39. The distinction between substantive review and procedural review was examined by this Court in Pushpa Sareen while considering the scope of review jurisdiction exercisable by authorities functioning under the rent control legislation. The Full Bench, after examining the principles laid down in Patel Narshi Thakershi and Grindlays Bank Ltd., expressly recognized the distinction between a substantive review on merits and a limited procedural review inhering in judicial and quasi-judicial authorities. It was observed that the power of substantive review is not an inherent power and cannot be assumed in absence of express statutory conferment or necessary implication. Simultaneously, it was clarified that where the error sought to be corrected arises from a procedural defect, inadvertent mistake, misconception, or violation affecting the fairness of the adjudicatory process itself, a limited procedural review may legitimately be exercised in exercise of inherent jurisdiction to secure the ends of justice and prevent abuse of process.

40. Thus, the legal position which emerges from the aforesaid authorities is that the determinative test lies in the nature of the exercise undertaken by the authority. If the authority merely corrects a procedural defect affecting the fairness of adjudication, such exercise may legitimately fall within the ambit of procedural review or inherent jurisdiction. However, where the authority enters into reconsideration of the correctness of findings already rendered, reassesses the merits of the controversy, or recalls a judgment for fresh adjudication on grounds touching the substance of the dispute, the exercise ceases to be procedural and assumes the character of a substantive review, which cannot be undertaken in absence of statutory conferment of such power.

41. The following broad tests may, therefore, be culled out for determining whether the exercise undertaken by an authority constitutes a permissible procedural recall under its inherent jurisdiction, or an impermissible substantive review in absence of statutory conferment of review power:-

(i) Nature of the defect corrected: Where the defect sought to be corrected pertains to the procedural framework of adjudication, including misconception of an admitted or undisputed factual position already borne out from the existing record, accidental omission, procedural irregularity, or an error attributable to the authority itself in the course of decision-making, the exercise may legitimately partake the character of procedural review; however, where the authority proceeds to reassess disputed findings upon re-appreciation of evidence or rival claims, the exercise enters the field of substantive review.

(ii) Object of the exercise: Where the object of the exercise is confined to correcting a palpably erroneous order passed under a misapprehension by the authority itself, restoring procedural fairness, preventing abuse of process, or curing an inadvertent error affecting the legitimacy of adjudication, invocation of inherent jurisdiction may be permissible; however, where the object is to undertake a fresh determination of issues already adjudicated on merits independent of such misconception, the exercise assumes the nature of substantive review.

(iii) Extent of reconsideration involved: A limited reconsideration undertaken solely for rectifying a procedural defect, misconception arising from admitted record, or inadvertent error attributable to the authority itself, without entering into re-appreciation of disputed evidence or rival factual claims, may fall within the ambit of procedural review; however, where the authority undertakes reassessment of contested findings or substitutes one adjudicatory conclusion by another upon re-examination of merits, the exercise becomes substantive in character.

(iv) Consequence of Correction: Where the resultant order is directed towards removal of a procedural or foundational error arising from misconception of an admitted or undisputed factual position already existing on record, the exercise may continue to retain its procedural character notwithstanding that consequential restoration or rehearing becomes necessary thereafter; however, where the authority undertakes a fresh examination of disputed merits independent of such foundational error, the exercise would assume the nature of substantive review.

(v) Source of the error: An inadvertent error arising from the act of the authority itself, including proceeding upon a misconception regarding an admitted factual position, overlooking material already existing on record, or recording findings contrary to the undisputed record, may justify exercise of inherent jurisdiction ex debito justitiae; however, a mere assertion that another interpretation on facts or law is possible would not by itself furnish foundation for procedural review.

(vi) Affect on finality of concluded findings: Mere reopening of proceedings or restoration of the matter for lawful reconsideration does not by itself render the exercise a substantive review where the reopening is occasioned solely for correcting a palpably erroneous order passed under a misapprehension by the authority itself; however, where concluded findings are reopened for re-appreciation of merits or substitution of one adjudicatory view by another, the exercise would impinge upon finality and partake the character of substantive review.

(vii) Correction of the decision-making process or the decision itself: The determinative consideration is whether the authority is fundamentally correcting the decision-making process vitiated by misconception, inadvertence, or procedural error attributable to itself, or whether it is reassessing the correctness of the conclusion on merits; for correction of a manifest misconception arising from the existing record may legitimately fall within inherent jurisdiction, whereas substitution of one possible view by another upon reappraisal of merits would amount to substantive review.

(viii) Exercise ex debito justitiae: Inherent powers may legitimately be invoked ex debito justitiae where failure to intervene would perpetuate procedural injustice attributable to the authority itself or result in abuse of the process of the Court; however, such jurisdiction remains supplementary and cannot be utilised as a substitute for an appellate remedy or a substantive power of review not conferred by statute.

(ix) Existence or absence of statutory review jurisdiction: In absence of an express or necessarily implied statutory conferment of review jurisdiction, the authority cannot assume unto itself a substantive power to reopen and reconsider adjudicated issues on merits merely by invoking inherent powers under Section 151 C.P.C. or analogous provisions, for inherent jurisdiction cannot be exercised in a manner that defeats legislative limitations upon review.

(x) Substance over nomenclature: The true nature of the jurisdiction exercised must be determined not from the nomenclature employed in the application or the terminology used in the order, but from the real substance, purpose, scope, and effect of the exercise undertaken by the authority concerned.

42. The aforesaid principles are neither exhaustive nor capable of rigid application, for the distinction between a procedural review and a substantive review ultimately depends upon the nature of the jurisdiction exercised, the purpose sought to be achieved, and the effect produced by the impugned exercise. The enquiry, therefore, must not remain confined to the form or terminology employed by the authority, but must extend to the substance of the exercise actually undertaken. It is only upon application of the aforesaid tests to the facts and tenor of the impugned order that the Court may determine whether the authority merely corrected a procedural defect in aid of justice and to prevent abuse of process, or whether it in effect reopened and reconsidered the adjudication on merits in absence of statutory conferment of review jurisdiction.

43. Having considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and upon perusal of the material brought on record, this Court finds that the controversy involved in the present case essentially turns upon the true nature of the jurisdiction exercised by the appellate court while passing the impugned order dated 19.12.2025. The determinative question is not merely whether the authority possessed power of substantive review, but whether the exercise undertaken by it was, in fact, a substantive reconsideration on merits or a permissible procedural correction intended to rectify an apparent illegality affecting the adjudicatory process itself.

44. From a careful perusal of the impugned order, it is evident that the appellate court has not proceeded to re-adjudicate the controversy on merits nor has it recorded fresh findings reversing its earlier conclusions upon re-appreciation of evidence. The appellate court has merely recalled its earlier judgment dated 16.10.2025 and directed rehearing of the appeal upon noticing that certain aspects bearing upon the legality and correctness of the adjudication had not been properly considered. The exercise undertaken by the appellate court was thus essentially corrective in nature and intended to ensure that the proceedings receives adjudication in accordance with law after due consideration of all relevant aspects.

45. At this stage, it becomes necessary to notice the distinction between substantive review and procedural review. A substantive review necessarily involves reconsideration of the correctness of findings already recorded on merits. Such power is not inherent and must emanate from an express or necessarily implied statutory conferment, as contemplated under Section 114 read with Order XLVII Rule 1 C.P.C. In the absence of such conferment, no court or tribunal can assume unto itself a general power to reopen concluded adjudication merely because another view on facts or law may appear possible.

46. Procedural review, however, stands on a fundamentally different footing. It is rooted not in statutory conferment but in the inherent obligation of every court and tribunal to ensure that its own procedure does not occasion injustice. Thus, where an order has resulted from procedural misconception, inadvertent omission, absence of notice, clerical mistake, misunderstanding of admitted record, or any error attributable to the adjudicatory process itself, the authority may invoke its inherent jurisdiction ex debito justitiae to correct such defect and restore procedural legality. The object of such exercise is not to reconsider the merits of the controversy but to remove the procedural impediment which prevented lawful adjudication.

47. Section 151 C.P.C., which preserves the inherent powers of the Court to secure the ends of justice and prevent abuse of process, operates in a field distinct from substantive review jurisdiction under Order XLVII Rule 1 C.P.C. What is prohibited in the absence of statutory conferment is a rehearing on merits through reassessment of evidence, rival claims, or legal findings. What remains permissible is correction of defects striking at the fairness, legality, or integrity of the decision-making process itself.

48. The distinction between these two jurisdictions has been judicially recognized in Grindlays Bank Ltd. v. Central Government Industrial Tribunal, wherein it was explained that though a power of substantive review must arise from statute, every judicial or quasi-judicial authority nevertheless possesses inherent jurisdiction to correct procedural errors, misconceptions, or inadvertent mistakes attributable to the adjudicatory process itself. Procedural review inheres in every forum ex debito justitiae and may legitimately be exercised where the earlier order suffers from procedural misconception or from a palpably erroneous order passed under a misapprehension by the authority itself.

49. The principle underlying such jurisdiction is founded upon the maxim actus curiae neminem gravabit, namely, that an act of the Court shall prejudice no person. A court or tribunal cannot be rendered powerless to correct an error arising due to its own inadvertence or misconception which, if permitted to stand, would perpetuate injustice and undermine confidence in the adjudicatory process. The inherent jurisdiction preserved under Section 151 C.P.C. and acknowledged under Rule 22(f) of the Rules exists precisely to enable the authority to remedy such situations where continuance of an order suffering from manifest misconception or procedural defect would itself amount to abuse of the process of the Court. Such jurisdiction is corrective rather than appellate in nature and is directed towards rectification of the decision-making process rather than substitution of one adjudicatory conclusion by another.

50. Tested on the aforesaid principles, this Court finds that the impugned order does not partake the character of a substantive review akin to jurisdiction under Order XLVII Rule 1 C.P.C. The appellate court has not finally altered or substituted its earlier findings by undertaking a reappraisal of the controversy. It has merely recalled the earlier judgment itself for rehearing of the appeal so as to remove what it perceived to be a procedural infirmity which had occasioned failure of justice.

51. From the material brought on record, it transpires that while deciding Rent Control Appeal No. 30 of 2018 by judgment dated 16.10.2025, the appellate court had referred to the certified copy of the registered sale deed dated 13.02.1963 executed in favour of Smt. Sarla Devi, through whom the respondent-landlord claimed successionary rights by virtue of testamentary devolution. The appellate court had also specifically noticed that the said document formed part of the original record and that the tenancy in question existed much prior to the institution of the release proceedings.

52. However, despite recording the existence, contents, and undisputed date of the aforesaid registered sale deed, the appellate court proceeded to hold that the respondent-landlord was mandatorily required to serve six months notice under Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 prior to institution of the release application, treating non-compliance thereof as fatal to maintainability of the proceedings.

53. This Court finds substance in the submission advanced on behalf of the respondents that authorities functioning under the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 retain limited inherent jurisdiction under Rule 22(f) read with Section 151 C.P.C. to secure the ends of justice and prevent abuse of process of Court. The exercise of such jurisdiction, where confined to rectification of procedural irregularity or misconception, cannot be equated with a substantive review of the earlier adjudication.

54. The review court, while considering the application moved under Section 151 C.P.C. read with Rule 22(f) of the Rules, examined the controversy from the limited perspective as to whether the earlier appellate judgment had proceeded upon a misconception apparent from the admitted record itself. In that context, the review court noticed that although the appellate court had already accepted and recorded the existence of the registered sale deed dated 13.02.1963, it nevertheless applied the statutory requirement of notice under the first proviso to Section 21 despite the admitted position that the property had been purchased through the said registered sale deed dated 13.02.1963, i.e., much prior to the enforcement of the U P Act No.13 of 1972. The review court accordingly held that the earlier appellate judgment had resulted in a palpably erroneous order passed under a misapprehension, insofar as the statutory requirement of notice had been applied despite the foundational facts already borne out from the existing record indicating clear inapplicability of such requirement.

55. Significantly, the review court did not reopen any disputed factual controversy requiring adjudication upon competing evidence nor did it undertake reassessment of bona fide need, comparative hardship, or any other substantive issue arising in the release proceedings. The exercise remained confined to correction of the apparent misconception emerging from the admitted documentary record already noticed by the appellate court itself. No fresh adjudicatory exercise upon rival factual claims was undertaken, nor was one possible view substituted by another upon re-appreciation of evidence.

56. It further appears that the consequence of the impugned order dated 19.12.2025 is merely restoration of the appeal for rehearing in accordance with law and not final adjudication of substantive rights afresh. The petitioners continue to retain full opportunity to address the appellate court on all questions available to them in law during rehearing of the appeal and no irreversible prejudice is shown to have been occasioned merely by restoration of the proceedings.

57. In the considered view of this Court, the nature and scope of the jurisdiction exercised by the review court was corrective and procedural in character, and not a substantive review on merits. The interference was confined to removal of an apparent misconception arising from admitted material already existing on record and attributable to the adjudicatory process itself. The review court neither reassessed disputed questions of fact nor reopened the merits of the release proceedings for fresh determination upon re-appreciation of evidence. Such an exercise, directed towards securing the ends of justice and preventing continuation of an error attributable to the authority itself, squarely falls within the limited ambit of procedural review and inherent jurisdiction recognised under Section 151 C.P.C. read with Rule 22(f) of the Rules, and cannot be treated as an impermissible assumption of substantive review jurisdiction in the absence of statutory conferment.

58. Accordingly, for the reasons recorded hereinabove, this Court finds no jurisdictional error, manifest illegality, or perversity in the impugned order dated 19.12.2025 passed by the appellate court in exercise of its inherent and procedural jurisdiction under Section 151 C.P.C. read with Rule 22(f) of the Rules. The impugned order merely restores the appeal for rehearing after correction of an apparent misconception attributable to the appellate court itself and does not amount to an impermissible substantive review on merits.

59. No case for interference under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is, therefore, made out.

60. The petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

61. No order as to costs.

(2026) 5 ILRA 612
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Matters Under Article 227 No. 5153 of 2026

Akhilesh Kumar ...Petitioners
Versus
Sanjay Sahgal ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Whether the mere absence of a written tenancy agreement renders proceedings before the Rent Authority non-maintainable and relegates the landlord to the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021- Section 4, 21 & 38- The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 does not exclude oral, month-to-month, or otherwise unwritten tenancies from its statutory ambit merely because such arrangements were not reduced into writing or because the prescribed particulars were not furnished before the Rent Authority. Where the relationship of landlord and tenant is admitted or otherwise established, and the dispute falls within the field occupied by the statute, proceedings before the Rent Authority remain maintainable notwithstanding the absence of a written tenancy agreement.

Sections 4(1) and 4(3)(b) are mandatory regulatory provisions intended to formalise, record and bring certainty to tenancy arrangements through written documentation and disclosure of particulars before the statutory authority. Section 4(7), in turn, contemplates the consequence of non-furnishing of such information and leaves no manner of doubt that the Legislature did not intend procedural non-compliance to result in wholesale exclusion from the operation of the Act. These provisions cannot, therefore, be construed as creating a blanket exclusion from the statutory framework, nor as rendering proceedings before the Rent Authority inherently non-maintainable in every case of non-compliance, nor as otherwise creating a jurisdictional bar against recourse to the specialised forum constituted under the enactment.

Section 38(2), properly construed, excludes adjudication of disputes relating to title and ownership and confines the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority to landlord-tenant disputes entrusted to it under the statute. It does not require ordinary tenancy disputes to be relegated to the Court of Small Causes merely because the tenancy arrangement is oral, month-to-month or unwritten, or because the prescribed particulars were not submitted in the manner contemplated under Section 4 of the Act.

Held-That absence of a written tenancy agreement, by itself, does not denude the Rent Authority of jurisdiction under the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 where the tenancy relationship is admitted or otherwise established in accordance with law- Petitions dismissed. (E-15)

(Para 115 to 120)

Case Law Cited

Amit Gupta v. Gulab Chandra Kanodia 2021 SCC OnLine All 825 ; Lavendra Singh v. Devendra Kumar Nagariya 2025:AHC:26938 ; Sri Raman Arora v. Susheel Kumar (Deceased) 2025 SCC OnLine All 1251; Vishal Rastogi v. Rent Controller/Additional District Magistrate (Judicial) and Another 2024 SCC OnLine All 8125; Canara Bank Branch Office and another v. Sri Ashok Kumar 2025 SCC OnLine All 8073; Amarjeet Singh v. Smt. Shiv Kumari Yadav 2024 SCC OnLine All 2744

List of Acts

The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021; The Constitution of India, 1950

List of Keywords

The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021; does not exclude oral, month-to-month, or otherwise unwritten tenancies ; from its statutory ambit; Section 4, 21 & 38

Case Arising From

Petitioner-Tenant is in occupation of Shop at a monthly rent of Rupees 3,000/-. Respondent-landlord, instituted Rent Case No.47 of 2024 under Sections 10 and 21(2)(m) of the Act, 2021 before the Rent Authority, Jhansi, seeking eviction, arrears of rent, and damages for unauthorized use. The landlord pleaded that the tenancy was month-to-month and that no fresh tenancy agreement had been executed between the parties. Upon notice, the tenant entered appearance and filed an objection/application dated 21.10.2024 contending that no written or registered tenancy agreement existed and, therefore, proceedings under the Act, 2021 were not maintainable; jurisdiction, if any, lay before the Court of Small Causes under the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act. It was urged that the landlord had not complied with the requirements contemplated under Section 4 of the Act. The said objection was rejected by the Rent Authority vide order dated 14.08.2025 holding the proceedings maintainable. Aggrieved thereby, the tenant preferred Miscellaneous Civil (Rent Control) Appeal No.85 of 2025 before the Rent Tribunal, Jhansi, which was dismissed by judgment dated 19.01.2026, affirming the order of the Rent Authority.

In the other petition, petitioner, is a tenant in respect of premises, and claims tenancy through her predecessors. The respondent-landlords instituted proceedings under Section 21(2)(a)(b) of the Act, 2021, seeking eviction on the grounds of default and personal requirement. The petitioner appeared before the Rent

Authority and filed a preliminary objection/application dated 12.09.2025 under Section 38(2) of the Act, specifically pleading that no tenancy agreement existed between the parties, that the tenancy was admittedly month-to-month, and, therefore, proceedings under the Act, 2021 were not maintainable before the Rent Authority. It was further asserted that the landlords had failed to comply with Section 4 of the Act and that any remedy lay before the Court of Small Causes. The Rent Authority rejected the objection vide order dated 16.09.2025 and held the proceedings maintainable. The appeal preferred by the tenant under Section 35 of the Act, 2021, being Miscellaneous Civil (Rent Control) Appeal No.05 of 2026, was also dismissed by the Rent Control Tribunal, Jhansi, vide judgment and order dated 08.01.2026, affirming the order passed by the Rent Authority

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for petitioner(s) : Kamlesh Kumar Tiwari
Counsel for respondent(s) : Mohit Kumar Shukla

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamlesh Kumar Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioner; Sri Mohit Kumar Shukla and Sri Ram M Kaushik, learned counsel appearing for the respondents; and Sri Rahul Agarwal, learned Additional Advocate General, assisted by Sri Gaurav Singh, learned Standing Counsel, on the interpretation of the statutory provisions involved.

Factual Background

2. These two petitions raise a common and recurring question concerning the scope and operation of the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 20211, namely, whether the mere absence of a written tenancy agreement renders proceedings before the Rent Authority non-maintainable and relegates the landlord to the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes. The issue assumes considerable significance, for its resolution depends upon the true construction and interplay of Sections 4, 21 and 38 of the Act, 2021 read in the context of the overall statutory scheme and legislative purpose underlying the enactment. The controversy is of particular importance in the State, especially in view of the large number of urban tenancy arrangements that continue to subsist on oral understandings, month-to-month occupations, rent receipts, or long-standing informal arrangements unsupported by formal written agreements.

3. In the first petition, petitioner-tenant, Akhilesh Kumar, is in occupation of Shop No. 18, Gandhi Road, Mohalla Chaudhariyana, Bada Bazar, Jhansi, at a monthly rent of Rupees 3,000/-. Respondent-landlord, Sanjay Sehgal, instituted Rent Case No.47 of 2024 under Sections 10 and 21(2)(m) of the Act, 2021 before the Rent Authority, Jhansi, seeking eviction, arrears of rent, and damages for unauthorized use. The landlord pleaded that the tenancy was month-to-month and that no fresh tenancy agreement had been executed between the parties. Upon notice, the tenant entered appearance and filed an objection/application dated 21.10.2024 contending that no written or registered tenancy agreement existed and, therefore, proceedings under the Act, 2021 were not maintainable; jurisdiction, if any, lay before the Court of Small Causes under the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act. It was urged that the landlord had not complied with the requirements contemplated under Section 4 of the Act. The said objection was rejected by the Rent Authority vide order dated 14.08.2025 holding the proceedings maintainable. Aggrieved thereby, the tenant preferred Miscellaneous Civil (Rent Control) Appeal No.85 of 2025 before the Rent Tribunal, Jhansi, which was dismissed by judgment dated 19.01.2026, affirming the order of the Rent Authority.

4. In the other petition, petitioner, Smt. Suman Dwivedi, is a tenant in respect of premises, bearing House No.3A, Lal Bahadur Shastri Marg, Station Road, Jhansi, and claims tenancy through her predecessors. The respondent-landlords Sanjeev Sahani and another instituted proceedings under Section 21(2)(a)(b) of the Act, 2021, seeking eviction on the grounds of default and personal requirement. The petitioner appeared before the Rent Authority and filed a preliminary objection/application dated 12.09.2025 under Section 38(2) of the Act, specifically pleading that no tenancy agreement existed between the parties, that the tenancy was admittedly month-to-month, and, therefore, proceedings under the Act, 2021 were not maintainable before the Rent Authority. It was further asserted that the landlords had failed to comply with Section 4 of the Act and that any remedy lay before the Court of Small Causes. The Rent Authority rejected the objection vide order dated 16.09.2025 and held the proceedings maintainable. The appeal preferred by the tenant under Section 35 of the Act, 2021, being Miscellaneous Civil (Rent Control) Appeal No.05 of 2026, was also dismissed by the Rent Control Tribunal, Jhansi, vide judgment and order dated 08.01.2026, affirming the order passed by the Rent Authority.

5. Since both petitions involve identical questions touching the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority under the Act, 2021 in the absence of a written tenancy agreement, and assail substantially similar orders passed by the Rent Authority and Rent Tribunal, they are being heard and decided together by this common judgment.

6. It deserves emphasis, at the outset, that the record discloses no dispute regarding the petitioners' status as tenants in occupation of the respective premises. The central controversy is not a denial of tenancy in the factual sense, but the legal consequence flowing from the absence of a written tenancy agreement and the proper statutory forum before which the landlords must proceed. This distinction is material, for the Act, 2021, is designed not merely to record tenancies, but to regulate landlord-tenant relations and to provide an expeditious adjudicatory mechanism for disputes arising therefrom.

Issues for Determination

7. Having regard to the controversy arising in these petitions, the following issues arise for consideration:

7.1 Whether, the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 excludes oral or month-to-month tenancies from its statutory ambit.

7.2 Whether, in the absence of a written tenancy agreement, proceedings under the Act, 2021 are maintainable before the Rent Authority, or whether disputes of such nature are triable only by the Court of Small Causes under the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887.

7.3 Whether, Sections 4(1) and 4(3)(b) constitute conditions precedent to the maintainability of proceedings before the Rent Authority, or whether they are mandatory regulatory provisions intended to ensure formalisation, disclosure and evidentiary certainty.

7.4 Whether, Section 38(2) excludes the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority where the parties have failed to execute, reduce into writing, or intimate a tenancy agreement in the manner contemplated by the Act.

Submissions

On Behalf of the Petitioners

8. Counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the initiation of proceedings before the Rent Authority under the Act, 2021 is without jurisdiction, since it is an admitted position that no written tenancy agreement exists between the parties. It is contended that the tenancies in question are purely oral and month-to-month in nature and, therefore, fall outside the statutory framework contemplated under Sections 4 and 38 of the Act.

9. It is further urged that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority is confined to disputes arising out of tenancy agreements executed and submitted before the Rent Authority in accordance with Section 4 read with the First Schedule appended to the Act. According to the petitioners, the statutory scheme proceeds on the existence of a formally reduced and notified tenancy arrangement and does not extend to unwritten or oral tenancies.

10. In support of this submission, reliance has been placed on the decisions in Amit Gupta v. Gulab Chandra Kanodia, Lavendra Singh v. Devendra Kumar Nagariya and Sri Raman Arora v. Susheel Kumar (Deceased), to contend that although the Act contemplates regulation through written tenancy arrangements, the legislature has not expressly devised a complete remedial mechanism for unwritten tenancies, and that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority is confined to tenancy agreements submitted before it under Section 4 of the Act.

11. It is, accordingly, submitted that in the absence of a written tenancy agreement, the Rent Authority lacked jurisdiction to entertain the proceedings and that the orders passed by the Rent Authority as well as the Rent Tribunal are unsustainable in law. The proceedings instituted by the respondent-landlords under the Act, 2021 are, therefore, liable to be held not maintainable, leaving it open to the landlords to pursue such remedies as may otherwise be available to them under the general law or before the Court of Small Causes.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioners has further submitted that the aforesaid decisions disclose a divergence in judicial approach on the interpretation of Sections 4 and 38 of the Act, 2021. According to the submission, while Amit Gupta and Raman Arora proceed on the premise that absence of a written tenancy agreement carries jurisdictional consequences, Amarjeet Singh and Canara Bank adopt a materially different approach by treating such absence as not affecting the maintainability of proceedings before the Rent Authority. It is, therefore, urged that the issue involves an apparent conflict between coordinate Bench decisions on a question touching jurisdiction and consequently deserves consideration by a Larger Bench so that the legal position may be authoritatively settled.

On behalf of the Respondent-Landlords

13. Counsel appearing for the respondent-landlords submits that the proceedings instituted before the Rent Authority are fully maintainable notwithstanding the absence of a written tenancy agreement. It is contended that the Act, 2021 nowhere excludes oral tenancy arrangements and that the expression 'tenancy agreement' occurring in Section 38(2) cannot be construed so narrowly as to confine the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority only to written agreements. Reliance has been placed upon Vishal Rastogi v. Rent Controller/Additional District Magistrate (Judicial) and Another and Canara Bank to contend that a tenancy agreement may be oral or written and that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority is not ousted merely because the tenancy arrangement was not reduced into writing or its particulars were not submitted before the Rent Authority.

14. It is further submitted that Section 38 of the Act, 2021 is not a provision conferring jurisdiction, but one merely regulating and circumscribing the scope of adjudication by the Rent Authority. Placing reliance upon the reasoning in Canara Bank, learned counsel submits that Section 38(2) only limits the Rent Authority from adjudicating disputes relating to title or ownership and does not exclude unwritten tenancies from the ambit of the Act. It is argued that Section 4(3) itself contemplates pre-existing unwritten tenancies and permits submission of tenancy particulars even where no formal written agreement exists. Accordingly, once the relationship of landlord and tenant is admitted or otherwise established, the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority cannot be defeated merely on account of absence of a written tenancy agreement.

15. It has also been submitted that the view taken in Lavendra Singh, relying upon Raman Arora, that unwritten tenancies fall outside the purview of the Act, 2021, stands considerably diluted in view of the subsequent order passed by the Supreme Court of India in appeal therefrom, wherein the interference made by the High Court with the concurrent findings of the authorities below was specifically disapproved.

16. Counsel for the respondents further submits that the decisions relied upon on behalf of the petitioners do not disclose any irreconcilable conflict so as to require reference to a Larger Bench. According to the submission, Amit Gupta and Raman Arora were rendered in a distinct factual and statutory context concerning the maintainability and continuance of proceedings before the ordinary civil forum or the Court of Small Causes, whereas Amarjeet Singh and Canara Bank directly examine the extent of the Rent Authority's jurisdiction under the Act, 2021. It is urged that the apparent divergence is more superficial than real and arises from differences in the questions considered and the statutory provisions interpreted, rather than from any conflicting principle of law calling for authoritative reconsideration by a Larger Bench.

On behalf of the State

17. Learned Additional Advocate General, supporting the maintainability of proceedings under the Act, 2021 even in cases of unwritten tenancies, submits that Canara Bank Branch Office and another v. Sri Ashok Kumar exhaustively examines the statutory framework of the Act and authoritatively interprets the effect of Sections 4, 9 and 38 thereof. It is urged that the said decision specifically clarifies that Amit Gupta dealt with an entirely different issue and that there is no real conflict between the coordinate Bench decisions rendered by this Court. According to the submissions advanced, Amit Gupta was principally concerned the continuance and maintainability of proceedings before the Court of Small Causes instituted prior to the enforcement of the Act, 2021, whereas in Canara Bank the issue directly arising for consideration was the legal status and adjudicability of unwritten tenancies under the Act itself.

18. It is further submitted that the judgment in Lavendra Singh, relying upon Raman Arora, proceeded on the premise that tenancies unsupported by written agreements fall outside the purview of the Act, 2021. However, the judgment was carried in appeal before the Supreme Court of India, where, upon hearing learned counsel for the parties and examining the record, the Court observed that the High Court was not justified in interfering with the concurrent findings returned by the authorities below. Consequently, the appeal was allowed, the judgment of the High Court was set aside, and the orders passed by the Rent Authority as well as the Rent Tribunal were restored. It is urged that the said order effectively disapproves the reasoning adopted in Lavendra Singh, which itself had drawn support from the line of reasoning in Raman Arora.

19. It is next contended that even the observations in Raman Arora show that the reservations expressed regarding the correctness of the view taken in Amarjeet Singh v. Smt. Shiv Kumari Yadav were primarily founded on three considerations, namely, the existence of an earlier coordinate Bench decision in Amit Gupta, the absence of detailed consideration of the scope of Section 38(2), and non-consideration of the legal effect of a State enactment having received Presidential assent.

20. Learned Additional Advocate General further submits that there is no conceptual distinction between a State enactment which has received the assent of the Governor and one which has received the assent of the President; in either case, the legislation remains an enactment of the Uttar Pradesh Legislature. The distinction, according to the submission, lies only in the constitutional field of operation. Presidential assent under Article 254 of the Constitution of India is obtained to remove or save repugnancy with a Central enactment operating in the Concurrent List, whereas assent of the Governor suffices where no such repugnancy arises or where the subject falls within the State List. It is, therefore, urged that Section 42 of the Act, 2021, which gives overriding effect to the Act over inconsistent State laws, would prevail, to the extent of inconsistency, over the suit-based dispute resolution framework referable to the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act as modified by the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1972.

21. Developing the submission further, learned Additional Advocate General argues that Section 38(2) has been elaborately interpreted in Canara Bank, wherein it was held that the provision is not one conferring jurisdiction upon the Rent Authority but merely one regulating and circumscribing the extent of exercise of such jurisdiction. It is submitted that the reasoning in Amit Gupta does not sufficiently consider the effect of Section 4(7), the proviso to Section 9(5), and Section 42 of the Act. According to the submission, any interpretation excluding unwritten tenancies from the ambit of the Act would render these provisions otiose, particularly when Section 4(7) itself contemplates consequences arising from failure to furnish particulars of tenancy and the proviso to Section 9(5) expressly recognises situations where no written tenancy agreement exists.

22. Learned Additional Advocate General contends that no reference to a Larger Bench is warranted, inasmuch as the decisions relied upon by the petitioners do not lay down irreconcilable propositions on the same question of law. According to the State, Amit Gupta and Raman Arora arose in a distinct statutory and transitional context concerning the continuance of proceedings before the Court of Small Causes, whereas Amarjeet Singh and Canara Bank directly examine the scope of the Rent Authority's jurisdiction under the Act, 2021. It is urged that the later decisions do not depart from the earlier line of authority but merely clarify the statutory position governing proceedings under the special enactment, particularly in light of Section 4(7), the proviso to Section 9(5), and the overriding effect of Section 42. The apparent conflict, according to the submission, is therefore more seeming than real and does not warrant reference to a Larger Bench.

23. It is lastly submitted that the principal concern which weighed with the Court in Amit Gupta was to ensure that a landlord is not rendered remediless in cases involving unwritten tenancies. However, the precise question whether unwritten tenancies stand excluded from the operation of the Act, 2021 did not directly arise therein. In contrast, the issue arose squarely in Canara Bank, where the statutory scheme was comprehensively analysed and it was held that unwritten tenancies are not excluded merely because the tenancy agreement had not been reduced into writing or its particulars had not been furnished before the Rent Authority.

Statutory Background and Scheme

24. To appreciate the rival submissions, it becomes necessary to examine the statutory background and the overall scheme of the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021. The enactment is intended to regulate urban tenancies within the State. Prior to its commencement, a substantial number of tenancies in urban areas were governed through oral arrangements, informal understandings, rent receipts, inherited occupations, and long-standing possession unsupported by formal written instruments. Such informal arrangements frequently generated uncertainty, evidentiary disputes, delay in adjudication, and forum-shopping. The legislative mischief sought to be remedied was, therefore, the absence of a structured and transparent framework governing landlord-tenant relationships in urban areas.

25. The Act seeks to replace informality and uncertainty with a regime founded upon transparency, certainty of contractual terms, defined reciprocal rights and obligations, and expeditious adjudication through specialised fora. To achieve this objective, the statute requires tenancy arrangements to be reduced into writing and simultaneously establishes a dedicated adjudicatory framework comprising the Rent Authority as the primary forum and the Rent Tribunal as the appellate forum. The legislative policy is further reflected in the calibrated exclusion of the jurisdiction of ordinary civil courts in matters entrusted to the statutory authorities.

26. The enactment extends to the whole of Uttar Pradesh and applies to the urban areas specified under Section 1(3), with deemed commencement from 11.01.2021. The definition of "premises" under Section 2(c) is of wide amplitude and includes any building or part thereof let on rent for residential, commercial, or educational purposes, excluding premises used for industrial purposes and subject to further exclusions specified under Section 3(1). The breadth of the definition, read together with the institutional framework created under the Act, manifests a legislative intent to comprehensively regulate urban tenancy relationships through specialised mechanisms rather than through ordinary civil proceedings.

27. The statute must, therefore, be construed as an integrated and purposive code, and not as a collection of isolated provisions capable of producing inconsistent or self-defeating consequences. The requirement of a written tenancy agreement is one component of the broader statutory architecture and cannot be interpreted in a manner that frustrates the larger legislative design of efficient tenancy regulation and expeditious dispute resolution. Any interpretation that revives the very uncertainty, procedural complexity, and multiplicity of proceedings which the enactment sought to eliminate would run contrary to settled principles of purposive statutory construction.

Relevant Statutory Provisions

28. Since the controversy in these petitions turns fundamentally upon the construction of the statute itself, it is necessary, at the outset, to notice, in some detail, the provisions which are material to the present determination. The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 is a self-contained enactment intended to regulate landlord-tenant relations in urban premises through a specialised framework. The questions raised before this Court, therefore, require examination of the relevant statutory framework and the interrelationship of the provisions governing the formalisation of tenancies, the jurisdiction of the statutory forum, the exclusion of civil court jurisdiction, and the overriding effect of the enactment.

29. Section 4(1) provides that after the commencement of the Act, no person shall let or take on rent any premises except by an agreement in writing, and such agreement is to be informed to the Rent Authority in the prescribed manner. The provision is indicative of the legislative preference for written tenancy arrangements, transparency in the relationship between landlord and tenant, and record-based administration of tenancies under the statutory regime.

30. Section 4(3)(b) deals with pre-existing tenancies where no written agreement existed prior to the commencement of the Act, and requires the landlord and tenant to enter into such agreement and present the same before the Rent Authority within the prescribed period. The object of this clause is evidently to bring pre-existing or continuing tenancies within the discipline of the new enactment without disrupting existing occupancy arrangements.

31. The first proviso to Section 4(3) is of particular significance. It contemplates a situation where the parties either fail to present jointly a copy of the tenancy agreement or fail to reach at an agreement within the specified period. In such eventuality, each party is required separately to file particulars of the tenancy before the Rent Authority within prescribed period and the landlord may seek eviction on this ground alone, where he has submitted his particulars but the tenant has failed to do so. The proviso thus discloses that the statute does not proceed on the assumption that every tenancy will, in fact, be reduced into a formal written instrument before the statutory authority; rather, it expressly provides for contingencies of non-compliance by either party.

32. Section 4(7) is equally material. It declares that the information furnished under sub-sections (1), (2), (3) of Section 4 shall constitute □conclusive proof□ of the facts relating to tenancy and matters connected therewith. It further provides that in the absence of any statement of information, the landlord may file an application for eviction on that ground alone. This provision is significant not merely for what it affirms, but also for what it implies. It shows that the Legislature attached evidentiary importance to formal disclosure, but simultaneously contemplated the consequences of failure to furnish such information without thereby destroying the statutory remedy itself. The provision, therefore, must be read as part of the larger scheme of regulation and proof, and not as a clause creating a jurisdictional vacuum.

33. Section 21(2) confers power upon the Rent Authority, on an application moved by the landlord, to order eviction and recovery of possession of the premises on the grounds enumerated therein. It is the principal remedial provision under the Act and provides the substantive machinery by which disputes relating to eviction are to be adjudicated within the special statutory framework.

34. Section 38(1) enacts that, save as otherwise provided in the Act, no Civil Court shall entertain any suit or proceeding insofar as it relates to the provisions of the Act.

35. Section 38(2) stipulates that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority shall be limited to tenancy agreements submitted to it as specified in the First Schedule, and shall not extend to questions of title or ownership of premises.

36. Section 42, finally, gives overriding effect to the Act over anything inconsistent contained in any other law for the time being in force within the State.

37. Read together, these provisions reveal a legislative design that is both regulatory and remedial. Section 4 governs the formalisation and disclosure of tenancy arrangements; Section 21 provides the substantive remedy of eviction and related relief; Section 38 excludes the ordinary civil forum in respect of matters governed by the Act and defines the limits of the Rent Authority's jurisdiction; and Section 42 ensures that the statutory regime prevails over inconsistent legal provisions. The combined effect of Sections 21, 38 and 42 is that once a dispute falls within the statutory field occupied by the Act, the forum, remedy and procedure are intended to be governed by the special machinery created thereunder.

38. It is in that statutory setting that the controversy in the present petitions falls to be determined. The core question is not merely whether a written tenancy agreement exists, but what legal consequence follows from the absence of such an agreement where the landlord-tenant relationship is otherwise admitted or established and the dispute otherwise falls within the framework of the Act. The answer to that question must, therefore, be found by reading the provisions harmoniously, purposively and in light of the object which the Legislature sought to achieve.

Comparative Position Under the Earlier Law

39. For purposes of comparison, it is necessary to notice that the scheme underlying the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 19728 rested upon a materially different legislative framework. The earlier enactment essentially operated as a rent-control and release statute structured around the District Magistrate/Prescribed Authority model. Its provisions principally dealt with regulation of letting, control of rent and premium, determination of standard rent, restrictions upon eviction, and release of premises in specified contingencies. The emphasis of the legislation was thus upon administrative regulation and controlled eviction within a predominantly rent-control framework.

40. The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 marks a conscious legislative departure from that model. Unlike the Act, 1972 the new enactment is not confined merely to rent control or regulation of eviction; rather it establishes a comprehensive and specialised framework governing urban tenancy relationships through formalised contractual arrangements and dedicated adjudicatory mechanisms. The constitution of the Rent Authority and the Rent Tribunal, coupled with the exclusionary provisions contained in Sections 38 and 42, manifests a clear legislative intent to shift tenancy adjudication away from the ordinary Civil Court structure and the earlier administrative-control regime towards specialised statutory fora exercising exclusive jurisdiction in matters covered by the Act.

41. This legislative reorientation is of considerable interpretative significance. Under the earlier regime, landlord-tenant litigation often proceeded through conventional civil or small cause processes, shaped by doctrines and procedures evolved in a different statutory environment. The Act, 2021, by contrast, introduces a self-conscious regulatory frame work in which the tenancy relationship is expected to be documented, disclosed and administered within a statutory system supported by specialised fora. The creation of the Rent Authority, the appellate Rent Tribunal, the bar of civil court jurisdiction in specified matters, and the overriding effect conferred upon the enactment all indicate that the Legislature intended to move away from the uncertainties of the prior regime and towards a more self-contained code for urban tenancy regulation.

42. The transition from the Act, 1972 regime to the framework introduced by the Act, 2021 is therefore not merely institutional but conceptual in nature. The former legislation proceeded primarily on the basis of regulatory control over eviction and rent, whereas the latter seeks to create a tenancy regime founded upon contractual certainty, disclosure obligations, specialised adjudication and expeditious dispute resolution.

Interpretative Consequence

43. The interpretative consequence of this legislative transition is of considerable significance. Once it is recognised that the Act, 2021 was enacted not as a minor procedural supplement to the earlier regime but as a later and more specialised statutory framework, its provisions must be construed in a manner that advances, rather than defeats, that legislative transformation. The Court must therefore read the Act as a whole and give due weight to its structural features, its adjudicatory design and the mischief which it seeks to remedy.

44. The mischief sought to be addressed by the enactment is evident from its scheme. Informal and undocumented tenancies, uncertainty regarding the terms of occupation, multiplicity of proceedings, forum-related objections and delay in adjudication were all features capable of frustrating both landlord remedies and tenant protections. The Act, 2021 responds to those deficiencies by introducing a framework that insists upon greater formality and disclosure, while simultaneously creating specialised fora for adjudication of disputes arising out of tenancy relations.

45. The significance of that statutory scheme lies in the fact that the Act contemplates not merely cases of strict and ideal compliance, but also situations in which the parties may have failed to adhere fully to the procedural discipline contemplated by the enactment. A construction which renders the statutory forum powerless upon every departure from the formal requirements of the Act would, in substance, undermine the very machinery which the Legislature has set in place. The Court must, therefore, avoid any interpretation that would allow the substantive remedial framework of the Act to be defeated by procedural non-compliance alone. If the provisions of the Act were construed so as to disable the Rent Authority from acting in the absence of prior strict compliance, while Section 38 simultaneously excludes recourse to the ordinary civil forum, the inevitable consequence would be the creation of a remedial vacuum. Such a consequence would frustrate, rather than further, the object and purpose of the statute. The Act must, accordingly, receive a construction that preserves its remedial efficacy even in cases of imperfect compliance, subject always to the express language and consequences enacted by the Legislature.

46. The true import of Sections 4, 21, 38 and 42 emerges when the statute is viewed as an integrated scheme. While Section 4 seeks to introduce certainty and transparency through documentation and disclosure of tenancy arrangements, Section 21 creates the substantive mechanism for adjudication of eviction and allied claims. Section 38 correspondingly excludes the jurisdiction of ordinary civil courts in matters assigned to the statutory authorities, and Section 42 reinforces the primacy of the enactment by conferring overriding effect upon its provisions. Collectively, these provisions disclose a legislative intention to entrust disputes arising out of landlord-tenant relationships, within the ambit of the Act, to the specialised adjudicatory framework constituted under the later enactment rather than to the ordinary forum structure operating under the earlier regime.

47. This does not mean that every question arising under the Act stands answered merely by invoking its overriding or exclusionary provisions. It does, however, mean that interpretation must proceed on the premise that the Act, 2021 is intended to be workable, self-executing and remedially effective. The Court must avoid an interpretation that revives the very uncertainty, fragmentation and procedural complexity that the legislation was enacted to overcome. Equally, the Court must avoid construing any one provision in a manner that nullifies the larger statutory design.

48. Accordingly, the provisions of the Act must receive a harmonious and purposive construction that preserves both facets of the legislative scheme, namely, formalisation of tenancy arrangements and effective adjudication of tenancy disputes through specialised statutory fora. It is in the light of that broader statutory context that the true effect of Sections 4, 21, 38 and 42 falls to be considered.

Precedents

49. The authorities cited at the Bar and otherwise, relevant to the controversy, may now be noticed.

50. In Amit Gupta v. Gulab Chandra Kanodia, the Court was principally concerned with two questions. The first was whether proceedings pending before the Court of Small Causes, together with revisions arising therefrom, stood saved or abated upon enforcement of the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021. The second pertained to the scope of the bar contained in Section 38 of the Act, namely, whether such bar was absolute in nature or whether proceedings before the Court of Small Causes would continue to remain maintainable in respect of tenancies not governed by tenancy agreements contemplated under the Act, 2021.

51. While examining the aforesaid questions, the Court undertook an analysis of the legislative history, including the effect of the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1972, and the transition from the earlier rent-control regime to the statutory framework introduced under the Act, 2021. The Court held, in substance, that the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes under the earlier regime was not entirely extinguished and would continue to survive, particularly in relation to disputes concerning tenancies not covered by tenancy agreements executed or submitted in accordance with Section 4 of the Act, 2021.

52. In paragraph 96 of the judgment, as subsequently noticed in the later decisions, it was observed, in substance, that Section 4(3) specifically contemplates a situation where the landlord furnishes the prescribed particulars before the Rent Authority but the tenant fails to comply with the corresponding statutory obligation, in which event eviction proceedings are contemplated under the Act. The Court further observed that where both parties fail to comply with the requirement of furnishing or executing a written tenancy agreement, the statute does not expressly provide a specific mechanism for eviction under the Act, 2021.

53. In Amarjeet Singh v. Smt. Shiv Kumari Yadav, the controversy was comparatively narrower, though more directly connected with the issue arising in the present case. The tenant therein questioned the maintainability of proceedings instituted under Section 21(2) of the Act on the ground that no unique identification number had been allotted, no digital platform contemplated under the Rules had been created, and that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority extended only to tenancy agreements formally submitted before it in accordance with Section 4. The landlord, on the other hand, asserted that the tenant had been called upon through notice to execute the tenancy agreement and furnish the requisite particulars before the Rent Authority, but had failed to comply, whereafter eviction proceedings came to be instituted.

54. The Court in Amarjeet Singh undertook a detailed examination of Section 4 and held that the requirement of furnishing information to the Rent Authority in the format prescribed under the First Schedule is primarily intended to attach evidentiary conclusiveness to such information in relation to the facts of tenancy and connected matters. It was expressly held that furnishing of such information is not a sine qua non for maintaining proceedings under Section 21(2) of the Act. The Court also observed that where the existence of the tenancy relationship is admitted, strict formal compliance with Section 4 cannot be treated as indispensable for invoking the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority, and that in cases where tenancy is disputed, the parties remain at liberty to adduce evidence before the authority in accordance with law.

55. The Court also observed that the earlier decision in Amit Gupta did not conclude the controversy arising before it, since that case had arisen in a different factual and legal context and, according to the learned Judge, had not sufficiently adverted to the import and effect of Section

4(7) of the Act. The decision in Amarjeet Singh thus marked a discernible shift away from a purely formal interpretation of Section 38(2), towards a more purposive construction of Sections 4 and 21 in the context of the broader statutory scheme.

56. In Raman Arora v. Susheel Kumar (Deceased) and connected matters, the Court considered the differing approaches adopted in Amit Gupta and Amarjeet Singh concerning the applicability and reach of the Act, 2021 in relation to pre-existing tenancies. Upon examining the divergent lines of reasoning, the Court ultimately held, on the facts of the case before it, that proceedings instituted before the Court of Small Causes continued to remain maintainable, particularly as no written tenancy agreement had been executed between the parties and the earlier forum-creating legislation, having received Presidential assent, continued to operate in the field.

57. At the same time, the Court expressed reservations regarding certain aspects of the reasoning adopted in Amarjeet Singh and emphasised the necessity of maintaining doctrinal consistency while interpreting Sections 4 and 38 of the Act, 2021. The decision thus reflected the differing judicial approaches regarding the extent to which the absence of a written tenancy agreement affects the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority under the new statutory regime.

58. Prior to the subsequent line of authority, Vishal Rastogi v. Rent Controller/Additional District Magistrate (Judicial) and Another had adopted the view that a tenancy agreement may be either oral or written and that the mere absence of a written instrument does not, by itself, exclude the applicability of the Act, 2021. The Court observed that the expression 'tenancy agreement' occurring in Section 38(2) cannot be construed in an unduly restrictive manner so as to exclude oral tenancies altogether from the statutory framework. It was further held that the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority is not extinguished merely because the tenancy arrangement has not been formally reduced into writing or because the particulars contemplated under the First Schedule have not been furnished before the authority.

59. The reasoning adopted in Vishal Rastogi proceeds on the premise that the Act is fundamentally intended to regulate landlord-tenant relationships and provide a specialised adjudicatory mechanism, and that procedural non-compliance with the requirement of formal documentation cannot be permitted to defeat the substantive operation of the statute. The decision thus lends support to a broader and purposive construction of the enactment consistent with its underlying legislative object.

60. The later decision in Canara Bank Branch Office and Another v. Sri Ashok Kumar carries the discourse further and directly addresses the question whether the absence of a written tenancy agreement or non-furnishing of tenancy particulars before the Rent Authority divests the authority of jurisdiction in cases where the tenancy relationship itself is admitted. The Court framed the issue in express terms, namely, whether the Rent Authority under the Act, 2021 possesses jurisdiction to entertain proceedings initiated by the landlord where no written tenancy agreement has been executed and the landlord has also not furnished the particulars of tenancy before the authority in the prescribed manner.

61. In Canara Bank, the Court undertook a comparative examination of the Model Tenancy Act and the Act, 2021, and noticed a conscious legislative departure adopted by the State Legislature. Under the Model Tenancy Act, failure to intimate either the execution or non-execution of a tenancy agreement attracted the consequence that the landlord and tenant would not be entitled to seek relief under the enactment. The Uttar Pradesh Legislature, however, while enacting the Act, 2021, consciously omitted any such disabling consequence and instead incorporated Section 4(7), which expressly contemplates that, in the absence of any statement of information, the landlord may institute proceedings for eviction on that ground alone.

62. That distinction assumes considerable significance in determining the true legal effect of non-compliance with Section 4. The legislative choice not to incorporate a provision barring remedies under the Act in cases of non-registration or non-furnishing of particulars indicates that the statute does not treat such default as jurisdictionally fatal. Rather, the scheme of Section 4(7) demonstrates that the Legislature envisaged adjudication by the Rent Authority even in situations of non-compliance, thereby reinforcing the broader remedial and regulatory purpose underlying the enactment.

63. A synthesis of the aforesaid decisions indicates that while the Act, 2021 undoubtedly introduces a structured statutory regime emphasising written tenancy arrangements and disclosure of prescribed particulars, the operation of the enactment is not intended to be frustrated solely on account of procedural non-compliance, particularly in cases where the existence of the landlord-tenant relationship is otherwise admitted or capable of being established from the material on record. The judicial trend, as reflected in the later authorities, has been to preserve the efficacy of the specialised adjudicatory framework created under the Act and to avoid an interpretation that would render its remedial provisions ineffective in relation to a substantial category of urban tenancy disputes founded upon oral, informal or pre-existing arrangements.

64. The decisions, when read harmoniously, reflect an underlying recognition that the statute is fundamentally regulatory and remedial in character. Consequently, procedural requirements relating to execution or furnishing of tenancy agreements are not to be construed in a manner that defeats the substantive jurisdiction of the Rent Authority or revives the very uncertainties and multiplicity of proceedings which the enactment sought to remedy.

Whether Reference to a Larger Bench is Warranted

65. Read together, Amit Gupta, Amarjeet Singh, Raman Arora and Canara Bank Branch Office and Another indicate a discernible path toward a coherent and workable reconciliation of the statutory scheme. While Raman Arora cautions against casual departure from earlier precedent and emphasises that any doctrinal evolution must rest upon clear statutory reasoning and, where necessary, authoritative reconsideration, Canara Bank supplies such reasoning through a detailed examination of Section 4(7) and the conscious legislative departure from the framework of the Model Tenancy Act.

66. It is, however, necessary to notice that in Raman Arora considerable emphasis was placed upon the circumstance that the forum of the Judge, Small Causes in landlord-tenant disputes had been preserved under the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1972, an enactment which had received Presidential assent. The reasoning in that decision proceeds substantially on the premise that, in the absence of clear and irreconcilable inconsistency, a subsequent State enactment ought not lightly to be construed as impliedly displacing or effacing a forum created under an earlier law enjoying such assent.

67. That aspect undoubtedly deserves due weight and careful consideration. At the same time, the controversy arising in the present petitions must be examined in the context of the overall scheme, object and interrelationship of the provisions of the Act, 2021. The duty of the Court is to construe the later enactment in a manner that preserves the continued operation of the earlier forum legislation in fields not occupied by the subsequent statute, while simultaneously giving full and meaningful effect to the specialised remedies, overriding provision and jurisdictional bar incorporated in Sections 21, 38 and 42, wherever the dispute pertains to premises and tenancy relationships governed by the Act, 2021, particularly in cases where the existence of the landlord-tenant relationship is admitted or otherwise capable of being established.

68. The mere fact that the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1972 received Presidential assent does not elevate the forum provisions preserved or introduced thereunder to an immutable constitutional status. Presidential assent under Article 254 of the Constitution operates to remove or save repugnancy in relation to an existing Central enactment operating within the Concurrent field; it does not freeze the earlier statutory framework or forum structure in perpetuity so as to denude the competent State Legislature of authority to enact a subsequent law occupying the same legislative field. Consequently, where a later enactment creates a specialised adjudicatory mechanism, incorporates an overriding clause and manifests a clear legislative intention to confer exclusive jurisdiction in respect of a defined class of disputes, full effect must ordinarily be given to the later legislative scheme to the extent of any inconsistency between the two enactments.

69. The distinction noticed in Canara Bank is of considerable interpretative significance. It demonstrates that the Legislature did not intend non-compliance with Section 4 to operate as a statutory dead end or to compel parties to revert, by default, to the older forum structure. On the contrary, the statute itself treats non-submission of the prescribed information as a circumstance enabling invocation of the statutory remedy before the Rent Authority.

70. The analysis undertaken in Canara Bank demonstrates that non-compliance with Section 4 cannot be treated as resulting in a jurisdictional extinction of the authority of the Rent Authority in cases where the existence of the landlord-tenant relationship is admitted or otherwise established. Rather, the decision clarifies that the legislature, despite emphasising formalisation of tenancy arrangements, deliberately refrained from providing that failure to execute or furnish a written tenancy agreement would altogether deprive parties of remedies under the Act. The statutory consequence contemplated under Section 4(7) instead indicates continued adjudicatory competence of the Rent Authority even in situations of procedural default.

71. Viewed in this manner, the aforesaid decisions are capable of being harmoniously understood as recognising that while the Act, 2021 strongly encourages written tenancy arrangements and disclosure of prescribed particulars, the absence of such compliance does not, by itself, oust the jurisdiction of the specialised forum in matters where the tenancy relationship itself is not in serious dispute.

72. The submission advanced on behalf of the petitioners-tenants that the jurisdictional issue arising in the present petition deserves reference to a Larger Bench on the ground of an asserted conflict between the decisions in Amit Gupta and Raman Arora on the one hand, and Amarjeet Singh and Canara Bank on the other, does not commend acceptance. A reference to a Larger Bench is not to be made as a matter of course merely because multiple coordinate Bench decisions are cited; such reference is warranted only where there exists a real and irreconcilable conflict on a material question of law which cannot be resolved by settled principles of precedent and interpretation.

73. Judicial discipline requires the Court, in the first instance, to undertake a genuine exercise to reconcile apparently divergent decisions and to ascertain whether the perceived inconsistency relates to the ratio decidendi or merely arises from differences in factual context, statutory setting, or the extent of observations made. Where earlier decisions can stand together by confining each to its appropriate field of operation, the Court must adopt that course rather than multiply references where the law is, in substance, capable of coherent application.

74. The perceived inconsistency between precedents does not invariably arise from any divergence in the governing principles of law; more often, it is attributable to differences in the factual matrices to which those principles were applied. It is well settled that the binding force of a decision lies in its ratio decidendi, namely, the principle of law emerging from the application of the legal rule to the facts actually determined, and not in every incidental observation or in the ultimate conclusion reached on superficially similar facts. Even a single distinguishing circumstance may materially alter the legal outcome notwithstanding an apparent similarity in the issues involved. This principle was authoritatively stated in Regional Manager v. Pawan Kumar Dubey, where it was observed that apparent conflict between decisions often disappears once their respective ratios are properly ascertained. The classic formulation in Quinn v. Leathem likewise affirms that a case is an authority only for what it actually decides, and not for what may logically or incidentally follow from it. Precedents must, therefore, be applied with due regard to the factual and statutory context in which the governing principle was laid down, and not by a mechanical comparison of conclusions.

75. Tested on the aforesaid principle, this Court finds that no such irreconcilable conflict exists. The line of decisions represented by Amit Gupta and Raman Arora principally addressed the maintainability of proceedings before the civil court or the Court of Small Causes in relation to unwritten or oral tenancies, and, in that context, held that such proceedings are not rendered non-maintainable merely upon enforcement of the Act, 2021. On the other hand, Amarjeet Singh and, more pointedly, Canara Bank considered the converse issue, namely, whether the Rent Authority is denuded of jurisdiction to entertain eviction proceedings merely because no written tenancy agreement has been executed or its particulars have not been furnished.

76. Thus, the two lines of authority operate in distinct though cognate fields. The former concerns the survival and maintainability of proceedings before the ordinary Civil or Small Causes

Court under a transitional or parallel statutory framework, whereas the latter concerns the scope of jurisdiction of the Rent Authority under the Uttar Pradesh Act No. 16 of 2021. Once this distinction is appreciated, the apparent conflict substantially dissolves, as the decisions do not lay down irreconciable propositions on the same legal issue but address different facets of the statutory scheme.

77. The decision in Canara Bank furnishes the necessary doctrinal bridge between Amit Gupta and Amarjeet Singh by demonstrating, from the statutory text itself, that the Act, 2021 contemplates enforceable rights and adjudicatory remedies even in situations where the tenancy arrangement has not been reduced into writing and the prescribed particulars have not been furnished before the Rent Authority. The decision thus reinforces the principle that procedural non-compliance under Section 4 cannot, by itself, be construed as extinguishing the jurisdiction of the specialised forum created under the enactment.

78. This conclusion is reinforced by the legislative contrast noticed in Canara Bank between the U.P. enactment and the Model Tenancy framework, wherein the latter expressly provides disabling consequences, whereas the former consciously omits such stipulation. Where the Legislature, despite being aware of a statutory model, has chosen not to incorporate a disabling consequence, such omission cannot be supplied by judicial interpretation. Viewed thus, Canara Bank does not depart from Amit Gupta or Raman Arora, but clarifies the jurisdictional position within a distinct statutory inquiry.

79. It is well settled that the principle of harmonious construction governs not only statutory interpretation but also the approach to apparently divergent judicial precedents. Where the underlying ratios can be reconciled by reference to their statutory context, factual foundation, or the distinction between binding ratio and general observation, a reference to a Larger Bench is not warranted. Such reference is justified only where reconciliation is impossible, and not where the law merely requires contextual alignment.

80. The circumstances warranting reference are, therefore, clearly absent. First, the perceived divergence does not arise from conflicting ratio on the same legal issue but from differing statutory and factual contexts. Secondly, no issue of fact necessitates reconsideration. Thirdly, the position of law, particularly after Canara Bank, is sufficiently clear that the Rent Authority is not divested of jurisdiction merely because the tenancy is oral or unrecorded. Fourthly, broader observations in earlier decisions must be confined to the issues actually decided therein.

81. In view of the above, this Court is of the considered opinion that the matter does not warrant reference to a Larger Bench. The apparent divergence in the authorities cited is capable of reconciliation on settled principles of precedent, contextual reading, and harmonious construction. Canara Bank provides a coherent exposition of the statutory scheme by clarifying that absence of a written tenancy agreement or non-furnishing of particulars does not, by itself, operate as a bar to the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority, and this position can coexist with the earlier decisions when each is confined to its proper sphere.

82. Having thus held that no reference to a Larger Bench is warranted, and having considered the rival submissions, the statutory framework, and the precedents governing the field, this Court now proceeds to examine the objection founded on the absence of a written tenancy agreement in the light of the relevant provisions of the Act, 2021 and to determine the issues arising for consideration.

Analysis

83. The foremost principle that must guide the interpretative exercise is that the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 is a special and self-contained enactment designed to regulate urban tenancy relationships within the State through a specialised adjudicatory structure comprising the Rent Authority and the Rent Tribunal.

84. The statute does not merely create substantive rights and obligations between landlords and tenants; it simultaneously establishes a complete procedural and remedial framework, including a designated forum of adjudication, summary procedure, appellate mechanism, execution process and a carefully structured scheme of finality. The legislative intent underlying such an enactment is plainly to provide an effective and expeditious mechanism for resolution of tenancy disputes within the statutory framework itself.

85. Consequently, the provisions of the Act cannot be construed in a manner that renders its principal remedial machinery ineffective in relation to the very class of disputes which the legislation was principally enacted to govern. An interpretation that excludes a substantial body of existing urban tenancies from the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority solely on account of absence of formal written documentation would substantially undermine the efficacy of the statutory scheme and defeat the broader legislative purpose underlying the enactment.

86. Ultimately, the Act, 2021 must receive a construction that advances its remedial object and avoids an interpretation that results in denial of remedy in a class of disputes which the statute otherwise seeks to regulate. A construction that makes the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority contingent solely upon procedural compliance by parties who themselves may be in default would run contrary to the legislative intent and materially impair the efficacy of the statutory framework.

87. The need to adopt a coherent and workable construction assumes added significance in view of the divergent approaches being taken by subordinate courts and statutory authorities on the scope and interrelation of Sections 4 and 38 of the Act, 2021. It has, therefore, become necessary to clarify the legal position so that the statute is applied with consistency and litigants are not driven from one forum to another on the basis of differing interpretations. Precedential clarity is of particular importance in rent matters, where the forum, remedy and consequences of default directly affect the rights of both landlord and tenant, and where uncertainty at the trial stage is liable to generate recurring jurisdictional objections, procedural delay and avoidable multiplicity of proceedings.

88. The Court must equally remain guided by the settled principle of harmonious construction. Where two interpretations are reasonably possible, the Court ought to adopt that construction which reconciles the statutory provisions and advances the legislative object rather than one which produces inconsistency or conflict between them. Courts ought not to read conflicts where none truly exist, nor readily infer inconsistency or repugnancy where the statutory provisions can be read together and allowed to operate coherently. Sections 4, 9, 21, 38 and 42 of the Act , 2021 admit of such harmonious construction. A construction which preserves the efficacy of the specialised forum, gives full effect to the remedial framework created by the statute, and avoids unsettling a substantial body of pending and future tenancy disputes must, therefore, be preferred.

Nature of Section 4

89. Section 4 occupies a pivotal position within the legislative framework of the Act, 2021; yet, it cannot be construed in isolation or divorced from the larger statutory scheme embodied in Sections 21, 38 and 42 of the Act. The enactment contemplates not merely situations of ideal compliance through formally executed written tenancy agreements, but also situations in which the parties, despite the statutory mandate, fail to execute or furnish such agreements before the Rent Authority. In such cases, the legislative response is not the collapse of the statutory mechanism or the exclusion of jurisdiction, but the continued operation of the specialised fora created under the Act itself.

90. The statutory scheme indicates that the requirement of a written tenancy agreement is intended to advance certainty, transparency, disclosure and evidentiary discipline in urban tenancy relations. At the same time, the adjudicatory framework established by the Act is designed to ensure that disputes arising out of landlord-tenant relationships are not rendered remediless merely because the parties have failed to conform to the prescribed formal structure. A contrary interpretation would permit the substantive remedial framework of the statute to be defeated by procedural non-compliance and would revive the very uncertainty, multiplicity of proceedings and forum-related confusion which the legislation sought to remove.

91. Section 4 must, therefore, be understood as assuming an enabling, regulatory and evidentiary character. Its object is to encourage disclosure, documentary certainty and administrative supervision, and not to nullify the statutory remedies available to either landlord or tenant in the event of dispute. The Act does not indicate that failure to comply with the formal requirements under Section 4 results in forfeiture of rights or extinction of jurisdiction. On the contrary, the structure of the enactment suggests that such non-compliance may attract evidentiary or procedural consequences, but not the drastic consequence of ousting the jurisdiction of the specialised authority.

92. Although Section 4 employs the expression □shall□, the statute does not prescribe any consequence divesting the landlord of the right to seek eviction merely because the prescribed particulars were not furnished before the Rent Authority. A construction which elevates prior intimation into a jurisdictional precondition for the maintainability of proceedings under the Act would substantially frustrate the object and operation of the enactment itself. It is a settled principle of interpretation that procedural prescriptions intended to facilitate justice are not ordinarily construed so as to destroy substantive rights unless the statute clearly commands such a result.

93. Section 4, therefore, cannot be read as a disabling provision intended to defeat the jurisdiction of the statutory forum. Its evident purpose is to formalise tenancy relationships, minimise disputes concerning the terms of tenancy, and introduce documentary certainty through submission of prescribed information and allotment of a unique identification number. The provision is thus regulatory and evidentiary in character, intended to strengthen transparency and institutional record-keeping within the statutory regime, and not to transform procedural default into a jurisdictional bar.

94. Section 4(7) is particularly significant in this regard. While it provides that information furnished before the Rent Authority shall constitute conclusive proof regarding facts relating to tenancy and connected matters, the absence of such information does not result in annihilation of the tenancy relationship nor extinguishment of the landlord□s statutory remedy. On the contrary, the structure of the enactment suggests that non-submission of the prescribed information may itself furnish a ground enabling the landlord to invoke the eviction mechanism under the Act. The provision, therefore, reinforces the conclusion that procedural default under Section 4 does not operate as a jurisdictional bar to proceedings before the Rent Authority.

Proof of Tenancy and Existence of Tenancy

95. The evidentiary function of Section 4 also necessitates a distinction between proof of tenancy and the existence of tenancy itself. Section 4 provides a statutory mechanism for formal proof, disclosure and institutional record of tenancy arrangements, and information furnished thereunder carries evidentiary value within the scheme of the Act. However, the absence of such formal compliance does not ipso facto extinguish the underlying landlord-tenant relationship where its existence is otherwise admitted or is capable of being established from the material on record.

96. In cases where the relationship of landlord and tenant is admitted and undisputed, the principal evidentiary object underlying Section 4 stands substantially satisfied by such admission itself. To insist, in every case, upon prior submission of particulars in the First Schedule as an inflexible condition precedent to the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority would amount to elevating procedural form over substantive rights and remedies, a consequence not borne out by the language, structure or purpose of the enactment. Properly construed, Section 4 regulates the mode of formalisation and proof of tenancy; it does not determine the very existence of the jural relationship itself in cases where that relationship is otherwise admitted or established.

97. This distinction assumes particular importance in applying the Act to pre-existing or unwritten tenancies. The statutory requirement of reduction into writing serves the object of certainty and orderly administration; but the absence of such formalisation cannot, in itself, efface an otherwise admitted tenancy relationship or place the dispute beyond the regulatory field of the Act. To hold otherwise would be to confuse the statutory mode of evidencing tenancy with the legal existence of tenancy, and thereby to attribute to Section 4 a disabling consequence which the Legislature has nowhere chosen to impose.

Construction of Section 38(2)

98. It is in the aforesaid backdrop that Section 38(2) falls to be construed. To read that provision as wholly excluding the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority whenever no written tenancy agreement exists would substantially defeat the scheme of the Act itself. Such an interpretation would render Section 4(3)(b) largely unworkable, notwithstanding that the provision expressly contemplates pre-existing oral or unwritten tenancies and requires such arrangements to be reduced into writing. It would equally render otiose the first proviso to Section 4(3) and Section 4(7), both of which are predicated upon failure to arrive at agreement or failure to submit particulars before the Rent Authority. An interpretation that reduces these provisions to futility or redundancy cannot be accepted.

99. Indeed, any construction suggesting that the Act provides no adjudicatory remedy in relation to unwritten tenancies would run directly contrary to the evident remedial and regulatory purpose underlying the enactment. Courts ordinarily avoid interpretations that create rights without remedies, obligations without enforceability, or statutory fora without effective jurisdiction. A construction that excludes a substantial category of existing urban tenancies from the operation of the Act merely because the parties failed to formalise the arrangement in writing would revive the very uncertainty and multiplicity of proceedings which the legislation sought to remedy.

100. Equally significant is the consequence that would ensue if the tenant□s objection were accepted. If absence of a written tenancy agreement were to oust the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority, while Section 38 simultaneously excludes the jurisdiction of civil courts, the result would be a legal vacuum whereby an admitted tenancy dispute would be left without any effective forum. Such a construction would defeat the object of the Act, 2021 and produce consequences which the Court must avoid when a coherent alternative interpretation is available.

101. Properly construed, Section 38(2) is intended to confine the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority to disputes arising out of landlord-tenant relationships governed by the Act and to exclude adjudication of complicated questions of title and ownership more appropriately triable before ordinary civil courts. The reference to tenancy agreements submitted before the authority indicates that information furnished in the prescribed manner ordinarily constitutes the basis for streamlined and summary adjudication under the statutory scheme. However, the provision cannot be interpreted to mean that an admitted or otherwise established landlord-tenant relationship ceases to fall within the ambit of the Act merely because the parties defaulted in complying with the procedural requirements of Section 4.

102. The expression concerning tenancy agreements submitted to the authority cannot be read divorced from Section 4(3)(b) and Section 4(7), for the statute itself expressly envisages situations where no written agreement was executed or where the prescribed particulars were not furnished. Section 38(2), therefore, does not operate to exclude oral or unwritten tenancies altogether from the statutory framework, nor does it mandate that every such dispute must necessarily be relegated to the Court of Small Causes. To accept such a construction would not only render certain provisions of Section 4 substantially otiose, but would also undermine the legislative intention of creating a specialised and self-contained adjudicatory mechanism for regulation of urban tenancy disputes under the Act, 2021.

103. Accordingly, the correct interpretative approach is to read Section 4 and Section 38(2) harmoniously, so that the formal requirements of the statute are given due effect without permitting procedural non-compliance to destroy the remedial framework established by the Legislature. So understood, the Act continues to operate as a workable and effective code regulating tenancy relations through specialised fora, while preserving the distinction between proof of tenancy, existence of tenancy, and the jurisdictional limits of the Rent Authority.

Legislative Purpose

104. The aforesaid interpretation also accords with the broader legislative purpose underlying the enactment. The Act, 2021 was introduced with the object of replacing the earlier regime by establishing a more, efficient and specialised mechanism for adjudication of disputes relating to urban tenancies. The statute seeks to regulate landlord-tenant relationships through a comprehensive framework emphasising transparency, certainty and expeditious resolution of disputes before specialised fora.

105. If cases involving admitted or otherwise established tenancies are nevertheless driven outside the statutory framework merely because the parties failed to comply with the procedural requirements of Section 4, the consequence would be anomalous. The greater the non-compliance with the statutory mandate, the stronger would become the argument for excluding applicability of the Act itself. Such a construction would effectively permit parties to defeat the operation of the statute by relying upon their own default and would undermine the efficacy of the specialised adjudicatory mechanism created by the Legislature.

106. The Court must, therefore, avoid an interpretation that rewards procedural non-compliance and frustrates the legislative object underlying the enactment. The statute was intended to bring informal and unstructured urban tenancy arrangements within a regulated legal framework, not to render the statutory remedies unavailable precisely in relation to the class of tenancies that historically existed without formal written documentation.

Reconciliation of the Earlier Decisions

107. The observations in Amit Gupta must be understood in the factual and legal context in which that decision was rendered. The principal controversy there concerned the survival of pending proceedings before the Court of Small Causes and the extent to which the Act, 2021 affected the earlier forum structure preserved under the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1972. The decision cannot be construed as laying down an inflexible proposition that every unwritten tenancy necessarily falls outside the ambit of the Act, 2021, irrespective of the nature of the dispute or the admitted existence of the landlord-tenant relationship.

108. Similarly, Raman Arora, while emphasising the continued relevance of the earlier forum structure and cautioning against casual departure from precedent, arose in the context of reconciling the new enactment with the jurisdiction historically exercised by the Court of Small Causes. The decision underscores the need for doctrinal consistency, but does not conclusively hold that the Rent Authority is divested of jurisdiction in every case where the tenancy arrangement has not been reduced into writing.

109. On the other hand, Vishal Rastogi recognised that a tenancy arrangement may be oral as well as written and held that absence of formal documentation does not, by itself, exclude the applicability of the Act, 2021. Amarjeet Singh directly addressed the question whether furnishing of information under Section 4 constitutes a condition precedent to maintainability of proceedings under Section 21(2), and answered the issue in the negative where the tenancy relationship is admitted. The reasoning subsequently elaborated in Canara Bank, particularly with reference to Section 4(7) and the conscious legislative departure from the Model Tenancy Act, further clarifies that procedural non-compliance under Section 4 was not intended to result in extinction of the statutory remedy or ouster of the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority.

110. Read harmoniously, the aforesaid decisions support the conclusion that while the Act strongly encourages formalisation and disclosure of tenancy arrangements, the absence of a written tenancy agreement does not, by itself, place an admitted landlord-tenant dispute outside the adjudicatory framework created under the Act, 2021.

Harmonious Principle

111. The statutory scheme, when harmoniously construed, leads to the conclusion that where the premises are covered by Section 1(3), are not excluded from the operation of the statute, and the existence of the landlord-tenant relationship is admitted or otherwise undisputed, the provisions of the Act, 2021 would apply notwithstanding the absence of a written tenancy agreement or non-submission of the prescribed particulars before the Rent Authority. In such cases, disputes relating to eviction, arrears of rent, revision of rent and allied reliefs are required to be pursued before the specialised forum constituted under the Act, and the jurisdiction of the ordinary civil court, including the Court of Small Causes, would stand excluded by virtue of Section 38(1).

112. Conversely, where the dispute substantially involves questions of title or ownership, or where the premises fall outside the territorial, subject-matter or statutory ambit of the Act, including cases expressly excluded from its operation, the bar contained in Section 38 would not operate so as to exclude recourse to the ordinary civil forum. Such a construction preserves the legitimate scope and content of Section 38(2) without permitting the provision to defeat or consume the broader statutory framework itself.

113. The Court is, therefore, of the considered opinion that the Act, 2021 maintains a clear distinction between non-compliance with regulatory formalities and the substantive applicability of the statutory regime. Failure to execute or furnish a written tenancy agreement may entail statutory consequences, evidentiary limitations, or procedural complications, but it does not, in cases of admitted or otherwise established tenancy, operate to oust the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority to entertain proceedings otherwise maintainable under the Act.

114. The Court is, therefore, of the considered opinion that the Act, 2021 draws a clear and categorical distinction between non-compliance with regulatory formalities and absence of jurisdiction. Failure to execute or furnish a written tenancy agreement may attract such statutory consequences as the Act itself contemplates and may, in an appropriate case, bear upon proof or procedure; it does not, however, in a case of admitted or otherwise established tenancy, operate to denude the Rent Authority of jurisdiction to entertain proceedings otherwise maintainable under the Act. Any other construction would not merely elevate form over substance; it would impermissibly enable a party to derive advantage from its own default and would frustrate the very remedial scheme which the Legislature has enacted.

Conclusions

115. Upon consideration of the submissions advanced, the statutory framework, and the material placed on record, this Court finds the challenge raised by the petitioners to be untenable. The Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 does not exclude oral, month-to-month, or otherwise unwritten tenancies from its statutory ambit merely because such arrangements were not reduced into writing or because the prescribed particulars were not furnished before the Rent Authority. Where the relationship of landlord and tenant is admitted or otherwise established, and the dispute falls within the field occupied by the statute, proceedings before the Rent Authority remain maintainable notwithstanding the absence of a written tenancy agreement.

116. Sections 4(1) and 4(3)(b) are mandatory regulatory provisions intended to formalise, record and bring certainty to tenancy arrangements through written documentation and disclosure of particulars before the statutory authority. Section 4(7), in turn, contemplates the consequence of non-furnishing of such information and leaves no manner of doubt that the Legislature did not intend procedural non-compliance to result in wholesale exclusion from the operation of the Act. These provisions cannot, therefore, be construed as creating a blanket exclusion from the statutory framework, nor as rendering proceedings before the Rent Authority inherently non-maintainable in every case of non-compliance, nor as otherwise creating a jurisdictional bar against recourse to the specialised forum constituted under the enactment.

117. Section 38(2), properly construed, excludes adjudication of disputes relating to title and ownership and confines the jurisdiction of the Rent Authority to landlord-tenant disputes entrusted to it under the statute. It does not require ordinary tenancy disputes to be relegated to the Court of Small Causes merely because the tenancy arrangement is oral, month-to-month or unwritten, or because the prescribed particulars were not submitted in the manner contemplated under Section 4 of the Act.

118. This Court is of the considered opinion that absence of a written tenancy agreement, by itself, does not denude the Rent Authority of jurisdiction under the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 where the tenancy relationship is admitted or otherwise established in accordance with law. The objections raised by the petitioners on the ground of maintainability, therefore, do not merit acceptance.

119. It is, however, clarified that the observations made hereinabove shall not be construed as diluting the statutory mandate embodied in Section 4 of the Act, nor as creating any disincentive for execution and intimation of written tenancy agreements in the manner contemplated therein.

Decision

120. For the foregoing reasons, this Court holds that the Rent Authority possessed jurisdiction to entertain the proceedings in both petitions, and the Rent Tribunal committed no error in affirming that view. No jurisdictional infirmity, patent illegality, or perversity has been demonstrated so as to warrant interference by this Court in exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

121. Accordingly, both petitions are dismissed. The impugned orders dated 14.08.2025 and 19.01.2026 in the first petition, and the orders dated 16.09.2025 and 08.01.2026 in the connected petition, are affirmed. No order as to costs.

(2026) 5 ILRA 637

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION

CIVIL SIDE

DATED: ALLAHABAD 21.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Matters Under Article 227 No. 6007 of 2026

Fayyazuddin ...Petitioners

Versus

Prashant Kumar Singh & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

(i) Whether the petitioner-tenant validly tendered rent to the landlords and whether refusal thereof was established so as to justify recourse to proceedings under Section 30(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972

(ii) Whether the deposits allegedly made by the petitioner under Section 30(1) of the Act were valid statutory deposits in compliance with Rule 21 of the Rules framed there under and, consequently, liable to be adjusted while considering the petitioner's claim for benefit under Section 20(4) of the Act

(iii) Whether the petitioner was disentitled from claiming the benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act in view of the proviso appended thereto on account of acquisition of another residential accommodation by a member of his family within the same municipal limits.

(iv) Whether the notices determining tenancy and demanding arrears were duly served upon the petitioner and whether the tenancy stood validly terminated in accordance with law;

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972- Section 20(2)(a)& 30(1); The U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Rules, 1972- Rule 22(f)- The statutory scheme of Section 30 and Rule 21 mandates that every deposit must be accompanied by procedural compliances intended to ensure notice and intimation to the landlord, and the requirement of accompanying the deposit with process fee and notice in prescribed Form 'F' thus constitutes an integral part of the statutory mechanism governing valid deposits under Section 30 of the Act. Consequently, unless the deposit is made strictly in accordance with Rule 21, the tenant cannot claim the legal fiction contemplated under Section 30(6) treating such deposit as valid payment to the landlord.

The evidence on record clearly demonstrates that no material whatsoever was produced by the petitioner to establish compliance with the mandatory requirement of furnishing notice in prescribed Form 'F' together with requisite process fee to the landlords regarding subsequent deposits. On the contrary, during cross-examination the petitioner himself admitted that no notice regarding deposits under Section 30 had been furnished to the respondent-landlords, and both courts have concurrently recorded this admission.

The mandatory requirement contained in Rule 21 is not an empty formality; its purpose is to ensure that the landlord receives intimation regarding deposit and is enabled to withdraw the amount deposited in court. Unless such requirement is complied with, the deposit cannot legally operate as a substitute for payment to the landlord and the statutory fiction under Section 30(6), whereby a valid deposit is deemed to be payment to the landlord, becomes operative only when the deposit is made strictly in the manner prescribed by law.

A defective or irregular deposit cannot extinguish the default contemplated under Section 20(2)(a) of the Act. Consequently, the courts below rightly held that the deposits relied upon by the petitioner could not be treated as valid deposits under Section 30 and, therefore, could not be adjusted while extending benefit under Section 20(4) of the Act.

The record also contains an admission of the petitioner during cross-examination that the disputed premises had originally been taken on rent for residential purposes. In such circumstances, the plea that the accommodation was commercial in nature and that acquisition of residential accommodation by the tenant's family would not attract the proviso to Section 20(4) does not merit acceptance.

Once it is found that the tenancy related to residential accommodation and that the tenant or a member of his family has acquired another residential building in the same municipality and is residing therein, the statutory disqualification contemplated under the proviso clearly stands attracted and the petitioner cannot claim the protective relief under Section 20(4) of the Act.

Held- The concurrent findings recorded by the courts below regarding default in payment of rent, invalidity of the deposits purportedly made under Section 30(1) of the Act, due service of notices determining tenancy and disentitlement of the petitioner from claiming protection under Section 20(4) are fully borne out from the evidence on record and stand in complete consonance with the provisions of the Act and the Rules framed there under. Petition dismissed. (E-15)

(Para 40, 49, 50, 51, 57, 58 & 66)

Case Law Cited

Hari Gopal v. Vijay Kumar & Ors 2006 SCC OnLine All 1050; Dinkar Verma @ Jay Singh v. Rajan Kumar Gupta & Ors 2024 (11) ADJ 759; Smt. Rani Devi & Others v. Addl. District & Sessions Judge RENT CONTROL No. - 77 of 2017; E. Palanisamy v. Palanisamy (2003) 1 SCC 123; Jagat Prasad v. District Judge, Kanpur 1995 Supp (1) SCC 318 (1)

List of Acts

The Constitution of India, 1950; The U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972; The U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Rules, 1972

List of Keywords

Act 13 of 1972; Section 30(1) ; Section 20; Rule 21(5) not mere formality; Every deposit must accompanied by procedural compliances ; Ensure Notice to Landlord; Irregular deposit u/s 20(2)(a); Tenant/family member acquired another residential building ; Same municipality ; No protective relief u/s 20(4) of the Act

Case Arising From

Judgment and decree dated 02.03.2019 passed by the Judge, Small Causes Court, Bijnor in SCC Suit No.35 of 2012, whereby the suit instituted by the respondent-landlords for eviction, recovery of arrears of rent and damages came to be decreed, as well as the judgment and order dated 28.03.2026 passed by the revisional court in SCC Revision No.11 of 2019 affirming the same.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Digvijay Singh
Counsel for Respondent(s) : Abhijeet Mukherji, Sushmita Mukherjee

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shashi Kant Shukla, learned Senior Counsel appearing along with Sri Digvijay Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Tarun Agrawal, learned Senior Counsel appearing along with Ms. Sushmita Mukherjee and Sri Abhijeet Mukherji, counsel for the respondents.

2. The present petition has been instituted by the tenant under Article 227 of the Constitution of India assailing the judgment and decree dated 02.03.2019 passed by the Judge, Small Causes Court, Bijnor in SCC Suit No.35 of 2012, whereby the suit instituted by the respondent-landlords for eviction, recovery of arrears of rent and damages came to be decreed, as well as the judgment and order dated 28.03.2026 passed by the revisional court in SCC Revision No.11 of 2019 affirming the same.

3. The disputed premises, namely Haveli No.293 comprising two eastern-facing rooms, one southern-facing room together with a verandah, inner and outer courtyards and a boundary wall situated at Kasba Haldaur, District Bijnor, was admittedly let out to the petitioner-tenant on 01.12.1962 by the erstwhile owner, late Kunwar Shiv Mahendra Kumar Singh. The tenancy was pleaded to be a month-to-month tenancy commencing from the first day of each English calendar month and terminating on the last day thereof, and it is not in dispute that the provisions of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 19721 were applicable to the premises in question.

4. According to the plaint allegations, the petitioner-tenant committed default in payment of rent as well as municipal taxes. It was specifically pleaded that although rent had remained unpaid with effect from 01.04.1993, the respondent-landlords, keeping in view the law of limitation, restricted their claim for arrears to the period from 01.09.2009 to 31.08.2012.

5. It was further alleged that despite repeated demands and service of notice, the tenant neither cleared the outstanding dues nor vacated the tenanted premises. The landlords caused a notice dated 09.10.2012 to be issued through counsel demanding payment of arrears and terminating the tenancy, which was returned unserved with a postal endorsement indicating that the addressee was not available. Subsequently, another notice dated 25.10.2012 was sent requiring the tenant to clear the arrears of rent, municipal taxes and notice expenses within one month and intimating termination of tenancy under Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act upon expiry of the notice period; this notice was returned with a postal endorsement of refusal dated 31.10.2012.

6. Consequently, the respondent-landlords instituted SCC Suit No.35 of 2012 seeking eviction of the defendant-tenant, recovery of arrears of rent and municipal taxes and damages for use and occupation for the period 01.09.2009 to 31.08.2012.

7. The petitioner-tenant entered appearance and filed written statement contesting the suit. It was pleaded that the original landlord, late Kunwar Shiv Mahendra Kumar Singh, had received rent up to 31.03.1993 and, upon his death on 21.04.1996, the respondent-landlords along with their mother became entitled to receive the same. According to the petitioner, repeated attempts were made to tender rent personally to the landlords but the same was refused, and rent was thereafter remitted through various money orders which too were returned unpaid.

8. The petitioner further asserted that upon refusal of rent he instituted proceedings under Section 30(1) of the Act before the Civil Judge (Junior Division), Bijnor, registered as Miscellaneous Case No.22 of 2007, wherein rent for the period from 01.04.1993 to 31.03.2007 was deposited. It was also pleaded that subsequent rent continued to be deposited in court through tenders and that by January 2012 rent stood deposited up to 31.12.2012, and on that basis it was contended that no arrears were due and the tenant could not be treated as a defaulter within the meaning of Section 20(2)(a) of the Act.

9. The petitioner-tenant denied service of notices dated 09.10.2012 and 25.10.2012 and alleged collusion between the respondent-landlords and the postal authorities on the premise that the Post Office was situated in a building belonging to the landlords and that the concerned postman was under their influence, on account whereof false postal endorsements had allegedly been procured. The petitioner further contended that the notices in question were invalid and contrary to the requirements of Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act as well as Section 20 of the Act no. 13 of 1972.

10. It was additionally pleaded that the disputed premises was not residential in nature but was being used for the purposes of timber and wood depot business, that the eastern boundary disclosed in the plaint was incorrect, and that a platform/chabutra forming part of the tenancy had not been included in the suit premises, rendering the suit defective on account of partial eviction.

11. The petitioner-tenant also claimed the benefit of Section 20(4) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 on the ground that on the first date of hearing, namely 21.01.2013, he had deposited the entire amount of alleged arrears together with interest, costs of the suit, advocate□s fee and clerk's fee and was, therefore, entitled to statutory protection against eviction.

12. The respondent-landlords filed replication controverting the assertions made in the written statement and specifically pleaded that no notice or intimation regarding the deposits allegedly made under Section 30(1) of the Act had ever been furnished to them in the manner contemplated under Rule 21(5) of the Rules framed thereunder. It was further denied that the premises in question was being used for commercial purposes or that the petitioner was carrying on any timber business therein, and the landlords asserted that the disputed premises was residential in nature and that the petitioner along with his family had already acquired another residential accommodation within the same municipal limits, thereby disentitling him from claiming the benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act.

13. In support of their case, the respondent-landlords examined PW-1 Suresh Singh, Mukhtar-e-Khas of the plaintiff Prashant Kumar Singh, and proved the notices dated 09.10.2012 and 25.10.2012, postal receipts, returned envelopes, municipal assessment records, electoral rolls and documents obtained under the Right to Information Act relating to acquisition of residential property by the petitioner□s son, Danish, within Nagar Palika Haldaur. The petitioner-tenant examined himself as DW-1 and produced documentary evidence in support of his case.

14. Upon a consideration of the pleadings, documentary material and oral evidence brought on record, the Judge, Small Causes Court, Bijnor by judgment and decree dated 02.03.2019 decreed the suit. The trial court, inter alia, recorded findings that the disputed premises was governed by the provisions of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, that the defendant-tenant had committed default in payment of rent as well as municipal taxes, and that the deposits purportedly made under Section 30(1) of the Act were not legally valid on account of non-compliance with the mandatory requirement contained in Rule 21(5), inasmuch as no notice or intimation of such deposits had been served upon the landlords.

15. The trial court further held that the notices determining the tenancy had been duly and validly served and consequently the tenancy stood lawfully terminated. It was additionally found that the tenant was disentitled to the benefit contemplated under Section 20(4) of the Act, having acquired, through his family, another residential accommodation within the same municipal limits, and the suit was decreed directing eviction of the defendant-tenant from the premises in dispute, recovery of arrears of rent and municipal taxes amounting to Rs.1545/-, and payment of damages for use and occupation at the rate of Rs.1000/- per month from the date of institution of the suit until delivery of vacant possession.

16. Aggrieved, the defendant-tenant preferred S.C.C. Revision No.11 of 2019 under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act before the District Judge, Bijnor. The revisional court, upon an appraisal of the pleadings, evidence and material on record, affirmed the findings returned by the trial court and dismissed the revision by judgment and order dated 28.03.2026.

17. The revisional court, in particular, recorded a finding that the revisionist himself had admitted non-payment of rent with effect from 01.04.1993. It further observed that the money orders relied upon by the tenant neither contained proper addresses nor carried any endorsement of refusal so as to establish a valid tender of rent, and that compliance with the mandatory requirement of Rule 21(5) relating to service of notice of deposits made under Section 30(1) of the Act had not been proved and, on the contrary, the tenant admitted in his cross-examination that no notice regarding such deposits had been furnished to the landlords.

18. The revisional court additionally affirmed the finding that the tenant had acquired another residential accommodation through his family within the same municipal limits and was, therefore, disentitled to claim the benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act. The finding recorded by the trial court with regard to valid termination of tenancy through notices dated 09.10.2012 and 25.10.2012 was also upheld, the revisional court observing that the tenant had failed to rebut the statutory presumption arising from refusal of notice sent.

19. Challenging the aforesaid concurrent judgments, the defendant-tenant has instituted the present petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India invoking the supervisory jurisdiction of this Court.

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the tenant had bona fide deposited rent before the court with a genuine intention to discharge his obligations as a tenant and to avoid any allegation of default. It was contended that the landlords were throughout aware of the deposits so made and, therefore, strict insistence upon procedural formalities under Rule 21 ought not to defeat the substantive protection available to the tenant under the Act.

21. It was urged that substantial compliance with the statutory requirements stood sufficiently established and that the deposits could not have been ignored while considering the petitioner's entitlement to the protective benefit contemplated under Section 20(4) of the Act. It was further contended that in any case the petitioner had deposited the entire amount contemplated under Section 20(4) of the Act on the first date of hearing and thereby fully complied with the statutory conditions required for seeking relief against eviction.

22. According to learned counsel, once the entire arrears together with interest and costs stood deposited, the courts below committed manifest illegality in decreeing the suit for eviction instead of extending to the tenant the statutory protection envisaged under Section 20(4) of the Act. It was lastly submitted that the accommodation in question was commercial in nature and had been utilised for business purposes and, therefore, the subsequent acquisition of a residential accommodation by the tenant or a member of his family could not operate as a disqualification for claiming protection under Section 20(4) of the Act.

23. It was argued that acquisition of a residential premises has no nexus with continuance of tenancy rights in respect of a commercial accommodation and, consequently, the courts below erred in invoking the proviso appended to Section 20(4) for denying the statutory protection otherwise available to the petitioner-tenant.

24. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents-landlords supported the impugned judgments and submitted that the deposits allegedly made by the petitioner-tenant under Section 30(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 were wholly invalid and non est in the eye of law, inasmuch as the mandatory requirements prescribed under Rule 21 of the Rules framed under the Act were admittedly not complied with.

25. It was contended that the statutory protection contemplated under Section 20(4) of the Act could be claimed only on the basis of valid deposits made strictly in accordance with the prescribed procedure and not on the basis of defective or irregular deposits. Learned counsel submitted that under the statutory scheme governing Section 30 of the Act, every subsequent deposit is required to be accompanied by requisite process fee and notice in prescribed Form "F" so as to ensure due intimation to the landlord regarding the deposit made before the court and that, once such mandatory compliance was absent, the deposits lost their statutory character and could not legally be treated as valid deposits within the meaning of Section 30 of the Act.

26. It was further contended that the petitioner had failed to deposit the entire amount legally recoverable from him and consequently continued to remain a defaulter within the meaning of Section 20(2)(a) of the Act. Mere deposit of certain amounts before the court, without satisfying the mandatory statutory requirements and without clearing the entire legally recoverable dues, could not absolve the tenant from the consequences of persistent default contemplated under the Act.

27. Learned counsel for the respondents lastly submitted that the trial court had rightly denied the benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act to the petitioner also on account of the proviso appended thereto. It was argued that the evidence available on record clearly established that the son of the petitioner-tenant had acquired a residential accommodation within the limits of the same municipality and that the petitioner himself was residing therein, and consequently the case stood squarely covered by the statutory disqualification contained in the proviso to Section 20(4), thereby independently disentitling the petitioner from claiming protection against eviction. In supporting the aforesaid submission, reliance was placed upon the decisions in Hari Gopal v. Vijay Kumar & Ors., Dinkar Verma @ Jay Singh v. Rajan Kumar Gupta & Ors. and Smt. Rani Devi & Others v. Addl. District & Sessions Judge .

28. Upon consideration of the pleadings of the parties, the evidence brought on record, the findings returned by the courts below and the submissions advanced on behalf of the respective parties, the following questions arise for determination in the present petition:

(i) Whether the petitioner-tenant validly tendered rent to the landlords and whether refusal thereof was established so as to justify recourse to proceedings under Section 30(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972;

(ii) Whether the deposits allegedly made by the petitioner under Section 30(1) of the Act were valid statutory deposits in compliance with Rule 21 of the Rules framed thereunder and, consequently, liable to be adjusted while considering the petitioner's claim for benefit under Section 20(4) of the Act;

(iii) Whether the petitioner was disentitled from claiming the benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act in view of the proviso appended thereto on account of acquisition of another residential accommodation by a member of his family within the same municipal limits.

(iv) Whether the notices determining tenancy and demanding arrears were duly served upon the petitioner and whether the tenancy stood validly terminated in accordance with law;

29. In order to properly appreciate the controversy, it is apposite to notice the statutory provisions governing eviction on the ground of default, deposit of rent before the court and the conditional protection available to a tenant under U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. The relevant provisions are extracted herein below :

"Section 20. Bar of suit for eviction of tenant except on specified grounds.

… … ...

(4) In any suit for eviction on the ground mentioned in clause (a) of sub-section (2), if at the first hearing of the suit the tenant unconditionally pays or tenders to the landlord or deposits in Court the entire amount of rent and damages for use and occupation of the building due from him (such damages for use and occupation being calculated at the same rate as rent) together with interest thereon at the rate of nine per cent per annum and the landlord's costs of the suit in respect thereof, after deducting therefrom any amount already deposited by the tenant under sub-section (1) of Section 30, the Court may, in lieu of passing a decree for eviction on that ground, pass an order relieving the tenant against his liability for eviction on that ground:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply in relation to a tenant who or any member of whose family has built or has otherwise acquired in a vacant state, or has got vacated after acquisition, any residential building in the same city, municipality, notified area or town area."

Section 30. Deposit of rent in Court in certain circumstances

(1) If any person claiming to be a tenant of a building tenders any amount as rent in respect of the building to its alleged landlord and the alleged landlord refuses to accept the same then the former may deposit such amount in the prescribed manner and continue to deposit any rent which he alleges to be due for any subsequent period in respect of such building until the landlord in the meantime signifies by notice in writing to the tenant his willingness to accept it.

(2) Where any bona fide doubt or dispute has arisen as to the person who is entitled to receive any rent in respect of any building, the tenant may likewise deposit the rent stating the circumstances under which such deposit is made and may, until such doubt has been removed or such dispute has been settled by the decision of any competent Court or by settlement between the parties, continue to deposit the rent that may subsequently become due in respect of such building.

(3) The deposit referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be made in the Court of the Munsif having jurisdiction.

(4) On any deposit being made under sub-section (1), the Court shall cause a notice of the deposit to be served on the alleged landlord, and the amount of deposit may be withdrawn by that person on application made by him to the Court in that behalf.

(5) On any deposit being made under sub-section (2), the Court shall cause notice of the deposit to be served on the person or persons concerned and hold the amount of the deposit for the benefit of the person who may be found entitled to it by any competent Court or by a settlement between the parties and the same shall be payable to such person.

(6) In respect of a deposit made as aforesaid, it shall be deemed that the person depositing it has paid it on the date of such deposit to the person in whose favour it is deposited in the case referred to in sub-section (1) or to the landlord in the case referred to in sub-section (2)."

30. Rule 21 of the Rules framed under the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Rules, 1972 lays down the manner in which the rent has to be deposited in Court under Section 30 of the Act. Rule 21 provides as follows:

"21. Deposit of rent [Section 30].-(1) Any person desirous of depositing rent under Section 30 shall apply in Form "E". The application shall be accompanied by as many copies thereof as there are opposite parties and also the process fee and notices in Form "F". (2) The deposit shall be made under the head "P-Deposits and Advances-II-Deposits not bearing interest-C-

Other Deposit Accounts (B)-Departmental and Judicial Deposits-Civil Deposits-Civil Court's Deposits".

(3) On such deposit being made, the Court shall cause notice of the deposit to be served on the opposite party along with a copy of the application.

(4) Where a notice of the deposit is returned unserved, the Court shall fix a date on or before which the applicant shall deposit fresh process fee and notice in Form "F". If within the time so allowed or within such extended time, as the Court may grant, the applicant fails to take steps as above, the application shall be rejected and the amount deposited shall be refunded to the applicant.

(5) In the case of continuance of deposit of rent for any subsequent period, fresh application shall not be necessary. But process fee and the notice in Form "F" shall accompany every deposit."

31. The interrelationship between Sections 20 and 30 of the Act is, therefore, of considerable significance in determining the present controversy. The entitlement of a tenant to claim the protective umbrella of Section 20(4) is dependent not merely upon the factum of deposit, but upon the existence of a valid and lawful deposit made in accordance with Section 30 and Rule 21 of the Rules framed thereunder. Consequently, before examining whether the petitioner had complied with the requirements of Section 20(4) and was entitled to relief against eviction, it becomes necessary to first consider whether the deposits allegedly made by him under Section 30(1) were founded upon a valid tender and refusal of rent and whether such deposits satisfied the mandatory procedural requirements prescribed by the statutory scheme.

32. Section 20(2)(a) of the Act recognises default in payment of rent for a period of not less than four months, coupled with failure to clear the same within one month from the date of service of notice of demand, as a statutory ground for eviction. Section 20(4) carves out a limited statutory protection in such suits, enabling the court, in lieu of passing a decree for eviction on the ground of default, to relieve the tenant against his liability for eviction if at the first hearing of the suit the tenant unconditionally pays or tenders to the landlord or deposits in court the entire amount of rent and damages for use and occupation due from him together with interest at nine per cent per annum and the landlord□s costs of the suit in respect thereof, after deducting therefrom any amount already deposited by the tenant under Section 30(1).

33. The proviso to Section 20(4) excludes from the benefit of that sub-section any tenant who, or any member of whose family, has built or otherwise acquired in a vacant state, or has got vacated after acquisition, any residential building in the same city, municipality, notified area or town area. The relief under Section 20(4) is thus in the nature of a conditional statutory indulgence, intended to protect a tenant despite default, but available only upon strict fulfilment of the conditions stipulated therein.

34. Section 30 of the Act, on the other hand, provides a statutory mechanism for deposit of rent before the court in specified contingencies. Under Section 30(1), where any person claiming to be a tenant tenders rent to the alleged landlord and the latter refuses to accept the same, such person may deposit the amount in the prescribed manner and continue to deposit any subsequent rent likewise until the landlord signifies in writing his willingness to accept it, while Section 30(2) covers cases of bona fide doubt or dispute as to the person entitled to receive rent. Sections 30(3) to 30(5) regulate the court□s jurisdiction and mandate that notice of the deposit be served on the landlord or persons concerned and the amount held for the benefit of the person found entitled.

35. Section 30(6) enacts a legal fiction whereby a deposit made in accordance with Section 30 is deemed to be payment of rent to the landlord. The Act is supplemented by Rule 21 of the Rules framed thereunder, which prescribes the manner in which deposits under Section 30 are to be made and requires that the application for deposit be accompanied by requisite process fee and notice in Form □F□ for service upon the landlord or other concerned persons.

36. A conjoint reading of Section 30 of the Act together with Rule 21 leaves little room for doubt that the legislature did not contemplate a mere mechanical or unilateral deposit of rent in court. The statutory scheme clearly mandates that every such deposit must be accompanied by procedural compliances intended to ensure due notice and intimation to the landlord so that he may, if he so chooses, withdraw the amount.

37. The scheme underlying Sections 20 and 30 of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 thus reflects a careful legislative balance between the landlord□s right to seek eviction on account of persistent default and the protection afforded to a tenant against forfeiture of tenancy for mere technical non-payment. While Section 20(2)(a) recognises default as a ground of eviction, Section 20(4) grants a conditional opportunity to purge the default; Section 30 enables a willing tenant to avoid default in limited contingencies where rent cannot be paid directly, subject always to strict compliance with the prescribed procedure, including service of notice.

38. Viewed in the context of the aforesaid scheme, Rule 21 of the Rules framed under the Act assumes considerable significance. The Rule prescribes the manner in which deposits under Section 30 are to be made and specifically mandates that the application for deposit shall be accompanied by requisite process fee and notices in Form □F□. The requirement is not an empty procedural formality but is intended to ensure that notice of the deposit reaches the landlord and that the deposited amount remains available for his withdrawal.

39. A procedural requirement assumes mandatory character where its no-compliance defeats the substantive purpose underlying the provision or prejudicially affects the rights of the opposite party. In the present statutory scheme, service of notice regarding deposits under Section 30 is the very mechanism through which the landlord becomes aware of the deposit and is enabled to withdraw the amount, and the requirement therefore directly subserves the substantive rights of the landlord and cannot be treated as merely directory in nature.

40. The statutory scheme of Section 30 and Rule 21 mandates that every deposit must be accompanied by procedural compliances intended to ensure notice and intimation to the landlord, and the requirement of accompanying the deposit with process fee and notice in prescribed Form “F” thus constitutes an integral part of the statutory mechanism governing valid deposits under Section 30 of the Act. Consequently, unless the deposit is made strictly in accordance with Rule 21, the tenant cannot claim the legal fiction contemplated under Section 30(6) treating such deposit as valid payment to the landlord.

41. The deeming fiction under Section 30(6), whereby a valid deposit is treated as payment to the landlord, operates only upon strict compliance with the procedure prescribed by the Act and the Rules. Since such deposit has the effect of wiping out the default and defeating the landlord's right to eviction under Section 20(2)(a), compliance with Rule 21, including service of requisite notice upon the landlord, is mandatory. A deposit made without such compliance cannot be treated as a valid statutory deposit nor adjusted while considering benefit under Section 20(4), and the burden to establish validity of such deposits squarely lies upon the tenant seeking protection against eviction.

42. Section 30 is undoubtedly a beneficial provision intended to protect a bona fide tenant from the consequences of default in situations where the landlord refuses to accept rent or where a genuine dispute exists regarding the person entitled to receive the same. However, the provision is not an unstructured licence permitting unilateral deposits in court at the mere volition of the tenant; the legislative object is to balance the interests of both landlord and tenant by ensuring that while the tenant is protected against technical default, the landlord simultaneously receives notice of the deposit and remains entitled to withdraw the amount in accordance with law.

43. The principle that strict compliance with the rent statute is mandatory is settled by authority. In E. Palanisamy v. Palanisamy, it was emphasized that the steps prescribed by the statute must be followed in sequence and that a tenant cannot bypass mandatory preconditions and directly claim the benefit of statutory protection. The ratio is particularly apposite where the Act creates a legal fiction only after compliance with the prescribed mode of deposit. Such fiction cannot be invoked in the absence of compliance.

44. In Jagat Prasad v. District Judge, Kanpur, it was observed that tender of rent in the court would constitute a valid defence to a petition for eviction on the ground of arrears of rents only when done in accordance with statutory provisions prescribed as to the deposit under U.P. Act no. 13 of 1972 and not otherwise.

45. This Court in Hari Gopal, Jay Singh and Smt. Rani Devi has emphasised that the benefits conferred under rent legislation can be availed only upon strict compliance with the statutory provisions and that mere deposit of rent in court, without satisfying the prescribed procedure under Rule 21, does not amount to a valid statutory deposit for purposes of avoiding default or claiming protection under Section 20(4).

46. Applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the present case, it emerges from the record that the petitioner-tenant admittedly paid rent only up to 31.03.1993 to the original landlord, late Sri Kunwar Shiv Mahendra Kumar Singh. Even according to the petitioner's own pleadings, after the death of the original landlord no regular payment of rent was made and attempts to remit rent through money orders were allegedly initiated only in the year 2005 for accumulated arrears commencing from 01.04.1993.

47. The money order receipts brought on record merely contain endorsements to the effect that the addressees were □not found□ and do not bear any endorsement of refusal. It is also significant that the addresses of the landlords were not properly disclosed therein, and in such circumstances the courts below rightly held that no valid tender or refusal of rent stood established in accordance with law so as to satisfy the precondition for resort to Section 30(1).

48. The validity of the deposits allegedly made by the petitioner under Section 30(1) of the Act and his consequential entitlement to claim compliance with the requirement of depositing the □entire amount□ contemplated under Section 20(4) therefore fall for consideration. The record further reflects that the petitioner thereafter instituted proceedings under Section 30(1) of the Act being Miscellaneous Case No.22 of 2007 and deposited rent in court for various periods commencing from 01.04.1993 onwards. However, the crucial issue is whether such deposits constituted valid statutory deposits within the meaning of Section 30 read with Rule 21 of the Rules framed under the Act.

49. The evidence on record clearly demonstrates that no material whatsoever was produced by the petitioner to establish compliance with the mandatory requirement of furnishing notice in prescribed Form 'F' together with requisite process fee to the landlords regarding subsequent deposits. On the contrary, during cross-examination the petitioner himself admitted that no notice regarding deposits under Section 30 had been furnished to the respondent-landlords, and both courts have concurrently recorded this admission.

50. The mandatory requirement contained in Rule 21 is not an empty formality; its purpose is to ensure that the landlord receives intimation regarding deposit and is enabled to withdraw the amount deposited in court. Unless such requirement is complied with, the deposit cannot legally operate as a substitute for payment to the landlord and the statutory fiction under Section 30(6), whereby a valid deposit is deemed to be payment to the landlord, becomes operative only when the deposit is made strictly in the manner prescribed by law.

51. A defective or irregular deposit cannot extinguish the default contemplated under Section 20(2)(a) of the Act. Consequently, the courts below rightly held that the deposits relied upon by the petitioner could not be treated as valid deposits under Section 30 and, therefore, could not be adjusted while extending benefit under Section 20(4) of the Act.

52. The material on record further establishes that rent remained unpaid from April 1993 onwards and that the alleged deposits substantially related to long accumulated arrears extending over several years. The protection contemplated under Section 20(4) is available only upon strict compliance with the statutory conditions requiring deposit of the entire amount due in the manner recognised by law, and the statutory benefit cannot be extended merely because some amount was deposited in court irrespective of compliance with the mandatory procedural safeguards prescribed under the Act and the Rules.

53. In view of the finding that the deposits relied upon by the petitioner did not constitute valid statutory deposits under Section 30 of the Act, the petitioner necessarily failed to establish compliance with the essential requirement of depositing the entire legally recoverable amount in the manner contemplated under Section 20(4). The courts below were therefore fully justified in holding that the petitioner was not entitled to protection against eviction under the said provision.

54. So far as service of notice is concerned, the respondents-landlords proved notices dated 09.10.2012 and 25.10.2012 along with postal receipts and returned envelopes, and the subsequent notice dated 25.10.2012 was returned with endorsement of refusal. Although the petitioner alleged collusion with postal authorities, no independent evidence whatsoever was produced to substantiate the said allegation; the concerned postman was never examined and no material was brought on record to dislodge the statutory presumption attached to postal endorsement of refusal.

55. The courts below, therefore, rightly held that the tenancy stood validly terminated after failure of the petitioner to clear the arrears within the prescribed period, and this Court finds no perversity in the said conclusion.

56. The courts below have further concurrently held that the petitioner was not entitled to the benefit of Section 20(4) also in view of the proviso appended thereto. Documentary evidence including municipal assessment records, electoral rolls and RTI material established that the son of the petitioner had acquired a residential house within the same municipal limits of Haldaur and that the petitioner himself was residing therein, and the petitioner failed to rebut this documentary evidence in any meaningful manner.

57. The record also contains an admission of the petitioner during cross-examination that the disputed premises had originally been taken on rent for residential purposes. In such circumstances, the plea that the accommodation was commercial in nature and that acquisition of residential accommodation by the tenant□s family would not attract the proviso to Section 20(4) does not merit acceptance.

58. Once it is found that the tenancy related to residential accommodation and that the tenant or a member of his family has acquired another residential building in the same municipality and is residing therein, the statutory disqualification contemplated under the proviso clearly stands attracted and the petitioner cannot claim the protective relief under Section 20(4) of the Act.

59. The scope of interference under Article 227 of the Constitution is supervisory and not appellate; this Court does not reappreciate evidence or substitute its own conclusions merely because another view may be possible on the material available on record. Interference is warranted only where the findings suffer from manifest perversity, patent illegality, jurisdictional error or are based on no evidence, and concurrent findings of fact, particularly those resting upon appreciation of oral and documentary evidence, are ordinarily immune from supervisory correction unless shown to be wholly arbitrary or perverse.

60. In the present case, both the trial court as well as the revisional court have concurrently held, upon appreciation of oral and documentary evidence, that the petitioner failed to establish compliance with the mandatory requirements prescribed under Rule 21 in relation to the deposits purportedly made under Section 30(1) of the Act. The courts below have also recorded categorical findings that no notice regarding such deposits was furnished to the landlords and that the tenant himself admitted the absence of such compliance in his cross-examination.

61. Further, the revisional court has affirmed the finding that the tenant had failed to establish valid tender of rent through money orders, inasmuch as the money orders neither contained proper addresses nor carried endorsements evidencing refusal by the landlords, and the foundational requirement for invoking Section 30(1), namely prior tender and refusal of rent, therefore remained inadequately established on the material brought on record.

62. The protection contemplated under Section 20(4) is intended to safeguard bona fide tenants who exhibit readiness and willingness to discharge their statutory obligations by making full and lawful payment of rent, damages, interest and costs in the manner contemplated by the Act. The legislative object underlying the provision is not to extend an unconditional immunity against eviction, but to afford a limited equitable relief to a tenant who demonstrates genuine compliance with the statutory requirements.

63. Viewed holistically in the backdrop of the statutory framework and the evidence on record, the petitioner has failed to demonstrate either compliance with the mandatory statutory requirements or any jurisdictional infirmity in the concurrent judgments rendered by the courts below. The findings recorded by the courts below are fully consistent with the statutory scheme governing Sections 20 and 30 of the Act as well as the settled principles laid down in the authorities noticed hereinabove, and the petitioner has not been able to demonstrate that the said findings suffer from perversity, are based on no evidence or have been arrived at by ignoring any material evidence on record.

64. In supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution, this Court would not interfere merely because another view on facts may also be possible, and no case for interference has been made out.

65. The present case illustrates the statutory balance maintained under U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 between protection of tenants against arbitrary eviction and preservation of the landlord's right to receive rent in the manner recognised by law. While the Act undoubtedly confers protection upon tenants, such protection remains conditional upon faithful observance of the statutory obligations imposed by the Act and the Rules framed thereunder, and a tenant who seeks statutory protection must necessarily demonstrate strict adherence to the procedural framework through which such protection is made available.

66. Upon an overall consideration of the pleadings, oral and documentary evidence available on record and the statutory scheme governing the field, this Court finds that the concurrent findings recorded by the courts below regarding default in payment of rent, invalidity of the deposits purportedly made under Section 30(1) of the Act, due service of notices determining tenancy and disentitlement of the petitioner from claiming protection under Section 20(4) are fully borne out from the evidence on record and stand in complete consonance with the provisions of the Act and the Rules framed thereunder.

67. Accordingly, the petition is dismissed. The judgment and decree dated 02.03.2019 passed by the Judge, Small Causes Court, Bijnor in SCC Suit No.35 of 2012, as well as the judgment and order dated 28.03.2026 passed by the revisional court in SCC Revision No.11 of 2019, are hereby affirmed.

68. There shall be no order as to costs.

(2026) 5 ILRA 651
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE VINOD DIWAKAR, J.

Matters Under Article 227 No. 8129 of 2023

Baru Singh & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Systematic and sustained violation of the fundamental rights of child rape victims enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution, Section 39 of the POCSO Act, Section 3(2)(b) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act as amended in 2021, and the directions of the Supreme Court of India in X v. Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare Department, NCT of Delhi (supra) has been observed across the State

Head Notes

The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971- Section 3(2-D); The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, 2003- Rules 3 & 3A; The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015- Section 27(10); The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012- Section 39- To take a conscious decision regarding termination of pregnancy, it must be borne in mind that a fetus ordinarily cannot be aborted once the pregnancy exceeds 24 weeks. Time, therefore, is of the essence of the entire jurisprudence governing termination of pregnancy. The significance of time becomes even more critical because the Medical Board's opinion serves as the foundational basis for deciding whether termination is medically and legally permissible. In this case, the time consumed in taking a decision regarding termination of the victim's pregnancy is therefore a critical factor and must have been carefully examined and adjudicated timely.

In matters of such nature, every single day is crucial to the mental and physical well-being of the victim. Every authority through which the victim passed was headed by educated, professionally qualified persons holding responsible public offices, yet none discharged their statutory duties with the minimum degree of sensitivity, responsibility, or sincerity expected of them. It was only after this Court intervened that consequential steps were initiated, the Medical Board was constituted, and the victim was admitted to the hospital. On 12.08.2023, a baby girl was delivered through surgical intervention, and thereafter the newborn child was shifted to the Government Child Centre, Rampur, as the victim expressed her inability to raise the child in a healthy and secure environment.

Held-Court deems it appropriate to issue structured directions coupled with recommendations. (E-15)

(Para102-129 & Para 133-155)

Case Law Cited

X' v. Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare Department, Government of N.C.T. of Delhi and Other (2022) SCC OnLine SC 1321; Snehlata Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, in PIL No.14588 of 2009, vide order dated 09.03.2018; Bachpan Bachao Andolan v. Union of India (2023) 9 SCC 133; Nipun Saxena v. Union of India (2019) 2 SCC 703; Suchita Srivastava & Anr. v. Chandigarh Administration (2009) 9 SCC 1; D. Rajeswari v. State of Tamil Nadu and others, (1996) SCC OnLine Mad 850; Jyotsna Singwani v. Union of India and others, (2020) SCC OnLine Del 561; Mahima Yadav v. Government of NCT of Delhi and Others, (2021) SCC OnLine Del 2828; X v. Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare Department, Government of NCT of Delhi and Another, (2023) 9 SCC 433; Minor S (Thr. Father B) v. State and Another, (2025) SCC OnLine Del 2506; "A" through her Father "F" v. State of U.P. and Other 2015 SCC OnLine All 4735

List of Acts

The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971; The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, 2003

List of Keywords

Medical Termination of Pregnancy; Fetus; 24 weeks; Cannot be aborted; Time is essence; Termination of pregnancy; Medical Board's opinion; Foundational basis Present petition has been filed with two-fold prayers: (i) seeking a direction to the learned Additional District Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Meerut, to allow petitioner no.2 (hereinafter referred to as 'X') to terminate her unwanted pregnancy of approximately five months; or, in the alternative, and (ii) directing the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, to terminate the said pregnancy. The victim 'X' is a minor girl of unsound mind, aged approximately 17 years, and a survivor of rape. She has been living under the guardianship of her maternal grandfather, who is arrayed as petitioner no.1. Her biological father abandoned the family approximately ten years prior to the present proceedings, and his whereabouts remain unknown. Her mother is also a woman of unsound mind.

Case Arising From

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioners(s) : Parvat Singh, Guru Prasad Singh
Counsel for Respondent(s) : G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vinod Diwakar, J.)

A law which a man cannot obey, nor act according to it, is void and no law: and it is impossible to obey contradictions, or act according to them- Vaughan, C.J., in Thomas v. Sorrell, 1677.

This judgment will open with the aforesaid aphorism, to reflect upon the troubling tendency of bureaucratic systems to render the law ineffective in practice, despite its clear mandate in statute.

1. Heard Shri Suresh Kumar Maurya, holding the brief of Shri Parvat Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners, Ms. Vijeta Singh, learned Amicus Curiae, learned A.G.A. for the State, and perused the material available on record.

2. The present petition has been filed with two-fold prayers: (i) seeking a direction to the learned Additional District Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Meerut, to allow petitioner no.2 (hereinafter referred to as 'X') to terminate her unwanted pregnancy of approximately five months; or, in the alternative, and (ii) directing the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, to terminate the said pregnancy. The victim 'X' is a minor girl of unsound mind, aged approximately 17 years, and a survivor of rape. She has been living under the guardianship of her maternal grandfather, who is arrayed as petitioner no.1. Her biological father abandoned the family approximately ten years prior to the present proceedings, and his whereabouts remain unknown. Her mother is also a woman of unsound mind.

3. On perusal of the record, it transpires that an FIR bearing Case Crime No.0080 of 2023, under sections 328, 376, 506 IPC read with Sections 3 and 4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 was registered on 11.06.2023 at P.S. Rohta, District Meerut against the accused- Lalu by the grandfather of the victim. When the symptoms of advance pregnancy were noticed, the victim disclosed to her grandfather about the unfortunate incident that had befallen her. The victim was taken to the police station on 11.06.2023 and thereafter produced on 12.06.2023 before the Medical Officer at the CHC Rohta, Meerut, for medical examination. The Medico Legal Examination Report of Sexual Violence was prepared, and a pregnancy of 22 weeks and 6 days was detected.

I- CHRONOLOGICAL SUMMARY OF ORDERS PASSED BY THIS COURT:

4. Before adverting to the larger institutional issues that emerged in the course of these proceedings, it is appropriate to briefly recapitulate the orders passed by this Court so as to obtain a bird's-eye view of the entire matter. The following chronological summary is accordingly set out.

5. After registration of the FIR, the victim's grandfather approached the Chief Medical Officer (CMO), Meerut, on 05.07.2023 seeking termination of the unwanted pregnancy of his granddaughter. The CMO, Meerut, did not entertain the request. Finding no relief, the grandfather, on 19.07.2023, preferred an application before the Court of the learned Additional District Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Meerut, seeking permission for termination of the pregnancy. The said application was returned with the endorsement that the applicant may approach the High Court for appropriate redressal. The writ petition was filed on 22.07.2023 and came to be listed before this Court on 04.08.2023. In the entire process, 54 days- that is, almost seven weeks- were consumed between the date of registration of the FIR and the date on which the applicant was compelled to approach this Court.

6. Vide order dated 04.08.2023, the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, was directed to constitute a Medical Board under Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 (hereinafter 'the MTP Act'), with a direction that if the fetus could be aborted without danger to the life of the victim, a team of doctors under the guidance of the CMO shall carry out the abortion. It was also directed that the wishes of the grandfather, under whose guardianship the minor victim was residing, be obtained after due verification. Sensing the urgency, the CMO was directed to furnish a compliance report within one week and, in the event of non-compliance, to file a personal affidavit stating reasons therefor. The attention of the CMO was also invited to the directions issued by the Supreme Court in 'X' v. Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare Department, Government of N.C.T. of Delhi and Others.

7. In compliance with the order dated 04.08.2023, the CMO filed a compliance report through the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut, stating that the victim was admitted to the hospital on 05.08.2023 and was under treatment at Pyare Lal Sharma District Hospital, Meerut. A Medical Board was constituted, and on its advice, the doctors conducted delivery of the victim on 13.08.2023. The newborn baby was sent to the Medical College, Meerut, and the victim was handed over to the police on 15.08.2023.

8. However, on 22.08.2023, it was noticed upon perusal of the record that the CMO, Meerut, had not constituted the Medical Board in accordance with the provisions of the MTP Act, 1971, and the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, 2003. The CMO was directed to file a personal affidavit responding to the observations made in the earlier orders and to apprise the Court as to whether the State Government has constituted a Medical Board in accordance with the requirements of Section 3(2-D) of the MTP Act, 1971, and Rules 3 and 3A of the MTP Rules, 2003.

9. The Senior Superintendent of Police, Meerut, was simultaneously directed to file an affidavit disclosing the number of cases, police station-wise, registered in District Meerut involving unwanted pregnancies detected in rape cases during the previous five years.

10. On 06.09.2023, three separate affidavits were filed by the CMO, Meerut; the SSP, Meerut; and the District Probation Officer, Meerut, respectively. Ms. Vijeta Singh, Advocate, who was present in Court, was appointed Amicus Curiae to assist the Court in suggesting measures for effectively administering the physical and mental requirements of victims and newborn children in such circumstances, as well as their rights and the applicable laws.

11. On perusal of the affidavit filed by the CMO, Meerut, it was observed that the second part of the directions contained in the order dated 22.08.2023 remained non-complied with. On 06.10.2023, it was recorded that the learned Amicus Curiae had submitted that the Child Welfare Committee had forwarded its order dated 06.07.2023 to the District Magistrate, Meerut, for information; however, the District Magistrate has also not taken cognizance of the matter thereof. A conjoint reading of the affidavit dated 15.09.2023 filed by the District Probation Officer, Meerut, and the affidavit dated 12.09.2023 filed by the Chairman, Child Welfare Committee (CWC), Meerut, further revealed that neither the Support Person nor the Consultant appointed by the CWC on 15.06.2023 had taken any steps to discharge their duties, nor had the Chairman taken stock of the situation.

12. The Chairman, CWC, Meerut, was directed, vide order dated 06.09.2023, to file an affidavit setting out the guidelines, rules, or statutory provisions enabling the issuance of such caveats as were found in the order dated 06.07.2023. The entire case file relating to steps taken by the Support Person, Consultant, and Chairman of the CWC was further directed to be placed before the Court. It was also directed that information be furnished as to whether the CWC maintained a dedicated website and whether the Health Department possessed Technical and Procedural Guidelines for Safe Abortion Services in cases of voluntary, and emergent termination of pregnancy of rape victims in Uttar Pradesh.

13. The CMO, Meerut constituted a Medical Board on 07.09.2022 under Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, read with Rules 3 and 3A of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, comprising the CMO as Chairman, Additional CMO as Convener, a Gynaecologist from Community Health Centre, Mawana, a nominated member, and a representative from Ipas Development Foundation, Meerut, for a term of two years. However, upon perusal of the affidavit dated 13.09.2023, the Court found that the Board was largely ceremonial and ineffective in nature.

14. The affidavit filed by the S.S.P., Meerut, discloses that FIR No.0080 of 2023 was registered under Sections 328, 506, and 376 IPC read with Sections 3/4 of the POCSO Act, 2012 at P.S. Rohta on 11.06.2023. The victim was sent for medical examination at CHC Rohta on 12.06.2023, where she was found to be pregnant for approximately 22 weeks and 6 days. The victim was produced before the Child Welfare Committee on 06.07.2023, and the Child Welfare Committee, on the same day, directed that the victim be placed under the supervision of her uncle, namely Sonu s/o Baru Singh. It was further directed that the victim be properly taken care of and not be subjected to abortion. On the same date, i.e., 06.07.2023, the A.C.J. (J.D.), Meerut, recorded the statement of the victim under Section 164 Cr.P.C., wherein 'she stated that she did not wish to keep the child.'

(emphasis supplied)

II- APPREHENSIONS RAISED BY THE LEARNED AMICUS CURIAE:

15. One member of the Medical Board constituted by CMO, Meerut was posted at CHC Mawana, which is almost 20 km away from the District Headquarters, thereby she raised doubts about the effective functioning of the Board.

16. The credentials and professional profile of the resource person appointed by CMO, who was apparently shown to be associated with Ipas Development Foundation, had neither been displayed nor uploaded on the Ipas Development Foundation website.

17. Upon visiting the Ipas Development Foundation's website, it was observed that the NGO has its registered office in New Delhi and that no such activity is carried out in Uttar Pradesh, even though the website claims to have introduced the concept of Comprehensive Abortion Care (CAC) in India.

18. Across the State, Medical Boards are neither constituted at the district level nor, if constituted, they are functional.

19. The Sub Inspector, a Lady Constable posted at Police Station Rohta, District Meerut and Counselor, and Social Worker attached with the victim appeared to have not taken adequate steps in respect of the plight of the victim, thereby compelling her to approach the Court for termination of the unwanted pregnancy after a delay of 54 days.

20. The Child Welfare Committee, Meerut, and the District Magistrate, Meerut has not taken cognizance of the petitioner□s plight despite this Court□s specific direction(s).

21. A conjoint reading of the affidavit dated 15.09.2023 filed by the D.P.O., Meerut, and the affidavit dated 12.09.2023 filed by the Chairman, CWC, Meerut, revealed that neither the Support Person nor the Consultant had taken any steps to discharge the duties for which they were appointed, nor had the Chairman taken stock of the situation.

III- DETAILS DIRECTED TO BE FURNISHED BY THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY, MEDICAL HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE, UTTAR PRADESH: At the outset, a systematic denial of medical termination services to child rape victims has been observed.

22. The first set of directions was issued vide order dated 21.09.2023 and includes: (i) Whether the statutory requirements of Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 (as amended in 2021), read with Rules 3 and 3A of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, are complied with in all the districts of Uttar Pradesh, (ii) If yes, then the copies of notifications issued by each district constituting a Medical Board at the district level be furnished, (iii) Rules and Regulations framed, if any, ensuring that every child victim of sexual violence/aggression carrying an unwanted pregnancy was produced before the Board, (iv) A copy of notification, if any, issued by the department for comprehensive workshops or training programmes for up-gradation of skills be furnished, and (v) Rules, if any, fixing accountability on errant officers responsible for non-enforcement and non-implementation of guidelines issued from time to time by Constitutional Courts or statutory provisions be placed on record.

23. The second set of directions was issued vide order dated 09.11.2023 and includes: (i) Yearly district-wise details of unmarried rape victims, including their age, produced before the Medical Boards constituted under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 for medical assistance since 2013, and (ii) District-wise details of medical assistance provided to facilitate easy access to safe abortion and care in cases of unmarried rape victims.

IV- DETAILS DIRECTED TO BE FURNISHED BY THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY, DEPARTMENT OF WOMEN AND CHILD DEVELOPMENT:

24. The first set of directions was issued vide order dated 21.09.2023, and includes: (i) The scheme and statutory framework governing the appointment of the Chairman and Members of the Child Welfare Committee, along with the regulatory measures undertaken in that regard, (ii) Whether any checklist, guidelines, or code of conduct prescribing the "dos and don'ts" for the functioning of the Child Welfare Committee has been formulated, so as to ensure accountability in cases of non-application of mind or dereliction of duty by its Members, and (iii) Whether any training programmes or institutional mechanisms has been introduced for: (a) enhancement of emotional intelligence; (b) capacity building and sensitization programmes; (c) innovation and awareness generation activities; and (d) monitoring and evaluation at the State and District levels- along with copies of relevant guidelines, Rules, Regulations, Government Orders, or policy documents governing such programmes be placed on record.

25. The second set of directions was issued vide order dated 09.11.2023, and includes: (i) Total number of support persons engaged in each Child Welfare Committee, district-wise details in Uttar Pradesh, and the number of cases assigned to each support person during the last five years, year-wise, (ii) District-wise quantified data of the number of cases dealt with by each Child Welfare Committee during the last five years, (iii) Facilities and resources provided to the Child Welfare Committees for discharge of their duties in consonance with the objectives of the enactments under which they are constituted, (iv) Details of homes/shelters in Uttar Pradesh for children born to minor rape victims, (v) The policy of the State Government regulating the care and protection of children born out of rape, including compensation, education, accommodation, and other incidental requirements necessary to ensure a dignified life, (vi) The legal status of children born out of rape in cases where both the biological mother and the offender have abandoned the child- namely, whether such a child would be treated as a victim or otherwise, (vii) The number of inspections/visits conducted by the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, to children's homes for girls established for care, protection, treatment, education, training, development, and rehabilitation during the last five years.

V- DETAILS DIRECTED TO BE FURNISHED BY THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF POLICE, UTTAR PRADESH:

26. Details of FIRs registered in all police stations across the districts during the last five years where pregnancies were detected in unmarried child rape victims.

27. Details of cases in which such victims were produced before the Medical Boards constituted under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 by the police authorities.

VI- FACTS AND FINDINGS EMERGING FROM THE AFFIDAVIT OF THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY, MEDICAL HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE, UTTAR PRADESH- Systematic Denial of Medical Termination Services to Child Rape Victims:

28. The Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh, filed two affidavits. The affidavit dated 31.10.2023 stated that, in compliance with the provisions of Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 (as amended in 2021), read with Rules 3 and 3A of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, 2003 the State Government (Medical Education Department-I) issued a Notification dated 10.08.2022 constituting a permanent Medical Board under the Chairmanship of the Head of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, KGMU, Lucknow.

29. Besides the constitution of the aforesaid permanent Medical Board, the State Government, vide Notification dated 10.06.2004, also constituted a Medical Board in every district comprising three members headed by the Chief Medical Officer, in accordance with Section 4(b) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971. District-Level Committees have also been constituted. Further, the Central Government, in exercise of powers conferred under Section 6 of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, framed the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules, 2003. The amended Rules prescribe the powers and functions of the Medical Board as well as the eligibility criteria for termination of pregnancy. Under the amended framework, a woman is eligible for termination of pregnancy up to 24 weeks.

30. The affidavit further disclosed that, for ensuring safe and effective termination of pregnancies, a tripartite Memorandum of Understanding was executed on 01.04.2023 at Lucknow between the Director General, Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh; the Mission Director, National Health Mission, Uttar Pradesh; and the Ipas Development Foundation. Under the said Memorandum, the Ipas Development Foundation is entrusted with strengthening the capacity building of the State and its resources to facilitate effective and easy access to safe abortion services in furtherance of the amended Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971. It was further stated that approximately 1,200 doctors had been trained by the Ipas Development Foundation up to the time of filing of the affidavit.

31. In so far as fixing accountability of erring officers responsible for non-implementation of guidelines issued from time to time by the Constitutional Courts, or the statutory provisions contained in the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 and the Rules framed thereunder, is concerned, the affidavit disclosed that the Director General, Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh, issued a letter dated 17.02.2019 to all Chief Medical Officers of the State directing compliance with orders passed by the Courts. This Court, in Snehlata Singh, observed that any laxity in implementing the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 and the Rules framed thereunder shall be treated as the personal responsibility of the concerned Chief Medical Officer, who shall be liable for appropriate action along with the erring officials.

32. In response to the query raised by this Court as to whether the Health Department has technical and procedural guidelines for safe abortion services in cases of voluntary termination of pregnancy of rape victims in Uttar Pradesh, the affidavit states that the Mission Director, National Health Mission, Uttar Pradesh, vide Letter No. NHM/FP-CAC/104/2021-22/6475-3 dated 10.01.2022, issued and circulated detailed guidelines regarding safe abortion services to all State and District Level Officers. Under the said guidelines, the upper gestational limit for termination of pregnancy has been extended from 20 weeks to 24 weeks. Under special circumstances, termination beyond 24 weeks is permitted for: (i) survivors of rape, sexual assault, or incest; (ii) minors; (iii) change in marital status during pregnancy; (iv) women with physical disabilities; (v) mental illness, including intellectual disability; (vi) foetal abnormality posing substantial risk to life, or likelihood that the child, if born, would suffer from serious physical or mental abnormality; and (vii) humanitarian settings or disaster/emergency situations, as may be notified by the Government.

33. Women falling in special categories- including survivors of rape or sexual assault, disabled women, and other vulnerable groups- may seek termination beyond the standard limit, up to 24 weeks, as per the Medical Board's decision. A Medical Board constituted under Section 3(2-B) of the Act has been empowered to: (i) consider whether continuation of the pregnancy poses a grave risk to the woman's life, or whether the fetus is likely to suffer from serious abnormalities; (ii) decide on termination of pregnancies beyond 24 weeks; (iii) seek assistance of other specialists as required; and (iv) approve or reject applications for termination. The major functions of the Medical Board are to: (i) examine the pregnant woman and her reports referred under Section 3(2)(b); (ii) provide its opinion in Form-F (Medical Board's Opinion Form) regarding approval or rejection within three days of receiving the application; and (iii) ensure that once the Medical

Board advises termination, the procedure under Section 3(2)(b) is completed within five days of the application date, with all due precautions.

34. The affidavit dated 26.11.2023, containing district-wise details from 2013 to 2023 of unmarried rape victims produced before Medical Boards under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, placed before this Court indicates a disturbing character that it demands the most urgent judicial attention. The data reveals that child rape victims of the most tender ages- an 11-year-old in Sultanpur in 2021; 12-year-old in Ayodhya, Barabanki, Gautam Budh Nagar, Bulandshahr, and Lucknow; and 13-year-old in Barabanki, Ghaziabad, Shahjahanpur, and Lucknow- were produced before Medical Boards for termination of pregnancies resulting from sexual assault.

35. The district-wise data further reveals that virtually every one of the 106 cases recorded across 11 years involves a victim under 18 years of age, confirming that these cases relate almost entirely to child sexual assault resulting in pregnancy under the POCSO Act, 2012- with ages ranging from 7 to 17 years recorded across districts including Lucknow, Gautam Budh Nagar, Bulandshahr, Gorakhpur, Kaushambi, Jalaun, Raebareli, Meerut, Varanasi, Pratapgarh, Ghaziabad, Hapur, Mahoba, Mainpuri, Moradabad, Chandauli, Etah, Jhansi, Agra, and Badaun.

36. This data, devastating as it is, almost certainly represents a severe under-count of the true scale of child rape and resultant pregnancies across the State. The surge of cases in 2023- with Lucknow recording 12 cases and Gautam Budh Nagar recording 13 cases in a single year- is demonstrably litigation-driven rather than reflective of any genuine institutional improvement, coinciding as it does with the bulk reconstitution of District-Level Committees in October 2023, triggered by the present proceedings. This indicates that child rape victims in earlier years, including those aged between 7 and 13, received no Medical Board referral and no formal medical termination of pregnancy services, owing to the State's administrative machinery simply not functioning, and it began functioning, even minimally, only under the compulsion of judicial oversight.

37. For the entire State of Uttar Pradesh, with a population of approximately 24 crores, only 106 procedures were performed under the formal Medical Board framework over 11 years- fewer than 10 per year across 75 districts- a figure so starkly disproportionate to the documented scale of child sexual violence in the State. A systematic and sustained violation of the fundamental rights of child rape victims enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution, Section 39 of the POCSO Act, Section 3(2)(b) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act as amended in 2021, and the directions of the Supreme Court of India in X v. Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare Department, NCT of Delhi (supra) has been observed across the State.

VII- FACTS AND FINDINGS EMERGING FROM THE AFFIDAVIT OF THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY, DEPARTMENT OF WOMEN AND CHILD DEVELOPMENT, GOVERNMENT OF UTTAR PRADESH- Systematic Denial of Statutory Rights of Children in Need of Care and Protection:

38. The affidavit dated 02.11.2023 affirms that the appointment of the Chairperson and Members of the Child Welfare Committee is carried out in accordance with the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Model Rules, 2016, framed by the Central Government, and the Uttar Pradesh Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2019, read with Sections 27(1) and 27(2) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. Rule 15 prescribes the composition and qualifications of the Members of the Committee, while Rule 87 provides for the selection criteria and composition of the Selection Committee.

39. The affidavit further states that the State Government, vide Notification dated 16.11.2018, constituted a Selection Committee under the Chairmanship of a Hon'ble Senior Judge (Retired) of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad for the selection of Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees for all 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh. The last selection by the said Committee was conducted on 23.07.2021. Insofar as regulatory measures are concerned, the mechanism is provided for under Sections 27(8) and 27(10) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. It is further averred that Sections 27 to 40 of the Act, read with Rules 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Model Rules, 2016, lay down the powers, functions, responsibilities, and other relevant aspects pertaining to the functioning of the Child Welfare Committee.

40. The compliance affidavit further states that the Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh, organizes various online and offline training programmes from time to time for sensitization and capacity building of the Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees. It is stated that: (i) during October and November 2021, a training programme was organized in collaboration with the National Institute of Public Cooperation and Child Development (NIPCCD), Regional Centre, Lucknow, for the Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees; (ii) during February, March, June, and July 2022, online training programmes were organized for sensitization and enhancement of emotional intelligence of the Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees, with the assistance of NIPCCD, Lucknow, in collaboration with the National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro-Sciences (NIMHANS), Bangalore, and the Women and Child Security Organization (WCSO); and (iii) during February, March, April, and May 2023, offline training programmes were conducted in batches for the Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees.

41. Being dissatisfied with the affidavit dated 02.11.2023, this Court, vide order dated 09.11.2023, directed the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Uttar Pradesh, to file a comprehensive affidavit furnishing the details delineated in paragraph 5 of the aforesaid order. In compliance therewith, the affidavit dated 27.11.2023 explained that Support Persons are experienced and qualified individuals with substantial knowledge in the fields of child welfare, sociology, and psychology, and are appointed on a case-by-case basis. Support Persons are selected by a Committee comprising: (i) the District Magistrate; (ii) the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, or his nominee; (iii) the District Probation Officer/District Child Protection Officer; (iv) the Chairperson/Members of the Child Welfare Committee; and (v) a representative from an NGO or Educational Institution.

42. On a critical examination of the data, it emerges that there has been an explosive rise in cases coming before Child Welfare Committees over the last five years (from 2018-19 to 2022-23) against a backdrop of chronically insufficient Support Persons, revealing a system in crisis. The five-year trend in the total number of cases presented before Child Welfare Committees across Uttar Pradesh reveals a deeply concerning trajectory that demands urgent judicial and administrative attention.

43. In the year 2018-19, a total of 14,857 cases were placed before CWCs across the State, which marginally declined to 14,760 in 2019-20, and further depressed the figure to 10,554 in 2020-21. However, this apparent decline must not be misread as an improvement in child welfare, it almost certainly reflects a collapse in case registration and reporting during the pandemic period, rather than any genuine reduction in child distress or need for protection. The true scale of the problem became starkly visible in the post-pandemic years: cases surged to 19,556 in 2021-22, representing an 85% single-year increase over 2020-21, and climbed further to 28,351 in 2022-23- the highest figure in the five-year period and a 91% increase over 2018-19.

44. This upward trajectory, far from reflecting improved reporting alone, signals a genuine and accelerating crisis in child welfare across the State. Read alongside the chronically insufficient number of Support Persons available during the same period, these figures paint a picture of a child protection system that is structurally overwhelmed, under-resourced, and failing in its fundamental statutory duty to every child brought before a Child Welfare Committee in Uttar Pradesh.

45. The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Model Rules, 2016, mandate that every child brought before a Child Welfare Committee is entitled to: (i) a Support Person to assist and guide them through the proceedings; (ii) prompt, child-friendly, and dignified handling of their case; and (iii) disposal of the case within four months, in terms of Section 37 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015.

46. Section 39 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, further mandates that there shall be a dedicated Support Person for every child victim of a sexual offence. The Supreme Court of India, in Nipun Saxena v. Union of India, has strongly emphasized the State's duty to appoint adequate number of Support Persons.

47. The most alarming finding emerging from the data is the catastrophic mismatch between the number of cases brought before Child Welfare Committees and the number of Support Persons available across the State. In 2018-19, each Support Person was nominally responsible for 275 cases. Even in 2022-23, which represents a comparatively improved year, each Support Person bore responsibility for over 52 cases- rendering genuine, individualized, child-friendly support a complete legal fiction. The total number of cases presented before Child Welfare Committees increased by 91% between 2018-19 and 2022-23, rising from 14,857 to 28,351, while Support Persons increased only ten-fold from a negligible base of 54- a figure still wholly inadequate for a State of Uttar Pradesh's size and population.

48. A cross-analysis of cases against Support Persons for the year 2022-23 in the most critical districts reveals even a graver picture. Gorakhpur is the single most alarming district, with 1,142 CWC cases and only 2 Support Persons, meaning each Support Person is nominally responsible for 571 children simultaneously- a situation that amounts not merely to inadequacy but to a complete absence of support in practical terms. Lucknow, the State capital and administrative headquarters, recorded 1,632 cases with only 3 Support Persons, yielding 544 cases per Support Person, demonstrating that even the best-administered district in the State has failed to implement the statutory mandate. Other districts present an equally grim picture: Prayagraj recorded 863 cases with only 2 Support Persons (432 cases per SP); Kannauj recorded 610 cases with only 2 Support Persons (305 cases per SP); Varanasi recorded 913 cases with only 3 Support Persons (304 cases per SP); Gautam Budh Nagar recorded 944 cases with 3 Support Persons (315 cases per SP); and Lakhimpur Kheri recorded 619 cases with only 2 Support Persons (310 cases per SP). Most critically, Auraiya district recorded 324 active cases with zero Support Persons- leaving every child before the CWC entirely without statutory support.

49. The data further reveals that several districts reported zero cases before the Child Welfare Committee for one or more consecutive years, despite being substantially populated districts- a pattern that is highly misrepresented and demands explanation. Mathura, Hathras, and Azamgarh each recorded zero cases for three consecutive years from 2018-19 to 2020-21; Azamgarh then recorded 500 cases in 2022-23, and Auraiya, similarly dormant for three years, recorded 324 cases in the same year. Gonda recorded zero cases in 2018-19, followed by a sudden appearance of cases thereafter, while Bahraich recorded zero cases for 2018-19 and 2019-20, followed by 210 cases in 2020-21. Zero cases in a district is not evidence of the absence of child welfare issues. It is evidence of non-registration of cases, administrative failure, or deliberate suppression of data. The sudden and dramatic jumps in several districts strongly suggest prior under-reporting rather than any genuine absence of cases. Badaun district additionally shows "NA" for both 2021-22 and 2022-23, meaning no data was submitted for two consecutive years. Again a failure that is itself a matter of serious concern.

50. The situation becomes even more alarming when the cases actually assigned to Support Persons are examined against the total CWC caseload in individual districts. In Gorakhpur, out of 1,142 CWC cases in 2022-23, only 75 were assigned to Support Persons, leaving 1,067 children unserved. In Lucknow, out of 1,632 cases, only 51 were assigned, leaving 1,581 unserved. In Prayagraj, out of 863 cases, only 11 were assigned, leaving 852 unserved. In Chandauli, all 956 cases proceeded without any Support Person assignment whatsoever. In Varanasi, all 913 cases similarly proceeded without any Support Person. In Auraiya, despite there being no Support Person at all, 48 cases were nominally recorded as assigned- a figure that is itself inexplicable and raises further data integrity concerns. This cross-analysis establishes that in virtually every district, the actual number of cases assigned to Support Persons is a negligible fraction of the total CWC caseload, meaning thereby the overwhelming majority of children appearing before Child Welfare Committees are proceeding without any Support Person at all.

51. On a consolidated examination of the data, it emerges that the State authorities have failed to function in accordance with the applicable legal provisions. The mandate of Section 39 of the POCSO Act, 2012, requiring the State to provide a Support Person to every child victim, remains systematically unfulfilled. Rule 4 of the POCSO Rules, 2020, requiring immediate arrangement of a Support Person upon registration of a case, is structurally impossible to comply with given the present numbers. Section 27(10) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, which requires the Child Welfare Committee to ensure the best interests of the child is protected.

52. Section 37 of the Juvenile Justice Act, which mandates disposal of cases within four months, is rendered difficult to comply with owing to the inadequate support infrastructure. The directions of the Supreme Court of India in Nipun Saxena (supra), on child-friendly procedures and Support Person appointment, are being violated at scale across the State.

53. As per the guidelines of the Mission Vatsalya Scheme dated 05.07.2022, formulated by the Government of India, each Member of the Child Welfare Committee is paid Rs.2,000/- per sitting, subject to a maximum of 20 sittings for which bills may be raised. Each Child Welfare Committee has been provided with an Assistant-cum-Data Entry Operator, while other requirements are to be fulfilled by the Protection Officer of the District Child Protection Unit. The Child Welfare Committees have also been provided with office space equipped with furniture, computers, printers, internet facilities, and other necessary logistic support as and when required. There are 23 Child Care Institutions maintained by the State Government and 87 institutions operated by Non-Governmental Organizations. Besides Government Child Homes (Shishu) and separate Government Homes for girls and boys, five Government Specialized Adoption Agencies are functioning in the State. The Child Care Institutions are categorized according to age groups, namely: (i) children between 0 to 5 years of age; (ii) children between 6 to 10 years of age; and (iii) girls and boys between 10 to 18 years of age.

54. The affidavit clarifies that children, including newborn babies, who are either surrendered or abandoned by rape victims or their families, are provided shelter in Child Care Institutions upon intervention by the Child Welfare Committee. Such children are provided with all necessities, protection, and an environment conducive to their holistic development, including free education, medical facilities, food, and skill development programmes. The affidavit further clarifies that children born to rape victims, or children abandoned or surrendered by such victims, are treated as "children in need of care and protection" in accordance with Section 2 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015.

55. The affidavit further states that Child Care Institutions are regularly inspected and visited by various authorities and committees. In addition to the Juvenile Justice Committee of the Allahabad High Court, comprising Hon'ble Judges, and committees constituted by the District Judge, the following inspection mechanisms are in place: (i) the State Inspection Committee conducts surprise inspections; (ii) committees nominated by the Commissioner conduct annual inspections; (iii) committees nominated by the District Magistrate conduct monthly inspections; (iv) the District Level Inspection Committee conducts inspections once every three months; (v) the District Probation Officer conducts inspections fortnightly; (vi) the Child Welfare Committee conducts inspections twice a month; and (vii) the Superintendent of the Child Care Institution conducts inspections twice daily. A point-wise agenda containing 12 parameters has been formulated for the aforesaid inspections.

56. The inspection agenda prescribed by the State for Child Care Institutions purports to cover 12 inspection points. A critical examination of this agenda, however, reveals that it is fundamentally inadequate, structurally deficient, and fails to comply with the mandatory requirements of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, the JJ Model Rules, 2016, the POCSO Act, 2012, and the NCPCR Guidelines on Child Care Institutions. The deficiencies in each point may be briefly noted as follows.

56.1 A building inspection should check more than just ownership or rental status. It must also verify structural safety, fire certificates, minimum space requirements for children, and whether rented premises offer security of tenure. NGO registration checks must confirm whether the registration is current and whether every child is held under a valid legal order. Without this, cases of illegal detention or trafficking can go undetected.

56.2 Identifying overcrowding is important, but relying solely on Aadhaar cards to count children is problematic. Many trafficked or remote-area children do not have Aadhaar. Dormitories must also be checked for proper separation by age, gender, and case type. Food quality checks must go beyond surface observation. They must verify nutritionist-approved menus, individual dietary needs, and whether children can raise food-related complaints.

56.3 Security checks must do more than note the presence of guards. They must confirm whether female guards are posted in girls' homes, whether staff have passed background and police verification, and whether night-time and emergency protocols exist. CCTV coverage must be carefully regulated. Cameras must be strictly prohibited in girls bathrooms, sleeping areas, and changing rooms. Clear rules on who monitors footage and how long it is retained are essential.

56.4 Individual Care Plans must not merely exist on paper. They must be prepared within fifteen days, involve the child in the process, and show evidence of actual implementation. School enrollment checks must verify age-appropriate placement, access for children with disabilities, and availability of bridge courses for those with interrupted education.

56.5 Skill training must lead to recognized certification and align with each child's reintegration plan. Staff checks must go beyond counting numbers. Qualifications, background verification, prescribed staff-to-child ratios, and mandatory training under the POCSO and JJ Acts must all be verified. Female-only staff must be confirmed in girls' homes.

56.6 Children held in observation homes for petty offences must not be overlooked. Each case must be reviewed for bail eligibility, legal aid, and compliance with maximum detention periods. They must also be kept separate from children accused of serious offences.

56.7 Children who have spent six months or more in institutional care represent the gravest failure of the child protection system. Their situation demands far more than a brief report. Specific barriers to restoration must be identified. Family counseling efforts must be verified. Foster care, adoption, and the role of the Sponsorship and Foster Care Approval Committee must all be actively considered.

57. Beyond the deficiencies within individual points, several critical inspection areas are entirely absent from the agenda. The agenda contains no provision for medical health check-ups or healthcare access for resident children, despite Rule 29(3) of the JJ Model Rules mandating the same. Mental health assessment and counseling services, required under Section 53 of the JJ Act and NCPCR Guidelines, are entirely unaddressed. There is no requirement to verify the existence of a child-accessible grievance mechanism against staff, mandated under Rule 73, nor any reference to Children's Committees through which children participate in institutional management under Rule 40.

58. The agenda contains no requirement to examine records of incidents of abuse, punishment, or staff misconduct- a critical gap given that Section 75 of the JJ Act criminalizes cruelty to children in institutional care and Section 82 prohibits corporal punishment. The status of family reconciliation efforts for surrendered children under Section 35, pending adoption or foster care cases for long-stay children under Chapter VIII, and compliance with the prohibition on solitary confinement under Rule 76, are all absent. Finally, there is no suicide or self-harm prevention protocol verification, despite specific NCPCR Safety Guidelines on the subject.

59. The affidavit also sets out certain deficiencies noticed and suggestions made during inspections, which do not require detailed examination by this Court at this stage. However, the details relating to inspections conducted by the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Uttar Pradesh, of Child Care Institutions during the past five years disclose a return of "NIL"- that is, the Principal Secretary conducted no inspections whatsoever during this period.

60. Inspection records for Girls' Child Care Homes across Uttar Pradesh over five years reveal a near-total failure of senior-level oversight. The Principal Secretary of the Department of Women and Child Development is the highest officer legally responsible for inspecting Girls' Homes. Over five years, this officer conducted fewer than ten inspections across the entire State. Uttar Pradesh has 75 districts and thousands of girl children in institutional care. This level of oversight is not merely inadequate. It amounts to a near-complete abandonment of the legal duty imposed under Section 54 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 and Rule 64 of the JJ Model Rules, 2016.

61. The majority of districts recorded zero inspections over the entire five-year period. This includes some of the most populous, urbanized, and administratively important districts in the State. Districts with operational Girls' Homes that were never inspected even once include Azamgarh, Ballia, Prayagraj, Kaushambi, Pratapgarh, Meerut, Saharanpur, Shamli, Bijnor, Amroha, Sambhal, Gorakhpur, Deoria, Maharajganj, Basti, Sant Kabir Nagar, Jhansi, Lalitpur, Sonbhadra, Chitrakoot, Hamirpur, Mahoba, Banda, Shahjahanpur, Lakhimpur Kheri, Bahraich, and Shravasti.

62. Barabanki recorded only one inspection in five years. Kanpur recorded only three. Lucknow, the State capital and the best-performing district, recorded just six inspections over five years. This averages to barely one visit per year.

63. These figures establish beyond doubt that the legal mandate of regular and rigorous senior-level inspection has been reduced to nothing across virtually the entire State. Such inspections are the single most critical safeguard against abuse, exploitation, and trafficking of girl children in institutional care. This failure is in direct violation of the JJ Act, 2015, the JJ Model Rules, 2016, and the NCPCR Guidelines on Child Care Institutions. It also disregards the repeated directions of the Supreme Court of India issued after the Muzaffarpur shelter home tragedy. In that case, the absence of exactly this kind of senior oversight allowed years of systematic sexual abuse of girl children to go undetected and unpunished.

VIII- FACTS AND FINDINGS EMERGING FROM THE AFFIDAVIT FILED BY THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF POLICE, UTTAR PRADESH:

64. In response to the information sought from the office of the Director General of Police regarding the number of cases in which pregnancies were detected in unmarried child rape victims during the last five years, the affidavit reveals that 525 such cases were reported across the State of Uttar Pradesh. The zone-wise distribution of these cases discloses a pattern of institutional failure that extends across both rural and urban areas of the State.

65. The Lucknow Zone recorded the highest concentration of cases in the State, with 115 cases accounting for 21.9% of the State total. Within this zone, Sitapur and Unnao each recorded 20 cases, Raebareli 15, Hardoi 14, and Lakhimpur Kheri 10, with Lucknow Urban contributing a further 17 cases and the Ayodhya sub-zone adding 36. It categorically dispels any notion that this is a problem of rural neglect alone and demonstrates institutional failure at the very heart of the State's administrative apparatus. Unnao's 20 cases are especially alarming, given its documented history as a persistent flashpoint for crimes against women and children.

66. The Prayagraj Zone recorded 96 cases, constituting 18.3% of the State total, with Pratapgarh alone accounting for 29 cases- the highest figure for any single district in the entire State. Pratapgarh simultaneously reported 385 CWC cases in 2022-23 with only 6 Support Persons, exemplifying the combination of high vulnerability and critically low support infrastructure. Fatehpur contributed 26 cases, Chitrakoot 16, and Kaushambi 10. Chitrakoot's 16 cases from a small, economically backward, and tribal-dominated district signal the disproportionate vulnerability of marginalized populations.

67. Urban Commissionary areas across the State collectively accounted for 106 cases- fully one in five of all cases statewide- establishing beyond argument that this crisis is as much an urban as a rural phenomenon. Cases were reported across all seven major Urban Commissionary areas, including Prayagraj with 22 cases, Lucknow and Ghaziabad each with 17, Varanasi with 15, Gautam Budh Nagar with 13, Agra with 12, and Kanpur Nagar with 10.

68. The remaining zones contributed as follows: the Bareilly Zone recorded 52 cases (9.9%), with Sambhal contributing 16 and Shahjahanpur 12; the Kanpur Zone recorded 37 cases (7.0%), with Kanpur Dehat contributing 13 and Etawah 6; the Agra Zone recorded 34 cases (6.5%), with Aligarh contributing 11 and Mathura and Firozabad 8 each; the Meerut Zone recorded 31 cases (5.9%), with Meerut contributing 8 and Hapur 5; the Gorakhpur Zone also recorded 31 cases (5.9%), with Bahraich contributing 15 and Gonda 6; and the Varanasi Zone recorded 23 cases (4.4%), with Ghazipur contributing 9 and Chandauli 7.

69. The most alarming finding in the entire dataset is not where cases are high- it is where they are inexplicably zero. Gorakhpur city, the largest city in eastern Uttar Pradesh, recorded zero cases despite having the highest CWC caseload in the entire State, namely 1,142 cases in 2022-23, with only 2 Support Persons. Similarly, Mau, Ballia, Sonbhadra, and Bhadohi each recorded zero cases despite significant CWC caseloads. The only credible explanations- each deeply troubling- are failure of access to justice, fear and suppression of victims and their families, or systematic non-registration of cases by local authorities.

70. The gap between institutional Child Welfare Committee caseloads and the number of cases registered across key districts reveals an acute and systemic failure of access to justice that strikes at the very foundations of the child protection framework. Gorakhpur, which recorded the highest CWC caseload in the entire State at 1,142 cases in 2022-23, reflects zero registered cases of pregnancy in unmarried child rape victims. Lucknow, with 1,632 CWC cases, accounts for only 17 such registered cases. Chandauli, with 956 CWC cases, is represented by a mere 7; Bulandshahr, with 732 cases, by only 3; while Maharajganj, Mau, Sonbhadra, and Ballia- with CWC caseloads of 580, 245, 271, and 334 respectively- contribute absolutely zero cases despite their substantial and documented child welfare burdens. This cross-analysis establishes that the 525 cases placed before this Court represent only the most visible portion of a vastly larger crisis of child rape, institutional failure, and unremedied suffering. The true number of unmarried child rape victims who became pregnant and received no meaningful institutional support, medical care, or legal redress is immeasurably greater than the number registered with the police. What this data reveals is a deeply troubling inverse relationship between vulnerability and legal access- the districts bearing the most acute child welfare crises, the most overwhelmed Child Welfare Committees, and the most inadequate support infrastructure are precisely those where victims and their families are least able to approach the courts, least informed of their rights, and most susceptible to fear, suppression, and administrative indifference. This structural inequity demands the most urgent and far-reaching systemic intervention by this Court.

IX- FACTS AND FINDINGS EMERGING FROM THE AFFIDAVIT FILED BY THE CHAIRMAN, NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR PROTECTION OF CHILD RIGHTS:

71. While hearing the issues raised in the present petition and having come across several connected and incidental concerns, this Court requested the Member Secretary, National Commission for Protection of Child Rights, to furnish the Commission's comments, suggestions, and observations, with the objective of seeking its insight for arriving at a logical conclusion. The affidavit filed by the Chairman, NCPCR, sets forth the Commission's stand and sheds light on the issues involved from a multidimensional perspective.

72. The affidavit records that the NCPCR is a statutory body constituted under Section 3 of the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005, and is entrusted with monitoring the proper and effective implementation of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. It is further mandated under Section 13(1)(j) of the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005, to take suo motu cognizance of matters relating to deprivation and violation of child rights. The Commission is committed to ensuring child welfare, strengthening institutional mechanisms, promoting decentralization at the community level, and fostering greater social concern towards child rights.

73. The affidavit further records that the NCPCR has formulated training modules for Child Welfare Committees and has advised the Government of Uttar Pradesh to conduct organized training programmes, orientation courses, and capacity building programmes for the Chairpersons and Members of Child Welfare Committees. The affidavit clarifies that the role of Support Persons, as envisaged under the POCSO Rules, 2020, is crucial in ensuring the protection and care of child victims. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, vide order dated 18.08.2023, passed in Bachpan Bachao Andolan v. Union of India, directed the NCPCR to formulate Model Guidelines with respect to Support Persons in consultation with the State Governments and Union Territories, and further directed the States and Union Territories to frame Rules based upon such Model Guidelines. It is stated that after consultative meetings and deliberations with various stakeholders, including Non-Governmental Organizations, the NCPCR was under process for finalization of the Model Guidelines at the time of filing of the said affidavit.

74. In discharge of its monitoring and implementation role under the POCSO Act, 2012, the NCPCR has developed a dedicated portal for real-time tracking of cases involving child sexual abuse victims, along with monitoring of the release of compensation and rehabilitation measures for their care and protection. The portal operates in five stages: collection of details of the child; preparation of a Social Investigation Report containing details regarding the requirement of a Support Person, translator, and other individual needs of the child; formulation of a rehabilitation plan linked with compensation and welfare schemes; and culminating in the preparation of a comprehensive report, which is thereafter transmitted to the District Legal Services Authority for further action.

75. The affidavit further discloses that, on the POCSO Tracking Portal maintained by the NCPCR, only 129 cases from the State of Uttar Pradesh had been uploaded till the date of filing. During an inter-departmental review meeting held on 15.12.2023, the State of Uttar Pradesh informed the NCPCR that 227 Support Persons had been appointed, of whom 190 belonged to Government Departments and the remaining 37 to Non-Governmental Organizations. It is pertinent to note that this figure of 227 is significantly lower than the figure of 538 Support Persons stated in the affidavit filed by the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development- a discrepancy that itself raises serious questions regarding the reliability of the data placed before this Court.

76. The affidavit filed on behalf of the NCPCR contains several substantive suggestions. First, a child victim must mandatorily be produced before the Child Welfare Committee at the earliest opportunity and without any delay. If the Child Welfare Committee arrives at a subjective satisfaction that the child should be removed from the family or shared household, the child should be immediately placed in a shelter home, keeping in mind her best interests.

77. Second, where a child is a victim of an offence under the POCSO Act and is found to be pregnant, the provisions of Rule 6 of the POCSO Rules, 2020 shall be invoked, and the child shall be produced before a medical practitioner for counseling of the child, her parents or guardians, or the Support Person, regarding the various lawful options available under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, as amended from time to time.

78. Third, Section 19(6) of the POCSO Act mandates that the local police or the Special Juvenile Police Unit shall produce the child before the Child Welfare Committee within 24 hours of recording the report, and the Child Welfare Committee shall take immediate steps to safeguard and protect the rights of the child.

79. Fourth, in cases where the pregnancy cannot be terminated for medical or other reasons, the child victim and her family should be counselled to enable the child to carry the pregnancy in her best interest and to secure proper healthcare. The victim and her family should also be informed about welfare and rehabilitation schemes framed by the Government, as well as the adoption policy relating to the newborn child, particularly in cases where the victim is a minor and is not mentally, physically, or financially capable of caring for the child. In cases where the minor mother agrees to surrender the newborn child for adoption, she may also be apprised of the provisions of Section 7(8) of the Adoption Regulations, 2022.

80. Fifth, the Social Investigation Report and Individual Care Plan of the victim should be prepared strictly having regard to her social, psychological, and behavioural profile, along with her specific needs and requirements, and should comprehensively address all aspects related to her growth, dignity, and legal rights.

81. Sixth, a comprehensive report relating to compliance with the provisions of Section 45 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, benefits available under the Mission Vatsalya Scheme, other State-sponsored schemes, initiation of the process for declaring the child legally free for adoption, and the Social Investigation Report and Individual Care Plan of the victim, should be forwarded to the Special Judge, POCSO Court, with a copy to the District Magistrate for periodic supervision, ensuring effective compliance in the best interest of the victim and the newborn child, particularly in cases where a minor victim under the POCSO Act conceives an unwanted pregnancy and gives birth to a child as a consequence of the offence committed upon her.

X- SUBMISSIONS OF THE LEARNED AMICUS CURIAE:

82. Ms. Vijeta Singh, learned Amicus Curiae, submitted that the victim was a minor at the time of the unfortunate incident, that both the victim and her mother were of unsound mind, and that the biological father of the victim had abandoned the family nearly ten years prior to the incident. The victim, her mother, and younger brother were being looked after by the victim's grandfather, who approached this Court seeking directions for termination of the victim's pregnancy. It was further submitted that after the FIR was registered on 11.06.2023, the victim was produced for medical examination at the Community Health Centre, Rohta, on 12.06.2023, and her statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. were recorded by the Additional Civil Judge (Junior Division) on 06.07.2023.

83. It was further submitted that the petitioner had submitted a request before the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, on 05.07.2023 seeking termination of the pregnancy, but the same was not entertained. Thereafter, the petitioner filed an application before the Additional District and Special Judge (POCSO) on 19.07.2023, seeking a direction to the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, to terminate the pregnancy. The Reader of the Court returned the said application with an endorsement directing the petitioner to approach this Court for appropriate directions. It was under these circumstances that the petitioner approached this Court.

84. It was further submitted that the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, acted negligently in discharging the duties and responsibilities entrusted to him under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, read with the relevant provisions of the POCSO Act, 2012, and the Rules framed thereunder. No Medical Board existed in compliance with the statutory requirement under Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the State Government Notification dated 10.06.2004, issued for the constitution of Medical Boards in accordance with Section 4(b) of the said Act, had not been complied with by the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut.

85. It was also submitted that the Chairperson and Members of the Child Welfare Committee, Meerut, acted negligently and insensitively in the discharge of their duties and responsibilities under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the Rules framed thereunder. The Support Person attached to the victim was unprofessional and unqualified and therefore failed to understand the victim's needs and requirements during the crucial period. The entire administrative machinery- including the constitution and functioning of the Child Welfare Committee, the appointment of Support Persons, the office of the Chief Medical Officer, and the judicial officer who recorded the statement of the victim- acted in a highly irresponsible and insensitive manner, resulting in a delay of 54 days before the matter was brought before this Court.

86. The learned Amicus Curiae further submitted that the "Guidelines and Protocols: Medico-Legal Care for Survivors/Victims of Sexual Violence" issued by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Government of India, had not been implemented in their true spirit by the concerned authorities, and that the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, had not followed the circular dated 10.01.2022 issued by the National Health Mission. It was further pointed out that after the year 2003, the Medical Board at Lucknow had been reconstituted 12 times, whereas in other districts Medical Boards had been reconstituted only once or twice- in complete disregard of the mandate of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971.

87. The scale and magnitude of non-compliance with the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the related provisions of the POCSO Act, 2012, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, are demonstrated by data indicating that between 1st June 2016 and 3rd February 2018, out of 74 rape survivors, 23 were denied permission for termination of pregnancy by the Medical Board. Of these 23 victims, 13 were compelled to approach the Courts through human rights lawyers, even though their pregnancies were below 20 weeks.

88. It was further submitted that one of the major difficulties faced by rape victims in India is the delay in detection and reporting of pregnancy, as a result of which victims reach an advanced stage of pregnancy and are consequently subjected to severe mental agony and physical trauma. The reasons for such delay include lack of awareness, delay in reporting the offence, and inconsistent implementation of the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. In many cases, the victim either does not understand or remains unaware of the pregnancy until it reaches an advanced stage. The Chief Medical Officer, the police authorities, the Chairperson and Members of the Child Welfare Committee, and the concerned judicial officers fail to discharge their duty of educating and counseling the victim of sexual assault at the earliest stage.

89. It was further contended that there exists no effective accountability mechanism to assign responsibility to Chief Medical Officers, Chairpersons and Members of the Child Welfare Committees, and other stakeholders for dereliction of duty. The need for judicial intervention by the Supreme Court in Bachpan Bachao Andolan (supra) to enforce the provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the POCSO Act, 2012, itself reflects the callousness of the executive machinery and its inadequate commitment to implementing the statutory provisions. It was also submitted that welfare and rehabilitation schemes for rape victims- such as the Nirbhaya Fund, One Stop Centres established by the Ministry of Women and Child Development, the Uttar Pradesh Rani Laxmi Bai Mahila Samman Kosh Scheme, the Mission Vatsalya Scheme, 2021, and the NALSA Compensation Scheme for Women Victims/Survivors of Sexual Assault and Other Crimes, 2018- lack effective rule-bound implementation mechanisms and fail to provide accountability against erring officers.

XI- SUGGESTIONS OF THE LEARNED AMICUS CURIAE:

90. The learned Amicus Curiae suggested that an additional clause be incorporated in the Medico-Legal Examination Report relating to sexual violence, recording that the victim and her guardian have been informed, counselled, and apprised of the status of the pregnancy, where the victim is found to be pregnant, and have also been informed of the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, read with the relevant provisions of the POCSO Act, 2012.

91. It is further suggested that the Support Person, Chairperson, and Members of the Child Welfare Committee should make a separate endorsement in the Social Investigation Report and the Individual Care Plan of the victim regarding counseling and dissemination of information concerning the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, the POCSO Act, 2012, Government compensation schemes, welfare schemes, and rehabilitation measures available to the victim. The Child Welfare Committee should, in consultation with the Medical Board constituted under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, immediately decide on termination of pregnancy in cases involving minor rape victims.

92. It is further submitted that there exists a stark conflict between the protectionist approach of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the autonomy-based approach evolved through constitutional jurisprudence. The presumption that a guardian always acts in the best interest of the minor may not hold true in cases of sexual assault. Accordingly, it is suggested that a collective and conscious decision be taken by the Chief Medical Officer, the Chairperson and Members of the Child Welfare Committee, the Support Person, and the Counselor, guided solely by the best interests of the child, particularly in cases where the opinion of the minor pregnant victim differs from that of her guardian.

93. It is further suggested that a proper mechanism be established to ensure mandatory coordination between the police authorities, the Chief Medical Officer, and the Child Welfare Committee, so that each authority functions as part of a unified mechanism for the immediate exchange of information, the prompt transmission of medical and legal reports, and strict adherence to the time-bound procedures prescribed under the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, the POCSO Act, 2012, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. In furtherance of this objective, a Special Coordination Committee should be constituted in every district, comprising one representative from the police department, one doctor from the office of the Chief Medical Officer, one Member of the Child Welfare Committee, and one Judicial Officer, for supervision and day-to-day monitoring of such cases.

94. A dedicated Digital Case Tracking System should be created to monitor cases involving pregnancies of minor sexual assault victims in real time. It should track every stage, from FIR registration and medical examination to Medical Board constitution, submission of reports, CWC referral, and court disposal of termination applications. Officers who cause delay or fail in their duty, whether the Investigating Officer, Chief Medical Officer, or Child Welfare Committee, must face strict consequences. These should include civil and criminal prosecution, compensatory costs, and departmental action.

95. The Amicus Curiae raised an important question about the legal status of a child born as a result of sexual assault. Currently, it is unclear whether such a child qualifies as a "victim" under Section 2(wa) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, or under the POCSO Act, 2012. This gap in the law has serious consequences for the rights and protection of such children. It is therefore suggested that a separate clause be added to Section 2 of the POCSO Act, 2012, and to the relevant provisions of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, clearly defining the legal status of children born as a result of offences under the POCSO Act.

XII- CASES RELIED UPON BY THE LEARNED AMICUS CURIAE:

96. The learned Amicus Curiae has placed reliance upon the following decisions in support of the submissions advanced before this Court.

96.1 The learned Amicus Curiae has placed reliance upon Suchita Srivastava & Anr. v. Chandigarh Administration to contend that the consent of the woman is paramount in matters relating to medical termination of pregnancy, subject to limited exceptions concerning mentally ill women. It is further submitted that where divergent medical opinions exist regarding termination of pregnancy, greater weight must be accorded to the opinion of the medical practitioner. Reliance has also been placed on the proposition that denial of termination causes severe mental anguish, trauma and irreparable harm to the victim. It is further argued that where the pregnancy exceeds the statutory gestational limit of 20 weeks, a Multi-Disciplinary Medical Board must be constituted to mitigate the associated risks. The learned Amicus Curiae also submits that termination of pregnancy may be permitted even beyond 24 weeks in cases involving fetal abnormalities or grave risk to the life and health of the mother. It is emphasized that reproductive choice is a matter of personal autonomy and that even where the guardian or the State prefers a different course of action, the wishes of the minor, if capable of forming an opinion, must receive primary consideration. It is lastly submitted that the Medical Board must be constituted immediately upon the matter being reported either to the police authorities or a doctor, and that the report of the Medical Board should be furnished within 24 hours, as compelling the victim to approach the Court merely for obtaining a medical opinion amounts to procedural failure on the part of the State authorities11

XIII- RIGHTS OF CHILDREN BORN OUT OF SEXUAL ASSAULT- AN INTERNATIONAL COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS:

97. The learned Amicus Curiae has placed before this Court a comparative analysis of the legislative frameworks adopted by several jurisdictions in addressing the rights of children born as a consequence of sexual assault.

98. In the United Kingdom, landmark legislation has recently been enacted explicitly recognizing the rights of such children. Section 2(b) of the Victims and Prisoners Act, 2024, defines "victim" to include a child born directly as a result of criminal conduct. Such children are entitled to support from criminal justice agencies and are eligible for compensation under the Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme. The legislation further restricts the rapist-father from exercising parental responsibilities or visitation rights, thereby ensuring that neither the survivor-mother nor the child is compelled to maintain any connection with the perpetrator.

99. In South Africa, the issue is addressed through the framework of parental rights and succession under the Children's Act 38 of 2005, under which the child born of such an assault is entitled to claim maintenance from the rapist-father.

100. In the United States of America, a decentralized approach is followed through State-specific statutes supported by federal grants. The Victims of Crime Act, 1984, the California Victim Compensation Board, and the Texas Crime Victims Compensation Act recognize "derivative victims"- including children of direct victims- and permit them to claim compensation for counseling and support. The Rape Survivor Child Custody Act encourages States to permit women to seek termination of the parental rights of rapists. Most States in the United States now have Termination of Parental Rights statutes in cases involving conception through sexual assault, thereby preventing the rapist from seeking custody or visitation rights.

101. In New Zealand, a "no-fault" model is followed under the Accident Compensation Act, 2001, which categorizes pregnancy resulting from rape as "personal injury." The legislation entitles the victim-mother to broad compensation covering costs associated with the pregnancy and resulting mental injury. Although the child is not treated as a direct claimant for the rape injury itself, the State provides comprehensive support to the family unit.

XIV- FINDINGS OF THE COURT:

102. To take a conscious decision regarding termination of pregnancy, it must be borne in mind that a fetus ordinarily cannot be aborted once the pregnancy exceeds 24 weeks. Time, therefore, is of the essence of the entire jurisprudence governing termination of pregnancy. The significance of time becomes even more critical because the Medical Board's opinion serves as the foundational basis for deciding whether termination is medically and legally permissible. In this case, the time consumed in taking a decision regarding termination of the victim's pregnancy is therefore a critical factor and must have been carefully examined and adjudicated timely.

103. The FIR was lodged on 11.06.2023 by the grandfather of the victim, alleging that his 17-year-old granddaughter, who was mentally challenged, had remained disturbed and under stress for a considerable period, and upon being taken into confidence, disclosed that one Lalu had repeatedly subjected her to sexual assault after intoxicating her, as a consequence of which she had become pregnant. After the FIR was registered, the victim was produced before the Community Health Centre, Rohta, on 12.06.2023, where the Medical Officer prepared a Medico-Legal Examination Report recording a provisional medical opinion that the patient was approximately five to six months pregnant and advising an ultrasonography for fetal well-being. On the same date, a radiological examination conducted at the District Women's Hospital, Meerut, confirmed that the victim was carrying a pregnancy of 22 weeks and 6 days.

104. The victim's statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. were recorded on 06.07.2023, wherein she categorically stated that she did not wish to continue with the pregnancy. On the same day, she was produced before the Child Welfare Committee, Meerut, which handed over her custody to her uncle with a direction that the pregnancy should not be terminated and that regular follow-up medical check-ups be continued. During this period, the victim had also approached the Chief Medical Officer, Meerut, on 05.07.2023, seeking termination of the pregnancy.

105. During the aforesaid period, none of the concerned authorities- namely, the Chief Medical Officer, the police authorities, the concerned Judicial Officer, or the Child Welfare Committee- paid due heed to the victim's request. Left with no efficacious remedy, the victim approached the Special Judge (POCSO), Meerut, who also advised her to approach this Court for appropriate directions. The writ petition was filed on 22.07.2023 and listed before this Court on 04.08.2023. Thus, from the date of registration of the FIR till 04.08.2023, a total of 54 days elapsed, during which the pregnancy advanced further and the risks associated with termination increased manifold.

106. In matters of such nature, every single day is crucial to the mental and physical well-being of the victim. Every authority through which the victim passed was headed by educated, professionally qualified persons holding responsible public offices, yet none discharged their statutory duties with the minimum degree of sensitivity, responsibility, or sincerity expected of them. It was only after this Court intervened that consequential steps were initiated, the Medical Board was constituted, and the victim was admitted to the hospital. On 12.08.2023, a baby girl was delivered through surgical intervention, and thereafter the newborn child was shifted to the Government Child Centre, Rampur, as the victim expressed her inability to raise the child in a healthy and secure environment.

107. The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 was enacted on 10 August 1971. It allows registered medical practitioners to terminate certain pregnancies under specified conditions.

The Act was necessary because the Indian Penal Code, drafted nearly a century earlier, treated abortion as a criminal offence. Both the woman and the person performing the abortion could be punished. The only exception was where termination was necessary to save the mother's life.

108. Section 3(2-D) of the Act requires every State Government or Union Territory to constitute a Medical Board by official notification. This Board must include a gynaecologist, a paediatrician, a radiologist or sonologist, and such other members as may be notified. Section 3(2-B) of the Act further requires a Medical Board to be constituted in every district. This district-level Board is specifically meant to consider cases where termination is sought beyond 24 weeks of pregnancy.

109. The District Level Committee constituted under Section 4(b) of the Act is required to give its opinion within three days of receiving a reference. The termination procedure must then be completed within five days of that opinion. These strict timelines assume that a fully functional, properly constituted, and regularly updated committee exists in every district of the State.

110. The record furnished by the Joint Director, Directorate of Family Welfare, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh, dated 08.11.2024, discloses a disturbing picture of administrative apathy and prolonged disregard for Parliament's mandate. The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act came into force in 1971, yet the overwhelming majority of districts in Uttar Pradesh constituted their Medical Boards only in 2012-13- more than four decades after the Act. Only four districts constituted their Committees before 2010: Lucknow in 2003, that is, 32 years after the Act came into force; Mathura in 2004; Rampur in 2006; and Varanasi in 2011. Every other district allowed the statutory mandate to lie dormant for between 32 and 52 years.

111. The most egregious failures are those of Jhansi, Gonda, and Prayagraj, each of which constituted its Medical Board and District Level Committee only in 2023- a full 52 years after the Act came into force- meaning that for over five decades, every woman in these districts who required Committee approval for termination beyond standard gestational limits was effectively denied her statutory right and left with no option but to continue an unwanted or dangerous pregnancy, seek an unsafe illegal abortion, or undertake the burden and cost of traveling to a distant district.

112. Kaushambi, created as an independent district in 1997, constituted its Medical Baord only in 2018, meaning that for 21 years of its existence as a separate administrative unit, women in Kaushambi had no local Committee and were compelled to travel to Prayagraj- a serious and disproportionate barrier for poor and rural women. This represents a fundamental and prolonged violation of women's reproductive rights under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

113. The record further reveals that Medical Boards were constituted 12 times in Lucknow; 4 times in Bareilly; 3 times each in Bulandshahr, Chandauli, Hapur, Mahoba, and Meerut; 2 times each in Amroha, Banda, Etawah, Firozabad, Jaunpur, Kanpur Dehat, Mathura, Moradabad, Raebareli, Rampur, Sitapur, and Unnao; whereas in the remaining 53 districts, the Medical Board was constituted only once till the year 2023.

114. Even where Medical Board were constituted, the data reveals that the vast majority have been reconstituted only once in their entire existence, rendering them almost certainly non-functional in practice. Medical Board members appointed a decade ago would have retired, been transferred, or in some cases deceased; a Medical Board that exists only on paper but cannot be convened within the mandatory three-day statutory deadline does not merely fall short of adequacy- it actively denies women their statutory rights while providing the State a paper shield against accountability.

115. One of the most revealing patterns in the data is the bulk reconstitution of over 40 District Level Committees in a single week around 18-19 October 2023, immediately preceding the filing of data before this Court in November 2023. This extraordinary convergence of administrative activity raises serious and unavoidable questions as to whether these reconstitutions were genuine exercises in compliance or paper formalities executed defensively in anticipation of judicial scrutiny, and whether the women who needed Committee approval in the months and years preceding October 2023 were served by any functional committee at all.

116. The mass reconstitution pattern strongly suggests that compliance with the Act was litigation-driven rather than institutionally internalized. Two districts- Hamirpur and Sultanpur- submitted no information whatsoever regarding Board constitution, reconstitution, or current status, raising the serious possibility that no Medical Board has ever been constituted in these districts. Additionally, three districts- Azamgarh, Ballia, and Maharajganj- have document integrity issues, with entries marked "not clear" or "without sign," rendering the data legally unreliable and raising questions about the authenticity of the affidavit material filed before this Court.

117. The affidavit filed by the Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, Meerut, a former member of the district judiciary of Uttar Pradesh, reveals an equally disturbing state of affairs. Despite categorical averments in the FIR and in the statements recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. that the victim was mentally challenged and unwilling to continue with the pregnancy, the Chairman sought to justify the Committee's inaction on the ground that neither the doctor, nor the Magistrate, nor the Investigating Officer had formally described the victim as mentally disabled.

118. The Committee had the benefit of all relevant records before passing its order dated 06.07.2023, including the FIR, statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., the Medical Examination Report, and the Ossification Test Report, yet no effective or meaningful step appears to have been taken in the victim's best interest. The Chairman further sought to shift responsibility onto the police authorities, the Chief Medical Officer, and the Magistrate, without appreciating that he himself occupied a position of statutory responsibility alongside other members with expertise in their respective fields. Such an approach, particularly from a former judicial officer appointed as Chairman by a Committee headed by a former Judge of the High Court, is wholly unsatisfactory. The record further reveals that the Committee failed to enquire as to why the victim was produced before it nearly 25 days after registration of the FIR, despite the fact that she was carrying an advanced and unwanted pregnancy resulting from a sexual offence.

119. The data pertaining to Support Persons appointed under the POCSO Act, 2012, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, across Uttar Pradesh over the last five years reveals a picture of gross inadequacy and wide district-wise disparity. Under Section 39 of the POCSO Act, 2012, the State Government is required to make arrangements for providing Support Persons to child victims to assist them through the process of investigation and trial.

120. Under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, Support Persons are similarly mandated to assist children in need of care and protection appearing before Child Welfare Committees. Despite a nominal rise in numbers- from 54 Support Persons in 2018-19 to 538 in 2022-23- the position remains wholly inadequate. In 2022-23, 538 Support Persons were available across 75 districts, averaging barely seven per district, against a total of 2,740 assigned cases, yielding an average of over five cases per Support Person simultaneously. In 2018-19, each of the then-existing 54 Support Persons bore an average burden of over 275 cases. In 2018-19 and 2019-20, more than 20 districts had zero Support Persons, representing a complete failure of the statutory mandate for at least two full years across a majority of districts.

121. The district-wise data for 2022-23 reveals extreme case overload in several districts. Firozabad recorded only 2 Support Persons for 213 assigned cases, yielding over 106 cases per Support Person, the most egregious instance in the State. Meerut recorded 4 Support Persons for 392 cases, yielding 98 cases per Support Person. Gautam Budh Nagar recorded 3 Support Persons for 273 cases, and Etawah recorded 2 Support Persons for 152 cases. At the other extreme, Auraiya district had 48 cases with zero Support Persons, meaning every child victim in the district received no statutory support whatsoever. Similarly, Rampur and Hamirpur recorded zero Support Persons with no cases registered- raising the question of whether the absence of Support Persons itself contributed to the absence of case registration.

122. A severe and irrational district-wise disparity is also evident: Saharanpur recorded 252 Support Persons for 252 cases, and Muzaffarnagar recorded 68 Support Persons for 68 cases, both anomalously equal figures that suggest possible data entry error or administrative irregularity- while neighbouring Meerut had only 4 Support Persons for 392 cases. Districts such as Jalaun, Ambedkar Nagar, and Deoria each recorded 2 Support Persons against zero registered cases, suggesting either systematic non-registration of cases or complete administrative failure in those districts.

123. Upon consideration of the documents and affidavits furnished by the Chief Medical Officer, the Child Welfare Committee, the District Probation Officer, the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, and the Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, this Court is constrained to observe that the entire system appears to function more on paper than in actual implementation. Government departments possess notifications, schemes, programmes, and statutory frameworks, yet the practical implementation of such measures- particularly in matters relating to unwanted pregnancies arising from sexual offences and child care mechanisms- remains grossly inadequate.

124. The affidavit filed by the Chairman, NCPCR, has highlighted that under Section 19(6) of the POCSO Act, 2012, the local police or the Special Juvenile Police Unit is under a statutory obligation to report every case of sexual offence against a child to the Child Welfare Committee within 24 hours of receiving information, whereafter the Child Welfare Committee is required to take immediate measures to safeguard the child and pass appropriate orders in the child's best interest. The POCSO Tracking Portal maintained by the NCPCR further reveals that only 129 cases have been registered from the State of Uttar Pradesh, thereby raising serious concerns about reporting mechanisms, institutional coordination, and implementation capacity at the State level.

125. While enacting the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, Parliament consciously granted statutory protection to registered medical practitioners for acts done in good faith under the Act. Despite such protection, the record reflects persistent reluctance and non-compliance on the part of the authorities entrusted with implementing the Act, particularly at the district level. The Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, has stated in the affidavit filed before this Court that approximately 1,200 doctors have been trained by the Ipas Development Foundation under the tripartite Memorandum of Understanding. However, when admittedly no Medical Board existed till 2013 and, thereafter, in the majority of districts the Boards were constituted only once over a prolonged period, the authenticity and reliability of the statistical data furnished regarding district-wise details of unmarried rape victims produced before Medical Boards since 2013 becomes doubtful.

126. The present matter is, unfortunately, not an isolated instance. This Court regularly encounters cases where the intervention of the High Court or the Supreme Court becomes necessary in matters relating to termination of pregnancy arising out of sexual assault. By the time such matters reach the constitutional courts, the pregnancy has often advanced to a critical stage, making it increasingly difficult for medical experts to take a considered decision regarding termination after assessing the health risks to both the victim and the fetus.

127. The Supreme Court has delivered a series of judgments on the subject, and the High Courts have repeatedly issued directions for the timely constitution of Medical Boards and for taking necessary steps in the best interests of victims. Despite such judicial pronouncements, the material on record demonstrates a persistent failure on the part of the State machinery to effectively implement the provisions enacted by Parliament, the directions issued by constitutional courts, and the notifications issued by the State Government from time to time. The plight of child victims in such cases reflects deep institutional insensitivity. This Court records these findings with considerable anguish, but the facts brought on record leave no option except to place them on the judicial record and issue necessary directions, in the hope that the institutional authorities may discharge their statutory duties with greater responsibility, sensitivity, and accountability in the future.

128. Questions relating to reproductive rights, bodily autonomy, and abortion jurisprudence have consistently engaged constitutional courts across jurisdictions, lying at the intersection of constitutional guarantees, ethical considerations, societal values, and medical jurisprudence. While extensive judicial discourse exists concerning the reproductive rights of women, the independent legal status and rights of a child born as a consequence of sexual assault have not yet received comprehensive legislative recognition in India.

129. Section 2(1)(y) of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, defines a "victim" as a person who has suffered any loss or injury caused by reason of the act or omission of the accused person, and includes the guardian or legal heirs of such victim. However, the said definition may not adequately address the independent legal status of a child born as a consequence of sexual assault. Such a child cannot merely be treated as an extension of the victim-mother for the purpose of legal remedies, as both constitute distinct individuals possessing separate legal identities and interests. Comparative jurisprudence from the United Kingdom, New Zealand, and the United States reflects an evolving recognition of the rights of such children.

130. A Division Bench of this Court in "A" through her Father "F" v. State of U.P. and Others, while dealing with similar issues, requested the State Government to undertake a socio-psychological study concerning the incidence of rape, children born out of rape, abandoned children, the trauma suffered by victims, rehabilitation measures, and related ancillary issues. More than a decade has elapsed since those observations, yet no material has been placed before this Court to indicate that any such comprehensive study has been conducted either by the Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh, or by the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh. Conducting empirical research and collecting reliable data in matters of such grave social significance would assist the State in framing informed and effective policies and institutional responses.

131. The Constitution of India vests the High Courts with extensive constitutional powers to ensure the effective administration of justice and preservation of the rule of law. Among these powers, Articles 226 and 227 occupy a central position in maintaining constitutional governance, judicial discipline, and institutional accountability.

132. In appropriate circumstances, a constitutional court may invoke Article 227 through its writ jurisdiction under Article 226, to issue guidelines or directions to the State Government where a legal, procedural, or administrative vacuum threatens the proper administration of justice. When Articles 226 and 227 are read harmoniously, the High Court possesses sufficient constitutional authority to issue interim, supplemental, or gap-filling guidelines in situations where statutory silence or executive inaction impedes the administration of justice. Such directions may legitimately be issued where there exists a statutory vacuum affecting judicial administration, or where executive action is required for implementation of judicial mandates. Initially, this Court had contemplated issuing recommendations to the State authorities. However, upon considering the observations made by the Division Bench in "A" through her Father "F" v. State of U.P. and Others (supra) and having regard to the facts brought on record in the present matter, this Court deems it appropriate to issue structured directions coupled with recommendations.

XV- GENERAL DIRECTIONS TO THE FIELD OFFICERS:

133. In all cases where a victim of rape or sexual assault is found to be pregnant, the victim shall, without loss of even a single day, be produced before the concerned Chief Medical Officer along with the report prepared under Section 27 of the POCSO Act, 2012, statements recorded under Sections 180 and 184 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, a copy of the FIR, the Medico-Legal Examination Report of Sexual Violence, and such other relevant documents as may be necessary to assess the physical and mental condition of the victim and to enable an informed decision regarding termination of pregnancy.

133.1 In cases where the victim is a minor and unmarried, the concerned Station House Officer shall immediately inform the Senior Superintendent of Police or the Commissioner of Police, as the case may be, who shall ensure that the victim is produced before all concerned authorities in accordance with the requirements of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the POCSO Act, 2012. The concerned Station House Officer shall also record in the General Diary maintained at the police station all steps taken by the police authorities in this regard.

134. If the Chief Medical Officer, or the Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, fails to attend to the victim or to take the necessary action, such refusal or omission shall also be recorded in the General Diary maintained at the concerned police station. The concerned Station House Officer shall, upon making such an entry, immediately transmit a copy thereof to the Senior Superintendent of Police and the District Magistrate, who shall take immediate corrective action and record the same in writing within 24 hours of receipt of such information.

135. The concerned Station House Officer shall record in the General Diary the departure and arrival entries of the police personnel deputed to escort the victim for production before the Chief Medical Officer, the Child Welfare Committee, and the jurisdictional Magistrate. The Circle Officer concerned shall countersign such entries on the same day, and the entries shall further be reviewed and countersigned fortnightly by the concerned Senior Superintendent of Police. The Senior Superintendent of Police shall submit a monthly compliance report to the Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh, consolidating the entries so made across all police stations in the district, for the purpose of centralized monitoring of compliance with these directions.

136. The Chief Medical Officer shall record, on the medical report itself, a certification that the Medical Board has duly counselled the victim and her parent(s) or guardian(s) regarding the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the medical, legal, and psychological implications arising therefrom. If the victim is of tender age, counselling sessions shall be repeated as may be necessary to ensure meaningful comprehension. The Medical Board shall also record, in Form F, the specific reasons for approval or rejection of an application for termination of pregnancy, in sufficient detail to enable judicial review, and a copy of Form F shall be forwarded to the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, on the same day as it is prepared.

137. The Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee shall specifically record, in every order or report prepared under Sections 30, 31, 36, 37, 39, and 40 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, that the relevant provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, the POCSO Act, 2012, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, relating to termination of pregnancy, rehabilitation measures, compensation schemes, and their consequences, have been duly explained to the victim and her guardian(s) in simple and comprehensible language. The Child Welfare Committee shall further record whether the victim has been informed of her right to approach the District Legal Services Authority for free legal aid and representation, and whether such aid has been arranged.

138. The Support Person appointed in such cases shall maintain regular contact with the victim and shall visit her at least once every week to provide necessary assistance, counseling, and support. A weekly contact report shall be prepared by the Support Person and submitted to the Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee and to the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, within two days of each visit. In the event that the Support Person fails to maintain such contact or submit such reports, the Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee shall immediately bring the matter to the notice of the District Probation Officer and the District Magistrate for remedial action, including replacement of the Support Person.

139. The Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, Government of Uttar Pradesh, shall ensure that every district in the State has a duly constituted and functional Medical Board in accordance with Section 3(2-B) and the related provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971. Monthly reports shall be called for from each district regarding the functioning of such Medical Boards, and continuous supervision shall be ensured so that the Medical Boards discharge their duties in letter and spirit. In particular, the Principal Secretary shall ensure that no Medical Board remains without reconstitution for a period exceeding one year, and shall maintain a centralized register of the constitution, reconstitution, and current membership of Medical Boards across all 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh, which shall be updated on a quarterly basis and made available to the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, of the concerned district.

140. The Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh, shall ensure that all Child Welfare Committees function strictly in accordance with Government Notifications, the provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the Rules framed thereunder. Proper supervision shall be exercised over the functioning of the Child Welfare Committees and all authorities engaged in implementing the statutory framework for child protection and rehabilitation. The Principal Secretary shall ensure that no district is left without the requisite number of Support Persons as mandated under Section 39 of the POCSO Act, 2012, and shall maintain such record, within three months from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order. A district-wise action plan for achieving an adequate Support Person-to-case ratio across all 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh, having regard to the case burden data shall be prepared and maintained for future reference and record.

141. The Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, shall, in coordination with the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights, conduct regular training and sensitization programmes for Chairpersons and Members of Child Welfare Committees, Support Persons, District Probation Officers, and all stakeholders involved in the implementation of the POCSO Act, 2012, the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. Such training programmes shall be conducted at least twice a year in every district, and attendance records and outcomes shall be reported to the Principal Secretary and to the NCPCR on a half-yearly basis.

142. The Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee and the Chief Medical Officer shall ensure that all proceedings conducted by the Child Welfare Committee and the Medical Board in such cases are forwarded to the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, for supervision and monitoring of compliance. The Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, shall maintain a separate record on a case-by-case basis for monitoring, supervision, and future reference. A copy of all proceedings shall also be forwarded to the concerned District Magistrate for supervision, record-keeping, guidance, and necessary administrative oversight. The Secretary, District Legal Services Authority, shall convene a monthly review meeting with the Chief Medical Officer, the Chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, the District Probation Officer, and one Senior Police Officer of the district, to monitor the status of all pending cases involving minor rape victims who are pregnant or have delivered, and shall submit a monthly report to the Member Secretary, State Legal Services Authority, Uttar Pradesh, for onward transmission to the Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, and the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development for their record and reference.

XVI- DIRECTIONS FOR THE STATE:

143. The State Government is directed to undertake a comprehensive socio-psychological study, based upon an appropriate survey, concerning the number of rape cases; the number of children born as a consequence of rape; the number of abandoned children; the psychological condition and responses of victims; mechanisms required to address the trauma suffered by victims; the expectations of victims regarding rehabilitation; and all related and ancillary issues. Accordingly, the Chief Secretary, Uttar Pradesh, is hereby directed to constitute an Expert Committee comprising academicians, research scholars, data scientists, policy experts, bureaucrats, and doctors.

143.1 The Expert Committee shall also undertake visits to Child Care Institutions run by both Governmental and Non-Governmental Organizations, CWC, and other academic institutions as may be deemed necessary to achieve the object, to examine the impact of bureaucratic procedures and administrative rigidity upon the implementation of welfare schemes, statutory provisions, rules, regulations, and institutional mechanisms, besides constant in allocation and availability of funds. The State Government shall issue a notification constituting such Expert Committee within a period of three months from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order. Assistance from Indian Institutes of Management and Indian Institutes of Technology may also be sought to achieve the desired objective. The Expert Committee shall submit its preliminary report within six months of its constitution and a final report within twelve months thereof, and such reports shall be placed before the Chief Secretary for consideration.

144. The State Government shall further examine and evolve an institutional mechanism to fix accountability for failure to adhere to the statutory obligations under the POCSO Act, 2012, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, Government Notifications, and welfare schemes framed for victims and children. Such exercise shall specifically examine lapses attributable to the Chief Medical Officer, Members of the Child Welfare Committee, District Probation Officers, and Superintendents of Child Care Institutions. The dignity and rights of children born as a consequence of sexual assault, as well as the rights of victims of such offences, require meaningful institutional protection through effective implementation of the statutory framework and accountable governance. The State Government shall, within twelve months months from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order, send a draft accountability framework, including proposed amendments to service rules or Government Orders, establishing clear timelines for action, consequences for dereliction, and a designated authority for receiving and acting upon complaints of non-compliance, the Registrar General of this Court, who shall in turn place the said accountability framework in the record of this case.

145. The Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh, shall ensure that every district has a functional Medical Board as mandated under Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971.

146. Until the State Government formulates a structured and effective accountability mechanism as directed above, the Member Secretary, DLSA at State Level and In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, of each district shall supervise the functioning of the Child Welfare Committee and the Chief Medical Officer, insofar as the constitution of the Medical Board, compliance with the terms of this order, and compliance with the orders passed by the Supreme Court of India are concerned.

146.1 Any party aggrieved by the conduct of the Chairman or a Member of the Child Welfare Committee, or of the Chief Medical Officer, may approach the In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, of the concerned district. The In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, after affording the concerned officer or member an opportunity of being heard, and upon being satisfied that there has been negligence, dereliction of duty, non-compliance with Section 3(2-D) of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, or non-adherence to the relevant provisions of the POCSO Act, 2012, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, or the terms of this order, shall immediately write to the Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, and the Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh, with a copy to the Chief Secretary, Uttar Pradesh, recommending that immediate steps be taken to relieve the Chief Medical Officer from his official duties.

146.2 Where justified, the In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, may also recommend attachment of one month's salary of the Chief Medical Officer for utilization towards the welfare of the victim(s), and the initiation of a departmental inquiry. The In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, may, in its discretion, write to the police to initiate a criminal investigation under the relevant provisions of Chapters XII and XIII of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023. In cases involving the Chairman or a Member of the Child Welfare Committee, the In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, shall write to the Additional Chief Secretary (Home) with a copy to the concerned District Magistrate, recommending that the pecuniary benefits of the defaulting Chairman or Member be withheld or stopped, as the case may be.

146.3 The In-charge, District Legal Services Authority, shall conduct monthly visits to and inspections of the records of the Medical Board and the proceedings of the Child Welfare Committee, and shall record its findings in a register maintained for this purpose in its office.

XVII- OBJECTIVE AND REASONS FOR RECOMMENDING THE ENACTMENT OF A NEW STATE LEGISLATION:

147. A child born as a consequence of rape, especially in cases involving a minor unmarried girl, must never be viewed through the lens of stigma, shame, or social prejudice. The circumstances of birth are not the choice of the child, and therefore no moral, social, or legal dishonour can ever attach to that life. A civilized and justice-oriented society must recognize that every child is born with equal dignity, equal humanity, and equal constitutional protection. Neither social customs nor personal prejudices can diminish the intrinsic value of a human life. The child of a minor rape survivor is not a symbol of dishonour; rather, the true dishonour lies in the violence, exploitation, and injustice inflicted upon the victim. The responsibility of the State and society is therefore not to condemn or exclude, but to protect, nurture, and uphold the rights of both the survivor and the child.

148. Justice requires compassion guided by constitutional morality. A child cannot inherit stigma from a crime committed by another person. To deny such a child respect, identity, opportunity, or dignity would amount to punishing an innocent human being for an act over which the child had no control. The State must therefore ensure equal protection, social acceptance, education, healthcare, and a life of dignity for every such child, affirming that human worth is determined not by the circumstances of birth but by the equal humanity shared by all.

149. Human civilization has attained extraordinary advancement in science, philosophy, law, and governance, yet it remains entirely beyond human capacity to determine the destiny, character, or moral worth of a child- whether before birth, at the moment of birth, or by reason of the circumstances that led to the birth. History bears witness to the fact that individuals who later transformed society and brought new dimensions to statesmanship- among them Chandragupta Maurya, founder of the Maurya dynasty, and numerous figures from religious and mythological traditions whose lives have shaped the ethical consciousness of generations- were once children whose future greatness no one could have foreseen.

150. Even in royal lineages, no person could accurately predict whether a child would emerge as a wise and compassionate sovereign, a great emperor, or otherwise. Human character is not predetermined by birth, lineage, social status, legitimacy, or the circumstances surrounding conception; it is shaped by values, education, opportunity, and the choices made throughout life. If the circumstances of birth, or the conditions that led to it, were permitted to define the worth and dignity of a human being, civilization would stand in judgment of the innocent- a proposition wholly incompatible with constitutional morality, natural justice, and the foundational values of a humane society.

151. This principle acquires even greater significance in cases involving children born as a consequence of sexual violence. A child born to a minor unmarried girl as a result of rape carries no guilt, stigma, or dishonour. The crime belongs solely to the perpetrator, and no moral or social burden can justly be transferred to an innocent child. To attach shame or discrimination to such a child would be contrary to the principles of humanity, constitutional morality, and natural justice. The foundation of a just and civilized society must therefore rest upon the recognition that every child, irrespective of the circumstances of birth, possesses inherent dignity, equal humanity, and an equal right to life, identity, respect, and opportunity. The State, as the guardian of constitutional values and social justice, bears a solemn duty to protect both the survivor and the child from discrimination, exclusion, and indignity. Justice demands not condemnation but compassion; not stigma but protection; and not prejudice but equal treatment under law.

152. At present, there is no specific legislation in India comprehensively addressing the independent rights, status, protections, and entitlements of a child born to a minor- whether married or unmarried- as a direct consequence of sexual assault or rape, including offences committed in detention or custodial situations. It is recommended that the State Government examine the need for a separate legal framework to protect the independent rights of a child born to an unmarried minor as a result of sexual assault. While framing such a framework, the State Government may, if it considers appropriate, take into account the findings and recommendations of the Expert Committee constituted under this order.

XVIII- FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS:

153. The National Medical Commission and the Uttar Pradesh Medical Council should hold detailed discussions on whether a separate chapter on medical jurisprudence should be added to the curriculum of medical colleges. This would help achieve the objectives of the National Medical Commission Act, 2019. Such discussions should also consider how medical professionals can be given adequate legal knowledge and how their understanding of medico-legal obligations can be strengthened.

154. The concerned authorities should also examine whether the capacity of medical professionals needs to be improved in the following areas. First, a better understanding of forensic science. Second, basic principles of the law of evidence, particularly regarding the admissibility and evidentiary value of medico-legal opinions and related documents. Third, the provisions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971, and other related laws. Fourth, the study of landmark judgments of Constitutional Courts on medical jurisprudence, including guidelines issued by those Courts.

155. To achieve these objectives, medical colleges may consider making it mandatory to engage a jurist, a practicing advocate, or a former Judge to deliver guest lectures or serve as permanent faculty for teaching medical jurisprudence.

XIX- DIRECTIONS FOR CIRCULATION AND IMPLEMENTATION:

156. The Registrar (Compliance) is directed to transmit a certified copy of this order to the following authorities for information, circulation, and compliance: (i) The Chief Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, (ii) The Chairman, National Commission for Protection of Child Rights; (iii) The Secretary, Ministry of Women and Child Development, Government of India for information, and necessary action; (iv) The Additional Chief Secretary (Home), Uttar Pradesh, for sensitizing District Magistrates and Chairpersons of Child Welfare Committees; (v) The Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh; (vi) The Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, Uttar Pradesh, who shall further circulate the same to all Chief Medical Officers of the State; and (vii) The Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh, for issuing appropriate circulars to officers of the respective departments and for ensuring that Senior Superintendents of Police across the State secure compliance with the directions contained in this order.

157. All the District Judges shall discuss this order in a weekly and monthly judicial meetings and sensitize the Magistrates and Judges of their judgeship regarding its contents and the obligations arising therefrom.

158. The Director, Judicial Training and Research Institute, Lucknow immediately upon receipt of a certified copy of this order, shall prepare study material on the subject and shall thereafter convene regular meetings and workshops for Member Secretary, Legal Services Authority, and all In-charge District Legal Services Authorities across the State, for the purpose of sensitizing and educating them regarding this order and the relevant orders of the Supreme Court. Such meetings shall be convened at least once every six months. A report of each such meeting, together with a list of participants and topics covered, shall be kept by the Director, JTRI for record and future reference.

159. A copy of this order shall also be forwarded to the National Medical Commission and the Uttar Pradesh Medical Council, for deliberation on the necessity and desirability of incorporating a separate chapter on statutory provisions related to medical jurisprudence in the curriculum of medical colleges, so as to further the objectives of the National Medical Commission Act, 2019.

160. The National Medical Commission and the Uttar Pradesh Medical Council shall submit their response and deliberations on these recommendations to the Registrar General of this Court within six months from the date of receipt of this order, who shall keep the response with the record of this case.

161. No further order on merits is required, inasmuch as the grievances raised by the petitioner stood substantially redressed pursuant to the order dated 04.08.2023. Accordingly, the petition stands disposed of in the above terms.

162. This Court places on record its sincere appreciation for the invaluable assistance rendered by Ms. Vijeta Singh, learned Amicus Curiae, whose diligent efforts, sustained engagement, and thoughtful submissions throughout the proceedings have been of considerable assistance to this Court in adjudicating the complex issues arising in the present matter. The Court also acknowledges with appreciation the contributions of Ms. Pratima Vishwakarma, learned Advocate, and Mr. Jatin Rana, Research Associate attached to this Court, whose dedicated research and scholarly inputs have materially enriched the Court's consideration of the legal, statutory, and constitutional questions involved herein.

163. The Registrar General is directed to ensure that all case records are properly scanned and preserved for future reference. This includes affidavits filed by the Chairman, Child Welfare Committee, Meerut; Chief Medical Officer, Meerut; Senior Superintendent of Police, Meerut; Principal Secretary, Department of Women and Child Development; Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare; Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh; and Chairman, NCPCR. It also includes the affidavit of the learned Amicus Curiae, any reports submitted in compliance with earlier orders of this Court, and any affidavits that may be filed in compliance with this order.

164. The judgment opens with the judicial maxim of Vaughan C.J. in Thomas v. Sorrell (1677) to reflect upon a troubling reality. Despite a comprehensive legal framework enacted by Parliament over several decades, its implementation on the ground has remained deeply inadequate.

165. I conclude with concern that Parliament enacted the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act in 1971 to regulate and permit termination of pregnancies under specified conditions. The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Rules and Regulations were subsequently framed in 2003 to provide a detailed procedural framework for implementation of the Act. The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act was enacted in 2012 to provide stringent protection to children against sexual abuse and exploitation.

166. In the field of juvenile justice, the Children Act, 1960 was the first central legislation in independent India dealing with the welfare of children and juveniles. It was replaced by the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986, which was enacted to bring Indian law in line with the United Nations Standard Minimum Rules for the Administration of Juvenile Justice, known as the Beijing Rules, adopted in 1985. However, after India ratified the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child in 1992, the 1986 Act was found to be inadequate. It was replaced by the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000, which adopted a child-friendly approach, shifting the focus from punishment to reformation and rehabilitation. It established Juvenile Justice Boards for children in conflict with the law and Child Welfare Committees for children in need of care and protection. The Act was amended in 2006 and 2011 to address gaps in implementation, and was finally replaced by the more comprehensive Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, which introduced the significant provision of trying certain juveniles as adults for heinous offences.

167. Notwithstanding this extensive legislative framework built over more than five decades, the facts of the present case reveal that the law, in practice, has remained largely unimplemented. It is this gap between the law on paper and its reality on the ground that the opening maxim seeks to highlight.

168. In a country as vast and diverse as India, minor unmarried girls from remote villages who are victims of sexual assault are compelled to approach multiple authorities, including the police, hospitals, Child Welfare Committees, and courts, merely to enforce a right that the law already provides. Most of these girls belong to poor, illiterate, and socially marginalized families. They have no access to legal aid or informed guidance. By the time their cases reach a court, (it is noticed that such cases, in routine, reach up to the Supreme Court) weeks and months have been lost. In many cases, the pregnancy has already crossed the permissible limit for termination, not because the law was inadequate, but because the authorities entrusted with its implementation failed to discharge their statutory obligations in time.

169. In this background, a question of fundamental importance arises. Who bears responsibility for this failure? The answer is unambiguous. Neither the minor victim nor the child born as a consequence of such assault. The responsibility rests entirely with the State and its officers, who were under a clear and non-negotiable legal duty to act promptly and effectively. Every officer who delayed, every authority that remained inactive, and every institution that failed to function as mandated by law must be held accountable. The law casts this obligation without exception, and its breach cannot be excused on any ground.

(2026) 5 ILRA 688
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE RAM MANOHAR NARAYAN MISHRA, J.

Application U/S 378 No. 40 of 2022

State of U.P. ...Applicant
Versus
Chandrasen @ Chailu & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Whether the leave to appeal can be granted even when upon consideration of the evidence and material on record, the learned trial Court recorded acquittal in a case where not only the complainant but the victim herself has not supported the prosecution case and the victim admitted that she, on her own, left her parental house, solemnized marriage with the accused/respondent and whether the State was justified in preferring such an application at all

Head Notes

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 378(3); The Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 363, 366 & 376; The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Sections 5 & 6 - Victim was about 17 years and 6 months of age on the date of the incident. She categorically stated in her deposition before the trial Court as well as in her statements recorded under Sections 161 Cr.P.C. and 164 Cr.P.C., that she, on her own, had left her parental home and gone with the accused/respondent. She further stated that she had married the accused/respondent and they were living together as husband and wife, and out of the said wedlock, a son was also born

It cannot be said that the victim had not attained the age of discretion merely because she was short by about six months of attaining the age of 18 years. Even otherwise, the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. Thus, the continuation of the proceedings would amount nothing but harassment of the accused/ respondent, particularly when the alleged victim, who is now the mother of a child, is residing happily with the accused/respondent. Even the complainant himself admitted in his evidence that his daughter is living happily at her matrimonial home with the accused/respondent and therefore, he also does not wish to pursue the matter further.

Held-The State, before invoking the provisions of Section 378(3) Cr.P.C. to seek leave to appeal, is expected to examine the matter carefully and proceed appropriately because nothing could be above welfare of family and society. Application dismissed. (E-15)

Case Law Cited

Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others; (2016) 4 SCC 357; Ramesh and Others versus State of Haryana; (2017) 1 SCC 529; Guru Dutt Pathak Vs. State of U.P; (2021) 6 SCC 116; Rajpal Singh Vs. Rajveer and others ; 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2823; Shaheen Parveen and another Vs. State of U.P. and others; 2015 SCC OnLine All 9489; Mafat Lal and another Vs. State of Rajasthan; (2022) 6 SCC 589; Ayyub Malik and another Vs. State of Uttarakhand and another; 2026 INSC 331;

List of Acts

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973; The Indian Penal Code, 1860; The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012

List of Keywords

Leave to Appeal; 378(3); Victim not supported prosecution case; Solemnized marriage with Accused; Residing happily with accused; Welfare of family and society; Prosecution failed to prove its case; Beyond reasonable doubt

Case Arising From

Grant of leave to appeal preferred by the State under Section 378(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, to challenge the judgment and order dated 26.04.2022 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Court No. 44, Barabanki, in Sessions Trial No. 429 of 2020, arising out of Case Crime No. 211 of 2019, under Sections 363, 366 and 376 of the Indian Penal Code and Section 5/6 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, Police Station Baddupur, District Barabanki, whereby the accused/respondent was acquitted of the charges framed against him.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : G.A.
Counsel for Opposite Party(s)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.
&
Hon'ble Ram Manohar Narayan Mishra, J.)

1. Heard learned Additional Government Advocate (here-in-after referred as A.G.A.) for the State and perused the records.

2. The issue, in the instant application for grant of leave to appeal preferred by the State under Section 378(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (here-in-after referred to as ?Cr.P.C.?), to challenge the judgment and order dated 26.04.2022 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Court No. 44, Barabanki, in Sessions Trial No. 429 of 2020, State vs. Chandrasen alias Chailu, arising out of Case Crime No. 211 of 2019, under Sections 363, 366 and 376 of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as ?IPC?) and Section 5/6 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (here-in-after referred to as ?POCSO Act?), Police Station Baddupur, District Barabanki, whereby the accused/respondent, Chandrasen alias Chailu, was acquitted of the charges framed against him, is as to whether the leave to appeal can be granted even when upon consideration of the evidence and material on record, the learned trial Court recorded acquittal in a case where not only the complainant but the victim herself has not supported the prosecution case and the victim admitted that she, on her own, left her parental house, solemnized marriage with the accused/respondent and on the date her evidence was recorded before the trial Court, she was having in her lap, their infant child aged about ten months.

Considering the same, the trial Court also took into consideration the fact that the victim was residing happily with her husband and family.

3. The State, which is the protector of not only the rights but welfare of citizens also, unable to accept the judgment and order without considering the facts and law on the issue, consequently, to disturb a settled family, has filed this application for leave to appeal. Be that as it may, by the time the respondent/accused was acquitted, the victim had attained majority and had a child and was living peacefully with her husband and family. The complainant, who is the father of the victim, had also accepted the marital relationship and expressed happiness regarding the welfare of his daughter and her family. Despite these circumstances and considering the peculiar facts of case, the State has preferred the present application seeking leave to appeal against the judgment of acquittal, which, may not only prolong harassment to the respondent but may also adversely affect the victim and the child by exposing them to unnecessary social stigma and hardship, whereas the State is required to see the welfare of family life of its citizens, proper upbringing of children so that they may have no grudge towards family / society and welfare of society.

4. This Court, therefore, is required to examine not only as to whether leave to appeal ought to be granted in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the present case and the law on the issue but also whether the State was justified in preferring such an application at all. Accordingly, this Court deems it appropriate first to consider the statutory provisions governing grant of leave to appeal and the settled legal principles on the subject.

5. Section 378(1)(b) Cr.P.C. provides that the State Government may, in any case, direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal before the High Court against an original or appellate order of acquittal passed by any court other than a High Court. Section 378(3) Cr.P.C. places a restriction on the entertainment of an appeal against acquittal by providing that no such appeal shall be entertained by the High Court unless special leave to appeal is granted. Thus, while the restriction under sub-section (3) of Section 378 Cr.P.C. is for the Court to consider, the language employed in Section 378(1)(b), particularly the expression ?may direct,? equally casts a responsibility upon the State Government to examine as to whether an appeal ought to be filed in a given case. It also makes it clear that it is not mandatory for the State to challenge every order of acquittal, rather, the State must first satisfy itself that the case is appropriate for filing such an appeal, particularly, where prima facie injustice appears to may have been caused either to the complainant or the victim, or where the matter may have a substantial impact upon society at large.

6. It is a settled law that every accused is presumed innocent unless proven guilty. Such presumption of innocence stands further reinforced upon an order of acquittal passed after appreciation of evidence and material available on record. More particularly, where the prosecution witnesses themselves have not supported the prosecution case and the dispute appears to have arisen from social discord or suspicion within a family, the State is expected to exercise greater caution before disturbing a settled matrimonial and family life, subject of course, to impact on society. The Hon’ble Supreme Court has repeatedly considered the scope of interference in appeals against acquittal and has consistently held that leave to appeal should not ordinarily be granted unless a strong prima facie case is made out, indicating reasonable likelihood of conviction upon re-appreciation of evidence and findings recorded by trial Court are totally perverse.

7. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others; (2016) 4 SCC 357, has observed in paragraph no. 20 and 21 as under:-

"20. Generally, an appeal against acquittal has always been altogether on a different pedestal from that of an appeal against conviction. In an appeal against acquittal where the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced, the appellate court would interfere with the order of acquittal only when there is perversity of fact and law. However, we believe that the paramount consideration of the Court is to do substantial justice and avoid miscarriage of justice which can arise by acquitting the accused who is guilty of an offence. A miscarriage of justice that may occur by the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. This Court, while enunciating the principles with regard to the scope of powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, in Sambasivan v. State of Kerala 1998 SCC (Cri) 1320 has held:

"7. The principles with regard to the scope of the powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, are well settled. The powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal are no less than in an appeal against conviction. But where on the basis of evidence on record two views are reasonably possible the appellate court cannot substitute its view in the place of that of the trial court. It is only when the approach of the trial in acquitting an accused is found to be clearly erroneous in its consideration of evidence on record and in deducing conclusions therefrom that the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal." 21. This Court, in several cases, has taken the consistent view that the appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal, has no absolute restriction in law to review and relook the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded. If the appellate court, on scrutiny, finds that the decision of the court below is based on erroneous views and against settled position of law, then the interference of the appellate court with such an order is imperative.".

8. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ramesh and Others versus State of Haryana; (2017) 1 SCC 529, has held that before an appeal is entertained on merits, leave of the High Court is to be obtained, which means that normally judgment of acquittal of the trial court is attached a definite value which is not to be ignored by the High Court. In other words, presumption of innocence in favour of an accused gets further fortified or reinforced by an order of acquittal. The relevant paragraphs 24 and 26 are extracted hereinbelow:-

"24. We have duly appreciated the submissions advanced by the counsel for the parties on both sides. No doubt, the High Court was dealing with the appeal against the judgment of the trial court which had acquitted the appellants herein. The scope of interference in an appeal against acquittal is undoubtedly narrower than the scope of appeal against conviction. Section 378 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 confers upon the State a right to prefer an appeal to the High Court against the order of acquittal. At the same time, sub-section (3) thereof mandates that such an appeal is not to be entertained except with the leave of the High Court. Thus, before an appeal is entertained on merits, leave of the High Court is to be obtained which means that normally judgment of acquittal of the trial court is attached a definite value which is not to be ignored by the High Court. In other words, presumption of innocence in favour of an accused gets further fortified or reinforced by an order of acquittal. At the same time, while exercising its appellate power, the High Court is empowered to reappreciate, review and reconsider the evidence before it. However, this exercise is to be undertaken in order to come to an independent conclusion and unless there are substantial and compelling reasons or very strong reasons to differ from the findings of acquittal recorded by the trial court, the High Court, as an appellate court in an appeal against the acquittal, is not supposed to substitute its findings in case the findings recorded by the trial court are equally plausible.

25. x x x x x

26. This legal position is reiterated in Govindaraju v. State (2012) 4 SCC 722 and the following passage therefrom needs to be extracted: (SCC p. 732, paras 12-13)

"12. The legislature in its wisdom, unlike an appeal by an accused in the case of conviction, introduced the concept of leave to appeal in terms of Section 378 CrPC. This is an indication that appeal from acquittal is placed on a somewhat different footing than a normal appeal. But once leave is granted, then there is hardly any difference between a normal appeal and an appeal against acquittal. The concept of leave to appeal under Section 378 Cr.P.C. has been introduced as an additional stage between the order of acquittal and consideration of the judgment by the appellate court on merits as in the case of a regular appeal. Sub-section (3) of Section 378 clearly provides that no appeal to the High Court under sub-section (1) or (2) shall be entertained except with the leave of the High Court. This legislative intent of attaching a definite value to the judgment of acquittal cannot be ignored by the courts."

13. Under the scheme of CrPC, acquittal confers rights on an accused that of a free citizen. A benefit that has accrued to an accused by the judgment of acquittal can be taken away and he can be convicted on appeal, only when the judgment of the trial court is perverse on facts or law. Upon examination of the evidence before it, the appellate court should be fully convinced that the findings returned by the trial court are really erroneous and contrary to the settled principles of criminal law."

9. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Guru Dutt Pathak Vs. State of U.P; (2021) 6 SCC 116, has held that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court and if two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court.

10. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Rajpal Singh Vs. Rajveer and others ; 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2823, has held that even when the appellate Court re-appreciates the evidence while dealing with the judgment and order of acquittal, the innocence attributed to the accused acquitted from the charges of offences would be a weighty rebuttable factor. The relevant para-9.2 is extracted here-in-below :-

"9.2 It is a well-settled principle enunciated by series of judgments of this Court that there must exist substantial and compelling reasons to upset the acquittal. Once the court acquits the accused, the presumption of innocence is reinforced. Thereafter, the interference by the appellate court would be minimal and has to be guided by strong and cogent reasons. Reversal of acquittal should not be a matter of course just because the other view is considered to be possible by the appellate court. Even when the appellate court re-appreciates the evidence while dealing with the judgment and order of acquittal, the innocence attributed to the accused acquitted from the charges of offences would be a weighty rebuttable factor."

11. Keeping in mind the aforesaid statutory provisions and the presumption in favour of the respondent/accused and the principles for grant of leave to appeal enunciated by Hon'ble Supreme Court, we proceed to consider the instant application for leave to appeal.

12. Seeking grant to leave to appeal, learned A.G.A. submitted that the impugned judgment and order of acquittal has been passed by learned trial Court without appropriately considering the evidence and material on record, which is not only against the law but also not in the interest of justice. It is further alleged that learned trial Court has failed to consider that the victim was minor in age on the date of the incident and the victim was arrested along with the accused. Learned trial Court has also failed to consider that the victim, who was minor, had conceived pregnancy, which is an offence under the POCSO Act. Learned trial Court also failed to consider the documentary evidence of age. Thus, it has been stated that the judgment and order passed by learned trial Court is not tenable in the eyes of law. Hence leave to appeal may be granted and accused/respondent may be summoned so that the appeal may be decided on merit.

13. We have considered the submissions advanced by learned A.G.A. and perused the material on record.

14. The prosecution case, in short, is that written complaint dated 20.12.2019 (Ext. Ka. 4) was submitted by the complainant Kamlesh Kumar, alleging therein that his daughter (name not disclosed) aged about 16 years has been eloped suddenly at about 02:00 in the night of 13.12.2019. He searched a lot, then he came to know that respondent Chandrasen alias Chailu son of Ram Avatar, resident of Sadrapur, Police Station Baddupur, district Barabanki has eloped and kidnapped his daughter. Accordingly, report may be registered and appropriate action may be taken.

15. On the basis of the aforesaid written report of the complainant, check F.I.R. (Ext. Ka. 7), bearing Case Crime No. 211 of 2019, under Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C. was lodged against the accused/respondent Chandrasen alias Chailu on 20.12.2019 and corresponding entry was made in G.D. Thereafter, the investigation was made.

16. During investigation, medical examination of the victim was also conducted upon her recovery. The medical examination report (Ext. Ka. 5) and supplementary report (Ext. Ka.6) have been placed on record. After completion of investigation, the Investigating Officer filed the charge-sheet against the accused/respondent under sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. and Section 5/6 of POCSO Act, whereupon the cognizance was taken by learned Magistrate and he committed the case to the Court of Session, where charges were framed against the accused/respondent under Sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. and Section 6 of POCSO Act. Accused/respondent denied the charges and pleaded for trial, hence the trial commenced.

17. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined the victim as P.W.1, the complainant Kamlesh as P.W.2, Dr. Kailipar Kannaujia as P.W.3, S.I. Abhishek Kumar as P.W. 4 and Narayan Dutt Mishra as P.W.5. The prosecution had also placed on record and proved documentary evidence i.e. recovery memo of the victim as Ext. Ka. 1, statement of the victim recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. as Ext. Ka.2, statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. as Ext. Ka. 3, request letter for the medical examination as Ext. Ka. 4, medical examination report as Ext. Ka. 5, supplementary report as Ext. Ka. 6, check F.I.R. as Ext. Ka. 7, corresponding G.D. entry as Ext. Ka. 8, site plan as Ext. Ka. 9 and charge-sheet as Ext. Ka. 10.

18. After conclusion of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused/respondent was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which he denied the occurrence and stated that witnesses have given false evidence. The case has been lodged against him on account of enmity. In additional statement, he stated that he had not committed any offence and he is innocent and he has falsely been implicated. Though he stated to produce the defence witness, but no oral or documentary evidence has been led by the defence.

19. Learned trial Court, thereafter, after affording opportunity to learned Counsel for the parties and considering the evidence and material on record, has passed the judgment and order dated 26.04.2022, acquitting the accused/respondent, hence the State has come up with this application for grant of leave to appeal.

20. The victim appeared as P.W.1. She has not supported the prosecution case. She has stated in her evidence that she had studied upto Class-V in Gendapurwa School. Accused Chandrasen is of her village and is residing in front of her house. She, on her own, has gone with accused to Bhatinda, where she got married with Chailu and lived as husband and wife taking a room. She became pregnant from Chandrasen alias Chailu. In the meantime, lockdown was imposed, on account of which they were returning to whom and the police had caught them. Thereafter, her statement was recorded at Mahila Police Station. She proved her statement given at police station under Section 161 Cr.P.C. She also admitted that her medical examination was got conducted at Government Hospital, Ghunghetar and Government Hospital, Barabanki. Her statement was also recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. before the Magistrate Court at Barabanki. She also proved her photograph and signature on the statement. She also deposed that a son was born, to whom she has brought to the Court. She admitted that she is residing at her father's home with her child. She also stated that she wants to live with Chandrasen and she got married to him. Her father had lodged a false report. Her house and the house of Chandrasen are adjacent to each other. The son, who is in her lap, is of Chandrasen. She admitted that when she was caught, her age was 17 years but on the date of the evidence before the trial Court, her age was 20 years. Thus, it is apparent that the victim has, not only not supported the prosecution case, but in statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. and the evidence adduced before the trial court also, categorically stated that she wants to live with Chandrasen (accused) as she had married to him and she had also a son from Chandrasen (accused). She also categorically stated that she, on her own, gone with the Chandrasen (accused/respondent) and she had not allured or forcefully took her.

21. The complainant, Kamlesh, who is the father of the victim, appeared as P.W.2. He admitted that he had lodged the F.I.R. and reiterated the contents thereof in his examination-in-chief. In his cross-examination, he also admitted the manner and circumstances in which the victim was recovered. He stated that he did not know the date of birth of his daughter. He deposed that the name of his daughter was entered in the school records at the instance of the Pradhan Ji, who had also recorded her date of birth. Thus, it is apparent that the complainant, being the father of the victim, neither knew the exact date of birth of his daughter nor had he himself got recorded the same in the school documents. Such a statement appears natural for a rustic villager. Even today, illiterate villager(s) often do not remember the exact date of birth of their children. Nothing has come on record to indicate that the complainant is a literate person.

22. Complainant (P.W.2) further deposed that he had not seen her daughter going away with anyone nor had he seen anyone taking her away. He does not know as to how her daughter had gone. The report of incident was got written on the basis of sucpicion. He further deposed that his daughter, who is the victim, is residing at the house of the accused and he has no objection in it. He further deposed that her daughter had told that the son, who is in her lap, is of Chandrasen; she had married with Chandrasen alias Chailu; she had no problem in it. He further deposed that he and accused are of one caste and relative. The son, who is in the lap of his daughter, is more than one year old. He does not want to contest the case now. He does not want to trouble to his daughter. His daughter and maternal grand son are living happily in her in-laws? house, therefore, he has not objection with their marriage. He does not want to continue with the case against his son-in-law Chandrasen. He denied the suggestion that he is giving false evidence on account of some pressure. He further deposed that he had asked the police that he does not want to continue with the case but the police had told that formalities are to be completed.

23. In view of above, from the evidence P.W.2, it is evident that he admitted that he had lodged the F.I.R. on account of suspicion with a delay of one week and upon coming to know that her daughter had married with accused/respondent and a son was born from Chandrasen, he does not want to continue with the case and the same was also told to the police but the police told him that formalities are to be completed. Hence, P.W.2 has not supported the prosecution case. The victim, who appeared as P.W.-1, has also not supported the prosecution case. Thus, the offences for which the charges were framed are not made out except if the victim is minor. Even then, it is to be seen as to whether the case for leave to appeal is made out.

24. P.W.3-Dr. Kailipar Kannaujiya, who had medically examined the victim, had proved the medical examination report (Ext. Ka.5) and supplmentary report (Ext. Ka. 6). She had not mentioned any injuries on the body of the victim. She further deposed that based on the pathelogy report and x-ray report, she prepared the supplementary report (Ext. Ka.6), according to which, her age was 17 years. She further deposed that as per the certificate issued by C.M.O., age of the victim was 17 years, but the C.M.O. has not been examined.

25. In view of above, the sole question which requires consideration is as to whether, the victim was aged about 17 years of age or what was her actual age at the time of the incident and as to whether she can be treated minor, if she had gone with the accused/respondent of her own free will or had been kidnapped. Apart from this aspect, neither the victim nor the complainant supported the prosecution case.

26. P.W.5, Narayan Dutt Mishra, Principal of Primary School, Sadarpur, Vikas Khand Fatehpur, District Barabanki, proved the date of birth of the victim as recorded in the school register to be 01.07.2003, which has also been brought on record as Ext. Ka-11. The learned trial Court, after considering the aforesaid evidence, came to the conclusion that the victim was of about 17 years of age on the date of the incident i.e. 13.12.2019. However, from the educational record, the age of the victim appears to be approximately 17 years and 6 months and admittedly the said date of birth was not recorded by her parents and the person, who got it recorded has not been examined. As per the medical report, her age was assessed more than 17 years.

27. It is well settled that in medical age determination, a variation of two years on either side is permissible. It is for the reason that an accurate date of birth cannot be determined and a person can not be said to attain the wisdom of taking independent decision in the intervening night of attaining majority because on attaining majority, he/she is deemed to take decisions for himself/herself independently. Thus, considering the age of the victim and the nature of the alleged offence committed by the accused/respondent, it is required to be examined, as to whether the accused/respondent could be held guilty of the offence, particularly when the victim herself has not supported the prosecution case and specifically stated that she had gone with the accused/respondent of her own free will, married to him and also have child from him with her sweet will and volition. However, in such circumstances, the charge under Section 366 I.P.C. can not be said to have been proved, as the essential ingredient of kidnapping, necessary to constitute an offence under the said section, has not been established.

28. A Co-ordinate Bench of this Court, in the case of Shaheen Parveen and another Vs. State of U.P. and others; 2015 SCC OnLine All 9489, which has also been considered by learned trial Court, in which the victim was a few months less than 18 years when she left with the company of the accused, has held that a girl, who has attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and is capable of knowing, what was good and what was bad for her, cannot be said to be a victim of inducement, particularly when the case of the victim/girl herself is that it was on her initiative and on account of her voluntary act that she had gone with the boy and got married to him. In such circumstances, desire of the girl/victim is required to be seen. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are required to be considerd accordingly, and not in mechanical or technical interpretation. It is also held that so as to show an act of criminality on the part of the accused, some kind of inducement held out by the accused person or any active participation by him in the formation of the intention of the minor to leave the house of the guardian, is required to be shown. The relevant paragraphs 23 to 25 are extracted here-in-below :-

"23. A girl who has attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and is capable of knowing what was good and what was bad for her, cannot be said to be a victim of inducement, particularly when the case of the victim/girl herself is that it was on her initiative and on account of her voluntary act that she had gone with the boy and got married to him. In such circumstances, desire of the girl/victim is required to be seen. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are required to be considered accordingly, and not in mechanical or technical interpretation.

24. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. cannot be said to be satisfied in a case where the minor having attained age of discretion, alleged to have been taken by the accused person, left her guardian's protection knowingly (having capacity to know the full import of what she was doing) and voluntarily joins the accused person. In such a case, it cannot be said that the victim had been taken away from the keeping of her lawful guardian.

25. So as to show an act of criminality on the part of the accused, some kind of inducement held out by the accused person or an active participation by him in the formation of the intention of the minor to leave the house of the guardian, is required to be shown. Conclusion might be different in case evidence is collected by the investigating agency to establish that though immediately prior to the minor leaving the guardian's protection, no active part was played by the accused, he had at some earlier stage solicited or persuaded the minor to do so. (The Court in above regards takes a cue from the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India reported in (1965)1 SCR 243 S. Varadarajan versus State of Madras)."

29. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Mafat Lal and another Vs. State of Rajasthan; (2022) 6 SCC 589, has held that Section 366 I.P.C. would come into play only where there is forceful compulsion for marriage by kidnapping or by inducing a woman. The offence under the said provision would not be made out where the abductee has clearly stated that she was in love with the abductor and had left her parental home on account of disturbed circumstances therein, particularly when such relationship was not acceptable to her father and that she had married the abductor of her own free will without any inducement or influence exercised by him. In the said case, the victim/abductee was a minor on the date of the incident. She had voluntarily left her parental home and married the person with whom she was in love and from the said wedlock, a child was also born. She had further joined in filing the appeal before the Hon'ble Supreme Court against the order passed by the High Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that no fruitful purpose would be served by relegating the matter for conducting a trial, as the same would not be conducive to the interest of either of the appellants and would merely be a futile exercise and accordingly, all consequential proceedings arising therefrom were quashed.

30. In a recent judgment, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ayyub Malik and another Vs. State of Uttarakhand and another; 2026 INSC 331, has held that it may be true that fleeing with a girl, who is not of marriageable age and who is minor, is an offence under law, however, the subsequent development of marriage between the two lovers and the fact that they have been merrily living would outweigh the need to take the alleged offence or the criminal proceedings to their logical end. In the fact situation like one obtained in the present one, continuation of criminal proceedings against appellant no.1 would become harassing and stand as an abuse of process of law. The relevant paragraphs 6 and 6.1 are extracted here-in-below :-

"6. It may be true that fleeing with a girl who is not of marriageable age and who is minor is an offence under law, however, the subsequent development of marriage between the two lovers and the fact that they have been merrily living would outweigh the need to take the alleged offence or the criminal proceedings to their logical end. In the fact situation like one obtained in the present one, continuation of criminal proceedings against appellant No.1 would become harassing and stand as an abuse of process of law.

6.1 Any litigation brings a kind of botheration for the parties. The uncertainty of the outcome of the litigation always looms large. When it is a criminal case, its pendency becomes burdensome and worrisome. For appellant No.1 as well as appellant No.2, negotiating the criminal proceedings in a court of law, notwithstanding that both are now husband and wife living together, would operate as painful interference in their happy life. The High Court would have done justice to the parties only by quashing the criminal proceedings against appellant No.1 initiated by the complainant-father of appellant No.2."

31. Adverting to the facts of the present case and considering the law laid down in the aforesaid decisions of the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court as well as the Hon'ble Supreme Court, what we find is that the victim was about 17 years and 6 months of age on the date of the incident. She categorically stated in her deposition before the trial Court as well as in her statements recorded under Sections 161 Cr.P.C. and 164 Cr.P.C., that she, on her own, had left her parental home and gone with the accused/respondent. She further stated that she had married the accused/respondent and they were living together as husband and wife, and out of the said wedlock, a son was also born. In such circumstances, it cannot be said that the victim had not attained the age of discretion merely because she was short by about six months of attaining the age of 18 years. Even otherwise, the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. Thus, the continuation of the proceedings would amount nothing but harassment of the accused/ respondent, particularly when the alleged victim, who is now the mother of a child, is residing happily with the accused/respondent. Even the complainant himself admitted in his evidence that his daughter is living happily at her matrimonial home with the accused/respondent and therefore, he also does not wish to pursue the matter further.

32. In view of the aforesaid legal proposition and upon consideration of the findings recorded by the learned trial Court, the evidence available on record, and the overall facts and circumstances of the case, this Court is of the considered view that the application seeking grant of leave to appeal is misconceived and has been filed on wholly untenable grounds. In fact, considering the facts of the case and the settled legal position on the issue, such an application ought not to have been filed. The State, before invoking the provisions of Section 378(3) Cr.P.C. to seek leave to appeal, is expected to examine the matter carefully and proceed appropriately because nothing could be above welfare of family and society. Mahatma Gandhi once stated that "a true measure of any society can be found in how it treats its most vulnerable members." Benjamin N. Cardozo, Former Associate Justice of Supreme Court of United States stated stated that "the final cause of law is the welfare of society." Thus, the State should also have accepted the decision of it's citizen and trial Court in the facts and circumstances of the case.

33. The application is, accordingly, dismissed. Consequently, the memo of appeal stands rejected.

(2026) 5 ILRA 698
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SUBHASH VIDYARTHI, J.

Application U/S 482 No. 3927 of 2018

Ram Pal Singh & Ors. ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether a complaint u/s 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, filed by Managing Director of payee company against the Managing Director and Directors of drawer company in their individual capacity, without impleading either company as a party, and without service of statutory notice of demand upon the drawer company, was maintainable in law.

Headnotes

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 - s. 138 - Dishonour of cheque - Insufficient funds - Complaint by individual on behalf of payee company, not by a company - Statutory notice of demand - Not issued - Company (drawer) not impleaded as opposite party - Mandatory requirement - Maintainability of - Complaint and summoning order - Quashing of - The petitioners, being the Managing Director and Directors of M/s. Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited, entered into a Memorandum of Understanding dated 08.05.2013 with M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited, represented by its Managing Director/complainant, for purchase and development of certain plots of land, pursuant whereto a cheque dated 30.06.2014 for Rs. 1,73,00,000/- was issued by Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited in favour of payee company, which, upon presentation on 22.09.2014, was returned unpaid on 29.03.2024 for insufficiency of funds, whereafter the complainant issued a legal notice dated 4/7.10.2014 which went unheeded, resulting in a complaint being filed u/s 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act by the complainant in his individual capacity against the petitioners in their individual capacity, culminating in the impugned summoning order dated 22.08.2017 and non-bailable warrant dated 15.05.2018, without either company being arraigned as a party to proceedings, aggrieved whereby the petitioners approached the High Court u/s 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing of said order and consequent proceedings.

Held: In the instant case, the company in whose favour a cheque was issued has not come forward to file a complaint - The company which had issued the cheque has not been issued a notice u/s 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act and has not been made an opposite party in the complaint - Therefore, the complaint was not maintainable for this reason - The trial court has passed the impugned summoning order dated 22.08.2017 without considering this aspects of matter which vitiates the trial court's order - Accordingly, application allowed, entire proceedings quashed. [Paras 18, 19] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Himanshu v. B. Shivamurthy and others: (2019) 3 SCC 797 - referred to

List of Acts

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881

List of Keywords

Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C; Complaint; Managing Director; Directors of Company; Memorandum of Understanding; Cheque; Dishonour; Insufficiency of Funds; Legal Notice; Demand; Impleaded; Juristic person; Summoning order; Non-Bailable Warrant; Maintainability of Act; Vakalatnama; Interim order; Coercive action; Proviso to s. 138 Negotiable Instrument Act; Application allowed; Impugned order and entire proceedings quashed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 482 No. - 3927 of 2018
From the Order dated 22.08.2017, passed by the learned Additional Judicial Magistrate, Court No.6 in Complaint No.82529 of 2014, as well as non-bailable warrant dated 15.05.2018 relating to Police Station Hazratganj, District Lucknow.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant(s):

Ravindra Kumar, Arvind Kumar Shukla, Supriya Singh, Vinay Prakash Katiyar

Advs. for the Opposite Party(s):
Govt. Advocate, Padam Kant Mishra

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Anand Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri Shivam Mishra, learned AGA for the State.

2. By means of the application filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. the petitioners/applicants have challenged the validity of an order dated 22.08.2017, passed by the learned Additional Judicial Magistrate, Court No.6 in Complaint No.82529 of 2014, under Section 138 of N.I. Act, as well as non-bailable warrant dated 15.05.2018 relating to Police Station Hazratganj, District Lucknow whereby the petitioners were summoned to face trial for the offence under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act.

3. The cause list shows the name of Shri Padam Kant Mishra, as learned counsel for the private respondent but neither he is present in the court nor has any request been made on his behalf for adjournment of the case. The matter is pending since 2018. Therefore, the court proceeds to pass appropriate orders after hearing the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Government Advocate and perusing the record.

4. The aforesaid case has been instituted on the basis of a complaint filed by opposite party No. 2 - Laxmi Narayan Pandey, against the petitioners namely, Ram Pal Singh, Vinod Singh and Vijay Singh, stating that the complainant is the Managing Director of M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited and the petitioners herein (opposite parties in the complaint) are the Managing Director and Directors of Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited.

5. The complainant and the present petitioners had entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (in short 'MOU') dated 08.5.2013, in respect of purchase and development of certain plots of land at Village Natkur, Bhadarsa, Chandrawal and other adjoining villages of Nyay Panchayat, Bijnore, Tehsil Sasar, District Lucknow. In pursuance of the aforesaid agreement, the petitioners have given a cheque dated 30.06.2014 for Rs.1,73,00,000/- (One Crore Seventy three lakh only) to M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited. The complainant presented the cheque in the bank account of M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited on 22.09.2014. On 29.03.2024, the Bank returned the cheque unpaid for the reason of insufficiency of funds. Thereafter, the complainant sent a legal notice dated 4/7.10.2014 to the petitioners but they did not pay the amount. Upon this complaint, the impugned summoning order dated 22.08.2017 has been passed after recording the aforesaid facts.

6. A copy of the MOU dated 08.05.2013 referred to in Para 2 of the complaint has been annexed as Annexure No.6 to the Writ Petition. Although the complaint states that the MOU was entered into between the complainant- Laxmi Narayan Pandey and the petitioners Ram Pal Singh, Vineet Singh and Vijay Singh, its copy annexed as Annexure No. 4, reveals that this MOU was in fact, entered into between Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited, a Company registered under the Companies Act, 1956, through its Directors namely - Ram Pal Singh, Vineet Singh, Vijay Singh and M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited. through its Managing Director, Laxmi Narayan Pandey.

7. A Company is a juristic person which is distinct and different from its Managing Director/Directors. When the MOU was executed between the aforesaid two Companies, it cannot be said that it was executed between the complainant and the petitioners.

8. The complaint itself states that Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited has issued a cheque in the name of M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited. This cheque was returned by the bank unpaid. Therefore, the person aggrieved by the dishonour of the cheque was the Company to whom the cheque was given and in whose bank account it was presented, namely Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited.

9. The aggrieved Company has not filed the complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act. Moreover, the drawer of the cheque was Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited and this Company has also not been impleaded in the complaint.

10. Notice on the application was issued to the opposite party No.2, by means of an order dated 18.6.2018 and four weeks' time was granted to file counter affidavit.

11. On 13.06.2019, the office reported that the notice had been served personally on the opposite party No. 2. However, the opposite party No. 2 did not put in appearance and thereafter on 03.07.2019, a co-ordinate Bench of this Court, keeping in view the aforesaid facts and the legal position in consideration, had passed an interim order on 03.07.2019 providing that no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants in pursuance of the Complaint Case No.82529 of 2014, under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act.

12. Although Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited is not a party to this case, but he has not filed any counter affidavit. Shri Vinay Prakash Katiyar, Advocate has filed Vakalatnama on behalf of M/s. Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited on 01.03.2021.

13. In these circumstances, the facts pleaded in the petition remain uncontroverted and nothing has been brought on record to dispute the correctness of the documents annexed with the petition.

14. Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 reads as follows:

"138. Dishonour of cheque for insufficiency, etc., of funds in the account.?Where any cheque drawn by a person on an account maintained by him with a banker for payment of any amount of money to another person from out of that account for the discharge, in whole or in part, of any debt or other liability, is returned by the bank unpaid, either because of the amount of money standing to the credit of that account is insufficient to honour the cheque or that it exceeds the amount arranged to be paid from that account by an agreement made with that bank, such person shall be deemed to have committed an offence and shall, without prejudice to any other provisions of this Act, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may be extended to two years, or with fine which may extend to twice the amount of the cheque, or with both:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply unless?

(a) the cheque has been presented to the bank within a period of six months from the date on which it is drawn or within the period of its validity, whichever is earlier;

(b) the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque, as the case may be, makes a demand for the payment of the said amount of money by giving a notice in writing, to the drawer of the cheque, [within thirty days of the receipt of information by him from the bank regarding the return of the cheque as unpaid; and

(c) the drawer of such cheque fails to make the payment of the said amount of money to the payee or, as the case may be, to the holder in due course of the cheque, within fifteen days of the receipt of the said notice.

Explanation. -For the purposes of this section, "debt or other liability" means a legally enforceable debt or other liability.]"

15. Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Himanshu vs. B. Shivamurthy and others: (2019) 3 SCC 797, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that in absence of the Company being arraigned as an accused, a complaint against the appellant would not maintainable. The person who had signed the cheque as a Director of the Company and for and on its behalf, may not be tried for the offence in absence of a notice of demand being served on the Company and without compliance with the proviso to Section 138 of N.I. Act.

16. In the present case also, the record reveals that the MOU was executed between Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited and the cheque in question was also issued by M/s. Gayatri Dham Colonizers and Constructions (India) Limited in favour of Mahalaxmi Power Corporation Limited. None of the companies is a party to the complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act.

17. In these circumstances, the complaint under Section 138 the Negotiable Instruments Act would not be maintainable if the Company in whose favour, the cheque was issued and which was aggrieved by non-payment of the amount of cheque, does not come forward to file the complaint. Secondly, ifthe Company which had issued the cheque, and which was liable to pay the amount upon the cheque being dis-honoured, was not sent any notice, the complaint filed by any other person including the Managing Director and the Directors of the Company, would not be maintainable. Further, in absence of the Company which had issued the cheque, being impleaded as an opposite party, a complaint under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act would not be maintainable.

18. In the present case, the company in whose favour a cheque was issued has not come forward to file a complaint. The company which had issued the cheque has not been issued a notice under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act and has not been made an opposite party in the complaint. Therefore, the complaint was not maintainable for the aforesaid reason. The trial court has passed the impugned summoning order dated 22.08.2017 without considering the aforesaid aspects of the matter which vitiates the trial court's order.

19. Accordingly the petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed. The impugned order dated 22.8.2017 passed by the learned Additional Judicial Magistrate, Court No.6, in Complaint No.82529 of 2014 under Section 138 of N.I. Act, non-bailable warrant dated 15.05.2018 relating to Police Station Hazratganj, District Lucknow as well as the entire proceedings of the complaint case are quashed.

(2026) 5 ILRA 703
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 19.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE BRIJ RAJ SINGH, J.

Application U/S 528 No. 1531 of 2026

Roli ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda was justified in treating the applicant's application u/s 175(3) of BNSS, 2023 as a complaint case instead of directing registration of an FIR, despite the disclosure of a cognizable offence of a grave sexual nature, and whether such exercise of discretion was judiciously exercised having regard to gravity of offence and the nature of evidence required, rather than being founded merely on the applicant's personal knowledge of incident.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 173(4), 175(3), 223 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - ss. 173, 190, 200, 202 - Registration of FIR - Application - Magistrate treated as complaint case - Cognizable offence - Molestation with intent to rape - Scope and ambit of Magistrate's discretion - The applicant, a married woman aged about 22 years, alleged that on 25.12.2025, while collecting sugarcane leafs from her field, she was ambushed, molested, and forcibly dragged with intent to rape by opposite parties no. 2 to 5, who fled upon her raising an alarm, following which she suffered injuries and had her clothes torn - Despite lodging an application the same day at Police Station Kotwali Colonelganj, District Gonda, seeking registration of an FIR and her medical examination, the police neither registered the FIR nor conducted her medical examination, compelling her to get herself examined at District Hospital, Gonda the next day - Thereafter, despite repeated representations to Inspector General of Police, Hon'ble Chief Minister, Superintendent of Police, and Deputy Inspector General of Police, no FIR was lodged, pursuant to which the applicant filed an application u/s 175(3) of BNSS, 2023 before Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda, which came to be treated as a complaint case, on the ground that the applicant had personal knowledge of facts capable of being proved by her and other witnesses, and the matter was fixed for her statement on 20.04.2026, aggrieved by which the instant application u/s 528 of BNSS, 2023 was filed before the High Court seeking setting aside of said order.

Held: It is settled law that in a case where the complainant is in possession of complete details of the case and also the material evidence and the investigation by the police may not be required, the Magistrate may follow the procedure of a complaint case - It is, thus, not necessary that in every case where a complaint has been filed u/s 200 of Cr.P.C., the Magistrate should direct the police to investigate the crime merely because an application has also been filed u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. even though the evidence to be led by the complainant is in his possession or can be produced by summoning witnesses, with the assistance of court or otherwise - In the instant case, after perusing the complaint, the Court finds that there is no such evidence, which requires any investigation by the police - Therefore, the Magistrate has rightly passed the impugned order treating the application as a complaint case, which needs no interference - Hence, application rejected - Directions accordingly. [Paras 28 to 30] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1; Mukesh Kharwar v. State of U.P. and others, 2024 SCC OnLine All 6035; XYZ v. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, (2023) 9 SCC 705; Anmol Singh v. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 7; *Gulab Chand Upadhyaya v. State of U.P. and others, 2002 SCC OnLine All 1221; Waseem Haider v. State of U.P. and others, 2020 SCC OnLine All 1866; Sukhwasi v. State of U.P., 2007 SCC OnLine All 2637; Kailash Vijay Vargiya v. Rajlakshmi Chaudhuri and others, (2023) 14 SCC 1; Priti Agarwalla and others v. The State of GNCT of Delhi and others, 2024 SCC OnLine SC 973; Om Prakash Ambadkar v. State of Maharashtra and others, (2026) 2 SCC 622; X v. State of U.P. and others, Criminal Revision No.808 of 2025 decided on 22.089.2025; Shaligram v. State of U.P. and others, Application U/s 482 No.25994 of 2024, decided on 23.08.2024; Kailash Nath Dwivedi v. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 478 - referred to

List of Acts

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

List of Keywords

Application u/s 528 BNSS; Cognizable offence; Molestation and sexual assault; Medical examination; First Information Report; Investigation; Superintendent of Police; Deputy Inspector General of Police; Registered Post; Chief Judicial Magistrate; Complaint Case; Personal knowledge; Preliminary enquiry; Gonda; Without applying judicious mind; Sexual offence; Investigating agency; Writ of Mandamus; Registrar General; District Judges; Application rejected.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. - 1531 of 2026

From the Order dated 20.03.2026 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda in Criminal Misc. Case No.535 of 2026, Police Station Colonelganj, District Gonda.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant(s):
Dwijendra Mishra, Rajneesh Mishra, Vishva Deep Pandey

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):
G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

1. The present application under Section 528 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 has been filed seeking setting aside the order dated 20.03.2026 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda in Criminal Misc. Case No.535 of 2026, CNR No.UPGD040035172026, Smt. Roli Vs. Kanaiyalal and others, under Section 173(4) of BNSS, 2023, Police Station Colonelganj, District Gonda.

2. Brief facts of the case are that on 25.12.2025 at 6 P.M. when the applicant, who is a married women aged about 22 years, was bringing sugarcane leafs for feeding the animals from her sugarcane field, opposite parties no.2 to 5, ambushed in the sugarcane field, caught hold the applicant and started molesting her with malicious intent and forcibly dragged her to sugarcane filed with intention to rape her. When the applicant resisted, they beat her and tore her cloths due to which the applicant suffered severe injuries on her body. On alarm raised by the applicant, opposite parties no.2 to 5 ran away from there. On 25.12.2025 itself, the applicant gave an application to the Police Station Kotwali Colonelganj for lodging an FIR against opposite parties no.2 to 5 and also requested for her medical examination, but the police neither lodged the FIR against the opposite parties no.2 to 5 nor medical examination of the applicant was conducted. The applicant along with her husband went to the District Hospital, Gonda to get her medically examined on the very next day i.e. 26.12.2025.

3. It is said that when the police of police of Police Station Kotwali Colonelganj did not lodge the FIR on the application of the applicant, she moved applications to the Inspector General of Police Devipatan Zone, Gonda and to the Hon'ble Chief Minister on 27.12.2025 requesting therein to lodge an FIR against opposite parties no.2 to 5 and for taking appropriate action under the relevant provision of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023. On 12.01.2026, the applicant also moved applications to the Superintendent of Police, Gonda and to the Deputy Inspector General of Police, Devipatan Range, Gonda through Registered Post for lodging an FIR against the accused.

4. When the police authorities did not lodge the FIR despite the repeated requests of the applicant, she moved an application under Section 175(3) of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 on 20.02.2026 before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda for lodging an FIR. However, the Magistrate instead of passing an order for lodging the FIR, has treated the application as a complaint case vide impugned order 20.03.2026 without applying his judicious mind by indicating that applicant has personal knowledge of all the facts, which she can prove herself and by way of other witnesses ignoring the fact that the evidence required in this matter to unearth the truth is not in the access of the applicant and is only in access of the police, who can collect the evidence after thorough investigation and fix for statement of the applicant under Section 223 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 on 20.04.2026.

5. Sri Dwijendra Mishra, counsel for the applicant has submitted that once the cognizable offence is made out for which an application under Section 175(3) of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 is filed, then the FIR must be registered in the light of the law laid down by the Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of Lalita Kumari Vs. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1. He has further submitted that the application is regarding sexual offence and the same can be investigated by the police after registration of the FIR, but the Magistrate has treated the application under Section 175(3) of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 as a complaint case without application of mind.

6. To buttress his argument, counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

1. Lalita Kumari Vs. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1;

2. Mukesh Kharwar Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2024 SCC OnLine All 6035;
3. XYZ Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, (2023) 9 SCC 705;
4. Anmol Singh V. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 7; and
5. Gulab Chand Upadhyaya Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2002 SCC OnLine All 1221.

7. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Varma, learned AGA-1 has submitted that the Magistrate is not bound in each and every case to pass an order to register the case if the cognizable offence is made out. The Magistrate is fully competent to use his judicial discretion in the case. He has further submitted that the Magistrate is empowered under Section 190 Cr.P.C. to take the cognizance directly or to pass an order directing the police to investigate and take cognizance or submit a report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. The Magistrate is not always bound to pass an order to register a case when an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved.

8. Learned AGA-I has further submitted that when a complaint is presented before a Magistrate, he has two options; one is to pass an order contemplated by Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and the second is to direct examination of the complainant on oath and the witness present, and proceed further in the manner provided by Section 202 Cr.P.C. An order under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is in the nature of a peremptory reminder or intimation to the police to exercise its plenary power of investigation under Section 156(1) Cr.P.C. He has further submitted that the inner and outer limit of the exercise of this jurisdiction is on a case-to-case basis dependent on the complaint, nature of allegations and offence set out by such a complaint. While exercising the discretion, the Magistrate has to take judicious decision.

9. Learned AGA-I has further submitted that judgement of Lalita Kumari (supra) has laid down the ratio that police has no option but to register the offence in shape of FIR under Section 154 Cr.P.C. on receipt of first information regarding commission of cognizable offence. Further, it has been submitted that though the Hon?ble Supreme Court while formulating the question in paragraph-6 made reference to Sections 156 and 157 Cr.P.C., but the entire judgement of Lalita Kumari (supra) and final directions issued therein, centre around the statutory obligation of the police to register the offence under Section 154 Cr.P.C. with only passing reference of Sections 156 and 157 Cr.P.C. without laying down any law as regards these provisions (Sections 156 and 157 Cr.P.C.). The judgement of Lalita Kumari (supra) does not lay down any dictum in respect of remedies available to the informant under the Code of Criminal Procedure to be invoked in case of failure on the part of the police to perform its statutory duty under Section 154(1)/154(3) Cr.P.C. as a sine qua non for seeking Writ of Mandamus.

10. To Buttress his argument, learned AGA-I has placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

1. Waseem Haider Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2020 SCC OnLine All 1866;
2. Sukhwasi Vs. State of U.P., 2007 SCC OnLine All 2637;
3. Kailash Vijay Vargiya Vs. Rajlakshmi Chaudhuri and others, (2023) 14 SCC 1;
4. Priti Agarwalla and others Vs. The State of GNCT of Delhi and others, 2024 SCC OnLine SC 973;
5. Om Prakash Ambadkar Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, (2026) 2 SCC 622;

6. Criminal Revision No.808 of 2025, X Vs. State of U.P. and others, decided on 22.089.2025;

7. Application U/s 482 No.25994 of 2024, Shaligram Vs. State of U.P. and others, decided on 23.08.2024; and

8. Kailash Nath Dwivedi Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 478.

11. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. In the case of Lalita Kumari (supra), Hon?ble Supreme Court has held that FIR is mandatory under Section 154 Cr.P.C. if information discloses commission of cognizable offence. Paragraphs 120.1, 120.2, 1203, 120.4 and 120.5 of the aforesaid judgement read as under:-

"120.1 The Registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation.

120.2. If the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary inquiry may be conducted only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not.

120.3. If the inquiry discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, the FIR must be registered. In cases where preliminary inquiry ends in closing the complaint, a copy of the entry of such closure must be supplied to the first informant forthwith and not later than one week. It must disclose reasons in brief for closing the complaint and not proceeding further.

120.4. The police officer cannot avoid his duty of registering offence if cognizable offence is disclosed. Action must be taken against erring officers who do not register the FIR if information received by him discloses a cognizable offence.

120.5. The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence."

13. In the case of Mukesh Kharwar (supra), a coordinate Bench of this Court has held that gravity and seriousness of the evidence required should be looked into by the Magistrate for the purposes of launching a successful litigation. Paragraphs 19, 20 and 21 of the aforesaid judgement read as under:-

"19. Perusal of the impugned order shows that no sufficient reason has been disclosed, on the basis of which, the Magistrate has proceeded to treat the application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint. Merely because the facts are in the knowledge of the applicant, direction to lodge FIR cannot be refused. The gravity/seriousness of the offence; the requirement of the evidence for the purpose of launching a successful prosecution, and basically the interest of justice depending on the facts of each case, need be considered in passing the order under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. The impugned order does not assign any valid reason nor reflects application of judicious mind and has been passed in a mechanical manner only on the ground that the facts of the case were within the knowledge of the applicant, thus, the same is liable to be set-aside.

20. The present Application U/S 482 is allowed*.*

21. Accordingly, the impugned order dated 08.05.2024 is set aside with the direction to the court concerned to pass a fresh order on the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. filed by the applicant after affording opportunity of hearing to both the parties, in accordance with law, within a period of one month from the date of production of certified copy of this order."

14. In the case of XYZ (supra), Hon?ble Supreme Court has held that it is not possible for the complainant to retrieve important evidence regarding her complaint. It may not be possible to arrive at the truth of the matter in the absence of such evidence. If such evidence cannot be produced by the complainant and there is a complaint of sexual harassment and there is evidence of CCTV footage, then FIR should be lodged. Paragraphs 24, 25, 26 and 29 of the aforesaid judgement read as under:-

"24. Especially in cases alleging sexual harassment, sexual assault or any similar criminal allegation wherein the victim has possibly already been traumatized, the Courts should not further burden the complainant and should press upon the police to investigate. Due regard must be had to the fact that it is not possible for the complainant to retrieve important evidence regarding her complaint. It may not be possible to arrive at the truth of the matter in the absence of such evidence. The complainant would then be required to prove her case without being able to bring relevant evidence (which is potentially of great probative value) on record, which would be unjust.

25. In this backdrop, we are clearly of the view that the JMFC ought to have exercised jurisdiction under Section 156(3) of CrPC to direct the police to investigate.

26. At this stage, the Court is not called upon to decide upon the veracity of the allegations in the complaint, save and except to underscore the importance of an investigation by the police in a matter where the CCTV footage (or other evidence) is not under the possession or control of the appellant, but to be inquired into in the course of an investigation by the police. The discretion which has been conferred upon the Magistrate by Section 156(3) CrPC, must be exercised in a judicious manner.

29. Finally, we wish to once again reiterate the importance of courts dealing with complainants of sexual harassment and sexual assault in a sensitive manner. It is important for all courts to remain cognizant of the fact that the legal process tends to be even more onerous for complainants who are potentially dealing with trauma and societal shame due to the unwarranted stigma attached to victims of sexual harassment and assault. At this juncture, especially in cases where the police fails to address the grievance of such complainants, the Courts have an important responsibility. As the Delhi High Court held in Virender v State (NCT of Delhi), courts have to remain alive to both treating the victim sensitively while also discharging the onerous task of ensuring that the complete truth is brought on record so as to facilitate adjudication and answering the basic question regarding the complicity of the accused in the commission of the offence. In that case, the High Court held that:

22. It is to be noted that the embarrassment, and reservations of those concerned with the proceedings including the prosecutrix, witnesses, counsel may result in a camouflage of the trauma of the victim's experience. The judge has to be conscious of these factors and rise above any such reservations to ensure that they do not cloud the real facts and the actions which are attributable to the accused persons. The trial courts must be alive to the onerous responsibility which rests on their shoulders and be sensitive in cases involving sexual abuse.

(emphasis supplied)"

15. In the case of Anmol Singh (supra), a coordinate Bench of this Court has passed judgement making an observation that once cognizable offence is disclosed regarding sexual offence, then the FIR should be lodged. Paragraphs 14 and 15 of the aforesaid judgement read as under:-

"14. It is true that every application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. disclosing commission of a cognizable offence may not be directed for investigation by police and the Magistrate has jurisdiction to treat the same as a complaint case but in exercise of such jurisdiction the Magistrate has to keep in view various factors as laid down in Lalaram (supra), which are only illustrative and not exhaustive. The exercise of jurisdiction is basically guided by interest of justice, from case to case.

15. Perusal of the order clearly shows that the Magistrate has not applied judicious mind to the facts of the case and in particular paragraph no.3 of the application, which not only made out commission of a cognizable offence but an offence of molestation and sexual assault on the mother of the applicant. The application clearly stated that the accused persons are related to influential persons and as such neither the FIR was being lodged nor the medical of the applicant's mother was carried out. In such matters the medical examination of the victim is necessary. The medical report of the victim is of importance. Merely because the facts are in the knowledge of the applicant, direction to lodge FIR cannot be refused. The gravity/seriousness of the offence; the requirement of the evidence for the purpose of launching a successful prosecution, and basically the interest of justice depending on the facts of each case, need be considered in passing the order under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. The offence, as per the contents of the application is not a matrimonial, commercial or family dispute, etc. The order does not assign any valid reason nor reflects application of judicious mind to relevant considerations and does not stand the test of the law as laid down in the cases of "Ram Deo Food Products' (Supra) and 'Gulab Chand Upadhyay' (Supra)."

16. In the case of Sukhwasi (supra), a Division Bench of this Court has held that a complaint disclosing cognizable offence may well justify a Magistrate in sending the complaint under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. to the police for investigation. There is no reason why the time of the Magistrate should be wasted when primarily the duty to investigate in cases involving cognizable offences is with the police. On the other hand, there may be occasions when the Magistrate may exercise his discretion and 'Take' cognizance of a cognizable offence. The Magistrate has authority to treat an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint case. The Magistrate is always not bound to pass an order to register a case and investigate when an application under Section 156(3) is moved. Paragraphs 13, 15, 19 and 23 of the aforesaid judgement read as under:-

"13. It is clear from the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case Suresh Chandra Jain Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and another, 2001 (42) A.C.C. 459, that a Magistrate has the authority to treat an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint. This will become clear from the reference in the said report to the case of Gopal Das Sindhi and others Vs. State of Assam and another, A.I.R. 1961 S.C. 986, in which the following observations were made:

"If the Magistrate had not taken cognizance of the offence on the complaint filed before him, he was not obliged to examine the complainant on oath and the witnesses present at the time of filing of the complaint. We cannot read the provisions of Section 190 to mean that once a complaint is filed, a Magistrate is bound to take cognizance if the facts stated in the complaint disclose the commission of any offence. We are unable to construe the word 'may' in Section 190 to mean 'must'. The reason is obvious. A complaint disclosing cognizable offences may well justify a Magistrate in sending the complaint, under Section 156(3) to the police for investigation. There is no reason why the time of the Magistrate should be wasted when primarily the duty to investigate in cases involving cognizable offences is with the police. On the other hand, there may be occasions when the Magistrate may exercise his discretion and 'Take' cognizance of a cognizable offence."

15. It is hardly possible to infer from the aforesaid observations that the Magistrate cannot treat an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a 'Complaint'. Even a nebulous of far fetched interpretation will not lead to that inference. The inference drawn by Hon'ble Vinod Prasad, J. is not logical.

19. In a recent pronouncement, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Shiv Charan Sharma in the case of Chandrika Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others [2007(58) ACC, 777] has held that a Magistrate can treat an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint. The Hon'ble Judge referred to various cases in his judgment and has come to this conclusion thereafter. It was observed by Shiv Charan, J. as follows:

"In view of this judgment of Full Bench, the Magistrate is fully competent to pass an order to register a case and investigate on an application under Section 156 (3) Cr. P.C., all the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. may be treated as complaint and in the circumstance, the Magistrate shall follow the procedure as provided in Chapter XV Cr.P.C. This judgment of Full Bench has not been set aside. Hence, in view of the Apex Court and Full Bench of this Court the Magistrate is fully competent to treat an application under section 156 Cr.P.C. as a complaint and in the present case the Magistrate passed an order in the circumstances of the case that it may be registered as a complaint case and proceed to record the statement under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. There appears no illegality and impropriety in the order of the Magistrate.

This controversy must come to an end that an application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. can only be treated as an application for passing an order for registration of the case and investigation cannot be treated as a complaint case. The Magistrate is not bound in each and every case to pass an order to register a case and investigate if cognizable offence is made out. The Magistrate is fully competent to use this judicial direction in the matter. This is wrong notion that if an application has been moved under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. that the only order can be passed for registration in the matter. The magistrate has got direction under Section 190 Cr.P.C. to take the cognizance directly or to pass an order that the police to investigate and then take cognizance on submissions of a report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. The Magistrate is also expected to act under some guidelines and it should not be left at the arbitrary discretion of the Magistrate to pass an order or not to pass an order to register the case and investigation under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. In Gulab Chandra Upadhyaya Vs. State of U.P. Hon'ble Single Judge of this Court laid down the guidelines for the guidance of Magistrate while deciding the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and the guidelines cannot be said against any provision of law or check on the judicial direction of the Magistrate. Even Hon'ble Apex Court also held that the Magistrate has got a direction to pass an order to register the case and investigation under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. or to treat an application as a complaint case.

In the law laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court and various judgments of this Court clearly laid down that the Magistrate is not always bound to pass an order to register a case and investigation when application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved. It will not be proper to deal with this hypothetical position that if the Magistrate is of opinion that false and frivolous allegation has been made in application than he may reject the application or it is for the investigating officer to decide the truthfulness of the story and if found false then launch prosecution against the applicant. But it is discretion of the Magistrate to be used judiciously while disposing of the application.

For the reasons mentioned above, I am of the opinion that the Magistrate is not always bound to pass an order for register of the case and investigation after receipt of the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. disclosing a cognizable offence. The Magistrate may use his discretion judiciously and if he is of the opinion that in the circumstances of the case, it will be proper to treat the application as a complaint case then he may proceed according to the procedure provided under Chapter XV of Cr.P.C. I am also of the opinion that it is not always mandatory in each and every case for the Magistrate to pass an order to register and investigate on receipt of the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. In the present case, the Magistrate is perfectly within the judicial power to treat the application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint case. There is no illegality or impropriety in the order. The revision is devoid of merit and is liable to be dismissed".

23. The reference is, therefore, answered in the manner that it is not incumbent upon a Magistrate to allow an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and there is no such legal mandate. He may or may not allow the application in his discretion. The second leg of the reference is also answered in the manner that the Magistrate has a discretion to treat an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint."

17. In the case of Wasim Haider (supra), a Division Bench of this Court has held that while interpreting the statutory provision under Section 154 Cr.P.C. in the case of Lalita Kumari (supra), nothing further as regards remedy available to the informant whose information of commission of cognizable offence does not invoke any response from the police and judgement of Lalita Kumari (supra) does not lay down any law in respect of the remedies available to the informant under Cr.P.C. to be invoked in case of failure on the part of the police to perform its statutory duty under Section 154(1)/154(3) Cr.P.C. as a sine qua non for seeking Writ of Mandamus. Paragraphs 20, 21, 22, 23, 26, 27, 28 and 29 of the aforesaid judgement are extracted herein below:-

"20. Perusal of the judgment of Lalita Kumari (supra) and the final directions passed in paragraphs 120.1 to 120.8 clearly reveal the laying down of ratio that the police has no option but to register the offence in shape of FIR under Section 154 Cr.P.C. on receipt of first information regarding commission of cognizable offence without verifying the veracity of the first information.

21. Though the Apex Court while formulating the question in paragraph 6 (supra) made reference to Sections 156 & 157 but the entire judgment of Lalita Kumari and final directions issued therein centre around the statutory obligation of the police to register the offence under Section 154 Cr.P.C, with only passing reference of Section 156 & 157 without laying down any law as regards these provisions (Section 156 and 157 Cr.P.C.).

22. Therefore, it can safely be concluded that the Apex Court while interpreting the statutory provision under Section 154 Cr.P.C said nothing further as regards remedy available to the informant whose information of commission of cognizable offence does not invoke any response from the police. Thus, the judgment of Lalita Kumari does not lay down any law in respect of remedies available to the informant under Cr.P.C. to be invoked in case of failure on the part of the police to perform its statutory duty under Section 154(1)/154(3) Cr.P.C. as a sine qua non for seeking writ of mandamus.

23. Consequently, the case of Lalita Kumari of the Apex Court does not answer the principal issue No.1 framed by this Court.

26. The Code of Criminal Procedure provides various avenues before the informant/victim to initiate criminal prosecution. The first avenue is of lodging of FIR under Section 154(1)/154(3) which can be availed by the victim and as well as a stranger to the offence, provided the first information discloses commission of cognizable offence. The lodging of FIR under Section 154 Cr.P.C. sets the investigative machinery into motion without prior permission of the Magistrate as is otherwise required for non-cognizable offences.

27. The second avenue available to the victim and as well as a stranger to the cognizable offence, is under Section 156(3) by approaching the concerned Magistrate by informing commission of cognizable offence. The Magistrate can then conduct an enquiry himself or direct the concerned police station to register the offence alleged, thereby triggering the investigation.

28. The third avenue available is under Section 190 Cr.P.C empowering the competent Magistrate to take cognizance of any offence upon receipt of complaint of facts containing allegation constituting the offence, or upon a police report of such facts or upon information received from any person other than a police officer, or upon his own knowledge of commission of cognizable and as well as non-cognizable offence, except offences punishable under Chapter XX of IPC, for which procedure prescribed under Section 198 Cr.P.C. is to be adhered to.

29. The fourth avenue is under Section 200 Cr.P.C where a complaint, oral or in writing if made before the competent Magistrate leads to hearing by the Magistrate on the question of taking cognizance of offence or not and if it is found that complaint discloses commission of any offence punishable in law then the Magistrate issues summons to the proposed accused on appearance of whom statements of rival parties are recorded and the Magistrate decides on the question of framing of charge or discharging the accused. If charges are framed then trial proceeds."

18. In the case of Kailash Vijay Vargiya (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that when a complaint is presented before the Magistrate, he has two options; one is to pass an order under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and the second is to direct examination of the complainant and the witness present and proceed further in the matter provided by Section 202 Cr.P.C. Once the Magistrate has taken cognizance under Section 190 Cr.P.C., he cannot ask for an investigation by the police. Paragraphs 16, 18, 39, 41, 42, 59 and 61 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"16. The present proceedings arise out of a complaint filed by the original complainant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. The learned CJM, by a detailed order and giving cogent reasons, dismissed the said application/complaint under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C and refused to direct the police to register an FIR. It is not even disputed by the State that prior to filing of the application/complaint by the complainant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., complaints were made to the police authorities, namely, Officer in Charge of Bahela Police Station, DCP (South Division) and the SHO. The SHO conducted a preliminary enquiry as mandated by a Constitution Bench of this Court in the case of Lalita Kumari (supra) and upon finding that there was a delay of about two years in filing the complaint, refused to register the FIR. That thereafter, the original complainant filed a complaint/application before the learned CJM under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and on a careful consideration of the allegations in the complaint/application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., by a detailed reasoned order, the learned CJM dismissed the said application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

18. While quashing and setting aside the order passed by the learned CJM, the High Court was of the opinion that at the stage of considering the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., it was not open for the learned CJM to verify the truth and veracity of the allegations. The High Court was of the opinion that in view of the decision of this Court in the case of Lalita Kumari (supra), what was required to be considered was, whether the allegations in the complaint/ application disclose prima facie commission of a cognizable offence or not and if so, the Magistrate has to pass an order directing the concerned police officer to register an FIR. That thereafter, pursuant to the impugned judgment and order passed by the High Court and on remand, the learned CJM has straightway directed to register the application/complaint as an FIR. Therefore, as such, the subsequent order passed by the learned CJM is a consequential order passed by the High Court on quashing and setting aside the order passed by the learned CJM dismissing the application/complaint.

39. We would now refer to the power of the Magistrate to take cognizance, postpone issue of process and follow the procedure under Section 202 of the Code.

Difference in the power of Police to register and investigate an FIR under Section 154(1) read with 157 of the Code, and the Magistrate?s direction to register an FIR under Section 156(3) of the Code. Power of the Magistrate to direct registration of an FIR under Section 156(3) in contrast with post-cognizance stage power under Section 202 of the Code.

41. The power of Magistrate to direct investigation falls under two limbs of the Code: one is pre-cognizance stage under Section 156(3), and another on cognizance under Chapter XIV (?Conditions Requisite for Initiation of Proceedings?; Sections 190-199) read with Chapter XV (?Complaints to Magistrates?; Sections 200-210). These two powers are different and there also lies a procedural distinction between the two.

42. A three Judge Bench decision of this Court in Ramdev Food Products Private Limited (supra) had examined the distinction between powers of the Magistrate to direct registration of an FIR under Section 156(3) and power of the Magistrate to proceed under Section 202 of the Code. It was observed that the power under the former Section is to be exercised, on receiving a complaint or a Police report or information from any person other than the Police officer or upon his own knowledge, before he takes cognizance under Section 190. Once the Magistrate takes cognizance, the Magistrate has discretion to take recourse to his powers under Section 202, which provides for postponement of the issue of process and inquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a Police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit for the purpose of deciding whether or not there are sufficient grounds for proceedings. The proviso to Section 202 states that no direction for investigation shall be made where a complaint has not been made by a Court, unless the complainant and the witnesses present (if any) are examined on oath under Section 200. When it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions, he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath. However, in such cases, the Magistrate cannot issue direction for investigation of an offence.

59. The decision in Mona Panwar v. High Court of Judicature of Allahabad through its Registrar and Others, (2011) 3 SCC 496 is rather succinct. This Court held that when a complaint is presented before a Magistrate, he has two options. One is to pass an order contemplated by Section 156(3). The second one is to direct examination of the complainant on oath and the witness present, and proceed further in the manner provided by Section 202. An order under Section 156(3) is in the nature of a peremptory reminder or intimation to the police to exercise its plenary power of investigation under Section 156(1). However, once the Magistrate has taken cognizance under Section 190 of the Code, he cannot ask for an investigation by the Police. After cognizance has been taken, if the Magistrate wants any investigation, it will be under Section 202, whose purpose is to ascertain whether there is prima facie case against the person accused of the offence and to prevent issue of process in a false or vexatious complaint intended to harass the person named. Such examination is provided, therefore, to find out whether there is or not sufficient ground for proceeding further.

61. We were informed that the Magistrate, on remand, has passed an order under Section 156(3) directing registration of the FIR. He has misread the order and directions given by the High Court. In terms of the judgments of this Court, the Magistrate is required to examine, apply his judicious mind and then exercise discretion whether or not to issue directions under Section 156(3) or whether he should take cognizance and follow the procedure under Section 202. He can also direct a preliminary inquiry by the Police in terms of the law laid down by this Court in Lalita Kumari."

19. In the case of Priti Agarwalla and others (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the Magistrate while exercising his power under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. has to exercise his discretion on case-to-case basis dependent on the complaint, nature of allegations and the offence set out by such complaint. Paragraphs 14.3 and 26 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"14.3 We do not propose to multiply citations on the point and succinctly stated, the Magistrate, under section 156(3) of the CrPC, asks himself a question: whether the complaint, as presented, makes out a case for directing the registration of an FIR or calls for inquiry or report from the jurisdictional police station. The inner and outer limit of the exercise of this jurisdiction is on a case-to-case basis dependent on the complaint, nature of allegations and offence set out by such a complaint. Therefore, it is fairly well-settled and axiomatic by the decisions rendered under Section 156(3) of the CrPC that the Magistrate does not act mechanically and exercises his discretion judiciously by applying mind to the circumstances complained of and the offence alleged against the accused for taking one or the other step. The case on hand principally concerns deciding whether the discretion is invalidly exercised by the Magistrate while ordering a report from the SHO.

26. From the above consideration, the available conclusion is that firstly, the Metropolitan Magistrate at the relevant point of time was justified in ordering a preliminary inquiry on the application dated 09.05.2018 and receiving the Action Taken Report from the jurisdictional police station. Further, the accusations in the complaints do not satisfy as having been made in any place within public view. Therefore, in a case such as the present, directing registration of FIR and further steps is unsustainable. Points A and B are answered in favour of the Appellants."

20. In the case of Om Prakash Ambadkar (supra), Hon?ble Supreme Court has held that it is the discretion of the Magistrate concerned whether to order police investigation under Section

156(3) Cr.P.C. or take cognizance upon the complaint and issue process or dismiss the complaint under Section 203 Cr.P.C. Paragraphs 10 and 12 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"10. Ordinarily, Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. is invoked by the complainant when the police authorities decline to register a First Information Report. In such circumstances, a private complaint may be made in the court of the Judicial Magistrate and the complainant may pray that police investigation be ordered under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. However, it is the discretion of the concerned Magistrate whether to order police investigation under Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C. or take cognizance upon the complaint and issue process or dismiss the complaint under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. Over a period of time and in view of many decisions of this Court, if the officer in-charge of the concerned Police Station for some reasons declines to register the FIR, then the law has left it open for the complainant to file an appropriate application before the Magistrate and pray for police investigation. Once an order is passed for police investigation under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C., then it becomes a police case.

11. However, what is important to observe is that whenever any application is filed by the complainant before the Court of Judicial Magistrate seeking police investigation under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C., it is the duty of the concerned Magistrate to apply his mind for the purpose of ascertaining whether the allegations levelled in the complaint constitute any cognizable offence or not. In other words, the Magistrate may not undertake the exercise to ascertain whether the complaint is false or otherwise, however, the Magistrate is obliged before he proceeds to pass an order for police investigation to closely consider whether the necessary ingredients to constitute the alleged offence are borne out on plain reading of the complaint."

21. Further, in the case of Om Prakash Ambadkar (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the Magistrate is not obliged to pass an order for registration of the FIR in every case if the evidence is within the possession of the complainant and the same can be produced by summoning the witnesses with the assistance of the court otherwise. Paragraphs 26 and 27 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"26. It is, thus, not necessary that in every case where a complaint has been filed under Section 200 of the Cr.P.C. the Magistrate should direct the Police to investigate the crime merely because an application has also been filed under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. even though the evidence to be led by the complainant is in his possession or can be produced by summoning witnesses, with the assistance of the court or otherwise*. The issue of jurisdiction also becomes important at that stage and cannot be ignored.*

27. In fact, the Magistrate ought to direct investigation by the police only where the assistance of the Investigating Agency is necessary and the Court feels that the cause of justice is likely to suffer in the absence of investigation by the police. The Magistrate is not expected to mechanically direct investigation by the police without first examining whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, investigation by the State machinery is actually required or not. If the allegations made in the complaint are simple, where the Court can straightaway proceed to conduct the trial, the Magistrate is expected to record evidence and proceed further in the matter, instead of passing the buck to the Police under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. Of course, if the allegations made in the complaint require complex and complicated investigation which cannot be undertaken without active assistance and expertise of the State machinery, it would only be appropriate for the Magistrate to direct investigation by the police authorities. The Magistrate is, therefore, not supposed to act merely as a Post Office and needs to adopt a judicial approach while considering an application seeking investigation by the Police."

22. In paragraph-27 of the case of Om Prakash Ambadkar (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has categorically held that if the allegations made in the complaint require complex and complicated investigation which cannot be undertaken without active assistance and expertise of the State machinery, it would only be appropriate for the Magistrate to direct investigation by the police authorities.

23. In the case of X Vs. State of U.P. (supra), a coordinate Bench of this Court has held that application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. can be entertained by giving a direction to lodge an FIR on the given facts and circumstances or to treat such application as a complaint case. Paragraph 17 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"17. In other words, the Magistrate/Court of competent jurisdiction while dealing with an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is empowered to pass an order for registration of FIR and investigate into the matter or to treat such application as a 'Complaint Case', if Investigation in the matter is not required and he is fully empowered to reject the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C."

24. In the case of Shaligram (supra), a coordinate Bench of this Court has held that there is no illegality or irregularity in the order impugned and after collecting the report from the police station concerned or the report otherwise the Magistrate is of the view that no investigation from the police is required and he has rightly directed the present case to be treated as complaint case. Paragraph 13 of the aforesaid judgment read as under:-

"13. In light of the above facts and above proposition of law, this Court is of the view that there is no illegality or irregularity in the order impugned and after collecting the report from the police station concerned or the report otherwise the Magistrate is of the view that no investigation from the Police is required and he has rightly directed the present case to be treated as complaint case."

25. In the case of Kailash Nath Dwivedi (supra), a coordinate Bench of this Court has held that in a case where the complainant is in possession of the complete details of the case and also the material evidence, such that investigation by the police may not be required, the Magistrate may follow the procedure of a complaint case. Paragraphs 27 and 29 of the aforesaid case read as under:-

"27. It is, therefore, seen that upon an application received under Section 156(3) disclosing a cognizable offence, the Magistrate may direct the police to register the F.I.R. and investigate or alternatively the Magistrate can take cognizance of the complaint, register it as complaint case and follow the procedure under Chapter XV of the Code. While exercising this discretion and taking either of the courses, it would be incumbent upon the Magistrate to apply judicial mind and the exercise of discretion would have to be guided by interest of justice, depending upon the facts of the case. In a situation where the investigation required is of a nature which can only be made by a police officer upon whom the statute has conferred the powers of investigation, the Magistrate may be well within his discretion to direct the registration of an F.I.R. and its investigation by the police officer. In a case where the complainant is in possession of the complete details of the case and also the material evidence, such that 'investigation' by the police may not be required, the Magistrate may follow the procedure of a complaint case. (Emphasis applied)

29. In the facts of the present case, the courts below have taken notice of the fact that civil and criminal litigation was pending between the parties and the applicant had full knowledge of the facts and also the material evidence in respect of the case and accordingly the order passed by the Magistrate while exercising discretionary powers under Section 156(3) of the Code and directing the registration of the case as complaint case and also its affirmation by the revisional court cannot be said to suffer from any material illegality or procedural irregularity so as to warrant interference."

26. After discussing various judgements of the Hon?ble Supreme Court as well as by this Court on the issue in question, this Court comes to the conclusion that inner and outer limit of exercise of this jurisdiction is on a case-to-case basis dependent on the complaint, nature of allegations and offence set out by the complainant. The Magistrate while exercising his discretion, has to apply his mind judiciously considering the nature of the complaint and the evidence available with the complainant at the time of filing the complaint. Once an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is entertained by the Magistrate, he has two options; one is to pass an order under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. for registration of the FIR and, the second is to direct examination of the complainant on oath and the witness present and proceed further in the manner provided by Section 202 Cr.P.C. Once the Magistrate has taken cognizance under Section 190 Cr.P.C., he cannot ask for an investigation by the police. It is, however, to be looked into that in a case where evidence like CCTV footage, unknown accused and any such evidence, which can only be collected by thorough investigation by the police, the Magistrate will pass an order for registration of the FIR based on objective satisfaction. The Magistrate has to look into the seriousness of the case and nature of evidence while passing an order for registration of the FIR under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. by applying his judicial mind, as the power under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is discretionary in nature and required to be exercised cautiously based on case-to-case basis. However, it is borne in mind that the Magistrate is not always bound to pass an order to register a case and investigation when an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved.

27. After the aforesaid discussion of factual and legal aspect, the case can be summarized in the following manner:-

While exercising the power under Section 175(3) of B.N.S.S., 2023 (erstwhile Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.), the Magistrate has the following options:-

(i) to pass an order for registration of the FIR;

(ii) to treat the application as a complaint case and proceed accordingly

(iii) in case the evidence of such nature which can only be collected by doing thorough investigation by the police, the Magistrate has to pass an order for registration of the FIR. However, while exercising his power, he has to apply his mind judiciously.

(iv) in case the complainant is in possession of the complete details of the case and also the material evidence and the investigation by the police may not be required, the Magistrate may follow the procedure of a complaint case. However, he may exercise this jurisdiction is on a case-to-case basis dependent on the complaint, nature of allegations and offence set out by the complainant.

28. It is settled law that in a case where the complainant is in possession of the complete details of the case and also the material evidence and the investigation by the police may not be required, the Magistrate may follow the procedure of a complaint case. It is, thus, not necessary that in every case where a complaint has been filed under Section 200 of the Cr.P.C., the Magistrate should direct the police to investigate the crime merely because an application has also been filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. even though the evidence to be led by the complainant is in his possession or can be produced by summoning witnesses, with the assistance of the court or otherwise. In the present case, after perusing the complaint, this Court finds that there is no such evidence, which requires any investigation by the police. Therefore, the Magistrate has rightly passed the impugned order treating the application as a complaint case, which needs no interference.

29. Application being devoid of merit, is rejected.

30. Registrar General of this Court is directed to circulate a copy of this judgement to all the subordinate courts through the District Judges for perusal.

(2026) 5 ILRA 718
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE VIVEK KUMAR SINGH, J.

Application U/S 528 No. 29363 of 2025

Sanjay @ Sanjay Kashyap ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether the material on record collected by the Investigating Officer during investigation, including the statements of victim recorded u/ss. 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., made out a prima facie case of rape and connected offences under relevant sections of IPC against the applicant, or whether continuation of criminal proceedings, charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024 and cognizance order dated 08.02.2025 would tantamount to an abuse of process of law, warranting quashing u/s 528 BNSS.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - ss. 376, 323, 342 and 506 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - ss. 161, 164 - Rape - False promise of marriage - Breach of promise - Allegation of - Consensual relationship - Victim major - Details of time, place etc not in FIR - Statement of victim - Charge-sheet - Cognizance order - Quashing of - The applicant, invoked the inherent jurisdiction of High Court u/s 528 BNSS seeking quashing of charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024, cognizance order dated 08.02.2025, and entire criminal proceedings in Case No. 159 of 2025 arising out of Case Crime No. 238 of 2024 registered under relevant sections of IPC at Police Station Pipraich, District Gorakhpur, pending before the court of J.M./Civil Judge Junior Division-14, Gorakhpur - The prosecution's case, founded on a First Information Report lodged by opposite party no. 2/victim alleged that the applicant, after meeting the victim at a marriage ceremony, gifted her a mobile phone, developed intimacy with her over a period of about one year on a promise of marriage made before family members, forcibly established physical relations with her, subsequently refused to marry her, and assaulted and threatened her when confronted - While the applicant's contention was that victim, admittedly a major aged about 20-21 years as per ossification test and educated up to Class 9th, had maintained a consensual relationship with him for a year without any injury or corroborating particulars of date, time or place of occurrence, such that the FIR, lodged only upon the relationship turning sour, constituted a false and frivolous complaint amounting to misuse of the criminal process.

Held: In the instant case, no offence of rape is made out against the applicant, and the FIR was lodged by prosecutrix as she was annoyed by the behaviour of applicant, and was unwilling to leave the applicant - Therefore, the subsequent incident of physical assault on 26.03.2024 has been concocted by prosecutrix only for the purpose of lodging the FIR - Nothing was stated by victim in respect of incident dated 26.03.2024 when her statement was recorded u/s 164 Cr.P.C - However, she later developed a story that relationship was forcibly established by the applicant at the house of his friend Krishna, which is not substantiated during the investigation since no statement of Krishna was recorded and he is not one of the witnesses in the charge-sheet - The victim expressed her desire, in her statement recorded u/s 164 Cr.P.C., that she wanted to get married to the applicant - It appears from her statement that the F.I.R. was lodged by victim to exert pressure upon the applicant to get married to the victim - Accordingly, application allowed, and entire criminal proceedings quashed. [Paras 45, 47] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

R. Kalyani v. Janak C. Mehta and Others reported in 2009 (1) SCC 516; State of Karnataka v. M. Devendrappa, (2002) 3 SCC 89; 2002 SCC (Cri) 539; Vineet Kumar v. State of U.P., (2017) 13 SCC 369; Mahesh Damu Khare v. State of Maharashtra and Another, (2024) 11; Prashant v. State of NCT of Delhi, (2025) 5 Supreme Court Cases 764; Samadhan Versus State of Maharashtra and Another, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2528; Rajnish Singh @ Soni v. State of U.P. And Another, 2025 (4) SCC 197; Shiv Shanker v.. State of Karnataka, (2019) 18 SCC 204; Naim Ahamed v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2023) 15 Supreme Court Cases 385; Pramod Kumar Navratna v. State of Chhattisgarh and Others, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 154; Ravish Singh Rana v. State of Uttarakhand & Anr., 2025 SCC OnLine SC 1055; Pramod Suryabhan Pawar v. State of Maharashtra And Another, (2019) 9 Supreme Court Cases 608; Uday v. State of Karnataka, (2003) 4 SCC 46; Sonu @ Subhash Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, (2021) 18 SCC 51; Deepak Gulati v. State of Haryana, (2013) 7 SCC 675; Dileep Singh v. State of Bihar, (2005) 1 SCC 88; Manish Yadav v. State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 363; Kunal Chatterjee v. The State of West Bengal & Ors., 2025 7 Supreme 489; Nitin B. Nikhare v. The State of Maharashtra & Anr. (arising out of SLP (Crl.) No.1889/2024), decided on 21.01.2025; Dhruvaram Murlidhar Sonar v. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 18 SCC 191; Maheshwar Tigga v. State of Jharkhand, (2020) 10 SCC 108; Amal Bhagwan Nehul v. The State of Maharashtra, SLP (Crl.) No.10044/2024, decided on 26.05.2025 - referred to

State of Haryana and others v. Ch. Bhajan Lal, AIR 1992 SC 605 - followed

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Application u/s 528 BNSS; FIR; Cognizance order; Charge-sheet; Investigating Officer; Marriage ceremony; Investigation; Victim; False promise of marriage; Consent; Decline to marry; Physical assault; Wrongful confinement; Threat; Misconception of fact; Long-standing; Consensual physical relationship; Rape; Ossification test; ss. 161, 164 Crpc; Anticipatory Bail; Cognizable offence; Rarest of rare case; Mala fide; Chief Medical Officer; Gorakhpur; Application allowed; Entire criminal proceedings quashed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. - 29363 of 2025

From the Charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024 and Cognizance order dated 08.02.2025 arising out of Case Crime No.238 of 2024, Police Station Pipraich, District-Gorakhpur, pending in the court of J.M./ Civil Judge Junior Division-14, Gorakhpur.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant(s):
Ashwani Kumar Singh, Devendra Singh Kushwaha

Advs. for the Opposite Party(s):
Mahesh Kumar Sahani, G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashwani Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Mahesh Kumar Sahani, learned counsel for opposite party no.2/ victim and Sri Prashant Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A. for State- opposite party no.1.

2. Present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been preferred for quashing the charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024 and cognizance order dated 08.02.2025 as well as entire criminal proceeding of Case No.159 of 2025, arising out of Case Crime No.238 of 2024, under Sections 376, 323, 342 and 506 of I.P.C., Police Station Pipraich, District-Gorakhpur, pending in the court of J.M./ Civil Judge Junior Division-14, Gorakhpur.

3. The brief facts of the case are to the effect that a First Information Report was lodged by opposite party no. 2/victim of the present case, which was registered on 30.03.2024 at 16:55 hours as Case Crime No. 238 of 2024, under Sections 376, 323, 342, and 506 I.P.C. at Police Station Pipraich, District Gorakhpur. The date and time of the incident have not been mentioned in the FIR. It is alleged in the FIR that the victim met the applicant a year ago in a marriage ceremony. The applicant purchased a mobile phone and gifted the same to the informant/victim. Thereafter, conversations were exchanged between the applicant and the victim, and a promise of marriage was made by the applicant before the family members of the victim. On account of the promise of marriage, made by the applicant, they developed intimacy, and when the victim pressurized on the applicant to marry her, he made excuses and later threatened to kill her. The victim reached the house of the applicant on 26.03.2024, where the applicant allegedly physically assaulted her. The applicant ultimately declined to marry her.

4. The Investigating Officer started the investigation and recorded the statement of the victim under Section 161 Cr.P.C., wherein she claimed herself to be about 20 years of age and educated up to Class 9th. Further, the allegations made in the FIR were reiterated by the victim in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. As per the ossification test report, the victim was aged above 20?21 years. In her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she again claimed to be a major girl and stated that she had been in a relationship with the applicant for the last one year. On 30.05.2023, she was called by the applicant and taken to the house of his friend, where the applicant forcibly established physical relations with her. The applicant had stated that he would marry the victim, but now he is refusing to do so. Lastly, the victim stated that she wanted to marry him.

5. Initially, the arrest of the applicant was stayed by the Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 30.04.2024, passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 6840 of 2024, and later on, he was released on anticipatory bail by this Court on 19.05.2025. The Investigating Officer completed the investigation and submitted the charge sheet against the applicant on 09.06.2024. Thereafter, the learned Magistrate took cognizance of the offence on 08.02.2025.

6. It is the contention of the learned counsel for the applicant-accused that a false and frivolous FIR was lodged by the informant/victim, wherein she claimed that she was subjected to rape on the false promise of marriage. It is the admitted case of the victim that she had been in touch with the applicant for the last one year, which substantiates that the FIR is a result of a broken relationship. The FIR was lodged when the things did not work out between them. There is no mention of the date, time, and place of the incident in the FIR where the alleged offence of rape was committed for the first time. The version of the victim kept changing in her averments made in the FIR and in her statements given to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and to the Magistrate while recording her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C.

7. Further submission was made by the learned counsel for the applicant that the Investigating Officer has not taken into consideration that the statements are bereft of particulars. No external injury was seen on the body of the victim, and she was in a consensual relationship. She admitted that she was a major girl aged about 20 years. When the relationship became sour, the FIR was lodged by the victim due to ulterior motives. It is further submitted that no criminal offence is made out against the applicant under Sections 376, 323, 342, and 506 I.P.C. considering the facts and circumstances of the present case. Therefore, continuation of the criminal proceedings against the applicant would tantamount to a miscarriage of justice.

8. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.2/ victim and Sri Prashant Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State, have submitted that the applicant had continuously exploited the victim for the last one year. The applicant, in order to save himself, assured the victim of marriage, which was a false assurance from the very beginning. On the basis of this false promise of marriage, the victim was continuously subjected to rape for one year. The FIR was lodged when the victim came to know that the applicant would not solemnize marriage with her. The applicant has spoiled the life of the victim and committed rape on the false promise of marriage. When the victim approached the applicant, she was physically abused and threatened in the presence of the applicant's family members. The Investigating Officer has found sufficient material against the applicant for submission of the charge sheet, and a prima facie offence is made out from the perusal of the FIR and statements of the victim recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C.. Therefore, the present application lacks merit and deserves to be dismissed.

9. I have heard the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

10. The point for consideration in the present application is whether the material on record collected by the Investigating Officer during investigation, including the statements of the victim makes out a prima facie case of rape against the applicant, or whether continuation of the proceedings would tantamount to an abuse of the process of law.

11. The perusal of the FIR reveals that the victim came in contact with the applicant in a marriage ceremony, and later on, a mobile phone was gifted to the victim and numbers were exchanged between the applicant and the victim. The applicant had promised, in the presence of the victim's family members, that he would marry her, but he later broke the said promise. The subsequent allegation is continued of committing rape on false promise of marriage by the applicant. There are no details and particulars in the FIR where the victim was continuously being raped on the false promise of marriage. The FIR is silent regarding the date, time, and place of such occurrences. The prosecution case reveals only bald allegations against the applicant.

12. The victim is a major girl and had studied up to Class-9th, and she was in a relationship with the applicant for the last one year. As per the report of Chief Medical Officer, Gorakhpur dated 08.04.2024, the victim was aged about 20 years. No injury was noticed on the body of the victim when she was medically examined on 02.04.2024.

13. The applicant filed a Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.6840 of 2024 and his arrest was stayed by Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 30.04.2024. After submission of charge-sheet, the applicant applied for anticipatory bail which was allowed by this Court on 19.05.2025 in Application U/S 482 B.N.S.S. No.2758 of 2025. Thereafter, the applicant challenged the legality and validity of the charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024 as well as cognizance order dated 08.02.2025.

14. First, this Court will examine whether the charge sheet can be quashed by this Court under Section 528 of the BNSS or Section 482 Cr.P.C., as the case may be.

15. The legal position on the issue of quashing of criminal proceedings is well-settled that the jurisdiction to quash a complaint, FIR or a charge-sheet should be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional cases. However, where the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint and material on record even if taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused, the charge-sheet may be quashed in exercise of inherent powers under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C./ 528 B.N.S.S. In well celebrated judgment reported in AIR 1992 SC 605 State of Haryana and others Vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal, Supreme Court has carved out certain guidelines, wherein FIR or proceedings may be quashed but cautioned that the power to quash FIR or proceedings should be exercised sparingly and that too in the rarest of rare cases. Guidelines are as follows:-

"(1) Where the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the First Information Report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can every reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

16. In the case of R. Kalyani v. Janak C. Mehta and Others reported in 2009 (1) SCC 516, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"(1) The High Court ordinarily would not exercise its inherent jurisdiction to quash a criminal proceeding and, in particular, a First Information Report unless the allegations contained therein, even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety, disclosed no cognizable offence.

(2) For the said purpose, the Court, save and except in very exceptional circumstances, would not look to any document relied upon by the defence.

(3) Such a power should be exercised very sparingly. If the allegations made in the FIR disclose commission of an offence, the court shall not go beyond the same and pass an order in favour of the accused to hold absence of any mens rea or actus reus.

(4) If the allegation discloses a civil dispute, the same by itself may not be a ground to hold that the criminal proceedings should not be allowed to continue."

17. In State of Karnataka v. M. Devendrappa [State of Karnataka v. M. Devendrappa, (2002) 3 SCC 89; 2002 SCC (Cri) 539, it was held that while exercising powers under Section 482 CrPC, the court does not function as a court of appeal or revision. Inherent jurisdiction under the section though wide has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself. It was further held as under : (SCC p. 94, para 6)

"6. ... It would be an abuse of process of the court to allow any action which would result in injustice and prevent promotion of justice. In exercise of the powers court would be justified to quash any proceeding if it finds that initiation/continuance of it amounts to abuse of the process of court or quashing of these proceedings would otherwise serve the ends of justice. When no offence is disclosed by the complaint, the court may examine the question of fact. When a complaint is sought to be quashed, it is permissible to look into the materials to assess what the complainant has alleged and whether any offence is made out even if the allegations are accepted in toto."

(Emphasis Supplied)

18. In Vineet Kumar v. State of U.P., (2017) 13 SCC 369, the Apex Court has held as under:

"41. Inherent power given to the High Court under Section 482 CrPC is with the purpose and object of advancement of justice. In case solemn process of Court is sought to be abused by a person with some oblique motive, the Court has to thwart the attempt at the very threshold. ... Judicial process is a solemn proceeding which cannot be allowed to be converted into an instrument of oppression or harassment. When there are materials to indicate that a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive, the High Court will not hesitate in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 CrPC to quash the proceeding. ... the present is a fit case where the High Court ought to have exercised its jurisdiction under Section 482 CrPC and quashed the criminal proceedings.

(Emphasis Supplied)

19. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the powers of the High Court invoking under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or 528 B.N.S.S. are very wide, but should be exercised with circumspection and in rarest of rare and appropriate cases. This power does not confer arbitrary jurisdiction to act accordingly to whims and caprices and is used to prevent the abuse of process of law and for securing the ends of justice.

20. To ascertain, whether the present case falls within the category of rarest of rare cases, it would be expedient to consider the facts of the present case as well as judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court on this issue.

21. In the case of Mahesh Damu Khare Versus State of Maharashtra and Another, (2024) 11 Supreme Court Cases 398, the Hon?ble Supreme Court has made observation that where physical relationship is maintained for a prolonged period knowingly by the woman, it cannot be said with certainty that the said physical relationship was purely because of the alleged promise of marriage. A woman may have reasons to have physical relationship other than the promise of marriage like, personal liking for the male partner. The relevant paragraphs of Mahesh Damu Khare (supra) are reproduced hereunder: -

"27. In our view, if a man is accused of having sexual relationship by making a false promise of marriage and if he is to be held criminally liable, any such physical relationship must be traceable directly to the false promise made and not qualified by other circumstances or consideration. A woman may have reasons to have physical relationship other than the promise of marriage made by the man, such as personal liking for the male partner without insisting upon formal marital ties.

28. Thus, in a situation where physical relationship is maintained for a prolonged period knowingly by the woman, it cannot be said with certainty that the said physical relationship was purely because of the alleged promise made by the appellant to marry her. Thus, unless it can be shown that the physical relationship was purely because of the promise of marriage, thereby having a direct nexus with the physical relationship without being influenced by any other consideration, it cannot be said that there was vitiation of consent under misconception of fact."

22. In case of Prashant Versus State of NCT of Delhi, (2025) 5 Supreme Court Cases 764, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that it is inconceivable that the complainant would continue to meet the accused or maintain a prolonged association or physical relationship with him in the absence of voluntary consent on her part. The relevant paragraphs of Prashant (supra) are being reproduced hereunder:-

"18. It is inconceivable that the complainant would continue to meet the appellant or maintain a prolonged association or physical relationship with him in the absence of voluntary consent on her part. Moreover, it would have been improbable for the appellant to ascertain the complainant's residential address, as mentioned in the FIR unless such information had been voluntarily provided by the complainant herself.

19. It is also revealed that, at one point, both parties had an intention to marry each other, though this plan ultimately did not materialize. The appellant and the complainant were in a consensual relationship. They are both educated adults. The complainant, after filing the FIR against the appellant, got married in the year 2020 to some other person. Similarly, the appellant was also married in the year 2019. Possibly the marriage of the appellant in the year 2019 has led the complainant to file the FIR against him as they were in a consensual relationship till then.

20. In our view, taking the allegations in the FIR and the charge- sheet as they stand, the crucial ingredients of the offence under Section 376(2)(n) IPC are absent. A review of the FIR and the complainant's statement under 164 CrPC discloses no indication that any promise of marriage was extended at the outset of their relationship in 2017. Therefore, even if the prosecution's case is accepted at its face value, it cannot be concluded that the complainant engaged in a sexual relationship with the appellant solely on account of any assurance of marriage from the appellant. The relationship between the parties was cordial and also consensual in nature. A mere breakup of a relationship between a consenting couple cannot result in initiation of criminal proceedings. What was a consensual relationship between the parties at the initial stages cannot be given a colour of criminality when the said relationship does not fructify into a marital relationship. Further, both parties are now married to someone else and have moved on in their respective lives. Thus, in our view, the continuation of the prosecution in the present case would amount to a gross abuse of the process of law. Therefore, no purpose would be served by continuing the prosecution."

23. Furthermore, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Samadhan Versus State of Maharashtra and Another, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2528 observed that on numerous occasions, taken note of the disquieting tendency wherein failed or broken relationships are given the colour of criminality. The offence of rape, being of the gravest kind, must be invoked only in cases where there exists genuine sexual violence, coercion, or absence of free consent. To convert every sour relationship into an offence of rape not only trivialises the seriousness of the offence but also inflicts upon the accused indelible stigma and grave injustice. Such instances transcend the realm of mere personal discord. The misuse of the criminal justice machinery in this regard is a matter of profound concern for the judiciary already facing a heavy load and calls for condemnation. The relevant paragraphs of Samadhan (supra) are being reproduced hereunder:-

"28. We find that the present case is not a case where the appellant lured respondent No.2 solely for physical pleasures and then vanished. The relationship continued for a period of three long years, which is a considerable period of time. They remained close and emotionally involved. In such cases, physical intimacy that occurred during the course of a functioning relationship cannot be retrospectively branded as instances of offence of rape merely because the relationship failed to culminate in marriage.

29. This Court has, on numerous occasions, taken note of the disquieting tendency wherein failed or broken relationships are given the colour of criminality. The offence of rape, being of the gravest kind, must be invoked only in cases where there exists genuine sexual violence, coercion, or absence of free consent. To convert every sour relationship into an offence of rape not only trivialises the seriousness of the offence but also inflicts upon the accused indelible stigma and grave injustice. Such instances transcend the realm of mere personal discord. The misuse of the criminal justice machinery in this regard is a matter of profound concern and calls for condemnation."

24. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajnish Singh @ Soni Vs. State of U.P. And Another, 2025 (4) SCC 197 held that where a woman willingly engages in a long-term relationship with a man, fully aware of its nature, and there is no cogent evidence to show that such relationship was induced by a misconception of fact or a false promise of marriage made in bad faith from the inception, the man cannot be held guilty of rape under Section 376 of the IPC. The relevant portions of the judgment are extracted as under:-

"33. There is no dispute that from the year 2006 onwards, the complainant and the appellant were residing in different towns. The complainant is an educated woman and there was no pressure whatsoever upon her which could have prevented her from filing a police complaint against the accused if she felt that the sexual relations were under duress or were being established under a false assurance of marriage. On many occasions, she even portrayed herself to be the wife of the appellant thereby, dispelling the allegation that the intention of the appellant was to cheat her right from the inception of the relationship.

34. We cannot remain oblivious to the fact that it was mostly the complainant who used to travel to meet the appellant at his place of posting. Therefore, we are convinced that the relationship between the complainant and appellant was consensual without the existence of any element of deceit or misconception.

35. Further, the application filed by the complainant at One Stop Center, Lalitpur on 23rd March, 2022, makes it abundantly clear that she was in a consensual relationship with the appellant since 2006. It is alleged in the complaint that when she had proposed that they should marry and live together, the appellant physically abused her and beat her up. If at all there was an iota of truth in this allegation then the FIR should have been registered immediately after this incident. However, it is only when it came to the knowledge of the complainant that the appellant was getting married to another woman, in an attempt to stop his marriage, she filed aforesaid complaint at the One Stop Center wherein she also admitted that she was equally guilty as the appellant and therefore, his marriage must be stopped.

36. Further, on the perusal of the statement made by the complainant under Section 161 CrPC, it is evident that she came to know about the relations between the appellant and Namrata in the year 2020-2021. Thus, once the complainant was aware that the appellant had broken the ties with her and was involved in a relationship with another woman, there was no reason for her to hold back from filing the FIR.

39. It is, therefore, clear that the accused is not liable for the offence of rape if the victim has wilfully agreed to maintain sexual relations. The Court has also recognised that a prosecutrix can agree to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused."

25. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Shiv Shanker Vs. State of Karnataka, (2019) 18 SCC 204 had quashed criminal proceedings on the ground that it is difficult to hold sexual intercourse in the course of a relationship, which continued for eight years, as "rape" especially when the complainant therein had alleged that they lived together as husband and wife. The relevant extract of Shiv Shanker (supra) is reproduced hereinbelow:-

"4. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, it is difficult to sustain the charges levelled against the appellant who may have possibly, made a false promise of marriage to the complainant. It is, however, difficult to hold sexual intercourse in the course of a relationship which has continued for eight years, as "rape" especially in the face of the complainant's own allegation that they lived together as man and wife."

(emphasis supplied)

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Naim Ahamed Vs. State (NCT Of Delhi), (2023) 15 Supreme Court Cases 385 has held that the prosecutrix had also given consent for a sexual relationship with the accused therein, upon an assurance to marry. The prosecutrix, who was herself a married women having three children had continued to have such a relationship with the accused, at least for about five years till she gave the complaint. In the conspectus of such facts and circumstances, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:-

"21. The bone of contention raised on behalf of the respondents is that the prosecutrix had given her consent for sexual relationship under the misconception of fact, as the accused had given a false promise to marry her and subsequently he did not marry, and therefore such consent was no consent in the eye of law and the case fell under the Clause Secondly of Section 375 IPC. In this regard, it is pertinent to note that there is a difference between giving a false promise and committing breach of promise by the accused. In case of false promise, the accused right from the beginning would not have any intention to marry the prosecutrix and would have cheated or deceited the prosecutrix by giving a false promise to marry her only with a view to satisfy his lust, whereas in case of breach of promise, one cannot deny a possibility that the accused might have given a promise with all seriousness to marry her, and subsequently might have encountered certain circumstances unforeseen by him or the circumstances beyond his control, which prevented him to fulfill his promise. So, it would be a folly to treat each breach of promise to marry as a false promise and to prosecute a person for the offence under Section 376. As stated earlier, each case would depend upon its proved facts before the court.

22. In the instant case, the prosecutrix who herself was a married woman having three children, could not be said to have acted under the alleged false promise given by the appellant or under the misconception of fact while giving the consent to have sexual relationship with the appellant. Undisputedly, she continued to have such relationship with him at least for about five years till she gave complaint in the year 2015. Even if the allegations made by her in her deposition before the court, are taken on their face value, then also to construe such allegations as "rape" by the appellant, would be stretching the case too far. The prosecutrix being a married woman and the mother of three children was matured and intelligent enough to understand the significance and the consequences of the moral or immoral quality of act she was consenting to. Even otherwise, if her entire conduct during the course of such relationship with the accused, is closely seen, it appears that she had betrayed her husband and three children by having relationship with the accused, for whom she had developed liking for him. She had gone to stay with him during the subsistence of her marriage with her husband, to live a better life with the accused. Till the time she was impregnated by the accused in the year 2011, and she gave birth to a male child through the loin of the accused, she did not have any complaint against the accused of he having given false promise to marry her or having cheated her. She also visited the native place of the accused in the year 2012 and came to know that he was a married man having children also, still she continued to live with the accused at another premises without any grievance. She even obtained divorce from her husband by mutual consent in 2014, leaving her three children with her husband. It was only in the year 2015 when some disputes must have taken place between them, that she filed the present complaint. The accused in his further statement recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. had stated that she had filed the complaint as he refused to fulfill her demand to pay her huge amount. Thus, having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, it could not be said by any stretch of imagination that the prosecutrix had given her consent for the sexual relationship with the appellant under the misconception of fact, so as to hold the appellant guilty of having committed rape within the meaning of Section 375 of IPC."

27. In the case of Pramod Kumar Navratna Versus State of Chhattisgarh and Others, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 154, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the Courts have to be extremely careful and cautious in identifying the genuine cases filed under Section 376(2)(n) of the IPC by identifying the essential ingredients to constitute the said offence. Such genuine cases must be clearly demarcated from the litigation that arises from the cases of consensual relationships between consenting adults going acrimonious on account of dispute and disagreement or a future change of mind. The relevant paragraphs of Pramod Kumar Navratna (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"18. It has been time and again settled by this Court, that the mere fact that the parties indulged in physical relations pursuant to a promise to marry will not amount to a rape in every case. An offence under Section 375 of the IPC could only be made out, if promise of marriage was made by the accused solely with a view to obtain consent for sexual relations without having any intent of fulfilling said promise from the very beginning and that such false promise of marriage had a direct bearing on the prosecutrix giving her consent for sexual relations. The issue for consideration is whether, given the facts and circumstances of the case and after examining the FIR, the High Court was correct in refusing to quash the ongoing criminal proceedings against the accused-appellant arising out of FIR No.213/2025 dated 06.02.2025 and the Chargesheet No.269/2025.

22. The Courts have to be extremely careful and cautious in identifying the genuine cases filed under Section 376(2) (n) of the IPC by identifying the essential ingredients to constitute the said offence i.e. there should be a promise of marriage made by the accused solely with a view to obtain consent for sexual relations and without having any intent of fulfilling said promise from the very beginning, and that such false promise of marriage had a direct bearing on the prosecutrix giving her consent for sexual relations. Such genuine cases that deserve prosecution of the accused must be clearly demarcated from the litigation that arises from the cases of consensual relationships between consenting adults going acrimonious on account of dispute and disagreement or a future change of mind. In view of the aforesaid settled position of law, the respondent No.1-State and the complainant-respondent No.3 has failed to place any material on record to show how the accused-appellant on the subsequent meetings managed to repeatedly coax and dupe the complainant-respondent No.3 into having physical relations with him on the false pretext of marriage considering the fact that within initial meetings, both parties were aware about the marital status of the victim and therefore it cannot be, by any stretch imagination said that the consent of the complainant-respondent No.3 has been vitiated or obtained on fraud and misrepresentation made by the accused-appellant."

28. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ravish Singh Rana Versus State of Uttarakhand & Anr., 2025 SCC OnLine SC 1055 has made observation that the two able minded adults, if maintained a long term physical relations, then the presumption would arise that they have voluntarily chose the consensual relationship and subsequent non- fulfillment of promise of marriage would not attract any offence. The relevant paragraphs of Ravish Singh Rana (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"10. An overview of the facts makes it clear that relationship between the appellant and the second respondent (the informant) had been there since 2021. This relationship was not merely of knowing each other but of living together as a couple under one roof in a rented accommodation. The FIR does not allege that physical relationship was established only because there was a promise of marriage. Besides, physical relationship continued for over two years without a complaint in between. In such circumstances, a presumption would arise of there being a valid consent for initiating and maintaining the physical relationship that spanned over two years.

14. In the instant case also, we find that the relationship between the appellant and the second respondent (the informant) was spread over two years. Further, they not only admit of having physical relations with each other but also of living together in a rented accommodation as a live-in couple. In our view, if two able-minded adults reside together as a live-in couple for more than a couple of years and cohabit with each other, a presumption would arise that they voluntarily chose that kind of a relationship fully aware of its consequences. Therefore, the allegation that such relationship was entered because there was a promise of marriage is in the circumstances unworthy of acceptance, particularly, when there is no allegation that such physical relationship would not have been established had there been no promise to marry.

15. Moreover, in a long drawn live-in relationship, occasions may arise where parties in that relationship express their desire or wish to formalize the same by a seal of marriage, but that expression of desire, or wish, by itself would not be indicative of relationship being a consequence of that expression of desire or wish. A decade or two earlier, live-in relationships might not have been common. But now more and more women are financially independent and have the capacity to take conscious decision of charting their life on their own terms. This financial freedom, inter alia, has led to proliferation of such live-in relationships. Therefore, when a matter of this nature comes to a court, it must not adopt a pedantic approach rather the Court may, based on the length of such relationship and conduct of the parties, presume implied consent of the parties to be in such a relationship regardless of their desire or a wish to convert it into a marital bond."

29. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Pramod Suryabhan Pawar Versus State of Maharashtra And Another, (2019) 9 Supreme Court Cases 608 held that where the promise to marry is false and the intention of the maker, at the time of making the promise, itself was not to abide by it, but to deceive the woman so as to convince her to engage in sexual relations, there is a ?misconception of fact? that vitiates the woman?s ?consent?. However, mere breach of a promise cannot be said to be a false promise. Therefore, to establish a false promise, it would have to be demonstrated that the maker of the promise had no intention of upholding his word at the time of making the promise. The relevant paragraph of Pramod Suryabhan Pawar (supra) is reproduced hereunder:-

"16. Where the promise to marry is false and the intention of the maker at the time of making the promise itself was not to abide by it but to deceive the woman to convince her to engage in sexual relations, there is a "misconception of fact" that vitiates the woman's "consent". On the other hand, a breach of a promise cannot be said to be a false promise. To establish a false promise, the maker of the promise should have had no intention of upholding his word at the time of giving it. The "consent" of a woman under Section 375 is vitiated on the ground of a "misconception of fact" where such misconception was the basis for her choosing to engage in the said act. In Deepak Gulati this Court observed:(SCC pp. 682-84, paras 21 & 24)

"21. - There is a distinction between the mere breach of a promise, and not fulfilling a false promise. Thus, the court must examine whether there was made, at an early stage a false promise of marriage by the accused; and whether the consent involved was given after wholly understanding the nature and consequences of sexual indulgence. There may be a case where the prosecutrix agrees to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused, and not solely on account of misrepresentation made to her by the accused, or where an accused on account of circumstances which he could not have foreseen, or which were beyond his control, was unable to marry her, despite having every intention to do so. Such cases must be treated differently."

...

"24. Hence, it is evident that there must be adequate evidence to show that at the relevant time i.e. at the initial stage itself, the accused had no intention whatsoever, of keeping his promise to marry the victim. There may, of course, be circumstances, when a person having the best of intentions is unable to marry the victim owing to various unavoidable circumstances. The "failure to keep a promise made with respect to a future uncertain date, due to reasons that are not very clear from the evidence available, does not always amount to misconception of fact. In order to come within the meaning of the term "misconception of fact", the fact must have an immediate relevance". Section 90 IPC cannot be called into aid in such a situation, to pardon the act of a girl in entirety, and fasten criminal liability on the other, unless the court is assured of the fact that from the very beginning, the accused had never really intended to marry her."

(Emphasis supplied)

30. In Uday Vs. State of Karnataka, (2003) 4 SCC 46, the complainant was a college going girl when the accused promised to marry her. The victim was aware that there would be significant opposition from both families to the proposed marriage. Even then she engaged in sexual intercourse with the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that in these circumstances, the accused's promise to marry the victim was not of immediate relevance to the complainant's decision to engage in sexual intercourse with the accused, which was motivated by other factors. The relevant paragraph of Uday (supra) is reproduced hereunder:-

"25. There is yet another difficulty which faces the prosecution in this case. In a case of this nature two conditions must be fulfilled for the application of Section 90 IPC. Firstly, it must be shown that the consent was given under a misconception of fact. Secondly, it must be proved that the person who obtained the consent knew, or had reason to believe that the consent was given in consequence of such misconception. We have serious doubts that the promise to marry induced the prosecutrix to consent to having sexual intercourse with the appellant. She knew, as we have observed earlier, that her marriage with the appellant was difficult on account of caste considerations. The proposal was bound to meet with stiff opposition from members of both families. There was therefore a distinct possibility, of which she was clearly conscious, that the marriage may not take place at all despite the promise of the appellant. The question still remains whether even if it were so, the appellant knew, or had reason to believe, that the prosecutrix had consented to having sexual intercourse with him only as a consequence of her belief, based on his promise, that they will get married in due course. There is hardly any evidence to prove this fact. On the contrary, the circumstances of the case tend to support the conclusion that the appellant had reason to believe that the consent given by the prosecutrix was the result of their deep love for each other. It is not disputed that they were deeply in love. They met often, and it does appear that the prosecutrix permitted him liberties which, if at all, are permitted only to a person with whom one is in deep love. It is also not without significance that the prosecutrix stealthily went out with the appellant to a lonely place at 12 o'clock in the night. It usually happens in such cases, when two young persons are madly in love, that they promise to each other several times that come what may, they will get married....."

(Emphasis supplied)

31. In Sonu @ Subhash Kumar Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, (2021) 18 SCC 517, the Hon'ble Supreme Court quashed the FIR and the proceedings upon noticing that relationship between the accused and the victim was of consensual nature and parties were in relationship for a period of one and a half years, and subsequently the accused had expressed disinclination to marry the prosecutrix which led to registration of FIR.

32. In Deepak Gulati v. State of Haryana, (2013) 7 SCC 675, the Apex Court has held as under:

"21. .....There is a distinction between the mere breach of a promise, and not fulfilling a false promise. Thus, the court must examine whether there was made, at an early stage a false promise of marriage by the accused; and whether the consent involved was given after wholly understanding the nature and consequences of sexual indulgence. There may be a case where the prosecutrix agrees to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused, and not solely on account of misrepresentation made to her by the accused, or where an accused on account of circumstances which he could not have foreseen, or which were beyond his control, was unable to marry her, despite having every intention to do so. Such cases must be treated differently....."

.....

24. Hence, it is evident that there must be adequate evidence to show that at the relevant time i.e. at the initial stage itself, the accused had no intention whatsoever, of keeping his promise to marry the victim. There may, of course, be circumstances, when a person having the best of intentions is unable to marry the victim owing to various unavoidable circumstances. The "failure to keep a promise made with respect to a future uncertain date, due to reasons that are not very clear from the evidence available, does not always amount to misconception of fact. In order to come within the meaning of the term "misconception of fact", the fact must have an immediate relevance. Section 90 IPC cannot be called into aid in such a situation, to pardon the act of a girl in entirety, and fasten criminal liability on the other, unless the court is assured of the fact that from the very beginning, the accused had never really intended to marry her."

33. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dileep Singh Vs. State of Bihar, (2005) 1 SCC 88 acquitted and set aside the conviction of the accused holding that while there was a breach of promise to marry, it was not a case of false promise of marriage. The relevant extract is reproduced hereinunder:-

"35. The remaining question is whether on the basis of the evidence on record, it is reasonably possible to hold that the accused with the fraudulent intention of inducing her to sexual intercourse, made a false promise to marry. We have no doubt that the accused did hold out the promise to marry her and that was the predominant reason for the victim girl to agree to the sexual intimacy with him. PW 12 was also too keen to marry him as she said so specifically. But we find no evidence which gives rise to an inference beyond reasonable doubt that the accused had no intention to marry her at all from the inception and that the promise he made was false to his knowledge. No circumstances emerging from the prosecution evidence establish this fact. On the other hand, the statement of PW 12 that "later on", the accused became ready to marry her but his father and others took him away from the village would indicate that the accused might have been prompted by a genuine intention to marry which did not materialise on account of the pressure exerted by his family elders. It seems to be a case of breach of promise to marry rather than a case of false promise to marry. On this aspect also, the observations of this Court in Uday case [(2003) 4 SCC 46 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 775 : (2003) 2 Scale 329] at para 24 come to the aid of the appellant."

(emphasis supplied)

34. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Manish Yadav Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 363 held that the victim and the accused were competent enough to make rational decisions and their initial physical relations were consensual in nature which had developed on the basis of mutual attraction and therefore, the same cannot fall within the ambit of a relationship flowing from a promise to marry. In the aforesaid case, the proceedings under Sections 376, 323, 504 and 506 IPC and Sections 3(1)(r), 3(1)(s), 3(2)(5a) and 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Act were quashed on the ground that consensual relationship has turned sour due to certain intervening events. The relevant paragraphs of Manish Yadav (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"14. In our opinion, it is clearly discernible that both the appellant and the complainant were major and thus, both were competent enough to make rational decisions. As per the statement of the complainant (supra), their initial physical relations were consensual in nature, and without there being any promise of marriage being offered by the appellant. While it can be said that initially the relationship between the complainant and appellant had developed on the basis of mutual attraction and affection, the same cannot by any stretch of imagination fall within the ambit of a relationship flowing from a promise to marry.

18. Applying the above principle to the case at hand, it is clearly discernible that in the present case, the complainant had agreed to indulge in intimate relations with the appellant on the accord of her own desires and not on the basis of any false promise of marriage made by the appellant. Therefore, while the present case may involve a breach of promise, it does not constitute a case of an inherently false promise to marry. Based on the circumstances, it cannot be concluded that the appellant obtained the complainant's consent to engage in a physical relationship under the pretext of a false promise of marriage.

20. Thus, the theory put forth by the prosecution in the chargesheet that the appellant induced the complainant to indulge in physical relations under a false promise of marriage is neither corroborated nor established by the best evidence available on record, which is in the form of the statement of the complainant recorded under Section 164 CrPC.

22. In view of the above discussion, we are of the opinion that the present case appears to be one where a consensual physical relationship between two adults has turned sour due to certain intervening events. Hence, allowing the prosecution of the appellant for the offences mentioned above would tantamount to sheer abuse of the process of law and nothing else."

35. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Kunal Chatterjee Versus The State of West Bengal & Ors., 2025 7 Supreme 489 quashed the proceedings against accused wherein the victim claimed herself to be a minor girl and the FIR was lodged by her when she attained the age of majority. It was held that promise to marriage and subsequent physical relationship between two with consent would not amount to rape. The relevant paragraphs of Kunal Chatterjee (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"7. We have heard learned counsel for the parties at length. Learned counsel appearing for the State has relied upon the definition of ?Rape? and would argue that the consent given by the minor is no consent and it would still be a rape. In our considered opinion, as regarding the rape being committed by the appellant when the prosecutrix was a minor, there is absolutely no evidence, and definitely no forensic evidence with the prosecution. It is only an allegation in the FIR after more than 03 years, in order to make out a case under the POCSO Act that such an act of rape was committed three years back when she was a minor. She also categorically states that she consented to the act as there was a promise of marriage by the appellant.

8. This Court has held in several decisions that promise to marriage and the subsequent physical relationship between the two with consent would not amount to rape and the reasons therein have been assigned (See: Prithivirajan v. State 2025 SCC OnLine SC 696, Pramod Suryabhan Pawar v. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 9 SCC 608, Maheshwar Tigga v. State of Jharkhand, (2020) 10 SCC 108).

9. Under the present facts and circumstances of the case and the nature of the evidence with the prosecution, particularly the long delay in lodging the FIR itself suggest that the present criminal proceedings lodged against the appellant are nothing but an abuse of the process of law and the High Court ought to have invoked its inherent jurisdiction in the case of the appellant as well as it did while quashing the proceedings for the remaining accused."

36. In another recent judgment, the Hon'ble Surpreme Court in case of Nitin B. Nikhare Versus The State of Maharashtra & Anr. (arising out of SLP (Crl.) No.1889/2024), decided on 21.01.2025 has held that mere fact that physical relations were established pursuant to a promise to marry will not amount to rape unless it is proved that promise of marriage was made by the accused solely with a view to obtain consent for sexual relations without having any intention of fulfilling the said promise from the very beginning. The relevant paragraphs of Nitin B. Nikhare (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"5. On the other hand, the prosecution?s case is that the prosecutrix entered into a sexual relationship with the appellant solely for the reason that he had promised to marry her and this relationship continued for some time and was broken when the promise of marriage was not fulfilled. In other words, the main allegation of the prosecutrix is that had it not been for the promise of marriage made by the appellant she would have never entered into a physical relationship with him and considering that this was done by cheating, the same amounts to rape.

6. This Court in a catena of judgments has held that the mere fact that physical relations were established pursuant to a promise to marry will not amount to a rape in every case. In order for the offence of rape to be made out, two conditions need to be satisfied i.e. that the promise of marriage was made by the accused solely with a view to obtain consent for sexual relations without having any intention of fulfilling said promise from the very beginning, and that the false promise of marriage had a direct bearing on the prosecutrix giving her consent for sexual relations. [See: Pramod Suryabhan Pawar v. The State of Maharashtra and Ors. (2019) 9 SCC 608; Mahesh Damu Khare v. The State of Maharashtra and Ors. 2024 SCC OnLine SC 347]

7. From a perusal of the record, it is clear that this was a case of a consensual relationship from the beginning. Even if the case of the prosecutrix is accepted, it does not appear that the initial promise to marry was in bad faith. It was only the subsequent circumstances that prevented fulfilment of alleged false promise to marry. Resultantly, the relationship turned sour which has given rise to the present FIR. Further, in view of the material on record, we do not see this as a case where provisions of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act can be attracted."

37. Further, in Dhruvaram Murlidhar Sonar Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 18 SCC 191, the Apex Court has held as under:

"23. Thus, there is a clear distinction between rape and consensual sex. The court, in such cases, must very carefully examine whether the complainant had actually wanted to marry the victim or had mala fide motives and had made a false promise to this effect only to satisfy his lust, as the latter falls within the ambit of cheating or deception. There is also a distinction between mere breach of a promise and not fulfilling a false promise. If the accused has not made the promise with the sole intention to seduce the prosecutrix to indulge in sexual acts, such an act would not amount to rape. There may be a case where the prosecutrix agrees to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused and not solely on account of the misconception created by accused, or where an accused, on account of circumstances which he could not have foreseen or which were beyond his control, was unable to marry her despite having every intention to do. Such cases must be treated differently. If the complainant had any mala fide intention and if he had clandestine motives, it is a clear case of rape. The acknowledged consensual physical relationship between the parties would not constitute an offence under Section 376 IPC."

(Emphasis Supplied)

38. In Maheshwar Tigga Vs. State of Jharkhand, (2020) 10 SCC 108, the Apex Court has held that the misconception of the fact about promise to marry has to be in proximity of time to occurrence and cannot be spread over for long period of time. The Apex Court has observed as under:

"13. The question for our consideration is whether the prosecutrix consented to the physical relationship under any misconception of fact with regard to the promise of marriage by the appellant or was her consent based on a fraudulent misrepresentation of marriage which the appellant never intended to keep since the very inception of the relationship. If we reach the conclusion that he intentionally made a fraudulent misrepresentation from the very inception and the prosecutrix gave her consent on a misconception of fact, the offence of rape under Section 375 IPC is clearly made out. It is not possible to hold in the nature of evidence on record that the appellant obtained her consent at the inception by putting her under any fear. Under Section 90 IPC a consent given under fear of injury is not a consent in the eye of the law. In the facts of the present case, we are not persuaded to accept the solitary statement of the prosecutrix that at the time of the first alleged offence her consent was obtained under fear of injury.

14. Under Section 90 IPC, a consent given under a misconception of fact is no consent in the eye of the law. But the misconception of fact has to be in proximity of time to the occurrence and cannot be spread over a period of four years. It hardly needs any elaboration that the consent by the appellant was a conscious and informed choice made by her after due deliberation, it being spread over a long period of time coupled with a conscious positive action not to protest. The prosecutrix in her letters to the appellant also mentions that there would often be quarrels at her home with her family members with regard to the relationship, and beatings given to her.

.....

18. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the facts and circumstances of the present case and are of the considered opinion that the appellant did not make any false promise or intentional misrepresentation of marriage leading to establishment of physical relationship between the parties. The prosecutrix was herself aware of the obstacles in their relationship because of different religious beliefs. An engagement ceremony was also held in the solemn belief that the societal obstacles would be overcome, but unfortunately differences also arose whether the marriage was to solemnised in the church or in a temple and ultimately failed. It is not possible to hold on the evidence available that the appellant right from the inception did not intend to marry the prosecutrix ever and had fraudulently misrepresented only in order to establish physical relation with her. The prosecutrix in her letters acknowledged that the appellant's family was always very nice to her."

(Emphasis Supplied)

39. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in a recent judgment in case of Amal Bhagwan Nehul Vs. The State of Maharashtra, SLP (Crl.) No.10044/2024, decided on 26.05.2025, quashed the criminal proceeding arising out of F.I.R., registered under Sections 376, 376(2)(n), 377, 504 & 506 of I.P.C. wherein the parties continued meeting outside and engaged in sexual intercourse for a period of 13 months. The victim, mother of a 4 year son, was a married lady in that case, had not obtained divorce from her husband when she entered into a sexual relationship with the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as hereunder:-

"8. Having heard both sides in this case and after carefully considering the material on record, the following attributes come to the fore:

(a) Even if the allegations in the FIR are taken as a true and correct depiction of circumstances, it does not appear from the record that the consent of the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 was obtained against her will and merely on an assurance to marry. The Appellant and the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 were acquainted since 08.06.2022, and she herself admits that they interacted frequently and fell in love. The Complainant/Respondent no. 2 engaged in a physical relationship alleging that the Appellant had done so without her consent, however she not only sustained her relationship for over 12 months, but continued to visit him in lodges on two separate occasions. The narrative of the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 does not corroborate with her conduct.

(b) The consent of the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 as defined under section 90 IPC also cannot be said to have been obtained under a misconception of fact. There is no material to substantiate "inducement or misrepresentation" on the part of the Appellant to secure consent for sexual relations without having any intention of fulfilling said promise. Investigation has also revealed that the Khulanama, was executed on 29.12.2022 which the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 had obtained from her ex-husband. During this time, the parties were already in a relationship and the alleged incident had already taken place. It is inconceivable that the Complainant had engaged in a physical relationship with the Appellant, on the assurance of marriage, while she was already married to someone else. Even otherwise, such promise to begin with was illegal and unenforceable qua the Appellant. (d) There is also no reasonable possibility that the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 or any woman being married before and having a child of four years, would continue to be deceived by the Appellant or maintain a prolonged association or physical relationship with an individual who has sexually assaulted and exploited her.

(c) There is no evidence of coercion or threat of injury to the Complainant/Respondent no. 2, to attract an offence under section 506 IPC. It is improbable that there was any threat caused to the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 by the Appellant when all along the relationship was cordial, and it was only when the Appellant graduated and left for his hometown to Ahmednagar, the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 became agitated. We also cannot ignore the conduct of the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 in visiting the native village of the Appellant without any intimation, which is also unacceptable and reflects the agitated and unnerved state of mind of the Complainant/Respondent no. 2. For the same reason, the criminal prosecution against the Appellant herein is probably with an underlying motive and disgruntled state of mind.

(d) There is also no reasonable possibility that the Complainant/Respondent no. 2 or any woman being married before and having a child of four years, would continue to be deceived by the Appellant or maintain a prolonged association or physical relationship with an individual who has sexually assaulted and exploited her.

9. In our considered view, this is also not a case where there was a false promise to marry to begin with. A consensual relationship turning sour or partners becoming distant cannot be a ground for invoking criminal machinery of the State. Such conduct not only burdens the Courts, but blots the identity of an individual accused of such a heinous offence. This Court has time and again warned against the misuse of the provisions, and has termed it a folly3 to treat each breach of promise to marry as a false promise and prosecute a person for an offence under section 376 IPC.

40. Therefore, from the aforesaid judgments, it is crystal clear that if the parties were in a long-standing and continuous consensual physical relationship, without any element of cheating from the inception, such a relationship would not amount to rape.

41. This Court has seen in a large number of cases, that there is a growing trend that consensual relationships going on for a prolonged period, upon turning sour, have been sought to be criminalised by invoking criminal jurisprudence.

42. Thus, from the perusal of aforesaid judgments, it is apparent that each and every promise of marriage would not be considered as a fact of misconception for the purpose of consensual sexual intercourse unless it is established that such promise of marriage was a false promise of marriage on the part of the accused since the beginning of such a relationship. Unless it is alleged that, from the very beginning of such a relationship, there was some element of cheating on the part of the accused while making such promise, it would not be treated as a false promise of marriage. Once, a promise was made in good faith and, subsequently after change of circumstances when the relationship between the parties went wrong for various other reasons, such breach of promise would not be treated as misconception for the purpose of consent of establishing physical relationship. When a woman of competent age, having sufficient understanding of the physical activities in which she is involved on the basis of a promise of marriage, understands the risks associated with such a physical relationship as there is a significant difference between marriage and a mere promise of marriage.

43. In the present case, the victim has not alleged that the applicant had no intention to marry right from the beginning. Therefore, the basic ingredients constituting an offence of rape are not made out. The promise of marriage as alleged in the instant case was of no consequence to prove the charges against the applicant. The prosecutrix cannot blame the applicant for breach of promise as the promise itself was non-est at the time of beginning of the relationship between the applicant and the prosecutrix.

44. From the record, it is clear that the victim in the present case admitted that she was a major girl and had studied up to Class-9th. She came in contact with the applicant for the last one year, and a promise of marriage was made by the applicant and this fact was in the knowledge of the family of both sides. However, the marriage could not materialize, and after one year, the FIR was lodged by the prosecutrix against the applicant.

45. Therefore, this Court is of the considered opinion that in the instant case, no offence of rape is made out against the applicant herein, and the instant FIR was lodged by the prosecutrix as she was annoyed by the behaviour of the applicant, and was unwilling to leave the applicant. Therefore, the subsequent incident of physical assault on 26.03.2024 has been concocted by the prosecutrix only for the purpose of lodging the FIR. Nothing was stated by the victim in respect of the incident dated 26.03.2024 when her statement was recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. However, she later developed a story that relationship was forcibly established by the applicant at the house of his friend Krishna, which is not substantiated during the investigation since no statement of Krishna was recorded and he is not one of the witnesses in the charge-sheet. The victim expressed her desire, in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., that she wanted to get married to the applicant. It appears from her statement that the F.I.R. was lodged by the victim to exert pressure upon the applicant to get married to the victim.

46. The facts of the case discussed here-in-above including the legal propositions, this Court finds that the present case stands on the footing of rarest of rare case to invoke the inherent jurisdiction for quashing the criminal proceedings, as continuing with the criminal proceedings would be in futility and gross misuse of criminal jurisdiction. The present case squarely falls under categories enumerated in guidelines (1), (5) & (7) as identified by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bhajan Lal case (supra). The other allegations of physical assault, wrongful confinement and threat have not been supported by any material particulars. Hence, the application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has merit and liable to be allowed.

47. Accordingly, the instant application is allowed and the entire criminal proceedings of Case No.159 of 2025, arising out of Case Crime No.238 of 2024, under Sections 376, 323, 342 and 506 of I.P.C., Police Station Pipraich, District-Gorakhpur, pending in the court of J.M./ Civil Judge Junior Division-14, Gorakhpur as well as charge-sheet dated 09.06.2024 including cognizance order dated 08.02.2025, are hereby quashed against the applicant.

(2026) 5 ILRA 738
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. AJAY KUMAR-II, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 178 of 1987

Furkan & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the conviction of appellants under Sections 148 and 307/149 IPC was sustainable in light of alleged delay in FIR, contradictions in witness statements, and absence of corroborative recovery evidence.

HEADNOTES

Criminal Law – Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Section 313 - Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Sections 148, 149, 307: - Criminal Appeal - against conviction & Sentence – FIR lodged after delay, initially at wrong police station, later corrected – complaint of bomb attack on motorcycle riders, injured sustained grievous injuries corroborated by medical evidence – investigation - statements recorded - charge-sheet filed – charges framed under Sections 148 and 307/149 IPC - trial initiated – conviction – sentenced - appellants pleaded false implication due to enmity, delay, contradictions, chance witnesses – Evaluation of Evidence - Court finds that, a long delay in lodging FIR can be condoned if the informant/witnesses of the prosecution has/have no motive for implicating the accused – the prosecution has not been able to prove reasonable justification of delay in delayed registration of the FIR – Long-standing enmity and pending murder/revenue cases between parties – FIR lodged after 12 hours, delay unexplained – no blood recovery from spot or motorcycle, no damage report – informant (PW-1) had no injury, presence doubtful – PW-2's presence not proved, statement recorded late – injured PW-4's version improbable, no first-aid proof, injury report proved only by secondary evidence – testimony of PW-4 not of sterling quality – prosecution story full of improbabilities and suspicious circumstances – held, prosecution failed to prove charges beyond the reasonable doubt – hence, false implication due to enmity cannot be ruled out – appeal allowed – conviction and sentence is set aside – surviving appellants acquitted of all charges – they are on bail, need not surrender, subject to compliance with Section 437-A CrPC – trial court record to be sent back for compliance.

(Para – 40, 41, 45, 47, 48, 49, 50)

Appeal Allowed. (E-11)

CASE LAW CITED

Mahavir & others; Ramvir; Sarvesh vs. State of U.P., 2017 LawSuit (All) 643
State of U.P. vs. Nahar Singh, (1998) 3 SCC 561
Laxmibai (Dead) vs. Bhacwantbuva (Dead), (2013) 4 SCC 97
Gian Chand & others vs. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 420

LIST OF ACTS

Indian Penal Code (IPC) – Code of Criminal Procedure (Cr.P.C.)

LIST OF KEYWORDS

Bomb blast, FIR delay, injured witness, ocular vs. medical evidence, enmity, chance witness, contradictions, charge-sheet, conviction, appeal.

CASE ARISING FROM

Sessions Trial No. 405 of 1983, State vs. Furkan & others - Judgment dated 13.01.1987 by IVth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Allahabad.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Sri Saghir Ahmad (Sr. Counsel), Sri Javed Akhtar, Mohd. Saghir Ali.

Counsel for Respondent(s): A.G.A. Sri Santosh Kumar Upadhyay, Sri Malik Juned Ahmad.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Ajay Kumar-II, J.)

1. Heard Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Javed Akhtar and Mohd. Saghir Ali, learned counsel for the appellants, learned AGA for the State and Sri Santosh Kumar Upadhyay alongwith Sri Malik Juned Ahmad, learned counsel for the informant.

2. Challenge in this Criminal Appeal is to the judgment and order dated 13.01.1987 passed by IVth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Allahabad in Sessions Trial No. 405 of 1983 (State Vs. Furkan and others) convicting all appellants to undergo rigorous imprisonment for two years under Section 148 IPC and further convicting the appellant no. 2 to 4 to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of five years under Section 307 IPC readwith Section 149 IPC. The appellant Furkan was further convicted to undergo rigorous imprisonment for five years under Section 307 I.P.C. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

3. This appeal already stands abated against the appellant no. 4 Ajeem Uddin vide this Court's order dated 11.2.2020. CJM, Allahabad has informed vide its report dated 1.10.2021 that appellant no. 2 Imam Uddin had died. Therefore, the present appeal against appellant no. 2 Imam Uddin also stands abated vide this Court?s order dated 5.2.2021. Now this appeal survives only for appellant nos. 1 and 3 namely Furkan and Mannu.

4. Brief facts of the case according to the first information report lodged by Sri Malik Mohd. Yusuf (PW-1) at P.S. Soraon, District Allahabad are that the first informant Sri Malik Mohd. Yusuf (PW-1) alongwith his son Sri Malik Jamil Ahmad (P.W.4) were coming to Allahabad by a motorcycle No. UTW 6936 from their village Khojapur, P.S. Mau Aima, District Allahabad. When they reached near Birapur Mandir at about 8:30 A.M., the accused persons Furkan, Imamuddin, Mannu and Ajeem alongwith three others were standing on the road. Accused Furkan was having bomb in his hand and other accused persons were having bombs and pistols in their hands. There was old enmity with these accused persons. When the motorcycle reached within the reach of the accused persons, accused Furkan on the exhortation of accused Imamuddin threw a bomb on them, causing injury below his Pakhora i.e. below right side shoulder blade (scapula region) of Sri Malik Jamil Ahmad (P.W.4) and there was a loud explosion. The shirt and baniyan (vest) of Malik Jamil Ahmad were burnt at the place of the injury. The occurrence was seen by the eye witnesses Bhagwan Das (P.W.2) and Heera Lal belonging to their village. The first aid was given to the injured at Hartsmen Hospital and thereafter the injured Malik Jamil Ahmad (P.W.4) was admitted in the Emergency ward of the Medical College, Allahabad where he was given blood and was operated upon.

5. The son of informant Malik Vakil Ahmad (PW-3) brought this written report (Ext. Ka-1) to police station Soraon where the first information report (Ext. Ka-3) was lodged at 8:20 pm on same day.

6. As per prosecution story, the informant has sent written report through his son Malik Vakil Ahmad (PW-3) to Police Station Tharwai under the impression that the place of occurrence falls within the circle of Tharwai Police Station. This witness Malik Vakil Ahmad was told by the Police of P.S. Tharwai that the place of occurrence lies within the jurisdiction of P.S. Soraon. Sri Malik Vakil Ahmad (P.W.-3) came back to the Medical College and got the police station corrected in the First Information Report (Ext. Ka-1) and then went to P.S. Soraon, where the First Information Report (Ext. Ka-1) was lodged at 8:20 P.M. on the same day.

7. Accordingly Chick Report (Ext. Ka-3) was prepared by Constable Moharrir Sri Rajendra Prasad Dwivedi (P.W.6) and the case was registered at G.D. Report No.38 at 20:20 P.M. on 20.6.1983 (Ext. Ka-4) against the aforesaid four accused persons alongwith three other unknown persons.

8. The case was initially investigated by sub Inspector Sri Balram Yadav, who has recorded the statement of the witnesses. The memo (Ext. Ka-6) of the blood-stained clothes was prepared by this witness at Medical College, Allahabad on 21.6.1983. He has prepared the site-plan (Ext.Ka-7) of the place of occurrence on 21.6.1983. Thereafter, he was transferred from the police station Soraon and the investigation was completed by S.I. Sri Dina Nath Singh (P.W.-5) who took over the investigation on 20.7.1983 and recorded the statements of the witnesses Bhagwan Das, Heera Lal and Mohammad Yunus and blood stained cloths of injured were received by him from the hospital. He has submitted charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-2) against the accused persons on 13.8.1983. Thereafter the case was committed to the Court of Sessions. After hearing both the parties, charges were framed against charge-sheeted accused on 6.12.1983, under Sections 307/149, 148 IPC. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

9. In order to prove it's case, prosecution adduced PW-1 Malik Mohd Yusuf, (eye witness & informant), PW-2 Sri Bhagwan Das (eye witness), PW-3 Sri Malik Vakil Ahmad, PW-4 Sri Malik Jamil Ahmad (injured witness), PW-5 IO Sri Dinanath Singh, PW-6 Sri Rajesh Prasad Dwivedi, (Moharrir, who had prepared Chik report and G.D.), PW-7 Dr. Deepak Gupta, radiologist, PW-8 Dr. J.K. Mishra (who operated the injured Jamil Ahmad), PW-9 Sri Balram Yadav, who initially investigated the case and PW-10 Sri Krishna Nand Chaube (Pharmacist who has proved the injury report. The witnesses adduced by the prosecution have given their respective oral evidence, which were marked as exhibits. The same are tabulated herein below:-

Sl. No.	Name	Nature of Evidence	Documents Proved
PW-1	Sri Malik Mohd. Yusuf	First informant and eye witness	Written report/Tehrir as Ext. Ka-1, Shirt and Banyian as material Ext. 1 and 2
PW-2	Sri Bhagwan Das	Eye witness	-
PW-3	Sri Malik Ahmad, Vakil	Brother of injured who brought written report/Tehrir to concerned police station.	-
PW-4	Sri Malik Jamil Ahmad	Injured witness	Burnt Shirt and Banyian as material Ext. 3 and 4
PW-5	SI Dina Nath Singh	Who completed the investigation and submitted charge-sheet	Charge-sheet as Ext. Ka-2
PW-6	Constable Rajendra Prasad Dwivedi	Who prepared the Chik report and GD	Chik FIR as Ext. Ka-3; G.D. entry as Ext. Ka-4

PW-7	Dr. Deepak Gupta	Radiologist	X-ray report as Ext. Ka-5
PW-8	Dr. J.K. Mishra	Who operated the injured Jamil Ahmad	-
PW-9	SI Balram Yadav	Who investigated case at the initial stage	Recovery memo as Ext. Ka-6; Site Plan as Ext. Ka-7
PW-10	Sri Krishna Nand Chaubey	Pharmacist, who proved the injury report prepared by Dr. Yogesh Bihari	Injury report as Ext. Ka-8

10. After completion of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused persons were recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. They denied the prosecution version and commission of alleged offence. The accused also claimed their innocence. They stated that prosecution witnesses have given false evidence against them.

11. By the impugned judgment dated 13.01.1987, Court below has convicted the accused of the charges framed against them under Sections 307/149 and 148 IPC.

12. Thus, feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment passed by Court below, the present criminal appeal has been preferred by the convicts -appellants

13. Learned counsel for appellants submits that the impugned judgment is illegal, erroneous and, therefore, liable to be set-aside by this Court. He further submits that Court below without appreciating the evidence adduced by the appellants, has illegally and erroneously, convicted them of the charges. As such, the impugned judgment is illegal and perverse and therefore liable to be set-aside by this Court.

14. It was argued that the FIR has been registered with a delay of about 12 hours and same has not been satisfactorily explained by the prosecution. No blood stained soil or material indicative of bomb blast on the spot, were recovered from the spot by the investigating officer. Even prosecution has not adduced any evidence that the motorcycle, which was driven by the injured at the time of incident, has sustained any damage or not. Even recovery of blood stained cloth of the injured is suspicious. It is unbelievable that the informant Malik Mohd. Yusuf who was pillion rider at the time of incident has not sustained any injury and even his clothes were not found to stained with blood of the injured, inspite of the fact that at the time of incident, injured was driving the motorcycle and PW-1 was just sitting at his back as pillion rider. Therefore, presence of PW-1 on the spot is highly suspicious and he is not reliable witness. PW-2 Bhagwan Das is a chance witness and his presence on the spot is also doubtful. The injured has sustained injuries at different time, place and manner, however, on account of previous enmity, FIR has been lodged after due deliberation and with legal advise to falsely implicate the appellants. Lastly, it was urged by learned counsel for the appellants that the present appeal be allowed and the impugned judgment and order be set aside.

15. Learned A.G.A. for State has vehemently opposed the present appeal. He submits that the impugned judgment passed by Court below does not suffer from any illegality of law or fact much less an illegal error so as to warrant interference by this Court. Court below has examined the prosecution case in the light of the evidence on record threadbare without leaving any aspect of the matter untouched. Court below has thus, rightly convicted the accused persons. Lastly, it has been argued that no ground to interfere in the impugned judgment is made out. Learned A.G.A. thus urged for dismissal of the present appeal.

16. Learned counsel for the informant has vehemently opposed the present appeal as well as arguments of learned counsel for the appellants. He argued that delay has properly been explained by the prosecution as written report was earlier sent to police station Tharwai and police officials informed the son of informant that the place of occurrence comes under the jurisdiction of P.S. Soraon, therefore, he returned back to the hospital and after getting amendment in the written report from the informant, he again went to P.S. Soraon and lodged the FIR. Thus there is no delay in lodging of the FIR.

17. It was further argued that Sri Malik Jamil Ahmad PW-4 is an injured witness who has deposed regarding the incident and involvement of the accused in the incident. The deposition of PW-4 found corroboration from the deposition of PW-1 and PW-2. The injury found on the body of the injured is fully corroborated by the medical evidence. The prosecution has successfully proved the charges against the appellants and no ground to interfere with the impugned judgment is made out. Learned counsel for the informant has placed reliance on the judgment of this Court in Mahavir & others; Ramvir; Sarvesh vs. State of U.P,. 2017 LawSuit (All) 643, as well as Hon'ble Apex Court in State of U.P. Vs. Nahar Singh, 1998 (3) SCC 561, Laxmibai (dead) vs. Bhacwantbuva (dead), 2013 (4) SCC 97, Gian Chand and others vs. State of Haryana, 2013 (14) SCC 420. Lastly, learned counsel for the informant has urged for dismissal of the present appeal.

18. Informant Malik Mohd. Yusuf PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that on the date of incident at about 8:30 AM, he was coming to Allahabad on a motorcycle driven by his son Jameel Ahmad and he was a pillion rider. When they arrived at the place of incident they also met Harilal and Bhagwan Das coming from Allahabad on bicycle. Thereafter, they saw Furkan, Imamuddin, Munnu standing on the right side of the road with three young boys. Furkan was having a bomb, Imamuddin was having a pistol, Ajeem and Mannu were having bombs. Three young boys were having sticks in their hand. They all were covering the road. They were having an old enmity with Imamuddin. On seeing these persons, they apprehended a danger. In the meanwhile their motorcycle had gone near to these persons, Imamuddin exhorted to kill them on which Furkan hurled bomb which struck on the right side back of his son Malik Mohd. Yusuf. Both of them tilted in front side. There was a big noise. He was also wearing shirt and vest. The vest and shirt of his son were burnt, where bomb struck. On the spot Bhagwan Das and Hari Lal also arrived there. They ran away from the spot and saved themselves. On the way, they got first aid in Hartsmen hospital. Thereafter he came to Medical College and admitted his son in emergency and got started treatment of his son. The accused ran away towards eastern side after the incident. Thereafter his son Vakil Ahmad came at about 2:30 PM and he sent a written report through him to concerned police station, the written report was written by him which has been proved by this witness as Ext. Ka-1. Report was initially sent to P.S. Tharwai where police informed that this incident pertains to Police Station Soraon. Thereafter, his son came back to this witness and he amended Tharwai as Soraon and made his signature, thereafter his son went to police station Soraon. He has proved vest and shirt of his son as material Ext.1 and 2. He has shown the spot to the Investigating Officer. Earlier a criminal case under section 147/323 IPC was lodged against the accused wherein the accused persons had injured him. In the aforesaid case Ajeem and Mannu were accused and they were convicted. This witness has submitted a certified copy of the aforesaid judgment and also stated that there was a litigation in 1963 under Section 307 IPC with Mohd. Yaseen etc., in which this witness as well as Mohd. Yunus sustained injuries. In the aforesaid case Mannu and Ajeem were also accused and they were convicted and sentenced for 4-4 years. Even in the appeal, aforesaid sentence was affirmed.

19. PW-1 in his cross-examination has stated that on coming to Allahabad from the place of incident, Phaphamau police outpost falls on the way. He used to consider this outpost as the police outpost of Police Station Tharwai at the time of incident. As medical aid was urgently required, therefore, he took his son to the Medical College. Vakil Ahmad had come to this witness at 2:30 PM and at 3?O? Clock he had sent Vakil Ahmad to file written report in the concerned Police Station. Vakil Ahmad did not know how to drive the motorcycle, therefore, he was not sent by motorcycle. They were having Yezdi motorcycle. Vakil Ahmad returned at about 7:00 PM from police station Tharwai and stayed there about 2-4 minutes and then went to Police Station Soraon. When they arrived in the Medical College, the injured was medico legally examined. Doctor removed the bandage and thereafter conducted the examination. Thereafter, injured was taken to emergency department, where his X-ray was done and thereafter injured was operated upon. The injured came after operation at about 3 O' clock. This witness fairly conceded in his cross examination that he opposed the bail application of accused Furkan in High Court and he also filed his affidavit in opposition of his bail application. His affidavit was correct, however, he has not stated in his affidavit that after the operation of his son he went to Police Station Tharwai. It was also not stated on oath (i.e. in affidavit) that after finding out in Police Station Tharwai that incident is of Police Station Soraon, he went to Police Station Soraon that too at 7 O' clock and filed his report. He cannot tell how the lawyer wrote this matter in his affidavit. He also fairly conceded in his cross examination that from the place of incident they straight forward came to Hartsmen hospital which was situated at distance of 6-7 KM. From the spot. Motorcycle was driven by Jamil Ahmad himself. From the aforesaid hospital they left within 5 minutes and came to Medical College on motorcycle, which was then driven by this witness. Medical college is situated at 10-12 KM from Hartsmen Hospital. Road of incident is going from east to west. He saw the accused from 25-30 steps and they did not try to turn back. The accused were standing on the north side of road and three men were standing on middle of the road. He further stated that he did not give this statement to the investigating officer that accused Furkan was holding a country made pistol/ Tamancha in his right hand. He also did not give this statement that everyone with common intention started throwing bombs and he stated that he do not know that how this has been written by the investigating officer. The case under Section 307 IPC which was proceeded in the year 1963 against Mohd. Yaseen, however Mannu and Ajeem were not accused in this case. When bomb was thrown, accused were at a distance of about 5-6 steps towards north. He was an accused under Section 307 IPC for shooting one Vindeshwari, in which Harilal's uncle was his defense witness. His son Jamil Ahmad was an accused in a fake case of dacoity. A case of murder of Yaseen is pending against Vakil, Mustaq, Istiyak and Abrar. The deceased Yaseen was the father of accused Mannu of this case and accused Vakil of this murder case is his son whereas accused Abrar, Mustaq etc. are his nephews. Before the incident, several revenue cases were fought between the parties i.e. between family of this witness and family of accused Imamuddin and other accused. Accused Imamuddin was Vice Chairman/ Up-Sabhapati of his village, who filed a case regarding village community land against him and said case was decided against this witness.

20. Bhagwan Das P.W.2 in his examination-in-chief has stated that on the date of incident at about 8:00 - 8:30 A.M., he alongwith Hari Lal was coming to Allahabad by two separate bicycles. When they reached near the temple of village Beerapur, Jamil and Yusuf came from behind on motorcycle. They met them and went away. Mannu, Imamuddin, Azeem, Furkan and three other persons were also standing there whom he do not know. Mannu and Furkan had guns in their hand. Imamuddin exhorted other accused to kill them and don't let them escape. On this, Furkan hurled bomb which hit Jamil and Jamil got injured. Injury was inflicted on his pakhura (below right side shoulder blade i.e. scapula region). Thereafter, Jamil and Yusuf went away on motorcycle. Blood fell from the wound on the spot. Accused persons went towards northern side and they went towards Allahabad. Old rivalry was continuing between accused persons and Jamil & others.

21. In his cross-examination, this witness (P.W.2) has stated that before this incident, he mortgaged his field to Imamuddin and after a few days of aforesaid mortgage, he sold his field to Yusuf by executing a sale deed, who took possession of aforesaid field on the strength of sale deed. Thereafter this witness had returned the money of Imamuddin. Even after mortgage, he used to plough / sow this field on half sharing basis on behalf of accused Imamuddin. There were several dacoity cases against Hari Lal in District Pratapgarh. He did not give this statement to the Investigating Officer that Furkan, who was holding a country made pistol in his hand and a bomb in his right hand, then everyone with common object hurled bombs on Jamil and Yusuf, which they were holding in their respective hands. He do not know that how this statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer. All the accused persons were standing on the left side of the road. The bomb was thrown from a distance of 4-5 paces. Due to fear of death, the motorcycle drivers leaned down. Other passers-by were also passing through the road. It is very important to note that statement of this witness was recorded by the second I.O. only on 23.7.1983 i.e. after more than a month of the incident. Late recording of this statement by the I.O. also raises suspicion on the truthfulness of deposition of this witness. The prosecution has miserably failed to explain the delay in recording the statement of this witness, inspite of this witness being available and also being specifically mentioned to be an eye witness in the written report/ Tehrir.

22. Malik Vakil Ahmad P.W.3 in his examination-in-chief has stated that on the date of incident, his brother Mohd. Zubair informed him about the incident in Court. Upon receiving this information, he firstly went to Beli Hospital at 2:00 P.M. However, his brother Jamil and father Yusuf were not there at Beli Hospital. Thereafter he went to Medical College, where his brother Jamil was admitted in the Emergency ward, however his father was not there. He met his father at 3:00 P.M., who came there and wrote the report which is Ext.Ka.-1. The report was addressed to Police Station Tharwai. When this witness took the report to Tharwai Police Station, he was informed by police personnel that the place of incident comes under the jurisdiction of Police Station Soraon, therefore, he came back to his father at the Medical College, where his father made a cutting on 'Tharwai Police Station' and in its place wrote 'Soraon' and thereafter he proceeded with this written report to Soraon Police Station and gave this written report at 8:00 P.M. whereupon the first information report was lodged. This witness has further stated that his father did not receive any injury in the incident.

23. On his cross-examination, this witness (P.W.-3) has clearly conceded that he is doing the work of typing in the district Court for the last four years and used to sit in Mukhtarkhana. Advocates Kalimuddin and Ramnihor also used to sit with him. He has further stated that he informed the Investigating Officer that he firstly went to Police Station Tharwai but do not know why same was not written in his statement. The fact of going to Tharwai and coming back and getting the report corrected was also narrated to the Investigating Officer, however, he do not know why the same was not written in the statement. He went to Tharwai and Soraon alone and his father did not accompany him.

24. The injured Malik Jamil Ahmed PW-4, who has stated his profession as a Legal Practitioner, has stated in examination-in-chief that on the date of incident at about 8:30 am, he was coming from his village Khojapur to Allahabad by motorcycle with his father. He was driving motor-cycle and his father was sitting behind. When they reached near Birapur Temple at around 8 O'clock, then they met Harilal and Bhagwan Das of the village, who were coming on bicycles while coming towards the city. Greetings were exchanged between them. As soon as they moved ahead, they saw Furkan, Imamuddin, Mannu, Ajeem near Birapur Harijan Mildtone. Furkan had a bomb in his hand, Imamuddin had a pistol, and Mannu and Ajeem were carrying bombs, while standing on the north side of the road. Three young boys who were armed with sticks, were standing surrounding the road. On seeing these persons, they sensed danger. They were having old enmity with accused. With intention to save his life, he leaned forward by then, Imamuddin exhorted to kill them. On this, Furkan with intention to kill, threw bomb held by him in his hand upon them. The aforesaid bomb hit below his right shoulder blade. There was a loud explosion. We perceived danger to life and by somehow driving the motorcycle went to Hartsmen Hospital (the witness showed his injury on his shoulder blade by removing his clothes). In the aforesaid Hospital after bandaging his wound, the Doctor said that there is a danger to his life, therefore, advised him for immediate admission to Swaroop Rani Hospital. Thereafter, his father drove the motorcycle and made this witness sit behind his father on the motorcycle. He was brought to the Swaroop Rani Hospital and was got admitted, where he was medico legally examined. His X-ray was taken and he was also operated upon. He remained in the Hospital for about one and half month at the time of incident, he was wearing a cream colored shirt and vest, which were burnt and blown away below the shoulder blade in the incident. He proved shirt as material Ext. Ka-3 and vest as material Ext.Ka-4. The cloths were deposited in the hospital. When bomb exploded at that time, Harilal and Bhagwan Das also arrived. Their several cases were going on with accused. In the case under Section 147/323 IPC, Mannu and Ajeem were convicted, in which, he, his father and his brother were beaten. Their appeals were also dismissed by the Sessions Court. The father of Mannu and Ajeem and two other persons were also convicted under Section 307 IPC, in which, his father was beaten.

25. PW-4 in his cross-examination has stated that conviction in the case of 147/323 IPC was held after the incident of present case, however, accused were granted benefit of probation. The father of Mannu and Azeem was convicted in a case under Section 307 IPC but he does not know whether there was any cross case regarding it or not. He was falsely implicated in a case of robbery out of enmity, in which, he has been acquitted. He was a named accused in the aforesaid case of docaity. A case under sections 420, 466, 468 IPC was pending against him, in which he was on bail. He told the Investigating Officer that his father was driving the motorcycle from Hartsmen Hospital to the Medical College, if the Investigating Officer, had not recorded this in his statement, he cannot state the reason for the same. His father is a licensee of gun, which licensed gun was taken because of his challan in the docaity case for the reason that the same was used in the docaity. He told the Investigating Officer that he got bandaging of his injury in Hartsmen Hospital, If the Investigating Officer has not recorded the same in his statement, he cannot state the reason for the same, He became an Advocate before this incident. His date of enrollment is 28.05.1983. He had not told the Investigating Officer that in one hand of Furkan, there was a country made pistol, he did not know how that was written, he cannot state the reason for the same. He did not tell the Investigating Officer that everyone started hitting with bombs, how that was written, he cannot state the reason for the same. Both of them leaned forward to save their lives. Before bomb hit him, the witnesses could not arrive. They might have arrived later on. Among the accused four were towards the north side and three were towards the road.

26. Deenanath PW-5 was the subsequent Investigating Officer, who in his examination in chief has stated that he took over the investigation after transfer of first Investigating Officer, Sub Inspector Balram Singh. He recorded the statement of witnesses Bhagwan Das, Hari Lal, informant Mohd. Yunus and thereafter recovered blood stained cloth of the injured from the hospital in a sealed cloth bundle. Thereafter, he recorded statement of accused and prepared the charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-2).

27. Rajendra Prasad Dwivedi, PW-6 was scribe of first information report (Chik FIR), who is formal witness and has proved same as Ext. Ka-3. This witness also recorded this information in G.D. No. 38 dated 20.6.1983, copy of which has been proved as Ext. Ka-4.

28. Dr. Deepak Kumar Gupta PW-7 has proved the X-ray report of the injured Jameel Ahmad as Ext. Ka-5. This witness in his examination in chief has stated that he had done X-ray of the injured and found his 3rd and 4th ribs of left side broken which were towards back side. He proved X-ray plate as material Ext.-5. In his cross examination this witness could not tell that from which weapon, injuries could have been caused to the injured.

29. Dr. J.K. Mishra PW-8, who operated upon the injured on 20.6.1983 in SRN Hospital. This witness stated that the injured sustained injuries from bomb blast, there was a deep wound on his back, which was bleeding. He stated that he operated upon the injured after cleaning his wound. His ribs were found fractured at three places. His scapula bone was also found broken. (However as per PW-7, only two ribs of injured were found broken). The injured was also operated upon for skin grafting. The injured was discharged from the hospital on 3.8.1983. The injured could have died from the injuries. In his cross examination this witness has stated that after medico legal examination of the injured he was admitted in emergency and he treated the patient after his admission. He cannot tell the time, when patient was admitted.

30. Balram Yadav PW-9 was first Investigating Officer, who started investigation after registration of the case. He recorded statement of Vakil Ahmad and also recorded injuries of the injured Jamil Ahmad in the case diary soon after registration of case. One Tericot shirt and one full sleves vest was taken into possession and its recovery memo was also prepared. The aforesaid cloths were brought by Vakil Ahmad in the police station. He proved the recovery memo of aforesaid cloths as Ext. Ka-6, which was prepared on 21.6.1983. He recorded the statement of informant Yusuf and injured Malik Jamil Ahmad on 21.6.1983. He prepared the recovery memo of clothes in the hospital. He inspected the spot alongwith informant and prepared the site plan, which has been proved by this witness as Ext. Ka-7. He obtained warrant and process u/s 82 and 83 Cr.P.C. against the accused, thereafter he was transferred. In his cross examination this witness has stated that Yusuf has given him statement that Furkan was carrying a bomb in his right hand and country made pistol in his left hand. He also gave statement that accused with their common intention started throwing bombs. He could not record statement of Bhagwan Das which was recorded by second Investigating Officer. He recorded the statement of Jamil Ahmad in which he has not stated that his father drove the motorcycle from Hartsmen hospital to medical college, even aforesaid Jamil Ahmad has not stated anything regarding getting bandage in Hartsmen hospital. Jamil Ahmad also gave statement that Furkan was carrying a country made pistol in his hand, Mannu and Ajeem were carrying bomb and pistol. All started throwing bombs. The statement of Vakil Ahmad was taken on 20.6.1983 and that of Jamil Ahmad on 21.6.1983. Statement of Bhagwan Das was taken on 23.7.1983 by subsequent I.O. as he could not find Bhagwan Das.

31. The then Pharmacist Krishna Nandan Chaubey P.W.-10 has proved the medico legal injury report of the injured as Ext. Ka.-8 in secondary evidence, because whereabouts of Dr. Yogendra Bihari, who conducted the medico legal examination of the injured, could not be found. It is thus clear that this witness could not have been cross- examined qua the injury recorded in injury report of the injured.

32. In his cross-examination, this witness (P.W.-10) has stated that injured Jamil Ahmad was not medico legally examined in his presence. The injury report of the injured has been proved in secondary evidence by this witness and as medico legal examination of the injured was not conducted in his presence, therefore, this witness has proved the injury report by merely identifying the signature of the doctor. Thus, it was not possible for this witness to state anything about nature of injury or duration of injury or even status of injured at the time of his medico legal examination. As per Ext.Ka.-8, the injured was medico legally examined in Swaroop Rani Nehru Hospital, Allahabad on 20.06.1983. Injured was brought by Malik Yusuf at 9:30 A.M. on 20.06.1983. During medico legal examination, the doctor found following injury on his person:-

"Lacerated wound with fragmentation of tissue with fresh bleeding of size about 3½" × 2½" × depth to be ascertained by surgeon on the right upper part of back of chest with inverted margin and blackening of margin of wound and blackening in the surrounding area of the wound with multiple multi directional abrasion in the adjacent area of wound of size 1" to ½" to 0.4" to

0.1" with yellow sulphur powder washable about 4" from the right shoulder joint with blackening on the top of right shoulder and right upper 1/3rd right arm lateral aspect."

33. The present case is based on direct evidence and in this background there was no requirement for the prosecution to plead and prove motive. However, specific plea of motive has been taken from the very beginning i.e. in the written report/ Tehrir Ext. Ka-3. Previous enmity has been specifically assigned as the motive behind the crime. Law is well settled that enmity is double edged weapon which can be used by either of the side. It can be a ground for false implication and it can be a motive for commission of crime.

34. Admittedly, several criminal and revenue cases were fought between the parties. The informant Malik Mohd. Yusuf PW-1 in his deposition has stated that from their side, two criminal cases were instituted against the accused persons, one under Section 147/323 IPC and other under Section 307 IPC. The injured Malik Jamil Ahmad PW-4 in his deposition has also affirmed the aforesaid facts of two criminal cases. However, it is very important to observe that PW-1 in his cross-examination has admitted that his son Vakil and his nephews Abrar, Mustaq etc. are the accused in a case of murder of Yaseen, who was the father of accused Mannu of this case. He also admitted that aforesaid murder case was pending and he also admitted that several revenue cases were fought between the parties. It is thus clear that accused party got convicted in two criminal cases instituted by the side of the informant, however, the informant side was facing a murder case of father of the accused Mannu of the present case. The charge of murder on informant side is much serious than the cases already decided against the accused parties. Therefore, the enmity in the present case is certainly a double edged weapon, which not only can be ground of false implication but can be a motive for commission of crime. Accused party already got convicted and informant side was facing a criminal trial for the charges of murder and there might be a fear of stringent punishment arising in near future with respect to criminal prosecution pending against son and nephews of the informant of the present case. Therefore, admittedly there is strong enmity between the parties and in this backdrop, this Court has to weight the prosecution evidence very carefully including the delay in lodging of FIR.

35. As per Written Report/Tehrir (Ex.Ka-1), the alleged incident is of 8:30 am and the FIR of the same was registered at 20:20 hours i.e. 8:20 pm. A perusal of the FIR (Ext.Ka-3) reveals that the same has been registered after about 12 hours of the alleged incident and the place of incident was only at a distance of about 6 miles from the concerned Police Station Soraon. Therefore, the FIR has been lodged with a delay of about 12 hours. To explain the delay, the prosecution has put forward a specific case that Written Report/Tehrir was earlier addressed to S.O., Police Station Tharwai and same was, therefore, taken to Police Station Tharwai, where, Police Official informed PW-3 that the place of incident comes under the jurisdiction of P.S. Soraon, therefore, PW-3 came back to the Hospital and got corrected the report from his father and thereafter came to the police station for registration of the FIR and FIR was thus lodged therein.

36. In the present case, it was Vakil Ahmad PW-3 who is son of informant who has lodged the FIR/ written report, which was written by PW-1. PW-3 in his deposition has admitted that he received information from his brother Mohd. Juber in Court and upon receiving the same he went to Beli hospital at 2:00 pm. Therefore, information of the incident was received by the PW-3 much prior to 2:00 pm and that too from his brother Mohd. Juber. However, PW-3 met his father at 3:00 pm and left for lodging the FIR to Police Station Tharwai where from he came back to Medical College at about 7:00 pm and then again went to Police Station Soraon where FIR was lodged at 20:20 pm. It is admitted case of the prosecution that injured PW-4 was a practicing advocate at the time of incident and PW-3 was working as a typist in the Court with whom two advocates namely Kalimuddin and Ramnihor were also used to sit.

37. PW-1 informant in his deposition had admitted that the parties were having several criminal and revenue cases pending and decided against each other. Therefore, in this background, it is quite unbelievable that written report was wrongly written in the name of Police Station Tharwai instead of Police Station Soraon as there is strong enmity between the parties. PW-1 in his cross-examination has fairly admitted that while coming to Allahabad from the place of incident, Phaphamau police outpost falls on the way, but he did not know which police station it belongs to. However, he used to consider this outpost as police outpost of Police Staton Tharwai. In this background, when written report/ Tehrir was written in the name of Police Station Tharwai, then why this informant had not stopped at police outpost Phaphamau to even orally report the incident and also to seek protection and immediate medical aid to his badly injured son is quite surprising and raises doubts over prosecution reasoning given for delay in lodging of FIR. The explanation for delay from 3:00 pm to 7:00 pm is not satisfactorily at all that too without bringing the actual distance between medical college and Police Station Tharwai on record.

38. Moreover, it was the bounden duty of the prosecution to satisfactorily explain the delay in lodging the FIR, however, no such plausible explanation has come forward. The prosecution has not brought on record the distance of Police Station Tharwai from Medical College and distance of Police Station Soroan from Medical College as well as the mode of transport used by PW-3.

39. Hon'ble Apex Court in Jai Prakash Singh vs. State of Bihar (2012) 4 SCC 379, has held as under:-

"The FIR in criminal case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence though may not be substantive piece of evidence. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR in respect of the commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of actual culprits and the part played by them as well as the names of eye- witnesses present at the scene of occurrence. If there is a delay in lodging the FIR, it looses the advantage of spontaneity, danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of large number of consultations/deliberations. Undoubtedly, the promptness in lodging the FIR is an assurance regarding truth of the informant's version. A promptly lodged FIR reflects the first hand account of what has actually happened, and who was responsible for the offence in question."

40. FIR become very useful if it is recorded before there is time and opportunity to embellish or before the informant's memory fades. Undue unreasonable delay in lodging the FIR, therefore, inevitably gives rise to suspicion which puts the court on guard to look for the possible motive and the explanation for the delay and consider its effect on the trustworthiness or otherwise of the prosecution version. However, mere delay in lodging the first information report is not always as a matter of law, fatal to the prosecution. But there must be some plausible explanation for such delay. There is no hard-and-fast rule which can be applied to determine the effect of delay in filing the FIR, but the Court is duty-bound to determine whether the explanation afforded is plausible enough based on the given facts and circumstances of each case. Even a long delay in lodging the FIR can be condoned if the informant/ witnesses of the prosecution has/have no motive for implicating the accused.

41. PW-3 in his deposition has stated that he met his father at 3:00 pm and thereafter, he brought Written Report/Tehrir to Police Station Tharwai, from where he came back to the Medical College to get corrected the report and thereafter he went to Police Station Soraon. He reached the Police Station Soraon at 8:00 pm. This witness was working as a typist in Court for last several years and therefore, it cannot be presumed that he was not aware that the place of incident was not under the jurisdiction of the Police Station Tharwai. Report has been written by his father in his presence, he could have informed his father that it is the Police Station Soraon not Tharwai, which has the jurisdiction over the matter. It has come in evidence of injured PW-4 as well as father of this witness, who is the informant of this case that there were several Criminal and Revenue Cases pending and decided between the parties in various Courts, meaning thereby it can easily be presumed that they were aware about the jurisdictional aspect of the place of incident, even the injured PW-4, who is brother of this witness, is a Practicing Advocate. It is important to observe here that the registration of the FIR was recorded in GD No.38 at 20:20 hours, which has also been proved as Ext.Ka-4 and in this G.D., it is specifically stated that it was PW-3, who brought Written Report/Tehrir to the concerned Police Station for registration of the FIR. It has come in depositions of PW-3 and PW-1 that PW-3 had actually gone at 3:00 pm for registration of the FIR from hospital. It has come in evidence of PW-1 that PW-3 came back to Medical College at 7:00 pm and after getting correction, rushed to the Police Station Soraon. However, PW-3 has not stated any such thing to the Investigating Officer during the course of the investigation in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. It is an admitted fact that the injured, who is a Practicing Advocate, was admitted in Hospital for treatment and informant did not sustain any injury in the alleged incident. The injured was medico legally examined at 9:30 am on the date of incident, i.e., 20.06.1983. The prosecution has not placed on record either orally or by way of documentary evidence the distance between Medical College and Police Station Tharwai and Soraon. Informant even failed to inform the incident to police officials of police post Phaphamau, which was in the way from the place of incident to Hartsmen hospital. Even the informant side has motive to falsely implicate the appellant side. Therefore, in this background, the prosecution has not been able to prove reasonable justification of delay in delayed registration of the FIR.

42. Informant Malik Mohd. Yusuf PW-1 is the father of injured, who according to prosecution story, was accompanying the injured on a motorcycle on the date of incident. PW-1 in his written report (Ext. Ka-1) as well as in his deposition on oath has clearly stated that he was sitting as a pillion rider at the time of incident on the motorcycle, which was being driven by his son. As per prosecution story, PW-1?s son Jamil Ahmad was struck by a bomb on his right scapula area. As per deposition of this witness, shirt and vest of his son Jamil Ahmad were burnt from explosion. Injury as recorded in injury report (Ext. Ka-) of Jamil Ahmad was a severe injury of lacerated wound and even yellow sulphar powder was found in the adjacent area of his wound. Looking into severity of the alleged wound of Jamil Ahmad, it is quite surprising that no injury, whatsoever, was sustained by PW-1 inspite of sitting just at the back of Jamil Ahmad on the motorcycle. What to talk of an injury, there was not even slightest of the harm even to the clothes worn by PW-1, at the time of incident, whereas as per deposition of this witness, it was a powerful explosion. PW-1 in his deposition has stated that they firstly reached at Hartsmen hospital where bandage was applied on the wound of his son and thereafter they came to Medical College, where injured was admitted and medico legally examined. In his cross examination, PW-1 has clearly stated that before medico legal examination of the injured, doctor first removed the bandage of the injured and thereafter he examined the injured. In the light of this specific statement of the injured, medico legal injury report Ext. Ka-8 is perused, however, there is no such mention of earlier first aid treatment of the injured over his wound or even removal of any bandage from wound. Pharmacist Krishna Nand Chaubey PW-10 has merely proved this injury report in secondary evidence as Ext. Ka-8, who has clearly stated in his cross-examination that the injured Jamil Ahmad was not medically examined in his presence, therefore, no question regarding removal of bandage prior to medico legal examination of the injured could have been asked from this witness. Admittedly, when two persons are riding a motorcycle sitting very close to each other and when driver of such motorcycle sustains a bomb injury on his scapula region, then it is nearly impossible for pillion rider, who is just sitting behind driver?s back to escape any type of injury. Therefore, the presence of PW-1 at the time of incident is clearly doubtful and when his presence is found to be doubtful, his deposition fails to inspire any confidence.

43. PW-2 Bhagwan Das is an alleged eye witness of the incident, who is a chance witness on the spot at the time of incident and has deposed that it was accused Furkan who has thrown bomb, which struck Jamil Ahmad. This witness has stated that at the time of incident, injured Jamil Ahmad and Yusuf were coming on motorcycle from behind and crossed him and his companion Hari Lal. PW-2 in his deposition has clearly stated that after the commission of incident, all the accused persons went towards northern side, however, as per site plan (Ext. Ka-7) and the deposition of PW-1, accused persons run away to eastern side. This is a very sharp contradiction in the deposition of this witness qua specific prosecution story that accused after commission of crime ran away towards eastern side not towards northern side. This witness has clearly stated that all the accused were standing on left side of the road, however, as per site plan, accused were standing on the right side of the road. This witness has stated that motorcycle of the injured was on the left side of the road and has also stated that the accused were also standing on the left side of the road just to strengthen the prosecution story that by standing on left side of the road the accused have easily committed this incident. Prosecution story as far as place of standing of accused persons is concerned, is consistent that at the time of incident, injured was coming from eastern direction to the western direction and all the accused persons were standing on the right side of the road i.e. in northern side which has been clearly shown by the IO in the site plan Ext.Ka-7, therefore, presence of this witness on the spot is not established at all and he is not an eye witness. Therefore, deposition of PW-2 is wholly unreliable.

44. Injured Malik Jamil PW-4 is admittedly a legal practitioner, who at the time of incident was practicing advocate and has stated in his deposition that he on the date of incident was coming to Allahabad from his village, he was driving a motorcycle and his father was sitting behind. This Court has already come to the conclusion that presence of father of this witness is doubtful, therefore, deposition of this witness that on the date of incident, he was accompanied by his father on his motorcycle and that he met Hari Lal PW-2 near the place of incident is suspicious. This Court has already found that PW-2 was not present on the spot and presence of PW-1 has been found to be doubtful. This witness is an injured witness, therefore, his evidence stands at a higher pedestal and therefore, his evidence is required to be scrutinized after leaving such portion of the deposition of this witness which is found to be suspicious one.

45. PW-4 stated that when he saw accused standing on road armed with deadly weapons, he sensed danger because of old enmity with them and and leaned forward to save himself, while driving his motorcycle. By then on the exhortation of Imamuddin, Furkan threw a bomb which struck below his right shoulder blade i.e. in scapula region and there was loud explosion. He however, drove his motorcycle to Hartsmen hospital where doctor covered his wound with bandage and advised his immediate admission to Swaroop Rani Nehru Hospital. After admission to Swaroop Rani Nehru hospital he was medico legally examined and was also operated upon. He remain admitted in the said hospital for about one and half months. However, prosecution has not proved any oral or documentary evidence regarding this witness being initially treated at Hartsmen hospital. As per the deposition of this witness, he got bandage over his wound in the said Hartsmen hospital, however, this fact is not supported by his medico legal injury report Ext. Ka-8. As per deposition of this witness he drove the motorcycle from the place of incident to Hartsman hospital himself, which is situated at a distance at about 6-7 km from the place of incident. In this backdrop, injury report Ext. Ka-8 is carefully perused, which is prepared at 9:30 am in which doctor has recorded his pulse as feeble, blood pressure is not recorded, general condition is low and patient was found to be in shock and drowsy. Doctor further made remarks that nature of injury was dangerous to life caused by bomb blast and was fresh in duration. After sustaining lacerated wound at the scapula region in a life threatening bomb blast, how this injured drove his motorcycle to a hospital which is situated at a distance of 6-7 km from the place of incident is not easily believable. When this incident is also looked into from another aspect, then no evidence from the side of prosecution has been brought on record that any type of damage was even caused to the motorcycle of this witness as a result of bomb blast. No blood has been found from the place of incident by the investigating officer. It is true that conviction could have been sustained on the sole testimony of an injured witness if his testimony inspire confidence and is found to be wholly reliable. But in the present case the deposition of this injured witness is not of such a sterling quality that conviction could be sustained on his sole testimony.

46. Hon'ble Apex Court in State of U.P. Vs. Nahar Singh, 1998 (3) SCC 561, while reversing the judgment of acquittal of the High Court, has affirmed the judgment of conviction of the trial court. In this case, trial Court convicted six accused i.e. A-1 to A-6, however, High Court confirmed the conviction of accused A-1 but acquitted remaining accused i.e. A-2 to A-6 on several grounds including delay in lodging of the FIR. Other grounds were also considered by the High Court, out of which one ground was that no specific role was assigned to other accused i.e. A-2 to A-6. The case law in Laxmibai (dead) vs. Bhacwantbuva (dead), 2013 (4) SCC 97, pertains to Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act, 1956. The case law in Gian Chand and others vs. State of Haryana, 2013 (14) SCC 420, pertain to recovery of contraband in which no question was put to investigating officer, as to absence of chits on bags, and therefore, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that such question cannot be raised now. In this case examination of independent witness was also under consideration. Case Law in Mahavir & others; Ramvir; Sarvesh vs. State of U.P,. 2017 LawSuit (All) 643, relates to an appeal against conviction of the appellant for the charge of murders of Jagatpal, Jagdish and Sanyogita and for attempt to murder and causing serious injury to other victims. In this case law, object of cross examination and suggestion made in cross examination have been discussed. In this case, post mortem report and injury report of the deceased and injured were not challenged during arguments. The depositions of injured witnesses were found to be trustworthy and on the appreciation of evidence on record, this Court affirmed the judgment of conviction passed by trial court while rejecting the criminal appeal. The facts of all above case laws are totally different from the facts of the present case. In the present case in hand, the evidence of all witnesses have been carefully appreciated in the light of well settled principle of law and therefore, all above case laws are not helpful to the informant of the present case, because of totally different facts.

47. From the above analysis, following facts clearly emerges which cast serious doubt on the prosecution story.

(1) There is an admitted rivalry between both the parties and a number of criminal and revenue cases were pending and fought between the parties prior to the incident. Yaseen, who was father of accused Mannu was murdered and Vakil son of informant and his nephews Abrar, Mustaq etc. were accused in the murder of Yaseen. This murder case of deceased Yaseen was pending adjudication before this incident. Therefore, there was imminent apprehension of severe punishment to informant side in the aforesaid murder case.

(2) There is an inordinate delay of about 12 hours in registration of the FIR. From the place of incident to the Hartsmen hospital, Phaphamau police outpost was situated on the way, however, injured PW-4 did not stop there either to inform or to seek protection or to seek immediate medical aid.

(3) The prosecution has failed to give any plausible explanation for delay of about 12 hours in registration of the FIR.

(4) No blood was recovered from the spot. No blood was even recovered from the motorcycle. There is no damage report of the motorcycle on record.

(5) The informant PW-1, who was allegedly sitting at the back of injured PW-4 at the time of incident as a pillion rider, had not sustained any injury and even there were no blood stains on his cloths, therefore, his presence on the spot as well as his presence at the time of incident has been found to be doubtful.

(6) Prosecution could not establish the presence of PW-2 Bhagwan Das on the spot at the time of incident.

(7) As per deposition of injured PW-4, he after sustaining lacerated wound (which injury was dangerous to his life) in his right side scapula, in a life threatening bomb-blast drove his motorcycle for 6-7 km, which seems to be quite improbable. He after sustaining a dangerous to life injury, got first aid treatment in Hartsmen hospital, however no oral or documentary medical evidence regarding his first aid treatment was produced by the prosecution. The prosecution has not produced Dr. Yogendra Bihari, who prepared injury report (Ext. Ka-8) of PW-4 and has proved the same by secondary evidence of PW-10. PW-10 has merely identified the signature of Doctor and injured PW-4 was not medico legally examined in his presence. Therefore, no question could have been asked from this witness (PW-10) regarding first aid treatment of PW-4. Ext. Ka-8 does not support deposition of PW-4 as far as his first aid treatment is concerned. Non- recovery of blood both from motorcycle and spot also raises serious doubt on the veracity of statement of PW-4.

(8) The deposition of injured PW-4 is not of such sterling quality that conviction can be sustained on his deposition. His deposition was full of improbabilities and was also suspicious as far as presence of PW-1 with him at the time of incident as a pillion rider and presence of PW-2 on the spot at the time of incident, is concerned.

(9) Thus, from the above conspectus, the prosecution story is full of improbabilities and there are several suspicious circumstances in the prosecution story, which remained unexplained.

48. Resultantly, from the nature of evidence placed on record by the prosecution, possibility of the appellants being falsely implicated on account of previous enmity cannot be ruled out. The prosecution has failed to prove the charges against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt and thus, the appellants are entitled to benefit of doubt.

49. Consequently, this appeal for surviving appellants no. 1 and 3, Furkan and Mannu, is "Allowed". The judgment and order dated 13.1.1987 passed by IVth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Allahabad for the surviving appellants no. 1 and 3, Furkan and Mannu, is hereby set aside. The surviving appellants i.e. appellant no. 1 Furkan and appellant no. 3 Mannu are acquitted of all the charges for which they have been tried. The surviving appellants are reported to be on bail, therefore, they need not surrender subject to compliance of provision of Section 437-A of Cr.P.C. to the satisfaction of the trial Court concerned at the earliest.

50. The record of the "Trial Court" be sent back immediately with a copy of this judgment for necessary information and compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 755
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 15.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 370 of 1987

Dhan Pal & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the FIR was ante-timed and unreliable.
Whether the prosecution proved the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt.
Whether conviction under Section 302 IPC and Section 302/34 IPC was sustainable.

HEADNOTES

Criminal Law – Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Section 207, 313 - Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Sections 34, 302: - Criminal Appeal – against conviction and Sentence – FIR – offence of murder by assault with fawda (spade) and lathi – investigation - inquest and autopsy confirmed death due to shock and haemorrhage – statements of husband (PW-1) and minor son (PW-2) corroborated by independent witnesses – charge-sheet – Session trial – applicant pleaded FIR ante-timed and unreliable – Court finds that, discrepancy in distance entries not sufficient to discard FIR - eyewitness testimony consistent - medical evidence corroborative - common intention established – FIR not ante-timed – testimony of PW-4 is of unshaken credit and sterling in character - held, prosecution have proved their case beyond all reasonable doubt – appeal fails and is dismissed - conviction of appellant under Section 302 IPC sustained and the appeal abated for co-accused – direction issued to serve out the sentence awarded to him.

(Para – 61, 64, 65, 66, 67, 69, 70)

Appeal Dismissed. (E-11)

CASE LAW CITED

Shyama Charan v. State of U.P., 1984 SCC OnLine All 527.
Tunda v. State, 1988 SCC OnLine All 887.
Kaushal Kumar Upadhyay v. State of U.P., 2020 SCC OnLine All 1983.

LIST OF ACTS

Indian Penal Code (IPC) – Code of Criminal Procedure (Cr.P.C.)

LIST OF KEYWORDS

Murder, FIR ante-timed, Inquest report, Eyewitness testimony, Common intention, Spade (fawda), Lathi, Shock and haemorrhage, Autopsy, Section 302 IPC, Section 34 IPC.

CASE ARISING FROM

Sessions Trial No. 437 of 1985, Case Crime No. 694 of 1985, P.S. Kotwali Etah, District Etah.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri T.C. Sharma / Amicus Curiae Sankalp Goswami.
Counsel for Respondent(s): A.G.A. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred by three convicts, Dhanpal, Mitthoo and Bhagirath, who stood their trial before Mr. A.B. Shukla, the then IV Addl. District & Sessions Judge, Etah, in Sessions Trial No. 437 of 1985 (arising out of Case Crime No. 694 of 1985), under Section 302/34 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, 'IPC'), Police Station Kotwali Etah, District Etah. Whereas Dhanpal was convicted under Section 302 IPC, Mitthoo and Bhagirath were held guilty of the offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC. All the three convicts were sentenced to imprisonment for life.

2. A First Information Report (for short, 'FIR') in this case was lodged by Ram Prasad regarding an incident dated 22.08.1985, that happened at 9 o'clock in the morning hours. The report was lodged on the same day at 15 minutes past 12 o'clock in the afternoon. According to the FIR, the informant Ram Prasad was a resident of Village Nagla Khokhal, P.S. Kotwali Etah. There is a land, admeasuring 5 biswa, belonging to the Gram Samaj in the vicinity of the informant's house. About 15-16 years antedating the occurrence, the aforesaid land was granted to the informant's brother, Prem Raj, on a patta. On some part of the said land, the informant too raised a kuchcha boundary wall, circumscribing his house, including it within his premises. Some part of this land, outside the boundary wall, according to the informant, was lying vacant. The informant's family would tether their cattle on this part of land outside the boundary wall. These facilities, which the informant availed, did not go down well with Dhanpal and Bhagirath, both sons of Nannu, and Mitthoo son of Chobdar, who are neighbours and shared the same community as the informant. They would say that in the open land outside the informant's house, where he tethered his cattle, their cattle ought to be tethered. This contention had led to an exchange of sharp words in the past as well. However, residents of the village had intervened and quelled the matter. The informant says that today at 9 o'clock in the morning, he was present at home. His wife Smt. Birma Devi and son Lankush were tethering their cattle on the vacant land outside. Suddenly, his wife and son raised alarm, causing the informant to come out of his house. The alarm also caused Uma Shankar, Vijay Pal, Ganga Ram, Devendra and others, all natives of the village, to reach the spot. They saw that Dhanpal was assaulting the informant's wife with a fawda (spade) and Mitthoo with a stick (lathi). Bhagirath was exhorting the two to assault, saying that she was the source of all trouble. All those, who had gathered there, challenged the assailants, in consequence of which, the three of them made good their escape towards the east, but holding out threats with abuses that they would take care of the informant as well. The FIR says that the informant's wife died on the spot. The FIR was scribed by Bhoop Singh son of the informant.

3. On the basis of the written information addressed to the Officer In-charge, P.S. Kotwali Etah, marked as Ex. Ka-1, a check FIR was registered on 22.08.1985 at 12.15 hours. It was marked Ex. Ka-2. A G.D. Entry, contemporaneously with the registration of the crime and drawing up of the check FIR, was made vide G.D. Entry No.37. The investigation of the case was entrusted to Sub-Inspector Lajja Ram Yadav. He set about his task, reaching the place of occurrence at 1.45 p.m. Upon seeing the dead body, he held inquest and prepared an inquest report. The inquest commenced on 22.08.1985 at 1.45 p.m. and the proceedings were over by 3.20 p.m. The panch witnesses opined that death had occurred on account of the injuries sustained by the deceased, but in order to ascertain the cause of death, an autopsy was necessary.

4. After drawing up the inquest report, the Investigating Officer prepared a photo lash, challan lash, a letter to the R.I. and another to the Medical Officer, In-charge District Hospital, Etah. He sealed the dead body and prepared a sample of the seal, Ex. Ka-7. The dead body was sealed at about 3.20 p.m. and handed over to Constables Rameshwar Dayal and Brij Bhushan for the purpose of conveying the same to the mortuary. The Constables delivered the cadaver to the Reserve Inspector on the following day i.e. 23.08.1985 at 10.40 a.m. The Reserve Inspector issued a letter to the C.M.O. for the purpose of undertaking the autopsy. The C.M.O. assigned the autopsy to Dr. Onkar Singh. In the meantime, back at the site of occurrence, the Investigating Officer prepared a site plan, marked Ex. Ka-11. He took samples of bloodstained earth and unstained earth from the spot, drawing up a memo for the purpose and sealing away both kinds of earth in separate containers, that were duly secured.

5. Dr. Onkar Singh conducted the autopsy on 23.08.1985 at 3.00 p.m. The autopsy doctor found that the deceased was a woman of about 46 years. The time of death was estimated by the doctor to be about a day and a quarter before the time of the autopsy. The rigor mortis was absent in the upper extremities, but present in the lower extremities. The breast was swollen, blisters present over the body and foul smell emitting. The tongue was protruded. The autopsy doctor noticed the following five antemortem injuries:

"1. Incised wound 13 X 2cm X bone deep on the right side of face extending 3cm in front from tragus of right ear up to the middle of nose, on dissection under the tissue (sort), maxilling bone and nasal bone cut in direction of wound.

2. Incised wound 7 X 3cm X trachea deep on the left side of neck, wound situate 4cm below the left ear, upto the middle of neck, on dissection neck muscle, jugular veins and trachea cut in the direction of wound.

3. Incised wound 3 X 1cm X bone deep over the superior occipital protuberance, on dissection cut mark present over the occipital bone.

4. Contusion 8 X 6cm on the top of shoulder joint (left).

5. Abrasion 6 X 1cm situated between both scapula, vertically downward."

6. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death was shock and haemorrhage, as a result of antemortem injuries.

7. The Investigating Officer recorded the statements of witnesses, and after completing the investigation, submitted a charge-sheet against the appellants, Ex. Ka-13 before the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etah. The accused were produced before the learned Magistrate. They were furnished with copies of the relevant prosecution papers under Section 207 Cr.P.C. Thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial vide order dated 07.11.1985.

8. The learned Sessions Judge, Etah, before whom the case came up after committal, framed two separate charges on 11.12.1985, one against Dhanpal for an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC and a separate charge against Mitthoo and Bhagirath, charging them of committing murder of Smt. Birma Devi, along with Dhanpal, on 22.08.1985 at about 9.00 a.m. in furtherance of a common intention of all of them. Mitthoo and Bhagirath were charged under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. All the convicts denied the charge and claimed trial.

9. The prosecution examined the following witnesses in support of their case:

1. PW-1 - Ram Prasad, husband of the deceased and the first informant,
2. PW-2 - Lankush, son of the deceased and an eye-witness of the incident,
3. PW-3 - HC Sahju Lal, who scribed the check FIR and made other G.D. Entries,
4. PW-4 - Devendra, an independent eye-witness of the incident,
5. PW-5 - Constable No. 80 Rameshwar Dayal, who conveyed the dead body for postmortem,
6. PW-6 - S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav, who conducted investigation and submitted the charge-sheet,
7. PW-7 - Dr. Onkar Singh, who conducted postmortem of the deceased.

10. The prosecution produced the following documentary evidence:

Sr. No.	Exhibit No.	Exhibited documents with brief particulars

1	Ex. Ka-1	Written report dated 22.08.1985 lodged with Police Station Kotwali Etah, District Etah, proved by PW-1, Ram Prasad
2	Ex. Ka-2	Check FIR dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-3, HC Sahju Lal
3	Ex. Ka-3	Copy of GD Entry No.37 Time 12.30 hours dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-3, HC Sahju Lal
4	Ex. Ka-4	Inquest report dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
5	Ex. Ka-5	Letter to the S.P., proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
6	Ex. Ka-6	Challan Lash dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
7	Ex. Ka-7	Sample of Seal dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
8	Ex. Ka-8	Letter to the C.M.O. dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
9	Ex. Ka-9	Letter to the R.I. dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
10	Ex. Ka-10	Photo Lash dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
11	Ex. Ka-11	Site-plan of the place of occurrence dated 22.08.1985, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
12	Ex. Ka-12	Memo taking possession of the bloodstained earth and unstained earth, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
13	Ex. Ka-13	Charge sheet dated 09.09.1985 submitted for the offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC, proved by PW-6, S.I. Lajja Ram Yadav
14	Ex. Ka-14	Postmortem Report of the deceased Birma Devi dated 23.08.1985, proved by PW-7, Dr. Onkar Singh
15	Material Ex. 1 to 5	Blouj, Dhoti, Petikot,, Bichhua, Bangles.
16	Material Ex. 6	Bloodstained earth
17	Material Ex. 7	Unstained earth

11. After conclusion of evidence, the statements of the accused, now the convicted appellants, were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 04.11.1986. The accused entered defence and produced two witnesses, to wit, DW-1 Shiv Swarup, Assistant Jailer, District Jail Etah and DW-2 Brij Kishor Lekhpal.

12. After hearing parties, the learned Sessions Judge vide judgment and order dated 31.01.1987 proceeded to convict and sentence each of the three appellants in the manner already indicated hereinabove.

13. Aggrieved, this criminal appeal has been instituted by all the three convicts.

14. At this stage, it would be relevant to mention that out of the three convicts, who appealed, Mitthoo and Bhagirath have passed away pending appeal, and this appeal, instituted jointly on behalf of all the three convicts, was ordered to abate at the instance of appellant Nos.2 and 3, to wit, Mitthoo and Bhagirath, vide order 15.09.2025. This appeal, therefore, now proceeds at the behest of Dhanpal alone.

15. Heard Mr. Sankalp Goswami, learned Amicus Curiae appearing for the appellant Dhanpal, Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State and perused the record.

If the FIR is an ante-timed document

16. The foremost submission of Mr. Sankalp Goswami, learned Amicus Curiae is that the FIR in this case is an ante-timed document, which casts a grave shadow of doubt upon the prosecution case. To establish this fact, Mr. Goswami does not have many telltale facets of evidence, but would urge that the inquest report by itself is enough to show that the FIR is ante-timed. He has drawn our attention to the check FIR, where the distance of the police station is mentioned in the relevant column as '12 kilometers south-east'. He then calls attention to the inquest report, where the distance of the police station entered is '8 kilometers south'. The submission is that in the process of writing the inquest report, the details about the case crime and the time of lodging the FIR as also the distance of the place of occurrence from the police station are all facts and data to be entered in the inquest form on the basis of whatever is written in the check FIR. A fortiori, if the distance of the police station and the direction as well are different from what is written in the check FIR, the only possible conclusion to draw is that the FIR was registered on an ante-timed basis, after the inquest had already been held and the report prepared. The FIR would, therefore, lose its fidelity as an accurate and the earliest version of the occurrence.

17. There is no quarrel on facts that there is a clear discrepancy in the distance of the police station recorded in the check FIR and that in the inquest report. If Mr. Goswami's submission were accepted, everything happened first, right up to the drawing up of the inquest report and the check FIR was registered later. In short, it would have to be held ante-timed.

18. We must remark that there are cases, where dead bodies are found unidentified and inquest is held straight away. In those cases, the FIRs are registered later on. In cases, such as these, not even the crime number is mentioned in the inquest report, but that is not the case here. In the normal sequence of things, an inquest report generally comes after the FIR, or where an FIR is registered, doing a prompt reporting of the crime and before the body is discovered, the inquest held later on, leads to a report, where entries about the crime number and the distance of the place of occurrence from the police station are borrowed from what is already entered in the relevant columns of the check FIR.

19. Our attention, for what the learned Amicus Curiae has urged, has been drawn to a Bench decision of this Court in Shyama Charan v. State of U.P., 1984 SCC OnLine All 527: 1984 All LJ 1303, where it has been observed:

"7. The first-information-report in this case is said to have been lodged at 12.30 p.m., the distance of police station as mentioned in the F.I.R. is two miles. The incident is said to have taken place at 10.30 a.m. and prima facie this report appears to be quite prompt. The defence in this case has suggested that the first-informant Ram Kumar P.W. 1 is a clerk to a lawyer practising at Jalalabad and did not witness any incident and was called later on and this report came into existence much later and had been ante-timed. The argument advanced appears to have some force when we examine the inquest report. In the inquest report in the column of the person who informed about the death, the name of Ram Kumar is mentioned. Then in the column of distance of the village from the police station, entry made is 3 miles to the south. If this F.I.R. had come into existence at 12.30 p.m. the distance given in that report namely two miles would have also been found in the inquest report and not three miles. The distance given in the F.I.R. does not tally with the First-Information-Report….."

20. This position of the law was put in perspective by a later Bench decision of this Court in Tunda v. State, 1988 SCC OnLine All 887: 1990 Cri LJ 868 and the law was explained to say that it was not thumb rule that if the distance of the police station mentioned in the inquest report was different from that given on the check form, the FIR would have to be regarded as ante-timed. In Tunda (supra), explaining the earlier Bench decision in Shyama Charan (supra), it was held:

"17. A perusal of the first information report would show that the name of Narain Singh is mentioned in it and actually the contention is that it was only to show the market to this guest of the family that the two brothers took him towards the Bazar. The Investigating Officer reached the spot without losing much time at about 8 or 8.30 p.m. and interrogated this witness after about 11 p.m. the same day. Hence undoubtedly the witness was present in Mathura at the house of the deceased where he was interrogated the same night. There is nothing on record to suggest that after the occurrence any action was taken to summon him from Haryana in order to be a witness in this case. The allegation that the first information report has been ante-timed is also not established. Our attention was, however, drawn to a Division Bench decision of this Court in the matter of Shyama Charan v. State of U.P., (1985 All Cri C) (Summary of Cases S. No. 11 at pp. 12 and 13) (and also Summary of Case No. 55 at pp. 57) where discrepancy in the distance given in two documents, i.e. the first information report and the inquest memo, was allegedly taken to give rise to the inference that the first information report came into existence later on. The Court in that case found three things which were intriguing and on that basis this opinion was expressed. The first was that the distance in the first information report did not tally with that in the inquest memo. The second was that the inquest report's examination as a whole showed some discrepancy in the writing and the signatures of the Panches, which suggested that the impressions of the Panches were obtained earlier and the writing portion was executed later on. Thirdly, it was found as a matter of fact that additions had been made subsequently as regards the various sections of the IPC which could be applicable to the case. Considering all these facts and other circumstances of the case, the Court came to the conclusion that the first information report did not come into existence at the time at which it purports to have been lodged. This ruling does not lay down that in each and every case in which there is a discrepancy in the mention of the distance between the first information report and the inquest memo the natural and normal inference will be that the first information report was ante-timed.

19. The situation before us is not much different. The inquest memo is on a prescribed form, and in column No. 1 the time of occurrence and the time when the inquest is started, have to be mentioned. Usually the time of the occurrence is to be taken from the first information report itself in which for the first time it is mentioned. The Officer carrying out the inquest has no personal knowledge about it, but in the whole of the form there is nothing to show that everything had to be taken down or copied from the first information report. After all the officer who conducts the inquest is also a human being and an intelligent one for the matter of that, who is expected to be conversant with the preparation of these documents. When he travels the distance from the Thana to the place where the inquest is to be done, he has his own impressions about the distance. Under no provision of the law and even as a matter of practice is he required to note down in the relevant columns the distance from the Thana by copying it out from the first information report, although at times it may be different from what his own impression about it is. He is not called upon to copy out this fact from the first information report. Therefore, in our view, the mere fact that there is a discrepancy in the distance as given in the first information report and the inquest memo will not by itself be sufficient to claim that the first information report should be discarded as ante-timed. Even the case of Shyama Charan (supra) does not lay down that law. We are of the view that in most of the cases the officer conducting the inquest reports has his own impression about the distance. In some cases he may note down the distance as given in the first information report, but in no case his action in this respect can result in the conclusion that either the inquest memo is fake or the first information report is ante-timed, unless there are other circumstances to justify such a conclusion."

21. The same question was considered in a much later Bench decision of this Court in Kaushal Kumar Upadhyay v. State of U.P., 2020 SCC OnLine All 1983. In Kaushal Kumar Upadhyay (supra), though the Court held that it was incumbent upon the officer writing the inquest report to mention the same distance that was mentioned in the check form, but writing a different distance was a reckless act and even if the FIR is held to be ante-timed on that ground, it would not affect the prosecution case because both the FIR and the inquest report are not pieces of substantive evidence. To our understanding, the reasoning of the Division Bench in Kaushal Kumar Upadhyay may not be very convincing, but the conclusion is trite that ultimately a discrepancy, between the distance of the place of occurrence mentioned on the check form and that mentioned on the inquest report, would not affect the prosecution case.

22. The reasons given in Tunda are clear, as we have remarked earlier. Generally, if an FIR is registered and an inquest is held, entries relating to the time of occurrence, the distance of the police station ought be picked up from the check form. But, there is no principle of law, statute or rule that mandates entries in the check form regarding the distance between the place of occurrence and the police station to be transcribed verbatim by the author of the inquest report in the relevant column. If there is a discrepancy between the two figures on the check form and the inquest report, it could be credited to the individual act of the author of the inquest report, who, on the basis of his own knowledge, might differently perceive the distance and make an entry of it according to his judgment. There is no law, which mandates that he must copy it from the check form. Therefore, a discrepancy in the distance of the place of occurrence and the police station on the check form and the inquest report by itself would not be proof of the fact that the FIR is ante-timed. There has to be other evidence to reach that conclusion as the one considered in Shyama Charan and explained in Tunda. Here also, since there is no other evidence to lead to the conclusion that the FIR was got registered much later than the time shown on the check form, an inference of that kind could not be drawn.

23. In the circumstances, we are of opinion that the submission advanced by the learned Amicus Curiae based on this discrepancy regarding the distance between the place of occurrence and the police station mentioned on the check form and the inquest report, respectively, cannot be accepted.

Time, place and manner of occurrence

24. According to the FIR lodged by PW-1 Ram Prasad, the place of occurrence was outside his house, abutting his boundary wall and adjacent to his door. This is a place outside PW-1's house, where cattle were tethered during the daytime. The time of occurrence was 9.00 a.m., as mentioned in the FIR. The first informant PW-1, who is an eye-witness, was inside his house, a fact mentioned in the FIR. His wife and son had gone to the place, where cattle are tethered for the purpose of tethering their bullocks. According to the FIR, his son and wife raised an alarm, hearing which he came out of his house and reached the place of occurrence and witnessed the incident. He saw Dhanpal assault his wife with a spade (fawda) and Mitthoo with a stick (lathi), Bhagirath was exhorting them to finish off his wife Birma Devi, saying that she is the source of all trouble. Upon the first informant PW-1 and others, who had gathered there, challenging the appellants, they retreated to the east, threatening PW-1 that they would get even with him too. Birma Devi died on the spot as a result of the injuries sustained in the assault. The first informant PW-1 has mentioned the presence of Uma Shankar son of Man Singh, Vijay Pal son of Jeesukh, Ganga Ram son of Babu Ram and Devendra son of Munshi Lal, amongst others, who were present and witnessed the incident.

25. PW-1, in his dock evidence has said in the examination-in-chief that out of the three assailants, Dhanpal and Bhagirath were related to him and explained the relationship. Mitthoo, the third assailant, was a neighbour. About the date, time and manner of occurrence, it is testified by PW-1 Ram Prasad that there is a space adjacent to his house kept apart for tethering cattle. He has described it in vernacular as 'ladavani'. This land, which houses the ladavani, was used by PW-1 for tethering his livestock. The appellants would say that this land belonged to them. PW-1 and the appellants had a quarrel on two or three occasions in the past as well over the right to use the ladavani. The residents of the village had called a panchayat and settled the matter. On the day of occurrence, PW-1's wife Birma Devi and son Lankush had gone to the ladavani to tether his bullocks. The appellants, on one hand, and the witness's wife and son, on the other, created noise at about 9.00 a.m., which led PW-1 to come out of his house. Upon emerging from his house, PW-1 saw the appellants assault his wife. Dhanpal assaulted with a spade (fawda) and Mitthoo with a stick (lathi). Bhagirath was exhorting others to do Birma Devi to death, saying that she was the source of all trouble, kill her. The witness said that his son Lankush had concealed himself by the side of the wall. The incident was witnessed, according to PW-1 by Devendra, Ganga Ram, Vijay Pal and Uma Shankar. It is next said that upon the witnesses challenging the assailants, they retreated to the east. His wife died. He wailed for some time, grieving her death.

26. In his cross-examination, in answer to a suggestion that he was not at home but was tilling the field of one Nekshu, because PW-1 does work as a labourer, he said:

"मैं मजदूरी करता हूँ खेती नहीं, अपने गांव में भी मजदूरी करता हूँ और बाहर भी। गांव में हल चलाने व निराई का काम भी करता हूँ। मुझे ध्यान नहीं कि कत्ल से एक दिन पहले मजदूरी करने गया था या नहीं। कत्ल वाले दिन मजदूरी नहीं लगी थी टलुआ था। शाम को ही मजदूरी के लिये दूसरे दिन के लिये कह जाते हैं। घटना से पहली बाली शाम को कोई नहीं कह गया था। कुछ लोग सुबह भी बुलाने के लिये आ जाते हैं और सुबह 7 बजे कोई 8 बजे काम की कह जाता है। यह कहना गलत है कि घटना वाले दिन मैं नेंकसू के खेत में हल चला रहा था।

घटना के समय मैं छप्पर में बैठा रोटी खा रहा था, जब मैने शोर सुना था। सुबह के करीब 9 बजे थे जब मैनें अपनी बीबी को पहली बार देखा तब गिर पड़ी थी, मैं चिल्लाया, मेरे चिल्लाने पर भी मुल्जिमान मारते रहे। मैने मुल्जिम को 2, 3 बार फावड़ा मारते देखा, फावड़ा मारकर भाग गये। मैने एक लाठी मारते देखा, मैंने यह नहीं देखा कि लाठी किस जगह मारी। जब मैने देखा तब मेरी बीबी चित्त पड़ी थी।

जहां लाश थी दरबाजे से गजभर दूर था, में गज समझता हूँ। दरोगाजी ने खून पड़ी हुई जगह को देखा था।"

27. The other witness of fact is PW-2 Lankush, the son of the deceased Birma Devi and PW-1 Ram Prasad. He was 13 years old, when he appeared in the dock on 09.10.1986 to testify to his mother's murder. The date of incident is 22.08.1985. At that time, he would have been 14 months younger, making him aged about 11-12 years. According to this witness, the incident happened about two years ago. It was 9 o'clock in the morning. He and his mother had moved the bullocks out of the house to the ladavani to tether them there. He has said that the ladavani abuts their house. It is testified that the appellants, who are present in Court, were sitting on their chabutara (platform for the purpose of sitting). As soon as they saw the witness and his mother, Dhanpal armed with a spade (fawda), Mitthoo with a stick (lathi) and Bhagirath barehanded, moved closer and forbade his mother and the witness from tethering their bullocks there. They said that the place belonged to them and they would not permit his mother to tether the animals there. Upon this, the witness's mother said that the land was theirs and since a long time, their cattle/ animals have always been tethered at that place. Bhagirath, thereupon, exhorted the others to kill the witness's mother, saying that she was the root cause of all trouble. The witness and his mother raised alarm and called rescue, leading his father to come out. Dhanpal assaulted his mother with the spade (fawda) whereas Mitthoo struck her with the stick (lathi). She collapsed and died. PW-2 Lankush says that, apart from him, Vijay Pal, Devendra, Ganga Ram and Uma Shankar saw the occurrence, besides others. Upon his father and the witnesses raising alarm, the accused retreated to the east and fled away. The witness stayed around his mother and kept weeping. In his cross-examination, the witness has said:

"घटना वाले दिन वह एक दिन पहले मेरे पिता हल जोतने नहीं गये घर पर थे,

जब मैं घर से बाहर मदेशी बांधने आया था उस समय मेरे पिता रोटी खा रहे थे, मैं या मेरी मां ने रोटी नहीं खाया था, मेरी मां ने मेरे सामने कुछ नहीं खाया था, जैसे ही मेरी मां जानवर बांधने के लिये झुकी, मुल्जिमान ने उसके ऊपर फावड़ा मार दिया। लेकिन मेरी मां गिरी नहीं, दूसरा फावड़ा पहला फावड़ा मारने के तुरन्त बाद ही मारा। वह दूसरा फावड़ा भी मेरी मां को लगा, मेरी मां तव गिर पड़ी, गिरने के बाद एक फावड़ा

और मारा। मेरी मां चित्त गिरी थी। पहला कावड़ा सर में, दूसरा फावड़ा नांक व गाल पर तथा तीसरा फावड़ा गर्दन पर गिरा। पहला फालड़ा लगते ही मैं चिल्लाया। वहां बहुत जगह पर खून फैल गया था। नाद के पास खून फैल गया था। नांद से एक दो कदम की दूरी पर मेरी मां गिर गई थी।

दूर था। मुझे इस बात का पता नहीं कि मेरे पिता थाने गये। पुलिस के आने से पहले व घटना के बाद मेरे पिता घर पर नहीं रहे, वह कहा गये थे मुझे नहीं पता। में रोता रहा मेरे पिता कहां गये मुझे नहीं मालूम। मैने अपने पिता को नहीं बतलाया कि में आड़ में छिपा था। जब मैं आड़ में से जिंकला तब मेरे पिता रोते हुये मिले।"

28. The third witness of fact is PW-4 Devendra son of Munshi Lal. This witness has said in his examination-in-chief that he knew the deceased. The incident happened 14 months antedating the time when he testified in Court. It happened in the month of Savan at 9 o'clock in the morning hours. He was returning home from his fields. As he neared the hut of one Jeesukh, he heard the alarm raised by the deceased and her son Lankush, which drew his attention to the occurrence. He has testified that Dhanpal was assaulting Birma Devi with a spade (fawda) and Mitthoo with a stick (lathi). Bhagirath was exhorting the two, telling them that she was the source of all trouble. He identified the three appellants in the dock, about whom he said that they belonged to his village. He said that besides himself, Uma Shankar, Vijay Pal, Ganga Ram, Ram Prasad and Lankush had seen the occurrence. He has further on said in his examination-in-chief that Dhanpal struck the deceased with the spade (fawda) and Mitthoo with a stick (lathi), and on account of the blows that she suffered, she died on the spot. In his cross-examination, the witness has said that his house is not located in the centre of the village. If one moves towards the north from his house, it is the most thinly populated part of the village. He has said that he was returning after overseeing his field, which is located to the north of the village, at a distance of about one furlong. He was returning after overseeing the weeding being done in his field. The place of occurrence is located in the north-east corner. In order to reach his house from his field, one has to pass through the place of occurrence, and it is incorrect to say that the way to his house from his field is not through the place of occurrence. Further on in his cross-examination, this witness has testified:

"मुझे नहीं पता कि 9.12.85 को मैं एटा जेल में धनपाल मुल्जिम की मिलाई करने आया था या नहीं। मुझे पता नहीं है कि मैं धनपाल मुल्जिम की मिलाई करने एटा जेल आया या नहीं।

सवाल- आप एटा जेल में धनपाल मुल्जिम की मिलाई करने गये और उनसे पांच हजार रुपया की मांग किया और उसने रुपया देने से मना कर दिया तब आप गवाही देने आये हैं।

जवाब- मुझे पता नहीं कि में जिला जेल एटा में मिलाई करने गया था या नहीं। अगर आप जेल में मिलाई करने का सबूत देंगे तब मैं बताऊंगा।

मेरे गांव के रामप्रसाद वगैरह भी निराई का काम करते हैं। रामप्रसाद से मैने निराई के लिये नहीं कहा क्योंकि वह खुद अपनी निराई का काम कर रहा था।

मैं जीसुख की मड़इया के पास खड़ा था जब मैने वाक्या देखा। घटनास्थल से जीसुख की लड़इया 10, 12 कदम उत्तर है।

दरोगाजी ने मुझे पूछतांछ की और मेरा व्याम लिया। दरोगाजी जीसुक की मढ़इया पर गये थे। मढ़या वहां से उत्तर पश्चिम में दो गज दूर हैं। जीसुक की मढ़ाईया के उत्तर पश्चिम में गली है। जहां मैं खड़ा था उसके पश्चिम में रामवीर का मकान था। जहां में खडा था वहा से कत्ल वाली जगह 15, 20 कदम दूर थी। जब मेरी आंख पहली बार पड़ी तो मेने देखा कि धनपाल फावड़े से, मिटठू लाठी से और भागीरथ कह रहा था कि यही झगड़े की जड़ है, उसे खत्म कर दो। मैने तीनों फावड़ा लगते हुये देखा। जब पहला फावड़ा लगा सामने लच गयी थी। धनपाल मृतिका से पूरब की ओर था औरत का मुंह दक्षिण की ओर था, पहला फावड़ा मृतिका के सर में पीठ की ओर लगा। पहला फावड़ा लगने में वह नहीं गिरी, दूसरा फावड़ा जब उसे लगा वह चित्त गिरी हुई, दूसरा फावड़ा कनपटी पर लगा, तीसरा फावड़ा गर्दन में लगा। उसके गिरने के बाद मिटठू ने लाठी से मारा लेकिन यह नहीं बता सकता कि कितनी लाठियों से मारा।"

29. We must remark that two of the three witnesses are decidedly natural witnesses. PW-1 and PW-2 are natural witnesses because they are the husband and son of the deceased, who live in the same house and the place of occurrence is just outside the house, adjacent to the boundary wall and next to the entrance that leads outside, or allows entry into the house. It is a place, which PW-1 and PW-2 have described as ladavani. It is a place by the side of the entrance, just outside the boundary wall, used for the purpose of tethering cattle/ live stock. There is no cavil about the date of occurrence, which was 22.08.1985. No doubt, the witnesses have not spoken of the date, but apparently there was so much certitude about it that no question was put to them as to the date at all. The witnesses, way back in the year 1985, were natives of a village and apparently rustic men, one of them a young boy with no claims to refinement or discipline that comes with education. Therefore, it is absolutely natural that no issue being raised about the date of occurrence, they have not expressly spoken about it and assumed it to be an admitted fact.

30. The date of occurrence is mentioned in the FIR clearly as 22.08.1985 and during cross-examination, there has been no challenge to it. The FIR has been duly proved by PW-1, establishing the date of occurrence beyond cavil. About the time of occurrence, all the three witnesses have consistently spoken and said that it was 9 o'clock in the morning. The place of occurrence also the witnesses have consistently spoken to be the ladavani, the place just adjacent to the boundary wall and next to the deceased's house, used for the purpose of tethering animals. In fact, the place of occurrence is all the more verified because contention between parties, that led to the crime, was about the right to use the land, described as ladavani, between the deceased's family and the appellants Dhanpal and Bhagirath, who laid a claim to it on whatever basis. In fact, the occurrence, as would appear from the testimony of PW-2 Lankush, happened at a time when the mother and son were tethering their bullocks at the ladavani, after leading them outside of the house, where the bullocks were housed for the night.

31. The appellants, who, according to the witness, were sitting on the platform outside their house, upon seeing PW-2 and his mother tethering the animals, came over, two of them armed and forbade them from tethering the bullocks there, claiming the ladavani to be theirs. Their claim was repudiated by the deceased, which precipitated the occurrence. This fact, apart from being a detail of the manner of occurrence, or the relevant fact immediately leading to the occurrence, establishes the place of occurrence as the ladavani outside the deceased's house indubitably.

32. A perusal of the site plan shows the house of the informant PW-1 located to the east of the houses of the appellants, Dhanpal, Bhagirath and Mitthoo. The closest house is that of Mitthoo. The informant's house is oriented in the north-south direction with the length of the premises being north to south. There are two gates, one to the east and the other to the west. The place of occurrence is just outside the gate on the western side, where the ladavani is shown by symbols ㄱㄱㄱ. The place where the deceased fell is shown by the symbol ※ ※ ※. It is adjacent to the western gate of the informant's house and described in the site-plan as three paces to the west from the gate. The place, where the informant was in his house at the time of occurrence, is shown by the alphabet 'A'. The place, from where PW-4 Devendra saw the occurrence, is shown by the alphabet 'D'. It is part of a way, passing to the east of the informant's house and the place of occurrence. It is true that the places of vantage, wherefrom PW-1 and PW-2 saw the occurrence, is not shown in the site plan, but going by the consistent description of witnesses, not only the place of occurrence is well established, but the fact that the witnesses saw it from close quarters.

33. The one most closely to watch and the most of it is PW-2, the victim's son, who was all along present with her when the mother and son moved out of their house to tether the bullocks outside their home in the ladavani. Apparently he had concealed himself behind a wall, very close to the place of occurrence and watched the assault. At that time, he was a young boy of about 11-12 years. His cognizance and understanding apparently cannot be doubted because he was on the verge of adolescence and would have had a clear span of attention. At the time he testified, he was 13 years old and has given a graphic description, that has remained unshaken during the cross-examination.

34. It must be remarked that PW-1 and PW-2 are absolutely natural witnesses because being the husband and son of the deceased, they lived in the same house. Notwithstanding a searching cross-examination and suggestions given to PW-1 that he was away from home to work as a labourer on the fields of others, PW-1 has remained steadfast about the fact that on the day of occurrence, he had not been hired by anyone. Apparently, his job is casual and he does not have the engagement of working as a labourer on fields each day. There are days of forced rest as well and the day of occurrence was one of these. The alarm, the call for rescue and the resultant noise from the assault brought PW-1 to the scene of crime from inside his house, where he was eating his meal. A close reading of the testimony of PW-1 in comparison with that of PW-2 or PW-4 shows the natural shortcomings in PW-1's account, which would be there for a witness, who suddenly reaches the spot after the alarm and almost the beginning of the assault. It is for this reason that PW-1 says that Dhanpal struck his wife with the spade (fawda) 2-3 times. On the other hand, PW-2 and PW-4, who watched the occurrence from the beginning to the end, are more graphic and accurate in their description. They have both attributed three blows of the spade to the appellant Dhanpal, almost consistent about the site of the injuries that the deceased suffered on account of the blows from the spade. The first landed on the head, the second on the face and the third on the neck. PW-1 and PW-2 are consistent about it. This aspect of the evidence would be analyzed further, later in this judgment.

35. So far as PW-4 is concerned, his description is typical to his vantage and the relative detachment that he would have as an outsider. Though, he is urged to be a natural witness, he is entirely not so. He is not an immediate neighour of the first informant and the victim, who would come rushing out upon hearing alarm like the informant himself. His house is located somewhere close by, but he has to pass by the deceased's home and the place of occurrence when proceeding from his field back to his home. The way that he treaded on the fateful day, is shown to the east of the place of occurrence and the place, we have already noted, from which he watched the occurrence, is shown by the letter 'D' in the site plan. He is in fact a chance witness in the sense that he was returning home from his field at the time of the occurrence and had opportunity to watch. The fact that he was returning home and the way he took to travel back home from his field passed by the place of occurrence, are facts that he has remained consistent about and unshaken in his testimony during a searching cross-examination at the behest of the appellants. Though a chance witness, he is not one of the kinds of those chance witnesses, whose presence at the spot must be regarded as providential or fantastic, and, therefore, suspicious. To the contrary, it is logical.

36. It is observed that all the three eye-witnesses are consistent about the time, place and manner of occurrence. Mr. Sankalp Goswami, learned Amicus Curiae, appearing for the appellants, has pointed out certain contradictions in the evidence of these three witnesses in order to show their account is undependable. It is pointed out by the learned Amicus Curiae that whereas PW-1 Ram Prasad has said in his evidence that he heard calls of alarm from his wife and son, and as he rushed out, he saw the assailants attacking his wife, but PW-2 has said that the assailants were sitting on a platform outside their house and initially they came over and forbade the deceased and PW-2 Lankush from tethering their bullocks there. When the deceased argued about the matter, the assault commenced. These are no contradictions. Rather, there are differences, as we have said elsewhere, of vantage and time, that is to say, the position from which the witness saw and the time he saw it. PW-1 Ram Prasad saw the occurrence after hearing his wife and son call rescue or raise alarm, whereas PW-2 Lankush, who had accompanied the deceased along with the bullocks, saw all the events unfold. Therefore, there is no contradiction in the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 in this regard.

37. Even if there are minor discrepancies in the accounts of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4, which are inconsequential here, such discrepancies have to be credited to differences of perception, memory and recapitulation by different men. These in no way detract from the substance of testimony, which is broadly consistent on all material facts. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in State of A.P. v. Pullagummi Kasi Reddy Krishna Reddy alias Rama Krishna Reddy and others, (2018) 7 SCC 623. In Pullagummi Kasi Reddy Krishna Reddy (supra), it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"11. .... Minor contradictions and omissions in the evidence of a witness are to be ignored if there is a ring of truth in the testimony of a witness [State of U.P. v. Dan Singh, (1997) 3 SCC 747, p. 759, para 32 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 469] . The High Court was oblivious to this settled position of law. The High Court highlighted the minor inconsistencies and omissions in the evidence of PWs 1 to 3 and PWs 5 to 7 to disbelieve them. The High Court wrongly refused to believe the eyewitnesses on the ground that they attempted to implicate as many persons as possible by making omnibus allegations. The High Court further erred in holding that PWs 1, 6 and 7, who were the eyewitnesses travelling in the jeep with the deceased, were not speaking the truth as they were close relatives and supporters of Deceased 1. The rejection of the evidence of PWs 2, 3 and 5 by the High Court on the ground that they did not attribute specific overt acts to each accused is also erroneous."

38. It is next submitted on behalf of the appellants by Mr. Goswami that two of the most vital eye-witness accounts come from the closest of kin of the deceased, and, therefore, these should be received with due caution. He submits that PW-1 Ram Prasad and PW-2 Lankush are the husband and the son of the deceased, respectively, and to repose unflinching faith in their testimony, is a perilous course. We are afraid that this submission of the learned Amicus Curiae, which equates a blood relative's testimony with interested testimony, or as they are called interested witnesses, is a fallacious submission. A related witness is not at all an interested witness. In a given situation, he might be an interested witness, if he has some motivation of his own to falsely implicate; else, there is no principle by which the testimony of a related witness is to be viewed with suspicion, treating it as one coming from the mouth of an interested witness. It has long ago been held that more often than not, a related witness would be the farthest from desiring a wrong man to be convicted and the real offender escape. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, (1953) 2 SCC 36. In Dalip Singh (supra), it was held:

"23. We are unable to agree with the learned Judges of the High Court that the testimony of the two eyewitnesses requires corroboration. If the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rule. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased, we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan [Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan, 1951 SCC 1213 at pp. 1233-34 : 1952 SCR 377 at p. 390] . We find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, if not in the judgments of the courts, at any rate in the arguments of counsel.

24. A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

39. Apart from petty squabbles, amongst relatives, particularly, who are neighbours as the one in this case about the right to tether cattle at the ladavani outside the deceased's house, or may be, some other similar petty issues, no such profound interest has been brought to our notice based on evidence, which may lead PW-1 Ram Prasad and PW-2 Lankush to falsely implicate the appellants in Birma's murder.

40. Similarly in Baban Shankar Daphal v. State of Maharashtra, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 137, relying on Dalip Singh, it has been remarked:

"29. The distinction between "interested" and "related" witnesses has been clarified in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, (1953) 2 SCC 36 : 1954 SCR 145 where this Court emphasized that a close relative is usually the last person to falsely implicate an innocent person. Therefore, in evaluating the evidence of a related witness, the court should focus on the consistency and credibility of their testimony. This approach ensures that the evidence is not discarded merely due to familial ties, but is instead assessed based on its inherent reliability and consistency with other evidence in the case. This position has been reiterated by this Court in:

i. Md. Rojali Ali v. The State of Assam Ministry of Home Affairs through secretary, (2019) 19 SCC 567;

ii. Ganapathi v. State of T.N., (2018) 5 SCC 549;

iii. Jayabalan v. Union Territory of Pondicherry, (2010) 1 SCC 199;

30. Though the eyewitnesses who have been examined in the present case were closely related to the deceased, namely his wife, daughter and son, their testimonies are consistent with respect to the accused persons being the assailants who inflicted wounds on the deceased. As is revealed from the sequence of events that transpired, one of the family members was subjected to an assault. It was thus quite natural for the other family members to rush on the spot to intervene. The presence of the family members on the spot and thus being eyewitness has been well established. In such circumstances, merely because the eyewitnesses are family members, their testimonies cannot be discarded solely on that ground."

41. We must add here that if there were any doubt, still lingering on the fidelity of the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, suspecting marriage and kinship in case of one and the other witness as the culprits tainting a truthful account of the occurrence, the testimony of PW-4, who is an utter stranger to the deceased's family, is an infallible assurance of the soundness of testimony of PW-1 and PW-2.

42. There is one feature of the matter, to which allusion must be made here. Apart from the fact that the eye-witness account is consistent about the time, place and manner of the assault in the dock evidence, there is a broad consistency between the testimony of witnesses and the FIR version. It is well-known that an FIR is not a substantive piece of evidence, but it has its own unique value. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Meharaj Singh v. State of U.P., (1994) 5 SCC 188, where it has been observed:

"12. FIR in a criminal case and particularly in a murder case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of appreciating the evidence led at the trial. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR is to obtain the earliest information regarding the circumstance in which the crime was committed, including the names of the actual culprits and the parts played by them, the weapons, if any, used, as also the names of the eyewitnesses, if any. Delay in lodging the FIR often results in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. On account of delay, the FIR not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger also creeps in of the introduction of a coloured version or exaggerated story. With a view to determine whether the FIR was lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, the courts generally look for certain external checks. One of the checks is the receipt of the copy of the FIR, called a special report in a murder case, by the local Magistrate. If this report is received by the Magistrate late it can give rise to an inference that the FIR was not lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, unless, of course the prosecution can offer a satisfactory explanation for the delay in despatching or receipt of the copy of the FIR by the local Magistrate. Prosecution has led no evidence at all in this behalf. The second external check equally important is the sending of the copy of the FIR along with the dead body and its reference in the inquest report. Even though the inquest report, prepared under Section 174 CrPC, is aimed at serving a statutory function, to lend credence to the prosecution case, the details of the FIR and the gist of statements recorded during inquest proceedings get reflected in the report. The absence of those details is indicative of the fact that the prosecution story was still in an embryo state and had not been given any shape and that the FIR came to be recorded later on after due deliberations and consultations and was then ante-timed to give it the colour of a promptly lodged FIR. In our opinion, on account of the infirmities as noticed above, the FIR has lost its value and authenticity and it appears to us that the same has been ante-timed and had not been recorded till the inquest proceedings were over at the spot by PW 8."

43. The FIR carries the earliest account of the occurrence before the adulterating factors, such as, afterthought, deliberation, manipulation and some natural distortion can affect the truthfulness of facts that form the foundation of the prosecution case. If, therefore, there is anything essentially inconsistent about the prosecution case in the FIR and that which figures in the dock evidence, it might throw a legitimate doubt. Here we find that the FIR version and the testimony of the prosecution witnesses does not vary in any material particular or fact about the time, place and manner of occurrence or almost anything of relevance to the fact in issue, except that the FIR version comes with its natural brevity of description, where all and the finer details of relevant facts cannot be expected.

44. We, therefore, hold that the prosecution have been able to establish the time, place and manner of occurrence. And, we must say that in the nature of things, the three relevant facts found established, a fortiori lead to establishment of the assailants identity.

The ocular version and the medico-legal evidence, if consistent about the prosecution case

45. While the time, place and manner of the occurrence and identity of the assailants might be held established on the evidence so far considered. Upon the establishment of these facts, it has to be determined still, if all the above facts are established beyond all reasonable doubt, because Mr. Goswami urges that there is a serious challenge to the veracity of the eye-witness account posed by the medico-legal evidence in this case, which we must consider. We will proceed to do that hereinafter.

46. It has now to be seen, if the ocular version is supported by the medico-legal evidence. The foremost parameter is the injuries sustained by the deceased medically found and opined, on one hand, and the ocular version about the manner of assault, on the other. A perusal of the autopsy report shows that the deceased sustained three incised wounds. The first is an incised wound 13 X

2cm X bone deep into right side of the face, extending 3 cm in front from tragus of the right ear, up to the middle of the nose; the second is an incised wound 7 X 3cm X trachea deep on the left side of neck; and, the third is an incised wound 3cm X 1cm X bone deep over the superior occipital protuberance. The incised wound can be attributed to assault by the spade (fowda). PW-1 Ram Prasad, who suddenly reached the place of occurrence after assault had commenced, in the nick of time to witness it, saw the appellant Dhanpal strike his wife with the spade 2-3 times. He saw the other assailant, now deceased Mitthoo, assault her with a stick (lathi), which in his cross-examination he has said that he saw one stick (lathi) blow being delivered to her, but could not see the part of her body to which it was delivered.

47. PW-2 Lankush, who was with his mother when hostilities commenced and before the assault, had concealed himself behind a wall with a vantage that enabled him to watch the occurrence at close quarters, has graphically described the assault in his cross-examination. He has said that the first blow from the spade struck his mother on the head, the second on her nose and cheek and the third on her neck. He has said in his examination-in-chief about the weapons wielded that his mother was assaulted with a spade (fowda) by Dhanpal, the appellant, and with a stick (lathi) by the deceased appellant Mitthoo, repeatedly.

48. The third eye-witness, PW-4 Devendra, in his cross-examination has said that he saw all the three blows from the spade strike the victim. The first did not make her fall, but stagger. The first blow from the spade struck the deceased on her head towards the backside; the second struck her around the temple; and, the third landed on her neck. After the deceased had fallen, Mitthoo struck her with a stick (lathi), but he could not say how many stick (lathi) blows were delivered.

49. A comparison of the ocular version of the occurrence in all its graphic detail clearly establish that three blows from the spade were delivered to the deceased, one on the head, the other on her cheek, nose and temple, and, the third on her neck. A perusal of the autopsy report shows that amongst the ante-mortem injuries noticed, there are three incised wounds, a contusion and an abrasion. The contusion is cited on the top of the left shoulder joint and the abrasion is located between both scapula, vertically downward.

50. A perusal of the testimony of PW-7 Dr. Onkar Singh, the doctor who carried out the autopsy on the deceased's cadaver, has opined in his examination-in-chief that injury Nos. 1, 2 and 3 could have been possibly caused by a spade (fowda); injury No.4 by a stick (lathi); and, injury No.5 on account of a fall. It has also been opined that the ante-mortem injuries were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The only injury, that has been the subject matter of some cross-examination of the autopsy doctor, is injury No.1. About this injury, PW-7 in his cross-examination has said that the first injury was horizontal. It is possible to sustain the same by a spade, both in the standing position and after falling down. A close comparison of the ocular version with the medico-legal evidence, spares little doubt that so far as the injuries go, there is no irreconcilable incompatibility between the ocular version and the medico-legal opinion. To the contrary, the ocular version is so pristinely supported by the medico-legal evidence that there has to be a wholehearted acceptance of the ocular evidence.

51. The next point, that has been urged by Mr. Sankalp Goswami, is that the entire prosecution case is utterly unreliable, because the time of death, consistently spoken of by the three eye-witnesses, is belied by the medico-legal evidence. The foremost point, that he urges on this score, is that whereas the time of death, according to the ocular version, is 9 o'clock, and PW-2 in his evidence has said that his mother had not eaten anything, a perusal of the autopsy report shows that the stomach had about 100 ml semi-fluid unidentified nature present under process of digestion. The autopsy report further shows that the small intestine contained some solid food material under process of digestion an unidentified matter. The large intestine contained faecal matter, sticking to the walls. Mr. Goswami would urge that from the commonly prevailing bowel habits in rural areas, the deceased would have relieved herself in the morning, leaving no faecal matter in the large intestine. It is further emphasized that also by the prevalent practice in rural areas, food is eaten in the morning, but invariably after the men folk have partaken of it. It has come in the evidence of PW-2 that his father was eating food in the morning, but PW-2 and his mother had not eaten anything. Mr. Goswami has invited our attention to the following part of the testimony of PW-2, occurring in his cross-examination:

"जब मैं घर से बाहर मवेशी बांधने आया था उस समय मेरे पिता रोटी खा रहे थे, मैं या मेरी मां ने रोटी नहीं खाया था, मेरी मां ने मेरे सामने कुछ नहीं खाया था,....."

52. It is argued with much emphasis by the learned Amicus Curiae that at 9 o'clock in a rural setting, not only would the large intestine be free of any faecal matter, but given the fact that the man of the house was eating his food, there is no reason to believe that the deceased would have eaten before him. This is dictated by such a consistent phenomena of the times when the incident happened, particularly in the rural social milieu that it is impossible to imagine that the woman of the house would have eaten before her husband, which has to be the case, if the contents of the digestive system of the deceased are taken into account and the time of her death given by the witnesses believed. Also, it is argued that there is positive evidence coming from PW-2, who would have accurate knowledge of the fact that his mother had not eaten anything until time they moved out of house to tether the bullocks.

53. Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned A.G.A., has opposed this part of the submission and argued that a dependable ocular account cannot be discarded on the basis of such assumed consistencies of eating and bowel movement habits.

54. We have given our thoughtful consideration to this part of the matter. Generally speaking, it is true that almost persons, and particularly those in the rural areas early morning relieving of the bowels, is part of the daily routine. But, this is not an infallible standard or a thumb rule. There are individualities of each person's system and problems, like constipation which may present a different condition of the stomach and intestines. So far as the contents of the stomach and the small intestine are concerned, it is true that, generally speaking, women folk in the rural areas at the relevant time could not eat before men, but that too is not a universal truth. There could be individual habits, some associated with the socioeconomic class to which an individual belonged. The evidence of PW-2 that his mother had not eaten anything, though evidence aliunde on the point, is not so infallible as to disbelieve a consistent ocular evidence of three witnesses, two natural and relatives and one outsider and a chance witness, whose presence was well explained.

55. It sometimes does happen that a person may not necessarily pay heed to an insignificant event, like some food being partaken in the early morning hours by another in the family for reasons best understood by the person, who has done so. An indifferent or unconventionally timed consumption of food, cannot be ruled out in the face of consistent ocular evidence, which on some parameter, may be incompatible with it. In this connection, reference may be made to Jitender Kumar v. State of Haryana, (2012) 6 SCC 204. In Jitender Kumar (supra), the following remarks of the Supreme Court are very pertinent:

"50. The entire basis for this submission is the statement of PW 3, Dr L.L. Bundela, who stated that the stomach of the deceased contained some semi-digested food. It is worthwhile to note that the statement of this very witness that the death of Indra could have taken place between 1.00 to 1.30 a.m. remained unchallenged. Furthermore, it cannot be stated as a rule of universal application that after a lapse of two to three hours stomach of every individual, without exception, would become empty. It would depend upon a number of other factors like the caloric content and character of the solid food. Further, addition of fats, triglycerides and carbohydrates such as glucose, fructose and xylose to a solid meal can delay its emptying from the stomach, presumably because of their effect on the initial lag phase of digestion of solids. Furthermore, the presence of liquids in the stomach prolongs this initial lag phase of solid emptying. In fact, ingestion of a liquid bolus 90 minutes after a solid meal can induce a second lag phase of solid emptying from the stomach.

51. Foods high in fat content are handled duly by the stomach and their emptying pattern should be considered separately from those of other liquids and solids. Many foods are solid or semi-solid prior to their ingestion. However, after they are consumed and warmed to the body temperature in the stomach, they are converted into a liquid. Despite this, the liquid foods are emptied from the stomach much more slowly than are the aqueous liquids. This aspect has been dealt with by prominent authors on the subject with definite emphasis on the emptying of the stomach.

52. The gastric emptying of indigestible solids has been appropriately dealt with in the Textbook of Gastroenterology, Vol. 1, by Tadataka Yamada, David H. Alpers, Chung Owyang, Don W. Powell and Fred E. Silverstein as follows:

"Gastric emptying of indigestible solids. The final class of consumed components of a meal to be discussed are the indigestible solids, that non-nutritive fibrous debris remaining from a meal that is not emptied with the dispersible, calorie containing digestible solids. In general, indigestible solids exit the stomach with initiation of the gastric Phase III activity of the MMC after completion of the fed motor pattern. The main characteristic that distinguishes the Phase III motor pattern from fed motor activity is the presence of an open pylorus during fasting, which permits intestinal delivery of large particles.

The major factor in determining when an indigestible solid is emptied from the stomach is its size. Indigestible spheres smaller than 1 mm in diameter freely pass into the intestine during the fed period, often at rates faster than solid nutritive food. Larger spheres pass more slowly, usually after an initial lag period, with spheres up to 2.4 mm in diameter passing with the calorie containing components of a solid meal. Spheres as large as 7 mm do not empty with solid food at all and are retained until gastric Phase III activity resumes in the interdigestive period. It has been reported that undigested materials as large as 2 cm in diameter can pass into the intestine during the fasting period under normal conditions.

Other physical factors play a role in determining the gastric emptying of indigestible solid material."

53. Besides the above, with regard to the external regulation of gastric emptying, it has been stated that in addition to being controlled by various characteristics of the ingested bolus within the stomach, there is extensive modulation of gastric emptying by external influences. Gastric motility and emptying is also subject to extensive modulation by the central nervous system. The nutritional properties of an ingested liquid modify the speed at which it exits the stomach. Because of this, carbohydrate, protein or fat containing liquids can be digested and absorbed completely prior to reaching the distal small intestine. Certain physical characteristics of the ingested meal may alter the function of the stomach to selectively retain or expel the large particles. If the viscosity of the meal is increased sufficiently, the ability of the stomach to discriminate between large and small particles is abolished and much larger particles may be delivered into the duodenum.

54. The above findings are based on medical studies and are well established in the field of gastroenterology.

55. It may be useful at this stage to refer to Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology (23rd Edn.) which has specifically concluded that there is no absolute and definite standard that every human being would empty his stomach within two to three hours of taking the meals, irrespective of what kind of meal had been taken by the person concerned.

56. Judging the time of death from the contents of the stomach, may not always be the determinative test. It will require due corroboration from other evidence. If the prosecution is able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and cumulatively, the evidence of the prosecution, including the time of death, is proved beyond reasonable doubt and the same points towards the guilt of the accused, then it may not be appropriate for the court to wholly reject the case of the prosecution and to determine the time of death with reference to the stomach contents of the deceased.

57. While discussing various judgments of this Court, Modi in the aforesaid book at p. 543 has recorded as under:

"... The state of the contents of the stomach found at the time of medical examination is not a safe guide for determining the time of the occurrence because that would be a matter of speculation, in the absence of reliable evidence on the question as to when the deceased had his last meal and what that meal consisted of (Masji Tato Rawool v. State of Maharashtra [(1971) 3 SCC 416 : 1971 SCC (Cri) 664] , Gopal Singh v. State of U.P. [(1978) 3 SCC 327 : 1978 SCC (Cri) 398 : AIR 1979 SC 1822] , Sheo Darshan v. State of U.P. [(1972) 3 SCC 74 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 394]). The presence of faecal matter in the intestines is not conclusive, as the deceased might be suffering from constipation. Where there is positive direct evidence about the time of occurrence, it is not open to the court to speculate about the time of occurrence by the presence of faecal matter in the intestines (Sheo Darshan v. State of U.P. [(1972) 3 SCC 74 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 394]). The question of time of death of the victim should not be decided only by taking into consideration the state of food in the stomach. That may be a factor which should be considered along with other evidence, but that fact alone cannot be decisive (Ram Prakash v. State of U.P. [(1969) 1 SCC 48])"

58. Such an approach would even otherwise be justifiable as in some cases the evidence may not be sufficient to establish as to what the last meal was and what article of food, if any, was taken by the deceased. So also, the □sluggish chronometric sense of the countryside community of India is notorious□ and even urban folk make mistakes about time, when there is no particular reason to observe and remember a minor event like taking of a morning meal. In such circumstances where semi-digested food was found in the stomach, the contention, that it must be inferred from it that the occurrence must have taken place after the deceased had taken his evening meal may not be accepted.

59. This Court in Shivappa v. State of Karnataka [(2008) 11 SCC 337 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 143] stated the dictum that medical opinion is admissible in evidence like all other types of evidence and there is no hard-and-fast rule with regard to appreciation of medical evidence. It is not to be treated as sacrosanct in its absolute terms. Agreeing with the view expressed in Modi's book on Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, this Court recorded that so far as the food contents are concerned, they remain for long hours in the stomach and the duration thereof depends upon various other factors.

"18. Indisputably, a large number of factors are responsible for drawing an inference with regard to the digestion of food. It may be difficult if not impossible to state exactly the time which would be taken for the purpose of digestion." (Shivappa case [(2008) 11 SCC 337 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 143] , SCC p. 343, para 18)

60. Similarly, in Jabar Singh v. State of Rajasthan [1994 SCC (Cri) 1745] the Court was dealing with the evidence of DW 1 who had opined that since there was some semi-digested food, the occurrence must have taken place earlier and not at 3.00 a.m. The Court reiterated the principle that this was an opinion evidence and the possibility of the deceased having eaten late in the night could not be ruled out.

61. In view of the above medical references, the view expressed in Modi's book (supra paras 55 and 57) and the principles stated in the judgments of this Court, it can safely be predicated that determination of the time of death solely with reference to the stomach contents is not a very certain and determinative factor. It is one of the relevant considerations. The medical evidence has to be examined in light of the entire evidence produced by the parties. It is certainly a relevant factor and can be used as a significant tool by the court for coming to the conclusion as to the time of death of the deceased but other factors and circumstances cannot be ignored. The court should examine the collective or cumulative effect of the prosecution evidence along with the medical evidence to arrive at the correct conclusion.□

56. This point, that we are presently considering, also appears to have been argued before the Trial Judge and we consider it necessary to record his remarks in rejecting a similar contention urged on behalf of the appellant, who was an accused at the trial. The learned Trial Judge has held in this regard:

"The second ground of attack is that there is difference in the medical and oral evidence. The learned counsel for the accused contended that according to the postmortem report, the stomach contained about 100ml. semi digested food material of unidentified nature under process of digestion. The doctor also found that small intestine contained unidentified semi-solid food material under process of digestion while large intestine contained faecal matter. The doctor stated in cross-examination that the deceased might not have eased herself at the time of death. The learned counsel referred the statement of Lankush P.W.2 who stated that when he had gone to tether the cattle he had not eaten anything. His mother also had not eaten anything in his presence. The doctor Onkar Singh stated that there could be difference of six hours in the time of death either way. On the basis of this evidence, the learned counsel for the accused contended that the lady would have taken her meals in the evening at about 10 or 11:00 P.M. and she would have been murdered sometime at about 2 or 3:00 A.M. and that is why the undigested food material in the process of digestion and faecal matter was found. He contended that in villages, the ladies go to ease themselves normally early in the morning. Therefore, if the murder would have been committed at about 9:00 A.M. the faecal matter could not have been found in her face stomach. He contended that according to the son, the mother had not eaten anything on that day. Therefore, if the murder would have been committed at 9:00 A.M. there would have been no semi-digested food material under process of digestion. On this basis, he contended that this a very strong circumstance that the murder was committed sometime in the night. This argument appears to be convincing. But when we look into the evidence closely and the circumstances, we find that this argument cannot be accepted as there is direct evidence of the murder. The postmortem shows that only 100 ml semi digested food-material was found under process of digestion. The occurrence took place in the month of August. The sun rises at about 6:00 A.M. in the month of August and we can take judicial notice of it. It has come in evidence that the deceased was Jatav by Caste. She belonged to a labour class. It is not unnatural or improbable for a labour class to take breakfast early in the morning at 6 or 7:00 A.M. because thereafter they go for work. The boy Lankush P.W.2 did not remain till he rose from the bed, till the incident with his mother.

He only said when his mother, did not eat in his presence. It was not necessary for the mother to have eaten something in the presence of this boy. Normally in villages, the ladies do the domestic work rising early in the morning. Therefore, if the deceased also would have risen early in the morning and would have taken some breakfast, Lankush P.W.2 could not have seen. If she took the breakfast early in the morning it was quite right, for the doctor to have found semi digested food-material under process of digestion. As regards faecal matter, that was found in very small quantity. I think had the deceased been patient of constipation, the faecal matter could have been found even if she had eased herself. It depends on the habit of every individual. If it would have been the habit of Smt.Birma Devi not to go to ease in the morning, it cannot be said to be an improbability or unnaturality. Therefore, to my mind, the medical report is not such which may be said to be contrary to the oral evidence. We cannot conclude on the basis of the postmortem report that the death would have been caused some time in the night by unknown assailants."

57. The learned Trial Judge has reasoned along lines similar that commend to us. The learned Trial Judge though has remarked about the eating habits amongst the labour classes of the time with a more contemporaneous perception than ours, but it leads to the same result, may be for slightly different reasons. The learned Trial Judge has remarked that amongst the working or the labour classes, women folk get up early and since they have to go out to work, they eat early too. We have thought that in the times harking back to the 1980s, women in the rural areas normally ate after the men, and on that basis still we have thought that Birma could have eaten an early meal or a half meal, unnoticed by PW-2 or anyone else. But, we have no reason to discard the learned Trial Judge's understanding of the matter, who tried the case in those times, just 14 months after the occurrence and had the advantage of better knowing the habits of the parties before him with reference to their social background etc. Whichever way, the matter is looked at, Birma eating a quick meal or a half meal early in the morning, is not such an impossibility that on the basis of the contents of her stomach and small intestine, one may doubt an otherwise dependable and consistent by ocular version of the three eye-witnesses about the time of occurrence. We, therefore, decline to accept the submission advanced on behalf of the appellant that Birma died under some different set of circumstances, at a different hour of the clock than that propounded by the prosecution.

58. The next submission to question the time of death that the learned Amicus Curiae has advanced is the formation of blisters and the foul smells emitting from the body, which the autopsy doctor noticed. The autopsy was done on 23.08.1985 at 3.00 p.m. and death, according to the ocular version, occurred on 22.08.1985 at 9.00 a.m. Therefore, there was a lapse of time period of about 30 hours between the time of death and the postmortem examination. The learned Amicus Curiae emphasizes that the presence of blisters shows that the time of death would have been between 36-48 hours. He has drawn the Court's attention to the following passage in Medicolegal Postmortems in India by Dr. C. K. Parikh, where at page No.31 of the Treatise, it is said:

"Changes in skin, hair and wounds: Putrefactive blisters (blebs or bullae) appear under the skin in about 36-48 hours. They should not be confused with blisters from burns. A putrefactive blister contains mainly gas and little reddish coloured fluid. When punctured, gas escapes; and the blister being a post- mortem phenomenon, there is no evidence of a vital reaction. However, when a putrefactive blister breaks, patches of raw skin simulating fresh scalds may be seen."

59. Thirty hours since death according to the autopsy doctor and 36-48 hours for the appearance of putrefactive blisters is not such a variation in time that what is noticed in the postmortem report, may be held to belie the ocular version about the time of death. The question fell for consider before a three Judge Bench of the Supreme Court in Daryao Singh v. State of M.P., (1991) 2 SCC 588, where after a reference to Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology (20th Edition), it was held:

"11. Counsel for the appellant, however, emphasised that the statement of PW 2 in cross-examination clearly establishes the existence of blisters, an objective fact, which clearly supports the defense theory that death had taken place 14 to 20 days prior to the date on which the post-mortem examination was held and thereby disprove the prosecution version that the victim of assault died on the evening of September 25, 1970. It is interesting to note that the table on which the learned counsel for the appellant relies is omitted from the 19th and 20th edition of the book. But that apart at pages 128-129 to the book (20th edn.) it is stated as under:

"From twelve to eighteen hours after death in summer the green coloration spreads over the entire abdomen and the external genitals . Side by side with the appearance of the greenish patch on the abdomen the body begins to emit a nauseating and unpleasant smell owing to gradual development of the gases of decomposition, some of which are sulphuretted hydrogen, marsh gas, carbon dioxide, ammonia and phosphoretted hydrogen.

From twelve to eighteen hours after death in summer these gases collect in the intestine, consequently abdomen swells up. The sphincters relax, and the urine and faeces may escape.

From eighteen to thirty-six or forty-eight hours after death the gases collect in the tissues, cavities and hollow viscera under considerable pressure with the result that the features become bloated and distorted, the eyes are forced out of their sockets, the tongue is protruded between the teeth, and the lips become swollen and everted. A frothy, reddish fluid or mucus is forced from the mouth and nostrils. Ultimately the features become obliterated and unrecognizable. The abdomen becomes greatly distended; hence on opening the cavity the gas escapes with a loud explosive noise. Owing to the pressure of the gases the stomach contents are forced into the mouth and larynx and are seen running out of the mouth and nostrils. The breast of female bodies are greatly distended. The penis and scrotum become enormously swollen. The cellular tissues are inflated throughout, so that the whole body appears stouter and older than it actually is.

These gases form blisters under the skin containing a reddish coloured fluid on the various parts of the body. When these bursts, the cuticle being softened peels off easily. These are characterised by absence of vital reaction."

It will thus be seen that blisters appear after the process of decomposition sets in within eighteen to forty-eight hours. It shows that the existence of blisters does not mean that death had taken place 14 to 20 days ago. That is why PW 2 is cautious to use the phraseology "the duration of the injury since death could be 14 to 20 days also". Having regard to the nature of the direct testimony to which we have adverted earlier and the passage reproduced above, we find it difficult to accept the belated submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the opinion of the medical expert PW 2 destroys the version of the prosecution witnesses, particularly PWs 1, 3, 4 and 10, that the deceased suffered a fatal wound on the evening of September 25, 1970 to which he succumbed on that very day. We, therefore, reject this submission.

(emphasis by Court)

60. Now, here the blistering has been noticed after 30 hours, whereas relying on Modi's opinion expressed in his Treaties, it has been held by their Lordships of the Supreme Court that blistering could occur within 18-48 hours. Going by the passage in Dr. Parikh, upon which Mr. Goswami has relied as well, blistering could happen between 36-48 hours. Eighteen-Forty Eight hours, as held by the Supreme Court in Daryao Singh (supra), would squarely explain the blistering. Dr. Parikh's opinion apparently too would not make it entirely incompatible with the time of death based on ocular evidence. Apart from all other things, where there is a robust and consistent ocular testimony of a dependable character, medico-legal evidence, like any other opinion evidence, pales into insignificance unless the incompatibility be of such contrast that both cannot be true. That is not even remotely the case here. We cannot, therefore, accept the learned Amicus Curiae's submission on this score as well to hold that the time of occurrence, which the prosecution have come up with, is an impossibility in the face of medico-legal evidence. To the contrary, broadly speaking, the medico-legal evidence is consistent with the ocular testimony.

If the appellants have a plausible defence and the defence evidence read together, creates a doubt about the prosecution case

61. In the statement of the appellant Dhanpal under Section 313 Cr.P.C., he has generally denied the circumstances appearing against him by words of cryptic denial, like 'it is wrong', false report has been made', □has nothing to say□, 'out of enmity'. In answer to the question, if the appellant had anything further to say, it was stated by the appellant Dhanpal:

"देवेन्द्र गवाह सबूत मुझसे जेल मिलने आया था। कहा कि 5000/- दो, नहीं तो गवाही दूँगा।"

62. In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., therefore, there is no wholesome explanation of the evidence and the circumstances appearing against him, except that the credit of one of the three eye-witnesses, Devendra (PW-4) is sought to be impeached in order to establish that Devendra was an unreliable witness and he testified against him because Dhanpal refused to bribe him an offer, which PW-4 made to Dhanpal, during his jail visit. The appellant has examined DW-1 Shiv Swarup. DW-1 Shiv Swarup was an Assistant Jailer, posted at the District Jail Etah at the relevant time, when Dhanpal was there as an under-trial. He has testified to the fact that Devendra had gone to meet the appellant Dhanpal on 13.01.1986 along with two others, Sonvir and Urmila. They met him on the said day. This witness in his examination-in-chief has testified:

"13.1.86 को भी मैं जि. कारागार एटा में वहैसियत असिसटेंट जेलर तैनात था। उस दिन का जेल का मिलाई राजिस्टर व पर्ची लेकर आया हूँ। धनपाल पुत्र नंन्नू मुलजीम से मिलने देवेन्द्र गया था। उसके साथ दो आदमी सोनवीर व उर्मिला भी थे। इनके नाम के आदमियों ने बन्दी धनपाल से उस दिन मुलाकात किया था। मिलाई पर्ची व मिलाई राजिस्टर मेरे सामने है जिसे देखकर मैं यह व्यान दे रहा हूँ।"

63. In his cross-examination, this witness has said:

"देवेन्द्र का वल्दियत का सकूनत मिलाई पर्ची या रजिस्टर मे नही लिखा है। देवेन्द्र का निशानी अंगूठा पर्ची पर लगाते है। लेकिन उसे किसी से वेरीफाई नही कराया गया है। कोई भी आदमी जो अपना नाम बताता है, उसी नाम से पुकार की जाती है व मिलाई कराई जाती है। एक पर्ची पर 3 आदमी से ज्यादा मिलाई करने वाले नहीं हो सकते है। सोनवीर व उर्मिला का भी कोई पता पर्ची में नही लिखा है। पर्ची मे पृष्ठ भाग पर बन्दी पता लिखा जाता है। मैं पर्ची दखिल कर रहा हूँ।"

64. From a reading of this witness's testimony, including his cross-examination, it is apparent that DW-1 was an Assistant Jailer, who did not know PW-4 Devendra personally. He was testifying on the basis of record. His cross-examination establishes in ample measure that he could not at all say that the man Devendra, who met Dhanpal on 13.01.1986, was the same man as PW-4. The witness has said that there is no record of Devendra's parentage and residence in the meeting register or the meeting slip, the two documents, on the basis of which, he was testifying. There is a thumb impression of the visitor Devendra on the meeting slip, but he has not got it verified, if it was of PW-4 Devendra. DW-1 has also said in his cross-examination that a visitor, who discloses any name for himself, is called by that name and permitted to meet a prisoner, whom he has come to meet. It is also said that Sonvir and Urmila are not recorded on the meeting slip and that three persons can meet on a single slip. Though, it is said that on one part of the slip, the prisoner's address is written and he was submitting the slip, the testimony of DW-1 does not even remotely establish that it was PW-4 indeed, who met Dhanpal. The Trial Judge has remarked that if it was Devendra, who met the appellant Dhanpal, it shows that it was Dhanpal, who wanted to win over the witness, but PW-4 Devendra did not fall for his offer and testified truthfully according to the call of his conscience.

65. Even if we do not agree with the latter part of the learned Trial Judge's reasoning, there is no cavil about the first part, which has also weighed with the learned Trial Judge that DW-1 has not at all been able to establish that it was Devendra after all, who met the appellant Dhanpal in Jail. The testimony of DW-1, therefore, does not further the appellant's case, much less create any doubt about the prosecution case. It does not, in any manner, impeach the reliability or the credit of PW-4 Devendra.

66. It has also been put to PW-4, if he went to the Etah Jail on 09.12.1985 and met the appellant Dhanpal. It was also asked of him, if there was any one else besides him by his name in the village. He has said that there is no other man by his name in the village. In answer to the question, if he went to meet Dhanpal, he has said that he did not know if he went to the District Jail Etah to meet Dhanpal or not. This, though, is an elusive reply, but the witness has also said that if the prosecution produce any evidence to show that he indeed went and met Dhanpal, he will then answer it. The suggestion was also given to the witness that he demanded money of Dhanpal and since Dhanpal did not pay, he testified against him. He was non-committal about meeting Dhanpal in jail. Before the credit of this witness could be impeached on the ground that he was testifying against Dhanpal out of a retaliatory motive because he had demanded money, which was not paid by the appellant, it is the defence's burden to establish that indeed Devendra (PW-4) met Dhanpal in the District Jail Etah. Devendra in his testimony did not admit the fact that he went to the District Jail Etah or met Dhanpal. He might have been elusive about it, but that does establish the fact because the witness meeting the appellant in Jail is a positive fact, that has to be established. It could be established either by Devendra admitting to it in his cross-examination, or by evidence to that effect being produced in defence.

67. The appellant Dhanpal did endeavour to produce evidence after taking a plea to that effect in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., but the evidence that he produced, that is to say, DW-1, an Assistant Jailer, posted at the relevant time at the District Jail Etah, could not prove that in fact PW-4 Devendra ever met the appellant Dhanpal in Jail. He has evidence with him to show that a man, called Devendra, met Dhanpal in Jail, but there is nothing on record to show that it was indeed Devendra (PW-4), who met the appellant. Notwithstanding the fact that there is no man by the name Devendra in the village other than PW-4, the records, which DW-1 produced before the Court, are utterly wanting on the parentage and address of the man Devendra, who met Dhanpal in Jail. In the absence of the address of the visitor, who met Dhanpal in Jail, it cannot be said that it was PW-4, who met him notwithstanding his admission that there is no man by his name in the village. After all, it could well have been another Devendra from another village or place. This is particularly so as the parentage of the visitor is also not recorded. On the visitors or the meeting slip, there is a thumb impression of the man, who met Dhanpal, called Devendra. No endeavour was made by the appellant to get the thumb impression on the slip, which the Jailer had on him, compared with that of the witness Devendra, a step which could very easily have been taken at the relevant time, the parties having gone to trial within 14 months of the occurrence and the defence witness, the Assistant Jailer (DW-1), being examined on 12.01.1987. Memories, records and even thumb impressions, would have been sparklingly fresh at the time. The appellant's failure to get the thumb impression of PW-4 compared with that on the visitors or the meeting slip that DW-1 produced in Court, shows that the appellant knew that Devendra, who came to meet him, was another man. On a wholesome analysis of this part of the evidence, we hold that it could not be established by the appellant that PW-4 went to the District Jail Etah and met him at all, let alone the conversation they had or the impact thereof on the witness's credit.

68. This takes us to the other defence witness. He is a Lekhpal and has endeavoured to show by his evidence that PW-4's field is located elsewhere than that described by him. Merely because there was an error in the description of boundaries of his field by PW-4, it cannot be said that the broad and robust evidence about the place wherefrom the witness saw the occurrence, can be doubted. It has been remarked by the Trial Judge that PW-4 had recently bought the field, that is to say, within a period of 6-7 months of the time that he was making a statement about it or testifying, and, therefore, could be mistaken for its location with reference to its boundaries. On this issue and generally about the credit of this witness, the learned Trial Judge has remarked:

"The learned counsel also contended that the boundary told by this witness does not tally with the boundary, as is clear from the statement of Lekhpal, Brij Kishore D. W.2. It is true that from the statement of Lekhpal, the boundary told by this witness does not tally. But the defence has got clarified the position by putting certain questions from this witness in which he clarified that he had purchased that land only 6 or 7 months back. In these circumstances, if this witness could not tell the correct boundary of his field that cannot be a reason to discard his testimony. This witness does not belong to the caste of the parties. There is nothing on the record to show that he has got any enmity with the accused or affiliation with the complainant. No motive could be shown for this witness to depose falsely against the accused. The statement of this witness is natural and probable. He is an independent eye-witness. Therefore, I place reliance on his testimony."

69. It has to be borne in mind that the offence, subject matter of this appeal, was committed on 22.08.1985 and judgment was delivered by the learned Trial Judge on 31.01.1987, that is to say, within a period of about one and a half years. Not only the witness's memories about the incident were fresh, but their testimony was heard by the same Trial Judge, who rendered judgment in the case, that is say, Mr. A.B. Shukla, IV Additional District and Sessions Judge. For the said reason, it is evident that the Trial Judge had the advantage of watching the demeanour of PW-4 in Court as he went through his cross-examination and generally testified in Court. In the face of all the discrediting questions and matters placed before the witness, the Trial Judge has found his credit unimpeached and the witness reliable. This is a matter, where the Trial Judge has a distinct advantage over us as he watched the witness's demeanour, which did not. There is no reason, therefore, to take a different view of the creditworthiness of this witness merely because he faltered on describing the boundaries of his field located in the village or the adjoining village. We, therefore, hold that the testimony of PW-4 is of unshaken credit and sterling in character. The learned Trial Judge has rightly placed reliance on it. We, therefore, hold that read as a whole, the appellant, by his evidence and the defence that he has taken, has not succeeded even remotely in creating a plausible doubt about the prosecution case. On the other hand, we hold that the prosecution by their evidence have proved their case beyond all reasonable doubt.

70. In the result, this appeal fails and is dismissed. The appellant Dhanpal is in jail. He will serve out the sentence awarded to him.

71. Let this judgment and order be communicated to the appellant Dhanpal through the Jail Superintendent of the Jail, wherever he is serving by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etah.

72. This judgment and order shall be communicated to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Etah by the Registrar (Compliance).

73. Let the lower court records be returned.

(2026) 5 ILRA 783
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SALIL KUMAR RAI, J.
THE HON'BLE DR. AJAY KUMAR-II, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 462 of 2003

Lila & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether appellant (survived appellant) had motive to commit murder.
Whether FIR was promptly lodged.
Whether non-examination of witness is fatal.
Whether prosecution proved case beyond reasonable doubt.
Whether multiple fractures on head could be caused by knife blows.

HEADNOTES

Criminal Law – Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Section 374(2), 313 - Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Sections 34, 120-B, 302 - Arms Act – Sections 4, 25: - Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) CrPC - filed against conviction and sentence – since appellant no. 1 of instant appeal as well as other appellants of connected appeals were died during pendency of appeal, therefore present appeal survives only for appellant no. 2 - Sessions Trial - arising from FIR - offence under Sections 302/34 IPC and 4/25 Arms Act - The prosecution case was that due to a long-standing land dispute, accused persons were attacked on victim – investigation - recovery of weapons, including knife from survived-appellant - charge-sheet - trial initiated – appellant pleaded false implication, denial of presence, and challenged credibility of eye-witnesses and recovery – evaluation of evidence – Court finds that, land dispute as motive is established - FIR promptly lodged - non-examination of one eye-witness not fatal - medical evidence corroborated testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 - fractures consistent with repeated knife blows - recovery of knife on pointing out of appellant proved - post-mortem corroborated incised wounds and fractures - defence plea rejected – Held, conviction under Section 302/34 IPC and Section 4/25 Arms Act justified - Appeal dismissed - conviction and sentence affirmed - surviving appellant to serve remaining sentence imposed by trial court.

(Para – 90, 91, 95, 97, 98, 99, 101)

Appeal Dismissed. (E-11)

CASE LAW CITED

Mahendra Singh & Others v. State of U.P., (2022) 7 SCC 157
Deny Bora v. State of Assam, (2014) 14 SCC 22
Joginder Singh v. State of Haryana, (2014) 11 SCC 335
Harvinder Singh @ Bacchu v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2023 SCC OnLine SC 1347

LIST OF ACTS

Indian Penal Code (IPC) – Code of Criminal Procedure (Cr.P.C.) – Arms Act.

LIST OF KEYWORDS

Murder, Land dispute, Common intention, Knife recovery, Eye-witness testimony, FIR promptness, Post-mortem corroboration, Defence witnesses, Arms Act, Section 302 IPC.

CASE ARISING FROM

Sessions Trial No. 148/1998 (State v. Mukesh & others) under Section 302/34 IPC.
Sessions Trial No. 149/1998 (State v. Mukesh & others) under Sections 25 & 4/25 Arms Act.
Police Station Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri Jitendra Kumar Shishodia, assisted by Shri Arvind Giri, Swati Pandey, Shri Pranshu Gupta.
Counsel for Respondent(s): Ms. Archana Singh.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Ajay Kumar-II, J.)

1. Heard Shri Jitendra Kumar Shishodia, Advocate assisted by Shri Arvind Giri, Advocate, Ms. Swati Pandey, Advocate as well as Shri Pranshu Gupta, Advocate for appellant no. 2 and Ms. Archana Singh, Advocate, representing the State-respondent and perused the record.

2. The instant Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) of Cr.P.C. has been filed against the judgment and order dated 27.01.2003 passed by Additional and Sessions Judge, Ghaziabad in Sessions Trial No. 148/1998, arising out of Case Crime No. 47/1998, (State vs. Mukesh and others), under Section 302/34 IPC and in Sessions Trial No. 149/1998, (State vs. Mukesh and others) under Sections 25 & 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad, convicting and sentencing the appellants for the offence under Section 302/34 IPC for life imprisonment and Rs.10,000/- fine and in default of payment of fine, one year additional rigorous imprisonment and under Section 25 and Section 4/25 Arms Act for one year and six months rigorous imprisonment respectively.

3. During the pendency of the instant appeal, the appellant no.1 Leela had died and appeal against him was declared to have abated vide order dated 17.03.2023. In connected Criminal Appeal No. 552/2003, the appellant no.1 Mukesh had died on 18.10.2017 and the appellant no.2 Bablu had died on 17.08.20214, appeal against them was declared to have abated vide order dated 17.03.2023. The instant appeal survives adjudication only so far as it concerns the appellant no. 2 Pravesh.

4. Brief facts of the case are that the informant Mahipal filed an oral report at Police Station Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad stating that he had a land dispute case pending against Chheda, resident of his village, since around 1972. After Chheda's death, his sons Mukesh and Bablu alias Pappu were pursuing the case on his behalf. The informant had won the case in the Court of the Munsif Magistrate. Thereafter, the informant had also obtained a decree against Mukesh in connection with the case. Due to this case, Mukesh and his brother Bablu alias Pappu harbored enmity towards him and his son Jagpal Singh. On 16.04.1998, his son Jagpal and his brother-in-law (Sadhu) Shri Om, were going together on a bicycle from their village to Hapur via Sapnawat to meet lawyer regarding case. The informant and Rohtash Singh were following them on foot. His son Jagpal and his brother-in-law were about 50-60 steps ahead of them. At around 8:45 am, as they reached the culvert near Eklaidi on the canal embankment, four persons came from the direction of Eklaidi. These persons were Mukesh, Bablu alias Pappu, Pravesh, and Leela, all from their village. Mukesh said, "Let's see how he takes the land. Kill the bastard!" Then Pravesh and Leela hit Jagpal with sticks, causing him to fall off his bicycle. Mukesh then fired a shot from country-made pistol at Jagpal with intention to kill him, but the shot missed. Then, while Jagpal was lying on the ground, Mukesh attacked him with country made pistol and Bablu attacked him with a knife. Shri Om shouted and ran towards Eklaidi. They both also shouted, but Mukesh pointed the barrel of his country made pistol to them, so they jumped into the canal to save their lives. Hearing the commotion, many people from Eklaidi village chased these four accused. Mukesh was apprehended in sugarcane field of Amar Pal, but he managed to escape.

5. On the basis of aforementioned Written Report/Tehrir (Ex.Ka-1), a First Information Report bearing Case Crime No. 47/1998, under Section 302 IPC was registered on 10.04.1998 at 10:30 am at Police Station Dhaulana against the accused. Thereafter, the Investigating Officer Mahendra Pal Singh PW-5, who was posted as the then S.H.O., Dhaulana Police Station, started the investigation himself and recorded the statements of the informant Mahipal and Head Constable Mulchand Verma. He inspected the place of incident and prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka-9) of the place of incident. The Investigating Officer collected the blood stained and plain soil from the place of incident and prepared its recovery memo (Ex.Ka-5). Head Constable Mulchand PW-3 prepared recovery memo of a bicycle (Ex.Ka-6) and also of documents related to the deceased (Ex.Ka7). Thereafter, the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of the witness Rohtash. The inquest report (Ex.Ka-8) was prepared by Head Constable Mulchand PW-3 in his presence. Thereafter, he raided the houses of accused persons and recorded the statements of other witnesses. On 27.04.1998, the accused Mukesh, Bablu alias Pappu and Pravesh were taken into police custody for questioning and their statements were recorded. They were again taken into police custody on 02.05.1998 and a country made pistol was recovered on pointing out of accused Mukesh and a knife each on the pointing out of Bablu and Pravesh. The recovery memo (Ex.Ka-5) was prepared and sealed at the place of incident. The site plan (Ex.Ka-4) of the place of recovery was also prepared and thereafter statements of Smt. Gurdevi, Sushila Devi and Priyanka and others were also recorded.

6. On 11.04.1998 at 10:30 am, the autopsy of deceased Jagpal was performed by Dr. Shyam Khandelwal PW-4 at the District Hospital, Ghaziabad, who found following injuries on his person:

1. Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on occipital region of the head, with a fracture of the underlying bone. Blood clots were present in brain matter and the brain was lacerated.

2. Incised wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm, bone deep, on the left side of the forehead, in the middle part.

3. Incised wound 3 cm x 0.5 cm x bone deep above the left eyebrow.

4. Incised wound 1 1/2 cm x bone deep on the left side of the forehead above the left eyebrow. The underlying bone was found to be fractured. Blood clots were present in the brain. The brain was ruptured.

5. Incised wound 3 cm x 1 cm x skin deep, above the root of the nose.

6. Incised wound 4 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on the chin.

7. Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x bone deep just above injury number 6.

8. Multiple abrasions in an area of 28 cm x 13 cm on the front of the neck and right shoulder. Size ranging from 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm to 4 cm x 5 cm.

As per opinion of the Doctor, the cause of death of the deceased was due to coma resulting from the injuries sustained on the body of the deceased.

7. After completion of the investigation, charge sheet (Ex.Ka-10) was submitted against the accused under Sections 302/34 and 120B IPC and a separate charge sheet was filed against the accused-appellant under Section 4/25 Arms Act. Thereafter, cognizance was taken upon the same and the case was committed to the Court of Sessions.

8. After hearing both the parties, charge under Section 302/34 IPC was framed against appellant-convict alongwith other accused in S.T. No. 148/1999 and a separate charge under Section 4/25 Arms Act was also framed against the appellant-convict in S.T. No.149/1999. However, the accused denied the charges levelled against him and claimed trial.

9. In order to prove it's case, the prosecution adduced six witnesses, i.e., PW-1 Mahipal Singh, (informant and son of the deceased), PW-2 Shri Om (eye witness of the incident), PW-3 Head Constable Mulchand (Scribe of Chik FIR), PW-4 Dr. Shyam Khandelwal (Autopsy Surgeon), PW-5 Mahendra Pal Singh (Investigating Officer), PW-6 Constable Mangan Singh (in whose presence knife and pistol were recovered on the pointing out of the accused persons) in S.T. No. 149/1999. The prosecution also adduced two witnesses, i.e. PW-1 Head Constable Mulchand and PW-2 Lala @ Hari Om in S.T. No. 149/1999.

10. The witnesses adduced by the prosecution have given their respective oral evidence and also proved 10 prosecution papers and 7 material objects, which were marked as exhibits. The detail of evidence in S.T. No. 148/1999, is tabulated herein below:

Sl. No.	Name	Nature of evidence	Documents proved
PW-1	Mahipal Singh	Informant and eye witness of Case Crime No. 47 of 1998 (son of deceased)	First Information Report as Ex. Ka-1. Oral Evidence of incident
PW-2	Shri Om	Eye witness of the incident	Oral Evidence of incident
PW-3	Head Constable Mulchand Chik	Writer of Crime No. 47/1998, who also made G.D. Entry of Case Crime No. 47/1998	G.D. Entry as Ex.Ka-2
PW-4	Dr. Shyam Khandelwal	Autopsy Surgeon	Post mortem report of the deceased as Ex.Ka-3
PW-5	Mahendra Pal Singh	Investigating Officer	Site Plan of place of murder as Ex.Ka-9, recovery memo of blood stained and plain soil as Ex.Ka-5, recovery memo of deceaseds bicycle as Ex.Ka-6, recovery memo of documents related to the deceased as Ex.Ka-7. Inquest report as Ex.Ka-8, Site Plan of recovery as Ex.Ka-4, Charge Sheet as Ex.Ka-10.

PW-6	Constable Mangan Singh	Recovery witness of murder weapons and witness of S.T. No.149/1998	Knife as material Ex.1, cloth as material Ex.-2, knife recovered from Pravesh as material Ex.3 and cloth as material Ex.4, 0315 bore country made pistol and one cartridge recovered from Mukesh as material Exs. 5, 6 and 7. Recovery Memo of country made pistol and two knives as Ex.Ka-1 in S.T. No.149/1998.

11. The detail of evidence in S.T. No. 149/1999, is tabulated herein below:

Sl. No.	Name	Nature of evidence	Documents proved
PW-1	Head Constable Mulchand	Who prepared Chik FIR of Case Crime No.64/1998, U/s 4/25 Arms Act against accused Pravesh and also made entry of G.D.	FIR of Case Crime No. 64/1998 as Ex.Ka-2, G.D. Kayami as Ex.Ka-3, Charge Sheet as Ex.Ka-6
PW-2	Lala @ Hari Om	Recovery witness of one country made pistol and two knives as Ex.Ka-1	Oral Evidence of recovery of murder weapons

12. In addition to the aforementioned evidence, through list 111 kha, the prosecution has submitted a copy of the judgment passed in Appeal No. 67/65, Rajbir vs. State, a copy of the application in Execution Case No. 12/96, Mahipal vs. Mukesh, a copy of the decree dated 04.04.1998, mutation documents etc. and a copy of the order sheet in Execution Case No.12/96.

13. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which the accused Pravesh denied the incident and stated that on the date of incident, he was not present in the village and has been falsely implicated. He further stated that no illegal weapon was recovered from his possession. The prosecution witnesses were relatives of the deceased and therefore, they were giving false testimony.

14. The accused in their defence produced five defence witnesses, i.e., DW-1 Nathi Singh, DW-2 Manvir Singh, DW-3 Arjun Singh, DW-4 Ravi Kumar and DW-5 Omveer Singh.

15. The trial Court after having heard learned counsel for the parties and after going through the entire record, vide impugned judgment and order, convicted and sentenced the appellant-convict under Section 302/34 IPC and Section 4/25 Arms Act. Hence, feeling aggrieved with the said judgment and order, the appellant-convict has filed the present criminal appeal.

16. Assailing the findings, learned counsel appearing for appellant vehemently argued that alleged eye-witness Rohtash was intentionally withheld by the prosecution, therefore, adverse inference is to be drawn against the prosecution. The informant Mahipal and prosecution witness Shri Om have not signed the inquest report and other police papers including recovery memos prepared on the spot, which shows that they were not the eye witnesses, otherwise they must have participated in police proceeding conducted on the spot after registration of the FIR. Injury no.1, which is an incised wound on the body of the deceased, is coupled with multiple fractures, such injury cannot be caused by knife and could have been caused by some heavy sharp edged weapon not otherwise.

17. It was further argued that the depositions of PW-1 and PW-2 regarding the manner of incident is not corroborated by ocular and documentary medical evidence. PW-2 Shri Om was the star witness, who was allegedly present on the spot but his statement was recorded later on by the Investigating Officer, which affects its veracity. There are material contradictions in the depositions of PW-1 and PW-2 regarding position of dead body of the deceased and number of police personnel present on the spot. Therefore, their depositions are not trustworthy. Neither PW-1 nor PW-2 made any attempt to save the deceased, which casts doubt on their depositions. PW-2 Shri Om witness of murder case and PW-2 Hari Om witness of Arms Act, both are the chance witnesses and these witnesses cannot be relied upon. The injuries mentioned in the post mortem report do not corroborate the version of PW-1 and PW-2. In the FIR only a stick has been assigned to the appellant-convict, however, during the course of evidence, the prosecution witnesses have improved the prosecution story as put forth in the FIR by assigning knife to appellant-convict. Therefore, their depositions as well as use of knife by the appellant-convict is concerned, cannot be relied upon. The alleged recovery of knife on the pointing out of appellant-convict, is completely suspicious and the prosecution has failed to prove the same.

18. The learned trial Court has misinterpreted the evidence available on record and has not given due waitage to the defence evidence produced by the convict more particularly DW-3 and DW-5, which completely belies the prosecution story, which is against the norms of well established legal principles. The prosecution has miserably failed to prove any charge against the appellant-convict, however, the learned trial Court has misread the evidence and wrongly convicted and sentenced the appellant-convict. The learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon following case laws in support of his contentions:

I. Mahendra Singh & Others vs. State of U.P., (2022) 7 SCC 157
ii. Deny Bora vs. State of Assam, (2014) 14 SCC 22
iii. Joginder Singh vs. State of Haryana (2014) 11 SCC 335
iv. Harvinder Singh @ Bacchu vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2023 SCC OnLine SC 1347.

19. Learned A.G.A. for the State vehemently opposed the submissions made on behalf of the appellant-convict and submitted that first information report in the present case has been lodged promptly. There was a land dispute between the deceased and accused. The father of deceased had won the case in the Court of the Munsif Magistrate and because of which, the deceased, who was son of the informant was murdered. PW-1 and PW-2 in their respective depositions have consistently deposed regarding date, time, place of the incident as well as manner of incident.

20. In the present case, appellant-convict alongwith his other co-accused have used stick and knives in the incident causing as many as seven incised wounds on the body of the deceased. Incised wound was caused on the occipital region of head of the deceased with a great force that underlying bone was fractured. The manner of incident as disclosed by both the eye witnesses, i.e., PW-1 and PW-2 is fully corroborated by ante-mortem injuries found on the body of the deceased. All the accused arrived at the spot with a common intention to murder the deceased, who was prosecuting the land dispute cases on behalf of the informant. The weapons used in the crime, have also been recovered on the pointing out of the accused. Knife used by the appellant-convict was also recovered on his pointing out. The depositions of PW-1 and PW-2 are reliable, which also find corroboration from oral as well as documentary medical evidence. The appellant-convict has committed murder of the deceased with the help of knife, hence while going through the evidence, it cannot be said that offence under Section 302/34 and Section 4/25 Arms Act, are not made out against the appellant-convict Pravesh. The trial Court has not committed any error of law in convicting and sentencing the appellant-convict. There is no merit in the appeal and learned A.G.A. thus urged for dismissal of appeal.

21. In the light of above arguments, following questions arise for consideration of present appeal:

(i) Whether the appellant-convict Pravesh had any motive to commit murder of the deceased or not?

(ii) Whether there is any delay in lodging FIR?

(iii) Whether non examination of alleged eye witness Rohtash is fatal to the prosecution and adverse inference is to be drawn against the prosecution or not?

(iv) Whether the prosecution could be said to have proved its case against the appellant-convict beyond reasonable doubt?

(v) Whether multiple fractures on head can be caused by a knife or repeated blows of knife?

ANALYSIS

ORAL EVIDENCE ON RECORD

22. The prosecution has examined informant Mahipal Singh PW-1 and Shri Om PW-2 as eye witnesses of the incident and on the strength of their depositions, the learned trial Court has decided the case against the appellant-convict. Therefore, evaluation of depositions of these two witnesses will be dealt with later on in this judgment.

23. Head Constable Mulchand Verma PW-3 is a formal witness, who was scribe of the first information report of the Case Crime No. 47/1998 and has stated on oath that he recorded the FIR

(Ex.Ka-1). He made an entry of FIR in the G.D. No.12 on 10.04.1998 at around 10:30 am, which G.D. Entry has been proved by this witness as Ex.Ka-2.

24. Dr. Shyam Khandelwal PW-4 has conducted the post mortem examination of the deceased Jagpal on 11.04.1998 at 10:30 am and prepared his post mortem report, which has been proved by this witness as Ex.Ka-4. The injuries found by this Doctor on the person of the deceased, have already been mentioned in para-6 of this judgment. This Autopsy Surgeon found seven incised wounds on the person of the deceased. Six incised wounds out of total seven incised wounds, were found to be bone deep. One bone deep incised wound was found on the head of the deceased and on internal examination, underlying occipital bone was found fractured. Blood clots were also found to be present in the brain and brain matter was also found lacerated. Two incised wounds were found on the forehead, one incised wound was found on the root of nose and two incised wounds were found on the bone of chin of the deceased. Incised wound 1 1/2 cm x bone deep was found on the left side of forehead above the left eyebrow. The underlying bone of this incised wound on the forehead above left eyebrow was found to be fractured. Blood clots were found to be present in the brain and brain was also found ruptured. In the opinion of this Doctor, duration of above seven incised wounds and eighth injury of multiple abrasions on the front of neck and right shoulder was about one day old. Therefore, the deceased could have received these injuries on 10.04.1998 at about 8:45 am. The cause of death in the opinion of this Autopsy Surgeon was coma resulting from ante-mortem injuries. It is thus clear that death of the deceased was homicidal death. Two incised wounds have been caused with such great force, which resulted into fracture of occipital bone and bone above left eyebrow with laceration and rupture of brain below these injuries.

25. The Investigating Officer, Mahendra Pal Singh PW-5 has stated that on 10.04.1998, he was posted as the then S.H.O., Dhaulana Police Station. He took over the investigation after registration of the first information report. On 10.04.1998, he also recorded the statement of the informant, inspected the place of incident and prepared the site plan, which has been proved by him as Ex.Ka-9. He collected the blood stained and plain soil from the murder spot and prepared its recovery memo, which has been proved by him as Ex.Ka-5. Bicycle of the deceased was seized on the spot and its recovery memo (Ex.Ka-6) was prepared. The memo for seizing documents (Ex.Ka-7) related to the deceased was also prepared by him and he also recorded the statement of the witness Rohtash. This witness stated that inquest report (Ex.Ka-8) was prepared in his presence by Head Constable Mulchand and he also prepared site map (Ext. Ka-9). He thereafter raided the house of accused and recorded statements of various other witnesses on 11.04.1998 including Shri Om PW-2. On 27.4.1998, he took the accused Pravesh, Mukesh and Bablu @ Pappu into police custody for interrogation and for recording their statements. These three accused were again taken to police custody and on their pointing out a country made pistol was recovered from Mukesh and a knife each from Bablu and Pravesh respectively. He prepared the recovery memo (Ext. Ka-1) regarding this recovery and also prepared site map (Ex.Ka-4) of the place of recovery. After recording the statements of some other witnesses and completion of investigation, he submitted charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-10).

26. PW-5 in his cross examination stated that the informant Mahipal came to Police Station at 10:30 am and filed a report, at this time Rohtash was with him and report was given verbally.

Mahipal signed in Urdu in his presence and Mahipal and Rohtash stayed for about 10-12 minutes after lodging of the FIR. After recording the statement of the informant and Head Constable, he went with other Police Officials to the place of incident and informant was accompanying the Police party. They all reached place of incident at about 11:30 am. At that time, many people from both villages were present on the spot. He stayed at the spot for a considerable time and body of the deceased had not been tampered with, until he arrived. He further stated that body of the deceased was sent for post mortem at 2:30 to 3:00 pm by a tractor trolly. This witness clearly denied the suggestion of defence that the informant Mahipal did not report the incident. He further denied the suggestion that FIR was lodged later on.

27. Constable Mangan Singh PW-6 is a witness of recovery of country made pistol and knives. He in his examination-in-chief has stated that on 02.05.1998, he was posted at Dhaulana Police Station. On that day, Mukesh, Bablu and Pravesh were taken into custody. S.H.O. Mahendra Pal Singh PW-5 brought these accused to recover the weapons (knives and country made pistol). The accused Pravesh produced a knife after taking out from a clump of grass at the south-eastern corner of the bridge. Mukesh also got recovered a country made pistol, accused Pappu got recovered a knife. Both knives recovered were found stained with blood, a recovery memo was prepared on the spot, which bears his signature. Recovery memo available in S.T. No.149/1998, has been proved by this witness as Ex.Ka-1. Knife recovered from accused Bablu was proved by this witness as Material Ex.-1, cloth as Material Ex.-2, knife recovered from accused Pravesh as Material Ex.-3 and cloth as Material Ex.-4, 0315 bore country made pistol and one cartridge recovered from Mukesh along with cloth as Material Exs. 5, 6 and 7. This witness is a witness of recovery. In his cross examination this witness stated that he had seen the murder-spot. This witness was thereafter cross-examined regarding recoveries made at the pointing out Bablu and Mukesh, however no question regarding recovery on pointing out of the present appellant was asked from this witness, therefore, his deposition regarding recovery of blood stained knife (Material Ex.3) on the pointing out of appellant-convict Pravesh, remained uncontroverted.

28. As S.T. No. 148/1999 was decided alongwith S.T. No. 149/1999, therefore, the prosecution adduced two witnesses, Head Constable Mulchand as PW-1 and independent witness Bhola @ Hariom as PW-2 as far as Case Crime No. 64/1998 under section 4/25 of Arms Act is concerned. Head Constable Mulchand PW-1 stated in his examination-in-chief that on the basis of recovery memo (Ext.Ka-3) relating to recovery of a pistol, two knives and cartridges, he registered Case Crime No. 58/1998 under Section 25 of Arms Act against Mukesh, Case Crime No. 62/1998, 63/1998, 64/1998 under Section 4/25 of Arms Act against Bablu and Pravesh. He proved FIR (Ex.Ka-2) and GD diary entry (Ex.Ka-3) regarding these case crime numbers. This witness has also confirmed recovery memo (Ex.Ka-1) on the basis of which aforesaid FIR and GD entry were made. He proved charge-sheet no. 48 (Ex.Ka-8) against the appellant in secondary evidence by identifying the signature of Raj Singh, who after concluding the investigation has filed the aforesaid charge-sheet. He is a formal witness.

29. Lala @ Hariom PW-2 in S.T. No. 149/1999 is a witness of recovery, who in his examination-in-chief has stated that on 02.05.1998, he was visiting relatives in Parpa village at around 12:30 pm, when he was going from Parpa to Eklaidi, he saw Police Officers standing near a jeep. Mukesh, Bablu and Pravesh, who were handcuffed, were with the Police Officers and had come there to help recover the weapons. The Police Officers asked him to be a witness. Thereafter, Pravesh produced a knife from the east-west direction, accused Bablu also produced a knife. He stated that there was blood on the knives. He also stated that on the spot, the accused said that they had killed Jagpal. This witness has confirmed that the recovery memo was prepared by the Police on the spot in his presence and recovery memo bears his signature. This witness in his cross examination had confirmed that recovery took place in between Eklaidi and Parpa villages. He further stated that Mahipal is his relative and on the date of incident he was returning from Parpa and was alone, even from this witness no question regarding recovery from present appellant was asked in his cross examination. He also stated that he frequently visits Parpa village. This witness has denied the defence suggestion that he was not present on the spot and that he was giving false evidence because he is a relative.

30. Natthi Singh, DW-1 in his deposition has stated that he knows accused Leela, who had taken the land regarding which there was litigation between Jagpal and Pravesh, which was taken by Leela on sharing basis The aforesaid land was taken on sharing basis for one year and because of this, the informant Mahipal has falsely implicated Leela in this case. In his cross-examination, this witness fairly conceded that the Investigating Officer visited his village but, he did not tell the aforesaid fact to the Investigating Officer. He neither gave any kind of application to the Court nor Higher Authorities. Admittedly DW-1 is not an eye witness.

31. Manvir Singh DW-2 has also deposed on the same line as that of Natthi Singh DW-1. The land, whose dispute was going on between accused Pravesh and his uncle Mahipal was taken by Leela on sharing basis from the father of accused Mukesh. This witness has stated that on the day of incident, the accused Leela was at the compound of Pradhan Chanderpal Singh and remained there till the inquest report of the deceased Jagpal was prepared, thereafter, he reached home. Accused Leela has been falsely implicated due to enmity of aforesaid land, which was taken by him on sharing basis from the father of accused Mukesh. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that at the time of incident, he was in his compound, his compound and Village Pradhans compound are adjacent and having no wall. Therefore, he knows that Leela was in the compound at that time. He further stated that the inquest report was prepared in his presence and he was a witness of the inquest report and has also signed same. However, this witness stated that he did not tell the Investigating Officer that the accused Leela was in the compound of village at the time of incident, because the Investigating Officer had not asked him anything about this. He further stated that he was witness of inquest and accused Leela was also present at the time of inquest. He also confirmed that the dead body was taken away by tractor for post mortem examination in his presence. However, this witness has not stated that at which time, he received the information of death/murder of the deceased and at which time, this witness arrived at the spot with accused Leela. This witness is also not an eye witness but is a witness of inquest report.

32. Arjun Singh DW-3 has stated in his examination-in-chief that he does not know Mukesh. He stated that incident occurred at 7:00 am on 10.04.1998 but specifically denied his presence at the spot at the time of incident. He further stated that two girls Beena and Jamuna, were the first to arrive at the spot. The place of incident was a furlong distance from his compound. He reached on the spot after hearing the girls shouts. On arriving the place of incident, he saw a man lying dead there and did not recognize him. People from Parpa village were also there, who identified the deceased as Jagpal. Jaipal and Khadku were among one, who identified the deceased Jagpal and also informed Jagpals family. This witness has stated that family members of deceased arrived on the spot around 3-4 pm and the Police arrived around 4-5 pm. The deceaseds father arrived at 8:00 pm, but he denied to recognize him. He further stated that the dead body was taken at 9:00 pm. In this cross-examination, he stated that when he reached the spot, blood was flowing from the deceaseds body. He further stated that he does not know Mukesh, therefore, he cannot say that Mukesh was near around the place of occurrence. He further stated that he did not know Jagpals father, therefore, he cannot say that whether he was on the spot or not. He further stated that he remained on the spot from 7:00 am till the Police took the body away. He fairly admitted that paper work was completed by the Police during this time, but he denied signing those papers. He further stated that a lot of papers were prepared on the spot and however, his signature was not taken on any of the police papers. This witness is not an eye witness.

33. Ravi Kumar DW-4 in his deposition has stated that Mukesh was married with his niece and Mukesh was in his village on the date of the incident. This witness has been examined in support of accused Mukesh regarding his plea of ali-bi. However, this witness has stated that he did not inform Sub-Inspector regarding this either orally or through written application. This witness is also not an eye witness.

34. Omveer Singh DW-5 in his examination-in-chief has stated that deceased Jagpal was murdered at 8:00 am on 10.04.1998. He was informed by Bijendra, who was husband of Asha Balmiki of his village that a man had been killed in the village. When he reached at the spot, he saw that Jagpal of Parpa village was lying dead. He sent Village Chowkidar Kishori to inform this to the Police at Police Post Sapnawat. Therefore, a Constable from the Police Post came on the spot and then one Sub-Inspector arrived at 5:00 pm. He further stated that he knows the complainant Mahipal, who was not present on the spot, however, he arrived at 8:00 pm and the dead body remained on the spot. Therefore, the deceaseds family members did not allow the body to be moved. The inquest of the dead body of the deceased was prepared at around 8:30- 8:45 pm and he signed the same. He further stated that he did not know any of the accused at that time. This witness in his cross-examination has admitted that recovery memos (Exs.Ka-5, Ka-6 and Ka-7) bears his signature and all these recovery memos were prepared in his presence. He does not remember that aforesaid recovery memos were prepared prior to or before preparation of the inquest report. He was asked to sign the inquest report but he does not remember whether his signature was obtained or not, because it was night time. He denied the prosecution suggestions that inquest report was prepared at 11:00 am. He further stated that body of the deceased was covered with blood and he arrived on the spot at about 9:00 am after about half an hour of the incident. Information to police was sent orally through Chaukidar. When he arrived at spot, there was no family members of the deceased. However 200 people were present on the spot. Investigating Officer has recorded his statement. He came to know the name of the accused after registration of the FIR. Lastly, this witness stated that he could not say whether accused named in the FIR, are the real accused persons or not, because he was not present on the spot at the time of the incident, therefore, this witness is also not an eye witness.

35. In this case, the defence also summoned the prosecution witness Rohtash. As per prosecution story, he was an eye witness of the incident, however Rohtash appeared in person before the Court and submitted an Application No. 127-Kha that he had been summoned to give evidence in defence of the accused persons. However, he is an old and sick person and is relative of both the parties, therefore, he does not want to depose/testify. He, therefore, requested to discharge from giving his testimony.

(i) Whether the appellant-convict Pravesh had any motive to commit murder of the deceased or not?

36. Learned counsel for the appellant- convict has vehemently argued that the appellant Pravesh had no motive to commit crime in question. However, learned counsel for the appellant fairly conceded that motive, if any, was with accused Mukesh, Bablu, Chanderpal and other accused Leela. In the Written Report/Tehrir, the prosecution has come forward with a specific motive regarding long pending case of a land dispute between informant and Chheda son of Khachedu since 1972. It has also been specifically mentioned in the Written Report that after the death of Chheda, his sons Mukesh and Bablu @ Pappu were pursuing the case on his behalf, whereas on behalf of informant, his son deceased Jagpal was pursuing the aforesaid case. The informant, Mahipal PW-1, in his deposition, has affirmed these facts stated in written report and has clearly stated that the aforesaid civil case for land dispute was pending between him and father of accused Mukesh, namely Chheda. PW-1 further stated that in a case of illegal harvesting of his crop, accused Chanderpal was an accused. His son Jagpal was pursuing the aforesaid case on his behalf, whereas from other side, accused Mukesh was pursuing the case. They won the aforesaid case and got a decree in their favour. The land in dispute was auctioned, which was purchased by him in the auction of aforesaid land. In his cross examination, this witness again affirmed the aforesaid facts and has stated that the cases in the Courts of Hapur and Ghaziabad were still going on regarding the aforesaid dispute. He further affirmed the involvement of accused Chanderpal in the criminal case regarding illegal harvesting of his crop.

37. Shri Om PW-2 has also affirmed aforesaid pendency of cases regarding land dispute between the parties in his deposition. It was a clear case of the prosecution that as the land in question was purchased by the informant in an auction, therefore, the accused were having a grudge and thus, they committed the present crime. Thus, from the side of prosecution, aforesaid land dispute and purchase of land in question by the informant in an auction was the motive behind the murder of the deceased Jagpal. This question was subsequently put to all the accused in their statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.. The accused Mukesh in answer to question no. 3 has clearly stated that the aforesaid land case started in 1972 between the informant Mahipal, Chheda and father of accused Pravesh, therefore, the accused Mukesh clearly admitted pendency of aforesaid civil suit. Accused Pravesh however denied the aforesaid question no.3, but stated that there was no litigation between him i.e. accused Pravesh and informant side. Accused Pravesh kept silent regarding pendency of aforesaid civil suit between the informant and his father as was stated by his co-accused Mukesh. Accused Pravesh in answer to question no.13 has stated that whatsoever the statement of Mukesh , the same be read as his statement.

38. However, prosecution has placed on record certified copies of orders etc. relating to the land case before the learned trial Court vide its application 111-Kha. The aforesaid documents have been annexed as 112Kh-1, 112Kh-2, 121-Kha, 117-Kha in the file of learned trial Court. The prosecution has also filed certified copy of the order-sheet of Execution No. 12/1996, Mahipal vs. Chheda as 121-Kh vide application 120-Kh.

39. DW-1 Natthi Singh, who is a defense witness has clearly stated in his deposition that the civil suit regarding land dispute was contested between deceased Jagpal and accused Pravesh etc. and the aforesaid land was taken on sharing basis by accused Leela for accused Chanderpal

40. The deposition of Manvir Singh DW-2 is much more important, as he in his deposition has clearly stated that civil suit was contested between his uncle Mahipal and accused Pravesh etc. He further stated that the land in dispute was taken by Leela from father of accused Mukesh on sharing basis. In the aforesaid civil case, Mahipal also impleaded Leela as a party. Thus, it is crystal clear that there was an enmity of land dispute between the parties. Not only the accused but their defense witnesses have also admitted this fact. Thus, admittedly on account of this, there was an enmity between both the parties on account of continuous litigation regarding land dispute since 1972.

41. We have carefully gone through the reasons recorded by the learned trial Court on this issue and we are of the opinion that the reasons given by the trial Court are in accordance with oral and documentary evidence available on record. However, as learned counsel for the appellant argued that accused Pravesh had no motive, therefore, we have carefully perused the record and find that the aforesaid argument of learned counsel is completely baseless because the defense witnesses themselves have clearly stated that in the aforesaid litigation, accused Pravesh was also a party and accused Mukesh has clearly stated in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that aforesaid litigation was pending not only between his father and informant but also between father of accused Pravesh. In the light of aforesaid fact, we have perused the documents available on record. The Execution No. 32/1981 arising out of Original Suit No. 327/1970 was between the informant and accused Mukesh and Pappu, whereas Execution No. 49/1985 arising out of Original Suit No. 327/1970 was between the informant and Bramha, Jagvir and Chanderpal. Meaning thereby that in Civil Suit No. 327/1970 informant and Chheda, Bramha, Jagvir and Chanderpal were parties.

42. After the death of Chheda, his sons Mukesh, Pappu @ Bablu, daughter Meena Kumari and widow Gayatri Devi were impleaded as party. Bramha is father of present appellant Pravesh. Therefore, it is clear that father of accused Pravesh also lost the aforesaid civil suit and therefore, he was also having a motive to commit the aforesaid crime. Thus, he (appellant-convict) cleverly made a statement in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that there was no litigation between him and the informant side and concealed the fact of litigation between his father and the informant side. Therefore, the prosecution has been able to successfully prove the motive on the side of accused party more particularly in this appeal against the present appellant-convict i.e. Pravesh also.

43. Law is well settled that enmity is a double edge weapon which can be used by either of the side. It can be a ground for false implication and it can be a motive for commission of crime. The law on this issue is already well established that when ocular testimony inspires the confidence of the Court, the prosecution is not required to prove the motive. Mere absence of motive would not impinge on the testimony of a reliable eye witnesses. Motive is an important factor for consideration in a case of circumstantial evidence. But when there are direct eye witnesses, motive is not significance.

44. Honble Supreme Court in Chandan vs. State (Delhi Admn.) (2024) 6 SCC 799, has held that the principle that the lack or absence of motive is inconsequential when direct evidence establishes the crime. In the present case, prosecution has produced PW-1 and PW-2, who in their depositions have stated that the appellant-convict has stabbed the deceased with knife along his co-accused, with common intention to murder him (deceased), therefore, motive in the present case, pales into significance. However, the prosecution has been able to prove even the motive against the appellant-convict, even from the depositions of defence witnesses as well as statement of co-accused recorded under Section 313 Cr.PC.

45. From perusal of certified copies available on the record of trial Court, it is clear that informant Mahipal succeeded in the litigation and purchased the land of the accused in an auction. Therefore, the informant side won the litigation and it was the accused side, who lost the auction. In this circumstances, the accused side had a strong motive on account of resentment that their ancestral land was taken over by the informant side by winning the litigation, therefore, we are of the opinion that the motive to commit crime is stronger on the part of the accused persons rather than informant falsely implicated them. Question no. I is answered in the Affirmative.

(ii) Whether there is any delay in lodging FIR?

46. In the present case, on the oral information of the informant Mahipal PW-1, FIR (Ex.Ka-1) was lodged at 10:30 am. As per the FIR, time of incident was 8:45 am and place of incident was about 12 km away from the concerned Police station. As per inquest report (Ex.Ka-8), information was received in the concerned Police Station at 10:30 am on 10.4.1998 and Head Constable Mulchand arrived at the place of incident at 11:00 am and concluded the proceedings of inquest at around 12:15 pm/noon. The informant PW-1 was cross-examined at length to prove that the FIR was lodged belatedly, however, nothing material came in cross examination to doubt that he had not arrived in the concerned Police Station at the time shown in the FIR. Head Constable Mulchand PW-3 in his deposition has clearly stated that on 10.4.1998, FIR was lodged at 10:30 am, however, this witness was not cross-examined by the defence. Meaning thereby that evidence of this witness regarding registration of FIR by this witness at 10:30 am, remained uncontroverted. Investigating Officer Mahendra Pal PW-5 in his deposition has stated that aforesaid case crime number was registered in his presence and he has been thoroughly cross examined and nothing suspicious came in his cross-examination that the aforesaid FIR was not lodged in the morning of 10.4.1998. Therefore, we have carefully perused the oral as well as documentary evidence with regard to registration of the FIR at the instance of informant and we are of the opinion that the FIR was lodged promptly and there is no unnecessary delay in lodging the FIR. Question no. II is answered in Negative.

(iii) Whether non examination of alleged eye witness Rohtash is fatal to the prosecution and adverse inference is to be drawn against the prosecution or not?

47. Learned counsel for the appellant has vehemently argued that material witness Rohtash has been intentionally withheld by the prosecution and, therefore, an adverse inference has to be drawn against the prosecution. Law on this point is well settled that it is not the number of witnesses, which is important and material for prosecution to prove its case, rather it is the quality of the deposition of the witnesses, which is important and material for the prosecution to prove its case.

48. In Bhimappa Chandappa v. State of Karnataka (2006) 11 SCC 323, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that testimony of a solitary witness can be made the basis of conviction. The credibility of the witness requires to be tested with reference to the quality of his evidence which must be free from blemish or suspicion and must impress the Court as natural, wholly truthful and so convincing that the Court has no hesitation in recording a conviction solely on his uncorroborated testimony.

49. The Honble Apex Court in Joy Devaraj v. State of Kerala, (2024) 8 SCC 102 has held that even otherwise, Section 134 of the Evidence Act, 1872 ordains that no particular number of witnesses is required, in any case, to prove a fact. Therefore, it is not the law that a conviction cannot be recorded unless there is oral testimony of at least two witnesses matching with each other. It is the quality of evidence and not the quantity that matters. If the evidence of a solitary witness appeals to the Court to be wholly reliable, the same can form the foundation for recording a conviction.

50. The Apex Court in the case of Rohtash Kumar v. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 434 has held that the prosecution is not bound to examine all the cited witnesses, and it can drop witnesses to avoid multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. The accused can also examine the cited, but not examined witnesses, if he so desires, in his defence. It is the discretion of the prosecutor to tender the witnesses to prove the case of the prosecution and the Court will not interfere with the exercise of that discretion unless, perhaps, it can be shown that the prosecution has been influenced by some oblique motive. In an extraordinary situation, if the Court comes to the conclusion that a material witness has been withheld, it can draw an adverse inference against the prosecution, as has been provided under Section 114 of the Evidence Act. Undoubtedly, the public prosecutor must not take the liberty to pick and choose his witnesses, as he must be fair to the Court, and therefore, to the truth. In a given case, the Court can always examine a witness as a Court witness, if it is so warranted in the interests of justice. In fact, the evidence of the witnesses must be tested on the touchstone of reliability, credibility and trustworthiness. If the Court finds the same to be untruthful, there is no legal bar for it to discard the same.

51. The Honble Supreme Court while summarising the law in the case of Ravasaheb v. State of Karnataka, (2023) 5 SCC 391 has observed that when a case involves a large number of offenders, prudently, it is necessary, but not always, for the court to seek corroboration from at least two more witnesses as a measure of caution. Be that as it may, the principle is quality over quantity of witnesses.

52. The Apex Court in the case of Avtar Singh v. State of Haryana, (2012) 9 SCC 432 has interpreted the law as :

"18. The learned counsel further submitted that though the prosecution would claim injuries on several persons of the complainant party, the other persons who were stated to have been injured or were present at the place of occurrence were not examined. In this context, it will be relevant to refer to the decision of this Court reported in Tej Parkash v. State of Haryana [(1996) 7 SCC 322 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 412] wherein this Court held that all the witnesses of the prosecution may not be called and it is sufficient if witnesses who were essential to the unfolding of the narrative on which the prosecution is based must be called by the prosecution. The legal position has been stated in para 18 as under : (SCC p. 330)

18. In support of his contention that serious prejudice was caused to the appellant by non-examination of Phool Singh who had been cited by the prosecution as one of the witness, Mr Ganesh relied upon Stephen Seneviratne v. R. [(1936) 44 LW 661 : AIR 1936 PC 289] , Habeeb Mohammad v. State of Hyderabad [(1953) 2 SCC 231 : AIR 1954 SC 51 : 1954 Cri LJ 338 : 1954 SCR 475] and State of U.P. v. Jaggo [(1971) 2 SCC 42 : 1971 SCC (Cri) 401] . The aforesaid decisions can be of little assistance to the appellant in the present case. What was held by the Privy Council and this Court was that witnesses who were essential to the unfolding of the narrative on which the prosecution is based must be called by the prosecution whether the effect of their testimony is for or against the case for the prosecution and that failure to examine such a witness might affect a fair trial. It was also observed that all the witnesses of the prosecution need not be called. In the present case, the witnesses who were essential to the unfolding of the narrative had been examined.

19. The law on this aspect can be succinctly stated to the effect that in order to prove the guilt of the accused, the prosecution should make earnest effort to place the material evidence both oral and documentary which satisfactorily and truthfully demonstrate and fully support the case of the prosecution. Where there were several persons stated to have witnessed the incident and the prosecution examined those witnesses who were able to depose the nature of offence committed more accurately leaving no room for doubt about the involvement of the accused in the occurrence and the extent of their involvement with specific overt act and also were able to withstand the cross-examination by maintaining the sequence and the part played as originally stated, it will be wholly irrelevant and unnecessary to multiply the number of witnesses to repeat the same version."

53. The Apex Court in State of M.P. Vs. Balveer Singh, (2025) 8 SCC 545 has held that there is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subordination of witnesses.

54. Thus, law on this issue is well settled that no particular number of witnesses is required in any case to prove a particular fact. It is the quality of the evidence and not the quantity, which matters, if the evidence of a solitary witness appeals to the Court to be wholly reliable, the same can form the foundation in recording a conviction. The prosecution is not bound to examine all the cited witnesses, and it can drop witnesses to avoid multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. If number of persons are injured in an incident, then it is not essential for the prosecution to examine all such witnesses and the prosecution may choose to examine such number of witnesses, who in its opinion are essential to prove the prosecution story. In a given case, not only the accused but Court can always examine a witness as a Court witness, if it is so warranted in the interest of justice. The defence can examine any cited witness, who has been dropped by the prosecution, if it so desires.

Therefore, the prosecution can prove its story not only with the help of a reliable solitary witness, but can also call some other witnesses, not necessarily all the eyewitnesses or all the injured witnesses, which it finds essential for proving its case. There might be a number of reasons for the prosecution for not examining all the cited witnesses in a case, if quality of the oral evidence of a single witness or any number of witnesses adduced by it, are sufficient to prove its case.

55. In the present case, the informant Manipal PW-1 and Shri Om PW-2 have been examined as eye witnesses of the incident. Both of these witnesses were cross-examined on different dates and that too at length. The deposition of PW-1 started on 2.12.1999 and concluded on 25.08.2000, whereas the deposition of PW-2 started on 3.11.2000 and concluded on 04.04.2001. Thus, these witnesses were examined at length. However, prosecution witness Rohtash was summoned by the defence as a defence witness. The aforesaid prosecution witness Rohtash appeared in person before the trial Court and submitted an application clearly stating that he is a relative of both the parties, therefore, he does not want to depose and requested to be discharged from giving his testimony. Therefore, neither the prosecution nor defence has examined this witness. PW-1 and PW-2 have given detailed evidence regarding the incident, therefore, non examination of Rohtash, who is a relative of both the informant and defence, is not fatal at all to the prosecution and no adverse inference can be drawn against the prosecution for his non examination. Question no. III is thus answered in Negative.

(iv) Whether the prosecution could be said to have prove its case against the appellant-convict beyond reasonable doubt?

56. On the point of appreciation of oral evidence of a witness the Apex Court in Balu Sudam Khalde v. State of Maharashtra, (2023) 13 SCC 365 held the law in following words:

"Appreciation of oral evidence

25. The appreciation of ocular evidence is a hard task. There is no fixed or strait jacket formula for appreciation of the ocular evidence. The judicially evolved principles for appreciation of ocular evidence in a criminal case can be enumerated as under:

I. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the Court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief.

II. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details.

III. When eyewitness is examined at length it is quite possible for him to make some discrepancies. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence.

IV. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hypertechnical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole.

V. Too serious a view to be adopted on mere variations falling in the narration of an incident (either as between the evidence of two witnesses or as between two statements of the same witness) is an unrealistic approach for judicial scrutiny.

VI. By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

VII. Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

VIII. The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

IX. By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape recorder.

X. In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guesswork on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

XI. Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which take place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

XII. A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The subconscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him.

XIII. A former statement though seemingly inconsistent with the evidence need not necessarily be sufficient to amount to contradiction. Unless the former statement has the potency to discredit the later statement, even if the later statement is at variance with the former to some extent it would not be helpful to contradict that witness.

[See Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat [Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat, (1983) 3 SCC 217 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 728 : AIR 1983 SC 753] , Leela Ram v. State of Haryana [Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 222 : AIR 1999 SC 3717] and Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P. [Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P., 1959 SCC OnLine SC 17 : AIR 1959 SC 1012]

27. In assessing the value of the evidence of the eyewitnesses, two principal considerations are whether, in the circumstances of the case, it is possible to believe their presence at the scene of occurrence or in such situations as would make it possible for them to witness the facts deposed to by them and secondly, whether there is anything inherently improbable or unreliable in their evidence. In respect of both these considerations, circumstances either elicited from those witnesses themselves or established by other evidence tending to improbabilise their presence or to discredit the veracity of their statements, will have a bearing upon the value which a court would attach to their evidence. Although in cases where the plea of the accused is a mere denial, the evidence of the prosecution witnesses has to be examined on its own merits, where the accused raise a definite plea or put forward a positive case which is inconsistent with that of the prosecution, the nature of such plea or case and the probabilities in respect of it will also have to be taken into account while assessing the value of the prosecution evidence."

57. The Honble Supreme Court in the case of Bhagwan Jagannath Markad v. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537 explained that :

"19. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the court has to assess whether read as a whole, it is truthful. In doing so, the court has to keep in mind the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities to find out whether such discrepancies shake the truthfulness. Some discrepancies not touching the core of the case are not enough to reject the evidence as a whole. No true witness can escape from giving some discrepant details. Only when discrepancies are so incompatible as to affect the credibility of the version of a witness, the court may reject the evidence. Section 155 of the Evidence Act enables the doubt to impeach the credibility of the witness by proof of former inconsistent statement. Section 145 of the Evidence Act lays down the procedure for contradicting a witness by drawing his attention to the part of the previous statement which is to be used for contradiction. The former statement should have the effect of discrediting the present statement but merely because the latter statement is at variance to the former to some extent, it is not enough to be treated as a contradiction. It is not every discrepancy which affects the creditworthiness and the trustworthiness of a witness. There may at times be exaggeration or embellishment not affecting the credibility. The court has to sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth. A statement may be partly rejected or partly accepted [Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525, pp. 532-35, paras 9-13 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 222] . Want of independent witnesses or unusual behaviour of witnesses of a crime is not enough to reject evidence. A witness being a close relative is not enough to reject his testimony if it is otherwise credible. A relation may not conceal the actual culprit. The evidence may be closely scrutinised to assess whether an innocent person is falsely implicated. Mechanical rejection of evidence even of a partisan or interested witness may lead to failure of justice. It is well known that principle falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus has no general acceptability [Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381, pp. 392-93, para 15 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 32] . On the same evidence, some accused persons may be acquitted while others may be convicted, depending upon the nature of the offence. The court can differentiate the accused who is acquitted from those who are convicted. A witness may be untruthful in some aspects but the other part of the evidence may be worthy of acceptance. Discrepancies may arise due to error of observations, loss of memory due to lapse of time, mental disposition such as shock at the time of occurrence and as such the normal discrepancy does not affect the credibility of a witness.

20. Exaggerated to the rule of benefit of doubt can result in miscarriage of justice. Letting the guilty escape is not doing justice. A Judge presides over the trial not only to ensure that no innocent is punished but also to see that guilty does not escape. [Gangadhar Behera case, (2002) 8 SCC 381, p. 394, para 17]

31. As already observed, the discrepancies of trivial nature could not be the basis of rejecting the evidence of injured eyewitnesses nor non-examination of some of the witnesses be a ground to reject the prosecution case when injured eyewitnesses were examined.

32. We may also refer to the judgment of this Court in Masalti v. State of U.P. [Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 226 : (1964) 8 SCR 133] to the effect that the evidence of interested partisan witnesses though required to be carefully weighed, the same could not be discredited mechanically. When a crowd of unlawful assembly commits an offence, it is often not possible to accurately describe the part played by each of the assailants. Though the appreciation of evidence in such cases may be a difficult task, the court has to perform its duty of sifting the evidence carefully."

58. The Honble Apex Court in State of M.P. v. Balveer Singh, (2025) 8 SCC 545 has held that when eyewitness are examined at length, it is quite possible for them to make some discrepancies. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence. The role of courts in such circumstances assumes greater importance and it is expected of the courts to deal with cases like one in hand, in a more realistic manner and not allow the criminals to go scot-free on account of procedural technicalities, perfunctory investigation or insignificant lacunas in the evidence as otherwise serious crimes would go unpunished.

59. In the light of above well settled legal position regarding appreciation of oral evidence, we shall now be evaluating the depositions of PW-1 and PW-2.

60. Informant Mahipal Singh PW-1 in his deposition has stated that the incident occurred on 10.04.1998, when his son Jagpal Singh and his brother-in-law Shri Om were going from their village to Hapur on a bicycle. They had a land dispute with Chheda, (father of accused Mukesh) and accused Chanderpal was also involved in harvesting their crops. His son Jagpal was pursuing their side and accused Mukesh was pursuing other side. On the date of incident, he (informant) and Rohtash were going together to Eklaidi to hire labourers. About 50 steps before the place of incident, his son Jagpal and his brother-in-law (Shri Om) crossed path with them and when they reached the culvert near Eklaidi, it was around 8:45 am, then four accused Mukesh, Bablu, Pravesh and Leela came out there together and Mukesh immediately said Beat them up and kill that bastard! Lets see how he takes the land. on this, accused Pravesh, Leela attacked Jagpal with sticks (lathi). Before this as soon as Mukesh spoke, Shri Om jumped off his bicycle. Mukesh had a country made pistol and Bablu had a knife. Mukesh fired from his country made pistol, but it missed. Then, Mukesh and Bablu started attacking with country made pistol and knife. Thereafter, Mukesh took out a knife from his pocket and attacked Jagpal. Accused Pravesh also took out his knife and stabbed Jagpal. When they shouted to save Jagpal, then accused pointed their country pistol on us and ran towards us. He (informant) and Rohtash jumped towards the canal. Shri Om ran towards Eklaidi, while shouting. More people came on hearing shouts. The accused fled towards Parpa village. The accused were chased. Mukesh was caught but he managed to escape. Thereafter, he (informant) and Rohtash went to the Police Station, where he dictated his report, which this witness has proved as Ex.Ka-1.

61. In his cross-examination, Mahipal Singh PW-1 fairly stated that his son (deceased) was pursuing his civil case for last 6-7 years. He also used to accompany him. His statement was taken by the Investigating Officer soon after recording of the first information report at around 10:45 am. When they arrived on spot, then, Jagpal had already passed away. Blood was oozing out from the wounds of knives blows, he (deceased) sustained several knife injuries on his face. The deceased was having stabbing marks of knives on several places of his face. He (informant) remained on the spot for half an hour. There were two girls, aged about 15/16 and 9/10 years. The deceased Jagpal was lying on the road, half on paved road and half unpaved road, towards north-east of culvert. The deceased was wearing a coca-cola colour pant and was also a wearing a full sleeved white shirt having green strips. The deceased was also wearing shoes and was carrying a bag containing papers relating to his case. He could not remember whether the Investigating Officer remained on the spot from 10:45 to 11:45 am, however, he (Investigating Officer) remained on spot for considerable length of time.

62. In this cross-examination, PW-1 further stated that on the spot, there were 3-4 Sub Inspectors, 2-3 Constables and one driver. He further stated that his signature was not taken on any paper. He affirmed that on the date of incident, he and Rohtash were going from their village to hire labourers for harvesting their corps. The statement of brother-in-law of the deceased, namely, Shri Om was probably taken on the next day or day after next day by the Investigating Officer. He further confirmed that accused Chanderpal used to pursue this case between him and Chanderpal, which was pending since 1975. Before Chanderpal, Chheda was pursuing the aforesaid case. His litigation against the father of the accused Mukesh is pending since 1972 regarding chakbandi. The aforesaid cases are pending in the Courts of Hapur and Ghaziabad. The disputed land is 6 bigha, which was owned by Jagvir, Brahma and Chanderpal. The aforesaid land was purchased by this witness in an auction. He also purchased another land of 9 bigha, however, Mukesh etc. did not have any relation with this land. The accused Chanderpal is also an accused of illegal harvesting of his (PW-1s) crops. This incident is of 10.04.1998 and had occurred toward western side of village Eklaidi. Just before the incident, the deceased Jagpal had crossed him and moved about 50 steps ahead at the time of incident. The accused came from eastern side, i.e., from Eklaidi. The statement of this wintess in examination-in-chief and aforesaid reply in cross-examination fully corroborated the site plan (Ex.Ka-9). The accused Mukesh was wearing black pant and a dirty white shirt, Bablu was wearing a full-sleeved shirt and Pravesh was wearing brown colour pant and a grey half-sleeved shirt. Mukesh had a country made pistol, Pravesh had a stick in his hand and Bablu had a knife in his hand and Leela also had a stick in his hand. All the accused persons had surrounded the deceased, therefore, he could not run at the time of incident. It was Mukesh, who exhorted and said Kill the bastard, I will see how he gets the land. and fired a shot from country made pistol, which missed. At the behest of Mukesh, Leela and Pravesh attacked the deceased with sticks, Jagpal fell down from his bicycle, Bablu has stabbed him 2-3 times. Mukesh also took out a knife, he was also having a country made pistol in his other hand. The present appellant-convict Pravesh and Mukesh also stabbed the deceased. Pravesh was also having a stick in his other hand. When Jagpal fell down his head was in northern direction and his legs were in southern direction. He reached the Police Station at 10:15 -10:30 am, soon after his arrival, he lodged the first information report and soon after registration of FIR, his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer. The Police arrived at the spot of incident at about 11:15 am. The inquest report was prepared, blood stained soil was collected, dead-body of the deceased was sealed and several documents were prepared. However, he has not signed any such papers. This witness denied suggestion of defence that he was not present on the spot, therefore, he has not signed any documents. He further stated that he cannot tell that how long the Police party was present at the spot but they have stayed for a considerable period. He did not go alongwith the dead body and he cannot tell at which time, the dead body was taken for the post mortem.

63. Shri Om PW-2 was brother-in-law of the deceased Jagpal, who in his examination-in-chief stated that on 10.4.1998 he was going to Hapur with Jagpal Singh by a bicycle. Jagpal was riding it (bicycle) and he was sitting behind. A bag, in which documents were kept, was hanging on the front handle of the bicycle. When they reached near culvert of the canal track, opposite to unpaved path near village Eklaidi then at 8:45 am Mukesh, Leela, Pravesh and Bablu came towards Eklaidi in front of them. Mukesh said, let us see how he takes the land and exhorted for killing him. Mukesh had country made pistol in his hand. Bablu had a knife in his hand. Both Leela and Pravesh were having sticks in their hands. He jumped from the bicycle and Leela and Pravesh attacked the bicycle with sticks because of which, Jagpal fell down on the ground from his bicycle. Mukesh shot at Jagpal, which was missed, thereafter, Mukesh with butt of his country made pistol and Bablu with knife started assaulting Jagpal on his face. Mukesh and Pravesh also took out their knives and attacked Jagpal, he ran screaming towards Eklaidi on which many people of Eklaidi came on the spot, then accused after hitting Jagpal ran away in the opposite direction. The people of Eklaidi chased them, Mukesh was caught in the field of Amarpal, however, he was freed by Amarpal and thereafter he ran away. When he returned to the culvert, Jagpal had already died. He admitted that the informant Mahipal and Rohtas also arrived at the spot alongwith people of Eklaidi. Mahipal and Rohtash were coming behind them, whom they met in the way. Mahipal and Rohtash went to Police station.

64. PW-2 in is cross examination stated that he had not run from the spot, however, he was only at a distance of 10 steps from the place of incident. He saw the incident from there and Police arrived on the spot after about 2 and hours of the incident (which is around 11:15 am). Police party was consisting of 3-4 Sub Inspectors and 7-8 Constables. Feet of the deceased were in southern direction whereas his head was in northern direction. Handle of the bicycle was in northern direction whereas back side bicycle was in western direction. His right leg was entangled in the back side of wheel of the bicycle. When Mukesh exhorted and threatened to kill, he immediately get away from bicycle to save his life because accused were armed with weapons. Police party remained on the spot for about 1 -2 hours. Inquest report was prepared in his presence. He had not gone alongwith dead body, therefore, he cannot tell who accompanied the dead body. He knew appellant Pravesh even before the incident. As soon as the accused persons exhorted, he jumped from the bicycle and after going 10-15 steps, stood there and watched. Pravesh and Leela firstly struck with sticks, he cannot tell whose stick hit first. He also stated that Pravesh also hit with a knife. Pravesh was having a stick in his left hand and Pravesh had assaulted the deceased with knife once or twice. Mukesh also attacked the deceased with knife. Bablu, Mukesh and Pravesh were carrying knife in the hands. The incident took place in 2-3 minutes. He did not attempt to save his brother-in-law because accused were carrying weapons in their hands. Two girls came and remained present on the spot. He chased the accused with people of Eklaidi because he was hoping that his brother-in-law has been left alive and that was the reason that he immediately did not return to his brother-in-law. However, when he returned, then he found his brother-in-law dead. Father of the deceased was about 50 steps behind them. When he returned back on the spot, he saw the deceaseds father sitting in Taanga. Father of the deceased arrived on the spot after lodging the FIR at about 11.30 am on a Jeep, he was accompanied by Police party and Rohtash. Police personnel were 11-12 in numbers, who collected blood stained soil and also prepared documents of the deceased. Police also recorded statement of Rohtash and prepared deceaseds inquest report, however, he has not signed any papers. Police remained on the spot for about 1:30-1:45 hours. The dead body was sent for post mortem examination at around 12:30 noon. He cannot tell who accompanied the dead body for post mortem as he has not gone to the mortuary. He denied the defense suggestion that he did not recognize Pravesh. When he was cross examined on behalf of accused Chanderpal he stated that he saw accused from a distance of 4-5 steps. After getting off bicycle he ran towards eastern direction and after running for 10-15 steps he stopped and kept standing there for 3-4 minutes and watched the incident. After the incident, he ran towards southern side for chasing the accused for about 1 km.

65. The examination-in-chief of informant Mahipal Singh PW-1 was conducted on 2.12.1999, however, his cross-examination was deferred and this witness was cross-examined at length on 12.05.2000, 24.05.2000, 24.08.20000 and 25.08.2000. Similarly, the examination-in-chief of Shri Om PW-2 was conducted on 03.11.2000, however, his cross-examination was also deferred and PW-2 was also cross-examined at length on 15.03.2001 and 04.04.2001. It is thus, fairly clear that lot of time was taken by the defence in conclusion of cross-examination of both these witnesses. Both these witnesses have been cross-examined extensively that too on different dates, therefore, some contractions are bound to occur in their depositions. Learned counsel for the appellant has drawn attention of this Court towards the contradictions regarding different numbers of Police Personnel present near the dead body of the deceased when the Police party arrived on the crime scene, however, this contradiction is not a material contradiction. We have carefully gone through the depositions of both these witness, however, their depositions as far as date, place and manner of incident is concerned, remained consistent and whatever contradictions are there in their depositions, those contradictions are minor contradictions, which do not affect the credibility of prosecution story.

66. Honble Supreme Court in Motiram Padu Joshi and others vs. State of Maharashtra (2018) SCC 429, has clearly observed that it is unreasonable to contend that evidence given by a related witness should be discarded only on the ground that such witness is related. It is fairly well settled that relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Honble Supreme Court in this case, has also observed that evidence of eye witnesses cannot be doubted on the ground that they did not intervene in the attack nor made attempts to save the deceased. On witnessing a crime, each person reacts in his own way and their evidence cannot be doubted on the ground that the witness has not acted in a particular manner. Therefore, evidence of an eye witness, is not to be disbelieved simply because he has not reacted in a particular manner. In this case, PW-2 and PW-3 and PW-4 stated that on seeing a number of accused armed with deadly weapons, they got frightened and went inside the house and stood near the window and saw the occurrence, however Honble Supreme Court held that their evidence cannot be doubted on the ground that they did not intervene in the attack nor made attempt to save the deceased. In this case, the name of PW-

2 was mentioned in the FIR, but the names of PW-3 and PW-4 were even not mentioned whereas all these were brothers of the deceased.

67. In the present case, PW-1 and PW-2 are father and brother-in-law (Sadhu) of the deceased respectively. However, their relationship is not a factor to affect the credibility of these witnesses. Both these witnesses have clearly deposed in their depositions that the accused were armed with deadly weapons and when PW-1 shouted to save his son, then accused threatened PW-1 and his companion with country made pistol, on which, they jumped into canal. PW-2 in his deposition has clearly stated that he jumped from bicycle to save his life and he could not save his brother-in-law (Sadhu) because accused were armed with deadly weapons. Thus, it is apparently clear that PW-1 and PW-2 got frightened and saved their lives. Therefore, their evidence cannot be doubted on the ground that they neither intervened in the attack nor made attempts to save the deceased. We are, therefore, not impressed with the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant-convict on this point.

68. It was strenuously argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that P.W.1 and P.W.2 inspite of being eyewitnesses and also inspite of being present on spot at the time of inquest proceedings, had not signed police papers including the inquest report, therefore, they are not the eye witnesses and were not present on the spot. There is no requirement of law that an eyewitness, who if present on the spot at the time of inquest proceedings, is required to sign the inquest report and other recovery memos so as to prove his presence on the spot as well as to prove that he is an eye witness of the incident.

69. Honble Supreme Court in Brahm Swaroop and Another Vs. State of U.P., A.I.R. 2011 Supreme Court 280 in para 7 of this judgment has categorically held that evidence of eye witnesses cannot be discarded, if their names do not figure in the inquest report prepared at the earliest point of time. The inquest report cannot be treated as substantive evidence but may be utilized for contradicting the witnesses of inquest. The whole purpose of preparing an inquest report is to investigate into and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death, describing such wounds as may be found on the body of the deceased and stating as in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument such wounds appear to have been inflicted. The object of the proceedings under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is merely to ascertain whether a person died under suspicious circumstances or met with an unnatural death and, if so, what was its apparent cause.

70. Similarly, Honble Supreme Court in Radha Mohan Singh Vs. State of U.P., (2006) 2 SCC 450 in para 15 has clearly held that an investigation under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is limited in scope. The object of the proceedings is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and if so what is the apparent cause of the death. The question regarding the details as to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of the proceedings under Section 174. In Shakila Khader v. Nausher Gama AIR 1975 SC 1324 the contention raised that non-mention of a person's name in the inquest report would show that he was not an eye witness of the incident was repelled on the ground that an inquest under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is concerned with establishing the cause of death and only evidence necessary to establish it need be brought out. The same view was taken in Eqbal Baig v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1987 SC 923, that the non-mention of name of an eye-witness in the inquest report could not be a ground to reject his testimony. The view taken in Podda Narayan v. State of A.P. (supra) was approved by a three-Judge Bench in Khujji @ Surendra Tiwari v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1991 SC 1853 and it was held that the testimony of an eye-witness could not be discarded on the ground that their names did not figure in the inquest report prepared at the earliest point of time. There is absolutely no requirement in law of mentioning the details of the FIR, names of the accused or the names of the eye-witnesses or the gist of their statement nor it is required to be signed by any eye-witness. Therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that P.W.1 and P.W.2 are not the eyewitnesses as they have not signed the inquest report or other police papers falls flat.

71. The learned counsel for the appellant-convict had also argued that the statement of PW-2 was recorded late by the Investigating Officer and, therefore, it loses significance. However, PW-5 in his deposition, has clearly stated that the statement of Shri Om PW-2 was recorded on 11.04.1998, i.e. on the very next day of the incident. Thus, there is no such delay, which caused any doubt on the deposition of PW-2 merely on the ground that his statement was recorded on the next day of the incident. Moreover, law on this issue is also well settled that delay in recording witness statement is not fatal per se.

72. The Honble Apex Court in Firoz Khan Akbar Khan Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 627 has clearly held that delay in recording the statement of witness would not draw an adverse inference against the prosecution case if the delay is adequately explained.

73. In the present case, the Investigating Officer conducted a number of proceedings on 10.04.1998 and even recorded the statement of informant and Chik Writer, prepared site plan, prepared recovery memos and got prepared inquest report and thereafter on the very next day has recorded the statement of Shri Om and, therefore, there is no delay in recording the statement of PW-2. Thus, the arguments of learned counsel for the appellant convict on this point is devoid of any merit.

74. The defense has examined Nathi Singh DW-1, Manvir DW-2, Arjun Singh DW-3, Ravi DW-4 and Omvir DW-5 as defense witnesses before the learned trial Court. All of these witnesses were not eye witnesses of the incident, therefore, their depositions as far as presence of accused on the spot, more particularly the present appellant- convict is concerned, is of no significance.

75. DW-1 has deposed that the accused Leela was falsely implicated because he took the disputed land on sharing basis whereas a case regarding this disputed land was going on between Jagpal and Pravesh etc. DW-2 is a witness of alibi of accused Leela and DW-4 is a witness of plea of alibi of accused Mukesh. Both DW-1 and DW-4 were not present on the spot at the time of incident. Village Parpa is not far away from the place of incident, therefore, deposition of DW-1 as far as plea of alibi of accused Leela is concerned, was not helpful to the defense. However, deposition of DW-4 as far as plea of alibi of accused Mukesh is concerned, does not inspire any confidence as inspite of arrest of accused Mukesh he never informed higher authorities in writing regarding this plea of alibi.

76. Learned counsel for the appellant- convict had argued that the depositions of DW-3 and DW-5 belies the prosecution story as well as presence of PW-1 on the spot.

77. DW-3 in is deposition has stated that he arrived on the spot at 7:00 am on 10.4.1998 and remained there from 7:00 am till the Police took the body away for post mortem at 9:00 am. This witness has fairly conceded that he did not know father of the deceased, therefore, he cannot say whether he was present on the spot or not. This witness has deposed that two girls Beena and Jamuna were to first to arrive on the spot. He further stated that the family members of the deceased arrived on the spot around 3-4 pm and police arrived around 4-5 pm, whereas DW-5 has stated that the deceased Jagpal was murdered at 8:00 am and on receiving this information he reached on the spot at 9:00 am and saw Jagpal lying dead. Thereafter, he sent village Chaukidar to inform Police Post Sapnawat whereupon Police Force arrived at 5:00 pm. However, this witness admitted that recovery memos i.e. Ex.Ka-5, Ex.Ka-6 and Ex.Ka-7 were prepared in his presence and all these recovery memos bears his signature. Both of these witnesses are not eye witnesses. DW-3 arrived on the spot at 7:00 am and he also stated that incident had also occurred at 7:00 am, whereas DW-5 has stated the time of incident to be 8:00 am. DW-5 sent village Chaukidar for informing the Police after seeing the deceased Jagpal lying dead on the spot, however, as per DW-3, Police arrived at 5:00 pm.

78. The aforesaid village Chaukidar, Kishori, has not been examined by the defense. As per oral as well as documentary evidence available on record, it was informant Mahipal PW-1 who has lodged the FIR, upon which, Police arrived on the spot. In-spite of sending village Chaukidar, Kishori, to police post Sapnawat, the Police Force arrived only at 5:00 pm, is not believable at all.

79. The FIR (Ex.Ka-1) has been registered at 10:30 am and as per the inquest report (Ex.Ka-8), the information was received in the Police Station at 10:30 am and Head Constable Mulchand, who conducted the inquest proceedings, started the inquest proceedings at 11:00 am and the inquest proceedings were concluded at 12:15 pm/noon. In this background, the deposition of Manvir Singh DW-2 is important as he was the witness of inquest report and has confirmed in his cross examination that the inquest report was prepared in his presence and he had signed the same. He also fairly conceded that he took his tractor for post mortem.

80. DW-2 nowhere in his deposition has stated that the inquest proceedings were not conducted from 11:00 am to 12:15 pm/noon. Therefore, it is Manvir DW-2 who has also affirmed the inquest proceedings and therefore, the depositions of DW-5 and DW-3 are found to be unreliable. Moreover, it is not possible for DW-3 and DW-5 to remain present from 7:00 am to 9:00 am on the spot on the date of incident. DW-5 in his deposition has also stated in examination in chief that inquest was prepared in his presence and he has signed the same, however, a perusal of inquest report (Ex.Ka-8) reveals that Manvir DW-5 is neither Panch witness nor it carries his signature.

81. We have carefully perused the depositions of DW-3 and DW-5 and are of the opinion that both of these witnesses are not reliable. Therefore, we are not in agreement with the argument of learned counsel for the appellant- convict that deposition of all defense witnesses more particularly DW-3 and DW-5 either belies the prosecution story or makes the presence of PW-1 doubtful on spot.

82. The learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon certain case laws in support of his contention.

83. In Mahendra Singh and Others Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2022) 7 Supreme Court Cases 157, the Honble Supreme Court has observed that when sole witness is found wholly unreliable, then no conviction could be based on his testimony. In this case, the Honble Supreme Court has also observed that same treatment is required to be given to the defence witness (es) as is to be given to prosecution witness (es).

84. The Honble Supreme Court in Deny Bora Vs. State of Assam, (2014) 14 Supreme Court Cases 22 has observed that where statement of sole witness is recorded after 2 years and 6 months of the incident and the incident of firing at the deceased by the appellant accused has occurred in the presence of sole witness and he kept such an incident without disclosing to anyone, defies prudence and baffles commonsense. The Honble Supreme Court has also observed that such a sole witness is wholly unreliable and other material witnesses were withheld in an appeal against acquittal.

85. The Honble Supreme Court in Joginder Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2014) 11 Supreme Court Cases 335 has observed that failure to examine material witness is not a mathematical formula for discarding the weight of testimony howsoever natural, trustworthy and convincing it may be. The charge of withholding a material witness from the Court levelled against the prosecution should be examined in the background of the facts and circumstances of each case. This was again an appeal against acquittal and the Honble Supreme Court extended benefit of doubt to the co-accused while recording his acquittal.

86. In Harvinder Singh alias Bachhu Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2023 SCC OnLine SC 1347, the Honble Supreme Court has observed that in the case of a sole eyewitness, the witness has to be reliable, trustworthy, his testimony worthy of credence and the case proven beyond reasonable doubt. This was a case based on circumstantial evidence in which the trial Court acquitted the accused, however, High Court reversed the acquittal and Honble Supreme Court reversed the conviction of the High Court and affirmed the acquittal of trial Court.

87. We have carefully perused the above case laws and in the light of detailed analysis done by us of the evidence available on record, the above case laws are not of any help to the appellantconvict for the reasons that the present case is a case based on direct evidence and it is an appeal against conviction. The facts of all above case laws are entirely different than the present case in hand.

88. Learned counsel for the appellant-convict has argued that the prosecution witnesses have improved the prosecution story as put forward in the first information report by assigning knife to appellant-convict whereas, no such knife has been attributed in the FIR. It is settled law that FIR is not encyclopedia and if the necessary details are there, on its basis, detailed narrations by the witnesses cannot be doubted. It is also not expected that FIR shall contain all details of the prosecution case. It may be sufficient, if broad facts of the prosecution case about the occurrence appears in the FIR.

89. Honble Supreme Court in M.G. Eshwarappa and others vs. State of Karnataka, (2017) 4 SCC 558, in paragraph 20, has clearly held that if necessary details are in FIR, then on its basis, detailed narration by the witnesses cannot be doubted. In this case, defence argued that there was no details of assault of the FIR and the story narrated by the PW-1 Rajeshwari was nothing but an improvement. Honble Supreme Court after going through the record found that all the necessary facts were narrated in the FIR and only the details like from which side particular accused came were not stated.

90. In the present case, the FIR contains broad facts of the prosecution story all the name of accused have been mentioned, specific weapons have been assigned to them. However, accused Pravesh was stated to be armed with stick in his hand and it is specifically stated that Pravesh hit Jagpal with stick, which caused Jagpal to fall of his bicycle, even causing of injuries by knives has been clearly stated in the FIR, which is promptly lodged by the informant Mahipal PW-1. We have carefully gone through the FIR, (Ex.Ka-1) as well as depositions of PW-1 and PW-2 and found that accused Pravesh was not only present on the spot but actively participated in the crime. It was the blow of sticks by Pravesh which caused the fall of the deceased from his bicycle and thereafter assault was started on the deceased Jagpal. PW-1 and PW-2 both have been cross-examined extensively regarding accused Pravesh having a knife in his one hand and he also attacked Jagpal with his knife, causing incised injuries, but nothing contradictory came in their depositions. Therefore, we do not find any improvement as alleged by the learned counsel for the appellant-convict in the light of the necessary details being clearly disclosed in the FIR, both PW-1 and PW-2 have narrated in detail the incident and therefore, their depositions as far as use of knife by accused Pravesh in the assault is concerned, cannot be doubted.

91. The learned counsel for the appellant-convict also argued that PW-1 and PW-2 are the chance witnesses, therefore, not reliable. A chance witness is the one who happens to be at the place of occurrence of an offence by chance, and therefore, not as a matter of course. In other words, he is not expected to be at the said place. A person walking on a street witnessing the commission of an offence can be a chance witness. Merely because a witness happens to see an occurrence by chance, his testimony cannot be eschewed though a little more scrutiny may be required at times. This again is an aspect which is to be looked into in a given case by the court. The evidence of a chance witness therefore, requires a very cautious and close scrutiny and a chance witness must adequately explain his presence at the place of occurrence. Deposition of a chance witness whose presence at the place of incident remains doubtful should be discarded

92. Let us examine the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 with caution and close scrutiny in order to ascertain whether their presence on the spot is properly explained and whether they fall under the category of wholly reliable witnesses, in order to base conviction of accused on their testimonies. At the same, time it will have to be kept in mind that merely because the eye witnesses are the family members of the deceased, their evidence cannot per se be discarded. Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. Ordinarily a close relation would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. At the same time it needs to be kept in mind while appreciating evidence of such witness that when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge, along with the guilty. In the case of Balraje @ Trimbak Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2010) 6 SCC 673, the Apex Court has held that when the eye witnesses are stated to be interested and inimically deposed against the accused, it would not be proper to conclude that they would shield the real culprit and rope in an innocent person. If after careful analysis and scrutiny of their evidence, the reason given by the witnesses appears to be clear, cogent and credible, there is no reason to discard the same.

93. The evidence of chance witness can be accepted provided statement of such witness adequately explains the presence of such witness and such evidence stands the test of caution and close scrutiny.

94. In the light of above well settled position of law we have again carefully perused the depositions of PW-1 and PW-2. Admittedly PW-1 is father of deceased and PW-2 is his brother-in-law (Sadhu) of the deceased. It has consistently come in their evidence that PW-2 was accompanying the deceased on the fateful day on bicycle whereas PW-1 was going with Rohtash to hire labourers. Both PW-1 and Rohtash were going together on their feets and deceased Jagpal and Shri Om PW-2 crossed them on the way. Both these witnesses have been extensively cross-examined but defense miserably failed to make any dent in their depositions as far as their presence on the spot is concerned. Both of these witnesses have also been grilled extensively that why they were present on the spot on the date of incident and in-spite of their extensive grilling, their depositions remained consistent. Therefore, we are of the opinion that neither their presence on the scene is doubtful nor their evidence is suspicious. There is no reason that why PW-1 and PW-2 would shield actual culprits and falsely implicate the appellant convict. Therefore, evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 cannot be discarded on the ground that they are the chance witnesses and they are related to the deceased in the light of their trustworthy depositions.

95. In-spite of in-depth cross examination of PW-1 and PW-2 spanning over months that too on several dates, nothing suspicious has come in their evidence regarding any doubt over their presence on the date, time and place of incident. Both PW-1 and PW-2 were present on the spot at the time of incident. PW-1 has proved the site plan (Ex.Ka-1) both in his examination-in-chief as well as in his extensive cross-examination. PW-2 in his deposition is also consistent about the place of incident.

96. PW-1 and PW-2 in their respective cross-examination have consistently stated that after the incident, head of the deceased was in northern direction and his (deceased) legs were in southern direction. Therefore, when these witnesses have been cross-examined so extensively and they remained consistent regarding even the position of the dead body, therefore, their depositions are trustworthy. The depositions of both these witnesses as far as manner of incident is concerned, are also not only consistent but are corroborating each others deposition. The manner of incident as narrated by these witnesses is also corroborated by the ante mortem injuries found on the body of the deceased by the Autopsy Surgeon, which have been duly recorded in post mortem report of the deceased. Therefore, we are of the opinion that the prosecution has been able to prove the presence of PW-1 and PW-2 on the spot at the time of incident and both these witnesses saw the incident and had narrated the same consistently. Therefore, their depositions are reliable.

97. In the present case, Investigating Officer had recovered country made pistol, empty cartridges and blood stained knife on the pointing out of the accused but these weapons were not sent to forensic science laboratory for examination. However, this is merely a lapse on the part of Investigating Officer and in the light of reliable evidence given by PW-1 and PW-2, which found full corroboration from the oral as well as documentary medical evidence available on record. The present appellant-convict cannot claim any benefit of lapse of Investigating Officer. The prosecution has also successfully proved the recovery of knife on the pointing out of the appellant-convict Pravesh. Thus, from the above analysis, it is crystal clear that prosecution has successfully prove its case against the appellant-convict beyond reasonable doubt. Question No. IV is accordingly answered in Affirmative.

(V) Whether multiple fracture on head can be caused by a knife or repeated blows of knife.

98. It has come in the depositions of P.W.1 and P.W.2 that present appellant-convict and his other co-accused/associates stabbed the deceased at the time of incident with knives. The learned counsel for the appellant argued that no multiple fractures can be caused by stabbing from knife below injury no. 1. The prosecution has proved the post-mortem report (Ex.Ka.-3) of the deceased and has also examined the autopsy surgeon Dr. Shyam Khandelwal as P.W.4. The Autopsy Surgeon (PW-4) found seven incised wounds and one injury of multiple abrasion as ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased at the time of post-mortem. There is no injury of multiple fracture in one particular incised wound. However, underline bone below injury no.1 and 4 were found fractured and both of these injuries were of incised wound. Therefore, these injuries have been caused by a sharp edged weapon with such a hard blow that underline bone below these injuries got fractured. As per reliable depositions of PW-1 and PW-2, knives were used in the incident, therefore, these injuries have been caused by the blows of knife and thus the injuries so found on the body of the deceased and the oral testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 are fully corroborated by oral as well as documentary medical evidence. The defence has not cross-examined this Autopsy Surgeon and, therefore, his deposition, remained uncontroverted. Question No. V is thus decided accordingly.

99. In the light of foregoing discussions and considering the entire aspects of the matter and looking to the circumstances, under which the present offence has been committed, we are of the view that the impugned judgment and order passed by the trial Court is well thought and well discussed and the trial Court has rightly held that the prosecution has succeeded to prove the guilt of the surviving appellant-accused beyond reasonable doubt. The conviction in the case in hand is a right ending and sentence as imposed is proper. As such, the impugned judgment and order passed by the trial Court is liable to be upheld and the Appeal having no force is liable to be dismissed.

100. No good ground to interfere in the well reasoned judgment of the trial court is made out. Thus there is no merit in the present criminal appeals. Consequently, the judgment and sentence dated 27.01.2003 passed by Additional and Sessions Judge, Ghaziabad in Sessions Trial No.

148/1998, arising out of Case Crime No. 47/1998, (State vs. Mukesh and others), under Section 302/34 IPC and in Sessions Trial No. 149/1998, (State vs. Mukesh and others) under Sections 25 & 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad, qua surviving appellant-convict Pravesh, is hereby Affirmed.

101. The appellant Pravesh is in jail. He shall serve out remaining part of sentence imposed upon him by the trial Court.

102. Let a copy of the judgment be provided immediately to the appellant Pravesh through concerned Superintendent Jail, free of cost.

103. The record of the Trial Court be sent back immediately with a copy of this judgment for necessary information and compliance.

104. The Appeal fails and is hereby Dismissed, qua surviving appellant Pravesh.

105. Pending applications including bail applications, if any, stand disposed of accordingly.

(2026) 5 ILRA 813
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 804 of 1987

Karam Veer & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of conviction order if material contradictions in prosecution version of manner and place of firing.

Headnotes

Appreciation of evidence-Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 307, 147, 148 and 149 - Evidence Act, 1872 -S. 3- Ocular and medical evidence- material contradictions-prosecution version regarding the manner and place of firing -suffered from fundamental inconsistencies-stood contradicted by the medical and objective evidence-the prosecution failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt-accused entitled to the benefit of doubt-impugned order set aside-Appeal allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Sunil Kundu and another v. State of Jharkhand, (2013) 4 SCC 422

2. Khatri Hemraj Amulakh v. State of Gujarat, (1972) 3 SCC 671
3. Joginder Singh v. State of Haryana, (2014) 11 SCC 335
4. Harbeer Singh v. Sheeshpal and others, (2016) 16 SCC 418

List of Acts

1. The Indian Penal Code, 1860
2. The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Testimony of eye-witnesses, medico-legal evidence, non-examination of the eye-witnesses.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for the Appellants : Birendra Kaushik, Sikandar B. Kochar, Amar Saran, G.s. Chaturvedi, Prabhat Agarwal, R.l. Bhargava, R.n. Sharma, Sikandar B. Kochar Counsel for the Respondent : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The four appellants, who have preferred this Criminal Appeal, to wit, Karam Veer, Vikram Singh, Bahadur Singh and Balbir Singh, along with Sheodan and Sonpal, stood their trial before Mr. Jaswant Singh, the then II Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura in Sessions Trial No.236 of 1985, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 307, 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, IPC) and Sessions Trial No. 243 of 1985, under Section 25 of the Arms Act, 1959, both relating to Police Station Naujheel, District Mathura. Whereas Sheodan and Sonpal were acquitted by the learned Additional Sessions Judge by his judgment and order dated 10.03.1987, the appellants were convicted on varying charges and received different sentences accordingly, which shall be shortly detailed hereinafter.

2. Criminal Revision No.830 of 1987 has been preferred by Chandra Pal, the first informant of Crime No.97 of 1985, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 307, 302 IPC, Police Station Naujheel, District Mathura against the impugned judgment and order dated 10.03.1987 passed by the learned II Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura, to the extent he has acquitted Sheodan and Sonpal and acquitted respondent Nos.1 to 4 of certain charges, a more-full description of which would also be shortly given in this judgment.

3. A first information report was lodged by Chandra Pal, a son of Bodha and a resident of Village Hasanpur, Police Station Naujheel, District Mathura on 19.08.1984 at 5.30 p.m. regarding an incident that happened earlier in the day at 2.30 p.m. at Village Hasanpur. According to the first informant, Vikram Singh son of Harchand was at issue with Basanti widow of Surajmal, who lived with the informant, in connection with her property, that was continuing for a considerable period of time.

4. About eight days antedating the occurrence, Basanti left the keys of her house with the informant and left for Agra to stay with her relatives, who lived there. It is reported in the written information that in the afternoon hours of the day, the informant, his brother Bachchu and father Bodha Singh, his cousin Raj Kumari daughter of Bhudar, Jagvir son of Lakhmi and Ravendra son of Lakhmi, besides Churaman, all relatives of the informant, had congregated on the rooftop of Basantis house, which abuts that of the informant. They were sitting in a hut built on the rooftop of Basantis house and were talking amongst themselves, when Vikram and Vikrams son Balbir armed with lathi, besides Karam Veer son of Vikram, Bahadur son of Virendra, Bahadur son of Ram Singh, Sheodan son of Biri, all residents of Hasanpur, and Dr. Sonpal, resident of Meerpur (Pisava) along with four men, whose name the informant did not know, alighted there, brandishing country-made pistols and a gun, hurling abuses. Dr. Sonpal suddenly opened fire with his country-made pistol and exhorted others to surround the victims and kill them. Thereupon, the informants brother Bachchu and all the victims stood up. At that moment, the man, who was wielding a gun and whose identity was not known to the informant, opened fire with the intention to kill. The shot hit the informants brother Bachchu in his feet. Bachchu winced and rushed towards the hut. At that moment, Karam Veer opened fire with his country-made pistol from the western wall of Basantis house, which hit the informants brother. He collapsed. The remainder of the appellants entered the house and, employing country-made pistols that they wielded, opened fire at the victims with an intent to kill. The informant, Raj Kumari, Jagveer and Ravendra sustained gunshot injuries in consequence. The informants father called alarm and rushed downwards, when Vikram and Balbir assaulted him, employing their lathi. He collapsed there. However, the alarm, that was raised, caused Bhudar son of Bhimsen, Javar son of Gopi, Lakhmi son of Bhimsen, besides other residents of the village to reach the place of occurrence and rescue the first informant and the other victims. These witnesses had seen the assailants carry out the assault. The informants brother died on the spot. It is this case that the first informant reported to the Police on 19.08.1984 at 5.30 p.m. The distance of the police station from the place of occurrence is said to be 15 kilometers to the north-east. The written information was transcribed by Churaman son of Rajan Singh Jat, a resident of Village Chhinparai, P.S. Naujheel. It is on record and marked as Ex. Ka-5.

5. On the basis of the written information, a case, being Crime No.97 of 1985, was registered at 5.30 p.m. and the check First Information Report ('FIR' in short) drawn up. The check FIR is marked as Ex. Ka-12. The case was registered at the police station vide G.D. No. 14 dated 19.08.1984 at 17.30 hours. After registration of the case, the injured were referred to the Primary Health Centre, Naujheel for the purpose of medico-legal examination. They were examined at the P.H.C. by Dr. Ghanshyam Singh, the then Medical Officer, In-charge of P.H.C., Naujheel. He drew up the injury reports of Raj Kumari, Jaggo, Bodha, Ravendra Singh and Chandra Pal. The four, who sustained firearm injury, were referred to the District Hospital, Mathura for their X-ray examination. They underwent the necessary X-ray examination and the reports with regard to their X-ray examination were drawn up by Dr. A.K. Gautam, Medical Officer, District Hospital, Mathura, all on 21.08.1984. Investigation into the crime was commenced by R.K. Singh, the then Station Officer, P.S. Naujheel. He took down the statement of the Head Moharrir, who had recorded the check FIR in the case and took into his possession all necessary papers relating to the crime. He then set about the task of investigation, leaving for the place of occurrence. At the place of occurrence, the Investigating Officer (the I.O., for short) held inquest and an inquest report was drawn up, which is marked as Ex. Ka-18. The I.O. removed trousers from the deceaseds dead body and prepared a recovery memo. He took a photo lash and along with the photo lash, a challan lash and a letter addressed to the Chief Medical Officer, Mathura to undertake an autopsy on the deceaseds cadaver were sent forth. He sealed the dead body and handed over the same, along with the documents last mentioned, to Constables Gajraj Singh and Kailash Kumar with instructions to convey the dead body to the mortuary of Mathura. On the following day, i.e. 20.08.1984, the autopsy on the deceased Bachchu's body was conducted by Dr. Nepal Singh, who drew up a postmortem report, Ex. Ka-6.

6. The I.O. investigated the matter going to the village. While the I.O. was about his task of investigation, he received a message, apparently from a secret informer, that two of the accused, Karam Veer and Balbir, were headed towards Village Meerpur, near Khairati Wali Dharamshala. Acting on this information, the I.O. took along witnesses with him and rushed to the place of the reported movement. He arrested Karam Veer and Balbir. Post arrest, Karam Veer was searched and a country-made pistol of 0.12 bore and two live cartridges were found in his possession. A memo of his arrest and recovery was drawn up, bearing Ex. Ka-23. The arrested men were brought to Village Hasanpur. The I.O. carried on his investigation. He took samples of the bloodstained earth as well as the unstained one, keeping these away in separate bundles after drawing up a memo for the purpose. The I.O. also discovered empties of 0.12 bore, besides wads on the spot. These were kept in a separate sealed bundle after preparing a recovery memo for the purpose. The I.O. prepared a site-plan the same day, marked Ex. Ka-26.

7. The country-made pistol, along with the empties, which were recovered from possession of Karam Veer at the time of arrest, were sent to the Director, Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow for opinion. The Forensic Science Laboratory tendered their opinion dated 09.06.1986, marked Ex. Ka-33. According to the F.S.L. Report, the used cartridges were fired employing the country-made pistol, which was recovered by the I.O. from Karam Veer's possession.

8. The other accused remained untraceable in the village and its vicinity. The Investigating Officer, therefore, took out processes under Section 82/ 83 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 ('Cr.P.C.' in short) and properties of the absconding accused were attached. The I.O. also took down statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C., and after completion of investigation, he submitted a charge-sheet against all the accused, except Sonpal, on 08.09.1984. The charge-sheet is marked as Ex. Ka-27. The investigation was continued against Sonpal and a charge-sheet filed against him on 20.09.1984, which is marked as Ex. Ka-28.

9. On the basis of the recovery of the country-made pistol made from Karam Veer, besides two live cartridges, on 19.08.1984, a separate crime, being Crime No. 98 of 1984, under Section 25-A of the Arms Act, 1959 (for short, 'the Arms Act'), P.S. Naujheel, District Mathura, was registered on 19.08.1984 at 11.35 p.m. The check FIR relating to the aforesaid crime is marked as Ex. Ka-16. The investigation of the crime registered under Section 25 of the Arms Act was entrusted for investigation to Sub-Inspector Gamleshwar Biltoria. Biltoria took down statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and prepared a site-plan relating to the place, wherefrom Karam Veer was arrested. He obtained necessary sanction from Rajendra Singh, the then District Magistrate, Mathura on 20.11.1984 to prosecute Karam Veer under Section 25 of the Arms Act. After completion of investigation of this case, the I.O. submitted a charge-sheet against the appellant Karam Veer alone under Section 25 of the Arms Act on 26.08.1984. This charge-sheet is marked as Ex. Ka-37.

10. The learned Magistrate, before whom the proceedings arising out of Crime No.97 of 1984, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 307, 302 IPC came up, finding the case to be exclusively triable by Sessions, committed the case vide order dated 28.08.1985. The case arising out of Crime No.98 of 1984, under Section 25 of the Arms Act, being one related to the same incident, was also committed to the Sessions by the learned Magistrate vide order dated 29.08.1985. In both the cases, the accused were furnished with copies of the relevant prosecution papers as provided under Section 207 Cr.P.C.

11. The case under Sections 307, 302 IPC etc. was registered before the Court of the Sessions Judge as S.T. No.236 of 1985, whereas the connected case under Section 25 of the Arms Act was registered as S.T. No.243 of 1985.

12. The trials were assigned to the II Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura. The Additional Sessions Judge framed charges, numbering four, vide order dated 08.11.1985, against Karam Veer, Bahadur, Sheodan and Sonpal under Sections 148, 302/149, 307/149 and 323/149 IPC. The same way, charges were separately framed vide order dated 08.11.1985 against Vikram and Balbir, also four in number, under Sections 147, 302/149, 307/149 and 323/149 IPC. A separate charge under Section 25(1)(a) of the Arms Act was also framed against Karam Veer alone on 08.11.1985. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

13. The prosecution examined the following witnesses in support of their case:

1. PW-1 Dr. A.K. Gautam, Radiologist District Hospital, Mathura, in whose guidance X-rays of the victims were conducted,

2. PW-2 Chandra Pal, the informant and brother of the deceased Bachchu, who witnessed the incident,

3. PW-3 Bhudhar, a relative of the deceased and eye-witness,

4. PW-4 Ravendra, also an eye-witness,

5. PW-5 Dr. Nepal Singh, Civil Hospital, Agra, who was posted as a Medical Officer, Civil Hospital, Mathura at the time of incident and conducted postmortem of the deceased,

6. PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh, Medical Officer, PHC Jalali, District Aligarh, who at the time of the incident was posted as the Medical Offier, PHC, Naujheel and examined the injuries of the injured Rajkumari,

7. PW-7 H.C. Kehari Singh, P.S. Koshi Kalan, Mathura, the then Head Moharrir posted at P.S. Naujheel, Mathura, who scribed the check FIR and made other G.D. Entries,

8. PW-8 Hamvir Singh No. 481, who was then posted as Constable Clerk at P.S. Naujheel, Mathura and scribed the check FIR and other entries with regard to country-made pistol,

9. PW-9 Constable Gajraj Singh, P.S. Naujheel, who carried the dead body for postmortem,

10. PW-10 Smt. Basanti, a witness who was not present at the time of incident,

11. PW-11 R.K. Singh, S.I. Police Lines, Mathura, who was then posted as S.O., P.S. Naujheel, Mathura and conducted investigation of the case,

12. PW-12 Khichchu, in whose presence recovery of the country-made pistol was made,

13. PW-13 S.I. Gamleshwar Singh, who submitted the charge-sheet under the Arms Act.

14. The prosecution produced the following documentary evidence:

Sr. No.	Exhibit No.	Exhibited documents with brief particulars
1	Ex. Ka-1	X-ray report of the injured Rajkumari dated 21.08.1984, proved PW-1 Dr. A.K. Gautam
2	Ex. Ka-2	X-ray report of the injured Jaggo dated 21.08.1984, proved PW-1 Dr. A.K. Gautam
3	Ex. Ka-3	X-ray report of the injured Chandra Pal dated 21.08.1984, proved PW-1 Dr. A.K. Gautam
4	Ex. Ka-4	X-ray report of the injured Ravendra Singh dated 21.08.1984, proved PW-1 Dr. A.K. Gautam
5	Ex. Ka-5	Written report dated 19.08.1984 lodged with Police Station Naujheel, District Mathura, proved by PW-2 Chandra Pal
6	Ex. Ka-6	Postmortem Report of the deceased Bachchu dated 20.08.1984, proved by PW-5 Dr. Nepal Singh
7	Ex. Ka-7	Injury report of the injured Rajkumari dated 19.08.1984, proved PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh
8	Ex. Ka-8	Injury report of the injured Jaggo dated 19.08.1984, proved PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh
9	Ex. Ka-9	Injury report of the injured Bodha (Godha) dated 19.08.1984, proved PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh
10	Ex. Ka-10	Injury report of the injured Ravendra Singh dated 19.08.1984, proved PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh
11	Ex. Ka-11	Injury report of the injured Chandra Pal dated 19.08.1984, proved PW-6 Dr. Ghanshyam Singh
12	Ex. Ka-12	Check FIR dated 19.08.1984 registered under Sections 302, 307 IPC etc., proved by PW-7 HC Kehari Singh
13	Ex. Ka-13	Copy of GD Entry No.14 Time 17.30 hours dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-7 HC Kehari Singh
14	Ex. Ka-14	S.R. Rapat No.18 Time 19.05 hours dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-7 HC Kehari Singh
15	Ex. Ka-15	S.R. Rapat No.17 Time 18.30 hours dated 20.08.1984, proved by PW-7 HC Kehari Singh
16	Ex. Ka-16	Check FIR dated 19.08.1984 registered under the Arms Act, proved by PW-8 HC Hamvir Singh
17	Ex. Ka-17	Copy of GD Entry No.22 Time 23.35 Hours dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-8 HC Hamvir Singh
18	Ex. Ka-18	Inquest report dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
19	Ex. Ka-19	Challan Nash dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
20	Ex. Ka-20	Photo Lash dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
21	Ex. Ka-21	Letter to the C.M.O. dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
21	Ex. Ka-21	Letter to the R.I. dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
22	Ex. Ka-22	Memo taking possession of the clothes of the deceased dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
23	Ex. Ka-23	Memo taking possession of the country-made pistol and cartridges dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh

24	Ex. Ka-24	Memo taking possession of the bloodstained earth and unstained earth dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
25	Ex. Ka-25	Memo taking possession of the empties, wads etc. from the place of incident dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
26	Ex. Ka-26	Site-plan of the place of occurrence dated 19.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
27	Ex. Ka-27	Charge sheet dated 08.09.1984 submitted against the accused Vikram Singh, Karam Veer, Balbir and Bahadur, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
28	Ex. Ka-28	Charge sheet dated 20.09.1984 submitted against the accused Chandra Pal, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
29	Ex. Ka-29	Attachment Memo of the properties of Bahadur son of Ram Singh dated 30.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
30	Ex. Ka-30	Attachment Memo of the properties of Vikram dated 30.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
31	Ex. Ka-31	Attachment and Custody Memo of the properties of Bahadur son of Virendra Singh, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
32	Ex. Ka-32	Attachment Memo of the properties of the accused Sheodan dated 30.08.1984, proved by PW-11 S.I. R.K. Singh
33	Ex. Ka-33	F.S.L. Report dated 09.06.1986
34	Ex. Ka-34	Complaint moved by the accused Vikram Singh dated 03.07.1984
35	Ex. Ka-35	Site-plan of the place from where country-made pistol and cartridges were recovered dated 22.08.1984, proved by PW-13 S.I. Gamleshwar
36	Ex. Ka-36	Copy of the order granting sanction to prosecute the case under the Arms Act dated 22.11.1984, proved by PW-13 S.I. Gamleshwar
37	Ex. Ka-37	Charge sheet dated 28.08.1984 submitted against the accused Karam Veer under the Arms Act, proved by PW-13, S.I. Gamleshwar
38	Material Ex. 1	Country-made pistol
39	Material Ex. 2	Cartridge
40	Material Ex. 3	Cartridge
41	Material Ex. 4 to 9	Empties numbering six
42	Material Ex. 10 to 17	Wads numbering seven

15. After conclusion of evidence, the statements of the accused, now the convicted appellants, were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 17.01.1987. After the statements of the accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., they did not enter defence or led defence evidence, oral or documentary.

16. After hearing the learned Counsel for the prosecution and the defence, the learned Trial Judge by judgment and order impugned dated 10.03.1987 convicted Karam Veer for offences punishable under Section 302/149 IPC and sentenced him to life. He was also convicted for offences punishable under Section 148 IPC and Section 25 of the Arms Act, and sentenced to a year's rigorous imprisonment on each count. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently. Bahadur was convicted under Sections 307/ 149 IPC and 148 IPC. He was sentenced to three years and one years rigorous imprisonment on respective counts. Vikram Singh and Balbir Singh were convicted under Section 147 and 323/149 IPC and sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment and six months' rigorous imprisonment on the respective counts. Sheodan and Sonpal were granted the benefit of doubt and acquitted.

17. Aggrieved by the judgment and order of conviction, Karam Veer, Vikram Singh, Bahadur Singh and Balbir Singh have preferred the instant appeal, seeking reversal and acquittal. The first informant, Chandra Pal, has filed Criminal Revision No.830 of 1987 from the selfsame judgment and order dated 10.03.1987, seeking to set it aside to the extent it acquits Sheodan and Sonpal; against Karam Veer to the extent of his acquittal on the charges under Sections 307/149 and 323/149 IPC; Bahadur to the extent of his acquittal of charges under Sections 302/149, 323/149 IPC; and, against Vikram Singh and Balbir to the extent of their acquittal under Sections 302/149 and 307/149 IPC. The revision is being decided by a separate order of date.

18. Heard Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned Counsel for the appellants in support of this appeal and Mr. Ghanshyam Kumar, learned AGA-I on behalf of the State.

19. It must be remarked that this is a case which is founded on direct evidence with an eye-witness account. There is testimony of injured witnesses also. Though, the testimony of injured witnesses carries much weight as it comes with an inherent guarantee of truth to it, but it does not mean that the prosecution is in any measure relieved of the burden to prove their case by the criminal standard, or so to speak, beyond all reasonable doubt. It, thus, has to be tested even where injured witnesses testify if their account is after all truthful and not one which is hedged in by such contradiction which brings the prosecution case under a shadow of doubt. Of course, doubts that are remote, fanciful and hairsplitting, cannot serve as basis to discard the prosecution case. A doubt of substantial character, nevertheless, cannot be ignored, and it is after all, the prosecutions duty to remove all such doubts, bringing home a clear case of guilt. The benefit of doubt would always go to the accused.

The date, time, place and manner of occurrence

20. The venue of crime was the rooftop of a hosue that belonged to Smt. Basanti. Her husband Bhagwan Singh had passed away about two decades ago prior to the occurrence. After his demise, she had a marriage of sorts or a customary marriage, described as karab, with Surajmal. Surajmal was a rich man. Smt. Basanti has described him as her second husband, whom she married according to the customs and traditions. Surajmal had a sister by the name Imirti Devi. Surajmal and Smt. Basanti were blessed with children, but none of them survived.

21. Shorn of the dispute, that is raised somewhere, it appears that Surajmal, out of his large agricultural holding, gifted 50 bigha to Imirti Devi and left 11 bigha to Smt. Basanti. Surajmal, in course of time passed away. Since the time of Surajmal, Bodha would till and work on his fields. After his demise, Bodha would still work on the fields, raise and harvest crops. Bodha would stay in the same house as Smt. Basanti since the time of her husband, and there was a boundary wall raised to demarcate the part in which Bodha would stay. This house was constructed by her husband. The house had five rooms on the ground floor and on the rooftop it had a hut. There was a solitary staircase leading to the rooftop. Smt. Basanti, eight days prior to the occurrence, had left the village and gone to Agra to stay with two of her sons, who lived there. These two sons were begotten of her first husband, Bhagwan Singh. Before leaving for Agra, Smt. Basanti had handed over the keys of her house to Bodha.

22. On the fateful day, Bodha, his sons Bachchu and Chandra Pal, besides Bodhas niece Rajkumari, Jagveer and Ravendra, both sons of Lakhmi, and Churaman moved to the rooftop of Basantis house at about half past two in the afternoon. They were sitting in the hut on the roof top of Basantis house when Vikram, his son Balbir armed with sticks (lathi), Karam Veer son of Vikram, Bahadur son of Virendra, Bahadur Singh son of Ram Singh, Sheodan son of Biri, Dr. Sonpal and four unknown men, one of whom had a gun, and all others armed with country-made pistols, arrived. The assault commenced with Sonpal opening fire by his country-made pistol and exhorting others to kill. The details of the assault would be dealt with later in this judgment, also testing the veracity of the prosecution case on that score. The assault, mostly employing gunfire, left Bachchu dead, besides Chandra Pal, the first informant and PW-2, Ravendra, PW-4, Rajkumari and Jagveer @ Jaggo, injured, all of whom sustained gunshot injuries. In addition, Bodha sustained injuries due to lathi blows.

23. According to the prosecution, the date of incident is 19.08.1984, the time 2.30 p.m. and the place of occurrence is largely the rooftop of Smt. Basanti Devis house, where all the deceased and the injured sustained gunshot injuries with the exception of Bodha, who could manage to come down the stairs and was received with lathi blows from Vikram and his son Balbir.

24. Out of the three eye-witnesses examined, PW-2, the first informant, and PW-4 Ravendra are injured witnesses, whereas Bhudar, who is a brother of Bodha and has his house adjoining that of Basanti, is an eye-witness. It is the prosecutions burden to establish by the testimony of their witnesses dependent upon their consistency and plausibility, if the eye-witness account about the manner of occurrence, is a truthful account. It would still have to be seen if the date, time and place of occurrence as propounded by the prosecution are proved by their evidence. The eye-witness account, apart from its consistency of version with reference to the surroundings and circumstances, must show that the date, time, place and manner of occurrence the way these have been given by the prosecution witnesses, are established. In short, the inherent truthfulness of the eye-witness account has to be corroborated by reference to independent circumstances.

25. According to the first information version, the witness Chandra Pal, along with his brother Bachchu, father Bodha Singh, cousin Rajkumari, Jagveer @ Jaggo, Ravendra and Churaman, were sitting in the hut at the top of Smt. Basanti Devis house, talking amongst themselves when Vikram, his son Balbir, wielding lathi alighted. Also accompanying them were Karam Veer son of Vikram, Bahadur son of Virendra, Bahadur Singh son of Ram Singh, Sheodan, Dr. Sonpal, besides four unknown men. All these men, known and unknown, except for Vikram and Balbir, had firearms on them. One of the men had a gun whereas all others had country-made pistols. They arrived abusing the victims. Dr. Sonpal fired his country-made pistol more by way of exhortation and did exhort others to surround the victims and do them to death. Upon hearing this, the deceased Bachchu stood up as did the others. The unknown man, who was armed with a gun, opened fire at the victims with an intent to kill. It led to Bachchu sustaining injuries to his legs. Bachchu winced on account of pain and ran out of the hut when Karam Veer shot him from the western wall of Basanti Devis house. Bachchu collapsed in consequence of the gunshot injury. Thereupon, the rest of the assailants entered the house, and employing the country-made pistols they wielded, shot the victims with an intent to kill, resulting in gunshot injuries to Rajkumari, Jagveer, Ravendra and Chandra Pal. The informant/ PW-2s father Bodha cried out and raced down the staircase, whereupon Vikram and Balbir thrashed him with the lathi they wielded. Hearing all the noise generated by this assault, Bhudar, Javar Singh, Lakhani and various other residents of the village came over, who saved the victims and saw the assailants attack the victims. Bachchu died on the spot.

26. This account of the occurrence, or so to speak, the manner of occurrence shows that the assailants came to the rooftop, where the victims were sitting in the hut and shot them. Those, who remained down below, were Vikram and Balbir, who were armed with lathi and they assaulted Bodha as he descended downstairs, escaping from the roof in panic on account of the gunfire. PW-2 Chandra Pal in his examination-in-chief has supported the first information version, which makes out a clear case that as the victims were sitting in the rooftop hut of Smt. Basantis house, the assailants, seven known and four unknown, arrived there. One unknown man had a gun whereas all others, that is to say, the unknown ones, had country-made pistols. As soon as they arrived, Dr. Sonpal fired a shot exhorting others to surround the victims and kill them. The witneses said that this shot was fired outside the hut. It was followed by a shot from the gun, which hit Bachchu in his legs. The injury made Bachchu panic and run into the hut, whereupon Karam Veer shot him in the head. The others too opened fire with an intent to kill the rest of the victims. The gunshots caused injuries to the informant (PW-2), Ravendra, Rajkumari and Jagveer @ Jaggo. The informants father cried out and rushed down the stairs into the chowk, whereupon Vikram and his son Balbir beat him up with lathi blows. The call for rescue made by the victims led the informants uncles Lakhmi, Bhudar, besides Javar singh and many others of the village to reach the place of occurrence. They saved the victims and also saw the occurrence.

27. This account of PW-2 is more or less consistent with the FIR version. Apart from locating the place of occurrence for all the victims on the rooftop of Basantis house, the prosecution so far is about a case where they saw that the assailants, including the appellants, come up to the rooftop, where the hut, that the victims were occupying, stands.

28. In sharp contrast to the aforesaid version is PW-2s stand in his cross-examination, where he says that though his father was beaten after he got down the roof, all others were shot on the rooftop, but the assailants fired from the ground. The place where they were sitting on the roof was at a height of 8 feet from the ground, according to this witness in his cross-examination. It is then again said, in a somewhat contradictory stand, by this witness that Sonpal had fired at a distance of 15-16 paces from the hut, whereas Karam Veer had shot from a distance of 8-10 paces. Still more in the same vein, it is said by this witness that the assailants had entered the hut where the victims were sitting. It is further said by the witness that the victims received gunshot injury caused by those assailants, who were inside the house. We consider it appropriate to notice this contradictory stand in the essential manner of assault by referring to the testimony of PW-2, where it speaks in conflict. The relevant PW-2s testimony is as follows:

करीबन डेढ़ साल हो गया ढाई बजें दिन का समय था। मैं, मेंरा भाई बच्चू मृतक, मेरे पिता गोदा, राजकुमारी, रिवेन्द्र, जगवीर, उर्फ जग्गा व चूरामन बसन्ती की छत पर हमारे मकान से मिली झोपडी में बैठें

बातचीत कर रहे थे। मेरा भाई बच्चू ट्रैक्टर से खेत जोत कर लौटा था और थोडी देर पहलें लौटा था। उस समय विक्रम व बलवीर लाठी लेकर, कर्मवीर व सौदान, बहादुर, व सोहनपाल, व दूसरा बहादुर मृतक, सौदान व चार अन्य बाहर के आदमी जो कि मैं पहलें से नही जानता था। वहॉ पर आये।

आतें ही डाक्टर सोहनपाल ने फायर किया कहा कि घेर लो सालों को मारो। यह फायर झोपड़ी के बाहर हुआ था। फिर अनजान बन्दूक वालें ने फायर किया और उस फायर से चोटें मेरे भाई बच्चू के आई। जब मेंरा भाई घबड़ा कर झोपड़ी में भागा तो कर्मवीर ने उस पर फायर किया जो उसके सर पर लगा। और लोगों ने भी हम पर भी जान से मारने की नीयत से कर दिये। इस फायरिंग में मुझे, रविन्द्र, राजकुमारी, जयवीर उर्फ जग्गों को चोटें आयी।"

(emphasis by Court)]

29. In his cross-examination, PW-2 has stated thus:

"हम सब चुटैल छत पर थें। मेरे पिता के साथ नीचें मारपीट हुई बाकी हम सब लोगो को ही ऊपर ही छत पर गोली लगी फायर सब नीचे से हुये थें।

जब सोहन पाल झौपडी से 15-16 कदम दूर था तब उसने गोली चलायी। कर्मवीर ने गोली झौपडी से 8-10 कदम से चलायी। दोनो ने गोली झौपडी के पश्चिम से चलायी थी।

और मुलजिमान जिस झौपडी में हम बैठें थे उसमें भी घुसें थें। नीचें झौपडी के अनजान लोग नही घुसें थें। यह लोग चौक में रहे थें। यह लोग चौक में मुश्किल से 3-2 मिनट रहें थे। इन लोगो ने फायर चौक से भी किये थें। हमें फायरों से चोटें केवल उन लोगों के द्वारा फायर करने से आयी जो मकान के भीतर थें।"

(emphasis by Court)]

30. Thus, the testimony of this witness, which will be noticed for other contradictions as well, juxtaposed with the testimony of the other eye-witnesses, on its own terms, is self-contradictory, where the consistent stand of assault by gun fire by the assailants after reaching the rooftop is contradicted by PW-2 in his cross-examination saying that though gunshot injuries were sustained by the victims at the rooftop, the assailants had fired from the ground. This is a fundamental contradiction in the manner of assault, that is to say, if the assault was by the assailants after reaching the rooftop or was it from down below, whether outside the house or from inside the premises, but using ground level to shoot. These are two different manners of assault, so essentially different that the two cannot co-exist. We would presently see if this is just one out-of-place inconsistency, or there is a general pattern of inconsistency about the manner of assault, described by the witnesses.

31. The same witness, PW-2, has said further in his cross-examination:

मकान से बाहर से जिन लोगों ने फायर किये थें उनमें से केवल कर्मवीर एक अनजान की बन्दूक वालें की गोली मेरे भाई को लगी थी।

मैं नही कह सकता कि हमें फायर की चोटें अनजानों द्वारा गोली चलाने से आयी या मुलजिमान द्वारा गोली चलाने से आयी कर्मवीर गोली चलातें समय झौपड़ी के पश्चिम में था।

यह ठीक है कि रिपोर्ट में यह लिखा है कि शेष व्यक्तियों ने भी घर में घुस कर फायर किया।

जब गवाह से पूछा गया कि उपरोक्त रिपोर्ट एक्जी क-5 वाली बात सही है तथा आज वाली बात सही है तो गवाह ने कहा कि आज वाली बात सही है और घबराहट में शेष व्यक्तियों का घर में घुस कर फायर करना लिखा गया था।"

(emphasis by Court)]

32. A reading of the aforesaid stand of this witness indicates that the inconsistency whether all the assailants fired from the ground or they climbed to the rooftop and shot, persists in the same manner very distinctively. In one part of his testimony, PW-2 says that Karam Veer and the other unknown man, who wielded the gun and shot the deceased in his feet, fired from outside the house, whereas elsewhere in his testimony he says that Karam Veer was on the roof, shooting from the western wall, or west of the hut. There is also much inconsistency about the fact whether some men stayed outside, as the dock evidence of this witness says and others entered the house to shot, quite irrespective of the fact whether they climbed on to the roof or not; but, in the FIR it is said that all the assailants had trooped into the house. When this apparent contradiction was put to PW-2 with reference to his stand in the FIR, he said that whatever he is saying in the dock is correct and facts mentioned in the FIR were said out of panic.

33. Again PW-3 Bhudar, a witness of fact, has said in his examination-in-chief:

"करीबन ढेड साल की बात है। दिन के ढाई बजें का समय था। मैं अपने मकान में नीचें बैठा हुआ था। गोदा चन्द्रपाल, बच्चू, रवेन्द्र, जगदीश, राजकुमारी ऊपर छत जो कि बसन्ती की मकान की है। झौपडी में खाट पर बैठें हुये थें। इतने में वहॉ पर विक्रम के सहित 6 मुलजिमान हाजिर अदालत व मृतक बहादुर व चार अनजान लोग आये।"

(emphasis by Court)]

34. In his cross-examination, the witness has said:

"मुलजिमान में से व अनजान आदमियों में से कुछ ने ऑगन से फायर किये व कुछ ने बाहर से फायर किये थें। ऑगन में तीन तो अनजान आदमी गये थें और मुलजिमान में से बहादुर हाजिर अदालत व बहादुर मृतक थें। एक अनजान आदमी और बाकी पॉचों मुलजिमान ऑगन के बाहर थें। ऑगन से केवल दोनो बहादुर व एक अनजान आदमी को फायर करतें देखा था और बाहर से सब वह लोग जिनके पास तमंचें थें थें फायर कर रहे थें। बलवीर व विक्रम भी जब फायरिंग हो रही थी चौक में थें। फायर बन्दूक की नाल को ऊपर उठा कर व टेडी करके किये थें। मेरे सामने दो तीन फायर करने वालों ने कट्टें व बन्दूके भरी थी कौन कौन ने भरी नही कह सकता इन फायर करने वालों ने पहलें भी फायर कियें दुबारा भरने के बाद भी किये। मुलजिमान में से या अनजान आदमियों में से कोई छत पर नही आया।

मैं कोई कारण नही बता सकता कि बच्चू के दो गोली लगने के बाद भी हम भागें क्यों नही थें। ऑगन से चलाने वालें किसी व्यक्ति की गोली मृतक या चुटैल को नही लगी बल्कि जो लोग बाहर से गोलिया चला रहे थें उनकी गोलिया मृतक या चुटैल के लगी थी।"

(emphasis by Court)]

35. PW-4 in his examination-in-chief has testified:

"करीबन डेढ़ साल की बात है। दिन के ढाई बजें का समय था बसन्ती के मकान की झौपडी में जो छत पर है में मैं, बच्चू, मृतक चन्द्रपाल, जग्गों, राजकुमारी, चूरामन, व गोदा, बैठें थे। व बातचीत कर रहे थें। तभी सोहनपाल, विक्रम, बलवीर, कर्मवीर, सौदान, बहादुर, दूसरा बहादुर जो मर गया है। और चार आदमी अनजान नीचें आतें हुये देखें। मुलजिमान 6 हाजिर अदालत है। आतें ही सोहनपाल ने फायर किया और गाली दी सालो को देख लो मार डालो। फिर हम बाहर झौपडी से बाहर आ गये।"

(emphasis by Court)]

36. PW-4 in his cross-examination has testified:

"कर्मवीर ने भी जमीन पर खड़े होकर फायर किया। सब चुटैलों व मृतक को खड़े खड़े के चोटें लगी थी उस समय कोई बैठा या गिरा नही था। मैं नही कह सकता कि जब मेरे को चोट आयी उससे पहलें कुल कितने फायर हो चुके थें। मैंने सभी मुलजिमान व अनजान आदमी को अपने अपने हथियारो को भरतें व चलातें देखा। मुझसे गोली लगे के पहलें भी मुलजिमान ने अपने अपने हथियार में भरे थें। बच्चू के अलावा बाकी चुटैलों के चोटें करीबन साथ साथ आयी थी जब मेरे ताऊ गोेदा नीचें उतरे तब भी फायर हो रहे थें। लेकिन गोदा के नीचें उतरने के बाद किसी के कोई छर्रा आदि नही लगा। मकान के अन्दर दोनो बहादुर श्यामदान (sic) विक्रम व बलवीर आये थें और चारों अनजान मकान के बाहर रहे। इन पांचों आदमियों ने जो अन्दर आ आ गये थें और जिनके पास तमंचें थें मकान के बाहर व अन्दर से भी फायर किये। मकान के अन्दर से जो फायर हम पर हुये थें उनसे हममे से किसी को चोट नही आयी बाहर वालो ने जो फायर किये थें उन्ही फायरों से हमें चोटें आयी।"

37. Upon a reading of the testimony of these three eye-witnesses, what we find is that while they are consistent about the date, time and place of occurrence, there is much inconsistency about the manner thereof. The foremost inconsistency is about the fact, if the assailants, including the appellants Karam Veer, Bahadur Singh son of Ram Singh, reached the rooftop of Basanti's house, where the hut in which the victims were sitting is located, and assaulted them there, or they remained firmly footed on the ground and carried out an assault from the ground, targeting the victims on the rooftop. We have already pointed out this inconsistency in the testimony of PW-2, who somewhere says that the assailants came to the rooftop and carried out the assault, whereas elsewhere he says that they shot from the ground.

38. PW-3 has said in his examination-in-chief that when the victims were sitting on a cot inside the hut, located on the rooftop of Basanti's house, at about 2.30 p.m., Vikram along with the six named assailants, which includes the appellants, besides four unknown men came over there. The purport of the testimony of this witness in the examination-in-chief, read as a whole, is clear that the assailants came to the hut, located on the rooftop, and carried out the assault there. However, in his cross-examination, this witness says that one unknown man and five of the accused, that is to say, the named ones, were outside the courtyard (angan). In the courtyard, there were the two Bahadurs and one unknown assailant. He has specifically said that neither the accused nor the unknown offenders came to the rooftop. PW-4, however, maintains that the appellant Karam Veer and the others fired from the ground, some from outside the house and others from the courtyard. He has also said that those who fired from the courtyard did not cause injury to anyone. It was those, who were firing from outside the house, caused the injury.

39. If one looks to the testimony of PW-2, he has said that the appellant Karam Veer had shot from a distance of 8-10 paces. He has also said that the assailants, which would include the appellants, entered the hut that the victims were sitting in. Elsewhere, he says, like the other witnesses, that the shooting was from the ground. PW-3 also says in his examination-in-chief that the accused arrived at the hut and in his cross-examination says that injuries were caused by those, who were shooting from the ground outside the house. Further down in his cross-examination, he has said that injuries were caused by those, who shot from inside the house, whereas PW-3 and 4 both say that injuries were caused by those alone who were shooting from outside the house and not those, who were shooting from inside, that is to say, from the courtyard.

40. The entire account of the occurrence given by the witnesses is riddled with contradictions about the essential nature of the assault. The FIR and some part of the testimony of PW-2 and PW-3 indicates that the assailants, including the appellants, came up to the rooftop just outside the hut, and, may be inside too as well, at some point of time, and the assault happened there. Elsewhere, and it must be acknowledged for the better part of the evidence, it is testified that the assault was by shooting from the ground, hitting the victims who were on the rooftop and had moved out of the hut. There is a further contradictions about the fact whether the appellants, who actually shot the deceased to death or injured the others, fired from within the house, that is to say, the courtyard, or those who were standing outside the house and shooting the victims standing on the rooftop. This casts a serious shadow of doubt about the prosecution case relating to the manner of assault. In order to better understand, if these contradictions are but the result of frailties of human expression or understanding, we think we ought refer to some more evidence of a material kind that would shed light on those features of the case that are mystifying indeed.

41. PW-2 in his evidence has clearly said that on the rooftop, there was no bullet, pellet or wad found. The Investigating Officer, PW-11, has said in his cross-examination that upon inspecting the scene of crime, he found that the roof is about 10 feet from the ground. The place between Points B and C in the site-plan, which is apparently on the ground, where 'X' 'X' are marked, he found empties, six in number, that were sealed. This witness has said that when he went to the place where the dead body was lying on the rooftop, he did not find any wad, pellet or empty. He has further said that he did not come across any pellet or bullet marks on the roof. This material evidence while it may lean more towards showing that the shooters were on the grounds, does leave to mystery the fact, why no wad or pellet mark was found on the rooftop, where one man had been shot dead and four others injured, assuming that the shooters were positioned on the ground and shooting victims on the rooftop located at a height of 10 feet. Except for the blood, where the dead body lay, there was no telltale sign of shooting found, which further makes the prosecution case doubtful. It does suggest that the assault was carried out in some other manner and possibly by someone else under very different circumstances than those alleged by the prosecution. The dead body lying on the roof with blood splattered in situ is only indicative of the fact that the deceased was done to death there. But, in the absence of other cogent evidence, it does not establish the manner of assault. We, therefore, hold that the manner of assault is not established by cogent evidence.

If the ocular evidence is in conflict with the medico-legal evidence to the extent of affecting the former's reliability

42. There are five injured victims in the case, four of whom have received gunshot wounds. Those who have received gunshot wounds are Rajkumari aged 17 years daughter of Bhudar, Jaggo aged 14 years son of Lakhmi Singh, Ravendra Singh son of Lakhmi Singh and Chandra Pal son of Bodha. The following injuries were found in case of each of these victims:

Kumari Rajkumari aged about 17 years

1. Firearm wound .4 cm x .4 cm x scalp deep on right side head 7cm above base of nose. Burning of the edge of the wound was present. Pallet was not palpable. Injury kept under observation. Advised x-ray-

Jaggo aged about 14 years

1. Firearm wound .5 cm x .5 cm x scalp deep on right side head 7 cm above right external ear. Burning of the edge of the wound present. Pallet is not palpable. Injury kept under observation, advised x-ray.

Bodha aged about 56 years

1. Lacerated wound 2 cm x 0.5 cm x scalp deep on right side head 12 cm above right external ear. Bleeding is present. There was complaint of pain over left forearm outer side upper third but no mark of external injury was seen over the spot. Injuries is simple in nature and caused by blunt object, like lathi.

Ravendra Singh aged about 18 years

1. Firearm wound .5 cm x .5 cm x muscle deep on left elbow joint outer side. Bleeding present. Pallet is palpable underneath skin surface. No tattooing or burning at the wound present. Injury kept under observation and advised x-ray.

2. Traumatic swelling 10 cm x 9 cm on back and outer side of left elbow joint. Kept under observation adv. x-ray. Surgical emphysema present.

Chandralal aged about 23 years

1. Firearm wound 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep on left upper arm outer side 10 cm below top of shoulder joint. Pallet is palpable underneath. Burning of the edge of wound is present. Injury kept under observation.

2. Firearm wound .4 on x .4cm x muscle deep on right side chest 8 cm above the nipple and 5 cm away from sternum wound. Pallet is palpable. Burning of the edge of the wound present. Injury kept under observation.

3. Firearm wound .3 cm x .3 cm x muscle deep on inner side of the left index finger on first phalanx. Burning of the edge of the wound present. Pallet is palpable. Injury kept under observation. Advised x-ray of the left upper arm, chest and left hand.

(emphasis by Court)

43. Dr. Ghanshyam Singh, Medical Officer, PHC Jalali, District Aligarh, who examined the victims, proved the injury reports of all the victims, including the one who did not receive gunshot wounds, but lathi blows, to wit, Bodha, and these are on record as Ex. Ka-7 to Ka-11. The examination-in-chief of this witness, to whom a leading question was put by Mr. K.C. Bhargava, the learned Counsel assisting the Public Prosecutor, perhaps privately appearing for the informant, with leave of the Court, which was granted. We, therefore, proceed to reproduce the relevant part of this witness's examination-in-chief:

".....Injured Bodha and Chandrapal are present in Court. It is correct that no blackening scorching were found in any of the firearm wounds. Injury no.1 of Rajkumari and Injury no.1 of Jaggo and injury no.1 of Chandrapal had burning of edge of the wound.

Bad Issue: The counsel assisting PP namely Sri KC Bhargava wants to put a leading question to the witness to clarify the burning of the edges around the wounds of above injured persons. Allowed to do so.

Question:- If the led discharged from the fire was heated and if the same entered the body would the same cause the burning of the edges as found the body of the injured persons?

Ans:- I found charring of the wound of the injured. If the shots were fired within a distance of 4 feet from the body of the injured only then this charring is possible and not otherwise. In my view if the injured was fired at a distance beyond 4 feet then this charring is not possible.

It would be incorrect to suggest that I wrongly or intentionally wrote burning in the injury reports against facts."

(emphasis by Court)

44. In his cross-examination, which also has some material bearing on the worth of the testimony of eye-witnesses in one part, this witness has said:

"I did not know either the injured or the accused who were now facing the trial. Since no direction of the injuries has been mentioned by me in my injury report it shows that the seat of injury and the height of the mussel of the firing weapon were in line with each other i.e. they were at the same line."

(emphasis by Court)

45. The injuries of three of the witnesses, who have received gunshot wounds, that is to say, Rajkumari, Jaggo and Chandra Pal, show that the wounds of entry, one each in case of Rajkumari and Jaggo, and three in case of Chandra Pal, reveal burning of the edge of the wounds noticed by the doctor. A leading question was asked of the doctor by Mr. K.C. Bhargava, Advocate assisting the learned Public Prosecutor, with permission of the Court, all of which has been extracted hereinabove. The question was about the fact that a heated bullet discharged from a gun, if enters the body, would cause burning of the edges, as found here. The doctor in his answer has said that he found charring of the wounds of the injured. He has gone on to say that if shots were fired within a distance of 4 feet from the body of the injured, only then this charring is possible, and not otherwise. He has further said that beyond a distance of 4 feet, charring is not possible. The inference, therefore, is that all the three, out of the four victims, who received gunshot injuries, were shot from a distance of 4 feet or less. If the part of the evidence, which has ascribed all the shooting to the assailants with their feet on the ground, where the victims were on the rooftop, the roof being 10 feet high, it is not possible that the charring or burning noticed by the doctor would be there on the wounds of three of the four victims.

46. It has come in evidence that all the four victims received gunshot injuries, almost at the same time while they were on the rooftop. Either the assailants had shot them from close range on the rooftop, or they were shot under different circumstances than those that emerge from the part of the testimony, which says that the assailants mostly shot from outside the house with their feet on the ground and the victims atop the roof. The vacillating testimony of the injured witnesses, where in some part they say that the assailants had come to the rooftop, and the other, where they say mostly that they never came to the rooftop, but shot from the ground, for the latter part of it, is not consistent with the medico-legal evidence at all.

47. Further, the testimony of the doctor in his cross-examination that he thought that the muzzle of the gun and the victims were at the same level, is not at all consistent with the case of victims being shot by assailants standing on the ground. Therefore, the ocular testimony of witnesses, where they lean more towards saying, again though vacillating, that the assailants shot from the ground, is not consistent with the medico-legal evidence. It could be consistent if the assailants had come on to the roof and done the evil deed. But about that, the victims have spoken on a vacillating note so vacillating that it is difficult to accept either of it as the truthful version. The medico-legal evidence, together with the vacillating ocular testimony, introduces a great degree of uncertainty in the prosecution case to the extent, where the prosecution case appears to stand on shaky ground.

48. We must add that if the case of the prosecution that the deceased was shot by the assailants, including the appellants, from the ground, is taken to be the correct version, the medico-legal evidence is so incompatible with it that the two cannot stand together. The ocular version would have to be disbelieved. What kind of medico-legal evidence would displace an ocular version, was considered by the Supreme Court in Sunil Kundu and another v. State of Jharkhand, (2013) 4 SCC 422, where it was held:

"23. As we have already stated the major lacuna in this case is that use of firearms by the accused is not proved. There are no firearm injuries on the deceased. It is true that when there is cogent eyewitness account, the medical evidence recedes in the background. However, when the eyewitness account is totally inconsistent with the medical evidence and there is reason to believe that improvements are made in the court to bring the prosecution case in conformity with the post-mortem notes, it is a cause for concern. In such a situation, it is difficult to say that one must believe the tainted eyewitness' account and keep the medical evidence aside. In this connection, we may usefully refer to the judgment in Sahebrao [(2011) 4 SCC 249: (2011) 2 SCC (Cri) 201] where this Court observed that when the doctor's experience has not been questioned, he is the only competent person to opine on the nature of injuries and cause of death. We may also refer to the judgment of this Court in Anjani Chaudhary [(2011) 2 SCC 747: (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 887] , where the medical evidence did not support the appellant's presence as there was no injury on the deceased which could be caused by a lathi and the appellant was stated to be carrying a lathi. Since the eyewitnesses therein were not found to be reliable, this Court acquitted the appellant therein.

24. In Kapildeo Mandal [(2008) 16 SCC 99: (2010) 4 SCC (Cri) 203] all the eyewitnesses had categorically stated that the deceased was injured by the use of firearm, whereas the medical evidence specifically indicated that no firearm injury was found on the deceased. This Court held that while appreciating variance between medical evidence and ocular evidence, oral evidence of eyewitnesses has to get priority as medical evidence is basically opinionative. But, when the evidence of the eyewitnesses is totally inconsistent with the evidence given by the medical experts then evidence is appreciated in a different perspective by the courts. It was observed that when medical evidence specifically rules out the injury claimed to have been inflicted as per the eyewitnesses' version, then the court can draw adverse inference that the prosecution version is not trustworthy. This judgment is clearly attracted to the present case.

25. In Mani Ram [1994 Supp (2) SCC 289: 1994 SCC (Cri) 1242] PW 2, the only sole eyewitness therein stated that the two appellants therein chased deceased Basdeo and both of them fired at him from the kattas while he was running. However, according to the post-mortem report, Injury 7, which was caused by a firearm, was situated on the right shoulder and front of upper arm and outer part. There was no injury either on the back or anywhere behind the shoulder. Since the prosecution case was that the deceased was fired at while he was running, firearm injuries should have been there on his back. In view of this discrepancy, this Court observed that where the direct evidence is not supported by the expert evidence then the evidence is wanting in the most material part of the prosecution case and, therefore, it would be difficult to convict the accused on the basis of such evidence. We feel that the accused can draw support from this case also. Tainted eyewitness account which is glaringly inconsistent with the medical evidence as regards firearm injury has shaken the credibility of the prosecution case."

49. As already remarked, the only other possibility of this kind of an injury being sustained was, if the assailants were on the rooftop while shooting. There is one side of the ocular evidence, which says that the assailants reached the rooftop, but there is no firm description of that version of assault in the ocular evidence, so consistent with the medico-legal evidence, that a case of shooting at a range of 4 feet or less can be said to be testified by the witnesses. We, therefore, refused to believe the prosecution version on this score.

If the presence of PW-3 is doubtful

50. This was a point mooted before us to show that tailor made evidence was introduced in the case by selectively producing witnesses, who would support the prosecution case while keeping back others, whose evidence would have thrown much light on the case. This is particularly so as there is substantial incongruity in the accounts of PW-2 and PW-4 about the manner of assault and also in the account of PW-2 on its own terms. All these we have already noticed. PW-3 is a brother of one of the injured victim, Bodha, who was assaulted with a lathi by two of the assailants, according to the prosecution case, when he descended the stairs. According to the prosecution, Bhudars house adjoins that of Basanti and there is a wall between the two roofs. He was sitting in his house on the ground floor, whereas the victims were sitting on the rooftop in Basantis house in the hut located there. He saw these assailants arrive and then heard a shot ring out, the one that was fired by Sonpal. Upon hearing the shot and the next following fire from the gun, he went up his roof, using a ladder because there is no staircase. He reached the same roof, where the deceased and the injured were beleaguered by the assailants. According to his testimony in the cross-examination, he did not go into the hut, which the victims had occupied before the commencement of assault, but stayed on the roof at a distance of 5-6 paces from the victims and saw it all happen from that short distance. Upon being cross-examined, he has stated that he saw 10-12 rounds being fired in his presence and he says that he went to the roof out of fear. He says that he had not seen the accused earlier, but saw them once he had reached the roof. It is this witness, who has categorically said that none of the assailants made it to the roof, but fired either from the courtyard or mostly from outside the house, all on the ground.

51. We are of opinion that the presence of this witness is highly doubtful. His reaction to climb his roof using an open make-shift ladder of his house and then reach the adjoining roof, where the victims were being assaulted, is a very unnatural reaction for any man of ordinary prudence so unnatural that it is hard to believe the truth of it. The explanation that he gave is that he went to the roof out of fear. A man, circumstanced as PW-3, could well have been under great fear, but that could not have made him land in the midst of flying led. He would have sought the safety of his own house, or elsewhere to escape assault, rather than land in the midst of it. There is no earthly explanation for this utterly irrational conduct. The other is that once he was just 5-6 paces away, from where the victims received gunshot injuries, there is no plausible reason how he could escape unscathed by the assailants, who were apparently either shooting from the ground or were there on the roof. This witness has not received any injury. We find this witness's presence to be utterly doubtful. The only reason that he was introduced by the prosecution, can be gathered from a clue in the opening words of his cross-examination, where he says Javar Singh, also an eye-witness, was spoken to on 16th of January or there about, but he refused to testify. May be for reason that PW-3, being the brother of one of the injured witnesses, the father of two of the injured witnesses and uncle of the deceased, he chose the course of volunteering before the Police to testify and gave a false statement to them about his presence.

The effect of non-examination of material witnesses on the prosecution case

52. Though, there is no rule by which the prosecution can be obliged to produce all witnesses, who might have seen or known the occurrence first hand, it is yet to be seen if the evidence produced by the prosecution is insufficient or unsatisfactory, and there remain one or more witnesses, who could but have not been produced, what effect the non-production would have on the prosecution. This is a matter, which has to be judged on the facts of each case. If there is sterling evidence of one or two witnesses, the prosecution cannot be blamed for not producing three more, whose evidence may be as sterling as those chosen by the prosecution to appear in the dock. The defence nor the Court can compel the prosecution to multiply witnesses, where those already there, can testify to their case sufficiently. However, if the prosecution evidence is shaky or deficient and there still remain one or more witnesses, who could shed light on the case, non-production of such a witness, may well lead to an adverse inference against the prosecution to the effect that if produced, he would not have supported the prosecution. In this connection, the following remarks of the Supreme Court in Khatri Hemraj Amulakh v. State of Gujarat, (1972) 3 SCC 671 are relevant, where it has been observed:

"10. According to the statement of Dharamshi recorded in Gujrati, his tailoring shop is near the house of the accused. On the day of occurrence at about 10 a.m. Dharamshi saw the accused sitting on a stone opposite his (Dharamshi's) shop. The accused appeared to be in a state of excitement. He was looking to the ground and was not speaking with any one. After sitting like that for about an hour, the accused met Shiv Lal whose shop is also nearby. Thereafter, the accused went inside his house. Dharamshi later on that day learnt of the murder of Thakari deceased. Accordingly however, to the English record of the statement of Dharamshi, the accused after sitting on the stone for about an hour in a state of excitement met Shiv Lal. The accused and Shiv Lal then went together to the house of the accused. The learned judges of the High Court relied upon the Gujrati version of the statement of Dharamshi and accepting that to be correct, came to the conclusion that the accused was alone with Thakari deceased at the time of the present occurrence. In this connection, we find that though Dharamshi has deposed in court that the accused was in a state of excitement, Dharamshi made no mention of the accused being in the state of excitement in his statement recorded by the police. It would thus appear that Dharamshi has tried to improve upon his police statement. Shiv Lal, with whom the accused was closetted, according to the Gujrati version of Dharamshi's statement, and who also went along with the accused inside the house, according to the English version, has not been examined as a witness in the case and there is nothing on the material before us to indicate as to why Shiv Lal was not examined by the prosecution. The non-examination of Shiv Lal who was a very material witness would give rise, in our opinion, to an inference that, if examined, he would not have supported the prosecution evidence. We thus find that a very important piece of evidence which could have shown as to whether the accused went inside his house shortly before the occurrence is missing in this case. In any case we do not find it safe to act upon the uncorroborated statement of Dharamshi.

(emphasis by Court)

53. Stating the wider principle regarding such cases is the authority of the Supreme Court in Joginder Singh v. State of Haryana, (2014) 11 SCC 335. In Joginder Singh (supra), it was held:

"37. At this juncture, we may note with profit another aspect that has been highlighted by the learned counsel for the respondent. The prosecution has not examined Chander, husband of the deceased, a relevant eyewitness, Bala, Murti and Bimla, three other injured witnesses. No explanation has been given by the prosecution. Though there have been certain suggestions to PW 16 in the cross-examination, but his answer is evasive. It is well settled in law that non-examination of the material witness is not a mathematical formula for discarding the weight of the testimony available on record howsoever natural, trustworthy and convincing it may be. The charge of withholding a material witness from the court levelled against the prosecution should be examined in the background of the facts and circumstances of each case so as to find whether the witnesses are available for being examined in the court and were yet withheld by the prosecution. (See State of H.P. v. Gian Chand [(2001) 6 SCC 71: 2001 SCC (Cri) 980].)

38. In this context, we may also note with profit a passage from Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing [(2001) 6 SCC 145: 2001 SCC (Cri) 1070]: (SCC p. 155, para 19)

19. It is true that if a material witness, who would unfold the genesis of the incident or an essential part of the prosecution case, not convincingly brought to fore otherwise, or where there is a gap or infirmity in the prosecution case which could have been supplied or made good by examining a witness who though available is not examined, the prosecution case can be termed as suffering from a deficiency and withholding of such a material witness would oblige the court to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution by holding that if the witness would have been examined it would not have supported the prosecution case. On the other hand if already overwhelming evidence is available and examination of other witnesses would only be a repetition or duplication of the evidence already adduced, non-examination of such other witnesses may not be material. In such a case the court ought to scrutinise the worth of the evidence adduced. The court of facts must ask itselfwhether in the facts and circumstances of the case, it was necessary to examine such other witness, and if so, whether such witness was available to be examined and yet was being withheld from the court. If the answer be positive then only a question of drawing an adverse inference may arise. If the witnesses already examined are reliable and the testimony coming from their mouth is unimpeachable the court can safely act upon it, uninfluenced by the factum of non-examination of other witnesses.

39. Recently in Manjit Singh v. State of Punjab [(2013) 12 SCC 746: (2014) 4 SCC (Cri) 531], this Court, after referring to earlier decisions, has opined thus: (SCC p. 757, para 24)

24. it is quite clear that it is not the number and quantity but the quality that is material. It is the duty of the Court to consider the trustworthiness of evidence on record which inspires confidence and the same has to be accepted and acted upon and in such a situation no adverse inference should be drawn from the fact of non-examination of other witnesses. That apart, it is also to be seen whether such non-examination of a witness would carry the matter further so as to affect the evidence of other witnesses and if the evidence of a witness is really not essential to the unfolding of the prosecution case, it cannot be considered a material witness (see State of U.P. v. Iftikhar Khan [(1973) 1 SCC 512: 1973 SCC (Cri) 384]).

40. In the case at hand, non-examination of the material witnesses is of significance. It is so because PW 11 is really an interested witness though the High Court has not agreed with the same. It appears from the material brought on record that he had an axe to grind against the appellant. That apart, Chander, who was present from the beginning, would have been in a position to disclose more clearly about the genesis of the occurrence. He is the husband of the deceased and we find no reason why the prosecution had withheld the said witness. Similarly, the other three witnesses who are said to be injured witnesses when available should have come and deposed. Therefore, in the obtaining factual matrix that their non-examination gains significance."

54. Here, we have already noticed that the two injured witnesses, PW-2 and PW-4 have taken contradictory stands regarding the fact, if the assailants did come up to the rooftop in order to commit assault and PW-2 is vacillating on the issue, the medico-legal evidence places in doubt the otherwise firm stand of PW-4 that all the accused had their feet on the ground and shot the deceased and the injured at the rooftop. All this has led to a shaky prosecution case, as already remarked. In this case, there are three injured witnesses, that is to say, Bodha, Rajkumari and Jaggo, none of whom have been examined. PW-3, whose presence is very doubtful on the spot, has been introduced for the mere fact that one of the other eye-witnesses, not an injured witness, Javar Singh, refused to testify. In such circumstances, these three eye-witnesses, who are injured witnesses, ought have been examined, may be one or two, to firm up the prosecution case, whichever way it was. No reason has been assigned for the non-prosecution of these eye-witnesses given the shaky background of the prosecution evidence. In such circumstances, non-examination of the three eye-witnesses, or at least one or more of them, leads us to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution that if produced, these eye-witnesses would not have supported the prosecution, leading to further doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case.

Is there a culpable delay by the Police in recording the statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and its effect on the prosecution case

55. Three witnesses of fact have been examined, that is to say, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4. There is one more witness of fact, who has not been considered by us, and, that is, PW-10, Basanti. Her testimony, in our opinion, is not relevant because she is neither a witness of fact nor of res gestae. She has testified to the background of the property dispute between her deceased husband and the assailants. Since motive has not been considered to be a relevant fact in this case, the case being one founded on direct evidence, the testimony of the said witness is not of any relevance. Of the witnesses of fact mentioned hereinabove, two are injured witnesses and the third a non-injured eye-witness. We have doubted the presence of the non-injured eye-witness and found the testimony of the injured witnesses to be rather shaky on the essential parameter of the manner of assault. Though not a thumb rule in every case that a delay in recording the statement of a witness under Section 161 Cr.P.C. would be fatal to the prosecution, but in many cases it becomes relevant, particularly if there is no explanation for the delay by the Police in taking down the witness's statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Here, as appears from the evidence of PW-2, the first informant, we find that the testimony of the injured witnesses, including those who have been produced in evidence, and those not, was recorded after 5-6 days of the occurrence. The relevant part of PW-2's testimony reads:

"हम थाने करीबन साढ़े पॉच बजें पहुँचें थे और 6 बजें हस्पताल भेज दिये गये। करीबन सवा 6 बजें अस्पताल पहुँच गये तभी हमारे मुआयने कर लिये थें। मुआयने के बाद दूसरे रोज सुबह हम लोग गॉव पहुँचें थें। थाने पर दरोगा जी ने हमारे ब्यान नही लिये और ना मेरे सामने किसी से पूछताछ नही की। हमारे व्यानात दरोगा जी ने घटना के 5-6 दिन बाद लिये थें। और हम सब चारों चुटैलों के ब्यान एक ही दिन लिये थें। थाने हम पॉच चुटैल गये थें। मेरे पिता जी का ब्यान उस रोज नही लिया था जिस रोज हमारे ब्यान लिये थें। मेरे पिता जी का ब्यान मुझसे पहलें ही हो गया। कब हुआ मैं नही कह सकता। रात में हम चुटैल अस्पताल में ही रहे थें कोई दरोगा अस्पताल में उस रात नही आया था। सुबह हम अपने गॉव गये थाने नही गये। चूँकि भाई का क्रिया कर्म करना था इस कारण थाने ना जाकर घर गॉव चलें गये। सिपाही जो हमारे साथ अस्पताल गया था डाक्टरी के बाद वह वापिस चला गया। केवल एक सिपाही हमारे साथ अस्पताल गया था। हम स्वयं ही गॉव क्रिया कर्म कि के लिये गये थें किसी ने नही कहा था। हस्पताल में दाखिल होने के बाद या गॉव में दाखिल होने के बीच तक पुलिस वालें से मुलाकात नही हुई गॉव का कोई आदमी भी हमसे मिलने अस्पताल में नही आया था। हमें जब हम हस्पताल से चलें यह नही पता था कि लाश का क्रिया कर्म कब होगा। जब हम गॉव पहुँचे तो घर पर लाश नही मिली। जब हमको गॉव में पता चला कि भाई की लाश मथुरा चली गयी है तो हम ट्रेक्टर लेकर मथुरा आये। हमें लाश भाई की शाम को साढें 4 बजें के लगभग मिल गयी क्रिया कर्म गॉव में जाकर किया था मथुरा में नही किया

था। जब क्रिया कर्म हुआ दरोगा जी गॉव में आये थे लेकिन उस समय मेंरा ब्यान नही लिया बाद में लिया। क्रिया कर्म करीबन 8 साढें 8 बजें शुरु किया और 10 बजें फारिक हो गये। दाह क्रिया कर्म के बाद दरोगा जी गॉव से चलें गये थे कहॉ गये पता नही दरोगा जी गॉव से जाने से पहलें हमें थाने आ जाने के लिये कह कर नही गये थें। दरोगा जी ने इस कत्ल के सिलसिलें में मेरे सामने केवल चुटैलों के बयान लियें और कोई काम नही किया। हम सब चुटैल राजकुमारी को छोड़ कर लाश लेने मथुरा आये थें।"

(emphasis by Court)

56. The delay in recording the statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in a case, where the testimony of the witnesses is shaky, is all the more important. A confrontation with a previous statement, promptly recorded by the Police, could have cleared many a doubt. An additional factor for the necessity of a prompt recording of the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is the fact that this case does present a doubt about the introduction of one of the eye-witnesses, PW-3, in order to bolster the prosecution case. We have held that he does not seem to have seen the occurrence and his presence is doubtful. A prompt recording of the statements of eye-witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. could have cleared this doubt as well. The testimony of PW-2 shows that the Police were not doing the work of recording statements of witnesses for days together after the occurrence, and the statements of the injured were recorded at the police station 5-6 days after the occurrence. This laxity would have well given opportunity for the foisting of PW-3 as an eye-witness, though we must say that the precise date on which this witness's statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded, has not been brought to our notice.

57. No explanation has been given for the delay in recording the statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. either by the witnesses themselves or by the Investigating Officer, who has testified as PW-11. In Harbeer Singh v. Sheeshpal and others, (2016) 16 SCC 418, this question received the consideration of the Supreme Court. In Harbeer Singh (supra), it was held:

15. . Moreover, it has also come in evidence that there was a delay of 15-16 days from the date of the incident in recording the statements of PW 3 and PW 9 and the same was sought to be unconvincingly explained by reference to the fact that the family had to sit for condolence (शोक) meetings for 12 to 13 days. Needless to say, we are not impressed by this explanation and feel that the High Court was right in entertaining doubt in this regard.

16. As regards the incident of murder of the deceased, the prosecution has produced six eyewitnesses to the same. The argument raised against the reliance upon the testimony of these witnesses pertains to the delay in the recording of their statements by the police under Section 161 CrPC. In the present case, the date of occurrence was 21-12-1993 but the statements of PW 1 and PW 5 were recorded after two days of incident i.e. on 23-12-1993. The evidence of PW 6 was recorded on 26-12-1993 while the evidence of PW 11 was recorded after 10 days of incident i.e. on 31-12-1993. Further, it is well-settled law that delay in recording the statement of the witnesses does not necessarily discredit their testimony. The court may rely on such testimony if they are cogent and credible and the delay is explained to the satisfaction of the court. [See Ganeshlal v. State of Maharashtra [Ganeshlal v. State of Maharashtra, (1992) 3 SCC 106: 1993 SCC (Cri) 435]; Mohd. Khalid v. State of W.B. [Mohd. Khalid v. State of W.B., (2002) 7 SCC 334: 2002 SCC (Cri) 1734]; Prithvi v. Mam Raj [Prithvi v. Mam Raj, (2004) 13 SCC 279: 2005 SCC (Cri) 198] and Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2010) 6 SCC 1: (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 1385].]

17. However, Ganesh Bhavan Patel v. State of Maharashtra [Ganesh Bhavan Patel v. State of Maharashtra, (1978) 4 SCC 371: 1979 SCC (Cri) 1] , is an authority for the proposition that delay in recording of statements of the prosecution witnesses under Section 161 CrPC, although those witnesses were or could be available for examination when the investigating officer visited the scene of occurrence or soon thereafter, would cast a doubt upon the prosecution case. (See also Balakrushna Swain v. State of Orissa [Balakrushna Swain v. State of Orissa, (1971) 3 SCC 192: 1971 SCC (Cri) 313]; Maruti Rama Naik v. State of Maharashtra [Maruti Rama Naik v. State of Maharashtra, (2003) 10 SCC 670: 2004 SCC (Cri) 958] and Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab [Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (2005) 3 SCC 689: 2005 SCC (Cri) 893].) Thus, we see no reason to interfere with the observations of the High Court on the point of delay and its corresponding impact on the prosecution case."

58. We are, therefore, of opinion that the already shaky evidence of injured witnesses, PW-2 and PW-4, the doubtful presence of PW-3, the conflict between one version of PW-2's evidence about the manner of assault and that of PW-4, on one hand, and the medico-legal evidence, on the other, makes the delayed recording of the statements of witnesses by the Police worse for the prosecution's veracity.

59. In the totality of circumstances, this Court is of opinion that the prosecution have failed to bring home the charge beyond all reasonable doubt and the benefit of doubt must be extended to the appellants in this case.

60. In the result, the appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge is hereby set aside and the appellants acquitted of the charges. They are on bail. They need not surrender. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged.

61. The appellants, Karam Veer and Bahadur Singh son of Ram Singh, each shall execute a personal bond in the sum of Rs.25,000/- under Section 481 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (corresponding to Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) for their appearance, in the event of an appeal being preferred against his acquittal.

62. Let the lower court records be returned to the Trial Court forthwith.

(2026) 5 ILRA 837
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 05.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE TARUN SAXENA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 818 of 1985

Hari Prasad Pandey & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to vicarious liability of every member of unlawful assembly.

Headnotes

Unlawful assembly - Common object- Vicarious liability- Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 141, 149, 302/149, 307/149, 147 and 148 -for attracting constructive liability under S. 149 IPC-not necessary that every member of the unlawful assembly should himself inflict an injury or participate in the actual killing-where the evidence establishes -that the accused continued to be a member - and acted in furtherance of its common object -he incurs the same liability as the actual assailants notwithstanding that he wielded no weapon effectively or caused no injury himself- Appeal dismissed.

Case Law Cited

1. Pruthiviraj Jayantibhai Vanol v. Dinesh Dayabhai Vala and others, (2022) 18 SCC 683
2. Pratap Singh and others v. State of U.P., 2021 SCC OnLine All 686
3. Kaleem v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2026 SCC OnLine MP 5990
4. State of Madhya Pradesh v. Badri Yadav, (2006) 9 SCC 549
5. Yakub Ismailbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, (2004) 12 SCC 229
6. Nisar Khan v. State of Uttaranchal, (2006) 9 SCC 386
7. Mizaji and another v. State of U.P., AIR 1958 SC 572
8. Lalji and others v. State of U.P., (1989) 1 SCC 437
9. Gangadhar Behera and others v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381
10. Zainul v. State of Bihar, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2152

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

Evidence aliunde; principal events in the crime; res gestae; particeps criminis.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for the Appellant : Arun Kumar Tiwari, Ramesh Chandra, Sheetala Prasad Pandey, Shiv Ram Dubey Counsel for the Respondent : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This appeal, though preferred by the eight convicts, who were tried before the Sessions Judge of Basti in Sessions Trial No.159 of 1984, and all convicted under Sections 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, 'IPC'), one alone of them, that is to say, Ramakant, survives to pursue it. The other seven convicts have died pending appeal at different points of time. The appeal was ordered to abate on behalf of each of the seven deceased convicted appellants vide order dated 24.11.2025. The appeal was heard on the said day at the instance of Ramakant alone.

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and order of Mr. K. Narayan, the then Sessions Judge, Basti dated 21.03.1985, convicting the appellant, along with others, for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC and sentencing him to imprisonment for life, besides other counts, in regard to which term sentences were variously awarded, some to the deceased-appellants and others to the appellant, as would hereinafter be detailed.

3. A First Information Report ('FIR' in short) was lodged by Ram Pragat Pandey son of Nirmal Pandey on 01.04.1984 at 6.30 a.m. regarding an incident, that happened earlier in the day at 6.30 a.m., giving rise to Crime No.49 of 1984, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 324, 323 IPC, Police Station Rudhauli, District Basti. According to the first informant, elections to the office of Pradhan of the Village were held, wherein the then sitting Pradhan Hari Prasad Pandey faced contest from Rammurat Chaudhary. Shesh Bahadur Chauhan and the informant's family had openly supported Rammurat Chaudhary and assisted him, leading the then Village Pradhan Hari Prasad to harbour ill-will against Shesh Bahadur Chauhan and the informant's family. In the night intervening 27/28.03.1984, Hari Prasad, Swami Nath, Deena Nath and Patandeen, burgled in Shesh Bahadur's house, leading to the registration of an FIR against them on 28.03.1984. This infuriated the four men last mentioned, making them go after Shesh Bahadur Chauhan and the informant's family. Harbouring the aforesaid animosity, in the morning hours of 01.04.1984 at 6.30 a.m., according to the informant, when he and his father had gone to their chak, located on the northern side of the village, and were about their task of harvesting, and Shesh Bahadur and his mother were at their shop near the informant's chak, Hari Prasad Pandey, Mahipat Pandey, Swami Nath Pandey, Deena Nath Pandey, Ramakant Pandey, Tara Prasad Pandey, Patandeen Chauhan and Sadhu Saran arrived there variously armed. Hari Prasad Pandey was carrying a spear, Mahipat Pandey a Farsa, Sadhu Saran a country-made pistol, whereas all others were wielding sticks (lathi-danda). All these men, with a common object, alighted at Shesh Bahadur's shop, whereupon Hari Prasad Pandey exhorted others, saying it with an abuse and pointing to the deceased Shesh Bahadur, that he is the one, who had reported them to the Police, asking the others to do him to death. This led Shesh Bahadur to be struck by fear, and, in consequence, he called rescue. Shesh Bahadur then made a dash towards the informant and his companions. The informant and his companions asked Hari Prasad to desist from the course of violence, whereupon Hari Prasad assaulted the informant with the intention to kill.

4. The informant and Shesh Bahadur attempted to escape towards Mugraha, whereas amongst the informant's companions, his father and younger brother Ram Shankar Pandey attempted to run of towards Dasia. The first informant goes on to say that the informant and Shesh Bahadur were chased by Hari Prasad Pandey, Mahipat Pandey, Swami Nath Pandey and Patandeen Chauhan, whereas his father and brother were chased by Deena Nath Pandey, Ramakant Pandey, Tara Prasad Pandey and Sadhu Saran. Sadhu Saran was wielding the country-made pistol, who shot the informant's father in his left lower limb, but he somehow managed to run on and save his life. On the other hand, Shesh Bahadur was surrounded by Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen, who assaulted and battered him mercilessly. On account of the injuries, he was thrown to the ground. The assailants then dragged the victim to the field of Patandeen. Shesh Bahadur's mother came over wailing and beseeched the assailants to spare her son, but the assailants did not yield and continued to assault Shesh Bahadur with sticks (lathi-danda) and the spear. Upon hearing the commotion that this incident created, Seeta Ram son of Mahadev and Badri son of Tittal arrived and saw the assailants. The assailants, holding out threats, made good their escape from the place of occurrence. It was reported that Shesh Bahadur, who had sustained severe injuries and his mother, who was also badly injured, were lying on the spot with the condition of Shesh Bahadur being reported as critical.

5. After registration of the FIR, the Police commenced investigation. The Investigating Officer proceeded to the site of crime, and in the presence of witnesses Parmanand and Udairaj, collected samples of bloodstained earth from Patandeen's field as well as an unstained sample, both of which were sealed in separate containers. A memo of collection of these samples was drawn up and duly signed by witnesses at the spot. The injured, Smt. Tikura, was sent for her medical examination by the Police through a memo dated 01.04.1984. She was examined the same day. The other injured Nirmal Pandey was also forwarded for his medical examination to the Medical Officer, In-charge, Primary Health Centre, Rudhauli, under a memo dated 01.04.1984 issued by the S.H.O., P.S. Rudhauli. He too was examined the same day. A supplementary medical report was done for him, as advised, on 03.04.1984. The injuries sustained by these two persons would be spoken of later, during the course of this judgment. Inquest for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of death, as regards the deceased Shesh Bahadur, was held on 01.04.1984 with proceedings commencing at 10:00 hours on the aforesaid date and ending at 12:30 hours. After the inquest, the dead body was sent for autopsy. The autopsy was done on 02.04.1984, opining the cause of death to be shock and haemorrhage, as a result of ante-mortem injuries. Some sixteen injuries were noticed on the dead body, details whereof shall be mentioned later in this judgment.

6. After investigation, the Police filed a charge-sheet against eight men, all of whom were the appellants here.

7. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate vide his order dated 24.08.1984, finding that the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, committed it to the Sessions for trial and directed provision of copies of all police papers for the purpose of the appellants' defence.

8. Post committal, the case was numbered as Sessions Trial No. 159 of 1984 and came up for framing of charges before the learned Sessions Judge, Basti on 01.10.1984. The learned Sessions Judge framed a charge under Section 307 read with Section 149 IPC and another under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC against all the eight appellants. A charge was separately framed against three appellants, to wit, Hari Prasad, Mahipat and Sadhu Saran, under Section 148 IPC. Still another charge was framed against the appellants, Swami Nath, Deena Nath, Ramakant, Tara Prasad and Patandeen, under Section 147 IPC. A separate charge was framed jointly against Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen under Section 307 read with Section 34 IPC with regard to the injuries caused to Smt. Tikura. And, lastly, a charge was jointly framed against Sadhu Saran, Deena Nath, Ramakant and Tara Prasad under Section 307 read with Section 34 IPC for the causing of injuries to Nirmal Pandey. All the charges were read over to the respective appellants, against whom these were framed. Each of them denied the charges and claimed trial.

9. The prosecution produced the following witnesses to prove their case:

1. PW-1 Nirmal Pandey, an injured eye witness,
2. PW-2 Smt. Tikura, an injured eye witness and mother of the deceased,
3. PW-3 Ram Pragat Pandey, an eye witness,
4. PW-4 H.C. Tila Mohd. Khan, Reader to C.O., Bansi, District Basti, who was posted as Head Moharrir, P.S. Rudhauli at the time of incident and scribed the check FIR,
5. PW-5 Dr. A.P. Singh, Medical Officer, Sadar Hospital, Basti, who at that time was posted as an E.M.O., Sadar Hospital, Basti and examined the injuries of Smt. Tikura,
6. PW-6 S.I. Jai Shankar Tripathi, P.S. Dudhara, District Basti, who commenced investigation of the case on 03.04.1984,
7. PW-7 Dr. O.P. Pathak, P.H.C. Rudhauli, District Basti, the then Medical Officer, P.H.C. Rudhauli, District Basti and examined the injured Nirmal Pandey,
8. PW-8 S.O. Prem Kumar Rai, S.O. Mahane, District Basti, the then S.O. Rudhauli, who started investigation and done other proceedings,
9. PW-9 S.O. Uma Shankar Dwivedi, S.O. Gambhirpur, District Azamgarh, the then S.O. P.S. Rudhauli, who completed investigation and submitted the charge-sheet, and,
10. PW-10 Dr. G.N. Prasad, M.O. Sadar Hospital, Basti, who conducted postmortem of the deceased Shesh Bahadur.

10. The following documentary evidence and materials were produced by the prosecution to establish their case:

Sr. No.	Exhibit No.	Exhibited documents with brief particulars
1	Ex. Ka-1	Written report dated 01.04.1984 lodged with the Police Station Rudhauli, District Basti, proved by PW-3, Ram Pragat Pandey
2	Ex. Ka-2	Check FIR dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-4, H.C. Tila Mohd. Khan
3	Ex. Ka-3	Carbon Copy of GD Entry No.12 Time 7.30 dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-4, H.C. Tila Mohd. Khan
4	Ex. Ka-4	Copy of GD Entry No.14 Time 10.00 dated 01.04.1984, by which Section 302 IPC added upon death of Shesh Bahadur, proved by PW-4, H.C. Tila Mohd. Khan
5	Ex. Ka-5	Injury report of Smt. Tikura dated 01.04.1984, proved by

		PW-5, Dr. A.P. Singh
6	Ex. Ka-6	Injury report of Nirmal Pandey dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-7, Dr. O.P. Pathak
7	Ex. Ka-7	Inquest report dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
8	Ex. Ka-8	Naksha Nash dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
9	Ex. Ka-9	Challan Nash dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
10	Ex. Ka-10	Letter to the C.M.O. dated 01.04.1984 to submit the report, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
11	Ex. Ka-11	Letter to the C.M.O. dated 01.04.1984 for postmortem of the deceased Shesh Bahadur, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
12	Ex. Ka-12	Letter to the Reserve Inspector dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
13	Ex. Ka-13	Letter to the C.M.O. dated 01.04.1984 forwarding belongings found on the deceased person, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
14	Ex. Ka-14	Site Plan of the place of occurrence dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
15	Ex. Ka-15	Memo collecting bloodstained and unstained earth from the spot dated 01.04.1984, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
16	Ex. Ka-16	Charge sheet dated 16.04.1984, proved by PW-9, S.O. Uma Shankar Dwivedi
17	Ex. Ka-17	Postmortem Report of the deceased Shesh Bahadur, dated 02.04.1984, proved by PW-10, Dr. G.N. Prasad
18	Ex. Ka-18	Copy of the X-ray report of Nirmal Pandey dated 03.04.1984, proved by PW-10, Dr. G.N. Prasad
19	Material Ex. 1 and 2	Containers containing bloodstained and unstained earth, proved by PW-8, S.O. Prem Kumar Rai
20	Material Ex. 2	X-ray plate of Nirmal Pandey, proved by PW-10, Dr. G.N. Prasad

11. Upon conclusion of the prosecution evidence, statements of the appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

12. The Trial Court vide judgment and order dated 21.03.1985 has convicted and sentenced the appellants in the following manner:

Sr. No.	Accused	Section	Sentence
1	All accused	302 read with 149 IPC	Life Imprisonment

2	All accused	323 read with 149 IPC	One year rigorous imprisonment
3	Sadhu Saran	324 IPC	One year rigorous imprisonment
4	Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath, Rama Kant, Tara Prasad, Patan Den and Dina Nath	324 read with 149 IPC	One year rigorous imprisonment
5	Hari Prasad, Mahipat and Sadhu Saran	148 IPC	Two years rigorous imprisonment
6	Swami Nath, Rama Kant, Tara Prasad, Patan Deen and Deena Nath	147 IPC	One year rigorous imprisonment

13. Aggrieved, the present criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellants.

14. Heard Mr. Arun Kumar Tiwari, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the sole surviving appellant, Ramakant, Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State and perused the record.

The date, time and place of occurrence

15. The date and time of occurrence, according to the FIR lodged by Ram Pragat Pandey, PW-3, is 1st April, 1984 at 6.30 a.m. It all began at the tea-shop of the deceased and his mother, located close to the field of the first informants father, where there was a pulse crop (arhar) standing that the first informant and his father Nirmal Pandey, PW-1 had just commenced harvesting. The deceased appellants, including the appellant Ramakant Pandey, arrived at the deceased's tea-shop on the date and time already said, armed with weapons some deadly and the others not so deadly. Those, who alighted at the deceaseds tea-shop, were Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Sadhu Saran, Swami Nath, Deena Nath, Patandeen, Ramakant (the appellant) and Tara Prasad. According to the first informant, the assailants had come over with a premeditated intention to kill, and, the FIR discloses a brief background of the motive.

16. Upon arrival at the deceaseds tea-shop, Hari Prasad Pandey, one of the deceased appellants, is reported to have said, referring to the deceased Shesh Bahaduri, that he is the one who reports them (to the Police), let us finish him off. Shesh Bahadur was terrified and ran towards the field of the informants father. The informant, his father and brother, intervened to save the situation, but that turned Hari Prasad and his companions belligerent and they charged at the informant, his father and brother too with an intent to kill. At this stage, Shesh Bahadur is said to have taken to his heels in the direction of Village Mugraha together with the informant, whereas the informants father and his younger brother Ram Shankar Pandey sprinted towards Village Dasia. The informant and Shesh Bahadur were given a chase by Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Patandeen and Swami Nath, whereas the informants father and brother were chased by Sadhu Saran, Deena Nath, Ramakant and Tara Prasad. Sadhu Saran is said to have been armed with a country-made pistol, which he employed to shoot the informants father in his left lower limb. The informants father, however, made a dash to save his life. Shesh Bahadur was surrounded by Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen, who severely assaulted him. In consequence of the injuries, he fell down. He was picked up and carried to the field of Patandeen. At this point of time, Shesh Bahadurs mother, Tikura, PW-2, reached there and beseeched the appellants to spare her sons life. She too was severely assaulted, employing sticks (lathi-danda) and spear.

17. It would, thus, be seen that the earliest account of the occurrence shows the assailants alight at the deceaseds tea-shop at 6.30 a.m., an unlawful assembly of eight men, all armed. The respective arms, that the assailants wielded, have already been mentioned in this judgment. Hari Prasad Pandey exhorted others to kill Shesh Bahadur, whereupon he called rescue. Whatever intervention, the first informant, his father and brother made, led the assailants to attack them too. At this juncture, Shesh Bahadur and the informant went in one direction, whereas the informants father and younger brother went in another direction, both groups of two running to save their lives. The assailants too split into two assailant groups. Thus, the occurrence took place slightly after 6.30 a.m. at two different places, away from the deceaseds tea-shop. This is the earliest description of the occurrence that figures in the FIR, that was lodged on 01.04.1984 at 7.30 a.m., that is to say, within an hour of all of it happening. The distance of the police station is nine kilometers. The FIR is quite prompt.

18. In his testimony, PW-1 has given out the time and place of occurrence as 1st April, 1984 at 6.30 a.m. According to him, it was a Sunday. This witness says that he and his son Ram Pragat had just begun harvesting their pulse crop (arhar), when the eight members of the unlawful assembly, to wit, Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Sadhu Saran, Swami Nath, Deena Nath, Patandeen, Ramakant and Tara Prasad, well armed, alighted at Shesh Bahadurs tea-shop, which this witness says is located at a distance of 100 paces from his field at the north-west corner. The assailants surrounded the victims shop. There was commotion and he and his son Ram Pragat moved in to rescue Shesh Bahadur. When they reached there, the assailants were threatening him with death. The witness says that he and his son dissuaded the appellants from their violent course of action, but they would not relent. At that point of time, the witnesss other son Ram Shankar also arrived. They were engaging with the assailants to talk them out of it, when Shesh Bahadur took to his heels in the direction of Village Mugraha. The witnesss son Ram Pragat also sprinted with him. At that point of time, this witness and his other son Ram Shankar also ran in the eastern direction. The deceased Shesh Bahadur and the witnesss son Ram Pragat were chased by the four assailants, Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Patandeen and Swami Nath, whereas Sadhu Saran, Ramakant, Deena Nath and Tara Prasad went after this witness and his son Ram Shankar. This witness says that Sadhu Saran ambushed him by appearing suddenly in front of him from behind a hut and shot him in his left leg. This witness, however, continued to run for his life. His son made off to the south. At this point, the witness says that he turned around to see his pursuers, but the assailants had returned. The witness, however, saw that Shesh Bahadur was being assaulted by Hari Prasad, employing a spear, Mahipat a farsa, whereas Swami Nath and Patandeen were assaulting the deceased with their sticks (lathi). The witness says that the deceaseds mother had also reached by his side. The witness, however, continued his journey and reached Dasia Padao Motor Stand. From there, he proceeded to the police station.

19. Smt. Tikura, PW-2, is an injured witness and mother of the deceased Shesh Bahadur. She has said in her dock evidence that on the fateful day, the time was about sunrise. She and her son Shesh Bahadur were present at their tea-shop. Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Sadhu Saran, Swami Nath, Deena Nath, Ramakant, Tara Prasad and Patandeen arrived there. According to this witness, these men were variously armed, which she has described with precision. Hari Prasad is said to have accosted Shesh Bahadur with words that Shesh Bahadur had moved an application against them and exhorted his companions to catch hold off Shesh Bahadur and do him to death. In the meantime, Nirmal, Ram Pragat and Ram Pragat's brother arrived. At this point of time, Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen, chased Shesh Bahadur, whereas Sadhu Saran, Deena Nath, Rama Kant and Tara Prasad went after Nirmal Pandey. The witness says that she was going after Shesh Bahadur, when she heard a 'thud'. The faction of the appellants, who had gone after Shesh Bahadur, caught hold off him in Hanif's chak, and battering him, brought him to Patandeen's chak. She begged for her son's life, whereupon Hari Prasad struck her with his spear in the left lower limb whereas Mahipat struck her on the head with his farsa using the blunt end. Patandeen and Swami Nath assaulted her with lathi, also delivering blows to her feet. She was then moved to a trench to the south of the road and pushed inside it. She lost consciousness only to regain it the following day in the hospital. There is a pointed question put to this witness in her cross-examination that when she reached Patandeen's field, Shesh Bahadur was lying there beaten up. To this, she answered in the negative and added that when she saw it all, the appellants were assaulting Shesh Bahadur and battering him in Hanif's field. They were moving towards Patandeen's field.

20. The third eye-witness is PW-3, Ram Pragat Pandey. He has said in his examination-in-chief that at 6 o'clock in the morning of the fateful day, his father Nirmal was harvesting his pulse crop. At that time, he heard a call for rescue from Shesh Bahadur's shop. He and his father rushed towards the shop. When they reached there, Hari Prasad was pointing to Shesh Bahadur and telling his companions, after uttering an abuse, that this man has accused us of theft. Let us kill him. Hari Prasad is said to have been armed with a spear and Sadhu Saran with a country-made pistol. The other appellants were carrying lathi. The witness says that he and his father intervened saying that this was all wrong and while they were talking, Shesh Bahadur took to his heels in the direction of Village Mugraha. Thereupon, the appellants exhorted each other to attack. The witness also took to his heels. He says that he trailed Shesh Bahadur through some distance and then overtook him. He has specifically said that Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen were chasing Shesh Bahadur. His father had simultaneously ran towards Village Dasia. He was chased by Deena Nath, Tara Prasad, Sadhu Saran and Ramakant. PW-3 says that when he reached close to the pond, he heard a shot ring. He turned around to see and found his father holding his leg. All the four appellants, who had chased his father, were behind him. The witness also says that when he was at a distance of about 25 meters west of Hanif's field, he turned around to look and saw that Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Patandeen and Swami Nath were battering Shesh Bahadur in Hanif's field. The appellants threw Shesh Bahadur to the ground and carried him to Patandeen's field and beat him there too. At that point, Smt. Tikura reached there and beseeched the appellants to spare her son's life. Thereupon, these appellants assaulted Tikura as well.

21. Upon an appraisal of the testimony of these three witnesses, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, who are said to be eye-witnesses of the occurrence, there is a broad consensus between them on the date, time and place of occurrence. All the three witnesses say that the occurrence took place at about sunrise with PW-1 and PW-3 mentioning the time as 6.30 a.m. PW-1 has very specifically disclosed the date as 1st April, 1984. PW-2, Smt. Tikura, who is an illiterate woman, has mentioned the time as that of sunrise. She has not spoken about the time of the clock, which presumably she was not familiar with. She is apparently a rustic woman, who way back in 1984, might not have been very familiar with the hours and minutes of the clock. Broadly, all the witnesses are ad idem about the time of occurrence. There is hardly any issue about the date.

22. The place of occurrence in this case is not a single point. It apparently started with the arrival of the eight appellants at the deceased's tea-shop at sunrise. The appellants were all variously armed. All the appellants are again broadly consistent that upon arrival of the appellants, they disclosed their evil intention to kill Shesh Bahadur. There was a pause in the event with the arrival of PW-1 and PW-3 and the other son of PW-1, Ram Shankar Pandey. These men attempted to intervene and pacify, but this turned the appellants' hostility against the interveners too. At this point of time, realizing the peril, Shesh Bahadur ran towards Village Mugraha in the north to save his life. He was joined in the run for safety by Ram Pragat, PW-3. At the same time, PW-1, Nirmal Pandey, sprinted towards Village Dasia, located in the east. He was joined by his other son Ram Shankar.

23. The eight men, who had arrived at Shesh Bahadur's tea-shop, were Hari Prasad Pandey, Mahipat Pandey, Swami Nath Pandey, Deena Nath Pandey, Ramakant Pandey, Tara Prasad Pandey, Patandeen Chauhan and Sadhu Saran. When Shesh Bahadur and Ram Pragat ran for safety towards Village Mugraha, they were pursued by Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Patandeen and Swami Nath whereas Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar, who made their flight to the east heading for Dasia, were pursued by Sadhu Saran, Ramakant, Deena Nath and Tara Prasad. Thus, the eight appellants were the unlawful assembly of the eight assailants, who spontaneously divided themselves into two groups to pursue their victims. The pursuit with division of the assailants into two groups or factions is the second part of the event. The third part is the assault to whatever consequence. Again broadly in consensus, all the three witnesses say that the pursuers caught up with Shesh Bahadur in Hanif's field and assaulted him there. The assault began in Hanif's field and the victim was moved to the adjoining field of Patandeen. There the assault reached its final blows, doing Shesh Bahadur to death. Here, the deceased's mother, PW-2, Tikura, had reached and begged for her son's life. She too was assaulted and pushed into a trench or ditch. The other party of assailants, who had chased Nirmal Pandey and his other son Ram Shankar, shot Nirmal Pandey in his left foot below the knee, as it now appears, with a country-made pistol and did nothing more.

24. Thus, the assailants did two separate assaults on two separate groups of victims, comprising two each. Whereas the party, that went after Shesh Bahadur, killed him, the other that chased Nirmal Pandey, PW-1, left him with a nominal gunshot injury in the left foot, below his knee. There is certainly a broad consensus amongst all the three witnesses about the date, time and place of occurrence. The variations, to which our attention was drawn, are not so much about the date, time and place of occurrence, but about other things, to which we would make allusion later in this judgment.

The presence of eye-witnesses on the date, time and place of occurrence

25. It is submitted by Mr. Arun Kumar Tiwari, learned Counsel for the appellant, that the three eye-witnesses, whose testimony has been believed by the Trial Judge, never saw anything and have falsely implicated the appellant, including the deceased appellants in this crime. The false implication has mostly been credited to PW-1 Nirmal Pandey and PW-3 Ram Pragat, as admittedly there was animosity between these witnesses, on one hand, and the appellant, on the other. It is urged that these witnesses prevailed upon the deceased's mother, PW-2, to falsely testify, on account of which, later on, on the call of her conscience, she gave an affidavit before the Court, disowning her earlier testimony. She was recalled by the Court and she testified again, demolishing the prosecution case. It is urged with much vehemence that PW-2 has confessed to the fact that she sustained the injuries under completely different circumstances, at a different point of time, and at the hands of unknown assailants. Learned Counsel for the appellant says that, likewise, PW-1 too has sustained the nominal injury under completely different circumstances, time and place, which he has misused to falsely implicate the appellant.

26. Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned A.G.A., on the other hand, has refuted the above submissions. He has urged with much emphasis that the presence of the prosecution witnesses cannot be doubted. They are natural witnesses, being bhumidhar of the field, at one corner of which stands the tea-shop, where the occurrence began. He submits that two of three witnesses, that is to say, PW-1 and PW-2, have sustained injury in the incident, which is by no means trivial. Their presence at the spot, therefore, cannot be doubted. To attribute the injuries sustained by PW-1 and PW-2 to some occurrence, that happened at a different point of time and elsewhere, is pure conjecture, not supported by any evidence. It is difficult to objectively accept the fact that PW-1 and PW-2, who are by no means part of a family, or otherwise staying together, would both sustain serious injury at the same time in unrelated incidents, which they would use to offer false testimony against the appellants. They have obviously been injured, according to Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, in one incident and that is the one involving the appellant.

27. We have considered the rival submissions on the point and carefully scrutinized the evidence.

28. It is true that there is a background of animosity between PW-1 and PW-3, on one hand, and the appellant, on the other, including those convicts who are no more, but the fact of animosity alone would not entitle the appellant to have the presence of these two witnesses, to wit, PW-1 and PW-2, doubted. It is true that their testimony is to be viewed with some circumspection, including that about their presence on the spot, but if their presence is otherwise well established, corroborated by other evidence and believable, there is no reason to disregard their presence or doubt it merely because there was animosity between the two witnesses and the appellant. A sworn enemy of another could witness a damning fact or event and truthfully speak about it against that other. His testimony cannot be disbelieved on ground of the hostile relationship between the witness and the accused alone. All that has to be seen is the dependability of evidence, that would assure the Court of the witnesses' presence at the spot and the fact of the witnesses having seen the occurrence.

29. Here, what we find is that what is not disputed on behalf of the appellant is the fact that the tea-shop owned by the deceased and his mother, Tikura, stood on one corner of the field, of which PW-1 Nirmal Pandey was the bhumidhar. It is also not disputed by anyone that the field had a pulse crop (arhar) ready to harvest. PW-1 and PW-3 are consistent in their version about the fact that on the fateful day, at the time of sunrise, when the events unfolded, they had arrived on their arhar field and just commenced harvesting. The location of the arhar field, owned by PW-1, makes this witness and his son PW-3 natural witnesses, given the fact that the tea-shop owned by the deceased, stood at a corner of this field. The hour of the day, when the occurrence happened, also lends credibility to the witnesses' presence because judicial notice may be taken of the fact that fruits of toil in agriculture are harvested by farmers with the beginning of the day at dawn. In fact, all important work in fields is done by farmers or their labourers in the early morning hours. This lends strength to the inference that PW-1 and PW-3, given the hour of the day, were present at their field, which stands close to the deceased's tea-shop, making them natural witnesses.

30. To add to all this is the fact that PW-1, Nirmal Pandey, sustained a gunshot injury albeit in the lower part of his left foot, below the knee. The injury, no doubt, is not very serious and the learned Counsel for the appellant has suggested that it was sustained under different circumstances, one of which was that PW-1 was riding along with his son on a bicycle to the police station to lodge the FIR Ram Pragat was paddling the bicycle, carrying a country-made pistol. It suddenly went off, injuring PW-1. A suggestion in this regard was given to this witness in the concluding part of his testimony during his cross-examination, which he denied. There is no basis by way of evidence aliunde, even slight, to infer that PW-1 received the injury sustained by him under a different set of circumstances.

31. Going by the apparent and logical tenor of the testimony of PW-1 and those of the other two eye-witnesses, PW-1 sustained the gunshot wound to his left lower limb in an assault that was part of the same transaction, which led the deceased to sustain fatal injuries. If the injury was such that it could have been received going by the manner of assault, is a matter that we would soon consider in greater detail. But, broadly speaking, there is no reason to doubt that the witness (PW-1) did not sustain the injury, upon which he has relied, in the assault mounted by the appellant, including the deceased co-appellants.

32. Likewise, is the case of the deceased's mother, PW-2. She too is an eye-witness, who saw the happenings at the tea-shop and the fatal event at the field of Patandeen. She also witnessed the assault that began in the adjoining field of Hanif. This witness too is a natural witness. There is consistent testimony to the effect that the deceased's tea-shop would open at dawn and his mother (PW-2) would stay in the shop. There is no reason to disregard PW-2 as a natural witness, right from the inception or the unfolding of events. This witness saw the appellant and the seven others, who are now deceased, arrive at his son's tea-shop, variously armed. It is but logical that she would have been there at the shop, when events leading to the fatal consequence began to unfold. This witness has graphically described the occurrence in her testimony, which is corroborated by that of the other two witnesses substantially. There is no reason, therefore, to disbelieve the presence of this witness at the date, time and place of occurrence. Also, in the final moments of assault upon her son, the witness beseeched the appellant and his companions to spare his life, which led them to severely assault her and cast her away in a nearby ditch. She lost consciousness, which she regained the following day in the hospital. The fact that this witness has received grievous injuries lends credence to the fact that she was a witness of the final moments of the fatal events, leading to her sons death. The presence of this witness, therefore, can hardly be doubted.

33. This takes us to the third witness, PW-3. His presence at the shop of the deceased, where the assailants had arrived, is testified to by the other two witnesses, PW-1 and PW-2. Both PW-1 and PW-2 are injured witnesses and we have believed their presence all through the events. Since both these witnesses have vouchsafed the presence of PW-3 at the deceased's shop and then spoken about this witness, racing along with the deceased towards Village Mugraha to save himself, the presence of PW-3, in our opinion, is well established.

34. In view of all these findings, based on the evidence on record, there is little reason to disbelieve or doubt the presence of the three eye-witnesses, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, at the scene of crime in all its stretch.

35. The place of occurrence, as already noticed by us, is rather a spread out of events. It all started at the deceased's shop, where his mother, PW-2, was also present at dawn on the 1st April, 1984. The foremost event was the arrival of the assailants in a party of eight, variously armed. There was exhortation by one of them, asking others to do Shesh Bahadur to death, for reason that he had reported them to the Police in connection with a theft at his house. Before the assailants could act, PW-1 and PW-3 arrived from the nearby field and attempted to intervene and save the situation. This turned the assailants against them as well with as much belligerence as that harboured against the deceased or almost approximating to it. The result was that the deceased, realizing the imminent fatal consequences, took to his heels in the direction of Village Mugraha. He was joined in the run for dear life by PW-3, Ram Pragat. Contemporaneously, PW-1, Nirmal Pandey, Ram Pragat's father, too realized the imminent danger to his life as did his other son, Ram Shankar, who had also arrived on the scene. Both these men sprinted in the direction of Village Dasia, also to save their life. This led the assailants to split into two groups or factions, one comprising Mahipat, Hari Prasad, Patandeen and Swami Nath, and other, Sadhu Saran, Ramakant, Deena Nath and Tara Prasad.

36. Mahipat and his three companions chased Shesh Bahadur and Ram Pragat, whereas Sadhu Saran and three of his companions, which includes the appellant, went after Nirmal Pandey and his other son, Ram Shankar. Ram Pragat made good his escape, whereas Shesh Bahadur was caught by the assailants in the field of Hanif. The assault commenced there, whereafter he was moved to Patandeen's own field, where he received blows from the four assailants, employing the respective weapons that they wielded, until life ebbed out. It was just before the fatal blows were delivered, or about time that the assault was continuing, that the deceased's mother arrived at the scene and begged for her son's life. She too was assaulted and cast away in a ditch nearby, making her loose consciousness. The other faction of assailants, that went after Nirmal Pandey and his other son Ram Shankar, assaulted in the manner that Sadhu Saran shot Nirmal Pandey in his left foot, below the knee. After inflicting this injury, which did not make PW-1 stop, the assailants abandoned the chase and the assault abated.

37. In the site-plan, the deceased's tea-shop is denoted by the letter 'A'. The site-plan also shows by identifiable symbols the route taken by Shesh Bahadur and PW-3 Ram Pragat to run for their lives in the direction of Village Mugraha. They ran together until the point denoted by letter 'C' in the site-plan. The letter 'D' in the site-plan denotes the field of Hanif, where the assailants Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen caught up with Shesh Bahadur and commenced the assault. By the letter 'E' is denoted the place where the assailants dragged Shesh Bahadur and made the final and fatal assault. The letter 'F' in the site-plan denotes the place where the deceased was lying in a pool of blood. It was here that PW-2 Tikura was also assaulted and thrown in the ditch shown by letter 'G'. There is a different symbol to show the route that Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar took in their race to save their lives. The place where Nirmal Pandey was shot by Sadhu Saran in his lower limb is shown by letter 'H'. The letter 'J' shows the place where Sadhu Saran was standing, when he shot Nirmal Pandey with a country-made pistol. The Investigating Officer has noted the distance between the points denoted by letters 'H' and 'J' as six paces. The distance between the deceased's shop and 'H', where Nirmal Pandey was shot, is noted to be 25 paces. Apparently, PW-1 did not suffer a long chase before he suffered the assault.

38. The entire spread of the place of assault is apparently not very large somewhere, it is a few paces in double digits, and, at others, a few hundred paces. The place of occurrence, with all its three important sites, are well established by the consistent testimony of the three eye-witnesses, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, all of whom are proven to be present at the place of occurrence, beyond doubt.

The manner of assault

39. The manner of assault has been broadly described. All, that is required to be now considered about this very relevant fact, are the details of it and testing it in the face of the appellant's criticism that the assault happened in a completely different way at the hands of someone else.

40. As already noticed hereinbefore, on the basis of the eye-witness account, the assault happened at two different places in the vicinity of each other, both away from the place where the assailants first made their reach to the victim. The incident, taken as a whole, can be traced to the arrival of the assailants, eight in number, at the deceased's tea-shop at 6.30 a.m. on the 1st of April, 1984. All the witnesses are consistent in their account that the assailants were armed in the manner that Hari Prasad had on him a spear (ballam), Mahipat a farsa (battle-axe), Sadhu Saran a country-made pistol (katta) whereas the remainder five, including the appellant Ramakant, were armed with sticks (lathi). We have already noticed earlier how the assault commenced with the deceased and Ram Pragat, PW-3, making a run for their lives in the direction of Village Mugraha, whereas Nirmal Pandey and his other son Ram Shankar doing the same for themselves by sprinting in the direction of Village Dasia. The site-plan would show that the route of escape for these two pair of men was a diverging course, one to the east, and the other the north-east. The places of assault have been identified already with the pictorial description of it in the site-plan, all that we have found trustworthy.

41. Now, this takes us to the finer issues of the manner of assault. The foremost is the assault on the deceased, the weapons employed and the injuries sustained. We have to examine these relevant facts because it is urged on behalf of the appellant and also suggested to the witnesses during their cross-examination that the deceased suffered an assault by unknown men much earlier in the morning, along with his mother, while it was still dark. Though, all the three prosecution witnesses, during the course of their testimony originally given, have not faltered about the details of the manner of occurrence much, except may be in some insignificant and inconsequential details, but PW-2, the deceaseds mother, threw up a doubt when she gave an affidavit disowning her dock evidence and had to be recalled by the Trial Court, describing her rather strangely as DW-1/ PW-2. We would refer to the value of Tikuras testimony later on given, once recalled by the Court, separately. For the moment, we are concerned about the consistent version of the prosecution witnesses, including PW-2 as she testified in the first instance and withstood a searching cross-examination.

42. PW-2 has described the assault in her examination-in-chief as follows:

"सवेरे दिन निकलने का समय था । मैं और शेष बहादुर चाय की दुकान पर थे। मेरे दुकान पर हरिप्रसाद, महीपत, साधूसरन, स्वामीनाथ, दीनानाथ, रमाकान्त, ताराप्रसाद और पाटनदीन आ गए। हरि प्रसाद के हाथ में बल्लम व महीपत के हाथ में फरसा व साधूसरन के हाथ में कटटा व बाकी लोगों के हाथ में लाठियाँ थी। हरिप्रसाद ने शेषबहादुर को कहा कि इन्होंने हमारे खिलाफ दरख्वास्त दिया है इन्हें पकड कर मार दो। इसी बीच में निरमल और रामप्रगट व रामप्रगट का भाई भी वहा आ गए। इस पर हरि प्रसाद-महीपत-स्वामीनाथ और पाटनदीन ने शेषबहादुर को खदेडा और शेषबहादुर भागे और साधू - दीनानाथ, रमाकान्त और तारा प्रसाद ने निर्मल को खदेड़ लिया। मैं उस समय शेष बहादुर की तरफ भाग रही थी। कुछ 'भड' की आवाज सुनी।

शेष बहादुर के पीछे जाने वाले मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को हनीफ के चक मे पकड़ लिया और वहाँ से मारते पीटते पाटनदीन के चक में लाये। वही मैं ने कहा कि मेरे बच्चे को मत मारो। हरि प्रसाद मेरे बाये पैर में बल्लम मारा। महीपत ने मेरे सर मे फरसा उलट कर मारा। और जब मै हाथ जोड़ रही थी तब पाटनदीन और स्वामी नाथ ने लाठियों से मारा और पैर पर भी मारा। फिर मुझे सड़क के दखिन गडडे में डाल दिया । उसके बाद मुझे चेत नही रहा कि क्या हुआ। मुझे दुसरे दिन अस्पताल में होंश आया । और अस्पताल में ही सुना कि मेरा लड़का शेष बहादुर मर गया है।"

43. In her cross-examination, she describes the assault thus:

"शेष बहादुर को दुकान पर मारा पीटा नही। मुलजिमान ने आकर कहा कि इसने दरखास्त दी है इसे मारो। शेष बहादुर ने कोई जवाब नही दिया गोहार लगाता हुआ भागा। चार मुलजिमान ने शेष बहादुर को दौड़ा लिया। मै पहले चाय की दुकान पर रूकी रही। गोहार पर निरमल और परगट चाय की दुकान पर आए थे तब मैं चाय की दुकान पर ही थी । इन दोनों ने कहा कि यह क्या होता है तो हरिप्रसाद, महीपत वगैरह ने कहा कि इन बहनxxx को भी मार डालो।

सवाल:- जब तुमने देखा तब शेष बहादुर पाटनदीन के खेत में मार खाये पड़े थे?

जवाब:- नही। मैंने जब देखा तो मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को मारते पीटते हनीफ के खेत से पाटनदीन के खेत की तरफ ला रहे थे।

शेष बहादुर जमीन पर गिरे हुए घसीट नही रहे थे। मुलजिमान घिर्राते हुए जा रहे थे। कभी हाथ पकड़ कर घसीटते थे कभी मारते थे कभी कन्धे से धक्का देते थे। चारों मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को मारते

हुए ला रहे थे। जिस जिस मुलजिमान के पास जो जो हथियार था उसी से मार रहे थे। मुलजिमान ने पाटनदीन के खेत व हनीफ के खेत के बीच भी अपने हथियारों से मारा था। शेष बहादुर कही गिरे नही थे। मुलजिमान मारते हुए पकड़ कर लाये थे। पाटनदीन के खेत मे ही ज्यादा मारा था। पाटनदीन के खेत में उन दिन गन्ना नही था। कोई फसल नही थी।"

(emphasis by Court)

44. Further, in her cross-examination, PW-2 has said:

"शेष बहादुर पाटनदीन के खेत के दखिनी मेड़ से 2 कट्ठा दखिन तरफ मारे गए। जब मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को मार रहे थे तभी मैने चिरौरी की थी और मुझे भी मारा था। मुझे चारों मुलजिमान ने मारा था। शेष बहादुर के बदन से खून काफी जमीन पर गिरा था जिसे चौकीदार ने बाद में बटोरा था। पाटनदीन के चक से हनीफ के खेत के बीच में खून गिरा था या नही मैंने नही देखा था। मैं मार खा कर गिर गई थी मुझे थोड़ा थोड़ा होश था । जब मुलजिमान मेरा हाथ पकड़ कर मुझे खीच कर गढ़े तक ले गए और ढकेल दिया।"

45. PW-3, Ram Pragat, who had taken the same escape route as the deceased Shesh Bahadur, has described the manner of assault in his examination-in-chief thus:

"कतल के दिन सुबह करीब साढ़े 6 बजे मै व मेरे पिता निरमल खेत में अरहर काट रहे थे। तभी मुझे शेष बहादुर के दुकान से गोहार सुनाई दी। मैं और पिताजी दुकान की तरफ दौड़े। जब हम पहुंचे तब हरिप्रसाद शेष बहादुर को बताकर कह रहे थे कि यही साला हमारे उपर चोरी का रिपोर्ट किया है इसे जान से मार दो। हरि प्रसाद उस समय बल्लम लिए थे। साधूसरन कट्टा लिए थे। और बाकिया मुलजिमान स्वामीनाथ, दीनानाथ, रमाकान्त, ताराप्रसाद तथा पाटनदीन लाठियां लिए थे। हम लोगों ने टोका कि यह क्या गलत कर रहे हो। हम लोग बात ही कर रहे थे कि शेष बहादुर उत्तर तरफ मुँगरहा की तरफ भागे।

मुलजिमान ने हम लोगो को भी मारने के लिए ललकारा। तब मैं भी भागा। कुछ दूर शेष बहादुर के पीछे रहा फिर उसके आगे हो गया।

हरिप्रसाद, महीपत, स्वामीनाथ और पाटनदीन ने शेष बहादुर का पीछा किया।

जब मैं हनीफ के खेत के करीब 25 मीटर पछिम पहुँचा तो मैं पलट कर खड़ा हो गया। तब मैंने देखा कि हरिप्रसाद, महीपत, पाटनदीन व स्वामीनाथ हनीफ के खेत में शेष बहादुर को मार रहे थे। वहा गिरा कर शेष बहादुर को मुलजिमान पाटनदीन के खेत में उठा लाये और वहाँ भी मारा। तभी श्रीमती टिकरा भी वहाँ आ गई और हाथ पैर जोड़ने लगी। तब इन चारों मुलजिमान ने टिकरा को भी मारा।"

46. In his cross-examination, PW-3 has spoken thus about the manner of assault:

"मुलजिमान जब हम लोगों के पीछे दौड़ना शुरू किए तो मेरे और मुलजिमान के बीच करीब 10 कदम का फासला था। रास्ते मैं मुझे किसी मुलजिमान ने मारा पीटा नही। शेष बहादुर को हनीफ के खेत पर मारा पीटा था।

टंकी से 4-6 कदम बाद ही मैं शेष बहादुर से आगे हो गया था। शेष बहादुर को पकड़ने के बाद मेरे पीछे कोई मुलजिम नही भागा।

हनीफ के खेत में शेष बहादुर मारे भी गए थे और गिरे भी थे। मैने नही देखा कि हनीफ के खेत में खून गिरा या नही। मैं 20, 25 मीटर की दूरी पर था। नही देख पाया कि शेष बहादुर के शरीर से हनीफ के खेत में खून निकला या नही। माला, फरसा, लाठी लगते देखा था। उठाने और घसीटने के फर्क मैं जानता हूँ। यह मै नही कह सकता कि किस वक्त उठाना कहा जायगा और किस वक्त घसीटना कहा जायेगा। मैं B. A. तक पढ़ा हूँ।"

47. About the assault on the deceased, PW-1 Nirmal Pandey, who had taken his escape route to Village Dasia, has described it in the following words:

"मैने भागते हुए पीछे मुड़ कर देखा तो मुलजिमान लौट गए और तभी मैने यह भी देखा कि शेष बहादुर को हरिप्रसाद बल्लम से, महीपत फरसा से, स्वामीनाथ व पाटनदीन लाठियों से मार रहे थे।"

(emphasis by Court)

48. PW-1 has said during his cross-examination about witnessing the assault upon the deceased:

"जिस जगह शेष बहादुर मारे गए और सड़क के पास से जहां से मुड़ कर मैंने देखा, का फासला करीब 35 कट्ठा होगा।

मैने शेष बहादुर को हनीफ के चरनी तक भागते हुए नही देखा मगर हनीफ के चक से मुलजिमान को उनको मारते हुए पाटनदीन के खेत तक ले जाते हुए देखा।

पाटनदीन के चक से हनीफ का चक लगभग 4-5 कदम है। मैने शेष बहादुर को हनीफ के चक में पहले मार खाते नही देखा। जब मैने देखा तब मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को मारते हुए हनीफ के चक से पाटनदीन के चक में ला रहे थे।

मुलजिमान शेष बहादुर को मारते थे। गिर जाने पर उठाते थे ओर ढकेलते थे इसी तरह से पाटनदीन के चक में ला रहे थे। 3-4 बार शेष बहादुर गिरें और उठाये गए।.....

पाटनदीन के चक में भी मुलजिमान ने शेष बहादुर को मारा। मैं नही कह सकता कि पाटनदीन के चक में किस कोने पर शेष बहादुर मारे गए थे। पाटन दीन के चक में शेष बहादुर के मॉ को भी मारा पीटा था। चारों मुलजिम हरिप्रसाद, महीपत, पाटनदीन और स्वामीनाथ जो शेष बहादुर को खदेड़ रहे थे, ने शेष बहादुर के मॉ को भी मारा था। पाटनदीन का चक कुल कितना बड़ा है मै नही जानता। जहां, शेष बहादुर को मार रहे थे वही उसके मॉ को भी मार रहे थे, चक का कौन सा कोना था मै नही जानता।"

49. The testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2, where the manner of assault upon the deceased has been noticed in the words of the witnesses, also describe how and where the injured witness Tikura (PW-2) was assaulted. We need not, therefore, dilate upon the evidence, describing how she was assaulted separately. This leaves for consideration the assault upon the other injured eye-witness,

PW-1 Nirmal Pandey. The best description of the assault that PW-1 sustained comes from himself. He describes the genesis and the actual assault upon him thus:

"हम लोगो से बातचीत के दौरान शेष बहादुर उत्तर की तरफ मुगरहा गाँव की तरफ भागे। राम प्रगट भी उनके साथ भाग गया। मुलजिमान ने आवाज दी कि भाग रहे है खदेड कर मारो। मैं और मेरा लड़का रामशंकर पूरब की तरफ भागे । मुलजिमान महीपत, हरिप्रसाद, पाटनदीन, स्वामीनाथ ने शेष बहादुर का पीछा किया। साधू-सरन मडई के पीछे से आकर मुझे आगे से घेर लिए और मेरे बाये पैर के नरहर पर कट्टे से फायर किया। साधुसरन, रमाकान्त, दीनानाथ और तारा प्रसाद ने हम लोगों का पीछा किया। मैं भागता रहा। इसी बीच मेरा लड़का उत्तर तरफ भाग गया।"

50. In his cross-examination, Nirmal Pandey has testified:

"मुझे जब गोली लगी तब चाय का दुकान मुझसे 20-25 कदम पर थी। मुझे खदेड़ने वाले मुलजिमान मेरे भागने के पहले से दुकान पर मौजूद थे।

सवाल:- तुम को उन मुलजिमान ने खदेड़ा या नही?

जवाबः खदेड़ा।

इन लोगों ने मुझे 25-30 कदम खदेड़ा था। मुझे किसी ने लाठी से नही मारा। खदेड़ते में साधूसरन ने मेरे उपर फायर किया था, लेकिन आगे आकर साधूसरन मड़ई के पीछे से आकर मेरे आगे आ गए थे और वाकिया तीन आदमी मेरे पीछे रहे। वाकिया तीन मुलजिमान सीधे दौड़े थे, साधूसरन मड़ई के पीछे से आए थे।

मेरा लड़का रामशंकर मुझ से आगे भाग रहा था । रामशंकर को मेरी जानकारी में किसी ने न घेरा न मारा। 38- जिस वक्त साधूसरन ने मुझे कटटा से मारा है उस समय मेरे व उनके बीच करीब एक कटठे का फासला था । साधूसरन मेरे सामने से आए और मैं पूरब की तरफ भाग रहा था जब हम दोनो आमने सामने हुए तथा साधूसरन ने गोली चलाई।

सवाल:- जब आप को चोट लगी तब दोनो आदमी दौड़ रहे थे या खड़े थे।

जवाब:- मैं दौड़ रहा था। नही कह सकता हूं साधू सरन खड़े हो गए थे या दौड रहे थे, दौड़ कर आए थे।

साधू सरन के गोली चलाने के वक्त नाल नीचे की थी । कट्टे की चोट लगने के बाद मैं गिरा नही। मैं भागता ही रहा। भागते मे मैने मुडकर देखा था और भागते ही दसिया पहुँचा था।"

51. PW-2 Tikura in her cross-examination has spoken about the assault upon Nirmal Pandey, PW-1, thus:

"जब निरमल व परगट आए तब शेष बहादुर भाग रहे थे। परगट पीछे थे और शेष बहादुर पीछे थे निरमल पूरब तरफ दसिया की तरफ भागा जब निरमल भागे और उन्हें गोली लग गई तब मै भी अपने लड़के की तरफ भागी।....

52. PW-3, Ram Pragat, has described in his examination-in-chief the assault upon his father Nirmal Pandey, PW-1, as follows:

"मेरे पिता दसिया की तरफ भागे। उनका पीछा दीनानाथ, ताराप्रसाद, साधूसरन और रमाकान्त ने किया। जब मैं पोखरे के पास पहुँचा तब मुझे गोली चलने की आवाज सुनाई दी। पलट कर देखा तो पिता जी अपना पैर पकड़े थे। चारो मुलजिमान जो उनके पीछे दौड़े थे पिता जी के पीछे थे।"

53. In his cross-examination, PW-3 has said about the assault on PW-1:

"मैंने अपने पिता को पैर पकड़े देखा भी था और उन्होंने मुझे दसिया में बताया था कि, साधू सरन ने मारा है। मैने साधूसरन को अपने पिता पर गोली चलाते नही देखा।"

54. A combined reading of the testimony of all the three eye-witnesses leads us to the inevitable conclusion that the manner, including the weapons of assault, ascribed to each of the eight assailants, including the sole surviving appellant, is broadly consistent about essential facts and how it all happened. There are some discrepancies, but those are largely due to the vantage, which each of the three witnesses had, when they saw the fateful events. A few of the minor discrepancies can be attributed to the individual accomplishments of the witnesses, such as PW-2 Tikura, who is rather rustic, and, therefore, has her own way of describing things. The testimony of all the three witnesses, however, is natural and one that is assuring of the genuineness of the principal events in the crime and the manner it all happened. There is no reason, therefore, in the slightest measure to doubt or disbelieve the three eye-witnesses about the manner of assault.

55. Here, we must notice that the most badly assaulted was the deceased Shesh Bahadur and apparently he was attacked by Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen. Out of these men, Hari Prasad had employed a spear, Mahipat a battle-axe, Swami Nath and Patandeen had delivered lathi blows. These weapons are ascribed to the respective assailants from the commencement of the account, whereas PW-1, who saw the happenings from a distance, has graphically described each of the four assailants use a particular weapon to assault the deceased. PW-2, who is the deceased's mother and was also assaulted by the same assailants as the ones, who battered her son to death, has also affirmed the employment of weapons by each of the appellants that they were carrying. She is affirming, but not that graphic in her account of the weapons of assault employed by each assailant. It is now to be seen whether the ocular testimony about the assault by the four assailants, as far as the deceased goes, is corroborated by the medico-legal evidence.

56. A perusal of the autopsy report relating to the deceased, Ex. Ka-17, shows the following sixteen ante-mortem injuries:

(1) Incised wound 8 x 2cm x bone cut partially Rt. side head 10 cm above Rt. ear;
(2) Lacerated wound 4cm x 1.5cm x bone deep 2.0 cm medial to Inj. No. (1);
(3) Abraded contusion 30cm x 10 cm of Rt. upper arm posterior just below Rt. shoulder Jt.;

(4) Abraded contusion 30cm x 8cm back of Rt. forearm just below Rt. elbow Jt. underneath ulna fracture;

(5) Abraded contusion 8 x 4cm back of Rt. hand just below wrist Jt.;

(6) Abraded contusion 20cm x 10cm back of Lt. Upper arm just above Lt. Elbow Jt.;

(7) Punctured wound 2cm x 1cm x bone deep back of Lt. Upper arm 7cm above Lt. Elbow Jt.;

(8) Abraded contusion 32 x 8 cm back of Lt. Forearm 5cm below Lt. Elbow Jt. underneath ulna fracture;

(9) Punctured wound 2cm x 1cm x muscle deep back of Lt. Forearm 4cm below Lt. Elbow Jt.;

(10) Incised wound 2cm x 1cm x bone deep on tip of Lt. Little finger underneath distal phalanx fracture;

(11) Abraded contusion 10cm x 8cm back of Lt. hand just below wrist Jt.;

(12) Abrasion 3cm x 1cm outer aspect of Rt. thigh 10cm below iliac crest;

(13) Multiple abrasion in an area of 15 x 10 cm front of Rt. knee & upper part of leg Rt. Anteriorly;

(14) Abraded contusion 15x 8cm front of Rt. leg 3cm above Rt. Ankle Jt.;

(15) Punctured wound 3 x 1cm x muscle deep front of Lt. leg 15 cm below Lt. knee Jt.;

(16) Multiple contusion in an area of 45cm x 30cm whole of back of chest & abdomen, largest measuring 15 x 3cm & smallest measuring 5 x 2cm.

57. A perusal of these injuries show that there are two incised wounds, one on the head with bone cut partially, and the other bone deep on the tip of the left little finger, underneath the distal phalanx with a fracture. There are three punctured woulds, one of which is on the left upper arm, bone deep, 7cm above the elbow, the other a muscle deep wound on the back of the left forearm, 4cm below the left elbow, and, a third punctured wound on the front of the left leg 15cm below the left knee. These two sets of wounds, that is to say, the incised and the punctured wounds, have apparently come from the battle-axe, a sharp edged weapon, and the spear, a piercing weapon, wielded by Mahipat and Hari Prasad, respectively. The other wounds are abraded contusions, besides one lacerated wound and a multiple abrasions. The abraded contusions have led to fractures as well. The abraded contusions have apparently come from the lathi blows, inflicted by Swami Nath and Patandeen. The cause of death is shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The 5th, 6th and the 7th rib on the right side of the back are fractured. There is a blood clot present under the scalp of the right parietal bone under Injury No.1. There is a linear fracture, 15cm long on the right parietal bone under Injury No.2. The membrane of the brain showed them to be congested and a blood clot present under the surface of membrane. The brain was found congested with blood clot present on the brain.

58. The autopsy report has been proved by Dr. G.N. Prasad, who had carried out the postmortem examination on the deceased's cadaver on 02.04.1984. He has opined the death to have occurred about a day and a quarter before the time of autopsy on 02.04.1984, which was done at 4.45 p.m. He has given a detailed account of all the sixteen injuries in his examination-in-chief and also explained the damage to the internal organs. The fractures have been testified to with reference to the X-ray plates, that was apparently done by the Radiologist on 03.04.1984. The X-ray plates and the report based on the X-ray have been proved by PW-10. The doctor has opined that Shesh

Bahadur could have died on 01.04.1984 at 6.30 a.m., though upon his cross-examination on behalf of the accused by Mr. S.N. Srivastava, Advocate, he has also acknowledged the fact that death could have happened on 01.04.1984 between 4-5 a.m.

59. The injuries not only are affirmative of the manner of assault, but precisely correspond to the weapons of assault. The injury to the internal organs noticed also support the manner and weapons of assault. The testimony of the eye-witnesses, relating to the manner of assault, as far as the deceased goes, is therefore, free from blemish and truthful beyond reasonable doubt. The autopsy doctor's testimony is also affirmative of the ocular account, apart from proving the injuries sustained by the deceased in the assault and the damage caused, besides the cause of death.

60. The other victim, who was assaulted by the four assailants, Hari Prasad, Mahipat, Swami Nath and Patandeen, is PW-2 Tikura. As the account of the assault goes, she was apparently assaulted using the respective weapons held by the aforesaid four assailants, according to eye-witness account, including that of herself. The medico-legal evidence on record is her injury report, bearing Ex. Ka-5. It shows that the witness was brought by Constable 107 CP Muttur Singh and Constable Dhruva Kumar Chaubey of P.S. Rudhauli on 01.04.1984 at 9.20 a.m. The doctor has noticed upon her person the following eight injuries:

(1) Lacerated wound 5cm x 1cm x scalp deep on left side below, 5.5 cm above the left Ear;

(2) Multiple abrasion in an area of 3cm x 2cm on outer part of left elbow;

(3) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 1cm x skin deep at the base of finger between thumb & index finger of left hand;

(4) Contusion 4cm x 2cm on back of left hand 1cm above the base of left thumb. Advise X-ray;

(5) Abrasion 1cm x 0.75 cm tip of Rt. Index Finger above nail bed;

(6) Contusion swelling 18cm x 14cm on front & anterior part of left leg. Advise x-ray. 11cm below the left knee;

(7) Punctured would 1cm x 0.25 cm x bone deep outer & lower part of left leg; 3cm above the lateral malleolus left leg;

(8) Contused swelling whole of left foot. Advise x-ray.

61. Out of the aforesaid injuries, Injury Nos.4, 6 and 8 were directed to be kept under observation and X-ray advised. The rest of the injuries were opined to be simple in nature. Injury No.7 was opined to have been caused by a sharp edged weapon. The rest of the injuries were found to have been inflicted by a hard and blunt object. The duration of the injuries was found fresh. Injury No.7 is a punctured would, 1cm x .25cm x bone deep, 3cm above the left lateral malleolus. The injury report has been proved by Dr. A.P. Singh, Medical Officer, Sadar Hospital, Basti, who had examined the victim. He has said in his cross-examination that Injury Nos.4, 6 and 8 were kept under observation and X-ray advised. The rest of the injuries were simple. He has specifically opined that Injury No.7 had been caused by some pointed and sharp edged object. The rest of the injuries were caused by a hard and blunt object. The injuries were fresh when examined. The patient was admitted to hospital. He has proved the injury report Ex. Ka-5, about which he has said in his cross-examination that it was prepared at the time when the patient was examined. In his cross-examination by the defence, he has said that Injury No.7 could have resulted from collision with a pointed object. He has also said that it is possible that Tikura had received the injuries at 4.00 a.m. The injuries sustained by this injured witness, as found by the doctor, go hand-in-hand with the ocular version. The opinion about the time of assault being possibly a few hours earlier, as is the case with the deceased, is opinion evidence, which has to be understood, consistent with the ocular testimony.

62. The mere fact that the injuries to this witness as well as the deceased could have been caused at 4 o'clock or 5 in the morning in the doctor's opinion, does not mean that the ocular version of the injuries being sustained at 6.30 a.m., or shortly thereafter, is to be disbelieved. It is only if the medico-legal evidence is wholesomely incompatible with the ocular version that the eye-witnesses' testimony may fall under suspicion. A mere possibility expressed in the opinion evidence does not derogate from the veracity of the eye-witness account, if the medico-legal evidence predicates the ocular version as one of the possibilities.

63. PW-1 in his testimony has said that he along with his son Ram Shankar, who had run for safety towards the east, were chased by Sadhu Saran, Ramakant, Deena Nath and Tara Prasad. Out of these four, Sadhu Saran overtook them and after overtaking the witness, using the cover of a hut on the left side, appeared in the witness's front suddenly and opened fire from his country-made pistol, injuring him in the left leg at a place that he has described in vernacular as 'narhar'. This would mean that the injury was sustained to the shin or speaking in medical terms the tibia, the weight bearing bone located in the lower leg between the knee and the ankle. The medico-legal evidence appears in the form of the medical report of Dr. O.P. Pathak, who examined Nirmal Pandey, brought by Constable 718 Kripa Ram Verma. The doctor noticed a solitary wound as follows:

Lacerated wound 2cm x 0.5cm x bone deep 22cm below the left knee joint. Margin contused. 3 rounded pellets found embedded superficially in blood clot between the gaping of wound. Pellets are sealed and bag sent to S.O. Rudhauli for necessary action. Advised X-ray.

Duration fresh.

Caused by firearm.

64. Since the X-ray of the solitary wound sustained by PW-1 was advised, he was subjected to an X-ray examination regarding the injury sustained in the left leg at the District Hospital, Basti. The Radiologist's report dated 03.04.1984, marked Ex. Ka-18, before whom the witness was brought by Constable 519 Hari Shankar Mishra, has opined as follows:

One small rounded metallic radiopaque shadow seen.

65. Dr. O.P. Pathak, who has examined Nirmal Pandey, has described in his examination-in-chief the solitary wound as a lacerated wound (phata hua ghav) 2cm x 0.5cm x bone deep with margins contused. Three pellets were found embedded superficially in the blood clot between the gaping of wound. The doctor has opined in his testimony that the wound was fresh at the time of examination and appeared to be caused by a firearm. X-ray was advised.

66. Dr. G.N. Prasad, who did the X-ray examination for PW-1, has testified in the dock as PW-10 and already introduced hereinbefore in connection with the deceased's autopsy, which he had done, has said that he was the Radiologist at the hospital on 03.04.1984 and did the X-ray examination of Nirmal Pandey regarding his injury in the left leg. The X-ray plate was before him, which he proved as Ex. 2. He has said in his testimony that he had written his report, Ex. Ka-18 on the basis of the X-ray report. It is said by this witness that the X-ray showed that there was a pellet like object seen in Nirmal Pandey's leg. The testimony of the doctors, who examined PW-1, essentially supports the ocular version.

67. The argument advanced by the learned Counsel for the appellant that Nirmal Pandey was injured when a country-made pistol held by his son, Ram Pragat, accidentally went off while they were riding a bicycle to the police station to lodge an FIR is based on pure conjecture. There is no evidence aliunde on record to support this version, nor can it be inferred from the testimonies of either the prosecution or the defence, who failed to examine any witnesses on this matter. It has also been argued by the learned Counsel for the appellant that Nirmal was shot, as he says, by Sadhu Saran from a distance of one kattha, which is about six paces, employing a country-made pistol. The pellet injuries sustained show that the contraption of a weapon, that was used, had a 0.12 bore ammunition. He submits that if a country-made pistol of 0.12 caliber is discharged at a distance of one kattha from PW-1, the nature of injury, which is a minimal of three superficial pellets and one deep embedded, is impossible. The injury would have been far more damaging. This is an aspect, which ought have been put to the doctor, who examined PW-1, or some other expert witness produced by the defence. Unfortunately, neither any question regarding the nature of injury that could be sustained from a country-made pistol of 0.12 bore was asked of the doctor nor an expert witness produced by the defence, who could have shed light on the issue. In the absence of any evidence to suggest that PW-1 sustained injuries under a different set of circumstances, it is difficult to accept the appellant's submission on the point under consideration. Even if there were some slight discrepancy in the medico-legal evidence and the ocular testimony, though it is not so in this case, a dependable and consistent eye-witness account would remain unscathed by minor contradictions between the medical expert's opinion and the eye-witness' testimony. The principle is well adumbrated in Pruthiviraj Jayantibhai Vanol v. Dinesh Dayabhai Vala and others, (2022) 18 SCC 683. In Pruthiviraj Jayantibhai Vanol (supra), it has been held by the Supreme Court:

"17. Ocular evidence is considered the best evidence unless there are reasons to doubt it. The evidence of PW 2 and PW 10 is unimpeachable. It is only in a case where there is a gross contradiction between medical evidence and oral evidence, and the medical evidence makes the ocular testimony improbable and rules out all possibility of ocular evidence being true, the ocular evidence may be disbelieved. In the present case, we find no inconsistency between the ocular and medical evidence. The High Court grossly erred in appreciation of evidence by holding that Muddamal No. 5 was a simple iron rod without noticing the evidence that it had a sharp turn edge."

68. Thus, it can be safely inferred that the ocular version, about the manner of occurrence, is a dependable account and supported, as it is, by medical evidence, must be believed the way the prosecution have put it.

Motive for the crime, if at all a relevant inquiry

69. Learned Counsel for the appellant, cognizant of the fact that this is a case of direct evidence, has impressed upon us that we must bestow our consideration to the background of witnesses because PW-1 and PW-3 are highly inimical to Hari Prasad and the other assailants, including the appellant. This is on account of the fact that there was an election rivalry between Hari Prasad, on one hand, and, Ram Murat, on the other, whom PW-1 and PW-2 had supported in the elections. It is particularly pointed out that the manifestation of this animosity is well reflected in the fact that 4-5 days, antedating the occurrence, there was a theft in Shesh Bahadur's house. Shesh Bahadur had nominated Hari Prasad, Swami Nath, Deena Nath and Patandeen in the FIR relating to the offence. This nomination had turned Hari Prasad and the other assailants, including the appellant, very inimical towards Shesh Bahadur. The FIR of the theft case was scribed by Ram Pragat, PW-3, and both Ram Pragat and another brother of his, Shiv Shankar Pandey, were prosecution witnesses against Hari Prasad etc.

70. The learned A.G.A. has submitted that motive has no relevance in a case of direct evidence.

71. We are of opinion that the principle is far too well settled to detain us much that in a case of direct evidence, motive is hardly relevant as a defence. It is another thing that if the prosecution are able to prove their case, the existence of motive may be an added buttress. A Division Bench of this Court had occasion to consider this otherwise well settled principle in Pratap Singh and others v. State of U.P., 2021 SCC OnLine All 686, to which one of us (J.J. Munir, J.) was party. In Pratap Singh (supra), it was held by this Court:

"17. To our outstanding, motive is not very relevant in a case of direct evidence, where a dependable ocular version is available. Once there is evidence forthcoming on the basis of an eye-witness account, that is consistently narrated by multiple witnesses, motive is hardly relevant. If an unimpeachable ocular testimony is there to establish the prosecution case, an investigation into the motive or the sufficiency of it to result in the crime and the manner in which it has been perpetrated, would not at all brook inquiry. The testimony of PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4, as would be analyzed in greater detail later in this judgment, is broadly consistent about the time, place and manner in which the deceased was done to death by the appellants. All the three witnesses have stood by their account of the occurrence in their cross-examination. There is a broad consistency of version amongst all the three eye-witnesses, that is to say, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4. In a case that rests on ocular evidence motive for the accused to have acted in the manner they did, is besides the point. In this connection, there is authoritative statement of the law to be found in the decision of the Supreme Court in Bipin Kumar Mondal v. State of West Bengal. In Bipin Kumar Mondal, it has been held:

21. The issue of motive becomes totally irrelevant when there is direct evidence of a trustworthy witness regarding the commission of the crime. In such a case, particularly when a son and other closely related persons depose against the appellant, the proof of motive by direct evidence loses its relevance. In the instant case, the ocular evidence is supported by the medical evidence. There is nothing on record to show that the appellant had received any grave or sudden provocation from the victims or that the appellant had lost his power of self-control from any action of either of the victims.

Motive

22. In fact, motive is a thing which is primarily known to the accused himself and it may not be possible for the prosecution to explain what actually prompted or excited him to commit a particular crime.

23. In Shivji Genu Mohite v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 3 SCC 219 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 214 : AIR 1973 SC 55] this Court held that in case the prosecution is not able to discover an impelling motive, that could not reflect upon the credibility of a witness proved to be a reliable eyewitness. Evidence as to motive would, no doubt, go a long way in cases wholly dependent on circumstantial evidence. Such evidence would form one of the links in the chain of circumstantial evidence in such a case. But that would not be so in cases where there are eyewitnesses of credibility, though even in such cases if a motive is properly proved, such proof would strengthen the prosecution case and fortify the court in its ultimate conclusion. But that does not mean that if motive is not established, the evidence of an eyewitness is rendered untrustworthy.

24. It is settled legal proposition that even if the absence of motive as alleged is accepted that is of no consequence and pales into insignificance when direct evidence establishes the crime. Therefore, in case there is direct trustworthy evidence of witnesses as to commission of an offence, the motive part loses its significance. Therefore, if the genesis of the motive of the occurrence is not proved, the ocular testimony of the witnesses as to the occurrence could not be discarded only by the reason of the absence of motive, if otherwise the evidence is worthy of reliance. (Vide Hari Shanker v. State of U.P. [(1996) 9 SCC 40 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 913], Bikau Pandey v. State of Bihar [(2003) 12 SCC 616 : 2004 Supp SCC (Cri) 535] and Abu Thakir v. State of T.N. [(2010) 5 SCC 91 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 1258])"

72. Considering what we have held in Pratap Singh, as remarked earlier, the point need not detain us any more and we hold that the motive attributed to two of the eye-witnesses, PW-1 and PW-3, is hardly of much relevance. In any case, there is another very dependable eye-witness account, the deceased's mother, PW-2 Tikura, where no criticism founded on motive, can be pleaded to discredit her testimony.

The retracted stand of Tikura, PW-2, and its effect on the credibility of the prosecution case

73. In this case, there is a rather unusual feature, though not something unheard of. After close of the prosecution evidence, PW-2 Tikura, one of the most dependable and star witnesses for the prosecution, filed an affidavit before the learned Sessions Judge dated 16.01.1985, saying that her testimony in Court was wrong and she had given that evidence out of fear of Nirmal Pandey and Ram Pragat, besides threats from the Police. She said further in her affidavit that after testifying in Court, her conscience revolted and her soul cursed her. She thought that what ill-deed had she done that her son was killed, and, now by falsely testifying in the murder case leading to implication of men, who were not involved, she wondered what punishment God would give her. She stated in the affidavit that considering these matters, she thought that she should speak truthfully before the Court. She then set out a different version of the occurrence to the effect that it was still dark and she and her son had gone to harvest her crop. It was said in the affidavit that when she reached Patandeen's field, some men assaulted her son and she could not recognize the assailants. They were not men, whom she knew or recognized. Her son died immediately in consequence of the assault. She too was assaulted by those men and upon seeing her son dead, and in consequence of injuries, she fainted. There are other things said in the affidavit in derogation of her dock evidence given during trial.

74. Taking cognizance of the affidavit dated 16.01.1985, the learned Sessions Judge, after hearing learned Counsel and taking into consideration PW-2s affidavit, paper No. 49-Kha, passed an order on 16.01.1985, directing the trial to adjourn to 17.01.1985 for the purpose of recording the statement of the accused, apparently under Section 313 Cr.P.C. It was further directed that the accused, if they so wished, could produce PW-2 in their defence. On 17.01.1985, the statements of the accused were recorded. At the end of the statements of the accused/ appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C., they were asked to lead evidence in defence. The trial was adjourned to 18.01.1985 for the purpose of leading defence evidence. On 18.01.1985, quaintly the testimony of Tikura was again heard styling her as DW-1/ PW-2. In addition, documentary evidence on behalf of the accused, numbering twelve documents, was taken on record through a list, paper No. 60-Kha. The documents produced on behalf of the defence were marked as Ex. Kha-1 to Kha-12. It is recorded in the order dated 18.01.1985 that defence evidence on behalf of the accused has concluded and the trial was adjourned for the purpose of hearing arguments to 22.01.1985. We are of opinion that it would be relevant to quote the orders dated 16.01.1985, 17.01.1985 and 18.01.1985 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, verbatim:

"16-1-85

आज पेश हुआ। पुकार कराई गई। मुलजिमान मय वकील हाजिर हो। वकील सरकार श्री NB Singh हाजिर है। वकला फरीकैन की बहस 48ख पर सुनी गई। गवाह टिकुरा PW 2 ने शपथ पत्र 49ख दाखिल किया।

आदेश हुआ कि दि० 17-1-85 को वास्ते बयान मुलजिमान पेश हो। मुलजिमान PW 2 को अगर चाहे तो सफाई मे पेश कर सकते है।

ह० अप०
SJ

17-1-85

आज पेश हुआ। पुकार कराई गई। मुलजिमान मय वकील हाजिर हो। वकील सरकार श्री NB Singh हाजिर है। बयान मुलजिमान लिखा गया। वकला फरीकैन की बहस सुनी गई। बयान मुलजिमान फिर लिया गया। मुलजिमान ने सफाई देने के लिए कहा।

आदेश हुआ कि दि० 18-1-85 को वास्ते सफाई पेश हो।

ह० अप०
SJ

18-1-85

आज पेश हुआ। पुकार कराई गई। मुलजिमान मय वकील हाजिर हो। DW 1/PW 1 टिकुरा का बयान लिखा गया। मुल्जिमान के ओर से 12 किता सबूत द्वारा सूची 60 ख दाखिल हुआ। जिस पर क्रमशः Ex ख 1 ता ख 12 डाला गया। मुलजिमान ने सफाई समाप्त किया।

आदेश हुआ कि दि० 22-1-85 को वास्ते बहस पेश हो।

ह० अप०
SJ"

75. The learned Sessions Judge recorded the testimony of Tikura on 18.01.1985, recording on the top of the papers DW-1/ PW-2. It is next written Recalled. After a short examination-in-chief, the witness has been cross-examined by the learned District Government Counsel. We propose to examine not only the worth of Tikuras evidence recorded by the learned Sessions Judge, but also the legality and character thereof, that is, if at all she could be examined as a defence witness or given her anomalous description as PW-1/ DW-1, as done by the learned Sessions Judge, could she just be regarded as the prosecution witness that she was, who had simply been recalled by the learned Sessions in view of her affidavit in the exercise of powers by the Judge under Section 311 Cr.P.C.

76. We think, it would be profitable to notice for a first what Tikura had to say, when she re-appeared in the dock. She has said in her examination-in-chief, which the learned Trial Judge heard on 18.01.1985, as follows:

"शेष बहादुर मेरा लड़का था।

मैने पिछली बार इसी अदालत में बयान दिया था। वह बयान मैंने प्रगट, निरमल व थाने वालों के डर से दिया था। सही बात यह है कि मै और शेष बहादुर गेहू काटने जा रहे थे दो घरी रात बाकी थी। जब पाटनदीन के खेत के पास पहुँचे तो 4-5-6 आदमियों ने हम लोगों को मारा। मैं उनमें से किसी को पहचान नहीं पाई। मैं उन में से किसी को जानती पहचानती नही थी।

चोट खाकर मेरा लड़का वही मर गया।

मैं चोट खाकर बेहोश हो गई थी। जब होश आया तब दिन चढ आया था, तभी निरमल और प्रगट मेरे पास आए और कहा कि मैं वही बैठूं, वह थाने जा रहे है।

इस वाकया में मेरे देखने में निरमल को कोई चोट नही आई थी।

फिर प्रगट थानेदार के साथ लौट कर आए थे।

मुझे सुध नही थी इसलिए मैने दरोगा जी को नही बताया कि मैने मारने वालों को नही पहचाना था।"

77. In her cross-examination by the learned District Government Counsel, Tikura testified as follows:

"हरिप्रसाद मेरे गाँव के प्रधान है। मेरे पास कोई खेत नहीं है। शेष बहादुर के पास एक बीघा खेत है। मैं मजदूरी करके खाती हूँ। प्रधान ने मुझे कोई खेत नही दिया।

यह कहना गलत है कि मुझे हरिप्रसाद ने 2000 दिया है और दो बीघा खेत पट्टा पर देने के लिए वायदा किया है।

अब मुझे निरमल और प्रगट से डर नही है। अब वह मुझे मारना चाहें तो मार डालें। प्रगट आज भी अदालत में मौजूद है।

मेरी पतोहू ने मुझे खाना नही दिया। शेष बहादुर के कियाकम के बाद से मेरी पतोहू बेवा शेष बहादुर मुझ से अलग रहती है। शेष बहादुर के नाम से जो खेत था प्रगट ने पतोहू के नाम करा दिया। खेत मैं नही चाहती थी मगर खाना पीना चाहती थी मगर पतोहू वह भी नही दे रही है। मैने प्रगट से कहा था कि वह पतोहू से खाना दिलवाये मगर पतोहू ने कुछ नही दिया।

मेरा बयान इस अदालत में हुआ था। मेरी पतोहू पिछले बयान के पहले भी खाना नही देती थी और अब भी नही देती है।

शेष बहादुर कि एक बीघा वाला खेत चाय टंकी के उत्तर है और मेरा घर टंकी के दखिन है। शेष बहादुर का खेत पाटनदीन के खेत के पास ही लगा हुआ है।

मैं दसिया से बस से आती हूँ। दसिया से बस्ती का किराया 2 रूपया आठ आना लगता है।

गवाह को उसका पिछला बयान Chief पढ़कर सुनाया गया। मैने यह बयान खुशी से नही दिया था। डर से दिया था। चूंकि परगट और निरमल बाँधकर लाये थे। मैने डर के मारे अदालत से भी नही कहा कि मुझे प्रगट और निरमल से डर है।

मेरे पिछले बयान के बाद से आज तक मैने प्रगट व निरमल के खिलाफ कोई दरख्वास्त नही दिया।

यह कहना गलत है कि मैं मुलजिमान से मिल गई हू और पैसा लेकर बयान बदल रही हू।"

78. We may now consider the legality and/ or regularity of hearing Tikura and also ascertain her character as a witness, when she re-appeared in the dock. A close look at the orders dated 16.01.1985, 17.01.1985 and 18.01.1985 passed by the learned Sessions Judge seem to suggest that the learned Judge, after recording the statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C., all on 17.01.1985, heard Tikura as a defence witness or intended to do so. This is apparent from the last of his directions in the order dated 16.01.1985, when Tikuras affidavit, paper No. 49-Kha, was first laid before the learned Sessions Judge for his consideration. He had directed on 16.01.1985 that, if the accused wish, they could produce PW-2 in their defence. Thereafter, on 17.01.1985, which was a date scheduled for recording of the accuseds statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., all that was recorded were the statements of the accused as aforesaid.

79. Tikura was heard again as a witness on 18.01.1985, but the order of the day describes her as DW-1/ PW-2. At the top of the order-sheet, where her testimony is recorded, we have already noticed that she is described as DW-1/ PW-2. In addition, the word Recalled is written, also at the top of the order-sheet dated 18.01.1985. The difficulty that the learned Sessions Judge was confronted with stemmed from the basic principle that the orientation of a witness never changes. If a witness has testified as a prosecution witness or a defence witness, he or she retains that character all through the trial, notwithstanding whatever he/ she may say in her testimony.

80. Section 154 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (for short, 'the Evidence Act') empowers the Court to permit the person, who called him as a witness to put any questions to him, that might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party. It is this provision, which is invoked when it is in practice said that the Court has declared a witness hostile, permitting cross-examination by the party, who called him/ her. The words hostile witness or declaration of hostility by the Court, are not used in the statute, but are parlance of practice. Sub-Section (2) of Section 154 postulates the principle that notwithstanding a witness called by a party being cross-examined, or so to speak, declared hostile and cross-examined, the testimony of the witness can still be relied upon by the party, calling him to the extent it supports his or her case. This principle is well regarded by consistent authority and the testimony of a witness, so to speak, declared hostile, need not be wholesomely rejected. In case of a prosecution witness, to the extent the testimony supports the prosecution, can well be relied upon by them.

81. Apparently, Tikura testified as a prosecution witness, called to the dock as PW-2. After her testimony was over and just before the statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were scheduled to be recorded, she had a change of mind, which she called, 'the call of her conscience to speak truthfully', leading her to lodge an affidavit with the Court that her earlier testimony during trial was all falsehood. It is no doubt true that the purpose of all trial and the endeavours of Court in the quest for justice is to seek the truth. If the Court found, as in the present case, that a prosecution witness had spoken something under pressure or otherwise, which was away from truth, the Court could always have exercised its powers under Section 311 Cr.P.C. and recalled PW-2 in the very same character for re-examination. PW-2 then could introduce facts what led her to depose contrary to what she had seen and the prosecution could have cross-examined her under Section 154 of the Evidence Act, but as a prosecution witness nevertheless.

82. As the orders dated 16.01.1985, 17.01.1985 and 18.01.1985 would show, the learned Sessions Judge initially decided to permit the accused, upon reading the affidavit of PW-2, paper No. 49-Kha, to examine her as a defence witness. It is for this reason that she was examined after the statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. had been recorded. Examining a witness after the statements under Section 313 are over, is clearly suggestive of the fact that the Court intended the witness to be produced in defence by the accused as a defence witness. However, it appears that by 18.01.1985, when the turn came for Tikura to be recalled in the dock, the Trial Court was a bit perplexed as to how a prosecution witness could be called as a defence witness, and endeavour was, therefore, made by the learned Sessions Judge to overcome the apparent illegality of this procedure by describing Tikura as DW-1/ PW-2. Perhaps, the learned Sessions Judge realized the fallacy of the procedure and, therefore, at the top of the order-sheet, where the testimony of Tikura was recorded, after she re-appeared in the dock, the word 'Recalled' is superscribed. The learned Sessions Judge would have done well if he thought that Tikura should be heard again to have invoked his powers under Section 311 Cr.P.C. and recalled her in her character as a prosecution witness, to wit, PW-2, and permit her to be re-examined by the prosecution with a right to them to cross-examine, if they so desired. We must say that the procedure adopted by the learned Sessions Judge in examining Tikura, describing her anomalously as DW-1/ PW-2, was flawed and cannot be countenanced.

83. The question fell for consideration recently before a Division Bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Kaleem v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2026 SCC OnLine MP 5990, where the facts were that a woman, called Najma, was set ablaze on 06.11.2013, allegedly by a colleague of hers over a monetary dispute with her husband. The husband had lodged an FIR orally reporting the incident to the Police the same day, saying that he was informed by a boy from the village, Lokendra, that his wife Najma was burning near the Delgaon-Dhangaon Road. He rushed to the spot and extinguished the fire. Najma informed him that Kaleem had called her there, abused her over the dispute, poured kerosene and set her afire, before fleeing on a motorcycle. Saleem testified for the prosecution as PW-3 and supported the prosecution case. Later on, Saleem was produced as a defence witness, DW-3, where he testified contrary to what he had said in the dock earlier as a prosecution witness. In those circumstances, in Kaleem (supra), Ratnesh Chandra Singh Bisen, J. held:

"32. From the defence side, Saleem (DW 3) was again examined as Defence Witness No. 3, and he was made to give a statement contrary to what he had stated earlier in support of the prosecution. In such a situation, his statement recorded as a defence witness cannot be accepted. It is appropriate to mention here that once a witness has been examined by the prosecution, he should not be examined again as a defence witness; rather, if the court finds it necessary to re-examine the witness for the ends of justice, it may allow re-examination or cross-examination, but it cannot allow the witness to be examined as a defence witness. In this regard, the principle laid down in the Supreme Court in case of State of Madhya Pradesh v. Badri Yadav, (2006) 9 SCC 549 : (2006) 3 SCC (Cri) 337 is worth noting, which is as follows

11. In our view, the reasoning recorded by the High Court, itself would have been sufficient to reject the testimony of DW 1 and DW 2. However, having said so the High Court reversed the order of conviction and recorded the order of acquittal, which is perverse.

12. In this case the application under Section 311 CrPC for recalling PW 8 and PW 9 and re-examining them was rejected by the court on 2-9-1994. Therefore, the question with regard to recalling PW 8 and PW 9 and re-examining them stood closed. There is no provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure that by filing affidavit the witnesses examined as PWs (PW 8 and PW 9 in this case) could be juxtaposed as DW 1 and DW 2 and be examined as defence witnesses on behalf of the accused.

13. Mr A.T.M. Rangaramanujam, learned Senior Counsel for the respondent, however, contended that the accused is entitled to enter upon defence and adduce evidence in support of his case as provided under Section 233 CrPC particularly sub-section (3) of Section 233. Sub-section (3) of Section 233 reads:

233. (3) If the accused applies for the issue of any process for compelling the attendance of any witness or the production of any document or thing, the Judge shall issue such process unless he considers, for reasons to be recorded, that such application should be refused on the ground that it is made for the purpose of vexation or delay or for defeating the ends of justice.

(emphasis supplied)

14. Section 233 itself deals with entering upon defence by the accused. The application for recalling and reexamining persons already examined, as provided under Section 311 CrPC, was already rejected. The power to summon any person as a witness or recall and reexamine any person already examined is the discretionary power of the court in case such evidence appears to it to be essential for a just decision of the case. Under Section 233 CrPC the accused can enter upon defence and he can apply for the issue of any process for compelling the attendance of any witness in his defence. The provisions of sub-section (3) of Section 233 cannot be understood as compelling the attendance of any prosecution witness examined, crossexamined and discharged to be juxtaposed as a defence witness. In the present case PW 8 and PW 9 were juxtaposed as DW 1 and DW 2. This situation is not one what was contemplated by sub-section (3) of Section 233 CrPC

15. When such frivolous and vexatious petitions are filed, a judge is not powerless. He should have used his discretionary power and should have refused relief on the ground that it is made for the purpose of vexation or delay or for defeating the ends of justice. In the present case, the witnesses were examined by the prosecution as eyewitnesses on 18-12-1990, cross-examined and discharged. Thereafter, an application under Section 311 CrPC was rejected. They were recalled purportedly in exercise of power under sub-section (3) of Section 233 CrPC and examined as DW 1 and DW 2 on behalf of the accused on 17-7-1995. This was clearly for the purpose of defeating the ends of justice, which is not permissible under the law.

(emphasis by Court)

84. In Kaleem, reliance has been placed on State of Madhya Pradesh v. Badri Yadav, (2006) 9 SCC 549, where the course of recalling prosecution witnesses and re-examining them as defence witnesses, has been held impermissible under the law. We too are bound by the principle in Badri Yadav (supra) and respectfully follow the holding of the Division Bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Kaleem.

85. Now, we must turn attention to the fact that assuming that Tikura was indeed not called as a defence witness, but merely recalled as a prosecution witness and re-examined, can her testimony, subsequently given, be relied upon to infer a reasonable doubt about the prosecution case. We must remark here that Tikura's testimony in the dock as a prosecution witness was one, which, apart from sparing the minor lapses of human cognizance and limitations of vantage or the inaccuracies of description, was largely consistent with the prosecution case throughout and supported the first information version and the prosecution case as a whole on all its broad parameters. She was consistent in her examination-in-chief and withstood a reasonably lengthy cross-examination without faltering. She came up with an affidavit, disowning her testimony, citing the call of her conscience. The learned Sessions Judge, bearing in mind the highest traditions of the functions of a Judge, dispensing justice, would have naturally felt the weight on his conscience lest truth, remain hidden from the Court's eye and not prevail in a case as serious as one on a charge of murder. No doubt, the learned Judge faltered, as we have already remarked, in permitting the defence to examine Tikura as a defence witness, but he attempted a course correction and heard the witness, anomalously describing her as DW-1/ PW-2 and somewhere mentioning at the top that she was recalled. In all that we have spoken of earlier regarding the legality of the procedure, what is important is that the witness was heard again by the learned Sessions Judge in his anxiety to reach the truth and dispense as accurate as possible justice could be in human hands.

86. In the dock, as we have elaborately set forth the testimony of Tikura, she completely resiled from the prosecution case and blamed her earlier wrong testimony on the fear of Pragat, Nirmal and the Police. She narrated the same story, which was the suggestion of the defence when she appeared as a prosecution witnesses and one, which she categorically denied during her cross-examination, upon a complete and detailed suggestion given to her to the same effect. Now, she has said that the truth was that she and her son Shesh Bahadur were harvesting their wheat crop and sometime of the night was still left. When they reached near Patandeen's field, 4-5-6 men assaulted them. She does not know any of the assailants. Her son died on the spot and she fell unconscious. When she regained consciousness, it was day and then Nirmal and Pragat came over to her, asking her to sit there, as they were proceeding to the police station. She then said that she never saw Nirmal receiving any injury. Next, Pragat came back along with the Station House Officer. She has further on said that she was not in her senses and for this reason did not tell the Police Inspector that she had not recognized the assailants.

87. During her cross-examination by the learned District Government Counsel, she came out with the fact that she had no field with her. Her son Shesh Bahadur had a field of one bigha. She works as a labourer to earn her livelihood. She denied the suggestion that the Pradhan had offered to give her a field. The Pradhan, we must note here, is a reference to Hari Prasad, one of the deceased appellants, who was convicted by the Trial Court and was in appeal alongside the surviving appellant. She denied the suggestion that Hari Prasad had given her a sum of Rs.2000/- or promised to give her a field of two bigha on lease. She has then said in her cross-examination that her daughter-in-law does not provide her food. After the demise of her son Shesh Bahadur, she had separated from her.

88. The field that stood in Shesh Bahadur's name, Pragat had made her give it to her daughter-in-law. She has said that she does not want the field, but needs a square meal, which her daughter-in-law is not prepared to provide her with. She also said that she had asked Pragat to ask her daughter-in-law to provide for her, but he did not do anything about it. The witness was confronted with her earlier testimony in the dock, and upon that, she said that she did not give that testimony voluntarily. She gave it out of fear. She said that she was brought to Court earlier by Pragat and Nirmal forcibly. She had testified on the earlier occasion out of fear of Pragat and Nirmal. She acknowledged the fact that she never made a complaint against Pragat and Nirmal in the matter.

89. A witness, like Tikura, who has testified with an account, seamlessly consistent with the prosecution story in the first instance, cannot be permitted to go back on her version at a later point of time, particularly when her circumstances show her to be vulnerable. Tikura is the helpless mother of a young man, who was killed before her eyes and both the mother and son did not come from an affluent background. The son had a field of one bigha only and a tea-shop. The field was given away by Tikura to her daughter-in-law, that is to say, Shesh Bahadur's wife, who refused to provide her a square meal. She would work as a labourer. One of the co-appellants of Ramakant, convicted alongside him, was Hari Prasad, in fact a member of his family. He was the Village Pradhan at the relevant time and a resourceful man. Given the socioeconomic differences between parties as well as Tikura's circumstances, it is not difficult to infer that she attempted to regain an entry in the witness-box, not to answer the call of her conscience, but in fact to abjure it and opt for falsehood at the instance of the accused, falling for the mundane necessity of keeping her body and soul together. We have not the slightest hesitation in our mind that Tikura was suborned by the appellant into changing her stance and laying the affidavit, paper No. 49-Kha, before the Court.

90. Even as a matter of practice, to permit a witness, who has remained consistent at the trial, to give an affidavit later on and resile from his testimony, has met with judicial disapproval as a matter of principle. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, (2004) 12 SCC 229, a decision that was followed in Kaleem by the Madhya Pradesh High Court, PW-1 Munna @ Gheti, the witness of res gestae against the appellants, who were tried for murder after testifying to the conduct of the two accused, consistent with the prosecution case in his dock evidence, later filed an affidavit, saying that he had testified at the instance of the Police. Rejecting the witnesses' endeavour to do a somersault, the Supreme Court in Yakub Ismailbhai Patel (supra) held:

"38. Significantly this witness, later on filed an affidavit, wherein he had sworn to the fact that whatever he had deposed before Court as PW 1 was not true and it was so done at the instance of the police.

39. The averments in the affidavit are rightly rejected by the High Court and also the Sessions Court. Once the witness is examined as a prosecution witness, he cannot be allowed to perjure himself by resiling from the testimony given in Court on oath. It is pertinent to note that during the intervening period between giving of evidence as PW 1 and filing of affidavit in court later, he was in jail in a narcotic case and that the accused persons were also fellow inmates there."

91. In a somewhat similar situation, the Supreme Court in Nisar Khan v. State of Uttaranchal, (2006) 9 SCC 386 observed:

"9. The other contention of Mr Jaspal Singh is that all the eyewitnesses were turned hostile and the credibility of their testimonies are doubted. It is clearly apparent on the record that eyewitness PW 4 Naeem Babu had filed an application before the trial Magistrate (Ext. Kha-27) that he has been threatened and intimidated by the accused not to depose against them. So also PW 1 and PW 2 who were eyewitnesses and supported the prosecution case consistently, were turned hostile. PW 1 and PW 2, direct eyewitnesses of the occurrence were examined, cross-examined and discharged on 4-1-2001. They were recalled on 7-1-2002 and re-examined by the defence on which date all of them turned hostile and resiled from the previous statement. It clearly appears that the eyewitnesses were won over by threat or intimidation after more than one year of their examination and cross-examination and ultimately when the eyewitnesses were won over by the accused they were recalled and re-examined on 7-1-2002. Even on re-examination on 7-1-2002 the eyewitnesses consistently supported the prosecution story with regard to the date and place of incident, the car in which they came and the genesis of the incident. To that extent they supported the prosecution story. They resiled from the previous statement only with regard to the identity of the accused. It is in evidence on record that the accused and prosecution parties are at loggerheads because of business rivalry and known to each other from before. Naturally, by the time the eyewitnesses were recalled, they were won over either by money, by muscle power, by threats or intimidation. We are of the view that no reasonable person properly instructed in law would allow an application filed by the accused to recall the eyewitnesses after a lapse of more than one year that too after the witnesses were examined, cross-examined and discharged."

92. In the circumstances, we are of clear opinion that it is too perilous a course to attach any weight to the testimony of second thought offered by Tikura, when she came back to the witness-box as DW-1/ PW-2. We, therefore, refuse to act upon it or find for the appellant any case that may entitle him to the benefit of doubt.

The appellants vicarious liability for the offences punishable under Sections 302, 323, 324 IPC with the aid of Section 149 IPC, if established?

93. The facts here present to us a case where if at all we have to uphold the conviction for Ramakant on each of the charges that he has been held guilty by the learned Sessions Judge, we would be punishing him, as the learned Counsel for the appellant submits, for acts of others as he himself never committed an act or omission to kill or injure any of the victims. The submission is in itself mostly besides the point. The conviction of the appellant is on charges under Sections 302/149, 323/ 149, 324/ 149 IPC, besides one under Section 147 IPC. Apart from the charge under Section 149 IPC, of which the appellant has been held substantively guilty by the learned Trial Judge, his conviction on all other charges is by virtue of the fact that he was a member of the unlawful assembly, where the others particeps criminis with him, committed acts constituting the offences punishable under Sections 302, 323 and 324 IPC in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly, of which the appellant Ramakant was a member.

94. Our attention is drawn to the fact that Ramakant was wielding a lathi from the beginning, which he never used. The unlawful assembly, that was formed with the assailants, arriving at the deceaseds tea-shop at 6.30 in the morning on the fateful day, according to the prosecution case, itself divided into two factions of four members each, one going after Shesh Bahadur and Ram Pragat, and the other, after Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar, causing the group of men, who actually carried out the assault to become two assemblies, each comprising less than five persons. A fortiori, the divided groups, which carried out the attacks, in the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant, were not unlawful assemblies within the meaning of Section 141 IPC, so as to attract Section 149 IPC at all. We do not agree. The said submission was also advanced before the learned Sessions Judge, who repelled it with the following remark:

"44. There has been a rioting in the case beginning with eight persons. The assembly was unlawful as they had all mustored to do an illegal act and force was also shown as well as used. It is something different that in the details of occurrence the accused had to divide themselves into two groups, each group going below five in number. This to my mind, does not disturb the status of unlawful assembly and the liability of each accused by application of section 149 I.P.C...."

95. We agree with the reasoning of the learned Sessions Judge on this score. We are of opinion that the reasoning should be supplemented. As the evidence shows, the eight accused, including the surviving appellant, alighted at the deceased Shesh Bahadur's tea-shop at 6.30 a.m., three armed with deadly weapons, and the other five, with lathi. The evidence broadly shows that Hari Prasad exhorted others to kill Shesh Bahadur on account of the fact that he had reported them in the case of theft to the Police. The assembly was, therefore, decidedly unlawful because the evidence read as a whole, including the subsequent conduct of its members, show together with the exhortation made, that the accused had come over to the deceased's tea-shop, all armed and three with deadly weapons, to do him to death. They were, therefore, decidedly an unlawful assembly under the Third Clause of Section 141, because their numbers was more than five and the common object was to kill Shesh Bahadur, and it is for that purpose, that they had come over armed.

96. The opening words in the remark of the learned Sessions Judge that, 'There has been a rioting in the case beginning with eight persons', are not acceptable to us because while they had arrived at the deceased's shop, and one of them exhorted the others to kill him, no force or violence was used by members of the assembly until that point of time within the meaning of Section 146 IPC. The evidence shows that this was the situation moments before the assault would commence in order to accomplish the object of the unlawful assembly. At that point time, Nirmal Pandey and his son Ram Pragat intervened, who were soon joined by Nirmal Pandey's other son Ram Shankar. There was a brief attempt to dissuade the assailants. Shesh Bahadur, sensing immediate danger to his life, ran for safety towards Village Mugraha. Ram Pragat, also sensing danger, took the same escape route as Shesh Bahadur. Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar made a run for their life in the direction of Village Dasia. The three other men reacted this way because when they intervened, the members of the unlawful assembly showed their immediate intention of assaulting them as well, with apparently fatal consequences for each.

97. It is only because the number of victims went up from one to four and they made off in two different directions that the assailants, who were an unlawful assembly, split into two factions in prosecution of their common object. The common object of the assembly was to murder the victim Shesh Bahadur. The others were perceived, as the evidence shows, as disrupters of the assailants' design to kill Shesh Bahadur, and, therefore, attacked alongside him. A complete unlawful assembly of eight men, three armed with deadly weapons and the other five with lathi, split into two groups or factions, ultimately in the prosecution of their common object, reacting that way because of the unexpected intervention of the three men, which includes PW-1 and PW-3. The unlawful assembly, therefore, never dissolved. It continued its task meeting the added challenge posed by the three men, who intervened by dividing themselves into two groups, each chasing two victims, including Shesh Bahadur.

98. What Section 149 IPC requires is if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or an act is committed by a member of that assembly, which the other members knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person, who at the time of commission of the offence is a member of the assembly, is guilty of that offence. The assembly that was formed here, as remarked more than once, had formed with the object of committing an offence, that is to say, the murder of Shesh Bahadur. Three members of the assembly were armed with deadly weapons, to wit, a country-made pistol, a spear and a battle-axe (farsa). The appellant, no doubt, was armed with a lathi, but the object was apparently known to each member, which was to do Shesh Bahadur to death. There is an added reason to think that the common object was well-known to the members of the assembly, including the appellant.

99. After all, the appellant and the other accused, who have appealed alongside him after conviction and passed away in course of time, are members of the same family. PW-1, in his examination-in-chief, has graphically described their blood relationship, a fact which has nowhere been denied. This is an added reason to presume that the common object of the assembly was well-known to each member of it. Of course, the fact that the common object was known, can as well be gathered from other circumstances, such as, the arrival of all the members together, the way they were armed and the fact that they got down to business as soon as they arrived, speaking out their intentions through Hari Prasad, who exhorted others to kill Shesh Bahadur. The aberration in the profile of attack being divided into two sites of occurrence, with two different sets of victims, came about merely because three men intervened to save the situation. This would not result in dissolution of the unlawful assembly at the deceased's tea-shop, comprising the appellant and the seven other accused, who arrived there to murder Shesh Bahadur, well armed for the purpose.

100. The mere fact that the original eight split into two groups, does not make the unlawful assembly, loose its character, as the members divided in prosecution of the common object. The faction, which went after Nirmal Pandey and his other son Ram Shankar, too was acting in prosecution of the common object of the assembly, that is to murder Shesh Bahadur, because they were only abating the obstruction that Nirmal Pandey and his sons had placed before them, moments before they would assault the deceased at his shop. It is perhaps for this reason that the witness, PW-1, a victim too, was shot in his left lower limb and the faction chasing him abandoned the chase, after they were assured that he was no longer in a position to rescue the deceased. Thus, those members, who went after Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar, continued to be as much members of the unlawful assembly as the faction of the other four, which actually went after Shesh Bahadur and did the evil deed that the unlawful assembly had for its object.

101. In Mizaji and another v. State of U.P., AIR 1958 SC 572, the question before the Supreme Court was, 'what was the common object of the unlawful assembly and whether the offence of murder was committed in prosecution of the common object or was such an offence as the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object', to borrow the words of their Lordships. In Mizaji (supra), it was observed:

"4..... It was argued on behalf of the appellants that the common object was to take forcible possession and that murder was committed neither in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly nor was it such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. That the common object of the unlawful assembly was to take forcible possession of the Sukhana field cannot be doubted. Can it be said in the circumstances of this case that in prosecution of the common object the members of the unlawful assembly were prepared to go to the extent of committing murder or they knew that it was likely to be committed? One of the members of the assembly Tej Singh was armed with a spear. His son Mizaji was armed with a pistol and others were carrying lathis. The extent to which the members of the unlawful assembly were prepared to go is indicated by the weapons carried by the appellants and by their conduct, their collecting where Tej Singh was and also the language they used at the time towards the complainant's party. The High Court has found that the appellants had gone prepared to commit murder if necessary in the prosecution of their common object of taking forcible possession of the land, which it based on the testimony of Matadin and Hansraj who deposed that when the complainant's party arrived and objected to what the appellants were doing they (the appellants) collected at once and asked Ram Sarup and his companions to go away otherwise they would finish all of them and when the latter refused to go away, the pistol was fired. That finding would indicate the extent to which the appellants were prepared to go in the prosecution of their common object which was to take forcible possession of the Sukhana field. The High Court also found that in any event the case fell under the second part of Section 149, Indian Penal Code in view of the weapons with which the members of the unlawful assembly were armed and their conduct which showed the extent to which they were prepared to go to accomplish their common object.

5. Counsel for the appellants relied on Queen v. Sabid Ali [(1873) 20 WR 5 Cr] , and argued that Section 149 was inapplicable. There the learned Judges constituting the full bench gave differing opinions as to the interpretation to be put on Section 149, Indian Penal Code. That was a case where the members of an unlawful assembly went to take forcible possession of a piece of land. The view of the majority of the Judges was that, finding unexpected opposition by one member of the party of the complainants and also finding that they were being overpowered by him, one of the members of the unlawful assembly whose exact time of joining the unlawful assembly was not proved fired a gun killing one of the occupants of the land who were resisting forcible dispossession. It was also held that the act had not been done with a view to accomplish the common object of driving the complainants, out of the land, but it was in consequence of an unexpected counter-attack. Ainslie, J., was of the opinion that the common object of the assembly was not only to forcibly eject the occupants but to do so with show of force and that common object was compounded both of the use of the means and attainment of the end and that it extended to the committing of murder. Phear, J., said that the offence committed must be immediately connected with that common object by virtue of the nature of the object. The members of the unlawful assembly must be prepared and intend to accomplish that object at all costs. The test was, did they intend to attain the common object by means of murder if necessary? If events were of sudden origin, as the majority of the learned Judges held them to be in that case, then the responsibility was entirely personal. In regard to the second part he was of the opinion that for its application it was necessary that members of the assembly must have been aware that it was likely that one of the members of the assembly would do an act which was likely to cause death. Couch, C.J., was of the opinion that firing was not in prosecution of the common object of the assembly and that there was not much difference between the first and the second part of Section 149. He said:

"At first there does not seem to be much difference between the two parts of the section and I think the cases which would be within the first, offences committed in prosecution of the common object, would be, generally, if not always, within the second, namely, offences which the parties knew to be likely to be committed in the prosecution of the common object. But I think there may be cases which would come within the second part and not within the first."

Jackson, J., held in the circumstances of that case that assembly did not intend to commit nor knew it likely that murder would be committed. Pontifex, J., interpreted the section to mean that the offence committed must directly flow from the common object or it must so probably flow from the prosecution of the common object that each member might antecedently expect it to happen. In the second part know meant to know that some members of the assembly had previous knowledge that murder was likely to be committed.

6. This section has been the subject-matter of interpretation in the various High Courts of India, but every case has to be decided on its own facts. The first part of the section means that the offence committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. It is not necessary that there should be a preconcert in the sense of a meeting of the members of the unlawful assembly as to the common object; it is enough if it is adopted by all the members and is shared by all of them. In order that the case may fall under the first part the offence committed must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused were members. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 149 if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed. The expression know does not mean a mere possibility, such as might or might not happen. For instance, it is a matter of common knowledge that when in a village a body of heavily armed men set out to take a woman by force, someone is likely to be killed and all the members of the unlawful assembly must be aware of that likelihood and would be guilty under the second part of Section 149. Similarly, if a body of persons go armed to take forcible possession of the land, it would be equally right to say that they have the knowledge that murder is likely to committed if the circumstances as to the weapons carried and other conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly clearly point to such knowledge on the part of them all. There is a great deal to be said for the opinion of Couch, C.J., in Sabid Ali case [(1873) 20 WR 5 Cr] that when an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true; there may be cases which would come within the second part, but not within the first. The distinction between the two parts of Section 149, Indian Penal Code cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined whether the offence committed falls within the first part of Section 149 as explained above or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part."

102. The principle, governing application of Section 149 IPC to an individual, part of an unlawful assembly, is always a matter of fact in each case to be gathered from the evidence on record. In this regard, reference may be made to Lalji and others v. State of U.P., (1989) 1 SCC 437, where the Supreme Court remarked:

"8. ..... The two essentials of the section are the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly and that such offence must have been committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or must be such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. Not every person is necessarily guilty but only those who share in the common object. The common object of the assembly must be one of the five objects mentioned in Section 141 IPC. Common object of the unlawful assembly can be gathered from the nature of the assembly, arms used by them and the behaviour of the assembly at or before scene of occurrence. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case.

103. Also relevant to the point are the principles laid down in Gangadhar Behera and others v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381, where it was observed by the Supreme Court:

"23. Common object is different from a common intention as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before the attack. It is enough if each has the same object in view and their number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object. The common object of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances. It may be gathered from the course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage of the incident is essentially a question of fact to be determined, keeping in view the nature of the assembly, the arms carried by the members, and the behaviour of the members at or near the scene of the incident. It is not necessary under law that in all cases of unlawful assembly, with an unlawful common object, the same must be translated into action or be successful. Under the Explanation to Section 141, an assembly which was not unlawful when it was assembled, may subsequently become unlawful. It is not necessary that the intention or the purpose, which is necessary to render an assembly an unlawful one comes into existence at the outset. The time of forming an unlawful intent is not material. An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident on the spot eo instanti.

24. Section 149 IPC consists of two parts. The first part of the section means that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that the offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was a member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object of the assembly. An object is entertained in the human mind, and it being merely a mental attitude, no direct evidence can be available and, like intention, has generally to be gathered from the act which the person commits and the result therefrom. Though no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down under the circumstances from which the common object can be culled out, it may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms it carries and behaviour at or before or after the scene of incident. ....."

104. The same principles were approved by the Supreme Court in Zainul v. State of Bihar, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2152. It was held in Zainul (supra):

"49. The expression in prosecution of the common object means that the offence committed must be directly connected with the common object of the assembly, or that the act, upon appraisal of the evidence, must appear to have been done with a view to accomplish that common object. In Charan Singh v. State of U.P., (2004) 4 SCC 205, this Court held that the test for determining the common object of an unlawful assembly must be assessed in light of the conduct of its members, as well as the surrounding circumstances. It can be deduced from the nature of the assembly, the weapons carried by its members, and their conduct before, during, or after the incident. .

50. To put it briefly, Section 149 of the IPC makes all the members of an unlawful assembly constructively liable when an offence is committed by any member of such assembly with a view to accomplish the common object of that assembly or the members of the assembly knew that such an offence was likely to be committed. However, such liability can be fastened only upon proof that the act was done in pursuance of a common object. .....

51. Undoubtedly, once the existence of a common object amongst the members of an unlawful assembly is established, it is not imperative to prove that each member committed an overt act. The liability under this provision is attracted once it is certain that an individual had knowledge that the offence committed was a probable consequence in furtherance of the common object, thereby rendering him a member of the unlawful assembly.

52. While ascertaining this fact, it is of utmost importance to consider whether the assembly consisted of some persons who were merely passive onlookers who had joined the assembly as a matter of idle curiosity, without the knowledge of the common object of the assembly, since such persons cannot be said to be members of the unlawful assembly. We say so because, the nucleus of Section 149 is common object."

105. Here, as the evidence shows, the members of the unlawful assembly were, by no means, passive or curious bystanders. They were one assembly, whose object was to do Shesh Bahadur to death. We have already remarked that the splitting up of the assembly into two groups was a modification of the modus of assault on account of the unexpected intervention by three men, to wit, Nirmal Pandey, Ram Pragat and Ram Shankar. The object of the unlawful assembly, that the assailants formed, was never abandoned. It is only that it separated into two groups to ensure that the object could be better fulfilled. Those, who went behind Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar, were acting in prosecution of the same common object to eliminate Shesh Bahadur, and all that they did was to obviate any interference by men, like Nirmal Pandey and his son Ram Shankar, who wished to dissuade the perpetrators.

106. If the action of the faction led by Sadhu Saran is to be seen and spoken of at the cost of some repetition, one cannot fail to notice that as soon as Sadhu Saran had shot Nirmal Pandey in a non-vital part of the body and was assured of the fact that he would not interfere in accomplishment of the object that the unlawful assembly had, and his son Ram Shankar too had continued his escape, this faction of the unlawful assembly returned with no further pursuit. Ultimately, the object of the unlawful assembly was not to murder Nirmal Pandey or Ram Shankar. It was to eliminate Shesh Bahadur, an object all the members of the assembly shared in common from the inception. It was never abandoned. All members of the assembly contributed to it in some measure.

107. As far the appellant Ramakant is concerned, much was said that he did no more than to wield a lathi, which he did not employ to deliver even a single blow. That, in our opinion, hardly matters. When he went along with Sadhu Saran and two others after Nirmal Pandey and Ram Shankar, he was acting in prosecution of the common object of the assembly to chase away men, who could dissuade members of the unlawful assembly in accomplishing their object of murdering Shesh Bahadur or interfere with the fulfillment of that object. Thus, he went with Sadhu Saran, who was armed with a country-made pistol, albeit holding a lathi, as his reserve force, to enable him to deal with the intruders, who had endeavoured to obstruct the unlawful assembly in the fulfillment of its common object.

108. In our considered view, therefore, the appellant Ramakant would be as much liable for the offence under Section 302/ 149 IPC as those who actually murdered Shesh Bahadur. The other offences, held proved against the appellant Ramakant, are beyond exception, and the evidence on record well establishes each of them. We are, therefore, not inclined to interfere with the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Sessions Judge, convicting and sentencing the appellant.

109. In the result, this appeal fails and is dismissed. The appellant Ramakant is on bail. He would surrender to his bail bonds in order to serve out the sentence of law imposed upon him. His bail bonds stand cancelled and the sureties discharged. In the event, however, the appellant does not surrender within a period of four weeks from date, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Basti, shall ensure that he is caused to be arrested and committed to prison.

110. Let a copy of this judgment be forwarded to the Trial Court concerned along with the lower court record for information and necessary compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 876
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 902 of 1988

Harish Chandra & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of test Identification Parade conducted.

Headnotes

Kidnapping - Conviction - Identification - Test Identification Parade (TIP) -Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 364/149, 368 and 147- FIR lodged promptly-place of occurrence and prosecution version corroborated by site plan and recovery of two empty cartridges- Plea of absence of sufficient light rejected in view of lantern, torches and nearby electric bulb-victim recovered from custody of co-accused on following day-had sufficient time and opportunity to identify appellants-in TIP, victim (P.W.2) and independent witness (P.W.3) correctly identified all appellants (identifier percentage 100%) and reiterated identification in Court. Evidence of child witness, being consistent, trustworthy and corroborated by independent witness, held reliable. Plea of prior acquaintance and challenge to TIP rejected. In case resting on direct evidence, motive held not very material. Conviction of appellants under Ss. 364/149, 368 and 147 IPC affirmed. Appeal dismissed.

Case Law Cited

Nil

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code,1860

List of Keywords

Test Identification Parade.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Utkarsh Garg (Amicus Curie), A.K. Roy, Sudhanshu Kumar Singh Counsel for Respondent(s) : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjiv Kumar, J.)

1. This criminal appeal under Section 374(2) of Code of Criminal Procedure,1973, (for brevity Cr.P.C.) by convicts Harish Chandra, Nazarul and Dulha is directed against the judgment and order dated 06.04.1988, of Sri S.B. Baishya, the then VII Additional District & Sessions Judge, Moradabad, passed in Sessions Trial No. 70 of 1985 (State Vs. Israr and others), under Sections 368, 364/149, 147 of Indian Penal Code,1860, (for brevity IPC), Police Station Didauli, District Moradabad.

2. By the impugned judgment and order, the Trial Court convicted appellants Harish Chandra and Nazarul under Section 364/149 IPC and sentenced them to undergo three years rigorous imprisonment. They were further convicted for offence punishable under Section 147 IPC and sentenced to undergo two years rigorous imprisonment. Fines too have been imposed with default stipulations. The appellant, Dulha, was convicted for offence punishable under Section 368 IPC and sentenced to undergo three years rigorous imprisonment and awarded a fine of Rs.1000/- with default stipulation. It was also directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. During the pendency of this appeal, appellant no.1, Harish Chandra, was not traceable and Mr. Utkarsh Garg, Advocate was appointed as an Amicus Curiae on his behalf to argue the appeal.

4. Heard Mr. Utkarsh Garg, Amicus Curiae for appellant no.1, Mr. Satendra Kumar, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Sudhanshu Kumar Singh, learned counsel for appellant nos.2 and 3 and Mr. Akhilesh Kumar Mishra, learned AGA on behalf of the State.

5. The brief fact of the case, as alleged by the prosecution, are that one Munawwar Hussain, son of Sabbir, lodged a written application (Tahrir) (Ext. Ka-1), before the In-charge, Police Station Didauli, stating therein that on the preceding night, informant, along with his son, Ashkar, was sleeping underneath a thatched shed, situated in front of eastern verandah of his house, where a lantern was lit as usual. At about 01:30 a.m., upon hearing barking of dogs, he was awaken and saw five-six miscreants had entered his house. It was alleged that one of them was carrying a gun, while the others were armed with lathi. All of them lifted his son, Ashkar, and attempted to forcibly take him away. Upon this, informant and his son, Ashkar, raised alarm, whereupon Shabbabul Hasan son of Mohd. Yusuf, Zaheer son of Abdul Aziz, Mussarraf son of Muzzaffar Hussain, Matloob @ Chuttan and other villagers arrived there shouting and flashing their torches. It was further alleged that all the miscreants kidnapped his son and fled towards the eastern jungle. The informant and others followed the miscreants, whereupon the miscreants fired two rounds of fire, due to which they could not apprehend the miscreants. It was further stated by the first informant that the miscreants were seen and identified in the flashlight of torches and in the light of a lantern illuminating there. The informant also stated that his son, Ashkar, was aged about ten years.

6. Upon this written information, FIR under Case Crime No. 218 of 1985, under Section 364 IPC was lodged against five-six unknown persons and the investigation commenced. During investigation, the Investigating Officer, S.I. Ibrahim Khan (P.W.4), recorded the statements of the first informant and other witnesses, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared its site-plan. He also inspected the lantern lit at the place of occurrence and torches and prepared their recovery memo. During the course of investigation, the kidnapped son of the first informant, Ashkar, was recovered and the name of appellants surfaced. Thereafter, their test identification parade (TIP) was conducted in District Jail, Moradabad. On the basis of test identification and other evidence, charge-sheets under Sections 147, 148, 149, 364, 452 IPC were filed against the appellants and non-appellants Bholu and Israr.

7. The learned Magistrate took cognizance of the offence and summoned the accused persons. They appeared and relevant copies of prosecution papers were furnished to them under Section 207 Cr.P.C. Thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial.

8. The appellants and non-appellants appeared before the Trial Court, where charge under Sections 147, 364 read with 149 IPC was framed against appellants, Nazarul, Harish Chandra and non-appellants Israr and Bholu, whereas charge under Section 368 IPC was framed against the appellant Dulha. The said charges were read over and explained to the appellants, who abjured the said charges, pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

9. The prosecution, in order to prove its case, has examined eight witnesses namely, Munawwar (P.W.1), (first informant), Ashkar (P.W.2) (son of first informant), Zabir Hussain (P.W.3), A.S.I. Ibrahim Khan (P.W.4), S.S.I. Babu Ram (P.W.5), H.C. Prem Shankar Saxena (P.W.6), Constable Kunwar Pal Singh (P.W.7) and Constable Karan Singh (P.W.8). Their testimony, in brief, is enumerated as under.

10. P.W.1 Munawwar is the first informant and father of abducted Ashkar. He, in his examination-in-chief, has deposed that at the time of incident, his son Ashkar was aged about ten years. He along with his son, Ashkar, was sleeping under a thatched shed, where a lantern was lit. At about midnight, on the barking of dogs, he woke up and saw five-six persons near his cot. One of them was carrying a gun and others were armed with lathis. They forcibly attempted to abduct his son. P.W.1 further said that thereupon he and his son raised alarm. Matloob, Zabir, Mussarraf, Zahir and others arrived at the spot, whereupon the accused forcibly abducted his son and fled away. The informant and others chased the miscreants, but they fired two rounds from firearm and due to fear, the informant and others could not apprehend them. The witness further said that they identified the miscreants in the flashlight of torches and light of lantern. He got the written application scribed from Iftiqar, which he has proved as (Ext. Ka-1) and said that he had handed over this information to his brother, Matloob, for submission at the Police Station, as he himself could not go because his mother had died within an hour of the incident, due to the shock caused by the abduction of his son. He had gone to the jail for the purpose of identification of the accused, where he identified the appellant Harish Chand and said that he had seen him at the place of occurrence. He further deposed that prior to the test identification proceedings in jail, he had not seen him anywhere else in the meantime.

11. In his cross-examination, P.W.1 said that he neither knew appellant Harish Chandra previously nor was aware that he was resident of Tikiya Fatehpur, nor previously saw him in Tikia Fatehpur. In the same village his niece was married. Tikita Fatehpur is about two miles away from his village. The miscreants had not covered their faces at the time of occurrence. He had gone to village Bhatua to attend the marriage ceremony of Matloob and since then he never went there. He further said that there is a market in Zoya, which is about one and a half miles away from his village and that he rarely visited the said market.

12. P.W.2 Ashkar, in his examination-in-chief, has deposed that his house is adjacent to Matloobs house, where appellant Dulha used to come and he was well acquainted with him since before the incident. He said that Dulha is his maternal uncle. The witness has said that at the time of incident, he along with his father was sleeping over a cot in front of their verandah under a thatched shed, where a lantern was lit. At about 01:00 or 01:30 a.m. in the night, he heard the barking of the dogs and in the light of lantern saw five-six persons standing there. One of them was carrying a gun, whereas others were having lathi and torches in their hands. They flashed their torches in his eyes as a result his eyes got dazzled. They tried to kidnap him forcibly, whereupon he and his father raised alarm. Upon hearing the alarm, Zabir, Zaheer, Mussarraf and other villagers reached there, who chased the miscreants, however, the miscreants fired at them, due to which, they retreated. After covering some distance, appellant Dulha joined them, whereafter they took him to Chaudahpur on foot. One of the miscreants was addressing another by the name Israr and other by the name of Bholu. The witness further testified that Israr and Bholu used to visit his village along with appellant Dulha. He did not know their names, but identified them from their faces.

13. P.W.2 further testified that Dulha instructed Israr to keep him for about three days with him and then they would meet thereafter at the tubewell. According to P.W.2, Dulha stayed in Chaudahpur and the rest of the accused took him to Moradabad and on the way they threatened him that if he uttered any word, he would be killed. From Moradabad, accused Israr took him in a mini bus to Sambhal. On the way, at Fatehpur roundabout, they alighted from the bus and Israr attempted to take him to the jungle, whereupon he said that he wanted to go to aunts (khalas) house in a village at Fatehpur. Thereupon, Israr slapped him, so he raised alarm. The accused Israr was apprehended there by an Inspector who was passing by riding his scooter alongwith a constable. The Inspector conducted personal search of Israr and recovered one country made pistol and three cartridges from his possession. Thereafter, they were taken to the Police Station. P.W.2 further testified that he had gone to the jail for test identification of the accused, where he identified four accused. In court during his examination, he identified Israr, Nazarul, Harish Chandra and Bholu and said that he had seen them at the time of incident and thereafter in jail and in the meantime, he did not see them anywhere else. He did not know their name, but identified Nazarul by his face.

14. In cross-examination, he has said that Israr and Dulha are residents of village Hattauwa. Israr did not use to come along with his maternal uncle. Israr was one of the accused, who had kidnapped him and he had identified all the kidnappers. He had not shouted in Moradabad. Dulha intended to kill him and wanted his father to leave the village, so that he could grab his fathers property. He further said that Dulha had not covered his face.

15. P.W.3 Zabir Hussain has deposed that at the time of incident at about 01:30 a.m., he heard some noises and, upon awakening, heard 'बचाओ बचाओ from the house of Munawwar. He reached there having a torch and lathi in his hand. Many villagers had already reached there. He saw that one person was kidnapping Munnawar's son, Ashkar, by carrying him on shoulder and the other persons were following him, having torch in their hands. One of them was also having a gun. He further testified that he had identified their face in the light of lantern and flashlight of torches. They chased them, however, the miscreants shot two rounds from firearm and due to fear, they could not follow them any further and the miscreants fled kidnapping Ashkar. He had gone to jail for identification of the miscreants, where he identified four accused, namely, Bholu, Israr, Harish Chandra and Nazarul, who are present in Court. He had seen them at the time of incident and thereafter, in jail and in between, he had not seen them anywhere else.

16. In cross-examination, he said that his house is adjacent to Munnawar's house. When he reached at Munnawar's house, the accused suddenly came before him and shouted at him, thereafter, they fled towards the north. He did not see whether Munawwar had chased the accused or not. The accused were about five-six steps ahead of him while running. He did not notice that hand of any of the miscreants was cut off and had only seen their faces. He never went to village Hattauwa. He said that he had gone to the market in Zoya several times, where many persons usually visit.

17. P.W.4 A.S.I. Ibrahim Khan has said that Head Moharrir Hori Singh had written chik FIR on the basis of (Tahrir) (Ext. Ka-1) and he is well acquainted with hand writing and signature of Hori Singh. The same day Hori Singh had scribed G.D. No. 10. The witness has proved its carbon copy as Ext. Ka-2. He has said that the investigation was entrusted to him on 12.08.1983, whereupon he recorded statements of witnesses, reached the place of occurrence, prepared its site-plan, which he has proved as Ext. Ka-3. The witness further said that he inspected the lantern and gave it in the custody of the first informant after preparing its recovery memo (Ext. Ka-4). He also inspected torches and prepared recovery memo (Ext. Ka-5). He thereafter inspected the electric bulb at Zaheer's flour mill and gave it in the custody of Zaheer and thereafter prepared its recovery memo (Ext. Ka-6). He further testified that he had recovered two empty cartridges of 12 bore from near the place of occurrence and prepared it recovery memo as Ext. Ka-7. He reached at the place of occurrence on 13.08.1983 and prepared its site-plan (Ext. Ka-8). On 20.08.1983, he arrested Harish Chandra and took him in custody in the Police Station. He made G.D entry No. 44 at 23:50 (Ext. Ka-9). On 25.08.1983, he arrested appellant Nazarul, kept him masked (bapardah) and lodged him in jail at Police Station and prepared its G.D. No. 5 dated 25.08.1983, which he proved as Ext. Ka-10. On 13.08.1983, he handed over abducted, Ashkar Hussain, in his father's custody and prepared its recovery memo (Ext. Ka-11). On 23.08.1983, he conducted proceedings under Section 82 and 83 Cr.P.C. against accused Nazarul, Bholu and Ram Kumar. Accused Bholu and Dulha surrendered before the court and were sent to jail. The test identification of the accused was conducted and, after conclusion of investigation, charge-sheet against the accused Israr, Nazarul, Harish Chandra was filed on 04.09.1983, which he proved as Ext. Ka-12. On 23.09.1983, he submitted charge-sheet against the accused Dulha and Bholu, which he proved as Ex. Ka-13.

18. In cross-examination, P.W.4 said that accused Israr had disclosed him the name of Bholu and Harish Chandra. Ashkar did not tell him the names of Bholu, but told him the name of Harish Chandra. He had not stated about the body structure of the appellant Harish Chandra. He has also not stated that one of the accuseds hand was cut off. The lantern where it was lit, did not have any blackening (Kalaunch), therefore, he has not shown blackening (Kalaunch) in the site-plan. About 50-60 steps away from the place of occurrence, he found two empty cartridges and a firearm. The witness Ashkar had told him that he had seen Bholu and Nazarul in village Bhatauwwa and they used to visit appellant Dulha, who is his maternal uncle.

19. P.W.5 S.S.I. Babu Ram has said that on 12.08.1983, he was posted in Police Station Mainawar and was going on a motorcycle towards village Lalpur and upon his return to the Police Station, when he reached near village Milakpur, Madhupuri at Fatehpur roundabout at about 13:40, he saw a minor boy shouting. Thereupon, he reached there and saw a person was dragging him to take away. When he asked him to stop, then he ran dragging the boy, thereupon with the help of others, he apprehended accused Israr with minor boy Ashkar. Upon his personal search, a country made pistol of 12 bore and three country made cartridges were recovered and its recovery memo was prepared at the spot. The witness has proved copy of recovery memo as Ext. Ka-14 and stated that the original recovery memo is kept in the record of the case under Section 25 Arms Act. He has proved G.D. Entry No. 30 of the same day as Ext. Ka-15 and has further testified that he had inquired from the kidnapped boy at the place of recovery. In cross-examination, P.W.5 said that he had proceeded from Police Station after making entry in departure G.D. at 09:00-09:15 a.m. He further said that he had taken the signature of persons, who were present at the spot.

20. P.W.6, retired Head Constable, Prem Shankar Saxena is a formal witness, who has scribed chik FIR under Section 25 of Arms Act, upon recovery memo prepared by S.S.I. Babu Ram and made its corresponding entry in G.D. entry No. 30, which he has proved as Ext. Ka-17 and Ka-18, respectively.

21. P.W.7 Kunwarpal Singh is also a formal witness. He has deposed that on 26.08.1983, he was posted at Police Station Didauli, where accused Nazarul was kept masked (bapardah) in custody and even from the custody of the police station to jail, he kept the accused masked (bapardah) and did not gave any chance to any person to recognize him. In cross-examination, he has said that except for Nazarul, no other person was kept in custody.

22. P.W.8 Constable Karan Singh is also a formal witness, who has said that on 21.08.1983, he was posted in Police Station Didauli, where Harish Chandra was brought masked (bapardah) by S.I. Ibrahim Khan and was kept in custody. On the next day, that was 22.08.1983, he had taken Harish Chandra in a masked (bapardah) condition to District Jail, Moradabad and during the intervening period, he did not provide any opportunity to any person to see or identify the accused. He has said that the accused was kept in a masked condition (bapardah) through out and was lodged in jail.

23. After closure of the prosecution evidence, statements of the appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which they denied the prosecution case and stated that all the witnesses have deposed against them due to enmity. They further said that the witnesses knew them prior to the incident and, after they were apprehended, they were shown to the witnesses. Appellant Dulha said that he works in Moradabad and he got the news of the incident after three days. The appellants have not adduced any evidence in their defence.

24. The Trial Court after carefully appreciating the evidence available on record found that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Insofar as the present appellants are concerned, the Trial Court found the evidence against them reliable and cogent. However, the remaining accused persons were extended the benefit of doubt on account of improper identification and accordingly, the appellants were convicted and sentenced to the terms as indicated above.

25. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that there are major contradictions in the testimony of witnesses of fact, which raises serious doubt over the prosecution case. It is further submitted that there was no sufficient source of light at the place of occurrence, therefore, the identification of the appellants by the witnesses is highly improbable, doubtful and not worth credence.

26. Learned counsel for the appellants next submits that the appellants were already known to the prosecution witnesses prior to the incident and, therefore, the test identification proceedings were meaningless. It is next submitted that there is no motive for the appellants to commit the crime. It is contended that P.W.2, Ashkar, is a child witness and he has been tutored and has deposed before the court at the instance of his father, therefore, his testimony is unreliable and not worth credence. It is also submitted on behalf of the appellants that the test identification proceedings conducted in the District Jail show that some of the witnesses failed to identify all or several of the accused, therefore, the identification percentage is 50% or less and as such, the said identification cannot be relied upon and do not inspire confidence.

27. In view of the above, it is argued by learned counsel for the appellants that the prosecution case is not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the conviction and sentence of the appellants awarded by the Trial Court is liable to be set aside.

28. Per contra, learned AGA on behalf of the State has submitted that the prosecution case is proved beyond reasonable doubt. It is submitted that there was lantern illuminating at the place of occurrence and an electric bulb was also lit at the nearby place. The miscreants and witnesses were carrying torches, which they flashed and in this light, the miscreants were identified by the first informant, the victim and other witnesses, who reached at the place of occurrence upon alarm being raised. It is further submitted that the victim, Ashkar, was recovered the next day from the custody of co-accused Israr, therefore, Ashkar remained in the custody of the appellants for a considerable time, so he had ample time and opportunity to identify the accused.

29. It is next submitted by learned AGA that Ashkar had identified the appellants in District Jail during test identification parade and thereafter, in Court also. There are no major contradictions in the statement of the said witness, therefore, his testimony is consistent, trustworthy and reliable. It is contended that there was motive for the appellant Dulha to commit the crime, as he wanted to grab the property of the first informant and for this reasons, he attempted to kidnap the victim, so that first informant, along with his family, leaves the village. Furthermore, it is submitted that this is a case based on direct evidence, therefore, motive has no significance in it.

30. It is next submitted by learned AGA that the appellants were properly identified by the witnesses of fact and also by the victim during investigation in District jail and thereafter in Court, therefore, there was sufficient evidence against the appellants and they were rightly convicted and sentenced by the Trial Court.

31. In view of submissions of learned counsel for the both the parties and upon a perusal of evidence on record, it is clear that this case is based on direct evidence. In a criminal case, the burden of proof always lies upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. In the present case, the prosecution has examined the victim Ashkar, his father and other witnesses, who reached at the place of occurrence, to prove the fact.

32. In the present case, the alleged incident occurred on 11/12.08.1983 at about 01:30 in the night hours, when Munawwar Hussain and his son Ashkar, aged about 10 years, were sleeping under a thatched shed, over a cot. The FIR has been lodged on 12.08.1983 at about 07:10 a.m. The distance between the place of occurrence and the Police Station, as per chik FIR, is four miles. Therefore, within six hours, the FIR has been lodged. So the FIR was lodged promptly by the first informant.

33. So far as the place of occurrence is concerned, according to the prosecution, the place of occurrence was the thatched shed in front of first informants house in village Malikheda, under the jurisdiction of Police Station Didauli Amroha, Moradabad. The defence has not disputed the place of occurrence. P.W.1 Munawwar Hussain, P.W.2 Ashkar, P.W.3 Zabir Hussain have stated that the incident took place at the same place, as pointed out by the prosecution. The Investigating Officer has prepared site-plan of the place of occurrence, which corroborates the testimony of the witnesses of fact, examined by the prosecution. The Investigating Officer has recovered two empty cartridges from near the place of occurrence and it is the case of the prosecution, while retreating the miscreants shot two rounds of fire. The defence has not disputed the place of occurrence and has not suggested any other alternative place for the same, therefore, the place of occurrence in this case is fully established.

34. It has come in the testimony of P.W.1, Munawwar Hussain, as well as in the testimony of P.W.3, Zabir Hussain, who reached at the place of occurrence that five-six miscreants were present at the place of occurrence and one of them was carrying a gun, while rest of them were having lathi in their hands, and they kidnapped Ashkar. They picked up Ashkar and tried to forcibly take him away, when the alarm was raised. The miscreants were chased by the witnesses, who shot two round of fire from the firearm, which frightened the witnesses and, as a result, they could not chase and apprehend the miscreants and Ashkar was taken away. Ashkar has also stated the same version.

35. It is submitted on behalf of appellants that there was no source of light, so the witnesses were not in a position to identify the miscreants. According to the prosecution, when the incident took place, a lantern was lit there and the Investigating Officer inspected the lantern lit at the place stated by the prosecution witnesses, but found no blackness (kalaunch), where the lantern was kept, which raises doubt that it was lit at the time of the incident. But, it has also come in evidence that the witnesses had arrived there carrying torches, which they flashed and there was also light from the electric bulb lit near Zaheers flour mill. The Investigating Officer had inspected the torches and gave it in their custody. The defence has not cross-examined the witnesses with regard to the source of light, therefore, Zabir Hussain alongwith Ashkar also had an opportunity to identify the appellants at the time of commission of crime.

36. The Investigating Officer has recovered two empty cartridges from near the place of occurrence, which corroborates the testimony of prosecution witnesses that, when they tried to chase the miscreants, two round of fires were shot towards them.

37. Now, the question is whether it were the appellants, who had committed the offence or not. The prosecution case is based upon identification of the appellants. In this regard, the evidence on record shows that after the arrest of accused Israr, Harish Chandra and Nazarul, they were lodged in District Jail, Moradabad and their test identification was conducted in jail on 01.09.1983, where witnesses Ashkar, Mussaraf, Zaheer, Shababul and Zabir identified them correctly. Non-appellant Bholu was also lodged in District Jail, Moradabad, where his test identification was conducted on 16.09.1983 and witnesses Munawwar, Shababul Hasan, Zaheer, Mussaraf, Zabir were produced to identify him and out of them only Zabir identified him correctly. The test identification was conducted during investigation. Its concerned documents are placed on record by the prosecution. The defence has admitted the genuineness of these documents, which are proved as Exts. Ka-20 and Ka-21. Therefore, these documents are admissible in evidence. The defence has not raised any question during trial or at the appellate stage that the test identification was not conducted properly and/or necessary compliance were not made.

38. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants that, in view of the above test identification, the identifier percentage is 50% or less, therefore, on this basis, the identity of the appellants cannot be said to have been confirmed and their presence at the place of incident cannot be established.

39. I do not agree with this submission of learned counsel for the appellants as from a perusal of the documents relating to test identification, (Exts. Ka-20 and Ka-21), it is clear that Israr, Harish Chandra, Nazarul were put for identification by abducted Ashkar, who identified all of them correctly, so his identifier percentage is 100%. Similarly Mussaraf, Zaheer, Shababul and Zabir have also identified all of them correctly and Zabir has been examined as P.W.3. Therefore, the identification percentage of these witnesses is also 100%. From a perusal of test identification memo relating to non-appellant Bholu, it is clear that he has not been correctly identified by Munawwar, Shababul, Zaheer and Mussaraf, and only Zabir has identified him correctly. Bholu has not been presented for identification before Ashkar. More importantly, Ashkar and Zabir have correctly identified all the appellants in court also, at the time of their examination.

40. Therefore, looking into the combined identification of all the three appellants, the test identification percentage of witness Ashkar and Zabir is 100%, because they have correctly identified them. The identifier percentage of Zabir has been 100% and he has been examined as P.W.3. So the prosecution has examined two witnesses of fact, namely, Ashkar and Zabir, whose test identification is 100%.

41. Here, it is relevant to mention that the kidnapped Ashkar was recovered from the custody of Israr the next day, so he remained with the all the accused for a considerable period of time and thus, he had enough time and opportunity to identify them correctly. Here, it is also relevant to mention that within ten days, the test identification was carried out, where Zabir Hussain identified all the appellants correctly. It has come in the statement of P.W.7 and P.W.8 that appellants Harish Chandra and Nazarul were kept masked (bapardah) throughout and nobody was given any opportunity to see them before they were lodged in jail. Therefore, the above evidence proves that test identification by Zabir Hussain and Ashkar was proper, both in jail as well as in court.

42. So far as the testimony of P.W.1, Munawwar Hussain, is concerned, it supports the prosecution story to the extent that at the time of incident, Ashkar was kidnapped from outside his house, but as P.W.1, Munawwar Hussain, could identify only one accused i.e. Harish Chandra, and could not identify three other accused, who were putforth for test identification, therefore, his test identifier percentage is 25% and is thus not reliable.

43. There is no requirement in law that the prosecution has to examine all the witnesses to prove its case. As it has come in the statement of P.W.2, Ashkar, that he knew appellant Dulha prior to the incident and who used to come to his village and is his uncles brother-in-law, therefore, Dulhas identification was not required from Ashkar and he has identified appellant Dulha in Court, when he was produced for recording of statement.

44. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants that the evidence of P.W.2 Ashkar is not reliable, as he was a child witness, who is prone to be tutored by his father. I do not agree with this submission. No doubt, the evidence of child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus, he is an easy prey to tutoring. The evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration before it is relied upon. But, in the present case, it was Ashkar, who was kidnapped and next day he was recovered from the custody of Israr. Within 18 days from the incident, he was brought to District Jail Moradabad, where he correctly identified the appellants. Again in Court, he correctly identified them. His testimony is throughout consistent and reliable. He has been cross-examined at length, but no major contradiction has come out in his testimony to discredit him. His testimony is corroborated by P.W.3 Zabir, who is an independent witness and also to a certain extent by his father. There is no evidence that Zabir had any enmity against the appellants, which could prompt him to depose falsely against them. Therefore, the contention on behalf of appellants has no force and the testimony of P.W.2 Ashkar is reliable and trustworthy.

45. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants that the witnesses knew the appellants since before the incident, therefore their identification is meaningless. In considering such a plea, it has to be constantly borne in mind that unless a specific incident has occurred in which, the one has come to the notice of the other, it cannot be said that they knew each other, for it is universal experience that a casual glance at passersby hardly ever leaves an impression on the mind. If the accused hails from a distant place, it can be unhesitatingly assumed that he was, a total stranger. It might be stressed that in all such cases the Court is not required to satisfy itself positively that the witness knew the accused from before, but only that there is reasonable ground for the belief that this was so. No evidence of any kind is adduced on behalf of appellants to show that the witnesses knew them since before and not a single incident of any kind has been mentioned and proved on their behalf. Here, it is relevant to mention that if the appellants were known to the informant and witnesses since before the incident, then there was no reason for the first informant to not name them in FIR.

46. The witnesses examined on behalf of the prosecution have denied it, except for P.W.2 Ashkar, who stated that Dulha was known to him since before the incident and whom he identified in Court. Here, it is relevant to mention that Dulha was not present at the place of incident and he met on the way to rest of the accused, after they kidnapped Ashkar. The defence has not adduced any evidence to prove that appellants were already known to the witnesses prior to the incident. All the appellants lived separately and are resident of different places, having no relationship with each other, therefore, there appears to be no reason for the first informant to falsely implicate all of them in the present case. There also exists no valid ground to suggest that the local police had any enmity against the appellants.

47. P.W.2 Ashkar has stated that Dulha intended to kidnap him so that his father would leave the village, enabling Dulha to grab his land. Here, it is relevant to mention that Dulha lives in the same village with his brother-in-law and he is brother-in-law of first informants real brother. So there could have been a reason for the appellant Dulha to commit this crime to capture first informants land, as he did not accompany the other accused at the scene of crime, but later met them, so that the first informant and other witnesses could not have any opportunity to identify him and as a result he has not been named in the FIR, then on this ground his involvement in the crime cannot be doubted.

48. As discussed above, the identifier percentage of Ashkar and Zabir is 100%, which supports the prosecution case. So far as the identifier percentage with regard to Ashkar is concerned, it is not very material also because Ashkar was kidnapped from outside his house and he was later recovered next day from co-accused Isrars custody, which fact is duly proved by P.W.5, S.S.I. Babu Ram, who was then posted as Sub-Inspector at another Police Station and captured him, when Ashkar cried and raised alarm. So Ashkar had sufficient time and opportunity to identify the miscreants. Ashkar has testified that Dulha met the accused persons on the way, who directed the other accused to keep him safely for three days, and thereafter, his work would be completed.

49. P.W.3, Zabir Hussain, is an independent witness, who reached at the place of incident upon alarm and he has also correctly identified all the appellants in jail and also in Court. There is no evidence to show that he had any enmity against the appellants. His testimony has been consistent throughout, therefore, there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony. There is no evidence that, Ashkar was kidnapped so that he may be murdered or may be so disposed of as to be put in danger of being murdered.

50. In view of the above discussion, I come to the conclusion that the prosecution evidence is trustworthy and reliable and it is proved that the appellants were identified properly by the witnesses Ashkar and Zabir Hussain. The motive to commit the crime is not very material, as this case is based on direct evidence. Therefore, the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, so far as the appellants are concerned. Thus, the Trial Court has appreciated the evidence on record correctly and reached at the right conclusion towards the guilt of the appellants and, accordingly, rightly convicted and sentenced them to the terms as indicated above.

51. Thus, this Criminal Appeal preferred by the appellants, Harish Chandra, Nazarul and Dulha has no force and it is, hereby, dismissed and the conviction and sentence passed by the learned Trial Court stands affirmed.

52. Appellant No.2 is lodged in Jail. He is directed to serve out the remaining part of sentence imposed upon him by the Trial Court. During the course of hearing of this appeal, appellant nos.1 and 3 were not traceable. The Trial Court is directed to issue non-bailable warrants against them and lodge them in jail to serve out the remaining part of sentence.

53. A copy of this judgment along with the trial court record be sent to the court concerned for information and necessary compliance.

54. Mr. Utkarsh Garg, Advocate was appointed an Amicus Curiae in the instant case. He has rendered valuable assistance to the Court. The Court quantifies Rs.10,000/- to be paid to Mr. Utkarsh Garg, Advocate towards fee for the able assitance provided by him in hearing of the present criminal appeal. The said payment shall be made by the Legal Services Committee, High Court, Allahabad within one month from today.

(2026) 5 ILRA 887
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJESH SINGH CHAUHAN, J.
THE HON'BLE ABDHESH KUMAR CHAUDHARY, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1789 of 2016

Mohammad Anees ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of dying declaration recorded by the Magistrate.

Headnotes

Dying declaration-Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 302 -non-examination of the Investigating Officer-non-production of the Inquest report- failure to prove the place of occurrence-non-production of the alleged weapons-and questionable inadmissibility of the dying declaration -has left the case without corroborative support- place of occurrence and the manner is under doubt-trial conducted are vitiated by serious lapses and unexplained omissions-dismissal of the depositions of D.W.-1 and D.W.-2, on the ground of inconsistency with D.W.-3, -bad-Dying declaration-the Magistrate failed to give the basis for his satisfaction as to the mental fitness of the deceased-impugned order bad-Appeal allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Paparambaka Rosamma v. State of A.P., reported in (1999) 7 SCC 695
2. Sujeet Vs State of Uttar Pradesh (Criminal Appeal No. 1633 of 2022)
3. State of Haryana Vs Harpal, reported in AIR 1978 SC 1530
4. Chacko v. State of Kerala, reported in (2003) 1 SCC 112
5. Lokesh and Ors. Vs. State of U.P. (Criminal Appeal No.1371 of 2015, decided on 28.01.2023), reported in 2023 (3) ADJ 47
6. Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (2002) 6 SCC 710
7. Kanchy Komuramma Vs. State of A.P. reported in 1996 SCC (Cri) 31
8. Syed Ibrahim vs. State of A.P., reported in (2006) 10 SCC 601
9. Irfan @ Naka Vs. State of U.P. reported as 2023 INSC 758

List of Acts

1. The Indian Penal Code, 1860
2. Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Dying declaration; 90% burn injuries; mentally fit; without corroborative support; defective investigation.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Mohammad Mustafa Khan, Furkan Khan Counsel for Respondent(s) : Govt. Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdhesh Kumar Chaudhary, J.)

1. The present Criminal Appeal under Section 374 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short Cr.P.C.) has been filed by the appellant/accused- Mohammad Anees, against the judgment and order dated 06.10.2016, passed by the Learned Additional Sessions Judge (F.T.C.), Court No. 36, Barabanki in Sessions Trial No. 52 of 2013 (State Vs. Mohd. Anees and others), arising out of Crime No. 293 of 2012, relating to Police Station - Zaidpur, District Barabanki, wherein he has been convicted and sentenced for the substantive offence under Section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 20,000/-, and, in default of payment of the fine, to undergo an additional six months rigorous imprisonment.

CASE OF THE PROSECUTION

2. The case of the prosecution, as delineated by the learned Trial Court in the impugned judgment, is briefly enumerated as herein under:

2.1 The complainant, Mohd. Arif, son of Peer Muhammad, resident of Tehsil and Police Station Fatehpur, District Barabanki, submitted a written tahrir dated 30.8.2012 (Exhibit Ka-3) to the Station House Officer, Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki, stating that his younger sister (Smt. Shanno) had been married to Mohd. Anees (Appellant), son of Mohd. Sadiq, resident of Zaidpur, Mohalla- Chhota Imambara, Police Station- Zaidpur, District Barabanki, in the year 2006.

2.2 Shortly after the marriage, the complainant's sister was subjected to persistent harassment and cruelty by her husband and in-laws on account of demands for dowry. Despite the complainant's efforts to meet such demands to the extent possible and his attempts to mediate for marital harmony, the harassment progressively intensified. The complainant's sister, described as a simple and well-mannered woman nurtured in traditional values, steadfastly opposed the idea of divorce.

2.3 Ultimately, on 29.08.2012, the complainant's sister was allegedly confined within her matrimonial home and set ablaze by her in-laws, resulting in severe burn injuries. Neighbours, upon discovering her in a critical condition, arranged for her admission to the District Hospital, Barabanki, and informed the complainant telephonically. Upon the family's arrival at the hospital, no representatives from the in-laws' side were present. Given the deteriorating condition of the victim, she was referred to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, where she remained in a precarious state.

2.4 The complainant, invoking these dire circumstances, implored the authorities to register a First Information Report forthwith and initiate stringent legal action against the entire family of the appellant viz., (1) Mohd. Anees, son of Mohd. Sadiq; (husband of the deceased) (2) Mohd. Raees, son of Mohd. Sadiq; (brother-in-law/devar) (3) Mohd. Latif, son of Mohd. Sadiq; (brother-in-law) (4) Mohd. Shamim (husband of the sister-in-law); (5) Smt. Husna, daughter of Mohd. Sadiq; (sister-in-law) and (6) Mohd. Sadiq (father-in-law).

2.5 On the basis of the aforesaid written tahrir (Exhibit Ka-3), a case was duly registered as Crime No. 293 of 2012 under Sections 498-A and 307 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 read with Sections 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, at Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki, on 30.08.2012 at 09:30 hours. The First Information Report (Exhibit Ka-1) was accordingly prepared, and an entry thereof was made in the General Diary of the Police Station, a carbon copy whereof is marked as Exhibit Ka-2.

3. In the interregnum, on 29.08.2012, Dr. Sharoor Ali (P.W.-5), Emergency Medical Officer, Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow issued a certificate attesting that the injured, Majrooba Shanno, who had been admitted in a burnt condition, was mentally sound and fit to record her statement. Thereupon, her dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-4) was recorded by Shri Vinod Kumar (P.W.-6), Additional City Magistrate-I, Lucknow.

4. Upon receipt of information regarding the demise of the deceased, Shanno, on 13.09.2012, Shri Sanjay Yadav, Executive Magistrate/Naib Tehsildar - Sadar, Lucknow, proceeded to the mortuary of the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, where he conducted the inquest/Panchayatnama proceedings (Exhibit Ka-7) in respect of the deceased's body. He prepared the requisite challan lash and other forms for post-mortem examination, affixed seals on the body along with a sample seal, and entrusted the sealed body, along with necessary documents, to the attending Police personnel present on the spot.

5. On 13.09.2012, at 3.10 pm, Dr. Prabhunath, Medical Officer of Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, along with his colleague, Dr. R.C. Gopal, examined the deceased and conducted and prepared the post-mortem report (Exhibit Ka-6). The following observations were recorded in the said post-mortem report:

"External Examination - The deceased was approximately 30 years old, 154 cm tall, and of medium build. Her body showed signs of postmortem stiffness throughout. Her eyes were closed and her mouth was half-open.

Ante-Mortem Injuries - Superficial to deep burns (septic) encompassing the entire body except the soles of both feet. The burn wounds exhibited pus, slough, debris, and granulation tissue. Upon dissection, multiple pus foci were noted in both lungs, kidneys, spleen, and liver.

Internal Examination - The brain was congested; lungs congested; peritoneal membrane congested; left cardiac chamber full, right chamber empty; peritoneum and peritoneal cavity congested; liver and gall bladder congested; spleen congested; pancreas congested; both kidneys congested; and the uterus empty.

The estimated time of death was 13.09.2012 at approximately 02:30 hours*, with the cause of death attributed to cardio-respiratory failure consequent upon septicaemia arising from the ante-mortem burn injuries, which were opined to be sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death."*

6. The investigation was entrusted to Shri Narendra Kumar Singh, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Sadar, Barabanki, who recorded statements of material witnesses, prepared the Site plan of the incident (Exhibit Ka-5), and upon the culmination of the investigative process, submitted Charge-sheets (Exhibit Ka-8 and Exhibit Ka-9) against the accused persons.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE TRIAL COURT

7. After filing of the charge-sheet by the Investigating Officer in Crime No. 293 of 2012, registered at Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki, against the accused persons, namely (i) Mohammad Anees son of Mohammad Sadiq, (ii) Latif son of Mohammad Sadiq, (iii) Mrs. Husna wife of Mohammad Shamim, (iv) Sadiq Ali son of Jafar Beg, and (v) Mohammad Raees son of Sadiq Ali, all residents of Mohalla Chhota Imambara, Village and Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki, alleging the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 304-B of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, and Sections 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 18, Barabanki, took cognizance thereof and committed the case to the Court of Sessions for Trial.

8. Two Sessions Trials, i.e. Sessions Trial No. 52 of 2013 and Sessions Trial No. 378 of 2013, arising out of the same incident and involving similar evidence, were consolidated, with Sessions Trial No. 52 of 2013 treated as the leading case. During the pendency of the trial, accused Sadiq Ali, son of Jafar Beg (father of the appellant), resident of Mohalla Chhota Imambara, Town and Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki, expired, whereupon the proceedings against him stood abated under Section 394 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

9. Consequently, the trial proceeded against the remaining accused, namely, (i) Mohammad Anees, son of Mohammad Sadiq, (ii) Latif, son of Mohammad Sadiq, (iii) Smt. Husna, wife of Mohammad Shamim, and (iv) Mohammad Raees son of Sadiq Ali, all residents of Mohalla Chhota Imambara, Village and Police Station Zaidpur, District Barabanki. On the basis of the prima facie evidence available on record, charges were framed against the aforesaid accused persons for offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 304-B, and, alternatively, Section 302 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, as well as Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961. All the accused denied the aforesaid charges, and pleaded not guilty, and claimed Trial.

10. In order to substantiate its case, the prosecution examined the following witnesses, the details whereof are as under:

P.W.-1	Jawahar Pal	Head Constable
P.W.-2	Mohd. Arif	Brother of the deceased
P.W.-3	Anisa	Sister -in-law (Bhabhi) of the deceased
P.W.-4	Mrs. Salma Bano	Mother of the deceased
P.W.-5	Dr. Sharoor Ali,	Formal witness, who issued certification of fitness
P.W.-6	Vinod Kumar	Formal witness/Additional City Magistrate III Lucknow, who recorded the dying declaration

11. Apart from the oral testimonies tendered by the prosecution witnesses, a series of documentary exhibits, duly marked and proved as Exhibit Ka-1 to Exhibit Ka-9, were been placed on record to substantiate the case.

12. The statements of the accused persons were duly recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. In their statements, accused Mohammad Anees, Mohammad Latif, Smt. Husna Bano, and Mohammad Raees uniformly denied the prosecution allegations, asserting that the narrative presented was entirely false and that the First Information Report had been lodged on concocted facts. They further contended that the dying declaration was fabricated. Specifically, (i)Accused Mohammad Anees averred that he was not present in home at the time of the incident and that the deceased had secluded herself in a room before immolating herself; (ii) Accused Smt. Husna Bano stated that she resided separately with her family in a distinct locality and was not present in the house of accused Mohammad Anees during the incident; (iii) Accused Mohammad Latif averred that he lived in a separate household from that of accused Mohammad Anees, with an independent family unit and ration card, and was not at the scene of the occurrence; and lastly (iv) Accused Mohammad Raees claimed that he had been domiciled in Village Anwari, under Police Station Kursi, District Barabanki, prior to the marriage of accused Mohammad Anees and was not present on the date of the incident.

13. In defence, oral evidence was adduced on behalf of the accused by examining Manohar Lal as Defence Witness No.1 (D.W.-1); Sunny Kumar as D.W.-2; and Reshma, a ten-year-old daughter of the deceased Shanno and accused Mohammad Anees, as D.W.-3. With regard to documentary evidence in defence, photocopies of the ration card and identity card pertaining to accused Mohammad Latif, extracted from List A-112, along with photocopies of the ration card and electricity bill in the name of accused Smt. Husna Bano, were tendered and filed on record.

14. During the examination by the prosecution, the P.W.-1, Head Constable Jawahar Pal, a formal witness for the prosecution, deposed that he had prepared the First Information Report (Exhibit Ka-1) and the carbon copy of the General Diary entry (Exhibit Ka-2) in his own handwriting and with his signature, based on the complaint lodged by the informant, Mohammad Arif. In his cross-examination, no statement was elicited that contradicted or falsified his chief examination or the documents produced by him.

15. P.W.-2 Mohammad Arif, the brother and informant of the deceased Shanno, and a material witness for the prosecution, stated in his examination-in-chief that his sister Shanno was married to the accused Mohammad Anees in 2006 and had been living happily at her matrimonial home without any issues. Two daughters were born out of the said wedlock. He denied that the deceased had ever informed him of any dowry demands or torture by her husband Anees, brother-in-law Latif, sister-in-law Husna, or brother-in-law Raees. He recounted receiving information via phone, about three and a half years prior, that his sister had sustained burn injuries and had been taken to the District Hospital, Barabanki, from where she was referred to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, where she ultimately succumbed to her injuries. He admitted lodging the F.I.R. (Exhibit Ka-3) under a misunderstanding and asserted that none of the accused demanded dowry, tortured or burned the deceased.

16. Upon the prosecution's application, he was declared hostile and permitted to be cross-examined. In cross-examination by the prosecution, he reiterated his affection for his nieces and concern for their future but denied that this influenced his testimony. He firmly negated any dowry demands, torture, or involvement of the accused in the deceased's death, stating that the F.I.R. was filed at the behest of others and that he signed it without reading it on the second or third day after the deceased's admission. He clarified that accused Raees resided in Anwari village, accused Husna in Delhi with her husband, and accused Latif separately from Anees. No statement in cross-examination supported the prosecution case.

17. P.W.-3 Anisa, the sister-in-law (Bhabhi) of the deceased and a material witness for the prosecution, deposed in her examination-in-chief that the deceased Shanno was married to Anees in 2006 and lived happily at her in-laws' house without complaints. She visited her parental home frequently but the deceased never mentioned any dowry demands or torture by her husband Mohammad Anees, brother-in-law Latif, sister-in-law Husna, or brother-in-law Raees. She recounted the burn incident, which occurred about three and a half years ago, after which her husband Mohammad Arif proceeded to the District Hospital, Barabanki, and the deceased was shifted to Lucknow, where she died during treatment. She denied any dowry demands, beatings, or burning by the accused. Consequently, P.W.-3 was declared hostile on the prosecution's request and subsequently cross-examined.

18. In cross-examination, she acknowledged her concern for the deceased's two daughters, Zeba and Sahnoor, who live with their aunt and visit her, but denied that this caused her to withhold the truth. She categorically rejected suggestions of dowry-related torture, burning by the accused, or any settlement influencing her testimony. No statement in cross-examination advanced the prosecution's narrative.

19. P.W.-4 Smt. Salma Bano, the mother of the deceased and a material witness for the prosecution, stated in her examination-in-chief that her daughter Shanno was married to Anees about 9-10 years ago and had lived a happy married life at her in-laws', giving birth to two daughters without any complaints. She denied that the deceased ever informed her of dowry demands or harassment by her husband Anees, brother-in-law Raees, sister-in-law Husna, brother-in-law Latif, or the deceased father-in-law. About four years ago, she received information of her daughter's burn injuries and visited the hospitals in Barabanki and Lucknow, where she found her daughter severely burned and unable to speak. Her daughter subsequently died during treatment. Consequently, she was declared hostile upon the prosecution's application and was subjected to cross-examination.

20. In cross-examination, she expressed fondness and concern for her granddaughters, who visit her frequently, but denied that this influenced her testimony. She refuted allegations of dowry-related beatings, torture, or burning by the accused, or any reconciliation prompting false evidence. She confirmed that, after marriage, Husna and Raees lived separately, as did Latif. While she admitting the deceased's burnt condition and death, no statement supported the prosecution case.

21. P.W.-5 Dr. Sharoor Ali, Emergency Medical Officer at Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow, and a formal witness, deposed that on 29.08.2012, he examined the injured Shanno (admitted with burns) and certified her to be of sound mind and fit to give a statement. This certification enabled A.C.M. Lucknow, Shri Vinod Kumar (P.W.-6), to record her dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-4), which Dr. Ali proved through his testimony. In cross-examination, no statement contradicted his chief examination or the documents produced.

22. P.W.-6 Vinod Kumar, Additional Municipal Commissioner (A.C.M.), Lucknow Municipal Corporation, and a formal witness, stated that he recorded the dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-4) of the deceased Shanno, who had been admitted in a burnt condition at Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (Civil) Hospital, Lucknow. He proved the document through his testimony. In cross-examination, no statement falsified his chief examination or the exhibit produced.

23. The dying declaration recorded the deceased, Shanno (aged about 30 years), resident of Nagar Panchayat Zaidpur, having two daughters and husband Anees, stated that on the morning of the incident, around 8:00 AM, her husband has beaten her severely, poured kerosene on her, and set her on fire, with the entire household present. She attributed the act solely to her husband, without alleging overt acts, instigation, or dowry-related harassment by other accused.

24. In their statements recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, the Appellant Mohd. Anees and the co-accused categorically denied the prosecution allegations during trial, asserting that the First Information Report was fabricated and the deceased Shanno had committed suicide by locking herself in a room and setting herself ablaze. The appellant specifically pleaded an alibi, stating he was not present at home during the incident. Similarly, co-accused Latif, Husna, and Raees claimed separate residences and absence from the scene, supported by documentary evidence.

25. These statements, though not substantive evidence, presented a consistent defense narrative of suicide rather than homicide, which was weighed against the prosecution's case, particularly in light of the presumption under Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 which arises only if dowry harassment is unequivocally established.

26. In support of the defence during trial, testimonies of three defence witnesses were adduced, namely, Manohar Lal (D.W.-1), Sunny Kumar (D.W.-2), and Reshma (D.W.-3), which formed the bedrock of the appellant's case, portraying the incident as a tragic suicide rather than a deliberate act of murder.

27. D.W.-1 Manohar Lal, a sanitation worker employed by the Nagar Panchayat, Zaidpur, deposed that on the day of the incident, approximately four years prior, he and D.W.-2 were cleaning a drain near the house of Mohd. Sadiq (father-in-law of the deceased) around 8:00 AM when they heard screams. Sadiq emerged, shouting that his daughter-in-law had locked herself in a room and set herself on fire. The appellant Anees was not present at home. Along with neighbours, they broke open the door and extracted the severely burned deceased, who was subsequently rushed to Barabanki Hospital.

28. In cross-examination, D.W.-1 denied any inducement to give false testimony and affirmed his presence, though he admitted not being questioned by the police earlier. The trial Court discounted this testimony for lack of corroboration with D.W.-3's statement, which placed the appellant at home. However, this reasoning is flawed. D.W.-1 is an independent witness with no ace to grind against the prosecution or affinity to the accused. His account aligns with the defense theory of suicide, and the absence of police inquiry does not inherently impeach his credibility, as neighbourhood witnesses often come forward only during trial. Minor omission regarding the appellant's presence does not vitiate the core narrative, especially when weighed against the potential tutoring of the dying declaration.

29. Similarly, D.W.-2 Sunny Kumar, also a sanitation worker since 2005, corroborated D.W.-1's testimony in toto. He reiterated the sequence of events, hearing noise from Sadiq's house, Sadiq's cry of suicide, breaking the door (locked from inside), and the appellant's absence until after the extraction. In cross-examination, he clarified that his duty assignment was oral, as is common in such roles, and vehemently denied fabricating evidence at the accused's behest.

30. The testimony of D.W.-3 Reshma, the then 10-year-old daughter of the deceased and the appellant (aged about 4 at the time of the incident), merits careful scrutiny under Section 118 of the Evidence Act, which deems child witnesses competent if capable of rational answers. In her examination-in-chief, she stated that her mother locked the door and set herself on fire while she and her grandfather, Sadiq were sitting outside; the appellant was absent, having gone to buy vegetables. Neighbours broke the door, and the appellant returned later to rush the deceased to hospital.

31. During cross-examination, she revealed a prior marital altercation in which the deceased had beaten the children, leading to the appellant's intervention with a slap on the deceased and his subsequent departure before the fire. The trial Court seized upon this as proof of the appellant's presence and assault, corroborating the dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-4). A child of tender age, testifying years after a traumatic event, may exhibit minor inconsistencies without undermining the substance. The cross-examination disclosed a domestic quarrel but not homicidal intent; the slap and verbal abuse do not inexorably lead to murder, and the deceased's act post-departure supports suicide amid emotional distress. Resultant, D.W.-3's overall narrative aligns with D.W.-1 and D.W.-2, casted doubt on the prosecution's murder theory.

32. The defense also tendered documentary evidence, including photocopies of ration cards, identity cards, and electricity bills (Paper Nos. A-112/2 to A-112/6), establishing that co-accused Latif and Husna resided separately from the appellant. This undisputed material bolsters the alibis of the relatives and negates any common intention under Section 34 I.P.C., further weakening the dowry harassment narrative against the appellant, as joint family dynamics were absent.

33. On the basis of the material produced during the trial, the Court of Sessions held that the prosecution had failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt the charges under Sections 498A, 304B, and 302 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, as well as Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act against accused, namely, Latif s/o Mohd. Sadiq, Mrs. Husna w/o Mohd. Shamim, Sadiq Ali s/o Jafar Beg, and Mohd. Raees s/o Sadiq Ali. Therefore, all the above-named accused were acquitted of the said charges. However, the prosecution successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against the accused, Mohd. Anees s/o Mohd. Sadiq, on the basis of the dying declaration (Exhibit Ka-4). Accordingly, he was convicted for life imprisonment, along with fine of Rs. 20,000/-, and, in default of payment of the fine, further six months rigorous imprisonment, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, in Sessions Trial No. 52 of 2013 (State Vs. Mohd. Anees and others), arising out of Crime No. 293 of 2012.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THIS COURT

34. Challenging the aforesaid impugned Judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 06.10.2016, the present appeal being Criminal Appeal No. 1789 of 2016, was filed by the appellant- Mohd. Anees. However, no State-appeal has been filed against the acquittal of the accused, namely, Mohd. Raees (brother-in-law/devar), Mohd. Latif (brother-in-law), Husna, (sister-in-law), and Mohd. Sadiq (father-in-law).

35. It is evident to note that the bail/suspension of sentence applications filed by the appellant were dismissed by this Court. Consequently, the Appellant has remained in jail and as per the Custody Certificate filed on record, the Appellant is incarcerated for a period exceeding 13 years and 3 months.

36. That the hinge of the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant-accused is that all the fact witnesses were declared hostile, and although the dying declaration relied upon by the Trial Court, is not reliable. The same has unnecessarily been given prominence by the Trial Court to convict the Appellant. According to him, the sole basis for conviction is the dying declaration, which, he contends, has not been corroborated by any other evidence and, as such, the same cannot be made a basis for conviction of the Appellant.

37. He further submitted that the dying declaration is not trustworthy, in as much as, no satisfaction has been recorded by the doctor with regard to the mental status of the victim; the doctor merely declared that the patient was well oriented, and as such, according to the counsel, in the absence of any specific certification by the doctor with regard to the fit mental state of the victim/deceased, the dying declaration cannot constitute the sole basis for conviction. He further submits that, since the deceased had sustained approximately 90% burn injuries, the mental status gains significance, as technically a person with such severe burns could not be able to comprehend and give a coherent statement.

38. In support of this proposition of law, the learned Counsel for the appellant has relied upon the judgment of Paparambaka Rosamma v. State of A.P., reported in (1999) 7 SCC 695; and a judgment dated 09.02.2026 passed by the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Sujeet Vs State of Uttar Pradesh (Criminal Appeal No. 1633 of 2022).

39. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, submitted that the judgment and order of conviction are well reasoned, based on proper appreciation of evidence, and do not suffer from any illegality, perversity or material irregularity warranting interference by this Court. He further submits that the law is well-settled that a conviction can be based solely on a dying declaration if it is found to be voluntary, truthful and reliable, and no corroboration is required as a matter of rule.

40. In any case, the learned Trial Court has held that the dying declaration was corroborated by the testimony of D.W.-3, the minor daughter of the victim and the Appellant. The learned A.G.A. has also relied upon the judgment of Rajendra V/s State of Maharashtra, reported as 2024 INSC 422; which according to him significantly holds that ordinarily a dying declaration can be the sole basis for conviction and as such there is no infirmity in the impugned judgment.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

41. This Court has given its anxious thoughts to the facts and the submissions made by both the parties and perused the records.

42. Apparently, the prosecution had named six witnesses to prove the case against the accused/appellant, of which three are fact witnesses and the remaining three were formal witnesses, being (i) the Head Constable, who registered the F.I.R.; (ii) the Doctor, who certified the medical condition of the Victim/deceased; and (iii) Additional City Magistrate, who recorded the dying declaration. As far as the three fact witnesses are concerned, i.e. (i) P.W.-2 (Mohd. Arif), brother of the deceased and de-facto complainant, was declared Hostile; (ii) P.W.-3 (Anisa), sister-in-law (Bhabhi), has also been declared Hostile; and (iii) P.W.-4 (Salma Bano), mother of the deceased, has also been declared Hostile.

43. No doubt, it is well-settled by various precedents that the declaration of a witness as hostile does not ipso facto reject the evidence. However, there are also precedents which reflects that the portion of such evidence, which besides being advantageous to both the parties and helps the Court in arriving at a judgment, may be upheld and made admissible, although the same has to be subject to all scrutiny, and the Court must exercise extreme caution in its acceptance. The judgment of the Honble Supreme Court rendered in the case of State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra, reported in (1996) 10 SCC 360:AIR 1996 SC 2766;, throws some light on the said proposition which inter-alia holds as herein-under:

"it is equally settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favor of the prosecution or the accused but it can be subjected to closer scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defense may be accepted."

44. Since, it is available from the records that the Trial Court has convicted the appellant/accused primarily on the basis of Dying Declaration, therefore, this Court in its endeavour to examine the veracity and validity of the said declaration, would also consider the corroborative nature of the evidence of these witnesses. Having said that, it would be profitable to extract the dying declaration, which appears as Exhibit Ka-4, in the impugned judgment. The Dying Declaration along with the certification etc. is being quoted herein below :-

"Pt. Sanno W/o MD Arif is fit for DD.

Sd/- Illegible
29-8-12
6.18 PM
EMO
Dr.S.P.M. (Civil)
Hospital,Lko.

प्रश्न - तुम्हारा नाम और उम्र

उत्तर - मेरा नाम शन्नो उम्र लगभग 30 वर्ष

प्रश्न - कहां की रहने वाली हो

उत्तर - नगर पंचायत जैदपुर (बड़ा इमामबाड़ा) थाना
जैदपुर, जनपद बाराबंकी की रहने वाली हूं।

प्रश्न - कितने बच्चे हैं।

उत्तर - दो लड़की हैं।

प्रश्न - तुम्हारे पति का नाम

उत्तर - अनीस

प्रश्न - घटना कैसे घटी

उत्तर - आज सुबह मेरे पति ने मुझे खूब पीटा और पीटने
के बाद मिट्टी का तेल डालकर आग लगा दी।

प्रश्न - कितने बजे।

उत्तर - लगभग 8.00 बजे सुबह

प्रश्न - उस समय घर पर कौन कौन लोग थे।

उत्तर - पूरा घर मौजूद था।

प्रश्न - तेल किसने डाला

उत्तर - मेरे पति ने।

Right thumb impression of Shanno w/o Anis.

Sd/- Illegible
29-8-12
ACM-I

Pt. was well oriented during DD. LKO.

Sd/- Illegible
29-8-12
6.18 PM
EMO
Dr.S.P.M. (Civil)
Hospital, Lko.

45. Before, delving into the aspect of examining the context and veracity of the impugned judgment, in which the aforesaid dying declaration was held to be the sole basis for convicting the Appellant, it would be pertinent to understand the concept of the evidentiary value of a dying declaration. In common parlance, a dying declaration refer to statements relating to the cause or circumstances of the transaction leading to the death of the person making the declaration. The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 does not define the term dying declaration, but Section 32(1) of the said Act, states inter-alia:

"32. Cases in which statement of relevant fact by person who is dead or cannot be found, etc., is relevant -

Statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, or who has become incapable of giving evidence, or whose attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay or expense which under the circumstances of the case appears to the Court unreasonable, are themselves relevant facts in the following cases:

(1) When it relates to cause of death. When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that persons death comes into question. Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question…."

46. Apparently, the evidentiary value of a dying declaration is against the rule of hearsay evidence. However, the legal philosophy behind the value of such declaration is based on the Latin maxim Nemo moriturns praesumitur mentire, which means no person at the time of his death is presumed to lie and will not meet God with a lie in his mouth.

47. Although, a Dying Declaration is entitled to great weight, one must not forget that the accused could not have an opportunity to cross-examine the declarant to elicit the truth. Hence, the Courts have consistently held that, while examining a dying declaration, the Court should also be satisfied about the truthfulness of such a declaration and ensure the same has not been tutored in any manner.

48. Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act, 1872 does not prescribe any statutory guidelines for recording a dying declaration, nor the manner in which it should be considered while appreciating the evidence. But, the Honble Apex Court, in several leading decisions, while considering the facts of each case, has laid down broad guidelines and permutations for evaluation, which has to be seen while dealing with a case based on dying declaration of the victim/deceased. Broadly, the conditions for admissibility of a dying declaration depends on various factors, including that the maker of the statement must be mentally fit. In case the Court has any confusion or doubt regarding the medical condition of the declarant, then the statement would be inadmissible as held in State of Haryana Vs Harpal, reported in AIR 1978 SC 1530. Further, the Honble Supreme Court in the case of Chacko v. State of Kerala, reported in (2003) 1 SCC 112; delineated various factors which creates doubt over the authenticity of the dying declaration, including (i) high percentage of burn; (ii) age of the declarant; (iii) time gap between the burn injury and recording of the statement; (iv) non-availability of certificate of fitness etc.

49. This Court does not wish to burden this judgment by tracing the history of various precedents relating to the admissibility of dying declarations. Suffice it to say that a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the judgment of Lokesh and Ors. Vs. State of U.P. (Criminal Appeal No.1371 of 2015, decided on 28.01.2023), reported in 2023 (3) ADJ 47; contextually enumerated various factors which create doubt over the authenticity of a dying declaration in cases of victims succumbing to burn injuries. The observations of this Court provide a certain extent of guidance in that regard, and the relevant paragraphs of which are being quoted herein below:

"45. It has therefore to be seen as to whether the victim was in a position to make her dying declaration and whether necessary precaution had been taken by the prosecution to ensure that victim was in a proper mental shape to make a declaration.

46. The primary evidence that the victim was in a fit mental state to make a dying declaration is of the attending doctor who has been produced as P.W.-13. We have noticed that this witness in his statement has mentioned the critical situation of the victim. There is no satisfaction recorded by the doctor on the dying declaration that victim was in a fit mental state to give a voluntary statement*. P.W.1 has otherwise admitted that the victim was unconscious when she was brought to the S.N. Medical College at around 6:00 pm. He has also admitted that only after administering of first aid, the condition of the victim improved and she became conscious. It is not clear as to what kind of first aid was given to the injured victim but considering her serious condition, it is logical to expect that some short of pain killer may have been given to her.* In such circumstances, mere recording of satisfaction by the doctor that patient was conscious, was not sufficient. A specific satisfaction was warranted regarding fit metal state of the victim. No such satisfaction has been recorded by the doctor. Merely stating that the patient is clinically fit does not amount to a satisfaction with regard to fit mental state of the patient*. The ability of the victim to speak was severely compromised as per the prosecution evidence itself.*

47. We are therefore doubtful of the victim being in a proper mental shape to have given a conscious voluntarily statement which could qualify to be a dying declaration. The Magistrate/Deputy Collector who has recorded the dying declaration of the victim has also admitted that no questions were put to the victim regarding her fit mental state.

48. At this juncture, we would like to refer to the observation of the Supreme Court in Paparambaka Rosamma & Others Vs State of Andhra Pradesh reported in (1999) 7 SC 695; wherein the Court while referring to the dying declaration observed that mere statement that patient is conscious while recording the statement is not sufficient. In a case where injured had sustained 90% burn injuries, it was necessary to ascertain the fit mental state of the injured before accepting the dying declaration. Paragraph- 9 of the judgment is reproduced hereunder:-

"9. It is true that the medical officer Dr. K.Vishnupriya Devi (PW 10) at the end of the dying declaration had certified patient is conscious while recording the statement. It has come on record that the injured Smt. Venkata Ramana had sustained extensive burn injuries on her person. Dr. P. Koteswara Rao (PW 9) who performed the post mortem stated that injured had sustained 90% burn injuries. In this case as stated earlier, the prosecution case solely rested on the dying declaration. It was, therefore, necessary for the prosecution to prove the dying declaration being genuine, true and free from all doubts and it was recorded when the injured was in a fit state of mind*. In our opinion, the certificate appended to the dying declaration at the end by Dr. Smt. K.Vishnupriya Devi (PW 10) did not comply with the requirement inasmuch as she has failed to certify that the injured was in a fit state of mind at the time of recording the dying declaration.* The certificate of the said expert at the end only says that patient is conscious while recording the statement*. In view of these material omissions, it would not be safe to accept the dying declaration (Ex.P-14) as true and genuine and was made when the injured was in a fit state of mind. From the judgments of the courts below, it appears that this aspect was not kept in mind and resultantly erred in accepting the said dying declaration (Ex.P-14) as a true, genuine and was made when the injured was in a fit state of mind. In medical science two stages namely conscious and a fit state of mind are distinct and are not synonymous. One may be conscious but not necessarily in a fit state of mind. This distinction was overlooked by the courts below."*

(Emphasis supplied by us)

49. The observation made in the case of Paparambaka Rosamma (supra) has been reiterated in a subsequent decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Naresh Kumar Vs. Kalawati & Others reported in (2021) (16) SCC 158*, wherein the Supreme Court after referring to the above quoted paragraph no.9 observed as under in para-13:-*

"13. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, considering that the statements of the deceased have vacillated, there is no evidence about the fitness of mind of the deceased to make the dying declaration including the presence of the Doctor, the veracity and truthfulness of the dying declaration remains suspect. It would not be safe to simply reject the probable defence of suicide, to reverse the acquittal and convict the respondents."

50. The statement of the Magistrate/Deputy Collector is categorical that the contents of the dying declaration were not read out to the victim and no satisfaction in that regard is otherwise recorded in the dying declaration. In Suriender Kumar Vs. State of Haryana reported in (2011) 10 SCC 173, the Supreme Court questioned the dying declaration also on the ground that such a satisfaction about the contents of the dying declaration having read out to the victim was missing. In paragraph no. 25 of the judgment, the Supreme Court observed as under:-

"25. As per the prosecution, the incident took place at 2 a.m. on 26.06.1991 and as per her statement, the occurrence of burning was in the evening of 25.06.1991, that is, the previous day. The dying declaration did not carry a certificate by the Executive Magistrate to the effect that it was a voluntary statement made by the deceased and that he had read over the statement to her. The dying declaration was not even attested by the doctor. As stated earlier, though the Magistrate had stated that the statement had been made in mixed dialect of Hindi and Punjabi and the statement was recorded only in Hindi. Another important aspect is that there was evidence that Kamlesh Rani was under the influence of Fortwin and Pethidine injections and was not supposed to be having normal alertness. In our view, the trial Court rightly rejected the dying declaration altogether shrouded by suspicious circumstances and contrary to the story of prosecution and acquitted the appellant."

(Emphasis supplied by us)

50. As far as the present case is concerned, the dying declaration has already been extracted herein above. A facial reading of the said dying declaration would lead us to the fact that the doctor has merely recorded an assertion, which read as follows: fit for DD. It does not record as to whether the patient was fully conscious, comprehensible, or as to what was the actual mental state of the victim. The law provides for a specific satisfaction, which was warranted regarding the fit mental state of the victim. No such satisfaction has been recorded by the doctor. Merely stating at the concluding part that the patient was well oriented during DD does not amount to a satisfaction with regard to fit mental state of the patient.

51. The doubt of this Court in asserting the significance of satisfaction relating to the fit mental state of the victim gains further prominence in wake of other compelling evidence. It has come on record that the ability of the victim to speak was severely compromised. P.W.-2 (brother of victim) specifically stated in his examination-in-chief as well as in his cross-examination that, when he reached the Hospital, the victim (his sister) was unconscious, which means she was not only unable to speak but was not even conscious for that matter. Further, P.W.-4 (mother of the victim) has also stated in her cross-examination, after being declared hostile, that the victim had sustained burn injuries to such an extent that she was unable to talk.

52. Since, the dying declaration has been recorded in a question-answer format, which presupposes that the victim was able to speak which was readily understandable to the person who has recorded the said statement, it was incumbent upon the prosecution to also prove, or at least get certified by the doctor concerned that the victim was able to talk and that her speech was coherent and understandable. Alas, no such evidence has been found on record, and naturally a dent has been created on the veracity and admissibility of the dying declaration.

53. Further, the Doctor (P.W.-5), in his cross-examination, admitted that the victim had sustained 90% burn injuries and also deposed that patients with such injuries are generally not conscious. No doubt, conscious is a stage prior to being fit and one can suppose that a person is fit and he or she would be necessarily conscious, but being fit does not always mean mentally fit for recording of statement, as according to this Court, being fit may also indicate being fit physically or being fit mentally but not fit for recording of statement. Fitness can be of various degree. The law provides that the victim should be mentally fit for statement and not merely fit, as both can indicate different meaning and context.

54. Further, the statement that the victim was well oriented during DD does not come to the rescue of the prosecution, for the simple reason that, admittedly in the present case, the victim had sustained 90% burn injuries. In such a physical state, the victim would have been traumatized, and doctors usually administer medications to relieve pain, etc., but the effect of such medication would have to be examined. Such medication, or the traumatized condition itself, could impair mental clarity, may cause drowsiness, or even hallucinations, etc. Therefore, doubt would arise with regard to mental state of the victim and unless the doctor certifies the mental fitness of the victim and she being fully conscious and able to talk, the Court usually would be reluctant in relying upon such dying declaration. In this context, we find substance in the argument of learned Counsel for the appellant that, in the absence of any recording of satisfaction with regard to mental fitness of the victim, factually, at the time of making dying declaration, it does not appear to be entirely safe to rely upon such dying declaration to convict the appellant for murder.

55. In Paparambaka Rosamma (supra), which has been relied in the above noted judgment in Lokesh (supra), it has been categorically held that in medical science two stages namely conscious and a fit state of mind are distinct and are not synonymous. One may be conscious but not necessarily in a fit state of mind. According to this Court, fit does not mean a fit state of mind. Although a fit state of mind is a stage subsequent to consciousness, however, in the facts of the present case, at least two P.W.s have deposed that the victim was unconscious, and the Doctor himself have stated in his cross-examination that, generally, a patient sustaining 90% burn injuries is unconscious. In these circumstances, this Court finds that the responsibility and accuracy of recording of satisfaction of the Doctor relating to the mental health of the victim while recording of a dying declaration ought to be placed at a higher pedestal that the ordinary requirement of fitness of mental state of the deceased.

56. This Court finds that the certification of the dying declaration dated 29.08.2012 only records that the victim (deceased) was fit for DD and well oriented during DD, which, unfortunately does not meet the standard of an adequate medical certificate, keeping in view that the victim had sustained 90% burn injuries.

57. Further, this Court finds that the responsibility relating to the admissibility of a dying declaration is twofold. The first responsibility is that of the treating doctor, who certifies the mental fitness of the victim, and, the second is that of the Magistrate concerned, who records the dying declaration.

58. It is noteworthy that, while recording the dying declaration, the Magistrate has to satisfy himself, before recording the dying declaration, regarding the fit state of mind of the victim. Shri Vinod Kumar (P.W.-6), Additional City Magistrate-I, Lucknow, is the person who recorded the dying declaration in the present case. It is not clear from his deposition or otherwise from the records as to whether he put forth any questions to the victim to ascertain that she was in a fit state of mind, as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (2002) 6 SCC 710; while considering such a factual situation has observed that it is indeed a hyper technical view that the certification of the doctor was to the effect that the patient is fit for dying declaration and there was no certification that the patient was in a fit state of mind or conscious, especially when the Magistrate categorically stated in his evidence indicating the questions he had put to the patient and from the answers elicited was satisfied that the patient was in a fit state of mind where-after he recorded the dying declaration. Thus, recording and satisfaction of fit state of mind is a sine-quo-non for admissibility of any dying declaration and it does not matter whether the same has been recorded by the Doctor or the Magistrate. In the case at hand, the doctor merely stated that the victim was fit for DD, and the Magistrate did not care to self-examine the degree of fitness of the deceased which would have satisfied him that the deceased was mentally fit for recording of the dying declaration, by putting questions which could have helped him in arriving at a satisfaction. Unfortunately, the Magistrate failed to give the basis for his satisfaction as to the mental fitness of the deceased. He did not put any question to her to satisfy himself in this regard.

59. The Apex Court in the case of Kanchy Komuramma Vs. State of A.P. reported in 1996 SCC (Cri) 31; devised certain safeguards that must be observed by a Magistrate when requested to record a dying declaration. According to the said judgment, the Magistrate, before recording the dying declaration, must satisfy himself that the deceased is in a proper mental state to make the statement. He must record this satisfaction before recording the dying declaration, and should also obtain the opinion of the doctor, if one is available, about the fitness of the patient to make a statement. The prosecution must then prove that opinion at trial in the manner known to law.

60. No such exercise was done by the Magistrate in this case, as is apparent from his deposition. Thus, this Court has no hesitation in holding that both the Doctor and the Magistrate failed to meet and satisfy the standard as is required of them for the admissibility of a dying declaration. Further, the law is settled that, any dying declaration in order to appeal to Judicial conscious, must be complete and made under circumstances that leave no doubt as to its voluntariness and truthfulness. Ordinarily, such satisfaction should be recorded by the medical expert, and the certificate of fitness must receive so as to affirm the dying declaration voluntarily. The recording authority must ensure that the dying declaration is complete and made voluntarily, i.e., it should not be the result of tutoring, prompting, or imagination. The statement must reflect the deceased's mental alertness and clarity. However, in the present facts and circumstances, a serious doubt is created on the dying declaration being relied by the prosecution.

61. Another aspect of the matter is that D.W.-1 and D.W.-2 have deposed that they are sanitation workers and, at the time of the incident i.e. 8 AM, were cleaning a drain near the house of the victim. The presence of these D.W.s cannot be doubted, owing to the kind of work and the timing of their work, which is generally conducted in the morning. These witnesses have deposed, and their testimony remained unchallenged in the cross-examination, to the effect, that on the date of incident they heard screams coming from the house of the victim, wherein the father-in-law was shouting for help, stating that his daughter-in-law (the victim) ha put herself on fire and locked herself inside a room. These witness in chorus stated that, they both with the help of other neighbours, broke open the door and found the victim inside. Interestingly, both these witness also deposed that the accused was not present at that point of time at his house.

62. The learned Trial Court has shrugged aside the deposition of D.W.-1 and D.W.-2 on the ground that the same is inconsistent with the deposition of D.W.-3, the four-year daughter of the accused. The Trial Court refused to give any benefit of doubt on the ground of alibi to the accused; however, it is noteworthy that, even from the statement of D.W.-3, it is apparent that the victim had set herself on fire and locked herself in a room, which came to be opened by the neighbour by breaking open of the door.

63. According to this Court, The Trial Court's dismissal of the depositions of D.W.-1 and D.W.-2, on the ground of inconsistency with D.W.-3, overlooks the harmonious accounts of D.W.-1 and D.W.-2, both of whom are disinterested parties whose presence at the scene is explained by their occupational duties. Such corroborative evidence from neutral sources tilts the balance towards reasonable doubt, particularly when the prosecution relies heavily on a dying declaration that lacks independent corroboration regarding the act of pouring kerosene.

64. Further, it is apparent from the records that the Trial Court has recorded a factually incorrect version of D.W.-3s deposition in the impugned order to conclude that the accused was present at the time of incident, whereas, it is clearly visible from a plain reading of the deposition of D.W.-3, at page 2 of her examination, that she had never told that her father was present at the time of incident, as stated at internal page 18 of the impugned order. This Court is rather amused as to how the Trial Court, in its pursuit to hold conviction against the accused, can record a factually erroneous statement, which, according to this Court, also indicates a non-application of mind on the part of the learned Trial Court in appreciating the evidence in its right perspective.

65. This Court finds that the investigation and the trial conducted in the present case are vitiated by serious lapses and unexplained omissions, which strike at the root of the prosecution case. The present case is of burn injuries, but neither the cause of the burn nor, in case, the Dying Declaration is believed, the canister (jerking), and/or matches, and/or the burnt cloths, or the other relevant articles were recovered from the crime site. The incident if allegedly is of 8 A.M. in the morning, which according to this Court, is a time when people are typically awake and active. There is no evidence, nor any witness produced by the police, who could have proved the cause of fire. In fact, it is the other way around, as D.W.-1 and D.W.-2 have deposed that the victim locked herself in and set herself on fire. D.W.-3, the daughter of the victim, has also stated that her mother set herself on fire.

66. Although, evidence on record has come to the effect that the doors were locked and was broken to retrieve the victim, however, there is no recovery of the door or any evidence as to whether it was locked from inside or outside. There is also no evidence as to any attempt was made by anyone to extinguish the fire, or that any neighbour saw the fire or heard the scream (even though it was 8 A.M. in the morning) and rushed to the crime spot. The investigation is absolutely shoddy and half-baked.

67. Neither the kind of investigation carried out, nor the materials that were collected or would have come on record, have been attempted to be brought on record by the prosecution. Further, this Court finds that the prosecution did not produce the Investigating Officer (I.O.) in the present case, nor offered any explanation for his non-production. The failure of non-production of the Investigating Officer reflects a casual and perfunctory approach to the trial. According to this Court, the Investigating Officer, in view of the facts and circumstances of this case, is a material witness whose testimony could have shed light on the fairness and thoroughness of the investigation relating to the incident of the victim sustaining burn injuries, and the place of its occurrence.

68. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Lahu Kamlakar Patil v. State of Maharashtra reported in (2013) 6 SCC 417; reiterated that while omission of I.O. as a witness does not automatically vitiate the prosecution per se. However, where the I.O.'s testimony is essential to prove the substratum of the case and no other evidence is forthcoming, such a defect may prove fatal, as observed in paragraph 18 of the judgment, which reads as under:

"18. Keeping in view the aforesaid position of law, the testimony of PW 1 has to be appreciated. He has admitted his signature in the FIR but has given the excuse that it was taken on a blank paper. The same could have been clarified by the investigating officer, but for some reason, the investigating officer has not been examined by the prosecution. It is an accepted principle that non-examination of the investigating officer is not fatal to the prosecution case.InBehari Prasad v. State of Bihar[(1996) 2 SCC 317 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 271] , this Court has stated that non-examination of the investigating officer is not fatal to the prosecution case, especially, when no prejudice Patna High Court CR. APP (DB) No.271 of 2025 dt.15-09-2025is likely to be suffered by the accused.InBahadur Naik v. State of Bihar[(2000) 9 SCC 153 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 1186] , it has been opined that when no material contradictions have been brought out, then non-examination of the investigating officer as a witness for the prosecution is of no consequence and under such circumstances, no prejudice is caused to the accused. It is worthy to note that neither the trial Judge nor the High Court has delved into the issue of non-examination of the investigating officer. On a perusal of the entire material brought on record, we find that no explanation has been offered. The present case is one where we are inclined to think so especially when the informant has stated that the signature was taken while he was in a drunken state, the panch witness had turned hostile and some of the evidence adduced in the court did not find place in the statement recorded underSection 161of the Code.Thus, this Court inArvind Singh v. State of Bihar[(2001) 6 SCC 407 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 1148] , Rattanlal v. State of J&K [(2007)13 SCC 18 : (2009) 2 SCC (Cri) 349] and Ravishwar Manjhi v. State of Jharkhand [(2008) 16 SCC 561 : (2010) 4 SCC (Cri) 50] , has explained certain circumstances where the examination of investigating officer becomes vital. We are disposed to think that the present case is one where the investigating officer should have been examined and his non-examination creates a lacuna in the case of theprosecution."

69. In the present case, the very place of occurrence and the manner in which the victim sustained burn injuries is under doubt. Only the Investigating Officer could have clarified whether the alleged spot was inspected, whether oil-canister/jar, matches, burnt clothes, or other incriminating material were seized, and whether the recovery was consistent with the prosecution story. His absence deprives the defence of the opportunity to test the fairness of the investigation and leaves the Court without reliable evidence on where and how the incident actually took place. The omission of this witnesses is not a minor irregularity but a substantive defect. The Investigating Officer is not just a formal witness, but a material one whose evidence could have either confirmed or contradicted the prosecution version.

70. It is further noticed that the inquest report was not exhibited. Though not substantive evidence, an inquest is a contemporaneous document recording the initial circumstances of discovery of the body. In Pedda Narayana v. State ofAndhra Pradesh, reported in (1975) 4 SCC 153; the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained that the purpose of an inquest underSection 174 of the Cr.P.C. is limited to ascertaining whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances and to record the apparent cause of death, as observed in paragraph 10 of the judgment which reads as under:

"10...Furthermore, proceedings for inquest underSection 174of the CrPC have a very limited scope.Section 174of the Code as it then stood read as follows :

174. Police to enquire and report on suicide, etc.-

(1) The officer in charge of a police station or some other officer specially empowered by the State Government in that on receiving information that a person-

(a) has committed suicide; or

(b) has been killed by another, or by an animal, or by machinery, or by an accident; or

(c) has died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence; shall immediately give intimation thereof to the nearest Magistrate empowered to hold inquests, and, unless otherwise directed by any rule prescribed by the State Government, or by any general or special order of the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate, shall proceed to the place where the body of such deceased person is and there, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, shall make an investigation and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death, describing such wounds, fractures, bruises and other marks of injury as may be found on the body, and stating in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument (if any) such marks appear to have been inflicted.

(2) * **

(3) When there is any doubt regarding the cause of death, or when for any other reason the police officer considers it expedient so to do, he shall, subject to such rules as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf, forward the body, with a view to its being examined, to the nearest Civil Surgeon, or other qualified medical man appointed in this behalf by the State Government, if the state of the weather and the distance admit of its being so forwarded without risk of such putrefaction on the road as would render such examination useless."

71. A perusal of this provision clearly shows that the object of the proceedings underSection 174Cr.P.C. is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and, if so, what is the apparent cause of death.

72. Nevertheless, when such a record is withheld, the prosecutions case loses an important foundation.

73. Another serious infirmity is the failure to prove the place of occurrence. Ordinarily, this is established through the testimony of the Investigating Officer, supported by site plans and seizure memos.In the absence of such proof, the prosecution case remains uncertain. At this juncture, it is noteworthy that Hon'ble Supreme Court, while deciding the case of Syed Ibrahim vs. State of A.P.,reported in (2006) 10 SCC 601; in paragraph 11 has observed as under:

"11....But there is another significant factor which completely destroys the prosecution version and the credibility of PW 1 as a witness. He has indicated four different places to be the place of occurrence. In his examination-in-chief he stated that the occurrence took place inhouse. In the cross-examination he stated that the incident took place at the house of his wife, the deceased's mother. This is a very important factor considering the undisputed position and in fact the admission of PW 1 that he and his wife were separated nearly two decades ago, and that he was not on visiting terms with his wife. Then the question would automatically arise as to how in spite of strained relationship he could have seen the occurrence as alleged in the house of his wife. That is not the end of the matter. In his cross-examination he further stated that the incident happened in the small lane in front of the house of his wife. This is at clear variance with the statement that the occurrence took place inside the house where allegedly he, the deceased, his son, PW 2 and daughters, PWs 3 and 6 were present. That is not the final say of the witness. He accepted that in the FIR (Ext. P-1) he had stated the place of occurrence to be the house of the deceased. Though the FIR is not a substantive evidence yet, the same can be used to test the veracity of the witness. PW 1 accepted that what was stated in the FIR was correct. When the place of occurrence itself has not been established it would not be proper to accept the prosecution version."

74. Further, the alleged weapon of offence, i.e., Kerosene Jar, matches, etc., have neither been produced nor proved.

75. Thus, on cumulative appraisal, this Court finds that the prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt. The combination of the non-examination of the Investigating Officer, non-production of the Inquest report, failure to prove the place of occurrence, non-production of the alleged weapons, and questionable inadmissibility of the dying declaration has left the case without corroborative support.

76. The settled principle of criminal law is that, where doubt arises from the evidence, it must accrue to the benefit of the accused. In this regard, learned Counsel for the accused-appellant has rightly placed reliance upon the judgment of the Honble Apex Court in the case of Irfan @ Naka Vs. State of U.P. reported as 2023 INSC 758; wherein the Honble Apex Court has made the following observations:-

"63. It is the duty of the prosecution to establish the charge against the accused beyond the reasonable doubt. The benefit of doubt must always go in favour of the accused. It is true that dying declaration is a substantive piece of evidence to be relied on provided it is proved that the same was voluntary and truthful and the victim was in a fit state of mind. It is just not enough for the court to say that the dying declaration is reliable as the accused is named in the dying declaration as the assailant.

64. It is unsafe to record the conviction on the basis of a dying declaration alone in the cases where suspicion, like the case on hand is raised, as regards the correctness of the dying declaration. In such cases, the Court may have to look for some corroborative evidence by treating the dying declaration only as a piece of evidence. The evidence and material available on record must be properly weighed in each case to arrive at an appropriate conclusion.

65. In Sujit Biswas v. State of Assam reported in (2013) 12 SCC 406*, this Court, while examining the distinction between proof beyond reasonable doubt and suspicion in para 13 has held as under:*

"13. Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take the place of proof, and there is a large difference between something that may be proved, and something that will be proved. In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason that the mental distance between may be and must be is quite large, and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between may be true and must be true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between may be true and must be true, the court must maintain the vital distance between mere conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny, based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided, and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense."

66. It may be true as observed by Honble the Supreme Court in the case of Dharm Das Wadhwani vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, reported in (1974) 4 SCC 267, that the rule of benefit of reasonable doubt does not imply a frail willow bending to every whiff of hesitancy. Judges are made of sterner stuff and must take a practical view of the legitimate inferences flowing from the evidence, circumstantial or direct. Even applying this principle, we have a doubt as regards the complicity of the appellant-convict in the crime."

77. In the present case, it is difficult to sustain the conviction solely based on the dying declaration. As discussed above, the evidence on the point of dying declaration does not inspire confidence and cannot be relied upon. It is also well settled that where an investigation is tainted, unfair, or conducted in a haphazard manner, and the prosecution evidence otherwise fails to establish the case beyond reasonable doubt, the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt. The defective investigation, and the subsequent non-examination of the Investigating Officer during the trial, in the present facts and circumstances, further reinforces the conclusion that the appellant's conviction cannot be sustained. The prosecution has failed to prove the charge of murder against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

78. Learned Trial Court has erred in appreciating evidentiary value of the dying declaration, which was the only evidence relied upon for conviction of the appellant, and has not been kept in mind the settled law on the subject as discussed herein above. The impugned judgment is factually erroneous, as it has not taken into consideration other attending circumstances, relating to the non-production of crucial evidence, and has brushed aside the defence evidence without any plausible reason. The learned Trial Court has thus erred in convicting the appellant and sentencing him to life imprisonment for the charge of having committed an offence punishable under Section 302 of the I.P.C.

79. For all the aforesaid reasons, the Conviction order of the Trial Court and sentence imposed, cannot be sustained.

80. Accordingly, the appeal stands allowed.

81. The judgment and order of conviction dated 06.10.2016, passed by the Learned Additional Sessions Judge (F.T.C.), Court No. 36, Barabanki, in Sessions Trial No. 52 of 2013 (State Vs. Mohd. Anees and others), arising out of Crime No. 293 of 2012, relating to Police Station - Zaidpur, District Barabanki, is set-aside. The accused-appellant, Mohd. Anees, is acquitted of the offence punishable under Section 302 of the I.P.C. The amount of fine, if deposited, shall be refunded to the accused.

82. The accused-appellant, namely, Mohd. Anees, shall be released forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. The Trial Court record, along with a copy of this judgment and order, shall be transmitted to the concerned Court forthwith.

83. There shall be no order as to cost(s).

84. All pending application(s) shall stand disposed of.

(2026) 5 ILRA 909
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 27.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE ZAFEER AHMAD, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1981 of 2003

Khushi Ram ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of conviction order in case of minor discrepancies in evidences.

Headnotes

Murder-Indian Penal Code, 1860-S. 302-Appreciation of evidence-Conviction-Sustainability-Ocular testimony of prosecution witnesses found cogent, reliable and substantially corroborated by medical evidence-minor discrepancies- plea of ante-timing of FIR-omissions in inquest report not created any dent in prosecution case-mere existence of enmity not sufficient to discard otherwise reliable ocular testimony-guilt proved beyond reasonable doubt-Trial Court rightly appreciated evidence-no illegality or perversity found in impugned judgment-Conviction and sentence affirmed-Appeal dismissed.

Case Law Cited

1. Brahm Swaroop v. State of U.P., (2011) 6 SCC 288.
2. Ishwar Singh v. State of U.P., (1976) 4 SCC 355.
3. Mani Ram v. State of U.P., 1994 Supp (2) SCC 289.
4. Sudha Renukaiah v. State of A.P., (2017) 13 SCC 81.

5. Punjab Singh v. State of Haryana, 1984 Supp SCC 233.
6. Laxminath v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2019) 8 SCC 685.
7. State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram, (1999) 3 SCC 507.
8. Jugendra Singh v. State of U.P., (2012) 6 SCC 297.
9. Jaisy @ Jayaseelan v. State, (2012) 1 SCC 529.
10. Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (2000) 7 SCC 490.
11. State of U.P. v. Anil Singh, 1988 Supp SCC 686.
12. Himanshu Mohan Rai v. State of U.P., (2017) 4 SCC 161.

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code,1860

List of Keywords

Minor omissions; beyond reasonable doubt; minor inconsistencies with medical evidence; insufficiency of motive.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Khaleeq Ahmad Khan, M.K. Shukla, Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi (Ac) Counsel for Respondent(s) : Govt. Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Zafeer Ahmad, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Sri Pawan Kumar Mishra, learned A.G.A for the State and perused the records.

2. The aforesaid criminal appeal arises out of judgment and order dated 30.10.2003 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court No. 3, Sitapur in Session Trial No. 745 of 2002 (State v. Khushi Ram), arising out of Case Crime No. 215 of 2002, Police Station Manpur, District Sitapur, whereby the appellant has been convicted under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code,1860 (in short IPC) and sentenced to imprisonment for life along with a fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine, to undergo an additional one year of simple imprisonment.

3. Before adverting to the merits of the case, it may be noted that this Court has been apprised, while dictating the present judgment, that the accused□appellant has already been released on remission on 26.01.2019. However, since the present appeal arises out of the judgment and order of conviction passed by the learned Trial Court, this Court proceeds to adjudicate upon the legality and correctness of the impugned judgment on merits.

Prosecution Story in Nutshell:

4. The prosecution story, in brief, is that Mohd. Sher Khan, lodged a written report on 28.02.2002 stating therein that his brother Mohd. Umar @ Munna, s/o Ismail Khan, after watering the paddy field, had gone to rest in the mango orchard of Ramprasad Badhai , situated towards the north of the village, where he fell asleep. At around 12:30 P.M., the accused Khusiram, s/o Manohar, who was working as a labourer in the field of Shaami, allegedly reached the said orchard and, without any enmity, assaulted the deceased while he was sleeping and slit his throat with a spade (kudal), causing his death on the spot. It was further stated that the informant Mohd. Sher Khan, along with his brother Mohammad Saeed and other villagers, namely Ibrahim and Babu, who were present nearby, rushed to the place of occurrence and saw the accused fleeing from the spot carrying a blood-stained spade. They chased the accused, but he threw the weapon near the southern boundary of the field of Chandrabhal, situated to the north of the orchard, and escaped towards the northern side.

5. On the basis of the written report, an FIR was registered under Section 302 IPC against the accused, Khushiram. The investigation of the case was entrusted to S.O. Shashikant Yadav, who proceeded to the place of occurrence on the same day and conducted the inquest proceedings.

6. Upon completion of investigation, charge-sheet was submitted against the accused-appellant under Section 302 IPC Thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Session, where charge under Section 302 IPC was framed against the accused. The accused denied the charge, pleaded not guilty, and claimed trial.

7. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined Mohd. Sher Khan (PW-1), Ibrahim (PW-2), Zabbar Ahmad Khan (PW-3), S.O. Shashikant Yadav (PW-4), Khaleel Khan (PW-5), and Dr. Arvid Kumar Shakya (PW-6).

8. The defence, however, did not adduce any oral or documentary evidence in support of its case.

9. The following exhibits were produced and proved before the Trial Court:

Exhibit No	Particulars/Item
Ext. Ka -1	Written Report
Ext. Ka -2	Recovery Memo of spade (kudal)
Ext. Ka -3	Recovery Memo of bloodstained and plain earth
Ext. Ka-4	Panchayatnama
Ext. Ka-5	Letter to RI
Ext. Ka-6	Letter to CMO
Ext. Ka-7	Sketch of the dead body
Ext. Ka-8	Police Form no. 13
Ext. Ka-9	Sample Seal
Ext. Ka-10	Site Plan
Ext. Ka-11	Charge Sheet
Ext. Ka-12	Docket for sending the items collected to Forensic Laboratory
Ext. Ka-13	FIR
Ext. Ka-14	Copy of GD entry
Ext. Ka-15	Post Mortem report

10. The following material exhibits were produced and proved before the Trial Court:

Material Exhibit Number	Particulars/Item
Material Exhibit-1	Spade (Kudal)
Material Exhibit-2	Bloodstained Earth
Material Exhibit-3	Plain Earth

11. The statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein he denied the prosecution case in toto and stated that the FIR is false and fabricated. He further stated that the investigation has not been conducted properly and the charge-sheet has been prepared falsely.

12. He further stated that the complainant has given false evidence and that the written report was prepared in collusion with the police and the scribe due to election rivalry. He further stated that the witnesses have deposed against him due to enmity and party-bandi, and that PW-3 has also deposed under the influence of the complainant. He further stated that the recovery of the spade (kudal) has been falsely shown and it does not belong to him. He also stated that PW-5 is a relative of the complainant's family and is an interested witness. He further stated that all the witnesses belong to the same community and have falsely implicated him due to enmity. He further stated that the deceased and his family had enmity with several persons in the village and that no one had actually seen the incident. He further stated that upon discovery of the dead body, a false case has been foisted against him and the deceased was in fact killed by some unknown person. He lastly stated that Kunwar Bahadur Singh has falsely implicated him due to election enmity, that he has not committed the said offence, and he is innocent.

Submissions made by learned Amicus Curiae for the accused-appellant:-

13. Learned Amicus Curiae for the accused-appellant submitted that the prosecution case is wholly doubtful and unreliable. He further submitted that the F.I.R. is ante-timed and was not forwarded to the Magistrate forthwith, thereby casting serious doubt on its genuineness. He further submitted that the medical evidence does not support the ocular version and there exist material contradictions in the testimonies of PW-1, PW-2, PW-4 and PW-6. He further submitted that PW-2 is not a true eyewitness and that PW-1 and PW-2 are wholly unreliable witnesses. He further submitted that the alleged weapon of offence was not produced before the post-mortem doctor and, therefore, no medical corroboration is available; moreover, as per the post-mortem doctor, the injuries could have been caused by different weapons, suggesting involvement of more than one assailant. He further submitted that there is no credible eyewitness account and the real assailant remains unidentified, and that the accused has been falsely implicated due to prior enmity. He further submitted that the blood found on material numbered (in FSL report) 1, 2 and 4 was disintegrated and its origin could not be determined, while the blood on material number 3 was insufficient for serological examination. He further submitted that the deceased had enmity with several persons and the nature of injuries, including the severance of vital structures, has not been satisfactorily explained by the prosecution. He further submitted that the written report was scribed at the instance of the scribe, who himself had enmity with the accused, and in view of these infirmities, the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the accused has been falsely implicated.

Submissions made by learned A.G.A : -

14. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has opposed the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant and contended that the prosecution has successfully established the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. He further submitted that the FIR was promptly lodged and minor discrepancies, if any, with regard to its timing or dispatch do not affect the core of the prosecution case. He further submitted that the testimony of the prosecution witnesses, particularly PW-1, is natural and reliable and cannot be discarded merely on account of minor contradictions. He further submitted that the medical evidence substantially corroborates the ocular version and clearly establishes that the death was homicidal in nature caused by sharp-edged weapon. He further submitted that the recovery of the weapon of offence, though assailed, stands proved and the same lends support to the prosecution case. He further submitted that mere non-production of the weapon before the post-mortem doctor or minor lapses in investigation are not sufficient to discard an otherwise reliable prosecution case. He further submitted that the trial court has rightly appreciated the evidence on record and recorded a finding of conviction, which does not call for interference by this Court.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

15. PW-1 Mohd. Sher Khan, deposed that the deceased Mohammad Umar @ Munna was his younger brother. He further deposed that on the date of the incident, his brother had gone to water the paddy field and thereafter went towards the mango orchard of Ramprasad Badhai situated to the north of the village for rest, where he (deceased) fell asleep.He further deposed that at about 12:30 P.M., the accused Khusiram, who was working nearby in the field, came and assaulted his brother with a spade (kudal) and slit his throat, causing his death on spot. He further deposed that he himself was present nearby and on witnessing the occurrence, he raised alarm. He further deposed that upon his alarm, Ibrahim, Babu and several villagers who were working in nearby fields came to the spot and they saw the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence carrying the blood-stained spade (kudal). He further deposed that they chased the accused, who ran towards the northern side and after going some distance threw the kudal near the boundary (मेड़) of the field of Chandrabhal and escaped. He further deposed that due to the incident, an atmosphere of fear and terror was created in the village and the villagers stopped their agricultural work. He further deposed that thereafter Kunwar Bahadur Singh came to the spot and on his (witness) instructions, written report was scribed by him (Kunwar Bahadur). He further deposed that the same was read over to him and it is proved as Ext. Ka-1. He further deposed that he took the written report to the police station and got the case registered. He further deposed that thereafter he returned to the place of occurrence along with the police personnel. He further deposed that the inquest proceedings were conducted and the dead body of the deceased was sealed and sent for post-mortem examination.

16. During cross-examination, he deposed that the mango orchard of Ramprasad Badhai is situated at some distance from the village and described the location of surrounding fields, boundaries and pathways. He further deposed that the place where the deceased was lying was about 10 paces inside from the eastern boundary of the orchard. He further deposed that he reached the place of occurrence after hearing the alarm and at that time the accused was running away at a distance of about 20□25 steps. He further deposed that when the accused ran towards the field of Chandrabhal, they chased him for some distance but thereafter returned to the place of the incident. He further deposed that several villagers had gathered at the place of occurrence within a short time and he remained at the spot for about 10 minutes, thereafter proceeded to the police station. He further deposed that Kunwar Bahadur Singh, who was the Pradhan of the village, had arrived at the spot and got the report written. He further deposed that he went to the police station on a bicycle and handed over the report to the concerned officer. He further deposed that he reached the police station at about 1:00 P.M. and remained there for about half an hour. He further deposed that thereafter he returned to the village along with the police in a jeep. He further deposed that he had seen the accused inflicting the blow upon the deceased from a close distance. He further deposed that the blow was inflicted on the neck of the deceased and that the accused was at a distance of about two hands while assaulting. He further deposed that the deceased had gone to the field in the morning and that he did not know as to how long the deceased had been sleeping at the place of occurrence. He further deposed that if the deceased had not been sleeping, the accused would not have been able to assault him in such a manner. He further deposed that the kudal used in the offence had a handle of about two and a half hands in length and the blade was about eight fingers wide. He further deposed that two blows were inflicted by the accused. He further deposed that there was no enmity between the accused and the deceased to his knowledge. He further deposed that he could not assign any reason as to why the accused committed the murder of his brother. He further denied the suggestion that the deceased was killed by some unknown person or that the accused has been falsely implicated due to enmity or party faction. He further denied the suggestion that the report was lodged after deliberation or that it was prepared in collusion with the police.

17. PW-2 Ibrahim, deposed that about one year prior to his deposition, at around 11-12 noon, the incident took place. He further deposed that on the day of the incident he and one named Babu were sitting on the southern boundary (मेड़) of the orchard of Ramprasad, while the deceased Munna was lying asleep in the same orchard. He further deposed that accused Khushiram was also resting in the same orchard, along with his kudal. He further deposed that the Khusiram was working nearby in the field and was carrying a kudal. He further deposed that upon hearing the sound of assault, he saw that Khusiram struck Munna with the kudal and thereafter ran towards the northern side. He further deposed that the accused threw the kudal in the field of Lala of Chandpur and fled away. He further deposed that upon alarm, several villagers including Sher Khan, Shaid Khan and others reached the place of occurrence and chased the accused, however, he managed to escape.

18. During cross-examination, he deposed that he has been hard of hearing for the last 2-4 years and hears loudly, though he can see clearly. He further deposed that the deceased Munna was lying at a distance of about 10-15 steps from him towards the north direction. He further deposed that he had not talked with the deceased on that day and was not aware as to when he came to the orchard. He further deposed that upon hearing the sound, he raised alarm and within 2-3 minutes villagers gathered at the spot. He further deposed that when the accused was running away, people chased him but could not apprehend him. He further deposed that the police arrived after about half an hour of the incident. He further deposed that he did not saw the accused working in the field of one named Sami. He further deposed that he did not see the deceased coming to the orchard or sitting there and had only seen him lying asleep. He further deposed that Sher Khan and Shahid Khan came from the southern side of the village. He further deposed that when villagers arrived, about 10-20 persons gathered and chased the accused. He further deposed that he did not chase the accused, as he was not well, and could not tell that upto where accused was chased. He further deposed that he did not see the accused throwing the kudal and where the same was thrown. He further deposed that there were previous incidents of murder in the village, in which the family of the accused was either charged or were witness for the case and there existed factionalism. He further deposed that he did not know whether there was any enmity between the accused and the deceased. He further deposed that at the time of the assault, head of the deceased was towards south and his feet were towards north. He further deposed that he did not saw the spade belonging to deceased and the spade (kudal) found was that of accused, he became aware of this fact as everyone was saying the same. He further deposed that he had informed the inspector that Khushiram (accused) has murdered Munna but has not told the reason/ motive behind such act. He further deposed that the he has not told inspector that there existed any enmity between the accused and deceased and that accused was having a doubt that deceased was having an illicit relation with wife of accused. He further deposed that it is incorrect to say that he had not seen the incident or that he is giving false evidence due to enmity or village faction.

19. PW-3 Zabbar Ahmad Khan, deposed that he knew the deceased Munna, who had died about one year prior to his deposition. He further deposed that he had heard that the deceased was murdered near the orchard of Ramprasad Badhai by cutting his throat with a kudal. He further deposed that he had not seen the incident of assault. He further deposed that when the Investigating Officer came, he was called to the spot, where kudal was found. He further deposed that recovery memo of kudal was prepared and his signature was obtained on the same. He identified his signature on the said paper, which was marked as Exhibit Ka-2. Further when kudal was taken out from a sealed bundle before the Trial Court, he identified it to be the same which was sealed in his presence, which was marked as Material Exhibit-1. He further deposed that the Investigating Officer had also collected samples of blood-stained and plain earth from the place of the occurrence, the recovery memo of the same was identified by him, which was marked as Exhibit Ka-3. Further, he identified the same, when these sealed containers were opened before the Trial Court, the sample of blood-stained earth was marked as Material Ext.-2 and that of plain earth was marked as Material Ext.-3.

20. During cross-examination, he deposed that he had not seen anyone assaulting the deceased. He further deposed that when he was called by the Investigating Officer, he went to orchard where the Investigating Officer was sitting on a cot and the kudal was lying below. He further deposed that kudal was not brought from the field in his presence and he could not see as to from where it had come. He further deposed that he did not know whether the kudal belonged to the accused or whether the accused used it for agricultural purposes.

21. He further deposed that the dead body of the deceased was lying on the place of the incident, when he reached there, and the neck of the deceased was cut. He further deposed that when his signatures were obtained, the dead body was lying in the same condition and had not been sealed. He further deposed that he had signed the papers at around 2:00 P.M. and was not able to recall so as to who made other signatures on the said papers, apart from his own. He further deposed that he had not stated before the Investigating Officer that on 28.07.2002 the accused Khusiram had murdered the deceased by cutting his throat with kudal, and if such statement is recorded, he could not assign any reason for the same. He further deposed that he did not know from where kudal was brought and who had brought it near the place of occurrence.

22. PW-4 Shashikant Yadav, SO, Police Station Machhrehata, District Sitapur, deposed that on 28.07.2002 he was posted as SHO of Police Station Manpur, District Sitapur and on the same day, while he was present at the police station, a written report was received at around 13:30 hours regarding the murder of Mohammad Umar alias Munna by the accused Khusiram by cutting his throat with a kudal. He further deposed that on the basis of the said report, a case crime number 215/2002 under Section 302 IPC was registered and he took up the investigation. He further deposed that he immediately proceeded to the place of occurrence along with police force and reached the spot. He further deposed that he found the dead body of the deceased lying in the orchard of Ramprasad Badhai and prepared the inquest report and other relevant papers. He further deposed that he inspected the dead body and noticed that the neck of the deceased was cut. He further deposed that he sealed the dead body and sent it for post-mortem examination through constables. He further deposed that he recorded the statements of witnesses including Sher Khan and others at the spot. He further deposed that he prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence on the pointing out of the informant. He further deposed that he collected blood-stained earth and plain earth from the place of occurrence and sealed them in separate container. He further deposed that during the course of investigation, a kudal alleged to have been used in the commission of the offence was recovered, from Chandrabhal's field. He further deposed that recovery memo of the said kudal was prepared in the presence of witnesses. He further deposed that on various dates and occasions, efforts were made to apprehend the accused, Khusiram; however, he could be arrested only on 02.08.2002. He further deposed that all the recovered materials were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow, on 09.09.2002. He further deposed that, on the basis of sufficient evidence collected during the course of investigation, the accused, Khusiram, was sent for trial in Case Crime No. 89 of 2002 under Section 302 IPC.

23. During cross-examination, he deposed that the length and width of the blade of the alleged weapon of offence were not recorded in the recovery memo, nor was the time of recovery mentioned therein. He further deposed that no corresponding entry in respect of the same was made in the General Diary. He further deposed that the recovery was effected first and thereafter the recovery memo was prepared. He also deposed that the recovery memo of the kudal was prepared at the place from where it was recovered, and not at the place where the dead body was lying. He further deposed that the recovery memo of the kudal was prepared while he was sitting on a cot placed near the place of recovery. He further deposed that at the time of recovery, the kudal was bloodstained; however, due to strong sunlight, the blood had dried up. He further deposed that he has not shown any house or habitation in the site plan, though the village Kahmara was situated at some distance. He further deposed that he has shown the route by which the informant reached up to point □C□ through the fields of Chandrabhal, but he has not shown the complete route from the village to the place of occurrence. He further deposed that he has not shown in the site plan the exact position of the witnesses at the time of occurrence nor the place from where they allegedly witnessed the incident. He further deposed that the presence of a towel (gamcha), found near the dead body at the place of occurrence, was noted in the panchayatnama, and the same was sealed and sent along with the dead body for post-mortem examination. He further deposed that he could not assign any reason as to why the post-mortem doctor did not record the presence of the said towel in the post-mortem report. He further deposed that as per Ext. Ka-8 the distance between the place of occurrence and the police station has been shown as 7 kilometers and in the check FIR, the distance is mentioned as 8 kilometers. He further deposed that the variation in distance is due to non-mentioning of exact particulars and admitted that the time of occurrence is not mentioned. He further denied the suggestion that the FIR was not in existence at the time of preparation of panchayatnama and that the FIR was not lodged till that time. He further deposed that he proceeded to the spot at about 1:30 PM and returned on the next day at about 8:50 AM. He further deposed that he did not take the statement of the wife of the accused but he did ask her about the accused, however he had not recorded her statement. He further deposed that he did not find any clothes of the accused stained with blood at the time of arrest. He further deposed that the witness Ibrahim had stated before him that he was sitting near the orchard, however he (witness) had not mentioned in case diary that Ibrahim had actually seen the incident or that Ibrahim had chased the accused. He further deposed that Ibrahim had not told that the accused had any suspicion regarding his wife. He further deposed that he had not recorded in the case diary the exact position of witnesses. He further deposed that he had not mentioned in the site plan the position of witnesses. He further deposed that he had not mentioned in the case diary the route taken by the accused while fleeing. He further deposed that the deceased had enmity with several persons but he did not investigate that aspect. He further deposed that it is incorrect to say that he has falsely implicated the accused or that he conducted a biased investigation. He further deposed that it is incorrect to say that the accused did not commit the offence.

24. PW-5 Khaleel Khan, deposed that Munna, of his village, was murdered in Ramprasad's orchard, located on the north side of the village. He further deposed that on the day of incident, he was lying under neem tree at his house and was sleeping. He further deposed that after being informed through the boys of his family and villagers, he went to the orchard. He further verified and proved Ext. Ka-2 and Ext. Ka-3. He further verified the kudal, used in assault.

25. During cross-examination, he deposed that inspector had arrived before him and made signature before the inspector, at the place where kudal was recovered. He further denied the suggestion that his signature was taken on a blank paper.

26. PW-6 Dr. Arvid Kumar Shakya, CHC Hargaon, District Sitapur, deposed that on 29.07.2002 he was working on the said post and on the same day Constable Rambriksh of police station Manpur handed over sealed dead body and nine related documents to him and identified the body. He further deposed that he prepared the post-mortem report at around 3:00 PM and on external examination he found that the deceased was of normal height and build. He further deposed that rigor mortis had disappeared from both arms and legs and post-mortem staining was present on the back. He further deposed that following injuries were found on the body of the deceased.

 Injury No. 1: Incised wound measuring 12 cm X 2.5 cm X vertebra deep on left side of the neck at level 4 of cervical vertebra.

 Injury No. 2: Incised wound measuring 11 cm X 2.5 cm X vertebra deep on right side of the neck at level 3-4 of cervical vertebra, 7 cm below right ear.

 Injury No. 3: Incised wound measuring 2 cm X 0.5 cm X bone deep on left side of neck, 8 cm below the left ear.

 Injury No. 4: Incised wound measuring 2.5 cm X 0.5 cm X muscle deep on the front of left shoulder joint.

 Injury No. 5: Abraded contusion measuring 2.5 cm X 1.5 cm on the front of the right shoulder joint.

On internal examination carotid vessels on both sides of neck were found to be severed, both lungs were pale, heart was empty, esophagus from cervical vertebra were to be cut, small intestine was filled in places, large intestine was filled in the upper part, four ounces of brown liquid was found in the stomach and rectum was found to be empty. In opinion of the doctor death was due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. He further verified and proved the post-mortem report as Ext. Ka-15. He further deposed that injury no. 1 to 4 could have been caused by kudal (spade) and the same was sufficient to cause death. He further deposed that injury no. 5 could have been caused due to fall and the all the above stated injuries might have been caused on 28.07.2002 at around 12:30 PM.

27. During cross-examination, he deposed that injury no. 5 was not caused by sharp edged weapon and this injury could have also been caused by a blunt side of the knife or fall. He further deposed that injury no. 4 could have been caused by knife only if the same was not stabbed but the sharp side was used. He further deposed that this injury is generally not possible with a sickle, but it is possible that if a portion of the sickle falls on the body of the deceased with a less force. The margins of the injury no. 3 were not noted and he deposed that in cut wounds margins are usually regular. He further deposed that this injury could have been caused by sickle. He further deposed that injury no. 1 and 3 are unlikely to have been caused by a single blow, but if deceased defended himself, a second injury could have been caused. He further deposed that injury no. 1 is approximately five times the length and width of injury no. 3. He further deposed that it is possible that injury no. 1 was caused by different weapon and injury no. 3 by another weapon. He further deposed that these injuries could have been caused by different weapons. He further deposed that no undigested or digested food was found in the stomach of the deceased. He further deposed that a dhoti and undergarment were present on the body of deceased. He further deposed that no towel was found with the sealed body of deceased. He further deposed that the time of death as estimated by him could vary by 6 to 8 hours. He further deposed that it is possible that deceased died at around 7:00 PM on 28.07.2002. He further deposed that injury no. 3 and 4 could have been caused by a spade (kudal) only if it was struck with little force. He further deposed that injury no. 1 to 4 are likely to have occurred, while the deceased was standing or sitting.

Court Analysis:

FIR is Ante-timed and omission in Inquest Report:

28. Learned counsel for the accused□appellant has submitted that the First Information Report is ante-timed and was not forwarded to the Magistrate forthwith as contemplated under Section 157 Cr.P.C., and therefore the entire prosecution case stands vitiated.

29. The law relating to the evidentiary value of the First Information Report is well settled, that prompt lodging of the F.I.R. lends assurance to the prosecution case, however delay or irregularity in its lodging is not by itself fatal, unless it gives rise to a reasonable inference of fabrication or embellishment. The object of insisting upon promptness is to exclude the possibility of concoction; however, the Court must examine whether the delay stands satisfactorily explained.

30. In the present case, the prosecution has established that the occurrence took place at about 12:30 P.M. and the F.I.R. came to be registered at about 13:30 hours. The Trial Court has rightly taken into consideration the surrounding circumstances, namely that the informant was not well-versed with the exact reckoning of time, had to travel to the police station by bicycle, and that approximately 10□15 minutes were consumed in getting the written report scribed. The time taken in reaching the police station would necessarily depend upon the speed of the bicycle and other attending circumstances. Thus, the time gap between the occurrence and the lodging of the F.I.R. stands reasonably explained and cannot be said to be unnatural or suggestive of ante-timing.

31. Furthermore, no material has been brought on record to show that the police personnel had any prior enmity with the accused so as to fabricate a case in advance and prepare the F.I.R. beforehand. In absence of any such motive or circumstance, the allegation that the F.I.R. was ante-timed remains a mere bald assertion without evidentiary support. Minor variations regarding the distance of the police station, shown as 7 km in one document and 8 km in another, or absence of exact time of occurrence in certain papers are inconsequential discrepancies which do not go to the root of the matter.

32. As regards the requirement under Section 157 Cr.P.C., it is well settled that delay in forwarding the F.I.R. to the Magistrate would be of consequence only where it is shown that such delay has been utilized for introducing improvements or embellishments. No such prejudice has been demonstrated in the present case.

33. Further, learned counsel for the accused-appellant has drawn the attention of this Court to certain omissions in the inquest report (Ext. Ka-4) and submitted that the same create serious doubt regarding the prosecution version. He submitted that the inquest report does not contain the names of alleged eyewitnesses, does not record the presence of particular witnesses at the spot, nor does it contain any reference to the accused having been seen fleeing from the place of occurrence. According to the defence, these omissions assume significance as the inquest report was prepared at the earliest point of time and, therefore, ought to have reflected the true state of affairs.

34. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. has placed reliance upon Brahm Swaroop v. State of U.P., (2011) 6 SCC 288, and contended that the omissions pointed out in the inquest report are wholly inconsequential and do not in any manner affect the substratum of the prosecution case. It is submitted the inquest report is not a substantive piece of evidence and cannot be treated as an exhaustive account of the prosecution case. He has further submitted that non-mentioning of the names of eyewitnesses, or the detailed manner of assault in the inquest report does not render the ocular testimony unreliable, and such omissions cannot be made a ground to discard otherwise credible evidence. It is, therefore, urged that the defence has placed undue emphasis on minor omissions which, in law, do not have any bearing on the prosecution case.

35. Having considered the rival submissions, this Court finds no substance in the contention raised on behalf of the accused□appellant. The scope of an inquest is limited and is aimed to ascertain the apparent cause of death, it is not a substantive piece of evidence and cannot be treated as a comprehensive document narrating the prosecution case. The reliance placed by learned A.G.A on Brahm Swaroop (supra) is apposite in this aspect.

36. In the present case, the inquest report was prepared promptly. The omissions pointed out by the defence, namely non-mentioning of the names of witnesses, absence of details regarding the manner of assault or non-mentioning of the alleged presence of witnesses at the spot, do not affect the core of the prosecution case, particularly when there is otherwise cogent and reliable ocular evidence available on record.

37. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court is of the considered opinion that neither the plea of ante-timing of the FIR nor the alleged omissions in the inquest report create any dent in the prosecution case.

Medical, Forensic and Ocular Evidence:

38. The next contention of counsel for the accused□appellant is that the medical and forensic evidence do not support the ocular testimony and, therefore, the prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt. It has been contended that the alleged weapon of offence was not shown to the autopsy surgeon; that as per the doctor, the injuries could have been caused by different weapons; that the blood found on certain material exhibits had disintegrated and its origin could not be determined; and therefore the prosecution story becomes doubtful.

39. He has placed reliance upon Ishwar Singh v. State of U.P., (1976) 4 SCC 355 and Mani Ram v. State of U.P., 1994 Supp (2) SCC 289 to contend that where ocular testimony is inconsistent with medical evidence, it would not be safe to sustain conviction. It has further been argued that since the alleged weapon was not shown to the doctor, the prosecution has failed to establish nexus between the injuries and the weapon allegedly used in the offence.

40. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. has placed reliance upon Sudha Renukaiah v. State of A.P., (2017) 13 SCC 81; Punjab Singh v. State of Haryana, 1984 Supp SCC 233; Laxminath v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2019) 8 SCC 685; and State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram, (1999) 3 SCC 507, and submitted that mere non-showing of the weapon to the doctor is inconsequential where the medical evidence broadly supports the ocular version. It is further submitted that where medical evidence indicates two possible views, the same cannot be treated as a contradiction so as to discard otherwise reliable eyewitness testimony. He has further contended that failure of the serologist to determine the origin of blood due to disintegration does not demolish the prosecution case.

41. The law on the interplay between ocular and medical evidence is no longer res integra. It is well settled that where direct evidence of eyewitnesses is cogent, credible and trustworthy, minor inconsistencies with medical evidence do not override the prosecution case. Medical evidence is essentially corroborative in nature and assumes primacy only where it completely rules out the possibility of the occurrence as deposed by eyewitnesses.

42. In Punjab Singh (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that where direct evidence is satisfactory and reliable, the same cannot be rejected on hypothetical medical evidence and where medical evidence discloses two possible views, the same does not amount to inconsistency. Similarly, in Sudha Renukaiah (supra), it has been held that mere non-showing of weapons to the doctor at the time of deposition is inconsequential where the injuries found by the doctor could have been caused by the weapons alleged by the prosecution.

43. In the present case, P.W.-5, the autopsy surgeon, has categorically deposed that injury nos. 1 to 4 could have been caused by a kudal (spade), which is the alleged weapon of offence. Though the doctor has also opined that such injuries could be caused by a sharp-edged weapon, the same merely indicates an alternative,not a conclusive one, medical possibility and not a contradiction to the prosecution case. The medical evidence nowhere rules out the possibility of injuries having been caused by the alleged weapon.

44. The reliance placed by learned counsel for the accused-appellant upon Ishwar Singh (supra) and Mani Ram (supra) is misplaced. In those cases, the medical evidence completely contradicted the ocular version and created irreconcilable inconsistencies affecting the core prosecution case. In the present matter, however, the medical evidence substantially supports the prosecution story and no such irreconcilable inconsistency is made out.

45. So far as the forensic evidence is concerned, it has come on record that blood found on material numbered 1, 2 and 4 (sample of blood-stained and plain earth, kudal and undergarment) had disintegrated and therefore its origin could not be ascertained, while blood found on another exhibit was insufficient for serological examination. However, in Teja Ram (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has categorically held that failure of the serologist to detect the origin of blood due to disintegration does not necessarily mean that the blood was not human blood, and such deficiency by itself cannot be treated as fatal to the prosecution case.

46. It is a matter of common forensic experience that due to lapse of time, climatic conditions, coagulation and disintegration, serological examination may not always yield definite results. Such deficiency in forensic analysis cannot eclipse otherwise reliable ocular and medical evidence. Criminal courts are required to assess evidence on the touchstone of reasonable probabilities and not on fanciful or imaginative doubts.

47. Furthermore, in Laxminath (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that mere lapse on the part of the investigating agency in not properly sending the weapon for forensic examination would not by itself demolish the prosecution case where the ocular testimony remains trustworthy and the medical evidence supports the prosecution version.

48. Furthermore, the Trial Court has also rightly observed that the exact nature and dimension of injuries would depend upon several attending circumstances, namely the manner in which the assault was made, the relative position of the assailant and the victim at the time of occurrence, the attempt, if any, made by the deceased to save himself, and the manner in which the occurrence was witnessed by the eyewitnesses. It has correctly been noticed that during the course of assault, it is quite possible that the deceased may have moved her body or attempted to defend himself, due to which variation in the nature or placement of injuries may occur.

49. Further, the Trial Court has further rightly appreciated that injury nos. 1 to 4 were found by the doctor to be capable of being caused by a kudal (spade), whereas injury no. 5 could have been caused by abrasion or fall. It has also rightly been observed that while using a kudal, injury may not necessarily be caused only by its sharp edge and even the reverse side or blunt portion of the weapon may result in abrasion or blunt-force injury depending upon the manner of assault and resistance offered by the victim.

50. Thus, merely because one of the injuries could have been caused by abrasion or fall, it cannot be inferred that the ocular version stands contradicted. The medical evidence, read as a whole, substantially corroborates the prosecution case and does not create any irreconcilable inconsistency with the ocular testimony.

51. In the present case, the ocular evidence, medical evidence and surrounding circumstances form a coherent chain pointing towards the guilt of the accused. The alleged discrepancies pointed out by the defence neither demolish the prosecution case nor create such inconsistency which may render the prosecution story inherently improbable.

52. Accordingly, this Court is of the considered opinion that the alleged inconsistencies in medical and forensic evidence are not material in nature and do not affect the substratum of the prosecution case.

Alleged Contradictions in testimonies of the witnesses:

53. The learned counsel for the accused□appellant has vehemently contended that there exist material contradictions in the testimonies of PW-1, PW-2, PW-4 and PW-5 regarding the place where the kudal (spade) was allegedly thrown by the accused, the manner of its recovery and the exact spot from where the same was recovered, and therefore the recovery itself becomes doubtful.

54. Elaborating the submission, it has been argued that in the written report it has been stated that the accused fled away after throwing the bloodstained kudal near the ditch (मेड़), whereas in the recovery memo and site plan different locations have been indicated. It has further been pointed out that PW-1 deposed that the accused had thrown the kudal near the ditch situated between the fields of Chandrabhal, while PW-2 in one part of deposition stated that the accused had thrown the kudal in the field of Chandrabhal, and in another part stated that he had not actually seen the accused throwing the kudal. It has also been pointed out that PW-4 stated that the kudal was lying where it had been thrown, whereas the Investigating Officer indicated the place of recovery in the site plan differently. On the bases of these discrepancies, it has been argued that the recovery is fabricated and the prosecution story becomes doubtful.

55. The issue which, therefore, arises for consideration is whether the aforesaid discrepancies are material contradictions going to the root of the prosecution case or are merely normal variations which naturally occur in truthful testimony.

56. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that while appreciating oral evidence, the Court is required to distinguish between □material contradictions□ affecting the core of the prosecution case and □minor discrepancies□ arising out of normal errors of observation, lapse of memory, difference in perception or passage of time. Every discrepancy is not fatal to the prosecution. Unless the contradiction is of such magnitude that it completely demolishes the substratum of the prosecution case or renders the witness wholly unreliable, the same cannot be made a ground to reject otherwise cogent evidence.

57. The doctrine that minor inconsistencies lend assurance to the truthfulness of witnesses is now deeply embedded in Indian criminal jurisprudence. Human faculties of observation, retention and narration differ from person to person. Witnesses observing a sudden and gruesome incident from different positions and under psychological stress cannot be expected to depose with photographic precision regarding every minute detail, particularly with respect to exact distances, topographical positions and sequence of movements.

58. The Court must also bear in mind that evidence is not to be appreciated in a hyper-technical manner. Criminal courts are concerned with the substance of the prosecution case and not with trivial variations which do not affect the core issue. If the broad prosecution story remains intact and inspires confidence, peripheral inconsistencies are liable to be ignored.

59. In the present case, the consistent prosecution version emerging from the evidence of the witnesses is that the accused assaulted the deceased with a kudal and thereafter the said weapon was found lying near the place of occurrence and was subsequently recovered by the police. The discrepancies pointed out by the defence relate only to the precise location where the kudal was thrown or lying, namely whether it was near the ditch, near the field boundary or inside the adjoining field.

60. Such discrepancies, in the considered opinion of this Court, are natural and inconsequential. The incident occurred suddenly and the witnesses were deposing after lapse of considerable time. Rustic villagers witnessing a violent incident cannot be expected to describe the exact geographical location of the weapon with mathematical accuracy. Slight variation regarding whether the weapon was lying near the ditch, field boundary or adjoining field does not alter the substance of the prosecution case. On the aspect of appreciation of testimony of rustic and related witnesses, learned A.G.A. has placed reliance upon Jugendra Singh v. State of U.P., (2012) 6 SCC 297, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that rustic and uneducated villagers cannot be expected to be precise with regard to the concept of time and, therefore, minor discrepancies regarding timing cannot be given undue importance.

61. Learned A.G.A. has further placed reliance upon Jaisy @ Jayaseelan v. State, (2012) 1 SCC 529, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the settled principle that the testimony of an interested witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground of relationship. It has been held that evidence of a related witness does not suffer from any inherent infirmity and what is required is cautious scrutiny as a matter of prudence and not as a rule of law. Once the Court finds that such testimony has a ring of truth and inspires confidence, conviction can safely be based thereupon even without independent corroboration.

62. The aforesaid principles squarely apply to the facts of the present case. The prosecution witnesses are rustic villagers and minor discrepancies regarding timing, exact distances and precise location of the weapon are natural and inconsequential. Similarly, merely because the witnesses are related to the deceased, their testimony cannot be discarded when the same otherwise appears cogent, natural and trustworthy.

63. The testimony of PW-2 that he had not actually seen the accused throwing the kudal also does not create any fatal inconsistency. The witness merely stated that he had not seen the precise act of throwing the weapon, but the overall prosecution version regarding the accused being armed with the kudal and the weapon being found near the place of occurrence remains consistent throughout the prosecution evidence.

64. The law is equally settled that recovery under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act,1872 is merely a corroborative circumstance and not substantive evidence by itself. Even assuming that certain discrepancies exist regarding the exact place of recovery, the same would not by itself demolish the prosecution case where the ocular testimony regarding the assault is otherwise reliable and supported by medical evidence.

65. In the present matter, the recovery memo (Ext. Ka-2) and site plan (Ext. Ka-10) substantially support the prosecution case regarding recovery of the weapon from the vicinity of the place of occurrence. The defence has not been able to establish any circumstance showing that the weapon was planted or fabricated by the Investigating Officer.

66. It is also pertinent to note that criminal courts are required to adopt a common prudence while appreciating evidence. Trivial discrepancies arising out of normal human conduct cannot be elevated to the status of material contradictions so as to reject the entire prosecution case. To do so would amount to appreciating evidence in a wholly unrealistic and hyper-technical manner.

67. Moreover, in this regard the Trial Court has also rightly observed that different witnesses witnessing a sudden occurrence from different positions cannot be expected to describe the exact topographical location with mathematical precision. The broad prosecution version that the accused assaulted the deceased with the kudal and thereafter fled after throwing the same near the place of occurrence remains consistent throughout.

68. This Court, therefore, finds that the alleged contradictions highlighted by the defence are merely peripheral variations which neither affect the core prosecution case nor render the recovery doubtful. The broad prosecution story regarding the use and recovery of the kudal remains intact and trustworthy.

69. Accordingly, the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused□appellant on this issue are liable to be rejected.

Non-Examination of Scribe of Written Report

70. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has contended that the written report (Ext. Ka-1) was not scribed by the informant himself but by one Kunwar Bahadur Singh, who has not been examined before the Trial Court, and therefore the prosecution story becomes doubtful. It has further been argued that since the written report was allegedly drafted by the scribe according to his own understanding and language, possibility of false implication cannot be ruled out.

71. 7On the other hand, learned A.G.A. has placed reliance upon Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (2000) 7 SCC 490; State of U.P. v. Anil Singh, 1988 Supp SCC 686; and Himanshu Mohan Rai v. State of U.P., (2017) 4 SCC 161, and submitted that non-examination of the scribe of the written report is not fatal to the prosecution case when the FIR has otherwise been duly proved by the informant and the concerned police officials.

72. The contention advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant cannot be accepted. There is no requirement in law that the First Information Report must necessarily be written in the handwriting of the informant himself or that the scribe thereof must invariably be examined as a prosecution witness. In rural settings, it is a matter of common experience that written reports are often drafted by persons acquainted with writing work at the instance and dictation of the informant.

73. In the present case, the written report has been duly proved by PW-1, who clearly identified the same and supported the prosecution version contained therein. Merely because the report was written in the language or style of the scribe does not lead to an inference that the prosecution story was fabricated or concocted.

74. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Himanshu Mohan Rai (supra) has specifically held that there is no requirement that the FIR must be in the handwriting of the informant and mere non-examination of the scribe is not sufficient to doubt the prosecution case where the FIR otherwise stands duly proved. Similarly, in Hukam Singh (supra), it has been held that the prosecution is not bound to examine each and every witness cited during investigation and the Public Prosecutor has the discretion to examine only such witnesses as are necessary for unfolding the prosecution case.

75. Furthermore, the defence has failed to establish any circumstance or provide any evidence indicating that the scribe had any animosity against the accused so as to falsely implicate him, except a bald allegation that the accused has enmity with scribe . The written report was lodged promptly and substantially corroborates the ocular version adduced before the Trial Court.

76. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court finds that non-examination of the scribe of the written report does not create any dent in the prosecution case and the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant on this issue are liable to be rejected.

Role of Motive in a Case Based on Direct Evidence:

77. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has further submitted that the prosecution has failed to establish any convincing motive for the commission of the alleged offence and, therefore, the entire prosecution story becomes doubtful.

78. The aforesaid submission does not impress this Court. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that in a case resting upon direct ocular evidence, motive loses much of its significance. Motive assumes greater importance in cases based purely on circumstantial evidence, where the chain of circumstances is required to be completed by proving the reason which impelled the accused to commit the offence. However, where trustworthy eyewitness account is available and inspires confidence of the Court, absence or insufficiency of motive is not fatal to the prosecution case.

79. In the present case, the prosecution has produced ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 regarding the manner of occurrence. Their presence at or near the place of occurrence stands established and their testimonies substantially corroborate the prosecution version. Merely because the prosecution could not establish a strong motive with mathematical precision, the same would not demolish the otherwise reliable direct evidence available on record.

80. Thus, in a case based on direct evidence, motive recedes into the background and assumes only secondary importance. Once the ocular testimony is found trustworthy and corroborated by medical and surrounding circumstances, failure to prove motive cannot be made a ground to discard the prosecution case.

Alleged Enmity and Plea of False Implication

81. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has further submitted that the accused has been falsely implicated in the present case on account of previous enmity, election rivalry and village factionalism (party-bandi). It has also been argued that the deceased and his family had enmity with several persons in the village and therefore possibility of the actual assailants being someone else cannot be ruled out.

82. The law on the point is well settled that enmity is a double-edged weapon. While previous enmity may furnish a motive for false implication, at the same time it may equally provide a motive for commission of the offence. Therefore, mere existence of enmity by itself is not sufficient to discard the prosecution case unless the defence is able to establish circumstances showing that innocent persons were falsely implicated while the real culprits were deliberately shielded.

83. In the present case, except making bald allegations regarding village factionalism and election rivalry, the defence has not been able to place any cogent material on record to probabilize the plea of false implication. No circumstance has been shown as to why the prosecution witnesses would spare the real assailant and falsely implicate the accused in a serious offence of this nature.

84. Furthermore, the prosecution witnesses are natural witnesses whose presence at or near the place of occurrence stands established from the evidence on record. Their testimonies have remained substantially consistent on the material particulars of the occurrence. Mere existence of prior enmity cannot be a ground to discard otherwise reliable ocular testimony.

85. It is also pertinent to note that false implication in a case involving brutal murder is not to be readily inferred merely on the basis of alleged village enmity, particularly when the prosecution evidence inspires confidence and finds corroboration from medical and surrounding circumstances.

86. This Court is, therefore, of the considered opinion that the plea of false implication raised by the accused□appellant is devoid of substance and does not create any reasonable doubt in the prosecution case.

Conclusion:

87. In the present case, the prosecution has successfully established the homicidal death of the deceased. The ocular testimony of the prosecution witnesses is cogent, reliable and substantially corroborated by the medical evidence on record.

88. The discrepancies pointed out by the defence are minor in nature and relate only to peripheral aspects of the prosecution case. The same do not affect the core prosecution story. The pleas relating to ante-timed FIR, false implication, doubtful recovery, non-examination of the scribe and inconsistencies in medical and forensic evidence have already been dealt with and rejected hereinabove.

89. Upon cumulative appreciation of the entire evidence on record, this Court finds that the prosecution has successfully proved the guilt of the accused-appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The learned Trial Court has rightly appreciated the evidence and no illegality or perversity is found in the impugned judgment.

90. Accordingly, the present appeal is hereby dismissed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Trial Court are hereby affirmed.

91. Since the accused-appellant, Khushi Ram, has already been released on remission on 26.01.2019, he is not required to surrender, unless wanted in any other case.

92. Pending applications, if any, shall stand disposed of.

93. Let a copy of this judgment along with the trial court record be transmitted forthwith to the court concerned for information and necessary compliance.

94. Sri Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi, learned Amicus Curiae was appointed to represent the appellant-accused. We put on record the words of appreciation for able assistance rendered by him, therefore, we quantify the remuneration of Rs. 25,000/- for him. Let the same be paid by the concerned expeditiously.

(2026) 5 ILRA 928
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJESH SINGH CHAUHAN, J.
THE HON'BLE INDRAJEET SHUKLA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 2275 of 2019

Smt. Ram Rati & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to whether doctrine of proportionality applicable?

Headnotes

Dying declaration- Indian Penal Code, 1860-sec. 304-B-Found voluntary, truthful and free from suspicion-Corroborated by medical and other evidence can form sole basis of conviction-conviction affirmed-life imprisonment- without assigning reasons-Doctrine of proportionality applicable- commute life imprisonment to fixed-term sentence-sentence modified to period already undergone while maintaining conviction and fine-Appeal partly allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Laxman v. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 6 SCC 710.
2. Kushal Rao v. State of Bombay, AIR 1958 SC 22.
3. Khushal Rao v. State of Bombay, AIR 1958 SC 22.
4. Atbir v. Government (NCT of Delhi), (2010) 9 SCC 1.
5. Sham Shankar Kankaria v. State of Maharashtra, (2006) 13 SCC 165.
6. Ratan Lal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1970) 3 SCC 533.
7. Sumer Singh v. Surajbhan Singh, (2014) 7 SCC 323.
8. Manoj v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2023) 2 SCC 353.
9. Union of India v. V. Sriharan, (2016) 7 SCC 1.
10. State of Punjab v. Prem Sagar, (2008) 7 SCC 550.
11. Ravada Sasikala v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (2017) 4 SCC 546.

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

Dying declaration; burden of proof; Corroborating evidence.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Nand Lal Sharma, Dilip Kumar Singh, Jyoti Rajpoot, K.k.sharma, Kaustubh Singh, Manoj Kumar Yadav, Prem Shankar, Rajendra Prasad, Rakesh Kumar

Counsel for Respondent(s) : Govt. Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Indrajeet Shukla, J.)

For the sake of convenience, instant judgment is divided into following parts:

Index

Serial No	Heading Page
1	Introductory facts
2	Case of prosecution
3	Scope of criminal appeal (Being first appeal against conviction)
4	Relevant statutory provisions and authoritative pronouncements
5	Analysis of evidence
6	Contentions raised on behalf of appellants
7	Submissions on behalf of the State
8	Conclusion
9	Proportionality of sentence

Introductory Facts

1. Embittered with the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 05.08.2019 passed by the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Sessions Judge (Prevention of Corruption Act), Court No. 6, Lucknow, in Session Trial No. 440 of 2013 (State Vs. Sunil Kumar & others), arising out of Crime No. 119 of 2012, under Sections 498-A, 304-B of IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Mall, District Lucknow, instant appeal has been preferred before this Court.

2. Conviction and sentence awarded against the appellants under different penal provisions are tabulated as under:

Section 304-B IPC	Ramrati (mother in law)- Punishment for life, Sunil Kumar (husband) Babulal (father in law) -20 years rigorous imprisonment
Section 498-A IPC	03 years rigorous imprisonment	Fine of Rs.2000/- each, in default one months additional imprisonment
Section 4 D.P.	Act 02 years rigorous	Fine of Rs.2000/- each, in imprisonment	default one months additional imprisonment

All the sentences, were directed to run concurrently

Case of Prosecution

3. The prosecution story in nutshell as disclosed by first informant Santosh Kumar is, his daughter Sujata was married to one Sunil Kumar son of Babulal, native of village Kandhar Tala, Police Station Mall, District Lucknow as per Hindu rites and rituals about one and a half years prior to the occurrence. After the customary farewell for the first time, his daughter went to her in-laws house. When she came to her paternal home (maika) she told her parents that her mother-in-law Ramrati, father-in-law Babulal and her husband Sunil Kumar were asking for additional dowry in the shape of motorcycle and a fan. Owing to his poor financial condition, first informant could not fulfill the said demand. Due to social pressure, first informants daughter was again sent to her matrimonial home (sasural). A few days later, his daughter sent word to her parents with respect to harassment and demand of dowry. The first informant counselled her to stay at her in-laws home. On 13.05.2012, at approximately 10:00 AM, first informants brother-in-law (Shivdin), called him and informed that his daughter had caught fire. Her in-laws were taking first informants daughter to Civil Hospital, Lucknow. Upon receiving the information, the first informant rushed to the Civil Hospital. First informants daughter was admitted to the Civil Hospital for treatment. After admission, the in-laws fled from the hospital. The first informant and his family members were involved in treatment of their daughter. Based on information received from the Medical Superintendent, Civil Hospital, the Deputy District Magistrate/SDM, Malihabad, recorded the statement of first informants daughter (Sujata) in which, she said that on the previous day, her husband had beaten her and on the next day, her mother-in-law, father-in-law and husband poured kerosene oil upon her and set her ablaze.

4. The aforesaid information given in the shape of written complaint dated 20.05.2012 was translated into First Information Report dated 22.05.2012.

5. The injured Sujata succumbed to her injuries on 04.06.2012 at the Civil Hospital and the Inquest proceedings of the deceased were conducted on the next day i.e. on 05.06.2012. The inquest report (exhibit Ka-2) and other related documents were prepared. The dead body of the deceased was sealed and sent for the post-mortem examination.

6. The post-mortem examination on the person of deceased was conducted on 05.06.2012 at 04.30 PM by PW-4 Dr. A.K. Srivastava at Balrampur Hospital, Lucknow, exhibited as Ka-3. As per the post mortem report, the following ante mortem injuries were noticed/found on the person of deceased Sujata:-

(i) Antemortem Injury-superficial to deep septic burn present on all over the body except antsolateral aspect of R side abdomen, forehead, upper part of the face, top of the head and both soles, pus, slough, debris dead skin present in wounds. On opening and section cutting of both lungs, liver, spleen and kidney multiple pus foci seen.

7. The cause of death of the deceased as exhibited in the postmortem report has been opined as septicemia as a result of ante-mortem burn injuries.

8. The prosecution primarily relied upon the testimony of three witnesses of fact viz PW-1 Santosh Kumar (father of deceased) who is also the first informant, PW-2 Rakesh Kumar (uncle of deceased), PW-3 Sushila (mother of deceased) and also relied upon the dying declaration (exhibit Ka-12) which has been proved by PW-9 Suryanarayan Yadav (Executive Magistrate/SDM).

9. The investigation of the case was initially conducted by PW-7 Pradeep Kumar Maurya, who recorded the statements of witnesses and thereafter, the further investigation was conducted by PW-8 Rajesh Kumar Saxena, who has filed Charge-Sheet under Sections 498-A, 304-B of IPC and 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act against appellants-convicts vide exhibit Ka-6.

10. Learned trial Court framed charges under Sections 498-A, 304-B of IPC and 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act against the appellants and alternatively charge under Section 302 IPC was also framed. The accused persons pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

11. In order to bring home the guilt of the accused persons, the prosecution has examined following witnesses:

PW 1	Santosh Kumar (first informant and father of the deceased)
PW 2	Rakesh Kumar (uncle of the deceased)
PW 3	Sushila (mother of the deceased)
PW 4	Dr. A.K. Srivastava has conducted post mortem of the deceased
PW 5	Rajesh Kumar Shukla (Nayab Tehsildar Mall Tehsil Malihabad in whose presence inquest proceedings were conducted).
PW 6	Head Constable Rajdev who is the scribe of chik FIR
PW 7	Pradeep Kumar Maurya, first Investigating Officer
PW 8	Rajesh Kumar Saxena Investigating Officer, who submitted the chargesheet
PW 9	Suryanarayan Yadav, the then SDM Malihabad, Lucknow (Executive Magistrate, who recorded dying declaration)

12. Apart from aforesaid witnesses, prosecution produced following documentary evidences, which were exhibited and proved by leading evidence as follows:

Exhibit Ka 1	Written report
Exhibit Ka 2	Inquest report
Exhibit Ka 3	Post mortem report no.1933/2012
Exhibit Ka 4	Police form challan dead body
Exhibit Ka 5	Photo of dead body
Exhibit Ka 6	Letter to C.M.O.
Exhibit Ka 7	Chik no. 98
Exhibit Ka 8	G.D. report no.33

Exhibit Ka 9	Site plan of the place of occurrence
Exhibit Ka 10	Arrest memo
Exhibit Ka 11	Chargesheet
Exhibit Ka 12	Statement of deceased/dying declaration

13. After closure of prosecution evidence, the accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they outrightly denied all the charges and incriminating evidence against them and claimed themselves to be innocent. Dying Declaration exhibited as Ka-12, was put as incriminating material against appellants at the stage of examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and upon the confrontation of the same, they again discarded it stating it to be incorrect. Appellants-convicts had filed a written statement wherein they denied any demand of dowry harassment. They stated that the deceased herself set to fire. They tried to extinguish the fire during which Babulal sustained injuries on his hand. They further stated that the FIR has been lodged against them only because they could not fulfill illegal demand of first informant.

Scope of Criminal Appeal (Being First Appeal against Conviction)

14. Before we thrash out the evidence adduced before trial Court, we would like to recollect and remind ourselves of the manner in which an appeal against conviction is required to be heard by this Court, considering the scope of jurisdiction conferred by Sections 374 and 386 Cr.P.C.

15. Further, we would like to refresh our memory by going through the observations made by the Apex Court in the case of Ishvarbhai Fuljibhai Patniv.State of Gujarat [1995 Supreme Court Cases (Crl) 222]. Para-4 of the judgment reads as under:

.....On a plain requirement of justice, the High Court while dealing with a first appeal against conviction and sentence is expected to, howsoever briefly depending upon the facts of the case, consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the submissions raised at the bar. If it fails to do so, it apparently fails in the discharge of one of its essential jurisdiction under its appellate powers. In view of the infirmities pointed out by us, the judgment under appeal cannot be sustained.

16. It would also be beneficial to have a glance of judgment rendered by the Honble Supreme Court for understanding the scope and ambit of criminal appeal in the case of Lal Mandi, v. State of West Bengal, [1995 CRI.L.J. 2659 (Supreme Court), 2659], the Apex Court in para-5 of the report has given the caution to the High Court reminding its duty in the matter of hearing of appeal against conviction. It would be gainful to reproduce the observation made in para-5 of the report, extracted below:

"5. To say the least, the approach of the High Court is totally fallacious. In an appeal against conviction, the Appellate Court has the duty to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and if two views are possible on the appraisal of the evidence, the benefit of reasonable doubt has to be given to an accused. It is not correct to suggest that the Appellate Court cannot legally interfere with the order of conviction where the trial court has found the evidence as reliable and that it cannot substitute the findings of the Sessions Judge by its own, if it arrives at a different conclusion on reassessment of the evidence. The observation made inTota Singh's case,which was an appeal against acquittal, have been misunderstood and mechanically applied. Though, the powers of an appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal and an appeal against conviction are equally wide but the considerations which weigh with it while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal and in an appeal against conviction are distinct and separate. The presumption of innocence of accused which gets strengthened on his acquittal is not available on his conviction. An appellate court may give every reasonable weight to the conclusions arrived at by the trial court but it must be remembered that an appellate court is duty bound, in the same way as the trial court, to test the evidence extrinsically as well as intrinsically and to consider as thoroughly as the trial court, all the circumstances available on the record so as to arrive at an independent finding regarding guilt or innocence of the convict. An Appellate Court fails in the discharge of one of its essential duties, if it fails to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and arrive at an independent finding based on the appraisal of such evidence."

17. The law mandates and casts a duty upon the appellate court for reassessment of entire evidence, so as to arrive at an independent finding regarding the guilt or innocence of a convict, thus, the testimony of witnesses of facts is reappreciated as under:

(emphasis added)

18. PW-1 Santosh Kumar happens to be first informant and father of deceased appeared in the witness box and deposed as under:

"I, Santosh Kumar, aged about 40 years, occupation labourer, son of Late Fakir, resident of Kushmaura, P.S. Kakori, Lucknow, do hereby state on oath as follows: My daughters name was Sujata, also known as Khushboo. I married her on 22.11.2010 to Sunil Kumar, son of Babulal, resident of Kandhar Tala, P.S. Mall, according to Hindu rites and customs. I gave dowry according to my financial capacity. After about four days of marriage, my daughter came to our house and told me, my wife, and my sons that her husband Sunil Kumar, father-in-law Babulal, and mother-in-law Ramrati were demanding a motorcycle and a fan as additional dowry. Thereafter, whenever she visited our house on different occasions such as Holi, Raksha Bandhan, and other family functions, she repeatedly informed us that her husband and in-laws were beating, abusing, and harassing her for not fulfilling the demand of a motorcycle and fan. On 18.04.2012, my daughter and her husband came to our house. On that night, my son-in-law again demanded a motorcycle and a fan from me and my wife. We told him that we had not yet repaid the loan taken for the marriage and were not in a position to fulfil the demand at that time. Thereafter, he forcibly took my daughter back with him. Later, my daughter sent information that her husband and in-laws were beating and torturing her. On 05.05.2012, I went to her matrimonial home and tried to counsel her husband and in-laws. On 13.05.2012, my brother-in-law Shivdin informed me that my daughter had been burnt and taken to the Civil Hospital. I immediately went there with my family and found her admitted in the hospital. Her in-laws had fled from the hospital. When we asked her, she told us that one day earlier her husband had beaten her, and on the next day her husband Sunil Kumar, mother-in-law Ramrati, and father-in-law Babulal poured kerosene on her and set her on fire. I got a report lodged through the village Pradhan on 20.05.2012. Later, the police also came to the hospital and recorded statements. My daughter succumbed to her burn injuries on 04.06.2012 at the Civil Hospital. The inquest proceedings were conducted there, and the post-mortem was conducted on 05.06.2012 at the Medical College. I performed her last rites. No one from her in-laws side attended. The written report shown to me was dictated by me to the Pradhan and bears my signature after being read over to me. This statement is true and correct."

19. The testimony of PW-1 was subjected to lengthy cross examination and in his cross examination he stated as under:

"I have studied up to Class VIII. I can write Hindi and have limited knowledge of English. I work as a labourer and have no other source of income. I have two sons and one daughter, Sujata alias Khushboo, who is now deceased. I married my daughter to Sunil Kumar, son of Babu Lal, resident of Village Kandhartala, Police Station Mal, Lucknow. Before the marriage, I visited the house of Sunil Kumar and Babu Lal and found their family to be of similar financial status to mine. Accordingly, the marriage was arranged. All marriage ceremonies were completed peacefully and there was no dispute at the time of marriage or farewell. After marriage, my daughter went to her matrimonial home and stayed there for four days. Thereafter, she came to my house and stayed for about fifteen days. Later, her father-in-law Babu Lal came to take her back to her matrimonial home. At the time of marriage, Sunil Kumar and Babu Lal both worked as labourers. Sunil used to work in Lucknow and sometimes lived there with my daughter. Initially, Sunil Kumar and my daughter lived normally, though occasional quarrels took place."

20. The second witness of fact adduced by prosecution is Rakesh Kumar examined as PW-2 who stated in his examination in chief that:

"My name is Rakesh Kumar, son of Late Fakire, resident of Village Kusmaur, Police Station Kakori, District Lucknow. The deceased Sujata was my niece. She was married to Sunil Kumar, son of Babu Lal, resident of Kandhar Kala, Police Station Mal. For a few days after the marriage, everything was normal. Thereafter, her husband Sunil Kumar, mother-in-law, and father-in-law started harassing her for dowry. Whenever Sujata came to her parental home, she informed us that they were demanding dowry and troubling her. We used to console her and send her back. On 13.05.2012, Sujata sustained burn injuries and was admitted to the Civil Hospital. We received information through Shivdin and immediately reached the hospital. Her in-laws were present there initially but fled shortly thereafter. On 04.06.2012, Sujata died at the Civil Hospital. The inquest proceedings (Panchayatnama) were conducted in my presence, and the document bears my signature. I identify and confirm the same."
"

21. PW-2 was cross examined by the defence which reads as under:

"Rakesh Kumar, son of Fakire, aged about 40 years, resident of Village Kushmaura, Police Station Kakori, District Lucknow, stated on oath as follows: The deceased Sujata was my niece. After the incident, I first saw Sujata at the Civil Hospital. My brother Santosh Kumar and my sister-in-law were already present there. Sujata was lying on a hospital bed and was conscious at that time. The information regarding the incident of burning was given to us over mobile phone by Shivdin. I spoke with Sunil Kumar during Sujatas treatment. A Magistrate also came to the hospital on the day of her admission. Sujata told me that her husband was demanding a car. No complaint had been filed by us earlier regarding this demand. I was not present at the time of lodging of the FIR. There was no dispute between Sunil Kumar and Sujata for about six months after the marriage. Thereafter, I came to know that disputes had arisen between them. Sujata had informed me over the phone that Sunil Kumar had assaulted her. It is incorrect to say that Sujata consumed kerosene or committed suicide. It is also incorrect to say that this case was falsely lodged due to any conspiracy or that I am deposing for money."

22. Third witness of fact adduced by prosecution is mother of deceased namely Sushila examined as PW-3 who stated before trial Court:

"Sushila Devi, wife of Santosh Kumar, aged about 35 years, resident of Village Kusmaura, Police Station Kakori, Lucknow, stated on oath as follows: My deceased daughters name was Sujata. About five years ago, I married her to Sunil Kumar, son of Babulal, according to Hindu rites and customs. Dowry was given according to our financial capacity. After the marriage, Sujata went to her matrimonial home. Thereafter, when she returned to our house, she told me that her husband Sunil Kumar, mother-in-law Ramrati, and father-in-law Babulal were demanding a motorcycle and a fan as dowry. She further told me that they used to abuse, harass, and torture her for the said demand. Whenever Sujata came to her parental home, she repeated the same complaints regarding cruelty and dowry demand. About 1015 days later, her father-in-law Babulal came to take her back. I told him about Sujatas complaints and informed him that we were not financially capable of giving a motorcycle and fan. Thereafter, after persuasion, Sujata was sent back with him. Later, in the month of Jyeshtha, at about 11:00 a.m., my brother-in-law informed me over phone that Sujata had been burnt. This incident took place about one and a half years after her marriage. My husband and I immediately proceeded there. On the way, we found that her in-laws were taking Sujata to the hospital. After getting her admitted, they fled. When I met my daughter in the hospital, she was in a serious condition."

23. The defence did not prefer to cross examine PW-3 despite opportunity was afforded, thus her statement in chief is to be read and is admissible as such.

24. In order to ascertain whether the deceased died otherwise than under normal circumstances, the consideration of testimony of PW-4 Dr. A.K. Srivastava who conducted the postmortem examination is expedient, who stated that after the post-mortem examination of the deceased Sujata Devi, by him, the police papers and post-mortem report were handed over to Police Constable Ramakant Pathak, Police Station Hazratganj, Lucknow. The postmortem report number of the deceased Sujata Devi is 1933/12. The deceased was approximately 20 years old. The deceased died on 4/6/2012 at 8:30 pm at Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee Hospital. This is established by Exhibit Ka-3.

External Examination-

25. The body of the deceased was of normal nature, rigor mortis was present all over the body. It was difficult to ascertain the staining after death due to burns. The deceased was identified by CP 1710 Ramakant of Hazratganj police station. The eyes of the deceased were closed and the mouth was half open in the natural opening of the body. The rest was normal. The body had burn injuries. The wounds on the body were noted.

Internal Examination

26. The scalp, skull, head, neck, and breasts were normal. Body membranes including the brain coverings, pleura, pericardium, and abdominal cavity were congested. The base of skull, spine, and meninges were not opened. The esophagus and stomach were normal. The left side of the heart was empty and the right side contained blood. The teeth, tongue, and throat were intact. The Antemortem injuries included the deceased had approximately 90% burn injuries over the body. Areas spared from burns were the right lower anterior abdomen, forehead, crown of the head, and soles of both feet. Burn wounds showed peeling skin, sloughing tissue, pus formation, and septic changes extending deep into the skin. On internal dissection, the lungs, liver, spleen, and kidneys were congested, and pus was found at several places indicating infection. The stomach contained about 90 ml fluid. The small intestine contained digested food and gas, and the large intestine contained fecal matter and gas. The urinary bladder was empty. The uterus was empty and genital organs were normal.In my opinion, the cause of death was septicemia resulting from ante-mortem burn injuries. Despite the burn injuries, the deceased could have remained capable of speech before death. If the deceased had sustained kicks, fists, or stick blows, separate external injuries may not be visible due to the extensive 90% burn area. The post-mortem report of deceased Sujata Devi was prepared by me on 05.06.2012, jointly with Dr. Raghubir Srivastava, and bears our signatures.

27. PW-5 Rajesh Kumar Shukla, Naib Tehsildar Mal Tehsil, Malihabad, Lucknow was examined by the prosecution who proved inquest proceedings and after detailed cross examination nothing could elicit, which could doubt the veracity/genuineness of inquest proceedings. The said witness had stated before trial Court that Panchs were appointed and their opinion were taken, who stated that the deceased died due to burn injuries. Therefore, he concurred with the opinion of the inquest witnesses. For determination of real cause of death, the inquest witnesses including PW-5 were in favour of post mortem and for that purpose the body was sent. With respect to inquest proceedings, the said witness has stated that he and other witnesses signed the inquest report and they also signed police form, challan, photo of dead body, letter written to CMO. The said witness admitted his signatures on all forms/papers. Defence has not questioned either veracity of inquest proceedings or any police papers which were formally proved.

28. PW-6, Head Constable Rajdev, was examined by the prosecution. In his examination-in-chief, he stated that on 22.5.2012, he was posted as a Constable Clerk at the Police Station Mall, Lucknow. On that date, based on the complaint filed by the first informant-Santosh Kumar, the FIR registered vide Case Crime No. 119/2012 under Sections 498-A, 323, 307 of the Indian Penal Code, and sections 3/4 of the DP Act. As per his statement, he acknowledged and authenticated his signature on the FIR. He acknowledged the GD entry no.33 pertaining to the registration of FIR.

29. The defence cross examined the PW-6 but nothing material could come out impeaching the veracity of police papers.

30. On behalf of the prosecution, PW-7 Pradeep Kumar Maurya, the first Investigating Officer, was examined. The said witness after statement in his examination in chief, he stated that he has recorded the statement of the then injured Sujata (who later succumbed to her injuries), first informant and other witnesses. He also proved the preparation of site plan and other police papers. In detailed cross examination, nothing could come out which may discredit the prosecution case.

31. PW-8 Rajesh Kumar Saxena, Investigating Officer, was examined on behalf of the prosecution. He stated in his examination-in-chief that on 14.7.2012, he was posted as Circle Officer, Malihabad. On that day, he received the investigation report of FIR No. 119/2012, under sections 498A, 304B of the Indian Penal Code, and sections 3/4 of the DP Act, at Malihabad police station. He proved the filing of charge sheet and the police papers filed therein. The said witness also faced lengthy cross examination but the defence utterly failed to impeach the authenticity police papers. Even before this Court nothing could be pointed out by appellant which may discredit the authenticity of police paper filed along with charge sheet.

32. On behalf of the prosecution, PW-9 Suryanarayan Yadav, Secretary, State Backward Classes Commission, Lucknow, was examined. In his examination-in-chief, he stated that on 13/05/2012, he was working as SDM, Malihabad, Lucknow. On that day, information was received from the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, through the police station, that Mrs. Sujata, wife of Sunil Kumar, was admitted to the hospital with serious burn injuries and her statement needed to be recorded. Following this information, he went to the Civil Hospital, Lucknow, and recorded the victims statement. As per testimony of said witness, the statement of victim was recorded in verbatim in her own words. His testimony further states that the victim stated that she had quarrelled with her mother-in-law and father-in-law, verbally abusing her, and that when her husband returned home, he also assaulted her and attempted to drive her out of the house. She also stated that my mother-in-law, Ramrati, poured kerosene upon her and set her ablaze, and they were demanding dowry. The victim had given this statement without any pressure. Upon looking at paper number A-7/4 in the file, the witness stated, I recorded the victims statement myself. It is in my own handwriting and bears my signature. Thus, he proved the Exhibit Ka-12 available as dying declaration.

33. The main thrust of prosecution to bring home the guilt of accused, is upon the dying declaration recorded by PW-9 Suryanarayan Yadav (Executive Magistrate/the then SDM, Malihabad). The said dying declaration has been exhibited as Exhibit Ka-12, which contains due certification by the Doctor Manoj Chaurasia, Emergency Medical Officer, Dr. S.P.M. (Civil Hospital, Lucknow).

34. The exhibit Ka-12 dying declaration of Smt. Sujata is extracted as under:

प्रदर्श क-12

Sujata 20/F W/o Sunil Kumar is Fully conscious & oriented to time place & person

Sd/-Dr. Manoj Chaurasiya

4.00 PM

13.5.12

श्रीमती सुजाता W/o सुनील कुमार निवासी ग्राम कन्धार ताला थाना माता जनपद लखनऊ ने बहलफ बयान किया कि मेरी उम्र लगभग 20 वर्ष है। घर में सास ससुर से मेरा झगड़ा

हुआ था और गाली गलौज व मार पीट किये थे। जब मेरे पति घर आये तो वे भी मारे पीटे तथा घर से निकलने लगे। मुझे मेरी सासु रामरती ने मुझे मिट्टी का तेल डालकर जलाया है ये लोग दहेज मे गाड़ी मांग रहे थे तथा आये दिन पैसे की मांग करते रहते थे। बयान मैं सत्य सत्य बिना किसी जोर दबाव के दे रहीहूँ।

बयान मेरे द्वारा लिखाया।

Sd/-Illegible
13.5.12
ह०अपठनीय
एस.डी.एम.
मलिहाबाद

Pt. was conscious & oriented during her dying declaration
Sd/-Illegible
Manoj Chaurasiya
13.5.12
EMO Dr. S.P.M. (Civil) Hospital, Lko.

35. In the present case, the defence adduced as many as three witnesses, namely Mrs. Rooprani as DW-1, Mr. Rajendra Kumar as DW-2 and Mrs. Kalawati as DW-3.

36. DW-1, Mrs. Rooprani, stated that shortly before the incident, Sunil had come to her shop. Thereafter, a child informed her that Sunils wife had set herself on fire. She rushed with Sunil to his house and saw Babulal and Ramrati trying to save Sujata. Sunil covered her with a blanket, while Babulal used a quilt to extinguish the flames, during which Babulal sustained burn injuries on his hands. She further stated that when Sujata was asked as to why she had done so, Sujata replied that she had set herself on fire and that neither her husband nor her in-laws were at fault. She also stated that Sunil, Babulal, Ramrati and other villagers took Sujata to the hospital. According to her, she had never heard of any quarrel or demand of dowry by Sunil, Ramrati or Babulal.

37. The defence examined DW-2, Rajendra Kumar, stated that Sunil was sitting at a grocery shop when a boy came and informed him that his wife had set herself on fire. Thereupon, he accompanied Sunil to the house, where they found Sujata in flames and all present persons attempted to extinguish the fire. He stated that Babulal sustained burns on his hand while saving her. Thereafter, Sujata was taken in a cart to Civil Hospital, Hazratganj, by Sunil along with his parents. He further deposed that Sujata was saying that she had set herself on fire and that none of them were at fault.

38. The defence examined the third witness, DW-3, Mrs. Kalawati, stated that Sunil and Sujata had been married about one and a half years prior to the incident. According to her, Sunil used to reside and work in Lucknow and kept Sujata with him there. She stated that she had never heard of any dowry demand or quarrel between them. She further deposed that Sujata told her that she had set herself on fire and that no one else was responsible.

39. The undisputed factual position which emerges is, the unfortunate occurrence of ablaze took place on 13.05.2012, and the injured Sujata was hospitalized and on the same day, her dying declaration was recorded by Executive Magistrate/PW-9. The injured succumbed to her injuries on 04.06.2012 in the Hospital i.e. after about 22 days. The postmortem examination was conducted on 05.06.2012, in the meantime, FIR was registered on 22.05.2012 on the written report submitted by the first informant on 20.05.2012. The Investigating Officer filed charge sheet on 25.08.2012 under Sections 498-A, 304-B of IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The case was committed to the Court of Session on 27.05.2013 and thereafter, the charges were framed on 31.07.2013.

Relevant Statutory Provisions and Authoritative Pronouncements

40. The dowry death is grave social menace, Honble Supreme Court in introductory part of the judgment in the case of Rajinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab, reported in AIR 2015 SC 1359, has referred what made the parliament to amend the penal provisions to tackle the dowry death. Relevant introductory paragraphs reads as under:

"1. The facts of this case raises questions relating to one of the two great social evils practiced against the women of this country for centuries. In the facts presented before us, a young woman consumes pesticide having been driven to do so by repeated demands being made on her for money by the family into which she is supposed to merge her identity. Sati and dowry deaths have plagued this nation for centuries. Sati the practice of sending a widow to her husbands funeral pyre to burn in it -was first outlawed under British Rule in 1829 and 1830 under the Governor Generalship of Lord William Bentinck in the Bengal, Madras and Bombay Presidencies. General SirCharles Napier, the Commander-in-Chief of the British Forcesin India between 1859 and 1861, is supposed to have said tothe Hindu Priests who complained to him about the prohibition of Sati that the burning of widows is your custom but in mycountry, when a man burns a woman alive, we hang them andconfiscate all their property. Let us both, therefore, act in accordance with our national customs.

(emphasis supplied by us)

2. It took free India many years before the Commission of Sati (Prevention) Act, 1987 was passed by Parliament setting down various offences relating to the commission of Sati and the trial of such offences by special courts. In this appeal, however, we are confronted with the other major problem, namely, dowry deaths. Parliament responded much earlier so far as the prohibition of dowry is concerned by enacting the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 under which minimum sentences were prescribed as penalty for the giving or taking of dowry. The specific menace of dowry deaths, however, was tackled by the introduction of a new provision in 1986 - Section 304B in he Penal Code together with another new provision Section 113B of the Evidence Act."

41. Before we test the evidence led by rival parties, it would be apposite to have brief glimpse of certain provision of substantive as well as procedural law, which would necessarily lead us to reach an appropriate conclusion.

42. In order to curb and tackle the social menace of dowry death, the legislature in its collective wisdom introduced a new provision under viz 304 B IPC and 113-B of Indian Evidence Act. These two provisions read as follows:

"304-B. Dowry death.(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called dowry death, and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation. - For the purpose of this sub-section, dowry shall have the same meaning as in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.

113-B. Presumption as to dowry death. - When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman had been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the Court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death.*

Explanation.For the purposes of this section, dowry death shall have the same meaning as in Section 304-B of Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

43. The primary ingredient to attract the offence under Section 304-B is that the death of a woman must amount to a "dowry death". Dowry has been defined under Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, which reads as follows:

"2. Definition of dowry. - In this Act, dowry means any property or valuable security given or agreed to be given either directly or indirectly*

(a) by one party to a marriage to the other party to the marriage; or

(b) by the parents of either party to a marriage or by any other person, to either party to the marriage or to any other person, at or before [or any time after the marriage] [in connection with the marriage of the said parties, but does not include] dower or mahr in the case of persons to whom the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) applies.

Explanation I. []

Explanation II.The expression valuable security has the same meaning as in Section 30 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

44. A perusal of the aforesaid provision shows that the definition can be broken into six distinct parts.

1) Dowry must first consist of any property or valuable security- the word any is a word of width and would, therefore, include within it property and valuable security of any kind whatsoever.

2) Such property or security can be given or even agreed to be given. The actual giving of such property or security is, therefore, not necessary.

3) Such property or security can be given or agreed to be given either directly or indirectly.

4) Such giving or agreeing to give can again be not only by one party to a marriage to the other but also by the parents of either party or by any other person to either party to the marriage or to any other person. It will be noticed that this clause again widens the reach of the Act insofar as those guilty of committing the offence of giving or receiving dowry is concerned.

5) Such giving or agreeing to give can be at any time. It can be at, before, or at any time after the marriage. Thus, it can be many years after a marriage is solemnised.

6) Such giving or receiving must be in connection with the marriage of the parties. Obviously, the expression in connection with would in the context of the social evil sought to be tackled by the Dowry Prohibition Act mean in relation with or relating to.

45. The ingredients of the offence under Section 304-B have been elaborately stated and restated in many judgments of Honble Supreme Court. There are four such ingredients and they are said to be:

(a) death of a woman must have been caused by any burns or bodily injury or her death must have occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(b) such death must have occurred within seven years of her marriage;

(c) soon before her death, she must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband; and

(d) such cruelty or harassment must be in connection with the demand for dowry.

46. In order to arrive at the true construction of the definition of dowry and consequently the ingredients of the offence under Section 304-B, we first need to determine how a statute of this kind needs to be interpreted. It is obvious that Section 304B is a stringent provision, enacted to combat a social evil of alarming proportions.

47. One of the essential ingredients for constitution of an offence under Section 304-B IPC is that soon before her death the victim must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband. This phrase soon before her death remained a matter of debate before by jurist but has been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Surinder Singh Vs. State of Haryana, reported in (2014) 4 SCC 129 had this to say:

"17. Thus, the words soon before appear in Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 and also in Section 304-B IPC. For the presumptions contemplated under these sections to spring into action, it is necessary to show that the cruelty or harassment was caused soon before the death. The interpretation of the words soon before is, therefore, important. The question is how soon before? This would obviously depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The cruelty or harassment differs from case to case. It relates to the mindset of people which varies from person to person. Cruelty can be mental or it can be physical. Mental cruelty is also of different shades. It can be verbal or emotional like insulting or ridiculing or humiliating a woman. It can be giving threats of injury to her or her near and dear ones. It can be depriving her of economic resources or essential amenities of life. It can be putting restraints on her movements. It can be not allowing her to talk to the outside world. The list is illustrative and not exhaustive. Physical cruelty could be actual beating or causing pain and harm to the person of a woman. Every such instance of cruelty and related harassment has a different impact on the mind of a woman. Some instances may be so grave as to have a lasting impact on a woman. Some instances which degrade her dignity may remain etched in her memory for a long time. Therefore, soon before is a relative term. In matters of emotions we cannot have fixed formulae. The time-lag may differ from case to case. This must be kept in mind while examining each case of dowry death.

18. In this connection we may refer to the judgment of this Court in Kans Raj v. State of Punjab [(2000) 5 SCC 207: 2000 SCC (Cri) 935] where this Court considered the term soon before. The relevant observations are as under: (SCC pp. 222-23, para 15)

"15. Soon before is a relative term which is required to be considered under specific circumstances of each case and no straitjacket formula can be laid down by fixing any time-limit. This expression is pregnant with the idea of proximity test. The term soon before is not synonymous with the term immediately before and is opposite of the expression soon after as used and understood in Section 114, Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act. These words would imply that the interval should not be too long between the time of making the statement and the death. It contemplates the reasonable time which, as earlier noticed, has to be understood and determined under the peculiar circumstances of each case. In relation to dowry deaths, the circumstances showing the existence of cruelty or harassment to the deceased are not restricted to a Page 22 particular instance but normally refer to a course of conduct. Such conduct may be spread over a period of time. If the cruelty or harassment or demand for dowry is shown to have persisted, it shall be deemed to be soon before death if any other intervening circumstance showing the non-existence of such treatment is not brought on record, before such alleged treatment and the date of death. It does not, however, mean that such time can be stretched to any period. Proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the consequential death is required to be proved by the prosecution. The demand of dowry, cruelty or harassment based upon such demand and the date of death should not be too remote in time which, under the circumstances, be treated as having become stale enough."

Thus, there must be a nexus between the demand of dowry, cruelty or harassment, based upon such demand and the date of death. The test of proximity will have to be applied. But, it is not a rigid test. It depends on the facts and circumstances of each case and calls for a pragmatic and sensitive approach of the court within the confines of law."

48. In another judgment in the case of Sher Singh v. State of Haryana, 2015 (1) SCALE 250, Honble Supreme Court has held as under:

"We are aware that the word soon finds place in Section 304B; but we would prefer to interpret its use not in terms of days or months or years, but as necessarily indicating that the demand for dowry should not be stale or an aberration of the past, but should be the continuing cause for the death under Section 304B or the suicide under Section 306 of the IPC. Once the presence of these concomitants are established or shown or proved by the prosecution, even by preponderance of possibility, the initial presumption of innocence is replaced by an assumption of guilt of the accused, thereupon transferring the heavy burden of proof upon him and requiring him to produce evidence dislodging his guilt, beyond reasonable doubt. (at page 262)."

49. We respectfully endorse what has been laid down in the aforesaid decisions. Days or months are not what is to be seen. What is required to be borne in mind is that the word soon does not mean immediate before. A fair and pragmatic construction, keeping in mind the grave social evil that has led to the enactment of Section 304-B IPC would make it clear that the expression is a relative in nature. Time lag may differ from case to case. What is necessary is that the demand for dowry should not be stale, but should be the continuing cause linked with the death of the married woman under Section 304-B IPC.

50. At this stage, it is important to notice the judgment of the Honble Supreme Court in the case of Dinesh v. State of Haryana, 2014 (5) SCALE 641 in which the law was stated thus:

"The expression soon before is a relative term as held by this Court, which is required to be considered under the specific circumstances of each case and no straight jacket formula can be laid down by fixing any time of allotment. It can be said that the term soon before is synonyms with the term immediately before. The determination of the period which can come within term soon before is left to be determined by courts depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case. (at page 646)"

51. Thus, position of law which emerges from a plain reading of judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court is that the expression soon before is not synonymous with immediately before. This Court is conscious that the use of the word soon in Section 304-B I.P.C. ought not to be interpreted in terms of rigid periods such as days, months or years, but as necessarily should indicate that the demand of dowry should not be stale, but rather should be a continuing cause for the death. Once the presence of these concomitants is established or shown or proved by the prosecution even to their foundational effect by preponderance of possibility, the initial presumption of innocence is faded and replaced by an assumption of guilt by the deeming provision of law, thereby shifting the burden of proof upon the accused to dislodge his guilt beyond reasonable doubt as per Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act.

52. The learned trial court has also convicted the appellants under Section 498-A IPC, thus, before testing the veracity of evidence led before the learned trial Court, it would be germane to examine the ingredients referable to Section 498-A IPC, which deals with cruelty. The said provision reads as under:

"498A. Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty. - Whoever, being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman, subjects such woman to cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years and shall also be liable to fine.

Explanation. - For the purposes of this section, "cruelty means

(a) any willful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand."

53. The ingredients of an offence to be made out under Section 498-A of IPC require that there must be cruelty inflicted upon the woman which either drives her to commit suicide or causes grave injury to herself or lead to such conduct that would cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical). The second part of this provision refers to harassment with a view to satisfy an unlawful demand for property or valuable security raised by the husband or his relatives.

54. The prosecution has heavily relied upon dying declaration for bringing home the guilt of accused, thus, it is apt to extract Section 32(1) of Indian Evidence Act as under:

"(1) When it relates to cause of death.-- When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that persons death comes into question. Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question.

55. The Dying Declaration Exhibited as Ka-12, has heavily been relied upon in the instant case, thus, this Court would like to be enlightened from certain authoritative pronouncements of the Honble Supreme Court governing the field of appreciation of dying declaration as an evidence.

56. We have had privilege of combing through various authorities on the subject i.e. Dying Declaration since pre independence era (time of privy council whose decision guided Indian Law pre 1950) and post independence era (after enforcement of constitution and the law declared by the Honble Apex Court) such as Queen Empress v. Abdullah (1885 ILR 7 All 385), Pakala Narayana Swami v. Emperor (1939 PC 47), Dalip Singh & Others v. State of Punjab (AIR 1953 SC 364), Kushal Rao v. State of Bombay (AIR 1958 SC 22), K. Ramachandra Reddy & Another v. State of Andhra Pradesh (AIR 1976 SC 1994), Munnu Raja & Another v. State of M.P. (1976) 3 SCC 104 (AIR 1976 SC 2199), Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra (AIR 1984 SC 1622), Smt. Paniben v. State of Gujarat (1992) 2 SCC 474 (AIR 1992 SC 1817), Kamla v. State of Punjab (AIR 1993 SC 374), Paparambaka Rosamma & Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh (1999) 7 SCC 695, Laxman v. State of Maharashtra (2002) 6 SCC 710 (AIR 2002 SC 2973), Atbir v. Government of NCT of Delhi (2010) 9 SCC 1, Bhajju alias Karan Singh v. State of M.P. ((2012) 4 SCC 327), Jayamma & Another v. State of Karnataka (AIR 2021 SC 2399), Irfan v. State of Uttar Pradesh (2023 SCC OnLine SC 1060), Naeem v. State of Uttar Pradesh (2024 SCC OnLine SC 237), Neeraj Kumar @ Neeraj Yadav Vs. Stateo f U.P. and others, 2025 SCC Online SC 2639, State of Himanchal Pradesh Vs. Chaman Lal, 2026 SCC Online SC 85.

57. Thus, we are taking it an opportunity to comprehensively sum up the law on dying declarations taking into account aforesaid authoritative pronouncement as under:

(i) Dying Declaration having passed the muster of law are admissible by virtue of legal sanctity envisaged u/s 32 (1) Indian Evidence Act, such declarations being exception to the hearsay rule carry immense weight in criminal trials. Over the decades, the Supreme Court of India has shaped the law on dying declarations, clarifying their admissibility, the need or absence of corroboration, and the safeguards required to ensure reliability.

(ii) The root of Dying Declaration lies in the latin maxim "nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire" (no one at the point of death is presumed to lie). Sanctity of a dying declaration comes from the grave position of the declarant. Essentially,unless there is some concrete reason to suspect the dying declaration, the court can safely rely on it alone. The declaration must be scrutinized to ensure it was not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination, and that the victim had a clear opportunity to identify the perpetrator and was in a fit condition to speak. If a dying declaration appears suspicious or suffers from any infirmity, the court should look for corroboration and not rely on it exclusively. For example, if evidence suggests the deceased was unconscious or physically incapable of making the statement, that declaration must be discarded.

(iii) There cannot be an absolute rule of law that the dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction unless it is corroborated. The requirement of corroboration is merely a rule of prudence, not a mandatory legal rule. Insisting on corroboration in every case would defeat the very purpose of the statutory exception, further, lack of detail in the dying declaration is not a reason to discard it.

(iv) If a dying declaration has been recorded in a proper manner by a competent authority and the court is satisfied of its truthfulness, it is a substantive piece of evidence sufficient to sustain a conviction on its own and cannot be regarded as a weak piece of evidence.

(v) The dying declaration must pass the test of it being voluntary, coherent, and made with the declarants faculties intact. A dying declaration should be accepted if it inspires confidence after examining all the surrounding circumstances (who recorded it, when and how it was recorded, and the condition of the victim).

(vi) The omissions of detail do not invalidate a dying declaration, a statement cannot be rejected merely because it is brief or lacks particulars. In fact, brevity by itself is not a ground to doubt a statement; sometimes "the shortness of the statement itself guarantees truth."

(vii) The requirement of medical fitness/certificate is pitted against eye witness testimony, the consistent law is, if an eyewitness testifies that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make a declaration, that can override a doctors contrary opinion. The logic is that a person present at the scene may better observe the victims condition in real time than a belated medical inference.

(viii) In case of multiple dying declaration i.e. more than one dying declaration with material inconsistencies, those declarations cannot be accepted at face value without corroborative support. Specifically, if the declarationsdiffer on essential facts or implicate different individuals, the court must examine them in light of other evidence. Further the declarationsshould corroborate each other; if they do not, they must at least be consistent with the overall circumstantial and medical evidence of the case. In essence,where multiple dying declarations conflict, the benefit of doubt generally goes to the accused unless one of the versions is clearly proven true by independent evidence. This principle ensures that the prosecution cannot cherry-pick one dying statement out of several contradictory ones to secure a conviction without addressing the discrepancies.

(ix) The absence of a doctors certificate is not by itself a ground to discard a dying declaration if the circumstances otherwise indicate the victim was fit. The guiding principles emerges from Constitution Bench judgement rendered by Honble Supreme Court inthe case of Laxman (supra) which overruled the earlier dictum of Honble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Paparambaka Rosamma (supra). Thus, merely not having a doctors signature or certificate at the foot of the statement will not render it inadmissible or untrustworthy.

(x) The impact of judgment rendered by five judges bench of Honble Supreme Court in the case ofLaxman(supra) on Indian jurisprudence was tosettle the law on recording procedure for dying declarations.It resolved the confusion by clarifying that adoctors certification of mental fitness is though ideal but is not a sine qua non for the acceptance of a dying declaration. What matters is that the person who recorded the statement or others present can verify the victims consciousness and clarity.

(xi) The law does not require the declarant to be under the shadow of death or expect imminent death at the time of making the statement. A statement is a valid dying declaration as long as it relates to the cause of death or circumstances leading to it regardless of whether a substantial period passed between the statement and the death.

(xii) There is no rule barring police from recording of dying declaration, however, note of caution must be observed while relying such declarations but they are not outright inadmissible.

58. Heard Ms. Jyoti Rajpoot, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Bipul Kumar Singh, learned State Law Officer representing State.

Analysis of Evidence

59. The statement of PW-1, Santosh Kumar (father of the deceased Sujata), reflects that he stated in his examination-in-chief he stated that "I got Sujata married on 22.11.2010 to Sunil Kumar, son of Babu Lal, as per Hindu customs." His testimony is consistent with the First Information Report (Exhibit KA-1). On 13.5.2012, he received a call from his brother-in-law informing him that his daughter had suffered burn injuries and that her in-laws were taking her to Civil Hospital, Lucknow. After her admission, the appellants fled the hospital, and it was PW-1 who stayed throughout her treatment. The deceased was subjected to a post-mortem examination, which recorded that "The deceased was about 20 years of age. She died on 04.06.2012 at 8.30 p.m. in Dr. Shyama Prasad Hospital." The death occurred within two years of marriage otherwise then under normal circumstances. PW-1 Santosh Kumar made it unequivocal that his daughter had told him that her husband Sunil Kumar used to beat her and that her mother-in-law and father-in-law abused her with respect to the demand for a motorcycle and a fan.

60. The testimony of PW-1 further states that his daughter was subjected to ill-treatment at the hands of her in-laws. He then went to his daughter in-laws' house on 5.5.2012, where, he counselled his daughter Sujata's husband Sunil, and her mother-in-law and father-in-law, and advised Sujata to stay at her in-laws' house. He then returned home. On 13.5.2012, his brother-in-law Shivdin called and informed him that his daughter had caught fire and was being taken to the Civil Hospital, he stated that the deceased had stated that the three accused poured kerosene on her and set her on fire. Upon receiving this information, he arrived at the Civil Hospital with family and friends at 2:30 p.m. When he arrived at the hospital, he met the appellants at the hospital gate, after which they fled. The cross-examination further records that the deceased was lying on a stretcher at the hospital gate and that no treatment had been administered until he reached the hospital.

61. PW-2, Rakesh Kumar, stated before the trial court that "The deceased Sujata is my niece. Whenever Sujata returned home from her in-laws' house, she used to complain that the in-laws were demanding a motorcycle as dowry. They consoled Sujata and send her back, saying that everything would be fine after a few days. On 13.5.2012, all three accused together burnt Sujata." This witness is essentially a witness to the Panchnama, which has also been proved as Exhibit KA-2.

62. PW-3, Sushila, mother of the deceased Sujata, stated before the trial court that "My daughter's name is Sujata. When I met my daughter Sujata, she told me that her mother-in-law Ramrati, father-in-law Babulal, and husband Sunil were demanding a motorcycle as dowry. I counselled my daughter. My daughter also told me that her husband, father-in-law, and mother-in-law abused and harassed her with respect to the demand for a motorcycle and a fan. Whenever my daughter visited us she would tell us about the beatings and torture. Due to this very demand, my daughter's mother-in-law and father-in-law doused her with kerosene and set her on fire with the intention of killing her."

The defence did not cross-examine PW-3 Sushila, mother of the deceased Sujata on material particulars.

63. A close scrutiny of statements of all the witnesses of fact reveals that nothing material has been elicited in their cross examinationthat may impeach the credibility of the prosecution witnesses' statements. At the very least, the statements of the witnesses of fact are of corroborative value when read conjointly with the dying declaration exhibited as KA-12.

64. The post-mortem report was proved by PW-4, Dr. A.K. Srivastava, as Exhibit KA-3, who stated that "In my opinion, the cause of death was septicemia due to ante-mortem burn injuries. The extent of burn injuries in the post-mortem examination was approximately 90% burns." Despite lengthy cross-examination, his testimony cannot be impeached. He further affirmed the fitness certification appended to the dying declaration.

Contentions Raised on Behalf of Appellants

65. Learned counsel for the appellants assailed the finding of conviction returned by learned trial court raising following grounds:

66. The first and foremost submission advanced by learned counsel for appellants is that the FIR which is the foundation of prosecution case has been lodged at a belated stage as the first informant was engaged in bargaining by putting the appellant convicts to terms of paying money and since bargaining failed as such an occurrence of 13.05.2012 has been reported by means of first information report dated 22.05.2012 i.e. nearly after 9 days of delay without satisfactory explanation.

67. The contention raised by Ms. Rajpoot that the defence evidence has wrongly been discarded by learned trial court is perfunctory as on close scrutiny of all defence evidence it comes out that none of them claimed themselves to be an eye witness account and no primacy can be attached to their testimony if pitted against dying declaration.

68. Ms. Rajpoot further submitted by impeaching the testimony of PW1 - Santosh kumar contradicting it from dying declaration that when he first visited the hospital, his daughter was unconscious and she re-gained her conscious at about 5:00 PM. However, prosecution claims that dying declaration of deceased was recorded between 4:40 PM to 4:55 PM. The record does not support the timing as alleged by Ms. Rajpoot. However, PW-1 being only literate who was under trauma having seen his daughter in injured condition cannot be expected to record the timing through his watch and any such contradiction is insignificant. Thus, the argument so raised by Ms. Rajpoot does not inspire confidence impeaching the entire prosecution story.

69. The further contention raised by learned counsel for the appellants is there are multiple dying declarations thus, no credence can be attached to exhibit Ka-12 relied as dying declaration by learned trial Court. Further, the error committed by learned trial Court is relying upon dying declaration despite the deceased was brought to the hospital with 90% burn injuries. The deceased was in state of shock and severe pain arising out of burn injuries. The deceased was administered with several sedatives and painkillers which could have compromised her state of mind by impairing her cognitive capacity.

70. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that there was no fitness certificate which could be proved by the examining Doctor and in addition to this, the deceased was unconscious until 5:00 PM as per the testimony of father of the deceased (PW-1). Thus, the dying declaration of the deceased cannot be relied upon and is highly doubtful reason being in absence of medical certificate.

71. Counsel for the appellants-accused pointed out that on dying declaration thumb impression has been affixed which is not possible as entire body was burnt except right side abdomen, forehead upper part of the face, top of the head and both soles, thus, the alleged dying declaration is concocted.

72. The counsel for the appellant further submitted that no material object incriminating the deceased was recovered from the crime scene.

73. The submission so raised by learned counsel for the appellants that septicemia is the cause of death which could only be said to be remote cause but there is no denial that plethora of evidence is available that septicemia has direct nexus with the burn injuries suffered by deceased as such the appellants are the author of the crime in question. It was the direct and immediate result of the death of the deceased which is not the consequence of alleged act of the accused. The deceased died after 21 days does not establish a clear plausible link between the alleged act and death being caused by the septicemia. In this respect, reliance has been placed in Keshvalal Vs State of Madhya Pradesh, reported in (2002) 3 SCC 254, it was held that where death occurs due to septicemia after days of treatment, prosecution must establish clear link.

74. The last submission raised by counsel for the appellant is with respect to quantum of sentence inter alia stating that the punishment for life awarded to mother-in-law and 20 years rigorous imprisonment to husband and father in law of the deceased by the trial Court is disproportionate and unsustainable in the eyes of law taking into the consideration that mother-in-law has already undergone more than 14 years of incarceration, while the husband and father-in-law have undergone 10 years of incarceration. Therefore, the Court must consider the mitigating factors and proportionality of the sentence awarded to the appellants.

75. No other points/grounds assailing the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence has been pressed by the counsel for the appellants.

Submissions Advanced on Behalf of the State

76. Refuting the contention of the learned counsel for the appellants, Mr. Bipul Kumar Singh, learned State Counsel submitted that the learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellants-accused in the present case after analysing evidence in detail particularly dying declaration.

77. It is submitted that PW-1 Santosh Kumar, PW-2 Rakesh Kumar and PW-3 Sushila have made clear and coherent statements that the deceased was being harassed by the appellants for dowry. The conviction of the appellants is based on evidence and the present appeal has no merit and is liable to be dismissed.

78. Learned Counsel for the State- Respondent further contends that all statutory ingredients for " Dowry Death" are fully satisfied in this case. The deceased died within seven years of her marriage other than normal circumstances. The testimonies of PW-1 (Santosh Kumar), PW-2 (Rakesh Kumar) and PW-3 (Sushila) establishes that she was subjected to cruelty and harassment in respect to the dowry demand for motorcycle and fan "soon before her death".

79. It is further contended that the deceased specifically attributed the role of pouring kerosene oil and setting her ablaze against her mother in law/appellant-Ram Rati and she was subjected to assault and cruelty accompanying demand of dowry by her husband (Sunil Kumar) and father in law (Babulal).

80. Counsel for the State further placed reliance on the dying declaration recorded on 13.05.2012. It is submitted that the statement was recorded by Executive Magistrate, it was emphasized that deceased was certified as "fully conscious and oriented" by Doctor both before and after recording of her statement. Thus, requirement of certification by medical jurist is duly satisfied.

81. Relying upon the judgment of Naeem vs State of UP reported in (2024) 3 SCR 36, wherein the Apex Court laid down the factors to be taken into consideration while relying on dying declaration and in the present case all statutory conditions with respect to dying declaration are fully satisfied.

82. The further submission advanced by learned counsel for the State is that the death of the deceased resulting from septicemia has direct nexus with the burn injuries which was 90% and what matters is that whether the injuries were sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death and if the original injury is of fatal nature it makes no difference that death is caused by the complications flowing from that injury since, casual connection is proximate as reaffirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme court in the judgment of Maniklal sahu vs state of Chhattisgarh reported in 2025 livelaw (SC) 905.

83. Having heard learned counsel for rival parties and perused the record, it comes out that the contention raised by learned counsel for the appellants that there is no explanation offered by prosecution qua delay in lodging FIR is examined in the face value of the statement of first informant, who unequivocally stated that he was involved in the treatment of his injured daughter in the Hospital, who later on succumbed to burn injuries. He has further stated that he submitted a written report on 20.05.2012 but same was not lodged by police taking sham shelter of absence of in-charge of police station and for aforesaid reasons, the police handed over the FIR to brother in law of first informant on 22.05.2012. The delay of seven days in submitting written report if examined and pitted against the mental trauma of father who was engaged in treatment of his daughter having suffered the burn injuries, the explanation of alleged delay owing to involvement in treatment appears to be plausible. The reliance placed by defence on the judgment of Thulia Kali Vs. State of Tamil Nadu reported in (1972) 3 SCC 393 the Honble Apex Court wherein it was held that unexplained delay in lodging FIR is fatal and creates suspicion and fabrication is completely misplaced as Thulia Kalis dictum has been considered by Honble Supreme Court in the case of Hariprasad @ Kishan Sahu Vs. State of Chhatisgarh reported in 2024 SCC Online SC 1764 and it has been held that delay in lodging FIR is not always fatal if cogent explanation is furnished by prosecution and the said authority is in the same line of Honble Supreme Courts judgment rendered in the case of Ravinder Kumar Vs. State of Punjab reported in (2001) 7 SCC 690. Having considered the judgments of Supreme Court qua delay in lodging FIR in the facts of present case, it comes out that there is sufficient explanation offered by none other than first informant stating that the delay was caused on first hand due to engagement in treatment and on the other hand the FIR was not lodged by police station assigning the reason of absence of In-charge Station House Officer, thus, the argument of defence that there is delay in registration of FIR cannot be applied in vacuum and the argument so raised is hereby rejected for aforementioned reasons.

84. The argument of Ms. Rajpoot that there were multiple dying declarations is an unfounded fact as prosecution has relied upon only one dying declaration i.e. exhibit Ka-12. Thus, there is neither multiple dying declaration nor any inconsistency from any other piece of evidence could successfully be pointed out by learned counsel for appellants at the same time, the certification appended on dying declaration by medical jurist which has been duly proved before learned trial Court by virtue of testimony of PW-4 cannot be doubted, thus, the fitness as certified by the Doctor for making dying declaration is to be believed by this Court and this Court cannot supplant its own wisdom by substituting the certificate of the Doctor in some other way.

85. Furthermore, for appreciation of dying declaration the statement of PW-9 the Executive Magistrate who recorded dying declaration is material evidence in which he has stated that the deceased was in fit condition and he examined the voice whether patient was able to put thumb impression. There is no cross examination on the point with Doctor or with Magistrate that whether deceased was at the time recording of dying declaration was in condition to put a thumb impression or not and in absence of such cross examination the defence cannot derive any benefit. The counsel for the appellant submitted that no incriminating material pointing out deceased was set to ablaze was recovered.

86. The stress laid by appellantscounsel that nothing incriminating was recovered, this contention is if examined on its face value then even if it is assumed recovery of any incriminating material was not effect then such lapse can be attributed to Investigating Officer and defective investigation cannot be foundation for tendering any short of benefit leading acquittal to the appellants.

87. The counsel for the appellant has stressed and laid much emphasis that the victim was admitted to the hospital by in laws which rules out any possibility of culpability in the mind of accused rather their conduct is bona fide and same may be taken into account and their conduct of admission to hospital entitles them to have favour i.e. at least the benefit of doubt but such contention is tested on the overall evidence available on record which clearly suggest that if it is assumed that it was in laws they got the victim admitted for treatment even then they did not remain with the victim throughout her injured condition and there is no evidence that they have contributed towards expenses of treatment rather there is evidence in regard to their fleeing away from the hospital which belies the contention of appellant treating the accused appellants to be bona fide in their conduct. The attempt of admission of victim to hospital might be due to social pressure as the neighbours reached on the spot when victim was burning. The clear role assigned in the dying declaration waters down any attempt of admission to hospital in the backdrop when the appellants were impugned to have fled away from the hospital. Thus, the arguments so raised by appellants qua admission to hospital does not find favour of this Court.

88. The further contention raised by counsel for the appellant that the deceased died due to septicemia as a result of burn injuries thus, the cause of death could not directly be attributed to burn injuries rather the cause happened to be remote one. It is commonly noticed that death in case of burn injuries invariably is found due to septicemia thus, this contention is being examined in the light of judgment of Honble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Maniklal Sahu Vs. State of Chhatisgarh reported in 2025 SCC Online SC 1960, wherein the death was due to septicemia and Honble Supreme court tested Theory of Causation where death ensues after some delay.

89. The relevant paragraphs of aforementioned authority are extracted as under:

"58. Septicemia is described by the medical experts as the condition which results where the circulation becomes flooded with bacteria, either due to the failure of local defensive reactions at the site of infection or to delayed or inadequate treatment. According to the learned author, every penetrating wound except those inflicted by the surgeon is potentially infected, though a certain period elapsed before invading organisms actually establish themselves become embedded in the tissues to multiply and form toxins. [See: The Essentials of Modern Surgery by Handfield Jones and Pokitt, V Edn]

59. In one of the recent pronouncements of this Court in Prasad Pradhan v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2023) 11 SCC 320, this Court stated in paragraphs 30 and 31 respectively as under:

31. There can be no stereotypical assumption or formula that where death occurs after a lapse of some time, the injuries (which might have caused the death), the offence is one of culpable homicide. Every case has its unique fact situation. However, what is mportant is the nature of injury, and whether it is sufficient in the ordinary course to lead to death. The adequacy or otherwise of medical attention is not a relevant factor in this case, because the doctor who conducted the post-mortem clearly deposed that death was caused due to cardiorespiratory failures, as a result of the injuries inflicted upon the deceased. Thus, the injuries and the death were closely and directly linked.

(Emphasis supplied)

61. In Patel Hiralal Joitaram v. State of Gujarat, (2002) 1 SCC 22, the interval between the date of the incident when the deceased sustained burns and the date of her death was a fortnight. It was argued on behalf of the appellant therein that the death of the deceased had no direct nexus with the burn injuries as during the interregnum period some other complications cropped up as a result of which the victim succumbed. While negativizing such contention, this Court observed as under:

16. Harping on an answer given by PW 12 in cross-examination that death of the deceased had occurred due to septic learned Senior Counsel made out an argument that such septic condition could have developed on account of other causes. Mere possibility of other causes supervening during her hospitalisation is not a safe premise for deciding whether she would not have died due to the burns sustained on 21-10-1988. The cause of death can be determined on broad probabilities. In this context we may refer to a passage from Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, dealing with death by burns:

As already mentioned, death may occur within 24 to 48 hours, but usually the first week is the most fatal. In suppurative cases, death may occur after five or six weeks or even longer.

17. In Om Parkash v. State of Punjab [(1992) 4 SCC 212] the victim was set ablaze on 17-03-1979 and she sustained burns with which she died only 13 days thereafter. The assailant was convicted of murder and the conviction was confirmed by this Court.

18. It is preposterous to say that the deceased in this case would have been healed of the burn injuries and that she would have contracted infection through some other causes and developed septicemia and died of that on 15-11-1988. Court of law need not countenance mere academic possibilities when the prosecution case regarding death of the deceased was established on broad probabilities as a sequel to the burns sustained by her. Hence we repel the contention of the learned counsel on that score."

(Emphasis supplied)

90. The argument of learned counsel for the appellants with respect to burn injuries not being direct cause of death rather remote one, is examined by taking cue/light from judgment rendered by Honble Supreme Court in the case of Maniklal Sahu (supra) and is tested on the anvil of statement of doctor it comes out the medical jurist/doctor himself stated that the nexus between septicemia and the burn injuries cannot be ruled out. Furthermore the burn injuries of 90% were found to be sufficient for death in ordinary course of nature. Thus, the defence ought not to expect any leniency from this Court on the count of death being due to septicemia.

91. The deceased Sujata died at the age of about 20 years, within one and half years of her marriage, due to burn injuries at her in-laws' house, occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances. Thus, her statement before the Magistrate is a significant piece of evidence in connection with her death. A perusal of Exhibit KA-12 clearly shows that before recording the statement, the then Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Malihabad, Mr. Suryanarayan Yadav, had a doctor record a fitness report with respect to the victim's condition, and only after obtaining the certification of the medical jurist, he proceeded to record the victim Sujata's statement. The said dying declaration has been proved by its author, PW-9. The incident occurred on 13.05.2012, the statement was recorded on the same day, and the victim succumbed to her injuries on 04.06.2012. As such, the statement is relevant under Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act. In this statement, the deceased Sujata stated that she was 20 years old and had a quarrel with her in-laws, who abused and assaulted her. When her husband returned home, he also beat her and tried to drive her out of the house. Regarding how she caught fire, she clearly stated in Exhibit KA-12: "My mother-in-law, Ramrati, poured kerosene upon me and set me ablaze. They were demanding a vehicle as dowry and were demanding money every day.

92. In the case at hand, the prosecution proved the dying declaration recorded by an Executive Magistrate having been examined as PW-9, Suryanarayan Yadav. He stated on oath before the trial court that "On that day, I received information from Civil Hospital, Lucknow, through the police station, that Mrs. Sujata, wife of Sunil Kumar, was admitted to the hospital with serious burns and her statement needed to be recorded. Following this information, I went to Civil Hospital, Lucknow, and recorded Mrs. Sujata's statement verbatim as she had narrated it. The victim stated that she had quarrelled with her mother-in-law and father-in-law, who abused her. Later, when her husband returned home, he also beat her and they tried to drive her out of the house. She further stated that her mother-in-law, Ramrati, had poured kerosene on her and set her ablaze, and that they were demanding a vehicle as dowry. The victim gave this statement without any pressure." Upon being shown Paper No. A-7/4 in the file, the witness confirmed that he had written the victim's statement in his own handwriting, which bore his signature. In this manner, Exhibit KA-12 was proved.

93. In nutshell we gathered since the foundational judgment of Honble Supreme Court qua dying declaration to be tested on the touchstone of statutory mandate contained under Section 32 (1) of Indian Evidence Act is Kushal Rao Vs. State of Bombay reported in AIR 1958 SC 22, wherein the contention so raised that an uncorroborated dying declaration would not be safe for conviction was repelled and it was observed that there is neither rule of law nor a prudence that dying declaration must be corroborated before it can found a conviction. The only caution is required that dying declaration should have been recorded in a proper manner by a competent authority and the court is satisfied of its truthfulness, it is a substantive piece of evidence sufficient to sustain a conviction on its own. In short, a truthful and voluntary dying declaration can suffice without independent confirmation, so long as the court is convinced of its veracity. The jurisprudence qua dying declaration since time of Kushal Raos judgment rendered in 1957 remained consistent and there is no deviation on the said legal principle.

94. We have an advantage to go through the judgment of Privy Council rendered in the case of Pakala Narayana Swami Vs. Emperor reported in AIR 1939 PC 47 in which, the principles qua reliability of dying declaration was summerized stating therein the statement must relates to chain of evidence having a direct connection to the actual cause of death and it has further held it is not a weak piece of evidence. If the Court is satisfied that the statement is true and voluntarily it can be the sole basis for conviction without any further corroboration, there is no absolute rule that it must be recorded by a Magistrate or in a specific format but going by the facts of case in hand the dying declaration in question exhibited as Ka-12 has been recorded by Executive Magistrate who proved its authenticity before the Court.

95. The great emphasis has been laid by defence that if there are multiple dying declarations then, it is not safe to record conviction founded on dying declarations but Honble Supreme Court has held in the case of Puran Chand Vs. State of Haryana reported in (2010) 6 SCC 566 that if there are multiple dying declarations they must be consistent, major contradiction may lead the Court to reject them. In the case in hand prosecution has not relied upon multiple dying declaration as incriminating material but it is the brain child of defence that the statement given to the parents, to the Investigating Officer and to the Executive Magistrate are termed as multiple dying declarations but so far as any contradiction is concerned, nothing could be projected as such the argument of multiple dying declaration is absolutely of no consequence.

96. The Deceased survived for almost 22 days after the incident. Her dying declaration was recorded by PW-9 Suryanarayan yadav, the then SDM, Malihabad Lucknow, after obtaining the certificate of medical fitness from the doctor concerned. This dying declaration was proved by him. This witness is absolutely an independent witness and has no grudge or enmity against appellants to get them convicted. In the wake of aforesaid judgment of Laxman (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence.

97. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it, without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attending circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test of reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close judicial scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

98. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the form of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

99. Thus, we find ourselves in complete agreement that dying declaration can be the sole piece of evidence if it is trustworthy for bringing home the guilt of accused and following principles can culled out for appreciation of dying declaration as an evidence. The corroboration of dying declaration often sought as a matter of prudence is not an absolute legal requirement. While examining the dying declaration the courts must ensure that dying declaration so relied upon must pass the following tests:

(i) It must be free from tutoring, prompting or imagination;
(ii)It must have been given voluntarily, coherent and made with declarants faculties intact
(iii) The declarant should have had a clear opportunity to observe and identify the assailants
(iv) It must have been given in fit mental state and,
(v) It ought to have been recorded properly meeting the touchstone of section 32(1) of Indian Evidence Act.

100. The rigorous judicial scrutiny of dying declaration in question, satisfactory passes the muster of all the aforementioned tests.

101. The dying declaration in the instant case is briefly but clearly worded and describes the quarrels, abuse, and assault by her in-laws. It further records that when her husband arrived, he also assaulted her, and that her mother-in-law, Ramrati, poured kerosene on her and set her ablaze. Thus, the dying declaration clearly details how the incident occurred. PW-1 Santosh Kumar, (the deceased Sujata's father), and PW-3 Sushila (the deceased Sujata's mother), also stated that Sujata had told them about the cruelty, harassment and maltreatment meted out to her in connection with demand of dowry at the hospital. Thus, the dying declaration having medical certification stands corroborated by the testimonies of witnesses of fact.

102. It is now well-settled law, since the time of foundational judgment rendered by Honble Supreme Court in the case of Kushal Rao (supra) and ever since the judgment rendered by privy council in the case of Pakala Narayana Swami (supra) till today, that where a dying declaration inspires confidence, no further corroboration is needed. In the case at hand, there is a certification by the medical jurist regarding the condition of the injured Sujata, who later succumbed to her injuries. The credibility of the Executive Magistrate, i.e., PW-9, could not be doubted by the defence. Thus, the dying declaration in this case has been sufficiently proved to bring home the guilt of the accused.

103. In the present case, the deceased died in a hospital due to burn injuries within one and a half year of her marriage. In her dying declaration, she unequivocally mentioned the cruelty and torture she had suffered in connection with a demand for dowry. The dying declaration further shows that the abuse and torture took place shortly before her death. Corroborating evidence of all these facts is available in the testimony of PW-1 and PW-3.

104. It is needless to mention that Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 mandates the court to presume dowry death in cases where there is evidence of dowry demand and harassment, attracting Sections 304-B and 498-A of the Indian Penal Code. The presumption envisaged under Section 113B of Indian Evidence Act is rebuttable one but appellants utterly failed to discharge the reverse burden cast upon them by aforesaid statutory prescription as in the present case statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. , accused Ramrati stated, "We were not in the house when Sujata set herself to fire. We came in after hearing the noise. I was outside applying mud to the wall." Accused Babulal stated, "Sujata set the fire herself. We saved her. In the process, my left hand was burned. The case arose only because her family's inability to pay the money." Accused Sunil, in his statement under Section 313 of the CrPC, said, "Ramavatar's house is near my house. On the day of the incident, there was an argument between Ramavatar's wife and Sujata, and in a fit of rage, Sujata set herself on fire. My in-laws were demanding Rs. 1.5 lakh for not filing a case. I did not pay, hence the case was filed." In the present case, the evidence presented by the defence does not appear natural or sufficient to rebut the statutory presumption beyond reasonable doubt.

105. The legislative intent behind the enactment of Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act represents a profound shift in our criminal jurisprudence. Generally, this departure from the traditional maxim of the burden of proof rests upon him who affirms is deeply rooted in the doctrine of special knowledge and the compelling socio-legal necessity to pierce the veil of domestic privacy.

106. It is a grim reality that dowry deaths typically occur within the "four corners of the house," a domain characterized as a private sanctuary where the husband and his relatives exercise near-total dominion. In such a setting, the State recognizes a systemic evidentiary vacuum. In these private,hidden crimes, the victim is often dead, leaving behind no external witnesses other than the perpetrators themselves.

107. Consequently, the law justifies the imposition of a reverse burden of proof on the premise that the circumstances surrounding the death are uniquely within the exclusive knowledge of the accused. It is, therefore, both logically sound and morally imperative that the onus shifts to the occupants of the household to offer a cogent explanation.

108. Another important aspect of the defence case is that the statements of the defence witnesses do not match the statements of the accused recorded under Section 313 of the CrPC. Accused Sunil alleged that there was dispute between his neighbour Ramavatar's wife and Sujata, and stated that it was for this reason that Sujata set herself on fire. However, this fact is not mentioned in the statements of the other two accused or in the defence evidence at all. Thus, the defence's attempt to explain the circumstances of Sujata's death is entirely contradictory to the deceased's dying declaration.

109. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has also expressed its view in Ramakant Mishra alias Lalu & Others v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2015) 3 SCC (Crl.) 503, that under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, in such cases, the burden of proof falls on the accused to prove their innocence.

110. The accused persons have examined three witnesses in their defence. DW-1 Smt. Roop Rani is neighbour of the appellants who in her statement has stated that at the time of incident accused-appellants were trying to extinguish the fire and accused appellant Babulal's hands got burnt while extinguishing the fire. DW-2 Rajendra Kumar is also neighbour of the appellants and has reiterated the version of DW-1. He further stated that appellants with the help of his 'Dala'(cart) have admitted the deceased at Civil Hospital, Hazaratganj, Lucknow and also stated that wife of Sunil was saying that she set herself on fire. It is not their (appellants) fault. DW-3-Smt. Kalawati is also the resident of same village. She stated that she never heard about the demand of dowry or any harassment by the deceased. She further stated that Sujata herself said that she set herself on fire and there is no fault of anyone else.

111. The defence version that appellant convict Babulal endeavoured to save the deceased by extinguishing the fire does not inspire confidence in absence of any medical examination as he had ample opportunity to get himself medically examined as appellant no.3 Babulal accompanied the deceased while reaching to Civil Hospital, thus, absence of medical examination of Babulal establishing burning of his hand in the incident goes against the defence version.

112. When the dying declaration is weighed against the tetsimonies of the three defence witnesses, it emerges that none of them witnessed the manner and mode in which the deceased sustained the burn injuries. They are not eyewitnesses to the incident, though they have attempted to establish an alibi in favour of Sunil Kumar (the husband) by showing his presence at the grocery shop of one Sitaram. The statements of these defence witnesses are not of unimpeachable character, and when pitted against the dying declaration proved by the concerned Magistrate, their testimonies cannot be given any primacy, particularly in the backdrop of this case, where none of the defence witnesses claims to be an eyewitness. It is noteworthy that DW-2 himself stated that the deceased was in a condition to speak, which finds corroboration to the fitness certificate appended on the dying declaration by the medical jurist giving all the reason for the Court to believe upon the dying declaration and the learned trial Court has considered the dying declaration in correct perspective.

Conclusion

113. Having marshalled the evidence led by the parties before learned trial Court and having taken an overall view of the matter, including statutory prescriptions envisaged in the penal provisions and the legal requirements necessary to establish offences falling under Sections 304-B and 498-A of the I.P.C. with the aid of Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act to be conclusively proved against the appellants, Accordingly the conviction as recorded by learned trial Court do not call for any interference and same is maintained. Thus, is hereby affirmed.

Proportionality of Sentence

114. The custody certificates of appellants dated 02.02.2026 having been produced before this Court reflect that appellant no.1-Ramrati has served total incarceration of 15 years 03 months and 18 days, appellant no.2 Sunil Kumar has served total incarceration of 10 years 5 months and 10 days whereas appellant no.3 Babulal has suffered incarceration of 09 years 03 months and 14 days.

115. This Court now proceeds to consider and examine the proportionality of sentence awarded to the appellants commensurate to the offence, in view of evidence led by parties and the prayer of leniency qua sentence is again examined in the light of certain authorities of Honble Supreme Court which governs the field, with respect to sentence particularly life imprisonment in relation to Section 304-B IPC (major penal provision). The penal provision under Section 304-B provides, Courts could award sentence in exercise of its discretion between seven years to life imprisonment, depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case, thus, the minimum sentence provided is not less than 7 years and the extreme punishment is life imprisonment. The extreme penalty of life imprisonment in cases of section 304-B is not imposed as a matter of course, but only in rarest of rare cases.

116. The question of sentence in penal provision such as under Section 304-B IPC came for consideration of Honble Supreme Court in the case of Hem Chand Vs State of Haryana, reported in (1994) 6 SCC 727, wherein the Trial Court had awarded life imprisonment to the accused under Sections 304-B read with 498A I.P.C., however, the Honble Supreme court reduced the sentence to 10 years and held as under:

"7. Now coming to the question of sentence, it can be seen that Section 304-B IPC lays down that:

Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life."

117. This Court is faced with the question whether the extreme punishment of imprisonment for life is warranted in the circumstances of instant case.

118. The culpability/guilt under Section 304-B IPC is primarily dependent upon presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act. Unlike section 302 IPC, the convection under Section 304-B IPC do not require direct or circumstantial evidence but almost in every case the presumption as casts by virtue of 113-B of Indian Evidence Act is the foundation, though such presumption remains rebuttable one, but again the million dollar question is can a person be convicted for throughout life based on presumption cast by law and for this reason the sentence of life imprisonment as envisaged under Section 304-B IPC is for rarest of rare cases and not in every case. The phrase rarest of rare case used for section 302 IPC, cannot be compared to be or given same meaning when offence under Section 304-B IPC is tried with. It is profitable to have glimpse of ratio laid down in the case of Hariom Vs. State of Haryana reported in (2014) 10 SCC 577, wherein the Honble Supreme Court examined the possibility of alteration of sentence in proportion to the gravity of crime. The relevant paragraphs of aforementioned judgment with respect to award of sentence are extracted as under:

"16. Now, the question arises as to whether we should reduce the appellant's sentence and if so, to what extent, as urged by the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant.

17. This issue has been the subject-matter of debate before this Court in several cases, which arose out of Section 304-B read with Section 498-A and wherein this Court while interpreting the expression may occurring in Section 304-B IPC held that it is not mandatory for the Court in every case to award life imprisonment to the accused once he is found guilty of the offence under Section 304-B. It was held that the Court could award sentence in exercise of its discretion between seven years to life imprisonment depending upon the facts of each case. It was held that in no case it could be less than seven years and that extreme punishment of life term should be awarded in rare cases but not in every case.

18. In Hem Chand v. State of Haryana [(1994) 6 SCC 727 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 36 : AIR 1995 SC 120] , the courts below had awarded life term to the accused under Section 304-B read with Section 498-A but this Court reduced it to 10 years. This was also a case where the accused was a police officer who had suffered life imprisonment. This Court held as under: (SCC p. 731, paras 7-8)

7. the appellant-accused was a police employee and instead of checking the crime, he himself indulged therein and precipitated in it and that bride-killing cases are on the increase and therefore a serious view has to be taken. As mentioned above, Section 304-B IPC only raises presumption and lays down that minimum sentence should be seven years but it may extend to imprisonment for life. Therefore awarding extreme punishment of imprisonment for life should be in rare cases and not in every case.

8. Hence, we are of the view that a sentence of 10 years' RI would meet the ends of justice. We, accordingly while confirming the conviction of the appellant under Section 304-B IPC, reduce the sentence of imprisonment for life to 10 years' RI.

19. Similarly, this Court in State of Karnataka v. M.V. Manjunathegowda [(2003) 2 SCC 188 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 467] , while convicting the accused under Section 304-B awarded 10 years' imprisonment in somewhat similar facts.

20. Recently, in G.V. Siddaramesh v. State of Karnataka [(2010) 3 SCC 152 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 19] , this Court while allowing the appeal filed by the accused only on the question of sentence altered the sentence from life term to 10 years on more or less similar facts. Hon'ble H.L. Dattu, J. (as His Lordship then was) speaking for the Bench held as under: (SCC p. 160, para 31)

31. In conclusion, we are satisfied that in the facts and circumstances of the case, the appellant was rightly convicted under Section 304-B IPC. However, his sentence of life imprisonment imposed by the courts below appears to us to be excessive. The appellant is a young man and has already undergone 6 years of imprisonment after being convicted by the Additional Sessions Judge and the High Court. We are of the view, in the facts and circumstances of the case, that a sentence of 10 years' rigorous imprisonment would meet the ends of justice. We, accordingly while confirming the conviction of the appellant under Section 304-B IPC, reduce the sentence of imprisonment for life to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment. The other conviction and sentence passed against the appellant are confirmed.

21. Applying the principle of law laid down in the aforementioned cases and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of this case, we are of the considered opinion that the ends of justice would meet, if we reduce the sentence of the appellant from life imprisonment to that of 10 years. In our view, this case does not fall in the category of a rare case as envisaged by this Court so as to award to the appellant the life imprisonment. That apart, we also notice that while awarding life imprisonment, the courts below did not assign any reasons.

22. The learned counsel for the State and the complainant were not able to cite any authority in support of their submission except to oppose the prayer made by the appellant. Therefore, we are not impressed by their submission.

23. In the light of the foregoing discussion, the appeal succeeds and is allowed in part. The conviction of the appellant Hari Om (A-1) under Section 304-B read with Section 498-A IPC is upheld. However, the sentence (life imprisonment) awarded to the appellant is altered and accordingly, is reduced to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment. To this extent, the impugned judgment [Hari Om v. State of Haryana, Criminal Appeal No. 190 of 2004, decided on 14-5-2010 (P&H)] stands modified."

119. The proposition of law qua awarding life sentence under Section 304-B IPC was also examined by the Honble Supreme Court in case of State of Karnataka Vs M.V Manjunathe gowda & Anr. reported in (2003) 2 SCC 183; and G.V. Siddaramesh vs State of Karnataka, reported in (2010) 3 SCC 152; wherein in both the cases the life term was reduced to 10 years.

120. The question whether the sentence of imprisonment for life can be converted into a fixed term sentence and in this regard we would like to go through the ratio of law laid down by Constitutional Bench of the Honble Supreme Court, rendered in the case of Union of India v. V. Sriharan, reported in (2016) 7 SCC 1 where Honble Supreme Court dealt with issue as to whether imprisonment for life in terms of Section 53 read with Section 45 of the I.P.C. means imprisonment for the rest of the life of the convict or the same can be reduced. The Constitutional Bench after referring to the various precedents, including Swamy Shraddananda (2) v. State of Karnataka, reported in (2008) 13 SCC 767; has answered the same in paragraph nos. 104 and 105 of the said judgment i.e. V. Sriharan (Supra), in the following words:

"104.That apart, in most of such cases where death penalty or life imprisonment is the punishment imposed by the trial court and confirmed by the Division Bench of the High Court, the convict concerned will get an opportunity to get such verdict tested by filing further appeal by way of special leave to this Court. By way of abundant caution and as per the prescribed law of the Code and the criminal jurisprudence, we can assert that after the initial finding of guilt of such specified grave offences and the imposition of penalty either death or life imprisonment, when comes under the scrutiny of the Division Bench of the High Court, it is only the High Court which derives the power under the Penal Code, which prescribes the capital and alternate punishment, to alter the said punishment with one either for the entirety of the convict's life or for any specific period of more than 14 years, say 20, 30 or so on depending upon the gravity of the crime committed and the exercise of judicial conscience befitting such offence found proved to have been committed."

"105.We, therefore, reiterate that the power derived from the Penal Code for any modified punishment within the punishment provided for in the Penal Code for such specified offences can only be exercised by the High Court and in the event of further appeal only by the Supreme Court and not by any other court in this country. To put it differently, the power to impose a modified punishment providing for any specific term of incarceration or till the end of the convict's life as an alternate to death penalty, can be exercised only by the High Court and the Supreme Court and not by any other inferior court."

121. The Honble Supreme Court reiterated the said principle in the case of Shiva Kumar v. State of Karnataka, reported in (2023) 9 SCC 817; after considering both of the aforementioned judgments of V. Sriharan (Supra) and Swamy Shraddananda (Supra); wherein it has held that Constitutional Courts may, even under capital punishments is not in issue, impose a fixed term sentence of more than fourteen years in place of an ordinary life sentence, subject to the mandate of Section 433-A CrPC.

122. In the present case, this Court does not find any plausible reasons recorded by the learned Trial Court as to why the maximum punishment of life imprisonment had been awarded to the appellants. There can be no dispute that the crime committed is one of the most heinous and grave crime and does not call for any leniency. At the same time, sentencing must remain guided by judicial principles of proportionality and individual culpability.

123. Sentence awarded under Section 498-A of IPC and Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act having been suffered by appellants calls for no interference.

124. Thus, taking cue from Constitutional Bench judgment of Honble Supreme Court rendered in the case of V. Sriharan (Supra), as later clarified in the case of Shiva Kumar (Supra), this Court being a Constitutional Court derives authority to commute the sentence of life imprisonment to a fixed term sentence.

125. In view of ratio laid down by Honble Supreme Court in the case of M.V. Manjunathe Gowda (supra) and Hariom (supra) and keeping the complicity of Ramrati into account, the sentence of imprisonment for life is commuted to the sentence she had already undergone. Similarly, the sentence awarded to other two appellants namely Sunil Kumar and Babu lal are also modified from 20 years rigorous imprisonment to the period they have already undergone.

126. The appellant no.1 shall be released forthwith if not wanted in any other case. The appellant no.2 and 3, who are on bail, need not to surrender and their bail bonds are discharged.

127. However, entire amount of fine awarded by trial Court shall be deposited by appellants within two months from today. Otherwise default sentence shall remain intact and be served by appellants-convicts.

128. Consequently, the present appeal is allowed to the aforesaid extent only.

129. The appellants shall comply with provisions enshrined under Section 437A Cr.P.C.

130. Record and proceedings along with copy of this judgment be sent back to the trial Court forthwith for compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 962
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SIDDHARTHA VARMA, J.
THE HON'BLE PRASHANT MISHRA-I, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 5319 of 2021
Along with Criminal Appeal No. 5365 of 2021 and 5307 of 2021

Yogesh ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of conviction order in case of faulty investigation and when prosecution fails to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

Headnotes

Murder-motive and presence not proved-Indian Penal Code, 1860 -Ss. 302/34 - firing done inside the college campus arising out of some enmity owing to some land dispute - presence of PW-1 father and PW-2 nephew, claiming to be eye-witnesses, at the site doubtful- contradiction in the statements of PW-1, PW-2 and DW-1 -other two eye-witnesses Vimal and Jugendra never produced in the witness box - distance given in the first information report and the inquest report differed- first information report ante timed -no test identification parade done and accused never identified in the court by PW-1 or PW-2 - deceased not proved to be a student- motive of dispute not proved- no document shown to the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. - prosecution utterly failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt- conviction set aside. Appeals allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Tukesh Singh v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2025 AIR SC 2666
2. Jagdeo Singh v. State, (1979) Cri LJ 236
3. Shyama Charan v. State of U.P., 1984 All LJ 1303
4. Amrik Singh v. State of Punjab, (2022) 9 SCC 402
5. Bollacaram Pedda Narsi Reddi v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1991) 3 SCC 434
6. Gireesan Nair v. State of Kerala, (2023) 1 SCC 180
7. Brahm Swaroop v. State of U.P., 2011 Cri LJ 306
8. Rana Partap v. State of Haryana, AIR 1983 SC 680
9. Amit v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2012 Cri LJ 1791
10. Dayal Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2012 Cri LJ 4323
11. Jai Narain v. State of U.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3808
12. Dhanaj Singh v. State of Punjab, (2004) 3 SCC 654

List of Acts

1. The Indian Penal Code, 1860
2. The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Firing ;country made pistol; presence at site doubtful; test identification parade; hearsay evidence; name of father not in F.I.R. ; documents not exhibited and proved; sloppy investigation.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Arya Suman Pandey, Ashutosh Singh, Ayush Mishra, Rajiv Lochan Shukla, Saurabh Pandey, Sunil Kumar Misra, Suresh Chandra Pandey Counsel for Respondent(s) : G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.
&
Hon'ble Prashant Mishra-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Neeja Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5307 of 2021; Sri Sagheer Ahmad, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Tripurari Pal, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5365 of 2021 and Sri Suresh Chand Pandey along with Sri Saurabh Pandey, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5319 of 2021; Sri Naseeruzzaman, learned counsel appearing for the informant and Sri C.B. Dhar Dubey, learned A.G.A. for the State were extensively heard.

2. These three Criminal Appeals have been filed by the three convicted accused persons namely Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Raghvendra @ Kaalu and Yogesh against the judgment and order dated 24.09.2021 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Session Trial No. 109 of 2003 arising out of Case Crime No. 307 of 2002, under Section 302/34 of I.P.C., Police Station ' Gandhi Park, District ' Aligarh. A fine of Rs. 20,000/- had also been imposed and they had to go additional rigorous imprisonment for six months in default of the payment of fine.

3. Upon an incident that had occurred on 27.04.2002 at around 07:00 AM, a first information report was lodged at 07:45 AM by one Balveer Singh, Advocate R/o Press Colony, Police Station Civil Lines, District Aligarh alleging that on 27.04.2002 in the morning, he had gone to drop his son Sanjeev Chaudhari at Dharm Samaj Mahavidyalaya (hereinafter called the D.S. Mahavidyalaya) on his Maruti car (UP 81 D 7155). He had stated that it was the last paper of the B.A. final year and that along with him his nephew, Ramesh, Vimal and Jugendra, had also accompanied him. He had stated in the first information report that when at 07:00 AM they had reached the D.S. Mahavidyalaya gate then his son got out of the car and went inside the college. At that moment Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar son of Bhupendra Singh, Kaalu son of Shailendra and Yogesh son of not known to the complainant, were waiting inside the college and they, from their country made pistols with an intention to kill the son of the applicant Sanjeev Chaudhari, fired upon him. It has been stated that because of the firing done on the son of the complainant, he died on the spot. This incident, he had stated, he had himself seen and was also witnessed by the persons who were accompanying him in the car. He had also given the motive for the firing that the three assailants because of some enmity owing to some land dispute etc. had committed the murder. He had stated that the dead-body of his son was lying at the spot and he had prayed for action.

4. Upon having lodged the report, police had got into action and from the spot in question recovered one live cartridge of 315 bore and one country made pistol of 315 bore from the pocket of the pant (jeans) worn by the deceased, Sanjeev Chaudhari. A description of the pistol was also given. From the right pocket of the pant, three cartridges of 315 bore were also recovered. The 315 bore pistol alongwith the four cartridges were recovered and sealed and also a recovery memo of them was prepared as Exhibit Ka-9. From the spot, where the dead-body was lying, the plain soil and the soil which had blood stains was collected and recovery memo of it was prepared as Exhibit Ka-3. From the possession of the deceased, one pen of Renault (white colour) was also recovered. An empty cartridge of 315 bore which was found at the site was also recovered and the recovery memo of the pen and the cartridge was prepared as Exhibit Ka-4. The inquest report (panchayatnama) was also prepared. The proceeding of the panchayatnama commenced at 08:55 AM and was completed at 10:45 AM. The witnesses of the panchayatnama were Narendra Singh, Satish Singh, Ram Bhool, Karan Pal Singh and Ravindra Pal Singh. Upon the preparation of the panchayatnama, the dead-body along with all the required documents was sent for post-mortem immediately at 10:45 AM. For the post-mortem, it is evident, that the body reached the Office of the Reserve Inspector at 03:40 PM. Thereafter, it reached the hospital where the post-mortem had to be conducted at 04:10 PM. Upon the conclusion of the investigation, charge-sheet was submitted by the police on 28.05.2002 and thereafter the court framed charges against the accused persons namely Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Raghvendra @ Kaalu and Yogesh. Charges were read out to the accused persons and when they denied the same, trial commenced.

5. From the side of the prosecution, as many as five witnesses were produced. PW-1 and PW-2 were the witnesses of fact.

6. The PW-1, Balveer Singh, was the father of the deceased. He, in his statement-in-chief, had submitted that he practiced in Aligarh Civil Court as a lawyer and that at the time of the incident his son, Sanjeev Chaudhari, was appearing as a student in the D.S. Mahavidyalaya for the final year exam. On 27.04.2002, he had stated that he had taken his son, Sanjeev Chaudhari, in his Maruti car (UP 81 D 7155) from his house at Press Colony to the college in the morning. Accompanying the father and the son was the real nephew of Balveer Singh, Ramesh. Other family members namely Vimal and Jugendra also accompanied the PW-1. He had stated that when he had reached the College D.S. Mahavidyalaya at 07:00 AM, his son got out from the car and went inside the gate of the college. He had further stated that he, alongwith the three persons who had accompanied him, was watching the son of the applicant, Sanjeev Chaudhari, going inside the college. He further stated that at the moment when his son Sanjeev Chaudhari had entered the gate and had walked a little distance inside the college, Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Raghvendra @ Kallu and Yogesh were waiting for his son, Sanjeev Chaudhari. They fired upon his son with their country made pistols and because of the injuries sustained by Sanjeev Chaudhari by the firing, he fell down and died on the spot. He had stated that the entire incident had been seen by him and the accompanying persons. He thereafter shouted for help and all the accused persons ran away. He had very categorically stated that the accused had enmity with his son because of some plot of land and therefore they had killed him. Continuing with his statement, he told in detail about the first information report lodged at the Police Station Gandhi Park. Also the details of the dates was given by him. He looked at the tehrir and stated that it was that very document which he had written and had signed upon. He had thereafter stated that the accused persons were criminals who had earlier also committed various crimes and cases against them were going on. In his cross-examination, he had stated that he had been practicing since 1980 and that he was satisfied with his profession. He had thereafter stated that he could not with certainty say that all his clients were satisfied with him. However, he prepared all his cases earnestly. He had stated that on the preceding two occasions when the examination of his son was going on, he had gone to drop him. He had stated that his son had told him about the enmity with the accused persons and that was the reason he accompanied him to the college. He had stated that whenever he used to go to the college, he was always accompanied by some acquaintance or by his family members. On that day also he was accompanied by the relatives. Before the last paper, his son had already appeared in all the papers on the scheduled dates from 07:00 AM to 10:00 AM. He had stated that at the relevant point of time his son did not have any license to carry firearm. None of the family members also had any license to carry firearms. The nephews who had accompanied him did not stay with him at Aligarh. As and when they were required they were called by phone. Prior to the date of incident, he had called them and they had reached at 06:00 PM in the previous evening. Jugendra was the son of his real brother-in-law (sala). He had also reached the house one day prior to the incident. At the time of the incident, PW-1 was staying in mohalla Press Colony, Police Station Civil Lines, District Aligarh. He had stated that even though the accommodations in the Press Colony were given to government employees, because of some acquaintance he was staying there. The house in which he was staying had only two small rooms. At the time of the incident, he along with his wife and three sons was staying there. On the night preceding the day when the incident had occurred, in the quarter there were eight members. He had very categorically stated that Sanjeev Chaudhari did not have any country made pistol or cartridges and that on the date of incident also he did not have any firearm or cartridges and that only after the panchayatnama, he came to know that from the possession of his deceased son a country made pistol and cartridges were recovered. Apart from the country made pistol and cartridges, one mobile phone, one pen, one gold chain and one purse were the articles which were recovered. He had stated that he had no knowledge of the fact that as to whether any identity card or admit card was recovered from the possession of his son. He had stated that it was not correct that before the examination commenced, the answer books were given to the students 15 minutes prior to the commencement of the exams. When he had reached the college only 2 to 3 motorcycles were parked outside the gate of the college. He had further stated that the entire gate was open on the date of incident. There was a Post Office on one side of the gate and on the other side there was a branch of the State Bank. At the time of the incident, there was no college staff or police personnel present. He had stated that he had parked his car absolutely at the gate of the college. All the motorcycles and scooters which were parked at the gate were so parked on the Eastern side. He had stated that he had reached the college from the Western side. The road running in front of the college was the G.T. Road and it was running from East to West direction. He had stated that upon reaching the college he had parked his car in the North-South direction and that the car was facing the gate. He had stated that he along with his companions had got out of the car and they were all standing against the car. This they had done for only 2 to 3 minutes. He had very categorically denied the suggestion that it was difficult to see the place of incident from the place where they had parked their car and at that relevant point of time many students were entering and exiting the college. He had stated that he had seen the accused from around 35 to 36 paces. Before the incident had occurred, he had not raised any hue and cry. However after the firing was done, he had raised a lot of hue and cry along with the companions who had accompanied him. Because of the shouting which was done by him and his companions, one or two persons had stopped on the road. At the time of the firing, no police personnel had reached the college. He had stated that the accused persons had run away from the same gate where he along with his companions had arrived. He along with his companions had tried to apprehend the accused persons. However, they could not do so as they were in possession of country made pistols. He had further stated that the accused had not fired upon him or his companions. The fact that he along with his companions had tried to apprehend the accused and that they had run away by flaunting their country made pistols was not mentioned in the first information report. He had stated that the Investigating Officer had taken his statement after the first information report was lodged.

7. The cross-examination continued on 27.08.2010. He had stated upon a question being put to him as to whether the accused were at the gate when he had reached, he had replied that none of the accused was at the gate. He had further stated that his statement under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. which was got recorded that the accused persons were sitting inside the college and were waiting for his son to come, was correct. He had stated that when his son (deceased) after coming out of the car had started going towards the college and when the accused had fired upon him then, he had seen the accused persons for the first time. He had stated that he along with his companions had seen the incident while standing beside the car. He had stated that he had not given any statement to the effect that he along with his companions who were sitting inside the car had seen the accused properly and had recognized them. How that statement was recorded by the investigating officer was not known to him.

8. In the further cross-examination, he had stated that he originally belonged to Village Usrah Rasoolpur, Police Station Tappal. He had stated that Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar belonged to Village Kalai, Police Station Harduaganj and resided 60 kilometers away from his village. Village Kalai where the accused Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar lived, was at a distance of around 15 kilometers from Press Colony. He had further stated that he had come to know about the enmity between his son and Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, one of the accused, 15-20 days prior to the date when the incident had occurred. He, however, stated that he had never thought that the enmity between the children would result in the death of his son and he had never reported the matter anywhere. While continuing with his statement, he testified, he used to accompany his son simply because he was afraid that children might not fight on the way. He had further stated that against his son, there were few cases pending and that in them some compromises had been arrived at. He however stated that he had no knowledge that any criminal case was pending in any court of law. Further upon a question being asked that he had got his son bailed out then he had answered that in one or two cases he had got him bailed out. He then had stated that he had no knowledge of the fact that against his son in the year 2001 in Police Station Civil Lines, three cases under Section 307 of I.P.C. were registered. He had also stated that he had no knowledge that in the year 2000 a case under Sections 147/342/323/506 of I.P.C. had been got registered at Police Station Civil Lines. He had thereafter stated that he had also no knowledge that in the year 2002 a case under Section 307/504/506 had been got registered against his son. About the other case which was pending at the Police Station Quarsi under Section 307 of I.P.C., he had stated that the same was not known to him.

9. He had thereafter continued to face the cross-examination and he had stated that he had no knowledge of the fact that in Harduaganj his son had any partnership with regard to some liquor establishment. At the Ramghat road there was some land of a farmer belonging to the village Quarsi. His son had taken some land there and that on a few plots of that land the accused always wanted to take possession and because of this desire of the accused persons to take possession over that land, they had enmity with his son. He further had stated that he had no knowledge as to when that particular land was purchased by his son which was around 14 bighas and it belonged to a farmer by the name Raushan Singh. He again stated that the plot number, etc. he did not remember. He also stated that there was no registered agreement between the farmer and his son. With regard to one Meena Devi, he had stated that there was some registered agreement vis-a-vis his son. He however had no knowledge if there was any agreement even with Meena Devi. In a nutshell, what he had stated in the cross-examination was that he had no document etc. with regard to the various lands which could be the cause of enmity. He had very categorically stated that the age of his son was 22 years at the time of incident. He had no knowledge of any enmity of anyone with his son. He had stated that at the time of firing they (he alongwith his companions) had rushed towards the place of incident but since the accused had flaunted their country made pistols, they did not go anywhere near the place of incident. At that point of time, 3 to 4 firing had been done. However, he did not remember as to how many fire shots had been fired before he had rushed to save his son. He had then stated that he could not enter the college. However, when the accused persons had run away then he reached near the dead-body of his son. He had tried to move the body of his son but he had seen that the son had died on the spot and he was convinced that his son had died. He had stated that on his hand and on his clothes there was no blood. There was lot of blood oozing out from the head and shoulder of his son and that he was in a great shock but he had not lost his mind. After having remained for 4 to 5 minutes near the dead-body of his son, he had gone to the Police Station Gandhi Park to get the report lodged. However, before reaching the police station he had informed his acquaintances and his family about the incident. The information was given by the telephone which was at the bus stand. He had stated that he, along with the persons who had accompanied him to the college had gone to the police station on a rickshaw. After the incident, they were also in a panic and they did not know as to who had the car key. He had then stated that he had driven the car from his house to the college. About half an hour after the incident, when he found the key of the car in his pocket then he had given the key to Jugendra for bringing the car. When the incident had occurred none of the persons who had gone to the place of incident had waited near the dead-body. He had stated that till such time he was there, the police had not reached. He was not aware that as to whether the college authorities had informed the police. He, upon a question being put to him as to whether he had got the information about the death of his son from the police, had answered that it was wrong to say that he got the information from the police. He had stated that his companions had gone to the police station on two rickshaws. To begin with all the four had reached the bus stand and had tried to make phone calls and thereafter all the four had gone to the police station. He had stated that he had scribed the first information report at the bus stand itself while sitting at a shop near the bus stand. The paper on which the first information report was written was brought for by him from the house of one advocate friend of his. Other advocates known to him were not living at his Press Colony. Rather they were living at Saroj Bye Pass which was 2 kilometres away from the bus stand. By the time when the advocate friend reached the bus stand, the PW-1 had waited for him at the bus stand. He had stated that he had not taken the advice from anyone to get the first information report lodged.

10. Continuing with the cross-examination, the PW-1 had further answered that the paper which was brought was so brought by one Subhash Chandra Chauhan. From the bus stand, he had called 5 to 6 persons but those who reached were Satendra Chauhan, Advocate, Satish Kumar Singh and Ravendra Pal Singh. Apart from ringing up the lawyer, he had also informed his people at the village. At that point of time, there was a phone in his house. He had stated that he did not remember whether the office of proctor in the college was near the place of incident. However, he had stated that the office of the proctor was around 50-60 steps away. He had thereafter stated that at the place of incident, he had a danger to his life and therefore he did not call from the office of proctor. He had stated that the accused had run away in the eastern direction after coming out from the gate. Beside the gate there was the G.T. Road and the accused had run towards the direction of the district Etah. He had stated that it was wrong to say that he had introduced a story of reaching the bus stand as there was some delay in the lodging of the first information report. From the place of incident, the bus stand was nearer as compared to the distance between the place of incident and Police Station Gandhi Nagar. From the bus stand to Police Station Gandhi Nagar, the distance was around 100 meters. He had thereafter explained the topography of area and had stated that from the place of incident, the bus stand and the Gandhi Park could be reached after crossing the chauraha. The chauraha was on the left side of the bus stand. At the relevant point of time at the bus stand, there were Subhash Chandra Chauhan, Satendra Chauhan and two more persons. The nephews after having stopped at the bus stand for sometime went to the complainant's house to give the information. From the bus stand, complainant had gone to the police station to get the first information report lodged. He had then categorically stated that he had not gone to the place of incident along with the police. The nephews had stayed at the bus stand for 10-15 minutes and thereafter they had taken the car and had gone to the house at Aligarh. The car was brought back about 15 minutes later by his nephew Jugendra. Immediately after the incident, nobody had stopped near the dead-body of his son. He had however stated that the others had reached the place of incident around half an hour or 45 minutes later. He had stated that his nephews had for the second time reached the place of incident around after half an hour. He however categorically stated that he had never gone back to the place of incident. He had stated that it was wrong to say that he had not gone to the place of incident because he had known that the dead-body of his son had proceeded towards the mortuary after the completion of the panchayatnama. He had however stated that he had reached the mortuary straight from the police station and there he had met his nephew and the son of his brother-in-law. He had stated that he had reached the mortuary at around 11:00 to 11:15 AM. He had stated that from Aligarh his village was around 45 kilometers away and therefore it was wrong to say that upon getting the information, his nephew and the son of his brother-in-law had straight away gone to the mortuary. In the cross-examination, he had stated that on many occasions earlier also he had accompanied his son to the college. He had further stated that he had not remembered as to when it was the last time that he had gone before the date of incident to the college. However, he had stated that it might have been around 8-10 days prior to the date of incident that he had gone to the college along with his son. He had then stated that before the incident had occurred, he had gone to the college for some work around one or two months back. He had stated that it was wrong to say that one day prior to the date of incident, he was at Allahabad. He had then stated that he was not aware that there was a police chauki near the D.S. Mahavidyalaya. He had stated that he did not remember as to what time he had reached the Police Station Gandhi Park. He had stated that he did not remember as to who had accompanied him to the police station. He had stated that he had reached the police station on the vehicle of someone. To whom the vehicle belonged he did not remember. He had stated that after reaching the mortuary, he had again visited the police station, where his statement was already recorded by the investigating officer. He further stated that it was correct to say that he had not mentioned the name of the father of Yogesh in the first information report. However, he had given the name of the father of Yogesh in the statement recorded under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. as he by that time had enquired about the name of the father of Yogesh from his village. He then specifically had stated that from the village Kalai, one Manveer Chaudhari had given the name of the father of Yogesh.

11. In the cross-examination vis-a-vis Raghvendra @ Kaalu, he had stated that he had not known him. Even his son Sanjeev Chaudhari never used to visit him. The accused Raghvendra @ Kaalu had never visited his house also. He had then stated that he had never recognized Raghvendra @ Kaalu either during the investigation or in the jail. He had also stated that he was not aware as to in what direction Raghvendra @ Kaalu had fired. He had stated that he had come to know the name of Raghvendra @ Kaalu as a few students told about the name and therefore he had mentioned the name of Raghvendra @ Kaalu in the first information report. The names of the students who had told the name of Raghvendra @ Kaalu, of course he did not know.

12. PW-2 was the nephew, Ramesh, who also claimed to be an eye-witness of the incident. In his examination-in-chief, he had stated that on 27.04.2002 he himself, his uncle Balveer Singh and the other two relatives (Vimal and Jugendra) along with Sanjeev Chaudhari had gone in a Maruti car to the D.S. Mahavidyalay to drop Sanjeev Chaudhari for the examination in which he was to appear. When all of them reached the college at around 07:00 AM, Sanjeev Chaudhari went out of the car and went inside the college. He, however, had stated that they stood outside the college as they were waiting for one Dr. Gajendra Singh who was a Lecturer in the college and that around 07:00 to 07:15 AM they heard the sound of firing. Upon hearing the sound, they went inside the college and found that Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Yogesh and one more unknown person, who were all having country made pistols had fired upon Sanjeev Chaudhari, who had fallen on the ground because of the firing. They all shouted for help and went inside the college. The accused persons ran away flaunting their country made pistols. He had stated that these accused persons were dreaded criminals and against them there were various other cases of murder etc. He had stated that he had seen the entire incident himself along with all the accompanying persons. He had thereafter stated that he had known Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar and Yogesh from before because he had himself stayed in the Press Colony while he was studying and the accused used to visit him at the Press Colony.

13. In the cross-examination by the defence vis-a-vis Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, he had stated that he was a farmer and was living in village Usra Rasoolpur and that he was doing agriculture work.

14. Balveer Singh was his real uncle who was in the Court standing beside him and that he had stated that he had been brought to the Court by his uncle. However, he was not tutored. He also stated that he did not have any license of any firearm but his uncle had one. He had thereafter stated that Balveer Singh was older to him by 25 years and he called him chacha ji. The deceased was around 15 years younger to him. He had stated that 14 to 15 years prior to the date of incident when he was living in the Quarter No. 27 of the Press Colony and was studying, in the other block one

Gulab Singh used to stay and probably Sanjeev @ Roby used to visit him there and that the age of Sanjeev Chaudhari at the time when the PW-2 stayed at the Press Colony was around 10 to 12 years. He had thereafter stated that Sanjeev Chaudhari at the relevant point of time when he was staying at the Press Colony, was around 09 to 10 years of age. He had stated that one day prior to the date of incident, he was called by his uncle as the deceased was having some enmity and therefore he along with the other relatives had reached Aligarh. He had stated that a day prior to the incident, he had got the information at about 02:00 to 03:00 PM that he had to reach Aligarh. He had no telephone in his village but Vimal had a telephone and therefore he had got the information on it. He then had stated that on an earlier occasion when he had stated that he had informed Vimal that they had to go to Aligarh then it was a wrong statement and that in fact it was Vimal who had told him to go to Aligarh. He had stated that Vimal who had accompanied them to the college was studying in D.S. Mahavidyalaya, Aligarh and in the evening prior to the date when the incident had occurred, he also had a paper and that he used to come from his village to appear in the paper. The previous day, he had stated that he i.e. PW-2 and Vimal had reached Aligarh at around 06:00 PM and that he was staying at Balveer Singh's house. He had also stated that the deceased Sanjeev Chaudhari had no country made pistol or any cartridges etc. Later on, of course he had stated that he came to know that the deceased was having a country made pistol and was also having live cartridges. On the date of incident, there was no police personnel on the gate of the college. He had stated that whenever a student entered the college, he had to produce the identity card and the admit card and without those documents no one was allowed to go inside the college. On the date of incident, they could not meet Professor Dr. Gajendra Singh. He thereafter had denied the suggestion that he had come up with the story of meeting Professor Dr. Gajendra Singh because he had to give a reason to wait after the deceased had gone inside the college. He had stated that the incident had occurred at around 07:15 AM. The examination started at 07:00 AM and that the students had to reach the centre 15 minutes prior to the exam. He had then stated that he had parked his car outside the gate and that all persons coming in and going out of the college were getting their ingress and egress through the wicket gate i.e. the small gate which was carved out in the bigger gate. He had stated that he had seen the accused from 35-36 steps away. The moment the firing was done, the PW-2 had stated that he had rushed to save his brother but because the accused threatened them with their country made pistols, he could not reach near the deceased. He had also tried to apprehend the accused persons unsuccessfully. He had gone near the dead-body of the deceased but did not touch him. He had stayed there for 3-4 minutes but had thereafter proceeded for the bus stand. From the college, the police station was around half a kilometer away and that the bus stand was around 10-15 steps before the police station. No one stayed back with the deceased. The four persons had reached the bus stand after the firing was over. The car was also left at the gate and they had gone to the bus stand on a rickshaw. From the bus stand he himself, Vimal and Jugendra had proceeded for Press Colony and thereafter they had gone to the college again at around 10:45 AM. At that point of time, panchayatnama was being filled up. The police had questioned him around five days after the incident. He had also stated that he was not aware of the fact that there were other criminal cases pending against the deceased. He was also not knowing that the deceased was earlier jailed. He however had stated that he was aware of the fact that he was dealing in land. He also did not know if there was any dispute with regard to any land. On the date of incident, Vimal had returned to the village along with him. He did not appear in the examination which Vimal was required to appear at Aligarh. The PW-2 was also cross-examined on behalf of the accused Yogesh and had stated that on the date when the incident had occurred, he had reached the D.S. Mahavidyalay when the panchayatnama preceedings were going on. Professor Dr. Gajendra Singh was of course not there. In all there were 80-90 persons. No one known to him was present. There were only Vimal and Jugendra who were known to him. Thereafter they had stayed there for 4-5 minutes only. On behalf of Raghuvendra, no one cross-examined the PW-2.

15. PW-3, S.I.Y. Bhardwaj, was the doctor who had conducted the post-mortem. He had stated that he had conducted the post-mortem at around 04:15 PM. The dead-body was sent by the Police of the Police Station Gandhi Park alongwith constables No. 03 Ashok Verma and C.P. 120 Ramveer Singh and thereafter he had proved the injuries and the post mortem report. One bullet was recovered from the stomach. With regard to the injury no. 5, he had stated that it could have been inflicted by some blunt object and then had stated that the cause of death could not have been the injury no. 5. He had stated that the injury no. 1 was chiefly responsible for the death of the deceased.

16. PW-4 was the Investigating Officer, R.K. Sharma. He had described the method in which the investigation was done and what was recovered and how the recovery memos were prepared. He had narrated the method in which the accused persons were arrested. He had also narrated the method in which the statements were recorded. The panchayatnama was also proved by him. On 20.10.2014, PW-4 had stated that he could not prove the recovery which was made from the deceased as the same had got lost and with regard to that a report had already been lodged and was on record as paper no. 345. He had stated very categorically that at 07:45 AM after the first information report was lodged, the copy of the same was given to the first informant and thereafter his statement was recorded and that took around 20 minutes and he thereafter proceeded for the place of incident by his jeep and the complainant/informant had reached the place of incident by his car. The panchayatnama, he had stated, was prepared on his direction by Sub-Inspector R.P. Singh. The panchayatnama did not contain the signatures of the PW-4. The recovery memos of the articles recovered from the deceased were prepared by him. He had stated that the case diary of that particular date was not recorded by him but was so recorded on his dictation as his hand was aching. The investigation was done by him in between 27.04.2002 and 28.05.2002. Thereafter, the charge-sheet was submitted. He had stated that the recovery memo of the articles recovered from the deceased was signed by the witness, Ram Bhool, who was the chaprasi (peon) of the college. This very chaprasi was also signatory in the panchayatnama. He had stated that even though Ram Bhool was a signatory in the panchayatnama and also in the recovery memo, however, his name was not included in the list of witnesses in the charge-sheet. He had stated that he had not made any effort to get the accused identified as it was stated in the first information report that the dispute was there with regard to some land and therefore he had presumed that the complainant was knowing the accused persons. He had further stated that he had not made any effort to get the country made pistol, by which the firing was done in which the deceased had died, recovered. No efforts were made to send the recovered bullet etc. to the Forensic Science Laboratory. He had thereafter stated that he had not made any effort to find out as to which was the land because of which there was enmity between the deceased and the accused persons. He had thereafter stated that when he had reached the place of incident, he had not found the informant or the other eye-witnesses. He had very categorically stated that the distance between the place of incident and the police station which was given in the panchayatnama was different from the one which was given in the first information report. However, he denied the suggestion that the proceedings of panchayatnama were done prior to the lodging of the first information report. He had stated that the accused persons had stationed themselves as per the site plan near the Geography Department and that this place was around 38 steps inside the college from the gate. The entire spot map was got prepared on the pointing of the complainant/informant. On 21.07.2016, the PW-4 was once again called for the recording of his statement-in-chief. He had stated after his statement-in-chief, the charge-sheet which he had submitted in the Court was in his hand writing and that he had missed out to give the names of Ram Bhool and Satendra Kaushik in the list of witnesses in the charge-sheet inadvertently. He again reiterated that the entire site plan was got prepared in the presence of the first informant.

17. PW-5, Keshav Dev, was the Head Moharrir on the relevant date and he had proved the chik. He had also stated that on the relevant date, along with the complainant two other persons, one of whom was Subhash Chauhan, Advocate had come. Subhash Chauhan was known to him from before.

18. Thereafter, the statements of the accused persons under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. were got recorded, wherein they denied having committed the crime and pleaded innocence and also the accused Raghvendra had stated that because of there being enmity between two groups of D.S. Mahavidyalaya, the case had wrongly been registered against them. Yogesh and Sanjeev Kumar @ Roby had stated that they were implicated on account of some enmity.

19. Thereafter, the statement of one DW-1, Karan Pal Singh, was got recorded. Karan Pal Singh was also a witness of the panchayatnama but he was not made a witness by the investigating officer in the charge-sheet. He had stated in his examination-in-chief that he was a chaukidar in the D.S. Mahavidyalaya on the relevant date i.e. on 27.04.2002. On that date he had reached the college at 06:00 AM as the examinations were going on. In between 07:15 to 07:30 AM, the main gate of the college was closed and only a small wicket gate was kept open. Thereafter, he had gone to open the other class rooms of the college. When he was opening the rooms for the practical examination then he heard some sound of firing and when he reached the Geography Department then he saw a student laden with blood and therefore he ran towards the examination office where he informed the proctor and the proctor rang up the police. The police thereafter reached within 15 to 30 minutes and the police itself informed the family members of the deceased and they thereafter reached the place of incident in half an hour time and in the meantime, panchayatnama proceedings were undergone. The panchayatnama had taken place in his presence i.e. in the presence of DW-1. When the dead-body was frisked/inspected then a loaded country made pistol with three live cartridges and Rs. 300/- were recovered. Along with these articles, a mobile phone was also recovered. Ram Bhool the other employee of the college was also a witness of the panchayatnama. He had stated very categorically that the father of the deceased reached the spot after the panchayatnama was drawn.

20. Upon a question being asked by the court as to whether the PW-1 had witnessed the incident, he had clearly given an answer in the negative. While answering the question he had very categorically stated that he had not seen the incident and he had also stated that he had never seen the accused persons who were present in the Court. The informant thereafter cross-examined the DW-1, wherein he had stated that he was working in the college since 1992. He had further stated that before he reached the place of incident the accused had run away from the place of incident. When the Court asked him as to whether the deceased was alive at the time when he had reached the place of incident, he had categorically replied that when he had reached the place of incident, the deceased was dead. He did not touch the dead-body. He had also stated that he had never seen the deceased or known his name. He had also stated that he did not know the names of the family members or of the father of the deceased. He only knew the name of Ram Bhool who was a witness in the panchayatnama. He had also stated that the police had recorded his statement on the date of the incident and that he had categorically informed the investigating officer that when he was opening the class rooms for the practical examination then he had heard the sound of firing and he therefore reached the spot. He also reiterated the same story as was narrated how the police was informed. He had again reiterated that after the incident, the family members of the deceased including his father had reached the spot. Thereafter, upon conclusion of the trial when the judgment and order dated 24.09.2021 was passed, the instant Appeal was filed.

21. Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Neeja Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5307 of 2021; Sri Sagheer Ahmad, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Tripurari Pal, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5365 of 2021 and Sri Suresh Chand Pandey along with Sri Saurabh Pandey, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5319 of 2021 had appeared. Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate made the following submissions:

(i) Learned counsel for the appellant in the very beginning submitted that if the documents namely the Chik F.I.R. and the panchayatnama are seen then it becomes evident that there was ante timing done while reporting the first information report. The Chik F.I.R. shows that the distance between the place of incident i.e. D.S. Mahavidyalaya and the Police Station was one and half kilometre. The police station was on the Eastern side. Whereas if the panchayatnama is seen, he submitted that the distance given between the place of incident and the police station was one kilometre. Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that if the first information report is perused then we find that the names of Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar son of Bhoopendra Singh, Raghvendra @ Kaalu son of Sheelendra Singh and Yogesh son of not known to the first informant were given out as names of the accused in the first information report. In the cross-examination, at page 22 of the paper book the PW-1, first informant, had stated that 'जब मै गेट के पास पहुँचा तो उसके थोड़ी देर बाद जब मेरा लड़का संजीव कालिज की तरफ अन्दर जाने लगा और जब मुलजिमों ने उसके उपर फायर किए तब पहली बार गेट के अन्दर ही मुलाजिमों को मैंने देखा था।' Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that the PW-1 had seen the appellants for the first time inside the college gate. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that the PW-1 at the time of getting his statement recorded under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. had stated at page no. 22 of the paper book 'इस घटना को मैने व मेरे साथ कार में बैठे व्यक्तियो ने गोली मारने वाले बदमाशों को अच्छी तरह देखा व पहचाना।'. However, he changed his statement in the court and had stated "मै व मेरे साथ के लोगो ने कार के सहारे खड़े होकर घटना देखी।'. However, he changed his statement in the court and had stated 'मै व मेरे साथ के लोगो ने कार के सहारे खड़े होकर घटना देखी।'. In the cross-examination done by the defence counsel of Yogesh, the PW-1 had stated that the name of the father of Yogesh was not written in the first information report. However, in the statement recorded under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. he had given the name of his father as he had talked to certain people of Village Kalai and from there he had got the name of the father of Yogesh. So far as the Raghvendra @ Kaalu was concerned, learned counsel for the appellant states that the PW-1 had not known the name of the accused Raghvendra @ Kaalu and he says so in his cross-examination at page no. 31-32 of the paper book 'मुलजिम राघवेन्द्र उर्फ कालू से घटना से पहले से मेरा कोई व्यवसाय अथवा आना जाना नही था मेरे बेटे संजीव चौधरी (मृतक) का भी आना जाना उसके साथ नही था। राघवेन्द्र उर्फ कालू घटना से पहले मेरे घर कभी नही आया। यह बात सही है कि मैं घटना से पहले राघवेन्द्र को नही जानता था। यह कहना भी सही है कि मैने राघवेन्द्र उरफ कालू की शिनाख्त न तो विवेचना के दौरान की और न जेल में की है। मैं यह नही देख पाया कि अभियुक्त राघवेन्द्र ने किस दिशा से फायर किया अभियुक्त राघवेन्द्र का नाम मुझे घटना स्थल पर कालिज के कुछ छात्रो ने बताया था इस लिए मैने इसका नाम प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट मे लिखा दिया। जिन छात्रो ने अभियुक्त राघवेन्द्र का नाम बताया मै उनके नाम नही जानता। यह बात सही है कि मैने राघवेन्द्र उर्फ कालू को रिपोर्ट में नामित किया था इस लिए मैंने उसके द्वारा गोली चलाने वाली बात अपने ब्यान में कही थी।'. Learned counsel for the appellant further states that if we perused the statement of PW-1 throughout then it was indicative of the fact that the entire gate of the college was open and that he could see what was happening 35 to 36 paces inside the gate, whereas the PW-2 in his statement had stated in the following manner 'घटना मेरे द्वारा सुबह सवा सात बजे की बताई गयी है। परीक्षा सात बजे से प्रारम्भ होनी थी। परीक्षार्थी को परीक्षा होने से करीब 15 मिनट पहले कक्ष में पहुचना होता है। मैने डी० एस० कालिज देखा है। कालिज के गेट के एक तरफ डाकघर है और गेट के पास दूसरी तरफ स्टेट बैंक थी। कार हमने गेट के सामने खडी थी। कालिज क गेट के सामने गाडी खडी करने को मौजूद स्टाफ ने मना नही किया हमलोग कार के बाहर खड़े होकर इंतजार कर रहे थे। ये आने-जाने वाले कालिज के छोटे गेट से आ जा रहे थे।'. He therefore in effect had stated that the main gate was closed and people were going in and coming out from the wicket gate i.e. the small gate which was opened for the egress and the ingress of the students. Learned counsel for the appellant further has stated that even the DW-1 who was a witness of the panchayatnama but was not named in the list of witnesses in the charge-sheet submitted by the police had appeared in the Court as DW-1 and he had also stated in his examination-in-chief at page no. 77 of the paper book 'मैं घटना वाले दिन प्रातः छः बजे महाविद्यालय में अपनी ड्यूटी पर आ गया था। उस समय महाविद्यालय में परिक्षायें/प्रक्टीकल चल रहे थे। करीब 7.15 व 7.30 के बीच में कोलेज का मैन गेट बन्द करके छोटा गेट खोल कर कालेज के अन्दर प्रक्टीकल के लिए दूसरे कमरे खोलने चला गया।'.

(ii) Learned counsel for the appellant has therefore stated that the PW-1 who had lodged the first information report had in fact not known the names of the accused persons and there was contradiction in their statements that the PW-1 had seen the incident while the main gate was opened, while the PW-2 had stated that the main gate was closed and the wicket gate was being used. This definitely would have meant that an incident which happened 35 to 36 paces inside the main gate could not have been seen by the PW-1. He thereafter had submitted that the PW-1 in the first information report had stated that he had gone to the college in his Maruti car (UP 81 D 7155). However, when the incident had occurred he had gone to the police station on a rickshaw from the place of incident. At page no. 25 of the paper book he had stated that he had left the car but had gone along with all his companions on a rickshaw 'कालिज से बस अड्डे तक मैं व मेरे साथी रिक्शे से गए थे।'. Learned counsel for the appellant has still further, relying upon Form-13, submitted that the dead body, after the panchayatnama, had proceeded towards the mortuary at 10:45 AM and as per this Form-13 had reached the Reserve Inspector's Office at 15:40 PM on 27.04.2002. Thereafter, as per the doctor's signature on this Form-13, the body was received at 04:15 PM in the mortuary. The Form-13 had clearly stated that the dead-body when was sent for the post-mortem, it was accompanied by Constable No. 03 Ashok Verma and Constable No. 162 Ramveer Singh. Learned counsel for the appellant states that why the dead-body reached the Office of the Reserve Inspector at 03:40 PM on 27.04.2002 was a mystery and to solve this mystery the only way out was that the two constables who had accompanied the dead-body ought to have been brought in the witness box. They would have testified as to why the dead-body reached late. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that the time which the dead-body took to reach the Reserve Inspector's Office and thereafter to the mortuary shows that the police and the other prosecution witnesses, chiefly PW-1 was waiting to get the names of the accused and therefore it could safely be said that the first information report was ante timed.

(iii) He further submits that even the Investigating Officer had stated at page no. 57 of the paper book 'यह भी सही है कि पंचनामे में थाने से घटना स्थल की दूरी जो दर्शाई गई है व चिक FIR में दिखाई गई दूरी से भिन्न है।'.

Learned counsel for the appellant therefore relying upon the judgment of this Court in (1979) Criminal Law Journal 236; (Jagdeo Singh and others versus State) has submitted that a difference in the distance given in the first information report and the inquest report was indicative of the fact that there was ante timing done. He further relied upon a judgment again of this Court reported in 1984 All LJ 1303; Shyama Charan versus State of U.P. and he relied upon specifically paragraph 8 of this judgment and therefore the same is being reproduced here as under:

"8. The first-information-report in this case is said to have been lodged at 12.30 p.m., the distance of police station as mentioned in the F.I.R. is two miles. The incident is said to have taken place at 10.30 a.m. and prima facie this report appears to be quite prompt. The defence in this case has suggested that the first-informant Ram Kumar P.W. 1 is a clerk to a lawyer practising at Jalalabad and did not witness any incident and was called later on and this report came into existence much later and had been ante-timed. The argument advanced appears to have some force when we examine the inquest report. In the inquest report in the column of the person who informed about the death, the name of Ram Kumar is mentioned. Then in the column of distance of the village from the police station, entry made is 3 miles to the south. If this F.I.R. had come into existence at 12.30 p.m. the distance given in that report namely two miles would have also been found in the inquest report and not three miles. The distance given in the F.I.R. does not tally with the First-Information-Report. Further the inquest report examined as a whole goes to show that on the third page where the Holia Lash has been described, there is a column for the opinion of the Panches and in this column writing has been given in a different pen with a different thickness which suggests that impressions of Panches must have been obtained earlier and the writing done later on. Not only that after this opinion of the Panches, there is final opinion of the Sub-Inspector and in that opinion after the word 'DHARA' figures 147, 148, 149, 302 I.P.C. have been added subsequently. This is apparent from an examination of the inquest report. The Sub-inspector when asked whether he made this addition of the sections, he stoutly maintained that he did not add these subsequently. As we have observed earlier the addition is absolutely apparent on occular examination. From this we can infer that by the time the inquest report was prepared namely the evening of 11-5-1976, the F.I.R. had not come into existence and in the inquest report space for the crime No, and the sections was left to be filled later on and was actually filled later on. In the case of Jagdeo Singh v. State reported in 1979 Cri LJ 236 a Division Bench of this Court in similar circumstances held at page 241 para 25 that the discrepancy in the distance given in two documents namely F.I.R. and inquest report gives rise to an inference that the F.I.R. came into existence later on."

(iv) Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that the conduct of the PW-1 also showed that there was every effort being made to hunt out the names of the accused persons namely Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Raghvendra @ Kaalu and Yogesh. When he had lodged the first information report at 07:45 AM then it does not stand to reason that when the body had not reached the mortuary why he had gone from the police station to the mortuary. Also what makes his behaviour slightly doubtful is that after he reached the mortuary what exactly was he doing there. This all goes to show that he was hunting out the names which he had specifically got reported in the first information report.

(v) Learned counsel for the appellant further states that when the son of the appellant had got shot dead and as per the first information report he was shot dead in front of PW-1 then it seems strange that when he had gone to the college to drop his son along with three of his relatives namely Ramesh the PW-2 (real nephew), Vimal and Jugendra Singh (relatives) then all four would leave the dead-body at the place where the deceased had been shot at and they would go to the police station. At least one person should have stayed back. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore submits that this goes very strongly to show that the appellants were never there at the spot but had tried to show that they were all there at the spot. He further submits, to bolster the case of the appellants, that the PW-1, the PW-2, Vimal and Jugendra Singh (the other relatives) had in fact never been at the spot. He submits that as per the first information report, they had all gone to the place of incident on a Maruti car but after the incident they went to the police station via a bus stand on a rickshaw. He submits that this does not appeal to reason at all. The further statement of the PW-1 that there was no blood either on his hands or on his clothes shows that he had not even cared to find out if the deceased had actually died and this had happened because he was actually not there on the spot. At page no. 24 of the paper book he had stated that 'मैंने इधर उधर हिलाकर लड़के को देखा था किन्तु वह मौके पर ही खत्म हो गया था। मुझे मौके पर ही उसकी मृत्यु की तसल्ली (का०फटा) हो गयी थी। मेरे हाथो पर व कपडो पर कोई खून नहीं लगा था। मेरे बेटे के सिर (का०फटा) आंख व कन्धे से काफी खून निकल रहा था।'. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that if the PW-1 had touched the dead-body then definitely there would have been some blood on his body or on his clothes.

(vi) To further bolster the case of the appellant that the prosecution witnesses no. 1 and 2, who had actually claimed themselves as eye-witnesses and had also appeared before the court as witnesses of fact, had actually not been on the spot, learned counsel for the appellant pointed out to certain contradictions:

(a) He submits that the PW-1 in his statement at page no. 22 of the paper book had stated that he and his companions had seen the incident standing against their car. He had virtually stated that he had seen the incident while the gate was wide open. However, the PW-2 at page no. 40 of the paper book had stated that all going in and coming out of the college were using the small gate.

The actual sentence which he uttered was at page no. 40 of the paper book 'आने- जाने वाले कालिज के छोटे गेट से आ जा रहे थे।'

(b) The PW-1 had in his statement at page no. 28 of the paper book stated 'घटना के तुरन्त बाद बेटे की लाश के पास कोई नही रूका था बल्कि बाद में करीब आधा पौन घण्टा बाद पहुँचे थे। मेरे साथ जो मेरे भतीजे थे वे सभी घटना स्थल पर घटना के आधा पौन घण्टा बाद दोबारा पहुँच गए थे। मैं घटना स्थल पर दोबारा नही गया था।'. However, the Investigating Officer, PW-4, at page 57 of the paper book had stated that 'यह सही है कि नक्शा नजरी में मेरे द्वारा अभियुक्त गण के पूर्व से खड़े होने का स्थान भूगोल विभाग के सामने दर्शाया है तथा कौलिज के गेट से यह दूरी 38 कदम दूर दर्शाई गई है। नक्शा नजरी मेरे द्वारा वादी की निशान देही पर बनाया गया था।'. Thus the statements of PW-1 and PW-4 were contradictory to each other vis-a-vis the presence of PW-1 at the site after lodging the F.I.R.

(c) Further learned counsel for the appellant relied upon page no. 43 of the paper book and has submitted that even the PW-2 had stated in his cross-examination that he had reached the place of incident when the panchayatnama was going on. The actual sentence which PW-2 uttered at page no. 43 of the paper book was 'जब मैं घटना वाले दिन डी० एस० कालिज पहुंचा उस समय पंचनामा की कार्यवाही चल रही थी।' Learned counsel for the appellant states that in fact the PW-2 was confused as he did not know what exactly he had to state. The first information report had stated that even the PW-2 was there at the relevant point of time but in the cross-examination the truth came out and he had stated that he had reached the place of incident when the panchayatnama proceedings were going on. Learned counsel for the appellant further states that even this statement of the PW-2 regarding his reaching the site at the time of panchayatnama appears to be unbelievable as the name of the PW-2 does not find place in the panchayatnama and had he been there, his name would definitely have figured in the panchayatnama. Learned counsel for the appellant further states that the PW-2 in his examination-in-chief despite the fact that he was aware of the first information report which had been lodged in the year 2002 had stated in his statement-in-chief that he had seen at the place of incident Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar, Yogesh and one more unknown person. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that in fact the PW-2 was not there at the spot and fortunately or unfortunately he did not remember the name of the third appellant i.e. Raghvendra @ Kaalu at all and therefore in his examination-in-chief he states that one 'unknown person' was there.

(d) The PW-1 had stated that they had waited outside the gate to see that the deceased went inside and that no harm was done to him. However, the PW-2 had stated that after the deceased had gone inside the college they were waiting to meet one Professor Dr. Gajendra. He submits that this was a major contradiction which cannot be ignored as PW-2 was trying to carve out a fresh reason for the PW-1 and the PW-2 to remain outside the gate even after the deceased had gone inside the college.

(vii) Learned counsel for the appellant had argued much with regard to ante timing of the first information report. He had also elaborated as to why the dead-body had reached the mortuary very late. He submitted that in the year 2002 when everything was fairly modernized and vehicles etc. were available then it did not stand to reason that a 7 kilometre distance was travelled in such a long time. He submits that the body, after the panchayatnama, started for the mortuary at 10:45

AM, reached the office of the Reserve Inspector at 15:40 PM and thereafter was handed to the mortuary at 04:10 PM. He submits that there might have been a backlog of dead-bodies for post-mortem etc. and therefore the hospital might have received the dead-body at 04:10 PM. However, why the dead-body had reached the Office of the Reserve Inspector after almost five hours remained a mystery. He therefore submits that the entire prosecution story becomes false. It all the more becomes unbelievable when the two constables namely Constables No. 03 Ashok Verma and C.P. 120 Ramveer Singh, who had proceeded with the dead-body after the panchayatnama, were not brought into the witness box to explain the case of the prosecution with regard to the delay in bringing the dead-body to the Reserve Inspector and thereafter for the post-mortem.

(viii) Learned counsel for the appellant further took the Court through the entire order-sheet of the trial and submitted that the prosecution never recognised/identified the accused persons either in the court or in the jail during investigation. The recording of the statement of prosecution witnesses commenced on 26.08.2010 and concluded on 27.06.2017.

(ix) The charges were framed on 15.10.2004 and on that date the accused had appeared and thereafter they had appeared only on 08.08.2014, 20.10.2014, 24.11.2014, 02.12.2014, 05.12.2014, 02.01.2015, 16.03.2015, 24.03.2015, 02.04.2015 and 05.05.2015. However, on those dates as is clear from page nos. 51, 52 and 77 of the paper-book neither the PW-1 nor the PW-2 who were the witnesses of fact gave their statements-in-chief nor were they cross-examined. Learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Sageer Ahmad, submitted that as per the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Tukesh Singh and others versus State of Chhatisgarh reported in 2025 AIR SC 2666, the entire trial becomes vitiated if the accused are not identified in the court. Since, learned counsel for the appellant Sri Sageer Ahmad took the Court through the paragraph nos. 21, 22, 23 and 24 of the judgment and the same are being reproduced here as under:

'21. In a case where there are eyewitnesses, one situation can be that the eyewitness knew the accused before the incident. The eyewitnesses must identify the accused sitting in the dock as the same accused whom they had seen committing the crime. Another situation can be that the eyewitness did not know the accused before the incident. In the normal course, in case of the second situation, it is necessary to hold a Test Identification Parade. If it is not held and if the evidence of the eyewitness is recorded after a few years, the identification of such an accused by the eyewitness in the Court becomes vulnerable. Identification of the accused sitting in the Court by the eyewitness is of utmost importance. For example, if an eyewitness states in his deposition that "he had seen A, B and C killing X and he knew A, B and C". Such a statement in the examination-in-chief is not sufficient to link the same to the accused. The eyewitness must identify the accused A, B and C in the Court. Unless this is done, the prosecution cannot establish that the accused are the same persons who are named by the eyewitness in his deposition. If an eyewitness states that "he had seen one accused assaulting the deceased with a sword, another accused assaulting the deceased with a stick and another accused holding the deceased to enable other accused to assault the deceased." In such a case, the eyewitness must identify the accused in the open Court who, according to him, had assaulted the accused with a stick, who had assaulted the deceased with a sword and who was holding the deceased. Unless the eyewitnesses identify the accused present in the Court, it cannot be said that, based on the testimony of the eyewitnesses, the guilt of the accused has been proved.

22. In the present case, in case of two eyewitnesses, in the cross-examination, it is brought on record that the accused persons named by them were sitting in the Court. However, they did not identify a particular accused by ascribing him a role. None of the eyewitnesses has specifically identified any of the accused in the Court.

23. In this case, the failure of the eyewitnesses to identify the accused in the court as the accused they had seen committing the crime is fatal to the prosecution's case. There are material omissions brought on record in the cross-examination of the eyewitnesses. They are so relevant that the same constitute contradictions in view of the explanation to Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The appellants/accused, before they were enlarged on bail, had undergone a minimum of nine to ten years of actual sentence. They have been on bail for about twelve years.

24. Considering the discussion made above, it is not possible to come to a conclusion that the guilt of the appellants/accused is proved beyond a reasonable doubt. As stated earlier, the versions of the eyewitnesses differ.'

(x) Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that even though from the reading of the first information report, it appeared that PW-1 was recognizing the accused persons and had tried to give their names but upon going through the statements of the PW-1 and PW-2 it could with some certainty be said that the accused persons were not known to the PW-1 and PW-2. The name of the father of one of the accused, namely Yogesh was not given in the first information report. The PW-2 had in fact, while mentioning about Raghvendra @ Kaalu, had stated that he was an unknown person. Learned counsel, therefore, submits that in fact even before the dock identification was attempted at, the test identification parade ought to have been undergone. Learned counsel for the appellant relied upon the judgments of Supreme Court in Amrik Singh vs. State of Punjab reported in (2022) 9 SCC 402, Bollacaram Pedda Narsi Reddi & Ors. vs. State of Andhra Pradesh reported in (1991) 3 SCC 434 and in Gireesan Nair and Ors. vs. State of Kerala reported in (2023) 1 SCC 180 to submit that when the accused were not known to the prosecution witnesses then before they were chargesheeted, test identification was a must.

(xi) Still further learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the deceased, it was given out, was a student of the D.S. Mahavidyalaya. However, when the incident had occurred, from the possession of the deceased a country made pistol of 315 bore along with four cartridges, certain visiting cards and a pen were recovered. However, no identity card or admit card was recovered from either the clothes of the deceased or from his bag etc. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the trial court in a very strange manner had accepted a certain admit card, a scheme of examination and a bona fide student certificate and had got it numbered as Paper Nos. 636A/2, 636A/3 and 636A/4 and had given a finding of fact to the effect that the deceased Sanjeev Chaudhari was a B.A.-IIIrd year student and on the date of incident i.e. on 27.04.2002 he had to appear for the examination of Military Studies-Paper I (a) or (b). The relevant paragraph of the judgment of the sessions trial with regard to this issue is at page no. 95-96 of the paper book and the same is being reproduced here as under :

"In this respect, as regards this contention of the defence it is primarily important to note that PW1 in his cross-examination has stated that his son informed him about his danger from accused persons that was why PW1 along with PW2 used to drop the deceased to his college in support of his statement Exam Admit Card with Roll No. A9917553 Sr. No. 706652, Bonafide Students Certificate dated 10.05.2003 and Scheme of Examination has been filled on record as paper no. 636A/2, 636A/3 and 636A/4 respectively which clearly shows that deceased Sanjeev Chaudhary was a BA IIIrd year student and on the day of incident i.e., 27.04.2002 he has examination of Military Studies-Paper I (a) or (b). Examination timing was also mentioned as 07am to 10am. So, from the totality of evidence filed on behalf of prosecution, it is clear that PW1 & PW2 were available on the site of occurrence. As far as the eye witnesses of the PW1 & PW2 is concerned, it is necessary to note that it is fundamental psychology of a father that when a father used to drop his child to school/college he monitor his movement till he reach the class. In that case the same psychology is applied on PW1 & PW2. Even if the above points are ignored the narration of the story by PW1 & PW2 is almost matches from the narration of the story by DW1. All of the above facts shows that there is no doubt on PW1 & PW2 being eye witnesses."

(xii) Learned counsel for the appellant states that when an effort was made by the defence to bring those papers on record by an application dated 09.08.2019 numbered as 635(kha) then that application was strongly opposed and an endorsement was made by the counsel that the document could not be kept on record outrightly without being proved. No effort was made by the trial court to get the documents proved. It had only considered those documents as proved and had proceeded with the matter. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that the entire case becomes doubtful inasmuch as the deceased was at the time of his death in possession of a country made pistol along with three live cartridges and was not possessing either an admit card or an identity card. Learned counsel for the appellant further states that even the DW-1 who was a chaukidar of the college had stated that the possession of those documents was essential to enter the college. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that in fact the deceased was a criminal and some unidentified persons had killed him inside the college and therefore while he was trying to hide in the college the murder had taken place. A strong suspicion arises as to whether the appellant was at all a student in the college and whether the PW-1 along with his nephew and two other acquaintances had at all gone to drop the deceased at the college.

(xiii) Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the prosecution had to stand on its own legs to prove the case that the accused and the accused alone had committed the crime. He submits that when the PW-1 and the PW-2 had not identified the accused persons either by the method of test identification or by dock identification then it could safely be said that the accused were not known to the witnesses of fact and also no effort was made either by the prosecution or even by the court to get them identified. The fact that the accused were not known becomes established when in the first information report itself the name of one of the accused namely Yogesh was mentioned but his father's name was not mentioned and the PW-1 in his cross-examination had stated that he had come to know of the name of the father subsequently. Also, it became essential that the identification was done and that the prosecution stood on its own legs when the name of the accused Raghvendra @ Kaalu was not known to the PW-1 and his name was only made known to him by certain students, again whose names were not disclosed by the PW-1. He submits that the conviction could not be done on the basis of hearsay evidence and when the name of Raghvendra @ Kaalu was known to the PW-1 in the manner he had narrated i.e. from various students, who were again never produced in the court, then it becomes evident that hearsay evidence was being relied upon to identify the accused. What is more, he submits that even the PW-2 while giving his statement-in-chief in the court had stated that Raghvendra @ Kaalu was not known to him. How the name of the father of the accused Raghvendra was known to the informant also remains a mystery.

(xiv) Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the aspect of motive became important when it was being argued that in fact the eye-witnesses were not present at the spot at all and that everything was being proved by circumstances. He submits that even though some land dispute was mentioned about but no sale deed; number of any civil case pending in any court or any document relating the dispute of any nature was brought on record. Not only that the accused when they were being questioned under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., they were also not confronted by any document. Learned counsel for the appellant therefore states that even the motive aspect was not taken care of either by the prosecution or by the trial court and wrongly it was presumed that the accused had a motive to do away with the deceased.

(xv) Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that the two very close relatives namely Vimal and Jugendra were never produced in the witness box. If they had accompanied the PW-1 and PW-2 then it was imperative that they too should have been produced to corroborate the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2. It was, he submits, all the more important because the presence of PW-1 and PW-2 was doubtful.

(xvi) Learned counsel for the appellant has further relied upon the statement of the PW-1 at page no. 30 of the paper book and has submitted that in between the time when he reached the mortuary and had left the same, he had on two occasions also gone to the police station. Visit of this could have been used to retrieve the names of the accused persons from the police records. The statement is being reproduced here as under :

'मैं करीब शाम के पाँच बजे तक पोस्टमार्टम होने तक चीरघर पर रुका था इस दौरान बीच में एक-दो बार थाना गांधी पार्क भी आया था। गाँधी पार्क थानाध्यक्ष की खबर मिलने पर मैं वहाँ गया था।'

22. Sri Naseeruzzaman, learned counsel appearing for the informant has made the following submissions:

(i) A day light murder had taken place in which there were direct eye-witnesses and therefore it could not by any stretch of imagination be said that the appellants were not involved in the case. He has submitted that the incident of murder on 27.04.2002 had taken place at 07:00 AM inside the college campus of D.S. Mahavidyalaya, Aligarh. Thereafter a prompt first information report was lodged by the father of the deceased at 07:45 AM. The first information report was very graphic vis-a-vis how the witnesses had reached the spot.

(ii) Learned counsel for the informant next submitted that after the PW-1 and PW-2 had found that the son of the PW-1 had died then the PW-1 along with the four companions had straight away started off for the bus stand from which place the PW-1 made certain calls and asked his colleagues Subhash Chandra Chauhan, Satendra Chauhan, Satish Kumar Singh and Ravendra Pal to reach the bus stand. At the bus stand, the first information report was scribed and thereafter they all went to the police station to lodge the same. He submits that the cross-examination of PW-1 on 17.09.2010 (page 27) clearly illustrated as to how the PW-1 came from the place of incident and thereafter went to the bus stand where he called his acquaintances Subhash Chandra Chauhan, Satendra Chauhan, Satish Kumar Singh and Ravendra Pal and there he scribed the first information report and subsequently lodged the same at the police station. At the police station, Rapat No. 9 dated 27.04.2009 which finds place in the record of the case was got prepared and in the Rapat No. 9, the names of the persons present along with the PW-1 were mentioned.

(iii) Learned counsel for the informant submitted that the first information report was a prompt one and no question of any ante timing was involved. The informant had reached the police station as was mentioned in the G.D. Rapat No. 9 and had lodged the first information report promptly at 07:45 AM. They had travelled the distance of one and half kilometre very promptly on a rickshaw and if there were differences in the distance given in the first information report, chik

F.I.R. and the panchayatnama then it was of no avail as such mistakes are common and no importance ought to be given to them. He submits that the PW-5, Keshav Dev, Head Moharrir in his statement at page no. 62 of the paper book had clearly mentioned about the arrival of the PW-1 and his companions. Learned counsel for the informant submitted that if there was a prompt first information report then as per the judgment of Brahm Swaroop and Anr. versus State of U.P. reported in 2011 Criminal Law Journal 306, the case had to be considered as a believable one and he relied upon paragraph 18 of that judgment. The relevant portion of the judgment is being reproduced here as under :

"18. In the instant case, the defence did not put any question in this regard to the investigating officer, Raj Guru (PW 10), thus, no explanation was required to be furnished by him on this issue. Thus, the prosecution had not been asked to explain the delay in sending the special report. More so, the submission made by Shri Tulsi that the FIR was ante-timed cannot be accepted in view of the evidence available on record which goes to show that the FIR had been lodged promptly within 20 minutes of the incident as the police station was only 1 km away from the place of occurrence and names of all the accused had been mentioned in the FIR. Dr. Nar Singh Bahadur (PW 4) examined Virendra Singh (D-3) on 31-5-2000 itself at 5.40 p.m. and had noted firearm injures on his body and opined that the injuries were fresh in nature. Dr. Anshu Kumar Agrawal (PW 6) had examined Atar Singh (PW 1) on 31-5-2000 itself at 3.50 p.m. and had noted multiple pellet wounds with surrounding charring over anterior surface of left thigh middle part and a single pellet wound over the anterior surface at right arm lower part. Dr. K.K. Saxena (PW 5), Radiologist conducted an x-ray examination of Atar Singh (PW 1) on 31-5-2000 and found three small rounded radio opaque with metallic density and FB shadow on middle of left thigh and right arm.

The prompt lodging of the FIR is proved from the chik report and the statement of the complainant under Section 161 CrPC, which was recorded immediately after lodging the FIR. Any defect in the preparation of the inquest report by the investigating officer cannot lead to an inference that the FIR was not registered at the alleged time. The FIR contains all the essential features of the prosecution's case including names of eyewitnesses, time and place of incident, names of the victim, motive, name of the accused persons, weapons in their hands and manner of assault. Thus, all these things lend a seal of assurance not only to the presence of eyewitnesses at the place of the incident, but also to the participation of the appellants in the crime. Courts attach great importance to the prompt lodging of FIR and prompt interrogation of a witness under Section 161 CrPC as the same substantially eliminates the chances of embellishment and concoction creeping into the account contained therein."

(iv) So far as the doubting of the eye-witnesses was concerned, learned counsel for the informant submitted as follows:

(a) The leaving of the Maruti car and going by a rickshaw to the bus stand was of no importance at all. There was a possibility that the PW-1 had got so much disturbed that he could not find the ignition key and therefore he had taken the rickshaw to the bus stand and thereafter to the police station. How a person reacts at a certain point of time is always very difficult to predict. To bolster his arguments, learned counsel for the informant relied upon Rana Partap and others versus State of Haryana reported in AIR 1983 Supreme Court 680. Since he heavily relied upon the paragraph no. 6 of the judgment and the same is being reproduced here as under:

"6. Yet another reason given by the learned Sessions Judge to doubt the presence of the witnesses was that their conduct in not going to the rescue of the deceased when he was in the clutches of the assailants was unnatural. We must say that the comment is most unreal. Every person who witnesses a murder reacts in his own way. Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot. Some become hysteric and start wailing. Some start shouting for help. Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible. Yet others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counterattacking the assailants. Every one reacts in his own special way. There is no set rule of natural reaction. To discard the evidence of witnesses on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way."

(b) He further submits that the presence of the first informant at the police station along with Subhash and Satendra Singh Chauhan (whose presence is evident from Rapat No. 9) definitely went to show that every effort was made to lodge the first information report promptly and the first information report therefore could not be doubted. He submits that even the PW-2 Ramesh was shown to be present at the site of the incident in the first information report and his statement also could not be in any manner be disbelieved.

(c) So far as the identification of the accused persons was concerned, he submitted that the informant had known about the accused persons from before as they used to come to the court in different cases and the PW-1 being a practitioner in the same court had known the accused persons by their names. He submits that the appellants had criminal history which was a heinous one and therefore when they used to attend the court then definitely they could be recognised by the PW-1. He has submitted that Roby @ Sanjeev Kumar had a criminal history of six cases, Yogesh had a criminal history of three cases. He has also submitted that from the first information report itself it could be gathered that the accused persons were known from before. There was no point in getting any identification done. He has submitted that even no dock identification was necessary. He has submitted that if the accused persons were known to the witnesses and were named in the first information report then there was no need for any further identification either in the jail by means of test identification parade or in the court by means of dock identification. Learned counsel for the informant relied upon a judgment of Amit versus State of Uttar Pradesh reported in 2012 Cr. LJ 1791 and has relied upon paragraph 7 of that judgment. The paragraph 7 is being reproduced here as under:

"We may now deal with the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that no test identification parade was conducted during investigation for the witness to identify the appellant as the person who had taken away the child from her lap. Test identification parade would have been necessary if the appellant was unknown to PW 3 but as the appellant was the neighbour of PW 3 and known to her, no test identification parade was necessary for PW 3 to identify the appellant. In fact when PW 1 returned home, he was told by PW 3 that the appellant had taken away Monika on the pretext of giving her biscuits because PW 3 knew the appellant. Moreover, on such information received from PW 3, PW 1 lodged the FIR naming the appellant as the person who had taken away Monika on the pretext of giving her biscuits. Hence, the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant that no test identification parade was conducted for PW 3 to identify the appellant is misconceived in the facts of this case."

(v) So far as the question of the reaching of the dead-body very late to the Reserve Inspector's Office at 03:20 PM was concerned, learned counsel for the informant has submitted that it should be presumed that there was a huge crowd outside the college and the crowd had not allowed the dead-body to move. Further he has submitted that the constables who accompanied the dead-body had known that the mortuary would open only after 02:00 to 03:00 PM so they had, in a very casual manner gone slowly.

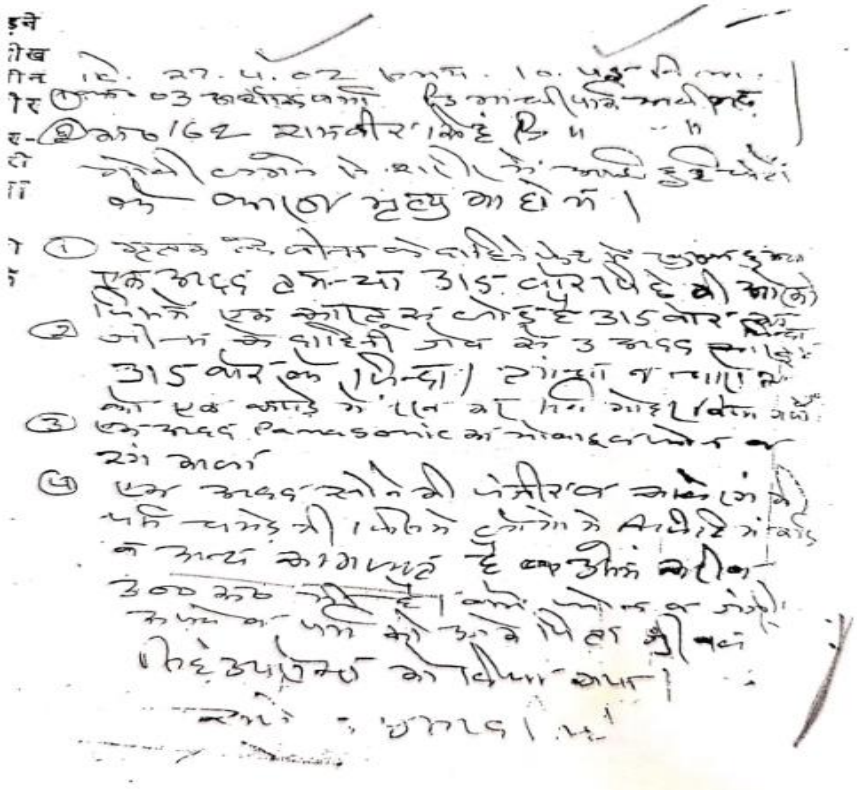
(vi) Even if the dead-body reached late, learned counsel for the informant submitted that it mattered little when the post-mortem had been done and a report had been submitted. Learned counsel for the informant had also submitted that during the time the PW-1 had waited at the mortuary after having reached there at 11:00 to 11:15 AM he was waiting for the body to arrive. Still further learned counsel for the informant submitted that no question was ever asked during the trial by the defence as to why the dead-body reached so late and he therefore relying upon Dayal Singh and others versus State of Uttaranchal reported in 2012 Cri. LJ 4323, submitted that minor defects in the investigation were ignorable. He also for this argument of his, relied upon Jai Narain and others versus State of U.P. reported in 2000 Criminal Law Journal 3808, Dhanaj Singh and others versus State of Punjab reported in (2004) 3 SCC 654 (2004 Cr.L.J. 1807 SC). Still further he has submitted that the incident had occurred in the year 2002 and the trial though had commenced in the year 2002 was concluded only in the year 2021 and this was because of the high handedness of the appellants. They used to delay the proceedings by moving transfer applications on different occasions. Learned counsel for the informant further had submitted that the question of motive was evident from the statement of the accused recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. wherein they had admitted enmity. Non production of Vimal and Jugendar would not be of any consequence as two very reliable eye-witnesses were already present.



(vii) Learned counsel for the informant further submitted that if exhibits were not given to paper nos. 636A/2, 363A/3 and 636A/4 it would be of no consequence as Karan Pal Singh the DW-1 himself had stated at page no. 77 of the paper book that the person who had died was a student of the college.

(viii) Learned counsel for the informant has submitted that the submission made by the appellants that the deceased was himself a criminal having been found with a country made pistol and ammunition would not be of much consequence as he might have kept the same for self defence. Also, he has submitted that if there were any lapses on the part of the Investigating Officer, then no reliance could be placed on that and in this aspect he relied upon Dayal Singh and others versus State of Uttaranchal reported in 2012 Cri. LJ 4323. Still further relying upon the judgment of Jai Narain and others versus State of U.P. reported in 2000 Criminal Law Journal 3808, learned counsel for the informant has submitted that even if one particular evidence points towards the involvement of the accused then conviction could be done. He similarly relied upon Dhanaj Singh and others versus State of Punjab reported in (2004) 3 SCC 654 (2004 Cr.L.J. 1807 SC).

(ix) Learned counsel for the informant has submitted that if the PW-1 had visited the police station after lodging the first information report then that could have been for the purpose of getting the site plan etc. prepared. Learned counsel for the informant Sri Naseeruzaman thereafter submitted that when it was a clear day light murder with eye-witness accounts there then minor discrepancies could have to be ignored and no interference was required to be done in a case of conviction.

23. Sri C.B. Dhar Dubey, learned A.G.A. has however submitted that if the inquest report is seen then it becomes clear that the father of the deceased was there at the spot as the gold chain which the deceased was wearing was handed over to the father by the police personnel present at the time of the inquest. Since, learned A.G.A. relied upon point 4 of the inquest report wherein it was provided as to how the recovered articles were dispensed with, the same is being reproduced here as under:

24. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that throughout the case it was evident that there was enmity with regard to some property etc. and therefore motive with regard to the killing by the accused was evident. Still further learned A.G.A. has submitted that at page no. 54 of the paper book, the investigating officer PW-4 had stated that the motive with regard to the crime was evident from the first information report and also it was evident that the PW-1 the first informant was knowing the accused persons and he has therefore submitted that it was not necessary to get the accused identified. The relevant portion of the statement of the PW-4 at page no. 54 of the paper book is being reproduced here as under:

'प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट में ये तथ्य आया था कि एक जमीन की रंजिश को लेकर विवाद चल रहा था इस कारण मैं समझ गया था कि वादी मुकदमा मुल्जिमान को पहले से जानता होगा इसीलिए मेरे द्वारा मुल्जिमान की कोई कार्यवाही शिनाख्त नहीं की गई।'

In this regard learned A.G.A. also took the Court through the cross-examination of the PW-2 wherein he had categorically stated that he had known the accused persons.

25. Having heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Neeja Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5307 of 2021; Sri Sagheer Ahmad, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Tripurari Pal, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 5365 of 2021 and Sri Suresh Chand Pandey along with Sri Saurabh Pandey in Criminal Appeal No. 5319 of 2021, learned counsel for the appellant; Sri Naseeruzzaman, learned counsel appearing for the informant and Sri C.B. Dhar Dubey, learned A.G.A. for the State, we analyze the arguments as follows:

(a) So far as the question of ante timing of the first information report is concerned, we find that the PW-1 had reached the place of incident as per the allegation made in the first information report at around 07:00 AM, when the incident occurred thereafter. There is contradiction in the statements of the PW-1, the PW-2 and the DW-1 with regard to how the incident was seen from outside. The perusal of the statement of the PW-1 gives a definite indication of the fact that the entire gate of the college was opened and there was unhindered view and therefore the PW-1 along with his four companions could see the entire incident which happened 35 paces inside the gate of the college obliquely in between the Geography Department and the place where the car was parked. However if the statement of the DW-1 and PW-2 are perused then it becomes apparent that the main gate was closed but the egress and ingress was allowed through a small wicket gate and if that was the case then definitely the vision from the place where the PW-1 and his companions were standing definitely would have been hindered and they could not have seen the incident which had taken place.

(b) We are of the view that the incident when had occurred, the PW-1 along with four companions had gone to the bus stand where the PW-1 scribed the first information report in the presence of three persons and the PW-2 and the other two relatives were asked to go home. This also appears very strange to the Court. If PW-1 had a car then the natural thing to happen was that they all ought to have gone back in the car. There is a possibility that the PW-1 and his companions reacted in a manner where upon having seen the incident they had forgotten about the car. However it appears extremely surprising that none of them checked their pockets to find the ignition key. If there was a fear to the PW-1 of being spotted by the assailants if he and his companions went by the car then we have no hesitation in saying that if they travelled in a rickshaw, they could have been spotted out even better.

(c) We find that the body of the deceased started from the place of incident at 10:45 AM after the inquest was over and it reached the Reserve Inspector's Office at 03:40 PM. This is getting late by almost five hours. Travelling a distance of 7 kilometres in these modern days in five hours seems to be a strange thing to happen. Also the two constables namely Constables No. 03 Ashok Verma and C.P. 120 Ramveer Singh were not produced in the witness box to give a convincing answer as to why such a delay had occurred. Still further, we find that the Investigating Officer had throughout stated that he had got the site plan prepared with the help of the PW-1 but the PW-1 had stated that he had never gone to the site after lodging the first information report. Not only that, we find that after the PW-1 had gone from the police station at around 11:15 AM and had stayed at mortuary till 05:00 PM then in between twice he had gone to the police station as per his own statement. There was absolutely no requirement for him to go to the police station. The only inference that the court can now draw is that the police and also the complainant were in search of certain names who could be nominated for having committed the murder. This becomes more evident when the distance given in the first information report, chik F.I.R. and the inquest report differed. We thus have no hesitation in saying that the first information report was ante timed.

(i) The question arises as to whether the PW-1 and the PW-2 along with the other nominated eye-witnesses namely Vimal and Jugendar Singh were at all there at the site. From the entire narration, it is clear that the PW-1 had stated that the entire gate of the college was open, so much so that he could see the place of incident which was around 35 paces inside the college from the car where he was standing outside the gate. This was in absolute contradiction to the case taken by the PW-2 and DW-1 that the main gate was closed and that all ingress and egress was allowed through a wicket gate. Also the presence of the PW-1 and other eye-witnesses become doubtful, if we see that the car by which the eye-witnesses had gone along with the deceased to college was not taken by them go to the police station and they had gone on a rickshaw. Also, howsoever much the PW-1 and his other companions might have been shocked by the incident they would definitely have had the sagacity to search for the key and drive down to the police station in a car. This also creates doubt whether the PW-1, PW-2 and his other companions were at all there at the site. From the record we find that the proctor himself had rung up the police and there was every possibility that the police had reached first and thereafter the prosecution witnesses 1, 2 and their companions had reached. At a particular juncture in the cross-examination of PW-2, he had stated that he had reached the place of incident at the time when the panchayatnama was being conducted. In the first blush the argument of the learned counsel for the respondent appears to be correct that by stating so the PW-2 had meant to say that he went again after having come back from the police station and that he had reached the place of incident again when the panchayatnama was going on but when composite reading of the entire evidence is done then the argument of the learned counsel for the appellants appears to be convincing that in fact the PW-2 had reached at the time when the panchayatnama was underway. Still further the very fact that the other two eye-witnesses namely Vimal and Jugendra whom, the PW-1 had claimed, were eye-witnesses were never produced in the witness box, confirms our view that the PW-1, the PW-2 and their companions were not there at the time of incident. So far as the argument of the learned A.G.A. that in the panchayatnama, it had been mentioned that the gold chain and other belonging had been handed over to the father is concerned, suffice to say that it definitely did not mention that the father was at the place where the panchayatnama was being undergone. It is just possible that the belongings were handed over to the father later on when he had reached on the phone call of the police who was informed by the proctor. Also had the father been present at the site he would have definitely been a witness to the panchayatnama. All this convinces us to believe that PW-1 alongwith PW-2 was definitely not there at the site when the incident had occurred.

(ii) Next comes the question of fact as to whether the PW-1 and the PW-2 along with other witnesses namely Vimal and Jogindar Singh were at all there at the spot. The contradiction as have been pointed out earlier coupled with the fact that ante timing had to be done, we are convinced that the PW-1 along with PW-2 were not there on the spot at the time of the occurrence of the incident.

(iii) So far as the identification of the accused is concerned, we find that vis-a-vis the appellant Yogesh, name of his father was not given in the F.I.R. The PW-1 in his statement has clearly mentioned that even Raghvendra @ Kaalu was not known to him and only on the basis of hearsay evidence i.e. from the students present in the college, who were also never produced in the witness box, the name of Raghvendra @ kaalu was known to the complainant. How the name of the father of the Raghvendra @ Kaalu was known to the complainant still remains a mystery.

Definitely the students must not have known the name of the father of Raghvendra @ Kaalu. The prosecution has to stand on its own legs and when it did not convincingly prove that how the name of Shailendra, father of Raghvendra @ Kaalu, was known to the first informant on the date of the lodging of the first information report, then the case so far as recognising of Yogesh and Raghvendra was concerned becomes absolutely suspicious. What the Court here intends to further elaborate is that throughout during investigation despite the fact that it was not certain that the accused were known to the first informant, no test identification parade was done. Not only that, the accused were not even recognised ever in the court either by the PW-1 or PW-2 who were the witnesses of fact. All three accused for the first time appeared in the Court at the time of framing of the charges and thereafter if the entire order-sheet of the trial court is seen then it appears that all the three of them appeared together only on 08.08.2014, 20.10.2014, 24.11.2014, 02.12.2014, 05.12.2014, 02.01.2015, 16.03.2015, 24.03.2015, 02.04.2015 and 05.05.2015 and on these dates the PW-1 and the PW-2 were not getting their statements recorded or were even being cross-examined. Thus we are convinced that the appellants were never identified in the court and if that is the case then definitely the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt as it has been held by Apex Court in the case of Tukesh Singh versus State of Chhattisgarh reported in 2025 AIR SC 2666.

(vi) Also, no convincing evidence was brought on record evidencing that the deceased was a student of the college. Definitely the admit card, a scheme of examination and a bona fide student certificate were brought on record as Paper Nos. 636A/2, 636A/3 and 636A/4. However, the court had not cared to get these documents exhibited and proved. Simply bringing on record of the documents as Paper Nos. 636A/2, 636A/3 and 636A/4, could not make one conclude that the deceased was a B.A. IIIrd year student and that on the date of incident he had the examination of Military Studies-Paper I (a) or (b). The trial court had ignored all law to consider the three documents and had proceeded to consider those documents as evidence.

Be that as it may, we find that from the dead-body definitely these documents were not recovered. Had these documents been recovered from the dead-body and had not been exhibited even then the court would have considered that those papers were inadvertently not proved and the deceased was a student. Here we find that from the possession of the deceased, a country made pistol, live cartridges and some cash alongwith a gold chain were recovered. These definitely do not indicate that he was a student of the college. If the DW-1 merely said that he was a student of the college it did not mean that his statement would be taken as a gospel truth to believe that the deceased was a student. He might have looked the age of a student and therefore there was possibility that the DW-1 had addressed him as a student during his evidence. Further being a student could have been proved by the prosecution by the production of Admission/ Attendance Register. This was also not done.

(v) We are also convinced that with the passage of time the prosecution witnesses must have seen the accused on many an occasion. A retrial for the purpose of identification by even dock identification would thus be a futile exercise. However, relying upon Tukesh Singh versus State of Chhattisgarh reported in 2025 AIR SC 2666 we are of the definite view that the trial where the accused were never recognised or even identified even in the court would result in complete acquittal as it goes to show that the prosecution utterly failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt.

(vi) So far as the motive aspect is concerned, we are definitely of the view that it had to be established to the hilt, especially when the eye-witness accounts had been disbelieved. The motive as had been brought forth that there was some dispute with regard to the landed property, also was not proved as neither any sale deed nor any document relating to any case having been filed between the parties in any court was brought on record. Also, when the statement of the accused were being recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., no document which could have been replied to by the accused was shown to them.

25. In the ultimate analysis, we feel that this is an extreme case where the trial court proceedings were conducted in absolute ignorance of law. In the first place, the trial court never cared for a proper identification of the accused. The entire testimony showed that at no point of time the accused were identified in the court. We also dare to say that even the investigation was done in the most sloppy manner. When the father of the deceased along with all his companions had left the dead-body (as per the F.I.R. version) and had gone to the police station on a rickshaw then the investigating agency i.e. the police ought to have seen to it as to whether the father had come back again to the site. The PW-1 had said he never had gone to the site where as the I.O., PW-4, had said that he had prepared the site plan with the help of the father. The investigating agency i.e. the police, upon reading of the F.I.R. should have concluded that definitely when Yogendra whose father's name was not there in the F.I.R. and Raghvendra about whom the father of the deceased was not knowing then a test identification parade should have been got done. Further we find that the trial court had depended while giving its judgment on documents i.e. the Paper Nos. 636A/2, 636A/3 and 636A/4 which were never proved and had not got exhibited. This shows the extreme immaturity of the trial court. When an accused is being tried for murder, trial should be conducted with utmost care. Had this case been a very old one, we would not have ventured to comment on the manner in which the trial had taken place. This is a case which was tried in the year 2021 finally and, therefore, we have ventured to comment on the manner in which the trial was undergone. The courts undertaking sessions trial should be very careful in dealing with the evidence. They should always remember that it is trite law and a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that 99 guilty persons might escape the clutches of law but one innocent should not be punished wrongly.

26. For all the reasons which have been stated above, we are thus of the view that the judgment and order of the trial court dated 24.09.2021 deserves to be set aside.

27. The Appeals thus stand allowed.

28. The appellants, in all the Appeals namely Criminal Appeal No. 5319 of 2021, Criminal Appeal No. 5365 of 2021 and Criminal Appeal No. 5307 of 2021, are honourably acquitted of the charges as were levelled against them in the instant case. If the appellants are in jail, they be released forthwith.

(2026) 5 ILRA 990
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Crl. Misc. Writ Petition No. 3807 of 2023

Matambar Mishra ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether petitioner's illegal detention in police custody for about twenty-four hours, without authority of law and on the basis of a domestic violence complaint, constituted a violation of his fundamental right to personal liberty guaranteed under Article 21, and whether the Court, in exercise of its writ jurisdiction, could mould the relief by awarding monetary compensation despite the absence of a specific prayer for such relief.

Headnotes

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - ss. 107, 116, 111 - Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 21 - Illegal detention by police - Compensation - Scope - The petitioner instituted the writ petition alleging that he was forcibly taken from his residence by the In-charge of Police on 26.11.2022 in connection with a domestic dispute, without registration of any criminal case or lawful authority, and was illegally confined in police custody until 27.11.2022 - He further alleged that his release was secured only after payment of an illegal demand of bribe and that the subsequent inquiry conducted by the Assistant Commissioner of Police was perfunctory and failed to consider material evidence - The petitioner also challenged the initiation of proceedings u/ss. 107/116 Cr.P.C., contending that they were instituted subsequently only to create a semblance of legality for his unlawful detention.

Held*:* The petitioner was illegally deprived of his liberty by a police officer, in the colour of exercise of authority of State, and for this act, the petitioner must be given monetary recompense - The ends of justice would be met, if the State are ordered to pay the petitioner for his illegal detention in police custody from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, a total sum of Rs.25,000/- together with costs in the sum of Rs.10,000/- - Accordingly, writ petition succeeds and allowed with costs - Respondent Nos.1, 2 and 3 are ordered by a mandamus to pay the petitioner ad hoc compensation in the sum of Rs.25,000/- within a period of thirty days of the order with liberty to recover the sum of this compensation, together with costs, after these have been paid to petitioner, from Dubey in whatever manner respondent Nos.1, 2 and 3 find it appropriate, including recovery from Dubey's remuneration and other funds in the hands of respondents - It will be open to the petitioner to bring a regular suit for damages and establish his claim before a Court of competent jurisdiction in regard to his illegal detention, where any compensation, if awarded, shall take into account the ad hoc compensation that have granted. [Paras 22, 23] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Fayyaz Shamshoddin Attar v. State of Maharashtra and others, 2015 SCC OnLine Bom 9012; Pankaj Kumar Sharma v. Govt. of NCT of Delhi and others, 2023 SCC OnLine Del 6215; M. Sudakar v. V. Manoharan and others, (2011) 1 SCC 484; Berhampur University and another v. Ganesh Chandra Behera and others, 2021

SCC OnLine Ori 2399; Shiv Kumar Verma and another v. State of U.P. and another, 2021(5) ADJ 493 (DB); referred to

List of Acts

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973; Constitution of India, 1950

List of Keywords

Illegal detention; Police custody; Police lockup; Personal liberty; Commissioner of Police; Sub-Inspector; Compromise letter; Article 21; Writ Petition; Mandamus; Bribe; Inquiry report; Private dispute; Compensation; Domestic violence; Public tranquility; Breach of Peace; Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction; Pecuniary Jurisdiction; Fundamental Right; Police Officer; Authority of Law; Disciplinary inquiry; Remuneration; Petition allowed with cost.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. - 3807 of 2023

From the inquiry report dated 28.12.2022 submitted by the Assistant Commissioner of Police, Handia, Prayagraj to the Commissioner of Police, Prayagraj, discarding the petitioner's case of illegal detention.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner(s):
Mata Achal Mishra, Vinay Mishra

Advs. for the Respondent(s):
G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is a writ petition, which discloses a very substantial cause of action, but seeks a non-substantial relief.

2. The case of the petitioner is one about illegal detention in police custody for 24 hours from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, but the relief that the petitioner seeks is a mandamus commanding the State of Uttar Pradesh through the Additional Chief Secretary (Home), Government of U.P., Lucknow, to ensure an inquiry into the matter by any other superior police officer. In order to understand the prayer for a direction to get an inquiry done by 'any other superior officer', one has to look into the deleted prayer No.1, where the petitioner had sought quashing of the inquiry report dated 28.12.2022 submitted by the Assistant Commissioner of Police, Handia, Prayagraj to the Commissioner of Police, Prayagraj, discarding the petitioner's case of illegal detention. The first relief was deleted under orders of the Division Bench dated 14.03.2023 and notice issued with regard to Relief Nos.2, 3 and 4. Relief Clause No.3 is the residual clause, where the Court is entrusted with the discretion to issue any other suitable writ, order or direction that may be deemed fit and proper, and the fourth is about costs. In our opinion, this is one of the very exceptional cases, where we have to consider granting just relief to the petitioner under Residual Clause No.3.

3. The case of the petitioner is that he was living at Mehmoorganj in the district of Varanasi and had come over to his native village Sidhwar, Tehsil and P.S. Handia, District Prayagraj, to look after his agricultural property located there. On the 26th of November, 2022, the petitioner had gone to his fields to take care of his paddy crop and returned home in Village Sidhwar at about 3.00 p.m., when one Surya Prakash Dubey, the then In-charge Police Outpost Baraut, P.S. Handia, District Prayagraj, entered the petitioner's house. Without intimating anyone of anything or the petitioner himself, he dragged the petitioner out of his house, dressed in just a lungi and kurta and carried him off to the Police Outpost Baraut. Thereafter, the petitioner was conveyed to P.S. Handia. On way to P.S. Handia via Police Outpost Baraut, the petitioner repeatedly asked Dubey the reason why he was being taken to the police station. Dubey abused the petitioner and did not disclose any reason. The petitioner was put in the Lockup of P.S. Handia for about 24 hours from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022.

4. There are specific allegations in paragraph Nos.11 to 17 of the writ petition to the effect that during those 24 hours of illegal detention, the petitioner asked to be set at liberty, but Dubey demanded a bribe of Rs.20,000/- as price for the petitioner's liberty. The petitioner's younger brother endeavoured hard to secure the petitioner's release and for the purpose requested Mr. Rahul Mishra, an Advocate of District Court, Allahabad, but all efforts proved in vain and each time, the petitioner faced a demand of Rs.20,000/- in bribe by Dubey for his release from illegal custody. It is also averred that on 27.11.2022, the petitioner's younger brother repeatedly attempted to contact Dubey over his cellphone, but Dubey remained elusive. It is averred specifically in paragraph No.17 that the petitioner was released from illegal custody on 27.11.2022 at 4.00 p.m., but not before he was forced to pay a bribe of Rs.20,000/- to Dubey.

5. Complaints in the matter were addressed by the petitioner's son Mr. Ashish Kumar Mishra, Advocate of Delhi, to Hon'ble the Chief Minister of U.P., the Director General of Police, U.P. and the Commissioner of Police, Prayagraj, all sent by registered post, but all in vain. In vain in the sense that respondent No.3, the Assistant Commissioner of Police, Handia, Prayagraj was directed to inquire into the matter by the Commissioner of Police, Prayagraj, but he submitted a report rejecting the petitioner's complaint on specious grounds and without hearing the petitioner. The most serious objection to the inquiry undertaken by the A.C.P., Handia is that the inquiry report was submitted by the A.C.P. and an opinion formed about the petitioner's complaint without recording the statement of the petitioner, his son and persons, who visited the petitioner in the Lockup of P.S. Handia, Prayagraj during time that he was in illegal detention. About the last part of the allegation, it is averred in paragraph Nos.12 and 13 that one Devi Shankar Mishra, a resident of the petitioner's village, came to meet him in the Lockup of P.S. Handia on 26.11.2022 and also brought him food cooked at the petitioner's home. The petitioner ate that food on 26.11.2022 at 9.00 p.m. in the Police Lockup. Devi Shankar Mishra was also an important witness about the fact of illegal detention, whose statement was not taken down by the A.C.P. while writing his inquiry report.

6. There is another objection taken by the petitioner in proceedings drawn against him on 29.11.2022 under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C. The case is that proceedings under Section 107/116 were a cover up to justify the petitioner's illegal detention in the Police Lockup from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022. These proceedings were taken on 29.11.2022 and it is argued that for a private dispute between the petitioner and his brother's daughter-in-law, no security proceedings for keeping peace could have been initiated, inasmuch as those proceedings relate to instances of breach of peace or disturbance of public tranquility, or any wrongful act that may probably occasion a breach of peace or disturbance of public tranquility. A case of domestic violence is far away from the Chapter proceedings under the Cr.P.C.

7. About the last part of the matter, upon notice being issued, a counter affidavit has been filed by the Additional District Magistrate (Judicial), Etah. The respondent's folly in initiating proceedings under Section 107/116 concerning a case of domestic violence has been admitted by the 5th respondent. It is averred in paragraph Nos.8 and 9 of the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent No.5 thus:

"8. That in reply to the contents of paragraph No. 28 & 29 of the writ petition it is humbly submitted that the notice under Section 111 Cr.P.C. was issued by the respondent solely on the basis of a challani report submitted by Police Station Handia. The respondent had no independent knowledge of any domestic dispute between the petitioner and other parties. The respondent was not informed of the alleged incidents dated 26.11.2022 and 27.11.2022, nor was any detail of such domestic violence dispute brought to his attention at the time of issuing the notice. No further proceedings or consequential action were taken against the petitioner pursuant to the notice issued under Section 111 Cr.P.C. It is also humbly submitted that while issuing the notice, the aspect of domestic violence was not considered, which was an inadvertent omission. For this oversight, the respondent tenders an unconditional apology to the Hon'ble Court.

9. That it is respectfully submitted that the notice issued under Section 111 Cr.P.C. and the challani report forwarded by Police Station Handia were neither served upon the petitioner nor executed in any manner. With the passage of time, the said notice has lapsed and, therefore, carries no present effect or operation in law."

8. Heard Mr. Mata Achal Mishra, learned Counsel for the petitioner and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate on behalf of the State.

9. So far as the issue of proceedings under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C. is concerned, we must remark that what was reported to the Police, in whatever form, was at best a case of domestic violence, or may be a domestic squabble. There was nothing which was an offence, on the basis of which an FIR or even an NCR could be registered. If that could not be done, the scope of security proceedings under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C. and all the other relevant provisions of Chapter VIII of Cr.P.C. would not be attracted. Those proceedings are essentially designed to preserve peace and public tranquility. Such proceedings are about public peace and tranquility and not domestic peace or tranquility. These should never have been taken and the affidavit on behalf of respondent No.5 admits that the fact was not brought to his notice that at the bottom of the proceedings, was a case of domestic violence. Reference in this connection may be made to a Bench decision of the Bombay High Court in Fayyaz Shamshoddin Attar v. State of Maharashtra and others, 2015 SCC OnLine Bom 9012, where it has been held:

"20. The record and circumstances already mentioned show that it was purely matrimonial dispute. From the wording of section 107 of Cr. P.C., this Court has no hesitation to observe that it was not possible to take the matter under section 107 of Cr. P.C. No crime was registered either of cognizable nature or non-cognizable nature by police on the basis of application dated 22.7.2012. No crime was registered against the present petitioner in the past also. No attempt was made to see that settlement can be arrived between the parties as it was dispute of matrimonial nature and wife had approached police for first time."

10. There are definite allegations in paragraph Nos.8, 9 and 10 of the writ petition about the petitioner being dragged to the police station by Dubey, a Sub-Inspector, In-charge of Police Outpost Baraut, P.S. Handia and illegally confined him in the Police Lockup from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022. In paragraph Nos.11 and 14 of the writ petition, there is a specific allegation that upon the petitioner's demand to be released from illegal police custody, Dubey demanded a bribe of Rs.20,000/-. In paragraph Nos.12 and 13 of the writ petition, there is a case about Devi Shankar Mishra, a resident of the petitioner's village, visiting him in the Police Lockup and bringing him food cooked at the petitioner's home for his evening meal.

11. The most relevant of the counter affidavits, though others are also relevant, is Dubey's personal affidavit dated 03.12.2025. While answering the case of the petitioner in paragraph Nos.8, 9 and 10 of the writ petition about being illegally dragged out of his house by Dubey and confined in the Police Lockup from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, there is no specific denial of the fact in paragraph No.4 of Dubey's counter affidavit. In the absence of a specific denial of the petitioner□s case of illegal detention in the police lockup by Dubey from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, the fact of illegal detention would be deemed to have been admitted. What is said there, is that as per G.D. No.23 dated 27.11.2022, Dubey came to his office and a compromise letter was prepared regarding a domestic violence complaint between the first party Ritika and the second party Matambar Mishra, that is to say, the petitioner. The compromise was made mutually without any pressure. Both parties came to the Police Outpost Baraut, Handia and agreed that there would be no dispute. Their Advocate, Mr. Rahul Mishra, prepared the compromise letter. Both parties agreed to the compromise letter. They did not criticize behaviour of the Police. In paragraph No.5 of the rejoinder affidavit, the petitioner has reiterated his case of being dragged out of his home by Dubey, dressed in just a lungi and kurta and forcibly taken first to Police Outpost Baraut and thence to P.S. Handia, where he was illegally detained in the Police Lockup from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, in order to insult him and lower his status and dignity in the society.

12. What we notice is, as already remarked, that there is no outright denial of the fact that Dubey did not bring the petitioner to the police station. What is attempted is a tacit denial, which, in reality, is no denial in the face of such specific allegations of rough handling and illegal confinement by a police officer. The fact of illegal detention would, therefore, be deemed to have been admitted. What is acknowledged by Dubey is the fact that there was a complaint against the petitioner by Ritika, his daughter-in-law, who in fact is the petitioner's brother's daughter-in-law, about domestic violence. It is then said that the petitioner and Ritika, both came to the police station and mutually compromised the matter without any pressure. The foremost thing to be seen is that if it was a case of domestic violence and nothing more. The Police had little business in the matter unless there was a definitive cognizable offence committed. Admittedly, that was not. If it was only a case of domestic violence, Ritika's remedy lay in moving the learned Magistrate for appropriate relief under the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005.

13. Apparently, Ritika went to the police station with a complaint against the petitioner and it was Dubey, who swung into action. It is beyond all possible standards of behaviour of a man, circumstanced as the petitioner, that he would walk in to the police outpost or the station upon his daughter-in-law lodging a complaint of domestic violence, and without hassle amicably write out a compromise in Dubey's presence. Dubey after all was not a spiritual Guru, a Panch Parmeshwar or a community leader, to whom the petitioner and his daughter-in-law would head out voluntarily to submit their dispute for guidance and amicable settlement. He is a police officer, who is feared because he possesses the coercive authority of the State. There is a gaping flaw in Dubey's account between Ritika's complaint about domestic violence made to him and the petitioner coming over to the police outpost or the station voluntarily, as if it were, and writing out a compromise. It is impossible that the petitioner would have walked in to the police outpost or the station to compromise.

14. In these circumstances, there is little cavil that entertaining a complaint of mere domestic violence, Dubey dragged the petitioner to the police outpost and then locked him up at the police station, as the petitioner says, for 24 hours. The petitioner has not given an exaggerated account and it inspires confidence with us. The allegations about Dubey demanding a bribe, we are not inclined to go into. In so far as the last mentioned allegation is concerned it truly goes to the remit of the disciplinary authority or the Police themselves, or may the Vigilance Establishment or the Anti-Corruption Bureau, to examine and determine.

15. Here all that we are concerned with is a question of the petitioner's right to liberty guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution in its most nascent form. We are convinced that Dubey has recklessly violated the most fundamental essence of this most valuable fundamental right by dragging the petitioner out of his home on the basis of a complaint, he was not authorized to act upon, and, then, carrying the petitioner away in custody, first to the police outpost, Baraut and then confining him in the police lockup at Police Station Handia from 26.11-2022 to 27.11.2022 without the authority of law.. The proceedings under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C., that were drawn up against the petitioner by Dubey, which could never have been taken in regard to a case of domestic violence, were also a cover up to somehow obliterate Dubey's misdeed in illegally confining the petitioner in the Police Lockup at P.S. Handia for 24 hours without authority of law. Though, proceedings were taken on the 29th and the petitioner was liberated from Dubey's illegal custody on 27.11.2022, these proceedings were a measure taken out of panic to raise a semblance of defence for all that Dubey had done to the petitioner. It is for this reason that respondent No.5 has acknowledged the fact that the proceedings, though instituted, did not lead to service of processes upon the petitioner and he was not asked to furnish any bonds etc. during the relevant period of time of six months.

16. In Pankaj Kumar Sharma v. Govt. of NCT of Delhi and others, 2023 SCC OnLine Del 6215, confronted with a similar question, the Delhi High Court held:

"7. It is stated that the Petitioner herein called the police. However, when the police reached the spot, they picked up the Petitioner and placed him in the lock-up. The fact that the Petitioner was picked up from the spot without an FIR against him, subsequently brought to the Police Station and placed in the lock-up has not been disputed by the State authorities.

8. The facts of the case reveal that, even though it was for a short period of time, the Petitioner was deprived of his personal liberty, a right protected under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. It is evident that the authorities acted in a high-handed manner without respecting the Petitioner's liberty placed him in the lock-up without following due procedure of law or the principles that have been laid down when an arrest is made.

xxxxx

10. This Court is deeply troubled by the fact that the Petitioner was not even arrested. He was simply picked up from the spot, brought to the Police Station and placed inside the lock-up for no rhyme or reason. The high-handed way in which the Police authorities have acted, throwing to winds the constitutional and fundamental rights of a citizen, is appalling. This Court is troubled at the way the citizens are being treated by the Police authorities who behave as if they are above the law. A punishment of censure alone is not sufficient in the facts and circumstances of this case.

11. The Apex Court in D.K. Basu (supra) also observed as under:-

"44. The claim in public law for compensation for unconstitutional deprivation of fundamental right to life and liberty, the protection of which is guaranteed under the Constitution, is a claim based on strict liability and is in addition to the claim available in private law for damages for tortious acts of the public servants. Public law proceedings serve a different purpose than the private law proceedings. Award of compensation for established infringement of the indefeasible rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution is a remedy available in public law since the purpose of public law is not only to civilise public power but also to assure the citizens that they live under a legal system wherein their rights and interests shall be protected and preserved. Grant of compensation in proceedings under Article 32 or Article 226 of the Constitution of India for the established violation of the fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 21, is an exercise of the courts under the public law jurisdiction for penalising the wrongdoer and fixing the liability for the public wrong on the State which failed in the discharge of its public duty to protect the fundamental rights of the citizen.

x x x x

46. In Nilabati Behera case [(1993) 2 SCC 746: 1993 SCC (Cri) 527: 1993 Cri LJ 2899], It was held: (SCC pp. 767-68, para 32)

"Adverting to the grant of relief to the heirs of a victim of custodial death for the infraction or Invasion of his rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, it is not always enough to relegate him to the ordinary remedy of a civil suit to claim damages for the tortious act of the State as that remedy in private law indeed is available to the aggrieved party. The citizen complaining of the infringement of the indefeasible right under Article 21 of the Constitution cannot be told that for the established violation of the fundamental right to life, he cannot get any relief under the public law by the courts exercising writ jurisdiction. The primary source of the public law proceedings stems from the prerogative writs and the courts have, therefore, to evolve 'new tools' to give relief in public law by moulding it according to the situation with a view to preserve and protect the Rule of Law. While concluding his first Hamlyn Lecture in 1949 under the title 'Freedom under the Law' Lord Denning in his own style warned:

'No one can suppose that the executive will never be guilty of the sins that are common to all of us. You may be sure that they will sometimes do things which they ought not to do: and will not do things that they ought to do. But if and when wrongs are thereby suffered by any of us what is the remedy? Our procedure for securing our personal freedom is efficient, our procedure for preventing the abuse of power is not. Just as the pick and shovel is no longer suitable for the winning of coal, so also the procedure of mandamus, certiorari, and actions on the case are not suitable for the winning of freedom in the new age. They must be replaced by new and up-to-date machinery, by declarations, Injunctions and actions for negligence.... This is not the task of Parliament the courts must do this. of all the great tasks that lie ahead this is the greatest. Properly exercised the new powers of the executive lead to the welfare state; but abused they lead to a totalitarian state. None such must ever be allowed in this country.""

12. Similarly, In Nilabati Behera v. State of Orisa, (1993) 2 SCC 746, while dealing with the power of a constitutional court to award compensation rather than relegating such person to file a suit for recovery of damages, the Apex Court observed as under: -

"22. The above discussion indicates the principle on which the court's power under Articles 32 and 226 of the Constitution is exercised to award monetary compensation for contravention of a fundamental right. This was indicated in Rudul Sah [(1983) 4 SCC 141 1983 SCC (Cri) 798: (1983) 3 SCR 508] and certain further observations therein adverted to earlier, which may tend to minimise the effect of the principle indicated therein, do not really detract from that principle. This is how the decisions of this Court in Rudul Sah [(1983) 4 SCC 141: 1983 SCC (Crl) 798: (1983) 3 SCR 508] in that line have to be understood and Kasturilal ((1965) 1 SCR 375 AIR 1965 SC 1039 (1965) 2 Cri LJ 144] distinguished therefrom. We have considered this question at some length in view of the doubt raised, at times, about the propriety of awarding compensation in such proceedings, instead of directing the claimant to resort to the ordinary process of recovery of damages by recourse to an action in tort. In the present case, on the finding reached, it is a clear case for award of compensation to the petitioner for the custodial death of her son."

13. The said principle is now well established that in cases where there can be no dispute of facts, the constitutional courts have the power to award compensation in case person has been deprived of his life and liberty without following the procedure established by law.

14. The time spent in the lock-up by the Petitioner, even for a short while, cannot absolve the police officers who have deprived the Petitioners of his liberty without following the due procedure established by law. A punishment of censure which is not likely to have any effect on the career of the police officers will not be a sufficient deterrent to the officer. The censure should be of such nature that other officers too must not emulate such actions in future. This Court is of the opinion that a meaningful message must be sent to the authorities that police officers cannot be law unto themselves. In the facts of this case, even though the illegal detention of the Petitioner was only for about half an hour, this Court is inclined to grant compensation of Rs. 50,000/to the Petitioner, which shall be recovered from the salaries of Respondents No. 4 and 5."

17. This Court must remark at this stage that ideally cases of such kind of illegal detention should go to the Courts of ordinary original civil jurisdiction. In this State, ordinary original civil jurisdiction vests depending upon the valuation, either with the Civil Judge (Jr. Div.) or the Civil Judge (Sr. Div.), the latter holding unlimited pecuniary jurisdiction. Whatever the causes might be, including a large number of statutes that exclude the jurisdiction of the Civil Court in all matters, wherever action of administrative authorities is the subject matter of issue, even in cases where a statute is not in the field and it is a tort pure and simple done by administrative functionaries under the colour of authority, or may be the brazen violation of a fundamental right, as precious as liberty, by constant course of social frown and at times the supervising Courts' discouragement, the Civil Judges in the State for decades have lost the working authority, if not the jurisdiction, to try such suits and award compensation. It is for this reason that whenever the few and far between cases of the award of compensation for brazen acts of torts committed by functionaries of the Electricity Corporation or the Municipal Corporation or deprivation of liberty etc. at the hands of Police come to pass, it is in the exercise of the writ jurisdiction of the High Court. Such compensation or damage awarded albeit has to be ad hoc in nature.

18. We must take note of the fact that though the cause of action here is one essentially complaining of illegal deprivation of the petitioner's liberty in its most basic form by illegal confinement in a Police Lockup at the hands of a police officer, acting under the colour of authority, the petitioner's Relief Clause No. 2 is limited to seeking an inquiry into Dubey's conduct by any other superior police officer. The holding of a disciplinary inquiry into the conduct of a police officer is essentially an administrative function of the Government or the superior officers of the police. Even if that relief is granted and Dubey punished in departmental proceedings, it would not remedy the wrong which the petitioner has suffered on account of illegal deprivation of his liberty. It is not a matter with which the Court is primarily concerned or would recognize as relief for violation of the petitioner's liberty guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution. When the fact was pointed out to the learned Counsel for the petitioner that there was no relief claimed on the foot of which a violation of his right under Article 21 the Constitution, if found in his favour, could be remedied, he came up with an oral prayer that grant of some monetary compensation may be considered by this Court. No doubt that relief has not been claimed but the mere absence of a formal relief in a matter which is as fundamental as the most brazen violation of the petitioner's fundamental right to life and liberty in its most nascent form would not deprive this Court of its jurisdiction to grant necessary relief to remedy the violation of that fundamental right. In the view that we take we are fortified by the guidance of the Supreme Court on principle in M. Sudakar v. V. Manoharan and others, (2011) 1 SCC 484. In M. Sudakar (supra), it was held:

"14. The power to mould relief is always available to the court possessed with the power to issue high prerogative writs. In order to do complete justice 9 it can mould the relief, depending upon the facts and circumstances of the case. In the facts of a given case a writ petitioner may not be entitled to the specific relief claimed by him but this itself will not preclude the writ court to grant such other relief which he is otherwise entitled……"

19. Reference for the principle may be made to a Bench decision of the Orissa High Court in Berhampur University and another v. Ganesh Chandra Behera and others, 2021 SCC OnLine Ori 2399. In Ganesh Chandra Behera (supra), it has been held:

"29. Therefore, in view of pronouncements of the Apex Court, so far as "moulding of relief" is concerned, this Court is of the considered view that even if there is no such specific prayer has been made in the writ petitions, this Court can and ought to grant such relief The principle of "moulding of relief" has been rightly invoked by the learned. Single Judge because allowing the writ petitions in its original form would have been antithetical to the relief sought in the original form of the writ petitions. Therefore, the learned Single Judge after due consideration of the fact that it was the second round of litigation and in order to thwart any possibility of future litigation arising out of the same issue did well to cut through the clutter and get to the root of the issue in order to do complete and substantial justice between the parties by moulding the relief."

20. This Court, in Shiv Kumar Verma and another v. State of U.P. and another, 2021(5) ADJ 493 (DB), was confronted with a claim by the petitioners seeking compensation for illegal detention from 12.10.2020 to 21.10.2020 in connection with Case No. 624 of 2020 under Sections 151, 107 and 116 CPC, Police Station Rohania, District Varanasi. After extensively considering the question of abuse of authority by Public Authorities, the Court took note of the State Government's policy dated 23.03.2021 providing for the payment of compensation of Rs. 25,000/- for illegal detention of any citizen by any officer of the State and initiation of disciplinary proceedings against such officer. This Court disposed of the aforesaid writ petition in terms of the following order:

"23. We record our appreciation for the State Government to take the aforequoted policy decision dated 23.3.2021 for payment of compensation of Rs. 25,000/- for illegal detention of any citizen by any Officer of the State Government and initiation of disciplinary proceedings against such officer. Since the State Government itself has taken a policy decision and has paid compensation to the petitioners herein, therefore, no further direction for payment of compensation is required to be issued in the present writ petition.

24. In view of the aforesaid, this writ petition is disposed of with the following directions :

(i) The State Government shall ensure that the provisions of the Cr.P.C. as referred in the policy decision dated 23.3.2021 are strictly followed/observed by all the concerned officers.

(ii) The State Government shall further ensure that paragraph 12 of the policy decision dated 23.3.2021 is strictly implemented, which at the cost of repetition is reproduced below:

(1) भारत के संविधान के अनुच्छेद-21 का उल्लंघन करते हुये किसी व्यक्ति की अवैध हिरासत किये जाने के लिए अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी द्वारा जांच में दोशी पाये जाने पर उत्तरदायी अधिकारी के विरूद्ध उ0प्र0 सरकारी सेवक (अनुशासन एवं अपील) नियमावली, 1999, दि आल इंडिया सर्विसेज (डिसिप्लीन एंड अपील) रूल्स, 1969 एवं उ0प्र0 अधीनस्थ श्रेणी के पुलिस अधिकारियों की (दण्ड और अपील) नियमावली, 1991 (यथा संशोधित) में संगत नियमों के अंतर्गत दण्डात्मक कार्यवाही की जायेगी।

(2) अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी द्वारा अपनी जांच रिपोर्ट 03 माह में अथवा संगत नियमावली में यथा उल्लिखित समयानुसार प्रस्तुत की जायेगी।

(3) यदि किसी नागरिक की अवैध रूप से हिरासत प्रमाणित पायी जाती है तो पीड़ित व्यक्ति को रू0-25,000/ की धनराशि का भुगतान मुआवजे के रूप में किया जायेगा।

(iii) The State Government shall publish Para 12 of its Policy decision dated 23.3.2021 in all largely circulated National Level Newspaper having circulation in the State of Uttar Pradesh and shall also display it on display board at prominent places within public view, in all blocks, Tehsil Headquarters, Police Stations and in campus of District Collectorate in the whole of the State of Uttar Pradesh.

(iv) Copy of this order shall be sent by the State Government to all District level and Tehsil level Bar Associations in the whole of the State of Uttar Pradesh."

21. Declaration of the law by this Court and the laying down of good policies by the Government, more often than not, has little effect upon the sundry officers who have to implement the policy of the Government or the laws laid down by this Court. They are persistent by habit in their old ways and seem to have faith more in the statistics that out of a case of one thousand violations or may be much more hardly, one citizen would go forward to enforce his right and bring accountability to them. It is for this reason that in cases where a citizen gets up to enforce his right and comes forward to this Court, it becomes our duty to enforce what is already a declared right of his under the Constitution, the laws, the State Government policy and our interpretation thereof. After all, there are officers all around who believe that the violation would go unnoticed, more often than not.

22. In the totality of circumstances, we hold that the petitioner was illegally deprived of his liberty by Dubey, a police officer, in the colour of exercise of authority of the State, and for the aforesaid act, the petitioner must be given monetary recompense. We think that ends of justice would be met, if the State are ordered to pay the petitioner for his illegal detention in police custody from 26.11.2022 to 27.11.2022, a total sum of Rs.25,000/- together with costs in the sum of Rs.10,000/-. We are also of opinion that the State ought be granted liberty, upon payment of the compensation and costs awarded to the petitioner, to recover it from Dubey in whatever manner they deem appropriate, including deducting it from his remuneration.

23. In the result, this writ petition succeeds and is allowed with costs, which we quantify in the sum of Rs.10,000/-. Respondent Nos.1, 2 and 3 are ordered by a mandamus to pay the petitioner ad hoc compensation in the sum of Rs.25,000/- within a period of thirty days of the communication of this order with liberty to recover the sum of this compensation, together with costs, after these have been paid to the petitioner, from Dubey in whatever manner respondent Nos.1, 2 and 3 find it appropriate, including recovery from Dubey's remuneration and other funds in the hands of the respondents. Needless to say that it will be open to the petitioner to bring a regular suit for damages and establish his claim before a Court of competent jurisdiction in regard to his illegal detention, where any compensation, if awarded, shall take into account the ad hoc compensation that we have granted here.

24. Let this judgment be communicated to the Additional Chief Secretary (Home) Government of U.P., Lucknow, the Commissioner of Police, Prayagraj, the Assistant Commission of Police, Handia, Prayagraj and Surya Prakash Dubey, the then In-charge, Police Outpost Baraut, P.S. Handia, District Prayagraj by the Registrar (Compliance).

(2026) 5 ILRA 1000
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 20.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJAN ROY, J.
THE HON'BLE AMITABH KUMAR RAI, J.

Writ A No. 2999 of 2026

Dr. Gyanendra Pratap Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue(s) for consideration

(a) Whether the petition was maintainable despite the petitioner sending representations/emails to the Chancellor to recall the cancellation order?
(b) Whether demanding a candidate to join within 11 days of receiving the appointment letter—and refusing an extension request of ~1.5 months—was arbitrary, unreasonable, and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution?
(c) Whether the cancellation violated the principles of legitimate expectation and administrative consistency, especially when other appointed VCs had been granted joining periods of up to four months?

Headnotes

A. Service Law - The petitioner—a scientist (Vigyan Shri awardee, 2025) and former Director of ICAR-NBPGR—applied for the post of Vice-Chancellor at Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. Following a recommendation by the Search and Selection Committee, an appointment letter was issued to him on 10.02.2026 (received on 18.02.2026). To assume the new post, the petitioner needed to be relieved from his deputation post and report to his parent cadre before superannuating on 31.03.2026. On 19.02.2026, and 26.02.2026, the petitioner requested an extension of the joining period until 31.03.2026.

On 25.02.2026, the respondents abruptly issued a directive ordering the petitioner to join by 01.03.2026 (within 11 days of receiving the appointment letter), failing which his appointment would be canceled. On 03.03.2026, the respondents canceled his appointment due to non-joining. Notably, on 18.02.2026, the tenure of the outgoing Vice-Chancellor (Dr.Vijendra Singh) had been extended by six months or until the new Vice-Chancellor assumed charge. The petitioner challenged both the order imposing the arbitrary deadline (25.02.2026) and the cancellation of appointment (03.03.2026).

B. Arbitrariness is antithetical to equality and that every State action must be fair, just, and non-discriminatory. The impugned action is ex facie arbitrary, unreasonable, and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Once the competent authority had granted time to the appointed Vice Chancellor to assume charge owing to his inability to obtain immediate relieving from his previous institution, the appointee acquired a legitimate expectation that the appointment would continue to remain operative during the permitted period. (Para 24)

There was no stipulation or date by which the petitioner was directed to join and it is only by letter dated 25.02.2026 that the deadline of 01.03.2026 was given. No reasons had been given as to how the date of 01.03.2026 has been given for joining of the petitioner in the backdrop of the fact that he had clearly indicated that he will be superannuating on 31.03.2026. Further, the appointment letter was received by the petitioner only on 18.02.2026 and there was no reason for a deadline to be given within 15 days of the issuance of appointment letter, especially considering the fact that the existing incumbent by that time had already been directed to continue till the petitioner join on the said post. (Para 21, 22)

C. The respondents, having adopted a consistent past practice, could not deviate therefrom in the present case without any rational basis or cogent justification, failing which the action becomes vitiated by hostile discrimination, non-application of mind, and violation of the settled principles of fairness and administrative consistency. The action becomes further arbitrary and discriminatory in view of the fact that the tenure of the incumbent Vice Chancellor was extended for a substantially longer duration and that, in earlier instances, similarly situated Vice Chancellors had been granted joining periods extending up to four months. (Para 24)

The order dated 25.02.2026 is clearly arbitrary and the date directing him to join by 01.03.2026 has been unreasonable and arbitrarily fixed. Period of one and half months, requested by the petitioner to get himself relieved from the services of a Central Government Institution where he was already working, is certainly not excessive or unreasonable and respondents themselves could have considered the request and granted him adequate time for joining on the new place of posting. The request was not unreasonable inasmuch as in similar circumstances, similar requests from other people, were accepted and much longer length of time was given to them for joining on the post of Vice-Chancellor. It took a lengthy and extensive exercise by the Search and Selection Committee to finalize list of 03 persons, which led to the final selection of the petitioner. Such process cannot be done away with by the arbitrary action of the respondents, by merely denying extension of a reasonable period sought by him. (Para 25, 23)

Both the impugned orders dated 03.03.2026 and 25.02.2026 are illegal and arbitrary and accordingly quashed and respondents are directed to permit the petitioner to join on the post of Vice-Chancellor. (Para 26)
Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Case Law Cited

1. E.P. Royappa Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 1974 (4) SCC 3 (Para 24)
2. Maneka Gandhi Vs. Union of India, AIR 1978 SC 597 (Para 24)
3. Food Corporation of India Vs. Kamdhenu Cattle Feed Industries, 1993 1 SCC 71 (Para 24)
4. Council of Civil Service Unions Vs. Minister for the Civil Service (Para 24)

List of Keywords

legitimate expectation, arbitrary, discriminatory, appointment, cancellation, article 14, constitution, fairness, administrative consistency.

Appearances for Parties

For Petitioner(s): Avinash Singh, Abhinav Nath Tripathi
For Respondent(s): C.S.C., Ashok Kumar Srivastava, Dr. Pooja Singh, Prashant Kumar Singh, Satyanshu Ojha, Sridhar Awasthi (Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.

&
Hon'ble Amitabh Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Sanjeet Kumar Mishra and Mr. Avinash Singh, Sri Kuldeep Pati Tripathi, Additional Advocate General for respondent No. 1, Sri Sudeep Seth, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Sridhar Awasthi, learned counsel for respondent No. 2, Sri Satyanshu Ojha, learned counsel for the respondent No. 3 and Sri Ashok Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent No. 4.

2. It has been submitted by learned counsel for petitioner that petitioner is renowned scientist of international repute, a Vigyan Shri Conferred by the Hon'ble President of India in 2025 and stand a Director of two premier Indian Council of Agricultural Research Institutes, namely ICAR National Bureau of Plant Genetic Resources, New Delhi and ICAR ? Indian Institute of Wheat & Barley Research, Karnal, and currently serving as Principal Scientist at the ICAR-Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi.

3. The petitioner had applied for the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. The advertisement was issued on 26.08.2025 and the petitioner has submitted his application on 01.09.2025 and further his name was short-listed for selection on the said post and was also called for interview by the Search and Selection Committee on 10.02.2026. Subsequent to the interview his name was duly recommended in the panel of three persons for appointment on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. Subsequently, he was selected and an appointment letter was issued to him on 10.02.2026 which was communicated to the petitioner on 18.02.2026 by a registered post. Apart from the aforesaid communication, the concerned Secretary had also intimated the petitioner about his appointment and the petitioner in turn had given his in principle acceptance through WhatsApp.

4. The dispute in the present case has arisen on account of the fact that the petitioner did not join the said post despite a direction issued by the respondents on 25.02.2026 wherein he was directed to take charge of the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya by 1stMarch, 2026, failing which his appointment would be cancelled.

5. It has been submitted by learned counsel for petitioner that on receipt of the appointment letter, he has sought relieving from his deputation post of Director, ICAR-National Bureau of Plant Genetic Resources(NBPGR) and in pursuance of the application of the petitioner, an order for his reliving was passed on 18.02.2026 directing him to report to his parent cadre and join on the post of Principal Scientist, ICAR-Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi.

6. The petitioner after complying his all the formalities, joined his parent department on 02.03.2026 and immediately after joining, he moved an appropriate application to his parent department for being relieving so that he could join on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya.. It has further been stated that on receipt of the letter of appointment, the petitioner had moved an application for granting time for joining on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya on 19.02.2026 written to the Additional Chief Secretary and OSD to the Hon’ble Governor, Lucknow.

7. In the said letter, he had clearly indicated that he had already intimated the Indian Council for Agriculture Research , Ministry of Agriculture, Government of India for getting relieved from the post of Director, NBPGR so that he could join as Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. He had further intimated that he would be superannuating on 31st March, 2026 and further stated that in the aforesaid circumstances, some further time may be consumed for being relieved and prayed that he may be granted extended joining period.

8. It is only after the letter dated 19.02.2026 was received by the respondents, they had proceeded to pass the impugned order dated 25.02.2026. Even thereafter, the petitioner wrote a letter on 26.02.2026 to the Additional Chief Secretary and OSD to the Hon’ble Governor intimating them of the fact that he would be superannuating on 31.03.2026 and even if he applies for the voluntary retirement, some time will be consumed and again prayed for extending the joining period till 31.03.2026.

9. It is in the aforesaid circumstances that by means of the impugned order dated 03.03.2026, the appointment of the petitioner was cancelled. It is in the aforesaid circumstances, the present writ petition has been filed by the petitioner assailing the validity of the order dated 03.03.2026 as well as the order dated 25.02.2026.

10. It is the contention of the petitioner, firstly that in the order of appointment dated 10.02.2026, there is no prescription of the time period by which the petitioner was to join on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. He further submits that the respondents were fully aware about the previous posting of the petitioner and the need for him to get relieved from his posting before he could offer his services and join as the Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya was well within the knowledge of the respondents. Accordingly, it has been contended that in such a situation, reasonable period is always granted to the selected candidates to get themselves relieved from the previous place of posting and offer their services to join as per the subsequent appointment letter.

11. The question which squarely falls for consideration before this Court is as to whether one and half month's period sought by the petitioner was a reasonable period of time sought by him for joining on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya or that the respondents in the peculiar circumstances of the case had correctly canceled his selection and appointment letter.

12. The backdrop of the aforesaid facts, it is noticed that appointment letter of the petitioner was issued on 10.02.2026 which was received by him on 18.02.2026. He had written a letter dated 19.02.2026 and 26.02.2026 seeking further time to join. In both the letters, we find that there is a mention that petitioner would be superannuating from services on 31.03.2026.

13. In any view of the matter, there are obstacles with regard to being relieved from his parent place of posting would no longer exists, the moment the petitioner is superannuated from his previous place of posting inasmuch as the superannuation severs the relationship of a master and a servant leaving it open for the petitioner to join on the selected post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya. We further find that the respondents themselves in the case of Dr. Abhijeet Mitra who was appointed as the Vice-Chancellor of Uttar Pradesh Pt. Din Dayal Upadhya Pashu Chikitsay Vigyan Vishvyavidhyalay Evam Gou Anushandhan Sansthan, Mathura was appointed by means of letter on 11.05.2025 and in fact joined on 04.09.2025 after a period of nearly 4 months.

14. It has been therefore contended that it is a routine matter with regard to grant of reasonable time to the selected candidate to join on the new post. It has further been contended that the incumbent on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya, namely, Dr. Vijendra Singh who had completed his tenure was given extension for a period of 6 months by means of order dated 18.02.2026. In the said letter of extension, a clear reference was made with regard to appointment of the petitioner and it was very well within the knowledge of the respondents that some time would be consumed for the petitioner to take over the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya and to meet the said contingency, the existing incumbent was asked to continue till joining of the petitioner. This fact clearly establishes that firstly it was very well known to the respondents that sometime would be required for the petitioner to join on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya and secondly to met the said contingency they had taken adequate steps and giving extension to the previous Vice-Chancellor.

15. Sri Sudeep Seth, has vehemently opposed the writ petition. He has submitted that during the pendency of the writ petition, the petitioner himself has submitted an e-mail and a letter to the Chancellor seeking her indulgence to recall the order dated 03.03.2026 and he submits that when the petitioner himself has approached the Chancellor of the universities then he should be relegated to his remedy and the present writ petition should be dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioner on the other hand has submitted that the petitioner in his anxiety has been writing letter against cancellation of his appointment but fairly submits that there is no statutory prescription provided for recall of the order of cancellation of appointment once the same has been passed and the only remedy the petitioner has is under the writ jurisdiction before this Court under Article 226 of Constitution of India.

17. Accordingly, we agree with the contention of the petitioner and accordingly the arguments of the petitioner on ground of the alternative remedy are rejected considering the fact that there is no prescription providing for recall or review of the order of the Chancellor.

18. The second ground raised by Sri Sudeep Seth, is that no definite date was given by the petitioner by which he would be joining on the selected post and therefore in absence of any such material there is no infirmity by the respondents in canceling his appointment.

19. In this regard, it has been submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that he has clearly that indicate in both of the his letter dated 09.02.2026 as well as 26.02.2026 that he shall join on the post after being relieved from previous place of posting and in any view order of the matter, he would be superannuating on 31.03.2026. Accordingly, we find that in very clearly and unequivocal terms, the petitioner has clearly indicated the time period within which he would be joining on the selected post.

20. In view of the aforesaid, we do not find any ground for accepting the objections raised by learned counsel for the respondents.

21. A perusal of the order dated 18.02.2026 would clearly indicate that the respondents were fully aware that some time may be consumed before the selected candidate (petitioner) would join on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya and therefore to maintain continuity in education and for the benefit of the students, the incumbent to the said post was directed to continue for a maximum period of 6 further months or till the new incumbent join on the said post. In the said letter, it was clearly indicated that the petitioner has been appointed as a new Vice-Chancellor and some time is likely to be consumed before he takes over charge. Accordingly, there is no doubt that the respondents were fully aware of the fact that after issuance of the appointment letter, sometime has to be granted to the new candidate to join on the said post and they had taken care of this issue at that time and they had extended the tenure of the existing incumbent.

22. From the aforesaid, this Court is of the considered view that there was no stipulation or date by which the petitioner was directed to join and it is only by letter dated 25.02.2026 that the deadline of 1st March, 2026 was given. It is noticed that no reasons have been given as to how the date of 1st March, 2026 has been given for joining of the petitioner in the backdrop of the fact that he had clearly indicated that he will be superannuating on 31st march, 2026. Further, we find that the appointment letter was received by the petitioner only on 18.02.2026 and we see no reason why as a deadline was given on 1st March,, 2026 within 15 days of issuance of the appointment letter. Specially considering the fact that the existing incumbent by that time had already been directed to continue till the petitioner join on the said post.

23. We further find that granting time for the appointee to take over the charge of Vice-Chancellor is a routine matter and we take note of the fact that in similar circumstances when Dr. Abhijeet Mitra was appointed as the Vice-Chancellor of Uttar Pradesh Pt. Din Dayal Upadhya Pashu Chikitsay Vigyan Vishvyavidhyalay Evam Gou Anushandhan Sansthan, Mathura was given four months time then we see no reason as to how one and half month time can be said to be unreasonable so as to the extra-ordinary power of cancellation of appointment.

24. In the present case, the impugned action is ex facie arbitrary, unreasonable, and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India, as elucidated in E.P. Royappa v State of Tamil Nadu, 1974 (4) SCC 3 and Maneka Gandhi v Union of India, AIR 1978 SC 597 wherein it has been settled that arbitrariness is antithetical to equality and that every State action must be fair, just, and non-discriminatory. Once the competent authority had granted time to the appointed Vice Chancellor to assume charge owing to his inability to obtain immediate relieving from his previous institution, the appointee acquired a legitimate expectation that the appointment would continue to remain operative during the permitted period, in terms of the principles recognised in Food Corporation of India v Kamdhenu Cattle Feed Industries, 1993 1 SCC 71 and Council of Civil Service Unions v Minister for the Civil Service. The action becomes further arbitrary and discriminatory in view of the admitted fact that the tenure of the incumbent Vice Chancellor was extended for a substantially longer duration and that, in earlier instances, similarly situated Vice Chancellors had been granted joining periods extending up to four months. The respondents, having adopted a consistent past practice, could not deviate therefrom in the present case without any rational basis or cogent justification, failing which the action becomes vitiated by hostile discrimination, non-application of mind, and violation of the settled principles of fairness and administrative consistency.

25. Accordingly, we find that the order dated 25.02.2026 is clearly arbitrary and the date directing him to join by 01st March, 2026 has been unreasonable and arbitrarily fixed. We further find that requesting for one and half months in peculiar circumstances of present case where the petitioner was already working in a Central Government Institution where he had to get himself relieved before he could join at the present place of posting, period of one and half months is certainly not excessive or unreasonable and in the aforesaid facts the respondents themselves could have considered the request of the petitioner and granted him adequate time for joining on the new place of posting. We further find that the request of the petitioner was not unreasonable inasmuch as in similar circumstances, other persons who had made similar request, were accepted and much longer length of time was given to them for joining on the post of Vice-Chancellor. We are further conscious of the fact that a lengthy and extensive process takes place by the Search Committee and subsequently by finalilsing the list of 03 persons and such an extensive exercise has been carried out when the petitioner has been finally selected. Such process cannot be brought to the knowledge by the arbitrary action of the respondents by merely denying extension of a reasonable period sought by him.

26. For the aforesaid circumstances, we find that both the impugned orders dated 03.03.2026 and 25.02.2026 are illegal and arbitrary and accordingly quashed and respondents are directed to permit the petitioner to join on the post of Vice-Chancellor, Acharya Narendra Deva University of Agriculture and Technology, Kumarganj, Ayodhya forthwith.

27. Let the petitioner submit a copy of this order to the Chancellor and on receipt of the same necessary orders shall be issued for joining of the petitioner within ten days thereafter.

28. With the aforesaid directions, the writ petition stand allowed.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1007
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 08.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ARINDAM SINHA, J.
THE HON'BLE SATYA VEER SINGH, J.

Writ C No. 10755 of 2026
Along with
Other Connected Cases

M/s Kant Construction Company ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to the rejection of the petitioners' bids in an e-auction for grant of mining leases on the ground of failure to submit the original 'No Dues Certificate'/affidavit, demand draft and other original documents as required under sub-clause 'ट' read with Clause 4 of the auction notice; and whether submission of the original documents was an essential tender condition justifying rejection of the bids, or whether uploading of the prescribed documents constituted the essential requirement and non-submission of the original documents was merely a curable irregularity not warranting rejection of the bids.

Headnotes

U.P. Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021 – rr. 26 & 27 – E-auction for grant of mining lease – Auction notice – Clauses 2 to 4 – Tender conditions – Rejection of bids on technical grounds – Petitioners' bids rejected for alleged non-submission of original 'No Dues' affidavit, demand draft/challan and other original documents though scanned copies had been uploaded – LoIs issued in favour of lower bidders – – Justification:

Held : The tendering authority is to interpret its own terms with consistency and to ensure that such interpretation advances, not defeats, the object of the tender. The object is mainly to maximize the revenue to the State when it deals with a natural resource. There is lawful presumption that all the bids were opened on the prior appointed date, since petitioners were informed of rejection only after the time for opening of bids had passed. Rules 26 and 27 do not provide procedure for the bids to be in two parts, technical and financial. On interpretation of Clause (4) of the auction notice, the essential requirement is to upload the prescribed documents. Even assuming there was omission on the part of the petitioners to submit the original 'No Dues Certificate', affidavit, demand draft or challan showing deposit of the value to obtain the demand draft, it amounts to a mere irregularity. To contend that such omission is fatal for consideration of a bid, when all the bids had already been opened, gives rise to suspicion of doubtful action. Petitioners had specifically stated submission of their original documents, not specifically denied by the authority. Held, there had been misconstruction of Clause (4) of the tender notice dated 12.01.2026. Consequently, the LoIs issued in respect of Serial Nos. 7, 8 and 9 were set aside and quashed. Petitioners were directed to deposit re-issued demand drafts of ₹15,000/- along with a certified copy of the order, whereupon the concerned mining authority was directed to issue the LoIs in their favour. (Paras 15 to 18.) (E-5)

Case Law Cited

Shanti Construction Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Odisha, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2368;
Jai Hanuman Construction Jagdish Saran v. State of U.P., 2023 SCC OnLine All 2033;
A.S. Traders, through Executive Partner Sri Rahul Singh v. State of U.P., through Principal Secretary, Department of Public Works, Lucknow, 2025 SCC OnLine All 7194; Energo Constructions Private Limited v. Uttar Pradesh Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Ltd., AIR 2024 All 83

List of Acts

Constitution of India;
Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021

List of Keywords

E-auction, Mining Lease, Tender Conditions, U.P. Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021, Rules 26 & 27, Auction Notice, Clause (4), Technical Rejection of Bid, Upload of Documents, Original Documents, Verification of Documents, Essential Requirement, Curable Irregularity, Misconstruction of Tender Condition, Interpretation of Tender Terms, Technical Bid and Financial Bid, No Dues Certificate, Affidavit, Demand Draft, Challan, Higher Bidder, Letter of Intent (LoI), Quashing of LoI, Maximisation of State Revenue, Natural Resources, Judicial Review of Tender, Public Interest, Competitive Bidding, Shanti Construction Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Odisha.

Case Arising From

Rejection of petitioners' e-bids on technical grounds; issuance of LoIs in favour of private respondents.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant: Devbrat Mukherjee, Siddharth Mukherjee

Advs. for the Respondents: C.S.C., Harshit Kumar Srivastava, Himanshu Srivastava, Madan Lal Srivastava

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arindam Sinha, J.)

1. The writ petitions, lead case Writ-C no. 10755 of 2026 (M/S Kant Construction Company vs. State Of U.P. And 3 Others) are being heard together.

2. There was auction notice dated 12th January, 2026 inviting bids for obtaining mining lease in respect of several areas, duly declared. Chapter IV in U.P. Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021 provides the procedure. There is no challenge to the auction notice. Petitioners are participants in the e-auction, whose bids were rejected on technicalities.

3. The controversy is in respect of clauses 2 to 4 in aforesaid auction notice. It is necessary for adjudication of the writ petitions, to reproduce below relevant requirements under the auction notice.

" 2. कोई व्यक्ति/फर्म/निकाय जो भारतीय नागरिक हो, जिलाधिकारी, सोनभद्र की सम्बोधित ई-निविदा संलग्न प्रारूप-2 पर प्रस्तुत कर सकता है, जिसमें निम्नलिखित बातें होंगीः-

क. विज्ञप्ति संख्या व दिनांकः जिसके द्वारा क्षेत्र विज्ञापित किया गया हो।

ख. विज्ञप्ति में क्षेत्र का क्रमांक।

ग. निविदाकार का नाम, पिता का नाम, पता (स्थायी और वर्तमान) ई-मेल एवं मोबाइल नं० (पता के प्रमाण स्वरूप व्यक्ति के लिये आधार कार्ड या अन्य पहचान पत्र तथा फर्म / कम्पनी/ निकाय के लिये उनका पंजीकरण का विवरण)

घ. क्या आवेदक भूस्वामी है। (हॉ/ नहीं)

ड. उस क्षेत्र और खनिज का विवरण जिसके लिये उसने निविदा प्रस्तुत की है, जिसमें निम्न हो:-

भूस्वामी का नाम :-

उपखनिज का नाम :-

तहसील का नाम :-

खनन क्षेत्र का नाम / ग्राम :-

गाटा संख्या/खण्ड संख्या:-

क्षेत्रफल (हेक्टयर में)

विज्ञप्ति में दी गयी खनन योग्य अनुमानित खनिज की मात्रा:-

च. ई-निविदा की प्रक्रिया में भाग लेने हेतु अप्रतिदेय आवेदन शुल्क रु० 15,000/- के जमा का चालान ।

छ. प्री बिड अर्नेस्ट मनी का ड्राफ्ट (जिसकी गणना क्षेत्र में आंकलित खनन योग्य मात्रा एवं उप खनिज की रायल्टी दर से गुणा कर प्राप्त धनराशि का 25 प्रतिशत होगा)

ज. खनिज के लिये प्रति घनमीटर के लिये दी जाने वाली ई-निविदा की दर:-

(ई-निविदा की दर उस खनिज के लिये नियमावली, 2021 के प्रथम अनुसूची में विनिर्दिष्ट रायल्टी की दर से कम नहीं होगी।)

झ. प्रदेश में इमारती पत्थर सैण्ड स्टोन, जिसमें पटिया/गिट्टी/बोल्डर आदि मिश्रित रूप में पाये जाते है, के लिए बोल्डर एवं गिट्टी में से अधिक रायल्टी दर वाले उपखनिज मिट्टी की रायल्टी की दर को आधार मूल्य मानकर ई निविदा की कार्यवाही की जायेगी तथा सैण्ड स्टोन डायमेंशनल (पटिया, चौका, ब्लॉक आदि) की ई-निविदा में स्वीकृत अधिकतम रायल्टी दर कम होने की स्थिति में नियमावली, 2021 की अनुसूची -1 में निर्धारित रायल्टी दर देयता हेतु प्रभावी होगा।

ट. जिलाधिकारी, या ऐसे अधिकारी द्वारा जो जिलाधिकारी द्वारा तदर्थ प्राधिकृत किया जाय, द्वारा जारी खनन अदेयता का प्रमाण पत्र परन्तु जहां आवेदक प्रदेश में पट्टाधारक / परिहारधारक न रहा हो, वहाँ इस आशय का शपथ पत्र।

ठ. भू-स्वामी को छोड़कर अन्य व्यक्ति/फर्म को उस जिले के जिलाधिकारी जहाँ वह स्थायी रूप से निवास करता है, से जारी चरित्र प्रमाण पत्र।

ड. भू-स्वामी को छोड़कर अन्य व्यक्ति/फर्म को ऋण शोधन क्षमता प्रमाण पत्र या ऋण शोधन क्षमता प्रमाण पत्र के साथ बैक प्रत्याभूति, जो ई-निविदा की धनराशि के 25 प्रतिशत से कम न हो।

3. बिन्दु संख्या-2 में उल्लिखित वांछित अभिलेखों तथा ड्राफ्ट की स्कैन प्रति ई-टेण्डर के साथ अपलोड किया जाना होगा।

4. यदि निविदाकार द्वारा बिन्दु संख्या-2 में वांछित अभिलेख / बैंक ड्राफ्ट की प्रति ई-निविदा के साथ अपलोड नहीं की जाती है तो उसकी ई-निविदा अस्वीकार कर दी जायेगी। अपलोड किये जाने वाले अभिलेखों की मूल प्रति/प्रमाणित प्रति तथा ड्राफ्ट की मूल प्रति निविदा खोले जाने से पूर्व निर्धारित अवधि के अन्तर्गत जमा करना अनिवार्य होगा।"

4. Petitioners have demonstrated, by disclosures in their respective writ petitions, the required documents were uploaded along with their bids. It is only in case of petitioner in Writ-C no. 12100 of 2026 (M/s Rudra Enterprises vs. State of U.P. and 5 others) there has been contention raised on behalf of the successful bidder that petitioner did not upload the challan showing deposit of money to obtain demand draft of Rs. 15,000/-, liable to be forfeited on the contingency provided. The demand draft was uploaded.

5. Mr. Devbrat Mukherjee, learned advocate appears on behalf of petitioner in the lead case and submits, rules 26 and 27 do not admit of interpretation to sustain conduct of respondent authorities, of rejecting his client's bid on allegation that physical copy of the affidavit had not been submitted. He relies on judgment of the Supreme Court in Shanti Construction Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of Odisha, available at 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2368. Paragraph 10 of said judgment is reproduced below.

"10. A public tender is not a private bargain. It is instrument of governance, a mechanism through which the State discharges its solemn duty as trustee of public wealth. Its purpose is not merely procedural compliance, but maximisation of public value through a process i.e. fair, transparent and competitive. The obligation of the Tendering Authority is therefore twofold, namely, to interpret its own terms with consistency and to ensure that such interpretation advances, not defeats, the object of tender. The court must intervene in a case of demonstrable misconstruction of a tender condition or irrationality which affects the public interest. When an interpretation of a tender condition narrows competition and excludes the highest bidder on a ground unsupported by law, the decision making process is vitiated*. The interpretation of the terms of tender must, therefore, serve the object and purpose of the tender mainly to maximise the revenue to the State, when it deals with a natural resource."*

(emphasis supplied)

6. Mr. H.N. Singh learned senior advocate appears on behalf of petitioners in Writ-C no. 11154 of 2026 (Kant Construction Company vs. State of U.P. and Others) and Writ-C no. 12260 of 2026 (Kant Construction Company vs. State of U.P. and Others). He adopts submissions made by Mr. Mukherjee and submits further, there are preceding rules in respect of physical auction. The provisions allow for subsequent physical submission of original documents. Respondent authorities have manipulated the auction process and for the purpose are seeking to rely on the rules under Chapter IV. Interpretation of the rules in the Chapter, in particular rules 26 and 27, do not provide for opening of the bids on technicality, for any of them to be rejected. He demonstrates from material disclosed that opening of the bids was to be at 11:30 A.M. on 24th February, 2026. Referring to the checklist carrying information, inter alia, on rejection of bids he points out, digital signature was put as on 25th February, 2026. It is clear evidence of the bids having had earlier been opened, scrutinized and segregated for rejection, to favour the successful bidders, private respondents in the several writ petitions.

7. He submits further with reference to clause (4) in the auction notice, it is in two parts. The first part is mandatory. Omission will lead to rejection. The second part is for verification. It cannot be said that any omission, for purpose of verification, can invite rejection. He demonstrates from disclosures in the writ petition, his client's affidavit was uploaded along with all other required documents. He explains, in case of existing holders of mining lease, they had to upload 'no dues certificate' and submit the original for verification. Those bidders, who do not hold mining lease in the State were to furnish affidavit to that effect. He reiterates, his client's affidavits stood uploaded. He also draws attention to paragraph 5 in his client's writ petition (Writ-C no.11154 of 2026), for specific averment that the original was also submitted. Paragraph 5 is reproduced below.

"5. That with the hard copy of the tender the petitioner has filed original notarized affidavit dated 21.02.2026 clearly stating in paragraph no. 3 that no amount of any dues of mining department is against him apart from other required documents or registration of GST and character certificate etc."

He submits, on behalf of State, presently posted Senior Mines Officer, District Sonbhadra has affirmed the counter affidavit. Paragraph 4 from it is reproduced below.

"4. That the contents of Paragraph Nos. 4 and 5 of the writ petition are not admitted in the manner, as stated, hence denied. In reply, thereof, it is submitted that petitioner has not submitted original hard copy of the affidavit regarding no mining dues before prescribed period for opening of tender bid, hence, the petitioner was found non fulfilling the conditions mentioned in the tender notice."

Mr. Singh seeks interference.

8. Mr. Akhilesh Kumar Chaubey, learned advocate appears on behalf of petitioner in Writ-C no. 12100 of 2026 (M/s Rudra Enterprises vs State of U.P. and 5 others). He submits, the check list carries allegation that his client had not submitted the original draft. The allegation is untrue. The averment is in paragraph 12. A passage from the paragraph is reproduced below.

"12.....That it is pertinent to mention here that petitioner participated for vacant mining area no.7 i.e. Araji No.4798 Kha, 4799 Kha, 4800 Kha, 4801, 4802, 4804 Ka, 4804 Ga, 4805 and 4866 Kha in area 1.820 Hectare situated at Village Billi Markundi, Tehsil Obra, District Sonbhadra submitting a bid of Rs.415/m3 significantly higher than the base price of 165/m3 and further successfully uploaded all the mandatory documents on the E-Portal (etender.up.nic.in) on 22.02.2026 and also physically deposited the same in the Tender Box under departmental videography but surprisingly 24.02.2026 during the opening the physical Tender Box the respondents in collusion with a local syndicate, allegedly removed the petitioner's physical copies of the application fees annexed with the E-Tender Form and subsequently despite the digital record proving the existence of all documents the respondents prepared a technical check list on 25.02.2026 marking the petitioner invalid due to missing physical documents and further LOI (Letter of Intent) dated 28.02.2026 has been issued in the favour of respondent no.6 (Maa Durga Mining Works)."

(emphasis supplied)

He then draws attention to paragraph 11 in the counter affidavit affirmed by aforesaid presently Senior Mines Officer saying that an inquiry has been constituted. Paragraph 11 from the counter is reproduced below.

"11. That the contents of Paragraph No. 12 of the writ petition are not admitted in the manner, as stated, hence denied. In reply, thereof, it is submitted that in pursuance to the representation dated 06.03.2026 submitted by the petitioner, three (3) Members enquiry committee was constituted by the District Magistrate, directing it to submit its report. It is further submitted that the enquiry committee is conducting enquiry, and after receiving report from enquiry committee appropriate action will be taken."

He too seeks interference.

9. Mr. Manish Goyal, learned senior advocate Additional Advocate General appears on behalf of State. He submits, there is no challenge to the e-auction notice dated 12th January, 2026. It was duly issued and carried the essential requirements for bids being considered. He too relies on clause 4 in the notice to submit, petitioners omitted to tender their respective original affidavits/demand drafts. He refers to our earlier orders dated 24th April and 4th May, 2026. Paragraph 2 from our order dated 24th April, 2026 is reproduced below.

"2. We have also perused the rejoinder filed. It transpires that date of physical submission of the documents was not specifically stated by petitioner. In the circumstances, since there is allegation that the documents were deposited prior to scheduled date and time of opening the bids, we require State to produce the file. This is because State relies, inter alia, rule-26 (b) for contention that the bids were not opened as found to be technically deficient. Petitioners in the other writ petitions are represented as are State and private respondents."

The file was produced and on request made by us on order dated 4th May, 2026, inspection of it was allowed to the learned advocates appearing for the several petitioners. Their inspection did not show submission of the original documents. On basis of the omission the bids were rejected. In the circumstances there is no scope for interference.

10. Referring to Shanti Construction (supra) Mr. Goyal draws attention to paragraphs 14 and 15. Paragraph 14 is reproduced below.

"14. The unsuccessful bidder is a company. It is axiomatic from the stand taken by the State in its counter, that the unsuccessful bidder had filed the Income Tax Return for the Financial Year 2020-2021. The auction notice was issued in the midst of the year i.e. on 11.07.2022. The proper construction of the phrase 'previous Financial Year' therefore, assumes critical importance. Rule 27(4)(iv) of the Rules requires the bidder to produce an Income Tax Return of the "previous Financial Year". The said Rule has to be read in harmony with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Under Section 139(1) of the aforesaid Act, a company may file the Income Tax Return for the Financial Year 2021-2022 up to 31st of October, 2022. As per auction notice, the bids were required to be submitted on 18.07.2022. The period for filing the Income Tax Return for Financial Year 2021-2022 (relevant to Assessment Year 2022-2023) was yet to expire. Therefore, on the said date the bidder could not have been expected to file an Income Tax Return for Financial Year 2021- 2022 along with its bid documents, as the statutory period for filing the same had not expired."

He elaborates, the Supreme Court interpreted on the requirement for submission of income tax return for financial year 2020-21 required by therein auction notice dated 11th July, 2022. Appellant before the Supreme Court was participant in the auction process and it being a company, had disclosed its balance sheet for the period since, the return could not be prepared as was to be prepared at a later date in terms of then prevailing provisions in Income Tax Act, 1961. Thus, the Supreme Court interfered on finding that there was compliance. He reiterates, in this case there has been omission to comply with the essential requirement. Rejection of the bids of petitioners thus should not be interfered with. He lays emphasis that facts in this case do not demonstrate misconstruction of a tender condition or irrationality, which affect the public interest.

11. Mr. Goyal submits, the procedure stands provided in Chapter IV of the Rules. Drawing attention to clause (d) under rule 23(2) he submits, the owner is to be given right of first refusal. This procedure had been complied with in issuance of the LoIs. Any interference will undo actions duly taken for issuance of the LoIs. Referring to rules 26 and 27 he submits, there is no specific provision for either virtual or physical documents to be submitted/accepted. Rule 27 empowers the District Officer or Committee as the case may be to fix date, time and web portal as determined by the State Government for, inter alia, conducting e-auction. In the circumstances it cannot be said that the procedure provided by auction notice dated 12th January, 2026 are requirements, omission on any of them to be interpreted as an irregularity. It would amount to reading down the requirements in rule 26. He relies on views taken by Division Benches of this Court.

(i) Jai Hanuman Construction Jagdish Saran vs. State of U.P. available at 2023 SCC OnLine All 2033, paragraphs 25-27

(ii) A.S. Traders, Thru Executive Partner Sri Rahul Singh vs. State of U.P., Thru. Prin. Secy. Deptt. of Public Works Lko. available at 2025 SCC OnLine All 7194, paragraphs 21-25

(iii) Energo Constructions Private Limited vs. Uttar Pradesh Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Ltd. available at AIR 2024 All 83, paragraphs 23, 24, 28 and 29

He submits, the writ petitions be dismissed.

12. Mr. Shashi Nandan, learned senior advocate appears for private respondent M/s Maa Durga Mining Works. His client has been issued LoI. He adopts submissions made by Mr. Goyal. He adds on drawing attention to sub-clause '?' in the e-auction notice, the requirement to submit 'no dues certificate'/affidavit is an essential condition. With reference to clause (4) in the notice he lays emphasis on the requirement being essential, as the clause says, omission to upload will invite rejection. It goes on to further say that submission of physical documents, prior to opening of the bids, is compulsory. Thus it is no matter that the sentence on compulsion follows the sentence providing for rejection. Petitioners did not submit original documents as was compulsory. They obtained inspection of the file. The facts are thus demonstrated. The writ petitions be dismissed.

13. Mr. Sinha, learned senior advocate appears on behalf of M/s RSS Mining Works, another who has also been issued LoI. He adopts submissions made by Mr. Goyal and Mr. Nandan to submit further, petitioner in Writ-C no. 12100 of 2026 has not uploaded the challan, required by sub-clause '?' in clause (2) of the notice. The sub-clause is again reproduced below.

"च. ई-निविदा की प्रक्रिया में भाग लेने हेतु अप्रतिदेय आवेदन शुल्क रु० 15,000/- के जमा का चालान।"

Hence, there has been omission attracting the mandate of rejection. There be not interference in this writ petition, to deny his client moving forward under the LoI issued.

14. Mr. Singh in reply submits, views taken by this Court in the judgments relied upon are on facts, where there were procedure for initial evaluation of technical bids, removal of discrepancies, if any on objections and thereafter opening of the financial bids. The views are distinguishable on facts, as not applicable to present case in the writ petitions, where the tendering authority has manipulated the process. He reiterates, original documents were filed but removed. This was done after evaluation of the bids, where there was no procedure for putting in technical or financial bids, separately. There is clear pleading of submission of original documents and no denial in the counters. The original documents removed naturally could not be found in the file. He seeks interference. Mr. Mukherjee in reply submits likewise.

15. There have been several decisions of the Supreme Court declaring the law on scope of judicial review in respect of tender and distribution of public largesse/wealth. Relied upon paragraph 10 in Shanti Construction (supra) is reiteration of the declaration. Two fold obligation has also been said to exist. Firstly, the tendering authority is to interpret its own terms with consistency and to ensure that such interpretation advances, not defeats object of the tender. The object, said by the Supreme, is to serve purpose of the tender, which is mainly to maximize the revenue to the State, when it deals with the natural resource. Above is the context, in which we must see the facts.

16. We have had demonstration that petitioners' bids were informed to them as rejected, after the time for opening bids had passed. They were informed the following day. There thus can be lawful presumption that all the bids were opened on prior appointed date. This presumption is strengthened on our acceptance of submission made by Mr. Singh that rules 26 and 27 do not provide procedure for the bids to be in two parts, technical and financial. Moving on to the next contention regarding interpretation of clause (4) in the notice, it can only be that the essential requirement is to upload. Even assuming there was omission on part of petitioners to submit the original documents, be it a 'no dues certificate' or affidavit or demand draft or challan showing deposit of the value to obtain the demand draft, it amounts to a mere irregularity. To contend that such omission is fatal for consideration of a bid, when we have already presumed that all the bids had been opened, gives rise to suspicion of doubtful action. In case of a missing affidavit, the person swearing it can be called upon to swear another affidavit and on tangible information with the authority, there can be inquiry for purpose of the declaration to be found as false. Rule 26(b) provides that a person shall not be allowed to bid or take part in, inter alia, e-tender against whom mining dues are outstanding. Petitioners, whose bids were cancelled on omission to file the affidavit contend there is no question of them having outstanding dues because they have not undertaken mining operation in the State prior to making of their bids. In any event the rule requires verification. The authority interpreting the clause in the rule has, by the auction notice, required submission of affidavit. Hence, we reiterate, on tangible information had, there can be inquiry on an affidavit, original of which if not submitted/produced as can be called, for purpose of the inquiry. So far as the demand drafts are concerned, they are instruments purchased on the issuing bank receiving value thereof. The bids lead to payment by the bidders of huge amount of revenue, if declared successful. For us to sustain an objection regarding verification, on omission to deposit the original demand drafts for respective tender of amount Rs. 15,000/- would be a perverse finding. In event the demand drafts have been misplaced, they can be re-issued. Regarding contention of requirement to upload challan in respect of obtaining issuance of the demand draft (Writ-C no. 12100 of 2026) we see that there appears to be a mistake in the requirement made. All petitioners have uploaded their respective demand drafts. As aforesaid, a demand draft is issued by the bank on value received therefor. To ask for a challan showing deposit of the money, in compliance with which requirement petitioners have uploaded scanned copy their respective demand drafts is, in our view, good compliance of the requirement.

17. We must reiterate, our above presumption is fortified by analysis of the pleadings. Respective petitioners had specifically stated submission of their original documents, not specifically denied by the authority. In one case there has been contention of inquiry launched. We are sure, the authority can require all petitioners to subject themselves for verification of their respective documents uploaded but fact remains their respective bids for the notified areas are higher than the bidders, in whose favour the LoIs have been issued.

18. We accept submission that views taken earlier in Jai Hanuman Construction (supra), A.S. Traders (supra) and Energo Constructions Private Limited (supra) do not come to aid of respondents inasmuch as they are distinguishable on facts. Shanti Construction (supra) is applicable declaration of law for the tendering authority to consistently interpret the terms in the auction notice, to fulfill object of maximizing the revenue. We do have demonstration that there has been misconstruction of clause (4) in tender notice dated 12th January, 2026. It follows, there must be and we direct, the LoIs issued in respect of serial nos. 7, 8 and 9 of said tender notice dated 12th January, 2026 are set aside and quashed. Petitioners will each deposit re-issued demand drafts for Rs.15,000/- along with certified copy of this order, to respondent no.1. Thereupon said respondent/concerned mining authority is directed to issue the LoIs in favour of the petitioners, within three weeks. We direct dispensation of notice for first refusal by the land owners since, they had not exercised their option in respect of lower bids, against which the set aside LoIs were issued. We make it clear, within time prescribed by the LoIs to be issued, the petitioners are to comply with all requisitions, particularly in respect of deposit of, inter alia, the royalty. On omission to so deposit, concerned mining authority will forthwith cancel the LoI, to automatically revive the LoI earlier issued.

19. On above directions, the writ petitions are disposed of. The original documents file earlier handed back, be returned to the office.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1016
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SAURABH SRIVASTAVA, J.

Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 12713 of 2026

Vinod Kumar & Anr. ...Applicants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether the order dated 26.2.2026 passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, rejecting the Final Report submitted by Investigating Officer and taking cognizance of offence under relevant sections of IPC without specifically invoking and disclosing the applicable clause of s. 190 Cr.P.C. was legally sustainable, and, ancillary thereto, whether the criminal proceedings initiated against the applicants, in the backdrop of a pending civil suit challenging the very same family settlement/arbitral award, amounted to an abuse of process of law warranting quashing u/s 528 BNSS.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - ss. 420, 467, 468 and 471 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - ss. 190, 200, 202 - Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - s. 47 - Final Report - Rejected - Cognizance of offence - Summoning order - Quashing of - Maintainability - Cheating - Forged documents - Forged signatures on family settlement/arbitral award - Allegation of - Objection to - Validity of - The applicants invoked the inherent jurisdiction of High Court u/s 528 BNSS seeking quashing of order dated 26.2.2026 passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad in Misc. Case No. 89 of 2026, arising out of Case Crime No. 423 of 2023 registered under relevant sections of IPC at P.S. Kotwali, District Farrukhabad, whereby the trial court had rejected the Final Report submitted in favour of applicants and, taking cognizance of offence on the strength of material collected during investigation and appended to Case Diary, had summoned the applicants - The prosecution stemmed from allegations by opposite party no. 2 that a family settlement/arbitral award bore forged signatures of himself and his wife, a claim purportedly corroborated by a FSL report, notwithstanding that the same settlement was independently under challenge in a pending Original Suit and had earlier been objected to u/s 47 CPC as far back as 14.12.2016, and notwithstanding that the concerned Investigating Officer, after detailed inquiry, had already submitted a Final Report dated 5.12.2025 exonerating the applicants.

Held: In the instant matter order dated 26.2.2026 falls under the category of s. 190(1)(c) of Cr.P.C. where the learned court concerned rejected the report in shape of Final Report submitted by concerned Investigating Officer and on the basis of materials collected during course of investigation appended along with Case Diary, cognizance of offence has been taken up that is purely on the basis of his own knowledge since the knowledge applied by concerned Investigating Officer in shape of submitting Final Report has been rejected and as such learned court concerned duly authorized to take cognizance u/s 190 Cr.P.C. must come up with specific provisions contained u/s 190 Cr.P.C. but the same is missing in the order dated 26.2.2026 which impugned the instant application - Although, it is the hypothetical propositions, that if learned court concerned could have mentioned s. 190(1)(c) the matter has to be proceeded in shape of Criminal Complaint wherein the materials have been submitted by concerned Investigating Officer and as such the procedure defined u/s 200 Cr.P.C. may not be exercised and only the documents submitted by concerned authorities and person has to record their statements u/s 202 Cr.P.C. - Accordingly, impugned order set aside, matter remitted back, application partly allowed. [Paras 17 to 20] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Pratibha Manchanda & another v. State of Haryana & another decided on 7.7.2023 in Criminal Appeal no. 1793 of 2023 arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) no. 8146 of 2023; C.S.Prasad v. C Satyakumar and others decided on 8.1.2026 in Criminal Appeal no. 140 of 2026 arising out of SLP (Crl.) no. 397 of 2025 - distinguished

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973; Code of Civil Procedure, 1908

List of Keywords

Application u/s 528 BNSS; First Information Report; Final Report; Investigating Officer; Quashing of summoning order; Malicious prosecution; Misuse of process of law; Civil proceedings; Original suit; Family settlement; Arbitral Award; Forensic Science Laboratory; Fictitious signature; Case diary; Forged documents; Impersonation; Police Report; Complaint; Crpc; IPC; CPC; Application partly allowed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. - 12713 of 2026

From the Judgment and Order dated 26.2.2026 passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad in Misc. Case No. 89 of 2026 arising out of Case Crime No. 423 of 2023, PS- Kotwali, District Farrukhabad.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Applicant(s):
Manu Khare

Advs. for the Opposite Party(s):
Arvind Agrawal, G.A., Shashank Tripathi

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Manu Khare, learned counsel appearing on behalf of applicants, Sri Arvind Agrawal, learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party no. 2 and learned AGA for State.

2. The instant matter has been preferred for challenging order dated 26.2.2026 passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad in Misc. Case no. 89 of 2026 arising out of Case Crime no. 423 of 2023 in pursuance to sections 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC, PS- Kotwali, District Farrukhabad.

3. Learned counsel appearing for applicants submitted that the entire story whatsoever has been submitted through narration of the FIR has already been inquired in detail by concerned Investigating Officer which culminated into preferring Final Report in favour of the applicant wherein it has been found that no such offence has ever been carried out at the behest of applicants as narrated through FIR at the behest of opposite party no. 2.

4. While challenging order dated 26.2.2026 whereby learned trial court rejected Final Report and after taking cognizance of offence summoned the applicants, it is submitted that the same is not maintainable since the learned court concerned once rejected the entire Final Report, no other material is available before learned court concerned for taking cognizance of offence.

5. It is the ground taken up by learned counsel for the applicants that a civil proceedings has already been initiated at the behest of opposite party no. 2 wherein family settlement/award dated 12.12.2004 has been put under challenge, although challenge in shape of Original Suit no. 283 of 2017 (Vivek Kumar and others Vs. Vinod Kumar and others) is also highly belated which is still pending to be adjudicated by learned court concerned since 2017 and the objection to the award has already been preferred at the behest of opposite party no. 2 under Section 47 CPC on dated 14.12.2016.

6. The attention of this Court has been sought by learned counsel for applicants over the objection which has already been preferred at the behest of opposite party no. 2 way back in the year 2016 itself and the same are indicating in respect of genuineness and questioning the existence of document which he never signed rather if signed, the same blank papers in shape of stamp papers have already been obtained by the applicants. In view of aforementioned facts and circumstances, learned counsel for the applicants demonstrated the fact that entire settlement/award came into the knowledge of the opposite party no. 2 way back in the year 2016 itself and even after preferring Original Suit for cancellation of the family settlement which has been registered as Original Suit no. 283 of 2017 (Vivek Kumar and others Vs. Vinod Kumar and others) implication of the applicants have been made through FIR which has been registered at Case Crime no. 423 of 2023 in pursuance to sections 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC which is nothing but trying to give criminal colour to the controversy which is pending to be adjudicated in civil proceedings, although matter has been inquired by concerned Investigating Officer and after conducting detailed investigation it has been found that no such offence has been carried out by the applicants and a Final Report has been submitted by concerned Investigating officer by way of submitting explicit narration that no offence has been made out as indicated through narration of the Final Report dated 5.12.2025 and as such proceedings initiated against the applicants is in shape of malicious prosecution and misuse of the process of law which has to be taken into consideration by this Court by way of quashing entire proceeding arising out of Case Crime no. 423 of 2023.

7. Sri Arvind Agrawal, learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party no. 2 vehemently opposed the prayer as made through instant application and rebutted the stand taken up by learned counsel for the applicants on the ground that the mismatch of the signatures were examined by Forensic Science Laboratory and vide a report it has been clarified that the signature whatsoever has been made by the applicants is not matched with the signature of opposite party no. 2 as well as Sarita Gangwar wife of opposite party no. 2 and as such the essence and ingredients for attraction of sections 420, 467, 468 as well as 471 IPC are made out which compelled the learned court concerned for taking cognizance of offence on the basis of the documents available with the Case Diary through which applicants have been summoned in pursuance to the above mentioned sections vide order dated 26.02.2026 passed by learned court concerned.

8. For substantiating his arguments, Sri Arvind Agrawal relied upon judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in case of Pratibha Manchanda & another Vs. State of Haryana & another decided on 7.7.2023 in Criminal Appeal no. 1793 of 2023 arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) no. 8146 of 2023 and judgment passed by same court in case of C.S.Prasad Vs. C Satyakumar and others decided on 8.1.2026 in Criminal Appeal no. 140 of 2026 arising out of SLP (Crl.) no. 397 of 2025.

9. For elaborating the offence committed by the applicants which insisted learned court concerned for taking cognizance of offence and directing the applicants to put their appearance by way of issuing summoning orders, a detailed chart has also been provided by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 during course of argument which is reproduced as under:

F.S.L. BRIEF

VIVEK KUMAR- INFORMANT
SARITA GANGWAR - WIFE OF INFORMANT
S1-S6, SAMPLE SIGN OF VIVEK KUMAR
S7-S12, SAMPLE SIGN OF SARITA GANGWAR

SIGN	PERSON NAME	DOCUMENT	DATED	MATCHED/NOT MATCHED	WITH SAMPLE/NAME	ANNEXED/NOT ANNEXED
Q1	VIVEK	PANCH NYUKTI	27.11.2024	NOT MATCHED	S1-S6 (VIVEK)
Q2	VIVEK	ARBITRAL AWARD	12.12.2004	NOT MATCHED	S1-S6 (VIVEK)

Q3	VIVEK	AFFIDAVIT/ NOC	24.02.2005	MATCHED	S1-S6 (VIVEK)
Q4	VIVEK	AFFIDAVIT/ NOC	24.02.2005	MATCHED	S1-S6 (VIVEK)
Q5	VIVEK	PERMISSION FOR RECONSTITU TUIN OF FIRM	12.08.2004 /1904 (USE OF OLD LETTER HEAD)	MATCHED (EXECUTED PRIOR TO PANCH NYUKTI)	S1-S6 (VIVEK)	NOT ANNEXED (EXECUTED PRIOR TO PANCH NYUKTI)
Q6	VIVEK	PERMISSION FOR RETIRING FROM FIRM	28.12.2004	NOT CONFIRMED	S1-S6 (VIVEK)	NOT ANNEXED
Q7	SARITA GANGW AR	NOC/AFFIDA VIT	24.02.2005	NOT MATCHED	S7-S12 (SARITA)
Q8	SARITA GANGW AR	NOC/AFFIDA VIT	24.02.2005	NOT MATCHED	S7-S12 (SARITA)

 Q3, Q4, Q7, Q8 IS THE SAME DOCUMENT

DOCUMENT NOT ANNEXED

1. DEED OF SEPARATION- 01.10.2024 (NOT SENT FOR FSL)
(EXECUTED PRIOR TO PANCH NYUKTI)

10. Sri Arvind Agrawal, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 submitted that it is not the matter of civil dispute rather, it is a crystal clear case of criminality showed by applicants by way of putting forged and fictitious signatures by way of impersonating themselves as opposite party no. 2 and his wife and the same is apparent from the report submitted by Forensic Science Laboratory and as such matter needs to be tried before learned court concerned and there is hardly any discrepancy available in the order through which applicants have been summoned and as such instant application is liable to be dismissed.

11. Learned AGA seconded the arguments raised by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 and supported the order through which cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned court concerned since the same is based upon strict proof of evidence which is available in the material appended along with Case Diary.

12. After hearing the rival submissions extended by learned counsels for the parties, the law as defined by Hon'ble Apex Court, relied by learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party no. 2 is crystal clearly mentioned under paragraph no. 25, 26, 27 and 28 in the case of C.S.Prasad (supra) which is quoted hereinbelow:

"25. Testing on the aforesaid parameters, we find that the complaint dated 08.01.2020 made by the appellant contains categorical allegations that respondent Nos. 1 to 3, by abusing the advanced age and medical vulnerability of the executants, caused the execution and registration of the three settlement deeds to their unlawful advantage, and thereafter used such documents as genuine for the purpose of deriving proprietary benefits. The allegations in the complaint also disclose dishonest intention at the inception of the transaction as well as fabrication and wrongful use of documents. At this stage, we must note that the High Court in its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.PC is bound to take the allegations on its face value. Whether these allegations can ultimately be proved is a matter strictly within the province of the Trial Court.

26. In the impugned order, the High Court has quashed the proceedings primarily on the ground that the validity of the settlement deeds has been upheld in the proceedings before the Civil Court. We are of the view that this approach adopted by the High Court is not correct. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that civil liability and criminal liability may arise from the same set of facts and that the pendency or conclusion of civil proceedings does not bar prosecution where the ingredients of a criminal offence are disclosed. In Kathyayini vs. Sidharth P.S. Reddy and Others, this Court had made it crystal clear that "pendency of civil proceedings on the same subject matter, involving the same parties is no justification to quash the criminal proceedings if a prima facie case exists against the accused persons."

27. Adjudication in civil matters and criminal prosecution proceed on different principles. The decree passed by the Civil Court neither records findings on criminal intent nor on the existence of offences such as forgery, cheating, or use of forged documents. Therefore, civil adjudication cannot always be treated as determinative of criminal culpability at the stage of quashment. Moreover, in the case at hand, the civil proceedings have not attained finality.

28. Adjudication of forgery, cheating or use of forged documents in relation to a settlement deed will always carry a civil element. Therefore, there cannot be any general proposition that whenever dispute involves a civil element, a criminal proceeding cannot go on. Criminal liability must be examined independently. Respondent Nos. 1 to 3 were entitled to acquittal only upon failure of proof in the trial and not at the threshold jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.PC. To permit quashing on the sole ground of a civil suit would encourage unscrupulous litigants to defeat criminal prosecution by instituting civil proceedings. "

13. And the same foundation of argument are based upon paragraph no. 28 of case of Pratibha Manchanda (supra) which is reproduced hereinbelow:

"28. It is immaterial that the genuineness of the 1996 GPA is already subjudice before the Civil Court in the civil suits pending between the parties. The appellants, owing to their age and residential status, cannot be expected to await indefinitely for the outcome of these civil proceedings. Regardless, the pendency of these cases does not estop the issues of forgery and fabrication being considered in the course of criminal investigation. The facts of the case speak for themselves and an element of criminality cannot be ruled out at this stage. Whether or not the alleged offences were committed by Respondent No. 2 and his coaccused in active collusion with each other can be effectively determined by a free, fair, unhampered and dispassionate investigation. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case, custodial interrogation of not only Respondent No. 2 but all other suspects is, therefore, imperative to unearth the truth. Joining the investigation with a protective umbrella provided by prearrest bail will render the exercise of eliciting the truth ineffective in such like case. We are, as mentioned, also skeptical, suspicious and incredulous about the verification process of the 1996 GPA carried out by the Sub Registrar, Kalkaji, New Delhi. Hence, the conduct of the officials of SubRegistrar Office, Kalkaji, New Delhi is also required to be examined to take the investigation to its logical conclusion. "

14. The above mentioned dictum of law has to be given credence to the facts and circumstances which are same, if applicable over the instant matter. So far as the knowledge of offence as alleged by opposite party no. 2 while preferring FIR on dated 29.11.2023 is concerned which has been registered at Case Crime no. 423 of 2023 at P.S. Kotwali, District Farrukhabad, the allegations were in the knowledge of opposite party no. 2 from the date when the award/settlement has been objected under Section 47 CPC on dated 14.12.2016, even thereafter the same has been put under challenge while preferring Original Suit no. 283 of 2017 (Vivek Kumar and others Vs. Vinod Kumar and others) and during pendency of the same, that too for near about 7 years and without having any favourable order from learned civil court, all of a sudden having knowledge of committing offence, FIR has been registered at Case Crime no. 423 of 2023. The applicability of rights as well as option for availing opportunity to exercise the rights conferred by Constitution of India by citizen of this country which ensures for registration of Criminal Complaint in shape of First Information Report but the same has to be information registered as first not as information available with so many persons for a long period of time and thereafter balancing the orders warranted to be obtained by either of the parties, failing which exercise for registration of the matter as a criminal proceedings in shape of FIR has to be considered in all parameters and corners of law. The straight line available in the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 in case of Pratibha Manchanda and C.S.Prasad (supra) cannot be extended in favour of opposite party no. 2 once there is a self-admission on every stage preferred at the behest of opposite party no. 2 before every proceedings that certain documents have already been signed as blank in good faith of the applicants and the same might be misused by them, the misuse in shape of award/settlement once put under challenge and the same is still pending to be adjudicated finally by concerned civil court, there was no occasion available before the opposite party no. 2 to prefer proceedings registered as Case Crime no. 423 of 2023.

15. So far as the conclusion drawn by concerned Investigating Officer by way of preferring Final Report is concerned which has been discarded by way of rejecting Final Report and taking cognizance of offence on the basis of materials so available and appended along with Case Diary collected during course of investigation, there is a crystal clear provision contained under Section 190 of Cr.P.C. wherein under Chapter XIV conditions requisite for initiation of proceedings when the cognizance of offence has to be taken up by the Magistrate are well defined which is as under :

"190. Cognizance of offences by Magistrates.

(1)Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, any Magistrate of the first class, and any Magistrate of the second class specially empowered in this behalf under sub-section (2), may take cognizance of any offence –

(a)upon receiving a complaint of facts which constitute such offence;

(b)upon a police report of such facts;

(c)upon information received from any person other than a police officer or upon his own knowledge, that such offence has been committed.

(2)The Chief Judicial Magistrate may empower any Magistrate of the second class to take cognizance under sub-section (1) of such offences as are within his competence to inquire into or try. "

16. The usual course of taking cognizance of offence under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. is upon a police report in shape of charge sheet submitted by concerned Investigating Officer which usually in practical need not to elaborate while taking cognizance of offence and summoning the concerned accused but when the police report in shape of Final Report wherein it is submitted that no offence has been carried out by accused implicated in specific Case Crime number is being rejected and thereafter cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned concerned court and issued summoning order against the person who have been implicated in the FIR, the specific provision under Section 190 Cr.P.C. is mandatory to be disclosed while taking cognizance of offence and issuing summoning orders for ensuring presence of the persons implicated at the stage of preferring FIR.

17. In the instant matter order dated 26.2.2026 falls under the category of Section 190(1)(c) of Cr.P.C. where the learned court concerned rejected the report in shape of Final Report submitted by concerned Investigating Officer and on the basis of materials collected during course of investigation appended along with Case Diary, cognizance of offence has been taken up that is purely on the basis of his own knowledge since the knowledge applied by concerned Investigating Officer in shape of submitting Final Report has been rejected and as such learned court concerned duly authorized to take cognizance under Section 190 Cr.P.C. must come up with specific provisions contained under Section 190 Cr.P.C. but the same is missing in the order dated 26.2.2026 which impugned the instant application.

18. Although, it is the hypothetical propositions, that if learned court concerned could have mentioned Section 190(1)(c) the matter has to be proceeded in shape of Criminal Complaint wherein the materials have been submitted by concerned Investigating Officer and as such the procedure defined under Section 200 Cr.P.C. may not be exercised and only the documents submitted by concerned authorities and person has to record their statements under Section 202 Cr.P.C. The mode of the prosecution could have been little different with the present one and as such the clarity of the procedure must be ensured by learned court concerned while passing orders which is an opening gate of the procedure for putting any person to try in pursuance to the offence carried out specifically in shape of sections 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC.

19. In view of aforementioned facts and circumstances, impugned order dated 26.2.2026 passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad in Misc. Case no. 89 of 2026 arising out of Case Crime no. 423 of 2023 in pursuance to sections 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC, PS- Kotwali, District Farrukhabad is hereby set aside only in respect of applicants herein. Matter is remitted back to learned court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Farrukhabad/learned concerned court to take fresh cognizance of offence, if required, by way of specific disclosure of the procedure provided under Section 190 Cr.P.C.

20. The instant application u/s 528 BNSS stands partly allowed.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1024
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 31196 of 2025

Anuraj Ratna & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether on a conjoint reading of FIR, the charge-sheet and material on record, the dispute between the parties is essentially civil/commercial in nature arising out of non-payment of dues for goods supplied so as to be devoid of requisite criminal ingredients under relevant sections of IPC, thereby rendering the impugned charge-sheet, cognizance/summoning order and consequential proceedings liable to be quashed in exercise of jurisdiction u/s 528 BNSS.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - ss. 323, 406, 409, 420, 504, 506 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - s. 221 - Civil / Commercial - Charge-sheet - Cognizance - Criminal breach of trust - Cheating - Dishonest intention - Summoning order - Quashing of - Res judicata - The instant application u/s 528 BNSS was preferred by applicants seeking quashing of charge-sheet dated 14.03.2022, summoning order dated 23.03.2022, and entire proceedings arising out of Case Crime No. 86 of 2022 under relevant sections of IPC, on the allegation that the applicants, being director and employees of Keleone Trading Company Pvt. Ltd., had represented themselves as authorised representatives of a French buyer company, M/s Leon and Harper, induced the first informant's company, Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd., to supply garments on that basis, received part payment while withholding the balance amount despite repeated demands, and on one occasion allegedly abused, threatened and demanded an unwarranted discount from the informant's director - Applicant contended that they were mere intermediaries/service-providers entitled to commission, that the actual contract for sale and payment subsisted directly between Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd. and French buyer, that the dispute was purely commercial in nature concerning delayed delivery, penalty and commission, that a civil suit for recovery of commission was already pending between the parties, and that the police closure report had itself found the matter to be non-criminal, following which the High Court examined the contentions along with settled legal position on quashing of criminal proceedings arising from essentially civil/commercial disputes.

Held: The dispute is essentially civil/commercial in nature, and the allegations made and as they appear from the record and documents, predominantly give rise and constitute a 'civil wrong' with no 'element of criminality' is involved and it does not satisfy the basic ingredients of criminal offence, therefore, in view of Amit Kapoor (infra), the pendency of criminal proceedings would amount to an abuse of process of law - From a perusal of impugned cognizance and summoning order, it appears that the learned Magistrate has taken cognizance in both sections i.e. ss. 406 and 420 IPC, together, without disclosing in clear words, the reasons, why he is taking cognizance in both these sections together when they are distinct from each other and cannot exist together on same facts - Therefore, it appears that the learned Magistrate has not applied his judicial mind while taking cognizance and summoning the applicants and thus, the impugned order is mechanical and cryptic in nature, and is not sustainable - The application is not barred by principle of res judicata, as after the earlier application was withdrawn, supplementary charge-sheet was filed and also that the earlier application was not decided on merits - Application allowed, thus entire proceedings quashed. [Paras 31, 34, 39, 40] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Arshad Niyaz Khan v. State of Jharkhand and Another, 2025 INSC 1151; Delhi Race Club (1940) Ltd. and others v. State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2024 10 SCC 690; Mukesh and others v. The State of Uttar Pradesh and others, in Criminal Appeal No. Nil of 2024 (Arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No. 12354 of 2024; The Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, West Bengal v. S.K. Roy, (1974) 4 SCC 230; Rajesh Bajaj v. State NCT of Delhi and others, (1999) 3 SCC 259; Ajeet Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2006 (5) ADJ 280; Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd and others, (2006) 6 SCC 736; State of Maharashtra v. Syed Mohammed Massod and another, 2009 (8) SCC 787; Ghanshyam v. State of Rajasthan, (2014) 2 SCC 683; Indo Asian Ltd. v. State of Uttarakhand and another, (2014) 3 SCC 191; Bhaskar Lal Sharma and another v. Monica and others, (2014) 3 SCC 383; Somjeet Mallick v. Sate of Jharkhand and others, (2024) 10 SCC 527; Ghanshyam Sharma v. Surendra kumar Sharma and others, (2014) 13 SCC 401; Priti Saraf and another v. State (NCT of Delhi) and another, (2021) 16 SCC 142; State of Uttar Pradesh and another v. Akhil Sharda and others, (2023) 11 SCC 626; Kathyayini v. Sidharth P.S. Reddy & ors., Criminal Appeal No. Nil of 2025, arising out of SLP (CRL) No. 1105 of 2024 dated 14.07.2025; Kamladevi Agarwal v. State of W.B. and others (2002) 1 SCC 555; K. Jagadish v. Udaya Kumar G.S. and another, (2020) 14 SCC 552; Kamal Shivaji Pokarnekar v. State of Maharashtra and others, (2019) 14 SCC 350; Amit Kapoor v. Ramesh Chander and another, (2012) 9 SCC 460; Bhim Sain Arora & ors. v. State, 2025:DHC:7379; Joseph Salvaraj A v State of Gujarat and others, 2011 (15) SCC 449; Inder Mohan Goswami and Another v. State of Uttaranchal and Others, AIR 2008 SC 251; Mohammad Wajid v. State of U.P., reported as 2023 SCC OnLine SC 951 - referred to

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Application u/s 528 BNSS; IPC; Charge-sheet; Summoning order; Cognizance; Civil dispute; Commercial transaction; Criminal breach of trust; Cheating; Misappropriation; Dishonest intention; Entrustment; Inducement; Res judicata; Gautam Budh Nagar; Delivery of goods; Service providers; Final settlement of readymade garments; Discharge; Breach of contract; Criminal proceedings; Investigation; First information report; Mechanical order; Letter of credit; Purchase order; Service provider; Intermediary; Application allowed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. - 31196 of 2025

From the Charge-sheet dated 14.03.2022, Summoning order dated 23.03.2022 and entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 582 of 2022 arising out of Case Crime No. 86 of 2022, Police Station Phase-III, Noida, Commissionerate, District Gautam Budh Nagar, pending in the court of learned Civil Judge (Sr. Div.)/ Fast Track Court, Gautam Budh Nagar.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant(s):
Rajan Upadhyay, Sr. Advocate

Advs. for the Opposite Party(s):
Anil Kumar Pandey, G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjiv Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Ramesh Upadhyay, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Rajan Upadhyay, learned counsel for the applicants, learned AGA for the State, Mr. Arvind Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Anil Kumar Pandey, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 528 of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (in short 'BNSS') has been filed to quash charge-sheet dated 14.03.2022, summoning order dated 23.03.2022 as well as entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 582 of 2022 (Anuraj Ratna and others Vs. State of U.P. and another), arising out of Case Crime No. 86 of 2022, under Sections 323, 406, 409, 420, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Phase-III, Noida, Commissionerate, District Gautam Budh Nagar, pending in the court of learned Civil Judge (Sr. Div.)/ Fast Track Court, Gautam Budh Nagar.

3. Brief facts of the case are that opposite party no.2, Alok Kumar Singh, lodged an FIR against the applicants and others, stating that the first informant is share holder of Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd. (herein after referred to as 'Kashvi Ltd.'), based in C-35, 65 NOIDA, Gautam Budh Nagar. The above company was established in 2011, and is engaged in manufacture and export of garments. In January/February 2021, applicants Anuraj Ratna (Director) and Boris Morgan Denoual (Director) of Keleone Trading Company Pvt. Ltd. (herein after referred to as 'Kaleone Co.') approached and proposed to work with him together for a French Brand Leon and Harper (for brevity 'L&H'), of which they are authorized representatives in India. Thereafter, the first informant started receiving orders. It is alleged that on 09.04.2021, Narendra Sharma, the Production Manager of Keleone Co., surveyed his factory and presented technical specifications. On 16.04.2021, Narendra Sharma submitted an amended purchase order through e-mail and assured that letter of credit would be established shortly. Pursuant thereto, orders worth 80,349.40 (Rs.69,15,000/-) were placed and goods were supplied through Keleon Company. It is further alleged that despite repeated requests for payment, the same was avoided on one pretext or another. On 06.10.2021, Director Naresh Kumar, personally went to the office of applicants, where they started blackmailing him and asked for a discount of €10,000 to make payment and in the evening they started misbehaving, hurled abuses and thrown him out of the office and also threatened him of dire consequences. It is alleged in the FIR that the applicants with a pre-planned conspiracy, have caused first informant's company a financial loss of €80,349 (Rs.69,15,000/-). After repeated requests, they paid an amount of €47,870, whereas payment of €32,478.60 (Rs.27,50,000/-) is still due upon the applicants. They are asking for discount and commission, to make payments, whereas the informant had written, through e-mail, that commission would be paid after full payment.

4. Upon this information, FIR under Sections 420, 406, 323, 504, 506 Indian Penal Code,1860, (in short 'IPC'), was lodged and after investigation, charge-sheet was filed against Anuraj Ratna, Boris Morgan Denoual, Narendra Sharma and Abhilash. The matter was investigated and after evidence charge sheet has been filed against the applicants under 420, 406, 323, 504, 506 IPC. The concerned Magistrate took cognizance of the offence and summoned the applicants.

5. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that the applicants are employees of Keleone Co. and are engaged in business development activities, facilitating and connecting Indian export factories and clients with foreign retail buyers for ready-made garments. It is further submitted that the applicants are engaged in this industry since 2010 and hold very reputed position in the market and that no complaint of fraud has ever been made against them except the present case.

6. It is next submitted by learned counsel for the applicants that Keleone Co. is a service provider of Kashvi Ltd., whose director is Meenakshi Singh, first informant's wife. Firstly, in the year 2019 and again in February/March, 2021, Kashvi Ltd. approached Keleone Co. to find foreign customers. It was mutually agreed between the parties that Keleone Co. would be paid 8% commission on the sales procured by it for Kashvi. Pursuant to this agreement, Keleone Co. introduced Kashvi Ltd. to a French buyer company namely, L&H, based in Paris, France. Thereafter, Kashvi Ltd. and L&H agreed to enter into an agreement, where ready-made clothes were to be purchased by L&H directly from Kashvi Ltd.

7. It is contended by learned counsel for the applicants that the main dispute of payment, for the goods supplied, is directly between Kashvi Ltd. and its French buyer L&H, arising out of breach of the terms of purchase order and letter of credit between the two parties and that the applicants' company i.e. Keleone, is not a party to these contracts and that its role was confined only to mediate between the L&H and Kashvi Ltd. It is also submitted that the French buyer L&H directly issued a purchase order to Kashvi Designs, which contained terms and conditions of purchase, including penalty for late delivery. Kashvi Ltd. accepted the aforesaid order and sent a proforma invoice on 15.04.2021 to L&H amounting to €70,912 and confirmed that all the delivery of goods to L&H would be on or before 17.07.2021. Pursuant to Kashvi's acceptance of purchase order as well as issuance of proforma invoice to L&H, the bank of L&H at Paris, France issued a letter of credit directly in Kashvi's name.

8. It is next submitted by learned counsel for the applicants that Keleone Co. does not place any purchase order to Kashvi Ltd. and that all purchases are made directly between Kashvi Ltd. and L&H. The informant's company i.e. Kashvi Ltd. exported the product only from 07.08.2021 that was almost one month after the agreed delivery due date and they shipped orders in installments in seven separate shipments with the final shipment being delivered on 14.09.2021. It is also submitted that on account of delay of delivery on the part of Kashvi Ltd. in dispatch of shipment, penalty was imposed by the French buyer L&H, after invoking penalty clause. Kashvi Ltd. did not accept the said penalty and wanted full payment for the goods delivered to L&H. This led to payment dispute between Kashvi Ltd. and L&H.

9. Learned counsel for the applicants next submits that Keleone was only a mediator which tried to mediate the payments issue between the two companies. After certain e-mails of Keleon Co., Kashvi's Director Naresh Kumar came to Keleone's office at Okhla, New Delhi and demanded that Keleone Co. made L&H agree to the penalty amount of 10,000 Euro and release all payments. The Keleone's employees said that just as they cannot force Kashvi to decide, so they cannot force L&H to decide whether to accept penalty amount and make all payments. This angered Naresh Kumar and he abused and threatened Keleone's employees. It is further submitted that L&H paid €47,870/- Euro directly to Kashvi. Neither goods nor money was received by Keleone in the whole transaction. Keleone was not a customer, but a service provider to whom Kashvi owed its sales commission.

10. Learned counsel for the applicants next submits that despite the incident, Keleone Co. continued to do their job and negotiated with L&H and as a result whereof, L&H paid in full, five out of seven invoices and Keleone also successfully got lower penalty for Kashvi. It is contended that the NOIDA Police closed their investigation stating that the matter was not criminal in nature and that it was a civil dispute. The applicants′ firm is an intermediary between Kashvi and L&H. It is submitted that the applicants′ company followed production process and checked their quality of orders, but in doing so they did not act as an agent, rather it was only to facilitate smooth functioning of business between L&H and the suppliers.

11. It is further submitted on behalf of the applicants that earlier Criminal Misc. Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. No. 10800 of 2022 was withdrawn by the applicants on 09.07.2025 with a liberty to file a fresh application. It is also submitted that after filing of the aforesaid application, the learned Civil Judge (Senior Division)/FTC, Gautam Budh Nagar passed order dated 02.06.2022, pursuant to a supplementary charge-sheet submitted on 02.02.2023. It is next contended that order dated 02.06.2022 and supplementary charge-sheet dated 02.02.2023 were also required to be challenged, therefore, the earlier application was withdrawn with the aforesaid liberty. Thus, this application is not barred by the principle of res judicata.

12. Learned counsel for the applicants has submitted that the Hon′ble Supreme Court in a latest judgment passed in the case of Arshad Niyaz Khan Vs. State of Jharkhand and Another, 2025 INSC 1151, has held that offences punishable under Sections 406 and 420 IPC cannot run simultaneously on the same facts. It is also submitted that there is no evidence that the applicants deliberately committed cheating or misappropriation or caused damage to the applicants or portrayed themselves as L&H inasmuch as L&H, vide mail dated 18.02.2022, had made it clear that the applicants′ firm is nothing, but an intermediately. It is incorrect to state that all the activities, including technical specifications, negotiations of price, determination of quantities etc. was done under false pretext of being officials of L&H. It is argued that it is incorrect to state that imposition of 5% penalty per week was only a contingency clause. As far as the request of Kashvi Ltd. regarding extension of production delivery is concerned, the same was intimated by applicant no.2 to L&H and the response from L&H was duly communicated to Kashvi Ltd. vide e-mail dated 25.06.2021.

13. It is submitted on behalf of the applicants that they have filed a commercial suit being Suit No. SC (Comm) No. 3975 of 2024 (M/s. Keleone Trading Company Pvt. Ltd. Vs. M/s. Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd.) claiming legitimate commission amount of Rs.5,60,658/- along with interest. The statement on behalf of Kashvi Ltd that they never authorized Keleone Co. to negotiate on its behalf after the coercive act of 06.01.2021, itself draws an inference that the applicants′ firm was functioning as an intermediary between L&H and Kashvi Ltd. The delay was caused by Kashvi Ltd in delivering the products, yet the applicants continuously negotiated with L&H, since their commission was dependent on the amount paid by L&H to Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd. It is also submitted that closure report was filed by the Police stating that the dispute is essentially civil in nature and there is no medical evidence regarding the alleged assault to the director of Kashvi Ltd. The FIR has been lodged with the ulterior motive of evading the liability to make payment to the applicants to which they are legally entitled.

14. Learned counsel for the applicants has next submitted that the Hon′ble Supreme Court, while referring the matter to Mediation Centre, vide order dated 20.03.2024, has recorded that the proceedings essentially arise from a civil dispute. It is argued that the applicants neither made any threats nor committed any act of extortion, and there is no evidence to support these baseless allegations.

15. It is submitted on behalf of the applicants that the dispute is essentially civil in nature and that too between Kashvi Ltd. and L&H, therefore, the Trial Court proceedings are liable to be quashed.

16. Learned counsel for the applicants has relied upon a decision of Hon′ble Supreme Court in Arshad Neyaz Khan (supra), where the FIR was lodged after a delay of nearly eight years and the complainant failed to explain the reason for delay. In view of delay in lodging of the complaint and FIR, coupled with the vague allegations did not inspire any confidence of the Court to allow the criminal proceedings to continue against the appellant. It was further held that complainant had an alternative remedy of filing a civil suit claiming damages for the alleged violation of his contractual rights, which was not availed, and a route through criminal proceedings, when no ingredient of offence of cheating was made out, cannot be permitted. In para 26, the Hon′ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"26. At this juncture, we find it apposite to mention the observations of this Court in Vishal Noble Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2024 SCC OnLine SC 1680 wherein it was observed that in recent years the machinery of criminal justice is being misused by certain persons for their vested interests and for achieving their oblique motives and agenda. Courts have therefore to be vigilant against such tendencies and ensure that acts of omission and commission having an adverse impact on the fabric of our society must be nipped in the bud. We say so for the reason that while the complainant/respondent No.2 has made grave allegations against the appellant herein, he has failed to justify the same before this Court. Such actions would create significant divisions and distrust among people, while also placing an unnecessary strain on the judicial system, particularly criminal courts.″

17. Learned counsel for the applicants has further relied upon the decision of Hon′ble Supreme Court in Delhi Race Club (1940) Ltd. and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2024 10 SCC 690, in which the Hon′ble Supreme Court has held that offence of cheating and criminal breach of trust are independent and distinct from each other and the two offences cannot co-exist simultaneously on same set of facts. The relevant paragraph nos. 41, 42 and 43 of Delhi Race Club (supra) are as under:

"41. The distinction between mere breach of contract and the offence of criminal breach of trust and cheating is a fine one. In case of cheating, the intention of the accused at the time of inducement should be looked into which may be judged by a subsequent conduct, but for this, the subsequent conduct is not the sole test. Mere breach of contract cannot give rise to a criminal prosecution for cheating unless fraudulent or dishonest intention is shown right from the beginning of the transaction i.e. the time when the offence is said to have been committed. Therefore, it is this intention, which is the gist of the offence.

42. Whereas, for the criminal breach of trust, the property must have been entrusted to the accused or he must have dominion over it. The property in respect of which the offence of breach of trust has been committed must be either the property of some person other than the accused or the beneficial interest in or ownership ′of it must be of some other person. The accused must hold that property on trust of such other person. Although the offence, i.e. the offence of breach of trust and cheating involve dishonest intention, yet they are mutually exclusive and different in basic concept.

43. There is a distinction between criminal breach of trust and cheating. For cheating, criminal intention is necessary at the time of making a false or misleading representation i.e., since inception. In criminal breach of trust, mere proof of entrustment is sufficient. Thus, in case of criminal breach of trust, the offender is lawfully entrusted with the property, and he dishonestly misappropriated the same. Whereas, in case of cheating, the offender fraudulently or dishonestly induces a person by deceiving him to deliver any property. In such a situation, both the offences cannot co-exist simultaneously.″

18. Learned counsel for the applicants has also relied upon a decision of Hon′ble Supreme Court in Mukesh and others Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh and others, in Criminal Appeal No. Nil of 2024 (Arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No. 12354 of 2024. In paragraph no.8 of the above decision, it is held as under:

"8. It is true that the appellants can apply for discharge. However, the scope of application for discharge is completely different from the scope of a petition for quashing the criminal proceedings. While arguing a case for discharge, the appellants will not be in a position to rely upon any document which is not the part of charge sheet. The ground of abuse of process of law will not be available while arguing discharge application. However, in a petition for quashing either under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, a wider challenge is available including a challenge on the ground of abuse of process of law. In such proceedings, the accused can rely upon documents which are not the part of the charge-sheet. Therefore, we reject the submission made by learned counsel appearing for the State. Though the submissions made on behalf of the State have no basis, we have dealt with the same elaborately to ensure that the same are not urged in a similar case.″

19. Per contra, learned counsel for opposite party No.2 has submitted that the applicants had already filed an Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. earlier, which was withdrawn with liberty and this application is nothing but a repetition of the same relief, which is barred by principle of res judicata. It is also contended that the earlier Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. No. 10800 of 2022 was withdrawn on 09.07.2025 at the stage of final argument and applicants were granted liberty to file a fresh petition only on new grounds or after change of circumstances. The entire criminal case arises from deliberate cheating, deceiving, inducement, misappropriation and damage by the applicants. The dispute is not essentially civil in nature and the applicants intentionally induced the informant′s company with dishonest intention to part with the property under the pretext of facilitating export deals and then misappropriated funds. The criminal intent was present ab initio. It is also submitted that the applicants disguised themselves from L&H and informed opposite party no.2′s company, Kashvi Ltd. that they have established an office in Delhi for the purpose of managing the operations of L&H in India and are taking 8% commission to manage local expenses.

20. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 next submits that informant's company Kashvi was falsely represented by applicants as from L&H. The applicants acted under false pretense and conducted all transactions, as if they were officials of L&H from the very mail dated 04.02.2021. It is also submitted that the applicants were directly responsible for withholding amounts received from the foreign bank. The dispute is not limited to contractual breach, but involves deliberate criminal conduct, inducement with dishonest intentions and conversion of funds. It is also submitted that it is incorrect that the delivery was strictly scheduled for 17.07.2021. The applicants' allegation of imposing penalty of 5% per week is misleading. It was only a contingency clause and was later invoked due to the applicant's admitted delay. The dispatches were made in a phased manner, as per the supply of tags, inspections and shipping instructions given by the applicants and there was no penalty agreement between Kashvi Ltd. and L&H.

21. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 next submits that Kashvi was deceitfully led to believe that the applicants were directly associated with L&H and therefore, at no point did Kashvi Ltd. have any direct correspondence or communication with any official or authorized signatory of L&H, based in France. Dishonest intention and misappropriation on the part of the applicants clearly attracts offences punishable under Sections 406, 420, and 409 IPC. The plea of the applicants that goods were sent directly to L&H France is contrary to the record. Therefore, this application has no force and it liable to be dismissed.

22. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has relied upon the following decisions Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as various High Courts in support of his contention, which are enumerated hereinbelow:

(i) In the case of The Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, West Bengal Vs. S.K. Roy, (1974) 4 SCC 230, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that to constitute an offence under Section 409 IPC, it is not required that misappropriation must necessarily take place after the creation of legally correct entrustment of dominion over property. The entrustment may arise in "any manner whatsoever". That manner may or may not involve fraudulent conduct of the accused. Section 409 IPC, covers dishonest misappropriation in both types of cases; that is to say, those where the receipt of property is itself fraudulent or improper and those where the public servant misappropriates what may have been quite properly and innocently received.

(ii) In the case of Rajesh Bajaj Vs. State NCT of Delhi and others, (1999) 3 SCC 259, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that if factual foundation for the offence has been laid in the complaint, the Court should not hasten to quash criminal proceedings during investigation stage merely on the premise that one or two ingredients have not been stated with details. It may be that the facts narrated in the present complaint would as well reveal a commercial transaction or money transaction. But that is hardly a reason for holding that the offence of cheating would elude from such a transaction.

(iii) In Ajeet Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2006 (5) ADJ 280, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that merely because civil claim is maintainable, it does not mean that the criminal complaint cannot be maintained. The relevant paragraph nos. 51, 52 and 55 are quoted below:

"51. In Lalmuni Devi (Smt.) v. State of Bihar and others, (2001) 2 SCC 17, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that peculiar facts of a case may give rise to a civil claim and also amount to an offence. Merely because a civil claim is maintainable, it does not mean that the criminal complaint cannot be maintained, therefore, held that no law of universal application can be laid down in such matters. The facts and circumstances of each case have to be examined, appreciating the terms and conditions incorporated in the agreement.

52. In M. Krishnan v. Vijay Singh and another, (2001) 8 SCC 645, after considering several authorities on the point it was pointed out that mere filing of a civil suit with respect to the documents gives no ground for quashing criminal proceedings, as the allegations in the complaint need to be independently established. The Court held as under :

"Accepting such a general proposition would be against the provisions of law inasmuch as in all cases of cheating and fraud, in the whole transaction, there is generally some element of civil nature. However, in this case the allegations were regarding the forging of the documents and acquiring gains on the basis of such forged documents. The proceedings could not be quashed only because the respondents had filed a civil suit with respect to the aforesaid documents. In a criminal Court the allegations made in the complaint have to be established independently, notwithstanding the adjudication by a civil Court. Had the complainant failed to prove the allegations made by him the complaint, the respondents were entitled to discharge or acquittal but not otherwise. If mere pendency of a suit is made a ground for quashing the criminal proceedings, the unscrupulous litigants, apprehending criminal action against them, would be encouraged to frustrate the course of justice and law by filing suits with respect to the documents intended to be used against them after the initiation of criminal proceedings or in anticipation of such proceedings. Such a course cannot be the mandate of law. Civil proceedings, as distinguished from the criminal action, have to be adjudicated and concluded by adopting separate yardsticks. The onus of proving the allegations beyond reasonable doubt, in a criminal case, is not applicable in the civil proceedings which can be decided merely on the basis of the probabilities with respect to the acts complained of.....Where factual foundations for the offence have been laid down in the complaint, the High Court should not hasten to quash criminal proceedings merely on the premise that one or two ingredients have not been stated with the details or that the facts narrated reveal the existence of commercial or money transaction between the parties." (Emphasis added)

55. Thus, in view of the above, it becomes clear that in a given case, there may be civil as well as criminal liability and the Court has to examine the facts and circumstances of each case. Nature of the agreement reached between the parties and terms and conditions incorporated therein would be determining factor. However, such a course is permissible where the matter is of such a nature that it can be decided only by a Civil Court and no element of criminal law is involved."

(iv) In Indian Oil Corporation Vs. NEPC India Ltd and others, (2006) 6 SCC 736, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that with regard to offence of cheating all that is to be seen is whether the necessary allegations exist in the complaint to bring the case within Section 415 IPC. The relevant paragraph no.36 of the judgment is as follows:

"36. In this case, the complaints clearly allege that the accused with fraudulent intention to cheat and defraud the IOC, had induced IOC to resume supply of aircraft fuel on cash and carry basis, by entering into a further agreement dated 20.9.1997 and undertaking to clear the outstanding amount of Rs.18 crores approximately within the time stipulated in the Hypothecation Agreements. The sum and substance of the said allegation read with other averments extracted above, is that NEPC India, having committed default in paying the sum of Rs.18 crores, entered into a fresh agreement dated 20.9.1997 agreeing to clear the outstanding as per a fresh schedule, with the dishonest and fraudulent intention of pre-empting and avoiding any action by IOC in terms of the hypothecation deeds to take possession of the aircrafts. Though the supplies after 20.9.1997 were on cash and carry basis, the fraudulent intention is alleged to emanate from the promise under the said agreement to make payment, thereby preventing immediate seizure (taking possession) of the aircrafts by IOC. This allegation made in addition to the allegation relating to removal of engines, has been lost sight of by the High Court. All that is to be seen is whether the necessary allegations exist in the complaint to bring the case within section 415. We are clearly of the view that the allegations in the complaint constitute such an offence. We are not concerned with the proof of such allegations or ultimate outcome of trial at this stage.″

(v) In State of Maharashtra Vs. Syed Mohammed Massod and another, 2009 (8) SCC 787, the Hon′ble Supreme Court has held that there cannot be any doubt or dispute whatsoever that a simple breach of contract or a case involving pure civil dispute would not attract the penal provisions contained in the Penal Code either under Section 406 or Section 420 thereof. The Court observed that the allegation made in the FIR and the materials collected during investigation should be allowed to be taken to its logical end.

(vi) In Ghanshyam Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2014) 2 SCC 683, the Hon′ble Supreme Court, while dealing with the matter involving offence regarding criminal breach of trust has relied upon earlier decisions of Supreme Court in Onkar Nath Mishra Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (2008) 2 SCC 561 and Jaikrishnadas Manohardas Desai Vs. State of Bombay, AIR 1960 SC 889. The relevant paragraph nos. 9 and 10 are as follows:

"9. It has been held in the case of Onkar Nath Mishra and Ors. v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Anr. that in the commission of the offence of criminal breach of trust, two distinct parts are involved. The first consists of the creation of an obligation in relation to the property over which dominion or control is acquired by the accused. The second is a misappropriation or dealing with the property dishonestly and contrary to the terms of the obligation created.

10. Further, it has been held in the case of Jaikrishnadas Manohardas Desai and Anr. v. State of Bombay that:

"To establish a charge of criminal breach of trust, the prosecution is not obliged to prove the precise mode of conversion, misappropriation or misapplication by the accused of the property entrusted to him or over which he has dominion. The principal ingredient of the offence being dishonest misappropriation or conversion which may not ordinarily be a matter of direct proof, entrustment of property and failure, in breach of an obligation, to account for the property entrusted, if proved, may in the light of other circumstances, justifiably lead to an inference of dishonest misappropriation or conversion. Conviction of a person for the offence of criminal breach of trust may not, in all cases, be founded merely on his failure to account for the property entrusted to him, or over which he has dominion, even when a duty to account is imposed upon him but where he is unable to account which is untrue, an inference of misappropriation with dishonest intent may readily be made., the prosecution is not obliged to prove the precise mode of conversion, misappropriation or misapplication by the accused of the property entrusted to him or over which he has dominion. The principal ingredient of the offence being dishonest misappropriation or conversion which may not ordinarily be a matter of direct proof, entrustment of property and failure, in breach of an obligation, to account for the property entrusted, if proved, may in the light of other circumstances, justifiably lead to an inference of dishonest misappropriation or conversion. Conviction of a person for the offence of criminal breach of trust may not, in all cases, be founded merely on his failure to account for the property entrusted to him, or over which he has dominion, even when a duty to account is imposed upon him but where he is unable to account which is untrue, an inference of misappropriation with dishonest intent may readily be made., the prosecution is not obliged to prove the precise mode of conversion, misappropriation or misapplication by the accused of the property entrusted to him or over which he has dominion. The principal ingredient of the offence being dishonest misappropriation or conversion which may not ordinarily be a matter of direct proof, entrustment of property and failure, in breach of an obligation, to account for the property entrusted, if proved, may in the light of other circumstances, justifiably lead to an inference of dishonest misappropriation or conversion. Conviction of a person for the offence of criminal breach of trust may not, in all cases, be founded merely on his failure to account for the property entrusted to him, or over which he has dominion, even when a duty to account is imposed upon him but where he is unable to account which is untrue, an inference of misappropriation with dishonest intent may readily be made.″ (emphasis laid by this Court).

(vii) In the case of Indo Asian Ltd. Vs. State of Uttarakhand and another, (2014) 3 SCC 191, the Supreme Court set aside the order of the High Court by which the High Court had quashed the criminal proceedings against accused under Section 306 Cr.P.C., and held that the High Court should not have quashed the complaint and should have left it to the criminal court to proceed with the case in accordance with law.

(viii) In Bhaskar Lal Sharma and another Vs. Monica and others, (2014) 3 SCC 383, a three Judge Bench of Hon′ble Supreme Court observed that the facts as alleged will have to be proved during the course of regular trial. The appreciation, even in a summary manner, of the averments made in a compliant petition or FIR would not be permissible at the stage of quashing and the facts stated will have to be accepted as they appear on the very face of it. This is the core test that has to be applied before summoning the accused.

(ix) In Somjeet Mallick Vs. Sate of Jharkhand and others, (2024) 10 SCC 527, in paragraph nos. 16, 17 and 18, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"16. To commit an offence, unless the penal statute provides otherwise, mens rea is one of the essential ingredients. Existence of mens rea is a question of fact which may be inferred from the act in question as well as the surrounding circumstances and conduct of the accused. As a sequitur, when a party alleges that the accused, despite taking possession of the Truck on hire, has failed to pay hire charges for months together, while making false promises for its payment, a prima facie case, reflective of dishonest intention on the part of the accused, is made out which may require investigation. In such circumstances, if the FIR is quashed at the very inception, it would be nothing short of an act which thwarts a legitimate investigation.

17. It is trite law that FIR is not an encyclopedia of all imputations. Therefore, to test whether an FIR discloses commission of a cognizable offence what is to be looked at is not any omission in the accusations but the gravamen of the accusations contained therein to find out whether, prima facie, some cognizable offence has been committed or not. At this stage, the Court is not required to ascertain as to which specific offence has been committed.

17. It is only after investigation, at the time of framing charge, when materials collected during investigation are before the Court, the Court has to draw an opinion as to for commission of which offence the accused should be tried. Prior to that, if satisfied, the Court may even discharge the accused. Thus, when the FIR alleges a dishonest conduct on the part of the accused which, if supported by materials, would disclose commission of a cognizable offence, investigation should not be thwarted by quashing the FIR.″

(x) In Ghanshyam Sharma Vs. Surendra kumar Sharma and others, (2014) 13 SCC 401, while dealing with quashing of proceedings, it is held at paragraph no.8:

"8. Whether the respondents are guilty under Section 379 IPC or not is a matter of evidence. The fact that the police chose to file a chargesheet under Section 406 and 420 IPC is not conclusive regarding the offences for which the respondents-accused are to be tried. The trial Court can always frame an appropriate charge if there is sufficient material from the report of the police available before it. In case where the material is insufficient to frame a charge, the trial Court may either discharge the accused or may direct further investigation in the matter. Before deciding as to which one of the three courses of action mentioned above is to be resorted to, the trial Court must examine the content of the complaint, the evidence gathered by the investigating agency and also scrutinize whether the investigating agency proceeded in the right direction.″

(xi) In Priti Saraf and another Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) and another, (2021) 16 SCC 142, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph nos. 29, 31 and 35 has held as under:

"29. In the instant case, the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet as noticed above, does, however, lend credence to the questions posed. It is settled that one is not supposed to dilate on this score, or intend to present that the allegations in the complaint will have to be accepted on the face of it and the truth or falsity of which would not be gone into by the Court at this stage, as noticed above, whether the allegations in the complaint were true is to be decided on the basis of the evidence led at the stage of trial and the observations on this score in the case of Nagpur Steel & Alloys Pvt. Ltd. Vs. P. Radhakrishna SCC (Cri) p. 1074 ought to be noticed. In para 3, this Court observed:

"3. We have perused the complaint carefully. In our opinion it cannot be said that the complaint did not disclose the commission of an offence. Merely because the offence was committed during the course of a commercial transaction, would not be sufficient to hold that the complaint did not warrant a trial. Whether or not the allegations in the complaint were true was to be decided on the basis of evidence to be led at the trial in the complaint case. It certainly was not a case in which the criminal trial should have been cut short. The quashing of the complaint has resulted in grave miscarriage of justice. We, therefore, without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case, allow this appeal and set aside the impugned order of the High Court and restore the complaint. The learned trial Magistrate shall proceed with the complaint and dispose of it in accordance with law expeditiously.″

…….

31. In the instant case, on a careful reading of the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet, in our view, it cannot be said that the complaint does not disclose the commission of an offence. The ingredients of the offences under Section 406 and 420 IPC cannot be said to be absent on the basis of the allegations in the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet. We would like to add that whether the allegations in the complaint are otherwise correct or not, has to be decided on the basis of the evidence to be led during the course of trial. Simply because there is a remedy provided for breach of contract or arbitral proceedings initiated at the instance of the appellants, that does not by itself clothe the court to come to a conclusion that civil remedy is the only remedy, and the initiation of criminal proceedings, in any manner, will be an abuse of the process of the court for exercising inherent powers of the High Court under Section 482 CrPC for quashing such proceedings.

35. The submission made by Mr. P. Chidambaram, learned senior counsel for 2nd respondent showing bonafides and taking us through the documentary evidence annexed to the counter affidavit on record to show that it was a simple case of termination because of breach of terms of the contract giving rise to a purely civil dispute or initiation of the arbitral proceedings would not attract the provisions under Section 406, 420, 34 IPC may not hold good at this stage for the reason what is being suggested by the learned counsel for the 2nd respondent can be his defence during the course of trial but was not open to be examined by the High Court to take a judicial notice and for quashing of the criminal proceedings in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 CrPC.″

(xii) In the case of State of Uttar Pradesh and another Vs. Akhil Sharda and others, (2023) 11 SCC 626, the matter came up before the Hon'ble Supreme Court was that the High Court had quashed the criminal proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Then, in view of the facts of the case, the Court observed that it appears that the High Court has virtually conducted a mini trial, which is not permissible at this stage while deciding the Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. The relevant paragraph no. 18 of the said judgment is as under:

"18. Having gone through the impugned judgment and order passed by the High Court by which the High Court has set aside the criminal proceedings in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C., it appears that the High Court has virtually conducted a mini trial, which as such is not permissible at this stage and while deciding the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. As observed and held by this Court in a catena of decisions no mini trial can be conducted by the High Court in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. jurisdiction and at the stage of deciding the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the High Court cannot get into appreciation of evidence of the particular case being considered.″

(xiii) In Kathyayini Vs. Sidharth P.S. Reddy & ors., Criminal Appeal No. Nil of 2025, arising out of SLP (CRL) No. 1105 of 2024 dated 14.07.2025, the Hon'ble Supreme Court relying upon earlier decisions in Kamladevi Agarwal v. State of W.B. and others (2002) 1 SCC 555 and K. Jagadish Vs. Udaya Kumar G.S. and another, (2020) 14 SCC 552 held that pendency of civil proceedings on the same subject matter, involving the same parties is no justification to quash the criminal proceedings, if prima facie case exists against the accused persons.

(xiv) In Kamal Shivaji Pokarnekar Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, (2019) 14 SCC 350, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that if a complaint discloses prima facie offences, that are alleged against the respondent, then the correctness or otherwise of the said allegations has to be decided only in the trial. At the initial stage of issuance of process, it is not open to the Courts to stifle the proceedings by entering into the merits of the contentions made on behalf of the accused. Criminal complaints cannot be quashed only on the ground that the allegations made therein appear to be of a civil nature. If the ingredients of the offence alleged against the accused are prima facie made out in the complaint, the criminal proceedings shall not be interdicted.

(xv) In Amit Kapoor Vs. Ramesh Chander and another, (2012) 9 SCC 460, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has summarized the principles to be considered for proper exercise of the jurisdiction, particularly with regard to quashing of a charge either in exercise of jurisdiction under Section 397 or Section 482 Cr.P.C. or together. It is held:

"25. Having examined the inter-relationship of these two very significant provisions of the Code, let us now examine the scope of interference under any of these provisions in relation to quashing the charge. We have already indicated above that framing of charge is the first major step in a criminal trial where the Court is expected to apply its mind to the entire record and documents placed therewith before the Court. Taking cognizance of an offence has been stated to necessitate an application of mind by the Court but framing of charge is a major event where the Court considers the possibility of discharging the accused of the offence with which he is charged or requiring the accused to face trial. There are different categories of cases where the Court may not proceed with the trial and may discharge the accused or pass such other orders as may be necessary keeping in view the facts of a given case. In a case where, upon considering the record of the case and documents submitted before it, the Court finds that no offence is made out or there is a legal bar to such prosecution under the provisions of the Code or any other law for the time being in force and there is a bar and there exists no ground to proceed against the accused, the Court may discharge the accused. There can be cases where such record reveals the matter to be so predominantly of a civil nature that it neither leaves any scope for an element of criminality nor does it satisfy the ingredients of a criminal offence with which the accused is charged. In such cases, the Court may discharge him or quash the proceedings in exercise of its powers under these two provisions.

26. This further raises a question as to the wrongs which become actionable in accordance with law. It may be purely a civil wrong or purely a criminal offence or a civil wrong as also a criminal offence constituting both on the same set of facts. But if the records disclose commission of a criminal offence and the ingredients of the offence are satisfied, then such criminal proceedings cannot be quashed merely because a civil wrong has also been committed. The power cannot be invoked to stifle or scuttle a legitimate prosecution. The factual foundation and ingredients of an offence being satisfied, the Court will not either dismiss a complaint or quash such proceedings in exercise of its inherent or original jurisdiction. In the case of Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd and ors., (2006) 6 SCC 736, this Court took the similar view and upheld the order of the High Court declining to quash the criminal proceedings because a civil contract between the parties was pending.

27. Having discussed the scope of jurisdiction under these two provisions, i.e., Section 397 and Section 482 of the Code and the fine line of jurisdictional distinction, now it will be appropriate for us to enlist the principles with reference to which the courts should exercise such jurisdiction. However, it is not only difficult but is inherently impossible to state with precision such principles. At best and upon objective analysis of various judgments of this Court, we are able to cull out some of the principles to be considered for proper exercise of jurisdiction, particularly, with regard to quashing of charge either in exercise of jurisdiction under Section 397 or Section 482 of the Code or together, as the case may be :

27.1) Though there are no limits of the powers of the Court under Section 482 of the Code but the more the power, the more due care and caution is to be exercised in invoking these powers. The power of quashing criminal proceedings, particularly, the charge framed in terms of Section 228 of the Code should be exercised very sparingly and with circumspection and that too in the rarest of rare cases.

27.2) The Court should apply the test as to whether the uncontroverted allegations as made from the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith prima facie establish the offence or not. If the allegations are so patently absurd and inherently improbable that no prudent person can ever reach such a conclusion and where the basic ingredients of a criminal offence are not satisfied then the Court may interfere.

` 27.3) The High Court should not unduly interfere. No meticulous examination of the evidence is needed for considering whether the case would end in conviction or not at the stage of framing of charge or quashing of charge.

27.4) Where the exercise of such power is absolutely essential to prevent patent miscarriage of justice and for correcting some grave error that might be committed by the subordinate courts even in such cases, the High Court should be loathe to interfere, at the threshold, to throttle the prosecution in exercise of its inherent powers.

27.5) Where there is an express legal bar enacted in any of the provisions of the Code or any specific law in force to the very initiation or institution and continuance of such criminal proceedings, such a bar is intended to provide specific protection to an accused.

27.6) The Court has a duty to balance the freedom of a person and the right of the complainant or prosecution to investigate and prosecute the offender.

27.7) The process of the Court cannot be permitted to be used for an oblique or ultimate/ulterior purpose.

27.8) Where the allegations made and as they appeared from the record and documents annexed therewith to predominantly give rise and constitute a 'civil wrong' with no 'element of criminality' and does not satisfy the basic ingredients of a criminal offence, the Court may be justified in quashing the charge. Even in such cases, the Court would not embark upon the critical analysis of the evidence.

27.9) Another very significant caution that the courts have to observe is that it cannot examine the facts, evidence and materials on record to determine whether there is sufficient material on the basis of which the case would end in a conviction, the Court is concerned primarily with the allegations taken as a whole whether they will constitute an offence and, if so, is it an abuse of the process of court leading to injustice.

27.10) It is neither necessary nor is the court called upon to hold a full- fledged enquiry or to appreciate evidence collected by the investigating agencies to find out whether it is a case of acquittal or conviction.

27.11) Where allegations give rise to a civil claim and also amount to an offence, merely because a civil claim is maintainable, does not mean that a criminal complaint cannot be maintained.

27.12) In exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 228 and/or under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the Court cannot take into consideration external materials given by an accused for reaching the conclusion that no offence was disclosed or that there was possibility of his acquittal. The Court has to consider the record and documents annexed with by the prosecution.

27.13) Quashing of a charge is an exception to the rule of continuous prosecution. Where the offence is even broadly satisfied, the Court should be more inclined to permit continuation of prosecution rather than its quashing at that initial stage. The Court is not expected to marshal the records with a view to decide admissibility and reliability of the documents or records but is an opinion formed prima facie.

27.14) Where the charge-sheet, report under Section 173(2) of the Code, suffers from fundamental legal defects, the Court may be well within its jurisdiction to frame a charge.

27.15) Coupled with any or all of the above, where the Court finds that it would amount to abuse of process of the Code or that interest of justice favours, otherwise it may quash the charge. The power is to be exercised ex debito justitiae, i.e. to do real and substantial justice for administration of which alone, the courts exist.

{Ref. State of West Bengal & Ors. v. Swapan Kumar Guha & Ors. [AIR 1982 SC 949]; Madhavrao Jiwaji Rao Scindia & Anr. v. Sambhajirao Chandrojirao Angre & Ors. [AIR 1988 SC 709]; Janata Dal v. H.S. Chowdhary & Ors. [AIR 1993 SC 892]; Mrs. Rupan Deol Bajaj & Anr. v. Kanwar Pal Singh Gill & Ors. [AIR 1996 SC 309; G. Sagar Suri & Anr. v. State of U.P. & Ors. [AIR 2000 SC 754]; Ajay Mitra v. State of M.P. [AIR 2003 SC 1069]; M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. & Anr. v. Special Judicial Magistrate & Ors. [AIR 1988 SC 128]; State of U.P. v. O.P. Sharma [(1996) 7 SCC 705]; Ganesh Narayan Hegde v. s. Bangarappa & Ors. [(1995) 4 SCC 41]; Zundu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. v. Mohd. Sharaful Haque & Ors. [AIR 2005 SC 9]; M/s. Medchl Chemicals & Pharma (P) Ltd. v. M/s. Biological E. Ltd. & Ors. [AIR 2000 SC 1869]; Shakson Belthissor v. State of Kerala & Anr. [(2009) 14 SCC 466]; V.V.S. Rama Sharma & Ors. v. State of U.P. & Ors. [(2009) 7 SCC 234]; Chunduru Siva Ram Krishna & Anr. v. Peddi Ravindra Babu & Anr. [(2009) 11 SCC 203]; Sheo Nandan Paswan v. State of Bihar & Ors. [AIR 1987 SC 877]; State of Bihar & Anr. v. P.P. Sharma & Anr. [AIR 1991 SC 1260]; Lalmuni Devi (Smt.) v. State of Bihar & Ors. [(2001) 2 SCC 17]; M. Krishnan v. Vijay Singh & Anr. [(2001) 8 SCC 645]; Savita v. State of Rajasthan [(2005) 12 SCC 338]; and S.M. Datta v. State of Gujarat & Anr. [(2001) 7 SCC 659]}.

27.16) These are the principles which individually and preferably cumulatively (one or more) be taken into consideration as precepts to exercise of extraordinary and wide plenitude and jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code by the High Court. Where the factual foundation for an offence has been laid down, the courts should be reluctant and should not hasten to quash the proceedings even on the premise that one or two ingredients have not been stated or do not appear to be satisfied if there is substantial compliance to the requirements of the offence."

(xvi) In Bhim Sain Arora & ors. Vs. State, 2025:DHC:7379, the Trial Court had issued summons against the accused for offence punishable under Section 406 IPC and the decision of the Hon′ble Supreme Court in Delhi Race Club (supra) was placed before the High Court on the point that a person cannot be convicted for offence punishable under Sections 409 and 420 IPC simultaneously. The Court held that there is no doubt that the legal position is that a person cannot be convicted for offence punishable under Section 409/420 IPC simultaneously. However, at the time of consideration on point of charge, in view of the provisions of Section 221 of Cr.P.C., the learned Trial Court can proceed to frame the charge under both the offences.

23. Learned AGA has supported the submission of charge-sheet, summoning order as well as entire proceedings.

24. In view of the submissions of both the parties, upon a perusal of material on record and the legal position, as mentioned above, the allegation against the applicants is that, being director and employees of Keleon Trading Company Pvt. Ltd., they projected themselves as authorized representatives of a French Company L&H in India. Applicant no.3, Narendra Sharma, surveyed the first informant′s factory, presented technical specifications and also submitted amended purchase orders through e-mail and assured that a letter of credit would be established shortly and thus, the business commenced. According to the first informant, they believed that they are doing business with L&H and pursuant to the orders placed, the goods were delivered and when the request for payment was made, it was avoided. It is also alleged in the FIR that when Naresh Kumar, Director of Kashvi Ltd. personally went to their office, he was blackmailed, asked for discount, abused and misbehaved. Therefore, in furtherance of the conspiracy, financial loss was caused to first informant′s company and full and final payment is still due upon the applicants.

25. According to the first informant, the applicants are demanding a discount for full and final payment. On the other hand, the applicants have denied the allegations and said that they are employees of Keleon Co., which is engaged in the business of connecting Indian suppliers to foreign retail buyers for ready-made garments. The applicants are merely service providers to Kashvi Ltd and had agreed to receive 8% commission on the sales procured by it to Kashvi Ltd. It is their case that they introduced Kashvi Ltd. to L&H based in Paris, France and that the entire contract for purchase of garments was executed directly between Kashvi Ltd. and L&H. They say that the dispute pertains to the payment for goods supplied by Kashvi Ltd. to L&H directly, which amounts to a breach of terms of purchase order and letter of credit between the parties. It is also their case that the applicants′ company, Keleone, is not a party to these contracts and its role was confined only to mediate between L&H and Kashvi Ltd. It is also said that a commercial suit being Suit No. SC (Comm) No. 3975 of 2024 (M/s. Keleone Trading Company Pvt. Ltd. Vs. M/s. Kashvi Designs Pvt. Ltd.), claiming legitimate commission amount of Rs.5,60,658/- along with interest, was filed.

26. Looking into the contents of the FIR, the submissions of both the parties and the perusal of material on record, it prima facie appears that the dispute is between three firms, namely Kashvi Ltd., Keleon Co. and L&H, which pertains to delivery of goods and its full and final payment. Keleon Co. say that they are only service providers, who works on payment of commission and the contract with regard to delivery of goods and its payment was entered into between Kashvi Ltd. and

L&H, directly. Be that as it may, due to certain reasons, dispute arose with regard to full and final payment of ready-made garments to Kashvi Ltd. As per the FIR, some payment was made and for full and final payment, discount and commission was demanded. Therefore, the main dispute between the parties is that of breach of contract with regard to full and final payment of goods. The above dispute is essentially commercial in nature.

27. There is no doubt with regard to the legal position, that if a dispute has both civil and criminal elements in it, then merely because a civil claim is maintainable, it does not mean that criminal case cannot be maintained, but so far as the present case is concerned, the dispute does not contain any criminal element in it and it is merely a breach of contract and that too for for full and final payment for goods supplied.

28. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in 2011 (15) SCC 449 Joseph Salvaraj A v State of Gujarat and others has held that if a purely civil dispute is given a criminal colour, then no person should be permitted to be harassed for that. The relevant paragraph nos. 25 and 26 of the decision are reproduced here below:

"25. In our opinion, the matter appears to be purely civil in nature. There appears to be no cheating or a dishonest inducement for the delivery of property or breach of trust by the Appellant. The present FIR is an abuse of process of law. The purely civil dispute, is sought to be given a colour of a criminal offence to wreak vengeance against the Appellant. It does not meet the strict standard of proof required to sustain a criminal accusation.

26. In such type of cases, it is necessary to draw a distinction between civil wrong and criminal wrong as has been succinctly held by this Court in Devendra Vs. State of U.P., 2009 (7) SCC 495, relevant part thereof is reproduced hereinbelow:

"A distinction must be made between a civil wrong and a criminal wrong. When dispute between the parties constitute only a civil wrong and not a criminal wrong, the courts would not permit a person to be harassed although no case for taking cognizance of the offence has been made out."

29. Similarly in Inder Mohan Goswami and Another v State of Uttaranchal and Others, AIR 2008 SC 251, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that:

"the powers possessed by the High Court under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, are very wide and the very plenitude of the power requires great caution in its exercise. The court must be careful to see that its decision in exercise of this power is based on sound principles. The inherent power should not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. The High Court should normally refrain from giving a prima facie decision in a case where all the facts are incomplete and hazy; more so, when the evidence has not been collected and produced before the court and the issues involved, whether factual or legal, are of such magnitude that they cannot be seen in their true perspective without sufficient material. Of course, no hard and fast rule can be laid down in regard to cases in which the High Court will exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction of quashing the proceedings at any stage.

This court in State of Karnataka v. L. Muniswamy & Others (1977) 2 SCC 699 observed that the wholesome power under section 482 Cr.P.C. entitles the High Court to quash a proceeding when it comes to the conclusion that allowing the proceeding to continue would be an abuse of the process of the court or that the ends of justice require that the proceeding ought to be quashed. The High Courts have been invested with inherent powers, both in civil and criminal matters, to achieve a salutary public purpose. A court proceeding ought not to be permitted to degenerate into a weapon of harassment or persecution. The court observed in this case that ends of justice are higher than the ends of mere law though justice must be administered according to laws made by the legislature."

30. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in another case of Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd. & Others (2006) 6 SCC 736, has cautioned about a growing tendency in business circles to convert purely civil disputes into criminal cases. The Court noticed the prevalent impression that civil law remedies are time consuming and do not adequately protect the interests of lenders/creditors. The Court further observed that any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure through criminal prosecution, should be deprecated and discouraged.

31. In view of the above, and after considering the facts and circumstances of the case, it prima facie appears that the dispute is essentially civil/commercial in nature, and the allegations made and as they appear from the record and documents annexed therewith, predominantly give rise and constitute a 'civil wrong' with no 'element of criminality' is involved and it does not satisfy the basic ingredients of a criminal offence, therefore, in view of Amit Kapoor (supra), the pendency of this criminal proceedings would amount to an abuse of process of law.

32. It is also submitted on behalf of applicants that the charge-sheet has been filed under Sections 406, 420 IPC beside other Sections of IPC and as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Delhi Race Club (supra) both the offences under Section 406 and 420 IPC cannot run simultaneously on same facts. Therefore the impugned cognizance and summoning order is bad in the eye of law. On the other hand learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has relied upon the decision of Delhi High Court in Bhim Sain Arora (supra), where the Court held that there is no doubt that the legal position is that a person cannot be convicted for offence punishable under Sections 409, 420 IPC simultaneously. However, at the time of consideration on point of charge, in view of the provisions of Section 221 of Cr.P.C., the learned Trial Court can proceed to frame the charge under both the offences.

33. Though in view of Section 221 Cr.P.C. (corresponding to Section 244 of BNSS), charge can be framed under section 406 and 420 IPC together, if it is doubtful what offence has been committed, but that does not absolve the Magistrate of his duty to apply his judicial mind while taking cognizance of the offence under both these Sections, together. It is settled law that taking cognizance and summoning of an accused is a very important stage, which sets the criminal law in motion. Therefore, the Magistrate has to apply his judicial mind while taking cognizance of an offence.

34. From a perusal of impugned cognizance and summoning order, it appears that the learned Magistrate has taken cognizance in both Sections i.e. Sections 406 and 420 IPC, together, without disclosing in clear words, the reasons, why he is taking cognizance in both these Sections together when they are distinct from each other and cannot exist together on same facts. Therefore, it appears that the learned Magistrate has not applied his judicial mind while taking cognizance and summoning the applicants and thus, the impugned order is mechanical and cryptic in nature, and as such is not sustainable.

35. It is submitted on behalf of opposite party no.2 that charges against applicant no. 3 and 4 have been framed, so this application on their behalf has become infructuous. The learned counsel for applicants has opposed by submitting that framing of charge does not render this application infructuous because in the present application the entire criminal proceeding has been challenged. He has relied upon decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mukesh (supra). The Supreme Court, in this decision, has held that the scope of discharge is entirely different from that of quashing the proceeding under Section 482 Cr.P.C. (Now 528 BNSS), because while arguing on discharge, the applicant cannot rely on a document, which is not the part of charge-sheet and also cannot raise ground of abuse of process of law. I do agree with the submission of the applicants that framing of charge does not render this proceeding infructuous, with regard to applicants no. 3 and 4.

36. With regard to alleged assault to Naresh Kumar there are only general allegations without any medical or other evidence. In this regard a decision of the Supreme Court in Mohammad Wajid v. State of U.P., reported as 2023 SCC OnLine SC 951, is worth mentioning, where the Supreme Court observed as follows:

"34. At this stage, we would like to observe something important. Whenever an accused comes before the Court invoking either the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC) or extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution to get the FIR or the criminal proceedings quashed essentially on the ground that such proceedings are manifestly frivolous or vexatious or instituted with the ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance, then in such circumstances the Court owes a duty to look into the FIR with care and a little more closely. We say so because once the complainant decides to proceed against the accused with an ulterior motive for wreaking personal vengeance, etc., then he would ensure that the FIR/complaint is very well drafted with all the necessary pleadings. The complainant would ensure that the averments made in the FIR/complaint are such that they disclose the necessary ingredients to constitute the alleged offence. Therefore, it will not be just enough for the Court to look into the averments made in the FIR/complaint alone for the purpose of ascertaining whether the necessary ingredients to constitute the alleged offence are disclosed or not. In frivolous or vexatious proceedings, the Court owes a duty to look into many other attending circumstances emerging from the record of the case over and above the averments and, if need be, with due care and circumspection try to read in between the lines. The Court while exercising its jurisdiction under Section482 of the CrPC or Article 226 of the Constitution need not restrict itself only to the stage of a case but is empowered to take into account the overall circumstances leading to the initiation/registration of the case as well as the materials collected in the course of investigation. Take for instance the case on hand. Multiple FIRs have been registered over a period of time. It is in the background of such circumstances the registration of multiple FIR's assumes importance, thereby attracting the issue of wreaking vengeance out of private or personal grudge as alleged."

(Emphasis supplied)

37. In view of the above, it cannot be ruled out that the FIR is so well grafted so that it discloses the necessary ingredients to constitute the alleged offence. The other issues raised relate to disputed question of facts which are primarily of civil/commercial in nature.

38. It is also submitted by learned counsel for opposite party no.2 that this application is barred by the principle of res judicata. The applicants had earlier filed an Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C., which was withdrawn with the liberty to file fresh application, but no fresh ground exist in this application, therefore, this application is barred by principle of res judicata. On the other hand, learned counsel for the applicants submitted that after the earlier application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was withdrawn, the concerned court passed order and thereafter, a supplementary charge-sheet was filed, therefore, there was change of circumstance, as such, this application is not barred by the principle of res judicata.

39. In view of the facts and circumstances of the present case, I agree with the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the applicants and hold that this application is not barred by principle of res judicata, as after the earlier application was withdrawn, supplementary charge-sheet was filed and also that the earlier application was not decided on merits.

40. In view of the above discussion, this application is allowed and charge-sheet dated 14.03.2022, summoning order dated 23.03.2022 as well as entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 582 of 2022 (Anuraj Ratna and others Vs. State of U.P. and another), arising out of Case Crime No. 86 of 2022, under Sections 323, 406, 409, 420, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Phase-III, Noida, Commissionerate, District Gautam Budh Nagar, pending in the court of learned Civil Judge (Sr. Div.), Fast Track Court, Gautam Budh Nagar., are, hereby, quashed.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1044
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 29.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MS. NAND PRABHA SHUKLA, J.

Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 48526 of 2025

Nishant Singh & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether proceedings culminating in the cognizance/summoning order dated 22.08.2025 ought to have been governed by procedure prescribed under the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, particularly the proviso to s. 223(1) mandating an opportunity of hearing to the accused before cognizance or whether, by virtue of repeal and savings clause u/s 531(2)(a) of BNSS, the proceedings continued to be validly governed by Cr.P.C, 1973, since the criminal proceedings had originated from an application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. filed prior to commencement of BNSS.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - ss. 376, 506 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - ss. 156(3), 200, 202 - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 223, 531(2)(a) - Repeal and Savings - Prospective application - Pending investigation - Protest petition - Complaint Case - Cognizance - Summoning order - The applicants sought quashing of entire proceedings of Complaint Case No. 1328 of 2024, arising out of FIR No. 0071 of 2024 and also consequential summoning order dated 22.08.2025, on the ground that the impugned proceedings, having culminated after the commencement of BNSS on 01.07.2024, ought to have been conducted in conformity with s. 223 of BNSS, which mandates an opportunity of hearing to the accused prior to taking cognizance - The factual matrix reveals that the opposite party no. 2 had filed an application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 06.01.2024, pursuant to which the FIR was registered on 03.03.2024, investigation (including further investigation by the Crime Branch) was conducted resulting in a Final Report dated 07.08.2024, which, upon rejection by learned Magistrate on a Protest Petition filed on 03.04.2025, was treated as a Complaint Case, followed by examination of complainant and witnesses u/ss. 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., culminating in the cognizance/summoning order dated 22.08.2025 as impugned herein.

Held: Looking to the Repeal and Savings provision, the further investigation was pending at that point of time i.e. on 01.07.2024 - In view of saving provision, the proceedings will be deemed to have been continued under the provisions of Criminal Procedure Code - After completion of further investigation, the Final Report was submitted and notice was issued to first informant on 09.12.2024 - Thus, from chronology of events, it emerges that the "inquiry" was made by Magistrate under the Criminal Procedure Code which culminated in the submission of Police Report - The first informant had filed Protest Petition which was ordered to be treated as a complaint case and after examination of complainant and witnesses on oath the cognizance/summoning order passed - Since in the instant matter, the criminal proceedings emanate from the application moved u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. dated 06.01.2024 before commencement of BNSS, there exists no justification for Court concerned to proceed under the provision of B.N.S.S, especially, in view of Savings provision incorporated in s. 531(2)(a) of BNSS thereof - Thus, no illegality in impugned order, accordingly, application u/s 528 BNSS dismissed. [Paras 15, 16, 19, 20] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

H.S. Bains v. State (Union Territory of Chandigarh) (1980) 4 SCC 631; Parvinder Singh v. Enforcement Directorate, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 903 - referred to

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860; Bhartiaya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

List of Keywords

Application u/s 528 BNSS; Cognizance and Summoning Order; Complaint Case; Protest Petition; Final Report; Crime Branch Commissionerate Varanasi; First Information Report; Further Investigation; Repeal and Savings Provision; Prospective Application; Inquiry; Vitiated; Illegality; Acquiesced; Opportunity of hearing; Commencement and Enforcement of BNSS, 2023; Police Report; Notice; Examination on oath; Peace-meal application; Application dismissed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. - 48526 of 2025

From the Summoning Order dated 22.08.2025 in Criminal Complaint Case No. 1328 of 2024, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi, pending before the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court Room No.07, District Varanasi.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant(s):
Anand Tiwari, Sr. Advocate

Advs. for the Opposite Party(s):
Ashok Kumar Singh, G.A., Hemendra Pratap Singh

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ms. Nand Prabha Shukla, J.)

1. Heard learned Senior Advocate Sri Vinay Saran, assisted by Sri Anand Tiwari, appearing for the applicants, Sri Hemendra Pratap Singh and Sri Ashok Kumar Singh, learned Counsel appearing for the Opposite Party No. 2, Sri Ratan Singh, learned AGA-I for the State and perused the record.

2. The present application under section 528 B.N.S.S. has been filed with a prayer to allow this application and to quash the entire proceedings of Criminal Complaint Case No. 1328 of 2024 under sections 376, 506 IPC, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi, pending before the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court Room No.07, District Varanasi as well as quashing of order dated 22.08.2025 through which the Applicant Nos.1 and 2 have been summoned under section 376 IPC whereas Applicant Nos. 3 and 4 have been summoned under section 506 IPC.

3. In the present case, the incident is alleged to have occurred on 27.05.2021. Almost after three years, on 06.01.2024, the Opposite Party No.2, Alisha Vishwakarma moved an application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. for lodging of an FIR. On the same day, the learned A.C.J.M-VII, Varanasi sought the report from the concerned Police Station and, on the basis of the said police report, the application was allowed on 09.02.2024 with a direction to the Police Officer concerned to lodge an FIR and investigate the matter against the applicants.

4. On 03.03.2024, the First Information Report bearing FIR No. 0071 of 2024 under sections 376, 506 IPC was registered at P.S. Shivpur, District Varuna (Commissionerate of Varanasi) against the applicants, namely, Nishant Singh, Sitanshu Singh, Babita Singh and Sanjay Singh.

5. After the completion of the investigation by the local police, the Final Report dated 19.04.2024 was prepared and forwarded to the Superior Police Official, whereby, the further investigation was ordered on 17.05.2024, to be conducted by the Crime Branch, Commissionerate, Varanasi. In furtherance of the entrustment, the Crime Branch prepared the Final Report dated 07.08.2024 and was submitted on 09.12.2024 in the Court of learned A.C.J.M.-VII, Varanasi.

6. After receipt of the Final Report dated 07.08.2024, the learned Magistrate issued notice on 09.12.2024 to the first informant/opposite party no.2/Alisha Vishwakarma.

7. As the Final Report submitted disclosed that no offence appears to have been committed, the first informant/Opposite Party No.2, Alisha Vishwakarma being prejudiced filed a Protest Petition on 03.04.2025. The learned A.C.J.M.-VII, Varanasi after hearing the counsel for the first informant/opposite party no.2 on the Protest Petition rejected the Final Report dated 07.08.2024 and ordered to treat the Protest Petition as a Complaint Case. Thus, the Complaint Case No. 1328 of 2024 was registered and the complainant and the witnesses were examined on oath under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. on 03.04.2025 and 09.04.2025 respectively and thereafter the cognizance/summoning order was issued against the applicants on 22.08.2025 i.e. the order impugned.

8. The learned Senior Advocate, Mr. Saran has raised the contention that the order taking cognizance/summoning order dated 22.08.2025 is bad in law as the Protest Petition was filed by the opposite party no.2/first informant on 03.04.2025 i.e. after the commencement of Bhartiaya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (hereinafter referred to as the 'BNSS') therefore, the provision of section 223 of BNSS will be applicable in the present case. It has further been submitted that the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 223 puts an embargo on the power of the Court to take cognizance by providing that "No cognizance of an offence shall be taken by the Magistrate without giving the accused an opportunity of being heard" and, therefore, the entire proceedings along with the impugned order dated 22.08.2025 is vitiated and needs to be set aside.

9. In his written submission, the learned Senior Advocate has raised the following arguments:

(i) That the complaint case and the order taking cognizance/summoning order dated 22.8.2025 is bad in law and is in gross violation of the mandate of law as it has been lodged after the enactment/enforcement of new procedural law i.e. B.N.S.S. It has been argued that the learned Magistrate committed gross illegality by following the procedure under the repealed procedural law i.e. Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 instead of following the procedure of B.N.S.S. The alleged incident took place on 27.05.2021 and, after a delay of about 3 years, the FIR was lodged by moving an application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 03.03.2024 which has been registered as Case Crime No. 71 of 2024 at Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi. It has been contended that the learned Magistrate proceeded with the Complaint Case No. 1328 of 2024 under the old and repealed Act (Cr.P.C.) instead of following the procedure of B.N.S.S. The statement of the complainant and the witnesses were recorded under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. on 09.04.2025 and the cognizance of the offence took place on 22.8.2025 wherein the applicants have been summoned to face the trial.

(ii) The main submission of learned counsel for the applicants is that the Complaint Case was registered on 03.04.2025 i.e. after the commencement/enactment of B.N.S.S. (01.07.2024) and the procedure under BNSS has not been followed and the learned Magistrate has committed gross illegality by adopting the procedure under the Cr.P.C. therefore, it should be governed by BNSS and not by Cr.P.C. which is nothing but an abuse of the process of the Court and the applicants have been deprived of their valuable legal right as provided under section 223 B.N.S.S. for opportunity of hearing before taking cognizance and summoning the accused.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 and learned AGA for the State have vehemently opposed the aforesaid submission on the ground that by invoking section 531(2)(a) of B.N.S.S. the pending proceedings on the date of enforcement of BNSS shall continue under the Criminal Procedure Code and has been saved under the Repeal and Saving Provision, therefore, there is no illegality in the order impugned.

11. Upon hearing learned counsel for the parties and from perusal of records, the chronology of events is briefly stated as follows:

SL No.	PARTICULARS	DATE
1	Incident	27.5.2021
2	Application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. moved on	06.01.2024
3	Application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was allowed on	09.02.2024
4	First Information Report was registered under section 154 Cr.P.C. on	03.03.2024
5	Final Report by the local police under section 173(2) Cr.P.C. was prepared on	19.04.2024
6	Further investigation by Crime Branch under section 173(8) Cr.P.C. as ordered by ACP Cantt. Varanasi	17.5.2024
7	BNSS, 2023 came into force on	01.07.2024
8	Final Report was prepared by Crime Branch under section 173(2) Cr.P.C. on	07.08.2024
9	Final Report dated 07.08.2024 was submitted before the ACJM-VII, Varanasi on	09.12.2024
10	Notice issued to the first informant/opposite party no.2 on	09.12.2024
11	Protest Petition was filed by the first informant/opposite party No.2 on	03.04.2025
12	The learned Magistrate ordered for the Protest Petition to be treated as a Complaint Case on	03.04.2025
13	Examination on oath of Complainant under section 200 Cr.P.C.	09.04.2025
14	Examination on oath of Witnesses under section 202 Cr.P.C.	24.7.2025
15	Cognizance under section 190(1)(a)/summoning order	22.8.2025

12. From the chronology of events as discussed above, it transpires that the opposite party no.2/Alisha Vishwakarma launched the criminal proceedings by invoking section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 06.01.2024. The said proceedings were initiated prior to 01.07.2024, the commencement of the B.N.S.S. On the date of enforcement of the B.N.S.S. i.e. 01.07.2024, the further investigation was in progress and after the completion of the further investigation, the Final Report was prepared by the Crime Branch on 07.08.2024. The learned Magistrate issued notice to opposite party no.2/first informant on 09.12.2024 and in exercise of the power as mandated by the Hon'ble Apex Court in H.S. Bains vs. State (Union Territory of Chandigarh) (1980) 4 SCC 631 had exercised the third option discussed in the said judgement wherein it has been held that "the mere fact that the Magistrate had earlier ordered an investigation under section 156(3) and received a report under Section 173 will not have the effect of total of effacement of the complaint and, therefore, the Magistrate will not be barred from proceeding under sections 200, 203 and 204. The Magistrate is not bound by the conclusions arrived at by the police even as he is not bound by the conclusions arrived at by the complainant in a complaint. A Magistrate who on receipt of a complaint, orders an investigation under section 156(3) and receives a police report under section 173(2), may, thereafter, do one of three things : (i) he may decide that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding further and drop action; (ii) he may take cognizance of the offence under Section 190(1)(b) on the basis of the police report and issue process; this he may do without being bound in any manner by the conclusion arrived at by the police in their report; (iii) he may take cognizance of the offence under Section 190(1)(a) on the basis of the original complaint and proceed to examine upon oath the complainant and his witnesses under section 200."

13. The Magistrate had thus rejected the Final Report and treated the Protest Petition as a Complaint Case on 03.04.2025. It is to be noted that the Protest Petition and its consequential proceedings have not been challenged as without jurisdiction by the applicants till date and the applicants have in such view of the matter clearly acquiesced to the proceedings under the Criminal Procedure Code.

14. At this juncture, it is also relevant to refer section 531(2)(a) of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 which reads as under:

531. Repeal and savings - (1) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) is hereby repealed.

(2) Notwithstanding such repeal –

"(a) if, immediately before the date on which this Sanhita comes into force, there is any appeal, application, trial, inquiry or investigation pending, then such appeal, application, trial, inquiry or investigation shall be disposed of, continued, held or made, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), as in force immediately before such commencement (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), as if this Sanhita had not come into force;"

15. Looking to the Repeal and Savings provision above, the further investigation was pending at that point of time i.e. on 01.07.2024. In view of the saving provision, the proceedings will be deemed to have been continued under the provisions of Criminal Procedure Code. After completion of the further investigation, the Final Report was submitted and notice was issued to the first informant/Alisha Vishwakarma on 09.12.2024. Thus, from chronology of events, it emerges that the "inquiry" was made by the Magistrate under the Criminal Procedure Code which culminated in the submission of Police Report. The first informant had filed the Protest Petition which was ordered to be treated as a complaint case and after examination of the complainant and the witnesses on oath the cognizance/summoning order has been passed.

16. Since in the instant matter, the criminal proceedings emanate from the application moved under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. dated 06.01.2024 before commencement of BNSS, there exists no justification for the Court concerned to proceed under the provision of B.N.S.S, especially, in view of the Savings provision incorporated in Section 531(2)(a) of the BNSS thereof.

17. Moreover, the Hon'ble Apex Court in Parvinder Singh vs. Enforcement Directorate, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 903 has observed in Para 28 "Section 531(2)(a) of the BNSS has a laudable objective behind it which saves the proceedings initiated under the Cr.P.C., prior to the commencement of the BNSS. It is meant to give a prospective application to the provisions of the BNSS. In other words, once a proceeding such as an appeal, application, investigation, inquiry or trial is initiated under the Cr.P.C., then the same must meet its logical conclusion under the Cr.P.C. itself.

(emphasis supplied)

18. The object of the said provision is to avoid peace-meal application of the Cr.P.C. vis-a-vis the BNSS.

19. There is no illegality in the order impugned. No interference is required.

20. Accordingly, the application under section 528 BNSS is hereby dismissed.

21. It is hereby clarified that the Court has not expressed any opinion on the merits of the case.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1050
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 07.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ARUN KUMAR SINGH DESHWAL, J.

Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 11476 of 2026

Mevalal Prajapati ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether the applicant, accused of offences under various sections of of Bharatiya Nyay Sanhita, 2023, was entitled to be enlarged on bail pending trial in light of circumstantial evidence, including the Call Detail Record (CDR), recovery of deceased's e-rickshaw and a blood-stained screw driver allegedly used in commission of offence, and whether the deficiencies in forensic investigation, particularly the failure of Investigating Officer to obtain DNA matching of blood found on recovered weapon, warranted judicial intervention by issuing systemic directions concerning forensic investigation, execution of court processes and implementation of BNSS and Electronic Processes (Issuance, Service and Execution) Rules, 2026.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 103(1), 238, 309(6) and 317(2) - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 105, 180, 193(3)(1), 210(1)(b), 64(1), 351(1) - U.P. Electronic Processes (Issuance, Service and Execution) Rules 2026 - Rules 3, 4, 8, 9, 17 - U.P. Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita Rules, 2024 - Rules 31(1), 21 - Bail - Forensic investigation - Delay in criminal trials - Pendency of criminal cases - Insufficient ministerial staff - Non execution of court's process - Insufficient FSL report - Directions issued - The applicant, has filed the bail application seeking release on bail during the pendency of trial in Case Crime No. 290 of 2025, registered under various sections of BNS arising out of disappearance of deceased since 16.10.2025 and a missing report lodged by deceased's brother on 17.05.2025, pursuant to investigation based on CDR location, the applicant was arrested on 19.10.2025, whereafter, on his pointing out, the e-rickshaw belonging to deceased was recovered, followed by recovery of a blood-stained screwdriver on 20.10.2025, which, upon FSL examination, was found to contain human blood - Applicant, contending the absence of any eye-witness, absence of criminal antecedents, filing of charge-sheet, and consequent redundancy of custodial interrogation, sought bail, which was opposed by State on the strength of CDR location placing the applicant near the scene of occurrence and videographed recoveries effected under provisions of BNSS.

Held: Considering the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and taking into account the last location of applicant as per CDR as well as recovery of a blood-stained screw driver, which substantiates the injury found on the post mortem report of deceased and recovery of e-rickshaw on the pointing out of applicant, the Court declined to grant bail to applicant - Accordingly, bail application rejected, with a directions for circulation of order to Principal Secretary (Law), D.G.P., Additional Chief Secretary (Home), and Director, JTRI for consideration. [Paras 29 to 33] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

Nil

List of Acts

Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023; Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023; U.P. Electronic Processes (Issuance, Service and Execution) Rules, 2026; U.P. Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita Rules, 2024

List of Keywords

Bail; Investigation; Deceased; Blood stained screw driver; Delay in FSL/DNA report; Forensic evidence; Statement of witnesses; U.P. BNSS Rules, 2024; E-Process Rules, 2026; Non appearance of police witnesses; Speech-to-Text AI module; Non-execution of court process by police; Personal security of Judicial Officers; Blood sample; Call Detail Record; Electronic communication; CCTNS; Monthly monitoring cell meeting; Pendency of criminal cases in district courts; U.P. FSL an autonomous department; Additional staff; Infrastructure; E-summons; E-warrants; Training to police officers for collection of forensic evidence; PSO's to all District Judges alike in Punjab and Haryana; e-FIR; e- charge sheet; Application rejected; Directions issued.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. - 11476 of 2026

From the First Information Report in Case Crime No. 290 of 2025, Police Station Husenganj, District Fatehhpur.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Applicant(s):
Dinesh Mishra

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):
G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Dinesh Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Roshan Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. Instant bail application has been filed with a prayer to release the applicant on bail during the trial in Case Crime no. 290/2025, under Sections 103(1), 238, 309(6), 317(2), Bhartiya Nyay Sanhita (B.N.S.), Police Station- Husenganj, District Fatehpur.

3. This matter was heard on 07.04.2026, 15.04.2026 and 24.04.206. On that date, the Court found that though a blood-stained screw driver was sent to FSL examination, no query was made by the I.O. whether the blood found on the screw driver belonged to the deceased. Therefore, this Court directed the Director, FSL, to appear before it to assist the Court vide order dated 24.04.2026, and the matter was posted for 29.04.2026. In pursuance of the order dated 24.04.2026, the Director, FSL U.P., Lko, was present on 29.04.2026. On that date, the Director FSL informed the Court that though the DNA profile can be generated within 3 to 4 days if blood sample is fresh and even DNA profile can also be generated from disintegrated blood sample, if the same was collected carefully and high-end instruments are available in the lab and at present FSLs in UP are facing problem not only the shortage of staff but also of latest machines required for forensic and ballistic test. It was also informed by the Director, FSL, that though 12 FSLs have been functioning in the State of U.P., only 8 FSLs have the facility to generate a DNA profile. It was also informed by the Director, FSL, U.P., that, as of date, U.P. FSL is not an autonomous body under the Home Department but is part of the police department; for that reason, it is not administratively free to procure instruments or appoint staff. It was further informed that, though the Ministry of Home Affairs, Govt. of India, has sent several letters to the State Government to make the FSL in U.P. an autonomous body under the Home Department, the process is still ongoing. Therefore, this Court again directed the Director General of Police as well as Additional Chief Secretary (Home), U.P., to appear before this Court through V.C. to assist the Court along with the Director, FSL, U.P. vide order dated 29.04.2026.

4. Today, in pursuance of the order dated 29.04.2026, Sri Rajeev Krishna, the Director General of Police, U.P., as well as Sri Mohit Gupta, Secretary Home, U.P., as well as Sri Adarsh Kumar, Director, U.P., FSL are present before this Court through V.C.

5. When the Court asked the DGP, why I.Os. are not seeking query from FSL while sending the blood sample regarding matching of DNA of the blood found on the blood stained weapon as well as accused or deceased then, he apprised to the Court that it is negligence on the part of I.Os. and he will issue appropriate directions regarding seeking DNA match of blood found on the cloth or weapon with the accused as well as deceased.

6. The DGP further informed the Court that in pursuance of the Rule 8 of Electronic Processes (Issuance, Service and Execution) Rules 2026, he will direct all the police officers to record the verified email, messaging application and mobile number of the accused during the investigation and the same would also be available to the Court through CCTNS and also same would be mentioned in the charge sheet. It is further apprised by the DGP that the police are also planning to use the Speech-to-Text AI module to record the statements of witnesses under Section 180 of the BNSS, thereby reducing the time required for manual recording.

7. The DGP also apprises the Court that as on date the e-summons received on CCTNS have been executed to the extent of 84% but when the Court confronted with the data available with the Court that it is less than 50% then he assures the Court that he will take steps and issue necessary directions for ensuring all the e-summons or other process sent by the Court on CCTNS will have to be executed, failing which appropriate action would be taken against the concerned police personnel as required under Rule 31 (1) of BNSS Rules, 2024. The DGP also informed that District court judges are still hesitant to issue e-summons or e-warrants, though the chances of their execution are higher than in the physical mode.

8. The DGP further informed that the process has been initiated to fill the vacancies in FSL so that FSL reports could be provided to the Court at the earliest. The DGP also apprised the Court that, in pursuance of Rule 21 of the BNSS Rules, 2024, whenever information is received regarding any offence punishable for 7 years or more, police officers trained in forensic science are sent to collect forensic evidence until the regular team of forensic experts joins the police department. He also apprised the Court that a batch of 350 police officers has been trained by UPSIFS, and as of date, the 2nd batch is undergoing training. As soon as these persons are trained, blood samples and other forensic samples will be collected more scientifically.

9. Sri Mohit Gupta, Secretary, Home, has also apprised the Court that in pursuance of several letters of the Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India, the DGP has recommended to make the FSL a separate department under the Home Ministry, and that is pending before the State Government for final approval.

10. The Director, FSL, on the suggestion of this Court, that as Forensic Science University has limited capacity, then the police officers can also be trained, at least providing basic training for the collection of a blood sample by the local FSL. He assures the Court that he, as well as DGP, will try to implement this suggestion so that more and more police officers can be equipped with basic training in blood sample collection and the collection of forensic evidence. The Court appreciates the above suggestions and the undertaking of the above-mentioned officers.

11. On the basis of a comprehensive study from several district courts on the basis of feedback of District Judges and other judicial officers of districts Sambhal, Shamli, Moradabad, Hapur, Ghaziabad, Mathura, Maharajganj, Agra, and Bulandshahar, this Court found the following reasons regarding heavy pendency, which are being mentioned as follows;

Comprehensive Summary: Causes of Pendency of Cases

The pendency of criminal cases in District Courts is a multi-dimensional issue arising from structural, procedural, administrative, and stakeholder-related deficiencies. The major causes are summarised as follows:

1. Pendency at Preliminary Stages due to non-appearance of the accused
2. Shortage of Human Resources
Acute shortage of ministerial staff (clerks, stenographers, readers, deposition writers).
In some courts, a single clerk handles thousands of files.
Lack of trained and computer-proficient staff.
Shortage of Prosecuting Officers/ADGC's affecting the recording of evidence.
Shortage of Process Servers.
3. Non-Execution of Court Processes
Delay or non-compliance in execution of summons, warrants, and other processes by police.

Evasive and incomplete reports submitted by police authorities.

Lack of accountability and monitoring mechanisms.

Inefficient process transmission system (dependence on limited staff, like pairvi personnel).

Difficulties in inter-district and inter-state service of court processes.

Limited use of electronic modes for service of court processes.

4. Witness and Accused-Related Issues

Non-appearance of witnesses, particularly doctors and police witnesses, due to transfer or lack of permission.

Witnesses becoming disinterested due to repeated adjournments.

Accused persons absconding or remaining untraceable.

Delay in securing the presence of parties due to outdated or unavailable contact details.

5. Inadequate Judicial Infrastructure

Insufficient number of functional courts compared to sanctioned strength.

Large number of vacancies in judicial posts.

Excessive daily cause lists (often 100?150 cases per day), limiting effective hearings.

Inadequate digital infrastructure and case-tracking systems.

6. Investigation and Evidence-Related Delays

Delay in police investigation and filing of charge-sheets.

Late receipt of forensic (F.S.L.) reports.

Non-production of case property (muddamal).

Delay in submission of case diaries and records.

Inadequate compliance with legal requirements for electronic evidence (e.g., Section 65B certification).

Limited use of technology (speech-to-text AI module) in recording and presenting evidence.

7. Frequent Adjournments and Bar-Related Issues

Repeated adjournments sought by advocates on personal or professional grounds.

Clash of dates and non-appearance of counsel.

Prolonged and irrelevant cross-examinations and arguments.

Incomplete documentation leading to repeated adjournments.

Dilatory tactics and lack of preparedness.

Apprehension of complaints against judicial officers affecting expeditious disposal.

8. Docket Explosion and Rising Caseload

Continuous high institution of cases exceeding disposal rates.

Even disposed matters generate miscellaneous and appellate proceedings, increasing the overall burden.

9. Underutilisation of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)

Insufficient use of mediation, Lok-Adalats, and arbitration mechanisms.

Failure to divert appropriate cases from regular court processes.

10. Procedural Delays and Complexities

Delay in committal proceedings, especially in multi-accused cases.

Complex and time-consuming procedural stages (evidence, cross-examination, arguments).

Absence of strict timelines for completion of stages.

Frequent filing of interlocutory and miscellaneous applications.

Restoration applications and repeated re-litigation cause duplication of proceedings.

11. Administrative and File Management Issues

Poor file management, indexing, and tracking due to staff shortage.

Missing or incomplete records, especially in transferred cases.

Delay in issuance of orders, notices, and communications.

12. Institutional and Coordination Gaps

Lack of effective coordination between the judiciary, police, and prosecution.

Non-availability or delayed participation of prosecution officers.

Inefficient response from monitoring committees and administrative authorities.

Non-participation of DM, Police-Commissioner/SSP/SP in monitoring cell meetings, instead they send their representatives despite repeated G.O.'s mandating their personal presence in the meetings.

13. Pendency of Old Cases

Cases pending for long durations (5+ years) are not receiving consistent priority.

Repeated adjournments and restoration applications prolong old matters.

14. External and Practical Constraints

Parties and witnesses relocating or becoming untraceable over time.

Heavy workload of police authorities cited for non-compliance.

Influence of parties affecting enforcement in some cases.

Lack of dedicated infrastructure (e.g., counselling spaces, storage facilities like malkhana).

12. The above study shows that apart from other reasons, the main reasons for pendency of criminal cases in the district court is insufficient ministerial staff, stenographers, deposition writers and also non-execution of the court's process by the police, as well as delay in receiving the forensic report.

13. The above comprehensive study also shows that there is no effective monitoring system for the execution of the courts' processes by the police department and also non-participation of the District Police Chiefs themself personally in the monthly monitoring cell meeting under the Chairmanship of concerned District Judge, especially the Commissioners of Police, because they send their representatives. This is not only against several government orders and High Court's circulars, but also a disrespect to the District Judge, who is equivalent to the State Government's Principal Secretary. The Commissioner of Police and the Divisional Commissioner are much lower in rank and protocol than a District Judge. It is also surprising that the State Government has issued an incorrect notification dated 17th July 2013, showing the District Magistrate above the District Judge in protocol, and this must be corrected immediately. Therefore, all District Police Chiefs, including the Commissioner of Police should personally attend the monitoring cell meeting under the Chairmanship of the concerned District Judge, so that issues regarding the non-execution of court processes and faulty police investigations can be discussed and brought to the attention of the District Police Chiefs.

14. From the above mentioned comprehensive study, it is clear that the primary reasons for pendency of criminal cases in district courts are non-execution of process of court as well as non appearance of police witnesses, the DGP, U.P. has apprised the Court that he has directed all the sub-ordinate police officers that process of court, received through electronically on CCTNS, should be executed immediately without fail and he has also assured the Court that he will issue proper directions for ensuring the presence of police witnesses before the court concerned.

15. Though the High Court on the administrative and judicial sides has requested the State Government to sanction more ministerial staff, which includes deposition clerks, the State has not taken any steps. Therefore, main reason for pendency of cases in district courts is not the capability of the judicial officers but because of shortage of staff, non-execution of court's process by the police and delay as well as incomplete FSL Report, Therefore, it is the State Government as well as Police who are mainly responsible for pendency of criminal cases in district courts even then district judiciary is blamed by the social media and other common persons for non disposal of their cases.

16. Because of taking advantage of the pendency of criminal cases, many criminals kept on repeating the offences again and again without any fear, and even many of them also became MLAs, MPs, and even Ministers. As per the Association for Democratic Reform's report, as of the date, 49% of Ministers in the U.P. Government are involved in criminal cases, of which 44% are involved in serious criminal cases. Therefore, if sufficient staff and proper cooperation of police are provided to the district judiciary, then the disposal of criminal cases will become fast, and the persons who have been taking advantage of the pendency of criminal cases against them would be behind bars, and the innocent will get a clean chit and the person with clean antecedents will come forward for MLA, MP, or even for ministers.

17. An Independent, fair and transparent judicial system is the backbone of a mature democracy, and a judicial system that itself depends on the mercy of the State Government for sufficient staff and execution of court process will become like a government department struggling for basic needs and infrastructures. Many young judicial officers, who joined the judiciary though very honest and hardworking, having a motto to dispense justice after entering judicial service, found themselves unable to perform because of insufficient staff, non-cooperation by the police in the execution of court processes(summons ,warrants, etc.), and faulty investigation and improper FSL reports. Consequently, they became frustrated and looked to the High Court for remedial measures, but the High Court itself cannot do anything, as it is the State Government that must provide basic infrastructure, staff, the FSL report, and police cooperation.

18. In U.P., the personal security of judicial officers of district courts is also a major concern. On many occasions, criminals gave open threats to judicial officers even in courts during their convictions. Sometimes, when judicial officers visit the marketplace or the public place outside the court, they are indirectly intimidated though veiled threat or otherwise by the criminals, but judicial officers, in the absence of a personal security officer (P.S.O.), used to ignore it to avoid conflict and also to save themselves from being highlighted in the media. This also affects the Judicial function of district court judges, especially the issuance of conviction orders against hardcore criminals. In U.P., except for the District Judge, the first Additional District Judge, and the C.J.M., PSOs to other judicial officers are not provided. This is unlike Punjab and Haryana, where all judicial officers are provided PSOs.

19. A filmy dialogue from the film "Damini" released in the year 1993 that "Tarikh pe Tarikh, Tarikh pe Tarikh Milti Rahi hai..... lekin Insaf Nahi Mila My Lord, Insaf Nahi Mila ! Mili Hai to Sirf Tarikh". This dialogue became very popular because it was the perception of a common man, but the reason for it, of course, is not the judicial officer alone, but the State and its police, as a judicial officer can't decide the cases without sufficient staff and the cooperation of police to ensure the presence of the accused, witnesses and a proper FSL report, etc.

20. In the Bharatiya Nagarik Surakksha Sanhita, 2023, several provisions were incorporated to expedite the court proceedings through digitalisation and the use of electronic communication. Now, after completion of the investigation, the police report can be sent to the concerned Magistrate electronically under Section 193(3)(1) BNSS. The Magistrate is also authorised to take cognizance upon a charge sheet received electronically as per Section 210(1) (b) of BNSS. For reference Section 193(3)(1) and 210(1)(b) BNSS are being quoted as under;

Section 193. Report of police officer on completion of investigation

(3) (i) As soon as the investigation is completed, the officer in charge of the police station shall forward, including through electronic communication to a Magistrate empowered to take cognizance of the offence on a police report, a report in the form as the State Government may, by rules provide, stating-

(a) the names of the parties;

(b) the nature of the information;

(c) the names of the persons who appear to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case;

(d) whether any offence appears to have been committed and, if so, by whom;

(e) whether the accused has been arrested;

(f) whether the accused has been released on his bond or bail bond;

(g) whether the accused has been forwarded in custody under section 190;

(h) whether the report of medical examination of the woman has been attached where investigation relates to an offence under sections 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 70 or section 71 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023;

(i) the sequence of custody in case of electronic device;

(ii) the police officer shall, within a period of ninety days, inform the progress of the investigation by any means including through electronic communication to the informant or the victim;

(iii) the officer shall also communicate, in such manner as the State Government may, by rules, provide, the action taken by him, to the person, if any, by whom the information relating to the commission of the offence was first given.

Section 210. Cognizance of offences by Magistrate.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, any Magistrate of the first class, and any Magistrate of the second class specially empowered in this behalf under sub-section

(2), may take cognizance of any offence-

(b) upon a police report (submitted in any mode including electronic mode) of such facts;

21. The U.P. Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Rules, 2024 (hereinafter referred to as the BNSS Rules, 2024) was also framed in exercise of powers under various sections of the BNSS, 2023. Rule 31 of the BNSS Rules, 2024 also provides for service of summons through email, N-STEP (National Service and Tracking of Electronic Processes), and other electronic means; therefore, Rule 31 authorises the concerned court to send the summons through electronic process to the accused as well as witnesses. Rule 31 of BNSS Rules, 2024 is being quoted as under:

31. Manner of service of summons- (1) The service of summons may be done physically, or by electronic means as follows: -

(a) directly on the witness or accused by the police, public servant or a person nominated by the State Government, as the case may be;

(b) through e-mail, if the e-mail address is available;

(c) through publication in newspapers;

(d) by placing it at naturally visible parts of various public places in the concerned district.

(2) Apart from the above, the service of summons may also be done by way of electronic communication.

(3) The service of summons may be done through any electronic or digital application-based system such as ICJS, National Service and Tracking of Electronic Processes (N-STEP) or any other similar system as decided by the Government of India or the State Government, as the case may be.

(4) The service of summons shall be done by a police officer or by any other public servant or person as may be specified by the State Government.

(5) The following guidelines shall also be followed in respect of service of summons:

(a) a summons register shall be maintained at every police station in such format, either physically or electronically, as may be specified by the Director General of Police or the State Government by general or special order from time to time, in which the Head Clerk shall enter the information relating date wise summons/warrant so that there is no laxity in sending the summons/warrant received at the police station to the Court for non/post serving of the summons before/after the date of appearance. In the said summons register, the date of issuance of the process, the date of receipt of the process from the Court, the date of service of the process, along with the details of the recipient, the reason for the process being returned without being served, and the date of sending the served and unserved processes to the Court shall be recorded.

(b) If the process server returns the summons/warrant without serving it, he shall clearly mention that the wanted person has gone out of his residence temporarily or if he has gone out permanently for some time, then by when will he return and also find out the full address of the place from where he went and shall also mention it.

(c) If the warrant could not be served, then considering the accused to be absconding, relevant action shall be taken and the list of the accused's property shall be presented to the Court so that the property can be confiscated by completing the proceedings under sections 84 and 85 of the Sanhita.

(d) Zonal Additional Director General of Police/Regional Inspector General of Police/Police Commissioner, Senior Superintendent of Police/Superintendent of Police, Additional Superintendent of Police and Deputy Superintendent of Police level officers will necessarily review the level of service of summons/warrants during their visit/inspection of police stations and ensure necessary administrative departmental action against the concerned if the work is not found satisfactory.

(e) Where the current address of a witness transferred policeman is not known by the Public Prosecutor, the summons of such policeman will be sent to the Establishment Branch officer of Police at Police Headquarters Lucknow and served to him, in addition to the local Superintendent of Police.

(f) On receiving summons/warrants of retired police or other government services, if their complete address of residence is not known, it will be ascertained from the Pension Department. If the address given by the Pension Department is wrong, the address will be ascertained through the bank by obtaining the bank account number.

(g) When a request is made to the Court to summon a Gazetted officer as a witness, while fixing the date for his appearance, it will be kept in mind that he should have the opportunity to make proper arrangements for discharging his duties during his absence.

(h) Senior police officers and all District Magistrates will ensure that police witnesses and other public servants summoned in all session trials are present in the Court on the appointed date and time in every case either physically or through video conferencing. If a policeman disobeys the order of the Court, departmental action will be taken against him.

(i) Summons shall be sent to the heads of their offices of locally posted Government employees not only through the police but also through other local means and in case of disobedience, summons should be sent to the head of the department so that timely service can be ensured.

(j) When the deployment or residence status of a police or medical witness is not known in any way for the presence of the witness, then in such a situation the summons shall be sent to the Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh and Director General, Medical and Health, Uttar Pradesh, as the case may be.

(k) The status of service of summons shall necessarily be considered in the meeting of the District Monitoring cell constituted under the chairmanship of the District and Sessions Judge.

22. The Governor of U.P. also made U.P. Electronic Processes (Issuance, Service and Execution) Rules, 2026 (hereinafter referred to as the E-Processes Rules, 2026) in exercise of powers conferred by Sections 64(1) and Section 351(1) of BNSS, 2023. The E-Processes Rules, 2026 mandate the court to generate and issue process, summons, warrants, and other coercive processes, and to serve them through an officer of the court. E-Processes Rules, 2026 also provide that all e-summons can be directly sent to the accused or witnesses if the court has their electronic address/contact;; otherwise, they will be sent to the police through CCTNS, which shall be further served by the police itself. E-Processes Rules, 2026 also provides for verifying the details regarding electronic email, address, phone number, messaging applications (WhatsApp, Telegram, Facebook, etc.) of the accused or witnesses during investigation or inquiry so that the same can be used by the court for sending the summons directly to the accused or witnesses after taking cognizance on charge sheet. For reference Rules 3, 4, 8 of E-Processes Rules, 2026 are being quoted as under:

Rule 3. Preparation process electronic mode: The Courts shall generate and issue process in electronic mode through CIS in such forms as set forth in the Second Schedule of the Sanhita, with such variations as the circumstances of each case may require. The same shall be served by an officer of the Court issuing it.

Rule 4. Service by police officer or other public servant: When the Court does not possess required electronic address/contact details of the person to whom such process is intended to be served or when the process issued as per rule 3 is not served, it may direct the same to be served by a police officer or other public servant

Rule 8. Entry of verified details: The officer in charge of the Police Station shall ensure that the verified details relating to address, disclosed electronic mail address, phone number and messaging application used by the accused or witnesses, as the case may be, are recorded during arrest, investigation or inquiry and entered in CCTNS. Such details shall also be entered in the Register maintained at the Police Station in compliance with sub-section (1) of section 64 of the Sanhita. If any of such details is not available, the Officer-in-charge of the Police Station shall make an endorsement to that effect in the Register:

Provided that any such details may be amended on the basis of further verification or on the basis of an application by such person.

23. Rule 17 of the E-Processes Rules, 2026 further provides that for execution of warrants and other coercive measures, the court will send electronically (NSTEP etc) on the police portal (CCTNS), then the police will execute the same. Rule 17of the E-Processes Rules, 2026 is being quoted as under;

Rule 17. Procedure in case of warrant: In case of warrant or any other process required to be served In person Is Issued in electronic mode, the officer in charge of the police station or any police officer deputed by him shall take a printout of the warrant or process and execute the same in accordance with the Sanhita and rules made therein.

24. Rule 9 of the E-Processes Rules, 2026 also provides that in case of a private complaint, the complainant shall provide the electronic mail address, phone numbers and messaging applications (WhatsApp, Telegram, Facebook, etc.) of the accused and witnesses along with the complaint and thereafter all processes shall be sent electronically to any of these electronic addresses or contacts. Rule 9 of the E-Processes Rules, 2026, is being quoted below;

"Rule 9. Details of address, email address, phone number etc. of the accused and witnesses provided by the complainant : Where a case is filed on the basis of a private complaint, the complainant shall provide the details relating to address, disclosed electronic mail address, phone number and messaging application of the accused and witnesses along with the complaint. If any of such information is not available, the complainant shall make an endorsement to that effect.

25. The above-quoted BNSS Rules, 2024 and E-Processes Rules, 2026, aim to decrease the dependency of criminal courts on the police for the execution of court process on the one hand and also increase chances of execution even by the police. Therefore, the District Courts have to follow BNSS Rules, 2024, as well as the E-Processes Rules, 2026, to expedite the court's proceedings so that criminal trials can be concluded at the earliest. However, even for the generation and electronic transmission of court processes, the State Government has to provide additional staff with computer knowledge to the District Courts.

26. After considering the suggestions of the Director General of Police, the Secretary (Home) and the Director FSL, this Court summarises its directions as follows;

i. The State Government shall consider the issue of providing additional staff and infrastructure to the District Courts, considering the heavy workload of cases.

ii. The State Government shall consider making U.P. FSL an autonomous department under its Home Ministry as requested by the Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India, through different communications.

iii. The State Government shall make its endeavours to fill up vacancies in Forensic Science Laboratories of U.P., along with providing high-end instruments within one year.

iv. The State Government/Police Department will ensure training to police officers for the collection of forensic evidence.

v. The State Government shall also consider the feasibility of providing PSOs to all District Court Judges alike in Punjab and Haryana vi. DGP, UP, shall issue directions to all District Police Chiefs, including the Commissioner of Police, to attend the monthly Monitoring Cell Meeting under the chairmanship of the concerned District Judge personally.

vii DGP shall issue directions to all investigating officers to make a query from FSLs regarding the matching of the DNA of blood found on the blood-stained weapon and cloth with the DNA of the accused and deceased, while sending the blood samples to FSLs.

viii. DGP shall issue necessary directions to all the police officers involved in the investigation to record the verified email, messaging applications (WhatsApp, Telegram and Facebook Messenger, etc.) and the mobile number of the accused and witnesses during the investigation and shall mention these verified details in the chargesheet apart from entering in CCTNS as per Rule 8 of E-Processes Rules, 2026.

ix. Police shall implement as soon as possible, using the Speech-to-Text AI module to record the statement of witnesses under Section 180 BNSS.

x. DGP shall also consider issuing DGP circular to all police officers, mentioning therein that negligence in execution of court processes may attract disciplinary proceedings as required by Rule 31 (1) of BNSS Rules, 2024.

xi. Judicial officers are also directed to send e-summons, e-warrants and other court processes as per BNSS Rules, 2024 as well as E-Processes Rules, 2026 and also consume e-FIR and e-chargesheet as per mandates of BNSS, 2023.

27. Coming back to the merits of the case, learned counsel for the applicant submitted that, as per the prosecution's story, the deceased was missing since 16.10.2025, and a missing report was also lodged by the brother of the deceased on 17.05.2025 in the form of an FIR. Thereafter, on the basis of CDR location, he was arrested on 19.10.2025, and on his pointing out, the e-rickshaw of the deceased was recovered. Thereafter, on pointing out the applicant, a blood-stained screw driver was also recovered on 20.10.2025, which was sent for FSL examination and as per the FSL report, human blood was found thereon. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that there is no eye witness of the incident, and he has been falsely implicated merely because of the recovery of the e-rickshaw of the deceased, as well as a blood-stained screw driver. Therefore, the applicant is entitled to be enlarged on bail during trial, as the applicant has no criminal history. A charge sheet has been filed by the police; therefore, there is no requirement for custodial interrogation. The applicant has been languishing in jail since 19.10.2025. If he is granted bail, he will not misuse his liberty and will cooperate in the trial proceedings.

28. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. for the State vehemently opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that CDR of the mobile phone of the applicant shows that he was near the place of incident on 16.10.2025 and on his pointing out e-rickshaw of the deceased was recovered on 20.10.2025 and subsequently a blood stained screw driver was also recovered on 29.10.2026 on the pointing out of the applicant and aforesaid recovery was duly videographed as per Section 105 of BNSS, therefore, the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

29. Considering the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and taking into account the last location of the applicant as per CDR as well as recovery of a blood-stained screw driver, which substantiates the injury found on the post mortem report of the deceased and recovery of e-rickshaw on the pointing out of the applicant, this Court is not inclined to grant bail to the applicant, at this stage.

30. Accordingly, the present bail application is rejected.

31. Registrar (Compliance) is directed to send a copy of this order to the Principal Secretary (Law)/L.R, U.P., D.G.P. U.P., Additional Chief Secretary (Home) U.P. and the Director JTRI, Lucknow.

32. The Principal Secretary (Law) is further directed to place this order before the Hon'ble Chief Minister, U.P., along with its summary for his perusal.

33. Director, JTRI is also directed to sensitise the Judicial Officers about relevant Rules of BNSS Rules, 2024 as well as E-Processes Rules, 2026 regarding generation and electronic transmission of E-summons, E-warrants and other court's processes.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1063
ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 21.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.
THE HON'BLE PRAMOD KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 4156 of 2026

Deena Nath Yadav ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether a First Information Report u/ss. 13(1)(b) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 alleging possession of disproportionate assets can be validly registered against a public servant without first calling for his explanation regarding the alleged disproportionate assets or conducting a mandatory preliminary enquiry, particularly in light of Explanation 1 to s. 13(1)(b) of Act and the earlier interim order restraining the authorities from seeking details of petitioner's assets.

Headnotes

Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 - s. 13(1)(b) r/w s. 13(2) - Explanation 1 of s. 13(1)(b) - Scope - Disproportionate assets - Quashing of FIR - The petitioner challenged the First Information Report dated 17.12.2025 alleging possession of disproportionate assets - The FIR was founded upon an open inquiry/source report, which concluded that during the relevant period the petitioner had earned approximately Rs. 1.95 crore from known lawful sources but had incurred expenditure of about Rs. 2.51 crore, resulting in alleged disproportionate expenditure of nearly Rs. 55 lakh - The petitioner contended that the FIR was illegal since no opportunity was afforded to him to explain the alleged disproportionate assets before its registration, particularly when an earlier interim order of High Court had restrained the authorities from seeking details of his assets and the inquiry report itself acknowledged that no explanation had been obtained from him - The State opposed the petition by relying upon Supreme Court precedents holding that a public servant has no vested right to furnish an explanation before registration of an FIR in disproportionate assets cases.

Held: In the instant case, though the writ Court vide order dated 09.10.2021 restrained the respondents from requiring the petitioner to furnish any information pertaining to assets and likewise, the inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 sent along with confidential letter dated 09.10.2024 has also categorically recorded that the explanation of petitioner has not been taken with regard to disproportionate assets, however, the same will not and cannot resile from the settled proposition of law as laid down by the Apex court in the Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (infra), Sri Channakeshava. H.D (infra), K. Veeraswami (infra) judgments that the accused public servant does not have any right to explain the disproportionate assets prior to lodging of First Information Report - Thus even if the explanation of the petitioner has not been taken, the same would not vitiate the impugned First Information Report - Perusal of impugned First Information Report indicates that the impugned First Information Report has been lodged on the basis of findings in the open inquiry which has been conducted by the department in which it has been found that the petitioner has spent an amount of Rs. 55,00,000/- over and above his known source of income - The inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 is part of confidential letter dated 09.10.2024 - It is this open inquiry which forms "source" on the basis of which the department has found that the petitioner is possessed of disproportionate assets - The said 'source report' is in fact a kind of preliminary inquiry in which the petitioner has been found to be having disproportionate assets - Thus, once the respondents were in fact having 'source report', consequently, the First Information Report having been lodged on the basis of 'source report', it cannot be said that the statement or version of petitioner should have been taken prior to lodging of impugned First Information Report - Thus, petition dismissed. [Paras 31 to 33] (E-13)

Case Law Cited

K. Veeeraswami v. Union of India - (1991) 3 SCC 655; State of Karnataka v. Sri Channakeshava. H.D and anr - (2025) 4 S.C.R. 608; Central Bureau of Investigation v. Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi - (2021) 13 SCR 364; followed

List of Acts

Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988

List of Keywords

First Information Report; Prevention of Corruption Act; Disproportionate assets; Quashing of FIR; Public Servant; Criminal misconduct; Open inquiry; Source report; Vigilance inquiry; Preliminary enquiry; Explanation 1 of s. (1)(b); Investigation; Pecuniary resources; Known sources of income; Criminal proceedings; Confidential memo; Inquiry report; Assets; Expenditure; Income; Commission of cognizable offence; Source information; Writ Petition dismissed.

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. - 4156 of 2026

From the First Information Report dated 17.12.2025 registered as Case Crime No. 0028 of 2025 at Police Station- Lucknow Sector (Vigilance Commission), Lucknow.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Petitioner(s):
Indu Prakash Singh

Adv. for the Respondent(s):
G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.
&
Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Anurag Verma, learned AGA-I appearing on behalf of the respondents no. 1 to 3.

2. Under challenge is the First Information Report dated 17.12.2025 registered as Case Crime No. 0028 of 2025 under Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (In short "Act, 1988") at Police Station- Lucknow Sector (Vigilance Commission), Lucknow, a copy of which is annexure 1 to the writ petition.

3. Contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that a perusal of the allegations as levelled in the impugned First Information Report which has been lodged under the provisions of Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of the Act, 1988 would indicate that in an open inquiry, it has emerged that the petitioner has been found to have spent an amount of Rs. 2.51 Crores & odd instead of his earning from all legal and valid sources which amounted to Rs. 1.95 Crores & odd i.e the petitioner has been found to have spent Rs. 55,00,000/- and odd in excess which conduct of his falls within the ambit of Section 13 (1) (b) read with Section 13 (2) of the Act, 1988. This has emerged on the basis of open inquiry report no. ANU-2-KHULI-86/2020 which inquiry was conducted on the basis of the confidential Demi Official letter dated 12.06.2020. It has also been indicated that by means of letter dated 04.12.2025, the case of the petitioner has been forwarded to Uttar Pradesh Vigilance Department for the purpose of investigation.

4. Contention is that the aforesaid allegations as levelled in the impugned First Information Report are patently false.

5. Elaborating the same, contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner along with others had filed a Writ Petition No. 20001 (SS) of 2020 Inre; Jaikar Singh and ors Vs. State of U.P and Ors in which the petitioner was petitioner no. 6. In the said petition, the petitioners had challenged the orders dated 12.06.2020 and 22.07.2020 whereby directions had been issued to initiate vigilance inquiry against the petitioners. Before the writ Court, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the State had submitted that the petitioners are challenging the regular open vigilance inquiry. However, the writ Court was of the view that prima facie it is apparent that only a fact finding inquiry has been initiated as has also been submitted by the learned State counsel against the petitioner and regular vigilance inquiry as contemplated under the Rules of 1977 has not yet commenced.

6. Considering the aforesaid the writ Court was of the view that as the inquiry is only a fact finding inquiry, the respondents in the meantime were restrained from requiring the petitioners to furnish any information pertaining to their assets . It was also indicated that the fact finding inquiry against the petitioners may continue. Copy of the interim order dated 20.12.2021 has been filed as annexure 13 to the writ petition. Learned counsel for the petitioner also states at bar that the aforesaid order passed by the writ Court dated 20.12.2021 is still continuing as of date although the respondents have filed an application for vacation of the interim order.

7. Placing reliance on the compliance affidavit dated 09.07.2025 and the inquiry report dated 19.02.2024 which had been in the aforesaid petition and are being instant petition, contention is that the respondents in the said inquiry have categorically recorded that while holding the open inquiry against the petitioner, no explanation pertaining to the details of his income and expenditure have been taken (Page 244 of the writ petition).

8. Further placing reliance on Explanation 1 to Section 13 (1) (b) of the Act, 1988, argument is that the said explanation categorically provides that a person shall be presumed to have intentionally enriched himself illicitly if he or any person on his behalf is in possession of or has at any time during the period of his office, been in possession of pecuniary resources or property disproportionate to his known sources of income which the public servant cannot satisfactorily account for.

9. Contention is that once Explanation 1 to Section 13 (1) (b) of the Act, 1988 itself provides that an offence under Section 13 of the Act, 1988 can only be said to have been committed by a person in case he cannot satisfactorily account for of the property disproportionate to his assets, consequently, lodging of the impugned First Information Report under the provisions of the Act, 1988 more particularly Section 13 of the Act, 1988 would be going beyond what is provided under the explanation i.e the respondents having proceeded to lodge the impugned First Information Report without calling for the explanation of the petitioner requiring him to satisfactorily account for the alleged disproportionate assets as is explicitly admitted by them while submitting the inquiry report.

10. Further, reliance has been placed on the confidential memo dated 09.10.2024, a copy of which has been filed as annexure 2 to the writ petition per which it has also been indicated that the open inquiry has been concluded without calling for the explanation/documents from the charged employees.

11. It is also argued that even otherwise, there does not appear to be any occasion for any explanation to have been called for from the petitioner more particularly keeping in view the order of the writ Court dated 20.12.2021 which had specifically restrained the respondents from requiring the petitioner to furnish information pertaining to the assets.

12. In this regard, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on various interim orders that have been passed by this Court pertaining to similar First Information Report i.e the First Information Report having been lodged without giving an opportunity to the said employee to explain the charge of disproportionate assets. The said interim orders have been passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 6320 of 2025 Inre; Sushil Kumar Vs. State of U.P and ors, Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 610 of 2025 Inre; Raghvendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P and Ors, Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 1114 of 2025 Inre; Kamlesh Kumar Keshari Vs. State of U.P and Ors, Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 8031 of 2024 Inre; Ram Nathgoel Vs. State of U.P and Ors, Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 1515 of 2025 Inre; Ajaya Rastogi Vs. State of U.P and Ors & Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 6244 of 2025 Inre; Pradeep Kumar Khandelwal Vs. State of U.P and Ors.

13. Placing reliance on the interim orders and the arguments as aforesaid, it is prayed that the impugned First Information Report itself merits to be set aside.

14. On the other hand, learned AGA has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of State of Karnataka Vs. Sri Channakeshava. H.D and anr- (2025) 4 S.C.R. 608 to contend that the Apex Court in the said judgment after placing reliance on its earlier judgment in the case of Central Bureau of Investigation Vs. Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi- (2021) 13 SCR 364 has been of the view that an accused public servant does not have any right to explain the alleged disproportionate assets before filing of First Information Report. Thus, it is prayed that the writ petition be dismissed.

15. Heard learned counsels appearing on behalf of the contesting parties and perused the records.

16. From a perusal of records it emerges that the petitioner has challenged the First Information Report dated 17.12.2025 lodged under Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of the Act, 1988. A perusal of the impugned First Information Report indicates that upon an open inquiry conducted by the vigilance department it has been found that while the petitioner has worked as a Public Servant, his income from all known sources was approximately Rs. 1.95 Crores but he has spent an amount of Rs. 2.51 Crores & odd and consequently, has spent an amount of Rs. 55,00,000/- and odd in excess of his known sources of income. This has emerged in the open inquiry conducted by the department. Thus, the First Information Report has been lodged under the provisions of the Act, 1988.

17. The sheet anchor of argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner is the interim order dated 20.12.2021 passed by the writ Court per which, upon a challenge being raised by the petitioner along with others to the orders dated 12.06.2020 & 22.07.2020 for initiating vigilance inquiry, it had been indicated by the State-respondents that information pertaining to the petitioner(s) was furnished by the vigilance department and the proceedings against the petitioner(s) have been initiated in pursuance to letter dated 08.01.2019 issued by the Special Director, Vigilance Department and only a fact finding inquiry has been issued and a regular vigilance inquiry would only commence after lodging of First Information Report against the petitioner (s) in case there is some material. Considering this, the writ Court was of the view that as only a fact finding inquiry has been instituted against the petitioner(s) as such, the respondents-State were restrained from requiring the petitioner(s) to furnish any information pertaining to the assets. The inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 has also been submitted in which it has categorically been recorded that while holding the open inquiry against the petitioner, no explanation pertaining to the details of his income and expenditure has been taken. Further, as per confidential memo dated 09.10.2024 by which the open inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 has been sent, it has also been recorded that the open inquiry has been concluded without calling for the explanation/documents from the charged employee.

18. Argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that as the open inquiry has been conducted against the him, as stands recorded in the impugned First Information Report, in which no explanation of the petitioner has been sought, as such, the First Information Report itself merits to be quashed as the respondents have lodged the impugned First Information Report without considering the explanation (1) to Section 13 (1) of the Act, 1988 i.e the respondents have pre-judged the issue while lodging the impugned First Information Report without having required to petitioner to satisfactorily account for his disproportionate assets.

19. On the other hand, learned AGA has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court the cases of Sri Channakeshava. H.D (supra) & Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra) to contend that an accused public servant does not have any right to explain the disproportionate assets before filing of the First Information Report.

20. Considering the aforesaid we are now required to consider as to whether prior to lodging of the First Information Report by the authorities under the provisions of the Act, 1988, the explanation on the public servant with regard to disproportionate assets is required to be called for or for that matter any preliminary inquiry is required to be conducted.

21. In this regard, it would be apt to refer to the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Sri Channakeshava. H.D (supra) wherein the Apex Court after placing reliance on its earlier judgment of Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra) has held has under:-

"14. Mr. Devadatt Kamat, senior counsel, has relied upon a recent Three-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Central Bureau of Investigation Vs. Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi- (2021) 18 SCC 135 where it was specifically stated that an accused public servant does not have any right to explain the alleged disproportionate assets before filing of an FIR. We are also of the opinion that this is the correct legal position as there is no inherent right of a public servant to be heard at this stage."

22. Likewise, the Apex Court in the case of Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra) has held as under:-

"6. The FIR was registered against the respondents by CBI's Anti-Corruption Branch ("ACB") in Chennai on 20-9-2017. The FIR noted that the "check period" was between 1-4-2010 and 29-2-2016. The FIR records that it was registered on the basis of "source information" received by CBI ACB Chennai on the same date, at about 4 p.m. There are four tabulated statements in the FIR. Statement A provides that the respondents' assets at the beginning of the check period (1-4-2010) were in the amount of Rs 1,35,26,066 while Statement B indicates that their assets at the end of the check period (29-2-2016) were Rs 6,90,51,066. Hence, their assets earned during the check period (i.e. between 1-4-2010 to 29-2-2016) were alleged to be to the tune of Rs 5,55,25,000. According to Statement C, the respondents' income during the check period was Rs 4,84,76,630 while according to Statement D their expenditure during the check period was Rs 40,33,322. Hence, the respondents are alleged to have acquired assets/pecuniary advantage to the extent of Rs 5,95,58,322 (adding the assets, Rs 5,55,25,000 and expenditure, Rs 40,33,322) against an income of Rs 4,84,76,630 earned during the check period. Therefore, their disproportionate assets [Calculated by adding the assets and expenditure during the check period, and subtracting the income from it.] during the check period were computed at Rs 1,10,81,692, which is 22.86% of the total income earned by them.

14. The rival submissions now fall for our consideration. Based on the submissions, this Court is called upon to decide two questions:

14.1. (i) Whether CBI is mandatorily required to conduct a preliminary enquiry before the registration of an FIR in every case involving claims of alleged corruption against public servants; and 14.2. (ii) Independent of the first question, whether the judgment of the High Court to quash the FIR can be sustained in the present case.

D. Whether a preliminary inquiry is mandatory before registering an FIR

D.1. Precedents of this Court

15. Before proceeding with our analysis of the issue, it is important to understand what previous judgments of this Court have stated on the issue of whether CBI is required to conduct a preliminary enquiry before the registration of an FIR, especially in cases of alleged corruption against public servants.

16. The first of these is a judgment of a two-Judge Bench in P. Sirajuddin [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] , in which it was observed that before a public servant is charged with acts of dishonesty amounting to serious misdemeanour, some suitable preliminary enquiry must be conducted in order to obviate incalculable harm to the reputation of that person. G.K. Mitter, J. held that : (SCC p. 601, para 17)

"17. ? Before a public servant, whatever be his status, is publicly charged with acts of dishonesty which amount to serious misdemeanour or misconduct of the type alleged in this case and a first information is lodged against him, there must be some suitable preliminary enquiry into the allegations by a responsible officer. The lodging of such a report against a person, specially one who like the appellant occupied the top position in a department, even if baseless, would do incalculable harm not only to the officer in particular but to the department he belonged to, in general."

(emphasis supplied)

17. The above decision was followed by another two-Judge Bench in Nirmal Singh Kahlon [Nirmal Singh Kahlon v. State of Punjab, (2009) 1 SCC 441 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 523] , wherein it was observed that in accordance with the CBI Manual, CBI may only be held to have established a prima facie case upon the completion of a preliminary enquiry. S.B. Sinha, J. held thus : (SCC p. 456, para 30)

"30. Lodging of a first information report by CBI is governed by a manual. It may hold a preliminary inquiry; it has been given the said power in Chapter VI of the CBI Manual. A prima facie case may be held to have been established only on completion of a preliminary enquiry."

18. The most authoritative pronouncement of law emerges from the decision of a Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] . The issue before the Court was whether

"a police officer is bound to register a first information report ("FIR") upon receiving any information relating to commission of a cognizable offence under Section 154 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 ? or the police officer has the power to conduct a "preliminary inquiry" in order to test the veracity of such information before registering the same" (SCC p. 17, para 1).Answering this question on behalf of the Bench, P. Sathasivam, C.J. held that under Section 154 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 ("CrPC"), a police officer need not conduct a preliminary enquiry and must register an FIR when the information received discloses the commission of a cognizable offence.

19. Specifically with reference to the provisions of the CBI Manual, the decision noted : (Lalita Kumari case [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1, paras 31-35, 37-39, 83-86, 89-92, 93-96, 101-105, 106-107, 111-112, 114-119 and 120 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , SCC pp. 50-51, para 89)

"89. Besides, the learned Senior Counsel relied on the special procedures prescribed under the CBI Manual to be read into Section 154. It is true that the concept of "preliminary inquiry" is contained in Chapter IX of the Crime Manual of CBI. However, this Crime Manual is not a statute and has not been enacted by the legislature. It is a set of administrative orders issued for internal guidance of CBI officers. It cannot supersede the Code. Moreover, in the absence of any indication to the contrary in the Code itself, the provisions of the CBI Crime Manual cannot be relied upon to import the concept of holding of preliminary inquiry in the scheme of the Code of Criminal Procedure. At this juncture, it is also pertinent to submit that CBI is constituted under a special Act, namely, the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946 and it derives its power to investigate from this Act."

(emphasis supplied)

20. However, the Court was also cognizant of the possible misuse of the powers under criminal law resulting in the registration of frivolous FIRs. Hence, it formulated "exceptions" to the general rule that an FIR must be registered immediately upon the receipt of information disclosing the commission of a cognizable offence. The Constitution Bench held : (Lalita Kumari case [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1, paras 31-35, 37-39, 83-86, 89-92, 93-96, 101-105, 106-107, 111-112, 114-119 and 120 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , SCC pp. 59-60, paras 115, 117 & 119)

"115. Although, we, in unequivocal terms, hold that Section 154 of the Code postulates the mandatory registration of FIRs on receipt of all cognizable offences, yet, there may be instances where preliminary inquiry may be required owing to the change in genesis and novelty of crimes with the passage of time. ?

***

117. In the context of offences relating to corruption, this Court inP. Sirajuddin [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] expressed the need for a preliminary inquiry before proceeding against public servants.

***

119. Therefore, in view of various counterclaims regarding registration or non-registration, what is necessary is only that the information given to the police must disclose the commission of a cognizable offence. In such a situation, registration of an FIR is mandatory. However, if no cognizable offence is made out in the information given, then the FIR need not be registered immediately and perhaps the police can conduct a sort of preliminary verification or inquiry for the limited purpose of ascertaining as to whether a cognizable offence has been committed. But, if the information given clearly mentions the commission of a cognizable offence, there is no other option but to register an FIR forthwith. Other considerations are not relevant at the stage of registration of FIR, such as, whether the information is falsely given, whether the information is genuine, whether the information is credible, etc. These are the issues that have to be verified during the investigation of the FIR. At the stage of registration of FIR, what is to be seen is merely whether the information given ex facie discloses the commission of a cognizable offence. If, after investigation, the information given is found to be false, there is always an option to prosecute the complainant for filing a false FIR."

(emphasis supplied)

21. The judgment provides the following conclusions : (Lalita Kumari case [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1, paras 31-35, 37-39, 83-86, 89-92, 93-96, 101-105, 106-107, 111-112, 114-119 and 120 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , SCC p. 61, para 120)

"120. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we hold:

120.1. The registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation.

120.2. If the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary inquiry may be conducted only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not.

***

120.5. The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence.

120.6. As to what type and in which cases preliminary inquiry is to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The category of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made are as under:

***

(d) Corruption cases

***

The aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry."

(emphasis supplied)

22. The Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari case [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1, paras 31-35, 37-39, 83-86, 89-92, 93-96, 101-105, 106-107, 111-112, 114-119 and 120 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] thus held that a preliminary enquiry is not mandatory when the information received discloses the commission of a cognizable offence. Even when it is conducted, the scope of a preliminary enquiry is not to ascertain the veracity of the information, but only whether it reveals the commission of a cognizable offence. The need for a preliminary enquiry will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. As an illustration, "corruption cases" fall in that category of cases where a preliminary enquiry "may be made". The use of the expression "may be made" goes to emphasise that holding a preliminary enquiry is not mandatory. Dwelling on the CBI Manual, the Constitution Bench held that : (i) it is not a statute enacted by the legislature; and (ii) it is a compendium of administrative orders for the internal guidance of CBI.

23. The judgment in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] was analysed by a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Yashwant Sinha [Yashwant Sinha v. CBI, (2020) 2 SCC 338] where the Court refused to grant the relief of registration of an FIR based on information submitted by the appellant-informant. In his concurring opinion, K.M. Joseph, J. described that a barrier to granting the relief of registration of an FIR against a public figure would be the observations of this Court in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] noting that a preliminary enquiry may be desirable before doing so. Joseph, J. observed : (Yashwant Sinha case [Yashwant Sinha v. CBI, (2020) 2 SCC 338, paras 114-115 and 117] , SCC pp. 385 & 387-89, paras 108, 110, 112 & 114)

"108. Para 120.6 [of Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524]] deals with the type of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made. Corruption cases are one of the categories of cases where a preliminary inquiry may be conducted. ?

***

110. In para 117 of Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , this Court referred to the decision in P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] and took the view that in the context of offences related to corruption in the said decision, the Court has expressed a need for a preliminary inquiry before proceeding against public servants.

***

112. In Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , one of the contentions which was pressed before the Court was that in certain situations, preliminary inquiry is necessary. In this regard, attention of the Court was drawn to CBI Crime Manual. ?

***

114. The Constitution Bench inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , had before it, the CBI Crime Manual. It also considered the decision of this Court inP. Sirajuddin [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] which declared the necessity for preliminary inquiry in offences relating to corruption. Therefore, the petitioners may not be justified in approaching this Court seeking the relief of registration of an FIR and investigation on the same as such. This is for the reason that one of the exceptions where immediate registration of FIR may not be resorted to, would be a case pointing fingers at a public figure and raising the allegation of corruption. This Court also has permitted preliminary inquiry when there is delay, laches in initiating criminal prosecution, for example, over three months. A preliminary inquiry, it is to be noticed in para 120.7 of Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , is to be completed within seven days."

(emphasis supplied)

24. The decision of a two-Judge Bench in Managipet [State of Telangana v. Managipet, (2019) 19 SCC 87 : (2020) 3 SCC (Cri) 702] thereafter has noted that while the decision in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] held that a preliminary enquiry was desirable in cases of alleged corruption, that does not vest a right in the accused to demand a preliminary enquiry. Whether a preliminary enquiry is required or not will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case, and it cannot be said to be mandatory requirement without which a case cannot be registered against the accused in corruption cases. Hemant Gupta, J. held thus : (Managipet case [State of Telangana v. Managipet, (2019) 19 SCC 87, paras 33-34 : (2020) 3 SCC (Cri) 702] , SCC pp. 103-105, paras 28-30 & 32-34)

"28. InLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] the Court has laid down the cases in which a preliminary inquiry is warranted, more so, to avoid an abuse of the process of law rather than vesting any right in favour of an accused. Herein, the argument made was that if a police officer is doubtful about the veracity of an accusation, he has to conduct a preliminary inquiry and that in certain appropriate cases, it would be proper for such officer, on the receipt of a complaint of a cognizable offence, to satisfy himself that prima facie, the allegations levelled against the accused in the complaint are credible. ?

29. The Court concluded that the registration of an FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation. ?

30. It must be pointed out that this Court has not held that a preliminary inquiry is a must in all cases. A preliminary enquiry may be conducted pertaining to matrimonial disputes/family disputes, commercial offences, medical negligence cases, corruption cases, etc. The judgment of this Court inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] does not state that proceedings cannot be initiated against an accused without conducting a preliminary inquiry.

***

32. ... The scope and ambit of a preliminary inquiry being necessary before lodging an FIR would depend upon the facts of each case. There is no set format or manner in which a preliminary inquiry is to be conducted. The objective of the same is only to ensure that a criminal investigation process is not initiated on a frivolous and untenable complaint. That is the test laid down inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] .

33. In the present case, the FIR itself shows that the information collected is in respect of disproportionate assets of the accused officer. The purpose of a preliminary inquiry is to screen wholly frivolous and motivated complaints, in furtherance of acting fairly and objectively. Herein, relevant information was available with the informant in respect of prima facie allegations disclosing a cognizable offence. Therefore, once the officer recording the FIR is satisfied with such disclosure, he can proceed against the accused even without conducting any inquiry or by any other manner on the basis of the credible information received by him. It cannot be said that the FIR is liable to be quashed for the reason that the preliminary inquiry was not conducted. The same can only be done if upon a reading of the entirety of an FIR, no offence is disclosed. Reference in this regard, is made to a judgment of this Court in State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal [State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 426] wherein, this Court held inter alia that where the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused and also where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fides and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.

34. Therefore, we hold that the preliminary inquiry warranted inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] is not required to be mandatorily conducted in all corruption cases. It has been reiterated by this Court in multiple instances that the type of preliminary inquiry to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. There are no fixed parameters on which such inquiry can be said to be conducted. Therefore, any formal and informal collection of information disclosing a cognizable offence to the satisfaction of the person recording the FIR is sufficient."

(emphasis supplied)

25. In Charansingh [Charansingh v. State of Maharashtra, (2021) 5 SCC 469 : (2021) 2 SCC (Cri) 617 : (2021) 2 SCC (L&S) 52] , the two-Judge Bench was confronted with a challenge to a decision to hold a preliminary enquiry. The Court adverted to the ACB Manual in Maharashtra and held that a statement provided by an individual in an "open inquiry" in the nature of a preliminary enquiry would not be confessional in nature and hence, the individual cannot refuse to appear in such an inquiry on that basis. M.R. Shah, J. writing for the two-Judge Bench consisting also of one of us (D.Y. Chandrachud, J.) held : (SCC pp. 479-82, paras 11, 14 & 15)

"11. However, whether in a case of a complaint against a public servant regarding accumulating the assets disproportionate to his known sources of income, which can be said to be an offence under Section 13(1)(e) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, an enquiry at pre-FIR stage is permissible or not and/or it is desirable or not, if any decision is required, the same is governed by the decision of this Court in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] .

11.1. While considering the larger question, whether police is duty-bound to register an FIR and/or it is mandatory for registration of FIR on receipt of information disclosing a cognizable offence and whether it is mandatory or the police officer has option, discretion or latitude of conducting preliminary enquiry before registering FIR, this Court in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] has observed that it is mandatory to register an FIR on receipt of information disclosing a cognizable offence and it is the general rule. However, while holding so, this Court has also considered the situations/cases in which preliminary enquiry is permissible/desirable. While holding that the registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary enquiry is permissible in such a situation and the same is the general rule and must be strictly complied with, this Court has carved out certain situations/cases in which the preliminary enquiry is held to be permissible/desirable before registering/lodging of an FIR. It is further observed that if the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary enquiry may be conducted to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not. It is observed that as to what type and in which cases the preliminary enquiry is to be conducted will depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case.

***

14. In the context of offences relating to corruption, in para 117 in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , this Court also took note of the decision of this Court in P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] in which case this Court expressed the need for a preliminary enquiry before proceeding against public servants.

***

15.1. Thus, an enquiry at pre-FIR stage is held to be permissible and not only permissible but desirable, more particularly in cases where the allegations are of misconduct of corrupt practice acquiring the assets/properties disproportionate to his known sources of income. After the enquiry/enquiry at pre-registration of FIR stage/preliminary enquiry, if, on the basis of the material collected during such enquiry, it is found that the complaint is vexatious and/or there is no substance at all in the complaint, the FIR shall not be lodged. However, if the material discloses prima facie a commission of the offence alleged, the FIR will be lodged and the criminal proceedings will be put in motion and the further investigation will be carried out in terms of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Therefore, such a preliminary enquiry would be permissible only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not and only thereafter FIR would be registered. Therefore, such a preliminary enquiry would be in the interest of the alleged accused also against whom the complaint is made.

15.2. Even as held by this Court in CBI v. Tapan Kumar Singh [CBI v. Tapan Kumar Singh, (2003) 6 SCC 175 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1305] , a GD entry recording the information by the informant disclosing the commission of a cognizable offence can be treated as FIR in a given case and the police has the power and jurisdiction to investigate the same. However, in an appropriate case, such as allegations of misconduct of corrupt practice by a public servant, before lodging the first information report and further conducting the investigation, if the preliminary enquiry is conducted to ascertain whether a cognizable offence is disclosed or not, no fault can be found. Even at the stage of registering the FIR, what is required to be considered is whether the information given discloses the commission of a cognizable offence and the information so lodged must provide a basis for the police officer to suspect the commission of a cognizable offence. At this stage, it is enough if the police officer on the basis of the information given suspects the commission of a cognizable offence, and not that he must be convinced or satisfied that a cognizable offence has been committed. Despite the proposition of law laid down by this Court in a catena of decisions that at the stage of lodging the first information report, the police officer need not be satisfied or convinced that a cognizable offence has been committed, considering the observations made by this Court inP. Sirajuddin [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] and considering the observations by this Court inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] before lodging the FIR, an enquiry is held and/or conducted after following the procedure as per Maharashtra State Anti-Corruption & Prohibition Intelligence Bureau Manual, it cannot be said that the same is illegal and/or the police officer, Anti-Corruption Bureau has no jurisdiction and/or authority and/or power at all to conduct such an enquiry at pre-registration of FIR stage."

(emphasis supplied)

26. Hence, all these decisions do not mandate that a preliminary enquiry must be conducted before the registration of an FIR in corruption cases. An FIR will not stand vitiated because a preliminary enquiry has not been conducted. The decision in Managipet [State of Telangana v. Managipet, (2019) 19 SCC 87 : (2020) 3 SCC (Cri) 702] dealt specifically with a case of disproportionate assets. In that context, the judgment holds that where relevant information regarding prima facie allegations disclosing a cognizable offence is available, the officer recording the FIR can proceed against the accused on the basis of the information without conducting a preliminary enquiry.

27. This conclusion is also supported by the judgment of another Constitution Bench in K. Veeraswami [K. Veeraswami v. Union of India, (1991) 3 SCC 655 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 734] . The judgment was in context of Section 5(1)(e) of the old Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947, which is similar to Section 13(1)(e) of the PC Act. It was argued that : (i) a public servant must be afforded an opportunity to explain the alleged disproportionate assets before an investigating officer; (ii) this must then be included and explained by the investigating officer while filing the charge-sheet; and (iii) the failure to do so would render the charge-sheet invalid. Rejecting this submission, the Constitution Bench held that doing so would elevate the investigating officer to the role of an enquiry officer or a Judge and that their role was limited only to collect material in order to ascertain whether the alleged offence has been committed by the public servant.

28. In his opinion for himself and Venkatachaliah, J., K. Jagannatha Shetty, J. held thus : (K. Veeraswami [K. Veeraswami v. Union of India, (1991) 3 SCC 655, para 75 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 734] , SCC p. 715, para 75)

"75. ... since the legality of the charge-sheet has been impeached, we will deal with that contention also. The counsel laid great emphasis on the expression "for which he cannot satisfactorily account" used in clause (e) of Section 5(1) of the Act. He argued that that term means that the public servant is entitled to an opportunity before the investigating officer to explain the alleged disproportionality between assets and the known sources of income. The investigating officer is required to consider his explanation and the charge-sheet filed by him must contain such averment. The failure to mention that requirement would vitiate the charge-sheet and renders it invalid. This submission, if we may say so, completely overlooks the powers of the investigating officer. The investigating officer is only required to collect material to find out whether the offence alleged appears to have been committed. In the course of the investigation, he may examine the accused. He may seek his clarification and if necessary he may cross check with him about his known sources of income and assets possessed by him. Indeed, fair investigation requires as rightly stated by Mr A.D. Giri, learned Solicitor General, that the accused should not be kept in darkness. He should be taken into confidence if he is willing to cooperate. But to state that after collection of all material the investigating officer must give an opportunity to the accused and call upon him to account for the excess of the assets over the known sources of income and then decide whether the accounting is satisfactory or not, would be elevating the investigating officer to the position of an enquiry officer or a Judge. The investigating officer is not holding an enquiry against the conduct of the public servant or determining the disputed issues regarding the disproportionality between the assets and the income of the accused. He just collects material from all sides and prepares a report which he files in the court as charge-sheet."

(emphasis supplied)

29. Therefore, since an accused public servant does not have a right to be afforded a chance to explain the alleged disproportionate assets to the investigating officer before the filing of a charge-sheet, a similar right cannot be granted to the accused before the filing of an FIR by making a preliminary enquiry mandatory.

.....

39. The precedents of this Court and the provisions of the CBI Manual make it abundantly clear that a preliminary enquiry is not mandatory in all cases which involve allegations of corruption. The decision of the Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] holds that if the information received discloses the commission of a cognizable offence at the outset, no preliminary enquiry would be required. It also clarified that the scope of a preliminary enquiry is not to check the veracity of the information received, but only to scrutinise whether it discloses the commission of a cognizable offence. Similarly, Para 9.1 of the CBI Manual notes that a preliminary enquiry is required only if the information (whether verified or unverified) does not disclose the commission of a cognizable offence. Even when a preliminary enquiry is initiated, it has to stop as soon as the officer ascertains that enough material has been collected which discloses the commission of a cognizable offence. A similar conclusion has been reached by a two-Judge Bench in Managipet [State of Telangana v. Managipet, (2019) 19 SCC 87 : (2020) 3 SCC (Cri) 702] as well. Hence, the proposition that a preliminary enquiry is mandatory is plainly contrary to law, for it is not only contrary to the decision of the Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] but would also tear apart the framework created by the CBI Manual.

40. This view is also supported by the decision of a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Union of India v. State of Maharashtra [Union of India v. State of Maharashtra, (2020) 4 SCC 761 : (2020) 2 SCC (Cri) 686] , which reversed the decision of a two-Judge Bench in Subhash Kashinath Mahajan v. Stateof Maharashtra [Subhash Kashinath Mahajan v. State of Maharashtra, (2018) 6 SCC 454 : (2018) 3 SCC (Cri) 124] which had, inter alia, held that "a preliminary enquiry may be conducted by the DSP concerned to find out whether the allegations make out a case under the [Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 ("the Atrocities Act")] and that the allegations are not frivolous or motivated". However, in the three-Judge Bench decision, it was held that such a direction was impermissible since neither CrPC nor the Atrocities Act mandate a preliminary inquiry. Arun Mishra, J. held : (Union of India case [Union of India v. State of Maharashtra, (2020) 4 SCC 761 : (2020) 2 SCC (Cri) 686] , SCC p. 801, para 68)

"68. The direction has also been issued that the DSP should conduct a preliminary inquiry to find out whether the allegations make out a case under the Atrocities Act, and that the allegations are not frivolous or motivated. In case a cognizable offence is made out, the FIR has to be outrightly registered, and no preliminary inquiry has to be made as held inLalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] by a Constitution Bench. There is no such provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure for preliminary inquiry or under the SC/ST Act, as such direction is impermissible. Moreover, it is ordered to be conducted by the person of the rank of DSP. The number of DSP as per stand of the Union of India required for such an exercise of preliminary inquiry is not available. The direction would mean that even if a complaint made out a cognizable offence, an FIR would not be registered until the preliminary inquiry is held. In case a preliminary inquiry concludes that allegations are false or motivated, FIR is not to be registered, in such a case how a final report has to be filed in the Court. Direction 79.4 cannot survive for the other reasons as it puts the members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in a disadvantageous position in the matter of procedure vis-a-vis to the complaints lodged by members of upper caste, for latter no such preliminary investigation is necessary. In that view of the matter it should not be necessary to hold preliminary inquiry for registering an offence under the Atrocities Act, 1989."

(emphasis supplied)

41. In a recent decision of a two-Judge Bench in Vinod Dua v. Union of India [Vinod Dua v. Union of India, (2023) 14 SCC 286 : 2021 SCC OnLine SC 414] , a direction of the Court was sought for requiring "that henceforth FIRs against persons belonging to the media with at least 10 years standing be not registered unless cleared by a committee?". In refusing such a prayer, the Court observed that doing so would be akin to instituting a preliminary inquiry which was not mandated by the statutory framework. U.U. Lalit, J. speaking for the Bench held : (Vinod Dua case [Vinod Dua v. Union of India, (2023) 14 SCC 286 : 2021 SCC OnLine SC 414] , SCC para 86)

"86. ... the directions issued in Subhash Kashinath Mahajan [Subhash Kashinath Mahajan v. State of Maharashtra, (2018) 6 SCC 454 : (2018) 3 SCC (Cri) 124] regarding holding of a preliminary inquiry were not found consistent with the statutory framework. The second prayer made in the writ petition is asking for the constitution of the Committee completely outside the scope of the statutory framework. Similar such exercise of directing constitution of a Committee was found inconsistent with the statutory framework in the decisions discussed above. ? Any relief granted in terms of second prayer would certainly, in our view, amount to encroachment upon the field reserved for the legislature. We have, therefore, no hesitation in rejecting the prayer and dismissing the writ petition to that extent."

42. In view of the above discussion, we hold that since the institution of a preliminary enquiry in cases of corruption is not made mandatory before the registration of an FIR under CrPC, the PC Act or even the CBI Manual, for this Court to issue a direction to that effect will be tantamount to stepping into the legislative domain. Hence, we hold that in case the information received by CBI, through a complaint or a "source information" under Chapter 8, discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, it can directly register a regular case instead of conducting a preliminary enquiry, where the officer is satisfied that the information discloses the commission of a cognizable offence."

23. So far as the argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner while placing reliance on the Explanation 1 of Section 13 (1) (b) of the Act, 1988 is concerned that the First Information Report can only be lodged under the provisions of the Act, 1988 where a public servant cannot satisfactorily account for the possession of pecuniary resources or disproportionate assets to his known sources of income, it would be apt to refer to Section 13 of the Act, 1988. For the sake of convenience, Section 13 of the Act, 1988 is reproduced as under:-

"13. Criminal misconduct by a public servant.

(1) A public servant is said to commit the offence of criminal misconduct,-

(a) if he dishonestly or fraudulently misappropriates or otherwise converts for his own use any property entrusted to him or any property under his control as a public servant or allows any other person so to do; or

(b) if he intentionally enriches himself illicitly during the period of his office.

Explanation 1. - A person shall be presumed to have intentionally enriched himself illicitly if he or any person on his behalf, is in possession of or has, at any time during the period of his office, been in possession of pecuniary resources or property disproportionate to his known sources of income which the public servant cannot satisfactorily account for.

Explanation 2. - The expression "known sources of income" means income received from any lawful sources.]

24. From a perusal of Section 13 of the Act, 1988 it emerges that the a public servant is said to commit an offence of criminal conduct if he dishonestly or fraudulently misappropriates or otherwise converts for his own use any property entrusted to him or any property under his control or allows any other person to do so or he intentionally enriches himself illicitly during the period of his office.

25. A perusal of Explanation 1 to Section 13 (1) (b) of the Act, 1988 indicates that a person shall be presumed to have intentionally enriched himself illicitly if he is in possession of pecuniary resources or property disproportionate to his known sources of income which the public servant cannot satisfactorily account for..

26. Argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner that as Explanation 1 to Section 13 (1) (b) of the Act, 1988 categorically provides that a person can only be presumed to have enriched himself or to be in possession of pecuniary resources in case he cannot satisfactorily account for the same and as such, an explanation of the public servant has to be taken prior to lodging of the First Information Report under Section 13 of the Act, 1988 is patently misconcieved. The reason is that apart from the fact that Explanation 1 does not indicate anywhere about a prior explanation and thus no words can be read in the statue when the same do not form part of statue. The other aspect is that the Apex Court in the case of K. Veeeraswami Vs. Union of India- (1991) 3 SCC 655 which judgment though was in the context of Section 5 (1) (e) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 yet the Apex Court was seized of a matter regarding the legality of the charge sheet which had been submitted without calling for the explanation or giving an opportunity to the public servant to explain the alleged disproportionality between the assets and known source of income. It was argued that the Investigating Officer was required to consider the explanation of the public servant and the charge sheet filed must contain such averment. The failure to mention the requirement would vitiate the charge sheet. The Apex Court negated the same by holding that the said submission completely overlooks the powers of Investigating Officer. The Apex Court held that the Investigating Officer is only required to collect the material to find out whether offence alleged appears to have been committed but to state that after collection of material, the Investigating Officer must given opportunity to the accused and call upon him to account for the excess of the assets over the known sources of income and then decide whether the accounting is satisfactory or not, would be elevating the Investigating Officer to the position of an inquiry officer or a judge.

27. For the sake of convenience, the relevant observations of the Apex Court in the case of K. Veeraswami (supra) are reproduced below:-

"75. .... since the legality of the charge-sheet has been impeached, we will deal with that contention also. The counsel laid great emphasis on the expression "for which he cannot satisfactorily account" used in clause (e) of Section 5(1) of the Act. He argued that that term means that the public servant is entitled to an opportunity before the investigating officer to explain the alleged disproportionality between assets and the known sources of income. The investigating officer is required to consider his explanation and the charge-sheet filed by him must contain such averment. The failure to mention that requirement would vitiate the charge-sheet and renders it invalid. This submission, if we may say so, completely overlooks the powers of the investigating officer. The investigating officer is only required to collect material to find out whether the offence alleged appears to have been committed. In the course of the investigation, he may examine the accused. He may seek his clarification and if necessary he may cross check with him about his known sources of income and assets possessed by him. Indeed, fair investigation requires as rightly stated by Mr A.D. Giri, learned Solicitor General, that the accused should not be kept in darkness. He should be taken into confidence if he is willing to cooperate. But to state that after collection of all material the investigating officer must give an opportunity to the accused and call upon him to account for the excess of the assets over the known sources of income and then decide whether the accounting is satisfactory or not, would be elevating the investigating officer to the position of an enquiry officer or a Judge. The investigating officer is not holding an enquiry against the conduct of the public servant or determining the disputed issues regarding the disproportionality between the assets and the income of the accused. He just collects material from all sides and prepares a report which he files in the court as charge-sheet."

28. The Apex Court in the case of Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra) after considering the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of K. Veeraswami (supra) categorically held that as an accused public servant does not have a right to be afforded a chance to explain the alleged disproportionate assets to the Investigating Officer before filing of a charge sheet, the similar right cannot be granted to the accused before filing of the First Information Report by making a preliminary inquiry mandatory.

29. From a perusal of the judgments of the Apex Court in the case of Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra), Sri Channakeshava. H.D (supra) & K. Veeraswami (supra) and the discussion made above it emerges that the Apex Court after considering the provisions of the Act, 1988 has categorically held that an accused public servant does not have any right to explain the alleged disproportionate assets before filing of the First Information Report.

30. In the instant case also though the writ Court vide order dated 09.10.2021 restrained the respondents from requiring the petitioner to furnish any information pertaining to assets and likewise, the inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 sent along with confidential letter dated 09.10.2024 has also categorically recorded that the explanation of the petitioner has not been taken with regard to disproportionate assets, however, the same will not and cannot resile from the settled proposition of law as laid down by the Apex court in the aforesaid judgments that the accused public servant does not have any right to explain the disproportionate assets prior to lodging of First Information Report. Thus even if the explanation of the petitioner has not been taken, the same would not vitiate the impugned First Information Report.

31. There is another aspect of the matter which has neither been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner nor by the learned AGA.

32. Perusal of the impugned First Information Report indicates that the impugned First Information Report has been lodged on the basis of findings in the open inquiry which has been conducted by the department in which it has been found that the petitioner has spent an amount of Rs. 55,00,000/- over and above his known source of income. The inquiry report dated 19.09.2024 is part of confidential letter dated 09.10.2024. It is this open inquiry which forms "source" on the basis of which the department has found that the petitioner is possessed of disproportionate assets. The said 'source report' is in fact a kind of preliminary inquiry in which the petitioner has been found to be having disproportionate assets. Thus, once the respondents were in fact having 'source report', as referred to above, consequently, the First Information Report having been lodged on the basis of 'source report', it cannot be said that the statement or version of the petitioner should have been taken prior to lodging of the impugned First Information Report. This aspect of the matter has been considered by the Apex Court in the case of Sri Channakeshava. H.D (supra) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:-

"15. In view of the above, it is clear that preliminary enquiry was not mandated in the present case, considering that detailed information was already there before the SP in the form of the source report referred above. We have also gone through the order passed by the SP, directing registration of FIR against respondent no.1, which reflects that the SP had passed that order on the basis of material placed before him in the form of the source report."

33. As regard the various interim orders that have been passed by this Court as indicated in detail above, suffice it to say that apart from the said orders being only interim orders, careful perusal of the said interim orders would indicate that none of the interim orders have considered the settled proposition of law as laid down by the Apex Court in the cases of Thommandru Hannah Vijaylakshmi (supra), Sri Channakeshava. H.D (supra) & K. Veeraswami (supra) and as such, the said interim orders will not have applicability in the facts of the instant case.

34. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussion, no case for interference is made out. Accordingly, the writ petition stands dismissed.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1081
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 12.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.
THE HON'BLE PRAMOD KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal U/S 372 CR.P.C. No. 63 of 2026

Ram Saran Tripathi ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to false pretext of marriage.

Headnotes

False pretext of marriage-Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 376 - accused committed rape on victim on several occasions under the false pretext of marriage-victim found major- at the time of alleged -victim herself went to the places- but during travel and after arriving at the spot-she did not make hue and cry- rooms in hotel were booked by the victim herself and money received in her account sent by the accused- physical relations established on different occasions were not based on force or under fear-were consensual – complainant (father) is not the eye witness - his evidence is hearsay evidence - no external injury found - no definite opinion with regard to commission of rape - injury is not sine qua non for deciding whether rape has been committed -testimony of the victim not of sterling quality- total variation in her version -view taken by the court below -logical view -Appeal dismissed.

Case Law Cited

1. Radhu v. State of M.P., (2007) 12 SCC 57
2. Raju v. State of M.P., (2008) 15 SCC 133
3. State of Punjab v. Gurmit Singh, (1996) 2 SCC 384
4. Kaini Rajan v. State of Kerala, (2013) 9 SCC 113
5. Deepak Gulati v. State of Haryana, (2013) 7 SCC 675
6. Rai Sandeep v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2012) 8 SCC 21

List of Acts

The Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

False pretext of marriage- consensual - did not make hue and cry - opportunity to escape - hearsay evidence - injury not sine qua non - false implication.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Shamshad Ahmad Khan
Counsel for Respondent(s) : G.A.,

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shamshad Ahmad Khan, learned counsel for the appellant and learned Additional Government Advocate for the State as well as perused the record.

2. The present appeal under Section 372 of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (herein-after referred to as "Cr.P.C.")/413 of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (herein-after referred to as BNSS,2023) has been filed against the judgment and order dated 17.03.2026 passed by the court of Additional Session Judge, F.T.C. Court-I, Lucknow, in Sessions Trial No. 1184 of 2022, State of U.P. Vs. Aryan Mishra, arising out of Case Crime No. 241 of 2022, under Sections 376, 506 IPC, Police Station Madiyaon, District Lucknow, thereby acquitting the opposite party No.2 from the charges under Sections 376, 506 of IPC.

3. The factual matrix of the case is that the complainant's daughter was befriended by a fellow student, namely, Aryan Mishra, who committed rape on her on several occasions under the false pretext of marriage. In September 2018, the accused invited the victim on the birthday party at a rented house of Aryan's friend, namely, Saurabh, where Aryan Mishra forcibly established physical relations with her and recorded obscene photographs and videos of the victim, which he later on used to blackmail and threaten her to viral the same via social media. These sexual assaults continued by the accused-Aryan Mishra at various locations between the year 2020 to 2022, in Risova Club on 7th of January, 2020, a hotel in Hazratganj on 16th of January, 2021, the Silver Hotel near Medanta Hospital in October and November of 2021 and the R. K. Grand Hotel on 10th of February, 2022. Throughout this period, the accused repeatedly established physical relations with the victim and in the FIR it is mentioned that the victim could not disclose the incident to any one due to chastity and social stigma, but thereafter after she eventually informed the incident to complainant who had filed a written Teharir at Police Station Madiyaon, District Lucknow. On the basis of written Teharir, a First Information Report (hereinafter referred as 'FIR' in short) against the accused-Aryan Mishra was lodged under Sections 376 and 506 of IPC

4. During the course of investigation, the Investigating Officer, visited the places of occurrence, prepared a site plan and recorded the statements of the witnesses. Following the investigation, a chargesheet against the accused-Aryan Mishra was submitted under Sections 506 and 376 of the IPC.

5. After taking cognizance, in compliance of the provisions under Section 207 of the Cr.P.C., the case was committed to the Court of Session from where it is made over to the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge (FTC-I), Lucknow for disposal according to law.

6. The trial Court framed the charges against the accused under Sections 506, 376 of IPC and read over and explained to him, the accused denied them and claimed to be tried.

7. In order to prove its case, the prosecution has adduced the ocular evidences of victim PW-1, Ram Saran Tripathi PW-2, the complainant, Dr. Smita Rai PW-3, Shiv Prakash Soni PW-4, Ramakant PW-5, SI Anil Kumar Singh PW-6 and SI Safatullah PW-7.

8. The prosecution has adduced the documentary evidences which are statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 of Cr.P.C. Exhibit Ka-1, teharir Exhibit Ka-2, medico legal and supplementary report Exhibit Ka-3, photocopy of hotel entry register Exhibit Ka-4, chargesheet Exhibit Ka-5, Chik FIR Exhibit Ka-6, copy of GD entry Exhibit Ka-7 and site plan Exhibit ka-8.

9. After closure of the prosecution evidence, statement of accused-Aryan Mishra under section 313 of the Cr.P.C. was recorded, in which accused denied all the evidences and attending circumstances emerged out in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

10. At the stage of defence evidence, the acccused-Aryan Mishra himself was examined as DW-1, Amit Mishra as DW-2, Komal Mishra as DW-3, Shraddha Prakash as DW-4, Constable Pawan Kumar Verma as DW-5 and Dharmendra Singh as DW-6.

11. After having heard learned counsel for both the parties, learned trial court found that prosecution has miserably failed to prove the charge leveled against the accused person. Consequently, the accused person, Aryan Mishra has been acquitted for the charges leveled against him.

12. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment and order of the acquittal dated 17.03.2026, this criminal appeal has been preferred on the ground that the learned trial court had not considered the facts, evidence and circumstances in correct perspective and passed the impugned judgment and order in arbitrary and mechanical manner. The statement given by the victim to Investigating Officer as well as before the learned Magistrate are unblemished and there is no material contradictions in the victim's testimony before the court. Defence plea raised by the defence with regard to the false implication was not substantiated by any cogent and reliable evidence. The Hotel entry register also supports the presence of the accused with the victim. He asserts that the accused repeatedly established physical relations under fear and threat and contends that there is a manifest error in the finding of the trial court which are perverse and not in consonance with law. He contends that there is ample evidence to prove guilt of the accused for the charges levelled against him. Despite the above, the learned trial court ignored these facts and passed the judgment in a hyper-technical manner, resulting in a grave miscarriage of justice. Consequently, he concludes that the judgment of acquittal is liable to be quashed, the appeal is liable to be allowed and the accused-respondent is liable to be convicted.

13. We have heard learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA for the State.

14. The question for determination before us is whether the trial court erred in acquitting the accused person under the above mentioned sections.

15. Before delving into facts of the present case we may delve into the law laid down in this regard. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Radhu v. State of M.P., (2007) 12 SCC 57 has observed that:-

"6. It is now well settled that a finding of guilt in a case of rape, can be based on the uncorroborated evidence of the prosecutrix. The very nature of offence makes it difficult to get direct corroborating evidence. The evidence of the prosecutrix should not be rejected on the basis of minor discrepancies and contradictions. If the victim of rape states on oath that she was forcibly subjected to sexual intercourse, her statement will normally be accepted, even if it is uncorroborated, unless the material on record requires drawing of an inference that there was consent or that the entire incident was improbable or imaginary. Even if there is consent, the act will still be a "rape", if the girl is under 16 years of age. It is also well settled that absence of injuries on the private parts of the victim will not by itself falsify the case of rape, nor construed as evidence of consent. Similarly, the opinion of a doctor that there was no evidence of any sexual intercourse or rape, may not be sufficient to disbelieve the accusation of rape by the victim. Bruises, abrasions and scratches on the victim especially on the forearms, wrists, face, breast, thighs and back are indicative of struggle and will support the allegation of sexual assault. The courts should, at the same time, bear in mind that false charges of rape are not uncommon. There have also been rare instances where a parent has persuaded a gullible or obedient daughter to make a false charge of a rape either to take revenge or extort money or to get rid of financial liability. Whether there was rape or not would depend ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case."

16. The prosecution has examined three witnesses to establish the facts of the case, one is complainant, Ram Saran Tripathi PW-2 who deposed that first incident had taken place in the wake of year, 2018 with his daughter, who is aged about 23 years. The Accused-Aryan Mishra was living in a rented house and nearby his frined Saurabh was also staying in a rented house, where the victim was called in a birthday party of accused Aryan Mishra and there the accused Aryan Mishra forcibly established physical relation with the victim and recorded her obscene videos and photographs. He further deposed that on the pointing of photographs and video clips, the accused blackmailed the victim and under this fear in different places and different dates i.e. on 07.01.2020 at Risova Club, on 16.01.2021 in a hotel at Hazaratganj, in October and November, 2021 in Hotel Silver and on 10.02.20222 at Hotel R.K. Grand, the accused called the victim, established physical relations with her forcibly. But in respect of the alleged incident occurred in previous several dates and several places, the victim did not disclose to the complainant earlier. Lastly, when the victim told the incident to the complainant, he lodged the FIR against the accused on 21.04.2021. Thus, from the testimony of the complainant, it reflects that he is not the eye witness of alleged incident and whatever he has disclosed in the FIR is based on the information given by the victim. Thus his evidence is hearsay evidence which has no significance in the eye of law.

17. Another witness of fact, namely, Shiv Prakash Soni, PW-4 has stated that he has brought the guest entry register of Hotel Risova Club, on which at Serial No. 10 on 07.01.2020, entry of the victim alongwith the accused Aryan Mishra was made. Thereafter, they checked out on the same day at 02:30 p.m.

18. Another witness of fact, namely, Ramakant PW-5, who was manager of the R.K. Grand Hotel, IIM Road, Bhitauli, Lucknow, on the basis of guest entry register, had stated that on 10.02.2022 accused-Aryan Mishra and the victim checked in his hotel at 12:15 p.m. and room no. 203 was allotted to them and on the same day at 05:30 p.m. they checked out.

19. From the above evidence, it reflects that the victim alongwith the accused-Aryan Mishra stayed in those hotels in a room but the testimony of the said witness does not reflect that the victim was forcibly accompanied with the accused, otherwise at the time of checking entry into the room, she definitely would have made resistance. Here it is also more surprising that the victim had received the money in her account, sent by the accused and it is also established that rooms in hotel were booked by the victim herself. Now the question arises that when the victim herself booked the room in hotel where she stayed with the accused and physical relations were established between them, then how it can be said that it was without her willingness and consent.

20. Now the testimony of the victim remains, who is the star witness of the case and her testimony is on higher pedestal other than prosecution witnesses because she is the suffer of the case.

21. In this regard the Hon'ble Supreme in the case of Raju v. State of M.P., (2008) 15 SCC 133 has observed as under:

"10. The aforesaid judgments lay down the basic principle that ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix should not be suspected and should be believed, more so as her statement has to be evaluated on a par with that of an injured witness and if the evidence is reliable, no corroboration is necessary. Undoubtedly, the aforesaid observations must carry the greatest weight and we respectfully agree with them, but at the same time they cannot be universally and mechanically applied to the facts of every case of sexual assault which comes before the court.

11. It cannot be lost sight of that rape causes the greatest distress and humiliation to the victim but at the same time a false allegation of rape can cause equal distress, humiliation and damage to the accused as well. The accused must also be protected against the possibility of false implication, particularly where a large number of accused are involved. It must, further, be borne in mind that the broad principle is that an injured witness was present at the time when the incident happened and that ordinarily such a witness would not tell a lie as to the actual assailants, but there is no presumption or any basis for assuming that the statement of such a witness is always correct or without any embellishment or exaggeration.

12. Reference has been made in Gurmit Singh case [(1996) 2 SCC 384 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 316] to the amendments in 1983 to Sections 375 and 376 of the Penal Code making the penal provisions relating to rape more stringent, and also to Section 114-A of the Evidence Act with respect to a presumption to be raised with regard to allegations of consensual sex in a case of alleged rape. It is however significant that Sections 113-A and 113-B too were inserted in the Evidence Act by the same amendment by which certain presumptions in cases of abetment of suicide and dowry death have been raised against the accused. These two sections, thus, raise a clear presumption in favour of the prosecution but no similar presumption with respect to rape is visualised as the presumption under Section 114-A is extremely restricted in its applicability. This clearly shows that insofar as allegations of rape are concerned, the evidence of a prosecutrix must be examined as that of an injured witness whose presence at the spot is probable but it can never be presumed that her statement should, without exception, be taken as the gospel truth. Additionally, her statement can, at best, be adjudged on the principle that ordinarily no injured witness would tell a lie or implicate a person falsely. We believe that it is under these principles that this case, and others such as this one, need to be examined."

22. The whole testimony of the prosecution witnesses rests on the testimony of a star witness i.e. the victim PW-1, who deposed that her date of birth is 29.08.1998, thus she was found major at the time of alleged incident. She further deposed that in the wake of year, 2018 in September, the accued-Aryan called her and committed rape on her, at the instance of getting video clip viral. She has stated that the accused forcibly established physical relation with her but there is no evidence to the effect that she ever made any struggle to get rid of his control or she raised any alarm to attract the attention of public. Similarly, she has stated that on 7th of January, 2020, the accused called her to the Hotel Risova situated at Sitapur Road, Lucknow and therein he committed rape on her but no iota of evidence that she made any resistance. She also stated that in the wake of January 16, 2021, again the accused called her to Hazratganj and thereafter on 10th of February, 2022, again accused called her at the Hotel R.K. Grand, wherein he committed rape on her.

23. Here it is to be notable that at all the occasions, the victim herself went to the places as she stated, but during travel and after arriving at the spot, she did not make hue and cry. It is also very surprising that she had admitted that she had received the money in her account which was sent by the accused and she also admitted that in the hotel, she herself booked the room. This is not a statement of the victim that at the time of booking of a room in the hotel, the accused compelled her to book the room in the hotel in her name.

24. In this regard, PW-4 Shiv Prakash Soni has stated that the victim and the accused, Aryan, came to his hotel and the victim had booked the room in the hotel and as per the guest entry register of the hotel, the victim was the main guest who had booked the room. It is also notable that in the Hotel R. K. Grand, the victim and the accused both stayed on 10.02.2022 from 12:15 p.m. to 05:30 p.m. All these above circumstances indicate that if the accused forcefully had established physical relations with the victim on different occasions, then there was ample opportunity for her to escape from the spot and to seek the help from others, but she did not take any recourse which might be available to her.

25. In the case of Kaini Rajan Vs. State of Kerala reported in [(2013)9 SCC 113], Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"Section 375 IPC defines the expression "rape", which indicates that the first clause operates, where the woman is in possession of her senses, and therefore, capable of consenting but the act is done against her will. The expression "against her will" means that the act must have been done in spite of the opposition of the woman. "Consent", for the purpose of Section 375, requires voluntary participation not only after the exercise of intelligence based on the knowledge of the significance and moral quality of the act but after having fully exercised of choice between resistance and assent. Whether there was consent or not, is to be ascertained only on a careful study of all relevant circumstances. An interference as to consent can be drawn if only based on evidence or probabilities of the case."

26. Keeping in view the law propounded by Hon'ble Apex Court and perusal of the material available on record, it reveals that the prosecutrix had previously acquaintance with the accused. The place of the alleged incident and time is also relevant. If she had made any semblance of resistance or made any hue and cry, it would have attracted a large number of people from the way and locality of the hotels.

27. It is true that the version of the victim of rape commands great respect and acceptability but, if there are some circumstances which cast some doubt in the mind of the court of the veracity of the victim's evidence, then, it is not safe to rely on the uncorroborated version of the victim of rape.

28. In the case of Deepak Gulati Vs. State of Haryana reported in [(2013) 7 SCC 675], Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

There is a clear distinction between rape and consensual sex and in a case like this, the court must very carefully examine whether the accused had actually wanted to marry the victim, or had mala fide motives, and had made a false promise to this effect only to satisfy his lust, as the latter falls within the ambit of cheating or deception. An accused can be convicted for rape only if the court reaches a conclusion that the intention of the accused was mala fide, and that he had clandestine motives. There is a distinction between the mere breach of a promise, and not fulfilling a false promise. There must be adequate evidence to show that at the relevant time i.e. at the initial stage itself, the accused had no intention whatsoever, of keeping his promise to marry the victim. There may be a case where the prosecutrix agrees to have sexual intercourse on account of her love and passion for the accused, and not solely on account of misrepresentation made to her by the accused, or where an accused on account of circumstances which he could not have foreseen, or which were beyond his control, was unable to marry her, despite having every intention to do so. Such cases must be treated differently. The "failure to keep a promise made with respect to a future uncertain date, due to reasons that are not very clear from the evidence available, does not always amount to misconception of fact. In order to come within the meaning of the term misconception of fact, the fact must have an immediate relevance". Section 90 IPC cannot be called into aid in such a situation, to pardon the act of a girl in entirety, and fasten criminal liability on the other, unless the court is assured of the fact that from the very beginning, the accused had never really intended to marry her.″

29. Prosecution has adduced the evidence of medical expert Dr. Smita Rai as PW-3, who deposed that in the medico legal examination, no external injury was found on the person of the victim. In internal examination of the victim, the hymen was found raptured and old. No spermatozoa or gonococci were found and on that basis no definite opinion with regard to commission of rape could not be given.

30. Thus, the statement of the victim is not substantiated with the medical evidence also.

31. It is true that the injury is not sine qua non for deciding whether rape has been committed, but it has to be decided on the factual matrix of each case. As Hon′ble Apex Court has observed in many of the cases that if there is a sole testimony of the prosecutrix, then it should be of a sterling quality.

32. While considering the evidentiary value of the testimony of the prosecutrix, Hon′ble Apex Court in the case of Rai Sandeep Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) reported in [(2012) 8 SCC 21] has observed that:

"In our considered opinion, the ″sterling witness″ should be of a very high quality and calibre whose version should, therefore, be unassailable. The court considering the version of such witness should be in a position to accept it for its face value without any hesitation. To test the quality of such a witness, the status of the witness would be immaterial and what would be relevant is the truthfulness of the statement made by such a witness. What would be more relevant would be the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time when the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately before the court. It should be natural and consistent with the case of the prosecution qua the accused. There should not be any prevarication in the version of such a witness. The witness should be in a position to withstand the cross-examination of any length and howsoever strenuous it may be and under no circumstance should give room for any doubt as to the factum of the occurrence, the persons involved, as well as the sequence of it. Such a version should have co-relation with each and every one of other supporting material such as the recoveries made, the weapons used, the manner of offence committed, the scientific evidence and the expert opinion. The said version should consistently match with the version of every other witness. It can even be stated that it should be akin to the test applied in the case of circumstantial evidence where there should not be any missing link in the chain of circumstances to hold the accused guilty of the offence alleged against him. Only if the version of such a witness qualifies the above test as well as all other such similar tests to be applied, can it be held that such a witness can be called as a "sterling witness" whose version can be accepted by the court without any corroboration and based on which the guilty can be punished. To be more precise, the version of the said witness on the core spectrum of the crime should remain intact while all other attendant materials, namely, oral, documentary and material objects should match the said version in material particulars in order to enable the court trying the offence to rely on the core version to sieve the other supporting materials for holding the offender guilty of the charge alleged."

33. On the anvil of the above principles, when we test the version of the victim, PW-1, we find that unfortunately, the said witness has failed to pass any of the tests mentioned above. There is a total variation in her version from what was stated in the FIR and what was deposed before the court. There are material contradictions with regard to the complicity of the accused person. When we consider the testimony of the prosecutrix on its face value, we find the evidence to be defective, as from the circumstances revealed from her testimony, it indicate that physical relationship which were established on different occasions, were not based on force or under fear, but that were consensual.

34. The accused Aryan Mishra examined as DW-1, who had given the evidence with regard to arresting, whereas another defence witness, Amit Mishra, DW-2 has also given the evidence with regard to arresting of the accused-Aryan Mishra, wherein he has stated that accused-Aryan was taken by the police personnel on 20.04.2022, while his arrest was demonstrated from some other place and time.

35. Another defence witness, namely, Komal Singh was examined as DW-3 who has stated that accused-Aryan Mishra was her common friend who was given in police custody by the victim's father after beating him. Thus, from the prosecution version and testimony of the prosecutrix as well as other witnesses of fact, they did not inspire the confidence.

36. In any case, as we have already stated that the testimony of prosecutrix does not inspire confidence, under these circumstances, we are not inclined to interfere with the well considered judgment of the trial court.

37. Further, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out any illegality or infirmity in the judgment and order of acquittal passed in favour of respondent which is before this Court.

38. Keeping in view the aforesaid weakness of the prosecution case, as noted by the court below, we are of the view that the view taken by the court below was a probable and logical view, which is based on valid reasons. The judgment of the trial court cannot be said to be illegal, illogical and improbable and not based on material on record or is based on erroneous views and is against the settled position of law. So, this Court is satisfied that there is absolutely no hope of success in this appeal and accordingly, no interference is called for.

39. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed.

40. No order as to costs.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1090
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 21.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.
THE HON'BLE PRAMOD KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal U/S 372 CR.P.C. No. 64 of 2026

Informant/Complainant (Vicitim X) ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the trial court erred in acquitting the accused of the offences under Ss. 342, 366, 376 and 506 IPC and whether the prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt based on the testimony of the prosecutrix, warranting interference with the judgment of acquittal. (Paras 11, 12, 20-26).

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Appeal against Acquittal - Scope of interference - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - S. 372 - Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - S. 413 - Whether the judgment of acquittal warranted interference - Appellate Court to examine whether the view taken by the trial court was illegal, illogical, improbable or based on erroneous appreciation of evidence - Trial court's view held to be a probable and logical view based on valid reasons and not suffering from any illegality or infirmity - Appeal dismissed. (Paras 11, 24-26).

Criminal Law - Rape - Appreciation of evidence of prosecutrix - Indian Penal Code - Ss. 342, 366, 376 and 506 - Conviction can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix provided such testimony inspires confidence and is of sterling quality - Testimony of the prosecutrix must be carefully scrutinised where conviction rests solely upon it - In the present case, material contradictions, inconsistencies and variations rendered the testimony incapable of inspiring absolute confidence - Acquittal upheld. (Paras 12, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21).

Evidence - Sole testimony of prosecutrix - Evidentiary value - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Prosecutrix stands on the footing of an injured witness but her evidence cannot be mechanically accepted as the gospel truth - Court must examine whether the testimony remains natural, consistent and trustworthy throughout - On facts, the prosecutrix failed to satisfy the test of a sterling witness and her evidence was found defective - Conviction could not be founded solely thereon. (Paras 16, 20, 21).

Evidence - Contradictions and conduct of prosecutrix - Indian Penal Code - Ss. 366 and 376 - Material contradictions between the FIR, statement under S. 164 CrPC and deposition before the Court coupled with failure to raise alarm during travel and prolonged stay with the accused materially affected the credibility of the prosecution version - Prosecution failed to establish guilt beyond reasonable doubt. (Paras 17-23).

Evidence - Medical evidence - Corroborative value - Indian Penal Code - S. 376 - Absence of injuries is not by itself decisive in a rape case but where the sole testimony of the prosecutrix does not inspire confidence and medical evidence does not corroborate the allegation, the prosecution case becomes doubtful - Benefit of doubt rightly extended. (Para 20).

Evidence - Hearsay evidence - Appreciation - Statement of witness based solely on information received from the prosecutrix - Such testimony has no testimonial value as an eye-witness account - Another witness having resiled from his previous statement also failed to support the prosecution - Prosecution case rested substantially on the testimony of the prosecutrix alone. (Paras 13-15).

Held: Though it is well settled that conviction in a case of rape can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix and that her evidence, being in the nature of an injured witness, is attributed a very high value, the testimony must nevertheless inspire confidence and be of sterling quality - The testimony of the prosecutrix in the present case failed to inspire absolute confidence as there were material contradictions between the FIR, the statement under S. 164 CrPC and the deposition before the Court and there was total variation in her version regarding the manner in which the occurrence took place - Her conduct in not raising any alarm during the journey from the place of occurrence to the railway station and thereafter to Delhi and Chandigarh and in making no endeavour to escape or seek help materially affected the credibility of the prosecution case - The testimony of the other witnesses did not lend support to the prosecution as one witness was only a hearsay witness and another did not support the prosecution case - Medical evidence also did not corroborate the allegation of rape and on the anvil of the settled principles the prosecutrix failed to satisfy the test of a sterling witness - The view taken by the trial court was a probable and logical view based on valid reasons and the judgment of acquittal could not be said to be illegal illogical improbable or based on erroneous appreciation of evidence - No illegality or infirmity having been shown in the judgment of acquittal no interference was called for and the appeal was liable to be dismissed – appeal dismissed. (Paras 12-26). (E-7)

Case Law Cited

Radhu v. State of M.P., (2007) 12 SCC 57; Raju v. State of M.P.,* (2008) 15 SCC 133; Gurmit Singh case* [(1996) 2 SCC 384: 1996 SCC (Cri) 316]; Rai Sandeep v. State (NCT of Delhi),* (2012) 8 SCC 21.*

List of Acts

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973; Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023; Indian Penal Code,1860; Indian Evidence Act, 1872

List of Keywords

Appeal against acquittal; rape; prosecutrix; sole testimony of prosecutrix; sterling witness; appreciation of evidence; contradictions; material variations; hearsay evidence; medical evidence; burden of proof; benefit of doubt; acquittal; testimony not inspiring confidence; beyond reasonable doubt.

Case Arising From

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Appeal arising from the judgment and order dated 26.03.2026 passed by the Court of Additional Session Judge, F.T.C. First, Ambedkar Nagar, in Sessions Trial No. 104 of 2023, arising out of FIR No./Case Crime No. 65 of 2023, acquitting the accused of the charges under Ss. 342, 366, 376 and 506 IPC.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:
Sri Shiv Shankar Verma.
Advs. for the Respondents:
Learned A.G.A. for the State.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shiv Shankar Verma, learned counsel for the appellant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present appeal under Section 372 of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (herein-after referred to as "CrPC")/413 of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (herein-after referred to as BNSS,2023) has been filed against the judgment and order dated 26.03.2026 passed by the court of Additional Session Judge, F.T.C. First, Ambedkar Nagar, in Sessions Trial No. 104 of 2023, State Vs. Amit Shahani, arising out of FIR No./Case Crime No. 65 of 2023, under Sections 342, 364, 366, 376, 506 and 120-B of the Indian Penal Code (herein-after referred as IPC), Police Station Zalalpur, District Ambedkar Nagar and charge-sheet filed under Sections 342, 366, 376 and 506 IPC, Police Station Zalalpur, District Ambedkar Nagar acquitting the opposite party No.2 from the charges under Sections 342, 366, 376 and 506 I.P.C.

3. Brief facts of the case are that on 23.01.2023, in the afternoon, the younger son of In @ Indrawati, daughter of Rambali, who lives next door to the victim had come to call her. Upon reaching there, Suman, wife of Kantraj, resident of the same village and aunt of Amit Shahani(accused) was also sitting with Indrawati and talking. When the appellant approached them, they said, 'Let's go towards the forest because my stomach is upset'.

All three of them went towards the forest, about 300 meters east of Indrawati's house at approximately 3:00 PM. As they reached the path leading to the forest, Amit Shahani, son of Sant Ram and Sujeet Kumar, son of Ghanshu stepped out of a Bolero car. There were two other people sitting inside whom the appellant could not recognize. Indrawati and Suman said , 'See, we have brought her', after which they grabbed the victim and forced her into the car. When she tried to scream, Sujeet Kumar pressed the pistol against the victim's chest and threatened to kill her and her family. Out of fear for her and her family's life she remained silent.

The appellant was then taken to Akbarpur Railway Station where she was again threatened by Sujeet Kumar and Amit Shahani and forced to sit quietly in the train out of fear. At 8:00 PM the train arrived, and they boarded the train with her. In the morning, they took her to Delhi, and from there, on January 24, 2023, they took her to Kaithal, Chandigarh by bus. They arrived there at night and took her to a room where Vijay Kumar, also known as Havaldar (son of Purnmasi, resident of Sakalfiya, Police Station Katka, District Ambedkar Nagar), who is Amit's uncle, also arrived. After threatening her and asking her to stay in the room for the safety of her and her family, Sujeet Kumar and Vijay Kumar left. Amit Shahani stayed in the room with the victim that night and raped her.

On the morning of January 25, 2023, Sujeet Kumar threatened the victim by saying that he was going home and the appellant should not create any drama or the consequences will be very bad after which in the evening Amit again raped the victim. In this manner, Vijay Kumar would come every morning, and both Vijay and Amit would lock the victim in the room and go somewhere and in the evening Amit would forcibly make sexual relationship with her. On January 31, 2023, both of them told the victim to sign a paper that had something written in english. When she refused, they beat her up and forced her to sign it and again threatened to kill her and her family.

Following this, on February 10, 2023, Vijay Kumar and Amit Shahani took the victim to another room in the same city. They called another person and, after beating her again, forcibly performed a 'marriage' with Amit. They did not allow her to read a paper written in Hindi and forced her to sign it. They took her photo and Amit forcibly put vermilion (sindoor) on her hair, making photos and videos of it. After this, they brought her back to the old room where they used to keep her locked and said that the work is solid now.

After this when the victim heard them talking to Indrawati and Sujeet Kumar over the phone, saying that the work is done, customers are looking at her and as soon as a customer is found, they will sell her and give Indrawati and Sujeet their share. When the victim found out they were going to sell her, then on February 14, 2023, while Amit was in the room and fell asleep in the afternoon, she took the opportunity at about 12:00 PM and left the room after taking his mobile and latched the door from outside.

After going some distance, she called her father′s mobile from that same phone. Later, her brother-in-law called. She also called the police from there, but did not receive a clear response. A ragpicker standing nearby heard her conversation and insisted on helping her. After this, the ragpicker spoke to her father and brother-in-law. Her father told the ragpicker to help the appellant/victim board on a tempo going toward Sector 22. The ragpicker helped her onto the tempo. Upon reaching there, her brother-in-law told her that a friend of her brother, Ketan Kumar, was arriving and that she should go with him. After that when she went her brother′s friend′s house, her brother Ketan Kumar, who lives in Bangalore, arrived in Chandigarh by plane at about 1:00 AM and left for home with her on the morning of February 15, 2023.

After reaching home, the victim′s health deteriorated significantly. Local doctors treated her, but when she didn't recover, her family took her to Atraulia Government Hospital for treatment. Upon recovering, she went to the police station to get the FIR lodged.

4. After lodging of the F.I.R. the Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as IO) conducted the investigation, visited the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan, recorded the statement of witnesses and got the victim medically examined and after concluding the investigation submitted a chargesheet against the accused, Amit Shahani, under Sections 342, 366, 376, and 506 of the IPC.

5. After furnishing the necessary documents under Section 207 of the CrPC, the case was committed to the Court of Session from where it was made over to Additional Session Judge, F.T.C. First, Ambedkar Nagar for trial. On 19.08.2023, charges were framed against the accused Amit Shahani under Sections 366, 342, 376, and 506 of the IPC which the accused denied and pleaded for a trial.

6. In order to prove its case, the prosecution adduced ocular evidence of Prosecution Witness (PW) 1 - Victim, PW 2 - Sikandar, PW 3 - Sati Prasad, PW 4 - Dr. Sarita Prasad, PW 5 - Vindresh

Kumar, PW 6 - Arvind Kumar Singh, PW 7 - Sant Kumar Singh, PW 8 - Ashok Kumar Singh, PW 9 - Dr. P.N. Yadav, and PW 10 - Surendra Bahadur and also proved documentary evidence: Complaint (Ex. Ka-1), Certificate issued by Smt. Kalpa Devi Adarsh Inter College (Ex. Ka-2), Statement of the victim under Section 164 CrPC (Ex. Ka-3), Affidavit paper no. 6A/46 to 6A/47 (Ex. Ka-3), Medical report of the victim (Ex. Ka-4), Affidavit paper no. 6A/53 (Ex. Ka-5), Check FIR (Ex. Ka-6), G.D. Entry (Ex. Ka-7), Charge sheet (Ex. Ka-8), Site map (Ex. Ka-9), X-ray report (Ex. Ka-10), and Age certificate (Ex. Ka-10).

7. After closing the evidence of prosecution, statement of accused person under Section 313 of the CrPC was recorded. Accused person denied all the evidence and attending circumstances, that arose during the testimony of witnesses. At the state of defence, a photocopy of the order dated 06.02.2023 from the High Court of Punjab and Haryana in CRWP-1139/2023 (Upasana & Ors. vs. State of Punjab & Ors.), and eight photographs were submitted. Since the marriage certificate and the High Court order were photocopies, they were considered inadmissible in evidence and the photographs had also not been proved as evidence.

8. After hearing and on perusal of the record, learned trial court observed that testimony of the victim is not of a sterling quality. There is material contradiction in the statement of the victim and other witnesses of fact, which is not in consonance with the medical evidence.

9. Prosecution miserably failed to establish it′s case beyond reasonable doubt, consequently, learned trial Court acquitted the accused-respondent No.2 for charges leveled against him, vide the impugned judgment dated 26.03.2026

10. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment and order, the petitioner-victim has preferred this criminal appeal on the ground that learned trial court did not consider the facts and circumstances and evidence of the victim in right perspective. There is no material contradictions and discrepancies in the prosecution witnesses despite of the fact, learned trial court failed to appreciate the testimony of the witnesses. The victim had lodged FIR on the basis of true facts and independent witnesses have been produced in support of the prosecution version. The case was registered against eight accused persons while the IO has filed charge-sheet against only one accused Amit Shahani. By way of adducing the evidence, prosecution has established the charge leveled against the accused/respondent thus the finding with regard to the acquittal is perverse, which is liable to be set aside and present appeal is liable to be allowed.

11. The question for determination before us is whether the trial court erred in acquitting the accused person under the above mentioned sections.

12. Before delving into facts of the present case we may delve into the law laid down in this regard. The Hon′ble Apex Court in the case of Radhu v. State of M.P., (2007) 12 SCC 57 has observed that:-

"6. It is now well settled that a finding of guilt in a case of rape, can be based on the uncorroborated evidence of the prosecutrix. The very nature of offence makes it difficult to get direct corroborating evidence. The evidence of the prosecutrix should not be rejected on the basis of minor discrepancies and contradictions. If the victim of rape states on oath that she was forcibly subjected to sexual intercourse, her statement will normally be accepted, even if it is uncorroborated, unless the material on record requires drawing of an inference that there was consent or that the entire incident was improbable or imaginary. Even if there is consent, the act will still be a 'rape', if the girl is under 16 years of age. It is also well settled that absence of injuries on the private parts of the victim will not by itself falsify the case of rape, nor construed as evidence of consent. Similarly, the opinion of a doctor that there was no evidence of any sexual intercourse or rape, may not be sufficient to disbelieve the accusation of rape by the victim. Bruises, abrasions and scratches on the victim especially on the forearms, wrists, face, breast, thighs and back are indicative of struggle and will support the allegation of sexual assault. The courts should, at the same time, bear in mind that false charges of rape are not uncommon. There have also been rare instances where a parent has persuaded a gullible or obedient daughter to make a false charge of a rape either to take revenge or extort money or to get rid of financial liability. Whether there was rape or not would depend ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case."

13. The prosecution has examined three witnesses with regard to establishing the facts of the case, one of them Sikandar who was examined as PW-2 and in his testimony he deposed that on 23.1.2023 when the incident happened, a missing report was lodged and endeavor to trace the victim continued. On 14.02.2023, the victim made a call on phone to someone telling him that accused Amit Shahani forcibly took her to Chandigarh Kaithal and then younger brother of the witness Sikander went there and brought her on 15.02.2023. Thereafter second set of incident had occurred and the victim was again taken away by the accused along with the co-accused forcibly, where accused respondent Amit Shahani committed rape on her.

14. On his cross-examination this witness specifically stated that at the time of incident he remained present at Puna and his father had told him the whole prosecution story. He also admitted that he did not see the incident through his naked eye, whatever he has deposed was based on the information given by his victim sister. Thus the testimony of this witness reveals that he is not an eye-witness. His statement is based on the information given by his victim sister, thus his testimony is heresay, which does not have testimonial value in the eyes of law.

15. Other witness of the fact who is Sati Prasad, examined as PW-3 also resiled from his statement given to the IO and has stated that he had heard that the victim had gone on her own accord. Thus this witness also did not support the prosecution case. Now the testimony of the victim remains, who is the star witness of the case and her testimony is on higher pedestal other than prosecution witnesses because she is the sufferer of the case.

16. In this regard the Hon'ble Supreme in the case of Raju v. State of M.P., (2008) 15 SCC 133 has observed as under:

"10. The aforesaid judgments lay down the basic principle that ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix should not be suspected and should be believed, more so as her statement has to be evaluated on a par with that of an injured witness and if the evidence is reliable, no corroboration is necessary. Undoubtedly, the aforesaid observations must carry the greatest weight and we respectfully agree with them, but at the same time they cannot be universally and mechanically applied to the facts of every case of sexual assault which comes before the court.

11. It cannot be lost sight of that rape causes the greatest distress and humiliation to the victim but at the same time a false allegation of rape can cause equal distress, humiliation and damage to the accused as well. The accused must also be protected against the possibility of false implication, particularly where a large number of accused are involved. It must, further, be borne in mind that the broad principle is that an injured witness was present at the time when the incident happened and that ordinarily such a witness would not tell a lie as to the actual assailants, but there is no presumption or any basis for assuming that the statement of such a witness is always correct or without any embellishment or exaggeration.

12. Reference has been made in Gurmit Singh case [(1996) 2 SCC 384 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 316] to the amendments in 1983 to Sections 375 and 376 of the Penal Code making the penal provisions relating to rape more stringent, and also to Section 114-A of the Evidence Act with respect to a presumption to be raised with regard to allegations of consensual sex in a case of alleged rape. It is however significant that Sections 113-A and 113-B too were inserted in the Evidence Act by the same amendment by which certain presumptions in cases of abetment of suicide and dowry death have been raised against the accused. These two sections, thus, raise a clear presumption in favour of the prosecution but no similar presumption with respect to rape is visualised as the presumption under Section 114-A is extremely restricted in its applicability. This clearly shows that insofar as allegations of rape are concerned, the evidence of a prosecutrix must be examined as that of an injured witness whose presence at the spot is probable but it can never be presumed that her statement should, without exception, be taken as the gospel truth. Additionally, her statement can, at best, be adjudged on the principle that ordinarily no injured witness would tell a lie or implicate a person falsely. We believe that it is under these principles that this case, and others such as this one, need to be examined."

17. The whole prosecution case rests on the testimony of star witness, the victim, PW-1, who deposed that on 23.01.2023, she was sitting alone in her house, then her neighbour, Indravati, called her through her son, and when she reached there, then aunt of the accused, Amit Shahani, namely Suman, asked the victim to go to the forest with them because her stomach was upset. When they reached on the spot, then accused, Amit Shahani and Sujeet Kumar, along with two other miscreants, arrived there by a vehicle Bolero. Sujeet was having a pistol in his hand, who on the pointing of pistol, asked the victim to accompany him. Thereafter, Sujeet and Amit took her to Akbarpur railway station and thereafter they boarded the train for Delhi. On 24/01/2023, upon reaching at Delhi, they started for Chandigarh by bus. At Chandigarh, they stayed in one room. She further stated that, at night, the accused, Amit, committed rape with her. On a subsequent day he further committed rape on her and on 31/01/2023, Amit forcibly took the victim's signature on a paper which was reduced in English. She further stated that on 10.02.2023, Vijay Kumar, who was the Fufa (uncle) of Amit, forcibly solemnized her marriage with Amit. She further stated that the accused person used to detain her in a room. On 14.02.2023 when accused Amit was sleeping, then victim came out from the room and after bolting the door from outside, she made a call to her father. She also stated that on the behest of her father, she went to Sector 22 where her brother's friend met her, who brought her to his home and then the victim's brother came and took her home.

Thus from her testimony given in examination-in-chief, it is clearly demonstrated that she left her home on 23.01.2023 and till 14.02.2023, she resided with the accused Amit. During this period, she started her journey by Bolero Car from her home to Railway Station, thereafter by train she went to Delhi and then by bus to Chandigarh, where they resided for a considerable period, but at no point of time she raised any alarm to attract the attention of the public; she did not utter any single word. This was not a case of the prosecution that at the railway station no public was present. This is also not a case of the prosecution when the victim was brought to Chandigarh. It is also evident from her evidence that till 14.02.2023, she did not make any endeavor to escape or to inform anyone where she was detained or made any effort to attract the attention of any residents who were residing nearby.

18. It is also expedient to mention here that in her statement recorded under Section 164 of the CrPC, she did not disclose this fact that she raised any alarm to attract the attention of the public when she was being carried away by the accused. For the first time, during the course of cross-examination, she had stated that when she was being taken by the accused, and on the way, she was making hue and cry, but at the same time, she admitted that at the railway station, she did not raise any alarm, and she did not make an effort to seek help from the public. She also stated in her cross-examination that during the journey from Delhi to Chandigarh, they took halt at "a dhaba" where they refreshed, but she neither screamed nor made cry for help. She further stated that the accused, Amit Shahani, has established physical relations with her six to seven times.

19. Learned trial court observed that the victim was 19 years old, in this regard, Dr. P. N. Yadav, PW-9, deposed that in X-ray examination epiphyses of the right wrist of the victim was fused, on that basis, the victim's age was determined 17 to 18 years, but at the same time, it is also admitted that there may be difference of two years in determination of the age, therefore, if we consider difference of two years in the age of the victim, which is determined by the CMO, then it may be more than 18 years, meaning thereby that the victim was not minor at the time of the alleged incident. Her conduct also shows that the accused was no stranger, since she had left her home at about 3 o′clock on the calling of her neighbour, who accompanied her and took her to the forest, where accused met her and there after, he took her by a vehicle Bolero and thereafter they left for Delhi by train and then for Chandigarh by bus, where they stayed for a considerable period. It shows that accused was known to her for a long time and there was affair between them, otherwise, merely on being called by her neighbour, she would not have left her home without informing her parents.

20. As elucidated earlier that in respect of making hue and cry, there are major contradictions in the victim′s testimony. Although it is absolutely true that in the case of rape, conviction can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix, as her evidence is in the nature of an injured witness, which is attributed a very high value to it by the courts, but nevertheless, when a person can be convicted on the testimony of single witness, the courts are bound to be very careful in examining such a witness and thus the testimony of such a witness must inspire confidence of the court. The testimony of the prosecutrix in the present case has however failed to inspire absolute confidence. Here it is also notable that the victim got medically examined by Dr. Sarita Prasad PW-4 who has deposed that no external injury was found on the private part or person of the injured, hymen was ruptured and healed. The Investigating Officer Sant Kumar Singh PW-7 has also admitted that in medical examination allegation regarding commission of rape was not corroborated, despite of the fact, he added Section 376 of IPC. It is true that injury is not sine qua non for deciding whether rape has been committed, but it has to be decided on the facutal matrix of each case. As Hon'ble Apex Court has observed in many of the cases that if there is sole testimony of the prosecutrix, then it should be of a sterling quality. While considering the evidentiary value of testimony of the prosecutrix Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rai Sandeep v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2012) 8 SCC 21 has observed that:-

"In our considered opinion, the "sterling witness" should be of a very high quality and calibre whose version should, therefore, be unassailable. The court considering the version of such witness should be in a position to accept it for its face value without any hesitation. To test the quality of such a witness, the status of the witness would be immaterial and what would be relevant is the truthfulness of the statement made by such a witness. What would be more relevant would be the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time when the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately before the court. It should be natural and consistent with the case of the prosecution qua the accused. There should not be any prevarication in the version of such a witness. The witness should be in a position to withstand the cross-examination of any length and howsoever strenuous it may be and under no circumstance should give room for any doubt as to the factum of the occurrence, the persons involved, as well as the sequence of it. Such a version should have co-relation with each and every one of other supporting material such as the recoveries made, the weapons used, the manner of offence committed, the scientific evidence and the expert opinion. The said version should consistently match with the version of every other witness. It can even be stated that it should be akin to the test applied in the case of circumstantial evidence where there should not be any missing link in the chain of circumstances to hold the accused guilty of the offence alleged against him. Only if the version of such a witness qualifies the above test as well as all other such similar tests to be applied, can it be held that such a witness can be called as a "sterling witness" whose version can be accepted by the court without any corroboration and based on which the guilty can be punished. To be more precise, the version of the said witness on the core spectrum of the crime should remain intact while all other attendant materials, namely, oral, documentary and material objects should match the said version in material particulars in order to enable the court trying the offence to rely on the core version to sieve the other supporting materials for holding the offender guilty of the charge alleged."

21. On the anvil of the above principles when we test the version of the victim PW-1 then we find that unfortunately that the said witness has failed to pass any of the tests mentioned above. There is a total variation in her version from what was stated in the FIR and what was deposed before the court. There are material variations as regards the complexity of the accused person as well as the manner in which occurrence took place. When we consider the testimony of the prosecutrix on its face value, we find the evidence to be defective.

22. It is not believable that when the prosecutrix was caught by the accused, who is known to the prosecutrix, she went with him quite a distance on the way and then reached the railway station, thereafter she went to Delhi and thereafter she went to Chandigarh by Bus, but she did not make endeavour to raise alarm. The only reason she gave was that the other co-accused person had threatened her on gun point, but they were exonerated by the IO.

23. In any case, as already stated above the testimony of prosecutrix does not inspire confidence. Under these circumstances, we are not inclined to interfere with the well considered judgment of the trial court.

24. Further, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out any illegality or infirmity in the judgment and order of acquittal passed in favour of respondents which is before this Court.

25. Keeping in view the aforesaid weakness of the prosecution case, as noted by the court below, we are of the view that the view taken by the court below was a probable and logical view, which is based on valid reasons. The judgment of the trial court cannot be said to be illegal, illogical and improbable and not based on material on record or is based on erroneous views and is against the settled position of law.

26. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed.

27. No order as to costs.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1099
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 14.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE AJAY BHANOT, J.
THE HON'BLE DIVESH CHANDRA SAMANT, J.

Jail Appeal No. 169 of 2018

Summilal Ahirwar ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of impugned order passed when guilt of accused not proved beyond reasonable doubt.

Headnotes

Murder-Indian Penal Code, 1860-S. 302- Deceased fatally assaulted with axe over alleged illicit relationship between accused (nephew) and deceased's wife- three eye-witnesses all related to accused and deceased- motive of illicit relationship set up by PW-1 contradicted by PW-2 and PW-3 -major variance between site plan and testimonies as to where witnesses were positioned-no source of light at night- presence at scene doubtful-FIR version contradicted by PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3's own accounts of accused being overpowered and tied to a tree-contradicted by Investigating Officer (PW-7) who arrested accused from his doorstep on a tip-off-recovery memo and inquest report silent on presence of accused-unexplained delay in recording statement of PW-2 -accused sole heir to inherited property- credit of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 successfully impeached, testimonies discarded -trial court erred in relying on them - guilt not proved beyond reasonable doubt - conviction set aside — Appeal allowed.

Case Law Cited

Shahid Khan v. State of Rajasthan, (2016) 4 SCC 96

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

Circumstantial and ocular evidence; eye-witnesses; related witnesses ; illicit relationship; source of ; recovery of ; delay in recording statement under Section 161 CrPC ; property dispute ; benefit of doubt; guilt not proved beyond reasonable doubt.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : (Senior Advocate), Ali Jamal Khan, From Jail, Gyan Chandra Verma, Ramesh Prajapati, Sanjay Singh Counsel for Respondent(s) : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. The instant appeal arises out of the judgement dated 09.11.2017 rendered by the learned Sessions Court in Sessions Trial No.79 of 2016 State vs. Summilal registered as Case Crime No. 277 of 2016 under Section 302 IPC at P.S. Talbehat, District Lalitpur.

2. The learned trial court by the impugned judgement has found the appellant guilty of the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and has imposed a punishment of life imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 10,000/-, and further imprisonment of 1 year upon default of payment of fine.

3. Briefly put the prosecution case set out in the FIR dated 11.05.2006 is that Sangeeta, daughter-in-law of the first informant was having illicit relations with his nephew Summilal. A quarrel broke out on 10.05.2016 at about 10:30 pm between Summilal and Prabhu (Sangeeta's husband/first informant's son) over the aforesaid relationship. In course of the altercation Summilal fatally assaulted Prabhu with an axe who fell dead at the incident site. The deceased's body was lying in front of the house. On hearing the noise, the wife of the first informant Sallo and step son Rajjan saw and chased away the accused.

4. Pursuant to the FIR, police investigations ensued and a chargesheet was filed against the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. on 11.05.2016. Cognizance of the offence was taken by the learned trial court on 17.08.2016.

Charge:

5. The learned trial court framed the following charge against the appellant on 28.09.2016.

"यह कि दिनांक 10-05-2016 को समय करीब 22-30 बजे पी.एम. व स्थान पेश दरवाजा मकान वादी स्थित ग्राम सुनौरी थाना कोतवाली तालबेहट जिला ललितपुर में आपने वादी मुकदमा काशी अहिरवार के पुत्र प्रभू के ऊपर कुल्हाड़ी से प्रहार करके गम्भीर चोटें पहुंचाकर मृत्यु कारित कर हत्या कारित की। इस प्रकार आपने एक ऐसा अपराध कारित किया है, जो भा०दं०सं० की धारा 302 के तहत दण्डनीय है और जिसके प्रसंज्ञान लेने की अधिकारिता इस न्यायालय को प्राप्तव्य है।"

6. The charge was framed and explained to the accused. After the accused pleaded not guilty the case went to trial.

Evidences:

7. Prosecution evidences adduced during trial are depicted in tabular charts below:

Oral Evidence:- List of prosecution witnesses

Prosecution Witnesses

S No.	Witness No.	Witness	Nature of Witness
1.	P.W.-1	Kashiram	First Informant
2.	P.W.-2	Rajjan	Brother of Deceased
3.	P.W.-3	Sallo	Mother of Deceased
4.	P.W.-4	Constable Tek Singh	Head Moharrir
5.	P.W.-5	Dr Rakesh Kumar	Doctor who conducted the post-mortem
6.	P.W.-6	S.I Krishna Bihari Misra	Inquest Report Officer
7.	P.W. 7	SI Jitendra Singh	Investigating Officer

Documentary Evidences:

S No.	Documents	Proved by	Date	Exhibit
1.	Written Report	P.W.-1 Kashiram	29.11.2016	Ex. Ka-1
2.	Recovery Memo of blood stained Axe	P.W.-7 Inspector Jitendra Singh	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-2
3.	Recovery Memo of blood stained and plain soil	P.W.-7 Inspector Jitendra Singh	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-3
4.	Inquest Report	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-4
5.	F.I.R	P.W.- 4 Constable 705 Tek Singh	20.12.2016	Ex. Ka-5
6.	G.D Entry	P.W.-4 Constable 705 Tek Singh	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-6
7.	Postmortem Report	P.W.-5 Dr Rakesh	22.12.2016	Ex. Ka-7

		Kumar
8.	Letter from P.W. 6 requesting Post Mortem	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-8
9.	Letter to CMO for Post Mortem	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-9
10.	Photo Nash	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-10
11.	Police Challan- Form 13	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-11
12.	Sample Seal	P.W.- 6 SI Krishna Bihari Mishra	24.07.2017	Ex. Ka-12
13.	Site Plan	P.W.-7 Inspector Jitendra Singh	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-13
14.	Description of all Proceedings (G.D.)	05.08.2017	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-14
15.	Charge Sheet	P.W.-7 Inspector Jitendra Singh	05.08.2017	Ex. Ka-15
16.	FSL Report		19.01.2017	Ex. Ka-16

Material Evidences:

Sr No.	Material	Exhibit
1.	Blood Stained Soil sample	Material Exhibit- 1
2.	Plain Soil sample	Material Exhibit- 2
3.	Blood Stained Axe	Material Exhibit- 3
4.	Pant of deceased	Material Exhibit- 4
5.	T-shirt of deceased	Material Exhibit- 5
6.	Underwear of deceased	Material Exhibit- 6
7.	Amulet with thread	Material Exhibit- 7
8.	Kalava (Sacred Thread)	Material Exhibit- 8
9.	Chhalla (Ring)	Material Exhibit- 9

I. FIR:

8. The FIR records the date of incident was 10.05.2016 at about 2230 hrs. The information was received at the Police Station Talbehat, Lalitpur on 11.05.2016 at 0030 hours. Kashiram / P.W.1 the first informant testified that he had got the tehrir written down at home and submitted the same at Police Station, Talbehat, Lalitpur on 11.05.2026. The written report/tehrir bearing the thumb impression of P.W.1 was proved by him and marked as Exh Ka-1.

9. P.W.4-Constable 705 Tek Singh testified that he was on duty as head muharrir at P.S. Talbehat, when Kashiram (first informant) submitted a written tehrir at the police station. P.W.4 identified the tehrir which was marked as Exh.Ka 1. The P.W.4 further deposed that he had dictated the contents of the chik F.I.R. to Constable Devendra Singh who typed the same. The F.I.R. was signed by the Incharge of the Police Station and bore his seal. The P.W.4 proved the F.I.R. which was marked as Exh.Ka-5. P.W.4 also testified that pursuant to the receipt of tehrir an entry was made in the general diary as Kayami report no.002 at his dictation. The said GD entry was proved by him and marked as Exh. Ka-6.

Time, Place of Incident and Cause of Death:

a. Inquest Report

10. The inquest report was drawn up by S.I. Krishna Bihari Mishra (P.W. 6) on 11.05.2016. The inquest report records that the incident was reported on 11.05.2016 at 00:30 hrs. The police party reached the site on 11.05.2016 at 01:15 hrs. The inquest proceedings were completed on 11.05.2016 at 9:30 a.m.

11. The inquest report records that in the opinion of the panchas it appeared that the deceased had died of injuries inflicted by an axe.

12. The panch witnesses to the inquest report included Rajjan /P.W. 2. The P.W.2 stated that he was a witness to the inquest proceedings and identified his signature on the inquest report whereupon the document was marked as Exh. Ka-4.

13. P.W.7/IO-SI Jitendra Singh Chandel testified that the inquest proceedings were conducted by P.W.6 in his presence. P.W.6-S.I. Krishna Behari who had written down the inquest report also proved the document and its contents before the learned trial court which was Exh.Ka-4.

b. Recovery Memo:

14. P.W.7 (S.I. Jitendra Singh Chandel) has testified that he reached the site on 11.05.2026 and prepared the recovery memo after recovering the incriminating articles. The recovery memo records that the blood stained axe was recovered in front of the door of first informant's house, and was lying near the head of the deceased. The recovered axe was taken into police custody and stitch wrapped in a piece of cloth and sealed.

15. Rajjan (P.W. 2) was the witness to the recovery memo and had fixed his signatures to the same. P.W.2 identified his signatures on the recovery memo and proved the same which was then marked as Exh. Ka-2. Exh. Ka-2 was also proved by its author P.W.7.

16. P.W. 7/Investigation Officer on 11.05.2016 also drew samples of plain soil and blood stained soil from the site of the incident. The said soil samples were respectively packed in separate plastic boxes taken into police custody, stitch wrapped and sealed. P.W. 2 was also witness to the aforesaid recovery, who identified his signatures on the recovery memo and the document was marked as Exh. Ka3.

17. The aforesaid recovery memos and their contents were proved by P.W. 7.

c. Site Plan:

18. P.W. 7 in his testimony before the trial court stated that the site plan was prepared at the pointing out of the first informant/ P.W.1 on 11.05.2016 when he visited the site of the incident. Place of occurrence as per site plan is near the front door of the informant's house. The site plan indicates that the first informant Kashiram was seated at place B in the courtyard on a charpoy and saw the incident. At place C Rajjan was lying on a charpoy and was woken up by the commotion. Rajjan saw the incident from place C. At place A, Sallo, mother of the deceased lay in bed and woke up on hearing the noise and saw the incident. All the three places A, B, C are in the open courtyard.

19. The route taken by the accused to flee the spot after the incident and upon throwing the axe near the body of the deceased has been marked in the aforesaid site plan.The site plan was proved by P.W.7/I.O. and marked as Exh.Ka13.

Medical Evidence/Postmortem report as evidence of the doctor (P.W. 5)

(i) PM report (ii) FSL report (iii) Medical Evidence

20. The inquest report records that the body of the deceased was stitch wrapped in cloth and sealed. The body was made over to constable 332 Kunwar Lal and Head Constable 213 Ram Sevak who proceeded to the mortuary along with the relevant documentation for conduct of the postmortem.

21. The postmortem was conducted on 11.05.2016 commenced at 4: 35 PM by Dr. Rakesh Kumar/P.W.5. The postmortem proceedings were concluded at 5:45 p.m.

22. The following antemortem injuries are recorded in the postmortem report:

"Injury No.1- Lacerated wound 16 cm x 3 cm on the backside of the neck bone deep. Clotted blood was present on the wound. The internal structures of the neck, specifically the trachea and the larynx along with the oesophagus were severed. Additionally, there was a fracture in the skull. Three cervical vertebrae were broken.

Injury No.2 : A stab wound located on the neck measuring 4cm x 4 cm which was also bone deep and reached injury no. 1, and the open surface of the wound was 4 cm x 4 cm.

Injury No.3 : Incised wounds were present on the back, measuring 7.00 cm x 0.50 cm, 10.00 cm x 0.50 cm, 12.00 cm x 0.50 cm, and 5.00 cm x 0.50 cm; these wounds extended deep into the muscle.

Injury No.4 : An incised wound was present in the right side of the abdomen measuring 4.00 cm x 0.50 cm extending deep into the muscles."

"चोट नं01- कटा हुआ घाव आकार 16 से.मी. x 3 से.मी. गर्दन के पिछले हिस्से में ऊपर की तरफ हड्डी तक गहरा था। चोट पर जमा हुआ रक्त मौजूद था। गर्दन के आन्तरिक अंग कंठनली व स्वर ग्रन्थि, खाने की नली कटी हुई थी। इसके साथ ही सिर की हड्डी में फ्रेक्चर था। गले की तीन वर्टिकल हड्डी टूटी हुई थी।

चोट नं02- घोंपा हुआ घाव गर्दन में आकार चार से.मी x चार से.मी. हड्डी तक गहरा चोट नं० एक तक खुला हुआ था तथा खुला भाग चार से.मी. x चार से.मी. था।

चोट नं03- कटे हुये घाव पीठ पर मौजूद थे जिनकी नाप सात से.मी.x0.50 से.मी., दस से.मी.x0.50 से.मी., 12.00 से.मी.x0.50 से.मी., 5.00 से.मी. x 0.50 से.मी. मांसपेशी तक गहरे थे।

चोट नं04- कटा हुआ घाव पेट के दांयी तरफ 4.00 से.मी. x 0.50 से.मी. मांसपेशी तक गहरा था।"

23. The postmortem report opines that the cause of death is as under:

"Shock and hemorrhage due to antemortem injuries"

24. According to the postmortem report time of death was:

"Time since death about one day."

25. P.W. 5 Dr. Rakesh Kumar proved the postmortem report which was marked as Exh Ka-7 Under cross examination P.W.-5 stated that injuries no. 1, 2 and 3 were caused by sharp edged weapon. However, injury no. 2 was a punctured wound and could have been inflicted by a pointed object such as the heel of an axe blade.

FSL Report:

26. The P.W. 7 in his testimony stated that the clothes of the deceased, the samples of plain earth and blood stained soil as well as the blood stained axe were sent to the F.S.L. for examination.

27. The F.S.L. report dated 19.01.2017 was sent by the Joint Director, Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra. The FSL report opines that human blood was found on the t-shirt, trousers as well as the blood stained samples of earth and the axe. The F.S.L. report was marked as Exh. Ka - 16 after the deposition of P.W. 7.

Material Exhibits

28. Various collected articles from the site including the blood stained axe, blood stained soil sample, plain soil sample and personal effects of the deceased were produced during the trial court and proved by P.W.7-Investigating Officer. The collected articles were marked as exhibits in the following manner:

1. Sample of bloodstained soil- Material Exhibit-1

2. Sample of plain soil- Material Exhibit-2

3. Bloodstained Axe- Material Exhibit-3

4. Pant of the deceased- Material Exhibit-4

5. T-shirt of the deceased- Material Exhibit-5

6. Underwear of the deceased- Material Exhibit-6

7. Amulet with thread- Material Exhibit-7

8. Kalava (Sacred thread)- Material Exhibit-8

9. Challa (Ring) - Material Exhibit-9

Oral Testimonies

P.W. 1 Kashiram - first informant

29. P.W. 1 Kashiram the deceased's father and first informant deposed as P.W. 1. P.W. 1 in his testimony before the trial court stated that Prabhu (deceased) and Summilal(accused) started arguing over the latter's affair with Sangeeta (wife of the deceased). Hot words were being exchanged between Prabhu and Summilal, when Summilal inflicted repeated axe blows on Prabhu. Prabhu fell to his death instantly. P.W. 1 has also stated that the accused used to handover his earnings to the wife of Prabhu. During the trial P.W.1 identified the accused as Summilal who had killed the deceased by attacking him with an axe.

P.W. 2 Rajjan - step brother of the deceased

30. Rajjan, the step brother of the deceased was introduced as P.W. 2. P.W. 2 in his deposition stated that the incident occurred on 10.05.2016 at about 9 to 9:30 p.m. P.W. 2 was in his house at the time of the incident. An altercation broke out between the deceased Prabhu and his wife with the accused Summilal. Prabhu asked his wife not to give rotis to Summilal and refuse him entry into their house. P.W.2 went to their house and after separating the parties stood at a distance of about 10 paces. Summilal inflicted 3 or 4 axe blows on Prabhu's neck and body.

31. P.W.2 Rajjan thereafter testified that he and 5 to 6 other persons overpowered Summilal and tied him to a tree. His father went and informed the police. When the police arrived they arrested Summilal and also recovered the bloodstained axe from a spot near his place of arrest.

P.W.3-Smt. Sallo

32 . Smt. Sallo-mother of the deceased entered the witness box as P.W.3 in her testimony before the learned trial court. P.W. 3 stated that the incident occurred about 7 months ago. P.W.3 stated that at about 10 P.M. she was sitting in her house with her husband (P.W.1) and son Rajjan (P.W.2). Prabhu was in his house which is adjacent to hers. Prabhu was telling his wife not to give food to Summilal nor permit him to enter their house. On hearing Prabhu's voice she rushed to the site and witnessed the killing. Summilal attacked Prabhu with an axe. Prabhu dropped dead at the site. P.W.3 identified the accused in court.

33. According to P.W.3 Summilal was overpowered by her son Rajjan (P.W.2) and other persons along with the axe at the spot. Summilal was then tied to a Munga tree, and the axe was in his possession. After receiving information from her husband, the police authorities came to the site and arrested Summilal with the axe.

P.W.7-Jitendra Singh Chandel

34. The investigation officer was introduced by the prosecution as P.W.7. P.W.7 in his testimony described the process of investigation after receipt of the tehrir on 11.05.2016 at about 0030 hours.

35. P.W. 7 deposed before the learned trial court that he recorded the statement of the witnesses of the panchayatnama and the eye witness Rajjan on 09.06.2016.

Submissions from the Bar:

Arguments on behalf of appellant

36. Shri N.I. Jafri, learned Senior Counsel/Amicus Curiae, assisted by Sri Ali Jamal Khan, learned Amicus Curiae have canvassed the following submissions in favour of the appellant as under:

I. There are material contradictions in the F.I.R. and testimony of P.W.1.

II. There are major inconsistencies in the statements of the eye witnesses as well as other prosecution evidences in the record. The eye witnesses are unreliable and their testimonies are liable to be disbelieved. The presence of the P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 at the site when the incident occurred is doubtful.

III. The prosecution failed to establish the presence of the appellant at the site of the incident and his arrest in the manner deposed to by P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3. Inquest report, recovery memo and the arrest memo contradict the testimonies of P.W. 1 P.W 2 ,P.W. 3, and P.W.7 regarding arrest of the accused and recovery of the axe.

IV. Post mortem report and medical evidence disclose that all injuries were not caused by axe.

V. The appellant has been falsely implicated only to usurp his property.

VI. The delay in recording the statement of the eye witnesses particularly P.W.-2 who was present at the time of the inquest report as well as recovery memo supports the conclusion that the appellant was falsely framed in the instant case.

VII. The prosecution failed to establish the case against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

Arguments on behalf of State

37. Shri Paritosh Kumar Malviya, learned A.G.A-I and Shri Rishi Chaddha, AGA have vehemently opposed the submissions of learned Senior Counsel and have made following submissions:

I. This is a case of direct evidence and all prosecution witnesses gave consistent testimonies and remained unshaken during the cross-examination.

II. The ocular testimonies of the prosecution witnesses finds further corroboration in the post mortem report.

III. Material evidences like recovery of the dead body, recovery of weapon of assault, bloodstained soil establish the place of incident. Arrest of the appellant from the site also supports the prosecution case.

IV. The FSL report opines that human blood sample were found on the clothes of the accused corroborated the prosecution case.

V. The prosecution has proved the guilt of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

VI. The accused cannot be given the benefit of lapses in the investigation.

Appraisal of evidences:

I. FIR:

38. Recitals in the FIR and submission of tehrir, GD entry and other documentary evidences including the postmortem report does not disclose any inordinate delay in lodgement of the FIR. However, the veracity of the prosecution case set out in the F.I.R. can only be determined upon further appraisal of evidences in the record.

II. Place of Recoveries :

39. The body of the deceased was recovered from the place which is close to the house of the first informant. The blood stained axe was lying near the body of the deceased from where it was recovered.

Prosecution version of the incident and complicity of the accused:

Motive:

40. As per recitals in the FIR and testimony of P.W. 1 the cause for dispute between the deceased Prabhu and Summilal was illicit relations of the accused Summilal with Sangeeta (wife of the former). However, under cross examination P.W.1 stated that in the past there was no incident of quarrel between the accused and the deceased. Though Prabhu discouraged his wife from giving rotis to the accused Summilal. Summilal resided with Prabhu and his wife.

41. P.W. 2 Rajjan who is the stepson of P.W. 1 did not make any statement regarding illicit relations between the accused Summilal and Sangeeta. On the contrary he stated that Summilal and Prabhu resided separately and Summilal had his independent source of living and ran a separate kitchen. Summilal stayed separately from Kashiram as well.

42. P.W. 3 who is the mother of the deceased categorically testified that Summilal and wife of the deceased did not have any illicit relations. Further, P.W. 2 resided separately and independently managed their affairs.

43. The motive for commission of the offence as brought out by the P.W. 1 has been contradicted by P.W. 2 and P.W. 3. The said contradiction assumes significance inasmuch as three witnesses belong to one family and are also related to the accused appellant.

44. Under cross-examination P.W.2 stated that sometime back the accused had assaulted the deceased. However, no FIR was registered. The immediate cause of the fatal assault as per the three witnesses was an altercation which is distinct from the deep seated motive alleged by P.W. 1.

45. In this wake pre-existing motive on account of illicit relationship between the wife of the deceased and the accused-appellant is not worthy of belief.

Delay in recording the statement of P.W.2

46. The statement of PW-2 was recorded by the investigating officer on 09.06.2016 There was no justifiable reason for failure to record the statement of P.W.2 on a timely basis. P.W.2 was present when P.W.6 and police party had arrived at the site on 11.05.2016 after the tehrir was received at the police station. P.W.2 was witness to inquest report and the recovery memo which were drawn up on 11.05.2016. The admitted delay on part of P.W.6 in recording the statement of P.W.2 also makes the prosecution case questionable. The discussion can profit from authorities in point.

47. The Supreme Court in Shahid Khan v. State of Rajasthan while considering the effect of unexplained delay in recording the statement of a material witness by the Investigating Officer held as under:

"20. The statements of PW 25 Mirza Majid Beg and PW 24 Mohamed Shakir were recorded after 3 days of the occurrence. No explanation is forthcoming as to why they were not examined for 3 days. It is also not known as to how the police came to know that these witnesses saw the occurrence. The delay in recording the statements casts a serious doubt about their being eyewitnesses to the occurrence. It may suggest that the investigating officer was deliberately marking time with a view to decide about the shape to be given to the case and the eyewitnesses to be introduced. The circumstances in this case lend such significance to this delay. PW 25 Mirza Majid Beg and PW 24 Mohamed Shakir, in view of their unexplained silence and delayed statement to the police, do not appear to us to be wholly reliable witnesses. There is no corroboration of their evidence from any other independent source either. We find it rather unsafe to rely upon their evidence only to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellants. The High Court has failed to advert to the contentions raised by the appellants and reappreciate the evidence thereby resulting in miscarriage of justice. In our opinion, the case against the appellants has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt."

Presence of witnesses and accused at the time of the incident:

48. The second question which arises for consideration is the location of the houses of P.W. 1, P.W. 2, P.W. 3, accused and the deceased and whether the eye witnesses were present at the site of the incident when it occurred.

49. The location of houses of the parties are depicted in the site plan. P.W. 1 and P.W. 3 reside in the same house P.W. 2, the deceased and the accused resided separately in their respective houses . There is an open courtyard near the houses.

50. P.W. 1 in his testimony has stated that he and Prabhu stayed separately. Summilal resided with Prabhu. P.W. 1 deposed that at the time of the incident, he and his son Prabhu were in their respective houses. In his testimony P.W. 1 has not stated that he had seen the incident, nor mentioned about the presence of P.W. 3.

51. P.W. 2 claims that he was in his house when the incident occurred. He reached the site only upon hearing the altercation between the accused and the deceased.

52. P.W. 3 has stated that she, P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 were together in her house. Prabhu was in his house. She had seen the incident. There is no source of light in her house. The incident occurred in the night. Under cross-examination P.W. 3 stated that she was lying on a cot when the incident occurred and rushed to the site on hearing Prabhu's voice and saw the incident.

53. The site plan on the contrary shows that all the three witnesses were sitting in the open courtyard and not in their respective houses. As per the site plan all the three witnesses had a clear uninterrupted view to the site of the incident. However, from the site plan it is equally evident that no one could see the incident sitting in their houses.

54. There are major variations in the site plan and testimonies of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 with respect to the houses of the parties and the places from where the said witnesses saw the incident.

55. Furthermore the depositions of P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 in respect to the place where the respective witnesses were present at the time of incident and the manner in which they had witnessed the incident are also mutually contradictory.

56.The witnesses were aware of the difference between a courtyard and house.

57. In view of the aforesaid inconsistencies the presence of the witnesses at the site of the incident and their claims to have witnessed the incident are seriously in doubt.

Presence of accused at the site when the incident occurred, arrest of accused, presence of eyewitness, recovery of axe and credibility:

58. The prosecution story stated in the FIR is that the accused inflicted fatal blows to the deceased. On hearing the commotion Sallo and the step son of the first informant P.W. 2 saw and chased away the accused.

59. The version of the FIR is contradicted in the testimony of the first informant. Under cross examination P.W.1 had stated that when the police reached the spot Summilal was lying tied up (bound down by rope/cloth) in the house and was trying to hang himself. The police untied Summilal. The axe was in the possession of Summilal and was recovered by the police from him.

60. The version of P.W.2 in respect of the immediate aftermath of the incident is also at sharp variance with the testimony of P.W.1.

61. According to the testimony of P.W.2 as seen earlier, after the incident the accused was overpowered by him along with five to six persons and tied to a tree. The accused was arrested with the axe at the site of the incident by the police. Under cross-examination, P.W.2 elaborated that he along with others had tied the accused to a tree. The police on their arrival untied the accused and arrested him. The weapon of assault was recovered from a point two feet away from the accused.

62. P.W.3 testified that Summilal was overpowered by Rajjan/P.W.-2 and others at the site of the incident, and tied up along with the axe to a Munga tree. The tree is in the courtyard of her house. When the police arrived at the spot they untied the accused from the tree and took him into the custody. When the police arrested Summilal the axe was with him.

63. The version of the arrest of the accused and recovery of axe from him as brought out in the testimonies of P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 is squarely contradicted in the deposition of P.W.7/IO who had effected the arrest of the accused. P.W 7 under cross-examination stated that the accused was arrested from his doorstep, after a tip off was received from an informer. The arrest memo which is registered as Paper no. Ka-1 records that the accused was arrested on 11.05.2016 at 1400 hours from the front of his house.

64. Investigative processes like inquest and recovery commenced at the site on 11.05.2016 at 9:30 a.m. The recovery memo and the inquest report do not record the presence of the accused. P.W. 2 was witness to inquest report and recovery memo. At the time the said documents were drawn up, he did not inform the IO/P.W. 7 and P.W. 6 about the presence of the accused at the site. The recovery memo also does not state that the axe was recovered from the accused as was deposed by P.W. 1, P.W.2 and P.W.3. The Investigating Officer/P.W. 7 in his testimony has not stated that the axe was recovered from the accused or was lying near him when he was arrested. P.W. 7 stated that the axe was near the head of the dead body at the time of recovery. P.W. 7 was silent on the presence of accused at the time of recovery of the axe.

65. The aforesaid contradictions in the prosecution case set out in the F.I.R., testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W3, testimony of P.W.7 and other documentary evidences tendered by the prosecution are grave and irreconcilable. The presence of P.W.1, and P.W.3 at the time of the incident is doubtful. The claims of P.W.2 and P.W.3 of having witnessed the incident are not worthy of belief. Due to aforesaid inconsistencies in testimonies the credit of P.W.1, P.W2, and P.W.3 has been successfully impeached. The testimonies of P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 insofar as they implicate the appellant are disbelieved. The testimonies of P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 are accordingly discarded.

Section 313 Cr.P.C.: Proceedings

66. The accused was alerted to various incriminating evidences which emerged against him during the trial. The accused in his defence in the aforesaid proceedings stated that he was falsely framed as the first informant and his party wanted to usurp his share of the property.

67. Prosecution evidence in the record establishes that the accused was the nephew of P.W.1 and P.W.3. The accused is sole heir to the property which has devolved upon him by inheritance from his father. P.W.1, P.W.2, and P.W.3 have admitted their relationship with the accused and have consistently testified that the accused was unmarried and does not have any legal heirs.

Trial Court Judgment

68. The learned trial court in the impugned judgment, while convicting the appellant found P.W. 1, P.W. 2, and P.W. 3 to be reliable eyewitnesses. After upholding the implicatory testimonies of given by P.W.1, P.W. 2, and P.W. 3 learned trial court found them consistent with the various other prosecution evidences, including the post-mortem report, recovery memo, inquest report, and FSL report. On these footings, the learned trial court found the accused guilty of the offence under 302 IPC.

69. For the reasons stated in the preceding narrative, the learned trial court erred in law by not impeaching the credit of P.W.1, P.W. 2, and P.W. 3. The judgment rendered by the learned trial court is liable to be set aside and is set aside.

Conclusions:

70. In light of the preceding discussion, the prosecution has not been able to prove the charges against the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt. The accused is liable to be acquitted and is acquitted of the charges framed against him by the learned trial court.

71. The Jail Appeal is allowed.

72. The appellant shall be forthwith released from prison and set forth at liberty unless required in any other criminal case.

73. The Court would like to accord its deep appreciation for the scholarly assistance rendered by Shri N.I. Jafri, learned Senior Counsel/Amicus Curiae assisted by Shri Ali Jamal Khan, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant.

74. A copy of this judgement translated in Hindi to be communicated to the appellant by the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1113
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 04.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE ZAFEER AHMAD, J.

Jail Appeal No. 212 of 2011

Dev Bahadur Yadav @ Matru Yadav ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of child testimony.

Headnotes

Culpable Homicide not amounting to murder-Indian Penal Code, 1860 -Ss. 302, 304-Sole child eyewitness-appreciation of evidence-reliability-FIR suffering from infirmities not fatal-accused-husband causing death of wife by axe blows during sudden domestic quarrel-Ocular evidence corroborated by medical evidence-establishing homicidal death -delay in recording statement of child witness-omission of her name in FIR- improvements in testimony and alleged ante-timing of FIR -held not sufficient to discredit prosecution case-incident in course of sudden quarrel-without premeditation-without acting in cruel or unusual manner-held case covered by Exception 4 to S. 300 -Conviction altered from S. 302 to S. 304 Pt. II -Sentence reduced to period already undergone-fine maintained. Appeal partly allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Pramila v. State of U.P., (2021) 12 SCC 550
2. State of U.P. v. Anil Singh, (1988) 3 SCC 68
3. Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory, (1989) 2 SCC 217
4. Chandigarh, Pundalik v. State of Maharashtra, (2010) 15 SCC 122
5. Rambir v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2019) 6 SCC 122

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

Testimony of a child witness, doctrine of falsus in uno-falsus in omnibus, heat of passion, sudden quarrel.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Jail Appeal In Person, Dhananjay Kumar Singh Counsel for Respondent(s) : A.G.A

(Delivered by Hon'ble Zafeer Ahmad, J.)

1. Heard, Sri Dhananjay Kumar Singh, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Sri Pawan Kumar Mishra, learned AGA for the State. Perused the records.

2. The aforesaid jail appeal arises out of judgment and and order dated 27.10.2010 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, Pratapgarh in S.T. No. 248 of 2009 (State v. Dev Bahadur @ Matru Yadav), arising out of case crime no. 62 of 2009, Police Station Antu, Sub-District Sadar, District Pratapgarh, whereby the appellant has been convicted under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short I.P.C.) for life imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 20,000/ and in case of non-payment of fine, an additional imprisonment of six months.

Prosecution Story in Nutshell:

3. The prosecution story, in brief, is that on 27.03.2009, complainant Ram Bodh Yadav, s/o Sukhai Yadav, r/o village Shukulpur, Police Station Antu, District Pratapgarh submitted a written report stating therein that his daughter, Sunita, was married to Dev Bahadur @ Matru, s/o Nanda Yadav, r/o village Babu Ka Purwa Majra Umri, Police Station Antu, around fifteen years ago. On 27.03.2009 he received an information over telephone that his daughter, Sunita, had been murdered by her husband, Dev Bahadur @ Matru, with an axe at around 6:00 AM. On receiving such information he came to village Babu ka Purwa Majra Umri and saw that his daughter′s body was lying on a cot under a thatched roof.

4. On the basis of the written report, an F.I.R was registered under Section 302 I.P.C against the accused, Dev Bahadur @ Matru. The investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I. Upendra Yadav, who proceeded to the place of occurrence on the same day and conducted the inquest proceedings.

5. Upon completion of investigation, charge-sheet was submitted against the accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. Thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Session, where charge under Section 302 IPC was framed against the accused. The accused denied the charge, pleaded not guilty, and claimed trial.

6. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined Ram Bodh Yadav (PW-1), Shalu(PW-2), Dr. Alok Shukla (PW-3), Constable Raj Bahadur Yadav (PW-4), Constable Gaya Prasad Patel (PW-5), and S.I. Upendra Yadav (PW-6).

7. Besides the aforesaid witnesses, the Trial Court, in exercise of its powers, examined S.I. Jai Shankar Ram as Court Witness (CW-1). The defence, however, did not adduce any oral or documentary evidence in support of its case.

8. The following exhibits were produced and proved before the Trial Court:

EXHIBIT NUMBER	PARTICULARS
Ext Ka-1	Written Report
Ext Ka-2	Post-mortem Report
Ext Ka-3	FIR
Ext Ka-4	Carbon Copy of GD and FIR
Ext Ka-5	Panchayatnama
Ext Ka-6	Sketch of dead body
Ext Ka-7	Police Form No. 13
Ext Ka-8	Letter to RI
Ext Ka-9	Letter to CMO
Ext. Ka-10	Sample Seal
Ext. Ka-11	Site plan of the place of occurrence
Ext. Ka-12	Recovery memo of axe
Ext. Ka-13	Site plan of recovery of axe
Ext. Ka-14	Recovery memo blood-stained earth, pieces of bangles of the deceased, blood stained woven cot, blood stained pieces of bed
Ext. Ka-15	Letter sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow for examination of clothes of the deceased, axe, blood-stained and plain earth, bedding and piece of a cot
Ext. Ka-16	Charge-sheet
Ext. Ka-17	Forensic examination report

9. The following material exhibits were produced and proved before the Trial Court:

EXHIBITS NUMBER	ITEM/DESCRIPTION
Material Exhibit-1	Sealed cloth containing axe, three sealed boxes and sealed bundle
Material Exhibit-2	Axe
Material Exhibit-3	Cloth used for sealing an axe
Material Exhibit-4	Sample of plain earth

Material Exhibit-5 & 6	Two sealed envelope
Material Exhibit-7	Sealed box
Material Exhibit-8	Bloodstained bedding
Material Exhibit-9	Bloodstained binding of cot
Material Exhibit-10	Piece of saree
Material Exhibit-11	Piece of petticoat
Material Exhibit-12	Piece of blouse
Material Exhibit-13 to 16	Sealed Envelope
Material Exhibit-17	Yellow metal ring
Material Exhibit-18 & 19	White metal anklet
Material Exhibit-20 & 21	Yellow metal ear tops
Material Exhibit 22	Yellow metal nose pin

10. The statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein he denied that he had ever been previously arrested in connection with any complaint lodged by the deceased, and that his arrest in present case and the recovery of the weapon were fabricated and wrong. He refused to have given any confessional statement to the police and alleged that the recovery of the T- shirt was also fabricated. He further stated that the FIR and GD are ante-timed and that the witnesses have given false testimony to frame him. The statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein he stated that he was not previously arrested on the basis of the complaint of the deceased and that his arrest and the recovery of the weapon were fabricated and wrong. He refused to have given any confessional statement to the police and alleged that the recovery of the T-shirt was fake. He further stated that the FIR and GD are ante-timed and that the witnesses have given false testimony to frame him.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the accused-appellant:-

11. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant submitted that the prosecution case is wholly unreliable and suffers from material contradictions, inasmuch as the FIR is ante-timed and appears to be concocted, which is evident from the inconsistencies in the prosecution timeline. It is further submitted that PW-2 Shalu, who is projected as the sole eyewitness, finds no mention in the FIR, and PW-1 has admitted that he did not disclose her name at the time of lodging the report, thereby casting serious doubt on her presence. Learned counsel further submitted that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel between husband and wife, without any premeditation, and the act was committed in the heat of passion without the accused having taken undue advantage or having acted in a cruel or unusual manner; thus, no offence under Section 302 I.P.C. is made out and, at the highest, the case would fall within Exception 4 to Section 300 I.P.C., attracting Section 304 Part II I.P.C., there being no intention to cause death.

Submissions made by learned A.G.A : -

12. Per contra, learned A.G.A. submitted that the prosecution case is fully supported by the evidence on record and the conviction recorded by the trial court is well-founded. It is contended that the testimony of PW-2 Shalu is reliable and inspires confidence, and merely because her name was not mentioned in the FIR would not render her evidence unreliable. It is further submitted that the FIR cannot be said to be ante-timed and the alleged discrepancies are minor in nature. It is further submitted that the nature of injuries, particularly on vital parts of the body, clearly establishes intention to cause death and, therefore, the case squarely falls within the ambit of Section 302 I.P.C. and no case for conversion to Section 304 I.P.C. is made out.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

13. PW-01 Rambodh Yadav, deposed that the incident took place on 27.03.2009 at about 6:00 A.M. He further deposed that he received information by telephone that his son-in-law, Dev Bahadur alias Matru Yadav, had killed his daughter, Sunita (deceased), by hitting her with an axe (kulhadi). He further deposed that upon receiving such information, he reached the house of his daughter and saw that her dead body was lying on a cot under a thatched roof (chhappar). He further deposed that he had performed the marriage of his daughter, Sunita, with the accused, Dev Bahadur. He further deposed that his daughter had three children from the accused and the eldest daughter Shalu was about 12 years of age. He further deposed that middle son is Kallu and youngest one is Bachha. He further deposed that his son-in-law was addicted to intoxicants and used to beat his daughter after consuming liquor. He further deposed that his daughter used to persuade the accused to give up his addiction, but he did not agree. He further deposed that due to such conduct, his daughter had earlier filed a case against the accused and he was sent to jail, but even after his release, there was no improvement in his behaviour. He further deposed that due to his bad habits, the father of the accused had separated him from the family about five years prior to the incident. He further deposed that the accused had cut and sold a Mahua tree situated in front of the house and had spent the money on his addiction. He further deposed that his daughter used to oppose such conduct and due to this dispute, the accused killed her by assaulting her with an axe. He further deposed that he got the report written through a village Thakur and after reading the same, submitted it at the police station, proving it Ext. Ka-1.He further deposed that the police conducted the inquest proceedings at the place where the body was lying and he had signed the same. He further deposed that on the same day at about 2:00 P.M., the police arrested the accused at Antu Railway Station in his presence and there were bloodstains on his T-shirt. He further deposed that the accused confessed before the police and disclosed about the axe used in the crime, which he had concealed. He further deposed that the accused led the police to his house and recovered the axe from the thatched roof (chhappar).

14. During cross-examination, he deposed that he was present when father of the accused had separated him (accused) from the family. He further deposed that his house is at a distance of about 4 to $4^{1/2}$ kos (13 to 14.5 Km) from the place of occurrence and he cannot tell the name of the person who informed him by phone. He further deposed that he received the information at about 8:00 A.M. and it took him about one hour to reach the village by motorcycle. He further deposed that when he reached the house of his daughter, the police had already arrived there. He further deposed that it took about 5 to 10 minutes to get the report written and about half an hour to reach the police station, and he reached the police station at about 10:30 to 11:00 A.M. He further deposed that he had informed the Inspector that Shalu had witnessed the incident and had also given her statement, but he (witness) did not mention this fact in the written report. He further deposed that Shalu was present at the place of occurrence and had given her statement to the police. He further deposed that he could not tell the exact size of the axe blade but stated that it was small and fixed on a handle of about 1 to $1^{1/2}$ hands in length. He further deposed that he came to know about the accused beating his daughter about 12-13 years after the marriage and that the deceased had also filed a report regarding such beatings. He further deposed that the thatched roof where the incident took place was about 8 hands long and 4 hands wide and was surrounded by bamboo screens on all sides and there was no wooden door. He further deposed that about 3-4 steps to the north of the place of occurrence, there was the house of his relative Nanda. He further deposed that the deceased was lying on the cot on her right side, covered with a blood-stained sheet and there was blood on her clothes. He further deposed that when he reached the place of occurrence, the accused was not present there. He further deposed that the Inspector arrested the accused from Antu Railway Station at about 2:00 P.M., but he was not present at the time of arrest. He further deposed that he had not received any telephone call and that relatives from Nevada village had come and informed him about the incident. He further deposed that Nevada village is about 1 km away from his village. He further deposed that he received information about the incident at about 8:00 A.M. and denied the suggestion that the deceased was murdered by some unknown person in the night. He further denied the suggestion that he has falsely implicated the accused at the instance of others or that Shalu had not informed him about the incident.

15. PW-02 Shalu, daughter of deceased and accused-appellant, aged about 12 years, was examined before the Trial Court. Before recording her testimony, the Court conducted a preliminary inquiry and she deposed that she was studying in Class 5 in the village primary school and understood the meaning of an incident and oath, and that one must speak the truth and not tell lies. She further deposed that she was able to distinguish between right and wrong. Upon such satisfaction, the Trial Court found her competent to depose and proceeded to record her testimony.

16. During examination-in-chief, she deposed that the incident had occurred about one year prior and at about 6:00 A.M., her father assaulted her mother with an axe (kulhadi), as result of which she died at home. She further deposed that at the time of the incident, she was warming herself near a bonfire (kauda/कौड़ा), while her parents were quarreling inside the thatched roof (chhappar) on account of domestic dispute relating to the conduct of the accused, who used to sell household articles and would not maintain the family. She further deposed that such quarrels were frequent and, on the date of occurrence, during the course of such dispute, the accused struck her mother with an axe on the neck and head. She further deposed that when her parents were arguing, her father scolded her due to which she got frightened and remained standing there. She further deposed that after the occurrence, the accused remained there and thereafter her grandfather and villagers came, caught hold of the accused and tied him to a tree. She identified the accused, who was present before the trial court.

17. During cross-examination, she deposed that she was sitting near the bonfire at a short distance from the thatched hut, along with her younger brother Dharmaraj, while her parents were inside. She further deposed that it was early morning and not fully daylight at the time of the incident. She further deposed that her mother was lying on a cot due to illness, when she was assaulted by the accused. She deposed that prior to the incident, partition had taken place between her father and grandfather. On the previous night, they had dinner and went to sleep at about 8:00 P.M. and there was no quarrel between her parents. At the time of the incident, her mother was suffering from fever and was lying on a cot, when the accused assaulted her and she could not save herself. She further deposed that her grandfather and villagers arrived about half an hour after the incident and thereafter the police came, completed the paperwork and took the accused to the police station. She further deposed that she had shown the place of occurrence to the Investigating Officer and informed him that her father had assaulted her mother. She further deposed that after she raised alarm, the accused came out of the hut and ran towards the drain. At the time of the incident, he was carrying an axe and a knife and assaulted her mother with both, and was wearing jeans and a full-sleeved black baniyan (vest).She further deposed that her father had separated from her grandfather and did not maintain the family, and that her grandfather used to support them. She denied the suggestion that her mother was killed by unknown persons or that she had not witnessed the incident or was falsely implicating her father.

18. P.W-03 Dr. Alok Shukla, District Hospital, Pratapgarh, deposed that on 27.03.2009 he was posted as a Consultant at the District Hospital, Pratapgarh and at about 3:30 P.M., he conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased Sunita, aged about 29 years, and proved the post-mortem report (Ext. Ka-2). He further deposed that the death had occurred approximately 12 hours prior to the examination. He further deposed that the following ante-mortem injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

- Injury No. 1: Incised wound 3 cm X 2 cm X bone deep, on right side of neck, 4 cm below right angle of mandible; underlying structures are cut.
- Injury No. 2: Incised wound 3 cm X 1 cm X muscle deep, on the right side of upper most part of neck, 2 cm below right ear; underlying structures are cut.
- Injury No. 3: Incised wound 8 cm X 6 cm X brain deep, on the left side of the occipital region of scalp on the back of the head; underlying structures are cut.

He further deposed that on internal examination, the heart was empty due to excessive blood loss and the cause of death was shock and haemorrhage resulting from ante-mortem injuries.

19. During cross-examination, he deposed that the time of death could be around 3:30 A.M. with a variation of 2-3 hours. He further deposed that the injuries could have been caused by a sharp-edged weapon, which may include an axe or a knife. He further deposed that all injuries could have been caused by a single weapon, though it was also possible that different injuries were caused by different sharp-edged weapons. He further deposed that he had not been shown the weapon of offence and could not give any specific opinion in that regard.

20. PW-04 Raj Bahadur Yadav, Constable, deposed that on 27/3/2009, he was posted as Constable in Antu Police Station and on the same day, at around 8:10 A.M., on the basis of the written report of the complainant, Shri Ram Bodh Yadav, a cognizable offence had been disclosed and under check no. 37, crime no. 62/09, a case under Section 302 of the I.P.C was registered against accused- appellant, Dev Bahadur. He proved that the Check Paper is in his handwriting and signature (Ext. Ka-3).

21. During the cross-examination, he deposed that when the complainant arrived between 8:00 -10:00 A.M., he immediately registered the FIR. He denied the suggestion that complainant went to the police station at around 11:00-12:00 A.M. to get the FIR register and that check FIR was anti-timed.

22. PW-05 Gaya Prasad Patel, Constable, deposed that on 27.3.2009 he was posted as Constable in Antu Police Station. He further deposed that he recorded the details of the proceedings in case crime no. 62/09 registered by him and he also proved the entry of the same in the General Diary as Ext. Ka-4.

23. During Cross-Examination, he proved that FIR was registered by constable Raj Bahadur. He deposed that after the GD entry was made the IO left for the place of incident. He denied the suggestion that entry in the GD was anti-time.

24. PW-06 Upendra Yadav, SHO, Police Station Atnu, District Pratapgarh, deposed that on 27.03.2009 he was posted as Station House Officer and on the same day, on basis of complaint by Rambodh Yadav, Case Crime No. 62/9 under Section 302 of the I.P.C was registered and he took up the investigation. He further deposed that he, along with SI Jai Shankar Rai, immediately proceeded to the place of the occurrence. He verified and proved panchayatnama as Ext. Ka-5, which was prepared by SI Jai Shankar Rai at his (witness) instance. He further proved sketch of dead body as Ext. Ka- 6, Police Form 13 as Ext. Ka- 7, letter to RI as Ext. Ka- 8, letter to CMO as Ext. Ka- 9, sample seal as Ext. Ka- 10 and site plan of the incident site as Ext. Ka- 11. He further deposed that after recording the statements of the witnesses, the accused was arrested and admitted to having committed the offence. He further deposed that pursuant to such disclosure, the axe used in the offence was recovered at the instance of the accused, for which recovery memo was prepared and proved as Ext. Ka- 12. He also proved the site plan of place of recovery as Ext. Ka- 13. He further proved the recovery memo of samples of blood stained and plain earth taken from the place of incident, pieces of bangles of the deceased, blood stained woven cot, blood stained pieces of bed as Ext. Ka- 14. He further verified and proved the letter sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow for examination of clothes of the deceased, axe, blood-stained and plain earth, bedding and piece of a cot as Ext. Ka-15. He further proved the charge sheet dated 18.6.2009 as Ext. Ka-16. He further deposed that the axe sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory was returned after examination in sealed cloth and is produced before the trial court as Material Ext.- 1.Upon opening the sealed cloth before the Trial Court, an axe, three sealed boxes, and a sealed bundle were found. The witness identified the axe as the same, which was recovered at the instance of the accused and it was as Material Ext.- 2, and cloth used for sealing the axe was marked as Material Ext.-3. Further, when the sealed boxes were open, sample of a plain earth was found in one box which was marked as Material Ext.- 4; from second box, two sealed envelope were found, which were marked as Material Ext.-5 and 6 respectively and box was marked as Material Ext.-7. The envelope marked as Material Ext.-5 conditioned a piece of bloodstained bedding, which was marked as Material

Ext.-8 and the envelope marked as Material Ext.-6 contained a piece of bloodstained rope of cot (खून लगा हुआ चारपाई के बांध का एक टुकड़ा), which was marked as Material Ext.-9. Further when a sealed bundle was opened, a piece of saree, a piece of petticoat, a piece of blouse, and four sealed envelopes were found. The saree was marked as Material Ext.-10, petticoat as Material Ext.-11, pieces of blouse as Material Ext. 12; and the four envelopes were marked as Material Ext.- 13, 14, 15 and 16 respectively. He further deposed that the envelope marked as Material Ext. 13 contained a yellow metal ring, which is marked as Material Ext.17; the envelope marked as Material Ext.-14 contained two white metal anklets (payal) which were marked as Material Ext. 18 and 19 respectively; the envelope marked as Material Ext.-15 contained two yellow metal ear tops which were marked as Material Ext. 20 and 21 respectively; and envelope marked as the Material Ext.- 16 contained a yellow metal nose pin, which was marked as Material Ext.- 22. The witness verified the seal and signature of the Director of the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow, on the reports, marked as Ext. Ka- 17.

25. During Cross-Examination, he deposed that he measured the handle of the axe, Material Ext.-2, with his own hands which is around 2 balist 5 angul (दो बालिस्त 5 अंगुल) (roughly around 0.5 meters) in length, and when the same was measured before the trial court, it turned out to be of similar length. He further deposed that the handle of the axe was cracked near the blade and that a wooden piece was attached thereto, though these facts were not mentioned in the recovery memo. He further deposed that while the length of the iron blade was mentioned as about 6 angul (6 अंगुल) (roughly around 0.108-0.12 meters) in the recovery memo, its width was not recorded. He denied the suggestion that the axe was not recovered at the instance of the accused or that the same was planted. He further deposed that the recovery memo of the bloodstained T-shirt of the accused, Ext. Ka-12, was not produced before him in Court and that the said T-shirt was not sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory. He further deposed that at the time of preparing the panchayatnama, he had seen and inspected the injuries on body of deceased and the same were recorded accordingly. He further deposed that no knife was recovered during investigation and that PW-2, Shalu, had not stated before him that her father used a knife or that she was warming herself near a fire (कौड़ा) at the time of the incident or that the accused was tied to a tree after the occurrence. He further deposed that the statement of PW-2, Shalu, was recorded on 05.06.2009, whereas the incident occurred on 27.03.2009. He further deposed that though he met Shalu on the date of inquest proceedings, he did not record her statement at that time and only recorded it later as per requirement of investigation. He denied the suggestion that her statement was deliberately delayed or fabricated. He further deposed that he reached the place of occurrence within about half an hour of starting the investigation, though he did not remember whether Ram Bodh accompanied him. He admitted that the timings of commencement and conclusion of investigation were not recorded in the case diary. He denied the suggestion that the FIR was ante-timed or that the recovery memo was fabricated. He further deposed that at the time of arrest, he did not notice bloodstains on the body of the accused except on his T-shirt and admitted that the T-shirt was not sent for forensic examination. He further deposed that he did not make an investigation regarding prior allegation of beating or earlier criminal proceeding between the parties. He denied the suggestion that the investigation was biased or that the accused was falsely implicated.

26. During re-chief examination, he deposed that the panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-5) was prepared by by SI Jaishankar Rai at his (witness) instance and that upon examining the body, injuries No.1 and 2 were found on the right side and were recorded accordingly. He further deposed that the sketch of the dead body(Ext. Ka- 6) also reflects injuries on the right side.

27. During cross-examination, he deposed that the sketch of the dead body (Ext. Ka-6) and the panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-5) were prepared by S.I. Jai Shankar Rai. He denied the suggestion that the injuries were recorded only on the left side or that he was deposing after seeing the post-mortem report. He further deposed that the site plan (Ext. Ka-11) does not show the place where Shalu and her brother were allegedly warming themselves near the fire (कौड़ा).

28. CW-01 Jaishankar Rai, deposed that the panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-5) was prepared by him on the instructions of SHO Upendra Yadav and that the process of appointing panch witnesses was carried out by the SHO. He further deposed that he noted three injuries found on the body of the deceased at the end of the panchayatnama and, on the instructions of the SHO, depicted injuries No. 1 and 2 on the right side. He further deposed that the panchayatnama was in his handwriting. He also verified and proved the sketch of the dead body (Ext. Ka-6) and stated that the injuries were shown on the right side therein.

29. During cross-examination, he denied the suggestion that he had recorded the injuries on the left side or that he was deliberately showing them on the right side. He further deposed that he did not remember whether his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer during investigation. He affirmed that the panchayatnama was not signed by him and stated that the SHO was present at the spot throughout the preparation of the panchayatnama. He denied the suggestion that he was deposing falsely before the Court.

Court Analysis:

Credibility and Reliability of PW-2 (Child Witness)

30. The learned counsel for the accused-appellant has vehemently contended that the conviction rests primarily on the testimony of PW-2, who is a minor child of the deceased, therefore, her evidence ought to be discarded being an interested witness and susceptible to tutoring. It is crystal clear that the entire case of the prosecution is based on the sole testimony of PW-2, Shalu. This Court is unable to accept the said contention in its entirety.

31. The above-mentioned arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant deserves to be appreciated in the light of the settled legal position. Section 118 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 provides that all persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are incapable of understanding the questions or giving rational answers by reason of tender years or other similar causes. In the present case, the competency of PW-2 was duly tested by the Trial Court before recording her testimony and she was found capable of understanding the questions and giving rational answers. Thus, her testimony is admissible in evidence.

32. The law relating to appreciation of evidence of a child witness is well settled. It is not a rule of criminal jurisprudence that the testimony of a child witness is inherently unreliable or liable to be discarded merely on account of age. However, as a rule of prudence, such evidence requires careful and cautious scrutiny, as a child witness is susceptible to tutoring and impressionable influence.

33. In Pramila v. State of U.P.*, (2021) 12 SCC 550, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that even the sole testimony of a child witness can form the basis of conviction, provided the Court is satisfied that the possibility of tutoring is ruled out. The Supreme Court emphasized in paragraph 5 of the case as under:

"5. ...where a child witness is to be considered, and more so when he is the sole witness, a heightened level of scrutiny is called for... The Court has, therefore, to satisfy itself that all possibilities of tutoring or otherwise are ruled out and what was deposed was nothing but the truth"

34. Applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the present case, it is evident that PW-2 is a natural witness being the daughter of the deceased and residing in the same house where the incident took place. Her presence at the place of occurrence is natural and probable. The core of her testimony, namely, that the accused assaulted the deceased with a sharp-edged weapon, remains consistent and finds corroboration from the medical evidence.

35. At the same time, certain infirmities cannot be ignored. PW-2 was not named as an eyewitness in the FIR and her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded with considerable delay. Further, some improvements are noticeable in her testimony with regard to the manner of occurrence and surrounding circumstances, which are not fully supported by the investigation.

36. However, these infirmities do not go to the root of the prosecution case so as to render her entire testimony unreliable. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the doctrine of falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus is not applicable in India, and the Court is required to separate the grain from the chaff. Even if a part of the testimony is found to be unreliable, the Court can rely upon the credible portion of the evidence.

37. Accordingly, this Court finds that the testimony of PW-2 is reliable to the extent that it establishes the presence of the accused and his involvement in causing injuries to the deceased. However, the inconsistencies and improvements do create some doubt regarding the precise manner of occurrence, which assumes significance while determining the nature of offence.

Non-examination of Material Witnesses

38. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has further contended that the prosecution has failed to examine several material witnesses, including the scribe of the written report, certain panch witnesses, and other witnesses named in the charge-sheet, and therefore the prosecution case is liable to be disbelieved.

39. The said contention cannot be accepted as; it is well settled that the prosecution is not bound to examine each and every witness cited in the charge-sheet. Under Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, no particular number of witnesses are required to prove a fact, and it is the quality of evidence and not the quantity, which is material. The Hon′ble Supreme Court, in State of U.P. v. Anil Singh, (1988) 3 SCC 686, has held that it is not necessary for the prosecution to examine all witnesses and non-examination of some witnesses is not a ground to reject the prosecution case, if the evidence of the witnesses examined is found to be reliable. In the present case, the witnesses examined by the prosecution are found to be cogent and trustworthy, and no prejudice has been shown to have been caused to the accused by non-examination of the scribe or panch witnesses. Therefore, such omission is not fatal to the prosecution case.

40. In the present case, the prosecution has examined the material witnesses, including PW-2 (eyewitness), PW-3 (doctor) and PW-6 (Investigating Officer). The core prosecution story stands supported by their testimonies. No specific prejudice has been demonstrated by the defence on account of non-examination of the scribe or certain panch witnesses.

41. Furthermore, while appreciating the evidence of a rustic village lady, villager or a child witness hailing from a rural background, the Court must bear in mind the background from which such witness comes, their mental state and age at the time of the incident, and the time gap between the occurrence and the recording of their evidence before the Court. The Court must also consider to what extent such witness is capable of understanding and answering the questions put to them during cross-examination.

42. It is a matter of common experience that there is a marked and considerable variation in the level of understanding amongst people from different backgrounds. The intellect of an educated person living in a city differs from that of a person of the same age group living in a village. Generally, people living in rural areas are comparatively simple and less complex in their expression than those from urban settings.

43. In the present case, PW-2 is a girl of tender age of about 12 years, whose mother was done to death by her own father in her presence. The mental condition and agony which she must have faced can be easily understood. The learned counsel for the appellant has questioned and assailed the testimony of PW-2 on the ground of her being tutored, but has failed to indicate any material from which it can even remotely be inferred that she was tutored. In fact, there is no iota of evidence which can be termed as 'tutoring'.

44. It is also important to consider as to why a minor girl would depose falsely against her own father and what benefit she would derive from such false implication. The learned Trial Court, after careful evaluation and appreciation of the entire evidence on record, has found the testimony of PW-2 to be reliable, which finding does not call for outright rejection, though it requires cautious scrutiny in light of the surrounding circumstances.

Ocular Evidence vis-a-vis Medical Evidence:

45. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant further submits that there exists inconsistency between the ocular version and the medical evidence on record. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that where the ocular evidence is credible and trustworthy, minor inconsistencies with medical evidence do not render the prosecution case doubtful. However, where the medical evidence probabilizes an alternative version or creates doubt regarding the manner of occurrence, the Court must carefully reconcile the two and extend benefit to the accused on the question of nature of offence.

46. In the present case, PW-2 has deposed that the accused assaulted the deceased with a sharp-edged weapon, namely an axe, and in her deposition has further introduced the use of a knife. However, this part of her testimony does not find support from the investigation and evidence of post-mortem doctor (PW-6), as PW-6 has categorically deposed that no knife was recovered and such fact was not stated by PW-2 during investigation. Thus, to that extent, her testimony is clearly an improvement and cannot be relied upon.

47. The medical evidence, as proved by PW-3, shows that the deceased sustained three incised wounds on vital parts of the body, particularly on the neck and occipital region of the head, with injury No. 1 being bone deep and involving cutting of internal structures of the neck. The cause of death has been opined to be shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The doctor has further clarified in cross-examination that all the injuries could have been caused by a single sharp-edged weapon and that even injury No. 3, which is deeper, could be the result of application of greater force by the same weapon.

48. Thus, the medical evidence clearly establishes that the death was homicidal and caused by a sharp-edged weapon. It also substantially corroborates the core of the ocular testimony that the accused inflicted injuries upon the deceased.

FIR is ante-timed and concocted

49. The submission of the learned counsel for the accused-appellant that the FIR is ante-timed deserves consideration in light of certain inconsistencies appearing on record.

50. From the testimony of PW-1, it emerges that he received information at about 8:00 A.M. and reached the police station at around 10:30-11:00 A.M., whereas the FIR is shown to have been lodged at 8:10 A.M. This discrepancy creates doubt regarding the exact time and manner of lodging of the FIR. Further, PW-1 has given inconsistent versions regarding the source of information and has admitted that when he reached the place of occurrence, the police had already arrived there.

51. These circumstances indicate that the prosecution version regarding prompt lodging of the FIR is not free from doubt and suggests possibility of some delay or embellishment.

52. However, it is well settled that merely because the FIR is suspected to be ante-timed, the entire prosecution case cannot be discarded if the core of the prosecution case is otherwise proved by reliable evidence. In the present case, the homicidal death of the deceased stands established and the ocular testimony of PW-2 finds support from medical evidence.

53. Accordingly, while the FIR suffers from certain infirmities, the same is not sufficient to discard the entire prosecution case, but calls for cautious appreciation of the evidence.

Absence of Motive and Plea of Sudden Act:

54. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has contended that there was no premeditated motive to commit the offence and that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel between husband and wife, in the heat of passion. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has placed reliance upon the judgments of Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory, (1989) 2 SCC 217; Chandigarh, Pundalik v. State of Maharashtra, (2010) 15 SCC 122; and Rambir v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2019) 6 SCC 122 to contend that the benefit of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC ought to be extended and the offence would fall under Section 304 IPC.

55. In Surinder Kumar (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has explained that for invoking Exception 4, four conditions must be satisfied, namely: (i) the occurrence must be sudden; (ii) there must be no premeditation; (iii) the act must be done in the heat of passion; and (iv) the offender must not have taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. Similarly, in Pundalik (supra), in the context of a matrimonial dispute, the conviction under Section 302 IPC was altered to Section 304 IPC, where the assault was the result of a sudden quarrel between husband and wife. In Rambir (supra), it was held that even use of a weapon picked up at the spur of the moment during a sudden quarrel would attract Exception 4, provided the act is not barbaric or unusually cruel.

56. Applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the present case, it emerges from the evidence on record that the accused and the deceased were husband and wife and there existed domestic discord between them. The occurrence took place inside the house and arose out of a quarrel. There is no material on record to suggest any premeditation or prior planning. The weapon used appears to have been picked up at the spot during the course of the incident.

57. Further, though the injuries are on vital parts, the medical evidence does not indicate such excessive or barbaric assault so as to conclusively infer that the accused acted in a cruel or unusual manner or took undue advantage. The act appears to have been committed in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel.

58. Thus, the ratio laid down in the aforesaid judgments squarely applies to the facts of the present case. All the essential ingredients of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC stand satisfied. Accordingly, while the conviction of the accused cannot be sustained under Section 302 IPC, the case would fall within the ambit of Section 304 Part II IPC.

Conclusion:

59. In view of the foregoing discussion and upon a comprehensive re-appreciation of the entire evidence on record, this Court is of the considered opinion that the prosecution has been able to establish beyond reasonable doubt that it was the accused who caused the injuries to the deceased which resulted in her death. The findings of the learned trial court to this extent, regarding the involvement of the accused, are affirmed.

60. However, this Court finds that the prosecution has not been able to establish the element of intention so as to bring the case within the ambit of Section 300 I.P.C. The evidence on record indicates that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel without premeditation. At the same time, considering the nature of the act and the injury caused, the accused can be said to be attributed with the knowledge that such act was likely to cause death.

61. Accordingly, the conviction of the accused, Dev Bahadur, under Section 302 I.P.C. is liable to be altered to one under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

62. The conviction of the accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C., as recorded by the learned trial court, is hereby altered to a conviction under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

63. Insofar as the sentence is concerned, it is noted that the accused has already undergone incarceration for a period of 18 years, 07 months and 11 days as on 16.12.2025, which exceeds the maximum sentence prescribed under Section 304 Part II I.P.C., i.e., imprisonment for a term which may extend to 10 years.

64. In view of the aforesaid, the period of imprisonment already undergone by the accused is held to be sufficient sentence for the offence under Section 304 Part II I.P.C. The sentence of fine, imposed by the trial court, is maintained. However, in case the fine has already been deposited, no further order is required; and in case of default sentence, it is observed that the accused has already undergone incarceration exceeding even the maximum prescribed term.

65. The appeal, therefore, stands partly allowed.

66. The accused-appellant is directed to be released forthwith, if not required in any other case.

67. Pending applications, if any, shall stand disposed of.

68. Let a certified copy of this judgment along with the lower court record be transmitted to the court concerned forthwith, and in any case within a period of one week, for compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1127
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 15.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 665 of 1984

Sheo Kumar Tiwari & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction and sentence of the appellants under Sections 148 and 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 are sustainable where the prosecution relies upon ocular evidence, medical evidence and other corroborative circumstances, despite the dying declaration being found unreliable on account of the medical condition of the deceased, and whether the prosecution proved beyond reasonable doubt the existence of an unlawful assembly sharing the common object of committing murder. (Paras 1, 2, 65, 75, 88)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Murder - Appreciation of ocular evidence vis-à-vis dying declaration and medical evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 148 and 302 read with S. 149 - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - S. 374(2) - Burden lies upon prosecution to establish guilt beyond reasonable doubt and prompt FIR cannot be treated as ante-timed merely on the basis of mathematical calculations regarding time taken for recording proceedings where witnesses state only approximate time. (Paras 55-63)

Criminal Law - Dying Declaration - Medical fitness of maker - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 149 - Where severe injuries to the lips, tongue, maxilla, neck muscles and carotid artery rendered the deceased medically incapable of making a statement, the alleged dying declaration was not worthy of reliance and stood discarded. (Paras 67, 68)

Criminal Law - Identification of accused - Source of light - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 148 and 302 read with S. 149 - Co-villagers can identify each other by voice, appearance and manner and the light available from the bonfire, lantern and torches was sufficient for identification of the assailants. (Para 70)

Criminal Law - Ocular evidence - Medical corroboration - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 149 - Minor variations regarding firing distance or presence of blackening, tattooing and scorching do not render ocular testimony unreliable where the evidence of eye-witnesses is otherwise trustworthy and consistent with the prosecution case. (Paras 71, 79)

Evidence - Conduct of witnesses - There is no universal rule prescribing how a witness must react to a murder and evidence cannot be discarded merely because a witness did not behave in any particular manner. (Para 81)

Criminal Law - Motive - Though motive assumes lesser significance where there is reliable direct evidence, the deceased being the most influential member of the family and actively pursuing earlier proceedings against the appellants furnished a clear motive for the crime. (Paras 83, 85)

Criminal Law - Unlawful Assembly - Common Object - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 148 and 149 - Common object established where all the appellants arrived together armed with firearms and deadly weapons, raised the exhortation maaro-maaro, participated in the assault and fled together after the occurrence - Conviction under Sections 148 and 302 read with Section 149 IPC affirmed notwithstanding rejection of the dying declaration, as the prosecution proved the case beyond reasonable doubt through reliable ocular and corroborative evidence. (Paras 86-88)

Held: The court of law cannot be guided by arithmetic calculations since the memory of witnesses is fallible and the time stated by them is only approximate and mere calculation of minutes cannot render the prompt FIR ante-timed - The alleged dying declaration requires careful scrutiny and where the deceased had sustained extensive injuries to the lips tongue maxilla neck muscles and carotid artery making him medically incapable of giving a statement no reliance can be placed upon such dying declaration - The source of light from the bonfire lantern and torches was sufficient for co-villagers to identify the assailants by voice appearance and manner - Ocular evidence has primacy unless it is wholly irreconcilable with medical evidence and minor variations regarding firing distance or blackening tattooing and scorching do not demolish otherwise reliable eye-witness testimony - There is no rule of natural reaction and evidence cannot be discarded merely because a witness did not react in a particular manner - Motive loses significance where there is direct and trustworthy evidence though the deceased being the most influential member of the family and actively pursuing proceedings against the appellants furnished a clear motive for the crime - Common object stood established as all the appellants arrived together armed with firearms and deadly weapons raised the exhortation maaro-maaro participated in the assault and fled together after the occurrence - The prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and the conviction of the appellants under Sections 148 and 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code was rightly affirmed. (Paras 60, 68, 70, 71, 79, 81, 83, 85, 86, 87, 88) (E-7)

Case Law Cited

State (Delhi Administration) Vs. Laxman Kumar & Ors (1985) 4 SCC 475; Panchanand Mandal Alias Panchan Mandal Vs. State of Jharkhand* (2013) 9 SCC 800; The State of Jharkhand Vs. Shailendra Kumar Rai @ Pandav Rai* 2022 (14) SCC 299; K. Ramachandra Reddy v. Public Prosecutor, 1976 (3) SCC 618; Krishnegowda & Ors Vs. State of Karnataka* (2017) 13 SCC 98;* Criminal Appeal Nos.541-543 of 2015 (Sri Chikkegowda & Ors. Vs. State of Karnataka etc.); Darbara Singh v. State ofPunjab5; State of U.P. v. Hari Chand; Pruthviraj Jayantibhai Vanol v. Dinesh Dayabhai Vala & Ors; Nima Ghosh & Ors Vs. State of Bihar 2025 INSC 816; Rana Pratap v/s State of Haryana* AIR 1983 SC 680, (1983) 3 SCC 327; Aslam Alias Imran Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh* 2025 SCC Online 670; State of Maharashtra v. Kashirao,* (2003) 10 SCC 434

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973; Prevention of Corruption Act,1988.

List of Keywords

Murder; Unlawful assembly; Common object; Ocular testimony; Dying declaration; Ante-timed FIR; Blackening and tattooing; Identification; Bonfire; Country-made pistol; Farsa

Case Arising From

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 preferred against the judgment and order dated 03.03.1984 passed by Shri G.D. Dubey, Sessions Judge, Ballia, in Session Trial No. 75 of 1983, arising out of Case Crime No. 24 of 1983 (State Vs. Sheo Kumar Tiwari and Others), convicting and sentencing the appellants under Sections 148 and 302 read with 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:
Jitendra Shanker pandey, Rajeev Goswami,
Virendra Singh, Rakesh Kumar
Advs. for the Respondents:
Ms. Divya Ojha, Learned A.G.A. for the State of U.P.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjiv Kumar, J.)

1. The instant Criminal Appeal, under Section 374 (2) Cr.P.C., has been preferred by appellants/convicts Sheo Kumar Tiwari son of Jageraas Tiwari; Kailash Mishra son of Gopal Mishra; Raj Narain Tiwari son of Sheo Kumar Tiwari; Shiv Shankar Pandey son of Varmeshwar Pandey; Ishwar Das Tiwari son of Ramashray Tiwari; Durgadas Tiwari and Devdas Tiwari both sons of Mohan Tiwari, all residents of Village- Puras, Police Station- Bansdih Road, District- Ballia, against the judgment and order dated 03.03.1984 passed by Shri G.D. Dubey, Sessions Judge, Ballia, in Session Trial No. 75 of 1983, arising out of Case Crime No. 24 of 1983 (State Vs. Sheo Kumar Tiwari and Others), under Sections 148 and 302 read with 149 Indian Penal Code,1860, (in short IPC), Police Station- Bansdih Road, District- Ballia.

2. By the impugned judgment and order, all the appellants were held guilty and have been convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for one year's rigorous imprisonment for offence punishable under Section 148 IPC; each of them were further sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life for offence punishable under Section 302 read with 149 IPC, and it was directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. The present Criminal Appeal in regard to accused appellant nos. 1 Sheo Kumar Tiwari and appellant no.3 Raj Narain Tiwari, has abated, vide order dated 4th July, 2025. Therefore, the present Criminal Appeal now proceeds in regard to appellant Nos. 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7, to wit, Kailash Mishra, Sheo Kumar Pandey, Ishwar Dayal Tiwari, Durga Das Tiwari and Deo Das Tiwari, respectively, only.

4. Brief facts of the prosecution case are that informant Ram Ji Singh son of Ram Jhalak Singh, resident of Village Puras, Police Station- Bansdih Road, District- Ballia, submitted a written application (tehrir) dated 08.02.1983 (Ext. Ka-2) in Police Station- Bansdih Road, stating therein that earlier he had lodged a report with regard to assault committed by Sheo Kumar Tiwari and others, which was being inquired. Sheo Kumar Tiwari and his men were under impression that informant′s brother Akhand Pratap Singh, a Sub-Inspector in Police Department, was doing pairvi in that case. His brother Akhand Pratap Singh had come to home, on leave, with regard to a marriage ceremony.

5. Today, i.e., 08.02.1983 at about 06:30 p.m. when applicant and his brother Akhand Pratap Singh, nephew Ranvijay Singh, Moti Lal Gonsai son of Nand Kishore Gonsai, Sudarshan Singh son of Shiv Nandan Singh all resident of Village- Puras, and Kamta Singh son of Ram Govind Singh resident of Village- Rohua, Keshav Singh son of Faujdaar Singh resident of Village- Harpur, Police Station- Bansdih Road, were sitting at his door around bonfire (alaao), when Kailash Mishra, Sheo Kumar Tiwari, Raj Narain Tiwari, carrying guns in their hands, alongwith Shiv Shankar Pandey, Ishwar Dayal Tiwari, Durga Das Tiwari and Dev Das Tiwari, carrying farsa, entered in the courtyard shouting "maaro maaro" and after flashing their torches Sheo Kumar Tiwari, Kailash Mishra and Raj Narain Tiwari, fired at his brother Akhand Pratap Singh with the intention to kill, as a result Akhand Pratap Singh fell at the spot. He identified the assailants and their companions in the light of bonfire, lantern and flash of the torches. Thereafter, all the seven accused fled towards southern direction, after giving threat to him. He brought his injured brother Akhand Pratap Singh to the police station, who has sustained grievous gunshot injuries and his condition was critical.

6. On the basis of above application (tehrir), chik FIR under case crime no. 83 of 1983, under Sections 147, 148, 149 and 307 IPC was registered on 08.02.1983 at 21:10 p.m., at Police Station- Bansdih Road, District- Ballia, against all the seven appellants and the investigation commenced.

7. The Investigating Officer Laxmi Singh Mishra, reached at the place of occurrence and collected blood-stained earth and plain earth from there and prepared its fard baramadagi (Ext. Ka-16). He also collected blood-stained wood cut from the chair, on which the deceased was sitting, and prepared its fard baramadagi (Ext. Ka-17). He further collected an empty cartridge 12 bore and 11 pellets and prepared its fard baramadagi, (Ext. Ka-18). He raided accused′s houses to apprehend them. The statement of informant, Ranvijay Singh and also of injured Akhand Pratap Singh (Ext. Ka-13) was recorded at the police station. His brother was medically examined at Sadar Hospital, Ballia, who found his condition critical and referred him to Varanasi for further treatment. On way to Varanasi, his brother Akhand Pratap Singh died. His post-mortem was conducted and inquest was prepared. The I.O. recorded statements of other witnesses, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared its site-plan, (Ext. Ka-14). He sent blood-stained earth, blood-stained wood, blood-stained clothes, allegedly worn by the deceased for forensic examination. Human blood was found over clothes, cartridge and under garments. After collecting the evidence, the I.O. submitted charge-sheet before the concerned Magistrate court.

8. The concerned court took cognizance of the offence and summoned the accused. They appeared before the court and were furnished copies of relevant prosecution papers under Section 207 Cr.P.C., thereafter the case was committed to the court of sessions for trial.

9. The appellants appeared before the court of sessions and charge under Section 148 and 302 read with 149 IPC was framed against them to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

10. The prosecution has examined 16 witnesses in support of the case, to wit, P.W. 1 Ramji Singh; P.W. 2 Moti Lal Gosai; P.W. 3 Kamta Singh; P.W. 4 Ranvijay Singh; P.W. 5 Dr. S.N. Pandey; P.W. 6 Dr. R.N. Sharma; P.W. 7 Prabhunath; P.W. 8 S.I. Rameshwar Prasad Mishra; P.W. 9 S.O. Laxmi Singh; P.W. 10 Constable Shivlakhan Ram; P.W. 11 Head Constable Lalji Yadav; P.W. 12 Prabhunath; P.W. 13 Head Constable Bhrigunath; P.W. 14 Constable Dileep Kumar Ojha; P.W. 15 Constable Awadh Narain Singh; and P.W. 16 Constable Chandrapal. Chandra Bhan Singh was also examind as C.W. 1.

11. P.W. 1 Ramji Singh is the informant and eye-witness of the case. He has said that he has four brothers and all of them live jointly. His brother Shivji is in Army, Parshuram Singh is in Railways and Akhand Pratap Singh is Inspector in Police Department. His house is to the south of village having door to the East. There is a courtyard in front of the gate surrounded by a boundary wall. All the seven appellants are residents of his village. In an election for Gram Pradhan, in the year 1982, Raj Narain Tiwari, the informant and Chand Bhan Singh and some others contested. Raj Narain Tiwari won the election by a single vote. This election was challenged by Chand Bhan Singh, on behalf of informant, which raised tension between both the parties. Police initiated proceedings under Section 107 Cr.P.C. against some of the accused. On 04.12.1982 he was beaten by the accused, while on way at return from the tubewell, and they took him in a garden to kill, but he escaped when some persons reached there. Thereafter, he had lodged the report at the police station in this regard. The witness had proved the carbon copy of the report (Ext. Ka.1), and has said that his brother Akhand Pratap Singh was murdered about five months ago. He had come to the village 4-5 days earlier in connection with a marriage. Akahnd Pratap Singh had done pairvi with regard to his report in the police station. At about 06:30 p.m., on the fateful day, the informant, the deceased and Keshav Singh, Kamta Singh, Ranvijay Singh, Sudarshan Singh and Motilal Gosai were sitting in front of the bonfire (alaao). Akhand Pratap Singh was sitting on a chair, there was a lantern lit on the wall of a nearby room, some light was also coming from the bonfire. The boundary gate was open, then all the seven accused came there, out of them Raj Narain Tiwari, Shiv Kumar Tiwari and Kailash Mishra were carrying country-made pistols and Durga Das Tiwari, Dev Das Tiwari, Ishwar Dayal Tiwari and Shiv Shankar Pandey were having farsa in their hands. They came there flashing their torches and saying "maaro- maaro". Shiv

Kumar Tiwari, Raj Narain Tiwari and Kailash Mishra shot his brother Akhand Pratap Singh and other accused flashed their torches. Thereafter, they ran towards South, after giving them threat. The villagers came and he wrote down the written application which he proved as Ext. Ka.1.

12. He has further said that his brother was alive and he was taken to the police station on a cot, there he submitted his written application. The Inspector was present there, who inquired from him, his brother Akhand Pratap Singh and nephew Ranvijay Singh. His brother Akhand Pratap Singh was speaking slowly, but was conscious. From the Police Station, he was sent to the Hospital at Ballia. In Ballia the doctors advised them to take the injured to Varanasi after giving him first-aid. Thereafter, they proceeded to Varanasi but on the way his brother died. Then they returned to the Hospital at Ballia. The lantern which was hanging at the time of the incident was taken to the police station, but in a hurry it was left in the hospital at Ballia and later it was lost. The blood had splattered where his brother was sitting on chair and was shot. Blood also dropped on the chair. His brother Akhand Pratap Singh was posted as Sub-Inspector in District- Kanpur. The above witness has been throughly cross-examined. At the time of argument the attention of this Court was drawn towards some contradictions in his statement to discredit this witness, which shall be discussed in later part of the judgment.

13. P.W. 2 Moti Lal Gosai, is one of the eye-witness of the case, he has said that on the fateful day at about 06:30 pm., he was sitting with the informant, the deceased and other persons in the courtyard of the informant around bonfire. Akhand Pratap Singh was sitting on the chair, a lantern was lit hanging at the wall of a room. The gate of courtyard was open then all the seven accused came there out of them, Shiv Kumar Tiwari, Raj Narain Tiwari and Kailash Mishra were having country-made pistol and rest were having farsa in their hands. After entering inside the gate upto 5-6 steps, they shouted 'maaro-maaro' and Shiv Kumar Tiwari, Raj Narain Tiwari and Kailash Mishra shot at Akhand Pratap Singh while Ishwar Dayal Singh and Shiv Shankar Tiwari flashed their torches. After shooting, the accused fled from the spot giving them threat. Nobody chased the appellants. Ramji, Ranvijay Singh and others took the Akhand Pratap Singh to the police station on a cot. He did not go to the police station. The above witness has been throughly cross-examined. At the time of argument the attention of this Court was drawn towards some contradictions in his statement to discredit the witness, which shall be discussed in later part of the judgment.

14. P.W. 3 Kamta Singh is also one of the eye-witness of the case, who has also stated that on the fateful day at about 06:30 p.m. he had gone to the Ramji Singh's house alongwith Keshav Singh, resident of Harpur, with regard to proposal for marriage of his mama's daughter. He was sitting alongwith Ramji Singh, Ranvijay Singh, Motilal Gosai, Sudarshan Singh on the ground, Akhand Pratap Singh was sitting on a chair at a little distance. A lantern was lit on the western wall. The light was also coming from the bonfire. Meanwhile, all the seven accused came shouting 'maaro-maaro. Shiv Kumar, Raj Narain Tiwari and Kailash Mishra, were carrying country-made pistols and rest of them were having farsa. Shiv Shankar and Ishwar Dayal were flashing torches. After entering in the courtyard, Shiv Kumar, Raj Narain Tiwari and Kailash Mishra shot at Akhand Pratap Singh as a result he fell on the chair. The accused fled from the place after giving them threat. Ramji, Ranvijay Singh, and others took Akhand Pratap Singh to the police station on a cot. The deceased was wearing Bu-shirt, Sweater, and Pant having strip and thread (Ext. 9 to Ext. 13). The above witness has been throughly cross-examined. At the time of argument the attention of this Court was drawn towards some contradictions in his statement to discredit the witness, which shall be discussed in later part of the judgment.

15. P.W. 4 Ranvijay Singh, has said that the deceased was his father. During the days when the incident occurred, he was studying in Gorakhpur and the deceased had come to the village 4-5 days before the incident. He himself came one day prior to the incident, after the examination was over. His father had came with regard to his tau's daughter's marriage. His own marriage was already settled. This was also one of the reason why the deceased had come to the village. On the date of incident at about 06:30 p.m. they were sitting in the courtyard around bonfire along with deceased and others. His father was sitting on a chair and rest of the persons were sitting on the ground over bricks. All the accused came there shouting 'maaro-maaro'. Raj Narain Tiwari was carrying double barrel gun and Shiv Kumar and Kailash Mishra were having single barrel guns and rest of the accused were carrying farsa. Ishwar Dayal and Shiv Shankar Pandey were having torches in their hands. All the three men carrying country-made pistols, shot at his father and the other accused flashed their torches. His father fell and the accused fled from the spot giving threat. His father was carrying a revolver and bullets. His uncle gave him the revolver and bullets, which he kept inside the house. His uncle Ramji Singh wrote down the application at the spot and thereafter they carried his father on a cot to Police Station- Bansdih Road, where his uncle Ramji Singh gave application to the Constable. From the police station, his father was sent to the District Hospital- Ballia along with constables. His father was examined at a Hospital at Ballia who advised them to take his father to Varanasi and when they were taking his father to Varanasi then near Fefana, he died. Then they returned to the Hospital. He has further said that at the police station his father was speaking, in low voice. The truck by which his father was taken to Ballia was paid fare and the witness filed a receipt in this regard which he has proved as Ext. Ka-3. His father was wearing strip and thread while being taken to the police station, where the Inspector saw them. The Inspector did not ask about the revolver. His father was posted in Police Station- Bankata, District- Deoria in year 1979-80. He did not know that any inquiry was pending against him. He had reached Ballia in the evening of 06.02.1983 and the next day he had went to his village. On the date of incident he remained at his house since morning till the incident took place. After shouting maaro-maaro, the accused flashed their torches. The Constable had seen his father's injuries at the Police Station. He reached at the Police Station at about 09:00 p.m. and remained there for about half an hour. He reached hospital at 09:45 p.m. and remained there for 15 minutes. At the time of argument the attention of this Court was drawn towards some contradictions in his statement to discredit the witness, which shall be discussed in later part of the judgment.

16. P.W. 5 Dr. S.N. Pandey, is the expert witness who has conducted post-mortem of deceased on 09.02.1983 at 03:00 p.m. at mortury in District- Ballia. He has said that the body was average built, rigor mortis was present over the body. He found following ante-mortm injuries over the body of the deceased:-

(i) Lacerated wound 3cm x 2.5 cm x bone deep to the corner of left jaw and right corner of mouth adjacent to both lips. There was blackening, tattooing and singeing of hairs present over 1/3 part of lips. Half part of left jaw, some teeth and left and lower part of maxilla, muscles and jaw veins of left part of neck and jaw blood vessels and veins were badly lacerated.

(ii) Lacerated wound 3cm x 1cm x bone deep to the edge and middle dorsal object right middle finger; bones, muscles and tendons were badly lacerated. Blackening, tattooing or singeing was not present.

(iii) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 1cm x bone deep over last pour of index finger of right hand. Bones, muscles, vessels and tendons were badly lacertated. Blackening, tattooing and singeing was not present. There was yellow lotion found over injury no. 3;

(iv) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 1 cm muscle deep, at the root of right thumb. No blackening, tattooing or singening was present. Yellow lotion was found over the wound;

(v) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x .5 cm x muscle deep, to the front of right wrist. Blackening, tattooing and singeing was not present. Yellow lotion was found over the wound;

(vi) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 1.5 cm x muscle deep, oval shape over right illiac fossa. Blackening, tattooing and singeing was present. Yellow lotion was found over the wound;

(vii) Lacerated wound 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm, skin deep over right illiac fossa, just over injury no. 6. Blackening, tattooing and singeing was not present. Yellow lotion was found over the wound;

(viii) Stitched wound of the length of 15 cm from right iliac crest upto pubic symphysis. After opening the stitches, the injury of size of 15cm x 4cm x muscle deep was found. Blackening, tattooing and singeing was present. The margins are inverted and burnt. Pellets, 17 in numbers, were recovered from inside the muscles.

In internal examination, one litre blood was found inside the stomach. Small intestine was empty, large intestine was filled with gases and faecal matter.

17. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death was haemorrhage and shock as a result of ante-mortem injures. He has proved post-mortem report as Ext. Ka-4 and has further stated that 15 pellets found from the body were sealed in a packet (Ext. Ka-16) and handed over to the Constable.

18. In cross-examination he has said that injury no.1 was caused from a distance of less than 3 feet, but it cannot be said from which direction the above injury was caused. As he has not written how much the tongue was injured, therefore, he cannot tell that the deceased was in a condition to speak or not. If he would have be able to speak then his voice would have been changed. Left side of mouth and veins were injured. There was no blackening or singeing over injury nos. 2 and 3, therefore, it could not have been caused by the same fire as was over injury no. 1. Injury nos. 2 and 3 could be caused by a single shot. Injury nos. 4 and 5 were caused by different shots. He had not written the direction from where the pellets entered the body. The pellets could reach only upto the muscle of the stomach and have not entered inside the stomach. Injury no. 8 was caused from a direction of upward to downward.

19. P.W. 6 Dr. R.N. Sharma, has examined the deceased in injured condition at Sadar Hospital, Ballia. He has said that on 08.10.1983 at about 09:30 p.m. he was posted as medical officer in Sadar Hospital, Ballia then at 09:45 p.m. Akhand Pratap singh was brought by Constable Ramsinhasan Maurya. He examined the patient and found following injuries:-

(i) Lacerated wound 6 cm x 1.5 cm depth kept under observation over upper left side of upper lip upto 1.3 of lower lip. Fresh bleeding was present.

(ii) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 0.5 cm through and through over left part of tongue. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(iii) Lacerated wound 14 cm x 3.5 cm, depth kept under observation over lower part of right side of the stomach below right iliac superior spine upto testicles. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(iv) Lacerated wound 3 cm x 2 cm, depth kept under observation over middle of right palm. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(v) Lacerated wound 2.5 cm x 1.5 cm, depth kept under observation over left part of right palm 3 cm below injury no. 4. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(vi) Lacerated wound 2 cm x 1 cm, through and through, over the dorsal aspect of right middle finger on tip. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(vii) Lacerated wound 2 cm x 1 cm through and through, over the tip of right ring finger. The margins were lacerated and bleeding was present.

(viii) Lacerated wound, two in numbers, of the same size 1 cm x 1 cm x depth kept under observation, over lower part of right side of stomach, 3 cm below injury no. 3.

All the injures were kept under observation and X-Ray was advised. All the injuries were fresh. He has proved injury report Ext. Ka-5 and has said that the above injuries could have been caused on 18.02.1983 at 06:30 p.m. and the injuries were sufficient to cause death. He has also stated that he had informed the death of the deceased to the Police Station- Kotwali by a memo which he proved as Ext. Ka-6.

20. He further stated that the condition of the injured was critical so the injured was sent to Hospital at Varanasi. He has brought bed head ticket of the injured in which his condition is shown as critical. He was breathing heavily and was semi conscious, he has proved bed head ticket as Ext. Ka-7.

21. In his cross-examination, P.W. 6, has said that the injured was admitted in the Hospital at 09:40 p.m. and he was sent to the Varanasi at 10:40 p.m. He has written a note that the patient was not in a condition to give any dying declaration. The surgeon had also opined the same.

22. P.W. 7 Prabhunath, Clerk District Hospital, Ballia is a formal witness who had taken five sealed bundles to carry them for forensic examination to Forensic Science Laboratory, Uttar Pradesh, Agra.

23. P.W. 8 S.I. Rameshwar Prasad Mishra, has prepared inquest of the deceased on 09.02.1983 at 09:20 a.m. He has proved inquest as Ext. Ka-8 and related papers from Ext. Ka-9 to Ext. Ka-12. He has further said that, he prepared inquest of the deceased at Sadar Hospital, Ballia, and after preparation of inquest the body was sealed for being sent to mortuary for autopsy.

24. P.W. 9 S.O. Laxmi Singh, is the I.O. of the case. He has said that the case was registered at the police station in his presence. He recorded statements of Ramji Singh, Ranvijay Singh and Akhand Pratap singh at the police station. Akhand Pratap Singh was in a condition to speak and he was conscious. Whatever Akhand Pratap Singh told, he wrote down that in his case diary. The copy of which he has proved as Ext. Ka-13 and has said that Akhand Pratap Singh was seriously injured so he was sent to District Hospital, Ballia by truck along with his brother Ramji Singh and others. Thereafter, he reached at the place of occurrence and recorded statements of other witnesses and inspected the place of occurrence in the light of petromax and prepared its site-plan, which he proved as Ext. Ka-14. He found bonfire at the place of occurrence, which he has shown in the site-plan. He also found the chair and the blood splattered over there. He collected sample of blood-stained earth and plain earth into separate boxes and sealed them at the spot (Exts. 17 and 18), and prepared its fard baramadagi which he proved as Exts. Ka-15 and Ka-16. He also took a piece of blood-stained wood from the chair and prepared its fard baramadagi (Ext. Ka.17). He also found some pellets there, which he sealed. The witness has proved blood-stained wood (Ext. 19). He has also said that he found empty cartridge at place-B, shown in the site-plan, which was a mis-fired cartridge. The witness has proved this cartridge as Ext. 20.

25. On 09.09.1983 he came to know about the death of Akhand Pratap Singh and the case was converted under Section 302 IPC. He searched the accused, but they absconded. He attached their properties after taking necessary orders from the concerned Magistrate and after collecting evidence he filed charge-sheet which he has proved as Ext. Ka-43. He has further said that he has sent blood-stained articles for chemical examination.

26. In cross-examination he has said that the witness Moti lal and Kamta were present at the time of inspection of place of occurrence. The witness had told him the place from where the fire was shot, which was approximately 10 steps from the deceased. Ranvijay Singh had not stated that Ramji Singh was also sitting around bonfire and accused Shiv Shankar and Ishwar Dayal were flashing their torches. It took 5-6 minutes for the Head Moharrir to scribe FIR and enter it in GD. In 15-20 minutes he came to know that the truck has arrived till then he had recorded the statement of Ramji Singh. He remained in the police station upto 09:45 p.m. Akhand Pratap Singh was stating in low voice with interruptions. His statement was recorded in 6-7 lines, it took about 4-5 minutes in recording his statement. He did not take any signature over the statement of Akhand Pratap Singh. In his case diary, it is mentioned that Ran Vijay Singh has come to the police station. The area of courtyard of the deceased is not shown in the said site-plan. He did not collect ash or burnt wood from bonfire. It is the rule that whenever an Inspector proceeds on leave, he should deposit his service revolver in the police station. None of the accused were license holders of fire arms.

27. P.W. 10, Constable Shiv Lakhan Ram, is a formal witness who had taken the body of the deceased to mortuary for post-mortem.

28. P.W. 11, Head Constable Lal Ji Yadav, is also a formal witness who had deposited the sealed articles in Sadar Maalkhana and sent them for Forensic Chemical Examination to Agra.

29. P.W. 12 Prabhunath, is also a formal witness who had taken five sealed packets to Forensic Science Laboratory, Uttar Pradesh, Agra.

30. P.W.13 Bhrigunath, is the scribe of the FIR. He has stated that on 08.02.1983, he was posted in Police Station Bansdih Road as Head Constable and at 09.10 p.m. Ramji Singh gave him a written application, bringing injured Akhand Pratap Singh on a cot the same time. He scribed the chik FIR (Ext. Ka-44) and entered its gist in G.D. No.33 (Ext. Ka-45). Constable Sitaram prepared chitthi majrubi of the injured which bears signature of SO Laxmi Singh. He has proved chitthi majrubi as Ext. Ka-5a. The injured was conscious but had difficulty to speak. On 09.02.1983 at 06:45 a.m. Constable Ram Singhasan came to the police station and informed that Akhand Pratap Singh had died thereupon he converted the case from 307 IPC to 302 IPC.

31. On 10.02.1983 at 12:30 Laxmi Singh came at the police station and deposited sealed packets. On 12.02.1983 at 01:45 p.m. Constable Chandrapal Singh came to the police station and deposited sealed packets. On 22.02.1983 at 09:10 a.m. sealed packets and sample seal was given to the Constable Awadh Narayan Singh to deposit them at Sadar Maalkhana, Ballia. On 06.02.1983, S.I. Laikh returned to the police station. In his cross-examination, the witness has said that at the time he was scribing the chik FIR, Akhand Pratap Singh was lying on a cot outside and he himself saw the injuries. Crime number and section was not mentioned in chitthi majrubi. It is not mentioned in G.D. that Akhand Pratap Singh was conscious and was able to speak. Akhand Pratap Singh was not having any revolver only shell and cord was there. After he completed the G.D, within 7-8 minutes Akhand Pratap Singh was sent to Ballia.

32. P.W. 14 Constable Dileep Kumar Ojha, has proved G.D. dated 09.02.1983 and 12.02.1983 at Police Station- Kotwali, scribed by Constable Uma Shankar as Ext. Ka-51 and Ext. Ka-52.

33. P.W. 15 Constable Awadh Narain Singh, is a formal witness, who had taken sealed packets to Sadar Maalkhana, Ballia and deposited there.

34. P.W. 16 Constable Chandrapal, is also a formal witness who has said that on 12.02.1983 sealed case property was taken from Police Station- Kotwali to Police Station- Bansdih Road and he deposited them in sealed condition.

35. As C.W. 1, the court has examined Chandra Bhan Singh, who has said that he is the Manager in Vaishali Hotel, District- Ballia, since last 8 years. The register of guests, having entries with regard to there destination and purpose, is maintained at the hotel. The date, time and allotted room no. is also written in the register. The signature of the guest are also taken over the register. At the time of recording of statement Ramji Singh was also present in the court. The witness said that he had never seen him and he does not know his father's name as well as his address. Entry made in the register at Serial No.2804 was not entered in his presence. On entry at Serial Nos. 2603, 2932 and 2993 dated 08.02.1993 Ramji Singh is written and his father's name Shiv Nandan Singh is written with another ink pen. The above register is kept at the counter of the hotel. He does not know when 'son of Shiv Nandan Singh' was written over it and who had written it. At Serial Nos. 2992 and 3006, father's name are entered. The customer who stayed at the hotel and whose name appears at Serial No.2993, his Bill No.2998 was issued and he stayed at the hotel till 06:00 p.m. on 08.02.1983 and had left at 10:00 a.m. on 09.02.1983. The bill book is in the handwriting of Ram Surat, Manager, he knows his handwriting. The witness submitted photostate copy of the receipt, Ext. C-1 and said that the above bill book commences from 25.01.1983, Serial No.2901 to 09.02.1983, Serial No.3000. The witness has proved photo copies of the register Ext. Ka-1 to 8.

36. In cross-examination C.W. 1 has stated that the name of Ramji Singh is written in different handwriting. The signatures at Serial Nos. 3221, 2603, 2932 match with each other.

37. After closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which they have denied the prosecution case and have said that the case has been lodged against them due to enmity and witnesses are giving false statement against them. Appellant Sheo Kumar Tiwari, stated that Ramji Singh used to say that he would get him killed in police encounter, so he left to Mirzapur. It is admitted that Akhand Pratap Singh had come to his house.

38. The defence has examined four witnesses in defence, to wit, D.W.1- Tribhuvan Nath Pandey, D.W.2- Banshram Yadav, D.W.3- Tej Bahadur Singh and D.W.4- Chhiteshwar Tiwari.

39. D.W.1- Tribhuvan Nath Pandey, has stated that one Nand Kishore Singh resident of Village- Sitakund had executed sale deed of his land in favour of his father and uncle on 03.04.1951. Brahmdev Mishra and Harendra Upadhyay were marginal witness of the said sale deed. Nand Kishore Tiwari had filed a case under Section- 229-B regarding the same land before the S.D.M. which was pending since 4 years. In the said case, Nand Kishore Mishra had summoned Brahmdev Mishra as witness who is Purohit of Brahmdev Mishra. He came to know that due to influence of Ramji Singh, Brahmdev Mishra refused to come in the court as a witness. Ramji Singh had said that he is going to Ballia and will stay in Vaishali Hotel, you can come and meet me there at 07:00 p.m. The same day I met with Ramji Singh in Vaishali Hotel, where Ramji Singh asked him to come to Vaishali Hotel at 08:00 a.m. next day. On next day, when he reaced at Vaishali Hotel, at 08:00 a.m., it came to know that Ramji Singh is not in the hotel and his brother Akhand Pratap Singh had been murdered.

40. In cross-examination D.W. 1 has said that he had met Brahmdev Singh 5-6 days prior to meeting Ramji Singh. Nand Kishore Singh is the complainant of the case filed under Section 229-B.

41. D.W.2- Constable Banshram Yadav, has said that on 03.03.1981 he was posted as Constable Moharrir in Police Station- Bankata, District- Deoria, and before that, S.I. Akhand Pratap Singh was already transferred from there. The Circle Officer, Barhaj, District- Deoria has lodged a case against Akhand Pratap Singh on 03.03.1981 under Sections- 161, 220, 409, 392 and 414 I.P.C. and Section 5 of Prevention of Corruption Act. The above case was registered as G.D. Nos.25, 26 and 27 on 03.03.1981. The witness has proved G.D. and in his cross-examination has said that he does not remember whether charge-sheet was filed in the said sections or not.

42. D.W.3- Tej Bahadur Singh, has stated that Chandrama is a village Pradhan and he is well acquainted with his handwritings and signatures. The accused had filed three papers, to which the witness has said that they bear signatures of Chandrama Singh, Pradhan, and the witness has proved them as Ext. Kha-2 to 4.

43. In his cross-examination he has said that Chandrama Singh and Ramji Singh are friends.

44. D.W.4- Chhiteshwar Tiwari, has said that donation was being collected for construction of culvert of his village and in this regard receipt was issued by him and Ramji Singh. He is well versed with handwriting and signatures of Ramji Singh. After perusing customer register of Vaishali Hotel dated 17.01.1983 at Serial No.2804 the witness has said that this is written by Ramji Singh, which bears Ramji Singh's signature. Similarly, at Serial No.2603 dated 28.01.1983 the endorsement is entered by Ramji Singh, and also at Serial No.2632 dated 30.01.1983 and Serial No.2993 dated 08.02.1983 there are Ramji Singh's signature. He has said that the 'son of Shiv Nandan Singh' is not in the handwriting of Ramji Singh. The witness has proved the copies of these documents as Ext. Kha-5 to Kha-12.

45. In cross-examination, D.W.4- has said that he has low vision. He has denied that he is purohit of Ramji Singh and has studied with him. Culvert was constructed in 1981. At Serial Nos. 3402 and 839 of the register, the signatures do not belong to Ramji Singh, but the entry dated 17.01.1983 bears the signatures of Ramji Singh.

46. After the closure of evidence, the learned trial court heard both the parties and came to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The FIR was lodged promptly. The dying declaration of Akhand Pratap Singh was reliable. The prosecution witnesses are consistent, reliable and trustworthy and have supported the prosecution case. The ocular testimony is corroborated by medical evidence. There was motive for the appellants to commit this murder, therefore, the learned trial court found the appellants guilty and convicted and sentenced them to the term as indicated above.

47. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and Ms. Divya Ojha, learned A.G.A, on behalf of State and perused the record.

48. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants that no specific role has been assigned to appellant nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7. The alleged occurrence is highly improbable. Allegedly the deceased was shot from 12 bore country-made pistol, but surprisingly, none of the alleged witnesses sustained any gun shot injury. The ocular testimony is not corroborated by medical evidence. The absence of case detail, in Chhithi Majrubi infers that the FIR was lodged ante-timed. It is also submitted that the time described for the proceedings taken at the police station at the time FIR was lodged, is such which makes it impossible that the FIR, G.D. and the alleged statements of deceased and witnesses would be recorded at the police station during such short time.

49. It is further submitted that as per the medical condition of the deceased, it was highly improbable for him to given his dying declaration. No such certificate was given by the scribe that deceased was mentally and physically fit to give statement. Thus, dying declaration is not believable. It is also submitted that it was dark night and there was not much light as stated by the witnesses, which could help them to identify the assailants. Further, it is submitted that P.W. 1 Ramji Singh was not at the place of occurrence, whereas he was in Hotel Vaishali in Ballia, therefore, his presence at the place is highly doubtful.

50. P.W. 2, Moti Lal and P.W.3 Kamta Singh are interested and chance witnesses and their testimony consists of material contradictions which renders their testimony unreliable.

51. P.W.4, Ranvijay Singh, is the son of the deceased, who was not present at the place of occurrence and being son of the deceased he was a related witness, therefore, his testimony has to be scrutunized with greater care and circumspection. It is also submitted that the doctor who medically examined the deceased has stated that the injured was not in a fit condition to give a dying declaration. The appellants have been falsely implicated in this case. There is no specific role assigned to the appellant nos.4 to 7 and no overt act has been assigned to them, therefore, they were not sharing any common object and offence under Section 148 and offence under Section 302 read with 149 IPC is not made out against them.

52. Lastly, it is submitted that the prosecution evidence consists of major contradictions, omissions and improvements which creates doubt over the prosecution case and the learned trial court without appreciating the evidence correctly reached at the conclusion of guilt of the appellants incorrectly, on surmises and conjectures. In view of the above, the impugned judgment and order is liable to be set aside.

53. On the other hand, learned A.G.A-I, has submitted that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The witnesses are consistent with their version througout the trial and their testimonies are trustworthy. The FIR was lodged promptly. Specific role was assigned to all the assailants. All the appellants were sharing a common object and reached at the place of occurrence, in furtherance thereof, committed the offence. Therefore, all of them were members of the unlawful assembly are equally liable for the act committed by all or any of them. Eye witnesses have corroborated the prosecution story and there was motive for the appellants to commit murder of the deceased. The testimony of Manager of the Vaishali Hotel, Ballia is not reliable. It is not proved that the first informant was not present at the place of occurrence at the time of incident.

54. It was also submitted that P.W.3 has stated that injured Akhand Pratap Singh was conscious and was speaking with pain, therefore, looking into the nature of injuries sustained by the deceased, he was in a condition to give his dying declaration to the Investigating Officer. In view of the above, this appeal has no force and is liable to be dismissed.

55 In a criminal case, it is settled law that, the burden of proof lies upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. In the present case, the first contention on behalf of the appellants is that the FIR has been lodged ante-timed and as per prosecution, the F.I.R. was lodged at 9.10 pm and at 9.40 pm the injured reached at the Ballia District Hospital, which is 7 kms away from the Police Station, meaning thereby, within 30 minutes after reaching at the police station, the injured had reached at the hospital and in the meantime the F.I.R. was lodged, entry in general diary was made, statements of first informant, the injured and Ranvijay Singh were recorded by the I.O. at the Police Station. All this was not possible within such a short span of time at the Police Station which means that the F.I.R. was ante timed and it was lodged later on with earlier date on it.

56. In this regard, the perusal of record shows that the incident occurred on 08.02.1983 at 06:30 p.m. As per chik FIR, the FIR was lodged the same day at 09:10 p.m. and the alleged incident occurred near the sahan door of the first informant in village- Puras under police station-Bansdih Road. As per chik FIR the distance between place of occurrence and place of incident is about 6 kms. So, after the incident, within 2 hours 40 minutes, the FIR was lodged at the police station.

57. P.W.1 Ramji Singh is the brother of the deceased and is also the first informant of this case. He has said that after the incident he wrote down the tehrir at home and thereafter, took the injured Akhand Pratap Singh on cot to the police station where the I.O. of the case was present. He lodged the FIR, his statement as well as the statement of injured Akhand Pratap Singh and Ran Vijay Singh were recorded. He has said that Akhand Pratap Singh was talking slowly, but was conscious and from the police station he was taken to District Hospital, Ballia.

58. P.W. 4 Ranvijay Singh is the son of the deceased, he has also said that his (uncle) chacha i.e. Ran Vijay Singh, wrote down the tehrir at the spot and thereafter, the deceased was taken to police station- Bansdih on cot where his uncle Ramji Singh lodged the report. It has come in his evidence that his statement was recorded inside the police station thereafter, a truck came and on truck the injured was taken to hospital. He has said that at about 09:00 p.m. he reached at the police station and stayed there for about half an hour.

59. P.W. 9 Investigation Officer, Laxmi Singh, has taken statements of all these three witnesses at the Police Station and has said that the FIR was lodged in his presence and he recorded statements of all the three witnesses. Akhand Pratap Singh was conscious and was in a condition to give his statement. It has come in his statement that the Head Moharrir scribed the FIR within 5-7 minutes, thereafter, he recorded statements of Ramji Singh which took about 6-7 minutes, thereafter, he recorded statements of Akhand Pratap Singh within 3-4 minutes and statement of Ran Vijay Singh within 6-7 minutes. Upon calculation of this time it has been vehemently argued on behalf of the appellants that if we take the case of the prosecution as is stated above then, recording of statements and the FIR would have taken more than 30 minutes and as per the prosecution it took only 30 minutes in reaching Ballia, Hospital. It has come in evidence that it took time for the truck to reach at Ballia, Hospital, therefore, the entire calculation goes to show that it was not possible to conduct the entire proceeding within the aforesaid period. It shows that G.D. was stopped and the FIR was lodged later on with earlier date, falsely implicating the applicants in this case.

60. We do not agree with this submission of the learned counsel for the appellants, the court of law cannot be guided by such arithmetic calculations, memory of the witness is fallible and the time taken in any action/event cannot be proved by a witness with precision and his observation in this regard may vary from one person to another. The time stated by the witnesses is approximate time taken according to their memory and a swift police officer can write down the statements in the aforesaid period. It is proved beyond doubt that the deceased was taken from the police station to Ballia, Hospital by truck so all these minute details from the time of lodging the FIR up to the time of the injured of reaching at the hospital are not very material.

61. As per the injury report of injured Akhand Pratap Singh, he was medically examined at 09:45 p.m. at Ballia, Hospital and from there he was sent for further treatment to Varanasi. The chik FIR shows that the FIR was lodged under Section- 307 I.P.C., meaning thereby the deceased was alive when the FIR was lodged. It has come in evidence that on way to Varanasi, Akhand Pratap Singh died and thereafter, the case was converted under Section- 302 I.P.C.

62. Here, it is to be noted that the informant would not have been benefitted by merely lodging the case under Section- 307 IPC, if Akhand Pratap Singh had already died. On the other hand, he could have reported the matter straightway under Section- 302 IPC and would have stated that the Akhand Pratap Singh had died. In this case Chhitti Majrubi was prepared at the police station. There is a G.D. entry at the police station that the injured reached at the Police Station and from there was sent for treatment to Ballia Hospital. The injury report prepared at Ballia Hospital shows that the injured Akhand Pratap Singh was alive and his condition was critical therefore, he was referred for further treatment to Varanasi. It shows that the deceased was alive when the FIR was lodged.

63. On 09.02.1983 at about 06:45 a.m., Constable Ramji Singh informed that Akhand Pratap Singh had died and the case was converted from Section- 307 IPC to Section- 302 IPC. P.W. 3 has gien his statement on this point and the defence has not cross-examined him over this point. In view of the above, the argument advanced on behalf of the appellants that the FIR was ante-timed has no force and it is held that the FIR was not ante-timed and it was lodged at the time as mentioned in the FIR.

64. So far as the place of occurrence is concerned, according to the prosecution the incident occurred in front of sahan door of the informant in village- Puras under Police Station- Bansdih Road. P.W. 1 Ramji Singh; P.W. 2 Moti Lal Gosai; P.W. 3 Kamta Singh and P.W. 4 Ran Vijay Singh are all eye witnesses of the alleged incident. It has come in their evidence that the incident occurred infront of the sahan door of the first informant. The I.O. has recovered sample of blood stained earth, pellets, piece of blood stained leg cut from chair etc., from the place of occurrence and prepared its recovery memo. The I.O. has prepared site-plan of the place of occurrence, depicting the alleged incident at the place, which is alleged by the prosecution. The defence has not suggested any other alternative place of occurrence and has not cross-examined the witnesses with regard to the place of occurrence, therefore, the place of occurrence in this case is fully established.

65. It is also argued on behalf of the appellants that the alleged dying declaration of Akhand Pratap Singh is not believable. It has further been submitted that as per prosecution, it was wrote down that Akhand Pratap Singh was in pain, but was able to give his statement. It is further submitted that as per injury report of Akhand Pratap Singh and statement of P.W. 6- Dr. R.N. Sharma, injured sustained eight injuries, most of them on face and hand and bleeding was present from wounds. After three hours, ten minutes the deceased was medically examined, therefore, looking into the injuries sustained by him, it was not possible for Akhand Pratap Singh to give his statement to the Investigation Officer. In this regard, it is also submitted that the I.O, has not taken the signature of Akhand Pratap Singh over this statement, the I.O. has also not stated that at the time of statement Akhand Pratap Singh was conscious and was fit to give his statement.

66. In this regard, he has placed reliance upon judgments in State (Delhi Administration) Vs. Laxman Kumar & Ors (1985) 4 SCC 475 Para 21-26 and Panchanand Mandal Alias Panchan Mandal Vs. State of Jharkhand (2013) 9 SCC 800 Para 15, wherein it was held that in absence of thumb impressions, signatures of relatives and certificate of fitness, the dying declaration cannot be relied upon. He has also placed reliance on a judgment of Supreme Court in 2022 (14) SCC 299 in The State of Jharkhand Vs. Shailendra Kumar Rai @ Pandav Rai, where the Supreme Court has held that the issue of whether a dying declaration recorded by police is admissible must be decided after considering facts and circumstances of each case.

67. In this regard, a perusal of injury report and post-mortem report of the deceased shows that, he sustained 08 injuries on face and abdomen, the various parts such as lips, teeth, tongue were badly injured; 1/3rd part of the upper lips and lower lips were torn; tongue had a piercing wound of 1.5 cm x .5 cm; edges of tongue of left side were torn; jabban maxilla left lower position; muscles and veins of left side of neck were badly injured; eight pellets were taken from lips, carotid artery was badly lacerated which consists blood from mouth to tongue. Beside this the abdominal injury was also grievous and eight pellets were recovered from lips and 17 pellets were recovered from abdomen, so under this medical condition the deceased, after three hour and 10 minutes, would not have been able to give statement, when bleeding was present from the wounds.

68. The argument on behalf of the appellants has force in it. The court has to scrutinise the dying declaration carefully and must ensure that the declaration is not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination. The deceased had an opportunity to observe and identify the assailants and was in a fit state to make the declaration, as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in K. Ramachandra Reddy v. Public Prosecutor, 1976 (3) SCC 618. Here, the statement of P.W. 6-Dr. R.N. Sharma is also relevant, who has stated that in their opinion the injured was not in a fit condition to give dying declaration and this observation was recorded at 09;40 p.m. i.e. after half an hour, when the alleged statement of the deceased was recorded by the I.O. So, in view of the above, it cannot be held that Akhand Pratap Singh was in a fit condition to give his statement and was conscious enough, so the above statement of Akhand Pratap Singh is not worth believable and no reliance can be placed on it.

69. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants that source of light at the time of alleged incident is not such in which the witnesses could have identified the assailants, because as per prosecution the source of light was lantern and light from bonfire, but according to the prosecution some of the assailants were carrying torches in their hands and they flashed torches on face of the deceased. The other witnesses are alleged to have present near the deceased, therefore, due to the flash of torch they could not have identified the assailants. It is also submitted that light from the bonfire which was closure to the witnesses would have been very luminous having dazzling effect, so in front of such bright light the torches (responsible for low light, vision gets bleached and illuminated and only cones, responsible for bright light vision are activated in the retina. In such scenario, things in such low light cannot be seen in total absence of rods.

70. We do not agree with this submission, because it is not in dispute that the appellants are resident of same village so the witnesses have had opportunity to know them since before the incident. In case of co-villagers even by voice, appearance and manner one can identify his co-villager. It has come in evidence that the assailants were not covering their faces and had shouted maaro-maaro. Further, it has come in evidence that the deceased, as well as the witnesses, were sitting around the bonfire and the deceased was sitting on a chair whereas the witnesses were sitting on the ground. It has not come in evidence that the deceased as well as the witnesses were sitting on the same side, so it cannot be said that all the witnesses were not in a position to identify with precision the assailants at the time of incident. Therefore, we come to the conclusion that the source of light was such that the witnesses were in a position to identify the appellants and submission on behalf of appellants has no force in it.

71. It has also been argued that there are material contradictions in oral and medical evidence which rules out the prosecution case. We do not agree with this submission, as it is the case of the prosecution that the deceased was shot and as per post-mortem report as well as the injury report, he sustained gunshot wounds. Though, it has come in evidence that the deceased was shot from a distance of about 12 steps and the post-mortem report shows that some of the entry wounds are having blackening, tattooing and scorching around the wounds, whereas at some injury wounds blackening, tattooing and scorching was not present. The above medical evidence shows that some of the shot were fired from a close range and some from a little more distance. It is to be noted that in such kind of incident, the victim, the assailants and the witness has to react swiftly and it cannot be assumed that during the entire incident all of them would remain stand still, on the other hand, in such kind of incident the assailants, the witnesses can keep changing their position(s) and observation of one witness of a particular thing may vary from the other. It has come in evidence that three assailants fired at the deceased, so it cannot be assumed that all of them would shoot from the same distance. Their distance from each other may also vary, therefore, if there was blackening, tattooing and scorching on some wounds of entry and it was not there, on other wounds of entry then merely on this ground the testimony of eye-witnesses cannot be disbelieved and this is not a material contradiction to rule out the prosecution case.

72. It is further submitted on behalf of the appellants that the testimony of all the four eye witnesses is not consistent and reliable. All of them are interested witnesses. Out of them P.W.1 Ram Ji Singh, was not present at the place of occurrence, as he was in Vaishali Hotel in Ballia, which is proved by D.W.1 and Tribhuwan Nath Pandey and C.W.-1 Jitendra Chand Singh, the Manager of the Hotel by bringing the register of the hotel. It is also submitted that P.W.4 Ran Vijay Singh, the son of the deceased, has not given statement to the Investigation Officer that P.W. 1 Ram Ji Singh was present at the place of occurrence, so the presence of P.W. 1 Ram Ji Singh, is highly doubtful. It is further submitted that P.W. 2 is interested witness, because he takes water from Ram Ji Singh to irrigate of his field and he lives in another village, so there was no reason for him to be present at the place of occurrence. It is further submitted that P.W. 3 is friend of Ram Ji Singh′s brother Keshav and he is also a chance witness, because he lives in another village and as per testimony he came for his niece′s marriage with deceased′s son whose marriage had already been settled, about one and a half year ago with another girl. So there was no valid purpose for P.W. 2 to be present there at the place of occurrence. It is next submitted that so far as P.W. 4 Ran Vijay Singh is concerned, he is not witness of the inquest and his presence is also not noted in the G.D. when the FIR was lodged so his testimony is also doubtful.

73. We do not agree with all these submissions of the appellants. D.W. 1 has stated that he met Ram Ji Singh in hotel Vaishali in Ballia. But in this regard, C.W.01 the manager of the Hotel, who brought the concerned register, could not prove the name and signature of Ram Ji Singh in Vaishali Hotel′s register to prove his presence there. Ram Ji Singh has denied that he stayed in Vaishali Hotel and has also denied his handwriting and signatures. The defence has not proved it by any handwriting expert. Beside this, mere non-mentioning of Ram Ji Singh′s name by P.W. 4, in his submission to the Investigation Officer under Section- 161 Cr.P.C., does not rule out his presence at the place of occurrence, because he is the first informant who wrote down the application (tehrir) after the incident. All the other witnesses have also stated that Ram Ji Singh was also present at the place of occurrence. There is entry in the G.D. which shows that Ram Ji Singh, the first informant reached Police Station- Bansdih and lodged the FIR along with injured Akhand Pratap Singh. There is no evidence on behalf of defnce that P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 have any animus against the appellants. Simply because P.W. 2 lives in another village and he takes water from Ram Ji Singh for irrigation is no ground to believe that he is an interested witness, whereas it is natural for him to be present at the house of Ram Ji Singh, because they are known to each other before the incident.

74. So far as P.W. 3 is concerned, though he lives in another village and it is stated that he came at Ram Ji Singh′s house for his niece′s marriage with the deceased′s son, whose marriage had already settled one and a half year ago with another girl, but it does not mean that P.W. 3 would have known the engagement of deceased′s son with another girl, it may be that he had no knowledge that deceased′s son′s marriage has already been settled with another girl. So his coming over there for this reason is not very unnatural, therefore, the argument on behalf of the appellants has no force in it.

75. In view of the above, it comes to the conclusion that P.W. 1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W. 4 were present at the place of occurrence and they have witnessed the incident. A perusal of their testimonies goes to say that their statements with regard to the incident are consistent with each other and also supports the prosecution case. There are no material contradictions in their testimony to doubt their credibility, therefore, their testimony is trustworthy and reliable.

76. It is argued on behalf of the appellant that the presence of these witnesses is doubtful, on the ground that they have not sustained any injuries whereas, as per prosecution case the deceased was shot from firearm and the dispersal of pellets would have caused injuries to these witnesses also, if they were present around the bonfire along with the deceased. By not sustaining any pellet injuries rules out their presence at the spot and creates doubt over the prosecution case.

77. We do not agree with this submission also. It has come in evidence that eight gunshot wounds were caused and out of them five wounds were not having any blackening, tattooing or scorching, around them. The deceased was sitting at a chair and the rest of the persons were sitting around the bonfire on ground. The position of the deceased as has been shown in the site-plan as well as has come in the statements of eye witnesses shows that, the deceased was shot from such a distance that the witnesses would have escaped from dispersal of pellets and did not sustain any injuries. The Investigation Officer has found pellets from under and near the chair, on which the deceased was sitting at the time of incident. From no other place around the bonfire the Investigation Officer has found any pellet. The target for the appellants was deceased Akhand Pratap Singh and at that time, being an inspector and sitting in his sahan, due to some respect for him the witnesses were sitting on ground and he himself was sitting on a chair, so it might have been that the persons near him may have maintained some distance while sitting around bonfire (alaao). Therefore, if these witnesses have not sustained any injuries from pellets, then merely on this ground their presence at the spot cannot be doubted.

78. Learned Counsel for the appellants has submitted that there are material contradictions between medical and ocular evidence so the benefit of doubt should go to the accused and in this regard, he has placed reliance upon a decision of Supreme court in the case of Krishnegowda & Ors Vs. State of Karnataka (2017) 13 SCC 98 Para 42, where the Supreme Court has held that:-

"Once there is clear contradiction between the medical and the ocular evidence coupled with severe contradictions in oral evidence and clear latches in investigation, then the benefit of doubt goes to the accused"

79. Further, reliance has been placed upon another judgment of Supreme Court in Criminal Appeal Nos.541-543 of 2015 (Sri Chikkegowda & Ors. Vs. State of Karnataka etc.) decided on 07.10.2025, the relevant portion of the judgment is extracted hereinbelow:-

"23. It is well settled that if there is a conflict in the ocular testimony and the medical testimony/evidence, it is the ocular evidence which will prevail unless found to be totally unreliable. In this regard, reference may be made to the followings decision wherein the above principle was reiterated:

23.1.In the judgment of Darbara Singh v. State ofPunjab5, it was held that:

"10. So far as the question of inconsistency between medical evidence and ocular evidence is concerned, the law is well settled that, unless the oral evidence available is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence, the oral evidence would have primacy. In the event of contradictions between medical and ocular evidence, the ocular testimony of a witness will have greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence and when medical evidence makes the oral testimony improbable, the same becomes a relevant factor in the process of evaluation of such evidence. It is only when the contradiction between the two is so extreme that the medical evidence completely rules out all possibilities of the ocular evidence being true at all, that the ocular evidence is liable to be disbelieved.."

(Emphasis supplied)

23.2.In the judgment of State of U.P. v. Hari Chand, it was held that:

"13. ....In any event unless the oral evidence is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence it has primacy."

23.3.In the judgement of Pruthviraj Jayantibhai Vanol v. Dinesh Dayabhai Vala & Ors, it was held that:

"17. Ocular evidence is considered the best evidence unless there are reasons to doubt it..."

23.4. In the aforesaid decisions, this Court has consistently accorded greater weight to ocular testimony than to the opinion of medical experts, and the same principle governs the case before us."

80. Learned Counsel for the appellants has further submitted that the conduct of the persons present at the spot was not natural and they should have reacted to save the deceased which they did not do, therefore, their presence at the spot is doubtful and their testimony is not reliable. In this regard, he has relied upon a decision of Supreme Court in Nima Ghosh & Ors Vs. State of Bihar 2025 INSC 816 Paras 14 (sub para 22, 24, & 32, 17), wherein it has been held that the conduct of near relatives as to what steps they took to save life of the injured deceased are relevant and a failure to take any steps casts serious doubts on their testimony and presence at the spot.

81. We do not agree with this submission. There is no genearl rule that during a crime a person would react only in a particular manner. It would be relevant to quote observation of the Supreme Court in Rana Pratap v/s State of Haryana AIR 1983 SC 680, (1983) 3 SCC 327 at page 330 of SCC:

"Every person who witnesses a murder reacts in his own way. Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot. Some become hysteric and start wailing. Some start shouting for help. Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible. The others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counter attacking the assailants. Every one reacts in his own special way. There is no such rule of natural reaction. To discard the evidence of a witness on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way."

82. It is also submitted on behalf of the appellants that the motive to commit the crime is very weak and motive of enmity is a double edged weapon which gives cause for false implication as well. Therefore, on this basis it is argued that the appellants have been falsely implicated in this case and in this regard, reliance has been placed upon a decision of Supreme Court in Aslam Alias Imran Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh 2025 SCC Online 670 Para 22, which clearly states that motive of enemity is a double edged sword and given motive for false implication as well.

83. So far as motive is concerned, though in the case of direct evidence motive looses its significance and this case is based on direct evidence. Nevertheless, it has come in evidence that the deceased was an Inspector and about 3-4 days prior to this incident, an FIR was lodged from the informant's side against the appellant's side and the deceased had come over to the village and was doing pairvi of this case and upon being annoyed the appellants could have murdered the deceased. It has come in evidence that there was prior enmity between the parties and civil litigations and criminal cases were pending between them. It is argued on behalf of the appellants that the first informant, Ram Ji Singh, was of a very bad character harassing people of the area and in this regard, complaints against him were lodged by persons, some of them having produced by defence and is proved by D.W.3. A perusal of these complaints shows that they were filed by D.W.3 Tej Bahadur Singh, but he is neither the scribe nor the complainant of these complaints, nor these complaints were written in his presence. The person who has sent these complaints has not been examined by the defence. Therefore, these reports are not admissible in evidence. No other evidence is adduced on behalf of defence in support of this contention therefore, it has no force in it.

84. It is also submitted on behalf of the appellant that if there was any enmity between Ram Ji Singh and the appellants then the appellants would have killed Ram Ji Singh and not Akhand Pratap Singh, so the motive as alleged by the prosecution is not believable.

85. We do not agree with this submission. Motive is a state of mind of a person which cannot be seen from outside. Here, it is to be noted that Akhand Pratap Singh was the most influential person of the family of the first informant, who was not only an Inspector in Police Department, but was also doing pairvi against the appellants, of a criminal case lodged few days prior to the incident, so he would have been first target for the appellants to take revenge, against Ram Ji Singh's family.

86. It is submitted by learned Counsel for the appellants that there was no common object to kill the deceased, so far as appellant nos. 4 to 7 are concerned, and there is no credible evidence in this regard, therefore, they are not liable for the alleged offence. In this regard he has relied upon a judgment of Supreme Court in State of Maharashtra v. Kashirao, (2003) 10 SCC 434 in which at Para 12-15 it has been held that:-

"Mere presence in an unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object. Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, the accused persons cannot be convicted with the help of Section 149. The word "object" means the purpose or design and, in order to make it "common", it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it. A common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual consultation, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members of the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression "in prosecution of common object", as appearing in Section 149 has to be strictly construed as equivalent to "in order to attain the common object". It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter."

87. Though the legal position is not disputed but we do not agree with this submission of appellant and there is evidence which shows that appellant nos. 4 to 7 shared common object with other appellant regarding the offence. It has come in evidence that all the appellants came at the spot together, some of them carrying firearms and some others torches and other weapons. They shouted maaro-maaro and the deceased was shot by three of the appellants and thereafter, all of them ran way. It means that their object was common to commit murder of Akhand Pratap Singh. Therefore, appellant nos. 4 to 7 were members of the unlawful assembly alongwith other appellants, sharing common object. Therefore, the argument on behalf of the appellant in this regard has no force.

88. In view of the above discussion, we come to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. It is proved that appellants to wit, Kailash Mishra, Sheo Kumar Tiwari, Raj Narain Tiwari, carrying guns in their hands alongwith Shiv Shankar Pandey, Ishwar Dayal Tiwari, Durga Das Tiwari and Dev Das Tiwari carrying farsa, came at the place of occurrence, sharing common object, formed an unlawful assembly and in furtherance thereof, appellants, to wit, Kailash Mishra, Sheo Kumar Tiwari, and Raj Narain Tiwari shot at Akhand Pratap Singh causing him gunshot injuries due to which he died on way to the hospital.

Therefore, all the appellants are found guilty of offence punishable under Sections 148 and 302 read with 149 IPC and in this regard learned trial court has appreciated the evidence on record correctly, and has reached at the right conclusion with regard to the guilt of the appellants. Therefore, this appeal has no force and is accordingly, dismissed.

89. Thus, the present appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed. The impugned judgment and order convicting and sentencing the appellants is confirmed.

90. Appellant appellant Nos. 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7, to wit, Kailash Mishra, Sheo Kumar Pandey, Ishwar Dayal Tiwari, Durga Das Tiwari and Deo Das Tiwari, respectively, are on bail. Their personal bonds and bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. They are directed to surrender before the learned Trial Court within six weeks from today to undergo the remaining part of their sentence, failing which, the Trial Court is directed to adopt coercive measures for securing their presence.

91. Let a copy of this order be forwarded to the Trial Court concerned alongwith the record of the Trial Court for information and necessary compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1149
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 12.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SUBHASH VIDYARTHI, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 753 of 2012

Sharief @ Gathiya ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration
Matter pertains to legality of conviction based on solitary testimony of rape victim.

Headnotes
Rape-solitary testimony of victim-Indian Penal Code, 1860 -S. 376; Indian Evidence Act-sec 114- Appellant alleged to have entered the complainant's house at night and raped her in presence of her children - sole testimony of victim not corroborated by medico-legal examination report -no injury on any part of the victim's body-though victim alleged biting on breast and thighs - pathological examination report not placed on record-giving rise to presumption under Section 114 illustration (g) Evidence Act that it was not favourable to the prosecution -highly improbable that appellant would rape a woman aged 35 years by use of force -in presence of 4-5 children and all the children would continue to sleep peacefully-and the one child aged 7 years who woke up would not raise any hue and cry -daughter said to have witnessed the incident not produced- adverse inference -conviction cannot be based on solitary testimony of victim -facts and circumstances raise a doubt - prosecution failed to establish offence - conviction set aside. Appeal allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Ritesh Chakarvarti v. State of M.P., (2006) 12 SCC 321
2. Davinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (2023) 19 SCC 229
3. Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing, (2001) 6 SCC 145

List of Acts

1. Indian Penal Code, 1860
2. Indian Evidence Act

List of Keywords

Sole testimony of victim; solitary testimony; absence of injury; Section 114 Evidence Act - illustration (g);- child witness; no hue and cry; suggestion not a confession; false implication.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s): Santosh Kumar Srivastava
Counsel for Respondent(s): Govt. Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Santosh Kumar Srivastava, the learned counsel for the appellant and Shri G.D. Bhatt, the learned AGA-I for the State of U.P.

2. By means of the instant appeal, the appellant has challenged the validity of a judgment and order dated 15.03.2012 passed by the learned Additional Session Judge, Ambedkar Nagar in Session Trial No.80 of 2006 arising out of Case Crime No.252 of 2005 under Sections 457, 323, 376 IPC, Police Station Kotwali Akbarpur, District Ambedkar Nagar, whereby although the trial Court has acquitted the appellants for the offence under Section 457 and 323 IPC, the appellant has been convicted for the offence under Section 376 IPC and he has been sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 7 years and to pay Rs.2,000/- as fine.

3. Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that the victim herself had lodged an FIR at 12:30 p.m. on 01.12.2005 stating that her husband works as a labourer at Ludhiana and had not visited the home for the past nine months. The complainant lives with her children. At about 01:00 a.m. on the previous night while she was sleeping in her room along with her children, the appellant entered her house by scaling the boundary wall and, thereafter, he entered her room after breaking the window. The electric light was switched on. The appellant shut her mouth, disrobed her and bit on her breast. The complainant's daughter woke up. The appellant threatened her daughter and raped the complainant. The complainant stated that she had suffered injuries on her breast and thighs due to biting and beating. She further stated that she did not come in the morning to lodge the FIR because of fear and she had come in the afternoon with the help of some villagers. The complainant stated that her age was 35 years.

4. The husband of village Pradhan was examined as PW-2. He stated that the complainant had told him that the appellant had raped her. PW-3- Aadya Prasad stated that the complainant was living in the village along with her children and her husband was working at Ludhiana. PW-3 stated that on the date of the incident, he was not in the village. PW-3 was declared hostile. During cross-examination PW-3 stated that the complainant had four children. The eldest was aged about 12-13 years at the time of the incident. After the incident, the complainant went to Ludhiana along with her children and did not return to the village.

5. The victim/complainant was examined as PW-4. She stated that the appellant had forcibly disrobed and raped her and he had threatened her.

6. The Doctor, who had conducted the medico-legal examination of the victim/complainant was examined as PW-5. She stated that no mark of injury was found on the private parts of the complainant's body. She had prepared two slides of vaginal swab and had sent the same for being examined in the District Hospital, Faizabad. She stated that the complainant is mother of five children and she could not say about commission of rape with certainty.

7. The Investigating Officer was not examined because of his ailment and a constable-Pairokar was examined as PW-6 who proved the site plan and the other documents.

8. In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant denied the allegations and stated that he has been falsely implicated as a part of a conspiracy.

9. It was contended on behalf of the defence that the victim had stated during her examination-in-chief that her daughter Pushpa had woke-up. The daughter had been summoned to appear as a witness but on the prosecution's application, examination of the daughter was discharged as she was merely 7 years of age. The trial Court held that non-examination of 7 years old daughter of the complainant would not have adverse consequence on the prosecution case.

10. The trial Court found that the statement of the victim (PW-4) that the appellant had made physical relations against her wish and the confession made by the defence that the appellant had made physical relations with her, prove that the appellant had raped the victim.

11. The trial Court found that the charge of committing offence under Section 457 Cr.P.C. was not proved. Further, as the medical examination report does not mention any injury suffered by the victim charge for commission of offence under Section 323 is also not proved.

12. Although it is correct that conviction for commission of rape can be based on the sole testimony of a victim, but it can be done only where the victim's testimony is of sterling quality and it inspires confidence. Where the facts and circumstances of the case raise a doubt against the prosecution case, conviction cannot be based on the solitary testimony of the victim.

13. In the present case, the victim stated that the appellant had bit on her breast and thighs but this statement is not corroborated by the findings of the medico-legal examination report, which revealed no injury on any part of the victim's body.

14. The vaginal swab slides were sent for pathological examination, but the pathological examination report has not been placed on record, from which it appears that the report was not favourable to the prosecution and the allegation of commission of rape is not corroborated by the medico-legal examination report.

15. PW-5 has stated that the victim is a mother of five children. PW-3 has stated that the victim had told her that she has four children, the eldest of them was aged 12-13 years. The victim has stated that she was sleeping in a room along with all the children in the night of the incident. As per the victim, only one of her 4-5 children aged 7 years had woke up and the victim had threatened her, rest of her four children, including the eldest child aged 12-13 years, continued to sleep peacefully in the same room where the victim was allegedly being raped. It appears to be highly improbable that a person would enter the room of a house, rape a woman aged 35 years by use of force in presence of 4-5 children and all the children will continue to sleep peacefully and the one child who woke up would not raise any hue and cry or offer any resistance and no mark of injury or sign of use of force will appear on her body. Absence of pathological examination report confirming commission of rape is also a factor which raises a serious doubt against the prosecution case.

16. Section 114 of the Evidence Act provides that the court may presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happen, regarded being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct, public and private business in relation to the facts of the peculiar case. Illustration (g) appended to Section 114 provides that the court may presume that evidence which could be and is not produced would, if produced, be unfavourable to a person who withholds it.

17. In Ritesh Chakarvarti v. State of M.P.: (2006) 12 SCC 321, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that An adverse inference can be drawn for non-examination of material witnesses.

18. In Davinder Singh v. State of Punjab: (2023) 19 SCC 229, the Hon'ble Supreme Court referred to an earlier precedent on this point in the following passage: -

"9. On the issue of non-examination of material witness, we wish to place reliance on the decision of this Court in Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing [(2001) 6 SCC 145]:

"19. So is the case with the criticism levelled by the High Court on the prosecution case finding fault therewith for non-examination of independent witnesses. It is true that if a material witness, who would unfold the genesis of the incident or an essential part of the prosecution case, not convincingly brought to fore otherwise, or where there is a gap or infirmity in the prosecution case which could have been supplied or made good by examining a witness who though available is not examined, the prosecution case can be termed as suffering from a deficiency and withholding of such a material witness would oblige the court to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution by holding that if the witness would have been examined it would not have supported the prosecution case. On the other hand if already overwhelming evidence is available and examination of other witnesses would only be a repetition or duplication of the evidence already adduced, non-examination of such other witnesses may not be material. In such a case the court ought to scrutinise the worth of the evidence adduced. The court of facts must ask itself. whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, it was necessary to examine such other witness, and if so, whether such witness was available to be examined and yet was being withheld from the court. If the answer be positive then only a question of drawing an adverse inference may arise. If the witnesses already examined are reliable and the testimony coming from their mouth is unimpeachable the court can safely act upon it, uninfluenced by the factum of non-examination of other witnesses."

19. Non-production of pathological examination report of the vaginal swab and non-production of the victim's daughter who is said to have witnesses the commission of rape, gives rise to a presumption that had the aforesaid report and the witness been produced, the report and the testimony of the witness would have been detrimental to the prosecution case.

20.The trial Court held that the suggestion given by the learned Counsel for the accused-appellant during cross-examination of the victim, that she had made physical relations with the appellant with her consent and after some villagers saw the appellant coming out of her house, she falsely implicated her, amounts to a confession that the appellant had made physical relations with the victim and since the appellant failed to prove the victim's consent, it is proved that he had raped her.

21. The trial Court noted that the victim had supported the FIR version. During cross-examination, a suggestion was given to her that she had developed an acquaintance with the appellant about 3-4 years ago and that the appellant had repetitively been making physical relations with her consent. At the night of the incident also, the appellant had entered her house through the door and had spent 3-4 hours with the complainant. Three villagers, namely, Sadru, Momin and Sharif had seen the appellant coming out of the complainant's house and they had seen the complainant had come to the door to see the appellant off. It was suggested that on the night of the incident, the appellant had made physical relations with consent of the complainant. However, all the aforesaid suggestions were denied by the victim. The trial Court held that this suggestion amounts to a confession that the appellant had made physical relations with the complainant and when the complainant has alleged that the appellant had made physical relations against her wishes and by use of force, the burden lies on the defence to prove that the physical relation was made with consent of the victim.

22. The aforesaid reasoning given by the trial Court is perverse as a suggestion given by a learned Counsel during cross-examination of a victim cannot be taken as a confession made by the accused and no conviction can be based treating the suggestion of the Counsel as the confession of the accused.

23. In view of the foregoing discussion, I am of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to established that the appellant has committed the offence under Section 376 IPC. The trial Court has passed the order without adverting to the aforesaid facts of the case which vitiates the trial Courts order.

24. In view of the foregoing discussion, the appeal is allowed. The order dated 15.03.2012 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Ambedkar Nagar in Session Trial No.80 of 2006 arising out of Case Crime No.252 of 2005 under Section 457, 323, 376 IPC relating to Police Station- Kotwali Akbarpur, District- Ambedkar Nagar is set aside and the appellant is acquitted of all the charges.

25. The appellant is directed to furnish a personal bond before the Chief Judicial Magistrate Ambedkar Nagar as per the requirement of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. for ensuring his presence before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case any appeal is filed against this order and the Hon'ble Supreme Court issues notice of the appeal.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1154
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 27.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE ZAFEER AHMAD, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 956 of 2006

Rajendra ...Appellant
Versus
The State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of conviction order based upon testimony of child victim.

Headnotes

Rape of child - Indian Penal Code, 1860-S. 376 - Child witness-Competency and appreciation of evidence- delay in lodging FIR-once the Trial Court is satisfied that the child witness is capable of understanding the questions and giving rational answers-her testimony, if natural, consistent, trustworthy and free from tutoring- can form the sole basis of conviction without corroboration-delay of nearly two days in lodging the FIR- satisfactorily explained -does not discredit the prosecution case-minor inconsistencies and discrepancies in the evidence of a child witness and rustic witnesses-do not affect the prosecution case-medical evidence is corroborative in nature -absence of external injuries is not a sine qua non for determining whether rape has been committed-hostility of one prosecution witness does not affect the prosecution - testimony of the prosecutrix is reliable and is supported by medical and other corroborative evidence - conviction upheld -Appeal dismissed.

Case Law Cited

1. Vidyadharan vs State Of Kerala ; AIR 2004 SC 536
2. Amar Singh vs. Balwinder Singh and Others; AIR 2003 SC 1164
3. Balram Singh Versus State of Punjab; AIR 2003 SC 2213
4. State of Madhya Pradesh Vs Balveer Singh; (2025) 8 SCC 545
5. Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra; (1997) 5 SCC 341
6. Pradeep v. State of Haryana; (2023) 19 SCC 221
7. Ratansinh Dalsukhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat; (2004) 1 SCC 64
8. Panchhi v. State of U.P. ; (1998) 7 SCC 177
9. Suryanarayana v. State of Karnataka; (2001) 9 SCC 129
10. Arbind Singh v. State of Bihar ; 1995 Supp (4) SCC 416
11. Digamber Vaishnav v. State of Chhattisgarh; (2019) 4 SCC 522
12. State of M.P v. Ramesh; (2011) 4 SCC 786,
13. State of U.P. vs. Naresh; 2011 (4) SCC 324

14. Leela Ram vs State of Haryana; (1999) 9 SCC 525
15. State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh; 1996 (2) SCC 384

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

child witness; medical evidence; beyond all reasonable doubt; natural, consistent, trustworthy and free from tutoring.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant (s) : Virendra Moha, Ambica Tripathi, Avikshit Mishra, Raj Kumar Mishra, Rakesh K. Tripathi, Ram Avtar Singh, Ramkant Jayswal Counsel for Respondent(s) : Govt. Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

(1) The instant criminal appeal under Section 374 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (here-in-after referred to as "Cr.P.C.") has been filed by the accused/convict/appellant, Rajendra, assailing the judgment and order dated 28.04.2006 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Hardoi, in Sessions Trial No. 485 of 2005; State Versus Rajendra, emanating from Case Crime No. 112 of 2005, under Section 376/511 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (here-in-after referred to as "I.P.C."), Police Station Beniganj, district Hardoi, whereby the accused/appellant has been convicted and sentenced under Section 376 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000/-. In default in payment of fine, the accused/appellant would undergo one year's additional rigorous imprisonment.

(2) The prosecution case, in short, is that complainant, Smt. Rooprani, had submitted a written report at police station Beniganj, district Hardoi on 30.03.2005, alleging therein that she is the resident of village Bargadiya, hamlet of Atiya Majhigawan, police station Beniganj, Hardoi. Yesterday, in the afternoon of 28.03.2005, her husband had gone to his maternal village Akouhara to meet/greet 'Holi'. She was not well, therefore, she was lying at home. The son of her elder brother-in-law, Ravindra son of Ram Prasad, was present with her. At about 06:30 in the evening, upon hearing the cries of her daughter (here-in-after referred to as 'victim') aged about 9 years coming from behind her house, she and Ravindra rushed behind the house and saw that her neighbour, Rajendra son of Rameshwar, was trying to commit a wrongful act with her daughter by removing her shorts, who, on seeing them, fled from the place of occurrence. Due to social shame, she remained silent. Today, when her husband returned, she told him everything. She has come to the police station along with her husband and her daughter. Appropriate action may be taken.

(3) On the basis of the aforesaid written report (Ext. Ka.1), F.I.R., bearing Case Crime No. 112 of 2005, under Sections 376/511 I.P.C. was registered at Police Station Beniganj, district Hardoi on 30.03.2005 at 02:30 P.M. against accused Rajendra.

(4) The investigation of the case was conducted by S.I. Raj Bahadur Singh on 03.03.2005. He, after inspecting the place of occurrence on the pointing out of the complainant Rooprani, prepared the site-plan (Ext. Ka.7) and recorded the statement of complainant on 30.03.2005 and on the same day, he arrested the accused/appellant.

(5) The medical examination of the victim was performed on 30.03.2005 at 06:00 P.M. at District Hospital, Hardoi by Dr. Nisha Srivastava (P.W.4), who found that height of the victim was 128 cm; weight was 20 Kg; teeth were 12/12; she was average built; axillary hair not present; breast not developed and there was no mark of injury on any part of the body. On examination of private parts of the victim, doctor noted that pubic hair not present on private parts and P/V Hymen torn at 6 O′clock position margins red and inflammed. Slight oozing vagina admitting 1 finger with pain.

(6) After examining the victim, Dr. Nisha Srivastava took her vaginal smear and sent it to Pathological Department, Balrampur Hospital for ascertaining the presence of spermatozoa and also the victim was sent to X-ray Department, District Hospital, Hardoi for x-ray of right wrist joint (all carpal bones) for determination of age.

(7) On reference, the x-ray of the victim was conducted by Dr. I.K. Srivastava (P.W.5) at District Hospital, Hardoi on 01.04.2005, who found that only seven carpal bone has appeared, pisiform not appeared Epiphysis of lower end of radius and ulna and base of 1st meta carpal has appeared but not fused.

(8) Based on the Vaginal Smear Report No. 151 dated 23.04.2005 done by Senior Pathologist, Balrampur Hospital, Lucknow that no sperm smear and gonococci are not seen as well as aforesaid x-ray report, Dr. Nisha Srivastava had prepared supplementary report of the victim on 05.05.20005, wherein she, after examining the Medical Report and vaginal smear report, opined that allegation of intercourse might have been done and according to physical appearance and x-ray report, age of victim is below 12 years.

(9) The Investigating Officer S.I. Raj Bahadur Singh, recorded the statement of victim on 05.04.2005 and after collecting the incriminating material and completion of the investigation, submitted the charge-sheet (Ext. Ka. 8) against the accused Rajendra under Sections 376, 511 I.P.C. on 05.05.2005.

(10) The Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Hardoi took cognizance of the aforesaid charge-sheet and committed the case to the Sessions Court on 04.06.2005, wherein the case was registered as Sessions Trial No. 485 of 2005. The Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Hardoi, had framed charges against the accused Rajendra under Sections 376/511 I.P.C. on 15.07.2005, which was denied by the accused and claimed to be tried. Thereafter, the charge was amended to Section 376 I.P.C. on 06.09.2005, which too was denied by the accused and claimed to be tried.

(11) In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined seven witnesses, who are as under :-

P.W.1	Victim
P.W.2-Rooprani	complainant/mother of the victim

P.W.3-H.M. Krishna Pal Singh	Prepared the check F.I.R. on the basis of written report of the complainant
P.W.4-Dr. Nisha Srivastava	Conducted the medical examination of the victim and proved the medical examination reports
P.W.5-Dr. I.K. Srivastava	Conducted the x-ray and proved its report
P.W.6-Ravindra	Nephew of complainant/hostile witness
P.W.7-SSI Raj Bahadur Singh	Investigating Officer

(12) Apart from the aforesaid witnesses, the prosecution placed on record the documentary evidence and proved it, which are as under :-

Ext. Ka. 1	Written Report
Ext. Ka. 2	Check F.I.R.
Ext. Ka. 3	Copy of Rapat No. 22 (time 14:30 hours dated 30.03.2005)
Ext. Ka.4	Medical Examination Report of victim prepared by Dr. Nisha Srivastava
Ext. Ka. 5	Supplementary Medical Examination Report prepared by Dr. Nisha Srivastava
Ext. Ka. 6	X-ray report prepared by Dr. I.K. Srivastava
Ext. Ka.7	Site plan
Ext. Ka. 8	charge-sheet

(13) The prosecution has also produced material exhibit i.e. x-ray of the victim as material Exhibit 1.

(14) After completion of evidence of prosecution, the statement of the accused Rajendra was recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., wherein he denied the prosecution story as false and concocted and stated that he has been implicated in the case due to enmity. He further stated that goat of brother-in-law of the complainant, namely, Lallaram was stolen, for which Lallram had made suspicion on him and on his asking, the complainant has falsely been implicated him. The defence has not led any documentary or oral evidence in support of his defence.

(15) After hearing learned Counsel for the parties and considering the evidence and material on record, the learned trial Court convicted and sentenced the accused/appellant Rajendra by means of the impugned judgment and order dated 28.04.2006 in the manner as stated in paragraph-1 here-in-above. Consequently, the convict/appellant, Rajendra, has preferred the instant appeal.

ARGUMENTS

(16) Heard Shri Avikshit Mishra, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

(17) The learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of the appellant submitted that the impugned judgment and order has been passed without considering the evidence and material available on record appropriately. He submitted that the FIR was lodged after delay of two days from the date of the alleged incident and the prosecution has failed to given satisfactory explanation for such delay and it has been lodged after consultation with embellishment, which is apparent from evidence of P.W.2. He next submitted that there are material contradictions in the statements of P.W.1 (the victim) and P.W.2, who is the mother of the victim, which goes to the root of the prosecution case and render it unreliable. He further submitted that the alleged eye witness, P.W.6-Ravindra, who is the cousin brother of the victim (P.W.1) and nephew of P.W.2, has not supported the prosecution case and turned hostile, which creates serious doubt on story.

(18) Learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant next submitted that the place of occurrence could not be established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt, therefore, it is doubtful. He next submitted that the medical evidence also does not support the prosecution case, therefore, prosecution case renders unreliable. However, learned trial Court failed to consider it and passed the impugned judgment and order on the basis of surmises and conjectures in an illegal manner without considering the lacunas in prosecution case and aforesaid, therefore, it was neither warranted in law nor on facts. Thus, it is liable to be set-aside and the appellant is liable to be acquitted.

(19) Per contra, learned A.G.A. opposed the submissions of the learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and while supporting the impugned judgment and order, submitted that it has been passed after due appreciation of the evidence and material available on record and does not suffer from any illegality or infirmity. According to learned A.G.A., delay of two days in lodging the F.I.R. has been satisfactorily explained by the prosecution, which is natural and plausible in the facts and circumstances of the case. Moreso, mere delay in lodging the FIR is not fatal to the prosecution case, particularly in offences of such nature where hesitation in approaching the authorities is common. Thus, the contentions in this regard are not sustainable. He further submitted that the alleged contradictions in the statements of P.W.1 (the victim) and complainant (P.W.2-Rooprani) are minor in nature and do not go to the root of the prosecution case. He submitted that such discrepancies are bound to occur due to normal errors of observation, memory, lapse of time and village lady, which does not affect the core of the prosecution story. According to learned A.G.A., the testimony of the victim (P.W.1) is consistent and trustworthy on material particulars and inspires confidence and conviction could have been authored only on it. He further submitted that the mere fact that P.W.6-Ravindra has turned hostile does not demolish the entire prosecution case, especially when the testimony of the victim (P.W.1) is cogent, consistent and reliable.

(20) Learned A.G.A. next submitted that the place of occurrence has been duly established from the evidence available on record and there is no ambiguity in it. He submitted that the testimony of P.W.1 (the victim) clearly describes the place of occurrence and the same stands corroborated by the evidence of complainant (P.W.2) and other material brought on record. He further submitted that the medical evidence on record fully supports the prosecution case and there is no inconsistency between the medical opinion and the ocular version of the prosecution witnesses. Even otherwise, minor variations, if any, between medical and ocular evidence are natural and do not affect the core of the prosecution story. According to learned A.G.A., the medical report cannot be read in isolation and has to be appreciated in conjunction with the testimony of the victim (P.W.1), which is consistent, reliable, and duly corroborated by other evidence on record. Thus, submission is that the argument of learned Amicus Curiae in this regard is not sustainable. There is no illegality, error or perversity in the impugned judgment and order and the learned trial Court has rightly convicted the appellant after considering the evidence and material on record and dealing it appropriately. The appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless ground, which lacks merit and liable to be dismissed.

ANALYSIS

(21) We have heard learned Counsel for the parties and gone through the records as well as the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned trial Court.

(22) The first question we have to consider is the impact of delay of nearly two days in lodging the F.I.R. The learned trial Court, in the impugned judgment, has relied upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the cases of Vidyadharan vs State Of Kerala ; AIR 2004 SC 536, Amar Singh vs. Balwinder Singh and Others; AIR 2003 SC 1164 and Balram Singh Versus State of Punjab; AIR 2003 SC 2213. In Vidyadharan vs. State of Kerala (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that even if there is delay in lodging first information report, that cannot be a ground to discredit the evidence of victim. The relevant paragraph-9 is extracted below :-

"9. ..... It is seen that though there was some delay in lodging the FIR, it is but natural in a tradition-bound society to avoid embarrassment, which is inevitable when the reputation of a woman is concerned. Delay in every case cannot be a ground to arouse suspicion. It can only be so when the delay is unexplained..... It is not that on account of enmity false implications are made. It would, however, be unusual in a conservative society that a woman would be used as a pawn to wreak vengeance. When a plea is taken of false implication, courts have a duty to make deeper scrutiny of the evidence and decide the acceptability or otherwise of the accusations. In the instant case, both the trial court and the High Court have done that. There is no scope for taking a different view."

(23) Similarly, in the case of Amar Singh vs. Balwinder Singh and others (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that there is no hard and fast rule that any delay in lodging the FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. It depends upon facts and circumstances of each case as to whether there has been any such delay in lodging the FIR, which may cast doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case and for this a host of circumstances like the condition of the first informant, the nature of injuries sustained, the number of victims, the efforts made to provide medical aid to them, the distance of the hospital and the police station etc. have to be taken into consideration. There is no mathematical formula by which an inference may be drawn either way merely on account of delay in lodging of the FIR. In the case of Balram Singh Versus State of Punjab (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that if the ocular evidence adduced by the prosecution is worthy of acceptance, the element of delay in registering a complaint or sending the same to the jurisdictional Magistrate by itself would not in any manner weaken the prosecution case.

(24) It will also be apposite to refer the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Tulshidas Kanolkar v. State of Goa; 2003 (8) SCC 590, wherein rape of a girl was committed, whose mental ability was undeveloped, considering the same, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in regard to delay in F.I.R., has held as under :-

"5…….....In any event, delay per se is not a mitigating circumstance for the accused when accusations of rape are involved. Delay in lodging the first information report cannot be used as a ritualistic formula for discarding prosecution case and doubting its authenticity. It only puts the court on guard to search for and consider if any explanation has been offered for the delay. Once it is offered, the Court is to only see whether it is satisfactory or not. In a case if the prosecution fails to satisfactorily explain the delay and there is possibility of embellishment or exaggeration in the prosecution version on account of such delay, it is a relevant factor. On the other hand, satisfactory explanation of the delay is weighty enough to reject the plea of false implication or vulnerability of prosecution case. As the factual scenario shows, the victim was totally unaware of the catastrophe which had befallen her. That being so, the mere delay in lodging of the first information report does not in any way render prosecution version brittle."

(25) In the backdrop of the aforesaid principles, the question of delay in lodging the F.I.R. is to be examined in the facts and circumstances of the present case. As per prosecution, the alleged incident occurred on 28.03.2005 at 06:30 in the evening, whereas F.I.R. was lodged on 30.03.2005 at 02:30 p.m. at police station Beniganj, district Hardoi. Thus, there was a delay of nearly 02 (two) days in lodging the FIR. The contents of the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) contain the statement of complainant (P.W.2 Smt. Ruprani) that due to social shame, she remained silent and when her husband came, she narrated all the facts to him, whereupon she, her husband and her daughter (victim) went to the police station and lodged the report. It is also mentioned in the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) that at the time of the incident, husband of the complainant had gone to his maternal home for greeting Holi. The victim (P.W.1) was subjected to rape and her age as mentioned in the written report, was only 9 years and the medical evidence also shows that she was below 12 years of age. It was, thus, obvious for the complainant to wait for husband as it has not been shown that any else major member was at home, to whom she could have told it. Generally, every person first tries to ensure that such a matter does not spread in society, particularly unless he/she decides to go for an action, looking to the future of minor and social stigma. In the instant case, when the husband of the complainant was away from home, it is probable that she would wait for her husband's return. The victim, who appeared as P.W.1, has also stated that her father had gone in relation to greet on 'Holi'. There is no cross-examination from P.W.1 and P.W.2 on this point. Learned trial Court, after considering the evidence and material on record, has recorded a finding that the instant case is of rape with a 9 year old girl and in such mater any person would lodge F.I.R., only after thinking over a lot, thus, sufficient explanation of delay is on record. This Court is in agreement with the finding recorded by learned trial Court.

(26) Highlighting the evidence of complainant (P.W.2-Rooprani), in cross-examination that "मै रिपोर्ट इसलिए नही कि थी पहले सलाह कर लो फिर रिपोर्ट की जाये जब सलाह हो गयी तब मै रिपोर्ट करने थाना गयी। सलाह यही बनी की रिपोर्ट राजेन्द्र के नाम करनी है।", learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant argued that it is apparent that the F.I.R. was lodged after consultation and deciding to lodge F.I.R. against the appellant. The contention of learned Counsel for the appellant is misconceived and not tenable for the reason that the complainant, who is a rustic village lady, waited for her husband to return and after return of her husband, she told him about the incident, whereupon they decided to lodge F.I.R. against the convict/appellant and accordingly, it was lodged. There is no further cross-examination on the point. Thus, her evidence on this issue is quite natural as the pride and future of their minor daughter was involved. It does not in any manner indicates that consultation was made with the police for lodging false report against the accused/appellant. P.W.2-Rooprani, however, deposed in her statement that when she reached the police station, the Station House Officer called a person and asked him to write a report, which does not mean that the Station House Officer got a false report written. It only indicates that the Station House Officer called a person and the complainant got the report written through him as per what she stated. Furthermore, the defense has failed to show as to why the police would falsely implicate him by lodging a false report unless there is some enmity or motive behind it. There is no evidence of any prior enmity between the accused and the police personnel. At least the same has not been shown. Learned trial Court has also recorded a finding that there is no criminal history of accused, nor he has any enmity with any policeman, therefore, police personnel would have involved in lodging the false F.I.R. against him is not believable. Nothing contrary could be shown by learned Counsel for the appellant, on account of which a contrary view is possible on this issue. Thus, this Court does not find any illegality or error in it and there is no reason to disbelieve the version of F.I.R. and the prosecution has satisfactorily explained the delay in lodging the F.I.R.

(27) The next argument advanced by learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant was that there is material contradictions in the evidence of P.W.1-victim and P.W.2-Rooprani and an alleged eye-witness Ravindra (P.W.6) has not supported the prosecution case, which itself lends the prosecution case doubtful in as much as the presence of complainant (P.W.2) at the place of occurrence doubtful, therefore, on the basis of sole testimony of child witness (victim, P.W.1) only, learned trial Court erred in convicting the appellant.

(28) To consider the argument of learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant, firstly we will consider the evidence of the victim, who appeared as PW.1. The victim was a minor, below 12 years of age. P.W.5, Dr. I.K. Srivastava, who conducted the x-ray of P.W.1 (victim) has stated in cross-examination that age of injured (P.W.1) could not be more than 11 years and there may be a year′s difference on either side. Thus, first it is to be seen as to whether she was competent to depose before the Court of law and as to how her evidence was required to be considered. Section 118 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 provides that all persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them or from giving rational answers to those questions by tender years etc.

(29) Section 118 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is extracted here-in-below :-

"118. Who may testify.-All persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them, or from giving rational answers to those questions, by tender years, extreme old age, disease, whether of body or mind, or any other cause of the same kind."

(30) In view of above, a child witness is not prevented from deposing before the Court of law unless he/she is prevented from understanding the questions put to him/her. Thus, it casts a duty upon the Court to first examine the witness so as to satisfy that the witness is capable of understanding the questions put to him/her and giving rational answers to those questions. The Hon'ble Supreme Court elaborately discussed as to how the testimony of a child witness should be looked into and appreciated in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs Balveer Singh; (2025) 8 SCC 545, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court, placing reliance on the cases of Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra; (1997) 5 SCC 341, Pradeep v. State of Haryana; (2023) 19 SCC 221, Ratansinh Dalsukhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat; (2004) 1 SCC 64, Panchhi v. State of U.P. ; (1998) 7 SCC 177, Suryanarayana v. State of Karnataka; (2001) 9 SCC 129, Arbind Singh v. State of Bihar ; 1995 Supp (4) SCC 416, Digamber Vaishnav v. State of Chhattisgarh; (2019) 4 SCC 522, State of M.P v. Ramesh; (2011) 4 SCC 786, has observed that

"43. From the above exposition of law, it is clear that the evidence of a child witness for all purposes is deemed to be on the same footing as any other witness as long as the child is found to be competent to testify. The only precaution which the court should take while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that such witness must be a reliable one due to the susceptibility of children by their falling prey to tutoring. However, this in no manner means that the evidence of a child must be rejected outrightly at the slightest of discrepancy, rather what is required is that the same is evaluated with great circumspection. While appreciating the testimony of a child witness the courts are required to assess whether the evidence of such witness is its voluntary expression and not borne out of the influence of others and whether the testimony inspires confidence. At the same time, one must be mindful that there is no rule requiring corroboration to the testimony of a child witness before any reliance is placed on it. The insistence of corroboration is only a measure of caution and prudence that the courts may exercise if deemed necessary in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case."

(31) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in State of Madhya Pradesh Vs Balveer Singh (supra), summarized the principles pertaining to the appreciation of evidence of a child witness from Para 67.1 to para 67.12 as under :-

"67.1. The Evidence Act does not prescribe any minimum age for a witness, and as such a child witness is a competent witness and his or her evidence and cannot be rejected outrightly.

67.2. As per Section 118 of the Evidence Act, before the evidence of the child witness is recorded, a preliminary examination must be conducted by the Trial Court to ascertain if the child-witness is capable of understanding sanctity of giving evidence and the import of the questions that are being put to him.*

67.3. Before the evidence of the child witness is recorded, the Trial Court must record its opinion and satisfaction that the child witness understands the duty of speaking the truth and must clearly state why he is of such opinion.*

67.4. The questions put to the child in the course of the preliminary examination and the demeanour of the child and their ability to respond to questions coherently and rationally must be recorded by the Trial Court. The correctness of the opinion formed by the Trial Court as to why it is satisfied that the child witness was capable of giving evidence may be gone into by the appellate court by either scrutinizing the preliminary examination conducted by the Trial Court, or from the testimony of the child witness or the demeanour of the child during the deposition and cross-examination as recorded by the trial court.

67.5. The testimony of a child witness who is found to be competent to depose i.e., capable of understanding the questions put to it and able to give coherent and rational answers would be admissible in evidence.

67.6. The Trial Court must also record the demeanour of the child witness during the course of its deposition and cross-examination and whether the evidence of such child witness is his voluntary expression and not borne out of the influence of others.

67.7*. There is no requirement or condition that the evidence of a child witness must be corroborated before it can be considered. A child witness who exhibits the demeanour of any other competent witness and whose evidence inspires confidence can be relied upon without any need for corroboration and can form the sole basis for conviction. If the evidence of the child explains the relevant events of the crime without improvements or embellishments, the same does not require any corroboration whatsoever.*

67.8. Corroboration of the evidence of the child witness may be insisted upon by the courts as measure of caution and prudence where the evidence of the child is found to be either tutored or riddled with material discrepancies or contradictions. There is no hard and fast rule when such corroboration would be desirous or required, and would depend upon the peculiar facts and circumstances of each case.

67.9. Child witnesses are considered as dangerous witnesses as they are pliable and liable to be influenced easily, shaped and moulded and as such the courts must rule out the possibility of tutoring. If the courts after a careful scrutiny, find that there is neither any tutoring nor any attempt to use the child witness for ulterior purposes by the prosecution, then the courts must rely on the confidence-inspiring testimony of such a witness in determining the guilt or innocence of the accused. In the absence of any allegations by the accused in this regard, an inference as to whether the child has been tutored or not, can be drawn from the contents of his deposition.

67.10. The evidence of a child witness is considered tutored if their testimony is shaped or influenced at the instance of someone else or is otherwise fabricated. Where there has been any tutoring of a witness, the same may possibly produce two broad effects in their testimony; (i) improvisation or (ii) fabrication.

(i) Improvisation in testimony whereby facts have been altered or new details are added inconsistent with the version of events not previously stated must be eradicated by first confronting the witness with that part of its previous statement that omits or contradicts the improvisation by bringing it to its notice and giving the witness an opportunity to either admit or deny the omission or contradiction. If such omission or contradiction is admitted there is no further need to prove the contradiction. If the witness denies the omission or contradiction the same has to be proved in the deposition of the investigating officer by proving that part of police statement of the witness in question. Only thereafter, may the improvisation be discarded from evidence or such omission or contradiction be relied upon as evidence in terms of Section 11 of Evidence Act.

(ii) Whereas the evidence of a child witness which is alleged to be doctored or tutored in toto, then such evidence may be discarded as unreliable only if the presence of the following two factors have to be established being as under: -

Opportunity of Tutoring of the Child Witness in question*- whereby certain foundational facts suggesting ordemonstrating the probability that a part of the testimony of the witness might have been tutored have to be established. This may be done either by showing that there was a delay in recording the statement of such witness or that the presence of such witness was doubtful, or by imputing any motive on the part of such witness to depose falsely, or the susceptibility of such witness in falling prey to tutoring. However, a mere bald assertion that there is a possibility of the witness in question being tutored is not sufficient.*

Reasonable likelihood of tutoring*- wherein the foundational facts suggesting a possibility of tutoring as established have to be further proven or cogently substantiated. This may be done by leading evidence to prove a strong and palpable motive to depose falsely, or by establishing that the delay in recording the statement is not only unexplained but indicative and suggestive of some unfair practice or by proving that the witness fell prey to tutoring and was influenced by someone else either by cross-examining such witness at length that leads to either material discrepancies or contradictions, or exposes a doubtful demeanour of such witness rife with sterile repetition and confidence lacking testimony, or through such degree of incompatibility of the version of the witness with the other material on record and attending circumstances that negates their presence as unnatural.*

67.11*. Merely because a child witness is found to be repeating certain parts of what somebody asked her to say is no reason to discard her testimony as tutored, if it is found that what is in substance being deposed by the child witness is something that he or she had actually witnessed. A child witness who has withstood his or her cross-examination at length and able to describe the scenario implicating the accused in detail as the author of crime, then minor discrepancies or parts of coached deposition that have crept in will not by itself affect the credibility of such child witness.*

67.12*. Part of the statement of a child witness, even if tutored, can be relied upon, if the tutored part can be separated from the untutored part, in case such remaining untutored or untainted part inspires confidence. The untutored part of the evidence of the child witness can be believed and taken into consideration or the purpose of corroboration as in the case of a hostile witness.″*

(32) Adverting to the facts of the instant case, this Court finds that trial Court, in order to testify as to whether the child witness P.W.1 (victim) is capable of understanding and answering the questions rationally, first put certain questions to her. The trial Court asked as to whether she studies, she replied that she studies in Class-5. In regard to the question as to in which direction the sun rises, she stated that she do no know. She also in regard to the question as to whether she knows that to speak lie is sin, she stated that she does not know. However, she further, on examination, stated that we are three sisters and two brothers. Her three brothers and sisters are studying in School. She will speak truth today. The man should speak truth. The sun rises in the morning. Thereafter, the trial Court recorded its observations that the witness is witless (नासमझ) and on being asked, unable to give answer of the questions in one go and on repeated impressing upon answers with difficulty. Thus, the trial Court's observation indicates that the witness is capable of answering the questions, but with difficulty. Thus, after satisfying itself about the capability of child witness to answer the questions put to her, the trial Court proceeded to record her evidence in accordance with law. Thereafter, she was examined.

(33) In the examination-in-chief, P.W.1 (victim) deposed that she knows the accused Rajendra, who is present in Court. He is a resident of her village. About 6 months ago, it was 06:00 in the evening. She had gone for call of nature behind her house. Her mother was lying inside the house. Her father had gone to greet 'Holi in his relation. Accused Rajendra came near her and took her lifting under eucalyptus trees and took off her underwear and committed wrongful act. When she cried, her mother arrived. Then, accused left her and ran away and no one else had come. Her mother lifted her and brought home. When her father returned after greeting Holi, her mother had gone to police station. Upon a question put separately by the Court, her explanation was that the accused also became naked and laying down on her, he rubbed his penis on her vagina and thereafter pushed off, upon which she cried out. What emerges from the aforesaid examination-in-chief of the victim (P.W.1) that she is acquainted with the accused and proved presence of the accused at the place of occurrence and she has satisfactorily explained chronology of the incident. Her testimony establishes that the accused took her to a secluded place under the eucalyptus trees, removed her undergarments and not only subjected her to sexual assault but committed rape also, and on her cry, her mother immediately reached on the spot, whereupon the accused fled away from the place of occurrence.

(34) In cross-examination, the victim; P.W.1 stated that the place of occurrence is a eucalyptus grove. There are very big trees as well as some small trees, where the land is uneven and there are pits at places. In the evening, she had gone to defecate. It had become a little dark. She sat in the same eucalyptus grove for defecation. This grove is adjoining to the house of Munne. Due to the darkness, she did not go farther and sat there for defecation. She had gone for defecation by taking a plastic container. As soon as she raised an alarm, the accused ran away. The accused fled towards the north, passing through mango grove. As soon as the accused ran away, her mother arrived some time thereafter. She sustained injury in her private part. There was no visible injury on the body. Her mother and her elder aunt (badi mummi) have come along with her. Her mother and elder aunt told her that whatever had happened to her, she should state the truth in Court. She further, in cross-examination, deposed that blood had stained on her clothes. The Inspector (Daroga Ji) had not made any inquiry from her. She had gone to the police station. The blood-stained clothes were seen by the police personnel at the police station. She further deposed that it is wrong to say that she is deposing against the accused Rajendra on asking of her mother. It is also wrong to say that she is giving false evidence on telling of her mother. It is also wrong that such incident would not have happened with her. She further deposed that accused remained lying on her for sometime.

(35) The aforesaid evidence of the victim shows that her testimony is consistent on every material particulars, particularly with regard to identity of the accused and the manner of occurrence. Nothing material could be extracted in cross-examination, on account of which, her testimony can be discarded. In State of Madhya Pradesh Vs Balveer Singh (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the testimony of a child witness, if found to be natural, consistent and free from tutoring, can be relied upon and form the sole basis of conviction. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, however, emphasised that such evidence must be evaluated with caution and the Court must be satisfied that the child possesses sufficient intelligence and understands the duty to speak the truth. Applying the said principles to the facts of the present case, it is evident that P.W.-1 has given a cogent and consistent account of the occurrence not only with regard to accused and incident, but with regard to the description of the surroundings, including the uneven land, presence of pits, grove and lanes, which lends assurance to her testimony. The so-called contradictions pointed out by the defence pertain only to peripheral details such as exact distances, directions and layout of surrounding houses and lanes. In view of the dictum laid down by the Hon′ble Supreme Court, such minor discrepancies are bound to occur, particularly in the testimony of a child witness and if the core of the prosecution case is in corroboration, her testimony cannot be said to be unreliable.

(36) The defence has attempted to suggest that P.W.1 has been tutored by her mother. However, P.W.1 has categorically denied the said suggestion and nothing could be extracted in cross-examination nor any material has been brought on record to substantiate the plea of tutoring. On the contrary, her testimony appears spontaneous and bears the ring of truth. Moreso, the absence of visible external injuries on other parts of the body is also not of such a nature as to discredit her version, particularly when she has specifically deposed about injury to her private part and presence of blood on her clothes. Even otherwise, it is trite in law that if the ocular evidence is worthy of credence, any discrepancy or contradiction in medical evidence is not sufficient to belie the ocular evidence. In State of U.P. vs. Naresh; 2011 (4) SCC 324, it has been held that minor contradictions regarding injuries do not discredit otherwise reliable evidence.

(37) Thus, this Court is of the view that the testimony of P.W.-1 is credible, trustworthy and free from material contradictions. The minor inconsistencies highlighted by the defence are insignificant and do not affect the substratum of the prosecution case. Accordingly, the testimony of the victim (P.W.-1) is held to be reliable and worthy of acceptance.

(38) The complainant, who is the mother of victim, has been examined as P.W.2. She deposed that she knew the accused Rajendra, who is present in Court. The incident is about six months old. Her husband had gone to relatives for greeting 'Holi′. She was not well. She was lying at home. Her children and the son of her husband′s elder brother (jeth), Ravindra was also lying there. It was 6:00-6:30 in the evening. Her daughter (victim) had gone for defecation. She heard the cries of her daughter (victim) from behind her house. On hearing the noise, she and Ravindra rushed to the spot. Then, Rajendra ran away leaving her daughter. She saw Rajendra running away. Her daughter told her that Rajendra had committed a wrongful act with her. She further deposed that when her husband returned from the relation, then, she went along with her husband and daughter to the police station. Outside the police station, she, on her dictation, got the written report (तहरीर) written by one person. Whatever she stated was written by him. It was read over and explained to her and thereafter, she affixed her signature on it. She proved her signature on the written report (Ext. Ka.1). She handed over the written report to the Moharrir (clerk) and the Moharrir registered her report. Her daughter was medically examined and her X-ray was conducted at Hardoi Hospital. The Investigating Officer (Daroga Ji) made inquiries from her.

(39) In cross-examination, P.W.2 stated that her husband is Rajpal. Lalaram and Ram Prasad are his brother. Ravindra, son of Ram Prasad is a witness in this case. Rajpal and Lalaram frequently visit to eat and drink with each other. The house of her husband and his brothers is situated in close to each other. She further deposed that goat of her husband′s elder brother (jeth), Lalaram, had been stolen prior to this incident. One goat had been stolen. The wife of Lalaram is her elder sister-in-law (jethani). She does not know as to whether Lalaram had any quarrel with the accused Rajendra on account of the theft of the goat or not. She further deposed that it is incorrect to say that she is concealing the fact of quarrel between Lalaram and Rajendra. She further deposed that the eucalyptus grove was planted by her husband about 5 years ago. There are also mango trees in that grove. She further deposed that on the day of the incident, she was suffering from fever. She had been having fever for about 2-3 days prior to the incident. In the evening, her husband′s elder brother (jeth) and her small children were present. Her daughter had gone to defecate. On hearing her cries, Ravindra rushed and she also rushed. She saw Rajendra running away towards the north. At that time, she was standing on the bank of pond. The accused was at about 50 steps towards north of her grove at that time. Her grove is about 100 steps long north-south. In the entire field, eucalyptus trees are planted. Adjacent to her grove, there is also a mango grove. Her daughter was found near the house of her jeth Lalaram. The door of Lalaram′s house is towards the east of her eucalyptus grove, where several people from the neighbourhood were present at that time, including her elder sister-in-law (jethani) Seema. She did not have any conversation with those witnesses nor did she tell them anything. Thereafter, she brought her daughter and went to home. She did not have any conversation with her daughter at that time. She further deposed that she did not lodge the report as she wanted to consult first and lodge report thereafter. When consultation was made, then, she went to police station for lodging the report. Upon consultation, opinion was formed that the report should be lodged against Rajendra. Thereafter, she went to the police station at about 8:00 a.m. by tempo, which was at a distance of about $1^{1/2}$ kosh from her village and reached there in about half an hour. At the police station, police personnel and the Inspector (Daroga Ji) were present, called the person who had written her report, on which she put signature. She further deposed that from the injuries sustained by her daughter, blood was oozing out. The Inspector made inquiries from her on the same day, when the report was written. Thereafter, no further inquiry was made from her nor she met again. The back of her daughter was scratched and the hand was also scratched at some places. Her daughter was medically examined at Hardoi. Her daughter showed all the injuries to the doctor. The blood-stained clothes were taken to the police station as well as to the hospital and those clothes were shown to the Inspector and the Moharrir. She further deposed that she had informed the Inspector that her daughter had gone to defecate and if the same has not been written in her statement by the Investigating Officer, she could not tell the reason thereof. She further deposed that it is wrong to say that she is giving false evidence. It is also wrong to say that no such incident occurred as she is telling. It is also wrong to say that due to village enmity or partybandi, she, in collusion with her husband and Lalaram, got a false report written against the accused. It is also wrong to say that no such incident took place at the alleged place and time. It is also wrong to say that she did not see the accused running away.

(40) What emerges from the evidence of P.W.2 is that she is the mother of the victim and a natural witness to the immediate aftermath of the incident. She has narrated the incident in examination-in-chief and as to when she went and how to lodge the F.I.R. and also proved the written report and as to how it was written and medical examination of the victim. It further transpires from her testimony that she noticed injuries on the person of the victim and blood on her clothes. She has denied the suggestion that the report was lodged falsely due to village enmity or prior disputes. Thus, the testimony of P.W.-2, the mother of the victim, lends corroboration to the version of P.W.1 on material particulars, particularly with regard to the immediate conduct, fleeing of the accused, the disclosure made by the victim and lodging of the FIR. Nothing could be extracted in cross-examination, which may create doubt about veracity of the testimony. The minor discrepancies or contradiction or delay in lodging F.I.R., which has sufficiently been explained, does not materially affect the substratum of the prosecution case. The emphasis of learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant on consultation for F.I.R. in cross-examination to show concoction in prosecution case is totally misconceived for the reason that the evidence is of a village lady, who is unaware and unmindful of the effect of words in law, otherwise, her contention was that family members formed opinion for lodging F.I.R. against the accused, otherwise, it may cause a social stigma on minor daughter, which may affect her future also.

(41) In view of above and upon a close and comparative evaluation of the testimonies of P.W.-1 (victim) and P.W.-2 (mother of the victim), it is to be seen as to whether minor inconsistencies as pointed out by learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant are such, which may affect the substratum of the prosecution case.

(42) The Hon′ble Supreme Court, in the case of Leela Ram vs State of Haryana; (1999) 9 SCC 525, observed as follows :-

"9. Be it noted that the High Court is within its jurisdiction being the first appellate court to reappraise the evidence, but the discrepancies found in the ocular account of two witnesses unless they are so vital, cannot affect the credibility of the evidence of the witnesses. There are bound to be some discrepancies between the narrations of different witnesses when they speak on details, and unless the contradictions are of a material dimension, the same should not be used to jettison the evidence in its entirety. Incidentally, corroboration of evidence with mathematical niceties cannot be expected in criminal cases. Minor embellishment, there may be, but variations by reason therefor should not render the evidence of eyewitnesses unbelievable. Trivial discrepancies ought not to obliterate an otherwise acceptable evidence. In this context, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in State of U.P. v M.K. Anthony [State of U.P. v M.K. Anthony, (1985) 1 SCC 505 : 1985 SCC (Cri) 105] . In para 10 of the Report, this Court observed : (SCC pp. 514-15)

'10. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hypertechnical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals.″

10. In a very recent decision in Rammi v. State of M.P. [Rammi v. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 26] this Court observed : (SCC p. 656, para 24)

24. When an eyewitness is examined at length it is quite possible for him to make some discrepancies. No true witness can possibly escape from making some discrepant details. Perhaps an untrue witness who is well tutored can successfully make his testimony totally non-discrepant. But courts should bear in mind that it is only when discrepancies in the evidence of a witness are so incompatible with the credibility of his version that the court is justified in jettisoning his evidence. But too serious a view to be adopted on mere variations falling in the narration of an incident (either as between the evidence of two witnesses or as between two statements of the same witness) is an unrealistic approach for judicial scrutiny.″

This Court further observed : (Rammi case [Rammi v. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 26] , SCC pp. 656-57, paras 25-27)

'25. It is a common practice in trial courts to make out contradictions from the previous statement of a witness for confronting him during cross-examination. Merely because there is inconsistency in evidence it is not sufficient to impair the credit of the witness. No doubt Section 155 of the Evidence Act provides scope for impeaching the credit of a witness by proof of an inconsistent former statement. But a reading of the section would indicate that all inconsistent statements are not sufficient to impeach the credit of the witness. The material portion of the section is extracted below:

"155. Impeaching credit of witness.-The credit of a witness may be impeached in the following ways by the adverse party, or, with the consent of the court, by the party who calls him-*

(1)-(2)

(3) by proof of former statements inconsistent with any part of his evidence which is liable to be contradicted;″

26. A former statement though seemingly inconsistent with the evidence need not necessarily be sufficient to amount to contradiction. Only such of the inconsistent statement which is liable to be "contradicted″ would affect the credit of the witness. Section 145 of the Evidence Act also enables the cross-examiner to use any former statement of the witness, but it cautions that if it is intended to "contradict″ the witness the cross-examiner is enjoined to comply with the formality prescribed therein. Section 162 of the Code also permits the cross-examiner to use the previous statement of the witness (recorded under Section 161 of the Code) for the only limited purpose i.e. to "contradict″ the witness.

27. To contradict a witness, therefore, must be to discredit the particular version of the witness. Unless the former statement has the potency to discredit the present statement, even if the latter is at variance with the former to some extent it would not be helpful to contradict that witness (vide Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P. [Tahsildar Singh v. State of U.P., 1959 SCC OnLine SC 17 : AIR 1959 SC 1012]).″

(43) The Hon′ble Supreme Court has cautioned about attaching too much importance on minor discrepancies in the evidence of the witnesses in Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat; (1983) 3 SCC 217 as follows :-

5. …. We do not consider it appropriate or permissible to enter upon a reappraisal or reappreciation of the evidence in the context of the minor discrepancies painstakingly highlighted by the learned counsel for the appellant. Overmuch importance cannot be attached to minor discrepancies. The reasons are obvious:

'(1) By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

(2) Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

(3) The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind, whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

(4) By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape-recorder.

(5) In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guesswork on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

(6) Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which takes place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

(7) A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination made by the counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The subconscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him - perhaps it is a sort of a psychological defence mechanism activated on the spur of the moment.′″

(44) Similarly, in the case of Appabhai v. State of Gujarat; 1988 Supp SCC 241, the Hon′ble Supreme Court observed as under :-

"13. …. The court while appreciating the evidence must not attach undue importance to minor discrepancies. The discrepancies which do not shake the basic version of the prosecution case may be discarded. The discrepancies which are due to normal errors of perception or observation should not be given importance. The errors due to lapse of memory may be given due allowance. The court by calling into aid its vast experience of men and matters in different cases must evaluate the entire material on record by excluding the exaggerated version given by any witness. When a doubt arises in respect of certain facts alleged by such witness, the proper course is to ignore that fact only unless it goes into the root of the matter so as to demolish the entire prosecution story. The witnesses nowadays go on adding embellishments to their version perhaps for the fear of their testimony being rejected by the court. The courts, however, should not disbelieve the evidence of such witnesses altogether if they are otherwise trustworthy. Jaganmohan Reddy, J. speaking for this Court in Sohrab v. State of M.P. [Sohrab v. State of M.P., (1972) 3 SCC 751 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 819] observed : (SCC p. 756, para 8)

'8. .... This Court has held that falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus is not a sound rule for the reason that hardly one comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishments. In most cases, the witnesses when asked about details venture to give some answer, not necessarily true or relevant for fear that their evidence may not be accepted in respect of the main incident which they have witnessed but that is not to say that their evidence as to the salient features of the case after cautious scrutiny cannot be considered

(45) It is pertinent to note that the scene of crime was in a rural area and the witnesses being rustic, their evidence has to be appreciated in the light of the behavioural pattern in the rural environment. In this regard, we may refer to the decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra; (1973) 2 SCC 793, wherein it was held that :-

"8. Now to the facts. The scene of murder is rural, the witnesses to the case are rustics and so their behavioural pattern and perceptive habits have to be judged as such. The too sophisticated approaches familiar in courts based on unreal assumptions about human conduct cannot obviously be applied to those given to the lethargic ways of our villages. When scanning the evidence of the various witnesses we have to inform ourselves that variances on the fringes, discrepancies in details, contradictions in narrations and embellishments in inessential parts cannot militate against the veracity of the core of the testimony provided there is the impress of truth and conformity to probability in the substantial fabric of testimony delivered. The learned Sessions Judge has at some length dissected the evidence, spun out contradictions and unnatural conduct, and tested with precision the time and sequence of the events connected with the crime, all on the touchstone of the medical evidence and the post-mortem certificate. Certainly, the court which has seen the witnesses depose, has a great advantage over the appellate Judge who reads the recorded evidence in cold print, and regard must be had to this advantage enjoyed by the trial Judge of observing the demeanour and delivery, of reading the straightforwardness and doubtful candour, rustic naivet and clever equivocation, manipulated conformity and ingenious inveracity of persons who swear to the facts before him. Nevertheless, where a Judge draws his conclusions not so much on the directness or dubiety of the witness while on oath but upon general probabilities and on expert evidence, the court of appeal is in as good a position to assess or arrive at legitimate conclusions as the court of first instance. Nor can we make a fetish of the trial Judge's psychic insight."

(46) This Court is also of the view that while dealing with the evidence of witnesses who are rustic, because of minor inconsistencies, their evidence should not be ignored and discarded on material points, if the core of prosecution case or substratum of the prosecution case is not affected. It is apposite to refer the following paragraphs of Prabhu Dayal v. State of Rajasthan; (2018) 8 SCC 127 by Hon'ble Supreme Court, dealing with testimony of witnesses from rustic background :-

"18. It is a common phenomenon that the witnesses are rustic and can develop a tendency to exaggerate. This, however, does not mean that the entire testimony of such witnesses is falsehood. Minor contradictions in the testimony of the witnesses are not fatal to the case of the prosecution. This Court, in State of U.P. v. M.K. Anthony [State of U.P. v. M.K. Anthony, (1985) 1 SCC 505 : 1985 SCC (Cri) 105] , held that inconsistencies and discrepancies alone do not merit the rejection of the evidence as a whole. It stated as follows : (SCC p. 514-15, para 10)

10. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief.Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hypertechnical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals. Cross-examination is an unequal duel between a rustic and refined lawyer. Having examined the evidence of this witness, a friend and well-wisher of the family carefully giving due weight to the comments made by the learned counsel for the respondent and the reasons assigned to by the High Court for rejecting his evidence simultaneously keeping in view the appreciation of the evidence of this witness by the trial court, we have no hesitation in holding that the High Court was in error in rejecting the testimony of witness Nair whose evidence appears to us trustworthy and credible."

19.

20. The Court can separate the truth from the false statements in the witnesses' testimony. In Leela Ram v. State of Haryana [Leela Ram v. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 222] , this Court held as follows : (SCC p. 534, para 12)

"12. It is indeed necessary to note that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain some exaggeration or embellishment - sometimes there could even be a deliberate attempt to offer embellishment and sometimes in their over anxiety they may give a slightly exaggerated account. The court can sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth from the testimony of the witnesses. Total repulsion of the evidence is unnecessary. The evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. If this element is satisfied, it ought to inspire confidence in the mind of the court to accept the stated evidence though not however in the absence of the same."

21. Moreover, it is not necessary that the entire testimony of a witness be disregarded because one portion of such testimony is false. This Court observed thus in Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa [Gangadhar Behera v. State of Orissa, (2002) 8 SCC 381 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 32] : (SCC p. 392, para 15)

"15. To the same effect is the decision in State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh [State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh, (1974) 3 SCC 277 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 886] and Lehna v. State of Haryana [Lehna v. State of Haryana, (2002) 3 SCC 76 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 526] . Stress was laid by the appellant-accused on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out the entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if a major portion of the evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of a number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of the court to separate the grain from the chaff. Where chaff can be separated from the grain, it would be open to the court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of a particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liars. The maxim falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded.' "

(47) Keeping the aforesaid principles of law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in mind, the evidence of the victim (P.W.1) and mother of the victim (P.W.2) are to be seen and considered. The trial Court has meticulously examined the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 before coming to the conclusion that their evidence is reliable and credible.

(48) It is also to keep in mind that P.W.-1 is a child witness, and some variation in narration is natural. In State of M.P. v. Balveer Singh (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the testimony of a child witness, if found natural and trustworthy, can be relied upon notwithstanding minor inconsistencies. Even otherwise, minor discrepancies in evidence of prosecutrix are bound to occur on account of trauma faced by her. In State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh; 1996 (2) SCC 384, it has been held that minor inconsistencies in the testimony of the prosecutrix are not fatal when the overall version inspires confidence.

(49) In the present case also, both P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 are consistent on the core aspects. Contradictions highlighted by the defence pertain only to peripheral matters and do not shake the foundation of the prosecution case. Significantly, the medical evidence also lends assurance to the prosecution case. P.W.4, Dr. Nisha Srivastava, who examined the victim (P.W.1), has opined that in all probabilities, the intercourse might have been done with the victim. In cross-examination, she (P.W.4) deposed that parts of vagina were slight bloody. In a query from the trial Court, she deposed that hymen may torn by cycling or playing, but injuries would not come in the manner sustained by the injured. Though the opinion is expressed in cautious terms, however, it does not negate the prosecution case and is consistent with the version of the victim. It is well settled that medical evidence is corroborative in nature and where the ocular testimony is clear and reliable, minor inconsistencies with medical opinion do not override such evidence. Thus, medical evidence also supports the prosecution case. Even otherwise, the presence of injuries is not a sine qua non for determining as to whether the offence of rape has been committed or not. It has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Lalliram & Anr. V State of M.P., (2008) 10 SCC 69 that injury is not a sine qua non for deciding whether rape has been committed but it has to be decided on the factual matrix of each case. Thus, the contention of learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant that the medical evidence does not support the prosecution case as no external injuries were found, is misconceived and not tenable. In view of the aforesaid discussion, declaration of hostile of P.W.6-Ravindra has no bearing on the case. Even otherwise, normally relatives avoid to give evidence in such cases, particularly when they are known to each other.

(50) In view of the aforesaid discussion and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, this Court is of the view that the contradictions in the statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 are minor, natural, inconsequential and without any embellishment, which do not create any reasonable doubt in the prosecution case. The evidence of both the witnesses remains reliable, consistent with the prosecution case and among themselves and trustworthy. We are in full agreement with the view taken by the learned trial Court, which has appropriately appreciated the evidence on record and rightly held that such minor contradictions do not affect the prosecution case.

(51) The other official formal witnesses have also proved the procedure followed by them and nothing could be extracted from them, which may create any doubt about their testimony and affect in any manner the prosecution case.

(52) In view of the clear, cogent, and reliable testimony of the victim (P.W.1), duly supported by medical and other corroborative evidence on record, we are of the view that the prosecution has successfully proved the guilt of the appellant beyond all reasonable doubt for the offence punishable under Section 376 I.P.C. The learned Trial Court has rightly appreciated the evidence and material on records in its proper perspective and has arrived at a well-reasoned finding for conviction. The view taken by the Trial Court is neither perverse nor suffers from any illegality or error warranting interference by this Court. Thus, the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

(53) The appeal is hereby dismissed. The conviction of the appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. as recorded by the learned Trial Court is upheld. The sentence awarded is also maintained. The appellant is in jail. He shall serve out the sentence awarded by the trial Court.

(54) Pending application(s), if any, stands disposed of accordingly.

(55) Let a copy of this judgment and the trial Court's record be transmitted to the Court concerned forthwith and in any case within two weeks from today for information and compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1174
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 15.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 976 of 1985

Madan Kumar & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to credibility of interested witness.

Headnotes

Murder – Indian Penal Code, 1860-Ss. 302- testimony of related witnesses cannot be rejected- merely on the ground of relationship-where such witnesses are also chance witnesses-their evidence requires greater circumspection-material contradictions in ocular evidence-inconsistency with medical evidence- omission of material facts- delayed medical examination of injured witness- non-examination of available independent witnesses -failure to satisfactorily explain injuries sustained by accused -defence version could not be ruled out – prosecution failed to prove guilt beyond reasonable doubt-Conviction and sentence set aside – Appeal allowed.

Case Law Cited

1. Lakshmi Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar, AIR (1976) SC 2263
2. Babu Ram and others Vs. State of Punjab, AIR (2008) SC 1260
3. Kumar Vs. State, represented by Inspector of Police, AIR (2018) SC 2386
4. Gautam Lal Vs. State (1981) Crl. Law J. 1187
5. Hem Raj v. State of Haryana, A.I.R. 2005 S.C. 2110

List of Acts

Indian Penal Code, 1860

List of Keywords

Circumstantial and direct evidence; Ocular-medical inconsistency; Interested witness; Chance witness; Proof beyond reasonable doubt.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Ashutosh Yadav (A.C.), P.N.Misra, Padmaker Pandey, Sunil Kumar Srivastava Counsel for Respondent(s) : A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjiv Kumar, J.)

1. This Criminal appeal has been filed under Section 374(2) of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short "Cr.P.C."), by appellants Madan Kumar, Mukund Kumar, Badshah @ Sushil Kumar and Prem Kumar @ Pappu, against the impugned judgment and order dated 06.04.1985 passed by Mr. M.C. Jain, Special Judge (E.C. Act)/Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur in Sessions Trial No. 139 of 1983 (State Vs. Madan Kumar and others).

2. By the impugned judgment and order, the learned Trial Court convicted and sentenced appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu to undergo imprisonment for life for offence punishable under Section 302 IPC and other appellants, Madan Kumar, Mukund Kumar and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar were sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life for offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. The learned Trial Court further convicted appellants Mukund Kumar, Prem Kumar @ Pappu and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar to undergo rigorous imprisonment for two years for offence punishable under Section 148 IPC; appellant Madan Kumar to undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year for offence punishable under Section 147 IPC; and all the appellants to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years for offence punishable under Section 324 read with Section 149 IPC. It was directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. Brief facts of the prosecution case are that Tapeshwari son of Mahavir, resident of House No. 22/46, Patkapur, Police Station Pheelkhana, District Kanpur, gave a verbal information at Police Station Pheelkhana, Kanpur on 22.12.1982 that today, at about 12 noon, Madan Kumar and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar have had an altercation with his nephew Parwat, wherein both parties hurled abuses at one another. He himself intervened and pacified the matter. It was further reported that the above dispute occurred because Parwat had objected Madan and others for teasing girls of his locality. Today, i.e. 22.12.1982 at about 05:15 p.m., the first informant and Rakesh Tewari had gone to chew Paan at Naala Road, Kooda Ghar roundabout. At the same time, his nephew Kaloo was proceeding for attending nature′s call, while another nephew Parwat, alongwith Raju son of Kishan, was coming from the side of Tapeshwari temple. At the same time, five persons namely Madan, his brother Mukund, Madan′s brother-in-law Badshah and Prem Kumar @ Pappu and one unknown person came from a lane. All of them, after looking at Parwat, said that Parwat has been found today, beat him and let him not escape. Immediately, all of them attacked Parwat near Mazaar roundabout. Madan caught hold of Parwat, and Prem took out a bomb from his pocket and hit it at Parwat′s temple, as a result Parwat fell to the ground, injured. The first informant, Kaloo, Rakesh and Raju raised alarm and tried to catch them, thereupon Mukund and Badshah attempted to attack them with knives, causing injuries to Kaloo and accused Prem Kumar. Accused Prem Kumar′s right hand from the wrist was blown away on account of the explosion. They lifted injured Parwat, and all the accused persons fled towards the Dwaraka Dheesh Road through the lane they had come from. He tried to catch the accused persons, but due to fear of bomb, could not apprehend them. He had identified the unknown person in the electricity light. He had taken his nephew to K.P.M. Hospital, from where he was referred to Parade Hospital and, before reaching there, his nephew succumbed to his injuries. It was further stated that the dead body of Parwat is lying in the hospital.

4. On the basis of above verbal information, an FIR under Case Crime No. 332 of 1982, under Section 147, 148, 149, 302 IPC was registered at Police Station Pheelkhana, District Kanpur on 22.12.1982 at 07:00 p.m. against all the four appellants and one unknown person and the investigation commenced.

5. The investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I. Malkhan Singh (P.W.9), who reached at the place of incident, collected blood-stained earth and plain earth from the place of occurrence, sealed them in two separate boxes and prepared its recovery memo (Ext. Ka-13). He also collected pieces of country made bomb, pieces of plastic and thread from the place of occurrence, kept them in a sealed box and prepared its recovery memo (Ext. Ka-14). Thereafter, injured Ram Kumar @ Kaloo, Prem Prakash @ Pappu were medically examined. The Investigating Officer also recorded the statement of informant and other witnesses. P.W.3 S.I. Sultan Ahmad prepared deceased′s inquest report and thereafter, the cadaver was sent for post-mortem examination. After concluding the investigation and collecting evidence, the Investigating Officer filed charge-sheet against the appellants under Section 147, 148, 149 and 302 IPC before the concerned Magistrate. The learned Magistrate took cognizance of the offence and summoned the appellants to appear before the Court.

They were furnished copies of relevant prosecution papers, under Section 207 Cr.P.C., and thereafter the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial.

6. The appellants appeared before the Court of Sessions, where charges under Section 147 IPC was framed against appellants Madan Kumar, Mukund Kumar and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar; charge under Section 148 IPC was framed against appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu; charge under Section 302 read with 149 IPC was framed against Madan Kumar, Mukund Kumar and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar; a charge under Section 302 IPC was framed against Prem Kumar @ Pappu; and charge under Section 307 read with 149 IPC was framed against all the four appellants. The above charges were read over and explained to them. The appellants abjured the said charges, pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

7. The prosecution, in order to prove its case, has examined as many as ten witnesses namely, Dr. Om Prakash Dubey (P.W.1), Head Constable Bardani Prasad (P.W.2), S.I. Sultan Ahmad (P.W.3), Tapeshwari, uncle of the deceased (P.W.4), Dr. H.C. Prasad (P.W.5), Constable Hakim Singh (P.W.6), Kaloo, real brother of the deceased (P.W.7), Dr. Naresh Yadav (P.W.8), S.I. Malkhan Singh, first Investigating Officer (P.W.9) and S.S.I. Shri Narayan Upadhyay, second Investigating Officer (P.W.10).

8. P.W.1 Dr. Om Prakash Dubey is a formal witness, who conducted medical examination of injured Ram Kumar @ Kaloo on 24.12.1982 at 02:30 p.m. in K.P.M. Hospital, Kanpur. He has found following injury:-

Infected lacerated wound with serous discharge 1/4 cm x 1/4 cm x skin deep over back and middle of little finger of left hand.

9. P.W.1 opined that the injury was simple in nature caused by hard and blunt object and was about two to three days old. P.W.1 has proved Kaloo′s injury report as Ext. Ka-1 and said that the above injury could have been caused on 22.12.1983 between 05:00-05:15 p.m. He further stated that the edges of the wound were infected, therefore, it was not possible to ascertain whether it was an incised wound, but visibly, it looked like a lacerated wound.

10. In his cross-examination, P.W.1 has said that the injury was superficial in nature and could have been self inflicted, depending upon the will power of the injured. He has not seen any cut mark over the bony part of the injury. At the time of examination, it was his opinion that the injury was caused by a blunt object.

11. P.W.2 Bardani Prasad, Head Constable, at the relevant time, was posted at Police Station Pheelkhana, who scribed the chik FIR (Ext. Ka-.2) and prepared G.D. No.44 (Ext. Ka-3), wherein the gist of the FIR was entered. He has proved the chik FIR as Ext. Ka-2. He has said that on 22.12.1982, he was posted as Head Constable at Police Station Pheelkhana. Tapeshwari had come at 07:00 p.m. and, upon his verbal dictation, P.W.2 scribed the chik FIR. He has further said that the special report of the case was sent the same day at 20:10 hours through Constable Chatrapal Singh, who returned after 12 midnight. In cross-examination, he has said that informant Tapeshwari had come to the police station alone and before registration of this case, on 22.12.1982 at 06:30 a.m., an FIR for a cognizable offence under Section 379 IPC was registered vide G.D. No. 9.

12. P.W.3 S.I. Sultan Ahmad is a formal witness, who has conducted inquest on 23.12.1982 at 08:00 a.m. and prepared inquest report of the deceased along with other papers and subsequently handed over the corpse to Constables Jawahar Lal and Hakim Singh for taking it to mortuary for post-mortem examination. He has proved the inquest report as Ext. Ka-4 and related papers such as, photo-nash, challan-nash, sample seal, letter to R.I., letter to C.M.O. as Exts. Ka-5 to Ka-9, respectively.

13. In his cross-examination, P.W.3 has stated that on 22.12.1982 at 08:00 p.m., he proceeded from police station to prepare the inquest report. Due to darkness, the inquest could not be prepared there. The dead body was lying at the mortuary.

14. P.W.4 Tapeshwari is the first informant and uncle of the deceased, who claims himself to be an eye-witness of the incident. He, in his examination-in-chief, has said that the deceased Parwat was his nephew. He knew all the four accused since before the incident. On 22.12.1982 at around 12 noon, an altercation took place between the deceased, Parwat, and Madan and Mukund. Later, the witness corrected himself and stated that it was actually Madan and Badshah and he has mistakenly mentioned the name of Mukund. He further deposed that he intervened and settled the dispute. Thereafter, Madan and Badshah as well as his nephew left the place. The same day at 05:15 p.m., he and Rakesh had gone to chew paan near a Mazar. He saw Parwat and Raju coming from the direction of Tapeshwari temple and all the named accused and an unknown person from the Dwaraka Dheesh lane. Madan yelled, Parwat has come. Let′s not spare him. They at once attacked his nephew. Madan caught hold of Parwat and Prem @ Pappu took out a bomb from his pocket and struck Parwat with it, as a result, Parwat fell to the ground. Prem had struck the bomb from a very close range by which flesh of Prem′s hand also flew off. The above incident was witnessed by Kaloo, Raju and Rakesh Tewari. They tried to catch the accused, but Mukund and Badshah had knives by which they attacked. Kaloo sustained injuries from the knives on his hand and the accused Prem @ Pappu also sustained injuries from knives. There was blood splattered at the place, where Parwat had fallen and the pieces and papers of bomb were also lying there. All the accused escaped from the spot. Thereafter, he took his nephew Parwat to K.P.M. Hospital, where the doctor, after giving him first-aid, advised to take him to U.H.M. Hospital. He along with other people took Parwat to U.H.M. Hospital, but on the way Parwat breathed his last. P.W.4 went to the Police Station and lodged verbal report. The witness has proved the chik FIR as Ext. Ka-2.

15. P.W.4, in his cross-examination, has said that he had not seen how many times Badshah and Mukund attacked with knives, but three-four blows being struck on Prem @ Pappu. He reached at the police station at 07:00 p.m. and stayed there for about 30 to 45 minutes. Firstly, he went to hospital taking Parwat on a Rickshaw. Parwat′s blood had dropped on his pant and shirt, which was seen by the Head Constable in the police station, but he did not take his blood-stained clothes. The Investigating Officer recorded his statement at about 08:30-09:00 p.m., at the place of occurrence. The Investigating Officer did not ask him to handover his blood-stained clothes. Raju and Kaloo, along with Rakesh, also went to the hospital. K.P.M. Hospital is nearby to the place of incident. There was no house near the place of occurrence, only a paan gumti (beetle nut shop), a general merchant shop and a flour mill was there. He was chewing paan. Shops were open. Prem fled towards the Dwaraka Dheesh road. He did not see blood dripping from his hand, but saw his hand's flesh flying away, which stuck to the wall. He chased the accused up to ten steps, but the accused turned around, took out their knives and attacked them. He did not see whose knife's blow hit Kaloo and Prem @ Pappu, but Mukund and Badshah had knives, which they were wielding. Prem did not sustain any knife blow while he was on the run. At that time, there was a crowd of six-seven persons. The bomb hit Parwat. Badshah and Mukund, who were two-three steps away from Parwat. Earlier a case under Section 324 IPC was lodged against Parwat. He (P.W.4) was called by the Investigating Officer at about 08:30-09:00 p.m. After lodging the FIR, he came to his house at 08:00 p.m. He had shown the place of incident to the Investigating Officer, and the spot from where he witnessed the incident. He further said that he is a tailor in an ordinance factory and on the day of incident, his shift was from 07:30 p.m., but he did not go for work and, on the next day, he had applied for leave.

16. It is further stated by P.W.4 that before this incident, a case of stabbing knife to Mahavir was lodged against him, Kaloo and Parwat etc. Prem struck the bomb over Parwat's head, standing close to him, holding the bomb in his hand. He did not know the name of Badshah prior to the incident. He came to know about his name at the place of occurrence at about 06:00-06:15 p.m. He did not send Kaloo to Lucknow. Kaloo did not return along with him from U.H.M. Hospital. He met Kaloo the next day at 06:00-07:00 p.m., at his house. He did not tell him to get himself medically examined. Prem was neither crying nor said why he was being hit by knives, upon receiving injuries.

17. P.W.5 Dr. H.C. Prasad was a radiologist in U.H.M. Hospital, who conducted autopsy on the person of deceased Parwat. He has said that on 13.12.1982, he was posted as Medical Officer in U.H.M. Hospital, Kanpur and at 04:20 p.m., he conducted post-mortem examination of the deceased. The deceased was about 22 years old. There was mark of bleeding from nose. Rigor mortis was present over upper part of the body and had passed through the lower part. Post-mortem staining was present over back and hip. The doctor noted the following ante-mortem injuries over the cadaver of the deceased:-

i. Lacerated wound 7 cm x 4 cm bone deep to the left of head, 3 cm above the left ear. The hair around the wound had burnt tattooing bleeding was present at some places.

ii. A contusion 7 cm x 2 cm over left over left scapula region.

18. On internal examination, parietal, frontal and temporal bones were found fractured. Fractured bones sinked and membrane was underneath. Brain was found lacerated in part at some places. There was six ounce of semi-digested food material in the stomach. Small intestine and large intestine were filled with gases. Left chamber of heart was found empty and right chamber filled with blood.

19. In the opinion of doctor, the cause of death was shock and excessive bleeding as a result of head injury and were caused within two days before the autopsy. Injury No. (i) could have been caused by explosive weapon such as, hand grenade. It was further opined that Injury No. (ii) could be caused after falling on the ground. Injury No. (i) was sufficient in itself, in normal course, to cause death. He has proved post-mortem report as Ext. Ka-10 and said that the deceased could have died on 22.12.1982 at about 05:45 to 06:20 p.m. The above witness has not been cross-examined by the defence.

20. P.W.6 Constable Hakim Singh is a formal witness, who had taken the dead body of the deceased for post-mortem examination and was also present at the time of inquest of the deceased at Ursala Hospital, Kanpur. He has said that the mortuary is about four-five kilometers away from the Ursala Hospital.

21. P.W.7 Kaloo is the eye-witness as well as injured witness of the case. He has said that deceased Parwat was his real brother. He knew accused Prem @ Pappu, Madan, Mukund and Badshah @ Sushil Kumar since before the incident. Madan and Mukund were real brothers, Badshah was their brother-in-law and Prem Kumar @ Pappu was their friend. On the date of incident at about 05:15 p.m., he was going to attend nature′s call. When he reached near Koodaghar from his lane, he saw his brother Parwat and Raju coming from the direction of Tapeshwari Devi temple going towards Mazaar. He further said that his uncle Tapeshwari and Rakesh Kumar were standing at a paan shop. Then, all the four named accused, along with one unknown person, came from Dwarka Dheesh street and yelled that Parwat has been found, beat him and not let him escape. Madan caught hold of his brother Parwat, then Prem Kumar hurled a bomb at his brother′s temple. Parwat got injured and fallen to the ground. Prem Kumar′s hand, above the wrist, was also blown off. The accused persons tried to run away. When they tried to apprehend the accused persons, Mukund and Badshah attacked them with knives. In defence, he caught hold of Prem @ Pappu and pushed him forward in front of him to hide himself. He suffered a knife injury on his finger and Prem Kumar also sustained knife blows. All the appellants fled away. Thereafter, Parwat was taken to K.P.M. Hospital and from there he was referred to Ursala Hospital, however, before reaching Ursala Hospital, Parwat died. On 24.12.1982, he was medically examined because, after the incident, he had gone to Lucknow to inform his maternal uncle about the incident.

22. In his cross-examination, P.W.7 said that he did not tell the Investigating Officer that he had pulled Prem Kumar @ Pappu in front of him. He went to Lucknow at 08:00 p.m. on the date of incident. He went to K.P.M. Hospital, but he did not get himself medically examined, as he was in grief. He reached at U.H.M. Hospital after Parwat had died. He was puzzled and frightened and as a result did not get himself medically examined initially. He did not not sustain any injury except over his finger. Prem Kumar @ Pappu sustained knife injuries. When he also received injury over his finger, then he left Prem Kumar. He saw Parwat being hit by a bomb from a distance of three-four steps. He cannot say at which part of the body Prem Kumar sustained injuries from knife. He cannot say whether it was Mukund or Badshah, whose knife blows struck Prem Kumar.

23. In further cross-examination, he has said that he makes kite thread and lives 30-35 steps away from the place of occurrence. He was empty handed and had not gone to attend nature′s call after the incident. The Investigating Officer had recorded his statement on 24.12.1983. He did not get himself medically examined in Lucknow. The Inspector had sent him for medical examination along with Constable at 02:00 p.m. He did not chase any of the accused persons. Before telling about the incident to the Investigating Officer, he did not tell about it to any other person. After the incident and before going to Lucknow, he went to his house and had a chat with his mother. His mother had reached hospital in front of him. Nobody told him to lodge an FIR. He was detained at Pheelkhana Police Station in a case under Section 25 of Arms Act, 1959, but was acquitted in the case.

24. P.W.8 Dr. Naresh Yadav is C.M.O., who at the relevant time was posted at LLR Hospital, Kanpur. He has examined accused Prem Prakash @ Pappu. He has said that on 22.12.1982, he was posted at LLR Hospital, Kanpur as C.M.O. On that day at 07:45 p.m., he medically examined Prem Prakash @ Pappu and found following injuries on his body:-

i. Blackening over right hand, wrist and the bone of wrist, muscle deep. Excessive bleeding was present.

ii. Lacerated wound over left upper arm 2 cm x 1 cm fresh bleeding present. 10 cm below the outer edge of clavical.

iii. Incised wound over left side of chest 4 cm above the nipple in the area of 2 cm x 1 cm, fresh bleeding was present and the depth could not be measured.

iv. Incised wound to the left side behind the chest to the level of 5, 6 dorsal spine in diagonal direction 3 cm away of the size of 5 cm x $1^{1/2}$ cm. Depth not known. Fresh bleeding was present.

v. Incised wound below injur no4 1.5 cm x .5 cm. x muscle deep. Fresh bleeding was present.

vi. Incised wound behind the chest to the right part in the level of dorsal spine 5, 6 of the size of $2^{1/2}$ cm x 1 cm x depth not probed. Fresh bleeding present.

25. In the opinion of P.W.8, injury no.1 was caused by blast of some explosive material and injury no. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 were caused by any sharp edged weapon. All the injuries were fresh. The patient was admitted and injuries were kept under observation. X -ray was advised of chest and hand and the Police were informed. He has said that he prepared the injury report in his own handwriting, which he proved as Ext. Ka-11 and said that the above injuries could have occurred on 22.12.1982 at 05:15 p.m. He has further said that if the injured attacks with a grenade in his hand and it blasts in his hand itself, then injury no.1 could be caused, but if the explosive contains led or iron, then incised wound could also be caused.

26. In his cross-examination, P.W.8 has said that he cannot tell whether he had prepared supplementary report or not, unless he peruses the record. Injury no.2 to 6 could have been caused by knives. It is not necessary that in an injury caused by blast, foreign matter would retain in the incised wound. In these injuries, there was no foreign matter, internally or externally. Injury nos. 2 to 6 could not be caused by blast of a single bomb blast. If the bomb blast is caused from explosive material, then particles of explosive materials would be found inside the wounds.

27. P.W.9 S.I. Malkhan Singh is the first Investigating Officer of this case. He has said that he recorded statement of the informant at the place occurrence and, at his pointing out, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared its site plan, which he has proved as Ext. Ka-12. He collected sample of plain earth and blood stained earth from the place of occurrence, sealed them in separate boxes and prepared it recovery memo, which he proved as Ext. Ka-13. He has further said that he collected papers, pieces of polythene and thread of the country made bomb and prepared its recovery memo, which he has proved as Ext. Ka-14. S.I. Sultan Ahmad told him that there was no proper arrangement of light in the mortuary, so the inquest could not be prepared in night. He got an information at Bada Chauraha that injured accused Prem Prakash @ Pappu is admitted in Lala Lajpat Rai Hospital. He went there and after interrogation took him into custody. On 23.12.1982, he arrested Badhshah. Thereafter, he was transferred and the investigation was handed over to S.S.I. Sri Narayan Upadhyay (P.W.10).

28. In cross-examination, P.W.9 stated that Tapeshwari neither showed him mark of blood nor flesh on the wall of gumti, however, he showed the place from where he had witnessed the incident, but inadvertently, he missed to depict it in the site-plan.

29. P.W. 10 S.S.I. Sri Narayan Upadhyay is the second Investigating Officer of the case. He, in his examination-in-chief, has stated that after the transfer of first Investigating Officer, the investigation was handed over to him. During investigation, he recorded the statements of Raju and Rakesh, but now Raju is untraceable to give evidence and has fled somewhere. He collected injury report of witness Kaloo on 05.01.1983. Thereafter, he submitted charge-sheet, which he has proved as Ext. Ka-13. P.W.10 has not been cross-examined by the defence.

30. After closure of the evidence of prosecution, statements of appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which they denied the prosecution case and said that the witnesses are deposing against them false due to pressure of Police and enmity. Appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu further said that the real facts are that deceased Parwat had enmity with him. On the date of incident, Parwat and his friends attacked him with knives and during the incident, the companion of Parwat threw a hand grenade over him, with an intention to kill, as a result, he sustained injuries on his hand and Parwat was also injured in it. Some people took him to the hospital, where he was given medical treatment. The accused persons have not produced any evidence in their defence.

31. After perusing the evidence and material on record, the learned Trial Court came to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The testimony of the informant and injured witness were held reliable and trustworthy. It is further held by the Trial Court that there was no contradiction in ocular and medical evidence and, accordingly, all the appellants were convicted and sentenced for the term noted in earlier part of the judgment.

32. We have heard rival submissions of Mr. V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Padmakar Pandey, learned counsel for the appellant nos. 1, 2 and 3, Mr. Ashutosh Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of appellant no.4 and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari along with Mr. Anil Kumar Mishra, learned Additional Government Advocates on behalf of State.

33. It is submitted on behalf of the appellants Madan, Mukund and Badshah that they were not present at the place and time of the incident and have been falsely implicated in the case. It is also submitted on behalf of all the appellants that the eye-witness produced by the prosecution are not reliable and their presence at the spot is highly doubtful.

34. It is next argued on behalf of the appellants that there were injuries on appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu, however, the prosecution has not given any explanation of these injuries. Thus, the entire prosecution case is doubtful. It is further submitted on behalf of the appellants that the injured witness Kaloo′s injuries are superficial and self inflicted, and it was not caused in the incident. The medical examination of Kaloo was conducted late and delay in this regard has not satisfactorily been explained by the prosecution.

35. Per contra, learned AGA on behalf of the State has submitted that the prosecution case is prove beyond reasonable doubt. This is a case based on direct evidence. It is further submitted that P.W. 4, Tapeshwari, and P.W.7, Kaloo, are the two eye witnesses, who have been examined by the prosecution and they have supported the prosecution case, and their testimony is consistent and reliable. The ocular evidence is supported by medical evidence. The injuries to appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu are also well explained. It is further submitted by learned AGA that there was motive for the appellants to commit the crime, therefore, this appeal has no force and it is liable to be dismissed.

36. It is settled law that in a criminal case, the burden of proof lies upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. This case is based on direct evidence. The prosecution has examined two witnesses of fact namely P.W.4 Tapeshwari and P.W.7 Kaloo. Tapeshwari is the uncle of deceased Parwat, whereas Kaloo is Parwat′s real brother. Therefore, both these witnesses are relative as well as interested witnessess.

37. In case of relative and interested witness, the law is well settled that their testimony would not be rejected outrightly only on the basis of their being relative witnesses. What is required is that their testimony is to be scrutinized with greater care. Here, it is also relevant to note that, according to P.W.4 Tapweshwari, he had gone to chew Paan along with Rakesh Tewari at a Paan shop near Mazaar. So far as Kaloo is concerned, it is the case of the prosecution that he was going to attend the nature′s call and, while he was on his way, he happened to be present at the place of occurrence. Therefore, both these witnesses are also chance witness and their presence at the place of occurrence is not natural or normal. It has come in the evidence of P.W.7 Kaloo that he goes to attend the nature′s call daily, in the evening, so on that particular day his present at the spot is by chance.

38. In case of chance witnesses also, the law is well settled that their testimony is to be seen with greater circumspection. According to the prosecution, the incident occurred on 22.12.1982 at 05:15 p.m. at Nala Road near Kooda Ghar Chauraha, under Police Station Pheelkhana, District Kanpur Nagar. The FIR was lodged the same day at about 07:00 p.m.. by P.W. 4 Tapeshwari. All the appellants are named in the FIR. It is alleged on behalf of the appellants that the presence of both the eye-witnesses is highly doubtful and the manner and way, in which they have stated that the occurrence took place, is not improbable.

39. In this regard, after examining the testimony of both these witnesses their testimony is not reliable and trustworthy. It is the case of the prosecution that on the fateful day at about 12 noon, an altercation had taken place between Madan and Badshah on one side and Parwat on the other with regard to teasing girls. The matter was pacified with the intervention of Tapeshwari. On the same day at about 05:15 p.m., the appellants attacked Parwat. The above alleged motive is very weak. It has not been disclosed that how serious the incident was, which occurred at 12 noon and prompted appellants to take such drastic step to commit this offence. Though, in case of direct evidence motive loses its significance, but like any other fact, if the prosecution has alleged the motive, then it is to be proved like any other fact, which the prosecution has failed to do so.

40. It has come in the statement of P.W.4 Tapeshwari that Madan shouted that Parwat has come, do not let him go and thereafter, they attacked his nephew Parwat. He has said that Madan caught hold of Parwat and Prem Kumar @ Pappu took out a bomb from his pocket and strucked it to Parwat from a very close distance, as a result, Parwat fell on the ground injured. He has also said that Prem′s hand was also injured and pieces of flesh flew off. When they tried to catch the appellants, then Mukund and Badshah, who were having knives, wielded them, as a result Kaloo sustained injuries over his hand and appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu was also injured.

41. There are material contradictions in the testimony of P.W.4 and P.W.7 vis-a-vis each other with regard to the manner in which the incident took place, raising doubt over their presence at the time of incident. According to P.W.4, blood had splattered on the ground where Parwet fell, whereas according to P.W.7 Kaloo, no blood was splattered at the place of occurrence. According to P.W.4 Tapeshwari, pieces of flesh of appellant Prem @ Pappu′s hand flew off and stuck on the Gumti′s wall, which he claims to have shown to the Investigating Officer, however, according to P.W.7, Kaloo, no such pieces of flesh stuck on the Gumti′s wall. According to P.W.7 Kaloo, after the attack, when the appellants tried to flee away, he and his uncle attempted to apprehend them. In that process, Mukund and Badshah wielded their knives, and in defnece, he caught hold of appellant Prem Kumar and stood behind him, using him as a shield, whereby his left hand′s finger got injured and Prem Kumar also sustained injuries from knife. P.W.4 Tapeshwari has not stated any such thing that Kaloo had used Prem Kumar as his shield and in that process Prem Kumar sustained injuries from knife.

42. The manner in which both these witnesses describe the incident is highly improbable and unreliable. They say that appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu took out a bomb from his pocket, held it in his hand and hit it at Parwat′s temple, while co-accused Madan was holding Parwat. It is highly unnatural and improbable that a person would strike a bomb to another, in such a manner, while holding it in his hand, knowing that in this process he may also get injured. Secondly, if all the accused had come there with the criminal intent and Madan was holding Parwat, then Prem Kumar @ Pappu must have known that the bomb may cause injuries to his fellow Madan also. Thirdly, if Madan was holding Parwat and Parwat sustained injuries over his head from bomb, which proved fatal, then some injuries must have been caused to Madan also, who according to the prosecution, was catching hold of Parwat when the bomb struck at his head. In the present case, Madan has not sustained any such injury from bomb, which completely rules out the manner in which the prosecution witnesses say the incident had taken place.

43. There are, admittedly, injuries caused to appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu and he was medically examined the same day. One injury is over his right hand and P.W.8 Dr. Naresh Yadav, who medically examined him, has opined that those injuries were caused by blast of an explosive material, while rest of the injuries were caused by a sharp-edged weapon. A perusal of the injury report of appellant Prem @ Pappu show that he sustained injury nos. 2 to 6 of incised wound over his upper arm, left side of chest and back side of chest. So all these injuries are caused by sharp-edged weapon and most of them are caused on vital parts of the body. P.W.4 Tapeshwari and P.W.7 Kaloo say that appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu sustained injuries from knife, which were wielded by co-appellant Badshah and Mukund. According to the prosecution, appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu sustained these injuries from knife because P.W.7 Kaloo had caught hold of Prem Kumar @ Pappu and used him as shield and, when co-appellant Mukund and Badshah attacked at Kaloo, except one injury over Kaloo′s finger, rest of the blows and injuries were caused to Prem Kumar @ Pappu.

44. It is highly unlikely that the appellants, after coming at the place of occurrence with common intention to commit the incident, would, in fact, wield knives over Kaloo in such a manner that their own companion would receive almost all the injuries over his body. Therefore, the explanation given by the prosecution with regard to the injury of the incised wound, sustained by appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu, is neither satisfactorily nor well explained.

45. So far as injury sustained by P.W.7 Kaloo is concerned, it has come in evidence that after the incident, he accompanied first informant and deceased Parwat to the Hospital. It is surprising that being injured Kaloo did not ask for his own medical examination at both the hospitals. Had he sustained the injury over his finger of the hand in this incident, he should have been medically examined the same day.

46. In this regard, the explanation by the prosecution is that the same night, Kaloo left to Lucknow to inform his maternal uncle about the incident and when he returned on 24.12.1982, his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer and, thereafter, he was medically examined. This explanation, in itself, is not satisfactory because on one hand Kaloo says that he went to Lucknow to inform his maternal uncle about the incident and on the other hand, he says that till his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer, he did not tell anybody about the incident. Both these statements of P.W.7 Kaloo is contrary to each other, which raises suspicion over his testimony and also raises doubt that Kaloo sustained only injury in this incident.

47. Here, it is relevant to mention that Kalaoo did not mention in his statement to the Investigating Officer, recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., that he had used Prem Kumar @ Pappu as shield at the time of incident, whereby most of the blows of knife were sustained by Prem Kumar @ Pappu. This was a very material fact, the omission of which in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., is not satisfactorily explained by the prosecution.

48. In view of the above, the said omission amounts to contradiction in view of Section 162 (1) Cr.P.C. A perusal of injury report of P.W.7 Kaloo @ Prem Kumar shows that he sustained only one injury of the nature of infected lacerated wound with serus discharge over back of left hand′s middle finger. The doctor has opined it as simple in nature and said that it could have been caused by blunt object. The doctor has said that it was possible that it could have been an incised wound, but it appeared lacerated wound. He has specifically said that the above injury was caused by blunt object and was superficial, which could have been self-inflicted also. The nature of this injury creates doubt and raises suspicion that the said injury was caused during incident to Kaloo. Besides this, delay in his medical examination and the contradictions in his testimony, as discussed above, raises serious doubt over his presence at the place of occurrence.

49. Therefore, in view of the above discussion of testimonies of P.W.4 Tapeshwari and P.W.7 Kaloo, their presence at the spot is highly doubtful and the manner in which, they say that the incident had taken place is not believable. Here, it is relevant to mention that except for both these witnesses, the prosecution has not produced any other independent witnesses like Raju, who, according to prosecution, was accompanying Parwat at the time of incident and Rakesh Tewari, who also witnessed the incident. The witnesses of fact, who have been examined are not found reliable and trustworthy, so non-examination of other independent witnesses raises adverse inference over the prosecution case, as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Hem Raj v. State of Haryana, A.I.R. 2005 S.C. 2110, that an unexplained omission to examine independent eye-witness would create an adverse inference, particularly when the eye-witnesses actually produced were not found to be reliable and there were serious doubts about their presence at the spot.

50. In the present case, the prosecution has not been able to satisfactorily explain the injuries to appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu, of the nature of incised wound, which are five in nature. The manner in which the prosecution says he sustained these injuries is not believable. So non-explanation of these injuries creates serious doubt over the prosecution case and it raises doubt over the genesis of the incident.

51. Learned counsel for the appellants has relied upon the case law in Lakshmi Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar, AIR (1976) SC 2263, in which it is held as under:

"This Court clearly pointed out that where the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the accused, two results follow: (1) that the evidence of the prosecution witnesses is untrue: and (2) that the injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants. The High Court in the present case has not correctly applied the principles laid down by this Court in the decision referred to above. In some of the recent cases, the same principle was laid down. In Puran Singh v. The State of Punjab Criminal Appeal No. 266 of 1971 decided on April 25, 1975 : which was also a murder case, this Court, while following an earlier case, observed as follows:

In State of Gujarat v. Bai Fatima Criminal Appeal No 67 of 1971 decided on March 19, 1975 :) one of us (Untwalia, J., speaking for the Court, observed as follows:

In a situation like this when the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the person of an accused, depending on the facts of each case, any of the three results may follow:

(1) That the accused had inflicted the injuries on the members of the prosecution party in exercise of the right of self defence.

(2) It makes the prosecution version of the occurrence doubtful and the charge against the accused cannot be held to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt.

(3) It does not affect the prosecution case at all.

The facts of the present case clearly fall within the four corners of either of the first two principles laid down by this judgment. In the instant case, either the accused were fully justified in causing the death of the deceased and were protected by the right of private defence or that if the prosecution does not explain the injuries on the person of the deceased the entire prosecution case is doubtful and the genesis of the occurrence is shrouded in deep mystery, which is sufficient to demolish the entire prosecution case.

It seems to us that in a murder case, the non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of the occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance from which the Court can draw the following inferences:

(1) That the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and the origin of the occurrence and has thus not presented the true version:

(2) that the witnesses who have denied the presence of the injuries on the person of the accused are lying on a most material point and therefore their evidence is unreliable;

(3) that in case there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused it is rendered probable so as to throw doubt on the prosecution case.

The omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries on the person of the accused assumes much greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution one. In the instant case, when it is held, as it must be, that the appellant Dasrath Singh received serious injuries which have not been explained by the prosecution, then it will be difficult for the Court to rely on the evidence of PWs. 1 to 4 and 6 more particularly, when some of these witnesses have lied by stating that they did not see any injuries on the person of the accused."

52. Learned counsel for the appellants has further relied upon the decision of Babu Ram and others Vs. State of Punjab, AIR (2008) SC 1260, in which it is been held as under:

"19. Further, it is important to point out that the omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries on the person of the accused assumes much greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution one."

53. Learned counsel for the appellants has further relied upon the case law in Kumar Vs. State, represented by Inspector of Police, AIR (2018) SC 2386, in which it is been held as under:

"32. A duty is cast on the prosecution to furnish proper explanation to the Court how the person who has been accused of assaulting the deceased, received injuries on his person in the same occurrence. We may note that the injuries alleged to have been caused are not properly explained. An alternative story is set up wherein the injuries are attributed to mob justice, such allegations without substantive evidence cannot be accepted."

54. P.W.4 has said that he could not witness, whose blows struck Kaloo and whose blows struck Prem Kumar @ Pappu, but Badshah and Mukund were wielding knives. When further asked, the witnesses said that he could not see at which part of the body, Prem Kumar sustained injuries from knife because, it was crowded. When further, asked, he said that there was a crowd of 6-7 persons.

55. A group of 6-7 persons cannot be termed as crowd, as stated by P.W.7. If, out of them, four were the appellants and one was Parwat, and the others were the witnesses and the informant, then it could not be said that there was such a crowd, which could obstruct his view to observe and see, who was wielding the knives and to whom blows were inflicted. He has said that the pieces of flesh of Prem′s hand had stuck on the Gumti′s wall and he had shown them to the Investigating Officer, however, the Investigating Officer has said that, he was not shown any such pieces of flesh at the place of occurrence. The Investigating Officer has not sent the blood-stained earth and plain earth as well as pieces of country made bomb for forensic examination and no satisfactory explanation is given by the prosecution for this failure.

56. In view of the above discussion, we come to the conclusion that the prosecution has not been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The testimony of P.W.4 and P.W.7 Kaloo is not consistent and reliable. They are highly interested witnesses and their presence at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful. The injuries sustained by appellant Prem Kumar @ Pappu have not been satisfactorily explained by the prosecution, which raises doubt over genesis of the incident, and the manner in which the prosecution say that the incident has taken place.

57. The case put up by the defence can not be completely ruled out that, in fact, Parwat and his men attacked Prem Kumar @ Pappu with knives and in that process one of the companions of Parwat threw bomb over Prem Kumar @ Pappu, which caused injuries to his right hand and also hit Parwat over his head, causing him injuries, which probablises the defence version. Further, where versions of both parties are not totally acceptable, then the appellant would be entitled to the benefit of doubt.

58. In this regard the learned counsel for the appellants has relied upon the decision of Gautam Lal Vs. State (1981) Crl. Law J. 1187, a decision of this Court, in which a Division Bench of this Court held as under:

"11. ..... It is now a well settled principle of criminal law that an accused can be convicted only when on the evidence produced the court is in a position to come to a definite conclusion beyond the possibility of reasonable doubt that the accused committed the offence with which he stood charged. No conviction can be based on mere possibility. Nor is it permissible for the court to speculate as to what had really happened. If both the parties come to court with untrue facts and conceal the real truth they have themselves to blame and they cannot expect the court to arrive at any definite conclusion on the unreliable evidence produced either for or against either of the parties. In such a case the court will certainly attempt to separate the grain from the chaff but only if it is possible to do so. In certain circumstances it may be found to be an Impossible task. That would particularly be when the evidence of both the parties is unreliable and cannot be accepted even in part with safety. In such a case it is not open to the court to make out a third case which is different from the case set up by both the parties. In a situation like this the court can only say that the matter is doubtful in the extreme and it is not possible to arrive at any conclusion one way or the other. The result of such a finding may be that the person who stands as an accused in the case may have to be given the benefit of doubt."

59. Consequently, the prosecution case is not proved beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore, the Trial Court has failed to appreciate the evidence on record correctly and, on the basis of surmises and conjectures, has formed an opinion towards the guilt of the appellants, therefore, the impugned judgment and order is not sustainable and is, hereby, set aside and the appeal stands allowed.

60. Appellant nos.1, 2 and 3, Madan Kumar, Mukund Kumar, Badshah @ Sushil Kumar, respectively, are on bail. Their bail bonds and personal bond are cancelled and the sureties discharged. Appellant nos.1, 2 and 3, need not surrender.

61. Appellant no.4, Prem Kumar @ Pappu is in custody. He is ordered to be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

62. The appellants shall execute a personal bond, in a sum of Rs.25,000/- each, under Section 481 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (corresponding to Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) for their appearance, in the event of an appeal being preferred against their acquittal.

63. Let a copy of this order be sent to the Trial Court concerned, along with the Trial Court record, for information and necessary compliance.

(2026) 5 ILRA 1189
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED:ALLAHABAD 08.05.2026

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.
THE HON'BLE SANJIV KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1106 of 1985

Kali Das & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Issue for consideration

Matter pertains to legality of conviction order.

Headnotes

Murder-Indian Penal Code, 1860-S. 302; Indian Evidence Act,1872-sec.145-Assault on deceased-on exhortation of co-accused-arising out of prior enmity- three eye-witnesses- natural, consistent and trustworthy -delay explained by carrying injured on cot over 9.6 km -informant seeing assailants flee with weapon -a witness of res gestae-credible ocular testimony to be preferred over medical opinion and discarded only where medical evidence renders it wholly improbable-Sec 145 Evidence Act-dying declaration recorded after brain surgery and tracheostomy rightly discarded-its absence immaterial where robust ocular evidence exists-exhortation to kill immediately before the fatal blow establishing common intention without proof of prior plan -testimony reliable and supported by medical and corroborative evidence- conviction upheld -Appeals dismissed.

Case Law Cited

Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 6 SCC 593
Ram Kumar Pandey v. State of M.P., (1975) 3 SCC 815

Bishan Dass v. State of Punjab, (1975) 3 SCC 700
Pedda Narayana v. State of A.P., (1975) 4 SCC 153
Gurnam Kaur v. Bakshish Singh, 1980 Supp SCC 567
State of Haryana v. Sher Singh, (1981) 2 SCC 300
State of U.P. v. Ballabh Das, (1985) 3 SCC 703
Jagtar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1988) 1 SCC 712
Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, (1990) 4 SCC 692
State of U.P. v. Krishna Master, (2010) 12 SCC 324
CBI v. Tapan Kumar Singh, (2003) 6 SCC 175
Veerendra v. State of M.P., (2022) 8 SCC 668
Sukhar v. State of U.P., (1999) 9 SCC 507
Pruthiviraj Jayantibhai Vanol v. Dinesh Dayabhai Vala, (2022) 18 SCC 683
State of M.P. v. Dharkole, (2004) 13 SCC 308
Bhargavan v. State of Kerala, (2004) 12 SCC 414
Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, (1953) 2 SCC 36
Guli Chand v. State of Rajasthan, (1974) 3 SCC 698
Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614
Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan, 1951 SCC 1213
Masalti v. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202
Vinobhai v. State of Kerala, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 178
State (Delhi Administration) v. Laxman Kumar, (1985) 4 SCC 476
Anjan Ganguly v. State of West Bengal, 2013 SCC OnLine Cal 22948
V.K. Mishra v. State of Uttarakhand, (2015) 9 SCC 588
Vinod Kumar v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2025) 3 SCC 680
Laxman v. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 6 SCC 710
Paparambaka Rosamma v. State of A.P., (1999) 7 SCC 695
Koli Chunilal Savji v. State of Gujarat, (1999) 9 SCC 562
Gulab v. State of U.P., (2022) 12 SCC 677
Sandeep v. State of Haryana, (2022) 14 SCC 812

List of Acts

Indian penal Code, 1860
Inian Evidence Act,1872

List of Keywords

common intention, FIR not an encyclopaedia , res , ocular evidence , medical evidence , related witnesses, proof of contradiction, dying declaration, constructive liability, vicarious liability.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for the Appellants : Mr. Kamal Krishna, Sr. Advocate, assisted by Mr. Abhinav Dwivedi, Advocate
Counsel for the Respondent : Mr. Deepak Mishra, A.G.A

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The appellants, Kali Das and Chhotey Lal, who have preferred separate appeals, stood their trial before Mr. U.S. Tripathi, the then Additional Sessions Judge, Mirzapur, for the murder of Mangla Singh in Sessions Trial No. 298 of 1983, amalgamated with Sessions Trial No. 356 of 1983. They were convicted vide judgment and order dated 19.04.1985 for the offences punishable under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short, 'IPC') and Section 302/ 34 IPC, respectively, and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

2. Bansh Bahadur Singh lodged a First Information Report (for short, 'FIR') on 26.07.1983 at 10.30 p.m. regarding an incident, that had happened earlier in the day at 6.00 p.m. in Village Mamolapur, Chunar, District Mirzapur, giving rise to Crime No. 118 of 1983, under Sections 307, 324 IPC, Police Station Chunar, District Mirzapur. According to the FIR, that was lodged with the Police by Bansh Bahadur Singh at about 6.00 p.m., his cousin Mangla Singh was proceeding towards the west of the village, where the canal is located, in order to relieve himself. Kali Das Nat and Chhotey Lal, both sons of Gulab Das, who are said to be involved in a long standing litigation with the informant's family and harbour animosity against them, arrived there armed with a gandasa. At that moment, Chhotey Lal exhorted Kali Das to kill Mangla Singh. Upon the exhortation, Kali Das assaulted Mangla Singh with the gandasa. Mangla Singh raised alarm, upon hearing which Ram Kishor Singh, Tejbali Singh and other natives of the village rushed to the place of occurrence, and in meanwhile, Kali Das, with an intention to kill Mangla Singh, struck him on the head with the gandasa he wielded. Mangla Singh fell down. He delivered another blow to the victim, employing his gandasa. The witnesses, who reached there, made the assailants, Kali Das and Chhotey Lal, retreat. They left Mangla Singh for dead. The assault left Mangla Singh in a critical condition. The FIR said that the informant had brought the injured along (to the police station), who had suffered a severe head injury and was unconscious.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid FIR, Case Crime No. 118 of 1983, under Sections 307, 324 IPC was registered at Police Station Chunar, District Mirzapur, as already said. The aforesaid FIR was registered on the basis of the written information dated 26.07.1983, addressed by Bansh Bahadur Singh to the S.H.O., Police Station Chunar, District Mirzapur. The written information, that was handed over to the Police by the first informant, after being proved in accordance with law, was marked as Ex. Ka-1. The check FIR was marked as Ex. Ka-2, which was drawn up by Head Constable Shivaji Singh, PW-5. He made an entry of the crime, that was registered, in G.D. No. 25, marked as Ex. Ka-3. He sent the victim for his medical examination to the Primary Health Centre, Chunar vide a memo (chitthi majrubi), marked as Ex. Ka-4. The victim was sent along with Constable Ramayan Rai. The doctor was on leave at P.H.C. Chunar, and, therefore, the victim was conveyed to the District Hospital, Mirzapur. At the District Hospital, the victim's injuries were examined by Dr. S.N. Singh, PW-6, in the wee hours of 26/27.07.1983, to be precise, at 1 o'clock. The doctor found one incised wound 19cm x 2cm x bone deep on the scalp and an abrasion 3cm x 1cm on the right thigh. The injury report was drawn up by the doctor, which is marked as Ex. Ka-9. The injuries noticed are as under:

1. Incised wound 19cm x 2cm x bone deep on the scalp (Head) 4cm above from Rt. Ear. Transverse in direction. Margin clear, regular everted. Advice X-ray of skull/ AP (Antero-posterior) & Lateral view.

2. Abrasion 3xm x 1cm on the anterior aspect of Rt. thigh, 6cm above the knee joint.

Opinion: Injury No. (1) K.U.O. X-ray advised. Caused by sharp edged weapon.

Injury No. (2) simple & caused by blunt object. Duration fresh."

4. Sub-Inspector Ram Lakhan Tiwari, then posted at P.S. Chunar, was appointed the I.O., who took up the investigation. He proceeded to Village Mamolapur and took down the statements of Bansh Bahadur Singh (PW-1), Gulam Mohammad (PW-2), Ram Kishor Singh (PW-3) and Tej Bali Singh (PW-4). He inspected the place of occurrence and drew up a site-plan, Ex. Ka-17. He launched a hunt for the appellants, but they were not available at home. The victim, Mangla Singh, was in a precarious state and, therefore, shifted to the care of a better medical facility at the Sir Sundar Lal Hospital, Institute of Medical Sciences, B.H.U, Varanasi on 29.07.1983. At the B.H.U. Hospital, the deceased was treated by Dr. S. Mohanty, PW-11. Dr. Mohanty operated the deceased in connection with his head injury on 29.07.1983. The Investigating Officer visited the B.H.U. Hospital, Varanasi on 31.07.1983 and took down the deceased's statement. He recorded the deceased's statement, later exhibited, and marked as Ex. Ka-18. It is part of the case diary. The I.O. also took into his possession the bloodstained clothes that the victim wore at the time of incident. These were sealed and a recovery memo drawn. The recovery memo is marked Ex. Ka-19. The Investigating Officer made further efforts to apprehend the appellants, who were not available. He secured processes under Section 82 and 83 Cr.P.C. on 07.08.1983, that were duly executed. The appellants still could not be apprehended. A charge-sheet was filed by the Investigating Officer on 08.08.1983 under Section 307 IPC, showing the appellants as absconders. The charge-sheet dated 08.08.1983 is marked Ex. Ka-21.

5. The appellants surrendered before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gyanpur, District Varanasi on 01.08.1983. Later on, they were sent to Mirzapur. The learned III Additional Munsif Magistrate, Mirzapur vide order dated 28.09.1983 committed the case to the Sessions. Mangla Singh, the victim, who had been battling for his life at the Sir Sundar Lal Hospital, B.H.U., Varanasi, lost the battle and died on 22.10.1983 at 4.30 p.m. Information regarding Mangla Singh's death was sent to P.S. Lanka, District Varanasi on 23.10.1983 at 6.45 p.m. Sub-Inspector Hridai Narain Rai, PW-9, was detailed to hold the inquest. PW-9 held inquest on 23.10.1983 at 10.15 a.m. and drew up an inquest report, Ex. Ka-13. He made a photo of the corpse (lash), Ex. Ka-14, a challan of the corpse (lash), Ex. Ka-15 and a report requesting autopsy, Ex. Ka-16. The dead body was sealed and handed over to Constables Jai Prakash and Adya Prasad Mishra of P.S. Lanka for the purpose of conveying the cadaver for autopsy.

6. The autopsy of the dead body was conducted by Dr. S.K. Tripathi, PW-8, on 23.10.1983 at 2.00 p.m. at the Institute of Medical Sciences, B.H.U., Varanasi. The doctor found healing wounds on the head, thigh, leg, knee, knee joint, left ankle joint, and according to him, the cause of death was due to coma on account of head injury. The autopsy report is marked as Ex. Ka-12. The ante-mortem injuries noted in the report are as under:

"1. Healing wound 8cm x 8cm on the sacral region covered granulation tissue and surrounded 1cm freshly healed tissue.

2. Healing wound 10cm x 5cm on the upper and outer aspect of left thigh at 88cm above left heel.

3. Healing wound 3 x 2cm at the outer and back left knee covered with scab.

4. Healing wound with healthy granulation $3^{1/2}$ cm x $2^{1/2}$ cm on the left outer aspect of left heel.

5. Healing wound with healthy granulation tissue $2^{1/2}$ cm x $2^{1/2}$ cm on the right heel back and outer aspect.

6. Fresh healed scar with healing granulation tissue here and there in it; is 25cm placed right to left over scalp and it is 20 cm from the nose junction and $3^{1/2}$ cm above the right ear and 8cm above the left ear and the underneath tissue on opening is adhered with the skull. Skull has 2 oval shaped hole (sic whole) with healing margin, one on left 6cm x $4^{1/2}$ cm x cavity deep and second on right side 8cm x 4cm x cavity deep with healing margin, joint with each other with tissue fracture of $2^{1/2}$ cm, membrane ruptured and adhered to skull bone margins and brain matter coming to these.

7. One oval healing wound $2^{1/2}$ x $2^{1/4}$ cm x trachea deep over front of neck, $3^{1/2}$ cm above the sternal notch.

Internal examination

Cause of death: Coma as a result of head injury.″

7. After the deceased passed away on 22.10.1983, his brother Prem Nath Singh moved an application to the Superintendent of Police, Mirzapur, seeking conversion of the case into one under Section 302 IPC. The Superintendent of Police directed the S.H.O. to further investigate the case vide his endorsement Ex. Ka-2. In compliance with the aforesaid order made by the Superintendent of Police, fresh investigation was undertaken by S.N. Yadav, PW-7, the then Senior Sub-Inspector, P.S. Chunar. He went to P.S. Lanka, District Varanasi and took down the statements of Hridai Narain Rai, PW-9, and Constables Jai Prakash and Adya Prasad Mishra. On 28.10.1983, the case was altered into one under Section 302 IPC vide G.D. Entry No.29, marked as Ex. Ka-7. The investigation led the Investigating Officer S.N. Yadav to submit another charge-sheet against the appellants in the same crime under Section 302 IPC, marked as Ex. Ka-11.

8. Committal proceedings, on the basis of the second charge-sheet, were held before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, who committed both the appellants to the Court of Sessions in connection with the case under Section 302 IPC vide order dated 29.11.1983. The case under Section 307 IPC was altered to one under Section 302 IPC, but since the case under Section 307 IPC had been committed to the Court of Sessions before Mangla Singh died, a separate sessions trial, on the basis of the committal order dated 29.11.1983, was registered as S.T. No. 356 of 1983 under Section 302 and 302/34 IPC. Both the sessions trial were amalgamated. Separate charges were framed against the two appellants by the learned Additional Sessions Judge on 27.01.1984 with Kali Das being charged under Section 302 IPC and Chhotey Lal under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC.

9. Though, there is some reference to the prosecution evidence in the narration of facts hitherto made, it would be profitable to copiously refer, firstly to the witnesses, who testified on behalf of the prosecution. They are:

1. PW-1 - Bansh Bahadur Singh, the first informant,
2. PW-2 - Gulam Mohammad, an independent eye-witness of the incident,
3. PW-3 - Ram Kishor Singh, another independent eye-witness,
4. PW-4 - Tejbali Singh, still another independent eye-witness,
5. PW-5 - Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir, P.S. Ahraura, District Mirzapur, the then Head Moharrir, P.S. Chunar,

6. PW-6 - Dr. S.N. Singh, E.M.O. Sadar Hospital, Mirzapur, who examined the injuries of Mangla Singh,

7. PW-7 - S.S.I. Surya Lal Yadav, City Kotwali, Mirzapur, the then Senior Investigating Officer, P.S. Chunar,

8. PW-8 - Dr. Surendra Kumar Singh, Lecturer, Institute of Medical Science, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi, the then Senior Resident, B.H.U., Varanasi, who conducted postmortem of the deceased Mangla Singh,

9. PW-9 - Hridai Narain, Sub-Inspector, P.S. Lanka, District Varanasi, who prepared the inquest,

10. PW-10 - Ram Lakhan Tiwari, P.S. Kotwali, District Mirzapur, the then Sub-Inspector, P.S. Chunar, who prepared site-plan and scribed other documents and submitted the charge-sheet under Section 307 IPC, and,

11. PW-11 - Dr. S. Mohanty, Resident Surgeon, Institute of Medical Science, B.H.U., Varanasi, who operated Mangla Singh in connection with his head injury.

10. It is also necessary to more-fully refer to the documentary evidence produced by the prosecution. It is given below:

Sr. No.	Exhibit No.	Exhibited documents with brief particulars
1.	Ex. Ka-1	Written report dated 26.07.1983 lodged with Police Station Chunar, District Mirzapur, proved by PW-1, Bansh Bahadur Singh
2.	Ex. Ka-2	Check FIR dated 26.07.1983, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
3.	Ex. Ka-3	Copy of GD Entry No.25 Time 22.30 hours dated 26.07.1983, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
4.	Ex. Ka-4	Letter sent by the S.H.O., Chunar to the M.O., Chunar, District Mirzapur dated 26.07.1983 for medical examination of injured Mangla Singh, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
5.	5 Ex. Ka-5	Copy of GD Entry No.10 Time 08.45 hours dated 27.07.1983, by which injured Mangla Singh was sent to Government Hospital, Mirzapur, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
6.	Ex. Ka-6	Copy of GD Entry No.25 Time 18.30 hours dated 31.07.1983, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
7.	Ex. Ka-7	Copy of GD Entry No.29 Time 20.15 hours dated 28.10.1983, by which the case was converted to one under Section 302 IPC, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
8.	Ex. Ka-8	Copy of GD Entry No.10 Time 09.05 hours dated 23.11.1983, proved by PW-5, Shivaji Singh, Head Moharrir
9.	Ex. Ka-9	Injury report of Mangla Singh dated 27.07.1983, proved by PW-6, Dr. S.N. Singh,
10.	Ex. Ka-10	Order dated 26.10.1983 passed by the S.P., Mirzapur on the application moved by the deceased′s brother Premnath Singh for conversion of case from under Section 307 IPC to one under Section 302 IPC, proved by PW-7, S.S.I Surya Lal Yadav
11.	Ex. Ka-11	Charge sheet dated 28.10.1983 submitted for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC, proved by PW-7, S.S.I Surya Lal Yadav
12.	Ex. Ka-12	Postmortem Report of the deceased Mangla Singh dated 23.10.1983, proved by PW-8, Dr. Surendra Kumar Tripathi
13.	Ex. Ka-13	Inquest report dated 23.10.1983, proved by PW-9, S.I. Hridai Narain Rai
14.	Ex. Ka-14	Photo lash dated 23.10.1983, proved by PW-9, S.I. Hridai Narain Rai

15.	Ex. Ka-15	Challan lash dated 23.10.1983, proved by PW-9, S.I. Hridai Narain Rai
16.	Ex. Ka-16	Report postmortem dated 23.10.1983, proved by PW-9, S.I. Hridai Narain Rai
17.	Ex. Ka-17	Site-plan of the place of occurrence dated 27.07.1983, proved by PW-10, S.I. Ram Lakhan Tiwari
18.	Ex. Ka-18	Statement of the injured Mangla Singh recorded in the G.D. dated 31.07.1983, proved by PW-10, S.I. Ram Lakhan Tiwari
19.	Ex. Ka-19	Memo taking possession of the bloodstained clothes of the deceased dated 31.07.1983, proved by PW-10, S.I. Ram Lakhan Tiwari
20.	Ex. Ka-20	Memo attaching property of the accused dated 07.08.1983, proved by PW-10, S.I. Ram Lakhan Tiwari
21.	Ex. Ka-21	Charge sheet dated 08.08.1983 submitted for the offence punishable under Section 307 IPC, proved by PW-10, S.I. Ram Lakhan Tiwari
22.	Ex. Ka-22	Copy of the charge-sheet submitted in Crl. Case No.356 of 1983
23.	Ex. Ka-23	Copy of the order-sheet of Crl. Case No.356 of 1983
24.	Ex. Ka-24	Copy of the FIR registered under Section 428 IPC by father of the accused dated 03.05.1982

11. After the testimony of the prosecution was over, the statements of both the appellants were recorded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Both of them denied the circumstances appearing against them. The learned Additional Sessions Judge by his judgment and order dated 24.04.1985 proceeded to convict Kali Das of the offence under Section 302 IPC and Chhotey Lal of the offence under Section 302 read with 34 IPC. Both of them received life sentences.

12. Aggrieved by the judgment of conviction and the sentence awarded by the learned Trial Judge, both the appellants have preferred separate appeals.

13. Heard Mr. Kamal Krishna, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Abhinav Dwivedi, learned Counsel for the appellants, Mr. Deepak Mishra, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State in both the appeals and perused the record.

The genesis of the dispute inter se the deceased and the appellants and the prosecution case

