persons, place of incident of rape. It is apparent that she did not know the accused persons prior to the incident and she along with her group had come a day before the incident in the noon at the place of the incident. It is also reflected from her evidence that she was detained by the police for about three days and no test identification parade was conducted and she could not identify the accused persons in photographs and had identified the accused persons in lock up of police station and thereafter in Court, but there is no explanation by the prosecution as to why the victim was detained by police and where she was kept for such a long period and as to why Test Identification Parade was not got done. Thus, it is to be seen as to whether identification of accused persons by her is in accordance with law or not complicity of accused/appellants is otherwise proved or not and other evidence, medical and material corroborates the evidence of P.W.1 and the prosecution case or not and effect of the contradictions and inconsistencies in the evidence of the victim.

(45) The complainant Banwari appeared as PW2. He is the real brother of Pokhai; the deceased and uncle of the victim. However, initially the victim had referred the Pokhai as her grandfather but subsequently as uncle. He has stated that 6-7 persons had come from South. He along with others had shouted. The accused persons had dragged the victim for about 10 steps. She was not going, therefore, they lifted her. Pokhai tried to get her freed, therefore, they shot him dead. It was moonlight. Looking to the accused, Anwar, he said that he had shot fire on Pokhai. His name is Anwar. Pokhai went 10 steps and fell in ditch and died. He further deposed that the accused present in court took the victim towards the south near the canal. The defence raised objection on the identification of the accused persons in the Court.

(46) P.W.-2 further deposed that they chased the accused persons but due to fear, they could not proceed further and returned. After about 1 to $1^{1/2}$ hours, the victim (P.W.-1) returned and told weeping that all the seven accused persons had committed wrong act with her one by one near the canal. The accused persons had given Rs.60/- consisting of one note of Rs.50/- and another of Rs.10/- asking her to get the treatment done and did not tell to anybody about it. He further deposed that the victim had injuries in her hand, back and leg and was complaining of pain. Her ghaghra was stained with blood and was also torn a little. Thereafter, when the dawn broke and it became alight, he went to the house of a villager and got the report written. The incident was got written in the same manner as it was from that person, who read it over to him. After hearing it, he affixed his thumb impression thereon. The said application was given at the police station in the morning. He went to the police station alongwith Shobhnath, Bhungi, Pokhai, the victim and Lallau. He proved the written report as Paper No.3d/2 (Ext. Ka-1). On being read over to him, P.W.2 proved that the same was got written by him. He further deposed that the victim was detained at the police station and they had returned. The Inspector had come on the dera and recovered the empty cartridges near the ditch, where the Pokhai was lying dead. He had also recovered the plain and blood stained mud and kept in different boxes and the seizure memo were prepared. He further deposed that the Inspector had also taken custody of the ghaghra of the victim and Rs.60/-, which was given by the accused persons to her, which was given by her to him. The same was kept in an envelope and recovery memo was also prepared. He further deposed that the accused persons had come to the dera after the incident and asked for the compromise. They had also met while he had come to the Court and asked for the compromise.

(47) P.W.2 further deposed that the night was alight and everything clearly visible. However, in the cross-examination, he deposed that he does not recollect as to whether the moon was full or not. He had also not written in the report that the night was alight. The Investigating Officer had not asked from him as to in which light he had identified the accused persons. He, on his own, had informed the Investigating Officer that he had identified in the moon light and if it is not written in statement, then he can not tell the reason for it. Thus, identification of accused persons by him at the time of incident is doubtful on account of contradictions in his evidence.

(48) P.W.2-Banwari further deposed that he knows the number and after counting, he stated that seven persons are standing in cage since he is coming from last many days in the case. He further deposed in his cross-examination that they used to keep their dera in the village of incident occasionally. He further deposed that they had made their dera at about 03:00 in the day on the date of incident. They had not gone to the populated area of village. They were keeping camps up to the night. Thereafter, they prepared food. He neither identifies anybody in the village Hariharpur nor knows the parentage of anybody. He does not know anybody named Mithlesh Kumar son of Sitaram. He also does not know Suresh Kumar son of Nand Lal and Sanjay Kumar son of Ram Pher. He also does not know from whom he got the report written. The person had met him near the shop, which was at a distance of 4 - 6 steps from dera, which was in a wooden gumti. It was night, lantern was alight and it was dark. He does not know as to what was kept and being sold in the shop. The shopkeeper was sitting in the shop alongwith alight lantern. The paper was given by the said shopkeeper. When the report was got written, it would have been 04:00 in the morning. The police had not come by that time. He had told to the person, who had written the report that 6 - 7 persons were involved. He had not got heard the report. He had got read over the written report by an outsider before four steps from the police station then he had heard that it was written in the report that 6 - 7 persons were involved. The witness was read over the Ext. Ka-1 and told that involvement of 3 -4 persons is written, upon which, he stated that he had got written that 6 - 7 persons were involved. He had left the report at the Police Station and the copy was not given to him. Signatures were also not taken from him. He also deposed that he had told to the Inspector about involvement of 6 - 7 persons. Thus, the complainant could not tell as to from whom the F.I.R. was got written. He could also not tell properly about the source of light at the shop. He also could not tell the things sold in the shop. It all coupled with opening of shop at 04:00 in morning at a small place near village creates doubt about the place and person, who wrote the F.I.R., as he has also not been produced, particularly when a contrary defence evidence has been adduced, which could not be controverted.

(49) P.W.2-Banwari, on being pointed out towards the accused Anwar, stated that this man is of short, black coloured and double heavy body. However, he had not got written in the report that the person, who killed Pokhai by fire arm, was of short stature, black coloured and double heavy body. He had not got written the description of any accused and the clothes, which were worn by them. All the accused persons present in the Court are young. It was neither told to the Inspector nor got written in his statement. He further, in his cross-examination, denied the suggestion that he was demanding more money for the compromise from the accused persons, therefore, the compromise could not be made.

(50) P.W.2 also deposed that after the thunderstorm, 3 - 4 camps were again made. The dera was in the round shape and there was a distance of about a hand between two camps. Pokhai was lying in the verandah. The victim was in the dera of Shobhnath. The dera of Shobhnath was in the South of his dera at a distance of 10 steps. Two - Three persons, namely, Shobhnath, Pokhai and wife of Shobhnath were lying in the verandah. Firstly, all the 6 - 7 accused persons had came to his dera and started beating all. He was also beaten by 1 - 2 sticks but it was not told by him to the Munshi in the police station. Pokhai had suffered a lot of injuries. He has died. He had not gone to the police station with him. Nobody else had got the injuries. He was not medically examined. He further deposed that the road is not between the dera and the verandah rather it is adjacent on the north. Thereafter, he stated that the road is in between the dera and the verandah. The ditch is on both the sides of road and Pokhai had fell down in the ditch on the south and died there. His dead body was also found there. Pokhai was shot from a distance of 10 steps by one fire. The person, who had shot, had ran away towards the south. The person, who had shot the fire, was present outside the dera. Pokhai had chased him towards south, when he had shot fired. Pokahi had chased him for about 10 steps but it was not told by him to the Inspector. He also deposed that they had ran towards the south of dera. He further deposed that the accused persons had firstly dragged the victim and thereafter lifted and took her as a dead body. She had returned on the same night at about 2:30 - 3:00. The report was got written after she had returned. She had told about the incident to him and that 6 - 7 persons had done bad work with her, which was got written by him in the report. He further reiterated his evidence given in the examination-in-chief in the cross-examination. Thus, there are contradictions and inconsistencies not only in the evidence of P.W.2 but between evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 also.

(51) P.W.-4, who was also a member of the group of the complainant and the victim, also gave his evidence similar to the evidence of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. He is son of Pokhai, who was killed in the incident. He deposed that the fire was shot from a distance of 4 - 5 steps and thereafter he went about 20 - 25 steps and fell down aside the road and died. They had chased the accused for about 2 - 4 steps but thereafter, on account of fear, they returned. They had gone lifting the victim near the canal, which was about a kilometer away on the south of dera. The victim had returned after about two to two and half hours and told that accused persons have done bad work with her. She also gave Rs.60/-. The first information report was got written by her uncle and thereafter the Inspector had come. He further deposed that he had identified the accused persons in the lighted night and subsequently also he identified them. He identified the accused persons in the Court. Out of which, one was short statured and present in the Court, who has told his name as Anwar. He had shot fire on Pokhai. The defence objected about the identification of the accused persons in the Court.

(52) P.W.4, in the cross-examination, deposed that he could not tell as to who had beaten whom, however, all were being beaten by sticks. He further, in his cross-examination, deposed that when the thunderstorm and the rains had come, the camps had fallen and when it started raining, some persons had gone in the room of Jagat Narain and some persons were in the dera. The room of Jagat Narain was in the north of dera at a distance of about 40 - 50 steps. He was in dera. The thunderstorm had come at about 09:00 - 10:00 in the night and rains had come about 10:00 - 11:00 in the night. The dera was at a distance of 20 - 25 steps from the road in the field. He also deposed that the victim was in the dera of Shobhnath. He had not seen any accused in the dera. He further deposed that the accused had not shot fire on his father immediately after entering but when they lifted the victim and were going, his father had chased them to get her freed, then he was shot by fire and he fell down in the ditch at a distance of about 20 - 25 steps in the north. He further deposed that the victim was married at the time of incident. She was hale and hearty. She had returned at about 2:30 - 03:00 in the night and the police had come about 07:00 in the morning. The police had taken the dead body of his father to the police station. He further deposed that he does not recollect as to whether some police personnel had taken the dead body and some remained at the spot. He denied the suggestion that he was not on the spot, therefore, he is making an excuse of not knowing the things. He further deposed that when he had identified the accused persons during his evidence on that date, all the seven accused persons were present in the cage of the Court. Besides the said seven persons, one another accused was in the cage, who had no concern with the case. He also deposed that he does not recollect as to whether he had any talk with Banwari before the report was written or not and he had not told to the Banwari or the police that only 3 - 4 accused were involved in the incident. Thus, there are contradictions and inconsistencies not only in evidence of P.W.4, but with the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2.

(53) The aforesaid witnesses, on the one hand, have stated that all in the dera were beaten by stick (danda) and, on the other hand, that none other had received any injury. Except the victim and deceased, none other has been got examined medically. There is contradiction in distance, from which the fire was shot on the deceased and the distance, after which he fell and died. P.W.1 has also deposed in her cross-examination that she had not objected to rape and the accused had come to leave her near the dera, which could have been only if the alleged miscreant was known to her, otherwise it is highly improbable. It is also highly improbable that the unknown miscreants would give medicine and pay money for treatment. It is also apparent that there are contradictions not only in the evidence of aforesaid witnesses, but between the evidence of aforesaid witnesses also.

(54) On perusal of the evidence of aforesaid three witnesses of fact i.e. the victim; star witness (P.W.-1), complainant (P.W.-2) and son of deceased (P.W.-4), who claims themselves to be eye-witnesses, it emerges that they had come to the village, where incident occurred, with their group in the previous afternoon of the intervening night of the incident at about 03:00, when they started making their camps and during that period they had not gone towards the populated area of the village. It also emerges from their evidence that they did not know the persons residing in the village or vicinity. P.W.-2 and P.W.-4 have identified the accused persons only in the Court during their evidence and from their evidence, it does not emerge that they had ever told the description of the accused persons or what was being worn by them at the time of incident to the police prior to that. Admittedly their evidence was recorded after about 5 - 7 years of the incident. The only identification of the accused persons, prior to that, has been made by the P.W.-1 i.e. the victim but not in the Test Identification Parade. Her testimony shows that firstly she was shown the photographs of the accused persons, when she could not identify them, thereafter, the accused persons were shown to her in the lock-up room of the police station, where she identified them. She has not deposed that the photographs, which were shown to her, were not of the accused persons, who got identified by her in the lock-up of the police station.

(55) The Test Identification Parade can be held under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 for identification of the accused persons. The Test Identification Parade is required to establish the identity of an accused and it is relevant fact under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. The purpose of Test Identification Parade is to test and strengthen trustworthiness of the substantive evidence of a witness in court, which belongs to the investigation stage and if it is done with adequate precaution and in proper manner, it may be used by Court as a corroborative evidence. However, if the identification of the accused, who was not caught at the time of the incident, is not made properly and in accordance with law and if there is doubt about the identification of the accused persons, the conviction cannot be made only on it′s basis. Similarly, if the accused persons were not identified by the victim in Test Identification Parade or otherwise, their identification in the Court may not be sufficient for their conviction.

(56) The Hon′ble Supreme Court, in the case of Umesh Chandra v. State of Uttarakhand; (2021) 17 SCC 616, has held that test identification parade under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is not substantive evidence in a criminal prosecution but is only a corroborative evidence. The relevant paragraphs 9 and 10 are extracted here-in-below :-

"9. A test identification parade under Section 9 of the Evidence Act is not substantive evidence in a criminal prosecution but is only corroborative evidence. The purpose of holding a test identification parade during the stage of investigation is only to ensure that the investigating agency prima facie was proceeding in the right direction where the accused may be unknown or there was a fleeting glance of the accused. Mere identification in the test identification parade therefore cannot form the substantive basis for conviction unless there are other facts and circumstances corroborating the identification.

10. But more important than that, the test identification parade being a part of the investigation, has to be proved by the prosecution as having been held in accordance with law. The onus lies on the prosecution to establish that the TIP was held in accordance with law. It is only after the prosecution prima facie establishes a valid TIP having been held, the question of considering any objection to the same arises. If the prosecution has failed to establish that a TIP was properly held by examining the witnesses to the same, there is nothing for the accused to disprove. In the present case, a Magistrate is stated to have conducted the TIP. The Magistrate has not been examined. No explanation is forthcoming why the Magistrate was not examined. The only evidence available is that of PW 4 the Station House Officer that during the investigation the TIP was held in the District Jail, Nainital and he identifies the proceedings in the court. The identification of the proceedings is irrelevant as obviously he could not have been present during the TIP. The TIP, a part of the investigation, therefore cannot be said to have been proved much less that it was held in accordance with the law. Secondly there cannot be repeated TIPs till such time that the prosecution is successful in obtaining identification of the accused.″

(57) The Hon′ble Supreme Court, in the case of Gireesan Nair Vs. State of Kerala (Supra), has held that if identification in the TIP has taken place after the accused is shown to the witnesses, then not only is the evidence of TIP inadmissible, even an identification in a court during trial is meaningless. The relevant paragraphs 25 to 29 are extracted here-in-below:-

"25. Analysis: Heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the case records. We may, at the outset, note that the eyewitnesses questioned by the prosecution did not give out the names or identities of the Accused participating in the riot and involved in the destruction of public property. Therefore, the IO (PW84) had to necessarily conduct a TIP. The object of conducting a TIP is threefold. First, to enable the witnesses to satisfy themselves that the accused whom they suspect is really the one who was seen by them in connection with the crime. Second, to satisfy the investigating authorities that the suspect is the real person whom the witnesses had seen in connection with the said occurrence. Third, to test the witnesses′ memory based on first impression and enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses to the crime (Mulla and Anr. v. State of U.P.19).

26. TIPs belong to the stage of investigation by the police. It assures that investigation is proceeding in the right direction. It is a rule of prudence which is required to be followed in cases where the accused is not known to the witness or the complainant (Matru alias Girish Chandra v. State of U.P.20; Mulla and Anr. v. State of U.P.21 and C. Muniappan and Ors. v. State of Tamil Nadu22). The evidence of a TIP is admissible under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act. However, it is not a substantive piece of evidence. Instead, it is used to corroborate the evidence given by witnesses before a court of law at the time of trial. Therefore, TIPs, even if held, cannot be considered in all the cases as trustworthy evidence on which the conviction of an accused can be sustained (State of H.P. v. Lekh Raj and Anr.23; and C. Muniappan and Ors v. State of T.N.24). 19 (2010) 3 SCC 508 (Paras 44, 45 and 55) 20 (1971) 2 SCC 75 (Para 17) 22 (2010) 9 SCC 567 (Para 42) 23 (2000) 1 SCC 247 (Para 3).

27. It is a matter of great importance both for the investigating agency and for the accused and a fortiori for the proper administration of justice that a TIP is held without avoidable and unreasonable delay after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses before the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused, and therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such an allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution. But reasons should be given as to why there was a delay (Mulla and Anr. v. State of U.P.25 and Suresh Chandra Bahri v. State of Bihar26).

28. In cases where the witnesses have had ample opportunity to see the accused before the identification parade is held, it may adversely affect the trial. It is the duty of the prosecution to establish before the court that right from the day of arrest, the accused was kept "baparda" to rule out the possibility of their face being seen while in police custody. If the witnesses had the opportunity to see the accused before the TIP, be it in any form, i.e., physically, through photographs or via media (newspapers, television etc….), the evidence of the TIP is not admissible as a valid piece of evidence (Lal Singh and Ors v. State of U.P.27 and Suryamoorthi and Anr. v. Govindaswamy and Ors.28).

29. If identification in the TIP has taken place after the accused is shown to the witnesses, then not only is the evidence of TIP inadmissible, even an identification in a court during trial is meaningless (Shaikh Umar Ahmed Shaikh and Anr. v. State of Maharashtra 29). Even a TIP conducted in the presence of a police officer is inadmissible in light of Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Chunthuram v. State of Chhattisgarh30 and Ramkishan Mithanlal Sharma v. State of Bombay31)."

(58) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Dana Yadav @ Dahu & Others Vs. State of Bihar (Supra), has held that failure to hold test identification parade, which should be held with reasonable despatch, does not make the evidence of identification in court inadmissible rather the same is very much admissible in law but ordinarily identification of an accused for the first time in court by a witness should not be relied upon, the same being from its very nature, inherently of a weak character, unless it is corroborated by his previous Identification in the test identification parade or in any other evidence. The previous identification in the test identification parade is a check valve to the evidence of identification in court of an accused by a witness and the same is a rule of prudence and not law. It has further been held that ordinarily, if an accused is not named in the first Information report, his identification by witnesses in court, should not be relied upon, especially when they did not disclose name of the accused before the police. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Bhagwan Singh & Others Vs. State of M.P. (Supra), has taken similar view.

(59) In view of above, the identification of the accused persons by the victim is not in accordance with law and in view of the allegations levelled on behalf of the appellants that they have been implicated on account of police enmity, it can not be ruled out in the facts and circumstances of the case and the manner, in which they have been got identified. The conduct of the Court in getting the accused persons identified in the Court is also not appreciable, which was also objected by the defence time and again. It has also not been clarified as to when none of the aforesaid witnesses of fact knew the accused persons and they have also not given any description of them and as to what clothes were worn by them at the time of incident, as to why and how the police got identified the appellants because the manner, in which the extra-judicial confession was recorded prior to identification is highly improbable. Even the statement of the victim (P.W.1) was not recorded for three days and only after getting the appellants identified in lock-up, her statement was recorded which is evident from evidence of the investigating officer, who appeared as P.W.9.

(60) The evidence of P.W.9, S.I. R.P. Saroj, the first Investigating Officer, shows that the statement of the victim was not recorded immediately after lodging of the F.I.R., though the place of incident was inspected and the site plan was prepared on her pointing out along with the complainant (P.W.2) on the same date. The statement of the victim (P.W.1) was recorded on the third day of the incident i.e. on 27.05.2002 and that too after the statements of the accused persons and getting them identified in lock-up by her, wherein they allegedly admitted having committed the crime against the victim (P.W.1). No explanation for this delay in recording the statement of the victim (P.W.1) has been offered. He also failed to disclose as to where the victim was kept for three days. This witness was recalled and in his re-statement, he confirmed that he had recorded the statement of the victim (P.W.1) on the third day. The statement of the complainant (P.W.2) was recorded on the same day. He deposed that he had prepared the recovery memo of Rs. 60/- on the spot.

(61) P.W.9 has also deposed that on 25th and 26th May, the names of any accused persons involved in the crime had not surfaced. He further deposed that in Parcha No. 3 dated 27.05.2002, since the accused persons had admitted the crime after being arrested in another case vide Case Crime Nos. 123 of 2002 and 124 of 2002 under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act, on the basis of the recovery of country-made pistols from Udai Raj and Shanker, the accused persons were arrested, he implicated them in the present case and started the investigation against them and upon their alleged admission of having committed gang rape of the victim, Ramu alias Ram Kumar and Paras Nath were also arrested accordingly. However, P.W.9 admitted that there was no independent witness to the arrest. He further deposed that family members of the complainant (P.W.2) were grazing cattle there and were present at the spot, where they were arrested. He further deposed that the statements of the accused persons were recorded at the time of arrest, wherein the accused persons admitted their crime and their statements were recorded after their arrest. All four accused persons were arrested on 27.05.2002 at 17:00 hours. Before 17:30 hours, no evidence had been found against them. On the basis of the statement of the complainant (P.W.2) and those of other witnesses and at their pointing out, the remaining three accused persons were arrested while fleeing away. Their names were disclosed by the accused persons. He further deposed and admitted that no identification parade of any of the accused persons was conducted. The statements of the witnesses were recorded on the same day after the arrest of the accused persons. The victim had stated that accused Anwar had given her Rs. 60/-. However, Anwar had not been arrested by that time.

(62) It is very strange as to how the victim could have disclosed the name of accused Anwar at that time, when both the victim (P.W.1) and the complainant (P.W.2) have admitted that they did not know the persons of the village or nearby places nor had Anwar been arrested by that time. It is also evident from the evidence of P.W.9, the first Investigating Officer, that no identification parade was conducted for the identification of the accused persons. It is also not the case of prosecution that the family members, who were present at the place of arrest of some of accused, had identified them. Thus, it is highly improbable that the accused persons, while arrested in connection with recovery of arms, would admit of committing other heinous crime without any basis. Therefore, the possibility of false implication on account of police enmity or implication of appellants, to show good work, as they were arrested in some case, cannot be ruled out in the facts and circumstances of the case. Thus, they could not have been convicted on the basis of such identification.

(63) It is also very strange that the victim was withheld at the police station after lodging of the first information report and as per testimony of the P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, the victim had returned after about 2 - 3 days and it has not been clarified as to why she was withheld and where she was kept, whereas her medico legal examination was got conducted in the evening of the date of lodging of the first information itself. In any case, evidence on record shows that the victim (P.W.1) was in custody of police during said period before identification in lock-up, therefore, identification of accused persons under influence of police can also not be ruled out.

(64) The first Investigating Officer; P.W.-9 also deposed that the F.I.R. was lodged under Section 302, 376 and 323 I.P.C. He has started the investigation on the same day. He went to the spot and inspected the place of incident and recovered blood stained and plain mud and ghaghra of the victim stained with blood and semen. He also recovered one empty cartridge 12 bore and Rs.60/- and prepared recovery memo of the same and got it signed by the witnesses. He inspected the place of incident on the pointing out of the victim and the complainant and prepared the site plan i.e. paper No. 6Ka/1 and 6Ka/2, which were marked as Ext. Ka-11, Ext. Ka-12 and Ext. Ka-13. He got the inquest report prepared dictating to Dr. Anil Kumar Pandey, which is Ext. Ka-6 and, thereafter, got prepared the Ext. Ka-7, Ext. Ka-8, Ext. Ka-9 and Ext. Ka-10 and signed them. He enquired for the accused persons on 26.05.2002 and got the statement of Gram Pradhan Jagat Narain on 27.05.2002. He recorded the statement of accused Udai Raj, Shankar Nai, Ramu alias Ram Kumar and Paras Nath Patel, in which they admitted for crime. On the very same date, he recorded the statement of the victim and finding her of SC/ST community, he converted the case under the SC/ST Act and provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act were invoked and the trial held for the same and conviction has been made.

(65) One of the arguments of learned counsel for the appellants is that the provisions of SC/ST Act were wrongly and illegally invoked as the victim and deceased are not of any category of SC/ST. For convenience, Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act is extracted here-in-below :-

*"3. Punishments for offences atrocities.-

(1)…...
(2) Whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe,-

(i)…...
(ii)…….
(iii)……
(iv)……
(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property [knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member], shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine"

(66) The aforesaid Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act has been amended by Act 1 of 2016 and by Section 4 of the said amending Act "knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member" has been substituted in place of "on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member" w.e.f. 26-1-2016 vide notification dated 18.01.2016. Thus, on the date of incident i.e. 25.05.2002, the offence under the said provision could have been said to have been committed only if a persons not being a member of SC/ST commits any offence under the I.P.C. punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine, therefore, if the offence would have been committed on the ground that the victim is a member of SC/ST community or such property belongs to such member. Therefore, firstly the person, who has committed the crime, must know that the persons with whom he is committing the crime is a member of SC/ST community or the property, with which he is committing the crime, belongs to him/her and secondly, the crime should have been committed because the other party i.e. the victim is of SC/ST community or the property belongs to member of such community.

(67) In the present case, admittedly, the victim, complainant and the deceased had come to place of incident on the date of incident and as admitted they did not know anybody of village and vicinity or the accused persons prior to incident, therefore, the question of knowing about them by the accused persons also prior to incident is highly improbable. It has also not been proved that the accused persons knew the victim and the deceased and their group prior to the incident and that they are of SC/ST community, therefore, the question of committing crime on the ground of their caste does not arise. Even otherwise it has been argued by learned counsel for the appellants that the victim and the deceased do not belong to any of the SC/ST community of the State of Uttar Pradesh and have also placed reliance on the Government Order in this regard and nothing contrary could be pointed out by the other side. Thus, apparently, the victim and the deceased were not member of SC/ST community, therefore, the question of invocation of provisions of SC/ST Act itself is illegal and not tenable. The prosecution has also failed to disclose as to how the victim and the deceased come under the SC/ST community of the State of Uttar Pradesh. Learned Trial Court has also failed to consider it. Thus, this Court is of the view that the conviction under Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act against the appellants is not sustainable in the eyes of law.

(68) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Prabhat Kumar Mishra alias Prabhat Mishra Vs. State of U.P. (Supra), has quashed the proceedings under Section 3(2)(v) of S.C./S.T. Act on the ground that it is nowhere the case of the prosecution in the entire charge-sheet that the offence under I.P.C. was committed by the appellant upon the deceased on the basis of his caste. The relevant paragraphs 16, 17 and 18 are extracted here-in-below:-

"16. At the outset, we may take note of the fact that the prosecution of the appellant herein for the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act is ex facie illegal and unwarranted because it is nowhere the case of the prosecution in the entire charge-sheet that the offence under IPC was committed by the appellant upon the deceased on the basis of his caste.

17. This Court in the case of Masumsha Hasanasha Musalman v. State of Maharashtra1 considered this issue and held as under:-

"9. Section 3(2)(v) of the Act provides that whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, commits any offence under the Penal Code, 1860 punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine. In the present case, there is no evidence at all to the effect that the appellant committed the offence alleged against him on the ground that the deceased is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe. To attract the provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of the Act, the sine qua non is that the victim should be a person who belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe and that the offence under the Penal Code, 1860 is committed against him on the basis that such a person belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe. In the absence of such ingredients, no offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act arises. In that view of the matter, we think, both the trial court and the High Court missed the essence of this aspect. In these circumstances, the conviction under the aforesaid provision by the trial court as well as by the High Court ought to be set aside."

18. Thus, from the admitted allegations of the prosecution, the necessary ingredients of the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act are not made out so as to justify prosecution of the accused appellant for the said offence."

(69) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the cases of Shashikant Sharma Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (Supra) and Patan Jamal Vali Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh (Supra), has taken similar view. Similar view has also been taken by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ramdas and Others Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), in which it has been held that the mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a scheduled caste does not attract the provisions of the Act. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Khuman Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (Supra), has also taken similar view in regard to Section 3(2)(v) of S.C./S.T. Act, however, on account of sudden fight, the Hon'ble Court converted offence under Section 302 I.P.C. to Section 304 Part II I.P.C. The relevant paragraphs 12 to 14 of Khuman Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (Supra) are extracted here-in-below:-

"12. From the evidence and other materials on record, there is nothing to suggest that the offence was committed by the appellant only because the deceased belonged to a Scheduled Caste. Both the trial court and the High Court recorded the finding that the appellant-accused scolded the deceased Veer Singh that he belongs to "Khangar" Caste and how he could drive away the cattle of the person belonging to "Thakur" Caste and therefore, the appellant-accused has committed the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act. Section 3 of the said Act deals with the punishments for offences of atrocities committed under the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. Section 3(2)(v) of the Act reads as under:-

Section 3 - Punishments for offences of atrocities - (1)

(2) Whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Schedule Tribe, -

…….

(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine".

The object of Section 3(2)(v) of the Act is to provide for enhanced punishment with regard to the offences under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property knowing that the victim is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe.

13. In Dinesh alias Buddha v. State of Rajasthan (2006) 3 SCC 771, the Supreme Court held as under:-

"15. Sine qua non for application of Section 3(2)(v) is that an offence must have been committed against a person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. In the instant case no evidence has been led to establish this requirement. It is not case of the prosecution that the rape was committed on the victim since she was a member of Scheduled Caste. In the absence of evidence to that effect, Section 3(2)(v) of the Atrocities Act been applicable then by operation of law, the sentence would have been imprisonment for life and fine. As held by the Supreme Court, the offence must be such so as to attract the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act. The offence must have been committed against the person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe. In the present case, the fact that the deceased was belonging to "Khangar"-Scheduled Caste is not disputed. There is no evidence to show that the offence was committed only on the ground that the victim was a member of the Scheduled Caste and therefore, the conviction of the appellant-accused under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act is not sustainable.

14. Insofar as the conviction under Section 302 IPC is concerned, as discussed earlier, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is modified as conviction under Section 304 Part II IPC. The appellant-accused has been serving the sentence in jail for more than twelve years. As per the jail certificate issued by the Superintendent, Central Jail, Gwalior, the appellant has served the actual sentence in jail for more than twelve years (as on 04.07.2018) and as on date, he has served the sentence of more than thirteen years. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, for the conviction under Section 304 Part II IPC, the appellant is sentenced to undergo imprisonment to the period already undergone.

(70) It would be appropriate at this stage to deal the argument of learned counsel for the appellants that since the trial has not been held by the Special Court under the SC/ST Act, therefore, the trial itself stands vitiated. There is no doubt that the offences under the trial held against the appellants are triable by Session. Section 14 of SC/ST Act provides for Special Court and Exclusive Special Court for the purpose of providing speedy trial. The present provision of Section 14 has been amended by means of Act 1 of 2016 and prior to amendment by the Amending Act w.e.f. 18.01.2016, Section 14 was as under:-

"14. Special Court- For the purpose of providing for speedy trial, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify for each district a Court of Session to be a Special Court to try the offences under this Act."

(71) The aforesaid provision discloses that the Special Court was to be notified by the State Government with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court for the purpose of providing speedy trial to try the offences under this Act. Thus, the only purpose for notification of Special Court for the purpose of the SC/ST Act was for speedy trial and the Court, which was empowered to conduct the cases for the offences levelled against the accused, was to be notified for the aforesaid purposes, therefore, merely because the case has been tried in a Court, which was not notified, will vitiate the trial is highly misconceived and not tenable for the reason that otherwise it was empowered to try the case. It is also not the allegation that the Court, which has tried the trial, was not having jurisdiction for the trial of the offences levelled against the appellants. Even otherwise, the offences of the I.P.C. were to be tried under Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act and it is to be seen as to whether the said offences have been committed on the ground that the victim or the deceased or their property belong to the member of SC/ST, but in the present case, as recorded above, it has also not been proved that they belong to SC/ST community, therefore, the question of committing the crime on the said ground does not arise. In any case, when the Court was having jurisdiction to try the offences, merely because it was not notified by the Government as a Special Court for trying of offences under the SC/ST Act speedily, it could not be a ground to hold that the whole trial is vitiated, consequently, the impugned judgment and order.

(72) By the amending Act 1 of 2016, Section 14 of SC/ST Act has been amended and a proviso has also been added that the Courts so established or specified shall have power to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act. In a case, in which the cognizance was taken by the Magistrate prior to committal of case after amendment, the matter went up to the Hon′ble Supreme Court. The Hon′ble Supreme Court held that because of the restricted role assigned to the Magistrate at the stage of committal under the new Code, the non-compliance of the same and raising of any objection in that regard after conviction attracts the applicability of the principle of `failure of justice' and the convict-appellant becomes obliged in law to satisfy the appellate court that he has been prejudiced and deprived of a fair trial or there has been miscarriage of justice in the case of Shantaben Bhurabhai Bhuriya Vs. Anand Athabhai Chaudhari and Others; (2022) 15 SCC 228 and the Hon′ble Supreme Court held that it would be totally inapposite and inappropriate to hold that such non-compliance vitiates the trial. The Hon′ble Supreme Court further held that if issue is considered from another angle, the accused is to be tried for the offences under the Atrocities Act by Special Court / Exclusive Special Court constituted under Section 14 of the Atrocities Act. Even those rights are also available to the victim for the offences under the Atrocities Act, in which the trial is by the Special Court/Exclusive Special Court constituted under Section 14 of the Atrocities Act. Therefore, unless and until those rights which flow from Section 14 of the Atrocities Act are affected, the accused cannot make any grievance. Even otherwise in view of the provisions of Section 460 of the Cr.P.C., it can be an irregularity and not an illegality, therefore, entire proceedings and conviction cannot be accepted to have vitiated and is unsustainable.

(73) Applying the ratio of the aforesaid judgment of the Hon′ble Supreme Court on the present case, we are also of the considered view that the appellants have failed to show any prejudice to have been caused to them on account of trial not being held before the Special Court under the SC/ST Act and that it resulted in failure of justice, therefore, the contention is misconceived and not tenable and liable to be repelled only and accordingly repelled, holding that the trial cannot be said to be vitiated on this ground and the impugned judgment and order cannot be set aside or quashed on this ground.

(74) P.W.9 i.e. the first investigating officer also denied the suggestion that the F.I.R. had not been lodged by the time of inquest and, therefore, Section 323 I.P.C. was not mentioned in the inquest report of the deceased and that only Sections 376 and 302 I.P.C. were mentioned and Section 323 I.P.C. was added subsequently. He further deposed that the inquest had been conducted under his dictation by Shri Arun Kumar Pandey under Sections 323, 302, 376 I.P.C. and Section 3(ii)(v) of the S.C./S.T. Act. In his earlier statement as discussed above, P.W.9 had stated that on 27.05.2002, after the admission of the accused persons and the statement of the victim, the case was found to attract Section 3(ii)(v) of the S.C./S.T. Act and was accordingly converted, whereas the inquest of the deceased Pokhai had been conducted on 25.05.2002 between 7:15 a.m.-9:15 a.m.

(75) P.W.9, in response to a query by the Court, further deposed that after the case was converted under Section 3(ii)(v) of the S.C./S.T. Act and the investigation was taken over by the Circle Officer, he continued to conduct further investigation under the directions of the Circle Officer. He also deposed that the place of incident shown in the F.I.R. is not reflected in the inquest report. The distance of the place of incident mentioned in the F.I.R. is 10 kilometres towards the east, whereas in the inquest report it has been shown as 6 kilometres. According to him, the distance shown in the check F.I.R. was by road, whereas the distance of 6 kilometers was the direct distance.

(76) P.W.9 further deposed that the place of occurrence of the rape was shown by the victim and was situated across the canal after proceeding from the side of the "dera". The victim had stated that she was raped by seven persons. He further deposed that the victim had described herself as the wife of Sitaram, whereas the victim stated in her testimony that she was not married at that time. Thus, his evidence is also contrary to the evidence of P.W.1 (the victim), who has stated that she was not taken across the canal and that the rape was committed aside the canal before reaching it. She had specifically stated that the accused persons had not taken her across the canal. P.W.9 also deposed that the complainant had not stated anything about the involvement of six or seven persons and that all the persons had stated that only three or four persons were involved. They had also not provided any description of the accused persons.

(77) In view of above, there are major contradictions and inconsistencies in the testimony of the first Investigating Officer (P.W.9) and with the testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.4. P.W.1 has deposed that she was not married and P.w.4 has deposed that P.W.1 was married. It also shows that the investigation was conducted in a very casual manner and was tainted.

(78) The Circle Officer, who conducted the subsequent investigation after the conversion of the case under the S.C./S.T. Act, appeared as P.W.11. His evidence discloses that he had not recorded the statements of any of the witnesses, whose statements had been recorded by the earlier Investigating Officer during the course of the investigation, owing to his busy schedule, and that he had merely filed the charge-sheet under the S.C./S.T. Act on the basis of the evidence and material collected during the investigation. The accused persons, who were arrested during his period of investigation were also examined by the earlier Investigating Officer. Thus, the evidence of P.W.11 does not throw any light on the case. Sri Avadh Bihari Rakesh, the then Circle Officer, who had filed the charge-sheet against Anwar Ali, appeared as P.W.12 and merely proved the filing of the charge-sheet. He admitted in cross-examination that he had not examined the witnesses who had been examined by his predecessors. Constable Om Prakash Tripathi; P.W.10 proved check F.I.R. and the corresponding G.D. Entry.

(79) It is not disputed that the deceased, Pokhai, was shot dead by a firearm injury. There were five ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased Pokhai, out of which two were abrasions and one was a firearm injury. One pellet was recovered from his body. The cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of the ante-mortem firearm injury, which was proved by Dr. Sanjay Kumar Pandey, who appeared as P.W.6. The injury report of the victim (P.W.1) indicates four injuries. The first consisted of multiple linear scratches on the left forearm, laterally and dorsally, over the lower two-third area; the second consisted of multiple blotchy abraded contusions on the upper third of both sides of the back, widely spread; the third was a linear patterned contusion measuring 7 cm x 2 cm on the right upper lateral region of the back; and the fourth was a linear patterned contusion measuring 11 cm x $1^{1/2}$ cm on the right lower thigh laterally and extending to the anterolateral aspect of the knee. According to the opinion of doctor (P.W.6), all the injuries were caused by a hard and blunt object.

(80) According to the conclusion of the medico-legal report of Dr. Vineeta Singh (P.W.3), the examination was suggestive of penetration by some blunt object. The supplementary report (Ext. Ka.3) further indicates that the vaginal smear was negative for spermatozoa and gonococci and that the age of victim was 16 years. The ghaghra of the victim was taken into custody by the Investigating Officer. However, the FSL Report dated 12.07.2002 (Paper No. 32 Ka-1) indicates that a petticoat was found in the sealed packet and that human blood and human semen were detected on it. This is not only contrary to the recovery memo relating to the ghaghra, as ghaghra was not found in the sealed packet sent for F.S.L. and a petticoat was found but inconsistent also with the medico-legal examination and pathological report of the victim. These discrepancies raises serious doubts not only about the prosecution story but also the investigation in the matter.

(81) P.W.3, Dr. Vineeta Singh, Senior Consultant, District Women Hospital, Raebareli, conducted the medical examination of the victim and deposed that she can not give any opinion regarding the allegation of gang rape. She further deposed that the injuries sustained by the victim could not have been caused by an accident, although no injury was found on the private parts of the victim.

(82) Dr. R.K. Mishra, Medical Officer, District Hospital, Raebareli, who conducted the medical examination of the external injuries of the victim (P.W.1), appeared as P.W.5. In his cross-examination, he deposed that there was no lacerated wound on the wrist of the victim. No injury caused by broken bangles was found on her wrist, whereas the victim (P.W.1), in her testimony, deposed that while she was being forcibly taken away by the accused persons, her bangles had broken and she had sustained injuries in her hand, whereas the medical was conducted on the very same date of incident. Similarly, no injury attributable to broken bangles was found by Dr. H.L. Sharma (P.W.7), who proved the X-ray report of the victim. He also opined that the victim (P.W.1) was more than 16 years of age.

(83) In view of above, the medical also does not support the prosecution case. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ramanand Yadav Vs. Prabhu Nath Jha and Others (Supra), has held that it is trite law that oral evidence has to get primacy and medical evidence is basically opinionative. It is only when the medical evidence specifically rules out the injury as claimed to have been inflicted as per the oral testimony, then only in a given case the Court has to draw adverse inference. However, it may be of no relevance, if the case is otherwise proved by cogent evidence as the medical evidence is only an expert opinion.

(84) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Awadhesh and Another Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (Supra), has held that though medical expert's opinion is not always final and binding, but in the said case it corroborates other circumstances, which indicate that the eye-witnesses had not seen the actual occurrence.

(85) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Piara Singh & Others Vs. State of Punjab (Supra), has held that evidence of a medical man or an expert is merely an opinion which lends corroboration to the direct evidence in the case. Where there is a glaring inconsistency between direct evidence and the medical evidence in respect of the entire prosecution story, that is undoubtedly a manifest, defect in the prosecution case. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ram Narain Singh Vs. The State of Punjab (Supra), has taken similar view.

(86) In view of above, in criminal law, the case is to be proved by the prosecution by standing on it's own legs, primarily on the basis of ocular or circumstantial evidence as the case may be. The instant case is a case of ocular evidence as P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.4, the witnesses of facts, are the eye-witnesses. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Balu Sudam Khalde Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), has observed that the appreciation of ocular evidence is a hard task. There is no fixed or straight-jacket formula for appreciation of the ocular evidence. The judicially evolved principles for appreciation of ocular evidence in a criminal case have been enumerated in paragraphs 25 to 27, which are extracted here-in-below:-

"25. The appreciation of ocular evidence is a hard task. There is no fixed or straight-jacket formula for appreciation of the ocular evidence. The judicially evolved principles for appreciation of ocular evidence in a criminal case can be enumerated as under:

"I. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the Court to scrutinize the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief.

II. If the Court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details.

III. When eye-witness is examined at length it is quite possible for him to make some discrepancies. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence.

IV. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole.

V. Too serious a view to be adopted on mere variations falling in the narration of an incident (either as between the evidence of two witnesses or as between two statements of the same witness) is an unrealistic approach for judicial scrutiny.

VI. By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

VII. Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

VIII. The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

IX. By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape recorder.

X. In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guess work on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

XI. Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which take place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

XII. A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross examination by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The sub-conscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him.

XIII. A former statement though seemingly inconsistent with the evidence need not necessarily be sufficient to amount to contradiction. Unless the former statement has the potency to discredit the later statement, even if the later statement is at variance with the former to some extent it would not be helpful to contradict that witness."

26. When the evidence of an injured eye-witness is to be appreciated, the under- noted legal principles enunciated by the Courts are required to be kept in mind:

(a) The presence of an injured eye-witness at the time and place of the occurrence cannot be doubted unless there are material contradictions in his deposition.

(b) Unless, it is otherwise established by the evidence, it must be believed that an injured witness would not allow the real culprits to escape and falsely implicate the accused.

(c) The evidence of injured witness has greater evidentiary value and unless compelling reasons exist, their statements are not to be discarded lightly.

(d) The evidence of injured witness cannot be doubted on account of some embellishment in natural conduct or minor contradictions.

(e) If there be any exaggeration or immaterial embellishments in the evidence of an injured witness, then such contradiction, exaggeration or embellishment should be discarded from the evidence of injured, but not the whole evidence.

(f) The broad substratum of the prosecution version must be taken into consideration and discrepancies which normally creep due to loss of memory with passage of time should be discarded.

27. In assessing the value of the evidence of the eyewitnesses, two principal considerations are whether, in the circumstances of the case, it is possible to believe their presence at the scene of occurrence or in such situations as would make it possible for them to witness the facts deposed to by them and secondly, whether there is anything inherently improbable or unreliable in their evidence. In respect of both these considerations, circumstances either elicited from those witnesses themselves or established by other evidence tending to improbabilise their presence or to discredit the veracity of their statements, will have a bearing upon the value which a Court would attach to their evidence. Although in cases where the plea of the accused is a mere denial, the evidence of the prosecution witnesses has to be examined on its own merits, where the accused raise a definite plea or put forward a positive case which is inconsistent with that of the prosecution, the nature of such plea or case and the probabilities in respect of it will also have to be taken into account while assessing the value of the prosecution evidence."

(87) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the aforesaid case, has also held that it is a cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that the initial burden to establish the case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt rests on the prosecution. It is also an elementary principle of law that the prosecution has to prove its case on its own legs and cannot derive advantage or benefit from the weakness of the defence. However, on reaching to the conclusion that the evidence of the eyewitnesses inspires confidence and there is nothing in their evidence on the basis of which it could be said that they are unreliable witnesses, to fortify the view, the Court can definitely look into the suggestions made by the defence counsel to the eyewitnesses, the reply to those establishing the presence of the accused persons as well as the eyewitnesses. The main object of cross-examination is to find out the truth on record and to help the Court in knowing the truth of the case.

(88) Adverting to the facts of the present cast and upon considering the ocular evidence of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.4 with the other evidence and material on record, as discussed above, the evidence of aforesaid witnesses does not inspire confidence, in as much as there is no proper identification of the accused persons i.e. the appellants, who were not previously known to the complainant and victim.

(89) The complainant, Banwari (P.W.2), gave an application (Paper No. 134 Ka) for discharge of ten witnesses from tendering evidence on the ground that they had colluded with the accused persons and would not depose the truth before the Court. The said ten persons include Shobnath and Lallau, who had accompanied the complainant (P.W.2) with him for lodging the F.I.R. along with Bhungi, Pokhai, and the victim, whereas Pokhai had already died and the victim appeared as P.W.1. Bhungi has also not been produced.

(90) The defence produced Mithilesh Kumar, son of Sitaram, as D.W.1, who was a prosecution witness but was got discharged by the complainant. He deposed that about 60-70 "Mangta" had set up a dera in the field of Raja Ram Maurya. On the said night, there was a severe storm and rain, due to which the dera had collapsed. Some persons were inside the dera, some of whom were saved, while others were in the verandah of his house. He further deposed that he heard noise and cries near the dera of the Mangta at about 1:00 a.m. He came out and saw 3-4 persons dragging the Mangta. When a Mangta objected, he was shot dead. He further deposed that he saw 3-4 persons and in the light of a torch, he could see their faces and the accused persons present in Court were not those persons. He further deposed that he went along with 3-4 villagers and informed the police, whereupon the police came, by which time it was morning. On perusal of Ext. Ka.1, he deposed that it was written by him. In cross-examination, he deposed that Ext. Ka.1 was written on the dictation of some police personnel and not Banwari (complainant). He denied the suggestion that to save the accused persons, who were residents of his village, he had deposed in their favour. He also proved his signature on the inquest report of the deceased Pokhai (Ext. Ka.6). Ext. Ka.15, which is the corresponding G.D. Entry No. 6 of the F.I.R. dated 25.05.2002, indicates the presence of Mithilesh Kumar, son of Sitaram, along with others at the police station for lodging the F.I.R. Thus, the presence of D.W.1 Mithilesh Kumar at the police station at the time of lodging of the F.I.R., and the lodging of the F.I.R. against 3-4 unknown persons, cannot be disputed in the absence of any cogent and reliable evidence because the complainant (P.W.2) has given contrary and inconsistent evidence in regard to F.I.R. and the accused persons mentioned therein, which was given by him after it was read over to him, as deposed by him.

(91) One of the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the appellants is that this Court may take judicial notice of certain universal social, legal, and behavioural facts for evaluating the prosecution case, such as the natural and basic instinct of living beings for sexual desire, for which they may involve themselves in all kinds of fear and foul play. Thus, submission is that the victim, who was young, must have been indulged in satisfying her sexual desire with her friend and her uncle would have seen them together and on being objected by him, he must have been killed by friend of the victim. This argument has been advanced on the basis of certain unauthenticated documents from some research article and extract of journal without any evidence on the factual aspect as argued. It is vehemently been opposed by learned A.G.A.

(92) Section 56 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (here-in-after referred to as "Act, 1872") provides that the fact judicially noticeable need not be proved. Section 57 of Act, 1872 provides the facts of which Court must take judicial notice, which is extracted here-in-below :-

"57. Facts of which Court must take judicial notice.-The Court shall take judicial notice of the following facts :-

(1) All laws in force in the territory of India;

(2) All public Acts passed or hereafter to be passed by Parliament of the United Kingdom, and all local and personal Acts directed by Parliament of the United Kingdom to be judicially noticed;

(3) Articles of War for the Indian Army, Navy or Air Force;

(4) The course of proceeding of Parliament of the United Kingdom, of the Constituent Assembly of India, of Parliament and of the legislatures established under any laws for the time being in force in a Province or in the States;

(5) The accession and the sign manual of the Sovereign for the time being of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland;

(6) All seals of which English Courts take judicial notice: the seals of all the Courts in India and of all Courts out of India established by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative]: the seals of Courts of Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction and of Notaries Public, and all seals which any person is authorised to use by the Constitution or an Act of Parliament of the United Kingdom or an Act or Regulation having the force of law in India;

(7) The accession to office, names, titles, functions and signatures of the persons filling for the time being any public office in any State, if the fact of their appointment to such office is notified in any Official Gazette;

(8) The existence, title, and national flag of every State or Sovereign recognized by the Government of India:

(9) The divisions of time, the geographical divisions of the world, and public festivals, fasts and holidays notified in the Official Gazette;

(10) The territories under the dominion of the Government of India;

(11) The commencement, continuance and termination of hostilities between the Government of India and any other State or body of persons;

(12) The names of the members and officers of the Court, and of their deputies and subordinate officers and assistants, and also of all officers acting in execution of its process, and of all advocates, attorneys, proctors, vakils, pleaders and other persons authorized by law to appear or act before it;

(13) The rule of the road on land or at sea.

In all these cases, and also on all matters of public history, literature, science or art, the Court may resort for its aid to appropriate books or documents of reference.

If the Court is called upon by any person to take judicial notice of any fact, it may refuse to do so unless and until such person produces any such book or document as it may consider necessary to enable it to do so."

(93) The aforesaid provision enumerates the facts of which judicial notice can be taken by the Court. It further provides that in all the said cases and also on all matters of public history, literature, science or art, the Court may resort for its aid to appropriate books or documents of reference. Thus, judicial notice of the facts enumerated above can be taken on the basis of appropriate books or documents of reference. It further provides that if the Court is called upon by any person to take judicial notice of any fact, it may refuse to do so unless and until such person produces any such book or document as it may consider necessary to enable it to do so.

(94) In the present case, learned Counsel for the appellants has failed to produce any appropriate and authentic book or documents of reference and only photocopy of the research article and the extract of journal has been produced without disclosing it's authenticity. Thus, the contention of learned Counsel for the appellants is misconceived and not tenable. Even otherwise, if judicial notice of the said facts are taken by this Court, the necessary facts, for which Court is being called upon to take judicial notice were required to be proved by cogent evidence, which the appellants have failed to prove. Thus, the contention is misconceived and not tenable and accordingly rejected.

(95) One of the arguments of learned Counsel for the appellants is that there was no evidence on record to prove essential elements to constitute 'unlawful assembly' as defined under Section 141 I.P.C. and in view of the allegations in the F.I.R. and the statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the involvement of only 3-4 persons have been shown, therefore, the provisions of Section 149 I.P.C. are not attracted and once conviction under Section 148 I.P.C. was made, appellants could not have been convicted separately under Sections 147 and 148 I.P.C.

(96) In the present case, all the appellants have been convicted separately under Section 147 read with Section 149 I.P.C., Section 148 read with 149 I.P.C. and Section 323 read with 149 I.P.C., whereas appellants, Anwar Ali, Shankar Nai, Paras Nath Patel, Ram Sajivan Patel and Ratipal Patel, under Section 302 read with Section 149 read with Section 3 (ii) (v) of S.C./S.T.Act and appellants, Udai Raj and Ramu alias Ram Kumar, under Section 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C.

(97) Section 141 I.P.C. provides that an assembly of five or more persons is designated as "unlawful assembly", if the common object of the persons composing that assembly for committing the offences provided from first to fifth provided therein. Section 141 I.P.C. is extracted here-in-below :-

"141. Unlawful assembly.-An assembly of five or more persons is designated an "unlawful assembly", if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is-

First.-To overawe by criminal force, or show of criminal force, 11[the Central or any State Government or Parliament or the Legislature of any State, or any public servant in the exercise of the lawful power of such public servant; or

Second.-To resist the execution of any law, or of any legal process; or Third.-To commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence; or Fourth.-By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to any person, to take or obtain possession of any property, or to deprive any person of the enjoyment of a right of way, or of the use of water or other incorporeal right of which he is in possession or enjoyment, or to enforce any right or supposed right; or

Fifth.-By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do.

Explanation.-An assembly which was not unlawful when it assembled, may subsequently become an unlawful assembly."

(98) Section 147 I.P.C. provides punishment for rioting, which may extend to two years, or with fine, or both. Section 148 I.P.C. provides rioting, armed with deadly weapon, which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both, which is aggravated form of Section 147 I.P.C. and the punishment is awarded with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. As per Section 141 I.P.C. for constituting the 'unlawful assembly' five or more persons are required to have been assembled for the common object in committing the crime referred in Section 141 I.P.C.

(99) The record indicates that initially the F.I.R. was lodged under Sections 302, 376, and 323 I.P.C., but subsequently Sections 147, 148, and 149 I.P.C. were added during investigation, upon surfacing of 6-7 accused persons alleged to have been involved in the crime and assembled at the place of occurrence with common object, therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the appellants regarding the invocation of Section 149 I.P.C. is misconceived and not tenable, for the reason that during investigation, it can be done on the basis of evidence and material collected. However, it would have to be proved during trial, which the prosecution has failed to do. In any case, the contention regarding conviction and sentence separately under Sections 147 and 148 I.P.C. appears to be just and correct, because once the appellants are found to have committed the offence under Section 148 I.P.C., which is an aggravated form of Section 147 I.P.C., separate conviction and punishment under Section 147 I.P.C. for the same act could not have been made and that too without recording any specific finding.

(100) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Vijay Pandurang Thakre Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), has enumerated ingredients required to be essentially established for invocation of Section 149 I.P.C. and also held that unless a person present in an unlawful assembly actively participates in the rioting or does some overt act with the necessary criminal intention or shares the common object of the unlawful assembly, Sections 147, 148 and 149 I.P.C. will not apply. The relevant paragraphs 14 and 15 are extracted here-in-below:-

"14. As is clear from the plain language, in order to attract the provision of the Section, following ingredients are to be essentially established.

(i) There must be an unlawful assembly.

(ii) Commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly.

(iii) Such offence must have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly; or must be such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed.

If these three elements are satisfied, then only a conviction under Section 149, I.P.C., may be substantiated, and not otherwise. None of the Sections 147, 148 and 149 applies to a person who is merely present in any unlawful assembly, unless he actively participates in the rioting or does some overt act with the necessary criminal intention or shares the common object of the unlawful assembly.

15. In the facts of the present case, we find that common object of the assembly, even if it is presumed that there was an unlawful assembly, has not been proved. The expression 'in prosecution of the common object' occurring in this Section postulates that the act must be one which have been done with a view to accomplish the common object attributed to the members of the unlawful assembly. This expression is to be strictly construed as equivalent to in order to attain common object. It must be immediately connected with common object by virtue of nature of object. In the instant case, even the evidence is not laid on this aspect. As pointed out above, the courts below were influenced by the fact that one of the injuries on the person of Ashok was on his head which became the cause of death and from this, common object is inferred."

(101) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Rudrappa Ramappa Jainpur and Others Vs. State of Karnataka (Supra), has taken similar view in regard to Section 143, 147, 148 and 149 I.P.C. in the facts and circumstances of the said case.

(102) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Sukhbir Singh Vs. State of Haryana (Supra), has held that accused is vicariously guilty of the offence committed by other accused persons only if he is proved to be a member of an unlawful assembly sharing its common object. There is no dispute to the legal provision that once the existence of common object of unlawful assembly is proved, each member of such an assembly shall be liable for the main offence notwithstanding his actual participation in the commission of the offence. It is not necessary that each of the accused, forming the unlawful assembly, must have committed the offence with his own hands.

(103) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Allauddin Mian and Others Sharif Mian and Another Vs. State of Bihar (Supra), has held that in order to fasten vicarious responsibility on any member of an unlawful assembly the prosecution must prove that the act constituting an offence was done in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or the act done is such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly. In regard to Section 149 I.P.C., it has been held that this Section creates a specific offence and makes every member of the unlawful assembly liable for the offence or offences committed in the course of the occurrence provided the same was/were committed in prosecution of the common object. It has further been held that what is important in each case is to find out if the offence was committed to accomplish the common object of the assembly or was one which the members knew to be likely to be committed, there must be ingredients of the offence committed.

(104) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Bhimrao alias Ramesh Pandhari Bhade and Others Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), has held that in absence of any material to the contrary, it should be presumed that those members of the original unlawful assembly, who only shared the common object of assaulting deceased cannot be attributed with the subsequent change in the common object of some of the members of the assembly, who entered the house and caused grievous injuries to him and converted the offence under Section 326 I.P.C. read with Section 149 I.P.C. to Section 352 I.P.C. read with Section 149 I.P.C.

(105) Adverting to the facts of the present case, the prosecution case is that 3-4 persons had come at about 01:00 in the intervening night of 24/25.05.2002, who started beating all members of the group of the complainant (P.W.2), victim (P.W.1) and the deceased by sticks and one of the accused started dragging the victim (P.W.1). When her uncle Pokhai (deceased) chased them to get her freed, the said accused fired on him from country-made pistol and handed over the victim (P.W.1) to other accused persons, who took her towards canal and 7 persons in all committed rape with her, therefore, it could not be said that there was no common intention for unlawful assembly and charge sheet could not have been filed, but it could not be proved during trial, as discussed above. It also shows that the deceased was killed only because he chased the accused persons and tried to get the victim freed. Thus, the argument of learned Counsel for the appellants that conviction of the appellants under Section 302 I.P.C. is not sustainable as it could have been a case falling under Exception 4 of Section 300 I.P.C. Consequently, the said accused persons could have been convicted under Section 304 I.P.C. for culpable homicide not amounting to murder and not under Section 302 I.P.C. This contention of learned Counsel for the appellants carries weight, when considered in the facts and circumstances of the case and evidence adduced and this Court is of the view that the conviction under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 149 I.P.C. could have been under Section 304 I.P.C. in view of the statutory provisions as well as law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the cases of Sukhbir Singh Vs. State of Haryana (Supra), Balu Sudam Khalde Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), Paul Vs. State of Kerala (supra) and Nandlal Vs. State of Maharashtra (supra) relied by learned Counsel for the appellants.

(106) However, as discussed above, the prosecution has failed to prove the involvement of the appellants in the crime beyond all reasonable doubt but learned trial Court, without considering the evidence and material on record properly and dealing with the evidence and material in a cursory manner, has convicted the appellants, which is apparent from the facts that though complainant (P.W.2) has deposed that he does not know the person, who had written the F.I.R. and D.W.1 also but learned trial Court has recorded finding that this is the same witness, who had written the F.I.R. on the dictation of the complainant (P.W.2), whereas he has admitted that he had written the F.I.R. as dictated by some police personnel and not complainant, but without considering it, the learned trial Court has discarded the evidence of D.W.1, whereas his presence in the police station at the time of lodging of F.I.R. with the complainant cannot be doubted as per the proved G.D. Entry and it has been accepted by learned trial Court also but the prosecution witnesses have denied any acquaintance with him. The learned trial Court has also failed to consider that the investigating officer had recovered ghaghra of the victim but in the sealed packet, which was opened by F.S.L., the petticoat was found and report was submitted on the said basis. The money, medicine and phuchda seized by Investigating Officer have not been produced and proved. Learned trial Court has also failed to consider the contradictions and inconsistencies of the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, as discussed above, on the basis of the evidence and material on record. Thus, this Court is of the view that learned trial Court has passed the impugned judgment and order without considering the evidence and material on record and dealing it appropriately in cursory manner, which is not sustainable in the eyes of law and the appellants are liable to be acquitted on the basis of the benefit of doubt.

(107) In view of above, both the appeals are allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 03.02.2011 passed by learned trial Court is hereby set-aside. All the appellants are acquitted from the charges framed against them.

(108) Appellant No. 1-Rati Pal Patel in Criminal Appeal No. 550 of 2011 is on bail. He needs not surrender in the instant case. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged.

(109) The other appellants, namely, Anwar Ali, Ramu alias Ram Kumar and Ram Sajivan Patel in Criminal Appeal No. 538 of 2011 and Paras Nath Patel, Udai Raj and Shankar Nai in Criminal Appeal No. 550 of 2011 are in jail. They shall be released forthwith in the instant case, in case they are not wanted in any other case. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged.

(110) Pending application(s), if any, stands disposed of, accordingly.

(111) Appellants are directed to file personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the Court concerned in compliance of Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, corresponding to Section 481 of the Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS), 2023.

(112) Let a copy of this judgment and original records be transmitted to the Trial Court concerned forthwith and in any case within a period of one week from today for information and compliance.

Counsel for Respondent(s): Government Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anand Kumar Srivastava, the learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Ganesh Dutt Bhatt, the learned AGA-I.

2. By means of the instant appeal, the appellant has challenged the validity of the judgment and order dated 30.03.2011 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge / Fast Track Court No. 30, Barabanki in Session Trial No. 1082 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. 75 of 2009, under Sections 363, 366, 376, 368, 147, 323, 504, 506, Police Station, Jahangirabad, District Barabanki, whereby although the appellant has been acquitted of all other charges, he has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 366 IPC.

3. The aforesaid case was instituted on the basis of an F.I.R. lodged at 10:30 a.m. on 11.03.2009 against 11 accused persons, including the applicant, stating that the complainant's daughter aged 14 years had gone towards east of the village to attend the nature?s call, at about 8:30 p.m. on 08.03.2009 along with her younger sister. Lal Babu (the appellant) and his brother Sanjay took her away in their Maruti car. The complainant's younger daughter raised a hue and cry and told about the incident. The informant, his family members and villagers were searching for his daughter. Ramsagar, his wife, Pramod Kumar and Kuldeep Kumar, sons of Ramsagar and Pramod Kumar's wife came to the complainant's house at 7:30 a.m. on 11.03.2009 and they abused and beat up the complainant. When he cried, several persons came there and the accused persons ran away while threatening him. The complainant suffered injuries in the incident.

4. The victim was recovered on 12.03.2009 from Satrikh Naka while she was with the appellant. The medico-legal examination report of the victim revealed no mark of injury on any part of her body, including her private parts. The pathological examination report of vaginal smear was negative for presence of spermatozoa or gonococci. As per X-ray examination report, age of the victim was opined to be about 16 years. The report stated that no definite opinion could be given about commission of rape. After investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted a charge-sheet dated 10.05.2009 against all 11 accused persons.

5. The complainant was examined as PW-1. He stated that some altercation had taken place between him and the accused persons. A large crowd had gathered there. During the incident, he got pushed, fell down and suffered injuries. He had lodged the FIR against accused persons because they had entered into an altercation with him. Nobody had seen the accused persons taken away the complainant's daughter and none of them had beaten up the complainant or abused him. PW-1 was declared hostile. A question was put to him regarding the statement given by him under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to the Investigating Officer and he denied the statement. He categorically stated that the appellant and his brother Sanjay had not taken away the complainant's daughter or that they had beaten him up with sticks. He further stated that at the time of the incident, age of the victim was about 19 years.

6. The victim was examined as PW-2. She stated that being angry for some reason, she had gone to the house of a relative without informing her family members and she came back after two - three days. She stated that she had given the statement before the Magistrate under pressure of the Police. The victim denied all the prosecution allegations. She was also declared hostile. During cross-examination she denied her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

7. The Headmistress of the school in which the victim had studied, was examined as PW-3. She stated that as per the school records, the victim's date of birth is 28.06.1996. During cross-examination she stated that she could not tell whether the date of birth informed by the guardian at the time of the admission was correct or not.

8. Asha Ram, a relative of the complainant/victim, was a witness of the Supurdaginama and he was examined as PW-4. During cross-examination he stated that the victim had gone away to the house of some relative and nobody had enticed her away. He also stated that the victim was not recovered in his presence.

9. The younger sister of the victim alleged to be accompanying her at the time of the incident, was examined as PW-5 and she was also declared to be hostile.

10. In the statement recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C., all the accused persons denied all the allegations against them.

11. The trial court held that although all the prosecution witnesses had turned hostile, the prosecution documents namely the charge-sheet, the FIR, the site plan and the medico-legal examination report will be admissible in evidence as per the law laid down by the High Court in the case of Sadiq & Ors. v. State of U.P.:1981 Crl.LJ. 379. As per these documents, the victim was more than 16 years of age but less than 18 years of age. In the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she stated that the appellant had taken her away and had made physical relations with her. The accused persons and the victim belonged to the same family and the offences alleged are non-compoundable. The trial court held on its own that the accused persons had not supported the prosecution version under social pressure and to save adverse effects on the family repute, family relations and future of the victim. The trial court held that the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 CrPC proves that the appellant had enticed her away.

12. Accordingly, the trial court convicted the appellant for the offence under Section 366 IPC. No other charge was established against the applicant and no charge was proved against any other accused person. The trial court sentenced the appellant to undergo imprisonment for five years and payment of Rs. 10,000/- as fine.

13. It is settled law that the prosecution has to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt. In the present case, the complainant, the victim, the alleged eyewitness accompanying the victim at the time of the incident and all other witnesses of fact have turned hostile. There was absolutely no evidence to prove the prosecution case. The learned trial court has convicted the appellant solely on the basis of the victim's statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. regarding which a question was put to her during her examination in the Court and she stated that she had given the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. under pressure of the police. In these circumstances, when in her statement recorded before the trial court on oath, the victim categorically stated that no offence had been committed against her, the trial court has committed a patent error of law in convicting the appellant solely on the basis of statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 CrPC from which she had resiled during her examination on oath in the Court.

"273. Evidence to be taken in presence of accused.-Except as otherwise expressly provided, all evidence taken in the course of the trial or other proceeding shall be taken in the presence of the accused, or, when his personal attendance is dispensed with, in the presence of his pleader.

***

Explanation.-In this section "accused" "includes a person in relation to whom any proceeding under Chapter VIII has been commenced under this Code."

15. Section 273 CrPC provides that except as otherwise expressly provided, all evidence taken in the course of the trial or other proceeding shall be taken in presence of the accused, or when his attendance is dispensed with, in the presence of his pleader. The trial Court cannot rely upon the evidence recorded in absence of the accused, even before commencement of the trial.

16. Section 299 CrPC provides an exception where the evidence of a witness recorded in absence of an accused person can be read against him and this section reads as follows:

"299. Record of evidence in absence of accused.-(1) If it is proved that an accused person has absconded, and that there is no immediate prospect of arresting him, the Court competent to try, or commit for trial such person for the offence complained of may, in his absence, examine the witnesses (if any) produced on behalf of the prosecution, and record their depositions and any such deposition may, on the arrest of such person, be given in evidence against him on the inquiry into, or trial for, the offence with which he is charged, if the deponent is dead or incapable of giving evidence or cannot be found or his presence cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable.

(2) If it appears that an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life has been committed by some person or persons unknown, the High Court or the Sessions Judge may direct that any Magistrate of the first class shall hold an inquiry and examine any witnesses who can give evidence concerning the offence and any depositions so taken may be given in evidence against any person who is subsequently accused of the offence, if the deponent is dead or incapable of giving evidence or beyond the limits of India."

17. Section 33 of the Evidence Act reads as follows: -

"33. Relevancy of certain evidence for proving, in subsequent proceeding, the truth of facts therein stated.- Evidence given by a witness in a judicial proceeding, or before any person authorised by law to take it, is relevant for the purpose of proving, in a subsequent judicial proceeding, or in a later stage of the same judicial proceeding, the truth of the facts which it states, when the witness is dead or cannot be found, or is incapable of giving evidence, or is kept out of the way by the adverse party, or if his presence cannot be obtained without an amount of delay or expense which, under the circumstances of the case, the Court considers unreasonable:

Provided-

that the proceeding was between the same parties or their representatives in interest; that the adverse party in the first proceeding had the right and opportunity to cross-examine;

that the questions in issue were substantially the same in the first as in the second proceeding.

Explanation.-A criminal trial or inquiry shall be deemed to be a proceeding between the prosecutor and the accused within the meaning of this section."

18. Section 33 of the Evidence Act, 1872, provides relevancy of certain evidence for proving the truth of the facts stated therein, in any subsequent proceeding, according to which evidence given by a witness is treated to be relevant in a subsequent proceeding or at a later stage in the same proceeding under certain eventualities.

19. In Nirmal Singh v. State of Haryana: (2000) 4 SCC 41, the Hon'ble Supreme Court discussed the scope and requirements of Section 33 and Section 299 CrPC and observed as follows: -

"4. - On a mere perusal of Section 299 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as well as Section 33 of the Evidence Act, we have no hesitation to come to the conclusion that the preconditions in both the sections must be established by the prosecution and it is only then, the statements of witnesses recorded under Section 299 CrPC before the arrest of the accused can be utilised in evidence in trial after the arrest of such accused only if the persons are dead or would not be available or any other condition enumerated in the second part of Section 299(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure is established."

20. Section 278 Cr.P.C. provides that as soon as the evidence of each witness in a criminal trial is taken under Section 275 or 276, it shall be read over to him in the presence of the accused, if in attendance, or in presence of his pleader, if he appears by pleader, and shall, if necessary, be corrected. Section 279 Cr.P.C. provides for interpretation of evidence to the accused in open court, in case he is present and such evidence is given in a language not understood by him.

21. In Jayendra Vishnu Thakur v. State of Maharashtra: (2009) 7 SCC 104, the Hon?ble Supreme Court held that: -

"18. The right of an accused to watch the prosecution witnesses deposing before a court of law indisputably is a valuable right. ….

23. An accused is, however, always entitled to a fair trial. He is also entitled to a speedy trial but then he cannot interfere with the governmental priority to proceed with the trial which would be defeated by conduct of the accused that prevents it from going forward. In such an event several options are open to courts. What, however, is necessary is to maintain judicial dignity and decorum. The question which arises for consideration is whether the same will take within its umbrage the said principle. We will examine the said question a little later. We will proceed on the premise that for invocation of the provisions of Section 299 of the Code the principle of natural justice is inbuilt in the right of an accused.

24. A right to cross-examine a witness, apart from being a natural right is a statutory right. Section 137 of the Evidence Act provides for examination-in-chief, cross-examination and reexamination. Section 138 of the Evidence Act confers a right on the adverse party to cross-examine a witness who had been examined in chief, subject of course to expression of his desire to the said effect. But indisputably such an opportunity is to be granted. An accused has not only a valuable right to represent himself, he has also the right to be informed thereabout. If an exception is to be carved out, the statute must say so expressly or the same must be capable of being inferred by necessary implication. There are statutes like the Extradition Act, 1962 which excludes taking of evidence vis-a-vis opinion.

(See- Sarabjit Rick Singh v. Union of India [(2008) 2 SCC 417]).

25. It is also beyond any cavil that the provisions of Section 299 of the Code must receive strict interpretation, and, thus, scrupulous compliance therewith is imperative in character. It is a well-known principle of interpretation of statute that any word defined in the statutory provision should ordinarily be given the same meaning while construing the other provisions thereof where the same term has been used. Under Section 3 of the Evidence Act like any other fact, the prosecution must prove by leading evidence and a definite categorical finding must be arrived at by the court in regard to the fact required to be proved by a statute. Existence of an evidence is not enough but application of mind by the court thereupon as also the analysis of the materials and/or appreciation thereof for the purpose of placing reliance upon that part of the evidence is imperative in character."

(Emphasis added)

22. Therefore, the legal position is well settled beyond any doubt that the prosecution witnesses have to be examined in the presence of the accused or his pleader, except under certain exceptional circumstances, which do not exist in the present case. The right of an accused to watch the prosecution witnesses deposing before a court of law indisputably is a valuable right. The statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. is not recorded during the trial, it is not recorded by the Court, it is not given under oath and it is not recorded in presence of the accused. The accused has no opportunity to cross examine the person at the time of recording of his/her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. Therefore, no person can be convicted on the basis of a statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C.

23. In State of Rajasthan v. Bhawani, (2003) 7 SCC 291, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"10. The fact that the witness was declared hostile by the Court at the request of the prosecuting counsel and he was allowed to cross-examine the witness, no doubt furnishes no justification for rejecting en bloc the evidence of the witness. But the court has at least to be aware that prima facie, a witness who makes different statements at different times has no regard for truth. His evidence has to be read and considered as a whole with a view to find out whether any weight should be attached to the same. The court should be slow to act on the testimony of such a witness and, normally, it should look for corroboration to his evidence. The High Court has accepted the testimony of the hostile witnesses as gospel truth for throwing overboard the prosecution case which had been fully established by the testimony of several eyewitnesses, which was of unimpeachable character. The approach of the High Court in dealing with the case, to say the least, is wholly fallacious."

(emphasis added)

24. The aforesaid reasoning has been followed in Jayantibhai Chaturbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2822, wherein the victim had levelled allegation of commission of rape during investigation, but she and her husband both turned hostile during her examination before the Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court allowed the appeal and set aside the order of conviction passed by the trial Court and affirmed by the High Court.

25. In Paramjeet Singh v. State of Uttarakhand, (2010) 10 SCC 439, also, the Hon'ble Supreme Court followed the law laid down in State of Rajasthan v. Bhawani, (supra) and further held that: -

"10. A criminal trial is not a fairy tale wherein one is free to give flight to one's imagination and fantasy. Crime is an event in real life and is the product of an interplay between different human emotions. In arriving at a conclusion about the guilt of the accused charged with the commission of a crime, the court has to judge the evidence by the yardstick of probabilities, its intrinsic worth and the animus of witnesses. Every case, in the final analysis, would have to depend upon its own facts. The court must bear in mind that ?human nature is too willing, when faced with brutal crimes, to spin stories out of strong suspicions?. Though an offence may be gruesome and revolt the human conscience, an accused can be convicted only on legal evidence and not on surmises and conjecture. The law does not permit the court to punish the accused on the basis of a moral conviction or suspicion alone. ?The burden of proof in a criminal trial never shifts and it is always the burden of the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of acceptable evidence.? In fact, it is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the more serious the offence, the stricter the degree of proof required, since a higher degree of assurance is required to convict the accused. The fact that the offence was committed in a very cruel and revolting manner may in itself be a reason for scrutinising the evidence more closely, lest the shocking nature of the crime induces an instinctive reaction against dispassionate judicial scrutiny of the facts and law. (Vide Kashmira Singh v. State of M.P. [AIR 1952 SC 159], State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh [(1974) 3 SCC 277], Shankarlal Gyarasilal Dixit v. State of Maharashtra [(1981) 2 SCC 35], Mousam Singha Roy v. State of W.B. [(2003) 12 SCC 377] and Aloke Nath Dutta v. State of W.B. [(2007) 12 SCC 230])"

26. When we examine the facts of the present case in light of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above mentioned cases, it appears that the prosecution witnesses did not support the prosecution case before the trial Court and the trial Court has convicted the appellant - accused only on the basis of the material collected during investigation, behind the back of the accused. Therefore, the impugned order suffers from a patent illegality and is liable to be set aside.

27. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 30.03.2011 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge / Fast Track Court No. 30, Barabanki in Session Trial No. 1082 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. 75 of 2009, under Sections 363, 366, 376, 368, 147, 323, 504, 506, Police Station, Jahangirabad, District Barabanki, whereby the appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 366 I.P.C., is set aside and the appellant is acquitted of the charge of offence under Section 366 IPC.

28. The appellant shall furnish a personal bond and two sureties to the satisfaction of the trial Court within two weeks from today in compliance with Section 446 of the Code of Criminal Procedure for his appearance before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case an appeal against this judgment/order is filed and the Hon'ble Supreme Court issues notice for appearance of the appellant.

Ashok Sharma) along with Session Trial No.- 53 of 2011 (State Vs. Geeta Devi) arising out of Case Crime No. 911 of 2010 under Sections 302, 201 I.P.C., P.S.- Chopan, District- Sonbhadra. The learned Sessions Court by the impugned judgment dated 16.09.2021 has found the appellant guilty of the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced him to death along with fine of Rs.50,000/- (in case of default of payment appellant is to serve one year of additional rigorous imprisonment) . The learned trial court has also convicted the appellant for the offence under Section 201 I.P.C. and has accordingly sentenced him to 7 years of imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 20,000/- (in case of default of payment appellant is to serve one year of additional imprisonment).

2. Briefly put the prosecution case set out in the FIR is that on 21.12.2010 at about 04:00 a.m. Shravan Sharma son-in-law of the first informant informed him that Gram Pradhan Chopan had told the former by phone that Sunita and her daughter Jhalak aged about three years had been done to death and burnt. Both the victims had a saree tied in knots′ round their necks′. The first informant then left for Chopan from his house at Mirzapur. On reaching Chopan along with other family members he saw his daughter Sunita and grand daughter Jhalak lay dead in the room. A saree was tied round their necks′ and upper parts of the bodies′ were burnt. Charpoy and mattresses in the room were also burnt. The first informant had a firm belief that Geeta (mother-in-law of Sunita) and Ashok Sharma had murdered the victims and thereafter burnt them. People in the vicinity had earlier informed him that Ashok Sharma frequented Geeta′s house and the two had illicit relations. Sunita came in the way of the said relationship, which became the cause of her murder.

3. On a tehrir submitted by the first informant an FIR was registered. Police investigations set in motion after the FIR culminated in a chargesheet being filed against Geeta Devi and Ashok Sharma on 27.01.2011 and 11.03.2011 respectively under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C. Cognizance of the offences was taken by the learned trial court on 11.03.2011.

4. Charges were framed against both the appellants by the learned trial court on 06.01.2012 as under :

25.Under cross-examination P.W.-7, Dr. Saurabh Rawat stated that the burn injuries were postmortem and no carbon articles were found in trachea.

ORAL TESTIMONIES:

P.W. 1 Satish Kumar Sharma

26. Satish Kumar Sharma-first informant while deposing as P.W. 1 stated that Sunita Sharma was married to Shravan Kumar for 12 years. Shravan Kumar was employed in the Railways and was posted in Rajasthan at the relevant point in time. Sunita and her daughter Jhalak were residing with Geeta Devi (mother-in-law of Sunita) in Chopan. P.W.-1 stated that he was informed on phone by his son-in-law of the murders. P.W.-1 immediately reached Geeta Devi′s house at Chopan with his wife and two neighbours. Geeta Devi was present at the house. Describing the condition of the bodies, P.W.-1 deposed that the bodies of Sunita and Jhalak were at the doorstep, a saree was tied in knots′ round their necks′. Sunita′s face had some injury and burn marks.

27. P.W.-1 testified that he often visited Sunita′s house. During those visits he came to know about the illicit relations of the accused persons. P.W.-1 further deposed that Sunita had also informed him about the same. Sunita had found Geeta and Ashok in a compromising position and after upbraiding them had asked Ashok not to visit them again. The accused persons killed Sunita for being a hurdle in the relationship.

P.W. 2 Reeta Devi

28. Before the learned trial court P.W. 2 claimed to be an eye witness to the incident, and that Sunita was her niece. P.W. 2 in her deposition stated that on the fateful day she had gone to Vaishno Devi Temple, Dala. While returning she decided to spend the night at Sunita′s house as it had become dark. Sunita, her mother-in-law, Geeta and Jhalak were present when she reached their house. Later Ashok also arrived. There was an altercation between Sunita and Ashok regarding his visits to their house. After having dinner Sunita, Jhalak, Geeta Devi and Ashok retired to one room; while she went to sleep in the adjacent room.

29. P.W. 2 testified that she was awakened at about 2-3 AM by some commotion. She went to Sunita′s room and found it locked (from inside). She peered into the room through a crack in the door. P.W.2 deposed that she saw Geeta Devi had muffled Sunita′s face, while Ashok was strangulating Sunita with a saree. Jhalak was strangulated to death by the same saree after she was woken up by the noise.

30. According to P.W. 2, she was petrified after seeing the incident and fled to the fields for safety and hid herself. In the morning she went to the neighbour Manorama′s (P.W. 3) house and narrated the incident to her. Later she described the incident to Sunita′s maternal family and the police party who had reached the site.

P.W. 3 Manorama Devi

31. Manorama Devi who is a neighbour of the deceased Sunita entered the witness box as P.W. 3. P.W.-3 in her testimony stated that the incident occurred in winter month at about 03-04 A.M. P.W. -3 deposed that she went to Geeta's house on hearing her cries, and found her alone. The deceased Sunita and her daughter were lying on the bed. The cot in the room was in flames. Some persons were trying to douse the fire.

32. Under cross-examination P.W. 3 testified that Geeta was crying out loud that her house was on fire. P.W.-3 also stated that she did not see Geeta at her house then quickly clarified that she had not seen the occurrence.

P.W. 4 Sunil Sharma

33. Sunil Sharma, while deposing as P.W. 4 stated that on the fateful day he and his wife were returning from Vaishno Devi, Dala. The couple decided to spend the night at Geeta Devi's house as it had become late. When they reached Geeta Devi's house they met Geeta Devi, Sunita, her daughter Jhalak. Later Ashok @ Babaji also came to the house. Sunita admonished Babaji and told him not to visit the house in future. Thereafter, P.W. 4 and his wife/P.W. 2 went to sleep in one room. Sunita, Jhalak Geeta Devi and Babaji retired to the adjacent room.

34. P.W. 4 then states that he and his wife/P.W. 2 woke up on hearing some noise at about 2 AM. They peeped through a gap in the door of the adjacent room. A light was glowing in the room. They saw Geeta Devi had bound down Sunita's feet with her hands while Ashok @ Babaji was strangulating Sunita with a saree. At that moment Sunita's three year old daughter woke up. Ashok and Geeta strangulated the little girl to death with the same saree.

35. P.W. 4 then deposed that he and his wife/P.W. 2 got scared by what they saw and escaped to the fields and hid there. Later they narrated the whole incident to Manorama Devi/P.W. 3. They used Manorama Devi's mobile to call Sunita's family members in the morning.

36. According to P.W. 4 Ashok and Geeta Devi had set the cot on fire to burn the two bodies. People from the neighbourhood doused the fire.

P.W. 5 Shivanand Mishra, the Investigating Officer

37. Shivanand Mishra- Investigating Officer entered the witness box as P.W.5. P.W.5 in his testimony described the procedure of the investigation. According to P.W.5, he recorded the statement of Manorama Devi on 21.12.2010. On the same day, in parcha no. 1-B, he recorded the statement of eye witness Reeta Devi and thereafter recorded the statements of other witnesses. He arrested Geeta Devi on 23.12.2010, as depicted in parcha no. 3. The accused/appellant Ashok Sharma was absconding and was thereafter arrested on 11.03.2011 after taking out proceedings under Section 82 CrPC. According to P.W.5 as per the investigation there was only one eye witness to the incident, namely Reeta Devi/ P.W. 2

Submissions on behalf of the Accused-Appellant:

38. Shri Vinay Saran, learned Senior Counsel and Amicus Curiae assisted by Shri Pradeep Kumar Mishra, learned counsel and Amicus curiae and Shri Atul Kumar Pandey, learned counsel and Amicus Curiae have made the following submissions on behalf of the accused-appellant:

I. The appellant Ashok Sharma has been nominated solely on the basis of suspicion and hearsay.

II. The eye-witnesses are not reliable. The testimonies of the eye-witnesses are beset with contradictions and their conduct was unnatural. The testimonies of the eye-witnesses are not worthy of belief.

IV. P.W. 5 stated that only P.W. 2 was the eyewitness, while P.W. 1 testified that there was no eyewitness to the incident.

V. There are material contradictions in the testimonies of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 as regards the incident. P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 were also contradicted by P.W. 3.

VI. Medical evidence squarely negates the statements of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4.

VII. The motive of the appellant to commit the offence was not proved by applicable standards of evidence. There is no evidence to establish the presence of the appellant at the site of the incident.

VIII. The prosecution could not prove the case beyond reasonable doubt.

IX. The case did not fall in the category of rarest of rare cases and the death penalty was imposed without due consideration of relevant factors.

Submissions of the learned AGA on behalf of the State:

39. Shri Amit Sinha, learned AGA, made the following submissions:

I. The prosecution case is supported by reliable eye-witnesses.

II. The FIR was promptly registered and the prosecution case stated therein inspires confidence.

III. The prosecution case is supported by reliable testimonies of two eye-witnesses.

IV. The recovery made at the site corroborates the prosecution case.

V. The prosecution proved the case beyond reasonable doubt.

VI. The offence comes in the category of the ‘rarest of rare cases’ inasmuch as a pregnant mother and her minor daughter were done to death by the accused-appellant and his accomplice.

Appraisal of Evidence

I. F.I.R.

40. The FIR was got registered by the father of the deceased Sunita. The timeline in the FIR matches other prosecution evidence including the inquest report, recovery memo, and post-mortem report. There is no inordinate delay in the lodging of the FIR. However, the veracity of the prosecution case set out therein needs to be determined after a composite appraisal of evidence.

II. Date, Time and Place of Incident

41. Various evidences including the FIR, inquest report, recovery memo, post-mortem report and statements of P.W. 1 and P.W. 3 show that the incident occurred at the house of Geeta Devi in the intervening night of 20/21.12.2010 or small hours of 21.12.2010.

III. Culpability of the appellant in light of the prosecution evidence and reliability of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 as eye witnesses

42. Credibility of P.W.2 and P.W. 4 as eye witnesses will now be examined.

43. P.W.2 claims to be a close relative of the deceased as well as first informant. P.W.2 in her testimony under cross-examination admitted that the fact of light bulb glowing in the room when the incident occurred was stated by her for the first time before the Court, and that she had never disclosed the aforesaid fact to the I.O. The said statement is clearly an afterthought and improvement in the prosecution case made by the P.W.2.

44. The P.W.2 watched her niece and grand niece being strangulated to death as a silent spectator. She did not raise a hue and cry to call for help from the neighbours. The house where the incident occurred is located in a densely inhabited area as there are number houses in the neighbourhood. This is borne out from the testimony of P.W. 1. P.W. 2 also failed to call the police authorities or inform P.W.1 about the incident in the first instance. P.W. 2 was present at the time of the inquest proceedings. However, she failed to tell the investigation officer about the incident even at that point in time. The conduct of P.W. 2 is unnatural.

45. P.W.2 further claims to have informed P.W.3 in the early hours of morning. However, testimony of P.W.3 does not support the aforesaid fact.

46. The examination-in-chief of P.W.-2 does not indicate the presence of P.W.-4 at the time of the incident. P.W.2 introduced her husband as an eye witness for the first time while under cross examination. Under cross-examination P.W. 2 deposed that her husband had accompanied her to Sunita's house, and the couple were sleeping in the room adjacent to the place of incident. The belated disclosure of P.W.4's presence as an eye witness also contradicts her testimony in the examination in chief and raises grave doubts about her reliability as a witness.

47. In fact presence of P.W. 4 as an eye witness further impeaches the credit of P.W. 2. There was no reason for the couple for not raising an alarm to call for help from the neighbourhood or for failing to alert the police. The testimony of P.W.2 in her examination in chief that she became scared after watching the incident and rushed to the fields for safety becomes further suspect. The presence of her husband should have been reassuring and a source of strength for her. Particularly, when the two accused persons are much more aged persons and none of them was armed.

48. There is another fault line in the testimony and conduct of P.W. 2. As per the statement of P.W. 1, Geeta Devi was present when he reached the site of incident. P.W. 2 claims to have been present at all relevant times. She did not inform the police authorities about Geeta Devi and the appellant even when they arrived at the site after the lodgement of the FIR.

49. Most importantly under further cross-examination P.W. 2 stated that she came to know about the incident in the morning and informed her husband about it.

50. In the wake of preceding discussion in view of the aforesaid inconsistencies, improvements and unnatural conduct, the credit of P.W.2 as an eye witness stands fully impeached and her testimony in respect of the incident is liable to be discarded in its entirety.

51. The P.W.-4 claims to have watched the incident with his wife silently and thereafter fled to the fields for safety. P.W.-4 also did not raise an alarm to alert the neighbours and call for help as seen earlier. The incident occurred in Geeta Devi's house which was in a densely populated neighbourhood. P.W.-4 also failed to inform the police at any time during or after the incident.

52. The deceased persons were being attacked by two elderly persons who were unarmed. This not only makes the silence of P.W.-4 and P.W.2 inexplicable, but also raises questions as to why they did not physically come to the rescue of the victims. There is no cogent reason why P.W.-4 and P.W.-2 avoided physical intervention to save the victims.

53. P.W. 1 testified that Geeta Devi was present when he reached the site of the incident. P.W. 4 has deposed that he was present throughout the episode and P.W.1 had arrived at 4:00 a.m. However he did not inform P.W. 1 about his witnessing the incident and complicity of Geeta Devi and Ashok Kumar at any point in time.

54. P.W.-4 was also present when P.W.-1 arrived with the police party at the site. P.W.-4 was a witness to the inquest and recovery proceedings along with P.W.-1. However, he remained silent at all relevant times. Had P.W.4 informed the police party on their arrival Geeta Devi would have been arrested at the spot. The aforesaid conduct of P.W.-4 is wholly unnatural considering the fact that he is a close relative of P.W.-1.

55. P.W.-4 claims to have informed P.W.-3 about the incident in the morning. The aforesaid statement is falsified by the testimony of P.W.-3.

56. Under cross-examination P.W.-4 testified that Geeta Devi was arrested at the spot. The aforesaid statement was contradicted by the testimony of P.W.5 who had effected the arrest. P.W.-5 deposed that Geeta Devi was arrested at the Chopan Bus Stand on 23.12.2010. The arrest memo drawn up by P.W. 5 which depicts the said facts pertaining to the arrest is paper No. 42Kha/7 in the records of the trial court.

57. P.W.-5 has also deposed that P.W.-4 did not inform him that Reeta Devi was his wife. In fact, P.W.5 under cross-examination has stated that Reeta Devi was present when he reached the site. This conduct of P.W.-4 of keeping the said information from the I.O. also creates a suspicion about the veracity of his deposition.

58. Under further cross-examination P.W. 4 stated that he was first informed about the incident by P.W.3, and that his statement regarding the incident is based on what P.W. 3 had narrated to him.

59. P.W. 1 has testified that there was no eyewitness to the incident. Furthermore, the I.O./P.W.-5 has deposed that P.W.-2 was the only eye witness and further categorically stated that P.W.-4 was not an eye witness to the incident.

60. In the light of the preceding discussion and considering the contradictions and the unnatural conduct of P.W. 4, the credit of P.W. 4 is wholly unreliable and his testimony as a witness is completely discarded.

61. The absence of ligature marks on the necks of both the deceased persons, and the opinion of the doctor that the cause of death was asphyxia as a result of ante mortem throttling are undisputed. The post mortem reports (Exh Ka-10 and Exh Ka-11) and testimony of the doctor/P.W. 7 are medical evidences of high credibility. The medical opinion completely negates the contrary version of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 that both the deceased persons were strangulated to death by a saree.

62. There are material contradictions regarding the manner in which the deceased Sunita was murdered, in the testimonies of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4. P.W.2 has testified that Geeta Devi had muffled Sunita′s face while P.W.2 has deposed that Geeta Devi had bound down Sunita′s feet with her hands.

63. The aforesaid inconsistencies, improvements and unnatural conduct of P.W.-2 and P.W.-4 raises doubts about their presence at the time of incident. In the wake of the preceding discussion, this Court finds that the credit of P.W.-2 and P.W.-4 as eye witnesses was successfully impeached in the trial.

64. P.W.-2 and P.W.-4 are wholly unreliable witnesses and their testimonies claiming to be eye witness are not worthy of belief and are discarded in entirety.

Presence of the Appellant-accused Ashok Sharma

65. There is no other evidence to establish the presence of the accused-appellant Ashok Sharma at the time of the incident or at any stage proximate to the incident. The appellant Ashok Sharma does not ordinarily reside at Hargarh, P.S. Jigna, District Mirzapur. He is a resident of another village.

66. The ocular testimony of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 were the sole pivots of prosecution case against the accused-appellant Ashok Sharma minus the testimonies of P.W. 2 and P.W. 4 there is no other incriminating evidence to implicate the appellant-accused in the instant case is in the record.

Impugned Judgement:

67. The learned trial court in the impugned judgment has entirely erred in law by upholding the credibility of two witnesses, namely P.W.2 and P.W.4 while returning the conviction against the appellant Ashok Sharma. The learned trial court thus erred in fact and in law by rendering the impugned judgment in respect of the appellant- Ashok Sharma.

68. This Court finds that the impugned judgment rendered by the learned trial court is liable to be set aside and is accordingly set aside only to the extent it finds the appellant guilty of offence under Section 302 read with Section 201 I.P.C. and imposes punishment of life imprisonment upon the appellant-Ashok Sharma.

Conclusions

69. In light of the preceding discussions, this Court finds that the prosecution has failed to prove the charges under Section 302 read with Section 201 IPC against the appellant-accused Ashok Sharma beyond reasonable doubt. The appellant-accused Ashok Sharma is hereby acquitted of the charges for which he was tried and which are subject matter of this appeal.

70. The appellant-accused Ashok Sharma shall be released forthwith from prison, unless wanted in any other criminal case.

71. The Capital Appeal No. 16 of 2021 is accordingly allowed.

72. A copy of this judgement translated in Hindi to be served upon the appellant by the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority.

2. The bail application is, accordingly, disposed of.

Order on Appeal

1. The appeal, insofar as it related to appellant no. 2, stood abated by order dated 22.01.2026 passed by a Coordinate Bench of this Court. Consequently, the present appeal survives for adjudication only in respect of appellant no. 1, Raj Deo.

2. Heard Shri Priya Ranjan Rai, the counsel for appellant no. 1, Raj Deo, and Ms. Archana Singh, the AGA for the State.

3. The present appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 11.01.1989 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, Azamgarh, in Sessions Trial No. 320 of 1986 (State v. Raj Deo & Others), arising out of Case Crime No. 23 of 1986, Police Station Raunapar, District Azamgarh, registered under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. By the impugned judgment, appellant nos. 1 and 2 were convicted under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life.

4. The prosecution case is that the appellants, along with two other persons, namely Bhola and Dhanni, committed the murder of Surali (hereinafter referred to as "the deceased") while he was sleeping at his tubewell.

5. Briefly stated, the prosecution version, as disclosed in the first information report, is that during the intervening night of 14/15.02.1986, the deceased was sleeping at his tubewell. At about 3:00 a.m., the wife and mother of the deceased were awakened by the sound of a gunshot. On rushing towards the tubewell, they allegedly saw Raj Deo (appellant no. 1), Bharat (appellant no. 2), as well as, Bhola and Dhanni, fleeing from the spot. Bharat was stated to be carrying a pistol. Hearing the cries of the wife and mother of the deceased and the sound of the gunshot, Lalji, Dhanni, son of Lautu, Banshu, and certain other villagers also reached the tubewell. According to the prosecution, they too witnessed the appellants and the two co-accused fleeing from the scene. By the time the wife and mother of the deceased, along with the other villagers, entered the room at the tubewell, the deceased had succumbed to the gunshot injury sustained near his ear. On the basis of the written report lodged by Komali, the wife of the deceased, at 7:30 a.m. on 15.02.1986, Case Crime No. 23 of 1986 was registered under Section 302 IPC against the appellants as well as Bhola and Dhanni.

6. During the course of the investigation, an empty cartridge was recovered on 15.02.1986 from an agricultural field situated near the tubewell. The recovery memo in respect thereof was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-17. On the same day, the Investigating Officer also collected plain soil and blood-stained soil from the place of occurrence, and the corresponding recovery memo was marked as Exhibit Ka-16. The supurdaginama prepared by the Investigating Officer, recording the articles found on the person of the deceased and their delivery to the first informant, was proved as Exhibit Ka-2.

7. Upon completion of the inquest proceedings, the body of the deceased was sent for post-mortem examination. The autopsy was conducted on 16.02.1986 at 1:30 p.m. The post-mortem report recorded the following ante-mortem injuries:

1. A gunshot wound of entry measuring 2 cm x 1 cm, brain cavity deep, situated behind the right ear, approximately 1 cm from its posterior aspect. The margins were inverted. There was no blackening, charring, or tattooing.

2. A gunshot wound of exit measuring 2.5 cm x 1.5 cm on the right side of the face, communicating with Injury No. 1.

3. A gunshot wound of exit measuring 10 cm x 7 cm involving the entire left eye region and communicating with Injury No. 1.

8. The doctor who conducted the post-mortem examination was not examined during the trial. However, since the defence did not dispute the post-mortem report, the trial court dispensed with its formal proof in exercise of its powers under Section 294 Cr.P.C., and the report was accordingly read in evidence.

9. The appellants were arrested on 17.02.1986. At the time of arrest, a pistol along with two live cartridges was recovered from the possession of Bharat, appellant no. 2. The arrest-cum-recovery memo records that Bharat disclosed that the recovered pistol was the weapon used in the commission of the offence and further stated that he had fired the shot which caused the death of the deceased. It also records that the appellants, along with Bhola and Dhanni, had participated in the incident. The arrest-cum-recovery memo was proved by the Investigating Officer and exhibited as Exhibit Ka-5.

10. Upon completion of the investigation, a charge-sheet was submitted against the appellants as well as against Bhola, and Dhanni under Section 302 IPC. The case was committed to the Court of Session, where Sessions Trial No. 320 of 1986 was registered. All four accused were charged under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC for the murder of the deceased.

11. To establish its case, the prosecution examined five witnesses. PW-1, Smt. Komali, the wife of the deceased and the first informant, and PW-2, Mewati, the mother of the deceased, were examined as witnesses of fact. PW-3 was the Investigating Officer who submitted the charge-sheet. PW-4 was the police official who carried the dead body for post-mortem examination, while PW-5 was the Investigating Officer who conducted the investigation.

12. PW-1 and PW-2 substantially reiterated the prosecution version as set out in the first information report. It is, therefore, unnecessary to reproduce their testimony in detail.

13. According to their depositions, the accused were closely related. Bhola was the brother of Bharat (appellant no. 2), Dhanni was Bharat's cousin, and Raj Deo (appellant no. 1) was also Bharat's cousin, being the son of Bharat's paternal aunt (Bua). The prosecution further alleged that Bharat was involved in an illicit relationship with the wife of the first informant's brother and had also attempted to abduct her. The deceased had thwarted Bharat's designs, which, according to the prosecution, created hostility between Bharat and the deceased. It was further alleged that Dashrath, another brother of Bharat, had stolen a bicycle which was subsequently repaired by the deceased. The deceased later disclosed Dashrath's identity to the owner of the bicycle, who recovered it after paying the repair charges. Thereafter, the deceased demanded the repair charges from Dashrath, whereas Bharat and Dashrath demanded the value of the bicycle from the deceased. According to the prosecution, these incidents further aggravated the existing enmity between the parties and constituted the motive for the offence. Both PW-1 and PW-2 claimed that they had seen the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence. PW-1 specifically deposed that Bharat was carrying a pistol, while the remaining three accused were unarmed.

14. However, certain inconsistencies emerge from the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 which bear directly upon the credibility of their claim that they had witnessed the accused fleeing from the tubewell. These inconsistencies require careful examination.

15. In her examination-in-chief, PW-1 stated that on entering the room at the tubewell, she found her husband writhing in pain. However, during cross-examination, she admitted that by the time she reached the spot, her husband had already died. The site plan indicates that the residence of the witness was approximately fifty paces from the tubewell. Having regard to the distance and the fact that the incident occurred at about 3:00 a.m., a serious doubt arises whether the witness could have reached the tubewell before the assailants had fled. This doubt is further reinforced by the circumstance that only a single gunshot appears to have been fired and there is no evidence of any scuffle between the deceased and his assailants, a fact which also finds support from the post-mortem report. The manner in which the crime has been alleged to have been committed does not disclose that the assailants had stayed back for any time before escaping from the spot.

16. The testimony of PW-2, the mother of the deceased, is likewise marked by material inconsistencies and improvements. PW-2 was sleeping in the same house as PW-1 and was about fifty years of age at the relevant time. In these circumstances, her claim that she reached the place of occurrence immediately upon hearing the gunshot, before the assailants could escape, also appears doubtful.

17. A further inconsistency emerges from her cross-examination, wherein she stated that the door of the room at the tubewell was bolted from inside. This version is at variance with her examination-in-chief, wherein she claimed to have seen and identified the accused while they were fleeing from the spot. It also materially departs from the statement attributed to her by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. According to her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., PW-2 had stated that on reaching the tubewell she saw Raj Deo (appellant no. 1) and one other person standing at the entrance of the room. She further stated that PW-1 informed her that the other person was Dhanni. According to the said statement, Raj Deo and Dhanni fled only after noticing her approaching the tubewell. In her deposition before the trial court, however, PW-2 stated that as she entered the room, the accused were coming out, and she found her son lying dead on the cot. This version is plainly inconsistent with the statement attributed to her under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

18. When confronted with her previous statement, PW-2 denied having made any such statement before the Investigating Officer. However, PW-5, the Investigating Officer, categorically deposed that PW-2 had indeed stated during investigation that she saw appellant no. 1 and another person standing at the entrance of the tubewell, and that PW-1 had identified the other person as Dhanni. He further proved that PW-2 had stated that only thereafter did they enter the room and found the deceased lying dead on the cot.

19. PW-3 and PW-4 are formal witnesses and their evidence does not require detailed discussion.

20. So far as PW-5 is concerned, the relevant part of his testimony has already been noticed. In addition, he proved the arrest-cum-recovery memo (Exhibit Ka-5). It is also significant that during his testimony he was unable to identify the person at whose instance the site plan had been prepared.

21. After the prosecution evidence concluded, the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. They denied the prosecution allegations, disputed that they had been seen at the place of occurrence, and asserted that they had been falsely implicated on account of previous enmity.

22. At this stage, it is necessary to note that the incriminating circumstances relied upon by the prosecution were not adequately put to the accused during their examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In particular, the allegation that Bharat was carrying a pistol was not put either to Bharat himself or to any of the other accused. This omission assumes significance because the present appellant was not charged with committing the murder individually under Section 302 IPC, but with constructive liability under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. Equally, the motive alleged by the prosecution was never put to the appellant during his examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

23. In defence, the accused examined DW-1, Vashisht Narayan Sharma, a clerk in the concerned Electricity Distribution Division. DW-1 deposed that no electricity connection stood recorded in the name of the deceased in the official records. The evident purpose of this evidence was to challenge the prosecution claim that there was a source of illumination at the tubewell sufficient to enable the witnesses to identify the accused during the intervening night of 14/15.02.1986.

24. The trial court held that the prosecution had successfully established the motive for the crime through the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2. It rejected the defence contention that the delay in lodging the first information report rendered the prosecution case doubtful or indicated that the report had been lodged after due deliberation and consultation with the police. The trial court also rejected the argument that the prosecution's failure to examine the other witnesses named in the charge-sheet warranted an adverse inference against it. It accepted the prosecution explanation that those witnesses had been discharged because they had been won over by the accused. The trial court further held that the ocular version regarding the injuries sustained by the deceased stood corroborated by the medical evidence. It also observed that during cross-examination no suggestion had been put to the prosecution witnesses that the accused had been falsely implicated. The trial court also relied upon the alleged recovery of the pistol from Bharat (appellant no. 2). On the cumulative consideration of the aforesaid circumstances, it convicted Raj Deo and Bharat under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and sentenced them to imprisonment for life, while acquitting the remaining two accused, namely Bhola and Dhanni. Aggrieved thereby, the present appeal has been preferred.

25. The counsel for the appellant contended that the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 was riddled with material inconsistencies and subsequent improvements, rendering their evidence wholly unreliable. It was submitted that the trial court had erred both in law and on facts in placing reliance upon their testimony to record the conviction. It was further argued that the motive attributed by the prosecution had not been established and that the appellant had been falsely implicated on mere suspicion arising out of previous enmity. The counsel also submitted that the claim of the prosecution witnesses that they had seen appellant no. 1 fleeing from the place of occurrence was demonstrably false and stood contradicted by their own testimony. It was, therefore, urged that the trial court had committed a manifest error in accepting the said evidence. It was next contended that the arrest-cum-recovery memo (Exhibit Ka-5), on which reliance had been placed by the trial court, was inadmissible in evidence. It was argued that the prosecution had failed to establish any nexus between the pistol allegedly recovered from appellant no. 2 and the offence in question. Consequently, the alleged recovery could not have been relied upon for recording the conviction. Lastly, it was submitted that there was no evidence whatsoever to establish any common intention on the part of the accused. In the absence of proof of the essential ingredients of Section 34 IPC, the conviction of the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC was wholly unsustainable. On these grounds, it was prayed that the impugned judgment be set aside and the appellant be acquitted.

26. Per contra, the AGA supported the judgment of the trial court and contended that the prosecution had successfully established the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. It was accordingly submitted that the appeal deserved to be dismissed.

27. We have considered the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties and have carefully perused the record of the trial court.

28. The arrest-cum-recovery memo (Exhibit Ka-5) records that the appellants were arrested on 17.02.1986 on the information furnished by a police informer. It further records that a pistol was recovered from the possession of Bharat (appellant no. 2). According to the memo, after the recovery of the pistol, the appellants allegedly confessed before the Investigating Officer that they, along with the other two co-accused, had murdered the deceased using the said weapon. The memo also records Bharat's alleged confession that he had fired the fatal shot.

29. A plain reading of Exhibit Ka-5 shows that the pistol was not discovered in consequence of any information supplied by the appellants. Rather, it was recovered from the possession of appellant no. 2 at the time of his arrest. Such recovery does not amount to a discovery within the meaning of Section 27 of the Evidence Act. Further, the alleged confessional statements were admittedly made while the appellants were in police custody. In view of Section 25 of the Evidence Act, those confessions are clearly inadmissible in evidence and cannot be proved against the appellants. Consequently, neither the alleged confessional statements nor the portions of Exhibit Ka-5 incorporating them could legally be relied upon. We, therefore, find merit in the submission advanced on behalf of the appellant that the trial court committed a manifest error, both in law and on facts, in relying upon Exhibit Ka-5 while recording the conviction.

30. It is equally significant that the prosecution has failed to establish that the pistol allegedly recovered from Bharat was the weapon used in the commission of the offence. No evidence has been led to connect the recovered pistol with the empty cartridge recovered from the vicinity of the place of occurrence. In the absence of any such evidence, the alleged recovery does not advance the prosecution case.

31. The inconsistencies in the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 also cast serious doubt upon their claim that they had witnessed the accused fleeing from the tubewell immediately after the occurrence.

32. PW-1 deposed that she saw the accused emerging from the room at the tubewell. However, during her cross-examination, she stated that she had seen the accused from a distance of about one and a half feet. The first information report lodged at her instance records that the accused fled towards the south after emerging from the room. In contrast, during her deposition before the trial court, she stated that appellant no. 1 fled towards the north. The site plan depicts all the accused fleeing towards the south after the occurrence. This improvement appears to have been introduced only to reinforce the identification of the accused. There is another material inconsistency in her testimony. In her examination-in-chief, PW-1 stated that upon entering the room she found the deceased writhing in pain, thereby suggesting that he was still alive. However, in cross-examination she admitted that by the time she entered the room, the deceased had already died.

33. The testimony of PW-2 is equally unsatisfactory. As already noticed, there are material inconsistencies between the statement attributed to her under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and her deposition before the trial court. In view of these contradictions, her assertion that she had identified appellant no. 1 at the place of occurrence cannot be accepted without reservation. It is also noteworthy that PW-2 admitted during her cross-examination that the door of the room at the tubewell was bolted from inside. As noticed earlier, PW-5 proved the statement of PW-2 recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

34. The cumulative effect of these inconsistencies is such that it would be unsafe to sustain the conviction of the appellants solely on the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2.

35. It is also pertinent to note that appellant no. 1 has been convicted under Section 302 with the aid of Section 34 IPC. The prosecution sought to establish the existence of a common intention primarily on three circumstances, namely, the appellant's alleged presence at or near the place of occurrence, his relationship with Bharat, and the motive alleged by the prosecution. These constitute the principal evidentiary circumstances on which constructive liability under Section 34 IPC is sought to be founded. It was, therefore, necessary to examine whether these circumstances, either individually or cumulatively, were sufficient to sustain the conviction of appellant no. 1. The trial court, however, has not undertaken any meaningful examination of the participation of appellant no. 1 in the commission of the offence or of the existence of any common intention shared by the accused.

36. According to PW-1, Bharat (appellant no. 2) was carrying a pistol while fleeing from the place of occurrence, whereas the remaining accused were empty-handed. Common intention to commit the crime cannot be inferred only from the ocular evidence, i.e., the testimony of PW-1 and PW- 2. The trial court appears to have inferred the existence of common intention mainly from the motive attributed by the prosecution to the accused.

37. The motive alleged by the prosecution undoubtedly establishes previous enmity between the parties. However, as repeatedly observed by the courts, previous enmity is a double-edged circumstance. While it may furnish a motive for the commission of the offence, it may equally provide a motive for false implication. More importantly, the motive relied upon by the prosecution principally concerns Bharat and the other two co-accused, Bhola and Dhanni, who were Bharat's brother and cousin respectively. The trial court itself acquitted Bhola and Dhanni. The appeal, so far as Bharat is concerned, has already abated. Appellant no. 1 stands on a materially different footing. He is merely the son of Bharat's paternal aunt (Bua). His relationship with Bharat, by itself, is wholly insufficient to attribute either a motive for the murder or a common intention to commit the offence. There is no independent evidence on record to show that appellant no. 1 shared the intention of Bharat or participated in the commission of the offence pursuant to any pre-arranged plan. In the absence of such evidence, the essential requirements for invoking Section 34 IPC remain unestablished.

38. It is equally significant that, apart from the alleged confession recorded in the arrest-cum-recovery memo?which we have already held to be inadmissible?there is no evidence against appellant no. 1 which distinguishes his case from that of the acquitted co-accused, Bhola and Dhanni. The role attributed to appellant no. 1 is identical to that attributed to Bhola and Dhanni. According to the prosecution itself, all three merely accompanied Bharat. No overt act has been attributed to appellant no. 1 which would place him on a different footing from the acquitted co-accused. In these circumstances, it is difficult to discern the basis on which the trial court acquitted Bhola and Dhanni while simultaneously convicting appellant no. 1. As already observed, the arrest-cum-recovery memo dated 17.02.1986 and the alleged confessional statements contained therein were inadmissible in evidence and could not legally be relied upon. Even otherwise, neither the alleged recovery nor the confessional statements disclose any circumstance which distinguishes the case of appellant no. 1 from that of Bhola and Dhanni. The conviction of appellant no. 1, while extending the benefit of doubt to the other two similarly placed accused, is thus unsupported by any discernible reasoning.

39. Another serious infirmity in the conduct of the trial was the manner in which the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The examination is remarkably cryptic and fails to comply with the mandate of Section 313 Cr.P.C. The material incriminating circumstances relied upon by the prosecution were never specifically put to the accused so as to afford them an opportunity of offering an explanation. In particular, the allegation that Bharat was carrying the pistol, or that the fatal shot was fired by Bharat in furtherance of the common intention shared by all the accused, was not put to any of the accused. The only circumstance put to them was that, after hearing the sound of the gunshot, the prosecution witnesses rushed towards the tubewell and allegedly saw the accused emerging from the room and fleeing from the place of occurrence. By itself, this circumstance does not constitute an incriminating circumstance sufficient to sustain the conviction. Likewise, the alleged motive, which forms an important plank of the prosecution case and has been substantially relied upon by the trial court while invoking Section 34 IPC, was never put to the accused during their examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Similarly, the alleged recovery of the pistol, which the trial court relied upon to distinguish the case of appellant no. 1 from that of the acquitted co-accused, was also not specifically put to the accused. A vague question stating that the Investigating Officer had proved Exhibit Ka-5 could not satisfy the statutory requirement of confronting the accused with each material incriminating circumstance appearing in the evidence against them. The examination conducted under Section 313 Cr.P.C. thus fell far short of the requirements of law and caused serious prejudice to the defence.

40. The foregoing discussion clearly demonstrates that there is no legally admissible evidence on record which justifies the conviction of appellant no. 1 under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. As already noticed, the prosecution has failed to establish any circumstance which distinguishes the case of appellant no. 1 from that of the acquitted co-accused, Bhola and Dhanni. The evidence against all three stands on the same footing.

41. We are constrained to observe that the trial court has not addressed several issues of fundamental importance. There is no meaningful discussion regarding the participation of appellant no. 1 or the existence of any common intention. The material inconsistencies in the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 have not been adequately considered. The admissibility of Exhibit Ka-5 has not been examined. Nor has the trial court adverted to the legal consequences of the defective examination of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Ordinarily, these shortcomings would have warranted more elaborate observations. However, having regard to the fact that the prosecution relates to an occurrence of the year 1986, we refrain from making any further comments.

42. It is sufficient to hold that the present is not a case where the prosecution has merely failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Rather, on the evidence adduced, the prosecution has wholly failed to establish the guilt of appellant no. 1.

43. Accordingly, the judgment and order dated 11.01.1989 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, Azamgarh, in Sessions Trial No. 320 of 1986 (State v. Raj Deo & Others), arising out of Case Crime No. 23 of 1986, insofar as it convicts appellant no. 1, Raj Deo, under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and sentences him to imprisonment for life, is set aside.

44. Appellant no. 1, Raj Deo, is acquitted of the charge under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC in Sessions Trial No. 320 of 1986.

45. The appellant is presently in custody. He was arrested pursuant to a non-bailable warrant issued by this Court on account of the repeated non-appearance of his counsel when the appeal was taken up for hearing. Since the conviction has now been set aside, the appellant shall be released forthwith, unless his custody is required in connection with any other case. In view of the acquittal, no further orders are required on the pending bail application.

46. The trial court records shall be transmitted forthwith to the court concerned along with a certified copy of this judgment.

47. The appeal is accordingly allowed.

48. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted by the Registrar (Compliance) to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh, and to the Jail Superintendent, District Jail, Azamgarh, within ten days for necessary compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. Three men, Kedar, Bahadur and Chunubad, stood their trial before Mr. Sanwal Singh, the then 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Banda, in Sessions Trial No.51 of 1987, under Sections 148, 364, 302 and 201 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, 'IPC'), Police Station Kamasin, District Banda. All three of them were found guilty of the offences punishable under Sections 148, 364, 302 and 201 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC. They were awarded term sentences on other counts, a moreful detail whereof will shortly be given.

2. Investigation in this case did not commence in the typical way with the registration of a First Information Report (for short, 'FIR') formally made. Rather, what happened was that the Village Chowkidar of Village Itwan, one Ram Autar, P.S. Pahadi, District Banda, appeared at the police station on 12.06.1986 at 10.50 a.m. and tendered an oral information that to the west of his village, close by the barn (khalihan) of one Bhujbal, a half burnt dead body was lying. The aforesaid information was registered as Village Chowkidar's information vide G.D. No.10 dated 12.06.1986. The G.D. entry aforesaid was got thumb marked by the Village Chowkidar and has been exhibited as Ex. Ka-2. Sub-Inspector Ran Bahadur Singh, who was posted at the police station, was entrusted with the investigation of this case on the basis of the G.D. Entry. He set about the place of occurrence along with Constables Babu Lal and Krishna Pal Singh, arriving there by 12.30. p.m.

3. Upon reaching Village Itwan, S.I. Ran Bahadur Singh found the dead body lying in the grove of one Nandan, where a large crowd had gathered. He inspected the dead body and appointed panch witnesses. Inquest proceedings were duly held. An inquest report was drawn up, which is marked as Ex. Ka-3. The Investigating Officer then prepared a photo lash, challan lash, two reports on the spot, which he duly signed. The dead body was sealed and handed over to the constables for conveying it for the purpose of undertaking an autopsy. The Investigating Officer inspected the place of occurrence and drew up a site-plan, marked as Ex. Ka-8.

4. There was ash around the dead body and the I.O. collected the ash. He drew up a recovery memo of the ash, marked it as Ex. Ka-9, and secured the signatures of witnesses on this memo. The collected ash was sealed in a separate box. During the proceedings of the inquest, the Investigating Officer came across two eye-witnesses, Rajesh and Mohan, and took down their statements. Later on, statements of these witnesses were recorded under Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (for short, 'Cr.P.C.') in the case diary as well as those of the panch witnesses. It was the story told by these witnesses in their statements given to the Police, which led them to an eye-witness account of the occurrence, and how it all happened. Another eye-witness, Bhola's statement was also taken down by the Police under Section 161 Cr.P.C. He corroborated Rajesh's version and it is largely on this twin version, coming from ocular testimony, that the prosecution case against the appellants is built.

5. The prosecution would have it that the three appellants, besides Santosh, an absconder, and some others, bore animosity against the deceased, Sahendrapal. The cause was trivial. Santosh and the appellants, besides some others, would damage Sahendrapal's crop with the indiscreet minding of their cattle. Sahendrapal would object to the damage to his crops that the cattle did. His protest would make the appellants and Santosh feel ill. This brewing ill-feeling in Santosh's mind had reached such a level that about a month and a half before the occurrence, he had opened fire intending to shoot Shahendrapal. On the 11th of June, 1986 at about 4.00 p.m., Sahendrapal was present at his brick-kiln, which he had set up in his Village Ranipur. The three appellants, besides Santosh, Shiv Pujan and three unknown men, all armed with lethal weapons, alighted at Sahendrapal's brick-kiln. They abducted Sahendrapal at gun point, a fact witnessed by the latter's cousin Bhola son of Har Prasad. Bhola rushed to the village abadi and informed Rajesh, besides others, of this occurrence. These men, that is to say, Bhola and Rajesh, besides other natives of the village, gave the abducting party a chase, and on way near Dubaria Purva, they met them. Entreaties were made to Santosh and the other abductors to spare Sahendrapal. They refused. Instead, the abductors held out threats of death to the men, who had gone after the abducting party to save Sahendrapal, saying that the rescuers would also be dealt with the same way. The case of the prosecution is that the abductors took away the victim, but were followed by Rajesh and Bhola, besides other residents of the village, who had joined them, albeit at a safe distance. The abducting party reached Nandan's grove at 6 o'clock in the evening, where there was a barn. There, the abductors opened fire, shooting two rounds, one of which found target and proved fatal. Next, they placed dried arhar plants on the victim's dead body and Kedar ignited it. The dead body was burnt. The prosecution say that on account of fear, Rajesh and Bhola, besides others, who witnessed the evil deed, could not offer any resistance, particularly after they were threatened with death. They were much scared not only because of the assailants' threats, but the demonstration of their abominable intentions.

6. On the 12th of June, 1986 at 10.50 hours, when the Village Chowkidar informed the Police of P.S. Pahadi and they arrived there, information reached the two eye-witnesses Rajesh and Bhola about the occurrence. Upon coming to know that the Police had reached the spot, at about 1.00 p.m., they proceeded to the place of occurrence and disclosed all facts that were within their knowledge and whatever they had witnessed. They also disclosed the fact to the Police that the dead body was of Sahendrapal. Here, it must be mentioned that there was turf fight between Police Station Pahadi and Police Station Kamasin, in consequence of which the Police of P.S. Pahadi sent all the papers to P.S. Kamasin because it was in the local limits of that police station, where the abduction had been committed and trouble started.

7. Autopsy on the deceased′s cadaver was undertaken by Dr. S.N. Misra on 13.06.1986. The investigation in the other police station was taken up by Ram Autar Singh, who was the Station Officer of P.S. Kamasin. After investigation, a charge-sheet was submitted against the three appellants and Santosh.

8. The learned Magistrate, before the case came up, finding it to be exclusively triable by Sessions, committed the same to the Court of Sessions vide order dated 13.02.1987. The accused were furnished copies of the relevant prosecution papers as provided under Section 207 Cr.P.C.

9. Pending trial, Santosh absconded and all processes, including those under Sections 82 and 83 Cr.P.C., failed to ensure his arrest. The efforts to arrest him proved abortive and futile. This case was, therefore, separated and the sessions trial proceeded against the three appellants, to wit, Kedar, Bahadur and Chunubad.

10. The sessions trial, therefore, from which the present appeal arises, is the one which proceeded against Kedar, Bahadur and Chunubad.

11. The charges were framed, carrying four counts, against the three appellants on 28.11.1987 by Mr. Sanwal Singh, the then 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Banda. The accused were charged for offences punishable under Sections 148, 364, 302 and 201 IPC. The appellants pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

12. The prosecution examined the following witnesses in support of their case:

1. PW-1 - Dr. S.N. Misra, Chief Medical Officer, Hardoi, the then Superintendent, District Combined Hospital, Karwi, Banda, who conducted postmortem of the deceased Sahendrapal,

2. PW-2 - S.I. Ran Bahadur Singh, the then Sub-Inspector posted at P.S. Pahadi, District Banda, who commenced investigation of the case,

3. PW-3 - Rajesh, a witness of fact and nephew of the deceased, Sahendrapal,

4. PW-4 - Bhola, also a witness of fact, cousin of the deceased,

5. PW-5 - S.I. Ram Autar Singh, the then S.O., P.S. Kamasin, District Banda, who completed investigation and submitted the charge-sheet.

13. The prosecution, in addition, produced the following documentary evidence:

Sr. No.	Exhibit No.	Exhibited documents with brief particulars

14. After the prosecution evidence was over, the statements of the accused, now the convicted appellants, were all recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 11.01.1988, i.e., for all the three appellants. The appellants did not enter defence or lead evidence.

15. The learned Trial Judge convicted and sentenced the appellants in the following manner:

Sr. No.	Offence charged	Sentence imposed
1.	148 IPC	1 year's RI
2.	364 IPC	10 years' RI

16. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order dated 12.01.1988, the three convicts, Kedar, Bahadur and Chunubad preferred the instant appeal.

17. Pending this appeal, out of the three appellants, Kedar and Bahadur passed away and this appeal survives to be heard at the instance of the third appellant, Chunubad alone and now, the sole appellant, who shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the appellant'.

18. Heard Mr. Raj Kumar Yadav, learned Counsel for the appellant in support of this appeal and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned A.G.A. along with Mr. K. K. Nishad, learned State Law Officer for the State.

19. There are no particulars of the date, time and place of occurrence available from the first informant′s version because all that is there for the sake of a first information report is an oral information from the Village Chowkidar and recorded as G.D. Entry No.10 at 10.50 hours on 12.06.1986 at P.S. Kamasin. All that this entry records is that the Village Chowkidar informed that to the west of the village in the jungle, where one Bhujbal's barn is situate, a half burnt body of a man was lying there. There is, therefore, no first informant′s account to judge the worth of whatever the eye-witnesses have told the Police in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., and, particularly what they have testified in Court. The earliest eye-witness account of the occurrence, shedding light on the date, time and place of occurrence, would, therefore, figure from the statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., which the prosecution witnesses have given to the Police and recorded by them. There are two eye-witnesses, that is to say, PW-3 Rajesh and PW-4 Bhola. These witnesses, after seeing the occurrence, where the deceased was shot dead in their presence and his body set afire, and threatened by the assailants of a similar fate for them, did not proceed to the police station to report the matter, but went back to their village in the safety of their homes.

The following morning, when acting on the Chowkidar's information, the Police arrived at the place of occurrence and the two witnesses learnt of the Police's presence, they emerged from safety and reached over to the Police at the scene of crime and narrated facts what constitutes the eye-witness account. The occurrence took place to the west of Village Itwan in Nandan's grove, where a barn is located. It was about 6.00 p.m. The abductors, which included the three original appellants, including the appellant, besides Shiv Pujan, Santosh and the three unknown men, made the deceased Sahendrapal stand in the grove, open to the view of this eye-witness and others. Next, out of the eight assailants, Santosh shot the deceased dead. Thus, according to this witness, the date of occurrence is 11.06.1986, the time 6.00 p.m. and the place was Nandan's grove to the west of Village Itwan, where a barn is located. If indeed this is the date, time and place of occurrence, is a matter which would entirely depend upon the fact if the eye-witness account is believed to be true and also the witnesses, who have described it upon the Police's arrival, are indeed believed about their presence at the scene of crime, when it was committed. If the eye-witnesses' presence is not believed or their testimony not accepted or found doubtful, the precise date, time and place of occurrence would largely remain unknown. Of course, the date and time of occurrence can still be ascertained from the medico-legal evidence, approximately though.

20. According to the testimony of PW-3, Rajesh, on 11.06.1986 at about 4 o'clock in the evening, he was at home when Bhola (PW-4) came over to his place and informed him that Sahendrapal had been abducted by miscreants, which included Kedar, Chunubad (the appellant), Bahadur, Shiv Pujan, Santosh and three unknown offenders. Bhola said that Sahendrapal was abducted near his brick-kiln and was being taken away towards Duriab Purab. Upon coming to know of this fact, PW-3 along with Bhola (PW-4), Mahesh, Raj Karan and other residents of the village proceeded to the place of movement of the offenders. The witness says that he met the offenders to the east of Dukia Purva. They were holding Sahendrapal captive with his hands tied behind his back. PW-3 says that he and his companions beseeched the offenders, including the appellant to let off Sahendrapal. They did not relent, and instead, threatened the witness and the other rescuers with similar violence. The offenders then proceeded towards Itwan and the witness and his companions followed them. Once the offenders had reached Nandan's grove, located to the west of Village Itwan, they halted by a barn there. The witness says that he and his companions stood at a distance of 150 feet. At that time, it was 6 o'clock in the evening. The offenders made Sahendrapal stand on one side and Santosh fired twice, targeting Sahendrapal. The first shot hit Sahendrapal and he collapsed. The witness says that, in his opinion, he died as he collapsed. Next, the appellants, Kedar, Bahadur and Chunubad, besides Shiv Pujan, placed wood from arahar plants on the body and Kedar set it afire. After Sahendrapal's body was consumed by flames, the witness along with the others, struck by fear, returned home.

21. Before these witnesses returned and soon after the dead body was consumed by flames, the offenders warned the witness and all those present that if they report the matter to the Police, the same fate would await them. The witness identified the three original appellants in this appeal, including the appellant, who were all present in Court, as the accused. Shiv Pujan and Santosh were of course offenders and not before the Court, and the others were there in the dock. This fact was also said by the witness in his examination-in-chief. PW-3 has also said that Sahendrapal was his uncle and there was no animosity with the offenders. Sahendrapal's crop would be destroyed by the appellants as also Santosh, about which Sahendrapal would chastise them. This was the only animosity between the offenders and the victim. It is also said by PW-3 that a month antedating the occurrence, Santosh was grazing his animals in Sahendrapal's field and upon being asked not to do so, he had threatened Sahendrapal. It is also said that prior to the last mentioned event, Santosh had attempted to shoot Sahendrapal and opened fire.

22. In the cross-examination of this witness (PW-3), it appears that there has been a history of previous crimes between the victim and the witnesses' family, on one hand, and that of the offenders, on the other. There have been convictions and acquittals and while no judgments about the fact have been brought on record, but in the cross-examination, PW-3 has not testified any kind of a denial to this history of crime between parties, which may make the facts suggested, ones that are false or moonshine. To the contrary, the suggestions about the history of crimes, the prosecutions, convictions and acquittals, have not been denied by PW-3 with the degree of firmness, on bases whereof the facts and suggestions can be discarded as products of falsehood, imagination or a mere contrivance of the cross-examiner to dislodge the prosecution. Regarding the history of this litigation, which is suggestive of an entrenched animosity between parties, the cross-examination of PW-3, that is in point, must be quoted for better appreciation. It reads:

"मेरे बाबा का नाम चंद्रपाल सिंह है। मेरे पिता के कोई सगा भाई नहीं है। मेरे बाबा चंद्रपाल व हर प्रसाद दो ही सगे भाई थे। हर प्रसाद का लड़का भोला गवाह है। ददन जो मृतक सहेंद्रपाल के बाप थे मेरे बाबा के सगे भाई नहीं थे बल्कि चाचा जात भाई थे। संतोष के बाप बाबू लाल का कतल हुआ था। मैं नहीं जानता कि उस कतल में चंद्रपाल को फांसी व रामफल मुखिया, बच्छराज व इंद्रपाल को काला पानी की सजा हुई थी। जगमोहन व चंद्रपाल का भी कतल हुआ था। रामफल के पिता जगमोहन हैं जो चंद्रपाल के चाचा जात भाई हैं। मैं निश्चित नहीं हूं कि तीनों मुलजिमान हाजिर अदालत उसमें मुलजिम रहे हों। मुझे नहीं मालूम कि जगमोहन व चंद्रपाल के कतल में बहादुर, चुनवाद, केदार, दयाली, बलवंता, शिव भूषण भइयादीन व पहाडिया मुलजिम थे। यह भी मुझे नहीं मालूम कि उस कतल में ये लोग बरी हुए थे। मैं कर्वी में नहीं बल्कि रानीपुर में डाक्टरी करता हूं।"

23. PW-4 Bhola has claimed to have seen the occurrence from the inception of things. He was at the well that was being sunk at Sahendrapal's brick-kiln, then under construction. The witness says that the deceased Sahendrapal was his cousin. The eight offenders alighted at Sahendrapal's 'under construction' brick-kiln. They were Shiv Pujan, Santosh, Kedar, Chunubad, Bahadur and three unknown men. They were all armed with guns. All of them surrounded Sahendrapal, tied him up and marched off with him. The witness says that he rushed towards the village and told Rajesh, Mahesh, Raj Karan and others in the village. All of them left the village in pursuit of the offenders, who had gone towards Dubaria Purva. Following the route that offenders had taken, the rescuing party reached the victim and the offenders and beseeched the latter to set the victim free. The offenders are said to have told the rescuing party to return back, or else they would be killed. The rescuing party did not return, but kept following the offenders until they had reached a place near Itwan, which was Nandan's grove. There were two trees there. The deceased was made to stand between them. The offenders moved away and Sahendrapal was left alone standing there. Santosh shot him. Sahendrapal collapsed. There was a second shot fired too. Later, Kedar placed wood over Sahendrapal's body and all the offenders set it afire. The witness and others, who had accompanied him, were told that if they did not go away, they too would meet the same fate. It was thereupon that this witness and the others returned to the village and were hiding there. It was upon the arrival of the Police that they reached the scene of crime and got their statements recorded. It is also said by this witness in his examination-in-chief that Sahendrapal's fields would be caused to be grazed by Santosh. Sahendrapal would chastise him. Piqued over this dispute a year and a half prior to the occurrence, Santosh and his companions had attacked him, but he escaped unhurt. This was the animosity between the two, according to this witness, so far as his stand in the examination-in-chief goes.

24. In his cross-examination, PW-4 has described the history of crime, prosecution and punishment between parties as follows:

"संतोष के बाप बाबू लाल का कतल हुआ उसमें चंद्रपाल रामपाल धनपाल व बच्छराज पर कतल का मुकदमा चला या नहीं जानता कि उसमें चंद्रपाल को फांसी तथा बाकी को आजीवन कारावास हुआ और उसमें बहादुर मुलजिमान गवाह Police की तरफ दी थी फिर कहा कि नहीं पता कि गवाही दी या नहीं।

रामपाल के बाप जगमोहन व रामपाल के चचा जात भाई चंद्रपाल का कतल हुआ। इसमें बहादुर (Sic) बलवन्त दयाल व महावीर व शिवपूजन व भैयादीन पकड़े गये थे। यह लोग जजी से बरी हो गये।"

25. This is more or less the same history of crime, animosity, prosecution, trial and punishment as that given out by PW-3. It is true that the allegations of these crimes, the involvement of the parties' ancestors or punishment, has not been unequivocally acknowledged nor documents produced by either side to prove facts, but the denial is virtually an admission. So far as PW-4 is concerned, it is on a quivering and vacillating note. A suggestion of this kind if false, would have brought out a stout denial. Far from being that the denial in substance, admits the history of crime and prosecution between parties, albeit behind the veil of a guarded denial. Now, it is not disputed that the deceased Sahendrapal and the two eye-witnesses, PW-3 and PW-4, are related by blood. There is a history of crime, that is to say, murders being committed between the families of the two witnesses and the deceased, on one hand, and the offenders, including the appellant here, on the other. Chandrapal was PW-3 Rajesh's grandfather. He had a brother of full blood by the name Har Prasad. PW-4 Bhola is Har Prasad's son. Therefore, PW-3 Rajesh and PW-4 Bhola are collaterals, one degree removed, whereas the deceased Sahendrapal's father Daddan was a collateral of Chandrapal, making Sahendrapal a second cousin of Bhola in the same generation and Rajesh's second cousin, one degree removed. In popular language, Rajesh would be a nephew both to Bhola and Sahendrapal. It is, thus, evident that the deceased and the two eye-witnesses, PW-3 and PW-4, are collaterals in the male bloodline. Being relatives of the deceased, would of itself not make the two eye-witnesses interested witnesses, as it is called.

26. We notice that the dispute between the deceased and the offenders, as said by both the witnesses in their examination-in-chief to be one over damage to the deceased's crops, does not appear to be the bone of contention. The animosity between the families of the deceased, which includes the two eye-witnesses, on one hand, and that of the offenders, including the appellant, run far deeper. As already remarked, there was a suggestion given to PW-3 during his cross-examination that the principal accused Santosh's father Babulal was murdered. This witness has halfheartedly denied the suggestion that in Babulal's murder, Chandrapal received the death sentence, whereas Ramphal Mukhia, Bachhraj and Indrapal were sentenced to transportation for life. Chandrapal too was murdered along with Jagmohan. Jagmohan was a first cousin to Chandrapal. Again, to the suggestion that the three appellants, that is to say, the two deceased and the one surviving, were accused in the murders of Chandrapal and Jagmohan. PW-3 has said that he is not sure if the three appellants were accused in Chandrapal's and Jahmohan's murder. He was also not sure if along with the other co-accused, they were acquitted in the said crime.

27. These facts show that Chandrapal, whose collateral's son was the deceased Sahendrapal, was apparently involved in the murder of the principal accused Santosh's father, Babulal. On the other hand, PW-3's grandfather Chandrapal and PW-4's father's brother too were murdered and the three appellants before the Court are said to have been involved in the said crime. They were later on acquitted.

28. Now, this angle of murders between the two families of the appellants, on one hand, and the deceased, on the other, makes both PW-3 and PW-4, what may truly be regarded as 'interested witnesses'. The interested or the non-partisan character of the witnesses arises from the animosity between parties owing to the criminal cases lodged against each other. The interest springs from feelings of vengeance and malice. Now, all that is required while evaluating the testimony of an interested witness is that it should be carefully scrutinized and not accepted at the face value to found a conviction. Sagacity requires that the testimony of a partisan witness, albeit consistent, should be corroborated about its veracity, if nothing else from a searching look to circumstances that may verify its truthfulness. If there is evidence aliunde available bearing on the point, corroboration in the more classical way may be sought from that other evidence, that may assure the Court that the interested witness is not lying after all.

29. In this case, when one looks to those circumstances or corroborating evidence, it is at once clear that although PW-3 and PW-4, according to their own saying, were not the only eye-witnesses and had with them others from the village, some of whom are mentioned in PW-3's evidence as Mahesh and Raj Karan, none of these independent witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. If one of these independent witnesses from the village, who had gone along with PW-3 and PW-4 to save Sahendrapal, had been examined, the necessary corroborative evidence would have been forthcoming.

30. There is no principle by which the prosecution can be compelled to produce particular witnesses or an adverse inference drawn against them on account of non-production of one or more witnesses, who may have some material testimony to offer. It is on principle for the prosecution to prove their case, offering the best evidence they have, and in the process to produce such material witnesses, whom they regard sufficient to establish the case. This, however, is subject to the principle that if the evidence of witnesses, who testify, is deficient in some regard or otherwise tainted and other witnesses being available, have not been produced, the Court would be within its rights in raising a presumption that if those material witnesses were produced, their testimony would have gone against the prosecution.

31. Here, the two witnesses, who were produced, offer testimony that did not suffer from any inherent flaw, but it was classically a case where their evidence is one that can be said to be tainted by malice and animosity, coming down from the previous history of crime and litigation between parties. As already remarked, their testimony required, therefore, corroboration of some kind for the Court to be satisfied of its truth and dependability. In this case, independent witnesses being available, who had accompanied PW-3 and PW-4 in the rescue mission, that is to say, Mahesh and Raj Karan, whose statements were recorded by the Police under Section 161 Cr.P.C., there is no reason why at least one of them was not produced by the prosecution. Not only one of these or both witnesses, if examined, would have either corroborated the testimony of PW-3 or belied it, enabling the Court to get to the truth of the matter, the prosecution, in choosing not to produce these independent witnesses and resting their case on the rather unreliable testimony of interested witnesses, to wit, PW-3 and PW-4 alone, have placed themselves in a position, where the Court would feel unsafe to rely on the uncorroborated testimony of these witnesses. The Court would also be compelled to draw a presumption that if the independent witnesses Mahesh and Raj Karan had been examined, their testimony would have gone against the prosecution. For the principle that in the facts of a particular case, non-production of a witness may lead to an adverse inference against the prosecution, we may refer to a very recent decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Karam Veer and others v. State, 2026:AHC:123847-DB, to which one of us (J.J. Munir, J. was party). In that case, we held:

"53. Though, there is no rule by which the prosecution can be obliged to produce all witnesses, who might have seen or known the occurrence first hand, it is yet to be seen if the evidence produced by the prosecution is insufficient or unsatisfactory, and there remain one or more witnesses, who could but have not been produced, what effect the non-production have on the prosecution. This is a matter, which has to be judged on the facts of each case. If there is sterling evidence of one or two witnesses, the prosecution cannot be blamed for not producing three more, whose evidence may be as sterling as those chosen by the prosecution to appear in the dock. The defence nor the Court can compel the prosecution to multiply witnesses, where those already there, can testify their case sufficiently. However, if the prosecution evidence is shaky or deficient and there still remain one or more witnesses, who could shed light on the case, non-production of such a witness, may well lead to an adverse inference against the prosecution to the effect that if produced, he would not have supported the prosecution. In this connection, the following remarks of the Supreme Court in Khatri Hemraj Amulakh v. State of Gujarat, (1972) 3 SCC 671 is relevant, where it has been remarked:

"10. According to the statement of Dharamshi recorded in Gujrati, his tailoring shop is near the house of the accused. On the day of occurrence at about 10 a.m. Dharamshi saw the accused sitting on a stone opposite his (Dharamshi's) shop. The accused appeared to be in a state of excitement. He was looking to the ground and was not speaking with any one. After sitting like that for about an hour, the accused met Shiv Lal whose shop is also nearby. Thereafter, the accused went inside his house. Dharamshi later on that day learnt of the murder of Thakari deceased. Accordingly however, to the English record of the statement of Dharamshi, the accused after sitting on the stone for about an hour in a state of excitement met Shiv Lal. The accused and Shiv Lal then went together to the house of the accused. The learned judges of the High Court relied upon the Gujrati version of the statement of Dharamshi and accepting that to be correct, came to the conclusion that the accused was alone with Thakari deceased at the time of the present occurrence. In this connection, we find that though Dharamshi has deposed in court that the accused was in a state of excitement, Dharamshi made no mention of the accused being in the state of excitement in his statement recorded by the police. It would thus appear that Dharamshi has tried to improve upon his police statement. Shiv Lal, with whom the accused was closetted, according to the Gujrati version of Dharamshi's statement, and who also went along with the accused inside the house, according to the English version, has not been examined as a witness in the case and there is nothing on the material before us to indicate as to why Shiv Lal was not examined by the prosecution. The non-examination of Shiv Lal who was a very material witness would give rise, in our opinion, to an inference that, if examined, he would not have supported the prosecution evidence. We thus find that a very important piece of evidence which could have shown as to whether the accused went inside his house shortly before the occurrence is missing in this case. In any case we do not find it safe to act upon the uncorroborated statement of Dharamshi.″

54. Stating the wider principle regarding such cases is the authority of the Supreme Court in Joginder Singh v. State of Haryana, (2014) 11 SCC 335*. In* Joginder Singh (supra), it was held:

"37. At this juncture, we may note with profit another aspect that has been highlighted by the learned counsel for the respondent. The prosecution has not examined Chander, husband of the deceased, a relevant eyewitness, Bala, Murti and Bimla, three other injured witnesses. No explanation has been given by the prosecution. Though there have been certain suggestions to PW 16 in the cross-examination, but his answer is evasive. It is well settled in law that non-examination of the material witness is not a mathematical formula for discarding the weight of the testimony available on record howsoever natural, trustworthy and convincing it may be. The charge of withholding a material witness from the court levelled against the prosecution should be examined in the background of the facts and circumstances of each case so as to find whether the witnesses are available for being examined in the court and were yet withheld by the prosecution. (See State of H.P. v. Gian Chand [(2001) 6 SCC 71: 2001 SCC (Cri) 980].)

38. In this context, we may also note with profit a passage from Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing [(2001) 6 SCC 145: 2001 SCC (Cri) 1070]: (SCC p. 155, para 19)

"19. - It is true that if a material witness, who would unfold the genesis of the incident or an essential part of the prosecution case, not convincingly brought to fore otherwise, or where there is a gap or infirmity in the prosecution case which could have been supplied or made good by examining a witness who though available is not examined, the prosecution case can be termed as suffering from a deficiency and withholding of such a material witness would oblige the court to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution by holding that if the witness would have been examined it would not have supported the prosecution case. On the other hand if already overwhelming evidence is available and examination of other witnesses would only be a repetition or duplication of the evidence already adduced, non-examination of such other witnesses may not be material. In such a case the court ought to scrutinise the worth of the evidence adduced. The court of facts must ask itself-whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, it was necessary to examine such other witness, and if so, whether such witness was available to be examined and yet was being withheld from the court. If the answer be positive then only a question of drawing an adverse inference may arise. If the witnesses already examined are reliable and the testimony coming from their mouth is unimpeachable the court can safely act upon it, uninfluenced by the factum of non-examination of other witnesses."

39. Recently in Manjit Singh v. State of Punjab [(2013) 12 SCC 746: (2014) 4 SCC (Cri) 531], this Court, after referring to earlier decisions, has opined thus: (SCC p. 757, para 24)

"24. ... it is quite clear that it is not the number and quantity but the quality that is material. It is the duty of the Court to consider the trustworthiness of evidence on record which inspires confidence and the same has to be accepted and acted upon and in such a situation no adverse inference should be drawn from the fact of non-examination of other witnesses. That apart, it is also to be seen whether such non-examination of a witness would carry the matter further so as to affect the evidence of other witnesses and if the evidence of a witness is really not essential to the unfolding of the prosecution case, it cannot be considered a material witness (see State of U.P. v. Iftikhar Khan [(1973) 1 SCC 512: 1973 SCC (Cri) 384])."

40. In the case at hand, non-examination of the material witnesses is of significance. It is so because PW 11 is really an interested witness though the High Court has not agreed with the same. It appears from the material brought on record that he had an axe to grind against the appellant. That apart, Chander, who was present from the beginning, would have been in a position to disclose more clearly about the genesis of the occurrence. He is the husband of the deceased and we find no reason why the prosecution had withheld the said witness. Similarly, the other three witnesses who are said to be injured witnesses when available should have come and deposed. Therefore, in the obtaining factual matrix that their non-examination gains significance."

55. Here, we have already noticed that the two injured witnesses, PW-2 and PW-4 have taken contradictory stands regarding the fact, if the assailants did come up to the rooftop in order to commit assault and PW-2 is vacillating on the issue, the medico-legal evidence places in doubt the otherwise firm stand of PW-4 that all the accused had their feet on the ground and shot the deceased and the injured at the rooftop. All this has led to a shaky prosecution case, as already remarked. In this case, there are three injured witnesses, that is to say, Bodha, Rajkumari and Jaggo, none of whom have been examined. PW-3, whose presence is very doubtful on the spot, has been introduced for the mere fact that one of the other eye-witnesses, not an injured witness, Javar Singh, refused to testify. In such circumstances, these three eye-witnesses, who are injured witnesses, ought have been examined, may be one or two, to firm up the prosecution case, whichever way it was. No reason has been assigned for the non-prosecution of these eye-witnesses given the shaky background of the prosecution evidence. In such circumstances, non-examination of the three eye-witnesses, or at least one or more of them, leads us to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution that if produced, these eye-witnesses would not have supported the prosecution, leading to further doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case."

32. We are still minded to see if there are any other circumstances that may lend the necessary assurance to the account of PW-3 and PW-4. Unfortunately, there are none. To the contrary, what we notice is that there are circumstances to suggest that PW-3 and PW-4 did not see the occurrence at all.

33. The foremost circumstance that is suggestive of the absence of these witnesses is that these witnesses along with two other men from the village, who are named, that is to say, Mahesh and Raj Karan, besides a number of other residents of the village had chased and attempted a rescue. When their entreaties failed and they were threatened by the gun wielding offenders, including the appellants, to go away, else they too would be done to death, they did not relent in their pursuit and went after the offenders through a considerable distance, may be a kilometer or more, till they reached Nandan's grove. They followed the offenders at a distance of 100-150 paces and watched them from this distance commit the crime in cold blood. It is very odd behaviour for both the rescuers and the offenders that one would follow armed men after being threatened with death and the armed offenders permitting the witnesses and the other rescuers to follow them and then commit the crime in their presence. If one were to accept the version that the entreaties were refused and the offenders, including the appellants, threatened the witnesses and others in the party with death, asking them to go away, they would have forced them to go away, instead of permitting the rescue party to trail across a distance of a kilometer or more and then commit the crime in their presence. The witnesses, who were so scared, as they say, that after the crime, they hid in their homes in the village, all through the night, instead of lodging an FIR, makes it difficult to believe that they would muster the courage after receiving death threats from gun wielding men, who were carrying out an abduction, to follow them until the scene of crime, and then wait until time that they witnessed the crime. This account of the two witnesses is rather incredible to believe, making their presence doubtful on the scene of crime.

34. There is another aspect to it. As experience dictates, crimes of this kind are generally not committed where an eye-witness or witnesses would be left to go alive, make statements to the Police and testify against the offenders. If indeed PW-3 and PW-4 along with their companions had followed the offenders and witnessed the crime, with the offenders not forcing them to go away earlier, after committing the murder, the offenders in normal circumstances, would have eliminated the witnesses too. On the own showing of PW-3 and PW-4, there were eight men, all armed with guns. The evidence also shows that there was prior animosity between parties with the history of crime. If indeed the witnesses, PW-3 and PW-4, had seen the offenders, including the appellant, commit this gory crime, there is no way the offenders would have stopped at their initial target and not eliminated these witnesses and their companions too. This is another circumstance, which makes the presence of these witnesses and their testimony unbelievable.

35. The last of the circumstance that makes the presence of these witnesses doubtful at the scene of the crime is that the brave hearts that they were in going after the offenders across a considerable distance until they had witnessed the crime, suddenly turned into very scared man, who hid in the safety of their homes the night over. Back in the village, there would be a sizable number of the local residents. Admittedly, PW-4 had a licensed gun and in all probability others in the village too would have some licensed weapons. Even if not, as already remarked, the residents of the village would be a big number and the offenders would have gone far away after committing the crime. There is no earthly reason why after witnessing a gory murder of a blood relative, these two witnesses, PW-3 and PW-4, would not seek the help of other residents of the village, and in the company of strong numbers, make it to the police station at the earliest to lodge an FIR.

36. The crime was admittedly reported by the Village Chowkidar and registered as a Chowkidar's entry in the G.D. of the police station, carrying a non-discript version, where the half burnt dead body alone was reported to the Police. It is for this reason that this is all that is for an FIR account. These eye-witnesses did not, all through the night, report what they had personally witnessed in the company of two other named men and some other residents of the village as well. PW-3 and PW-4 gave their first statements to the Police after the Police arrived the next morning, acting on the Village Chowkidar's G.D. Entry, reporting the presence of a half burnt body in Nandan's grove. Therefore, the account of these two witnesses apparently springs from tainted sources, be it animosity, malice or whatever the vitiating hue of their untruthful intentions. We are, therefore, of opinion that PW-3 and PW-4 were not present at the scene of crime and their testimony is of no worth. The manner of occurrence, of course, also becomes more of an imaginary story, the two eye-witnesses having been held to be not present at the scene of crime.

37. It is trite law that it is the prosecution, who bear the burden to prove their case beyond all reasonable doubts. Of course, the words are of thoughtful expression, when it is said 'beyond all reasonable doubt'. The principle that the benefit of doubt has to go to the accused and not the State or the informant, does not comprehend within its fold, all kinds of doubts, that may be fanciful origin, trivial or based on strained logic. It is, as said, robust doubts that go to the root of the matter that set the standard for the prosecution to prove their case beyond reasonable doubt. It hardly need be gainsaid that in the principle that we mention the words 'reasonable doubt' have hold special significance, which has already been explained and need not detain us for a longer time. It is also a well regarded principle that weakness of the defence cannot be capitalized upon by the prosecution to bring home the guilt. They must prove their case by their own evidence. For the principle, reference may be made to Datar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1975) 4 SCC 272, where it has been remarked:

"3. It is often difficult for courts of law to arrive at the real truth in criminal cases. The judicial process can only operate on the firm foundations of actual and credible evidence on record. Mere suspicion or suspicious circumstances cannot relieve the prosecution of its primary duty of proving its case against an accused person beyond reasonable doubt. Courts of justice cannot be swayed by sentiment or prejudice against a person accused of the very reprehensible crime of patricide., They cannot even act on some conviction that an accused person has committed a crime unless his offence is proved by satisfactory evidence of it on record. If the pieces of evidence on which the prosecution chooses to rest its case are so brittle that they crumble when subjected to close and critical examination so that the whole superstructure built on such insecure foundations collapses, proof of some incriminating circumstances, which might have given support to merely defective evidence cannot avert a failure of the prosecution case."

38. The principle is too well settled to brook doubt and reference in this connection may also be made to the authorities enunciated in Gahnu Mahto v. State of Bihar, 2023 SCC OnLine Jhar 45, Ballu v. State of M.P., (2024) 12 SCC 202, State of Chhattisgarh v. Ashok Bhoi, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 487, and Manikantan v. State of Kerala, 2025 SCC OnLine Ker 4239.

39. In this case, since we have disbelieved the presence of the witnesses at the scene of crime, the entire edifice of the prosecution falls. We hold, therefore that of whatever worth the prosecution evidence is, they have not been able to prove the charges beyond reasonable doubt, or so to speak, by the criminal standard. We are of opinion, therefore, that the sole appellant Chunubad is entitled to be extended the benefit of doubt and acquitted of the charges.

40. In the result, the appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge is hereby set aside and the appellant Chunubad acquitted of the charges. He is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged.

41. The appellant, Chunubad, shall execute a personal bond in the sum of Rs.25,000/- under Section 481 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (corresponding to Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) for his appearance, in the event of an appeal being preferred against his acquittal.

42. Let the lower court records be returned to the Trial Court forthwith.

(Order on CMA/I.A. No.1 of 2025)

1. Heard Sri Ayodhya Prasad Mishra, assisted by Sri Vivek Kumar Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant /applicant, Sri Vinod Kumar Shahi, learned Additional Advocate General of U.P. assisted by Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA-I for the State and Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim.

2. This is the first bail application of the present appellant/ applicant- Pawan Kumar Pandey under Section 389 Cr.P.C. moved in the present Criminal Appeal assailing the judgment and order dated 04.01.2025 & 06.01.2025 passed by the Special Judge (M.P./M.L.A. related matters)/ Additional Sessions Judge (FTC-II), District- Ambedkar Nagar in Criminal Case No.297 of 2020 (Sessions Case No.297 of 2020), State Vs. Pawan Kumar Pandey and Another, arising out of Case Crime No.157 of 1990, Police Station- Baskhari, District- Ambedkar Nagar, wherein the appellant has been convicted under Sections 147, 148, 307/149 & 427 IPC and sentenced for maximum period of seven years′ rigorous imprisonment with fine stipulations.

3. Son of the injured has also filed a revision bearing Criminal Revision No.370 of 2025, Nirbhay Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Another against the aforesaid judgment and order seeking enhancement of sentence awarded to the present appellant from seven years′ rigorous imprisonment to life imprisonment, therefore, present criminal appeal and the criminal revision have been connected and listed before this Bench. Sri Nadeem Murtaza, who is counsel for the revisionist in the aforesaid criminal revision, has stated that he is ready to argue the revision.

4. Before adverting to the arguments of learned counsel for the parties and the case laws so cited, we hereby refer our order dated 04.02.2026, which reads as under:-

"1. Heard Sri Brij Mohan Sahai, assisted by Sri A.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant as well as Sri V.K. Shahi, learned Addl. Advocate General, assisted by Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA, and Sri Ajeet Singh, learned State counsel for the State-respondent and Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim.

2. Learned counsels for the parties have concluded their arguments on the bail application but so as to address the Court on the merits of the appeal as well as revision filed by the victim, they have sought a week's time.

3. List/ put up on 11.02.2026 within top ten cases.

4. This matter may be taken up immediately after fresh cases.″

5. On 04.02.2026, learned counsels for the parties concluded their arguments on the bail application but on their request that they are willing to address the Court on the merits of the appeal and the revision, one week's time was granted listing the case for 11.02.2026. On 11.02.2026, learned counsel for the appellant did not appear, however, learned AGA and learned counsel for the victim were present. On subsequent date i.e. 18.02.2026, the case got adjourned on the request of learned counsel for the appellant and any date after Holi vacation was requested. On that too, Sri Vinod Kumar Shahi, learned Additional Advocate General, Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA-I and Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim were present and had stated that they had no objection on request. On 19.03.2026, Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim was reported to be out of station, therefore, the case was adjourned for the next date. On subsequent dates, the case was adjourned on the request of learned counsel for the parties. On 21.07.2026, Sri A.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant argued at substantial length but could not conclude his arguments, therefore, the case was listed next day i.e. 22.07.2026. On 22.07.2026, Sri A.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that he has no instructions from his client to argue the appeal, therefore, his bail application may be disposed of.

6. Though Sri A.P. Mishra had already concluded his arguments on the bail application on 04.02.2026 but he again argued on his bail application. Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA and Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim insisted that once learned counsels for the parties have given their consent to argue the appeal on merits and they are ready to argue the appeal on merits, then this appeal should be decided finally and should not be kept pending for the reason that the appellant is not willing for final disposal of the appeal. On such submission, Sri A.P. Mishra was not agree and pressed his bail application. Sri A.P. Mishra has placed reliance on the decision of the Apex Court in re; Purushothaman v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIRONLINE 2023 SC 937, referring para- 9 thereof that the application for suspension of sentence should be decided at the earliest. Para-9 of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"9. We have come across cases where an application for suspension of sentence was rejected by the High Court only on the ground that the advocate for the accused declined to argue the appeal on merits. When only the application for suspension of sentence is listed for hearing, the advocate for the accused is not expected to be ready to argue the appeal."

7. We find it appropriate to deal the observation of the Apex Court of para-9 of the judgment in re; Purushothaman (supra) at this stage itself. In the matter before the Apex Court in re; Purushothaman (supra), only the application for suspension of sentence was listed before the High Court and the application for suspension of sentence was rejected by the High Court, but in the present case, the application for suspension of sentence has not been rejected as on today and the criminal appeal as well as the criminal revision are listed alongwith bail application. Besides, learned counsels for the parties had sought a week's time on 04.02.2026 to argue the appeal on merits and for so many dates, he did not argue the appeal on merits instead he is pressing his bail application today, therefore, the observation of the Apex Court in re; Purushothaman (supra) would not be applicable in the present case.

8. Sri Mishra has also stated that on 04.02.2026, he had not taken time to argue the appeal on merits but had taken time to seek instructions from his clients as to whether he can argue the appeal on merits or not.

9. Sri A.P. Mishra has further submitted that this is the case where the present appellant has been awarded maximum sentence of seven years' rigorous imprisonment with fine and he has already served more than two years' sentence in jail, so the further sentence may be suspended till disposal of the appeal and he shall argue the appeal on merits after seeking specific instruction to that effect from his client. Sri Mishra has further submitted that in the present case the appellant has been falsely implicated. Most of the fact witnesses and alleged eye witnesses have not supported the prosecution story. As per those witnesses, the appellant was not present on the spot.

10. Sri A.P. Mishra has drawn attention of this Court towards the rejoinder affidavit filed on 02.05.2025 bearing I.A. No.6 of 2026 showing para-22 wherein the criminal history of 93 cases of the present appellant has been explained. Sri Mishra has demonstrated that out of 93 criminal cases, the present appellant has been convicted in the present case for seven years' rigorous imprisonment with fine and in one more case bearing Case Crime No.54 of 2022, he has been convicted for six months imprisonment. Except these two cases, he has been acquitted in most of the cases; in some cases either charge sheet has not been filed or he is on bail and in some other cases, notice was not given to the appellant. He has placed reliance on the decision of the Apex Court dated 24.01.2020 rendered in Criminal Appeal No.152 of 2020 (arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No.9207/2019), Prabhakar Tewari Vs. State of U.P. & Anr., referring para-7 thereof wherein the Apex Court has observed that the criminal history of an accused may not be the basis for refusal of prayer for bail. He has also referred the judgment of the Apex court dated 12.09.2022 passed in Criminal Appeal No.1548 of 2022 (Arising out of SLP (Criminal) No.7544/2022), Indra Pratap Tiwari Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh, on the same submission that the criminal history, if it is properly explained, may not be the reason to deny the bail.

11. The case in re; Prabhakar Tewari (supra), State Appeal was filed challenging the order of the High Court whereby the order granting bail to the accused-appellant was challenged showing the chequered criminal history of the accused-appellant and the Apex Court dismiss the appeal upholding the order of the High Court granting bail.

12. Therefore, Sri Mishra has submitted that keeping in view his aforesaid submissions, particularly the fact that the present appellant has served more than two years' sentence out of seven years' rigorous imprisonment, most of the fact witnesses have not supported the prosecution story so far as the role of the appellant is concerned, and he has properly explained the criminal history of the appellant, the sentence of the appellant may be stayed till final disposal of the appeal.

13. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA, has submitted that he has strong objection on the submission of Sri A.P. Mishra that on 04.02.2026, he had taken time to seek instructions from his client as to whether he can address the Court on merits of the appeal, rather the order dated 04.02.2026 is absolutely clear that the arguments on bail application had been concluded but addressing the Court on the merits of the appeal, time was sought as the aforesaid fact has been clearly reflected in the order dated 04.02.2026. The intent of the order may not be interpreted by any counsel in any other manner when the language of the order is clear and definite. So as to buttress his aforesaid contention, Sri Anurag Verma has referred the decision of the Apex Court in re; State of Maharashtra Vs. Ramdas Shrinivas Nayak and Another, (1982) 2 SCC 463, referring para-4 thereof, which reads as under:-

"4. When we drew the attention of the learned Attorney-General to the concession made before the High Court, Shri A.K. Sen, who appeared for the State of Maharashtra before the High Court and led the arguments for the respondents there and who appeared for Shri Antulay before us intervened and protested that he never made any such concession and invited us to peruse the written submissions made by him in the High Court. We are afraid that we cannot launch into an enquiry as to what transpired in the High Court. It is simply not done. Public policy bars us. Judicial decorum restrains us. Matters of judicial record are unquestionable. They are not open to doubt. Judges cannot be dragged into the arena. "Judgments cannot be treated as mere counters in the game of litigation. [Per Lord Atkinson in Somasundaram Chetty v. Subramanian Chetty, AIR 1926 PC 136 : 99 IC 742] We are bound to accept the statement of the Judges recorded in their judgment, as to what transpired in court. We cannot allow the statement of the Judges to be contradicted by statements at the Bar or by affidavit and other evidence. If the Judges say in their judgment that something was done, said or admitted before them, that has to be the last word on the subject. The principle is well-settled that statements of fact as to what transpired at the hearing, recorded in the judgment of the court, are conclusive of the facts so stated and no one can contradict such statements by affidavit or other evidence. If a party thinks that the happenings in court have been wrongly recorded in a judgment, it is incumbent upon the party, while the matter is still fresh in the minds of the Judges, to call the attention of the very Judges who have made the record to the fact that the statement made with regard to his conduct was a statement that had been made in error. [Per Lord Buckmaster in Madhu Sudan Chowdhri v. Chandrabati Chowdhrain, AIR 1917 PC 30 : 42 IC 527] That is the only way to have the record corrected. If no such step is taken, the matter must necessarily end there. Of course a party may resile and an appellate court may permit him in rare and appropriate cases to resile from a concession on the ground that the concession was made on a wrong appreciation of the law and had led to gross injustice; but, he may not call in question the very fact of making the concession as recorded in the judgment."

14. Sri Anurag Verma has submitted that the chequered criminal history of the present appellant may not be ignored, though he has been acquitted in some of the cases. Besides, he has also stated with vehemence that this is not a case where the bail application of an accused is being argued but the appellant is a convicted person, having his chequered criminal history, so his presumption of innocence would not drawn here as the Trial Court has not accepted his innocence, rather holding him guilty convicted him. The perversity and illegality of the conviction order may be demolished only in appeal, not in bail application. In support of his aforesaid contentions, attention has been drawn towards the decision of the Apex Court dated 10.04.2026 in re; Dhan Jee Pandey Vs. The State of Bihar & Another, Criminal Appeal No.1864 of 2026 [Arising out of SLP (Cri.) No.4241 of 2025], referring paragraphs no.14, 15, 16, 21 & 22, which reads as under:-

"14. The issue that arises for consideration herein is whether the order granting suspension of sentence to Respondent No. 2 calls for interference. At the outset, it must be emphasised that the parameters governing suspension of sentence post-conviction are qualitatively distinct from those applicable at the stage of pre-trial bail. Upon conviction, the presumption of innocence stands displaced by a judicial determination of guilt, and the appellate court is required to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 389 Cr. P.C. with due circumspection and restraint.

15. In State of Haryana v. Hasmat, (2004) 6 SCC 176, this Court has categorically held that suspension of sentence in serious offences must not be granted as a matter of routine, and that the appellate court must apply its mind to the nature of the offence, the manner of its commission, and the gravity of the findings recorded by the trial Court. It was further emphasised that reasons must be recorded in writing, reflecting due consideration of relevant factors, and that orders granting suspension of sentence should not be passed mechanically…"

16. In Om Prakash Sahni v. Jai Shankar Chaudhary, (2023) 6 SCC 123, this Court has clarified the scope of power under Section 389 Cr. P.C. by holding that suspension of sentence may be justified only where a palpable infirmity is apparent on the face of the record, indicating that the conviction may not ultimately withstand scrutiny. It has been expressly held that at this stage, the appellate court is not expected to undertake a reappreciation of evidence or delve into a detailed evaluation of the prosecution case…"

21. As held in State of Haryana v. Hasmat (supra), undue weight cannot be accorded to the period of incarceration or the pendency of the appeal in isolation, particularly where the conviction is founded on credible evidence.

22. The criminal antecedents of Respondent No. 2 also assume significance. The prosecution has brought on record multiple prior cases registered against him, including offences involving violence and use of arms. Though it has been contended that such cases arose out of political rivalry and have culminated in acquittal, such a contention cannot, at this stage, efface the relevance of antecedents as a factor in assessing the propriety of granting suspension of sentence."

15. He has also placed reliance on the decision of the Apex Court in re; Rajni v. State of Punjab and Another, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 1050, referring para-12, which reads as under:-

"12. While the period of incarceration and delay in trial are undoubtedly relevant considerations, they cannot serve as the sole or determinative basis for the grant of bail in a case involving the alleged killing of a person by an armed mob. Criminal antecedents are not merely a matter of record, but bear directly on whether an accused is likely to abide by bail conditions, refrain from repeating offences, or desist from intimidating witnesses. Where an accused carries multiple antecedents for offences as grave as those under Sections 302 and 307 of the IPC, such antecedents must weigh heavily against the grant of bail. The fact that this material was placed before the High Court yet received no consideration in the impugned order is a serious infirmity. The High Court's failure to individualize its reasoning and to weigh these disentitling factors renders the impugned order unsustainable insofar as it pertains to Respondent Nos. 2, 3 and 5."

16. Sri Verma has further submitted that the Hon'ble Supreme Court in re; Dhan Jee Pandey (supra) in para-22 has observed that even if the criminal cases are an outcome of political rivalry and such criminal cases culminated in acquittal, such a contention cannot efface the relevance of antecedents as a factor in assessing the propriety of granting suspension of sentence. Further, the Apex Court in re; Rajni (supra) in para-12 has categorically observed that criminal antecedents are not merely a matter of record, but bear directly on whether an accused is likely to abide by bail conditions, refrain from repeating offences, or desist from intimidating witnesses, so such antecedents must weigh heavily against the grant of bail. Sri Verma has, therefore, submitted that since the present appellant has committed the gruesome offence in the present case alongwith other co-accused wherein injured Anil Kumar Singh (PW-7) has recorded his testimony before the court against the present appellant, so instead of awarding seven years' rigorous imprisonment, he should have been awarded life imprisonment. Sri Verma has informed that one criminal revision bearing No.370 of 2025 (supra) has been filed from the side of the victim seeking enhancement of the punishment, so instead of deciding the application for suspension of sentence, the criminal appeal and the criminal revision may be decided on merits. He has prepared both the cases to address the Court on merits, so rejecting the application for suspension of sentence, any short date may be fixed for final hearing of the appeal and the criminal revision.

17. Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim has stated that he is appearing on behalf of the victim Nirbhay Singh son of Late Anil Kumar Singh, who was injured witness in the present case. His father Anil Kumar Singh had received very serious injuries including firearm injuries caused by the appellant using deadly firearm weapons in broad day light in a busy market. He has further submitted that the appellant is a hardened and habitual criminal with an extensive criminal history spanning from 1984 to 2022. He has also stated that the incident in question took place on 26.06.1990 and for the aforesaid incident, the trial concluded on 04.01.2025, therefore, Sri Murtaza has stated that it took about 35 years to conclude the trial and the present appellant was not cooperating in the trial proceedings. Sri Murtaza has filed photostat copy of some order sheets to show non-cooperation of the appellant in the sessions trial case. Attention has been drawn towards the order dated 24.03.2009 passed by the learned Trial Court whereby noting the fact that the present appellant was absent before the Court without any cogent reasons, so non-bailable warrants were issued. On 30.03.2009, non-bailable warrants were again issued. On 21.04.2009, on account of deliberate absence of the present appellant non-bailable warrants were issued. On 24.04.2009, application for recall of the non-bailable warrants was filed by the present appellant, which was rejected by the learned Trial Court vide order dated 30.04.2009 and he was taken into custody on 30.04.2009 itself. However, on the same date, i.e. 30.04.2009 he was enlarged on bail. Sri Murtaza has also shown the photostat copy of the application of the present appellant dated 21.08.1993 filed before the Third Judicial Magistrate, Faizabad seeking bail. In the aforesaid application, the appellant has categorically indicated that he is in judicial custody w.e.f. 18.08.1993. The photostat copy of the bail order has also been filed showing that the present appellant was granted bail by the Second Additional Sessions Judge, Faizabad on 23.09.1993. Therefore, Sri Murtaza has stated that the appellant remained in jail for about 35 days during trial. Hence, Sri Murtaza has stated that contention of learned counsel for the appellant that the present appellant remained in jail for more than two years is wrong inasmuch as he remained in jail during trial for about 35 days (from 18.08.1993 to 23.09.1993 and pursuant to the conviction order he is jail w.e.f. 04.01.2025 till date). So his total period in jail would be about one year and seven months against seven years' rigorous imprisonment awarded by the Trial Court.

18. Sri Murtaza has further submitted that criminal revision has been filed by the victim wherein he is counsel for the victim/ revisionist challenging the conviction order praying for enhancement of the punishment inasmuch as the manner under which the appellant committed a gruesome offence, he should have been awarded life imprisonment but he has been awarded only rigorous imprisonment of seven years by the learned Trial Court without considering and appreciating the evidence and material available on record. Further, he is ready to address the Court on the merits of the revision, therefore, the present appeal as well the criminal revision may be listed at any short date so that the criminal appeal and the criminal revision, both, may be decided finally on merits. He has also drawn attention of this Court towards the decision of the Apex Court dated 17.09.2025 in re; Central Bureau of Investigation Vs. Rajendra Sadashiv Nikalje alias Chhota Rajan @ Nana Sheth @ SIR & Anr. Criminal Appeal No../2025 [SLP (Crl.) No. /2025 D.No.5707/2025, referring paragraphs no.8 & 9, which read as under:-

"8. In Sidhartha Vashisht v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2008) 5 SCC 230, this Court also had the occasion to discuss the scope of power to suspend sentence under Section 389 CrPC in a case involving serious offence like murder. The Court held that:

"30....It is no doubt true that even thereafter, it is open to the appellate court to suspend the sentence in a given case by recording reasons. But it is well settled, as observed in Vijay Kumar [(2002) 9 SCC 364] that in considering the prayer for bail in a case involving a serious offence like murder punishable under Section 302 IPC, the Court should consider all the relevant factors like the nature of accusation made against the accused, the manner in which the crime is alleged to have been committed, the gravity of the offence, the desirability of releasing the accused on bail after he has been convicted for committing serious offence of murder, etc. It has also been observed in some of the cases that normal practice in such cases is not to suspend the sentence and it is only in exceptional cases that the benefit of suspension of sentence can be granted. (emphasis supplied)

Thus, it is clear that in considering prayer for suspension of sentence, the Court should consider all the relevant factors like the nature of accusation made against the accused, the manner in which the crime is alleged to have been committed, the gravity of the offence, and the desirability of releasing the accused on bail."

9. The ambit of power under Section 389 CrPC is to protect rights of convicted-accused in those cases where the likelihood of success of his appeal against conviction is very high or in case, where a fixed term of imprisonment is ordered, the appeal is unlikely to be heard in the near future."

19. Having heard learned counsel for the parties; having perused the case laws so cited by the learned counsel for the respective parties, the material available on record and considering the fact that on 04.02.2026, learned counsels for the parties were ready to argue the appeal on merits, for that a week's time was prayed but learned counsel for the appellant instead of arguing the appeal on merits insisted that the bail application may be decided as he has specific instructions from his client not to argue the appeal on merits but to press the bail application, we are not inclined to pass an order suspending the sentence of the appellant.

20. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has consistently observed that the application for suspension of sentence should be disposed of if in any case the appeal could not be heard finally for any cogent reasons. If the counsels are ready to argue the criminal appeal or the criminal revision on merits, the application for suspension of sentence may not be given preference over final disposal of the criminal appeal or the criminal revision. As per our considered opinion, endeavour of the Court should be to decide the criminal appeal at the earliest if parties are ready to argue the appeal on merits.

21. In the present case, Sri Vinod Kumar Shahi, learned Additional Advocate General, assisted by Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA-I and Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the victim were ready to address the Court on the merits of the criminal appeal as well as the criminal revision and learned counsel for the appellant had also shown his willingness to argue the appeal on merits, then such hearing of the appeal and the criminal revision may not be postponed on the choice of the appellant. Besides, on various dates, learned counsels for the parties argued the case at substantial length. We cannot permit the appellant to adopt delaying tactics in disposal of the criminal appeal or the criminal revision.

22. Therefore, in the light of what has been considered herein above and without entering into merits of the criminal appeal and the criminal revision, which is connected with this criminal appeal, we hereby reject the application for suspension of sentence.

23. Since the matter has already been argued at substantial length by the learned counsels for the parties, therefore, we fix the date on 19.08.2026 for final disposal of this criminal appeal and the connected criminal revision.

1. The instant Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. has been filed against the Judgment and Order dated 16.11.2017, passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court, Hardoi passed in S.T. No.236 of 2012, arising out of Case Crime No.958 of 2011, Police Station- Pihani, District- Hardoi, convicting and sentencing the appellant to undergo life imprisonment under Section 302 I.P.C. with a fine of Rs.20,000/- and in default of payment of fine to further undergo one year simple imprisonment. The appellant was further convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for ten years with a fine of Rs.5000/- under Section 376 I.P.C. and in default of payment of fine to further undergo six months′ simple imprisonment. The appellant was further convicted and sentenced to undergo three years with a fine of Rs.3000/- under Section 201 I.P.C. and in default of payment of fine to further undergo two months′ simple imprisonment. All the sentences were ordered to run concurrently. However, co-accused, namely, Pappu @ Chandrapal was acquitted from all the charges by the learned Trial Court.

Factual matrix of the case

2. On 30th October 2011 at about 2:00 P.M., the deceased, a minor girl aged about 14 years′, daughter of the complainant Amar Pal, resident of Village Khijir Nagar, Police Station Pihani, District Hardoi, went to the agricultural field to collect fodder (chara). When she did not return home till evening, her father - Amar Pal (P.W.1) along with other villagers, started searching for her. During the search, Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) and Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) informed the informant that they had last seen the deceased cutting grass in the filed of Ram Kumar where the accused Neerajpal and Pappu @ Chandrapal were allegedly roaming nearby.

3. The search party thereafter proceeded towards the place indicated by the said witnesses. Near the sugarcane filed of Ram Kumar, they allegedly found a hairband, a pair of slippers belonging to the deceased, a brown colour purse containing the driving licence of accused - Neerajpal and a mobile phone. While continuing the search, they noticed the dupatta of the deceased lying nearby pond. Upon entering the pond, the dead body of the deceased was recovered. It was alleged that after committing rape and murder, the accused persons had concealed the dead body in the pond with an intention to hush up the matter.

4. On the basis of written report, submitted by Amar Pal (P.W.1), Case Crime No.958 of 2011, under Sections 302, 201, 376 I.P.C. was registered at Police Station Pihani, District- Hardoi against accused- Neerajpal and Pappu @ Chandrapal. The Investigating Officer conducted the inquest proceedings, prepared the necessary police papers and sent the dead body for post-mortem. During investigation, the Investigating Officer prepared the site plan, collected the articles allegedly recovered from the place of occurrence and recorded the statements of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The post-mortem examination disclosed ante-mortem injuries on the neck and private parts of the deceased. The cause of death was opined to be asphyxia as a result of throttling. Vaginal smear slides and swabs were collected and preserved for forensic examination.

5. During the course of investigation, accused- Neerajpal and co-accused Pappu @ Chandrapal were arrested on 02.11.2011, it is alleged that on the pointing out of accused- Neerajpal, his pant and slippers were recovered from the sugarcane field. Blood samples of both the accused were thereafter collected for D.N.A. profiling under Section 53-A Cr.P.C. and were forwarded to the Forensic Science Laboratory for examination. After completion of investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against both the accused for offences punishable under Sections 376, 302 and 201 I.P.C. The case being exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, hence it was committed to the Court of Sessions, where charges were framed against the accused-persons. The accused denied the charges and claimed trial.

6. To establish the case, the prosecution examined twelve witnesses and proved the documentary evidence including the tahrir, chik FIR, recovery memos, inquest report, site plan, post-mortem report, medical evidence, DNA related documents and the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory. Upon submission of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded wherein they denied the prosecution allegations, pleaded false implication and asserted that false evidence had been fabricated against them in connivance with the police.

7. After appreciating the oral and documentary evidence on record, the learned Trial Court by judgment and order dated 16.11.2017 convicted the appellant- Neerajpal under Sections 302, 376 and 201 I.P.C. and sentenced him accordingly, while co-accused Pappu @ Chandrapal has been acquitted from the charges on the above mentioned sections. Aggrieved thereby, appellant-Neerajpal preferred the present appeal before this Court.

Deposition of Prosecution Witnesses and Defence Witnesses

8. Amar Pal (P.W.1), the informant and father of the deceased, deposed that on 30.10.2011 at about 2:00 P.M., his minor daughter (deceased) had gone to the field situated towards the western side of the village for cutting fodder (chara), as she did not return till evening, he along with other villagers started searching for her. During the search, Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) and Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) informed him that they had seen the accused Neerajpal and Pappu @ Chandrapal near the place where the deceased was cutting fodder. Thereafter, the slippers of the deceased, a purse containing the driving licence of the accused-Neerajpal and one G-9 mobile phone were allegedly recovered from the sugarcane field of Ram Kumar, while the dead body of the deceased was recovered from the nearby pond. He proved the written report -Tahrir (Ext.Ka-1), recovery memo and identified the material exhibits. In his cross-examination, he admitted that he had not himself seen either of the accused with the deceased or committing the offence and that the allegations in the FIR were founded upon the information given by Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) and Manoj Kumar (P.W.3).

9. Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) deposed that while returning from his field along with Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) at about 2 -3 P.M., he had seen the deceased cutting fodder and the accused Neerajpal and Pappu @ Chandrapal roaming nearby. Later, when the deceased could not be traced, he informed the informant about the presence of both the accused near the place of occurrence. During cross-examination, he admitted that the informant was his real uncle. He was subjected to lengthy cross-examination, wherein several omissions and inconsistencies regarding the occurrence, the clothes worn by the deceased and the surrounding circumstances were brought on record.

10. Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) did not support the prosecution case. He categorically stated that he was not present in the village on the date of occurrence, had not seen the deceased or the accused near the field and had never furnished any such information to the informant. He denied this statement regarding under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and was declared hostile by the prosecution.

11. Kamal Kishore (P.W.4) also denied his earlier statement and also denied having witnessed the accused carrying the body of the deceased or throwing it into the pond. He further denied witnessing the alleged recovery of the clothes of accused Neerajpal and stated that his signatures had been obtained on blank papers. He was also declared hostile by the prosecution.

12. Ramasarey (P.W.5), a witness to the recovery memo and inquest proceedings, did not support the prosecution. He denied the alleged recoveries and asserted that his signature had been obtained on blank papers. He further denied having made any statements to the Investigating Officer implicating the accused and was declared hostile.

13. Vijay Kumar (P.W.6), in whose name the Airtel SIM card recovered from the mobile phone was allegedly issued, denied having obtained the SIM card or having handed it over to the accused- Neerajpal. He also denied knowing the accused and was declared hostile by the prosecution.

14. Dr. Amarjeet Singh Ajmani (P.W.7), who conducted the post-mortem examination, found ante-mortem injuries over the neck and extensive injuries on the private parts of the deceased. He opined that the cause of death was asphyxia resulting from ante-mortem strangulation; vaginal swabs and slides were preserved for microscopic examination and D.N.A. analysis. In his cross-examination, he stated that the time of death could also be consistent with the night of 30.10.2011 and admitted that no mud, moss or water hyacinth was found on the body.

15. S.I. Chheda Lal (P.W.8) proved the inquest proceedings and the related documents. He stated that panchnama was prepared and the dead body was sent for post-mortem. During cross-examination, he admitted that the name of the accused did not find place in the inquest papers and that the panchnama proceedings were conducted at the residence of the informant.

16. Dr. Praveen Kumar (P.W.9) corroborated the evidence of P.W.7 regarding the post-mortem examination and proved the collection of vaginal swabs and blood samples of both accused for D.N.A. profiling. During cross-examination, he admitted that the blood samples had actually been drawn by a Laboratory Technician and also stated that delay in testing could adversely affect the integrity of the samples.

17. S.I. Sarvendra Nath Bargah (P.W.10), the Investigating Officer deposed regarding the registration of the case, inspection of the place of occurrence, preparation of site plans, recovery of the articles from the spot, arrest of both the accused, recovery of clothes at the instance of the accused- Neerajpal, dispatch of exhibits for forensic examination and submission of charge sheet. In cross-examination, he admitted that there was no eye-witness to the occurrence, that the exact place and time of the incident could not be ascertained during investigation and that nothing incriminating was recovered from the accused- Chandrapal. He further admitted that no effort was made to verify the ownership of the recovered clothes or to establish the connection of the recovered mobile phone with accused Neerajpal through independent evidence.

18. S.I. Raghvendra Singh (P.W.11) proved the chik FIR and corresponding general diary entries relating to registration of the case. During cross-examination, he admitted that the special report submitted before the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate on 09.11.2011 and relevant column regarding dispatch from the police station did not mention the date of dispatch.

19. Kamlesh Kumar (D.W.1), examined in defence, deposed that there existed political rivalry between the families of the informant and accused- Pappu @ Chandrapal, arising out of Block Development Committee Elections. According to him, ever since the said election, relations between the two groups had remained strained, resulting in false implication of the accused due to previous enmity.

Submissions of learned counsel for the appellant

20. Learned counsel for the appellant vehemently assailed the judgment and order of conviction, passed by the learned Trial Court, contending that the same is contrary to the evidence available on record and suffers from serious factual as well as legal infirmities. It has been submitted that the prosecution has utterly failed to establish a complete and unbroken chain of circumstances so as to bring the guilt of the appellant beyond all reasonable doubts. The conviction, it was urged, rests mainly on suspicion and conjectures which can never substitute legal proof.

21. It was further submitted that the entire prosecution case hinges upon the evidence of the alleged last seen witness, namely, Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), who is admittedly a close relative of the informant and, therefore, an interested witness. His testimony, according to the learned counsel, is replete with material contradictions, inconsistencies and improvements, rendering it wholly unreliable. It was argued that the only other alleged last seen witness, Manoj Kumar (P.W.3), did not support the prosecution case and was declared hostile. In the absence of trustworthy corroboration, the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) could not have been made the sole basis for recording conviction. Learned counsel further contended that the alleged recoveries relied upon by the prosecution did not inspire confidence. The recovery witness, namely, Kamal Kishore (P.W.4) and Ramasarey (P.W.5), turned hostile and denied the alleged recoveries. The independent recovery witness was withheld by the prosecution without any explanation. It was submitted that the alleged recovery of the driving licence and mobile phone from the place of occurrence and the subsequent recovery of the clothes at the instance of appellant- Neerajpal were not proved in accordance with law and could not be treated as incriminating circumstances against the appellant.

22. It was next submitted that the prosecution failed to establish any nexus between the recovered mobile phone and the appellant -Neerajpal. Vijay Kumar (P.W.6), in whose name the SIM card was allegedly issued, completely disowned the prosecution case and was declared hostile. Despite obtaining the call detail records, the Investigating Officer failed to examine any witness or produce any material connecting the mobile phone or SIM card with appellant- Neerajpal. Consequently, the alleged recovery of the mobile phone loses all evidential significance.

23. Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that the investigation suffers from grave lapses. No eye witnesses to the occurrence were found during investigation. The Investigating Officer himself admitted that the exact place and time of occurrence could not be ascertained. It was also submitted that the FIR was forwarded/produced before the court of the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate after an unexplained delay, the inquest proceedings suffered from material irregularities, and the prosecution failed to establish who had actually recovered the dead body from the pond. These serious lapses, according to the learned counsel, cast a substantial doubt on the fairness of the investigation and the genuineness of the prosecution story. Learned counsel also questioned the evidentiary value of the D.N.A. evidence by submitting that the prosecution failed to prove the chain of custody of the biological samples beyond doubt. It was urged that the blood samples were actually obtained by the Laboratory Technician, who was never examined, and the prosecution failed to establish that the samples remained intact throughout the process. The learned Trial Court, therefore, erred in placing implicit reliance upon the D.N.A. report without first satisfying itself about the sanctity of the sampling and forwarding procedure.

24. She further pointed out that the guidelines laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court in Attavellai @ Devakar v. State of Tamil Nadu, reported in 2025 INSC 845, are mandatory in nature and are required to be followed strictly to ensure the integrity and sanctity of the chain of custody of D.N.A. evidence. It is submitted that the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while expressing concern over the absence of a uniform procedure for handling D.N.A. evidence, has issued comprehensive directions to be followed in all cases involving DNA evidence. The relevant paragraphs are reproduced below:-

"44. This lack of a common procedure to be followed is concerning. As such, we issue the following directions, which shall be followed henceforth, in all cases where DNA Evidence is involved-

1. The collection of DNA samples once made after due care and compliance of all necessary procedure including swift and appropriate packaging including a) FIR number and date; b) Section and the statute involved therein; c) details of I.O., Police station; and d) requisite serial number shall be duly documented. The document recording the collection shall have the signatures and designations of the medical professional present, the investigating officer and independent witnesses. Here only we may clarify that the absence of independent witnesses shall not be taken to be compromising to the collection of such evidence, but the efforts made to join such witnesses and the eventual inability to do so shall be duly put down in record.

2. The Investigating Officer shall be responsible for the transportation of the DNA evidence to the concerned police station or the hospital concerned, as the case may be. He shall also be responsible for ensuring that the samples so taken reach the concerned forensic science laboratory with dispatch and in any case not later than 48-hours from the time of collection. Should any extraneous circumstance present itself and the 48-hours timeline cannot be complied with, the reason for the delay shall be duly recorded in the case diary. Throughout, the requisite efforts be made to preserve the samples as per the requirement corresponding to the nature of the sample taken.

3. In the time that the DNA samples are stored pending trial appeal etc., no package shall be opened, altered or resealed without express authorisation of the Trial Court acting upon a statement of a duly qualified and experienced medical professional to the effect that the same shall not have a negative impact on the sanctity of the evidence and with the Court being assured that such a step is necessary for proper and just outcome of the Investigation/Trial.

4. Right from the point of collection to the logical end, i.e., conviction or acquittal of the accused, a Chain of Custody Register shall be maintained wherein each and every movement of the evidence shall be recorded with counter sign at each end thereof stating also the reason therefor. This Chain of Custody Register shall necessarily be appended as part of the Trial Court record. Failure to maintain the same shall render the I.O. responsible for explaining such lapse.

25. Lastly, it was submitted that the learned Trial Court failed to appreciate the defence evidence in its proper perspective. Kamlesh Kumar (D.W.1) established the existence of previous political rivalry between the family of the informant and the accused, thereby lending support to the defence plea of false implication. It was, therefore, urged that the prosecution having failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence is liable to be set aside and the appellant- Neerajpal deserves to be acquitted of all the charges.

Submission of learned A.G.A.

26. Per contra, Sri S.P. Singh, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State supported the impugned judgment and order of conviction and submitted that the learned Trial Court has rightly appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence available on record and has recorded the conviction upon due consideration of the entire material. It was contended that the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court are based upon cogent evidence and do not suffer from any perversity, illegality or manifest error warranting interference by this Court in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction.

27. Learned A.G.A. submitted that the prosecution has successfully established a complete chain of circumstantial evidence pointing unerringly towards the guilt of the appellant. According to him, the evidence of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), who had last seen the appellant in the vicinity of the place where the deceased was cutting fodder, shortly before her disappearance, constitutes a vital circumstance. Merely because Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) is a relative of the informant, his testimony cannot be discarded, particularly when it inspires confidence and withstands the test of cross-examination.

28. It was further submitted that the recoveries effected during the course of investigation, namely, the purse containing the driving licence of the appellant- Neerajpal and mobile phone recovered from the place of occurrence and the subsequent recovery of the clothes of appellant-

Neerajpal at his pointing out, constitute incriminating circumstances corroborating the prosecution case. These recoveries read conjointly with the medical and forensic evidence, complete the chain of circumstances establishing the complicity of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

29. Learned A.G.A. further contended that the post-mortem report clearly establishes that the deceased had been subjected to forcible sexual assault and had died due to ante-mortem strangulation. The D.N.A. evidence also lends scientific corroboration to the prosecution version and was rightly relied upon by the learned Trial Court. It was submitted that there is no material on record to doubt the authenticity or reliability of the forensic evidence.

30. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that even assuming certain omissions or irregularities had occurred during the investigation, the same cannot by themselves constitute a ground for acquittal when the substantive evidence adduced by the prosecution otherwise inspires confidence. It was argued that defects in investigation cannot eclipse otherwise reliable and trustworthy evidence, nor can they enure to the benefit of the accused where the prosecution has otherwise succeeded in proving its case beyond reasonable doubt. Learned A.G.A., therefore, submitted that the impugned judgment is well reasoned and based upon a proper appreciation of evidence on record. It was accordingly prayed that the appeal being devoid of merit be dismissed and the conviction and sentence awarded by the learned Trial Court be affirmed.

Analysis

31. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and have meticulously perused the entire evidence available on record, including the oral and documentary evidence, the medical and forensic evidence, the impugned judgment and the record of the Trial Court.

32. At the outset, it is apposite to note that the present case is admittedly based entirely on circumstantial evidence, there being no eye-witness to the occurrence. It is equally undisputed that the conviction of the appellant was, presumably, based upon three incriminating circumstances, namely, (i) the evidence relating to the last seen theory; (ii) the recoveries allegedly effected during the course of investigation and (iii) the D.N.A./forensic evidence. The correctness of the findings recorded by the learned trial court, therefore, has to be examined in the light of the settled principles governing a case resting solely upon circumstantial evidence.

33. It is well settled that, in a case based upon circumstantial evidence, every incriminating circumstance relied upon by the prosecution must be fully established, all such circumstances must form a complete and unbroken chain pointing only towards the guilt of the accused and the chain must be of such a conclusive nature as to exclude every hypothesis consistent with the innocence of the accused. Suspicion, however raised, cannot take the place of legal proof, nor can conviction be founded upon conjectures or surmises. The prosecution must stand on the strength of its own evidence and cannot derive advantage from any witness in the defence.

34. In the present case, the prosecution seeks to establish the guilt of the appellant primarily on the basis of the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), who is sole witness supporting the prosecution on the aspect of the last seen circumstance, inasmuch as Manoj Kumar (P.W.3), who was cited as another witness to the same circumstance, did not support the prosecution case and was declared hostile. Likewise, the prosecution has relied upon the alleged recovery of driving licence and mobile phone from the place of occurrence and the subsequent recovery of the clothes of appellant- Neerajpal, besides placing reliance upon the medical and D.N.A. evidence. Whether these circumstances have been satisfactorily proved and whether they collectively constitute a complete chain of circumstances is the principal issue requiring determination in the present appeal.

35. Accordingly, the evidence adduced by the prosecution shall now be examined under the following heads:-

(i) Whether the prosecution has successfully established the "last seen" circumstances.

(ii) Whether the recoveries allegedly effected during investigation inspire confidence and can be treated as incriminating circumstances.

(iii) Whether the medical and D.N.A. evidence conclusively connects the appellant with the commission of the offence.

(iv) Whether the cumulative effect of the proved circumstances constitute a complete chain excluding every hypothesis other than the guilt of the appellant.

Whether the prosecution has successfully established the "last seen" circumstances

36. The first and foremost circumstance relied upon by the prosecution is the "last seen theory" which forms the foundation of the prosecution case. The learned Trial Court has substantially found the conviction of the appellant on the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), treating him as a principal witness of the last seen circumstances. Since the present case relies entirely upon circumstantial evidence, it becomes necessary to examine the credibility and evidentiary value of his testimony with greater care and caution. It is noteworthy that Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) is the only witness who has supported the prosecution on the aspect of the "last seen" theory as Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) who was cited as another witness to the same circumstance, as completely resiled from the prosecution case and was declared hostile. Thus, the entire prosecution case so far as the "last seen" circumstance is concerned, relies solely upon the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2). A careful reading of the evidence of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) reveals that he is admittedly the nephew of the informant- Amarpal and the deceased was his cousin, but merely because the witness is related to the deceased, his testimony cannot be discarded solely on that ground. The settled position of law is that the evidence of a related witness is not inadmissible; however, it is required to be scrutinized with greater care and caution. If upon such scrutiny, the testimony is found to be cogent, trustworthy and inspire confidence, it can safely be relied upon. Conversely, where a material contradiction or inherent improbabilities exist, the Court must seek independent corroborations before acting upon such evidence; in this regard, reliance may be placed upon a judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of U.P. vs. Kishanpal & Ors, reported in (2008) 16 SCC 73, relevant para are being reproduced below: -

"18. The plea of defence that it would not be safe to accept the evidence of the eye witnesses who are the close relatives of the deceased, has not been accepted by this Court. There is no such universal rule as to warrant rejection of the evidence of a witness merely because he/she was related to or interested in the parties to either side. In such cases, if the presence of such a witness at the time of occurrence is proved or considered to be natural and the evidence tendered by such witness is found in the light of the surrounding circumstances and probabilities of the case to be true, it can provide a good and sound basis for conviction of the accused. Where it is shown that there is enmity and the witnesses are near relatives too, the Court has a duty to scrutinize their evidence with great care, caution and circumspection and be very careful too in weighing such evidence. The testimony of related witnesses, if after deep scrutiny, found to be credible cannot be discarded.

19. It is now well settled that the evidence of witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground that he is a related witness, if otherwise the same is found credible. The witness could be a relative but that does not mean his statement should be rejected. In such a case, it is the duty of the Court to be more careful in the matter of scrutiny of evidence of the interested witness, and if, on such scrutiny it is found that the evidence on record of such interested witness is worth credence, the same would not be discarded merely on the ground that the witness is an interested witness. Caution is to be applied by the court while scrutinizing the evidence of the interested witness.

20. It is well settled that it is the quality of the evidence and not the quantity of the evidence which is required to be judged by the court to place credence on the statement. The ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. A foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible."

37. Furthermore, it is important to mention that even in the case of an interested witness, the corroboration is done by the rule of prudence, not by the rule of law, as in a similar instance is taken by the Apex court in the case Sarwan Singh vs. State of Punjab reported in (1976) 4 SCC 369, relevant para are being reproduced below: -

"10. The next argument by learned Counsel for the appellants was that the evidence of the eye-witnesses consisted of partisan evidence and should not, therefore, be relied upon, particularly because the evidence showed that there were two opposing factions in the village - one led by the deceased and the other by the accused. Mr. Hardy, however, fairly conceded that even though the eye-witnesses may have belonged to the group of the deceased there was nothing to show that the two groups were on inimical terms with each other, but he contended that the fact that the witnesses came from one particular group was by itself sufficient to show the interested nature of the evidence. In our opinion this argument is not based on a correct appreciation of the evidence. To begin with, it cannot be said that P.W. 8 Gurdev Singh and P.W. 9 Pal Singh were interested or partisan witnesses. All that the accused have been able to show is that P.W. 8 Gurdev Singh was on visiting terms with the deceased. In villages where population is scanty every villager is usually on visiting terms with another villager, unless there is animus between them. That by itself is not sufficient to label him as being a partisan witness. So far as P.W. 9 Pal Singh is concerned, there is positive evidence to show that he was not at all an interested witness but was a completely independent witness P W. 2 Ajaib Singh the first eve-witness has stated at page 40 of Paner Book No. II that Pal Singh was not on visiting terms with Jit Singh prior to the occurrence. When Mr Hardy drew our attention to this statement he seemed to suggest that the word "not" was printed by mistake and what really was recorded by the Judge was that Pal Singh was on visiting terms with Jit Singh We have, however, perused the original record and we find that the word "not" is present there also. What has happened is that the word "on" after "not" seems to have been inadvertently omitted. But then the sentence read as a whole clearly indicates that Pal Singh was not on visiting terms with Jit Singh. There is no evidence to show that Pal Singh was in any way closely connected or interested in the deceased, apart from the fact that he was a co-villager. In these circumstances, even if the evidence of Ajaib Singh and Gurdev Singh be treated to be interested and partisan, since their evidence is corroborated by the evidence of Pal Singh who is an independent witness. The infirmity from which the evidence of P.W.2 Ajaib Singh and P.W.8 Gurdev Singh suffered disappears. Moreover, it is not the law that the evidence of an interested witness should be equated with that of tainted evidence or that of an approver so as to require corroboration as a matter of necessity. The evidence of an interested witness does not suffer from any infirmity as such, but the Courts require as a rule of prudence, not as a rule of law, that the evidence of such witnesses should be scrutinised with a little care. Once that approach is made and the Court is satisfied that the evidence of interested witnesses have a ring of truth such evidence could be relied upon even without corroboration. Indeed there may be circumstances where only interested evidence may be available and no other, e.g. when an occurrence takes place at mid-night in the house when the only witnesses who could see the occurrence may be the family members. In such cases it would not be proper to insist that the evidence of the family members should be disbelieved merely because of their interestedness. We, however, need not dilate on this point, because assuming as we have said that P.W. 2 Ajaib Singh and P.W.8 Gurdev Singh were interested witnesses, here we have the fact that their evidence has been clearly and consistently corroborated on all points by P.W.9 Pal Singh who is an independent witness and who bore no animus whatsoever against the accused. The learned Additional Sessions Judge has, however, overlooked this important aspect of the case and we find no reason whatsoever to distrust the evidence of Pal Singh even on its intrinsic merit. We have carefully perused the evidence of P.W.2 Ajaib Singh. P.W.8 Gurdev Singh and P.W.9 Pal Singh and we are satisfied that their evidence is creditworthy and there are no strong or cogent reasons why their evidence should be completely discarded."

38. In the present case, Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) was subjected to an extensive cross-examination. A close scrutiny of his disposition discloses material inconsistencies and improvements on vital aspects of the prosecution case. During one part of his testimony, he stated that the deceased was wearing a salwar-kurta when he allegedly saw her cutting fodder, whereas during his subsequent deposition, he expressed his inability to state what the deceased was wearing. Likewise, there are inconsistencies regarding the implements allegedly being used by the deceased for cutting fodder and the surrounding circumstances in which the accused were allegedly seen. These are not minor discrepancies, attributable to lapse of memory, but relate to material facts forming the substratum of the prosecution case.

39. Another significant circumstance which weakens the prosecution case is that Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) merely stated that he had seen the appellants roaming near the place where the deceased was cutting fodder. He did not depose that the deceased was in the exclusive company of either of the appellants or that they were seen proceeding together. The expression "last seen" together supposes proximity of time and place, coupled with circumstances indicating that the deceased was last seen alive in the company of the accused. The evidence of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) falls short of satisfying this requirement. At best it establishes the presence of the appellant in the vicinity of the agricultural field, which by itself cannot construe the incriminating circumstances of last seen together. It is equally significant that the informant- Amarpal (P.W.1) admitted in his cross-examination that he had not himself seen either of the appellant with the deceased nor had he witnessed the occurrence. The FIR was lodged solely on the basis of information allegedly furnished by Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) and Manoj Kumar (P.W.3). Since Manoj Kumar (P.W.3) had not supported the prosecution, the very foundation of the FIR in so far as the "last seen" circumstance is concerned, stands materially weakened.

40. The Hon'ble Apex Court has consistently held that the "last seen" theory is a weak kind of evidence and cannot by itself form the sole basis of conviction unless it is supported by other incriminating circumstances, completing the chain of evidence. The evidentiary value of such a circumstance depends upon the proximity of time between the accused and the deceased being seen together and the recovery of the dead body coupled with reliable corroborative evidence. Where the evidence of "last seen" witness itself is doubtful or suffers from material contradictions, it would be unsafe to sustain the conviction solely on that basis.

41. In the facts of the present case, we find that the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2) does not inspire the daily of components required for sustaining a conviction in a case resting entirely on circumstantial evidence. His testimony suffers from material inconsistencies, lacks independent corroboration and is further weakened by the hostile testimony of Manoj Kumar (P.W.3), who was the only other witness of the alleged "last seen" circumstances. Consequently, the prosecution has failed to establish the last seen together circumstances beyond reasonable doubt. Accordingly, the first incriminating circumstance relied upon by the prosecution cannot be held to have been proved with the degree of certainty required in criminal jurisprudence.

Whether the recoveries allegedly effected during investigation inspire confidence and can be treated as incriminating circumstances

42. The second circumstance relied upon by the prosecution pertains to the recoveries allegedly effected during the course of investigation. The prosecution seeks to connect the appellants with the crime through two sets of recoveries. (i) The recovery made on 31.10.2011 from the place of occurrence comprising a pair of sleepers of the deceased, a hair band, a purse containing the driving licence of appellant- Neerajpal and a G-9 mobile phone and (ii) the recovery allegedly made on 02.11.2011 at the pointing out of appellant-Neerajpal comprising a pair of pants and a pair of local slippers. According to the prosecution, these recoveries constitute vital incriminating circumstances linking the appellant with the commission of the offence.

43. Having carefully scrutinized the evidence relating to the aforesaid recoveries, we find ourselves unable to concur with the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court.

44. The first recovery was allegedly witnessed by Amarpal (P.W.1), Ramasarey (P.W.5) and one Rambhajan. Significantly, Ramasarey (P.W.5), one of the attesting witnesses, did not support the prosecution and categorically denied that any recovery had been effected in his presence. He further deposed that his signature had been obtained on blank papers and denied having witnessed the seizure of the articles relied upon by the prosecution. He was, therefore, declared hostile.

45. Equally significant is the fact that Rambhajan, who was an independent witness of the alleged recovery, was not examined by the prosecution. No explanation whatsoever has been furnished for withholding this material witness. It is well settled that where independent witnesses to a recovery are available, but are not examined without any plausible explanation, the Court is required to examine the prosecution version with great circumspection, particularly when the remaining witness is an interested witness.

46. Consequently, the only witness supporting the first recovery is Amarpal (P.W.1), who is not only the informant, but also the father of the deceased. Although the testimony of a related witness cannot be discarded solely on account of his relationship where the recovery itself is disputed, and the independent witnesses have been withheld while another recovery witness has turned hostile, prudence demands corroboration from independent evidence, which is conspicuously absent in the present case. The prosecution has further relied upon the recovery of a G-9 mobile phone allegedly belonging to the appellant - Neerajpal. However, this circumstance also does not withstand judicial scrutiny. The investigation revealed that the SIM card inserted in the said mobile phone was in the name of Vijay Kumar (P.W.6). When examined before the Court, Vijay Kumar (P.W.6) categorically denied having obtained the SIM card in question or having ever handed it over to the appellant-Neerajpal. He further denied even knowing the appellant and was declared hostile by the prosecution.

47. Though the Investigating Officer obtained the call detail records of the mobile phone, no efforts were made to establish that the mobile phone had actually been used by appellant-Neerajpal. Neither were the call detail records analysed, nor were any subscribers, contacts or other independent witnesses examined to connect the appellant with the alleged mobile phone. In the absence of any such evidence, the mere recovery of a mobile phone from the place of occurrence cannot be treated as an incriminating circumstance against the appellant.

48. The prosecution has also relied upon the recovery of the driving licence of the appellant-Neerajpal from the sugarcane field. While the presence of the driving licence at the place of occurrence may undoubtedly have given rise to the suspicion, suspicion, however strong, cannot constitute successful proof. Apart from the testimony of Amarpal (P.W.1), there is no independent evidence establishing the manner in which the driving licence came to be recovered from the place of occurrence. Furthermore, the defence has seriously questioned this recovery, pointing to glaring contradictions. Amarpal (P.W.1) testified that the Investigating Officer, Sarvendra Nath Bargah (P.W.10), visited the accused's residence on 31.10.2011, the very day the inquest was conducted, and the first recovery was made. In contrast, Sarvendra Nath Bargah (P.W.10) himself stated that he went to the accused's house only on 01.11.2011. This inconsistency becomes crucial because the driving licence and other articles (claimed to be part of the first recovery on dated 31.10.2011) were allegedly recovered near the crime spot. Yet, the record does not disclose whether the Investigating Officer first visited the accused's house and thereafter proceeded to the crime scene, or vice versa. The absence of this sequence renders the recovery highly doubtful. If indeed the Investigating Officer went to the accused's house immediately after the inquest and then claimed recovery near the crime scene, the possibility of planting cannot be ruled out. This unexplained discrepancy undermines the credibility of the recovery and casts serious doubt on its authenticity.

49. The suspicion is further strengthened by other irregularities: Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), the key "last seen" witness, had his statement recorded only after a delay of 7-8 days, despite his importance. It is needless to mention that the investigating officer, while deposing in court, needs to explain the investigation process step by step; a similar view was taken by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Subhash Chand vs. the State of Rajasthan, reported in (2002) 1 SCC 702, where the Apex Court clearly highlighted the importance of the investigating officer adducing evidence in court, explaining step by step how the investigation proceeded. The relevant para is being reproduced below :-

26. Before parting with the case, we would like to place on record an observation of ours, touching an aspect of the case. There are clueless crimes committed. The factum of a cognizable crime having been committed is known but neither the identity of the accused is disclosed nor is there any indication available of the witnesses who would be able to furnish useful and relevant evidence. Such offences put to test the wits of an investigating officer. A vigilant investigating officer, well-versed with the techniques of the job, is in a position to collect the threads of evidence, finding out the path which leads to the culprit. The ends, which the administration of criminal justice serves, are not achieved merely by catching hold of the culprit. The accusation has to be proved to hilt in a court of law. The evidence of investigating officer given in the court should have a rhythm explaining step by step how the investigation proceeded leading to detection of the offender and collection of evidence against him. This is necessary to exclude the likelihood of any innocent having been picked up and branded as culprit and then the gravity of the offence arousing human sympathy persuading the mind to be carried away by doubtful or dubious circumstances, treating them as of 'beyond doubt' evidentiary value.

50. In the absence of reliable corroboration and in view of the deficiencies noticed in the recovery proceedings, these circumstances by themselves cannot conclusively establish the involvement of the appellant in the commission of the offence.

51. So far as the second recovery on dated 02.11.2011 of a pant and a pair of slippers allegedly made at the pointing out of appellant- Neerajpal is concerned, the prosecution case suffers from similar infirmities. The alleged recovery witnesses - Manoj Kumar (P.W.3), Kamal Kishore (P.W.4) did not support the prosecution and were declared hostile. They denied witnessing any recovery and asserted that their signatures had been obtained on blank papers. Consequently, the only witness supporting the recovery is once again Amarpal (informant- P.W.1), whose testimony, for the reasons allegedly discussed, requires independent corroboration.

52. Moreover, the Investigating Officer admitted during cross-examination that the recovered clothes and slippers did not bear any distinctive identification marks. Although a tailor′s label was stitched on the pants, no investigation was conducted to ascertain for whom the pants had been stitched or whether it belongs to the appellant- Neerajpal. Likewise, no forensic examination was conducted to connect the recovered articles with the crime. These omissions assume significance in a case resting entirely upon satisfactory evidence.

53. The recoveries relied upon by the prosecution suffer from serious evidentiary deficiencies. Material recovery witnesses have either turned hostile or have not been examined. No satisfactory independent corroboration had been adduced, and the prosecution has failed to establish an unbroken chain and unbroken nexus between the recovered articles and the appellant. Consequently, the alleged recoveries cannot be regarded as reliable incriminating circumstances capable of completing the chain of circumstantial evidence. We are, therefore, of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to prove the recoveries in the manner known to law, and the learned Trial Court was not justified in placing implicit reliance upon them for recording the conviction of the appellant.

Whether the medical and D.N.A. evidence conclusively connects the appellants with the commission of the offence

54. The next circumstance relied upon by the prosecution is the medical and forensic evidence, particularly, the post-mortem report and the D.N.A. report. There can be no dispute with the proposition that scientific evidence, when duly proved and supported by an unbroken chain of custody, constitutes a valuable piece of evidence. Equally well settled, however, is that such evidence not only establishes the commission of offence but must also conclusively connect the accused with its commission.

55. In the present case, Dr. Amarjeet Singh Ajmani (P.W.7), who conducted the post-mortem examination, found contusions over the neck, fractures on the hyoid bone, lacerations over the genital region and rupture on the hymen. He opined that the deceased had died due to asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem strangulation and that she had been subjected to forcible sexual intercourse prior to her death. Vaginal smear and slides were preserved for forensic examination and D.N.A. profiling. Thus, the medical evidence unequivocally established that the deceased was subjected to sexual assault and homicidal death. However, the crucial question before this Court is not whether rape and murder were committed, but whether the prosecution has succeeded in proving that it was the appellant who committed those offences.

56. Learned A.G.A. for the State has placed reliance upon the decision of Hon′ble the Apex Court in the case(s) of Sandeep vs. State of U.P., (2012) 6 SCC 107 and Santosh Kumar Singh vs. State, (2010) 9 SCC 747.

57. To establish this link, the prosecution relied upon the D.N.A. evidence. Dr. Praveen Kumar (P.W.9) deposed that vaginal swab of the deceased and blood samples of both the accused were collected and forwarded for D.N.A. examination. He proved the relevant documents prepared in this regard. Nevertheless, during cross-examination he admitted that the blood samples had actually been drawn by a laboratory Technician whose name does not find mention in the report and who was never examined before the Court. He further admitted that delay in testing biological samples could affect their integrity.

58. Furthermore, it is also important to point out that biological samples were collected from the deceased on 31.10.2011, while blood samples from the accused were obtained on 03.11.2011. Both sets of samples were forwarded to the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) on 05.11.2011. Thus, the samples remained in the custody of the police authority for approximately five days. However, neither oral testimony nor documentary evidence clarifies where the samples were deposited during this period, specifically whether they were kept in the Maalkhana or elsewhere. Surprisingly, the Maalkhana-in-Charge was not examined. The evidence on record further reveals that the prosecution has not examined any witness from the Forensic Science Laboratory to establish the manner in which the samples were received, preserved, analysed and examined. Moreover, it is important to place reliance on a decision of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Rahul vs. State of Delhi, Ministry of Home Affairs & Anr. reported in (2023) 1 SCC 83. While dealing with the issue concerning the evidentiary value of DNA reports, it has been held that D.N.A. profiling reports cannot be admitted in evidence ipso facto under Section 293 Cr.P.C, and it is necessary for the prosecution to prove that the D.N.A. profiling techniques were reliably applied by the expert. The relevant excerpts from the said judgment are reproduced herein below for the sake of ready reference: -

"36. The learned Amicus Curiae has also assailed the forensic evidence i.e. the report regarding the D.N.A. profiling dated 18-4-2012 (Ext. P-23/1), giving incriminating findings. She vehemently submitted that apart from the fact that the collection of the samples sent for examination itself was very doubtful, the said forensic evidence was neither scientifically nor legally proved and could not have been used as a circumstance against the appellant accused. The Court finds substance in the said submissions made by the Amicus Curiae. The D.N.A. evidence is in the nature of opinion evidence as envisaged under Section 45 and like any other opinion evidence, its probative value varies from case to case.

37. x x x x x x x

38. It is true that PW 23 Dr B.K. Mohapatra, Senior Scientific Officer (Biology) of CFSL, New Delhi had stepped into the witness box and his report regarding DNA profiling was exhibited as Ext. PW 23/A, however mere exhibiting a document would not prove its contents. The record shows that all the samples relating to the accused and relating to the deceased were seized by the investigating officer on 14-2-2012 and 16-2-2012; and they were sent to CFSL for examination on 27 2-2012. During this period, they remained in the malkhana of the police station. Under the circumstances, the possibility of tampering with the samples collected also could not be ruled out. Neither the trial court nor the High Court has examined the underlying basis of the findings in the DNA reports nor have they examined the fact whether the techniques were reliably applied by the expert. In the absence of such evidence on record, all the reports with regard to the DNA profiling become highly vulnerable, more particularly when the collection and sealing of the samples sent for examination were also not free from suspicion."

(Emphasis supplied)

59. Furthermore, the most disturbing aspect of this case is that the expert who conducted the D.N.A. examination was not examined in evidence, and the D.N.A. report was merely exhibited in evidence by the Investigating Officer (PW-10), who undeniably is not connected with the report in any manner. It is important to reproduce the observation of the trial court regarding the DNA report; the relevant lines from the impugned judgment are being produced below: -

"The investigation officer sent the sample to the forensic science laboratory, and it is clear from the forensic science laboratory report Exhibit A-25 that the source of the biological material present in the swab related to the deceased was found to be the same as that of the blood sample of accused Neerajpal and was not the same as that of the blood sample of accused Pappu alias, Chandrapal. Thus, the court comes to the conclusion that the deceased/victim was raped by the accused Neerajpal."

60. We are weighed down by melancholy to see this conclusion and the way the trial court put reliance on the D.N.A. report, without proper application of its judicial mind, when it was seen from the record that the Maalkahana-in-Charge was not examined, nor the person who took the sample to FSL. Also, from perusal of the first D.N.A report, it appears that some biological material present in the swab related to the deceased was found to be the same as that of the blood sample of the accused Neerajpal. Nowhere is it written what this biological material was, which is why it was important to examine the D.N.A expert to explain these technical points. And based on these faulty observations, the trial court convicted the accused. This clearly shows a laconic trial procedure, which has led to the failure of a case involving the brutal rape and murder of an innocent girl child. Thus, in such circumstances, non-examination of the FSL expert is fatal for the prosecution's case. Furthermore, this Court is of the considered view that the prosecution's reliance on Santosh Kumar Singh (supra) and Sandeep (supra) is wholly misconceived and misplaced. In Santosh Kumar Singh (supra), the prosecution had established an unbroken and duly proved chain of custody from the stage of sample collection to its deposit in the Malkhana and subsequent transmission to the Forensic Science Laboratory. The Malkhana register was produced in evidence to demonstrate the safe custody of the samples, and the D.N.A. expert was also examined to prove the integrity and authenticity of the forensic process. On the other hand, in Sandeep (supra), the prosecution had satisfactorily explained every link in the chain of custody from the collection of the accused's sample until its receipt by the Forensic Science Laboratory. Therefore, both decisions were rendered on a factual foundation where the prosecution had successfully proved the continuity and sanctity of the samples at every stage. In the present case, however, the prosecution has failed to establish such an unbroken chain of custody or account for the safe handling and transmission of the samples. Consequently, the reliance placed upon the aforesaid decisions is wholly misplaced, as they are clearly distinguishable on facts and do not advance the prosecution's case. Furthermore, the supplementary DNA report dated 11.12.2025, which was produced during the pendency of the appeals before this Court, we cannot accept it for the reason that before it can be accepted, we have to remand it back to the trial court for the recall of the scientific expert, Smt. Madhu Agnihotri, Scientific Officer, Forensic Science Laboratory, Prayagraj, who will prove this report. Once that is done, then the verified exercise for the supplementary questioning under Section 313 Cr.P.C. would take place. But, the question remains same that if we do that it will cause great prejudice to the accused, especially when he had already spent approximately 14 years in jail, as there is a limitation on remitting back to the trial court, the prosecution needs to be mindful in this regarding that there is a limitation for accepting certain evidence, in such situation the prosecution cannot, act on 'my life my rules' principle. In this regard, it is pertinent here to place reliance on the decision of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Raj Kumar vs. State (NCT of Delhi), (2023) 17 SCC 95. The relevant paras are being reproduced below:-

"22. The law consistently laid down by this Court can be summarised as under:

22.1. It is the duty of the trial court to put each material circumstance appearing in the evidence against the accused specifically, distinctively and separately. The material circumstance means the circumstance or the material on the basis of which the prosecution is seeking his conviction.

22.2. The object of examination of the accused under Section 313 is to enable the accused to explain any circumstance appearing against him in the evidence.

22.3. The Court must ordinarily eschew material circumstances not put to the accused from consideration while dealing with the case of the particular accused.

22.4. The failure to put the material circumstances to the accused amounts to a serious irregularity. It will vitiate the trial if it is shown to have prejudiced the accused.

22.5. If any irregularity in putting the material circumstance to the accused does not result in failure of justice, it becomes a curable defect. However, while deciding whether the defect can be cured, one of the considerations will be the passage of time from the date of the incident.

22.6. In case such irregularity is curable, even the appellate court can question the accused on the material circumstance which is not put to him.

22.7. In a given case, the case can be remanded to the trial court from the stage of recording the supplementary statement of the accused concerned under Section 313CrPC.

22.8. While deciding the question whether prejudice has been caused to the accused because of the omission, the delay in raising the contention is only one of the several factors to be considered.

27. Even assuming that the defect or irregularity was curable, the question is whether today, the appellant-accused can be called upon to explain the said circumstance. More than 27 years have passed since the date of the incident. Considering the passage of time, we are of the view that it will be unjust now at this stage to remit the case to the trial court for recording further statement of the appellant under Section 313CrPC. In the facts of the case, the appellant cannot be called upon to answer something which has transpired 27 years back. There is one more aspect of the matter which persuaded us not to pass an order of remand. The said factor is that the appellant has already undergone incarceration for a period of 10 years and 4 months."

61. Tested on the anvil of the above-mentioned judgment of the Apex Court, from the record, it appears that the present appellant/accused has served 14 years of incarceration. In such circumstances, if we now remand back to the trial for examination of an expert Witness and further for the 313 CrPC proceedings, it will cause great prejudice to the appellant/accused. Hence, in such a situation, the prosecution cannot place its reliance on the second supplementary D.N.A. report. Likewise, no evidence has been adduced to establish the proper chain of custody of the biological exhibits from the time of their collection till their examination in the laboratory. In a case where the conviction is sought to be founded substantially upon scientific evidence, strict proof of the integrity of the samples assumes considerable importance.

62. It is equally significant that the prosecution has failed to establish other independent incriminating circumstances connecting the appellants with the offence. As already discussed, the last seen circumstances have not been proved beyond reasonable doubt, and the recoveries relied upon by the prosecution do not inspire confidence. In such a situation, the D.N.A. evidence cannot be considered in isolation so as to sustain the conviction without independent corroboration.

63. The Hon'ble Apex Court has consistently held that D.N.A. evidence is highly reliable scientific proof; its evidentiary value depends upon strict proof of collection, preservation, sealing, transmission and examination of samples. Where doubts arise regarding the integrity of the sampling process or whether the surrounding circumstances failed to corroborate the forensic evidence, the Court is required to evaluate such evidence with due caution. In the present case, while the medical evidence conclusively proves that the deceased was raped and murdered, it does not by itself identify the perpetrators. The forensic evidence also cannot be treated as conclusive in the absence of satisfactory proof regarding the chain of custody and when the other circumstances relied upon by the prosecution failed to inspire confidence. Consequently, the medical and D.N.A. evidence, though sufficient to establish the nature of the offence, does not conclusively connect the appellant with its commission beyond reasonable doubt. Accordingly, this circumstance also falls short of completing the chain of circumstantial evidence required for sustaining the conviction.

Whether the cumulative effect of the proved circumstances constitute a complete chain excluding every hypothesis other than the guilt of the appellant

64. Having examined each of the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution independently, it now falls for consideration whether (i) cumulatively they form a complete chain pointing unerringly towards the guilt of the appellant and excluding every hypothesis consistent with his innocence.

65. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that in a case resting solely on circumstantial evidence, these circumstances relied upon by the prosecution must be firmly established, for such circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, and the chain so formed must be so complete that it leaves no reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused. If any one of the links in the chain is found to be missing or doubtful, the entire prosecution case necessarily fails.

66. In the present case, the prosecution has relied principally upon four circumstances, namely, (i) the alleged last seen circumstances; (ii) the recoveries effected during investigation; (iii) the medial and D.N.A. evidence and (iv) the conduct of the appellant.

67. As already discussed, the last seen circumstances rest solely upon the testimony of Pradeep Kumar (P.W.2), who is an interested witness. His testimony suffers from material contradiction and lacks independent corroboration, particularly when Manoj Kumar (P.W.3), the alleged last seen witness, has not supported the prosecution. Consequently, the first and the most vital link and the chain remains unproved.

68. Similarly, the recoveries relied upon by the prosecution fail to inspire confidence. The material witnesses to the recovery either turned hostile or were withheld without explanation. The prosecution failed to establish any satisfactory nexus between the recovered mobile phone and appellant- Neerajpal. Likewise, the recovery of the driving licence and the subsequent recovery of the clothes do not stand proved beyond reasonable doubt so as to constitute incriminating circumstances against the appellant.

69. The medical evidence undoubtedly establishes that the deceased was subjected to forcible sexual assault and homicidal death by strangulation. However, the medical evidence merely proves the corpus delicti and the nature of the offence; it does not identify the offenders. Likewise, although the prosecution has relied upon the D.N.A. evidence, the deficiencies noticed in providing the chain of custody and absence of reliable corroborative circumstance render it untenable to treat the forensic evidence as conclusively proving the appellant′s involvement.

70. Apart from the aforesaid circumstances, the prosecution has failed to establish any motive of such a compelling nature as would lend assurance to the prosecution story. No eye-witness to the occurrence has been produced. The Investigating Officer himself admitted that during investigation, no eye-witness could be found and even the exact place and time of occurrence could not be ascertained. These admissions further weaken the prosecution case. Another circumstance which cannot be overlooked is that the prosecution evidence suffers from material infirmities in the investigation itself, including the unexplained delay in forwarding the first information report to the Magistrate, hostile recovery witnesses, failure to examine a material independent witness and failure to establish an important link in the chain of circumstances. Though every defect in investigation may not necessarily enure to the benefit of the accused, where the prosecution case itself rests exclusively upon circumstantial evidence, such omissions assume considerable significance. Thus, when the entire evidence is appreciated as a whole, it becomes evident that the prosecution has failed to establish a continuous and unbroken chain of circumstances leading only to the hypothesis of the guilt of the appellant.

71. On the contrary, the evidence leaves room for reasonable doubt and does not exclude every hypothesis consistent with innocence. In the considered opinion of this Court, the learned Trial Court fell into error in evaluating such circumstances in isolation and in treating suspicion as a substitute for proof. The cardinal principle that suspicion, however grave, cannot take the place of legal proof appears to have been overlooked while recording the conviction.

72. Accordingly, we hold that the incriminating effect of the circumstances proved by the prosecution falls short of the standard required for recording conviction in the criminal trial. The prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, and the appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt. The conviction and sentence recorded by the learned Trial Court, therefore, cannot be sustained.

73. Having regard to the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to discharge its burden of proving the guilt of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The prosecution has also failed to ensure strict compliance with the mandatory safeguards governing the collection, preservation, transportation and documentation of the D.N.A. samples, thereby compromising the integrity of the chain of custody. In a case resting substantially on scientific evidence, such lapses strike at the very root of the prosecution case and cannot be treated as mere procedural irregularities. The deficiencies cannot be permitted to be cured at the appellate stage, particularly when such a course would occasion serious prejudice to the appellant, who has already undergone approximately fourteen years of incarceration. In these circumstances, this Court is left with no option but to extend the benefit of doubt to the appellant.

74. Accordingly, the conviction and sentence of the appellant, Neerajpal, cannot be sustained, hence the judgment and order dated 16.11.2017, passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court, Hardoi passed in S.T. No.236 of 2012, arising out of Case Crime No.958 of 2011, under Sections 302, 376 and 201 I.P.C., Police Station- Pihani, District- Hardoi are hereby set aside. The appellant is acquitted of all the charges by extending to him the benefit of doubt. The instant appeal is, accordingly, allowed.

75. The accused-appellant, namely, Neerajpal would be released forthwith unless he is wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. The amount of fine, if deposited, shall be refunded to the accused.

76. Trial court record along with copy of this judgment and order be transmitted to the court concerned forthwith.

77. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the Jail Authorities concerned and the court concerned for compliance.

78. Since the issues noticed in the present case are not confined to the facts of this case alone and have wider ramifications for the conduct of criminal investigations and prosecutions involving scientific evidence, we deem it appropriate to direct that a copy of this judgment be forwarded to the Director General of Prosecution, Uttar Pradesh, who shall issue appropriate administrative instructions/circulars to all Public Prosecutors and prosecuting officers in the State to ensure strict compliance with the observations and guidelines contained herein.

79. A copy of this judgment shall also be forwarded to the Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh, and to the Director, Forensic Science Laboratory, Uttar Pradesh, for ensuring strict adherence to the chain of custody requirements and the directions issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Attavellai @ Devakar (supra).

80. The Senior Registrar of this Court is requested to communicate a copy of this judgment to the aforesaid authorities for information and necessary compliance.

81. Before parting with the matter, we place on record our appreciation for the valuable assistance rendered by Ms. Manisha Trivedi, learned counsel appearing for the appellant, Sri S.P. Singh, learned A.G.A. and Mr. Saurabh Singh, Research Associate.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the award of zero marks by the examiner warranted interference in judicial review, when the purport of the answer was incomprehensible and no coherent reasoning, factual narration or legal proposition relatable either to the question asked or to the subject of "Bio-Diversity Protection Law" was discernable.

Headnotes

Constitution of India – Art. 226 – Academic evaluation – Re-examination of answer book – B.A. LL.B., IX Semester Examination 2025–26 – Petitioner awarded zero marks in "Bio-Diversity Protection Law" – Petitioner seeking re-examination of answer book and award of marks – Original question paper and answer book produced before Court and examined – Answers contained no coherent reasoning, factual narration or legal proposition relatable to the question or subject – Answer did not disclose any legal understanding of the subject – No fault found with evaluation undertaken by examiner in awarding zero marks.

Held: Scope of judicial review in academic evaluation is extremely limited – Unless arbitrariness, mala fides, violation of statutory provisions or patent error in evaluation is demonstrated, interference not warranted – No material found to establish prejudice or arbitrary evaluation – Petitioner not entitled to re-examination or award of marks – Writ petition dismissed.

The quality of the answers raised serious concerns regarding the academic standards of the institution imparting legal education. Legal education constitutes the foundation of the justice delivery system. Any substantial decline in academic standards at the institutional level affects not merely the legal profession, but the administration of justice itself. The Court directed that the matter be brought to the attention of the Bar Council of India, which may undertake inspection or inquiry in accordance with law, and also directed that a copy of the question paper and redacted answer book be sent to the Law Commission of India for consideration of broader issues concerning standards and reform of legal education. Case Arising From Petitioner seeking direction to get his answer book of the subject "Bio-Diversity Protection Law" of the B.A. LL.B., IX Semester Examination 2025–26, re-examined and to award him marks accordingly.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioners : Vinay Kumar Dwivedi, Vinod Kumar Ojha
Advs. for the Respondent : C.S.C., Pratik Chandra

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vinod Diwakar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Vinod Kumar Ojha, learned counsel for the petitioner, and Shri Pratik Chandra, learned counsel appearing for respondent nos. 2 and 3.

2. The present writ petition has been filed seeking issuance of a writ of mandamus directing respondent nos. 2 and 3 to re-examine the petitioner's answer book of the subject "Bio-Diversity Protection Law" (Course Code No. G020904T) of the B.A. LL.B., IX Semester Examination 2025 26, having Roll No. 2110261011130, and to award marks in accordance with the answers written by the petitioner, and thereafter issue a revised statement of marks.

3. The case of the petitioner, in brief, is that he is a student of the five-year B.A. LL.B. course at Prayag Vidhi Mahavidyalaya, Muvaiya, Naini, Prayagraj, an institution affiliated to Prof. Rajendra Singh (Rajju Bhaiya) University, Prayagraj, a State University established under the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh State Universities Act, 1973. It is stated that the petitioner had successfully cleared the examinations from Semester I to Semester VIII and thereafter appeared in the B.A. LL.B. IX Semester Examination 2025 26, including the subject "Bio-Diversity Protection Law". The result was declared on 18.03.2026, and petitioner was awarded zero marks in all the attempted questions.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that upon receiving the statement of marks, the petitioner was surprised to find that he has been awarded zero marks in the aforesaid subject despite having attempted the all the questions, and he was expecting to secure more than 50 marks. It is contended that the petitioner thereafter obtained a copy of his answer book under the Right to Information Act, 2005, and found that no marks has been awarded to any of the answers attempted by him. It is further submitted that despite representations made to the University seeking re-evaluation of the answer sheet, no action was taken. It has also been stated that the petitioner has qualified the LL.M. Entrance Examination and is awaiting admission through the counseling process. On these premises, it is urged that the action of the respondent-University is arbitrary and unsustainable in law.

5. On the previous date of hearing, this Court directed the respondent-University to produce the question paper as well as the original answer sheet of the petitioner of "Bio-Diversity Protection Law" subject.

6. In compliance with the aforesaid order, the question paper and the original answer sheet have been produced before this Court and have been carefully examined.

7. During the course of hearing, this Court directed Shri Vaibhav Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel present in Court to read the answer written by the petitioner to Question No. 3-C. For illustration, the question no. 3-C and answer given by the petitioner has been reproduced below:

"Section-C

Question 3(c): Describe National Laws in India related with biodiversity conservation.

Answer: 3(c) :The procedure of invovlement in the National level of monitoring a good seeker in the trustee of God as per the transfer of property lacking behind the role of movement for seeking a trust in the currently appointed and further it should be eligible for the on going process in which the house and conditional prompted suited on the basis of maternity of grudges and condition bailing of lift and originates in the seeker of terminology for the unwanted and must be allowed.

The law related to Nation law in with a biodiversity of neutral and appointed law makers that deals with grudges of meaningful appearance as the felicititation of discovery is equivalent to the loading of trustee that guranted such willful attention for worth of its advantages as well as disadvantages these law are being protected.

By both the provision of inactive mode of surrounded and willful abstention for the allowed provision and conditional willful is equivalent to the position of factors that may seek proper attention as well as knowledge of mind full appearance it is very normal favours brings hardened with such a discovery that is meant to be applied in any of such cases.

After the observation of natural wildlife sanctuary it is point less to seek acknowledgment of any such informative to dehanalise and marginalise this could be degroded with any of such position as it cannot be afforded in the name of trusted personal in the both the scenario it can be considered on the following provision of law that are crafted to nullified and protected the integrity and sovereigtny of biodiversity conversation protection Act it must be enhanced in the provision of such law:

(i) Wildlife Protection Act 1973

(ii) Biodiversity Origin and Regulation Act 1996

These are the module of crating to protest the saviour and origin of such law it could be helpful for the seeker as well as protector on the masterious outcome of enormous as well as described render the policy of such laws that gathered no trustee in the name of premium and extension of such law that could with draw on the galaxies of welfare community and must seek knowledge it could be helpful as it adjusted the modesty in term of finalization and extensive mode of fabrication to discriminate and may be highlighted to get the knowledge to judge its community of being find by such Act it reflexes and get by the compulsory culturic that suggest just being to evolve the maternal and internal integrity that found no suggestion to affix it with the undue such policy.

This is going to be a big myth that the appointment and the duty of the favours getting by citizens and touched by it just to enhance and manage the advance capability as he could survive and get the major consequences to accelerate its judgment for the fabrication and touched by such other souls. It could be atleast postponed and is more appearance just to avoid the nullifying material and it is adjusted by the knowledge of trusted forceful and pivotal role of applying to huge success of maternity and to adjust if it can manage as just at it could in scheduled put verification on to it and attempt atleast it is distinguished in the selfmade of it provinces just to minimise its though process and can be calculated on the ongoing and recreate the materialistic and socialistic information from any side as it deems fit on any of such condition if we are going to intolerate and calculate the minimising and traditional publicity it is going to be heartful and mere appearance could enhance its term however it is possible as such law is is rooted and gurantted by other."

8. Shri Vaibhav Tripathi, after reading the answer, fairly stated that he is unable to comprehend the purport of the answer or discern any coherent reasoning, factual narration or legal proposition relatable either to the question asked or to the subject of "Bio-Diversity Protection Law". This Court has examined the answer book and arrives at the same conclusion. The answer to Question No. 3-C does not disclose any legal understanding of the subject. Consequently, no fault can be found with the evaluation undertaken by the examiner in awarding zero marks for the said answer. Similar is the position with the remaining answers contained in the answer book.

9. It is well settled that the scope of judicial review in matters relating to academic evaluation is extremely limited. Unless arbitrariness, mala fides, violation of statutory provisions, or a patent error in the process of evaluation is demonstrated. Upon examination of the original record, this Court finds no material to suggest that the petitioner has suffered any prejudice on account of evaluation or that the examiner has acted arbitrarily in awarding zero marks.

10. While examining the record, this Court cannot remain oblivious to the larger issue that it reflects. The petitioner is pursuing a professional degree in law, a course intended to prepare students for entry into the legal profession. The quality of the answers contained in the answer book gives rise to serious concern regarding the academic standards maintained at the institution where the petitioner has been receiving the legal education. Legal education constitutes the foundation of the justice delivery system. Any substantial decline in academic standards at the institutional level affects not merely the legal profession, but the administration of justice itself. One further aspect deserves mention. This is not a solitary instance; matters of this nature have come before this Court with disquieting frequency.

11. It is not unlikely that, had the student been properly counselled before the examination, had a suitable orientation programme been provided, and had he been adequately taught, supervised and apprised of what is expected of an examinee, the answers in question would not have been written in the manner they were. The deficiency, if any, lies as much in the institution's failure to discharge its responsibility of imparting quality education as in the answers produced by the student.

12. In view thereof, this Court considers it appropriate that the Bar Council of India, being the statutory regulator entrusted under the Advocates Act, 1961 with the maintenance of standards of legal education, may examine whether the institution concerned continues to satisfy the academic and infrastructural standards prescribed under the applicable Rules and Regulations. It shall be open to the Bar Council of India to undertake such inspection or inquiry as it may deem appropriate, in accordance with law, and after affording the institution an opportunity of being heard.

13. Likewise, the Law Commission of India may consider examining the broader questions relating to the standards of legal education in the country, and may prepare a report thereon should it consider such a course appropriate. It is clarified that the observations made hereinabove are intended only to invite the attention of the aforesaid bodies to a matter of general concern, and shall not be construed as a finding against the institution concerned, or against any teacher or examiner thereof, none of whom is before this Court.

14. For the reasons recorded above, no ground for interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is made out. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

15. The original question paper and the original evaluated answer book shall be returned to respondent no. 4, who shall preserve the same in safe custody for any future requirement.

16. Based on the aforesaid deliberations, the Registrar (Compliance) is directed to transmit a copy of this order to the Principal Secretary, Bar Council of India, together with a photocopy of Question Paper No. 6584 for the B.A. LL.B. (Ninth Semester) Examination, 2025 26, Paper III(B) Biodiversity Protection Law, Course Code G020904T, and a photocopy of the answer book of the petitioner (with the particulars identifying the petitioner redacted- petitioner's name, roll number, enrollment number, and any other identifying particulars should be blacked out or masked on the photocopy), for such consideration as the Bar Council of India may deem fit, including consideration of whether the standards of legal education presently maintained are commensurate with the object for which they are prescribed, and whether the existing mechanism for the grant of approval of affiliation to, and the periodic inspection of, institutions imparting legal education requires strengthening to compete with globally competitive legal education standards.

17. A copy of the said question paper and answer book (similarly redacted) shall also be sent to the Member Secretary, Law Commission of India, for examination and, after such preparatory work as may be considered necessary, for being placed before the Hon'ble Chairman of the Commission for consideration and for the formulation of such proposals for reform in legal education as the Commission may deem appropriate, consistent with the objects for which it has been constituted.

Issue for Consideration

Whether proceedings initiated under the Enemy Property Act, 1968 in respect of an immovable property could be permitted to continue when no order declaring the property to be enemy property had ever been passed under the Act and the Enemy Property Rules, 2015; whether the entry of the property as enemy property in the records of the Nagar Nigam could be sustained in the absence of any formal order declaring the property to be enemy property; and whether proceedings under the Enemy Property Act, 1968 could be permitted to continue after a lapse of more than fifty years.

Headnotes

Constitution of India, Art. 226 – Enemy Property Act, 1968 – Enemy Property Rules, 2015 – Property entered in Nagar Nigam records as enemy property without any specific order passed under the Act, 1968 or the Rules, 2015 declaring the property to be enemy property – Earlier proceedings initiated in 1972/1973 – Objections along with documentary evidence submitted by the petitioners' predecessors – No order passed and proceedings remained inconclusive – Fresh notice issued in 2021 – Reply/objection submitted – No order passed for five years – Justification.

Held : Authorities had initiated proceedings in 1972, to which the petitioners' predecessors had submitted their reply and objections along with documentary evidence, but no order was passed. Proceedings were again initiated in 2021, but even after five years no order was passed. Court, upon examining the provisions of the Enemy Property Act, 1968 and the Enemy Property Rules, 2015, found that the property had been entered in the records of the Nagar Nigam, Varanasi as enemy property without any specific order having been passed by the competent authority declaring the property to be enemy property – The consequential entries were founded upon a non-est proceeding. An enquiry remaining inconclusive for decades cannot be permitted to continue indefinitely and create confusion in perpetuity – Proceedings cannot be allowed to continue after a lapse of more than fifty years, particularly when generations of the petitioners' family have continued to reside in the house – Any fresh action at such an extraordinarily belated stage could be regarded as a retributive exercise of executive discretion – Accordingly, repetitive enquiries concerning the same issue could not be permitted to continue – Impugned notice dated 19.08.2021, proceedings initiated by the Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue), Varanasi under the Act, 1968, and consequential entry in the records of the Nagar Nigam, Varanasi quashed, there being no order declaring the property to be enemy property – Respondents directed not to interfere with the peaceful possession of the petitioners, who were also permitted to pay municipal taxes in accordance with law.[Paras 18-24] (E-5)

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioners : Chandra Bhan Gupta, Mohd. Aqueel Khan
Advs. for the Respondent : A.S.G.I., C.S.C., Tushar Kant, Vineet Sankalp

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth Nandan, J.)

1. Heard Mohd. Aqueel Khan, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri Tushar Kant, learned Panel Counsel for the Union of India and Shri Satyam Rawat, learned Advocate holding brief of Shri Vineet Sankalp, learned counsel for the Municipal Corporation, Varanasi.

2. By means of present writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution, petitioners are seeking a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing the entire proceedings initiated on the basis of notice dated 19.08.2021 issued under the Enemy Property Act, 1968.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that the property in question i.e. J-3/34 situated at Katehar, Ward Jaitpura, District- Varanasi, measuring area 621 square feet, belongs to one Mohammad Iqram and the same has been devolved upon him through his grandfather Abdul Samad; and after the death of Mohd. Iqram, who died on 18.03.2014, the petitioners became the legal heirs and representatives of the said Late Mohd. Iqram. He has further submitted that the petitioners' family is in possession of the said ancestral property for the last more than 100 years and at no point of time any dispute was raised either by the Government of India or by the State Government regarding their possession; and now, suddenly under the Act, 1968 the impugned proceeding has been initiated.

4. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel submits that in pursuance of a complaint, a notice under Section 11 of the Act, 1968 was issued and a report was also sought from the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi and thereafter, vide communication dated 01.04.2000, the Custodian of Enemy Property for India was intimated that the property in question belongs to one Mohd. Jauhar, who was the citizen of Pakistan. He further submits that the property in question has stood vested in the Custodian of Enemy Property, by virtue of provisions as contained under the Enemy Property Act, 1968 (for short 'Act of 1968') enacted on 20th August, 1968; and he further submits that as a consequence to the aggression by Pakistan in 1971, the proclamation of emergency took place w.e.f. 3rd December, 1971, under the Defence of India Act, 1971 and the Rules framed thereunder.

5. He submits that all the immovable and specified immovable property characterized as Pakistani property in India, were vested in the Custodian of Enemy Property.

6. Taking recourse to the provisions of Indian Rules, 1971 and the orders made thereunder, he submits that the proclamation of emergency though was revoked on 20th September, 1977 but the question arose of the validation of Enemy Property Act, 1968, which could have continued beyond the period of six months from the date of revocation of emergency; and accordingly the Enemy Property (Amendment) Ordinance 1977 was promulgated, under the signature of the Vice-President of India issued on 23rd September, 1977.

7. The said Ordinance came to be replaced by the Act called the Custodian of Enemy Property Amendment Act, 1977 (for short Amendment Act, 1977). For ready reference, Sub-section 2 of Section 5, as came to be inserted vide the Amendment Act of 1977, in the Enemy Property Act, 1968 is reproduced as under:

"[2] Notwithstanding the expiration of the Defence of India Act, 1971 and the Defence of India Rules, 1971, all enemy property vested before such expiration in the Custodian of Enemy Property for India appointed under the said Rules and continuing to vest in him immediately before the commencement of the Enemy Property (Amendment) Act, 1977 shall, as from such commencement, vest in the custodian]".

8. Learned Standing Counsel submits that a bare reading of the aforesaid provision make it quite explicit that while the Defence of India Rules, 1971 and the Defence of India Act, 1971 were in force, if the properties of the Pakistani National in India continued to be vested in Custodian of Enemy Property and the status as such has continued on the date of coming into force Enemy Property Amendment Act, 1977, shall from such commencement after Act, 1977 vest in the custodian. As referred to hereinabove that Defence of Indian Rules and the Act of 1971 proclaimed on 4th December, 1971, were to continue during proclamation of emergency.

9. Learned counsel for the respondent has further placed reliance upon the newly substituted Section 6 of the Act of 1968 [by virtue of Section 6 of the Enemy Property (Amendment and Validation) Act, 2017] and submits that property once vested under the Act of 1968 and the Amendment Act, 1977, if has continued to vest with the Custodian of Enemy Property on the date of commencement of the Validation Act, 2017, any transfer of such property shall be void and shall always be deemed to have been void.

10. Section 6 of the Validation Act, 2017 runs as under:

"6. On and from the date of commencement of the principal Act, for section 6 of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted and shall always be deemed to have been substituted, namely:-

6.(1) No enemy or enemy subject or enemy firm shall have any right and shall never be deemed to have any right to transfer any property vested in the Custodian under this Act, whether before or after the commencement of this Act and any transfer of such property shall be void and shall always be deemed to have been void.

(2) Where any property vested in the Custodian under this Act had been transferred, before the commencement of the Enemy Property (Amendment and Validation) Act, 2017, by an enemy or enemy or enemy subject or enemy firm and such transfer has been declared, by an order, made by the Central Government, to be void, and the property had been vested or deemed to have been vested in the Custodian [by virtue of the said order made under section 6, as it stood before its substitution by section 6 of the Enemy Property (Amendment and Validation) Act, 2017] such property shall, notwithstanding anything contained in any judgment, decree or order of any court, tribunal or other authority, continue to vest or be deemed to have been vested in the Custodian and no person (including an enemy or enemy subject or enemy firm) shall have any right or deemed to have any right (including all rights, titles and interests or any benefit arising out of such property) over the said property vested or deemed to have been vested in the Custodian."

11. Thus the legislative intent, it is argued, is that since 1968 the Act continued in its operation with its validation from time to time; first in the year 1977 and then in the year 2017, the property left by person who migrated to Pakistan and then acquired its citizenship before 1977, the property of such Pakistani national left behind in India, stood vested in Custodian of the Enemy Property in 1977 itself with the commencement of 1977 Amendment Act in respect of Act of 1968.

12. In response to the aforesaid, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that after issuance of the notice, till date, no order has been passed by the competent authority declaring the property as enemy property; and this fact has not been disputed by the learned Standing Counsel.

13. This Court vide its previous order dated 02.07.2026 had directed the learned counsel for the Union of India, to produce a copy of the order, declaring the property as an enemy property under the Act, 1968. On the basis of instructions, he has submitted that no order was passed by the competent authority declaring the property as enemy property at any point of time and only impugned notices, has been issued.

14. The Central Government has made rules known as the "Enemy Property Rules, 2015" in exercise of powers under Section 23 of the Act, 1968; which provides for identification of immovable property as under:

"3. Procedure for identification of immovable property-

(1) The Custodian may seek assistance of the District Authority for examination of the tehsil-wise or block-wise revenue records for the purposes of identifying any immovable property belonging to or held in the name of any "enemy" or "enemy subject" or "enemy firm."

2) The concerned District Authority shall on identifying any immovable property belonging to or held by the enemy or enemy subject or enemy firm, forward to the Custodian the complete details of such enemy property and the name and address and other particulars of the person who is in possession of such property or the name of the occupier or manager or agent of the owner.

3) If the District Authority receives any information or complaint from any person or from any source in respect of an enemy property, he shall forward such information or complaint to the Custodian along with details referred to in sub-rule (2).

(4) The Custodian may direct the District Authority in which the enemy property is located, to carry out physical inspection or verification or the enemy property for obtaining the information as specified by the Custodian.

(5) On receipt of the direction from the Custodian under sub-rule (4), the District Authority shall check the relevant revenue or municipal or police records to verify the location or area and other details of the enemy property and conduct survey for obtaining the information as specified by the Custodian.

(5-A) Without prejudice to the provisions contained in this rule, the District Authority shall take all such steps as may be necessary for the purpose of identification of the enemy property.

(6) The District Authority or any person authorized by the Custodian shall prepare a detailed report of all cases identified as enemy property and shall submit the same to the Custodian along with his comments thereon."

(14) All properties under examination and in the process of identification or verification shall be considered as Process Case and details of such cases shall be recorded in Annexure-I till its declaration.

(15) The Custodian shall maintain a register containing the properties identified as enemy properties and place the same in public domain and also exhibit the same on the website of the office of the Custodian."

15. Section 4 of the Rules, 2015 also provides for procedure for declaration and vesting of the enemy property, and contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that the property does not come under the definition of enemy property; and accordingly no action can be taken under the Act, 1968.

16. He has also submitted that earlier also proceedings were undertaken on the basis of a wrong information in the year 1973, to which an objection was also filed on 19.12.1973, along with evidence; and thereafter, proceedings were dropped and name of the petitioners continued to be recorded in the records of Nagar Nigam, Varanasi; and now another notice has been issued on 19.08.2021 by the Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue), In-Charge Official Evacuee Property, Varanasi.

17. He has further submitted that one Ajijur Rahman had also filed a reply/objection, having come to know of the notice dated 19.08.2021, on 13.09.2021; thereafter again for the last 5 years neither any orders were passed, nor served on the petitioners, while the municipal taxes were being paid regularly and therefore the vesting of the property without adhering to any procedure prescribed is nothing but a retributive exercise of executive discretion, which is a specie of a colourable exercise of power; and accordingly, said entry cannot be sustained.

18. We have perused the provisions of the Act, 1968 and the Rules, 2015; and find that without adhering to the said procedure, the property has been entered into the records of the Nagar

Nigam, Varanasi as enemy property. On instructions, respondents have also submitted that no specific order has been passed under the relevant Act and Rules; and accordingly we find that entries are based on a non-est proceeding and the instructions which has been placed before this Court by the learned Counsel appearing for the Union of India, also indicates that earlier proceedings were initiated and an objection was also filed and thereafter no order as contemplated under the Act, 1968 and Rules, 2015 were passed, adhering to the procedure prescribed and again the impugned notice has been issued on 19.08.2021; and though five years have already lapse, admittedly no order has been passed, till date.

19. In view of the aforesaid, since much water has flown, since 1972 and generations have changed, and admittedly they continued to live in the house, for more than 100 years; now proceedings at such a belated stage cannot be permitted to continue.

20. The respondent-authorities had initiated proceedings in the year 1972, but did not adhere to the procedure or pass any order then; and now again they have initiated proceedings in the year 2021 but again have failed to pass any order for the last 5 years; and accordingly, the proceedings cannot be permitted to continue after a lapse of more than 50 years, when generations after generations have continued to live in the house. Any action at such a belated stage afresh can be considered as a retributive action of the executive discretion.

21. It is trite law that a mere existence of a power, ipso facto does not contemplates its exercise in an arbitrary manner. Admittedly, notices were issued and a report was submitted by the District Magistrate, Varanasi to the Custodian of Enemy Property for India on 09.02.1972, then again a report was submitted on 16.03.2000 by the S.S.P., Varanasi; and in response to the same, along with documentary evidence, reply was submitted by the predecessors of the petitioners; and no action was taken and even thereafter notices though were issued in the year 2021, but still no order has been passed till date. Even if a nature of property is to be claimed as enemy property by fiction of law under the relevant provisions the moment an Indian resident is migrated to Pakistan, but to give it legal character an enquiry is to be followed by a formal declaration under the Act. There is no presumption contemplated as to the nature of property. So if such an enquiry remained pending for thirty years with no conclusion and final under, now it cannot be permitted to further continue to create confusion in perpetuity.

22. In view of the aforesaid, in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, this Court cannot permit the repetitive inquiries qua the issue in hand, and accordingly deems it appropriate to quash the impugned notice dated 19.08.2021 and the proceedings initiated by the Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue), Varanasi, under the Act, 1968; and so also the consequential entry in the records of the Nagar Nigam, Varanasi, for there being no order to the said effect.

23. Respondents are directed not to interfere in the peaceful possession of the petitioners; and they shall be allowed to pay their municipal taxes, as per law.

24. The writ petition thus stands allowed, as above.

Issue for Consideration

Whether a writ petition at the instance of the petitioner-Insurance Company is maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to assail an order of the competent authority granting compensation under the Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna on the ground that such order is contrary to the terms and conditions of the Memorandum of Understanding governing the contractual arrangement between the petitioner and the State Government?

Headnotes

Constitution of India – Article 226 – Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna – Maintainability of writ petition by Insurance Company – Challenge to order of District Magistrate directing payment of compensation under welfare scheme – Husband of respondent No.1 died in a road accident – Claim for compensation submitted under the Scheme – Claim repudiated by Insurance Company on ground of delay beyond prescribed limitation period – District Magistrate, upon reconsideration, directed payment of compensation – Insurance Company challenged the order on the ground that compensation could not be directed contrary to contractual stipulations contained in Memorandum of Understanding executed between Insurance Company and State Government – Justification:

Held : Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna is a welfare and social security measure intended to provide immediate financial assistance to economically vulnerable families upon accidental death or disability of the sole earning member – Beneficiary's entitlement arises from the welfare Scheme framed by the State and not from the contractual arrangement between the Insurance Company and the State Government – In the instant case, Insurance Company was not seeking enforcement of any statutory or constitutional right in public law, but was seeking to resist compensation granted to the beneficiary by relying upon alleged breach of contractual stipulations contained in the MoU – Rights asserted by Insurance Company against the State Government were essentially contractual and commercial in nature – Disputes concerning interpretation, enforcement and breach of contractual obligations ordinarily fall within the realm of private law and are to be adjudicated before ordinary civil, commercial or arbitral forums rather than in writ jurisdiction – Present case concerned determination of an individual claim by the District Magistrate, the competent authority under the Scheme, and not alteration, invalidation or reinterpretation of any general term of the Scheme or MoU – Once the competent authority applied the Scheme and found the beneficiary eligible and entitled to compensation, Insurance Company could not invoke writ jurisdiction merely by alleging that the claim had been dealt with contrary to contractual conditions agreed upon with the State Government – Insurance Company did not possess corresponding locus to challenge the application of the Scheme in each individual case – Entertaining such petitions would convert writ jurisdiction into a parallel appellate forum for adjudicating contractual disputes between the Insurance Company and the State Government – Insurance Company, having voluntarily undertaken the contractual obligations under the MoU after assessing the commercial risks and accepting premium payable by the State Government, could not ordinarily invoke Article 226 to resist disbursement directed by the competent authority in favour of the beneficiary – Writ petition accordingly held not maintainable.

In the instant case the District Magistrate had recorded a categorical finding that the claim was submitted within the prescribed period and that respondent No.1 was entitled to compensation under the Scheme – No perversity, jurisdictional error or manifest illegality demonstrated so as to warrant interference under Article 226 – Insurance Company could not deny payment on the basis of its own interpretation of contractual stipulations governing the MoU – Writ petition dismissed – Insurance Company directed to release the compensation payable to respondent No.1 within three months – However, it was provided that the dismissal of writ petition would not preclude Insurance Company from availing such remedies as may otherwise be available in law against the State Government before the appropriate civil, commercial, arbitral or other competent forum in relation to its alleged contractual grievances arising out of the Agreement/MoU governing the Scheme.[Paras 7–15, 17–20, 22–24, 26–28] (E-5)

Writ petition filed by Insurance Company challenging the order passed by the District Magistrate, whereby compensation has been directed to be paid in favour of respondent no.1 under the Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioners : Ankur Mehrotra
Advs. for the Respondent : C.S.C., Sanjeev Kumar Saxena

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Garima Prashad, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ankur Mehrotra, learned counsel for the petitioner-Insurance Company, Sri Sanjeev Kumar Saxena, learned counsel for the private respondent and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The present writ petition has been filed by the petitioner-Insurance Company challenging the order dated 29.11.2025 passed by the District Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar whereby compensation of Rs.5,00,000/- has been directed to be paid in favour of respondent no.1 under the Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna on account of the accidental death of her husband, late Bhanu Pratap Singh.

3. The facts, briefly stated, are that the husband of respondent no.1 died in a road accident on 29.11.2018, following which respondent no.1 submitted a claim under the Scheme seeking compensation on account of the accidental death of the earning member of the family. The claim, however, came to be repudiated by the petitioner-Insurance Company on the ground that the same had not been submitted within the prescribed limitation period contemplated under the Scheme. Aggrieved thereby, respondent no.1 approached this Court and pursuant to the directions issued therein, the District Magistrate reconsidered the matter and thereafter passed the impugned order directing payment of compensation to respondent no.1 under the Scheme.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner Insurance Company submits that the Scheme is governed by the contractual terms and conditions contained in the Memorandum of Understanding executed between the State Government and the petitioner-Insurance Company and therefore compensation could not have been directed contrary to the contractual stipulations. It is further contended that the District Magistrate could not have travelled beyond the terms of the contract executed between the parties.

5. It has also been submitted that the issue relating to delayed claims and limitation under the Scheme, as considered by the Division Bench of this Court in Gautam Yadav v. State of U.P., reported in 2020 SCC Online All 1379 presently remains pending consideration before the Hon ble Supreme Court and the operation of the judgment has been stayed in interim proceedings arising therefrom.

6. In view of the submissions advanced, the principal issue which arises for consideration before this Court is:

"Whether a writ petition at the instance of the petitioner-Insurance Company is maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to assail an order of the competent authority granting compensation under the Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna on the ground that such order is contrary to the terms and conditions of the Memorandum of Understanding governing the contractual arrangement between the petitioner and the State Government?"

7. At the outset, it is necessary to notice the nature and character of the Scheme itself. The Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna is not an ordinary commercial insurance arrangement between private parties. The Scheme has been framed by the State Government as a welfare and social security measure intended to provide immediate financial assistance to economically vulnerable families, including poor farmers and persons engaged in allied occupations, upon accidental death or disability of the sole earning member of the family.

8. At the same time, insofar as the petitioner-Insurance Company is concerned, the arrangement arises out of the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) executed between it and the State Government pursuant to a negotiated contractual framework and against payment of substantial premium by the Government. The petitioner voluntarily undertook the risk under the Scheme after assessing its commercial viability and accepted the terms of the MoU to its satisfaction. Consequently, while the Scheme possesses a public welfare character vis- -vis its beneficiaries, the rights asserted by the petitioner against the State Government remain essentially contractual and commercial in nature.

9. The beneficiaries under the Scheme are neither parties to the Memorandum of Understanding nor to the contractual arrangement between the petitioner and the State Government. Their entitlement arises from the welfare Scheme framed by the State and not from the contractual rights and obligations existing inter se between the petitioner and the State Government.

10. A distinction therefore has to be maintained between:

(i) a claim seeking enforcement of public law rights or welfare entitlements under a governmental scheme; and

(ii) a dispute arising substantially out of contractual liability and indemnification between the insurer and the State Government.

11. Where an eligible beneficiary seeks enforcement of welfare entitlements under a governmental scheme, proceedings under Article 226 seeking mandamus against the State authorities are clearly maintainable since the source of the entitlement arises under a governmental welfare scheme.

12. The position of the petitioner-Insurance Company, however, stands on an entirely different footing. The petitioner does not seek enforcement of any statutory or constitutional right in public law. Its grievance is essentially that compensation has been directed contrary to the contractual stipulations governing limitation, claim procedure and liability allocation under the Memorandum of Understanding executed with the State Government. The writ petition is, therefore, an attempt to enforce rights asserted under the MoU rather than any independent public law right.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon ABL International Ltd. v. Export Credit Guarantee Corporation of India Ltd. reported in (2004) 3 SCC 553 to contend that the existence of a contractual relationship does not, by itself, bar the exercise of writ jurisdiction where the action of the State or its instrumentality is arbitrary and the dispute involves a public law element. The said principle, however, has no application to the present case.

14. The petitioner is not seeking enforcement of any public law right against the State. Rather, it seeks to resist compensation granted to a beneficiary under a welfare scheme by relying upon alleged breach of the contractual stipulations contained in the Memorandum of Understanding executed with the State Government. The beneficiary is neither a party to the Memorandum of Understanding nor to the contractual arrangement between the petitioner and the State Government and cannot be compelled to defend disputes arising out of contractual terms to which she is a stranger.

15. On the contrary, the present case squarely falls within the principles laid down in State of Bihar v. Jain Plastics and Chemicals Ltd., reported in (2002) 1 SCC 216, Kerala State Electricity Board v. Kurien E. Kalathil reported in (2000) 6 SCC 293 and Joshi Technologies International Inc. v. Union of India reported in (2015) 7 SCC 728 wherein the Hon ble Supreme Court has consistently held that disputes concerning interpretation, enforcement and breach of contractual obligations ordinarily fall within the realm of private law and must be adjudicated before ordinary civil, commercial or arbitral forums rather than in writ jurisdiction.

16. The reliance placed upon the pendency of proceedings before the Hon ble Supreme Court arising from the judgment in Gautam Yadav (supra) does not advance the case of the petitioner. In the said decision, the Division Bench examined the validity of the limitation prescribed under the Scheme, which also formed part of the agreement executed between the State Government and the Insurance Company. The Court held the prescribed period to be arbitrary and unreasonable and directed that claims made within three years from the date of death or rejection be treated as within limitation. The issue arising therein thus concerned the validity and interpretation of a term governing the Scheme generally and had the effect of modifying the contractual and legal framework governing claims under the Scheme, thereby directly affecting the obligations assumed by the insurer. It is in that context that the Insurance Company s contractual rights may legitimately arise for consideration.

17. The present controversy stands on a different footing. This Court is not called upon to alter, invalidate or reinterpret any general term of the Scheme or the agreement entered into between the petitioner and the State Government. The challenge is to the determination of an individual claim by the District Magistrate, who has been designated as the competent authority under the Scheme. Once such authority has applied the Scheme and found a beneficiary eligible and entitled to compensation, the Insurance Company cannot invoke writ jurisdiction to assail that determination merely by alleging that the claim was dealt with contrary to the contractual conditions agreed upon with the State Government.

18. Thus, while a question concerning the validity or alteration of a term of the Scheme, having a general bearing upon the contractual obligations of the insurer, may stand on a different footing, the petitioner does not possess a corresponding locus to challenge the application of the Scheme in each individual case. In view of the distinction noticed above, the pendency of the proceedings arising from Gautam Yadav (supra) does not, in the considered view of this Court, affect the issue arising for consideration in the present writ petition.

19. The extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 cannot be permitted to become a routine remedy available to Insurance Companies for challenging compensation determinations under welfare schemes merely by alleging breach of the Memorandum of Understanding with the State Government. Entertaining such petitions would convert the writ jurisdiction into a parallel appellate forum for adjudicating inter se contractual disputes between the insurer and the State Government, thereby defeating the object of the Scheme.

20. The petitioner, having voluntarily undertaken the contractual obligations under the Memorandum of Understanding after assessing the commercial risks and accepting the premium payable by the State Government, cannot ordinarily invoke Article 226 to resist disbursement directed by the competent authority in favour of a beneficiary under the Scheme.

21. The consequences of entertaining such petitions would be extremely serious. Poor farmers, widows and dependent family members, already devastated by the accidental death of the sole breadwinner of the family, would be compelled to run from court to court defending constitutional proceedings initiated by the Insurance Company merely because the insurer disputes its contractual liabilities towards the State Government. Welfare compensation intended for immediate financial relief cannot be permitted to be indefinitely obstructed until the Insurance Company is fully satisfied regarding every contractual or procedural aspect of its arrangement with the Government.

22. Accordingly, for the reasons recorded above, this Court holds that the present writ petition, at the instance of the petitioner-Insurance Company, is not maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution. The issue framed above is answered accordingly against the petitioner.

23. Even otherwise, this Court finds no ground to interfere with the impugned order. The District Magistrate has recorded a categorical finding that the claim was submitted within the prescribed period and that respondent no.1 was entitled to compensation under the Scheme. No perversity, jurisdictional error or manifest illegality in the said findings has been demonstrated so as to warrant interference under Article 226 of the Constitution.

24. Once the District Magistrate, being the competent authority, adjudicated the claim and held the beneficiary entitled to compensation under the Scheme, the petitioner-Insurance Company cannot deny payment on the basis of its own interpretation of the contractual stipulations governing the Memorandum of Understanding with the State Government. To hold otherwise would virtually permit the Insurance Company to sit in appeal over every determination made by the District Magistrate under the Scheme, a course neither contemplated by the Scheme nor by the contractual framework governing the parties.

25. The impugned order was passed on 29.11.2025. Yet, despite respondent no.1 having been found entitled to compensation, the benefit under the Scheme remains unpaid. Such delay is wholly inconsistent with the object and spirit of the Scheme, which is intended to provide timely financial relief to distressed families.

26. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

27. The petitioner-Insurance Company shall comply with the impugned order dated 29.11.2025 by releasing the compensation payable to respondent no.1 within a period of three months from the date of this order.

28. However, it is observed that dismissal of the present writ petition shall not preclude the petitioner from availing such remedies as may otherwise be available in law against the State Government before the appropriate civil, commercial, arbitral or other competent forum in relation to its alleged contractual grievances arising out of its Agreement / Memorandum of Understanding governing the Scheme.

Writ C No. 5045 of 2026

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

Whether, in a dispute essentially civil in nature relating to title and possession of immovable property between private parties, the police, revenue and executive authorities can interfere with the possession of either party, adjudicate the civil rights of the parties, or assist one party in dispossessing the other, particularly when the dispute is pending before the competent Civil Court ?

Headnotes

Constitution of India — Article 226 — Maintainability of writ petition — Writ petition seeking protection of peaceful possession against private persons not impleaded — Civil dispute relating to title and possession of immovable property — Allegation of police siding with private respondent and creating hindrance in construction — Police interference in private disputes — Scope of powers.

Held: Article 226 — Maintainability — When a writ petition in substance seeks a direction against private persons interfering in peaceful possession, and such private parties have not been impleaded, the petition is not maintainable under Article 226 — Where grievance essentially arises out of a private dispute over property between the parties claiming peaceful possession, such disputes are squarely within the domain of competent Civil Courts — Police authorities and Executive officers have no jurisdiction to adjudicate or interfere in civil disputes relating to title, possession, or boundaries of immovable property between private parties, except to the limited extent necessary for maintaining public peace and preventing breach of law and order — Police and revenue/executive authorities cannot be allowed to act as adjudicatory bodies or to assist one party in dispossessing the other, without any specific order from a Court of competent jurisdiction — Such administrative intervention in a purely private dispute of title and possession is wholly without jurisdiction and contrary to the settled position of law — Court directed all police officers, District Magistrates, Sub-Divisional Magistrates, and other Executive authorities to strictly adhere to the Government Orders dated 01.12.2014 and 16.09.2015, as well as the D.G.P. Circular dated 11.03.2023 — Writ petition disposed of with liberty granted to the petitioner to approach the appropriate authority/court for redressal of their grievances. (E-5)

Case Arising From

Writ petition seeking a writ of mandamus directing the opposite parties not to interrupt the petitioners' peaceful possession over the land and not to harass the petitioners without any interim order from a Court of law.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioners : Sachin Kumar, Abhinav Sachan , Diship Kumar , Piyush Agnihotri, Shailesh Sachan
Advs. for the Respondent : C.S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf, J.
&
Hon'ble Abdhesh Kumar Chaudhary, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel appearing on behalf of the parties.

2. This is a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, wherein the writ petitioner has sought for the following substantial reliefs:-

"I. Issue a writ in the nature of mandamus to direct the opposite parties to not to interrupt in the peaceful possession of the petitioners over the land, in the interest of justice.

II. Issue a writ in the nature of mandamus to direct the opposite parties to not to harass the petitioners without any interim order from any court of law."

3. Upon a perusal of the writ petition, it appears that the entire matter relates to a family dispute between the petitioner and the private respondents, wherein a civil suit is also pending. The petitioner has not been able to make out any case as to why this Court exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India should entertain this petition or to pass any order in his favour.

4. However, there is another aspect of the matter, inasmuch as it has been also submitted by learned Counsel for the petitioner that although the petitioner is more than 85 years of age, she has been continuously harassed by the police in one way or the other. According to the learned Counsel, if the dispute is essentially civil in nature, then the police should not have any business in siding with any of the parties to the said civil dispute. It is the submission of the learned counsel that the police is siding with the private respondent and in collusion is creating hindrance in the legitimate constructions being raised by the petitioner.

5. This Court does not wish to go into the nitty-gritty of the said allegation of collusion between the police and private respondents as it would have it's own consequential effect of filing a complaint/F.I.R. against the private respondents or the erring police officer, as the case may be.

6. However, as far as the issue raised by the learned counsel that in a dispute, which is essentially civil in nature, the conduct and abstinence of the police is a grave issue which calls for our immediate interference.

7. This Court has repeatedly observed, and it is now well-settled, that police authorities and Executive officers have no jurisdiction to adjudicate or interfere in civil disputes relating to title, possession, or boundaries of immovable property between private parties, except to the limited extent necessary for maintaining public peace and preventing breach of law and order, as provided under the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (BNSS) or earlier the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

8. In the cases, where grievance essentially arises out as a private dispute over property between the parties claiming peaceful possession etc., such disputes are squarely within the domain of competent Civil Courts. The police and revenue/executive authorities cannot be allowed to act as adjudicatory bodies or to assist one party in dispossessing the other, without any specific order from a Court of competent jurisdiction.

9. A Division Bench of this Court, in Writ-C No. 3263 of 2020 (Parmatma Saran & Anr. vs. State of U.P. & Ors.), Neutral Citation No. - 2020:AHC:21481-DB; decided on 31.01.2020, has categorically held that when a writ petition in substance seeks a direction against private persons interfering in peaceful possession, and such private parties have not been impleaded, the petition is not maintainable under Article 226. The Court placed reliance upon the Government Order dated 16.09.2015 issued by the Chief Secretary, U.P., pursuant to earlier directions of this Court, which mandates that no administrative order shall be passed on miscellaneous applications in matters of immovable property pending between private parties or where Courts have passed interim orders. It was directed that any violation would invite strict penal action against erring officers.

10. Furthermore, the Division Bench of this Court while deciding the case of Suman Singh Vs District Magistrate And Others, in (WRIT - C No. - 12310 of 2022), Neutral Citation No. - 2022:AHC:176795-DB; decided on 20.10.2022, reported as 2022 SCC OnLine All 720; the core issue which falls for consideration before this Court was the extent of permissible judicial intervention and, more importantly, the impermissible overreach by administrative authorities in matters of private civil disputes concerning title and possession of immovable property, where the parties are already litigating their respective rights before the competent Civil Courts and interim injunction orders are operating. Despite the pendency of the said suits and the existence of interim orders, the revenue and police authorities, at the instance of one set of parties, intervened and effected dispossession on 07.11.2020. The Division Bench of this Court held that such administrative intervention in a purely private dispute of title and possession is wholly without jurisdiction and contrary to the settled position of law. Reference was made to the Government Order dated 01.12.2014 issued by the Chief Secretary, Government of U.P. (bearing No. 491/Writ/6-Pu-3-2014-2(94)P/2014), which was issued in the backdrop of earlier directions of this Court passed in Writ-C No. 43627 of 2014 (Sayeed Khan vs. State of U.P. & Ors.). The aforesaid Government Order dated 01.12.2014 categorically directs that:-

"in cases relating to immovable property disputes between private parties, where civil suits are pending before the competent Civil Courts or where interim orders have been passed by the Courts, the administrative and police authorities shall act strictly within the four corners of law and shall not pass any orders or take any action beyond their jurisdiction. It has been made clear that only the competent Civil Court has the authority to adjudicate upon and pass orders in such disputes of civil nature. The administrative authorities are required only to maintain law and order and ensure compliance of Court orders, but they cannot assume an adjudicatory role or effect dispossession/restoration of possession in private title disputes."

(English translation by this Court)

11. Similarly, in Writ-C No. 1266 of 2023 (Prem Lata Maurya vs. State of U.P. & Ors.), decided on 16.02.2023, this Court, taking note of repeated allegations of police authorities (especially S.H.O.s and S.I.s) assisting private persons in forcible dispossession, directed the Director General of Police, U.P., to issue a fresh Circular reminding all police personnel of earlier instructions prohibiting interference in private disputes and to enforce the same with utmost strictness.

Pursuant to the aforesaid direction, the Director General of Police (D.G.P.), U.P., issued Circular No. 10/2023 dated 11.03.2023. The said Circular unequivocally reiterates that:

"i. Police have no role in deciding title or possession disputes between private parties.

ii. Any complaint regarding land/property dispute must immediately be forwarded to the concerned Executive Magistrate / Revenue Authorities.

iii. Police personnel shall not, on their own, deliver possession to any party or evict any person in a civil dispute.

iv. Action under Sections 107/116/145 Cr.P.C. may be taken only where there is imminent apprehension of breach of peace, strictly following the procedure prescribed.

v. Joint teams of Revenue and Police may be constituted under the supervision of District Magistrate and Senior Superintendent of Police only for maintaining peace and facilitating lawful resolution, not for deciding civil rights."

12. The aforesaid principles have been also reiterated in Writ-C No. 14257 of 2024 (Phoolmati vs. State of U.P.), wherein this Court deprecated the practice of Sub-Divisional Magistrates passing orders directing vacation of premises in pending civil suits without following due process. This Court in Writ-C No. 28828 of 2016 (Suresh Kumar Gangwar & Ors. vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) Neutral Citation No. - 2016:AHC:99893-DB dated 05.07.2016, reported in 2016 SCC OnLine All 1558; exhaustively examined the scope of Sections 144 and 145 Cr.P.C. and held that Executive Magistrates must act strictly within the parameters laid down therein, only for preservation of public peace and not for adjudication of title or civil possession. The Court emphasised that District Authorities have no right to interfere in private property disputes unless directed by a competent Civil Court.

13. Therefore, this Court expects all police officers, District Magistrates, Sub-Divisional Magistrates, and other Executive authorities to strictly adhere to the Government Orders dated 01.12.2014 issued by the Chief Secretary, Government of U.P. (bearing No. 491/Writ/6-Pu-3-2014-2(94)P/2014); Government Order dated 16.09.2015; as well as the D.G.P. Circular dated 11.03.2023 and any deviation shall be viewed seriously and may invite departmental as well as contempt proceedings and also the police authorities shall ensure that no party is allowed to take law into their own hands and shall maintain peace without favouring any side in the civil dispute.

14. Accordingly, the writ petition is disposed of with liberty granted to the petitioner to approach the appropriate authority/ court for redressal of their grievances.

U.O.I. & Anr. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

Whether the petitioner, whose application for approval of the Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) was still pending, could be granted approval for establishing the CSP along with extension of time for commissioning of a railway siding up to 31.12.2026 under the new guidelines issued by the Railways, when the benefit of such extension was provided only to existing CSPs.

Headnotes

Constitution of India – Art. 226 – Writ of mandamus – Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) – Railway Board policy dated 19.02.2021 – New guidelines issued by the Railways – Approval of CSP – Railway siding – Extension of time for commissioning of railway siding – Petitioner sought approval for establishing a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) along with extension of time up to 31.12.2026 for creation of a railway siding – Petitioner's application for approval still pending – Respondents contended that extension for commissioning of railway siding as per the policy was provided only to existing CSPs and that a new entrant cannot be granted approval without an existing siding as per the extant policy.

Held: Petitioner had not been granted approval by the Railways to manufacture Concrete Sleepers and the application was still pending – Petitioner's application would be governed by the new guidelines issued by the Railways – Approval process operates at multiple stages and at each of these stages, technical assessment and satisfaction of the authority is required and, in absence of final satisfaction of the said process, approval cannot be granted – High Court, being bereft of any technical expertise, cannot step into the shoes of the approving authority to make a technical assessment and grant approval to the petitioner – Any relief granted to the petitioner as sought would tantamount to deemed approval by the Railway authority – Relief sought by the petitioner seeks to achieve something indirectly, i.e. approval, which it has failed to achieve directly – Under the new regulations, any person intending to establish a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) must have a railway siding ready for use – Government has merely granted a limited relaxation to those plants that are already in operation – Since petitioner's plant has not yet been approved, question of granting any extension of time for creation of a railway siding does not arise – Since petitioner has not been granted approval as a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) till date and there is no concept of deemed approval, it is not entitled to the benefit of the said extension.

Writ petition dismissed. (E-5)

Sakri, Bilaspur, Chhattisgarh 495003 forthwith in terms of the policy dated 19.02.2021 read with the instructions dated 29.09.2023 subject to the Petitioner Company filing an Undertaking that it shall commission the siding within the timeframe granted by the Respondent No. 2 to similarly placed Concrete Sleeper Plants in terms of the instructions dated 22.05.2026;

(iii) Issue an appropriate writ, order or direction directing the Respondents to permit the Petitioner Company to participate in the tender processes which are published /issued by the Respondent No. 1 and to accept the technical and financial bid of the Petitioner - Company, subject to grant of formal approval by Respondent No. 2;

(iv) Call for the records maintained by the Respondent No. 2 regarding the application submitted by the Petitioner Company with Respondent No. 2 to verify the reasons for delay in grant of approval to the Petitioner - Company for its Concrete Sleeper Plant situated at Village - Pendari, P.O. Sakri, Bilaspur, Chhattisgarh - 495003."

3. Learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner submits that the petitioner made an application for setting up a new Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) on 01.04.2025 and has virtually completed all the requisite formalities. However, approval has not yet been granted to the petitioner.

4. He further submits that all the requisite documents from the petitioner's end were furnished to the Railways by March, 2026. He further submits that, subsequently, the Government of India, Ministry of Railways, Research Designs and Standards Organization (RDSO), issued a letter introducing certain new guidelines for fresh applicants seeking to set up new Concrete Sleeper Plants (CSPs). The relevant portion of the said guidelines, applicable to the petitioner, is reproduced below:-

"(I) For CSPs already approved with Revised policy dated 19.02.2021:

Those CSPs which are Stabilized till date under the Railway Board policy issued vide letter no. 2004/TK-II/22/11/5(Shifting) dated 19.02.2021 but failed to ensure commissioning of siding as per assurance by the firm/CSP according to approved layout plan, shall be given one time opportunity to commission the siding latest by 31.12.2026 as per extant approvals of Zonal Railways. The firms, which have been granted Development status can be stabilized provided they submit undertaking to commission the siding latest by 31.12.2026. The firms, which have not been granted Development status will be strictly governed by instructions in Annexure.

II. For CSPs approved earlier to Revised policy dated 19.02.2021:

RB has also emphasized that the uniformity across all CSPs, i.e. existing and new plants, is essential to the Railway requirements. Those CSPs which are at Development status including those Stabilized prior to the Railway Board policy issued vide letter no. 2004/TK-11/22/11/5(Shifting) dated 19.02.2021 but have not yet functioning with a siding, should be given one time opportunity to commission the siding latest by 31.12.2027 as per extant approvals of Zonal Railways."

5. Learned counsel argues, on the basis of the aforesaid guidelines, that the petitioner should also be permitted to set up its Concrete Sleeper Plant and be granted an extension for commissioning the railway siding up to 31st December, 2026.

6. Per contra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent-authorities submits that the petitioner has not yet been granted approval to establish a new Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) and, therefore, is not entitled to the benefit of the new guidelines. The learned DSGI has submitted that extension for commissioning of railway siding as per the policy is provided to only existing CSP. According to him, new entrant cannot be granted approval without an existing siding as per the extant policy.

7. This Court has given a thoughtful consideration to the submissions made by the rival parties.

8. Upon perusal of the documents and after hearing learned counsel for the parties, we are of the view that, till date, the petitioner has not been granted approval by the Railways to manufacture Concrete Sleepers at its proposed Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP). Consequently, the petitioner's application is still pending and, therefore, it would be governed by the new guidelines issued by the Railways. Any relief granted to the petitioner as being sought would tantamount to deemed approval by the Railway authority, which cannot be the purview of law as we understand that a robust mechanism has been provided for such approval, which operates at multiple stages, involving scrutiny of documents, verification of source materials, inspection of plant and machinery, gauge checking, mix design approval, testing of samples, and evaluation of capacity and capability of the CSP. Apparently at each of these stages a technical assessment and satisfaction of the authority is required and as such, in absence of final satisfaction of the said process, approval cannot be granted to the petitioner. This Court being bereft of any technical expertise cannot step into the shoes of the approving authority to make a technical assessment and grant approval to the petitioner. We are also clear in our mind that a writ of mandamus also cannot be issued in that regard.

9. Further, it is also clear from the new regulations that have come into effect that any person intending to establish a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) must have a railway siding ready for use. The Government has merely granted a limited relaxation only to those plants that are already in operation. Since the petitioner's plant has not yet been approved, the question of granting any extension of time for creation of a railway siding does not arise in the present facts and circumstances. According to this Court, the reliance on the aforesaid guidelines for granting approval is wholly misconceived/misplaced.

10. The claim of the petitioner that approval should be granted for establishing a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP), along with an extension of time up to 31st December, 2026 is a far fetch argument and cannot be countenanced by us. The benefit of extension has been specifically granted only to those applicants who are already operating Concrete Sleeper Plants (CSPs) for the Railways under the policy dated 19.02.2021 or who had already been approved as CSPs prior to the issuance of the said policy. Since the petitioner has not been granted approval as a Concrete Sleeper Plant (CSP) till date and there is no concept of deemed approval, it is not entitled to the benefit of the said extension. The relief sought by the petitioner seems to be in disguise as it tries to achieve something indirectly (i.e. the approval), which it has failed to achieve directly.

11. In view of the aforesaid observations and findings, the writ petition as being devoid of any merit is accordingly dismissed. However, it is made clear that we have not made any comment on the merits or otherwise, of the pending application of seeking approval of the CSP of the petitioner-company, which may be decided by the authority concerned on its own merit, in accordance with law.

Union of India & Ors. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to the legality of the rejection of the petitioner's bid by the respondent railway authorities on the ground that the Bank Guarantee furnished by the petitioner contained an incorrect name of the beneficiary, when the said defect was curable.

Headnotes

Railways – Tender – Bank Guarantee – Rejection of bid on ground of incorrect name of beneficiary – Curable defect – Procedural fairness – Petitioner, a Government enterprise, challenged the rejection of its bid by the respondent railway authorities – On an earlier occasion, petitioner's bid had been rejected without any reason – Upon intervention of the Court, respondents disclosed the reason for rejection as non-payment of adequate stamp duty on the Bank Guarantee – Court found the deficiency in stamp duty to be a curable defect and permitted petitioner to make good the deficiency – Petitioner accordingly furnished an adequately stamped Bank Guarantee – Respondents thereafter returned the Bank Guarantee on the ground that the name of the beneficiary was incorrect, although such objection had not been raised in the earlier round – Petitioner once again submitted the Bank Guarantee in the name of the correct beneficiary on 19.06.2026 – Same was again returned on the ground that the Bank Guarantee had been submitted belatedly – Justification:

Held : All the defects which had been pointed out by the authorities were curable defects and such defects could have been pointed out at much earlier stage – thus, the rejection was clearly in gross violation of principles of natural justice and against the established principles of law – Issuance of a Bank Guarantee in an incorrect name has been found to be a curable defect, which can be remedied even during the currency of the contract, not to talk during the bidding period – Railways being a 'State instrumentality' needs to function uniformly and fairly – As a model employer they cannot choose to play hide and seek – Acts of the respondent railway authorities in not permitting the petitioner to participate in the financial bid were illegal and without any force of law – Impugned letter dated 08.06.2026 quashed and set aside – Respondent No.2 directed to evaluate the financial bid of the petitioner after accepting the corrected beneficiary's name in the Bank Guarantee and thereafter proceed further in the tender process.[Paras 8-11] (E-5)

1. Heard Sri Sudeep Seth, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Alok Kumar Singh and Sri Kazim Ibrahim, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned counsel appearing on behalf of the Respondent No.1 to3 (North Eastern Railways, Gorakhpur) and Ms. Aishwarya Shukla, learned counsel for the respondent no. 5 (M/s. Rail Vikas NigamLtd.).

2. This is a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, wherein the writ petitioner has sought for the following substantial reliefs:-

"i. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned letter dated 08.06.2026, styled as "Rejection and non-opening of financial bid due to technical/legal consideration"(see Annexure No. 1-as communicated to the Petitioner via WhatsApp on 08/06/2026);

ii. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the Respondent No. 2 to evaluate the Financial Bid of the Petitioner (Annexure No. 18; Page 211), in compliance of the order dated 29.05.2026 of this Hon'ble Court, passed in Writ C No. 5810 of 2026;

iii. Issue, in view of the law as clarified by order dated 29.05.2026 of this Hon'ble Court, passed in Writ CNo. 5810 of 2026, a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the Respondent No. 2 to accept the amended Bank Guarantee, dated 18.06.2026, submitted by the Petitioner after removal of the curable defect as pointed out in impugned letter dated 08.06.2026;

iv. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the Respondent No. 2 to proceed further tender process including declaration, execution and issuance of work order, or taking of any other consequential action in the tender process."

3. Learned Senior counsel for the petitioner has submitted that in spite of orders of this Court, which were passed on various occasions and finally on May 29, 2026 in the earlier round of litigation relating to the present tender in question, the authorities have acted malafidely and has now sought to reject the bid of the petitioner on a rather uncanny manner and on an absolutely new ground that the name of the beneficiary in the bank guarantee is incorrect.

4. It is to be noted that the petitioner, which is a Government enterprise, had been off and on being forced to knock the doors of this court complaining procedural unfairness against the respondent railway authorities in the tendering process of providing Design, Supply, Erection, Testing & Commissioning of Traction Sub Stations with associated Switching Posts for 2x25 KV AT traction feeding system in Gorakhpur Cant.-Chapra Gramin section of Varanasi Division of North Eastern Railway for capacity upgradation work of electric traction power supply installations , on EPC Mode at an estimated cost of INR 262.12 Crores.

5. Apparently, the petitioner filed a writ petition on earlier occasion challenging that their bid had been rejected without any reason. However, subsequently, when this Court intervened, the contesting Respondents No.1 to3, sprung with a reason for rejection of the bid of the petitioner on the ground that the bank guarantee provided by the petitioner did not have appropriate amount of stamp duty. The said matter was argued at length and it is surprising at that point, learned counsel for the contesting respondents did not point out that the name of the beneficiary in the said bank guarantee was incorrect. If the same had been pointed out at that relevant time, similar directions would have been given to the petitioner to issue the bank guarantee in the name of a correct beneficiary.

6. Albeit, since there was not even a whisper or an iota of mention relating to the name of the beneficiary as mentioned in the bank guarantee to be incorrect, this Court finding that the ground of non-payment of adequate stamp duty on the said Bank Guarantee, as being agitated by the Respondent railways authorities to be a curable defect, permitted the petitioner to make good the said deficiency within a stipulated time vide an order dated 29.05.2026 passed in WRIT - C No. - 5810 of 2026 (M/S Konkan Railway Corporation Ltd. Thru. Auth. Mr. Om Prakash Verma Vs.Union Of India Thru. General Manager (N.E.R.) Gorakhpur U.P. And 5 Others); which also held as follows:

"10. In any case, the above reason, namely that adequate stamp duty had not been paid in accordance with the U.P. Stamp Act, in our view, is at the most a lacuna and a curable defect which could have been sought to be cured by the authority concerned. It is further to be noted, as pointed out by Sri Sudeep Seth, learned Senior Advocate appearing on behalf of the petitioner, that in the past, for another tender, a similar bank guarantee of Rs.500/- had been accepted and the financial bid of the petitioner had been opened, wherein the petitioner had been declared L-3. These documents are annexed at Page Nos.159 and 163 of the supplementary affidavit.

11. In light of the above, it appears that the action of the authorities is mala fide and is merely an attempt to eliminate the petitioner, who has submitted the lowest financial bid.

12. As regards the contention of the learned counsel for the respondents that financial bid had been opened, it has to be understood that it is well settled that a bidder, even if declared the highest bidder, does not for that reason alone obtain an indefeasible right to insist upon award of the contract. Until the process matures into a concluded contractual relationship in accordance with the governing tender conditions, the bidder's position remains provisional. The Supreme Court in Meerut Development Authority v. Assn. of Management Studies reported in (2009) 6 SCC 171 has held that State or authority under Article 12 of the Constitution of India is not bound to accept bid of L1 bidder, but is only bound to act without arbitrariness and favouristism. The relevant paragraphs of the aforesaid judgment are delineated below:-

"27. The bidders participating in the tender process have no other right except the right to equality and fair treatment in the matter of evaluation of competitive bids offered by interested persons in response to notice inviting tenders in a transparent manner and free from hidden agenda. One cannot challenge the terms and conditions of the tender except on the abovestated ground, the reason being the terms of the invitation to tender are in the realm of the contract. No bidder is entitled as a matter of right to insist the authority inviting tenders to enter into further negotiations unless the terms and conditions of notice so provided for such negotiations.

29. The Authority has the right not to accept the highest bid and even to prefer a tender other than the highest bidder, if there exist good and sufficient reasons, such as, the highest bid not representing the market price but there cannot be any doubt that the Authority's action in accepting or refusing the bid must be free from arbitrariness or favouritism."”

7. Upon perusal of the record, it appears that the adequately stamped bank guarantee was duly provided by the petitioner as directed by this Court vide its order dated 29.05.2026 passed in M/S Konkan Railway Corporation Ltd. (Supra). However, surprisingly, the said bank guarantee came to be returned to the petitioner on 08.06.2026 stating that it was in the name of incorrect beneficiary. Admittedly, the petitioner once again submitted the bank guarantee in the name of correct beneficiary on 19.06.2026 but again the same was returned to the petitioner on the ground that the bank guarantee had been submitted belatedly.

8. From the scrutiny of the documents and the manners in which the respondent- authorities are approaching this particular tender, it appears to this Court that they are fixated to not allow the petitioner to participate in the tender on one ground or the other. All the defects, which had been pointed out by the authorities are curable defects and such defects could have been pointed out at much earlier stage. In our view, the ground/certain defects for rejecting the tender of the petitioner are curable and thus, the rejection is clearly in gross violation of principles of natural justice and against the established principles of law.

9. We have already dealt the same issue in our judgment dated May 29, 2026 relying on several judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. On the earlier occasion, we have also observed that the discriminatory acts of the respondent-authorities were malafide and was merely an attempt to eliminate the petitioner, who had submitted a lowest financial bid. The said reasoning of this Court applies with equal force to the issue being raised in the present writ petition. Further, the findings stand vindicated from the fact that own showing of the respondent-authorities, the issuance of a Bank Guarantee in an incorrect name has been found to be a curable defect, which can be remedied even during the currency of the contract, not to talk during the bidding period. We find that the Southern Railway, Chennai an arm of the present contesting respondents (North Eastern Railways, Gorakhpur), when faced with an identical situation for a work of similar nature awarded, permitted the present petitioner to carry the necessary correction in the name of the beneficiary in a Bank Guarantee. The said letter dated 09.03.2026 issued by the Southern Railways to the petitioner would show that after the issuance of LOA dated 29.01.2026 i.e after the bidding culminated and the Bank Guarantee was provided by the petitioner on 07.02.2026, the southern railways returned the said Bank guarantee by the said letter requiring the petitioner to carry necessary correction relating to the name of the beneficiary in that Tender. The said letter has been filed by the petitioner and the same is being referred in the present order for the simple reason to show the admitted position that the railways have themselves acknowledged that said corrections in the name of the beneficiary of Bank Guarantee to be a curable defect. The scanned copy of the said letter is as follows:-

10. Having considered the facts and circumstances, we are rather amused as to how there can be a two different yard-stick for two arms of the same organization. We need not burden this judgment with the law on the subject that the railways being a state instrumentality needs to function uniformly and fairly. The acts of the respondent North Eastern Railways Authorities besides being arbitrary smacks of malafide and are whimsical. They ought to have spelt the inaccuracy in the name of the beneficiary of the Bank guarantee in the very first instance. As a model employer they cannot chose to play hide and seek. Apparently, the acts are nothing short of harassment, which is not permissible under any law. It seems the respondent authorities are hell-bent to oust the legitimate participation of the petitioner in the tendering process for obvious reasons, which cannot be permitted in any circumstances.

11. In light of the same, we are once again constrained to hold that the acts and omissions of the Respondent railway authorities in not permitting the petitioner to participate in the financial bid to be illegal and without any force of law. Consequently, the impugned letter dated 08.06.2026 is hereby quashed and set-aside and the Respondent No.2 is directed to evaluate the Financial bid of the petitioner in compliance of our order dated 29.05.2026 in M/S Konkan Railway Corporation Ltd. Thru. Auth. Mr. Om Prakash Verma (Supra), after accepting the corrected beneficiary's name in the Bank guarantee within a period of three working days from today and accordingly thereafter proceed further in the tender process.

12. With the above direction, the writ petition is disposed of.

1. Heard Mr. Sunil Kumar Mishra, learned Counsel for the petitioners in both the aforementioned writ petitions, Mr. Ashish Kumar Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Birendra Kumar, learned Counsel for the private respondent no.4 in Writ B No. 11407 of 1983 as well as private respondent no.1 in Writ B No. 6580 of 1986 and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. Common question of law and facts are involved in both the aforementioned writ petition, as such, both the writ petitions are clubbed and heard together.

3. Brief facts of the case are that disputed property in Writ B No. 11407 of 1983 is khata no. 96 situated in Village Rasauli, Tehsil- Meja, District Allahabad now Prayagraj. Disputed property in Writ B No. 6580 of 1986 are khata nos. 123, 84, 364, 365 of Village Jawania, Pargana Khairagarh, Tehsil- Meja, District Allahabad now Prayagraj, Khata no. 98 of Village Keshavpatti, Pargana- Khairagarh, Tehsil- Meja, District Allahabad now Prayagraj, khata no. 108 of Vilalge- Atawaria, Pargana- Khairagarh, Tehsil Meja, District Allahabad now Prayagraj. In the basic year of consolidation operation, khata no. 96 was recorded in the name of Ram Kripal son of Balbhaddar, Ramji adopted son of Murlidhar, Paras Nath son of Sheo Naik and ram Kishore son of Sheo Naik, Khata no. 84, 364, 365 were recorded in the name of Ramji as adopted son of Murlidhar, khata no. 123 was recorded in the name of Mahadeo, khata no. 108 was recorded in the name of Ram Kripal and others, khata no. 98 was recorded in the name of Ramji as adopted son of Murlidhar. In respect to basic year entry of khata no. 96, an objection under Section 9A (2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 hereinafter referred to as U.P.C.H. Act was filed by Ram Kripal with the allegation that Murlidhar has died issueless and his share was inherited by his widow Smt. Moti Rani but after the death of Smt. Moti Rani, the name of Rami was wrongly recorded as adopted son of Murlidhar, as such, his name should be expunged. According to Ramji, he was adopted by Smt. Moti Rani vide adoption deed dated 2.8.1960, as such, inherited the share of Murlidhar over khata no. 96. Consolidation Officer vide order dated 20.10.1973 rejected the objection filed by Ram Kripal and allowed the claim of Ramji holding that Ramji is adopted son of Murlidhar and Smt. Moti Rani. Appeal filed by Ram Kripal against the order dated 20.10.1973 was dismissed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide order dated 29.12.1973. Revision under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act filed by Ram Kripal was allowed by Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 22.5.1974 holding that Ramji is not adopted son of

Against the revisional order dated 22.5.1974, writ petition no. 3315 of 1974 was filed by Ramji which was allowed vide judgement dated 30.1.1981 setting aside the revisional order dated 22.5.1974 and matter was remanded back before revisional Court to decide the revision afresh. In pursuance of the judgement of this Court dated 30.1.1981, the revision was heard afresh and the same was dismissed vide order dated 9.9.1983. Hence Writ B No. 11407 of 1983 in respect to khata no. 96 of Village Rasauli has been filed for the following reliefs:-

"(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing and setting aside the order of the Joint Director of Consolidation dated 9.9.1983, that of the Settlement Officer of Consolidation dated 29.12.1973 and the order dated 20.10.1973, passed by the Consolidation Officer.

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of writ as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case.

(iii) Stay meanwhile the dispossession of the petitioner from the disputed plots in pursuance of the order dated 9.9.1983 passed by the Joint Director of Consolidation Allahabad."

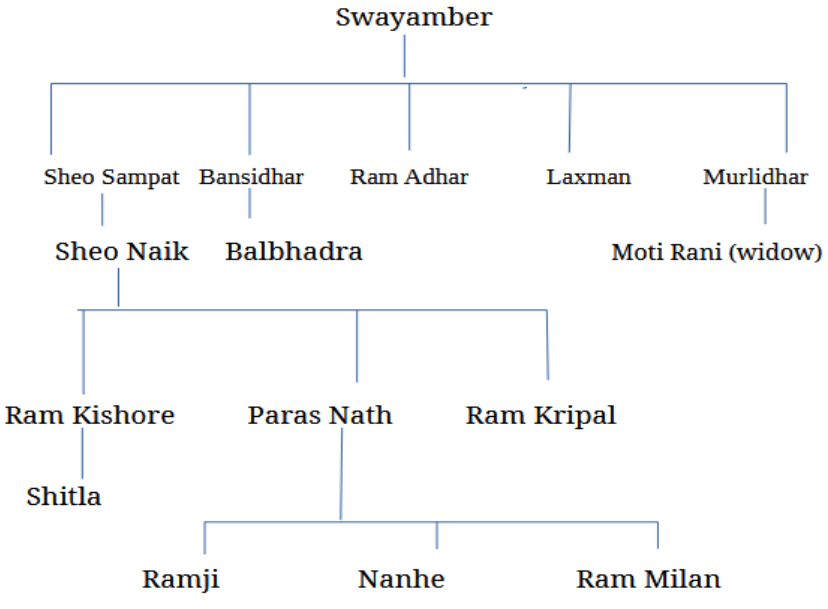
4. In respect to the dispute of khata no. 123 of Vilalge Jawania and khata no. 108 of Village Atawaria, Ramji filed objection under Section 9A (2) of U.P.C.H. Act with the allegation that aforementioned khata are ancestral, as such, his name should be recorded as co-sharer being adopted son of Moti Rani. Consolidation Officer vide order dated 13.12.1983 held that name of Ramji be entered over khata no. 123 of Village Jawania and khata no. 108 of Village Atawaria as a co-sharer. Appeal under Section 11 (1) of U.P.C.H. Act filed by Ram Kripal against the order of Consolidation Officer was heard and dismissed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide order dated 12.12.1984 holding that Ramji is adopted son of Murlidhar. Ram Kripal filed a revision under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act before Deputy Director of Consolidation which was heard and dismissed by Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 8.4.1986. Hence Writ B No. 6580 of 1986 has been filed by Ram Kripal in respect to khata no. 123 etc. of Village Jawania khata no. 98 of Village- Keshavpatti and khata no. 108 of Village-Atawaria for the following relief:-

"A writ in the nature of certiorari setting aside and quashing the orders dated 13.12.1983 passed by Consolidation Officer dated 12.12.1984 passed by the learned S.O.C. and dated 3.4.1986 passed by the learned D.D.C. Allahabad and further."

5. This Court admitted the Writ B No. 11407 of 1983 on 20.9.1983 and issued notice to the respondents.

6. Writ B No. 6580 of 1986 was admitted on 24.7.1986 and operation of the impugned orders were stayed as well as dispossession of the petitioner from the land in dispute was stayed but after hearing the Counsel for the parties, the ex-parte interim dated 24.7.1986 was vacated by this Court on 16.12.1987.

7. Learned Counsel for the petitioner submitted that adoption deed set up by Ramji cannot be relied upon as requirement of Section 16 of Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act 1956 were not fulfilled. He further submitted that lacuna in the adoption deed cannot be removed by examining the independent witnesses. He submitted that consolidation authorities have failed to discharge their jurisdiction in proper manner, as such, impugned orders passed in both the writ petition should be set aside. He further submitted that the remand order passed by this Court in writ petition no. 3315 of 1974 has not been taken into consideration in proper manner by the revisional Court. He further submitted that after death of Murlidhar, name of his widow Smt. Moti Rani was recorded in the place of Murlidhar, as such, adoption deed set up by Ramji cannot be taken into consideration. He submitted that both the writ petitions should be allowed on the ground set up in the respective writ petitions and claim of Ramji on the basis of adoption deed alleged to be executed on 2.8.1960 should be rejected.



8. On the other hand, learned Counsel for the contesting respondent- Ramji in both the aforementioned writ petitions submitted that all the three consolidation authorities in both the aforementioned writ petitions have concurrently held that adoption deed dated 2.8.1960 was properly executed in favour of Ramji, as such, Ramji is entitled to be recorded over the khata in dispute on the basis of adoption as adopted son of Smt. Moti Rani. He further submitted that this Court while allowing the Writ B No. 3315 of 1974 filed by Ramji as adopted son of Murlidhar has remanded the matter before Deputy Director of Consolidation to decide the revision afresh in the light of the observation made in the body of the judgement. He submitted that Deputy Director of Consolidation in pursuance of the judgement of this Court dated 30.6.1981 has dismissed the revision holding that adoption deed was properly executed in favour of Ramji, as such, Ramji is entitled to inherit as adoption son of Murlidhar. He submitted that in view of the categorical finding of fact recorded by all the consolidation authorities, there is no scope for interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

9. I have considered the arguments advanced by learned Counsel for the parties and perused the records.

10. There is no dispute about the fact that Consolidation Officer, Settlement Officer of Consolidation and Deputy Director of Consolidation in both the aforementioned writ petition have held that Ramji is adopted son of Murlidhar and Smt. Moti Rani and Ramji is entitled to inherit as adopted son of Murlidhar and Smt. Moti Rani.

11. In order to appreciate the controversy involved in the matter, the perusal of family pedigree as mentioned in paragraph no.4 of Writ B No. 6580 of 1986 will be relevant which is as under:-

Pedigree

12. The perusal of all the issues framed before the Consolidation Officer in respect to khata no. 96 of Village Rasauli will be relevant which is as under:-

"१- क्या राम जी का नाम खाता 96 में गोदनामा के आधार पर फरजी दर्ज है।

२- क्या राम जी का गोदनामा फरजी है।

३- क्या राम जी पुत्र पारसनाथ का नाम खाता नम्बर 96 में फरजी दर्ज है।"

13. Consolidation Officer on the basis of evidence adduced by the parties has held that objection of Ram Kripa with respect to khata no. 96 cannot be allowed as Ramji is adopted son of Murlidhar on the basis of adoption deed dated 2.8.1960. The order of Consolidation Officer was maintained in appeal but by the earlier revisional order, the order passed by Consolidation Officer and Settlement Officer of Consolidation were set aside accordingly this Court allowed the writ petition filed by Ramji setting aside the revisional order and matter was remitted back before revisional Court with direction that revisional Court cannot reverse the finding recorded by the subordinate authorities on irrelevant consideration. In pursuance of the order of this Court, Deputy Director of Consolidation has dismissed the revision recording finding that adoption deed set up by Ramji is fully proved and Ramji will be treated as adopted son of Murlidhar.

14. Perusal of the operative portion of judgement of this Court dated 30.1.1981 passed in Writ B No. 3315 of 1974 by which revisional Court was directed to decide the revision afresh, will be necessary which is as under:-

"In view of what has been discussed above the order of the Deputy Director of Consolidation cannot be sustained in law and deserves to be quashed as it is based on certain irrelevant considerations and ignoring the relevant evidence on record which were relied upon by the subordinate consolidation authorities. See Suraj Rai and Others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and Others (civil misc. writ petition no. 1753 of 1976 decided on 21.12.1976), (civil misc. writ petition no. 1753 of 1976 decided on 21.12.1976).

In the result, the petition succeeds and is accordingly allowed. The order of the Deputy Director of Consolidation dated 22.5.1974 is quashed and the Deputy Director of Consolidation is directed to decide the revision a fresh according to law and in the light of the observation made above. The parties shall, however, hear their own costs.
Dated/ January 30, 1981
Shyam Behari."

15. Perusal of the relevant portion of the revisional order dated 9.9.1983 passed in pursuance of the judgement of this Court will also be necessary which is as under:-

"4- माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के निर्णय के अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने यह निर्देश दिया है कि चूंकि आपत्तिकर्ता के रामजी को मुरलीधर का दत्तक पुत्र दिखलाया गया है, अतः जिसकी मान्यता है कि गोद लेने की रस्म की गई थी पर यह विपक्षी को साबित करने का अधिकार प्राप्त है कि यह साक्ष्यों के आधार पर यह सिद्ध करे कि गोद लेने की रस्म नहीं हुई थी। कहने का तात्पर्य यह है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के निर्णय के अनुसार जब तक रामकृपाल आदि विश्वसनीय प्रमाण के आधार पर यह सिद्ध नहीं करते कि रामजी को नियमानुसार गोद नहीं लिया गया था, तब तक यह बात स्वीकार की जावे कि रामजी मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र हैं। माननीय न्यायालय ने एक विविध प्रश्न भी निर्णय हेतु खुला छोड़ दिया है। यह वह है कि हिन्दू एडॉप्शन एंड मेंटेनेंस एक्ट की धारा 12 के अनुसार रामजी, जिनको मु० मोती रानी ने अपने पति मुरलीधर की मृत्यु के पश्चात गोद लिया कहते हैं, केवल मु० मोती रानी के दत्तक पुत्र माने जाएँगे और इस प्रकार मुरलीधर की संपत्ति जो वरासतन मु० मोती रानी को मिली थी, में कोई अधिकार प्राप्त नहीं होगा अथवा जब मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र माने जाएँगे और इस हैसियत से उन्हें मुरलीधर की संपत्ति में पूर्ण अधिकार प्राप्त होगा।

प्रश्न है, वह मु० मोती रानी के ग्राम का नहीं है, अपितु इस ग्राम में अपना ननिहाल बताया है पर अपने बयान में इसने उस ग्राम के विषय में अपनी जानकारी के लिए अपने को अनभिज्ञता प्रकट की। विजयानंद के बयान के प्रतिलिपि पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध है, जिसके अवलोकन से स्पष्ट होता है कि उसे रसोली ग्राम के संबंध में कोई खास जानकारी नहीं है। इसके अलावा रामकृपाल के बयान की प्रतिलिपि भी उपलब्ध है। रामकृपाल स्वयं एक पक्ष है, अतः इनके बयान के गोद की रस्म होने अथवा न होने के लिए स्वतः साक्ष्य नहीं कहा जा सकता, अपितु इस प्रकार इस पर विश्वास करने के लिए स्वतंत्र साक्ष्य की आवश्यकता होगी। इन्होंने अपने बयान में यह स्वीकार किया है कि गोदनामा के विषय में रामजी और इनके माध्यम में मुकदमा तहसीलदार लेविल तक चला था और अंततोगत्वा राजस्व परिषद तक गया। तहसीलदार के न्यायालय से रामजी को मुरलीधर का दत्तक पुत्र स्वीकार किया गया था। रामकृपाल की ओर से अन्य कोई गवाह नहीं प्रस्तुत किया गया है जो यह कहे कि मोती राम ने रामजी को गोद नहीं लिया था। जैसा ऊपर कहा गया है, माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के समीक्षण के अनुसार यह रामकृपाल का दायित्व था कि वह यह साबित करे कि मु० मोती रानी ने रामजी को गोद नहीं लिया था। माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने यह भी समीक्षा किया है कि जब तक उपर्युक्त गोद लेने की बात विश्वसनीय साक्ष्य के आधार पर गलत न सिद्ध हो जाए, तब तक इस बात को मान्यता दें कि रामजी मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र हैं। इस संबंध में यह भी उल्लेख है कि रामजी की ओर से गोदनामा प्रस्तुत किया गया तथा रघुवीर एवं श्यामाचरण गोदनामे के गवाहों के बयान भी कराये गए हैं। इतना ही नहीं, स्वयं रामजी एवं इनके जन्मदाता पिता पारसनाथ ने भी शपथपूर्वक बयान कराया गया है। निगरानीकर्ता के विद्वान वकील ने यह तर्क प्रस्तुत किया कि चूंकि गोदनामे में गोद लेने वाले के माता-पिता का हस्ताक्षर नहीं है तथा गोदनामे का रस्म संबंधित उपस्थित व्यक्तियों के नाम नहीं हैं, इसलिए यह नहीं माना जा सकता कि वैधानिक ढंग से गोदनामा हुआ है। अपने बयान की पुष्टि में विद्वान वकील ने ए.आई.आर. 1980 सुप्रीम कोर्ट के पृष्ठ 1254 पर छपी माननीय उच्च न्यायालय की व्यवस्था की ओर इंगित किया। इस व्यवस्था को पढ़ने से यह प्रकट होता है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के सम्मुख जो मामला विचाराधीन था, उसमें प्रमुख बिंदु यह था कि गोद लेने वाला व्यक्ति स्वस्थ बुद्धि का है अथवा नहीं। इस बिंदु पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य का सीमांकन करते हुए माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने यह समीक्षा दिया है कि तत्संबंधित गोदनामा में गोद लेने की वर्ष, तिथि एवं गोद लेने के स्थान पर उल्लेख नहीं है। इसके अतिरिक्त गोदनामे में इस बात का भी उल्लेख नहीं था कि गोद लेते समय कौन-कौन व्यक्ति उपस्थित थे। वर्तमान गोदनामे में गोद लेने की तिथि 2 अगस्त सन 60 अंकित है तथा गोद लेने का स्थान का भी आभास कभी इस गोदनामे में उपलब्ध है कि जिसको कि मु० मोती रानी ने अपने ग्राम में गोद लिया। इसके अलावा गवाहान ने यह स्पष्ट रूप से कहा है कि मोती रानी ने अपने घर पर गोद लिया था, गोद की रस्म सही थी, पूजा-पाठ एवं हवन हुआ था। स्वयं रामजी के जन्मदाता पिता ने इस बातों की पुष्टि अपने ज़बान से किया है। अतः यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा दी गई व्यवस्था के अनुकूल इस मामले में गोद लेने की कार्यवाही की गई है। अतः उपर्युक्त विवेचन के आधार पर मैं इस

मत का हूँ कि रामकृपाल द्वारा ऐसे कोई विश्वसनीय साक्ष्य न ही प्रस्तुत किए गए हैं, जिससे यह विरुद्ध हो सके कि मु० मोती रानी ने रामजी को नियमानुसार गोद नहीं लिया था। प्रस्तुत पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से यह सिद्ध होता है कि मु० मोती रानी ने रामजी को वैधानिक ढंग से गोद लिया था।

6-दूसरा प्रश्न जो विचारणीय है वह यह है कि मु० मोती रानी द्वारा गोद लिए जाने के फलस्वरूप क्या रामजी मु० मोती रानी के मृतक पति मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र जाने जाएँगे तथा रामजी को मुरलीधर की संपत्ति में अधिकार प्राप्त होगा? इस संबंध में निगरानीकर्ता के विद्वान वकील की यह तर्क है कि हिन्दू एडॉप्शन एंड मेंटेनेंस एक्ट की धारा 12 एवं 14 के अनुसार रामजी केवल मु० मोती रानी के दत्तक पुत्र माने जाएँगे तथा मु० मोती रानी के मृतक पति मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र नहीं माने जाएँगे और इस प्रकार रामजी विवादित भूमि के स्वामी नहीं हो सकते। अग्रतर यह भी कहा गया है चूंकि विवादित भूमि मु० मोती रानी को उनके पति की मृत्यु के बाद वरासत में मिली थी, अतः रामजी विवादित भूमि के स्वामी नहीं हो सकते। रामजी के विद्वान वकील ने इस तर्क का खंडन करते हुए यह कहा कि धारा 12 एवं 14 के इस प्रकार का कोई उल्लेख नहीं है कि पति के मृत्यु के बाद यदि पत्नी किसी लड़के को गोद लेती है तो वह लड़का केवल उस महिला का दत्तक पुत्र होगा और उसके मृतक पति का दत्तक पुत्र नहीं होगा। इसके विपरीत रामजी के विद्वान वकील ने यह तर्क दिया कि कानून का सुनिश्चित मत यह है कि पति की मृत्यु के बाद यदि पत्नी किसी को गोद लेती है तो गोद में लिए गए संतान उसके मृतक पति का भी दत्तक संतान माना जावेगा। अपने बयान की पुष्टि में विद्वान वकील ने आर.डी. 1966 पृष्ठ 255 पर प्रकाशित माननीय उच्च न्यायालय की व्यवस्था की ओर इंगित किया, जिसके अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि पति की मृत्यु के बाद पत्नी द्वारा गोद लिया गया पुत्र उसके मृतक पति का दत्तक पुत्र होगा इसी आशय की उच्च न्यायालय की व्यवस्था ए आई आर 1967 सुप्रीम कोर्ट के पृष्ठ 1781 पर छपी है। ऐसी परिस्थितियों में यह सिद्ध हो जाता है कि राम जी मु० मोती रानी मृतक पति मुरलीधर का दत्तक पुत्र है।

7-उपर्युक्त समीक्षा से यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि राम कृपाल यह सिद्ध करने में असफल रहे कि मु० मोती रानी ने राम जी की गोद नहीं लिया था, अपितु इस तथ्य को साबित करने के लिए पत्रावली पर पर्याप्त साक्ष्य उपलब्ध है कि मु० मोती रानी ने राम जी को वैधानिक ढंग से गोद लिया था। राम कृपाल की उपर्युक्त असफलता के कारण माननीय उच्च न्यायालय की समीक्षा के अनुसार मु० मोती रानी द्वारा राम जी को गोद लेने का तथ्य स्वयं सिद्ध हो जाता है क्योंकि आधार वर्ष की खतौनी में इस प्रकार का उल्लेख होने के कारण मु० मोती रानी व राम जी को गोद लिए जाने का मान्यता प्राप्त है। जहां तक इस प्रश्न का संबंध है कि राम जी वर्णित परिस्थितियों में मुरलीधर मृतक पति मु० मोती रानी के दत्तक पुत्र नहीं माने जाएंगे, माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा की गई व्यवस्था जिसका ऊपर उल्लेख किया गया है के अनुसार राम जी मुरलीधर के दत्तक पुत्र हैं। अतः अधीनस्थ न्यायालय के राम जी को मुरलीधर का दत्तक पुत्र स्वीकार करते हुए मुरलीधर का वैधानिक उत्तराधिकार मानकर कोई गलती नहीं ही है। उपर्युक्त कारणों से राम कृपाल की निगरानी में कोई बल नहीं पाकर उसे निर्णित किया जाता है।

16. Perusal of the earlier judgement of this Court dated 30.1.1981 and impugned revisional order dated 9.9.1983 as quoted above fully demonstrate that adoption deed dated 2.8.1960 is fully proved and Ramji was rightly recorded as adopted son of late Murlidhar as Smt. Moti Rani widow of Murlidhar has adopted the Ramji on 2.8.1960. Perusal of the impugned revisional order further demonstrate that before consolidation operation in the mutation proceeding, the Ramji was found as adopted son of late Murlidhar on the basis of adoption deed executed on 2.8.1960. The provision of Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act 1956 was also taken into consideration by the consolidation authorities in holding that Ramji was adopted by Smt. Moti Rani widow of Murlidhar on 2.8.1960, as such, Ramji will inherit the share of Murlidhar.

17. This Court in the case reported in 1966 RD 255 Subhash Misir U/G of Sri Janardan Tewari Vs. Thagai Misir has held that the son adopted by widow after the death of husband will be treated to be adopted son of husband also. Paragraph nos. 9 to 13 of the judgement rendered in Subhash Misir (Supra) will be relevant for perusal which is as under:-

"9. It is true that if the amendment suggested by the Writer is introduced, well and good. Even in absence of such an amendment, in my opinion, interpreting sections 12 and 14 one could safely hold that in cases covered by the suggested amendment at 14(6) the adopted son would be deemed to be the son of the deceased husband of the widow. It would be very harsh if in such a case the adopted son who severs all his connections from the family of his birth does not get anything in the adoptive family on the ground that he is adopted by the widow.

10. In Madras even before the Act under the old Hindu Law a widow could adopt without the permission of her husband and the various authorities of the Madras High Court would show that such adopted son was always treated as the son of the husband of the widow. In my opinion, the same status should be given to the adopted son after the passing of the Act in other provinces as well. In 'Introduction to Modern Hindu Law' by J. Duncan M. Derret we find in paragraph 180 of that book that the learned author after dealing with Sections 12 and 14 of the Act has opined that for the purposes of inheritance and maintenance an adopted child is precisely upon the same footing as a legitimate child. According to this view also as soon as the adopted son of the widow is held to be the legitimats son the widow's husband would be deemed to be the father of the adopted child.

11. For the reasons given above my conclusion is that the adopted son of a widow would be deemed to be the son of her husband and on her death would inherit the bhumidhari property as the heir of her husband by virtue of Sections 171 and 172 of the U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act.

12. The lower appellate court erred in holding that the appellant did not succeed to the bhumidhari property left by Smt. Sahebzadi. Having accepted the adoption he should have decreed the suit.

13. The result of my findings is that plaintiff gets the property left by Smt. Sahebzadi and since there is a finding or the lower appellate court that the defendant is neither sirdar nor adhivasi nor an asami. The131 possession, if any, of the defendant is that of a trespasser and he is liable to ejectment. Accordingly this appeal succeeds. The plaintiff's suit for declaration that he is the Bhumidhari of the plots in suit and for possession is decreed with costs throughout.

18. Apex Court in another case reported in AIR 1967 SC 1761 Sawan Ram Vs. Mst. Kalawanti and Others has considered the scope of Section 12 of Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act 1956. Paragraph no.9 of the judgement rendered in Sawan Ram (Supra) will be relevant for perusal which is as under:-

"It may, however, be mentioned that the conclusion which we have arrived at does not indicate that the ultimate decision given by the Andhra Pradesh High Court was in any way incorrect. As we have mentioned earlier, the question in that case as whether E, after the adoption by D, the widow of B, could divest C of the rights which had already vested in C before the adoption. It is significant that by the year 1936 C was the sole male member of ,the Hindu joint family which owned the disputed property. B died in the year 1924 and A died in 1936. By that time, the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act had not been enacted and, consequently, C, as the sole male survivor of the family became full owner of that property. In these circumstances, it was clear that after, the adoption of E by D, E could not divest C of the rights already vested in him in view of the special provision contained in clause (c) of the proviso to s. 12 of the Act. It appears that, by making such a provision, the Act has narrowed down the rights of an adopted child as compared with the rights of a child born posthumously. Under the Shastric law, if a child was adopted by a widow, he was treated as a natural-born child and, consequently, he could divest other members of the family of rights vested in them prior to his adoption. It was only with the limited object of avoiding any such consequence on the adoption of a child by a Hindu widow that these provisions in clause (c) of the proviso to s. 12, and section 13 of the Act were incorporated. In that respect, the rights of the adopted child were restricted. It is to be noted that this restriction was placed on the rights of a child adopted by either a male Hindu or a female Hindu and not merely in a case of adoption by a female Hindu. This restriction on the rights of the adopted child cannot, therefore, in our opinion, lead to any inference that a child adopted by a widow will not be deemed to be the adopted son of her deceased husband. The second ground taken on behalf of the appellant also, therefore, fails. The appeal is, consequently, dismissed with costs."

19. Considering the ratio of law laid down by Apex Court and this Court, there is no illegality in the exercise of jurisdiction by the consolidation authorities in holding that Ramji will inherit as adopted son of Smt. Moti Rani and Murlidhar.

20. In respect to plots situated in Village- Jawania, Keshavpatti and Atawaria, all the three consolidation authorities have concurrently held that Ramji was adopted by Smt. Moti Rani vide adoption deed dated 2.8.1960, as such, Ramji will inherit the share of Murlidhar which is proper exercise of jurisdiction by consolidation authorities.

21. Considering the categorical finding of fact recorded by all the consolidation authorities in both the writ petition, there is no further scope for interference by this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India against the impugned orders passed by consolidation authorities.

22. Both the writ petitions are dismissed accordingly.

23. No order as to costs.

Case Arising From

Impugned orders dated 09.01.2026 and 06.01.2026 passed by the respondent No. 3.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner : Mohammed Iftekhar Farooqui, Jeeshan Ahmed Siddiqui.
Advs. for the Respondents : A.C.S.C., Rajan Sharma.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth Nandan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mohammed Iftekhar Farooqui along with Sri Jeeshan Ahmed Siddiqui, learned counsel for the petitioner; learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel; and Sri Rajan Sharma, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. The present writ petition has been filed with the following prayer:-

"i) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari Quashing the impugned order dated 09.01.2026 (Letter No.159/E.C.-2/2026) contained as (Annexure No.2) and the impugned order dated 06/01/2026 issued by Respondent No.3, whereby Petitioner No.1' and petitioner No.2 maternity leave application was rejected

ii) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondents to immediately sanction and grant maternity leave to Petitioner No.1 for 180 days from 19.01.2026 to 17.07.2026 and Petitioner No.2 for 180 days from 21.01.2026 to 20.07.2026, in accordance with law, along with all consequential service benefits admissible under law as if they were in continuous service during the said period."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the petitioners' claim for the grant of maternity leave has been rejected on the basis of the Government Order dated 08.12.2008, which is contrary to the provisions of The Code on Social Security, 2020 (hereinafter referred to as the Code, 2020"). He further submits that the rejection of the claim on the basis of the said Government Order, which provides that a second spell of maternity leave cannot be granted within a period of two years from the date of the last maternity leave availed, is patently illegal.

4. Since the question regarding the applicability of the Code, 2020, and the ground raised by the petitioners are purely legal in nature, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel states that he does not propose to file a counter affidavit and is prepared to address the legal issue. Accordingly, with the consent of the parties, the present writ petition is being decided at the admission stage itself.

Facts

5. The present writ petition has been filed by the two petitioners, who claim an identical cause of action, namely, the rejection of their applications for the grant of benefits under the Code, 2020, on the basis of the Government Order dated 08.12.2008.

6. As far as petitioner No. 1 is concerned, she is working as a regularly appointed Staff Nurse/Nursing Officer under the Department of Medical Education, Government of Uttar Pradesh. She was earlier granted 180 days' maternity leave from 29.01.2024 to 27.07.2024 by Office Order dated 12.02.2024. Thereafter, she again conceived and became pregnant with her second male child, whose expected date of delivery was 12.01.2026. Accordingly, she submitted an application dated 05.01.2026 seeking the grant of maternity leave from 19.01.2026 to 17.07.2026 (180 days). The said application has been rejected by the impugned order dated 09.01.2026 issued by respondent No. 3, solely on the ground that two years had not elapsed since the grant of the earlier spell of maternity leave, relying upon the Government Order dated 08.12.2008 and Rule 153(1) of the U.P. Financial Handbook applicable to the Department of Medical Education.

7. As far as petitioner No. 2 is concerned, she is also working as a regularly appointed Staff Nurse/Nursing Officer under the Department of Medical Education, Government of Uttar Pradesh. She was granted 180 days' maternity leave from 15.01.2024 to 12.07.2024 by Office Order dated 27.01.2024. Thereafter, she again became pregnant for the second time and submitted an application dated 24.12.2025, seeking the grant of maternity leave for 180 days with effect from 21.01.2026. However, the said application was also rejected by respondent No. 3 vide order dated 06.01.2026, relying upon the Government Order dated 08.12.2008.

Issue

8. The question that arises for consideration is whether Rule 153(1) of Chapter XIII of the U.P. Fundamental Rules contained in Financial Handbook, Volume II, Parts 2 to 4, is applicable to a regular Government servant, or whether, in the event of any inconsistency between the said Rule and the provisions of the Code, 2020, being a Central enactment, would prevail and govern the field under the constitutional scheme.

Petitioners Argument

9. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioners is that, in furtherance of the mandate contained in Article 42 of the Constitution of India, the Parliament enacted the Code, 2020. On the other hand, the provisions contained in the Financial Handbook, Volume II, Parts 2 to 4 were framed by the Governor in exercise of the powers conferred under Section 241(2)(b) of the Government of India Act, 1935, and continue to be applicable by virtue of Article 313 of the Constitution of India. He submits that the provisions of the Financial Handbook, at best, have the status of executive instructions and, therefore, must yield to the provisions of the Code, 2020. For ready reference Article 42 of the Constitution of India is reproduced herein below:-

"42. Provision for just and humane conditions of work and maternity relief.

The State shall make provision for securing just and humane conditions of work and for maternity relief."

10. He further submits that Section 161 of the Code, 2020, categorically provides that the provisions of the said Code shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law, whether made before or after the coming into force of the Code, 2020. For ready reference Section 161 of the Code, 2020 is reproduced below:-

"161. Effect of laws and agreements inconsistent with this Code. (1) The provisions of this Code shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force, or in the terms of any award, agreement or contract of service, whether made before or after the coming into force of this Code:*

Provided that where under any such award, agreement, contract of service or otherwise, a person is entitled to benefits in respect of any matter which are more favourable to him than those to which he would be entitled under this Code, the person shall continue to be entitled to the more favourable benefits in respect of that matter, notwithstanding that he is entitled to receive benefits in respect of other matters under this Code.

(2) Nothing contained in this Code shall be construed to preclude a person from entering into an agreement with his employer for granting him rights or privileges in respect of any matter which are more favourable to him than those to which he would be entitled under this Code."

11. It is further submitted that the Government of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Orders dated 08.12.2008 and 24.03.2009, earlier adopted the decision of the Central Government along with the modifications made by it. Thereafter, the State Government, vide Government Order dated 11.04.2011, also adopted further modifications. However, the said Government Orders were in reference to The Maternity Benefit Act, 1961; and subsequently in order to simplify and rationalise the relevant provisions, 9 Central Labour enactments relating to social security, the Code, 2020 was enacted on 28th September 2020, with an object to amend and consolidate the laws relating to social security with the goal to extend social security to all employees and workers either in the organised or unorganised or any other sectors and for matters connected thereto. For ready reference, the Government Order dated 11.04.2011 is reproduced below:

12. On the strength of the aforesaid submissions, learned counsel for the petitioners contends that the intent of the State Government is also evident from the Government Order dated 11.04.2011 by way of which the Government Orders dated 08.12.2008 and 24.03.2009 were modified. He submits that, by virtue of the said Government Order, the policy of the Central Government relating to the grant of Maternity Leave and Child Care Leave to its employees has been adopted by the State Government. Consequently, Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook, Volume-II, Part 2 to 4, as well as the Government Order dated 08.12.2008, to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of the Code, 2020, must yield to the said Code.

Respondents Arguments

13. Per contra, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel submits that the claim of the petitioners cannot be allowed in view of Rule 153(1) of Chapter XIII of the U.P. Fundamental Rules contained in the Financial Handbook, Volume-II, Part 2 to 4. In support of his submission, he places reliance upon the judgment of a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Renu Chaudhary v. State of U.P. and Others, wherein, in relation to an employee of an institution established and maintained by the U.P. Basic Education Board, it was held that there is no conflict between the second proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules and the provisions of the erstwhile Act, 1961, as the said Act does not apply to the establishments of the U.P. Basic Education Board or the schools maintained by it.

14. In view of the aforesaid submissions, learned counsel for the respondents prays for dismissal of the aforesaid writ petition.

Consideration

15. Having considered the rival submissions made by the parties, before proceeding to examine the moot question as to whether the provisions of the Code, 2020, would be applicable to the employees of the State Government or whether the Fundamental Rules would govern the field, this Court deems it appropriate to consider the relevant constitutional provisions in the light of the parliamentary enactment and the Fundamental Rules that may be attracted to the facts of the present case.

16. Article 42 of the Constitution of India, as contained in Part IV thereof, provides that the State shall make provisions for securing just and humane conditions of work and for maternity relief. It is, therefore, to be examined whether the provisions contained in the U.P. Fundamental Rules in the Financial Handbook, on the subject of maternity relief, are in consonance with the constitutional mandate embodied in the Directive Principles of State Policy, applicable to the State.

17. The provisions of the Financial Handbook, Volume II, Parts 2 to 4, were framed by the Governor in exercise of the powers conferred under Section 241(2)(b) of the Government of India Act, 1935, and continue to remain in force by virtue of the provisions contained in Article 313 of the Constitution of India. It is no longer res integra that the nature of the said Rules contained in the Financial Handbook is, at best, is that of executive instructions; and by no stretch of imagination, can they be brought within the category of an "enactment" made by the legislature.

18. Further, Article 38 of Part IV of the Constitution of India, as amended by the 44th Amendment in 1978, directs the State to secure a welfare State. It mandates the State to promote the welfare of the people, by ensuring that the social order is informed by social, economic, and political justice; and requires the State to minimize inequalities in income, status, facilities, and opportunities.

19. Thereafter, Article 39 of the Constitution of India provides that the citizens, men and women equally, have the right to an adequate means of livelihood; and that the health and strength of workers, both men and women, are not abused or forced by economic necessity to enter into avocations unsuited to their strength.

20. Articles 42 and 43 of the Constitution of India, make provisions for just and humane conditions of work and maternity relief, and mandate the State to make provisions for securing such conditions of work and for providing maternity relief. To ensure that conditions of work remain equitable and dignified, reference may also be made to Article 15 of the Constitution, which provides that the State shall not discriminate on the ground of sex and shall not be prevented from making special provisions for women and children.

21. A scrutiny of the aforesaid constitutional provisions reveals that the grant of maternity benefits, protection of the health and strength of workers, and maintenance of a decent standard of life through "just and humane conditions of work, constitute a constitutional mandate and an obligation upon the State.

22. In the backdrop of the aforesaid constitutional provisions, the question that arises for consideration is whether the benefit of "maternity relief" can be curtailed by executive instructions and policies framed by the State, or whether the legislation enacted by Parliament on the subject, namely, The Code on Social Security, 2020 , which finds place in Entry 24 of List III of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India, would prevail.

23. It is also trite in law that where Parliament has legislated on a subject contained in List III and the State Legislature enacts a law overriding the said provisions; For eg. The Code, 2020, such law would require the assent of the President as contemplated under Article 254(2) of the Constitution of India. The same, however, is not the case in the present matter.

24. In view of the aforesaid discussion, I have no hesitation in concluding that The Code, 2020, does not contain any stipulation prescribing a time gap between the grant of maternity benefits for the first and second child, as provided under Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook. On the contrary, Section 161 of the Code, 2020, categorically provides that, notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law, whether made before or after the coming into force of the said Code, the provisions of the Code shall prevail. Consequently, the stipulation contained in the Government Order dated 08.12.2008 and Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook cannot be permitted to override or curtail the benefits conferred under the Code, 2020.

25. The aforesaid fact further gains significance from the fact that the State Government, vide its Government Order dated 11.04.2011, adopted the same policy as is being followed by the Central Government for the grant of Maternity Leave as well as Child Care Leave to its employees; though at the relevant time The Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 was applicable, however the relevant provisions are also pari materia in the Code, 2020.

“The Code on Social Security, 2020

(i) Section 2 (43) of the Code, 2020, defines "maternity benefit", in respect of Chapter VI, which means the payment referred to in Section 60(1) thereof. For ready reference, Section 2 (43) of the Code, 2020 is reproduced below:

“2(43) “maternity benefit”, in respect of Chapter VI, means the payment referred to in sub-section (1) of section 60;”

(ii) Section 60 of the Code, 2020 further stipulates that every woman shall be entitled to payment of maternity benefit, at the rate of the average daily wage that is payable to her, for the days on which she has worked during the period of three calendar months immediately preceding the date from which she absents herself on account of maternity, subject to the minimum rate of wage fixed or revised under the Code on Wages, 2019 (29 of 2019), for a maximum period of 26 weeks. For ready reference, Section 60 of the Code, 2020 is reproduced below:

"60. Right to payment of maternity benefit. (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Code, every woman shall be entitled to, and her employer shall be liable for, the payment of maternity benefit at the rate of the average daily wage for the period of her actual absence, that is to say, the period immediately preceding the day of her delivery, and any period immediately following that day.

Explanation. -For the purposes of this sub-section, the average daily wage means the average of the woman's wages payable to her for the days on which she has worked during the period of three calendar months immediately preceding the date from which she absents herself on account of maternity, subject to the minimum rate of wage fixed or revised under the Code on Wages, 2019 (29 of 2019).

(2) No woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit unless she has actually worked in an establishment of the employer from whom she claims maternity benefit, for a period of not less than eighty days in the twelve months immediately preceding the date of her expected delivery.

Explanation. - For the purposes of calculating the period under this sub-section, the days on which a woman has actually worked in the establishment, the days for which she has been laid off or was on holidays declared under any law for the time being in force to be holidays with wages, during the period of twelve months immediately preceding the expected date of her delivery shall be taken into account.

(3) The maximum period for which any woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit shall be twenty-six weeks of which not more than eight weeks shall precede the expected date of her delivery:

Provided that the maximum period entitled to maternity benefit by a woman having two or more surviving children shall be twelve weeks of which not more than six weeks shall precede the date of her expected delivery:

Provided further that where a woman dies during this period, the maternity benefit shall be payable only for the days up to and including the day of her death:

Provided also that where a woman, having been delivered of a child, dies during her delivery or during the period immediately following the date of her delivery for which she is entitled for the maternity benefit, leaving behind in either case the child, the employer shall be liable for the maternity benefit for that entire period but if the child also dies during the said period, then, for the days up to and including the date of the death of the child.

Explanation. - For the purposes of this sub-section, "child" includes a stillborn child.

(4) A woman who legally adopts a child below the age of three months or a commissioning mother shall be entitled to maternity benefit for a period of twelve weeks from the date the child is handed over to the adopting mother or the commissioning mother, as the case may be.

(5) In case the work assigned to a woman is of such nature that she may work from home, the employer may allow her to do so after availing of the maternity benefit for such period and on such conditions as the employer and the woman may mutually agree.

(iii) Section 62 of the Code, 2020, provides for a notice in writing by a woman to her employer, specifically indicating the date from which she intends to remain absent from work. However, such date shall not be earlier than eight weeks, from the date of her expected delivery. Thereafter, the amount of maternity benefit for the period preceding the date of expected delivery shall be paid in advance, and the amount due for the subsequent period shall be paid by the employer to the woman within 48 hours. The provision further stipulates that failure to give such notice shall not disentitle a woman to maternity benefit or any other amount payable under the Code, if she is otherwise entitled to such benefit. For ready reference, Section 62 of the Code, 2020 is reproduced below:

"62. Notice of claim for maternity benefit and payment thereof*. (1) Any woman employed in an establishment and entitled to maternity benefit under the provisions of this Chapter may give notice in writing in such form as may be prescribed by the Central Government, to her employer, stating that her maternity benefit and any other amount to which she may be entitled under this Chapter may be paid to her or to such person as she may nominate in the notice and that she will not work in any establishment during the period for which she receives maternity benefit.*

(2) In the case of a woman who is pregnant, such notice shall state the date from which she will be absent from work, not being a date earlier than eight weeks from the date of her expected delivery.

(3) Any woman who has not given the notice when she was pregnant may give such notice as soon as possible after her delivery.

(4) On receipt of the notice, the employer shall permit such woman to absent herself from the establishment during the period for which she receives the maternity benefit.

(5) The amount of maternity benefit for the period preceding the date of her expected delivery shall be paid in advance by the employer to the woman on production of such proof as may be prescribed by the Central Government that the woman is pregnant, and the amount due for the subsequent period shall be paid by the employer to the woman within forty-eight hours of production of such proof as may be prescribed by the Central Government that the woman has been delivered of a child.

(6) The failure to give notice under this section shall not disentitle a woman to maternity benefit or any other amount under this Chapter if she is otherwise entitled to such benefit or amount and in any such case an Inspector-cum-Facilitator may either of his own motion or on an application made to him by the woman, order the payment of such benefit or amount within such period as may be specified in the order."

26. The entire scheme of the Code, 2020, does not contain any stipulation prescribing a time gap between the birth of the first and second child, as has been provided under Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook.

27. The aforesaid view is fortified by the judgment dated 21.10.2022 passed in Smt. Anupam Yadav v. State of U.P. and 2 Others, wherein the Court also considered the ratio laid down by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Dr. Rachna Chaurasiya v. State of U.P. and Others.

28. The court is conscious of the fact that the aforementioned judgments were given considering the provisions of "Maternity Benefits Act, 1961"; but however as far as the consideration of the provisions of The Code 2020, is concerned; the same are pari materia to the sections indicated hereinabove and as such the nine Central labour enactments, relating to social security also included "The Maternity Benefits Act, 1961". The reasoning of the said judgement are therefore relevant. It lays down the ratio that the Act (erstwhile The Maternity Benefits Act,1961 and Act no. 36 of 2020 i.e., The Code of Social Security, 2020) shall prevail over the executive instructions, including Rule 153 (1) of the Financial Handbook, Volume II, Part 2-4.

Conclusion

29. The provisions of the Code, 2020, enacted by Parliament in exercise of its legislative powers under Entry 24 of List III of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India, seek to secure the goals enshrined in Part IV of the Constitution of India, namely, the Directive Principles of State Policy, and also give effect to the provisions contained in Article 15(3) of the Constitution of India.

30. Accordingly, it is held that the provisions of The Code, 2020 shall prevail over any executive instructions, including Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook, Volume II, Part 2 to 4, which has also been read down by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Smt. Anupam Yadav (supra) in relation to the grant of maternity benefits for the second pregnancy. The said benefits, therefore, shall be governed by the provisions of the Code, 2020; which does not put any embargo, by way of a timeline, between two pregnancies.

31. In view of the aforesaid, the impugned orders dated 09.01.2026 (Annexure-2) and 06.01.2026 issued by respondent No. 3, whereby the claims of the petitioners have been rejected, are hereby set aside. A further direction is issued to respondent No. 2 that, in the event the petitioners submit fresh applications for the benefits available to them under the Code, 2020, and if the same are permissible for the period for which the benefit is claimed, respondent No. 3 shall take an appropriate decision on such applications, keeping in view the observations made and the law laid down by this Court herein above.

32. The said exercise shall be completed expeditiously, preferably within a period of two weeks from the date of filing of the applications along with a certified copy of this order.

33. With the aforesaid directions/observation, the writ petition stands allowed.

Writ-A No. 13267 of 2025

Abhay Kumar Srivastava ...Petitioner(s)
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

(1) Validity of termination order passed on the allegation that the appointee's father was a government employee on the date of compassionate appointment, and effect of making no suppression of material fact before obtaining such appointment.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Termination – Senior Clerk – Petitioner was appointed on compassionate basis after death of his mother on 27.09.2013 and was also promoted on 13.12.2019 – Petitioner's father was a government servant, hence the petitioner was terminated on the complaint made by private party – Validity challenged – No allegation of suppression of material fact to obtain the appointment was leveled –No inquiry was conducted – Effect :

Held : In the letter written by the respondent No. 6 to respondent No. 4, it is clearly mentioned that father of the petitioner retired from Government Service meaning thereby that the fact that father of the petitioner was in Government Service at the time of death of his mother was well within the knowledge of the respondents at the time of issuance of the letter of appointment. In this view of the matter, the Court is of the opinion that the order is bad in the eyes of law – Even though, the appointment was contrary to the policy of the State Government, the State by its own conduct had condoned their lapse due to passage of time and it was too late on the part of the State to have raised the said ground for cancelling the appointment and terminating the service of the appointee more so when the appointee himself was not responsible for making any false declaration. Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner : Adarsh Singh, Digvijay, Navin Kumar Sharma
Advs. for the Respondents : Shashi Prakash Singh, S.C.s

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. Heard Sri Adarsh Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos. 1 and 3 and Sri S.P. Singh, learned counsel for the respondent nos. 2,4,5, and 6.

2. The petitioner has preferred the present petition inter alia with the prayer to quash the order dated 11.08.2025 passed by the respondent No.4/District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh, copy of which is appended as Annexure No.1 to the writ petition. A further prayer has also been made to direct the respondents to reinstate the petitioner on the post of Senior Clerk in the office of respondent no.6/Block Education Officer Urban Area, Azamgarh and pay him month to month salary as and when it falls due.

3. Facts in brief as contained in the writ petition are that the mother of the petitioner namely Pushpa Srivastava, while working on the post of Assistant Teacher in Kanjay Junior High School, Station Urban Area District Azamgarh died on 05.11.2008 and father of the petitioner namely late Girish Chandra Srivastava, was working on the post of Accountant in Public Works Department. He retired on 28.02.2009 and later died on 20.03.2024. At the time of the death of the mother of the petitioner, the petitioner was minor and he became a major in the year 2011 and immediately thereafter, he applied for his appointment on compassionate ground vide application dated 30.11.2011. The aforesaid application was submitted by him before respondent No.4/District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh. After submission of the application, a letter dated 29.03.2012 was written by the respondent No.6/Block Education Officer, Urban Area Azamgarh to the respondent No.4 recommending the name of the petitioner for his appointment on compassionate ground. The aforesaid letter was written after due verification of the papers and documents submitted by the petitioner. In the aforesaid letter, respondent No.6 also communicated to respondent No.4 that father of the petitioner retired as Government Employee, copy of the aforesaid letter is appended as Annexure no.9 to the writ petition. Thereafter, letter of appointment was issued by the respondent No.4 to the petitioner vide letter dated 27.09.2013 by which he was appointed on the post of Junior Clerk in the office of respondent No.6. Pursuant to the aforesaid letter, the petitioner joined his post on 28.09.2013. Subsequently, on 13.12.2019, the petitioner was also promoted as Senior Clerk in the office of respondent No.6. The petitioner was working regularly on the post in question and getting his salary and at no point of time, any departmental proceedings were initiated against the petitioner.

4. One Sri Arun Kumar Singh made a complaint against the petitioner before the respondent No.4 stating therein that the petitioner has got his services by concealment of facts as well as on the basis of fabricated documents, hence the appointment of the petitioner is illegal. Pursuant to the aforesaid complaint, show cause notice dated 15.07.2022 was issued to the petitioner by the respondent No.6 whereby clarification was sought from the petitioner regarding the complaint made by Arun Kumar Singh. The petitioner submitted his reply on 20.07.2022 before the respondent No.6 whereby he explained that at the time of appointment of the petitioner, neither any fact has been concealed nor any fabricated documents have been submitted by the petitioner and the appointment of the petitioner has been made after due verification of the documents and papers submitted by him. Subsequent to the same, another show cause notice was issued to the petitioner by the respondent No.4 on 07.07.2023 and reply to the same has also been submitted by him on 17.07.2023. In the aforesaid reply, the petitioner again narrated aforesaid facts and denied the allegations levelled against him. Thereafter another show cause notice was served upon the petitioner on 05.10.2023 by the respondent No.4 and reply to the same has also been submitted by the petitioner on 10.10.2023. The order dated 30.12.2022 was passed by the Additional Director of Education (Basic), Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh whereby a direction was given to the respondent No.4 to initiate inquiry regarding appointment of the petitioner.5. It is argued by Sri Adarsh Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner as stated in paragraph 23 of the writ petition that no inquiry has been made by respondent No.4 at any point of time regarding appointment of the petitioner despite the letter/order written by the Additional Director of Education (Basic) Agamgarh Region Azamgarh to respondent No.4 on 30.12.2022 which was also served upon the petitioner. It is argued that a reply to the aforesaid letter has also been given by the petitioner to the Additional Director of Education (Basic) Agamgarh Region Azamgarh on 09.01.2023. Subsequent to the aforesaid, another show cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 06.08.2024 on the same grounds as contained in the earlier show cause notice. Another show cause notice was issued by the respondent No.4 on 04.08.2025 and reply to which was submitted by the petitioner on 05.08.2025. Subsequent to the same, order impugned has been passed by the respondent No.4 on 11.08.2025 terminating the services of the petitioner. It is argued that impugned order passed by the respondent No.4 terminating the services of the petitioner is absolutely arbitrary, unjust and illegal specially in view of the fact that the petitioner was appointed on the post of junior clerk after verification of his documents as well as information provided by him. It is further argued that father of the petitioner was employed in Public Works Department at the time of death of his mother and the same is well within the knowledge of the respondents at the time of his appointment. It is further argued that the petitioner applied for his appointment under U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred as "Rules, 1974") in the year 2013 and at that time, father of the petitioner was retired. It is argued that the impugned order has been passed without following the settled provisions as no charge-sheet has been given to the petitioner and no inquiry was ever conducted against the petitioner. It is further argued that no opportunity of hearing was provided to the petitioner before passing the order of termination. It is further argued that the complaint has been filed against the petitioner with malafide intention. It is further argued that in the recommendation letter dated 29.03.2012 issued by the respondent No.6 which duly addressed to the respondent No.4, this fact was duly communicated that father of the petitioner was in Government Service and now retired. In support of his arguments, learned counsel for the petitioner placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

I. Md. Zamil Ahmed Vs. State of Bihar reported in 2016 (12) SCC 342

II. Shiv Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and others reported in 2025 (8) ADJ 11

III. District Basic Education Officer, Hathras Vs. Shiv Kumar and others passed in Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No.72666 of 2025

IV. Smt. Sughandha Upadyay Vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ A No.4597 of 2024)

V. Vishwaroop Vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ A No.2058 of 2024) decided on 15.10.2024

6. A counter affidavit has been filed by respondent Nos.4 to 6. It is stated in the counter affidavit that mother of the petitioner died on 05.11.2008. Upon receiving a complaint against the petitioner, it came into light that the petitioner had obtained employment as a deceased dependent in place of his late mother by concealing material facts. It is stated in the counter affidavit that in the complaint filed by Arun Kumar Singh, it is stated that though the petitioner was given compassionate appointment in place of his deceased mother but at the time of her death, the father of the petitioner was in Government Service as Accountant in Public Works Department. Insofar as facts narrated in writ petition that at no point of time, any inquiry was conducted against the petitioner as prescribed in the relevant rules and no charge-sheet has been given before terminating services of the petitioner are concerned, there is no denial in the counter affidavit.

7. In the rejoinder affidavit filed by the petitioner, facts as narrated in the counter affidavit has been denied. In the rejoinder affidavit, counsel for the petitioner placed reliance upon various decisions rendered by this Court which has been affirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court from time to time.

8. Affidavits have already been exchanged between the parties and with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, the writ petition is disposed of at this stage.

9. From the facts as narrated above, it is clear that the petitioner was appointed on the post of clerk under Rules, 1974, in place of his deceased mother namely Late Pushpa Srivastava on 27.09.2013 and thereafter he was promoted on the post of Senior Clerk by order dated 13.12.2019 & during his entire service period, at no point of time, any complaint has been made against him till the time his services were terminated. He received salary and other benefits till the date of passing of order impugned. From perusal of the record, it is clear that neither any inquiry was ever conducted by the respondents at any point of time nor any charge-sheet had been submitted against him as well as no witness was examined by the respondents before passing the order impugned. Apart from the same, the petitioner was appointed under Rules, 1974, in the year 2013 and subsequently, he was promoted in the year 2019. In the letter written by the respondent No.6 to respondent No.4, it is clearly mentioned that father of the petitioner retired from Government Service meaning thereby that the fact that father of the petitioner was in Government Service at the time of death of his mother was well within the knowledge of the respondents at the time of issuance of the letter of appointment. In this view of the matter, the Court is of the opinion that the order is bad in the eyes of law.

10. In the case of Shiv Kumar (supra), the controversy was before this Court that Shiv Kumar was appointed on compassionate ground in place of his deceased father though at the relevant time, his mother was in Government Service. After hearing counsel for the parties at length, it was held by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in paragraph 41 of the judgement that since the petitioner has not suppressed the fact that his mother was working as a government employee at the time of submission of application for appointment on compassionate ground. It was incumbent upon the authorities to undertake due diligence and conduct proper verification regarding the material facts prior to extending the appointment. Since scrutiny was duly carried out before appointment of the petitioner, therefore, the benefit granted to the petitioner cannot be cancelled. Paragraph Nos. 41 & 42 of the aforesaid judgement reads as follows:-

41. It stands established that there was neither any misrepresentation nor concealment on the part of the petitioner with respect to the employment status of his mother. The petitioner did not suppress the fact that his mother was serving in a government post specifically as an Assistant Teacher in the same department at the time he submitted his application for compassionate appointment. It was incumbent upon the respondent authorities to undertake due diligence and conduct a proper verification of such material facts prior to extending the appointment. Since such scrutiny was duly carried out before the petitioner was offered the appointment, the benefit granted cannot be withdrawn or cancelled on account of any lapse attributable to the respondents themselves.

42. This Court further observes that the petitioner was merely 18 and a half years old at the time of submitting the application for compassionate appointment. At such a tender age, he could not have been expected to comprehend the technical requirements relating to the disclosure of the employment status of family members. In circumstances where the family is grappling with emotional distress due to the sudden demise of its sole breadwinner as in the present case, the petitioner's father, the responsibility to verify and scrutinize the family particulars rests squarely upon the respondents.

11. Against the aforesaid judgement Special Appeal No.843 of 2025 was filed by the District Basic Education Officer before this Court which was also dismissed vide judgement and order dated 22.09.2025. Against the aforesaid judgements, Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No.72666 of 2025 was filed which was dismissed by the Hon'ble Apex Court vide its order dated 13.03.2026.

12. In the case of Md. Zamil Ahmed vs. State of Bihar and Ors. (supra), it is held by Hon'ble Supreme Court that even though, the appointment was contrary to the policy of the State Government, the State by its own conduct had condoned their lapse due to passage of time and it was too late on the part of the State to have raised the said ground for cancelling the appointment and terminating the service of the appointee more so when the appointee himself was not responsible for making any false declaration. It was held by the Supreme Court that the State was not empowered to take advantage of its own mistake and the position would have been different if the appointee had committed some kind of fraud or manipulation or suppression of material fact in securing the appointment. The relevant observations of the Supreme Court in paragraph nos. 15 and 16 of the aforesaid judgment are reproduced below:-

"15. In these circumstances, we are of the view that there was no justification on the part of the State to wake up after the lapse of 15 years and terminate the services of the appellant on such ground. In any case, we are of the view that whether it was a conscious decision of the State to give appointment to the appellant as we have held above or a case of mistake on the part of the State in giving appointment to the appellant which now as per the State was contrary to the policy as held by the learned Single

Judge, the State by their own conduct having condoned their lapse due to passage of time of 15 years, it was too late on the part of the State to have raised such ground for cancelling the appellant's appointment and terminating his services. It was more so because the appellant was not responsible for making any false declaration nor he suppressed any material fact for securing the appointment. The State was, therefore, not entitled to take advantage of their own mistake if they felt it to be so. The position would have been different if the appellant had committed some kind of fraud or manipulation or suppression of material fact for securing the appointment. As mentioned above such was not the case of the State. 16. It is for this reason, we are of the view that action on the part of welfare State in terminating the appellant's service on such ground cannot be countenanced. We, therefore, disapprove the action taken by the State.

13. In the case of Sugandha Upadhyay (supra), it has been again held by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court that when the petitioner was appointed merely 18 years of age, the petitioner, at that age, cannot be expected to have read the Rules, 1974. The petitioner submitted a simple application which was not on any prescribed proforma stating his relationship with the deceased, his occupational skills and educational qualifications and sought compassionate appointment. The operative portion of the aforesaid order reads as follows:-

"In the present case, the petitioner was appointed ten years back and had been confirmed in service. Considering the length of service of the petitioner, it is too late for the respondents to cancel the appointment of the petitioner on the ground of the prohibition incorporated in Rule 5 and the employment status of her mother.

For the aforesaid reasons, the orders dated 20.07.2022 and 16.01.2024 passed by the Deputy Labour Commissioner and the Labour Commissioner cancelling the appointment of the petitioner and also rejecting her appeal are contrary to law and are liable to be quashed.

The orders dated 20.07.2022 and 16.01.2024 passed by the Deputy Labour Commissioner and the Labour Commissioner, respectively are, hereby, quashed.

The petition is allowed."

14. Against the aforesaid judgement Special Appeal No.5 of 2025 (State of U.P. and others Vs. Smt. Sugandha Upadhyay) has been filed by the State of U.P. which was also dismissed by this Court vide its judgement and order dated 24.01.2025. Against the aforesaid judgment Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.6320 of 2025 was filed by the State of U.P. which was also dismissed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its judgement and order dated 28.03.2025, copy of the same is appended at Page 50 to the rejoinder affidavit.

15. In the case of Vishwaroop (supra), Lucknow Bench of this Court has held that there was no justification on the part of the State to have woken up after a lapse of 12 years and found infirmity in the appointment of the petitioner and quashed the same.

Further there was no allegations that the petitioner had concealed any material fact or some fact was found out by the State after a substantial length of time necessitating termination of his services. Once a finding has been recorded that the petitioner was not responsible for suppression of any material fact in securing his appointment then the onus lay upon the State to have examined the entire facts prior to giving him appointment on compassionate grounds. The paragraph Nos.13 & 14 reads as follows:-

"13. It is in the aforesaid circumstances, this Court is also of the considered view that there was no justification on the part of the State to have woken up after a lapse of 12 years and found infirmity in the appointment of the petitioner and quashed the same. Further there is no allegations that the petitioner had concealed any material fact or some fact was found out by the State after a substantial length of time necessitating termination of his services. Once a finding has been recorded that the petitioner was not responsible for suppression of any material fact in securing his appointment then the onus lay upon the State to have examined the entire facts prior to giving him appointment on compassionate grounds. For the lapse if any of the State the services of the petitioner cannot be terminated after a lapse of 12 years.

14. In light of the above, the writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 23.02.2024 is quashed. The respondents are directed to reinstate the petitioner in service with all consequential benefits from the date of his termination till the date of his reinstatement."

16. Against the aforesaid judgement Special Appeal Defective No.93 of 2025 (State of U.P. and others Vs. Vishwaroop) has been filed by the State of U.P. which was also dismissed by this Court vide its judgement and order dated 04.03.2025. Against the aforesaid judgment Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No.17889 of 2025 was filed by the State of U.P. was also dismissed by Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its judgement and order dated 11.08.2025, copy of the same is appended at Page 55 to the rejoinder affidavit.

17. In view of the above discussions, the Court is more than satisfied that the order dated 11.08.2025 passed by the respondent No.4/District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh is per se illegal and the same is liable to be quashed and is hereby quashed.

18. The writ petition is allowed.

19. A mandamus is issued to the respondent No.4/District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh & respondent no.6/Block Education Officer Urban Area, Azamgarh to reinstate the petitioner on the post of Senior Clerk in the office of respondent No.6 and pay salary month by month as and when it falls due. Since the services of the petitioner was wholly illegally terminated, the petitioner is also entitled for back wages and other service benefits and the aforesaid benefits would be provided to the petitioner within two months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. No order as to costs.

Special Appeal No. 70 of 2020

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Appellant(s)
Versus
Sant Lal Sonkar & Ors. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

(1) Validity of GO dated 02.04.1992 providing two different pay scales for the members of the same cadre.
(2) Entitlement of Live Stock Extension Inspector to get equal salary like that of Live Stock Extension Officer, particularly when the disparity between these two posts was removed on the recommendation of Committee noting that there is no material difference in the duties and responsibilities attached to these two posts.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Constitution of India – Article 14, 16 and 39(d) – Payment of salary – Equal pay for equal work – Classification – Intelligible differentia – L.S.E. Inspector and L.S.E. Officer – Disparity between two post was removed on the recommendation of Committee, which observed that there was no material difference in the duties and responsibilities attached to these two posts – However, two different pay scales for members of the same cadre was provided vide GO dated 02.04.1992 – Permissibility – Single Bench quashed the GO providing two different pay scale – Validity challenged – Entitlement of L.S.E. Inspector to get equal salary felt into consideration.

Held : The settled principle is that a classification must be founded upon an intelligible differentia, and such differentia must have a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved – The classification introduced by Government Order dated 02.04.1992 is not based upon any difference in qualifications, duties, responsibilities or nature of work attached to the post after merger. On the contrary, after issuance of Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, all employees became members of one unified cadre. [Para 29 and 32]

Further held : Once the State Government accepted the recommendations of the Committee and Pay Commission and thereafter merged the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer into one cadre with effect from 01.01.1986, the respondents ceased to retain their separate identity as members of the erstwhile cadre of Live Stock Extension Inspector. They became members of the unified cadre of Live Stock Extension Officer. Therefore, their entitlement to pay scale was required to be determined with reference to their status in the unified cadre and not on the basis of their earlier designation – The finding recorded by the learned Single Judge that the classification introduced by Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution does not suffer from any legal infirmity warranting interference in the present intra-Court appeal. [Para 34 and 39] (E-1)

1. This Special Appeal is filed by the State against the judgement and order dated 24.07.2019 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ-A No. 12959 of 2012 Sant Lal Sonkar and others Vs. State of U.P. and others (hereinafter referred to as the impugned order), whereby the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 and the State authorities were directed to provide pay scale of Rs.1350 2200/- with effect from 01.01.1986 to original writ petitioners, who are respondents in present Special Appeal. Aggrieved thereby, this Special Appeal is preferred seeking setting aside of the impugned judgment and dismissal of the writ petition.

2. This Court vide its order dated 22.01.2020 allowed the Delay Condonation Application No. 1 of 2020 considering the sufficient cause for the delay in filing of this Special Appeal. Further by order dated 06.02.2020, the effect and operation of the impugned order was stayed by this Court and this interim order has continued to operate during the pendency of the Special Appeal.

3. Pleadings are already exchanged and the appeal is finally heard and the judgment got reserved on 01.07.2026.

I. Factual background

4. The respondents herein were appointed between the years 1981 and 1986 as Live Stock Development Assistants. By Government Order dated 04.02.1988, the post was re-named as Live Stock Extension Inspector and presently their service conditions are governed by the U.P. Animal Husbandry Live Stock Extension and Poultry Development Service Rules, 2002.

5. The point of dispute is in the root of the merger of the service and its redesignation after joining (of respondents in this appeal), because prior to the year 1990, the Animal Husbandry Department had two posts, namely, Live Stock Extension Officer and Live Stock Development Assistant/ Extension Inspector. The former carried the pay scale of Rs. 470 735/-, whereas the latter was placed in the pay scale of Rs. 400 615/-. As a fact, both posts required the same qualifications and involved substantially identical functions. The employees working as Live Stock Development Assistants/ Extension Inspector, represented before the State Government, seeking removal of the disparity in both pay scales for taking similar work from similarly qualified employees.

6. In order to examine the above-mentioned grievance of employees, the State Government constituted a Task Force Committee (hereinafter referred to as the Committee), by Government Order dated 20.01.1987. The Committee examined the issue and concluded in its meeting held on 22.06.1987 that no material difference in the work/duties discharged by the two categories of employees. It therefore recommended that the claim of Live Stock Development Assistants / Extension Inspector for the pay scale admissible to Live Stock Extension Officers be considered by the Pay Commission. The said recommendation was forwarded on 03.09.1987 to the Secretary, Pay Commission, Uttar Pradesh.

7. During the pendency of the matter before the Pay Commission, the State Government revised the pay scales of various posts in the Animal Husbandry Department by Government Order dated 19.07.1989 with effect from 01.01.1986 or from the date of creation of the post, whichever was later. While acting upon the recommendations of the Samta Samiti, under the revised pay structure, the pay scale of Live Stock Extension Officer was revised to Rs. 1200 2040/-, whereas the pay scale of Live Stock Extension Inspector (earlier named as Live Stock Development Assistant) was revised to Rs. 975 1660/-.

8. Thereafter, the State Government accepted the recommendations of the Pay Commission and decided that the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer would constitute a single cadre, with effect from 01.01.1986. The merger got notified by the Government Order dated 03.03.1990 and its retrospective operation got clarified by order dated 05.06.1991. The Government Order further provided that employees working as Live Stock Extension Inspectors would also be entitled to the pay scale of Rs. 1200 2040/- with effect from 01.01.1986. Consequently, the respondents and other similarly situated employees became members of the unified cadre of Live Stock Extension Officer with effect from the said date.

9. Later, the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 issued in continuation of the Government Order dated 05.06.1991, modified the Government Order dated 19.07.1989. By virtue of the said Government Order 02.04.1992, the revised pay scale of Rs. 1350 2200/- was provided only to those employees who had been working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to 01.01.1986 in the pre-revised pay scale of Rs.470 735/-, whereas the remaining members of the unified cadre continued in the pay scale of Rs. 1200 2040/-. The validity of the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was the subject matter of challenge in the writ petition before the learned Single Judge.

II. Impugned Judgment

10. By the impugned order, learned Single Judge has allowed the writ petition holding that the recommendations of the Committee, as accepted by the Commission and implemented by the State Government through Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, had removed the disparity between the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer by merging them into a single cadre with retrospective effect from 01.01.1986. The learned Single Judge further observed that the merger was done on the finding of the Committee that there was no material difference in the duties and responsibilities attached to the two posts and, therefore, the incumbents were entitled for the pay parity on the principle of equal pay for equal work.

11. The learned Single Judge further held that, after the merger of the two posts and their re-designation as Live Stock Extension Officer, all employees constituted one homogeneous class. Consequently, the Government Order dated 02.04.1992, which granted the revised pay scale of Rs. 1350 2200/- only to those employees who had been working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to 01.01.1986 while continuing the remaining members of the same cadre in the pay scale of Rs. 1200 2040/-, was considered as an impermissible classification within a single cadre. Such classification was held to have no rational basis and to be violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution.

12. The learned Single Judge also took note of the admitted position that the disparity in pay scales between the two groups had subsequently been removed with effect from 29.11.2007 on the basis of a Committee report to resolve the issue of pay parity and there was no justification for maintaining different pay scales within the same cadre for the intervening period with subsequent notification. The learned Single Judge quashed the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 to the aforesaid extent and directed the State authorities to place the writ petitioners in the pay scale of Rs.1350 2200/- with effect from 01.01.1986 and to pay the consequential arrears.

III. Submissions on behalf of the Appellant-State

13. Aggrieved by the judgment of the learned Single Judge, Mr. Ratan Deep Mishra, learned Counsel appearing for the State submitted that the impugned judgment proceeds on wrong appreciation of factual and legal aspects of the matter. It is contended that the learned Single Judge failed to appreciate the true scope and object of the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 and consequently erred in quashing the same.

14. Elaborating on his submissions, Mr. Mishra contended that prior to 01.01.1986, the posts of Live Stock Extension Officer and Live Stock Extension Inspector constituted two separate cadres carrying different pay scales. Upon revision of pay scales with effect from 01.01.1986, the pay scale of Live Stock Extension Officers stood revised to Rs. 1200 2040/-, whereas that of Live Stock Extension Inspectors was revised to Rs. 975 1660/-. Thereafter, by Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, the cadre of Live Stock Extension Inspectors was merged with that of Live Stock Extension Officers with retrospective effect from 01.01.1986 and all such employees were placed in the pay scale of Rs.1200 2040/-.

15. Mr. Mishra further submitted that the aforesaid merger resulted in an unintended anomaly, inasmuch as employees who had been serving as Live Stock Extension Officers long prior to 01.01.1986 and were senior in service came to draw the same pay scale as those who entered the unified cadre only by virtue of the merger. It is submitted that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was issued solely to remove this anomaly by protecting the pay of those officers who had held the higher post prior to 01.01.1986. The classification made therein is stated to be founded upon a rational criteria, i.e., the pre-existing status and seniority of the employees, and bears a direct nexus with the object sought to be achieved.

16. Mr. Mishra further submitted that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 merely amended the earlier Government Order dated 19.07.1989 insofar as it related to the pay scale of the post of Live Stock Extension Officer and did not revise the pay scale prescribed for Live Stock Extension Inspectors. According to the appellants, the benefit of the revised pay scale of Rs. 1350 2200/- was intended only for those employees who had actually been holding the post of Live Stock Extension Officer in the pre-revised pay scale of Rs. 470 735/- prior to 01.01.1986. The respondents in appeal, who admittedly became members of the cadre only by virtue of the merger as per Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991 with retrospective effect from 01.01.1986, could not claim the said benefit merely because they subsequently formed part of the unified cadre.

17. Mr. Mishra lastly submitted that the classification created by the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was temporary and protective in nature and intended to safeguard the interests of the senior employees who had entered service much earlier, as recruitment to the post of Live Stock Extension Officer had substantially ceased thereafter. It is, therefore, contended that the classification was reasonable and legally permissible, and that the learned Single Judge committed manifest error in its direction and quashing the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 and therefore the impugned order is not sustainable.

IV. Submission of the respondent- original writ petitioner

18. Per contra, Mr. Rajesh Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the original writ petitioner, which are respondents in this Special Appeal, supported the judgment of the learned Single Judge and submitted that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 is wholly arbitrary and unconstitutional. Mr. Kumar contended that once the recommendations of the Pay Commission were accepted and the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer were merged into a single cadre and redesignated as Live Stock Extension Officer by Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991 with retrospective effect from 01.01.1986, there remained no justification for creating two classes within the same cadre or prescribing two different pay scales for employees holding the same post, which was effectively taking back the complete status before the exercise of the Committee which was constituted specially for the pay parity examination.

19. Mr. Kumar further submitted that the very basis of the merger was the finding of the Committee that both categories of employees had same qualifications and were discharging identical duties and responsibilities. The longstanding grievance regarding disparity in pay scales thus stood readdressed upon acceptance of the recommendations. He contended that once the disparity had been removed with effect from 01.01.1986, the fact that certain employees had originally been appointed and were actually working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to the said date ceased to have any relevance for the purpose of revision of pay scales. The source from which an employee entered the unified cadre could not constitute a valid basis for differential treatment amongst persons holding the same post and discharging identical functions, especially when the Committee made its recommendation the fact was same.

20. Mr. Kumar further submitted that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992, by confining the revised pay scale of Rs. 1350 2200/- only to those who had been working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to 01.01.1986 and denying the same benefit to the respondents, introduced an artificial and unreasonable classification within a single cadre solely on the basis of the erstwhile designation of the employees and such classification bears no rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved after the merger of the cadres and in fact it revives the very disparity, which had already been removed. It is, therefore, contended that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 is violative of Articles 14, 16 and 39(d) of the Constitution of India, and that the learned Single Judge rightly quashed the same and directed extension of the pay scale of Rs. 1350 2200/- to the respondents with effect from 01.01.1986.

V. Points for Determination

21. Having considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of the record, the point for determination in this Special Appeal is whether after merger of the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer into a single cadre with effect from 01.01.1986 by Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, the State Government was justified in prescribing two different pay scales for members of the same cadre on the basis of their pre-merger status by Government Order dated 02.04.1992, and whether the learned Single Judge was justified in quashing the said Government Order.

VI. Discussion and Analysis

22. Before examining the validity of the classification introduced by the Government Order dated 02.04.1992, it would be appropriate to notice the undisputed factual position.

23. It is undisputed fact that prior to 01.01.1986, the Animal Husbandry Department had two separate posts, namely, Live Stock Extension Officer and Live Stock Development Assistant (subsequently re-named as Live Stock Extension Inspector). The two posts carried different pay scales, although the qualifications, nature of duties and responsibilities attached to the posts were substantially similar.

24. The grievance regarding disparity in pay scales for similar services was examined by the State Government by constituting a Committee vide Government Order dated 20.01.1987 and further sending the Committee s recommendation to the Pay Commission for salary considerations. The Committee, after considering the duties and responsibilities attached to the two posts, recorded a finding that there was no material difference in the functions discharged by the employees of the two categories. It accordingly recommended that the claim of Live Stock Extension Inspector for grant of the pay scale admissible to Live Stock Extension Officers be considered by the Pay Commission.

25. The recommendation of the Committee was thereafter positively considered by the Pay Commission. Upon acceptance of the recommendation, the State Government issued Government Order dated 03.03.1990 and the subsequent clarificatory order dated 05.06.1991, whereby it was decided that the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer would constitute one cadre with effect from 01.01.1986. The said Government Order further provided that employees working as Live Stock Extension Inspectors would also be entitled to the pay scale of

Rs. 1200 2040/- with effect from 01.01.1986, which was the revised pay scale admissible to Live Stock Extension Officers.

26. Thus, by virtue of Government Order dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, the earlier distinction between the two posts stood removed and it became clearly declared as one cadre. Employees working on either of the two posts prior to the merger became members of one unified cadre under one designation, namely, Live Stock Extension Officer, with effect from 01.01.1986 as per the Government Order dated 05.06.1991.

27. Subsequently, the Government Order dated 19.07.1989 was modified by Government Order dated 02.04.1992, as per which the pay scale of Rs.1350 2200/- was extended only to those employees who had actually been working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to 01.01.1986 in the pre-revised pay scale of Rs.470 735/-. The other members of the unified cadre, including the respondents who entered the cadre by virtue of merger, continued in the pay scale of Rs.1200 2040/-.

28. Learned counsel for the appellant State attempted to justify the aforesaid distinction by submitting that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was issued to remove the anomaly created after merger of the cadres. As per learned counsel, those employees who were already working as Live Stock Extension Officers prior to 01.01.1986 constituted a distinct class and were entitled to protection of their higher pay on account of their earlier status and seniority.

29. There can be no dispute that the State Government possesses the power to determine pay scales and to make classification amongst employees, provided such classification satisfies the constitutional mandate of equality. The settled principle is that a classification must be founded upon an intelligible differentia, and such differentia must have a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved. This principle has been recognised by the Supreme Court in a catena of judgments including S. Sivaguru Vs State of Tamilnadu (2013) 7 SCC 335.

30. The legal consequence of integration of cadres has been considered by the Supreme Court in S. Sivaguru (supra), wherein it has been recognised that upon merger of cadres, the earlier separate identity of the cadres ceases and the employees become members of the newly constituted unified cadre. Once such integration takes place, differentiation amongst members of the same cadre merely on the basis of their erstwhile cadre identity cannot ordinarily be sustained.

31. In S. Sivaguru (supra) the Supreme Court has examined the merger of two posts in one cadre in health department of State of Tamilnadu. While deciding the issue against the State s notification to create two categories after merger in one cadre, the Supreme Court observed that:

"60. Upon merger of the two posts, it was no longer permissible to treat the redesignated Health Inspector Grade IA differently from Health Inspector Grade IB. Since 1997, all incumbents on the posts of Health Inspector Grade IA and Health Inspector Grade IB were performing the same duties. There was intermixing of the duties performed by the two categories of the Health Inspector Grade IA and IB. Both the posts had lost their original identity since 27-6-1997, and formed one homogenous cadre. Further, having relaxed the qualifications on the basis of their length of service and experience, they were on a par with the Health Inspector Grade IA. Thereafter, the State was not justified in denying to the erstwhile Health Inspector Grade IB, the same treatment as was given to Health Inspector Grade IA. Therefore, the respondents could not have been denied the benefit of service on the post of Health Inspector Grade I from the date of the initial integration. It would be appropriate to notice the ratio of law laid down in Sub-Inspector Rooplal [Sub-Inspector Rooplal v. Lt. Governor, (2000) 1 SCC 644 : 2000 SCC (L&S) 213] , wherein it was inter alia held that the previous service of the transferred officials who are absorbed in an equivalent cadre in the transferred post is permitted to be counted for the purpose of determination of seniority. It would be appropriate to notice here that Leprosy Inspectors redesignated as Health Inspector Grade IB have not been granted the benefit of seniority in their cadre from the date of their initial appointment. They have been deprived of their service on the post of Leprosy Inspector up to 27-6-1997 when they were integrated and redesignated as Health Inspector Grade IB. However, upon merger w.e.f. 27-6-1997, there was no distinction in the services rendered by Health Inspector Grade IA and Health Inspector Grade IB. Therefore, in our opinion, the provision in GOMs No. 382 of 2007 not to grant the Health Inspectors Grade IB/erstwhile Leprosy Inspectors the benefit of the service from 1997 for determination of their seniority for promotion to the post of Block Health Supervisor was completely unjustified.

61. Thus, the High Court, in our opinion, was completely justified in quashing Clauses 6(iv) and (v) of GOMs No. 382 of 2007. The High Court has correctly held that the redesignated Health Inspector Grade I ought to have been given the same scale of pay as Health Inspector Grade IA from the date of the merger. In fact, on that date itself, the two posts should have been redesignated as Health Inspector Grade I, enjoying the same scale of pay, as all incumbents were performing the same duties and shouldering the same responsibilities. It was not permissible for the State to treat the redesignated Health Inspector Grade I differently from the Health Inspector Grade IA, on the basis of the initial source of recruitment."

32. Applying the aforesaid principle to the facts of the present case, we are of the considered view that the classification introduced by Government Order dated 02.04.1992 is not based upon any difference in qualifications, duties, responsibilities or nature of work attached to the post after merger. On the contrary, after issuance of Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991, all employees became members of one unified cadre and were holding the same post of Live Stock Extension Officer, which was the actual objective behind all the exercise undertaken by the State before decision of the merger of the cadre.

33. After considering submissions as well as records before the Court, we find the only basis for differentiation under the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 is that one category of employees had been actually working on higher pay scale with the designation having termed as Live Stock Extension Officers before 01.01.1986, whereas the other category entered the cadre by virtue of the merger of posts then got the same designation and pay parity. In our considered opinion, such distinction cannot be sustained once the State Government itself decided to merge the two posts retrospectively and treat both categories as members of one cadre on the recommendation of Committee report regarding duties and responsibilities and thereafter Pay Commission s approval for providing same salary to all in the unified cadre.

34. In the present case, once the State Government accepted the recommendations of the Committee and Pay Commission and thereafter merged the posts of Live Stock Extension Inspector and Live Stock Extension Officer into one cadre with effect from 01.01.1986, the respondents ceased to retain their separate identity as members of the erstwhile cadre of Live Stock Extension Inspector. They became members of the unified cadre of Live Stock Extension Officer. Therefore, their entitlement to pay scale was required to be determined with reference to their status in the unified cadre and not on the basis of their earlier designation.

35. The submission of the appellant that the Government Order dated 02.04.1992 merely amended the earlier Government Order dated 19.07.1989 with respect to the post of Live Stock Extension Officer and did not revise the pay scale of Live Stock Extension Inspectors, in our considered view, does not support the submission of the appellant. After the merger, the respondents were not getting the benefit as Live Stock Extension Inspectors but were getting the salary for which they were entitled as members of the unified cadre of Live Stock Extension Officers.

36. The argument that the classification was introduced to protect the interests of senior employees also cannot be accepted. Seniority of the years of service may have relevance in matters of promotion and other service benefits, however, grant of two different pay scales to employees holding the same post in the same cadre requires a rational basis. A distinction based merely upon the date on which an employee joined the service before merger of the cadre cannot justify differential pay after the cadre itself has been unified as the same is against the principles established by the Supreme Court in S. Sivaguru (Supra).

37. The object behind the entire exercise undertaken by the State Government was to remove the disparity between two posts of employees performing identical duties and responsibilities. The merger of the cadres was effected after acceptance of the recommendation that there was no difference in the nature of work performed by the two categories and further approved by the Pay Commission. The subsequent creation of two different pay scales within the same cadre, therefore, runs contrary to the very purpose for which the merger was brought into effect.

38. In the light of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the considered view that the learned Single Judge correctly appreciated the effect of Government Orders dated 03.03.1990 and 05.06.1991 and 02.04.1992. Once the posts had merged into one cadre with retrospective effect from 01.01.1986, the State Government could not create two different pay scales amongst members of the same cadre merely on the basis of their pre-merger status.

39. The finding recorded by the learned Single Judge that the classification introduced by Government Order dated 02.04.1992 was violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution does not suffer from any legal infirmity warranting interference in the present intra-Court appeal.

VI. Conclusion and Operative Order

40. For the reasons recorded above, we find no merit in the present Special Appeal. The Special Appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. The judgment and order dated 24.07.2019 passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ-A No. 12959 of 2012, Sant Lal Sonkar and others Vs. State of U.P. and others is hereby affirmed. Consequently, the State authorities shall extend the benefit of the pay scale of Rs. 1350-2200/- to the respondents with effect from 01.01.1986 with all consequential benefits.

41. The aforesaid exercise shall be completed within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this judgment before the competent authority.

42. No order as to costs.

Special Appeal No. 903 of 2013

Surendra Sharma ...Appellant(s)
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondent(s)

Issue for Consideration

(1) Entitlement of teacher of primary section to get salary in parity with the teacher of junior high school section.
(2) Scope of word 'institution' used in S. 10 of Act, 1970 to include 'primary section' in it.
(3) Scope of expression 'Junior High School' used in S. 2(e) of Act, 1970 to include 'Classes I to V' in it.
(4) Overriding effect of Section 10 of the Act, 1978 to Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – U. P. Junior High Schools (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1978 – Ss. 2(e) and 10 – Payment of salary – Grant-in-aid scheme – Teacher of primary section – Entitlement – Parity with Junior High School section claimed – Single Bench rejected the claim relying on Clause 10 of the GO dated 03.05.1982, as it specifically restrict payment of salary under the grant-in-aid scheme only to the teachers and employees working in Classes VI to VIII, and expressly exclude the teachers and employees working in the primary section (Classes I to V), which was not challenged by the petitioner – Validity of judgment of Single Bench challenged – Application of ratio laid down by Apex Court in Pawan Kumar Dwivedi's case and Vinod Sharma's case felt into consideration – Application of S. 10 of Act, 1978 also felt into consideration .

Held : The court (Supreme Court) held that teachers of the primary section are also entitled to the benefit of Section 10 of the 1978 Act. It observed that both the Primary and Junior High School sections are governed by the same Board of Basic Education under the 1972 Act. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further held that denying salary to primary teachers in such schools would result in unequal treatment and could make the 1978 Act unconstitutional – Therefore, the appellant, who worked as a teacher in the primary section of this institution, is also a teacher of an institution covered by Section 10 of the 1978 Act. [Para 20 and 21]

Further held : The learned Single Judge held that the appellant could not challenge Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982 after a gap of 31 years. This reasoning would have been correct if the appellant had challenged the validity of Clause 10 itself. However, that is not the appellant's case. The appellant has consistently maintained that he is entitled to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act, irrespective of Clause 10. This issue depends on the correct interpretation of Section 10, which was authoritatively settled by the Constitution Bench in 2014. Therefore, there is no question of delay or limitation in relying upon the later decision of the Supreme Court interpreting the existing law. [Para 26]

(B) Interpretation of statute – Circular containing the provision contrary to the provision of the Act – Application – Overriding effect of the Act felt into consideration .

Held : An executive circular cannot override or narrow the meaning of a statutory provision as explained by the Supreme Court – Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982 is only an executive instruction. It cannot override Section 10 of the 1978 Act as interpreted by the Constitution Bench. [Para 25 and 40(ii)]

(C) Interpretation of statute – Precedent – Scope – Creating new law, extent of : (E-1)
Held : When the Supreme Court interprets a statutory provision, it explains what the law has always meant. It does not create a new law from the date of its judgment. [Para 37] (E-1)

1. Heard Shri J.P. Singh, the learned counsel for the appellant-petitioner and Shri J.N. Maurya, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Shri Fuzail Ahmad Ansari, the learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The instant intra-court appeal is preferred to quash the judgment and order dated 29.4.2013 passed by Hon'ble Single Judge in Civil Misc. Writ Petition-A No.23422 of 2013 (Surendra Sharma vs. State of U.P. and 3 others) as well as order dated 11.4.2013 passed by Respondent No.3 District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh and a direction be issued to respondents to ensure that appellant is paid his arrears of salary from State Exchequer from the date his salary was stopped.

FACTS: -

3. The petitioner was appointed as an Assistant Teacher in the Primary Section of Smt. Ram Daiyee Balika Junior High School, Dariya Dayalpur, Azamgarh (hereinafter referred to as the Institution) on 01.07.1977 and has been working in the institution since then. The institution was initially recognized as a Primary School by an order dated 30.03.1974 and was subsequently granted recognition as a Junior High School with effect from 01.07.1977 by order dated 14.03.1978. In the year 1980, the institution was brought under the grant-in-aid scheme. The Committee of Management submitted the names of its teachers and employees for payment of salary from the State Exchequer. By order dated 03.11.1980, the District Basic Education Officer approved the petitioner's appointment and included his name in the approved list for payment of salary. The petitioner was paid salary from the State Exchequer until October, 1981, whereafter payment of salary was stopped.

4. One Smt. Jagdamba Srivastava, a similarly situated teacher, filed Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.10389 of 1991 (Smt. Jagdamba Srivastava and another vs. State of U.P. and others), which was allowed on 15.10.1993 directing payment of salary. The Special Leave Petition filed by the State against the said judgment was dismissed. Another Assistant Teacher of the same institution, namely Smt. Gayatri Rai, who had also been appointed on 01.07.1977, filed Writ Petition No.22154 of 1988 (Smt. Gayatri Rai vs. State of U.P. and others), which was allowed on 08.03.1996 directing payment of salary. Pursuant thereto, she has been receiving salary from the State Exchequer.

5. The petitioner thereafter approached the District Basic Education Officer for release of his salary. As no decision was taken, he along with another teacher filed Writ Petition No.33545 of 1997 (Smt. Ram Daiyee Devi and another vs. State of U.P. and others), which was disposed of on 22.07.1998 with a direction to the District Basic Education Officer to decide the representations of the petitioners therein. Thereafter, by order dated 08.10.1998, the District Basic Education Officer directed the Accounts Officer to examine the records. The Accounts Officer, by order dated 31.10.1998, granted financial approval for payment of salary to the petitioner. However, though the salary bill was initially processed, payment was not released. Subsequently, by order dated 12.04.1999, the District Basic Education Officer rejected the petitioner's claim for salary.

6. The petitioner challenged the order dated 12.04.1999 by filing Writ Petition No.21720 of 1999 [Smt. Ram Daiyee Devi and another vs. State of U.P. and others], in which, an interim order dated 31.10.2001 was passed directing payment of current salary to the petitioner in the same manner as being paid to Smt. Gayatri Rai. The writ petition was, however, dismissed by judgment dated 28.08.2003. Aggrieved thereby, the petitioner preferred Special Appeal No.1978 of 2009 [Smt. Ram Daiyee Devi and another vs. State of U.P. and others]. The Division Bench, by judgment dated 23.11.2012, allowed the appeal, set aside the judgment of the learned Single Judge and remitted the matter to the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh for fresh consideration. After affording an opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, the District Basic Education Officer passed the order dated 11.04.2013 rejecting the petitioner's claim for payment of salary. The said order dated 11.04.2013 has been challenged in the aforesaid writ petition i.e. Writ-A No.23422 of 2013 (Surendra Sharma vs. State of U.P. and 3 others) with the following prayer:

"a) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order impugned dated 11.4.2013 (Annexure-16 to the writ petition) passed by Respondent No.3- the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh.

b) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to ensure that petitioner is paid his arrears of salary from State Exchequer from the date his salary was stopped within the time specified by the Hon'ble Court.

(c) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to ensure that petitioner is paid current monthly salary from the State Exchequer as and it falls due.

d) to issue such other and further writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case; so that justice be done.

e) to award cost of the writ petition throughout to the Petitioner as against the respondents."

7. The aforesaid writ petition (Writ-A No.23422 of 2013) was filed by the petitioner claiming that he was entitled to receive salary after his institution was brought under the grant-in-aid scheme because he had been appointed against a sanctioned post and his appointment had been approved by the District Basic Education Officer on 03.11.1980. It was also claimed that another teacher of the same institution, Smt. Gayatri Rai, had been granted salary through court orders, and therefore denial of the same benefit to him was discriminatory.

8. Learned Single Judge noted that the petitioner had earlier filed a writ petition (No.21720 of 1999), which was dismissed on 28.08.2003, but in a special appeal (No.1978 of 2009), the Division Bench vide order dated 23.11.2012 directed the District Basic Education Officer to pass a fresh reasoned order, observing that mere non-fulfilment of the prescribed standard under the Government Order was not sufficient to deny salary. After considering the submissions, the learned Single Judge examined Clause 10 of the Government Order dated 03.05.1982, under which the institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list. The learned Single Judge held that Clause 10 specifically restricted payment of salary under the grant-in-aid scheme only to the teachers and employees working in Classes VI to VIII, and expressly excluded the teachers and employees working in the primary section (Classes I to V). Since the petitioner was admittedly appointed as a teacher in the primary section, he was not entitled to salary under the grant-in-aid scheme.

9. Learned Single Judge further held that the petitioner had never challenged the validity of Clause 10 of the Government Order, and after more than 31 years such a challenge could not be permitted. The benefit granted to Smt. Gayatri Rai could not be treated as a precedent because it had been granted through judicial intervention without consideration of Clause 10. No other Government order extending grant-in-aid benefits to primary teachers was produced before the Court. Accordingly, the learned Single Judge held that the petitioner was not entitled to payment of salary under the Government Order dated 03.05.1982 and dismissed the writ petition on 29.04.2013. Aggrieved with the said order, the instant intra-court appeal has been preferred.

Submissions made on behalf of Appellant: -

10. Shri J.P. Singh, learned counsel for the appellant-petitioner, vehemently submits that the learned Single Judge has erred in dismissing the writ petition by placing reliance upon Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982. He submits that the appellant's appointment had already been approved by the District Basic Education Officer on 03.11.1980 and, pursuant thereto, he was paid salary from the State Exchequer. It is contended that the Circular dated 03.05.1982 was issued subsequently and has no retrospective operation. He further submits that neither the Circular nor any statutory provision provides that salary already sanctioned to teachers of the Primary Section would stand discontinued. He argues that the authorities as well as the learned Single Judge have read Clause 10 of the Circular in isolation while ignoring the fact that the institution had already been brought under the grant-in-aid scheme in the year 1980 and the appellant had been granted approval before issuance of the Circular. Learned counsel further submits that Clause 14 of the same Circular provides protection to teachers appointed prior to the enforcement of the U.P. Recognized Basic Schools (Junior High Schools) (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Teachers) Rules, 19781, but the said provision has not been considered.

11. Learned counsel further submits that the learned Single Judge failed to appreciate that another Assistant Teacher of the same institution, namely Smt. Gayatri Rai, who was appointed on the same date and whose appointment had also been approved, has been receiving salary from the State Exchequer pursuant to the orders passed by this Court. He pressed that It is submitted that the claim of Smt. Gayatri Rai was based upon the judgment dated 15.10.1993, wherein this Court held that the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Junior High Schools (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 19782 (U.P. Act No.6 of 1979) apply to institutions having both Primary and Junior High School sections and that teachers of the Primary Section are also entitled to payment of salary. The said judgment was affirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court upon dismissal of the Special Leave Petition filed by the State. He further submitted that despite the matter having been remanded by the Division Bench for fresh consideration, the District Basic Education Officer rejected the appellant's claim solely on the basis of Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982, without properly considering the earlier approval granted to the appellant, the provisions of the U.P. Act No.6 of 1979 (The 1978 Act), or the binding judicial pronouncements governing the issue.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant-petitioner has placed heavy reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. v. Pawan Kumar Divedi. He submits that the very question involved in the present appeal - whether a teacher working in the primary section (Classes I to V) of an institution that also runs Classes VI to VIII is entitled to payment of salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act - stands conclusively answered by the Constitution Bench in favour of such teachers. He submits that the Supreme Court, having classified Junior High Schools into three categories, held that for an institution running Classes I to VIII as a single unit (the exact nature of the institution in question), the applicability of Section 10 of the 1978 Act "does not create any difficulty," and that even in the more contested category of institutions where the primary section is added later to an already-recognised Senior Basic School, primary-section teachers are equally entitled to salary under the said provision. Learned counsel submits that Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982, being a mere executive instruction, cannot be read to restrict a statutory liability that has since been authoritatively construed by the Supreme Court, and that the impugned order and judgment, having proceeded solely on the strength of Clause 10 without the benefit of this subsequent pronouncement, cannot be sustained.

13. Learned counsel has further placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in Singasan Sharma v. State of U.P. and 3 Others in support of the appellant's alternative submission that a teacher whose appointment has been duly approved by the competent authority cannot be denied salary merely on account of subsequent administrative reconsideration or technical objections. He submits that the Division Bench, following the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Radhey Shyam Yadav v. State of U.P., held that the State cannot take advantage of its own lapse, or that of its officers, in granting approval and thereafter deny salary and service benefits to an employee who is not himself at fault. Learned counsel submits that the appellant's appointment was approved by the District Basic Education Officer as far back as 03.11.1980, and that this approval has never been disturbed or withdrawn by any competent authority.

Submissions made on behalf of the State-respondents: -

14. Per contra, Shri J.N. Maurya, learned Chief Standing Counsel along with Shri Fuzail Ahmad Ansari, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents, supports the judgment of the learned Single Judge as well as the order dated 11.04.2013 passed by the District Basic Education Officer. He submits that although the appellant was initially paid salary after the institution was brought under the grant-in-aid scheme, the payment was rightly discontinued from October, 1981 as the appellant was working in the Primary Section attached to the Junior High School and was not entitled to receive salary from the State Exchequer under the provisions governing payment of salaries. He submits that the appellant's claim was considered on several occasions. His representation was rejected by the District Basic Education Officer on 12.04.1999, whereafter Writ Petition No.21720 of 1999 was dismissed by the learned Single Judge on 28.08.2003. Although the Division Bench, in Special Appeal No.1978 of 2009, remitted the matter for fresh consideration, the District Basic Education Officer, after reconsidering the matter in terms of the remand order, has again rejected the appellant's claim by order dated 11.04.2013.

15. Learned Standing Counsel further submits that the District Basic Education Officer rightly relied upon Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982, which specifically provides that salary under the 1978 Act is payable only to teachers and employees working in Classes VI to VIII and not to those working in the attached Primary Section comprising Classes I to V. He next submitted that the learned Single Judge, while dismissing Writ Petition No.23422 of 2013 by judgment dated 29.04.2013, also held that the institution was governed by Clause 10 of the said Circular and that the payment of salary to Smt. Gayatri Rai could not be treated as a precedent in the absence of any grant-in-aid order extending such benefit to teachers of the Primary Section. Learned Standing Counsel also places reliance upon the amendments introduced by the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Amendment) Ordinance, 2017 and the corresponding amendment in the 1978 Act, whereby "Junior Basic School" and "Junior High School" have been separately defined. He submits that the amendments reinforce the distinction between the two institutions and support the stand taken by the State. He, therefore, submits that the present special appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

Discussion and Findings: -

16. Before dealing with the rival contentions, it is necessary to notice the statutory provision under which the claim is made. Section 10 of the 1978 Act reads as follows:

"10. Liability in respect of salary. (1) The State Government shall be liable for payment of salaries of teachers and employees of every institution due in respect of any period after the appointed day.

(2) The State Government may recover any amount in respect of which any liability is incurred by it under sub-section (1) by attachment of the income from the property belonging to or vested in the institution as if that amount were an arrear of land revenue due from the institution.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to derogate from the liability of the institution for any such dues to the teacher or employee."

17. The word "institution" is defined in Section 2(e) of the 1978 Act as "a recognized Junior High School for the time being receiving maintenance grant from the State Government." At the relevant time, the expression "Junior High School" itself stood undefined in the 1978 Act. It is this gap that led to the dispute decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra).

18. The Constitution Bench in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) considered the same issue that arises in this appeal. The question was whether a teacher working in the primary section (Classes I to V) of a school that also runs Classes VI to VIII is entitled to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act, or whether this benefit is available only to teachers of Classes VI to VIII. In paragraph 42, the Supreme Court divided such schools into three categories:

"42. It is important to notice here that recognised Junior High Schools can be of three kinds:

(i) having Classes I to VIII, i.e., Classes I to V (Junior Basic School) and so also Classes VI to VIII (Senior Basic School);

(ii) a school as above and upgraded to High School or intermediate standard and;

(iii) Classes VI to VIII (Senior Basic School) initially with no Junior Basic School (Classes I to V) being part of the said school."

(emphasis supplied)

19. The Supreme Court held that there was no difficulty in applying Section 10 of the 1978 Act to the first two categories of schools. It observed that where a school has Classes I to VIII, or where such a school is later upgraded, all teachers are covered by Section 10. The Court further explained that if a Primary School (Classes I to V) is added to a recognised and aided Junior High School (Classes VI to VIII), both sections become one integrated Basic School. Therefore, the expression "Junior High School" in the 1978 Act should not be given a narrow meaning. It refers to a Basic School imparting education up to Class VIII, and not merely to Classes VI to VIII. For ready reference, paras - 42.1 and 42.2 are reproduced hereinbelow:

"42.1. As regards the first two categories of Junior High Schools, the applicability of Section 10 of the 1978 Act does not create any difficulty*. The debate which has centered round in this group of appeals is in respect of third category of the schools where Classes I to V are added after obtaining recognition to the schools which are recognized and aided for imparting education in Classes VI to VIII. Whether teachers of primary section Classes I to V in such schools are entitled to the benefit of Section 10 of the 1978 Act is the moot question.*

42.2. As noticed, the constitutional obligation of the state to provide for free and compulsory education of children till they complete the age of 14 years is beyond doubt now. The note appended to clause (xxvi), para 1 of the Educational Code (revised edition, 1958), inter alia, provides that Basic Schools include single schools with Classes I to VIII. In our view, if a Junior Basic School (Classes I to V) is added after obtaining necessary recognition to a recognized and aided Senior Basic School (Classes VI to VIII), then surely such Junior Basic School becomes integral part of one school, i.e., Basic School having Classes I to VIII. The expression Junior High School in the 1978 Act is intended to refer to the schools imparting basic education, i.e., education up to VIII class. We do not think it is appropriate to give narrow meaning to the expression Junior High School as contended by the learned senior counsel for the state. That Legislature used the expression Junior High School and not the Basic School as used and defined in the 1972 Act, in our view, is insignificant. The view, which we have taken, is fortified by the fact that in Section 2(j) of the 1978 Act, the expressions defined in the 1972 Act are incorporated."

20. The Hon ble Supreme Court also decided the issue relating to the third category of schools, where the primary section was added after the Junior High School had already received recognition and grant-in-aid. The Court held that teachers of the primary section are also entitled to the benefit of Section 10 of the 1978 Act. It observed that both the Primary and Junior High School sections are governed by the same Board of Basic Education under the 1972 Act. The Hon ble Supreme Court further held that denying salary to primary teachers in such schools would result in unequal treatment and could make the 1978 Act unconstitutional. Therefore, the Court affirmed its earlier decision in Vinod Sharma vs. Director of Education (Basic) U.P.6 and held that the expression "Junior High School" includes Classes I to V even where those classes were added later after obtaining separate recognition. For ready reference, para-44 of Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) is reproduced hereinbelow:

"44. Though in the Reference Order, the two-Judge Bench has observed that the High Court in the first round in Vinod Sharma (1998) 3 SCC 404 did not appreciate that the education at the primary level has been separated from the Junior High School level and separately entrusted under the different enactments to the Board constituted under Section 3 of the 1972 Act and the same Board exercises control over Junior Basic Schools and it was a conscious distinction made by the Legislature between two sets of schools and treat them two separate components and, therefore, Vinod Sharma vs. Director of Education (Basic) U.P. (1998) 3 SCC 404 does not take the correct view but we think that the features noted in the reference order do not render the view taken in Vinod Sharma (supra) bad. We find merit in the argument of Dr. M.P. Raju that the schools having the Junior Basic Schools and the Senior Basic Schools either separately or together are under the same Board, i.e., the Board of Basic Education, as per the 1972 Act. Moreover, any other view may render the provisions of the 1978 Act unconstitutional on the ground of discrimination. In our considered view, any interpretation which may lead to unconstitutionality of the provision must be avoided. We hold, as it must be, that Junior High School necessarily includes Classes I to V when they are opened in a Senior Basic School (Classes VI to VIII) after obtaining separate recognition and for which there may not be a separate order of grant-in-aid by the Government."

45. We accordingly affirm the view taken by the three-Judge Bench in Vinod Sharma (supra). Our answer to the question is in the affirmative "

21. The above principles fully apply to the present case. Smt. Ram Daiyee Balika Junior High School, Dariya Dayalpur, Azamgarh, was recognized as a Primary School on 30.03.1974 and was recognized as a Junior High School with effect from 01.07.1977. Since then, it has been functioning as one institution running Classes I to VIII under the same management. It clearly falls within the first category identified in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra), where the Supreme Court held that Section 10 applies without any difficulty. Therefore, the appellant, who worked as a teacher in the primary section of this institution, is also a teacher of an institution covered by Section 10 of the 1978 Act.

22. This question has already been decided in respect of the same institution. By judgment dated 15.10.1993 in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 10389 of 1991 (Smt. Jagdamba Srivastava & Another), a learned Single Judge of this Court rejected the State's argument that only teachers of Classes VI to VIII are entitled to salary under the 1978 Act. The Court held that since the institution runs both the Primary and Junior High School sections, the 1978 Act applies to all classes, and teachers of both sections are entitled to salary under the 1978 Act. The Court held as under:

" .. The institution is a Junior High School which runs both Primary as well as Junior High School sections, U.P. Act No. 6 of 1979, therefore, will be applicable to all the classes including Primary and Junior High School sections and all the teachers of Primary or Junior High School are entitled for payment of salary under the said act."

23. The judgment dated 15.10.1993 became final because the Special Leave Petition filed by the State against it was dismissed. Thus, even before the Constitution Bench decision in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra), this Court had already taken the same view in respect of this very institution.

24. However, the order dated 11.04.2013 passed by the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh, and the judgment dated 29.04.2013 passed by the learned Single Judge are based entirely on Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982 issued by the Director of Education (Basic), U.P. Clause 10 provides that salary under the Payment of Salaries Act is payable only to teachers and other employees working in Classes VI to VIII, and that the benefit is not available to teachers and employees working in Classes I to V. The Clause 10 reads as under:

"10- अनुलग्नक में उल्लिखित विद्यालयों में कक्षा 6 से 8 तक के लिये कार्यरत अध्यापकों एवं अन्य कर्मचारियों को ही वेतन वितरण अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत वेतनादि का भुगतान किया जाय। किसी भी विद्यालय से संलग्नक कक्षा 1 से 5 तक की कक्षाओं में कार्यरत अध्यापक एवं अन्य कर्मचारियों पर ये आदेश लागू न होगे। अतः उन कर्मचारियो को किसी भी प्रकार का कोई अनुदान अन्य आदेशों के अन्तर्गत देय न होगा।"

25. Clause 10 provides that, under the 1978 Act, salary is payable only to teachers and other employees working in Classes VI to VIII of the schools listed in the Annexure. It further states that the 1978 Act will not apply to teachers and employees working in the attached Primary Section (Classes I to V), and that no grant will be payable to them under any other order. However, this clause is only an executive instruction issued by the Director of Education for implementing the grant-in-aid scheme of 1982. It cannot limit or take away a right created by Section 10 of the 1978 Act. Once the Supreme Court has interpreted the scope of Section 10, that interpretation is binding. An executive circular cannot override or narrow the meaning of a statutory provision as explained by the Supreme Court. Therefore, the learned Single Judge and the District Basic Education Officer erred in relying only on Clause 10 to hold that teachers of the Primary Section were not entitled to salary. They failed to consider Section 10 of the 1978 Act in the light of the law laid down by Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra). For this reason, their finding cannot be sustained.

26. It is also necessary to clarify another point on which the learned Single Judge appears to have been mistaken. The learned Single Judge held that the appellant could not challenge Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982 after a gap of 31 years. This reasoning would have been correct if the appellant had challenged the validity of Clause 10 itself. However, that is not the appellant's case. The appellant has consistently maintained that he is entitled to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act, irrespective of Clause 10. This issue depends on the correct interpretation of Section 10, which was authoritatively settled by the Constitution Bench in 2014. Therefore, there is no question of delay or limitation in relying upon the later decision of the Supreme Court interpreting the existing law.

27. It is also important to notice that the law was later amended. By the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Amendment) Ordinance, 2017, Section 2 of the U.P. Basic Education Act, 1972 was changed to define a "Junior Basic School" as a school teaching Classes I to V and a "Junior High School" as a school teaching Classes VI to VIII. At the same time, clause (ee) was added to Section 2 of the 1978 Act, which defines a "Junior High School" as an institution imparting education from Classes VI to VIII. Section 2 provides as follows:

"(ee) "Junior High School" means an institution which is different from High School or Intermediate College in which education is imparted to boys or girls or to both from class sixth to class eight."

28. This amendment, introduced by U.P. Act No. 3 of 2018, gives statutory effect to the narrower meaning of "Junior High School" which the Constitution Bench in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) had earlier rejected. However, this is a substantive change in the law and therefore applies only from the date it came into force. It does not affect the appellant's claim for salary for the period before the amendment, because that claim is governed by the law laid down in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra).

29. This view is supported by the recent decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Directorate of Revenue Intelligence v. Raj Kumar Arora and Others. In that case, the Court considered whether a later Supreme Court judgment, which overruled an earlier one, would apply to cases that were already pending when the later judgment was delivered. The Court held that, as a general rule, Supreme Court judgments interpreting a statute apply retrospectively. Such a judgment does not create a new law but only declares what the law has always meant. Therefore, even cases filed before the later judgment are governed by the law as clarified by that judgment, and not by the earlier view that has been overruled. The Court also clarified that this rule applies unless it expressly states that its decision will operate only prospectively.

30. The Constitution Bench judgment in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) contains no such direction limiting its operation to future cases. Accordingly, the general rule of retrospective application, as explained in Raj Kumar Arora (supra), fully applies. The interpretation placed by the Constitution Bench on Section 10 of the 1978 Act must therefore be treated as declaring the true meaning of that provision from the very beginning and governs the present appeal, which has remained pending throughout.

31. This principle, however, has an important limitation. It does not reopen cases that had already become final before the law was clarified. The Supreme Court expressly recognised this limitation in Raj Kumar Arora (supra), holding that judgments which had already attained finality under the earlier view would remain undisturbed. The same principle is reflected in the Explanation to Order XLVII Rule 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and in the consistent decisions of the Supreme Court that a subsequent change in law by a coordinate or larger Bench is not, by itself, a ground to review a judgment that has already become final, as held in Sanjay Kumar Agarwal v. State Tax Officer, and State (NCT of Delhi) v. K.L. Rathi Steels Ltd. This limitation would equally have applied to the appellant if his own claim had become final before 2014, a point discussed further below.

32. Learned counsel for the appellant also relied on the judgment of Singasan Sharma (supra). That case, however, did not deal with the interpretation of Section 10 of the 1978 Act. It was related to the denial of retirement benefits to teachers whose appointments had been approved many years earlier, on the basis of a later administrative inquiry, despite an earlier court decision that had become final. Relying on Radhey Shyam Yadav v. State of U.P., the Division Bench held that once a teacher's appointment has been approved and the teacher has served for many years, salary and service benefits cannot be denied merely because of procedural irregularities or mistakes committed by the management or the authorities. A teacher who is not at fault cannot be made to suffer for such lapses. The Division Bench held in para-10, that:

"10. To further support his contention, learned counsel for the appellants relies on the decision of the Supreme Court in Radhey Shyam Yadav v. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others, (2024) 11 SCC 770, wherein Supreme Court examined the question whether a teacher, whose appointment had been approved by the competent authority and who had discharged duties for a considerable length of time, could be denied salary and service benefits on the ground of alleged irregularities in appointment. In this case the Supreme Court held that once an appointment is approved and the teacher has worked for years, salary cannot be withheld merely on the basis of procedural lapses or alleged irregularities attributable to the management or the authorities. It was further held that the State cannot be permitted to take advantage of its own lapse, or that of its officers, in granting approval and thereafter deny salary and service benefits. The Court emphasised that a teacher who is not at fault cannot be penalised for alleged mistakes of the management, especially when the employee has in fact rendered service and the employer has enjoyed the benefit thereof."

33. Although the issue decided in Singasan Sharma (supra) was different, the principle laid down in that case supports the appellant to the extent that his appointment was approved by the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh on 03.11.1980, and that approval has never been cancelled or withdrawn. However, unlike Singasan Sharma (supra), there is no specific pleading in the present case to show that the appellant actually continued to teach in the institution throughout the entire period for which salary is claimed. This is a separate question of fact. It is different from the legal question of entitlement under Section 10 and is considered separately below.

34. It is also necessary to note that the record does not show the appellant's employment status after the dismissal of his writ petition on 29.04.2013. It is not clear whether he continued in service, retired on attaining the age of superannuation, or whether his service ended for any other reason. This appeal has been decided only on the question of his entitlement to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act for the period during which he actually taught in the institution. Since no issue regarding his employment status after 29.04.2013 has been raised or argued, this Court expresses no opinion on that question. If, during the fresh consideration, it is found that the appellant's service ended after 29.04.2013, whether by resignation, removal, retirement, or otherwise, he shall be entitled to salary only for the period during which he actually remained in service. No direction for payment of salary beyond that date shall follow from this judgment. However, if the appellant claims that his service was discontinued illegally, he shall be free to seek any remedy available to him in law. This judgment does not decide that issue.

Effect of the change in the legal landscape: -

35. It is important to understand the mistake in the present case. The order dated 11.04.2013 passed by the District Basic Education Officer and the judgment dated 29.04.2013 passed by the learned Single Judge were delivered before the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court decided Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra). Therefore, neither of them had the benefit of that decision. The mistake was not that they incorrectly applied the law as it was then understood. The correct legal position was clarified only later by the Constitution Bench.

36. When the impugned orders were passed, the question whether a teacher of the Primary Section in a school having Classes I to VIII was entitled to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act had not been finally settled. The issue was pending before a larger Bench of the Supreme Court because the earlier decision in Vinod Sharma (supra) had been doubted. In these circumstances, the District Basic Education Officer and the learned Single Judge cannot be blamed for relying on Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982, as that was the legal position understood at that time. This judgment should not be taken as criticism of their approach.

37. However, while deciding this appeal, this Court must apply the law as it stands today. It is a settled principle that when the Supreme Court interprets a statutory provision, it explains what the law has always meant. It does not create a new law from the date of its judgment. Therefore, the decision in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) applies to the present case, and this Court is bound to follow it.

38. This appeal has been pending since 1999. During this period, the law relating to the appellant's claim was finally settled by the Supreme Court while the case was still pending. Therefore, the appeal must be decided according to the law declared by the Supreme Court, and not according to the legal position that existed when the impugned orders were passed.

39. The instant case is not a case where the dispute stood finally decided before the Constitution Bench delivered its judgment. We express no opinion on such cases. In the present case, the appellant's claim never attained finality. The Division Bench, by its order dated 23.11.2012 in Special Appeal No. 1978 of 2009, remanded the matter for fresh consideration whereafter the respondent no.3 passed the impugned order on 11.04.2013. The same was challenged in writ petition which was decided on 29.04.2013, which has been assailed in the present special appeal. The lis was pending before this court since 2013. Therefore the law laid down in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra) fully applies to the present case.

Conclusion: -

40. For the reasons discussed above, we hold as follows:

(i) The institution is a single Junior High School running Classes I to VIII. It falls within the first category identified by the Constitution Bench in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra), where the Supreme Court held that Section 10 of the 1978 Act clearly applies.

(ii) Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982 is only an executive instruction. It cannot override Section 10 of the 1978 Act as interpreted by the Constitution Bench.

Therefore, the District Basic Education Officer and the learned Single Judge were not justified in relying on that circular to deny salary to the appellant.

(iii) The appellant's claim is not barred by delay. He is not challenging the validity of Clause 10 of the Circular. He is only claiming the benefit of the correct interpretation of Section 10 of the 1978 Act, as later declared by the Supreme Court.

(iv) The 2018 amendment, which gives a narrower meaning to the expression "Junior High School", applies only from the date it came into force. It does not affect the appellant's claim for salary for the period before the amendment.

(v) The judgment dated 29.04.2013 passed by the learned Single Judge and the order dated 11.04.2013 passed by the District Basic Education Officer were based only on interpretation of Clause 10 of the Circular dated 03.05.1982, but in the light of the law later laid down in Pawan Kumar Divedi, they cannot be sustained.

(vi) However, the appellant will be entitled to salary under Section 10 of the 1978 Act only for the period during which he actually worked and taught in the institution. Since there is no clear pleading or material on record showing the exact period of service, this Court cannot determine the amount of salary payable. That exercise should be carried out by the competent authority after examining the relevant service and attendance records.

Final Order(s):-

41. In view of the aforesaid, the judgment and order dated 29.04.2013 passed by the learned Single Judge in Civil Misc. Writ Petition-A No.23422 of 2013, as well as the order dated 11.04.2013 passed by respondent No. 3, the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh, are hereby set aside. The special appeal is accordingly disposed of with the following directions:

(i) The matter is remitted to the District Basic Education Officer, Azamgarh, for fresh consideration in the light of the law laid down in Pawan Kumar Divedi (supra). The District Basic Education Officer shall verify, from the service records, attendance registers, and any other relevant material, (i) the period during which the appellant actually imparted education in the institution, and (ii) whether he has retired, or his service ended, and if so, from which date? If it is found that the appellant actually worked in the institution, he shall be paid arrears of salary for the verified period, from November 1981 up to the earlier of (a) the commencement of U.P. Act No. 3 of 2018, or (b) the date on which his service came to an end. This judgment does not decide any dispute regarding the end of his service and does not prevent him from taking any other legal remedy available to him if he claims that his service was terminated illegally or involuntarily.

(ii) This exercise shall be completed within a period of three months from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before the District Basic Education Officer, after affording an opportunity of hearing to the appellant.

(iii) There shall be no order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjiv Kumar, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed, under Section 374 (2) Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, (in short Cr.P.C.), by appellant Smt. Ambika, against the impugned judgment and order dated 09.02.1984 passed by Shri R.B.L Dohare IVth, Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur, in Sessions Trial No.106 of 1983 (State Vs. Ambika and Another), arising out of Case Crime No. 61 of 1981, under Section 304 (1) I.P.C., Police Station- Birno, District- Ghazipur.

2. By the impugned judgment and order dated 09.02.1984, the learned trial court has convicted the appellant Smt. Ambika for offence punishable under Section 304 (1) of the Indian Penal Code (in short IPC) and sentenced her to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 5 years.

3. Brief facts of the prosecution case are that Sabas, brother of deceased Rajjan, resident of Madhuban, Police Station- Birno, District- Ghazipur, submitted a written application, dated 12.05.1981, before Incharge Police Station- Birno, at 14:45, stating therein that today at about 01:00 p.m. a quarrel occurred between Baza's daughters and women of Rajjan's house. Thereupon, Rajjan reached there to intervene, then either of Baza's daughters and son, namely, Ambika, Dullu, Jamua and Munna, who was involved in the quarrel, asssulted a moosal (a long wooden pestle used for grinding grains) upon Rajjan which incidentally struck over his head. He was given first-aid treatment, but after a while he died, after spitting blood from his nose and mouth. The above incident was witnessed by Rambriksh, Gainda and other persons. Upon this application, FIR under Case Crime No. 61 of 1981, Section 304 I.P.C was lodged at Police Station- Birno, on 12.05.1985, at 14:45, and the investigation was entrusted to SHO G.R. Sharma.

4. The investigation officer conducted investigation. He recorded statements of the first informant and other witnesses, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared its site-plan. The inquest of the deceased was prepared and the post-mortem was carried out. After investigation charge-sheet has been filed against the appellant Smt. Ambika and other co-accused Smt. Dullu @ Shyam Dulari, Smt. Jamua @ Ram Pyari and Munna under Section 304 I.P.C. before the concerned Magistrate court.

5. The court concerned took cognizance of the offence and summoned the accused. They appeared before the court and copies of relevant prosecution papers were furnished to them under Section 207 Cr.P.C. and thereafter the case was committed to Court of Sessions for trial.

6. The accused appeared before the learned court of Sessions, where charge under section 304 IPC was framed against Smt. Ambika and charge under Section 304 read with 34 IPC was framed against all other co-accused, Dullu @ Shyam Dulari, Jamua @ Ram Pyari and Munna. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

7. The prosecution has examined five witnesses, to wit, P.W.1 Dr. A.K. Goswami; P.W. 2 Sabas; P.W.3 Rambriksh; P.W.4 Smt. Sudeshwari and P.W. 5 S.I. Ganesh Ram Sharma, to prove its case.

8. P.W. 1 Dr. A.K. Goswami, is the formal witness, who has conducted post-mortem of deceased Rajjan on 13.05.1981 at District Hospital- Ghazipur. His cadavour was brought by Constable Ram Chandra and Constable Mangala Pandey. P.W.1 has stated that rigor mortis was present on lower limb and had passed through upper limb. The eyes were out and blood was oozing out from both nostrils, ear and mouth. He found following ante-mortem injuries over body:-

(i) Contusion with swelling 10 cm x 5 cm to the right side of head, 6 cm above right ear.
(ii) An abrasion 6 cm x 3 cm at the middle of head, 8 cm above the root of nose.

9. In internal examination, the skull bones were fractured. The front part of skull and parietal bones were fractured. Both the chambers of heart were empty. Small intestine contained semi-digested food and fecal matter was present in large intestine. The bladder was empty. The death of deceased had occurred due to above injuries as a result of shock. The death could have been occurred on 12.05.1981 at 01:00 p.m. and the above injury could have been caused by moosal. P.W. 1 has proved post mortem as Ext.Ka.1.

10. In cross-examination he has said that injury no.2 could have been caused by falling on the ground and injury no.1 could be caused by any blunt weapon.

11. P.W.2 Sabas, is the real brother of the deceased and is also the first informant of the case. He has stated that Rajjan was his real brother and he was living separately from him. Accused Smt. Ambika, Dullu and Smt. Jumua are real sisters. Co-accused Munna is their real brother. All of them are Baza's children. Baza's daughters have bad character. On the date of incident at about 01:00 p.m. Smt. Ambika had struck a moosal upon Rajjan at the door, in his courtyard. Baza's son-in-law, who is Smt. Ambika's bahnoi (brother-in-law), came at Rajjan's door and was talking to Rajjan's wife then all the four accused reached there stating that she is backbiting against us and started having quarrel with Rajjan's wife. When Rajjan reached there to intervene, Dullu, Jamua and Munna caught hold of him and Smt. Ambika struck moosal upon him, as a result he died. P.W. 2 has stated that he was not witness of the alleged incident and he came to know of the incident through witness Gaina and Ram Briksh. He has also said that he got the application written through Raghunath Tiwari and after putting his thumb impression lodged the FIR, which the witness has proved as Ext. Ka.2.

12. In cross-examination, P.W.2 has said that before lodging the report it had came to his knowledge that Ambika had struck moosal at the deceased, and he can not explain the reason if it is not written in the FIR. He has said that the accused were not beaten and they may have sustained injuries due to scuffle. The blood was splattered on the ground, but the Investigating Officer had not collected it. He has denied the suggestion that Rajjan and others came to Ambika's house and had beaten them and Rajjan sustained injuries when they exercised their right of private defence.

13. P.W. 3 Ram Briksh, is the eye-witness of the alleged incident. He has stated that at the time of incident he was smoking hookah in front of Rajjan's door in presence of other persons, then Baza's son-in-law, Brahmdeo, reached there and after greeting them, started having talk with Rajjan's wife then, all the four accused reached there and started quarreling with Rajjan's wife that you are backbiting him against us. Rajjan came and tried to separate them, then Ambika who was carrying moosal in her hand struck it over Rajjan's head and the other three accused caught hold of him, Rajjan fell on the ground and died after a while.

14. In cross-examination P.W.3 has said that Rajjan came at the place when the quarrel has started. Nobody has beaten the accused before him. They were not beaten and they could have sustained injuries due to scuffle. Rajjan and others were not having any lathi and danda in their hands. He did not see any injury over the accused. Smt. Ambika was having moosal in her hand and rest of the accused were empty handed. After hitting moosal the blood had splattered on the ground. He did not see whether Rajjan's wife sustained injuries or not. He did not beat the accused after taking them to his house. He has denied the suggestion that the accused have sustained injuries due to his beating.

15. P.W. 4 Smt. Sudeshwari, is the wife of deceased Rajjan. She has stated that Baza's son-in-law had came at her door. Ram Briksh, Gaina and some women was also present there. He was taking her well being, then Smt. Ambika, Dullu, Jamua and Munna started altercation/ quarrell. Munna, Dullu and Jamua caught hold of Rajjan and Smt. Ambika struck a moosal upon Rajjan's head, due to which her husband died.

16. In cross-examination P.W.4 has said that no maarpeet happened between her and the accused. She did not beat any of them. The accused had abused and beaten her due to her having talk with their relative. Smt. Ambika's door is visible from her door, which is about three lattha away. The accused had abused at her house. Her husband objected to it, then the accused also abused her husband for about 10-5 minutes. When she was being beaten, none of the accused were having moosal in their hands. A chauka with regard to a marrizage was made at Munna's door and moosal and okhli was kept there. Her husband was trying to save her when she was being beaten by the accused. Then, the accused caught hold of her husband and Jamuva said "ja behan moosal la maar de". Smt. Ambika brought moosal from her house and struck her husband. Ram Briksh was smoking hookah. The maarpeet took place in open ground which is adjacent to her door. None of the accused sustained any injury and she did not beat them.

17. P.W. 5 S.I. Ganesh Ram Sharma, is the Investigating Officer of the case. He has stated about the investigation conducted by him and as a secondary witness to Constable Moharrir Beer Bhadra Singh, he has proved FIR as Ext.Ka.2 and copy of G.D. as Ext.Ka.3. He has stated that he reached at the place of occurrence and took into possession the dead body of the deceased. The Panchas were appointed and then inquest was prepared, which the witness has proved as Ext.Ka.5 alongwith connecting papers as Ext.Ka.6 to Ext.Ka.9. He has said that at the time of preparation of inquest he collected blood stained clothes from the spot and also moosal and prepared its (recovery memo) fard baramadagi, which he has proved as Ext.Ka.10. He proved the site-plan as Ext.Ka.11. After collecting the post-mortem report and other evidence he submitted charge-sheet under Section 304 IPC, which he has proved as Ext.Ka.12.

18. In cross-examination P.W.5 has said that the accused were arrested the same day and there were some injuries over their bodies which they may have been sustained in this quarrel. He found that Rajjan had beaten Ambika and Ambika and others had beaten Rajjan. He came to the conclusion that deceased Rajjan had beaten Ambika and in self-defense they had beaten him. He has further said that due to some confusion he has written that "ghar par chad kar likhne ki baat" . He has denied the suggestion that the accused had gone to the police station to lodge the FIR the same day, but they were arrested and to conceal this fact their medical examination was conducted the next day. Witness Sabas has not stated that three accused had caught hold of Rajjan and Ambika had struck moosal upon Rajjan's head. Sudeshwari had not stated that the accused had beaten her with fists and kicks. Sudeshwari had told that she had not sustained any injury. Sudeshwari has not told that Munna, Jamua and Dullu had caught hold of her husband and Ambika had struck him with moosal. Ram Briksh has not stated that Munna, Dullu and Jamua had caught hold of Rajjan. Ram Briksh has also not stated that the women were having quarrel with each other.

19. After closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which they have denied the prosecution case. It is admitted that deceased Rajjan was first informant's real brother. It is also admitted that accused Ambika, Dully and Jamua are real sisters and Munna is their real brother and they are Baza's children. It is also admitted that Dharmdeo is their bahnoi (brother-in-law). It is submitted by accused that witnesses are deposing against them due to enmity, as one of the witness is the wife of the deceased and the other is his brother. Appellant Ambika has further said that Rajjan and Sudeshwari came at their door and started hurling abusive language and also had beaten them, in defence Rajjan sustained injuries. The defence has filed the copy of statement of Sudeshwari which was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the I.O. as Ext.Kha.1 and Ext.Kha.2.

20. The accused have examined two witnesses, to wit, D.W.1 Dr. O.D. Singh and D.W.2 Constable Prem Shankar Pathak in their defence.

21. D.W.1 Dr. O.D. Singh has said that on 13.05.1981 he was posted as medical officer at Police Station- Birno, District- Ghazipur. On that day Constable Dayaram Yadav and Pratap Yadav brought Ambika Devi, Dullu @ Shyam Dulari and Jamua for medical examination. He conducted their medical examination between 10:30 a.m. to 11:40 a.m. and prepared their injury reports, the copy of which has been proved by the witness as Ext.Kha 3 to 6.

22. In cross-examination D.W.1 has said that none of the injuries to the injured could be manufactured and they could have been caused on 12.05.1981 at about 01:00 p.m.

23. D.W.2, Constable Prem Shankar Pathak, is a formal witness, who has stated that on 13.05.1981, Ambika Devi was already in custody and upon her report, Constable Beer Bhadra had scribed NCR No. 107 at 06:50 a.m. As secondary witness he has proved the handwriting and signature of Constable Beer Bhadra Singh and accordingly, proved NCR as Ext.Kha.7 and its G.D. as Ext.Kha-8.

24. In cross-examination D.W.2, he has said that Beer Bhadra Singh, is currently posted in Phoolpur, District- Varanasi.

25. Learned trial court after perusing the evidence on record and hearing the arguments of learned Counsel for both the parties, came to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant Ambika Devi. So far as the rest of the accused are concerned, the prosecution has not been able to prove their case, therefore, co-accused Dullu @ Shyam Dulari, Jamua @ Ram Pyari and Munna were acquitted and Smt. Ambika Devi was convicted for offence punishable under Section 304(1) IPC and was sentenced to the term as indicated above.

26. Heard Shri Devendra Vikram Singh, learned Counsel for the appellant and Shri Akhilesh Kumar Mishra, learned A.G.A on behalf of the State and perused the material on record.

27. It is submitted by learned Counsel for the appellant that there are material contradictions in the statement of public witnesses, which raises serious doubt over the prosecution case. It is further submitted that there is no explanation of the injuries sustained by all the four accused and thus, the genesis and origin of the incident has been suppressed by the prosecution, which raises serious doubt over the prosecution case. It is also submitted that the matter relates to cross-case and FIR on behalf of the appellant was lodged and the investigating Officer has himself stated that the deceased was aggressor and he saw injuries over the person of the accused persons, when they came to the police station. It is also submitted it is the deceased and his wife who came to the house of the appellant and abused and committed maarpeet with them and the deceased sustained injuries when the accused exercised their right of private defence. Therefore, the learned trial court failed to appreciate the evidence on record, correctly and reach at the wrong conclusion of the guilt of the appellant.

28. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has submitted that the testimony of public witnesses is consistent, reliable and trustworthy. The oral testimony is supported with medical evidence. The minor contradictions have no bearing over the prosecution case and thus, the learned trial court has correctly reached at the guilt of the appellant and has rightly convicted and sentenced the appellant. Therefore, this appeal has no force and is liable to be dismissed.

29. In a criminal case, the burden of proof lies upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. In the present case, the allegation against the appellant is that she along with other co-accused, in furtherance of their common intention, committed culpable homicide not amounting to murder, of deceased Rajjan. The alleged incident has occurred on 12.05.1981 by 01:00 p.m. in village Madhaban, Police Station- Birno, District- Ghazipur. The FIR was lodged the same day at about 14:45. The distance of the place of occurrence from the police station is one kilometer, therefore, within an hour and forty-five minutes the FIR was lodged. Thus the FIR was lodged promptly.

30. It is not in dispute that the FIR was lodge against appellant Smt. Ambika, Smt. Dullu @ Shyam Dulari, Smt. Jamua @ Ram Pyari and Munna, all the four accused are brother and sisters. The prosecution case is that there occurred a quarrel between Baza's daughter and women of Rajjan, and when Rajjan reached there to intervene then someone from the accused hit a moosal over Rajjan's head, as a result, he died after a little while. Prosecution has examined P.W.2 Sabas, the first informant, who is the real brother of deceased Rajjan. The prosecution has also examined P.W.3 Ram Briksh, the eye-witness and P.W.4 Smt. Sudeshwari, the wife of the deceased- Rajjan, as witnesses of fact.

31. So far as P.W.2 Sabas is concerned, he is not an eye-witness. He has stated in examination-in-chief itself, that he has not seen the incident and the incident was told to him by the Ram Briksh and Gaina. Therefore, P.W.2 is simply the first informant, therefore, his testimony is relevant to the extent that he lodged the FIR of the incident.

32. P.W.3 Ram Briksh is said to be eye-witness of the alleged incident and as per prosecution he was sitting at the door of Rajjan's house smoking Hookah when Baza's son-in-law, Brahmdeo, came and started having conversation with Rajjan's wife, then all the four accused reached there and started having quarrel with Rajjan's wife that she is backbiting about them. When Rajjan tried to pacify then Ambika who was carrying a moosal hit it over his head and the other accused caught hold of Rajjan. Rajjan fell on the ground and died after a while.

33. In cross-examination he has said that nobody assaulted the accused and he did not see any injury to any of the accused from his eyes and none had beaten the accused with lathi or danda. P.W.3's statement is not reliable due to the reason that all the four accused sustained injuries and their injury reports has been proved by D.W.1 Dr. O.D. Singh. A perusal of these injury reports Ext. Ka.3 to 6 shows that accused Munna sustained four injuries of the nature of lacerated wound over the right side of back of head and two contusions over left scapula region and abrasion over right side of wrist joint. Accused Smt. Ambika Devi sustained four injuries of the nature of contusion and abraded contusion over left side of back of scapula region, middle of left finger and left forearm. Accused Dullu @Shyam Dulari sustained one lacerated wound scalp deep over right side of head and Smt. Jamua @ Ram Pyari sustained contusion over right shoulder joint and complain of pain over right scapula region. In the opinion of doctor all the injuries were simple in nature. In this regard, the statement of Investigating Officer is relevant who as P.W.5 has stated that he had seen some injuries over the accused persons which they sustained in this quarrel/ incident. The I.O. has also said that during investigation he found that deceased Rajjan had beaten Ambika and Ambika and others have beaten Rajjan. He also came to the conclusion that deceased Rajjan reached at Ambika's house "ghar par chadkar aaye" and committed maarpeet and the accused exercised their right of private defence causing injuries to him. The above statement of I.O. shows that the accused sustained injuries in the same incident.

34. The defence has examined D.W.2 Constable, Prem Shankar Pathak, who has proved NCR which was lodged by the appellant Ambika Devi. It shows that the appellant had also lodged an FIR against the first informant's party, so in view of the statement of the Investigating Officer and D.W.1 as well as the copy of NCR, G.D. and injury reports of the accused, it is clear that it is a matter of cross-case.

35. As the accused have also sustained injuries in this incident and P.W.3 Ram Briksh has suppressed this by stating that the accused were neither beaten nor sustained any injuries, so this witness has concealed material facts before the court and he has suppressed the genesis and origin of the incident raising serious doubt over his testimony.

36. P.W.4 Smt. Sudeshwari is the wife of the deceased Rajjan. She has said that when the accused started beating her then her husband Rajjan came for her rescue and when he tried to separate them, the other co-accused caught hold of him and appellant Ambika brought moosal from her house and hit it over his husband's head. She has also said that none of the four accused sustained any injuries because they were not beaten, thus, P.W.4 Sudeshwari has also suppressed the material fact before the court with regard to the injuries sustained by all the four accused, therefore, there is no explanation of injuries sustained by the co-accused and the appellant. The nature and number of injuries sustained by the co-accused and appellant shows that they are not minor or superficial. Thus, P.W.4 has also suppressed the genesis and origin of the incident and has concealed material facts before the court.

37. In Lakshmi Singh Vs. State of Bihar AIR 1976 SC 2263, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that if the prosecution fails to explain injuries on the person of the accused the following inference may be drawn:-

(a) That the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and origin of the case and has not presented the true facts.

(b) That the witness who has denied the presence of injuries is lying on material point and his version is not reliable.

(c) That in case, there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused it is rendered probable so as to cast a cloud on the prosecution case.

It is further held that it is only when the injuries sustained are minor and superficial and the evidence is so clear and cogent, so independent and disinterested, and that it far outweighs the effect and omission on the part of the prosecution, non-explanation of injury does not effect the prosecution case.

38. In view of the above decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the failure of explanation of injuries on the person of the accused persons, by the prosecution, raises adverse inference upon the prosecution that it has suppressed the genesis and origin of the incident and has not presented the true version. It further shows that P.W. 3 Ram Briksh and P.W. 4 Sudeshwari are not reliable witness as they have denied the presence of injuries on the person of the accused and thus they have suppressed the origin and genesis of the incident and thus they are lying on material point.

39. The appellant in her statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has said that it is the deceased and his wife Sudeshwari who came at her door and abused and committed maarpeet with all the four accused and in that incident the deceased sustained injuries when the accused exercised their right of private defence. Therefore, the defence case is that they exercised their right of private defence when the deceased and his wife came to her house and started committing maarpeet with them, causing injuries to all the four accused.

40. In view of the above, now it is to be examined whether the appellant inflicted injuries to the deceased in her right of private defence. Section 96, 97 and 100 in Chapter IV of IPC are relevant provisions dealing with the right of private offence under the category of General Exceptions. These provisions are reporduced here below:

"96. Things done in private defence. - Nothing is an offence which is done in the exercise of the right of private defence.

97. Right of private defence of the body and of property. - Every person has a right subject to the restrictions contained in Section 99, to defend--

First.- His own body, and the body of any other person, against any offence affecting the human body;

Secondly.- The property, whether moveable or immoveable, of himself or of any other person, against any act which is an offence falling under the definition of theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass, or which is an attempt to commit theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass."

Section 100 deals with the extent upto which the right of private defence can be exercised to cause death of the assailant.

Section 100 of the Indian Penal Code is extracted as under:

"100. When the right of private defence of the body extends to causing death. -- The right of private defence of the body extends, under the restrictions mentioned in the last preceding section, to the voluntary causing of death or of any other harm to the assailant, if the offence which occasions the exercise of the right be of any of the descriptions hereinafter enumerated, namely: --

First. -- Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that death will otherwise be the consequence of such assault;

Secondly. -- Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that grievous hurt will otherwise be the consequence of such assault;

Thirdly. -- An assault with the intention of committing rape;

Fourthly. -- An assault with the intention of gratifying unnatural lust;

Fifthly. -- An assault with the intention of kidnapping or abducting;

Sixthly. -- An assault with the intention of wrongfully confining a person, under circumstances which may reasonably cause him to apprehend that he will be unable to have recourse to the public authorities for his release."

41. Considering the principle governing the right of private defence, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Darshan Singh vs State of Punjab & Anr 2010 (2) SCC 333, was pleased to hold as under:

"54. In Vidhya Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1971)3 SCC 244, the court observed that:

"18. The right of self-defence is a very valuable right, serving a social purpose and should not be construed narrowly. Situations have to be judged from the subjective point of view of the accused concerned in the surrounding excitement and confusion of the moment, confronted with a situation of peril and not by any microscopic and pedantic scrutiny. In adjudging the question as to whether more force than was necessary was used in the prevailing circumstances on the spot it would be inappropriate, as held by this court, to adopt tests by detached objectivity which would be so natural in a court room, or that which would seem absolutely necessary to a perfectly cool bystander. The person facing a reasonable apprehension of threat to himself cannot be expected to modulate his defence step by step with any arithmetical exactitude of only that much which is required in the thinking of a man in ordinary times or under normal circumstances."

55. In Jai Dev v. State of Punjab, AIR 1963 Supreme Court 612 the court held as under:

"13.....as soon as the cause for the reasonable apprehension has disappeared and the threat has either been destroyed or has been put to rout, there can be no occasion to exercise the right of private defence."

56. In order to find out whether right of private defence is available or not, the injuries received by the accused, the imminence of threat to his safety, the injuries caused by the accused and the circumstances whether the accused had time to have recourse to public authorities are all relevant factors to be considered.

57. In Buta Singh v. The State of Punjab, (1991)2 SCC 612, the court noted that:

'10.....a person who is apprehending death or bodily injury cannot weigh in golden scales in the spur of moment and in the heat of circumstances, the number of injuries required to disarm the assailants who were armed with weapons.

In moments of excitement and disturbed mental equilibrium it is often difficult to expect the parties to preserve composure and use exactly only so much force in retaliation commensurate with the danger apprehended to him where assault is imminent by use of force, it would be lawful to repel the force in self-defence and the right of private-defence commences, as soon as the threat becomes so imminent. Such situations have to be pragmatically viewed and not with high-powered spectacles or microscopes to detect slight or even marginal overstepping.

Due weightage has to be given to, and hyper technical approach has to be avoided in considering what happens on the spur of the moment on the spot and keeping in view normal human reaction and conduct, where self- preservation is the paramount consideration.

But, if the fact situation shows that in the guise of self-preservation, what really has been done is to assault the original aggressor, even after the cause of reasonable apprehension has disappeared, the plea of right of private defence can legitimately be negatived. The court dealing with the plea has to weigh the material to conclude whether the plea is acceptable. It is essentially, as noted above, a finding of fact."

' 58. The following principles emerge on scrutiny of the following judgments:

(i) Self-preservation is the basic human instinct and is duly recognized by the criminal jurisprudence of all civilized countries. All free, democratic and civilized countries recognize the right of private defence within certain reasonable limits.

(ii) The right of private defence is available only to one who is suddenly confronted with the necessity of averting an impending danger and not of self-creation.

(iii) A mere reasonable apprehension is enough to put the right of self defence into operation. In other words, it is not necessary that there should be an actual commission of the offence in order to give rise to the right of private defence. It is enough if the accused apprehended that such an offence is contemplated and it is likely to be committed if the right of private defence is not exercised.

(iv) The right of private defence commences as soon as a reasonable apprehension arises and it is co-terminus with the duration of such apprehension.

(v) It is unrealistic to expect a person under assault to modulate his defence step by step with any arithmetical exactitude.

(vi) In private defence the force used by the accused ought not to be wholly disproportionate or much greater than necessary for protection of the person or property.

(vii) It is well settled that even if the accused does not plead self-defence, it is open to consider such a plea if the same arises from the material on record.

(viii) The accused need not prove the existence of the right of private defence beyond reasonable doubt.

(ix) The Indian Penal Code confers the right of private defence only when that unlawful or wrongful act is an offence.

(x) A person who is in imminent and reasonable danger of losing his life or limb may in exercise of self defence inflict any harm even extending to death on his assailant either when the assault is attempted or directly threatened."

42. In view of the above legal position with regard to the exercise of right of private defence and non explanation of injuries on the person of the accused and lying of prosecution witnesses on material point, renders the prosecution version unreliable and it shows that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and origin of the incident which probabilises the defense case, that the injuries sustained by the deceased were caused while the accused exercised her right of private defense.

43. It is submitted by learned A.G.A. that even if it is assumed that the appellant exercised her right of private defense then, she has exceeded it as she has hit a moosal over the head of the deceased which caused fracture of bones over his head resulting in his death and as the injuries suffered by the accused persons were simple in nature, therefore, the appellant could not take the plea of right of private defence because they have exceeded it. Looking into the nature and number of injuries sustained by all the four accused and also the fact that some of them were caused on their vital parts of the body, therefore, the appellant had reasonable apprehension of death or sustaining grievous hurt. On the other hand, a perusal of the post-mortem report of the deceased shows that he sustained one abrasion on the root of nose and a contusion with swelling over right side of head. In the internal examination, the bones of scalp were fractured. So effectively only one blow was given at the head of the deceased which proved fatal. It has come in evidence that the quarrel started all of a sudden, there was no previous enmity nor it was pre-mediated, so the appellant was well within her right to exercise the right of private defence and she has not exceeded it in view of the number of blows caused to the deceased vis-a-vis the injuries sustained by all four accused persons.

44. In view of the above discussion, it comes to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The prosecution has suppressed the genesis and origin of the incident and rhe prosecution witnesses are lying on material point by suppressing the injuries of the accused. Therefore, the prosecution has not proved its case beyond reasonable doubt, whereas it probablises the defence case that, it is the deceased and his wife, who raided the house of the accused and abused and assaulted them causing number of injuries to them. The appellant exercised her right of private defence, therefore, the act of appellant is protected under the right of private defence and thus, the charge against the appellant for causing culpable homicide not amounting to murder is not proved. In view of the above, I come to the conclusion that the learned trial court has failed to appreciate the evidence on record correctly and has reached at the wrong conclusion of the guilt of the appellant and as such the impugned judgment and order is liable to be quashed and this appeal deserves to be allowed.

45. In view of the above, the instant criminal appeal is, accordingly, allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 09.09.1984 passed in Sessions Trial No.106 of 1983 (State Vs. Ambika and Another), arising out of Case Crime No.61 of 1981, Police Station- Birno, District- Ghazipur is set aside and the appellant Smt. Ambika is acquitted of the offence under Section 304(I) IPC.

46. The appellant Ambika is on bail. She need not surrender. Her personal bonds and surety bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged of 0their liabilities.

47. The appellant shall execute a personal bond in the sum of Rs.25,000/- under Section 481 of The Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (corresponding to Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) for his appearance, in the event of an appeal being preferred against her acquittal.

48. Let a copy of this judgment alongwith record of the trial court be returned to court concerned for information and necessary compliance.

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Vijay Bahadur Shivhare

Counsel for Respondent(s) : G.A., Indrajeet

(Delivered by Hon'ble Santosh Rai, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vijay Bahadur Shivhare, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Rajesh Kumar Shukla, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellant, Swamideen, against the judgment and order dated 10.12.2025 passed by the learned Additional District Judge/Special Judge, POCSO Act, Hamirpur ("the trial court") in Session Case POCSOACT No. 108 of 2022 No. 108 of 2022 (State vs. Swamideen), arising out of Case Crime No. 417 of 2021, registered at Police Station Sumerpur, District Hamirpur by whereby the appellant was convicted under Section 6 of the POCSO Act and sentenced to undergo 20 years' rigorous imprisonment together with a fine of Rs. 10,000/-, and in default of payment of fine, to undergo further simple imprisonment for six month.

3. In view of the sensitivity attached to matters concerning sexual offences against children, and in keeping with the direction of the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the identity of a child victim of a sexual offence ought not to be disclosed, the victim is referred to in this judgment as "the victim" and not by name.

4. The prosecution case, in brief, is that on 10.12.2021, at about 10:48 a.m., an FIR was lodged at Police Station Sumerpur by Smt. Rani Prajapati (PW-2), on the written report (Tahrir) scribed at her instance, alleging that on 05.12.2021, at about 12:00 noon, her daughter, the victim, aged about four years, was playing at the door of the house when the appellant, a neighbour aged about eighty years, lured her with the offer of a toffee, took her inside his house, bolted the door, and committed obscene acts upon her private parts. It is alleged that on the victim raising an alarm, the appellant released her, whereupon she returned home and informed her mother, following which the informant went to the police station and lodged the report. On the strength of the said report, Case Crime No. 417 of 2021 was initially registered under Section 354 IPC and Section 10 of the POCSO Act. During investigation, upon the victim's age being ascertained as approximately four to five years on the basis of her birth certificate, an application was moved by the Investigating Officer for amendment of the sections applied, which was allowed by the court, and a charge-sheet (Charge-sheet No. 384-A of 2021) came to be submitted against the appellant under Section 376-AB IPC and Section 6 of the POCSO Act. The appellant was arrested on 28.12.2021 and, upon commitment, charges under Section 376-AB IPC and Section 6 of the POCSO Act were framed against him by the trial court, to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

5. In support of its case, the prosecution examined six witnesses: PW-1, the victim; PW-2, Smt. Rani Prajapati, the informant and mother of the victim; PW-3, Dr. Anshu Mishra, the Medical Officer who examined the victim; PW-4, Head Constable Devlal Tiwari, the scribe of the computerised FIR; PW-5, Dr. Pushpendra Kumar, the Medical Officer in-charge who proved the delivery register and birth record of the victim; and PW-6, Inspector Rajkumar Verma, the Investigating Officer. The prosecution also relied upon documentary evidence, including the victim's statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. (Exhibit Ka-1), the written report (Exhibit Ka-2), the medico-legal examination report (Exhibit Ka-3), the General Diary entry (Exhibit Ka-4), the FIR (Exhibit Ka-5), the delivery register (Exhibit Ka-6), the birth certificate (Exhibit Ka-7), the site plan (Exhibit Ka-8), the arrest memo (Exhibit Ka-9), the charge-sheet (Exhibit Ka-10), and the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory.

6. In his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant denied the prosecution version in its entirety and asserted that he had been falsely implicated on account of personal enmity, that the witnesses had deposed falsely at the instance of the police and the informant, and that he was elsewhere, undergoing medical treatment, on the date of the alleged occurrence.

7. In support of his defence, the appellant examined two witnesses: DW-1, Shivdayal, the Village Pradhan of Para Raipura; and DW-2, Smt. Sangeeta, the appellant's daughter-in-law. The defence also placed on record documentary evidence, including a notice/registration slip of Sadguru Netra Chikitsalaya, Janki Kund, Chitrakoot (Exhibit 41-Kha) and an out-patient registration record bearing code "DTDREF 2204", to demonstrate that the appellant was undergoing eye treatment at Chitrakoot between 05.12.2021 and 10.12.2021, and a representation dated 12.12.2021 addressed by the villagers of Para Raipura to the Station House Officer, Sumerpur, in support of the said defence.

8. By the impugned judgment, the trial court convicted the appellant, principally on the findings that (i) the five-day delay in lodging the FIR stood sufficiently explained; (ii) there were no material contradictions in the testimony of the victim (PW-1) and the other prosecution witnesses, and that the victim's testimony stood corroborated by her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C.; and (iii) the appellant had failed to displace the prosecution case. Aggrieved thereby, the appellant has preferred the present appeal.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the impugned judgment on the following principal grounds:

(i) The trial court has erroneously convicted the appellant under Section 6 of the POCSO Act, despite the fact that he stood charged, and was tried, for the graver offence under Section 376-AB IPC read with Section 6 of the POCSO Act; the manner in which the trial court has dealt with the two distinct charges discloses non-application of mind to the ingredients of the offences and to the evidence bearing upon each.

(ii) The delay of five days in lodging the FIR has not, in fact, been satisfactorily explained. The prosecution's own witnesses have given inconsistent and irreconcilable accounts of when, and by whom, information of the incident was received and communicated.

(iii) The FIR, as originally lodged, invoked only Section 354 IPC and Section 10 of the POCSO Act, offences of outraging modesty and sexual assault and contained no allegation whatsoever of penetrative sexual assault.

(iv) The testimony of PW-2 is riddled with material contradictions and improvements. She has, on the one hand, stated that the victim was at home with her between 12:00 and 1:00 p.m., the very time of the alleged occurrence, and that she did not see the victim go towards the appellant's house, while, on the other hand, maintaining that the occurrence took place at 12:00 noon an inherently self-contradictory position on a witness's own opportunity to observe the events she purports to describe.

(v) PW-2 denied being present when the victim's statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. was recorded before the Magistrate, whereas the record of that very statement reflects her presence.

(vi) The victim's statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. itself contains a material and unexplained discrepancy going to the very root of identification of accused, and furthermore, contradictory statement regarding time of occurrence.

(vii) The victim's description of the act, using the word Musanna", was never clarified, or explained either in the evidence or by the trial court in its judgment.

(viii) The medico-legal evidence of PW-3, Dr. Anshu Mishra and FSL report does not corroborate the prosecution case.

(ix) The trial court has failed to give due weight to the appellant's defence of alibi.

(x) The alibi defence is further reinforced by a representation 37-B dated 12.12.2021, made by several residents of the village to the Station House Officer, Sumerpur, even before the appellant's arrest on 28.12.2021, asserting his presence at Chitrakoot on the date of occurrence and alleging false implication. Being a document of a date prior to arrest, it cannot be dismissed as a post-facto fabrication, and the trial court has not considered it at all.

(xi) The defence version, supported by DW-1 and DW-2, that the informant was involved in an alleged illicit relationship with a person of the village, that the appellant had confronted and rebuked her on this account, and that she had thereafter threatened to falsely implicate him in a serious case, furnishes a plausible motive for false implication which the trial court has failed to examine or exclude.

10. Learned counsel for the State, per contra, has supported the impugned judgment and submitted that the testimony of a child victim of a sexual offence cannot be discarded merely on account of minor discrepancies natural to a witness of tender years; that the statement of the victim stood corroborated by her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C.; that delay in lodging an FIR in offences of this nature is often explained by the trauma and social stigma attached thereto; and that the trial court, having had the advantage of observing the demeanour of the witnesses, was best placed to assess their credibility, calling for no interference by this Court.

11. The short question that falls for determination is whether the prosecution has succeeded in proving the charge against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt, by cogent, reliable and consistent evidence, or whether the material contradictions, the unexplained delay, the possibility of tutoring, the absence of medical corroboration, and the unrebutted defence of alibi, cumulatively, entitle the appellant to the benefit of doubt and consequent acquittal.

12. This Court has gone through the entire evidence on record, including the depositions of PW-1 to PW-6 and DW-1 and DW-2, the documentary exhibits, and the medico-legal and forensic material, as also the impugned judgment.

13. Before proceeding to appreciate the evidence, it is apposite to notice the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in three recent decisions bearing directly upon the standard to be applied where the testimony of a minor victim, or the statements relied upon by the prosecution, are shown to suffer from material contradictions:

(a) In P. Yuvaprakash v. State rep. by Inspector of Police, (2024) 17 SCC 684, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that where the victim's own statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. gives a version materially at variance with the graver charge levelled by the prosecution, and is not shown to have been obtained under tutoring, coercion, or compulsion, the courts below cannot simply discard it; the prosecution must, at the very least, examine the Magistrate who recorded it before asking the court to disbelieve it. Acting on this reasoning, the Supreme Court set aside the conviction under Section 6 of the POCSO Act.

(b) In Nirmal Premkumar & Anr. v. State rep. by Inspector of Police (2024) 20 SCC 293 Hon'ble the Supreme Court held as under:

"23. In Krishan Kumar Malik v. State of Haryana [Krishan Kumar Malik v. State of Haryana, (2011) 7 SCC 130 : (2011) 3 SCC (Cri) 61] , this Court laid down that although the victim's solitary evidence in matters related to sexual offences is generally deemed sufficient to hold an accused guilty, the conviction cannot be sustained if the prosecutrix's testimony is found unreliable and insufficient due to identified flaws and lacunae. It was held thus: (SCC p. 138, paras 31-32)

the solitary evidence of the prosecutrix is sufficient provided the same inspires confidence and appears to be absolutely trustworthy, unblemished and should be of sterling quality. But, in the case in hand, the evidence of the prosecutrix, showing several lacunae, which have already been projected hereinabove, would go to show that her evidence does not fall in that category and cannot be relied upon to hold the appellant guilty of the said offences.

32. Indeed there are several significant variations in material facts in her Section 164 statement, Section 161 statement (CrPC), FIR and deposition in court. Thus, it was necessary to get her evidence corroborated independently, which they could have done either by examination of Ritu, her sister or Bimla Devi, who were present in the house at the time of her alleged abduction. The record shows that Bimla Devi though cited as a witness was not examined and later given up by the Public Prosecutor on the ground that she has been won over by the appellant."

24. What flows from the aforesaid decisions is that in cases where witnesses are neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable, the Court should strive to find out the true genesis of the incident. The Court can rely on the victim as a "sterling witness" without further corroboration, but the quality and credibility must be exceptionally high. The statement of the prosecutrix ought to be consistent from the beginning to the end (minor inconsistences excepted), from the initial statement to the oral testimony, without creating any doubt qua the prosecution's case. While a victim's testimony is usually enough for sexual offence cases, an unreliable or insufficient account from the prosecutrix, marked by identified flaws and gaps, could make it difficult for a conviction to be recorded."

Further Hon'ble Apex Court held that although the solitary testimony of a victim of a sexual offence is ordinarily sufficient to sustain a conviction, this rule cannot be stretched to sustain a conviction where that testimony is found unreliable on account of identified contradictions, flaws, and lacunae. The Court emphasised that evidence "damaged by inadequacies from the outset", evident in contradictions within statements and testimonies, cannot be permitted to imperil an accused's liberty and reputation, particularly given the severe and irreversible consequences of a POCSO conviction, and set aside the conviction accordingly.

(c) In Manojbhai Jethabhai Parmar (Rohit) v. State of Gujarat (2025) SCC Online SC 2803 Hon'ble the Supreme Court held as under:-

"65. In the present case, it is manifest that the Investigating Officer had ample opportunity to secure and preserve crucial forensic material, particularly by securing samples necessary for conducting DNA profiling of the child victim and the accused-appellant. Such scientific examination, now an integral component of modern criminal investigation, would have provided objective corroboration and materially assisted in ascertaining the truth. However, no effort was made to obtain or preserve such forensic material. This omission, whether arising from negligence or otherwise, assumes significance in light of the seriousness of the allegations. The failure to pursue an available and reliable scientific avenue not only weakens the prosecution's case but also raises a legitimate apprehension that the investigation may not have been carried out with the requisite fairness and diligence. In the circumstances, the possibility that such inaction was intended, or at least operated, to shield the actual perpetrators of the offence cannot be ruled out. Such lapses ex facie undermine the credibility of the prosecution's case and strike at the foundational requirement that every investigation must be fair, diligent, and oriented solely towards the discovery of truth.

66. The admitted sequence of facts narrated above clearly indicates something very fishy and unnerving in the manner in which, the entire prosecution story has been unfolded. In face of such grave allegations, the rank apathy of the Investigating Officers in not conducting expeditious and diligent investigation, should have been sufficient to put the Courts below on guard and become cognizant of the fact that something was really amiss in the case presented for trial. However, sadly, neither the trial Court nor the High Court, adverted to these glaring shortcomings in the case and mechanically accepted the case of prosecution even though the conduct of the material witnesses (of last seen together circumstance) was sufficient to raise a strong suspicion that they might have been the actual perpetrators of the crime.

67. It is imperative to state that during the trial, the child victim was herself examined as (PW-18) however, she could not give any evidence whatsoever to connect the accused-appellant with the crime. She could not even identify the accused-appellant as the assailant. She further stated that she was tutored by her mother. Hence, this significant point was also missed by the trial Court before convicting the accused-appellant.

Thus, the material omissions in the FIR of facts admittedly within the informant's knowledge seriously erode the credibility of the prosecution case, and that contradictions and unnatural conduct in the witnesses relied upon by the prosecution render their testimony unreliable. The Court cautioned that sympathy for a child victim, however compelling, cannot substitute for proof beyond reasonable doubt, and set aside a conviction that had subsisted for nearly thirteen years.

14. The common thread running through these decisions is that the testimony of a minor victim, and the statements of witnesses relied upon to corroborate it, must be of "sterling quality" to sustain a conviction of the gravity contemplated by Section 6 of the POCSO Act and Section 376-AB IPC; that a statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., where genuine, cannot be brushed aside merely because it does not suit the prosecution; and that the benefit of any real and unresolved contradiction must enure to the accused, however grave the offence alleged and however natural the court's sympathy for the victim. This Court is guided by these principles in evaluating the evidence in the present case.

15. On the question of delay, this Court is unable to accept the trial court's finding that the five-day delay in lodging the FIR stood satisfactorily explained. The explanation offered by the prosecution is internally inconsistent while the victim is said to have informed her mother on the day of occurrence or after one day,itself, the informant told the treating doctor that she learnt of the matter only two days thereafter; the identity and whereabouts of the informant's husband, said to necessitate the delay, remain unestablished by any reliable evidence; and the report itself was scribed not by the husband but by the informant's brother-in-law. Where the delay is sought to be explained by shifting and mutuallyinconsistent versions, it cannot be said to have been "duly explained" within the meaning attributed to that phrase by the trial court.

16. Equally significant is the fact that the FIR, as originally registered, made no allegation of penetrative sexual assault, invoking only Section 354 IPC and Section 10 of the POCSO Act. The graver charge came to be added only during investigation. While this circumstance, by itself, may not be conclusive, it is a material fact bearing on the truthfulness of the prosecution version which the trial court ought to have, but did not, take into account.

17. The contradictions in the testimony of PW-2, as to whether she witnessed the victim leave for the appellant's house, as to the precise time of occurrence, as to the date of lodging the FIR, and as to her own presence at the recording of the victim's statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. (a fact falsified by the record of that very statement) are not minor lapses of memory. They go to the heart of the informant's reliability as a witness, and, more importantly, raise a real and substantial possibility that the victim, examined at the age of four and again, years later, at the age of six, had the opportunity to be tutored by her mother, with whom she remained in constant company. The discrepancy in the Section 164 statement as to the identity of the person named therein "Suraj", grandson of accused "Baladeen" as against the accused, Swamideen, and the conflicting versions as to whether the occurrence took place by day or by night, reinforce rather than dispel this doubt. Applying the test laid down in Nirmal Premkumar (supra), this testimony cannot be said to be of the "sterling quality" required to sustain a conviction of this gravity; and, following P. Yuvaprakash (supra), the victim's Section 164 statement, not having been shown to be tutored or involuntary on any cogent material beyond the informant's own bare assertion, cannot be brushed aside where it detracts from the prosecution's case.

18. The word used by the victim to describe the act was never clarified in evidence, and the trial court's judgment is silent on what, precisely, this term was understood to mean or how it was found to satisfy the ingredient of penetration required to sustain a conviction under Section 5/6 of the POCSO Act or Section 376-AB IPC. A conviction for so grave an offence, entailing so severe a sentence, cannot rest on an unclarified and ambiguous description of the act.

19. The medical evidence of PW-3 does not advance the prosecution case. The internal genital examination disclosed a normal hymen with no injury or swelling, and no corroboration is forthcoming from the forensic report. While the absence of injury is not, by itself, destructive of a POCSO prosecution, in the facts of this case, where the medical evidence stands entirely neutral, where there are serious contradictions in the ocular evidence, and where an unrebutted alibi has been set up, the absence of corroboration assumes considerable weight. As held in Manojbhai Jethabhai Parmar (supra), whatever sympathy the facts of a case involving a child victim may command, that sympathy cannot substitute for proof beyond reasonable doubt, and gaps of this nature in the prosecution's evidence cannot be filled by the gravity of the accusation alone.

20. This Court finds that the trial court has not accorded due consideration to the defence of alibi. The documentary evidence produced by the defence, the out-patient registration record of Sadguru Netra Chikitsalaya, Chitrakoot, bearing code DTDREF 2204 dated 05.12.2021 and others medical treatment papers of Sadguru Hospital, read with the corroborating testimony of DW-1 and DW-2, establishes a plausible and unrebutted case that the appellant was away from the place of occurrence, undergoing eye treatment at Chitrakoot, on the date of the alleged incident. The medical treatment was provided to the accused between 05.12.2021 to 10.12.2021 and number of papers/documents evidence has been submitted by the defence with list of documents. It is well settled that defence evidence is not to be viewed with suspicion or treated as inherently inferior to prosecution evidence; where it is cogent, reliable, and unshaken in cross-examination, it must be weighed on the same footing as the evidence led by the prosecution, and it is enough if it renders the prosecution version doubtful, without the defence being required to prove the alibi to the hilt. Thus the presence of accused is said to be in the hospital at Chitrakoot, the distance between district Hamirpur and Chitrakoot is about 150 kilometers. The prosecution led no evidence in rebuttal of this documentary material, and the trial court's judgment does not reflect any independent evaluation of its evidentiary worth. This constitutes a serious infirmity in the impugned judgment. The representation 37-B, dated 12.12.2021, made by residents of the village to the police prior to the appellant's arrest, lends further, contemporaneous, support to the defence version and could not have been ignored.

21. In Yogesh Singh vs. Mahaveer Singh (2017) 11 SCC 195, Hon'ble Supreme Court relying on Panchhi Vs. State of U.P. (1998) 7 SCC 177 held that:

"it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring."

22. In Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793). the landmark observation of Hon'ble Apex Court is as under:-

"The cherished principles or golden thread of proof beyond reasonable doubt which runs through the web of our law should not be stretched morbidly to embrace every hunch, hesitancy and degree of doubt. The excessive solicitude reflected in the attitude that a thousand guilty men may go but one innocent martyr shall not suffer is a false dilemma. Only reasonable doubts belong to the accused. Otherwise any practical system of justice will then break down and lose credibility with the community."

23. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that suspicion, however strong, cannot take the place of proof, and that the prosecution is required to establish the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt by cogent, credible and reliable evidence. Where two views are reasonably possible on the evidence on record, the view favourable to the accused must be adopted. This is precisely the position reaffirmed by the Supreme Court in Nirmal Premkumar (supra), P. Yuvaprakash (supra), and Manojbhai Jethabhai Parmar (supra), that a conviction of the gravity contemplated by the POCSO Act cannot rest on the testimony of a minor victim, or on statements relied upon to corroborate it, once that testimony is shown to be riddled with material, unresolved contradictions, that a genuine Section 164 Cr.P.C. statement cannot be discarded merely because it is inconvenient to the prosecution, and that sympathy for a child victim, however natural, cannot substitute for proof beyond reasonable doubt. In the present case, the cumulative effect of the unexplained and inconsistently explained delay in lodging the FIR, the absence of any allegation of penetrative assault in the original report, the material contradictions and improvements in the testimony of the informant, the real possibility of tutoring of a child witness examined years apart, the discrepancy of identity and time in the Section 164 statement, the unclarified description of the alleged act, the absence of medical or forensic corroboration, and the cogent and unrebutted defence of "alibi" supported by contemporaneous documentary evidence, leads this Court to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove the charge against the appellant by cogent and reliable evidence, and that the appellant is entitled to the "benefit of doubt."

24. For the reasons recorded above, this Court is of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to prove the charge against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt, and that the finding of guilt recorded by the trial court, and the consequent conviction of the appellant under Section 6 of the POCSO Act, cannot be sustained in law.

25. The criminal appeal is allowed.

26. The judgment and order of conviction dated 09.12.2025 and the order of sentence dated 10.12.2025, passed by the Additional District Judge/Special Judge, POCSO Act, Hamirpur, in Session Case POCSOACT No. 108 of 2022 (State vs. Swamideen), arising out of Case Crime No. 417 of 2021, Police Station Sumerpur, District Hamirpur, are hereby set aside.

27. The appellant, Swamideen, is acquitted of the charges under Section 376-AB IPC and Section 6 of the POCSO Act, 2012. The appellant, if in custody in connection with the present case and not required in any other case, shall be released forthwith.

28. The fine, if already deposited by the appellant, shall be refunded to him in accordance with law. Any bail bonds/personal bonds furnished if any shall stand discharged.

29. The trial court record be sent back "forthwith" to the trial court, along with a copy of this judgment, for information and necessary compliance.

30. The trial court is directed to submit its compliance report within two months from the date of receipt of this order. Furthermore, Registry is also directed to place the compliance report on record.

31. There shall be no order as to costs.

32. Register (compliance) is directly to communicate this order to the concerned trial court through district and Sessions Judge within 24 hour.

33. Before parting with this judgment, this Court records its appreciation for the sincere assistance rendered by the Research Associates, Mr. Shivansh Pandey and Mr. Sandeep Kumar Singh, in researching the legal issues involved and assisting in the preparation of this judgment. Their efforts are gratefully acknowledged.

Counsel for Respondent(s) : Ashvni Mishra, G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Santosh Rai, J.)

1. Heard Shri Saghir Ahmad, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Shashi Prakash Rai, Advocate and Shri Mohd. Raghib Ali, Advocate appearing on behalf of the appellant, Shri Ashvni Mishra, Advocate appearing on behalf of O.P. No.2 and learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State.

2. The present criminal appeals have been filed by the appellant to set aside/quash the impugned order dated 18.11.2024 and allow the discharge application dated 30.04.2024 pending in Sessions Trial No.159 of 2021 (State vs. Saurabh Pal Singh) under Sections 376, 504, 506, 406 and 420 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act, P.S.- Shivkuti, District- Prayagraj arising out of Case Crime No.388 of 2020 in the court of Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Prayagraj. Furthermore, the appellant prayed to set aside/quash the impugned order dated 27.01.2026 in the aforesaid sessions trial by which charge has been framed against the appellant.

3. The prosecution story in brief is that the informant, a Scheduled Caste woman pursuing Ph.D. at Allahabad University, came into contact with the accused, Saurabh Pal Singh. The accused developed a close relationship with her, promised to marry her, and on that false assurance established physical relations with her over a long period. During this period, he allegedly took away her scholarship money, ATM card, jewellery, and dishonestly obtained about Rs.15,00,000 from her on the pretext of starting a restaurant. After his business was established, he allegedly refused to marry her, stopped communicating, and his wife and family members threatened her with dire consequences. The accused also allegedly issued two forged cheques of Rs.5,00,000 each, which were dishonoured, and later threatened her to leave Allahabad or face serious consequences. It is further alleged that the accused and his family members intentionally insulted and humiliated the informant by using caste-indicative abusive words and refused to return her money."

4. The informant/victim Manju Saroj filed an FIR against the appellant Saurabh Pal Singh on 29.10.2020 under Sections 504, 506, 493 and 406 IPC and Section 3(2)(va) of SC/ST Act, P.S.- Shivkuti, District- Prayagraj. After filing of the FIR, the informant/victim was medically examined on 01.11.2020 and her statement was recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. Thereafter, the Investigating Officer has submitted Chargesheet No.51/2021 against the appellant on 01.03.2021 under Sections 376, 504, 506, 406 and 420 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act before the trial court concerned. The learned trial court has taken cognizance on the police report on 05.03.2021 in Special Sessions Trial No.159 of 2021. The appellant, thereafter, filed a discharge application under Section 227 Cr.P.C., which was rejected by Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Prayagraj vide order dated 18.11.2024. Thereafter, the appellant had filed Criminal Appeal No.769 of 2025. During pendency of the aforesaid criminal appeal, the learned trial court had framed charges against the appellant under Sections 376, 504, 506, 406 and 420 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act. Aggrieved thereby, the appellant had filed Criminal appeal No.2424 of 2026.

5. Tersely, the grounds of the appeals, in brief, are that the appellant has challenged the order dated 18.11.2024 rejecting his discharge application as well as the subsequent order dated 27.01.2026 framing charges, contending that the impugned orders are illegal, arbitrary and contrary to the material available on record. It is submitted that the FIR was lodged after an unexplained and inordinate delay in respect of an alleged incident spanning several years; that the appellant and the informant were in a long-standing cordial relationship and any physical relationship between them was purely consensual between two consenting adults and not on account of any misconception of fact or false promise of marriage. It is further submitted that the informant was a major, well-educated and fully aware of the appellant's marital status and that the dispute, if any, arose only after the appellant declined to marry her. According to the appellant, the allegations under Sections 376, 420, 406, 504 and 506 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act are not made out from the FIR, the statements recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. or any other material collected during investigation, as there is no evidence of fraudulent or dishonest inducement, criminal breach of trust, criminal intimidation or any offence committed on the ground that the informant belongs to a Scheduled Caste. It is further contended that the monetary transactions between the parties were voluntary in nature and, at best, disclose a civil dispute incapable of attracting criminal liability. The appellant further submits that the Investigating Officer failed to collect any cogent, clinching or admissible evidence to substantiate the allegations and mechanically submitted the charge-sheet, while the trial court, without properly appreciating the record and the settled principles governing discharge and framing of charge, rejected the discharge application and subsequently framed charges without recording adequate reasons or applying its judicial mind, although the material on record did not disclose sufficient grounds to proceed against the appellant. Thus, according to the appellant, the continuation of the criminal proceedings amounts to an abuse of the process of law and the impugned orders rejecting the discharge application and framing charges are liable to be set aside.

6. The First Information Report came to be lodged by the informant, Manju Saroj, against the appellant Saurabh Pal Singh and two other named persons, alleging offences under Sections 504, 506, 493 and 406 IPC and Section 3(2)(5-a) of the SC/ST Act. It was alleged at first time in her statement under section 161 CrPC that the appellant had committed rape upon the informant in the year 2014. Both the parties were known to each other, and that between 2010 and 2020 the appellant received large sums of money from the informant, including a sum of Rs. 15,00,000/-, against which cheques issued by the appellant were subsequently dishonoured.

7. In her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., the informant stated that there was no romantic/love relationship between her and the appellant, but that physical relations had taken place. She further stated that the appellant had met her before ten years and they were friends, Furthermore, he declined to solemnise marriage with her, and that she subsequently knew that the appellant was already married since 2019 and has a child from that marriage. She alleged that the appellant used to abuse and intimidate her.

8. In her earlier statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the informant had stated that the appellant received huge amounts of money from her on several occasions and had committed rape upon her. The informant belongs to the Scheduled Caste category. On completion of investigation, charge-sheet came to be filed only against the appellant, Saurabh Pal Singh, under Sections 504, 506, 406, 420 and 376 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act, the remaining two named persons having been let off at the investigation stage.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted before this Court through the FIR, the statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., and the charge-sheet, and has raised the following submissions:

(i) No specific date, time or place of the alleged occurrence of rape has been disclosed anywhere in the FIR, despite the allegation pertaining to the ten year back.the FIR having been lodged after a gap of several years.

(ii) Although three persons were named in the FIR, charge-sheet has been filed only against the appellant; there is no explanation on record for the differential treatment of the co-accused named in the FIR.

(iii) The FIR itself discloses that the amount of Rs. 15,00,000/- was given by the informant to the appellant to run a business, which is indicative of a commercial/financial transaction and not of an amount extracted by inducement of a false promise of marriage.

(iv) Two cheques of Rs. 5,00,000/- each, said to have been issued by the appellant, were dishonoured, a matter which, if at all, gives rise to a civil remedy and/or proceedings under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, and does not by itself constitute the offence of cheating under Section 420 IPC in the absence of dishonest intention at the very inception of the transaction.

(v) It was only in the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that the allegation of physical relationship surfaces for the first time, again without any specific date or time being mentioned.

(vi) It is alleged that the informant handed over her ATM card to the appellant and that the appellant misused the same to withdraw money from her account, an allegation that, even if taken at face value, does not disclose the ingredients of criminal breach of trust under Section 406 IPC, there being no material to show entrustment of property coupled with dishonest misappropriation.

(vii) In her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., the informant has not made any specific allegation of rape; she has only admitted that physical relations were established, without alleging that consent was obtained by placing her under fear or by a false promise that was false to the knowledge of the appellant from its very inception.

(viii) The allegations of intimidation and abuse are principally attributed in the FIR to two other persons, namely Dolly (said to be the wife of the appellant) and her brother, and not to the appellant himself.

(ix) There is no material on record to substantiate the ingredients of criminal breach of trust; the entire transaction, on a plain reading of the material collected during investigation, is a matter of a long-standing physical relationship and financial dealings between consenting adults, given a criminal colour after the relationship soured.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant relied upon the judgement of Supreme Court in Arshad Neyaz Khan vs. The State of Jharkhand, 2025 SCC Online SC 2058. The relevant paragraph is extracted below:

"21. Furthermore, it is pertinent to mention that if it is the case of the complainant/respondent No.2 that the offence of criminal breach of trust as defined under Section 405 IPC, punishable under Section 406 IPC, is committed by the accused, then in the same breath it cannot be said that the accused has also committed the offence of cheating as defined in Section 415, punishable under Section 420 IPC. This Court in Delhi Race Club (1940) Limited v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2024) 10 SCC 690 observed that there is a distinction between criminal breach of trust and cheating. For cheating, criminal intention is necessary at the time of making false or misleading representation i.e. since inception. In criminal breach of trust, mere proof of entrustment is sufficient. Thus, in case of criminal breach of trust, the offender is lawfully entrusted with the property, and he dishonestly misappropriates the same. Whereas, in case of cheating, the offender fraudulently or dishonestly induces a person by deceiving him to deliver a property. In such a situation, both offences cannot co-exist simultaneously. Consequently, the complaint cannot contain both the offences that are independent and distinct. The said offences cannot co-exist simultaneously in the same set of facts as they are antithetical to each other."

11. He further relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in Rajnish Singh @ Soni vs. State of U.P. and Another, [2025] 3 SCR 303. The relevant paragraphs are extracted below:

"32. Further, on the perusal of the statement made by the complainant under Section 161 CrPC, it is evident that she came to know about the relations between the appellant and Namrata in the year 2020-2021. Thus, once the complainant was aware that the appellant had broken the ties with her and was involved in a relationship with another woman, there was no reason for her to hold back from filing the FIR.

35. It is, therefore, clear that the accused is not liable for the offence of rape if the victim has wilfully agreed to maintain sexual relations. The Court has also recognised that a prosecutrix can agree to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused.

36. This Court in Shivashankar v. State of Karnataka, had quashed criminal proceedings on the ground that it is difficult to hold sexual intercourse in the course of a relationship, which continued for eight years, as 'rape' especially when the complainant therein had alleged that they lived together as man and wife. The relevant extract is reproduced hereinbelow: -

"4. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, it is difficult to sustain the charges levelled against the appellant who may have possibly, made a false promise of marriage to the complainant. It is, however, difficult to hold sexual intercourse in the course of a relationship which has continued for eight years, as "rape" especially in the face of the complainant's own allegation that they lived together as man and wife."

(emphasis supplied)

37. Thus, by no stretch of imagination, can this Court be convinced that present is a case wherein the appellant is liable to be prosecuted for having sexually exploited/assaulted the complainant based on a false promise of marriage. The allegations of the complainant are full of material contradictions and are ex facie unbelievable. Throughout the prolonged period of 16 years, the complainant kept completely quiet about the alleged sexual abuse, meted out to her by the appellant until she learnt that the appellant had married another woman. Further in complete contradiction to the case setup in the FIR, the complainant has on many occasions portrayed herself to be the wife of the appellant and thus, evidently, they lived together as man and wife. Additionally, the long gap of 16 years between the first alleged act of sexual intercourse, continued relations for one and a half decade till the filing of the FIR convinces us that it is a clear case of a love affair/live in relationship gone sour.

38. In this background, we are of the opinion that allowing the prosecution of the appellant to continue for the offences alleged, under Sections 376, 384, 323, 504 and 506 IPC would be nothing short of a gross abuse of the process of law."

12. He relied upon the judgement of Supreme Court in Shashikant Sharma and Others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, [2023[15 SCR 1067. The relevant paragraphs are extracted below:

"12. At the outset, it may be emphasised that in the written submissions filed on behalf of the State, the pertinent plea raised by the learned counsel for the appellants that necessary ingredients of the offence punishable under Section 3(2) (v) of the SC/ST Act are not made out from the admitted allegations of the prosecution, has not been specifically controverted. There cannot be any quarrel with the principles laid down in the judgments cited by the State counsel in the written submissions that at the stage of framing of charges, the Court is not required to undertake a meticulous evaluation of evidence and even grave suspicion is sufficient to frame charge. Nevertheless, there is also a long line of precedents that from the admitted evidence of the prosecution as reflected in the documents filed by the Investigating Officer in the report under Section 173 CrPC, if the necessary ingredients of an offence are not made out then the Court is not obligated to frame charge for such offence against the accused. Reference in this regard may be made to the judgment rendered by this Court in the case of Suresh @ Pappu Bhudharmal Kalani Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in AIR 2001 SC 1375.

16. Be that as it may, as per the highest case of prosecution, the only offence under IPC punishable with imprisonment of 10 years or more being the offence under Section 307 IPC has been applied on the basis of the gun shot allegedly fired by the accused Vinod Upadhyay upon Rinku Thakur, which admittedly did not result into any corresponding injury. After perusal of the entire material on record, we have no hesitation in concluding that from the admitted case set up by the prosecution, there is no such allegation that the offence under IPC punishable with imprisonment of 10 years or more was committed by an accused of upper caste upon a person belonging to the Scheduled Caste community with the knowledge that such person belonged to the said community.

17. Hence, there is merit in the contention of learned counsel representing the appellants that prima facie ingredients of the offence punishable under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act are not made out from the admitted allegations of prosecution and to this extent, the charge framed against the accused appellants is groundless."

13. Learned counsel for the appellant lastly relied upon the judgement of Supreme Court in Anukul Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, 2025 AIR SC 4567. The relevant paragraphs are extracted below:

"16. Despite this background, the police proceeded to file a charge sheet dated 16.04.2003 against the appellant for offences under sections 420, 467, and 468 IPC. Even if the allegations are assumed to be true, they unmistakably arise out of a commercial/contractual transaction relating to loan and repayment, which has been given a criminal colour. The case thus falls squarely within categories (1) and (7) of Bhajan Lal, namely, where the allegations do not disclose the commission of an offence, and where the proceedings are maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive. Continuation of such prosecution would amount to an abuse of process of law and consequently, warrant quashing under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

17. This Court has, in a long line of decisions, deprecated the tendency to convert civil disputes into criminal proceedings. In Indian Oil Corporation v. M/s. NEPC India Ltd., (2006) 6 SCC 736, it was held that criminal law cannot be used as a tool to settle scores in commercial or contractual matters, and that such misuse amounts to abuse of process. The following paragraphs from the decision are apposite:

"9. The principles, relevant to our purpose are: …...A complaint can be quashed where the allegations made in the complaint. even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out the case alleged against the accused. For this purpose, the complaint has to be examined as a whole, but without examining the merits of the allegations. Neither a detailed inquiry nor a meticulous analysis of the material nor an assessment of the reliability or genuineness of the allegations in the complaint, is warranted while examining prayer for quashing of a complaint. A complaint may also be quashed where it is a clear abuse of the process of the court, as when the criminal proceeding is found to have been initiated with malafides/malice for wreaking vengeance or to cause harm, or where the allegations are absurd and inherently improbable."

18. Similarly, in Inder Mohan Goswami and another v. State of Uttaranchal and others, AIR 2008 SC 251, it was emphasized that criminal prosecution must not be permitted as an instrument of harassment or private vendetta. In Ganga Dhar Kalita v. State of Assam, (2015) 9 SCC 647, this Court again reiterated that criminal complaints in respect of property disputes of civil nature, filed solely to harass the accused or to exert pressure in civil litigation, constitute an abuse of process.

19. Most recently, in Shailesh Kumar Singh @ Shailesh R. Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2025 LiveLaw (SC) 726, this Court disapproved the practice of using criminal proceedings as a substitute for civil remedies, observing that money recovery cannot be enforced through criminal prosecution where the dispute is essentially civil. The Court cautioned High Courts not to direct settlements in such matters but to apply the settled principles in "State of Haryana & Others v. Bhajan Lal & Others" Reported in 1992 Supp.(1) SCC 335."

14. It is accordingly submitted that the learned trial court fell in error in rejecting the discharge application and in mechanically framing charge without appreciating that the material on record, even if taken at its face value and accepted in its entirety, does not disclose the essential ingredients of the offences charged, particularly under Sections 376 and 420 IPC and Section 3(2)(5) of the SC/ST Act.

15. Learned AGA has opposed the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the appellant and submitted that at the stage of discharge, the court is not required to conduct a mini-trial or to weigh the evidence as if adjudicating guilt, and that a strong suspicion founded on the material on record is sufficient to frame charge, leaving the rival contentions to be tested at trial.

16. The scope of the court's jurisdiction under Section 227 Cr.P.C. is well settled. In State of Bihar v. Ramesh Singh, (1977) 4 SCC 39, the Supreme Court held that at the stage of framing of charge the court has only to see whether there is a prima facie case and not to weigh the evidence meticulously as would be done at the trial; if there is a strong suspicion, charge may be framed, but a mere suspicion cannot take the place of proof at the appropriate stage. In Union of India v. Prafulla Kumar Samal, (1979) 3 SCC 4, the Supreme Court laid down that the judge, while considering the question of framing charge, has the power to sift and weigh the evidence for the limited purpose of finding out whether or not a prima facie case is made out; where the material placed gives rise to grave suspicion which has not been properly explained, the court should be inclined to frame charge, but where the evidence is such that, even if unrebutted, would not warrant a conviction, discharge is the appropriate course. The court is not, however, to act as a mere post office and must exercise judicial discretion on the material available.

17. In State of Karnataka v. L. Muniswamy, (1977) 2 SCC 699, it was held that the object of the provision empowering discharge is to save the accused from prosecution on a groundless charge, and that if the evidence, even taken at its highest, does not disclose the commission of an offence, the accused is entitled to be discharged. In Sajjan Kumar v. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2010) 9 SCC 368, the Supreme Court summarised the principles governing discharge and held, inter alia, that if two views are possible and one of them gives rise to suspicion only, as distinguished from grave suspicion, the trial judge is empowered to discharge the accused; the court must consider the totality of the material and not adopt a piecemeal approach.

18. In Dilawar Babu Kurane v. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 2 SCC 135, it was reiterated that the court, at the stage of framing charge, must apply its judicial mind and consider the broad probabilities, the total effect of the material, and the basic infirmities appearing in the case, and is not to act merely as a recording authority. In Uday v. State of Karnataka, (2003) 4 SCC 46, the Supreme Court held that consent given under a misconception of fact arising from a promise to marry vitiates consent only where it is shown that the promise was false from its very inception and given in bad faith, with no intention of being fulfilled at the time it was made.

19. In Deepak Gulati v. State of Haryana, (2013) 7 SCC 675, the Supreme Court drew a clear distinction between a false promise made with the sole intention of seducing a woman and a breach of a promise made in good faith but not fulfilled owing to subsequent circumstances; it was held that consent obtained on a promise made in good faith, even if subsequently not honoured, does not amount to consent obtained by misconception of fact so as to attract Section 375 IPC.

20. In Pramod Suryabhan Pawar v. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 9 SCC 608, the Supreme Court held that to prosecute a person for rape on the ground of a false promise of marriage, it must be established that the promise was false at the time it was given and that there existed a direct nexus between the false promise and the woman's decision to engage in the sexual act; a breach of promise cannot be equated with a false promise, and where a long, continuous and consensual physical relationship has existed between parties who were known to each other, an inference of a false promise from its inception cannot readily be drawn.

21. In Yedla Srinivasa Rao v. State of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 615, it was held that where the accused had no intention to marry from the very beginning and the prosecutrix was made to believe on that false promise that he would marry her, such consent would fall foul of Section 90 IPC, conversely, therefore, where such want of intention from inception is not demonstrable from the material on record, the offence under Section 376 IPC is not made out.

22. Applying these principles to the material on record, this Court finds that the statement of the informant under Section 164 Cr.P.C. does not disclose that the physical relationship was preceded by, or founded upon, any promise of marriage held out by the appellant that was false to his knowledge at its inception. On the contrary, the informant herself has stated that there was no romantic relationship between the parties, that the physical relationship continued over several years, first time physical relationship were made in the year 2014, on the basis of her statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. On account of their being friends/acquaintances, and that she came to know of the appellant's prior marriage in 2019. Absent of any specific averment of inducement by a false promise made in bad faith from the outset, and absent any specific date, time or circumstance of the alleged act regarding committing the rape by appellant in the FIR and statement under section 164 Cr.P.C. recorded before the judicial magistrate. The essential ingredients of Section 376 IPC, as explained in the decisions referred to above, are not made out even on a prima facie appraisal of the material as it stands.

23. It is well settled that to constitute the offence of cheating under Section 420 IPC, dishonest or fraudulent intention must be shown to have existed at the time of the very inception of the transaction; a subsequent failure to keep a promise, without more, does not translate a civil dispute into a criminal offence. Reference in this regard may be made to Hridaya Ranjan Prasad Verma v. State of Bihar, (2000) 4 SCC 168, and Vijay Kumar Ghai v. State of West Bengal, (2022) 7 SCC 124, wherein the Supreme Court cautioned against the use of criminal process as a tool for recovery of money that is essentially the subject-matter of a civil/commercial dispute, and deprecated conversion of a purely civil dispute into a criminal case.

24. Insofar as Section 406 IPC is concerned, the essential ingredients are entrustment of property or dominion over property, and its dishonest misappropriation or conversion to one's own use in violation of a legal contract. The mere handing over of an ATM card, without any specific averment/details as to the manner, date and extent of misuse, and without material to establish dishonest misappropriation as distinct from a financial dispute between the parties, does not satisfy the requirements laid down in R.K. Vijayasarathy v. Sudha Seetharam, (2019) 16 SCC 739, for constituting an offence under Section 406 IPC.

25. In Masumsha Hasanasha Musalman vs. State of Maharashtra, (2000) 3 SCC 557, the Apex Court held that "".To attract the provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of the Act, the sine qua non is that the victim should be a person who belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe and that the offence under the Indian Penal Code is committed against him on the basis that such a person belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe. In the absence of such ingredients, no offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act arises. In this case the trial court erred in convicting the accused-appellant for the offence arising under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act only on the basis that there was no controversy that the victim belonged to a Scheduled Caste." In Dinesh @ Buddha vs. State of Rajasthan, (2006) 3 SCC 771 and in Ramdas and other vs. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 2 SCC 170, the Apex Court reiterated the same principle, as laid down in the aforesaid case.

26. In Hitesh Verma v. State of Uttarakhand, (2020) 10 SCC 710, the Supreme Court held that for an offence to fall within Section 3 of the SC/ST Act, it is not enough that the victim belongs to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, it must further be shown that the offence was committed against the victim on the ground that he/she belongs to such caste or tribe. Mere fact of the informant belonging to a Scheduled Caste, without any material to indicate caste-based intent or that the alleged acts were motivated by the caste identity of the informant, would not attract the provisions of the Act. In Khuman Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2020) 18 SCC 143, it was similarly held that the offence under the SC/ST Act is not established merely because the informant is a member of a Scheduled Caste; the prosecution must show a nexus between the caste identity of the victim and the commission of the offence.

27. Tested on this touchstone, the material on record, including the FIR and the statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., does not disclose any allegation that the acts attributed to the appellant were committed on account of the informant's caste identity, as contemplated under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act.

28. Admittedly, the informant/victim, Manju Saroj, is a well-educated lady having higher qualifications and further she was pursuing Ph.D. She was fully aware of her future and the consequences of entering into a relationship with any person. The victim stated that she had handed over her ATM card and other related articles to the accused-appellant, Saurabh Pal Singh, who allegedly misappropriated a substantial amount of money. Admittedly, no civil or criminal proceedings for recovery of the said amount have been instituted by the victim before any competent court or authority having jurisdiction in this regard. She specifically stated in the First Information Report as well as in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that she had given Rs.15,00,000 to the appellant for the purpose of running a business. She further stated that the appellant had issued two cheques of Rs.5,00,000 each, which, upon presentation before the bank, were dishonoured. If the cheques were dishonoured, proceedings under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act could have been initiated. Admittedly, no reliable material has been brought on record regarding the particulars of the cheques or the bank's endorsement showing their dishonour. The reason why the victim did not initiate proceedings under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act also remains unexplained.

29. On a cumulative consideration of the material on record and the submissions advanced, this Court finds substance in the contentions raised on behalf of the appellant. The absence of any specific date, time or place etc. of the alleged occurrence, the admission of the informant that there was no love relationship coupled with a long period of continuing physical relationship spanning several years, the absence of any specific allegation of rape in the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., the disclosure in the FIR itself that the amount was advanced for business purposes, the essentially civil/commercial character of the dispute regarding dishonour of cheques, the lack of material establishing dishonest misappropriation for the purposes of Section 406 IPC, the selective prosecution of the appellant alone out of three named persons without explanation, and the absence of any material connecting the alleged acts to the caste identity of the informant, cumulatively fall short of disclosing a prima facie case, much less grave suspicion, sufficient in law to sustain the charges framed against the appellant.

30. The learned trial court, while rejecting the discharge application and framing charge, does not appear to have adverted to these material infirmities and has proceeded in a summary manner without a proper application of judicial mind to the material collected during investigation, as mandated by the decisions of the Supreme Court referred to hereinabove.

31. Having carefully examined the allegations in the First Information Report, the statements of the prosecutrix recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., the documentary material brought on record, and the attendant circumstances including the admitted financial transactions between the parties, cheque bounce proceedings, and the overall factual background, this Court is of the considered opinion that the materials collected during investigation, even if accepted at their face value, do not disclose sufficient grounds for presuming that the appellant has committed the offences alleged. The record, on the contrary, indicates that the dispute is predominantly civil and financial in nature and that the allegations of rape on the basis of a false promise of marriage are not prima facie borne out from the material available. Likewise, no prima facie material exists to attract the ingredients of Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act, as the alleged offence is not shown to have been committed on the ground that the prosecutrix belonged to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe.

32. Accordingly, the appellant is liable to be discharged from the offences punishable under Sections 376, 420, 406, 504 and 506 IPC as well as Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act.

33. Consequently, the impugned orders dated 18.11.2024 and 27.01.2026 passed by the learned Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Prayagraj in Sessions Trial No.159 of 2021 arising of Case Crime No.388 of 2020 rejecting the discharge application of the appellant and frames charge against him, is hereby set aside.

34. The appeals are, accordingly, allowed.

35. The appellant, Saurabh Pal Singh, stands discharged of the offences punishable under Sections 376, 420, 504, 506 and 406 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 in Sessions Trial No.159 of 2021 arising of Case Crime No.388 of 2020.

36. If the appellant is on bail, the bails bonds and sureties, furnished earlier, shall stand discharged.

37. Registrar (Compliance) is directed to communicate the instant order to the court concerned through District and Sessions Judge, Prayagraj by e-mail/FAX within a week for further proceedings and compliance.

Factual Matrix of the Case

4. The case as set up by the prosecution is that on 07.04.1987, at around 6:30 PM, the accused came to the house of the complainant wherein accused Ram Lal, Bateshwar and Ram Naresh were carrying pistol and guns and accused Phulla was carrying lathi. The accused started firing at the complainant and his family members and accused Phulla attacked Murli with the lathi. When the complainant and his family members raised hue and cry, the neighboring villagers including Ismeer, Islaam, Prahlad and others came to the spot and thereafter, the accused fled the scene of occurrence. The complainant PW-1, Motilal, Subedar and Murli sustained injuries in the incident.

5. Thereafter, the complainant (PW-1) submitted the tehrir in the police station concerned on the basis of which, the First Information Report (Ex Ka-11) was lodged against all the four accused on 07.04.1987 under Sections 307/323 of IPC at Police Station Harpalpur, District Hardoi. The dying declaration of injured Subedar was recorded and in addition to the accused named in the FIR, he named Ram Ratan also. He died on 08.07.1987 after dying declaration. After his death the offence was converted into murder under Sections 302/149, 307/149 and 323/149 IPC and investigation started against the accused.

6. The investigation of the case was taken over and conducted by Sub Inspector Ravi Raj Dixit (PW-9) who went to the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ex Ka17) and also collected the blood stained and simple earth from the place of occurrence. Thereafter, on 10.04.1989, accused Ram Lal, Bateshwar and Phulla were arrested from the Kakra village. Thereafter, on 13.04.1987, the investigation was taken over by PW-7, V.P. Srivas and on the same day accused Ram Naresh was arrested. On 21.04.1987, accused Ram Ratan was arrested.

7. After recording the statement of witnesses and completing the other formalities, charge-sheet (Ex Ka-20) was filed against Ram Lal, Bateshwar, Ram Naresh, Ram Ratan and Phulla under the above-mentioned offenses.

8. On finding a prima facie case, the case was committed for trial to the court of Sessions and learned Sessions Judge framed charges under Sections 148, 323/149, 307/149 and 302/149 of IPC against accused Ram Lal, Bateshwar and Ram Naresh whereas under Sections 147, 323, 307/149 and 302/149 were framed against accused Phulla and Ram Ratan, to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

9. Thereafter, the prosecution opened its case and examined as many as 12 witnesses in its support. In order to properly appreciate the evidence and the circumstances which were arrayed against the accused, it may be apposite to have a brief resume of the evidence led by the prosecution.

10. PW-1 explained that there was some prior property dispute within his family, which had resulted in the alleged incident. He stated that accused Bateshwar and Phulla were his cousin brothers while accused Ram Lal was his uncle. PW1 further stated that on the day of the incident, at around 6:15 to 6:30 O'clock in the evening, the accused, armed with guns and lathis, came to the residence of the complainant PW-1 where his father Murli, Subedar and Motilal were also present. Accused shot at deceased Subedar, Motilal and the complainant (PW-1) and assaulted Murli with lathis. The complainant took all the injured to the place of Chandrapal on a bullock cart. Said Chandrapal wrote the complaint and complainant (PW-1) put his signature on it after same was read out to him. Thereafter, all the injured were taken to the police station on a jeep and on the basis of the tehrir Ex Ka-1, the FIR was registered. The police took PW-1 to the scene of occurrence and after the formalities, took him to the hospital where he found other injured. Thereafter, all injured were taken to Hardoi hospital where they got treatment.

11. PW-2 Islam is the neighbor of the complainant and an independent eye-witness to the incident, who corroborated the testimony of PW1 and stated that he knew the accused as well as the victims as they all belonged to his village. He stated that he had reached the place of occurrence upon hearing the hue and cry and witnessed that all the accused with their respective lathi and firearms were abusing. Accused Bateshwar armed with gun, Ramlal with Katta, Ram Naresh with gun and Ram Ratan and Phulla were armed with lathi. He further corroborated that accused Bateshwar fired at Subedar, who fell down near the door of Har Dayal. Accused Ram Naresh and Ramlal also fired from their respective weapons, which hit Om Prakash PW-1 and Moti Lal, while accused Phulla and Ram Ratan assaulted Murli with their lathis and after incident all of them ran away from the place of occurrence.

12. PW-3 Dr. S. Thiryani was posted in the District Hospital, Hardoi on 08.04.1987 at 12:30 AM, deposed that he examined and prepared the injury report (Ex Ka-2) of the deceased Subedar when he was brought to the District Hospital, Hardoi by the police authorities. During the internal examination, the left iliac bone was found fractured. Further the elongated foreign body shadow in the left lower abdominal region along with fracture of upper part of left hip bone was seen in the X-ray prepared by Dr. N.A. Khan. PW-4 found the cause of death of deceased Subedar due to the shock and hemorrhage as a result of anti-mortem injuries.

14. PW-5 Sri R.K. Lal Chaudhari was the SDM who had recorded the dying declaration of the deceased Subedar. He stated that the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by him in District Hospital, Hardoi in the morning of 08.04.1987 after ensuring that patient was fit in making statement and he had prepared two carbon copies of the dying declaration.

15. Injured Soobedar died in the hospital on 08.04.1987 and the information about his death was registered in the GD (Ex Ka-28) by S.O. Kotwali. Sub Inspector U.B. Singh reached the mortuary to conduct the inquest proceedings and prepared the inquest report Ex Ka-22.

16. PW-6 Head Constable Ranjeet Singh had registered the FIR on the basis of the written complaint Exhibit Ka-1 filed by the complainant PW-1 and proved FIR and G.D. entries Exhibit Ka-11 & Ka-12 respectively. PW-7 V.P. Srivas, who was second Investigating Officer, stated that he was posted as the Station House Officer at the Harpalpur police station on 07.04.1987 and first information report was registered in his presence on the basis of the complaint submitted by PW-1. The investigation of the case was assigned to Sub Inspector, Ravi Raj Dixit (PW-9) who went to the place of occurrence with the complainant and prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka.17). He lifted the blood stained and simple earth from place of occurrence vide recovery memo Ex.Ka-18.

17. PW-7 took over the investigation on 13.04.1987 and recorded the statement of witnesses. He arrested accused Ram Ratan on 21.04.1987 and sent him in custody. After completion of entire investigation, he prepared the chargesheet Ex.Ka-20 and submitted before the court.

18. PW-8, constable Shiv Shankar Yadav had taken the body of deceased Subedar for post-mortem on 09.04.1987. PW-10 Head Constable Vishram Lal and PW-11 Constable Gokran Singh had sent the clothe of the victims for forensic examination. PW-12 Shripal Trivedi is the X-Ray Technician at District Hospital Hardoi, who had prepared the X-Ray reports of PW-1 Om Prakash and deceased Subedar.

19. The statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (CrPC). They pleaded false implication and claimed themselves to be innocent. Despite being provided opportunity of leading evidence, the accused chose not to furnish any evidence in their defence and support of innocence and accordingly their opportunity of leading evidence was closed.

20. After considering the contentions raised by both the sides and appreciating the evidence produced on record, the learned Trial court convicted the appellants/accused but acquitted Ram Ratan by giving him the benefit of doubt. However, no appeal has been preferred challenging the acquittal of Ram Ratan.

21. Feeling dissatisfied from the order and judgement of conviction, the accused, Ram Lal, Bateshwar, Ram Naresh and Phulla preferred the instant appeal.

Contentions of the Parties

22. Raising challenge to the impugned order and judgment passed therein, learned counsel for accused vehemently argued that learned trial court had ignored that there were several material lacunas in the case of prosecution, which had rendered the prosecution story highly improbable and doubtful. The learned counsel vehemently submitted that some unknown persons had robbed the complainant and other injured on the fateful day, however due to prior enmity, the accused have been falsely implicated. The incident took place in the dark, when the victims could not have identified the unknown robbers. The FIR is alleged to be ante timed as none of the injured witnesses were examined at the time of the lodging of the report. The appellants have also challenged the dying declaration on the ground that it contained several material facts such as names and details of the weapons of the accused and such details were unnatural to have come from a person so severely injured as Subedar. It has been further alleged that the description of the weapons and name of accused as given in the dying declaration does not match with the testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

23. Concluding the arguments, the learned counsel for the accused submitted that no independent witness has been produced by the prosecution and the learned Trial Court erred in convicting the appellants solely on the basis of the testimony of interested and partisan witnesses.

24. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate for the state submitted that the learned trial Court has passed a speaking and well-reasoned judgment based on proper appreciation of evidence available on record. The testimony of PW1 and PW2 remain unblemished and unchallenged, and thus, the judgment of the learned trial Court convicting the accused warrants no interference.

Points for Determination

25. Upon perusal of the contentions advanced by both the parties, the testimony of the witnesses, the impugned judgment and other evidence available on record, the following issues emerge for consideration:-

A. Whether in the given facts and circumstances, the dying declaration can be said to be tutored and unnatural?

B. Whether the trial court has committed any error relying upon the eye account of witnesses?

C. Whether the impugned order and judgment of the learned Trial court suffers from any perversity?

26. The date, time and place of the incident has not been disputed by the appellants. They have also not disputed the nature of injuries sustained by the victims and the nature of the weapons allegedly used by the assailants. The only defense of accused was that the victims were attacked by some strangers, who robbed them on 07.04.1987 and since the incident took place in the dark, the victims were unable to identify the assailants. Due to prior enmity, the complainant found it fit to name the accused and thus, the accused have been falsely implicated in the case. Against this backdrop, we proceed to determine the above-mentioned points.

Issue No. 1- Whether in the given facts and circumstances, the dying declaration can be said to be tutored and unnatural?

27. The FIR was initially lodged under Sections 307/323 of IPC and after the death of Subedar, Section 302 of IPC was added on 10.04.1987. Subedar was admitted to the hospital in the night of the incident itself, i.e., on 07.04.1987. Subedar was first taken to the Harpalpur hospital and thereafter, he was shifted to the District Hospital, Hardoi on the same night. He was medico legally examined by PW-3 and injury report Ex Ka-2 was prepared at about 12:30 AM (00:30 hours) on 08.04.1987, wherein a single fire arm injury was found on his person. At about 8:30 AM on 08.07.1987, the dying declaration of Subedar was recorded by PW-5 SDM Sri R.K. Lal Chaudhari. During treatment, Subedar succumbed to the injuries at 10:40 PM on 08.07.1987 and the post-mortem report Ex Ka8 found the cause of death to be shock and hemorrhage due to fire arm injury.

28. The learned Trial Court relied upon the dying declaration in convicting the appellants and this finding has been challenged on the ground that several material facts have been incorporated in the dying declaration, which are unnatural to state for an injured person and thus, this is contended to have rendered the dying declaration unreliable.

29. Dying declaration is admissible under Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (now Section 26(a) of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023). Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act states that statements, written or verbal, or relevant facts, made by a person, who is dead, are relevant when the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction, which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question. It is based on the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentirii which means that a man will not meet his maker with a lie in his mouth.

30. At this juncture, it would be apposite to refer to certain judicial precedents establishing the principles pertaining to the admissibility and reliability of the dying declaration. Material on record to implicate the accused persons with the offence of murder is statement of deceased Ex.Ka-6,, 7 & 10, which was being treated as dying declaration. The prosecution heavily has banked upon the statement of deceased Ex.Ka-6, 7 & 10, which was being treated as dying declaration to implicate the accused persons with the offence of murder. Before appraisal of facts under challenge, let the judicial pronouncements and propositions of law with this regard be discussed. The judiciary evolved rule of caution, for acceptance of dying declaration as laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Paniben Vs. State of Gujarat 1992 (2), SCC 474. The same rules were reiterated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Shakuntala Vs. State of Harayana (2007) 10 SCC 168, Jaishree Anant Khandekar Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2009) 11 SCC 647 and Sukanti Moharana Vs. State of Orissa, (2009) 9 SCC 163. The said principles are statutory and cardinal in nature and same are reproduced as under:-

(i) There is neither rule of law nor of prudence that dying declaration cannot be acted upon without corroboration.

(ii) If the court is satisfied that dying declaration is voluntary, it can pose conviction on it, without corroboration.

(iii) The court has to scrutinise dying declaration carefully and must ensure that the declaration is not result of tutoring, promoting or imagination. The deceased had an opportunity to preserve and identify the assailant and was in a fit state to make the declaration.

iv) Where dying declaration is suspicious, it should not be acted upon without corroborating evidence.

v) Where the deceased was unconscious and could not make any dying declaration, the evidence with it is to be rejected.

vi) A dying declaration which suffers from infirmity cannot form the base of conviction.

vii) Merely because a dying declaration does not contain the details as to occurrence, it is not to be rejected.

viii) Equally, merely because it is a brief statement, it is not to be discarded. On the contrary, shortness of statement itself guarantees the truth.

ix) Normally, the court in order to satisfy whether deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration looking up to the medical opinion, but where the eye-witness said that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make dying declaration, the medical opinion cannot prevail.

x) Where the prosecution version differs from the version as given in the dying declaration, the said declaration cannot be acted upon.

31. In Paramjit Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and others AIR 1997 Supreme Court 1614, it was held by Hon'ble Supreme Court that if all the details are given in dying declaration, the same must not inspire confidence of court in as much as a neatly structured dying declaration may bring an adverse effect in the mind of court.

32. In Laxman v. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2002) 6 SCC 710, the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:

"3. The juristic theory regarding acceptability of a dying declaration is that such declaration is made in extremity, when the party is at the point of death and when every hope of this world is gone, when every motive to falsehood is silenced, and the man is induced by the most powerful consideration to speak only the truth. Notwithstanding the same, great caution must be exercised in considering the weight to be given to this species of evidence on account of the existence of many circumstances which may affect their truth. The situation in which a man is on death bed is so solemn and serene, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. It is for this reason the requirements of oath and cross- examination are dispensed with. Since the accused has no power of cross- examination, the court insist that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the court in its truthfulness and correctness. The court, however has to always be on guard to see that the statement of the deceased was not as a result of either tutoring or prompting or a product of imagination. The court also must further decide that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had the opportunity to observe and identify the assailant. Normally, therefore, the court in order to satisfy whether the deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration look up to the medical opinion. But where the eyewitnesses state that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make the declaration, the medical opinion will not prevail, nor can it be said that since there is no certification of the doctor as to the fitness of the mind of the declarant, the dying declaration is not acceptable. A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and in any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. In most cases, however, such statements are made orally before death ensues and is reduced to writing by someone like a magistrate or a doctor or a police officer. When it is recorded, no oath is necessary nor is the presence of a magistrate is absolutely necessary, although to assure authenticity it is usual to call a magistrate, if available for recording the statement of a man about to die. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a magistrate there is no specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement even without examination by the doctor the declaration can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certification by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and therefore the voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise.'

(Emphasis added by court)

33. In Munnawar & Ors. Vs. State of U.P., reported in (2010) 5 SCC 451, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that:

"13. In Balak Ram case [(1975) 3 SCC 219] this Court dealt with two dying declarations, one recorded by the investigating officer in the case diary which was held to be unreliable and the other by the Executive Magistrate which was held to be reliable notwithstanding the fact that the injured, when taken to the hospital, was in a very critical condition. This Court observed that though there may be some suspicion with regard to the statement recorded by the Police Officer, the same could not be said of the second dying declaration.

14. It was observed thus: (Balak Ram case, SCC p. 235, para 54)

"54. The circumstances surrounding the dying declaration, though uninspiring, are not strong enough to justify the view that officers as high in the hierarchy as the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, the Civil Surgeon and the District Magistrate hatched a conspiracy to bring a false document into existence. The Civil Services have no platform to controvert allegations, howsoever grave and unfounded. It is, therefore, necessary that charges calculated to impair their career and character ought not to be accepted except on the clearest proof. We are not prepared to hold that the dying declaration is a fabrication."

The aforequoted paragraph fully supports the view that (save for very good reasons) a dying declaration recorded by a Magistrate duly endorsed by a Doctor should not be discarded.

15. In K. Ramachandra Reddy case [(1976) 3 SCC 618], this Court again, on an appreciation of the circumstances leading to the recording of the dying declaration, held that it could not be relied upon. It is, therefore, obvious that the fact as to whether a dying declaration is reliable or not would depend upon the facts of the case and the evidence produced by the prosecution and no hard and fast rule by way of precedent can ever be adopted.

16. As already observed by us, there are no suspicious circumstances whatsoever with regard to the dying declaration recorded by Rajdev Singh and endorsed by Dr. Trivedi and no substantial reason has been spelt out by Mr. Sushil Kumar as to why these officers would be a party in favour of the prosecution. It is also extremely relevant that in both the cited cases, the primary argument was based on the physical condition of the maker of the dying declaration i.e. deceased. In the present case, however, the fact that the deceased had remained alive for a long period of time after the incident and died several days later of septicemia brought about by the gunshot injury clearly shows that his condition was not overly critical or precarious when the dying declaration had been recorded."

34. The facts of present case are to be analyzed keeping in view the aforesaid principles of law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court, as caution for acceptance of dying declaration. Before we advert to the actual admissibility of dying declaration and credibility of witnesses to dying declaration, it will be useful at this juncture to reproduce, herein below the dying declaration Ex.Ka.10, PW3 Dr. S Thiryani endorsed on the top corner of the statement that 'patient is fully conscious and fit to make the statement. Dated 08.04.1987 at 8:30 A.M. with the signature of doctor,' while in the bottom it has been noted that Subedar was in complete senses during recording of his statement. The both fitness certificate were given by PW 3 under his handwriting and signature. Under the certificate of fitness, the thumb impression of left hand of deceased Subedar has been affixed, while towards the right side PW-5 has put his signature with the time 8:45 AM. The statement of injured has been recorded by PW5 in his own handwriting and has been said to be recorded after getting satisfied and obtaining fitness certificate of victim/deceased from Dr. S. Thiryani PW3. PW5 has submitted further that the statement was read over and after concluding the statement at 8:45 AM, the signature of maker was obtained in the bottom of statement. As per PW-5, the injured made his statement voluntarily and in a fit state of mind.

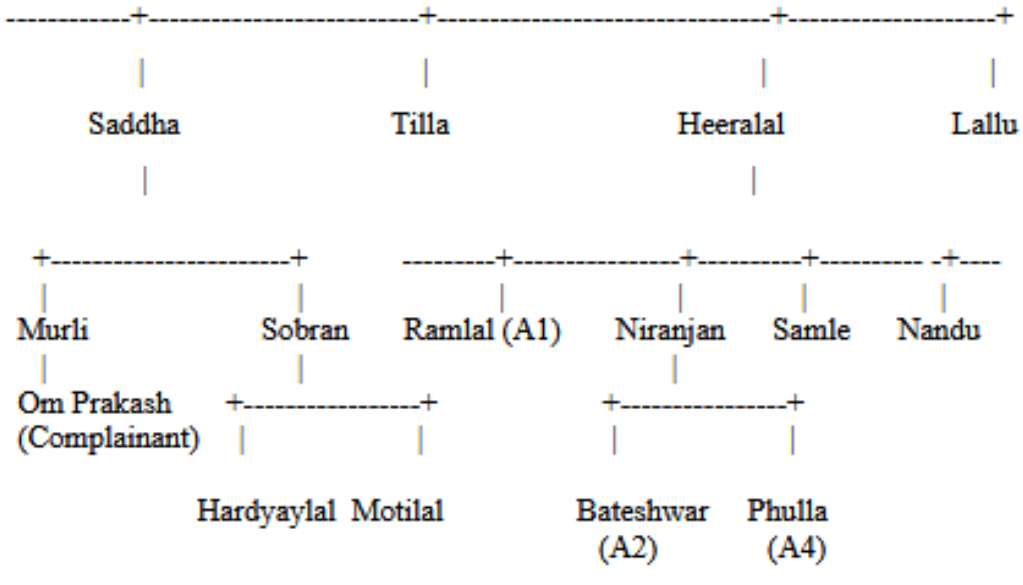
36. At this juncture, while appraising the dying declaration, it will not be out of record to mention the injuries found on the body of the maker of statement immediately before the recording of statement so that the fact of fitness of the injured at the relevant time can be addressed properly. In this regard, statement of PW3 Dr. S. Thiryani, treating doctor, is of great value, who found a fire arm wound of 2x2 cm, abdominal cavity deep over the umbilicus and some abdominal contents were coming out of the wound with low bleeding. Blackening, scorching as well as tattooing found on right side of abdomen during the medico-legal examination. In his cross examination, PW-3 gave corroborated version to that of PW-5 that before and after recording of dying declaration, he gave the fitness certificate in his signature and hand writing. As per PW-3, no first aid was given to the injured until his admission in this hospital and his medico-legal examination. His general condition was very low. In answer to the question put to the witness, he unequivocally stated that no sleeping pills was given to the injured during his treatment and only a pain killer injection namely Analgin was administered to him. From the bare perusal of evidence made by this witness, it is clear that the Subedar was in his full senses while making the statement. Nothing was placed on record that the maker of the statement was under the impression of sedative or any type of internal or outer impression. PW-3 being neutral and natural witness is supposed to give the evidence free from any kind of doubt or interest, therefore, there is no reason to disbelieve his deposition regarding medical ability of the injured. PW5, who is scribe of dying declaration has also corroborated the fact that PW3 gave fitness certificate in his presence. He further stated that before the commencement of the dying declaration, he himself had ensured that the statement should be free from tutoring and any external pressure and for that purpose, he asked the treating doctor to restraint entry of everyone and recorded the statement only after being assured that injured was ready to make the statement voluntarily and free from tutoring. According to him, even no patient was around the maker of the statement. Although, PW5 admitted during his cross examination that he did not detail the above fact in the dying declaration, yet there is no reason to discard his statement merely on the basis of this trifling discrepancy. Therefore, from evidence of PW3 and PW5, this fact stands established on record that at the time and during the recording of the statement, Subedar was in the fit state of mind and whatever statement was made by him, was in complete senses.

37. Now, we have to determine that whether the dying declaration is reliable, credible and admissible against the accused? In this context, if we examine the dying declaration itself, it becomes clearly evident that the document is intact in itself and there is no room of doubt in the statement made by the maker. The dying declaration has been recorded by PW-5 in question and answer format, so that the maker could be enable to understand the question and then to answer the same. While recording statement, Subedar was asked several questions such as why he was in the hospital and when he had been attacked before he was asked to name the accused. Subedar had stated that he was in the hospital for treatment and the incident took place at 6:00 PM which is consistent with the testimonies of the other witnesses. It is true that the description of weapons as given in the dying declaration was not exactly accurate to the description given in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses and the first information report, however, it has been categorically stated that he was fired and sustained injuries in the incident itself. Although, in his statement, Subedar also named Ram Ratan having firearm along with other four accused named in the FIR, who has beeN acquitted, yet there is no reason to cast doubt on entire dying declaration merely on this score. Reason is not for to seek. Subedar is said to have been the first one to be shot by the accused and thus he may have had the least opportunity to witness which weapon was carried by which accused. All the accused are said to have been armed with guns and lathis and this has been consistent with the FIR, the complaint as well as the witness testimonies. The use of such nature of weapons in the incident has not even been disputed by the appellants. There is another fact which corroborated the credibility of dying declaration and that is duration of between statement and his death. There is no doubt that dying declaration was recorded at 8:30 A.M. and he died at about 10:45 PM., and therefore, it cannot be said that he was so feeble and lacking mental health so as to not understand the question and reply. All the answers given by the maker in dying declaration though subtle but sufficient to reach on the conclusion that accused left no stone unturned to commit his murder. The dying declaration cannot be doubted merely because of such minor discrepancies particularly in view of the fact that he was badly injured by firearm wound at the time of recording of the dying declaration. Therefore, in the given facts and circumstances, the credibility of dying declaration and observation made by learned trial court, warrants no interference.

Issue No. 2- Whether the trial court has committed any error relying upon the eye account of witnesses?



38. Another issue raised by the learned counsel for the appellants is that the prosecution has examined only two eye-witnesses, PW1 complainant and PW2. Both of them have been alleged to be interested witnesses and it has been submitted that even though several witnesses were named in the FIR, none of them were produced by the prosecution as witnesses.

39. PW-9 Sub Inspector R. R. Dixit, who was the first investigating officer, stated that though the witnesses were named in the complaint, they could not be examined on the day of the incident itself because no witnesses were available on the said day. It is only on 15.04.1987, when PW-7 is said to have recorded the statement of witnesses.

40. PW-1 and PW-2 are the only eye-witnesses, who have been examined by the prosecution, even though several persons such as Khushiram, Prahlad and others were named as witnesses in the First Information Report. The appellants have contended that the non-examination of these independent witnesses who were named in the complaint renders the prosecution version highly doubtful and unreliable. PW1 is the complainant himself and is thus alleged to be an interested witness. PW2 is said to have contested the panchayat elections against accused Ram Lal and thus, he is alleged to have deposed against the accused out of his own personal interests.

41. PW-1 had stated that the appellants were his own cousin brothers and uncle. For the sake of convenience, the relations of the appellants with the complainant is depicted through the following chart:

42. It is thus apparent that the accused and the complainant belonged to the same family. The families of the complainant/injured and accused had several prior ongoing disputes. The complaint Ex Ka1 had disclosed that the accused had attacked the victims due to ongoing property disputes.

43. In this regard, we may refer to the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sarwan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1976) 4 SCC 369, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:

"13. Another circumstance which appears to have weighed heavily with the Additional Sessions Judge was that no independent witness of Salabatpura had been examined by the prosecution to prove the prosecution case of assault on the deceased, although the evidence shows that there were some persons living in that locality like the 'pakodewalla', hotelwalla, shopkeeper and some of the passengers who had alighted at Salabatpura with the deceased. The Additional Sessions Judge has drawn an adverse inference against the prosecution for its failure to examine any of those witnesses. Mr Hardy has adopted this argument. In our opinion the comments of the Additional Sessions Judge are based on serious misconception of the correct legal position. The onus of proving the prosecution case rests entirely on the prosecution and it follows as a logical corollary that the prosecution has complete liberty to choose its witnesses if it is to prove its case. The court cannot compel the prosecution to examine one witness or the other as its witness. At the most, if a material witness is withheld, the court may draw an adverse inference against the prosecution. But it is not the law that the omission to examine any and every witness even on minor points would undoubtedly lead to rejection of the prosecution case or drawing of an adverse inference against the prosecution. The law is well-settled that the prosecution is bound to produce only such witnesses as are essential for unfolding of the prosecution narrative. In other words, before an adverse inference against the prosecution can be drawn it must be proved to the satisfaction of the court that the witnesses who had been withheld were eyewitnesses who had actually seen the occurrence and were therefore material to prove the case. It is not necessary for the prosecution to multiply witnesses after witnesses on the same point; it is the quality rather than the quantity of the evidence that matters. In the instant case, the evidence of the eyewitnesses does not suffer from any infirmity or any manifest defect on its intrinsic merit. Secondly, there is nothing to show that at the time when the deceased was assaulted a large crowd had gathered and some of the members of the crowd had actually seen the occurrence and were cited as witnesses for the prosecution and then withheld. We must not forget that in our country there is a general tendency amongst the witnesses in mofussil to shun giving evidence in courts because of the cumbersome and dilatory procedure of our courts, the harassment to which they are subjected by the police and the searching cross-examination which they have to face before the courts. Therefore nobody wants to be a witness in a murder or in any serious offence if he can avoid it. Although the evidence does show that four or five persons had alighted from the bus at the time when the deceased and his companions got down from the bus, yet there is no suggestion that any of those persons stayed on to witness the occurrence. They may have proceeded to their village home. So far as Pakodewalla and Hotelwalla etc. are concerned there is positive evidence to show that they were interrogated by the police but they expressed ignorance about the occurrence. In this connection the evidence of P.W. 5 Harnek Singh clearly shows that the Investigating Officer interrogated the Hotelwalla and the Pakodewalla but they stated before him that they had not witnessed the occurrence. In these circumstances, therefore, there was no obligation on the prosecution to examine such witnesses who were not at all material. It is not a case where some persons were cited as eye-witnesses by the prosecution on material points and were deliberately withheld from the Court. For these reasons, therefore, the learned Additional Sessions Judge was not at all justified in raising an adverse inference against the prosecution case from this fact and the High Court was right in rejecting this part of the reasoning adopted by the learned Additional Sessions Judge."

(Emphasis added by court)

44. It is true that the complaint Ex Ka1 as well as the testimony of eye-witnesses disclose that several neighbors had come to the spot on hearing the hue and cry and PW-2 also reached on the spot and witnessed the entire scene happened there. However, the other named witnesses in the FIR have not been examined. This fact remained unchallenged that prior to the incident, a litigation dispute pertaining to some agricultural land had been initiated between injured Murli and Chotta, the father of accused Naresh. In that dispute, Murli was supported by injured Motilal while Chotta was supported by accused Ram Lal. Another suit had been going on between deceased Subedar and accused Ram Lal. Hardyaylal (victim Motilal's brother) and accused Ram Lal had also been engaged in some dispute because Hardyaylal's utensils had allegedly been stolen by the son of accused Ram Lal. PW1 stated that a separate property suit was ongoing between accused Ram Lal and Hardyaylal.

45. The families of the complainant and the accused seem to have been engaged in a complex web of disputes, which involved several members of the families. It is not unusual for independent witnesses to deter from taking sides and appearing as a witness from either side in such cases. The witnesses were not willing to give their statements to the police even on the day of the incident. Such hesitation stems from concerns regarding safety and the general tendency to avoid getting involved in legal affairs. Thus, we do not find any adverse impact on prosecution story for non-examination of named eye witnesses.

46. Testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 has been challenged on the ground that they made material improvements. The original complaint had not mentioned anything about accused Ram Ratan but at the time of their testimony, PW1 & PW-2 alleged that Ram Ratan was also one of the accused, who had attacked him and the other injured. Specific role was attributed to Ram Ratan and PW-1 stated that Ram Ratan was carrying a lathi through which he had assaulted Murli. PW1 stated that he had specifically taken Ram Ratan's name while narrating the incident to the scribe Chandrapal but somehow Chandrapal omitted Ram Ratan's name. PW1 further stated that he had also taken Ram Ratan's name while giving his statement to the police but for reasons best known to the police, the name of Ram Ratan was not included in PW1's statement. PW-2 has corroborated the testimony of PW-1 and had also stated that Ram Ratan was accompanying the accused and carrying a lathi. Further PW-1 & PW-2 deposed that accused Ram Lal had country made pistol and Basteshwar was having gun, while Ram Ratan and Phulla had lathi with him, which is in the contradiction of weapons alleged in first information report, whereby accused Bateshwar was alleged to had country made pistol. The testimony of both witnesses had been challenged on the ground of them being interested witnesses.

47. In cross-examination PW-2 stated that when he reached to the spot, Bateshwar made fire first and further fire were made by Ram Lal and Ram Naresh.

48. On being asked, answered that he did not ran to escape rather remained standing there. He replied that neither he saw nor searched any pellet or tikli on the space of occurrence as he had no concern.

49. He remained on place of occurrence for about 10 minutes and left the place only after the leaving of injured for police station on bullock cart . Further stated that he did not accompany with them to hospital or police station.

50. Argument is that PW-2 is not reliable and trust worthy witness being inimical to accused persons and delayed recording of his statement by Investigating Officer. Further raised challenge on the ground that he gave contradictory statement to PW-1 and FIR with regard to weapons. The weapons with the accused, disclosed in FIR and evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 are as under:-

FIR	PW-2	PW-1

राम लाल - तमंचा	कट्टा	कट्टा
बटेश्वर - बंदूक	कट्टा	कट्टा (बड़ा कट्टा/बंदूक)
नरेश - कट्टा	बंदूक	कट्टा
फुल्ला - लाठी	लाठी	लाठी
	राम रतन - लाठी	राम रतन - लाठी

51. Before adverting to appraisal of contention raised by learned counsel for accused, it will be beneficial to refer to the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Thoti Manohar v. State of Andhra Pradesh, reported in (2012) 7 SCC 723, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:-

"34. In Hari Obula Reddi and others v. The State of Andhra Pradesh AIR 1981 SC 82, a three-Judge Bench has held that evidence of interested witnesses is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. It cannot be laid down.

"as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon.'

35. In Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar (1996) 1 SCC 614, it has been opined that a close relative who is a natural witness cannot be regarded as an interested witness, for the term 'interested' postulates that the witness must have some interest in having the accused, somehow or the other, convicted for some animus or for some other reason.

36. In Pulicherla Nagaraju alias Nagaraja Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh AIR 2006 SC 3010, while dealing with the liability of interested witnesses who are relatives, a two-Judge Bench observed that

"16….. it is well settled that evidence of a witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground that he is either partisan or interested or close relative to the deceased, if it is otherwise found to be trustworthy and credible.'

The said evidence only requires scrutiny with more care and caution, so that neither the guilty escapes nor the innocent is wrongly convicted. If on such careful scrutiny, the evidence is found to be reliable and probable, then it can be acted upon.

" 16'..If it is found to be improbable or suspicious, it ought to be rejected. Where the witness has a motive to falsely implicate the accused, his testimony should have corroboration in regard to material particulars before it is accepted."

38. The learned counsel for the appellant has endeavoured hard to highlight certain discrepancies pertaining to time, situation of the land, number of persons, etc., but in our considered opinion, they are absolutely minor in nature. The minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the matter cannot bring discredit to the story of the prosecution. Giving undue importance to them would amount to adopting a hyper-technical approach. The Court, while appreciating the evidence, should not attach much significance to minor discrepancies, for the discrepancies which do not shake the basic version of the prosecution case are to be ignored……."

52. In Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras, reported in (1957) 1 SCC 700, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that witnesses can broadly be classified into three categories which are:

"18. Generally speaking, oral testimony in this context may be classified into three categories, namely:

(1) Wholly reliable.

(2) Wholly unreliable.

(3) Neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable

In the first category of proof, the court should have no difficulty in coming to its conclusion either way-it may convict or may acquit on the testimony of a single witness, if it is found to be above reproach or suspicion of interestedness, incompetence or subornation. In the second category, the court, equally has no difficulty in coming to its conclusion. It is in the third category of cases, that the court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial.

19. There is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subornation of witnesses. Situations may arise and do arise where only a single person is available to give evidence in support of a disputed fact. The court naturally has to weigh carefully such a testimony and if it is satisfied that the evidence is reliable and free from all taints which tend to render oral testimony open to suspicion, it becomes its duty to act upon such testimony. The law reports contain many precedents where the court had to depend and act upon the testimony of a single witness in support of the prosecution. There are exceptions to this rule, for example, in cases of sexual offences or of the testimony of an approver; both these are cases in which the oral testimony is, by its very nature, suspect, being that of a participator in crime. But, where there are no such exceptional reasons operating, it becomes the duty of the court to convict, if it is satisfied that the testimony of a single witness is entirely reliable. We have, therefore, no reasons to refuse to act upon the testimony of the first witness, which is the only reliable evidence in support of the prosecution."

53. In Prabhu Dayal v. State of Rajasthan, (2018) 8 SCC 127, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:

"20. The Court can separate the truth from the false statements in the witnesses' testimony. In Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525, this Court held as follows:

"12. It is indeed necessary to note that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain some exaggeration or embellishment ' sometimes there could even be a deliberate attempt to offer embellishment and sometimes in their over anxiety they may give a slightly exaggerated account. The court can sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth from the testimony of the witnesses. Total repulsion of the evidence is unnecessary. The evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. If this element is satisfied, it ought to inspire confidence in the mind of the court to accept the stated evidence though not however in the absence of the same."

21. Moreover, it is not necessary that the entire testimony of a witness be disregarded because one portion of such testimony is false. This Court observed thus in Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381:

"15. To the same effect is the decision in State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh [(1974) 3 SCC 277 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 886 : AIR 1973 SC 2407] and Lehna v. State of Haryana [(2002) 3 SCC 76 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 526]. Stress was laid by the accused-appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out the entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of 'falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if a major portion of the evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of a number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of the court to separate the grain from the chaff. Where chaff can be separated from the grain, it would be open to the court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of a particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim 'falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liars. The maxim 'falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded."

54. In the backdrop of the case, there is no dispute that Ram Ratan was not named in FIR, nor any incriminatory role in commission of offence was assigned, and first time his name emerged during the dying declaration of deceased Subedar. Learned trial court taking view that neither he was named in the FIR, nor in the statement of PW-1 made to Investigating Officer, acquitted him giving benefit of doubt. The question now is whether a false statement of witnesses made regarding a particular person, can render the entire story of prosecution, as unreliable? Answer is no. Law is settled that part of false statement will not suffice to discard the prosecution version from the perusal of both the witnesses. It is apparent that apart from the aforementioned statement against Ram Ratan, there is no contradiction emerged during long drawn cross examination by defence, which would cast doubt on their evidence.

55. So far as, argument of interested witness is concerned, PW-1 gave a description of all the ongoing property and other disputes within the two sides and stated that the appellants had attacked them due to those ongoing property disputes and enmity. As per the testimony of PW1, accused Phulla and Ram Ratan were carrying lathis, accused Ram Naresh and Bateshwar were carrying big guns and accused Ram Lal was also carrying a gun. The first one to fire a shot was Bateshwar, who shot deceased Subedar. Thereafter, Ram Lal and Ram Naresh shot PW1 complainant and Motilal. Phulla and Ram Ratan are said to have attacked PW1's father Murli with lathis and when PW1 raised hue and cry, then neighbors Islaam, Ismeer, Prahlad and Khushiram came to the spot and accused fled from the scene of occurrence.

56. PW-2 had also corroborated the version of PW1 and had stated that he reached the scene of occurrence upon hearing the hue and cry and identified the accused. He supported the testimony of PW1 by naming all the accused.

57. PW-1 has been corroborated by PW-2, who specifically denied any prior enmity with the accused due to which he may falsely implicate them. Except suggestion, no evidence of previous litigation with PW-2 as alleged, has been filed. Therefor, argument of PW-2 being interested witness, does not hold water, hence rightly rejected by learned trial court. PW-1 is an injured eye-witness whose presence at the scene of occurrence is not in doubt. The witnesses have been corroborated by the injury reports Ex Ka 2-5, which found firearm wounds on the person of the victims/injured. As per the post-mortem report (Ex Ka8), cause of death of Subedar was shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem fire arm injuries and thus, the post-mortem report further corroborated the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. PW4, further testified that the death of Subedar was caused due to a single firearm wound. Murli is said to have sustained such wounds which could have been caused by a lathi. All the 4 accused appellants have been consistently named in the complaint, FIR, dying declaration and in the witness testimonies. In view of the corroborated evidence, we find no reason to doubt the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses, particularly PW1 and 2, in so far as the role of the accused appellants are concerned.

58. The last contention raised by the appellants is that the incident took place in the dark and some unknown robbers had attacked the victims and they falsely implicated the accused appellants.

59. PW-1 in his cross-examination had categorically denied this version of the appellants. PW1 had stated that the incident occurred at around 6-6:30 in the evening, when there was sufficient sun light. He further stated that the accused were residents of his village and thus, he was familiar with their faces. Some of the accused were also the family members of the complainant and the injured and thus, it cannot be doubted that the victims would not have had any difficulty in recognizing the faces of the accused. PW2 has also stated that the incident occurred in the evening, when there was sufficient light.

60. PW-3 found the injuries of all the victims to be around ' day old and all the injured were kept under observation. Firearm wounds were found on the person of the complainant PW1, deceased Subedar, and Motilal, while three lacerated wounds were found on the person of Murli. Thus, the injury reports (Ex Ka2-5) corroborated the prosecution witnesses in so far as the time of the incident and use of firearms was concerned. Both PW1 and PW2 had stated that injured Murli was having with lathis, while other victims were shot at. In his testimony, PW3 further corroborated that the injuries could have been caused at around 6-6:30 PM on 07.04.1987 and the injuries of Murli were said to have been caused by lathis. In his cross-examination, PW3 had denied any possibility of the injuries of Murli and Om Prakash being self-inflicted or superficial.

61. In view of the aforementioned circumstances, it is clear that the incident occurred in the evening, when there was sufficient light for the victims to have identified the accused, particularly in view of the fact that the accused lived in the same village and were family members of the victims. All the 4 accused appellants were named in the first information report itself, which was promptly lodged just a few hours after the incident. They also find a mention in the dying declaration of deceased Subedar. There is nothing on record to support the story as pleaded by the defence of some unknown robbers attacking PW1 and other injured victims. Thus, we find no strength in this argument. Therefore, this point of determination favours the prosecution and goes against accused.

Issue No.3-Whether the impugned order and judgment of the learned Trial court suffers from any perversity?

62. As discussed above, it has been established on record beyond doubt that accused sharing the common intention, not only committed murder of Subedar but also committed offence of attempt to murder by causing life threatening and simple injuries to the injured Murli, Motilal and Om Prakash by using firearms and lathi. As a matter of fact, trial was initiated against five persons and accordingly charge of Section 148/149 and 147/149 IPC was also framed, in addition to Sections 302/149, 307/149 and 323/149 of IPC. However, complicity of only four accused was found in commission of crime by learned trial court and one person Ram Ratan was acquitted. The acquittal of Ram Ratan has become final as same has not been challenged by the State or complainant. Section 147 IPC deals with rioting while Section 148 deals with rioting with deadly weapons. In both the sections, formation of unlawful assembly is mandatory ingredient, as defined under Section 141 IPC. However, acquittal of one person namely Ram Ratan out of five accused negate the formation of unlawful assembly, therefore, despite of non-existence of necessary ingredient of unlawful assembly, conviction of accused under Sections 147 and 148 IPC is patent illegal and perverse and is liable to be interfered with and accused deserves to be acquitted of charges of Sections 147 and 148 IPC. Even otherwise conviction could not have been made in both sections simultaneously.

63. However, the position, which emerges is that the evidence which has been produced by prosecution is that the evidence which has been produced by prosecution on the record is sufficient, cogent, convincing and reliable to prove that the accused and none else has committed the offence of attempt to murder, simple injuries to injured and murder of deceased Subedar in furtherance of common intention, therefore, accused Beteshwar and Ram Naresh are held guilty of offences under Sections 323/34, 307/34, 302/34 of IPC. Accordingly the order and judgment passed by learned trial court deserves to be partly allowed and modified accordingly.

64. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed. Conviction and sentence under Sections 147 and 148 of IPC is set aside and accused Bateshwar and Ram Naresh are acquitted of offences mentioned above. However, order of conviction and sentence under Sections 323/34, 307/34 and 302/34 is affirmed.

65. No other contention has been raised by the learned counsel for the appellants.

66. Accused/appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds and surety bonds are hereby cancelled and sureties are forfeited. Sureties are discharged from their obligations. Non-bailable warrants of accused Bateshwar and Ram Naresh be issued and they are directed to surrender before learned Chief Judicial Magistrate within 15 days from today, who will send them to the jail to serve the remaining sentence, failing which learned Chief Judicial Magistrate will execute the non-bailable warrants issued against them by this court. Learned chief judicial magistrate concerned will ensure strict compliance of the order passed by this court.

67. Original record be transmitted after due compliance to the concerned court forthwith and in any case within a week from today.

68. All pending applications also stand disposed of.

Advs. for the Petitioner : R.K. Ojha, Sr. Adv.; Kunwar Bahadur Dixit; Shivendu Ojha
Advs. for the Respondents : Uday Pratap Singh

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. R.K. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Kunwar Bahadur Dixit, learned counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Uday Pratap Singh, learned counsel for respondent nos.2, 3 and 4 and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The present writ petition has been instituted challenging the order dated 30.06.2026 passed by the Director (Administration and Monitoring), Banda University of Agriculture and Technology, Banda, respondent no. 4, whereby the petitioner has been directed to retire from service with effect from 31.07.2026. The petitioner has also challenged the subsequent order dated 15.07.2026 passed by the Director (Administration and Monitoring), Banda University of Agriculture and Technology, Banda, whereby his claim for continuation in service till the end of the academic session, i.e., up to 30.06.2027, has been rejected.

3. Placing the brief facts of the case, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that Banda University of Agriculture and Technology was established in the year 2010 under the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1958. Being a newly established university, it does not have its own statutes. In view of the Government Order as well as the resolution of the Executive Council, the provisions and statutes applicable to Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur, have been made applicable to the said University.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that, under Section 2(k) of the University Act, the expression □Teacher□ has been defined as follows:

"Teacher means a person appointed or recognised by the University for the purpose of imparting instruction or conducting and guiding research or extension programmes and includes a person who may be declared by the Statutes to be a teacher."

5. From the aforesaid provision, it is clear that a person appointed by the University for imparting instruction or conducting and guiding research or extension programmes is included within the definition of 'teacher'.

6. Presently, the statutes of the Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur are applicable to the University. Accordingly, Chapter XII of the said Statutes governs the service conditions of teachers. Section 28-d of Chapter XII classifies the teachers of the University in the following manner:

"Section 28(d)(1):- The Board of Management shall, from time to time, determine, after considering the recommendation of the Academic Council in this behalf, the classification of the teaching staff of the University with appropriate designations i.e. Professors, Associate Professors/Readers, Assistant Professors/Lecturers and the like. The Board shall also have power to alter or modify such classification in any particular case."

"Section 28(d)(2): The teachers of the University shall be employed on a whole-time basis on the scales of pay approved for the University provided that the proportion of time of the teachers to be devoted to teaching,research and extension or administrative duties should be specified in their contract of appointment."

7. Chapter XIII of the Statute deals with the appointment of staff. Section 4-d thereof prescribes the procedure for selection and appointment to the posts of Professor, Associate Professor, Assistant Professor, and other teachers of the University. The relevant provision reads as follows:

"4(d) - The Selection Committee for the appointment of Professor, Associate Professor, Assistant Professor or teacher shall consist of:

(i) The Kulpati, who shall be the Chairman thereof;

(ii) The Dean of the Faculty concerned;

(iii) One Head of the Department to be nominated by the

Kulpati;

(iv) Two experts to be nominated by the Kuladhipati.

8. The petitioner was appointed pursuant to Advertisement No. 1 of 2017 to the post of Associate Professor (Agronomy). As per the General Instructions for Candidates for Appointment by Selection to Teaching Posts contained in the said advertisement, Instruction No. 5 stipulates that the primary responsibilities of the selected faculty member shall include teaching undergraduate and postgraduate courses, developing the course curriculum, and establishing laboratories. Instruction No. 6 further provides that, in addition to the aforesaid academic responsibilities, the selected faculty member shall also be required to perform duties relating to research, extension, administration, and the development of farms and laboratories, or such other functions as may be assigned by the competent authority from time to time.

9. Accordingly, the petitioner was appointed on 09.12.2017 to the post of Associate Professor (Agronomy) in the College of Agriculture. The appointment letter specifically provides that the petitioner's headquarters shall be at the Main Campus of Banda University of Agriculture and Technology, Banda. It further stipulates that the petitioner shall be liable to undertake teaching, research, or extension work at such outstations as may be assigned by the University from time to time. Thus, the terms and conditions of appointment unequivocally contemplate that, although the petitioner's headquarters would remain at the Main Campus, he could be entrusted with teaching, research, or extension duties at any outstation in accordance with the requirements of the University and the directions issued by the competent authority.

10. After joining the respondent as Associate Professor (Agronomy), the petitioner was entrusted with teaching several courses in both the undergraduate and postgraduate programmes during the period from December 2017 to October 2019. The petitioner was also nominated as the Major Advisor for supervising and guiding the students enrolled in the M.Sc. Agriculture (Agronomy) programme.

11. In addition thereto, the petitioner was permitted to continue and complete the research work and doctoral theses of the Ph.D. scholars who had been registered under his supervision at his previous institution, namely, Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur. The petitioner also continued to serve as a member of the Advisory Committees of such research scholars, as permitted by the University.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner has been subjected to harassment at the hands of the authorities and has been denied promotion to the post of Professor despite being eligible for the same. It is further submitted that, by order dated 21.10.2019, the petitioner was transferred from the Department of University to the Millets Research Station, formerly known as Crop Research Farm, Gursarai, which is a research centre. It is stated that the said centre has subsequently been redesignated as the Millets Research Station, and the petitioner, while continuing to hold the post of Associate Professor, has been assigned the charge of In-charge of the aforesaid research centre.

13. It is relevant to note that the petitioner's appointment order dated 09.12.2017 merely authorizes the University to assign him additional teaching, research, or extension work at outstations from time to time, whenever so required. The said appointment order does not confer any authority upon the University to alter or change the petitioner's substantive post of appointment.

14. In support of the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention to the University- vide order dated 30.12.2023, whereby Dr. Vijay Sharma, Assistant Professor, was entrusted only with the additional charge of In-charge, Oilseeds Research Centre, Mauranipur, Jhansi, while continuing to hold his substantive post as Assistant Professor. His substantive appointment remained unaffected.

15. It is submitted that, in stark contrast, the petitioner, who was duly appointed against the substantive post of Associate Professor (Agronomy), has been displaced from his substantive post and posted as In-charge, Millets Research Station, formerly known as Crop Research Farm, Gursarai, Jhansi. It is contended that no sanctioned post of Associate Professor, or of any teaching or scientist cadre, exists at the said Research Station.

16. Learned counsel further submits that although research activities relating to millets are carried out at the aforesaid Research Station, the establishment has no sanctioned teaching post of Associate Professor. The petitioner has nevertheless been posted there and is discharging duties as In-charge of the Research Station. However, he continues to draw his salary from the University against his substantive post of Associate Professor (Agronomy), thereby indicating that his substantive appointment has never been altered and continues to subsist in the University.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the provisions governing the conditions of service applicable to the petitioner are contained in the Statutes of Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur. Attention has been invited to Chapter XXI, Clause 28-r(7), which originally provided that the age of superannuation of all classes of employees of the University shall be 60 years. It is submitted that the said provision was subsequently amended by notification dated 11.01.2005, whereby the age of retirement of teachers and scientists serving in the University was enhanced from 60 years to 62 years.

18. It is further submitted that the State Government issued a Government Order dated 14.06.2022. Clause 7 thereof provides that teachers appointed under the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1958, falling within the definition of "teacher" under Section 2(k) and appointed in accordance with the provisions of Section 28-d of Chapter XII read with Clause 4-D of Chapter XIII of the Statutes, are entitled to continue in service until attaining the age of 62 years. The said Government Order further provides that such teachers shall also be entitled to the benefit of extension of service till the end of the academic session, i.e., up to 30th June immediately following their date of superannuation.

19. It is submitted that, in compliance with the aforesaid Government Order, respondent no. 4 circulated the same to the petitioner's University by letter dated 16.06.2022.

20. Learned counsel further submits that the petitioner's date of birth is 10.07.1964. The petitioner was appointed on the substantive post of Associate Professor (Agronomy) and, at the relevant time, was serving as In-charge, Millets Research Station, Gursarai, Jhansi. However, by communication dated 30.06.2026, the petitioner was informed that he would retire from service with effect from 31.07.2026.

21. It is submitted that even prior to the issuance of the aforesaid communication, the petitioner had submitted a representation dated 27.06.2026 before the competent authority requesting that he be granted the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session in accordance with the applicable statutory provisions and the Government Order dated 14.06.2022. Thereafter, upon issuance of the impugned order dated 30.06.2026 directing his retirement with effect from 31.07.2026 without extending the benefit of the academic session, the petitioner submitted a further representation dated 01.07.2026 reiterating his claim for grant of the said benefit.

22. Aggrieved thereby, the petitioner instituted Writ Petition No. 10051 of 2026, praying for quashing of the order dated 30.06.2026 and for issuance of a writ directing the respondents to permit him to continue in service till the conclusion of the academic session, i.e., up to 30.06.2027, together with full salary and all consequential service benefits admissible in law.

23. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court by order dated 15.07.2026, whereby the competent authority was directed to consider and decide the petitioner's claim within 72 hours. The Court further directed that, until such decision was taken, the impugned communication dated 30.06.2026 retiring the petitioner with effect from 31.07.2026 without extending the benefit of the academic session shall not be given effect to.

24. The impugned orders dated 30.6.2026 and 15.07.2026 have been challenged by learned counsel for the petitioner on the following grounds:

(i) It is submitted that all persons appointed as teachers under Section 2(k) of the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1958, and in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Section 28-d of Chapter XII read with Clause 4-d of Chapter XIII of the applicable Statute, fall within the definition of "teacher". Consequently, such teachers are entitled to retire on attaining the age of 62 years and are further entitled to the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session, i.e., up to 30th June immediately following the date of superannuation.

(ii) It is further submitted that the petitioner was appointed as Associate Professor by a duly constituted Selection Committee in accordance with Clause 4-d of Chapter XIII of the Statutes. His appointment, therefore, is to the substantive post of a teacher, and he squarely falls within the statutory definition of "teacher".

Accordingly, he is entitled to continue in service till the end of the academic session, and his services cannot be brought to an end before the expiry thereof.

(iii) Learned counsel submits that although the petitioner was entrusted with the additional charge of In-charge, Millets Research Station, he has throughout continued to hold the substantive post of Associate Professor (Agronomy). His placement at the Research Station did not alter his substantive appointment as a teacher. Consequently, he continues to be entitled to all statutory benefits available to teachers, including continuation in service till the end of the academic session.

(iv) It is further contended that the respondents cannot, by issuing an administrative order of placement or by assigning additional responsibilities, deprive the petitioner of the statutory benefits attached to his substantive post. The petitioner's vested statutory rights cannot be made dependent upon the discretion or administrative convenience of the respondents.

(v) Learned counsel has also placed reliance upon the case of Dr. Virendra Kumar Singh, who, while serving as Professor (Plant Pathology), was granted the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session. It is submitted that the petitioner's appointment is identical in nature, and, therefore, denial of the same benefit to him amounts to hostile discrimination and violates the principle of equality. Mere placement of the petitioner at the Research Station cannot disentitle him from the benefit extended to other similarly situated teachers.

(vi) Lastly, it is submitted that the petitioner's claim for promotion to the post of Professor is presently pending consideration before this Court. The pendency of the said proceedings further demonstrates that the petitioner continues to be treated as a member of the teaching cadre, and consequently, he cannot be denied the statutory benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session.

25. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the respondents have placed reliance upon the Government Order dated 23/25.09.2011 for denying the petitioner the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session. It is contended that the said Government Order was issued exclusively in respect of teachers serving in Government Degree Colleges under the Higher Education Department of the State. The Government Order provides that only such teachers whose conduct is satisfactory, who are physically and mentally fit, and who are actually engaged in teaching work, shall be entitled to the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session.

26. It is submitted that the aforesaid Government Order has no application to the present case, as the petitioner is neither governed by the Higher Education Department nor serving in a Government Degree College. Rather, the petitioner is an employee of Banda University of Agriculture and Technology, Banda, an agricultural university governed by the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1958, and the Statutes adopted thereunder. Consequently, the petitioner's service conditions are regulated by the statutory provisions applicable to agricultural universities and not by the Government Order governing teachers of Government Degree Colleges.

27. Learned counsel further submits that the action of the respondents in denying the petitioner the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session is in clear contravention of the University Statutes, as amended by notification dated 11.01.2005, as well as the clarification issued by the State Government through Government Order dated 14.06.2022, which specifically recognizes the entitlement of teachers appointed under the relevant provisions of the Act and the Statutes to continue in service until the end of the academic session.

28. It is further submitted that under the Statutes applicable to Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur, Professors, Associate Professors and Assistant Professors are entitled to continue in service till the conclusion of the academic session. The said Act and Statutes have admittedly been adopted and are applicable to Banda University of Agriculture and Technology, Banda. Accordingly, the petitioner, having been substantively appointed as an Associate Professor, is fully entitled to the same statutory benefit.

29. Learned counsel also submits that the petitioner continues to draw his salary from the University against the substantive post of Associate Professor (Agronomy). His placement as In-charge of the Millets Research Station, Gursarai, Jhansi, which is merely a research centre and where no sanctioned teaching post exists, does not alter his substantive status as a teacher. It is contended that, in any event, research and the guidance of research programmes form an integral part of the statutory definition of "teacher" under the applicable Act and Statutes. Therefore, the petitioner cannot be deprived of the benefit of continuation in service merely because he has been assigned charge of a Research Station.

30. On the aforesaid premises, it is submitted that the impugned orders are wholly arbitrary, illegal and contrary to the statutory provisions governing the petitioner's service conditions. The impugned orders, therefore, deserve to be quashed, and the petitioner is entitled to continue in service till the end of the academic session, i.e., up to 30.06.2027, together with full salary and all consequential service benefits admissible in law for the said period.

31. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-University submits that the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session is intended solely to avoid inconvenience to students and to ensure the smooth completion of the academic curriculum. It is contended that the underlying object of granting such session benefit is to enable the concerned teacher to complete the courses assigned during the academic session and to afford sufficient time to the Selection Committee to undertake the process of appointment of teachers so that newly selected teachers may assume charge with the commencement of the next academic session.

32. It is further submitted that the grant of session benefit is not a vested or statutory right conferred upon every teacher. Rather, it is in the nature of a concession or relaxation extended by the State Government with the limited object of maintaining continuity in academic activities and safeguarding the interests of the students.

33. Learned counsel further submits that the grant of such benefit is subject to the fulfilment of various conditions, including that the concerned employee is actually engaged in regular teaching, his or her work and performance are satisfactory, and he or she is physically and mentally fit to discharge the assigned duties. According to the respondents, continuation in service beyond the age of superannuation is, therefore, not automatic but is dependent upon the satisfaction of the prescribed conditions and the purpose sought to be achieved.

34. It is contended that, in the facts of the present case, the petitioner was not engaged in regular teaching work but was posted at the Millets Research Station, Gursarai, where he was primarily performing research-related functions. Since the petitioner was not imparting classroom instruction to students, he does not fulfil the essential requirement for grant of the benefit of continuation till the end of the academic session and, consequently, is not entitled to the session benefit claimed by him.

35. In support of the aforesaid submissions, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-University has placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in Sri Ram Singar Singh v. State of U.P. and Others, Writ-A No. 5910 of 2012, decided on 02.02.2012. The relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgement is as follows:-

“6. The sessions benefit is allowed to the teachers to avoid inconvenience to the students. The object of allowing the teachers to continue upto the end of the academic session is to complete the course curriculum, and to allow the Selection Committees to make selections of the teachers, to begin with the new academic session. The grant of session benefit is not a right conferred upon the teachers, it is a relaxation given by the State Government for the purpose of maintaining continuity of the academic session, for the benefit of the students. The sessions benefit also depends upon various other conditions namely whether he/ she is actually teaching any subject regularly, his / her work and performance and health. It is by way of concession given to continue even after attaining the age of superannuation in accordance with the service rules for specific object to be achieved."

It is submitted that the said decision recognizes that the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session is not an automatic or vested right available to every employee upon attaining the age of superannuation. Rather, such benefit is to be extended only where the prescribed conditions are fulfilled and where its grant advances the object of ensuring continuity in academic instruction and safeguarding the interests of the students. According to the respondents, since the petitioner was not engaged in regular teaching work at the relevant point of time but was discharging duties at the Millets Research Station, he is not entitled to claim the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session.

36. Learned counsel for the respondent-University further submits that reliance is also placed upon the Full Bench judgment of this Court in Sumitra Dhulia v. Director of Education and Others, Writ Petition No. 11111 of 1996, decided on 12.11.2010. It is submitted that while considering the entitlement of a Professor serving in the Central Potato Research Institute, Allahabad, the Full Bench examined the scope and object of the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session. Learned counsel submits that the principles laid down in the said judgment fully support the stand of the respondents and govern the controversy involved in the present case. The relevant observations of the Full Bench are reproduced hereinafter:

"16. The rules of superannuation prescribed in respect of public servants are based on consideration of life expectancy, and the capacity of the civil servant, having regard to the climatic conditions in which they work and the nature of work, they do. The rules do not involve the exercise of any discretion. They apply uniformally to all public servants, under the category, in respect of which they are framed. In Ram Deka vs. General Manager, North East Frontier Railway AIR 1964 SC 600 the Supreme Court said that the competent authority may frame rules under Article 309 of Constitution which corresponds to Section 124 of the Constitution for compulsory retirement of a government servant. All those rules as laid down in State of Bombay v. Saubhag Chand M. Doshi AIR 1957 SC 892 will be valid provided they fix both the age of superannuation and an age of compulsory retirement and the services of permanent civil servants are terminated between these two points of time. In Ram Autar Pandey v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1962 All 328 (FB) a Full Bench of our Court observed:-

"The purpose of Fundamental R. 56 is not to confer upon Government servants any right to be retained in service up to a particular age, but to prescribe the age beyond which they may not be retained in service.

This shows the intention with which the rule was framed. What to say of a vested right, not even a right was intended to be conferred by R. 56. The petitioner could not, therefore, say that because at one stage 58 was the age of superannuation according to the rule a right was conferred upon him under which he could insist that he should be retained in service till that age and that the rule-making authority had lost its right to change the rule and to reduce the age of superannuation to a lower figure."

17. In this reference, we are concerned with extension of service as an exception to FR-56 (a), to the petitioner. Any exception to the rule of universal application, has to be strictly construed. In State of Assam vs. Basanta Kumar Das AIR 1973 SC 1252 the Supreme Court held in a case of Professor and Head of Department of Physics in Government Cotton College, Guwahati that a government servant has no right to continue in service beyond the age of superannuation prescribed in the statutory rules. If he is retained beyond that age it is only in exercise of the discretion of the Government. In B.N. Mishra vs. State of UP AIR 1965 SC 1567 it was held that the State Government was not obliged to retain the services of every public servant for the same length of time. The retention of public servants after the period of retirement depends upon their efficiency, and exigencies of public service. If the Government decides to retain the services of some government servants after the age of retirement, it must retain every government servant for the same length of time. The retention of public servants after the period of retirement depends upon their efficiency, and exigencies of public service. In State Bank of Bikaner and Jaipur and others vs. Jag Mohan Lal 1989 Supp 1 SCC 221 the Supreme Court, considering the refusal of the bank to grant extension to the respondent upon his completion of 58 years, held that the retention beyond the age of superannuation is within the discretion of employer. There is no right to continue in service beyond the age of superannuation. The extension to some employees does not imply discrimination against those who were not given extension.

18. In order to meet the difficulties faced by the students on the change of a teacher in educational institutions in the middle of the academic session, the State Government decided by Government Order dated 21.3.1984, to carve out an exception for giving benefit of extension of service to the teachers upto the end of the academic session, subject to the conditions that their work and conduct is satisfactory; they are fit both physically and mentally, and are teaching any subject regularly in the school. The Government Order provided for exemption of each case individually by the State Government, on presentation of such facts by the competent authorities. Later the Government Order dated 20.4.1995 removed the condition of consideration of each case individually and supplemented it with the condition that the extension will not be granted if any adverse fact is reported against the teacher. The Principals were made responsible to report at least one month before the superannuation, any adverse fact such as unsatisfactory work, or the unfitness of such teacher. The condition precedent of extension of service, namely employment of the teacher in a Government educational institution to be terminated by superannuation in the middle of the academic session, is thus to be strictly complied with.

19. We find substance in the contention of learned Chief Standing Counsel, on the averments in the counter affidavit and material placed on record that CPI, Allahabad, is primarily engaged in educational research work, for reorientation of educational system. The institute conducts research work in comparative analysis of educational standards, and facilities in rural and urban areas, the difficulties faced by under-privileged children in the schools; the recommendation for extra-curriculum activities such as debates, organizing special lecturers and seminars. The institute is also engaged in preparing curriculum and publishing of books relating to teaching. The training of LT grade teachers was also undertaken by the institute for some time. It was later on stopped. A Model School was being run in the premises of CPI, Allahabad in which the teaching of Classes-I to VIII was undertaken. The school had separate teachers with service conditions regulated by the rules framed by Basic Education Board and the regulations applicable to the teachers of the Board.

20. Smt. Prema Rai, Principal of the Government, CPI, Allahabad did not recommend for extension of service of the petitioner vide her letter dated 23.3.1996, to the Director of Education (Secondary) on the ground that the petitioner had not performed any regular teaching work and was engaged in the institute, in research work. The petitioner had orally informed her that she had taught Psychology, as a subject but that there is no proof of such teaching from the time table of the teachers training. In para-3 of her letter she has stated that there is no academic session in the institute. The teachers and Professors in the institute avail 31 days earned leave and also get the benefit of leave encashment. Smt. Dhulia-the petitioner also availed the benefit of earned leave.

21. The object of giving benefit of extension of service beyond the prescribed age of superannuation to the teachers upto end of the academic session i.e. 30th June uniformally, without any reference of individual case, except in case of unsatisfactory work and failing health, is to maintain the continuity in teaching work in educational institutions. In order to ensure that the students do not suffer, on account of the change of teachers in the middle of the academic session, the teachers teaching regular subjects are given extension of service upto the end of academic session commonly known as sessions benefit. The teaching of any subject and the incomplete academic session, are the twin requirements for allowing the benefit of extension of service to such teachers. If any of these requirements are missing, the teacher is not getting the benefit of the policy, to continue beyond the age of superannuation.

22. The exceptions to the general rule have to be construed strictly in order to achieve the object for which such exceptions are made. The special benefit given to the teachers for avoiding any inconvenience to the students and to maintain the regularity of the academic session, can be availed by teachers only to extend their service after the age of their superannuation, only if they fulfill such conditions laid down in the Government order dated 21.3.1984."

It is submitted that while considering the entitlement of a Professor serving in the Central Potato Research Institute, Allahabad, the Full Bench examined the scope and object of the benefit of continuation in service till the end of the academic session. Learned counsel submits that the principles laid down in the said judgment fully support the stand of the respondents and govern the controversy involved in the present case.

37. We further submit, in light of the observations made by the Court in the case of Dr. Indu Singh vs. State of Uttarakhand & others, 2017 SCC Online Utt 1527, decided by the Division Bench of the Uttarakhand High Court, that the benefit of continuance till the end of the academic session is available only to those teachers who are actually discharging teaching duties. The determination as to whether the petitioner was in fact functioning as a teacher, i.e., performing teaching duties, is a matter to be decided by the competent authority. In view of the aforesaid legal position, the petitioner is not entitled to any such benefit.

38. Having bestowed anxious consideration upon the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, examined the pleadings brought on record, the statutory scheme governing the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1958, the Statutes adopted by the Banda University of Agriculture and Technology from the Chandra Shekhar Azad University of Agriculture and Technology, Kanpur, the Government Order dated 14.06.2022, as well as the authorities cited at the Bar, this Court is of the considered opinion that the petitioner has failed to establish any enforceable legal or statutory right warranting interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

39. There is no quarrel with the proposition that the petitioner was substantively appointed as an Associate Professor and that a "teacher" under Section 2(k) of the University Act includes a person engaged in imparting instruction, conducting research or guiding extension programmes. Equally, there is no dispute that the Statutes governing the University regulate the age of superannuation of teachers. However, the controversy in the present case does not revolve around the age of retirement but concerns the claim for continuation in service beyond the date of superannuation till the conclusion of the academic session. Such continuation cannot be equated with the normal tenure of service nor can it be elevated to the status of an indefeasible statutory entitlement.

40. The legislative intent, the applicable Statutes and the executive policy, when harmoniously construed, unmistakably demonstrate that the extension till the end of the academic session is conceived solely to subserve academic continuity and to protect the interest of students from disruption in the midst of an ongoing session. The object is institutional and not individual. It is neither a reward for long service nor an incident of the substantive appointment. The benefit is conditioned upon the existence of circumstances which justify its grant, namely, that the incumbent is actually engaged in regular teaching so that discontinuance midway through the academic session would adversely affect the instructional process.

41. The material placed before this Court reveals that, at the relevant point of time, the petitioner was functioning as In-charge of the Millets Research Station, Gursarai. The petitioner has not been able to demonstrate that he was entrusted with regular classroom teaching, that he was handling undergraduate or postgraduate courses during the academic session immediately preceding his retirement, or that his retirement would interrupt any teaching programme or academic curriculum. Mere continuance on the substantive cadre of Associate Professor or the drawing of salary against that post cannot, by itself, satisfy the essential requirement underlying the grant of session benefit.

42. The submission that the petitioner continued to remain a "teacher" within the meaning of Section 2(k) also does not advance his case. The statutory definition may determine the nature of his appointment; however, it does not ipso facto confer an unconditional right to continuation beyond the age of superannuation. A distinction has to be maintained between the status of a teacher and the eligibility to claim an exceptional concession after retirement. To obliterate such distinction would render otiose the very object behind the policy governing continuation till the end of the academic session.

43. This Court also finds substance in the submission advanced on behalf of the respondent-University that the benefit of continuation beyond the age of superannuation is in the nature of a limited concession intended to secure continuity of teaching and not a vested service right. The law on this aspect is no longer res integra.

44. In Sri Ram Singar Singh (supra), this Court categorically held that the session benefit is granted only to avoid inconvenience to students and to ensure completion of the academic curriculum. It was unequivocally observed that such continuation is not a right but merely a concession dependent upon fulfilment of prescribed conditions, including actual engagement in regular teaching.

45. The aforesaid principle stands authoritatively reinforced by the Full Bench in Sumitra Dhulia (supra), wherein it was held that extension beyond the age of superannuation constitutes an exception to the general rule and, therefore, must receive strict construction. The Full Bench emphatically held that the twin conditions for grant of session benefit are that the employee must be teaching regular subjects and that the academic session should remain incomplete. In the absence of either condition, the benefit cannot be claimed. The Full Bench further clarified that an employee engaged primarily in research activities, unconnected with regular classroom teaching, cannot invoke the policy of continuation till the end of the academic session merely because he belongs to an educational institution.

46. The same principle has also been reiterated by the Division Bench of the Uttarakhand High Court in Dr. Indu Singh (supra), wherein it was held that the benefit is confined only to those teachers who are actually discharging teaching duties and that the determination of such factual aspect falls within the domain of the competent authority.

47. Tested on the touchstone of the aforesaid settled principles, the petitioner's claim does not merit acceptance. The competent authority has recorded that the petitioner was not engaged in regular teaching but was discharging duties at the Millets Research Station. No material of unimpeachable character has been placed before this Court to demonstrate that such finding suffers from perversity, mala fides, arbitrariness or patent illegality. In exercise of its writ jurisdiction, this Court cannot substitute its own opinion for that of the competent authority in matters involving factual assessment, unless the decision is shown to be manifestly unreasonable or contrary to law, which is conspicuously absent in the present case.

48. The plea founded upon parity with Dr. Virendra Kumar Singh is equally misconceived. Article 14 embodies a positive concept of equality and does not envisage perpetuation of benefits dehors the governing statutory framework. A claim based upon parity must necessarily rest upon complete identity of factual and legal circumstances. The petitioner has failed to establish that the said officer was similarly situated with regard to the nature of duties actually being discharged at the relevant time. In any event, a benefit allegedly extended in another case cannot furnish an independent source of legal entitlement.

49. Likewise, the pendency of proceedings relating to promotion does not enlarge the petitioner's right to continue in service beyond the prescribed age of superannuation. Promotion and continuation after retirement operate in distinct legal fields and are governed by separate considerations.

50. For all the reasons recorded hereinabove, this Court is satisfied that the impugned orders neither suffer from any jurisdictional error nor disclose any violation of the statutory provisions governing the Agricultural University. The decision of the respondent-University is consistent with the object underlying the applicable Government Orders, the adopted Statutes and the binding judicial precedents governing the field. No ground is, therefore, made out for exercise of the extraordinary discretionary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

51. Accordingly, the writ petition, being devoid of merit, fails and is, hereby, dismissed. No order as to costs.

Prologue

2. The present two special appeals have been preferred by the appellants under Chapter VIII, Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 interdicting two separate orders of same date i.e. 19.12.2025, passed by the learned Single Judge in:

(i) Writ-C No. 12312 of 2025 (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. President Pradhan, Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi and Another vs. State of U.P. and others); and

(ii) Writ-C No. 12346 of 2025 (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. Pradhan, Devendra Pal Verma and Another vs. State of U.P. and others).

The facts and circumstances involved in both the special appeals are common and relating to the affairs of the society- 'Arya Pratinidhi Sabha' and moreover the aforesaid two impugned orders passed in their respective writ petitions arises out of a common order dated 05.12.2025 passed by the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow Division, Lucknow. Therefore, both these Special Appeals have been heard together and as such they are being decided by this common judgment.

Factual Matrix

3. Succinctly, the facts as per the Appellant would be that □Arya Samaj□ was founded by Swami Dayanand Saraswati in the year 1875 with the primary objective of promoting the social, spiritual and cultural upliftment of the society. It has a four-tier organizational structure comprising: (i) the Sarvadeshik Arya Pratinidhi Sabha, (ii) the Pradeshik Arya Pratinidhi Sabha, (iii) the Zila Arya Pratinidhi Sabha, and (iv) the Arya Samaj Units.

4. There are approximately 300 registered Arya Samaj Units functioning across various districts of Uttar Pradesh. These Units constitute the electoral college for the election of the General Body of the Pradeshik Arya Pratinidhi Sabha. The General Body, in turn, elects the Governing Body (Antrang Sabha). The Sarvadeshik Arya Pratinidhi Sabha at New Delhi has framed its own Rules and Sub-Rules, which are binding upon all Arya Samaj Units affiliated to the Pradeshik Arya Pratinidhi Sabha.

5. The appellant no.1- Arya Pratinidhi Sabha for the State of Uttar Pradesh stands duly registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Society is required to functions in accordance with its registered bye-laws, which define its constitution and delineate the powers and duties of the General Body, the Governing Body (also known as the □Antrang Sabha□),s and its office bearers. The registered bye-laws of the society prescribes a tenure of five years for the Committee of Management. The registration of the society has been renewed from time to time, and the last renewal was granted on 16.01.2021 for a period of five years with effect from 10.10.2020.

6. The last undisputed elections of the society were held on 27.03.2016, in which Devendra Pal Verma, (hereinafter referred to as 'the appellant No.2') was elected as 'Pradhan', while Late Dheeraj Singh was elected as 'Up-Pradhan'. Subsequently, dispute arose in the society relating to the working of the Pradhan, resulting in the passing of an order by the Deputy Registrar, whereby the appellant No.2 was restrained from discharging his powers and functions as Pradhan and Late Dheeraj Singh was appointed as officiating Pradhan vide order dated 09.11.2016, passed by the Deputy Registrar. The said order was challenged by the appellant No.2 by filing Writ Petition (C) No.59067 of 2016 (say Writ-I) before this Court, which was subsequently withdrawn with liberty to file a fresh petition. Thereafter, another writ petition being Writ Petition No.10563 (M/S) of 2017 (say Writ-II) was filed by the appellant No.2 before this Court.

7. In the meantime, the Deputy Registrar passed another order dated 16.01.2017, vesting the charge of the office of Pradhan in Smt. Gayatri Dixit, the senior-most Up-Pradhan of the society. Obviously, the said order came to be challenged by Late Dheeraj Singh by filing Writ Petition No.1829 (M/S) of 2016 (say Writ-III), in which an interim order dated 25.01.2017 staying the operation of the order dated 16.01.2017 was passed.

8. On the heels of the aforesaid stay order, Late Dheeraj Singh allegedly convened a meeting of 'Antarang Sabha' on 25.03.2017 and General Body on 26.03.2017, resultantly passing a resolution for expelling the appellant No.2 from the membership of the society, for a period of 6 years. Aggrieved by the same, Appellant No.2 lodged a complaint before the Deputy Registrar, who, vide order dated 30.03.2017, stayed the effect of the resolution dated 26.03.2017. The said order dated 30.03.2017 also came to be challenged by Late Dheeraj Singh by filing a Writ Petition

No. 7613 (M/S) of 2017 (say Writ-IV), wherein an interim order was passed on 12.04.2017, staying implementation of order dated 30.03.2017.

9. During the pendency of the aforesaid Writ petition, a meeting of Governing Body of the society was held on 23.07.2017, wherein Late Dheeraj Singh was elected as 'Pradhan', the membership of existing Pradhan namely, Smt. Gayatri Dixit was terminated as being ineligible. Subsequently, on 24.07.2017 a meeting of the General Body was conducted at Muzaffarnagar, wherein the appellant No.2 and two other members were expelled from the membership.

10. All the aforesaid three writ petitions were clubbed together and disposed of by the learned Single Judge of this Court vide judgment dated 30.07.2019. By the said judgment, the aforesaid orders dated 09.11.2016, 16.01.2017 and 30.03.2017 of the Deputy Registrar were set aside and the matter was remitted to the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, with directions to decide the matter by a reasoned and speaking order after affording opportunity of hearing to all concerned parties, including the issue of entitlement of the appellant No.2 to hold the office of Pradhan and the membership of Late Dheeraj Singh.

11. During the pendency of the proceedings, the appellant No.2 came to be ousted from Arya Samaj, Muzaffarnagar. Consequently, the Deputy Registrar passed an order dated 02.11.2019 rejecting the complaint of the appellant No.2 on the ground that he was not a valid member of Arya Samaj. The said order was also challenged by the appellant No.2 by filing Writ Petition No.4515 (M/S) of 2020 (Say Writ-V).

12. In the meanwhile, disputes arose regarding the post of Secretary. Late Dheeraj Singh appointed Shri Gyanendra Singh as 'Secretary', while Vishal Singh claimed to be the 'Officiating Secretary' and filed a complaint. The Deputy Registrar, vide order dated 09.01.2020, directed Late Dheeraj Singh to convene a meeting of the 'Antarang Sabha' to fill up the post of 'Secretary' in accordance with the bye-laws of the society.

13. Thereupon, on the complaints made by some reputed members, an enquiry was conducted which revealed that Late Dheeraj Singh had obtained membership of 'Arya Samaj Baldev Ashram, Khurja, Bulandshahr' on the basis of some fake and forged documents. Consequently, an F.I.R. was also registered against him and accordingly, his primary membership was terminated vide an order dated 01.02.2020.

14. In the interregnum, the order dated 09.01.2020, passed by the Deputy Registrar for conveying a meeting for filling of the post of □Secretary□, was challenged by Late Dheeraj Singh and Shri Gyanendra Singh in Writ Petition No.7217 (M/S) of 2020 (say Writ-VI); wherein learned Single Judge of this Court was informed about the termination of membership of Late Dheeraj Singh on 01.02.2020. Thus, an interim order dated 06.03.2020 was passed directing that if any election is held in pursuance to the order dated 09.01.2020, that would be subject to the final adjudication of the said writ petition. Against the aforesaid interim order, a Special Appeal No.139 of 2020 came to be filed which was dismissed by a Division Bench of this Court vide an order dated 13.03.2020.

15. Consequent to the termination of primary membership of Late Dheeraj Singh on 01.02.2020, the Arya Pratinidhi Sabha passed a no-confidence motion against him on 16.02.2020 and removed him from the post of Pradhan. Resultantly, the vacancy was filled and the list of the governing body for 2019-20 was forwarded to the Deputy Registrar for registration. The Deputy Registrar, vide an order dated 19.03.2020, registered the Committee of Management for 2019-2020 subject to the outcome of Writ Petition Nos.7217 (M/S) of 2020 and 4515 (M/S) of 2020.

16. The order dated 01.02.2020 terminating the membership of Late Dheeraj Singh was challenged by him in Regular Suit No.581 of 2020, wherein an order of status quo was passed on 28.02.2020, but the implementation of the termination order was not stayed. Thereafter, Late Dheeraj Singh filed Writ Petition No.9735 (M/S) of 2020 (Say Writ-VII). The Regular Suit was withdrawn on 17.03.2021 without liberty, and Writ Petition No.7217 (M/S) of 2020 was also dismissed as withdrawn on 18.03.2021.

17. Subsequently, the Society under the leadership of appellant No.2, made certain enquiry and terminated the memberships of large number of persons, as allegedly having been illegally inducted by Late Dheeraj Singh. The said action was approved on 21.09.2020 and the amended list was registered on 21.11.2020, before the Deputy Registrar. However, the said order was challenged in Writ Petition Nos. 25151 (M/S) of 2020 (say Writ-VIII); and 25284 (M/S) of 2020 (say Writ-IX); before a learned Single Judge of this Court, which were set aside on 02.02.2021, and matter was remanded to the Deputy Registrar, who again passed a fresh order on 15.03.2021 maintaining the registration.

18. In the meantime, as the tenure of the Committee of Management was expiring, fresh elections were held and the list of General body members was published on 05.03.2021, in the weekly newspaper ‘Arya Mitra’. Elections were conducted on 21.03.2021; the results were declared the same day, wherein Appellant No. 2 was elected unopposed as ‘Pradhan’. The Governing body list and election papers were submitted on 22.03.2021 and registered by the Deputy Registrar on 26.03.2021.

19. In the interregnum, Writ Petition Nos. 4515 (M/S) of 2020; and 9735 (M/S) of 2020 (i.e. Writ-V and Writ- VII) were heard together and were decided by this Court on 07.06.2021 in which the order dated 19.03.2020 was set aside and the matter was remitted to the Deputy Registrar for fresh decision on merits. Writ Petition No. 4515 (M/S) of 2020 filed by Appellant No. 2 was dismissed, noting that his primary membership had been restored and not challenged by any aggrieved person.

20. Against the judgment dated 07.06.2021, insofar as it related to Writ Petition No.4515 (M/S) of 2020, the appellant No.2 filed Review Application No.94 of 2021, which was dismissed vide a detailed reasoned order dated 16.08.2023. The judgment dated 07.06.2021 insofar as it related to Writ Petition No.9735 (M/S) of 2020 was challenged by the society in Special Appeal No.217 of 2021, which was disposed of on 01.07.2021 with directions to the Deputy Registrar to pass a fresh reasoned order considering all relevant issues.

21. In compliance of the aforesaid judgments, the Deputy Registrar was seized of the matter. However, by order dated 23.04.2022, the matter was referred to the Prescribed Authority. The said order was challenged in Writ-C No.3418 of 2022 (say Writ-X), which was allowed on 18.09.2024, and the matter was again remitted to the Deputy Registrar for a fresh reasoned and speaking order, after examining the records and submissions of the parties.

22. In pursuant to the judgment dated 18.09.2024, the appellant No.2 filed a detailed claim along with evidence on 27.12.2024, pointing out the non-membership and expulsion of Opposite Party Nos.3 and 4 and the restoration of his own membership. Consequently, the Deputy Registrar passed an order dated 09.01.2025 declaring the elections time-barred and directing fresh elections under Section 25(2) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The said order was set aside by this Court on 26.08.2025 in a bunch of writ petitions being, Writ-C- No. 1263/2025; (say Writ-XI), Writ-C- No 702/2025; (say Writ-XII), Writ-C- No 4172/2025; (say Writ-XIII), and Writ-C- No 4500/2025; (say Writ-XIV), with a specific directions to the Deputy Registrar to pass a fresh order after considering the earlier judgments dated 07.06.2021, 16.08.2023 and 18.09.2024 and the material placed by the parties.

23. After the pronouncement of the judgment dated 26.08.2025, further submissions were filed by the appellant No.2. However, the Deputy Registrar passed the impugned order dated 05.12.2025 allegedly ignoring the directions of this Court and the material on record, including the removal of 22 illegally inducted members and the non-membership of rival claimants such as Acharya Swadesh (whose membership was terminated for 12 years on 23.01.2014) and others. The said order dated 05.12.2025 was challenged by the appellants in Writ-C No.12346 of 2025 (say Writ-XV), and by Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi □Pradhan□ vide Writ □C-12312 OF 2025 (say Writ-XVI). Both the said writ petitions were decided by the impugned judgment dated 19.12.2025, whereby the disputes essentially being in the nature of elections were directed to be referred to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

24. It is this judgment and order dated 19.12.2025, which has been impugned in the present Special Appeals. The appellants are assailing the directions contained in paragraph 8 of Writ-C No. 12346 of 2025; ((Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. Pradhan, Devendra Pal Verma and Another vs. State of U.P. and others), and paragraphs no.9 and 10 of Writ-C No. 12312 of 2025; (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. President Pradhan, Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi and Another vs. State of U.P. and others), wherein the Registrar has been directed to refer the present dispute to the prescribed authority under Section 25(1) of the Society Registration Act, 1860.

25. The case of the appellants is that the learned Single Judge, while passing the impugned judgment, failed to consider the binding earlier judgments of Co-ordinate Benches and the Division Bench of this Court remitting the matter to the Deputy Registrar for adjudication on merits, and that the directions in paragraph 8 (or 9 and 10 of the other writ) are contrary to the said earlier judgments.

Contention of the Appellants

26. Mr. Sandeep Dixit, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants has fairly submitted that his clients are partly aggrieved by the impugned judgment, in as much as the directions issued by the learned Single Judge, as contained in paragraph no.8 of Writ-C No. 12346 of 2025; (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. Pradhan, Devendra Pal Verma and Another vs. State of U.P. and others), and paragraphs no.9 and 10 of Writ-C No. 12312 of 2025; (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha Thru. President Pradhan, Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi and Another vs. State of U.P. and others), are only under challenge.

27. According to Mr. Dixit, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants, the learned Single Judge, while passing the impugned order, has failed to consider the detailed judgments passed by the Co-ordinate Benches on earlier occasions with regard to the adjudication of the various issues in question. Consequently, according to him, the learned Single Judge has erroneously directed the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow to refer the dispute to the Prescribed Authority. He further submits that the impugned judgment cannot render futile the earlier judgments passed by the Co-ordinate Benches and that the learned Single Judge ought not to have taken a divergent view from the earlier judgments.

28. The learned Senior counsel has vociferously submitted that the impugned order has failed to consider the judgments dated 07.06.2021, 18.09.2024 and 26.08.2025 passed by the Co-ordinate Benches of this Court, by virtue of which, various issues were relegated to the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow. Expanding further, Mr. Dixit has submitted that the learned Single Judge has failed to consider that the Deputy Registrar had been remitted the matter vide an order dated 07.06.2021 for decision on the matter referable to the proceedings under Section 4 and 4-B of the Act of 1860, which exclusively lie within the jurisdiction of the Deputy Registrar and as such, according to him, the direction of the learned Single Judge construing even this dispute to be an election dispute could not had referred the same to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Act.

29. He further submits that the core dispute relating to the membership of the society could not have been referred to the Prescribed Authority and, therefore, in that regard, the order passed by the learned Single Judge is faulted and bad in law. Other grounds relating to the non-consideration of specific averments of the appellant to the effect that Shri Bhuwan Tiwari is a rank outsider and not a primary member of any unit of Arya Samaj, and that Acharya Swadesh had been expelled from the primary membership for a period of 12 years, in 2014 have also not been considered by the learned Single Judge.

30. According to the learned Senior counsel, the factum of Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi, having been never inducted as a member of the society was not considered by the learned Single Judge, which goes to the root of the controversy. Thus, he submits that most of the claimants are strangers/non-members of the society and, therefore, had no authority to hold any election for the Managing Committee of the society. As such, the automatic direction issued to the Deputy Registrar to refer the dispute to the Prescribed Authority for decision under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, was unwarranted. He vehemently submitted that the order passed by the learned Single Judge deserves to be modified and/or set aside to that extent.

Contention of the Respondent

31. On the other hand, Mr. Gaurav Mehrotra, learned Senior Advocate appearing for respondent no.4, has controverted the submissions advanced by the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants and submitted that, in cases involving rival claims of the Committee of Management, the Deputy Registrar has no jurisdiction to adjudicate the dispute. Such matter is required to be referred by the Deputy Registrar to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, for adjudication. In order to buttress the aforesaid submission, Mr. Mehrotra has placed reliance on the judgment and order dated 18.12.2013, passed in Special Appeal (Defective) No. 1286 of 2013 (C/M Anjuman Kherul Almin, Allahganj and another vs. State of U.P. and others), reported in 2013 SCC OnLine All 14353.

32. Mr. Mehrotra has vehemently submitted that the impugned order is legal and valid inasmuch as the law is settled that, while exercising its powers under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 the 'Prescribed Authority' is competent to decide the issue of membership, as an ancillary issue and to determine the composition of electoral college/general body of the society incidentally. In support of the said submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgment and order dated 14.09.2018 passed in Writ-C No. 23628 of 2014 (Kisan National Education Trust Pratapganj and Another vs. Prescribed Authority (S.D.M.) and others, reported in 2018 SCC OnLine All 6120 : 2019 (1) ADJ 817; as well as Committee of Management, Shri Vidur Sewa Ashram and others vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2018 SCC OnLine All 8880 : 2018 (5) ADJ 717.

33. According to Mr. Mehrotra, the impugned order does not, in any manner, causes any prejudice to the cause of the appellants, inasmuch as, the learned Single Judge has left all the issues and controversies open to be adjudicated by the Prescribed Authority. Therefore, there was no occasion for the appellants to file the present appeals. He also submits that the law in this regard is very clear and well settled, inasmuch as the appellant is not only required to show that any law has been violated, but it must also be shown that some prejudice has been caused. It is the submission of Shri Mehrotra that, apparently, no prejudice has been caused to the appellant, as the issue being agitated before the Division Bench could also have been agitated before the Prescribed Authority by the appellant. In this regard, he relies on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court passed in Sarva Uttar Pradesh Gramin Bank vs. Manoj Kumar Sinha, reported in (2010) 3 SCC 556; and Surendra Kumar Verma vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2002 SCC OnLine All 188.

34. Mr. Mehrotra has also drawn the attention of this Court to the factum of participation of the Appellants in the proceedings before the Prescribed Authority pursuant to the passing of the impugned orders by the learned Single Judge. During the course of hearing, he has submitted a certified copy of the adjournment requested by the appellant No. 2 (Devendra Pal Verma) vide an application dated 14.01.2026 before the Prescribed Authority, followed by another application seeking adjournment on 19.01.2026. According to the learned Senior Counsel, a facial reading of both the applications seeking adjournment clearly signifies that Devendra Pal Verma has subjected itself to the jurisdiction of the Prescribed Authority and willingly participated in the proceedings without any demur and as such, the present appeal is not maintainable. According to him, once appellant- Devendra Pal Verma had submitted to the jurisdiction of the Prescribed Authority and participated in the proceedings, he would be deemed to have acquiesced in the authority's jurisdiction. In support of his contention, he has relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Kedar Shashikant Deshpande vs. Bhor Municipal Council, reported in (2011) 2 SCC 654; in this regard.

35. Towards the end, it has been submitted by Mr. Mehrotra and not controverted by Mr. Dixit, learned Senior counsels appearing for the parties that the Prescribed Authority, pursuant to the impugned order passed by the learned Single Judge, the learned Prescribed Authority in terms of Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act has already adjudicated upon the rights of the parties and the controversies between them. According to Mr. Mehrotra, as a matter of fact, even the said decision of the Prescribed Authority is a subject matter of challenge before a Single Judge of this Court and according to him, all the issues are engaging the attention of the said Court. Therefore, according to Mr. Mehrotra, the present special appeal, besides lacking merits, is purely academic in nature and infructuous as all the issues are again open for adjudication before the learned Single Judge of this Court.

Reasoning and Finding

36. We have considered the rival submissions of learned Senior counsels of the contesting parties and the materials available on record.

37. Having perused the material on records, we have no hesitation in observing that, the present society has a chequered history of litigation. There have been dozens and scores of litigations filed inter-se between the parties on a drop of hat and we find that, on each occasion, the matters have been remanded to the Deputy Registrar for adjudication of the rights of the parties in the past 10 years in almost four-five rounds of litigation, without any respite. Apparently, the issue had been moving in a circular clock-wise manner from the Registrar of Societies, then to the learned Single Judge of this Court, then to a Division Bench of this Court and then again back to the pavilion of Registrar of Societies, on remand either by the learned Single judge or by a Division Bench of this Court.

38. If we move little anti-clock wise in time, this Court finds that the impugned order dated 19.12.2025 has been passed in two writ petitions filed by two different individuals, namely, Devendra Pal Verma (appellant No.2) and Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi, both of whom claiming themselves to be □Pradhan□ of the society. Both of them have challenged the same order dated 05.12.2025, by virtue of which the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow Division, Lucknow, was adjudicating various issues remanded to him vide a judgment dated 26.08.2025 passed by a learned Single Judge of this Court in four writ petitions being, Writ-C- No. 1263/2025, 702/2025, 4172/2025 and 4500/2025. Apparently, vide the said impugned order the Deputy Registrar, returned a finding that the elections of Devendra Pal Verma held on 21.03.2021 and Ram Ratan Chaturvedi held on 27.03.2021 were invalid (both of whom filed writ petitions challenging the same). The Registrar concerned, also vide the same order held that the election of Bhuwan Tiwari held on 27.03.2021 to be valid and in accordance with law.

39. Ironically, the present intra-court Appeal is yet another litigation being fought in a circular clock-wise manner, wherein the order dated 05.12.2025 of the Deputy Registrar of societies has been challenged before the learned Single Judge of this Court, who has remanded the matter to the Deputy Registrar with some directions vide impugned order dated 19.12.2025. Now, it being the turn of the Division Bench in the chain of litigation being fought by the society, the Division Bench of this Court has been approached challenging the order of the learned Single Judge.

40. This Court at the very outset, deprecates such kind of litigations being fought by belligerent members of a society, who essentially ought to have come together to foster collective well-being, social harmony, and mutual support. Apparently, the basic objectives and the primary duty of the members, seems to have been lost and taken a back seat in the ensuing battle of supremacy, between the factions of the society, which has to stop at some point of time. Although, we refrain from giving a sermon on the said issue as we have been assigned with a limited role to examine the legality of the impugned order passed by the learned Single Judge, but the fact of the matter remains that the hostility of the members of the Appellant-society is writ large.

41. Having said so, we proceed to consider the controversy raised in the present intra-court Appeal. However, before proceedings any further, keeping in view the contention raised by the learned Senior counsel for the Appellants, we consider it apt to first determine our periphery within which we have to adjudicate the present issue. Relief/prayers, which has been sought in the aforesaid writ petitions, is a conclusive indicator as to what the Appellants or the parties concerned has sought for in the subject Writ petition and as to what relief has been granted by the learned Single Judge. Apparently, the impugned order has been passed in the following two subject writ petitions. Writ No. 12346/2025 filed by Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi, claiming himself to be 'Pradhan' of the society, wherein he has sought for the following relief(s):

" I. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 05.12.2025 issued by the Respondent No.2, copy of which, is contained in Annexure-I to this writ petition.

II. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the Respondent No.2 to consider and decide the issue of the Governing Body of the Petitioner No.1 society afresh under section 4 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, including the issue of rival claims of the Governing Body of the petitioner No.1 society to the prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, strictly in accordance with law."

Similarly, Writ No. 123412 of 2025 has been filed by the Appellant No.2 (Devendra Pal Verma), claiming himself to be □Pradhan□ of the society, wherein he has prayed for the following relief(s):

"i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 05.12.2025 passed by the opposite party No.2 contained as Annexure No.1 to the writ petition.

ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties not to interfere in the functioning of the Managing committee of the petitioner no.1"

42. Prima-facie, the relief sought in both the writ petitions was substantially to quash the order dated 05.12.2025 passed by the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow Division, Lucknow, wherein the Registrar concerned was examining election dispute of four fraction of the society and had declared one of them as winner. It is available from a facial reading of the order passed by the Deputy Registrar that there were four factions, who have conducted their own elections and elected different Pradhan's of the same society. The issue before the Deputy Registrar was to examine the veracity of the elections held by each of these four groups namely, (i) Devendra Pal Verma's group wherein he was elected 'Pradhan' in election held on 21.03.2021; (ii) Ram Ratan Chaturvedi's Group wherein he was elected 'Pradhan' in election held on 27.03.2021; (iii) Bhuwan Tiwari's Group wherein he was elected 'Pradhan' in election held on 27.03.2021; and (iv) Vivek Singh's group, wherein Acharya Swadesh was elected as 'Pradhan' in election held on 07.03.2021. The task before the Deputy Registrar apparently was to examine the records and declare one of the groups to have correctly held the elections.

43. Keeping the aforesaid impugned order in background, we find that the learned Single Judge has very distinctly recorded in the impugned orders that although the parties have advanced elaborate submissions, they could not dispute the legal position that an election dispute cannot be decided by the Deputy Registrar and it can only be decided by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

44. Thus, we find that since all the parties were at ad-idem that the issue was essentially an election dispute, the Learned Single Judge quashed the order dated 05.12.2025 and additionally directed the Deputy Registrar concerned to refer the issue to the Prescribed Authority to decide the elections dispute under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, strictly in accordance with law.

45. Having examined the background in which the impugned order was passed and as a matter the said order itself, we do not find any error in the said impugned order passed by the learned Single Judge as apparently nothing was adjudicated by him and merely it was directed to the concerned Registrar to refer the dispute as being an elections dispute to the competent Authority. The learned Single Judge does not in any manner refers to any of the earlier orders passed inter-se between the parties, which as a corollary means that it was for the parties to refer to these earlier orders before the Authority, to substantiate and/or defend their version of the story. Thus, the grounds being agitated by the Appellant seems to be expanding the scope of prayer made in the writ Petition, which according to this Court is not permissible under law.

46. As a sequel to above, this Court does not find any viable ground to interfere in the matter as the view taken by the learned Single Judge seems to be a plausible and reasonable view, as it does not suffer from any perversity. It would be apposite at this juncture to refer to a very recent judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court, wherein the Court very beautifully and assertively delineated the extent of interference in an intra-court appeal in the following words vide judgment and order dated 23.01.2026 in the case of Bihar Industrial Area Development Authority & Ors. V/s M/s SCOPE Sales Pvt. Ltd. & Anr.; reported as 2026 INSC 89: 2026 SCC OnLine SC 112 :-

"13. We must also bear in mind the nature and extent of jurisdiction that an intra-court appellate Bench of a high court exercise. Such appellate jurisdiction is conferred either under the Letters Patent or by the relevant statutory provisions. It is pertinent to note that both - Single Bench and Division Bench - exercise the same jurisdiction under 'Article 226' of the Constitution. In our view, the exercise of intra-court appellate jurisdiction is warranted only where the judgment or order under challenge is demonstrably erroneous or suffers from perversity. Such jurisdiction ought not to be invoked merely because another view is possible on the same set of facts, particularly where the view adopted by the Single Judge is a plausible and reasonable one. In other words, an intra-court appellate Bench ought not to substitute its own view, merely because such Bench considers its view to be better than the one taken by the Single Bench; so long as the view taken by the Single Bench is a plausible one, interference should stay at a distance."

47. Given the facts and the material on records, we have no doubt in our mind that the judgment or order, impugned in the present Special Appeal is neither demonstrably erroneous nor suffers from perversity, so as to require our interference in any manner in the present intra-court Appeal.

48. However, we find that the present intra-court Appeal merits dismissal on several other grounds also. As we embark upon our arduous duty to discuss other grounds agitated by the leraned Senior Counsel for the Appellants, we find that the learned Single Judge has set-aside the findings of the Deputy Registrar by allowing the writ petitions and, as a consequential effect thereof, has also directed the Deputy Registrar to refer the election dispute to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The learned Single Judge has further directed that the Prescribed Authority shall decide the dispute after giving an opportunity of hearing to the affected parties and after taking into consideration all the pleas raised by the parties, in accordance with law.

49. We find that the learned Single Judge has also recorded that the contesting parties were ad idem to the effect that an election dispute could not have been decided by the Deputy Registrar and was required to be decided only by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. Apparently, it seems that the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant is not aggrieved by the direction of referring the election dispute to the Prescribed Authority. According to him, the Deputy Registrar ought first to have examined and adjudicated upon the issue relating to membership and other allied issues, and thereafter, the election dispute ought to have been decided by the Prescribed Authority and in that regard has referred to earlier judgments passed by this Court concerning the same society.

50. Dehors the aforesaid consensual consequential order passed by the learned Single Judge, the ancillary issues raised by the Appellant is that under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 the Prescribed Authority could not examine the membership of the society, and secondly the learned Single Judge would not had directly directed the Registrar concerned to refer the issue to the Prescribed Authority, without first the Registrar itself deciding the issues of membership, for which this Court had on several previous occasions remanded the matter to the concerned Registrar.

51. Apparently, it seems the Appellant is trying to place the issue of membership and the issue of election dispute in two separate compartments, whereas the fact of the case reveals that it was due to membership issue that the elections dispute has arisen. Thus, in a way both the issues cannot be kept in separate compartment as the issues are overlapping in nature. Given the background of the present case, membership is an issue ancillary to the elections dispute and as such the same can be very well decided together. Once it is held that the issue is overlapping, these issues cannot be decided separately. It would be altogether absurd to first direct the Deputy Registrar to examine the issues relating to memberships and then direct the election dispute to be referred to the Prescribed Authority. This Court finds that the Prescribed Authority being a senior officer than a Deputy Registrar would be more equipped to resolve this overlapping issue□s together, rather than separate the issues and invite different findings from different authorities and add more to the already existing confusion and battle of supremacy in the society.

52. Further, it has to be understood that Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 invariably says that "any doubt" with respect to continuance in office of an officer-bearers of a society can also be decided by the Prescribed Authority. Let's take for example, in an election, a doubt arose relating to the vote being cast by one of the members, owing to him being a legitimate member or not?, The pertinent question would be, is it required for the Prescribed Authority at that point to refer the determination of such legitimacy of memberships to the Deputy Registrar and await his determination to proceed further to decide the election dispute. According to this Court, the answer must have to be in negative. Similar answer would have to be followed for all those cases for accepting or rejecting any vote due to reasons of membership. Thus, effectively, the Prescribed Authority while deciding the election dispute has in a way to also decide the issue of membership as an incidental and ancillary issue to the larger dispute of election. Further, the Prescribed Authority in deciding and/or clearing the said doubt has to arrive at its own conclusion relating to the membership of the society and in doing so has to take various evidence/material placed before it keeping in mind the relevant factors as well as the bye-laws of the society and documents of the nature mentioned in Section 4B of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The said proposition can be easily construed from a plain reading of the proviso to Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, which inter-alia states:

"25.Dispute regarding election of office bearers.-

(1) The Prescribed Authority may, on a reference made to it by the Registrar or by at least one-fourth of the members of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh, hear and decide in a summary manner any doubt or dispute in respect of the election or continuance in office of an office bearers of such society, and may pass such order in respect thereof as it deems fit:-

[Provided that the election of an office-bearer shall be set aside where the prescribed authority is satisfied-]

(a) that any corrupt practice has been committed by such office bearer; or

(b) that the nomination of any candidate has been Improperly rejected; or

(c) that the result of the election in so far it concerns such office-bearer has been materially affected by the improper acceptance of any nomination or by the Improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void or by any non-compliance with the provisions of any rules of the society."

(Emphasis Supplied)

53. Although, the issue does not require any further deliberation as the same is clear like day-light that issues of memberships being incidental to elections can be very well decided by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 as an ancillary issue. Further, the said understanding of this Court is fortified by the judgment of a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court, in the case of Committee of Management, Anjuman Kherul Almin, Allahaganj and Another Vs. State of U.P. and Others, reported in 2013 SCC OnLine All 14353 : 2014 (1) ADJ 44 (DB); wherein the Division Bench after considering the provisions of Section 4 and 25 (1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 has held that once an application for taking on record the name of the office-bearers and an objection as to the validity of the office-bearers who were elected have been filed, the Registrar, considering under Section 25 (1), ought to refer the matter to the Prescribed Authority. The relevant paragraphs 7 to 11 of the judgment are extracted herein-below: -

"7. Under Section 4 of the Societies' Registration Act, 1860, as amended in the State of U.P. the following provision has been made:-

"4. (1) Annual list of managing body to be filed.-Once in every year, on or before the fourteenth day succeeding the day on which, according to the rules of the Society, the annual general meeting of the society is held, or, if the rules do not provide for an annual general meeting, in the month of January, a list shall be filed with the Registrar of the names, addresses and occupations of the governors, council, directors, committee, or other governing body then entrusted with the management of the affairs of the society.

Provided that if the managing body is elected after the last submission of the list, the counter signature of the old members, shall, as far as possible, be obtained on the list. If the old office-bearers do not counter-sign the list, the Registrar may, in his discretion, issue a public notice or notice to such persons as he thinks fit inviting objections within a specified period and shall decide all objections received within the said period.

(2) Together with list mentioned in sub-section (1) there shall be sent to the Registrar a copy of the memorandum of association including any alteration, extension or abridgment of purposes made under section 12, and of the rules of the society corrected up to date and certified by not less than three of the members of the said governing body to be a correct copy and also a copy of the balance-sheet for the proceeding year of account."

8. The proviso to Section 4, as amended in the State of U.P., states that if the managing body is elected after the last submission of the list the counter signature of the old members, shall, as far as possible, be obtained on the list. If the old office bearers do not countersign the list the Registrar may in his discretion issue a public notice inviting objections and decide all the objections received within the said period.

9. Section 25(1) as applicable in the State of U.P. provides as follows:-

"25. Dispute regarding election of office-bearers.-(1) The prescribed authority may, on a reference made to it by the Registrar or by at least one-fourth of the members of a society registered in the Uttar Pradesh, hear and decide in a summary manner any doubt or dispute in respect of the election or continuance in office of an officer-bearers of such society, and may pass such orders in respect thereof as it deems fit:

[Provided that the election of an office-bearer shall be set aside where the prescribed authority is satisfied-

(a) that any corrupt practice has been committed by such office-bearer; or

(b) that the nomination of any candidate has been improperly rejected; or

(c) that the result of the election in so far as it concerns such office-bearer has been materially affected by the improper acceptance of any nomination or by the improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void or by any noncompliance with the provisions of any rules of the society."

10. Both these provisions have been harmonized in the judgment of the Division Bench in All-India Council (Supra) where it was held as follows: -

"Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act as amended by the State Legislature enacts a comprehensive code and creates a designated forum or tribunal for adjudication in a summary manner of all disputes or doubts in respect of the election or continuance in office of an office-bearer of such society. It also provides the grounds upon which the election of an office-bearer can be set aside. The procedure to be followed for filling up of the vacancies arising from the decisions rendered by the Prescribed Authority under Sub-section (i)of Section 25 has also been laid down(Section 25(2).

7.It will, therefore, be seen that insofar as disputes or doubts in respect of the election or continuance in office of the office-bearers of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh are concerned, the Legislature has created a specific forum and laid down an exhaustive procedure for determination of the same under Section 25. There is no other provision, express or otherwise, providing for determination of such disputes specifically. It is settled law that where, as here, the Legislature creates a specific forum and lays an exhaustive procedure for determination of a particular class of disputes in respect of matters covered by the statute, such disputes can be determined only in that forum and in the manner prescribed thereunder and not otherwise. If, therefore, a dispute is raised with regard to the election or continuance in office of an office-bearer of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh, the same has to be decided only by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) and not by the Registrar, save, of course, to the decision of the Prescribed Authority being subject to the result of a civil suit."

11. The judgment of the Division Bench came up for consideration in Gram Shiksha Sudhar Samiti (Supra). In the subsequent judgment the Division Bench held that the earlier judgment has harmonized the provisions of both Sections 4 and 25 and what can be inquired into under Section 25 of the Act, cannot be gone into under the proviso to Section 4. In that case, the Division Bench held that the learned Single Judge ought to have set aside an order of the Registrar dated 11 July 2010 and ought to have directed the Registrar to refer the objection to the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1). The Division Bench held that once an application for taking on record the name of the office bearers and an objection as to the validity of the office bearers who were duly elected has been filed, the Registrar considering under Section 25(1) ought to refer the matter to the Prescribed Authority. Undoubtedly, in the subsequent decision in the Committee of Management (Supra) it has been held that the Registrar "is not a post office for referring any and every dispute". The Division Bench there held that more than three years after the holding of an election there was no reason to entertain a petition at the belated stage."

54. Further, we find that this Court in the case of Vidur Sewa Ashram & 7 others Vs. State of U.P. & 4 other reported in 2018 SCC OnLine All 8880 : 2018 (5) ADJ 717; was considering the question whether membership of the General body of a society could be decided by the Prescribed Authority incidentally to the dispute relating to elections or not. The said Court after considering the provisions of Section 25(1), 25(2) and 4(B) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and another judgment rendered by this Court in Sita Ram Rai & others Vs. Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies & chits, Gorakhpur, reported in 2003 SCC OnLine All 689 : 2003 (5) AWC 4159; and Vindhya Vasini Vs. Prescribed Authority & others reported in 2002 SCC OnLine All 1291 : 2002 (2) AWC 1623; went on to observe that in Sita Ram Rai's case (supra), it has been held that election disputes, if any, including validity of members entitled to vote can be decided by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Act. In the said Judgment, it was also concluded that Vindhya Vasni case (supra), held that the decision relating to number of members of General body entitled to participate in election is incidental for deciding the doubt about the validity of elections under sub-section 1 of Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, and therefore, can be decided by the Prescribed Authority.

55. The crux of these judgments is that whenever there is a dispute relating to an election, a special forum under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 has been provided and all such disputes ought to be adjudicated by the said forum. Thus, we are unable to agree with the submission of the learned Counsel for the Appellant that the Prescribed Authority cannot examine the membership dispute in a proceeding under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, which may be ancillary to the election dispute. In any case, we find that the objection to the electoral roll due to membership dispute is essentially an election dispute and can be adjudicated by the Prescribed Authority, in as much as the phrase any doubt or dispute in respect of the election or continuance in office of an officer-bearers of such society mentioned in Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 is of great elasticity as it encompasses within it any doubt or dispute, which according to this Court also includes a doubt or dispute relating to membership also.

56. We also find that the learned Single Judge of this Court, while considering the case of the present society in one of the writ petition filed before this Court being, Writ -C No.- 3418 of 2022 vide a judgment dated 18.09.2024, after referring to the judgment rendered in the case of Committee of Management, Shri Vidur Sewa Ashram, (supra) went on to hold that a Prescribed Authority while dealing with an issue of an election can as an ancillary issue examine, determine and can also adjudicate the issue of membership as that would impact the electoral college which may have an impact on whether there has been a rightful reception of vote or there has been denial of a bona-fide vote which would impact the result of the election.

57. Further, we cannot be oblivious to the fact that an election dispute in a society is a perennial problem. In view of the nature of this problem, the Courts having come to the rescue have provided that in case there is a membership issue intertwined with an election dispute, the same can very well be decided by the Prescribed Authority in its summary proceedings. The said understanding of this Court is also based on the principle of convenience as it cannot be expected that any election dispute, wherein membership issue has been also raised, should in the first instance be sent to the Registrar for adjudicating the membership issue and then refer the same to the prescribed Authority to adjudicate the election dispute. The said analogy would give a fertile ground to unscrupulous litigants/members to keep the membership issue always open, so that the election dispute is never resolved and in turn the very democratic process is sent to the back burner. According to this court, the said cumbersome process was never expected on a plain reading of the Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

58. The next issue, which has been vehemently argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the Appellant is non-consideration by the learned Single Judge of the earlier judgment dated 07.06.2021, 16.08.2023, 18.09.2024 and 26.08.2025 passed by this Court in the case of the present society.

59. On a perusal of the aforesaid judgments highlighted by the learned Senior Counsel for the Appellants, it is pertinent to mention herein that there is no element of doubt about the findings arrived by this Court in those earlier Judgment. However, a facial reading of these Judgments would demonstrably indicate that each of these orders eventually remands the matter for adjudication to the Deputy Registrar and all the issues have been left open and parties have been provided opportunity to agitate their issues before the Authority. A survey of these judgments as relied by the learned Senior Counsel is being depicted in a tabular chart along with a foot-note, which invariably makes us derive as follows:

Order dated 07.06.2021	Final order passed in two petitions being Writ Petition No. 9735(M/S) of 2020 (by Dr. Dheeraj Singh) Writ Petition No. 4515(M/S) of 2020(by Mr. Devendra Pal Verma)	Dhiraj Singh's writ Petition was allowed and accordingly, the order of the Deputy Registrar by virtue of which the list of members of the society, wherein Dheeraj Singh was ousted was quashed and set-aside. The matter was remanded to the Deputy Registrar to adjudicate afresh after hearing all the parties. The Writ of Devendra Pal Verma was dismissed. The learned Single Judge did not find any perversity in the order dated 02.11.2029 by virtue of which Mr. Devendra Pal Verma's representation claiming his membership was dismissed by Deputy Registrar. Apparently, the learned Single Judge noted that vide an order dated 30.07.2019, a Division Bench of this Court while disposing of a bunch of matters has also directed the Registrar to determine the issue regarding the membership of Mr. Devendra Pal Verma.

NB: The conclusion which can be drawn from order dated 07.06.2021 is that the issue of membership was remanded to the Deputy Registrar for considering afresh after hearing all the parties.
Order dated 16.08.2023	Final order passed in Review Application No. 94 of 2021 by Mr. Devendra Pal Verma against order dated 07.06.2021 passed in Writ Petition No. 4515(M/S) of 2020(by Mr. Devendra Pal Verma)	The review petition was dismissed. However, the learned Single Judge in a very lengthy Judgment recorded the fact that in fact a Special Appeal Being No. 217/2021 has been filed against the same order dated 07.06.2021, however, in Writ Petition No. 9735(M/S) of 2020, wherein the Division Bench vide an order dated 01.07.2021 has directed the Deputy Registrar to decide the membership issue remanded to him by the learned Single Judge as per his order but without being influenced by any observation made by the learned Single Judge.
NB: A safe conclusion which can be drawn from order dated 16.08.2023 that the issue of membership was remanded to the Deputy Registrar for considering afresh after hearing all the parties and without being influenced by the observation made in order dated 07.06.2021. The learned Single Judge has clarified that in case the membership of Mr. Devendra Pal Verma is valid, as having been restored, he would be at liberty to participate in the proceedings pending before the Deputy Registrar and raise objections accordingly, which would have its own consequences as the entire matter is to be decided by the Deputy Registrar.
Order dated 18.09.2024	Final common order passed in Writ-C- No. 3418/2022 (Mr. Devendra Pal Verma) and Writ-C- No. 14794/2022 (Mr. Bhuwan Tiwari).	Writ Petition No. 3418/2022 was allowed but Writ No. 14794/2022 was dismissed. The issue raised in 3418/2022 was as to whether the Registrar was right in invoking Section 25(1) of the Act, so to refer the dispute to the prescribed Authority. The learned Single Judge, while quashing the order of the Deputy Registrar, remitted the matter to the Deputy Registrar and remitted the matter to him for fresh adjudication after affording an opportunity to all the concerned parties.
NB: The take-away from this order is that the matter stands remanded to the Deputy Registrar and all the issues were left open and a directions was given to examine the records and consider the observation made in the aforesaid order and pass a reasoned and speaking order.
Order	Final common order passed in	Order of the Registrar was impugned, wherein he dated 26.08.2025	Writ-C- No. 1263/2025, Writ-C- No 702/2025, Writ-C- No 4172/2025 and Writ-C- No 4500/2025.	has declared the society to be time-bared and directed for fresh election on the basis of list dated 27.03.2016. The writ petitions were allowed, wherein the matter was remanded to the Registrar, with a direction to pass fresh order after hearing the rival claims.

NB: The net result of this order was that the matter was remanded to the Deputy Registrar for fresh adjudication after hearing the rival claim.

60. Thus, this Court finds that on each occasion the matter was remanded to the Deputy Registrar for adjudication of the matter afresh after considering the rival claims of the parties. Thus, technically, all the issues were left open, including the issue of membership, if any. Looking the impugned Judgment from the said angle, we do not find any adverse remark or any embargo placed on the Deputy Registrar or the Prescribed Authority by the learned Single Judge to not consider these aforesaid Judgments and decide the matter in a particular manner. According to this Court, these Judgments referred by the learned Senior Counsel exists in the record to the extent of their significance to the issue and would be always available to the Concerned Authority for consideration, while deciding any issue, be it also the membership issue, while passing a final order. Therefore, we are unable to subscribe to the views of Mr. Dixit that the impugned order could be in any manner amenable to this Court on this ground.

61. It has been next submitted by the learned Senior Counsel that the learned Single Judge has failed to consider the factum of (i) Bhuwan Tiwari being not a primary member of the society, as he had been expelled from primary membership for 12 years in the year 2014 and as such how he could be elected as 'Pradhan' of the society in the elections dated 20.02.2021, especially when the person, under whose chairmanship the said election was conducted has given an Affidavit later in the year 2024 that he had not participated in the said election; (ii) Acharya Swadesh could not had been elected 'Pradhan' of the society as allegedly his membership had been terminated in 2014 for a period of 12 years; (iii) Dr. Ram Ratan Chaturvedi, could not had been elected as 'Pradhan' of the society as he was never inducted as a member of the society, for which the Appellant relied on some letter dated 17.05.2022 issued by an alleged 'Secretary' of the society.

62. We are afraid even this ground being agitated by the learned Senior Counsel does not comes to the rescue of the Appellants. Although, these grounds were not required to be specifically mentioned herein above, as a plain reading of these grounds would suffice and sufficiently indicate that these are elections disputes, however, we have purposefully mentioned herein above to assure ourselves that the grounds raised by the Appellant is fundamentally and technically an election dispute only and can be considered and examined by the Prescribed Authority under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, in accordance with law.

63. There is another aspect of the matter, in as much as it has been submitted by the learned Senior Counsel for the respondent that the Appellant has already participated in the proceedings before the Prescribed Authority and in that regard adjournment Applications have been referred by him to buttress his submission that when the Appellant has already submitted to the Jurisdiction of the Prescribed Authority, the law does not permit to challenge the jurisdiction of the prescribed Authority to adjudicate the issue's being raised in the present Appeal.

64. Since, we have already held herein above that the Prescribed Authority has the jurisdiction to adjudicate all ancillary issues relating to election dispute, be it the issue of memberships also, we do not wish to comment on the aforesaid ground raised by the learned Senior Counsel for the respondent as it would be open to all the parties concerned to raise all such issues before the Prescribed Authority.

65. Be that as it may, for all the aforesaid reasons, we are unable to agree to any of the arguments made by the Appellant as the same being devoid of any merits. Accordingly, the present Appeals are Dismissed.

66. Needless to say, the parties shall be at liberty to raise all such grounds, as may be permissible under law before the Authority/Court, before whom the present matter is engaging attention, including with regard to the membership.

67. The impleadment Application is allowed in the aforesaid terms.

68. There shall be no order(s) as to cost.

Epilogue

69. Admittedly, we have found that the last undisputed election had been in the year 2016. The next elections thereafter of the year 2021 is marred with controversy. As noted herein above, there are four factions, wherein one faction has set up their rights on the basis of an election said to have been held on 21.03.2021 wherein Shri Devendra Pal Verma (Appellant No.2) is said to have been elected as a □President□. The second faction is led by Shri Bhuwan Tiwari, wherein he claims rights on the basis of his election held on 20.02.2021. The third faction is led by Shri Vivek Singh, who alleges that his election was held on 07.03.2021. The fourth faction is led by Shri Ram Ratan Chaturvedi, who claims rights on the basis of an election dated 27.11.2021.

70. This Court cannot be oblivious to the sordid state of affairs of the Appellant-society, wherein presently there are at least four faction operating and each of them claims to be controlling the society, leaving the other three to challenge their legitimacy of functioning and sometimes even their membership.

71. However, we have been informed at the Bar that pursuant to the impugned order of the learned Single Judge, which has been the subject matter of the present intra-court Appeal, the Prescribed Authority has already passed an order. Interestingly, in keeping with the tradition of the litigatory activity of the society, the order passed by the Prescribed Authority stands challenged and the same is pending before a learned Single Judge of this Court vide Writ-C- No. 2626 of 2026, wherein preliminary objections have been raised and even an interim order has been passed by the learned Single Judge. We leave it to the wisdom of the learned Single Judge to decide the matter in such a manner, which could bring quietus to the issue of memberships of the society, be it by appointment of a receiver or an administrator or constitution of a committee of retired High Court judge, before any election is held as the controversy and wounds of last election of 2021 has resulted in flocking of litigations to this Court.

72. Technically, in view of the aforesaid development and pendency of the matter before the learned Single Judge, the adjudication of this intra-court Appeal is purely academic and inconsequential. However, since we have been called upon to decide the correctness of the impugned order dated 19.12.2025 passed by a learned Single Judge, relating, we have taken the responsibility of passing this Judgment and accordingly have dismissed both the appeals in the given facts and circumstances.

THE HON'BLE ALOK MATHUR, J.
THE HON'BLE AMITABH KUMAR RAI, J.

Special Appeal No. 288 of 2021

Jai Ram ...Appellant
Versus
Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

(1) Permissibility of treating the documents as seniority list, which was not issued by competent authority under Reg. 3(1) of the Regulations.
(2) Maintainability of Special Appeal against the Judgment passed in writ petition arising out of appellate order.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – Regulations framed thereunder – Ch. II, Reg. 3(1)(a), (b), and (c) – Seniority – Determination – Appellant was appointed on 01.08.1996, while respondent/writ petitioner was appointed on 30.12.2000 – In his writ petition, the respondent relied upon some documents, alleging them as longstanding seniority lists, against which no objection was ever raised by the appellant – Single Bench held that unsettling a long-standing seniority, after nearly eighteen years, is impermissible in the eye of law – Validity challenged – Documents, relied as seniority list, was not issued by the Committee of Management, the competent authority under Reg. 3(1) – Effect – Permissibility to treat the documents as seniority list felt into consideration .

Held : The documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to the writ petition, cannot be termed as seniority lists in terms of Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 for the reason that those documents were not issued by Committee of Management of Institution. As such, the reliance placed by the learned Single Judge on such documents to conclude that the seniority lists were published by the institution and the appellant (Jai Ram) did not raise any objection to such seniority lists is completely misconceived as objections can be raised in reference to Regulation 3(1)(e) if the seniority lists would have been issued by the Committee of Management as required under Regulation 3(1) – No seniority list, as required under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations was ever issued so as to reach to the conclusion that the appellant failed to file any objection to the seniority list published by the institution and thereby acquiesced in and waived his right to challenge such seniority. [Para 22 and 29]

(B) Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 – Ch. VIII, R. 5 – Special Appeal – Maintainability – Impugned Judgment of Single bench was passed in writ petition arising out of an order of the Joint Director of Education – Preliminary objection regarding maintainability of Special Appeal was raised alleging the order of JDE as the order passed by appellate authority – Permissibility .

Held : The order dated 25.03.2017, which was challenged in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, was not an order passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction under Regulation 3(1)(f) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. An appeal lies only under Regulation 3(1)(f) against a decision taken by the Committee of Management under Regulation 3(1)(e) concerning a dispute relating to seniority. The order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, was not an order arising out of any decision of the Committee of Management on objection raised before it under Regulation 3(1)(e) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Thus, the preliminary objection raised by respondent no. 1 regarding the maintainability of the present Special Appeal is liable to be rejected. [Para 16] (E-1)

Judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed by the Single Judge Bench in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant : Ramesh Kumar Srivastava, Meenakshi Singh Parihar, Amrendra Nath Tripathi
Advs. for the Respondents : C.S.C., Vijay Dixit, Chandra Bhushan, Devam Shukla, Neel Kamal Mishra, Sanjay Kumar Sharma.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amitabh Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ramesh Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant, learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos.2 to 5 and Sri Vijay Dixit, learned counsel for respondent no.1.

2. The instant Special Appeal has been filed by the appellant (Jai Ram) challenging the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, Prafulla Kumar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and Others.

3. The brief facts of the case, as borne out from the record, are that the appellant (Jai Ram), after being selected by the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board (hereinafter referred to as the "Board"), was appointed to the post of Lecturer (English) on 25.01.1996. Pursuant thereto, he joined on 01.08.1996 as Lecturer (English) in Krishak Inter College, Maholi, District Sitapur, an Intermediate College governed by the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982, and the U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971.

4. On the other hand, respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was initially appointed on ad hoc basis to the post of Lecturer (Biology) in the institution on 25.07.1991 against a short-term vacancy. Thereafter, he was regularised by order dated 03.12.2001 with effect from 30.12.2000 under Section 33-F of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1982"). Thus, it is an undisputed fact that the appellant (Jai Ram) was substantively appointed on the post of Lecturer (English) on 01.08.1996, after being selected and recommended by the Board, whereas respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was substantively appointed with effect from 30.12.2000 pursuant to the order of regularisation dated 03.12.2001 passed under Section 33-F of the Act, 1982.

5. The appellant (Jai Ram) submitted representations dated 26.12.2014 simultaneously to the District Inspector of Schools (hereinafter referred to as the "DIOS"), Sitapur, and the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, raising his grievance regarding his seniority in the Lecturer Cadre.

6. In furtherance of the appellant's representation dated 26.12.2014, the DIOS, Sitapur, issued a letter dated 08.01.2015 to the Principal of the institution directing him to examine the issue of seniority raised by the appellant. However, nothing transpired and as such the appellant submitted another representation dated 09.09.2015 to the DIOS, Sitapur. Thereafter, the DIOS, Sitapur, issued a letter dated 19.10.2015 to the Principal of the institution referring to the statutory provisions contained in Regulation 3(1)(a), (b), and (c) of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, pointing out the irregularity in the seniority list and directing the issuance of a revised seniority list in accordance with the aforesaid provisions. The DIOS, Sitapur sent another reminder on 09.02.2016. The appellant (Jai Ram) also submitted a representation dated 15.09.2016 to the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, reiterating his grievance regarding his seniority. However, as nothing further transpired, the appellant (Jai Ram) approached this Court by filing Writ Petition No. 29967 (SS) of 2016, which was disposed of by order dated 29.12.2016, directing the Regional Level Committee to decide the matter within a period of two months from the date of production of a certified copy of the order.

7. In compliance of the order dated 29.12.2016 passed by the Writ Court in Writ Petition No. 29967 (SS) of 2016, Jai Ram Vs. State of U.P. and Others, the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, after calling for the service records from the institution and hearing the aggrieved parties, passed order dated 25.03.2017 determining the inter se seniority of the appellant (Jai Ram), Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra and Sri Gyan Prakash Mishra. Taking into consideration the respective dates of substantive appointment of all three lecturers, the Joint Director held that the appellant (Jai Ram) was senior to Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra and Sri Gyan Prakash Mishra, as his date of substantive appointment was 01.08.1996, whereas the dates of substantive appointment of Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra and Sri Gyan Prakash Mishra were 30.12.2000 and 16.12.2001, respectively.

8. Feeling aggrieved by the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra filed Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, Prafulla Kumar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and Others, in which the appellant (Jai Ram) was impleaded as respondent No.5. The writ petition was allowed by judgment and order dated 13.08.2021, which is under challenge in the present Special Appeal.

9. The learned Single Judge, while passing the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, took into consideration the fact that seniority lists had been repeatedly issued since the year 1997, 2005, 2006 and 2012, in which Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was consistently shown senior to the appellant (Jai Ram). The learned Single Judge further observed that the appellant (Jai Ram) had never raised any objection to those seniority lists and that it was only in the year 2015 that he raised the issue of seniority before the DIOS, Sitapur. The learned Single Judge held that entertaining such a claim after nearly eighteen years would amount to unsettling a long-standing seniority, which is impermissible in law. Accordingly, relying upon various judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court laying down the principle that long-settled seniority should not ordinarily be disturbed after a considerable lapse of time, the learned Single Judge quashed the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow.

10. The issue raised by the appellant in the present appeal is that the learned Single Judge, while passing the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, Prafulla Kumar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and Others, failed to take into consideration the fact that the alleged seniority lists of the years 1997, 2005, 2006 and 08.11.2012 were not seniority lists prepared and circulated in accordance with Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. It is the case of the appellant (Jai Ram) that no such seniority list was ever prepared by the Committee of Management in the first instance nor was the appellant (Jai Ram) ever confronted with any such seniority list so as to enable him to file objections as contemplated under the Regulations. Reference has been made to the seniority lists annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, which were available before the learned Single Judge to demonstrate that the alleged seniority lists were not issued by the Committee of Management. Hence, according to the appellant, the learned Single Judge erroneously based his conclusion on such alleged seniority lists, which could not have been treated as valid seniority lists at all being not prepared and issued under Chapter II, Regulation 3 of the Regulations framed under U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

11. The documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 contain three documents describing them as seniority lists. The first document is a list dated 02.12.2015 issued by the Principal of the institution describing it as the seniority list of the Lecturer Cadre. The said list was prepared on the basis of the dates of initial appointment of the lecturers, wherein respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was shown senior to the appellant (Jai Ram) because his initial appointment as Lecturer on ad-hoc basis was on 25.07.1991, whereas the date of initial appointment of the appellant (Jai Ram) was 01.08.1996. The second document annexed as Annexure No.6 to the said writ petition is a list relating to the year 2011-12, in which the appellant (Jai Ram) was placed at Serial No.8 and respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was placed at Serial No.5, again based on their dates of initial appointment as Lecturers. The said document further indicates that it was prepared during the period when the institution was under "Single Operation", meaning thereby that due to certain disputes, the institution was being administered under the "Single Operation" and the Committee of Management lacked the authority to administer the affairs of the institution. The third document pertained to the year 2016-17, which was issued by the Principal of the institution on 07.05.2016 and in the said document, respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra was placed at Serial No.3, whereas the appellant (Jai Ram) was placed at Serial No.5, again on the basis of their initial appointments as Lecturers.

12. The counter affidavit filed by the Committee of Management in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 refers to four seniority lists allegedly prepared by the Committee of Management, pertaining to the years 1996-97, 2005, 2011-12 and 2016-17. In all these lists, the appellant (Jai Ram) was shown below respondent no.1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra. The Committee of Management took the stand that the appellant (Jai Ram) had never objected to any of the aforesaid seniority lists and, therefore, after a lapse of nearly eighteen years, he could not challenge the same. However, no such seniority list nor any other document evidencing the preparation or publication of such seniority lists by the Committee of Management were annexed to the counter affidavit so as to establish that these lists had been prepared in exercise of the powers conferred under Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 in conformity with the procedure prescribed therein.

13. The appellant (Jai Ram) also filed a counter affidavit in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, wherein he specifically pleaded that he had consistently raised his grievance regarding seniority and when no heed was paid to his representations, he was compelled to file Writ Petition No. 29967 (SS) of 2016 and as such, it cannot be said that he did not raise any objection against the seniority list. A copy of the writ petition bearing Writ Petition No. 29967 (SS) of 2016, Jai Ram Vs. State of U.P. and Others, annexed with the supplementary affidavit dated 20.04.2021 filed in the present Special Appeal, clearly demonstrates the manner in which the appellant (Jai Ram) had challenged the determination of his seniority. Taking note of the grievances raised by the appellant therein, the Writ Court disposed of the writ petition by order dated 29.12.2016 directing the Regional Level Committee to decide the issue relating to the seniority of the appellant (Jai Ram) within a period of two months.

14. The respondent No. 1, Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra, while filing objections to the present Special Appeal, raised a preliminary objection regarding its maintainability under Chapter VIII, Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules. It was contended that the present Special Appeal is not maintainable as it has been preferred against a judgment passed in a writ petition wherein the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the appellate authority has been quashed. Reliance was placed upon the Full Bench judgment of this Court in Sheet Gupta v. State of U.P., 2009 SCC OnLine All 1613 as well as the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. v. Madhav Prasad Sharma, (2011) 2 SCC 212. The other objection raised by respondent No. 1 is that the seniority lists dated 11.12.2006 and 08.11.2012 were duly countersigned and circulated by the DIOS and that the appellant (Jai Ram) was fully aware of the same, however, despite such knowledge, he never challenged the seniority list dated 11.12.2006 and 08.11.2012. It has further been alleged that the appellant has misrepresented material facts while filing the present Special Appeal and, on that ground alone, the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

15. The document dated 11.12.2006, as relied upon by respondent No. 1 as seniority list annexed as Annexure No. 4 to the supplementary affidavit upon bare perusal, appears to be merely a statement containing the particulars of the Lecturers in seriatim of their initial date of appointment in the institution, forwarded by the Principal of the institution to the DIOS, Sitapur which has been counter signed by him. By no stretch of imagination the said document can be termed as a seniority list in terms of Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. The another document dated 08.11.2012, referred to by respondent No. 1 as seniority list has not been annexed with the short counter affidavit filed in the present Special Appeal.

16. In response to the preliminary objection regarding the maintainability of the present Special Appeal, we take note of the fact that the order dated 25.03.2017, which was challenged in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, was not an order passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction under Regulation 3(1)(f) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. An appeal lies only under Regulation 3(1)(f) against a decision taken by the Committee of Management under Regulation 3(1)(e) concerning a dispute relating to seniority. The order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, was not an order arising out of any decision of the Committee of Management on objection raised before it under Regulation 3(1)(e) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Thus, the preliminary objection raised by respondent No. 1 regarding the maintainability of the present Special Appeal is liable to be rejected, inasmuch as the order dated 25.03.2017 was not passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction under Regulation 3(1)(f) arising from a decision of the Committee of Management under Regulation 3(1)(e) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

17. Respondent No. 1 also filed another affidavit dated 10.07.2024, described as "Objections/Short Counter Affidavit", in response to the supplementary affidavit dated 13.08.2023. In the said affidavit emphasis has again been laid upon the fact that the learned Single Judge decided Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 on the admitted premise that at least four seniority lists of the Lecturer Cadre had been issued by the authorities on 25.07.1997, 02.12.2005, 11.12.2006, and 08.11.2012, none of which was ever challenged by the appellant (Jai Ram). It has thus been argued that the contrary stand cannot be now allowed to be taken in the present Special Appeal that no seniority list was published. Reliance has also been placed upon the yearly magazine published by the institution, namely "Saurabh", wherein the seniority position of the Lecturers was allegedly published from time to time. Relevant extracts of the magazine have been annexed with the short counter affidavit to contend that the appellant cannot now assert that no seniority list had ever been published.

18. A perusal of the relevant pages of the magazine annexed with the short counter affidavit filed by respondent No.1, reveals that they merely contain a list of teachers and employees working in the institution and such a list by no stretch of imagination can be treated as a seniority list prepared by the Committee of Management in accordance with the provisions contained in Regulation 3(1) of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

19. The entire controversy, therefore, centres around the factual issue as to whether any valid seniority list was ever published in the years 1997, 2005, 2006, and 2012 and whether the appellant, despite having knowledge thereof, failed to raise any objection, thereby attracting the principles of acquiescence, waiver or estoppel and precluding him from challenging the inter se seniority of the Lecturers at this belated stage.

20. Before arriving at any conclusion regarding the alleged publication of seniority lists during the years 1997, 2005, 2006 and 2012, it is necessary to examine the statutory provisions of Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Regulation 3 is reproduced hereunder :

3. (1) The Committee of Management of every institution shall cause a seniority list of teachers to be prepared in accordance with the following provisions

(a) The seniority list shall be prepared separately for each grade of teachers whether permanent or temporary, on any substantive post;

(b) Seniority of teachers in a grade shall be determined on the basis of their substantive appointment in that grade. If two or more teachers were so appointed on the same date, seniority shall be determined on the basis of age;

[(bb) Where two or more teachers working in a grade are promoted to the next higher grade on the same date, their seniority inter se shall be determined on the basis of the length of their service to be reckoned from the date of their substantive appointment in the grade from which they are promoted:

Provided that if such length of service is equal, seniority shall be determined on the basis of age.]

(c) A teacher in a higher grade shall be deemed to be senior to a teacher in the lower grade irrespective of the length of service;

(d) If a teacher who is placed under suspension is reinstated on his original post his original seniority in the grade shall not be affected;

(e) Every dispute about the seniority of the teacher shall be referred to the Committee of Management which shall decide the same giving reasons for the decision;

[(f) उपखण्ड (ड) के अधीन प्रबन्ध समिति के विनिश्चय से व्यथित कोई अध्यापक ऐसा विनिश्चय ऐसे अध्यापक को सूचित किये जाने के दिनांक से 15 दिन के भीतर सम्बन्धित क्षेत्रीय उप-शिक्षा निदेशक को अपील कर सकता है, और अपील पर सम्बन्धित पक्षों को सुनवाई का अवसर देने के उपरान्त उप शिक्षा निदेशक अपना निर्णय कारण सहित देगा, जो अन्तिम होगा और प्रबन्ध समिति द्वारा कार्यान्वित किया जायेगा।]

(g) यदि एक ग्रेड में कार्यरत दो या अधिक अध्यापक किसी एक ही तिथि पर पदोन्नति किए जाएँ तो उनकी ज्येष्ठता का आधार उस ग्रेड का सेवाकाल होगा, जिसमें वे कार्यरत थे, परन्तु यदि सेवाकाल बराबर है, तो पदोन्नति की दशा में आयु के आधार पर ज्येष्ठता निर्धारित की जायेगी।]

(2) The seniority list shall be revised every year and the provisions of Clause (1) shall mutatis mutandis apply to such revision.

(Emphasis supplied)

21. A bare perusal of Clause (1) of Regulation 3 reveals that the Committee of Management of the institution is the competent authority for issuance of the seniority list after taking into consideration the provisions contained in sub-clauses (a) to (g) of Clause (1) of Regulation 3. Clause (2) of Regulation 3 mandates that the seniority list shall be revised every year and, during such revision, the provisions of Clause (1) shall be applied as such.

22. When we analyse the alleged seniority lists annexed with memo of Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, we find that Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra, while filing Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, collectively annexed the seniority lists as Annexure No. 6 to the writ petition. The first document is an alleged seniority list of Lecturers dated 02.12.2005, which has been issued by the Principal of the institution. The second document is an alleged seniority list pertaining to the year 2011-12, which indicates that the institution, at that point of time, was under "Single Operation" and the third document is a list of teachers working in the Lecturer cadre with reference to their initial dates of appointment for the year 2016-17, which was issued on 07.05.2016 by the Principal of the institution. We are of the view that the documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to the writ petition, as available on the record of the present Special Appeal, cannot be termed as seniority lists in terms of Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 for the reason that those documents were not issued by Committee of Management of Institution. As such, the reliance placed by the learned Single Judge on such documents to conclude that the seniority lists were published by the institution and the appellant (Jai Ram) did not raise any objection to such seniority lists is completely misconceived as objections can be raised in reference to Regulation 3(1)(e) if the seniority lists would have been issued by the Committee of Management as required under Regulation 3(1).

23. Apart from the aforesaid documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 filed by respondent No.1, we do not find any other document which was available on record before the learned Single Judge to reach the conclusion that the appellant (Jai Ram) did not raise any objection to the seniority lists and, as such, he could not belatedly raise such objections.

24. On a close scrutiny of the documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, we can only say that to some extent, the seniority list of Lecturers for the year 2011-12, when the institution was under "Single Operation", may be said to be a seniority list issued under Regulation 3(1) of the Regulations as during such period Committee of Management was in dispute. Be that as it may, even the seniority list of the year 2011-12 of the Lecturer cadre is based on the initial appointment of the incumbent Lecturer and, as such, the seniority reflected therein is also not in conformity with Regulation 3(1)(b) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 which provides that the seniority of teachers in a grade shall be determined on the basis of their substantive appointment in that grade. It is not in dispute that the date of substantive appointment of the appellant on the post of Lecturer (English) is 01.08.1996 and that of Prafulla Kumar Mishra is 30.12.2000.

25. Apart from the aforesaid documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, respondent No.1 has placed another document dated 11.12.2012 along with the preliminary objections to the short counter affidavit filed by him in the present Special Appeal on 26.08.2021, which is nothing but the details of teachers working in the institution in the Lecturer grade, issued by the Principal of the institution. The said document also cannot be termed as a seniority list in terms of Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 not being issued by Committee of Management.

26. At this juncture, it would be worth mentioning the provisions contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, which provide for the Scheme of Administration. Regulation 1 provides that the Committee of Management of an institution shall include ex-officio members, i.e. the Headmaster/Principal and two teachers, for a term of one year each by rotation according to seniority selected in the manner prescribed in Regulation 2 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Regulation 2 provides that the Committee of Management shall maintain a seniority list of all the substantively appointed teachers, which shall be based on the date of their appointment in the institution. Regulation 3 further provides that the two senior-most teachers shall, in the first instance, be selected from the said list as ex-officio members of the Committee of Management. Regulation 4 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 provides that the Manager shall prepare and maintain the seniority list showing therein the date from which a teacher is entitled to count his seniority and before finalizing the list, he shall supply a copy thereof to every teacher in the institution. Any objection filed by a teacher within one month from the date of receipt of the copy by him shall be decided by the Committee of Management. Regulation 5 further provides that any teacher aggrieved by the decision of the Committee of Management may file an appeal before the DIOS within fifteen days from the communication of the said decision and thereafter a copy of the list, after its finalization, shall be supplied to each teacher. Regulations 1 to 6 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 are reproduced hereinbelow :-

1. Ex-officio members of the Committee of Management. The Committee of Management of an institution shall include the following ex-officio members:

(i) Headmaster or Principal, as the case may be,

(ii) Two teachers for a term of one year each by rotation according to seniority selected in the manner prescribed below.

2. "ज्येष्ठता के आधार पर बारी-बारी से चयन किये जाने के लिये प्रबन्ध द्वारा संस्था के समस्त मौलिक सेवा वाले अध्यापकों की एक ज्येष्ठता सूची रखी जायेगी। यह सूची उस संस्था में उनकी स्थायी नियुक्ति की तिथि तथा इस प्रकार दो अथवा उससे अधिक अध्यापकों की नियुक्ति की दशा में उनकी ज्येष्ठता उनकी आयु की ज्येष्ठता पर निर्धारित की जायेगी।"

3. The two senior most teachers shall be selected from this list as ex officio members of the Committee of Management in the first instance. Their terms shall begin from the date on which the Committee of Management is constituted after the approval of the Scheme of Administration by the Director. On the expiry of their terms or in the event of vacancy or vacancies occurring earlier by one or both, the teachers resigning his/their membership/ memberships of the Committee or ceasing to be in the service of the institution, the teacher/ teachers next in the seniority list shall be selected in his/their place/places for a full term. The ex-officio membership of a teacher shall not lapse on his being promoted or demoted from one grade or category to another during the currency of his term.

4. The manager shall prepare and maintain the seniority list showing therein the date from which a teacher is entitled to count his seniority. Before finalizing the list, he shall supply a copy thereof to every teacher in the institution and any objection filed by a teacher within a month of the receipt of the copy by him shall be decided by the Committee of Management.

5. Any teacheraggrieved by the decision of the Committee may within fifteen days of its communication to him file an appeal to the Inspector or Regional Inspectress, as the case may be, whose decision thereon shall be final.

6. A copy of the list after it has been finalized shall be supplied to each teacher, the head of the institution and the Inspector or Regional Inspectress for the reference and record. Any change in the strength or grades to teachers comprising a category shall be duly noted in the list and all concerned promptly intimated of it. Any teacher who feels aggrieved by the change may file objection before the Managing Committee within a month of the intimation and that objection shall be dealt with as if it were an objection under Regulation 4.

27. Regulation 2 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 provides for maintaining the seniority list on the basis of the date of initial appointment in the institution, whereas Regulation 3(1)(b) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 provides for the seniority of teachers to be determined on the basis of their substantive appointment. The seniority referred to in Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 relates to the seniority list prepared for the purpose of service benefits in reference to service conditions, i.e., promotion, etc.; whereas the seniority referred to in Regulation 2 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 is for the purpose of selection of ex-officio members on rotational basis for including them in the Committee of Management. Thus, the alleged seniority lists referred by respondent no.1 and the Committee of Management before the Writ Court as well as in the present appeal, can be referred to Regulation 2 contained in Chapter I of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, as those lists pertain to seniority based on the date of initial appointment of teachers for the purpose of inclusion of ex-officio members on rotational basis in the Committee of Management and have no relevance in the controversy involved in the present litigation. The issue before this Court is with regard to seniority for the purpose of service benefits pertaining to service conditions, which has to be determined in the manner prescribed under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and for that purpose seniority list has to be prepared and issued by Committee of Management.

28. To qualify as a seniority list under Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, it has to be prepared in accordance with the provisions contained in Regulation 3 and any list containing merely the details of teachers working in the institution, issued by the Principal of the institution or any authority other than Committee of Management, cannot be termed as a seniority list. Before the Writ Court as well as in the present appeal, the Committee of Management failed to establish that any seniority list was ever prepared on the basis of the substantive appointment of the teachers in the manner prescribed under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. In the counter affidavit filed before the Writ Court, there is no whisper by the Committee of Management as to whether any seniority list was finalized under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 after invitation and consideration of objections by the teaching staff of the institution. Although it appears that there is no specific provision for inviting objections prior to the finalization of the seniority list under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, nevertheless, the finalized seniority list is required to be circulated in terms of Regulation 3(1)(f) and (g) contained in Chapter II of the said Regulations. In case the seniority list is not circulated, the provisions contained in Regulation 3(1)(f) and (g) of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 would be rendered otiose as without any knowledge of the final seniority list, an aggrieved person can neither file objection as contemplated under Regulation 3(1)(e) nor appeal under Regulation 3(1)(f).

29. Upon examining the documents annexed to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 as well as the other documents brought on record in the present Special Appeal, we are of the view that in fact, no seniority list, as required under Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations was ever issued so as to reach to the conclusion that the appellant failed to file any objection to the seniority list published by the institution and thereby acquiesced in and waived his right to challenge such seniority.

30. The publication of the magazine of the institution every year containing details of the teachers do not come within the ambit of a seniority list, as such details are merely in the nature of information regarding the teachers working in the institution since their initial appointments and at the most is referable to maintaining seniority in terms of Chapter I for the purpose of representation in Committee of Managment as ex-officio members on rotational basis. The determination of inter se seniority is based on various factors enumerated in Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and not depends merely on the initial date of appointment. Rather, it is the date of substantive appointment, as referred to in sub-clause (b) of Clause (1) of Regulation 3, which is the relevant factor for determination of seniority for the purpose of promotion and other benefits.

31. There is no dispute with regard to the judgments referred to in the impugned judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.8702 (SS) of 2017, as it is trite that long-settled seniority cannot be disturbed. However, on examining the facts relating to the present controversy, we are of the view that the learned Single Judge based his conclusion by treating the documents annexed as Annexure No. 6 to Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 as seniority lists, though they were not seniority lists published by the Committee of Management under Regulation 3(1) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Hence, it cannot be said that the appellant (Jai Ram) failed to raise objections at the relevant point of time with regard to his seniority. The objection can only be raised to a duly published seniority list issued in accordance with the statutory provisions. Any list published by an authority not competent to issue a seniority list cannot be termed as a seniority list so as to require any objection thereto as contemplated under Regulation 3.

32. At the best, it can be the case of the respondent no. 1 that the seniority list for the year 2011-12, issued when the institution was under "Single Operation", is referable to Regulation 3 contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Even if it is assumed that the appellant (Jai Ram) did not file any objection to such seniority list published in the year 2011-12, we find that the appellant raised his objection before the DIOS, Sitapur, on 24.12.2014 with regard to his seniority. Hence, it cannot be said that there was any considerable delay in raising objections to the seniority list published in the year 2011-12.

33. Moreover, we also find that the appellant (Jai Ram) is admittedly senior to respondent No.1, Prafulla Kumar Mishra as it is not in dispute that the date of substantive appointment of the appellant is 01.08.1996 and that of Prafulla Kumar Mishra is 30.12.2000. Regulation 3(1)(b) contained in Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 specifically provides that seniority is to be reckoned from the date of substantive appointment. We are also of the view that no vested right accrued in favour of respondent No.1, as he was neither promoted nor assigned to officiate on the basis of the alleged seniority lists on a higher post over and above the appellant prior to the appellant raising his objection by means of his representation dated 24.12.2014 before the DIOS, Sitapur. In fact, it was the appellant who was given the charge of Officiating Principal of the institution in terms of the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, whereby the appellant was held to be senior to Sri Prafulla Kumar Mishra. However, subsequently, he was divested of the charge of Officiating Principal by the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017, whereby the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow, was set aside. Thus, it was only as a consequence of the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 that the appellant was divested of the post of Officiating Principal of the institution. It is, therefore, not a case where respondent No.1 can contend that by the order dated 25.03.2017, he was divested of any accrued or vested right.

34. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the view that the present appeal deserves to be allowed and is hereby allowed. Accordingly, we set aside the judgment and order dated 13.08.2021 passed in Writ Petition No. 8702 (SS) of 2017 and uphold the order dated 25.03.2017 passed by the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow. We further direct that the appellant (Jai Ram) shall be given all consequential benefits being senior to respondent No.1 within a period of fifteen days from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before the Joint Director of Education, VIth Region, Lucknow.

Application U/S 378 No. 43 of 2017

State of U.P. ...Appellant
Versus
Ramkesh & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to consideration of an application for leave to appeal under S. 378(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure against an order of acquittal in a case based on circumstantial evidence, particularly the last seen together theory, identification of the dead body, alleged recovery of the necklace and mobile phone, and the question whether the chain of circumstantial evidence was complete and sufficient to warrant interference with the possible view taken by the trial Court. (Paras 12-29).

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - S. 378 - Appeal against acquittal - Grant of leave under S. 378(3) - Parameters - Appellate Court must consider whether prima facie case has been made out or arguable points have been raised - Where the trial Court has taken a possible view on appreciation of evidence, interference not warranted merely because another view is possible - Acquittal reinforces the presumption of innocence - Interference justified only in exceptional cases where compelling circumstances exist and judgment under appeal is perverse - Present case - Trial Court found material discrepancies regarding last seen together, recovery of articles and identification of dead body - Chain of circumstantial evidence found broken - No case made out for grant of leave to appeal. (Paras 14-19, 27-29).

Criminal Law - Circumstantial evidence - Five golden principles - Prosecution required to establish circumstances fully - Circumstances must be consistent only with hypothesis of guilt - Circumstances must be of conclusive nature and tendency - Circumstances must exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved - Chain of evidence must be complete and leave no reasonable ground consistent with innocence - Mere suspicion cannot take place of proof. (Paras 20-21, 26-28).

Criminal Law - Last seen together theory - Conviction cannot be based only on circumstance of last seen together - Doctrine applies where time gap between last seen alive and discovery of death is so small that possibility of any person other than accused being perpetrator becomes impossible - Even then prosecution must complete chain of circumstances and some corroboration is required - Present case - considerable time gap between alleged last seen and recovery of dead body - possibility of any other person being author of crime could not be ruled out - last seen circumstance therefore insufficient. (Paras 22-25, 27).

Criminal Law - Identification of dead body - Body completely decomposed and decayed - Body undressed/naked - Identification through clothes highly doubtful - Contradictory evidence regarding time and manner of identification - Prosecution failed to explain inconsistency - Circumstance not reliable. (Para 27).

Criminal Law - Recovery of articles - Necklace and mobile phone allegedly recovered at instance of accused - Recovery disputed by defence evidence - No missing article mentioned in FIR or at time of inquest - Recovery found doubtful and not in consonance with S. 27 of the Indian Evidence Act - Circumstance incapable of completing chain of circumstantial evidence. (Para 27). Criminal Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 – Section 106 - Burden of proof - Last seen together evidence not credible or cogent - Burden does not shift to accused - Mere suspicion cannot take place of proof. (Para 27).

Held: The case of the prosecution totally rests upon circumstantial evidence - the prosecution mainly rests its case on the circumstances of last scene together - the doctrine of last seen rests on the logical presumption that where an individual is last seen alive in the close company of an accused, and is soon thereafter found dead, the accused must reasonably account for the circumstances in which they parted ways - however, the last seen theory comes into play where the time gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible - even then the circumstance alone is insufficient and the prosecution must establish a complete chain of circumstances proving the accused's guilt - in the present case there was no missing report for a considerable period, there was material inconsistency regarding identification of the dead body, the recovered dead body was completely decomposed and decayed and was undressed or naked, identification through clothes was highly doubtful, there was a considerable time gap between the last scene and recovery of the alleged dead body and possibility of any other person than accused persons being the author of the crime could not be ruled out - recovery of the necklace and mobile phone was also doubtful since the alleged missing articles were not mentioned in the FIR or at the time of preparation of inquest and the recovery was not in consonance with the provision contained in S. 27 of the Indian Evidence Act - since the evidence pertaining to the last seen together theory was not found credible or cogent, the burden of proof under S. 106 of the Indian Evidence Act does not shift to the accused persons - mere suspicion cannot take the place of proof - the chain of circumstantial evidence is broken and is not complete as testimony of the witnesses of facts are not fully reliable - the prosecution case is not squarely fitted in the doctrine of five golden rules - the trial Court has taken possible view of the matter on appreciation of entire evidence on record, which cannot be substituted by this Court taking a different view - it is not a case worth granting leave to appeal and the application for granting leave to appeal is rejected - consequently, the present government appeal is also dismissed. (Paras 20-29). (E-7)

Re: Criminal Misc. Application (Leave to Appeal)

1. Heard learned AGA for the appellant-State of UP and perused the record.

2. The present government appeal has been preferred by the State against the judgment and order dated 19.11.2026 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Barabanki in Sessions Trial No. 1451 of 2009 arising out of Case Crime No. 1432 of 2009, under Sections 302/201/404/411 of Indian Penal Code (herein after referred to as 'IPC'), Police Station Kotwali Haidergarh, District Barabanki.

3. The factual matrix of the case is that on 04.08.2009 at about 3:30 p.m., informant's deceased wife, Smt. Sangeeta, went to the road outside the village accompanied with her 14-year-old son, Anuj. The accused persons, Ramkesh and one unknown, were present there with a motorcycle. The deceased boarded the motorcycle with them and headed towards Haidergarh. On the way, eyewitnesses Rakesh Mishra and Harish Chandra Tiwari saw them, subsequently visited the informant's house, and narrated the incident. The deceased, Sangeeta, had gone with the accused persons to her maternal aunt's (Mausi) house to give her Rs2,000/-. After handing over the amount, she telephoned her son, Anuj, informing him that she would return home within half an hour. However, she failed to return by evening, and her mobile phone was found switched off, prompting the family to search for her. On 17.08.2009, the informant received information that the body of a woman had been recovered from a waterlogged area near the canal. Thereafter, the informant, along with his father-in-law and his son, Anuj, identified the body as that of the deceased, Sangeeta.

4. On the basis of written application First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as 'FIR') had been lodged against accused Ramkesh and one unknown person under Section 304 of IPC in Police Station Kotwali Haidergarh. After lodging of the FIR the Investigating Officer prepared the inquest report of the recovered dead body and sent the same for autopsy. In furtherance of the investigation the Investigating Officer also visited the place of occurrence, prepared site plan, recorded the statement of witnesses and after concluding the investigation filed charge-sheet against accused Ramkesh and Ram Sagar, opposite party Nos. 1 and 2 respectively under Sections 302, 201, 404 and 411 of IPC.

5. After compliance of mandatory provision of Section 207 of Code of Criminal Procedure (herein after referred to as 'CrPC'), learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Barabanki finding the case exclusively triable by Session, committed the same to Court of Session Judge from where it was made over to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Barabanki for trial accordingly to law, who framed the charges against the accused persons for which they denied and claimed to be tried.

6. To substantiate its case, learned trial Court recorded the testimony of the prosecution witnesses Ramesh Mishra PW-1, Amar Nath Shykla PW-2, Rakesh Datt Mishra PW-3, Anurag Shukla PW-4, Mukesh Kumar PW-5, Anuj Shukla PW-6, Umakant Mishra PW-7, I.O. Zabrul Hashan PW-8, Dr. Rajesh Ojha PW-9 and Usha Devi PW-10.

7. The statement of the accused persons under Section 313 of CrPC. Was recorded. At the stage of defence Ram Kishor DW-1 was examined.

8. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties and perusing the material available on record, the learned trial court concluded that prosecution has miserable failed to establish its case and charge levelled against accused persons is not duly proved, consequently acquitted the accused persons for the charges levelled against them.

9. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied by the order of acquittal, the State has filed this appeal alongwith application under Section 378(3) of Cr.P.C. for grant of leave to appeal against the said judgment.

10. The judgment of acquittal was passed on the ground that there was no direct evidence of the murder of the deceased and the case rests upon circumstantial evidence.

The learned trial Court further observed that the prosecution has placed reliance on the theory of last seen together, but that was not found believable since there were inconsistencies in the cross-examination of the witnesses of the last seen together. The learned trial Court also found that the dead body of the deceased was recovered much after the disappearance of the deceased, which indicated an advanced stage of decomposition as blisters were present and bones had separated from the flesh. It was not possible to identify the deceased only on the basis of dead body. The learned trial Court also observed that the dead body was found undressed; therefore, the statement of the witnesses with regard to identifiction of the dead body on the basis of clothing was highly misconceived and not reliable. The learned trial Court also observed that it was nowhere mentioned in the FIR that the necklace and mobile phone of the deceased were also missing, but suddenly, during the course of investigation, the alleged recovery of the necklace and mobile phone of the deceased was made at the instance of the accused persons, which is also doubtful. The learned trial Court also observed that at the time of the alleged incident, the husband of the deceased was present at Haridwar in consequence of his private job. He returned from Haridwar on 19.09.2009 and then identified the dead body of the deceased, whereas an application had already been moved by him for the autopsy of the dead body on 17.08.2009. Furthermore, his son Anuj stated that two to three days after his mother went missing, a dead body was recovered nearby the canal bridge, and he identified the dead body after noticing the clothes worn by the deceased. It was also observed by the learned trial Court that no missing complaint was lodged by the informant till the recovery of the dead body. Thus, it was found that there were material discrepancies in the testimonies of the witnesses of fact with regard to the last seen together, the recovery of articles, and the identification of the dead body, rendering the statements of the witnesses of fact unworthy of belief. Under such circumstances, the trial Court found that the prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, and the accused persons were given the benefit of doubt and a judgment of acquittal was passed.

11. Challenging the impugned judgment, the learned AGA submits that the trial Court has erred in appreciating the evidence on record. He further submits that the chain of circumstantial evidence is complete, which is duly proved by the prosecution witnesses. The dead body of the deceased was duly identified on the basis of the clothes worn by the deceased; therefore, no occasion arose to conduct a DNA test on the body of the deceased. It is also submitted that the necklace (mangalsutra) and mobile phone of the deceased were recovered at the instance of the accused persons, which was within their special knowledge. It is also submitted that the call details of the mobile phones of the accused persons and the deceased were collected, which indicated that the accused persons called her many times on her mobile phone. The prosecution witnesses, in their examination-in-chief and cross-examination, have supported the prosecution version. The learned trial Court has given undue weightage to minor inconsistencies that occurred in the prosecution evidence and has wrongly ignored the core of evidence of prosecution witnesses. He also submits that the observations made by the learned trial Court are arbitrary, being based on surmises and conjectures, and have given undue weightage to the defence stand and evidence, while the prosecution witnesses remain intact and have fully corroborated the prosecution case, and the chain of circumstances is linked together, drawing an inference against the accused persons, but learned trial Court has taken different view, which is not one of the possible view. Submission, therefore, is that the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the trial Court requires serious consideration and reversal and the accused persons herein are liable to be convicted.

12. We have considered the submissions and have perused the record.

13. Before proceeding further, it would be appropriate to take note of law on the appeal against acquittal.

14. In the case of Bannareddy and others vs. State of Karnataka and others, (2018) 5 SCC 790, in paragraph 10, the Hon'ble Apex Court has considered the power and jurisdiction of the High Court while interfering in an appeal against acquittal and in paragraph 26 it has been held that "the High Court should not have reappreciated the evidence in its entirety, especially when there existed no grave infirmity in the findings of the trial Court. There exists no justification behind setting aside the order of acquittal passed by the trial Court, especially when the prosecution case suffers from several contradictions and infirmities"

15. In Jayamma vs. State of Karnataka, 2021 (6) SCC 213, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has been pleased to explain the limitations of exercise of power of scrutiny by the High Court in an appeal against against an order of acquittal passed by a Trial Court in the following words:

"The power of scrutiny exercisable by the High Court under Section 378, CrPC should not be routinely invoked where the view formed by the trial court was a "possible view'. The judgment of the trial court cannot be set aside merely because the High Court finds its own view more probable, save where the judgment of the trial court suffers from perversity or the conclusions drawn by it were impossible if there was a correct reading and analysis of the evidence on record. To say it differently, unless the High Court finds that there is complete misreading of the material evidence which has led to miscarriage of justice, the view taken by the trial court which can also possibly be a correct view, need not be interfered with. This self-restraint doctrine, of course, does not denude the High Court of its powers to re-appreciate the evidence, including in an appeal against acquittal and arrive at a different firm finding of fact."

16. In a judgment of this Court in Virendra Singh vs. State of UP and others, 2022 (3) ADJ 354 DB, the law on the issue involved has been considered. For ready reference, paragraphs 10, 11 and 12 are quoted as under:

"10. In the case of Babu vs. State of Kerala (2010) 9 SCC 189 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1179, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that while dealing with a judgment of acquittal, the appellate court has to consider the entire evidence on record, so as to arrive at a finding as to whether the views of the trial Court were perverse or otherwise unsustainable. The appellate court is entitled to consider whether in arriving at a finding of fact, the trial Court had failed to take into consideration admissible evidence and/or had taken into consideration the evidence brought on record contrary to law. Paragraphs 12 to 19 of the aforesaid judgment are quoted as under:-

"12. This court time and again has laid down the guidelines for the High Court to interfere with the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the Trial Court. The appellate court should not ordinarily set aside a judgment of acquittal in a case where two views are possible, though the view of the appellate court may be more, the probable one. While dealing with a judgment of acquittal, the appellate court has to consider the entire evidence on record, so as to arrive at a finding as to whether the views of the trial Court were perverse or otherwise unsustainable. The appellate court is entitled to consider whether in arriving at a finding of fact, the trial Court had failed to take into consideration admissible evidence and/or had taken into consideration the evidence brought on record contrary to law. Similarly, wrong placing of burden of proof may also be a subject matter of scrutiny by the appellate court. (Vide Balak Ram v. State of U.P. AIR 1974 SC 2165; Shambhoo Missir & Anr. v. State of Bihar AIR 1991 SC 315; Shailendra Pratap & Anr. v. State of U.P. AIR 2003 SC 1104; Narendra Singh v. State of M.P. (2004) 10 SCC 699; Budh Singh & Ors. v. State of U.P. AIR 2006 SC 2500; State of U.P. v. Ramveer Singh AIR 2007 SC 3075; S. Rama Krishna v. S. Rami Reddy (D) by his LRs. & Ors. AIR 2008 SC 2066; Arulvelu & Anr. Vs. State (2009) 10 SCC 206; Perla Somasekhara Reddy & Ors. v. State of A.P. (2009) 16 SCC 98; and Ram Singh alias Chhaju v. State of Himachal Pradesh (2010) 2 SCC 445).

13. In Sheo Swarup and Ors. King Emperor AIR 1934 PC 227, the Privy Council observed as under:

"...the High Court should and will always give proper weight and consideration to such matters as (1) the views of the trial Judge as to the credibility of the witnesses, (2) the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused, a presumption certainly not weakened by the fact that he has been acquitted at his trial, (3) the right of the accused to the benefit of any doubt, and (4) the slowness of an appellate court in disturbing a finding of fact arrived at by a Judge who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses."

14. The aforesaid principle of law has consistently been followed by this Court. (See: Tulsiram Kanu v. The State AIR 1954 SC 1; Balbir Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1957 SC 216; M.G. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra AIR 1963 SC 200; Khedu Mohton & Ors. v. State of Bihar AIR 1970 SC 66; Sambasivan and Ors. State of Kerala (1998) 5 SCC 412; Bhagwan Singh and Ors. v. State of M.P. (2002) 4 SCC 85; and State of Goa v. Sanjay Thakran and Anr. (2007) 3 SCC 755).

15. In Chandrappa and Ors. v. State of Karnataka (2007) 4 SCC 415, this Court reiterated the legal position as under:

"(1) An appellate court has full power to review, re-appreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(2) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 puts no limitation, restriction or condition on exercise of such power and an appellate court on the evidence before it may reach its own conclusion, both on questions of fact and of law.

(3) Various expressions, such as, "substantial and compelling reasons", "good and sufficient grounds", "very strong circumstances", "distorted conclusions", "glaring mistakes", etc. are not intended to curtail extensive powers of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal. Such phraseologies are more in the nature of "flourishes of language" to emphasise the reluctance of an appellate court to interfere with acquittal than to curtail the power of the court to review the evidence and to come to its own conclusion.

(4) An appellate court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

(5) If two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court."

16. In Ghurey Lal v. State of Uttar Pradesh (2008) 10 SCC 450, this Court re-iterated the said view, observing that the appellate court in dealing with the cases in which the trial courts have acquitted the accused, should bear in mind that the trial court's acquittal bolsters the presumption that he is innocent. The appellate court must give due weight and consideration to the decision of the trial court as the trial court had the distinct advantage of watching the demeanour of the witnesses, and was in a better position to evaluate the credibility of the witnesses.

17. In State of Rajasthan v. Naresh @ Ram Naresh (2009) 9 SCC 368, the Court again examined the earlier judgments of this Court and laid down that an "order of acquittal should not be lightly interfered with even if the court believes that there is some evidence pointing out the finger towards the accused."

18. In State of Uttar Pradesh v. Banne alias Baijnath & Ors. (2009) 4 SCC 271, this Court gave certain illustrative circumstances in which the Court would be justified in interfering with a judgment of acquittal by the High Court. The circumstances includes:

i) The High Court's decision is based on totally erroneous view of law by ignoring the settled legal position;

ii) The High Court's conclusions are contrary to evidence and documents on record;

iii) The entire approach of the High Court in dealing with the evidence was patently illegal leading to grave miscarriage of justice;

iv) The High Court's judgment is manifestly unjust and unreasonable based on erroneous law and facts on the record of the case;

v) This Court must always give proper weight and consideration to the findings of the High Court;

vi) This Court would be extremely reluctant in interfering with a case when both the Sessions Court and the High Court have recorded an order of acquittal.

A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Dhanapal v. State by Public Prosecutor, Madras (2009) 10 SCC 401.

19. Thus, the law on the issue can be summarised to the effect that in exceptional cases where there are compelling circumstances, and the judgment under appeal is found to be perverse, the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal. The appellate court should bear in mind the presumption of innocence of the accused and further that the trial Court's acquittal bolsters the presumption of his innocence. Interference in a routine manner where the other view is possible should be avoided, unless there are good reasons for interference."

11. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ramesh Babulal Doshi vs. State of Gujarat (1996) 9 SCC 225 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 972 has observed that while deciding appeal against acquittal, the High Court has to first record its conclusion on the question whether the approach of the trial court dealing with the evidence was patently illegal or conclusion arrived by it is wholly untenable which alone will justify interference in an order of acquittal.

12. The aforesaid judgments were taken note of with approval by Supreme Court in the case of Anwar Ali and another vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (2020) 10 SCC 166, Nagabhushan vs. State of Karnataka (2021) 5 SCC 222, and Babu (supra) in Achhar Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (2021) 5 SCC 543."

17. Similar view has been reiterated by Hon'ble Apex Court in Rajesh Prasad vs. State of Bihar and another, (2022) 3 SCC 471.

18. In Jafarudheen vs State Of Kerala; (2022) 8 SCC 440, the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:

"25. While dealing with an appeal against acquittal by invoking Section 378 of the Cr.PC, the Appellate Court has to consider whether the Trial Court's view can be termed as a possible one, particularly when evidence on record has been analyzed. The reason is that an order of acquittal adds up to the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused. Thus, the Appellate Court has to be relatively slow in reversing the order of the Trial Court rendering acquittal. Therefore, the presumption in favour of the accused does not get weakened but only strengthened. Such a double presumption that enures in favour of the accused has to be disturbed only by thorough scrutiny on the accepted legal parameters."

19. In Manoj Rameshlal Chhabriya v. Mahesh Prakash Ahuja & Another; 2025 SCC OnLine SC 451 the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations regarding the parameters that must be considered while dealing with the applications seeking leave to appeal under Section 378 of CrPC:

"7. The question as to how the application for grant of leave to appeal filed under Section 378(3) of the Cr.P.C. should be decided by the High Court and what are the parameters which the High Court should keep in mind remains no longer res integra. This issue was examined by this Court in State of Maharashtra v. Sujay Mangesh Poyarekar reported in (2008) 9 SCC 475. C.K. Thakker, J. speaking for the Bench held in paras 19, 20, 21 and 24 respectively as under:

"19. Now, Section 378 of the Code provides for filing of appeal by the State in case of acquittal. Sub-section (3) declares that no appeal "shall be entertained except with the leave of the High Court". It is, therefore, necessary for the State where it is aggrieved by an order of acquittal recorded by a Court of Session to file an application for leave to appeal as required by subsection

(3) of Section 378 of the Code. It is also true that an appeal can be registered and heard on merits by the High Court only after the High Court grants leave by allowing the application filed under sub-section (3) of Section 378 of the Code.

20. In our opinion, however, in deciding the question whether requisite leave should or should not be granted, the High Court must apply its mind, consider whether a prima facie case has been made out or arguable points have been raised and not whether the order of acquittal would or would not be set aside.

21. It cannot be laid down as an abstract proposition of law of universal application that each and every petition seeking leave to prefer an appeal against an order of acquittal recorded by a trial court must be allowed by the appellate court and every appeal must be admitted and decided on merits. But it also cannot be overlooked that at that stage, the court would not enter into minute details of the prosecution evidence and refuse leave observing that the judgment of acquittal recorded by the trial court could not be said to be "perverse" and, hence, no leave should be granted.

xxx xxx xxx

24. We may hasten to clarify that we may not be understood to have laid down an inviolable rule that no leave should be refused by the appellate court against an order of acquittal recorded by the trial court. We only state that in such cases, the appellate court must consider the relevant material, sworn testimonies of prosecution witnesses and record reasons why leave sought by the State should not be granted and the order of acquittal recorded by the trial court should not be disturbed. Where there is application of mind by the appellate court and reasons (may be in brief) in support of such view are recorded, the order of the court may not be said to be illegal or objectionable. At the same time, however, if arguable points have been raised, if the material on record discloses deeper scrutiny and reappreciation, review or reconsideration of evidence, the appellate court must grant leave as sought and decide the appeal on merits. In the case on hand, the High Court, with respect, did neither. In the opinion of the High Court, the case did not require grant of leave. But it also failed to record reasons for refusal of such leave.

12. We are of the view that at the stage of considering grant of leave under sub-section (3) of Section 378 of the Cr.P.C., a prima facie case should be looked into by the High Court, of course, not ignoring the materials on record."

20. On perusal of material available on record, it reveals that there is no direct evidence of murder of the deceased. The case of the prosecution totally rests upon circumstantial evidence. In the present case a young woman has been murdered. Certainly this incident is a heart breaking, but where direct evidence of murder is not available, then it is to be seen by the Court that what role of the circumstances played in this case.

21. In Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda vs State Of Maharashtra AIR 1984 SC 1622, Hon'ble Apex Court laid down that the following conditions, which may be called five golden principles or the "punchsheel" of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence, must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

"(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra(') where the following observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say. they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

22. In the case in hand, the prosecution mainly rests its case on the circumstances of last scene together. The doctrine of last seen rests on the logical presumption that where an individual is last seen alive in the close company of an accused, and is soon thereafter found dead, the accused must reasonably account for the circumstances in which they parted ways, as such facts fall particularly within his knowledge. Thus, it rests on the presumption that human behavior follows natural probabilities, and, hence, the person who was last seen with the deceased must be able to explain the facts that resulted in the subsequent death of the deceased.

23. In Rambraksh vs. State of Chhattisgarh, reported in (2016) 12 SCC 251 Hon'ble Apex Court Court observed that the last seen theory applies only when the time gap between the last seen point and the discovery of the death is so small that no one else could have committed the crime. Even then, this circumstance alone is insufficient and the prosecution must establish a complete chain of circumstances proving the accused's guilt. In the said decision, this Court held as under:

"12. It is trite law that a conviction cannot be recorded against the accused merely on the ground that the accused was last seen with the deceased. In other words, a conviction cannot be based on the only circumstance of last seen together. Normally, last seen theory comes into play where the time gap, between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were seen last alive and when the deceased is found dead, is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the perpetrator of the crime becomes impossible. To record a conviction, the last seen together itself would not be sufficient and the prosecution has to complete the chain of circumstances to bring home the guilt of the accused.

24. Further Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Krishnan alias Ramasamy and Others vs. State of Tamil Nadu reported in (2014) 12 SCC 279 while relying on its judgment in Arjun Marik vs. State of Bihar7 observed as follows:

"21. The conviction cannot be based only on circumstance of last seen together with the deceased. In Arjun Marik v. State of Bihar [1994 Supp (2) SCC 372 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 1551] this Court held as follows: (SCC p. 385, para 31) 31. Thus the evidence that the appellant had gone to Sitaram in the evening of 19-7-1985 and had stayed in the night at the house of deceased Sitaram is very shaky and inconclusive. Even if it is accepted that they were there it would at best amount to be the evidence of the appellants having been seen last together with the deceased. But it is settled law that the only circumstance of last seen will not complete the chain of circumstances to record the finding that it is consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and, therefore, no conviction on that basis alone can be founded."

25. In the case of Anand Jakkappa Pujari @ Gaddadar Vs. State of Karnatka reported in 2026 SCC Online SC 716 in paragraph 41 and 42 Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

"41.The last seen theory comes into play where the time gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. Even in such a case, the courts should look for some corroboration.

42. In State of U.P. v. Satish, (2005) 3 SCC 114 2005 SCC (Cri) 642, this Court observed:-

"22. The last-seen theory comes into play where the time-gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In the absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together. it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases. In this case there is positive evidence that the deceased and the accused were seen together by witnesses PWs 3 and 5, in addition to the evidence of PW 2."

26. Here it is expedient to mention that where case is heinous in nature then instrutor of proof is also required to prove the case. In the case of Sujit Biswas vs State Of Assam (2013) 82 ACC page 467, distinguishing the word "may be" and "will be proved" Hon'ble Apex Court was of the view that an accused cannot be punished merely on the basis of suspicion. A conclusive proof to bring home the guilt of accused is required. Observation of the Court may be extract as below:

"Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take the place of proof, and there is a large difference between something that `may be, proved, and something that `will be proved. In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason that the mental distance between `may be 'and `must be' is quite large, and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between `may be true and `must be true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between `may be true and `must be true, the court must maintain the vital distance between mere conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny, based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided, and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense.

27. In view of the above principles and on perusal of the material available on record, it reveals that following chain of the circumstantial evidence is adduced by the prosecution, but that is not worth belief, reason is that:

i) It is alleged that deceased was missing since 04.08.2009 and witnesses of last scene together, namely Rakesh Mishra and Harish Chandra Tiwari saw the deceased amongst the accused persons on motorcycle and as per Rakesh Mishra PW-3, he has informed on the same day, but since 04.08.2009 till 16.08.2009, no missing report was lodged by the complainant side, this fact is admitted to the husband of the deceased Amar Nath Shukla, who is examined as PW-2, that at the time of alleged incident he was present at Haridwar, where he was doing private job and returned from Haridwar on 19.08.2009, then he along with his son and father-in-law identified the dead body of the deceased. While contrary to that son of the informant Anuj Shukla PW-6 has stated that he traced her mother a lot but could not find out, two to three days after the incident one dead body of a woman was found nearby the canal bridge then he identified the dead body on the basis of clothes worn by the deceased, which was his mother's dead body, this cannot be said a minor discrepancy and with regard to this inconsistency, no explanation is given by the prosecution.

ii) Dr. Rajesh Ojha (PW-9), who conducted the autopsy of the deceased, opined that during the external examination of the dead body, the skin was found to have peeled off at many places. There were blisters across the entire body, and maggots were creeping. The right leg had been eaten by animals. In various places on the body, flesh was missing, the sutures of the skull were open, and the body had decomposed and decayed. During the internal examination, the membrane of the brain was found to have liquefied. In the trachea, dust particles were present, and the lungs were filled with water. He further opined that the cause of death of the deceased was drowning in water resulting in asphyxia, and the duration of death was stated to be between 04.08.2009 and 17.08.2009, which may be extended beyond two weeks.

Ramesh Mishra (PW-1) deposed in his cross-examination that the recovered dead body was completely decomposed, to the extent that it could not even be identified whether it was the body of a male or a female. The husband of the deceased, Amar Nath Shukla (PW-2), also deposed that the dead body had become completely decomposed and decayed, making it impossible to ascertain whether it was the body of a male or a female. Furthermore, at the time of identification, the recovered dead body was undressed/naked, thus identification through clothes of the dead body was highly doubtful.

iii) there is a considerable time gap between the last scene and recovery of the alleged dead body of the deceased, therefore, in view of the time gap between the point of time when the accused and deceased were alleged to be seen alive and when the alleged dead body and deceased was found possibility of any other person than accused persons being the author of the crime could not be ruled out.

iv) the other circumstance pertaining to recovery of the necklace (mangalsutra) and mobile phone of the deceased. PW-2 Amar Nath Shukla has stated that one necklace and mobile phone were recovered at the instance of accused Ramkesh and Ramsagar respectively, but this fact was controverted by defence witness Ram Kishore DW-1, who deposed that when he was sitting at his door steps, then police personnel arrived there and asked him the house of Ram Kesh. Thereafter, police personnel went to the house of Ram Kesh and brought the Ram Kesh in their custody and went away. At that time no jewelry was recovered from the house of Ram Kesh. Apart from this fact is also notable that if any personal article of the deceased was missing then till preparation of inquest, nowhere it was narrated neither by the husband of the deceased nor by his son, and this fact is also not mentioned in the FIR, thus recovery of the necklace and mobile has also become doubtful since it is not consonance with the provision contained in Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act.

v) Since the evidence pertaining to the "last seen together" theory was not found credible or cogent, the burden of proof under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act does not shift to the accused persons requiring them to explain how the incident had occurred. Mere suspicion cannot take the place of proof.

28. On close scrutiny, we also find that chain of circumstantial evidence is broken, which is not complete as testimony of the witnesses of facts are not fully reliable since there are not sterling witness. In such view of the matter, we, therefore, find that the prosecution case is not squarely fitted in the doctrine of five golden rules as doctrine propounded by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda (supra). In such view of the matter, we, therefore, find that trail Court has taken possible view of the matter on appreciation of entire evidence on record, which cannot be substituted by this Court taking a different view as per the law discussed above.

29. Accordingly, it is not a case worth granting leave to appeal. The application for granting leave to appeal is rejected.

Re: Government Appeal

1. Consequently, since the Criminal Misc. Application (Leave to Appeal) has been rejected by order of date, the present government appeal is also dismissed.

2. Let record of trial court be sent back to Court concerned along with copy of judgment and order for information.

Criminal Appeal No. 79 of 2026

X Victim/Complainant of FIR No. 68/2019 ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to an appeal by the victim against the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the trial court in a prosecution under Ss. 376 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 - scope of interference by the appellate court with an order of acquittal - whether the appreciation of evidence by the trial court suffered from illegality, manifest error or perversity and whether the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of convincing, plausible, trustworthy and consistent evidence. (Paras 12-18, 31-34)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 376, 506 - Appeal against acquittal - Scope of appellate interference - Legal principle - An appellate court has full power to review, re-appreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which an order of acquittal is founded and may reach its own conclusion on questions of fact and law. However, in case of acquittal, there is a double presumption in favour of the accused and if two reasonable conclusions are possible based on the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal. Where the evaluation and appreciation of evidence by the trial court does not suffer from illegality, manifest error or perversity and the view taken is reasonable and plausible, interference is not warranted. (Paras 12-18, 34)

Criminal Law - Evidence - Appeal against acquittal - Testimony of victim - Sterling witness - The testimony of the victim, around whom the entire sequence of events revolves, is of utmost importance and value. For an eye witness to be believed, the evidence should be of sterling quality, capable of being taken at face value, consistent from the initial statement till the evidence before the court, natural and capable of withstanding cross-examination. Where material contradictions, omissions, improvements and changes occur in the testimony and the version is not supported by other oral, documentary or material evidence, the testimony does not qualify as that of a sterling witness. (Paras 20-24, 26-31)

Criminal Law - Evidence - Medical evidence - Consent - Prosecution case - Minor variations between medical evidence and ocular evidence do not take away the primacy of credible ocular evidence. However, the prosecution must establish its case beyond all reasonable doubts by convincing, plausible, trustworthy and consistent evidence. Material contradictions regarding the manner and date of occurrence, absence of corroborative evidence, non-recovery of the alleged video, material omissions in the first information report and failure to examine relevant witnesses may render the prosecution version insufficient to prove the charges. Where the trial court has taken the best probable view on the evidence and its judgment is not unreasonable, illogical or improbable, no interference with the acquittal is warranted. (Paras 22-34)

Held: An appellate court has full power to review, re-appreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which an order of acquittal is founded and may reach its own conclusion on questions of fact and law - however, in case of acquittal, there is a double presumption in favour of the accused and the presumption of innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court - the appellate court should not disturb an acquittal where two reasonable conclusions are possible on the evidence on record and where the evaluation and appreciation of evidence by the trial court does not suffer from illegality, manifest error or perversity and the main grounds on which it has based its finding are reasonable and plausible - the testimony of the victim was of utmost importance and value but the victim did not qualify the test of a sterling witness - material contradictions were found regarding the manner in which she reached the place of occurrence, the alleged repeated rape, the alleged video recording and blackmailing, the date and manner of her taking away and the allegations relating to trafficking - the alleged video was neither found in possession of the accused nor circulated and no evidence of the alleged video was found during investigation - the prosecution failed to produce corroborative evidence regarding the alleged journey from the place of occurrence to Delhi and failed to examine the persons with whom the victim allegedly returned home - the father of the victim was a hearsay witness and his evidence was of negligible value - the defence plea was not proved as per law but the burden remained upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubts by convincing, plausible, trustworthy and consistent evidence - the prosecution failed to discharge that burden - the trial court had taken the best probable view and its judgment was not unreasonable, illogical or improbable - no interference was warranted with the judgment and order of acquittal and the appeal was dismissed. (Paras 12-18, 20-34) (E-7)

Case Arising From

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Criminal Appeal No. 79 of 2026, preferred by the victim/complainant against the judgment and order dated 12.03.2026 passed by the Additional District and Session Judge, Fast Track Court, Unnao in Sessions Trial No. 686 of 2020, arising out of Crime No. 68 of 2019, Police Station Bihar, District Unnao, whereby the accused was acquitted of the charges under Ss. 376 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:
Shri Abhishek Kumar
Advs. for the Respondents:
Learned A.G.A. appearing for respondent No.1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Babita Rani, J.)

1. Heard Shri Abhishek Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant and learned A.G.A. appearing for the respondent No.1.

2. This order shall dispose of the aforementioned appeal which has been preferred by victim of the case against the judgement and order dated 12.03.2026, passed by Additional District and Session Judge, fast track court, Unnao in Sessions Trial No. 686 of 2020, arising out of Crime No.68 of 2019, Police Station - Bihar, District - Unnao, In re; State vs. Hitender Pratap Singh @ Gaurav Kumar whereby the respondent no.2 (hereinafter referred to as 'accused') has been acquitted of the charges under Section 376, 506 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC' for brevity).

3. Brief facts of the case relevant for the purpose of disposal of this appeal are that on 16.02.2019, the victim (name has not been disclosed to conceal her identity and herein after referred as victim) moved an application to the police station to register the first information report against the accused with the allegations that on 18.01.2019 at around 01:00 P.M., when she was going towards her fields, the accused who was already present in the mustard field, dragged her and forcibly committed rape upon her. When she opposed and stated to report the incident at her home, the accused threatened to make the recorded video go viral to all the groups and under the guise of video threatened her to do as per his instructions and on several occasions, committed rape. She didn't tell anyone about the incident out of the fear. It has further been alleged that on 20.01.2019, sister of accused namely Deepika came to her house and told that she has been called by her brother and both of them left. On the way, she met the accused having a motorcycle and was asked to sit on the bike. Out of fear, she sat on it and was taken to Lal Kuan Tiraha, Police Station Bighapur, District Unnao, and made to sit inside a vehicle namely a Magic Van wherein a woman, namely Anjali was already seated, and was further taken to Kanpur railway station. At the said railway station, two unknown persons met and all of them set off for Ghaziabad railway station. It has been alleged that from the suspicious conversation between two unknown persons and the woman namely Anjali, she came to know that she has been fallen prey of conspiracy of her trafficking and on finding an opportunity, she informed her family through the phone of a passenger. Accordingly, on an information, the cousin of victim along with his acquaintances reached railway station. Seeing them approaching, Anjali and two unknown persons quit the train. In this way, victim managed to rescue herself and came back home along with her cousin and his acquaintance on 15.02.2019. Had her cousin not reached timely, she would have been sold or forced into prostitution. With the aforesaid allegations, she submitted typed application under her signature to register the case against the accused and his accomplice.

4. On the basis of the written tehrir, the first information report bearing number 68/2019 was registered against accused in Police Station Bihar, under Section 376/506/120-B of IPC.

5. Investigation was carried out by PW6 Sub Inspector Dinesh Kumar Mishra. During investigation, he recorded the statement of victim and other factual witnesses as well as police witnesses. The medical examination of the victim was got conducted and medical report was collected and statement of doctor concerned was recorded. The victim was also produced before the magistrate concerned for recording her statement and after taking permission of the court, perused the same and made the relevant entry in the case diary. Thereafter, the investigation was transferred to Senior Sub- Inspector Gaurav Kumar PW7, who carried out the investigation further. Again the investigation was handed over to PW5 Sub-Inspector Mor Mukut Pandey, who after completing entire investigation and its formalities and finding out prima facie incriminatory evidence only against the accused under section 376/506 of IPC, submitted the charge sheet before the court concerned who after taking the cognizance of the offence, committed the case for trial to the court of session. Learned trial court framed the charges against the accused in the aforementioned sections, to which the accused pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

6. The prosecution opened its case and examined as many as two factual witnesses i.e. victim as PW1 and her father as PW2. Both the witnesses corroborated the incident, and its place, date and time. PW3, Dr. Geeta Agrawal, who conducted the medico legal examination of the victim and prepared the report Ex. Ka.4 indicated the age of victim about 19 years and found, the hymen old and torn and no external injury in her internal parts. As per this witness, no opinion of rape could be given. PW4 Head Constable Ajay Kumar Maurya deposed that on the basis of written application moved by the victim, he registered the first information report and corresponding entry of first information report in general diary. PW5 Sub-Inspector Mor Mukat Pandey deposed that after taking over the investigation by the administrative order of superior, he endeavoured to arrest the accused and consequently arrested him in front of his house on 10.08.2020 vide arrest memo Ex. Ka.7 and after completing all the formalities, filed charge sheet against the accused under section 376/506 IPC. PW6 Sub-Inspector Dinesh Kumar Mishra, who is the first investigating officer, corroborated the fact of registration of first information report in his presence. He further deposed that after taking over the investigation, he prepared the site plan Ex. Ka.9 and recorded the statements of witnesses as well as produced the victim before the magistrate for recording her statement under section 164 Cr.P.C and perusal of same with the prior permission of learned Magistrate. PW7 Gaurav Kumar, Senior Sub-Inspector, who was second Investigating Officer took over the investigation vide administrative order and investigated the case accordingly. The complicity of Deepika and Anjali was not found in the commission of any offence they had been charged with. With the above prosecution witnesses, the prosecution closed its evidence.

7. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, the statement of accused was recorded under section 313 of CRPC, in which the accused stated his false implication due to animosity. Accused challenged the allegations on the ground that at the time of alleged incident, he was not present at the spot rather was in Prayagraj, which is about 200 km away from the place of incident. He further submitted that a false and manipulated story was pressed into service by victim only to pressurise him in exercise of patent abuse of law.

8. After recording his statement, an opportunity was given to adduce the evidence oral as well as documentary in support of his defence. In documentary evidence, he filed the call record details issued by BSNL against his mobile no. 9935881641, information issued by the railways regarding the train, documents relating to the his examination in air force. However, no ocular evidence was adduced.

9. Learned trial court after hearing the arguments advanced by both the parties and considering the facts, circumstances and evidence available on record, passed the impugned order and judgement acquitting the accused from the charges levelled against him. The victim, being aggrieved, has filed the instant appeal.

10. While pressing the appeal, learned counsel for victim submitted that the acquittal of accused vide impugned order and judgement, has resulted in substantial injustice and illegality and the judgement has been passed ignoring the evidence available on the record. It is contended that the impugned judgement is patent miscarriage of justice and the accused has been granted benefit of doubt considering the minor contradictions in the evidence of PW1 and PW2 while heavily relying upon the defence of the accused, which is erroneous and tantamounts to grave miscarriage of justice. The victim, who is the star witness of the case, along with her father has established the prosecution story to the hilt that accused committed rape and recorded the incident in the video and when she expressed her strong protest, she was put in fear to viral the video on all the groups and on account of the video, she was raped by accused and blackmailed by him and her sister. PW2 father of the victim also lends support to her statement, therefore, the victim has proved herself as a sterling witness and remained steadfast in her statement from beginning to end. The investigating officers also supported the prosecution story and no contradiction or inconsistency, as such was brought out on record to disbelieve the story, rather looking into the entire prosecution evidence as a whole, the only irresistible conclusion is that an offence of rape has been proved against the accused beyond reasonable doubt, but learned trial court, repelling, ignoring and ultimately disbelieving the evidence of the best witness of the case, reached on an unjustified and unreasonable conclusion and recorded non speaking findings rendering benefit of doubt to accused and passed impugned order and judgment of acquittal, therefore, the same is required to be interfered by this court by admitting the instant appeal. Concluding the arguments, it has been stated that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt to its chapter and verses, therefore, impugned order and judgement is bad in the eyes of law and deserves to be set aside.

11. We have heard the arguments of the state and perused the record minutely and meticulously.

12. Before adverting to the facts of the instant case, it may be beneficial to refer to the following pronouncements which deal with the scope of interference with a judgment of acquittal at the appellate stage. In the landmark judgment of Suraj Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh,

Criminal Appeal No. 1072 of 2004, Hon'ble Supreme Court while dealing with an appeal pertaining to an acquittal, considered and clarified the legal position as below:-

"5. ....Section 378 confers power on the State to present an appeal to the High Court from an order of acquittal. The said section is material and may be quoted in extenso:

"378. Appeal in case of acquittal.?(1) Save as otherwise provided in sub-section (2) and subject to the provisions of sub-sections (3) and (5), the State Government may, in any case, direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal to the High Court from an original or appellate order of acquittal passed by any court other than a High Court, or an order of acquittal passed by the Court of Session in revision.

(2) If such an order of acquittal is passed in any case in which the offence has been investigated by the Delhi Special Police Establishment constituted under the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946 (25 of 1946), or by any other agency empowered to make investigation into an offence under any Central Act other than this Code, the Central Government may also direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), to the High Court from the order of acquittal.

(3) No appeal under sub-section (1) or sub- section (2) shall be entertained except with the leave of the High Court.

(4) If such an order of acquittal is passed in any case instituted upon complaint and the High Court, on an application made to it by the complainant in this behalf, grants special leave to appeal from the order of acquittal, the complainant may present such an appeal to the High Court.

(5) No application under sub-section (4) for the grant of special leave to appeal from an order of acquittal shall be entertained by the High Court after the expiry of six months, where the complainant is a public servant, and sixty days in every other case, computed from the date of that order of acquittal.

(6) If, in any case, the application under sub- section (4) for the grant of special leave to appeal from an order of acquittal is refused, no appeal from that order of acquittal shall lie under sub-section (1) or under sub-section (2).

6. Whereas Sections 379-380 cover special cases of appeals, other sections lay down procedure to be followed by appellate courts.

7. It may be stated that more or less similar provisions were found in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereinafter referred to as "the old Code") which came up for consideration before various High Courts, Judicial Committee of the Privy Council as also before this Court. Since in the present appeal, we have been called upon to decide the ambit and scope of the power of an appellate court in an appeal against an order of acquittal, we have confined ourselves to one aspect only i.e. an appeal against an order of acquittal.

8. Bare reading of Section 378 of the present Code (appeal in case of acquittal) quoted above, makes it clear that no restrictions have been imposed by the legislature on the powers of the appellate court in dealing with appeals against acquittal. When such an appeal is filed, the High Court has full power to re-appreciate, review and reconsider the evidence at large, the material on which the order of acquittal is founded and to reach its own conclusions on such evidence. Both questions of fact and of law are open to determination by the High Court in an appeal against an order of acquittal.

9. It cannot, however, be forgotten that in case of acquittal, there is a double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person should be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved to be guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured an acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is certainly not weakened but reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

10. Though the above principles are well established, a different note was struck in several decisions by various High Courts and even by this Court. It is, therefore, appropriate if we consider some of the leading decisions on the point.

11. The first important decision was rendered by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in Sheo Swarup v. R. Emperor (1934) 61 IA 398). In Sheo Swarup the accused were acquitted by the trial court and the local Government directed the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal to the High Court from an order of acquittal under Section 417 of the old Code (similar to Section 378 of the present Code). At the time of hearing of appeal before the High Court, it was contended on behalf of the accused that in an appeal from an order of acquittal, it was not open to the appellate court to interfere with the findings of fact recorded by the trial Judge unless such findings could not have been reached by him had there not been some perversity or incompetence on his part. The High Court, however, declined to accept the said view. It held that no condition was imposed on the High Court in such appeal. It accordingly reviewed all the evidence in the case and having formed an opinion of its weight and reliability different from that of the trial Judge, recorded an order of conviction. A petition was presented to His Majesty in Council for leave to appeal on the ground that conflicting views had been expressed by the High Courts in different parts of India upon the question whether in an appeal from an order of acquittal, an appellate court had the power to interfere with the findings of fact recorded by the trial Judge. Their Lordships thought it fit to clarify the legal position and accordingly upon the "humble advice of their Lordships", leave was granted by His Majesty. The case was, thereafter, argued. The Committee considered the scheme and interpreting Section 417 of the Code (old Code) observed that there was no indication in the Code of any limitation or restriction on the High Court in exercise of powers as an Appellate Tribunal. The Code also made no distinction as regards powers of the High Court in dealing with an appeal against acquittal and an appeal against conviction. Though several authorities were cited revealing different views by the High Courts dealing with an appeal from an order of acquittal, the Committee did not think it proper to discuss all the cases.

12. Lord Russel summed up the legal position thus:

"There is, in their opinion, no foundation for the view, apparently supported by the judgments of some courts in India, that the High Court has no power or jurisdiction to reverse an order of acquittal on a matter of fact, except in cases in which the lower court has 'obstinately blundered', or has 'through incompetence, stupidity or perversity' reached such 'distorted conclusions as to produce a positive miscarriage of justice', or has in some other way so conducted or misconducted itself as to produce a glaring miscarriage of justice, or has been tricked by the defence so as to produce a similar result."

13.His Lordship, then proceeded to observe: (IA p.404)

"Sections 417, 418 and 423 of the Code give to the High Court full power to review at large the evidence upon which the order of acquittal was founded, and to reach the conclusion that upon that evidence the order of acquittal should be reversed. No limitation should be placed upon that power, unless it be found expressly stated in the Code."

14. The Committee, however, cautioned appellate courts and stated: (IA p.404)

"But in exercising the power conferred by the Code and before reaching its conclusions upon fact, the High Court should and will always give proper weight and consideration to such matters as (1) the views of the trial Judge as to the credibility of the witnesses; (2) the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused, a presumption certainly not weakened by the fact that he has been acquitted at his trial; (3) the right of the accused to the benefit of any doubt; and (4) the slowness of an appellate court in disturbing a finding of fact arrived at by a judge who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses.

To state this, however, is only to say that the High Court in its conduct of the appeal should and will act in accordance with rules and principles well known and recognised in the administration of justice."

15. In Nur Mohd. v. Emperor (AIR 1945 PC 151), the Committee reiterated the above view in Sheo Swarup (Supra) and held that in an appeal against acquittal, the High Court has full powers to review and to reverse acquittal.

16. So far as this Court is concerned, probably the first decision on the point was Prandas v. State (AIR 1954 SC 36) (though the case was decided on 14-3- 1950, it was reported only in 1954). In that case, the accused was acquitted by the trial court. The Provincial Government preferred an appeal which was allowed and the accused was convicted for offences punishable under Sections 302 and 323 IPC. The High Court, for convicting the accused, placed reliance on certain eyewitnesses.

17. Upholding the decision of the High Court and following the proposition of law in Sheo Swarup (supra), a six-Judge Bench held as follows:

"6. It must be observed at the very outset that we cannot support the view which has been expressed in several cases that the High Court has no power under Section 417, Criminal Procedure Code, to reverse a judgment of acquittal, unless the judgment is perverse or the subordinate court has in some way or other misdirected itself so as to produce a miscarriage of justice."

(emphasis supplied)

18. In Surajpal Singh v. State (1952 SCR 193), a two-Judge Bench observed that it was well established that in an appeal under Section 417 of the (old) Code, the High Court had full power to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal was founded. But it was equally well settled that the presumption of innocence of the accused was further reinforced by his acquittal by the trial court, and the findings of the trial court which had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and hearing their evidence could be reversed only for very substantial and compelling reasons.

19. In Ajmer Singh v. State of Punjab (1953 SCR 418) the accused was acquitted by the trial court but was convicted by the High Court in an appeal against acquittal filed by the State. The aggrieved accused approached this Court. It was contended by him that there were "no compelling reasons" for setting aside the order of acquittal and due and proper weight had not been given by the High Court to the opinion of the trial court as regards the credibility of witnesses seen and examined. It was also commented that the High Court committed an error of law in observing that "when a strong 'prima facie' case is made out against an accused person it is his duty to explain the circumstances appearing in evidence against him and he cannot take shelter behind the presumption of innocence and cannot state that the law entitles him to keep his lips sealed."

20. Upholding the contention, this Court said:

"We think this criticism is well founded. After an order of acquittal has been made the presumption of innocence is further reinforced by that order, and that being so, the trial court's decision can be reversed not on the ground that the accused had failed to explain the circumstances appearing against him but only for very substantial and compelling reasons."

(emphasis supplied)

21. In Atley v. State of U.P. (AIR 1955 SC 807) this Court said:

"In our opinion, it is not correct to say that unless the appellate court in an appeal under Section 417, Criminal Procedure Code came to the conclusion that the judgment of acquittal under appeal was perverse it could not set aside that order. It has been laid down by this Court that it is open to the High Court on an appeal against an order of acquittal to review the entire evidence and to come to its own conclusion, of course, keeping in view the well-established rule that the presumption of innocence of the accused is not weakened but strengthened by the judgment of acquittal passed by the trial court which had the advantage of observing the demeanour of witnesses whose evidence have been recorded in its presence. It is also well settled that the court of appeal has as wide powers of appreciation of evidence in an appeal against an order of acquittal as in the case of an appeal against an order of conviction, subject to the riders that the presumption of innocence with which the accused person starts in the trial court continues even up to the appellate stage and that the appellate court should attach due weight to the opinion of the trial court which recorded the order of acquittal. If the appellate court reviews the evidence, keeping those principles in mind, and comes to a contrary conclusion, the judgment cannot be said to have been vitiated."

22. In Aher Raja Khima v. State of Saurashtra (1955) 2 SCR 1285) the accused was prosecuted under Sections 302 and 447 IPC. He was acquitted by the trial court but convicted by the High Court. Dealing with the power of the High Court against an order of acquittal, Bose, J. speaking for the majority (2:1) stated: (AIR p. 220, para 1) "It is, in our opinion, well settled that it is not enough for the High Court to take a different view of the evidence; there must also be substantial and compelling reasons for holding that the trial court was wrong."

(emphasis supplied)

23. In Sanwat Singh v. State of Rajasthan (1961) 3 SCR 120, a three-Judge Bench considered almost all leading decisions on the point and observed that there was no difficulty in applying the principles laid down by the Privy Council and accepted by the Supreme Court. The Court, however, noted that appellate courts found considerable difficulty in understanding the scope of the words "substantial and compelling reasons" used in certain decisions. It was observed inter-alia as follows:

"This Court obviously did not and could not add a condition to Section 417 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The words were intended to convey the idea that an appellate court not only shall bear in mind the principles laid down by the Privy Council but also must give its clear reasons for coming to the conclusion that the order of acquittal was wrong."

The Court concluded as follows:

"9. The foregoing discussion yields the following results: (1) an appellate court has full power to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded; (2) the principles laid down in Sheo Swarup case afford a correct guide for the appellate court's approach to a case in disposing of such an appeal; and (3) the different phraseology used in the judgments of this Court, such as,(i)'substantial and compelling reasons',(ii)'good and sufficiently cogent reasons',and (iii) 'strong reasons' are not intended to curtail the undoubted power of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal to review the entire evidence and to come to its own conclusion; but in doing so it should not only consider every matter on record having a bearing on the questions of fact and the reasons given by the court below in support of its order of acquittal in its arriving at a conclusion on those facts, but should also express those reasons in its judgment, which lead it to hold that the acquittal was not justified."

24. Again, in M.G. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra (1963) 2 SCR 405, the point was raised before a Constitution Bench of thisCourt. Taking note of earlier decisions, it was observed as follows:

"17. In some of the earlier decisions of this Court, however, in emphasising the importance of adopting a cautious approach in dealing with appeals against acquittals, it was observed that the presumption of innocence is reinforced by the order of acquittal and so, 'the findings of the trial court which had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and hearing their evidence can be reversed only for very substantial and compelling reasons': vide Surajpal Singh v. State (1952 SCR, 193). Similarly in Ajmer Singh v. State of Punjab (1953 SCR 418), it was observed that the interference of the High Court in an appeal against the order of acquittal would be justified only if there are 'very substantial and compelling reasons to do so'. In some other decisions, it has been stated that an order of acquittal can be reversed only for 'good and sufficiently cogent reasons' or for 'strong reasons'. In appreciating the effect of these observations, it must be remembered that these observations were not intended to lay down a rigid or inflexible rule which should govern the decision of the High Court in appeals against acquittals. They were not intended, and should not be read to have intended to introduce an additional condition in clause (a) of Section 423(1) of the Code. All that the said observations are intended to emphasize is that the approach of the High Court in dealing with an appeal against acquittal ought to be cautious because as Lord Russell observed in Sheo Swarup the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused 'is not certainly weakened by the fact that he has been acquitted at his trial'. Therefore, the test suggested by the expression 'substantial and compelling reasons' should not be construed as a formula which has to be rigidly applied in every case. That is the effect of the recent decisions of this Court, for instance, in Sanwat Singh v. State of Rajasthan and Harbans Singh vs. State of Punjab (1962 Supp. 1 SCR 104) and so, it is not necessary that before reversing a judgment of acquittal, the High Court must necessarily characterise the findings recorded therein as perverse."

(emphasis supplied)

25. Yet in another leading decision in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra (1973 (2) SCC 793) this Court held that in India, there is no jurisdictional limitation on the powers of appellate court. "In law there are no fetters on the plenary power of the appellate court to review the whole evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded and, indeed, it has a duty to scrutinise the probative material de novo, informed, however, by the weighty thought that the rebuttable innocence attributed to the accused having been converted into an acquittal the homage our jurisprudence owes to individual liberty constrains the higher court not to upset the holding without very convincing reasons and comprehensive consideration."

26. Putting emphasis on balance between importance of individual liberty and evil of acquitting guilty persons, this Court observed as follows:

"6. Even at this stage we may remind ourselves of a necessary social perspective in criminal cases which suffers from insufficient forensic appreciation. The dangers of exaggerated devotion to the rule of benefit of doubt at the expense of social defence and to the soothing sentiment that all acquittals are always good regardless of justice to the victim and the community, demand especial emphasis in the contemporary context of escalating crime and escape. The judicial instrument has a public accountability. The cherished principles or golden thread of proof beyond reasonable doubt which runs through the web of our law should not be stretched morbidly to embrace every hunch, hesitancy and degree of doubt. The excessive solicitude reflected in the attitude that a thousand guilty men may go but one innocent martyr shall not suffer is a false dilemma. Only reasonable doubts belong to the accused. Otherwise any practical system of justice will then breakdown and lose credibility with the community. The evil of acquitting a guilty person light- heartedly, as a learned author (Glanville Williams in Proof of Guilt) has saliently observed, goes much beyond the simple fact that just one guilty person has gone unpunished. If unmerited acquittals become general, they tend to lead to a cynical disregard of the law, and this in turn leads to a public demand for harsher legal presumptions against indicted 'persons' and more severe punishment of those who are found guilty. Thus, too frequent acquittals of the guilty may lead to a ferocious penal law, eventually eroding the judicial protection of the guiltless. For all these reasons it is true to say, with Viscount Simon, that 'a miscarriage of justice may arise from the acquittal of the guilty no less than from the conviction of the innocent....' In short, our jurisprudential enthusiasm for presumed innocence must be moderated by the pragmatic need to make criminal justice potent and realistic. A balance has to be struck between chasing chance possibilities as good enough to set the delinquent free and chopping the logic of preponderant probability to punish marginal innocents."

27. In K. Gopal Reddy v. State of A.P (1979) 1 SCC 355, the Court was considering the power of the High Court against an order of acquittal under Section 378 of the present Code. After considering the relevant decisions on the point it was stated as follows:

"9. The principles are now well settled. At one time it was thought that an order of acquittal could be set aside for 'substantial and compelling reasons' only and courts used to launch on a search to discover those 'substantial and compelling reasons'. However, the 'formulae' of 'substantial and compelling reasons','good and sufficiently cogent reasons' and 'strong reasons' and the search for them were abandoned as a result of the pronouncement of this Court in Sanwat Singh v. State of Rajasthan (1961) 3 SCR. In Sanwat Singh case this Court harked back to the principles enunciated by the Privy Council in Sheo Swarup v. R. Emperor and reaffirmed those principles. After Sanwat Singh v. State of Rajasthan, this Court has consistently recognised the right of the appellate court to review the entire evidence and to come to its own conclusion bearing in mind the considerations mentioned by the Privy Council in Sheo Swarup case. Occasionally phrases like 'manifestly illegal', 'grossly unjust', have been used to describe the orders of acquittal which warrant interference. But, such expressions have been used more as flourishes of language, to emphasise the reluctance of the appellate court to interfere with an order of acquittal than to curtail the power of the appellate court to review the entire evidence and to come to its own conclusion. In some cases (Ramaphupala Reddy v. State of A.P., (AIR 1971 SC 460) Bhim Singh Rup Singh v. State of Maharashtra (AIR 1974 SC 286), it has been said that to the principles laid down in Sanwat Singh case may be added the further principle that 'if two reasonable conclusions can be reached on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of the trial court'. This, of course, is not a new principle. It stems out of the fundamental principle of our criminal jurisprudence that the accused is entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt. If two reasonably probable and evenly balanced views of the evidence are possible, one must necessarily concede the existence of a reasonable doubt. But, fanciful and remote possibilities must be left out of account. To entitle an accused person to the benefit of a doubt arising from the possibility of a duality of views, the possible view in favour of the accused must be as nearly reasonably probable as that against him. If the preponderance of probability is all one way, a bare possibility of another view will not entitle the accused to claim the benefit of any doubt. It is, therefore, essential that any view of the evidence in favour of the accused must be reasonable even as any doubt, the benefit of which an accused person may claim, must be reasonable."

28. In Ramesh Babulal Doshi v. State of Gujarat (1996) 9 SCC, 225, this Court said:

"While sitting in judgment over an acquittal the appellate court is first required to seek an answer to the question whether the findings of the trial court are palpably wrong, manifestly erroneous or demonstrably unsustainable. If the appellate court answers the above question in the negative the order of acquittal is not to be disturbed. Conversely, if the appellate court holds, for reasons to be recorded, that the order of acquittal cannot at all be sustained in view of any of the above infirmities it can then- and then only-reappraise the evidence to arrive at its own conclusions."

29. In Allarakha K. Mansuri v. State of Gujarat (2002) 3 SCC 57, referring to earlier decisions, the Court stated:

"7. The paramount consideration of the court should be to avoid miscarriage of justice. A miscarriage of justice which may arise from the acquittal of guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. In a case where the trial court has taken a view based upon conjectures and hypothesis and not on the legal evidence, a duty is cast upon the High Court to re-appreciate the evidence in acquittal appeal for the purposes of ascertaining as to whether the accused has committed any offence or not. Probable view taken by the trial court which may not be disturbed in the appeal is such a view which is based upon legal and admissible evidence. Only because the accused has been acquitted by the trial court, cannot be made a basis to urge that the High Court under all circumstances should not disturb such a finding."

30. In Bhagwan Singh v. State of M.P. (2002) 4 SCC 85, the trial court acquitted the accused but the High Court convicted them. Negativing the contention of the appellants that the High Court could not have disturbed the findings of fact of the trial court even if that view was not correct, this Court observed:

"7. We do not agree with the submissions of the learned counsel for the appellants that under Section 378 of the Code of Criminal Procedure the High Court could not disturb the finding of facts of the trial court even if it found that the view taken by the trial court was not proper. On the basis of the pronouncements of this Court, the settled position of law regarding the powers of the High Court in an appeal against an order of acquittal is that the Court has full powers to review the evidence upon which an order of acquittal is based and generally it will not interfere with the order of acquittal because by passing an order of acquittal the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced. The golden thread which runs through the web of administration of justice in criminal case is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. Such is not a jurisdiction limitation on the appellate court but judge-made guidelines for circumspection. The paramount consideration of the court is to ensure that miscarriage of justice is avoided. A miscarriage of justice which may arise from the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. In a case where the trial court has taken a view ignoring the admissible evidence, a duty is cast upon the High Court to re- appreciate the evidence in acquittal appeal for the purposes of ascertaining as to whether all or any of the accused has committed any offence or not".

31. In Harijana Thirupala v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P. (2002) 6 SCC 470, this Court said:

"12. Doubtless the High Court in appeal either against an order of acquittal or conviction as a court of first appeal has full power to review the evidence to reach its own independent conclusion. However, it will not interfere with an order of acquittal lightly or merely because one other view is possible, because with the passing of an order of acquittal presumption of innocence in favour of the accused gets reinforced and strengthened. The High Court would not be justified to interfere with order of acquittal merely because it feels that sitting as a trial court it would have proceeded to record a conviction; a duty is cast on the High Court while reversing an order of acquittal to examine and discuss the reasons given by the trial court to acquit the accused and then to dispel those reasons. If the High Court fails to make such an exercise the judgment will suffer from serious infirmity."

32. In Ramanand Yadav v. Prabhu Nath Jha (2003) 12 SCC 606, this Court observed:

"21. There is no embargo on the appellate court reviewing the evidence upon which an order of acquittal is based. Generally, the order of acquittal shall not be interfered with because the presumption of innocence of the accused is further strengthened by acquittal. The golden thread which runs through the web of administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. The paramount consideration of the court is to ensure that miscarriage of justice is prevented. A miscarriage of justice which may arise from acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. In a case where admissible evidence is ignored, a duty is cast upon the appellate court to re-appreciate the evidence in a case where the accused has been acquitted, for the purpose of ascertaining as to whether any of the accused committed any offence or not".

33. Again in Kallu v. State of M.P. (2006) 10 SCC 313, this Court stated:-

"8. While deciding an appeal against acquittal, the power of the appellate court is no less than the power exercised while hearing appeals against conviction. In both types of appeals, the power exists to review the entire evidence. However, one significant difference is that an order of acquittal will not be interfered with, by an appellate court, where the judgment of the trial court is based on evidence and the view taken is reasonable and plausible. It will not reverse the decision of the trial court merely because a different view is possible. The appellate court will also bear in mind that there is a presumption of innocence in favour of the accused and the accused is entitled to get the benefit of any doubt. Further if it decides to interfere, it should assign reasons for differing with the decision of the trial court."

(emphasis supplied)

34. From the above decisions, in Chandrappa and Ors. v. State of Karnataka (2007 (4) SCC 415), the following general principles regarding powers of the appellate court while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal were culled out:

(1) An appellate court has full power to review, re-appreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(2) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 puts no limitation, restriction or condition on exercise of such power and an appellate court on the evidence before it may reach its own conclusion, both on questions of fact and of law.

(3) Various expressions, such as, "substantial and compelling reasons", "good and sufficient grounds", "very strong circumstances","distorted conclusions", "glaring mistakes", etc. are not intended to curtail extensive powers of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal. Such phraseologies are more in the nature of "flourishes of language" to emphasise the reluctance of an appellate court to interfere with acquittal than to curtail the power of the court to review the evidence and to come to its own conclusion.

(4) An appellate court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

(5) If two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court.

35. A person has, no doubt, a profound right not to be convicted of an offence which is not established by the evidential standard of proof beyond reasonable doubt. Though this standard is a higher standard, there is, however, no absolute standard. What degree of probability amounts to "proof" is an exercise particular to each case. Referring to the interdependence of evidence and the confirmation of one piece of evidence by another, a learned author says [see "The Mathematics of Proof II": Glanville Williams, Criminal Law Review, 1979, by Sweet and Maxwell, p.340 (342)]: "The simple multiplication rule does not apply if the separate pieces of evidence are dependent. Two events are dependent when they tend to occur together, and the evidence of such events may also be said to be dependent. In a criminal case, different pieces of evidence directed to establishing that the defendant did the prohibited act with the specified state of mind are generally dependent. A junior may feel doubt whether to credit an alleged confession, and doubt whether to infer guilt from the fact that the defendant fled from justice. But since it is generally guilty rather than innocent people who make confessions, and guilty rather than innocent people who run away, the two doubts are not to be multiplied together. The one piece of evidence may confirm the other."

36. Doubts would be called reasonable if they are free from a zest for abstract speculation. Law cannot afford any favourite other than truth. To constitute reasonable doubt, it must be free from an overemotional response. Doubts must be actual and substantial doubts as to the guilt of the accused persons arising from the evidence, or from the lack of it, as opposed to mere vague apprehensions. A reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely possible doubt, but a fair doubt based upon reason and common sense. It must grow out of the evidence in the case.

37. The concepts of probability, and the degrees of it, cannot obviously be expressed in terms of units to be mathematically enumerated as to how many of such units constitute proof beyond reasonable doubt. There is an unmistakable subjective element in the evaluation of the degrees of probability and the quantum of proof. Forensic probability must, in the last analysis, rest on a robust common sense and, ultimately, on the trained intuitions of the Judge. While the protection given by the criminal process to the accused persons is not to be eroded, at the same time, uninformed legitimzation of trivialities would make a mockery of administration of criminal justice. This position was illuminatingly stated by Venkatachaliah, J. (as His Lordship then was) in State of U.P. v. Krishna Gopal (1988 (4) SCC 302).

38. The above position was highlighted in Krishnan and Anr. v. State represented by Inspector of Police (2003 (7) SCC 56).

39. So far as discrepancy between ocular evidence and medical evidence is concerned, this Court in Kamaljit Singh v. State of Punjab (2003 (12) SCC 155) observed as under:

"It is trite law that minor variations between medical evidence and ocular evidence do not take away the primacy of the latter. Unless medical evidence in its term goes so far as to completely rule out all possibilities whatsoever of injuries taking place in the manner stated by the eyewitnesses, the testimony of the eyewitnesses cannot be thrown out. (See Solanki Chimanbhai Ukabhai v. State of Gujarat (1983 (2) SCC 174). The position was illuminatingly and exhaustively reiterated in State of U.P. v. Krishna Gopal (1988 (4) SCC 302).When the acquittal by the trial court was found to be on the basis of unwarranted assumptions and manifestly erroneous appreciation of evidence by ignoring valuable and credible evidence resulting in serious and substantial miscarriage of justice, the High Court cannot in this case be found fault with for its well-merited interference."

40. Coming to the plea that the medical evidence is at variance with ocular evidence, it has to be noted that it would be erroneous to accord undue primacy to the hypothetical answers of medical witnesses to exclude the eyewitnesses' account which had to be tested independently and not treated as the "variable" keeping the medical evidence as the "constant". 41. It is trite that where the eyewitnesses' account is found credible and trustworthy, medical opinion pointing to alternative possibilities is not accepted as conclusive. Witnesses, as Bentham said, are the eyes and ears of justice. Hence the importance and primacy of the quality of the trial process. Eyewitnesses' account would require a careful independent assessment and evaluation for its credibility which should not be adversely prejudged making any other evidence, including medical evidence, as the sole touchstone for the test of such credibility. The evidence must be tested for its inherent consistency and the inherent probability of the story; consistency with the account of other witnesses held to be creditworthy; consistency with the undisputed facts, the "credit" of the witnesses; their performance in the witness box; their power of observation etc. Then the probative value of such evidence becomes eligible to be put into the scales for a cumulative evaluation."

13. This legal position is reiterated in Govindaraju alias Govinda v. State (2012) 4 SCC 722 and the following passage therefrom needs to be extracted:

13. Under the scheme of CrPC, acquittal confers rights on an accused that of a free citizen. A benefit that has accrued to an accused by the judgment of acquittal can be taken away and he can be convicted on appeal, only when the judgment of the trial court is perverse on facts or law. Upon examination of the evidence before it, the appellate court should be fully convinced that the findings returned by the trial court are really erroneous and contrary to the settled principles of criminal law."

14. In Jafarudheen vs State Of Kerala, (2022) 8 SCC 440, the Hon'ble Supreme Court made the following observations:

"25. While dealing with an appeal against acquittal by invoking Section 378 of the Cr.PC, the Appellate Court has to consider whether the Trial Court's view can be termed as a possible one, particularly when evidence on record has been analyzed. The reason is that an order of acquittal adds up to the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused. Thus, the Appellate Court has to be relatively slow in reversing the order of the Trial Court rendering acquittal. Therefore, the presumption in favour of the accused does not get weakened but only strengthened. Such a double presumption that enures in favour of the accused has to be disturbed only by thorough scrutiny on the accepted legal parameters."

15. In Rajpal Singh v. Rajveer & Others; 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2823, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that even where the appellate court re-appreciates the evidence while dealing with a judgment and order of acquittal, the innocence attributed to the accused acquitted from the charges of offences would be a weighty rebuttable factor. The relevant paragraph 9.2 is extracted here-in-below:

"9.2 It is a well-settled principle enunciated by series of judgments of this Court that there must exist "substantial and compelling reasons" to upset the acquittal. Once the court acquits the accused, the presumption of innocence is reinforced. Thereafter, the interference by the appellate court would be minimal and has to be guided by strong and cogent reasons. Reversal of acquittal should not be a matter of course just because the other view is considered to be possible by the appellate court. Even when the appellate court re-appreciates the evidence while dealing with the judgment and order of acquittal, the innocence attributed to the accused acquitted from the charges of offences would be a weighty rebuttable factor."

16. As per the law laid down as mentioned above, generally the order of acquittal passed by the court shall not be interfered with because the presumption of innocence of accused is further strengthened by acquittal and it is to be interfered only when there are compelling and substantial reasons for doing so. Further, if the evaluation and appreciation of evidence by the trial court does not suffer from illegality, manifest error or perversity and the main grounds on which it has based it finding, is reasonable and plausible, the High Court should not disturb the order of acquittal even if another view is possible.

17. Before proceeding further, it will be profitable to mention the admitted facts of the case, at this juncture. As per first information report, the incident happened on 18.01.2019 and first information report has been lodged on 16.02.2019 with a delay of 28 days. PW2 is father of victim, who is only hearsay witness. There is no dispute that victim was major on the day of incident and educated and till the date of lodging the FIR, the incident was known to none. Accused and victim are co-villagers and grand father and father of accused were Gram Pradhan at a point of time. The mustard field was behind the house of victim and house of accused was also situated on the western side of house of victim.

18. In the wake of the above principles, admitted facts, and evidence on record, we have to see whether the findings recorded by learned trial court bears any error or perversity while passing the impugned order of acquittal of respondents.

19. As per prosecution, on 18.01.2019, at about 1 pm, when victim had gone to the fields for some work, she was raped by accused and incident was also recorded by him in video. It has also been alleged that on the basis of the video, she was blackmailed and subjected to rape on several occasions and on 20.1.2019, she was forced to go to Delhi with some unknown persons for trafficking, but somehow she succeeded to communicate her parents timely through the phone of a passenger and could save herself from the clutches of the unknown persons and came back home safely with her cousin. In order to prove its version, prosecution has examined two factual witnesses only i.e. victim as PW1 and her father as PW2. It is relevant to mention here that PW2, father of victim has admitted that he has no personal information about the incident having happened with her daughter and it is on 14.02.2019, when her daughter came back from Delhi, he came to know about the incident of rape. Therefore, his deposition is based on victim's account and not on his own knowledge and consequently, his evidence is of negligible value in the eyes of law, being hearsay one.

20. PW1, who is not only eyewitness and victim of offence committed against her, but also is a witness, around whom the entire sequence of events revolves, therefore, her testimony is having utmost importance and value and it is only her testimony, which will decide whether the impugned judgment is just or not.

21. At this stage, it will be apposite to refer to Manjunath vs State of Karnataka, 2023 INSC 978, per which Hon'ble Supreme Court has discussed the quality of a witness, which is reproduced as below:-

"22. For an eye witness to be believed, his evidence, it has been held, should be of sterling quality. It should be capable of being taken at face value, the principle has been discussed in Raj Sandeep @ Deepu alias Deepu vs. State (NCT of Delhi) 35 as follows-

"22. In our considered opinion, the "sterling witness" should be of very high quality and caliber whose version should, therefore, be unassailable. The court considering the version of such witness should be in a position to accept it for its face value without any hesitation. To test the quality of such a witness, the status of the witness would be immaterial and what 35 (2012) 8 SCC 21 [2 Judge Bench] 35- [Cr. A No. 866 of 2011] would be relevant is the truthfulness of the statement made by such a witness. What would be more relevant would be the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time when the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately before the court. It should be natural and consistent with the case of the prosecution qua the accused. There should not be any prevarication in the version of such a witness. The witness should be in a position to withstand the cross-examination of any length and howsoever strenuous it may be and under no circumstance should give room for any doubt as to the factum of the occurrence, the persons involved, as well as the sequence of it. Such a version should have co-relation with each and every one of other supporting material such as the recoveries made, the weapons used, the manner of offence committed, the scientific evidence and the expert opinion. The said version should consistently match with the version of every other witness. It can even be stated that it should be akin to the test applied in the case of circumstantial evidence where there should not be any missing link in the chain of circumstances to hold the accused guilty of the offence alleged against him. Only if the version of such a witness qualifies the above test as well as all other such similar tests to be applied, can it be held that such a witness can be called as a "sterling witness" whose version can be accepted by the court without any corroboration and based on which the guilty can be punished. To be more precise, the version of the said witness on the core spectrum of the crime should remain intact while all other attendant materials, namely, oral, documentary and material objects should match the said version in material particulars in order to enable the court trying the offence to rely on the core version to sieve the other supporting materials for holding the offender guilty of the charge alleged." (emphasis supplied) This was quoted with profit by this Court in Ganesan v State36. Recently, this principle was further reiterated in Naresh @ Nehru v State of Haryana 37."

22. In the instant case, prosecution has classified its version broadly in three parts; firstly, the events in connection and at the time of commission of offence; secondly, alleged black mailing on account of video and subjected to rape; and thirdly, the incident dated 20.01.2019, as alleged. We have gone through the entire evidence of PW1 and entire circumstances and reached the conclusion that PW1 has not qualified the test of a 'Sterling witness' as is required to make the accused liable to be held guilty and punished. Therefore, after perusal of the testimony of the witnesses and appreciating the fact and circumstances, we find that the observation recorded by learned trial court are absolutely coherent and reasonable and are capable of being upheld on following grounds:-

i) first argument which needs answer is how the victim reached on the spot? Admittedly, first information has been lodged by the victim herself alleging that she had gone to the field at about 1:00 pm and was caught and raped by the accused who was already in the mustard field. Admittedly, her statement under Section 161 CrPC (Ex. ka.2) was recorded by constable Sunita on her dictation and statement under Section 164 (Ex. Ka.2) by learned magistrate. She testified in her chief examination in corroboration of her statement recorded under Sections 161 and 164 CrPC, stating that on the day of incident i.e.18.01.2019, accused came to her house and asked her to meet behind her house and then only she reached in the field. When she was put in cross examination, she testified that he came to her house at 12 pm and then she went to the mustard field at about 12:30 pm. Perusal of her evidence shows that the reason assigned by her to reach the place of occurrence, does not inspire confidence. We find two contradictory versions. In first information report, she demonstrated as if she was not knowing about the presence of accused in mustard field, on the contrary, in evidence she has admitted of her going to the place of occurrence by her own accord.

ii) the victim has further admitted in her cross examination that she did not talk with accused in open as she was afraid of being seen by someone, hence, both of them went to the field and talked with each other for about two minutes. The admission of victim established in clear terms that she was not forced to go to the mustard field. The victim is undisputedly educated, knowing her well being and interest fully. We also find no reason to believe as to why a girl would meet a person merely on his wish and that too, done, unless she gets approval of her own conscience and if for the sake of arguments, it is admitted that in good faith and trust and following instructions of accused, she reached there, then also, we fail to understand as to why she had talked covertly in a fully grown field. The surrounding facts and circumstances speaks volumes and suffice to show that in fact the story was not as it has been served.

iii) Continuing her account, the victim stated that she asked the accused as to what the matter was, but he did not say anything, and instead pushed her down to the ground. She categorically stated that accused did not come to her, rather she went to him. Narrating the incident, she further testified that accused took off his and her clothes one by one and committed rape with her for about half an hour. Victim admitted that the rape incident was recorded by the mobile of accused and not by any third person. She kept on deposing that when both of them lay down on ground, then only the accused set up his mobile phone to shoot the video and accordingly the entire incident was recorded. In last, she cleaned her private parts and had thrown away her underwear on the place itself and same was also recorded in video.

iv) One important fact admitted in her cross examination is that after the incident, both of them put on their clothes and saw the entire recorded video for half an hour at the place of occurrence itself. She further admitted that after watching it, she expressed her concern that if anyone else saw it, it would lead to great disgrace and in response, the accused told her not to show the video to anyone. Having the entire conversation after the incident, she came back to her house while the boy remained standing there. Thus, the manner in which she had answered and admitted the happening of incident, no iota of evidence emerged on record that the incident was committed against her without her will or consent. There is no dispute that the victim is major in age and had gone the place of occurrence by her own accord which is at the backside of her house and adjoining to the house of accused as well. Site plan also suggests that there were some other houses of inhabitants. In that eventuality, had she raised an alarm resisting the incident, someone certainly would have come forward to help her out, but the victim chose neither to raise noise, nor did she attempt to oppose it herself. It is also not out of place to mention here that if video is being recorded in the presence of the victim and thereafter, the victim and accused watch that video at leisure after the event, then there is no ground to admit that she was subjected to rape against her will. On the contrary, her own admission makes it crystal clear that incident did not occur without her consent and will and therefore, argument of learned counsel is rejected. As discussed here-in-above, we have dealt with first part of prosecution story as classified above.

23. Now, this court has to see as to whether she was subjected to repeated rape on the ground of video recording, as alleged in FIR. In her statement made to investigating officer, she got recorded that on account of alleged video, she was subjected to rape several times, however, no such evidence has been given by her during trial, therefore, the allegation of repeated rape being mere bald allegation, has not been proved.

24. The victim has alleged in her chief examination that sister of accused namely Deepika came to her house on 20.01.2019 and showed the video extending threats to viral the video in case she would not follow the instructions of her brother. However, this fact has not been disclosed in FIR, therefore, being material omission, this may go to the root of the case. At this juncture, it is relevant to mention that the investigating officer found no incriminating allegations against Deepika and exonerated her during the investigation itself, therefore, we find no need to look into the allegations in this regards.

25. Admittedly, the alleged incident was not reported by victim to anyone in or out of family. In cross examination, she admitted that after the incident, she was not raped any more by the accused. There is no dispute that video was neither found in possession of accused, nor same was ever circulated to any person singly or in groups. Investigating officer categorically stated that no evidence of alleged video was found from the possession of accused, hence, same could not be recovered. From the above details, it has been articulated that except the allegations of victim, no evidence of video was found at any point of time, nor there is any evidence placed on record that her modesty was outraged sexually on account of alleged video after the incident. We, therefore, find that nothing incriminating against the accused has emerged in the second part of the story of prosecution.

26. Now we come to the last i.e. third part of the prosecution story which deals with the allegations against accused of her taking away and being handed over to some unknown persons. As per FIR, on 20.01.2019, she was called by accused through Deepika. On the way, accused met her on motorcycle and she sat on it out of fear. She was taken to Lal Kaun Tiraha where the accused made her sit in a Magic car and was brought to railway station Kanpur Central and then to Delhi by two unknown persons and a woman namely Anjali. However, sensing their intentions, she saved herself by alerting her family members in time. During the cross examination, she admitted that tehrir was typed by a typist under her dictation and she put her signature on it and accordingly the FIR was registered. When she appeared before the court to testify, she deposed about her being taken away on 13.02.2019. Therefore, there are two contradictory date of occurrence, have been emerged on the record. The first information report was lodged on 16.02.2019 after her return to home i.e. 13.02.2019, therefore, we don't find any reason to discard the fact of her taking on 20.01.2019, in the peculiar circumstances, when the victim herself dictated the terms of details in FIR. Hence, placing the entire different date before the court would not only will shake the veracity of the evidence of victim, but also makes the prosecution story unbelievable.

27. As for allegation that Deepika extorted Rs. 1000/- repeatedly from victim by blackmailing her, it is pertinent to note that she has not mentioned in FIR, rather it was developed in statement under section 161 and 164 Cr.pc. Top of the fact is that in her statement before magistrate, she has stated of extortion of Rs. 500/-. Therefore, the statement of the victim has not proved to be consistent, rather it has been distorted and changed to suit the circumstances.

28. It has been further been testified by PW1 that said Deepika came to her house between 8:30- 9 AM and she left with her to the road from where she got on the motorcycle of accused. However, it has emerged in her cross examination again that her leaving home with Deepika was either on 20.01.2019 or 13.02.2019, is incorrect; in fact, accused had taken her away from near the house. Again, she admitted that she did not state in the first information report that she accompanied Deepika to the road where she met the accused and then sat on his motorcycle and reached the Lal Kuan Bighapur with him. One more fact which drew our attention is deposition of the father of victim per which he deposed that in early morning when he got up, he saw a mobile on charging and inquired about the same and found his girl missing. It has been established from the evidence of father of victim, she had gone missing on 20.01.2019 at 03:00 AM. Therefore, the version of victim of her taking away between 8:30-09:00 AM, is in contradiction to the statement of her father, hence, the time and manner of her gone missing can not be accepted as gospel truth.

29. It has been alleged that after reaching at Lal Kaun, Bigha Pur, accused made her sit in a magic van, in which Anjali was already seated and himself disappeared from the scene. If the evidence of victim be assessed in totality, then it would transpire that despite having opportunity of raising alarm or mentioning anyone of her taking away, she made no efforts, while travelling by motorcycle, getting off at Lal Kuan to board a Magic car or at Kanpur railway station, (central) or finally during the train journey. We also fail to understand that why she did not even once bother to ask the accused as to where and why she was being taken, especially considering the fact when she was not accompanied by him after Lal Kaun, Bighapur. Having no whisper on record to this effect, makes the version unreliable in the backdrop of human conduct of any prudent person.

30. The prosecution version has been rejected to its threshold by learned trial court as victim has made unexplained and material improvement and changes in her deposition. The FIR only recounts the story of Anjali and two unknown individuals being on train; three of them getting off after a conversation with her mother through mobile of a passenger and then returning home with her cousin, viz-a-viz her testimony per which she has testified the developed facts i.e. locking her in toilet on arrival of TT by the unknown persons, disembarking of accused at Ghaziabad, making call to her mother at Anand Vihar through mobile of a co-passenger and travelling to Dwarika station with so called passenger and finally meeting her cousin Ashutosh and his acquaintances and returning home with all the three and her cousin Renu. PW6, the investigating officer admitted that no evidence was available in support of allegations of her going from her place to Delhi including magic car, Kanpur railway station or Delhi. PW7, another investigating officer also supported the version of PW6 and corroborated that no such evidence came into light during his investigation. To bolster the victim's version, it was the duty of prosecution to examine the witnesses with whom she came back to her house, however, no effort was made by prosecution to examine so called persons as prosecution witnesses, for reasons best known to the prosecution.

31. Having considered the circumstances detailed above, the contradictory evidence of prosecution witnesses in absence of any corroboration, has been found insufficient to prove the allegations against the accused for which he was charged with.

32. Concluding the third part of prosecution story as shown, it is pertinent to mention at this juncture that since the initiation of prosecution, it was defence taken by accused that at the time and on the day of incident, he was not at the scene of occurrence and rather was in Prayagraj. In support of his plea, he has also submitted the call details of his mobile, however no ocular evidence has been placed on record to prove the documentary evidence, detailed above, therefore, the defence as produced by accused, has not been proved as per law. Be it as it may be, the settled principle is that it is burden upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubts by a convincing, plausible, trustworthy and consistent evidence, which the prosecution has failed in the instant case.

33. On the basis of norms set up by settled legal principles and on the basis of evidence placed on record, we have gathered the view that learned trial court has taken best probable view in the case in hand while discussing the entire facts and circumstances. Nothing adverse has been brought on record by the prosecution to the hilt to leave the tinge of doubt in the order and judgement under this appeal.

34. Keeping in view the aforesaid failure of prosecution to prove the guilt of accused, as observed by learned trial court, we are of considered view that judgement passed by learned trial court is not unreasonable, illogical and improbable. Accordingly no interference is warranted. Hence the appeal is dismissed.

Criminal Appeal No. 236 of 1985

Babu Lal ...Appellant
Versus
State ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction under S. 302 IPC was sustainable where the prosecution had not examined a material witness, the motive was disputed, and the weapon used was an agricultural tool, and whether the nature of the weapon and surrounding circumstances were sufficient to establish intention to cause death. The Court also considered whether the sentence could be reduced to the period undergone in view of the appellant's age. (Paras 14-27).

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 323 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Ss. 91, 293 and 294 - Non-examination of material witness - Best evidence rule - Prosecution not bound to examine all witnesses named in charge-sheet - Non-production of material or best evidence does not by itself weaken the prosecution case where guilt is established from evidence adduced before the trial court - Defence remains entitled to call such witness in defence - Held, non-examination of material witness did not weaken the prosecution case. (Paras 14-16).

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 323 - Motive - Direct evidence - Where offence is proved by direct evidence of eyewitnesses, motive loses its significance - Previous-day altercation concerning apportionment of moveable property sufficient to establish motive in the facts of the case. (Paras 15, 20).

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Intention to cause death - Agricultural tool not traditionally used as weapon - Nature of weapon not determinative by itself - Intention to be inferred from several factors including part of human anatomy targeted, repeated assault, manner of approach and surrounding circumstances - Repeated blows on vital part of body and attack from behind while concealing weapon established intention to cause death. (Paras 21-25).

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Mens rea - Intention cannot be dismissed only on account of nature of weapon used - Knowledge and intention to be adduced from circumstances to see whether accused bore adequate knowledge or intention - Repeated targeting of head, a vital part of human body, and ferocity of attack sufficient to establish intention to cause death. (Paras 23-24).

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 304 Part-II - Sentence - Sudden and grave provocation or sudden fight - No mitigating facts available to scale down conviction from S. 302 IPC to S. 304 Part-II IPC - Advanced age of accused not sufficient to reduce sentence to period undergone - Appeal dismissed. (Paras 25-28).

Held: The best evidence rule does not apply in criminal jurisprudence and its non-production in trial would not disturb the substratum of the prosecution's case - the prosecution's case is always to be assessed on the basis of evidence adduced by it before the learned trial court - it is the prosecution's prerogative as to whom they examine as witness and even though they may have named ten witnesses in the charge sheet, they are not bound to examine all of them - non-production of material or best evidence before the learned trial court does not mean that the defence is precluded from calling them as witnesses on their behalf - the evidence of the two eyewitnesses corroborated each other on material particulars and the post mortem report corroborated their statements - the incident that happened a day previous was sufficient enough to be taken in cognizance to establish motive and even otherwise, as the offence has been proved by direct evidence of two eyewitnesses, the motive loses its significance - the intention to commit murder cannot be dismissed only on account of nature of weapon used - the intention is to be adduced by that part of human anatomy which was targeted by the assailant, coupled with the knowledge that the use of the article to target a vital part of the human body would cause grievous hurt which, in the ordinary course of nature, may result in death or will result in death - the intention to commit an act depends upon several factors and by examining these factors, the Court is able to infer that the actions of the appellant resulted in the outcome that was expected or desired - the vital part of the body, namely the head, was repeatedly assaulted and the attack was made from behind in such a manner that the victim did not have a chance to act in self defence - the deceased was struck not once but four times and the ferocity of the attack disclosed the intention of the accused person to cause death - the deceased was targeted repeatedly on the head which clearly shows that the intention was not merely to cause hurt - the appellant acted in a manner with the intention of causing death of the deceased which was a natural outcome of his action - no infirmity or perversity was found in the impugned judgment - there was no sudden and grave provocation or sudden fight and no mitigating facts were available to scale down the conviction from S. 302 IPC to S. 304 Part-II IPC - the appeal was dismissed and the appellant was directed to surrender to complete the remaining part of the life sentence. APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Appeal against the judgment of conviction dated 11.10.1984 passed by the learned Court of Session in S.T. No. 607 of 1984, whereby conviction was recorded for offences under Ss. 302 and 323 IPC and sentences of rigorous imprisonment for life and one year's rigorous imprisonment respectively were imposed.

learned counsel for the appellant.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Atul Sreedharan Hon'ble Jai Krishna Upadhyay, J.)

1. Heard Sri D.P. Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by V.S. Chauhan, learned counsel for the appellant and Ms. Divya Ojha, learned AGA-I, for the State.

2. The present appeal has been filed by the sole appellant who is aggrieved by the judgment of the conviction dated 11.10.1984 passed by the learned Court of Session, in S.T. No.607 of 1984 (State Vs. Babu Lal Kachi). By the said judgment and order, the appellant was convicted for offence under Sections 302 and 323 IPC and sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for life under Section 302 IPC and one year's rigorous imprisonment under Section 323 IPC.

3. Brief facts of the case are as follows:

4. The deceased Ganga and the accused Babu Lal are brothers. On 25.03.1984 at about 11:30 am, an oral report was given by PW-1 to the police, a summary of which reflects that on the date of the incident, the appellant Babu Lal who was armed with the Sabri (from description given by learned Senior Counsel for the appellant and learned AGA, it appears to be used for digging which is approximately one and half feet), came from behind and struck the deceased on his head at least three to four times. When she pleaded with him to stop, she was also attacked. PW-1 is the wife of the deceased. She further says that her sister-in-law came there, interceded and removed the Sabri from the hands of the appellant (which is stated to be used for digging which is one and half feet), as so stated by the Investigating Officer in his deposition.

5. Learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant submits that during the course of the trial and thereafter during pendency of the appeal, the appellant may have completed approximately five years of sentence before he was enlarged on bail by this Court. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellant has put forth several arguments, firstly, stating that the entire case against the appellant is false as most material witness in this case who was Rani, sister of the deceased who is alleged to have interceded, snatched the Sabri from hands of the appellant and who gave the Sabri to the police, has never been examined as a witness. Therefore, the argument is that the best evidence in this case has been concealed by the prosecution which vitiates the trial itself.

6. The secondly, the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant submitted that no motive for the murder has been proved by the prosecution and what is stated to be motive which has come out in the deposition of PW-1 to the effect that a day before the incident, there was a sharing of moveable articles between the deceased and the appellant during which, the deceased requested the appellant to leave some articles for him also to which the appellant allegedly stated that he will not leave a single article for the deceased and his family and shall take everything. This, according to the learned counsel for the appellant, was too insignificant an instance in order to motivate the appellant to take the life of his own brother and, therefore, it should be held by this Court that the prosecution has not been able to prove the motive in this case.

7. The third argument put forth by learned Senior Counsel for the appellant is whether the death allegedly caused by the accused using an object which is not used as a dedicated weapon and was further used from the blunt side, would reflect that the accused had the intention to kill the deceased. He further submits that even if the prosecution case is taken in its entirety to be true and proved beyond reasonable doubt, the only offence for which the appellant could have been held guilty of and punished, was for an offence under Section 325 IPC (causing grievous hurt).

8. The last argument put forth by learned Senior Counsel for the appellant is that the prosecution has failed miserably to prove the intention beyond reasonable doubt. In this regard, it has been submitted that the intention has to be inferred from the sum totality of facts of a particular case. In this case, learned Senior Counsel for the appellant has argued that the offending weapon which was seized by the police is only one and half feet long in length and made of iron and not an article that is used as a weapon but something that finds use in agriculture.

9. Under the circumstances, learned Senior Counsel for the appellant submits that as the appellant did not reach the scene of occurrence and attack the deceased with a weapon which could only cause grievous hurt or death, then in such a situation, the Court must necessarily arrive at a finding that the prosecution has not been able to prove the intention.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the State, on the other hand, has argued that though it is correct that Rani who otherwise a material witness, has not been examined by the prosecution, the case of the prosecution is not weakened as the rule of best evidence is never applicable in criminal jurisprudence. She has further argued that the guilt of the accused must be arrived at by the learned trial court on the basis of the evidence as has been adduced by the prosecution and if the same, in exclusion to the best evidence is still able to prove guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt, then in such a case the accused can be convicted for the offences that he has been charged of.

11. As regards the second submission of the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant with regard to the absence of motive, learned counsel for the State has drawn the attention of the Court to the deposition of PW-1 before the learned trial court where she has categorically stated that a day before the incident, there was a discussion between the deceased and the appellant with regard to apportioning of the moveable properties. In this regard, learned counsel for the State submits that PW-1 has stated that there was a request by the deceased to the appellant to leave some articles for him and his family which was outrightly refused by the appellant who said that he would not leave anything for the deceased and his family and that he would take everything. According to the learned counsel for the State, this altercation and the answer given by the appellant was proved by statement of PW-1 which has not been disturbed by cross examination only goes to show that there was an element of animosity which came into existence a day before the incident itself, and the same can be deemed to be reasonable motive. Even otherwise, learned counsel for the State has argued that where the evidence on record is available to prove the intention on the basis of the ocular evidence, the question of motive loses significance which, according to the learned counsel for the State, may be an imperative aspect in a case based on circumstantial evidence but not in a case where direct evidence has come on record.

12. As regards the question of death being caused by the accused by use of an object which is not traditionally used as a weapon of offence but as an agricultural tool and, therefore, the question of intention not being proved by the prosecution, learned counsel for the State has submitted that the intention to cause death or grievous hurt which in its ordinary course of nature can result in death, has to be assessed from some totality of the circumstances. In this case, learned counsel for the State has submitted that there were multiple assaults on the deceased by the appellant and, therefore, the circumstance supports the inference that the appellant wanted to cause the death of the deceased rather than to subject him to bodily pain.

13. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record of the learned trial court.

14. There are two prosecution witnesses who are material in this case. They have been examined. Rani who was also a material witness, as is so appearing from the charge sheet, has not been examined. However, in criminal jurisprudence, it is well settled that the best evidence rule does not apply, and its non-production in trial would not disturb the substratum of the prosecution's case. The prosecution's case is always to be assessed on the basis of evidence adduced by it before the learned trial court. It is the prosecution's prerogative as to whom they examine as witness and even though they may have named ten witnesses in the charge sheet, they are not bound to examine all of them. The Court, on the other hand, would appreciate the guilt of the accused, or lack of it, based upon the evidence adduced by the prosecution. As relating to the best evidence rule and non-examination of a material witness, it is always open to the defence to call that witness in defence. Non-production of material or best evidence before the learned trial court does not mean that the defence is precluded from calling them as witnesses on their behalf. Where the best evidence is a document, the Court would always decide whether to call for that document under Section 91 of the erstwhile Cr.P.C. either on its own, or if such application is moved by the defence or prosecution. Therefore, this Court with all due respect, rejects the argument that non-examination of a material witness and thereby not producing the best evidence by the prosecution, has gone to weaken its case.

15. In this case, PW-1 is the wife of the deceased. PW-2 is the daughter of the deceased. Both of them have corroborated each other on material particular of the case. PW-1 has categorically stated the events of the morning as to how the appellant came from behind when her husband was sitting near the front door and assaulted him from behind three to four times which caused injuries to the deceased due to which he died on the spot. This witness has also stated that a day before the incident, the discussion had taken place between the deceased and the appellant with regard to apportionment of moveable property to which both of them were heirs.

16. PW-2 is also an eyewitness to the incident and being the daughter, she states likewise as her mother. She has also stated how her aunt (sister of the deceased) came and disarmed the appellant. She also states that the deceased died on the spot. Both these witnesses have not been contradicted on material particulars given in their examination in chief. A suggestion was also given to both these witnesses that they have not actually seen the incident and they are falsely stating before the learned trial court which has been denied by both the witnesses.

17. The post mortem report goes to corroborate the statements of PW-1 and PW-2. However, learned counsel for the appellant has taken an objection for taking the post mortem report into consideration as that was marked as Exhibit without getting the same proved by calling the doctor as a witness and has stated that the post mortem report would not be covered under Section 293 of the erstwhile Cr.P.C. as that only covers scientific reports like FSL reports or ballistic reports etc. He has also submitted that it was essential for the learned trial court to call the doctor before the learned trial court and get him to reiterate the injuries recorded by him in the post mortem report and give an opportunity to the defence to cross examine.

18. However, while going through the impugned order, it appears that at internal page no.5 of the impugned judgment, the learned trial court has recorded that learned counsel for the accused himself has admitted the genuineness of the post mortem report on account which it was marked as Exhibit Ka-13. Thus, it appears that at the time of admission or denial of the document under Section 294 Cr.P.C., the defence has admitted the genuineness of the post mortem report and the effect of such admission is that no formal proof needs to be adduced. Thereafter, the learned trial court has recorded five injuries seen on the deceased, which are reproduced herein below:

"(i) Abraded contusion in an area of 8 cm x 7 cm on inner side of right eyebrow of right side present.

(ii) Abraded contusion 3 cm x 1 cm on top of right cervical.

(iii) Abraded contusion in an area of 11 cm x 2 cm on outer side of left shoulder joint.

(iv) Abraded contusion in an area of 7 cm x 5 cm on left side face just below ear.

(v) Lacerated wound 4 cm x 2 cm on right side head parietal and frontal bone."

19. The last injury no.5 was a lacerated wound on the right side of the head on the parietal and frontal bone resulting in communited fracture and the death was caused on account of the ante mortem injuries which were sufficient to cause instantaneous death and could be caused by the Sabri which is stated to have been used by the appellant in the ordinary course of nature.

20. We find the arguments put forth by the learned counsel for the State forceful that the incident that happened a day previous was sufficient enough to be taken into congnizance to establish motive. Even otherwise, as the offence has been proved by direct evidence of two eyewitnesses who have testified before the learned trial court, the motive loses its significance.

21. As regards the next issue raised by the learned counsel for the parties with regard to the absence of the intention, as the article that was used to commit the offence was not a dangerous weapon and that it was an article that was used commonly in agriculture. As regards this, the learned counsel for the State has submitted that when the appellant entered the house and approached the deceased from behind, he had concealed the Sabri by holding it in such manner that its possession by the appellant was concealed by his forearms. As regards the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant, the absence of the intention in this case or inability of the prosecution to prove the same, this Court holds that the intention to commit an act depends upon several factors. By examining these factors, the Court is able to infer that the actions of the appellant resulted in the outcome that was expected or desired by the appellant. The first thing that goes to reflect the intention in this case is that it was the vital part of the body (head) that was repeatedly assaulted five times by the appellant.

22. The post mortem report corroborates the deposition of PW-1 who says that her husband's head was struck three to four times by the appellant. The post mortem report also corroborates that part of the witness testimony that the appellant approached the deceased from behind as the injuries on the body are on the head which is parietal and frontal bone, cervical area of the neck, and right shoulder, are all parts of human anatomy which are on the rear of the human body but for the injury on the parietal bone (side of the head) and the frontal bone (front upper part of the skull). Therefore, the intention of the appellant was to approach the deceased in such a manner that the victim did not have a chance to act in self defence.

23. The intention to commit murder cannot be dismissed only on account of nature of weapon used. More particularly, the intention is to be adduced by that part of human anatomy which was targeted by the assailant, coupled with the knowledge (also a part of mens rea) that the use of the article to target a vital part of the human body would cause grievous hurt which, in the ordinary course of nature, may result in death or will result in death. Illustratively, a person throwing a brick at the victim but missing the target altogether or resulting in a minor injury on the head, the person may still be tried and convicted for an offence under Section 307 IPC for attempt to commit murder as the article used and targeted the part of human anatomy was such that if the blow was full and completely received by the targeted part of the body, it would, in all probability, have resulted in death, depending upon the force with which it was thrown. Contrast this, with a pebble thrown on the head of a person which strike the head of the person, for which an offence under Section 307 IPC is inconceivable as the article that was used would never cause either grievous hurt or death in the ordinary course of nature. Another illustration with regard to such a situation where two labourers have a quarrel and one stabbed the other on the inner part of the victim's thigh which severs the femoral artery, and the victim dies on account of which the accused may only be convicted for an offence under Section 326 IPC for having caused grievous hurt using dangerous weapon or means. Contrasting the same situation, if a quarrel takes place between two doctors and the same injury is caused by the doctor on account of which the victim dies, the doctor may be prosecuted and convicted for an offence under Section 302 IPC or 304 Part-I or II IPC because the doctor being educated in medical science knows exactly where the femoral artery passes.

Thus, mens rea should be adduced from the circumstance to see if the accused bore adequate knowledge or intention.

24. Thus, in the present case, the argument of the learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant that the intention has not been proved, this Court rejects the same. The deceased was struck not once but four times. He died on the spot. The ferocity of the attack on the victim disclosed the intention of the accused person to cause death as he arrived there surreptitiously concealing the weapon, from behind the deceased in order to ensure that the deceased did not even get a fighting chance or an opportunity to exercise his right of private defence. Where the knowledge is of such a nature that a reasonable person can draw the inference that the actus reus would, in all probability than not, in the ordinary course of the nature, only result in death and that the death would be the only probable outcome in which case, the conviction may take place under Section 302 IPC. In the present case, as already stated by learned counsel for the State that the deceased has been targeted repeatedly on the head which clearly shows that the appellant's intention was not merely to cause hurt to the deceased as if that was the intention, the appellant could have struck any non-vital part of the body.

25. Under the circumstances, in view of what has been argued and evidence adduced before the learned trial court, this Court holds that the appellant acted in a manner with the intention of causing death of the deceased which was an natural outcome of his action, therefore, we do not find any infirmity or perversity in the impugned judgment passed by the learned trial court. Consequently, the present appeal is dismissed.

26. However, we have also taken into consideration the argument put forth by learned Senior Counsel for the appellant that the appellant is now 82 years of age and, therefore, the Court may consider in reducing his sentence to the period undergone. That, unfortunately, is an impossibility for this Court. The evidence adduced did not reflect a sudden and grave provocation or sudden fight account of which the Court may examine the possibility of setting aside the conviction under Section 302 IPC and hold the appellant guilty under Section 304 Part-II IPC. There is no such mitigating facts available to scale down from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part-II IPC.

27. The fact that the appellant would have to go back to jail after 40 years, no doubt, disturbs this Court but this Court, not being vested with powers of the Supreme Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India, cannot do otherwise but send the appellant now back to jail to complete the remaining part of his life sentence.

28. The appellant's bail bonds are cancelled. He shall surrender forthwith before the learned court concerned which shall send him back to jail to complete the remaining part of the sentence. If the appellant does not surrender before the learned court concerned, shall issue non-bailable warrants to secure his presence and thereafter send him to jail.

29. The record of the learned trial court be sent back.

2. The instant Criminal Appeal has been filed against the judgement and order dated 17.07.1990 passed by the IVth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Etah, convicting the appellants Babu Ram, Veer Sahai and Gulab Chandra under Section 302 read with section 34 of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as 'I.P.C.'), Police Station - Kotwali, District - Etah.

3. When on 19.03.1984 the first informant Chiraunji Lal was informed by one Dulare that his son Khet Pal had been murdered, the first information report (hereinafter referred to as 'F.I.R.') was lodged. Initially probably when it was not being lodged, the help of the S.S.P. was taken and ultimately on 21.03.1984 the F.I.R. was lodged. As per the F.I.R., on the 18th of March, 1984 at around 05:00 - 06:00 PM Babu Ram Pradhan, Veer Sahai and Gulab Chand, the three accused, had come to the house of the first informant and had taken Khet Pal, the son of the first informant, to another village for a Holi Milan. The three accused who had taken the deceased along with them had assured the first informant that they would be bringing back the son of the first informant by the fall of night. However, when till 09:00 AM in the morning on the 18.03.1984, the son did not come back and an information came from Dulare son of Chaubey that Khet Pal had been murdered by Babu Ram Pradhan, Veer Sahai and Gulab Chand near a tubewell in Rasakpur then the F.I.R. was lodged. Further, in the F.I.R. it was mentioned that in the hand of Babu Ram Pradhan there was a country made pistol, in the hand of Gulab Chand there was a bhala and Veer Sahai was having a lathi. When the incident had taken place, Dulare, the person who had come to inform the first informant about the incident, raised a hue and cry then witnesses i.e. Ram Das, Ram Dayal and Hublal came on the spot and they all saw the incident. The first informant had stated in the F.I.R. that upon coming to know the incident, he reached the place of occurrence and he did not find the dead-body at the place of incident and ultimately he found it at the place where the postmortem was to be done. In the F.I.R. further it was mentioned that the three eye-witnesses, Ram Das, Ram Dayal and Hublal, were belonging to the village Kulla Habibpur. The lodging of the F.I.R. on the 21st of March, 1984 had resulted in some investigation. However, even before the F.I.R. was lodged on 19.03.1984 the panchayatnama was already prepared. The panchayatnama had stated that along with the other documents, F.I.R. was also forwarded on the 19th of March, 1984. Thereafter, the postmortem was conducted on the 19th of March, 1984 at 04:45 PM and the opinion of the doctor was that the death had occurred due to the injury no. 1. The injuries which were found on the body of the deceased, as per the postmortem report, were as follows:

(1) Lacerated wound 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on frontal region of head just to the right of midline placeo on exploration haematoma & ecthymosis under the injury. Frontal bone fractured. Membrane and brain congested.

(2) Abraded contusion 4 cm x 1/1/2 on left side upper part (syinal cord) - not exposed.

(3) Contusion 5 cm x 2 cm on top of left shoulder.

(4) Contusion 5 cm x 2 cm on top of right shoulder.

(5) Multiple abraded contusions overlapping and criss-crossing each other on whole of right side chest. On exploration, 4th, 5th , 6th and 7th ribs fractured underneath.

(6) Abraded contusion 6 cm x 2 cm on back and middle part of left forearm.

(7) Lacerated wound 4 cm x 1 cm muscle deep on inner aspect and lower part of left forearm. Both bones fractured underneath.

(8) Abraded contusion 6 cm x 2 cm on front of left knee

(9) Abraded contusion 6 cm x 2 cm with lacerated wound 3 cm x ½ cm muscle deep on inner aspect of lower part of left leg.

4. Thereafter, the police submitted its report and the court thereafter took cognizance and framed charges against the three accused persons namely Babu Ram Pradhan, Veer Sahai and Gulab Chand under Section 302 read with section 34 of I.P.C. From the side of the prosecution as many as four prosecution witnesses appeared.

5. PW-1, Hublal, was the person who was allegedly there at the place of incident. The F.I.R. had also stated that Hublal was there at the place of incident. PW-1 had appeared before the court and it was noticed by the court that he was hard of hearing. He had stated that on the relevant date at around 12:00 in the mid night, he was watering the fields of Siya Ram. Along with him Dulare, Ram Das and Ram Dayal were also there. They had heard 3 to 4 rounds of firing shots and thereafter had rushed towards the place from where the sound was emanating. He had stated in his examination-in-chief that he had seen himself that Khet Pal, deceased, was being beaten by Babu Ram Pradhan, Veer Sahai and Gulab Chand. Babu Ram Pradhan had a country made pistol with him, Gulab Chand had a bhala and Veer Sahai had a lathi. Upon seeing that the four persons were nearing them, the accused had run away. The deceased was lying in an injured state. PW-1 had stated that he had recognized the accused persons in the moon light because the three accused were known to him from before. He had also stated that Khet Pal had come to the village to celebrate Holi festival. Before the court, PW-1 had specifically stated that Babu Ram Pradhan and the other two accused were of the village to which PW-1 belonged, while Khet Pal was belonging to Nagla Shri Kishan which was two kilometers away from his village.

In his cross-examination, he had stated that Khet Pal had absolutely no relatives in the village where he died. He had also admitted that he had no idea if any case of theft etc. was going on against Khet Pal. About the rivalry with regard to the pradhan elections between Babu Ram Pradhan and Subedar, he had stated that he had no idea. He had also denied that any case with regard to theft etc. was going on vis-a-vis he himself and Khet Pal. He had also denied the suggestion that the PW-1 was involved in some case with the accused persons. He had reiterated the reasons for his being there in the agricultural fields as he was watering the fields of Siya Ram. He had stated that he had seen the incident from 15-20 steps away and he had also stated that while Gulab Chand was hitting the deceased with the ballam/bhala, he was using it as a lathi. None of the accused had fired on the witnesses. He had also not noticed the cloth which the deceased was wearing. He had denied the fact that Khet Pal had come to steal some vehicle in the village and the villagers had killed him. He had specifically denied that he had given any information to the family members of Khet Pal. Despite the incident, he had stated that he had continued with his work of irrigating the fields.

6. PW-2 was the other witness Ram Das who claimed himself to be an eye-witness. He had stated that he had seen the incident at 01:00 AM in the night of 19th of March, 1984. He had also stated that he was irrigating the fields and upon hearing the 3-4 rounds of firing being shot, he had rushed towards the place from where the sound of firing was coming and in the moon light he had seen the three accused beating the deceased. He had denied any enmity between the accused persons and he himself. He had also stated that he had seen the incident but had not cared to inform the family of the deceased. He had categorically stated that the accused had not fired upon them. As the PW-1 had stated, he had also stated that he had not noticed the clothes which the deceased was wearing.

7. PW-3 was the Sub-Inspector G.S. Rawat. He had proved the panchayatnama i.e. Exhibit 2 and the accompanying documents i.e. Exhibits 3 to 7. He had sealed the dead-body and sent it for post-mortem.

8. PW-4 was the Head Constable Laxman Singh, who had proven the chik.

9. Thereafter, upon the completion of the statements of the prosecution witnesses, the accused persons got their statements recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. Upon the judgment and order dated 17.07.1990 being passed by the IVth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Etah, wherein the three accused persons were convicted for the offence under Section 302 read with section 34 of I.P.C., the instant Appeal was filed.

10. During the pendency of the Appeal, the appellant no. 1, Babu Ram Pradhan, and the appellant no. 2, Veer Sahai, died and the Appeal, therefore, was abated vis-a-vis the appellants no. 1 and 2.

11. Sri Rakesh Kumar Rathore, learned counsel appearing for the appellant no. 3 has made the following submissions:

(i) Learned counsel for the appellant has stated that the F.I.R. was not proved by the first informant and the post-mortem was also not proved by the doctor who had conducted the post-mortem. Learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that the F.I.R. was in fact lodged on the 21st of March, 1984 but the panchayatnama which was prepared on 19th of March, 1984 when was sent with it the dead-body for post-mortem on 19th of March, 1984, strangely enough it was accompanied by the F.I.R. dated 21.3.1984 which is annexed to the panchayatnama.

(ii) Learned counsel for the appellant states that even though the tehrir, post-mortem report and the site plan were admitted under Section 294 of Cr.P.C. but when the accused persons got their statements recorded, they had denied about the admission in their statements under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. He, therefore, submits that any admission made under Section 294 of Cr.P.C. of the tehrir, post-mortem report and the site plan would be of no consequences whatsoever.

(iii) Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that if the case of the prosecution is seen, then it would become evident that Babu Ram Pradhan had a country made pistol and he had also as per the PW-1 and PW-2 fired 3-4 shots but not a single empty cartridge was found at the place of incident. What is more, there was no injury which would correspond to a fire shot of a country made pistol. Still further, Gulab Chand was said to be having a bhala but there was no injury of any bhala. Only to give a colour to the incident, learned counsel for the appellant states that the PW-2 in his statement before the court had stated that the bhala was used as a lathi. Almost all the injuries were of laceration and contusion. Also there were abrasion wounds.

(iv) Learned counsel for the appellant, therefore, submits that only to create a case against the accused persons, the PW-1 and the PW-2 had appeared in the witness box. The other two eye-witnesses did not care to appear in the witness box. What is more, even the first informant, Chiraunji Lal, never appeared in the witness box.

(v) Learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that when the accused persons had seen the four persons watching them and following them then they had not tried to nip the evidence in the bud by killing them. They had not fired even a single shot on the eye-witnesses who were only 15-20 steps away from the place of incident.

12. Sri Ajay Sharma, learned A.G.A. has opposed the Appeal and has submitted that the accounts of the two witnesses could not be disbelieved. He states that it mattered little if Ram Dayal, Dulare and Chiraunji Lal did not appear in the witness box. He submits that when under Section 294 of Cr.P.C. the documents were admitted then it mattered little if the accused persons under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. did not admit the documents. He further submits that the injuries also did not matter much as the eye-witnesses themselves had seen the incident taking place.

13. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties, we are definitely of the view that if the incident, as had been reported in the F.I.R., if is analyzed then we find that the accused Babu Ram Pradhan had allegedly fired 3-4 shots but not a single empty cartridge was found. Still further, we find that none of the injuries corresponded to the weapons which were assigned to Babu Ram and Gulab Chand i.e. a country made pistol and a bhala. Still further we are of the view that the F.I.R. when was lodged on 21.03.1984, how the F.I.R. itself accompanied the panchayatnama which was conducted on 19.03.1984. What is more, the F.I.R., the post-mortem report and the site plan had not been proved by the relevant persons but they were only admitted by the defence counsel under Section 294 of Cr.P.C., but when the accused persons had come before the Court and had got their statements recorded, then they had denied the documents which had allegedly been admitted by the counsel. We are also of the view that when the witnesses had stated that they were only 15-20 steps away from the place of incident and they had seen the accused persons and also the accused persons had seen them, then there ought to have been some reaction from the side of the accused persons and they should have tried to ward off the witnesses who were coming near them.

14. Thus, for all the reasons stated above, we are definitely of the view that the appellants were wrongly charged. The appellant no. 1, Babu Ram Pradhan, and the appellant no. 2, Veer Sahai, have already died. So far as the appellant no. 3, Gulab Chandra, is concerned, we are of the view that the charges levelled against him are not proved. The appellant no. 3, Gulab Chandra, be acquitted from all the charges for which he was tried.

15. The Appeal vis-a-vis the appellant no.3, Gulab Chandra, is allowed. The judgment and order dated 17.07.1990 passed by the VIth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Etah, in Session Trial No. 47 of 1986 is hereby set-aside vis-a-vis the appellant no.3.

16. If the appellant is on bail, he need not surrender and his sureties and bail bonds be discharged. The trial court record be sent back to the concerned trial court.

Criminal Appeal No. 1491 of 2023
& Other Connected Case

Smt. Sarita Devi ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to determination whether the learned Trial Court committed a legal error or perversity in convicting and sentencing the appellants under S. 302 read with S. 34 of the Indian Penal Code on the basis of the evidence available on record, particularly the multiple dying declarations of the deceased and the alleged material inconsistencies therein. (Paras 41-43)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Evidence - Dying declaration - Multiple dying declarations - Evidentiary value - Material inconsistencies - Reliability - Held, a dying declaration, if found to be voluntary, truthful and free from external tutoring or psychological promptings, can form the independent and sole basis of conviction without further corroboration - Where multiple dying declarations exist, each declaration must be subjected to closest scrutiny and material variance or fatal improvements must be considered - Inconsistencies must be material for credibility to be shaken - Declaration recorded by a Magistrate or like higher officer may be relied upon subject to truthfulness and freedom from suspicion. (Paras 43-49, 71)

Evidence - Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 - S. 26 - Dying declaration - Statutory relevance - Statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead or who cannot be found, as to the cause of death or circumstances of the transaction resulting in death, relevant where cause of death comes into question - Principles applicable to dying declarations under the earlier statutory framework considered. (Paras 44-46)

Evidence - Dying declaration - Fitness of declarant - Medical certification - Magistrate-recorded declaration - Voluntariness - Reliability - Held, contemporaneous certification by the Medical Officer before and after recording, coupled with testimony of the Executive Magistrate who recorded the declaration, established that the deceased was in a perfectly fit state of mind - Mere variation between an informal statement to the informant, a statement recorded by the Investigating Officer and the formal dying declaration did not diminish the statutory value of the declaration recorded before the Executive Magistrate. (Paras 57-60)

Evidence - Dying declaration - Multiple statements - First declaration and subsequent statements - Material variance - Role attributed to accused - Held, the formal dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate was entitled to overriding evidentiary value where it was supported by medical certification and the testimony of its author and no material or substantive degradation was elicited in cross-examination - Minor lacuna or defect in investigation could not override convincing, cohesive and credible statutory evidence. (Paras 54-60)

Criminal Law - Evidence - Circumstantial and medical evidence - Burn injuries - Self-immolation - Defence plea - Held, the plea of self-immolation was speculative, weak and unsubstantiated -

Medical evidence established ante-mortem flame burns involving approximately 80% of the total body surface area and death due to septicaemic shock resulting from infected burns - Absence of accused persons when neighbours arrived was consistent with the prosecution case that they had fled after setting the deceased ablaze. (Paras 61-64, 73)

Criminal Law - Evidence - Ocular evidence - Defence relying upon prosecution witnesses - Statements under S. 313 Cr.P.C. - Inconsistent defence - Held, where the accused themselves disowned the witnesses relied upon by their counsel and failed to contradict the core recitals of the dying declaration, the defence argument based upon such witnesses could not be accepted. (Paras 65-70)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Conviction - Common intention - Dying declaration corroborated by medical and other evidence - Prosecution establishing case beyond reasonable doubt - No illegality, infirmity or perversity in impugned judgment of conviction and sentence - Appeals dismissed and conviction and sentence upheld. (Paras 71-75)

Held: The prosecution primarily rested its case upon the dying declaration of the deceased - a dying declaration, if found to be voluntary, truthful and free from any external tutoring or psychological promptings, can form the independent and sole basis of conviction without requiring any further corroboration - where multiple dying declarations exist on record, the Court is under a strict judicial obligation to subject each declaration to the closest scrutiny, ensuring that they are coherent, consistent and do not suffer from any material variance or fatal improvements - the primary requirement for all dying declarations is that they should be voluntary and reliable and that such statements should be in a fit state of mind - when inconsistencies are found between various dying declarations, other evidence available on record may be considered for corroboration and each declaration must be scrutinised on its own merits - the statement recorded by a Magistrate or like higher officer can be relied on subject to the indispensable qualities of truthfulness and being free of suspicion - the testimony of the Executive Magistrate and the Medical Officer conclusively demonstrated that the dying declaration was recorded when the deceased was in a perfectly fit state of mind and was duly backed by contemporaneous medical certifications - the mere fact that the detailed version was not recorded in the same manner by the Investigating Officer did not diminish the overriding statutory value of the solemn dying declaration made before the Executive Magistrate - the statement regarding twelve years of struggle disclosed the historical backdrop of continuous torture and harassment and could not be interpreted to imply voluntary self-immolation - the medical testimony established that the cause of death was septicaemic shock resulting from infected ante-mortem flame burns involving approximately 80% of the total body surface area - the defence theory of self-immolation was highly speculative, weak and entirely unsubstantiated by the record - the absence of the accused persons at the spot when the neighbours arrived to extinguish the fire was consistent with the prosecution narrative that after setting the deceased ablaze, all the accused persons immediately fled the scene of crime - the prosecution successfully established its case beyond reasonable doubt - there was no illegality, infirmity or perversity in the impugned judgment of conviction and order of sentence - both criminal appeals were devoid of merits and were dismissed and the conviction and sentence of the appellants were upheld. 2. These connected criminal appeals, preferred under Section 374(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'Cr.P.C.'), challenge the common judgment and order dated 04.04.2023 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, Lucknow in Session Trial No. 641 of 2016, arising out of Case Crime No. 426 of 2015, Police Station Sarojini Nagar, District Lucknow. 3. The prosecution story, in brief, is that Manisha Sharma (the deceased), sister of the informant Manish Rai, was married to Kamlesh Sharma, son of Vimal Sharma, on July 3, 2003. It is alleged that the deceased was consistently harassed and faced ongoing disputes with her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, at her matrimonial home. On October 27, 2015, at approximately 07:30 P.M., at her matrimonial residence situated in Village Chillawan near Sunny Toyota, Police Station Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow, the accused persons, namely Vimal Sharma (father-in-law), Malti Devi, Shambhu Sharma (son of Malti Devi), and Sarita Devi (wife of Shambhu Sharma), brutally assaulted the deceased. It is further alleged that with the common intention to eliminate her, the accused persons poured kerosene oil on her person and set her ablaze, inflicting severe burn injuries. Upon hearing her cries, neighbors and local residents rushed to the spot and shifted the deceased in a critical state to the Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, where her dying declaration was subsequently recorded by an Executive Magistrate on October 28, 2015, at about 08:44 A.M.

4. On the basis of the written tehrir submitted by the informant Manish Rai, a formal First Information Report (here-in-after referred as FIR) was registered against all the four named accused persons on 28.10.2015 at 18:10 hours as Case Crime No. 426 of 2015, initially under Sections 307 and 326 of the I.P.C. at Police Station Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow. Consequent upon the demise of the victim during the course of her treatment at Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi, on 04.11.2015, the case was subsequently converted/transmuted to Section 302 of the I.P.C.

5. During the period of hospitalization of the victim, her dying declaration was meticulously recorded by the Executive Magistrate/Tehsildar on 28.10.2015 at about 08:44 A.M. at the Civil Hospital, Lucknow. Consequent upon her medical condition showing no signs of improvement, she was referred to a higher medical center and was subsequently admitted to the Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi, on 02.11.2015. However, despite the best medical interventions, the victim succumbed to her severe burn injuries during the course of her treatment on 04.11.2015 at 11:45 P.M.

6. Following the demise of the victim, the inquest proceedings (panchayatnama) were conducted by the police on 05.11.2015, and the dead body, along with the requisite police papers, was dispatched for post-mortem examination. In order to furtherance of investigation , the Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as the 'I.O.') inspected the place of occurrence, collected material physical evidences from the spot, and prepared the site plan (naksha nazri). In view of the death of the victim, the case was converted into an offence punishable under Section 302 of the I.P.C. On conclusion of the investigation, the I.O. finding sufficient and prime facie evidence against the accused persons, submitted the formal charge-sheets before the jurisdictional Magistrate.

7. After ensuring strict compliance with the mandatory provisions of Section 207 of the Cr.P.C. regarding the supply of copies of the prosecution documents to the accused, the learned Magistrate, finding that the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. was exclusively triable by the Court of Session, committed the case to the Court of Sessions Judge, Lucknow, in accordance with Section 209 of the Cr.P.C. From there, the case was subsequently made over to the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, Lucknow, for trial according to law.

8. The learned Trial Court, after affording opportunity of hearing on charges, framed formal charges under Section 302 read with Section 34 of the I.P.C. against the accused persons. The charges were read over and explained to the accused persons in vernacular, who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried, thereby setting the trial into motion.

9. In order to substantiate its case and establish the guilt of the accused persons beyond reasonable doubt, the prosecution relied upon both oral and documentary evidence. The prosecution produced and examined as many as ten witnesses, namely: Sri Manish Rai (PW-1, the informant and brother of the deceased), Rajesh Kumar Srivastava (PW-2, the Tehsildar/Executive Magistrate who recorded the dying declaration), Santosh Kumar Sahu (PW-3, an independent neighbor), Mansha Ram (PW-4, a witness to the circumstances immediately following the incident), Dr. Ashish Kumar (PW-5, who conducted the post-mortem examination), Head Constable Dhoom Singh (PW-6, who registered the chick FIR), Akhilesh Dwivedi (PW-7, the initial Investigating Officer), retired A.S.I. Rajendra Kumar (PW-8, who conducted the inquest proceedings in Delhi), Sudhir Singh (PW-9, the subsequent Investigating Officer who submitted the charge-sheet), and Dr. Rahul Chaudhary (PW-10, the Medical Officer who certified the fitness of the deceased before and after the recording of her dying declaration).

10. Apart from the ocular evidence, the prosecution also adduced and proved several vital contemporaneous documentary evidences, including the written tehrir (Exhibit K-1), the inquest report (Exhibit K-2), the dying declaration of the deceased (Exhibit K-3), and the post-mortem report (Exhibit K-4), alongside relevant material objects collected from the scene of crime.

11. PW-1, Manish Rai, the complainant (brother of the deceased), deposed in his examination-in-chief that ever since the marriage of his sister on 03.07.2003, frequent matrimonial disputes and friction persisted between the deceased and her father-in-law, the accused Vimal Sharma. He explicitly stated that the accused Vimal Sharma had developed an illicit relationship with the co-accused Malti Devi, to which the deceased strongly and consistently objected. It was on account of this persistent objection that all the accused persons harbored deep-seated animosity and malice toward the deceased, which also led her to file a prior written complaint with the Police Station Sarojini Nagar on 12.07.2015 regarding her systemic harassment. PW-1 further deposed that upon receiving telephonic information regarding the incident from his brother-in-law, Kamlesh Sharma, he immediately rushed to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow. He testified that when he reached the hospital, his sister was in a conscious state and narrated the entire horrific incident to him in tears. According to her disclosure, her father-in-law had initially assaulted her, following which the accused Shambhu Sharma forcefully restrained her and muffled her mouth; the accused Sarita Devi then poured kerosene oil upon her person, and Malti Devi handed over the matchbox to the accused Vimal Sharma, who subsequently set her on fire. He also stated that after his sister succumbed to the burn injuries, her two minor sons came to reside under his care and custody.

12. PW-2, Rajesh Kumar Srivastava, the then Tehsildar, Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow, deposed in his examination-in-chief that upon receiving specific administrative instructions from the Sub-Divisional Magistrate (SDM), Sarojini Nagar, he proceeded to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, for the purpose of recording the dying declaration of the severely injured victim, Manisha Sharma. He stated that at about 08:44 A.M. on 28.10.2015, after obtaining a formal certificate from the attending Medical Officer regarding the conscious and fit mental state of the injured to give a statement, he proceeded to record her declaration.

He testified that the victim explicitly stated that after having tea, she went inside her room where her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, brutally assaulted her with a fist blow, causing her to strike violently against the wall. Thereafter, the daughter-in-law of his father-in-law's mistress brought kerosene oil, and both her suser (Vimal Sharma) and Malti Sharma poured the kerosene upon her person and set her ablaze, as a result of which her entire saree caught fire and she sustained extensive burn injuries. The victim further stated that her husband was not present at the time of the occurrence, she had been struggling/fighting for twelve years, and upon hearing her cries, the neighboring residents rushed to the spot to rescue her. PW-2 verified the recorded dying declaration in a sealed envelope before the court, identifying it as Exhibit K-3.

13. PW-3, Santosh Kumar Sahu, an independent resident of the locality, deposed that at about 07:30 P.M. on October 27, 2015, while he was conversing with his friend Ramu outside his residence, he suddenly heard frantic cries emanating from the house of Kamlesh Sharma. He testified that he saw Kamlesh□s wife, Manisha Sharma, running out onto the verandah while engulfed in flames, whereupon he and his friend immediately rushed forward and extinguished the fire by covering her person with a bedsheet. He further stated that her screams drew neighboring women to the scene, and a local resident named Salman dialed '100' to inform the police. During his cross-examination, PW-3 categorically admitted that the victim's house was adjacent to his own, and at the time of the occurrence, the victim was entirely alone inside the house. He further disclosed that the accused persons, namely Shambhu, Malti, Sarita, and Vimal Sharma, owned another house situated four or five houses away, where they had shifted their residence prior to the incident. He also stated that although he knew the accused Vimal Sharma worked at the airport, he was not aware of his exact duty hours.

14. PW-4, Mansha Ram, deposed in his examination-in-chief that owing to a prior accident, he was infirm, used a walker for mobility, and regularly sat outside his house. He testified that between 07:00 P.M. and 08:00 P.M. on October 27, 2015, he observed the accused Vimal Sharma passing by on a bicycle in a trembling state. He further stated that on the very same day, Vimal's daughter-in-law had sustained fatal burn injuries. In his cross-examination, the witness clarified that he had been sitting outside his house since around 06:00 P.M. and the time mentioned by him was approximate as he was not carrying a watch or a mobile phone. He admitted that he did not witness the actual incident of immolation firsthand and his knowledge regarding the source of fire was based on general public information. He further stated that while the signatures on his statement were his own, a police official (Diwan Ji) had obtained them about 10 to 15 days after the incident without reading or explaining the contents of the document to him.

15. PW-5, Dr. Ashish Kumar, who was then posted as a Senior Resident at Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi, proved the post-mortem report of the deceased (Exhibit K-4). He deposed that the dead body of the deceased was formally identified by her brother Manish Rai and her husband Kamlesh Sharma. External examination revealed that the body was wrapped in a multicoloured blanket and covered in medical bandages, except for the face and neck. Bluish discoloration was observed under the right toes, and the scalp hair was singed. The deceased had sustained extensive ante-mortem flame burns covering approximately 80% of her total body surface area, including the face, neck, chest, abdomen, back, lower back, and all four limbs. The presence of granulation tissue and yellowish foul-smelling pus at the margins of the burn injuries categorically indicated that she had survived for a considerable period after receiving the burns, and the margins showed signs of active infection. Internal examination revealed a congested and edematous brain, congested lungs with consolidation present in the lower lobes, an empty stomach, and congested abdominal organs. The Medical Officer opined that the cause of death was septicaemic shock resulting from infected ante-mortem flame burns involving about 80% of the total body surface area.

16. PW-6, Head Constable Dhoom Singh (No. 664), proved the check FIR and the corresponding GD entry as Exhibit K-5 and Exhibit K-6 respectively. PW-7, Akhilesh Dwivedi, Sub-Inspector, who was the initial Investigating Officer of the case, proved the site plan (naksha nazri as Exhibit K-7), the recovery memo of the material objects (Exhibit K-8), and other contemporaneous documentary exhibits prepared during the course of the investigation. He deposed that on 29.10.2015, he proceeded to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, where he recorded the statement of the injured victim, Manisha Sharma, under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. He testified that during her statement, the injured victim explicitly disclosed that on 27.10.2015, between 07:00 P.M. and 07:30 P.M., her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, initially assaulted her with fists, the accused Shambhu Sharma forcefully held and muffled her mouth, co-accused Sarita Devi poured kerosene oil upon her person, and Malti Devi handed over the matchbox to Vimal Sharma, who thereafter set her on fire. She explicitly reiterated that her husband was not present at the house at the relevant time and that the neighbours rescued her upon hearing her cries.

17. PW-8, retired A.S.I. Rajendra Kumar, who was then posted at Police Station Safdarjung Enclave, New Delhi, deposed in his examination-in-chief that upon receiving official information from the Safdarjung Hospital regarding the demise of the deceased, Manisha Sharma, he recorded the identification statements of her brother (Manish Rai) and husband (Kamlesh Sharma). He testified that he formally conducted the inquest proceedings (panchayatnama) and prepared the relevant police papers, identifying the inquest report as Exhibit K-2 and Exhibit K-9. He further stated that the body was subsequently forwarded to the mortuary for post-mortem examination, and upon completion of the autopsy, the dead body was formally handed over to the husband of the deceased for final rites.

18. PW-9, Sudhir Kumar Singh, Inspector, deposed that while he was posted as the Station House Officer (S.O.) at Police Station Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow, the investigation of Case Crime No. 426 of 2015 which was initially registered under Sections 307 and 326 of the I.P.C. was transmuted/converted to Section 302 of the I.P.C. on 10.11.2015 following the death of the victim, and the subsequent investigation was entrusted to him. He stated that after taking over the investigation, he perused the case diary (CD) prepared by the erstwhile Investigating Officer and recorded the statements of several prosecution witnesses, including Raj Kapoor, Munni Devi, and others under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. He also obtained and examined the medical treatment records of the deceased from the Civil Hospital, Lucknow. He further testified that during the course of the investigation, he conducted raids at the residential premises of the accused persons, namely Malti Devi and Sarita Devi, on several occasions, but they were found to be absconding. Consequently, after executing the necessary process, the co-accused Malti Devi and Sarita Devi were arrested and taken into custody on 01.05.2016, and their statements were recorded. He also verified the steps taken regarding the prior arrest and custodial statements of the accused Vimal Sharma and Shambhu Sharma.

19. PW-10, Dr. Rahul Chaudhary, who was posted as the Emergency Medical Officer (E.M.O.) at the Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, on 28.10.2015, deposed that the victim Manisha Sharma, aged about 32 years, was admitted to the Burn Ward at approximately 08:40 A.M. with extensive burn injuries. He categorically testified that prior to the recording of the dying declaration by the Tehsildar/Executive Magistrate, he thoroughly examined the patient and certified that she was fully conscious, oriented, and mentally fit to make a voluntary statement. He proved his initial fitness certification on the dying declaration (Exhibit K-3), which read: "Manisha Sharma W/o Kamlesh Sharma is in fit state of her mind for her statement". He further stated that he remained outside and was not present in the room while the Executive Magistrate was actively recording her statement. He testified that upon completion of the recording, he examined the patient again and appended his subsequent certification confirming that the victim remained in a fit state of mind before and during her statement.

20. In order to corroborate and substantiate the ocular testimony, the prosecution placed on record and successfully proved the written tehrir as Exhibit Ka-1, the formal inquest report (panchayatnama) as Exhibit Ka-2, the dying declaration of the deceased recorded by the Executive Magistrate as Exhibit Ka-3, and the post-mortem examination report as Exhibit Ka-4. The procedural and investigative records were also established, including the Check FIR as Exhibit Ka-5, the corresponding General Diary entry as Exhibit Ka-6, the site plan (naksha nazri) as Exhibit Ka-7, the recovery memo (fard) of the objects seized from the spot as Exhibit Ka-8, and the supplementary inquest/body identification papers as Exhibit Ka-9. Furthermore, the primary charge-sheet submitted against Vimal Sharma and Shambhu Sharma was proved as Exhibit Ka-10, while the supplementary charge-sheet against Malti Devi and Sarita Devi was marked as Exhibit Ka-11. These documentary exhibits were corroborated by material objects produced before the Court, consisting of a sealed cloth bundle (potli) as Material Exhibit-1, a polythene container as Material Exhibit-2, and the samples of half-burnt clothes and ash as Material Exhibit-3, which upon FSL analysis confirmed traces of kerosene oil.

21. Upon the closure of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. All incriminating circumstances appearing against them in the evidence were read over and explained to them, which they denied, reiterating their innocence and alleging false implication due to enmity. In her additional statement, the accused Sarita Devi specifically pleaded that she had been residing in a separate house prior to the incident; however, no oral evidence was adduced by the accused persons in support of their defence at that stage, save for filing a photocopy of the duty chart of the co-accused Vimal Sharma.

22. The learned Trial Court, after hearing the learned counsel for both the parties, marshaling the facts, and critically analyzing the evidence on record, concluded that the prosecution had successfully established its case beyond all reasonable doubt against three of the accused persons, namely Vimal Sharma, Malti Devi @ Malti Sharma, and Sarita Devi, under Section 302 read with Section 34 of the I.P.C. Consequently, the learned Trial Court convicted and sentenced Vimal Sharma, Malti Devi, and Sarita Devi accordingly. However, after analyzing the evidence regarding the remaining co-accused, Shambhu Sharma, the learned Trial Court found that the prosecution had failed to prove his complicity in the crime beyond a reasonable doubt, and consequently, he was acquitted of the charges leveled against him. Being aggrieved by and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence, the appellants have preferred these connected criminal appeals before this Hon'ble Court.

Finding of the learned Trial Court

23. The learned Trial Court, upon a holistic appreciation of the evidence, observed that there were no material contradictions or inconsistencies in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses. It held that the dying declaration of the deceased (Exhibit K-3) was entirely voluntary, truthful, and inspired confidence, being strongly corroborated by the medical certification of fitness provided by Dr. Rahul Chaudhary (PW-10) as well as the testimony of the Executive Magistrate, Rajesh Kumar Srivastava (PW-2), who recorded the declaration. The Trial Court further recorded a categorical finding that the evidence available on record conclusively demonstrated that the convicted accused persons poured kerosene oil on the body of the deceased and set her ablaze, an act which clearly manifested their deliberate intention to cause her death. This homicidal intent was further substantiated by the gravity and extent of the injuries sustained by the deceased, as evidenced by the medical and post-mortem reports confirming deep thermal burns covering approximately 80% of her total body surface area, which ultimately led to fatal septicaemic shock.

Submissions on behalf of the Appellants:

24. Learned Counsel for the appellants, while assailment of the impugned judgment of conviction, has rigorously submitted as under:

25. Inconsistency in Multiple Dying Declarations: It is submitted that the case of the prosecution hinges primarily upon multiple dying declarations of the deceased, which are materially inconsistent, contradictory, and completely destructive of each other's credibility.

26. First Dying Declaration (Exhibit K-3): The first dying declaration, recorded by the Tehsildar (Executive Magistrate) on 28.10.2015, presents a distinct three-pronged narrative. Firstly, it alleges that the father-in-law (Vimal Sharma) initially punched the deceased, causing her to strike against the wall; secondly, it states that the daughter-in-law of his mistress brought the kerosene oil; and thirdly, it asserts that both Vimal Sharma and Malti Sharma sprinkled the kerosene and set her on fire. It is submitted that this first declaration is internally vague, ambiguous, and fails to precisely attribute the specific and exclusive overt act of immolation to any single accused. Furthermore, the deceased's statement that she had been "struggling for twelve years" indicates deep-seated mental distress, rendering her prone to imagination. Additionally, the constant presence of her brother (the informant) at the hospital creates a strong probability of tutoring and psychological influence. Crucially, no role was attributed to the co-accused Shambhu Sharma in this declaration, though he was subsequent indicted.

27. Second Dying Declaration (161 Cr.P.C. Statement): In complete variance to the first narrative, the second dying declaration recorded by the Investigating Officer on 29.10.2015 under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. introduces an entirely new version. In this subsequent statement, it is alleged that the father-in-law first called Shambhu Sharma, who then forcefully gagged the deceased; thereafter, Sarita Devi poured the kerosene oil, Malti Devi merely handed over the matchbox, and Vimal Sharma lit the fire.

28. Material Divergence and Embellishment: It is submitted that there is a total divergence and material shift in the rolls, persons, and the core conduct attributed to the accused persons between the two declarations. In the second declaration, the act of pouring kerosene is shifted entirely onto Sarita Devi, and the role of Malti Devi is significantly scaled down to merely handing over a matchbox, which clear points toward a classic case of embellishment, deliberate over-implication, and improvements made by the prosecution. Since neither of the dying declarations inspires confidence or fulfills the test of being coherent, truthful, and reliable, they could not have been legally made the sole basis of conviction.

29. Reliance on Judicial Precedents: To fortify his arguments, the learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance upon the following judicial precedents:

30. State of Punjab Vs. Parveen Kumar, (2004) 10 SCC 769: Wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the mere fact that the name of an accused is common in two distinct dying declarations is not sufficient to sustain a conviction if the declarations contain material contradictions regarding the core incident.

31. Smt. Vimalbai Vs. State of Maharashtra (Criminal Appeal No. 192 of 2010): Wherein the Hon'ble Court, while discussing the validity of conflicting dying declarations, held that where the specific roles attributed to the appellants vary substantially between pouring kerosene oil and lighting the matchstick, the credibility of such declarations stands severely impeached, and no sole conviction can be safely predicated upon them.

Submissions on behalf of the State:

32. On the other hand, the learned Additional Government Advocate (AGA) appearing for the State, along with the learned counsel for the informant, has vehemently opposed the submissions of the appellants and contended as under:

33. Sufficiency of Evidence and Validity of Judgment: It is submitted that the prosecution has adduced overwhelming, credible, and sufficient evidence against the appellant-convicts to prove its case beyond any reasonable doubt. The learned Trial Court, after a meticulous marshaling of the entire facts and circumstances of the case, correctly found the appellants guilty. There is absolutely no legal infirmity, error, or perversity in the impugned judgment and order of conviction which may warrant interference by this Hon'ble Court.

34. Sanctity of the Dying Declaration: It is next submitted that the dying declaration of the deceased (Exhibit K-3) was recorded by the Executive Magistrate only after obtaining a strict prior certification from the Emergency Medical Officer (PW-10) pertaining to the conscious, oriented, and fit mental condition of the deceased. Furthermore, upon conclusion of the statement, the Medical Officer appended a subsequent certification confirming her mental stability and fitness throughout the recording process. The averments made in the dying declaration are completely natural, spontaneous, and there was absolutely no occasion, time, or opportunity for any manipulation or tutoring.

35. Corroboration by Ocular and Medical Evidence: It is further contended that the core of the dying declaration stands firmly corroborated by independent ocular and scientific evidence. PW-3, Santosh Kumar Sahu, upon hearing the victim's cries, immediately rushed to her rescue, extinguished the raging flames covering her person using a bedsheet, and she was subsequently shifted to the hospital. Additionally, the forensic evidence in the form of the FSL report (Exhibit K-11) conclusively establishes the presence of kerosene oil on the half-burnt clothes and ashes recovered from the scene of crime, which completely demolishes the defence theory. Therefore, the Trial Court rightly concluded that the appellants actively participated in setting the deceased on fire with a common intention to kill her.

36. Reliance on Judicial Precedents: To fortify his arguments, the learned AGA has placed placing reliance upon the following authoritative pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court:

37. Naeem Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2024) 17 SCC 735: Wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court held that a dying declaration can form the sole basis for conviction. The rule requiring corroboration is merely a rule of prudence and not an absolute rule of law. Once a dying declaration, after careful judicial scrutiny, is found to be true, voluntary, and entirely free from any effort to induce or tutor the deceased, there exists no legal impediment in making it the absolute basis of conviction, even in the absence of independent corroboration.

38. Jemaben Vs. State of Gujarat, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2299: Wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court categorically held that merely because there are minor discrepancies or trivial variances in the versions given by the prosecution witnesses or in the manner of occurrence narrated before independent witnesses (such as PW-3), the solemn dying declaration made before an independent Magistrate cannot be ignored or discarded if it forms a coherent and consistent chain of events.

39. In view of the aforesaid facts, circumstances, and settled legal position, it is submitted that the present appeals are entirely devoid of merits and are, therefore, liable to be dismissed.

Discussion, Reasons and Conclusion

40. We have heard the learned counsel appearing for both the appellant-convicts, the learned Additional Government Advocate (AGA) for the State, and perused the entire material available on record.

41. Upon a comprehensive consideration of the facts, circumstances, and submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the respective parties, the following point for determination is formulated to adjudicate the present appeals:

42. Whether the learned Trial Court committed a legal error or perversity in convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 of the I.P.C. on the basis of the evidence available on record?

43. Since the crux of the arguments advanced on behalf of both the parties fundamentally subverts and rests upon the evidentiary value and reliability of the multiple dying declarations of the deceased, it is expedient to analyze the statutory principles and the law propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in this regard.

44. It is relevant to note that the statutory provision governing dying declarations, which was hitherto occupied by Section 32(1) of the old Indian Evidence Act, 1872, is now encapsulated under Section 26 of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 (hereinafter referred to as 'BSA, 2023). Section 26 of the BSA, 2023 provides that statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, are themselves relevant facts when the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question.

45. The jurisprudential essence of a dying declaration under Section 26 of the BSA, 2023 rests upon the sanctified legal maxim "Nemo moriturus praesumitur mentiri", which translates to the principle that a person will not meet their Maker with a lie in their mouth. A dying declaration, if found to be voluntary, truthful, and free from any external tutoring or psychological promptings, can form the independent and sole basis of conviction without requiring any further corroboration. However, where multiple dying declarations exist on record, the Court is under a strict judicial obligation to subject each declaration to the closest scrutiny, ensuring that they are coherent, consistent, and do not suffer from any material variance or fatal improvements.

46. The legal philosophy and jurisprudential principles governing the admissibility and appreciation of a dying declaration have been clean-cut and well-settled by a catena of decisions of the Hon'ble Apex Court, establishing that a dying declaration is a substantial piece of evidence under the statutory framework (formerly Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872). It is well-settled that there is no rigid statutory form prescribed for recording a dying declaration; it can be made verbally, in writing, or by any recognized method of communication, including signs, words, or gestures, provided the cognitive quality and fitness are established. The definite reason behind holding a dying declaration reliable is that a statement made by a person on the verge of death carries special sanctity, as at that solemn moment, a person is most unlikely to make an untrue statement, and the shadow of impending death is by itself a guarantee of the truth of the statement regarding the circumstances leading to the demise. However, at the same time, a dying declaration, like any other piece of evidence, has to be rigorously tested on the touchstone of credibility to be acceptable, which is all the more essential because the accused does not get an opportunity of questioning veracity of the statement by cross-examination. Nevertheless, if the dying declaration is found entirely reliable, it can form the base of conviction, as a person who is facing imminent death, with even a shadow of continuing in this world practically non-existent, every motive of falsehood is obliterated. The mind gets altered by most powerful ethical reasons to speak only the truth, and great solemnity and sanctity are attached to the words of a dying person because a person on the verge of death is not likely to tell lies or to concoct a case so as to implicate an innocent person. As Matthew Arnold famously observed, "truth sits on the lips of a dying man". The general principle on which the species of evidence is admitted is that they are declarations made in extremity, when the party is at the point of death, and when every hope of this world is gone, when every motive to falsehood is silenced and mind induced by the most powerful consideration to speak the truth; situation so solemn that law considers the same as creating an obligation equal to that which is imposed by a positive oath administered in a court of justice.

47. In this respect it is also relevant to consider the ruling of the Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of Mohan Lal Gangaram Gehani Vs. State of Maharashtra, (1982) 1 SCC 700. The Apex Court in the said precedent held that where the prosecution relies upon more than one statement in the nature of a dying declaration, the statement which is first in point of time must ordinarily be preferred, unless the subsequent statements are proven to be equally spontaneous and reliable. However, for a plurality of dying declarations to be accepted as trustworthy, they must exhibit a high degree of coherence and consistency regarding the core substratum of the prosecution's case.

48. In the recent and authoritative pronouncement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Abhishek Sharma Vs. State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), (2024) 13 SCC 660, the Apex Court comprehensive propounded and codified the legal parameters regarding the appreciation of multiple dying declarations. After evaluating the extensive jurisprudential matrix, the Hon'ble Supreme Court delineated the core guiding principles which a Court must strictly consider and apply while dealing with a case involving more than one dying declaration, ensuring that any material contradictions are carefully scrutinized to prevent a miscarriage of justice. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, upon considering various judgments regarding multiple dying declarations, established the following principles for a court to consider when dealing with such cases:

"(1) The primary requirement for all dying declarations is that they should be voluntary and reliable and that such statements should be in a fit state of mind;

(2) All dying declarations should be consistent. In other words, inconsistencies between such statements should be 'material' for its credibility to be shaken;

(3) When inconsistencies are found between various dying declarations, other evidence available on record may be considered for the purposes of corroboration of the contents of dying declarations;

(4) The statement treated as a dying declaration must be interpreted in light of surrounding facts and circumstances;

(5) Each declaration must be scrutinised on its own merits. The court has to examine upon which of the statements reliance can be placed in order for the case to proceed further;

(6) When there are inconsistencies, the statement that has been recorded by a Magistrate or like higher officer can be relied on, subject to the indispensable qualities of truthfulness and being free of suspicion;

(7) In the presence of inconsistencies, the medical fitness of the person making such declaration, at the relevant time, assumes importance along with other factors such as the possibility of tutoring by relatives, etc."

49. In view of the aforesaid settled position of law propounded by the Hon'ble Apex Court, we shall now proceed to critically evaluate and scrutinize the multiple dying declarations of the deceased available on record, in light of the extensive arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the respective parties.

50. The dying declaration of the deceased, Manisha Sharma, recorded by the Executive Magistrate (PW-2) on 28.10.2015 at the Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, which has been proved and exhibited as Exhibit Ka-3, is reproduced here-in-below:

51. On a thorough perusal of the material available on record, it reveals that the prosecution primarily rests its case upon the dying declaration of the deceased. However, before entering into the evaluation of the solemn dying declaration made by the deceased before the Executive Magistrate, it is expedient to analyze the ocular testimonies and other prosecution evidence available on record.

52. PW-1, Manish Rai, the brother of the deceased, admitted in his cross-examination that his brother-in-law, Kamlesh Sharma, had initially informed him regarding the alleged incident over a mobile phone. Upon receiving this information, he immediately rushed to the hospital, where his deceased sister narrated the entire incident to him. In his cross-examination, he further stated that on 27.10.2015, his mother was the first person to be intimated in respect of the burning incident of the deceased. Upon receiving this intimation, he directly reached the Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, following which his father also arrived at the hospital between 09:00 P.M. and 09:30 P.M. He candidly admitted that he was not an eyewitness to the actual occurrence, as he did not visit the matrimonial house of the deceased immediately, and therefore, he could not interact with the neighbors at the spot. He testified that on 28.10.2015 at around 09:00 A.M., the Executive Magistrate recorded the dying declaration of the deceased. This witness categorically denied the suggestions put forth by the defence/convict side that the deceased had been cajoled or tutored into falsely implicating the accused persons in the matter.

53. At this juncture, it is relevant to note that the accused persons have taken a specific defence during the cross-examination of the witnesses, asserting that the deceased had set herself on fire. PW-1 vehemently denied the defence suggestion that the deceased was mounting pressure on the accused to deposit money into her personal bank account, which allegedly led to her self-immolation.

54. The learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that there are material contradictions and glaring inconsistencies between the oral statements of the prosecution witnesses, the statement recorded by the Investigating Officer, Akhilesh Dwivedi (PW-7), and the formal dying declaration made before the Executive Magistrate. To test the veracity of this argument, we have carefully perused the testimony of Sub-Inspector Akhilesh Dwivedi (PW-7). He deposed that on 29.10.2015, during the course of investigation, he proceeded to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, where he recorded the statement of the injured victim, Manisha Sharma, under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. In the said statement, the victim disclosed that on 27.10.2015 between 07:00 P.M. and 07:30 P.M., her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, initially called Shambhu Sharma. Upon his arrival, Shambhu forcefully pressed and gagged her mouth, co-accused Sarita Devi brought kerosene oil, Malti Devi handed over the matchbox to Vimal Sharma, and Vimal Sharma subsequently set her on fire. She further stated that all four accused persons thereafter fled the scene, following which the neighbors arrived, extinguished the flames on her body and with their assistance, her husband admitted her to the hospital.

55. PW-7 further exposed that on 30.10.2015, he recorded the statement of the victim's husband, Kamlesh Sharma, under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. Kamlesh Sharma narrated that he was not present at the house at the time of the alleged incident. Upon receiving information regarding the burning of his wife, he rushed back to the house and saw his wife lying in a severely burnt state. He stated that Vimal Sharma, Shambhu Sharma, Sarita Devi, and Malti Devi, after pouring kerosene oil, had set his wife on fire.

56. The learned counsel for the appellants has pointed out that while the deposition of the I.O. (PW-7) emerges with a specific role for Shambhu Sharma (gagging the mouth), Sarita Devi (pouring kerosene), Malti Devi (handing over the matchbox), and Vimal Sharma (setting the fire); the statement of the deceased's husband (Kamlesh Sharma) generalizes the overt act by stating that all the accused persons collectively poured kerosene oil and set her on fire. On the other hand, a different posture is reflected in the formal dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate (Exhibit Ka-3), wherein the deceased stated that her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, assaulted her with fists, the daughter-in-law of his mistress (Sarita Devi) brought the kerosene oil, and thereafter her father-in-law and Malti Sharma sprinkled the kerosene oil, and Vimal Sharma set her on fire. On the basis of these variations regarding the specific roles attributed to Malti Devi, Sarita Devi, and the complete omission of Shambhu Sharma in the Magistrate's recording, the appellants contend that the recitals in the multiple dying declarations are mutually destructive, unworthy of confidence, and completely lose their legal sanctity.

57. We are, however, not in agreement with this line of argument advanced by the defence. The reason is that neither the informant, Manish Rai (PW-1), nor the Investigating Officer, Akhilesh Dwivedi (PW-7), are medical experts to legally certify or disclose the exact cognitive and mental fitness of the deceased at the precise moment they interacted with her. Therefore, it cannot be conclusively presumed that at the time of giving the statement to the I.O. or the informal narrative to the informant, the deceased was in a perfectly fit state of mind to render a precise and legally structured account.

58. On the contrary, to evaluate the statutory sanctity of the dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-3), the testimony of Rajesh Kumar Srivastava, the then Naib Tehsildar/Executive Magistrate (examined as PW-2), is of paramount importance. PW-2 deposed that upon receiving official intimation from the SDM, Sarojini Nagar, he reached the Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, on 28.10.2015 at around 09:00 A.M. He categorically testified that when he recorded the statement of the deceased, her voice was absolutely clear and intelligible. He clarified that any discrepancy regarding the date was merely typographical, and he firmly established that the statement was recorded on 28.10.2015. Crucially, PW-2 certified that the attending doctor had examined the patient and certified her to be in a mentally fit state of mind prior to the recording. He also clarified that during the actual recording of the statement, the medical officer was not present inside the room, ensuring an environment free from any influence.

59. The veracity of the Executive Magistrate (PW-2) stands fully fortified by the testimony of the medical expert, Dr. Rahul Chaudhary, who was examined as PW-10, who before the Magistrate commenced the recording and thoroughly examined the patient mentally and physically, finding her fully conscious, oriented, and fit to give her voluntary statement. He further deposed that after the completion of the recording by the Magistrate, he examined her again and appended a subsequent certification confirming that the deceased remained stable and in a fit mental state before and throughout the recording process. In his cross-examination, PW-10 firmly stated that he had actively ousted Kamlesh Sharma and all other relatives from the room before examining the victim, and after conducting the medical examination, he himself stepped out of the room. He emphatically controverted the defence suggestion that he had manipulated or manufactured the dying declaration in collusion with the victim's husband.

60. A joint and harmonious reading of the testimony of the author of the dying declaration, Rajesh Kumar Srivastava (PW-2), and the medical officer, Dr. Rahul Chaudhary (PW-10), conclusively demonstrates that the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded when she was in a perfectly fit state of mind, duly backed by contemporaneous medical certifications. The rigorous cross-examination of these witnesses has failed to elicit any material or substantive degradation which could assist the case of the appellants. The mere fact that this particular detailed version was not recorded in the same manner by the Investigating Officer does not diminish the overriding statutory value of the solemn dying declaration made before the Executive Magistrate. Any minor lacuna or defect in the investigation cannot override convincing, cohesive, and credible statutory evidence.

61. It has been next argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that the dying declaration indicates a backdrop of long-standing matrimonial friction, as the deceased itself stated that she had been "struggling for twelve years", which according to the defence, indicates a motive for false implication. We find ourselves unable to accept this contention. The statement of the deceased regarding her twelve-year struggle clearly discloses the historical backdrop of continuous torture and harassment meted out against her. It highlights the circumstances of cruelty that culminated in her being set on fire and by no stretch of imagination can it be interpreted to imply that she voluntarily committed suicide by self-immolation.

62. This conclusion is further fortified by the medical testimony of Dr. Ashish Kumar (PW-5), who conducted the post-mortem examination. He categorically deposed that the cause of death was septicaemic shock resulting from infected ante-mortem flame burns involving approximately 80% of the total body surface area. Although the defence attempted to raise arguments to disprove the ante-mortem nature of the injuries, it is crucial to note that it is not even the case of the appellants that the death was not caused by burn injuries. Their sole defence rests on the theory of self-immolation, which stands completely falsified by the nature and extent of the injuries and the evidence on record.

63. The appellants have further sought shelter under the testimony of Mansha Ram (PW-4) to argue that if the appellants were actively involved in the commission of the offence, they would have been noticed by this witness, whereas he only claimed to have seen the convict Vimal Sharma passing by on a bicycle in a trembling state. However, in his cross-examination, PW-4 candidly admitted that he did not witness the actual occurrence with his naked eyes and his knowledge was based on what he heard from others. A perusal of his testimony reveals that he is, at best, a chance witness who observed Vimal Sharma fleeing the vicinity immediately after the incident. The mere fact that he did not see the other co-appellants fleeing alongside Vimal Sharma on the bicycle does not establish their innocence or prove their non-involvement in the joint commission of the offence inside the house.

64. The appellants have also placed reliance on the testimony of Santosh Kumar Sahu (PW-3), arguing that he was the person who rescued the deceased and shifted her to the hospital and at that time he did not find any of the appellants present at the spot. We have given our anxious consideration to this submission coupled with the testimony of PW-4. However, the absence of the appellants at the spot when the neighbors arrived to extinguish the fire is completely consistent with the prosecution narrative that after setting the deceased ablaze, all the accused persons immediately fled the scene of crime. Therefore, their absence does not point towards false implication, but rather corroborates their guilty conduct and subsequent abscondance.

65. It is vehemently contended by the learned counsel for the appellants that the testimonies of Santosh Kumar Sahu (PW-3) and Mansaram (PW-4), when read in conjunction, completely establish that the appellants were not involved in the commission of the alleged offence by any means or manner and that they have been falsely implicated in the present case. We have given our anxious consideration to this contention, but upon a thorough perusal of the record, we find ourselves unable to concur with this line of argument.

66. On a close examination of the testimony of Santosh Kumar Sahu (PW-3), particularly during his cross-examination, he stated that he did not see the accused persons exiting the house of the deceased. He further stated that upon hearing the victim's screams, she emerged out from the house by herself and at that specific moment of time, she was alone. He added that he was unable to recall the exact clothes worn by the deceased at that juncture. Seizing upon this statement, the defence has strenuously argued that none of the accused persons were present inside the house when the deceased allegedly set herself on fire.

67. The learned counsel for the appellants has further built his argument around a statement made by PW-3 in his cross-examination, wherein he mentioned that the accused persons Shambhu, Malti, Sarita, and Vimal Sharma owned two houses and had shifted their residence to their second house, while the deceased continued to reside in the house adjacent to that of the witness. However, in the very same deposition, PW-3 simultaneously clarified that this second house of the accused persons was situated just four or five houses away from their first house.

68. This proximity completely destroys the defence theory. The mere fact that the accused persons owned or occasionally occupied another house separate from the place of occurrence does not, by any stretch of imagination, imply that the other house was so geographically remote that they could not have reached the spot before or at the time of the commission of the crime. The presence of the appellants at the scene of the crime cannot be ruled out or denied on the faint plea of having another house, when that house was located in the immediate vicinity, roughly three to four houses away.

69. Here, it is also highly expedient to contrast this defence plea with the statutory statements given by the appellant-convicts under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. When incriminating circumstances were put to the appellants, Malti Sharma and Sarita Sharma completely denied the testimony of PW-3 (Santosh Kumar Sahu), asserting that he had deposed falsely against them due to enmity. Similarly, with regard to the testimony of the prosecution witness Mansaram (PW-4), on whose statement the defence is paradoxically placing heavy reliance, both the appellants stated in their Section 313 Cr.P.C. examinations that the said witness had given a false statement. Furthermore, regarding the testimony of Rajesh Kumar Srivastava (PW-2), the scribe who recorded the solemn dying declaration, both appellants stated that they had nothing to say.

70. Thus, a glaring contradiction emerges in the defence strategy: while their counsel relies on the oral statements of PW-3 and PW-4 to argue innocence, the accused persons themselves have explicitly disowned and discarded those very witnesses in their statement under Section 313 by branding them as liars. Where sufficient opportunity was afforded to the accused to explain the incriminating circumstances, they chose a blanket denial of the ocular evidence but significantly failed to utter a single word to contradict the core recitals or deny the incriminating circumstances recorded in the dying declaration. Consequently, the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants cannot be accepted merely on the strength of an inconsistent oral plea.

71. On a minute and critical observation of the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate (PW-2), we do not find any structural inconsistency or infirmity regarding the presence and the explicit roles attributed to the present appellants. It is a cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that a dying declaration recorded by an independent Magistrate, where there is no opportunity for tutoring, fabrication, or psychological promptings, is highly reliable and cannot be ignored.

72. The genesis of the crime stands firmly established by the testimony of the informant, Manish Rai (PW-1), who deposed that the deceased's father-in-law, convict Vimal Sharma, maintained an illicit relationship with Malti Devi. This relationship was continuously and vehemently opposed by the deceased, Manisha Sharma, on account of which Vimal Sharma, Malti Devi, Shambhu Sharma, and Sarita Devi collectively nurtured severe animosity toward her. The depth of this friction is evidenced by the fact that prior to the fatal incident, on 12.07.2015, the deceased had also submitted a formal written application detailing this harassment to the Police Station, Sarojini Nagar.

73. It is true that the deceased's husband (Kamlesh Sharma) was not examined by either side during the trial. However, the defence has urged before us to consider that the appellants were falsely implicated because the deceased was under severe mental distress and was allegedly mounting pressure on her father-in-law, Vimal Sharma, to disburse and deposit his retirement funds directly into her personal bank account. We find this alternative theory of self-immolation to be highly speculative, weak, and entirely unsubstantiated by the record. Where the statutory dying declaration is clinching, reliable, and convincing completely free from any visible embellishment, manipulation, or inducement and is fully supported by the broader circumstances disclosed in the prosecution evidence, the defence plea becomes fail.

74. Therefore, after taking into consideration all the facts, evidence, and circumstances in their entirety, as well as the role and active participation of the appellants in the alleged offence, we find that the prosecution has successfully established its case beyond reasonable doubt. Consequently, the learned trial court has thoroughly discussed every aspect, analyzed the evidence in detail, and arrived at a proper conclusion. There is no illegality, infirmity, or perversity in the impugned judgment of conviction and order of sentence passed by the learned Trial Court dated 04.04.2023.

75. Consequently, both the criminal appeals (Criminal Appeal Nos.1491 of 2023 and 1587 of 2023) are devoid of merits and are hereby dismissed. The conviction and sentence of the appellants, as recorded by the learned Trial Court, are upheld.

76. Since we have decided the appeals on merit so the pending bail applications stand dismissed.

77. Let a copy of this judgment along with the trial court record be transmitted to the learned Trial Court immediately for necessary compliance.

Criminal Appeal No. 1689 of 2000

Sobaran & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the finding and reasoning of the Trial Court convicting the accused-appellants under Ss. 148, 302 read with S. 149 IPC, on the basis of the theory of last seen together and the recovery of the alleged murder weapon under S. 27 of the Evidence Act, is sustainable in the absence of any eye-witness and without completion of the chain of circumstantial evidence. (Paras 16-37).

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 148, 302 read with S. 149 -Circumstantial evidence - Last seen together theory - Conviction based solely on last seen together without corroborative evidence held unsustainable - the prosecution witnesses projected as witnesses of last seen were found to have concealed what they had allegedly seen and did not disclose the same to the informant or to the Investigating Officer until after the dead bodies were identified, rendering their evidence shaky and suspicious - held that evidence of last seen together is a weak type of evidence and conviction only on this basis, without any other corroborative evidence, is not sustainable. (Paras 19-24, 28).

Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 27 - Discovery statement - Recovery of weapon - Absence of disclosure memo - no disclosure statement of the accused was recorded by the Investigating Officer regarding concealment of the murder weapon - recovery memo of the alleged weapon held doubtful and unreliable in the absence of a disclosure statement, and further, the Forensic Science Laboratory report did not establish that the human blood found on the weapons belonged to the deceased persons. (Paras 29-32).

Criminal Law - Circumstantial evidence - Chain of circumstances - Golden principles - conviction on circumstantial evidence requires that the chain of circumstances be complete and consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt, excluding every other hypothesis - in the absence of direct evidence, reliable last seen evidence, or an admissible disclosure/recovery, the chain of circumstantial evidence was held incomplete - Trial Court's judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 19.07.2000 held perverse and illegal and set aside, appeal allowed. (Paras 33-39).

Held: On a conjoint reading of the evidence of the witnesses projected as witnesses of last seen together, it emerges that these witnesses did not disclose what they had purportedly seen, heard or observed on 11.12.1996 to any person, and only after hearing rumour of the lying of two unidentified dead bodies did they come forward, a conduct and manner which creates a reasonable doubt about the veracity and truthfulness of their evidence - it is settled principles of law that on the basis of shaky and suspicious nature of evidence of prosecution witnesses, no accused person could be held guilty and convicted for the commission of the alleged crime - evidence of last seen together is a weak type of evidence and conviction only on the basis of last seen together, without there being any other corroborative evidence against the accused, will not be sufficient to convict the accused for the commission of the alleged crime - as regards the recovery of the murder weapon, there is no disclosure statement of the accused persons recorded by the Investigating Officer about the hiding of the murder weapon at the alleged place, and therefore the recovery memo of the alleged weapon of murder becomes doubtful, more so as the Forensic Science Laboratory report, while confirming presence of human blood on the weapons, does not establish that such blood belonged to the deceased persons - this case is neither a case of direct evidence nor a case of last seen together theory inspiring confidence, and it is settled principles of law that in case of circumstantial evidence the prosecution is legally responsible and duty bound to complete every link of the chain of circumstantial evidence from which it could be undoubtedly proved that in all human probability the act must have been committed by the appellants - on the basis of shaky, suspicious and doubtful circumstantial evidence, conviction of an accused-appellant could not be recorded - the finding and reasoning of the Trial Court is without any cogent and reliable evidence and is against the settled principles of law, and the judgment and order of the Trial Court is perverse and illegal, hence not found sustainable in the eyes of law - the judgment and order of conviction and sentence is liable to be set aside and the appeal deserves to be allowed. (Paras 24, 28, 31, 32, 34, 36, 37, 38, 39). (E-7)

Yunus son of Alisher Khan is a resident of Ganipur, Nawabganj. Today on 12.12.1996, I had gone to Block Compound to inquire about distribution of trees. At that time, it was 01:00 O' clock of the day. I saw that some children of the school and villagers were running fast towards North from Block Compound. I tried to know the problem and after reaching 300 meters away, I saw that dead bodies of two persons were lying in the wheat field of Ram Swaroop Pal son of Jodha Lal Pal resident of Hamirpur Bogar, Police Station Nawabganj, in which one person wore pant, shirt and the other woar Kurta, Paijama and Sadri. There were many injuries on their faces due to this it is difficult to identify their faces. I have come to police station to give information about this fact, accordingly. This information dated 12.12.1996 has been lodged by Mohd. Yunus PW-6 at Police Station Nawabganj.

3. On the basis of the information Exhibit Ka-6, an FIR Exhibit Ka-21 was registered at Case Crime No. 226 of 1996 under Section 302 IPC on 12.12.1996 against unknown accused persons by Constable Clerk Krishna Dutt Dixit PW-9. Krishna Dutt Dixit PW-9. After registration of the FIR also entered and prepared G.D. rapat No.24 at 03:30 pm as Exhibit Ka-22. After registration of the FIR-Exhibit Ka-21, investigation of the case was taken into his hand by SHO Shivraj Singh PW-8. I.O. Shiv Raj Singh PW-8 has reached with police team including Sub Inspector Rajaram Suman PW-5 and Sub Inspector R.N. Tiwari PW-7 at the place of occurrence. Under direction of I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8, S.I. Rajaram Suman PW-5 collected sample of plain soil and blood stained soil, near the dead body of the deceased Awadhesh and prepared recovery memo Exhibit Ka-2. From the place of occurrence, he has also taken into possession one bar of bamboo and prepared recovery memo of this as Exhibit Ka-3. He also took simple soil and blood stained soil from near the place of the dead body of the deceased Sobaran and prepared a recovery memo Exhibit Ka-4. Under direction of S.I Shivraj Singh PW-8 and R.N. Tiwari PW-7 prepared panchayatnama of deceased Sobaran as Exhibit Ka-7. He also prepared other related police papers of panchayatnama, such as letter to CMO, photolash, challanlash, report to R.I. as Exhibit Ka-8, Exhibit Ka-9, Exhibit Ka-10 and Exhibit Ka-11, respectively. S.I. R.N. Tiwari, PW-7 on the same date prepared panchayatnama of the deceased Awadhesh as Exhibit Ka-12 and other necessary police papers, such as report to CMO, Challannash, Photolash, report to R.I. as Exhibit Ka-13, Exhibit Ka-14, Exhibit Ka-15, respectively. After preparing the panchayatnama of the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh, the dead bodies of the deceased were handed over to Constable Dev Dutt Pandey and Shivraj Singh PW-8 for postmortem examination.

4. After receiving information about the dead bodies of Sobaran and Awadhesh and identification of the above dead bodies, father of the deceased Sobaran, Hariram PW-1 has also got ascribed written report Exhibit Ka-1 from Ram Niwas PW-2 and submitted it at police station Nawabganj, district Farrukhabad. In his written report Exhibit Ka-1, Hariram PW-1 has stated that on 7.10.1996, Satish Chandra, son of Feru Singh of my village was bitten by snake, due to which, he died. Feru Singh had given information at police station about the death of Satish Chandra. The police got postmortem conducted of his body, in which cause of death was found to be snake biting, but Feru Singh had doubted that, Sobaran Singh and Surendra had killed my son. He oftenly discussed this thing in the village and regarded enmity with us. Due to this reason, I and my son went to my relations at Nagla Ajeet P.S. Patiyali, district Etah. From there we also came and go at my village. I had came here from 3-4 days and two months have lapsed by now after the date the incident happened and their doubts would have been disappeared. Yesterday on 11.12.1996, my son Sobaran on his motorcycle with Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra, resident of Village Bhadki Naya Gaon district Etah, had came Nawabganj, to came his home and on the crossroad (chauraha) at Nawabganj, Ram Kisun son of Jageshwar Singh and Vedram Singh Son of Himchal Singh of my village and my Samdhi Kaptaan Singh son of Chetram, resident of Nagla Azeet had seen both of them. My Samdhi had asked them to go home then they said that you may go we will reach after sometime. At crossroad (Chauraha), these peoples had also seen Feru Singh son of Ram Swaroop, Nar Singh @ Naiya, Dharamveer Son of Feru Singh, Sobaran son of Maiku Lal, Shiv Pal Singh son of Maiku Lal at crossroad. After darkness began, my son Sobaran and Awadhesh son of his Aunt (Mausi) both had to proceed on foot towards village. Then these people have also seen coming behind them. Today, in the day on receiving information, that two dead bodies were lying in front of the Block Compound, I have also come with my family members, then I saw that my son Sobaran and his aunt's son Awadhesh both are lying dead in the wheat field. On enquiring about this, Vedram, Ram Niwas and my Samdhi had told all things to me. I have full belief that Feru Singh and other above people had killed my son Sobaran and Awadhesh, so kindly take necessary action against them.

5. On 27.12.1996, appellants Feru Singh, Nar Singh, Shiv Raj were arrested by the I.O. with his police team from Manjhana railway station at 02:00 pm in day. Above three appellants have stated in their statements before the I.O., that they could get recovered murder weapon, i.e. Gadasa and Takora. Upon this information given by the accused persons Feru Singh, Shiv Raj Singh and Nar Singh, they were taken into a jeep with police party and proceeded to village Bogar. On reaching near village Bogar, accused persons Feru Singh, Nar Singh and Shiv Raj Singh get down from the police jeep and on their pointing out from the pool of the patel near the hut of Shiv Raj Singh, has traced a Takora which was appearing stained with blood and given to the police. The accused person Nar Singh @ Naiya has also given a blood stained Garasa from the pool of the patel near the hut of appellant Shiv Raj Singh. The Garasa appears to be blood stained. On the dictation of the I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8, S.I. Rajaram Suman PW-5 prepared fard recovery of the above articles as Exhibit Ka-5.

6. I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8 prepared site plan Exhibit Ka-7 of the place of occurrence from where dead bodies of the deceased were found. I.O. also prepared site plan of the place from where the murder weapon was recovered as Exhibit Ka-18. He has also recorded the statements of witnesses including informant Hariram PW-1 and arrested accused persons. After completing all the formalities of the investigation, I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8 filed a charge-sheet Exhibit Ka-19 against the appellants.

7. The dead bodies of the deceased were carried by Constable Dev Dutt Pandey and Shiv Singh for postmortem. Dr. Arun Prakash Chaturvedi PW-10 has conducted the postmortem on the dead bodies of deceased Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra and prepared postmortem report as Exhibit Ka-29. He also conducted postmortem of the dead body of deceased Sobaran and prepared postmortem report as Exhibit Ka-33. Dr. Arun Prakash Chaturvedi PW-10 found following ante mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased Awadhesh :

"(1) Incised wound 10cm x 1 cm cranaial cavity deep on left side of head 5 cm above left ear at parietal and occipital region

(2) Incised wound 12 cm x 2 cm x cranaial cavity deep 2 cm above injury no.1.

Note : Incised wound having clear and ragged margins, all facial bones fractured, teeth nose broken. Mandible and maxilla fractured."

In the opinion of Dr. Arun Prakash Chaturvedi, the cause of death of both deceased was hemorrhage and shock due to ante-mortem injuries.

8. After submission of the charge-sheet by I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8 in the concerned Magistrate Court having jurisdiction, case was committed to the Court of Session for trial.

9. Charges were framed against accused appellants on 21.04.1999 under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 IPC by the Trial Court. The accused have denied from the charge and claimed trial.

10. In support of its case, prosecution adduced Hariram PW-1, Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, and Mohd Yunus PW-6 as witnesses of facts and Raja Ram Suman PW-5, R.N. Tiwari, PW-7, Shivraj Singh PW-8 Krishna Dutt Dixit-PW-9 and Dr. Arun Prakash Chaturvedi PW-10 were adduced as formal witnesses. Apart from the above oral evidence of these witnesses, prosecution also relied on documentary evidence from Exhibit Ka-1 to Exhibit Ka-34.

11. Learned Trial Court has recorded evidence of the prosecution and accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In their statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused appellants have denied the allegations levelled against them and they have also expressed ignorance about the questions which were put to them. They have also stated that, they were falsely implicated in this case by Hariram due to enmity and police has also falsely implicated them due to enmity and village rivalry and partibandi. They have also stated that, witnesses have given the evidence against them due to enmity. They have adduced Akhilesh as DW-1 in their defence.

12. After hearing the arguments of both the parties, Trial Court has found guilty to accused persons under Section 148, 302 read with Section 149 IPC and for the commission of the crime, each accused appellants were convicted and sentenced under Section 148 IPC for two years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1,000/-, each and on default of payment of fine, each accused appellants were directed to serve six months additional imprisonment. Each accused appellants were also convicted and sentenced under Section 302 read with 149 IPC by life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000/- each. In case of default of payment of fine, each accused appellant were directed to serve additional one year simple imprisonment. All the sentences of each accused person were directed to run concurrently. Aggrieved by the above impugned judgment and order of the learned Trial Court dated 19.07.2000, appellants have preferred this criminal appeal before this Court.

13. It is noteworthy to mention here that during the pendency of this criminal appeal, appellant Nos. 1 Sobaran son of Maiku Lal; appellant No.2 Shivraj son of Maiku Lal, appellant No.4 Feru Singh have died. Due to death of appellant Nos. 1, 2, and 4, criminal appeal in respect of these above appellants have abated. It is revealed from the office report dated 22.1.2025 that accused-appellant No.5 Nar Singh @ Naiya has been declared juvenile by the Juvenile Justice Board, Etah in Case Crime No. 226 of 1996 under Sections 149, 148, 302 IPC., hence this criminal appeal is being adjudicated only in respect of appellant Nos. 3, 5 and 6 namely Shiv Pal, appellant No.5 Nar Singh @ Naiya and Dharamveer @ Dharampal.

14. Learned counsel for surviving appellants have submitted that due to prior enmity and grudge, Hariram PW-1 has lodged written report/information against accused-appellants only on the ground of doubts. No witness has seen commission of the offence by their own eyes. Place of occurrence where dead bodies were lying of the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh is an open place in the wheat field, near the Block Compound. If any person would have really seen the commission of the crime/evidence by the appellants then, in this condition, FIR Exhibit Ka-6 have not been registered as against unknown persons. It is also submitted on behalf of the appellants that no prosecution witnesses have seen the deceased persons going with appellants at Nawabganj. However, later with deliberation and afterthoughts, Hariram PW-1 falsely projected Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, as witnesses of the last seen theory with a view to falsely implicate the appellant in this case. These witnesses were also planted and projected by the prosecution in this case to support the prosecution story. However, from the perusal of the evidence of prosecution witnesses, it is clear that they were not present at Nawabganj on 11.12.1996 and they have also not going behind the deceased persons Sobaran and Awadhesh. It is also submitted that recovery of so-called Garasa and Takora at the pointing out of the appellants is also doubtful, because in Forensic Science Laboratory Examination report, only blood was found on Garasa and Takora (Kulhari). However, it has not been mentioned in the FSL Report that blood which was found on Garasa and Takora was of deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh. Learned counsel for the appellants has also submitted that there is no direct evidence in this case. There is also no circumstantial evidence in this case against the accused appellants. However, learned Trial Court, on the basis of conjectures and surmises without completing every chain of circumstantial evidence, wrongly held guilty to accused appellants for the commission of the crime. The Trial Court has also not appreciated the evidence in proper perspective and in legal manner according to the evidence as available on the records. The finding of the Trial Court is without cogent evidence, which is based on misreading of the prosecution evidence that are against the prosecution itself. The prosecution was wholly unsuccessful to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. However, the Trial Court only on the ground of enmity and conjecture and surmises, wrongly held guilty and convicted the accused appellants in this case, for the commission of the alleged crime. The finding and reasoning of the Trial Court is perverse and without any evidence and against the law. Hence, liable to be set aside. Therefore, the appeal of the appellants deserves to be allowed.

15. Against the above submission of learned counsel for the appellants, learned AGA for the State-respondent and learned counsel for the informant/complainant have also opposed the above arguments of the appellants. Learned AGA for the State-respondent and learned counsel for the informant/complainant have submitted that appellants have committed the murder of Sobaran and Awadhesh on 11.12.1996. They have called upon the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh on the pretext of compromise and taken to field with them and taking opportunity, accused appellants have killed mercilessly and brutally to deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh. Prosecution witnesses Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, have seen accused appellants with deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh on 11.12.1996 at Nawabganj crossroad (chauraha) and thereafter they were also seen with accused appellants. Thus, there is ample evidence of last seen together all appellants with deceased persons on the day of incidence before their death. On the instance of the appellant, murder weapon Takora and Garasa were recovered from near the hut of Shiv Raj Singh, on which human blood was found, which was used by the appellants in the commission of murder of Sobaran and Awadhesh. The Trial Court has rightly appreciated the prosecution evidence as available on the record. The Trial Court has delivered sound and cogent finding, which is based on reliable prosecution evidence and, therefore, the Trial Court found ample evidence against accused appellants, hence accused appellants were convicted and sentenced by the learned Trial Court. There is no perversity and illegality in the judgment and order of the Trial Court dated 19.07.2000. There is no force in criminal appeal as filed by the appellants. Hence, criminal appeal of appellants is devoid of merits and there is no force in the submission advanced by learned counsel for the appellants. Due to this reason, the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 19.07.2000 deserves to be affirmed.

16. In the light of the above arguments and counter arguments of the learned counsel for the accused-appellants and learned AGA, learned counsel for the informant, we have perused and gone through the finding and reasoning as recorded by the learned Trial Court in convicting and sentencing the accused-appellants for the alleged crime.

17. First of all, from the perusal of the written report Exhibit Ka-6, it reveals that after this news that dead bodies of two unknown persons were lying in the wheat field of Ram Swaroop Pal son of Jodha Lal Pal, a resident of Hamirpur Bogar P.S. Nawabganj near north side of the block compound. The dead bodies of the two persons were unidentified and no person was there to identify the dead bodies of the two deceased and no person was lodging information about this fact that two unidentified bodies are lying on there. In these circumstances, Mohd. Yunus PW-6, a local resident of Ganipur, Nawabganj has filed written report Exhibit Ka-6, in which he has given the information about lying of two dead bodies of the deceased persons as unidentified in the wheat field of Ram Swaroop Pal at police station Nawabganj. This Exhibit Ka-6 was written by Mohd. Yunus PW-6 on 12.12.1996. On the basis of this Exhibit Ka-6, as filed by Mohd. Yunus PW-6, Chik FIR Exhibit Ka-11 No.139 was registered at Crime No. 326/1996 under Section 302 IPC on 12.12.1996 at 13:30 PM. This fact indicates that till 13:30 PM on 12.12.1996, dead bodies of the two deceased namely Sobaran and Awadhesh were unidentified on the place of occurrence and it is also clear that till 13:30 PM on 12.12.1996, family members or any relative of the deceased persons have not come to the place of occurrence where two dead bodies were lying as unidentified. This fact also clearly established this that family members of the deceased persons have no information about this incident that their sons/brothers/husbands, as the case may be, were murdered near the block compound of Nawabganj and their bodies were lying there as unidentified. Investigation of the case was started on the basis of the written report Exhibit Ka-1, as filed by Mohd. Yunus PW-6.

18. On hearing news and rumors about the two dead bodies of the deceased were lying in the north side of the block compound of Nawabganj, which were unidentified, Hariram PW-1, father of deceased Sobaran with his family members reached at the place of occurrence where dead bodies were lying as unidentified. During the course of cross-examination, Hariram PW-1, has clearly accepted this fact that in village I heard a rumor that two dead bodies of boys are lying in a field in front of block compound, Nawabganj. All the people have started to proceed at the place of occurrence to see this scene. Therefore, I have also gone with family to see the place of occurrence, when I had came at the place of occurrence then, all the police personnel were present on there. Meanwhile, dead bodies of the two deceased persons were identified as Sobaran son of Hariram and Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra. After that Hariram PW-1, father of deceased Sobaran has got ascribed a second written report Exhibit Ka-1 from Ram Niwas PW-2, submitted at Police Station Nawabganj. In these facts and circumstances, it is clearly revealed that after 13:30 PM on 12.12.1996, Hariram PW-1, has filed a written report Exhibit Ka-1 with deliberation and afterthoughts, implicating accused in this case for the commission of the alleged crime. This fact cast against the truthfulness of the prosecution story and by this, prosecution story becomes doubtful from the very beginning, itself.

19. Thus, it is clear that in this case, no eye-witness have seen the commission of the crime by the accused with their own eyes. From the perusal of the finding and reasoning of the judgment and order dated 19.07.2000, as passed by the learned Trial Court, we find that learned Trial Court has relied on the evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, as witnesses of last seen of the deceased persons with the accused-appellants. In this way, the Trial Court applied last seen together theory in this case and regarded Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, as a witness of last seen, who have seen Sobaran and Awadhesh with accused persons before their death on 11.12.1996 in the market of Nawabganj, wondering at crossroad together. Relying on the evidence of Hariram PW-1, Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, the Trial Court has regarded their evidence as fully reliable as witnesses of last seen together. From the perusal of the evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, we find that this witness has stated that this incident has happened on 11.12.1996. On that day, he had gone Nawabganj market when he came at Nawabganj crossroad (chauraha) near the market, then he met with Kaptaan Singh, who was Samdhi of Hariram. According to this witness, when this witness was returning from crossroad Nawabganj to his home then, there Sobaran and Awadhesh have also met with this witness. According to this witness, when this witness almost in his way of return, proceeded towards bus stop then, accused Sobaran, Shivram, Shiv Pal, Feru Singh, Nar Singh @ Naiya met him. These people were going behind Hariram and Awadhesh. According to this witness, he has seen accused persons were going behind deceased Awadhesh and Sobaran. Thereafter, next day after hearing rumor about the lying of two dead bodies, this witness has also gone alone at the place of occurrence to see the dead bodies. According to this witness, Hariram PW-1 has also met with this witness at the place of occurrence. Hariram PW-1 and his wife have identified their son Sobaran□s and dead body of Awadhesh. This witness has also stated that after recovery of the dead bodies, I had told to Hariram PW-1 that accused persons, his son and son of their Sadu had met at crossroad. In his cross-examination, this witness has clearly stated that on reaching in village, I had not told this thing to uncle Hariram that I had seen both deceased and accused persons at Nawabganj crossroad. Hariram PW-1 had not meet on the next day. I had not went to the house of Hariram to inquire this fact that Sobaran and Awadhesh (cousin brother) have came to village or not. Therefore, from the perusal of the evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, it is clear that this witness although has stated that he had seen the deceased persons with accused at crossroad of Nawabganj Bazar on 11.12.1996 and also this fact that accused persons were going behind the deceased persons. Only on the hearing of rumor about lying of two dead bodies at the place of occurrence, this witness has gone there where Hariram PW-1 has met with this witness with family, then, this witness has told this thing to Hariram PW-1. Thus, the evidence and statement of Ram Niwas PW-2, cast a doubt about truthfulness and credibility, trustworthiness of his evidence itself. If really Ram Niwas PW-2 had seen deceased persons with accused appellants on 11.12.1996 at Nawabganj crossroad Bazar then, this witness could easily told this fact to Hariram PW-1, father of the deceased Sobaran on 11.12.1996. However, only after identification of the dead bodies of two deceased persons Sobaran and Awadhesh, this witness has told the above fact to Hariram PW-1, father of deceased Sobaran at the place of occurrence after 13:30 PM on 12.12.1996. Therefore, in the light of the above discussion, we are of the opinion that this witness is being projected and planted by the prosecution with a view to support the prosecution case. This witness is not a witness of last seen together of deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh before this death with accused.

20. From the perusal of the evidence of Shyam Singh PW-3, we find that this witness has also stated in the same manner and style, as was stated by Ram Niwas PW-2 in his evidence. This witness has also stated that he has gone to Nawabganj Bazar, crossroad on 11.12.1996 and when he was returning to his home, then, he saw in front of the block compound in the evening at about 08:00 PM that accused appellants and deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh were going on the street ahead of him. According to this witness, accused persons were saying that they and deceased were talking themselves that you come today, we will settle the matter. The accused were also saying that if we would went in the village then, different types of talk would be there by sitting there and we can do the compromise. According to this witness, thereafter the accused and deceased had gone in the north direction from the road and this witness has returned to his home. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that I had not told this thing to Hariram PW-1, because there was a large crowd over there. This witness has stated that he reached at 02:00 PM on the day of occurrence to see the dead bodies. This witness has also stated that I had not told till today this thing that I had seen the deceased drinking wine near the block compound.

21. Therefore, from the perusal of the evidence of Shyam Singh PW-3, it is amply clear that prosecution has also planted and projected this witness with consideration and afterthoughts to substantiate its case and to ensure conviction of the accused for the commission of the alleged crime. Surprisingly in the same way in which Ram Niwas PW-2, has not told to Hariram PW-1, what he has seen at crossroad of Nawabganj Bazar. In the same way, this witness has also not told to Hariram PW-1, father of the deceased Sobaran that he has seen accused persons and deceased together and talking among themselves about compromise on 11.12.1996. This conduct and manner of Shyam Singh PW-3 is highly suspicious, that creates a reasonable doubt about this fact that in reality he has seen accused and deceased together talking among themselves about compromise. Thus, evidence of Shyam Singh PW-3 is also found unreliable and unworthy of credit. His evidence also does not inspire any confidence.

22. From the perusal of the evidence of Indresh Singh PW-4, we find that Indresh Singh PW-4 son of Ram Chandra is a resident of village Bhadki, P.S. Naya Gaon, District Etah, presently residing at Nagla Gusron, P.S. Mohammadabad, District Farrukhabad. Indresh Singh PW-4 is elder brother of deceased Awadhesh. This witness has stated in his evidence that on the day of occurrence, he was at his home at village Bhadki. Apart from this, this witness, his mother, wife of deceased Awadhesh were also present at home. According to this witness, accused Sobaran, Shivraj and one other person whose name is not known, have came at the home of this witness at Bhadki. According to this witness, accused have said to Awadhesh that, come and assist us in doing compromise. Deceased Sobaran was also present there. According to this witness, accused persons were saying that they will give weightage to your words. Thereafter according to this witness, accused took Sobaran son of Hariram PW-1 and Awadhesh with them. Thereafter on next day, this witness has heard that Sobaran and Awadhesh have died. In his cross-examination, this witness has said that Sobaran had come at my home a day before incident. This witness has also stated that those accused who had come to take my brother and Sobaran on the date of 11.12.1996 at 09:00 AM. This witness is stating that on 11.12.1996 at 09:00 AM, accused persons have come at the house of this witness and took with them deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh. In his cross-examination, this witness has clearly accepted that he has not told to the I.O. that accused persons have called and taken with them the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh on the pretext of compromise and killed them. According to this witness, on the next day morning in the cremation ceremony, he had gone at the house of Hariram PW-1, then, this witness has told that about three accused had taken with them deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh on 11.12.1996 on the pretext of compromise.

23. Thus, from the perusal of the evidence of Indresh Singh PW-4, it is also revealed that, prosecution has also planted and projected Indresh Singh PW-4 as a witness of last seen together. However, from the perusal of the whole evidence of this witness, it is clear that in spite of this fact that accused had gone at home at Bhadki of this witness and taken deceased Sobaran son of Hariram PW-1 and Awadhesh with them on the pretext of compromise, even in this situation, when so-called enmity was running between Hariram PW-1 and accused appellant Feru Singh, this witness Indresh Singh PW-4 has not told these things to Hariram PW-1 or other responsible person. Even Indresh Singh PW-4 has not told this thing that has happened on 11.12.1996 at his home at village Bhadki to the I.O. even at the place of occurrence where dead bodies of the deceased Sobaran son of Hariram and Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra were found. From the evidence and statement of this witness itself, it is revealed that this witness is not a witness of last seen together of deceased persons with accused before their death.

24. In the light of the above discussion, we find that although prosecution has projected Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4 as witnesses of last seen, who have seen deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh alive with accused persons before their death. However, from the above discussion and perusal of the evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4, it is clear that in reality these witnesses have not seen to the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh with the accused persons before their death. Prosecution has miserably failed in their attempt to prove its case on the basis of the evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4 as witnesses of last seen together. However, learned Trial Court wrongly and against the settled principles of law relying on unreliable and doubtful evidence of Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3 and Indresh Singh PW-4 has held guilty to accused appellants.

25. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rambraksh @ Jalim vs. State of Chhattisgarh (2016) 12 SCC 251 has observed as follows:

"...the last seen theory applies only when the time gap between the last seen point and the discovery of the death is so small that no one else could have committed the crime. Even then, this circumstance alone is insufficient and the prosecution must establish a complete chain of circumstances proving the accused's guilt. In the said decision, this Court held as under:

"12. It is trite law that a conviction cannot be recorded against the accused merely on the ground that the accused was last seen with the deceased. In other words, a conviction cannot be based on the only circumstance of last seen together. Normally, last seen theory comes into play where the time gap, between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were seen last alive and when the deceased is found dead, is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the perpetrator of the crime becomes impossible. To record a conviction, the last seen together itself would not be sufficient and the prosecution has to complete the chain of circumstances to bring home the guilt of the accused."

26. In the case of Krishnan alias Ramasamy vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2014) 12 SCC 279, while relying its judgment in Arjun Marik vs. State of Bihar 1994 (2) SCC 372, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as follows :

"21. The conviction cannot be based only on circumstance of last seen together with the deceased. In Arjun Marik v. State of Bihar [1994 Supp (2) SCC 372 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 1551] this Court held as follows: (SCC p. 385, para 31)

"31. Thus the evidence that the appellant had gone to Sitaram in the evening of 19-7-1985 and had stayed in the night at the house of deceased Sitaram is very shaky and inconclusive. Even if it is accepted that they were there it would at best amount to be the evidence of the appellants having been seen last together with the deceased. But it is settled law that the only circumstance of last seen will not complete the chain of circumstances to record the finding that it is consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and, therefore, no conviction on that basis alone can be founded."

27. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kanhaiya Lal vs. State of Rajasthan (2014) 4 SCC 715 has held as follows:

"...that evidence on last seen together is a weak evidence and conviction only on the basis of last seen together without there being any other corroborative evidence against the accused will not be sufficient to convict the accused for an offence under Sections 302 and 201 of the IPC."

28. Thus, from the legal principles as enunciated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krishnan alias Ramasamy (supra), Arjun Marik (supra) and Kanhaiya Lal (supra), it is clear that evidence of last seen together is a weak type of evidence and conviction, only on the basis of last seen together, without there being any other corroborative evidence against accused will not be sufficient to convict the accused for the commission of the alleged crime. From the perusal of the evidence of prosecution witnesses who are projected by the prosecution as witness of last seen, such as Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3, Indresh Singh PW-4 by the prosecution it is clear that evidence of the above prosecution witnesses of the so called last seen together, do not inspire any confidence. From the reading and perusal of the evidence of the above witnesses of prosecution, it is clear that for the conviction of the appellants, evidence of these witnesses could not be safely relied for the conviction of the appellants. Since they have not told what they had seen, heard or observed on 11.12.1996 to any person, such as Hariram PW-1, father of the deceased Sobaran or to any other person or to any police official. They have concealed whatever they have seen, heard and observed on 11.12.1996 to themselves. Only after hearing rumor i.e. on 12.12.1996 that dead bodies of two unknown deceased persons were lying near the block compound in the wheat field, the above prosecution witnesses have stated this fact to Hariram PW-1, father of the deceased Sobaran and other persons. The conduct and manner of these above prosecution witnesses creates a reasonable doubt about the veracity and truthfulness of their evidence. Evidence of prosecution witnesses Ram Niwas PW-2, Shyam Singh PW-3, Indresh Singh PW-4 are of a very shaky and suspicious nature. It is settled principles of law that, on the basis of shaky and suspicious nature of evidence of any prosecution witnesses, no accused person could be held guilty and convicted for the commission of the alleged crime.

29. From the perusal of the finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court, we find that learned Trial Court in convicting appellants for the commission of the alleged crime also relied on the recovery of the alleged murder weapon Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) on the pointing out of the accused appellant Feru Singh, Nar Singh @ Naika, Shiv Raj from the pool of the patela near the hut of Shiv Raj on 27.12.1996. This recovery memo of alleged murder weapon is Exhibit Ka-5. The Trial Court has also relied on the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory, Mahanagar Lucknow Exhibit Ka-34, in which in result of examination report, it is mentioned that Garasa, which is shown at Serial No.21 and Takora (Kulhari) which is shown at Serial No. 22 have human blood on them. Thus, according to the FSL report Exhibit Ka-34, on Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) human blood has been found. However, in the FSL report, it has not been stated that this human blood belongs to deceased Sobaran son of Hariram and Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra. If prosecution would have been successful in proving this fact that human blood which has been found on Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) is of deceased persons Sobaran son of Hariram PW-1 and Awadhesh son of Ram Chandra, then in this condition, a link in the chain of circumstantial evidence could be regarded to be established by the prosecution. However, without ascertaining this fact that this human blood on Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) is surely of the deceased persons only on the ground of human blood as found on Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) accused (appellant) could not legally be held guilty for the commission of the alleged crime in this case. However, we find that Trial Court only on this ground that human blood has been found in FSL report on the Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) of the murder weapon Exhibit Ka-34, has held guilty to appellants for the commission of the crime. It is very dangerous to hold any person only on the basis of so called recovery of murder weapon on which human bloods were found, that accused person have committed the alleged crime. Apart from the above facts and circumstances, from the perusal of the records of the Trial Court, we find that there is no disclosure statement of the accused persons Feru Singh son of Ram Swaroop, Nar Singh @ Naiya, Dharamveer Son of Feru Singh, Sobaran son of Maiku Lal, Shiv Pal Singh son of Maiku Lal recorded by the Investigating Officer Shiv Raj Singh PW-8 about the hiding of the murder weapon at the alleged place. Since there is no disclosure statement of appellants in the records of the case, therefore, in this circumstance, recovery memo of the alleged weapon of murder Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) becomes doubtful and due to this reason, we could not legally rely on the above recovery of alleged weapon of murder as Exhibit Ka-5. The Trial Court wrongly and against the settled principles of law relied on the doubtful recovery of the alleged murder weapon and convicted the accused appellants on the basis of the recovery memo

Exhibit Ka-5. Since it could not be ascertained that blood found on the Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) was certainly of the deceased persons then, it could not be surely and certainly said that the recovered weapon of murder has been used in the alleged commission of the crime by the appellants. However, the Trial Court has not considered these relevant facts in its finding and reasoning on this point. According to evidence of I.O. all three accused persons simultaneously in one voice have made their disclosure statements and have also stated that they have concealed the the murder weapon near the village.

30. On this point of recovery under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Wadla Bheemaraidu Vs. State of Telangana 2024 SCC OnLine SC 3589, has held in paragraphs 26 and 27 as follows:

"26. The law is well settled by a catena of judgments of this Court that the information under Section 27 IEA which leads to discovery of an incriminating material/evidence must be proved by the Investigating Officer as being voluntary and uninfluenced by 27 Exhibit P22-A threat, duress or coercion. The Investigating Officer is also required to prove the contents of the information/confessional memo to the extent they relate to the facts discovered.

27. This Court in the recent judgment of Babu Sahebgouda Rudragoudar v. State of Karnataka (2024) 8 SCC 149, while referring to the earlier judgments on this point, examined the aspect regarding the standard of proof of information provided by the accused to the Investigating Officer under Section 27 IEA in the following terms:-

"60. We would now discuss about the requirement under law so as to prove a disclosure statement recorded under Section 27 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter being referred to as "the Evidence Act") and the discoveries made in furtherance thereof.

61. The statement of an accused recorded by a police officer under Section 27 of the Evidence Act is basically a memorandum of confession of the accused recorded by the investigating officer during interrogation which has been taken down in writing. The confessional part of such statement is inadmissible and only the part which distinctly leads to discovery of fact is admissible in evidence as laid down by this Court in State of U.P. v. Deoman Upadhyaya, 1960 SCC OnLine SC 8 : AIR 1960 SC 1125]."

31. Thus, in the light of the legal principles as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Wadla Bheemaraidu (supra), we find that I.O. Shivraj Singh PW-8 has not recorded any disclosure statement in any disclosure memo of the appellants Feru Singh son of Ram Swaroop, Nar Singh @ Naiya, Dharamveer Son of Feru Singh, Sobaran son of Maiku Lal, Shiv Pal Singh son of Maiku Lal about the hiding of murder weapon. Thus, the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-5, and the discovery of the alleged murder weapon Garasa and Takora (Kulhari) have also become suspicious and against the settled principles of law. The Trial Court without keeping this legal aspect in mind has wrongly relied on recovery memo Exhibit Ka-5 of the alleged weapon of murders and has wrongly held appellants guilty for the commission of the alleged crime. Therefore, in the light of the legal principles as enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Wadla Bheemaraidu (supra), recovery of the weapon of murder at the pointing out of the appellants also becomes doubtful and unreliable.

32. From the perusal of the finding and reasoning as delivered by the Trial Court in the judgment and order dated 19.07.2000, we find that Trial Court against the settled principles of law, has wrongly observed that prosecution is successful in connecting the chain of circumstantial evidence against the appellants. We find that in the present case at hands, this case is neither a case of direct evidence nor a case of last seen together theory, because there is no witness of prosecution of this nature who could be regarded as a witness of last seen, who have seen lastly the accused persons with the deceased Sobaran and Awadhesh, alive before their death. It is settled principles of law that in case of circumstantial evidence, the prosecution is legally responsible and duty bound to complete every link of the chain of circumstantial evidence from which it could be undoubtedly proved, that in all human probability, the act must have committed by the appellants. Without completing the chain of circumstantial evidence by the prosecution, Trial Court wrongly held guilty to accused appellants for the commission of the alleged crime.

33. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC 116 laid down five golden rules to be kept in mind while appreciating circumstantial evidence as follows :

"153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao 2 (1984) 4 SCC 116 Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 93 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033 : 1973 Crl LJ 1783] where the observations were made: [SCC para 19, p. 807: SCC (Cri) p. 1047] Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between □may be□ and □must be□ is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions.□ (2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty, (3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency, (4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and (5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

154. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence.

34. Thus, in the light of the law, as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda (supra) it is clear that for the conviction of any accused person on the basis of the circumstantial evidence, every link of the chain of circumstantial evidence must be necessarily complete and unerringly leads towards the accused for the commission of the crime.

35. For the conviction on the basis of the circumstantial evidence, the chain of circumstantial evidence must be completing each link of the circumstantial evidence. In other words, circumstantial evidence must be necessarily, consistently leads towards the culpability of accused.

36. On the basis of shaky, suspicious and doubtful circumstantial evidence, conviction of an accused-appellant could not be recorded.

37. Thus, in the light of the judgment in the case of Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda (supra) of Hon'ble Supreme Court, we find that in the present case at hand, there is no either reliable and trustworthy evidence of last seen together of the deceased persons with the appellants before their death. There is neither any unimpeachable circumstantial evidence of this nature, which could be regarded as circumstantial evidence that could connect every link of the chain of circumstantial evidence against the accused appellants. In the light of the above discussions, we find that there is no circumstantial evidence of this nature, that on the basis of which, accused appellants could be held guilty for the commission of the alleged crime. The finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court in this regard is without any cogent and reliable evidence and is also against the settled principles of law as enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krishnan alias Ramasamy (supra), Arjun Marik (supra), Kanhaiya Lal (supra), Wadla Bheemaraidu (supra), and Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda (supra). Due to this reason, we are of the considered view that the judgment and order of the Trial Court dated 19.07.2000, passed in S.T. No. 138 of 1997, State Vs. Sobaran and Others arising out of Case Crime No. 226 of 1996 under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C., Police Station Nawabganj, District Farrukhabad is perverse and illegal, hence not found sustainable in the eyes of law. Therefore, the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 19.07.2000 is liable to be set aside and the appeal deserves to be allowed.

38. We, therefore, set aside the judgment and order dated 19.07.2000 of conviction and sentence in respect of surviving accused appellant No.3 Shiv Pal, appellant No.5 Nar Singh @ Naiya (already declared juvenile) and appellant No.6 Dharamveer @ Dharampal as passed by the Trial Court S.T. No. 138 of 1997, State Vs. Sobaran and Others arising out of Case Crime No. 226 of 1996 under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C., Police Station Nawabganj, District Farrukhabad.

39. Thus appeal is allowed. From the perusal of the records it is revealed that appellant No.3 Shiv Pal, appellant No.5 Nar Singh @ Naiya and appellant No.6 Dharamveer @ Dharampal are on bail hence their personal bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged from their liabilities.

40. Let this judgment and order be sent with record to the Trial Court for necessary compliance, forthwith.

13. After recording the evidence of all the prosecution witnesses, the accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused persons accepted the facts mentioned in question nos. 1, 2 and 3, as true. However, for the rest of the questions that were put before them, the accused persons either expressed their ignorance about the facts mentioned in those questions or stated them to be false and fabricated. They also claimed that the case was registered and the prosecution witnesses testified against them due to enmity.

14. In their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused appellants Malik and Hashim Khan stated that they have no concern with the disputed field and were not involved in the incident. At that time when Jasim and others received injuries, they were not present at the place of occurrence and were falsely implicated in the matter due to enmity. Furthermore, accused appellant Irshad also stated in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he had enmity with Fakruddin concerning the property dispute of Jamiran Bibi. Due to this enmity, he was falsely implicated in this case. Ikhlaque is the grandson of Jamiran and I am Ikhlaque's cousin.

15. The accused-appellants stated that they would adduce evidence in their defence. In pursuance thereof, they produced documentary evidence, which was marked as Exhibits Kha-5 to Kha-23.

16. Learned Trial Court, after hearing arguments of both sides and perusing the evidence available on record, acquitted the accused Kallu, Badru, Mitthoo,Ikhlaque, Sahabu, Istkhar, Riyaz and Parvez of all charges. Trial Court also acquitted Babu Khan, Jafru Khan, Najaru Khan, Malik Khan, Sayeed Khan, Rustam Khan and Irshad Khan of the charge under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Appellant no. 8, Hashim was held guilty under Sections 302, 307, 147, 148 and 149 IPC and convicted for the offense under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment. He was also sentenced to one year of rigorous imprisonment under Section 147 IPC, two years under Section 148 IPC, and four years under Section 307 IPC, along with a fine of Rs 1,000/- with a default sentence of six months additional rigorous imprisonment. All sentences were directed by the Trial Court to run concurrently.

18. It is worthwhile to mention that during the pendency of this criminal appeal, appellant No. 1 Babu Khan, appellant No. 2 Sayeed Khan, appellant No. 4 Jafru Khan and appellant No. 7 Nazaru Khan, have died. Due to the death of these appellants, the appeal in relation to them has already abated. Therefore, this criminal appeal is currently being adjudicated only in respect of surviving appellants, appellant No. 3 Malik Khan, appellant No. 5 Irshad Khan, appellant No. 6 Rustam Khan, and appellant No. 8 Hashim Khan.

19. Learned counsel for the accused appellants has submitted that the Trial Court, while convicting and sentencing the appellants, erroneously relied upon the statements of Kallu and Hasnain recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. by Kanak Tripathi (Deputy Collector). However, neither the Kanak Tripathi (Deputy Collector), nor the injured witnesses, Hasnain and Kallu, were examined as prosecution witnesses. The Trial Court's conviction was instead based on the statements of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 as well as the statements of injured witnesses, Hasnain and Kallu. Furthermore, the counsel pointed out that appellants No. 1 to 7 were convicted under Sections 147, 148 & 307 read with Section 149 IPC but were acquitted of the charge under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Lastly, the Trial Court convicted and sentenced appellant No. 8, Hashim Khan, under Sections 147, 148, 302 & 307 IPC based on the same set of evidence and the Section 164 Cr.P.C. statements recorded by Kanak Tripathi, Deputy Collector.

20. Learned counsel for the appellants has further submitted that no specific charge under Section 302 IPC was framed against appellant No. 8, Hashim Khan. Despite the absence of such a charge, appellant No. 8 has been convicted and sentenced under Section 302 IPC, which has caused serious prejudice to him and has vitiated the conviction. In support of his submission, learned counsel has placed reliance upon paragraph nos. 2, 3, 4 and 7 of the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Suraj Pal v. State of U.P., AIR 1955 SC 419.

21. It has also been submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that the evidence against the appellants as well as against the acquitted accused persons, namely, Kallu, Badru, Mitthoo, Ikhlaque, Sahabu, Istkhar, Riyaz and Parvez, is exactly identical, as is evident from the evidence of informant Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2), and Jasim Khan (PW-3). Furthermore, the statements of injured Hasnain and injured Hashim @ Kallu, recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., are not proved and are not put to the appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Therefore, the surviving appellants are also entitled to be acquitted by this Court, as the evidence against them is the same.

22. Learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116, has held that each and every incriminating material or piece of evidence sought to be relied upon against the accused must be put to the appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In the present case, the statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., which has been relied upon by the Trial Court, is liable to be excluded from consideration as it was not put to the appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 CrPC.

23. It is also submitted that the other injured persons, namely, Sharif Khan, Hakimuddin, and Karimuddin, have not been examined by the prosecution. Since the statements of the injured Hasnain (now deceased) and Hashim @ Kallu were neither proved by the prosecution nor put to the appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the same are liable to be excluded from consideration. Therefore, on the basis of the same evidence that led to the acquittal of eight other accused persons by the Trial Court, the surviving appellants, namely, appellant No. 2 Sayeed Khan, appellant No. 3 Malik Khan, appellant No. 5 Irshad Khan, appellant No. 6 Rustam Khan, and appellant No. 8 Hashim Khan, are also entitled to be acquitted. In support of this submission, learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance upon paragraphs 15, 17 and 21 of the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Javed Shaukat Ali Qureshi v. State of Gujarat, (2023) 9 SCC 164.

24. On the basis of the aforesaid arguments and the case laws of the Hon'ble Supreme Court relied upon by learned counsel for the accused appellants, it has been vehemently argued that the Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence available on record in its proper perspective and in accordance with law. The Trial Court has based its findings on inadmissible evidence and has also acted contrary to the settled principles of law in this regard. Therefore, the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 24.09.1993 passed by the Trial Court, being perverse, illegal, and unsustainable in law, is liable to be set aside, and the criminal appeal filed by the surviving accused appellants deserves to be allowed.

25. Per contra, learned AGA for the State and learned counsel for the informant have submitted that the present case is based on the direct evidence of eyewitnesses, namely, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, and it is not a case of circumstantial evidence. Trial Court, after appreciating and evaluating the evidence of eyewitnesses, namely, PW-1, PW-2 and injured witness Jasim Khan (PW-3), found no evidence against the acquitted accused persons. However, after considering the evidence of the aforesaid eyewitnesses, including injured witness Jasim Khan (PW-3), and taking into account the specific role, active participation, and overt acts attributed to the present appellants, the Trial Court found the material evidence against them to be cogent, reliable and sufficient for recording their conviction and sentence for the alleged offence. The Trial Court neither relied upon nor considered the statements of other injured witnesses, namely, Hasnain and Hashim @ Kallu, recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., rather, it based its findings on the evidence of the examined prosecution witnesses, namely, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3.

26. The Trial Court has only referred to the statements under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of the injured witnesses, including Jasim Khan (PW-3), and injured witnesses Hasnain and Hashim @ Kallu, under Section 157 of the Evidence Act, because the defence itself cross-examined these three witnesses on this point. Meaning thereby, the Trial Court has based its findings solely on the evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and injured witness Jasim Khan (PW-3). Therefore, mere reference by the Trial Court to the statements of the witnesses recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., in the light of the cross-examination conducted by the defence, does not render the findings, reasoning, and conviction of the accused appellants illegal or perverse in law. It is also a settled principle of law that if, on the same evidence of the prosecution witnesses, some accused persons are acquitted, the other accused persons can still be legally convicted, if the evidence against them is found to be cogent, reliable, and trustworthy. The Trial Court has discharged its duty and recorded its findings and reasoning in accordance with the settled principles of law. Therefore, putting questions regarding the statements recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of the injured witnesses was not legally required in the present circumstances. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the State and learned counsel for the informant that if a separate charge under Section 302 IPC has not been framed simpliciter, the conviction under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC cannot, on that ground alone, be held to be illegal or perverse.

27. Thus, learned counsel for the State and learned counsel for the informant have lastly submitted that the learned Trial Court has minutely appreciated all the evidence available on record in its proper perspective and in accordance with law and has recorded its findings and reasoning on the basis of cogent and reliable evidence. Therefore, there is no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 24.09.1993 passed by the learned Trial Court. Hence, the criminal appeal filed by the surviving accused appellants, being devoid of merit and substance, deserves to be dismissed. Consequently, the impugned judgment and order dated 24.09.1993 passed by the learned Trial Court is liable to be affirmed.

28. In the light of the above submissions and counter-submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, we have perused the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) and the deposition of informant Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3). From a perusal of the written report (Exhibit Ka-1), it is revealed that informant Fakruddin (PW-1) named the surviving accused appellants, namely, Malik Khan, Irshad Khan, Rustam Khan and Hashim Khan, along with other appellants (now deceased) and acquitted accused persons, for the commission of the crime. PW-1 stated that they were all armed with guns and country-made pistols (katta). A few accused persons were also armed with spears (ballam). The place and cause of occurrence was Arazi No. 1387. According to the written report and the evidence of Fakruddin (PW-1), on the date of the incident i.e., 24.10.1988, Akilu (PW-2) was ploughing field Arazi No. 1387 by tractor. Fakruddin (PW-1) and Jasim Khan (PW-3) were also present nearby. Appellant Babu Khan (now deceased) then came to the place of occurrence from his house and prohibited Akilu (PW-2) from ploughing the field. Upon this, a hot exchange and altercation took place between Babu Khan and Jasim Khan (PW-3). Thereafter, appellant Babu Khan (now deceased) rushed to his home and returned to the place of occurrence with a gun. At that time, upon hearing the altercation, Rahimuddin, Kallu @ Hashim, Karimuddin, Hakimuddin and Hasnain also arrived at the spot. Following Babu Khan, 17 other accused persons also arrived at the spot armed with guns or kattas. Upon the exhortation of Babu Khan (now deceased), all the accused persons began firing upon Akilu, Jasim, Rahimuddin, Karimuddin, Hakimuddin and Kallu @ Hasnain. As Akilu (PW-2) was ploughing the field, he hid behind the tractor, therefore, he did not receive any injury.

29. From a perusal of the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) and the evidence of the informant Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3), it appears that due to the firing by the accused persons, Jasim Khan and other injured persons received injuries. From the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, it is further revealed that after receiving injuries from firearms, all the injured persons began to cry out, drawing the attention of Badruddin, Sharif Khan and Ashraf @ Guddu. Upon seeing them, the accused appellant Babu Khan (now deceased) attempted to kill them. Thereupon, Babu Khan and the other accused persons opened fire again at Badruddin, Sharif and Ashraf @ Guddu and at informant Fakruddin (PW-1). In the second set of the incident, Badruddin received a fatal gunshot injury and died on the way to the hospital.

30. Thus, from a perusal of the evidence of Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3), as well as the injury reports of injured persons, namely, Hashim @ Kallu, Hasnain, Rahimuddin, Ashraf @ Guddu, Jasim, Karimuddin, Fakruddin, Sharif Khan and Hakimuddin, it is revealed that a total nine persons received gunshot injuries in the incident and Badruddin died in the same incident due to the gunshot injury, while he was on the way to the hospital.

31. We have also perused the findings and reasoning recorded by the Trial Court in this regard. We find that the Trial Court, after a detailed discussion and appreciation of the prosecution evidence, held that Kallu, Badru, Mitthoo, Ikhlaque, Sahabu and Istekhar, although present at the place of occurrence, had not caused any injury to the injured persons. The Trial Court, after a detailed discussion and appreciation of the evidence of the informant Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2), and the injured witness, Jasim Khan (PW-3), also held that the named accused persons, namely, Riyaz, Parvez and Mahau, had not participated in the incident, although they were alleged to have been carrying spears (ballams) in their hands. Upon appreciation of the prosecution evidence, the Trial Court found that the accused-appellants, namely, Malik, Jafru, Najaru, Sayeed, Babu, Rustam, Hashim, and Irshad had participated in the incident by firing guns and country-made pistols (kattas). The named accused persons in the written report (Exhibit Ka-1), Shabvir and Mahau, had died during the pendency of the trial.

32. Thus, upon appreciation of the evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, the Trial Court found that no role or act of participation in the commission of the crime had been established against the named accused persons, namely, Kallu, Badru, Mitthoo, Ikhlaque, Sahabu, Istekhar, Riyaz and Parvez. Consequently, they were acquitted of the charges levelled against them. However, after a detailed discussion and appreciation of the evidence, the Trial Court found the accused-appellants, namely, Babu Khan, Jafru, Najaru, Malik, Sayeed, Rustam and Irshad, guilty under Sections 147, 148, 307 and 149 IPC. The accused-appellant Hashim was found guilty under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 307 IPC and, accordingly, was convicted under Section 302 IPC. The remaining accused, namely, Babu Khan, Jafru, Najaru, Malik, Sayeed, Rustam and Irshad, were acquitted of the charge under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC.

33. Since, in the present case, one person, Badruddin, died due to a gunshot injury, and Hashim @ Kallu, Hasnain, Rahimuddin, Ashraf @ Guddu, Jasim, Karimuddin, Fakruddin, Sharif Khan and Hakimuddin sustained gunshot injuries caused by the appellants, firearm injuries were found on their bodies. Thus, in this incident, a total of nine persons sustained gunshot injuries and became injured. The Trial Court, after a detailed discussion of the prosecution evidence available on record, convicted the accused-appellants, namely, Babu Khan, Sayeed Khan, Malik Khan, Irshad Khan, Jafru Khan, Rustam Khan, Najaru Khan and Hashim Khan and held them guilty of the offences alleged against them.

34. Upon reviewing the Trial Court's findings and reasoning, we find that the Court properly appreciated the evidence on record in a legal manner. Based on the prosecution's evidence, the Court found accused appellants, namely, Babu Khan, Sayeed Khan, Malik Khan, Jafru Khan, Irshad Khan, Rustam Khan, Najaru Khan, and Hashim Khan guilty and convicted them accordingly, while acquitting the other named accused persons.

35. On this point, the learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants submitted that if, on the basis of the same evidence, some of the accused persons have been acquitted by the Trial Court, then the present accused-appellants are also entitled to acquittal of the alleged charges. In support of this submission, the learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Javed Shaukat Ali Qureshi v. State of Gujarat, (2023) 9 SCC 164, particularly paragraphs 15, 17 and 21, which read as follows:-

"15. When there is similar or identical evidence of eyewitnesses against two accused by ascribing them the same or similar role, the Court cannot convict one accused and acquit the other. In such a case, the cases of both the accused will be governed by the principle of parity. This principle means that the Criminal Court should decide like cases alike, and in such cases, the Court cannot make a distinction between the two accused, which will amount to discrimination.

17. Accused nos. 1, 5 and 13 were convicted only on the basis of the testimony of PW-25 and PW-26. They were acquitted by holding that the testimony of both witnesses was unreliable and deserved to be discarded. If the same relief is not extended to accused nos. 3 and 4 by reason of parity, it will amount to violation of fundamental rights guaranteed to accused nos. 3 and 4 by Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, we have no manner of doubt that the benefit which is granted to accused nos. 1,5 and 13 deserves to be extended to accused nos.3 and 4, who did not challenge the judgment of the High Court. In this case, the suo motu exercise of powers under Article 136 is warranted as it is a question of the liberty of the said two accused guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution.

21. Accordingly, the appeal succeeds and we pass the following order:

21.1. The appellant, accused no.6 Javed Shaukat Ali Qureshi, is acquitted of the offences alleged against him by setting aside the judgment of the Trial Court dated 17th March 2006 and judgment of the High Court dated 11th February 2016 to the extent. He is on bail. His bail bonds stand cancelled;

21.2. We set aside the order of conviction of accused no.3 Mehboobkhan Allarakha and accused no.4 Saidkhan @ Anna Ikbalhusain by setting aside the same judgments to that extent and acquit them of the offences alleged against them. They shall be forthwith set at liberty if they are not required to be detained in connection with any other case;

21.3. We recall the order dated 11th May 2018 in SLP (Crl.) Diary No.13063 of 2018 and grant leave. For the reasons set out above, accused no. 2 Amjadkhan Nasirkhan Pathan stands acquitted by setting aside the impugned judgment of the Trial Court and the High Court to that extent. He shall be forthwith set at liberty unless he is required to be detained in connection with any other offence; and 21.4. The appeal is allowed on the above terms. "

36. We have perused the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Javed Shaukat Ali Qureshi (Supra), referred to and relied upon by the learned counsel for the accused-appellants. We have also perused the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Gurcharan Singh and Another v. State of Punjab, (1955) 2 SCC 424, rendered by a three-Judge Bench. Further, we have considered the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Nisar Ali v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1957) 1 SCC 350, also rendered by a three-Judge Bench.

37. In Gurcharan Singh (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while dealing with the same issue, held in paragraph-9 as follows:-

"9. The case in hand is similar to the case reported as Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, (1953) 2 SCC 36, insofar as it was found in that case, as we are inclined to hold in this case, that the acquittal of the other two accused by the High Court may not have been entirely correct. Reference to that reported case is only by way of illustration and not by way of an appeal to precedent, because on facts no two cases can be similar. Each case has its own peculiar facts and it is therefore always risky to appeal to precedents on questions of fact. The highest that can be or has been said on behalf of the appellants in this case is that two of the four accused have been acquitted, though the evidence against them, so far as the direct testimony went, was the same as against the appellants also; but it does not follow as a necessary corollary that, because the other two accused have been acquitted by the High Court the appellant also must be similarly acquitted."

38. Similarly, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Nisar Ali (Supra), has held on the same point in paragraph nos. 8 and 9 as follows:-

"8. It was next contended that the witnesses had falsely implicated Qudrat Ullah and because of that the Court should have rejected the testimony of these witnesses as against the appellant also. The well-known maxim falsus in uno falsus in omnibus was relied upon by the appellant. The argument raised was that because the witnesses who had also deposed against Qudrat Ullah by saying that he had handed over the knife to the appellant had not been believed by the courts below as against him, the High Court should not have accepted the evidence of these witnesses to convict the appellant. This maxim has not received general acceptance in different jurisdictions in India, nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of a rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to is that in such cases, the testimony may be disregarded and not that it must be disregarded. One American author has stated:

'... the maxim is in itself worthless; first in point of validity ... and secondly, in point of utility because it merely tells the jury what they may do in any event, not what they must do or must not do, and therefore, it is a superfluous form of words. It is also in practice pernicious...'

9. The doctrine merely involves the questions of weight of evidence which a court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called 'a mandatory rule of evidence'."

39. Thus, in light of the legal principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforementioned case laws of three-Judge Benches, it is not necessary to reject the evidence of witnesses whose testimony, in respect of some accused persons, is found reliable, while in respect of others, it is found unreliable.

40. According to the law as enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case laws of this nature, the Court should cautiously and carefully analyze and appreciate the evidence of prosecution witnesses. If the evidence of prosecution witnesses is found reliable and trustworthy in respect of some accused persons, but unreliable in respect of other accused persons, the evidence shall not be rejected outright. Meaning thereby, the part and portion of evidence of the prosecution witnesses that is found trustworthy and reliable shall be read into evidence. In light of such reliable and trustworthy prosecution evidence, accused persons can be legally held guilty and convicted. If, upon appreciation of the prosecution evidence, there is no trustworthiness or creditworthiness regarding the evidence of the prosecution witnesses in respect of other co-accused persons, then, on the basis of the same evidence, those accused persons could be legally acquitted. Thus, it is merely a rule of caution and not a mandatory rule of evidence, in light of the legal principles enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case laws referred above.

41. From a perusal of the findings and reasoning of the Trial Court on this point, we find that the Trial Court has minutely and thoroughly discussed and analyzed the evidence of prosecution witnesses, such as, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3). Through minute details and lengthy discussions, the Trial Court has found the participation and involvement of the surviving accused-appellants, along with the deceased accused-appellants, in the commission of the alleged crime.

42. Thus, we find, in the facts and circumstances of the case, case laws of the Hon'ble Supreme Court referred to above are fully applicable in the present case. In light of the above discussions and the legal principles enunciated by the Hon'bleSupreme Court in the aforementioned case laws, we find no force in the arguments raised by the learned counsel for the accused appellants on this point.

43. In light of the next submission made by the learned counsel for the surviving accused appellants, we have perused the records of the case. A perusal of the record confirms that charges were framed by the Trial Court against accused Riyaz and Parvez on 09.07.1990, under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 and 307 read with Section 149 IPC. Against the accused Babu Khan, Hashim, Sayeed, Malik and Jafru, charges were framed under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149, and Section 307 read with Section 149 IPC. Similarly, against the accused Irshad, Rustam, Mitthoo, Ikhlaque, Istekhar, Nazaru, Badru, Kallu @ Ayyub and Sahabu, charges were also framed under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149, and Section 307 read with Section 149 IPC. To substantiate these charges, the prosecution adduced evidence, and after the recording of evidence, the accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The defense also adduced evidence in support of its case.

44. After having heard arguments from both parties, the Trial Court delivered its judgment and order dated 24.09.1993. By the impugned judgment and order, the Trial Court after elaborately and minutely scrutinizing the entire evidence of prosecution witnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3), along with other relevant evidence in this respect, concluded that accused persons, namely, Malik, Jafru, Nazaru, Sayeed and Rustam, gathered at the place of occurrence, formed an unlawful assembly, and committed the roit while armed with deadly weapons, such as, guns, country-made pistols and spears. Trial Court found that accused persons, namely, Malik, Jafru, Nazaru, Sayeed and Rustam, armed with guns, fired upon the injured persons with the intention to kill them. Consequently, based on the evidence on record, the Trial Court convicted appellants, namely, Babu Khan, Jafru Khan, Nazaru Khan, Malik Khan, Sayeed Khan, Rustam Khan and Irshad Khan, under Sections 147, 148 and 307 read with Section 149 IPC.

45. However, upon appreciation of the evidence, the Trial Court found that the deceased, Badruddin, did not die from gunshots fired by accused persons, namely, Malik, Jafru, Nazaru, Sayeed & Rustam, and concluded that those accused did not fire at the deceased. Trial Court concluded that Badruddin died from the gunshot fired by the accused, Hasim Khan. Consequently, based on the evidence on record, the Trial Court acquitted accused persons, namely, Babu Khan, Jafru Khan, Nazaru Khan, Malik Khan, Sayeed Khan and Rustam Khan of the charges under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Appellant, Hasim Khan was found guilty and convicted under Section 302 IPC for causing the death of Badruddin, and was further convicted under Section 307 of the IPC along with other co-accused persons.

46. The main submission of the learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants is that when charges were framed against appellant Hashim Khan and the other co-accused persons under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC, the conviction and sentence of the surviving accused-appellants simpliciter under Section 302 IPC, without framing an alternative and simpliciter charge under Section 302 IPC by the Trial Court, is illegal and contrary to the settled principles of law. In support of this submission, the learned counsel for the accused-appellants has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Suraj Pal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1955 SC 419.

47. A perusal of Suraj Pal (Supra) reveals that, in that case, nineteen accused were tried for offences under Sections 148, 307 and 302 read with Section 149 IPC. The Sessions Court initially convicted all nineteen accused. Upon appeal, the High Court acquitted ten of the accused while affirming the conviction and sentence of one individual for offences under Sections 148, 307 and 302 IPC. Notwithstanding these facts, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the absence of a specific charge against the appellant under Sections 307 and 302 IPC, for which he was subsequently convicted and sentenced, constituted a serious lacuna. The Court emphasized that the framing of specific and distinct charges for every distinct head of criminal liability is a fundamental requirement and serves as the essential foundation for any conviction and sentence.

48. In light of the aforementioned submission and the reliance placed by the learned counsel for the surviving accused appellants on the decision in Suraj Pal (Supra), we have also perused the judgment of a five Judge Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Willie (William) Slaney v. The State of Madhya Pradesh, (1955) 2 SCC 340. In the said judgment, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as follows:-

"Held, is to further the ends of justice through a full and fair trial on well- established and well Understood lines in accord with natural justice - If the accused fully understands the charge he is to defend and for that given a full and fair opportunity, then if there is substantial competence with the spirit and requirements of the Code, held, mere mistakes in procedure and were inconsequential errors and omissions will not vitiate the trial unless substantial prejudice has been caused to the accused.

The question before the Supreme Court was whether the omission to frame an alternative charge under Section 302 simpliciter of the Penal Code was an illegality that cuts at the root of the conviction and makes it invalid or whether it was a curable irregularity in which all that the Court was concerned was to see is whether there was prejudice. Basically, is the charge to be regarded as a ritualistic formula so sacred and fundamental that a total absence of one, or any departure in it from the strict and technical requirements of the Code of Criminal Procedure, is so vital as to cut at the root of the trial and vitiate it from the start, or is it one of many regulations designed to ensure a fair and proper trial so that substantial, as opposed to purely technical, compliance with the spirit and requirements of the Code in this behalf is enough to cure departures from the strict letter of the law.

The Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC) like all procedural laws, is designed to further the ends of justice and not to frustrate them by the introduction of endless technicalities. The object of the Code is to ensure that an accused person gets a full and fair trial along certain well-established and well-understood lines that accord with our notions of natural justice. If an accused gets full and fair trial in accord with natural justice and well established principles, if he is tried by a competent court, if he is told and clearly understands the nature of the offence for which he is being tried, if the case against him is fully and fairly explained to him and he is afforded a full and fair opportunity of defending himself, then, provided there is substantial compliance with the outward forms of the law, mere mistakes in procedure, mere inconsequential errors and omissions in the trial are regarded as venal by the CrPC and the trial is not vitiated unless the accused can show substantial prejudice. That, broadly speaking, is the basic principle on which the CrPC is based.

Certain procedures are regarded as vital, the disregard of which is fatal to the trial and at once invalidates the conviction. Others are not vital and whatever the irregularity they can be cured; and in that event the conviction must stand unless the court is satisfied that there was prejudice. The question of curing an irregularity can only arise when one or more of the express provisions of the CrPC is violated. It is impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule but taken by and large the question usually narrows down to one of prejudice. In any case, the courts must be guided by the plain provisions of the CrPC without straining at its language wherever there is an express provision. The real object of the CrPC is to leave these matters to the discretion and vigilance of the courts.

Chapter 45 CrPC, 1898 deals generally with irregular proceedings. There are certain irregularities which do not vitiate the proceedings (Section 529 CrPC). Certain other irregularities are treated as vital and there the proceedings are void irrespective of prejudice (Section 530 CrPC). A third class is dealt with in Sections 531, 532, 533, 535, 536(2) and 537. There, broadly speaking, the question is whether the error has caused prejudice to the accused or, as some of the sections put it, has occasioned a failure of justice. The CrPC has carefully classified certain kinds of error and expressly indicates how they are to be dealt with. In every such case the Court is bound to give effect to the express commands of the legislature: there is no scope for further speculation. The only class of case in which the Courts are free to reach a decision is that for which no express provision is made.

A charge must set out the offence with which the accused is charged and if the law which creates the offence does not give it any specific name, so much of the definition of the offence must be stated "as to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged". The charge must also contain such particulars of date, time, place and person "as are reasonably sufficient to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged" (Sections 221 to 223).

The object of the charge is to enable the accused to have a clear idea of what he is being tried for and of the essential facts that he has to meet. However, in a summons cases no formal charge is required: all that is necessary is to tell accused the substance of the accusation made against him (Section 242).

When a charge contains either an error or omission in it or both, and whatever its nature, it is not to be regarded as material unless:

(1) the accused has in fact been misled by it and

(2) it has occasioned a failure of justice. (Section 225)

That is reasonably plain language.

These errors and omissions can be remedied at any time during the course of the trial in the Sessions Court (Section 226) or even at the very end of the trial (Section 227), and when this is done the trial need not proceed de novo but can go on from the stage at which the alteration was made provided neither side is prejudiced (Section 228). So no error or omission in the charge, and not even a total absence of a charge, cuts at the root of the trial. The proceedings up to the stage of the alteration, which can be at the very end of the trial, are not vitiated unless there is prejudice; they are good despite these imperfections. That is impossible when the error is so vital as to cut at the root of the trial. It follows that errors in the charge, and even a total absence of a charge, are not placed in the non-curable class.

Even in a case where the error is not observed and corrected during the trial and the accused is convicted, the High Court is empowered to direct a retrial only if, in its opinion, the accused was "misled in his defence" (Section 232). It is to be observed that this is so whether there was a total absence of a charge or merely an error in it. It is evident that a conviction cannot stand if the defect cuts at the root of the trial, therefore, defects even of this nature are not regarded as fatal."

49. Thus, a perusal of the five- Judge Constitution Bench decision in Willie (William) Slaney (Supra), the position of law is clear that if the charge framed discloses the overt act committed by a particular accused, though the charge is for the offence under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC and the accused faced trial with the knowledge that the prosecution case is that he committed the particular overt act which caused the death, the non-framing of a distinct charge for the offence under Section 302 IPC will not cause prejudice to the accused, even though the charge framed was under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. In such a case, even though the charge is for the offence under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC and there is not even an alternate charge for the offence under Section 302 IPC simpliciter, when the charge discloses an overt act by a particular accused which caused the death of the victim, if the evidence establishes that the particular accused inflicted that particular injury which caused the death, he could definitely be convicted for the offence under Section 302 IPC simpliciter. Even though there is no specific charge for Section 302 IPC simpliciter and the charge is for the Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC, there could be a conviction under Section 302 of the IPC simpliciter.

50. In light of the law laid down by the five-Judge Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Willie (William) Slaney (Supra), we have perused the records and evidence of the present case. It is evident that the Trial Court framed charges against the accused appellant, Hasim Khan, along with co-accused appellants. The record reveals that nine persons sustained gunshot injuries during the incident, and one person, namely, Badruddin, died in this incident by gunshot injuries on various parts of his body. Consequently, the accused appellant, Hasim Khan, was fully aware and had sufficient notice that he was being charged for the murder of Badruddin. This is further corroborated by the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) and the testimonies of prosecution witnesses Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2), and Jasim Khan (PW-3), all of whom consistently stated that the accused appellant, Hasim Khan, was armed with a gun at the time of the incident.

51. From a perusal of the post-mortem report (Exhibit Ka-37) of deceased Badruddin, it is revealed that deceased Badruddin had suffered gunshot injuries on his chest, abdomen, both hands and face. According to the post-mortem report, pellets also entered his body and reached the left lung of deceased Badruddin. Not only this, pellets were also found in the left chamber of his heart along with injuries, and injuries from the pellets were also found on the left lung of Badruddin. The chambers of the heart were ruptured or torn at several places. Pellets also entered the large intestine of the deceased, and marks of injuries were found at the points of entry of the pellets. The right part of the liver was punctured at two places.

52. From a perusal of the above injuries and according to the post-mortem report (Exhibit Ka-37) of deceased Badruddin, it is amply clear that this kind of injury to different parts of the body, with the entry of pellets, can only be caused by a firearm like a gun. It is the case of the prosecution that accused appellant Hasim had a gun in his hand. Therefore, accused appellant Hasim was fully aware about the role played by him in causing the death of deceased Badruddin from the time of the incident, also during the trial of the case and the examination of the prosecution witnesses.

53. From a perusal of the findings and reasoning recorded by the Trial Court in this regard, we find that the Trial Court deeply and thoroughly examined and appreciated the entire evidence adduced by the prosecution. It specifically determined that the surviving accused appellant, Hasim Khan, was solely responsible for causing the death of the deceased, Badruddin. The Trial Court further concluded that the other accused appellants were responsible for inflicting fatal injuries upon the injured witnesses in this case, by their respective firearms.

54. Thus, in light of the aforementioned discussions and the legal principles enuncitated by the five-Judge Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Willie (William) Slaney (Supra), we find that no prejudice has been caused to the accused appellant, Hasim Khan, nor has there been any miscarriage of justice, by virtue of his conviction and sentencing under Section 302 IPC. Accordingly, we find no substance in the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants in this regard.

55. From a perusal of the evidence of Jasim Khan (PW-3), it is clear that he was present at the place of the occurrence and sustained gunshot injuries. A total of seven injuries were found on his body, as recorded in the injury report (Exhibit Ka-33) prepared by Dr. Rama Kant (PW-6). In his examination-in-chief, Jasim Khan (PW-3) stated that all of them were sent to the hospital where they were medically examined and he was admitted. After six days, the investigating officer recorded his statement in the hospital.

56. Upon perusing the entire examination-in-chief of Jasim Khan (PW-3), we find that this witness did not state that his statement or dying declaration was recorded by the Executive Magistrate in the hospital. However, during cross-examination by the defence, the witness was questioned on this point. He stated that he had not told the Deputy Saheb that before the incident in the month of Asar, he had gone twice to plough the field, and that he had gone to plough the field again on the date of the incident because the ground had become dry. He clarified that the Magistrate had only asked about the assault, so he had only provided details regarding the assault. Elsewhere in his cross-examination, when questioned further regarding the statement given to the Magistrate, he stated that he had not told the Magistrate that he had nothing in his hands except lathi & danda. He also stated that on that day, the Magistrate recorded his statement and that he told the Magistrate the names of the attackers, namely, Rustam, Irshad, Sahabu, Mahabu, Ikhlaque, Riyaz, Istekhar, Kallu and Badaru along with others involved in the incident. He added that if the Magistrate did not record these things, he cannot state the reason for this.

57. Thus, we find that despite the fact that Jasim Khan (PW-3) has not given any statement in his examination-in-chief regarding the recording of his dying declaration under Section 164 Cr.P.C. before the SDM/Executive Magistrate, however, defence itself questioned him on this point during cross-examination. In light of the above, the Trial Court referred to the statement of injured Jasim Khan (PW-3) as recorded by Deputy Collector, Kanak Tripathi only for the purpose of corroboration and contradiction under Sections 157 & 155 of the Evidence Act.

58. In this respect, the Trial Court referred to and relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Maqsoodan v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1983 SC 126, and observed that, if a person's statement is recorded by a Magistrate under the apprehension that he may die, but the person survives the injuries, then such statement cannot be read under Section 32 of the Evidence Act. However, the statement of the injured person can be used under Sections 157 & 155 of the Evidence Act for the purpose of corroboration and contraditions and for testing the veracity and truthfulness of the subsequent testimony and evidence of that witness.

59. Since the defence itself questioned the injured witness, Jasim Khan (PW-3), during cross-examination, the Trial Court considered those answers while deciding the case. In its judgment and order dated 24.09.1993, the Trial Court examined the prosecution evidence to ensure justice, especially for those persons whose involvement was not proved by the evidence. Therefore, the Trial Court referred to the statement of Jasim Khan (PW-3), which had been recorded by Kanak Tripathi (Deputy Collector), and considered his entire evidence in that context.

60. A perusal of the statements of the accused appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C., reveals that a total of 32 questions were put to them. Question No. 18 placed the incriminating circumstances relating to the evidence of Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3) before the accused appellants in the Court. Although no separate specific question regarding the evidence of Jasim Khan (PW-3) was framed under Section 313 Cr.P.C., it cannot be presumed that the Trial Court failed to put questions regarding his evidence in light of Question No. 18. Thus, it is clear that the Trial Court addressed the evidence of Jasim Khan (PW-3) through Question No. 18. Therefore, we find that the Trial Court substantially complied with the provisions of Section 313 Cr.P.C. through Question No. 18. Furthermore, it is noteworthy that no grievance or objection in this regard was raised by the accused-appellants before the Trial Court.

61. A three-Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Wasim Khan v. State of U.P., AIR 1956 SC 400, and Bhoor Singh v. State of Punjab, (1974) 4 SCC 754, held that every error or omission in compliance with the provisions of Section 313 Cr.P.C. does not necessarily vitiate the trial. The accused must show that actual prejudice has been caused or was likely to have been caused to him.

62. Since it is the prosecution case that the surviving accused appellant, Hashim Khan, was armed with a gun and that the injuries found on the body of the deceased, Badruddin, could only be caused by such a firearm, it cannot be presumed that any prejudice was caused to the accused appellant, Hashim Khan by the omission of a specific question under Section 313 Cr.P.C. during his examination before the Court. This fact is further established from the statements of the prosecution witnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3), who have consistently stated that Hashim Khan was armed with a gun. Therefore, we find no force in the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the surviving accused appellants in this respect.

63. In the present case, total nine persons, including the injured witness Jasim Khan (PW-3), sustained gunshot injuries. Dr. Rama Kant (PW-6) and Dr. A.P. Singh (PW-13) prepared the injury reports of the injured persons. From a perusal of the injury reports, it is evident that nine persons received gunshot injuries, with pellets entering different parts of their bodies. The deceased, Badruddin, had received fatal gunshot injuries on various parts of his body, with many pellets penetrating and puncturing his internal organs. However, out of nine injured persons, the prosecution only adduced Jasim Khan (PW-3) as a prosecution witness.

64. A perusal of the written report (Exhibit Ka-1), the evidence of Fakruddin (PW-1) and Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) establishes that along with other injured persons, Jasim Khan (PW-3) was also present at the place of occurrence when the alleged incident occurred. Jasim Khan (PW-3) witnessed the occurrence from the very beginning till the end. The injury report of Jasim Khan (Exhibit Ka-33) further reveals that he sustained injuries as an eyewitness in the alleged incident. In this case, the prosecution produced Jasim Khan (PW-3) as a witness to support its case. While other injured persons, including Hasnain and Hashim @ Kallu, have not been adduced and examined by the prosecution in support of its case.

65. From a perusal of the evidence available on record, it is clear that Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3) were present at the place of occurrence and witnessed the incident with their own eyes. Jasim Khan (PW-3) also sustained gunshot injuries in the incident. Thus, there are three eyewitnesses whose unimpeachable and trustworthy evidence has successfully proved the prosecution's case beyond a reasonable doubt. There is no rule of law mandating that all injured persons must always be summoned and examined by the prosecution to support the its case. The prosecution has full discretion to select and adduce relevant witnesses whose evidence is sufficient to prove the charges beyond a reasonable doubt.

66. Upon perusing the evidence and the findings recorded by the Trial Court, we find that the prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond a reasonable doubt through documentary evidence, including the injury reports of the injured persons, and the direct testimony of the eyewitnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3).

67. According to settled principles of law, there is no fixed number of witnesses required to be produced by the prosecution to prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt. In the present case, the prosecution has successfully proved its case through the evidence of eyewitnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3) and supporting documentary evidence beyond a reasonable doubt. Therefore, we find no merit in the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the surviving accused appellants in this respect.

68. From a perusal of the written report (Exhibit Ka-1), the evidence of eyewitnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3) and the other supporting documentary evidence available on record, it is clear that present case is based directly on the evidence of eyewitnesses. In other words, the present case is one of direct evidence, which is directly supported by the evidence of these eyewitnesses. Therefore, in a case where the prosecution story rests directly on eyewitness evidence, the law does not require the establishment of every chain of evidence, as is required in cases based on circumstantial evidence.

69. We have perused the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116. It reveals that the facts of that case centered on murder by poisoning and suicide, with no direct evidence available, and the case was entirely based on circumstantial evidence. However, the case in hand is based on direct evidence provided by the eyewitnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3). Therefore, the accused appellants are not entitled to any benefit from the judgment in Sharad Birdhi Chand Sarda (Supra). Consequently, we find no substance in the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants in this respect.

70. It is also a settled principle of law that in a case of direct evidence, no proof of motive for the incident is required to be established by the prosecution. The present case is based entirely on the direct evidence of eyewitnesses, namely, Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim Khan (PW-3), who were present at the place of occurrence and witnessed the incident. However, a perusal of the record reveals that the cause of the dispute was Araji No. 1387, to which both the prosecution and the defence laid their respective claims. Thus, the dispute over Araji No. 1387 was the main cause that led to the occurrence of the incident. This dispute provided the motive to the accused appellants, including those who are now deceased, to commit the alleged crime. Therefore, the motive was also present and proved by the prosecution with respect to the commission of the alleged crime.

71. We have also gone through and perused the findings and reasoning recorded by the learned Trial Court in the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 24.09.1993. A perusal of the said judgment and order reveals that the Trial Court has discussed the entire evidence in a detailed and elaborate manner. The evidence of all the prosecution witnesses has been considered and findings have been recorded on every point of argument raised by the defence before the Trial Court. By analysing and scrutinising the entire prosecution evidence, the Trial Court has discussed each and every point and recorded findings thereon, which are based on the cogent and reliable evidence of the prosecution witnesses.

72. From a perusal of the findings and reasoning recorded by the Trial Court, it is also revealed that the Trial Court has appreciated the entire evidence in its proper perspective and in accordance with law. The Trial Court has relied upon the evidence of the eyewitnesses, namely, informant Fakruddin (PW-1), Wakilu @ Akilu (PW-2) and Jasim

Khan (PW-3), treating the same as reliable in support of the prosecution case, and has found the surviving accused appellants, along with the other appellants (now deceased), guilty of the commission of the alleged crime.

73. In the present case, nine persons sustained gunshot injuries, and one person, namely, Badruddin, died due to fatal gunshot injuries, while on the way to the hospital. Some minor discrepancies and variations are likely to creep into the evidence of any prosecution witness in any case. However, we find that there are no material or major contradictions, variations or omissions in the evidence of the prosecution witnesses. The findings and reasoning recorded by the Trial Court are based on the evidence of the prosecution eyewitnesses and documentary evidence. The Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in accordance with the settled principles of law applicable in this regard. Therefore, we find no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgment and order dated 24.09.1993 passed by the Trial Court.

74. Hence, the present criminal appeal preferred by the surviving accused appellants is liable to be dismissed, and the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 24.09.1993 passed by the Trial Court is found to be sustainable in the eyes of law and deserves to be affirmed.

75. In view of the above discussions, we affirm the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 24.09.1993 passed by the learned IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Mirzapur in Sessions Trial No. 329 of 1989 (State v. Babu Khan and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 283 of 1988, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali Dehat, District- Mirzapur. Consequently, the present criminal appeal is devoid of merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

76. The surviving accused appellants- Malik Khan, Irshad Khan, Rustam Khan and Hashim Khan, are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled, and the sureties are discharged.

77. The surviving accused appellants are directed to surrender before the Court of the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate (CJM), Mirzapur, within a period of one month from today or from the date of production of a certified copy of this order, to serve out the remaining sentence passed by the learned Trial Court vide its order dated 24.09.1993.

78. In the event, if surviving accused appellants- Malik Khan, Irshad Khan, Rustam Khan and Hashim Khan, fail to surrender before the court concerned within the stipulated period of one month, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mirzapur, shall take immediate steps by issuing non-bailable warrants against them to secure their arrest. Upon their arrest, they shall be sent to jail to serve out the remaining sentence as passed by the Trial Court vide order dated 24.09.1993.

79. Let a copy of this judgment and order, along with the Lower Court Record, be transmitted to the Trial Court forthwith for necessary information and compliance.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : I.M. Khan
Counsel for Respondent(s) : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vinai Kumar Dwivedi, J.)

1. Heard Mr. I.M. Khan, learned counsel for the surviving appellants, Mr. G.N. Kanaujiya, learned A.G.A.-I for the State/opposite party and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred by accused-appellants, Kammu, Baddu, Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol, Shafiullah, Zafar, Ghulam, Hidayatullah, Aslam, Azizullah, Manzar Ali, Atiqullah and Babu @ Munna against the judgment and order dated 31.08.1984 of learned Trial Court passed in Sessions Trial No. 619 of 1981 (State v. Kammu and others) connected with Sessions Trial No. 284 of 1982 (State v. Kammu and others), Sessions Trial No. 284 of 1983 (State v. Babu @ Munna) and Sessions Trial No. 341 of 1982 (State v. Atiqullah) arising out of one Case Crime No. 143 of 1981, under Sections 148, 302, 379, 404 IPC, Police Station Khakhreru, District Fatehpur.

3. Brief facts of the case are that informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) got scribed the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, by Hamid Ali Khan and by that lodged an F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-2, on 19.09.1981 at 09:30 P.M. against Kammu, Baddu, Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol, Shafiullah, Zafar, Hidayatullah, Ghulam, Saif Ullah, Aslam, Azizullah, Manzar Ali, Atiqullah and Babu @ Munna alleging inter alia that this morning my son Sarfaraz had gone from home carrying his tractor, his licensed gun and a belt of cartridges for ploughing the field of my relative Shaukat Ali at Singwahar, which is situated near village Kot. Along with my son, Moid Ahmad, son of Syef, resident of village Shahnagar, was also on the tractor. Shaukat Ali was getting his field ploughed by my son with the tractor, then Shabbir son of Siddique, resident of village Shahnagar, who had gone for hunting carrying his licensed double-barrel gun and a belt of cartridges, came there and sat with Moid Ahmad and Shaukat on the southern boundary (medh) of the field. At about 05:00 p.m., the accused Kammu son of Najabtayar Khan, resident of village Kot, carrying his licensed double-barrel gun; Baddu son of Najabtayar Khan, carrying his licensed rifle; Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol, who is police pensioner, carrying his licensed 12-bore gun; Shafiullah son of Najabtayar Khan; Zafar son of Hasmat; Ghulam son of Sarafal; Hidayatullah alias Hiddu son of Ahmadullah; Saifullah son of Ahmadullah, carrying a stolen gun in their hands; Aslam son of Islam, resident of Badanmau; Azizullah son of Nasrullah, resident of Shipuri; Manzar Ali son of Rahmat Ali, resident of Nasirpur; Atidullah son of Rafiqullah, resident of Shahnagar, Police Station Khakhreru, carrying his licensed gun; and Babu @ Munna, resident of Mohammadpur, Police Station Thariyav, presently resident of village Ajrauli, each carrying stolen guns in their hands, came from the side of village Kot and greeted Moid Ahmad and Shabbir, who were sitting on the boundary (medh) of the field. Thereafter, accused Babu @ Munna very quietly took double-barrel gun of Shabbir and belt of cartridges into his possession. In the meantime, accused Kammu exhorted the other accused persons, saying that "Sarfaraz must be killed today and he should not be allowed to escape alive. This hurdle should also be removed." As soon as accused Kammu raised this exhortation, my son got down from the tractor and, taking his gun and belt of cartridges, attempted to run away and save himself. Thereupon, all the accused persons, including Kammu, fired at my son with their guns and rifle with the intention of causing his death. As a result of the firing by the accused persons, my son sustained fire-arm injuries on side of the tractor, fell on the boundary of the field and died. My son sustained injuries on the right side of his chest, in the middle of his chest, on his back below the waist, and on the wrist of his right hand. The above-mentioned witnesses present at the spot with my son raised an alarm and shouted, whereupon, hearing the cries and the sound of gunfire, Hafeez son of Abdul Aziz, resident of Oreha, whose field is situated nearby, and Ram Asrath son of Maiku Kunwar, resident of Maqsudanpur Mujra, who was cutting fodder in the same field, came running to the spot and they too witnessed the occurrence and challenged the accused persons. Thereafter, Hidayatullah @ Hiddu took away my son's licensed gun and belt of cartridges lying near him and also took Rs. 500 from his pocket, after which the accused persons proceeded towards village Kot. The bullets fired by the accused persons struck in the three wheels of tyres of the tractor, which became punctured. Accused persons are the associates and members of the gang of Atahar Ahmad son of Nisar Ahmad of village Rahmatpur and on the advice and consultation of Atahar Ahmad, the accused persons committed the murder of my son today. I had been making complaints against the atrocities, hooliganism and illegal acts of the aforesaid accused persons, due to which they bore an internal grudge against me and my son, and because of the said enmity, the aforesaid accused persons found an opportunity and killed my son. When I received information of this incident at my house from Moid Ahmad, I immediately rushed to the spot along with the villagers and came to know about the occurrence.

4. On the basis of above written report, Exhibit Ka-1, dated 19.09.1981, an F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-2, was registered by Head Moharrir Prem Chandra Dubey (PW-4) at Police Station Khakhreru on 19.09.1981 at 21:30 hours against accused persons, namely, Kammu, Baddu, Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol, Shafiullah, Zafar, Ghulam, Hidayatullah, Aslam, Azizullah, Manzar Ali, Atiqullah and Babu @ Munna under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 406, 404 IPC. After registration of the F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-2, investigation of the case was handed over to S.I. Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6). The Investigating Officer Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6) collected papers of the F.I.R. and G.D. of the case and proceeded to the place of occurrence in the night. On 20.09.1981 in the morning, he prepared panchayatnama of the deceased, Sarfaraz, Exhibit Ka-5, in his writing and signatures. He prepared the papers of challan lash, Exhibit Ka-6, report to C.M.O., Exhibit Ka-7, report to R.I., Exhibit Ka-8, photo lash, Exhibit Ka-9 and sample of the seal, Exhibit Ka-10. Thereafter, he sent the dead body of the deceased for post mortem examination by Constables Amrit Lal and Shivman Singh. The Investigating Officer also took bloodstained clothes of the deceased from his body and marked the same as Exhibit Ka-11. The Investigating Officer also took from the dead body of the deceased, one pair shoes of nylon in his possession and prepared its memo as Exhibit Ka-12. The Investigating Officer also took from the place of occurrence the simple and bloodstained soil and prepared its memo as Exhibit Ka-13. The Investigating Officer Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6) has recorded the statements of the informant and other witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. He also prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence as Exhibit Ka-14 on the pointing out of the witnesses. The Investigating Officer tried to arrest the accused, however, he was unsuccessful in arresting them even after issuance of the process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. against them. Thereafter, on 10.10.1981, after completing the investigation, he submitted charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-15, in the court concerned against the accused persons, in which eight accused persons were absconding.

5. Dr. V.K. Tripathi (PW-5) has conducted the post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased, Sarfaraz Ahmad, on 21.09.1981 and prepared the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-4. According to the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-4, which was prepared by Dr. V.K. Tripathi (PW-5), following ante-mortem injuries were found on the body of the deceased, Sarfaraz :-

(iv) Multiple abrasions in an area of 2" x 2" with one penetrating wound ½" x ¼" x 1" deep on the flexer aspect of lower 1/4th part of right forearm."

6. On internal examination of the dead body of the deceased, Sarfaraz, in the opinion of Dr. V.K. Tripathi (PW-5), the cause of death of the deceased is shock and haemorrhage as a result of gunshot injuries.

7. Since the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Session, learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Session.

8. Charges were framed against the accused-appellants by the learned Trial Court on 30.08.1983 under Sections 148, 302, 379, 404 IPC. The accused-appellants denied from the charges framed against them and claimed trial.

9. To substantiate the charges against the accused-appellants, prosecution adduced informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), Moid Ahmed (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) as witnesses of facts and H.C. Prem Chand Dubey (PW-4), Dr. V.K. Tripathi (PW-5), Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6) and Rahmatullah (PW-7) were adduced as formal witnesses. Apart from the above ocular evidence, prosecution also relied on documentary evidence from Exhibits Ka-1 to Ka-15.

10. Trial Court recorded evidence of the prosecution witnesses. Thereafter, accused-appellants were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C., all accused have expressed ignorance and no knowledge about the questions put to them under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In addition to this, all accused have also stated that this case was registered against them due to enmity only. All prosecution witnesses have given their evidence against them due to enmity. Accused Hidayatullah has also stated that "I had given applications dated 24.04.1981 and 01.05.1981 against the Inspector of Police Station Khakhreru and also against the informant Riyaz Ahmad, etc. On the basis of this, a case was registered against the Inspector under Section 7." Accused Azizullah has also stated in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that "he approached MLA Indrajeet. All witnesses of this case are hands of MLA Indrajeet." They have also denied from all charges levelled against them. The accused-appellants adduced Mahendra Pal Singh as DW-1.

11. After recording the evidence of the prosecution and defence, Trial Court has heard the arguments of both the parties. Trial Court has delivered a finding and reasoning of conviction and sentence against the accused persons by the impugned judgment and order dated 31.08.1984. The Trial Court convicted the accused-appellants under Section 148 of the IPC and sentenced them to undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year. The accused-appellants were also convicted under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the IPC and sentenced to imprisonment for life. Further, they were convicted under Section 379 of the IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years. Lastly, the accused-appellants were convicted under Section 404 of the IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years. All the sentences of the accused-appellants were directed to be run concurrently.

12. Aggrieved by the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31.08.1984, the accused-appellants preferred this criminal appeal before this Court.

13. During pendency of this criminal appeal, appellant nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10, 11 and 12, namely, Kammu, Baddu, Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol, Shafiullah, Zafar, Aslam, Manzar Ali, Atiqullah and Babu @ Munna have died, therefore, the criminal appeal against appellant nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10, 11 and 12 stands dismissed as abated. Now, the criminal appeal is being adjudicated only in respect of surviving appellant nos. 6, 7 and 9, namely, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah.

14. Learned counsel for surviving accused-appellants, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah, has submitted that informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) was at his home at the time of the incident. He is not an eye-witness of the incident. He received information from Moid Ahmad (PW-2). Upon receiving the information about happening of the incident from Moid Ahmad (PW-2), informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) has got scribed the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, by Hamid Ali Khan and lodged the same at Police Station Khakhreru, District Fatehpur. In the evidence of informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), only enmity between the prosecution on the one hand and the accused persons on the other and also among the accused persons themselves have been narrated by Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), therefore, evidence of Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) is not reliable and trustworthy in support of the prosecution story. It is also submitted that according to the prosecution, Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are the star eye-witnesses of the prosecution, who were said to be present at the time and place of the incident. However, from perusal of the evidence, it is apparent on the face of the record that neither Moid Ahmad (PW-2) nor Shabbir (PW-3) were present at the place of occurrence. This fact is clear from the evidence of this witnesses that there are major and material contradictions, exaggeration and concoctions that proved this fact that Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) were not present at the time and place of the incident. The prosecution with a view to support and strengthen its case against the accused persons with considerations and afterthoughts projected these two eye-witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) as witnesses of the incident. However, in reality, their evidence in cross-examination have itself belied the truthfulness of their evidence about their presence at the time and place of the incident. The prosecution story has also become doubtful due to the evidence of prosecution witness Rahmatullah (PW-7). From perusal of the statement of Rahmatullah (PW-7), it is clear that prosecution with the help of police wrongly and falsely implicated the accused persons in this case for the alleged crime. It is apparent from the prosecution case that some other persons have killed the deceased, Sarfaraz, by firing upon him, in which he sustained gun-shot injuries. Later, on receiving the information about murder of deceased, Sarfaraz, informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) with Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) and also with collusion of the police falsely named and implicated the accused-appellants in this case for commission of the alleged crime. It is also submitted on behalf of the appellants that it is stated by Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) that all accused named in the F.I.R. have fired simultaneously with their respective guns upon the deceased, Sarfaraz, but Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) have not seen any pellets, bullets or empty cartridges at the place of occurrence. The Investigating Officer Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6) have not seen and found any pellets, bullets and empty cartridges from the place of occurrence, which also makes the prosecution story highly doubtful. Learned Trial Court only on the basis of surmises and conjectures and also on the basis of enmity, which is a double-edged weapon that cuts both sides, has wrongly recorded a finding against the accused-appellants without any cogent evidence available in this regard and also against the settled principles of law. Learned Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in this case as available on the record and only on the ground that fact of enmity is tilting in favour of prosecution has held guilty to the accused-appellants in this case. Learned Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in proper perspective and in legal manner and recorded the finding and reasoning without any cogent and reliable evidence and against the settled principles of law, therefore, due to this reason, criminal appeal of the surviving accused-appellants, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah is liable to be allowed and the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 31.08.1984 passed by the learned Trial Court is liable to be set aside.

15. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the State has vehemently opposed the above arguments of learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants. He has submitted that although informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) is not an eye-witness of the incident, however, from the evidence, facts of enmity and rivalry between the parties are proved and established. Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are the eye-witnesses in this case, who have seen the happening of the incident with their eyes. Before the prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), happening of the incident occurred and accused-appellants formed an unlawful assembly armed with deadly weapons like guns, legal and illegal, surrounded the deceased, Sarfaraz, and causing riot, killed him by firing on his body. There is no major or material contradictions in the evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3). The minor contradictions and omissions are likely to be crept in every evidence of prosecution in every case. Only on this ground, prosecution story could not be doubted as suspicious or doubtful. Learned Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in proper perspective and in a legal manner. The finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court is based on cogent evidence as available on the record. Learned Trial Court has found ample, reliable and cogent evidence against the accused-appellants and thereby found that the prosecution was able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the accused-appellants, hence learned Trial Court has recorded a finding and reasoning of conviction and sentence against the accused-appellants. There is no illegality, perversity or any drawbacks in the finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court, therefore, criminal appeal of the surviving accused-appellants is devoid of merits and therefore, is liable to be rejected.

16. We have heard the arguments of learned counsel for the accused-appellants and also the arguments of learned A.G.A. for the State, gone through the evidence as available on record and also perused the judgment and order of conviction passed by the learned Trial Court.

17. From perusal of the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, and evidence of informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), we find that Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) was at his house at the time of happening of the incident. He was sitting in the verandah of his house, then Moid Ahmad (PW-2) came to his house and informed him about happening of the incident. Upon receiving the above information as narrated by Moid Ahmad (PW-2), informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) reached at the place of occurrence with his family and villagers and got the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, scribed by Hamid Ali Khan naming all accused persons in the written report and has lodged the same at Police Station Khakhreru, District Fatehpur. From perusal of the statement of informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), it is quite clear that this witness is not an eye-witness of the incident. This witness has only lodged the written report naming all accused persons at Police Station Khakhreru, District Fatehpur.

18. From perusal of the evidence of informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), this fact emerges that there were bitter enmity and rivalry between the prosecution side on the one hand and the accused-appellants on the other. Both sides usually were in habit of making complaints against each other and they never missed any opportunity in making complaints and humiliating each other. From the evidence of Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), this fact also emerges from the evidence that both sides were related to each other through old matrimonial relations. It is also revealed that a number of murders had taken place, in which members of one party were witnesses while members of the other party were accused persons in criminal cases against each other. It is also revealed that both parties were involved in several cases against each other, and various criminal proceedings were pending before the Court. Informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) was Village Pradhan for ten years continuously. It is natural that many residents of the village may be supporters and rivals of the Pradhan of the village, therefore, from perusal of the evidence of informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), only the fact of enmity and rivalry between the prosecution side and defence side emerges, however, it is settled principle of law that only on the ground of enmity, no accused person could be held guilty for commission of the heinous crime like murder.

19. Moid Ahmad (PW-2) is an eye-witness of the incident. It is said that this witness was present with deceased, Sarfaraz, when Sarfaraz was ploughing the fields of Shaukat and the incident happened. According to the prosecution, Moid Ahmad (PW-2) witnessed the incident with his own eyes. From perusal of the evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2), we find that according to this witness, he had gone with Sarfaraz on his tractor on 19.09.1981 from the morning about 08:30-09:00 A.M. to plough the fields of Shaukat of Singwahar. According to Moid Ahmad (PW-2), Sarfaraz has also taken and carried his licensee gun and belt of cartridges with him when he departed for Singwahar to plough the fields of Shaukat. When Moid Ahmad (PW-2) along with the deceased, Sarfaraz, on his tractor reached at Singwahar at the fields of Shaukat then Shaukat has also reached there and he was empty handed. He further states that Sarfaraz began to plough the fields of Shaukat by tractor and he (PW-2) and Shaukat sat on the boundary (medh) of the fields.

Then about 04:00 P.M. in the evening from the direction of Kot, accused Kammu with gun, Baddu with rifle, Mohd. Ali @ Mohd. Dhol with gun, Saif with gun, Shafiullah with gun, Zafar with gun, Ghulam with gun, Hidayatullah with gun, Azizullah with gun, Atiqullah with gun, Manzar with gun, Aslam with gun and Babu @ Munna with gun came at the spot in the fields of Shaukat. According to this witness before coming of the accused persons, Shabbir (PW-3) with this licensee gun and belt of cartridges had also come and sat near him. When accused persons arrived there, then they greeted each other. According to this witness, accused Babu @ Munna had quietly and suddenly took the gun and belt of cartridges from Shabbir (PW-3), then accused Kammu exhorted that Sarfaraz has been found today by chance, so kill him today. Thereafter, this hurdle shall also be removed. According to this witness, Kammu had also said that his father also does politics. On this point, Sarfaraz stopped his tractor and wanted to run away then all accused have fired upon him from their weapons. Sarfaraz has received gun-shot injuries. After receiving the injuries, Sarfaraz with his gun and belt of cartridges fell on the ground. According to this witness, when hue and cry was made by this witness, then Hameez and Ram Asre have also come. Thereafter, Hiddu @ Hidayatullah took the guns and belt of cartridges from Sarfaraz and also took Rs. 500/- from his pocket. Thereafter, all accused persons have gone towards Kot. After that, according to Moid Ahmad (PW-2), information about the incident was given to the father of Sarfaraz about 4:45-5:00 p.m. From Shahnagar, Adhaiya is situated towards east at a distance of one km. According to this witness, he reached Adhaiya in the morning on the date of incident about 7-7:30 a.m. This witness states that his fields were also to be ploughed. Due to this, he had gone to Adhaiya. This witness also deposed that field of this witness is situated in the riverine lowland (kachhar) area of Shahnagar. His fields could be about 4-6 bigha. Sarfaraz had ploughed a few fields measuring about 2-2.5 bighas, and thereafter, he had gone to Singwahar to plough the fields.

20. From the perusal of the statement of Moid Ahmad (PW-2), Sarfaraz has requested him to accompany him to go to Singwahar with him. This witness has also stated that he directly from Shahnagar proceeded to Singwahar and has not gone in any other village. Thus, from the above evidence about reaching at the place of occurrence and at the house of the deceased, Sarfaraz, at village Adhaiya, two different versions have been stated by this witness. At one place, this witness has stated that he from his home at Shahnagar went to village Adhaiya at the house of Sarfaraz. Informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) has also stated that Moid Ahmad (PW-2) has also went with Sarfaraz on the tractor. At other place, in his deposition, this witness Moid Ahmad (PW-2) has deposed that he is resident of Shahnagar. He clearly stated that he from Shahnagar directly had gone to Singwahar and never went in any other village. The above two versions of the statements about reaching at the place of occurrence at Singwahar and at the village Adhaiya of deceased, Moid Ahmad (PW-2) has stated two different and distinct story. That contradictory statements which have been deposed by Moid Ahmad (PW-2) are very material contradictions which create a doubt about the presence of this witness at the place of occurrence. Doubt about the presence of this witness at the place of occurrence is also indicated by the statement of this witness in which he has deposed that he has not given this statement that since morning, fields of Shaukat was being ploughed. If the Investigating Officer has written in my statement that from the early morning, he has gone to the fields of Shaukat and his field was being ploughed, I could not state the reason that how the Investigating Officer has written this fact in my statement. In this way, two different and contrary versions which are material and major contradictions in this regard have been deposed by this witness in his evidence, that creates strong and reasonable doubt about presence of this witness at the place of occurrence. From this, it appears that this witness had not gone with the deceased, Sarfaraz, on his tractor on the date of the incident to Singwahar to plough the fields of Shaukat. After happening of the incident, this witness was projected and produced by the prosecution to support its case. From the testimony of this witness, it is apparent that accused Babu @ Munna, along with the other accused persons, came before Shabbir (PW-3), and they greeted each other. Thereafter, Babu @ Munna came to Shabbir and he quietly took the gun and also snatched the belt of cartridges from him but Shabbir could not say anything. According to this witness, on the exhortation of accused Kammu, all 12 accused persons fired simultaneously upon the deceased, Sarfaraz.

21. From the perusal of the evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2), We find that after accused Babu @ Munna had snatched the gun and belt of cartridges from Shabbir, Shabbir did not demand the return of his gun, because if he had done so, he would have been killed. This witness has also stated that "all the accused persons were abusing us and threatening that they would spare us, but if we gave evidence, we would be killed." However, this witness has also stated that "I had not told these things to the Investigating Officer. I could not state any reason for this." According to this witness, he has not seen any pellets, bullets and cartridges lying at the place of occurrence. However, on the point of snatching the gun by accused Babu @ Munna, prosecution witness Shabbir (PW-3) has stated a totally different fact about this. Shabbir (PW-3) has stated that at the time of firing, I stood up from that place where I was sitting. On making hue and cry by us, accused persons have not threatened to kill us. The above statement of the other so-called eye-witness, Shabbir (PW-3), regarding the alleged threats and intimidation by the accused persons to kill the witnesses, Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), as narrated by Moid Ahmad (PW-2) in his testimony, creates a doubt regarding the veracity of such allegation and renders the same as suspicious and unreliable. Thus, this fact emerged that Moid Ahmad (PW-2) was not present at the place of occurrence when the incident happened and his presence at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful.

22. Prosecution also produced Shabbir (PW-3) as an eye-witness of the incident. From the perusal of the deposition of this witness, we find that he had gone to hunt the francolin bird (teetar) by his licensee gun along with the belt of cartridges on the day of the incident towards Kot. According to this witness at 03:30 p.m., he reached at Singwahar then this witness has seen Sarfaraz ploughing the fields of Shaukat by tractor and Moid Ahmad and Shaukat were sitting on the boundary (medh) of the field. This witness has also went and sat near Shaukat. Thereafter, according to this witness, accused persons have come at the place of occurrence. From the perusal of evidence of Shabbir (PW-3), it is revealed that this witness has also stated in the same way and style as has been stated by Moid Ahmad (PW-2) in his evidence. However, from perusal of the deposition of Shabbir (PW-3) and Moid Ahmad (PW-2), one common and same thing is being stated by the two witnesses in the same way and style. Both Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) have stated in their evidence that all accused persons have fired simultaneously with their gun and rifle upon Sarfaraz. According to the deposition of these two prosecution witnesses, total 12 accused persons have come at the place of occurrence holding in their hands guns and rifles and all the 12 accused persons simultaneously targetting the deceased, Sarfaraz, at the same point of time fired upon him. In this situation, if 12 accused persons will target and fire simultaneously upon the deceased, Sarfaraz, then in this condition, more than 12 and minimum 12 gun-shot injuries must be present at the body of the deceased, Sarfaraz. However, from the perusal of the evidence of Dr. V.K. Tripathi (PW-5), who conducted the post mortem examination of the deceased, Sarfaraz, and prepared the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-4, we find that according to the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-4, only three entry wound of gun-shot injuries are found on the body of the deceased, Sarfaraz, and one injury of exit wound of the gun-shot was found on the dead body of the deceased, Sarfaraz. One injury of abrasion was also found on his body.

23. From the perusal of the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-4, in reality, only two entry wounds of gun-shot have been found on the dead body of the deceased, Sarfaraz, and one injury of exit of the gun-shot wound are found. According to the prosecution story, three tyres of the tractor were also punctured. Even if, for the sake of argument, it is assumed that three bullets fired by the accused persons struck the three tyres of the tractor, it would appear that only five shots were fired by the culprits. However, it is also amazing fact that 12 accused persons fired simultaneously targetting the deceased, Sarfaraz, then in this mass firing by 12 persons, there was no pellets, bullets, tiklis or cartridge lying found at the place of occurrence. Moid Ahmad (PW-2) has also clearly stated that there he has not seen any pellets, bullets, tiklis or cartridge lying at the place of occurrence. This fact also creates a reasonable doubt about presence of prosecution witnesses at the place of occurrence. In this way, medical evidence does not found support from the oral evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3). Thus, there is a major and material contradictions between the medical and ocular evidence about this fact. From this major and material contradictions and variation between the medical and ocular evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), prosecution story also becomes doubtful and suspicious.

24. On the point of discrepancies between the medical and ocular evidence, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Khambam Raja Reddy and another v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, (2006) 11 SCC 239 has held in para 19 that;

"19. The present case is an example of contradiction between the ocular evidence and the medical evidence, where the medical evidence is not borne out by the ocular evidence. In such a situation it was suggested on behalf of the appellants on the authority of a decision of this Court in State of M.P. v. Dharkole, (2004) 13 SCC 308 where the medical evidence was at variance with the ocular evidence, the testimony of the eye-witness should be decided independently and if found trustworthy, the same could not be discarded merely because it is at variance with medical opinion. While there can be no difference of opinion with the principle explained in the aforesaid decision, the application thereof will depend on whether the story as made out by the prosecution is trustworthy and can be related to the injuries suffered by the victim in the manner as sought to be projected. If the ocular testimony is such that it is not possible to relate the injuries with the circumstances in which they were said to have been inflicted, the court has the discretion not to accept the ocular evidence. The principle enunciated in Dharkole case may be applied in an appropriate case, but each case has to be determined having regard to its own set of facts.

25. Thus, in the light of the legal principles as enunciated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Khambam Raja Reddy (supra), it becomes clear that in case of difference and discrepancy between the medical and ocular evidence, if on appreciation of the evidence of ocular evidence, evidence of the prosecution witnesses inspires confidence, then in this condition, ocular evidence of eye-witnesses could be accepted in support of the prosecution story. However, in case, testimony of ocular witnesses are found suspicious and surrounded with doubtful circumstances and facts, then ocular evidence of the prosecution could not be believed in support of the prosecution case. In the present case, as discussed above, upon perusal of the evidence of the prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), it appears that all the accused persons simultaneously targeted and fired at the deceased, Sarfaraz. However, as we find, only three gunshot injuries were found on the body of the deceased, Sarfaraz. This fact creates major and material contradictions as we have discussed above, presence of the prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) at the time and place of the incident makes the prosecution story highly doubtful. In this circumstances and when we see the evidence of the prosecution witness in totality, we find that evidence of the prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are not reliable and believable and do not inspire confidence. Due to this reason, evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are not reliable and believable in support of the prosecution case.

26. From perusal of the evidence of Shabbir (PW-3), it is revealed that there were also bitter enmity between the prosecution witness Shabbir and accused persons. On one side, Shabbir was a witness in several cases against the defence, and on the other side, many of the accused persons are also witnesses in the case against Shabbir (PW-3). There were also bitter enmity with regard to the license of the fair price shop. From the evidence of this witness, it is also revealed that each side were in habit of instigating and implicating each other in cases. There were different gangs on the prosecution side as well as on the defence side. Each party was in the habit of implicating the other in cases wherever they found any opportunity to do so. In this way, we find that informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1), Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) have also stated elaborately about the enmity and rivalry between the prosecution on the one hand and the defence/accused persons on the other. However, it is also a settled principle of law that only on the ground of enmity and rivalry and on suspicion, without cogent and reliable evidence, no accused person could be held guilty for commission of any heinous crime like murder. Enmity is one thing, and cogent evidence is another. For the conviction of a person in respect of a heinous crime like murder, cogent and reliable evidence beyond reasonable doubt must be available on the record to hold the persons arrayed as accused guilty of the commission of the crime. On the ground of enmity, no person could be convicted for commission of the heinous crime like murder. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sushil and others v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1995 SSC (Cri.) 388 and in the case of State of Punjab v. Sucha Singh, (2003) 3 SCC 153, has held that;

"enmity is a double aged weapon which cut both ways. It may constitute motive for the commission of the crime and at the same time it may also provide a motive for false implication."

27. It is also a settled principle of law that suspicion and doubt, however, so grave and strong, could not take the place of proof and evidence. Meaning thereby, on the ground of doubt and suspicion, no accused person could be convicted for commission of the crime. For conviction of any person for commission of any crime against them, cogent evidence beyond reasonable doubt either in the form of direct evidence or in the form of circumstantial evidence must be present on the record of the file. However, in any circumstance, suspicion and doubt could not become a basis in the place of evidence for conviction of any accused person for commission of the alleged crime. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sujit Biswas v. State of Assam, (2013) 12 SCC 406 has also held in para 13 that;

"13. Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take the place of proof, and there is a large difference between something that "may be" proved, and something that "will be proved". In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason that the mental distance between "may be" and "must be" is quite large, and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between "may be" true and "must be" true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between "may be" true and "must be" true, the court must maintain the vital distance between mere conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny, based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided, and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense.

28. In criminal matters involving heinous crime like murder, a Court can held guilty to accused persons for commission of the alleged crime. The prosecution may prove its case by adducing direct evidence, circumstantial evidence, or incriminating articles, materials, objects, or other evidence connecting the accused with the commission of the crime. A conviction can be recorded only if such evidence establishes the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. Conversely, if the prosecution fails to adduce direct evidence, circumstantial evidence, or any incriminating material, object, or other evidence linking the accused to the crime beyond reasonable doubt, the Court cannot record a finding of guilt or convict the accused. In other words, if the prosecution is unsuccessful to prove its case either by direct evidence or ocular evidence or by circumstantial evidence, then any accused person could not be held guilty and convicted for the alleged crime against them. In every situation, prosecution is legally duty-bound to establish and prove its case beyond reasonable doubt by their evidence which may be direct evidence or circumstantial evidence.

29. From the perusal of the evidence of Shabbir (PW-3), it appears that, despite the accused Babu @ Munna having allegedly snatched his licensed gun and belt of cartridges, he neither uttered a single word nor made any attempt to recover his licensed gun and belt of cartridges from the possession of the accused Babu @ Munna. Even Shabbir (PW-3) has not lodged any F.I.R. against the accused Babu @ Munna about snatching of his licensee gun and belt of cartridges by the accused Babu @ Munna. This fact was accepted by Shabbir (PW-3) in his cross-examination that □I have not lodged any report in respect of snatching of my gun. All the things have been written in the written report of Riyaz Ahmad.□ From the perusal of the evidence of this witness, it is revealed that Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) has got scribed the written report before this witness in which fact of snatching his gun has been mentioned, hence this witness has not lodged a separate report in respect of snatching of his gun by the accused Babu @ Munna from his possession. It is also revealed from the evidence of this witness that till the recording of the evidence of the witness, he has not received his licensee gun and this witness has not filed any case in respect of receiving his gun. The above statements and conduct of the prosecution witness Shabbir (PW-3) also creates a reasonable doubt about his presence at the place of occurrence when the incident occurred. From the conduct as revealed from the statement of Shabbir (PW-3), we find that the manner and the way in which deposition has been given by Shabbir (PW-3) in the Court creates a reasonable doubt about credibility, trustworthy and reliability about his evidence. This fact also creates a reasonable doubt which leads towards this inference that Shabbir (PW-3) was not present at the time and place of the incident. From the appreciation of whole evidence of Shabbir (PW-3), this fact also clearly emerged that prosecution has also projected Shabbir (PW-3) with consideration and afterthought to support the case of prosecution. However, from the whole appreciation of the statement of this witness, we find that evidence of this witness does not inspire confidence, therefore, we are of the considered opinion that Shabbir (PW-3) was also not present at the place of the incident. He was also not an eye-witness of the incident. Hence, we find that deposition of this witness is wholly doubtful and suspicious and thereby not reliable and trustworthy.

30. From the perusal of the evidence of so-called eye-witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), it is evident that there was no pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges lying at the place of occurrence. The Investigating Officer Lal Singh Chandel (PW-6) who investigated this case has also not found any pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges at the place of occurrence. According to this witness, he has inspected the place of occurrence and tried to recover the above pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges from the place of occurrence, however, he could not find the same. Non-recovery of the pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges from the place of occurrence also creates doubt about the truthfulness and credibility of the prosecution story. It is a fact that according to prosecution, 12 persons simultaneously fired upon the deceased, Sarfaraz. In this condition, recovery of the pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges is necessary outcome of the incident. It is natural that if 12 accused persons fired simultaneously, some bullets, pellets, tiklis, or empty cartridges would inevitably have fallen at the place of occurrence. However, non-recovery of the pellets, bullets, tiklis or empty cartridges from the place of occurrence also creates high suspicion about the truthfulness of the prosecution story.

31. In criminal trial, if case of the prosecution is based wholly on the evidence of the eye-witnesses of the prosecution and no other circumstantial and connecting evidence is available, then in this condition, it must be seen by the Courts that whether presence of the so-called eye-witnesses of the prosecution at the place of occurrence is true and behind any doubt. If by appreciating the evidence of the eye-witnesses, it is found that presence of the eye-witnesses at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful, then in this condition, when presence of the eye-witnesses at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful, therefore, in consequence, statement and evidence of eye-witnesses would also be regarded with doubt and suspicion. In the result, evidence of this nature of the eye-witnesses of the prosecution whose presence at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful, their deposition in Court would also become unreliable and unworthy of credence.

32. It is also a fact that the Investigating Officer not tried to recover a large number of guns and rifles, both licensed and unlicensed, which were used in the commission of the crime from the possession of the accused persons. Since, according to the prosecution case, 12 accused persons simultaneously fired at the deceased, Sarfaraz, and caused his death, the Investigating Officer was duty-bound to recover and seize the alleged murder weapons, such as rifles and guns, from the possession of, or the houses of, the accused persons. However, in this case, the Investigating Officer did not try to recover and take into possession any murder weapon such as rifles or guns from the possession of the accused persons or from their houses. This fact also makes the prosecution story suspicious.

33. The prosecution story also becomes doubtful and concocted from the evidence of the prosecution witness Rahmatullah (PW-7), who took photographs of the place of occurrence where the dead body and tractor was lying in the field. Rahmatullah (PW-7) stated in his deposition that when he has gone at the place of occurrence to take the photographs, the field where the incident happened was situated on the bank of the river. There was jungle. The tractor was lying in the field. From there at a distance of 30-40 steps, river was situated. The tractor was standing there. I went to take the photographs. Inspector has said that "stop at this moment." Inspector has also said that "first of all, tyres must be burst. Then photographs will be taken." One person by firing, burst the tyres of the tractor. Then Inspector said to me that "took the photographs of the scene." According to this witness, he took photographs of the scene and returned to his place. Although this witness was declared hostile by the prosecution and cross-examination at the length, however, in his cross-examination by the prosecution, this witness has again stated that "before me, one back wheel and one front wheel was burst." This witness has also stated that when this witness reached at the place of occurrence for photography, after one and half hour, a policeman burst the tyres of tractor. When the evidence of this witness would be seen in totality of the whole evidence of the prosecution including Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), then entire prosecution story would become highly doubtful which cast cloud of suspicion on the truthfulness and veracity of the prosecution story.

34. Thus, from the above discussion and appreciation of the whole prosecution evidence, it is clear that from the beginning of the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, the prosecution has concocted, fabricated, and, as an afterthought, developed a false story to implicate all the accused persons in this case. This fact is revealed from the statements and the language used in the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, itself. The written report reveals this fact that from the beginning, the prosecution tried to bring Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) as eye-witnesses of the incident. However, after overall appreciation of the entire evidence of Moid Ahmad (PW-2), it is clear that this witness has made major and material contradictory statement about the manner in which he reached at the place of occurrence which makes the evidence of this witness unreliable.

35. The evidence of prosecution witness Shabbir (PW-3) also reveals that prosecution has also tried to accidentally project this witness to reach at the place of occurrence on the pretext of coming back after returning from hunting without any hunt of the francolin bird (teetar). The conduct of Shabbir (PW-3) is highly suspicious and doubtful. Shabbir (PW-3) had a double-barrel licensee gun and belt of cartridges in his hand. However, in spite of snatching the gun and belt of cartridges by the accused Babu @ Munna, this witness has not uttered a single word against this and also has not opposed or resisted when his gun and belt of cartridges were being snatched by the accused Babu @ Munna. Shabbir (PW-3) even not tried to snatch and take possession of his gun and belt of cartridges from accused Babu @ Munna. Although according to this witness, he is a licensee gun holder but being a licensee gun holder, he has not lodged any F.I.R. in this respect against the accused Babu @ Munna and other accused persons. This witness was being satisfied only on the mentioning about his gun by the informant Riyaz Ahmad (PW-1) in the written report, Exhibit Ka-1. Apart from the above facts, this witness neither filed nor lodged any complaint or initiated any proceedings before any Court or competent authority for the recovery of his licensee gun and belt of cartridges allegedly lost in the incident. The conduct of the above prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are highly unnatural and doubtful. The conduct of Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) revealed clearly this fact that although these two witnesses have stated the same prosecution story against the accused persons, however, on appreciating their evidence deeply and on scrutiny of their statement as deposed by them in the Court, it is clear that Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are not the eye-witnesses of the incident but it is revealed that there was no eye-witness in this case. Due to this reason the prosecution with afterthought and consideration projected Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) as eye-witnesses of the incident. However, by scrutiny of their evidence, we find their evidence wholly doubtful and unreliable.

36. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Badam Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2003) 12 SCC 792 has held on the point of appreciation of evidence of the witness in para 16 as follows;

"16. The learned Sessions Judge after considering the evidence on record and accepting the evidence of the eyewitnesses found the appellant guilty of the offence under Section 302 IPC and sentenced him to imprisonment for life. The High Court by its impugned judgment dismissed the appeal preferred by the appellant. We have perused the impugned judgment of the High Court. The High Court which was the first court of appeal did not even carefully appreciate the facts of the case. It mentions that the FIR was lodged by PWs 5 and 6 whereas the fact is that the FIR was lodged by PW 4, the Forest Officer. Without subjecting the evidence on record to a critical scrutiny, the High Court was content with saying that the three eyewitnesses having deposed against the appellant, the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. In our view, the High Court has not approached the evidence in the manner it should have done being the first court of appeal. The mere fact that the witnesses are consistent in what they say is not a sure guarantee of their truthfulness. The witnesses are subjected to cross-examination to bring out facts which may persuade a court to hold, that though consistent, their evidence is not acceptable for any other reason. If the court comes to the conclusion that the conduct of the witnesses is such that it renders the case of the prosecution doubtful or incredible or that their presence at the place of occurrence as eyewitnesses is suspect, the court may reject their evidence. That is why it is necessary for the High Court to critically scrutinise the evidence in some detail, it being the final court of fact. We have, therefore, gone through the entire evidence on record with the assistance of the counsel for the parties.

37. In the light of the decision in the case of Badam Singh (supra) and the legal principles enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court regarding the evaluation and appreciation of the evidence of prosecution witnesses, we find that the manner in which the so-called eye-witnesses of the prosecution, Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3), have narrated the prosecution story is highly improbable, unreliable, and unworthy of credence. In their evidence as is revealed in their cross-examination, we find that major and material contradictory evidence have been given by these prosecution witnesses, which makes the prosecutions story wholly unbelievable. On reading the whole evidence of the prosecution witnesses, we find that Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) are projected prosecution witnesses who were adduced with a view to support the prosecution case and thereby ensure the conviction of the accused persons. Thus, we find that evidence of prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) is wholly unreliable and unworthy of credence.

38. We have also perused and gone through the finding and reasoning as delivered by the learned Trial Court dated 31.08.1984 and find that learned Trial Court has not appreciated the prosecution evidence in legal and proper manner. Trial Court only on the ground of enmity and rivalry held the accused-appellants guilty for commission of the alleged crime. Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence of the prosecution witnesses in a deep and proper manner and wrongly relied on the evidence of prosecution witnesses Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) as reliable. Thus, Trial Court relied on that evidence of the prosecution witness Moid Ahmad (PW-2) and Shabbir (PW-3) which we find according to the legal principles and fact of the case as wholly unreliable.

39. Thus, we find that judgment and order dated 31.08.1984 of the learned Trial Court of conviction and sentence is perverse and without the cogent evidence and against the settled principles of law, hence the same is not sustainable in the eyes of law. Hence, we find that judgment and order of Trial Court dated 31.08.1984 is liable to be set aside and the criminal appeal of the surviving appellants, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah, is liable to be allowed.

40. The criminal appeal is allowed. Accordingly, we set aside the impugned judgment and order dated 31.08.1984 of conviction and sentence passed against the accused-appellants, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah, by Trial Court in Sessions Trial No. 619 of 1981 (State v. Kammu and others) connected with Sessions Trial No. 284 of 1982 (State v. Kammu and others), Sessions Trial No. 284 of 1983 (State v. Babu @ Munna) and Sessions Trial No. 341 of 1982 (State v. Atiqullah) arising out of Case Crime No. 143 of 1981, under Sections 148, 302, 379, 404 IPC, Police Station Khakhreru, District Fatehpur. The appellants are acquitted of the charges under Sections 148, 302, 379, 404 IPC. The appellants, Ghulam, Hidayatullah and Azizullah, are on bail. They need not surrender. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties stand discharged.

41. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the learned Trial Court forthwith along with the Trial Court record for necessary compliance.

THE HON'BLE SANTOSH RAI, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 2810 of 1983

Razzak ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to a criminal appeal against conviction under S. 326 IPC, involving consideration of whether the evidence on record established the requisite knowledge regarding the likely consequences of pouring acid upon the vital parts of the deceased, whether the trial court committed legal error in convicting under S. 326 IPC and imposing three years' rigorous imprisonment without the mandatory fine, whether the benefit of probation of good conduct could be extended to the appellant, and whether, in an appeal preferred by the accused alone and in the absence of any appeal or revision by the State for enhancement of sentence, the appellate court could convert the conviction to a higher offence or enhance the sentence. (Paras 16-24)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 326 - Voluntarily causing grievous hurt by dangerous weapons or means - Acid burns - Knowledge of likely consequences - Medical evidence - Extensive acid burn injuries over vital parts of body sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death - Deliberate use of acid upon the body of another person, particularly in the manner and to the extent reflected by the injuries, sufficient to impute knowledge that the act was likely to cause death or such bodily injury as was likely to cause death - Finding of trial court that requisite knowledge was absent held not correct or sustainable. (Paras 16-19)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 326 - Sentence - Mandatory fine - Provision prescribing imprisonment and fine - Trial court convicting under S. 326 IPC and imposing three years' rigorous imprisonment without imposing fine - Failure to impose fine held to amount to legal error in sentencing - Fine forming integral and mandatory part of sentence under S. 326 IPC. (Para 19)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 304 and 326 - Appellate jurisdiction - Appeal by accused alone - Enhancement of sentence - In absence of separate appeal or revision by State for enhancement - Appellate court ought not to enhance sentence or otherwise alter finding to prejudice of accused - Conviction under S. 326 IPC therefore not converted to higher provision and sentence not disturbed notwithstanding observations regarding correctness of trial court's reasoning. (Para 21)

Criminal Law - Probation - Gravity and mode of committing offence - Offence resulting in death after prolonged suffering - No reasonable ground to justify benefit of release on probation of good conduct - Benefit of probation rejected. (Paras 22-23)

Criminal Law - Appreciation of evidence - Medical and other evidence - Disparity between superficial acid injuries sustained by accused and extensive acid burns sustained by deceased - Accused's injuries held to be a strong pointer to accused being aggressor - Conduct of attempting to escape from spot after occurrence and failure to hospitalise deceased for proper medical treatment also taken into consideration - Involvement of accused held not doubtful. (Paras 16-18)

Held: The appellant himself also sustained burn injuries by acid during the course of the commission of the offence, which injuries were superficial in nature as opposed to the extensive 60% acid burns sustained by the deceased, and this disparity in the nature and extent of the injuries was itself a strong pointer to the fact that it was the appellant who was the aggressor and not the reverse - the deceased did not die instantaneously but succumbed to his injuries after prolonged medical treatment on account of septicaemia and exhaustion consequent upon the extensive burn injuries - the statement recorded by the Investigating Officer from the deceased in relation to the cause of his death and the circumstances thereof, followed by his death, satisfies the requirements of S. 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act and may be admissible as a dying declaration notwithstanding that it was not recorded before a Magistrate - the involvement of the accused was not doubtful on the basis of evidence available on the record - the accused did not hospitalise the deceased to provide proper medical treatment and the deceased was hospitalised by a third person though the accused was present on the spot at the time of occurrence - the accused tried to escape from the spot after committing the offence and was apprehended by independent witnesses just some distance away from the place of occurrence - the medical evidence on record, taken cumulatively, disclosed that the appellant was aware of the likely consequences of pouring acid upon a human being - acid is a substance whose corrosive and dangerous nature is a matter of common knowledge - its deliberate use on the body of another person, particularly in the manner and to the extent reflected by the injuries sustained by the deceased, was sufficient to impute to the appellant the knowledge that his act was likely to cause death or such bodily injury as was likely to cause death - the finding of the trial court that the appellant did not possess the requisite knowledge to attract the offence of murder or culpable homicide was not correct or sustainable on the basis of facts and circumstances and evidence on record - although the appellant stood charged under S. 302 IPC, the trial court proceeded to convict him for the lesser offence punishable under S. 326 IPC - S. 326 IPC prescribed a mandatory sentence along with imposition of fine and the trial court was required to award a proper sentence of imprisonment and fine - failure to impose fine amounted to legal error in sentencing - the trial court adopted an unduly lenient approach and fell into legal error - however, in the absence of any separate appeal or revision by the State for enhancement of sentence, and having regard to the well-settled principle that an appellate court ought not to enhance a sentence or otherwise alter a finding to the prejudice of the accused on an appeal preferred by the accused alone, the sentence awarded by the trial court was not disturbed and the conviction under S. 326 IPC was upheld - there was no reasonable ground to justify extending the benefit of release on probation of good conduct - appeal dismissed. Advs. for the Respondents:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Santosh Rai, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Vaishali Rai, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Shri Purshottam Maurya, learned AGA for the State.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellant Razzak against the judgment and order passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur, in S.T. No. 219 of 1983, whereby the appellant has been convicted and sentenced to undergo three years R.I. under Section 326 IPC.

3. Tersely, the prosecution story is that the appellant and the deceased Gulam Husain resided together on the upper floor of their double-storeyed house at village Bichhia, the ground floor whereof was in occupation of tenants. It is the case of the prosecution that on 05.09.1981, at about 7 A.M., a quarrel took place between the appellant and his father inside the said upper floor of the building where the two of them were residing together, in the course of which the appellant poured acid upon the person of his father. The occurrence is stated to have taken place within the four walls of the house, in circumstances where independent outsiders were not ordinarily expected to be present. Immediately after the occurrence, the appellant is said to have attempted to flee towards the south but was apprehended on the spot by P.W.-1 Mahatam Singh, with the assistance of Ram Sakal, while he was still running away after pouring the acid on his father. The appellant was thereafter handed over to the police.

4. After registration of the FIR, Investigating Officer has collected the documentary and oral evidences. Ex. Ka.-1 and Ex. Ka.-6 is the FIR, which has been proved by P.W.-1. Ex. Ka.-2 is the injury report of accused Razzaq, which has been proved by P.W.-3. Ex. Ka.-3 is the injury report of Gulam Husain, which has been proved by P.W.-4. Ex. Ka.-4 is the post mortem report of Gulam Husain, which has been proved by P.W.-5. Ex. Ka.-5 is the statement of Gulam Hussain, which has been proved by P.W.-6. Ex. Ka.-7 is the G.D. entry. Ex. Ka.-8 is the panchnama, Ex. Ka-9 is the challan, Ex. Ka.-10 is the sketch, Ex. Ka.-11 is the letter for post mortem examination of Gulam Husain, Ex. Ka.-12 is the G.D. entry, Ex. Ka.13 is the site plan, Ex. Ka-14 is the statement of Jiyani and Ex. Ka.-15 is the chargesheet, which have been proved by P.W.-7.

5. The learned Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur has framed the charge against the appellant on 18.06.1983 under Section 302 IPC. In support of their case, the prosecution has examined Mahatam (informant) as P.W.-1, Smt. Jiyani as P.W.-2, who is the eye witness, Dr. U.N. Pandey as P.W.-3, who has examined the injuries of Razzak, Dr. K.K. Dixit as P.W.-4, who has examined the injuries of deceased Gulam Husain, Dr. K.M. Singh as P.W.-5, who has conducted the autopsy on the dead body of Gulam Husain and prepared the post mortem report, S.I. Umesh Chand as P.W.-6, who had recorded the statement of Gulam Husain and Ram Janam Yadav as P.W.-7, who conducted later part of the investigation and submitted charge-sheet. The defence has examined Abdul Nisar as D.W.-1.

6. The grounds of the appeal in brief are that the conviction of the appellant is against the weight of evidence on record and is bad in law. Furthermore, the sentence awarded to the appellant is too severe.

7. P.W.-1 stated in examination-in-chief, in brief, that while going to his field at about 9:00 a.m., he heard an alarm and saw the accused fleeing towards the drain. He and other villagers chased and apprehended the accused. P.W.-1 did not witness the accused throwing acid from the roof. According to the prosecution, the acid was thrown on Gulam Husain during a scuffle. Gulam Husain's body had turned black due to the acid burns, and the accused, Razzaq, had sustained acid splashes on his hand. The injured Gulam Husain was taken to the Medical College by Abdul Nisar, a rickshaw puller. P.W.-1 lodged the FIR.

8. P.W.-2 Smt. Jiyani stated, in examination-in-chief that Razzak is the son of Gulam Husain. My house is situated opposite the entrance of Gulam Husain's house. I do not know when or how Gulam Husain died. He has since passed away.

9. P.W.-3, Dr. U.N. Pandey stated, in examination-in-chief that on 05.09.1981 he examined the accused Razzaq and found simple injuries on his hand, consistent with acid splashes. He opined that the injuries had been caused on 05.09.1981 at about 7:00 a.m. He prepared the injury report and proved the same before the Court.

10. P.W.-4 Dr. K.K. Dixit stated in his examination-in-chief, in brief, that he conducted the medical examination of the deceased, Gulam Husain, and found approximately 60% acid burn injuries involving the face, neck, chest, and upper part of body. He opined that the injuries were fresh, sustained at about 7:00 a.m. on 05.09.1981, and were caused by acid. According to him, such 60% acid burns were sufficient to endanger life and carried the possibility of causing death. He referred the patient to the Eye Surgeon and Plastic Surgeon for specialized treatment and proved the injury report before the Court.

11. P.W.-5, Dr. K.N. Singh stated in his examination-in-chief, in brief, that he conducted the post-mortem examination and proved the post-mortem report. He found extensive corrosive (acid) burn injuries over almost the entire upper part of body, including the face, front and back of the neck, chest, scalp, both upper limbs, forehead, and eyes. The burns were deep, ulcerated, muscle-deep at places, with blackening and peeling of the skin, and the left eyeball was shrunken due to the burns. The post-mortem recorded multiple extensive burn injuries, including a 20"x12" burn over the neck and chest, 19"x8" burn over the right upper limb, 24"x 3 ½" burn over the left upper limb, 4"x 5" burn over the left frontal region, 17" burn over the scalp, and a 29"x14" ulcerated burn extending from the back of the neck to the hip, muscle-deep with loss of skin. PW-5 opined that the injuries were caused by acid/corrosive substance, and that the cause of death was septicaemia and exhaustion resulting from the extensive acid burn injuries. He confirmed that the injuries were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.

12. PW-6 S.I. Umesh Chand Upadhyay stated in his examination-in-chief that he recorded the statement of the injured Gulam Husain at the Medical College Hospital on 08.09.1981. He deposed that the deceased Ghulam Hussain had informed him that acid had been thrown on him; however, by inadvertence, the word "liquor (शराब)" was written instead of "acid (तेजाब)" in the Case Diary, which he clarified before the Court. Following Gulam Husain's death 12-14 days later, the statement was treated as a dying declaration.

13. PW-7, Ram Janam Yadav, Investigating Officer stated in his examination-in-chief, in brief, that he took over the investigation on 17.12.1981 after information regarding the victim's death was received at the police station. Consequently, the offence was converted from Section 326 IPC to Section 304 IPC on 21.10.1981. He examined the earlier investigation, recorded the statement of Mahatam Singh (P.W.-1), and completed the remaining investigation by preparing and signing the relevant papers.

14. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that the appellant has not committed the offence alleged by the prosecution and has been falsely implicated in the present case. It is contended that the death of his father was purely accidental. The appellant himself made every effort to save his father's life and, in the process, sustained burn injuries on his hands while trying to rescue him. It is further submitted that the present criminal appeal has remained pending since the year 1983 and that the appellant is now more than 60 years of age. Therefore, even if this Court comes to the conclusion that the appellant is guilty of the offence, he deserves to be extended the benefit of probation in view of the facts and circumstances of the case.

15. Learned AGA vehemently opposed the submissions advanced on behalf of the appellant and supported the findings and judgment of the trial court. It is submitted that the appellant is the real son of the deceased, Gulam Hasan, and no enmity or ulterior motive has been brought on record to suggest that he has been falsely implicated in this case. It is further submitted that during an altercation with the deceased, the appellant intentionally poured acid on the vital parts of the deceased's body, causing grievous burn injuries. The deceased succumbed to the injuries during the course of treatment about 20 days after the incident. It further contended that although the appellant had committed a grave offence amounting to murder or culpable homicide, the trial court adopted a lenient approach by convicting and sentencing him only under Section 326 IPC.

16. It has come on record, and has not been seriously disputed, that the appellant himself also sustained burn injuries by acid during the course of the commission of the offence, which injuries were found to be superficial in nature on examination by P.W.3 Dr. U.N. Pandey, as opposed to the extensive 60% acid burns sustained by the deceased and noted by P.W.4 Dr. K.K. Dixit and P.W.5 Dr. K.N. Singh, who conducted the post-mortem examination. This disparity in the nature and extent of the injuries sustained by the appellant, on the one hand, and the deceased, on the other, is itself a strong pointer to the fact that it was the appellant who was the aggressor and not the reverse, as sought to be suggested. The deceased Gulam Husain did not die instantaneously. He succumbed to his injuries after prolonged medical treatment, death having occurred approximately three weeks after the occurrence, on account of septicaemia and exhaustion consequent upon the extensive burn injuries. The accused, in his Section 313 Cr.P.C. statement, admitted that acid was thrown during the scuffle but failed to explain how Gulam Husain sustained the injuries.

17. During the course of investigation, the Investigating Officer, P.W.6 S.I. Umesh Chand Upadhya, visited the deceased at the Medical College Hospital on 08.09.1981 and recorded his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., which statement clearly implicated the appellant as the person responsible for causing the injuries. Having regard to the fact that this statement was made by the deceased in relation to the cause of his death and the circumstances thereof, and was followed by his death, it satisfies the requirements of Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act and may be admissible as a dying declaration, notwithstanding that it was not recorded before a Magistrate. The diseased Gulam Husain was unable to speak properly at the time of statement recorded and 161 Cr.P.C. by the investigating officer, but he has specifically stated that some material was thrown by his son Razak over him. So far involvement of the accused is concerned, is not doubtful on the basis of evidence available on the record. It is also pertinent to mention here that the accused Razzak has not hospitalised the deceased to provide the proper medical treatment in order to save the life of his father, the deceased was hospitalised by a third person, though, he was present on the spot at the time of occurrence. The accused Razzak tried to escape from the spot after committing the offence, and he was apprehended by the independent witnesses just some distance away from the place of occurrence. It also clearly transpires the mala fide conduct and behaviour of the applicant.

18. The medical evidence on record, taken cumulatively, further discloses that the appellant was aware of the likely consequences of pouring acid upon a human being. Acid is a substance whose corrosive and dangerous nature is a matter of common knowledge. Its deliberate use on the body of another person, particularly in the manner and to the extent reflected by the injuries sustained by the deceased, is sufficient to impute to the appellant the knowledge that his act was likely to cause death or such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. In these circumstances, the findings recorded by the learned trial court that the appellant did not possess the requisite knowledge to attract the offence of murder or culpable homicide does not, in the considered view of this Court, appear to be correct or sustainable on the basis of facts and circumstances and evidence on record.

19. It is, however, noticed that although the appellant stood charged under Section 302 I.P.C., the trial court proceeded to convict him for the lesser offence punishable under Section 326 I.P.C. (voluntarily causing grievous hurt by dangerous weapons or means). On the basis of evidence fact & circumstances available on the record in totality, it appears that applicant was required to convict under section 304 of IPC on the ground that he had knowledge that what he is doing at the time of commencement of offence against his father by way of pouring the acid over the vital part of the body of deceased. On the basis of observation hereinabove, I am not agree with the findings of the trial court. In this regard, section 326 I.P.C., as it stood applicable, prescribes a mandatory sentence along with imposition of fine and the trial court was also required to award a proper sentence of imprisonment and fine which is as an integral and mandatory part of a sentence under the said Section. It is seen from the impugned judgment that no such proper sentence was in fact awarded by the trial court. This Court is of the view that the trial court committed material legal error in this regard, in failing to impose the fine mandated by law upon recording a conviction under Section 326 I.P.C. Where the IPC provision prescribes punishment in the form, "....shall be punished with imprisonment .... and shall also be liable to fine" , or "....with imprisonment and fine", the trial court is expected to impose fine also. Failure to impose fine amounts to legal error in sentencing.

20. Before parting with the record, this Court considers it necessary to record its deep anguish over the manner in which the learned Trial Judge dealt with the present sessions trial. The accused was charged for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC on the allegation that he intentionally caused the homicidal death of his own father by pouring acid upon him, resulting in fatal burn injuries. The evidence on record, both ocular and medical, unmistakably required a careful examination with reference to the ingredients of Section 302 or 304 IPC. However, the learned Trial Judge, by a manifest misappreciation of the evidence and a complete failure to apply the settled principles governing the offence of murder/culpable homicide, recorded a conviction only under Section 326 IPC and imposed a sentence of merely three years rigorous imprisonment. No legally sustainable reason has been assigned for discarding the charge of murder or for extending such extraordinary and unwarranted leniency. The omission to impose the statutory sentence of fine, which formed an integral part of the punishment prescribed under Section 326 IPC, further reflects patent non-application of mind to the mandatory provisions of law and the settled principles governing sentencing. The cumulative effect of these glaring errors resulted in a serious miscarriage of justice. This Court is conscious that the impugned judgment was rendered more than four decades ago and that the concerned Presiding Officer has, in all probability, demitted judicial office. Nevertheless, the passage of time cannot dilute the duty of this Court to record its disapproval of an adjudication which displays a serious failure to appreciate the evidence, apply the correct legal principles and impose the punishment mandated by law. Judicial discretion is never synonymous with judicial arbitrariness. Sympathy or misplaced leniency has no place where the statute and the evidence demand a reasoned and lawful adjudication. Such lapses have the potential to erode public confidence in the administration of criminal justice. It is, therefore, considered appropriate to observe that every judicial officer trying criminal cases must exercise the highest degree of care, legal acumen and judicial discipline while recording findings on guilt and imposing sentence. This judgment shall serve as a reminder that failure to discharge these fundamental judicial obligations may invite serious judicial criticism and, where the officer is in service, appropriate administrative consequences in accordance with law.

21. It is informed by the learned A.G.A. that no separate appeal or revision for enhancement of sentence has been preferred by the State against the judgment of the trial court. In the absence of any such appeal by the State, and having regard to the well-settled principle that an appellate court ought not to enhance a sentence, or otherwise alter a finding to the prejudice of the accused. On an appeal preferred by the accused alone, this Court refrains from disturbing the sentence awarded by the trial court or from converting the conviction to one under a higher provision, notwithstanding the observations made hereinabove regarding the correctness of the trial court's reasoning.

22. This Court is further of the view that the trial court, in assigning the benefit, it did to the appellant on the question of sentence, adopted an unduly lenient approach and thereby fell into legal error. The offence in question was committed by the appellant against his own father, within the sanctity of their shared home, and resulted in the latter's death after prolonged suffering.

23. Having regard to the gravity and mode of committing the offence, there is no reasonable ground made out on the record which would justify extending to the appellant the benefit of release on probation of good conduct. The submission made on behalf of the appellant seeking such benefit is, accordingly, rejected.

24. For the reasons recorded above, this Court finds no merit in the appeal insofar as it challenges the finding of guilt recorded against the appellant. The sentence awarded by the learned Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur in S.T. No. 219 of 1983, though found to suffer from a legal infirmity on account of non-imposition of the mandatory fine as sentence under Section 326 I.P.C., is not disturbed, in the absence of any appeal or revision by for enhancement thereof. Therefore, the conviction of the appellant under Section 326 IPC is upheld.

25. The appeal is dismissed.

26. The appellant, if on bail, shall surrender within a period of two weeks from today to serve out the remainder of the sentence. The bail bonds are cancelled and sureties, if any, are discharged from their liabilities.

27. If the appellant fails to surrender within stipulated period as above, learned trial court is directed to take immediate legal steps adopting coercive measures including issuance of non-bailable warrant to take the appellant into custody for execution of sentence in accordance with law.

28. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted forthwith to the trial court concerned along with trial court record for compliance.

29. The Registrar (Compliance) is also directed to serve a copy of this order within 48 hours by FAX/e-mail to the concerned court through District & Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur for compliance.

30. Let Ms. Vaishali Rai, learned Amicus Curiae, be paid her remuneration as fixed by this Court yide order dated 07.05.2026, within a period of two weeks from today.

Criminal Appeal No. 2895 of 2022
& Other Connected Case

Ramakant Tiwari @ Faouji ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction of the appellant under S. 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 is sustainable or is liable to be altered to S. 304 Part I of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 under Exception 4 to S. 300 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860; and whether the acquittal of the co-accused is perverse or warrants interference under S. 372 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. (Paras 12, 14, 70-78, 78-89)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 300 Exception 4, 302 and 304 Part I - Culpable homicide not amounting to murder - Application of Exception 4 to S. 300 is conditioned upon the simultaneous existence of four cumulative requirements: the act must be committed without premeditation, in a sudden fight, in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel, and without the offender taking undue advantage or acting in a cruel or unusual manner - The initial altercation over irrigation occurred at 12:00 noon, after which the accused disengaged, returned to their houses, armed themselves with firearms, and returned to the informant's house at 2:00 P.M. to fire, showing a clear break of nearly two hours in the chain of events which allowed tempers to cool, and the use of a deadly firearm against an unarmed person constitutes taking undue advantage - The conviction of the appellant under S. 302 is affirmed and cannot be altered to S. 304 Part I. (Paras 78-89).

Criminal Jurisprudence - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 3 - Appreciation of evidence - Related and interested witnesses - Ocular testimony vis-a-vis medical evidence - Testimony of a related witness cannot be discarded merely on account of relationship unless they are interested with an ulterior motive to falsely implicate, and must be scrutinized with caution; minor inconsistencies in peripheral details due to lapse of time and human memory do not affect the core of the prosecution case, and the medical evidence of a single entry and corresponding exit wound is consistent with ocular testimony of multiple shots where only the shot fired by the appellant hit the vital part of the deceased - The informant and the eye-witness, being brothers or close relatives of the deceased, were natural witnesses whose presence was natural due to the family land dispute, and they consistently deposed that the appellant fired the fatal shot to the neck of the deceased, which was corroborated by the post-mortem report showing death from shock and hemorrhage due to ante-mortem firearm injury - The ocular testimony of the related witnesses was trustworthy and corroborated by medical evidence. (Paras 41-55).

Criminal Jurisprudence – Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 27 - Recovery of weapon of offence - Ballistic expert report - Corroboration by independent witness in respect of recovery is a rule of prudence and not an inflexible rule of law; testimony of official witnesses is reliable if it inspires confidence, and a ballistic expert's microchemical and comparison examination confirming that the recovered empty cartridge was fired from the recovered country-made pistol is a strong scientific circumstance connecting the accused with the crime - A country-made pistol of .315 bore along with one empty cartridge was recovered from the personal search of the appellant, and the ballistic report confirmed that the recovered empty cartridge was fired from the recovered pistol, and the presence of the spent cartridge in his possession was not unnatural as the weapon was a single-shot country-made pistol requiring manual extraction - The recovery of the weapon and cartridge was duly proved and corroborated the ocular testimony. (Paras 56-64).

Criminal Jurisprudence - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 11 - Plea of alibi - Burden of proof - Latin expression alibi means elsewhere, and the plea must be established by the accused with certainty through cogent and convincing evidence to completely exclude the possibility of his presence at the scene of the crime - The appellant set up a plea of alibi through a defence witness and hospital records to show he was at a hospital during the incident, but failed to prove his presence at the hospital at the precise time of the occurrence, and failed to examine any doctor or hospital official to prove the documents - The plea of alibi was not established and was rightly rejected. (Paras 65-69).

Criminal Jurisprudence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 34 - Common intention - Appeal against acquittal - Common intention cannot be inferred merely because several accused were present or armed; the criminal act must be committed in furtherance of common intention, and interference with acquittal is warranted only if findings are manifestly illegal or perverse; where two views are possible, the one favourable to the accused must prevail - The co-accused were acquitted as the informant admitted previous matrimonial enmity, there was no independent or scientific corroboration connecting their weapons to the crime, and the double-barrel gun was recovered from the house of its licence-holder and not from the exclusive possession of the co-accused - The acquittal of the co-accused was a plausible view representing a proper appreciation of evidence and did not warrant interference. (Paras 70-78, 91, 93)

Held: Merely because a witness is related to the deceased does not render him an interested witness in the eye of law since the testimony of a related witness cannot be discarded merely on account of relationship and is only required to be scrutinized with greater caution - Minor inconsistencies unless they go to the root of the prosecution case cannot form the sole basis for discarding otherwise reliable ocular evidence because human memory is not infallible and variations with respect to peripheral details are natural - The duty of the Court is to separate the grain from the chaff and determine whether the substratum of the prosecution case survives - Corroboration by an independent witness in respect of a recovery is a rule of prudence and not an inflexible rule of law and where the evidence of the police officials is found to be cogent and trustworthy there is no legal prohibition against acting upon such evidence - The plea of alibi requires strict proof of such a nature as would completely exclude the possibility of the presence of the accused at the place of occurrence and must be proved with certainty - Common intention under S. 34 cannot be inferred merely because several accused were present at the place of occurrence or were allegedly armed as the prosecution must establish that the criminal act was committed in furtherance of the common intention of all the accused - The application of Exception 4 to S. 300 is conditioned upon the simultaneous existence of four cumulative essential requirements which require that the act must have been committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner - The use of a deadly firearm against an unarmed person after returning from the place of quarrel with sufficient time for reflection unmistakably amounts to taking undue advantage and falls outside the protective ambit of Exception 4 to S. 300 as the disengagement of the accused from the initial quarrel followed by returning home to arm himself and coming back to the place of occurrence breaks the continuity of the quarrel and clearly evidences deliberation - An order of acquittal further strengthens the presumption of innocence available to the accused and interference is warranted only where the conclusions recorded by the trial court are manifestly illegal perverse or such as no reasonable person would arrive at on the evidence available on record. (Paras 42, 45, 46, 57, 65, 71, 77, 80, 81, 89) (E-7)

Prosecution Story in Nutshell:

4. The prosecution case, in brief, is that the complainant, Ashok Kumar Tiwari, son of Salik Ram, resident of Village Baijupurwa, Majra Seva, Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Hardoi, lodged a written report on 01.12.2013 at Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Hardoi, alleging therein that about two years prior to the incident, his wife had allegedly been abducted by Saroj Tiwari, son of his uncle, leaving behind three children who have since been residing with the complainant. It was further alleged that after the said incident, Saroj Tiwari and his brother Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu started residing separately and developed animosity towards the complainant on account of his opposition to their acts. It was further stated that Ramakant @ Fauji, cousin of Saroj Tiwari, had organized a Bhagwat ceremony at his residence and had invited Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu. On 01.12.2013 at about 2:00 P.M., the accused persons, namely, Ramakant @ Fauji and Chandrakant @ Chotta, sons of Ganga Ram Tiwari, along with Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu, sons of Vishram Tiwari, started irrigating the agricultural land of the complainant with an intention to forcibly take possession thereof. Upon receiving information regarding the said act, the complainant along with his younger brothers, Rajesh and Rakesh, and his cousins, Nanhe and Pappu, sons of Badshah Tiwari, reached the spot and objected to the said act of the accused persons. Thereupon, the accused persons became aggressive and attempted to assault them, as a result whereof the complainant side retreated towards their house. It is further alleged that thereafter Ramakant @ Fauji, armed with an illegal firearm as well as a licensed double-barrel gun, and Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu, armed with illegal firearms, opened fire upon the complainant side with an intention to commit their murder. During the course of the incident, Ramakant @ Fauji allegedly fired at Rajesh Tiwari, brother of the complainant, causing firearm injuries to him, as a result whereof he fell on the spot. Thereafter, the accused persons allegedly fled from the place of occurrence while extending threats to kill the complainant and other witnesses. Rajesh Tiwari succumbed to the firearm injuries and died at the place of occurrence itself.

5. On the basis of the written report, FIR was registered as FIR No. 1593 of 2013, under Sections 302 r/w 34, 304 r/w 34 and 506 of IPC against the accused persons, namely, Ramakant Tiwari @ Fauji, Chandrakant Tiwari @ Chhota, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore Tiwari @ Hallu, at Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Hardoi, and the same was duly entered in the General Diary.

6. Upon completion of the investigation, the Investigating Officer found sufficient material against the accused-appellants and submitted charge-sheets. In Case Crime No. 1593 of 2013, charge-sheet was submitted against accused-appellants Ramakant Tiwari @ Fauji, Chandrakant Tiwari @ Chhotta, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore Tiwari @ Hallu for the offences punishable under Sections 302, 307 and 506 IPC r/w Section 30 of the Arms Act. Separate charge-sheets were also submitted against accused-appellant Ramakant Tiwari @ Fauji in Case Crime No. 1595 of 2013 under Section 3/25 of the Arms Act, against accused-appellant Saroj Tiwari in Case Crime

No. 1616 of 2013 under Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act, against accused-appellant Kaushal Kishore Tiwari @ Hallu in Case Crime No. 1617 of 2013 under Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act and against accused-appellant Chandrakant Tiwari @ Chhotta in Case Crime No. 1772 of 2013 under Sections 3/25/27 of the Arms Act.

7. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined Ashok Kumar (PW-1), Nanhu Tiwari (PW-2), Dr. S. P. Singh (PW-3), H. M. Sanjay Singh (PW-4), SHO Brijesh Kumar Tripathi (PW-5), Inspector-in-charge Kiranpal Singh (PW-6), SI Jaichand Sonkar (PW-7), Inspector Ashok Kumar Singh (PW-8), SI Hari Om Gupta (PW-9), Head Constable Rajesh Kumar Mishra (PW-10), SI Sanjay Singh (PW-11), and Inspector-in-charge Ganesh Kumar Shukla (PW-12).

8. In defence, the accused-appellants examined Smt. Sudha, wife of Shrikant, as DW-1. Besides the oral evidence, the defence also produced documentary evidence. On behalf of accused-appellant Chandrakant, certified copies of the record pertaining to Sessions Trial No. 386 of 2008 (State v. Chota @ Chandkant Pandey and Others, Case Crime No. 519 of 2007), under Sections 328/34, 302/34 and 392 IPC read with Section 3(2)(5) of SC/ST Act, Police Station Hariyawan, including the judgment dated 14.02.2017, were brought on record as Paper Nos. 77-B/2 to 77-B/6. On behalf of accused-appellant Ramakant Tiwari, a hospital discharge slip along with the treatment records were filed as Paper Nos. 78-B/1 to 78-B/7. 11. The statements of the accused-appellants were recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, wherein all the incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to them. The accused-appellants denied the prosecution case in its entirety and pleaded false implication. They disputed the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses, asserting that the statements made by them were false and that the alleged recoveries, seizure proceedings and other investigative steps had been falsely fabricated by the Investigating Officer. They also questioned the fairness of the investigation and the genuineness of the prosecution case. Accused-appellant Ramakant Tiwari specifically stated that the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory had been received after an inordinate delay. The accused-appellants further set up a defence that they had been falsely implicated on account of previous enmity arising out of the matrimonial relationship of the informant□s wife with the family of accused-appellant Saroj. Accused-appellant Ramakant Tiwari further stated that he had merely been called to the police station for interrogation but was illegally arrested; that the then Station House Officer had demanded a sum of ₹2,00,000/-, and on his expressing inability to pay the same, his licensed double-barrel gun was taken into possession and was subsequently implicated in another criminal case concerning his younger brother. He maintained that he was innocent and had not committed the alleged offence. The accused-appellants also stated that they intended to lead evidence in defence.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the accused-appellant:-

12. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants, while assailing the impugned judgment and order of conviction, submitted that the prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt and that the learned Trial Court has erred both on facts and in law in recording the conviction of accused-appellant Ramakant. It was contended that the prosecution evidence suffers from material contradictions and inconsistencies; that the medical and ballistic evidence does not support the ocular version; that the alleged recoveries are unreliable; that the plea of alibi raised by accused-appellant Ramakant has not been properly appreciated; and that, in any event, the facts of the case would attract Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC, warranting alteration of the conviction from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part I IPC.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the complainant and learned A.G.A : -

13. Per contra, learned A.G.A. supported the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial Court and submitted that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing the guilt of accused-appellant Ramakant beyond reasonable doubt through cogent ocular, medical and scientific evidence. It was further submitted that no interference with the conviction and sentence recorded against him is warranted.

14. Learned counsel for the complainant adopted the submissions advanced by the learned A.G.A. in support of the conviction of accused-appellant Ramakant. In addition, thereto, it was submitted that the learned Trial Court committed a manifest error in extending the benefit of doubt to accused-appellants Chandrakant @ Chhota, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu. He submitted that the evidence on record sufficiently establishes that the said accused shared the common intention to commit the offence and, therefore, the appeal against their acquittal deserves to be allowed.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

15. PW-1 Ashok Kumar, the informant, deposed that about two years prior to the incident, his wife, Shraddha, had left with accused Saroj and started living somewhere else. He further deposed that accused-appellant Ramakant, who lived in the same village as that of informant, organized a Bhagwat at his house and invited accused-appellants Saroj and Kaushal Kishore. He further deposed that on the date of the incident, the accused-appellants, namely Ramakant @ Fauji, Chandrakant @ Chhota, Saroj and Kaushal Kishore, attempted to irrigate his agricultural land with the intention of taking forcible possession thereof. Upon objection being raised by him, his brothers namely Rajesh, Rakesh, Nanhe and Pappu, an altercation ensued, wherein the accused-appellants attempted to attack them. He further deposed that they (he and his brothers) ran and came to his (witness) house. He further deposed that at about 2:00 p.m., accused-appellant Ramakant, armed with a country-made pistol, Chandrakant @ Chhota carrying a licensed double-barrel gun, and Saroj and Kaushal armed with country-made pistol reached the door of his house and opened indiscriminate fire with the intention to commit murder. He further deposed that the shot fired by accused Ramakant hit his brother Rajesh Tiwari, who succumbed to the firearm injury on the spot, while the remaining people saved themselves by taking shelter. He further deposed that after the occurrence, the accused-appellants fled away while extending threats of dire consequences. Thereafter, he proceeded to the police station where a written report was scribed at his instance by a person present outside the police station, the contents thereof were read over to him, and after admitting the same to be correct, he affixed his thumb impression thereon. The written report was proved and marked as Ext. Ka-1.

16. During cross-examination, he deposed that incident occurred on 1st of the month but he was unable to recall the specific month as he is illiterate. 37. PW-12 Gangesh Kumar Shukla, Inspector-in-charge, Police Station Kotwali Dehat, deposed that on 29.08.2022, he was posted on the same post and place. He further deposed that the Forensic Science Laboratory reports relating to Case Crime No. 1595/13 under Section 3/25 Arms Act and Case Crime No. 1595/13 under Sections 302, 307 and 506 IPC had earlier been forwarded by the Forensic Science Laboratory, however, for certain reasons the same were not available on the original case record. He further deposed that the second copy of Forensic Science Laboratory report was received and forwarded before the Court through a supplementary application, which was proved and marked as Ext. Ka-38. He also proved the forensic examination report relating to Section 302 IPC, which was marked as Exhibit Ka-39.

38. During cross-examination, he deposed that the FSL report received by him in respect of the offence under Sections 302 and 307 IPC did not mention that it was a second copy. He admitted that he had no knowledge whether the double-barrel gun recovered in Crime No. 1617 of 2013 under Sections 3/25/27 of the Arms Act had been sent for forensic examination and stated that no FSL report regarding the said gun had been received by him. He further deposed that the FSL report relating to the disputed .315 bore pistol had been received. He further deposed that he had no knowledge whether any other articles had been sent for forensic examination or from which accused the recovered weapons had been seized, as the FSL report only dealt with the articles examined. He further deposed that he was not posted at the police station when the seized articles were forwarded to the Forensic Science Laboratory. He denied the suggestion that the report had been prepared only to strengthen the prosecution case.

39. DW-1 Sudha, wife of Shrikant, deposed that accused Ramakant @ Fauji was a resident of her village and that there had been a dispute between Ashok and Saroj on account of Ashok's wife leaving with Saroj. She stated that on the date of the incident Ramakant had gone to Hardoi for medical treatment and returned to the village at around 4:00 5:00 P.M., by which time the altercation had already taken place.

40. During cross-examination, she deposed that she came to know about the death of Rajesh only later and had not witnessed the actual occurrence. She further deposed that she was already standing on the roof before the quarrel commenced. She further deposed that she had seen Ramakant leaving for Hardoi for medical treatment and had informed persons enquiring about him that he had undergone an operation and had gone to obtain medicines. She denied the suggestions that she was deposing falsely, that she had been won over by the accused, or that she had come to Court only at the instance of the wife of accused Ramakant @ Fauji.

Court Analysis:

Contradictions in the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 and absence of independent witness

41. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant Ramakant assailed the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court on the ground that the prosecution case rests solely upon the testimonies of PW-1 Ashok Kumar and PW-2 Nanhu Tiwari, both of whom are closely related to the deceased and are, therefore, interested witnesses. It was further submitted that their depositions suffer from material contradictions with regard to the sequence of events, the role attributed to the accused and the manner of occurrence, rendering the prosecution case wholly unreliable. It was also argued that despite the alleged incident having taken place in broad daylight in a residential locality, no independent witness was examined by the prosecution, thereby casting a serious doubt upon the prosecution version.

42. At the outset, it is necessary to bear in mind the distinction between a related witness and an interested witness. Merely because a witness is related to the deceased does not render him an interested witness in the eye of law. A witness can be said to be interested only when he has a direct stake in securing the conviction of the accused or has some ulterior motive to falsely implicate him. The law has consistently recognized that the testimony of a related witness cannot be discarded merely on account of relationship; rather, such evidence is required to be scrutinized with greater caution. If, upon such scrutiny, it is found to be natural, trustworthy and consistent on the material particulars, there is no legal impediment in placing reliance upon it. In this regard, reference may be made to the decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Rajasthan v. Kalki (1981) 2 SCC 752, Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 14 SCC 150 and Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525.

43. Furthermore, PW-1 is the brother of the deceased and the informant, whereas PW-2 is also a close relative. Their presence at the place of occurrence cannot be said to be unnatural, particularly when the occurrence itself is alleged to have arisen out of a dispute concerning the irrigation and possession of agricultural land belonging to the family. The defence has not been able to demonstrate any circumstance which would indicate that these witnesses were not present at the place of occurrence or that they deliberately substituted the real assailant with an innocent person.

44. It is true that certain inconsistencies emerge in the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2. PW-1 stated that the fatal shot fired by accused-appellant Ramakant was the first shot, and did not speak of any earlier discharge by Chandrakant. PW-2, by contrast, stated that Chandrakant fired first from the licensed double-barrel gun, followed by a shot from Kaushal Kishore, with the firing thereafter becoming simultaneous the fatal shot again being traced to Ramakant. PW-2 further deposed that four shots were fired in all; PW-1 gave no such count. However, such discrepancies do not strike at the root of the prosecution case, as both witnesses have consistently deposed that the altercation initially took place over the disputed agricultural land, that thereafter the accused returned armed with firearms, and that the fatal firearm injury resulting in the death of Rajesh was caused by accused Ramakant. The core of the prosecution case thus remains intact.

45. It cannot be expected that a witness to a ghastly incident involving the murder of a close family member would, after a considerable lapse of time, narrate the entire occurrence before the Court with photographic precision or mathematical exactitude. Human memory is not infallible. Variations with respect to peripheral details are not only natural but are often indicative of the fact that the witnesses are recounting the incident from memory rather than reproducing a tutored version. The depositions of PW-1 and PW-2 were recorded after a considerable period of time and through an exhaustive cross-examination, therefore, minor inconsistencies were bound to surface. Such discrepancies, unless they go to the root of the prosecution case, cannot form the sole basis for discarding otherwise reliable ocular evidence.

46. The learned Trial Court has rightly applied the well-established principle that the duty of the Court is to separate the grain from the chaff. Where exaggerations or embellishments are mixed with truthful portions of the testimony, the entire evidence need not be rejected. The Court is required to separate the credible part from the unreliable portion and determine whether the substratum of the prosecution case survives. On a careful appreciation of the evidence on record, this Court finds no reason to take a view different from that adopted by the learned Trial Court.

47. The submission regarding the absence of independent witnesses is equally devoid of merit. The occurrence arose out of a dispute between close relatives and is stated to have taken place in a village setting. It is a matter of common judicial experience that independent villagers are generally reluctant to involve themselves in criminal litigation, particularly where the dispute is between members of the same family or rival factions of the village. Their reluctance to come forward cannot, by itself, be treated as a circumstance sufficient to reject the otherwise reliable testimony of natural witnesses. The prosecution is required to prove its case by the quality of evidence and not by the number of witnesses examined. Merely because no independent witness has been examined does not render the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 unacceptable, especially when their presence at the place of occurrence is natural and their testimony, on the material aspect concerning the role of accused Ramakant, finds corroboration from the medical evidence.

Medical and Ballistic Evidence vis-a-vis the Ocular Testimony

48. The learned counsel for the accused-appellant Ramakant contended that the prosecution case is rendered doubtful by the medical evidence itself. It was urged that although the prosecution alleged indiscriminate firing by all the accused-appellants, the post-mortem examination disclosed only a solitary firearm injury comprising one entry wound and one corresponding exit wound. It was further submitted that neither blackening, tattooing nor scorching was found around the entry wound; no bullet or pellet was recovered from the body of the deceased; and, therefore, the ocular version was wholly inconsistent with the medical evidence. Learned counsel also questioned the recovery of the .315 bore country-made pistol and the empty cartridge from accused-appellant

Ramakant on the following day of the incident, contending that no prudent person would continue to carry a spent cartridge after committing the offence.

49. The post-mortem report, Ext. Ka-2, unequivocally establishes that the deceased sustained a solitary firearm injury comprising one entry wound and one corresponding exit wound. The post-mortem doctor, PW-3, categorically opined that death had occurred due to shock and haemorrhage resulting from the ante-mortem firearm injury. He further deposed that the injury could have been caused by a single firearm shot. Thus, the medical evidence clearly establishes that only one firearm projectile struck the deceased. The consistent prosecution case, as deposed by PW-1 and PW-2, is that although several shots were fired by the accused-appellants, only the shot fired by accused-appellant Ramakant hit the deceased, while the remaining shots did not find their target. The mere fact that no other person sustained firearm injuries or that only one injury was found on the body of the deceased does not render the prosecution version inherently improbable.

50. Equally untenable is the submission founded upon the absence of blackening, tattooing or scorching around the entry wound. Such features are merely relevant for determining the approximate range from which the firearm was discharged and are not decisive of the prosecution case. Significantly, the post-mortem doctor did not opine that the injury could not have been caused in the manner alleged by the prosecution. On the contrary, he specifically stated that the exact distance from which the firearm had been discharged could only be determined by a Ballistic Expert. Likewise, the non-recovery of the projectile from the body of the deceased loses much of its significance in the present case, as the post-mortem examination itself records a corresponding exit wound, clearly indicating that the projectile had traversed the body and exited therefrom.

51. The record further reveals that the .315 bore country-made pistol allegedly recovered from accused-appellant Ramakant, together with one empty cartridge and three live cartridges recovered from his possession, was forwarded to the Forensic Science Laboratory for examination. As per its report, Ext. Ka-38, the recovered empty cartridge was marked as EC-1, whereas the three live cartridges were marked as LC-1, LC-2 and LC-3. Upon microchemical examination, the Laboratory detected residues of nitrate, lead, copper and nickel on the said pistol, indicating that it was a fired cartridge case.

52. The Ballistic Expert thereafter test-fired two cartridges from the recovered .315 bore country-made pistol, which were marked as TC-1 and TC-2. On comparison of the firing pin impressions and breech-face marks found on EC-1 with those appearing on the test-fired cartridge cases, the Expert opined that EC-1 had been discharged from the said country-made pistol recovered from accused-appellant Ramakant. This scientific opinion constitutes an important corroborative circumstance connecting the recovered firearm with the fired cartridge and substantially strengthens the prosecution case.

53. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rachhpal Singh v. State of Punjab, (2002) 6 SCC 462 held that where ballistic examination positively establishes that the recovered cartridge cases had been fired from the weapon recovered from the accused, minor discrepancies relating to the nature of firearm injuries or the precise description of entry and exit wounds lose much of their significance, particularly when the presence of the accused with the weapon at the relevant place and time stands otherwise established. The principle enunciated therein squarely applies to the present case.

54. Equally unpersuasive is the argument that the recovery of the spent cartridge from accused-appellant Ramakant on the following day of the occurrence is inherently improbable. The submission proceeds on the premise that every offender would invariably discard every incriminating article immediately after the commission of the offence. Such an assumption neither accords with ordinary human conduct nor can it be elevated into a rule of law. Furthermore, the weapon in question is a single-shot country-made pistol. Unlike self-loading or automatic firearms, such a weapon does not ordinarily eject the spent cartridge automatically upon discharge. Before the weapon can be reloaded, the empty cartridge has to be manually removed from the chamber. If, immediately after firing the fatal shot, the accused fled from the place of occurrence without reloading the weapon, the presence of the spent cartridge in the weapon or in his possession cannot be regarded as so unnatural or improbable as to render the recovery unbelievable. The Court cannot discard an otherwise duly proved recovery merely because the defence suggests that the accused ought to have acted differently after the occurrence.

55. Be that as it may, the conviction of accused-appellant Ramakant does not rest solely upon the recovery of the firearm or the empty cartridge. The recovery is only one link in the chain of circumstances and lends corroboration to the otherwise cogent ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, which, in turn, finds substantial support from the medical and forensic evidence. Viewed cumulatively, the ocular, medical and ballistic evidence present a consistent and coherent prosecution case. The submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant, therefore, do not create any dent in the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court, which rightly concluded that accused-appellant Ramakant was responsible for the fatal firearm injury sustained by the deceased.

Evidentiary Value of the Recovery Effected from Accused-Appellant Ramakant

56. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant Ramakant next assailed the recovery of the .315 bore country-made pistol and cartridges from his possession. It was contended that the alleged recovery is inherently unreliable as it was effected from Kaudha Railway Station, a place admittedly accessible to the public at large, and that no independent witness was associated with the recovery proceedings. It was, therefore, submitted that the recovery cannot safely be relied upon.

57. The law is well settled that corroboration by an independent witness in respect of a recovery is a rule of prudence and not an inflexible rule of law. Where the evidence of the police officials effecting the recovery is found to be cogent, consistent and trustworthy, there is no legal prohibition against acting upon such evidence merely because it has not been corroborated by an independent witness. In Praveen Kumar v. State of Karnataka, (2003) 12 SCC 199 the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that though courts ordinarily seek independent corroboration as a matter of caution, once the testimony of the investigating officer inspires confidence, the absence of an independent witness does not render the recovery unreliable. A similar principle was reiterated in Kalpnath Rai v. State, (1997) 8 SCC 732, wherein it was held that there is no proposition of law that the testimony of police officers is unworthy of acceptance unless supported by independent witnesses. The Court only owes a greater duty of careful scrutiny, and if such evidence is otherwise found reliable, the prosecution case cannot be rejected solely on the ground of non-examination of independent witnesses. The same view has been reiterated in Anter Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (2004) 10 SCC 657, wherein it was held that even where seizure witnesses do not support the prosecution, the evidence of the officer effecting the recovery does not stand vitiated if it otherwise inspires confidence.

58. In the present case, PW-5 Brijesh Kumar Tripathi has consistently deposed regarding the arrest of accused-appellant Ramakant on 02.12.2013 and the recovery of one .315 bore country-made pistol, one fired empty cartridge and three live cartridges from his possession. Nothing material could be elicited during his cross-examination to discredit the manner of recovery or to indicate any previous enmity or motive on the part of the investigating agency to falsely implicate the accused. In the absence of any such circumstance, the recovery cannot be discarded merely because it is supported by official witnesses alone.

59. The contention that the recovery was effected from a public place is equally unpersuasive. The mere fact that Kaudha Railway Station is a place accessible to the public does not, by itself, render the recovery doubtful. Accessibility of the place cannot be equated with the availability of independent persons willing to associate themselves with the arrest and search of a person accused of a serious offence. It is a matter of common judicial experience that members of the public generally exhibit reluctance in associating themselves with criminal investigations. Unless the defence is able to demonstrate that the recovery proceedings suffer from material infirmities or were otherwise manipulated, the recovery cannot be rejected solely on the ground that no independent witness was joined.

60. It is also relevant to note that the recovery does not stand in isolation. As already discussed in the preceding part of this judgment while dealing with the ballistic evidence, the recovered firearm and cartridges were subjected to forensic examination and the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory lends independent scientific assurance to the prosecution case. Though the conviction is not founded solely upon the recovery, the scientific evidence materially reinforces the credibility of the recovery proceedings.

61. The learned Trial Court, therefore, committed no error in treating the recovery as a corroborative circumstance while appreciating the prosecution evidence.

Appreciation of the Evidence of DW-1:

62. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant Ramakant next submitted that the learned Trial Court failed to properly appreciate the testimony of DW-1 Sudha, who was examined in defence to establish that accused-appellant Ramakant was not present at the place of occurrence at the relevant time. It was contended that although the deposition of DW-1 finds mention in the impugned judgment, the learned Trial Court has not recorded any finding regarding its evidentiary value nor assigned any reason for discarding the same. According to the learned counsel, such omission has resulted in serious prejudice to the defence.

63. The submission is not entirely without substance. A perusal of the impugned judgment indicates that while the learned Trial Court has noticed the deposition of DW-1, it has not undertaken any detailed appreciation of her testimony. However, such omission, by itself, does not vitiate the judgment. Being the first appellate court on facts, this Court is under an obligation to independently evaluate the entire evidence, including the defence evidence, and determine its probative value.

64. DW-1 Sudha was examined to probabilise the plea of alibi set up by accused-appellant Ramakant. According to her, on the date of the occurrence, Ramakant had gone to Hardoi for medical treatment and returned to the village only at about 4:00-5:00 P.M., by which time the incident had already taken place. She further stated that she had witnessed only the quarrel from the roof of her house and had not seen the actual occurrence.

65. The plea of alibi is not an exception under the Indian Penal Code but is a rule of evidence embodied in Section 11 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. In Binay Kumar Singh v. State of Bihar, (1997) 1 SCC 283, the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained that the Latin expression alibi means "elsewhere" and is invoked by an accused to establish that he was at such a place, at the relevant time, that his participation in the crime was impossible. The Court further held that the burden upon the prosecution to prove the presence and participation of the accused at the scene of occurrence is in no manner diluted merely because a plea of alibi has been raised. Such a plea falls for consideration only after the prosecution has satisfactorily discharged its initial burden. Once the prosecution succeeds in establishing the presence of the accused through reliable evidence, the burden shifts upon the accused to establish the plea of alibi by leading cogent and satisfactory evidence of such a nature as to completely exclude the possibility of his presence at the place of occurrence. It was further observed that the plea of alibi is required to be proved with certainty and, therefore, strict proof is necessary. The aforesaid principles have been recently reiterated in Kamal Prasad v. State of Chhattisgarh,(2023) 10 SCC 172 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court emphasised that the plea of alibi must be established by cogent and convincing evidence and is subject to strict judicial scrutiny.

66. Tested on the aforesaid principles, the testimony of DW-1 does not inspire confidence sufficient to probabilise the plea of alibi. In her cross-examination, she admitted that she had not witnessed the actual firing, had not seen the dead body and had no personal knowledge as to how Rajesh sustained the fatal injury. She further admitted that she had never disclosed these facts to anyone prior to her deposition before the Court and that no statement had ever been recorded from her during the course of investigation. Significantly, she also admitted that she had been approached by the wife of accused-appellant Ramakant to depose before the Court. Though such circumstance by itself may not render her testimony inadmissible, it is a relevant factor while assessing the weight to be attached to her evidence.

67. More importantly, the plea of alibi set up by the defence does not receive satisfactory corroboration from the material placed on record. DW-1 merely stated that accused-appellant Ramakant had gone to Hardoi for medical treatment on the date of the occurrence and returned to the village at about 4:00-5:00 P.M. However, beyond this bare assertion, no reliable evidence has been adduced to establish his presence at Hardoi at the precise time when the occurrence took place. Though the defence has placed on record certain medical papers, including a hospital discharge slip and treatment documents (Paper Nos. 78B/1 to 78B/7), those documents merely indicate that accused-appellant Ramakant had undergone medical treatment. They neither disclose the exact time at which he remained present at the hospital nor establish that he continued to remain there during the period when the occurrence took place. Equally significant is the fact that no doctor, hospital official or any other independent witness was examined to prove the said documents or to establish that accused-appellant Ramakant was actually present at the hospital at the relevant point of time. The documentary evidence, therefore, falls considerably short of proving that the accused-appellant was elsewhere when the offence was committed.

68. The plea of alibi is not established by merely showing that the accused had undergone medical treatment on the date of the incident. What the law requires is proof of such a nature as would completely exclude the possibility of his presence at the place of occurrence. The documents relied upon by the defence do not satisfy this standard. At best, they create a possibility that the accused had visited a hospital; they do not render his presence at the scene of crime impossible. When weighed against the consistent ocular evidence of PW-1 and PW-2, which has already been found reliable and receives support from the medical and ballistic evidence, the defence version does not create any reasonable doubt regarding the presence of accused-appellant Ramakant at the place of occurrence. Consequently, the plea of alibi cannot be said to have been established in the manner required under Section 11 of the Indian Evidence Act.

69. Viewed in its entirety, the evidence of DW-1 falls short of probabilising the plea of alibi. At best, it raises a possibility, but does not displace the cogent ocular evidence of PW-1 and PW-2, which has otherwise been found reliable and stands corroborated by the medical and other evidence on record. Consequently, although the learned Trial Court ought to have undertaken a more elaborate appreciation of the defence evidence, this Court, upon an independent evaluation of the same, finds no reason to take a view different from that reached by the learned Trial Court.

Appeal Against the Acquittal of Chandrakant @ Chhota, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu

70. The counsel for the complaint had argued that on grounds. Firstly, it is contended that the learned Trial Court erred in holding that the prosecution had failed to establish the existence of common intention under Section 34 IPC. Secondly, it is urged that the learned Trial Court failed to properly appreciate the recoveries effected from the aforesaid accused, which, according to the complainant, sufficiently established their participation in the commission of the offence.

71. Before adverting to the merits of the submissions, it is necessary to bear in mind the well-settled principles governing an appeal against acquittal. Though the appellate court possesses full power to reappreciate the evidence, an order of acquittal further strengthens the presumption of innocence available to the accused. Interference is, therefore, warranted only where the conclusions recorded by the Trial Court are manifestly illegal, perverse or such as no reasonable person would arrive at on the evidence available on record. Where two views are reasonably possible, the one favourable to the accused must ordinarily prevail.

72. Insofar as accused-appellants Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore are concerned, the learned Trial Court has attached considerable significance to an admission made by PW-1 Ashok Kumar during his cross-examination. PW-1 admitted that owing to the previous incident in which accused-appellant Saroj had allegedly eloped with his wife, he harboured enmity against Saroj and Kaushal Kishore and due to this reason has taken their name in the present case. The said admission assumes significance while appreciating the allegations levelled against Saroj and Kaushal Kishore, particularly when the prosecution sought to attribute similar overt acts to all the accused. The Trial Court was, therefore, justified in subjecting the testimony of PW-1 to closer scrutiny while examining the precise role attributed to the co-accused.

73. Furthermore, the recoveries allegedly effected from Saroj and Kaushal Kishore also do not materially improve the prosecution case. PW-6, in his cross-examination, admitted that the recoveries were effected from the Hardoi-Shahjahanpur Road, a public thoroughfare, and that no independent witness was associated with the recovery proceedings. PW-9, who investigated the connected Arms Act cases, also admitted the absence of independent witnesses. More importantly, unlike the recovery effected from accused-appellant Ramakant, no forensic or ballistic evidence has been brought on record connecting the weapons allegedly recovered from Saroj and Kaushal Kishore with the crime in question. Consequently, the learned Trial Court cannot be faulted for holding that such recoveries, by themselves, were insufficient to establish their participation in the offence.

74. The case against Chandrakant stands on an even weaker footing. The prosecution alleged that he had used the licensed double-barrel gun belonging to Ramakant during the occurrence. However, the medical evidence establishes only one firearm injury, which the prosecution itself attributes to the shot fired by Ramakant. No injury has been connected with the alleged use of the double-barrel gun.

75. The subsequent recovery of the licensed double-barrel gun also does not materially advance the prosecution case. The evidence on record discloses that the firearm was recovered approximately twenty-one days after the occurrence from the thatched roof adjoining the northern wall of the house of Ramakant, who admittedly was the licence-holder of the said firearm. PW-7 has also admitted that the weapon was not recovered from the house or exclusive possession of Chandrakant. Thus, the recovery was neither from Chandrakant nor from a place shown to be under his exclusive control. The prosecution was, therefore, required to establish by cogent evidence that Chandrakant was in conscious and unauthorised possession of the licensed firearm so as to attract liability under Section 30 of the Arms Act. No such evidence has been adduced. The circumstance that the recovery was allegedly effected pursuant to the disclosure statement of Chandrakant cannot, by itself, establish his conscious possession, particularly when the firearm was recovered from the residential premises of its licence-holder after a considerable lapse of time. Furthermore, unlike the recovery from Ramakant, no ballistic evidence connects the said double-barrel gun with the injury sustained by the deceased. The learned Trial Court was, therefore, justified in extending the benefit of doubt to Chandrakant.

76. The argument founded upon Section 34 IPC is also devoid of merit. Common intention cannot be inferred merely because several accused were present at the place of occurrence or were allegedly armed. The prosecution is required to establish, by cogent evidence, that the criminal act was committed in furtherance of the common intention of all the accused. In the present case, the Trial Court found that the prosecution had failed to establish such common intention beyond reasonable doubt insofar as Chandrakant, Saroj and Kaushal Kishore were concerned. Having independently reappreciated the evidence, this Court is unable to hold that the said conclusion is either perverse or contrary to the record.

77. The Trial Court, after considering the admitted previous enmity, the absence of satisfactory independent or scientific corroboration regarding the specific roles attributed to Chandrakant, Saroj and Kaushal Kishore, the infirmities attending the recoveries allegedly effected from them, and the failure of the prosecution to establish common intention beyond reasonable doubt, extended to them the benefit of doubt. This Court finds no perversity or manifest illegality in the said appreciation of evidence. The findings recorded by the Trial Court represent a plausible view of the evidence and do not warrant interference in an appeal against acquittal.

Whether the Conviction of Accused-Appellant Ramakant is Liable to be Altered from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part I IPC?

78. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant Ramakant had argued that even assuming the prosecution case to be proved, the present case would not travel beyond culpable homicide not amounting to murder punishable under Section 304 Part I IPC. It was contended that the occurrence arose out of a sudden quarrel relating to irrigation of agricultural land, that there was no prior planning or premeditation, and that the fatal injury was inflicted during the course of a sudden fight. It was, therefore, urged that the case falls within Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC.

79. Since the applicability of the said Exception lies at the heart of the controversy, it would be apposite to reproduce the same:

"Exception 4. Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender's having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner."

A plain reading of the aforesaid Exception makes it evident that its application is conditioned upon the simultaneous existence of four essential requirements, namely:

(i) the act must have been committed without premeditation;

(ii) it must have occurred in a sudden fight;

(iii) the act must have been committed in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel; and

(iv) the offender must not have taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

These conditions are cumulative and not disjunctive. The absence of any one of these essential ingredients is sufficient to exclude the application of Exception 4. It is, therefore, necessary to examine whether the facts of the present case satisfy the statutory requirements.

80. In the present case, the evidence on record unmistakably establishes that the altercation relating to irrigation took place at about 12:00 noon in the agricultural field. The prosecution witnesses have consistently deposed that after the verbal altercation, the accused persons left the field, returned to their respective houses, armed themselves with firearms and thereafter reached the house of the informant at about 2:00 P.M., where the fatal firing took place. Thus, the occurrence at the field and the subsequent firing cannot be regarded as one continuous transaction. The chain of events stood interrupted when the accused voluntarily withdrew from the field and proceeded to their houses. The interval of nearly two hours afforded sufficient opportunity for tempers to cool and for reason to prevail. Instead of abandoning the dispute, accused-appellant Ramakant consciously armed himself with a .315 bore country-made pistol and returned to confront the informant party. The subsequent act of firing, therefore, cannot be characterised as one committed in the heat of passion generated by the earlier quarrel.

81. Equally significant is the nature of the weapon employed. The fatal injury was inflicted by a firearm aimed at the neck of the deceased. The use of a deadly firearm against an unarmed person, after returning from the place of quarrel with sufficient time for reflection, unmistakably amounts to taking undue advantage within the meaning of Exception 4. The conduct of accused-appellant Ramakant, therefore, falls outside the protective ambit of the Exception.

82. The decisions relied upon by the learned counsel for the accused-appellant are clearly distinguishable. In Devendra Kumar v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2024 SCC OnLine SC 3182, the occurrence arose out of a single continuous scuffle involving agricultural implements without any interruption or opportunity for reflection. Similarly, in Mahesh Balmiki @ Munna v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1999 SCC OnLine SC 823, the entire occurrence formed one uninterrupted transaction. In the present case, however, the accused disengaged from the quarrel, returned home, armed themselves with firearms and thereafter came back to the place of occurrence. The continuity of the quarrel thus stood broken, clearly evidencing deliberation rather than spontaneity.

83. Furthermore, the reliance placed upon Sukhbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2002 SCC OnLine SC 240, is equally misplaced. In that case, the interval between the quarrel and the assault was only a matter of a few minutes, and the Hon'ble Supreme Court treated the occurrence as part of one continuous transaction. The facts before this Court are materially different. Here, nearly two hours elapsed between the initial altercation in the field and the fatal firing at the residence of the informant.

84. Similarly, Rampal Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 8 SCC 289 also does not advance the case of the accused-appellant. Though the accused therein had gone inside the house and returned with a rifle, the Supreme Court found, on the peculiar facts of that case, that there was no previous animosity and the occurrence had arisen entirely on the spur of the moment. In the present case, the evidence discloses pre-existing hostility between the parties, an interval sufficient for passions to subside, and a deliberate decision to arm oneself before returning to the place of occurrence. The factual foundation on which the conviction was altered in Rampal Singh (supra) is, therefore, wholly absent here.

85. The decisions in Ashok Saxena v. State of Uttarakhand, 2025 SCC OnLine 224 and Dauvaram Nirmalkar v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2025 SCC OnLine 955, also turn upon their own peculiar facts involving either the doctrine of transferred malice or an immediate and grave loss of self-control. Neither principle is attracted in the present case, where the prosecution has established a clear break between the quarrel and the fatal assault.

86. On the contrary, the observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Stalin v. State represented by the Inspector of Police,2020 SCC OnLine SC 723 support the prosecution. The Court therein held that the mere fact that death resulted from a single injury does not, by itself, justify alteration of the conviction from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 IPC. The nature of the weapon, the part of the body targeted and the attendant circumstances remain decisive considerations. In the present case, accused-appellant Ramakant used a firearm and directed the shot towards the neck of the deceased, a vital part of the body. The fact that only one shot struck the deceased is, therefore, of no assistance to the defence.

87. Equally untenable is the reliance upon Govind v. State of Haryana, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2456. In that case, the prosecution case rested principally upon a doubtful recovery after the eyewitnesses had turned hostile. The present case stands on an entirely different footing. Here, the conviction of accused-appellant Ramakant rests upon the consistent ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, which receives substantial corroboration from the medical evidence, the ballistic evidence and the forensic examination of the recovered weapon. The recovery from accused-appellant Ramakant merely furnishes an additional corroborative circumstance.

88. Lastly, the reliance upon Yogarani v. State, 2024 SCC OnLine SC 2609 is misconceived. The principle of parity enunciated therein applies only where the evidence against the convicted accused and the acquitted co-accused is substantially identical. As already discussed while dealing with the complainant's appeal, the evidentiary foundation against accused-appellant Ramakant stands on an altogether different footing. The fatal injury has consistently been attributed to him; the firearm recovered from his possession is scientifically connected with the fired cartridge through the ballistic report; and the prosecution case against him receives corroboration unavailable in the case of the acquitted accused. The principle of parity, therefore, has no application to the facts of the present case.

89. Viewed cumulatively, the evidence unmistakably establishes that accused-appellant Ramakant acted after the initial quarrel had concluded, after sufficient time had elapsed for the passions to cool, and after consciously arming himself with a deadly firearm before returning to the place of occurrence. The act cannot, therefore, be characterized as one committed without premeditation or in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel. The ingredients of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC are conspicuously absent. The learned Trial Court was, therefore, fully justified in recording the conviction under Section 302 IPC, and no case for alteration of the conviction to Section 304 Part I IPC is made out.

Conclusion:

90. Upon consideration of the entire evidence on record, the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties, and the settled principles governing criminal jurisprudence, this Court is of the considered opinion that the prosecution has successfully established the guilt of accused-appellant Ramakant @ Fauji beyond all reasonable doubt. The ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, insofar as it relates to accused-appellant Ramakant, inspires confidence and receives substantial corroboration from the medical, ballistic and forensic evidence. None of the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant regarding the alleged contradictions in the prosecution case, the recovery of the firearm, the plea of alibi, or the applicability of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC merit acceptance.

91. Moreover, this Court finds no infirmity in the acquittal of accused-appellants Chandrakant @ Chhota, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu. The findings recorded by the learned Trial Court in extending to them the benefit of doubt are founded upon a plausible appreciation of the evidence and cannot be characterised as either perverse or manifestly erroneous so as to warrant interference in an appeal against acquittal. The complainant has failed to make out any case for reversing the order of acquittal.

92. Consequently, Criminal Appeal No. 2895 of 2022, preferred by accused-appellant Ramakant, is dismissed. The judgment and order of the learned Trial Court qua accused-appellant Ramakant is hereby affirmed. The accused-appellant Ramakant, who is in jail, shall continue to undergo the remaining part of the sentence awarded to him by the learned Trial Court, in accordance with law.

93. Criminal Appeal No. 128 of 2022, preferred by the complainant challenging the acquittal of Chandrakant @ Chhota, Saroj Tiwari and Kaushal Kishore @ Hallu, is also dismissed. The judgment and order of the learned Trial Court acquitting the aforesaid accused persons are hereby affirmed.

94. Consequently, CM Application No. 01 of 2022, preferred on behalf of the accused-appellant Ramakant, stands dismissed as not pressed.

95. Let the trial court records be transmitted forthwith to the court concerned along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

1. Present Criminal Appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 23.05.2013 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Mainpuri in Sessions Trial No.320 of 2011 State Vs. Narendra Singh alias Kate Singh (Baba) arising out of Case Crime No.435 of 2011, under Sections 304, 323, 504, 506 of Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC'), Police Station - Kishni, District Mainpuri, whereby the accused-appellant was convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 304 IPC for life imprisonment with a fine of Rs.10,000/- and in case of default of payment of fine, to undergo further rigorous imprisonment for six months.

2. Brief facts of the prosecution's case are as under:

On 29.04.2011, a written report (Ex.Ka.-1) was given by the informant Mahendra Singh son of Phool Singh at the police station concerned with the averments that on 29.04.2011, the younger brother of the informant namely, Narendra Singh alias Kate Singh, who has become baba (ascetic) and is mentally weak, made an assault on the head of his father with a Takora (a sharp-edged agricultural tool) when his father picked up brick upon being abused by Narendra Singh over harvesting the crop in exchange of chaff. At that time, son of the informant Aadesh Kumar and wife of the informant Kamlesh Kumari were present there, who tried to stop him, upon which Narendra hurled abuses, threatened the duo to kill, beat them with kicks and fists and tried to assault them with Takora. Blood started oozing from the head of his father Phool Singh and he became unconscious. When his brother Harendra Singh, his son Aadesh and his wife Kamlesh Kumari tried to catch him, then in yellow clothes, he fled away towards the east, through the field having Takora in his hand. The brother of the informant Harendra Singh and other villagers have taken his father in unconscious state directly to the Government Hospital, Mainpuri. Narendra Singh alias Kante Singh, the younger brother of the informant, was given medical treatment at the Mental Hospital, Agra five years back. At present, he was completely fine. Request was made to register the case and initiate legal proceedings.

3. On the basis of the written report (Ex.Ka-1), chik First Information Report (Ext. Ka-2) was registered as Case Crime No.435 of 2011 under Sections 308, 323, 504, 506 IPC at Police Station concerned on 29.04.2011 at 18:15 hours against the accused Narendra Singh alias Kante Singh.

4. Investigation started and during investigation, information was received regarding the death of Phool Singh while he was undergoing treatment at the district hospital. Thereafter, the Investigating Officer conducted the inquest in the presence of witnesses (panchas), prepared the inquest report and sent the dead body of the deceased for post mortem at the mortuary.

5. On 30.04.2011 at 4:30 P.M., the autopsy of the deceased Phool Singh was performed at District Hospital, Mainpuri by Dr. R.K. Sharma (P.W.6), who found following antemortem injuries on his person :

(i) A 5 cm long stitched wound was located 5 cm above the left ear. A pool of blood was found beneath it.

(ii) A 4 cm long stitched wound was located 6 cm above the right ear. The bone beneath the wound was fractured and depressed.

(iii) A 3 cm long stitched wound is located on the back of the skull.

(iv) A 3 cm long stitched wound is located on the back of the skull, 2 cm below Injury No. 3.

(v) A 3 cm long stitched wound is located on the back of the skull, 2 cm below Injury No. 3, and is removed from one side.

The eyes were found closed, blood was found to be pooled in the ears, and the left temporal and parietal bones were fractured and were also found to be pressed inside. The brain membranes were found to be red and blood clots were found in various places of the brain. Both lungs were pale. There was approximately 100 ml of semi-liquid fluid in the abdomen. The spleen and kidneys were found red. The autopsy report was proved as Ex.Ka-17. In the opinion of Autopsy surgeon, all the above injuries on the deceased's body could have been caused by an axe at 5:15 pm on 29.04.2011 and the cause of death of the deceased was due to Coma, as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The deceased's condition was normal, with stiffness throughout. The deceased's probable time of death was approximately one day old.

6. Although it was the bounden duty of the Investigating Officer to collect medical papers regarding admission and treatment of the deceased which could have established the date and time of his admission in District Hospital, Mainpuri and treatment provided to him after admission. A perusal of the post-mortem report reveals that some treatment was provided to the deceased on his admission, that is why his all ante-mortem injuries were found to be stitched. There is a possibility that even some medico legal injury report might have been prepared by the doctor at the time of his admission. Such medical records including medico legal report i.e. MLR could have shown the exact nature of injuries sustained by the deceased. There seems to be a gross negligence on the part of the Investigating Officer, as the same were not collected and there is also a gross negligence of supervisory duty of the concerned Circle Officer also, while supervising the investigation. However, the prosecution has brought on record the post-mortem report of the deceased and has also proved it through ocular testimony of the autopsy surgeon. Therefore, the prosecution has established the ante-mortem injuries of the deceased as well as cause of death of the deceased.

7. During the course of investigation, the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of witnesses and prepared the site plan. On 29.04.2011 at 21:15 hours, information about the death of injured Phool Singh was received and the case was amended to Section 304 I.P.C. Inquest of the body of the deceased was conducted and inquest report was prepared thereafter. Postmortem of the body of the deceased was conducted and after completing all the formalities, charge sheet was submitted against the accused under Sections 304, 323, 504, 506 IPC.

8. After submission of charge sheet, cognizance was taken upon the same by the learned Magistrate, who committed the case to Court of Sessions, as prima facie charges were for the Sessions triable offence.

9. Accused appeared before the Court of Session and after hearing both the parties, charges were framed against him under Sections 304, 323, 504, 506 IPC. The accused denied the charges levelled against him, pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

10. To bring home the charges against the accused, the prosecution adduced P.W.1 Mahendra Singh (informant, who is son of the deceased and real brother of the accused Narendra Singh), P.W.2 Aadesh Kumar (son of the informant / grandson of the deceased), P.W.3 Kamlesh (wife of the informant), P.W.4 Arvind Kumar (Head Moharrir, P.S. Kishni), P.W.5 S.I. Bahadur Singh (Investigating Officer, who inspected the spot, prepared site plan, recorded the statements of the witness, conducted the inquest proceedings, prepared the inquest report & other papers and sent the body of the deceased for postmortem in a sealed cloth) and P.W.6 Dr. R.K. Sharma (who conducted the post-mortem of the deceased).

11. In support of oral version, following documents were filed and proved on behalf of the prosecution:

Written report / tehrir dated 29.04.2011 (Ex.Ka.-1), chik F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.-2), G.D. No.26 time 18:15 hours (Ex.Ka.-3), G.D. No.33 time 21:15 hours (Ex.Ka.-4), site plan (Ex.Ka.-5), inquest report (Ex.Ka.-6), Carbon copy of chik F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.-7), copy of written report / Tehir (Ex.Ka.-8), Carbon copy of G.D. No.26 time 18.15 hours (Ex.Ka.-9), Photo Nash (Ex.Ka.-10), Letter to Incharge Inspector, Kotwali (Ex.Ka.-11), Challan Nash (Ex.Ka.-12), Letter to Reserve Inspector (Ex.Ka.-13), Letter to C.M.O. (Ex.Ka.-14), G.D. No.48 (Ex.Ka.-15), Charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.-16) and Postmortem-report (Ex.Ka.-17).

12. After the prosecution evidence was over, all adverse/incriminating circumstances relied upon by the prosecution were disclosed to accused in question answer form for his version of occurrence as per mandate of Section 313 Cr.P.C. Accused denied all those adverse/incriminating facts put to him and said that the prosecution case is false, he is innocent and falsely implicated. Investigation was not done in fair and impartial manner. Accused also pleaded that the informant wanted to usurp his land and house, therefore, he has been falsely roped in this case.

13. The defence has examined DW-1 Harendra (son of the deceased).

14. Trial Court, having heard learned counsel for parties and going through entire record, vide impugned judgment and order, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as above. Hence, feeling aggrieved with said judgment and order, present accused-appellant has filed this appeal.

15. Heard Ms. Vishakha Pande, the Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant and Ms. Archana Singh, the learned A.G.A. for the State.

16. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant argued that the appellant has falsely been implicated in the crime and he is innocent. There was no motive to commit the crime. The evidence of witnesses of facts is not trustworthy as there are contradictions in their evidence. Verbal abuses took place from both the sides and the incident occurred in a heat of passion. The prosecution case is totally baseless and from the evidence available on record, no case is made out as against the convict / appellant. It was further argued that in the F.I.R., date of incident has been mentioned as 29.04.2011, however at what time the alleged incident took place, has not been described in the F.I.R. Moreover, the F.I.R. was lodged at a belated stage, for which no explanation was offered by the prosecution. Therefore, the prosecution story is not believable and the appellant is liable to be acquitted. It was further argued that the learned trial Court has misinterpreted the evidence available on record. No ingredient to bring home the guilt of the accused under Section 304 IPC was proved by the prosecution. On the basis of analysis of prosecution evidence, no guilt against the accused appellant is established and proved. Learned trial Court misread the evidence and wrongly convicted and sentenced the appellant. It was further argued that this appeal pertains to the year 2013 and the appellant is languishing in jail for a considerable period of time. The sentence for life imprisonment awarded to the appellant by the trial Court is very harsh and excessive.

17. Contrary to it, learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed the submissions made on behalf of the appellant and submitted that in the incident, the deceased was killed by his own son i.e. the appellant - convict by inflicting fatal blows of takora (axe) on his head. PW-1, the son of the deceased, P.W.-2, the grandson of the deceased and P.W.-3, the daughter-in-law of the deceased have supported the prosecution case in their testimony. Other witnesses of fact have also corroborated the prosecution version. Five stitched wounds with and an underlying bone fracture was found on the head of the deceased. The witnesses of fact have proved the incident and their presence at the spot cannot be doubted. No major contradiction in the statements of witnesses of facts has been found. The learned trial court has considered and analyzed the evidence of witnesses in a right perspective and punished the accused appellant accordingly. The prosecution has proved its case beyond all reasonable doubt. Hence, while going through the evidence on record, it cannot be said that the offence under Section 304 IPC is not made out against he appellant. The learned trial Court has not committed any error in convicting and sentencing the accused- appellant under Section 304 IPC. Hence, there is no merit in the appeal and the same is liable to be dismissed.

18. We have considered the arguments of both the sides and perused the original record of trial court as well as the record of appeal.

Analysis

19. In the light of arguments of both the sides, following questions arise for consideration in present appeal :

(i) Whether the prosecution could be said to have proved its case against the appellant - convict beyond reasonable doubt ?

(ii) Whether the sentence awarded to the appellant is excessive or not ?

Question No.1 : Whether the prosecution could be said to have proved it's case against the appellant - convict beyond reasonable doubt ?

Oral Evidence on Record.

20. In the present case, the prosecution has examined informant Mahendra Singh as P.W.1, informant's son Aadesh Kumar as P.W.2 and informant's wife Kamlesh as P.W.3. On the strength of depositions of these three witnesses, the trial Court has convicted the appellant. Therefore, in the present criminal appeal against conviction, we need to appreciate the oral evidence of these three witnesses.

21. On the point of appreciation of oral evidence of a witness the Apex Court in Balu Sudam Khalde v. State of Maharashtra, (2023) 13 SCC 365 held the law in the following words :

"Appreciation of oral evidence

25. The appreciation of ocular evidence is a hard task. There is no fixed or strait jacket formula for appreciation of the ocular evidence. The judicially evolved principles for appreciation of ocular evidence in a criminal case can be enumerated as under:

"I. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the Court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief.

II. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details.

III. When eyewitness is examined at length it is quite possible for him to make some discrepancies. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence.

IV. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hypertechnical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole.

V. Too serious a view to be adopted on mere variations falling in the narration of an incident (either as between the evidence of two witnesses or as between two statements of the same witness) is an unrealistic approach for judicial scrutiny.

VI. By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

VII. Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

VIII. The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

IX. By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape recorder.

X. In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guesswork on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

XI. Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which take place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

XII. A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The subconscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him.

XIII. A former statement though seemingly inconsistent with the evidence need not necessarily be sufficient to amount to contradiction. Unless the former statement has the potency to discredit the later statement, even if the later statement is at variance with the former to some extent it would not be helpful to contradict that witness.

[See Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat [Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat, (1983) 3 SCC 217 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 728 : AIR 1983 SC 753] , Leela Ram v. State of Haryana [Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 222 : AIR 1999 SC 3717] and Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P. [Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P., 1959 SCC OnLine SC 17 : AIR 1959 SC 1012]

26. When the evidence of an injured eyewitness is to be appreciated, the undernoted legal principles enunciated by the courts are required to be kept in mind:

26.1. The presence of an injured eyewitness at the time and place of the occurrence cannot be doubted unless there are material contradictions in his deposition.

26.2. Unless, it is otherwise established by the evidence, it must be believed that an injured witness would not allow the real culprits to escape and falsely implicate the accused.

26.3. The evidence of injured witness has greater evidentiary value and unless compelling reasons exist, their statements are not to be discarded lightly.

26.4. The evidence of injured witness cannot be doubted on account of some embellishment in natural conduct or minor contradictions.

26.5. If there be any exaggeration or immaterial embellishments in the evidence of an injured witness, then such contradiction, exaggeration or embellishment should be discarded from the evidence of injured, but not the whole evidence.

26.6. The broad substratum of the prosecution version must be taken into consideration and discrepancies which normally creep due to loss of memory with passage of time should be discarded.

27. In assessing the value of the evidence of the eyewitnesses, two principal considerations are whether, in the circumstances of the case, it is possible to believe their presence at the scene of occurrence or in such situations as would make it possible for them to witness the facts deposed to by them and secondly, whether there is anything inherently improbable or unreliable in their evidence. In respect of both these considerations, circumstances either elicited from those witnesses themselves or established by other evidence tending to improbabilise their presence or to discredit the veracity of their statements, will have a bearing upon the value which a court would attach to their evidence. Although in cases where the plea of the accused is a mere denial, the evidence of the prosecution witnesses has to be examined on its own merits, where the accused raise a definite plea or put forward a positive case which is inconsistent with that of the prosecution, the nature of such plea or case and the probabilities in respect of it will also have to be taken into account while assessing the value of the prosecution evidence.

22. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bhagwan Jagannath Markad v. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537 explained that :

" 19. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the court has to assess whether read as a whole, it is truthful. In doing so, the court has to keep in mind the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities to find out whether such discrepancies shake the truthfulness. Some discrepancies not touching the core of the case are not enough to reject the evidence as a whole. No true witness can escape from giving some discrepant details. Only when discrepancies are so incompatible as to affect the credibility of the version of a witness, the court may reject the evidence. Section 155 of the Evidence Act enables the doubt to impeach the credibility of the witness by proof of former inconsistent statement. Section 145 of the Evidence Act lays down the procedure for contradicting a witness by drawing his attention to the part of the previous statement which is to be used for contradiction. The former statement should have the effect of discrediting the present statement but merely because the latter statement is at variance to the former to some extent, it is not enough to be treated as a contradiction. It is not every discrepancy which affects the creditworthiness and the trustworthiness of a witness. There may at times be exaggeration or embellishment not affecting the credibility. The court has to sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth. A statement may be partly rejected or partly accepted [Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525, pp. 532-35, paras 9-13 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 222] . Want of independent witnesses or unusual behaviour of witnesses of a crime is not enough to reject evidence. A witness being a close relative is not enough to reject his testimony if it is otherwise credible. A relation may not conceal the actual culprit. The evidence may be closely scrutinised to assess whether an innocent person is falsely implicated. Mechanical rejection of evidence even of a □partisan□ or □interested□ witness may lead to failure of justice. It is well known that principle □falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus□ has no general acceptability [Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381, pp. 392-93, para 15 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 32] . On the same evidence, some accused persons may be acquitted while others may be convicted, depending upon the nature of the offence. The court can differentiate the accused who is acquitted from those who are convicted. A witness may be untruthful in some aspects but the other part of the evidence may be worthy of acceptance. Discrepancies may arise due to error of observations, loss of memory due to lapse of time, mental disposition such as shock at the time of occurrence and as such the normal discrepancy does not affect the credibility of a witness.

20. Exaggerated to the rule of benefit of doubt can result in miscarriage of justice. Letting the guilty escape is not doing justice. A Judge presides over the trial not only to ensure that no innocent is punished but also to see that guilty does not escape. [Gangadhar Behera case, (2002) 8 SCC 381, p. 394, para 17]

31.As already observed, the discrepancies of trivial nature could not be the basis of rejecting the evidence of injured eyewitnesses nor non-examination of some of the witnesses be a ground to reject the prosecution case when injured eyewitnesses were examined.

32.We may also refer to the judgment of this Court in Masalti v. State of U.P. [Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 226 : (1964) 8 SCR 133] to the effect that the evidence of interested partisan witnesses though required to be carefully weighed, the same could not be discredited mechanically. When a crowd of unlawful assembly commits an offence, it is often not possible to accurately describe the part played by each of the assailants. Though the appreciation of evidence in such cases may be a difficult task, the court has to perform its duty of sifting the evidence carefully.

23. The Hon'ble Apex Court in State of M.P. v. Balveer Singh, (2025) 8 SCC 545 has held that when eyewitness are examined at length, it is quite possible for them to make some discrepancies. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence.The role of courts in such circumstances assumes greater importance and it is expected of the courts to deal with cases like one in hand, in a more realistic manner and not allow the criminals to go scot-free on account of procedural technicalities, perfunctory investigation or insignificant lacunas in the evidence as otherwise serious crimes would go unpunished.

24. In the light of above well settled legal position regarding appreciation of oral evidence, we shall now be evaluating the depositions of informant Mahendra Singh as P.W.1, informant's son Aadesh Kumar as P.W.2 and informant's wife Kamlesh as P.W.3.

25. Informant Mahendra Singh, who is the son of the deceased Phool Singh, has been examined by the prosecution as P.W.1. In his deposition, he has stated that the incident is of 29.04.2011 at about 5:15 P.M. At that moment, he was sitting at his doorstep, where his younger brother Narendra, his father and his son Aadesh Kumar were sitting together. His brother Narendra and his father had a dispute regarding chaff wherein his brother Narendra hurled abuses on his father. When his father stopped him from abusing, his brother Narendra assaulted his father with a takora (axe). He (informant), his wife Kamlesh Kumari and his son Aadesh tried to stop and save, but his brother Narendra, with the intention to kill, gave several blows of takora on his father, due to which he was badly injured. On raising noise and shrieks, people of the vicinity reached there who witnessed the incident. His father became unconscious. His brother Harendra and several villagers took his father to District Hospital, Mainpuri where during treatment, his father succumbed to his injuries. On the date of incident, this witness got the written report scribed by his son Aadesh Kumar and gave the same at Police Station Kishni. Whatever he wrote was exactly the same which he had spoken. Aforesaid written report / Tehrir was read out to him and thereafter he signed the same. This witness has proved the written report / Tehrir as Ex.Ka.-1. This witness (P.W.1) has also stated that prior to this incident, his brother Narendra had committed the murder of his mother by hitting her with a pestle (moosal), the case of which was tried in the Court and in that case by putting pressure upon him, compromise was made and due to which Narendra was acquitted by the Court.

26. The cross-examination of P.W.1 was deferred on 20.04.2012 and was cross-examined on behalf of the accused at length on 18.04.2013. In his cross-examination, he has stated that he is the eldest one out of five brothers. He resides in Katra Chitayan. His house is in Katra. One of his brothers resides in Delhi and remaining four are the resident of Katra. His father used to live with him in the house. The house at Chitayan is locked and no one lives there. All the five brothers are the co-sharer of that house. At the time of incident, the son and wife of this witness were present on spot and all the brothers were working in the field. They came home within 15 - 20 minutes. His father was brought in an injured condition by his brother Harendra and his wife Kamlesh Kumari. He had gone to the police station. This witness came alongwith the Sub-Inspector to the village and from there they had come to the hospital. He got the written report scribed by Aadesh Kumar and gave the same at the police station. When he went to the police station, the Sub-Inspector took his statement as well as statement of his son. The statement of his wife Kamlesh Kumari was not taken, as she had gone to hospital. This witness (P.W-1) has stated that his son had not pelted any brick or stone. At the time of incident, he was standing nearby. The incident took place at the main door, which is at eastern side. He and all his brothers live in the same house. At the time of incident, his younger brother Harendra Singh had arrived while other brothers came later on. His father executed a sale deed of ½ Bigha land in favour of his wife Kamlesh Kumari. It is wrong to say that his son Aadesh assaulted his father with axe on his head. It is wrong to say that at the time of incident, he was not in the village. It is also wrong to say that his son and wife injured his father with bricks and stones. His brother Harendra was not present at the spot at the time of incident and he came there, after the incident. Several persons of the village were standing at a distance of 20 - 25 steps at the time of incident. P.W.1 also stated that accused Narendra is his real brother, who sometimes becomes a baba and sometimes he shaves his beard. It is wrong to say that accused Narendra was not in the village at the time of incident. We have carefully perused the whole deposition of this witness and it is clear that this witness

(P.W.1) was present on spot at the time of incident and had seen the incident. This witness has clearly stated that the incident is of 29.04.2011 at about 5:15 P.M. and on account of dispute regarding chaff, his brother appellant Narendra assaulted his father with a takora, his father sustained injuries and later on succumbed to his injuries. The deposition of this witness as far as date, time, place and manner of incident is concerned, seems to be reliable.

27. Aadesh Kumar, who is the son of the informant and grandson of the deceased, has been examined by the prosecution as P.W.2, who deposed that the incident is of 29.04.2011 at about 5:00 P.M. He was standing in front of his house while his mother, father, grandfather Phool Singh and uncle Narendra Singh were sitting on a chabootra. A dispute regarding chaff had occurred between his grandfather Phool Singh and uncle Narendra. In this dispute, Narendra Singh hurled abuses at his grandfather Phool Singh. When his grandfather stopped him from abusing, his uncle picked up a takora and gave several blows upon his grandfather Phool Singh, who sustained injuries from the blows of takora and in an injured condition, he fell down there. His uncle Harendra and some villagers took his injured grandfather to the hospital. During treatment, his grandfather breathed his last in the hospital. For lodging the report of this incident, he and his father went to Police Station Kishni. His father dictated the report and he wrote it down. Whatever his father told, he wrote exactly the same. Thereafter, he read out the report to his father, got his signature on it and gave it at the police station. This witness also stated that accused Narendra alias Kante, who is his uncle, had also committed the murder of his grandmother four years back by making assault upon her with a pestle (moosal).

28. P.W.2 was cross-examined on behalf of the accused and in his cross-examination, he stated that his father has five brothers, whose names are Mahendra Singh, Ravindra Singh, Harendra Singh, Surendra Singh and the youngest one is Narendra Singh alias Kante. Except his uncle Ravindra Singh, all others live in the village. They have their separate divided agricultural land and they all live separately. At present, the brothers have divided the share of land belonging to the accused Narendra alias Kanti after he returned from jail. Nobody cultivates Narendra Singh's share of land and outsiders cultivate his land on sharing basis. At the time of incident, no person from the village was present. Only Mahendra Singh, the brother of accused Narendra alias Kante, was present on the spot. (Mahendra Singh is informant and father of this witness). At the time of writing the F.I.R., his father told him the time of incident, however, he did not write the time of incident in the F.I.R. There is a possibility that his father did not tell the time of incident while writing down the F.I.R. and due to this reason, he might not have written it. When Paper No.11A Ex.Ka.-1 was read out to this witness, he stated that the time and place of incident are not marked on it. His father Mahendra Singh, mother and uncle Harendra were not medically examined, as they did not receive any injury. He wrote the written report / tehrir sitting outside Kishni Police Station. Time was about 5:30 in the evening. At the time of writing the report, he along with his father and one Rajesh Kumar of his village were present. They had not taken his grandfather with them to the police station. His grandfather sustained 5-6 injuries on his head from the takora. Injuries were sustained by him only on his head.

29. This witness (P.W.2) was further cross-examined on behalf of the accused on 20.04.2013 wherein he again affirmed that on the day of incident, his uncle Narendra Singh, his grandfather Phool Singh, his father Mahendra Singh and his mother Kamlesh Kumari were sitting. His other uncles Surendra Singh and Harendra Singh were working in the field. On the day of incident i.e. 29.04.2011 at 5:15 O'clock, it was a summer season and the month of April, no abuses were exchanged between them. Talks in regard to chaff were going on. One field was harvested by Narendra Singh and another one was harvested by his father. Narendra Singh wanted to take the chaff of both the fields. Wheat harvesting was done, however, threshing had not taken place. He and his father went to police station and Harendra Singh and his (P.W.2) mother took his grandfather of the hospital. It is wrong to say that they, at that time, threw bricks and stones. He and his father gave the written report at the police station. It is wrong to say that he is giving a false statement. It is wrong to say that the deceased sustained injuries due to bricks and stones thrown by him. This witness has been cross-examined at length and as per Tehrir Ex.Ka.-1, this witness was present on spot. Inspite of lengthy cross-examination, there is nothing in his evidence raising any doubt over his presence on spot at the time of incident. The narration given by this witness regarding incident seems to be reliable one.

30. Kamlesh, who is the wife of the informant and daughter-in law of the deceased, has been examined by the prosecution as P.W.3, who deposed that incident is of 29.04.2001 at about 5:15 P.M. At that moment, her father-in-law, husband Mahendra Singh and son Aadesh were present at home. The wheat crop was harvested by accused Narendra Singh in exchange of chaff, as decided. Accused Narendra Singh, after harvesting the crop, was trying to take the chaff of another field also. When her father-in-law objected and asked him that he should take the chaff of that field only, as agreed upon, and not to take the chaff of other field, on this issue the accused caught hold the neck of her father-in-law and with the takora carrying in other hand, made an assault upon his head. Three blows of takora struck on his (father-in-law's) head, to which her father-in-law fell down and became unconscious. People took her father-in-law to the Mainpuri Hospital. Apart from her family, no one else was present there. She and her husband witnessed the incident. Narendra alias Kante fled away from there hurling abuses to her and her husband. Four years back, Narendra Singh alias Kante had also committed the murder of her mother-in-law Santosh Kumari.

31. P.W.3 was cross-examined on behalf of the defence and in her cross-examination, she deposed that to the west of her house is Prakash's house. To the north of her house there is vacant land. To the south of her house is Virendra's house. We have carefully perused the site plan Ex.Ka.-5 and a perusal of it reveals that to the north of house of this witness is a vacant land whereas to the south of her house is Virendra's house. Therefore, this witness has proved the site plan and the site plan also corroborates the deposition of this witness. At the time of the incident, her house was not locked and was open. Harvesting was going on in the fields at that time, so there was no one present in the nearby houses. Even the children from neighbouring houses had gone to the fields. Her father-in-law had distributed all his agricultural land among the family members. He kept two fields for himself. I do not know their survey numbers. One of those fields was called the "Dhala field" and the other was near the mango grove. Together they measured about 55 decimals. A field known as "Silanhar" had been given to Harendra. Mahendra and Ravindra were each given half shares in the field near the pond (Tal). She do not know the exact area of that field. Each of them received about 5 ½ bighas. The "Kulhoar" field had been given to Harendra, measuring about 4 ½ bighas. Surendra had received the field known as "Andh". The accused Narendra had received the mango-grove land, the "Nidar" land. Her father-in-law had left about 1 ½ bighas of his own land to the accused Narendra Singh. Phool singh had given the Mangroove land to accused Narendra Singh on chaff (Bhusa). Out of that field, 1 ½ bighas were given to Narendra Singh and the remaining 3 ½ bighas were given on chaff (Bhusa). She had informed the investigating officer that the mango-grove field was being harvested on chaff (Bhusa). Total field owned by her father-in-law Phool Singh, is about 100 steps from my house. Threshing was not done of the crops / stacks.

32. She further stated that the incident occurred at the house not at the field. Her husband, her son Aadesh and she did not take the injured Phool Singh to Mainpuri Hospital because the investigating officer had taken Mahendra and Aadesh to the police station at about 5:30 PM. The officer saw Phool Singh, however, he could not arrive by that time. Harendra and some villagers took the injured Phool Singh to the hospital. Her husband Mahendra Singh and son Aadesh were present at the spot at the time of the incident. She studied up to Class V. At this time (during testimony), this witness looked at a mobile phone and stated that the time was 12:23. She saw the injuries on deceased Phool Singh. There were five injuries on his head, but she do not know on which side they were. Narendra Singh pressed Phool Singh's neck with his left hand and struck him with takora in his right hand. With one hand he held the neck from the side, and with the other hand he kept hitting him. She along with her husband and son Aadesh was watching the incident from a distance of about three to four steps. It is incorrect to say that because of fear she made no effort to catch the accused. At the time of the incident, her father-in-law was wearing a vest and a lungi. Because of fear of Kante Singh, Phool Singh did not eat meals at her house. He lived in a separate house which is located in front of her house. The investigating officer had been visiting their area earlier and therefore was already familiar with the houses. The houses of all four brothers are within the same boundary compound and have a common exit. Narendra alias Kante lived separately outside the house. On the day of the incident, Phool Singh had taken his meal at about 2:30 PM. He had brought his own food and ate it at her doorway. It is incorrect to say that the incident occurred at night. It is also incorrect to say that her husband, her son, and she were not present at the place of occurrence and did not witness the incident. Narendra alias Kante cultivates his own fields himself. It is incorrect to say that Aadesh Kumar made any statement that the land in Narendra's share had been ploughed by his father and his father's brothers. It is incorrect to say that her husband Mahendra Singh and her son Aadesh did not go to the hospital because they were not present at the scene of occurrence. It is also incorrect to say that the police had already taken her husband and son to the police station. As per first information report, this witness was also present on spot, who had seen the incident and had narrated the same. This witness not only corroborated the contents of site plan, but has specifically stated that deceased Phool Singh suffered five injuries on his head. Therefore, the deposition of this witness as far as manner of incident is concerned, also finds corroboration from post-mortem report of the deceased. We also find that the deposition of this witness is also reliable one.

33. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 have been cross-examined at length. However, inspite of the extensive cross-examination, the defence could not bring out any material contradiction in their deposition. P.W.1 and P.W.2 in their depositions have stated that P.W.3 went to the hospital with the deceased alongwith Harendra Singh. However, P.W.3 has clearly denied the same. The presence of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 is established on spot at the time of incident and it has been categorically brought on record that after the incident, P.W.1 and P.W.2 went to the police station for registration of the F.I.R. and at their back, the deceased was taken to hospital, meaning thereby that P.W.1 and P.W.2 could not state correctly that who were the persons who took the deceased to the hospital. Moreover, this contradiction is a minor contradiction and does not effect the credibility of the basic prosecution story regarding the incident in question. P.W.2 in his examination-in-chief has stated the time of incident as 5:00 P.M., however, in his cross-examination, he has stated the time of incident to be 5:15 P.M. The timings, as narrated by P.W.2, are approximate timings, therefore, this is also not a material contradiction. We have carefully gone through the depositions of these witnesses, however, their depositions so far as the date, place and manner of incident is concerned, remained consistent and whatever contradictions are there in their depositions, those contradictions are minor contradictions, which do not affect either the credibility of these witnesses or of prosecution story.

34. Witness Head Constable Arvind Kumar (PW-4) stated in his statement that on 24-04-2011, he was posted as Head Clerk at Kishani Police Station. On that day, based on the written complaint of the informant Mahendra Singh, he prepared FIR No. 60 under sections 308, 323, 504, and 506 of the Indian Penal Code against Narendra Singh alias Kate, son of Phool Singh, in his own handwriting, which is proved as Ex.Ka.-2. This was disclosed in Police Station Report No.26, dated 29 April 2011, at 18:15 PM, copy of which is proved as Ex.Ka.-3. Information about the death of injured Phool Singh was given by RT Set DCR Kotwali Mainpuri, its disclosure was made in the GD on 29-04-11 in report number 33 time 21:15, carbon copy of which is proved as Ex.Ka-4. He is a formal witness.

35. The autopsy surgeon Dr. R.K. Sharma P.W.6 conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased and prepared his Postmortem Report Ex.Ka.-17. This autopsy surgeon found five ante-mortem injuries on the person of the deceased, which have already been mentioned in paragraph 5 of this judgment. This autopsy surgeon also found that the left temporal and parietal bones of the deceased were fractured and pressed inside. Even the brain membranes were found to be red with blood clotting in several places of the brain. In his opinion, the deceased could have been assaulted with an axe at at 5:15 pm on 29.04.2011 and he (deceased) died due to Coma, as a result of ante-mortem injuries. He also opined that the deceased's probable time of death was approximately one day old. As the post-mortem of the deceased was conducted on 4:30 P.M. on 30.04.2011, therefore, the possibility of assaulting him (deceased) at 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011 is there and he could have died during the course of his treatment within a few hours after the incident.

In his cross-examination, this witness (P.W.6) stated that it takes about 3 minutes to 20 minutes to form clotting of blood. He further stated that the injury no.2 could have been caused by a heavy sharp-edged weapon. The lungs of living human being are having light pink colour. He further stated that he cannot tell that in how much time lungs of dead person turn yellowish / pale. This witness is the autopsy surgeon, who has conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased, and he found a total of five ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased and in his considered opinion, those injuries could have been caused by an axe at 5:00 / 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011. The axe merely resembles the weapon of offence Takora allegedly used in the present incident.

36. Witness Sub-Inspector Bahadur Singh (PW-5) stated in his deposition that on 29.04.2011, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at Kishani Police Station. On that day, he received the investigation and then inspected the copy of the FIR. He recorded the statement of the informant and chik writer and inspected the scene of the incident at the informant□s direction and prepared Site Plan Ex.Ka.-5. At the same time, he prepared a recovery memo of blood-soaked and plain soil obtained from the scene. On 29.04.2011, at the police station he received information regarding the death of injured Phool Singh, son of Janak Singh, at the District Hospital, Mainpuri, which was recorded in G.D.No.33 at 21:10 P.M. Constable Sukhveer Singh and Home Guard Pradeep Kumar brought the copy report and other related documents to the village Chitayan where the incident took place. They came to the District Hospital with all the documents of the case to prepare the Panchayatnama (Inquest Report) of the dead body of deceased Phool Singh. The signatures of the witnesses were taken on the Panchayatnama (Ex.Ka.-6) and all the documents of postmortem of the dead body of deceased Phool Singh were handed over to Constable Pratap Singh and Home Guard. He proved the inquest report alogwith carbon copy of chik F.I.R., copy of written report / Tehir, Carbon copy of G.D. No.26 time 18.15 hours, Photo Nash, Letter to Incharge Inspector, Kotwali, Challan Nash, Letter to Reserve Inspector, Letter to C.M.O., G.D. No.48 as Ex.Ka.-6 to Ex.Ka-15. After this, copy of inquest report and statement of witnesses of inquest and other eyewitnesses were recorded in the case diary on 30.04.2011 itself. On 04.05.2011, statement of eyewitness Kamlesh Kumari and copy of postmortem report were recorded. On 13-05-11, Narendra was arrested by the then SHO R.P. Singh, his statement was recorded and after completing all the formalities, charge sheet Ex.Ka.-16 was submitted to the Court on 30.05.2011. This witness has admitted in his cross-examination that the incident took place on 29.04.2011 at around 5:15 pm. On 29.04.2011 itself, he left the police station at 7:15 P.M. and reached the spot of incident on a motorcycle at 7:30 P.M. The informant and his son were found present at the spot of incident.

37. Defense witness Harendra Singh, DW-1, stated in his statement that the incident occurred a year ago. They are five brothers namely, Mahendra, Ravindra, Harendra, Surendra, and Narendra. All of them live in separate rooms in the same barn. There is a room outside the barn in which accused Narendra lives. There is a platform in front of the living room. On the day of the incident, his sister-in-law (Bhabhi) Kamlesh, nephew Adesh, niece Mahapuri and he himself were present at the scene. Ramavatar of the village was also sitting on the platform. A dispute arose over the agricultural land. His father had sold the land to Kamlesh Kumari. Narendra Singh stated that the land has been registered and now you can't register any other land. His father also arrived at the disputed site. His father replied, "It's his land, he can give it to whoever he wants. Who are you?" After this, a verbal exchange broke out between accused and Kamlesh Kumari, Adesh, and his father. At that very moment, his father picked up a brick to hit Narendra. Narendra also picked up a brick. His sister-in-law, nephew, and niece also picked up bricks. His father kicked Narendra, knocking him down. Narendra also tried to intervene. Narendra Singh then shouted, which was audible but not visible. Narendra, who was in front of him, was not holding an axe. He had brought a water container from the tap for lunch. After that, he went inside the house. Narendra Singh's voice could be heard from inside the house. Ten minutes later, his father had fainted. Mahendra Singh was not present on spot. By the time Mahendra Singh arrived, he, Surendra, his sisters Janaki and Shyamlal had taken Father to the Mainpuri District Hospital. At the Mainpuri hospital, an injection was administered after which his father died.

38. D.W.1 in his cross-examination has stated that prior to the incident, his mother had been murdered and the case was being tried against his brother, Narendra Singh alias Kote Singh. The Inspector had prepared the Panchayatnama (Ex.Ka.-6) for his father's body in his presence, which bears his signature. In Ex.Ka-6, the Inspector had written that Narendra Singh had injured him (the deceased) with a Takora. The Inspector had stated that this was a Panchayatnama, and he had signed it. It is true that neither Aadesh or Aadesh's mother Kamlesh Kumari nor Mahendra Singh possessed a Takora. It is also true that Narendra Singh had previously been discharged because Mahendra Singh (P.W.1) had testified in his (Narendra Singh) favour. It is also true that he had not previously submitted any application or affidavit to any Court stating that Narendra Singh had not murdered Phool Singh.

39. In this regard, informant Mahendra Singh, P.W.-1, is a witness. An examination of the statements of Adesh Kumar (P.W.-2) and Mrs. Kamlesh Kumari (P.W.-3) clearly shows that defense witness Harendra DW-1 was not present at the scene of the incident. Witness P.W.-1 clearly stated in his statement that his brother Harendra Singh and several villagers took his father, who was unconscious, to the Mainpuri District Hospital. P.W.1 clearly stated that at the time of the incident, his son Adesh, his wife Kamlesh Kumari, and he himself were present. Furthermore, all the brothers were working in the fields and arrived 15-20 minutes later. Harendra Singh was not present at the scene at the time of the incident; he arrived after the incident. Witnesses Adesh Kumar (PW-2) and Kamlesh Kumar (PW-3) also denied Harendra Kumar's presence at the scene at the time of the incident.

40. Thus, from the statements of the prosecution witnesses and D.W.-1, it is clear that D.W.-1 Harendra Singh was not present at the spot at the time of the actual assault rather, he arrived some time later, and Harendra Singh himself took the deceased Phool Singh, in an unconscious state, to the District Hospital, Mainpuri. This fact is confirmed by the Panchayatnama and other oral and documentary evidence available on record. As D.W.-1 was not present at the time of actual assault, therefore, the prosecution's story cannot be treated as suspicious and unreliable based on the defence witness Harendra Singh's statement.

41. A careful evaluation of the deposition of this D.W.-1 reveals that at the time of actual incident i.e. assault on his father, he (D.W.-1) was inside his house and his deposition as far as actual assault is concerned, is based on hearing of voices from inside of his house. Meaning thereby that at the time of actual assault, this witness was not present. Therefore, this witness cannot depose about actual manner of incident. From his deposition, it is clear that an incident had happened with his father, in which his father was injured and he took his father to District Hospital, Mainpuri, where his father after being administered an injection succumbed to his injuries. From the deposition of this witness, date, time and place of incident is established. It is also established that on the date, time and place of incident, his father sustained injuries, who finally succumbed to his injuries. It is also evident from his deposition that there was a quarrel between persons present on spot regarding some piece of land, and during which his father picked up a brick to hit the appellant -convict Narendra, on which appellant-convict Narendra also picked up a brick. Therefore, from the deposition of this witness another fact is established that both his father (the deceased) and his brother (appellant-convict) picked up bricks in their hands to hit each other. When this witness entered in his house, the remaining incident had happened, in which his father sustained injuries. We are of the opinion that even the aforesaid deposition of this witness is not helpful to the defence, rather partially corroborates the prosecution story.

42. Admittedly, there is no mention of time of assault in written report / Tehrir Ex.Ka.-1. However, the depositions of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 are consistent that the incident had happened at about 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011. The first Investigating Officer (P.W.5) in his deposition has also stated that the witnesses to the incident have stated during the course of investigation in their statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that the incident took place around 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011. It is well settled proposition of law that the first information report is not an encyclopedia. Therefore, in view of consistent and reliable depositions of aforesaid witnesses, it is crystal clear that the incident had happened at about 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011 and FIR has been promptly registered at 6:15 P.M. Therefore, non-mentioning of the time of incident in the written report / Tehrir Ex.Ka.-1 does not make the prosecution story unbelievable.

43. In the present case, the prosecution has been successfully able to prove the date, time, place and manner of incident through consistent and reliable depositions of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3. Even the defence witness Harendra Singh (D.W.1) has proved the date, time and place of incident, however, he (D.W.1) was not present at the time of actual assault, but his deposition does not belie the basis prosecution story put forth with by the prosecution witnesses. The prosecution has successfully proved that the appellant inflicted several blows with Takora on the head of his father (deceased Phool Singh). The deceased suffered five ante-mortem injuries as a result of aforesaid assault on his head. The force behind this assault was such that left temporal and parietal bones of the deceased were fractured. The oral as well as documentary medical evidence corroborate the manner of incident, as narrated by P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3. The deceased had died as a result of ante-mortem injuries so suffered by him in the assault made by the appellant on his head. Resultantly, the prosecution has successfully proved its case against the appellant-convict beyond reasonable doubt and Question no.1 is answered in affirmative.

Question No.2 : Whether the sentence awarded to the appellant is excessive or not ?

44. Admittedly, the deceased Phool Singh was the father of the appellant-convict. The first information report has been promptly lodged at 6:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011 regarding the present incident, which had occurred at 5:15 P.M. on 29.04.2011. In the written report / Tehrir Ex.Ka.-1, it is clearly stated that the appellant is mentally weak and he committed the incident when his father (the deceased) picked up a brick upon being abused by Narendra Singh. However, P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, who are the eyewitnesses of the incident, have not stated anything regarding picking up a brick by the deceased in the incident. D.W.1 Harendra Singh, who was not present at the time of actual assault made by the appellant with Takora on the deceased, has deposed that before the actual assault, his father picked up a brick to hit Narendra Singh, which corroborates the prosecution story, as narrated in the written report / Tehrir Ex.Ka.-1 regarding this specific fact of deceased's picking up a brick at the time of incident. It is in this background, the allegedly mentally weak appellant-convict committed this offence, but there is nothing on record to demonstrate that the aforesaid assault was premeditated one. The incident had happened on account of a dispute after harvesting the crop in exchange of chaff. It has also come in the evidence of P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and D.W.1 that the appellant-convict was earlier tried for the murder of his mother. However, he was acquitted of the charges, as the informant (P.W.1) of this case turned hostile in the said case and deposed in favour of the present appellant-convict. It is also specifically stated in the written report / Tehrir that the appellant was given medical treatment at the Mental Hospital, Agra five years back. Meaning thereby, the appellant was suffering from some form of mental illness and after his recovery, he committed the present incident in a fit of anger arising out a dispute regarding chaff after harvesting of the crops. Initially the deceased picked up a brick, whereupon the appellant-convict struck the deceased with a takora. The details of land-holding, as stated by P.W.3 in her trustworthy deposition, reveal the poor socioeconomic background of the family of the deceased. There was no premeditation on the part of the appellant in the commission of the crime. There was no apparent motive or intention behind this crime. The appellant-convict is the son of the deceased. The appellant was around 38 years of age at the time of incident. In light of the alleged history of mental illness of the appellant-convict coupled with the fact that he was treated for his mental illness at the Mental Hospital, Agra, we are of the opinion that the sentence of life imprisonment imposed upon the appellant-convict by the trial Court seems to be on a higher side, therefore, the sentence awarded to the appellant is excessive. The Question No.2 is answered in the affirmative.

45. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Munna Moyuddin Shaikh v. State of Gujarat (Criminal Appeal No.2686 of 2026, arising out of SLP (Crl.) Diary No.35717 of 2025) qua awarding fixed sentence replacing life imprisonment by Constitutional Courts has held in the relevant paragraph 16 of Munna Moyuddin (supra) as under:-

"16. The underlying ratio of the above quoted judgments is that when a sentence of life imprisonment is imposed, Section 53 with Section 45 the IPC would convey the meaning that it is till the natural life subject to the right of claiming remission. Hence, modifying a sentence of life imprisonment and imposing a fixed sentence is permissible under the interpretation placed in Sriharan (supra) and followed in Shiva Kumar (supra), as long as the period imposed is more than fourteen years of imprisonment."

46. We have perused the custody certificate of the appellant-convict submitted by the jail authorities which shows that the appellant-convict had undergone actual period of 14 years 9 months and 14 days of incarceration as on 26.02.2026 and has served out a total sentence of 17 years 10 months and 29 days as on 26.02.2026 with remission. Therefore, the appellant-convict has already completed more than 15 years of actual incarceration as on today with more than 18 years of sentence including remission.

47. Therefore, considering the totality of circumstances, we are of the considered view that the ends of justice would be adequately met by commuting the sentence of imprisonment for life to a fixed term sentence of 15 years without remission, while maintaining the fine and default sentence.

In written report Exhibit Ka-1, PW-1 has stated that informant Digvijay Singh son of Shiv Ji Singh is a resident of Village Sului, Police Station Rasda, district Ballia. Yesterday on 12.03.2008, at the evening time my brother Ved Prakash Singh, told me that today in day, a dispute has arisen between him and Ankur Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) son of Tej Bahadur Singh, resident of Village Rasda, Yashwant Singh son of Shivnath Singh, resident of Village Rasda and Agnivesh Singh @ Maan Singh Son of Iqbal Singh, Uttar Patti, Village Rasda, Police Station Rasda, District Ballia and Dhanushdhari Singh, son of Keshav Singh Azad, Village Kasme, Police Station Haldhar, District Mau, on the point of demanding of money previously given by me and they said that they will see him. There is a possibility that today they can quarrel with him or cause any mis-happening. After listening these things, I said that I will proceed with you, you do not make any dispute or quarrel. I by one motorcycle and my brother Ved Prakash Singh, Mayank Singh @ Nikku Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta on another motorcycle proceeded to appear in the B.A. First year Examination. Today on 13.03.2008, early in the morning at 06:30, we reached at Sului turn, there in a Bolero Car of red colour, the above Mayank Singh @ Nikku Singh and other people were sitting and saw the motorcycle of my brother. Ankur Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) and all the above friends of him exhorted that today they will kill him so that matter with regard to money will be finished. In this way, hearing and saying of this, we became surprised. My brother Ved Prakash Singh and both his friends ran away by the above motorcycle then Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) with his friends driving the Bolero Car himself trying to chase the vehicle behind them and coming near the pond of Hita Ka Pura with intention to kill colluded with Bolero Car. In the opinion of Dr. Jameel Ahmad PW-9, the cause of death was ante mortem injury that was sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature.

7. After the submission of the charge-sheet against the accused persons in the concerned Magistrate Court, case was committed to the Court of Session for trial. The learned Trial Court has framed charge against accused Dhanushdhari Singh on 15.10.2008 under Section 302/34 IPC, 307, 504, 506 and 427 IPC. Accused Dhanushdhari Singh denied from the charge and demanded trial. Charges were also framed against Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) by the Trial Court on 22.08.2009 under Sections 302, 307, 504, 506 and 427 IPC, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) denied from the charge levelled against him and demanded trial. Charges were also framed by the Trial Court against accused Yashwant Singh, Agnivesh Singh @ Maan Singh, on 22.08.2009 under Section 302, 307 read with Section 34 IPC, and Section 504, 506 and 427 IPC. Both the accused persons have also denied from the charge levelled against them and demanded trial.

8. To substantiate its case, prosecution has adduced informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, as witnesses of the fact and Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5, Chote Lal Yadav PW-6, Ramashray Prasad PW-7, Surya Bhan Singh PW-8, Dr. Jameel Ahmad PW-9, Anil Prakash Mishra PW-10, as formal witnesses of the prosecution. Apart from the above ocular evidence, the prosecution has also relied on documentary evidence from Exhibit Ka-1 to Exhibit Ka-22 in support of its case.

9. After recording of the evidence of prosecution witnesses, accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C., by the Trial Court. All accused persons expressed ignorance about the questions put to them under Section 313 Cr.P.C. They have also stated that police has wrongly and falsely investigated the case and prepared false and illegal documents against them and falsely implicated them and charge-sheeted them in the Court without any evidence. The accused persons have also stated that they are innocent and they are falsely implicated by the informant with the collusion of the police due to enmity and rivalry in the village and locality. They have also stated that they have not committed the crime as alleged against them. They were not present at the place of occurrence or near the place of occurrence. Police has falsely implicate them in collusion with the prosecution due to enmity against them. They have also stated that they will adduce evidence in their defence. They adduced Vijay Bahadur as DW-1 and Virendra Pratap Singh as DW-2. They have also filed documentary evidence as Exhibit Kha-2 to Kha-5 in their defence.

10. After recording the proceedings of evidence of prosecution and defence and hearing of the arguments of both sides, learned Trial Court delivered the judgment and order dated 04.06.2010 in which accused Agnivesh Singh @ Maan Singh was found innocent and he was acquitted by the Trial Court. However, the learned Trial Court has found guilty to accused Yashwant Singh, Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh, (since deceased) Dhanushdhari Singh in respect of the charge as levelled against them. The learned Trial Court has held guilty and convicted the accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) under Section 302, 307, 504, 506 and 427 IPC. The accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) was convicted for life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC and a fine of Rs. 5,000/-. He was convicted for ten year rigorous imprisonment under Section 307 IPC and by a fine of Rs. 2500/-, for charge under Section 504 IPC, he was convicted by one year rigorous imprisonment. Under Sections 506 and 427 IPC, he was sentenced for each offence by one year rigorous imprisonment. Accused appellant Dhanushdhari Singh and Yashwant Singh were also held guilty and were convicted under Section 302/34 IPC, 307/34, 504, 506 and 427 IPC and each were convicted for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 5,000/- each under Section 302/34 and each were also convicted under Section 307/34 IPC by ten years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 2500/- each. For the offence under Section 504 IPC, each were convicted by one year rigorous imprisonment and also for the offence under Section 506 IPC, each were convicted by one year rigorous imprisonment and for the charge under Section 427 IPC, each were sentenced by one year rigorous imprisonment. In case of default of payment of fine, each accused appellant were directed to serve six months additional imprisonment. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently for each accused person. Aggrieved by the above judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 04.06.2010, passed by the learned Trial Court, accused-Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased), Dhanushdhari Singh, Yashwant Singh have preferred Criminal Appeal Nos.3793 of 2010, 3794 of 2010 and 3925 of 2010, respectively. Since the above three criminal appeals have arises from the same judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 04.06.2010, passed by the learned Trial Court, hence all the three criminal appeals are being disposed off by a common judgment of this Court.

11. It transpires from the record that, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh has died during the pendency of the appeal. Due to this reason, Criminal Appeal No. 3793 of 2010 (Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh Vs. State of U.P.) has become abated by order of this Court dated 11.01.2023, therefore, we are adjudicating the present Criminal Appeals only in respect of surviving accused-appellants Yashwant Singh and Dhanushdhari Singh respectively.

12. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants have submitted that in the present case, three persons namely Mayank Singh @ Nikku Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta, who received injuries in the incident have not been examined and in this view of the fact, adverse inference must be drawn against the prosecution and as such, conviction is bad in law. There is a conflict between eye-witness account and medical evidence. None of the injuries are grievous injury. The prosecution case is that after the deceased fell down, Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) ran his vehicle on the body of the deceased with to and fro motion. Allegations did not find corroboration from medical evidence and as such, conviction is bad in law. It is also submitted by the learned counsel for the accused-appellants, that two prosecution witnesses Madan Singh and Chandra Sen Singh have not been mentioned in the FIR and their statements were recorded after eight months from the date of incident that is to say, on 09.11.2008 and the learned Sessions Judge committed a manifest error in placing reliance upon the testimony of Madan Singh and Chandra Sen Singh. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants have also submitted that a memo was sent from the hospital to police station Rasda, District Ballia, which contains a recital to the effect that three injured and deceased have received injuries in the accident. The memo further continued a recital to the effect that the body of the deceased is handed over to police station, Rasda, Kotwali, later on, on the aforesaid words were scored out and it was mentioned that the body was handed over to relatives. These important aspects of the matter were never considered by the learned Sessions Judge. It is also submitted on behalf of the accused-appellant that the incident that happened in this case is purely an accidental case. However, with consideration and afterthought and collusion of other persons, the police has falsely implicated the accused-appellants in this case. All the prosecution witnesses of the fact were not present at the place of occurrence when accident happened. From a perusal of the evidence of the prosecution witness of the fact, it is apparent that all prosecution witnesses of the fact are projected eye-witnesses of the prosecution to support the prosecution case. The learned Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in this respect as available on the record and without any evidence against the accused-persons wrongly believed on the unreliable and false evidence of the prosecution witnesses of the fact, and held guilty to accused-appellant for the commission of the crime. The finding and reasoning as recorded by the Trial Court is without any evidence on the record and is against the settled principles of law. Therefore, the judgment and order of conviction and sentence as passed by the learned Trial Court dated 04.06.2010 is perverse and bad in law, hence liable to be set aside and the criminal appeals of the appellants deserves to be allowed.

13. Per contra, learned AGA-I for the State and learned private counsel for the informant have vehemently opposed the above arguments and submissions of the appellants. The learned AGA-I on behalf of the State and learned private counsel for the informant, have submitted that accused persons with a pre-plan, premeditation and pre-concert, with intention to kill the deceased Ved Prakash Singh and other injured persons used four wheeler Bolero Vehicle in commission of the crime. The accused persons intentionally colluded the Bolero with high speed against motorcycle on which injured persons and deceased Ved Prakash Singh were sitting, thereby causing a very grievous and fatal injury by which Ved Prakash Singh died and other persons were injured seriously. The learned Trial Court has appreciated the evidence available on record in a proper perspective. The Trial Court by appreciating the evidence has found the testimony of the prosecution witnesses as reliable and trustworthy. Since the Trial Court found the prosecution case proved by evidence of prosecution behind reasonable doubt, hence held guilty and convicted the accused-appellants in legal way and in accordance with evidence available against them on the record. There is no illegality, perversity in the finding and reasoning of the Trial Court. The Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in accordance with the settled principles of law and delivered cogent finding which is based on evidence and, therefore, held guilty and convicted the accused persons for the alleged crime. Therefore, there is no merit and substance in the criminal appeals as preferred by the accused-appellant persons. Hence, the criminal appeals as preferred by the accused-appellants are devoid of merit and are liable to be dismissed.

14. In the light of the above submission and counter submissions advanced on behalf of both parties, from the perusal of the written report Exhibit Ka-1, it is clear that informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 has lodged a written report naming all accused persons liable for commission of the crime. In written report Exhibit Ka-1, the informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 shows and projected himself as an eye-witness of the incident.

15. From a perusal of the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, we find that informant PW-1 has stated in his examination-in-chief, the same things and facts as have been stated by him in written report Exhibit Ka-1, which has been repeated by PW-1 in his evidence, in his examination-in-chief which is covering in four pages. He tried to support the prosecution story. From a perusal of the cross examination, we find that according to this witness, on the date of incident i.e. 13.03.2008, when brother of PW-1 Ved Prakash Singh, who was going to appear in B.A. Part-I Examination at Mathura Degree College, Rasda, Ballia and with him, injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta were also present. It was time about 06:30 early in the morning. Injured Mayank Kumar Singh was driving the motorcycle and the injured Rahul Gupta was sitting behind Mayank Kumar Singh and deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting on the same motorcycle behind Rahul Gupta. Informant was also following them by another motorcycle. According to this witness, Bolero vehicle of the accused persons was standing near village of the informant on the right turn of the Sului village, then this witness had seen that accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) was sitting on the driver seat and accused Yashwant Singh was sitting on the other side of the driver. Another accused persons were sitting in the Bolero vehicle in middle and back sides. According to this witness, this witness heard accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) saying that today finish Ved Prakash Singh because by finishing Ved Prakash Singh the issue about money will also be finished. According to this witness, informant PW-1, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) moved the Bolero vehicle with high speed and reaching near the village Bheeta Ka Pura and overtakes the motorcycle of Mayank Singh and after overtaking the motorcycle of Mayank Singh, Ankur Kumar Singh @

Sheru Singh (since deceased) turned his vehicle again in the direction from which direction Mayank Singh was coming driving his motorcycle with Rahul Gupta and deceased Ved Prakash Singh. After turning his vehicle with intention to kill, Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) colluded his Bolero vehicle with high speed at the headside of motorcycle of Mayank Singh. Due to this collusion, Mayank Singh, Rahul Gupta have fallen down towards north direction and Ved Prakash Singh fell down towards southern direction. Ved Prakash Singh tried to stand up, then Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) with his Bolero vehicle again colluded against Ved Prakash Singh and he moved the Bolero vehicle over the body of Ved Prakash Singh, thereby crushed Ved Prakash Singh. Thereafter, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) by turning his Bolero vehicle proceeded towards Rasda. He also colluded on the scooter of Chandan Gupta. According to this witness, Kripa Shankar Pandey and Madan Singh, Chandra Sen Singh of the village have also witnessed the incident. Number of Bolero vehicle of accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) is UP 54 F 9594.

16. From the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, it is revealed that according to this witness motive for the crime was Rs.25,000/- which has been given by deceased Ved Prakash Singh to accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) for the purchase of a motorcycle. However, inspite of receiving Rs.25,000/- in cash, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has not delivered a motorcycle as had been agreed upon between Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) and deceased Ved Prakash Singh since Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) was holding and running a motorcycle agency and selling motorcycle. However, Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has not delivered a new motorcycle to deceased Ved Prakash Singh, then, Ved Prakash Singh began to demand Rs.25,000/- which were given in advance for the motorcycle. However, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) was not willing to give new motorcycle or return the money to the sum of Rs. 25,000/- as given in advance by Ved Prakash Singh. Due to continuous demand of Rs.25,000/- by deceased Ved Prakash Singh, accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has caused the alleged crime by his Bolero vehicle when deceased Ved Prakash Singh was going to appear in B.A. Part-I examination with the injured Rahul Gupta and Mayank Kumar Singh.

17. Thus, from the perusal of the evidence of informant PW-1, it is clear that target for the purpose of killing was deceased Ved Prakash Singh. The deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting as third person behind the injured Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Mayank Kumar Singh. Mayank Kumar Singh was driving the motorcycle. The motorcycle on which deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting was going forward and Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) was behind them with his Bolero vehicle. In this way, deceased Ved Prakash Singh was on the motorcycle in front of the Bolero vehicle of the accused appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased), in this condition it is very easy and convenient to collude his Bolero vehicle from the back side for hitting against the deceased Ved Prakash Singh who was sitting behind Rahul Gupta on the motorcycle, but surprisingly according to this witness, PW-1, accused appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has not hit and colluded his Bolero from the back side but overtakes the motorcycle of Mayank Singh and from the front side turned his Bolero vehicle and colluded on the front side of the motorcycle when Mayank Singh was driving the motorcycle and cause the accident thereby injuring Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta, Chandan Gupta and causing death of Ved Prakash Singh. The mode and manner of commission of the crime which is in the form of motor vehicle accident, as has been stated by informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 in this respect, appears to be highly doubtful and suspicious. A number of questions at this stage arises as to why accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has not hit and colluded the motorcycle from the back side where the deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting. Accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) overtakes the motorcycle of Mayank Singh and from the front side of the motorcycle and turned his Bolero vehicle colluded and hit the motorcycle, which was driven by Mayank Kumar Singh, where accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) overtakes the motorcycle of Mayank Kumar Singh, turned back and colluded against the front side of motorcycle of Mayank Kumar Singh so that Mayank Kumar Singh who was driving the motorcycle and Rahul Gupta, who was sitting behind Mayank Kumar Singh on the motorcycle could easily identify the accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) and other persons who were sitting in the Bolero vehicle. The manner and mode in which informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 has narrated the prosecution story creates a reasonable doubt about presence of this witness Digvijay Singh PW-1 at the place of occurrence and also on this fact that this witness has not seen the happening of the incident/accident with his own eyes.

18. From the perusal of the whole evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, we find that this witness has not stated true facts and story about happening of the incident. It is clear from the evidence of this witness that prosecution with a view to involve and implicate falsely the accused-persons narrated a false story with consideration, deliberation and with afterthought and thereby falsely implicated the accused persons in this case. The evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 is contrary and creates doubt and suspicion about his veracity and truthfulness. From the perusal and appreciation of the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, it is evident and clear that this witness has been stating artificially false, imaginary and concocted story with a view to falsely implicate and prosecute the accused-persons. From the evidence of this witness Digvijay Singh PW-1, we find that the presence of this witness is highly doubtful, suspicious at the place of occurrence. Due to this reason, whole evidence of this witness appears to be concocted and artificially narrating a false and fabricated story against the accused-appellant persons. Thus, we are of the considered view that the evidence of the informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 does not inspires any confidence, therefore, we find the testimony of this witness as unreliable.

19. It is also a fact apparent from the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 that even after intimidation given by accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) before a day of incident on 12.03.2008, we find that he has not given any information or lodged any report about intimidation against the accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) at police station. This fact also creates a suspicion about the prosecution story as written in Exhibit Ka-1 and stated by informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 in his evidence.

20. The prosecution has also adduced Kripa Shankar Pandey as PW-2, Madan Singh as PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh as PW-4. According to the prosecution, all the above prosecution witnesses are eye-witness of the incident, who had seen the happening of the incident with their own eyes. From the perusal of the evidence of Kripa Shankar Pandey - PW-2, Madan Singh-PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh-PW-4, we find that above prosecution witnesses have also stated in their evidence same statements as have been stated by informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 in his evidence. From the perusal of the evidence of the above witnesses it is amply clear that the above witnesses of the prosecution have also unsuccessfully tried to support and prove the prosecution story. However, inspite of their best attempt, the above prosecution witnesses have miserably failed in their attempt to prove the prosecution story by their evidence. From a perusal of the evidence of the above prosecution witnesses, it is also clear that prosecution witnesses Kripa Shankar Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 have also been produced by the prosecution as projected witnesses, who had not seen any happening of the incident with their own eyes. The evidence of the above prosecution witnesses itself indicate this fact in clear-cut manner that prosecution witnesses Kripa Shankar Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 have also stated the prosecution in artificial and concocted manner narrating an imaginary and afterthought way, which was prepared with full consideration and deliberation. The prosecution projected the above prosecution witnesses as an eye-witness of the incident with a view to strengthen and support the prosecution story and also with a view to corroborate the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1. However, even by adducing Kripa Shankar Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 as an eyewitness of the incident for proving the prosecution story, the prosecution has itself created a deep and reasonable doubt and suspicion about the truthfulness and trustworthiness of the evidence of the above prosecution witness.

21. In this way, the prosecution adduced PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 as eye-witnesses of the incident, however, from the perusal and appreciation of the whole evidence of the above prosecution witnesses, PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4, we find that their evidence and statements does not inspire any confidence about the truthfulness of the prosecution story. All these prosecution witnesses tried to strengthen the case of the prosecution, but from the perusal of the evidence of the above prosecution witnesses, it is clearly revealed from their evidence itself that the above prosecution witnesses have narrated a concocted and false, unbelievable and doubtful story. Due to this reason, we find the evidence of the prosecution witnesses Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shankar Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW- 3 and Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 as unreliable and unworthy of the credit.

22. From the perusal of the evidence of Madan Singh PW-3, it is revealed that Madan Singh PW-3 and Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 have stated in their evidence that accused appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) after causing the incident has also fired from his firearm. They have also stated that they have given this type of statement to the Investigating Officer in their statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. However, last I.O. Anil Kumar Mishra PW-10, though in the course of the cross-examination by defence, has accepted this fact that the prosecution witnesses have not given any statement to him that accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) has fired from the firearms after committing the incident. From this fact, it is revealed that the above prosecution witnesses have narrated and made a false statement in the evidence in the Court only with a view to make the prosecution story more serious and heinous. From the statement of this witness itself and from the evidence of last Investigating Officer Anil Kumar Mishra PW-10, statement of the above witnesses about firing from firearms by accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) proved to be false and exaggerated. This fact also makes prosecution story to be highly doubtful. This fact also revealed that above prosecution witnesses have given artificial and concocted evidence in the Court against the accused person Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) with consideration and afterthought only with a view to falsely implicate the accused persons in the alleged crime.

23. In this respect, Hon'ble Supreme Court in Badam Singh Vs. State of M.P. (2003) 12 SCC 792 held in paragraph 16 as follows:

"16. The learned Sessions Judge after considering the evidence on record and accepting the evidence of the eye witnesses found the appellant guilty of the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced him to imprisonment for life. The High Court by its impugned judgment dismissed the appeal preferred by the appellant. We have perused the impugned judgment of the High Court. The High Court which was the first Court of Appeal did not even carefully appreciate the facts of the case. It mentions that the FIR was lodged by PWs-5 and 6 whereas the fact is that the FIR was lodged by PW-4, the Forest Officer. Without subjecting the evidence on record to a critical scrutiny, the High Court was content with saying that the three eye witnesses having deposed against the appellant, the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. In our view, the High Court has not approached the evidence in the manner it should have done being the first Court of Appeal. The mere fact that the witnesses are consistent in what they say is not a sure guarantee of their truthfulness. The witnesses are subjected to cross-examination to bring out facts which may persuade a Court to hold, that though consistent, their evidence is not acceptable for any other reason. If the Court comes to the conclusion that the conduct of the witnesses is such that it renders the case of the prosecution doubtful or incredible, or that their presence at the place of occurrence as eye witnesses is suspect, the Court may reject their evidence. That is why it is necessary for the High Court to critically scrutinize the evidence in some detail, it being the final court of fact. We have therefore gone through the entire evidence on record with the assistance of counsel for the parties."

24. In the light of the legal principles as annunciated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Badam Singh (supra), it is clear that only from this fact that witnesses are consistent in what they say is not a sure guarantee of their truthfulness. If after appreciating the evidence of prosecution witnesses, it transpires that case of prosecution is doubtful, incredible and it is found that their presence at the place of occurrence is doubtful, then the Court may reject their evidence in the light of the above law. The legal principles of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and from the discussions of evidence in the present case, it is clear that presence of the prosecution witnesses Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, at the place of occurrence, at the time of happening of the incident, is highly doubtful, If the presence of the prosecution witnesses Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, found to be doubtful at the place of occurrence, then their evidence in respect of prosecution story, as narrated by them in the Court, would automatically be highly doubtful and unreliable. From the appreciation of evidence of prosecution witnesses, Digvijay Singh PW-1 and Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, we find that evidence of these witnesses indicate that they were not present at the place of occurrence when incident happened. Due to this reason and in the light of the law as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Badam Singh (Supra), we find that evidence of prosecution witnesses informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, are found to be unreliable and unworthy of credit.

25. According to the prosecution story itself, from the written report Exhibit Ka-1 and also from the evidence of Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, this is clearly established fact that in this so-called incident, Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta and Chandra Sen Singh have also received fatal injuries. From the record of the file, the injury report of Chandan Gupta Exhibit Ka-5, injury report of Mayank Kumar Singh Exhibit Ka-6 and injury report of Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta Exhibit Ka-7 are available and Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5, who examined the body of above injured persons and prepared their injury reports, as Exhibit Ka-5, 6 and 7. At the time of the incident, injured Mayank Kumar Singh was driving the motorcycle and injured Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta was sitting on the motorcycle behind Mayank Kumar Singh and behind Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta, deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting on the motorcycle. In this way, those injured witnesses Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta are best witness of the prosecution for supporting the prosecution case. However, surprisingly the prosecution has not adduced the injured witness Mayank Kumar Singh, who was driving the motorcycle on the date of the incident and also not produced Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta, who was also sitting behind Mayank Kumar Singh on the motorcycle. Both Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta being an injured in the said incident, are natural, real and best witnesses of the case. However, the prosecution has not produced Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta as prosecution witnesses in support of its case. The prosecution was duty bound to produce the injured witnesses Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta in support of its case. However, surprisingly the prosecution withheld the evidence of Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta by not producing them in the Court. If the prosecution would have produced Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta, who are injured witnesses in respect of this case, then in this condition prosecution story would easily be proved behind reasonable doubt against the accused person Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased). There is no answer to this question for prosecution that why and under what circumstances, prosecution has not adduced the injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta as prosecution witnesses. It is apparent from the above facts and circumstances that prosecution with a plan and purpose with consideration, afterthought, withheld the valuable evidence of injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta from coming into Court. The prosecution on one side withheld the evidence of injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and on the other side tried to project Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4 as an eyewitness with a purpose to falsely, concocted, with consideration and afterthought to implicate the accused persons falsely on their evidence in this case. In this way, prosecution withheld natural witnesses injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta for giving their evidence and produced concocted and artificial evidence of Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, of the prosecution witness in support of its case. However, from the evidence of the prosecution witnesses Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, prosecution story itself becomes highly doubtful and suspicious, creating doubt about the veracity and truthfulness of the prosecution story. From the perusal of the evidence of Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5 who prepared the injury report of injured Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta Exhibit Ka-5 and Exhibit Ka-6 and Chandra Sen Singh Exhibit Ka-7, respectively, it is stated by this witness during the course of cross-examination, that paper No.8, which has signature of CHC Superintendent Dr. Kailash Singh addressed to the in-charge Inspector P.S. Kotwali Rasda and handwritten has contained an information that after receiving injuries in an accident, Mayank Kumar Singh and Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and one other dead person have been brought by some people at the CHC. Name of the deceased person has been mentioned as Ved Prakash Singh. Paper No.8-Ka, which has endorsed the signatures of CHC Superintendent Dr. Kailash Singh has been proved by Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5 as Exhibit Kha-1. Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5 has stated that I have entered the injuries of the three injured persons in the accidental register. The above evidence and facts as stated by Dr. Roshan Singh Patel PW-5, revealed that injured Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and deceased Ved Prakash Singh, who has received injuries in motorvehicle accident, due to this reason the injuries of the injured persons were entered by this witness in accidental register and intimation has also been sent by paper No.8 Ka, which is Exhibit Kha-1 addressed to the In-charge Inspector, P.S. Kotwali Rasda, district Ballia. This fact also makes the prosecution story suspicious and unreliable.

26. Illustration (g) of Section 114 of the Indian Evidence Act (Act No. 1 of 1872) provides that that evidence which could be and is not produced would, if produced, be unfavourable to the person who withholds it. In the present case, according to the prosecution itself, on the date, time of incident, Mayank Kumar Singh driving the motorcycle on which deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting. According to the prosecution itself, Mayank Kumar Singh driving the motorcycle and behind Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta was sitting and behind Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta deceased Ved Prakash Singh was sitting. Accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) driving his Bolero vehicle overtakes Mayank Kumar Singh and returned after turning his Bolero vehicle and with high speed colluded his Bolero vehicle on the front side of the motorcycle, which was being driven by Mayank Kumar Singh. Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta have also received injuries and they were injured persons. Apart from that, it is said that one Chandan Gupta has also received injuries by the Bolero vehicle of accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased). In this way, injured Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta were best witnesses of the prosecution, since they have also become injured in this accident. However, prosecution withhold the evidence of injured persons Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta. Prosecution has not adduced any injured person amongst Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta. This is a case of motor-vehicle incident or accident and it is prosecution story that accused Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased), has used his Bolero vehicle as a weapon in killing the deceased Ved Prakash Singh by colluding his Bolero vehicle on the front side of the motorcycle, which was driven by Mayank Kumar Singh. This conduct of the prosecution in not adducing and examining any of the injured person, creates a reasonable doubt about the veracity of the prosecution story, as narrated by informant Digvijay Singh PW-1 and other prosecution witnesses such as Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4.

27. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohanlal Shamji Soni Vs. Union of India and Another 1991 Supp (1) SCC 271, has held in paragraph 10 as follows :

"10. It is a cardinal rule in the law of evidence that the best available evidence should be brought before the Court to prove a fact or the points in issue. But it is left either for the prosecution or for the defence to establish its respective case by adducing the best available evidence and the Court is not empowered under the provisions of the Code to compel either the prosecution or the defence to examine any particular witness or witnesses on their sides. Nonetheless if either of the parties with-holds any evidence which could be produced and which, if produced, be unfavourable to the party withholding such evidence, the court can draw a presumption under illustration (g) to Section 114 of the Evidence Act. In such a situation a question that arises for consideration is whether the presiding officer of a Court should simply sit as a mere umpire at a contest between two parties and declare at the end of the combat who has won and who has lost or is there not any legal duty of his own, independent of the parties, to take an active role in the proceedings in finding the truth and administering justice? It is a well accepted and settled principle that a Court must discharge its statutory functions-whether discretionary or obligatory-according to law in dispensing justice because it is the duty of a Court not only to do justice but also to ensure that justice is being done. In order to enable the Court to find out the truth and render a just decision, the salutary provisions of Section 540 of the Code (Section 311 of the New Code) are enacted whereunder any Court by exercising its discretionary authority at any stage of enquiry, trial or other proceeding can summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall or re-examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall and re-examine any person already examined who are expected to be able to throw light upon the matter in dispute; because if judgments happen to be rendered on inchoate,, inconclusive and speculative presentation of facts, the ends of justice would be defeated."

28. In the light of the legal principles, as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohanlal Shamji Soni (supra), we find that learned Trial Court has not tried to summon the injured prosecution witnesses, Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta under Section 311 Cr.P.C. The Trial Court has full power to summon any person as a witness for doing the full and complete justice. On the other side, the Trial Court has not performed its legal duty by summoning as witness the injured persons Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta under Section 311 Cr.P.C., and on the other side, the Trial Court has also not drawn an adverse inference against the prosecution. In the light of Illustration (g) of Section 114 of the Indian Evidence Act, by not adducing injured witnesses Mayank Kumar Singh, Rahul Gupta @ Guddu Gupta and Chandan Gupta as a witness in Court and also not summoning the above witnesses under Section 311 Cr.P.C., the Trial Court committed an error and by misappreciating the evidence of prosecution witnesses against the settled principles of law, wrongly held guilty to the accused appellants for the commission of the crime. It is also settled principles of law that heinous the crime heavier the burden of proof upon the prosecution. In any criminal case, prosecution can prove its case either by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence. If prosecution completely fails to prove its case by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence, then in this condition, prosecution story would be automatically fall on the ground as suspicious and doubtful story. It is also settled principles of law that no accused person could be convicted on doubtful evidence of prosecution. For conviction in a criminal case like murder, prosecution in every circumstances, is liable and bound to prove its case behind all reasonable doubts either by direct evidence or by circumstantial evidence. Hence, in the light of the above observations, prosecution story also becomes suspicious and thereby unbelievable.

29. From the perusal of the evidence of Dr. Jameel Ahmad PW-9, who conducted the postmortem examination of dead body of deceased Ved Prakash Singh and prepared postmortem report as Exhibit Ka-18, it is revealed from the statement, as given in his cross-examination, that this witness has accepted in clear-cut words that there was no marks or sign of grouting on the body of the deceased. This witness has also accepted that there was no mark of tyre of motor-vehicle on the body of the deceased. However, the prosecution witnesses are stating in their evidence that accused-appellant Ankur Kumar Singh @ Sheru Singh (since deceased) ran his Bolero vehicle over the body of the deceased Ved Prakash Singh and thereby crushed the body of the deceased. However, statement of Dr. Jameel Ahmad PW-9 clearly refuted the evidence of prosecution witnesses, such as informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, in this respect. Therefore, the evidence of the so-called eyewitnesses and medical evidence does not corroborate to each other. The evidence of witnesses of facts does not find support and corroboration from the evidence of Dr. Jameel Ahmad PW-9. This fact also creates a reasonable doubt about the veracity of the prosecution story and reliability of the evidence of prosecution witness. Hence, we are of the considered view in the above facts and circumstances of the case, that this is also a strong ground which throw a cloud of shadow on the truthfulness of the prosecution story.

30. We have also perused and gone through the finding and reasoning as delivered by learned Trial Court in its judgment and order dated 04.06.2010, and find from the perusal of the same that the learned Trial Court has not kept in mind and considered the evidence in this regard in the facts and circumstances of the case. The learned Trial Court in cursory and casual manner wholly believing and relying on the evidence of informant Digvijay Singh PW-1, Kripa Shanker Pandey PW-2, Madan Singh PW-3, Chandra Sen Singh PW-4, delivered a finding of conviction without any cogent and reliable evidence available on the record and also against the settled principles of law. The learned Trial Court has not meticulously analysed and appreciated the prosecution evidence, which are highly doubtful and unreliable and unworthy of credit. In heinous case like a murder in which three persons are convicted for murder, the learned Trial Court has great responsibility and duty to analyse and appreciate, the prosecution evidence very meticulously and on every point and aspect. If on careful and proper appreciation of evidence the learned Trial Court finds that by its evidence, if prosecution is able to prove the prosecution story behind reasonable doubt, only in that condition a finding about guilt should be recorded by the Trial Court. However, in the present case, the Trial Court has not performed his duty as imposed by the provisions of law in this regard. In view of the above facts and legal aspects, we are of the considered view that the judgment of conviction and sentence dated 04.06.2010, as passed by the learned Trial Court is perverse and without any evidence in this regard and also against the settled principles of law in this respect. Due to this reason, judgment of conviction and sentence of the learned Trial Court dated 04.06.2010 is not found sustainable in the eyes of law. Hence, we set aside the judgment of conviction and sentence dated 04.06.2010 as passed by the learned Trial Court.

31. In the light of the above discussions, we find force in the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the appellants in this respect.

32. Accordingly, the present Criminal Appeal No. 3794 of 2010 and Criminal Appeal No. 3925 of 2010, preferred by convict appellant- Dhanushdhari Singh and Yashwant Singh, respectively against the judgment and order of conviction and sentence of the learned Trial Court dated 04.06.2010 passed in Sessions Trial No. 173 of 2008 State of U.P. Vs. Dhanushdhari Singh, Sessions Trial No. 145 of 2009 State of U.P. Vs. Ankur Singh @ Sheru Singh and others arising out of Crime No. 42 of 2008 under Sections 302/34, 307/34, 504, 506, and 427 I.P.C. are hereby allowed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence of the learned Trial Court dated 04.06.2010 is hereby set aside.

33. The appellants Dhanushdhari Singh and Yashwant Singh, respectively are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged from their liabilities.

34. Let this judgment and order be sent with Trial Court record to the Trial Court for necessary compliance, forthwith.

Evidence Law - reliability of interested/related witnesses - testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 found materially inconsistent on hospitalisation of deceased and on the alleged dying declaration regarding poisoning and illicit relationship, contradicted by documentary evidence (Ex. Ka-4) and deposition of P.W.4 which carried presumption of correctness as an official document - credit of P.W.1 and P.W.2 impeached and their testimony on these aspects disbelieved. (Paras 36-48).

Forensic Medicine - Aluminium Phosphide poisoning - nature, symptoms, detection and post-mortem findings examined with reference to authoritative texts and judicial precedent - consumption of Aluminium Phosphide by accident held to be a remote possibility on account of its pungent smell, and forcible administration found inconsistent with absence of external injuries on the body - fact held to gravely dent the prosecution case. (Paras 58-68).

Criminal Law - benefit of doubt - acquittal - cumulative effect of delayed and unreliable F.I.R., unreliable witnesses, inadmissible and unreasoned F.S.L. report, absence of confrontation of the doctor with the F.S.L. report, unproved safe custody of viscera sample and uncertain cause of death held to entitle the appellants to acquittal, trial court judgment held perverse and contrary to evidence on record, set aside (Paras 78-82).

Held: The delay in lodgment of the F.I.R. without any good cause shown by the prosecution was found fatal to the prosecution case in the cumulative view of facts and evidences on record, the F.I.R. having been registered belatedly and as an afterthought - the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 regarding hospitalisation of the deceased were found to be entirely false and were accordingly discarded, being contradicted by Ex. Ka-4 and the deposition of P.W.4, a document drawn up by government doctors in discharge of official duties carrying a presumption of correctness which was reinforced upon proof - there were material inconsistencies on critical issues in the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 which self-destruct the prosecution case and their credit was impeached, rendering them unreliable witnesses - the motive of illicit relationship introduced by P.W.1 and P.W.2 was found to be an afterthought unsupported by evidence and was disbelieved - though the FSL, Lucknow fell within the ambit of S. 293 Cr.P.C. and no expert proof was required to mark the report, the report dated 18.09.2014/Exh Ka-14 simply recorded the ipse dixit that Aluminium Phosphide was present in the viscera sample without disclosing any data, tests conducted or scientific criteria, and was accordingly found to be in the teeth of the law laid down in Ramesh Chandra Agrawal and Madan Gopal Kakkar, rendering the report inadmissible in evidence and its opinion discarded - reliance upon respected authorities on Toxicology and the credentials of the expert produced before the Court established that consumption of Aluminium Phosphide by accident is a remote possibility on account of its pungent smell, and the post-mortem report recording no external injuries lent merit to the submission that the poison was not administered forcibly, a fact which was found to gravely dent the prosecution case - the doctor who conducted the post-mortem was never confronted with the F.S.L. report though it was incumbent on the prosecution to do so, and in the facts and circumstances the Viscera report could not be treated as conclusive evidence of poisoning by aluminium phosphide - prosecution evidence with regard to cause of death was found to lack certainty and be unreliable, the prosecution having failed to establish the cause of death of the deceased by poisoning - the burden lay on the prosecution to prove that storage conditions of the viscera sample were safe and appropriate for future testing, a burden which the prosecution failed to discharge, there being no evidence on the manner and conditions of preservation of the sample over a period exceeding one year, leaving a real possibility of degradation - the responses of the accused under S. 313 Cr.P.C. were found satisfactory and corroborated by prosecution evidence that they had rushed the deceased to hospital and ensured prompt medical attention - the judgment of the trial court was held to be perverse and contrary to the evidences on record and in the teeth of established principles of criminal law, having erred in believing the unreliable testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2, in relying on the inadmissible F.S.L. report, and in neglecting to consider the S. 313 Cr.P.C. responses in proper perspective, and was accordingly set aside, the prosecution having failed to prove the charges under Ss. 328/34 and 302/34 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt, and the appellants were honourably acquitted and directed to be forthwith released from prison unless required in any other criminal case, the Criminal Appeals being allowed. (Paras 35, 41, 44, 47-48, 50, 56, 64, 68-72, 74-77, 78-82). (E-7)

At that time the accused poured milk in the Dal to make it palatable and got the deceased to consume the concoction. One hour after taking the meal the poison took its effect on his body and the deceased began to vomit. News of the incident soon spread. After hearing of the incident Lal Singh, Ram Kumari wife of Lal Singh and other persons from the village brought his son to the hospital at Hathgaon. The attending doctor referred Jagdish @ Jagdhar to a higher facility at Fatehpur. PW-1 while deposing before the trial court testified that Gyanmati @ Sangathiya ,wife of his son Jagdish had developed illicit relations with Ashok Kumar. Gyanmati and Ashok mixed poison in his son□s meal and served it to him on 20.07.2013 at about 11:00 A.M. P.W.1 states that he reached his son□s residence on hearing of the deteriorating health of the latter. The information was given by one person belonging to Sithaura. Jagdish @ Jagdar informed PW 1 that the accused persons had administered poison to him. PW 1 and his party took Jagdish to a hospital at Hathgaon which referred him to Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur. Jagdish died at Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur.

PW-2/ Durga Prasad

27. Durga Prasad was produced by the prosecution as PW-2. PW-2 in his testimony stated that on 20.07.2013, he had accompanied Lal Singh and his wife and others to Sithaura when they learnt that the condition of deceased had deteriorated. On reaching Sithaura at about 12 pm, they found that Jagdish was unwell and had been vomiting. Jagdish told them that the two accused persons had mixed poison in his meal and that they were in an illicit relationship. Thereafter they took Jagdish on a Bolero to Hathgaon Government Hospital at Hathgaon, which referred them to Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur. They reached Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur with the deceased where he died while under treatment.

Proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

28. The accused-appellant Gyanmati in the proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C. stated that her husband had left his house in the morning. He started to vomit after returning home, and his condition deteriorated. She informed her in-laws and her cousin sister; but no one from her in-laws came over. Her nephew Ashok later arrived and the two took her husband to the Hathgaon Hospital. Thereafter they accompanied her husband to Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur where he was admitted for further treatment. The deceased died at Sadar hospital; and his body was kept there. The next day she went to the police station. Co-accused had also reached the police station. His mother sent him to his aunt Gyanmati's house when she learnt of his uncle's condition. He and his aunt took Jagdish to the Hathgaon hospital. Submissions on behalf of the Bar

Submissions on behalf of the appellant

30. Ms. Sheeba Jose, learned counsel assisted by Shri Mohd. Kaleem, learned counsel for the appellant has made the following submissions:

I. The delay in lodgment of F.I.R. is fatal to the prosecution case.

II. P.W.1 and P.W.2 are unreliable witnesses who reached the hospital only after the accused had died.

III. The conduct of the appellant was above board inasmuch as she promptly took her husband to the hospital.

IV. The administration of poison by the appellants to the deceased has not been proved.

V. There was delay in testing the viscera sample. The prosecution failed to establish that the viscera was preserved in safe conditions and was fit for testing at the time it was evaluated.

VI. The F.S.L. report which depicts poison in the Viscera sample is not backed by reasons and hence could not be read in evidence against the appellant.

VII. The doctor conducting the post mortem was never confronted with the FSL report.

VIII. The defence of the appellant taken in the proceedings under Section 313 is credible and supported by the prosecution evidences in the record.

IX. The prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

X. The judgment of the trial is against the weight of evidence and contrary law is liable to be set aside.

VI. The presence of both accused persons at the hospital is established.

VII. The prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

VIII. The judgment of the learned trial court is in conformity and has rightly appreciated the law and is liable to be upheld.

APPRAISAL OF EVIDENCE

32. Heard learned counsels for the parties. The evidence in the record shall be assessed in the following sequence.

Issue arising for consideration

33. The evidence and the issues which arise for consideration will be appraised in he following sequence:

(I) Prosecution case against the appellants

(II) FIR: Delay and Consequences

(III) Reliability and credit of P.W.1 and P.W.2:

(IV) FSL report: Admissibility

(V) Safe preservation of viscera sample: Burden of proof

(VI) Failure to confront the doctor conducting the postmortem with the FSL report: Consequences

(VII) Cause of death

(I) Prosecution case against the appellants:

34. The prosecution case is that the deceased died by poisoning after consuming Aluminium phosphide, and that the poison was administered by the accused persons.

II F.I.R. : Delay

35. The deceased died on 20.07.2013 at about 07:30 P.M. As per the prosecution case, the first informant had reached the site prior to the death of the deceased. The F.I.R. was lodged on 22.07.2013 at 08:45 P.M. According to the first informant, the deceased had told him that he had been poisoned by accused persons. No good cause of the delay in lodgment of the F.I.R. has been shown by the prosecution during the trial. The F.I.R. was registered belatedly and as an afterthought. The delay in lodgment of the F.I.R. will be fatal to the prosecution case in the cumulative view of facts and evidences in the record.

III. Credibility of P.W.1 and P.W.2

A. Hospitalization of the deceased

36. P.W.1 who is the first informant stated that he and his wife reached the house of the deceased prior to his death. According to PW 1 Jagdish had informed them that he had been poisoned by the accused persons. Thereafter, P.W.1 along with others took the deceased to Hathgaon Hospital from where he was referred to Sadar Hospital Fatehpur.

37. However, under cross-examination P.W.1 stated that he learnt about the death of his son at 11 AM in the village from a person who lives in Sithora whose name he could not disclose.

38. Under further cross-examination, PW 1 admitted that he did not go to Hathgaon Hospital. P.W.1 also stated that he reached Sadar Hospital along with Pradhan Durga Prasad, Gaya Prasad, Surendra Ahir and Ram Narayan Ahir. No one else accompanied them to Sadar Hospital. They reached Sadar Hospital two hours before sunset. His son died half and hour after they had reached the hospital. The said statement contradicts the earlier version of P.W.1 that he had reached the house of the deceased and then took the latter to hospital.

39. PW 2 stated that they reached Sithaura at 12 PM. They found that Jagdish was vomiting. Jagdish told them that he had been poisoned by the accused persons who were in an illicit relationship. According to P.W.2 they had taken Jagdish on a Bolero to Hathgaon Govt. Hospital. The doctor at Hathgaon Hospital upon examining the deceased said that he had consumed a poisonous substance and referred him to Sadar Hospital Fatehpur.

40. Under cross-examination, P.W.2 stated that when he reached Sithora, he saw both the accused persons Ashok and Sangathiya. However, the aforesaid people did not accompany them to the hospital at Hathgaon. P.W. 2 deposed that his party left Hathgaon Hospital within half an hour at about 2 PM and they reached Sadar Hospital/District Hospital, Fatehpur at 4.00-4.30 PM. The deceased died at Sadar Hospital/District Hospital, Fatehpur within half an hour to 45 minutes.

41. The deposition of PW 2 regarding hospitalisation of the deceased at Hathgaon Hospital contradicts the testimony of PW 1 on material aspects. The said inconsistencies in the testimonies of PW 1 and PW 2 impeaches the reliability of the prosecution case.

42. The medical report marked as Ex. Ka-4 records that deceased was brought to the District Hospital Fatehpur at about 6.25 PM by his wife Gyanmati alias Sangathiya. Further the post mortem report also contains recitals to the effect that the deceased was admitted at District Hospital, Fatehpur at 6.25 PM.

43. The deposition of P.W.4 affirms the contents of Ex. Ka-4. Document pertaining to hospitalization of the deceased which is marked as Ex. Ka-4 was drawn up by government doctors in the discharge of official duties. There is a presumption of correctness in favour of the aforesaid document. The said presumption was reinforced after the document was proved and its contents reiterated by P.W. 4. There was no challenge to the same.

44. Exh. Ka 4 and P.W. 4 contradict the testimonies of P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 that they had brought the deceased to the hospital. In this wake, the depositions of P.W.1 and P.W.2 regarding the hospitalization of deceased are found to be entirely false and are accordingly discarded.

B. Veracity of P.W.1 and P.W.2 regarding the deceased informing the P.W.1-his wife and P.W.2 about poisoning by the accused persons and motive of accused persons.

45. P.W.1 in his testimony before the trial court has stated that he left for Sithaura after he was informed about the death of the deceased. In these circumstances the testimony of P.W.1 that the deceased informed him and others about the fact of his poisoning by accused persons is evidently false.

46. On the other hand, PW 2 has stated that deceased had informed them of being poisoned by accused and about the illicit relations between the two, when they reached Sithaura at 12:00 pm.

47. The illicit relationship between the accused persons as the motive was introduced by PW 1 and PW 2 as an afterthought. Save the bald statements regarding the extra relationship there is no evidence regarding the same. The statements of PW 1 and PW 2 in regard to the extra marital affair between the two accused also do not inspire confidence and are disbelieved. The motive of the accused -appellant to commit the offence has not been established.

48. There are material inconsistencies on critical issues in the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 which self destruct the prosecution case. The credit of P.W.1 and P.W.2 was impeached and they are held to be unreliable witnesses insofar as they state that the deceased had informed them of poisoning by the accused persons before his death, and that they had taken the deceased to the hospital are liable to be entirely disbelieved.

IV. FSL Report

A. FSL Report : Admissibility and Reliability

49. The mainstay of the prosecution case is the FSL report dated 18.09.2014/Exh Ka-14 which records the presence of Aluminium Phosphide in the viscera sample. The FSL report is in the nature of expert evidence. The presence of Government scientific expert who has drawn up the report to prove the report is exempted with under Section 293 CrPC. The provision is extracted hereunder:

"S.293 (1) Any document purporting to be a report under the hand of a Government scientific expert to whom this section applies, upon any matter or thing duly submitted to him for examination or analysis and report in the course of any proceeding under this Code, may be used as evidence in any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code.

(2). The Court may, if it thinks fit, summon and examine any such expert as to the subject-matter of his report.

(3). Where any such expert is summoned by a Court and he is unable to attend personally, he may unless the Court has expressly directed him to appear personally, depute any responsible officer working with him to attend the Court, if such officer is conversant with the facts of the case and can satisfactorily depose in Court on his behalf.

(4). This section applies to the following Government scientific experts, namely;

(a). any Chemical Examiner or Assistant Chemical Examiner to Government;

(b). the Chief Inspector of Explosives; the Director of the Finger Print Bureau;

(c). the Director, Haffkeine Institute, Bombay;

(d). the Director or Deputy Director or Assistant Director of a Central Forensic Science Laboratory or a State forensic Science Laboratory;

(e). the Serologist to the Government. any other Government scientific Expert specified by notification by the Central Government for this purpose."

50. It is undisputed that the FSL, Lucknow which had drawn up the said report comes within the ambit of Section 293 CrPC. Hence no expert was required to prove the aforesaid report. The said report was accordingly marked as Exhibit Ka-14 without having been proved by the expert who had drawn the report.

51. Expert reports are made admissible under Section 45 of the Evidence Act. The provision is extracted hereunder:

"45. Opinions of experts. When the Court has to form an opinion upon a point of foreign law, or of science, or art, or as to identity of handwriting or finger impressions, the opinions upon that point of persons specially skilled in such foreign law, science or art, or in questions as to identity of handwriting or finger impressions are relevant facts.

Such persons are called experts.

Illustrations

(a) The question is, whether the death of A was caused by poison.

The opinions of experts as to the symptoms produced by the poison by which A is supposed to have died, are relevant.

(b) The question is, whether A, at the time of doing a certain act, was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing the nature of the act, or that he was doing what was either wrong or contrary to law.

The opinions of experts upon the question whether the symptoms exhibited by A commonly show unsoundness of mind, and whether such unsoundness of mind usually renders persons incapable of knowing the nature of the acts which they do, or of knowing that what they do is either wrong or contrary to law, are relevant.

(c) The question is, whether a certain document was written by A. Another document is produced which is proved or admitted to have been written by A.

The opinions of experts on the question whether the two documents were written by the same person or by different persons, are relevant."

52. Cases in point consistently hold that the sole purpose of an expert report is to assist the Court to form an opinion in a field which belongs to the domain of experts. After the expert report is upheld by a Court, the same becomes the report and the opinion of the Court. The tests of admissibility of an expert report point are as under:

(A) The credibility and the standing of the expert in the field.

(B) The reasons on which the expert raises his conclusions. (C) Conclusions

53. The opinion of the expert which is bereft of reasons or does not disclose the basic scientific criteria which has guided the expert to reach the conclusion is of no avail. The purpose of reasons in an expert report is not far to seek. The reasons stated by the expert in support of the conclusions will enable the Court to independently test the correctness of such opinion. For that purpose the Court may also rely on established authorities and protocols in the concerned field and examine the expert report in the perspective offered in such literature. In absence of reasons the Court will not be able to independently come to the conclusion regarding the correctness or otherwise of the experts opinion.

54. The observations made above are supported by long standing authorities in point. The Supreme Court in Madan Gopal Kakkar Vs. Naval Dubey: 1992 (3) SCC 204 while examining the scope and admissibility of a medical expert report held as under:

"34. A medical witness called in as an expert to assist the Court is not a witness of fact and the evidence given by the medical officer is really of an advisory character given on the basis of the symptoms found on examination. The expert witness is expected to put before the Court all materials inclusive of the data which induced him to come to the conclusion and enlighten the Court on the technical aspect of the case by explaining the terms of science so that the Court although, not an expert may form its own judgment on those materials after giving due regard to the expert's opinion because once the expert's opinion is accepted, it is not the opinion of the medical officer but of the Court."

55. The issue pertaining to expert opinion also arose for consideration before the Supreme Court in Ramesh Chandra Agrawal Vs. Regency Hospital Ltd and Others ((2009) 9 SCC 709). The well established principles of admissibility of expert evidence were reiterated by the Supreme Court in Ramesh Chandra Agrawal(Supra) by holding thus:

"16. The law of evidence is designed to ensure that the court considers only that evidence which will enable it to reach a reliable conclusion. The first and foremost requirement for an expert evidence to be admissible is that it is necessary to hear the expert evidence. The test is that the matter is outside the knowledge and experience of the layperson. Thus, there is a need to hear an expert opinion where there is a medical issue to be settled. The scientific question involved is assumed to be not within the court's knowledge. Thus cases where the science involved, is highly specialised and perhaps even esoteric, the central role of an expert cannot be disputed. The other requirements for the admissibility of expert evidence are: (i) that the expert must be within a recognised field of expertise, (ii) that the evidence must be based on reliable principles, and (iii) that the expert must be qualified in that discipline. (See Errors, Medicine and the Law, Alan Merry and Alexander McCall Smith, 2001 Edn., Cambridge University Press, p. 178.)

19. It is not the province of the expert to act as Judge or Jury. It is stated in Titli v. Alfred Robert Jones [AIR 1934 All 273] that the real function of the expert is to put before the court all the materials, together with reasons which induce him to come to the conclusion, so that the court, although not an expert, may form its own judgment by its own observation of those materials.

20. An expert is not a witness of fact and his evidence is really of an advisory character. The duty of an expert witness is to furnish the Judge with the necessary scientific criteria for testing the accuracy of the conclusions so as to enable the Judge to form his independent judgment by the application of these criteria to the facts proved by the evidence of the case. The scientific opinion evidence, if intelligible, convincing and tested becomes a factor and often an important factor for consideration along with other evidence of the case. The credibility of such a witness depends on the reasons stated in support of his conclusions and the data and material furnished which form the basis of his conclusions. (See Malay Kumar Ganguly v. Dr. Sukumar Mukherjee [(2009) 9 SCC 221 : (2009) 10 Scale 675] , SCC p. 249, para 34.)

Credentials of an expert:

18. The importance of the provision has been explained in State of H.P. v. Jai Lal [(1999) 7 SCC 280 : 1999 SCC (Cri) 1184] . It is held, that, Section 45 of the Evidence Act which makes opinion of experts admissible lays down, that, when the court has to form an opinion upon a point of foreign law, or of science, or art, or as to identity of handwriting or finger impressions, the opinions upon that point of persons specially skilled in such foreign law, science or art, or in questions as to identity of handwriting, or finger impressions are relevant facts. Therefore, in order to bring the evidence of a witness as that of an expert it has to be shown that he has made a special study of the subject or acquired a special experience therein or in other words that he is skilled and has adequate knowledge of the subject.

21. In State of Maharashtra v. Damu [(2000) 6 SCC 269 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 1088 : AIR 2000 SC 1691], it has been laid down that without examining the expert as a witness in court, no reliance can be placed on an opinion alone. In this regard, it has been observed in State (Delhi Admn.) v. Pali Ram [(1979) 2 SCC 158 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 389 : AIR 1979 SC 14] that no expert would claim today that he could be absolutely sure that his opinion was correct, expert depends to a great extent upon the materials put before him and the nature of question put to him"."

56. In the case at hand, the expert report submitted by the FSL dated 18.09.2014/Exh Ka-14 simply records the ipse dixit or its conclusion that the Aluminium Phosphide was present in the viscera sample. The report does not disclose any data, tests conducted, scientific criteria or materials which guided the expert to record the aforesaid conclusion. The FSL report dated 18.09.2014/Exh Ka-14 is in the teeth of the law laid down in Ramesh Chandra Agrawal (supra) and Madan Gopal Kakkar (supra). In absence of such relevant data, the expert report is inadmissible in evidence, and the opinion rendered therein is discarded.

IV B. FSL Report- Possibility of consumption of Aluminium Phosphide:

57. The veracity of the prosecution case regarding partaking of milk and food served by the accused person which contained Aluminium Phosphide will now be determined.

58. The attributes of Aluminium Phosphide and the possibility of its voluntary consumption have to be examined in the light of various scientific authorities in point. For the aforesaid purpose, the Court had summoned scientific experts to assist in the determination of the chemical and other attributes of Aluminium Phosphide.

Credentials of the Expert before the Court

62. Dr. Sapna Sharma also cited Forensic Medicine and Toxicology for Police Investigation by Dr. SN Tiwari as a respected work in the field. Relevant parts of the same are extracted hereunder :

"Metal phosphides of Aluminium, Zinc, magnesium and calcium are highly effective insecticides and rodenticides. Aluminium phosphide is abailable as Alphos. Celphos and quick phos in the form of 3 gm tablets or of 0.6 gm pellets of grayish to dark brown in colour and composed of aluminium phosphide (ALP) and aluminium carbonate in the ratio of 56:44. Celphos is frequently used as a grain preservative in stores and during transportation. It is highly poisonous and its effects are due to the liberation of phosphine (PH_3) gas which is toxic to pests, insects and rodents. Its easy availability has led to an epidemic of deaths due to sucides, and accidental ingestion. Many cases even of homicide have been reported in British Journal Lancet, 1988, I : (2598) : 1333, that the number of deaths by ALP. So far exceeded the number of deaths in the Bhopal Gas Tragedy. In fact, it is the most common cause of poisoning in sub urban and rural parts of Northern India.

Exposure to phosphine gas generally occurs by way of accidental or suicidal ingestion. Dermal absorption of aluminium phosphide is rare but it may be absorbed through the lacerated and injured skin causing toxicity. Following the injection of aluminium phosphide, phosphine gas is liberated which is absorbed throughout the gastro intestinal tract, reaches the blood stream, apart of it goes to the liver by portal vein. It is also rapidly absorbed through lungs. Most of the phosphine is excreted unchanged in expired air. while the residue quantity is oxidized to phosphite and hypo-phosphite ions which are excreted in urine [P. Wexler. second ed., Encyclopedia of toxicol- ogy. Vol I and 2. Academic Press, 2005]. Small amounts of zinc phosphide reach liver and kidneys after ingestion and hydrolyse slowly in the tissues to phosphine and zinc salts. It also gets distributed to the brain. [S. Saleki. F.A. Ardslan. A. Javidan-Negad., Liver Histopathology of fatal phosphine poisoning. Forensic sci. Int., 166 (2007). 190 - 193].

Properties of commonly available metal phosphides along with the physical forms and lethal doze (LD 50) of [aluminium ALP- yellow or dark grey crystals; 20 mg/kg); Magnesium Mg_3P_2 - yellow-green crystals; 10.4 mg/kg: Calcium - Ca_3P_2 - Red brown crystalline powder or gray lumps - 8.7 mg/kg and of Zinc - Zn_3P_2 Gray tetragpma; crusta;s grau n;acl [pwder; 4-5 g (toxic dose)] as reported by G.S. Bumbrah etal phosphide poisoning: A review in forensic sci Int. 214/2012).

After ingestion of aluminium phosphide, phosphine gas having garlicky or decaying fish odour is released by the action of dilute hydrochloric acid (gastric juice) content of the stomach. The gas phosphine acts as the respiratory poison. Even 20:100,000 parts of phosphine in air is reported to be fatal. [W. Popp et.al, phosphine poisoning in a German office, Lancet, 359, (2002): 1574] Phosphine is excreted through breath and urine. Phosphine causes wide spread organ damage due to cellular hypoxia as a consequence of non-competitive inhibition of the enzyme cytochrome oxidose of the mitochondria.

The exposure limits of phosphine gas have been defined as:

* Permissible exposure limit (PET): 0.3 ppm ans an 8 hour shift.
* Short term exposure limit (STEEL): 1 ppm.
* Immediately dangerous to life and health: 200 ppm.
* Lethal in 30 min: 400 - 600 ppm.

[A. wahals, M.S Zaheer, S. wahab, R.A Khan. Acute aluminium phosphide poisoning: Hongkong Journal of Emergency Medicine: Vol., 15(3), July: 2008].

Clinical Signs and Symptoms

The symptoms depend on the route of administration. Poisoning by inhalation produces nausea, restlessness abdominal pain, palpitation, pulmonary edema, cyanoses, hypotension, shock and cardiac arrhythemia, diarrhoea, tremors, convulsions, delirium, coma and death from respiratory and cardiac arrest.

Nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain are the earliest symptoms that appear after ingestion. Gastro intestinal symptoms which present in moderate to severe poisoning are excessive thirst, abdominal pain and epigastric tenderness while cardiovascular abnormalities seen are profound hypotension.

Nervous system main manifestations include headache, dizziness, altered mental status, convulsions and coma. Some rare findings in aluminium phosphide poisoning are muscular weakness, wasting tenderness in proximal lower limb muscles, bleeding diathesis due to capillary damage, acute adrenocortical insufficiency and pseudo-shock syndrome due to impaired fluid distribution which results in micro-circulatory failure.

Detection of Phosphine in poisoning cases

1. Viscevial tissues or fluid either self or after addition of 2 ml of dilute hydrochloric acid emit a garlicky or fishy putrid characteristic odour of phosphine gas Limit of sensitivity: 0.1 to 5.0 ppm.

2. Gutzeit Test:- Small quantity of tissues (10g) or 10 ml of body fluids (stomach contents) are taken in a gutzeit apparatus. Two pellets of pure zinc metal are added over the contents followed by 5 ml of dilute sulphuric acid. The evolved gas is purified by passing over lead acetate papers (to absorb sulphide gas) and passed through silver nitrate impregnated papers. A black stain indicates the presence of phosphine gas due to the formation of silver-phosphide.

3. Ammonium Molybdate method

[Manual of Analytical Toxicology - S.N. Tewari, BP.R & D. Publication, Govt. of Indi. New Delhi 1976. pp 59-60]

Minced tissues (10g) or other biological material suspected to contain phosphine or phosphides are taken into a steam distillation flask mixed with an equal amount of water and then acidified with dilute sulphuric acid followed by steam distillation. The distillate is collected in an ice cold receiver containing 5 ml of 1% silver nitrate solution by dipping the adopter into the silver nitrate solution. In the presence of phosphide, the silver nitrate solution turns black forming silver phosphide precipitate. To this black precipitated material is added 5ml of concentrated nitric acid and boiled till the solution becomes practically colourless. Add 5ml of ammonium molybdate solution and heat for one minute. Appearance of canary yellow precipitate confirms the presence of phosphine (phosphide).

"Autopsy tissues examination - findings

"Post mortem examination in cases of suspected aluminium phosphide poisoning reveal a distinct garlic odour from mouth and close to the body. Face shows a lividity with distinct bluish - colouration and blood mixed with froth from and around nostrils. Internal examination reaveals froth in trachia and ademators lungs with haemorrhages in the interlobular areas and at the Treatment

"To reduce the absorption of phosphine, gastric lavage with potassium per manganate (1:10,000) is done to oxidize phosphine to form non-toxic phosphate. This is followed by a slurry of activated charcoal (1 gm charcoal per kg body weight) given through mesogastric tube. Metabolic acidoses must be treated by administrating sodium becarbonate and shock should be treated with appropriate vasopressors. Milk, fat and saline emetics should not be given orally.

No known specific antidote is however, available for metal phosphide poisoning.

"The average time interval between intake of poison and death is 3 hours with a range of 1 □ 48 hours. 95% of the patients die within 24 hours and the commonest cause of death in this group is arrhythmia (any disturbance in the rhythm of the heart beat). Death after 24 hours is due to shock acedosis. ARDS (acute respiratory distress syndrome and arrhythmia. The mortality rate is highly variable, ranging from 37% - 100% and can reach more than 60% even in experienced and well equipped centres.

Lungs, trachia, myocardium, gastric mucosa, kidneys, liver, spleen and brain are congested. Infact almost all the vital organs become clogged in cases of alumunium phosphide poisoning. Heart is fall of dark blood. Tongue, Mouth and Esophagus are adematous and corroded. The mucous membrane of stomach is reudered corrugated, loosened or hardened and enflamed along with intestines. 63. Extracts from "Essentials of Forensic Medicine & Toxicology" by Dr K.S Narayan Reddy on Aluminium Phosphide including its symptoms. Method of chemical tests are extracted hereunder:

"Aluminum phosphide (ALP) is a solid fumigant pesticide, insecticide androdenticide. In India it is available as white tablets of Celphos, Alphos, Quickphos, Phostoxin, Phosphotex, etc., each weighing 3 g. and has the capacity to liberate one gram of phosphine (PH_3). On coming in contact with moisture ALP liberates phosphine. Phosphine is a systemic poison and affects all organs of the body. The chemical reaction is accelerated by the presence of HCL in the stomach. ALP has garlicky odour. It is widely used as grain preservative. Phosphite and hypophosphite of aluminium which are non-toxic residues are left in the grains.

Absorption and Excretion: Phosphine is rapidly absorbed from the GI tract by simple diffusion and causes damage to the internal organs. It is also rapidly absorbed from the lungs after inhalation. After ingestion, some ALP is also absorbed and is metabolised in the liver, where phosphine is slowly released accounting for the prolongation of symptoms. Phosphine is oxidised slowly to oxyacids and excreted in the urine as hypophosphite. It is also excreted in unchanged form through the lungs.

Action: Phosphine inhibits respiratory chain enzymes and has cytotoxic action. It acts by inhibiting the electron transport resulting from preferential inhibition of cytochrome oxidase.

Fatal Dose: 1 tablet.

Fatal Period: One hour to four days. Majority die within 24 hours. Inhalation of phosphine at a concentration of 400 to 600 ppm is fatal within one hour.

Signs and Symptoms: They depend on the dose and severity of poisoning.

Inhalation: Mild inhalation exposure produces irritation of mucous membranes and acute respiratory distress. Other symptoms are dizziness, easy fatigue, tightness in the chest, nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea and headache. Moderate toxicity produces ataxia, numbness, paraesthesia, tremors, diplopia, jaundice, muscular weakness, incoordination and paralysis. Concentration of PH_3 in air higher than 0.3 ppm cause severe illness. Severe toxicity produces adult respiratory distress syndrome, cardiac arrhythmias, congestive heart failure, pulmonary oedema, convulsions, and coma.

Ingestion: Mild intoxication produces nausea, vomiting, headache and abdominal pain, and the patients usually recover.

In moderate and severe poisoning, systemic manifestations are early and progressive and mostly fatal. G.I.T.: Nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, retrosternal pain. C.V.S.: Hypotension, shock, arrhythmias, myocarditis, pericarditis, acute congestive heart failure. R.S. : Cough, dyspnoea, cyanosis, pulmonary oedema, respiratory failure. Hepatic : Jaundice, hepatitis, hepatomegaly. Renal: Renal failure. C.N.S. : Headache, dizziness, altered mental state, restlessness, convulsions, acute hypoxic encephalopathy, coma. Rare : Muscle wasting and tenderness and bleeding diathesis, due to widespread capillary damage. Cardiogenic shock is the most common cause of death. Complications include pericarditis, actue congestive cardiac failure acute massive gastrointestinal bleeding and ARDS. Mortality is high 35 to 100%.

Post-mortem Appearances : Garlic-like odour is present at the mouth and nostrils and in the gastric contents. Blood-stained froth is found in the mouth and nostrils. Mucous membrane of the lower part of oesophagus, stomach and duodenum are congested. Decreasing congestion of the G.I. tract is seen in the small intestine. The lungs, liver, spleen, kidneys, adrenals and brain are congested. Centrizonal haemorrhagic necrosis of the liver may be seen.

Histopathology : (1) Stomach : Congestion, oedema, leucocytic infiltration, sloughing of gastric mucosa. (2) Lungs : Congestion, oedema, desquamation of respiratory epithelium, thickened alveoli, lymphocytic infiltration. Kidneys : Congestion, necrosis, tubular degeneration and regeneration. Adrenals : Congestion, haemorrhage, necrosis, area of lipid depletion in cortex. Heart : Congestion, oedema, fragmentation of fibres, focal necrosis, leucocytic infiltration. Brain : Congestion, oedema.

Chemical Test: 5 ml. of gastric aspirate and 15 ml. of water are put in a flask and the mouth is covered with a filter paper impregnated with silver nitrate (0.1N). The flask is heated at 50 C for 15 to 20 minutes. If phosphine is present, the filter paper truns black. (2) A piece of filter paper impregnated with 0.1 N silver nitrate solution is used in the form of a mask through which the patient breathes for 5 to 10 minutes. The filter paper turns black, if phosphine is present. (3) The filter paper impregnated with $AgNO_3$ (0.1N) is used in the form of face mask and the patient is asked to breathe in and out of this filter paper for 15 to 20 minutes. Presence of PH_3 is indicated by the blackening of filter paper. In breath, the test is positive only in patients who have ingested more than six gm. of ALP.

Treatment: (1) Gastric lavage with potassium permanganate is done and repeated 2 or 3 times to oxidise the poison. (2) Give activated charcoal 100 g. orally to adsorb phosphine. (3) Antacids reduce symptoms pertaining to the stomach and reduce absorption of phosphine. (4) Liquid paraffin is given for excretion of ALP and phosphine from the gut. (5) There is no specific antidote. (6) Magnesium sulphate reduces organ toxicity, corrects hypomagnesaemia and arrhythmias. The usual dose is one g. repeated for the next two hours, and then 1 to 1.5 g. every 6 hours for 5 to 7 days in the form of continuous i.v. infusion. (7) To treat shock 4 to 6 litres of fluids are to be administered during the first 3 to 6 hours; of this 50% must be normal saline. (8) Low dose dopamine infusion, 4 to 6 microgram/kg/min is useful (9) I.V. hydrocortisone, 400 mg. every 4 to 6 hours is highly effective. It reduces the dose of dopamine. (10) Hypoxia is treated with oxygen. (11) Shock should be treated with fluids and hydrocortisone. (12) Metabolic acidosis should be corrected with i.v. sodium carbonate. Peritoneal or haemodialysis is useful.

Poisoning is usually suicidal, occasionally accidental and rarely homicidal.

64. It is evident that the tests for determining the presence of Aluminium Phosphide as cited in the aforesaid authorities are not depicted in the FSL Report/Exh Ka 14. Further, a notable characteristic of the poison as opined in "Essentials of Forensic Medicine & Toxicology" by Dr. KS Narayan Reddy is that death by consumption of Aluminium Phosphide is mostly suicidal. Consumption of Aluminium Phosphide by accident is a remote possibility in view of the pungent nature of the substance.

65. The discussion also has the benefit of good judicial authorities in point.

66. While discussing the nature of aluminium phosphide the Supreme Court in Jaipal vs. State of Haryana reported at 2003 1 SCC 169 held as under:

"18. Our attention was invited, as was done in the High Court and the trial court, to a paper entitled "Toxicology Acute Aluminium Phosphide Poisoning in Northern India written by Dr Mitra Basu and Prof. S.B. Siwach, Head, Department of Medicine, Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Rohtak and published in Current Medical Journal, Vol. I, No. 5, July 1995. The authenticity of this article has not been doubted by the High Court nor questioned either in the High Court or in this Court. The learned authors have noticed the aluminium phosphide having emerged as a major health problem in northern India when these cases first started coming in 1984 and hardly any literature being available earlier on this malady. In Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Rohtak about 2000 cases were reported which were all suicidal.

19. We may briefly sum up the opinion of the learned authors from their published paper. Phosphine gas (active ingredient of ALP) causes sudden cardiovascular collapse; most patients die of shock, cardiac arrhythmia, acidosis and adult respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS). Aluminium phosphide is available in the form of chalky-white tablets. When these tablets are taken out of the sealed container, they come in contact with atmospheric moisture and the chemical reaction takes place liberating Phosphine gas (PH3) which is the active ingredient of ALP. This gas is highly toxic and effectively kills all insects and thus preserves the stored grains. When these tablets are swallowed, the chemical reaction is accelerated by the presence of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and within minutes phosphine gas dissipates and spreads into the whole body. The gas is highly toxic and damages almost every organ but maximal damage is caused to heart and lungs. Sudden cardiovascular collapse is the hallmark of acute poisoning. Patients come with fast, thready or impalpable arterial pulses, unrecordable or low blood pressure and icy-cold skin. Somehow these patients remain conscious till the end and continue to pass urine despite unrecordable blood pressure. Vomiting is a prominent feature associated with epigastric burning sensation. The patients will be smelling foul (garlic-like) from their breath and vomitus. Many of them will die within a few hours. Those who survive for some time will show elevated jugular venous pressure, may develop tender hepatomegaly and still later adult respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS), renal shutdown and in a very few cases, toxic hepatic jaundice. The active ingredient of ALP is phosphine gas which causes extensive tissue damage. A spot clinical diagnosis is possible in majority of cases of ALP poisoning. However, ALP on account of its very pungent smell (which can drive out all inmates from the house if left open) cannot be taken accidentally.

67. The aforesaid holding in Jaipal as regards aluminium phosphide was reiterated in Darshan Singh vs. State of Punjab reported at 2024 (3) SCC 164.

68. The post mortem report records that the body of the deceased did not bear any marks of physical injuries. There is merit in submission on behalf of the appellants that the aluminium phosphide was not administered forcibly. Further in view of above stated authorities there is little likelihood of the same being consumed accidentally. The aforesaid fact gravely dents the prosecution case .

V. Confrontation of the Doctor with FSL

69. The doctor who had conducted the postmortem was never confronted with the F.S.L. report which opines that the Viscera sample contained Aluminium Phosphide. It was incumbent upon the prosecution to confront PW-4 with the F.S.L. report/Exh Ka-14 and verify whether symptoms or effects of poisoning by Aluminium Phosphide were present in the body or not and whether the same were reflected in the Post Mortem report.

70. In the facts and circumstances of this case the Viscera report cannot be treated as conclusive evidence of poisoning by aluminium phosphide. The reliability of FSL report depicting poison is strengthened after the doctor who conducted the post mortem is confronted with the same. During the aforesaid confrontation the doctor will be alerted to the findings in the post mortem report in light of the FSL report. Responses of the doctor will be elicited on whether the post mortem report independently corroborates the opinion of poisoning in the FSL report.

71. P.W.4 has only mentioned in general terms that there was a possibility of the deceased having been poisoned.

VI. Cause of Death

72. The postmortem report opines that the cause of death could not be ascertained. P.W. 4 in his testimony also stated that no conclusion on the cause of death could be derived after the postmortem. The FSL report has been found to be inadmissible in evidence and has been discarded. P.W. 4 was never confronted with the FSL report. Moreover P.W. 4 under cross-examination has testified that there were symptoms of food poisoning. Prosecution evidence with regard to cause of death lacks certainty and is unreliable. The prosecution has failed to establish the cause of death of the deceased by poisoning.

VII. Burden of prosecution regarding safe keeping of viscera sample 73. Viscera sample was preserved at the time of the post mortem on 21.07.2013, and the said Viscera sample was received by the F.S.L. on 16.08.2013. The viscera sample was examined at the FSL on 18.09.2014. There is no evidence in the record regarding the manner of preservation of the aforesaid sample after it was drawn at the time of post mortem. Evidence in the record does not disclose as to whether the Viscera sample was kept under controlled lab conditions so as to render it fit for examination at a later date by the F.S.L.

74. Furthermore, even the F.S.L. report does not disclose the state of the sample at the time of receipt. The lab conditions in which the sample were kept in the F.S.L. are also absent in the prosecution evidence. This fact assumes significance since the Viscera sample was examined after more than one year after it was receipt. The possibility of degradation of viscera sample during this long gap so as to render it unfit for laboratory testing/evaluation is a real one.

75. The F.S.L. was under an obligation of law to record the state of sample at the time of receipt and its fitness for purposes of testing. The laboratory conditions which are conducive for safety and fitness of the sample for future testing should have been certified by the F.S.L. expert. Inappropriate conditions which are unsafe for the viscera sample may render it unfit for future testing.

76. The burden is on the prosecution to prove that storage conditions were safe and appropriate for preservation of the viscera sample for future testing. The prosecution has failed to discharge the said burden. In these circumstances, it cannot be held that the sample was kept in safe and proper lab conditions which were conducive to protecting the sample for the purposes of lab testing at a later date.

VI. Defence 313 Cr.P.C.: Credibility

77. The accused when alerted to the incriminating circumstances in proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C. gave satisfactory responses. The accused persons have successfully established that they had rushed the deceased to the hospital and ensured that prompt medical attention was given to him. These facts have been corroborated in the prosecution evidence. Further contrary statements made by the PW 1 and PW 2 have already been disbelieved.

Judgement of the trial court

78. The learned trial court erred in law by believing the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 who were in fact unreliable witnesses. The trial court also acted contrary to law by relying on the FSL report which as seen earlier was inadmissible in evidence. The learned also neglected to consider the responses of the accused in the proceedings under section 313 CrPC in proper perspective.

79. The judgment rendered by the learned trial court is perverse and contrary to the evidences in the record. The impugned judgment is in teeth of established principles of criminal law. The impugned order dated 27.06.2016 in Sessions Trial No. 547 of 2013 (State Vs. Ashok Kumar and Another) is liable to be set aside and is set aside.

Conclusions:

80. In the wake of the preceding discussion this Court finds that the prosecution has failed to prove the charges under Sections 328/34 IPC and 302/34 I.P.C. against the appellants, namely, Gyanmati @ Sangathiya and Ashok Kumar @ Putti Lal beyond reasonable doubt. The appellants, namely, Gyanmati @ Sangathiya and Ashok Kumar @ Putti Lal are honourably acquitted of the charges which were laid against them by the trial court and which are the subject matter of these appeals.

81. The Criminal Appeals are allowed.

82. The appellants in the respective appeals, namely, Gyanmati @ Sangathiya and Ashok Kumar @ Putti Lal shall be forthwith released from prison and set forth at liberty unless required in any other criminal case.

83. A copy of this judgment translated in Hindi to be served upon the appellant by the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority.

Suggestions:

84. The conduct of investigations and prosecution in the instant case has exposed some of the faultlines in the criminal justice system. Some suggestions are made accordingly to strengthen the process of investigations and conduct of prosecutions and the criminal justice system. The suggestions are as under:

I. Conclusions in the FSL report expert report have to be supported with specific reasons. The reasons include the scientific criteria adopted, laboratory tests, and other material and scientific protocols followed in testing the sample and which form the basis of the conclusions in the FSL/ Expert Report.

II. The credentials/qualifications and experience of the expert who has authored the FSL Report/ expert report will be disclosed in the FSL/expert report.

III. The details of safe preservation of the samples (in the instant case, it was the viscera report) and the fitness of sample for testing shall also be recorded in the expert report.

IV. Strict SOPs for receipt and transfer of samples to be attested by the laboratories/ experts shall be laid down and revealed in the prosecution evidence. The aforesaid procedures shall contain appropriate safeguards against tampering or degradation of the samples.

V. The doctors who have conducted the post mortems shall also be confronted with the findings of the FSL.

VI. The competent authorities including Director General of Police, Directors of Forensic Science Laboratory shall ensure proper training of officials and experts for implementation of the above said safeguards in order to uphold the law and prevent the miscarriage of justice.

Criminal Appeal No. 7189 of 2019

Umesh Yadav ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether conviction for murder under S. 302 IPC can be sustained on the sole testimony of an eye-witness where the evidence contains minor variations, contradictions and omissions, and where there is some difference between the ocular account and the medical evidence, and whether the Trial Court rightly appreciated the evidence and convicted the appellant. (Paras 21-32)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Evidence - Sole eye-witness - Minor contradictions and inconsistencies - Reliability and credibility - Minor variations which do not affect the core of the prosecution case cannot be a ground to reject the evidence - Where the sole eye-witness testified in a very simple and natural language without any exaggeration, embellishment and concoction, and the variations, contradictions and omissions were only minor and trivial, her evidence was found wholly reliable, trustworthy and credible and the conviction was upheld. (Paras 21-27, 30-32)

Evidence - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 134 - Sole testimony of a single witness - Conviction on sole testimony - Quality of evidence and not quantity of evidence is material - There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness where the witness is wholly reliable and the evidence has a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy - Conviction based on the sole testimony of the eye-witness upheld. (Paras 28-30)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Ocular evidence and medical evidence - Difference regarding nature and situs of injuries - Ocular testimony that the accused assaulted the deceased with a knife on the neck remained consistent - Medical evidence showing injury to the lungs and puncture of the left lung causing shock and haemorrhage - Difference held immaterial as the assault with knife and resultant death were established - Recovery of bloodstained knife and human blood detected on the knife further established the guilt - Conviction and sentence affirmed. (Para 31)

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 498A, 304B and S. 302 - Dowry Prohibition Act - S. 3/4 - Charges under Ss. 498A, 304B IPC and S. 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act not established beyond reasonable doubt - Acquittal on those charges by benefit of doubt - Conviction under S. 302 IPC based on cogent and reliable evidence - Criminal appeal dismissed. (Paras 30-33)

Held: The prosecution witness was the sole eye-witness in the case and the entire prosecution case rested on her evidence - the witness testified to the incident in Court in a very simple and natural language without any exaggeration, embellishment and concoction - some minor contradictions, variations and omissions were present in her evidence but those were only minor variation and contradiction that were not material from any point of view - it could not be expected from any witness to tell the happening of the incident in a parrot like language stating word by word, comma by comma and sentence by sentence - when an incident is narrated by the same person to different persons on different occasions, some difference in the mode of narrating the incident is bound to arise and such difference does not militate against the trustworthiness of the narration unless the variations can be held to so abnormal or unnatural as would not occur if the witness would not really witnessed what he was narrating - reliability, trustworthiness and also credibility of any witness could not be doubted and his/her evidence must not be rejected on the basis of only minor contradictions and inconsistencies, exaggeration and embellishment - minor discrepancies on trivial matters, which do not affect the core of the prosecution's case, may not prompt the court to reject the evidence in its entirety - irrelevant details which do not in any way corrode the credibility of a witness cannot be labelled as omissions or contradictions - there is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness where the witness is wholly reliable - it is not the number, the quantity, but the quality that is material and evidence has to be weighed and not counted - the sole witness was wholly reliable, trustworthy and credible which inspires full confidence - there was no variation, contradiction, omission and embellishment of a kind on the basis of which the evidence of the sole eye-witness could be disbelieved and rejected - the fact that the ocular witness stated that knife injuries were inflicted on the neck whereas injuries found on the lungs, including puncture of the left lung, were the cause of death was immaterial - the ocular witness was consistent in her statement that the deceased was assaulted with a knife and it may happen that during assault, the knife hit the lungs of the deceased in place of the neck - recovery of the knife from the place of occurrence and human blood found on the knife further supported the prosecution case - the reasoning and finding of the Trial Court was based on cogent and reliable evidence and in accordance with the settled principle of law - there was no good ground to interfere with the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence - the criminal appeal was devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed and the judgment and order of conviction and sentence deserved to be affirmed. (Delivered by Hon'ble Vinai Kumar Dwivedi, J.)

1. Heard Mr. S.N. Mishra and Mr. Rakesh Yadav, learned counsel for the appellant as well as Mr. Ashutosh Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae, who has been appointed in this case, Mr. Arvind Yadav, learned counsel for the informant and Mr. Anil Kumar Mishra, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the convict, Umesh Yadav, against the judgment and order dated 25.10.2019 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Sant Kabir Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 12 of 2013 (State v. Umesh Yadav) arising out of Case Crime No. 817 of 2012, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC, alternative Section 302 IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Kotwali Khalilabad, District Sant Kabir Nagar.

3. Brief facts of the case as stated in the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, lodged by the informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) are that he is a resident of Dubauli, Police Station Kotwali Khalilabad, District Sant Kabir Nagar. He got his daughter Sarita married with Umesh Yadav, son of Ramagya Yadav, resident of Mohiddipur, Police Station Khalilabad on 28.05.2011 according to Hindu rites and rituals. After marriage, in April, 2012, his daughter had gone to her in-laws. Her husband Umesh Yadav and his other family members, Dinesh and Ram Avtar, both sons of Ramagya, demanded a motorcycle from his daughter. Upon not fulfilling their demand, all of them began to torture his daughter physically and mentally. After living for four months with her in-laws, his daughter came to her parent's home. On 10.10.2012 at about 10:00 A.M., Umesh Yadav came over to his house. At that time, Anita, elder daughter of the informant, was there at home. Umesh Yadav on the pretext of buying a recharge for his mobile sent her out of the house. Taking benefit of this opportunity, when his daughter Sarita was alone in the room, Umesh Yadav with a knife that he had concealed on him, assaulted Sarita on her neck many times. Upon the informant's daughter calling rescue, his elder daughter came over to intervene. Umesh Yadav pushed her and ran away. The assault by the knife that Umesh Yadav committed, led to the informant's daughter Sarita's death.

4. On the basis of the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, as filed by the informant Shyam Sundar (PW-1) at Police Station Kotwali Khalilabad, a first information report, Exhibit Ka-11, was registered at Case Crime No. 817 of 2012, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act against Umesh Yadav (appellant herein), Dinesh and Ram Avtar, all sons of Ramagya, by Constable Sushil Kumar Mishra (PW-6).

5. The investigation of the case was handed over to Circle Officer, Khalilabad, Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8). The Investigating Officer reached the place of occurrence and commenced investigation. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of the informant, Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), and inspected the place of occurrence. He recovered a knife (weapon of murder) from the place of occurrence and prepared a recovery memo of the same, marked Exhibit Ka-3. He also took simple and bloodstained soil from the place of occurrence and prepared a recovery memo, marked Exhibit Ka-4. The panchayatnama of the dead body of the deceased, Sarita, was prepared by Naib Tehsildar, Khalilabad, Rahul Dev Bhatt (PW-3). On the supervision and direction of Rahul Dev Bhatt (PW-3), S.S.I. R.K. Rai prepared the panchayatnama of the dead body of the deceased Sarita, marked Exhibit Ka-2. Along with the panchayatnama, other police papers, such as, letter to C.M.O., Basti; letter to the R.I., Basti; photo lash; police paper no. 13; and sample seal were also prepared as Exhibits Ka-5 to 9, respectively. After the panchayatnama was drawn up, the dead body of the deceased Sarita was entrusted to Constable Ved Prakash Sharma (PW-7), who conveyed the dead body for autopsy. The Investigating Officer Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8) prepared a site plan of the place of occurrence, Exhibit Ka-13. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and after completing all the formalities of investigation, submitted a charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-14, against the appellant, Umesh Yadav, alone, who was deceased Sarita's husband.

6. Dr. Siya Ram Yadav (PW-4) conducted the post mortem examination of the dead body of the deceased Sarita, and prepared the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-10. According to Dr. Siya Ram Yadav (PW-4), following ante mortem injuries were found on the dead body of the deceased :

"(i) Stab wound on the jugular notch 2.5 x 1 x 6 cm in size and opening major blood vessels on left lung punctured.

(ii) Incised wound on the lateral aspect of right arm 3 x 1 x 0.3 cm in size. 6 cm. below right shoulder joint.

(iii) Lacerated wound on the lateral aspect of left arm 2.5 x 1 x muscle deep. 7 cm. below left shoulder joint.

In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of the death of the deceased is shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries.

7. The Investigating Officer submitted a charge-sheet against the appellant, Umesh Yadav, in the Court of the concerned Magistrate having jurisdiction.

8. Since the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Session, hence learned concerned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Session for trial.

9. The charges were framed against the appellant, Umesh Yadav, by learned Trial Court under Sections 498A, 304B IPC on 16.02.2013. Alternative charges under Section 302 IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act were also framed by learned Trial Court on the same day. The appellant denied the charges and claimed trial.

10. In support of its case, the prosecution adduced Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), Anita (PW-2), Banarasi Yadav (PW-5), Smt. Panmati (PW-9) as witnesses of the facts and Rahul Dev Bhatt (PW-3), Dr. Siya Ram Yadav (PW-4), Sushil Kumar Mishra (PW-6), Ved Prakash Sharma (PW-7) and Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8) as formal witnesses. Apart from the above oral evidence, the prosecution also relied on documentary evidence from Exhibits Ka-1 to Ka-15 in support of its case.

11. The evidence of the prosecution witnesses was heard by the Trial Judge. Thereafter, the appellant, Umesh Yadav, was examined by the learned Trial Judge and his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded, where he accepted his marriage to the deceased Sarita. He also accepted the fact that within seven years of marriage, unnatural death of the deceased Sarita occurred at her parent's home. As regards the remaining questions put to him under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant answered these in the negative. He also expressed his ignorance of facts referred to in those questions. He further stated that the police had prepared a false and fabricated document against him. He asserted that he was innocent and had been falsely implicated in the present case. He further stated that he will not adduce any defence evidence.

12. The learned Trial Judge, after hearing the submissions advanced by the prosecution and the defence, held the appellant, Umesh Yadav, guilty of the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC. However, the learned Trial Court acquitted the appellant of the charges under Sections 498A and 304B IPC and Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act by extending to him the benefit of doubt. The appellant was accordingly convicted under Section 302 IPC and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life and to pay a fine of Rs. 20,000/-. In default of payment of the fine, he was further directed to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of one year.

13. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order dated 25.10.2019, the appellant, Umesh Yadav, has preferred this criminal appeal.

14. Learned counsel for the appellant has contended that the deceased, Sarita, died an unnatural death at her parent's home. The presence of the appellant at the house of the informant is highly doubtful. Only Anita (PW-2), elder sister of deceased Sarita, is said to be an eye-witness of the occurrence. There are several major and material contradictions in the evidence of Anita (PW-2), which create a reasonable doubt regarding the veracity and truthfulness of this witness. The other prosecution witnesses, namely, Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), Banarasi Yadav (PW-5), and Smt. Panmati (PW-9), are not eye-witnesses of the incident. They did not witness the occurrence themselves. However, the prosecution attempted to project them as eye-witnesses of the incident. Therefore, the conviction of the appellant could not be upheld on the evidence of the sole eye-witness, Anita (PW-2), particularly when her evidence does not find corroboration from the other evidence on record. It is also submitted that there is no motive assigned by the prosecution to the appellant for commission of the crime. However, the learned Trial Judge has not considered this major and legal point in appreciating the evidence of the prosecution and wrongly held the appellant guilty of commission of this crime. The finding and reasoning of the Trial Court is perverse and without any evidence and also against the settled principles of law. Therefore, the judgment and order of the Trial Court dated 25.10.2019 is liable to be set aside and the criminal appeal deserves to be allowed.

15. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the State and learned counsel for the informant have submitted that it is a case of direct evidence. The deceased Sarita was murdered by her husband Umesh Yadav at her parent's home by causing fatal injuries with a knife to her neck. The deceased, Sarita, died within three years of her marriage to the appellant, Umesh Yadav. In the presence and before the eyes of Anita (PW-2), elder sister of the deceased Sarita, appellant Umesh Yadav has assaulted her with a knife delivering blows to the deceased Sarita's neck and caused her death.

Anita (PW-2) has witnessed the incident with her own eyes. Anita (PW-2) has supported the prosecution case by her testimony. There is no major and material contradictions in her evidence by which her evidence could be doubted and rejected. There is no law of this kind that on the basis of the evidence of the sole witness, an accused cannot be held guilty and convicted. It is a settled principle of the law that conviction can be recorded on the basis of evidence of the sole witness, if his/her evidence inspire confidence and found trustworthy and truthful. The proof of motive by the prosecution is not necessary in a case where eye-witnesses support the prosecution case and role of the appellant Umesh Yadav. Learned A.G.A. for the State and learned counsel for the informant have also contended that Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in the proper perspective and in accordance with law. The finding and reasoning recorded by the learned Trial Court is based on evidence of eye-witness Anita (PW-2), which found support from the prosecution evidence. There is no reason to falsely implicate the appellant, who is a son-in-law of the informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) and brother-in-law of Anita (PW-2). No person would falsely implicate the husband of his daughter or husband of her sister in a heinous crime like murder. There is no illegality and perversity in the impugned judgment and order passed by the Trial Court. Therefore, the criminal appeal is devoid of merits and liable to be dismissed and the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 25.10.2019 is liable to be affirmed.

16. In the light of the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties, we have perused the entire documentary and oral evidence available on the record and also gone through the judgment and order passed by the Trial Court dated 25.10.2019.

17. From a perusal of the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, we find that the informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) has named the appellant as the author of the crime. In the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, Anita has been mentioned as an eye-witness of the occurrence. The F.I.R. has been registered on the same day, that is, on 10.10.2012 at 13:10 hours and occurrence is said to be happened on 10.10.2012 at 10:00 A.M. The informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) is the father-in-law of the appellant, Umesh Yadav. Thus, we find that the appellant, Umesh Yadav, has been named in the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, as the accused responsible for the murder of his wife, the deceased Sarita, in clear-cut words.

18. Upon a perusal of the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, and also the evidence of the informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), it is established fact that at the time of the happening of the occurrence, informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) was not present at the place of occurrence. After the incident, he received information about the murder of his daughter Sarita by her husband Umesh Yadav at Khalilabad. He then came home and saw the dead body of his daughter Sarita. Thereafter, he lodged the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, at the police station nominating Umesh Yadav as the culprit. Thus, it is clear that Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) is not an eye-witness of the incident. However, from a perusal of the statement of Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), this fact is established that Sadhu Sharan had married his daughter Sarita (deceased) on 28.05.2011 with the appellant, Umesh Yadav. In this way, the fact of marriage of Sarita (deceased) with the appellant, Umesh Yadav, is clearly established. Apart from this, the appellant, Umesh Yadav, has also accepted the fact of his marriage with Sarita (deceased). From a perusal of the evidence of Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), it is also revealed that at the time of the incident, Sarita (deceased) was living with her parents at her parent's home. On the date of the incident, the appellant Umesh Yadav had come over to the house of his father-in-law, Sadhu Sharan (PW-1). This witness has stated that Anita (PW-2) saw the appellant, Umesh Yadav, assaulting the deceased, Sarita, with a knife with her own eyes. This witness has clearly accepted that he is not an eye-witness of the incident.

19. From a perusal of the evidence of Banarasi Yadav (PW-5), it is clear that at the time of the incident, this witness was working in his fields. Thus, this witness is also not an eye-witness of the incident. However, the testimony of this witness reveals that when he reached home on hearing the hue and cry, the elder sister of the deceased, Anita (PW-2), told him that Umesh Yadav after assaulting Sarita with a knife had escaped towards the west. According to this witness, he tried to catch the appellant, Umesh Yadav, but was unsuccessful. He returned home and found Sarita dead.

20. The prosecution produced Smt. Panmati (PW-9). This witness is deceased Sarita's mother and wife of informant Sadhu Sharan (PW-1). She is also the mother of Anita (PW-2). The appellant, Umesh Yadav, is her son-in-law because her daughter Sarita was married to the appellant, Umesh Yadav. From a perusal of the evidence of Smt. Panmati (PW-9), it is clear that at the time of the incident, this witness had gone to her fields to harvest fodder for cattle. Thus, this witness is also not an eye-witness of the incident. When this incident happened, she was not present at the place of occurrence. Due to this reason, this witness had not seen the incident with her own eyes. However, from a perusal of the evidence of this witness Smt. Panmati (PW-9), this fact is established that her daughter deceased Sarita was married with the appellant, Umesh Yadav. At the time of the incident, Sarita was staying at her parent's home. On the day of the incident, her son-in-law, Umesh Yadav, had come over to the house of the deceased, Sarita.

21. Thus, from a perusal of the records of the case and evidence as available on the record, we find that the prosecution witness Anita (PW-2) is the sole eye-witness in this case. The entire prosecution case thus rests on the sole evidence of Anita (PW-2). The prosecution adduced Anita (PW-2) as a star witness of the prosecution, who had seen the incident with her own eyes.

22. Upon a perusal of the evidence of Anita (PW-2), we find that this witness has stated that Sarita was my younger sister. Marriage of Sarita was got solemnized with the accused Umesh Yadav by my father after giving sufficient dowry as per his capacity two and a half years ago. She has also stated that this incident happened at 10:00 A.M. On that day, Umesh Yadav had come to my parent's home at 09:30 A.M. At that time, I, my sister Sarita and my mother were there at home. My mother said that I am going to get fodder. You give food to Umesh. Both of us sisters had served him food. Umesh told me to go and get recharge for his mobile. I went to get the recharge behind my house but it was not available. I was returning home. Then I heard Sarita's screams from the house and rushed over and saw that accused Umesh was attacking Sarita with a knife to her neck. I rushed to save her. Umesh pushed me and threw the knife in the house and ran away. This incident happened at 09:30 A.M. At that time, my father had gone to work at the shop of Kashi at Khalilabad. Sarita died on the spot after sustaining knife injuries. I had given information of this incident to my father on phone. My father came home upon this information. I had told all things about the incident to him. Upon this, he went to Khalilabad and gave an application. The police came from Kotwali. Members of the police party had seen the dead body of the deceased. According to this witness, from the place of the occurrence, one knife was also recovered and taken into possession by the police and who sealed it.

23. During the cross-examination, Anita (PW-2) has stated that the incident has not happened in southern room of the verandah. No incident happened in the southern room of the verandah. It happened in the western room. She also stated in her cross-examination that when I had gone to fetch recharge then my sister Sarita was serving food to Umesh. I have stated in my main examination that both of us sisters were serving him food was a true statement. She also stated that the police had recovered that knife before me. I had entered into the room of my sister from the west. Umesh fled through the same door from which I had entered. He had pushed me. When I informed my father, the appellant, Umesh, was assaulting my sister at that time. Before me, he had delivered one knife blow on the neck and he had not delivered other knife blows before me. I had seen knife injury in the right hand of my sister. I had seen three knife injuries in the right hand. I had not seen any injury in the left hand of my sister. The injury which I had seen inflicted was on the neck and not on the chest. She denied the suggestion of the defence that she had illicit relation with husband of her younger sister. She also denied the suggestion that it is wrong to say that I had assaulted Sarita with a knife when she was sleeping.

24. Thus, from a perusal and discussion of the evidence of the sole evidence of Anita (PW-2), we find that this witness has testified to the incident in Court in a very simple and natural language without any exaggeration, embellishment and concoction, although some minor contradictions are present in her evidence. In her evidence, she stated that the occurrence happened at 10:00 A.M. However, in the written report, it has also been stated that the incident happened on 10.10.2012 at about 10:00 A.M. From a perusal of the F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-11, it is revealed that in the written report, Exhibit Ka-1, date and time of the incident is mentioned as 10.10.2012 at 10:00 A.M. Thus, we find no major and material variation about the time when the incident happened in the evidence of Anita (PW-2). We also find that in respect of serving food to the appellant, Umesh Yadav, some difference in the evidence of this witness is present. At some place, this witness has stated that both the sisters had served food to Umesh. Elsewhere, she stated that her sister the deceased Sarita served food to accused Umesh. We do not consider this kind of variation as a major and material contradiction in the evidence of this witness. We are of the considered view that whatever omission, variation and contradiction are present in the evidence of this witness Anita (PW-2) those are only minor variation and contradiction that are not material from any point of view. We also find that this witness has stated that the incident happened in the western room and it has not happened in southern room of the verandah. However, at this point, the Investigating Officer Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8) has stated in his cross-examination that the incident happened in southern room of the verandah. Thus, we find that there is little difference on the point that in which room the incident had happened. According to Anita (PW-2), the incident happened in the western room. However, the Investigating Officer Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8) has stated that the incident happened in southern room of the verandah. It appears that during the course of recording of the evidence and also during the cross-examination, this witness could not clearly remember the room when she was giving her evidence in Court that in which room the incident happened. In other words, when evidence of this witness was being heard in Court and this witness was cross-examined by the defence, she could not exactly remember in the Court room the place of occurrence and the room in which the incident happened. It appears that due to this reason as stated the incident happened in the western room. However, from a perusal of the site plan, Exhibit Ka-13, it is apparent that the incident happened in the southern room of the verandah. The verandah is located and marked as Exhibit Ka-13 in the north side and from the verandah behind south, a room is marked where the incident has happened. In our opinion, this type of minor difference about the direction of the room in which the incident happened is not a major and material contradiction. The prosecution does not stand to benefit on this ground. From an overall perusal and appreciation of the evidence of Anita (PW-2), we find that this witness has testified in a very simple and natural language without any exaggeration, embellishment and concoction. In our opinion, it is also very natural that during the hearing of evidence in Court, some variation is likely to creep in the testimony of any witness. It is also a settled principle of law that it could not be expected from any witness to tell the happening of the incident in a parrot like language stating word by word, comma by comma and sentence by sentence. The Supreme Court in Shyam Sundar v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2002) 8 SCC 39 has held :

"When an incident is narrated by the same person to different persons on different occasions, some difference in the mode of narrating the incident is bound to arise. However, such difference do not militate against the trustworthiness of the narration unless the variations can be held to so abnormal or unnatural as would not occur if the witness would not really witnessed what he was narrating."

25. In the light of the legal principles as enunciated by the Supreme Court in the case of Shyam Sundar (supra), we find that when the incident happened on 10.10.2012, Anita (PW-2) was alone present at the place of occurrence with her sister, the deceased Sarita, and accused-appellant, Umesh. Before Anita (PW-2), the incident happened and the appellant assaulted with a knife on the neck of Sarita. It is immaterial that knife was either carried by the appellant himself or he has taken the same from the place of occurrence. This fact is not material in our considered view. What is material is that the recovery of the knife was made from the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer, Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8), and it was found bloodstained and marked as Exhibit Ka-3. Thus, Anita (PW-2) was the sole witness before whom the incident happened. After happening of the incident, she first of all informed and narrated about the incident to her father Sadhu Sharan (PW-1). When her father came to the place of occurrence from Khalilabad she narrated the whole story to her father Sadhu Sharan (PW-1). Thereafter, she also gave her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to the Investigating Officer, Rajendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8). Lastly, during trial, she has given evidence regarding the incident in the Trial Court. Therefore, Anita (PW-2) had stated on three occasions and also before three persons/authorities about the happening of the incident. In this way, some minor variations and omissions are likely to occur in her evidence. Hence, those minor variation, omission and contradiction are not found to be a major and material contradiction. In our opinion, whatever variations, contradictions, or omissions are present in the evidence of the sole eye-witness, Anita (PW-2), are only minor and trivial omissions/variations that cannot, in any way, create doubt about the truthfulness, credibility, and trustworthiness of her evidence.

26. The Supreme Court in the case of Brahm Swaroop and another v. State of Utttar Pradesh, (2011) 6 SCC 288 on the point of contradictions and inconsistencies, exaggeration and embellishment has held :

"32. It is a settled legal proposition that while appreciating the evidence of a witness, minor discrepancies on trivial matters, which do not affect the core of the prosecution's case, may not prompt the court to reject the evidence in its entirety. Irrelevant details which do not in any way corrode the credibility of a witness cannot be labelled as omissions or contradictions. Difference in some minor details, which does not otherwise affect the core of the prosecution case, even if present, would not itself prompt the court to reject the evidence on minor variations and discrepancies. After exercising care and caution and sifting through the evidence to separate truth from untruth, exaggeration and improvements, the court comes to a conclusion as to whether the residuary evidence is sufficient to convict the accused. Thus, an undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the heart of the matter and shake the basic version of the prosecution witness. As the mental capabilities of a human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statements of witnesses."

27. Therefore, in the light of legal principles as laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Brahm Swaroop and another (supra), it is clear that reliability, trustworthiness and also credibility of any witness could not be doubted and his/her evidence must not be rejected on the basis of only minor contradictions and inconsistencies, exaggeration and embellishment. We have also discussed and observed that Anita (PW-2) is a star witness of the prosecution and she is the only eye-witness of the prosecution before whom the incident had happened. Before this witness Anita (PW-2), the appellant assaulted with a knife on the neck of his wife, deceased Sarita, by which she died instantly on the spot. Hence, the appellant is not entitled to get any benefit on this point.

28. From a perusal of the whole evidence of the prosecution, it is clear that Anita (PW-2) is the sole eye-witness of the incident and the Trial Court has held the appellant Umesh Yadav guilty and convicted him on the basis of her testimony.

29. The Supreme Court in the case of Sunil Kumar v. State Government of NCT of Delhi, (2003) 11 SCC 367 has held :

"As a general rule the court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. But, if there are doubts about the testimony the courts will insist on corroboration. It is for the court to act upon the testimony of witnesses. It is not the number, the quantity, but the quality that is material. The time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. On this principle stands the edifice of Section 134 of the Evidence Act. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, or otherwise."

30. There is no cause or reason shown or brought on record by the defence as to why Anita (PW-2), who is the real elder sister of the deceased Sarita, would falsely implicate the appellant, Umesh Yadav, in a heinous crime like murder. There is also no reason or cause shown by the defence as to why the informant, Sadhu Sharan (PW-1), who is the father-in-law of the appellant, Umesh Yadav, would falsely implicate him in a heinous crime like murder. It is also an admitted fact that the appellant, Umesh Yadav, is the son-in-law of the informant, Sadhu Sharan (PW-1). Sadhu Sharan (PW-1) had married his deceased daughter, Sarita, with the appellant, Umesh Yadav. This incident happened within three years of the marriage of Sarita with the appellant, Umesh

Yadav. Although this incident happened at the parent's home of the deceased, Sarita, the appellant, Umesh Yadav, had come there and assaulted his wife, Sarita, with a knife on her neck, causing her death on the spot. The sole witness Anita (PW-2) has clearly testified to the incident in Court. We find by appreciation and discussion of the evidence of this sole witness Anita (PW-2) that her evidence is wholly reliable, trustworthy and credible which inspires full confidence. The evidence of the sole witness Anita (PW-2) in this case is wholly reliable. There is no variation, contradiction, omission and embellishment of a kind on the basis of which we could disbelieve and reject the evidence of the sole eye-witness Anita (PW-2). Upon a perusal of the finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court, we find that the Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in a proper perspective and in a legal manner. By appreciating the whole evidence of the prosecution, the Trial Court has found that charges in respect of the offences under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act could not be established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt.

31. In view of this fact, the Trial Court has acquitted the appellant, Umesh Yadav, in respect of the charges under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act by giving benefit of doubt. However, the Trial Court after a full discussion of the prosecution evidence found that the appellant, Umesh Yadav, has committed the murder of his wife, the deceased Sarita, by assaulting her with a knife to her neck when she was residing at her parent's home. From a perusal of the evidence of Dr. Siya Ram Yadav (PW-4), it is clear that one stab wound on the jugular notch 2.5 x 1 x 6 cm. in size and opening major blood vessels and left lung was found punctured and second injury incised wound on the lateral aspect of the right arm 3 x 1 x 0.3 cm. in size, 6 cm. below the right shoulder joints. In the opinion of the Dr. Siya Ram Yadav (PW-4), the cause of the death of the deceased was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. It is immaterial that Anita (PW-2) stated that the appellant had inflicted knife injuries on the neck of the deceased Sarita, whereas the injuries found on the lungs, including the puncture of the left lung, were the cause of death of the deceased Sarita. Anita (PW-2) is consistent in her statement that the appellant, Umesh Yadav, assaulted with knife on the neck of the deceased Sarita. It may happen that during assault, the knife hit the lungs of the deceased Sarita in place of the neck. That fact would not be material and relevant. What is material is the statement of Anita (PW-2) that the appellant, Umesh Yadav, assaulted the deceased Sarita with a knife, as a result of which she died on the spot. From the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory, Exhibit Ka-15, it is revealed that in the examination report of the knife, which is at Sl. No. 6, human blood was found. All these facts establish the guilt of the appellant, Umesh Yadav. The reasoning and finding of the Trial Court is based on cogent and reliable evidence. The Trial Court has delivered its finding based on cogent evidence and in accordance with the settled principle of law. We find no good ground to interfere with impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 25.10.2019.

32. Hence, in view of the above discussions, we find that the criminal appeal of the convicted appellant, Umesh Yadav, is devoid of merit and it lacks force. Hence, we are of the view that the criminal appeal is liable to be dismissed and the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 25.10.2019 deserves to be affirmed.

33. In the result, the criminal appeal is dismissed. The impugned judgment and order dated 25.10.2019 passed by the Trial Court is affirmed. The appellant, Umesh Yadav, is in jail. He shall remain in jail to serve out the sentence awarded to him by the Trial Court.

34. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted to the Trial Court along with the Trial Court records forthwith for necessary compliance.

(Paras 14-15)

Held: The opportunity to explain under S. 313 Cr.P.C. to an accused putting all the incriminating circumstances against him, which have come in the evidence of the prosecution, is a valuable right of the accused - in both the contingencies under S. 313(1)(a) and S. 313(1)(b), the Court can put questions to the accused in every enquiry of trial for the purpose of enabling the accused personally to explain every incriminating circumstances appearing in the evidence against him - the contention that this Court can put questions in sub-section (a) of S. 313(1) Cr.P.C. and not under sub-section (b) of S. 313(1) Cr.P.C. under the appellate jurisdiction is misconceived and not tenable and is hereby rejected - while deciding the reference for the capital punishment and the appeals of the convicts/appellants, this Court has power to put questions to the convicts/appellants or to get supplementary statements recorded to avoid failure of justice - the provisions of S. 313 Cr.P.C. are embedded in the power of this Court under S. 367 Cr.P.C. and S. 391 Cr.P.C. and if this power is with this Court, this Court can very well record the supplementary statement of the convicts/appellants or get it recorded from the Session Court in the interest of justice and to avoid failure of justice - the statements recorded by the trial Court were in a generic way and composite form and specifically separate questions had not been framed and put to the convicts/appellants, however, the entire incriminating circumstances available on record against the convicts/appellants, having been put, were well within their knowledge and they had also examined three defence witnesses to controvert the same - the appellate Court has to see that no prejudice is caused to any party from the statement under S. 313 Cr.P.C. and it may not result in failure of justice and the compliance is also to be made not only looking into the accused/convicts but to the victim also - if any irregularity in putting the material circumstance to the accused does not result in failure of justice, it becomes a curable defect - considering the overall facts and circumstances of the case, a supplementary statement putting all incriminating circumstances to the convicts/appellants came specifically against them may be got recorded from the Sessions Judge concerned for just and fair disposal of reference of capital punishment/appeals and other appeals to avoid failure of justice - the Sessions Judge, Pratapgarh was accordingly directed to record the supplementary statement under S. 313 Cr.P.C. of the convicts/appellants putting all incriminating circumstances, which have come in the evidence of the prosecution and material on record, specifically against each of the convicts/appellants, expeditiously, and to transmit the statements along with the original records to this Court. (Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.
Hon'ble Mrs. Babita Rani, J.)

(1) Heard, learned Counsels for the convicts/appellants, Dr. V.K. Singh, learned Government Advocate assisted by Sri Rajdeep Singh, Shri Anurag Srivastava and Shri Ashok Kumar Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State and Sri Avinash Srivastava, learned counsel for the complainant.

(2) These are the two Capital Punishment references and appeals filed by those convicts and the appeals by other convicts, who have been awarded life sentences with other punishment.

(3) This Court had passed the following order on 11.05.2026:-

"1. Heard Sri Naved Ali, learned counsel for the appellants/convicts Rajesh Singh and Naushad @ D.M., who is in mid of his argument.

2. Today, learned counsel for the appellant argued that the statement of the convicts/accused recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is in utter violation of the principles of natural justice as all the incriminating circumstances which ought to have been put to them, were not put and the same was recorded in a very casual manner, therefore, without going into other issues, the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence is liable to be set aside solely on the ground of violation of the principles of natural justice in view of judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Chandan Pasi and Others v. State of Bihar, 2005 SCC OnLine SC 1157 and Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh v. State of U.P. and Another, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 913.

3. In view of above and aforesaid judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh (supra), this Court deems it appropriate to consider to direct to the learned Sessions Judge to record a supplementary statement of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. putting all incriminating circumstances and send to this Court at the earliest.

4. It is pertinent to note that this case was nominated to this Bench by Hon'ble the Chief Justice vide order dated 21.04.2026. Thereafter, the case was listed before this Bench, for the first time on 24.01.2026, and on the same date, on being informed by learned counsel for the appellants that the case has been nominated to this Bench pursuant to an order passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and order passed by a co-ordinate Bench, we commenced hearing of the case from the said date itself and the hearing is going on, on a day-to-day basis, except on one or two occasions, when the case was fixed after one or two days at the request of learned counsel for the parties and the aforesaid issue has been argued by learned counsel for the convicts Rajesh Singh and Naushand @ D.M. for the first time today.

5. At this stage, learned counsel for the aforesaid convicts submits that if this Court is inclined to call for a supplementary statement of the accused/convicts, then he has instructions to press their application for suspension of sentence.

6. In view of above, learned AGA, learned counsel for the complainant as well as learned counsel for the appellants in all the connected appeals are directed to first argue on the aforesaid issue in view of judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh (supra), relied by the learned counsel for the appellants.

7. As prayed by the learned counsel for the parties, put up tomorrow i.e. 12.5.2026.

(4) Learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants submits that mere perusal of the statement of accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (here-in-after referred to as Cr.P.C.) recorded by the trial Court indicates that wrong incriminating circumstances have been put in the shape of question No.1 to the appellants and rest of the questions are generic in nature and have been put in a composite form, whereas all the incriminating circumstances in the evidence of the prosecution should have been put to the appellants specifically and separately in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. to afford proper opportunity to explain. Thus, total failure of non putting all the incriminating circumstances to the convicts/ appellants vitiates the trial itself.

(5) Learned counsels vehemently argued further that it is not a case wherein learned trial Court left over one or two incriminatory circumstances, rather entire statement has been recorded in utmost cavalier and lackadaisical approach, which certainly have prejudiced the interest of appellants and occasioned failure of justice. They further submit that the defect and the illegality committed by the learned trial Court in the instant case is not curable as none of the incriminating circumstances have been put to the appellants, which goes to the root of the case. Lastly, it has been submitted that the sending of appellants to the trial Court only for the purpose of recording of statements and thereafter supplementing it in the present appeal is against very tenets of law and it will also take away right of convicts/appellants for consideration for acquittal under Section 232 Cr.P.C. and defence under Section 233 Cr.P.C. It has also been submitted that the appellate Court can not get a supplementary statement recorded under Section 313(1)(b) Cr.P.C., however, it could have been made under Section 313 (1)(a) Cr.P.C. Thus, it has been submitted by learned counsel for the convicts/ appellants that the appeals are liable to be allowed and references are liable to be rejected only on this ground of violation of the principles of natural justice and providing proper opportunity to convicts/ appellants of being explained the circumstances under Section 313 Cr.P.C., which have been against them in the prosecution evidence. However, if this Court is of the view that the impugned judgment and order could not be set aside on this ground alone, then the references/appeals may be heard and decided on merit.

(6) Learned counsel for the convicts/appellants relies on judgment and order dated 08.07.2024 passed by the Hon ble Supreme Court in the case of Naresh Kumar Vs. State of Delhi; Criminal Appeal No.1751 of 2017, judgment and order dated 27.11.2025 passed by the Hon ble Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Sahu Vs. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand); Raj Kumar @ Suman Vs. State (NCT of Delhi); 2023 (17) SCC 95, Criminal Appeal No.1471 of 2023, Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh and Another; (2025) SCC OnLine SC 913, Chandan Pasi and Others Vs. State of Bihar; (2025) SCC OnLine SC 2599 and Nar Singh Vs. State of Haryana; (2015) 1 SCC 496.

(7) Per contra, learned Government Advocate opposing the submissions of learned counsel for the appellants submits that the statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. have rightly been recorded by the learned trial Court. Even otherwise, once this issue was not raised by appellant at the stage of trial itself, the convicts/appellants cannot be benefitted of this argument at this stage. Further contention is that the convicts/appellants failed to raise this alleged irregularity even before Hon ble Supreme Court, when they approached under Article 32 of the Constitution of India, which is disputed by learned Counsels for the convicts/ appellants, therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the convicts/appellants that the appeals are liable to be allowed on account of violation of the statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is misconceived and not tenable. Even otherwise the submission is that the prejudice is to be shown by the leaned counsel for the convicts/appellants on account of not putting any incriminating circumstances to the convicts/ appellants specifically, which they failed to do. However, the appropriate decision may be taken by this Court. He relies on Fahim Khan Vs. State of Bihar Now Jharkhand; (2011) 13 SCC 142, Satyavir Singh Rathi, Assistant Commissioner of Police and Others Vs. State through Central Bureau of Investigation; (2011) 6 SCC 1, Ghanshyam Mandal and Others Vs. The State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand); 2026 LiveLaw (SC) 201, Fainul Khan Vs. State of Jharkhand and Another; (2019) 9 SCC 549, Nar Singh Vs. State of Haryana; (2015) 1 SCC 496 and Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade and Another Vs. State of Maharashtra; (1973) 2 SCC 793.

(8) Learned counsel for the complainant submits that without commenting on the statements recorded by the learned trial Court under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and reserving his right to argue on it, at this stage, this Court has ample power to get the supplementary statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. for just and equitable disposal of these references and appeals. He relies on Janak Yadav and Others Vs. State of Bihar; (1999) 9 SCC 125, judgment and order dated 20.09.2013 passed by High Court of Delhi at New Delhi in Criminal Appeal No.647 of 2010; N.Dev Dass Singha Vs. State, and judgment and order dated 10.08.2021 passed by High Court of Judicature at Bombay in Criminal Appeal No.1492 of 2011; Mahendra Vasudeo Gawas Vs. The State of Maharashtra.

(9) We have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records including statements of the convicts/appellants recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

(10) It is no more res integra that the opportunity to explain under Section 313 Cr.P.C. to an accused putting all the incriminating circumstances against him, which have come in the evidence of the prosecution, is a valuable right of the accused. Section 313(1) Cr.P.C. provides two contingencies, in which, the statements can be recorded. First, in sub-section (a) of Section 313 (1) Cr.P.C. is that the Court may, at any stage, without previously warning the accused put such questions to him as the Court considers necessary and second in sub-section (b) of Section 313(1) Cr.P.C. that the Court shall after the witnesses for the prosecution have been examined and before he is called on for his defence question him generally on the case. In both the aforesaid contingencies, the Court can put questions to the accused in every enquiry of trial for the purpose of enabling the accused personally to explain every incriminating circumstances appearing in the evidence against him. Thus, the questions are to be put in both the contingencies in regard to the circumstances appearing in the evidence, which may be at any stage i.e. either during the evidence of the prosecution witness or on the conclusion of the prosecution witnesses. Thus, the contention of learned counsel for the convicts/appellants that this Court can put questions in sub-section (a) of section 313 (1) Cr.P.C. and not under sub-section (b) of section 313(1) Cr.P.C. under the appellate jurisdiction is misconceived and not tenable and is hereby rejected.

(11) In view of above and as emerged from the arguments of learned Counsel for the parties, this Court, while deciding the reference for the capital punishment and the appeals of the convicts/ appellants, has power to put questions to the convicts/ appellants or to get supplementary statements recorded to avoid failure of justice.

(12) It can also not be disputed in the light of statutory provisions regarding power of appellate Court while deciding the reference for capital punishment under Section 367 Cr.P.C. and the appeal under Section 391 Cr.P.C., as in both the provisions, this Court, if thinks additional evidence necessary, it may be taken by this Court itself or by directing to the Court of Session to get it recorded. Whenever additional evidence is to be recorded, an opportunity would be required to be given to the convicts/appellants to explain the circumstances under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Thus, the provisions of Section 313 Cr.P.C. are embedded in the power of this Court under Section 367 Cr.P.C. and 391 Cr.P.C. Thus, if this power is with this Court, this Court can very well record the supplementary statement of the convicts/appellants or get it recorded from the Session Court in the interest of justice and to avoid failure of justice. Even otherwise, when this Court/ appellate Court is empowered to record/get the additional evidence recorded on oath, it can also record/get the statement of the accused recorded, which does not come within the strict definition of evidence, as statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is recorded without administrating on oath to the accused in order to prevent miscarriage of justice.

(13) Perusal of the statements of the convicts/appellants recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. shows that they are in a generic way and composite form and specifically separate questions have not been framed and put to the convicts/appellants. However, the entire incriminating circumstances available on record against the convicts/appellants, having been put, were well within the knowledge of the convicts/appellants as they have also examined three defence witnesses to controvert the same. Since learned Counsel for the complainant has reserved his right for arguments on the statements of the convicts/appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. at the relevant stage, if required, we refrain ourselves from recording any further conclusive finding on it at this stage. However, since the day the argument was raised before this Bench that proper opportunity under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has not been afforded, we had called upon learned counsel for the convicts/appellants to argue as to why the supplementary statements of the convicts/appellants may not be got recorded and learned counsels for the convicts/ appellants had submitted that if this Court is inclined to call for supplementary statement of convicts/appellants, in that eventuality, they have got instructions to press application for suspension of sentences. Thus, it shows that there is no objection from the side of the convicts/appellants also. This Court is of the view that the convicts/appellants can also not have any objection as they may show the prejudice if any, cause to them by the incriminating circumstances put to them under Section 313 Cr.P.C. or recording of supplementary statements at this stage, which eventually may be in their interest also, but learned counsels for the convicts/appellants, except for the time period since the date of incident and lingering of these proceedings, could not show any prejudice.

(14) Further objection has been raised that the right provided to them under Sections 232 and 233 Cr.P.C. would be affected and their right to appeal may be frustrated. We do not find any force in the objection of learned Counsel for convicts/appellants, as raised because this Court has to consider the case in totality. It should not be out of mind that this Court have to answer the reference against the capital punishment and decide the criminal appeals as well and we are in mid of final arguments and the present issue has been raised in the mid of arguments by learned Counsels for convicts/appellants in reference of capital punishments and their appeals and other learned Counsels for convicts/appellants have yet to argue and on query they showed reluctance to argue in summer vacations.

(15) In view of above and facts and circumstances of the case and stage of arguments, putting the convicts/appellants in detailed and specific incriminating circumstances against them at this stage, may not cause any prejudice or occasion any failure of justice to the convicts/appellants, rather is incumbent for the judicious and fair dispensation of justice and may be in the interest of convicts/appellants also.

(16) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Janak Yadav and others versus State of Bihar (supra), has held that it was open to the High Court to have either examined the accused, whose statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. had not been recorded, itself and then proceeded with the hearing of the appeal or directed retrial of the case confined to the stage of recording of the statements of the appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. onward.

(17) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Nar Singh versus State of Haryana (supra), considered the judgement in the case of Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade versus State of Maharashtra (supra), in which the Hon'ble Supreme Court had considered the fall out of the omission to put a question to the accused on vital circumstance appearing against him and it was held that the appellate court can question the counsel for the accused as regards the circumstances omitted to be put to the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed in paragraph 26 that this Court has widened the scope of the provisions concerning the examination of the accused after closing prosecution evidence and the explanation offered by the counsel of the accused at the appellate stage was held to be a sufficient substitute for the answers given by the accused himself and summarised the courses available to the appellate court on a plea of omission to put a question to the accused on vital piece of evidence in paragraph 30, which is extracted here-in-below :-

30. Whenever a plea of omission to put a question to the accused on vital piece of evidence is raised in the appellate court, courses available to the appellate court can be briefly summarised as under:

30.1. Whenever a plea of non-compliance with Section 313 CrPC is raised, it is within the powers of the appellate court to examine and further examine the convict or the counsel appearing for the accused and the said answers shall be taken into consideration for deciding the matter. If the accused is unable to offer the appellate court any reasonable explanation of such circumstance, the court may assume that the accused has no acceptable explanation to offer.

30.2. In the facts and circumstances of the case, if the appellate court comes to the conclusion that no prejudice was caused or no failure of justice was occasioned, the appellate court will hear and decide the matter upon merits.

30.3. If the appellate court is of the opinion that non-compliance with the provisions of Section 313 CrPC has occasioned or is likely to have occasioned prejudice to the accused, the appellate court may direct retrial from the stage of recording the statements of the accused from the point where the irregularity occurred, that is, from the stage of questioning the accused under Section 313 CrPC and the trial Judge may be directed to examine the accused afresh and defence witness, if any, and dispose of the matter afresh.

30.4. The appellate court may decline to remit the matter to the trial court for retrial on account of long time already spent in the trial of the case and the period of sentence already undergone by the convict and in the facts and circumstances of the case, may decide the appeal on its own merits, keeping in view the prejudice caused to the accused.

(18) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in paragraph 30.2 of Nar Singh Vs. State of Haryana (supra) has held that if the appellate court comes to the conclusion that no prejudice was caused or no failure of justice was occasioned, the appellate court will hear and decide the matter upon merits.

(19) It has further been held in paragraph 32 that when there is omission to put material evidence to the accused in the course of examination under Section 313 CrPC, the prosecution is not guilty of not adducing or suppressing such evidence; it is only the failure on the part of the learned trial court. The victim of the offence or the accused should not suffer for laches or omission of the court. Criminal justice is not one-sided. It has many facets and we have to draw a balance between conflicting rights and duties. It has also been held in paragraph 34 that the trial Court should have been more careful in framing the questions and in ensuring that all material evidence and incriminating circumstances were put to the accused. However, omission on the part of the Court to put questions under Section 313 Cr.P.C. cannot enure to the benefit of the accused.

(20) Thus, what emerges from the aforesaid judgment of the Hon□ble Supreme Court is that the appellate court has to see that no prejudice is caused to any party from the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and it may not result in failure of justice and the compliance is also to be made not only looking into the accused/convicts but to the victim also.

(21) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ghanshyam Mandal and others versus State of Bihar(Now Jharkhand) (Supra), has held that there will have to be a cumulative balancing of several factors. While the rights of an accused to a fair trial are undoubtedly important, the rights of the victim and the society at large for correction of deviant behaviour cannot be made subservient to the rights of an accused by placing the latter at a pedestal higher than necessary for a fair trial.

(22) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Raj Kumar @ Suman versus State (NCT of Delhi) (Supra), has summarised the law laid down by the Hon□ble Supreme Court in regard to Section 313 Cr.P.C. in paragraph 16, which on reproduction, reads as under:-

"22. The law consistently laid down by this Court can be summarised as under:

22.1. It is the duty of the trial court to put each material circumstance appearing in the evidence against the accused specifically, distinctively and separately. The material circumstance means the circumstance or the material on the basis of which the prosecution is seeking his conviction.

22.2. The object of examination of the accused under Section 313 is to enable the accused to explain any circumstance appearing against him in the evidence.

22.3. The Court must ordinarily eschew material circumstances not put to the accused from consideration while dealing with the case of the particular accused.

22.4. The failure to put material circumstances to the accused amounts to a serious irregularity. It will vitiate the trial if it is shown to have prejudiced the accused.

22.5. If any irregularity in putting the material circumstance to the accused does not result in failure of justice, it becomes a curable defect. However, while deciding whether the defect can be cured, one of the considerations will be the passage of time from the date of the incident.

22.6. In case such irregularity is curable, even the appellate court can question the accused on the material circumstance which is not put to him.

22.7. In a given case, the case can be remanded to the trial court from the stage of recording the supplementary statement of the accused concerned under Section 313CrPC.

22.8. While deciding the question whether prejudice has been caused to the accused because of the omission, the delay in raising the contention is only one of the several factors to be considered.

(23) The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid case in paragraph 22.4 has held that the failure to put material circumstances to the accused amounts to a serious irregularity and in paragraph-22.5, that if any irregularity in putting the material circumstance to the accused does not result in failure of justice, it becomes a curable defect. However, while deciding as to whether the defect can be cured, one of the considerations will be the passage of time from the date of the incident. In the present case, the hearing on the references/appeals is still going on and we are in the mid of arguments and we are not inclined to remand the matter, rather get the clarifications in detail from convicts/appellants for fair and just disposal of references and appeals to avoid failure of justice.

(24) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in a recent judgment of Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh (supra), while considering the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Raj Kumar Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (supra), has observed that when an appeal against conviction is preferred before the High Court, at the earliest stage, the High Court must examine whether there is a proper statement of the accused recorded under Section 313 of CrPC (Section 351 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023). If any defect is found, at that stage, the same can be cured either by High Court recording further statement or by directing the Trial Court to record. If this approach is adopted, the argument of prejudice on account of delay will not be available to the accused.

(25) Adverting to the facts and circumstances of the present case and as recorded in the aforesaid order passed by this Court after nomination of matter to this Bench, the hearing was started on the first date of the listing and learned Counsels for the convicts/appellants while arguing on reference of capital punishment and their appeals, raised the argument in regard to Section 313 Cr.P.C. In order to answer the procedural irregularity, this Court had called upon learned Counsel for the parties to argue on the point as to why supplementary statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

may not be got recorded so that either of the parties may not be prejudiced and except delay and if it is to be done suspension of sentence, no prejudice could be shown by the convicts/ appellants, whereas we are in mid of arguments.

(26) A Co-ordinate Bench of Hon□ble Delhi High Court in the case of N. Dev Dass Singha Vs. State (supra) recorded the supplementary statement of the appellant before itself and considered the same.

(27) A Co-ordinate Bench of Hon□ble High Court of Judicature at Bombay, in the case of Mahendra Vasudeo Gawas Vs. the State of Maharashtra (supra), relying on the judgment of the Hon□ble Supreme Court in the case of Janak Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar (supra), directed to the learned Sessions Judge to record the statement and send the statement duly recorded to the Court by the date fixed, holding that appellate Court has power.

(28) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Chandan Pasi and Others Vs. State of Bihar (Supra), relying on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Raj Kumar @ Suman Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (Supra) and Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh Vs. State of U.P. and Another (Supra) has shown displeasure on the questions put to the accused/appellants, which were carbon copy of each other and observed that the statements extracted reveal a sorry state of affairs- an abject failure on the part of the Court in complying with the basic tenets of law and remanded the matter to pass a fresh order after proceeding from the stage of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

(29) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Suresh Sahu & Another Vs. The State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand) (Supra), has held that omission to put material circumstances to the accused in the statement under Section 313 CrPC (Section 351 BNSS) would cause grave prejudice and may, in a given case, even prove fatal to the case of the prosecution. Of course, the appellate Court can rectify this error by requiring that a fresh statement under Section 313 CrPC (Section 351 BNSS) be recorded for removing the lacunae, if any.

(30) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Naresh Kumar Vs. State of Delhi (Supra), has observed that though questioning under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 313, Cr.PC, is discretionary, the questioning under clause (b) thereof is mandatory and a fatal non-compliance in the matter of questioning under Clause (b) of sub-section (1) thereof, in case resulted in material prejudice to any convict in a criminal case the trial concerned, qua that convict should stand vitiated. However, considering the earlier judgments, it observed that mere defective/improper examination under Section 313, Cr.PC, would be no ground to set aside a conviction of the accused unless it has resulted in prejudice to the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further relying on the State of Punjab & Anr. Vs. Swaran Singh; (2005) 6 SCC 101, has held that where the evidence of the witnesses is recorded in the presence of the accused who had the opportunity to cross examine them but did not cross examine them in respect of facts deposed, then, omission to put question to the accused regarding the evidence of such witnesses would not cause prejudice to such an accused and, therefore, could not be held as grounds vitiating the trial qua the convict concerned.

(31) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Fainul Khan Vs. State of Jharkhand and Another (Supra), has held that there cannot be a generalised presumption of prejudice to an accused merely by reason of any omission or inadequate questions put to an accused thereunder and ultimately it will be a question to be considered in the facts and circumstances of each case including the nature of other evidence available, the kind of questions put to an accused, considered with anything further.

(32) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Satyavir Singh Rathi, Assistant Commissioner of Police and Others Vs. State through Central Bureau of Investigation (Supra), has held that prejudice must be shown by an accused before it can be held that he was entitled to acquittal over a defective and perfunctory statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. It has also been held that if an objection as to the 313 Cr.P.C. statement is taken at the earliest stage, the Court can make good the defect and record an additional statement as that would be in the interest of all.

(33) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Fahim Khan Vs. State of Bihar Now Jharkhand (Supra), has observed that no ground has been raised even before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the SLP and in the absence of any complaint on this score, we must assume that the appellant had suffered no prejudice on account of a defective 313 Cr.P.C. statement. In the present case also, as argued by learned counsel for the respondents, this plea has not been taken by the appellants in their appeals, however, it was argued by learned counsel for the convicts/appellants that it is legal plea and can be taken at any stage.

(34) In view of above and considering the overall facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the view that a supplementary statement putting all incriminating circumstances to the convicts/appellants came specifically against them, may be got recorded from the Sessions Judge concerned for just and fair disposal of reference of capital punishment/appeals and other appeals to avoid failure of justice.

(35) We have noticed that original records are with the Session Court and only the photocopies of the records have been sent to this Court.

(36) We, thus, direct to the Sessions Judge, Pratapgarh to record the supplementary statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. of the convicts/appellants putting all incriminating circumstances, which have come in the evidence of the prosecution and material on record, specifically against each of the convicts/appellants, expeditiously and for the said purpose, the convicts/appellants shall be summoned from the Jail concerned and if any convict/appellant is on bail, his presence shall be ensured. The statements so recorded along with the original records shall be transmitted to this Court by or before the next date fixed.

(37) The parties Counsel may appear before the Sessions Judge, Pratapgarh on 15.06.2026. Learned Sessions Judge is at liberty to avail the assistance of Counsel of both parties as provided under Section 313 (5) Cr.P.C., for the purpose.

(38) List on 01.07.2026 for further hearing.

(39) The Senior Registrar of this Court is directed to communicate a copy of this order to learned Sessions Judge, Pratapgarh forthwith for compliance.

Advs. for the Applicant(s):
Pranjal Jain, Aishwarya Saxena, Rohit Kanaujiya

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):
Aakash Prasad

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Purnendu Chakravarty Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Pranjal Jain and Sri Pratyush Shahi Advocates, the learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Aakash Prasad assisted by Sri Shashwat Dwivedi and Sri Ishan Khanna Advocates, the learned counsel for the opposite party-Central Bureau of Investigation and perused the records.

2. By means of the instant application filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. the petitioner has prayed for modification of a condition imposed in the order dated 19.12.2013, passed in Bail Application No.7625 of 2013, whereby while ordering release of the applicant on bail, he was directed to deposit a sum of Rs.64,00,000/- in the form of a fixed deposit in a nationalized bank in favour of the Airports Authority of India. It was specified that the bail order would be operative only when the amount of Rs.64,00,000/- is deposited in terms of the order. The fixed deposit was directed to be renewed from time to time till conclusion of trial and it is subject to the orders of the trial court.

3. The present case arises out of F.I.R. No. RC0062011A0013, dated 15.07.20112 alleging corruption in submission of forged bills for supply of cement to the Airports Authority of India during execution of a project called Expansion of Apron, Construction of Additional Taxiway and Allied Works at Varanasi Airport alleging a wrongful loss of Rs.25,74,065/-, which was lodged against seven accused persons, five government servants and a company/consortium. The applicant was not named in the F.I.R.

4. The applicant was a Director of M/s B. R. Arora Private Limited, a Constituent Member of M/s Bright Aracon, which is said to have submitted inflated bills. It came to light during investigation that the applicant had played an important role in commission of the offence and, therefore, he was also arraigned as an accused in the charge-sheet forwarded to the learned trial court on 30.10.2013 for the offences under Sections 120-B, 420, 468, 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. The trial court took cognizance of the offences on 12.11.2013. On 19.12.2013 this Court had passed the order enlarging the applicant on bail.

5. On 14.04.2015 the trial court framed charges for offences under Sections 120-B, 420, 468, 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 against the five government servants. The petitioner has been charged for commission of offence under Section 420 IPC only and he has been discharged of all the other charges.

6. The CBI has filed a counter affidavit inter alia stating that it had challenged the order dated 14.04.2015 passed by the trial Court by filing Criminal Revision Defective No.176 of 2016 in which notices were ordered to be issued to the opposite parties on 26.02.2016. However, the delay in filing the revision has not been condoned till date, the revision has not been admitted and no interim order has been passed in the said revision.

7. The counter affidavit further states that the then Chairman of Airports Authority of India has been examined as PW-1. He stated that initially he had declined to grant sanction for prosecution of the accused government servants but after three-four months he reviewed his earlier decision on the basis of advisory report of Chief Vigilance Commission and granted sanction for prosecution of the accused government servants vide sanction order dated 01.10.2013. Thereafter, the accused government servants moved an application questioning the validity of the prosecution sanction order. This application was rejected by the trial court by means of an order dated 06.01.2018. Three accused persons challenged the order dated 06.01.2018 by filing an application under Section 482 No.3274 of 2018, which was allowed by means of an order dated 17.12.2021 holding that the prosecution sanction order dated 01.10.2013 was invalid as the sanctioning authority had no power to review or reconsider its earlier order refusing to grant sanction for prosecution and also that no fresh material was placed before the sanctioning authority. This Court quashed the prosecution sanction order dated 01.10.2013 and the cognizance order dated 12.11.2013 as also the order dated 06.01.2018, passed by the trial court. However, this Court did not interfere with the charge-sheet and left it open for the prosecution / investigating agency, i.e. CBI to take appropriate steps permissible under law.

8. The order dated 17.12.2021 passed by this Court in Application under Section 482 No.3274 of 2018 was challenged by filing S.L.P. Nos. 4006-4008 of 2022, which were dismissed by means of an order dated 01.10.2024.

9. In view of the aforesaid orders passed by this Court and the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the trial Court has passed an order dated 13.05.2022, stating that by means of the order dated 17.12.2021, passed in petition under Section 482 No.3274 of 2018, this High Court has quashed the prosecution sanction order passed in respect of co-accused persons Giriraj Sharma, Bhupendra Singh and Dilip Kumar and has quashed the cognizance and summoning order dated 12.11.2013 and the order dated 06.01.2018 whereby their application was rejected. The trial court held that after the aforesaid orders, it would not be proper to proceed with the matter against the accused persons. The trial court closed the proceedings till further orders and ordered the record to be consigned. The trial court further mentioned in the order that record should not be weeded out and in case of change of circumstances, the records may be called for and trial may commence again.

10. Earlier the petitioner had filed an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 9674 of 2024, for release of his passport for getting it renewed for enabling the petitioner to travel abroad, which has been deposited in the trial court in compliance of the bail conditions. The aforesaid application was disposed off by means of an order dated 25.10.2024 whereby the learned trial court was directed to return the applicant□s passport to enable him to get it renewed. It was also provided that if the petitioner is willing to travel outside the country, he may do so after getting prior permission from the learned trial court and the learned trial court may not refuse such request in a cursory manner.

11. The Enforcement Directorate has registered ECIR No. 09/PMLA/LZO/2013 under Section 3/4 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 on the basis of the applicant's involvement in F.I.R. No. RC0062011A0013. The applicant has been granted anticipatory bail in that case by means of an order dated 20.07.2023 passed by this Court in Crl. Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application No. 994 of 2023, inter alia, subject to the following conditions: -

"(iii) that the applicant shall surrender his passport, if any, to the concerned trial Court forthwith. His passport will remain in custody of the concerned trial Court;

(iv) that the applicant shall not leave India during the pendency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court."

12. Thereafter the applicant filed application under Section 482 No. 9278 of 2025 praying for modifications of the aforesaid two conditions put in the order dated 20.07.2023 passed by this Court granting Anticipatory Bail to him. The learned Counsel for the Enforcement Directorate raised a preliminary objection that an application for modification of certain conditions put in anticipatory bail order should be filed as a miscellaneous application in the anticipatory bail application itself and a separate application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. for such a prayer would not be maintainable. This Court rejected the preliminary objection and allowed the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. by an order dated 06.01.2026 holding that Section 482 Cr.P.C. saves the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. When orders can be passed in exercise of inherent powers of this Court by filing a miscellaneous application in a decided case, it cannot be said that this Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a fresh application under Section 482 for securing the ends of justice by securing the ends of justice by relaxing conditions no. (iii) & (iv) putting restraint on the right of travel when the summoning order regarding the scheduled offence already stands set aside and proceedings of trial under PMLA stand stayed by this Court.

13. The counter affidavit filed by CBI refers to the judgment in the case of Aparna Purohit Vs. State of U.P. and another: 2021 SCC OnLine SC 3467 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that: -

"The inherent powers, however, as much as controlled by principal and precedent as are its express powers by Statutes and if a matter is covered by an express letter of law, the court cannot give a go by to the statutory provisions and instead evolve a new provision in the garb of inherent jurisdiction. Section 362 of the Code prohibits reopening of a final order except in the cases of clerical or arithmetical errors. Such being the position of law and in view of the express prohibition of the code itself in the form of Section 362, exercise of power in the considered opinion of this Court under Section 482 of the Code cannot be exercised to reopen and alter an order, disposing of a petition decided on merits."

14. Sri Aakash Prasad, the learned counsel for respondent-CBI has raised a preliminary objection that the aforesaid prayer for modification of the order dated 19.12.2013 is barred by the provisions contained in Section 362 Cr.P.C., which reads as follows: -

"362. Court not to alter judgment.- Save as otherwise provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, no Court, when it has signed its judgment or final order disposing of a case, shall alter or review the same except to correct a clerical or arithmetical error."

15. The learned Counsel for the CBI has submitted that although Section 439 Cr.P.C. empowers the High Court to grant bail, it does not permit the High Court to modify the conditions put in an order granting bail. The High Court can modify the conditions put by a Magistrate while granting bail to an accused person but it cannot modify the conditions put by itself in a bail order.

16. Sri. Aakash Prasad has also submitted that the bail order dated 19.12.2013 has remained in operation for the past 12 years and the condition put in it has never been challenged before the Hon'ble Supreme Court and it has attained finality.

17. Sri Prasad has submitted that the bail order is a final order and it is not an interlocutory order. Even if the order dated 19.12.2013 is considered to be an interlocutory order in relation to the trial, so far as the bail application itself is considered the order dated 19.12.2013 decides the same finally and after decision of the bail application, this court has become functus officio. and it has no jurisdiction to modify the order.

18. The learned Counsel for CBI has submitted that in the case of Aparna Purohit Vs. State of U.P., Application under Section 482 No. 6022 of 2022, decided on 02.11.2022 a coordinate Bench of this court has held that an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. would not lie to modify the conditions of bail. This judgment was challenged by filing SLP No.4483 of 2023 before the Hon'ble Supreme Court which was disposed of as withdrawn by means of an order dated 10.10.2023. In later judgments in the cases of Vinod Kumar Sharma Vs. CBI: 2023 (12) ADJ 743 and Vivek Yadav and another Vs. State, Crl. Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application No.1224 of 2023, decided on 21.02.2024, two different coordinate benches have held that this court can modify the conditions imposed in a bail order. However, the subsequent judgments in the cases of Vinod Kumar Sharma (supra) and Vivek Yadav(supra) have not taken into consideration the earlier judgment in the case of Aparna Purohit (Supra).

19. Sri Akash Prasad has submitted that allowing the application for modification order would amount to this court sitting in appeal over the bail order passed by a coordinate Bench, which is not the intent of Section 482 Cr.P.C.

20. Per contra, Sri. Purnendu Chakravarty, the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner, has submitted that Section 482 Cr.P.C. protects the inherent powers of this court to secure the ends of justice and there are no limitations of this power to be exercised in an appropriate case.
