(ii) when the Court is misled by a party, or

(iii) when the Court itself commits a mistake which prejudices a party, or

(iv) judgment was rendered in ignorance of the fact that a party had not been served at all and was shown as served, or

(v) judgment was rendered in ignorance of the fact that a necessary party had died and the estate was not represented, or

(vi) a party has had no notice and a decree was made against him or

(vii) there is inherent lack of jurisdiction and such lack of jurisdiction is patent

(h) The alleged substituted service was shown with respect to the tenant-defendant 1st set and the tenant-defendant 2nd set by single publication in one and the same news paper i.e. "Jagat Asha" and the court below itself held in its order dated 08.04.2019 in Misc. Case No.46 of 2018 filed by the tenant-defendant 1st set for setting asdie the judgment and decree dated 07.04.2018, that the substituted service by publication in the news paper "Jagat Asha" is not valid. Therefore, there was no valid substituted service upon the tenant-defendant 2nd set.

(i) The principles of res judicata as argued by learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent shall not apply on the facts and circumstances of the present case and also in view of the law laid down in judgments of this court and of Hon'ble Supreme Court as discussed above (paras 21 to 26)

31. For all the reasons aforestated, this petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 30.04.2019 in Misc. Case No.45 of 2018 (Shrawan Vs. Javed) arising from P.A. Case No.01 of 2017, passed by the Civil Judge (S.D.), Court No.18, Deoria, is hereby set aside. The application 4 Ga filed by the applicant/petitioner is allowed by setting aside the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 07.04.2018 in P.A. Case No.01 of 2017. P.A. Case No.01 of 2017 is restored to its original number with respect to the tenant-defendant No.4 also.

(2019)10ILR A 1249

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 05.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR, J
THE HON'BLE SAURABH LAVANIA, J

.

Misc. Bench No. 24229 of 2019

Dr. Neetu Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Shailendra Misra

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Abhinav N. Trivedi

A. U.P. King George Medical University Act, 2002 - Sections 14 and 23 - First Schedule - Chapter X- Petitioner is a Professor (Molecular Biology) at KGMU has sought a Writ of Quo-warranto against Respondent No.4 -working as Professor (Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab) requiring him to show cause as to under which Authority of Law he is holding the post of Professor-post of professor-not a public office-it is merely employee-writ not maintainable.

Held: - a Teacher/Faculty Member is a full-time employee of the University- He is neither an Authority nor an Officer of the University. In view of the aforesaid, we are of the view that the teaching staff / faculty (Professor in the instant case) of King George's Medical University are not the holder of Public Office. - Writ not maintainable.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Dr P.S.Venkata Swamy Setty Vs University of Mysore AIR 1964 Mysore 159

2. The King V.Speyer,(1916))1 KB 595

3. Darley v.R., (1846) 12 537

4. in re, Chakkaral Chettiar , AIR 1953 Mad 96

5. Sivarama Krishnan v.Arumugha Mudliar, (S) AIR 1957 Mad 17

6. Biman Chandra V. Governor, West Bengal, AIR 1952 Cal 799

7. V.D.Deshpande v. State of Hyderabad(S) AIR 1955 Hyderabad 36

8. Dr D.K. Belsare Vs Nagpur University; (1980) 82 Bom LR 494

9. University of Mysore Vs Govinda Rao AIR 1965 SC 491

10. B. Srinivasa Reddy VS Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board Employees Association (2006) 11 SCC 731 II

11. Shashi Bhushan Ray Vs Pramatha Nath Bandopadhyay (1966) SCC Online Cal 153

12. V.C.Shukla v.State(Delhi Admn),(1980)

13. In Re Miram's(1891)IQB 594

14. Agriculture Produce Market Committee VS Ashok Hariauni and another (2000) 8 SCC 61.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

Heard Sri Shailendra Misra, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned C.S.C. for the opposite party No. 1 and Sri Abhinav N. Trivedi, learned counsel for the opposite party Nos. 2 and 3.

1. By means of the instant Writ Petition the Petitioner who is working as Professor in the Department of Centre for Advanced Research (Molecular Biology) of King George's Medical University (hereinafter referred to as "KGMU') has sought a Writ of Quo-warranto against Respondent No.4 Dr Shailendra Saxena working as Professor in the Department of Centre for Advanced Research (Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab) requiring him to show cause as to under which Authority of Law he is holding the post of Professor.

In the present writ petition, following main relief has been sought:-

"(i) Issue a writ, order of direction in the nature of quo warranto requiring the opposite parties to show that by which authority opposite party No. 4 is holding the post of Professor Centre for Advance Research (Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab) K.G.M.U., Lucknow."

2. The Writ Petition has been filed on the ground that the Respondent No.4 lacks the educational qualification as required by an incumbent for being appointed as Professor in Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab and therefore, was in-eligible. In support of the aforesaid allegations, the Petitioner has contended that the Respondent No.4 does not possess qualifications as prescribed in the Advertisement against the post of Professor in Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab.

3. Learned counsel representing the K.G.M.U, Sri Abhinav N. Trivedi, raised A Preliminary objection raised with regard to maintainability of the instant Writ Petition seeking a Writ of Co-Warranto on the ground that the post of "Professor' in KGMU is not a ''Public Office'.

In support of preliminary objection, Sri Trivedi counel for the K.G.M.U, placed reliance on the provision of Uttar Pradesh King George's Medical University Act, 2002 (in short "Act of 2002") and First Statute, 2011 (in short "Statute of 2011"). The reliance has also been placed on various authorities/judgments including the judgment of this Court dated 16.08.2019 passed in the Writ Petition No.19119 (SS) of 2019 [Kundan Singh Vs. State of U.P.].

4. It is submitted by Sri Trivedi that the The High Court in exercise of its Writ Jurisdiction, in the matter of Quo-Warranto, is required to determine at the outset as to whether a case has been made out for issuing a Writ of Quo-warranto. The jurisdiction of the High Court to issue a Writ of Quo-warranto is a limited one. A Writ of Quo-warranto can only be issued when three conditions are satisfied i.e. (1) the appointment is contrary to the Statutory Rules; (2) the holder of the post is a Usurper ; and (3) the post in question is a ''Public Office'.

5. Sri Trivedi further submitted that the law is well settled. The High Court in exercise of its writ jurisdiction in the matter of Quo-warranto is required to determine, at the outset, as to whether a case has been made out for issuance of a Writ of Quo-warrnto. The jurisdiction of the High Court to issue a Writ of Quo-warranto is a limited one which can only be issued when it is established that the incumbent is an alleged Usurper of a ''Public Office' and the appointment is contrary to the Statutory Rules.

Per contra, the learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that K.G.M.U. is a Statutory Body constituted under the special Act and being so as well as in view of functions which K.G.M.U. is discharging i.e. providing medical education and treatment to the public at large, it, can safely be said that K.G.M.U. is discharging sovereign function and post of the Professor is "Public Office." Thus writ petition for the relief sought is liable to be entertained, being maintainable and be decided on merits.

6. Before dealing with case on merits on the basis of the factual matrix and dealing with the exposition of facts, as illustrated in the Writ Petition, it would be expedient to adjudicate the issue of maintainability of Writ Petition seeking a Writ of Quo-Warranto.

7. It would be necessary to refer to certain provisions of ''Uttar Pradesh King George's Medical University Act, 2002 and ''Uttar Pradesh King George's Medical University First Statute 2011'.

7.1 Section 23 of the Uttar Pradesh King George's Medical University Act 2002 [Act of 2002] provides for Authorities of KGMU and Section 14 of Act of 2002 illustrates the Officers of KGMU. Whereas a teacher of *KGMU is merely an employee of KGMU and is neither an Authority or an Officer as prescribed under Section 12 and 23 of Act of 2002, which is also apparent from a conjoint reading of Section 2 (12) of the Act of 2002 and Statute 10.01 (7) & (10) of Uttar Pradesh King George's Medical University First Statute 2011 [Statute of 2011]. For ready reference, the aforesaid provisions of the Act of 2002 and the Statute of 2011 are being reproduced here as under :

ACT OF 2002

Definitions 2. In this Act-

(12)'teacher' means a teacher employed by the University for imparting instruction and guiding and conducting research in the University;

CHAPTER III- OFFICERS OF THE UNIVERSITY

Section 14. The following shall be the Officers of the University

a) The Chancellor;

b) The Vice-Chancellor;

c) The Pro-Vice-Chancellor;

d) The Finance Officer;

e) The Registrar;

f) The Controller of examination, if any,

g) The Deans of the Faculties;

h) The Dean of the Students Welfare

i) Such other Officers as may be declared by the Statutes to be the Officers of the University.

CHAPTER IV- AUTHORITIES OF THE UNIVERSITY

23. The following shall be the authorities of the University:

a) the Executive Council;

b) the Court;

c) the Academic Council;

d) the Finance Committee

e) the Boards of Faculties;

f) the Selection Committee for appointment of sovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignsovereign sovereignsovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignsovereignSovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignsovereignsovereignsovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignSovereignsovereignsovereignsovereign Teachers of the University;

*g) the Admiss*ions Committee;

h) the Examination Committee; and

i) such other authorities as may be declared by the Statutes to be authorities of the University.

FIRST STATUTES, 2011

Chapter X - University Teachers / Faculty Members

Section 41 10.01

(1) As per provisions contained in Subsection (12) of Section 2 of the Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj Medical University Act, "teacher" means a teacher employed by the University for imparting instruction or guiding or conducting research in the University.

(2) The University teachers shall also be known as Faculty Members of the University.

(7) A teacher shall be a full time consultation for the indoor patients and likewise for the outdoor patients along-with their responsibilities as teachers.

(10) The appointment of the University teacher/s shall be on a whole time basis. He shall be a full time employee of the University.

8. While referring to the aforesaid Statutory Provisions of the Act of 2002 and Statute of 2011, it has been contended that the post of Professor in KGMU is not a ''Public Office'. It has further been submitted that in order to maintain a Writ of Quo-warranto, the Petitioner has to substantiate that the Office is a ''Public Office' and the person against whom the Writ of Quo-warranto is sought is a usurper holding the Public Office without any legal authority. In support of this argument, reliance has been placed on various judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court and different High Courts which are being discussed here under:

8.1 In case of Dr P.S.Venkata Swamy Setty Vs University of Mysore- (AIR 1964 Mysore 159; Para 11,13,14) it has been held that the Professors and Readers of a University do not exercise any governmental function nor they are vested with the power or charged with the duty of acting in execution or enforcement of law. They are merely employees of the Statutory Body. They cannot therefore in any sense be described as holders of Public Offices in respect of which a Writ of Quo-warranto would lie.

8.2 In Dr P.S.Venkata Swamy Setty (Supra), the University of Mysore though its Registrar, vide Notification dated 25th June,1959 invited Applications for various posts ofProfessors and Readers in different subjects. The Petitioner therein was one of the Applicants for the post of Reader in Physics. Several candidates were interviewed but none was selected and therefore, One Post of Professor and Three Posts of Reader in Physics were re-advertised and consequently the Private Respondents were selected. The Petitioner filed Writ Petition praying for a Writ of Mandamus or Writ of Quo-Warranto against the Private Respondents primarily on the ground that the appointments are invalid or unauthorized because qualifications set out in Second Notification were not shown to have been prescribed by Syndicate of the University and some of the Respondents did not possess the minimum qualifications.

Specific objection was raised with regard to maintainability of a Writ of Quo-warranto and after considering various judicial pronouncements, the Mysore High Court has held as under in Paragraph 11, 13 & 14:

"PARA 11

The peculiar characteristics of the writ of quo-warranto and the history of its development in England are found discussed in the leading case of The King V.Speyer,(1916))1 KB 595.Lord Reading , C.L, points out that originally a writ of quo warranto was available only for use by the King against encroachment of royal prerogative or of rights, franchise or liberties of the Crown but that later it gave place to the practice of filing information by the Attorney General on the strength of which the Court enquired into the authority whereby the respondent held any public position. Later still, the King's coroner commenced the practice of exhibiting the information of quo warranto at the instance of even private persons. To prevent the abuse of this practice, statutes were subsequently passed during the reign of the King William and Queen Mary, after which the practice of coroner filing information was stopped. Another statute was passed during the reign of Queen Anne making the issue of a writ of quo warranto subject to the discretion of the Court to grant or refuse the same upon the information exhibited by private persons. In a sense, the proceedings were criminal in nature because the party who laid information before the Court was merely in the position of an informer or a relator. The long history of the proceedings in quo qarranto led to considerable conflict of decisions. The matter was fully examined by the House of Lords in the case of Darley v.R.,(1846) 12 Cl. And F. 520 at p.537: 8 ER 1513, in which Tindal , C.J expressed his conclusion in the following of quoted words :-

"After consideration of all the cases and dicta on this subject, the result appears to be that this proceeding by information in nature of quo warranto will lie for usurping any office, whether created by charter alone , or by the Crown, with the consent of Parliament, provided the office be of a public nature, and a substantive office, not merely the function or employment of a deputy or servant held at the will and pleasure of others".

PARA 13

In India we have a republican Constitution. Hence in India the nature of Office in respect of which quo warranto will lie must be taken to be an office created by the Constitution itself or by any statute and invested with the power or charged with the duty of acting in execution or in enforcement of the law. We might add that the office may be either an elective office or one in respect of which a nomination or appointment is made by a specified authority and that in the case of elective office, we generally have the procedure of election petitions which makes it unnecessary for any one to proceed by way of a writ of quo warranto.

Provided the office is of the character or nature described above, it is well established in England that the Petitioner who is only a relator need not have any personal interest in the matter. All that is necessary is that he should act bona-fide in public interest and should not be a mere man of straw acting at the instance of others or on ulterior motives. The writ, as already stated, is purely discretionary with the Court and will not issue unless the Court is satisfied that it is necessary to issue the writ in public interest.

PARA 14

The principles stated in the case of 1916, 1 KB 595 have been applied in India also. The only case where it was held that even in the case of quo warranto the petitioner must have a personal interest before he could move the Court is the decision of a single Judge Chandra Reddi, J. as he then was, of the Madras High Court reported in re ,Chakkaral Chettiar , AIR 1953 Mad 96. His Lordship purported to follow the decision of a Bench of that High Court reported at Page 94 of the same Volume. That Bench decision, however, related to a case of certiorari.The opinion of Chandra Reddi, J.,was dissented from by a subsequent Bench ruling of the Madras High Court in Sivarama Krishnan v.Arumugha Mudliar, (S) AIR 1957 Mad 17. It is pointed out in that case that no other High Court in India has accepted Justice Chandra Reddi's view, Among the rulings of other High Courts expressing such dissent are Biman Chandra V. Governor, West Bengal, AIR 1952 Cal 799 and V.D.Deshpande v. State of Hyderabad(S) AIR 1955 Hyderabad 36. In the latter decision other cases, both English and Indian, and found discussed and the principles formulated."

8.3 Similar observation have been made in the case of Dr D.K. Belsare Vs Nagpur University; (1980) 82 Bom LR 494, Para 60,61,64,66.

8.4 In Dr D.K. Belsare (supra) the Petitioner before the Bombay High Court filed a Writ of Quo-warranto against the incumbent appointed as Professor of Zoology. The Writ Petition was filed on the ground that: (a) the appointment is Malicious; (b) Selection Committee has not been constituted in terms of the provisions; and (c) Appointment of Respondent No.3 was illegal. After considering the provisions of the Act and the Statutes of the University and legal prepositions, the Bombay High Court held as under :

"PARA 60

We have presently pointed out earlier that in this case this submission about collateral attack is not at all maintainable. The next ruling is Alex Beets v. M.A Urmese. In this ruling, a writ for quo warranto was asked for by a medical graduate against an Hon.Medical Officer with certain other reliefs. It was contended that the Government has bound to observe the provisions of Art, 16 of the Constitution of India and to advertise invitations for applications thereof , which was not done in that case. It was held that in the absence of such a case in the Petition, this could not be urged at the final hearing. Consequently, it was held that a challenge under Art.16 cannot be urged by one who was not an aspirant to the post. It was further held that challenge under art.16 cannot be heard in a motion cannot be heard in a motion for quo warranto and breach of art.16 can be challenged in a writ of certiorari only and it was further held by the Kerala High Court that possession of a Public Office under a Government Order is not usurpation of Office, for which alone quo-warranto lies.

PARA 61

Then the next ruling is the University of Mysore v S.C.Govinda Rao, but there is nothing particular in this ruling and it only lays down the procedure and the next ruling is Dr P.S.Venkataswamy v.University of Mysore. In Para 11 of this ruling, the Mysore High Court observed as follows:

"In India we have a republican Constitution. Hence in India the nature of Office in respect of which quo warranto will lie must be taken to be an office created by the Constitution itself or by any statute and invested with the power or charged with the duty of acting in execution or in enforcement of the law."

PARA 64

We have already referred to the ruling of Rajasthan High Court. The Rajasthan High Court has held that it is a statutory post. We are respectfully not in agreement with the said reasoning of the Rajasthan High Court . It is admitted fact that Professor is appointed by the Executive Council upon recommendation made by the Selection Committee in that behalf. It is true that Professor is appointed under the powers vested in the Executive Council but that by itself does not go to show that the post of Professor is a statutory post created by Statute itself. We are in respectful agreement with the observations made by the Mysore High Court and we, therefore, hold that the post of Professor in Zoology, with which we are concerned in this case, is not a public office for which a writ of quo -warranto is issued.

PARA 66

We have already pointed out that it is not the contention of Mr.Oka that he is challenging the constitution of the Selection Committee but we have also pointed out that he is relying upon the statutory provisions to show that the Selection Committee was not properly constituted as per s.45 of the University Act. If the Petitioner were to challenge the very constitution of the Selection Committee itself, then the ruling on which Mr.Deshpande placed reliance, regarding collateral attach would have been applicable to the facts of the instant case but in as much as no such contention is raised by the Petitioner, there is no force in this contention raised by Mr.Deshpande. The only contention of the petitioner is that the post is not filled in accordance with the section, which was required to be made in accordance with law. In result, therefore, it will be seen that it cannot be held that the post of

Professor of Zoology is a public office and, therefore, a writ of quo warranto cannot be issued. The result is that there is no merit in this petition and it deserves to be dismissed and is accordingly dismissed. Rule is discharged, but in the circumstances of this case, there will be no Order as to costs."

8.5 In the case of University of Mysore Vs Govinda Rao AIR 1965 SC 491; Para 6, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that the Quo-warranto proceeding affords a judicial enquiry in which any person holding an independent substantive public office, or franchise, or liberty, is called upon to show by what right he holds the said office, franchise or liberty. If the enquiry leads to the finding that the holder of the Office has no valid title to it, the issue of the writ of Quo-warranto ousts him from that Office.

8.6 In Govinda Rao (Supra) the Mysore High Court allowed the Writ Petition and consequently issued a Writ of Quo-warranto against the Research Reader in English in Central College, Bangalore, being aggrieved thereof Special Leave Petitions were filed which were converted into Civil Appeal No.417 and 418 of 1963. Allowing the Civil Appeals, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

PARA 6

"The Judgment of the High Court does not indicate that the attention of the High Court was drawn to the technical nature of the writ of quo-warranto which was claimed by the Respondent in the present proceedings, and the conditions which had to be satisfied before a writ could issue in such proceedings.

As Halsbury has observed:

"An information in the nature of a quo warranto took the place of the absolate writ of quo-warranto which lay against a person who claimed or usurped an Office, franchise, or liberty to enquire by what authority he supported his claim, in order that the right to the office or franchise might be determined.

Broadly stated, the quo-warranto proceeding affords a judicial enquiry in which any person holding an independent substantive public office, or franchise , or liberty, is called upon to show by what right he holds the said office, franchise or liberty. If the enquiry leads to the finding that the holder of the Office has no valid title to it, the issue of writ of Quo-warranto ousts him from that Office. In other words, the procedure of quo-warranto confers jurisdiction and authority on the judiciary to control executive action in the matter of making appointments to public offices against the relevant statutory provisions; it also protects a citizen from being deprived of public office to which he may have a right. It would thus be seen that if these proceedings are adopted subject to the conditions recognized in that behalf, they tend to protect the public from usurpers of public office; in some cases, persons, not entitled to public office may be allowed to occupy them and to continue to hold them as a result of the connivance of the executive or with its active help, and in such cases, if the jurisdiction of the courts to issue writ of quo warranto is properly invoked, the usurper can be ousted and the person entitled to the post allowed to occupy it. It is thus clear that before a citizen can claim a writ of quo warranto , he must satisfy the court, inter-alia, that the office in question is a public office and is held by usurper without legal authority, and that necessarily leads to the enquiry as to whether the appointment of the said alleged usurper has been made in accordance with law or not."

8.7 In the case of B. Srinivasa Reddy VS Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board Employees Association reported in (2006) 11 SCC 731 II Para 76; the judgment of Learned Single Judge directing for the ouster of Managing Director, Karnataka Urban Water Supply was affirmed by the Division Bench of High Court of Karnataka in Writ Appeal No.86 of 2006. The matter went up to the Hon'ble Supreme Court and after considering the definition of ''Public Office' as defined in Black's Law Dictionary, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that certain essential elements are to be established in order to hold an Office / Post as ''Public Office'.

8.8 The aforesaid essential elements can be summarized as under:-

a) Position must be created by constitution, legislature or authority conferred by legislature.

b) Portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to such position.

c) Duties and powers must be defined directly or impliedly.

d) Duties must be performed independently without control or superior power other than law.

e) Position must have some permanency and continuity.

8.9 The Hon'ble Apex Court in Srinivasa Reddy (Supra) observed that the Appeals involve substantial questions of law regarding interpretation of certain provisions of Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board Act, 1973 and the Rules made there under and also the principles of law governing the writ of quo warranto.

Consequently the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

"PARA 76

"The Notification dated 31.01.2004 clearly stated that the appointment is on contract basis and until further orders. While laying down the terms of appointment in its order dated 21.04.2004, the Government of Karnataka clearly stated that the "term of contractual appointment of Shri B.Srinivasa Reddy shall commence on 01.02.2004 and will be in force until further orders of the Government and this is a temporary appointment". Section 6(1) of the Act categorically states that the Managing Director shall hold Office during the pleasure of the Government. The power and functions of the Board are laid down in Chapter V of the Act. A reading of the Act clearly shows that neither the Board nor its Managing Director is entrusted with any sovereign function. Black's Law Dictionary defines public office as under:"

"Public Office- Essential characteristics of "public office' and (1)authority conferred by law, (2) fixed tenure of Office, and (3) power to exercise some portion of sovereign functions of Government; key element of such test is that "Officer' is carrying out sovereign function, Spring v. Constantino. Essential elements to establish public position as "public office' are: position must be created by Constitution , legislature or through authority conferred by legislature, portion of sovereign power of Government must be delegated to position, duties and powers must be defined, directly or impliedly, by legislature or through legislative authority, duties must be performed independently without control or power other than law and position must have some permanency and continuity .State v.Taylor."

9. It is now a trite law that in order to maintain a Writ of Quo-Warranto it has to be established that the post held by the alleged usurper is a ''Public Office'.

10. In our opinion, one of the most important conditions which the person seeking a writ of quo-warranto must satisfy is that the Office in question is a ''Public Office' and the same is of a public nature. If this condition is satisfied, only in such a case the Court may proceed further to inquire as to whether the appointment to the ''Public Office' is really in violation of statutory rules and regulations or any provision of law.

11. Pre-requisite for maintaining a Writ of Quo-warranto is to establish and satisfy before the Court that the Office in question is a ''Public Office' and it is held by a person without legal authority.

12. Accordingly, it is obvious to deal the fundamental question that whether the post of Professor is a Public Office and does it qualifies the essential characteristics of ''Public Office' as illustrated herein above.

13. In the present case there is no assertion in the entire Writ Petition that the post of Professor in the Department of Centre for Advanced Research (Stem Cell/Cell Culture Lab) in KGMU is a ''Public Office'.

14. There is a distinction between Public Office, Public Authority and Public Duty. A Professor of a University can be said to be discharging a Public Duty but that ipso-facto would not make the post of Professor as a ''Public Office' for the purpose of maintaining a Writ of Quo-Warranto.

14.1 In regard to ''Public Office', the Calcutta High Court in the case of Shashi Bhushan Ray Vs Pramatha Nath Bandopadhyay reported in (1966) SCC Online Cal 153;Paragraph 45 has relied upon Ferris Extra-ordinary Legal Remedies (Page 168), and consequently observed that the Law is stated to be that a Public Office is the right, authority and duty created and conferred by law by which an individual is vested with some portion of the sovereign functions of the Government to be exercised by him for the benefit of the Public, for the term and by the tenure prescribed by Law. In other words, it entails an obligation of the sovereign power.

14.2 ''Public Office' as explained by the Major Law Lexicon IV Edition 2010 is as under:

''Public Office' defined .55-6 V.c.40 S.4 A position whose occupant has legal authority to exercise a government's sovereign powers for a fixed period.

14.3 A ''Public Office' is the right, authority and duty created and conferred by law, by which an individual is vested with some portion of the sovereign functions of the government to be exercised by him for the benefit of the public, for the term and by the tenure prescribed by law. It implies a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power. It is a trust conferred by public authority for a public purpose, embracing the ideas of tenure, duration, emoluments and duties. The determining factor, the test, is whether the Office involves a delegation of some of the solemn functions of government, either executive, legislative or judicial, to be exercised by the holder for the public benefit.(72 CWN 64,Vol.72) [Extraordinary Legal Remedies, by Ferris as referred in V.C.Shukla v.State(Delhi Admn),(1980) Supp 249,266 Para 26] In Re Miram's(1891)IQB 594 Cave.J, said "to make the Office a Public Office the pay must come out of national and not out of local funds the Office must be public in the strict sense of that term. It is not enough that the due discharge of the duties should be for the public benefit in a secondary and remote sense".

14.4 According to the Black's Law Dictionary 6th Edition, the term ''Public Office' is explained as under:

"Public Office, Essential characteristics of ''Public Office' are (1) authority conferred by law (2) fixed tenure of Office and (3) power to exercise some portion of sovereign functions of government; key element of such test is that "Officer" is carrying out sovereign function. Spring v. Constantino, 168 Conn.563,362 A...2nd 871, 875. Essential elements to establish public position as ''Public Office' are position must be created by Constitution, Legislature, or through authority conferred by legislature, portion of sovereign power of government must be delegated to position, duties and powers must be defined, directly or impliedly, by legislature or through legislative authority, duties must be performed independently without control of superior power other than law, and position must have some permanency and continuity. State ex rel.Eli.Lily and Co. v Gaertner, Mo.App,619 S.W, 2D , 761, 764."

15. What can be deduced from the term ''Public Office' as explained by various authorities and the authoritative pronouncements is that a ''Public Office' is the right, authority and duty created and conferred by law, by which an individual is vested with some portion of the sovereign functions of the Government to be exercised by him for the benefit of the public, for the term and by the tenure prescribed by law. It implies a delegation of portion of sovereign power. It is a trust conferred by public authority for a public purpose, embracing the idea of tenure, duration, emoluments and duties. A public officer is, thus to be distinguished from a mere employment or agency resting on contract, to which such powers and functions are not attached. The Common Law Rule is that in order for the writ of quo warranto to lie, the office must be of a public nature. The determining fact, the test, is whether the office involves a delegation of some of the solemn functions of Government either executive, legislative or judicial, to be exercised by the holder of such office for general public benefit at large. Unless his powers are of this nature, he is not a public officer.

16. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of ''Agriculture Produce Market Committee VS Ashok Hariauni and another' reported in (2000) 8 SCC 61. In Paragraph 21 has held as under:

Para 21:

"In other words, it all depends on the nature of power and the manner of its exercise. What is approved to be

"Sovereign' is defence of the Country, raising armed forces, making peace or war, foreign affairs, power to acquire and retain territory. These are not amenable to the jurisdiction of ordinary Civil Courts. The other function of the State including welfare activity of State could not be construed as "Sovereign' exercise of power. Hence every governmental function need not be "Sovereign'. State activities are multifarious, from the primal "Sovereign' power which exclusively inalienably could be exercised by the sovereign alone, which is not subject to challenge in any civil court to all the welfarte activities, which would be undertaken by any private person. So merely if one is an employee of statutory bodies would not take it outside the Central Act. If that be so then Section 2(a) of the Central Act read with Schedule I gives large number of statutory bodies which should have been excluded, which is not. Even if a statute confers on any statutory body, any function which could be construed to be "Sovereign' in nature would not mean every other functions under the same statute to be also sovereign. The court should examine the statute to sever one from the other by comprehensively examining various provisions of the Statute . In interpreting any statute to find if it is "industry' or not we have to find its pith and substance. The Central Act is enacted to maintain harmony between employer and employee which brings peace and amity in its functioning. This peace and amenity should be objective in the functioning of all enterprises. This is to the benefit of both the employer and employee. Misuse of rights and obligations by either or stretching it beyond permissible limits have to be dealt with within the framework of the law but endeavour should not be in all circumstances to exclude any enterprise from its ambit. That is why courts have been defining "industry' in the widest permissible limits and "sovereign' functioning within its limited orbit."

16.1 From the perusal of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Agriculture Produce Market Committee (supra) it is culled out that for a particular function to be a "sovereign function' would depends on the nature of the power and the manner in which it is exercised All Welfare Activities of the State could not be construed as ''Sovereign' exercise of power. Hence, every governmental function need not be ''Sovereign'. The mere fact that one is an employee of a statutory body would not ipso facto mean that the function exercised by such employee is ''Sovereign' in nature.

16.2 Soverign has been defined in Black's Law Dictionary as under:-

Sovereign: adj.

(Of a state) characteristic of or endowed with supreme authority< sovereign nation> < sovereign immunity>.

Sovereign: n

1. A person, body or State vested with independent and supreme authority. 2.The ruler of an independent state-

Sovereign people

The political body consisting of the collective number of citizens and qualified electors who possess the powers of sovereignty and exercise them through their chosen representatives.

Sovereign power

The power to make and enforce laws.

17. From the aforesaid discussions it is evident that the post of Professor of KGMU cannot be held to be a ''Public Office' merely because the University is imparting education and is a Statutory Body enacted under the Act of 2002. Office of Professor does not seem to involve an obligation of any of the sovereign functions of the government either Executive or Legislative or Judicial for public benefit. It cannot be said that Public in general is interested and non observance of the obligations of his employment as a Professor, in any event, shall effect the interest of public at large; and even if it would affect, the same shall be too remote so as to make the Office of the Professor a ''Public Office'.

18. After considering the aforesaid preposition the Calcutta High Court in the case of Shashi Bhushan Ray Vs Pramatha Nath Bandopadhyay (supra) has held that the Principal of the University Law College is not a Public Office and his duties and functions are neither executive nor legislative nor judicial function.

PARA 45

"Even if doubts as to the petitioner's locus standi were overlooked the other important question in this case is whether the Court will at all intervene in the matter be reason of the fact that Dr.Bandopadhyay has resigned Counsel for the Respondents relied on the statement of law in Ferris Extraordinary Legal Remedies on two questions, first as to whether the office of Principal is a public office in regard to which the Court will intervene and secondly, whether the right has abated by reason of the resignation of Dr.Bandopadhyay. In regard to public office at page 168 in Ferris the law is stated to be that public office is the right, authority and duty created and conferred by law, by which an individual is vested with some portion of the sovereign functions of the government to be exercised by him for the benefit of the public, for the term and by the tenure prescribed by Law. In other words, it implies a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power. It is a trust conferred by public authority for a public purpose embracing the ideas of tenure, duration, emoluments and duties. Relying on this statement of law Counsel for the Respondents rightly contended that the Office of the Principal of the University Law College is not a public office and it was neither an executive nor a legislative nor a judicial function."

19. Taking note of various judicial pronouncements, in a recent judgment, this Court in the case of Kundan Singh Vs State of U.P and Others [Writ Petition No. 19119 (S/S) of 2019] the Learned Single judge has held that the post of Professor in KGMU is not a Public Office and consequently the Writ Petition seeking a Writ of Quo-warranto against the Professor was dismissed.

20. After considering the relevant provisions of the Act of 2002 and Statute of 2011 and various authorities, referred hereinabove, it is apparent that a Teacher/Faculty Member is a full time employee of the University. He is neither an Authority nor an Officer of the University.

21. In view of the aforesaid, we are of the view that the teaching staff / faculty (Professor in the instant case) of King George's Medical University are not the holder of Public Office.

22. For the aforesaid reasons the instant Writ Petition is dismissed at admission stage, being not maintainable for the reliefs sought. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1262

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 30.09.2019

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SHABIHUL HASNAIN, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJEEV SINGH, J.

Misc. Bench No. 1306 of 2005

Sub Inspector Parshu Ram Dohare & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Dr. L.P. Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:
Govt. Advocate, Sri Mahfooz Alam, Sri Mohammad Alishah Faruqi, Sri Qazi Sabihur Rahman, Sri Qazi Vikil Ahmad, Sri Rajesh Mishra, Sri Umesh Chandra Tripathi

A. Code of Criminal Procedure- Section 173 - NDPS Act - Sections 8 & 20 - Investigating Agency/Officer is authorised to make further investigation in exercise of its statutory jurisdiction under Section 173(8) Cr.P.C. after informing the court and obtaining its approval at any stage of proceeding.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. C.B.I. & Anr. Vs. Rajesh Gandhi & Anr., AIR 1997 SC 93

2. Sandeep Kumar Yadav Vs. State of U.P., 2006 Crl.L.J. 3316

3. Smt. Reena Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2013 (2) JIC 215 (All)

4. Jeet Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2013 (3) JIC 470 (All)

5. Parvez Ahmad Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2011 (1) JIC 448 (All)

6. Sweta Pandey Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2015 (1) JIC 429 (All)

7. State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. A.S. Peter, (2008) 2 SCC 383

8. K. Chandrashekhar Vs. State of Kerala & Ors., (1998) 5 SCC 223

9. Ramachandran Vs. R. Udhayakumar & Ors., (2008) 5 SCC 413

10. Koneru Vara Prasada Rao. Vs. State of A.P. Rep. by Sub-Divisional Police Officer & Ors., 2007 CrLJ 2898

11. Vinay Tyagi Vs. Irshad Ali @ Deepak & Ors., (2013) 5 SCC 762

12. Amrutbhai Shambhubhai Patel Vs. Sumanbhai Kantibhai Patel & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 1171 of 2016)

13. Dharam Pal Vs. State of Haryana & Ors., 2016 (4) SCC 160

14. Chandra Babu @ Moses Vs. State through Inspector of Police & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 866 of 2015)

15. Zahira Habibulla H Sheikh & Anr. Vs. State of Gujrat & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 446-449 of 2004)

16. State of West Bengal & Ors. Vs. Committee for Protection of Democratic Rights, West Bengal & Ors., (2010) 3 SCC 571

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajeev Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri L.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners, Shri Sachindra Pratap Singh, learned A.G.A. and Shri Qazi Vakil Ahmad for the complainants.

2. This petition has been filed seeking the following main reliefs:

"(a) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned Government Order dated 24.12.2003 passed by the Opp-Party No. 1 together with all the consequential orders passed and the action taken in furtherance of the said Government Order dated 24.12.2003 by declaring the same as void, the true copy of which is contained as Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition.

(b) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned F.I.R. dated 19.02.2005 lodged against the petitioners U/S 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471, 120-B IPC and U/S 8/20/29 NDPS Act at Police Station Nawabganj, district Bahraich giving rise to the case crime No. 67 of 2005, the true copy of which is contained as Annexure No. 2 to the writ petition."

3. Facts giving rise to the dispute are that the petitioners, who are the police personnels, arrested one Sarfaraz Khan s/o Izhar Khan on 18th June, 2003 with one kilogram "Charas' and prepared the recovery memo dated 18.06.2003. On the basis of the said recovery memo, an F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 under Section 8/20 of NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich was registered by petitioner no. 1 being Station House Officer and petitioner no. 2, being the Investigating Officer, recorded the statement of witnesses. After completion of the investigation, a charge sheet dated 6th July, 2003 in accordance with the provisions of Section 173 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and submitted before the competent court against the accused, Sarfaraz Khan under Section 8/20 NDPS Act. The competent court took cognizance on the aforesaid charge sheet on 28th July, 2003. In the meantime, respondent no. 7, who is the father of the accused-Sarfaraz Khan made complaints to the Human Rights Commission as also to the State Government with the allegation that his son was taken into custody by the police illegally on 16th June, 2003 in connection with the abduction of one girl, namely, Sarita Devi d/o Chhote Lal Madesia r/o Nawabganj, Bahraich. Superintendent of Police, Bahraich ordered for inquiry on the complaint of respondent no. 7 by appointing Circle Officer, Nanpara, District Bahraich, namely, Sukh Ram Bharti as Inquiry Officer on 15th October, 2003. In this connection, Special Secretary, Home Department, Government of U.P. also sought report from the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich in writing vide letter dated 31st October, 2003. Circle Officer, Nanpara inquired into the matter and submitted his report to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich on 17th November, 2003 with the finding that the application of respondent no. 7 is not tenable as the trial of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003, under Section 8/20 of NDPS Act against Sarfaraz is pending before the competent court on the basis of charge sheet No. 62 dated 06.07.2003 and, therefore, no any investigation is required by C.B.C.I.D. Superintendent of Police vide letter dated 19.11.2003 also recommended that there is no necessity for the matter being inquired by the C.B.C.I.D.

4. State Government vide impugned Government Order No. 4488(1)/Chha Pu-14-60(35)/2003 dated 24.12.2003 directed to handover the papers of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003, under Section 8/20 NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, Bahraich to C.B.C.I.D. and also ordered to investigate the case. In pursuance to the aforesaid Government Order, further investigation was conducted by Nihal Prasad-respondent no. 5, Inspector, C.B.C.I.D., who submitted final report on 10th February, 2005 in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 (supra) and wrote a letter to the Station Officer of police station Nawabganj, District Bahraich to register F.I.R. against the petitioners under Section 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B I.P.C. and Section 8/20/29 NDPS Act. Similarly, Sector Officer, C.B.C.I.D., Gorakhpur also requested to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich to direct the Station Officer, Nawabganj to lodge the F.I.R. against the petitioners. Thereafter, Superintendent of Police, Bahraich ordered for lodging of the F.I.R. against the petitioners, which was registered as Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 under Sections 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471 and 120B IPC and Sections 8/20/29 of NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich on 19th February, 2005 against six persons (petitioners herein).

5. Hence, this petition.

6. Submission of Shri L.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners is that the petitioners, in discharge of their duties as police personnels, on 18th June, 2003 arrested one Sarfaraz Khan s/o Izhar Khan with one kilogram "Charas' and also prepared the recovery memo. On the basis of the said recovery memo, F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 under Section 8/20 of NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich was registered against the Sarfaraz Khan. He further submitted that statements of the witnesses were recorded and after completion of the investigation, Charge Sheet No. 62 of 2003 was prepared on 6th July, 2003 and submitted before the court concerned. Learned counsel for the petitioners also submitted that the cognizance on the aforesaid charge sheet was also taken by the competent court on 28th July, 2003.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that Sarfaraz Khan s/o Intezar Khan, who is a permanent resident of 95/35, Pench Bagh, Kanpur Nagar was arrested on 18th June, 2003 at 9.00 p.m. at village Sagar Gaon, Tiraha Bandha (Nepal border) with one kilogram illicit "Charas' from his possession. He further submitted that when Sarfaraz Khan was arrested and charge sheeted then respondent no. 7-Izhar Khan, who is the father of the accused, started making frivolous applications to various authorities with the allegation that his son was arrested by the police illegally on 16th June, 2003 in connection with the abduction of one girl Sarita Devi d/o Chote Lal Madesia r/o Nawabganj, Bahraich. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submitted that the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich had ordered for the matter being inquired in regard to the allegations made by respondent no. 7 by appointing Circle Officer, Nanpara, District Bahraich, namely, Sukh Ram Bharti as Inquiry Officer on 15th October, 2003. Circle Officer, Nanpara inquired into the matter and submitted his report to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich on 17th November, 2003 with the clear finding that the application of respondent no. 7 is not tenable. The Inquiry Officer also recommended that since the trial is pending before the competent court, therefore, no investigation in the matter is required by the C.B.C.I.D. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submitted that the Circle Officer, Nanpara before submitting the report dated 17.11.2003 had taken into consideration the telegram of one Riyazuddin, who is the real brother of respondent no. 7, which was sent on 18th June, 2003 at 10.15 p.m., i.e., after 1 hour and 15 minutes of the arrest of the accused Sarfaraz Khan. The Inquiry Officer also noted in his report that the said telegram was sent by Riyazuddin r/o 95/35, Pench Bagh, Kanpur Nagar and not from Bahraich. Learned counsel for the petitioners made emphasis that this circumstance is sufficient to show that Sarfaraz Khan was arrested on 18th June, 2003 at 9.00 p.m. and not on 16th June, 2003, as was alleged in the complaint made by respondent no. 7. He further submitted that the respondent no. 7 has alleged that Sarfaraz Khan was beaten brutally by petitioner no. 1, but in the medical report dated 19th June, 2003 of Sarfaraz Khan, who was medically examined at the time of admission into jail by the doctor, no injury was found on the body of the Sarfaraz Khan.

8. Another submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners is that from a perusal of the General Diary dated 16th June, 2003 of Police Station Nawabganj, the allegation that petitioner no. 1 arrested the accused Sarfaraz Khan on 16th June, 2003 itself becomes falsified, as it is clear that petitioner no. 1 was not accompanied by any of the other petitioners, who were the members of the police party at the time of arrest of Sarfaraz Khan on 18th June, 2003, but was accompanied by two other constables, namely, Bajrangi Yadav and Ravindra Nath Sharma and had visited the police out post Samtalia at the Nepal border.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submitted that on the report sought by the State Government vide letter dated 31.10.2003, Superintendent of Police, Bahraich, on the basis of detail report submitted by the Circle Officer, Nanpara dated 17th November, 2003 in the matter, vide letter dated 19.11.2003 informed that the matter is pending before the competent court and also recommended that fresh investigation by C.B.C.I.D. is not required. However, all of sudden, impugned Government Order No. 4488(1)/Chha Pu-14-60(35) of 2003 dated 24th December, 2003 was issued by the State Government. In pursuance of the said Government Order dated 24.12.2003, respondent no. 5 was appointed as Investigating Officer by respondent no. 2 by means of order dated 13th January, 2004. Thereafter, vide letter dated 26th February, 2004, respondent no. 6 asked to Superintendent of Police, Bahraich for handing over the papers, case diary and other documents to the authorised Constable, in pursuance to which, Circle Officer, Nanpara sent a report dated 26th February, 2004 that all the papers are in the trial court. It has, thus, been submitted that respondent no. 5 only did the table work and prepared the statement of witnesses without any interaction with them and also prepared all the Parchas of the case diary in a fraudulent manner. However, on 8th April, 2004, respondent no. 5 moved an application before the Special Judge, Court No. 10, District Bahraich and informed that as per the order of the State Government, the matter had to be further investigated by the C.B.C.I.D. and prayed for staying of the trial of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 (supra) till conclusion of the further investigation. Learned counsel for the petitioners also submitted that since the charge sheet dated 28th July, 2003 in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 had already been submitted by petitioner no. 2 in the matter and the trial was also pending before the court of Sessions Judge, Bahraich after framing of charge against the Sarfaraz Khan, therefore, it was not open to the State Government to direct for further investigation by another Investigating Agency. Moreover, no permission of any kind was taken by the State Government from the competent court before issuance of the impugned order dated 24th December, 2003 and the same is wholly illegal and contrary to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure and is liable to be quashed. He also submitted that the Order dated 24th December, 2003 is politically motivated.

10. It has also been submitted that the illegal investigation, which had started on the basis of the impugned Government Order dated 24th December, 2003, culminated into filing of the final report dated 10th February, 2005 in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003. It has next been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 under Sections 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471 and 120B IPC and Sections 8/20/29 of NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich, which had been lodged against the petitioners at the behest of M.L.A. from Bahraich only with the intention to save Sarfaraz Khan, is also liable to be quashed with a direction to the trial court to proceed on the charge sheet filed by petitioner no. 2 in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003.

11. Shri L.P. Mishra summarised his argument by submitting that once an Investigating Officer submitted a charge sheet under Section 173 Cr.P.C. in a criminal case and the court of competent jurisdiction took cognizance of the offence so mentioned in the charge sheet, the State Government is not at all competent to pass an order directing for further investigation by another Investigating Agency. He further submitted that any police officer belonging to any Investigating Agency could, at best, submit a report of investigation to a Magistrate of competent jurisdiction, and cannot issue a direction to Officer-in-Charge of a police station to lodge an F.I.R. against its police officers.

12. Relying on the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of C.B.I. & Anr. Vs. Rajesh Gandhi & Anr., AIR 1997 SC 93 and also the decisions of this Court in the case of Sandeep Kumar Yadav Vs. State of U.P., 2006 Crl.L.J. 3316, Smt. Reena Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2013 (2) JIC 215 (All), Jeet Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2013 (3) JIC 470 (All), Parvez Ahmad Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2011 (1) JIC 448 (All) and Sweta Pandey Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., 2015 (1) JIC 429 (All), Shri Mishra has submitted that during the pendency of trial, investigation of a case cannot be transferred to another Investigating Agency at the behest of an accused person. He also relied on the Government Orders dated 5th September, 1995 and 22nd October, 2014 to submit that the investigation cannot be transferred on the request of the accused.

13. Further, placing reliance on the decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. A.S. Peter, (2008) 2 SCC 383, K. Chandrashekhar Vs. State of Kerala & Ors., (1998) 5 SCC 223, Ramachandran Vs. R. Udhayakumar & Ors., (2008) 5 SCC 413, Koneru Vara Prasada Rao. Vs. State of A.P. Rep. by Sub-Divisional

Police Officer & Ors., 2007 CrLJ 2898 and Vinay Tyagi Vs. Irshad Ali @ Deepak & Ors., (2013) 5 SCC 762, he submitted that investigation cannot be transferred to another Investigating Agency after submission of charge sheet and taking cognizance by the competent authority.

14. Shri Sachindra Pratap Singh, learned A.G.A. as well as Shri Qazi Vakil Ahmad and Shri Umesh Chandra Tripathi, Advocates appearing for the complainant have vehemently opposed the arguments of the learned counsel for the petitioners.

15. Learned counsel for the complainant, on the contrary, has placed a different narrative of the case. He submitted that respondent no. 7, namely, Izhar Ahmad Khan is a permanent resident of 95/35 Pench Bagh, P.S. Bekanganj, Kanpur Nagar, but was running a restaurant in Kasba Nawabganj, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich in the name of Sarfaraz restaurant. His son, namely, Sarfaraz Khan also accompanied respondent no. 7 to run the said restaurant. He further submitted that adjacent to the restaurant, family of one Chote Lal Madesia was also residing, who has two daughters, namely, Pinki (elder) and Sarita (younger). Sarfaraz Khan and Sarita were liking each other and were in relation and they decided to get married on their own choice. The decision of marriage of her daughter with Sarfaraz Khan was strongly opposed by Chote Lal Madesia as well as his family members. As a result, Sarita left her parental house in the night of 10th June, 2003. Chote Lal Madesia approached to the Police Station Nawabganj to register the F.I.R., but the same was not registered, therefore, he approached to the then Housing and Urban Minister, U.P. Government, Lucknow and on his direction, a recommendatory letter was written by his subordinate official to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich and requested for recovery of the daughter of Chote Lal Madesia. The copy of the aforesaid letter is appended as Annexure SA 1 to the supplementary affidavit dated 18th April, 2019. In pursuance to the aforesaid letter, the police took action and recovered Sarita along with Sarfaraz Khan on 16th June, 2003 at about 4 p.m. from the house of Abdul Karim, Mohalla Maholipura, City Bahraich in presence of a lot of persons and both were brought to the police station Nawabganj by the police. It has further been stated that during the arrest, from 16.06.2003 upto 18.06.2003, Sarfaraz Khan was brutally harassed and tortured by the police, as had been stated by respondent no. 7 in his complaint (Annexure 5 to the writ petition). Pressure was also made upon Sarita to change her stand, but since she was not ready for the same and had stood with Sarfaraz Khan, she was handed over to her father. Then the petitioners planted one kilogram Nepali "Charas' on Sarfaraz Khan and registered F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 under Section 8/20 NDPS Act. Learned counsel for respondent no. 7 also submitted that the uncle of Sarfaraz Khan, namely, Riyazuddin, as soon as came to know about the incident, sent a telegram to Superintendent of Police, Bahraich as well as Chief Minister, U.P. The said telegram is appended as Annexure 6 to the writ petition. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 also drew attention of the Court towards Annexure 3 to the supplementary affidavit dated 18.04.2019, which is a news item published in the daily news paper, Dainik Jagran on 25th June, 2003 and submitted that the recovery of Sarita along with Sarfaraz Khan was published in several news papers.

16. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 has next submitted that the police of P.S. Nawabganj had wrongly submitted charge sheet in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 without considering the grievance of respondent no. 7. Thereafter, respondent no. 7 made a detail complaint to the National Human Rights Commission, New Delhi on 2nd August, 2003. (Annexure 4 to the supplementary affidavit), which was forwarded to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich vide letter dated 5th October, 2003 and also asked for a report regarding the action taken within six weeks from the date of receipt of the letter. A copy of the letter dated 5th October, 2003 issued by Assistant Registrar (Law), National Human Rights Commission is appended as Annexure 5 to the supplementary affidavit. In pursuance to the aforesaid letter, Superintendent of Police directed to Circle Officer, Nanpara vide letter dated 15th October, 2003 to conduct inquiry in relation to the contents of the complaint dated 2nd August, 2003, in pursuance to which, Circle Officer, Nanpara, Bahraich conducted an inquiry and recorded the statements of complainant-respondent no. 7, Hazi Mohammad Ali, Mohd. Arif, Dr. Intezar. The aforesaid persons categorically stated that Sarfaraz Khan was running a hotel near Hajjin Masjid, Kasba Nawabganj, Bahraich since last several years and he fell into love with the daughter of Chote Lal Madesia. Learned counsel for the complainant further submitted that during the aforesaid inquiry, respondent no. 7 has also stated that Sarfaraz Khan had a telephone connection in his own name, which was installed in the restaurant bearing No. 262384. Chote Lal Madesia, in his statement, has categorically stated that Sarfaraz Khan is basically a resident of Kanpur Nagar and about six years back, he came to Kasba Nawabganj and started a hotel and since last two years, he had taken a rented accommodation from his cousin brother, namely Onkar s/o Auri Lal Madesia to run the hotel. Chote Lal Madesia also admitted in his statement that he has two daughters, Pinki as well as Sarita and Sarita was married near Nepalganj, Village Gureya, District Banke, Nepal and was living in her in-laws house since about one month. Learned counsel for respondent no. 7 submitted that the date of marriage of Sarita has not been mentioned by Chote Lal Madesia, therefore, it is clear that at the time of incident, i.e., on 16th June, 2003, she was not married at all. In fact, Sarita was married with Radheyshyam s/o Late Kaledeen r/o House No. 259, village Parwanigod, P.S. Motiganj, District Bahraich, which is evident from the Parivar register. Circle Officer, Nanpara, in his report dated 17th November, 2003 gave a finding that Sarfaraz Khan was running a restaurant near Hajjin Masjid, Kasba Nanpara, Bahraich and the family of Chote Lal Madesia was also living near to his restaurant.

17. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for respondent no. 7 that despite the aforesaid facts, Circle Officer, Nanpara, has reported that since the matter is sub-judice before the Court, therefore, there is no requirement of investigation by the C.B.C.I.D. The inquiry report of the Circle Officer dated 17th November, 2003 is annexed as Annexure 6 to the writ petition. He further submitted that Superintendent of Police, Bahraich also wrongly relying on the aforesaid inquiry report of Circle Officer wrote to the Special Secretary (Home) that the appears not requirement to conduct the inquiry by C.B.C.I.D.

18. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 has lastly submitted that the Government of U.P., after due consideration, decided to transfer the investigation of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 with immediate effect to the C.B.C.I.D. vide impugned Government Order dated 24.12.2003. He further submitted that the aforesaid Government Order was not challenged before any court of law and the Investigating Officer of C.B.C.I.D., respondent no. 5 rightly took over the investigation and moved an application before the Special judge on 8th April, 2004 informing the court that the investigation of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 has been transferred to C.B.C.I.D. and also requested to stay the further trial till conclusion of the investigation. It has further been submitted that after proper investigation, respondent no. 5 found that Sarfaraz Khan had not committed any offence and, thus, the final report dated 10th February, 2005 was submitted in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 requesting the S.H.O., Nawabganj to register the F.I.R. against the petitioner. Thereafter, on 19th February, 2005, Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 under Sections 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471 and 120B I.P.C. and Section 8/20/29 NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich was registered against the petitioners. It has further been submitted that Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Bahraich vide order dated 4th January, 2006 rejected the said final report ex parte, without hearing the C.B.C.I.D. or the counsel appearing for Sarfaraz Khan. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 has also submitted that a Criminal Misc. Case No. 1316 of 2006 under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was filed challenging the charge sheet, which was disposed of ex parte with the direction to file discharge application vide order dated 18th September, 2012. In pursuance to the order dated 18th December, 2012, a discharge application was moved before the trial court, which was rejected, in challenge to which, Criminal Revision No. 411 of 2013 was filed, which is pending before this Court and is also connected with this petition.

19. In support of his submission that there is no illegality in the aforesaid Government Order, learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 relied on the decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Amrutbhai Shambhubhai Patel Vs. Sumanbhai Kantibhai Patel & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 1171 of 2016), Dharam Pal Vs. State of Haryana & Ors., 2016 (4) SCC 160, Chandra Babu @ Moses Vs. State through Inspector of Police & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 866 of 2015) and Zahira Habibulla H Sheikh & Anr. Vs. State of Gujrat & Ors. (Criminal Appeal No. 446-449 of 2004). He also submitted that Government Order dated 24.12.2003 is well within the purview of Section 3 of Police Act, 1861.

20. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 7 also submitted that the present petition is not maintainable in relation to the prayer no. 2, which for quashing of the F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 which was lodged by Nihal Prasad, Inspector, C.B.C.I.D., Gorakhpur. He also submitted that there is no rider on the cross F.I.R., as in both the FI.Rs., there are two different versions and the first was lodged by petitioner no. 1 against Sarfaraz Khan and the second F.I.R. was lodged by Nihal Prasad, Inspector, C.B.C.I.D. after investigation of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003. He further submitted that learned counsel for the petitioners has only addressed in relation to the Government Order dated 24th December, 2003 by which the investigation of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 was transferred by the State Government to C.B.C.I.D., but he has not addressed on the issue for quashing of the F.I.R. of Case Crime No. 67 of 2005.

21. We have considered the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties.

22. The main thrust of the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioners has three folds, which are as under:

1. Investigation cannot be transferred on the request of the accused persons.

2. Once an Investigating Agency has submitted a police report/charge sheet under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C., and the court has taken the cognizance of the offence so mentioned in the charge sheet, the State Government is not at all competent to pass an order directing for furtherinvestigation by another Investigating Agency, without taking leave from the court concerned.

3. Any police officer belonging to any Investigating Agency could only submit a report of investigation to the court of competent jurisdiction and could not direct to the officer-in-charge of a police station to lodge F.I.R. against its police officers.

After going through the contents of pleadings as well as the written submissions, it is found that the impugned Government Order dated 24th December, 2003 was issued on the representation of the Izhar Khan, respondent no. 7, and the investigation of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 was transferred to C.B.C.I.D. It is also evident from the record that F.I.R. as Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 under Section 8/20 NDPS Act, P.S. Nawabganj was registered on 18th June, 2003, on the written complaint of S.H.O., Parshu Ram Dohare (petitioner no. 1) alleging that during the course of duty, he was checking the luggage at village Sagar Gaon, Tiraha Bandha on 18th June, 2003. At about 9 p.m., one person, who was coming from Bandha to village Holia, when asked about his name after stopping him, informed that he was Sarfaraz Khan s/o Izhar Khan r/o 95/35 Pench Bagh, P.S. Begum Ganj, District Kanpur. Sarfaraz Khan was having one black polybag and after checking inside the said polybag, one kilogram Nepali "Charas' was found.

23. However, on a perusal of Annexure 1 of the supplementary affidavit dated 18.04.2019 filed by respondent no. 7, it is evident that, as a matter of fact, the daughter of Chote Lal Madesia was missing and the subordinate official deployed with the then Minister of Housing & Urban Development wrote a letter dated 12th June, 2003 to Superintendent of Police, Bahraich for making effective efforts for recovery of girl and registering of the case. It is also evident from the record that a telegram was also sent by the brother of respondent no. 7, Riyazuddin on 18th June, 2003 to various authorities that his nephew Sarfaraz Khan had been taken into custody by the police deployed at P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich and he might be implicated in the fake case.

24. It is also evident from the record that in relation to the Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 (supra), Sub Inspector Shrinath Yadav was appointed as Investigating Officer, who prepared the charge sheet on 6th July, 2003, which was numbered as 62 of 2003 and filed it in the court below (Annexure 4 to the petition), on which the trial court took cognizance on 28th July 2003. In the meantime, respondent no. 7 and his family members were running from pillar to post and moving applications to several authorities including the Chairman, Human Rights Commission, New Delhi. The copy of the complaint is appended as Annexure 5 to the petition. It is also relevant to mention here that the said complaint was forwarded by the Human Rights Commission to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich, who directed the inquiry to be conducted by Circle Officer, Nanpara. In the said inquiry report also, it is clearly emerged that Sarfaraz Khan was running a restaurant at Nawabganj. In the complaint of the respondent no. 7, it was the specific allegation that Sarfaraz Khan and Sarita d/o Chote Lal Madesia were in love, but since Chote Lal Madesia was not agreed with their relations, therefore, Sarfaraz Khan and Sarita started living at Mohalla Mahlipura, District Bahraich in the house of Abdul Karim. Due to interference of the subordinate official of the Minister of the State Government, on the initiative of Chote Lal Madesia, Sarfaraz Khan and Sarita were recovered on 16th March, 2003 at 4 p.m., which was evidenced by a large number of persons and were brought to the police station and the girl was handed over to her parents forcefully and Sarfaraz Khan was beaten brutally on the direction of petitioner no. 1 and thereafter he was booked in a false case by planting one kilogram Nepali "Charas'.

25. Further, from the report dated 17th November, 2003 of the Circle Officer, Nanpara, it is evident that in their statements, Hazi Mohammad Ali, Mohd. Arif, Dr. Intezar r/o Nawabganj have specifically stated that it was the S.H.O. himself, who while interacting with them, informed that Sarfaraz Khan had enticed away the girl of Chote Lal Madesia. Chote Lal Madesia had also stated in his statement that Sarfaraz Khan was living in Kasba Nawabganj since last six years and was running a restaurant in the shop of his cousin brother since last two years. He had also admitted that the news item in relation to the Sarfaraz Khan and his daughter was published in the news paper and submitted that it was false news. Chote Lal Madesia had further stated that his elder daughter, Pinki was married four years ago, but when asked about his daughter Sarita, he stated that she was married at Nepal and was living in her in-laws house since one month.

26. Apparently, in the conclusion part of the inquiry, Circle Officer, Nanpara has not given any finding about the elopement of Sarfaraz Khan and Sarita, and only submitted that Sarfaraz Khan was arrested in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 under Section 8/20 NDPS Act, in which charge sheet was filed and the trial is pending before the court concerned after taking cognizance and, therefore, there is no requirement for further investigation of the matter by the C.B.C.I.D.

27. It is also evident from the record that in pursuance of the Government Order dated 24.12.2003, the investigation was started by the Inspector, C.B.C.I.D., respondent no. 5 after giving the proper application to the court concerned on 8th April, 2004 and had submitted the final report in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003. Respondent no. 5, when, after proper investigation, found guilt of police officials, who implicated Sarfaraz Khan in a false case, requested the S.H.O. concerned to lodge the F.I.R. against them. Second Investigating Officer of Case Crime No. 202 of 2003, i.e., respondent no. 5 prepared Parcha no. 8 on 21.12.2004 with the finding that during investigation, it was found that the illicit "Charas' was planted on Sarfaraz Khan and he was challaned on 18.06.2003 on the behest of petitioner no. 1, then Station House Officer. It has further been mentioned by respondent no. 5 in his letter dated 10.02.2005 that the final report/ charge sheet was sent for approval to the Director General of C.B.C.I.D., which has been approved for submitting in the court concerned. The letter dated 10.02.2005, for ready reference, is reproduced as under:

"5. अपराध शाखा के सम्पूर्ण विवेचना से पाया गया कि अभियुक्त सरफराज कस्बा नवाबगंज में चाय मीठा नमकीन की दुकान करता था उसके दुकान के बगल श्री छोटे लाल महेशिया की मकान है श्री छोटे लाल की वयस्क पुत्री सरिता उर्फ पिंकी से प्रेम सम्बन्ध होने के कारण एक दूसरे की रजामंदी से दिनांक 10.6.03 को कस्बा नवाबगंज छोडकर बहराइच शहर में किराये के मकान लेकर बतौर पति पत्नी रह रहे थे, लडकी के पिता छोटे लाल की शिकायत पर एस0ओ0 नवाबगंज मय फोर्स दिनांक 16.6.03 को बहराइच शहर से अभि0 सरफराज व लडकी को उनके सामान सहित पकडकर थाना नवाबगंज लाकर दिनांक 18.6.03 तक बेजा हिरासत में रखे तथा लडकी को जबरन उसके माता पिता को सुपुर्द कर सरफराज के दूकान की तोड फोड कर उनके पास से फर्जी चरस की बरामदगी दिखाये है अपराध शाखा की विवेचना से अभि0 के विरूद्ध धारा 8/20 एन0डी0पी0एस0 ऐक्ट का अपराध प्रमाणित नहीं पाया गया। अतः विवेचना जरिए अन्तिम रिपोर्ट समाप्त कर विवेचना की कार्यवाही से न्यायालय को अवगत कराया जा रहा है कि स्थानीय पुलिस द्वारा अभि0 सरफराज के विरूद्ध प्रेषित सी एस अन्तर्गत धारा 8/20 एन0डी0पी0एस0 ऐक्ट पर विचारण गुण दोष के आधार पर किया जाय।

विवेचना समाप्त कर दोषी कर्मचारी के विरूद्ध विभागीय कार्यवाही/अभियोग अंकित हेतु पत्राचार संबंधित की होगी

संलग्नक

1- रो0खास 1 वर्क

2- एफ0आर0 3/2005 1 वर्क

3- आदेश एस0पी0सी0बी0सी0आई0डी0 छायाप्रति 1 वर्क

ह0 अपठनीय

10-2-05"

29. Thereafter, the written complaint was given to the Station Officer, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich for lodging of the F.I.R. against the accused officials on 10th February, 2005, but the same was not registered and only when the Sector Officer, C.B.C.I.D., Gorakhpur wrote a letter to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich for lodging the F.I.R., then only the impugned F.I.R. as Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 was registered on 19th February, 2005 against the petitioners herein.

30. Now before dealing with the first issue that the investigation cannot be transferred on the request of an accused, it is requisite to first go through the U.P. Police Regulations. As per the provisions of para 107 of U.P. Police Regulations, Investigating Officer of a case is under an obligation to conduct the investigation to find out the truth and not merely to obtain convictions. He must not prematurely commit himself to any view of the facts for or against any person and though he need not go out of his way to hunt an evidence for the defence in a case in which he has satisfactory grounds for believing that an accused person is guilty, he must always give accused persons an opportunity of producing defence evidence before him, and must consider such evidence carefully, if produced.

31. Para 107 of the U.P. Police Regulation is reproduced as under:

"107. An investigating officer is not to regard himself as a mere clerk for the recording of statements. It is his duty to observe and to infer. In every case he must use his own expert observations of the scene of the offence and of the general circumstances to check the evidence of witnesses, and in cases in which the culprits are unknown to determine the direction in which he shall look for them. He must study the methods of local offenders who are known to the police with a view to recognizing their handiwork, and he must be on his guard against accepting the suspicions of witness and complainants when they conflict with obvious inferences from facts. He must remember that it is his duty to find out the truth and not merely to obtain convictions. He must not prematurely commit himself to any view of the facts for or against any person and though he need not go out of his way to hunt a evidence for the defence in a case in which he has satisfactory grounds for believing that an accused person is guilty, he must always give accused persons an opportunity of producing defence evidence before him, and must consider such evidence carefully if produced. Burglary investigations should be conducted in accordance with the special orders on the subject."

32. In the present case, the grievance of respondent no. 7 was that the police personnels arrested Sarfaraz along with the daughter of Chote Lal Madesia, namely, Sarita, on the basis of the letter of subordinate official of the Minster of the State Government and the girl was handed over to her parents forcefully. Thereafter, Sarfaraz was challaned under the provisions of Sections 8 and 20 of the NDPS Act by planting "Charas'. Under the directions of Human Rights Commission given on the complaint of respondent no. 7, an inquiry was conducted by the Circle Officer, Nanpara. During the enquiry, statements of local residents of Nawabganj, place of incident, namely, Hazi Mohammad Ali, Mohd. Arif, Dr. Intezar were recorded. While interacting with them, they had categorically informed that they were called in the month of June by the S.O. and when they went to police station, S.O. asked them that Sarfaraz enticed away the girl of Chote Lal Madesia and also directed for cooperation in the recovery of girl and the arrest of Sarfaraz. However, in the conclusion part of the inquiry report, Circle Officer, Nanpara had not given any findings in relation to the ingredients of the complaint of respondent no. 7. The Investigating Officer had observed that Sarfaraz was arrested since illicit "Charas' was recovered from him, as such, he was challaned in Case Crime No. 202 of 2003 (supra). Circle Officer, Nanpara also recommended in his report dated 17th November, 2003 that it is not needed to conduct any enquiry/investigation from the C.B.C.I.D., mentioning that the allegations levelled in the complaint of respondent no. 7 are incorrect.

33. While going through the judgments relied by the learned counsel for the petitioners in support of his submission that the accused person or his family members cannot request for transfer of investigation, viz., CBI Vs. Rajesh Gandhi (supra), Sandeep Kumar Yadav (supra), Smt. Reena (supra), Jeet Singh (supra), Parvez Ahmad (supra) and Shweta Pandey (supra), we find that though in these judgments, it has been observed that the accused person does not have the right to choose the Investigating Agency, but the issue, that if the accused has falsely been implicated by the police officials, then also he cannot request for the fair investigation, has not been dealt with. Therefore, the decisions of the aforesaid judgments are not applicable in the present case.

34. Learned counsel for the petitioners has also placed reliance on the Government Orders dated 5th September, 1995 and 22nd October, 2014 in support of his submission.

35. From a perusal of the Government Order dated 5th September, 1995, it is evident that the State Government has itself made it clear that, in case, it is found to be difficult to conduct impartial investigation by the local police, then the investigation can be transferred. In the present case, the allegations were levelled against the police personnels itself, who were posted in the concerned district and in such circumstances, Sarfaraz and his family members, who are the victims, had requested for transfer of the investigation.

36. A Constitutional Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of West Bengal & Ors. Vs. Committee for Protection of Democratic Rights, West Bengal & Ors., (2010) 3 SCC 571 has explicitly held that the victim also has the right to pray for transfer of the investigation and the State has a duty to ensure the human rights of a citizen providing for fair and impartial investigation against any person accused of commission of a cognizable offence, which may include its own officers.

37. Relevant portion of the judgment is quoted hereunder:

(ii) Article 21 of the Constitution in its broad perspective seeks to protect the persons of their lives and personal liberties except according to the procedure established by law. The said article in its broad application not only takes within its fold enforcement of the rights of an accused but also the rights of the victim. The State has a duty to enforce the human rights of a citizen providing for fair and impartial investigation against any person accused of commission of a cognizable offence, which may include its own officers. In certain situations even a witness to the crime may seek for and shall be granted protection by the State. (emphasized by us)

38. In view of aforesaid facts and circumstances, constitutional right of an accused cannot be curtailed. As the specific allegations of sending the Sarfaraz to jail in the false case by planting the "Charas', were levelled against the petitioners, who were the police personnels, in such circumstances, even the accused person, i.e., Sarfaraz or his family members are having all the rights to pray for fair investigation and the "fair investigation' includes the ingredients for transfer of the investigation and there is no illegality in transferring the investigation on the request of the family members of the accused, who were being the victim of the incident. Hence, the first argument of the learned counsel for the petitioners has no legs to stand and is hereby rejected.

39. On the point of second argument, it is found that the police of State of U.P. is governed by the Police Act, 1861, because it has not enacted any Police Act of its own. In Section 1 of the Act, the word 'Police' is defined to include all persons who shall be enrolled under the Act and the words "general police districts' are defined to embrace any presidency, State or place, or any part of any presidency, State or place, in which the Act shall be ordered to take effect. Section 3 of the Indian Police Act provides as under:

"3. The superintendence of the police throughout a general police-district shall vest in and, shall be exercised by the State Government to which such district is subordinate; and except as authorised under the provisions of this Act, no person, officer or Court shall be empowered by the State Government to supersede or control any police functionary."

40. The general power of superintendence as conferred by Section 3 of the Act would comprehend the power to exercise effective control over the actions, performance and discharge of duties by the members of the police force throughout the general district. The word "superintendence" would imply administrative control enabling the authority enjoying such power to give directions to the subordinate to discharge its administrative duties and functions in the manner indicated in the order.

41. In terms of Section 3 of the Police Act, 1861 when read with Section 36 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the State has ultimate supervisory jurisdiction over the investigation of an offence and if it intends to hand over further investigation to other Investigating Agency, even after filing of the charge sheet, it may do so. An order of further investigation in terms of Section 173(8) of the Code by the State in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 36 of the Code read with Section 3 of the Police Act stands good.

42. Sections 36 and 173(8) Cr.P.C. read as under:

"36. Powers of superior officers of police.--Police officers superior in rank to an officer in charge of a police station may exercise the same powers, throughout the local area to which they are appointed, as may be exercised by such officer within the limits of his station."

"173. Report of police officer on completion of investigation.--

(1) ....

(8) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude further investigation in respect of an offence after a report under sub-section (2) has been forwarded to the Magistrate and, where upon such investigation, the officer in charge of the police station obtains further evidence, oral or documentary, he shall forward to the Magistrate a further report or reports regarding such evidence in the form prescribed; and the provisions of sub-sections (2) to (6) shall, as far as may be, apply in relation to such report or reports as they apply in relation to a report forwarded under sub-section (2)."

43. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Amrutbhai Shambhubhai Patel (supra) has held that the Investigating Agency/Officer is authorised to make further investigation in exercise of its statutory jurisdiction under Section 173(8) Cr.P.C. after informing the court and obtaining its approval at any stage of proceeding.

44. In such circumstances, we have no hesitation in holding that once an Investigating Agency has submitted a police report/charge sheet under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. and the court has taken cognizance of the offence, the State Government is competent enough to pass an order directing for further investigation by another Investigating Officer without taking leave from the court concerned, but it is the duty of the Investigating officer to inform the Court before going ahead in pursuance of the order of the State Government for further investigation. In the present case, the court was duly informed by the respondent no. 5, Nihal Prasad-Investigating Officer, before starting further investigation. Thus, the decisions relied by learned counsel for the petitioners on this point are not applicable in the present case and there is no illegality in the order passed by the State Government or in conducting the further investigation by respondent no. 5 in pursuance of the impugned Government Order dated 24.12.2003. Second argument also does not have any force and is hereby rejected.

45. In relation to the third question that whether a police officer belonging to any Investigating Agency can lodge any other F.I.R. on the basis of the conclusion of the investigation of a crime, it has been brought into the notice of the Court by the learned A.G.A., Shri Sachindra Pratap Singh that the Director General of Police, U.P. issued a Circular being D.G. 21/16 dated 26.04.2016 that in relation to one incident, multiple F.I.R.s cannot be registered, but, in case, any cross version is found, then fresh F.I.R. has to be lodged and there is no illegality in the same.

46. In the present case, in pursuance of the Government Order dated 24.12.2003, further investigation was conducted by respondent no. 5, Investigating Officer, C.B.C.I.D. in Case Crime no. 202 of 2003 (supra), who found that, as a matter of fact, Sarfaraz and Sarita went away against the wishes of her father, Chote Lal Madesia, as a result, on the interference of official of one Minster of the State Government, Sarfaraz and Sarita were recovered and Sarita was handed over to her father and Sarfaraz was illegally challaned by planting 'Charas' in the aforesaid case and police report was submitted in the court below. In these circumstances, a request was made by respondent no. 5 for lodging F.I.R. against the petitioners, as a result of which, the F.I.R. as Case Crime No. 67 of 2005, P.S. Nawabganj, District Bahraich under Sections 342, 379, 427, 467, 468, 471, 120-B IPC and U/S 8/20/29 NDPS Act, Police Station Nawabganj, District Bahraich was lodged and there is no illegality in lodging the F.I.R. as Case Crime No. 67 of 2005 (supra) against the petitioners.

47. For the facts and discussions made above, writ petition has no merit and is accordingly, dismissed. Consequences to follow.

(2019)10ILR A 1276

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 04.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ASHOK KUMAR, J.

Election Petition No. 14 of 2017

Rakesh Agarwal ...Petitioner
Versus
Dr. Arun Kumar & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

In person, Sri Rakesh Agarwal, Sri Mayank Agarwal, Sri Mayank Kumar Agrawal

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Ankit Saran, Sri K.R. Singh, Sri Siddharth Singhal

A. Representation of People Act, 1951-Section 81(3), 81(1) and 86(1) - Copy of election petition served upon the Respondent No.1 not attested by the petitioner to be the true copy of the original petition - Provisions of Section 86 of the Act are mandatory and must be complied with in letter and spirit. (Para 47,49 52,54, 58 & 59)

Representation of People Act, 1951-Section 81(3) , 81(1) and 86 - Analysis of Sub Section (3) of Section 81 would reveal that every election petition should be accompanied by as many copies as there are respondents and that every copy should be attested by the petitioner to be a true copy of the petition under his own signature. If these requirements are not followed strictly and literally, it would result in dismissal of the election petition without any trial as provided by Section 86 of the Act.

A perusal of the certified copy of the election petition as served upon the respondent No.1 reveals that it has not been attested by the petitioner to be a true copy of the original petition.

Since the provisions of Section 86 of the Act are mandatory and must be complied with in letter and spirit, the election petition is liable to be dismissed for non-compliance of Section 81(3) of the Act with cost of Rs.25,000/- to be deposited with the registry of the Court

Election Petition dismissed with cost (E-3)

Case law relied upon/discussed: -

1. Sharif-Ud-Din Vs Abdul Gani Lone AIR 1980 SC 303

2. Rajendra Singh Vs Usha Rani AIR 1984 SC 956

3. Shitla Prasad Sonkar Vs Arun Kumar Nehru & ors. AIR 1987 Alld. 51

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashok Kumar, J.)

1. This election petition has been filed by the petitioner arising out of election to 124 Bareilly City Assembly Constituency held in March, 2017 and the result of which was declared in which the respondent no. 1 was declared elected.

2. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner has filed the nomination paper to contest the election to 124 Bareilly City Assembly Constituency. The petitioner claims that he has deposited security amount and has also submitted his detailed affidavit, additional affidavit and the revised affidavit.

3. The petitioner claims that he opened a fresh bank account and had complied all other conditions as instructed by the returning officer.

4. It is submitted by the petitioner that on 30.01.2017 the Returning Officer has rejected his nomination on the ground that in the revised affidavit in part 'Kha', in Column '8 Kha (iii)' Columns 5,6,7 and 8 are left blank by the petitioner. The petitioner claims that there was no concealment as alleged.

5. The petitioner therefore claims that the omission in part A, as pointed out by the Returning Officer, may be fatal but not in part B, which is exclusively founded on part A.

6. He therefore claims that in view of the aforesaid, the affidavit filed by the petitioner can not be treated either incomplete or defective therefore the rejection of nomination paper by the Returning Officer was uncalled for and arbitrary as such dictatorial exercise of power.

7. The nomination paper of the petitioner was scrutinized by the Returning Officer and the Returning Officer has found that the same was inadequate and incomplete, hence the same was rejected.

8. The objection filed by the petitioner dated 30.01.2017 against the rejection of his nomination was dealt with by the Returning Officer and the Returning Officer has reiterated his decision rejecting the nomination paper filed by the petitioner holding that the petitioner is disqualified to be chosen to fill the Assembly seat in question.

9. The respondent no. 1 was declared elected.

10. Against the order declaring the respondent no. 1 as elected Member of Legislative Assembly the present election petition has been filed by the petitioner with the allegation that the respondent no. 1 committed corrupt practice of undue influence upon the Returning Officer as a result of which the petitioner's nomination paper was rejected.

11. This election petition was nominated to this Court by Hon'ble the Chief Justice and thereafter the same was listed with the consent of the respective parties on 22nd September, 2017. After 22.09.2017 the petition was not listed on the date fixed as such was listed only on 02.02.2018 with the office report.

12. On the request of the petitioner, who appeared personally, the notice was issued to the respondent no. 1 under Rule 5 of Chapter XV-A of the Rules of the Court. Office was directed to send the notice through R.P.A.D. and the matter was directed to be listed on 23.03.2018. The office has submitted its report dated 23.03.2018. The office report indicates that neither the acknowledgement nor undelivered notices has been returned back.

13. The petition thereafter has been taken up on 06.04.2018 when an amendment application has been filed on behalf of the petitioner by one Sri Arvind Singh, who claims that he is the clerk of the counsel who has filed the vakalatnama on behalf of the petitioner.

14. In the said affidavit, it has been mentioned that the respondent no. 1 has shifted his clinic to other place and therefore it was prayed (in the said amendment application/affidavit) that the details of the respondent no. 1 requires the amendment in the original election petition as also the new addresses.

15. The petitioner was present when the aforesaid proceedings were taken up.

16. During the aforesaid proceedings the counsel has filed the vakalatnama on behalf of the respondent no. 1 and since the averments of the amendment application / affidavit were doubtful, it was directed by the Court to the counsel who had filed the amendment application to file a proper amendment application disclosing the source of the contents / change of addresses of the respondent no. 1 and since the petitioner himself was present he was directed to file the proper affidavit.

17. The proceedings on 06.04.2018 were held even after advocates' strike as the petitioner himself appeared and with the consent of the parties the matter was listed for 27.04.2018.

18. The office report dated 27.04.2018 indicates that the registered post AD was neither received back nor undelivered notice has been returned back. However, the Court has proceeded as the counsel for respondent no. 1 appeared and accordingly the amendment application was allowed and the petitioner was allowed to carry out the necessary amendments.

19. Thereafter, as jointly agreed, the case was directed to be listed in the third week of May, 2018. On 25.05.2018 the petition was listed and an application without an affidavit was filed on 25.05.2018 by the petitioner.

20. The Court has directed the petitioner to file an affidavit in support of his application. The petitioner however has insisted for acceptance of the said application without an affidavit.

21. The following detailed order has been passed on 25.05.2018:-

"An application dated 25th May, 2018 is filed by the petitioner Sri Rakesh Agarwal which is not supported by an affidavit.

Sri Rakesh Agarwal, petitioner is directed to file this application supported by an affidavit but he has stated that this application may be taken on record even without supported by an affidavit. The court has noticed that several original documents are annexed along with this application. According to the Court legible photostate copies should by filed supported by an affidavit.

This application be taken on record and whenever a fresh application along with photostat copy of all the documents supported by an affidavit, is filed the same be taken on record and if the petitioner desires the original copies enclosed with this application be returned to the petitioner.

In paragraph nos.5, 6, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19 and 20, in the instant election petition, the petitioner has made several allegations against Sri Manoj who was the Returning Officer.

The petitioner has informed the Court that Sri Manoj, the Returning Officer, who has conducted the election which was held in March, 2017, is now posted as Chief Revenue Officer at Deoria.

Let notice be issued to Sri Manoj, now posted as Chief Revenue Officer, Deoria.

Petitioner shall take steps for service of notice through speed post within three days.

Office is directed to send the notice to Sri Manoj, Chief Revenue Officer Deoria, who was Returning Officer of the U.P. Legislative Assembly election held in the month of March, 2017 of District Bareilly (City). Sri Manoj may file counter affidavit within six weeks.

List this petition on 10th August, 2018.

Sri Ankit Saran, Advocate representing the respondent no.1 is directed to file counter affidavit within six weeks. A copy of the counter affidavit be served upon the petitioner through registered post at his address given in the election petition. Respondent no.2 has not filed any reply so far. As a last opportunity six weeks time is allowed to him to file the reply."

22. The office report dated 10.08.2018 indicates that the Chief Standing Counsel, Sri K.R. Singh has filed an affidavit on behalf of Returning Officer.

23. No counter affidavit was filed by the respondents and the counsel for the respondent no. 2 was not present therefore with the consent of the petitioner the date has been fixed as 22.10.2018.

24. On 22.10.2018 the Court has passed the following order:-

"This Court vide order dated 25.5.2018 had granted six weeks' time to the learned counsel for respondent No.1 to file the written statement/counter affidavit. It was also directed to the learned counsel for respondent No.1 to serve a copy of the written statement/counter affidavit upon the petitioner at his registered postal address.

Sri Ankit Saran, learned counsel for respondent No.1 was not present on the last date which was fixed by this Court, vide order dated 25.5.2018, being 10.8.2018.

Today when the case is taken up, Sri K.R. Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has informed the Court that an application along with an affidavit has been filed by Sri Manoj, who was the Returning Officer. The said affidavit of Sri Manoj is available on record. Since the copy of the said affidavit filed by Sri Manoj is not served on the petitioner, it is hereby directed that the same be served upon the petitioner, who is personally present, during the course of the day.

Sri Ankit Saran, learned counsel representing respondent No.1 has prayed for further time to file the reply/written statement on behalf of the respondent No.1. Three weeks and no more time is allowed to respondent No.1 to file the counter affidavit/written statement.

The petitioner, Sri Rakesh Aggarwal, has placed reliance on provisions of Civil Procedure Code, 1908 particularly Order 8 Rule 1, Rule 5, Rule 10 and has submitted that the Court while allowing further time to the respondent No.1 may impose the cost.

Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and the petitioner, this Court proposes to fix this petition on 20.11.2018 with a specific direction that on the next date fixed, the counsel for the respondent No.1 must file the written statement/counter affidavit, a copy of which must be supplied to the petitioner before 17.11.2018.

Let the petition be listed at the top of the list on 20.11.2018."

25. The case was heard on 20.11.2018 and the following order has been passed in presence of the petitioner and the counsel for the respondent:-

"On the last date, on the request of Sri Ankit Saran, who appeared on behalf of respondent no.1, three weeks' time was granted to him to file the reply/written statement on behalf of respondent no.1. It was clearly indicated that no further time will be allowed to the respondent no.1 to file the written statement/counter affidavit.

In the order dated 22.10.2108 while fixing the petition for 20.11.2018 this Court has directed the counsel for the respondent no.1 to file written statement/counter affidavit on the next date fixed which is 20.11.2018 and a copy of the said written statement/counter affidavit must be supplied to the petitioner before 17.11.2018.

Today Sri K.R. Singh and Sri Siddharth Singhal filed their Vakalatnama on behalf of respondent no.1 and an endorsement is made by Sri Ankit Saran, Advocate that he has no objection. The said Vakalatnama be taken on record.

The election petitioner, Sri Rakesh Agarwal has pointed out that the copy of the written statement filed on behalf respondent no.1 is served upon him today at 3.15 P.M. and apart from the written statement, three applications are also served upon him, being application under Order 7 Rule 11 of C.P.C., under Order 6 Rule 11 of C.P.C. read with Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951 and application under Section 86(1) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

The election petitioner has pointed out that the respondent no.1, in fact, has disobeyed the order of this Court dated 22.10.2018 and has not served/supplied the copy of the written statement on or before 17.11.2018, hence cost be imposed upon the respondent no.1.

As requested by the petitioner, a week's time is allowed to file the replication to the written statement and the reply to the aforesaid three applications.

As jointly prayed by the petitioner and learned counsels for the respondent no.1, list this petition on 30.11.2018."

26. The office report dated 30.11.2018 / 06.12.2018 indicates that the petitioner has not filed the reply to the written statement or the reply to the applications filed by the respondent no. 1. On the next date fixed when the case was listed, after hearing the parties following order was passed:-

"Sri K.R. Singh, learned counsel representing the respondent no. 1 has filed an application supported by an affidavit, a copy of which is served upon the petitioner, Sri Rakesh Agarwal today. Sri Rakesh Agarwal may file reply, if he so desire within ten days.

Sri Rakesh Agarwal, the petitioner has filed replication, the reply to the application supported by the affidavit as well as three counter affidavits, which are the reply to the affidavits/application filed by the respondent no. 1. All the aforesaid affidavits/applications/replication be taken on record.

The petitioner, Sri Rakesh Agarwal has also filed an affidavit/ reply to the counter affidavit filed by Sri Manoj, who was the then returning officer, a copy of which is served upon the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, Sri K.R. Singh.

As prayed by Sri K.R. Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no. 1, two weeks' time is allowed to file the replies to the above counter affidavits/replication filed by the petitioner, Sri Rakesh Agarwal.

As agreed by the parties, list this petition on 11th January, 2019."

27. On the next date fixed i.e. on 11.01.2019, three rejoinder affidavits were filed by the respondent no. 1 and another rejoinder affidavit was filed by the Returning Officer, respondent no. 2.

28. A counter affidavit to the delay condonation application has been filed by the petitioner and the petitioner has contested the delay condonation application therefore the counsel for the respondent no. 1 has prayed for short time to file the reply to the counter affidavit. The case was adjourned for 23.01.2019.

29. On 23.01.2019 the case was taken up and was heard and following order has been passed fixing 24.01.2019 for further hearing:-

"In pursuance of the order dated 22.10.2018 the respondent no. 1 has filed the written statement on the date fixed, being 20.11.2018 granting the time to the respondent no. 1 to file the written statement.

Though this Court has observed that copy of the written statement be served/supplied to the petitioner on or before 17.11.2018.

The written statement filed be taken on record. The reply has been filed by the petitioner to the affidavit filed by the then Returning Officer- Sri Manoj, which is also available on record.

The petitioner- Sri Rakesh Agarwal has filed a counter affidavit to the affidavit filed in support of the written statement stating therein that the written statement is not acceptable for the reason that the respondent no. 1 failed to comply the order dated 22.10.2018 and failed to supply the copy of the written statement to the petitioner on or before 17.11.2018 and the copy of the written submission was supplied to the petitioner only on 20.11.2018 which was the date fixed.

The petitioner therefore has prayed that the written statement filed by the respondent no. 1 is not acceptable as the same is filed in contravention of the directions of this Court.

Sri K.R. Singh, learned counsel representing the respondent no. 1 has filed the affidavit to the objection filed by the petitioner saying therein that there was no deliberate delay on the part of the respondent no. 1 and in fact the written statement was prepared at Allahabad and an affidavit was sworn at Allahabad on 18.11.2018 and since the written statement was prepared at Allahabad on 17.11.2018 and swearing was done on 18.11.2018, the same practically could not be supplied to the petitioner as the petitioner resides at District Bareilly and as soon as the petitioner reached at Allahabad on the date fixed i.e. 20.11.2018, a copy of the written statement was supplied to the petitioner on 20.11.2018.

I have perused the objections of the petitioner and also the reasons given by the respondent no. 1 and in my opinion neither there was any deliberate default on the part of the respondent no. 1 nor there was any ill intention, hence the objection of the petitioner can not sustain.

In view of the aforesaid, this Court proposes to proceed the proceedings on merit.

Put up tomorrow i.e. 24.01.2019 at 12.00 p.m. for further hearing."

30. On 24.01.2019 the matter was heard and following order has been passed:-

"Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1, Sri K.R. Singh has placed reliance of the provisions of Section 87 of Representation of People Act, 1951 as well as the procedure prescribed therein. He has further placed reliance of provision of Order 6 Rule 14A and Order 7 Rule 19-25 of Amended Allahabad Rules.

Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 has therefore submitted that instant election petition is not maintainable as the copy which has been provided/supplied to the respondent no. 1 by the petitioner is an incomplete document. He has pointed out that in the index of the election petition there are only 26 pages referred and the copy supplied to the respondent no. 1 indicates total number of pages of the election petition as 26.

During the course of proceedings when the counsel for the respondent no. 1 has pointed out about irregularity on the part of the petitioner, the Court has seen the documents and it is noticed that the affidavit filed in support of the election petition starts from page 20, which runs in three pages and the verification of the affidavit is on page 22. Page 23 refers the list of the address of the petitioner which is signed by the petitioner on 25.04.2017. Page A-3/24 is a document of the photostat copy of the Registration of the petitioner as an Advocate which is issued by the Bar Council of U.P. Allahabad. Next to the above document is the list of all document on which the petitioner relies as evidence in support of his claims which starts from page A-3/25 to A-3/ 28 which is also signed by the petitioner and the date is mentioned being 25.04.2017. The last paper is the document in which the number is mentioned as A-3/29 which is the receipt issued by the registry/ tender notice acknowledging the deposit of Rs. 2000/- made by the petitioner on 25.04.2017.

The contention of the counsel for the respondent no. 1 is that the petitioner has not proceeded in accordance with law as he failed to provide the address of service.

In the aforesaid background the petitioner- Sri Rakesh Agarwal has prayed as also the counsel for the respondent no. 1, Sri K.R. Singh that both of them may be permitted to go through peruse the original complete record of the election petition.

In view of the aforesaid, the respondent no. 1 and the petitioner are allowed to proceed in the matter and adopt the appropriate steps for permission by the appropriate authority / registry authority to permit them for inspection of all the original records.

As agreed and prayed by Sri Rakesh Agarwal and learned counsel for the respondent no. 1, Sri K.R. Singh, list this case again on 27th February, 2019.

In the meantime the petitioner and the respondent no. 1 will inspect the original record."

31. On the next date fixed i.e. on 27.02.2019 an application supported by an affidavit was filed under Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951 (herein after referred as 'The Act') by the respondent no. 1.

32. Along with the application / affidavit two documents are enclosed, which are, the complete copy of the election petition filed by the petitioner which was served upon the respondent no. 1 in original being annexure 1 to the affidavit and the certified copy of the election petition, which is obtained by the respondent no. 1 from the office of the registry of this Court.

33. The petitioner prayed and was allowed ten days time to file the reply to the said application / affidavit filed by the respondent no. 1 and with the consent of the parties the case was fixed on 15.03.2019.

34. On 15.03.2019, On the request of the petitioner, the case was adjourned and following order has been passed:-

"Sri Saroj Giri, Advocate associated with the chamber of Mr. Mayank Agarwal, Advocate, who previously represents the petitioner- Sri Rakesh Agarwal has informed the Court that the petitioner- Sri Rakesh Agarwal, who was appearing in person before this Court in the instant election petition, is not feeling well, therefore he has requested him to request the Court to pass over the case today.

This case is specially fixed by this Bench on the request of Sri Rakesh Agarwal for today vide order dated 27.02.2019.

Since the petitioner, who himself is arguing his case is not well, the case is passed over for the day.

List this petition after four weeks."

35. When the case was listed on 29.05.2019 it was again adjourned on the request of the petitioner as he was not feeling well and therefore on his request the case was fixed for 31.05.2019.

36. On 31.05.2019, a counter affidavit has been filed by the petitioner to the application / affidavit filed by the respondent no. 1 under Section 86(1) of 'The Act'.

37. On the request of the counsel for the respondent no. 1 three weeks time was allowed to file the rejoinder affidavit to the counter affidavit and as jointly agreed the date was fixed for 12.07.2019.

38. On 12.07.2019, two weeks and no more time was allowed to respondent no. 1 to file the rejoinder affidavit and as jointly agreed the date was fixed for 02.08.2019. The rejoinder affidavit is filed on 02.08.2019.

39. The case is heard at length on 02.08.2019.

40. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 has submitted that the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent no. 1 is not the true copy of the election petition, which has been filed by the petitioner before this Court.

41. According to the counsel for the respondent no. 1, the original copy of election petition contains two extra pages, which are not part of the copy of the election petition served / supplied by the petitioner to the respondent no. 1. It is contended by the counsel for the respondent no. 1 that the copy of the election petition was made available / filed by the petitioner himself in the registry of this Court. He has submitted that the petitioner has not made any endorsement on the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent no. 1 that it is the true copy of the original election petition.

42. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1, has submitted that the petitioner therefore has not complied with the mandatory provisions of Section 81(3) of Representation of People Act, 1951. He has referred the provision of Section 81(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951, which reads as follows:-

"Section 81. Presentation of petitions.- (1) An election petition calling in question any election may be presented on one or more of the grounds specified in [sub-section (1)] of Section 100 and Section 101 to the [High Court] by any candidate at such election or any elector [within forty-five days from, but not earlier than the date of election of the returned candidate or if there are more than one retured candidate at the election and dates of their election are different, the later of those two dates].

Explanation.- In this sub-section, "elector" means a person who was entitled to vote at the election to which the election petition relates, whether he has voted at such election or not."

43. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 has placed reliance of the provision of Sub Section (3) of Section 81, which reads as follows:-

"Section 81(3). Every election petition shal be accomplanied by as many copies thereof as there are respondents mentioned in the petition and every such copy shall be attested by the petitioner under his own signature to be a true copy of the petition."

44. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 has also placed reliance of the provision of Section 86 of 'The Act'.

45. Section 86 of the Act of 1951 provides the trial of election petitions. Sub Section (1) of Section 86 reads as follows:-

"Section 86. Trial of election petitions. (1) The High Court shall dismiss an election petition which does not comply with the provisions of Section 81 or Section 82 or Section 117.

Explanation.- An order of the High Court dismissing an election petition under this sub-section shall be deemed to be an order made under clause (a) of Section 98."

46. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 therefore submits that while deciding the election petition the Court possess no common law power. He has further submitted that the statutory requirements of the election law must be strictly observed and complied with.

47. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 1 therefore submits that in view of the provision of Section 81 and Section 86 of the Act the present election petition is not maintainable as such is liable to be dismissed.

48. The Court thereafter has asked the petitioner to submit his reply to the objection about the maintainability of the present election petition. The petitioner who appeared in person instead of replying the arguments and the objections of the counsel for the respondent no. 1 has stated that he do not want to give any reply to the objection / submission of the counsel for the respondent no. 1 and has submitted that this Court should not proceed further in the matter and to release the case. The Court thereafter has asked the petitioner that why such irrelevant submission is made by the petitioner, the petitioner has repeated again and again for release of the case.

49. Analysis of Sub Section (3) of Section 81 would reveal that every election petition should be accompanied by as many copies as there are respondents and that every copy should be attested by the petitioner to be a true copy of the petition under his own signature. If these requirements are not followed strictly and literally, it would result in dismissal of the election petition without any trial as provided by Section 86 of the Act.

50. In the instant case the main point raised by the respondent no. 1 was that the sets of copies, which were filed by the election petitioner before this Court are different then those copies, which are made served by the petitioner upon the respondent no. 1.

51. The admitted fact is that the petitioner has filed two sets of copy of the election petition in the High Court Registry. The first / original copy of the election petition contains first 17 pages, which are numbered by hand by sketch pen thereafter page 18 and 19 is the affidavit filed and signed by the petitioner. Page 20 is another affidavit filed by the petitioner in support of allegations of corrupt practice and page 20 and 21 are also marked by sketch pen, whereas the next page, which provides the verification part is not marked by sketch pen. The signature of the petitioner are on two places on unnumbered page and the date has been mentioned as 25th Day of April, 2017 and the time is mentioned by hand in blue ink as " at April 1.40 p.m."

52. After the unnumbered page, another page is tagged, which provides the list of address of the petitioner in which the details are mentioned and the petitioner has signed at the middle and the date is mentioned as 25.04.2017, thereafter page 22 is tagged, which is numbered by sketch pen which provides the identification ID of the petitioner issued by the Bar Council of U.P., Allahabad. Thereafter pages 24 to 26 are again numbered by sketch pen and are tagged providing the list of all documents on which the petitioner relies as evidence in support of his claim. Page 26 is signed, which provides the date and time as 25th April, 2017 about 1.40 p.m. by the oath commissioner.

53. Learned counsel for the respondents has filed an affidavit dated 17.02.2019 and had enclosed with it the certified copy of the election petition which was served upon him as annexure-1. The aforesaid certified copy of the election petition has been filed so as to enable the court to compare it with the original.

54. A perusal of the certified copy of the election petition as served upon the respondent No.1 reveals that it has not been attested by the petitioner to be a true copy of the original petition. It does not contain any endorsement that it is a true copy of the original election petition.

55. A comparison of the aforesaid copy of the election petition served upon the respondent No.1 with the original reveals that there are two additional pages tagged with the election petition which provide the list of address of the petitioner and identification proof of the petitioner which are missing in the copy of the election petition served/supplied by the petitioner to the respondent No.1.

56. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the copy of the election petition supplied to the respondent No.1 is not in conformity with Section 81(3) of the Act.

57. In Sharif-Ud-Din Vs. Abdul Gani Lone, AIR 1980 SC 303 observed as under:-

"The object of requiring the copy of an election petition to be attested by the petitioner under his own signature to be a true copy of the petition appears to be that the petitioner should take full responsibility for its contents and that the respondent or respondents should have in their possession a copy of the petition duly attested under the signature of the petitioner to be the true copy of the petition at the earliest possible opportunity to prevent any unauthorised alteration or tampering of the contents of the original petition after it is filed into Court."

58. A three Judges Bench of the Supreme Court in Rajendra Singh Vs.

Usha Rani AIR 1984 SC 956 while considering the provisions of Section 81(3) and 86 of the Act opined that filing of the incorrect copies of the election petition and providing an incorrect copy upon the respondents amounts to non-compliance of Section 81(3) which entails dismissal of the election petition.

59. A learned Single Judge of the Allahabad High Court in Shitla Prasad Sonkar Vs. Arun Kumar Nehru and others AIR 1987 Alld. 51 following the above decision of the Supreme Court held ommision of certain paragraphs in the copy of the election petition supplied to the respondents is fatal and the election petition is liable to be dismissed in view of Section 83(3) and 86(1) of the Act as such a defect cannot be permitted to be rectified.

60. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances as well as legal position narrated, since the provisions of Section 86 of the Act are mandatory and must be complied with in letter and spirit, the election petition is liable to be dismissed for non-compliance of Section 81(3) of the Act.

61. Accordingly, election petition is dismissed under Section 86 of the Act with cost of Rs.25,000/- to be deposited with the registry of the Court.

(2019)10ILR A 1287

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 01.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DEVENDRA KUMAR UPADHYAYA, J.
THE HON'BLE MOHD. FAIZ ALAM KHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal (u/s 378(4) of Cr.P.C.) No. 168 of 2019

State of U.P. ...Applicant
Versus
Jitendra Kumar Yadav ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Applicant:
Government Advocate

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 363,366,376 & Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 378(3) -Application to grant leave to appeal - rejection - even if another view is possible, in absence of any compelling and substantial reason, the appellate court dealing with appeal against acquittal would not interfere with the acquittal unless the approach of the court below is found to be manifestly vitiated while it makes consideration of evidence.
(Para 10,11,12,16,17,23,34 & 36)

Criminal Appeal dismissed (E-6)

Precedent followed: -

1. St. of Raj. Vs Shera Ram alias Vishnu Dutta (2012) 1 SCC 602

2. Shyam Babu Vs St. of U.P. (2012) 8 SCC 651

3. Ram Lakhan Sheo Charan & ors. Vs St. of U.P. 1991 Cri.L.J. 2790

4. Phool Chand and etc. Vs St. of U.P. 2004 Cri.L.J. 1904

5. Ram Kishan Singh Vs Harmit Kaur & ors. (1972) 3 SCC 280

6. Utpal Das & anr. Vs St. of W.B. (2010) 6 SCC 493

7. Rajendra Singh & ors. Vs St. of Bihar (2000) 4 SCC 298

8. Vishnu @ Undrya Vs St. of Mah. (2006) 1 SCC 283

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J. & Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J.)

1. This application by the State of U.P. under Section 378 (3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure has been filed with the prayer to grant leave to appeal against the judgment and order dated 18.07.2019 rendered by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, FTC-Ist, in Sessions Trial No. 4/2007 which arose out of Case Crime No. 32/2006, under Sections 363, 366, 376 I.P.C., Police Station Ahirauli, District Ambedkar Nagar, whereby the respondent-accused-Jitendra Kumar Yadav has been acquitted of the charges under Sections 363, 366, 376 of the I.P.C.

2. In brief, the facts of the case are that the informant-Ram Tej Verma lodged an First Information Report on 01.05.2006 at Police Station Ahirauli, District Ambedkar Nagar with the assertion that his daughter (hereinafter referred to as the "victim') was student of Class-11 in Jhinka Devi Balika Inter College, Fattepur, Belabagh, who at 06.30 a.m. on 21.04.2006 had gone to attend her school, however, she had not come back and accordingly the informant made all endeavours to trace her and further that his daughter had been enticed away by the accused-Jitendra Kumar Yadav son of Tribhuwan Yadav who is resident of his village. In the F.I.R., it was also stated that that Raja Ram Verma and Brij Lal Verma and others had seen the victim being taken away by the accused.

3. On the basis of said F.I.R., Case Crime No. 32 of 2006, under Sections 363, 366, 376, I.P.C., at Police Station Ahirauli, District Ambedkar Nagar was registered and after investigation a charge sheet was submitted against the accused-Jitendra Kumar Yadav, under Sections 363, 366, 376, I.P.C. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar took cognizance and summoned the accused. On appearance of the accused, the case was committed to the sessions court. Charges against the accused were framed under Sections 363, 366, 376, I.P.C. who pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed trial. Accordingly, the trial commenced.

4. The prosecution in order to bring home the charges against the accused examined seven prosecution witnesses, namely, the informant-Ram Tej Verma (P.W.1), the victim (P.W.2), Brij Lal Verma (P.W.3), Raja Ram (P.W.4), Ramesh Chandra, Investigating Officer (P.W.5), Rama Devi Verma, Principal of the School (P.W.6) and Dinesh Kumar Bhaskar, Chief Pharmacist, District Women Hospital, Ayodhya (P.W.7). The prosecution also placed certain documentary evidences including statement of the victim recorded before the Magistrate under Section 164, Cr.P.C. and her medical report.

5. After closure of the evidence of the prosecution, the statement of the accused was recorded under Section 313, Cr.P.C. who denied the allegations and stated that he had falsely been implicated. However, no evidence by the defence was led.

6. Learned trial court considered the evidence available on record and finding material contradiction in the statement of the victim recorded before the court and the one recorded by her before the Magistrate under Section 164, Cr.P.C. and also finding various discrepancies in the statement of the other witnesses has given a finding that the prosecution has not been able to prove the charges against the accused beyond reasonable doubt and accordingly, acquitted the accused of the charges for which the accused was tried giving him benefit of doubt.

7. Seeking leave to appeal in this case, learned Additional Government Advocate has argued that the prosecutrix herself in her deposition before the court has completely supported the case of the prosecution, however, learned trial court by not finding her evidence credible has committed manifest error and thus, it is a case where leave to appeal should be granted.

8. It has further been argued by the learned counsel appearing for the State that reliance placed by the learned trial court on the statement of the prosecutrix under Section 164, Cr.P.C. in preference to her deposition made before the court is an approach adopted by the learned trial court which cannot be approved of.

9. We have considered the arguments made by learned Additional Government Advocate appearing for the State.

10. As observed above by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Shera Ram alias Vishnu Dutta, reported in (2012) 1 Supreme Court Cases 602, though there is no substantial difference between an appeal against conviction and an appeal against acquittal, however, what is to be borne in mind while dealing with an appeal against acquittal is that the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused has been fortified by his acquittal and if the view adopted by the lower court is a reasonable one and the conclusion reached by it is based on the material on record, the acquittal may not be interfered with. The Hon'ble Supreme Court goes on to further observe in the case of Shera Ram (supra) that though there is no absolute restriction to re-look the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is based, however, it is only if the appellate court finds that the lower court's decision is based on an erroneous view and is against the settled principles of law that the order of acquittal should be set aside. Paragraphs 10 and 11 of the judgment in the case of Shera Ram (supra) are relevant which are extracted herein below :

"10. There is a very thin but a fine distinction between an appeal against conviction on the one hand and acquittal on the other. The preponderance of judicial opinion of this Court is that there is no substantial difference between an appeal against conviction and an appeal against acquittal except that while dealing with an appeal against acquittal the Court keeps in view the position that the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused has been fortified by his acquittal and if the view adopted by the High Court is a reasonable one and the conclusion reached by it had its grounds well set out on the materials on record, the acquittal may not be interfered with. Thus, this fine distinction has to be kept in mind by the Court while exercising its appellate jurisdiction. The golden rule is that the Court is obliged and it will not abjure its duty to prevent miscarriage of justice, where interference is imperative and the ends of justice so require and it is essential to appease the judicial conscience.

11. Also, this Court in Abdul Mannan case had the occasion to state the principles which may be taken into consideration by the appellate court while dealing with an appeal against acquittal. There is no absolute restriction in law to review and re-look the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded. If, upon scrutiny, the appellate court finds that the lower court's decision is based on erroneous views and against the settled position of law then the said order of acquittal should be set aside".

11. Yet in another case of Shyam Babu Vs. State of U.P., reported in (2012) 8 Supreme Court Cases 651, Hon'ble Supreme Court has reiterated the principles on which the appellate court may interfere with the order of acquittal passed by the trial court. Hon'ble Supreme Court has stated in the said case of Shyam Babu (supra) that the appellate court while entertaining the appeal against the judgment of acquittal rendered by the trial court is though entitled to re-appreciate the evidence and come to an independent conclusion, however, such interference with the order of acquittal should not be made unless the decision of the trial court is found perverse or unreasonable resulting in miscarriage of justice. The said principle laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court can be found in para-16 of the judgment in the case of Shyam Babu (supra), which is reproduced herein below:-

"16. It is true that it would not be possible for the appellate Court to interfere with the order of acquittal passed by the trial Court without rendering specific finding, namely, that the decision of the trial Court is perverse or unreasonable resulting in miscarriage of justice. At the same time, it cannot be denied that the appellate Court while entertaining an appeal against the judgment of acquittal by the trial Court is entitled to re-appreciate the evidence and come to an independent conclusion. We are conscious of the fact that in doing so, the appellate Court should consider every material on record and the reasons given by the trial Court in support of its order of acquittal and should interfere only on being satisfied that the view taken by the trial Court is perverse and unreasonable resulting in miscarriage of justice. We also reiterate that if two views are possible on a set of evidence, then the appellate Court need not substitute its own view in preference to the view of the trial Court which has recorded an order of acquittal".

12. Keeping in view the aforesaid principles of law enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court regarding scope and ambit of this Court in an appeal filed against the judgment of acquittal, we now proceed to examine whether the prayer made by the State in this case for grant of leave to appeal can be granted. Such grant of leave will be permissible only if the judgment of acquittal in this case is found suffering from any manifest legal infirmity or is found based on erroneous appreciation of evidence.

13. As observed above, the prosecution has examined seven prosecution witnesses. The statement of victim (P.W.2) is relevant to be discussed at this juncture. She before the court deposed that on 21.04.2006 at 06.30 a.m. she was going to attend her school, namely, Jhinka Devi Patel Balika Inter College, Fattepur, Belabagh, District

Ambedkar Nagar. She further stated that when she reached Barwa Bazar, the accused forcibly got her seated on his motor-cycle and when the said attempt of accused was opposed, he threatened her that he will kill her if she resisted. She has further deposed that thereafter accused took her to Faizabad via Mahboobganj and parked his motor-cycle in the Agency and thereafter took her to Lucknow by Bolero(a motorized four wheeler). She further stated in her deposition before the court that the accused took her to railway station at Lucknow and thereafter he took her to Amratsar where he kept her in a rented room and committed rape on her without her consent and that the accused forcibly detained her at Amratsar for 5-6 months. In her deposition, she further stated that when the accused came to know that F.I.R has been lodged and attachment proceedings were also undertaken then the accused took her to Akbarpur at her aunt's house (Mausi). However, accused was apprehended by the police at Akbarpur Railway Station whereupon both of them were taken to Police Station where she had made her statement before the police. In her deposition, she further stated that she made the statement under Section 164, Cr.P.C. as well. However, when the statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. was read over to her she stated that she had not given any such statement. It is on record that the victim in her statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. had stated that she had relationship with the accused-Jitendra Kumar Yadav for the last 3-4 years and when her father settled her marriage elsewhere then she went away with the accused with a plan and accordingly on 21.04.2006 (the date of alleged occurrence), she went to Barwa Bazar from her residence where the accused was waiting for her and thereupon she with the accused went to Ayodhya via Mahboobganj and they got married in a temple at Ayodhya. In the said statement, she further deposed that after getting married they came to Faizabad and left the motor-cycle at the Agency for servicing and thereafter they went to Lucknow by Marshell (a motorized four wheeler) and took train at Lucknow railway station for Amratsar and on reaching Amratsar they started living together in a room where the accused worked as labourer and from there both of them left for Gurgaon where the accused did some computer related work.

14. In the said statement, the victim also stated that on coming to know about attachment proceedings both of them left for their residence and when they reached Akbarpur, both of them were apprehended. In her statement under Section 164, Cr.P.C. she also stated that the accused had not taken her away forcibly and that she had gone with him willingly and both of them had lived as husband and wife and that the accused did not commit any forcible act on her. She also stated that she is aged about 20 years, though her age was not recorded in the school correctly and in school her age recorded is less then her actual age. The victim also stated in her deposition under Section 164, Cr.P.C. (Exhibit Ka-2) that she was 20 years of age and that she had gone with the accused on her own willingness and on 21.04.20106 she solemnized marriage with the accused in Ayodhya and that she wanted to live with the accused.

15. However, when the victim was produced before the Court as witness, after 11 years from the date of occurrence, as P.W.2, she for the first time stated that on 21.04.2006 the accused had forcibly got her seated on his motor-cycle and took her to Amratsar where he kept her in a rented room and committed rape forcibly upon her and further that he kept her there for 5-6 months.

16. Learned trial court in the judgment of acquittal has thus found that there is substantial and material contradiction between the statement made by the victim under Section 164, Cr.P.C. and her statement recorded during trial before the court. Learned trial court has also observed that in case there is material contradiction between the statement recorded under Section 164,Cr.P.C. and the statement made before the court during trial and no sufficient believable explanation comes-forth from the victim for such material contradiction, the benefit should go to the accused. The learned trial court after noticing the statement made by the victim under Section 164, Cr.P.C. has stated that though in her examination-in-chief she stated that she did not give such a statement under Section 164, Cr.P.C. however, in her cross-examination she admitted that she had gone to get her statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. alone and that she had put her signatures on the said statement with her willingness. In her cross-examination the victim further stated that the statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. is the same which was stated by her on the asking of the Magistrate. She also stated that after reading the statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. she had put her signatures and when the victim was shown the statement made by her under Section 164, Cr.P.C. she stated that it is the same statement which she had got recorded before the Magistrate.

17. Based on the deposition made by the victim in her cross-examination, the learned trial court has recorded a categorical finding that no satisfactory explanation could be furnished by the victim for the material contradiction in her statement. Learned trial court has also recorded various other contradictions in the statement made by the victim and has concluded that she had made the statement after 11 years from the date of occurrence which is in complete, contrast and contradiction of the statement made by her under Section 164, Cr.P.C.

18. It is well settled by various decisions of this Court as also those of Hon'ble Supreme Court that the statement under Section 164, Cr.P.C. cannot be used as a substantive evidence, rather it can only be used to contradict and corroborate the statement of a witness given in the court. Regard in this respect can be had to a Division Bench Judgment of this court in the case of Ram Lakhan Sheo Charan and others Vs. State of U.P., reported in 1991 Cri.L.J. 2790, para 12 of which is quoted herein below:

"12. The trial was held when the new Code of Criminal Procedure had come into force. The wordings of S.164 in the new and old Code of Criminal Procedure with little changes are the same. As early as in Manik Gazi v. Emperor, AIR 1942 Cal 36 : (1942) 43 Cri LJ 277 a Division Bench of the Calcutta High Court had held that the statements Under Section 164 of the Code can be used only to corroborate or contradict the statements made Under Section 145 and 157 of the Indian Evidence Act. In Brij Bhushan Singh v. Emperor, AIR 1946 PC 38 and in Mamand v. Emperor, AIR 1946 PC 45 : (1946) 47 Cri LJ 344) the Privy Council had observed that the statement Under Section 164 of the Code cannot be used as a substantive evidence and which can only be used to contradict and corroborate the statement of a witness given in the Court. Similar observations, as made in the two cases below, were made by the Privy Council, in Bhuboni Sahu v. Kind, AIR 1949 PC 257 : (1949) 50 Cri LJ 872) and in Bhagi v. Crown, 1950 Cri LJ 1004 : (AIR (37) 1950 HP 35). It was also held by a single Bench of the Himachal Pradesh Judicial Commissioner's court that statement Under Section 164 of Code cannot be used as a substantive piece of evidence. In State v. Hotey Khan, 1960 ALJ 642 : (1960 Cri LJ 1167). A division Bench of this Court had also observed that statements Under Section 164 of the Code cannot be used as a substantive evidence".

19. Similar view has been expressed yet in another Division Bench judgment in the case of Phool Chand and etc. Vs. State of U.P., reported in 2004 Cri.L.J. 1904.

20. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ram Kishan Singh Vs. Harmit Kaur and another, reported in (1972) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280 has held that a statement under Section 164 of the Code can be used to corroborate the statement of a witness and it can also be used to contradict a witness.

21. In Utpal Das and another Vs. State of West Bengal, reported in (2010) 6 Supreme Court Cases 493, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has again held that the statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. can never be used as substantive evidence of truth but it may be used for contradictions and corroboration of a witness. It has further been held that the statement made under Section 164, Cr.P.C. can be used to cross-examine the maker of it and the result may be to show that the evidence of the witness is false. Thus, the legal principle in respect of the provision of Section 164, Cr.P.C. which can be deduced is that the said statement can be used to impeach the credibility of the prosecution witness. The relevant observation made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Utpal Das (supra) is extracted herein below:

"16. Likewise, statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. can never be used as substantive evidence of truth of the facts but may be used for contradictions and corroboration of a witness who made it. The statement made under Section 164 Cr.P.C. can be used to cross examine the maker of it and the result may be to show that the evidence of the witness is false. It can be used to impeach the credibility of the prosecution witness....."

22. Learned trial court has also taken into account the medical report (Exhibit Ka-11), according to which no external and internal injury on the body of the victim was found and has observed that though for arriving at the conclusion regarding rape, it is not necessary that the victim should suffer any injury on her body, however, this circumstance is to be looked into in the context of the facts and circumstances of a particular case.

23. Having examined the judgment passed by the trial court what we find is that learned trial court has considered the evidence on record thoroughly and has rightly given a finding that the victim in this case had attempted to make deliberate improvement on the material point. She has also not been able to give any explanation which can be said to be satisfactory on any count about material contradiction between her statement recorded during trial and the one made by her under Section 164, Cr.P.C. As a matter of fact, though in her examination-in-chief the victim has denied making the statement as recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C., however, in her cross-examination she has admitted to have made the statement that she at the time of occurrence was 20 years of age and that she had gone with the accused on her own volition and further that on 21.04.20106 itself she got married with accused at Ayodhya and that she wanted to live with the accused. In view of the said admission of the victim in cross-examination in respect of her such statement made under Section 164, Cr.P.C. in our considered opinion, the learned trial court has rightly held that the evidence of the victim cannot be held to be reliable.

24. As per section 145 of the Evidence Act, a witness can be cross-examined as to the previous statements made by him in writing or reduced into writing and is relevant to the matter in question, without such writing being shown to him, or being proved. However, if a witness is to be contradicted by the writing, his attention must be drawn to those parts of the statement reduced in writing which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him. Section 145 of the Evidence Act is reproduced herein under :

"145.Cross-examinationas to previous statements in writing: A witness may be cross-examined as to previous statements made by him in writing or reduced into writing, and relevant to matters in question, without such writing being shown to him, or being proved; but, if it is intended to contradict him by the writing, his attention must, before the writing can be proved, be called to those parts of it which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him".

25. Object of section 145 of the Evidence Act is to give the witness a chance of explaining discrepancy or inconsistency. This provision will have application in a situation where the witness disowns having made any statement previously which is inconsistent with his present testimony in court. However, the statement would not be vitiated until while such witness is cross-examined, the procedure prescribed in Section 145 of the Evidence Act is followed, that is to say if the maker of the statement is sought to be contradicted, his attention should be drawn to his previous statement.

26. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rajendra Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar, reported in (2000) 4 Supreme Court Cases 298 has categorically held that if a witness during trial is intended to be contradicted by his previous statement made then his attention has to be drawn to those parts of the statement which are required to be used for the purpose of contradicting him, however, the provision contained in the second limb of Section 145 needs to be complied with, that is to say, the witness has to be confronted with his earlier statement made or reduced in writing.

27. In the instant case, the contradiction in the statement made by the victim before the court during trial vis-a-vis her statement made under Section 164, Cr.P.C. is visible. During cross-examination, she was confronted with the statement made by her under Section 164, Cr.P.C. as in fact her attention was drawn to the said statement which is clear from the following extract of the judgment rendered by the learned trial court :

"परन्तु जिरह में पीड़िता ने यह माना हैं कि मजिस्ट्रेट के सामने बयान देने वह अकेली गयी थी । बयान पर उसने हस्ताक्षर पढ़कर अपनी मर्जी से बनाया था । मजिस्ट्रेट साहब ने जो पूँछा था, उसने बताया था, वही लिखा गया था पढ़कर उसने बयान 164 दं0प्र0सं0 पर हस्ताक्षर बनाया था । गवाह ने 164 दं0प्र0सं0 के बयान को पढ़कर कहा कि यही बयान उसने मजिस्ट्रेट को दिया था । अतः पीड़िता द्वारा अपनी मुख्य परीक्षा में यह कहा गया हैं कि जैसा बयान 164 दं0प्र0सं0 का पत्रावली पर मौजूद हैं, वैसा बयान उसने नही दिया और यह भी कहा हैं कि उसका बयान जबरदस्ती पुलिस वालों व जितेन्द्र के घरवालों ने दिलाया था परन्तु जिरह में यह कहा हैं कि मजिस्ट्रेट ने उससे जो भी पूँछा था, उसने बताया था, वहीं लिखा गया था और उसने पढ़कर अपनी मर्जी से हस्ताक्षर किया था । यह भी कहा हैं कि उसने जो बोला था, वही लिखा गया था । ऐसी स्थिति में पीड़िता द्वारा साक्ष्य में परस्पर विरोधाभाषी कथन किये जा रहें हैं और पीड़िता द्वारा अपने धारा 164 दं0प्र0सं0 के बयान व न्यायालय के समक्ष दिये गये बयान में आये परस्पर विरोधाभाषी कथनो के संबंध में कोई भी संतोषजनक कारण नही दिया जा सका हैं ।"

28. The statement of the victim thus is not worth being given any credence.

29. Regarding age of the victim, the prosecution has relied upon a photocopy of the certificate depicting her age to be 25.07.1990 issued by the Education Board. To prove the said document Principal of the School, Ms. Rama Devi Verma (P.W.6) has been examined who in her cross-examination has stated that at the time of enrollment of the victim in the School, no certificate of date of birth was produced and that whatever date of birth of the student is revealed by their parents at the time of enrollment that is recorded. In this regard statement of father of the victim (P.W.1) may also be looked into who in his deposition before the trial court has stated that he cannot tell the date of birth of his children and that he had not gone with his daughter to School at the time of her enrollment. He has further stated that he cannot tell as to how his daughter was got enrolled in the School.

30. Based on the said statement of P.W.1, learned trial court has given a finding that this witness (P.W.1) does not know that exact date of birth of the victim. Learned trial court has also relied upon the statement of the Principal of the School who in her deposition before the trial court has stated that no certificate regarding date of birth of the victim is available in the School.

31. In view of these evidences, learned trial court has doubted the date of birth recorded in her certificate issued by the education board. Learned trial court has also referred to the medical report based on medication examination of the victim which has been issued by the Chief Medical Officer, according to which, the age of the victim was opined to be 19 years. Learned trial court has also referred to the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. where she had stated that her age was 20 years. Thus, the case of the prosecution that the victim at the time of occurrence was not major, has been rejected by the learned trial court.

32. Reference at this juncture may be had to a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Vishnu @ Undrya Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2006) 1 SCC 283. This case also related to the trial under Section 376/366 I.P.C. In the said case, according to the prosecution the prosecutrix was below 16 years of age at the time of commission of offence on the basis of certain documents, however, some doubt arose in respect of date of birth of the prosecutrix which according to one document was 29.11.1964 and according to other it was 29.06.1963. Thus, two documents contradicting each other in respect of date of birth of the prosecutrix in the said case created a doubt and circumstances of the said case became capable of two opinions, one in favour of accused and the other in favour of the prosecution.

33. In the said case of Vishnu (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court went on to observe that it is a common knowledge that very often parents furnish incorrect date of birth to the School authorities to make up the age in order to secure admission of their children and accordingly Hon'ble Supreme Court did not find any infirmity in the statement of the witness in the said case who stated that prosecutrix was born on 29.11.1964.

34. In any case, even if another view is possible, in absence of any compelling and substantial reason, the appellate court dealing with appeal against acquittal would not interfere with the acquittal unless the approach of the court below is found to be manifestly vitiated while it makes consideration of evidences.

35. In the light of the discussion made above, what we find is that in the instant case the view taken by the learned trial court for acquitting the accused was a possible and plausible view on the basis of analysis of evidence available on record and further, we do not find any perversity in the finding recorded by the learned trial court.

36. Accordingly, the application seeking leave to appeal in this case is hereby rejected.

37. The appeal is also, thus, dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1296

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALAHABAD 06.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SURYA PRAKASH KESARWANI, J.

Rent Control No. 12289 of 2019

Pradeep Kumar @ Pradeep & Anr.
...Petitioners
Versus
Smt. Meena Devi Sahu & Anr.
...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Vijayendra Pratap Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Pankaj Saksena

A. U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 - Section 21(1) A- Interpretation of word "entertained"- the waiver of period of six months' notice and comparative hardship - concurrent findings of fact - No perversity-no interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India

Held:- The word "entertained" would necessarily mean entertain the grounds for consideration for the purpose of adjudication of merits and not at any stage prior thereto The phrase "entertained" used in the 1st proviso to Section 21(1)A of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 would mean that the period of three years since the date of purchase by the landlord must have expired when the Prescribed Authority is required to entertain the release application on the grounds mentioned in Clause A of Section 21(1) of U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 -requirement of six months' notice under the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, is mandatory but it can be waived by the tenant- No perversity could be pointed out - concurrent findings of fact has been recorded by the courts below with regard to the bonafide need to be in favour of the plaintiff-landlady - cannot be interfered with in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The defendant-tenant/petitioner neither raised any objection nor filed an application under Order VII Rule 11(d) of the Civil Procedure Code for dismissal of the release application on the ground that it is premature or barred by the proviso to Section 21A.of the Act which establishes that the defendant-tenant/petitioner has waived the protection of six months' notice as provided in the proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act. (Para 19 & 20)

Writ petition dismissed (E-7)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Martin & Harris Ltd. Vs VIth Addl. Distt. Judge & ors. (1998) 1 SCC 732

2. (All), Rajendra Kumar Agarwal Vs Krishna Gopal (2013) 4 AWC 3584

3. Vithalbhai Pvt. Ltd. Vs Union Bank of India AIR 2005 SC 1891

4. M/s Pushpa Sahakari Avas Samiti Ltd. Vs M/s. Gmiti Ltd. Vs M/s. Gangotri Sahkari Avas S. Ltd. & ors. 2012 JT (3) SC 563

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

Interpretation of word "entertained" used in Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, and the waiver of period of six months notice and comparative hardship are the questions involved in the present petition.

1. Heard Sri V.P. Singh, learned counsel for the defendant-tenant/petitioners and Sri Pankaj Saksena, learned counsel for the plaintiff-landlady/respondent.

2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that one Umashanker Bohare was original owner and landlord of House No.291 (new No.628, current No.186), Azadganj, Sipri Bazar, Jhansi. Ancestor of the defendant-tenant/petitioners was the tenant and the tenancy was succeeded by the petitioners. The aforesaid Umashanker Bohare sold the disputed house to the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 by a registered sale deed dated 21.01.2010. According to the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1, the intimation of purchase of the aforesaid house was given by her to the defendant-tenant/petitioners on 21.01.2010 itself. However, rent was not paid by the defendant-tenant/petitioners. Therefore, the plaintiff-landlady issued a notice dated 03.08.2010 to the defendant-tenant/petitioners terminating the tenancy and demanded arrears of rent. Neither the house was vacated nor the rent was paid by the defendant-tenant/petitioners. Therefore, the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 filed the release application on 28.08.2010, under Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, on the ground of her bonafide need and default in payment of rent.

3. The defendant-tenant/petitioners filed a written statement on 29.11.2010 in which he specifically denied the ownership of plaintiff-landlady stating that the house was owned by one Shanker Lal and after his death it was inherited by his son Hira Singh and thereafter it was inherited by Tara Devi, wife of Hira Singh. The plaintiff-landlady has specifically denied it and stated on the basis of evidences on record that a Suit No.31 of 1965 in respect of the disputed house was filed and the aforesaid Hira Singh lost it. Thereafter, he filed First Appeal No.330 of 1977 which was dismissed by the High Court by judgment dated 16.10.1979. He filed the Second Appeal No.670 of 1980 before the Hon'ble Supreme Court which was dismissed by Hon'ble Supreme Court by judgment dated 27.04.1994. Thereafter, his wife Tara Devi filed Suit Nos.386 of 1999 and 44 of 2000, in the Court of Civil Judge (S.D.) which were jointly heard and dismissed by judgment dated 30.04.2011. Copies of all these judgments were filed alongwith an affidavit. Thus, relevant judgments were brought on record that Umashanker Bohare was the owner and landlord of the disputed house who sold it to the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1.

4. In paragraph 21 of the written statement the defendant-tenant/petitioners have raised an objection that the release application has been filed without exhausting three years period from the date of purchase of house and, therefore, the release application is barred by the proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972.

5. The release application being P.A. Case No.121 of 2010 (Smt. Meena Devi Sahu Vs. Pradeep Kumar and Another) was dismissed by judgment dated 16.4.2016, passed by the Prescribed Authority/Judge Small Cause Court, Jhansi, on the ground that the release application was filed before expiry of three years period from the date of purchase of house, and therefore, it was barred by the proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. However, the Prescribed Authority held that there is landlord - tenant relationship between the plaintiff-landlady/respondent No.1 and the defendant-tenant/petitioner. Aggrieved with this judgment, the plaintiff-landlady/respondent No.1 filed a Rent Control Appeal No.7 of 2016 and the defendant-tenant/petitioner filed a Rent Control Appeal No.8 of 2016. By the impugned judgment dated 15.03.2019 Rent Control Appeal No.7 of 2016, filed by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 was allowed and the P.A. Case was decreed. By judgment of even date i.e. 15.03.2019 the appellate court dismissed the Rent Control Appeal No.8 of 2015, filed by the defendant-tenant/petitioner. Aggrieved with these judgments the defendant-tenant/petitioner has filed the present petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

Submissions:-

6. Learned counsel for the defendant-tenant/petitioner submits that the release application was filed by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 before expiry of three years period from the date of purchase of the disputed house. Therefore, the release application was barred by the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. The defendant-tenant/petitioner has no house in the city of Jhansi, therefore, the comparative hardship was in his favour. He further submits that the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 has one house in the city of Jhansi and, therefore, comparative hardship can not be said to be in her favour. The release application was filed before expiry of six months from the date of notice dated 03.08.2010, therefore, it was not entertainable.

7. Sri Pankaj Saksena, learned counsel for the plaintiff-landlady/respondent supports the impugned judgment passed by the appellate court.

Discussion & Findings:-

8. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties.

9. From the submissions made by learned counsels for the parties, following three questions arise for consideration in the present petition:-

QUESTIONS

10. (a) Whether under the facts and circumstances of the case the release application filed by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 before expiry of three years from the date of purchase of the house was barred by the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972?

(b) Whether under the facts and circumstance of the case, the defendant-tenant/petitioner has waived the condition of six months notice required under the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972?

(c) Whether under the facts and circumstance of the case the comparative hardship of the disputed house has been rightly held to be in favour of the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1?

11. Question No. (a) Whether under the facts and circumstances of the case the release application filed by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 before expiry of three years from the date of purchase of the house was barred by the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972?

Admittedly the disputed house was purchased by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 by a registered sale deed dated 21.01.2010. According to the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1, the notice regarding purchase of house was given to the defendant-tenant/petitioner on 21.01.2010. A notice dated 03.08.2010 was issued by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1, terminating the tenancy and demanding arrears of rent. Despite purchase of the house by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1, the rent was not paid by the defendant-tenant/petitioner to the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 although it was demanded and the fact of purchase was brought to his notice. The release application under Section 21(1)(a) on the ground of bonafide need and default in payment of rent by the defendant-tenant/petitioner, was filed by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 on 28.08.2010. It was registered as P.A. Case No.121 of 2010 and was decided by the Prescribed Authority/Judge Small Cause Court, Jhansi by judgmnt dated 16.4.2016.

12. The phrase that "no application shall be entertained on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a), unless a period of three years has elapsed since the date of such purchase" has been interpreted by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Martin & Harris Ltd. Vs. VIth Additional Distt. Judge & Ors. (1998)1 SCC 732, and it has been held as under:

*"7. In view of the aforesaid rival contentions the following points arise for our consideration;

1. Whether the respondent-landlord's application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act was not maintainable in view of the proviso to the said Section as it was filed before the expiry of three years from the date of purchase of the suit premises by the respondent.

2. Whether the said application was not maintainable on the additional ground that it was filed prior to the expiry of six months from the date on which notice was given by the respondent to the appellant as required by the very same proviso.

3. Whether the bona fide requirement of the respondent landlord did not survive in view of the subsequent event, namely, that respondent's wife had acquired an undivided interest in the adjoining part of the building in which the suit premises were situated and wherein the respondent-landlord was staying with his wife.

8. .....A mere look at the aforesaid provision of the first proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act shows that no application filed by a landlord is to be entertained by the prescribed authority on grounds mentioned in clause (a) unless a period of three years has expired since the date of purchase of the property by the landlord when the building which is purchased is having a sitting tenant. It is not in dispute between the parties that the appellant was a sitting tenant since 1966 in the said building when it was purchased by respondent Landlord on 30th June 1985, It is, of course, true that respondent landlord moved an application for possession, against the appellant both under Section 21(1) (a) of the Act and also under Section 21(1-a) of the Act. However, so far as the ground under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act is concerned the application was filed before the expiry of three years from the date of such purchase. It was in fact filed within seven months from the date of purchase of the premises. The moot question is whether the very filing of such application was barred by the provisions of the said proviso. It must be kept in view that the proviso nowhere lays down that no application on the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) could be 'instituted' within a period of three years from the date of purchase. On the contrary, the proviso lays down that such application on the said grounds cannot be 'entertained' by the authority before the expiry of the period. Consequently it is not possible to agree with the extreme contention canvassed by the learned senior counsel for the appellant that such an application could not have been filed at all within the said period of three years. .....

The statutory scheme of Section 21(1) contra-indicates such a contention, sub-Section (1) of Section 21 lays down that 'the prescribed authority may, on an application of the landlord in that behalf, order the eviction of a tenant from the building under tenancy or any specified part thereof if it is satisfied that any of the following grounds exists.....' Section 21(1) deals with grounds mentioned not only in clause (a) but also in clause (b) The proviso to Section 21(1) bars entertainment of the application only on the grounds mentioned in clause (a) thereof, It is easy to visualise that an application for possession may be filed by the landlord not only invoking grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) but even other grounds mentioned in that sub-section. Therefore, the stage at which the court has to consider whether grounds mentioned in clause (a) are made out be the plaintiff or not will be reached when the Court takes up the application for consideration on merits. It has to be kept in view that applications for possession filed under Section 21(1) of the Act are not placed for admission before the prescribed authority. Once they are filed they are to be processed for being decided on merits after issuing notices to the parties concerned. Therefore, when the application reaches final hearing on merits the authority has to sift the grounds on which the application is based and if it finds that the application is based, amongst others, on the grounds mentioned in clause (a)) it has to ascertain whether three years' period has expired since the day of the purchase of the said property by the plaintiff- landlord and if the period of three years is found to have expired then the grounds mentioned in clause (a) would become alive for consideration of the authority. If not, said grounds would not be entertained for consideration. Thus the word 'entertain' mentioned in the first proviso to Section 21 (1) in connection with grounds mentioned in clause (a) would necessarily mean entertaining the ground for consideration for the purpose of adjudication on merits and not at any stage prior thereto as tried to be submitted by learned senior counsel, Shri Rao, for the appellant. Neither at the stage at which the application is filed in the office of the authority nor at the stage when summons is issued to the tenant the question of entertaining such application by the prescribed authority would arise for consideration.

9. Even that apart there is an internal indication in the first proviso to Section 21(1) that the legislature has made a clear distinction between 'entertaining of an application for possession under Section 21(1) (a) of the Act and 'filing' of such application. so far as the filling of such application is concerned it is clearly indicated by the Legislature that such application cannot be filled before expiry of six months form the date on which notice is given by the landlord to the tenant seeking eviction under Section 21(1) (a) of the Act. The words, 'the landlord has given a notice in that behalf to the tenant not less than six months before such application', would naturally mean that before filing of such application or moving of such application before the prescribed authority notice must have preceded by at least six months. similar terminology is not employed by the Legislature in the very same proviso so far as three years' period for entertaining such application by the prescribed authority is concerned. Therefore, it must necessarily mean that when the prescribed authority is required to entertain an application on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) of Section 21(1) a stage must be reached when the Court applies its judicial mind and takes up the case for decision on merits concerning the grounds for possession mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act. Consequently on the very scheme of this Act it cannot be said that the word 'entertain' as employed by the Legislature in the firs proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act would mean 'Institution' of such proceedings before the prescribed or would at least mean taking cognizance of such an application by the prescribed authority by issuing summons for appearance to the tenant-defendant. It must be half that on the contrary the term 'entertain' would only show that by the time the application for possession on the grounds mentioned in clause (a)) of Section 21(1) is taken up by the prescribed authority for consideration on merits, at least minimum three years' period should have elapsed since the date of purchase of the premises by the landlord.

10. In the present case, therefore, it must be held that when the Legislature has provided that no application under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act shall be entertained by the prescribed authority on grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act before expiry of three years from date of purchase of property by the landlord it must necessarily mean consideration by the prescribed authority of the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act of merits. On the facts of the present case, as we have seen earlier, that stage was reached after 1988 when the prescribed authority on the basis of the affidavit evidence led before it took up the plaintiff's case for consideration on merits of the grounds under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act and at that stage more than three years had expired. From the date on which the respondent-landlord had purchased the property.

13. Similar view has been taken by this Court in Rajendra Kumar Agarwal Vs. Krishna Gopal 2013(4) AWC 3584 (All) (Paras 2,3 & 4). In Vithalbhai Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Union Bank of India, AIR 2005 SC 1891 Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the law that if a suit is filed premature (in that case before the expiry of period of notice suit had been filed), however, it becomes mature during its pendency then the same will have to be decided on merit. The aforesaid judgment has been followed in M/s Pushpa Sahakari Avas Samiti Ltd. Vs. M/s. Gangotri Sahkari Avas S. Ltd. and others 2012 JT (3) SC 563 and in the matter of execution case it was held that if execution application had been filed before time but during pendency the execution application became mature then it has to be decided on merit.

14. From the bare reading of 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 and principles of law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Martin & Harris Ltd.(supra) and Vithalbhai Pvt. Ltd.(supra), it can be safely concluded that the phrase "entertain" used in the 1st proviso to Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 would mean that the period of three years since the date of purchase by the landlord must have expired when the Prescribed Authority is required to entertain the release application on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) of Section 21(1) of U.P. Act 13 of 1972. This would be a stage reached when the Court applies its judicial mind and takes up the case for decision on merits concerning the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act. The word "entertained" mentioned in the first proviso to Section 21(1) in connection with the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) would necessarily mean entertain the grounds for consideration for the purpose of adjudication of merits and not at any stage prior thereto i.e. neither at the stage at which the application is filed in the office of the Prescribed Authority nor at the stage when summons is issued to the tenant. The crux of the conclusion is that by the time the application for possession on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) of Section 21(1) is taken up by the Prescribed Authority for consideration on merits, at least minimum three years' period should have elapsed since the date of purchase of the premises by the landlord/landlady. In the present set of facts, the disputed house was purchased by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 on 21.01.2010 and the case has been taken up for consideration on merit and was decided by the Prescribed Authority on 16.04.2016. Therefore, the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act stood complied with. Question No.(a) is answered accordingly.

15. Question No.(b) Whether under the facts and circumstance of the case the defendant-tenant/petitioner has waived the condition of six months notice required under the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 ?

Bare perusal of the written statement filed by the defendant-tenant/petitioner shows that the question of six months notice was not raised. The objection as to the filing of the release application before expiry of six months period from the date of notice, was not raised by the defendant-tenant/petitioner before the Prescribed Authority. He has also not filed any application under Order VII Rule 11 (d) of the Civil Procedure Code for rejection of the application on the ground that it is premature and barred by the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, on the ground that the application was filed before expiry of six months period of notice. Thus, the mandatory requirement of six months notice was waived by the defendant-tenant/petitioner.

16. A similar question was considered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Martin & Harris Ltd.(supra) and it has been held as under:-

"11. so far as this point is concerned it must be held on the clear language of the first proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act that application for possession under Section 21(1) (a) had to be filed by the landlord concerned not earlier than expiry of six months from, the date of issuance of the notice by the landlord. On the facts of the present case it cannot be disputed that when the notice was issued on 20th September 1985 the application for possession could not have been filed by the respondent invoking the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act, at leas till 20th March 1986, while the application was filed in January 1986. To that extent it can be said that the application was premature. The provision in this connection has to be treated to be mandatory.

12. However the further question survives for consideration, namely, whether the beneficial provision enacted by the Legislature in this Connection for the protection of the tenant could be and in fact was waived by the tenant. So far as this question is concerned on the facts of the present case the answer must be in the affirmative. As we have noted earlier after the suit was filed the appellant filed its written statement on 17th September 1986. In the said written statement the appellant, amongst others, did take up the contention that the application as filed by the respondent-landlord under Section 21(1) (a) was not maintainable and was premature as six months ' period had not expired since the service of notice dated 20th September 1985 when the suit was filed. But curiously enough thereafter the said contention raised by the appellant in written statement was given a go by for reasons best known to the appellant. It is easy to visualise that if at that stage the appellant had pressed for rejection of the application on the ground of Section 21(1) (a) as not showing completed clause of action due to non-expiry of six months from the date of Service of notice invoking Order VII Rule 11(a) and (d), CPC, alleging that the plaint did not disclose a cause of action or it appeared to be barred by law, respondent-plaintiff could have withdrawn the suit on the that ground under Order XXIII Rule, 1 Sub-rule (3), CPC as the suit based on grounds under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act would have been shows to have suffered from a formal defect and he would have been entitled to claim liberty to file a fresh suit on the same cause of action after the expiry of six months' period from the date of service of notice. That opportunity was lost to the respondent-landlord as the appellant did not pursue this contention any further. On the contrary appellant joined issues on merits by seeking permission to cross-examine the plaintiff on merits of the case on grounds as pleaded under Section 21(1) (a) of the Act. When the decree was passed against the appellant, even while challenging the said decree in appeal no such ground was taken in the Memo of Appeal, nor was it argued before the First Appellate Court. Under these circumstances, the High Court rightly held that the contention, regarding the suit being premature as filed before expiry of six months from the date of the notice, must be treated to have been waived by the appellant.

.....

The decision of the Privy Council referred to with approval by this Court in the aforesaid decision clearly indicates that if a proceeding before a Court is barred by a law, a plea to that effect being a pure question of law can be agitated any time. But if the prohibition imposed by the Statute is with a view to a fording projection to a party, such protection can be waived by the party. He may avail of it or he may not avail of it as he may choose. It is not the case of the appellant that the application for possession as filed by the respondent-plaintiff was barred by any provision of law. All that was contended was that it was prematurely filed as six months period had not expired from the date of issuance of the suit notice. That provision obviously was enacted for the benefit and protection of the tenant. It is for the tenant to insist on it or to waive it. On the facts of the present case there is no escape from the conclusion that the said benefit of protection, for reasons best known to the appellant, was waived by it though it was alive to the said contention as it was mentioned at the outset in the written, statement filed before the prescribed authority. Thereafter it was not pressed for consideration.

Result was that the respondent landlord by the said conduct of the appellant irretrievably changed his position and would set prejudiced if such a contention is entertained at such a late stage as was tried to be done before the high Court after both the courts had concurrently held on facts that the respondent-plaintiff had proved his case on merits.

13. It is not possible to agree with the contention of the learned senior counsel for the appellant that the provision containing the proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act was for public benefit and could not be waived. It is, of course, true that it is enacted to cover a class tenants who are sitting tenants and whose premises are subsequently purchased by landlords who seek to evict the sitting tenants on the ground of bona fide requirement as envisaged by Section 21(1) (a) of the Act, still the protection available to such tenants as found in the proviso would give the tenants as found in the proviso would give the tenants concerned a locus penintentiae to avail of it or not. It is easy to visualise that proceedings under Section 21(1) (a) of the Act would be between the landlord on the one hand and the tenant on the other. These proceedings are not of any public nature. Nor any public interest is involved therein. Only personal interest of landlord on the one hand and the tenant on the other hand get clashed an called for adjudication by the prescribed authority. The ground raised by the Landlord under Section 21(1) (a) would be personal to him and similarly the defence taken by the tenant would also be personal to him. Six months' breathing time is given to the tenant after service of notice to enable him to put his house in order and to get the matter settled amicably or to get alternative accommodation if the tenant realises that the landlord has a good case. This type of protection to the tenant would naturally be personal to him and could be waived.

.....

Consequently it must be held that the provision for six months' notice before initiation of proceedings under Section 21(1) of the Act, though is mandatory and confers protection to the tenant concerned, it can be waived by him.

14. Apart from waiver the appellant was stopped from taking up such a contention as the respondent, on account of the aforesaid contention of the appellant, had irretrievably changed his position to his detriment and lost an opportunity of seeking leave of the Court to withdraw the suit with liberty to file a fresh suit, as seen earlier. The second point for consideration is, therefore, answered in the negative, in favour of the respondent-landlord and against the appellant."

17. From the discussion made above and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court as aforequoted, it can be safely concluded that requirement of six months notice under the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, is mandatory but it can be waived by the tenant. These proceedings under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act are neither of public nature nor it involves any public interest. It would be between landlord and tenant. Only personal interest of landlord on the one hand and the tenant on the other hand get clashed and called for adjudication by the Prescribed Authority. Six months' breathing time is given to the tenant after service of notice to enable him to put his house in order and to get the matter settled amicably or to get alternative accommodation if the tenant realises that the landlord has a good case. This type of protection to the tenant would naturally be personal to him and could be waived. In the present set of facts the defendant-tenant/petitioner neither raised any objection nor filed an application under Order VII Rule 11(d) of the Civil Procedure Code for dismissal of the release application on the ground that it is premature or barred by the proviso to Section 21(a) of the Act. This clearly established that the defendant-tenant/petitioner has waived the protection of six months' notice as provided in the proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act. Therefore, the submission of learned counsel for the defendant-tenant/petitioner deserves rejection and is hereby rejected. If an objection would have been raised before the Prescribed Authority in the very beginning then the plaintiff-landlady/respondent would have an opportunity to take leave of the Court to withdraw the release application and to file a fresh release application after expiry of six months period.

18. Question No.(c) Whether under the facts and circumstance of the case the comparative hardship of the disputed house has been rightly held to be in favour of the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1?

The last submission of learned counsel for the defendant-tenant/petitioner also deserves rejection. Undisputedly, the defendant-tenant/petitioner has acquired the house in the city of Jhansi. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and evidences on record, both the courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact with regard to the bonafide need of the plaintiff-landlady/respondent and comparative hardship to be in her favour. No perversity could be pointed out in these findings of fact. Therefore, these findings can not be interfered with in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. That apart, it would be relevant to mention that denial of title of the landlord by the tenant is in itself a valid ground of eviction of the tenant.

19. Considering the entire facts and circumstance and the evidences on record, concurrent findings of fact has been recorded by the courts below with regard to the bonafide need to be in favour of the plaintiff-landlady. No perversity could be pointed out in the aforesaid finding of fact, therefore, these findings of fact can not be interfered with in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Conclusions

20. The legal position and conclusions stated above are briefly summarized as under:-

(i) The phrase "entertained" used in the 1st proviso to Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 would mean that the period of three years since the date of purchase by the landlord must have expired when the Prescribed Authority is required to entertain the release application on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) of Section 21(1) of U.P. Act 13 of 1972. This would be a stage reached when the Court applies its judicial mind and takes up the case for decision on merits concerning the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act. The word "entertained" would necessarily mean entertain the grounds for consideration for the purpose of adjudication of merits and not at any stage prior thereto i.e. neither at the stage at which the application is filed in the office of the Prescribed Authority nor at the stage when summons is issued to the tenant. The crux of the conclusion is that by the time the application for possession on the grounds mentioned in Clause (a) of Section 21(1) is taken up by the Prescribed Authority for consideration on merits, at least minimum three years' period should have elapsed since the date of purchase of the premises by the landlord/landlady. In the present set of facts, the disputed house was purchased by the plaintiff-landlady/respondent no.1 on 21.01.2010 and the case has been taken up for consideration on merit and was decided by the Prescribed Authority on 16.04.2016. Therefore, the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act stood complied with. Question No.(a) is answered accordingly.

(ii) requirement of six months notice under the 1st proviso to Section 21(1) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, is mandatory but it can be waived by the tenant. These proceedings under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act are neither of public nature nor it involves any public interest. It would be between landlord and tenant. Only personal interest of landlord on the one hand and the tenant on the other hand get clashed and called for adjudication by the Prescribed Authority. Six months' breathing time is given to the tenant after service of notice to enable him to put his house in order and to get the matter settled amicably or to get alternative accommodation if the tenant realises that the landlord has a good case. This type of protection to the tenant would naturally be personal to him and could be waived.

(iii) In the present set of facts the defendant-tenant/petitioner neither raised any objection nor filed an application under Order VII Rule 11(d) of the Civil Procedure Code for dismissal of the release application on the ground that it is premature or barred by the proviso to Section 21(a) of the Act. This clearly established that the defendant-tenant/petitioner has waived the protection of six months' notice as provided in the proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act.

21. For all the reasons aforestated, the writ petition is dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1307

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

DATED: LUCKNOW 15.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.

FAFO No. 298 of 2006

The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. ...Appellant

Versus

Smt. Maya Devi & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Jitendra Narain Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri R.A. Kanojia, Sri Amit Kumar Singh Bhadoria, Sri Anshuman Patnaik, Sri R.A. Kanaujia, Sri Raj Kumar Verma, Sri Rajendra Jaiswal, Sri Shivendra Pratap Singh, Sri Subodh Awasthi

Motor Vehicles Act 1988 - Section 15 (1) - Driver not having valid licence on the date of accident - Insurer cannot be fastened with the liability of paying compensation.

Tribunal held that since prior to accident and after the accident the driver had valid and effective driving licence therefore it would be treated that he was having the valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident also Held:- Driver of the tractor not having a valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident so there was a breach of terms and conditions of policy, therefore, the Insurance Company cannot be fastened with the liability of paying compensation on behalf of owner of the vehicle - Compensation has to be paid by the owner of tractor – Insurance Company to make the payment of the compensation to the claimants with liberty to recover the same from the owner of the vehicle. (Para 24 & 30)

First Appeal From Order Partly Allowed (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1.Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs Shri Nanjappan & ors. (2004) 13 SCC 224 (relied upon)

2. M.P. Electricity Board Vs Shail Kumari & ors. (2002) 2 SCC 162

3. Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs Nathuni Prasad & anr. (2004) 1 T.A.C. (All.)

4. Ram Babu Tiwari Vs United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & ors. (2008) 3 T.A.C. 769 (S.C.)

5. Ishwar Chandra & anr. Vs Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. & ors. (2007) 2 T.A.C. 393 (S.C.)

6. National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs Vidhyadhar Mahariwala & ors. (2008) 12 SCC 701

7. New India Assurance Company Ltd. Vs Yadu Sambhaji More (2011) 2 SCC 416 (2011) 99 AIC 135

8. Rita Devi Vs New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (2000) 5 SCC 113

9. U.P.St. Road Transport Corporation & anr. Vs Rajendra Kumar Gupta 7 ors.2012 SCC Online All 994

10. Singh Ram Vs Nirmala & ors. (2018) 3 SCC 800

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard, Shri Jitendra Narain Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Shivendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no.7. None appeared for other respondents.

2. The instant appeal has been preferred against the judgment and award dated 11.11.2005, passed in M.A.C.No.208 of 2000;Smt. Maya Devi and others Versus The Harak Chand Flour Mills and others by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur by which the claim petition has been allowed and an amount of Rs.2,95,000/- alongwith interest @ 6% per annum has been directed to be paid by the appellant-New Indian Assurance Company Limited.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the deceased Sobaran Lal was working on the post of Munim in M/s. Harak Chand Flour Mills i.e. opposite party no.5. On 28.05.2000 at about 2.15 in the day he was going on tractor No.USH-3956 on bye-pass road in Police Station Ramkoat, district Sitapur for the work of the Mill. The Trolly No.USX-4189 attached with the tractor touched the hanging electric wire. Consequently the electric current came down in the tractor and in the accident the deceased Sobaran Lal died on the spot. Therefore the claim petition was filed claiming compensation.

4. The respondent no.1 i.e. the opposite party no.5 herein (M/s.Harak Chand Flour Mills) filed its written statement denying that the deceased was working as Munim in the Mill and stated that he was working as labour and getting Rs.2000/- per month as salary. The respondent no.1 also denied that it has any relation with the tractor No.USH-3956. It was also stated that Tribhuwan Lal Driver, loading the waste of the mill on tractor trolly, was going from the back gate to dispose it off. When the trolly was going out from the back gate the live wire of 11000 k.w. which was hanging for the last many days, touched the trolly and at that time Sobaran Lal was sitting at the tractor trolly as labour. On account of electric current he jumped but slipped on the floor and died on the spot. It has denied the negligence of the tractor driver and stated that the tractor and trolly were ensured with the New India Assurance Company Limited and it is not liable for payment of any compensation. Tribhuwan Lal, tractor driver had not filed any written statement.

5. The appellant-New India Assurance Company Ltd. denied the accident and stated that there was no fault of the tractor driver in the accident in question and therefore it is not liable to pay any compensation.

6. The Uttar Pradesh Power Corporation had filed written statement denying the accident and stated that under the Motor Accident Claim Petition no compensation can be awarded against it. It was also stated that since the accident had not occurred from its vehicle so no cause of action has accrued against it under the Motor Vehicles Act. It was also stated that the electric wires were not loose at the spot of accident and there was no negligence of the electricity department, therefore, it is not liable to pay any compensation.

7. Considering the pleadings of the parties four issues were framed. Smt. Maya Devi, wife of the deceased as P.W.1 and Dhani Ram as P.W.2 were got examined on behalf of opposite party nos.1 to 4/claimants. A certified copy of the General Diary, copy of the post mortem report of deceased Sobaran Lal and 7 photographs of the spot of accident were filed by the respondents/claimants. The opposite parties got examined the tractor driver Tribhuwal Lal as O.P.W.1. They had filed copy of the cover note of Insurance Policy, driving licence of the driver Tribhuwan Lal, photocopy of certificate of tax of tractor and photocopy of cover note of the Insurance Policy of the tractor trolly, report of Inspector and certificate of licensing authority.

8. After hearing the parties and considering the material available on record learned Tribunal allowed the claim petition and awarded the amount as aforesaid and directed to the appellant Insurance Company to pay the compensation. Hence the present appeal has been filed.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant had submitted that the accident in question had occurred due to negligence of the U.P. Power Corporation as the live electric wires were hanging on the road, therefore the appellant-Insurance Company is not liable to pay the compensation awarded by the Tribunal. To buttress his arguments he submitted that the P.W.2, the eye witness, has stated in his evidence that the accident had occurred as the hanging electric wires had touched the tractor trolly. In the cross examination he has stated that if the trolly would have been of normal height the live wires would not have touched the trolly. The O.P.W.1 Tribhuwan Lal has also stated in his evidence that the wires were hanging so the trolly touched it. In his cross examination he has stated that the electric wires were hanging and if he would have driven the tractor keeping it left or right side, the accident could have been saved, but there was no other way as there were ditches on the road. The learned Tribunal has recorded a finding in regard to issue no.1 that if the tractor driver would have driven the tractor cautiously after seeing the electric wires the accident could have been saved. Therefore, the accident in question had occurred due to hanging of the live electric wires which was on account of negligence of the electricity department and therefore the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. is liable to pay the compensation. In this regard learned counsel for the appellant has relied on the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of M.P.

Electricity Board Versus Shail Kumari and others;(2002) 2 SCC 162.

10. He further submitted that as per the certificate issued by the licensing authority Sitapur i.e. Paper No.60-Ga tractor driver Tribhuwan Lal was having the driving licence for driving the tractor w.e.f. 22.12.1990 to 21.12.1995 and from 09.06.2000 to 08.06.2003. The accident in question had occurred on 28.05.2000, therefore, on the date of accident he was not having valid and effective driving licence, but the learned Tribunal on the basis of the judgment of this court in the case of Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Versus Nathuni Prasad and another;2004(1) T.A.C. (All.) dealing with the issue no.3 held that since prior to accident and after the accident the driver had valid and effective driving licence therefore it would be treated that he was having the valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident also. The learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the finding recorded by the learned Tribunal is erroneous and perverse because the said judgment is not applicable on the facts and circumstances of the present case because there is a big difference of about 5 years between the validity of both the licences. Therefore, the said judgment could not have been applied in the present case. There was violation of terms and conditions of the Insurance Policy and it cannot be deemed that he was having valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident only because he had obtained the driving licence w.e.f. 09.06.2000 immediately after the accident. In this regard learned counsel for the appellant has relied on Ram Babu Tiwari Versus United India Insurance Co.Ltd. and others;2008(3) T.A.C. 769 (S.C.), Ishwar Chandra and others Versus Oriental Insurance Co.Ltd. and others;2007(2) T.A.C. 393 (S.C.) and National Insurance Company Limited Versus Vidhyadhar Mahariwala and others;(2008) 12 SCC 701.

11. Lastly, learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the deceased Sobaran Lal was sitting on the tractor as a gratuitous passenger which is apparent from the evidence of P.W.2. He has stated in his cross examination that at the time of accident the deceased was sitting on the left side of the driver. O.P.W.1; driver of the tractor Tribhuwan Lal has also stated in his cross examination that Sobaran Lal had himself sat on the tractor. He was not asked by him or owner of the Factory. But it has not been considered by the learned Tribunal while dealing with the issue no.2. However, he fairly admitted that this plea was not taken before the Tribunal but submitted that under Section 168 of the Motor Vehicles Act 1988 (here-in-after referred as the Act of 1988) on receipt of an application for compensation made under Section 167 the Claims Tribunal is required to hold an inquiry into the claim. The Claims Tribunal has all the powers of the Civil Court under Section 169 of the Act, therefore, if the inquiry would have been held by the learned Tribunal in accordance with law it would have come out because there was evidence to this effect.

12. On the basis of above learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the impugned judgment and award passed by the learned Tribunal is not sustainable in the eyes of law and is liable to be set aside and the appeal is liable to be allowed.

13. Learned counsel for the respondent no.7 submitted that the claim petition was filed under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal and no liability can be fastened on the opposite party no.7 i.e. the U.P.Power Corporation Limited under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. The learned Tribunal has rightly allowed the claim petition against the appellant-Insurance Company in accordance with law. There is no illegality or error in the judgment and award passed by the learned Tribunal. Therefore the appeal is liable to be dismissed against the opposite party no.7.

14. I have considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record of FAFO as well as the trial court.

15. The deceased Sobaran Lal was going with the work of the Mill on 28.05.2000 at about 2.15 in the day from tractor No.USH-3956 when the wires of the electricity touched the trolly No.USX-4189 attached with the tractor. Consequently electric current came down into the tractor and the deceased died on the spot. P.W.2, an eye witness has stated in his evidence that the driver Tribuwan Lal was driving the tractor rashly and negligently and if he would have been driving slowly and the wires tight, the accident could have been saved. In his cross examination he has stated that angles of 4-5 fit height were installed in the trolly above normal height and if trolly would have been of the normal height the electric wires would not have touched it and the accident would not have occurred. The O.P.W.1; Tribhuwan Lal has stated in his cross examination that he had not seen the electric wires prior to accident. He has further stated in his cross examination that if he would have driven the tractor left or right the accident would have saved but there was no other way because there were ditches on the road.

16. After considering the evidence and material on record learned Tribunal has recorded a categorical finding in regard to issue no.1 that there is no fault of the electricity department and if the tractor driver would have driven the tractor carefully and after seeing the electric wires the accident would not have occurred. Therefore the accident in question is the outcome of the negligence of the tractor driver in which the deceased Sobaran Lal had died. Admittedly 4-5 fit heigh angles were fitted with the trolly, therefore the trolly was 4-5 fit higher than the height of the trolly of normal height. A perusal of the photographs filed by the respondents-claimants also indicates that the angles of 4-5 fit height were fitted over normal height of the trolly. In such a situation the tractor driver was to be more careful while driving the tractor. As per his statement he had not seen the wires prior to the accident, on the other hand he stated that if he would have driven the tractor from left or right, the accident could have been saved, so he must have seen the wires before accident but he has given contradictory statements to save him. This court is in agreement with the findings recorded by the learned Tribunal in regard to issue no.1 on the basis of material and the evidence on record. The learned Tribunal has rightly held that there was no fault of the electricity department in the accident therefore the judgment relied by the learned counsel for the appellant in this regard is of no assistance to his case.

17. The petition for compensation was filed under Section 163-A read with Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. Section 163-A provides that the owner of the motor vehicle or the authorized insurer shall be liable to pay in the case of death or permanent disablement due to accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle, compensation, as indicated in the second schedule, to the legal heirs or the victim, as the case may be. Section 166 of the Act provides that an application for compensation arising out of an accident of the nature specified in sub-section (1) of Section 165 may be made by the persons mentioned under sub clause (a) to (d). Section 165 provides that the State Government may constitute the Motor Accident Claims Tribunals for the purpose of adjudicating upon the claims for compensation in respect of accidents involving the death of, or bodily injury to, persons arising out of the use of the motor vehicles, or damages to any property of a third party so arising, or both. Therefore the claims under the Motor Vehicles Act can be filed before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal claiming compensation in regard to death due to accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle. Therefore when the Tribunal comes to the conclusion that the accident had occurred arising out of the use of motor vehicle, the respondents-claimants are entitled for the compensation under the Act.

18. The Hon'ble Apex Court interpreted the words "accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle" in the case of New India Assurance Company Ltd. Versus Yadu Sambhaji More;(2011) 2 SCC 416; 2011 (99) AIC 135. The facts of that case in brief were that a petrol tanker was got hit by a truck due to which petrol started leaking from the tanker. At day break the local people started collecting the petrol leaking out from the tanker. In the melee the petrol caught fire and there was a big explosion in which 46 persons lost their lives. The legal heirs filed the claim petition. The owner and insurer contested the claim petition on the ground that the fire and the explosion causing the death of those who had assembled at the accident site could not be said to be an accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle. The claims Tribunal observed that the fire and the explosion could not be said to be an accident arising out of the use of the tanker. Against the order of the Claims Tribunal appeals were filed before the High Court. The learned Single Judge of the High Court allowed the appeal and reversed the order passed by the Claims Tribunal. Against the decision of the Single Judge, the owner of the petrol tanker and the insurance company filed a Letters Patent Appeal which was dismissed by the Division Bench of the High Court. The owner of the petrol tanker and the insurance company then approached to the Hon'ble Apex Court challenging the judgment and order of the High Court. The S.L.P. was dismissed by the Apex Court in view of the decision in Shivaji Dayanu Patil Versus Tatschala Uttam More;1991(3)SCC 530. The Hon'ble Apex Court, after considering the question as to whether the fire and explosion of the petrol tanker in which Deepak Uttam More lost his life could be said to have resulted from an accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle namely the petrol tanker, answered the question in the affirmative, that is to say, in favour of the claimant and against the insurer.

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court, in the case of Rita Devi Versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd.;(2000) 5 SCC 113, relying on interpretation of Section 92-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 in the case of Shivaji Dayanu Patil Versus Vatschala Uttam More;(1991) 3 SCC 530 held that the murder of the deceased was due to an accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle. The relevant paragraphs 16 to 18 are reproduced below:-

16. In the case of Shivaji Dayanu Patil v. Vatschala Uttam More[(1991) 3 SCC 530 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 865] this Court while pronouncing on the interpretation of Section 92-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 held as follows: (SCC p. 532, para 12)

"... Section 92-A was in the nature of a beneficial legislation enacted with a view to confer the benefit of expeditious payment of a limited amount by way of compensation to the victims of an accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle on the basis of no-fault liability. In the matter of interpretation of a beneficial legislation the approach of the courts is to adopt a construction which advances the beneficent purpose underlying the enactment in preference to a construction which tends to defeat that purpose."

17. In that case in regard to the contention of proximity between the accident and the explosion that took place this Court held: (SCC pp. 549-50, para 36)

"36. This would show that as compared to the expression "caused by', the expression "arising out of' has a wider connotation. The expression "caused by' was used in Sections 95(1)(b)(i) and (ii) and 96(2)(b)(ii) of the Act. In Section 92-A, Parliament, however, chose to use the expression "arising out of' which indicates that for the purpose of awarding compensation under Section 92-A, the causal relationship between the use of the motor vehicle and the accident resulting in death or permanent disablement is not required to be direct and proximate and it can be less immediate. This would imply that accident should be connected with the use of the motor vehicle but the said connection need not be direct and immediate. This construction of the expression "arising out of the use of a motor vehicle' in Section 92-A enlarges the field of protection made available to the victims of an accident and is in consonance with the beneficial object underlying the enactment."

18. In the instant case, as we have noticed the facts, we have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the murder of the deceased (Dasarath Singh) was due to an accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle. Therefore, the trial court rightly came to the conclusion that the claimants were entitled for compensation as claimed by them and the High Court was wrong in coming to the conclusion that the death of Dasarath Singh was not caused by an accident involving the use of motor vehicle."

20. A Division Bench of this court in the case of U.P. State Road Transport Corporation and another Versus Rajendra Kumar Gupta and others;2012 SCC OnLine All 994 considered the accident "arising out of the use of a motor vehicle". The brief facts of the said case are that the deceased Vaibhav Gupta son of the claimant was travelling from Jaunpur to Lucknow by Bus no.UP-65-AR-1874 owned by U.P. State Road Transport Corporation. The deceased requested the bus driver to stop the bus to attend the natures call. The bus was stopped by the driver at a place where a live high voltage electric wire was hanging. While getting down from the bus, the deceased got in touch with the electric wire, fell down on the road and died due to electric shock. The Motor Accident Claims Tribunal after considering the evidence and material on record came to the conclusion that the deceased died due to negligence of the driver of bus and passed the impugned order. The U.P.S.R.TC. challenged the order before this court. This court after considering the several judgments of the Hon'ble Apex court as well as the facts of the case came to the conclusion that it cannot be said that at the time of accident the deceased was not using the motor vehicle, or that the accident did not took place, arising out of the use of the motor vehicle and considering the other points also dismissed the appeal.

21. The other submission of the learned counsel for the appellant was that the driver was not having the valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident therefore the insurance Company is not liable to make payment of compensation. In regard to issue no.3 the learned Tribunal on the basis of a certificate of the licensing authority Sitapur has categorically recorded that the tractor driver Tribhuwan Lal was having driving licence w.e.f. 22.12.1990 to 21.12.1995 and w.e.f. 09.06.2000 to 08.06.2003 while the accident had occurred on 28.05.2000, therefore, undisputably the driver Tribhuwan Lal was not having valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident. But on the basis of the judgment of this court in the case of Oriental Insurance Co.Ltd. Versus Nathuni Prasad and another (Supra) the learned Tribunal held that the driver was having valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident. In the said case this court held that if the driver had a valid licence and it was again renewed in his favour, it shall be taken that he was competent to drive the vehicle and the claim petition cannot be dismissed on this ground.

22. The Hon'ble Apex Court, considering this issue, in the case of Iswar Chandra and others Versus Oriental Insurance Co.Ltd. and others (Supra) and after considering Section 15(1) of the Act regarding renewal of driving licence held that the accident took place on 28th April, 1995 and as on the said date, the renewal application had not been filed, the driver, did not have a valid licence on the date when the vehicle met with the accident. The relevant paragraphs 7 to 10 are extracted below:-

"7. Section 15(1) of the Act and the first proviso appended thereto reads as under :

"15. Renewal of driving licences. (1) Any licensing authority may, on application made to it, renew a driving licence issued under the provisions of this Act with effect from the dale of its expiry:

Provided that in any case where the application for the renewal of a licence is made more than thirty days after the dale of its expiry, the driving licence shall be renewed with effect from the date of its renewal:"

8. From a bare perusal of the said provision, it would appear that the licence is renewed in terms of the said Act and the rules framed thereunder. The proviso appended to Section 15(1) of the Act in no uncertain terms states that whereas the original licence granted despite expiry remains valid for a period of 30 days from the date of expiry, if any application for renewal thereof is filed thereafter, the same would be renewed* from the date of its renewal. The accident took place 28.04.1995. As on the said date, the renewal application had not been filed, the driver, did not have a valid licence on the date when the vehicle met with the accident.

9. In Swaran Singh (supra), whereupon the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants relied upon, it is stated :

"45. Thus, a person whose licence is ordinarily renewed in terms of the Motor Vehicles Act and the Rules framed thereunder, despite the fact that during the interregnum period, namely, when the accident took place and the date of expiry of the licence, he did not have a valid licence, he could during the prescribed period apply for renewal thereof and could obtain the same automatically without undergoing any further test or without having been declared unqualified therefor. Proviso appended to Section 14 in unequivocal terms states that the licence remains valid for a period of thirty days from the day of its expiry.

46. Section 15 of the Act does not empower the authorities to reject an application for renewal only on the ground that there is a break in validity or tenure of the driving licence has lapsed, as in the meantime the provisions for disqualification of the driver contained in Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 will not be attracted, would indisputably confer a right upon the person to get his driving licence renewed. In that view of the matter, he cannot be said to be delicensed and the same shall remain valid for a period of thirty days after its expiry."

10. This aspect of the matter is now covered by a decision of this Court in National Insurance Company v. Kusum Rai & Others;(2006) 4 SCC 250:2006 (3) T.A.C.1, wherein this Court referring to Swaran Singh (supra), opined :

"14. This Court in Swaran Singh clearly laid down that the liability of the Insurance Company vis-a-vis the owner would depend upon several factors. The owner would be liable for payment of compensation in a case where the driver was not having a licence at all. It was the obligation on the part of the owner to take adequate care to see that the driver had an appropriate licence to drive the vehicle. The question as regards the liability of the owner vis-a-vis the driver being not possessed of a valid licence was considered in Swaran Singh stating: (SCC pp. 336-37, para 89)

89. Section 3of the Act casts an obligation on a driver to hold an effective driving licence for the type of vehicle which he intends to drive. Section 10 of the Act enables the Central Government to prescribe forms of driving licences for various categories of vehicles mentioned in sub-section (2) of the said section. The various types of vehicles described for which a driver may obtain a licence for one or more of them are:

(a) motorcycle without gear,
(b) motorcycle with gear,
(c) invalid carriage,
(d) light motor vehicle,
(e) transport vehicle,
(f) road roller, and
(g) motor vehicle of other specified description.

The definition clause in Section 2of the Act defines various categories of vehicles which are covered in broad types mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 10. They are goods carriage, heavy goods vehicle, heavy passenger motor vehicle, invalid carriage, light motor vehicle, maxi-cab, medium goods vehicle, medium passenger motor vehicle, motor-cab, motorcycle, omnibus, private service vehicle, semi-trailer, tourist vehicle, tractor, trailer and transport vehicle. In claims for compensation for accidents, various kinds of breaches with regard to the conditions of driving licences arise for consideration before the Tribunal as a person possessing a driving licence for motorcycle without gear, [sic may be driving a vehicle] for which he has no licence. Cases may also arise where a holder of driving licence for light motor vehicle is found to be driving a maxi-cab, motor-cab or omnibus for which he has no licence. In each case, on evidence led before the Tribunal, a decision has to be taken whether the fact of the driver possessing licence for one type of vehicle but found driving another type of vehicle, was the main or contributory cause of accident. If on facts, it is found that the accident was caused solely because of some other unforeseen or intervening causes like mechanical failures and similar other causes having no nexus with the driver not possessing requisite type of licence, the insurer will not be allowed to avoid its liability merely for technical breach of conditions concerning driving licence."

23. The aforesaid judgment has been followed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ram Babu Tiwari Versus United India Insurance Co.Ltd. and others (Supra) and National Insurance Company Limited Versus Vidhyadhar Mahariwala and others (Supra). Similar view has been taken by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Singh Ram Versus Nirmala and others;(2018) 3 SCC 800, relevant paragraphs 7 and 8 of which are extracted below:-

"7. In the present case it is necessary to note, as observed by the Tribunal, that the owner did not depose in evidence and stayed away from the witness box. He produced a licence which was found to be fake. Another licence which he sought to produce had already expired before the accident and was not renewed within the prescribed period. It was renewed well after two years had expired. The appellant as owner had evidently failed to take reasonable care [Proposition (vii) of Swaran Singh [National Insurance Co. Ltd.v. Swaran Singh, (2004) 3 SCC 297 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 733]] since he could not have been unmindful of facts which were within his knowledge.

8. In the circumstances, the direction by the Tribunal, confirmed by the High Court, to pay and recover cannot be faulted. The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs."

24. In view of above this court is of the considered opinion that the driver Tribhuwan Lal of the tractor, involved in the accident, was not having a valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident on 28.05.2000, as such there was breach of terms and conditions of policy. Therefore, the findings recorded by the learned Tribunal in regard to issue no.3 are perverse and erroneous and not sustainable and are hereby set aside.

25. The last submission of learned counsel for the appellant regarding sitting of the deceased as gratuitous passenger on the tractor, learned counsel for the appellant himself has admitted that the said plea was not taken before the tribunal, therefore, once the said plea was not taken before the tribunal, the same could not have been considered by the learned Tribunal. Now the question arises as to whether the learned Tribunal has committed any illegality or error in not considering it while holding inquiry in to the claim as provided under Section 168 of the Act of 1988, exercising the powers of the Civil Court under Section 169 of the Act, 1988. Section 169 of the Act provides the procedure and powers of Claims Tribunal, which is extracted below:-

"169. Procedure and powers of Claims Tribunals.--

"(1) In holding any inquiry under section 168, the Claims Tribunal may, subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, follow such summary procedure as it thinks fit.

(2) The Claims Tribunal shall have all the powers of a Civil Court for the purpose of taking evidence on oath and of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and of compelling the discovery and production of documents and material objects and for such other purposes as may be prescribed; and the Claims Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for all the purposes of section 195 and Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

(3) Subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, the Claims Tribunal may, for the purpose of adjudicating upon any claim for compensation, choose one or more persons possessing special knowledge of and matter relevant to the inquiry to assist it in holding the inquiry."

26. Section 169(1) of the Act of 1988 provides that in holding any inquiry under section 168, the Claims Tribunal may, subject to any Rules that may be made in this behalf, follow such summary procedure as it thinks fit. Sub Section (2) of Section 169 provides that the claims Tribunal shall have all the powers of a Civil Court for the purpose as mentioned therein and for all the purposes of section 195 and Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Sub-section (3) of Section 169 of the Act provides that subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, the Claims Tribunal may, for the purpose of adjudicating upon any claim for compensation, choose one or more persons possessing special knowledge of and matter relevant to the inquiry to assist it in holding the inquiry. The Tribunal has to follow the summary procedure subject to the Rules while holding the inquiry under Section 168 of the Act.

27. In exercise of powers conferred under the Motor Vehicles Act 1988 the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 have been framed. Chapter IX of the Rules deals with the Claims Tribunals. Rule 204 provides the application for compensation. Rule 209 provides that after considering the application and the written statements and oral statements of the parties, the Claims Tribunal shall proceed to frame the issues on which the right decision of the claim appears to it to depend. Rule 211 provides that after framing the issues the Claims Tribunal shall proceed to record evidence thereon which each party may like to produce. Rule 220 provides that the Claims Tribunal in passing orders, shall record concisely in judgment the findings on each of the issues framed and the reasons for such finding and make an award specifying the amount of compensation to be paid by the insurer or in the case of a vehicle exempted under sub-section (2) or (3) of Section 146 by the owner thereof and shall also specify the person or persons to whom compensation shall be payable.

28. In view of above, it is apparent that the Claim petition is to be decided as per the procedure prescribed under the Rules. The issues are to be framed on the pleadings of the parties to which right decision of the claim appears to depend. Therefore, the Claims Tribunal has to decide the petition on the basis of the pleadings. So far as the powers of Civil Court conferred on the Claims Tribunal, Rule 221 provides the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, which may be applied to proceedings before the Claims Tribunal, namely, Rules 9 to 13 and 15 to 30 of Order V; Order IX, Rule 3 to 10 of Order XIII, Rules 2 to 21 of Order XVI; Order XVII; and Rules 1 to 3 of Order XXIII. None of the provisions provide that the claims Tribunal would make an inquiry beyond pleadings for the right decision and award the just and reasonable compensation. Therefore the Claims Tribunal has to hold the inquiry into the claim for determining just and reasonable compensation on the basis of pleadings and law.

29. The Insurance Company can contest the claim arising out of the motor accident on the grounds mentioned in Section 149(2) of the Act of 1988, which includes the breach of a specified condition of the policy and a condition excluding liability for injury caused. The plea of gratuitous passenger is based on the terms and conditions of the Insurance policy which can be said to be a breach of the terms and conditions of policy and if the same has not been raised before the Tribunal and no issue was framed in this regard, it cannot be said that the learned Tribunal has committed any error in not considering the same.

30. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances since the driver of the tractor involved in the accident was not having a valid and effective driving licence on the date of accident so there was a breach of terms and conditions of policy, therefore, the Insurance Company cannot be fastened with the liability of paying compensation on behalf of owner of the vehicle. Therefore, this court is of the considered opinion that the compensation awarded by the learned Tribunal has to be paid by the owner of tractor no.USH-3956 and trolly no.USX-4189 i.e. the respondent no.5. The impugned judgment and award dated 11.11.2005 is liable to be modified to the extent that the appellant Insurance Company shall make the payment of the compensation awarded by the learned Tribunal with liberty to recover the same from the owner of the vehicle in accordance with law and the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Oriental Insurance Company Limited Versus Shri Nanjappan and others;(2004) 13 SCC 224.

31. The appeal is partly allowed. The appellant-Insurance Company is directed to make the payment of awarded compensation to the claimants-respondents within a period of two months from today, if not paid, with liberty to recover the same from the owner of the vehicle as aforesaid. No order as to costs.

32. The Lower Court record and the amount deposited before this Court, if any alongwith the statutory deposit shall be remitted to the concerned Tribunal within a period of four weeks from today for adjusting towards the compensation to be paid to the claimants under the award.

(2019)10ILR A 1319

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 31.05.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAKESH SRIVASTAVA, J.
FAFO (D) No. 91 of 2018
&
FAFO (D) Cases No. 95 of 2018 & 93 of 2018

Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd.
...Appellant
Versus
Union of India ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri SM Singh Royekwar

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri Neerav Chitravansi

A. Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 - Section 16 - Railway Claims Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1989 - Rule 3 & 9 - Practice and Procedure - Subsequent change in the territorial jurisdiction of the Bench - Application not be returned for presentation before the appropriate Tribunal.

Held:-If at the time when the application is moved a Bench had territorial jurisdiction over the matter then merely because of subsequent change in the territorial jurisdiction - the application is not be returned for presentation before the appropriate Tribunal - Jurisdiction of a court is to be normally ascertained at the time of the inception of a suit.

At the time the application seeking compensation was moved - Lucknow Bench had territorial jurisdiction – Application could not be returned to the appellant for their presentation before Gorakhpur Bench as a result of a subsequent change in the territorial jurisdiction of Lucknow Bench. (Para 33)

B. Practice and Procedure - Once the Tribunal holds that it had no territorial jurisdiction it became functus officio - it could not delve into the merits of the matter and give any findings on merit or make any clarification.

Held: -Once the Tribunal comes to the conclusion that it had no territorial jurisdiction over the matter, it is left with no other option but to pass an order for return of the applications. It is not open to the Tribunal to clarify that the appellant would not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which the applications remained pending before the Lucknow Bench from the period prescribed under law of limitation. The clarification made by the Tribunal is without jurisdiction. (Para 35,37 & 38)

Appeals allowed (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1.Sharma Singh Vs Sadhu Singh AIR 1928 Lah 484

2.Raizada Topandas Vs Gorakhram Gokalchand AIR 1964 SC 1348

3.Athmanathaswami Devasthanam Vs K. Gopalaswami Ayyangar AIR 1965 SC 338

4.Alamchand Birumal Vs Motilal Balchand AIR 1968 MP 112

5.Harnam Das Vs Salamat Rai Civil Revision No. 140 of 1950

6.R.S.D.V. Finance Co. (P) Ltd. Vs Shree Vallabh Glass Works Ltd. (1993) 2 SCC 130

7.Prasant Kumar Choudhury Vs Union of India 2006 SCC OnLine Ori 58

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rakesh Srivastava, J.)

1. FAFOD No. 91 of 2018, FAFOD No. 95 of 2018 and FAFOD No. 93 of 2018 involve a common question of law and as such they were heard together and are being decided by a common order.

FAFOD No. 91 of 2018

2. This first appeal from order has been filed challenging the order dated 10.03.2017 passed by the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow in Case No. OA/I/02/2011 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India).

3. On 04.07.2002, the Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (for short 'the Corporation') moved an application under Section 16 of the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 before the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow seeking compensation to the tune of Rs. 93,437/- against the respondent. It was alleged that on 19.09.2008, the appellant had booked a consignment of High Speed Diesel (HSD) under Railway Receipt No. 212006900 from Numaligarh (Assam) to Mughalsarai in District Chandauli (Uttar Pradesh). It was alleged that there was shortage in six tank wagons having No. SR 13895, WR 986693, NR 108103, WR 906925 and WR 906753 at the destination station.

4. The respondent resisted the claim of the appellant. In its written statement the respondent denied its liability for the alleged loss. For the purpose of adjudication of the present appeal, it is not necessary to set out in detail all the pleas taken by the respondents in their written statement. Based upon the pleadings of the parties, the Tribunal framed five issues. There was no issue with respect to the jurisdiction of the Tribunal.

5. On 10.03.2017 when the claim petition came up for hearing, the respondent raised an objection that the Lucknow Bench of the Tribunal had no territorial jurisdiction to hear the matter. The Tribunal after hearing the counsels for the parties held that it had no territorial jurisdiction and accordingly passed an order for returning the application to the appellant for presentation of the same before the appropriate forum. The Tribunal further added that while calculating the limitation before the other forum, the appellant would not be entitled to exclusion of the time spent in pursuing the matter before the Lucknow Bench. The relevant portion of the order dated 10.03.2017 is extracted below:-

"Learned counsel for the respondent has submitted short arguments. It has been contended therein that as per legal position, since neither the booking point, Numaligarh nor the destination point Mughalsarai of the disputed consignment falls within territorial jurisdiction of this Bench, as such, claim application is liable to be rejected straightway.

I agree with the contention of the respondent as the regional office of the company is in NOIDA. The originating and destination stations are on Eastern Railway, therefore, as per Schedule I, this case does not come within the territorial jurisdiction of the RCT Lucknow Bench.

Accordingly, in my opinion the applicant should approach the proper forum designated to entertain this case for appropriate remedy.

Under this situation, issues need not be determined and the application is liable to be returned to the applicant to present it before the appropriate forum competent to admit and decide this case.

ORDER

The application moved by the applicant Company, is hereby returned to the applicant to present before the appropriate Tribunal. It is clarified that applicant shall not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which this case remained pending before this Tribunal from the period prescribed under law of limitation. Parties shall bear their own costs. After return as directed above, the remaining record shall be consigned."

(emphasis supplied)

FAFOD No. 95 of 2018

6. This first appeal from order has been filed challenging the order dated 25.11.2016 passed by the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow in Case No. OR0200029 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India).

7. On 28.03.2002, the Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (for short 'the Corporation') moved an application under Section 16 of the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 before the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow seeking compensation to the tune of Rs. 2,26,888/- against the respondent. It was alleged that on 30.11.2001, the appellant had booked a consignment of Motor Spirit (MS) under Railway Receipt No. 588435 from Numaligarh (Assam) to Mughalsarai in District Chandauli (Uttar Pradesh). It was alleged that there was short delivery of Motor Spirit loaded in tank wagon no. 95464 at the destination station.

8. The respondent resisted the claim of the appellant. In its written statement the respondent denied its liability for the alleged loss. For the purpose of adjudication of the present appeal, it is not necessary to set out in detail all the pleas taken by the respondents in their written statement.

9. On 25.11.2016, after hearing the counsels for the parties the Tribunal held that it had no territorial jurisdiction and accordingly passed an order for returning the application to the appellant for presentation of the same before the appropriate forum. The Tribunal further added that while calculating the limitation before the other forum, the appellant would not be entitled to exclusion of the time spent in pursuing the matter before the Lucknow Bench. The relevant portion of the order dated 25.11.2016 is extracted below:-

"The Regional office of the applicant company is in NOIDA. The originating station is on NEF Railway and destination station Mughalsarai is as present on East Central Railway, when the claim petition was filed it was on Eastern Railway. Mughalsarai is in Varanasi district which comes under the jurisdiction of Gorakhpur Bench of RCT, therefore as per Schedule I, the plaint does not come within the terrirorial jurisdiction of the RCT Lucknow Bench.

ORDER

The application moved by the applicant company, is hereby returned to the applicant to present before the appropriate Tribunal. It is clarified that applicant shall not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which this case remained pending before this Tribunal from the period prescribed under law of limitation. Parties shall bear their own costs. After return as directed above, the remaining record shall be consigned."

(emphasis supplied)

FAFOD No. 93 of 2018

10. This first appeal from order has been filed challenging the order dated 17.03.2017 passed by the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow in Case No. OR0200031 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India).

11. On 28.03.2002, the appellant, the Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (for short 'the Corporation') moved an application under Section 16 of the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 before the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow seeking compensation to the tune of Rs. 8,15,930/- against the respondent. It was alleged that on 20.08.2000, the appellant had booked a consignment of High Speed Diesel (HSD) under Railway Receipt No. 583788 from Numaligarh (Assam) to Mughalsarai in District Chandauli (Uttar Pradesh) in good and sound condition. It was alleged that one of the tank wagons having No. ER 17020 had not been delivered at the destination station.

12. The respondent resisted the claim of the appellant. In its written statement the respondent denied its liability for the alleged loss. For the purpose of adjudication of the present appeal, it is not necessary to set out in detail all the pleas taken by the respondents in their written statement. Based upon the pleadings of the parties, the Tribunal framed three issues. There was no issue with respect to the jurisdiction of the Tribunal.

13. On 17.03.2017 when the claim petition came up for hearing, the respondent raised an objection that the Lucknow Bench of the Tribunal had no territorial jurisdiction to hear the matter. The Tribunal after hearing the counsels for the parties held that it had no territorial jurisdiction and accordingly passed an order for returning the application to the appellant for presentation of the same before the appropriate forum. The Tribunal further added that while calculating the limitation before the other forum, the appellant would not be entitled to exclusion of the time spent in pursuing the matter before the Lucknow Bench. The relevant portion of the order dated 17.03.2017 is extracted below:-

"Learned counsel for the respondent has submitted short arguments. It has been contended therein that as per legal position, since neither the booking point, Numaligarh nor the destination point Mughalsarai of the disputed consignment falls within territorial jurisdiction of this Bench, as such, claim application is liable to be rejected straightway.

I agree with the contention of the respondent as the regional office of the company is in NOIDA. The originating and destination stations are on Eastern Railway, therefore, as per Schedule I, this case does not come within the territorial jurisdiction of the RCT Lucknow Bench. But I don't agree with the arguments of learned counsel for the respondent that the application deserves to be rejected. Obviously, when the Bench has no jurisdiction to entertain this case, the same cannot be rejected as it will amount disposal of the case wherefor this Bench has no jurisdiction.

Accordingly, in my opinion the applicant should approach the proper forum designated to entertain this case for appropriate remedy.

Under this situation, issues need not be determined and the application is liable to be returned to the applicant to present it before the appropriate forum competent to admit and decide this case.

ORDER

The application moved by the applicant Company, is hereby returned to the applicant to present before the appropriate Tribunal. It is clarified that applicant shall not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which this case remained pending before this Tribunal from the period prescribed under law of limitation. Parties shall bear their own costs. After return as directed above, the remaining record shall be consigned."

(emphasis supplied)

14. Sri S.M. Singh Royekwar, learned counsel for the appellant has made a two-fold submission: firstly, according to him, at the time when the applications was moved before the Lucknow Bench, it had territorial jurisdiction over the matter and as such by a subsequent change in the territorial jurisdiction of the Lucknow Bench, the applications moved by the appellant could not be returned for presentation before the appropriate Tribunal; secondly, the counsel submits that once the Tribunal came to the conclusion that it had no territorial jurisdiction in the matter it became functus officio and it could not have passed an order on merit or made any clarification.

15. Per contra Sri Neerav Chitravanshi, learned counsel for the respondent has supported the orders under challenge in the three appeals under consideration.

16. In order to provide relief to the rail-users by way of expeditious payment of compensation to the victims of rail-accidents and to those whose goods are lost or damaged in rail transit, the Government of India decided to establish the Railway Claims Tribunal with Benches in different parts of the country, and with judicial and technical members. For this purpose, the Government of India promulgated the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 (for short 'Act'). Section 13 of the Act, which provides for the jurisdiction, powers and authority of the Tribunal, reads as under:

"13. Jurisdiction, powers and authority of Claims Tribunal.-(1) The Claims Tribunal shall exercise, on and from the appointed day, all such jurisdiction, powers and authority as were exercisable immediately before that day by any civil court or a Claims Commissioner appointed under the provisions of the Railways Act,--

(a) relating to the responsibility of the railway administrations as carriers under Chapter VII of the Railways Act in respect of claims for--

(i) compensation for loss, destruction, damage, deterioration or non-delivery of animals or goods entrusted to a railway administration for carriage by railway;

(ii) compensation payable under Section 82-A of the Railways Act or the rules made thereunder; and

(b) in respect of the claims for refund of fares or part thereof or for refund of any freight paid in respect of animals or goods entrusted to a railway administration to be carried by railway.

17. The expression "appointed day' is defined in section 2(b) of the Act to mean the date with effect from which the Claims Tribunal is established under section 3 of the Act.

18. On the establishment of Railway Claims Tribunal under the Act, on and from the appointed day i.e. 08.11.1989, no court or authority except the Tribunal established under the Act alone had the jurisdiction to exercise power or authority in relation to the matters referred to under Section 13 of the Act and every suit, claim or other legal proceedings (other than an appeal) pending before any court, Claims Commissioner or other authority immediately before the appointed day dealing with the matters enumerated under Section 3 of the Act stood transferred to the Tribunal.

19. Section 14 of the Act which relates to the distribution of business amongst the Benches of the Claims Tribunal reads as under:

14. Distribution of business amongst Benches.--(1) Where any Benches are constituted, the Central Government may, from time to time, by notification, make provisions as to the distribution of the business of the Claims Tribunal amongst the Benches and specify the matters which may be dealt with by each Bench.

(2) If any question arises as to whether any matter falls within the purview of the business allocated to a Bench, the decision of the Chairman shall be final.

Explanation.--For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the expression "matters" includes an application under Section 20.

20. In exercise of the power under Section 30 of the Railway Claims Act, 1987, the Railway Claims Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1989 (for short 'Rules') have been framed by the Central Government. Rule 3 and 9 of the Rules are being reproduced below for ready reference.

"3. Territorial jurisdiction of Benches.--(1) The number of Benches, the Headquarter of and the territorial jurisdiction of a bench shall be as specified in Schedule I and Schedule I(A).

(2) If an application is received by a Bench which does not have territorial jurisdiction to deal with the matter, the Registrar of the Bench shall return the application to the applicant.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (2) the applicant may apply to the Chairman and the Chairman may thereupon for reasons recorded in writing, direct a Bench other than the Bench before which an application has been filed to hear such application and issue such orders as may be necessary for the transfer of the application.

*

* *

9. Place of filing application for compensation for loss, damage, destruction, deterioration or non-delivery of goods or animals.--An application for compensation referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 13 of the Act may be filed before the Bench having territorial jurisdiction over the place where--

(a) the goods or animals were delivered for carriage; or

(b) where the destination station lies; or

(c) the loss, destruction, damage or deterioration of goods or animals occurred."

(emphasis supplied)

21. As per Schedule I of the Rules, the Headquarters of the Benches of the Tribunal were established at 17 places, mentioned therein, all over India. The districts over which the Benches were to exercise territorial jurisdiction were mentioned against their names in column 3. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, the Headquarters of the Benches were established at three places namely Ghaziabad, Gorakhpur and Lucknow. The relevant portion of Schedule I of the Rules is extracted below:

SCHEDULE I
(See Rule 3)

Sl. No.	Headquarters of the Bench of the Railway Claims Tribunal	Territorial jurisdiction of the Bench
(1)	(2)	(3)
9.	Guwahati	Assam, Sikkim, Mizoram, Arunachal Pradesh, Tripura, Manipur, Meghalaya, Nagaland.
11.	Gorakhpur	Districts of Gorakhpur, Deoria, Ballia, Gazipur, Azamgarh, Nau, Basti, Siddharthnagar, Mirzapur, Robertsgang, Jaunpur, Faizabad, Gonda, Bahraich, Sultanpur, Pratapgarh, Lakhimpur, Allahabad, Varanasi, Bareilly, Sitapur, Pilibhit, Nanital, Shahjahanpur, Badaun and Hardoi of Uttar Pradesh.
12.	Lucknow	All Districts of Uttar Pradesh except those included in Column (3) against serial no. 11

22. A perusal of column 3 corresponding to serial no. 11 of Schedule I of the Rules shows that district Chandauli, was not included therein. As per column 3 corresponding to serial no. 12, district Chandauli fell within the territorial jurisdiction of Lucknow Bench.

23. In exercise of the powers under Section 30 of the Act, by notifications dated 04.02.1997, 29.02.2000, 02.12.2002, 22.10.2003 and 15.02.2006, Schedule I of the Rules was amended, but District Chandauli continued to remain under the territorial jurisdiction of Lucknow Bench of the Tribunal. By notification dated 11.04.2007, Schedule I of the Rules was again amended and for the first time the territorial jurisdiction over district Chandauli was shifted from Lucknow Bench to Gorakhpur Bench. The relevant portion of the notification dated 11.04.2007 is extracted below:-

"1. (1) These rules may be called the Railway Claims Tribunal (Procedure) Amendment Rules, 2007.

(2) They shall come into force on the date of their publication in the Official Gazette.

2. In the Railway Claims Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1989, in the Schedule I at Serial Number 11, for the entry in Column 3, the following entry shall be substituted namely:-

"District Gorakhpur, Deoria, Ballia, Gazipur, Azamgarh, Mau, Basti, Siddharthnagar, Mirzapur, Robertsgang, Jaunpur, Faizabad, Gonda, Bahraich, Varanasi, Maharaj Ganj, Kushinagar, Shravasti, Sant Kabir Nagar, Chandauli, Sant Ravi Das Nagar, Balrampur and Ambedkar Nagar of Uttar Pradesh."

(emphasis supplied)

24. As per Rule 9 of the Rules, the application for compensation for non delivery of goods could be filed either before the Bench having territorial jurisdiction over the place where the goods were delivered for carriage or before the Bench having territorial jurisdiction over the destination station. In the cases at hand, the consignment was booked at Numaligarh for Mughalsarai. Numaligarh, the booking station, fell in the State of Assam, whereas, Mughalsarai, the destination station, fell in district Chandauli in the State of Uttar Pradesh, and as such, as per Schedule I of the Rules, as it stood at the time of filing of the applications, the appellant could have invoked the jurisdiction of either the Guwahati Bench of the Tribunal, which had territorial jurisdiction over the entire State of Assam or before the Lucknow Bench which had territorial jurisdiction over district Chandauli, under which the destination station fell. The appellant chose Lucknow Bench over Guwahati Bench. It is not in dispute that at the time of filing the applications, the Lucknow Bench had territorial jurisdiction in the matter. It was only by a subsequent notification dated 11.04.2007 that the territorial jurisdiction with regard to District Chandauli was transferred to the Tribunal at Gorakhpur.

25. Under Sub-rule (2) of Rule 3 of the Rules, if an application is received by a Bench which does not have territorial jurisdiction to deal with the matter, the Registrar of the Bench is obliged to return the application to the applicant. In the present case, since at the time of filing the application, the Lucknow Bench had territorial jurisdiction over the matter, the application was not returned by the Registrar under Rule 3(2) of the Rules.

26. At this stage, it is necessary to delve into the law regarding return of plaint, where the court is found to be lacking territorial or pecuniary jurisdiction. In Raizada Topandas v. Gorakhram Gokalchand, AIR 1964 SC 1348, the Apex Court has held that the jurisdiction of a court is to be normally ascertained at the time of the inception of a suit. The Apex Court cited with approval the case of Govindram Salamatrai in the following words:-

"The jurisdiction of a Court is normally and ordinarily to be determined at the time of the inception of a suit. Therefore when a party puts a plaint on file, it is at that time that the Court has to consider whether the Court had jurisdiction to entertain and try that suit or not."

(emphasis supplied)

27. In Sharma Singh v. Sadhu Singh, AIR 1928 Lah 484, the Lahore High Court, while dealing with a matter relating to return of plaint under Order 7 Rule 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 held that -

"Order 7, R. 10, Civil P.C., does not apply to cases where a Court originally had jurisdiction to try the suit but discovered at the time of passing a decree that it is incompetent to pass the decree because of the pecuniary valuation."

28. In Alamchand Birumal v. Motilal Balchand, AIR 1968 MP 112, the Madhya Pradesh High Court in paragraph 6 of the report has held:

"6. It cannot also be maintained that on the investment of the Court of Additional District Judge, Satna, with the powers of a Court of Small Causes by the notification dated the 1st January 1959, the Court of Civil Judge, Second Class, Satna was, under section 16 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, deprived of the jurisdiction to try the suit. That provision is in the following terms--

"16. Save as expressly provided by this Act or by any other enactment for the time being in force, a suit cognizable by a Court of Small Causes shall not be tried by any other Court having jurisdiction within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes by which the suit is triable."

This provision does not deprive a regular court altogether of jurisdiction in suits cognizable by a Court of Small Causes: it merely prevents the exercise of that jurisdiction by a regular court if at the time the suit is filed there is a Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction within the same local limits. Admittedly, in the present case there was no court of Small Causes at Satna having jurisdiction to try the suit when it was filed in the Court of Munsiff. Satna Section 16 does not, therefore, in any way oust the jurisdiction of the Court of Civil Judge, Second Class, Satna, where the suit stood transferred under section 27 of the Act, to try the suit. In this connection it would be pertinent to refer to Order 7, Rule 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which says--

"The plaint shall at any stage of the suit be returned to be presented to the Court in which the suit should have been instituted."

Under this rule, a plaint can be returned only if at the time it was filed there was another court in which the suit should have been instituted. Here, at the time the suit was filed in the Court of Munsif, Satna, there was no Court of Small Causes and no small cause powers had been conferred on the Court of Additional District Judge, Satna. The subsequent conferment of small cause powers on the Court of Additional District Judge. Satna, could, therefore, afford no ground to the Civil Judge. Second Class, Satna, to return the plaint. In our judgment, the court of the Civil Judge, Second Class, Satna, continues to have jurisdiction to try the applicant's suit."

(emphasis supplied)

29. In Harnam Das v. Salamat Rai, Civil Revision No. 140 of 1950, a learned Single Judge of the High Court of PEPSU has held as under:-

"3. Order 7, R. 10(1), Civil P.C. says that the plaint shall at any stage of the suit be returned to be presented to the Court in which the suit should have been instituted. The words "in which the suit should have been instituted" obviously do not mean the Court in which the suit should be instituted. The provisions of this rule regarding return of the plaint appear to me to apply to cases in which the suit when originally instituted was not properly instituted and not to cases in which the suit was instituted in the proper Court, but subsequently that Court ceases to exercise jurisdiction and another Court with restricted pecuniary jurisdiction is constituted to take its place. It is thus the defect of presentation of the plaint in the first instance in a wrong Court that attracts the applicability of O. 7, R. 10,

Civil P.C., and that rule does not govern cases where the suit when instituted did not suffer from any defect whatsoever.

(emphasis supplied)

30. Section 18 of the Act deals with the procedure and powers of Claims Tribunal. Relevant portion of section 18 is extracted below:-

"18. Procedure and powers of Claims Tribunal.- (1) The Claims Tribunal shall not be bound by the procedure laid down by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908), but shall be guided by the principles of natural justice and, subject to the other provisions of this Act and of any rules, the Claims Tribunal shall have powers to regulate its own procedure including the fixing of places and times of its enquiry."

31. In Prasant Kumar Choudhury v. Union of India, 2006 SCC OnLine Ori 58, a learned Single Judge of Orissa High Court has considered the applicability of the Civil Procedure Code to the proceedings before the Railway Tribunal and has held as under:-

"On a plain reading of the aforesaid provision, it is not possible to accept the contentions of the learned counsel for the Railway since there exists no specific bar to the application of the Code of Civil Procedure in the aforesaid provision of law. On the contrary, the said provision basically unshackles the Tribunal from the procedural laws mandated in the Code while at the same time maintaining the requirement of compliance of natural justice. The provision is clearly ''enabling' the provision and not a ''disabling' provision. This provision does not specifically take away from the Tribunal the power and authority to exercise any or all provisions of C.P.C. and therefore, it is clear that Section 34, C.P.C. continues to be vested in the authority of the Railway Claims Tribunal."
(emphasis supplied)

32. This Court is in respectful agreement with the view expressed by the Orissa High Court, and as such the law on return of plaint, as laid down in the judgments discussed above, will also apply to the present case.

33. Regard being had to the aforesaid enunciation of law, it is to be seen whether the opinion expressed by the Tribunal is correct and justified. In the cases at hand, it is undisputed that at the time the applications seeking compensation were moved by the appellant before the Lucknow Bench, the Lucknow Bench had territorial jurisdiction over the matter and as such in view of the settled legal position, this Court is of the firm opinion that the applications could not be returned to the appellant for their presentation before Gorakhpur Bench as a result of a subsequent change in the territorial jurisdiction of Lucknow Bench. The impugned orders cannot be sustained.

34. The Tribunal has not only passed orders for returning the applications to the appellant but has also further added that the appellant would not be entitled to exclude the period during which the applications remained pending before the Lucknow Bench, from the period prescribed under the law of limitation.

35. It is settled that once a court comes to a conclusion that it has no jurisdiction, there is no occasion for it to delve into the merits of the matter or give any other findings. In Athmanathaswami Devasthanam v. K. Gopalaswami Ayyangar, AIR 1965 SC 338 the Apex Court held as under:

"14. The last point urged is that when the civil court had no jurisdiction over the suit, the High Court could not have dealt with the cross-objection filed by the appellant with respect to the adjustment of certain amount paid by the respondent. This contention is correct. When the Court had no jurisdiction over the subject-matter of the suit it cannot decide any question on merits. It can simply decide on the question of jurisdiction and coming to the conclusion that it had no jurisdiction over the matter had to return the plaint."

(emphasis supplied)

36. In R.S.D.V. Finance Co. (P) Ltd. v. Shree Vallabh Glass Works Ltd., (1993) 2 SCC 130 the Apex Court reiterated that

"7. ... The Division Bench was totally wrong in passing an order of dismissal of suit itself when it had arrived to the conclusion that the Bombay Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit. The only course to be adopted in such circumstances was to return the plaint for presentation to the proper court and not to dismiss the suit."

(emphasis supplied)

37. In view of the settled legal position, once the Tribunal came to the conclusion that it had no territorial jurisdiction over the matter, it was left with no other option but to pass an order for return of the applications. It was not open to the Tribunal to clarify that the appellant would not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which the applications remained pending before the Lucknow Bench from the period prescribed under law of limitation. The clarification made by the Tribunal is without jurisdiction.

38. In any case, after return of the applications, it was for the Tribunal having jurisdiction, and where applications are subsequently filed, to apply its mind and arrive at a determination regarding whether the appellant was pursuing its remedy before the Lucknow Bench of the Tribunal in a bonafide manner and in good faith. Thereafter, depending upon the aforesaid determination, the Tribunal would have decided whether or not the appellant was entitled to the benefit of exclusion of the time spent in pursuing the remedy before the Lucknow Bench.

39. In view of the above, even if the applications moved by the appellant are to be returned for filing them before the appropriate Bench, the Tribunal in the present matters had no jurisdiction to pass orders that the appellant would not be entitled for exclusion of the period during which the claims remained pending before the Lucknow Bench of the Tribunal from the period prescribed under law of limitation. On this ground also the impugned order cannot be sustained.

40. In view of the discussion made above, the order dated 10.03.2017 passed in Case No. OA/I/02/2011 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India) (under challenge in FAFOD No. 91 of 2018); the order dated 25.11.2016 passed in Case No. OR0200029 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India) (under challenge in FAFOD No. 95 of 2018); and the order dated 17.03.2017 passed in Case No. OR0200031 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. v. Union of India) (under challenge in FAFOD No. 93 of 2018) by the Railway Claims Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow are hereby set aside. The appeals stand allowed. All the three matters are remanded back to the Tribunal to decide the same in accordance with law.

41. Costs made easy.

(2019)10ILR A 1330

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 18.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE DEVENDRA KUMAR UPADHYAYA, J.
THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.

Misc. Single No. 35387 of 2018

Smt. Rinki ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Satya Prakash Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Subhas Bisaria, Sri W.U. Ahmad

A. Code of Civil Procedure - Reference made - instructions of S.G- not disclosing full and complete facts including the order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court on the interlocutory application moved by State of U.P. itself-the said instructions could not be acted upon, however, in absence of any specific instruction to learned State counsel to submit before this Court that State did not have any objection if result of those admitted students is declared by the University, the contempt proceedings against officers of the State may not be initiated/instituted.

List of Cases Cited: -

1. College of Professional Education and others vs. State of U.P. and others 2013 (2) SCC 721

2. Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya vs. State of U.P. and others (2013) 2 SCC 617

3. Bharat Builder Pvt Ltd and others vs. Parijat Flat Owners Coop. Housing Society Ltd. (1999) 5 SCC 622

4. Assistant Collector of Central Excise, Chandan Nagar, West Bengal vs. Dunlop India Ltd and others (1985) 1 SCC 260

5. Cassel and Co. Ltd. v. Broome

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.)

1. This case concerns itself with the sanctity of admissions made by certain colleges in B.Ed course in the academic session 2013-2014 after 16.09.2013 and holding of examination of such students and declaration of their results. Hon'ble Single Judge in this case finding himself unable to agree with the judgment rendered on 03.12.2018 in a bunch of writ petitions, leading writ petition being Ankit Kumar and others vs. State of U.P. and others (hereinafter referred to as 'Ankit Kumar'), vide order dated 17.12.2018 has referred the following two questions for consideration by a larger bench.

"(i). Whether it was open for the State Government or this Court to have relaxed the time schedule fixed under the orders of the Apex Court in College of Professional Education (Supra), as reiterated and re-inforced in Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya (Supra), as also the order dated 25.11.2013 passed in I.A. No. 109 and 110 of 2013 in College of Professional Education, fixing 16th September, 2013, by permitting/directing declaration of results of students admitted in B.Ed Course in the Academic Session 2013-14 after 16.09.2013?

(ii). Whether the instructions of the State Government dated 28th November, 2018 could be acted upon or that it amounts to an act in disobedience/derogation of the orders of the Apex Court, referred to above, rendering the responsible officers of the State liable to be proceeded with under contempt jurisdiction, in view of the observations contained in para 90.2 of the Supreme Court judgment in Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya (supra)."

2. This larger bench has thus assembled to consider the aforesaid reference.

3. This petition by Smt Rinki has been filed with the prayer to issue a direction to the authorities of Chaudhary Charan Singh University, Meerut to declare her result of B.Ed examination for the academic session 2013-2014 in light of her admission made to the aforesaid course in pursuance of Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013.

4. Before dealing with the issues involved in this reference, the facts and circumstances which led the State Government to issue Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013, are necessary to be noticed.

5. For making admissions to B.Ed course in various Universities and the Colleges affiliated/associated with them in the State of U.P. for the academic session 2013-2014, a "Joint Entrance Examination B.Ed 2013' was held by Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur which was nominated as the Nodal University. On the basis of said Joint Entrance Examination, counselling of successful candidates for being given admission in various institutions was held between 01.06.2013 to 27.06.2013. After this counselling, a pooled counselling was held, however, even after the pooled counselling, around 50,000 seats remained vacant and accordingly to fill up these 50,000 seats, another pooled counselling was held between 04.08.2013 to 29.08.2013. Even after second pooled counselling, 34294 seats remained vacant. The State Government thus considered the situation which arose on account of 34924 seats remaining vacant and for the said purpose, a high level meeting chaired by the Principal Secretary of the State Government in the Department of Higher Education was held on 25.09.2013 which was attended to by the Special Secretary, Department of Higher Education, Registrar of the Nodal University i.e. the Gorakhpur University, Deputy Registrar and the State Nodal Officer, Joint Entrance Examination B.Ed-2013, Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur. The order dated 26.09.2013 was thus issued by the State Government on the basis of deliberations held and decisions taken in the said meeting. As a matter of fact, the said order dated 26.09.2013 issued by the State Government is the minutes of meeting held on 25.09.2013.

6. Perusal of the said Government Order dated 26.09.2013 reveals that while taking decision to meet the exigency which arose on account of unfilled 34294 seats, the Committee referred to the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court, dated 22.07.2011 passed in Special Leave to Appeal (Civil) No.13040 of 2010, College of Professional Education and others vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2013 (2) SCC 721. The State Government is thus said to have taken note of paragraph 4 (vi) (b) of the judgment in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) and decided in the meeting held on 25.09.2013 that a list of candidates, on the basis of their merit who appeared in Joint Entrance Examination and were not admitted, be sent to all self-financed B.Ed institutions and further that institutions shall then admit the students from the said list after inviting applications through advertisement to be published in newspapers, in accordance with the ranking of the candidates in the merit. The State Government also decided vide Government Order dated 26.09.2013 that last date for completing the process will be 15.10.2013. Pursuant to the said Government order dated 26.09.2013, the State Government issued another Government Order dated 08.10.2013 directing the Nodal University that admissions to B.Ed course shall be made only in accordance with the merit of the candidates as per the list to be provided by the Nodal University to the institutions and that the seats on which allotment of students could not be made on the basis of counselling, shall be treated to be vacant and further that the seats against which candidates do not take admission till 12.10.2013 shall also be treated to be vacant.

7. Assertion made by the petitioner in this case is that she was admitted on the basis of the process decided and implemented by the State Government in terms of the Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013 and thus her admission is lawful and accordingly she is entitled not only to take admission in B.Ed course but also for declaration of her result.

8. Reference made to this bench thus revolves around the time schedule fixed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in its judgment and order dated 22.07.2011 in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra). Paragraph 4 of the said judgment contains a schedule which is based on broad consensus regarding procedure of admission between the institutions and the State Government. Paragraph 4 of the said judgment is thus extracted hereinbelow:-

"4. In regard to admissions for academic sessions 2012- 2013 and subsequent academic years, the institutions and the state government have arrived at a broad consensus regarding the procedure, the terms of which have been set out in the affidavit filed by Dr. R.K. Gupta, Associate Professor, Department of Higher Education, Government P.G. College, Noida on behalf of the state of U.P. The terms agreed are as under:

(i) To ensure that all seats in the colleges are filled through counseling pursuant to Entrance Examination, the Colleges are required to update their websites daily and display the number of students admitted as well as the number of seats vacant. For this purpose, each college shall have an official websites giving the details of total sanctioned seats, bank account etc. During the course of counseling, they will update their official website on day to day basis regarding vacant seats after admissions. The colleges shall also communicate the said particulars on daily basis to the Registrar of concerned University (Examination conducting body) through e- mail/telephone/Fax.

(ii) Every college will display its Bank Account Number and its name on its website and also provide to the concerned University (the examination conducting body). Any student, who is allotted to a particular college through counseling after the B.Ed. Joint Entrance Examination, will deposit his fees directly with the CBS Branch of the said Bank Account of the college to which he is allotted, within three days from the day of counseling. Subsequently, the said student will make available the copy of the proof of fee deposited to the concerned college and the concerned University. The concerned college will display the same on its website along with the details of the students. If any student faces any difficulty in depositing of the fee in the CBS account of the college to which he is allotted, he can immediately contact the University, the college and if required then concerned District Magistrate.

(iii)The schedule for admission for the academic session 2012-13 and subsequent years, shall be as under:

1. Publication of Advertisement 01.02.2011

2. Sale of Application Forms and 10-2-2012 to 10-3-2012 their submission

3. Date of Entrance Examination 20.04.2012 to 25.04.2012

4. Declaration of Result 25.05.2012 to 30.05.2012

5. Commencement and completion of counselling 01.06.2012 to 25.06.2012

6. Last Date of Admissions after counseling 28.06.2012

7. Commencement of Academic session 01.07.2012

[Note : for subsequent years, the same dates and months will apply]

(iv) From 2012-13, there will be only one counseling, which will continue for a period of 25 days. During the counseling, if it is found that a candidate/s allotted to any college do not turn up to take admission, the college shall inform the Counseling Authority and upon receipt of such information, another set of candidates will be sent to such colleges after counseling. The said counseling will be continuous to expedite the procedure of admission till closure of admission, without any second or third round of counseling.

(v) As per the schedule agreed for the year 2011-12, as per order dated 11.3.2011 of the Supreme Court, the admission process will be completed by 31.07.2011 after the first counseling. Subsequently, any vacant seats ascertained, will be filled up through second phase of counseling conducted from 03.08.2011 to 07.08.2011. Thus, the whole process of admission to all the seats of B.Ed. course shall be completed by 14.08.2011.

(vi) After that date (14.08.2011) if any seat remains vacant in a private college then to fill up the same the following course may be followed to ensure filling up all the vacant seats through counseling only:-

(a) A waiting list in the form of pool of about 5000 candidates will be prepared. The waiting list may be enlarged as per the requirement to fill up the vacant seats. The candidates registered with the pool will have to give an undertaking to the effect that they can be sent to any college having vacant seat for admission and they will have no objection. The candidates registered with the pool/waiting list will be arranged as per merit and will be allotted the colleges having vacant seats in their subjects according to their merit. This option will be exercised only after the end of counseling and be adopted only on the request of the colleges for filling up their remained vacant seats within three days from the last date of admission.

In such circumstances, the concerned university will provide the students from waiting list accordingly to fill up the seats but the entire process will be completed within 10 days, i.e. by 24.08.2011 for the session 2011-12 and 8th of July for the next consecutive years.

The wait listed pool candidates, shall along with the undertaking, deposit the fees with the University concerned and in case the candidates fails/refuses to join the allotted college as per his undertaking then the fee deposited with university will be remitted to the account of the college immediately, to which the students has been allotted by the university provided that the seats remained vacant during that academic session.

(b) After the counseling is over, the concerned University will continue to allot the candidates from the above mentioned waiting list against the vacant seats till all the seats in the colleges are filled up. It is further submitted that the organizing university will provide students only to the existing B.Ed. College and all those B.Ed. Colleges which will get affiliation up to dated 07.07.2011 will not be considered for counseling to the year 2011-12 and for the next consecutive years and onward the colleges which will be get affiliated on or before 10th of May of that year, would be considered for counseling.

(c) The organizing University will start online help service through which the complaints of the candidates will be redressed. All the colleges concerned will also provide their helpline separately and after receipt of the complaints the organizing university will forward the same to the concerned college for redressal, failing which the organizing university will seek the explanation from the college concerned and if any default or omission is found on the part of the college, then the same would be forwarded to the government for necessary actions against such college.

(d) The state shall take all endevour to ensure admissions only through counseling after holding State Level Entrance Examination against all the seats sanctioned in self-financing institutions running B.Ed. Course.

(e) That in case any unforeseen difficulty arises regarding filling up vacant seats in the concerned colleges despite strictly following the procedure agreed, even after 24.08.2011, the colleges will be entitled to approach, for filling up their vacant seats, to Principal Secretary/Secretary of the Department of Higher Education, Government of UP who will arrange to provide selected candidates from the wait-list pool within 3 days from receipt of application to fill up those vacant seats.

(f) The same procedure will mutatis mutandis apply for the academic years 2012-13 and thereafter.

(vii) The state government will adopt similar procedure in regard to filling of any vacant seats for the admission for the academic year 2012-13 and subsequent years."

9. The schedule as directed to be followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) was however issued with a further direction to the State Government that the State Government will endeavour to formulate the said schedule in the form of appropriate admission and procedural rules. The judgment further provides that until the State Government makes such rules, the said procedure shall be applied. It also provides that same procedure will mutatis mutandis apply for the academic session 2013- 2014 and thereafter.

10. Hon'ble Supreme Court in its subsequent judgment dated 13.12.2012 in the case of Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in (2013) 2 SCC 617 reiterated the schedule mentioned in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) in relation to admissions, recognition, affiliation and commencement of B.Ed course. In this case Hon'ble Supreme Court even observed that in case of disobedience of the said schedule or any attempt to circumvent the judgment of Supreme Court and the directions contained therein, the person concerned shall become liable for proceedings under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 and for disciplinary action as well.

11. Paragraph 91.1 and 91.2 contained in the said judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya (supra) are extracted herein below:-

"91.1. The Schedule stated in College of Professional Education and in this judgment in relation to admissions, recognition, affiliation and commencement of courses shall be strictly adhered to by all concerned including NCTE, the State Government and the University/examining body.

91.2. In the event of disobedience of schedule and/or any attempt of overreach or circumvent the judgment of this Court and the directions contained herein, the person concerned shall render himself or herself liable for proceedings under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 and even for departmental disciplinary action in accordance with law."

12. Admittedly, no separate procedural rules governing admission to B.Ed course in the State of U.P. have yet been formulated by the State Government and accordingly there cannot be any ambiguity that the schedule formulated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) as reiterated in the case of Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya (supra) is binding not only on the State Government but also on the Nodal University which conducted the Joint Entrance Examination and also on the Universities and the Colleges/Institutions where admissions for the academic session 2013-2014 were made.

13. There cannot be any quarrel that by operation of Article 141 of the Constitution of India whatever is laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court becomes law of the land and that its decision are binding on all. The law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court is applicable to every person including those who are not parties to that order.

14. Apart from the provision of Article 141 of Constitution of India which provides that law declared by Hon'ble

Supreme Court shall be binding on all, there is yet another provision in the Constitution of India in the form of Article 144 which needs to be taken note of at this juncture itself.

15. Article 144 declares that "All Authorities, Civil and Judicial in the territory of India shall act in aid of the Supreme Court". Thus, every authority in the country, without exception, is bound by the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

16. To reflect as to whether admissions in the B.Ed course in the academic session 2013-2014 made after 16.09.2013 can be said to be lawful entitling such students to appear in the examination and seek declaration of their result, we find it necessary to examine the Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013 in the background of directions of Hon'ble Supreme Court issued in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) as reiterated in the case of Maa Vaishno Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya (supra). As per schedule in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra), admission on the basis of extended second counselling could be made only till 14.08.2013. The direction contained in paragraph 4 (vi) (b) of the judgment in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra), however permitted to fill up seats which remained vacant even after 14.08.2013 by following the course/procedure given therein. As per the said procedure, the University was to provide students from wait list to fill up vacant seats but such entire process could be completed within ten days from 14.08.2013 i.e by 24.08.2013.

17. As a matter of fact, an interlocutory application, namely, IA No. 109-110 of 2013 was filed by an Institution i.e. DAV College at Meerut-Hapur Road, District Meerut in Civil Appeal No.5914 of 2011 (College of Professional Education and others, decided on 22.07.2011) with the prayer that the said institution be permitted to admit students in B.Ed course against vacant seats. However, Hon'ble Supreme Court after considering the said prayer passed an order on 25.11.2013 whereby interlocutory application was dismissed. The order dated 25.11.2013 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in IA No.109-110 is reproduced hereunder:-

"We have not been granting any further relief to any party in case of admissions for the academic session 2013-2014 after 16.09.2013. These interlocutory applications are also dismissed.

It will however be open for the applicant to have the concerned court including this Court for further relief for the academic session 2014-2015."

18. Thus, at the most, admission to B.Ed course in the State of U.P. for the academic session 2013-2014 could have been made only till 16.09.2013 and any admission made thereafter would be in derogation of the directions issued by Hon'ble Supreme Court in its judgment dated 22.07.2011 in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra). The decision of the State Government contained in the Government Order dated 26.09.2013 is thus to be considered in light of the aforesaid.

19. While examining the Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013, we may also record that State of U.P. filed Miscellaneous Application bearing IA No.1216 of 2017 in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) which was already decided on 22.07.2011 and prayed therein to provide that this Court shall be free to pass appropriate orders in certain pending writ petitions without being influenced by the order dated 25.11.2013 passed in IA No.109-110 of 2013. Another Miscellaneous Application bearing IA No. 1243 of 2017 was filed by a candidate-Rupam Sharma, in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) decided on 22.07.2011 where IA No.109-110 of 2017 were also dismissed on 25.11.2013, with the prayer that directions be issued that the order dated 25.11.2013 was not applicable to students who had taken admission pursuant to the Government Order dated 08.10.2013. Both these interlocutory applications i.e. IA No.1216 of 2017 and 1243 of 2017 were also dismissed by Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its order dated 10.09.2018 which is quoted herein below:-

"Upon hearing the counsel, the Court made the following order.

The applications are dismissed.

M.A. Nos.1216/2017 and 1243/2017 are disposed of accordingly."

20. The Government Order dated 26.09.2013 has been attempted to be justified by learned Advocate General appearing on behalf of State of U.P. by referring to the directions issued by Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph 4 (vi) (e) of the judgment in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra). In support of his submission, learned Advocate General has submitted that the said paragraph in the judgment of College of Professional Education and others (supra) permitted admission in B.Ed course even after 24.08.2013 in case any unforeseen difficulty would arise in filling up vacant seats despite following the procedure. According to learned Advocate General the said directions issued by Hon'ble Supreme Court provided that institutions shall be entitled to approach the State Government for filling up their seats who would arrange to provide selected candidates from the wait list pool.

21. The direction of Hon'ble Supreme Court contained in paragraph 4 (vi) (e) in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) is extracted herein below:-

"(e) That in case any unforeseen difficulty arises regarding filling up vacant seats in the concerned colleges despite strictly following the procedure agreed, even after 24.08.2011, the colleges will be entitled to approach, for filling up their vacant seats, to Principal Secretary/Secretary of the Department of Higher Education, Government of UP who will arrange to provide selected candidates from the wait-list pool within 3 days from receipt of application to fill up those vacant seats".

22. It is true that the Hon'ble Supreme Court by the said directions permitted admission even after 24.08.2013, however it was subject to the condition that any unforeseen difficulty would have arisen regarding filling up vacant seats. The said direction further provides that in such an eventuality, the colleges shall approach the State Government for filling up their vacant seats and thereafter the State Government shall arrange to provide selected candidates from the wait list pool, that too, within three days from receipt of application from the colleges to fill up the vacant seats. There is nothing on record which reveals, neither is it reflected from the Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013, that colleges had made any such request to the Principal Secretary/Secretary of the Department of Higher Education, Government of U.P. as envisaged in the directions contained in paragraph 4 (vi) (e) in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra).

23. In this view of the matter, submission made by learned Advocate General that the Government Order dated 26.09.2013 was issued in light of the directions contained in paragraph 4 (vi) (e) in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra), is not acceptable; rather merits rejection.

24. The Government Order dated 26.09.2013 refers to paragraph 4 (vi) (b) of the judgment in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) which provides that even after counselling is over the University concerned will continue to allot the candidates from the wait list against vacant seats till all seats in the college are filled up. However, the said directions, in our opinion, could not be construed by the State Government to make the process of admission in B.Ed course an unending one. The schedule as fixed in the said case was to be followed in every circumstance and after 24.08.2013 no admission could have been made except by following the procedure as provided by Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph 4 (vi) (e) in its judgment in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra).

25. Hon'ble Single Judge in the case of Ankit Kumar has relied upon a communication dated 26.11.2018 issued by the Special Secretary in the Department of Higher Education and has observed that on the basis of said communication learned counsel representing the State of U.P. submitted that the State Government did not have any objection in case result of the petitioners of said case (bunch of writ petitions leading writ petition being Ankit Kumar and others vs. State of U.P) was declared by the University. The judgment dated 03.12.2018 in the case of Ankit Kumar is based on the statement made by learned State counsel on the basis of communication dated 28.11.2018. The communication dated 28.11.2018 was issued by the Special Secretary, Government of U.P. in the Department of Higher Education and is addressed to the Chief Standing Counsel who represented the State Government in the said case. Paragraph 2 of the said communication makes reference of order of Hon'ble Supreme Court dated 25.11.2013 while dismissing Interlocutory Application nos.109-110 of 2013 by observing therein that no further relief to any party in case of admission after 16.09.2013 had been granted. Paragraph 2 of the communication dated 28.11.2018 is extracted herein below:-

"मा0 सर्वोच्च न्यायालय द्वारा सिविल अपील स0 5914/2011 में दिनांक 25.11.2013 को यह निर्णय पारित किया गया कि किसी भी पक्षकार को शैक्षिक सत्र 2013–14 के लिए 16.09.2013 के बाद कोई अन्य अनुतोष प्रदान नहीं किया जायेगा। मा0

उच्चतम न्यायालय के आदेश दिनांक 22.07.2011 के अनुपालन में राज्य सरकार द्वारा बी0 एड0 की रिक्त सीटों के प्रवेश के लिए अन्तिम तिथि 15.10.2013 निर्धारित की गयी थी। इस निर्णय के फलस्वरूप दिनांक 15.10.2013 तक अनेक छात्रों को विभिन्न महाविद्यालयों में प्रवेश प्राप्त कर लिया गया था। महाविद्यालयों में दिनांक 16.09.2013 एवं 15.10.2013 के मध्य प्रवेश पाये छात्रों की परीक्षा आयोजित नही हो सकी, जिससे क्षुब्ध होकर छात्रों द्वारा मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में काफी संख्या में रिट याचिकायें योजित की गयी है। इन रिट याचिकाओं की अग्रणी रिट याचिका 4289 (एम0 एस0)/2014, अंकित कुमार व अन्य बनाम राज्य व अन्य में विभाग की ओर से शपथ पत्र व अनुपूरक शपथ पत्र दाखिल किये जा चुके है। इस संबंध में शासन के पत्र संख्या–रिट 09/सत्तर–3–2014, दिनांक 20.01.2015 एवं पत्र संख्या–रिट 19/सत्तर–3–2015–डब्ल्यू (35)/2012 दिनांक 24.04.2015 द्वारा पूर्व में शासन के पक्ष से अवगत कराया जा चुका है।"

26. The said communication, after referring to the order dated 25.11.2013, further recites that various students had taken admission even after 16.09.2013 till 15.10.2013, however their examination was not conducted whereupon they filed writ petitions and that in such petitions, including in the case of Ankit Kumar, stand of the State had been submitted.

27. When we examine the instructions given to the State counsel by the Department of Higher Education, State of U.P. vide its communication dated 28.11.2018 what we find is that it does not in categorical and unambiguous terms state that the State had no objection in case results of the petitioners of the said petitions were declared by the University concerned.

28. Now coming to the first question referred to us by Hon'ble Single Judge, we may observe that in our constitutional scheme though Hon'ble Supreme Court and the High Courts are both courts of record and this Court is not a Court subordinate to the Supreme Court, however the provisions of constitution, especially the appellate jurisdiction assigned to Supreme Court, give a superior place to the Supreme Court over High Courts in the hierarchy. So far as the appellate jurisdiction vested in the courts in our country is concerned, in all matters, civil and criminal, Supreme Court is the highest court of appeal and it is the final interpreter of law. Under Article 141, the law declared by the Supreme Court is final and is binding on all courts including this Court. Under Article 144, all authorities, civil and judicial, which would include High Courts as well, are to act in aid of the Supreme Court. In the hierarchical judicial system envisaged by our Constitution, the Supreme Court is placed over the High Courts vertically. As a superior forum it has the jurisdiction to annul or modify or affirm any order or judgment which may be rendered by this Court. The corrective jurisdiction inherently encompasses in its fold power to issue direction to be followed by and is binding on the forum below. Any failure on the part of lower forum to obey or carry out such directions issued by higher forum may lead to destruction of the hierarchical system in administration of justice.

29. In this regard, we would like to refer to a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bharat Builder Pvt Ltd and others vs. Parijat Flat Owners Coop. Housing Society Ltd., reported in (1999) 5 SCC 622. The said judgment is a very short one. However, its reference in this case suffices to highlight the purpose for which makers of our constitution made Article 144 part of the Constitution. The judgment in the case of Bharat Builder Pvt Ltd and others (supra) is extracted herein below:-

"1. The respondent appears.
2. Leave granted.

3. The order under challenge was passed by a Division Bench of the High Court at Bombay on a review application in the following circumstances.

4. On 19-12-1997, on a special leave petition [SLP (C) No. 22776 of 1997] filed by the appellant against the respondent, the following order was passed:

"The Division Bench of the High Court at Bombay has, in the judgment and order under appeal, noted that the petitioner and the respondent had in an earlier writ petition, jointly filed, pleaded that the deed whose construction is relevant here 'is a sale and not a lease'. The High Court took the view that this pleading was sufficient to reach the conclusion that the deed 'is an agreement for a sale'.

We have been shown the relevant averments in the earlier writ petition. It appears that the High Court has not considered whether the admission is of a sale or an agreement to sell. We think that, in the circumstances, the petitioner should move the Division Bench of the High Court in this behalf, by the convenient means of a review petition.

We make it clear that the High Court shall decide, after hearing parties on the review petition, whether the admission is of a completed sale or of an agreement to sell and whether, by reason thereof, the provisions of the Maharashtra Ownership Flats (Regulation and Promotion of Construction, Sale, Management and Transfer) Act will apply. Regardless of the technical limitations of the review petition, these questions shall be addressed.

Mr. K.K. Venugopal, learned Counsel for the petitioner, states that the review petition shall be moved within 4 weeks. Mr. Harish N. Salve, learned Counsel for the respondent, states that, pending the review petition, no steps shall be taken to execute the decree that is under challenge.

The SLP is disposed of accordingly."

(emphasis supplied)

5. The review petition was heard by the two learned Judges who had passed the order which was the subject-matter of the earlier SLP. The order on the review petition states

"It is contended that the Supreme Court while disposing of the above said SLP has called upon this Court to decide. In interpreting the document Exh. E whether the admission made by the parties construing the document Exh. E in the earlier writ petition is of a completed sale or an agreement to sale and whether by reason thereof the provisions of the Maharashtra Ownership Flats (Regulation and Promotion of Construction, Sale, Management and Transfer) Act will apply. In fact the aforesaid question was not at all a question raised in the suit in the trial court or before this Court. In fact the main question that was posed in the appeal was as to whether Exh. E was properly construed by the lower court as one of agreement to sell or as indenture of lease".

The Division Bench has, therefore, come to the conclusion that

"rightly or wrongly an impression has been created while reading our judgment that we have solely relied upon the judgment of this Court in previous writ petition in interpreting the document Exh. E. This misunderstanding must have been crept in partly due to some clerical mistake occurred in some places in the judgment by using phrases agreement for sale instead of agreement to sell. However, the issue posed to be examined as directed by the Supreme Court is not the issue which was raised in the trial court or the Appellate Court and it is not permissible for us to go into such a fresh issue in this review application, first time. In view of this we do not find any merit in the contentions of the applicant and review application is, therefore, liable to be rejected."

(emphasis supplied)

6. The Division Bench has not read the order that we passed on 19-12-1997. We have asked the Division Bench to consider the questions set out in the third paragraph of the order. To enable it to do so we have asked the appellants to move it 'by the convenient means of a review petition'. We have ordered: 'Regardless of the technical limitations of the review petition these questions shall be addressed.' Nonetheless, it has not done so.

7. It is necessary to point out to the High Court that the Constitution of India, in Article 144, requires all authorities, civil and judicial in the territory of India to act in aid of the Supreme Court.

8. It was imperative for the High Court, to have decided the questions that it was required to decide by this Court's order dated 19-12-1997. For this reason, very fairly, the respondents do not object to the order under challenge being set-aside the review petition being sent back to the High Court.

9. The appeal is allowed. The order under challenge is set aside. The review petition is restored to the file of the High Court to be heard and decided afresh. In so deciding, the High Court shall scrupulously follow the requirements of the order of this Court dated 19-12-1997. In the circumstances aforestated, it becomes necessary to require that the review petition shall be listed before learned Judges other than those that passed the order under challenge.

10. Pending further orders no steps shall be taken to execute the decree.

11. No order as to costs."

30. In the said case, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had required the High Court to consider certain issues and questions in review petition regardless of the technical limitations of review, however the High Court dismissed the review petition by observing that, "the issue posed to be examined as directed by the Supreme Court is not an issue which was raised in the trial court or the appellate court and it is not permissible for us to go into such a fresh issue in this review petition, first time. In view of this, we do not find any merit in the contention of the applicant and review application is, therefore, liable to be rejected".

31. Hon'ble Supreme Court when considered the aforesaid judgment passed by High Court in review petition, it observed that it was imperative for the High Court to have decided the questions that it was required to decide by Hon'ble Supreme Court. While setting aside the order of the High Court, Hon'ble Supreme Court also reminded the High Court of Article 144 of the Constitution of India which requires all authorities, civil and judicial in the territory of India to act in aid of the Supreme Court.

32. Failure to comply with the direction of Hon'ble Supreme Court has always been deprecated. In this regard, reference may be had to paragraph 9 of the judgment in the case of Bharat Earth Movers vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Karnataka, reported in (2000) 6 SCC 645, which is extracted herein below:-

"9. Before parting, we would like to observe that when this appeal came up for hearing on 24.3.1999 we felt some difficulty in proceeding to answer the question arising for decision because the orders of the authorities below and of the Tribunal did not indicate how the leave account was operated by the appellants and the leave salary provision was made. To appreciate the facts correctly and in that light to settle the law we had directed the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal to frame a supplementary statement of case based on books of account and other relevant contemporaneous records of the appellant which direction was to be complied with within a period of six months. The hearing was adjourned sine die. After a lapse of sixteen months the matter was listed before the court on 20.7.2000. The only communication received by this court from the Tribunal was a letter dated 20th June, 2000 asking for another six months time to submit the supplementary statement of case which prayer being unreasonable, was declined. Under Section 258 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, the High Court or the Supreme Court have been empowered to call for supplementary statement of case when they find the one already before it not satisfactory. Article 144 of the Constitution obliges all authorities, civil and judicial, in the territory of India to act in aid of the Supreme Court. Failure to comply with the directions of this court by the Tribunal has to be deplored. We expect the Tribunal to be more responsive and more sensitive to the directions of this Court. We leave this aspect in this case by making only this observation."

33. Reflecting upon the necessity of accepting the decisions of higher courts by the courts of lower tier in the hierarchical system of courts, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Assistant Collector of Central Excise, Chandan Nagar, West Bengal vs. Dunlop India Ltd and others, reported in (1985) 1 SCC 260 has observed as under:-

"We desire to add and as was said in Cassel and Co. Ltd. v. Broome we hope it will never be necessary for us to say so again that 'in the hierarchical system of Courts' which exists in our country, 'it is necessary for each lower tier', including the High Court, 'to accept loyally the decisions of the higher tiers'. "It is inevitable in a hierarchical system of Courts that there are decisions of the Supreme appellate tribunal which do not attract the unanimous approval of all members of the judiciary.....But the judicial system only works if someone is allowed to have the last word and that last word, once spoken, is loyally accepted". The better wisdom of the Court below must yield to the higher wisdom of the Court above. That is the strength of the hierarchical judicial system. In Cassel & Co. Ltd. v. Broome, commenting on the Court of Appeal's comment that Rookes v. Barnard was rendered per incuriam Lord Diplock observed:

"The Court of Appeal found themselves able to disregard the decision of this House in Rookes v. Barnard by applying to it the label per incuriam. That label is relevant only to the right of an appellate court to decline to follow one of its own previous decisions, not to its right to disregard a decision of a higher appellate court or to the right of a judge of the High Court to disregard a decision of the Court of Appeal."

It is needless to add that in India under Article 141 of the Constitution the law declared by the Supreme Court shall be binding on all courts within the territory of India and under Article 144 all authorities, civil and judicial in the territory of India shall act in aid of the Supreme Court."

34. We may also notice that Government of India Act, 1935 under Section 210 (1) also had a provision similar to Article 144 of the Constitution of India. Section 210 (1) of Government of India Act, 1935 is reproduced below:-

"210. Enforcement of decrees and orders of Federal Court and orders as to discovery, etc- (1) All authorities, civil and judicial, throughout the Federation, shall act in aid of the Federal Court".

35. It is also worthwhile to observe that Article 144 of Constitution of India was adopted by Constituent Assembly on 27.05.1949 without any amendment in the draft constitution (Article 120) or even without any debate.

36. This clearly shows the significance and importance which is intended to be given to Article 144 of Constitution of India for maintenance and working of hierarchical system of courts in our judicial set up.

37. The principle of law as embodied in Article 141 and 144 of the Constitution of India as discussed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforementioned judgments does not leave any scope whatsoever for either this Court or for any authority in the State Government not to act in accordance with the directions contained in any judgment or order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court. Any act by any authority in derogation and even in contravention of an order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court cannot be approved of on any count or for any reason whatsoever.

38. In the instant case, we have already seen and concluded that the Government Orders dated 26.09.2013 and 08.10.2013, are not in conformity with the directions issued by Hon'ble Supreme Court in its judgment dated 22.07.2011 in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra). Further, it is noticed that the interlocutory applications, namely, IA No.109-110 of 2013 which were filed before Hon'ble Supreme Court with the prayer made by an institution to permit it to admit the students in B.Ed. course against vacant seats were already dismissed vide order dated 25.11.2013 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court by observing that Hon'ble court had not been granting any further relief to any party in case of admissions after 16.09.2013. When the State Government moved IA No.1216 of 2017 before Hon'ble Supreme Court with the prayer to permit the High Court to pass appropriate orders in relation to declaration of results of B.Ed students admitted pursuant to the Government Order dated 08.10.2013, Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its order dated 10.09.2018 dismissed the same. The prayers made in the interlocutory application (IA No.1216 of 2017) is extracted herein below:-

"In the facts and circumstances of the case and in the interest of justice it is most respectfully prayed that Your Lordships may graciously be pleased to:

(i) permit the High Court to pass appropriate orders in relation to declaration of result of B.Ed. students admitted pursuant to Govt. Order dated 08.10.2013.

(ii) clarify the position that the High Court shall be free to pass appropriate orders in the pending Writ Petitions without being influenced by the order passed by this Hon'ble Court on 25.11.2013 in IA No.110/2013; and

(iii) Pass such other and further order (s) as this Hon'ble Court may deem just and proper in the premises of this case."

39. The said prayer was rejected, as observed above, by Hon'ble Supreme Court on 10.09.2018. Thus, it appears that the said order was not brought to the notice of this Court in the case of Ankit Kumar which was decided subsequent to the order dated 10.09.2018 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court i.e. on 03.12.2018. Dismissal of IA No.1216 of 2017 filed by the State of U.P. by Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its order dated 10.09.2018 does not leave anyone in doubt that time schedule relating to admission etc. in B.Ed courses by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) was to be strictly followed and in view of what we have discussed above in reference to provision of Article 141 and 144 of the Constitution of India, we have no hesitation to hold that it was not open for any authority or body, be it the State Government or even this Court, to have in any manner relaxed the time schedule as fixed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra).

40. We thus answer the question no.1 referred to us as follows.

41. It was not open either for the State Government or this Court to have relaxed the time schedule fixed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of College of Professional Education and others (supra) and that declaration of result of students admitted in B.Ed course in the academic session 2013-2014 after 16.09.2013 is impermissible.

42. As regards question no.2 referred to us, we may observe that instructions of the State Government contained in its communication dated 28.11.2018 did not instruct the State counsel to submit before this Court that the State Government did not have any objection if the result of the petitioners in the said matter, was declared. Nonetheless, we may notice that the said communication dated 28.11.2018 though notices the order dated 25.11.2013 whereby Interlocutory Application Nos. 109-110 were dismissed by Hon'ble Supreme Court, however, it does not make any mention of the order dated 10.09.2018 which was passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court on the interlocutory applications made by the State of U.P. itself (IA No.1216 of 2017) whereby prayer of the State Government for permitting this Court to pass appropriate orders for declaration of result of B.Ed students admitted in pursuance of the Government Order dated 08.10.2013, was rejected.

43. It is needless to say that it is the duty of every authority including the authorities of the State Government and its instrumentalities as well not only to disclose correct facts before the Court but also to disclose full and complete facts so as to assist the Court appropriately in discharge of its judicial functions.

44. Having observed as above, we may only point out at this juncture that the communication dated 28.11.2018 did not instruct learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State of U.P. to make any such statement that the State had no objection in case result of the petitioners of the said case was declared by University. The manner in which the case of Ankit Kumar was conducted on behalf of State of U.P. though cannot be appreciated for non-disclosure of full and complete facts, however, we do not find it a case of any deliberate attempt by the officers of the State Government to mislead the Court so as to make the officers liable to be proceeded against, under contempt jurisdiction. In this view of the matter, question no.2 referred to us is answered as follows:

45. Since instructions of State Government contained in its communication dated 28.11.2018 did not disclose full and complete facts including the order dated 10.09.2018 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court on the interlocutory application moved by State of U.P. itself (IA No.1216 of 2017), the said instructions could not be acted upon, however, in absence of any specific instruction to learned State counsel to submit before this Court that State did not have any objection if result of those admitted students is declared by the University, the contempt proceedings against officers of the State may not be initiated/instituted.

46. Reference made is answered thus.

47. Let writ petition be listed before Hon'ble Single Judge for hearing and decision accordingly.

(2019)10ILR A 1345

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 28.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE BHARATI SAPRU, J.
THE HON'BLE PIYUSH AGRAWAL, J.

Writ Tax No. 354 of 2017

Assotech Realty Pvt. Ltd. ...Petitioner
Versus
Addl. Commissioner, Gr.-1 Commercial Tax Ghaziabad & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Suyash Agarwal, Sri R.R. Agarwal, Sri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008-Section 22, 29(7)-Completed assessment should not be reopened on the basis of the subsequent judgment-Reassessment notice dated 18.02.2017 was issued by Respondent No. 1, for re-opening assessment (AO dated 30.04.2013) for the year 2009-10, in view of SC judgment in Larsen & Toubro Ltd. and others Vs. State of Karnataka and others, 2013 NTN (153) 65. Respondent No. 1 vide impugned order dated 30.03.2017, granted permission and impugned show cause notice dated 22.04.2017 was issued. Allowing the petition, the High Court held-The Department cannot be authorized to reopen the assessment, which stood closed on the basis of law as it stood at the relevant time, on the ground of the subsequent judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court- Reopening of proceeding of completed assessment in question renders bad and in colorable exercise of power and without jurisdiction.

(Para 22, 23, 24, 25, 26 & 27)

Petition filed for quashing sanction order dated 30.03.2017, passed by Additional Commissioner, Grade- I, Commercial Tax Ghaziabad as well as consequential notice dated 22.04.2017, passed by Deputy Commissioner Commercial Tax, Ghaziabad for assessment year 2009-10.

Writ Petition allowed (E-4)

Precedent followed: -

1. K. Raheja Development Corpn. Vs St. of Karnataka, (2005) 5 SCC 162 (Para 3, 8)

2. Varun Beverages Ltd. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., (2017) 99 VST 393 (Para 12)

3. Hindustan Liver Ltd. Vs R.W. Wadkar ACIT, (2004) 268 ITR 332 (Para 13)

4. CIT Vs Kelvinator India Ltd., (2010) 320 ITR 561 (SC) (Para 14)

5. M/s BHEL Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ Tax No. 181 of 2014, decided on 28.02.2017 (Para 14)

6. St. of U.P. Vs Arayaverth Chawal Udyog Ltd., (2015) 17 SCC 324 (Para 16)

7. M/s Samsung Electronics (India) Pvt. Ltd. Vs St. of U.P. & 2 ors., (2017) UPTC 63 (Para 23)

8. Dy. Commissioner of Income Tax Vs Simplex Concrete Piles (India) Ltd., (2012) 25 taxmann.com, 283 (SC) (Para 24)

Precedent distinguished: -

1. Larsen and Toubro Limited and Others Vs. State of Karnataka and Others, 2013 NTN (153) 65 (Para 4, 5, 17, 18, 22)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for issuing a writ of certiorari quashing the sanction order dated 30.03.2017 passed by the respondent no. 1 for the Assessment Year 2009-10 as well as the consequential notice dated 22.04.2017 for the Assessment Year 2009-10 passed by the respondent no. 2.

2. The facts of the case are that the petitioner is a Company incorporated under the provisions of Indian Companies Act, 1956 having its registered Office at 46, Janpath, 1st Floor, New Delhi and U.P. Office at Windsor Club, Vaibhav Khand, Indrapuram, Ghaziabad. The present Office of the petitioner is at Plot No. 22, Sector - 135, Noida. The petitioner is a builder and engaged in the business of construction and sale of flats to the interested persons/allottee, after purchasing the land from the Development Authorities and developed the land so purchased.

3. The petitioner had not entered into any tripartite agreement between the petitioner and the purchaser, as the petitioner developed the land after purchasing the same from the Development Authorities. In other words, the petitioner is a sole owner of the land on which the flats were constructed. According to the petitioner, the ownership of the flats continues with it from the time of construction till the execution of registered sale deed in favour of the interested person/prospective buyers and as such, the petitioner does not fall within the category of works contract. The original assessment order was passed for the year in dispute on 30.04.2013. The Assessing Authority, after considering all the materials available on record as well as the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of K. Raheja Development Corporation Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in (2005) 5 SCC 162, letter of allotment, etc., came to the conclusion that there is no transfer of any material in execution of works contract and the petitioner is not liable for payment of any tax.

4. Thereafter, reassessment notice dated 18.02.2007 was issued by the respondent no. 1 under section 29(7) of the U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as, ' VAT Act') to show cause as to why permission may not be granted to the Assessing Authority for reopening the completed assessment in view of the judgement of the Apex Court in Larsen and Toubro Limited and Others Vs. State of Karnataka and Others, reported in 2013 NTN (153) 65, where the builders were liable for payment of tax on the transfer of material used in execution of works contract. In response to the notice, the petitioner submitted a detailed reply explaining each and every issue raised in the notice and stated that the proceedings for granting permission to reopen the completed assessment may be dropped, as there is no fresh material.

5. The respondent no. 1, by means of the impugned order dated 30.03.2017, granted permission to the respondent no. 2 to reopen the completed assessment on the ground that the petitioner has received booking amount from the prospective purchasers, which amounts to transfer of property in execution of works contract and hence, the turnover of the petitioner has escaped assessment. Further, on the basis of the judgement in Larsen and Toubro Limited (supra), the petitioner is also liable for payment of tax. In pursuance of the order dated 30.03.2017, the impugned reassessment show cause notice dated 22.04.2017 under section 29(7) of the Act has been issued. Hence, this writ petition.

6. We have heard Shri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Shri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri C.B. Tripathi, learned Special counsel for the respondents.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that admittedly, the petitioner is a builder, who purchases the land from the Development Authorities. Thereafter, it constructs flats over it being the sole owner of the land. The flats are sold only after completion through registered sale deed executed in favour of interested buyers. It is further submitted that the modus operandi of its business in the disputed year, i.e., 2009-10, was identical and similar with the previous as well as in subsequent years.

8. The learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that for the Assessment Years 2004-05 and 2005-06, the Assessing Authority had levied tax on the petitioner treating it as a dealer and imposed tax on the material used in the execution of works contract on the basis of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of K. Raheja Development Corporation (supra). Against the said order, Writ Petition No. 997 of 2006 and Writ Petition No. 1238 of 2006 were filed before this Court, which were allowed on 23.03.2007. Against the said order, the State went in SLP before the Apex Court. The Apex Court, vide its order dated 30.12.2007, allowed the appeal filed by the State only on the limited ground that the writ petition against the assessment order was not maintainable. The petitioner should have filed the appeal as provided under the Act.

9. In pursuance of the order of the Apex Court, the petitioner filed an appeal, the appellate authority allowed the appeal and remanded the matter back to the Assessing Authority for deciding afresh by order dated 20.10.2009. Against the aforesaid order, the petitioner preferred Second Appeal Nos. 231 and 232 of 2010 before the Commercial Tax Tribunal, Noida Bench, Noida, which were allowed vide order dated 11.06.2010. The Tribunal, after considering all the materials available on record, allotment letter and the judgement of the Apex Court as well as other judgements on the subject, came to the conclusion that the petitioner is not a work contractor and there is no liability for payment of tax on the material used in the execution of works contract. Since there was a mistake, apparent on record, hence an application under section 22 of the VAT Act was moved before the Tribunal and the same was also allowed on 12.07.2010. Against the order passed by the Tribunal, holding the petitioner was not liable for payment of tax on the material used in execution of works contract, the Department preferred a revision before this Hon'ble Court, which was dismissed on 20.09.2012.

10. It has further been argued that against the judgement and order of this Court dated 20.09.2012, holding that the petitioner is not a dealer and hence, not liable for tax on the material used for execution of works contract, neither any appeal was preferred by the State, nor any material was brought on record showing the order of this Court has been set aside/modified/recalled / stayed by the competent Court. In other words, the Department has accepted the order passed by this Court.

11. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that once the issue has been settled inter-parties and there is no new material brought on record to suggest otherwise, the completed assessment in disputed, i.e., 2009-10, cannot be permitted to be reopened merely on the basis of change of opinion and therefore, the impugned order dated 30.03.2017 and consequential notice dated 22.04.2017 are liable to be set aside.

12. The counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement of this Court in Varun Beverages Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. & Others reported in (2017) 99 VST 393 (All); wherein, this Court has held as under:-

"8. It is not disputed before us that if there is a change of opinion, reassessment under Section 29(7) is not permissible. When it can be said "change of opinion" has been recently considered by Apex Court in State of Uttar Pradesh and others Vs. Aryaverth Chawl Udyoug and others (2016) 91 VST 1 (SC) wherein after referring to its earlier decisions in Binani Industries Limited, Kerala Vs. Assistant Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, VI Circle, Bangalore 2007 (15) SCC 435 and A.L.A. Firm Vs. Commissioner of Income-tax 1991 (2) SCC 558 the Court said as under:

"If a conscious application of mind is made to the relevant facts and material available or existing at the relevant point of time while making the assessment and again a different or divergent view is reached, it would tantamount to "change of opinion". If an assessing authority forms an opinion during the original assessment proceedings on the basis of material facts and subsequently finds it to be erroneous; it is not a valid reason under the law for reassessment."

9. In the present case, entire material which is now being taken into consideration for the purpose of impugned notice and approval granted was available before Assessing Authority and after having considered the same, assessment was made. Now authorities, taking a different view, have issued impugned notice. Thus, it is a clear case of change of opinion, hence reassessment is not permissible in view of aforesaid exposition of law."

13. It is further argued that in the impugned order, the respondent has relied upon a survey report dated 22.09.2009 submitted by the SIB Unit, for which no notice, whatsoever, was given by the respondent no. 1. The said survey report has been relied upon behind the back of the petitioner as the petitioner was neither put to any notice while issuing notice dated 18.02.2007 under section 29(2) of the VAT Act (Anneuxre No. 6 to the writ petition), nor before passing the impugned order dated 30.03.2017 (Anneuxre No.8 to the writ petition). Therefore, the impugned order, relying upon the survey report, is also bad. On the said point, the petitioner has relied upon the judgement in Hindustan Liver Limited Vs. R.W. Wadkar ACIT, reported in (2004) 268 ITR 332 (Bom.) at page 338; wherein, following observation has been made:-

"21. The reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer nowhere state that there was failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for the assessment of that assessment year. It is needless to mention that the reasons are required to be read as they were recorded by the Assessing Officer. No substitution or deletion is permissible. No additions can be made to those reasons. No inference can be allowed to be drawn based on reasons not recorded. It is for the Assessing Officer to disclose and open his mind through reasons recorded by him. He has to speak through his reasons. It is for the Assessing Officer to reach the conclusion as to whether there was failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment for the concerned assessment year. It is for the Assessing Officer to form his opinion. It is for him to put his opinion on record in black and white. The reasons recorded should be clear and unambiguous and should not suffer from any vagueness. The reasons recorded must disclose his mind. The reasons are the manifestation of the mind of the Assessing Officer. The reasons recorded should be self-explanatory and should not keep the assessee guessing for the reasons. Reasons provide the link between conclusion and evidence. The reasons recorded must be based on evidence. The Assessing Officer, in the event of challenge to the reasons, must be able to justify the same based on material available on record. He must disclose in the reasons as to which fact or material was not disclosed by the assessee fully and truly necessary for assessment of that assessment year, so as to establish the vital link between the reasons and evidence. That vital link is the safeguard against arbitrary reopening of the concluded assessment. The reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer cannot be supplemented by filing an affidavit or making an oral submission, otherwise, the reasons which were lacking in the material particulars would get supplemented, by the time the matter reaches the court, on the strength of the affidavit or oral submissions advanced."

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that even assuming, without admitting, that the survey report dated 22.09.2009 was to be taken into account, but the same were already considered by the then Assessing Authority while passing the original assessment order. Therefore, there is no fresh or tangible material or information to form a reasonable belief to have a live-link with the information of belief that a turnover has escaped assessment, which could legally be permitted for initiation of reassessment proceedings under section 29(7) of the VAT Act. At best, it can be said that it is only a change of opinion, which is not permissible under the Act. In support of this submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgements in CIT Vs. Kelvinator India Limited, reported in (2010) 320 ITR 561 (SC) and M/s Bharat Heavy Electronics Limited Vs. State of U.P. and Others (Writ Tax No. 181 of 2014, decided on 28.02.2017), (see pages 11, 12, 19 & 20). The relevant observations made in the judgement are quoted below:-

"It is settled law that the jurisdiction to initiate reassessment proceedings arises only after the assessing authority records his reason to believe that any turnover has escaped assessment Thus, not only is the belief of escapement essential but more importantly, it is necessary for the Assessing Authority to record his reason/s as to existence of the belief of such escapement. In Commissioner of Sales Tax Vs. Bhagwan Industries (P) Ltd. (1973) 31 STC 293 (SC) the phrase "reason to believe"appearing in a similar provision in Section 21 of the U.P, Sales Tax Act, 1948 providing for reassessment was interpreted thus:

"The words "reason to believe" in Section 21 of the U.P. Sales Tax Act convey that there must be some rational basis for the assessing authority to form the believe that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has, for any reason, escaped assessment to tax for some year. If there are, in fact, some reasonable grounds for the assessing authority to believe that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has escaped assessment, it can take action under the section. Reasonable grounds necessarily postulate that they must be germane to the formation of the belief regarding escaped assessment. If the ground are of an extraneous character, the same would not warrant initiation of proceedings under the above section. If, however, the grounds are relavant and have a nexus with the formation of belief regarding escaped assessment, the assessing authority would be clothed with jurisdiction to take action under the section. Whether the ground are adequate or not is not a matter which would be gone into by the High Court or the Supreme Court, for the sufficiency of the grounds which induced the assessing authority to act is not a justiciable issue. What can be challenged is the existence of the belief but not the sufficiency or reasons for the belief. At the same time, the belief must be held in good faith and should not be a mere pretence."

Applying the above principle, this court, in the case of Rathi Industries Limited Vs. State of U.P. and another has further elaborated-

From a perusal of the aforesaid, it is apparently clear that the words

"reason to believe" in Section 21 of the U.P. Trade Tax Act conveys that there must be some rational basis for the assessing authority to form a belief that the whole or any party of the turnover of a dealer has for any reasons escaped assessment. Such reason or reasonable ground to believe that the whole or any part of the turnover had escaped assessment must be germane to the formation of the believe regarding escaped assessment. Such reasons or grounds must have a nexus with the formation of the belief. The approach has to be practical and not pedantic."

In absence of any material it was not open to the authorities to assume existence of such facts for the purpose of acquiring jurisdiction and to later, in the course of reassessment proceedings to conduct an inquiry as to its existence or otherwise. The Supreme Court in the case of Arun Kumar & Ors Vs. Union of India & Ors (2007) 1 SCC 732 has categorically held :

74. A "jurisdictional fact" is a fact which must exist before a court, tribunal or an authority assumes jurisdiction over a particular matter. A jurisdictional fact is one on existence or non-existence of which depends jurisdiction of a court, a tribunal or an authority. It is the fact upon which an administrative agency's power to act depends. If the jurisdictional fact does not exist, the court, authority or officer cannot act. If a court or authority wrongly assumes the existence of such fact, the order can be questioned by a writ of certiorari. The underlying principle is that by erroneously assuming existence of such jurisdictional fact, no authority can confer upon itself jurisdiction which it otherwise does not possess.

75. In Halsbury's Laws of England, it has been stated:

"Where the jurisdiction of a tribunal is dependent on the existence of a particular state of affairs, that state of affairs my be described as preliminary to, or collateral to the merits if, the issue. If, at the inception of an inquiry by an inferior tribunal, a challenge is made to its jurisdiction, the tribunal has to make up its mind whether to act or not and can give a ruling on the preliminary or collateral issue; but that ruling it not conclusive."

76. The existence of jurisdictional fact is thus sine qua non or condition precedent for the exercise of power by a court of limited jurisdiction.

84. From the above decisions, it is clear that existence of "jurisdictional fact" is sine qua non for the exercise of power. If the jurisdictional fact exists, the authority can proceed with the case and take an appropriate decision in accordance with law. Once the authority has jurisdiction in the matter on existence of "jurisdictional fact", it can decide the "fact in issue" or "adjudicatory fact". A wrong decision on "fact in issue" or on "adjudicatory fact" would not make the decision of the authority without jurisdiction or vulnerable provided essential or fundamental fact as to existence of jurisdiction is present."

Thus we accept the contention of the petitioner that in this case, in the state of the reason to believe as contained in the proposal made by the petitioner's assessing authority, the jurisdictional fact of applicability of Rule 9 (3) of the Rules is not established.

15. It was further argued that while passing the original assessment order, the survey report dated 22.09.2009 was taken into account and the petitioner has given a satisfactory reply to the same as well. Even if the discovery of an inadvertent mistake or non-application of mind during the assessment would not be justifiable ground for re-initiating proceeding under section 29(7) of the Act.

16. In support of his submission, he has relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in State of U.P. Vs. Arayaverth Chawal Udyog Limited (2015) 17 SCC 324; wherein, in paragraph nos. 30 & 31, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"30. In case of there being a change of opinion, there must necessarily be a nexus that requires to be established between the "change of opinion" and the material present before the assessing authority. Discovery of an inadvertent mistake or non-application of mind during assessment would not be a justified ground to reinitiate proceedings Under Section 21(1) of the Act on the basis of change in subjective opinion (Commissioner of Income-tax v. Dinesh Chandra H. Shah: [1972] 3 SCC 231 : and Income-tax Officer v. Nawab Mir Barkat Ali Khan Bahadur: [1975] 4 SCC 360.

31. The above observations regarding the import of the words "reason to believe" though made in the context of different statutes have, in our opinion, equal bearing on the construction of those words in Section 21 of the Act."

17. Rebutting the contentions of the learned counsel for the petitioners, learned counsel for the respondents has argued that it is not a case of change of opinion. The petitioner is a builder and is making construction for and on behalf of the prospective buyers after getting the booking amount and in view of the latest judgement in the case of Larsen and Toubro Limited (supra), where it has been held that the material used in the execution of works contract is liable to be taxed as the works contractor enters into the agreement. In the case in hand, the petitioner has issued the letter of allotment to the prospective buyers and was receiving payments in installment, which itself shows that the petitioner has entered into an agreement and therefore, is liable to be taxed, accordingly and the same has escaped to tax at the time of passing the original assessment order. Therefore, the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

18. We have perused the record. It is beyond doubt that the reassessment proceedings have been initiated against the petitioner to reopen the completed assessment in view of the subsequent judgement of the Apex Court in Larsen and Toubro Limited (supra). It is admitted fact that at the time of passing of the original assessment order, the Assessing Authority has taken note of survey report dated 22.09.2009 and thereafter, passed the original assessment order holding that the petitioner is not liable for payment of tax on the material used in the execution of works contract.

19. The facts are not disputed. The petitioner has not entered into any tripartite agreement with the prospective buyers or with any development authority from whom the land was purchased. The petitioner, after purchase of the land from the development authority, has constructed the flats as per the layout plan sanctioned by the local authorities. The ownership of the flat was never transferred before its completion. The flats are sold by the petitioner only after its completion through registered sale deeds executed in favour of the interested buyers. The petitioner's business module has been same in the previous and subsequent years. For the assessment years 2004 - 05 and 2005-06 tax was levied, which was challenged before this Court in Writ Petition Nos. 997 & 1238 of 2006 and was allowed on 23.03.2007, against the said judgement, the State filed Special Leave Petition before the Apex Court and the Apex Court allowed the Special Leave Petition on the ground that against the assessment order, writ petition was not maintainable.

20. The petitioner contested the matter through the remedies provided under the Act and the Tribunal, by its order dated 11.06.2010, after recording a finding of fact, came to the conclusion that the petitioner was not liable for payment of tax on the material used in the execution of works contract, against which the Revenue preferred a Trade Tax Revision, which was dismissed by this Court on 20.09.2012 reported in 2012 VSTI (15) B-923. It has been accepted, at the Bar, that against the order dated 20.09.2012 passed by this Court in CCT Vs. S/s Assotech Ralty Pvt. Ltd 2012 VSTI (15) B-923, no appeal has been preferred before the Apex Court. The Department has accepted the order passed by this Court. Once an order, which has been passed and has been confirmed by this Court under the provision of the Act, the case in hand, then in absence of any new material being brought on record, the completed assessment should not have been reopened.

21. We are not entering into the merit of the case, but confining it to the reassessment proceeding under section 29 of the Act.

22. The proceeding of reassessment has been initiated on the basis of a subsequent judgement passed in the case of Larsen and Toubro Limited (supra). The Honb'le Apex Court, time and again, has held that completed assessment should not be reopened on the basis of subsequent judgement being given.

23. This Court in the case of M/s Samsung India Electronics Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. & 2 Others, reported in 2017 UPTC 63, in paragraph nos. 11, 14 & 15, has held as under:-

"11. Further, a subsequent judgment cannot be used to reopen assessments or disturb past assessments which have been concluded. [See Para 7, Austin Engineering V. JCIT (2009) 312 ITR 70 (Guj.) Para 4 and 5, Bear Shoes 2011 (331) ITR 435 (Mad.), B.J. Services Co. Middle East Ltd. v. Deputy Director (2011) 339 ITR 169 (Uttarakhand), Sesa Goa V. JCIT 2007 (294) ITR 101 (Bom.), Geo Miller and Co. 2004 (134) Taxmann 552 (Cal)]. Reliance is also placed on the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in MEPCO Industries V. CIT, (2010) 1 SCC 434, where the CIT on the basis of a subsequent decision of the Supreme Court sought to rectify his earlier order. The Hon'ble Court held that this would amount to a change of opinion.

14. Impugned notices are bad and against principles enunciated by Apex Court in afore quoted decisions. This renders the notices and orders bad and have been passed in colourable exercise of powers and are without jurisdiction.

15. This writ petition has to be allowed with cost as law is well settled that assessment once having become final should not have been reopened on the basis of judgment of the Apex Court. "

24. Similarly, the Apex Court, in the case of Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Simplex Concrete Piles (India) Limited reported in (2012) 25 taxmann.com 283 (SC) has held as under:-

"3. We see no error in the observation made by the Divisoin Bench of the High Court in the impugned judgement that once limitation period of four years provided under Section 147/149(1A) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (for short, Rs. The Act') expires then the question of reopening by the Department does not arise. In any event, at the relvant time, when the assessment order got completed, the law as declared by the jurisdictional High Court, was that the civil construction work carried out by the assessee would be entitled to the benefit of Section 80HH of the Act, which view was squarely revsersed in the case of CIT Vs. N.C. Budharaja & CO. (1993) 204 ITR 412/70 Taxman 312 (SC). The subsequent reversal of the legal position by the judgement of the Supreme Court does not authorize the Department to reopen the assessment, which stood closed on the basis of the law, as it stood at the relevant time."

25. In view of the above cited judgements and the principles enunciated therein, reopening of the proceeding of completed assessment in question renders bad and in colourable exercise of powers and without jurisdiction.

26. It is evidently clear that the assessment, once has become final, should not have been reopened on the basis of subsequent judgment of the Apex Court.

27. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, we are of the opinion that the present reassessment proceedings have been initiated on the basis of subsequent judgement of the Apex Court, which cannot be used to reopen assessment or disturb past assessment which have been concluded. The Department cannot be authorized to reopen the assessment, which stood closed on the basis of the law as it stood at the relevant time.

28. We also take judicial notice of the fact that the country is entering into a new era of taxation,i.e., Goods & Services Tax (GST), so the dealers and the Department are set to take up a new challenge of the said Goods & Services Tax. It will be in the interest of both, the dealers as well as the Department, that all old pending matters to be decided at the earliest and attain finality.

29. In the result, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The impugned order dated 30.03.2017 passed by the respondent no. 1 for the Assessment Year 2009-10 as well as the consequential notice dated 22.04.2017 for the Assessment Year 2009-10 issued by the respondent no. 2 are here by quashed.

(2019)10ILR A 1354

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 26.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE CHANDRA DHARI SINGH, J.

Contempt No. 2622 of 2015
&
15 Other Contempt Cases No. 2627 of 2015, 279 of 2016, 278 of 2016, 280 of 2016, 283 of 2016, 284 of 2016, 285 of 2016, 331 of 2016,

2007 of 2012, 2745 of 2012, 1657 of 2016, 95 of 2012, 97 of 2012, 3453 of 2011 & 2072 of 2017

Nirankar Pathak & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
Sri Ashish Goel & Ors. ...OppositeParties

Counsel for the Applicants:
Sri Ramesh Kumar Srivastava

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
Sri Ajay Kumar, Sri Bhanu Pratap Singh

A. Contempt of Courts Act, 1971- Section 2(b) - the contempt is between the Court and the contemnor and the aggrieved party cannot insist that the Court should exercise such jurisdiction-The discretion is exercised by the Court for maintenance of Court's dignity and majesty of law- Contempt jurisdiction is invoked and punishment is imposed to uphold the authority of Court to punish the contemnor and to act as a deterrent to others- This deterrent is motivated in the interest of the public in order to prevent future incidents of wilful disregard and disobedience of the Court orders by a party. (Para 22 to 43)

Contempt Application dismissed (E-6)

Case Law discussed: -

1. Mohd. Sartaj Vs St. of U.P. (2006) 2 SCC 313

2. Secretary A.P. Public Service Commission Vs Y. V.V.R. Srinivasulu & ors. (2003) 5 SCC 341

3. Rama Narang Vs Ramesh Narang & anr. (2006) 11 SCC 114

4. Nisha Kanto Roy Chowdhury Vs Smt. Saroj Bashini Goho AIR 1948 Calcutta 294

Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka & anr. Vs Messrs. Kapurchand Ltd. AIR 1950 Bombay 336

5. Ashok Paper Kamgar Union & ors. Vs Dharam Godha & ors. AIR 2004 SC 105

6. T.M.A. Pai Foundation Vs St. of Kar. (2002) 8 SCC 481

7. Amar Singh Vs K. P. Geetakrishnan

8. S. Balasubramaniyam Vs P. Janakaraju & anr. 2004 (5) Kar L.J. 338

9. Bank of baroda Vs Sadruddin Hasan Daya & anr. (2004) 1 SCC 360

10. Kanwar Singh Saini Vs H.C. of Delhi (2012) 4 SCC 307

11. Daroga Singh Vs B.K. Pandey [(2004) 5 SCC 26 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1521]

12. Niaz Mohammad & ors. Vs St. of HA. & Ors. (1994) 6 SCC 332

13. Ram Kishan Vs Tarun Bajaj & ors. (2014) 16 SCC 204

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. In all the contempt petitions, similar relief (s) has been prayed for by the applicants/petitioners, therefore, they are being decided collectively by this common order. For the sake of convenience, facts of Contempt Petition No.2622 of 2015 (Nirankar Pathak and others vs. Sri Ashish Goel, Posted As Prin. Secy. Basic Edu. Lko.& Ors.) are being taken up for deciding the matter.

2. All the contempt petitions have been filed for willful non-compliance of order dated 29.04.2008 passed by a Division Bench of this Court in a Bunch of Special Appeals leading Special Appeal No.530 of 2004 (U.P. Board of Basic Education vs. Om Prakash Shukla and others) by which it was directed to the opposite parties to consider the case of the appellants. The operative portion of the order reads as under:

"We, therefore, while upholding the order passed by the learned Single Judge direct that all such candidates be considered for being sent on training as per Rules and it norms by giving them preference but for that matter, age will not come in their way and their candidatures shall not be rejected merely on the ground of being over age.

Let aforesaid exercise be completed within a maximum period of two months. The candidates who are selected for being sent for Special B.T.C. Training Course shall be considered for appointment as per Rules. We further direct that all those candidates who have filed writ petitions and if they have worked, for any period, they shall be paid salary only for the period for which tehy had worked.

With the aforesaid directives, all the Special Appeals stands disposed of."

3. The brief facts of the case for proper adjudication of the contempt petitions are as follows:

i. On 19.01.1991, 315 posts of Assistant Teachers in Basic and Primary School, District Bahraich were advertised and the qualification of the candidates having B.T.C. or equivalent to B.T.C. were required. Some of the applicants, who had possessed B.Ed. degree have not been found eligible and their applications were not entertained. They have filed a Bunch of writ petitions leading No.2447 (S/S) of 1991 (Triveni Prasad Pandey and others vs. State of U.P. and others) before this Court. All the writ petitions were partly allowed by a common judgment and order dated 23.12.1992, against which the State of U.P. has preferred a Special Appeal bearing No.21 of 1993 (State of U.P. Vs. Triveni Prasad Pandey), which was dismissed on 01.11.2001. The Special Leave Petition was filed before the Hon'ble Suprme Court by the State against the judgment and order dated 01.11.2001 passed by the Division Bench. The Special Leave to Appeal was dismissed as withdrawn vide order dated 22.04.2002. Another Special Leave Petition has also been filed against the judgment and order dated 01.11.2001, which was also dismissed as withdrawn by the Hon'ble Apex Court vide order dated 01.08.2003.

ii. On 20.12.1995, nearly 1000 (one thousand) fresh vacancies of Assistant Teacher in Bahraich District were advertised in which the qualification was B.T.C. or equivalent to B.T.C. Against the said advertisement dated 20.12.1995, various writ petitions were filed. The said writ petitions were decided by common judgment and order dated 30.11.2002 extending the benefit of judgment and order dated 23.12.1992 passed in the Bunch of petitions leading No.2447 (S/S) of 1991 (Triveni Prasad Pandey and others vs. State of U.P. and others) and also the benefit of judgment and order dated 01.11.2001 passed in Special Appeal no.21 of 1993 (State of U.P. Vs. Triveni Prasad Pandey).

iii. Several contempt petitions were filed for non-compliance of the order dated 30.11.2012. The State of U.P. vide order dated 10.04.2003 and 28.05.2003 had given the appointment to all the candidates. They had joined their services.

iv. Vide order dated 07.08.2003; 08.08.2003 and 11.08.2003, the appointments so made as Assistant Teacher were cancelled by declaring all appointments as void abinitio.

v. Against the cancellation of the appointments, several writ petitions were filed before the High Court. Interim orders were also passed by the High Court in the writ petitions. During the pendency of the writ petitions, an advertisement dated 22.01.2004 was issued for the selection of Special B.T.C. training. Vide order dated 26.05.2004, the High Court, Lucknow Bench has modified the interim order to the extent that the result of the selection for Special B.T.C. Training can be declared but the selected candidates shall not be appointed on the post of Assistant Teachers occupied by the writ petitioners. It was further directed that 263 posts shall be kept vacant till the disposal of the writ petitions. Subsequently, all the writ petitions which were filed against the cancellation of the appointment were decided by common judgment and order dated 17.09.2004 passed by the learned Single Bench. The operative portion of the order reads as under :

"In view of the above, all the aforesaid writ petitions are disposed of finally with the following directions :

The impugned orders of cancellation of appointment in case of the petitioners who were party to the writ petitions which were decided as bunch of writ petitions vide judgment dated 13.12.1992, Annexure 7, are set aside. They will be reinstated on their posts on which they were working at the time of issuance of the impugned orders of cancellation of appointments. They shall also be paid salary for the period they have worked as Teacher. They will be considered for sending Special B. T. C. Course, 2004.

In case of the other petitioners who are not party in the writ petitions decided on 23.12.1992 vide judgment Annexure 7, the impugned orders for cancellation of appointment are set aside on the statement of Advocate General with the direction to the opposite parties to consider their cases for selection to the special B.T.C. course irrespective of the fact whether they have applied for the same or not. If they are found suitable in accordance with the amended provision under the Basic Teachers Education Rules, they will be sent for Special B.T.C. Course 2004 in preference of others. The age limit will not come in their way if they have crossed the upper age limit in litigating the matter after their appointment and if they were within the maximum age limit on the date of the earlier appointment they will be entitled to get relaxation in age if they are over age on the date of consideration for special B.T.C. These petitioners will be paid salary for the period they have worked and they will not be entitled to get any salary till they are sent for training to Special B.T.C. They will be given the same allowance during the training period which other candidates of Special B.T.C. shall be paid and after completion of Special B.T.C. they will be given appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher in primary schools like others.

These directions shall be complied with within a period of four weeks from the date of this judgment."

vi. Against the said order dated 17.09.2004, various special appeals had been filed and the said special appeals were decided by common judgment and order dated 29.04.2008. The judgment and order dated 29.04.2008 were not complied with by the State/opposite parties, then the applicants have filed various contempt petitions including the present one before this Court.

vii. The State Government had preferred Special Leave Petition before Hon'ble the Apex Court. Hon'ble the Apex Court vide order dated 26.09.2008, stayed the contempt proceedings pending before this court. Vide order dated 09.09.2011, the interim order dated 26.09.2008 was vacated. The State has filed the recall application of the order dated 09.09.2011, which was rejected vide order dated 07.12.2011 and the Hon'ble Apex Court directed to the opposite parties to comply with the judgment and order dated 29.04.2008 within a period of ten weeks.

viii. After the order dated 07.12.2011 passed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court, the Secretary, Basic Education had given an undertaking on 08.12.2011 to comply with the judgment and order dated 29.04.2008. On the basis of undertaking given, the Secretary, Basic Education has issued an order dated 06.03.2012 canceling the termination order dated 07.08.2003. Thereafter another Government Order dated 16.04.2012 was issued directing the Director of Basic Education, U.P., Lucknow to ensure the compliance of the order passed by this Court.

ix. Special Leave Petitions filed against the judgment and order dated 29.04.2008 came up for hearing on 03.09.2015, where statement was made that the process for issuance of appointment letters were in process and the decision shall be taken within four weeks. Vide order dated 14.10.2015, all the Special Leave Petitions were dismissed. The State has filed a recall application for recall of judgment and order dated 14.10.2015 but the same had been dismissed as withdrawn vide order dated 09.09.2016. The State has filed a review application for reviewing of the judgment and order dated 14.10.2015 before Hon'ble the Apex Court, which was also dismissed vide order dated 12.04.2017.

4. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners has submitted that all the respondents have full knowledge of the judgment and order dated 17.09.2004, 29.04.2008 and 14.10.2015 but all the opposite parties were sitting tight over the matter and not complying with the directions given by this Hon'ble Court as well as the undertaking given before Hon'ble the Apex Court.

5. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that against the common judgment and order dated 17.09.2003, various Special Appeals were filed by the respondents. While deciding all the Special Appeals, the Division Bench of this Court directed the opposite parties to consider the applicants for being sent on training within the maximum period of two months vide order dated 29.04.2008. The petitioners have served the copy of judgment upon the Basic Shiksha Adhikari on 07.06.2008 and the secretary Basic Education. The opposite parties have not complied with the orders passed by the Division Bench of this Court in the Special Appeals and the petitioners were not sent for the training as directed by the Court though all the petitioners are fully eligible and qualified to be sent for training of B.T.C. Course. When no action was taken on the basis of the judgment and order dated 29.04.2008, then the petitioners have filed the contempt petition bearing no.1485 of 2008. In the said contempt petition, notices were issued to the responsible officers i.e. the Secretary Basic Education, U.P., Lucknow, Director of Education Basic.

6. The learned counsel for the petitioners also submitted that after receiving the notice under the Contempt of Courts Act, the opposite parties have preferred a Civil Appeal No.7792-78110 of 2011 before Hon'ble the Apex Court. Hon'ble the Apex Court has stayed the contempt proceedings. It is submitted that the said stay was vacated vide order dated 09.09.2011. The State had filed a recall application before Hon'ble the Apex Court and the same was rejected vide order dated 07.12.2011. The State has filed second application for recall of order dated 09.09.2011 but again the Hon'ble Apex Court had rejected the application for recall of order dated 09.09.2011 and directed the opposite parties to comply with the directions issued by the Division Bench of the High Court vide order dated 29.04.2008. The contempt petition was listed on 08.12.2011 on which date the then Secretary Basic Education has given an undertaking that the order of the High Court dated 29.04.2008 will be complied with within the period extended by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. On the statement/undertaking given by the then Secretary, Basic Education the contempt petition was dismissed on 08.12.2011.

7. Th learned counsel for the petitioners further submitted that the Civil Appeal Nos. 7792 - 78110 of 2011 have also been dismissed on 14.10.2015 by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the opposite parties have full knowledge of the judgment and order dated 17.09.2004, 29.04.2008 and 14.10.2015 but they have not complied with the orders passed by this Hon'ble Court as well as by Hon'ble the Apex Court. Therefore, the action of the opposite parties are deliberate, intentional and amounts to contempt of this Hon'ble Court and the opposite parties are liable to be punished under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971.

8. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that in the earlier contempt petition bearing No.1485 of 2008, an application for recall of the order dated 08.12.2011 was moved but since the said application is not maintainable, therefore, the present petition is preferred.

9. The learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that on 23.12.2016, the Coordinate Bench of this Hon'ble Court has directed the opposite parties to re-examine the issue and file an affidavit of compliance. In pursuance of the order dated 23.12.2016, the opposite party no.5 instead of re-examining the issue, has constituted a Committee of Director, Rajya Shaikshik Anusandhan Evam Prashikshan Parishad, Uttar Pradesh Lucknow who submitted its report on 10.02.2017 to the opposite party no.5 and on the basis of which, the opposite party no.5 has sought information from the then learned Advocate General and after receiving the information, the opposite party no.5 issued a letter to the opposite party no.2 and Director, S.C.E.R.T. Lucknow on 08.03.2017 that too without application of mind. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that on the basis of the judgment and order dated 29.04.2008, 27 candidates belonging to the Ist Category, the proceedings of reinstatement be done and further proceeding for sending the training of one Gita Sonker be started but nothing has been done in respect of the 229 candidates belonging to the category II, III and IV.

10. It is submitted that the contents of the report of the committee related to the disputes of the illegal appointment of Assistant Teachers of District Bahraich inspite of the facts that this Hon'ble Court was set aside the order of cancellation of the appointment and Special Leave Petition filed by the opposite parties had been dismissed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Therefore, the recommendation of the Committee is nothing but amounts to contempt of this Court.

11. The learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners submitted that in respect of the candidates belonging to the Category II, III and IV, the Committee had given its finding that this Court has decided to send the candidates on training according to the Rules. The committee has further recorded the finding that the appointment of the Assistant Teacher are to be made according to the U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981, which has been framed under the provisions of the U.P. Basic Education Act, 1972 and all the applicants were appointed on the basis of qualification of B.Ed./L.T. but the said qualification was not included in the Service Rules of 1981. The committee has further accorded the finding that all appointments were illegal. The committee has recorded the finding that from time to time the State Government has issued Government Order for training of B.Ed. candidates after approval from N.C.T.E. such as Special B.T.C. 2004.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioners also submitted that the committee has extended its brief in recording the finding that according to the present guidelines of N.C.T.E., the candidates having B.Ed. qualification are not eligible for appointment as Assistant Teacher in Primary School from Class 1 to 5. The Committee has further recorded the finding that if the Government is taken the decision to send them for training then in such situation, separate training of Special B.T.C. will be required for which approval from N.C.T.E. will be required.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the report of the committee dated 10.02.2017 is perverse and incorrect on the following grounds :

(a) The order of cancellation of appointment was set aside and opposite parties were directed to consider the candidates for training of Special B.T.C. under the amended provisions of the Service Rules. The judgment of this Hon'ble Court dated 17.09.2004 was same for all the categories but committee has failed to understood the same judgment and order dated 17.09.2004.

(b) This Hon'ble Court while upholding the judgment of the Hon'ble Single Judge dated 17.09.2004 in Special Appeal has directed on 29.04.2008 that all such candidates be considered for being sent on training as per Rules and its norms by giving them preference, hence, this manner the finding of the Committee is perverse in nature in respect of Category II, III and IV.

(c) There is no difference of candidature of category I and candidates of category II, III and IV but the committee has adopted different creation in respect of category I and II and III and IV. Hence, the finding in respect of the category II, III and IV is perverse.

(d) The Committee in its report at para 2 page 21 has recorded the finding to the effect that this Hon'ble Court vide its judgment dated 29.04.2008 says that such candidate who are under zone of candidature of Special B.T.C. of 2004, will be considered for appointment according to Rule but this Hon'ble Court has not said any word in such manner, hence, the finding of the committee is perverse in nature.

(e) The Committee has considered the procedure provided in the Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004 but these Government orders are not applicable as the vacancy relates to the year of 1995 and these Government Orders were issued specially to provide Special B.T.C. Course to 46189 candidates holding B.Ed./L.T. qualification. Hence, the finding of the committee is perverse in nature.

(f) By the Government Order dated 20.02.2004 the candidature of C.P.Ed., D.P.Ed. and B.P.Ed. were only included but the Committee has applied the said Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004 in the case of category II, III and IV. Hence the finding of the Committee is perverse in nature.

(g) The vacancy in respect of the candidates of category II, III and IV are relates to the year of 1995, hence the decision of the Committee which is based on the basis of the Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004 is incorrect and perverse in nature.

(h) The committee has also considered the appointments which were made in district Basti, Gorakhpur and Mahrajganj but the fact of the present case are also absolutely different. Hence considering the appointment of other district and including the present case goes the report perverse.

(i) The Committee while giving his report dated 10.02.2017 has not given any preference to the applicants and examine the case of the applicants only on the basis of the Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004 that too are not applicable in the present case. Hence, the finding of the committee is absolutely perverse and utter violation of the judgment and order passed by the Hon'ble Single Judge as well as by the Hon'ble Division Bench.

(j) The committee in his report has recorded the finding that if a decision for sending the category II, III and IV candidate for training is taken from the State Government for special B.T.C. course then the approval from N.C.T.E. is required but doing so further, committee has taken just opposite decision applying the Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004, hence the report of the Committee is contradictory in nature itself and made the report perverse.

(k) The committee has relied on a Government Order dated 14.01.2004 and 20.02.2004 for considering the case of the applicants for being sent for training instead of considering the case of the applicants under the Rule of 1981 in utter violation of the judgment and order passed by Hon'ble Single Judge as well as by the Division Bench.

14. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that from the facts stated hereinabove, it clear that the report of the committee is perverse in nature and on the basis of the such report, the opposite party no.5 has issued letter on 08.03.2017 and thereafter has filed the compliance report before this Hon'ble court, which is liable to be rejected. Learned counsel submits that from the facts and circumstances stated above, till today, the judgment and order dated 17.09.2004, 29.04.2008 have not been complied with and the action of the opposite parties is deliberate, intentional and therefore, amounts to contempt of this Hon'ble Court and they are liable to be punished under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971.

15. Per contra, Learned Advocate General appearing on behalf of the State has submitted that prior to enactment of the U.P. Act No.34 of 1972, the U.P. Municipal Board Educational Establishment Service Rules, 1954 was made under sub-section (2) of the Section 73 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916; and under Part XI Rule 26 of the Rules 1954, the training qualifications for appointment as Basic Education Teacher were prescribed as H.T.C. (Hindustani Teachers' Certificate), J.T.C. (Junior Teachers' Certificate), P.T.C. (Primary Teacher's Certificate) and V.T.C. (Vernacular Teachers' Certificate). It has also been submitted that after constitution of Educational Code of Uttar Pradesh, the appointment of untrained as Basic Teacher was barred. Later on the U.P. Basic Education Act, 1972 was enacted and the Board of Basic Education, U.P. was constituted. Since statutory rules were not made, as such, in absence of statutory rules, the Board issued a Circular dated 25.04.1973 determining the conditions/procedure and qualifications for appointment as a teacher in the Basic institutions under Clause 4 of the said Circular, which were C.T., J.T.C., B.T.C. and H.T.C. On 03.01.1981 the U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981 came into force and the Circular of the Board dated 25.04.1973 automatically became ineffective.

16. The learned Advocate General has submitted that an advertisement was issued on 22.01.1991 by the Additional Director (Basic Education), Faizabad against about 1200 vacancies prescribing training qualification of B.T.C., out of which 315 posts were for District Bahraich. Against the advertisement dated 22.01.1991, 258 applications were submitted by B.T.C. training holders and 53 by B.Ed./L.T. Training holders but no appointment of any training holder (even of B.T.C.) was made against the said advertisement, as such, the petitioners applications were not considered and after the expiry of one year i.e. on 21.01.1992, the said advertisement itself became ineffective. A Bunch of seven writ petitions against the advertisement dated 19/22.01.1992 was filed, which were partly allowed by this Hon'ble Court on 23.12.1992 and the opposite parties were directed that in case sufficient number of B.T.C. trained candidates are not available for appointment as Assistant Teachers in the Basic Schools, the petitioners who have qualified for appointment on the basis of advertisement dated 22.01.1991 be appointed as Assistant Teachers in the Basic Schools managed and run by the opposite parties, within a period of three weeks.

17. The learned Advocate General has further submitted that another advertisement was made by the B.S.A, Bahraich on 19.12.1995 prescribing B.T.C. training as eligibility qualification and against the said advertisement dated 19.12.1995, 416 applications of B.T.C. training holders and 325 applications of B.Ed./L.T. Training - holders were received.

Judgment dated 23.12.1992 was challenged in Special Appeal No.21 of 1993 filed by the Board, which was dismissed on 01.11.2001. Special Leave Petition of the Board bearing no.3267 (CC) of 2002 (Basic Shiksha Parishad vs. Triveni Prasad Pandey) was got dismissed as withdrawn.

18. In pursuance of the advertisement dated 19.12.1995, several applications were wrongly made by the B.Ed./L.T. Training holders and on the event of their non-consideration, a Bunch of 112 writ petitions was filed which were decided by this Hon'ble Court on 30.11.2002 with direction to the opposite parties to consider the case of petitioners having B.Ed. or L.T. Qualifications for appointment as Assistant Teacher in Basic Schools, if sufficient number of B.T.C. qualification holders are not available for selection. It has been submitted that the B.S.A. of Bahraich District made 263 appointments in compliance to the judgment and order dated 23.11.1992 and 01.11.2001 and the State Government vide G.O. dated 07.08.2003 declared the said appointment as void ab-initio and in pursuance to aforesaid Government Order, Director, Basic Education, U.P. issued order dated 08.08.2003 and in pursuance thereto, all the appointments were cancelled by the then B.S.A.

19. The learned Advocate General has further submitted that against the Government Order dated 07.08.2003 as well as the order dated 08.08.2003 passed by the Director, Basic Education, 19 writ petitions were filed by the candidates of District Bahraich, which were commonly decided vide order dated 17.09.2004. Nineteen Special Appeals against the judgment dated 17.09.2004 and several Special Appeals against the judgment dated 30.11.2002 were filed before this Hon'ble Court and the same were decided on 29.04.2008 with direction that all such candidates be considered for being sent on training as per rules and it norms by giving them preference, but for that matter, age will not come in their way and their candidatures shall not be rejected merely on the ground of being over age. In another bunch of appeals, it has been observed that in view of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Mohd. Sartaj vs. State of U.P.; (2006) 2 SCC 313, there hardly remains any controversy in this regard that the candidates who are not possessing B.T.C. training qualification are not entitled for being appointed as Assistant Teachers in Primary Schools and the orders passed by the learned Single Judge is liable to be set aside, which is hereby set aside.

20. It has been submitted by the learned Advocate General that Bunch of writ petitions filed at Allahabad assailing the decisions of the authorities dated 30.01.2008 and other dates was jointly decided on 12.04.2013 considering both the judgments of Hon'ble Lucknow Bench dated 17.09.2004 and 29.04.2008. The judgment dated 12.04.2013 was assailed in nine special appeals (leading no.1031 of 2013 - Sanjay Kumar Chaubey vs. State) and are pending at Allahabad but no interim orders have been passed even till date.

21. It has been submitted that in compliance to order dated 10.02.2017 passed in the present contempt petition, a three Member Committee (Director - S.C.E.R.T., Director - Basic and Secretary - Board) was constituted who submitted its detailed report on 10.02.2017 and in pursuance of the said report, the matter was reconsidered and decided by the State Government on 08.03.2017 that as per the judgment dated 29.04.2008, 27 candidates of first category who are appointed on untrained grade be reinstated and as per the direction of the Hon'ble Court, they should also be paid their salary for the period they have actually work and one candidate Miss Geeta Sonkar who could not be sent for Special B.T.C. training on account of the non-availability of her application in Special B.T.C. 2004 be sent for training.

22. In support of his arguments, learned Advocate General has relied on the judgment of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Secretary, A.P. Public Service Commission vs. Y. V.V.R. Srinivasulu and others reported at 2003 (5) SCC 341 wherein in para 10 and 11 the following has been held :

"10. Both on account of the scheme of selection and the various stages disclosed as necessary to be undergone by every candidate and the manner of actual selection for the appointment in question, the candidates were required to be selected finally for appointment on the basis of the ranks obtained by them in terms of the inter se ranking based on the merit of their respective performance. There is no escape for anyone from this ordeal and claim for any en bloc favoured treatment merely because, anyone of them happened to possess an additional qualification than the relevant basic/general qualification essential for even applying to the post. The word "preference" in our view is capable of different shades of meaning taking colour from the context, purpose and object of its use under the scheme of things envisaged. Hence, it is to be construed not in an isolated or detached manner, ascribing a meaning of universal import, for all contingencies capable of an invariable application. The procedure for selection in the case involve, a qualifying test, a written examination and oral test or interview and the final list of selection has to be on the basis of the marks obtained in them. The suitability and all round merit, if had to be adjudged in that manner only what justification could there be for overriding all these merely because, a particular candidate is in possession of an additional qualification on the basis of which, a preference has also been envisaged. The rules do not provide for separate classification of those candidates or apply different norms of selection for them. The 'preference' envisaged in the rules, in our view, under the scheme of things and contextually also cannot mean, an absolute en bloc preference akin to reservation or separate and distinct method of selection for them alone. A mere rule of preference meant to give weightage to the additional qualification cannot be enforced as a rule of reservation or rule of complete precedence. Such a construction would not only undermine the scheme of selection envisaged through Public Service Commission, on the basis of merit performance but also would work great hardship and injustice to those who possess the required minimum educational qualification with which they are entitled to compete with those possessing additional qualification too, and demonstrate their superiority, merit wise and their suitability for the post. It is not to be viewed as a preferential right conferred even for taking up their claims for consideration. On the other hand, the preference envisaged has to be given only when the claims of all candidates who are eligible are taken for consideration and when anyone or more of them are found equally positioned, by using the additional qualification as a tilting factor, in their favour vis-a-vis others in the matter of actual selection.

11. Whenever, a selection is to be made on the basis of merit performance involving competition, and possession of any additional qualification or factor is also envisaged to accord preference, it cannot be for the purpose of putting them as a whole lot ahead of others, dehors their intrinsic worth or proven inter se merit and suitability, duly assessed by the competent authority. Preference, in the context of all such competitive scheme of selection would only mean that other things being qualitatively and quantitatively equal, those with the additional qualification have to be preferred. There is no question of eliminating all others preventing thereby even an effective and comparative consideration on merits, by according en bloc precedence in favour of those in possession of additional qualification irrespective of the respective merits and demerits of all candidates to be considered. If it is to be viewed they way the High Court and Tribunal have chosen to, it would amount to first exhausting in the matter of selection all those, dehors their inter se merit performance, only those in possession of additional qualification and take only thereafter separately those with ordinary degree and who does not possess the additional qualification. Assuming for consideration without even accepting the same to be right or correct view to be taken, at least among the class or category of those possessing the additional qualification, inter se merit performance should be the decisive factor for actual selection for appointment and relief could not have been granted to respondents for the mere asking only on the basis of the interpretation of the provision to some one who came to court, ignoring the fact that those before the court at any rate in spite of the view taken do not come up to the level of selection considered in the context of numerous others with higher ranks of merit performance, in addition to they being also in possession of the additional qualification, as those before the court. That apart, the old rule relating to the post of ACTO, which has become obsolete having been superseded, or even the advertisement if it has stated on the basis of the obslete rule, that preference will be given first to candidates who possess a degree in Commerce and degree in Law, secondly to those who possess a degree in Commerce and thirdly to those who possess a degree in Law, cannot either support the claim of the respondents No.1 to 3 nor in any manner lend credence to the interpretation placed by the High Court and the Tribunal. The word 'first' has to be construed in the context of even giving preference only in the order and manner indicated therein, inter se among more than one holding such different class of degrees in addition and not to be interpreted vis-a-vis others who do not possess such additional qualification, to completely exclude them, en bloc."

23. The learned Advocate General has lastly submitted that in compliance to the judgments dated 17.09.2004 and 29.04.2008 and also in compliance to order of Hon'ble Contempt Court dated 23.12.2006, the matter in dispute has been reconsidered and finally decided by the State Government vide order dated 08.03.2017, as such, the orders have been complied with and nothing is left in the present contempt petition and the present contempt petition is liable to be dismissed. However, if the petitioners are aggrieved with such compliance, they may approach in fresh proceedings.

24. I have heard learned counsel for both the parties at length and perused the materials available on record.

25. In order to decide whether the opposite parties are guilty of civil contempt, I would like to refer to Section 2(b) of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971, which reads as under:-

"2. Definitions:

In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires-

XXXXX

(b) "civil contempt" means willful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or willful breach of an undertaking given to a court;"

Referring to the aforesaid Section, the Supreme Court in Rama Narang versus Ramesh Narang and Another, (2006) 11 SCC 114 had referred to the Contempt of Courts Act, 1952, which did not contain many of the provisions of the Act, for the Legislature had left formulation of the law of contempt to the Courts, which had resulted in conflicting views expressed by different High Courts. Reference was made to the conflicting view expressed by the Calcutta High Court in Nisha Kanto Roy Chowdhury versus Smt. Saroj Bashini Goho, AIR 1948 Calcutta 294 and the Bombay High Court in Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka and Another versus Messrs. Kapurchand Limited, AIR 1950 Bombay 336.

26. According to section 2(b) of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 civil contempt means willful disobedience to any judgement, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or willful breach of an undertaking given to a court.

27. Thus, from the above, it can be ascertained that there are two important essentials to constitute civil contempt:

i. Disobedience of any judgement, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or an undertaking given to the court. There should be disobedience of a valid order to constitute contempt of court. An order includes all kinds of judgements, orders-final, preliminary, ex-parte, contempt order. Disobedience of a decree, direction, writ or other process of a court, or an undertaking given to the court, will also amount to contempt of court.

ii. The Disobedience or breach must be willful, deliberate and intentional. It is well settled that mere disobedience or breach of the court's order by the person is not sufficient to constitute civil contempt. Such a disobedience or breach must be willful, deliberate and intentional.

28. In the case of Ashok Paper Kamgar Union And Ors. vs Dharam Godha And Ors. reported at AIR 2004 SC 105, Hon'ble the Apex Court has examined the provisions of section 2 (b) of the Contempt of Court Act 1971 that defines the terms of Civil Contempt and held that the term 'Wilful' means an act or omission which is done voluntarily and intentionally and with the specific intent to do something the law forbids or with the specific intent to fail to do something the law requires to be done, that is to say with bad purpose either to disobey or to disregard the law. It signifies a deliberate action done with evil intent or with a bad motive or purpose. Therefore, in order to constitute contempt, the order of the Court must be of such a nature which is capable of execution by the person charged in normal circumstances. It should not require any extra ordinary effort nor should be dependent, either wholly or in part, upon any act or omission of a third party for its compliance. This has to be judged having regard to the facts and circumstances of each case.

29. According to the Oxford Dictionary, contempt is the state of being despised or dishonored; disgrace. Any conduct that tends to bring the authority and administration of law into disrespect or disregard or to interfere with or prejudice parties or their witness during litigation is considered to be contempt of Court. The contempt is defined by Halsbury, as consisting of words spoken or written which obstruct or tends to obstruct the administration of justice. The Indian legislature does not provide with a concrete definition of contempt, however section 2(a) of The Contempt of Courts, 1971 says "contempt of court means civil contempt or criminal contempt'. Section 2(b) & section 2(c) of The Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 defines civil and criminal contempt. Although the legislature has not defined what amounts to contempt, it has defined civil and criminal contempt. Thus contempt cannot be confined to four walls of a definition. Therefore, what would offend the court's dignity and what would lower the court's prestige is thus a matter which can be decided by the court itself and it's for the court to deal with each case of contempt under the facts and circumstances of that case.

30. If the order whose contempt is alleged involves more than one reasonable and rational interpretation and the respondent adopts one of them and acts in accordance with one such interpretation, he cannot be held liable for contempt of court. However, this defense is available only when a bonafide question of interpretation arises. In case of T.M.A. Pai Foundation vs. State of Karnataka (2002) 8 SCC 481, it was held that this defense would not be allowed if a doubt about the order has been deliberately created when actually there is no doubt at all. It is well settled that in proceedings for civil contempt, it would be a valid defence that the compliance of the order is impossible. However, the cases of impossibility must be distinguished from the cases of mere difficulty. In case of Amar Singh vs. K. P. Geetakrishnan, the court granted certain pensionary benefits to a large number of retired employees with effect from a particular back date. The plea of impossibility was taken on the ground that the implementation of the order would result in heavy financial burden on the exchequer. However, the plea of impossibility was rejected by the court with the observation that although it's difficult to comply with the order but it's not impossible to comply and therefore, it should be complied with.

31. In the case of the S. Balasubramaniyam vs P. Janakaraju and another reported at 2004 (5) Kar L.J. 338, the High Court of Karnatka observed that the orders of Courts have to be obeyed unless and until they are set aside in appeal/revision.

32. While elucidating on the principles relating to contempt law the Court remarked that the definition of Civil Contempt includes willful breach of an undertaking given to a Court. Public interest requires that solemn undertakings given to a Court with the intention of obtaining any benefit should not be breached willfully. No litigant can be allowed to wriggle away from a solemn undertaking given to the Court, as it will open dangerous trends and defeat the very purpose of giving undertakings to Court. It was further observed that once litigants give an undertaking to a Court, they should comply with it in all circumstances, the only exceptions being fraud or statutory bar. They cannot break an undertaking with impunity and then attempt to justify it. The breach of solemn undertaking given to a Court is a serious matter and will have to be dealt with seriously.

33. The Bombay High Court, in Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka and Another (supra) had drawn a distinction between execution proceedings and proceedings for contempt which arise from wilful default of an undertaking. The judgment referred to the long standing practice as per which the expression "undertaking" had come to acquire a technical and legal meaning and understanding. It was observed that the expression "when a party undertakes" is used to give an undertaking to the Court as distinct from when a counsel states that he undertakes on behalf of his client. When a person gives an undertaking to the Court, it is not given to the other side but to the Court itself, and that being said must carry sanctity. Therefore, when a Court passes a decree after an undertaking was embodied in the consent terms, it would show that the Court had sanctioned the particular course and put its imprimatur on the consent terms. The Supreme Court agreed with the view expressed in Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka and Another (supra) in preference over the view expressed in by the Calcutta High Court in Nisha Kanto Roy Chowdhury (supra). Thereafter, reference was made to Sanyal Committee report, which had preceded framing of the enactment of the Act and thereupon interpreting Section 2(b) of the Act the Supreme Court in Rama Narang (supra) had observed:-

"18. The Act has been duly widened. It provides inter alia for definitions of the terms and lays down firmer bases for exercise of the court's jurisdiction in contempt. Section 2(b) of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 defines civil contempt as meaning "wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or wilful breach of an undertaking given to a court". (emphasis supplied) Analysed, the definition provides for two categories of cases, namely, (1) wilful disobedience to a process of court, and (2) wilful breach of an undertaking given to a court. As far as the first category is concerned, the word "any" further indicates the wide nature of the power. No distinction is statutorily drawn between an order passed after an adjudication and an order passed by consent. This first category is separate from the second and cannot be treated as forming part of or taking colour from the second category. The legislative intention clearly was to distinguish between the two and create distinct classes of contumacious behaviour. Interestingly, the courts in England have held that the breach of a consent decree of specific performance by refusal to execute the agreement is punishable by way of proceedings in contempt (see C.H. Giles and Co. Ltd. v. Morris [(1972) 1 All ER 960 : (1972) 1 WLR 307 (Ch D)])..

34. It is to be, therefore, clearly understood that Section 2(b) of the Act, which defines civil contempt, consists of two different parts and categories, namely, (i) wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court and (ii) wilful breach of an undertaking given to a Court. The expression "any" used with reference to the first category indicates the wide nature of power given to the Court and that the statute does not draw a difference between an order passed after adjudication or an order passed by consent. The first part or category is distinct and cannot be treated as a part or taking colour from the second category. The Supreme Court consciously observed that the Courts in England have held that breach of consent decree of performance by refusal to execute an agreement was punishable by way of contempt proceedings. With reference to the second part, in Rama Narang (supra) it was observed that giving of an undertaking is distinct from a consent order recording compromise. In the latter case of violation of compromise, no question of contempt arises, but the party can enforce the order of compromise either by execution or injunction from a Court. However, in the former case, when there is wilful disobedience, contempt application and proceedings would be maintainable.

35. In Rama Narang (supra), several suits inter se and legal proceedings between the second wife of the deceased and her step sons were compromised, with both the parties agreeing that the suits/proceedings be disposed of in terms of the settlement agreement by minutes of the consent order. Consent contained various terms agreed upon by the parties. Allegations were that the step sons had not complied with the consent terms consequent to which contempt proceedings were initiated for willful disobedience. In this case, the Supreme Court relied upon first part/category mentioned in Section 2(b), i.e., wilful violation of any order or decree that would amount to contempt. It was observed that a consent decree is a compromise by way of command or a contract and the Bombay High Court‟s view in Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka and Another (supra) correctly holds that a consent decree is a contract with imprimatur of the Court, which means authorised and approved by the Court. Such decrees are executable under the Code of Civil Procedure, but merely because an order or decree is executable would not take away the Court‟s jurisdiction to deal with the matter under the Act, provided the Court is satisfied that the violation of the order or decree is such that if proved, it would warrant punishment under Section 13 of the Act on the ground that the contempt substantially interferes or tends to substantially interfere with the course of justice. Reference was made to Bank of Baroda versus Sadruddin Hasan Daya and Another, (2004) 1 SCC 360 wherein the ratio in Bajranglal Gangadhar Khemka and Another (supra) that violation or breach of an undertaking, which becomes part of the court decree itself, amounts to contempt, irrespective of whether it is open to the decree holder to execute the decree, was upheld. This, it was observed was the law and it cannot be argued that if the party aggrieved can execute a decree per se, it can be a defence having bearing on the contempt proceedings.

36. In Kanwar Singh Saini versus High Court of Delhi, (2012) 4 SCC 307, the Supreme Court had cautioned that if there is non-compliance of a decree passed in a civil suit, the remedy available to an aggrieved person in case of non-compliance of a decree passed in a civil suit is to institute execution proceedings under Order XXI Rule 32 of the Code, which provides for elaborate proceedings in which the parties can adduce evidence, examine and cross-examine witnesses. Proceedings under the Act are discretionary and, therefore, when the matter relates to infringement of a decree or decretal order that embodies rights, it may not be expedient to invoke and exercise contempt jurisdiction. The Supreme Court had referred to civil contempt as defined in Section 2(b) of the Act to mean wilful breach of an undertaking as distinct from criminal contempt. In civil contempt, disobedience of a civil action is a matter involving private rights of a party, albeit contempt jurisdiction is exercised when administration of justice is undermined if the order of the competent court is permitted to be disregarded with impunity. Criminal contempt, on the other hand, is predicated on public interest. In cases of civil contempt where the civil contempt jurisdiction is invoked, there should be violation of judgment, decree, direction or order and such disobedience should be wilful and intentional. In cases of execution, an executing court may not be bothered whether the disobedience was wilful or not, as the Court was bound to execute the decree irrespective of the consequences. In contempt proceedings, however, the Court may not direct execution if the disobedience has been under compelling circumstances and in that situation, no punishment need be awarded. In the said case, criminal contempt proceedings were quashed. Kanwar Singh Saini (supra), makes reference to Daroga Singh versus B.K. Pandey, (2004) 5 SCC 26 and other judgments and has observed:-

In Daroga Singh v. B.K. Pandey [(2004) 5 SCC 26 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1521], the Court rejected the plea of the contemnors that the High Court could not initiate the contempt proceedings in respect of the contempt of the courts subordinate to it placing reliance upon earlier judgments in Bathina Ramakrishna Reddy v. State of Madras [AIR 1952 SC 149 : 1952 Cri LJ 832] , Brahma Prakash Sharma v. State of U.P. [AIR 1954 SC 10 : 1954 Cri LJ 238] and State of M.P. v. Revashankar [AIR 1959 SC 102 : 1959 Cri LJ 251] . The Court further explained the scope of contempt proceedings observing: (Daroga Singh case [(2004) 5 SCC 26 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1521] , SCC pp. 46-47, para 33) :

"33. ... For the survival of the rule of law the orders of the courts have to be obeyed and continue to be obeyed unless overturned, modified or stayed by the appellate or revisional courts. The court does not have any agency of its own to enforce its orders. The executive authority of the State has to come to the aid of the party seeking implementation of the court orders. The might of the State must stand behind the court orders for the survival of the rule of the court in the country. Incidents which undermine the dignity of the courts should be condemned and dealt with swiftly. ... If the judiciary has to perform its duties and functions in a fair and free manner, the dignity and the authority of the courts has to be respected and maintained at all stages and by all concerned failing which the very constitutional scheme and public faith in the judiciary runs the risk of being lost."

37. It would be relevant and important to understand meaning of the term "wilful disobedience'. The word "wilful' as defined in dictionaries means Contempt purposely without reference to bona fides, deliberately, intentionally with evil intention, wantonly and causelessly. The Supreme Court in Niaz Mohammad and Others versus State of Haryana and Others, (1994) 6 SCC 332 explaining the expression "wilful disobedience' had held:-

"9. Section 2(b) of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act') defines "civil contempt" to mean "wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court ...". Where the contempt consists in failure to comply with or carry out an order of a court made in favour of a party, it is a civil contempt. The person or persons in whose favour such order or direction has been made can move the court for initiating proceeding for contempt against the alleged contemner, with a view to enforce the right flowing from the order or direction in question. But such a proceeding is not like an execution proceeding under Code of Civil Procedure. The party in whose favour an order has been passed, is entitled to the benefit of such order. The court while considering the issue as to whether the alleged contemner should be punished for not having complied with and carried out the direction of the court, has to take into consideration all facts and circumstances of a particular case. That is why the framers of the Act while defining civil contempt, have said that it must be wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court. Before a contemner is punished for non-compliance of the direction of a court, the court must not only be satisfied about the disobedience of any judgment, decree, direction or writ but should also be satisfied that such disobedience was wilful and intentional. The civil court while executing a decree against the judgment-debtor is not concerned and bothered whether the disobedience to any judgment, or decree was wilful. Once a decree has been passed it is the duty of the court to execute the decree whatever may be consequence thereof. But while examining the grievance of the person who has invoked the jurisdiction of the court to initiate the proceeding for contempt for disobedience of its order, before any such contemner is held guilty and punished, the court has to record a finding that such disobedience was wilful and intentional. If from the circumstances of a particular case, brought to the notice of the court, the court is satisfied that although there has been a disobedience but such disobedience is the result of some compelling circumstances under which it was not possible for the contemner to comply with the order, the court may not punish the alleged contemner."

38. In Ashok Paper Kamgar Union versus Dharam Godha and Others, (2003) 11 SCC 1, the expression 'wilful disobedience' in the context of Section 2(b) of the Act was read to mean an act or omission done voluntarily and intentionally with the specific intent to do something, which the law forbids or with the specific intention to fail to do something which the law requires to be done. Wilfulness signifies deliberate action done with evil intent and bad motive and purpose. It should not be an act, which requires and is dependent upon, either wholly or partly, any act or omission by a third party for compliance.

39. In Ram Kishan versus Tarun Bajaj and Others, (2014) 16 SCC 204, it was observed as under:-

"12. Thus, in order to punish a contemnor, it has to be established that disobedience of the order is "wilful". The word "wilful" introduces a mental element and hence, requires looking into the mind of a person/contemnor by gauging his actions, which is an indication of one's state of mind. "Wilful" means knowingly intentional, conscious, calculated and deliberate with full knowledge of consequences flowing therefrom. It excludes casual, accidental, bona fide or unintentional acts or genuine inability. Wilful acts does not encompass involuntarily or negligent actions. The act has to be done with a "bad purpose or without justifiable excuse or stubbornly, obstinately or perversely". Wilful act is to be distinguished from an act done carelessly, thoughtlessly, heedlessly or inadvertently. It does not include any act done negligently or involuntarily. The deliberate conduct of a person means that he knows what he is doing and intends to do the same. Therefore, there has to be a calculated action with evil motive on his part. Even if there is a disobedience of an order, but such disobedience is the result of some compelling circumstances under which it was not possible for the contemnor to comply with the order, the contemnor cannot be punished. "Committal or sequestration will not be ordered unless contempt involves a degree of default or misconduct." (Vide S. Sundaram Pillai v. V.R. Pattabiraman [S. Sundaram Pillai v. V.R. Pattabiraman, (1985) 1 SCC 591] , Rakapalli Raja Ram Gopala Rao v. Naragani Govinda Sehararao [Rakapalli Raja Ram Gopala Rao v. NaraganiGovindaSehararao, (1989) 4 SCC 255 : AIR 1989 SC 2185] , Niaz Mohammad v. State of Haryana [Niaz Mohammad v. State of Haryana, (1994) 6 SCC 332 : AIR 1995 SC 308] , Chordia Automobiles v. S. Moosa [Chordia Automobiles v. S. Moosa, (2000) 3 SCC 282] , Ashok Paper Kamgar Union v. Dharam Godha [Ashok Paper Kamgar Union v. Dharam Godha, (2003) 11 SCC 1] , State of Orissa v. Mohd. Illiyas [State of Orissa v. Mohd. Illiyas, (2006) 1 SCC 275 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 122 : AIR 2006 SC 258] and Uniworth Textiles Ltd. v. CCE [Uniworth Textiles Ltd. v. CCE, (2013) 9 SCC 753] .)"

This decision also holds as under:-

"11. The contempt jurisdiction conferred on to the law courts power to punish an offender for his wilful disobedience/contumacious conduct or obstruction to the majesty of law, for the reason that respect and authority commanded by the courts of law are the greatest guarantee to an ordinary citizen that his rights shall be protected and the entire democratic fabric of the society will crumble down if the respect of the judiciary is undermined. Undoubtedly, the contempt jurisdiction is a powerful weapon in the hands of the courts of law but that by itself operates as a string of caution and unless, thus, otherwise satisfied beyond reasonable doubt, it would neither be fair nor reasonable for the law courts to exercise jurisdiction under the Act. The proceedings are quasi-criminal in nature, and therefore, standard of proof required in these proceedings is beyond all reasonable doubt. It would rather be hazardous to impose sentence for contempt on the authorities in exercise of the contempt jurisdiction on mere probabilities. (Vide V.G. Nigam v. Kedar Nath Gupta [V.G. Nigam v. KedarNath Gupta, (1992) 4 SCC 697 : 1993 SCC (L&S) 202 : (1993) 23 ATC 400], Chhotu Ram v. Urvashi Gulati [Chhotu Ram v. Urvashi Gulati, (2001) 7 SCC 530 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 1196] , Anil Ratan Sarkar v. Hirak Ghosh [Anil Ratan Sarkar v. Hirak Ghosh, (2002) 4 SCC 21] , Bank of Baroda v. Sadruddin Hasan Daya [Bank of Baroda v. Sadruddin Hasan Daya, (2004) 1 SCC 360] , Sahdeo v. State of U.P. [Sahdeo v. State of U.P., (2010) 3 SCC 705 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 451] and National Fertilizers Ltd. v. Tuncay Alankus [National Fertilizers Ltd. v. Tuncay Alankus, (2013) 9 SCC 600 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 481 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 172] .)"

40. Thus, in case of a reasonable doubt, it is not fair and reasonable for the Courts to exercise jurisdiction under the Act for the proceedings are quasi-criminal in nature and the standard of proof required in these proceedings is beyond all reasonable doubt and not mere probabilities. Thus, in cases where two interpretations of an order are possible and if the action is not contumacious, contempt proceedings are not maintainable and for this purpose the order must be read in entirety. It may also be noted that there is a difference between "standard of proof" and "manner of proof" in contempt proceedings. Contempt proceedings are sui generis in the sense that strict law of evidence and Code of Criminal Procedure are not applicable. However, the procedure adopted in the contempt proceedings must be fair and just.

41. In compliance of the judgment and order of this Court dated 17.09.2004 as well as the undertaking given by the authorities before the Court, the entire matter has been reconsidered and decided by the opposite parties and passed an order dated 08.03.2017 by which twenty five candidates out of twenty seven were reinstated; the arrears in favour of twenty five candidates have also been paid; the arrears of seven candidates selected for Special B.T.C. Training - prior to judgment dated 17.09.2004 - have also been paid for their working period by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari on 17.08.2017; the current salary of the aforesaid twenty five candidates, as untrained grade, are being paid; the arrears of two dead persons namely Surendra Nath Mishra and Sri Mayaram Verma have been received by their legal heirs and as per the G.O. dated 14.01.2004 and letter of Director S.C.E.R.T. dated 24.07.2004, 24.08.2004 as well as G.O. dated 28.01.2005, Principal D.I.E.T. Bahraich has been requested to provide required training to all the twenty five reinstated teachers, so that they may get trained grade salary.

42. In view of the above discussions, it is clear that the opposite parties have complied with the directions issued by the Courts and if the contempt petitioners have found that the order is not in conformity with the directions passed by this court, they may avail of the opportunity to seek judicial review of the order passed by the authorities. The order passed by the authorities is on the basis of the directions issued by the Court. There arises a fresh cause of action to seek redressal in an appropriate forum. The order passed by the authorities concerned may be wrong or may not be in conformity with the direction, that would be a fresh cause of action for the aggrieved party to avail of the opportunity in judicial review but that cannot be considered to be a willful violation of the order.

43. It is stated and observed in several cases that the contempt is between the Court and the contemnor and the aggrieved party cannot insist that the Court should exercise such jurisdiction. The discretion is exercised by the Court for maintenance of Court's dignity and majesty of law. However, it would not be entirely correct to state that punishment under the contempt jurisdiction is granted to uphold the dignity of the Court. Contempt jurisdiction is invoked and punishment is imposed to uphold the authority of Court to punish the contemnor and to act as a deterrent to others. This deterrent is motivated in the interest of the public in order to prevent future incidents of wilful disregard and disobedience of the Court orders by a party. Further, contempt jurisdiction may even invoke belated compliance, which is in public interest and when such compliance is made, the contemnor may seek reduction or discharge of the sentence in view of subsequent conduct to purge the contempt by complying with the order. Contempt jurisdiction is invoked when breaches are of the highest level of culpability in the sense that they are wilful. Further, persistence and continuous damage and disobedience could in a given case reflect no remorse from the person against whom action is taken.

44. In view of the aforesaid discussions, I do not find any merit in the present contempt petitions.

The contempt petitions are accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1374

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 01.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DINESH KUMAR SINGH, J.

Bail Application No. 8300 of 2019

Ankur Mishra ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Sushil Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
G.A., Jayshanker Shukla, Sri Laltaprasad Misra

A. Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 438 - cancellation of anticipatory bail- power to grant anticipatory bail is an extra ordinary power and it should be exercised sparingly-an absconder or proclaimed offender should not be granted anticipatory bail-upon conclusion of investigation and filing of a charge sheet, the accused has to surrender to the custody of the court and pray for regular bail and an accused cannot avoid appearing before the trial court, on the strength of an anticipatory bail-Hence, the application is allowed.

B. In the present case, respondent no.3 has been able to avoid arrest since the date of the F.I.R. and despite having obtained non-bailable warrants against him and issuance of the proclamation under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. he was not arrested. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow wrote letters to the highest police authorities for instructions and direction to the Investigating Officer to complete the investigation and effect the arrest of the accused, but despite the aforesaid direction, the accused was not arrested. Further, the Sessions Court has not considered these aspects regarding issuance of the non-bailable warrants and the process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. and without taking into consideration, it has granted the anticipatory bail in the manner which is not in consonance with the law laid down by the Supreme Court in several judgments. (Para 7,9,15,17 to 51)

Bail Application allowed (E-6)

Precedent followed: -

1. Sakiri Vasu Vs St. of U.P. & ors. 2008 (2) SCC 409

2. Hema Mishra Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2014) 4 SC 453

3. Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia & ors. Vs St. of Punj. (1980) 2 SCC 565

4. Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre Vs St. of Mah. & ors. (2011) 1 SCC 694

5. Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs St. of Guj. & anr. (2016) 1 SCC 152

6. Salauddin Abdulsamad Shaikh Vs St. of Mah. (1996) 1 SCC 667

7. K.L. Verma Vs St. & anr. (1998) 9 SCC 348

8. Sunita Devi Vs St. of Bihar & anr. (2005) 1 SCC 608

9. Adri Dharan Das Vs St. of W.B. (2005)

10.Reshmi Rekha Thatoi & anr. Vs St. of Ori. & anr. (2012) 5 SCC 690

11. HDFC Bank Ltd. Vs J.J. Manan & anr. (2010) 1 SCC 679

12.Lavesh Vs St. (NCT of Delhi) (2012) 8 SCC 730

13. St. of M.P. Vs Pradeep Sharma (2014) 2 SCC 171

14.Jai Prakash Singh Vs St. of Bihar & anr. (2012) 4 SCC 379

15. P. Chidambaram Vs Directorate of Enforcement in Criminal Appeal No.1340 of 2019

16. St. of Mah. & anr. Vs Mohd. Sajid Husain Mohd. S. Husain & ors. (2208) 1 SCC 213

17.St. of U.P. through CBI Vs Amarmani Tripathi (2005) 8 SCC 21

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. This application has been filed for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted under Section 438 Cr.P.C. to accused-respondent no.3 (herein after referred to as 'respondent no.3') in F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018 registered under Section 304A IPC, however, later on converted under Sections 304 and 201 IPC, Police Station Chinhat, District Lucknow.

2. Allegations in the F.I.R. are that the complainant along with his family on 21.12.2018 at around 8.30 PM went to attend the birthday party of daughter of one of relatives at Hotel Grand Orion, in front of the High Court building, Faizabad Road, Lucknow. The party was organised on the third floor of the hotel. However, the railing of the balcony was not properly fixed and it was just put up by the side of the wall. The 11 years old son of the complainant as soon as went near the railing and touched it, he fell down along with railing on the ground. The son of the complainant was taken to the Lohiya Hospital, Lucknow. However, he was declared brought dead by the doctors.

It was alleged that without ensuring the safety of the guests coming to the hotel and in gross negligence, without taking due care to the lives and safety of the guests, the party was organised on third floor by the owner and the manager of the hotel and they played with the lives of guests.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid compliant of the father of the deceased, F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018 came to be registered on 22.12.2018 under Section 304A I.P.C. against the owner and the manager of the Hotel Grand Orion.

4. Despite the F.I.R., the accused were not arrested and, therefore, the complainant wrote to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow on 24.12.2018 and gave further information to be included in the investigation. It was said that after the incident, neither the management of the hotel rendered any assistance for taking the son of the complainant to the hospital nor information was given to the police nor ambulance was called for. The deceased was taken to the Lohiya Hospital in a private car by the complainant and other relatives, where he was declared brought dead.

5. It was further alleged that immediately after the incident, the workers of the hotel washed the blood at the place of the incident and they also removed the material of railing which fell down. During this period, two times the electricity of the hotel was disconnected by the hotel management for five minutes each.

6. It was also said that after receiving the information that son of the complainant had died, all the employees and management of the hotel fled away from the place of the incident of the hotel. The complainant further alleged that the hotel was illegally constructed and no inspection was made after it got constructed. There was no permission to run the hotel from the Lucknow Development Authority and, the Municipal Corporation, Lucknow and the hotel did not have any certificate from other relevant departments for running the hotel. The site plan of the hotel was not approved and the balcony was also not sanctioned. When the hotel was still under construction, it had been let out and the hotel was running without having got all the requirements completed without having completion certificate. It was said that the CCTV footage should be secured and incomplete hotel should be ordered to be closed down and, the owner and manager of the hotel, who were avoiding arrest, should be arrested.

7. The respondent no.3 instead of surrendering filed Writ Petition No.16 (MB) of 2019 before this Court seeking issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari for quashing the F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018. It was contended that Section 304 I.P.C., in the facts and circumstances of the case, was not attracted inasmuch as the death of the son of the complainant was result of an accident. This Court dismissed the writ petition vide order dated 4.1.2019 with following observation :-

"We are dealing with a petition filed for issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari for quashing the First Information Report. Prima facie it is evident that offence has been committed. Whether the offence is under Section 304-

A Indian Penal Code is made out or Section 304 Indian Penal Code, is a matter to be considered at this stage by the Investigating Agency and at subsequent stage by the charge court.

We find no ground to quash the impugned First Information Report at this inceptive stage of investigation."

8. Despite dismissal of the writ petition, respondent no.3 and the manager of the hotel were not apprehended and, therefore, the Investigating Officer secured non-bailable warrants against them on 10.1.2019. However, despite securing the non-bailable warrants, the accused could not be arrested.

9. The complainant, in the back drop of the aforesaid facts, approached this Court by filing Writ petition No.3334 (MB) of 2019 with prayer for a writ in the nature of mandamus/direction for effective investigation in F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018 (supra). A Division Bench of this Court was of the opinion that the Magistrate having jurisdiction, is empowered to ensure fair and effective investigation as held by the Supreme Court in th case of Sakiri Vasu Vs.State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2008 (2) SCC 409. The complainant was relegated to file an appropriate application before the Magistrate concerned in respect of his grievance. A detailed reference to the contents of the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in Sakiri Vasu (supra) in paragraphs 14, 15, 17, 18, 24, 25, 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31 was made, so that the Magistrate was sinsitize/made aware of his powers and the onerous duty cast upon him to ensure fair and effective investigation. In the light of the aforesaid observation, the writ petition was disposed of finally vide order dated 5.2.2019.

10. The complainant, thereafter, moved an application on 16.2.2019 in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow for monitoring and ensuring the effective investigation of F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018 (supra). It was alleged that despite non-bailable warrants having been issued to the Investigating Officer on 10.1.2019, the accused were not arrested till the date of filing of the application. It was further said that in pursuance to the order passed by the Lucknow Development Authority on 26.12.2018, the Hotel Grand Orion was sealed on 28.12.2018 and the notice was pasted on the main entrance of the building. On the same day, Smt. Kiran Dubey, wife of respondent no.3 made a visit to the house of the applicant in the evening and on 29.12.2018 Sri Dev Mani Dubey, MLA of Lambhua Constituency visited the house of the applicant and intimidated him from pursuing the case. On 31.12.2018, the applicant met the Additional Director General of Police, who instructed the Station House Officer, Police Station Kotwali Chinhat, Lucknow to do the needful, including arrest of the accused persons. On 1.1.2019 the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow again instructed the Station House Officer, Police Station Kotwali Chinhat to do the needful and get the accused arrested. It was further said that despite having non-bailable arrest warrants dated 10.1.2019 issued by the learned Magistrate, the police did not arrest the accused nor pursued the proceedings under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. It was further said that hard disk of the CCTV footage of the hotel dated 21.12.2018 was seized by the Investigating Officer, but he did not retrieve the incident image/clipping showing the time and place of the incident.

11. On 11.4.2019, learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow wrote a letter to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow stating that in the investigation of F.I.R. No.1194 of 2018 (Supra), the Investigating Officer was not making efforts to get the accused arrested. Non-bailable warrants were obtained on 10.1.2019 from the Court, but despite two months having gone by, the Investigating Officer had not arrested the accused nor he had taken any proceedings for process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. It was further said that despite the matter being quite serious, the Investigating Officer had not been making enough efforts. It was said that on 18.3.2019 similar letter was written to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow, but the Investigation Officer had not taken any effective and satisfactory steps in the investigation. The Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow was requested to direct the Investigating Officer to complete the investigation of the offence on priority basis. Again similar letter was written by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow to the Director General of Police on 27.4.2019 referring to his earlier letters dated 18.3.2019 and 11.4.2019 on the subject. Thereafter, on 15.5.2019 the process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. was issued against the accused, but the accused could not be arrested.

12. On 26.7.2019, respondent no.3 filed an application under Section 438 Cr.P.C. in the Court of District & Sessions Judge, Lucknow. The learned Sessions Judge, Lucknow on the same day granted an interim bail to him. The application was fixed for 5.8.2019 for final order. Thereafter, on 9.8.2019 the impugned order has been passed granting the respondent no.3 anticipatory bail.

13. Learned Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow in the impugned order has held that, prima facie, the incident was an accident. Whether the owner of the hotel and the manager were negligent or not, can be decided during the trial. Whether Section 304 I.P.C. is attracted or not in the facts and circumstances of the case, also can be decided only after trial. The accused has no criminal history and, there is no likelihood of him fleeing away during the course of trial. Considering these aspects, the respondent no.3 has been granted the anticipatory bail till completion of the investigation with the conditions mentioned in the order.

14. Heard Sri Jyotinjay Misra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sushil Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri L.P. Mishra for respondent no.3 and Sri Balram Singh, learned AGA for the State.

15. The question which falls for consideration in the present case is whether the learned Sessions Court should have granted anticipatory bail to the accused, who has been able to avoid his arrest for seven months despite non-bailable warrants against him as well as issuance of process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. and dismissal of his writ petition and learned Chief Judicial Magistrate writing to the police authorities.

16. The provisions of anticipatory bail have been reintroduced vide U.P. Act No.4 of 2019, which received assent of the President on 1.6.2019, w.e.f. 6.6.2019.

17. The law of anticipatory bail is well settled. The right to liberty is a natural, inalienable right and is enshrined as a fundamental right under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. However, a person has to respect the rights of others recognized by law like the inviolability of their body and their property. When a person is reasonably suspected to have committed an offence the machinery of law is set in motion to arrest him and to bring him to trial and punish him if found guilty. The act of arrest deprives a person of his liberty. Bail sets him free on securing his promise to take trial at a future date and to undergo punishment if found guilty.

18. After Independence, by virtue of Article 372 of the Constitution of India the framers of the constitution had in their wisdom deemed that all laws in force in India, immediately before the commencement of the Constitution, were to be continued. By virtue of Article 372, the colonial Code of Criminal Procedure, which was drafted in 1898, was deemed to be the law in force even after commencement of the Constitution. Under the Code of 1898, there was no provision for the concept of an "Expectant/Anticipatory Bail' contained in the statute. Though, the concept of an expectant bail, even prior to the arrest of the individual was not alien to the British criminal regime, the same was never enshrined in the statutory code applicable in India. Hence, shortly after independence, there was a divergence of opinion amongst the various High Courts on the power(s) of the Court(s) to exercise and extend the protection of bail, even prior to the arrest of a person(s). The majority view was that the High Court did not possess the inherent power to extend the powers of bail prior to arrest, as there was no such statutory provision in the Code of 1898. When the Law Commission was tasked with the preparation of the 41st Report on the Code of 1898 in 1968, one of the recommendations made by the Commission after careful and deliberate consideration was the introduction of the concept of "Anticipatory Bail'.

19. The Law Commission was of the opinion that a necessity had arisen for grant of anticipatory bail primarily for the reason in the rise of the number of false criminal cases being filed by rivals to implicate influential persons and having them restrained for days in police custody, so as to disgrace or intimidate them and, as the political climate was growing ever more hostile & adversarial and the number of such false cases were likely to increase. The Commission also noted that even apart from the possibility of such false cases being filed, if there are reasonable grounds for holding that a person accused of an offence is not likely to abscond, or otherwise misuse his liberty while on bail, there was no justification to require such a person to first submit to custody, then remain incarcerated for some days, and then apply for bail. Therefore, the Law Commission was of the view that the power of anticipatory bail should be conferred only on the High Court and the Court of Sessions and that the order should take effect at the time of arrest. The Commission proposed that a new Section being Section 497A of the Code of 1898 be introduced, granting the power to the High Court or Court of Session to direct that a person may be released on bail in the event of his arrest, if such person had approached the Court having a reasonable apprehension that he would be arrested on an accusation of committing a non-bailable offence. What conditions should be imposed while granting anticipatory bail, the Commission though it proper to left it to the discretion of the High Court and the Court of Sessions for imposing such conditions.

20. The suggestions of the Law Commission were, in principle, accepted by the Central Government which introduced clause 447 in the Draft Bill of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1970 with a view to conferring an express power on the High Courts and the Court of Sessions. The Law Commission, in its 48th Report which was tabled in 1972, in order to prevent abuse, recommended that the final order should be made only after notice to the Public Prosecutor and an initial order should only be an interim one.

21. In light of the recommendations of the Committee requiring for a revamp of the Code, the Legislature repealed the Code of 1898 and enacted the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The newly enacted CrPC contained the statutory provision empowering the High Court and the Sessions Court to grant anticipatory bail vide Section 438 of the CrPC.

22. Shortly, thereafter, an unprecedented Emergency was declared in the country. The State of Uttar Pradesh vide Section 9 of the U.P. Act 16 of 1976 omitted the application of Section 438 of the Cr.P.C. in the State of Uttar Pradesh, w.e.f. 01.05.1976. However, while the same was omitted by the State of Uttar Pradesh, the doctrine of anticipatory bail, as applicable to the rest of country, has evolved over the course of time. As mentioned earlier, the provisions of anticipatory bail by insertion of Section 438 Cr.P.C. in the State of Uttar Pradesh has been reintroduced w.e.f. 6.6.2019.

23. When the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. were not applicable in the State of Uttar Pradesh, the accused used to approach the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for grant of relief of anticipatory bail.

24. The Supreme Court in the case of Hema Mishra Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, (2014) 4 SC 453 has held that the accused under the normal circumstances would not be entitled to claim the relief against his arrest under Article 226 of the Constitution of India inasmuch as in absence of the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C., the second window for such a relief under Article 226 of the Constitution of India would not be available. However, the High Court in appropriate cases in exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India can grant such a relief, but such power is to be exercised with extreme caution and sparingly where arrest of a person would lead to total miscarriage of justice or where there may be cases where pre-arrest was entirely unwarranted and lead to disastrous consequences. It has also been held that on dismissal by the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, while examining the challenge for quashing the FIR or a charge-sheet, the High Court cannot grant further relief against arrest for specific period or till the completion of the trial. Paragrphas 21, 26, 27, 35 and 36 of the aforesaid judgement, which are relevant, are extracted herein below :-

"21. I may, however, point out that there is unanimity in the view that in spite of the fact that Section 438 has been specifically omitted and made inapplicable in the State of Uttar Pradesh, still a party aggrieved can invoke the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, being extraordinary jurisdiction and the vastness of the powers naturally impose considerable responsibility in its application. All the same, the High Court has got the power and sometimes duty in appropriate cases to grant reliefs, though it is not possible to pinpoint what are the appropriate cases, which have to be left to the wisdom of the Court exercising powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

26. I would like to remark that in the absence of any provisions like Section 438 CrPC applicable in the State of Uttar Pradesh, there is a tendency on the part of the accused persons, against whom FIR is lodged and/or charge-sheet is filed in the Court, to file a writ petition for quashing of those proceedings so that they are able to get protection against the arrest in the interregnum which is the primary motive for filing such petitions. It is for this reason that invariably after the lodging of the FIR, a writ petition under Article 226 is filed with the main prayer to quash those proceedings and to claim interim relief against pre-arrest in the meantime or till the completion of the trial. However, the considerations which have to weigh with the High Court to decide as to whether such proceedings are to be quashed or not are entirely different than that of granting interim protection against the arrest. Since the grounds on which such an FIR or charge-sheet can be quashed are limited, once the writ petition challenging the validity of the FIR or charge-sheet is dismissed, the grant of relief, incidental in nature, against arrest would obviously not arise, even when a justifiable case for grant of anticipatory bail is made out.

27. It is for this reason, we are of the opinion that in appropriate cases the High Court is empowered to entertain the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India where the main relief itself is against arrest. Obviously, when provisions of Section 438 CrPC are not available to the accused persons in the State of Uttar Pradesh, under the normal circumstances such accused persons would not be entitled to claim such a relief under Article 226 of the Constitution. It cannot be converted into a second window for the relief which is consciously denied statutorily making it a case of casus omissus. At the same time, as rightly observed in para 21 extracted above, the High Court cannot be completely denuded of its powers under Article 226 of the Constitution, to grant such a relief in appropriate and deserving cases; albeit this power is to be exercised with extreme caution and sparingly in those cases where arrest of a person would lead to total miscarriage of justice. There may be cases where pre-arrest may be entirely unwarranted and lead to disastrous consequences. Whenever the High Court is convinced of such a situation, it would be appropriate to grant the relief against pre-arrest in such cases. What would be those cases will have to be left to the wisdom of the High Court. What is emphasised is that the High Court is not bereft of its powers to grant this relief under Article 226 of the Constitution.

35. It is pertinent to mention that though the High Courts have very wide powers under Article 226, the very vastness of the powers imposes on it the responsibility to use them with circumspection and in accordance with the judicial consideration and well-established principles, so much so that while entertaining writ petitions for granting interim protection from arrest, the Court would not go on to the extent of including the provision of anticipatory bail as a blanket provision.

36. Thus, such a power has to be exercised very cautiously keeping in view, at the same time, that the provisions of Article 226 are a device to advance justice and not to frustrate it. The powers are, therefore, to be exercised to prevent miscarriage of justice and to prevent abuse of process of law by the authorities indiscriminately making pre-arrest of the accused persons. In entertaining such a petition under Article 226, the High Court is supposed to balance the two interests. On the one hand, the Court is to ensure that such a power under Article 226 is not to be exercised liberally so as to convert it into Section 438 CrPC proceedings, keeping in mind that when this provision is specifically omitted in the State of Uttar Pradesh, it cannot be resorted to as back door entry via Article 226. On the other hand, wherever the High Court finds that in a given case if the protection against pre-arrest is not given, it would amount to gross miscarriage of justice and no case, at all, is made for arrest pending trial, the High Court would be free to grant the relief in the nature of anticipatory bail in exercise of its power under Article 226 of the Constitution. It is again clarified that this power has to be exercised sparingly in those cases where it is absolutely warranted and justified."

25. Thus, while there was no provision for anticipatory bail in State of Uttar Pradesh, in appropriate cases, the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has been granting relief from arrest to a person.

26. A constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others v State of Punjab reported in (1980) 2 SCC 565 upheld the constitutionality of Section 438 Cr.P.C. The aforesaid judgement laid down guidelines and consideration for grant of anticipatory bail.

27. An anticipatory bail is a pre-arrest legal process, which directs that if the person in whose favour it is issued is, thereafter, arrested on the accusation in respect of which the direction is issued, he shall be released on bail. The distinction between an ordinary order of bail and an order of anticipatory bail is that whereas the former is granted after arrest and, therefore, means release from the custody of the police, the latter is granted in anticipation of arrest and, is therefore effective at the very moment of arrest. A direction under Section 438 is, therefore, intended to confer conditional immunity from the tough or confinement contemplated by Section 46 of the Code.

28. The Supreme Court in the aforesaid judgment culled out the distinction between bail and anticipatory bail by noting that the expression "anticipatory bail' is a convenient mode of conveying that, it is possible to apply for bail in anticipation of arrest. The bail is basically release from restraint, more particularly, release from the custody of the police. The act of arrest directly affects freedom of movement of the person arrested by the police, and speaking generally, an order of bail gives back to the accused that freedom on condition that he will appear to take his trial. Police custody is an inevitable concomitant of arrest for non-bailable offences. An order of anticipatory bail constitutes, so to say, an insurance against police custody following upon arrest for offence or offences in respect of which the order is issued. The filing of a first information report is not a condition precedent to the exercise of the power under Section 438. The imminence of a likely arrest founded on a reasonable belief can be shown to exist even if, an FIR is not yet filed. Thus, anticipatory bail can be granted even after an FIR is filed, so long as the applicant has not been arrested.

29. Paragraphs 7, 8, 35 and 41 of the judgement rendered in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others (supra), which are relevant, are extracted herein below:-

"7. The facility which Section 438 affords is generally referred to as "anticipatory bail', an expression which was used by the Law Commission in its 41st Report. Neither the section nor its marginal note so describes it but, the expression "anticipatory bail' is a convenient mode of conveying that it is possible to apply for bail in anticipation of arrest. Any order of bail can, of course, be effective only from the time of arrest because, to grant bail, as stated in Wharton's Law Lexicon, is to "set at liberty a person arrested or imprisoned, on security being taken for his appearance'. Thus, bail is basically release from restraint, more particularly, release from the custody of the police. The act of arrest directly affects freedom of movement of the person arrested by the police, and speaking generally, an order of bail gives back to the accused that freedom on condition that he will appear to take his trial. Personal recognisance, suretyship bonds and such other modalities are the means by which an assurance is secured from the accused that though he has been released on bail, he will present himself at the trial of offence or offences of which he is charged and for which he was arrested. The distinction between an ordinary order of bail and an order of anticipatory bail is that whereas the former is granted after arrest and therefore means release from the custody of the police, the latter is granted in anticipation of arrest and is therefore effective at the very moment of arrest. Police custody is an inevitable concomitant of arrest for non-bailable offences. An order of anticipatory bail constitutes, so to say, an insurance against police custody following upon arrest for offence or offences in respect of which the order is issued. In other words, unlike a post-arrest order of bail, it is a pre-arrest legal process which directs that if the person in whose favour it is issued is thereafter arrested on the accusation in respect of which the direction is issued, he shall be released on bail. Section 46(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure which deals with how arrests are to be made, provides that in making the arrest, the police officer or other person making the arrest "shall actually touch or confine the body of the person to be arrested, unless there be a submission to the custody by word or action". A direction under Section 438 is intended to confer conditional immunity from this "touch' or confinement.

8. No one can accuse the police of possessing a healing touch nor indeed does anyone have misgivings in regard to constraints consequent upon confinement in police custody. But, society has come to accept and acquiesce in all that follows upon a police arrest with a certain amount of sang-frosd, insofar as the ordinary rut of criminal investigation is concerned. It is the normal day-to-day* business of the police to investigate into charges brought before them and, broadly and generally, they have nothing to gain, not favours at any rate, by subjecting ordinary criminals to needless harassment. But the crimes, the criminals and even the complainants can occasionally possess extraordinary features. When the even flow of life becomes turbid, the police can be called upon to inquire into charges arising out of political antagonism. The powerful processes of criminal law can then be perverted for achieving extraneous ends. Attendant upon such investigations, when the police are not free agents within their sphere of duty, is a great amount of inconvenience, harassment and humiliation. That can even take the form of the parading of a respectable person in handcuffs, apparently on way to a Court of justice. The foul deed is done when an adversary is exposed to social ridicule and obloquy, no matter when and whether a conviction is secured or is at all possible. It is in order to meet such situations, though not limited to these contingencies, that the power to grant anticipatory bail was introduced into the Code of 1973.

35. Section 438(1) of the Code lays down a condition which has to be satisfied before anticipatory bail can be granted. The applicant must show that he has "reason to believe" that he may be arrested for a non-bailable offence. The use of the expression "reason to believe" shows that the belief that the applicant may be so arrested must be founded on reasonable grounds. Mere "fear' is not "belief", for which reason it is not enough for the applicant to show that he has some sort of a vague apprehension that some one is going to make an accusation against him, in pursuance of which he may be arrested. The grounds on which the belief of the applicant is based that he may be arrested for a non-bailable offence, must be capable of being examined by the court objectively, because it is then alone that the court can determine whether the applicant has reason to believe that he may be so arrested. Section 438(1), therefore, cannot be invoked on the basis of vague and general allegations, as if to arm oneself in perpetuity against a possible arrest. Otherwise, the number of applications for anticipatory bail will be as large as, at any rate, the adult populace. Anticipatory bail is a device to secure the individuals liberty; it is neither a passport to the commission of crimes nor a shield against any and all kinds of accusations, likely or unlikely.

36. Secondly, if an application for anticipatory bail is made to the High Court or the Court of Session it must apply its own mind to the question and decide whether a case has been made out for granting such relief. It cannot leave the question for the decision of the Magistrate concerned under Section 437 of the Code, as and when an occasion arises. Such a course will defeat the very object of Section 438.

37. Thirdly, the filing of a first information report is not a condition precedent to the exercise of the power under Section 438. The imminence of a likely arrest founded on a reasonable belief can be shown to exist even if an FIR is not yet filed.

38. Fourthly, anticipatory bail can be granted even after an FIR is filed, so long as the applicant has not been arrested.

39. Fifthly, the provisions of Section 438 cannot be invoked after the arrest of the accused. The grant of

"anticipatory bail" to an accused who is under arrest involves a contradiction in terms, insofar as the offence or offences for which he is arrested, are concerned. After arrest, the accused must seek his remedy under Section 437 or Section 439 of the Code, if he wants to be released on bail in respect of the offence or offences for which he is arrested.

40. We have said that there is one proposition formulated by the High Court with which we are inclined to agree. That is proposition (2). We agree that a "blanket order' of anticipatory bail should not generally be passed. This flows from the very language of the section which, as discussed above, requires the applicant to show that he has "reason to believe" that he may be arrested. A belief can be said to be founded on reasonable grounds only if there is something tangible to go by on the basis of which it can be said that the applicant's apprehension that he may be arrested is genuine. That is why, normally, a direction should not issue under Section 438(1) to the effect that the applicant shall be released on bail "whenever arrested for whichever offence whatsoever". That is what is meant by a "blanket order' of anticipatory bail, an order which serves as a blanket to cover or protect any and every kind of allegedly unlawful activity, in fact any eventuality, likely or unlikely regarding which, no concrete information can possibly be had. The rationale of a direction under Section 438(1) is the belief of the applicant founded on reasonable grounds that he may be arrested for a non-bailable offence. It is unrealistic to expect the applicant to draw up his application with the meticulousness of a pleading in a civil case and such is not requirement of the section. But specific events and facts must be disclosed by the applicant in order to enable the court to judge of the reasonableness of his belief, the existence of which is the sine qua non of the exercise of power conferred by the section.

41. Apart from the fact that the very language of the statute compels this construction, there is an important principle involved in the insistence that facts, on the basis of which a direction under Section 438(1) is sought, must be clear and specific, not vague and general. It is only by the observance of that principle that a possible conflict between the right of an individual to his liberty and the right of the police to investigate into crimes reported to them can be avoided. A blanket order of anticipatory bail is bound to cause serious interference with both the right and the duty of the police in the matter of investigation because, regardless of what kind of offence is alleged to have been committed by the applicant and when, an order of bail which comprehends allegedly unlawful activity of any description whatsoever, will prevent the police from arresting the applicant even if he commits, say, a murder in the presence of the public. Such an order can then become a charter of lawlessness and a weapon to stifle prompt investigation into offences which could not possibly be predicated when the order was passed. Therefore, the court which grants anticipatory bail must take care to specify the offence or offences in respect of which alone the order will be effective. The power should not be exercised in a vacuum."

30. While the core principles of Anticipatory Bail are now well-defined and accepted by way of the Constitution bench judgment, an interesting dichotomy has crept in over the years in the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, as to the period for which the protection from imprisonment can be granted by a court of competent jurisdiction under Section 438 of the Cr.P.C.

31. The Supreme Court in the case of Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, (2011) 1 SCC 694 relying upon the Constitution Bench judgment in the case Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others (supra) held that anticipatory bail granted by the competent court should ordinarily continue till the trial of the case. The said judgment was also followed recently by the Supreme Court in the case of Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat and another, (2016) 1 SCC 152.

32. However, there is another line of judgments, which takes strength from the law laid down by three Judges of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Salauddin Abdulsamad Shaikh Vs. State of Maharashtra, (1996) 1 SCC 667, wherein the Supreme Court was dealing with a scenario where despite compliance of the conditions contained in the interim order of anticipatory bail by an applicant, the Sessions Judge rather than finalizing the same, directed the person to seek regular bail before the appropriate court. The three Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in those circumstances held as under :-

"2. Under Section 438 of the Code of Criminal Procedure when any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on an accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence, the High Court or the Court of Session may, if it thinks fit, direct that in the event of such arrest, he shall be released on bail and in passing that order, it may include such conditions having regard to the facts of the particular case, as it may deem appropriate. Anticipatory bail is granted in anticipation of arrest in non-bailable cases, but that does not mean that the regular court, which is to try the offender, is sought to be bypassed and that is the reason why the High Court very rightly fixed the outer date for the continuance of the bail and on the date of its expiry directed the petitioner to move the regular court for bail. That is the correct procedure to follow because it must be realised that when the Court of Session or the High Court is granting anticipatory bail, it is granted at a stage when the investigation is incomplete and, therefore, it is not informed about the nature of evidence against the alleged offender. It is, therefore, necessary that such anticipatory bail orders should be of a limited duration only and ordinarily on the expiry of that duration or extended duration the court granting anticipatory bail should leave it to the regular court to deal with the matter on an appreciation of evidence placed before it after the investigation has made progress or the charge-sheet is submitted.

3. It should be realised that an order of anticipatory bail could even be obtained in cases of a serious nature as for example murder and, therefore, it is essential that the duration of that order should be limited and ordinarily the court granting anticipatory bail should not substitute itself for the original court which is expected to deal with the offence. It is that court which has then to consider whether, having regard to the material placed before it, the accused person is entitled to bail."*

33. The aforesaid view has been followed by a number of decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of K.L. Verma Vs. State and another, (1998) 9 SCC 348, Sunita Devi Vs. State of Bihar and another, (2005) 1 SCC 608, Adri Dharan Das Vs. State of West Bengal, (2005) 4 SCC 303. In all these cases, it has been categorically indicated that anticipatory bail had to be given for a limited duration, so as to enable the accused to move for regular bail under Section 437 CrPC.

34. However, this view has been held to be per incurium in the cases of Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre (supra) and Reshmi Rekha Thatoi and another Vs. State of Orissa and others, (2012) 5 SCC 690.

35. The Supreme Court in the case of HDFC Bank Limited v J.J. Manan and another, (2010) 1 SCC 679, further elaborated on this line and held that purpose of Section 438 CrPC is to ensure that a person is not harassed or humiliated in a personal grudge/vendetta of a complainant. Provisions of Section 438 CrPC cannot be invoked to exempt an accused from surrendering to the court after investigation is complete and if charge-sheet is filed against him. It was held that upon conclusion of investigation and filing of a charge sheet, the accused has to surrender to the custody of the court and pray for regular bail and an accused cannot avoid appearing before the trial court, on the strength of an anticipatory bail.

36. In light of the conflicting views of the different Benches of varying strength, the legal position with regards to the duration of anticipatory bail is somewhat unsettled.

37. A three Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sushila Aggarwal v State (NCT of Delhi) (2018) 7 SCC 731 vide its order dated 15.05.2018, has found that the divergence of opinions is required to be authoritatively settled in clear and unambiguous terms. The Bench has framed two questions for reference for consideration by a Larger Bench:-

"1. Whether the protection granted to a person u/s 438 CrPC should be limited to a fixed period so as to enable the person to surrender before the trial court and seek regular bail?

2. Whether the life of an anticipatory bail should end at the time and stage when the accused is summoned by the Court?"

38. The said questions are pending adjudication by a Larger Bench before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

39. Though there is a concurrent jurisdiction for grant of anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. inasmuch as it empowers both the High Court as well as the Curt of Sessions to grant anticipatory bail. Various High Courts of the country are of the opinion that propriety of the judicial hierarchy demands that unless there are some compelling reason; virtually and effectively depriving or disabling the accused to avail remedy before the Court below, the hierarchy of Courts has to be respected. In case of concurrent jurisdiction; if the High Court does not entertain the petition directly and on the contrary, ask the accused to go to the competent Court of jurisdiction of the first instance having the concurrent power, by doing so, it would not mean to deny his right to access to justice. In any case, he would be having his right to access to justice intact. It is well established that unless there are some extraordinary or exceptional circumstances, forcing the accused to move directly in the High Court for seeking anticipatory bail, in normal course, he should approach the Court of Sessions Judge.

40. It is also not in dispute that a person apprehending arrest in a case, in which the court within whose jurisdiction he ordinarily resides does not have jurisdiction, can grant anticipatory bail for a limited duration with a direction to the applicant to approach the Court concerned. Thus, an application under Section 438 should be finally decided only by the court within whose jurisdiction the alleged offence has been committed.

41. After the brief survey of the law on anticipatory bail, now coming to the facts of the present case, this Court is required to answer whether the Court of Sessions was right in granting anticipatory bail to respondent no.3.

42. From the facts narrated, it is clear that respondent no.3 was not available for interrogation and investigation and he was declared as "absconder". It is well settled that normally when the accused is absconding and declared as 'proclaimed offender', he should not be granted the anticipatory bail.

43. The Supreme Court in the case of Lavesh Vs. State (NCT of Delhi), (2012) 8 SCC 730 in somewhat similar circumstances in paragraphs 12 to 15 held as under:-

"12. From these materials and information, it is clear that the present appellant was not available for interrogation and investigation and was declared as "absconder". Normally, when the accused is "absconding" and declared as a "proclaimed offender", there is no question of granting anticipatory bail. We reiterate that when a person against whom a warrant had been issued and is absconding or concealing himself in order to avoid execution of warrant and declared as a proclaimed offender in terms of Section 82 of the Code he is not entitled to the relief of anticipatory bail.

13. On reading the FIR, the statements of various persons including the father and the mother of the deceased, the neighbours and the supplementary statement of the mother of the deceased it is clearly seen that all the family members of the husband of the deceased including the appellant, who is the elder brother of the husband of the deceased, subjected her to cruelty by demanding sizeable amount in order to settle the payment of Rs 5 lakhs of the allotted DDA flat.*

14. Another circumstance against the appellant is that even though this Court on 23-1-2012 [Sangita v. State of Delhi, SLP (Cri) No. 331 of 2012, order dated 23-1-2012 (SC) wherein it was directed as follows:"Issue notice returnable in two weeks. Dasti service, in addition, is permitted. The counsel for the petitioner is permitted to serve notice on the Standing Counsel for the State of Delhi. The petitioner shall not be arrested in connection with FIR No. 259 of 2011 registered at Police Station Punjabi Bagh, New Delhi until further orders."] , while ordering notice, granted interim protection, namely, not to arrest the appellant in connection with FIR No. 259 of 2011 registered at Police Station Punjabi Bagh, New Delhi, it is the claim of the respondent State that the appellant did not cooperate and visit the said police* station. Though Dr Sarbjit Sharma, learned counsel for the appellant, submitted that the appellant visited the police station on 23-3-2012, 20-7-2012, 24-7-2012 and 27-7-2012, it is brought to our notice that at the relevant period viz. 7-4-2012, 1-5-2012 and 18-6-2012, he neither visited the police station nor contacted Mr Narender Khatri, Inspector--Investigation, Punjabi Bagh Police Station. The last three dates are relevant since after getting the interim protection granted by this Court on 23-1-2012 [Sangita v. State of Delhi, SLP (Cri) No. 331 of 2012, order dated 23-1-2012 (SC) wherein it was directed as follows:"Issue notice returnable in two weeks. Dasti service, in addition, is permitted. The counsel for the petitioner is permitted to serve notice on the Standing Counsel for the State of Delhi. The petitioner shall not be arrested in connection with FIR No. 259 of 2011 registered at Police Station Punjabi Bagh, New Delhi until further orders."] , the appellant did not care either to visit the police station or to the investigating officer concerned. The claim of his visit on later dates, particularly, in the month of July 2012 have no relevance. Considering his conduct, not amenable for investigation and, moreover, declaring him as an absconder, there is no question of granting anticipatory bail. Thus, the conduct of the appellant does not entitle him to anticipatory bail as prescribed in Section 438 of the Code.

15. Taking note of all these aspects, in the light of the conditions prescribed in Section 438 of the Code and conduct of the appellant immediately after the incident as well as after the interim protection granted by this Court on 23-1-2012 [Sangita v. State of Delhi, SLP (Cri) No. 331 of 2012, order dated 23-1-2012 (SC) wherein it was directed as follows:"Issue notice returnable in two weeks. Dasti service, in addition, is permitted. The counsel for the petitioner is permitted to serve notice on the Standing Counsel for the State of Delhi. The petitioner shall not be arrested in connection with FIR No. 259 of 2011 registered at Police Station Punjabi Bagh, New Delhi until further orders."] , we are of the view that the appellant has not made out a case for anticipatory bail. Unless free hand is given to the investigating agency, particularly, in the light of the allegations made against the appellant and his family members, the truth will not surface."*

44. The aforesaid judgement has been followed in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Pradeep Sharma, (2014) 2 SCC 171. In paragraphs 16 to 18, it has been held as under:-

"16. Recently, in Lavesh v. State (NCT of Delhi) [(2012) 8 SCC 730 : (2012) 3 SCC (Cri) 1040] , this Court (of which both of us were parties) considered the scope of granting relief under Section 438 vis-à-vis a person who was declared as an absconder or proclaimed offender in terms of Section 82 of the Code. In para 12, this Court held as under: -

"12. From these materials and information, it is clear that the present appellant was not available for interrogation and investigation and was declared as "absconder'. Normally, when the accused is "absconding' and declared as a "proclaimed offender', there is no question of granting anticipatory bail. We reiterate that when a person against whom a warrant had been issued and is absconding or concealing himself in order to avoid execution of warrant and declared as a proclaimed offender in terms of Section 82 of the Code he is not entitled to the relief of anticipatory bail."

It is clear from the above decision that if anyone is declared as an absconder/proclaimed offender in terms of Section 82 of the Code, he is not entitled to the relief of anticipatory bail.

17. In the case on hand, a perusal of the materials i.e. confessional statements of Sanjay Namdev, Pawan Kumar alias Ravi and Vijay alias Monu Brahambhatt reveals that the respondents administered poisonous substance to the deceased. Further, the statements of the witnesses that were recorded and the report of the Department of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, Government Medical College and Hospital, Nagpur dated 21-3-2012 have confirmed the existence of poison in milk rabri. Further, it is brought to our notice that warrants were issued on 21-11-2012 for the arrest of the respondents herein. Since they were not available/traceable, a proclamation under Section 82 of the Code was issued on 29-11-2012. The documents (Annexure P-13) produced by the State clearly show that the CJM, Chhindwara, M.P. issued a proclamation requiring the appearance of both the respondent-accused under Section 82 of the Code to answer the complaint on 29-12-2012. All these materials were neither adverted to nor considered by the High Court while granting anticipatory bail and the High Court, without indicating any reason except stating "facts and circumstances of the case", granted an order of anticipatory bail to both the accused. It is relevant to point out that both the accused are facing prosecution for offences punishable under Sections 302 and 120-B read with Section 34 IPC. In such serious offences, particularly, the respondent-accused being proclaimed offenders, we are unable to sustain the impugned orders [Sudhir Sharma v. State of M.P., Misc. Criminal Case No. 9996 of 2012, order dated 10-1-2013 (MP)] , [Gudda v. State of M.P., Misc. Criminal Case No. 15283 of 2012, order dated 17-1-2013 (MP)] of granting anticipatory bail. The High Court failed to appreciate that it is a settled position of law that where the accused has been declared as an absconder and has not cooperated with the investigation, he should not be granted anticipatory bail.

18. In the light of what is stated above, the impugned orders of the High Court dated 10-1-2013 and 17-1-2013 in Sudhir Sharma v. State of M.P. [Sudhir Sharma v. State of M.P., Misc. Criminal Case No. 9996 of 2012, order dated 10-1-2013 (MP)] and Gudda v. State of M.P. [Gudda v. State of M.P., Misc. Criminal Case No. 15283 of 2012, order dated 17-1-2013 (MP)] respectively are set aside. Consequently, the subsequent order of the CJM dated 20-2-2013 in Crime No. 1034 of 2011 releasing the accused on bail after taking them into custody in compliance with the impugned order of the High Court is also set aside. In view of the same, both the respondent-accused are directed to surrender before the court concerned within a period of two weeks failing which the trial court is directed to take them into custody and send them to jail. Both the appeals are allowed on the above terms."

45. It is also well settled that parameters which have been laid down in numerous judgments, are required to be satisfied while granting such relief. The Court must record reasons therefor.

46. The Supreme Court in the case of Jai Prakash Singh Vs. The State of Bihar and another, (2012) 4 SCC 379 while dealing with the challenge to grant anticipatory bail to an accused under Section 438 Cr.P.C. by the High Court, in paragraphs 19 to 22 held as under :-

"19. Parameters for grant of anticipatory bail in a serious offence are required to be satisfied and further while granting such relief, the court must record the reasons therefor. Anticipatory bail can be granted only in exceptional circumstances where the court is prima facie of the view that the applicant has falsely been enroped in the crime and would not misuse his liberty. (See D.K. Ganesh Babu v. P.T. Manokaran [(2007) 4 SCC 434 : (2007) 2 SCC (Cri) 345] , State of Maharashtra v. Mohd. Sajid Husain Mohd. S. Husain [(2008) 1 SCC 213 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 176] and Union of India v. Padam Narain Aggarwal [(2008) 13 SCC 305 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 1] .)

20. In the case at hand, if considered in the light of the aforesaid settled legal proposition, we reach an inescapable conclusion that the High Court did not apply any of the aforesaid parameters, rather dealt with a very serious matter in a most casual and cavalier manner and showed undeserving and unwarranted sympathy towards the accused. The High Court erred in not considering the case in the correct perspective and allowed the said applications on the grounds that in the FIR some old disputes had been referred to and the accused had fair antecedents.*

21. The relevant part of the High Court judgment impugned before us reads as under:-*

"Considering that the only allegation in the first information report is that there was previously some dispute between the deceased and the petitioner and they had quarrelled on account of the same, let the petitioner abovenamed, who has fair antecedents, be released on anticipatory bail...."

22. In the facts and circumstances of this case, we are of the considered opinion that it was not a fit case for grant of anticipatory bail. The High Court ought to have exercised its extraordinary jurisdiction following the parameters laid down by this Court in the abovereferred to judicial pronouncements, considering the nature and gravity of the offence and as the FIR had been lodged spontaneously, its veracity is reliable. The High Court has very lightly brushed aside the fact that the FIR had been lodged spontaneously and further did not record any reason as to how the prerequisite conditions incorporated in the statutory provision itself stood fulfilled. Nor did the court consider as to whether custodial interrogation was required. The court may not exercise its discretion in derogation of established principles of law, rather it has to be in strict adherence to them. Discretion has to be guided by law, duly governed by rule and cannot be arbitrary, fanciful or vague. The court must not yield to spasmodic sentiment to unregulated benevolence. The order dehors the grounds provided in Section 438 CrPC itself suffers from non-application of mind and therefore, cannot be sustained in the eye of the law."*

47. The Supreme Court in a recent judgment in the case of P. Chidambaram Vs. Directorate of Enforcement in Criminal Appeal No.1340 of 2019, decided on 5.9.2019 has held that the power under Section 438 Cr.P.C. has to be exercised sparingly. The privilege of the pre-arrest bail should be granted only in exceptional cases. Paragraphs 67, 68 and 72 of the aforesaid judgment, which are relevant, are extracted herein below:-

"67. Ordinarily, arrest is a part of procedure of the investigation to secure not only the presence of the accused but several other purposes. Power under Section 438 Cr.P.C. is an extraordinary power and the same has to be exercised sparingly. The privilege of the pre-arrest bail should be granted only in exceptional cases. The judicial discretion conferred upon the court has to be properly exercised after application of mind as to the nature and gravity of the accusation; possibility of applicant fleeing justice and other factors to decide whether it is a fit case for grant of anticipatory bail. Grant of anticipatory bail to some extent interferes in the sphere of investigation of an offence and hence, the court must be circumspect while exercising such power for grant of anticipatory bail. Anticipatory bail is not to be granted as a matter of rule and it has to be granted only when the court is convinced that exceptional circumstances exist to resort to that extraordinary remedy.

68. On behalf of the appellant, much arguments were advanced contending that anticipatory bail is a facet of Article 21 of the Constitution of India. It was contended that unless custodial interrogation is warranted, in the facts and circumstances of the case, denial of anticipatory bail would amount to denial of the right conferred upon the appellant under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

72. Ordinarily, arrest is a part of the process of the investigation intended to secure several purposes. There may be circumstances in which the accused may provide information leading to discovery of material facts and relevant information. Grant of anticipatory bail may hamper the investigation. Pre-arrest bail is to strike a balance between the individual's right to personal freedom and the right of the investigating agency to interrogate the accused as to the material so far collected and to collect more information which may lead to recovery of relevant information. In State Rep. By The CBI v. Anil Sharma (1997) 7 SCC 187, the Supreme Court held as under:-

"6. We find force in the submission of the CBI that custodial interrogation is qualitatively more elicitation-oriented than questioning a suspect who is well ensconced with a favourable order under Section 438 of the Code. In a case like this effective interrogation of a suspected person is of tremendous advantage in disinterring many useful informations and also materials which would have been concealed. Success in such interrogation would elude if the suspected person knows that he is well protected and insulated by a pre-arrest bail order during the time he is interrogated. Very often interrogation in such a condition would reduce to a mere ritual. The argument that the custodial interrogation is fraught with the danger of the person being subjected to third-degree methods need not be countenanced, for, such an argument can be advanced by all accused in all criminal cases. The Court has to presume that responsible police officers would conduct themselves in a responsible manner and that those entrusted with the task of disinterring offences would not conduct themselves as offenders."

48. Sri L.P. Mishra, learned counsel for respondent no.3, however, submits that the parameters for cancellation of anticipatory bail are different than the grant of regular bail. He further submits that until and unless there is misuse of liberty granted to an accused, ordinarily the Court should not cancel the bail already granted. In support of his submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Maharashtra and another Vs. Mohd. Sajid Husain Mohd. S. Husain and others, (2208) 1 SCC 213. Paragraphs 20, 34 of the aforesaid judgement are extracted herein below:-

"20. The four factors, which are relevant for considering the application for grant of anticipatory bail, are:

"(i) the nature and gravity or seriousness of the accusation as apprehended by the applicant;

(ii) the antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether he has, on conviction by a court, previously undergone imprisonment for a term in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) the likely object of the accusation to humiliate or malign the reputation of the applicant by having him so arrested; and

(iv) the possibility of the applicant, if granted anticipatory bail, fleeing from justice."

34. Reliance has been placed by Mr Patwalia on Amarmani Tripathi [(2005) 8 SCC 21 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1960 (2)] . This Court therein opined that in an application for cancellation of bail, conduct subsequent to release on bail and the supervening circumstances alone are relevant. But the court while considering an appeal against grant of anticipatory bail would keep in mind the parameters laid down therefor. The matter, however, may be different for deciding an appeal from an order granting bail, where the accused has been at large for a considerable time, in which event, the post-bail conduct and other supervening circumstances will also have to be taken note of."*

49. Another judgement which Sri Mishra has cited in support of his contention, is State of U.P. through CBI Vs. Amarmani Tripathi, (2005) 8 SCC 21. Paragraphs 16, 17 and 18 of the aforesaid judgement are extracted herein below:-

"16. Reliance is next placed on Dolat Ram v. State of Haryana [(1995) 1 SCC 349 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 237] wherein the distinction between the factors relevant for rejecting bail in a non-bailable case and cancellation of bail already granted, was brought out: (SCC pp. 350-51, para 4)

"4. Rejection of bail in a non-bailable case at the initial stage and the cancellation of bail so granted, have to be considered and dealt with on different basis. Very cogent and overwhelming circumstances are necessary for an order directing the cancellation of the bail, already granted. Generally speaking, the grounds for cancellation of bail, broadly (illustrative and not exhaustive) are: interference or attempt to interfere with the due course of administration of justice or evasion or attempt to evade the due course of justice or abuse of the concession granted to the accused in any manner. The satisfaction of the court, on the basis of material placed on the record of the possibility of the accused absconding is yet another reason justifying the cancellation of bail. However, bail once granted should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without considering whether any supervening circumstances have rendered it no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow the accused to retain his freedom by enjoying the concession of bail during the trial."

17. They also relied on the decision in Samarendra Nath Bhattacharjee v. State of W.B. [(2004) 11 SCC 165 : 2004 SCC (Cri) Supp 7] where the above principle is reiterated. The decisions in Dolat Ram [(1995) 1 SCC 349 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 237] and Bhattacharjee [(2004) 11 SCC 165 : 2004 SCC (Cri) Supp 7] cases relate to applications for cancellation of bail and not appeals against orders granting bail. In an application for cancellation, conduct subsequent to release on bail and the supervening circumstances alone are relevant. But in an appeal against grant of bail, all aspects that were relevant under Section 439 read with Section 437, continue to be relevant. We, however, agree that while considering and deciding the appeals against grant of bail, where the accused has been at large for a considerable time, the post-bail conduct and supervening circumstances will also have to be taken note of. But they are not the only factors to be considered as in the case of applications for cancellation of bail.

18. It is well settled that the matters to be considered in an application for bail are (i) whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to believe that the accused had committed the offence; (ii) nature and gravity of the charge; (iii) severity of the punishment in the event of conviction; (iv) danger of the accused absconding or fleeing, if released on bail; (v) character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused; (vi) likelihood of the offence being repeated; (vii) reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with; and (viii) danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail [see Prahlad Singh Bhati v. NCT, Delhi [(2001) 4 SCC 280 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 674] and Gurcharan Singh v. State (Delhi Admn.) [(1978) 1 SCC 118 : 1978 SCC (Cri) 41 : AIR 1978 SC 179]]. While a vague allegation that the accused may tamper with the evidence or witnesses may not be a ground to refuse bail, if the accused is of such character that his mere presence at large would intimidate the witnesses or if there is material to show that he will use his liberty to subvert justice or tamper with the evidence, then bail will be refused. We may also refer to the following principles relating to grant or refusal of bail stated in Kalyan Chandra Sarkar v. Rajesh Ranjan [(2004) 7 SCC 528 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1977] : (SCC pp. 535-36, para 11)

"11. The law in regard to grant or refusal of bail is very well settled. The court granting bail should exercise its discretion in a judicious manner and not as a matter of course. Though at the stage of granting bail a detailed examination of evidence and elaborate documentation of the merit of the case need not be undertaken, there is a need to indicate in such orders reasons for prima facie concluding why bail was being granted particularly where the accused is charged of having committed a serious offence. Any order devoid of such reasons would suffer from non-application of mind. It is also necessary for the court granting bail to consider among other circumstances, the following factors also before granting bail; they are:

(a) The nature of accusation and the severity of punishment in case of conviction and the nature of supporting evidence.

(b) Reasonable apprehension of tampering with the witness or apprehension of threat to the complainant.

(c) Prima facie satisfaction of the court in support of the charge. (See Ram Govind Upadhyay v. Sudarshan Singh [(2002) 3 SCC 598 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 688] and Puran v. Rambilas [(2001) 6 SCC 338 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 1124] .)"

50. Both the judgments cited by Sri Misra are in respect of grant of regular bail and not the anticipatory bail.

51. It is well settled that power to grant anticipatory bail is an extra ordinary power and it should be exercised sparingly. The Supreme Court in two judgments cited above i.e. Lavesh Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) and State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Pradeep Sharma (supra) held that an absconder or proclaimed offender should not be granted anticipatory bail. In the present case, respondent no.3 has been able to avoid arrest since the date of the F.I.R. and despite having obtained non-bailable warrants against him on 10.1.2019 and issuance of the proclamation under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. he was not arrested. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow wrote letters to the highest police authorities for instructions and direction to the Investigating Officer to complete the investigation and effect the arrest of the accused, but despite the aforesaid direction, the accused was not arrested. The role of the Investigating Officer and his complicity in not arresting the accused is not required to be commented upon, which is evident from his conduct. Further, the Sessions Court has not considered these aspects regarding issuance of the non-bailable warrants and the process under Section 82/83 Cr.P.C. and without taking into consideration, it has granted the anticipatory bail in the manner which is not in consonance with the law laid down by the Supreme Court in several judgements which have been referred to and relevant paragraphs have been extracted herein-above.

52. Thus, considering all these aspects of the matter, the impugned order dated 9.8.2019 is unsustainable and, therefore, set aside.

53. However, it has been informed at the Bar that charge sheet has been filed against the accused.

54. In view of the subsequent development of filing the charge sheet, it would be open to respondent no.3 to surrender before the trial court and apply for regular bail.

55. Subject to above observation and direction, the application is allowed.

(2019)10ILR A 1395

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 27.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SAURABH LAVANIA, J.

Misc. Single No. 3553 of 2002

Jai Prakash Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
Bachchu Lal & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri R.R. Acharya, Sri Rakesh Pratap Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri G.S. Nigam, Sri Abhisht Saran, Sri Alok Mehrotra, Sri Anurag Vikram, Sri Govind Saran Nigam, Sri Rahul Kumar Kashyap

A. Civil Procedure Code, 1908 - Section 9 and Order VII rule 1- U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act- Section 331- Specific Relief Act - Section 31 - suit for cancellation of sale deed- by the non-executants of sale deed-seeking declaration of right/title/interest in the agricultural property- to be filed before Revenue Court-as it involves declaration of khatedari rights.

Held: - that jurisdiction to declare khatedari rights exclusively vests with the Revenue Court and only after declaration of rights by the Revenue Court the suit would be maintainable before the Civil Court. "Where the executant of a deed wants it to be annulled, he has to seek cancellation of the deed. But if a non-executant seeks annulment of a deed, he has to seek a declaration that the deed is invalid, or nonest, or illegal or that it is not binding on him." The executant of the deed was in possession of the property in suit (agricultural land)- the main relief sought in the suit is for cancellation of sale deed by the non-executants of sale deed and the persons, who at the time of execution of sale deed were not recorded tenure holder.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -
1. Dr. Ajodhya Prasad v. Gangotri Prarsad reported in 1980 SCC OnLine All 551: 1981 All LJ 647: 1981 AWC 469

2. Chandrika Misir v. Bhaiya Lal (1973 RD 365)

3. Ramdhari v. Jodhan (AIR 1973 All 81)

4. Ram Padarath and others v. 2nd Addl. D.J 1988 SCC OnLine All 685: (1989) 1 AWC 290 (FB): 1989 RD 21 (FB)

5. Ram Awalamb v. Jata Shanker, 1968 AWR 731 (FB)

6. Ram Roop v. Smt. Budhiya, 1979 RD 212

7. Purshottam v. Narottam, 1970 AWR 312

8. Indra Deo v. Smt. Ram Piari, 1982 (8) ALR 517

9. Indrapal and others v. Jagannath and others 1992 SCC OnLine All 1092: 1993 All LJ 235: (1992) 2 AWC 1118: 1992 RD 231

10. Deokinandan and others v. Surajpal and others 1996 (27) ALR 71:1995 Supp (4) SCC 671: (1995) 6 Scale 213

11. Smt. Lakhpata and others v. IInd Additional District Judge and others (1998) 4 AWC 969

12. Shri Ram and another v. Ist Addl. District Judge and others (2001) 3 SCC 24

13. Smt. Kalindi and another v. IIIrd Additional District Judge and others 2001 SCC OnLine All 316: (2001) 45 ALR 265: (2001) 3 AWC 1978: 2001 All LJ 2054: 2001 AIHC 4964: (2001) 92 RD 546

14. Jai Singh v. IInd Addl. District Judge and others 2001 SCC OnLine All 607: (2001) 45 ALR 579: (2001) 4 AWC 2826: 2001 All LJ 2621: (2002) 1 ALT (DNC 2.2) 2: (2001) 92 RD 817: (2001) 4 CCC 322

15. Kishori Prasad v. IIIrd Addl. District Judge and others 2002 SCC OnLine All 937: AIR 2003 All 58: (2002) 5 AWC 4269: 2003 All LJ 393: (2003) 94 RD 36

16. Mohammad Khalil Khan v. Mahbub All Mian, AIR 1949 PC 78

17. Kamla Prasad v. Krishna Kant Pathak (2007) 4 SCC 213

18. Shri Ram v. Ist ADJ [(2001) 3 SCC 24]

19. Indraj (dead) @ Talewar and others v. Smt. Bharpai (dead) and others 2015 SCC OnLine All 8827: (2015) 113 ALR 904: (2016) 157 AIC 942: (2016) 130 RD 542

20. Chandrika v. Shivnath and others, reported as 2016 (132) R.D. 247

21. Kundan Singh v. Additional District Judge and others, 2009 RD 59

22. Church of North India v. Lavajibhai Ratanjibhai, MANU/SC/2531/2005: (2005) 10 SCC 760

23. Suraj Bhan v. Financial Commr., MANU/SC/7303/2007: (2007) 6 SCC 186

24. Banshi Dhar v. Sheela Devi and others in S.A. No. 279 of 2019, 2016 (132) R.D. 3:(2016) 3 AWC 3192: (2017) 4 ALJ 177

25. Azhar Hasan & others vs. District Judge, Saharanpur & others, 1998 (34) A. L.R. 152 (SC)

26. Pyarelal v. Shubhendra Pilania, (2019) 3 SCC 692: (2019) 2 SCC (Civ) 393: 2019 SCC OnLine SC 98

27. Suhrid Singh @ Sardool Singh Vs. Randhir Singh (2010) 12 SCC 112

28. J. Vasanthi Vs. N. Ramani Kanthammal, reported in (2017) 11 SCC 852

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.P. Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Abhisht Saran along with Sri Rahul Kumar Kashyap, learned counsel for the opposite parties.

2. The petitioner-Jai Prakash Singh, now deceased and represented through legal heirs, being aggrieved by the order dated 05.03.2002, passed by District Judge, Unnao, in Misc. Civil Appeal No. 21 of 2001 and the order dated 15.03.2001, passed by Civil Judge (Junior Division), North, Unnao, in Civil Suit No. 176 of 1988 (Nirvikar Singh and others Vs. Smt. Ram Rani and others), has approached this Court by means of present writ petition.

3. In the Civil Suit No. 176 of 1988, the issue no. 1 related to the jurisdiction was framed. The issue no. 1, as appears from the order dated 15.03.2001, is reproduced as under:-

"क्या इस न्यायालय को श्रवणाधिकार प्राप्त नहीं है जैसा कि प्रतिवादी सं0 1 व 2 ने प्रतिवाद पत्र की धारा–23 में कहा है।"

4. Vide order dated 15.03.2001, the issue no. 1 was decided by the Civil Judge (Junior Division), North, Unnao, against the plaintiffs including Jai Prakash Singh (now deceased). The operative portion of the order dated 15.03.2001 is quoted below.

"वाद बिन्दु सं0 1 सकारात्मक निर्णीत किया जाता है वादी का वाद आदेश 7 नियम 1 दी0अ0स0 के अंतर्गत सक्षम न्यायालय में प्रस्तुत किये जाने हेतु वापस किया जाता है।"

5. Aggrieved by the order dated 15.03.2001, the petitioner-Jai Prakash Singh (now deceased) filed the Misc. Civil Appeal No. 21 of 2001, the same was dismissed by the District Judge, Unnao, by the order dated 05.03.2002. The operative portion of the order dated 05.03.2002 is quoted below.

6. Challenging the aforesaid orders, the present writ petition has been filed.

7. The issue in this case relates to jurisdiction of Civil Court and Revenue Court. The question, which can be formulated is to the effect that "In which Court, "Civil or Revenue", the suit would lie, if the prayer in the suit is for cancellation of sale deed of agricultural property." In another form, the question before this Court for consideration in this case is that "Under what circumstances, the suit for cancellation of "Sale Deed" of agricultural property would lie before the Civil Court or Revenue Court."

8. Before coming to the facts of the case, this court feels it appropriate to take note of the judgments of this Court as well as of the Hon'ble Apex Court on the aforesaid issue.

9. In the case of Dr. Ajodhya Prasad v. Gangotri Prarsad reported in 1980 SCC OnLine All 551 : 1981 All LJ 647 : 1981 AWC 469, this Court observed as under:-

"5. It makes clear that for purposes of cognizance of suit in the revenue court it is the cause of action and not the relief that is relevant. In Ramdhari's case (AIR 1973 All 81) (supra) learned single Judge had obviously overlooked the Explanation in Section 331 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. As the cause of action in the present case was the interference or threatened invasion to the rights of the plaintiff over an agricultural holding, the relief could be claimed against that cause of action in the revenue court and the jurisdiction of the civil court was barred?

11. In view of the Explanation to Section 331 even, if the relief for injunction was included in the plaint the suit would be cognizable by the revenue court because the revenue court could give an effective relief by way of declaration and, if necessary, by possession over the land in suit. In Chandrika Misir v. Bhaiya Lal (1973 RD 365) the suit had been filed for the relief of permanent injunction and in the alternative for possession. The suit was instituted in the civil court and decree was passed. Considering the effect of Sections 209 and 331 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, the Supreme Court held that the civil court had no jurisdiction and the suit was liable to be dismissed. We, accordingly, hold that the case decided by the learned single Judge in Ramdhari v. Jodhan (AIR 1973 All 81) does not lay down the correct law."*

10. In the case of Ram Padarath and others v. 2nd Addl. D.J, and othersreported in 1988 SCC OnLine All 685 : (1989) 1 AWC 290 (FB) : 1989 RD 21 (FB), the Full Bench of this Court observed as under:-

"7. So far as voidable documents like those obtained by practising coercion, fraud, misrepresentation, undue influence etc., are concerned, their legal effect cannot be put to an end without its cancellation. But a void document is not required to be cancelled necessarily. Its legal effect if any can be put to an end to by declaring it to be void and granting some other relief instead of cancelling it. Once it is held to be void it can be ignored by any court or authority being of no legal effect or consequence. A document executed without free consent or one which is without consideration or the object of which is unlawful or executed by a person not competent to contract like a minor or in excess of authority would be a void document. In case it is in excess of authority it would be void to that extent only. There is presumption of due registration of a document and correctness of the facts mentioned in the same, but the said presumption is not conclusive and be dislodged.

8. On the finding that a particular instrument or document was void because of any reason, it will be of no legal consequence and binding on any one without even its cancellation. But existence of such a document or instrument, more particularly for a* substantial period may cause injury to the person whose rights are effected by it and place his right and title over any property in doubt and dispute and may create complications and give rise to unnecessary litigations. But for those who are aware of any judgment holding a particular document or instrument to be void or supposed to be aware of it, others can be misled by its existence if it does not contain any endorsement of its cancellation subsequent to its execution by any competent court of law. Reasonable apprehension of serious injury from a void document provides a cause of action to a person to approach the competent court of law, that is, civil court for its cancellation. But this entitlement goes into background or becomes restricted if because of certain statutory constraints, restraints and prescription some other relief can be claimed or is to be granted by adjudging the document or instrument void and thereby declaring it to be legally ineffective and of no consequence. Such a situation can arise if apart from cancellation, some other relief is claimed which is real relief and the claim for which provides the proximate ground or reason for approaching the court of law or when any other relief can be claimed or involved in the matter cropping up because of the evidence of void document or instrument. There can be other situation also, all of which Gan be created by statutory provisions as the jurisdiction of civil court can be ousted only by some specific provisions of law or by necessary implication sprouting out of statutory provisions. Such a situation arises when more than one reliefs are claimed in any action pertaining to agricultural land. If the relief claimed or the real and the main relief is one which is mentioned in Schedule II to U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, the same can be granted by the revenue court only and the jurisdiction of civil court to grant such a relief or reliefs is ousted by Section 331 of the said Act.

9. The law relating to right, title and interest over the agricultural land is contained in the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, hereinafter known as the ''Act', which is a complete Code by itself and is wider than the earlier Act, i.e., U.P. Tenancy Act which too was replaced by it. The said Act more particularly the Schedule to it enumerates the suits etc., the cognizance of which is to be taken of by the revenue court specified therein. The said Act being special Act, its provisions would prevail over the general law. The jurisdiction of Civil Court is ousted if the relief can be granted by the special court conferred with jurisdiction to grant such reliefs. In Section 331 of the Act which specifically ousts the jurisdiction of other courts in respect of all suits, applications etc., enumerated in Schedule II the main emphasis is on the words "cause of action and any relief'. The said section reads as under:

"Section 331. Cognizance of suits etc., under this Act-- (1) Except as provided by or under this Act no court other than a court mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (V of 1908), take cognizance of any suit, application or proceedings mentioned in column 3 thereof, or of a suit, application or proceedings based on a cause of action in respect of which any relief could be obtained by means of any such suit or application.

Provided that where a declaration has been made under Section 143 in respect of any holding or part thereof; the provisions of Schedule II in so far as they relate to suits, applications, or proceedings under Chapter VIII shall not apply to such holding or part thereof.

Explanation-If the cause of action is one in respect of which relief may be granted by the revenue court, it is immaterial that the relief asked for from the civil court may not be identical to that which the revenue court would have granted.

(1-A) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (i) an objection that a court mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II, or, as the case may be, a civil court, which had no jurisdiction with respect to the suits, application or proceedings, exercised jurisdiction with respect thereto shall not be entertained by any appellate so revisional court unless the objection was taken in the court of first instance at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled, at or before such settlement, and unless there has been consequent failure of justice."

12. It is the real "cause of action' which determines the jurisdiction of the court to entertain particular action notwithstanding the language used in the plaint or the relief claimed. The strength on which the plaintiff comes to the court does not depend upon the defence or relief claimed which could determine the forum for the entertainment of claim and grant of relief. It is the pith and substance which is to be seen and not the language used which may even have been so used to oust the jurisdiction of a particular court.

16. A revenue court may grant a relief in present, but so far as relief for future is concerned the revenue court may not be in a position to grant such a relief as the same may travel beyond the relief which could be granted by it mentioned in Schedule II to the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act.

17. It is the alleged injury or apprehended injury or cloud on the right and title of a person by some action on the part of any other person, or interference or attempt to interfere or encroach upon the right and title of a person over a particular property by any positive or negative act or declaration etc., which give a suitor came of action to approach a court of law for relief or reliefs against the same. The dispute as to jurisdiction arises when more than one reliefs are claimed in an action on the same cause of action one of which can be granted by a civil court. If the principal or real relief can be granted by the revenue court, then the ancillary relief or the relief which flows out from the principal relief can also be granted by the revenue court notwithstanding that all the reliefs can be granted by the civil court and if things are in reverse direction then all the reliefs can be granted by the civil court, but if the so-called main relief is redundant or mere surplusage then it is the real relief involved in the matter which may or may not have been claimed as ancillary relief will determine the jurisdiction of the court which is to entertain a particular action. Even if a plaint or application is couched in such a language so as to oust jurisdiction of a particular court then it is the cause of action and relief flowing out of such cause of action which would determine the forum for entertaining the said action and not the so-called relief claimed.

18. A Full Bench of this Court in the case of Ram Awalamb v. Jata Shanker, 1968 AWR 731 (FB) which was constituted in view of conflict between two Bench decisions of this Court observed that "where in a suit, from a perusal only of the relief claimed, one or more of them are ostensibly cognizable only by civil court and atleast one relief is cognizable by the revenue court, further questions which arise are whether all the reliefs are based on the same cause of action and if so, (a) whether the main relief asked for on the basis of the cause of action is such as can be granted only by a revenue court or (b) whether any real or sub-stantial relief, though it may not be identical with that claimed by the plaintiff could be granted by the revenue court. There can be no doubt that in all cases contemplated under (a) and (b) above, the jurisdiction shall vest in the revenue court and not in the civil court."

19. If more than one reliefs are claimed by a particular person, no relief can granted to that person unless declaration of his tenancy rights is made and in that situation the suit will be cognizable by the revenue court as declaration can be granted by the revenue court. Similarly if a person claims relief of injunction and in the alternative for possession if he is found to be out of possession and his name is not on the record then without declaration that in fact he is the tenant or he is in possession of the tenancy rights no further relief can be granted and the suit is cognizable by the revenue court. In case the suit is for injunction and/or possession if he is out of possession then the suit will be cognizable by the revenue court notwithstanding the relief for injunction is to be granted by the civil court. In this connection reference may be made to the case of Chandrika Misir v. Bhaiya Lal, 1973 RD 498. The said case arose out of suit for injunction and in the alternative for possession in respect of agricultural land. It was held that in view of Schedule II to the Act, the relief for possession could be granted by the revenue court only and Section 331 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act ousted the jurisdiction of civil court. In the said case though no observation in respect of relief for injunction has been specifically made out, but from the judgment the picture is very clear. The finding of the subordinate court was that the plaintiff was out of possession on the basis of allegations which were not true and which he failed to establish merely because relief for Injunction was claimed. The Civil Court would have no Jurisdiction as the case first involved declaration of right as tenure-holder which could be granted by the revenue court only and thereafter relief could have been granted only if he was held to be tenure-holder by succession.

20. The forum for action in relation to void documents or instrument regarding agricultural land depends on the real cause of action with reference to the facts averred. Void documents necessarily do not require cancellation like voidable documents. A simple suit for cancellation of a document or instrument if the same casts cloud on one's right and title or is likely to cast cloud over it or affects the same adversely in respect of agricultural property, that is, "land' poses no difficulty provided further it does not necessitate any declaration as to the claimant's right and title over the land i.e. tenancy rights under the existing law. The difficulty arises when more than one reliefs are involved or claimed. It may be that one may get effective relief in presenti without cancellation of the document, but if a document remains uncancelled for several years its existence may give rise to new trouble and litigation. The decree of a court in which a document is declared to be void and is avoided is obviously a decree in personam and the same undoubtedly binds a party but it will not be binding to each and every person as no note of such a decree can be made in the Sub-Registrar's register as provided in Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act. Such a document may mislead many and may give rise to various transactions and litigations.

28. In Ram Roop v. Smt. Budhiya, 1979 RD 212, the character of the document itself was challenged and the suit was essentially not for cancellation of sale-deed. The court found that the suit involved declaration of status of a Sirdar as well as possession over land. The challenge to the document was on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation as her thumb-impressions were obtained by telling her that it was for rationcard. The court found that the suit essentially was not for adjudication of sale-deed to be void, but involved declaration of sale-deed to be void, and involved declaration of status as Sirdar as well as possession.

33. In Purshottam v. Narottam, 1970 AWR 312, which in fact was not a case for void or voidable document, it was held that if plaintiff had no grievance against record maintained by State Government and Gaon Sabha, suit for permanent injunction would lie in revenue court and any other person who disputes plaintiff's right he shall also be impleaded as a defendant. But if the village records support the claim of the plaintiff, suit would not lie under Section 229-B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, but would lie in civil court if plaintiff's right is disputed by a third person.

41. In the case of void document said to have been executed by a plaintiff during his disability or by some one impersonating him or said to have been executed by his predecessor whom he succeeds, the relief of cancellation of the document is more appropriate relief for clearing the deck of title and burying deep any dispute or controversy on its basis in presenti or which may take place in future. The document after its cancellation would bear such an endorsement in Sub-Registrar's register and would be the basis for correction of any paper and revenue record including record of register. Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act itself prescribes as to who can seek relief of cancellation. A third person cannot file a suit for cancellation of a void document. If in fact no decree for cancellation was needed and real and effective relief could be granted by the revenue court only, the civil court decree would even then be valid and not void if no objection to the same was taken before the trial court. If such an objection was taken before the trial court before framing of issues and objection continued to be taken before appellate and revisional court and there has been failure of justice because of change of forum then the civil court decree could be said to be without jurisdiction.

46. We are of the view that the case of Indra Deo v. Smt. Ram Piari, 1982 (8) ALR 517 has been correctly decided and the said decision requires no consideration, while the Division Bench case, Dr. Ayodhya Prasad v. Gangotri, 1981 AWC 469 is regarding the jurisdiction of consolidation authorities, but so far as it bolds that suit in respect of void document will lie in the revenue court it does not lay down a good law. Suit or action for cancellation of void document will generally lie in the civil court and a party cannot be deprived of his right getting this relief permissible under law except when a declaration of right or status of a tenure-holder is necessarily needed in which event relief for cancellation will be surplusage and redundant. A recorded tenure-holder having prima facie title in his favour can hardly be directed to approach the revenue court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of a void document which made him to approach the court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue court."

11. In the case of Indrapal and others v. Jagannath and others reported in 1992 SCC OnLine All 1092 : 1993 All LJ 235 : (1992) 2 AWC 1118 : 1992 RD 231, this Court observed as under:-

"4. It is well established by several decisions that if the sale-deed is void and a declaration of right is claimed.the suit is triable by the revenue court, ohterwise it is triable by the civil court vide Ram Padarath v. IInd Addl. District Judge, 1989 AWC 290 (FB) and Smt. Bismillah v. Janeshwar Prasad, 1989 ALJ 1335 (SC).

9. Thus, the essence of the matter in deciding whether the suit is cognizable by the civil Court or the revenue court is whether Section 331 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act is attracted to the facts of the case. If in substance, the main question involved relates to declaration of right or title, then the suit would lie in the revenue court and not in the civil Court."*

12. In the case of Deokinandan and others v. Surajpal and others, reported in 1996 (27) ALR 71:1995 Supp(4) SCC 671: (1995) 6 Scale 213, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"3. The controversy is no longer res integra. Admittedly, the suit lands are governed by the provisions of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1951 [for short, 'the Act'). The appellant had raised the objection to the jurisdiction of the Civil Court in his defence in the Trial Court. He pleaded thus:

"The suit is barred under the provisions of Section 331 of U.P. Zamindari & Land Reforms Act. The sale is not barred under the provisions of Section 168-A of Z.A. Act. The plaintiffs suit is liable to be dismissed with costs."

4. In the appellate Court also the same point has been reiterated but negatived. The second appeal was dismissed by the High Court in limine. Thus this appeal by special leave.

5. This Court in Chandrika Misir and Anr. v. Bhaiya Lal MANU/SC/0328/1973: [1974]1SCR290 had to deal with the same question. It was held that:

"Sections 209 and 331 of U.P. Zaminadari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1951, when read together, showed that a suit, like the present one, had to be filed in a Special Court created under the Act within a period of limitation specially prescribed under the Rules made under the Act, and the jurisdiction of the ordinary Civil Courts to entertain the suit was absolutely barred.

Since the Civil Court which entertained the suit suffered from an inherent lack of jurisdiction because of special provisions of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1951, the present appeal filed by the appellants had to be dismissed."

6. The above ratio applies to the facts in this case. As pointed out earlier, the lands are covered by the provisions of the Act and express objection as to the jurisdiction of the Civil Court was raised. The appellant had purchased 0.7 acres of land out of 2.17 acres. The abadi site comprises one Kachha Kotha and Ghar having boundary walls. Since the lands are admittedly covered by the provisions of the Act, the Civil Court inherently lacked jurisdiction to go into the question of title.

7. The appeal is accordingly allowed and the suit stands dismissed in so far as it relates to 0.7 acres of land purchased by the appellant. No costs."

13. In the case of Smt. Lakhpata and others v. IInd Additional District Judge and others, reported in (1998) 4 AWC 969, this Court observed as under:-

"8. After considering the averments of the parties made in the writ petition and in the counter-affidavit and hearing arguments of the learned counsel for the parties, I am of the view that the suit filed by the petitioner with respect to khata No. 306 measuring 10 Biswas which also included the house, 'sahan', 'ghera' and 'saria', well and trees of the petitioners as well cannot be thrown out by the civil court, as the revenue court, cannot grant the relief in respect of house 'sahan', 'ghera', 'saria', well and trees and such a relief can only be granted by the civil court. The fate of the case filed by the petitioner under Section 229B of U.P.Z.A. and L.R. Act before the revenue court is not known. The consolidation operations must have taken place during all these years and the counsel for the parties could not state as to whether in respect of properties in question, revenue court or the consolidation courts have passed any order or not. This aspect of the matter may be looked Into by the civil court where the matter will be heard and tried again, in view of the orders which are being passed by this Court.

9. There is another aspect of the matter which requires consideration. Ori was undoubtedly recorded as tenureholder. His name was expunged from the revenue court. The petitioners have asserted that an imposter was set up, who filed a compromise and on the basis of that compromise, the name of Ori was expunged. The petitioners, by leading evidence on that question, can prove that fact. That exercise can only be done by the civil court and not by the revenue court.

10. In view of what has been indicated heretnabove, I am of the view that the civil court had the jurisdiction to try the suit. The trial court as well as the revisional court have committed manifest error of law in returning the plaint for presentation to the revenue court. Accordingly, the writ petition succeeds and in view of the aforesaid observations, a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned orders dated 6.10.1982 and 5.5.1984 (constained in Annexures-2 and 3 to the writ petition) passed by opposite party Nos. 1 and 2 respectively, is issued. The trial court will register the case and decide the same on merits in accordance with law and the directions contained in this order. "

14. In the case of Shri Ram and another v. Ist Addl. District Judge and others reported in (2001) 3 SCC 24, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"7. On analysis of the decisions cited above, we are of the opinion that where a recorded tenure-holder having a prima facie title and in possession files suit in the civil court for cancellation of sale deed having been obtained on the ground of fraud or impersonation cannot be directed to file a suit for declaration in the Revenue Court, the reason being that in such a case, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure-holder is not under cloud. He does not require declaration of his title to the land. The position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure-holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil court on the ground of fraud or impersonation. There necessarily the plaintiff is required to seek a declaration of his title and, therefore, he may be directed to approach the Revenue Court, as the sale deed being void has to be ignored for giving him relief for declaration and possession."

15. In the case of Smt. Kalindi and another v. IIIrd Additional District Judge and others reported in 2001 SCC OnLine All 316 : (2001) 45 ALR 265 : (2001) 3 AWC 1978 : 2001 All LJ 2054 : 2001 AIHC 4964 : (2001) 92 RD 546, this Court observed as under:-

"4. The question is what is the main relief in the suit. In Ram Padarath v. Second Additional District Judge, Sultanpur, [1989 RD 21.] the Court held that the suit for cancellation of a sale-deed or other instruments and documents are essentially suits of civil nature and every suit of civil nature is cognizable by a civil court except cognizance of which is expressly or impliedly barred. In respect of the cancellation of the sale-deed, the suits are entertainable only by a civil court and no revenue court or any other court can entertain such a suit.

Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act reads as under:

"(1) Any person against whom a written instrument is void or voidable, and who has reasonable apprehension that such instrument, if left outstanding may cause him serious injury, may sue to have it adjudged void or voidable, and the court may, in its discretion, so adjudge it and order it to be delivered up and cancelled.

(2) If the instrument has been registered under the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), the court shall also send a copy of its decree to the officer in whose office the instrument has been so registered and such officer shall note on the copy of the instrument contained in his books the facts of its cancellation."

In respect of voidable documents, it was observed as under:

"So far as voidable documents like those obtained by practising coercion, fraud, misrepresentation, undue influence etc., are concerned, their legal effect cannot be put to an end without its cancellation. But a void document is not required to be cancelled necessarily. Its legal effect if any can be put to an end to by declaring it to be void and granting some other relief instead of cancelling it. Once it is held to be void it can be ignored by any court or authority being of no legal effect or consequence. A document executed without free consent or one which is without consideration or the object of which is unlawful or executed by a person not competent to contract like a minor or in excess of authority would be a void document. In case it is in excess of authority it would be void to that extent only. There is presumption of due registration of a document and correctness of the facts mentioned in the same, but the said presumption is not conclusive and be dislodged."

8. In the present case there are two main questions--one is whether the gift-deed and sale-deed are voidable on the basis of the allegations contained in the plaint, namely, fraud in obtaining the deeds. The documents were not duly executed by the vendor. They did not contain his signatures and was without jurisdiction and the second question is whether the plaintiff-respondent was born prior to the enforcement of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. If he was born prior to the enforcement of the Act, he will have right over the sir land in question.

9. In view of the allegations contained in the suit for the cancellation of the documents, the suit is maintainable in the civil court. There is no merit in the writ petition. It is, accordingly, dismissed."

16. In the case of Jai Singh v. IInd Addl. District Judge and others, reported in 2001 SCC OnLine All 607 : (2001) 45 ALR 579 : (2001) 4 AWC 2826 : 2001 All LJ 2621 : (2002) 1 ALT (DNC 2.2) 2 : (2001) 92 RD 817 : (2001) 4 CCC 322, this Court observed as under:-

"20. There is another reason for which the plaintiff should not be precluded from going to the civil court to get the deed cancelled even though, he is not recorded in the revenue papers as in the event of cancellation of deed, further action about correction of the revenue entry will be just a sheer formality which can be said to be a follow up action and it will be just a ministerial act to be performed by revenue authorities. If the plaintiff after getting declaration in his favour by civil court visits revenue authority and brings this fact to his notice then the revenue authority after finding it out that the name of the defendant came to be recorded only on the basis of the deed in question, which having been cancelled, will have no option but to restore the entry. In this view, no adjudication by revenue authorities of any kind will be required, if the main bone of contention between the parties i.e. deed goes away from the hands of the defendants on account of its cancellation by civil court. The decision as has been referred in support of the argument for abating the suit under the provisions of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, reported in Smt. Sumitra Devi v. Addl. District Judge [2000 (91) RD 45.] , to my mind have not dealt the aspect that if there is no specific bar in maintaining the suit in the civil court for the relief for which the plaintiff has come i.e. cancellation of the deed, then irrespective of availability or the claim for another relief which might be available in the revenue court or consolidation court, why the civil court is not competent to grant the relief of cancellation of deed for which the plaintiffs have come to the civil court. As a deed, if remains in existence, it causes or may cause the mischief in various manners which may not be foreseen today but that may create a situation in future and therefore, why that be permitted to remain if its existence can be taken away by competent forum of the civil court.

21. To my mind the jurisdiction of the civil court as is provided under Section 9 of C.P.C. cannot be permitted to be curtailed indirectly unless it is expressly barred. The pretext of ousting the jurisdiction of the civil court, on the plea that the relief claimed by the plaintiff appears to be ancillary and the main relief is of declaration of right which is to be given by the revenue court and, therefore the civil court lacks jurisdiction, to my mind will not be laying down a correct law as the plaintiff has come to the civil court for a relief of cancellation, which can only be given by civil court and therefore, even for the sake of argument, it is accepted that the relief claimed is ancillary relief, why the civil court will lack jurisdiction to grant it, (i.e. relief of cancellation of deed) especially in view of the fact that by grant of that relief, no adjudication between the parties in respect to their rights will survive either before the Revenue Court or before Consolidation Court and the correction of entry will remain a ministerial act.

22. In view of the aforesaid analysis, in respect to all the questions, (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) posed above, it is being held that the suit will lie in the civil court. If a plaintiff comes to the civil court for seeking cancellation of deed which may be void or voidable whether the name of the plaintiff is recorded or not, the jurisdiction of the civil court not having been expressly barred to try such suits, the suit will be maintainable in the civil court."

17. In the case of Kishori Prasad v. IIIrd Addl. District Judge and others reported in 2002 SCC OnLine All 937 : AIR 2003 All 58 : (2002) 5 AWC 4269 : 2003 All LJ 393 : (2003) 94 RD 36, this Court observed as under:-

"14. The settled position is that where the plaintiff is neither executant of the Instrument nor successor and happens to be a third party, notwithstanding the fact that a deed is cancelled on the basis of a Civil Court, the name of the plaintiff cannot be entered in the revenue record unless the plaintiff files a suit for declaration of his Bhumidhari rights on the basis of so-called sale deed executed by the Bhumidhar and this necessarily entails declaration of rights by the Revenue Court and plaintiff cannot claim any relief unless declaration is made in his favour, of his rights as Bhumidhar. The whole matter thus pivots on the cause of action and in order to properly appreciate the controversy the Court will have to recense the plaint allegations to dig out the real cause of action. What is the intendment behind real cause of action has been considered and thrashed out by the Full Bench decision in Ram Awalamb v. Jata Shanker, AIR 1969 All 526. In paragraph 54 of the said decision, cause of action has been ex-patiated upon at prolix length. It has been observed in that decision taking cue from a decision in Mohammad Khalil Khan v. Mahbub All Mian, AIR 1949 PC 78 that cause of action determines the jurisdiction of a Court. The term "cause of action" though nowhere defined is now very well understood. It means every fact which will be necessary for the plaintiff to prove if traversed in order to support his right to the judgment. The Court has to delve deep and scrutinise the pith and substance of the allegations in the plaint constituting cause of action in order to determine whether the plaintiff could avail of remedy in Revenue Court. In the facts of the present case, according to the plaint allegation, a sale deed is executed in favour of the plaintiff on 24-11-81. The sale deed in favour of defendant was, executed on 17-4-1981. The defendants are recorded tenure holders. Even if it be presumed that sale deed in favour of the defendant was cancelled, the plaintiff cannot appropriate it to his advantage by claiming any right unless a declaration comes to be made by Revenue Court that his sale deed is valid and he is the real and bona fide Bhumidhar. In this perspective, the pith and substance of the cause of action in the, present case is declaration of his rights as Bhumidhar. It is not a case where after obviating the hurdles by cancellation of the void document, the name of the original tenure holder will be automatically restored by ministerial act. It is thus, obvious that the plaintiff cannot derive any right unless declaration is made by Revenue Court. In the instant case, the plaintiff being third person, reliance on a subsequent sale deed dated 24-11-1981 i.e. about seven months, after the execution of the sale deed in favour of defendant, he cannot claim any relief unless rights of the plaintiffs come to be declared as Bhumidhari. Before entering into the question of cancellation of the void document, the Civil Court has to adjudicate upon, and make declaration whether the sale deed in favour of the plaintiff is valid one and this necessarily entails declaration of the title of s the plaintiff as Bhumidhari. It is not simply denial of the title of the defendant itself on the basis of the deed but it is declaration of title in favour of the plaintiff. In the above conspectus, it is only the Revenue Court which has jurisdiction to entertain the suit and the revisional Court rightly concluded that Civil Court has no jurisdiction. According to the own admission, the plaintiff has not been in possession of the portion of land covered by the sale deed and by this reckoning, his claim of possession could also be entertained by Revenue Courts and in case, his title is established and if law so permits, the decree of possession could also be given to him by the Revenue Court. From the perusal of the plaint allegation, it is amply borne out that the cause of action emerging from the aforesaid allegations is to seek declaration of his rights as Bhumidhar on the basis of sale deed dated 24-11-1981 and unless it is done no relief can be granted in his favour. It is not a case of removal of hurdle looming over the title of the original tenure holders by filing a suit for cancellation of void document but it is a case of third party who is neither executant nor successor."

18. In the case of Kamla Prasad v. Krishna Kant Pathak reported in (2007) 4 SCC 213, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"10. The learned counsel for the appellant-defendants contended that the trial court as well as appellate court were right in holding that civil court had no jurisdiction to decide the question as to ownership of agricultural land and the only court which could decide such question is Revenue Court and the High Court had committed an error in reversing the said orders which deserve interference by this Court. It was submitted that so far as abadi land is concerned, the court was right that it could be decided by civil court but in respect of agricultural land, civil court has no jurisdiction. The plaintiff was bound to approach Revenue Court under the provisions of the Act. It was also submitted that the High Court had committed an error of law and of jurisdiction in not considering the fact that the case of the plaintiff in the plaint itself was that over and above the plaintiff, Defendants 10 to 12 had also right in the agricultural land. Such a question can be decided only by Revenue

Court in a suit filed under Section 229-B of the Act. It was also submitted that when the name of the plaintiff was deleted and of the purchasers entered in revenue records, Revenue Court alone could consider the grievance of the plaintiff. It was, therefore, submitted that the appeal deserves to be allowed by setting aside the order passed by the High Court and restoring the orders of the courts below.

12. Having heard the learned advocates for the parties, in our opinion, the submission of the learned counsel for the appellants deserves to be accepted. So far as abadi land is concerned, the trial court held that civil court had jurisdiction and the said decision has become final. But as far as agricultural land is concerned, in our opinion, the trial court as well as appellate court were right in coming to the conclusion that only Revenue Court could have entertained the suit on two grounds. Firstly, the case of the plaintiff himself in the plaint was that he was not the sole owner of the property and Defendants 10 to 12 who were pro forma defendants, had also right, title and interest therein. He had also stated in the plaint that though in the revenue record, only his name had appeared but Defendants 10 to 12 have also right in the property. In our opinion, both the courts below were right in holding that such a question can be decided by a Revenue Court in a suit instituted under Section 229-B of the Act. The said section reads thus:

"229-B. Declaratory suit by person claiming to be an asami of a holding or part thereof.--(1) Any person claiming to be an asami of a holding or any part thereof, whether exclusively or jointly with any other person, may sue the landholder for a declaration of his rights as asami in such holding or part, as the case may be.

(2) In any suit under sub-section (1) any other person claiming to hold as asami under the landholder shall be impleaded as defendant.

(3) The provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) shall mutatis mutandis apply to a suit by a person claiming to be a bhumidhar with the amendment that for the word "landholder' the words "the State Government and the Gaon Sabha' are substituted therein."

13. On second question also, in our view, courts below were right in coming to the conclusion that legality or otherwise of insertion of names of purchasers in record-of-rights and deletion of name of the plaintiff from such record can only be decided by Revenue Court since the names of the purchasers had already been entered into. Only Revenue Court can record a finding whether such an action was in accordance with law or not and it cannot be decided by a civil court.

14. In this connection, the learned counsel for the appellant rightly relied upon a decision of this Court in Shri Ram v. Ist ADJ [(2001) 3 SCC 24] . In Shri Ram [(2001) 3 SCC 24] A, the original owner of the land sold it to B by a registered sale deed and also delivered possession and the name of the purchaser was entered into revenue records after mutation. According to the plaintiff, sale deed was forged and was liable to be cancelled. In the light of the above fact, this Court held that it was only a civil court which could entertain, try and decide such suit. The Court, after considering relevant case-law on the point, held that where a recorded tenure-holder having a title and in possession of property files a suit in civil court for cancellation of sale deed obtained by fraud or impersonation could not be directed to institute such suit for declaration in Revenue Court, the reason being that in such a case, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure-holder is not under cloud. He does not require declaration of his title to the land.

15. The Court, however, proceeded to observe: (Shri Ram case [(2001) 3 SCC 24] , SCC p. 28, para 7)

"The position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure-holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil court on the ground of fraud or impersonation. There necessarily the plaintiff is required to seek a declaration of his title and, therefore, he may be directed to approach the Revenue Court, as the sale deed being void has to be ignored for giving him relief for declaration and possession."

16. The instant case is covered by the above observations. The lower appellate court has expressly stated that the name of the plaintiff had been deleted from the record-of-rights and the names of purchasers had been entered. The said fact had been brought on record by the contesting defendants and it was stated that the plaintiff himself appeared as a witness before the mutation court, admitted execution of the sale deed, receipt of sale consideration and the factum of putting vendees into possession of the property purchased by them. It was also stated that the records revealed that the names of contesting defendants had been mutated into record-of-rights and the name of the plaintiff was deleted.

17. In the light of the above facts, in our opinion, the courts below were wholly right in reaching the conclusion that such a suit could be entertained only by a Revenue Court and civil court had no jurisdiction. The High Court by reversing those orders had committed an error of law and of jurisdiction which deserves interference by this Court."

19. In the case of Indraj (dead) @ Talewar and others v. Smt. Bharpai (dead) and others reported in 2015 SCC OnLine All 8827 : (2015) 113 ALR 904 : (2016) 157 AIC 942 : (2016) 130 RD 542, this Court observed as under:-

"6. A perusal of the pleadings as well as two judgments make it clear that disputed property is agricultural land and admittedly only the Revenue Court had jurisdiction to decide its title and ownership. It is also admitted legal position that when consolidation proceedings initiate then only Consolidation Courts have right to determine rights and title of such agricultural land under consolidation proceedings; and Civil Court had no jurisdiction to determine or decide title of such agricultural land. The only point of disputed between the parties in Lower Court was regarding ownership of disputed agricultural land. Both the parties to dispute claimed there ownership on the basis of sale-deeds executed in their favour, but it is settled legal position that when dispute relating to title and ownership of agricultural property comes under consolidation proceedings then jurisdiction of other Courts seizes.

7. Pith and substance of the dispute between the parties is the ownership of agricultural land; and the point relating to authority to execute valid sale-deed becomes ancillary matter. Since main dispute relates to the title of agricultural land which is within jurisdiction of Consolidation Court, therefore the ancillary dispute relating to sale-deed regarding them or authority to execute the valid sale-deed or about the effectiveness of such sale-deed will also come within the jurisdiction of consolidation Court in present matter. The main dispute between the parties relating to ownership and title of disputed agricultural property has been finally decided in favour of Smt. Bharpai (plaintiff of original suit No. 423/1989 through successors), therefore the ancillary dispute regarding authenticity and cancellation etc. of sale-deed relating to such property will also be dependent on the judgment of such main dispute finally decided by consolidation Court; and after completion of consolidation proceedings by competent Revenue Court. In such circumstances, ancillary dispute relating to relief sought in original suit regarding sale-deed in question also comes within jurisdiction of competent consolidation/Revenue Court."

20. In the judgment and order dated 24.05.2016, passed in the case of Chandrika v. Shivnath and others, reported as 2016 (132) R.D. 247, by this Court observed as under:-

"5. The counsel for the petitioner submitted that on the basis of sale-deed dated 5.5.1997, the name of the petitioner has been recorded over plots 488, 487 and 494, which are subject-matter of sale-deed and he is in possession over it. At present, the petitioner is a recorded tenure holder and in possession of agricultural land i.e. plots 488, 487 and 494, which are subject-matter of sale-deed as such the suit is essentially a suit for declaration of title and possession over agricultural land. Jurisdiction of Civil Court to try such suit is barred under Section 331 of U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951. He relied upon the judgments Supreme Court in Kamla Prasad v. Krishna Kant Path, MANU/SC/7086/2007 : (2007) 4 SCC 213 and judgment of this Court in Kundan Singh v. Additional District Judge and others, 2009 Rajaswa Nirnay Sangah 59.

6. I have considered the arguments of the counsel for the petitioner and examined the record. In order to appreciate the controversy, relevant provisions of Civil Procedure Code, 1908 and Specific Relief Act, 1963 are quoted below:

9. Courts to try all civil suits unless barred.--The Courts shall (subject to the provisions herein contained) have jurisdiction to try all suits of a civil nature excepting suits of which their cognizance is either expressly or impliedly barred.

31. When cancellation may be ordered.--(1) Any person against whom a written instrument is void or voidable, and who has reasonable apprehension that such instrument, if left outstanding may cause him serious injury, may sue to have it adjudged void or voidable; and the Court may, in its discretion, so adjudge it and order it to be delivered up and cancelled.

(2) If the instrument has been registered under the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), the Court shall also send a copy of its decree to the officer in whose office the instrument has been so registered; and such officer shall note on the copy of the instrument contained in his books the fact of its cancellation.

7. In view of Section 31 of Specific Relief Act, 1963, a suit for cancellation of sale-deed, void or voidable, is a suit of civil nature and can be filed before Civil Court and Civil Court has jurisdiction to try it under Section 9 C.P.C. A Full Bench of this Court in Ram Padarath v. Second. ADJ, Sultanpur and others, MANU/UP/0475/1988 : 1989 RD 21

(FB), held suit for cancellation of void and voidable sale-deed shall lie in Civil Court. This judgment has been approved by Supreme Court in Bismillah v. Janeshwar Prasad, MANU/SC/0759/1989 : AIR 1990 SC 540.

8. Now question arises that if a sale-deed is in respect of agricultural land, suit for its cancellation is barred under Section 331 of U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951, relevant part of which is quoted below:

Section 331. Cognizance of suits, etc. under this Act.--(1) Except as provided by or under this Act, no Court other than a Court mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II shall notwithstanding anything contained in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 take cognizance of any suit, application or proceeding mentioned in column 3 thereof or a suit application or proceeding based on a cause of action in respect of which any relief could be obtained by means of any such suit or application.

9. Under Section 331, jurisdiction of Civil Court is expressly barred for the suits mentioned in Column 3 of Schedule II of U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951 and impliedly barred for a suit based on a cause of action, in respect of which, relief could be obtained by revenue Court (mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II). Column 3 of Schedule II of U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951 does not provide for a suit for cancellation of sale-deed of agricultural land as such Section 331(1) does not expressly bar a suit for cancellation of sale-deeds.

10. Now it has to be examined as to whether suit for cancellation of a sale-deed is impliedly barred as the required relief based on the cause of action in the suit could be obtained from revenue Court. It is the cause of action, which determines jurisdiction of a Court. Cause of action means the facts which will be necessary for the plaintiff to prove, in order to obtain decree. Supreme Court in Bismillah v. Janeshwar Prasad, MANU/SC/0759/1989 : AIR 1990 SC 540, held that in order to determine the precise nature of the action, the pleadings should be taken as a whole. If as, indeed, is done by High Court the expression 'void' occurring in the plaint as descriptive of the legal status of the sales is made the constant and determinate and what is implicit, in the need for cancellation as the variable and as inappropriate to a plea of nullity, equally, converse could be the position. The real point is not the stray or loose expressions which abound in inartistically drafted plaints, but the real substance of the case gathered by construing pleadings as a whole. It is said "Parties do not have the farsight of prophets and their lawyers the draftsmanship of a Chalmers".

11. In Church of North India v. Lavajibhai Ratanjibhai, MANU/SC/2531/2005 : (2005) 10 SCC 760, held that a plea of bar to jurisdiction of a Civil Court must be considered having regard to the contentions raised in the plaint. For the said purpose, averments disclosing cause of action and the reliefs sought for therein must be considered in their entirety. The Court may not be justified in determining the question, one way or the other, only having regard to the reliefs claimed de-hors the factual averments made in the plaint. The rules of pleadings postulate that a plaint must contain material facts.

With a view to determine the question as regards exclusion of jurisdiction of the Civil Court in terms of the provisions of the Act, the Court has to consider what, in substance, and not merely in form, is the nature of the claim made in the suit and the underlying object in seeking the real relief therein. If for the purpose of grant of an appeal, the Court comes to the conclusion that the question is required to be determined or dealt with by an authority under the Act, the jurisdiction of the Civil Court must be held to have been ousted. The questions which are required to be determined are within the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the authorities whether simple or complicated.

12. Full Bench of this Court in Ram Awalamb v. Jata Shankar, MANU/UP/0100/1969 : AIR 1969 All 526 (FB), held that (a) where on the basis of cause of actionument which made him to approach the Court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue Court.

15. So far as the arguments that on the basis of sale-deed dated 5.5.1997, the name of the petitioner has been recorded over plots 488, 487 and 494, which are subject-matter of sale-deed and he is in possession over it and the suit, is essentially a suit for declaration of title and possession over agricultural land, is concerned, title of the plaintiff is admitted on the date of sale-deed. In case sale-deed is canceled, there will be no requirement for declaration of the title of the plaintiff. Relief for ejectment of the petitioner and possession of the plaintiff being an ancillary relief can be granted by Civil Court also as held by this Court in Ram Awalamb's case (supra). The case law relied by the counsel for the petitioner, are applicable where declaration of title would be necessary for grant of relief to the plaintiff, while in this case, as stated above, title of the plaintiff on the date of sale-deed is admitted and cancellation of sale-deed is main relief. Supreme Court in Suraj Bhan v. Financial Commr., MANU/SC/7303/2007 : (2007) 6 SCC 186, held that it is well-settled that an entry in revenue records does not confer title on a person whose name appears in record-of-rights. Entries in the revenue records or jamabandi have only "fiscal purpose" i.e. payment of land revenue, and no ownership is conferred on the basis of such entries. So far as title to the property is concerned, it can only be decided by a competent Civil Court. In view of the aforesaid discussions, the impugned orders do not suffer from any illegality. The petition has no merit and is dismissed.", the main relief is cognizable by a revenue Court, the suit would be cognizable by revenue Court only. The ancillary relief would be immaterial for determination of proper forum for the suit. (b) Where on the basis of cause of action, main relief is cognizable by a Civil Court, the suit would be cognizable by Civil Court only. The ancillary relief which could be granted by revenue Court may also be granted by Civil Court.

(Paragraph-90) A document under which the plaintiffs share also purports to have been transferred by a person not authorized to do so, can be canceled through Court to the extent of the plaintiffs share and after a decree has been passed in his favour, information regarding the same has to be sent to the registration department for making a note in their register. To have the document adjudged void or voidable, the suit provided under Section 31 of Specific Relief Act, 1963 cannot be considered to be altogether unnecessary because after lapse of several years, the unchallenged existence of such document can cause serious difficulty to the plaintiff in establishing his title to the land. The plaintiff is not bound to ask for mere declaration of his title in respect of the land when he could pray for cancellation of the entire sale-deed.

13. Thus cancellation of a registered sale-deed has been held to be main relief as cause of action for the suit, is the sale-deed. The present suit has been filed for cancellation of sale-deed dated 5.5.1997. Mutation order, on its basis, directing to record the name of the petitioner is a consequential action based on sale-deed. So long as a registered sale-deed is not cancelled by Civil Court, revenue Court will be bound to respect it and will not able to ignore it as held by Full Bench of this Court in Ram Nath v. Munna, 1976 RD 220 (FB).

14. Arguments of the counsel for the petitioner is on the allegations made in the plaint, sale-deed dated 5.5.1997 is a void document and can be ignored by revenue Court. Supreme Court in Bismillah v. Janeshwar Prasad, MANU/SC/0759/1989 : AIR 1990 SC 540, held that as suit or action for cancellation of void document will generally lie in the Civil Court and a party cannot be deprived of his right of getting this relief permissible under law except when a declaration of right or status and a tenure holder is necessarily needed in which event relief for cancellation will be surplusage and redundant. A recorded tenure holder having prima facie title in his favour can hardly be directed to approach the revenue Court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of a void document which made him to approach the Court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue Court.

15. So far as the arguments that on the basis of sale-deed dated 5.5.1997, the name of the petitioner has been recorded over plots 488, 487 and 494, which are subject-matter of sale-deed and he is in possession over it and the suit, is essentially a suit for declaration of title and possession over agricultural land, is concerned, title of the plaintiff is admitted on the date of sale-deed. In case sale-deed is canceled, there will be no requirement for declaration of the title of the plaintiff. Relief for ejectment of the petitioner and possession of the plaintiff being an ancillary relief can be granted by Civil Court also as held by this Court in Ram Awalamb's case (supra). The case law relied by the counsel for the petitioner, are applicable where declaration of title would be necessary for grant of relief to the plaintiff, while in this case, as stated above, title of the plaintiff on the date of sale-deed is admitted and cancellation of sale-deed is main relief. Supreme Court in Suraj Bhan v. Financial Commr., MANU/SC/7303/2007 : (2007) 6 SCC 186, held that it is well-settled that an entry in revenue records does not confer title on a person whose name appears in record-of-rights. Entries in the revenue records or jamabandi have only "fiscal purpose" i.e. payment of land revenue, and no ownership is conferred on the basis of such entries. So far as title to the property is concerned, it can only be decided by a competent Civil Court. In view of the aforesaid discussions, the impugned orders do not suffer from any illegality. The petition has no merit and is dismissed."

21. In the case of Banshi Dhar v. Sheela Devi and others in S.A. No. 279 of 2019, reported in 2016 (132) R.D. 3:(2016) 3 AWC 3192: (2017) 4 ALJ 177, this Court observed as under:-

"11. In Kamla Prasad v. Kishna Kant Pathak, (2007) 4 SCC 213 the Apex Court had held as under:

"16. The instant case is covered by the above observations. The lower appellate court has expressly stated that the name of the plaintiff had been deleted from the record-of-rights and the names of purchasers had been entered. The said fact had been brought on record by the contesting defendants and it was stated that the plaintiff himself appeared as a witness before the mutation court, admitted execution of the sale deed, receipt of sale consideration and the factum of putting vendees into possession of the property purchased by them. It was also stated that the records revealed that the names of contesting defendants had been mutated into record-of-rights and the name of the plaintiff was deleted.

17. In the light of the above facts, in our opinion, the courts below were wholly right in reaching the conclusion that such a suit could be entertained only by a Revenue Court and civil court had no jurisdiction. The High Court by reversing those orders had committed an error of law and of jurisdiction which deserves interference by this Court."

12. In Azhar Hasan & others vs. District Judge, Saharanpur & others, 1998 (34) A. L.R. 152 (SC) full bench of Apex Court has held:

"On reading the plaint and on understanding the controversy, we get to the view that whether those persons who succeeded the recorded tenants, were rightly recorded as tenants or not, was a question determinable by the Revenue Authorities. Besides that, the sale deed which has been questioned on the basis of fraud, was not executed by the plaintiffs but by others, and they were not parties thereto so as to allege the incidence of fraud, In these circumstances, we are of the view that the plaint was rightly returned to the plaintiffs. They are even now at liberty to approach the Revenue authorities and claim deduction of time spent in these proceedings, in computing limitation for the purposes of the suit."

13. In present case, admittedly, plaintiff/appellant is not a recorded tenure-holder of disputed agricultural land whereas earlier defendant no.-1 was recorded, and after execution of gift-deed in question the the proceedings of mutation of defendants no. 4 & 5 over the disputed property in revenue records is pending, in which plaintiff-appellant is participating. Therefore, granting of any relief in present matter would involve adjudication of an issue relating to co-parcenary right in agricultural land and jurisdiction of the Court as held in Sri Ram's case (Supra). Since declaration of title and right of share of disputed agricultural land is necessary pre-condition involved for grant of relief sought by plaintiff/appellant, therefore, as it is held by Apex Court in Sri Rams' case (supra), plaintiff cannot get any relief unless his rights are declared by the revenue court. Pith and substance of the present dispute involves the declaration of bhumidhari rights of plaintiff/appellant; therefore the relief sought by him even in the garb of relief of cancellation of gift-deed, cannot be granted by the civil court.

14. No relief of declaration of ownership of agricultural land specifically sought in plaint, but in essence the claim of plaintiff was based on his ownership right of the disputed land, while the plea of defendant was that plaintiff was not owner of the property. Then adjudication of title of land in substance was the main question involved in the suit, although, it was not expressly prayed for in plaint. Therefore, in substance, when the main question involved for adjudication in this case relates to declaration of right or title then suit would lie in revenue court and not in civil court. Therefore, in such mattrt the jurisdiction of civil court is barred under Section 331 of UPZA & LR Act. This provision of Section 331 is attracted when in substance main question to be determined for resolving dispute between parties relates to declaration of rights or title of agricultural land.

15. In Ram Padarath vs. Second Addl. District Judge, Sultanpur, 1989 R.D. 21 the Full Bench of this Court had held as Under:

"It is the alleged injury or the apprehended injury or cloud on the right and title of a person by some action on the part of any other person, or interference or attempt to interfere or encroach upon the right and title of a person over a particular property by any positive or negative act or declaration etc., which give a suitor cause of action to approach a court of law for relief or reliefs against the same. The dispute as to jurisdiction arises when more than one reliefs are claimed in an action on the same cause of action one of which can be granted by a civil court. If the principle of real relief can be granted by the revenue court, then the ancillary relief or the relief which flows out from the principal relief can also be granted by the revenue court notwithstanding that --then all the reliefs can be granted by the civil court and if things are in reverse direction then all the relief can be granted by the civil court, but if the so-called main relief is redundant or mere suplusage then it is the real relief involved in the matter which may or may not have been claimed as ancillary relief will determine the jurisdiction of the court which is to entertain a particular action. Even if a plaint or application is couched in such a language so as to oust jurisdiction of a particular court then it is the cause of action which would determine the forum for entertaining the said action and not the so called relief claimed."

16. In fact for an adjudication of an issue relating to jurisdiction the averments contained in the plaint have to be taken in their entirety. The effort of the court has to be to gathered from the pith and substance of what is alleged in the plaint. The pith and substance of the plaint in the instant case necessarily involved the adjudication of the question as to whether the plaintiff was or not the co-bhumidhar of the land in dispute. The plaintiff was not recorded in the revenue papers and the entry stood in favour of the defendants. Obviously, therefore, the plaintiff had to seek a declaration in his favour. Moreover, the absence of the names of the plaintiff in the revenue record necessitates an action for declaration on the part of the plaintiff because the entries may not be set right without such declaration being asked for and given as contemplated under Section 229-B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. There can be no escape therefore, from the conclusion that upon the cause of action set up in the plaint, the suit would lie for declaration in the revenue court under Section 229-B of the U.P. Act No.1 of 1951.

20. Apart from it, as discussed and held earlier, civil court had no jurisdiction to grant the main relief of declaration of title and coparcenary right of agricultural land. Therefore, suit is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

21. On examination of the reasoning recorded by the trial court, which are affirmed by the learned first appellate court in first appeal, I am of the view that the judgments of the trial court as well as the first appellate court are well reasoned and are based upon proper appreciation of the entire evidences on record. No perversity or infirmity is found in the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the trial court that has been affirmed by the first appellate court to warrant interference in this appeal. No question of law, much less a substantial question of law, was involved in the case before the this Court. None of the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellant-plaintiffs can be sustained."

22. This Court has also taken note of the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Pyarelal v. Shubhendra Pilania, (2019) 3 SCC 692 : (2019) 2 SCC (Civ) 393 : 2019 SCC OnLine SC 98. The Apex Court after considering Section 9 of the Code of Civil Procedure, Section 88, 207 and 256 of the Rajasthan Tenancy Act, 1955 and Section 331 of the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, observed to the effect that jurisdiction to declare khatedari rights exclusively vests with the Revenue Court and only after declaration of rights by the Revenue Court the suit would be maintainable before the Civil Court. While holding/observing on the issue of jurisdiction of the Revenue Court and/or Civil Court the Hon'ble Apex Court also considered the judgment passed in the case of Ram Vs. Additional District Judge, (2001) 3 SCC 24. The relevant paragraphs on reproduction reads as under:-

22. The appellant has prayed that the gift deed dated 10-2-2011 be declared void to the extent of the share claimed by the appellant and that Respondents 1 to 5 be restrained from alienating the share of the appellant. The civil court may decree the relief prayed only if it is first determined that the appellant is entitled to khatedari rights in the suit property. Under the provisions of the Tenancy Act, the jurisdiction to declare khatedari rights vests exclusively with the Revenue Court. Only after such determination may the civil court proceed to decree the relief as prayed. The Explanation to Section 207 clarifies that if the cause of action in respect of which relief is sought can be granted only by the Revenue Court, then it is immaterial that the relief asked from the civil court is greater than, or in addition to or not identical with the relief which the Revenue Court would have granted. In view of this matter, the civil court may not grant relief until the khatedari rights of the appellant have been decreed by a Revenue Court.

23. A claimant whose khatedari rights have been decreed by a Revenue Court is however on a different footing from a claimant whose khatedari rights are pending adjudication by a Revenue Court. Where the khatedari rights are yet to be decreed, a claimant must first approach the Revenue Court. The relief to declare the gift deed void and to restrain Respondents 1 to 5 from interfering with or alienating the property vesting in a civil court may be sought for in a suit by a claimant in whom khatedari rights have been decreed by a Revenue Court.

24. In Ramv.Addl. District Judge[Ramv.Addl. District Judge, (2001) 3 SCC 24] , a suit was filed before the civil court for the cancellation of a sale deed of an agricultural land on the grounds of fraud and impersonation. The defendant contended that the suit is barred by Section 331 of the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 which reads thus:

"331.Cognizance of suits, etc. under this Act.--(1) Except as provided by or under this Act no court other than a court mentioned in Column 4 of Schedule II shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (V of 1908), take cognizance of any suit, application, or proceedings mentioned in Column 3 thereof, or of a suit, application or proceedings based on a cause of action in respect of which any relief could be obtained by means of any such suit or application:

Explanation.--If the cause of action is one in respect of which relief may be granted by the Revenue Court, it is immaterial that the relief asked for from the civil court may not be identical to that which the Revenue Court would have granted."

25. The question before this Court was whether a recorded tenure-holder having prima facie title in his favour and in possession was required to file a suit in the Revenue Court, or where the civil court had jurisdiction to entertain and decide the suit seeking relief of cancellation of a void document. Upholding the jurisdiction of the civil court to try the suit, a two-Judge Bench of this Court differentiated between a recorded tenure-holder, and an unrecorded tenure-holder with the following observations: (Ram case[Ramv.Addl. District Judge, (2001) 3 SCC 24] , SCC p. 28, para 7)

"7. ... we are of the opinion that where a recorded tenure-holder having a prima facie title and in possession files suit in the civil court for cancellation of sale deed having been obtained on the ground of fraud or impersonation cannot be directed to file a suit for declaration in the Revenue Court, the reason being that in such a case, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure-holder is not under cloud. He does not require declaration of his title to the land. The position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure-holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil court on the ground of fraud or impersonation. There necessarily the plaintiff is required to seek a declaration of his title and, therefore, he may be directed to approach the Revenue Court, as the sale deed being void has to be ignored for giving him relief for declaration and possession."

26. Though the above principles emerge in the context of the bar under Section 331 of the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, the logic of the judgment extends to the bar under Section 207 read with Section 256 of the Tenancy Act. A recorded khatedar stands on a different footing compared to a claimant seeking a decree of their khatedari rights. A claimant seeking a decree of khatedari rights is barred from filing a suit in the civil court prior to their khatedari right being decreed by a Revenue Court when the relief sought for by the civil court includes a determination of khatedari rights."

23. From the various authorities/judgments referred hereinabove, the position which culled out in regard to the questions framed by this Court is as under:-

24. If a person who questions sale deed executed or purported to be executed by him in respect of agricultural land can file the suit for its cancellation before

Civil Court, if it is alleged by him that the sale deed is void or voidable on the ground of fraud, coercion, undue influence, misrepresentation or impersonation. Similarly sale deed executed or purported to be executed by predecessor-in-interest of a plaintiff can also be challenged by him before civil court on the same grounds. However, in such a situation, it is necessary that immediately before the execution of the sale deed, the plaintiff or his predecessor-in-interest must undisputedly be recorded in the revenue records.

25. If sale deed executed by a person is challenged by another person on the ground that even though immediately before the sale deed only the name of vendor/vendors was undisputedly recorded in the revenue records, still plaintiff had a right in the revenue records, still plaintiff had a right in the said land, then such suit is not maintainable before Civil Court, as it primarily involves question of declaration of right in the agricultural land. In such a situation, it is not actually the sale deed and state of affairs coming in existence by execution of the sale deed which is being challenged. The challenge in such a situation in real sense is to the position and affairs in existence immediately before the execution of the sale deed. If a person asserts that apart from the recorded tenure-holder he also has got a right in the agricultural land then his only remedy lies in filing a suit for declaration before the Revenue Court.

26. Now coming to the facts of the case, from the pleading on record, it appears that Original Suit No. 176 of 1998 was initially filed for permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in the possession of the plaintiffs and also for restraining the defendants from alienating the property in issue in suit. Subsequently, the suit/plaint was amended and the relief for cancellation of sale deed dated 09.02.1988 executed by defendant no. 1/Smt. Ram Rani in favour of defendant no. 2/Bachchu Lal/opposite party no. 1 was added/incorporated. Relevant to state here that the property in suit is agricultural land/property, of which the sale deed dated 09.02.1988 was executed.

27. Initially the suit was filed by Nirvikar Singh and Arjun Singh. During the pendency of the suit both the plaintiffs, who filed the suit, expired and in place of them the legal representative/heirs were substituted.

28. One legal heir of Late Nirvikar Singh, who filed the present writ petition, namely Jai Prakash Singh expired during the pendency of the present writ petition and pursuant to the order of this Court dated 14.05.2018, the name of legal heirs of Jai Prakash Singh, were substituted on 16.05.2018.

29. In the suit for the reliefs sought for permanent injunction and cancellation of sale deed dated 09.02.1988, it has been stated that the defendant no. 1 Smt. Ram Rani wife of Durga Prasad was the maternal aunt of the Banchchu Lal/opposite party no. 1 and on account of poor financial condition of Durga Prasad the defendant no. 1/Smt. Ram Rani started living with the mother of Bachchu Lal, who is the real sister of defendant no. 1/Smt. Ram Rani. Subsequently, the defendant no. 1/Smt. Ram Rani started living with Mewa Lal, who was neighbor of Banchchu Lal, for the purposes of her maintenance. It has also been stated in plaint that the defendant no. 1 was caring/looking after Mewa Lal. Wife of Mewa Lal was expired prior to his death. Mewa Lal expired issueless. After the death of Mewa Lal the name of defendant no. 1 was mutated in the revenue record with respect to the property in suit. The plaintiffs, who were the successors of the Mewa Lal, as per plaint averments, never objected with respect to mutation of name of defendant no. 1 in revenue record in place of Mewa Lal keeping in view the fact that the defendant no. 1 served Mewa Lal, the predecessor of the plaintiffs, as well as considering that the mutation is only for the purposes of social and finance security and defendant no. 1 would possess the property in suit till her death with permission of defendant no. 3 to 13. The defendant sold the property in suit by executing a sale deed dated 09.02.1988 in favour of Bachchu Lal/defendant no. 2/opposite party no. 1 without any right, title or interest in the property of Mewa Lal.

30. From the averments made in the plaint, it is evident that at the time of execution of sale deed dated 09.02.1988, the property in suit was in the name of Smt. Ram Rani in the revenue records and plaintiffs were not recorded tenure holder, at that point of time, nor they were in.

31. From the record, it appears that in the Written Statement, a plea to the effect that the suit involves declaration of title and therefore it should have been filed before the Revenue Court and not in the Civil Court thus Civil Suit is not maintainable. This plea has been taken in paragraph 24 of Written Statement of defendant no. 2, which is on record as Annexure No. 4 to the writ petition. It has also been stated in the Written Statement that the plaintiffs have no right/title/interest in the property in suit and they are not in possession of the same.

32. In view of the plea of maintainability of the suit taken in the Written Statement, the issue no. 1, as mentioned hereinabove, was framed by the Trial Court i.e. Civil Judge (Junior Division), North, Unnao, which was to the effect that "whether this Court has no jurisdiction to try and hear the suit".

33. The Trial Court vide order dated 15.03.2001 decided the issue no. 1 against the plaintiffs and in favour of the defendants and directed to return the plaint, under Order 7 Rule 1, for presenting it before competent Court. The Trial Court while deciding the issue no. 1 considered the facts and reliefs sought in the plaint and on due consideration came to conclusion that the suit is in fact is for declaration of title/rights and possession over the agricultural land/property in suit.

34. Aggrieved by the order dated 15.03.2001, the Misc. Civil Appeal No. 21 of 2001 was filed by Jai Prakash Singh (now deceased), original petitioner, and by the detailed judgment and order dated 05.03.2002, the District Judge, Unnao dismissed the appeal with costs. The said order was passed after considering the allegations/averments made in the plaint. The learned District Judge held that the suit involves the declaration of title of the agricultural land under the garb of relief of permanent injunction. The learned District Judge while dismissing the appeal also recorded a finding that the recorded tenure holder has executed the sale deed and the relief of cancellation of sale deed has been sought by way of amendment. The learned District Judge while dismissing the appeal also considered the judgment passed by this Court in the case of Indra Pal(Supra).

35. Assailing the impugned orders dated 15.03.2001 and 05.03.2002, the learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the impugned orders are liable to be interfered by this Court as both the Courts below have failed to consider the scope/jurisdiction of the Civil Court keeping in view the provisions as envisaged in Section 9 of the CPC and Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 as well as the reliefs sought in the suit i.e. for permanent injunction and cancellation of sale deed. In support of his submissions the counsel for petitioner Sri R.P. Singh placed reliance on the judgments, which have already referred hereinabove.

36. Per contra, learned counsel Sri Abhisht Saran and Sri Rahul Kumar Kashyap, who appears for opposite party no. 1, submitted that there is no illegality in the impugned orders dated 05.03.2001 and 15.03.2002, passed by both the Courts below as the same have been passed after considering the averments made in the plaint to the effect that the sale deed has been executed by the recorded tenure holder and the plaintiffs are not recorded tenure holders of the suit property and accordingly the Courts below came to the conclusion that in fact relief of declaration of right/title/interest over the property in issue is involved, which is agricultural property. The reliance has been placed on the judgments, already referred hereinabove. In addition, it has also been submitted declaration to the effect that the transfer is void amounts to cancellation of transfer deed and as such the declaration of right/title/interest by the Revenue Court would suffice. In this regard reliance has been placed on the judgment of Suhrid Singh @ Sardool Singh Vs. Randhir Singh, reported in (2010) 12 SCC 112 and J. Vasanthi Vs. N. Ramani Kanthammal, reported in (2017) 11 SCC 852, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that "Where the executant of a deed wants it to be annulled, he has to seek cancellation of the deed. But if a non-executant seeks annulment of a deed, he has to seek a declaration that the deed is invalid, or non est, or illegal or that it is not binding on him."

37. Considered the submissions made by the counsel for the respective parities and perused the record.

38. From the record particularly the averments made in the plaint, it is evident that at the time of execution of sale deed dated 09.02.1988, the property in suit was in the name of Smt. Ram Rani in the revenue records and plaintiffs were not recorded tenure holder. The executant of the deed was in possession of the property in suit (agricultural land). It also appears from the averments made in the plaint that in fact the main relief sought in the suit is for cancellation of sale deed by the non executants of sale deed and the persons, who at the time of execution of sale deed were not recorded tenure holder. Thus, this Court is of the view that in fact the declaration of right/title/interest is involved in the present case.

39. In view of the above, the finding given by this Court as well as the conclusion given with respect to jurisdiction of Revenue/Civil Court and the recent judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Pyarelal (supra) this Court is of the view that in the instant case the suit would lie before the Revenue Court.

40. For the forgoing reasons, the impugned orders dated 15.03.2001 and 05.03.2002 are not liable to be interfered with.

41. Accordingly, this Court finds that the writ petition lacks merit.

42. Hence, the writ petition is dismissed with no order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1422

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 23.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE SAURABH LAVANIA, J.

FAFO No. 465 of 2012

Abhishek Jain ...Appellant
Versus
Chhedi Lal & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Nilesh Anand, Sri Virendra Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Akhter Abbas

A. Motor Vehicles Act, 1966 - Section 166, Section 173 - Enhancement of compensation - Claimant/son though legal heir of the deceased - not entitled for getting compensation as he was not "dependent" upon the income of the deceased.

B. Motor Vehicles Act, 1966 - Section 166, Section 173 - Legal heir of the deceased who is not "dependent" upon the income of the deceased - entitled to general damages, as provided in the Second Schedule of the Act of 1988.

Held:-Only dependent(s) are entitled to compensation or for enhancement of compensation – Appeal filed by the claimant for enhancement is liable to be rejected as the claimant were not dependent upon the deceased – Appellant/claimant and his sister is entitled to get General Damages, as provided in the Second Schedule of the Act of 1988 – Appellant/claimant is entitled to get amount towards conventional heads, such as funeral expenses, loss of consortium, loss of estates, medical expenses – Appellant is entitled for compensation towards Loss of Estate, towards Loss of Consortium towards Funeral Expenses and would be entitled to the interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the Claim Petition. (Para 29, 30 & 32)

Appeal Partly allowed (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1.U. P. St. Road Transport Corporation & ors. Vs Trilok Chandra & ors. (1996) 4 SCC 362

2.Ravinder Kumar Sharma Vs St. of Assam 7 ors. (1999) 7 SCC 435.

3.Banarsi & ors. Vs Ram Pal, JT (2003) 5 SC 224

4.Khenyei Vs New India Assurance Com. Ltd. & ors. (2015) 9 SCC 273

5.Machindranath Kernath Kasar Vs D. S. Mylarappa & ors. 2008 AIR SCW 3546

6.U.P. St. Road Transport Corporation Vs Krishna Gopal Agarwal & anr. 2019 (37) LCD 1322

7.Manjuri Bera Vs Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. & ors. AIR 2007 SC 1474

8.Sarla Verma & ors. Vs Delhi Transport Corporation & anr. (2009) 2 T.A.C. 677 (SC)

9.National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs Pranay Sethi & ors. (2017) 16 SCC 680

10. Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs Nanu Ram & ors. 2018 SCC Online 1546 = (2018) 11 SCALE 247

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anil Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Virendra Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Akhter Abbas, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. Facts in brief of the present case are that when father of the claimant, late Achit Kumar Jain, aged about 52 years, s/o late Pratap Chand Jain and mother of the complainant, Smt. Vidha Jain, w/o late Achit Kumar Jain, r/o Jail Road, Aara, District-Bhojpur, Bihar were coming from Lucknow by Indica Car bearing No.B.R. 3 B-1011, which was driven by a driver/Lallan Rajak, they met with an accident which took place at about 9:15 a.m. on 22.07.2003 at Village-Hauj, within the jurisdiction of P.S.-Jafrabad, District-Jaunpur (U.P.) due to rash and negligent driving of driver of Roadways Bus having Registration No.U.P. 65 R-2789, as a result of which, the driver of Indica Car/Lallan Rajak and Achit Kumar Jain sustained grievous injuries and died on the spot whereas Smt. Vidha Jain, while taking her to hospital, also died on the way. In this regard, F.I.R. was lodged and was registered as Case Crime No.432 of 2003 under Sections-279, 304A, 227, 338 I.P.C. at P.S.-Jafarabad, District-Jaunpur.

3. The deceased/late Anchit Kumar Jain and Vidha Jain were businessman and their monthly income was of Rs.15,000/- and 10,000/- respectively from the different sources. The claimant is legal heir of the deceased and is entitled for compensation.

4. In view of the above said facts, a Claim Petition No.02 of 2004 (Abhishek Jain vs. Chedilal) under Section 166 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1966 was filed before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow.

5. U.P. State Road Transport Corporation/opposite party no.2 in the claim petition, had filed written statement in which plea was taken that the accident did not take place due to rash and negligent driving of the driver of the Roadways Bus, rather the same took place due to rash and negligent driving of driver of Indica Car.

6. The Tribunal, in order to decide the controversy involved in the claim petition, framed the following issues :-

"क्या दिनांक २२-०७-२००३ को समय करीब ९:१५ बजे सुबह स्थान ग्राम हौज, मुख्य मार्ग थाना - जफराबाद, जिला-जौनपुर पर बस संख्या -यू. पी. ६५ आर - २७८९ रोडवेज बस के चालक द्वारा बस को तेजी व लापरवाही से चलाते हुए अचित कुमार जैन व श्रीमती विधा जैन की इण्डिका कार में जोरदार टक्कर मार दिया जिसके परिणाम स्वरुप इण्डिका कार में बैठे अचित कुमार जैन व श्रीमती विधा जैन की मृत्यु हो गयी? यदि हां तो प्रभाव?

क्या याचिका इण्डिका कार व अन्य ट्रक सं.-डी. एल. बी. ओ. मालिक तथा बीमा कंपनी को पक्षकार न बनाये जाने के कारण दोषपूर्ण है, यदि हाँ तो प्रभाव ?

क्या उपरोक्त दुर्घटना इण्डिका कार चालक की योगदायी उपेक्षा के कारण हुई, यदि हाँ तो प्रभाव ?

क्या विपक्षी संख्या -३ श्रीमती सी. पी. जैन मृतकगण की पुत्री होने के कारण प्रतिकर की धनराशि पाने की अधिकारी है, यदि हाँ तो प्रभाव ?

क्या याची प्रतिकर की धनराशि पाने का अधिकारी है, यदि हाँ तो कितनी एवं किस विपक्षी से ?"

7. On the basis of the evidence and material on record, the Tribunal by means of the judgment dated 09.02.2012, allowed the claim petition. The operative portion reads as under :-

"याची की याचिका विपक्षीगण के विरुद्ध २,७३,०००/- रूपये (दो लाख तिहत्तर हजार रूपये मात्र) प्रतिकर हेतु पृथक - पृथक एवं संयुक्त रूप से स्वीकार की जाती है। याची एवं विपक्षी संख्या -३ इस धन राशि पर ६ प्रतिशत साधारण वार्षिक ब्याज याचिका प्रस्तुत करने के दिनांक से अदायगी के दिनांक तक प्राप्त करेंगे। विपक्षीगण द्वारा उक्त प्रतिकर की धनराशि मय ब्याज आज से दो माह के अंदर अदा की जाय।

प्राप्त धनराशि में से याची अभिषेक कुमार जैन को १,३६,५००/- रूपये तथा विपक्षी संख्या-३ श्रीमती सी. पी. जैन को १,३६,५००/- रूपये प्राप्त होगा जिसमे से याची अभिषेक कुमार जैन व विपक्षी संख्या-३ श्रीमती सी. पी. जैन प्रत्येक द्वारा ८२,०००/- रूपये किसी राष्ट्रीयकृत बैंक के पाँच वर्षीय सावधि जमा योजना में जमा किया जायेगा तथा शेष धनराशि का भुगतान उन्हें नकद चेक द्वारा किया जायेगा।

विपक्षीगण द्वारा प्रतिकर की धनराशि मय ब्याज, अध्यक्ष, मोटर दुर्घटना दावा अधिकरण/जिला जज, लखनऊ के खाते में रेखांकित चेक द्वारा जमा की जाय।

8. For enhancement of compensation awarded by the Tribunal, Shri Abhishek Jain/appellant has filed the present appeal under Section 173 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, against the judgment dated 09.02.2012 and the award dated 25.02.2012 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Lucknow/Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow in Claim Petition No.02 of 2004 before this Court.

9. Shri Akhter Abbas, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has raised a preliminary objection that the appellant/claimant, Shri Abhishek Jain, who has filed the present appeal, comes within the ambit of definition of legal heir of the deceased but he is not entitled for getting compensation as claimed by him because he was not "dependent" upon the income of the deceased and also Smt. Ceipi Jain, daughter of the deceased, who was also impleaded as opposite party no.3 in the claim petition, was not dependent upon the income of the deceased as she is married daughter. So the Tribunal had wrongly awarded the compensation to Shri Abhishek Jain as well as to the opposite party no.3/Smt. Ceipi Jain.

10. Accordingly, it is submitted by him that the appeal for enhancement of compensation is neither entertainable nor maintainable, as such, the same is liable to be dismissed.

11. In support of his argument, he has placed reliance on the following judgments :-

(a) U. P. State Road Transport Corporation and others vs.Trilok Chandra and others, (1996) 4 SCC 362 ;

(b) Ravinder Kumar Sharma vs. State of Assam and others, (1999) 7 SCC 435.

12. Shri Virendra Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the preliminary objection raised by Shri Akhter Abbas, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has got no force because neither any plea related to dependency was taken before the Tribunal by the U.P.S.R.T.C. nor in this regard any issue was framed. So, the plea regarding dependency taken by Shri Akhter Abbas at the appellate stage in the arguments cannot be entertained coupled with the fact that U.P.S.R.T.C. neither challenged the judgment by filing an appeal nor filed any cross objection in the present appeal.

13. In support of his argument, he has placed reliance on the judgment given by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Banarsi & Ors. vs. Ram Pal, JT 2003 (5) SC 224.

14. Shri Virendra Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant also submitted that U.P.S.R.T.C. had already complied with the award passed by the Tribunal, so the preliminary objection taken by learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 is liable to be rejected.

15. Further, Shri Virendra Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant has pressed the present appeal for the purpose of enhancement of compensation on the following points :-

(a) There is a composite negligence on the part of the drivers of two vehicles and the Tribunal had awarded compensation to the appellant/claimant after making 50% deduction. The said action on the part of the Tribunal is totally contrary to the material on record as well as settled law on the issue of awarding compensation in the cases of composite negligence. Late Lallan Razak, who was driving Indica Car having Registration No. B.R.-38-1011 met with an accident with the Bus of U.P.S.R.T.C. having Registration No.U.P. 65-R-2783, of which Sri Chhedi Lal was driver and the deceased were passengers of Indica Car and the Tribunal has held that on account of rash and negligent driving of both the drivers, the accident took place and thus in these facts : the deduction of 50% by the Tribunal is contrary to law on the issue.

In support of his argument, he has placed reliance on the following judgments :-

"(i) Khenyei vs. New India Assurance Company Limited and others, (2015) 9 SCC 273 ;

(ii) Machindranath Kernath Kasar vs. D. S. Mylarappa & Ors., 2008 AIR SCW 3546 ;

(iii) U.P. State Road Transport Corporation vs. Krishna Gopal Agarwal and another, 2019 (37) LCD 1322.

(b) The Tribunal while passing the judgment and award had not given any amount towards future prospect.

(c) The Tribunal has erred in awarding the correct amount under conventional heads, the amount awarded is not as per law.

16. Accordingly, it is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the present appeal may be allowed and the compensation awarded by the Tribunal be enhanced and given to the appellant/claimant.

17. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the records.

18. In order to decide the controversy, we feel appropriate to consider the following certain paragraphs of the claim petition filed by Sri Abhishek Jain under Section 166 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 :

7. Name and age of each of the dependents of the deceased indicating relationship with him, and also monthly average income of the deceased and source of such income.	As both the aforesaid deceased Anchit Kumar Jain and Smt. Vidya Jain were husband and wife and as such the following persons are the only dependents and legal representatives of the deceased : 1. Abhishek Kumar Jain, aged about 24 years of the deceased persons. 2. Smt. Ceipi Jain, aged about 27 years daughter of the deceased persons. The deceased no.1/Achit Kumar Jain was a businessman and was engaged in various business i.e. the business of petrol pump, lubricant, investments, land & shares etc. and was earning a monthly income of approximately Rs.15000/- per month. The deceased no.2/Smt. Vidhya Jain was engaged in business of investments, rental income & income by interest and was earning approximately Rs.10,000/- per month.
8. Does the deceased in respect of whom compensation is claimed pay income tax ? If so state the amount of income tax (to be supported by documentary evidence)	Yes, both were income tax assessee income tax paid by Achit Kumar Jain deceased no.1 in the year 2002-2003 was Rs.7832/-. Income tax paid by Vidya Jain, deceased no.2 in the year 2002-03 was Rs.10136/-.
23. Any other information that may be necessary or helpful in the disposal of the claim.	(a) (i) That the deceased no.1/Anchit Kumar Jain was a businessman and was earning approximately Rs.15000/- per month and was taking care of his accidental death, the deceased/Achit Kumar, aged about 52 years of age and he was completely hail and hearty and would have survived up to the age of 75 years if he would have not died in the accident. As he used to earn Rs.15,000/- per month, he would have earned in 12 month i.e. in one year Rs.15000/- x 12 = 1,80,000/- and thus in remaining 23 years, he would have earned Rs.1,80,000 x 23 = 41,40,000/-. (ii) That the deceased no.2/Vidhya Jain was doing her own business and was earning about Rs.10,000/- per month and was looking after her family. At the time of her accidental death, Vidhya Jain was about 52 years of age and she was hale and hearty lady and she would have survived upto the age of 75 years, if she would have not died in the aforesaid accident and as such the deceased Vidhya Jain would have earned in one year Rs.10,000/- x 12 = 1,20,000/- and thus in remaining 23 years, she would have earned Rs.1,20,000 x 23= 27,60,000/-. (iii) That besides this, the deceased no.1/Anchit Kumar Jain was a man of high social status and a man of repute holding the following prestigious posts :- 1. President- Bihar Petroleum Dealers Association, Bihar. 2. Founder Member & Treasurer - Bhojpur Chamber of Commerce & Industry, Arrah. 3. Joint Secretary - All India Digamber Jain Parishad, Bihar State Branch. 4. Trustee - Sri Digamber Jain Panchayati Mandir, Arrah. 5. Trustee - Sri 1008 Bhagwan Shreyansh Nath Trust, Arrah. 6. Pattern & Executive Member - Sri Arrah Goshala, Arrah. 7. Life & Executive Member - Indian Red Cross Society, Bhojpur Distt. Unit, Arrah. 8. Executive Member- Bihar Chamber of Commerce, Patna. 9. Representative Member- Arrah Railway Station, Advisory Samiti, Arrah. 10. Representative Member- Internal Trade Samiti, FICCI, New Delhi. (b) That the Roadways Bus No.- U.P.-65 R-2789 of Kashi Depot owned by Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation Tehri Kothi, P.S.-Wazirganj, Lucknow was rashly and negligently in high speed in utter violation of the traffic rules was being driven by opp. Party no.1 its driver, as a result of which, the aforesaid roadways bus collided with the Indica Car No.BR-3 B-1011 on 22.07.03 at about 9:15 A.M. on the main road from Lucknow to Varanasi near Village- Hauj, P.S.-Jafrabad, District-Jaunpur, as a result of which, deceased/Achit Kumar Jain died on the spot and deceased/Vidya Jain died immediately after reaching the hospital and in this accident, the driver of the Indica Car Lallan Razak also died on the spot. The F.I.R. of this accident was lodged on 22.07.03 in P.S.-Jafrabad, District-Jaunpur and was registered at Case Crime No.432/3 under Sections-279/304A/427/338 I.P.C. The postmortem of the aforesaid persons was conducted in the Government Hospital, Jaunpur. (c) That both the aforesaid deceased persons have left the petitioner and opposite party no.3 as their legal representatives, legal heirs, successors and dependents that both the petitioner and opposite party no.3, the sister of the petitioner were being financially supported looked after and patronized by the aforesaid deceased persons, in spite of this, the petitioner was being supported and guided by the deceased persons in multifarious ways and patterns, after the death of the parents of the petitioner, the petitioner is suffering and facing a lot of hardy hoods and has been forced to take the patronage of his near relative at Lucknow at his present address. (d) That as the opp. Party no.3 is also the legal representative, legal heir, successor & dependent of both the aforesaid deceased and could not join the petition as a petitioner and as such opposite party no.3 is being arrayed as proforma opp. Party no.3 in this claim petition. (e) That as such in the present circumstances and hardy hoods, the petitioner is entitled for a		compensation of Rs.1,34,10,000/- to reprimand the irreparable injuries and mental and financial injuries. (f) That if the driver of the aforesaid roadways bus the opp. Party no.1 would have been cautious and careful in driving the aforesaid bus or if the driver of bus would have been instructed by opp. Party no.2 the owner of the roadways bus about the appropriate rules and regulations of the traffic and road driving and also about the penal consequences of rash and negligent driving then this hazardous accident would have not occurred, the aforesaid accident has occurred because of the rash and negligent driving and the fatal accident has gutted up the above mentioned parents of the petitioner and the employers of the driver have yet not taken any pains to enquire about the well being of the family of the deceased. (g) That the aforesaid accident took place in P.S.-Jafrabad, Distt.-Jaunpur, U.P. and the opp. Party no.2 the owner of the roadways bus have got their Head Office at Lucknow and thus this Hon'ble Court has got each and every jurisdiction for entertaining and adjudicating the present Motor Accident Claim Petition. (h) That the description of the injuries is as under :- 1. (a) Injuries in the income of the deceased no.1/Achit Kumar Jain for remaining 23 years - 15000 x 12 x 23 =Rs.41,40,000/- (b) Loss of income of deceased/Vidya Jain for remaining 23 years - 10000 x 12 x 23 = Rs.27,60,000/- Total loss of income of both the deceased = Rs.69,00,000/- 2. Mental in bearable injuries - Rs.15,00,000/- 3. Loss of happiness of life - Rs.15,00,000/- 4. Loss of Love & affection - Rs.5,00,000/- 5. Funeral Expenses - Rs. 10,000/- 6. Loss of future enhancement of income of both the deceased persons in view of their flourshing and developing business prospects in remaining 23 years of their life - Rs.30,00,000/-.

	Total = Rs.1,34,10,000/- (I) That the petitioner has not filed any other claim petition in context to the aforesaid accident in any other court nor any suit or claim petition in relation to the aforesaid accident is pending elsewhere in any other or Tribunal.

19. In response to the pleadings taken by the appellant in paras 7, 8, 23 in the written statement filed by U.P.S.R.T.C., opposite party no.2 pleaded as under :

7. याचिका के प्रस्तर संख्या १८ के सम्बन्ध में इतना कहना है कि याची की तरफ से परिवहन निगम में कोई क्लेम नहीं किया गया है यदि कोई क्लेम किया जाता तो सहानुभूति पूर्ण ढंग से विचार करते हुये क्लेम को निस्तारण अवश्य किया जाता।

8. याचिका के प्रस्तर संख्या १९ लगायत २१ तथ्यों की जानकारी के आभाव में अस्वीकार है।

23. यह कि, याची के द्वारा प्रस्तर संख्या -६ में मृतकगणों की आय क्रमशः रूपये १५०००/- एवं रूपये १०,०००/- प्रतिमाह अंकित की है, वह मनगढंत व बिना किसी उचित आधार के है।

20. In order to prove his claim, the appellant, Sri Abhishek Jain, himself appeared as witness and stated that :

"मैंने दुर्घटना नही देखी है मै बी. कॉम पास हूँ। दुर्घटना के समय में 24 वर्ष का था। मैंने बी. कॉम, 2002-03 में पास किया था। मै शादी शुदा हूँ। इस समय मेरे दो बच्चे है। मेरी बहन उम्र मे मेरे से बड़ी है। बहन की शादी 1996 में हुई थी। एक बहन के आलावा मेरे और कोई भाई बहन नहीं है। मेरे दादा -दादी भी जीवित नहीं है। मैं बिज़नेस करता हूँ। मै पेट्रोल पम्प का बिज़नेस करता हूँ। मैं 15,000-20,000/- रु. महीना कमाता हूँ। यह दुर्घटना 22.07.2003 को हुई थी। उस समय भी मैं पेट्रोल पम्प का कार्य करता था।" and in his cross-examination, the appellant has stated that :

"यह सही है कि मेरे माता -पिता की जिस स्रोत से आमदनी होती थी वह सारे स्रोत मौजूद है लेकिन उनके न होने से उनकी कमी महसूस होती है तथा बिज़नेस में कमी आयी है।"

21. In this appeal for enhancement of compensation first we are dealing with the objection taken by Shri Akhter Abbas, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2, which is to the effect that the appellant/claimant as well as opposite party no.3/Smt. Ceipi Jain were/are not dependent upon the income of the deceased, so they were/are neither entitled for getting any compensation nor entitled for enhancement of the compensation.

22. In order to decide the controversy raised by Shri Akhter Abbas, learned counsel for U.P.S.R.T.C. in the present appeal, we feel appropriate to reproduce the relevant portion of the judgments connected therewith :-

23. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Ravinder Kumar Sharma vs. State of Assam and others, (1999) 7 SCC 435 has held as under :-

"14. That means that under Order 41 Rule 22 CPC, before the 1976 Amendment, it was open to the defendant-respondent who had not taken any cross-objection to the partial decree passed against him, to urge, in opposition to the appeal of the plaintiff, a contention which if accepted by the trial court would have resulted in the total dismissal of the suit. This was the legal position under the unamended Order 41 Rule 22 as accepted by the Madras Full Bench in Venkata Rao's case and as accepted by this Court in Chandre Prabhuji's case.

15. The next question is as to whether, the law as stated above has been modified by the 1976 Amendment of Order 41 Rule 22. It will be noticed that the Amendment has firstly deleted the words "on any of the grounds decided against him in the Court below, but take any cross-objections" in the main part of Order 41 Rule 22 CPC and added the words "but may also state that the finding against him in the Court below in respect of any issue ought to have been in his favour" in the main part.

16. The main part of Order 41 Rule 22(1) CPC, (after the 1976 Amendment) reads as follows:

Order 41 Rule 22(1): Any respondent, though he may not have appealed from any part of the decree, may not only support the decree but may also state that the finding against him in the Court below in respect of any issue ought to have been in his favour; and may also take any cross-objection to the decree which he could have taken by way of appeal, provided he has filed such objection in the appellate court within one month from the date of service on him or his pleader of notice of the day fixed for hearing the appeal, or within such further time as the Appellate Court may see fit to allow.

17. The 1976 Amendment has also added an Explanation below Order 41 Rule 22, as follows:

Explanation: A respondent aggrieved by a finding of the court in the judgment on which the decree appealed against is based may, under this rule, file cross objection in respect of the decree in so far as it is based on that finding, notwithstanding that by reason of the decision of the Court on any other finding which is sufficient for the decision of the suit, the decree is, wholly or in part, in favour of that respondent.

18. In connection with Order 41 Rule 22, CPC after the 1976 Amendment, we may first refer to the judgment of the Calcutta High Court in Nishambhu Jana v. Sova Guha (1982) 89 CWN 685. In that case, Mookerjee, J. referred to the 54th report of the Law Commission (at p.295) (para 41.70) to the effect that Order 41 Rule 22 gave two distinct rights to the respondent in the appeal. The first was the right to uphold the decree of the court of first instance on any of the grounds which that court decided against him. In that case the finding can be questioned by the respondent without filing cross-objections. The Law Commission had accepted the correctness of the Full Bench of the Madras High Court in Venkata Rao's case. The Commission had also accepted the view of the Calcutta High Court in Nrisingha Prosad Rakshit v. The Commissioners of Bhadreswar Municipality that a cross-objection was wholly unnecessary in case the adverse finding was to be attacked. The Commission observed that the words "support the decree..." appeared to be strange and "what is meant is that he may support it by asserting that the ground decided against him should have been decided in his favour. It is desirable to make this clear". That is why the main part of Order 41 Rule 22 was amended to reflect the principle in Venkata Rao's case as accepted in Chandre Prabhuji's case.

19. So far as the Explanation was concerned, the Law Commission stated (page 298) that it was necessary to "empower" the respondent to file cross-objection against the adverse finding. That would mean that a right to file cross-objections was given but it was not obligatory to file cross-objections. That was why the word 'may' was used. That meant that the provision for filing cross-objections against a finding was only an enabling provision.

20. These recommendations of the Law Commission are reflected in the Statement of Objections and Reasons for the Amendment. They read as follows:

"Rule 22 (i.e., as it stood before 1976) gives two distinct rights to the respondent in appeal. The first is the right of upholding the decree of the Court of first instance on any of the grounds on which that court decided against him; and the second right is that of taking any cross-objection to the decree which the respondent might have taken by way of appeal. In the first case, the respondent supports the decree and in the second case, he attacks the decree. The language of the rule, however, requires some modifications because a person cannot support a decree on a ground decided against him. What is meant is that he may support the decree by asserting that the matters decided against him should have been decided in his favour. The rule is being amended to make it clear. An Explanation is also being added to Rule 22 empowering the respondent to file cross- objection in respect to a finding adverse to him notwithstanding that the ultimate decision is wholly or partly in his favour."

Mookerjee, J. observed in Nishambhu Jana's case (see p.689) that "the "amended Rule 22 of Order 41 of the Code has not brought any substantial change in the settled principles of law" (i.e., as accepted in Venkata Rao 's case) and clarified (p.691) that "it would be incorrect to hold that the Explanation now inserted by Act 104 of 1976 has made it obligatory to file cross-objections even when the respondent supports the decree by stating that the findings against him in the court below in respect of any issue ought to have been in his favour.

21. A similar view was expressed by U.N. Bachawat, J. in Tej Kumar v. Purshottam, AIR 1981 MP 55 that after the 1976 Amendment, it was not obligatory to file cross- objection against an adverse finding. The Explanation merely empowered the respondent to file cross-objections.

22. In our view, the opinion expressed by Mookerjee, J. of the Calcutta High Court on behalf of the Division Bench in Nishambhu Jena's case and the view expressed by U.N. Bachawat, J. in Tej Kumar's case in the Madhya Pradesh High Court reflect the correct legal position after the 1976 Amendment. We hold that the respondent-defendant in an appeal can, without filing cross-objections attack an adverse finding upon which a decree in part has been passed against the respondent, for the purpose sustaining the decree to the extent the lower court had dismissed the suit against the defendants-respondents. The filing of cross-objection, after the 1976 Amendment is purely optional and not mandatory. In other words, the law as stated in Venkata Rao's case by the Madras Full Bench and Chandre Prabhuji's case by this Court is merely clarified by the 1976 Amendment and there is no change in the law after the Amendment.

23. The respondents before us are, therefore, entitled to contend that the finding of the High Court in regard to absence of reasonable and probable cause or malice - (upon which the decree for pecuniary damages in B and C schedules was based) can be attacked by the respondents for the purpose of sustaining the decree of the High Court refusing to pass a decree for non-pecuniary damages as per the A schedule. The filing of cross-objections against the adverse finding was not obligatory. There is no res judicata. Point 1 is decided accordingly in favour of respondents-defendants.

24. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Banarsi & Ors. vs. Ram Phal, JT 2003 (5) SC 224 has held as under :-

"17. In Rameshwar Prasad and Ors. v. Shambehari Lal Jagannath and Anr., [1964] 3 SCR 549, the three-Judge Bench speaking through Raghubar Dayal, J. observed that Rule 33 really provides as to what the Appellate Court can find the appellant entitled to and empowers the Appellate Court to pass any decree and make any order which ought to have been passed or made in the proceedings before it and thus could have reference only to the nature of the decree or order in so far as it affects the rights of the appellant. If further empowers the Appellate Court to pass or make such further or other, decree or order, as the case may require. The Court is thus given wide discretion to pass such decrees and orders as the interests of justice demand. Such a power is to be exercised in exceptional cases when its non-exercise will lead to difficulties in the adjustment of rights of the various parties."

18. In Harihar Prasad Singh and Ors. v. Balmiki Prasad Singh and Ors., [1975] 2 SCR 932, the following statement of law made by Venkatarama Aiyar, J. (as His Lordship then was) in the Division Bench decision in Krishna Reddy v. Ramireddi, AIR 1954 Mad 848 was cited with approval which clearly brings out the wide scope of power contained in Rule 33 and the illustration appended thereto, as also the limitations on such power:

"Though Order 41, Rule 33 confers wide and unlimited jurisdiction on Courts to pass a decree in favour of a party who has not preferred any appeal, there are, however, certain well-defined principles in accordance with which that jurisdiction should be exercised. Normally, a party who is aggrieved by a decree should, if he seeks to escape from its operation, appeal against it within the time allowed after complying with the requirements of law. Where he fails to do so, no relief should ordinarily be given to him under Order 41, Rule 33.

But there are well-recognised exceptions to this rule. One is where as a result of interference in favour of the appellant it becomes necessary to readjust the rights of other parties. A second class of cases based on the same principle is where the question is one of settling mutual rights and obligations between the same parties. A third class of cases is when the relief prayed for is single and indivisible but is claimed against a number of defendants. In such cases, if the suit is decree and there is an appeal only by some of the defendants and if the relief is granted only to the appellants there is the possibility that there might come into operation at the same time and with reference to the same subject-matter two decrees which are inconsistent and contradictory.

This, however, is not an exhaustive enumeration of the class of cases in which courts could interfere under Order 41, Rule 33. Such an enumeration would neither be possible nor even desirable."

19. In the words of J.C. Shah, J. speaking for a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Nirmala Bala Ghose and Anr. v.

Balai Chand Ghose and Anr., [1965] 3 SCR 550, the limitation on discretion operating as bounds of the width of power conferred by Rule 33 can be so formulated --

"The rule is undoubtedly expressed in terms which are wide, but it has to be applied with discretion, and to cases where interference in favour of the appellant necessitates interference also with a decree which has by acceptance or acquiescence become final so as to enable the Court to adjust the rights of the parties. Where in an appeal the Court reaches a conclusion which is inconsistent with the opinion of the court appealed from and in adjusting the right claimed by the appellant it is necessary to grant relief to a person who has not appealed, the power conferred by Order 41 Rule 33 may properly be invoked. The rule however does not confer an unrestricted right to re-open decrees which have become final merely because the appellate Court does not agree with the opinion of the Court appealed from."

20. A Division Bench decision of Calcutta High Court in Jadunath Basak v. Mritunjoy Sett and Ors., AIR 1986 Cal 416 may be cited as an illustration. The plaintiff filed a suit for declaration that the defendant had no right or authority to run the workshop with machines in the suit premises and for permanent injunction restraining the defendant from running the workshop. The Trial Court granted a decree consisting of two reliefs: (i) the declaration as prayed for, and (ii) an injunction permanently restraining the defendant from running the workshop except with the terms of a valid permission and licence under Section 436 and 437 of Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951 from the Municipal Corporation. The defendant filed an appeal. The Division Bench held that in an appeal filed by the defendant, the plaintiff cannot challenge that part of the decree which granted conditional injunction without filing the cross-objection. The Division Bench drew a distinction between the respondent's right to challenge an adverse finding without filing any appeal or cross-objection and the respondent seeking to challenge a part of the decree itself without filing the cross-objection. The Division Bench held that the latter was not permissible. We find ourselves in agreement with the view taken by the High Court of Calcutta.

21. In the case before us, the Trial Court found the defendant not entitled to decree for specific performance and found him entitled only for money decree. In addition, a conditional decree was also passed directing execution of sale deed if only the defendant defaulted any paying or depositing the money within two months. Thus to the extent of specific performance, it was not a decree outright; it was a conditional decree. Rather, the latter part of the decree was a direction in terrorem so as to secure compliance by the appellant of the money part of the decree in the scheduled time frame. In the event of the appellant having made the payment within a period of two months, the respondent would not be, and would never have been, entitled to the relief of specific performance. The latter decree is not inseparably connected with the former decree. The two reliefs are surely separable from each other and one can exist without the other. Nothing prevented the respondent from filing his own appeal or taking cross-objection against that part of the decree which refused straightaway a decree for specific performance in his favour based on the finding of comparative hardship recorded earlier in the judgment. The dismissal of appeals filed by the appellant was not resulting in any inconsistent, iniquitous, contradictory or unworkable decree coming into existence so as to warrant exercise of power under Rule 33 of Order 41. It was not a case of interference with decree having been so interfered with as to call for adjustment of equities between respondents inter se. By his failure to prefer an appeal or to take cross-objection the respondent has allowed the part of the Trial Court's decree to achieve a finality which was adverse to him.

22. For the foregoing reasons we are of the opinion that the first Appellate Court ought not to have, while dismissing the appeals filed by the defendant-appellants before it, modified the decree in favour of the respondent before it in the absence of cross-appeal or cross-objection. The interference by the first Appellate Court has reduced the appellants to a situation worse than in what they would have been if they had not appealed. The High Court ought to have noticed this position of law and should have interfered to correct the error of law committed by the first Appellate Court.

23. During the course of hearing, the learned counsel for the appellants made a statement under instructions, that the appellants have a large family to support which is entirely dependent on the suit land for maintaining itself and they have no other means of livelihood. (This statement finds support from the finding arrived at by the Trial Court). He further stated that, in any case, to get rid of the onerous part of the decree, the appellants volunteer to pay a further amount of Rs. 1,20,000/- by way of compensation to the respondent over and above the amount of Rs. 2,40,000/- already deposited by them in the Court pursuant to interim orders alongwith the bank interest accrued thereon. That statement is taken on record and being a very fair voluntary offer deserves to be accepted and incorporated in the decree.

24. The appeals are allowed. The judgment and decree of the first Appellate Court are set aside and instead those of the Trial Court restored. In view of the appellants having deposited the money due and payable under the money part of the decree, it is held that they are relieved from specifically performing the agreement and executing sale deed in pursuance thereof. The delay in deposit, if any, deserves to be condoned in view of the interim orders passed by the High court and is hereby condoned. The time for deposit, as appointed by the Trial Court, shall be deemed to have been extended upto the dates of actual deposits made by the appellants. The amount of Rs. 2,40,000/- lying deposited in the Court and invested in fixed deposits shall, along with the interest earned, be released to the respondents. In addition the appellants shall, as offered by them, deposit with the executing court for payment to the respondent another amount of Rs. 1,20,000/- within a period of eight weeks from today. On that being done, the decree passed by the Trial Court shall be deemed to have been fully satisfied. The respondent shall deliver the agreements dated 30.11.1988 and 15.7.1991 to the appellants endorsing upon the agreements the amount of money received and that the agreements stand discharged and need not be performed. The costs shall be borne by the parties as incurred throughout."

25. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of U. P. State Road Transport Corporation and others vs. Trilok Chandra and others, (1996) 4 SCC 362 has held as under :-

"India is one of the countries with the highest number of road accidents. Motor accidents are every day affairs. A large number of claims for compensation for injury caused by road accidents are pending in various Motor Accident Claims Tribunal. In a fatal accident the dependents of the deceased are entitled to compensation for the loss suffered by them on account of the death. The most commonly practised method of assessing the loss suffered is to calculate the loss for a year and then to capitalise the amount by a suitable multiplier. To that is added the loss suffered on account of loss of expectation of life and the like, the Tribunals and High Courts have adopted divergent methods to determine the suitable multiplier. Even this Court has not been uniform; maybe because the principle on which this method came to be evolved has been forgotten. It has, therefore, become necessary to examine the law and to state the correct principles to be adopted."

26. In the case of Manjuri Bera vs. The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. and Ors., AIR 2007 SC 1474, Hon'ble the Apex Court has held as under :-

"8. The Tribunal has a duty to make an award, determine the amount of compensation which is just and proper and specify the person or persons to whom such compensation would be paid. The latter part relates to the entitlement of compensation by a person who claims for the same.

9. According to Section 2(11) of CPC, "legal representative" means a person who in law represents the estate of a deceased person, and includes any person who intermeddles with the estate of the deceased and where a party sues or is sued in a representative character the person on whom the estate devolves on the death of the party so suing or sued. Almost in similar terms is the definition of legal representative under the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, i.e. under Section 2(1)(g).

10. As observed by this Court in Custodian of Branches of BANCO National Ultramarino v. Nalini Bai Naique, [1989] 2 SCR 810 the definition contained in Section 2(11) CPC is inclusive in character and its scope is wide, it is not confined to legal heirs only. Instead it stipulates that a person who may or may not be legal heir competent to inherit the property of the deceased can represent the estate of the deceased person. It includes heirs as well as persons who represent the estate even without title either as executors or administrators in possession of the estate of the deceased. All such persons would be covered by the expression 'legal representative'. As observed in Gujarat State Road Transport Corporation v. Ramanbhai Prabhatbhai and Anr., [1987] 3 SCR 404 a legal representative is one who suffers on account of death of a person due to a motor vehicle accident and need not necessarily be a wife, husband, parent and child.

11. There are several factors which have to be noted. The liability under Section 140 of the Act does not cease because there is absence of dependency. The right to file a claim application has to be considered in the background of right to entitlement. While assessing the quantum, the multiplier system is applied because of deprivation of dependency. In other words, multiplier is a measure. There are three stages while assessing the question of entitlement. Firstly, the liability of the person who is liable and the person who is to indemnify the liability, if any. Next is the quantification and Section 166 is primarily in the nature of recovery proceedings. As noted above, liability in terms of Section 140 of the Act does not cease because of absence of dependency. Section 165 of the Act also throws some light on the controversy. The explanation includes the liability under Sections 140 and 163A.

12. Judged in that background where a legal representative who is not dependant files an application for compensation, the quantum cannot be less than the liability referable to Section 140 of the Act. Therefore, even if there is no loss of dependency the claimant if he or she is a legal representative will be entitled to compensation, the quantum of which shall be not less than the liability flowing from Section 140 of the Act. The appeal is allowed to the aforesaid extent. There will be no order as to costs. We record our appreciation for the able assistance rendered by Shri Jayant Bhushan, the learned Amicus Curiae.

13. Although I agree with the operative part of the judgment proposed to be delivered by my esteemed brother Dr. Arijit Pasayat, J, I would like to give my own reasons.

14. In the present case the married daughter of the victim (deceased) filed the claim under Section 140(2) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 praying for statutory compensation on account of the death of her father. As stated, the application was made under Section 140 of the said Act. That Section makes it clear that "No Fault Liability is cast on the owner of the vehicle and not directly on the insurer. Before an order is passed under Section 140, the Tribunal must be satisfied that the accident arose out of a motor vehicle which resulted in permanent disablement or death and that the claim is made against the owner and the insurer of the offending motor vehicle.

15. In the present case, as stated above, the victim's married daughter has made her claim under Section 140 of the said Act saying that she has five children; that they are minors; that she was brought up by her uncle; that after her mother's death the deceased lived in the same house in which the claimant was living with her uncle before her marriage; that the deceased was a mason that after her marriage she lived with her husband and, therefore, she was entitled to get statutory compensation under Section 140 of the said Act.

16. In the impugned judgment the High Court has correctly drawn a distinction between "right to apply for compensation" and "entitlement to compensation". The High Court has rightly held that even a married daughter is a legal representative and she is certainly entitled to claim compensation. It was further held, on the facts of the present case, that the married daughter was not dependent on her father. She was living with her husband in her husband's house. Therefore, she was not entitled to claim statutory compensation. According to the High Court, the claimant was not dependent on her father's income. Hence, she was not entitled to claim compensation based on "No Fault Liability".

17. In my opinion, "No Fault Liability", envisaged in Section 140 of the said Act, is distinguishable from the rule of "Strict Liability". In the former, the compensation amount is fixed. It is Rs. 50,000/- in cases of death [Section 140(2)]. It is a statutory liability. It is an amount which can be deducted from the final amount awarded by the Tribunal. Since, the amount is a fixed amount/crystallized amount, the same has to be considered as part of the estate of the deceased. In the present case, the deceased was an earning member. The statutory compensation could constitute part of his estate. His legal representative, namely, his daughter has inherited his estate. She was entitled to inherit his estate. In the circumstances, she was entitled to receive compensation under "No fault Liability" in terms of Section 140 of the said Act. My opinion is confined only to the "No Fault Liability" under Section 140 of the said Act. That section is a Code by itself within the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988."

27. In the case of Sarla Verma and others vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, 2009 (2) T.A.C. 677 (SC), Hon'ble the Apex Court held that "Further, subject to evidence to the contrary, the father is likely to have his own income and will not be considered as a dependent and the mother alone will be considered as a dependent. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, brothers and sisters will not be considered as dependents, because they will either be independent and earning, or married, or be dependent on the father. Thus, even if the deceased is survived by parents and siblings, only the mother would be considered to be a dependent."

28. Further, on the basis of the pleadings and evidence led by the appellant/claimant as well as Sections 140, 163A and 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (in short "Act of 1988") and judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ravinder Kumar Sharma (Supra), Banarsi (Supra), U.P. State Road Transport Corporation (Supra), Manju Beri (Supra) and Sarla Verma (Supra), we are taking note of objection taken by the learned counsel for U.P.S.R.T.C. to the effect that only dependent(s) are entitled to compensation or for enhancement of compensation and accordingly we are of the view that :

(i) Legal heir(s) can file an application for getting compensation under the Act of 1988,

(ii) Legal heir(s) or dependent (s) are entitled to get compensation under the Act of 1988,

(iii) Legal heir(s) is/are entitled to get compensation which would not be less than as provided under Section 140 of the Act of 1988,

(iv) Legal heir(s) is/are entitled to get amount towards General Damages, as provided under the Second Schedule of the Act of 1998,

(v) Dependent(s) is/are entitled to get compensation as per Second Schedule of the Act of 1988, which includes Multiplier System Formula provided under the Act, which cannot be taken note of in the case of legal heir(s) not dependent on the concerned deceased.

29. Thus, in view of the above, the claim petition filed by the claimant under Section 166 of Motor Vehicle Act, 1988 was maintainable as he being son of the deceased, falls within the ambit of legal representative but the compensation awarded by the Tribunal to the claimant as well as to the opposite party no.3 is not in consonance with the judgment passed by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Manju Beri (Supra) and Sarla Verma (Supra).

30. Further, The appellant/claimant and his sister Smt. Ceipi Jain is entitled to get General Damages, as provided in the Second Schedule of the Act of 1988. In other words the appellant/claimant and Smt. Ceipi Jain are entitled to get amount towards conventional heads, such as funeral expenses, loss of consortium, loss of estates, medical expenses. The amount towards conventional heads is liable to be provided in the light of principles settled by the Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Company Limited vs. Pranay Sethi and Ors., (2017) 16 SCC 680 and Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Nanu Ram and Ors., 2018 SCC Online 1546 = 2018 (11) SCALE 247. The relevant part of the judgment in the case of Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. (Supra) is quoted below for ready reference :

"8.4. The Insurance Company has submitted that the father and the sister of the deceased could not be treated as dependents, and it is only a mother who can be dependent of her son. This contention deserves to be repelled. The deceased was a bachelor, whose mother had pre-deceased him. The deceased's father was about 65 years old, and an unmarried sister. The deceased was contributing a part of his meagre income to the family for their sustenance and survival. Hence, they would be entitled to compensation as his dependents.

8.5. The Insurance Company has contended that the High Court had wrongly awarded Rs. 1,00,000 towards loss of love and affection, and Rs. 25,000 towards funeral expenses.

The judgment of this Court in Pranay Sethi (supra) has set out the various amounts to be awarded as compensation under the conventional heads in case of death. The relevant extract of the judgment is reproduced herein below:

Therefore, we think it seemly to fix reasonable sums. It seems to us that reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs. 15,000/-, Rs. 40,000/- and Rs. 15,000/- respectively. The principle of revisiting the said heads is an acceptable principle. But the revisit should not be fact-centric or quantum-centric. We think that it would be condign that the amount that we have quantified should be enhanced on percentage basis in every three years and the enhancement should be at the rate of 10% in a span of three years.

As per the afore-said judgment, the compensation of Rs. 25,000 towards funeral expenses is decreased to Rs. 15,000.

The amount awarded by the High Court towards loss of love and affection is, however, maintained.

8.6 The MACT as well as the High Court have not awarded any compensation with respect to Loss of Consortium and Loss of Estate, which are the other conventional heads under which compensation is awarded in the event of death, as recognized by the Constitution Bench in Pranay Sethi (supra).

The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial and welfare legislation. The Court is duty-bound and entitled to award "just compensation", irrespective of whether any plea in that behalf was raised by the Claimant.

In exercise of our power Under Article 142 and in the interests of justice, we deem it appropriate to award an amount of Rs. 15,000 towards Loss of Estate to Respondent Nos. 1 and 2.

8.7 A Constitution Bench of this Court in Pranay Sethi (supra) dealt with the various heads under which compensation is to be awarded in a death case. One of these heads is Loss of Consortium.

In legal parlance, "consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses 'spousal consortium', 'parental consortium', and 'filial consortium'.

The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family. With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse.1

Spousal consortium is generally defined as rights pertaining to the relationship of a husband-wife which allows compensation to the surviving spouse for loss of "company, society, co-operation, affection, and aid of the other in every conjugal relation."2

Parental consortium is granted to the child upon the premature death of a parent, for loss of "parental aid, protection, affection, society, discipline, guidance and training."

Filial consortium is the right of the parents to compensation in the case of an accidental death of a child. An accident leading to the death of a child causes great shock and agony to the parents and family of the deceased. The greatest agony for a parent is to lose their child during their lifetime. Children are valued for their love, affection, companionship and their role in the family unit.

Consortium is a special prism reflecting changing norms about the status and worth of actual relationships. Modern jurisdictions world-over have recognized that the value of a child's consortium far exceeds the economic value of the compensation awarded in the case of the death of a child. Most jurisdictions therefore permit parents to be awarded compensation under loss of consortium on the death of a child. The amount awarded to the parents is a compensation for loss of the love, affection, care and companionship of the deceased child.

The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial legislation aimed at providing relief to the victims or their families, in cases of genuine claims. In case where a parent has lost their minor child, or unmarried son or daughter, the parents are entitled to be awarded loss of consortium under the head of Filial Consortium.

Parental Consortium is awarded to children who lose their parents in motor vehicle accidents under the Act.

A few High Courts have awarded compensation on this count3. However, there was no clarity with respect to the principles on which compensation could be awarded on loss of Filial Consortium.

The amount of compensation to be awarded as consortium will be governed by the principles of awarding compensation under 'Loss of Consortium' as laid down in Pranay Sethi (supra).

31. In the instant case, as appears from the operative portion of the judgment dated 09.02.2012 and the award dated 25.02.2012, the amount awarded towards conventional heads is not as per the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (Supra) and Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. (Supra).

32. Thus, in view of the above said facts, the prayer in the appeal filed by the appellant/claimant for enhancement of compensation on the ground of composite negligence and future prospect is liable to be rejected as the appellant/claimant as well as Smt. Ceipi Jain/opposite party no.3 were not dependent upon the deceased.

33. Needless to mention herein that U.P.S.R.T.C. neither challenged the judgment dated 09.02.2012 and award dated 25.02.2012 nor filed any cross objection by which the compensation was awarded to the appellant/claimant, as such, due to the above said facts, the amount already paid to the appellant/claimant and opposite party no.3 as compensation cannot be recovered by the U.P.S.R.T.C.

34. Before parting, we would like to point out that the findings and observations, given herein above, would not affect the claims/compensation claimed by the legal heirs in relation to death of a minor, as in this case we have only dealt with claim made by Claimant-Appellant, who was major and he has own source of income and as per the case, he was not dependent upon the deceased.

35. However, we modify the judgment dated 09.02.2012 in view of the principles settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court as stated herein above. In addition to the amount of compensation i.e. 2,64,000/-, awarded by Tribunal and already paid by the U.P.S.R.T.C, the appellant is also entitled for the following amount by way of compensation :

(a) Towards Loss of Estate - Rs.15,000/-

(b) Towards Loss of Consortium - Rs.80,000/- (Rs.40,000/- for legal heir)

(c) Towards Funeral Expenses - Rs.15,000/-

Total = 1,10,000/-

36. On the total amount aforesaid Rs.1,10,000/-, the appellant would be entitled to the interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the Claim Petition, as awarded in the case of Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. (Supra).

37. For the foregoing reasons, the present appeal filed by the appellant against the judgment dated 09.02.2012 and the award dated 25.02.2012, passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Lucknow/Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow in Claim Petition No.02 of 2004, is partly allowed and the award given by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Lucknow against the Loss of Estate, Funeral Expenses, Loss of Consortium is modified and the same is awarded to the appellant as stated herein above.

38. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A1439

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 31.05.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON'BLE ROHIT RANJAN AGARWAL, J.

PIL No. 1215 of 2019
&
Other PIL Cases No. 1216 of 2019, 1218 of 2019, 1219 of 2019, 1224 of 2019, 1226 of 2019, 1256 of 2019,1265 of 2019, 1268 of 2019, 1270 of 2019, 1292 of 2019,1324 of 2019 & 1329 of 2019

Rahul Kumar Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Kamlesh Sharma

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C., Sri Dharmaveer Singh

A. Public Interest Litigation - Petty matters of encroachment & illegal construction on public utility land - Efficacious Statutory remedy available under relevant Acts - Hence PIL ordinarily not to be entertained-PIL filed with the grievances that private respondents have made encroachment on public utility land, chak road (pathway), chak nali in villages as well as in Nagar Panchayats, municipalities and in Nagar Nigams

Held:- In the matter of removal of encroachment of pathways, drains etc., statutory remedy is available to the persons under section 133 of the Criminal Procedure Code, u/s 26 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, and under the Acts which govern the local bodies, Nagar Nigams, Municipal Corporations, Nagar Panchayats, Municipalities etc – Hence Public Interest Litigation (PIL) ordinarily should not be entertained – If there is inaction on the part of statutory authorities, the aggrieved person can approach to High Court for appropriate direction but not by way of PIL. (Para 43)

Public Interest Litigations dismissed (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1. Bhagalpur Blinding case Kharti & ors. (II) Vs St. of Bihar & Ors (1981) 1 SCC 627

2. Kharti & ors. (IV) Vs St. of Bihar & ors. (1981) 2 SCC 493

3.Bandhua Mukti Morcha Vs Union of India & ors. (1997) 10 SCC 549

4.People's Union for Democratic Rights & ors. Vs Union of India & ors. (1982) 3 SCC 235

5.Delhi Jal Board Vs National Campaign for Dignity & Rights of Sewerage & Allied Workers (2011) 8 SCC 568

6. State of Uttaranchal Vs Balwant Singh Chaufal & ors. (2010) 3 SCC 402;

7.Shivajirao Nilangekar Patil Vs Dr. Mahesh Madhav Gosavi & ors. (1987) 1 SCC 227

8.Indian Council for Enviro-Legal Action Vs Union of India & ors. (1996) 5 SCC 281

9.Vineet Narain & ors. Vs Union of India & anr. (1998) 1 SCC 226

10.Intellectuals Forum, Tirupathi Vs St. of A.P. & ors. (2006) 3 SCC 549

11.Delhi Airtech Services Private Limited & anr. Vs St. of U.P.& ors. (2011) 9 SCC 354

12.M.C. Mehta Vs Kamal Nath & ors. (1997) 1 SCC 388

13. Joshi Vs St. of Mah. & ors. (2012) 3 SCC 619

14.Bangalore Medical Trust Vs B.S. Muddappa & ors. (1991) 4 SCC 54

15.M.I. Builders Pvt. Ltd. Vs Radhey Shyam Sahu & ors. (1999) 6 SCC 464

16.BALCO Employees' Union (Regd.) Vs Union of India & ors. (2002) 2 SCC 333

17.Union of India & ors Vs J.D. Suryavanshi (2011) 13 SCC 167

18.The Directorate of Film Festivals & ors. Vs Gaurav Ashwin Jain & ors (2007) 4 SCC 737

19.Dr. Duryodhan Sahu & Ors. Vs Jitendra Kumar Mishra & ors. (1998) 7 SCC 273

20.Gurpal Singh Vs St. of Punj. & ors. (2005) 5 SCC 136

21.Phool Chandra & anr. Vs St. of U.P. (2014) 13 SCC 112

22.Subrata Roy Sahara Vs Union of India & ors. (2014) 8 SCC 470

(Delivered by Hon'ble.Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J. & Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal, J.)

1. Since common question of law is involved in this batch of petitions thus they are being decided by this common judgment. However, for convenience the facts of the lead petition being Public Interest Litigation No. 1215 of 2019 are taken for consideration.

2. The petitioner in the said petition1 has claimed that he is a public spirited person of Mohalla Bhiti Chowk, District Mau. He has espoused the cause of general public of the aforesaid mohalla for protecting public utility land. Relief sought in the petition reads as under:

"i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to 4 to remove the illegal encroachment / construction made by respondent no. 5 over the Arazi No. 985 area about 0.36 hectare situated at Mohalla Bhiti Chowk, District Mau recorded as 'Nala (Nali Nalkoop) and road' in the revenue record."

3. It is stated that Mohalla Bhiti Chowk was brought under the consolidation operation. Arazi No. 985 area 0.36 hectare which is situated in the said mohalla, was recorded as 'Nala (Nali Nalkoop) and road' in the revenue papers. The aforesaid land is covered under the provisions of Section 132 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1952 and the U.P. Land Revenue Code, 2006.

4. It is alleged that the fifth respondent, who is a private person, has made illegal encroachment upon Arazi No. 985 area about 0.36 hectare, however the revenue authorities have not taken any action against the fifth respondent who has made illegal encroachment upon the public utility land. The petitioner has made an application dated 12.3.2019 regarding the said illegal encroachment, a copy of the application addressed to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Mau is on the record, however, the petitioner has not filed any receipt that the said representation has been received by the authority concerned. It is stated that in spite of the aforesaid application the respondents are not taking action to remove the illegal encroachment.

5. We have heard learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that since the authorities concerned have failed to remove the illegal encroachment hence the petitioner who is a public spirited person, has no other option but to approach this Court by the instant public interest litigation.

7. We find that a large number of public interest litigation are filed in this Court for similar relief where the grievances are raised that private respondents have made encroachment on public utility land, chakroad (pathway), nali in villages as well as in Nagar Panchayats, municipalities and in Nagar Nigams. To illustrate the said fact we refer some of the reliefs of following public interest litigations filed in this Court:

PIL No. 1216 of 2019 (Sarvjeet Verma v. State of U.P. & others):

"(i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent authority to enquire into the matter and remove immediately the encroachment of respondent no.4 from the well (Kuwa), water pipeline (Nal) and the place of religious and other social work place, situated at Araji No. 677K, Village Jalauji Chak Rajman, P.S. & Tehsil Sikandarpur, District Ballia.

(ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.3 to decide the representation of the petitioner dated 19.3.2019 (Annexure No. 4 to the writ petition), within the period so fixed by this Hon'ble Court.

PIL No. 1329 of 2019 (Mustaq Ahmad v. State of U.P. & others):

(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing to the authorities concerned to restrain the trace passers as like respondent No. 8 and 9 for raising constructions over public utility land and to evict them from Araji No. 117(M), 124(M), 123(M), 125(M) Mauja Jhunsi Kohna, Tahsil Phoolpur, District Prayagraj.

PIL No. 1324 of 2019 (Bhoora @ Farookh and others v. State of U.P. & others):

(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding/directing the respondents to construct the Nali from the house of Munnu Fakir to house of Idrish Pradhan in pursuance of proposal of the Gaon Sabha and sanction of the deep Nali by the Government.

PIL No. 1292 of 2019 (Paras Nath Kushwaha v. State of U.P. & others):

(I) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing to the respondent No. 2 to implement the order dated 31/08/2017 passed in Case No. 3/2010 (State Versus Sant Lal and others) U/s 133 Cr.P.C. P.S.-Baresar, District-Ghazipur and remove the encroachment from drainage in question within stipulated time period.

PIL No. 1268 of 2019 (Safeek Khan v. State of U.P. & others):

(a) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of MANDAMUS directing the respondents authorities to restrain the illegal construction in Gata No. 160 which is public Rasta in view of the representation dated 10.3.2019.

PIL No. 1270 of 2019 (Girish Chandra Tripathi v. State of U.P. & others):

A. To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondent no. 2 to 4 to take legal action against the encroachers/ private respondent nos. 6 to 28 for removal of their illegal encroachment nuisance and obstruction over the Plots of "Charagaah/ Lea" being Plot nos. 30, 117, 118-Kha, 162, 164, 177, 441, 442, 471, 473, 475, 533 (12 Plots) total area as 2.1120 hectare situated at village Fareedpur Post Bandighat, Police Station and Tehsil Muhammadabad Gohna, district Mau expeditiously within a period so stipulated by this Hon'ble Court.

PIL No. 1265 of 2019 (Afroz Tabassum v. State of U.P. & others):

a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing to the respondent no. 2 to 3 to release the public hand pumps from the illegal possession of the respondent no. 4 to 11 to meet the ends of justice.

PIL No. 1256 of 2019 (Ram Ashray @ Ram Asre v. State of U.P. & others):

I. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the respondent No. 2 i.e. District Magistrate, Prayagraj to take necessary action against the Gram Pradhan to make a construction of the Panchayat Bhawan and install the Hand Pump on the allotted Plot No. 163 Kha M, situated in the aforesaid village from his own money.

PIL No. 1218 of 2019 (Ranveer Singh v. State of U.P. & others):

1. To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to remove the encroachment & illegal possession of Res. No. 4 to 18 on Government Estate land being Gata No. 66/2 area 0.701 Hectare & Gata No. 67/2 area 0.440 Hectare situated in Mauja Araji Imlak, Tehsil-Kirawali, District-Agra.

2. To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to conduct high level inquiry against guilty persons who have facilitated in encroachment & illegal possession of Res. No. 4 to 18 on Government Estate land being Gata No. 66/2 area 0.701 Hectare & Gata No. 67/2 area 0.440 Hectare situated in Mauja Araji Imlak, Tehsil-Kirawali, District-Agra and take appropriate action against them so that the action of land grabbers may be discouraged.

PIL No. 1226 of 2019 (Ram Chandra v. State of U.P. & others):

1-Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to consider and decide the representation/ complaint dated 23-4-2019 and take effective action for removal of encroachment on the land of the P.W.D. situate in Arabpur Tehsil and District Fatehpur and ensure ejectment of encroachers forthwith.

2- Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to take strict legal action against the respondent no. 4 and 5 and other encroachers of P.W.D. Land situate in Arabpur Tehsil and District Fatehpur.

PIL No. 1219 of 2019 (Rajendra Pathak v. State of U.P. & others):

i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent to remove the encroachment from the Khasara No. 373 situated in village and post Gaura Tehsil Bhadohi District Bhadohi which is a state land.

PIL No. 1224 of 2019 (Shiv Charan alias Prahalad v. State of U.P. & others):

A- To issue a Writ, Order or Direction in the nature of Mandamus Commanding the Respondents to perform their duties under the law and procedure and get vacated the Auction Platform (Nilami Chabutara) made in Mandi Esthal Etawah for the purpose of loading/ unloading by the farmers bringing their product for sale and purchase.

B- To issue a Writ, Order or Direction in the nature of Mandamus Commanding the Respondents to perform their duties for vacating the auction platform (nilami chabutara) situated in Mandi Esthal Etawah within stipulated period as may be fixed by this Hon'ble Court and to take punitive action against the encraochers.

C- To issue a Writ, Order or Direction in the nature of Mandamus Commanding the Respondents to decide the petitioner's Application dated 12.04.2019 (Annexure No. 13 to the Writ Petition) within stipulated period as may be fixed by this Hon'ble Court."

8. Before adverting to the issue raised in the aforementioned public interest litigations, it would be advantageous to have a look at the law laid down by the Supreme Court in respect of the scope of public interest litigation. The nature of public interest litigation is not adversarial litigation. One of the important cases entertained by the Supreme Court as a public interest litigation was way back in 1980 in Bhagalpur Blinding case, where the Supreme Court has treated a letter as a public interest litigation. In the case of Bandhua Mukti Morcha v. Union of India and others, a new dimension was given by the Supreme Court. The PIL was used as a new tool to the superior courts to protect fundamental rights of poor masses who have no access to the courts for redressal of their grievance. To meet that object, the principle of locus standi was relaxed.

9. The object of public interest litigation is to bring improvement for poor masses. The poor too have civil and political rights and the rule of law is meant for them also. The Court has noticed that if the fundamental right of the poor and helpless victim of injustice is sought to be enforced by public interest litigation, it is criticized by some champions of human rights as waste of time by the highest court in law. The Court has extracted paragraph nos. 2 & 3 of the judgment in People's Union for Democratic Rights and others v. Union of India and others in its judgment in the case of Delhi Jal Board v. National Campaign for Dignity & Rights of Sewerage & Allied Workers and others:

"26. ... ...

2. ...We wish to point out with all the emphasis at our command that public interest litigation which is a strategic arm of the legal aid movement and which is intended to bring justice within the reach of the poor masses, who constitute the low visibility area of humanity, is a totally different kind of litigation from the ordinary traditional litigation which is essentially of an adversary character where there is a dispute between two litigating parties, one making claim or seeking relief against the other and that other opposing such claim or resisting such relief. Public interest litigation is brought before the court not for the purpose of enforcing the right of one individual against another as happens in the case of ordinary litigation, but it is intended to promote and vindicate public interest which demands that violations of constitutional or legal rights of large numbers of people who are poor, ignorant or in a socially or economically disadvantaged position should not go unnoticed and unredressed. That would be destructive of the rule of law which forms one of the essential elements of public interest in any democratic form of Government. The rule of law does not mean that the protection of the law must be available only to a fortunate few or that the law should be allowed to be prostituted by the vested interests for protecting and upholding the status quo under the guise of enforcement of their civil and political rights. The poor too have civil and political rights and the rule of law is meant for them also, though today it exists only on paper and not in reality. If the sugar barons and the alcohol kings have the fundamental right to carry on their business and to fatten their purses by exploiting the consuming public, have the chamars belonging to the lowest strata of society no fundamental right to earn an honest living through their sweat and toil? The former can approach the courts with a formidable army of distinguished lawyers paid in four or five figures per day and if their right to exploit is upheld against the Government under the label of fundamental right, the courts are praised for their boldness and courage and their independence and fearlessness are applauded and acclaimed. But, if the fundamental right of the poor and helpless victims of injustice is sought to be enforced by public interest litigation, the so-called champions of human rights frown upon it as waste of time of the highest court in the land, which, according to them, should not engage itself in such small and trifling matters. Moreover, these self-styled human rights activists forget that civil and political rights, priceless and invaluable as they are for freedom and democracy, simply do not exist for the vast masses of our people. Large numbers of men, women and children who constitute the bulk of our population are today living a sub- human existence in conditions of abject poverty; utter grinding poverty has broken their back and sapped their moral fibre. They have no faith in the existing social and economic system. Public interest litigation, as we conceive it, is essentially a cooperative or collaborative effort on the part of the petitioner, the State or public authority and the court to secure observance of the constitutional or legal rights, benefits and privileges conferred upon the vulnerable sections of the community and to reach social justice to them. The State or public authority against whom public interest litigation is brought should be as much interested in ensuring basic human rights, constitutional as well as legal, to those who are in a socially and economically disadvantaged position, as the petitioner who brings the public interest litigation before the court. The State or public authority which is arrayed as a respondent in public interest litigation should, in fact, welcome it, as it would give it an opportunity to right a wrong or to redress an injustice done to the poor and weaker sections of the community whose welfare is and must be the prime concern of the State or the public authority.

3. There is a misconception in the minds of some lawyers, journalists and men in public life that public interest litigation is unnecessarily cluttering up the files of the court and adding to the already staggering arrears of cases which are pending for long years and it should not therefore be encouraged by the court. This is, to our mind, a totally perverse view smacking of elitist and status quoist approach. Those who are decrying public interest litigation do not seem to realise that courts are not meant only for the rich and the well-to-do, for the landlord and the gentry, for the business magnate and the industrial tycoon, but they exist also for the poor and the down-trodden, the have-nots and the handicapped and the half-hungry millions of our countrymen. So far the courts have been used only for the purpose of vindicating the rights of the wealthy and the affluent. It is only these privileged classes which have been able to approach the courts for protecting their vested interests. It is only the moneyed who have so far had the golden key to unlock the doors of justice. .....No State has a right to tell its citizens that because a large number of cases of the rich and the well-to-do are pending in our courts, we will not help the poor to come to the courts for seeking justice until the staggering load of cases of people who can afford, is disposed of. The time has now come when the courts must become the courts for the poor and struggling masses of this country. They must shed their character as upholders of the established order and the status quo. They must be sensitised to the need of doing justice to the large masses of people to whom justice has been denied by a cruel and heartless society for generations. The realisation must come to them that social justice is the signature tune of our Constitution and it is their solemn duty under the Constitution to enforce the basic human rights of the poor and vulnerable sections of the community and actively help in the realization of the constitutional goals."

(Emphasis supplied)

10. In the case of State of Uttaranchal v. Balwant Singh Chaufal and others the Supreme Court went elaborately into all the aspects including the origin and history of the Public Interest Litigation and has categorized the public interest litigation in three phases from origin to its current trend. The Court also considered various facets of public interest litigation, the backdrop of criticism from within and outside of the system. The Court has categorized the concept and development of public interest litigation in three phases in the following terms:

"43. In this judgment, we would like to deal with the origin and development of public interest litigation. We deem it appropriate to broadly divide the public interest litigation in three phases:

Phase I.- It deals with cases of this Court where directions and orders were passed primarily to protect fundamental rights under Article 21 of the marginalized groups and sections of the society who because of extreme poverty, illiteracy and ignorance cannot approach this court or the High Courts.

Phase II.- It deals with the cases relating to protection, preservation of ecology, environment, forests, marine life, wildlife, mountains, rivers, historical monuments etc. etc.

Phase III.- It deals with the directions issued by the Courts in maintaining the probity, transparency and integrity in governance."

11. In the cases, under Phase-I the Court has observed that "in order to preserve and protect the fundamental rights of marginalized, deprived and poor section of society, the Court relaxed the traditional rule of locus standi and broaden the definition of aggrieved person and gave directions and orders". The Court has further observed that "the Supreme Court and high Courts earned great respect and acquired great credibility in the eyes of public because of their innovative efforts to protect and preserve the fundamental rights of people belonging to poor and marginalized section of society.

12. One of the essential aspects of the procedure laid down by the Court is that the person who approaches the Court has to show that he has no personal interest in the outcome of the proceedings. A large number of judgments and the directions of the Supreme Court in public interest litigation have benefited the downtrodden and marginalized section of the society.

13. In the matter of Phase-II deals with the protection, preservation of ecology, environment, forest, wildlife, rivers etc. Now there is a large number of judgments of the Supreme Court, where several important directions have been issued for protection of the environment. These judgments have gone long away to protect the environment and to deal with the problem of pollution and also to preserve the natural resources of the country. In the matter of environment, the Court has applied the doctrine of trust. This doctrine was enunciated in the present form by the U.S. Courts. It says that when the State holds a resource that is available for the use of public, the Court can exercise its power under the judicial review to scrutinize the fairness of the State's action while dealing with the natural resources.

14. In the third phase the Supreme Court has widen the horizon of public interest litigation for maintaining the probity, transparency and good governance. In a large number of petitions the Supreme Court has entertained petitions in respect of governance of the State. In the case of Shivajirao Nilangekar Patil v. Dr. Mahesh Madhav Gosavi and others, the Court has taken a judicial note about falling standard of public morality. It was observed that "this Court cannot be oblivious that there has been a steady decline of public standard or public morals and public morale. It is necessary to cleanse public life in the country along with or even before cleaning the physical atmosphere. The pollution in our values and standard is an equally grave menace as the pollution of environment, where such situations cry out, the Court should not and cannot remain mute and dumb.

15. After summarizing the law on all the three phases of the public interest litigation in nicety of detail the Supreme Court in the case of Balwant Singh Chaufal (supra), has observed as under:

"31. According to our opinion, the public interest litigation is an extremely important jurisdiction exercised by the Supreme Court and the High Courts. The Courts in a number of cases have given important directions and passed orders which have brought positive changes in the country. The Courts' directions have immensely benefited marginalized sections of the society in a number of cases. It has also helped in protection and preservation of ecology, environment, forests, marine life, wildlife, etc. etc. The Court's directions to some extent have helped in maintaining probity and transparency in the public life.

***

*** ***

87. ...The court in that case gave emphasis that the directions of the court should meet the requirements of public interest, environmental protection, elimination of pollution and sustainable development. While ensuring sustainable development, it must be kept in view that there is no danger to the environment or to the ecology.

***

*** ***

143. Unfortunately, of late, it has been noticed that such an important jurisdiction which has been carefully carved out, created and nurtured with great care and caution by the courts, is being blatantly abused by filing some petitions with oblique motives. We think time has come when genuine and bonafide public interest litigation must be encouraged whereas frivolous public interest litigation should be discouraged. In our considered opinion, we have to protect and preserve this important jurisdiction in the larger interest of the people of this country but we must take effective steps to prevent and cure its abuse on the basis of monetary and non-monetary directions issued by the courts.

***

*** ***

148. The first category of cases is that where the Court on the filing of frivolous public interest litigation petitions, dismissed the petitions with exemplary costs. In Neetu v. State of Pubjab, AIR 2007 SC 758, the Court concluded that it is necessary to impose exemplary costs to ensure that the message goes in the right direction that petitions filed with oblique motive do not have the approval of the courts.

***

*** ***

157. In Holicow Pictures (P) Ltd. v. Prem Chandra Mishra, (2007) 14 SCC 281, this Court observed as under:

"10. '... 12. It is depressing to note that on account of such trumpery proceedings initiated before the courts, innumerable days are wasted, which time otherwise could have been spent for the disposal cases of the genuine litigants. Though we spare no efforts in fostering and developing the laudable concept of PIL and extending our long arm of sympathy to the poor, the ignorant, the oppressed and the needy whose fundamental rights are infringed and violated and whose grievances go unnoticed, unrepresented and unheard; yet we cannot avoid but express our opinion that while genuine litigants with legitimate grievances relating to civil matters involving properties worth hundreds of millions of rupees and criminal cases in which persons sentenced to death facing gallows under untold agony and persons sentenced to life imprisonment and kept in incarceration for long years, persons suffering from undue delay in service matters - government or private, persons awaiting the disposal of cases wherein huge amounts of public revenue or unauthorized collection of tax amounts are locked up, detenu expecting their release from the detention orders, etc. etc. are all standing in a long serpentine queue for years with the fond hope of getting into the courts and having their grievances redressed, the busybodies, meddlesome interlopers, wayfarers or officious interveners having absolutely no public interest except for personal gain or private profit either of themselves or as a proxy of others or for any other extraneous motivation or for glare of publicity, break the queue muffing their faces by wearing the mask of public interest litigation and get into the courts by filing vexatious and frivolous petitions and thus criminally waste the valuable time of the courts and as a result of which the queue standing outside the doors of the courts never moves, which piquant situation creates frustration in the minds of the genuine litigants and resultantly they loose faith in the administration of our judicial system.' "

158. The Court cautioned by observing that [Holicow case, (2007) 14 SCC 281]:

"10. '... 13. Public interest litigation is a weapon which has to be used with great care and circumspection and the judiciary has to be extremely careful to see that behind the beautiful veil of public interest an ugly private malice, vested interest and/or publicity - seeking is not lurking. It is to be used as an effective weapon in the armory of law for delivering social justice to the citizens.

The attractive brand name of public interest litigation should not be used for suspicious products of mischief. It should be aimed at redressal of genuine public wrong or public injury and not publicity oriented or founded on personal vendetta. ...

***

*** ***

172. In M/s Holicow Pictures (P) Ltd., (2007) 14 SCC 281, this Court observed that the Judges who exercise the jurisdiction should be extremely careful to see that behind the beautiful veil of PIL, an ugly private malice, vested interest and/or publicity - seeking is not lurking. The court should ensure that there is no abuse of the process of the court.

***

*** ***

181. We have carefully considered the facts of the present case. We have also examined the law declared by this Court and other courts in a number of judgments. In order to preserve the purity and sanctity of the PIL, it has become imperative to issue the following directions:

(1) The Courts must encourage genuine and bona fide PIL and effectively discourage and curb the PIL filed for extraneous considerations.

***

*** ***

(3) The Courts should prima facie verify the credentials of the petitioner before entertaining a P.I.L.

(4) The Court should be prima facie satisfied regarding the correctness of the contents of the petition before entertaining a PIL.

(5) The Court should be fully satisfied that substantial public interest is involved before entertaining the petition.

(6) The Court should ensure that the petition which involves larger public interest, gravity and urgency must be given priority over other petitions.

(7) The Courts before entertaining the PIL should ensure that the PIL is aimed at redressal of genuine public harm or public injury. The Court should also ensure that there is no personal gain, private motive or oblique motive behind filing the public interest litigation.

(8) The Court should also ensure that the petitions filed by busybodies for extraneous and ulterior motives must be discouraged by imposing exemplary costs or by adopting similar novel methods to curb frivolous petitions and the petitions filed for extraneous considerations."

16. The Courts must encourage genuine and bonafide PIL, which has been filed for redressal of genuine public harm or public injury in the following matters:

(i) Lack of probity in public life leading to degree of corruption; good governance, judicial review of administrative action;

(ii) Environmental matters dealing with air pollution, water pollution, illegal mining, felling of trees, pollution of rivers etc.; the encroachment of public utility land such as Park and open space reserved in the town planning, forest land, illegal exploitation natural resources.

(iii) Power of superior courts to make investigation into the issue of public importance.

(iv) Those PILs which involve larger public interest should be heard on priority basis.

17. However, the Court has also opined that the frivolous petition must be dealt with firm hand and should be discouraged by imposing heavy cost.

18. Bearing in mind the principles and the directions issued by the Supreme Court in the above noted cases, we find that this Court can broadly classify the following categories of public interest litigation which are generally filed in this Court:

(i) for the removal of encroachments on public path mostly in villages or small towns;

(ii) for compliance of the provisions of the Corporation Act, 1959; Municipalities Act, 1916, Town Area Act; Nagar Panchayat Act; RBO Act, 1958. In this category of public interest litigation, generally the reliefs are sought for the removal of encroachment; for the demolition of buildings which have been raised without proper sanction under the relevant Act and Byelaws.

(iii) for the compliance of directions issued by the Supreme Court in the matter of removal of encroachment from the ponds.

(iv) Environmental matters regarding illegal running of Brick kilns. felling of trees, water related problems.

19. Firstly, we will advert to the matters relating to the environment. As discussed above in the second phase of the PIL, the Supreme Court has issued a large number of directions in its various judgement. In the case of Indian Council for Enviro-Legal Action v. Union of India and others, the Court has observed that High Courts should shoulder responsibility to ensure that directions issued by the Supreme Court in the matters of protection of the environment are complied with by the authorities. The Court has further observed that High Courts are better placed to appreciate the problems of their geographical area. It is constitutional obligation of the Courts to protect the fundamental rights of the people. The Supreme Court has reminded the High Courts that it is their responsibility that in the cases where the directions of Supreme court have ramification all over country, High Courts should ensure for compliance of those directions. Following discussion and conclusion are apt and relevant for our purpose:

"41. With rapid industrialisation taking place, there is an increasing threat to the maintenance of the ecological balance. The general public is becoming aware of the need to protect environment. Even though, laws have been passed for the protection of environment, the enforcement of the same has been tardy, to say the least. With the governmental authorities not showing any concern with the enforcement of the said Acts, and with the development taking place for personal gains at the expense of environment and with disregard of the mandatory provisions of law, some public-spirited persons have been initiating public interest litigations. The legal position relating to the exercise of jurisdiction by the courts for preventing environmental degradation and thereby, seeking to protect the fundamental rights of the citizens, is now well settled by various decisions of this Court. The primary effort of the court, while dealing with the environmental-related issues, is to see that the enforcement agencies, whether it be the State or any other authority, take effective steps for the enforcement of the laws. The courts, in a way, act as the guardian of the people's fundamental rights but in regard to many technical matters, the courts may not be fully equipped. Perforce, it has to rely on outside agencies for reports and recommendations whereupon orders have been passed from time to time. Even though, it is not the function of the court to see the day-to-day enforcement of the law, that being the function of the Executive, but because of the non-functioning of the enforcement agencies, the courts as of necessity have had to pass orders directing the enforcement agencies to implement the law.

42. As far as this Court is concerned, being conscious of its constitutional obligation to protect the fundamental rights of the people, it has issued directions in various types of cases relating to the protection of environment and preventing pollution.* For effective orders to be passed, so as to ensure that there can be protection of environment along with development, it becomes necessary for the court dealing with such issues to know about the local conditions. Such conditions in different parts of the country are supposed to be better known to the High Courts. The High Courts would be in a better position to ascertain facts and to ensure and examine the implementation of the anti-pollution laws where the allegations relate to the spreading of pollution or non-compliance of other legal provisions leading to the infringement of the anti-pollution laws. For a more effective control and monitoring of such laws, the High Courts have to shoulder greater responsibilities in tackling such issues which arise or pertain to the geographical areas within their respective States. Even in cases which have ramifications all over India, where general directions are issued by this Court, more effective implementation of the same can, in a number of cases, be effected, if the High Courts concerned assume the responsibility of seeing to the enforcement of the laws and examine the complaints, mostly made by the local inhabitants, about the infringement of the laws and spreading of pollution or degradation of ecology."
(Emphasis supplied)

20. A perusal of the above judgement would lead to conclusion that the High Courts should ensure strict compliance of the orders of Supreme Court where there is inaction on the part of law enforcing authorities to implement the orders of Supreme Court.

21. Now we will deal with only those matters in respect of which a large numbers of PILs are filed in this Court.

(i) Public probity in governance:

22. The principle of public accountability and performance of the public duty and public obligation are bedrock of good administration. The principles of public accountability and transparency in State action was considered by a Three Judge Bench in the case of Vineet Narain and others v. Union of India and another. The Court observed that holders of public offices are entrusted the powers for the public interest alone. If the conduct of public official amounts to an offence, it must be promptly investigated and appropriate action should be taken to uphold the rule of law. Paragraph nos. 55 & 56 are apposite for our purposes.

"55. These principles of public life are of general application in every democracy and one is expected to bear them in mind while scrutinising the conduct of every holder of a public office. It is trite that the holders of public offices are entrusted with certain powers to be exercised in public interest alone and, therefore, the office is held by them in trust for the people. Any deviation from the path of rectitude by any of them amounts to a breach of trust and must be severely dealt with instead of being pushed under the carpet. If the conduct amounts to an offence, it must be promptly investigated and the offender against whom a prima facie case is made out should be prosecuted expeditiously so that the majesty of law is upheld and the rule of law vindicated. It is duty of the judiciary to enforce the rule of law and, therefore, to guard against erosion of the rule of law.

56. The adverse impact of lack of probity in public life leading to a high degree of corruption is manifold. It also has adverse effect on foreign investment and funding from the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank who have warned that future aid to underdeveloped countries may be subject to the requisite steps being taken to eradicate corruption, which prevents international aid from reaching those for whom it is meant. Increasing corruption has led to investigative journalism which is of value to a free society. The need to highlight corruption in public life through the medium of public interest litigation invoking judicial review may be frequent in India but is not unknown in other countries: R. v. Secy. of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, (1995) 1 WLR 386."

23. In the case of Intellectuals Forum, Tirupathi v. State of A.P. and others, the Court has categorized three types of restrictions by the public trust doctrine: (1) the property must be available for the use of general public and it must not only be used for public purpose; (2) the property may not be sold, even for fair cash equivalent; (3) the property must be maintained for particular types of use; (i) either traditional uses, or (ii) some uses particular to that form of resources.

24. In Delhi Airtech Services Private Limited and another v. State of Uttar Pradesh and another, the Supreme Court considered at length the doctrine of "full faith and credit" which applies to the act done by the officer in the hierarchy of the State. The Court observed "the principle of public accountability and transparency in such action are applicable to the cases of executive or statutory exercise of power, besides requires that such action does not lack bonafides. All these principles enunciated by the Court over a passage of time clearly mandate that the public officers are answerable for both their inaction and irresponsible action.

Emphasis supplied

25. If what ought to have been done, is not done, responsibility should be fixed on the erring officers, the real public purpose of an answerable administration would be satisfied. The Court in Delhi Airtech Services (P) Ltd. (supra) has further observed:

"216. The doctrine of "full faith and credit"applies to the acts done by the officers. There is a presumptive evidence of regularity in official acts, done or performed, and there should be faithful discharge of duties to elongate public purpose in accordance with the procedure prescribed. Avoidance and delay in decision making process in government hierarchy is a matter of growing concern. Sometimes delayed decisions can cause prejudice to the rights of the parties besides there being violation of the statutory rule.

***

*** ***

218. ...The adverse impact of lack of probity in discharge of public duties can result in varied defects, not only in the decision-making process but in the final decision as well. Every officer in the hierarchy of the State, by virtue of his being "public officer" or "public servant", is accountable for his decisions to the public as well as to the State. This concept of dual responsibility should be applied with its rigours in the larger public interest and for proper governance."

26. The Supreme Court in the case of Shivajirao Nilangekar Patil (supra) has taken a judicial note. Relevant part of the said judgement reads as under:

"51. This Court cannot be oblivious that there has been a steady decline of public standards or public morals and public morale. It is necessary to cleanse public life in this country along with or even before cleaning the physical atmosphere. The pollution in our values and standards in (sic is) an equally grave menace as the pollution of the environment. Where such situations cry out the courts should not and cannot remain mute and dumb."

(ii) Environmental Matters in respect of air and noise pollution, felling of trees, production of natural resources, water, minor and minerals:

27. In the matter of environment also the public interest litigation should be encouraged. In the case of M.C. Mehta v. Kamal Nath and others, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"23. The notion that the public has a right to expect certain lands and natural areas to retain their natural characteristic is finding its way into the law of the land. The need to protect the environment and ecology has been summed up by David B. Hunter (University of Michigan) in an article titled An ecological perspective on property : A call for judicial protection of the public's interest in environmentally critical resources published in Harvard Environmental Law Review, Vol. 12 1988, p. 311 is in the following words:

"Another major ecological tenet is that the world is finite. The earth can support only so many people and only so much human activity before limits are reached. This lesson was driven home by the oil crisis of the 1970s as well as by the pesticide scare of the 1960s. The current deterioration of the ozone layer is another vivid example of the complex, unpredictable and potentially catastrophic effects posed by our disregard of the environmental limits to economic growth. The absolute finiteness of the environment, when coupled with human dependency on the environment, leads to the unquestionable result that human activities will at some point be constrained.

"[H]uman activity finds in the natural world its external limits. In short, the environment imposes constraints on our freedom; these constraints are not the product of value choices but of the scientific imperative of the environment's limitations. Reliance on improving technology can delay temporarily, but not forever, the inevitable constraints. There is a limit to the capacity of the environment to service ... growth, both in providing raw materials and in assimilating by-product wastes due to consumption. The largesse of technology can only postpone or disguise the inevitable.'

Professor Barbara Ward has written of this ecological imperative in particularly vivid language:

"We can forget moral imperatives. But today the morals of respect and care and modesty come to us in a form we cannot evade. We cannot cheat on DNA. We cannot get round photosynthesis. We cannot say I am not going to give a damn about phytoplankton. All these tiny mechanisms provide the preconditions of our planetary life. To say we do not care is to say in the most literal sense that "we choose death".'

There is a commonly-recognized link between laws and social values, but to ecologists a balance between laws and values is not alone sufficient to ensure a stable relationship between humans and their environment. Laws and values must also contend with the constraints imposed by the outside environment. Unfortunately, current legal doctrine rarely accounts for such constraints, and thus environmental stability is threatened.

Historically, we have changed the environment to fit our conceptions of property. We have fenced, plowed and paved. The environment has proven malleable and to a large extent still is. But there is a limit to this malleability, and certain types of ecologically important resources -- for example, wetlands and riparian forests -- can no longer be destroyed without enormous long-term effects on environmental and therefore social stability. To ecologists, the need for preserving sensitive resources does not reflect value choices but rather is the necessary result of objective observations of the laws of nature.

In sum, ecologists view the environmental sciences as providing us with certain laws of nature. These laws, just like our own laws, restrict our freedom of conduct and choice. Unlike our laws, the laws of nature cannot be changed by legislative fiat; they are imposed on us by the natural world. An understanding of the laws of nature must therefore inform all of our social institutions."

(iii) Public amenities:

28. The public interest litigation should also be encouraged in the matter concerning the public amenities due to growing population of the country. The open land/ spaces reserved for public amenities are being encroached by unscrupulous persons in connivance with the authorities who look the other way at such encroachment.

29. In some cases, the statutory offices deviate from the master plan and tries to convert open / public spaces for the benefit of private builders, rich and influential persons, who put pressure on the law enforcing authorities and statutory authorities to bend the law in their favor. The Supreme Court in the case of Manohar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra and others, has taken note of the present trend. The Supreme Court has observed as under:

"209. Yet, as we have seen from the earlier judgments concerning the public amenities in Bangalore (Bangalore Medical Trust14) and Lucknow [M.I Builders (P) Ltd.15], and now as is seen in this case in Pune, the spaces for the public amenities are under a systematic attack and are shrinking all over the cities in India, only for the benefit of the landowners and the builders. Time has therefore come to take a serious stock of the situation. Undoubtedly, the competing interest of the landowner is also to be taken into account, but that is already done when the plan is finalized, and the landowner is compensated as per the law. Ultimately when the land is reserved for a public purpose after following the due process of law, the interest of the individual must yield to the public interest. "

30. We are constrained to observe that in this state, there appears to be an unholy nexus between administration and builders to convert the land use contrary to Master plan and Zonal plan. For illustration, in Prayagraj (Allahabad) the Master plan was notified in the year 2005 but even after 19 years zonal plans for the entire city have not been notified by the State Government. Taking advantage of this situation, most of the residential areas of city have been converted in commercial area. If the space is reserved for public amenities it cannot be allowed to be allotted to the builders or powerful persons against the alleged development plan. The land, open spaces or parks cannot be converted or encroached. The Supreme Court in the case Bangalore Medical Trust v. B.S. Muddappa and others16, and M.I. Builders Pvt. Ltd. v. Radhey Shyam Sahu And Others has taken a strict view in the matter of violation of Master Plan / Zonal Plan.

31. We also find that a large number of PILs are filed in service matters and against policy decision of the State. It is trite that in service matters, PILs are not entertainable. Similarly, in policy matter also Court can interfere on very limited grounds.

(iv) Policy Matters:

32. In respect of policy matters, the Supreme Court in the case of BALCO Employees' Union (Regd.) v. Union of India and others, has held that "in the sphere of economic policy or reform, the Court is not appropriate forum. Every matter of the public interest or curiosity cannot be subject matter of PIL. The Courts are not intended to and nor should they conduct the administration of country. The Courts will interfere only if there is clear violation of constitutional or statutory provisions or non-compliance by the States with its constitutional or its statutory duties".

33. In the case of Union of India and others v. J.D. Suryavanshi, the Supreme Court has quoted with approval its earlier view in the case of The Directorate of Film Festivals and others v. Gaurav Ashwin Jain and others in the following terms:

"9. In Directorate of Film Festivals v. Gaurav Ashwin Jain21 this Court held: (SCC p. 746, para 16)

"16. The scope of judicial review of governmental policy is now well defined. Courts do not and cannot act as appellate authorities examining the correctness, suitability and appropriateness of a policy, nor are courts advisors to the executive on matters of policy which the executive is entitled to formulate. The scope of judicial review when examining a policy of the Government is to check whether it violates the fundamental rights of the citizens or is opposed to the provisions of the Constitution, or opposed to any statutory provision or manifestly arbitrary. Courts cannot interfere with policy either on the ground that it is erroneous or on the ground that a better, fairer or wiser alternative is available. Legality of the policy, and not the wisdom or soundness of the policy, is the subject of judicial review....".

(v) Service Matters:

34. The Supreme Court in the case of Dr. Duryodhan Sahu and others v. Jitendra Kumar Mishra and others, has held that in service matters a public interest litigation should not be entertained.

35. The Supreme Court in the case of Gurpal Singh v. State of Punjab and others, has observed that though the Supreme Court has laid down the law in Dr. Duryodhan Sahu (supra) that "so called Public Interest Litigations should not be entertained but the PILs involving service matters continue unabated in the courts and strangely are entertained". The Court has held that "the least the High Court could do is to throw them out on the basis of said decision. Relevant part of the judgment in Gurpal Singh (supra) is extracted below:

"7. ...Though in Duryodhan Sahu (Dr.) v. Jitendra Kumar Mishra24 this Court held that in service matters PILs should not be entertained, the inflow of so-called PILs involving service matters continues unabated in the courts and strangely are entertained. The least the High Courts could do is to throw them out on the basis of the said decision. The other interesting aspect is that in the PILs, official documents are being annexed without even indicating as to how the petitioner came to possess them. In one case, it was noticed that an interesting answer was given as to its possession. It was stated that a packet was lying on the road and when out of curiosity the petitioner opened it, he found copies of the official documents. Whenever such frivolous pleas are taken to explain possession, the Court should do well not only to dismiss the petitions but also to impose exemplary costs. It would be desirable for the courts to filter out the frivolous petitions and dismiss them with costs as aforestated so that the message goes in the right direction that petitions filed with oblique motive do not have the approval of the courts."

36. Now coming back to the cases on hand, we find that in this batch of public interest litigations, the only relief is in respect of removal of encroachment from public utility land, illegal construction etc. We have extracted the prayer of all the public interest litigations in the earlier part of this judgment.

37. A perusal of the reliefs sought by the petitioners it is evident that the grievances are raised against the private respondents who have made encroachment over the public utility land, pathways (*chakroad*s), encroachment of drains (nali) etc. etc.

38. Section 133 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 deals with public nuisance. Relevant part of Section 133 reads as under:

"133. Conditional order for removal of nuisance.---(1) Whenever a District Magistrate or a Sub-divisional Magistrate or any other Executive

Magistrate specially empowered in this behalf by the State Government, on receiving the report of a police officer or other information and on taking such evidence (if any) as he thinks fit, considers---

(a) that any unlawful obstruction or nuisance should be removed from any public place or from any way, river or channel which is or may be lawfully used by the public; or

(b) ... ...

(c) that the construction of any building, or, the disposal of any substance, as is likely to occasion conflagration or explosion, should be prevented or stopped; or

(d) that any building, tent or structure, or any tree is in such a condition that it is likely to fall and thereby cause injury to persons living or carrying on business in the neighbourhood or passing by, and that in consequence the removal, repair or support of such building, tent or structure, or the removal or support of such tree, is necessary; or

(e) ... ...

(f) ... ...

such Magistrate may make a conditional order requiring the person causing such obstruction or nuisance, or carrying on such trade or occupation, or keeping any such goods or merchandise, or owning, possessing or controlling such building, tent, structure, substance, tank, well or excavation, or owning or possessing such animal or tree, within a time to be fixed in the order---

(i) to remove such obstruction or nuisance; or

(ii) to desist from carrying on, or to remove or regulate in such manner as may be directed, such trade or occupation, or to remove such goods or merchandise, or to regulate the keeping thereof in such manner as may be directed; or

(iii) to prevent or stop the construction of such building, or to alter the disposal of such substance; or

(iv) ... ...

(v) ... ...

(vi) ... ...

(2) No order duly made by a Magistrate under this section shall be called in question in any Civil Court."

39. A perusal of Section 133 shows the jurisdiction which is exercised by the Magistrate to deal with public nuisance. This power can be exercised by the Magistrate on the police report or other information. The Magistrate can issue the order for removal of nuisance and if he finds that the dispute is of the civil nature, the Magistrate has to refer the matter to the civil court. The word 'other information' can be entertained by the Magistrate of an individual or any person who is aggrieved from the public nuisance. The power under Section 133 can be used for removal of obstruction raised on municipal drain and from the public pathway of the village.

40. Similarly, under the U.P. Land Revenue Code, 2006 also the Tehsildar has power for removal of obstacle for free use of a public road, path or common land of a village or obstruction or water-course or source of water. Section 26 of the Act reads as under:

"26. Removal of obstacle.---If the Tahsildar finds that any obstacle impedes the free use of a public road, path or common land of a village or obstructs the road or water course or source of water, he may direct the removal of such obstacle and may, for that purpose, use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary and may recover the cost of such removal from the person concerned in the manner prescribed."

41. The aforesaid two provisions clearly demonstrate that for the removal of encroachment of pathways, streets, a citizen has efficacious alternative remedy by approaching the competent authority under the aforesaid two Acts. In most of such cases, we find that the petitioners without pursuing remedy under abovementioned Acts approach this Court by way of public interest litigation for a direction against a person individual. These huge number of public interest litigations waste valuable judicial time of this Court.

42. Accordingly, we are of the view that in the matter of removal of encroachment of pathways, drains etc., statutory remedy is available to the persons under the Criminal Procedure Code, the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, and under the Acts which govern the local bodies, Nagar Nigams, Municipal Corporations, Nagar Panchayats, Municipalities etc. etc. hence the public interest litigation ordinarily should not be entertained. If there is inaction on the part of statutory authorities, the aggrieved person can approach to this Court for appropriate direction but not by way of PIL.

43. The Supreme Court has time and again emphasized the view that in the matter of frivolous petitions a heavy cost should be imposed. In the case of Phool Chandra and another v. State of Uttar Pradesh, and in Subrata Roy Sahara v. Union of India and others, the Supreme Court has held that "the judicial system is grossly afflicted by frivolous litigation". Some solution has to be evolved to deter the litigant to approach this Court in respect of ill-considered and senseless litigation. It has to be born in mind that in every such litigation, there is an innocent sufferer. The Court has castigated the State agencies also who litigate endlessly up to the Supreme Court. The attitude of the State functionaries is due to lack of responsibility to take decisions. The Supreme Court has held that such frivolous and petty matters should be dealt with iron hands and heavy costs should be imposed as encouraging such type of litigation is hampering the cause of justice. We may in this regard gainfully refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in Phool Chandra (supra):

"12. All these are aberrations in the functioning of the Apex Court of any country. Of late, there has been an increase in the trend of litigants rushing to the courts, including this Court, for all kinds of trivial and silly matters which results in wastage of public money and time. A closer scrutiny of all such matters would disclose that there was not even a remote justification for filing the case. It is a pity that the time of the court which is becoming acutely precious because of the piling arrears has to be wasted on hearing such matters. There is an urgent need to put a check on such frivolous litigation. Perhaps many such cases can be avoided if the learned counsel who are officers of the court and who are expected to assist the court tender proper advice to their clients. The Bar has to realise that the great burden upon the Bench of dispensing justice imposes a simultaneous duty upon them to share this burden and it is their duty to see that the burden should not needlessly be made unbearable. The Judges of this Nation are struggling bravely against the odds to tackle the problem of dispensing quick justice. But, without the cooperation of the gentlemen of the Bar, nothing can be done.

13. It is high time that the courts should come down heavily upon such frivolous litigation and unless we ensure that the wrongdoers are denied profit or undue benefit from the frivolous litigation, it would be difficult to control frivolous and uncalled for litigation. In order to curb such kind of litigation, the courts have to ensure that there is no incentive or motive which can be ensured by imposing exemplary costs upon the parties as well as on the learned counsel who act in an irresponsible manner. {Vide Varinderpal Singh v. M.R. Sharma, 1986 Supp SCC 719, Ramrameshwari Devi v. Nirmala Devi, (2011) 8 SCC 249 : (2011) 4 SCC (Civ) 1, and Gurgaon Gramin Bank v. Khazani, (2012) 8 SCC 781 : AIR 2012 SC 2881.}"

44. Recently, the Supreme Court in the case of Tehseen Poonawalla v. Union of India and another, has considered the misuse of PIL jurisdiction. The Court observed thus:

"98. The misuse of public interest litigation is a serious matter of concern for the judicial process. Both this court and the High Courts are flooded with litigation and are burdened by arrears. Frivolous or motivated petitions, ostensibly invoking the public interest detract from the time and attention which courts must devote to genuine causes. This court has a long list of pending cases where the personal liberty of citizens is involved. Those who await trial or the resolution of appeals against orders of conviction have a legitimate expectation of early justice. It is a travesty of justice for the resources of the legal system to be consumed by an avalanche of misdirected petitions purportedly filed in the public interest which, upon due scrutiny, are found to promote a personal, business or political agenda. This has spawned an industry of vested interests in litigation. There is a grave danger that if this state of affairs is allowed to continue, it would seriously denude the efficacy of the judicial system by detracting from the ability of the court to devote its time and resources to cases which legitimately require attention. Worse still, such petitions pose a grave danger to the credibility of the judicial process. This has the propensity of endangering the credibility of other institutions and undermining public faith in democracy and the rule of law. This will happen when the agency of the court is utilised to settle extra-judicial scores. Business rivalries have to be resolved in a competitive market for goods and services. Political rivalries have to be resolved in the great hall of democracy when the electorate votes its representatives in and out of office. Courts resolve disputes about legal rights and entitlements. Courts protect the rule of law. There is a danger that the judicial process will be reduced to a charade, if disputes beyond the ken of legal parameters occupy the judicial space."

45. On careful consideration of the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties, the abovementioned case laws and for the reasons mentioned above, we are of the view that all the above mentioned public interest litigations lack merit. As discussed above, the petitioners have approached this Court in petty matters or in some cases they have efficacious alternative remedy. Entertaining these petitions shall be wastage of precious judicial time. There are large number of pending PILs relating to protection of environment, in the matter of cleansing the public life, breach of public trust doctrine, converting the public utility services for private use of builders etc., those genuine PILs are pending for years together and some of them are becoming infructuous as most of the judicial time is wasted in dealing with a large number of fresh PILs raising the issues on small matters which do not raise the issues of public importance. Hence, time has come when this Court should discourage frivolous and petty matters.

46. Accordingly, the public interest litigations are dismissed. However, we make it clear that dismissal of these public interest litigations shall not cause any prejudice to the cause espoused therein. It is left open to the petitioners to work out other remedy available under the law.

47. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1460

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 01.10.2019
BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DEVENDRA KUMAR UPADHYAYA, J.
THE HON'BLE MOHD. FAIZ ALAM KHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal (u/s 378(4) of Cr.P.C.) No. 167 of 2019

State of U.P. ...Applicant
Versus
Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Applicant:
Government Advocate

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302/34,201/34 and Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Circumstantial evidence - Principle - it was the duty of the prosecution to prove all the circumstances from which an inference of guilt may have been drawn and also it was the duty of prosecution to show and establish that the proved circumstances are of a definite tendency and they unerringly point towards the guilt of the accused persons and these circumstances, if taken cumulatively are forming a chain, so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that in all probability the crime has been committed by the respondent only and by none else.

B. Motive - the admitted case of the prosecution is that the deceased and accused persons were very close friends. It is also admitted that there was no enmity of the deceased with respondent. No motive of the crime has been assigned to the respondent, which may persuade him to commit crime.

C. A criminal trial proceeds with the presumption of innocence of the accused persons and this presumption of innocence stands fortified with the acquittal of the accused persons. So, very strong and cogent reasons must exist for interfering in the judgment of acquittal. The view taken by the trial court was a probable and logical view and the judgment of the trial court cannot be said to be not based on material on record or illegal or illogical or improbable. Therefore, the application to grant leave to file appeal is dismissed. (Para 15,16,17,18,19,20 & 21)

Criminal Appeal dismissed (E-6)

Precedent followed: -

1. Ajmer Singh Vs St. of Punj. 1953 SCR 418

2. Sanwat Singh & ors. Vs St. of Raj. AIR 1961 SC 715

3. Sheo Swarup & ors. Vs King Emperor AIR 1934 PC 227 (2)

4. Sadhu Saran Singh Vs St. of U.P.& ors.2016 CrL. J. 1908

5. St. of Mah. Vs Sujay Mangesh Poyarekar MANU/SC/8073/2008

6. Hanumant Vs St. of M.P. MANU/SC/0037/1952

7. Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs St. of Mah. AIR 1984 SC 1622

8. Jaharlal Das Vs St. of Ori. MANU/SC/0586/1991: (1991) 3 SCC 27

9. Varkey Joseph Vs St. of Kerala MANU/SC/0295/1993

10. Arjun Marik & ors. Vs St. of Bihar MANU/SC/1037/1994: 1994 Supp (2) SCC 372

11. St. of Goa Vs Sanjay Thakran & anr. MANU/SC/7187/2007 (2007) 3 SCC 755

12. Bodhraj alias Bodha & ors. Vs St. of J&K MANU/SC/0723/2002

13. Jaswant Gir Vs St. of Punj. MANU/SC/2585/2005

14. Mohibur Rahman & anr. Vs St. of Assam MANU/SC/0690/2002

15. Rishi Pal Vs St. of Uk. MANU/SC/0081/2013

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J.)

1. Heard Shri Chandra Shekhar Pandey, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. By means of instant application moved under Section 378(3) Cr.P.C. the State has requested to grant leave to appeal against impugned judgment and order dated 6.7.2019, passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge (FTC), Pratapgarh, in Sessions Trial No. 44/2013, 'State Versus Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan son of Rama Shankar @ Bablu Pandey', arising out of Case Crime No. 215 of 2012, under Sections 302/34, 201/34 IPC, Police Station Fatanpur, District Pratapgarh, whereby the respondent/ accused Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan has been acquitted from the charges under Sections 302/34, 201/34 IPC.

3. The prosecution story as emerges out of the record is that on 24.9.2012 the informant, namely, Shobhnath Srivastava son of Mahadev Srivastava, R/o Village Ramapur Kundaha, Police Station Sujanganj, District Jaunpur submitted a written application to S.H.O., Police Station Fatanpur alleging that on 16.09.2012 at about 4 P.M. accused persons Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan (respondent) came to his house and took his maternal grand-son, Suraj Kumar Srivastava with them. When his wife inquired from Suraj Kumar Srivastava as to where he was going, he replied that he would be back within 10 minutes and he accompanied the accused persons. It was further alleged in the application that since his departure with the above accused persons, Suraj Kumar Srivastava never returned back and when he went to the houses of the accused persons on 16.9.2012, he got information that they were also absconding since 16.09.2012. On 22.09.2012, he got information that near Jagnipur Nala a dead body has been found which was buried and photo of the same has been kept in Police Station Fatanpur. He went to the Police Station Fatanpur along with other villagers and identified the deceased as his maternal grand-son (Suraj Kumar Srivastava) by the photograph of the dead body and other material and thereafter they identified the dead body at the mortuary. His maternal grand-son, Suraj Kumar Srivastava has been murdered and buried by the accused persons.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid application a First Information Report was registered against the respondent Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan and Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu, under Sections 302, 201 IPC at case Crime No. 215/ 2012 and after entering the the substance of the FIR in G.D. the investigation was entrusted to Sri Sabhajit Mishra S.O. Fatanpur.

5. The postmortem on the body of the deceased, Suraj Kumar Srivastava was performed by P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Verma on 23.09.2012, who found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased.

(i) Ligature mark 31cm. x 2cm. all around the neck below, thyroid cartilage. Ecchymosis was found beneath the ligature mark.

(ii) contusion 5 cm. x 5 cm. on the left side of chest. 6 cm. below left nipple.

(iii) Contusion 9 cm. x 7 cm. on the right side of the chest. 4 cm. below the right nipple.

(iv) Contusion 15 cm. x 12 cm. on scapular region towards the left side.

(v) Contusion 12 cm. x 22 cm. on scapular region towards the back of right side.

(vi) The right ring finger was amputated and its upper and middle part was missing.

The possible time of death of the deceased was determined as 3 to 5 days before the postmortem and the death was stated to have occurred due to asphyxia due to ante-mortem strangulation.

6. The Investigating Officer after taking down the disclosure statement of the respondent recovered a Phawra, on the pointing of respondent and after completion of investigation filed charge sheet against the above mentioned accused persons Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan.

7. The case being exclusively triable by the court of sessions was committed to the sessions court and charges under Sections 302 read with 34 and 201 read with 34 IPC were framed against the respondent and another accused person.In response to the charges framed against the respondent accused- respondent pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

The other accused person, namely, Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu absconded during the course of trial and his file was separated from the file of the instant respondent and vide impugned judgment and order, the judgment was passed only with regard to the respondent Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan (respondent).

8. The prosecution in order to bring home the charges against the respondent relied on following documentary evidence:-

(i) Application of information (Ex. Ka-1)
(ii) Postmortem report (Ex. Ka-2)
(iii) Chick FIR (Ex. Ka-3)
(iv) G.D. FIR (Ex. Ka-4)
(v) G.D. pertaining to information of dead body, (Ex. Ka-5)
(vi) Site Plan (Ex. Ka-5-A)
(vii) Seizure memo pertaining to recovery of spade (Favda) (Ex. Ka-6)
(viii) Charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-7)
(ix) Site Plan of recovery site (Ex. Ka-8)
(x) Inquest report (Ex. Ka-9)
(xi) Report Police Station (Ex. Ka-10)
(xii) Letter to C.M.O (Ex. Ka-11)
(xiii) Letter to R.I. (Ex. Ka-12)
(xiv) Letter to C.M.O. (Ex. Ka-13)
(xv) Police form-13 (Ex. Ka-14)
(xv) Photo lash (Ex. Ka-15)
(xvi) Sample of seal (Ex. Ka-16)

Apart from the above mentioned documentary evidence the prosecution also produced following witnesses in support of its case:-

(i) P.W.1- Shobhanath Srivastava (Informant)
(ii) P.W.2- Smt. Reena Srivastava, (wife of the deceased/ eye witness)
(iii) P.W.3- Smt. Sarswati (grand-mother of the deceased)
(iv) P.W.4- Shri Vinod Kumar Srivastava (brother of the deceased)
(v) P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Verma (who conducted the postmortem)
(vi) P.W.6- Constable Chhedi lal Yadv (Scribe Chick FIR and G.D.)
(vii) P.W.7- S.H.O. Sabhajit Mishra (Investigating Officer)

9. After closing of the evidence of the prosecution statement of the respondent- Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan was recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C., who declined to have committed any offence. He further stated that P.Ws.1 to 4 have given false evidence and that he has been falsely roped in by the police only on the basis of doubt. However, no evidence was produced by the respondent in his defence.

The trial court after taking into consideration the oral and documentary evidence produced by the prosecution found that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the respondent and acquitted the respondent- accused of the charges framed against him. Aggrieved by the judgment and order of the trial court the instant appeal along with an application to grant leave has been preferred by the State.

10. Learned AGA while pressing the application for grant of leave to file instant appeal submits that the court below has committed material illegality in appreciating the evidence available on record. The court below has failed to take into consideration that the respondent along with other co-accusedperson took the deceased- Suraj Kumar Srivastava with them on 16.09.2012 at 4 P.M. from the house of the deceased. It was proved on record that the deceased as well as two accused persons were last seen together by the grand-mother of the deceased i.e. Smt. Saraswati Srivastava and when she inquired as to where he was going, the deceased, Suraj Kumar Srivastava replied that he will come back within ten minutes and he departed with the accused persons on a motorcycle.

He further submits that P.W.1- Shobhanath Srivastava on 16.09.2012 at 5 P.M. had also seen the deceased with respondent and other accused person on a motorcycle, when he was returning from the market. He further submits that P.W.4- Vinod Kumar Srivastava who is also the brother of the informant has also testified that on 16.09.2012 at about 4 P.M. respondent- Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan and Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu came to the house of Suraj Kumar Srivastava and took him with them on a motorcycle and his dead body was recovered on 22.9.2012.

Highlighting the above factual matrix, learned AGA submits that the evidence of the above mentioned eye witnesses clearly establishes the fact that the respondent and another accused person Imtiyaz Ahmad @ Guddu took the deceased Suraj Kumar Srivastava on 16.09.2012 at about 4 P.M. with them and since then the whereabouts of the deceased was not known and his dead body was recovered on 22.09.2012 near a Nala and by virtue of Section 106 of Evidence Act burden is on the accused persons to show as to what happened to the deceased and if they failed to give any reasonable explanation than they will be held liable for the offence.He further submits that a Favda (spade) whereby the body of the deceased was buried has also been recovered on the pointing out of the respondent.

He further submits that the court below has committed illegality in acquitting the respondent in terms of the theory of 'last seen together' it was for the respondent to show as to where and in what manner they departed from the deceased or what happened to the deceased after respondent and Guddu took him with them on motorcycle.

He further submits that the court below has not considered the proved circumstances available against the accused persons and disbelieved the evidence of prosecution in a cursory manner while it was proved on record that the crime has been committed only and only by the respondent and another accused person and in the facts and circumstances of the case, the State be granted leave to file instant appeal in order to challenge the order of the court below.

11. Having heard learned AGA for the State, we find that the instant case is based purely on circumstantial evidence as there is no witness or evidence who claims to have seen the commission of the offence. An FIR of the incident has been lodged by Shri Shobhanath Srivastva on 24.09.2012 at Police Station Fatanpur, with regard to the fact that the respondent- Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan as well as Guddu @ Imtiyaz Ahmad took the deceased, Suraj Kumar Srivastava with them on 16.09.2012 at 4 P.M. and he along with other villagers identified the dead body of the deceased in the postmortem house after the same was recovered on 22.09.2012, from near Nala and was kept in mortuary on 23.09.2012.

12. Before proceeding further, it appears in the interest of justice that a survey of the testimony of the prosecution witness be made so that the evidence on record may be appreciated in a better way in the back ground of the submissions made by the learned AGA.

P.W.1- Shobhanath Srivastava, is the informant of the FIR. He in his statement has stated that on 16.09.2012 at about 3 P.M. he went to Jagnipur Market and when he was returning from there he saw a motorcycle where on Bhaiyan Pandey, his maternal grand-son, Suraj Kumar Srivastava and Guddu were sitting together. When he arrived at home, he asked his wife as to where Suraj Kumar Srivastava had gone, to which she replied that Suraj Kumar Srivastva had gone with Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan and will return in 10 minutes.This witness further stated that when Suraj Kumar Srivastava did not return in the night he started inquiring from the next morning and went to the houses of the accused persons and he was told by ladies of their houses that Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan had also not returned in the night. He presumed that these three persons together might have gone somewhere in order to earn bread for their families. One Ram Chandra of his villageis doing some construction work in bombay and these three persons were employed with him in Mumbai.

He further stated that on 22.09.2012, he got information that a dead body has been found buried in the land and the same has been taken by the police of PS Fatanpur. He, on 23.9.2012 went to Fatanpur Police Station and identified the deceased by a photograph of the body as well as the clothes and other belongings of the deceased. He also identified the body of Suraj Kumar Srivastava at mortuary at District Hospital, Pratapgarh. He further stated that he has every reason to believe that his 'Nati' has been done to death by the aforesaid accused persons. Suraj Kumar Srivastava was not having any enmity with accused persons. Wife of Suraj Kumar Srivastava was not in the village at the time of the death of the deceased. When she came, she informed that the deceased was having enmity with Ram Chandra due to monetory transaction and deceased had also left employment of Ram Chandra on this basis.

P.W.2- Smt. Reena Srivastava is the wife of the deceased, Suraj Kumar Srivastava, who admitted in her statement that on 16.09.2012 when her husband was taken by the accused persons she was not present at her house and she was in Mumbai.She returned from Mumbai on 25.09.2012 and was informed by his father and mother-in-law about the incident. She further stated that on 22.09.2012 she was informed by her father-in-law about the death of the deceased and also that her father-in-law identified the body of the deceased at mortuary of Pratapgarh. She has further stated that there was some dispute over monetory transaction between her husband and Ram Chandra of her village and due to this her husband had left the employment of Ram Chandra. She further stated that Ram Chandra also intimidated her husband to join his employment or he will be done to death. The incident has been committed on the basis of enmity with Ram Chandra.

P.W.3- Smt. Sarswati has testified pertaining to the fact that on 16.09.2012 at about 4 P.M., when she was at home, deceased Suraj Kumar Srivastava was taken by Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan. On being asked by her, Suraj Kumar Srivastava informed that he will be back within ten minutes. She further stated that after some time her husband returned from the market and inquired as to where Suraj Kumar Srivastava had gone along with Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan, she informed her husband that Suraj Kumar Srivastava had gone with the accused persons and will come back within ten minutes. However, he did not return there after and the body of the deceased, Suraj Kumar Srivastava was found on 22.0-9.2012 in a buried condition. She further stated that when the accused persons were taking Suraj Kumar Srivastava with them. She did not know as to who has murdered Suraj Kumar Srivastava but he was tkaen by Guddu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan.

P.W.4- Vinod Kumar Srivastava has stated in his statement that Guudu and Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan were close friends and they visited each other houses frequently and were generally seen together. He corroborated the incident of going of Suraj Kumar Srivastava with accused persons on 16.09.2012 at 4 P.M. and claimed that he was present at the main door of the house. He also stated that on being asked by the wife of the informant as to where they were going, Suraj Kumar Srivastava replied that he will be back within ten minutes. He also stated that on 22.09.2012 they got information about a dead body found buried near Jagnipur Nala and they identified the same as of Suraj Kumar Srivastava in Pratapgarh mortuary.

P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Verma, who conducted post mortem on the body deceased,in his statement has found six injuries on the body of the deceased and all those injuries have been elaborately discussed herein before at para no. 5 of this judgment. He also stated to have found that the death of deceased has been caused due to asphyxia occurred on account of strangulation. He proved postmortem report in his hand writing and signatures.

P.W.6- Constable Chhedi Lal Yadav has stated to have prepared the chick FIR on 24.09.2012 and also to have written an entry in general diary at Rapat No. 31 time 17 hours on 24.09.2012 and has proved the chick FIR, G.D. and information of the recovery of the dead body as Ex. Ka-3, 4, and 5, respectively.

P.W.7- S.H.O. Sabhajit Mishra is the Investigating Officer in the instant matter, who has proved to have prepared the site plan and other necessary papers for the purpose of the postmortem from Ex. Ka-5A to Ka-8. He also proved to have prepared the inquest report and other necessary papers from Ex. Ka-10 to Ka-16. He further stated to have recovered Favda (spade) on the pointing out of the deceased Ram Shringar Pandey @ Bhaiyan.

13. Perusal of the judgment of the subordinate court reveals that the trial Court found that the case of the prosecution has not been proved beyond reasonable doubts on following points:-

(i) The case of prosecution is based on circumstantial evidence as no body has seen the crime being committed by the accused persons.

(ii) The FIR has been lodged after delay of 08 days i.e. on 24.09.2012 and no explanation of such delay has been given. Even no missing report pertaining to the deceased was lodged and also that no sincere efforts were made to search the deceased.

(iii) Allegation of taking deceased by accused persons has been imputed with regard to 16.09.2012 at 4 P.M. and dead body of the deceased has been found on 22.09.2012 and there is no evidence that the deceased, in between this duration, has been seen by any one in the company of the accused persons.

(iv) P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Verma, who conducted the postmortem on the body of the deceased has opined that the deceased was done to death about 03 to 05 days before the postmortem and not beyond that and according to him the death of the deceased might have occurred from 18.09.2012 to 20.09.2012, while the deceased was allegedly taken by accused persons on 16.09.2012. Therefore there is no close proximity between the point of time when deceased was last seen with respondent and time of death of the deceased.

(v) The Investigating Officer has admitted in his cross examination that the deceased was a criminal.

(vi) All proved circumstance do not form a complete chain and there is possibility that the crime might have been committed by any other person.

(vii) No motive of crime has been alleged. Per contra it is admitted to the prosecution that the accused persons and deceased were very closed friends and were usually seen together.Enmity of deceased with accused persons is neither alleged nor proved. All prosecution witnesses admitted that the accused persons and deceased frequently visited each other houses and they were childhood friends.

(viii) The recovery of spade (Favda) at the instance of accused-respondent is highly doubtful for the following reasons:-

(a) Favda was not presented before any Magistrate.

(b) No signature either of the accused or witnesses were found on the level affixed on Favda.

(c) The evidence of P.W.7-Sabhajit Mishra, Investigating Officer is not believable on the point of recovery of the Favda when he stated that this will only be known to the accused- respondent from where he has recovered Favda. He admitted in his statement that he did not have any idea as to at what distance he was standing when accused was recovering Favda. He admitted that he even can not say whether Favda was recovered from inside the water of Nala or from land .

(ix) Suspicion howsoever strong could not take place of proof.

(x) It is not proved by the prosecution that it is only and only the accused who has committed the crime.

14. The question as to how the application for grant of leave to appeal made under Section 378(3) of the Code should be decided by the High Court and what are the parameters which this Court should keep in mind remains no more 'res integra '. This Issue was examined by the Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Ajmer Singh v. State of Punjab, 1953 SCR 418 wherein the accused was acquitted by the trial Court but was convicted by the High Court in an appeal against acquittal filed by the State. The aggrieved accused approached Apex Court. It was contended by him that there were 'no compelling reasons' for setting aside the order of acquittal and due and proper weight had not been given by the High Court to the opinion of the trial Court as regards the credibility of witnesses seen and examined by him. It was also contended that the High Court committed an error of law and the Hon'ble

Supreme Court found substance in the argument that when a strong 'prima facie' case is made out against an accused person it is his duty to explain the circumstances appearing in evidence against him and he cannot take shelter behind the presumption of innocence and cannot state that the law entitles him to keep his lips sealed. It was further held that in an appeal, the High Court had full power to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal was founded ...

Upholding the contention, it has also been held in para 6 as under ;

"We think this criticism is well-founded. After an order of acquittal has been made, the presumption of innocence is further reinforced by that order, and that being so, the trial court's decision can be reversed not on the ground that the accused had failed to explain the circumstances appearing against him but only for very substantial and compelling reasons."

In the case of Sanwat Singh and others v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1961 SC 715 after placing the reliance on the judgment given by Privy Council in Sheo Swarup and others vs. The King Emperor AIR 1934 PC 227 (2) and many other authroities Hon'ble the Apex Court on the point in issue held as under :-

" Para 16- The foregoing discussion yields the following results :

(1) an appellate court has full power to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded; (2) the principles laid down in Sheo Swarup's case afford a correct guide for the appellate court's approach to a case in disposing of such an appeal; and (3) the different phraseology used in the judgments of this Court, such as, (i) "substantial and compelling reasons", (ii) "good and sufficiently cogent reasons", and (iii) "strong reasons" are not intended to curtail the undoubted power of an appellate court in an appeal against acquittal to review the entire evidence and to come to its own conclusion; but in doing so it should not only consider every matter on record having a bearing on the questions of fact and the reasons given by the court below in support of its order of acquittal in its arriving at a conclusion on those facts, but should also express those reasons in its judgment, which lead it to hold that the acquittal was not justified".

Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others reported in 2016 CrL. J. 1908 has considered this difference and has observed as under:

"18 Generally, an appeal against acquittal has always been altogether on a different pedestal from that of an appeal against conviction. In an appeal against acquittal where the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced, the appellate court would interfere with the order of acquittal only when there is perversity of fact and law. However, we believe that the paramount consideration of the Court is to do substantial justice and avoid miscarriage of justice which can arise by acquitting the accused who is guilty of an offence. A miscarriage of justice that may occur by the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of an innocent. This Court, while enunciating the principles with regard to the scope of powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, in Sambasiva V. State of Kerala 1998 SCC (Cri) 1320 has held:

"The principles with regard to the scope of the powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal, are well settled. The powers of the appellate court in an appeal against acquittal are no less than in an appeal against conviction. But where on the basis of evidence on record two views are reasonably possible the appellate court cannot substitute its view in the place of that of the trial court. It is only when the approach of the trial in acquitting an accused is found to be clearly erroneous in its consideration of evidence on record and in deducing conclusions therefrom that the appellate court can interfere with the order of acquittal."

19. This Court, in several cases, has taken the consistent view that the appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal, has no absolute restriction in law to review and relook the entire evidence on which the order of acquittal is founded. If the appellate court, on scrutiny, finds that the decision of the court below is based on erroneous views and against settled position of law, then the interference of the appellate court with such an order is imperative."

In State of Maharashtra vs. Sujay Mangesh Poyarekar MANU/SC/8073/2008 Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

"21. Now, Section 378 of the Code provides for filing of appeal by the State in case of acquittal. Sub-section (3) declares that no appeal "shall be entertained except with the leave of the High Court". It is, therefore, necessary for the State where it is aggrieved by an order of acquittal recorded by a Court of Session to file an application for leave to appeal as required by sub-section (3) of Section 378 of the Code. It is also true that an appeal can be registered and heard on merits by the High Court only after the High Court grants leave by allowing the application filed under sub-section (3) of Section 378 of the Code.

22. In our opinion, however, in deciding the question whether requisite leave should or should not be granted, the High Court must apply its mind, consider whether prima facie case has been made out or arguable points have been raised and not whether the order of acquittal would or would not be set aside.

23. It cannot be laid down as an abstract proposition of law of universal application that each and every petition seeking leave to prefer an appeal against an order of acquittal recorded by a trial Court must be allowed by the appellate Court and every appeal must be admitted and decided on merits. But it also cannot be overlooked that at that stage, the Court would not enter into minute details of the prosecution evidence and refuse leave observing that the judgment of acquittal recorded by the trial Court could not be said to be `perverse' and, hence, no leave should be granted.

24. We may hasten to clarify that we may not be understood to have laid down an inviolable rule that no leave should be refused by the appellate Court against an order of acquittal recorded by the trial Court. We only state that in such cases, the appellate Court must consider the relevant material, sworn testimonies of prosecution witnesses and record reasons why leave sought by the State should not be granted and the order of acquittal recorded by the trial Court should not be disturbed. Where there is application of mind by the appellate Court and reasons (may be in brief) in support of such view are recorded, the order of the Court may not be said to be illegal or objectionable. At the same time, however, if arguable points have been raised, if the material on record discloses deeper scrutiny and reappreciation, review or reconsideration of evidence, the appellate Court must grant leave as sought and decide the appeal on merits. In the case on hand, the High Court, with respect, did neither. In the opinion of the High Court, the case did not require grant of leave. But it also failed to record reasons for refusal of such leave."

15. From the above decisions some general principles which may emerge are that the appellate court is having full power to review or re-appreciate or reconsider the evidence upon which the order/ judgment of acquittal has been based and there is no limitation, restriction in exercise of such power by the appellate court and the appellate court may reach at it is own conclusion on the same set of evidence, both on question of facts as well as on law. However, it is to be kept in mind that in case of acquittal, the presumption of innocence which was initially with the accused persons has been fortified, reaffirmed, strengthened and also the golden principle which runs through the Web of criminal jurisprudence is that if two reasonable and logical conclusions can be derived on the basis of evidence on record, the appellate court should not normally disturb the finding of the trial court. But simultaneously it is also to be kept in mind that the benefit of only a reasonable doubt can be given to accused persons in a criminal trial. The accused persons cannot claim the benefit of each and every doubt. To get the benefit of a doubt the same has to pass the test of reasonableness and a reasonable doubt is a doubt which emerges out of the evidence itself.

16. The law with regard to appreciation of circumstantial evidence has been clearly enunciated in the case of Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/0037/1952 wherein Hon'ble Supreme Court held as follows:

"12 ...It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established, and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the Accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the Accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the Accused"

Hon'ble Apex Court in the case Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR, 1984 SC 1622 laid down that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused based on circumstantial evidence can be said to be fully established;

"1. the circumstances from which the conclusion of the guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established.

2. the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

3. the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

4. they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

5.there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

In Jaharlal Das v. State of Orissa, MANU/SC/0586/1991 : (1991) 3 SCC 27, it was held that even if the offence is a shocking one, the gravity of offence cannot by itself overweigh as far as legal proof is concerned. In cases depending highly upon the circumstantial evidence, there is always a danger that the conjecture or suspicion may take the place of legal proof. The court has to be watchful and ensure that the conjecture and suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The court must satisfy itself that various circumstances in the chain of evidence should be established clearly and that the completed chain must be such as to Rule out a reasonable likelihood of the innocence of the Accused. It is further held that in Para 8, in order to sustain the conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence, the following three conditions must be satisfied:

i.) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established; ii.) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused; and iii.) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else, and it should also be incapable of explanation on any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused.

In Varkey Joseph v. State of Kerala, MANU/SC/0295/1993, it was held that suspicion is not the substitute for proof. There is a long distance between 'may be true' and 'must be true' and the prosecution has to travel all the way to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

Therefore, keeping in view the above settled legal position the law pertaining to cases based on circumstantial evidence can be summarized in following terms:

1. The circumstances relied upon by the prosecution which lead to an inference to the guilt of the accused must be proved beyond doubt;

2. The circumstances should unerringly point towards the guilt of the accused;

3. The circumstances should be linked together in such a manner that the cumulative effect of the chain formed by joining the links is so complete that it leads to only one conclusion i.e. the guilt of the accused;

4. That there should be no probability of the crime having been committed by a person other than the Accused.

It is in the light of the aforesaid law that we have to consider the evidence and the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution before the court below. In a case based on circumstantial evidence it is always better for the courts to deal with each circumstance separately and then link the circumstances which have been proved to arrive at a conclusion. Therefore it is incumbent for this Court to see whether the Court Below has committed any error in coming to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt or whether the view of the Court below is a probable view.

17. At this juncture it is also in the interest of things to have a look about the legal position pertaining to law related to "last seen together'.

In Arjun Marik and Ors. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/1037/1994 : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 372, Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that the solitary circumstance of the accused and victim being last seen will not complete the chain of circumstances for the Court to record a finding that it is consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. No conviction on that basis alone can, therefore, be founded.

We may also refer to State of Goa v. Sanjay Thakran and Anr. MANU/SC/7187/2007,(2007) 3 SCC 755 wherein the Ho'nble Supreme Court held that in the absence of any other corroborative piece of evidence to complete the chain of circumstances it is not possible to fasten the guilt on the accused on the solitary circumstance of the two being seen together. Reference may also be made to Bodhraj alias Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir MANU/SC/0723/2002, wherein the Ho'nble Supreme Court held:

"The last-seen theory comes into play where the time-gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In the absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together, it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases..."

In Jaswant Gir v. State of Punjab MANU/SC/2585/2005, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that it is not possible to convict appellant solely on basis of 'last seen' evidence in the absence of any other links in the chain of circumstantial evidence, the Court extended benefit of doubt to accused persons.

In Mohibur Rahman and Anr. v. State of Assam MANU/SC/0690/2002, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the circumstance of last seen together does not by itself necessarily lead to the inference that it was the accused who committed the crime. It depends upon the facts of each case. There may however be cases where, on account of close proximity of place and time between the event of the accused having been last seen with the deceased and the factum of death, a rational mind may be persuaded to reach an irresistible conclusion that either the accused should explain how and in what circumstances the victim suffered the death or should own the liability for the homicide.

Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rishi Pal V State of Uttarakhand, MANU/SC/0081/2013 held that requirement in a case based on circumstantial evidence is that not only should all the circumstances sought to be proved against the accused be established beyond a reasonable doubt but also that such circumstances form so complete a chain as leaves no option for the Court except to hold that the accused is guilty of the offences with which he is charged.

18. Keeping in view the aforesaid legal position with regard to the disposal of application to grant leave to file appeal against acquittal as also pertaining to the appreciation of evidence with regard to the cases based on circumstantial evidence particularly on last seen together theory, perusal of the evidence available on record would reveal that the admitted case of the prosecution is that the deceased and accused persons were very close friends. It is also admitted that there was no enmity of the deceased with respondent. No motive of the crime has been assigned to the respondent, which may persuade him to commit crime. Need not to emphasize that in a case purely based on circumstantial evidence, motive assumed significance. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, keeping in view the fact that the deceased and respondent are childhood friends, the motive assumes more significance and in absence of any motive or enmity, the case of the prosecution is adversely affected.

It is also an admitted case of the prosecution that one Ram Chandra of the same village, with whom Suraj Kumar Srivastava was working in Mumbai was having enmity with the deceased on the basis of some dispute pertaining to payment of money.

There is no close proximity in the time when the deceased went with the respondent and other accused person and the probable time of his death as determined by P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Srivastava. There is either no close proximity between the place i.e. where from the deceased accompanied the respondent and other accused person and the place where his dead body has been found. In absence of any close proximity in the time and place, no conclusive inference can be drawn that the death of the deceased has been caused only and only by the respondent.

Ocular evidence produced by the prosecution, in the facts and circumstances of the case, is also not corroborated by the medical evidence as P.W.5- Dr. Arvind Kumar Verma has stated that the deceased died between 18th to 20th September, 2012. Admittedly the case of the prosecution is that the deceased accompanied the respondent in the evening of 16th September, 2012 and from 16th September, 2012 to 18th September, 2012 no body has seen the deceased with the accused person and there is ample time and opportunity for any one to commit the crime. The circumstances admitted to be proved by the prosecution are not such whereby the only hypothesis which may be drawn is that in any case the crime has been committed by the respondent as there is sufficient time from 15 to 18 September, 2012 for any other person to come into play and commit the crime. It is also relevant that the deceased was stated to be of a criminal background and keeping in view the criminal background of the deceased, the possibility of any other person committing the crime could not be ruled out.

19. We have very carefully perused the evidence of prosecution witnesses in the back ground of settled principles for appreciation of circumstantial evidence and have found that cumulative effect of the evidence given by all these factual witnesses before the trial Court would certainly not attract the satisfaction, which may be termed as proof beyond reasonable doubt. Needless to say that the instant case was purely based on circumstantial evidence as nobody had seen the respondents committing murder of deceased Suraj and it was the duty of the prosecution to prove all the circumstances from which an inference of guilt may be drawn and also it was the duty of prosecution to show and establish that the proved circumstances are of a definite tendency and they unerringly point towards the guilt of the accused persons and these circumstances, if taken cumulatively are forming a chain, so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that in all probability the crime has been committed by the respondent only and by none else and it is also incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis then that of the guilt of the respondents.

Therefore keeping in view the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the trial court was justified in recording a finding of acquittal as the prosecution failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubts specifically on the touchstone of the settled principles pertaining to appreciation of evidence with regard to circumstantial evidence specially the "last seen theory'.The circumstances attempted to be proved are not such whereby any other hypothesis is not possible as there is sufficient time from 16 to 18 for any other person(s) to come into play and commit the murder in the back ground that deceased was stated to be of criminal back ground. The judgment of the court below can not be termed either perverse or not based on evidence.

20. In view the above factual and legal position, we are of considered opinion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and it cannot be said that the view taken by the Trial Judge is perverse or unreasonable. Per contra the view taken by the trial Court is a possible view and the judgment is well reasoned and well discussed.

21. A criminal trial proceeds with the presumption of innocence of the accused persons and this presumption of innocence stands fortified with the acquittal of the accused persons. So, very strong and cogent reasons must exist for interfering in the judgment of acquittal. Keeping in view the aforesaid inherent weaknesses of the prosecution case, we are of the considered view that the view taken by the trial court was a probable and logical view and the judgment of the trial court cannot be said to be not based on material on record or illegal or illogical or improbable. Therefore, we are satisfied that there is absolutely no hope of success in this appeal and accordingly, no interference in the judgment of the trial Court is called for. Hence, the prayer for grant of leave to appeal is hereby rejected and the application to grant leave to file appeal is dismissed.

22. Since application for grant of leave to appeal has been rejected, the memorandum of appeal also does not survive. Consequently, the appeal is also dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1474

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SURYA PRAKASH KESARWANI, J.

Writ-A No. 47311 of 2000

Dr. Vishwanath Mishra ...Petitioner
Versus
XIIIth Additional District Judge Varanasi & Ors. ... Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri A.K. Rai, Sri Anil Kumar Rai, Sri S.N. Singh, Sri Vishnu Singh, Sri Vimlendra Rai

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Hem Pratap Singh, Sri Vipin Sinha

A. U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act. 1972 - Section 16(1) B, Section 21- application for release of the accommodation which was in occupation of the tenant - Rent Revision under Section 18 of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act. 1972 - Section 182 in The Indian Contract Act, 1872 - Agent is the extended hand of principal. (Para 5,6,19 & 23)

Held:- An agent who receives property or money from or for his principal obtains no interest for himself in the property. An agent holds the principal's property only on behalf of the principal. He acquires no interest for himself in such property. He cannot deny principal's title to property. Nor he can convert it into any other kind or use. His possession is the possession of the principal for all purposes. The agent has no possession of his own. Caretaker's possession is the possession of the principal. The possession of the agent is the possession of the principal and in view of the fiduciary relationship he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. Thus, agent is the extended hand of principal. Therefore, father of the petitioner as agent and even assuming the petitioner also to be an agent, has acquired no interest in the disputed property of the Principal and in view of his fiduciary relationship, he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. (Para 33)

Writ petition dismissed (E-7)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Dr. Sita Ram Gandhi Vs IVth Addl. Distt. Judge & anr. 1983 ARC 782

2. Brij Bhushan Sharma vs. Kamla Prasad (2011) 3 ARC 381

3. M.M. Quasim Vs Manohar Lal sharma & ors. (1981) 3 SCC 36

4. Purqan Ahmad alias Mana & anr. Vs VIIth A.D.J. & ors. (2005) All LJ 119

5. Mam Chand Vs Pramodini Srivastava (2014) 5 ADJ 231

6. Southern Roadways Ltd. Madurai represented by its Secretary Vs S.M. Krishnan (1989) 4 SCC 603

7. Smt. Chandrakantaben Vs Vadilal Bapalal Modi & anr. (1989) 2 SCC 630

8. Ichchapur Industrial Cooperative Society Ltd. Vs Competent Authority Oil and Natural Gas Commission & anr. (1997)2 SCC 42

9. K.V. Muthu Vs Angamuthu Ammal (1997) 2 SCC 53

10. Damadilal & Ors. VS Parashram & ors. (1976) 4 SCC 855

11. Munnu Yadav Vs Ram Kumar Yadav & Anr S.C.C. Revision No.86 of 2019

12. Raj Mohan Krishna Vs Second Addl. Distt. Judge AIR 1993 All. 40

13. Khem Chand Vs IV A.D.J. (1989) 2 ARC 344

14. Vinod Kumar Agrawal Vs XVIIth Addl. Distt. Judge Ald. (2013) 6 ALJ 110

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vishnu Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Hem Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the respondent Nos.3/1, 3/2 and 4.

Facts:-

2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that one "Divan Vidyawati Badrinath of Shrinagar (State of Jammu and Kashmir)" was the original owner and landlady of House No.CK-19/8, Mohalla Thatheri Bazar, City Varanasi, which is a four storeyed building. The aforesaid original owner and landlady appointed one Sri Raghunath Mishra as her Agent to look after and collect rent of the aforesaid house and for that purpose, permitted him to use one room of the house at the first floor. The petitioner is the son of the Agent Raghunath Mishra.

3. The aforesaid original owner and landlady bequeathed the house in question to "Sri Vikramajeet Singh, Sanatan Dharm College, Kanpur" which She mentioned in para (e) of her registered will deed dated 11.02.1960, which was approved by Hon'ble Jammu and Kashmir High Court in case No.51 of 1964. In the said document, it was also mentioned that Raghunath Mishra son of Jawahar Lal Mishra was occupying a portion in the house in question as her Agent. When the agent Raghunath Mishra did not furnish account and rent, the original owner and landlady terminated the agent and his licence vide notice dated 29.05.1958. Thereafter, she filed a suit being O.S. No.35 of 1961 (Smt. Vidyawati Devi vs. Raghunath Mishra) in the court of Civil Judge, Varanasi for eviction of Raghunath Mishra, which was decreed by judgment and decree dated 17.05.1988 and she was declared to be the owner of the house in question and Raghunath Mishra to be her Agent and Caretaker and the defendants were directed not to interfere in realisation of rent. Against the judgment dated 17.05.1988, the petitioner filed Civil Appeal No.600 of 1988 (Vishwanath Mishra vs. Narendra Jeet Singh) which was dismissed by judgment dated 30.05.1998 passed by the A.D.J. Vth Varanasi. Against this judgment, the petitioner filed Second Appeal No.1196 of 1998 (Vishwanath Misra vs. Ratan Shankar Chaurasia) in which an interim order dated 03.09.1998 staying the decree subject to depositing Rs.2,500/- per month was passed. The said Second Appeal is stated to be pending.

4. The aforesaid Sri Vikramajeet Singh Sanatan Dharm College, Kanpur passed a resolution dated 02.02.1983 authorising its President Narendra Jeet Singh to execute sale deed of the house in question in favour of Ratan Shankar Chaurasiya and others (respondent Nos.3 and 4 herein) and accordingly a registered sale deed of the house in question dated 25.03.1983 was executed in favour of the aforesaid Ratan Shankar Chaurasiya and others. The aforesaid purchasers got their names mutated in records of Nagar Mahapalika, Varanasi under the order of the Tax Superintendent dated 06.07.1985. As per order of the Additional Commissioner, Nagar Mahapalika, Varanasi dated 05.11.1960, the name of Raghunath Mishra (father of the petitioner) was recorded as Agent of Smt. Vidyawati Badrinath. As per copies of assessments passed by Nagar Mahapalika, Varanasi, the name of Raghunath Mishra is mentioned as Agent of the original owner and landlady Smt. Vidyawati Badrinath.

5. In the house in question, one Smt. Satyabhama Devi was a tenant of some portion on the first floor who died on 02.01.1985. She was having no son but only three daughters, who were married. The petitioner Vishwnath Mishra filed release application dated 10.01.1985 under Section 16(1)(b) of the U.P. Act 13 of 1972 for release of the accommodation which was in occupation of the tenant late Smt. Satyabhama Devi. In his release application, the petitioner stated that he is in bona fide need of the tenanted premises of the first floor for his personal use. A release application was also filed by the respondent Nos.3 and 4 (purchasers of the house by registered sale deed dated 25.03.1983). The release applications were registered as Case No.3 of 1985. By the impugned order dated 22.07.1988, the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi allowed the release application of the respondent Nos.3 and 4 and rejected the release application of the petitioner recording the conclusion as under:-

"मैंने समस्त पत्रावली का सम्यक आवलोकन किया। प्रश्नगत भवन सं0 सी0 के0 19/8 ठठेरी बाजार शहर वाराणसी के भवन स्वामी के निर्धारण को कोई अधिकार इस न्यायालय को नहीं है परन्तु प्रथम अति0 सिविल जज, वाराणसी

महोदय के आदेश दिनांक 17.5.1988 के अन्तर्गत वाद सं0–35 सन् 1961 द्वारा यह तथ्य निर्विवाद रूप से सिद्ध किया जा चुका है कि प्रश्नगत भवन के भवन स्वामी प्रार्थी श्री विश्वनाथ मिश्र नही ं है बल्कि उन्ह ें उससे बेदखल करने का आदेश पारित किया गया है इस प्रकार प्रार्थी श्री विश्वनाथ मिश्र के निर्मुक्ति प्रार्थना पत्र दिना ंक 10.1.85 का ` स्वीकार करने का ` कोई औचित्य ही नही ं है। दीवानी अदालत के आदेश दिनांक 17.5.1988 में वाद बिन्दु सं0–20, 21 व 22 के निर्णय में न्यायालय द्वारा यह निर्णित किया गया है कि वादी सं0–1 श्रीमती दिवानिनी बद्रीनाथ साहिबा द्वारा श्री नरेन्द्रजीत सिंह का ` भवन सं0–सी0के0 19/08 ठठेरी बाजार, वाराणसी का एक्जीक्यूटर उचित ढंग से नियुक्त किया गया। इस प्रकार श्री नरेन्द्रजीत सिंह को आपत्तिकर्तागण श्री रतनशंकर चौरसिया आदि के पक्ष में बयनामा दिनांक 25.3.1983 को करने का (श्री नरेन्द्रजीत सिंह को) पूर्ण अधिकार था और इसके आधार पर प्रश्नगत भवन के वर्तमान भवन स्वामी आपत्तिकर्तागण श्री रतनश ंकर चौरिसिया आदि सिद्ध होते हैं अतः प्रश्नगत भवन का वह भाग जो स्व0 श्रीमती सत्यभामा देवी के किरायेदारी में था तथा जो अब रिक्त है को आपत्तिकर्तागण श्री रतन शकंर चौरसिया आदि के पक्ष में ही निर्मुक्त किया जाना न्यायोचित है। इस प्रश्नगत भवन भाग के सम्बन्ध में अन्य आवेदकों का आवंटन प्रार्थना पत्र निरस्त होने योग्य है।

स्व0 श्रीमती सत्यभामा देवी द्वारा प्रश्नगत भवन संख्या– सी0के 19/8, ठठेरी बाजार शहर वाराणसी के प्रथम तल का एक दो दरी कमरा, एक कोठरी मय दालान व अन्य भाग जो उनके किरायेदारी में था, आपत्तिकर्तागण श्री रजन शंकर चौरसिया आदि के पक्ष में निर्मुक्त किया जाता है। आपैचारिक आदेश निर्गत हा। "

6. Aggrieved with the aforesaid order dated 22.07.1988 passed by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi, the petitioner filed Rent Revision No.150 of 1988 (Dr. Vishwanath Mishra vs. Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi and another) under Section 18 of the U.P. Act 13 of 1972 in which he claimed himself to be the landlord of the house in question on the ground that his grandfather Jawahar Lal Mishra and thereafter his father Raghunath Mishra and now he is in possession of the house in question. The aforesaid Rent Revision No.150 of 1988 (Dr. Vishwanath Mishra vs. Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi and another), was dismissed by the impugned judgment dated 24.10.2000 passed by the XIIIth Additional District Judge, Varanasi. The revisional court recorded its findings as under:

"मैंने एक पक्षीय प्रार्थी को सुना एवं पत्रावली का अध्ययन किया।
विवादित मकान सी.के. 19/8 ठठेरी बाजार, शहर वाराणसी में स्थित है, इस पर विवाद नहीं है। प्रश्नगत भवन के जिस अंश के बारे में, जिसका विवरण प्रार्थी के निर्मुक्ति प्रार्थना–पत्र के अन्त में दिया गया है, निर्मुक्ति आदेश चाहा गया है उसमें श्रीमती सत्यभामा किरायेदार रहीं, जिनकी मृत्यु हो गई, इस पर भी विवाद नहीं है। प्रार्थी निगरानीकर्ता की ओर से यह कहा गया कि अवर न्यायालय ने पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य को नजरन्दाज करते हुए मनमाने तरीके से निर्णय दिया है, जबकि विवादित मकान का वाकई मालिक तरीक प्रार्थी विश्वनाथ मिश्र हैं। अब देखना है कि क्या विवादित मकान का स्वामी पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से प्रार्थी सिद्ध होता है। यह सत्य है कि अधिनियम संख्या–13/72 की धारा–16 (1)(बी) में निर्मुक्ति आदेश पारित करते समय केवल लैण्डलार्ड

देखा जाना आवश्यक है, स्वामित्व देखना आवश्यक नहीं। लेकिन चूंकि इस मामले में विपक्षीगण रतनशंकर चोरसिया आदि ने प्रार्थी को मकान मालिक का केयर टेकर (एजेन्ट) बताया है, इसलिए निर्मुक्ति प्रार्थना–पत्र के निरस्तारण में पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से स्वामित्व पर विचार करना आवश्यक है, क्योंकि एजेन्ट धारा 3 (जे) एक्ट नं0–13/1972 के अनुसार लैण्डलार्ड तो हो सकता है, लेकिन इसी धारा–3 (जी) के अनुसार एजेन्ट लैण्डलार्ड धारा– 16 (अ) अथवा धारा–21 के अन्तर्गत अपनी आवश्यकता व उपयोग के लिए निर्मुक्ति का प्रार्थना –पत्र नहीं दे सकता है। प्रार्थी ने यह कहा है कि विवादित मकान के मालिक पहले उसके बाबा जवाहर मिश्र थे उसके बाद उसके पिता रघुनाथ मिश्र हुए और अब वह मालिक है। स्वामित्व वादी के बाबा को कैसे प्राप्त हुआ, इसके बारे में कहीं कुछ वादी ने नहीं कहा। जब कि विपक्षीगण ने सूची 149 से 19 अदद कागजात दाखिल किया है जिसमें प्रथम कागज प्रार्थना पत्र रघुनाथ सम्वत 1986 का है, जिसमें रघुनाथ मिश्र ने जो प्रार्थी के पिता है यह साफ स्वीकार किया है कि विवादित मकान की मिलकियत से उन्हें कोई ताल्लुकात व वास्ता सरोकार नहीं है। कागज संख्या–156 हुकुमनामा असाढ़ 15 सम्वत 1986 बाबत नियुक्ति रघुनाथ मिश्र एजेन्ट/केयर टेकर है। कागज संख्या–159 नकल वसीयतनामा है, जिसे विद्यावती देवी ने बी.एस.एस.डी. कालेज कानपुर के पक्ष में विवादित मकान का निष्पादित किया है। 35 सन् 1961 मूल वाद की प्रति कागज संख्या–162 है, जिसे विद्यावती देवी ने वादी व उसके पिता के विरूद्ध दाखिल किया है। इसके अलावा कागज संख्या–168 लगायत 188 हिसाब एवं पत्र हैं, जिसे रघुनाथ मिश्र ने दीवानिनी विद्यावती देवी व स्टेट जम्मू कश्मीर को भेजा है। कागज संख्या–194 कर निर्धारण अधिकारी को सन् 1959 में भेजा गया पत्र है। इसमें रघुनाथ मिश्र ने अपने को एजेन्ट आफ अमरनाथ विवादित मकान के सम्बन्ध में बताया है। इन तमाम अभिलेखीय साक्ष्य, जिसका विवरण अवर न्यायालय ने नहीं किया है, से स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि विवादित मकान दीवान स्टेट जम्मू कश्मीर का रहा, बाद में श्रीमती विद्यावती देवी दीवानिनी को प्राप्त हुआ और दिवानिनी ने इस मकान की वसीयत बी0एस0एस0डी0 कालेज कानपुर के पक्ष में कर दी। यह सभी अभिलेख व तथ्य 147 ग शपथ पत्र तो रतन शंकर चौरसिया द्वारा किया गया है से समर्थित है। प्रार्थी की ओर से अपर आयुक्त के निर्णय दिनांकि 5. 11.60 का हवाला देते हुए कहा गया कि विवादित मकान पर नगर महापालिका के कागजात में उसका नाम दर्ज है। मेरे विचार से यह निर्णय जो कागज संख्या 207 है प्रार्थी को लाभ नहीं देता, क्योंकि इसमें प्रार्थी के पिता रघुनाथ मिश्र का नाम बतौर एजेन्ट श्रीमती विद्यावती देवी अंकित है। द्वितीय दाखिल खारिज अपील का निर्णय दिनांकित 24.4.91 जो द्वितीय अपर जिला जज, वाराणसी द्वारा रतन शंकर चौरसिया बनाम नगर महापालिका आदि में पारित किया गया है तथा लघुवाद न्यायाधीश द्वारा विश्वनाथ मिश्र बनाम जगत किशोर मिश्र लघुवाद संख्या–495/79 में जो निर्णय दिनांक 24.8.91 को दिया गया है, इनके आधार पर भी विवादित मकान का स्वामी प्रार्थी नहीं कहा जा सकता, बल्कि मात्र वह एजेन्ट रहा। नगर पालिका, वाराणसी के कर निर्धारण पंजिका की नकल प्रार्थी ने दाखिल किया है, जिसमें भी रघुनाथ मिश्र एजेन्ट बद्रीनाथ अंकित है। इस तरह पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य जिनका विचारण अवर न्यायालय में नहीं किया है, से भी इस स्तर पर यह स्पष्ट है कि वादी अपने पिता के समय से मात्र विवादित मकान का एजेन्ट है। धारा 3 (जे) अधिनियम संख्या–13/72 में वह एजेन्ट के नाते लैण्डलार्ड है, लेकिन उसे अपनी आवश्यकता व जरूरत के लिए मकान को निर्मुक्त कराने का अधिकार नहीं है। प्रार्थी का यह कथन कि अवर न्यायालय का निर्णय स्वामित्व के सन्दर्भ में साक्ष्य के विपरीत है, ऐसा नहीं कहा जा सकता। अवर न्यायालय ने मूल वाद संख्या–35/61 में पारित निर्णय के आधार पर अपना आदेश पारित किया है। उक्त निर्णय में श्रीमती विद्यावती देवी को विवादित मकान का मालिक घोषित किया गया है। प्रार्थी की ओर से यह कहा कि उक्त निर्णय की डिक्री का कियान्वयन माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के अपील संख्या–600/88 विश्वनाथ बनाम नरेन्द्रजीत में पारित आदेश से स्टे है, इसलिए उक्त मूल वाद 35/61 के आधार पर पारित अवर न्यायालय का निर्णय अवैधानिक है। मेरे विचार से प्रार्थी की यह बहस भी उचित नहीं है, क्योंकि मूल वाद संख्या 35/61 में उपरोक्त डिक्री अपास्त नहीं हुई है, इसका कियान्वयन भी स्थगित नहीं है, बल्कि इस डिक्री के आधार पर कराये जाने वाले निष्पादन को माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने अपने आदेश दिनांकित 19.12.88 से स्थागित किया है। अतः ऐसा नहीं माना जा सकता कि मामला संख्या 35/61 में विद्वान सिविल जज द्वारा पारित निर्णय समाप्त हो चुका है। प्रार्थी की ओर से निर्णीत विधि ए.आर.सी. 1980 पृष्ट 388 श्रीमती केलसाश्वासी बनाम चतुर्थ अपर जिला जज आदि, ए.आर.सी. 1981 पृष्ट–43 कुवंर गुलाब बनाम जिला आपूर्ति अधिकारी आदि ए.आर.सी. 1980 पृष्ट–502 तेजभान मदन बनाम द्वितीय अपर जिला जज इलाहाबाद आदि, ए.आर.सी. 1982 पृष्ट–120 रघुनाथ प्रसाद बनाम प्रथम अपर जिला जज, नैनीताल का हवाला दिया गया। इन सभी निर्णीत विलियों में माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने मूलतः यह सिद्धान्त प्रतिपादित किया है कि जहां स्वत्व सम्बन्धी मूढ़ प्रश्न बाद में उठता है वहां स्वत्व सम्बन्धी

ऐसे प्रश्न को निर्णीत करना निर्मुक्ति प्रार्थना–पत्र के निस्तारण के दौरान उचित नहीं है क्योंकि यह संक्षिप्त कार्यवाही है। मेरे विचार से उक्त निर्णीत विधियों का लाभ वर्तमान मामले में प्रार्थी को नहीं दिया जा सकता, क्योंकि यहां पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से प्रार्थना–पत्र के निस्तारण के लिए स्वामित्व का निर्धारण करना पूरी तरह सम्भव है। इस स्तर पर यह प्रश्न निर्णीत किया जा सकता है कि प्रार्थी एजेन्ट है या मालिक। वास्तव में स्वतव का निर्धारण मूल वाद संख्या–35/61 की डिक्री से हो चुका है, जिसका निर्णय भी पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध है। अतः ऐसा नहीं कहा जा सकता कि अवर न्यायालय ने स्वत्व के बारे में अपने क्षेत्राधिकार का अतिक्रमण करते हुए निर्णय दिया है।

अगला बिन्दु अवधारण हेतु यह है कि क्या स्व0 सत्यभामा व प्रार्थी का रिश्ता किरायेदार व लैण्डलार्ड का रहा तथा रतनशंकर चौरसिया अजनगी व्यक्ति हैं और उनसे इस मकाान से कोई मतलब नहीं है। जहां तक सत्यभामा व प्रार्थी के बीच किरायेदार व लैण्डलार्ड के रिश्ते का प्रश्न है, यह पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से साबित है, लेकिन प्रार्थी लैण्डलार्ड किराया वसूलने के लिए एजेन्ट की हैसियत से था, वास्तविक स्वामी की हैसियत से नहीं। प्रारम्भ में सत्यभामा की दो लड़कियों ने आपत्ति दाखिल करके प्रार्थी के प्रार्थना–पत्र का विरोध किया था। दिनेश कुमार विमला अग्रवाल के पुत्र ने कागज संख्या–40 ग अपना शपथ–पत्र देकर विपक्षी रतनशंकर चौरसिया के केस को स्वीकार किया है और यह कहा है कि विवादित मकान दीवान स्टेट जम्मू कश्मीर की सम्पत्ति है और प्रार्थी मात्र उसका केयरटेकर व एजेन्ट है। बाद में दिनेश कुमार अग्रवाल ने अपना एक शपथ पत्र देकर प्रार्थी के केस को स्वीकार किया है, लेकिन इस स्वीकारोक्ति से कोई असर नहीं पड़ता है और इससे प्रार्थी विवादित मकान का वास्तविक स्वामी नहीं बन जायेगा। अधिक से अधिक व एजेन्ट/केयरटेकर होगा। जैसा कि मैंने बताया है कि एजेन्ट अपने उपयोग व आवश्यकता के लिए धारा–16(2)(बी) के अन्तर्गत भवन को निर्मुक्त नहीं करा सकता। रतन शंकर चौरसिया के सम्बन्ध में वादी की ओर से यह कहा गया कि यह मकान व किरायेदार के लिए अजनबी व्यक्ति है। इस सन्दर्भ में जो प्रार्थी का कथन है यह भी मानने योग्य नहीं है। श्रीमती विद्यावती देवी दीवानिनी ने एक वसीयतनामा दिनांक 3.10.60 को निष्पादित करके विवादित मकान का स्वामित्व बी.एस. एस.डी. कालेज कानपुर को दे दिया। उनकी मृत्यु के बाद मकान मालिक बी.एस.एस.डी. कालेज हुआ और बी.एस.एस.डी. कालेज के सचिव तथा अध्यक्ष नरेन्द्र जीत सिंह ने एक बैनामा दिनांक 25.3.83 को निष्पादित करके विवादित भवन रतनशंकर चौरसिया व उनके पुत्रों को बेच दिया। बैनामा की छाया प्रति कागज संख्या–113 पत्रावली में दाखिल है। इस तरह विवादित मकान के सन्दर्भ में रतन शंकर चौरसिया को अजनबी व्यक्ति नहीं कहा जा सकता। प्रार्थी की ओर से यह कहा गया कि रतनशंकर चौरसिया आदिने मूल वाद संख्या–35/61 में पक्ष बनने का प्रार्थना पत्र दिया था, जिसे विद्वान सिविल जज द्वारा स्वीकार कर लिया गया था, जिसके विरूद्ध निगरानी माननीय उच्च न्यायालय में प्रार्थी ने दाखिल की और रतनशंकर चौरसिया आदि पक्ष नहीं बन पाये। मेरे विचार से इससे कोई अन्तर नहीं पड़ता है। यदि मूल वाद संख्या–35/61 के वाद बिन्दुओं का निस्तारण रतन शंकर चौरसिया को बिना पक्ष बनाये किया जा सकता था तो उन्हें पक्ष नहीं बनाया गया, लेकिन उनके पक्ष न बनाये जाने से उनका बैनामा एवं विवादित भवन के सन्दर्भ में दिया गया अधिकार समाप्त नहीं हो जायेगा। प्रार्थी की ओर से एक तथ्य यह रखा गया कि बैनामा निष्पादित करने से रोकने के लिए मूल वाद संख्या 223/79 विश्वनाथ मिश्र बनाम नरेन्द्र जीत सिंह दाखिल किया गया था, जिसमें बैनामा निष्पादन से प्रतिवादी को रोका गया था। इसके बावजूद प्रतिवादी ने निष्पादन किया, अतः बैनामा शून्य है, मेरे विचार से ऐसा नहीं है। दौरान वाद कोई बैनामा जहां निष्पादित हुआ है वहां वाद के अन्तिम निर्णय पर उसका अस्तित्व निर्भर करता है, मूलतः बैनामा शून्य नहीं है। इस तरह मेरे विचार से विवादित सम्पत्ति का स्वामित्व बैनामे के बाद से रतनशंकर चौरसिया आदि के पास व प्रार्थी की ओर से एक बहस यह की गई कि रतनशंकर चौरसिया द्वारा निर्मुक्ति का कोई प्रार्थना पत्र नहीं दिया गया था, इसके बावजूद भी अवर न्यायालय ने उसके पक्ष में निर्मुक्ति आदेश दिया। मेरे विचार से अवर न्यायालय का आदेश इस आधार पर अवैधानिक नहीं है क्योंकि धारा 16 (2)(बी) की कार्यवाही संक्षिप्त कार्यवाही होती है। इसमें आपत्ति व प्रार्थना पत्र पर विचार करने के उपरान्त यदि न्यायालय आपत्ति कर्ता के तथ्य को सही मानता है तो निर्मुक्ति आदेश आपत्तिकर्ता के पक्ष में किया जा सकता है तथा इस आधार पर अवर न्यायालय का आदेश अवैधानिक नहीं है।

प्रार्थी पक्ष की ओर से एक तथ्य यह रखा गया है कि अवर न्यायालय के विरूद्ध उन्होंने स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना पत्र जिलाधिकारी महोदय के यहां प्रस्तुत किया था। जिलाधिकारी ने पत्रावली तलब की थी, लेकिन इस स्थानान्तरण के तथ्य को नजरअन्दाज करते हुए अवर न्यायालय द्वारा निर्णय पारित किया गया है जिससे प्रार्थी का हित प्रभावित हुआ है। मेरे विचार से प्रार्थी का यह भी कथन मानने योग्य नहीं है क्योंकि स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना पत्र पर फाइल तलब होने से

अथवा स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना–पत्र दिये जाने से न्यायालय कोई निर्णय देने से वंचित नहीं हो जाता, जब तक कि मुकदमे की कार्यवाही को प्रवर न्यायालय स्थगित न कर दे। वैसे भी जो निर्णय अवर न्यायालय द्वारा दिया गया है, उससे ऐसा नहीं लगता कि नाराज होकर अथवा साक्ष्य व विधि के सिद्धान्तों की तिलांजली देकर आदेश पारित किया गया है। ऐसा भी नहीं है कि स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना–पत्र दिये जाने के बावजूद अवर न्यायालय द्वारा निर्णय पारित करने से अवैधानिक तरीके से प्रार्थी का हित प्रभावित हुआ है।

उपरोक्त विवेचना से मेरे विचार से विद्वान किराया नियंत्रण एवं निष्कासन अधिकारी द्वारा दिया गया निर्णय पूर्णतया तथ्य व विधि के अनुसार है। निर्णय पारित करने में किराया नियंत्रण एवं निष्कासन अधिकारी ने अपने क्षेत्राधिकार के परे कार्य नहीं किया है और न क्षेत्राधिकार का प्रयोग करने में असफल हुए हैं।

निष्कर्षतः यह निगरानी बलहीन है और निरस्त किये जाने योग्य है।

आदेश

निगरानीकर्ता की यह निगरानी सव्यय निरस्त की जाती है। निर्मुक्ति वाद संख्या–3/85 विश्वनाथ मिश्र बनाम सरकार में किराया नियंत्रण व निष्कासन अधिकारी द्वारा दिनांक 22.7.88 को पारित निर्णय पुष्ट किया जाता है।"

7. Aggrieved with the order of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi dated 22.07.1988 under Section 16(1)(b) of the U.P. Act XIII of 1972 in Case No.3 of 1985 rejecting the release application of the petitioner dated 08.01.1985 and the impugned judgment dated 24.10.2000 in Rent Revision No.150 of 1988 passed by the XIIIth Additional District Judge, Varanasi, the petitioner had filed the present writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India which has been subsequently amended as a petition under Article 227.

8. By order dated 30.11.2012 passed by this court, the petition was dismissed, which was challenged by the petitioner in Civil Appeal No.1328 of 2017. By order dated 01.02.2017 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court, the aforesaid order of this court dated 30.11.2012 was quashed and the matter was remanded with the following observations:

"Having regard to the circumstances of the case, we are satisfied that the impugned order of the High Court suffers from a misdirection in law. What was necessary for the High Court was to determine as to who is the landlord of the premises in question that is to say to whom the rent of the building was payable. It was not necessary to determine the question of title in such a situation which is secondary. Thus, it would have been appropriate in the interest of justice if the High Court has determined this question.

In the facts and circumstances of the case, we consider it appropriate to set aside the impugned judgment and order passed by the High court and remand the case back to the High court for a decision on the question as to who is the landlord of the premises in question. We order accordingly. The High Court shall also decide the application afresh for release of the premises in question in accordance with such finding. The High Court is requested to decide the matter as expeditiously as possible on its own merits and in accordance with law.

With the aforesaid directions, the appeal is disposed of. "

9. A counter affidavit on behalf of respondent Nos. 3/1, 3/2 and 3/4 dated 3011.2017 has been filed which has been replied by the petitioner by rejoinder affidavit dated 4.2.2018. Paragraph Nos. 6 and 7 of the counter affidavit and its reply in paragraph no.7 of the aforesaid rejoinder affidavit are reproduced below:

Counter Affidavit	Rejoinder Affidavit
Para-6.That when agent Raghu Nath Mishra did not furnish account and rent, the land lady, vide notice dated 29/05/1958 terminated thelicense and filed a suit no.35 of 1961 (Smt. Vidyawati Devi v/s Raghu Nath Mishra) for ejectment and arrear of rent, before Civil Judge, Varanasi. During pendency of suit Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badi Nath died on 14/06/1964, substituted by Narendra Jeet Singh and Sushil Devi and later on answering respondents were also substituted after purchase of the premises through registered sale deed dated 06.04.1983. Para-7. That during pendency of above noted suit before trial court, Sri Narendra Jit Singh, Secretary of the B.S.S.D College, on 06/04/1983 executed a registered sale deed in favour of answering respondent namely Sri Ratanshankar Chaurasia (respondent no.3, now deceased) and his three sons namely, Bhola Nath Chaurasia, Jawahar Lal Chaurasia, Gopal Ji Chaurasia, jointly. A true copy of the registered sale deed dated 06/04/1983 is being filed as Annexure No.CA-1 to this Counter affidavit.	Para-7. That the contents of paragraph nos. 6 and 7 of the counter affidavit are matter of record which may verified therefrom. However it is further submitted that there is no transfer deed/alleged will deed alleged to be executed by Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badri Nath, Srinagar (Jammu & Kashmir) in favour of B.S.S.D. College, Kanpur, hence the sale deed dated 06.04.1983 executed in favour of answering respondent by the said college/Sri Narendra Jeet Singh is without any basis and is void document and confirms no right, titled and interest in favour of the answering respondent.

Submission on behalf of the Petitioner:-

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits as under:

(i) The petitioner being an agent of the owner of the house in question namely, Smt. Vidyawati Badrinath, is the landlord of the disputed house and, therefore his release application under Section 16(1)(b) of the Act, should have been allowed by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Varanasi. Reliance is placed upon a judgment of this Court in Ram Prakash Gupta v. District Judge, Kanpur, 2004 (1) ARC 409 (Paragraph No.5) in which it has been held that under Section 3(j) of the Act, a person authorised to manage the tenanted property and to collect its rent on behalf of the landlord is also landlord under Section 3(j) of the Act.

(ii) In the impugned judgment dated 24.10.2000 in Rent Revision No.150 of 1988, the revisional court has held the petitioner to be landlord as evident from the finding recorded at running page-120 of the petition. Therefore, there was no occasion for the court below to uphold the order passed under Section 16(1)(b) of the U.P. Act 13 of 1972 dated 22.07.1988 in Case No.3 of 1985 passed by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi.

(iii) In another S.C.C. Suit No.495 of 1979 (Dr. Vishwanath Mishra vs. Jagat Kishore Mishra) decided on 24.08.1991 the petitioner was held to be the landlord. Therefore, while passing the impugned judgment dated 24.10.2000, the revisional court should have accepted the petitioner as landlord of the disputed house No.CK-19/8, Thatheri Bazar, City Varanasi.

(iv) The release application under Section 16(1)(b) of U.P. Act 13 of 1972 was filed by the petitioner on 10.01.1985 for release of the disputed accommodation in occupation of the tenant Late Smt. Satyabhama Devi, for the self need. Therefore, it was liable to be allowed.

(v) The release applications under Section 16(1)(b) were filed by the petitioner as well as by the respondent Nos.3 and 4. The petitioner has shown his bona fide need but the respondent Nos.3 and 4 have not shown their bona fide need in their release application for the disputed accommodation. Consequently, the release application of the petitioner was liable to be allowed and the release application of the respondent Nos.3 and 4 was liable to be rejected. But the court below has committed manifest error of law to uphold the order of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer allowing the release application of the respondent Nos.3 and 4.

(vi) No finding on the point of bonafide need of the respondent Nos.3 and 4 was recorded by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer or the court below in the impugned judgments. Therefore, the release order in favour of the respondent Nos.3 and 4, itself was bad.

11. In support of his submission that the petitioner is the landlord of the disputed house, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a judgment of this court in Dr. Sita Ram Gandhi vs. IVth Additional District Judge and another, 1983 ARC 782 (Para-10) and Brij Bhushan Sharma vs. Kamla Prasad, 2011 (3) ARC 381 (Paras- 8, 9 and 10).

12. Neither any other point has been argued nor any other judgment has been cited before me by learned counsel for the petitioner except those afore-noted.

Submission on behalf of the owner-respondents:-

13. Learned counsel for the respondents submits as under:

(i) Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badri Nath was undisputedly owner and landlady of the house in question. Raghunath Mishra (father of the petitioner) was the agent of the aforesaid owner and landlady. Due to non furnishing the account and rent, the aforesaid landlady vide notice dated 29.5.1958 terminated the agent Raghunath Mishra and his licence and filed a suit No.35 of 1961 for ejectment and recovery before the Civil Judge, Varanasi.

(ii) During pendency of the suit, Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badri Nath died on 14.6.1964. She was substituted by Sri Narendra Jeet Singh, Secretary of B.N.S.D. College, Kanpur after the house was purchased by the respondents by registered sale deed dated 6.4.1983, their name was substituted. Averments made paragraph Nos. 6 and 7 of the counter affidavit dated 30.11.2017, have been admitted by the petitioner in paragraph no.7 of his rejoinder affidavit. Thus, undisputedly, Sri Raghunath Mishra was the agent and his agentship terminated by the owner and landlady Smt. Diwanani Vidyawati Badri Nath. Therefore, the petitioner is not landlord and his release application was lawfully rejected by the court below.

(iii) The findings recorded by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/City Magistrate, Varanasi and the revisional court, are the findings of fact based on consideration of relevant evidences on record, whereby it has been held that the respondent purchaser of the property, are the owner and landlord and not the petitioner. These findings of facts are based on consideration of relevant evidences on record, which cannot be interfered with in jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

(iv) In the judgment dated 17.5.1988 in Suit No.35 of 1961 (Smt. Vidyawati Devi v. Raghu Nath Mishra), the Civil Judge, Varanasi also declared the aforesaid original owner and landlady to be the owner of the disputed house.

(v) Aggrieved with the judgment in O.S. No.35 of 1961, the petitioner herein filed a Civil Appeal No.600 of 1988 (Vishwanath Mishra v. Narendra Jeet Singh), which was dismissed by juddgment dated 30.05.1998 passed by the Vth Additional District Judge, Varanasi and it was concluded that Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badri Nath was the owner of the disputed house and Sri Jawahar Mishra and Raghunath Mishra were her agent and care-taker of the property who used to submit account to her. It was also found that the petitioner herein admitted the fact that the account of rental income was being submitted to the aforesaid original owner and landlady. In this regard learned counsel for the respondents has specifically referred to findings of the appellate court at internal page 22 of the jdugment dated 30.05.1998 in Civil Appeal No.600 of 1988.

(vi) Merely because the agent Raghunath Mishra was collecting rent of the disputed house for and on behalf of the original owner and landlady, he or his son i.e. the present petitioner shall not become landlord within the meaning of Section 3(j) of U.P. Act 13 of 1972.

14. Reliance is placed on the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in M.M. Quasim v. Manohar Lal sharma and others, (1981) 3 SCC 36 (Paragraph nos. 15,16,17 and 18) and judgments of this Court in Purqan Ahmad alias Mana and another v.

VIIth A.D.J. and others (2005) All LJ 119 (Paragraph Nos. 8 and 9) and Mam Chand v. Pramodini Srivastava, (2014) 5 ADJ 231.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

15. I have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the record.

16. It has been admitted before this Court, as also reflected from the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner noted in paragraph 9(i) above, that Diwanani Smt. Vidyawati Badri Nath of Jammu & Kashmir, was the owner and landlady of the disputed house. She had appointed Grandfather of the petitioner and thereafter father of the petitioner as her agent and care-taker of the disputed house. These agents were looking after the house and used to collect rent and submit account to the original owner and landlady. In paragraph-6 of the counter affidavit, the respondents have stated that when agent Raghunath Mishra (father of the petitioner) did not furnish account and rent, the landlady Smt. Diwan Vidyawati Badri Nath terminated his licence. This fact has been admitted by the petitioner in para 7 of the rejoinder affidavit. The petitioner has claimed that he being an agent is the landlord and, therefore his release application dated 10.1.1985 filed for personal need of the portion falling vacant on account of the death of the tenant Smt. Satyabhama Devi on 02.01.1985, should have been allowed. Thus, on the afore-noted admitted facts of the case, the question to be determined in this petition in terms of the direction of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the order dated 1.2.2017, is as under :

Question:-

"Whether the petitioner being an agent of the original owner and landlady of the house in question, is landlord within the meaning of Section 3(j) of U.P. Act 13 of 1972 ?"

17. The aforesaid question has been framed with the consent of the learned counsels for the parties for determination in this petition.

Status of Agent/ the petitioner:-

18. Chapter X of the Act,1872 contains detail provision with regard to agent and agency.

19. The word 'agent' has not been defined in U.P. Act 13 of 1972. It has been defined in Section 182 of the Indian Contract Act, as under:

Section 182 in The Indian Contract Act, 1872

182. "An "agent' is a person employed to do any act for another, or to represent another in dealings with third person. The person for whom such act is done, or who is so represented, is called the "principal'."

20. Since, in the present petition the dispute is limited to the question of an agent to be landlord in terms of Section 3(j) of the Act, therefore, it would be appropriate to examine as to whether an agent or caretaker may interfere in Principal's property and what would be the nature of his possession. These questions have been considered exhaustively by Hon'ble Supreme Court.

21. In Southern Roadways Ltd., Madurai, represented by its Secretary

v. S.M. Krishnan, (1989) 4 SCC 603 (Paragraph Nos. 11,12,14,18 and 22), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under :

"11. At the outset, we may state that we are not so much concerned with the rival claims relating to actual possession of the suit premises. Indeed, that is quite irrelevant for the purpose of determining the rights of the company to carry on its business. Mr. Venugopal, learned counsel for the appellant also discreetly did not advert to that controversy. He, however, rested his case on certain facts which are proved or agreed. They may be stated as follows:

The company was and is the tenant of the suit premises and has been paying rent to the owner. The lease in respect of the premises has been renewed up to November 22, 1993. it was the company which has executed the lease and not the respondent. The respondent as agent was allowed to remain in possession of the premises. It was only for the purpose of carrying on company,s business. His agency has been terminated and his authority to act for the company has been put an end to. These facts are indeed not disputed. On these facts the contention of counsel is that when the agency has been terminated, the respondent has no right to remain in premises or to interfere with the business activities of the company.

12. The force of this argument cannot be gainsaid. Counsel, in our opinion, appears to be on terra firma. The principal has right to carry on business as usual after the removal of his agent. The Courts are rarely willing to imply a term fettering such freedom of the principal unless there is some agreement to the contrary. The agreement between the parties in this case does not confer right on the respondent to continue in possession of the suit premises even after termination of agency. Nor does it preserve right for him to interfere with the company's business. On the contrary, it provides that the respondent could be removed at any time without notice and after removal the company could carry on its business as usual. The company under the terms of the agreement is, therefore, entitled to assert and exercise its right which cannot be disputed or denied by the respondent.

14. There is yet another significant factor to be borne in mind when we deal with the rights of an agent. An agent who receives property or money from or for his principal obtains no interest for himself in the property. When he receives any such property he is bound to keep it separate from his own and that of others. Long ago, Lord Cottenham, L.C. (Foley v. Hill, 2 HLC 28:1843-60 All E.R. (Reprint) 16,19 said:

"... So it is with regard to an agent dealing with property; he obtains no interest himself in the subject-matter beyond his remuneration; he is dealing throughout for another, and though he is not a trustee according to the strict technical meaning of the word, he is quasi a trustee for that particular transaction for which he is engaged."

18. The crux of the mater is that an agent holds the principal's property only on behalf of the principal. He acquires no interest for himself in such property. He cannot deny principal's title to property. Nor he can convert it into any other kind or use. His possession is the possession of the principal for all purposes. As the Kerala High Court in Narayani Amma v. Bhaskaran Pillai, AIR 1969 Kerala 214, observed: (AIR p. 217, para 6)

“The agent has no possession of his own. What is called a caretaker's possession is the possession of the principal."

22. In this case, the respondent's possession of the suit premises was on behalf of the company and not on his own right. It is, therefore, unnecessary for the company to file suit for recovery of possession. The respondent has no right to remain in possession of the suit premises after termination of his agency. He has also no right to interfere with the company's business. The case, therefore, deserves the grant of temporary injunction. The learned Single Judge of the High Court in our judgment, was justified in issuing the injunction. The Division Bench of the High Court was clearly in error in vacating it."

22. In Smt. Chandrakantaben v. Vadilal Bapalal Modi and others, (1989) 2 SCC 630 (Paragraph -19), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the possession of the agent is the possession of the principal and in view of the fiduciary relationship he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. Thus, the agent is an extended hand of principal.

23. Thus, an agent who receives property or money from or for his principal obtains no interest for himself in the property. An agent holds the principal's property only on behalf of the principal. He acquires no interest for himself in such property. He cannot deny principal's title to property. Nor he can convert it into any other kind or use. His possession is the possession of the principal for all purposes. The agent has no possession of his own. Caretaker's possession is the possession of the principal. The possession of the agent is the possession of the principal and in view of the fiduciary relationship he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. Thus, agent is the extended hand of principal. Therefore, father of the petitioner as agent and even assuming the petitioner also to be an agent, has acquired no interest in the disputed property of the Principal Late Divan Vidyawati Badrinath and in view of his fiduciary relationship, he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. His possession is possession of the principal for all purposes.

Whether an agent-qua-tenant is landlord under Section 3(j) and his status against owner/ principal:-

24. Section 3(j) of the U.P. Act XIII of 1972 defines the word "Landlord" as under:

"Unless the context otherwise requires-

"Landlord", in relation to a building, means a person to whom its rent is or if the building were let, would be, payable, and includes, except in clause (g) the agent or attorney, or such person;"

25. Section 3(g) of the U.P. Act XIII of 1972, reads as under:-

"Unless the context otherwise requires-

"Family", in relation to a landlord or tenant of a building, means his or her-

(i) spouse;

(ii) male lineal descendants;

(iii) such parents, grandparents and any unmarried or widowed or divorced or judicially separated daughter or daughter of a male lineal descendant, as may have been normally residing with him or her,

and includes, in relation to a landlord, any female having a legal right of residence in that building;"

26. Section 3(j) of the Act, defines the word 'landlord'. This definition includes an agent or attorney to the landlord except the word in clause (g) which defines the word 'Family'. It is also relevant to mention here that the definition clauses of Section 3 proceeded with the word 'Unless the context is otherwise required'. Hon'ble Supreme Court interpreted these words in the case of Ichchapur Industrial Cooperative Society LTD. v. Competent Authority, Oil and Natural Gas Commission and another, (1997)2 SCC 42 (Paragraph No.27), K.V. Muthu v. Angamuthu Ammal, (1997) 2 SCC 53 (Paragraph Nos. 10, 11, 12 and 13) and in Damadilal and others v. Parashram and others, (1976) 4 SCC 855 (Paragraph No. 12). Relying upon these judgments, this Court in judgment dated 9.9.2019 in S.C.C. Revision No.86 of 2019 (Munnu Yadav v. Ram Kumar Yadav and another) (Paragraph Nos. 13 and 14) held that the phrase 'Unless the contest otherwise requires' indicates that while construing, interpreting and applying the definition clause, the court has to keep in view the legislative mandate and intent and to consider whether the context requires otherwise. Where the definition is preceded with the phrase 'unless the context otherwise requires' the connotation is that normally the definition as given in Section should be applied and given effect to but it may be departed from if the context requires.

27. The definition of "landlord" is inclusive in the sense that it is extended to "agent" or "attorney" also. Therefore, a landlord (owner) to whom rent is payable, if has authorized an agent or attorney for the aforesaid purpose of collection of rent, such agent or attorney qua tenant, would also satisfy the definition of landlord under Section 3(j) of Act, 1972. The context in which the term "landlord" has been used can be classified in more than one. The first is in the context of collection of rent. A rent would be payable in respect to a building to owner of building and he would undoubtedly qualify and satisfy the term "landlord". Secondly a lessee having right to further lease out the building and qua the person to whom he let out the premise, such sub-lessee would be 'landlord'. Thirdly if owner of building has authorized an agent to collect rent, vis a vis tenant, such agent of owner of building would also be a landlord within Section 3(j) of Act, 1972. Similar is the position of an attorney.

28. Therefore, vis a vis tenant, the agent or attorney, who satisfies definition of "landlord" under Section 3(j), would be a person who holds authority as agent or attorney, to represent the true owner of property, to do or not to do, or to act or not to act, in a particular manner, as authorized by owner. The attorney and agent by himself cannot claim to be the owner of property and simultaneously to claim that they satisfy definition of "landlord".

29. In Raj Mohan Krishna vs. Second Additional District Judge, AIR 1993 All. 40 (Para-8), this court held that the Prescribed Authority is a Tribunal of limited jurisdiction which has been constituted under the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972, for deciding applications under Section 21 or other provisions enumerated under the Act. It has no jurisdiction at all to examine the correctness or otherwise of a decree passed by a competent Civil Court. The Tribunal has to proceed on the basis that the decree of a Civil Court is a valid decree and has to recognise the rights of the parties on its basis. It has been held in Khem Chand v. IV A.D.J. {1989 (2) ARC 344} that it is not open to any party to challenge the genuineness of a decree of a Civil Court before the Prescribed Authority and so long as the decree is not set aside it has to be accepted as genuine. In the present set of facts, there is a judgment and decree dated 17.05.1988 in O.S. No.35 of 1961 (Smt. Vidyawati Devi vs. Raghunath Mishra) passed by the Civil Judge, Varanasi for eviction of Raghunath Mishra (father of the petitioner) and the Civil Appeal No.600 of 1988 (Vishwanath Mishra vs. Narendra Jeet Singh) filed by the petitioner herein was dismissed by judgment dated 30.05.1998 passed by the court of Additional District Judge Vth Varanasi, against which the petitioner herein filed Second Appeal No.1196 of 1998 (Vishwanath Misra vs. Ratan Shankar Chaurasia), which is stated to be pending. The judgment and decree dated 17.05.1988 passed by the court of Civil Judge, Varanasi in O.S. No.35 of 1961, has admittedly been neither set aside nor modified.

30. In Vinod Kumar Agrawal v. XVIIth Additional District Judge, Allahabad, 2013 (6) ALJ 110, a bench of this court considered Section 3(j) of the U.P. Act XIII of 1972 and after referring to several judgments of this court and of Hon'ble Supreme Court, held as under:

"45. In the context of the words "occupation by himself or any members of family" there is a divergence in the opinion; whether these words would apply to anyone and not confined to only owner of property.

46. One of the earliest decision in this regard is Sri Laxkshmi Shanker Misra Vs. The 1st Additional District Judge, Allahabad and others, 1977 ARC 7. Hon'ble N.D. Ojha, J. (as His Lordship then was) observed:

"'Landlord' as defined in Section 3(j) of the Act in relation to a building, means a person to whom its rent is or if the building, were let would be payable and includes, except in clause (g) the agent or attorney, of such person. In cases where there is a privity of contract between two persons in pursuance of which rent is payable by one person to the other in respect of a building occupied by him in the capacity of a tenant, the person to whom rent is payable, in view of the agreement, would be the landlord of the person by whom the rent would be payable irrespective of the fact as to who was the actual owner of the property. It would be a case covered by the first part of the definition viz, the landlord would be such person to whom the rent of the building is payable. The position in law would, however, be different of an accommodation falls vacant and the question arises as to who is the landlord to whom notices as contemplated by rules 8 and 9 of the rules aforesaid are to be given before passing an order of allotment. At this stage the second part of the definition would be attracted, viz., the landlord would be the person to whom rent, if the building were let, would be payable. It may be emphasised that in either event landlord would be such person to whom rent is or would be payable as the case may be and not the person by whom rent is physically collected on behalf of the landlord would himself become the landlord. Who would be the person to whom rent, if the building were let, would be payable is the crucial question. It would be the person authorised to let out the building and to recover rent from the tenants. Normally such person would be the owner of the building. However, if the owner has entered into a contract with some other person authorising him to let out the vacant building and to recover rent from the tenants either as his agent or attorney it may be that person who would be called landlord with in the definition of the said term under the Act. Similar may be the case when for the time being either by an order of the court or by operation of some law the right to let out the building and recover rent from the tenants vests in some person other than the owner."

(emphasis added)

47. Then in E.E. Dayal Vs. Smt. Phool Mani Dayal and others, 1977 ARC (SN 5) 4 Hon'ble R.M. Sahai, J. (as His Lordship then was) held that it is difficult to agree that merely because the respondent was permitted by the trust to collect rent, and, the petitioner started paying rent in view of this communication received from the Principal Officer of the Trust, the respondent become landlord of the premises. The mere fact that he was paying rent which was being collected by the respondent on behalf of the Trust, does not mean that she was admitted to be the owner of premises in dispute. The Court further said that for the purpose of Section 21 it cannot be accepted that an attorney or agent who becomes a landlord by virtue of definition clause can file an application for eviction of tenant on the ground that need of attorney or agent is genuine. What is to be seen under Section 21 is the need of the landlord-owner. It may be that the landlord may need the premises for his agent or attorney but that would be different in saying that the Act confers any right on the attorney or agent, himself, to file an application for release of accommodation on the ground that the premises are needed by them for their own personal use.

48. The next decision is Prem Chandra Pachit Vs. Second Additional District Judge, Saharanpur and others, 1978 ARC 394, a decision by Hon'ble K.C. Agrawal, J. Therein Prem Chandra Pachit was not owner of building. He claimed to have obtained a Theka of building so as to use the same as lodging house. He filed an application under Section 21(1)(a) of Act, 1972 for eviction of one, Ram Lal, a tenant in the building. An objection was raised that Prem Chandra Pachit being not an owner of building, was not a landlord so as to get a right to file application under Section 21(1)(a) of Act, 1972. The Court held that Sri Prem Chandra Pachit being only manager, did not satisfy requirement of Section 21(1)(a) which contemplates that an application can be filed only by a landlord, who needs the accommodation for himself or a member of his family. He (Prem Chandra Pachit) was not member of family of landlord, i.e., the owner of building.

49. The comes a decision of Apex Court in M.M. Quasim Vs. Manohar Lal Sharma and others, 1981(3) SCC 36, a judgment rendered by a three Judges Bench. The matter had arisen from Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act, 1947. There, the definition of expression "landlord" contained in Section 2(d) of Bihar Statute is a bit similar to Section 3(j) of Act, 1972. A provision somewhat similar to Section 21 was in Section 11 thereof. The marked distinction in Bihar and U.P. Rent Statute is one explanation in Section 11(1)(c), which says that in this clause the word "landlord" would not include an agent referred to in clause (d) of Section 2. Despite referring to aforesaid explanation, the stress of Apex Court was that word "occupation" would mean that a person as a matter of right must have the capacity to occupy the building and that must be a person who is owner of building. The relevant observations may be quoted as under:

"Therefore, while taking advantage of the enabling provision enacted in Section 11 (1) (c), the person claiming possession on the ground of his reasonable requirement of the leased building must show that he is a landlord in the sense that he is owner of the building and has a right to occupy the same in his own right. A mere rent collector, though may be included in the expression landlord in its wide amplitude cannot be treated as a landlord for the purposes of Section 11 (1) (c). This becomes manifestly clear from the explanation appended to the sub-section. By restricting the meaning of expression landlord for the purpose of Section 11(1)(c), the legislature manifested its intention namely that landlord alone can seek eviction on the ground of his personal requirement if he is one who has a right against the whole world to occupy the building himself and exclude any one holding a title lesser than his own. Such landlord who is an owner and who would have a right to occupy the building in his own right, can seek possession for his own use. The latter part of the section envisages a situation where the landlord is holding the buildings for the benefit of some other person but in that case landlord can seek to evict tenant not for his personal use but for the personal requirement of that person for whose benefit he holds the building. The second clause contemplates a situation of trustees and cesti que trust but when the case is governed by the first part of sub clause (c) of sub-section (1) of Section 11, the person claiming possession for personal requirement must be such a landlord who wants possession for his own occupation and this would imply that he must be a person who has a right to remain in occupation against the whole world and not someone who has no subsisting interest in the property and is merely a rent collector such as an agent, executor, administrator or a receiver of the property. For the purposes of Section 11(1)(c) the expression landlord could, therefore, mean a person who is the owner of the building and who has a right to remain in occupation and actual possession of the building to the exclusion of everyone else. It is such a person who can seek to evict the tenant on the ground that he requires possession in good faith for his own occupation. A rent collector or an agent is not entitled to occupy the house in his own right. Even if such a person be a lessor and, therefore, a landlord within the expanded inclusive definition of the expression landlord, nonetheless he cannot seek to evict the tenant on the ground that he wants to personally occupy the house. He cannot claim such a right against the real owner and as a necessary corollary he cannot seek to evict the tenant on the ground that he wants possession of the premises for his own occupation. That can be the only reasonable interpretation one can put on the ingredients of sub-clause (c) of Section 11(1) which reads: "Where building is reasonably and in good faith required by the landlord for his own occupation..." Assuming that the expression 'landlord' has to be understood with the same connotation as is spelt out by the definition clause, even a rent collector or a receiver of the property appointed by the Court in bankruptcy proceedings would be able to evict the tenant alleging that wants the building for his own occupation, a right which he could not have claimed against the real owner. Therefore, the explanation to clause (d) which cuts down the wide amplitude of the expression 'landlord' would unmistakably show that for the purposes of clause (c) such landlord who in the sense in which the word 'owner' is understood can claim as of right to the exclusion of everyone, to occupy the house, would be entitled to evict the tenant for his own occupation."

(Emphasis added)

50. Here in the above case, the Court read the explanation to be only clarificatory but on principle held that eviction proceeding must be initiated by a landlord, who is the owner of property.

51. Then comes a decision of learned Single Judge (Hon'ble K.C. Agrawal, J.) in Smt. Sughra Begum Vs. Sri Ram and others, 1983(2) ARC 143. Following Apex Court's decision in M.M. Quasim (supra), the Court in paras 8 and 10 said:

"8. . . . . Under Section 21 a landlord can move an application for occupation by himself or any member of his family. The fact that only a person who is entitled to occupy can alone move an application indicates that one who is not entitled to occupy or has no right to occupy in his own right cannot apply for release under Section 21. An agent or attorney of an owner of the house may realize the rent of the house in respect of which power is conferred upon him by the owner to do so and for that purpose he may be considered to be landlord within the meaning of that expression defined in Section 3, but such a person would not be entitled to move an application under Section 21."

"10. . . . . For being entitled to apply under Section 21(1), that person must be entitled to occupy the premises in his own right. The expression "occupation for himself or for family members" has been deliberately used by the legislature to manifest its intention that the landlord alone can seek eviction on the ground of his personal requirement if he is one who has a right against the whole world to occupy the building."

(emphasis added)

52. In Naseeruddin and others Vs. Prescribed Authority, Meerut and others, 1988(1) ARC 517, Hon'ble R.P. Singh, J. in para 5 of the judgment Jalso took the view, "thus an agent or attorney of an owner of a house may realise the rent of house but such a person would not be entitled to make an application under Section 21(1)."

53. The above phrase in Section 21(1)(a), in the context of bona fide need of persons, for whose benefit such application can be filed, the definition of family was given an expansion, in some authorities, namely, Misri Lal Vs. Special Judge (Additional District Judge), Gorakhpur and others, 1988(2) ARC 430. Hon'ble R.K. Gulati, J. extended it to the domestic servants of landlord. The Court said, though technically, he may not satisfy the definition of family, under Section 3(g) of the Act yet it may be included in spirit. Similarly it was extended to mother-in-law, daughter-in-law, grandchildren etc.; but in the context of the meaning of the word "landlord", who can initiate the proceedings, the position remains slightly complex.

54. In Smt. Ved Rani Diwan and another Vs. VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad and others, 1996(2) ARC 14 Hon'ble Sudhir Narain, J. in para 7 of the judgment observed:

"7. . . . . The word ' landlord' in the context of Section 21(1)(a) will mean only such person who is not only entitled to realise the rent but also has a right under law to occupy for his personal use and such person alone can file application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. Respondent no.4 is owner and landlord of the premises in question and if she has authorized her husband to realise the rent, he cannot file an application for release under Section 21(1-A) of the Act in his own right."

(Emphasis added)

55. In Fakaruddin Khan [(Dead) through Lrs Salma Khan, widow and Salman Khan, son] Vs. Xth Additional District Judge, Kanpur and others, 1998(1) ARC 449 Hon'ble S.R. Singh, J. following Apex Court's decision in M.M. Quasim (supra), in para 8, said:

"The term "landlord" in Section 21(1-A) of the Act connotes landlord in the sense of being the owner of the building."

56. In Furqan Ahmad Alias Mana and another Vs. VIIth A.D.J. and others, 2005(2) AWC 1161 Hon'ble Tarun Agarwala, J. following decisions in Sri Laxkshmi Shanker Misra (supra); Smt. Sughra Begum (supra); and, Naseeruddin (supra) in para 10 of the judgment, said:

"10. There is no quarrel with the aforesaid proposition as submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner. A person who has been authorised to realize the rent on behalf of the landlord becomes the landlord as contemplated under Section 3 (f) of the Act. But the said agent cannot file a release application for his own need or for his family members under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act inasmuch as he is not the owner of the premises in question. The expression "occupation for himself or for family members" as provided under Section 21 (1) of the Act means that the person must be entitled to occupy the premises in his own right. Obviously, the agent is not authorized to occupy the premises in his own right. Therefore, the agent could not file an application for release of the premises for his own personal need."

(Emphasis added)

57. A discordant note, I find in Udai Singh Bhanuvanshi Vs. Kunj Behari Tewari, 2002(1) AWC 647, wherein Hon'ble A.K. Yog, J. observed that there is no reason to read the word "ownership" in the context of expression "landlord" when legislature itself in Section 3(j) has not confined itself to the owner. However, His Lordship further clarified the position by observing that there was a finding in the judgment of court below in the case before the Court that Kunj Behari Tewari was authorised to realise rent as "landlord". In respect to this finding that he was authorised to realise rent as landlord, there was no challenge. The Court observed that his status as landlord of accommodation was not challenged earlier and thus cannot be allowed to be assailed for the first time before this Court. That is how the Court distinguished earlier decisions in Smt. Sughra Begum (supra); Smt. Ved Rani

Diwan (supra); and M.M. Quasim (supra). Para 20 of the judgment clarifying above observations, reads as under:

"20. In the cases of Smt. Sughra Begum, Smt. Ved Rani Diwan and M.M. Quasim (supra), this Court held that an 'agent' or such other person cannot maintain release application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. The facts of the above cases are clearly distinguishable from the facts of the case in hand. In the present case in hand. 'Kunj Behari Tewari', who filed release application, was authorised to realise rent as 'landlord' and thus his status as the owner/ landlord of the accommodation as already discussed above, cannot be questioned or assailed in the present proceedings."
(Emphasis added)

58. For the purpose of Section 20 also this Court finds that who can institute suit is not specifically mentioned but from a careful reading of scheme it does not appear that a suit for ejectment can be filed by a mere agent or attorney even though the real owner/landlord has not joined the proceedings. If a tenant has been inducted by the owner, it is difficult to accept that his tenancy can be terminated by an agent or attorney, unless so permitted by the owner.

59. Further when there are more than one person satisfying the definition of "landlord", it is the landlord who has better rights or title over property who would exclude others. In order to attract Section 3(f) the plaintiff seeking ejectment of tenant has to show that there is denial of title of landlord. The word "title" here goes not to the authority of landlord to collect mere rent but here the title is something more than that. It is for this reason, and knowing it well that without possessing status of landlord, having semblance of ownership over property in dispute the petitioner would not succeed, learned counsel for the petitioner sought to rest his claim with respect to his status as owner. His status as owner and landlord of tenanted building, is basically founded on the agreement for sale, power of attorney, and free hold deed executed by Collector, Allahabad in 1999 in his favour.

60. Learned counsel for the petitioner sought to argue that concept of "ownership" is not to be imported here, as definition of "landlord" itself is an extended one so as to take within its ambit an agent or attorney also.

61. The submission, in the manner it is sought to be advanced, I find difficult to accept. The definition of "landlord" contained in definition clause has to be read in the context as discussed above. When somebody is authorised to collect rent, he is merely a collector of rent. The rent though is payable to him, in view of instructions issued by landlord-owner, to the tenant, that the rent should be paid to such an agent or attorney, and, in that sense, the agent or attorney may also be included or covered within the definition of "landlord", but his status is fortuitous and with the change of instructions of landlord-owner to tenant, he may/can loose such status at any point of time.

67. The above decisions fortify the view now being taken that a person when would satisfy the term "landlord", has to be looked into, in the light of statutory provisions, and in the context of other provisions of the Act concerned and the relevant facts of the case in hand. No universal principle can be applied in this regard."

31. Section 16(1)(b) of the Act 1972 provides that subject to the provisions of the Act, the District Magistrate may by order, release the whole or any part of such building or any land appurtenant thereto in favour of the landlord. Sub-Section (2) of Section 16, as relevant for the purpose of the present case; provides that no release order under Clause (b) of Sub-Section (1) shall be made unless the District Magistrate is satisfied that the building or any part thereof or any land appurtenant thereto, is bona fide required, by the landlord for occupation by himself or any member of his family or any person for whose benefit it is held by him either for residential purposes or for purposes of any profession, trade or calling. The petitioner alleging himself to be an agent or caretaker of the owner of the disputed house, filed the release application under Section 16(1)(b) of the Act 1972 for his personal need, whereas sub-Section (2) of Section 16 provides for a release order when the building or any part thereof or any land appurtenant thereto is bona fide required by the landlord for occupation by himself or by any member of his family, or any person for whose benefit it is held by him, either for residential purposes or for the purpose of any profession, trade or calling. Thus, for the purposes of Section 16(1)(b), the petitioner having filed application for release of the disputed accommodation for his personal need as agent is not landlord under Section 3(j) of the Act 1972. The owner-respondents have also filed release application which was allowed by the impugned order. The petitioner at best being only a caretaker or agent of the owners, cannot claim himself to be landlord against the owners-landlords of the building. He is not entitled to occupy the disputed house in his own right and get the accommodation released in his favour as against the owners of the house. The definition of landlord in Section 3(j) of the Act 1972 has to be read in the context as discussed above.

32. Therefore, the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi has not committed any error of law to reject the release application of the petitioner by the impugned order dated 22.07.1988 passed in Case No.3 of 1985 and to release the accommodation in favour of the respondents-owners and landlords. The court of 13th Additional District Judge, Varanasi has also not committed any error of law to dismiss the Rent Revision No.150 of 1988 (Dr. Vishwanth Sharma vs. Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi and another) filed by the petitioner. The impugned order and the judgment are based on consideration of relevant evidences on record which cannot be interfered with in jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

Conclusion:-

33. The conclusions reached by me in foregoing paragraphs of this judgment, are briefly summarized as under:

(i) An agent who receives property or money from or for his principal obtains no interest for himself in the property. An agent holds the principal's property only on behalf of the principal. He acquires no interest for himself in such property. He cannot deny principal's title to property. Nor he can convert it into any other kind or use. His possession is the possession of the principal for all purposes. The agent has no possession of his own. Caretaker's possession is the possession of the principal. The possession of the agent is the possession of the principal and in view of the fiduciary relationship he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. An agent is the extended hand of principal. Therefore, father of the petitioner as agent and even assuming the petitioner also to be an agent or caretaker, has acquired no interest in the disputed property of the Principal Divanani Late Vidyawati Badrinath and in view of his fiduciary relationship, he cannot be permitted to claim his own possession. His possession is possession of the principal for all purposes.

(ii) The phrase 'Unless the contest otherwise requires' proceeded with the definition clauses of Section 3 indicates that while construing, interpreting and applying the definition clause, the court has to keep in view the legislative mandate and intent and to consider whether the context requires otherwise. Where the definition is preceded with the phrase 'unless the context otherwise requires' the connotation is that normally the definition as given in Section should be applied and given effect to but it may be departed from if the context requires.

(iii) The definition of "landlord" is inclusive in the sense that it is extended to "agent" or "attorney" also. Therefore, a landlord (owner) to whom rent is payable, if has authorized an agent or attorney for the purpose of collection of rent, such agent or attorney qua tenant, would also satisfy the definition of landlord under Section 3(j) of Act, 1972. Therefore, vis a vis tenant, the agent or attorney, who satisfies definition of "landlord" under Section 3(j), would be a person who holds authority as agent or attorney, to represent the true owner of property, to do or not to do, or to act or not to act, in a particular manner, as authorized by owner. The attorney or agent by himself cannot claim to be the owner of property and simultaneously to claim that they satisfy definition of "landlord".

(iv) Prescribed Authority is a Tribunal of limited jurisdiction which has been constituted under the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972, for deciding applications under Section 21 or other provisions enumerated under the Act. It has no jurisdiction at all to examine the correctness or otherwise of a decree passed by a competent Civil Court. The Tribunal has to proceed on the basis that the decree of a Civil Court is a valid decree and has to recognise the rights of the parties on its basis. It has been held in Khem Chand v. IV A.D.J. {1989 (2) ARC 344} that it is not open to any party to challenge the genuineness of a decree of a Civil Court before the Prescribed Authority and so long as the decree is not set aside it has to be accepted as genuine. In the present set of facts, there is a judgment and decree dated 17.05.1988 in O.S. No.35 of 1961 (Smt. Vidyawati Devi vs. Raghunath Mishra) passed by the Civil Judge, Varanasi for eviction of Raghunath Mishra (father of the petitioner) and against it the Civil Appeal No.600 of 1988 (Vishwanath Mishra vs. Narendra Jeet Singh) filed by the petitioner herein was dismissed by judgment dated 30.05.1998 passed by the court of Additional District Judge Vth Varanasi, against which the petitioner herein filed Second Appeal No.1196 of 1998 (Vishwanath Misra vs. Ratan Shankar Chaurasia), which is stated to be pending. The judgment and decree dated 17.05.1988 passed by the court of Civil Judge, Varanasi in O.S. No.35 of 1961, has admittedly been neither set aside nor modified.

(v) Section 16(1)(b) of the Act 1972 provides that subject to the provisions of the Act, the District Magistrate may by order, release the whole or any part of such building or any land appurtenant thereto in favour of the landlord. Sub-Section (2) of Section 16, as relevant for the purpose of the present case; provides that no release order under Clause (b) of Sub-Section (1) shall be made unless the District Magistrate is satisfied that the building or any part thereof or any land appurtenant thereto, is bona fide required, by the landlord for occupation by himself or any member of his family or any person for whose benefit it is held by him either for residential purposes or for purposes of any profession, trade or calling. The petitioner alleging himself to be an agent or caretaker of the owner of the disputed house, filed the release application under Section 16(1)(b) of the Act 1972 for his personal need, whereas sub-Section (2) of Section 16 provides for a release order when the building or any part thereof or any land appurtenant thereto is bona fide required by the landlord for occupation by himself or by any member of his family, or any person for whose benefit it is held by him, either for residential purposes or for the purpose of any profession, trade or calling. Thus, for the purposes of Section 16(1)(b), the petitioner having filed application for release of the disputed accommodation for his personal need as agent is not landlord under Section 3(j) of the Act 1972. The owner-respondents have also filed release application which was allowed by the impugned order. The petitioner at best being only a caretaker or agent of the owners, cannot claim himself to be landlord against the owners-landlords of the building. He is not entitled to occupy the disputed house in his own right and get the accommodation released in his favour as against the owners of the house. He is not landlord. The definition of landlord in Section 3(j) of the Act 1972 has to be read in the context as discussed above.

(vi) Therefore, the Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi has not committed any error of law to reject the release application of the petitioner by the impugned order dated 22.07.1988 passed in Case No.3 of 1985 and to release the accommodation in favour of the respondents-owners and landlords. The court of 13th Additional District Judge, Varanasi has also not committed any error of law to dismiss the Rent Revision No.150 of 1988 (Dr. Vishwanth Sharma vs. Rent Control and Eviction Officer/ City Magistrate, Varanasi and another) filed by the petitioner.

34. The impugned order and the judgment are based on consideration of relevant evidences on record which cannot be interfered with in jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

35. For all the reasons afore-stated, I do not find any merit in this petition. Therefore, the petition fails and is hereby dismissed with costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1497

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 08.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SURYA PRAKASH KESARWANI, J.

Mattes Under Article. 227 No. 4057 of 2019

Sixth Sense Astro Gurukul
...Applicant-Petitioner
Versus
M/s Avantika Agro Services Pvt. Ltd. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ajay Kumar Singh, Sri Ashish Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Girish Kumar Gupta, Sri Rahul Sahai

A. Code of Civil Procedure,1908- O - XXI, R - 97 - petitioner filed an application u/o XXI r 97 –on the basis of unregistered agreement to sell –found to be frivolous - is rejected- as he could not adduce any evidence-showing himself to be in possession of the disputed property-it does not even reflect transfer of possession-cannot entitle the petitioner for the benefit of order Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C.

Held: - in matters of obstructing execution of decree in a rent case, there was sheer abuse of the process of court resulting in thwarting execution of a valid decree during its subsistence.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Brahmdeo Chaudhary Vs. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal, AIR 1997 SC 856

2. Shreenath and another Vs. Rajesh and others, 1998 (33) ALR 273

3. Sameer Singh and another Vs. Abdul Rab and others, 2015 (128) RD 412

4. Tanzeem-e-Sufia Vs. Bibi Haliman, AIR 2002 SC 3083

5. Asgar and Others Vs. Mohan Varma and others, 2019 (133) ALR 736

6. Mst. Hashmi @ Batul Vs. Ali Ahmad and others, 2015 (109) ALR 284

7. Raghu Nath Saran Vs. VIIIth Addl. District and Sessions Judge, 2011 (84) ALR 381

8. Jahid Khan and another Vs. Suresh Chand Jain and others, 2014 (4) AWC 4158

9. Smt. Firdaus Begum and others Vs. Smt. Sheela @ Susheela Devi Sharma Advocate and others, 2013 (6) ADJ 18

10. Bool Chand (dead) thru Lrs. and others Vs. Rabia and others, (2016) 14 SCC 270

11. Bate Krishna Damani (dead) by Lrs. Vs. Kailash Chand Srivastava and another, 1995 supp. (1) SCC 477

12. Mani Nariman Daruwala @ Bharucha (D) through Lrs. Vs. Phiroz N. Bhatena and others, (1991) 3 SCC 141

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajay Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicant-revisionist-petitioner and Sri Rahul Sahai, learned counsel for the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no.1.

2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that House No.C.K. 1/13, Patni Tola, Bhosale Mandir, Ward Chowk, City Varanasi (hereinafter referred to as 'the disputed property'), was owned by Raje Raghuji Rao A. Bhosale son of Late Raja Ajit Singh A. Bhosale, Mahal Nagpur (Maharashtra). The petitioner claims that one Vishwanath Pandey (Power of Attorney of the aforesaid Raje Raghuji A. Bhosale) executed an unregistered agreement to sell dated 15.05.2013 in favour of the petitioner to sell the aforesaid disputed property. However, a registered lease deed dated 25.06.2014 was executed by the aforesaid Raje Raghuji Bhosale through his power of attorney Vishwanath Pandey in favour of the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no. 1 on accepting a premium of Rs. 24,00,000/- and monthly rent of Rs. 200/-. Lease rent Rs. 6,00,000/- was received in advance to be adjustable towards the monthly rent. As per clause 5 of the lease deed, the aforesaid owner of the disputed building/lessor put in actual physical possession to the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no. 1. Thereafter, the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no. 1 filed SCC Suit No. 18 of 2015 for eviction of the defendant-judgment debtor/respondent nos. 2 and 3.

3. In the aforesaid SCC Suit No. 18 of 2015, petitioner herein filed an impleadment application under Order I Rule 10 C.P.C. on the ground that he has an unregistered agreement to sell in his favour with respect to the disputed property, and therefore, he is a necessary party. This application being paper no. 22-Ga was rejected by the Judge Small Cause Court by order dated 23.12.2015. This order has attained finality. In the meantime, the petitioner herein also filed Suit No. 1190 of 2015 seeking various reliefs including injunction and declaratory relief. The plaint was rejected by the Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi by order dated 18.02.2016 due to non-payment of appropriate court fees and not amending the valuation. Thereafter, the petitioner herein filed First Appeal no. 170 of 2016 praying to set aside the aforesaid judgment and order of the Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi, dated 18.02.2016. The first appeal was disposed of by a Division Bench of this Court by order dated 20.04.2016 and the judgment and order dated 18.02.2016 passed by Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi, rejecting the plaint, was upheld. But liberty was granted to the petitioner herein to file a fresh suit. This Court specifically asked learned counsel for the petitioner herein as to whether any suit has been filed pursuant to the liberty granted by the Division Bench? In reply, learned counsel for the petitioner herein stated that no suit has been filed by the petitioner.

4. The aforesaid SCC Suit No. 18 of 2015 (M/s. Avantika Agro Services Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Chandrabhan and Padma Devi) filed by the respondent no. 1 for eviction of tenants (respondent nos. 2 and 3) was decreed by judgment dated 19.05.2016. The defendant-respondent nos. 2 and 3 herein, were directed to be evicted. Therefore, the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no. 1 filed Execution Case No. 8 of 2016. In the aforesaid execution case, the petitioner herein filed an application under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. claiming himself to be in possession of the disputed property on the basis of the aforesaid unregistered agreement to sell dated 15.05.2013. The aforesaid application being paper no. 4-Ga was registered as Misc. Case No. 96 of 2018. It was rejected by the Judge Small Cause Court, Varanasi by the impugned order dated 10.12.2018 on the ground that no evidence could be produced by the petitioner to show that he is in possession of the disputed room of the disputed property on the basis of unregistered agreement to sell and that unregistered agreement to sell is not even admissible in evidence in view of Section 17 of the Registration Act. Aggrieved with this order, the petitioner herein filed Civil Revision No. 02 of 2019 (Sixth Sense Astro Gurukulam (registered trust) Vs. M/s. Avantika Agro Services Pvt. Ltd. and 2 others) which has been dismissed by the impugned judgment dated 15.02.2019 passed by the District Judge, Varanasi. In paragraphs 5 and 9 of the impugned judgment, the revisional court observed/held as under:-

"5. Revisionist claims his possession over the premises in question on the basis of an agreement to sale alleged to be executed by the real owner in his favour on 15.05.2013. Copy of this agreement to sale has been filed by the revisionist in lower Court as paper no. 11C. It is an unregistered agreement to sale and value of the subject matter in this agreement to sale is mentioned at Rs. 2.60 crores. The revisionist has not filed any document of title or the sale-deed executed in his favour by the real owner. Perusal of agreement to sale, paper no. 11C, further reveals that in this paper too, it has not been mentioned that possession over the premises in question was ever transferred to the revisionist. In his application filed under Order 21 Rule 97 and Section 151 of C.P.C. in the lower Court revisionist has also stated that possession was delivered by the real owner to the revisionist after execution of the agreement to sale dated 15.05.2013. In para 5 of his application it is mentioned that revisionist is in possession over the premises in question since 16.05.2013. Above facts also make it clear that revisionist was not given possession at the time of execution of said agreement to sale. In lower Court no evidence showing his possession over the premises in question has been adduced by the revisionist. It is not disputed that a decree is in favour of M/s. Avantika Agro Services Pvt. Ltd. with respect to premises in question and by the said decree M/s. Avantika Agro Services Pvt. Ltd had been given possession over the premises in question. Possession of a third party is the main point for consideration in an application filed under Order 21 Rule 97 of C.P.C.

9. Since the executing Court has no right to adjudicate upon validity or legality of the decree, objection raised by the revisionist with regard to non compliance of conditions set forth by the Court while giving permission to sale the disputed property to the real owner can not be considered in a proceeding before the executing Court. A third party can only resist the execution of the decree on the basis of his possession over the premises in question under Order 21 Rule 97 of C.P.C. Revisionist has failed to establish his possession over the premises in question. By mere giving a statement on affidavit it can not be assumed that revisionist was in possession of the disputed property. It is also not necessary to make a detailed enquiry or to take evidence of the parties while deciding an application under Order 21 Rule 1997 of C.P.C. Therefore, impugned order can not be assailed on these points too. The learned lower Court has observed in the impugned order that the applicant revisionist had failed to establish his possession over the disputed premises. This observation of the learned Lower Court is not against the record of the case and it can not be termed as perverse. There is no illegality in the impugned order and this S.C.C. Revision is accordingly not liable to be allowed."

5. Aggrieved with the aforesaid order of the Judge Small Cause Court dated 10.12.2018 rejecting the 4-C application under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. and judgment of the revisional court dated 15.2.2019 in Civil Revision No.02 of 2019 passed by the District Judge, Varanasi, the petitioner herein has filed the present petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

Submissions:-

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits as under:-

(i) The petitioner is in possession of the disputed room of the disputed property pursuant to agreement to sell dated 15.5.2013.

(ii) The application of the petitioner under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. could be decided by the court below only after taking evidences and after recording a finding with regard to right, title and interest of the parties in the disputed property. Since, this has not been done therefore, the impugned orders and judgments are liable to be set aside.

7. In support of his submissions, he referred to paragraphs 21, 22, 24 and 26 of the petition which are reproduced below:

"21. That accommodation in question situate in House No. 1/13, Patni tola, Varanasi, is owned by Raje Raghuji Rao Bhosale who file Misc. Case No. 17 of 2010 Raje Raghuji Rao Bhosale Vs. collector, Varanasi, for grant of permission for sale of said house and Special Judge (Anti Corruption), Varanasi granted permission for sale of said house, vide order dated 31.01.2014 subject to conditions that purchaser must be follower of Vaishno Smpraday who shall maintain the temple existing in the premises, perform Rag-Bhag and Pooja-path; further the sale consideration must be according to market value, must be deposited in treasury and maintenance of temple and premises be done out of interest received therefrom but decree-holder / respondent no.1 got a Lease Deed dated 25/26.06.2014 executed in its favour in lieu of a premium of Rs. 24,00,000.00 only which was totally in contravention of the aforesaid order granting permission dated 31.01.2014, as such alleged Lease Deed is nullity, void ab-initio and on that basis decree-holder is neither owner nor can be Landlord of the aforesaid premises.

22. That any act done or any deed executed not in conformity of the order of the court is against public policy and the very basis of claim of respondent no. 1, is the lease deed got executed by it against order dated 31.01.2014 in Misc. Case no. 217 of 2010 but both the courts below kept mum and advert to record any finding which goes to the root of the matter, for the reasons best known to the courts below.

24. That in proceeding under Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C., it was incumbent upon the Executing Court to adjudicate right, title and interest of parties in respect of property in suit, but failed to do so and similarly revisional court also dismissed revision without adverting itself to ingredients of Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C.

26. That both the courts below failed to consider that when an application has been made under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C., court is enjoined to adjudicate upon right/title and interest claimed in the property arising between the parties to a proceeding or between a decree holder or the person claiming independent right, titile, interest or possession in that behalf and such determination shall be conclusive and not a matter to be agitated by a separate suit."

8. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Brahmdeo Chaudhary Vs. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal, AIR 1997 SC 856, Shreenath and another Vs. Rajesh and others, 1998 (33) ALR 273, Sameer Singh and another Vs. Abdul Rab and others, 2015 (128) RD 412, Tanzeem-e-Sufia Vs. Bibi Haliman, AIR 2002 SC 3083 and Asgar and Others Vs. Mohan Varma and others, 2019 (133) ALR 736 and judgments of this Court in Mst. Hashmi @ Batul Vs. Ali Ahmad and others, 2015 (109) ALR 284, Raghu Nath Saran Vs. VIIIth Addl. District and Sessions Judge, 2011 (84) ALR 381, Jahid Khan and another Vs. Suresh Chand Jain and others, 2014 (4) AWC 4158 and Smt. Firdaus Begum and others Vs. Smt. Sheela @ Susheela Devi Sharma Advocate and others, 2013 (6) ADJ 18.

9. Sri Rahul Sahai, learned counsel for the plaintiff-decree holder-respondent no.1 submits as under:-

(i) This petition has been filed without bringing on record certain relevant orders and judgments including the order dated 23.12.2015 in SCC Case No.18 of 2015 whereby the application being paper no.22-Ga filed by the petitioner under Order I Rule 10 C.P.C., was rejected by the Judge Small Cause Court and the order has attained finality. A copy of the order dated 18.2.2016 passed in Suit No.1190 of 2015 rejecting the plaint of the petitioner under Order VII Rule 11 C.P.C. has also not been filed alongwith this petition. Paragraph 11 of the objection (copy of which filed as Annexure 10) to the application of the petitioner under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. indicates that the petitioner herein filed three suits being O.S. No.1188 of 2015, 1189 of 2015 and 1190 of 2015. The disclosure has been made in the present petition only with regard to O.S. No.1188 of 2015 and the dismissal of First Appeal No.170 of 2016 arising from O.S. No.1190 of 2015. Thus, material facts have been concealed by the petitioner.

(ii) The entire case of the petitioner is based on the alleged unregistered agreement to sell dated 15.5.2013 which was neither admissible in evidence nor it establishes possession of the petitioner over the disputed room of the disputed property. No evidence could be produced by the petitioner to indicate his possession over the disputed room. The petitioner's case is not a case of part performance of contract under Section 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

(iii) The impleadment application of the petitioner in SCC Suit No.18 of 2015 was rejected by the Judge Small Cause Court by order dated 23.12.2015 which has attained finality. The plaint of the suit of the petitioner being O.S. No.1190 of 2015 for declaration and injunction etc., was rejected and despite grant of liberty in first appeal by this Court, no suit has been filed. Therefore, that matter has also attained finality.

(iv) After the aforesaid SCC Suit No.18 of 2015 was decreed by judgment dated 19.5.2016, the tenant (judgment debtor/respondent nos.2 and 3) filed a recall application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. which was rejected by the court below by order dated 20.4.2018. Thereafter, the petitioner herein filed an application under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. on 24.5.2018 which is apparently in collusion with the judgment debtor/tenant.

Discussion and Findings:-

10. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties.

Concealment of facts :-

11. Undisputedly, the petitioner is neither a tenant nor owner of the disputed property. He had claimed his right on the basis of an alleged unregistered agreement to sell dated 15.05.2013. There is nothing on record to show that he has filed any suit for specific performance and got any favorable order. The disputed property was leased out by its true owner to the plaintiff-decree holder/respondent no. 1 by a registered lease deed dated 25.06.2014. The plaintiff-landlord-decree holder/respondent no. 1 had filed SCC Suit No. 18 of 2015 for eviction of the defendant-tenant-judgment debtor/respondent nos. 2 and 3 in which the petitioner herein filed an impleadment application (paper no. 22 Ga) under Order I Rule 10 C.P.C. which was rejected by the Judge Small Cause Court by order dated 23.12.2015. This order has attained finality. Thereafter, the petitioner filed O.S. No. 1190 of 2015 seeking various reliefs including injunction and declaratory relief. The plaint was rejected by Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi by order dated 18.02.2016 and the First Appeal No. 170 of 2016 filed against this order, was disposed of by a Division Bench of this Court by order dated 20.04.2016 whereby the order of the Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi dated 18.02.2016 was upheld but a liberty was granted to the petitioner to file a fresh suit. No suit has been filed by the petitioner. These relevant facts have been concealed by the petitioner in the present petition.

Applicability of Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. :-

12. After the SCC Suit No. 18 of 2015 filed by the plaintiff-landlord-decree holder/respondent no. 1, was decreed by the court below by judgment dated 19.05.2016 against defendant-tenant/respondent nos. 2 and 3, the plaintiff-landlord/decree holder filed Execution Case No. 08 of 2016. In the aforesaid execution case, the petitioner had filed an application being paper no. 4 Ga (registered as Misc. Case No. 96 of 2018) under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. which was rejected by the impugned order dated 10.12.2018 against which he filed Civil Revision No. 02 of 2019 which was dismissed by the impugned judgment dated 15.02.2019. The application under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. was filed by the petitioner after the plaintiff-landlord-decree holder/respondent no. 1 filed Execution Case No. 8 of 2016 against the defendant-tenant/respondent nos. 2 and 3 for execution of the judgment and decree dated 19.05.2016. Despite order dated 20.04.2016 in First Appeal No. 170 of 2016 passed by a Division Bench of this Court giving liberty to the petitioner to file a fresh suit, no suit was filed by the petitioner. Thus, apparently, filing of the application being paper no. 4 Ga (registered as Misc. Case No. 96 of 2018) is in collusion with the defendant-tenant/respondent nos. 2 and 3 to delay the execution of the decree.

13. A finding of fact has been recorded in paragraphs 5 and 9 of the impugned judgment dated 15.02.2019 that neither before the execution court nor before the appellate court, the petitioner could adduce any evidence to show his possession over the disputed property. The alleged unregistered agreement to sell does not provide that possession of the disputed property was transferred to the petitioner. Admittedly, the tenants have been evicted and possession of the disputed property has been given to the decree-holder/respondent no. 1.

14. It is settled law that under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C., a third party can resist the execution of a decree on the basis of his possession over the suit property. The courts below have found that the petitioner has completely failed to establish his possession over the disputed property. His suit for declaration and injunction being O.S. No. 1190 of 2015 was dismissed by the Civil Judge (S.D.), Varanasi by order dated 18.02.2016 and the said judgment has attained finality on dismissal of the petitioner's First Appeal No. 170 of 2016 by judgment dated 18.02.2016. Thus, there is no evidence that the petitioner has either any right or title to the disputed property or that possession of the disputed property was given to the petitioner by the erstwhile owner. Therefore, both the impugned orders passed by the courts below rejecting the application 4-C of the petitioner under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. and dismissing the revision, do not suffer from any error of law.

15. In Bool Chand (dead) thru Lrs. and others Vs. Rabia and others, (2016) 14 SCC 270 (paragraph 12), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under :-

"12. While a genuine petition for execution of a decree can certainly be considered, the court cannot be oblivious of frivolous objections being filed after a decree is passed in long-drawn contested proceedings. Attempt to deprive the decree-holder of benefit of such decree should be discouraged by the court where such objection is raised. The impugned order is thus, clearly erroneous and unsustainable and not a result of sound judicial approach."

16. There cannot be any quarrel that an application under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. may be filed even by a stranger and executing court has power to adjudicate upon all questions relating to right, title and interest in property arising between the parties including the stranger. But where the application (objection) is frivolous then it deserves to be rejected. In the present set of facts, the petitioner has completely failed to adduce any evidence that on the basis of alleged unregistered agreement to sell, the possession of the disputed property was transferred to him or that the alleged unregistered agreement to sell contains any clause of transfer of possession. Both the courts below have found that the petitioner could not adduce any evidence that he is in possession of the disputed property. On the contrary in execution of the decree, the defendant-tenant/ respondent nos. 2 and 3 have been evicted and the decree holder/respondent no. 1 has been given possession of the disputed property/tenanted property. This court asked the learned counsel for the petitioner to show even prima facie from any evidence that the petitioner is in possession of the disputed property but the learned counsel for the petitioner has failed even to point out any such evidence or document. The only basis of the claim of the petitioner or objection under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. is the alleged unregistered agreement to sell allegedly executed by the power of attorney holder of the erstwhile owner. Thus, an agreement which does not even reflect transfer of possession of the disputed property, cannot entitle the petitioner for the benefit of order Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C.

17. In Bate Krishna Damani (dead) by Lrs. Vs. Kailash Chand Srivastava and another, 1995 supp. (1) SCC 477 (para 4 and 5), in matters of obstructing execution of decree in a rent case, Hon'ble Supreme Court observed on the facts of that case that there was sheer abuse of the process of court resulting in thwarting execution of a valid decree during its subsistence. In Mani Nariman Daruwala @ Bharucha (D) through Lrs. Vs. Phiroz N. Bhatena and others, (1991) 3 SCC 141 (paragraph 18), Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the law with regard to scope of interference under Article 227 of the Constitution of India and held as under :-

"18. Was the High Court justified in taking this view and in upsetting the finding recorded by the Appellate Bench? While considering this question it has to be borne in mind that the High Court was exercising its jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. In the exercise of this jurisdiction the High Court can set aside or ignore the findings of fact of an inferior court or tribunal if there was no evidence to justify such a conclusion and if no reasonable person could possibly have come to the conclusion which the court or tribunal who (sic) has come or in other words it is a finding which was perverse in law. Except to the limited extent indicated above the High Court has no jurisdiction to interfere with the findings of fact (See: Chandavarkar Sita Ratna Rao v. Ashalata S. Guram). Applying these test we are unable to persuade ourselves to hold that the findings recorded by the Appellate Bench suffer from such an infirmity so as to justify interference with the said finding under Article 227 of the Constitution."

18. The judgments relied by the learned counsel for the petitioner are clearly distinguishable on facts of the present case and do not support the case of the petitioner.

19. For all the reasons aforestated, I do not find any merit in this petition. Consequently, the petition fails and is hereby dismissed with cost.

(2019)10ILR A 1504

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MANOJ KUMAR GUPTA, J.

Mattes Under Article 227 No. 5594 of 2019

Jai Prakash ...Petitioner
Versus
Kumari Anjali & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Paras Nath Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 112 - presumption u/s. 112 -attracted unless shown parties to marriage had no access to each other when child was born. DNA test to determine paternity-not to be directed as a matter of cause.

Held: - A DNA test to determine paternity of child should not be directed as a matter of course. The court has to consider various diverse aspects including presumption under Section 112 of the Evidence Act. At this juncture applying the test of 'eminent need' laid down by the Supreme Court in Bhabani Prasad Jena (supra), this court finds no illegality in the view taken by the court below to warrant interference in exercise of supervisory power under Article 227 of the Constitution.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Goutam Kundu vs State of West Bengal, 1993 ACC 416

2. Bhabani Prasad Jena vs. Convenor Secretary, Orissa State Commission for Women and another, 2010 8 SCC 633

3. Dipanwita Roy vs Ronobroto Roy, 2015 (1) SCC 365

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. By impugned order dated 30.4.2019 the Additional Principal Judge, Family Court, Basti has rejected an application made by the petitioner for getting DNA test of Km. Anjali (opposite party No.1) conducted by a team of medical experts.

2. The opposite parties brought suit for maintenance against the petitioner being Original Suit No.519 of 2011. According to the opposite parties, they are daughter-in-law and grand daughter respectively of the petitioner herein. Opposite party No.2 was married to Santosh Kumar, son of the petitioner on 17.5.2006 and vidai ceremony took place on 18.5.2006. She was brought to her in-laws house at Mauza Hariharpur and she started living with her husband. Out of the said wedlock, opposite party No.1 was born. She is stated to be of four years of age in the year 2011 when the suit was instituted. Santosh Kumar, husband of opposite party no.2 and father of opposite party no.1 died on 29.12.2007. Since the opposite parties do not have any source of livelihood, they filed the suit in question.

3. The petitioner filed an application dated 25.4.2017 alleging that opposite party no.2 had before entering into matrimonial alliance with his son Santosh Kumar married different persons and even after death of Santosh Kumar, she had remarried. It was alleged that opposite party No.1 was not born out of the wedlock between opposite party No.2 and his son Santosh Kumar. Therefore prayer was made for getting DNA test of opposite party no.1 conducted by a team of medical experts.

4. The application was opposed by the opposite parties. They brought on record extract from family register wherein opposite party No.1 is shown as daughter of Santosh Kumar.

5. The trial court, placing reliance on the judgement of the Supreme Court in Goutam Kundu vs State of West Bengal, 1993 ACC 416 held that the presumption under Section 112 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is attracted in such matters and unless it is shown that the parties to the marriage had no access to each other at any time when the daughter was born, there is no need of getting conducted DNA test. The court has also observed that prima facie the documentary evidence also establishes that opposite party No.1 is daughter of Late Santosh Kumar and has accordingly rejected the application.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in extract of family register, date of birth of opposite party No.1 is shown as 24.4.2004 i.e., a date before the marriage between opposite party No.2 and Santosh Kumar was solemnized. In other words, the submission is that since opposite party No.1 was born before marriage between opposite party No.2 and Santosh Kumar, therefore she was not born out of wedlock between them.

7. Section 112 of the Evidence Act, 1872 reads thus :-

"112. Birth during marriage, conclusive proof of legitimacy-- The fact that any person was born during the continuance of a valid marriage between his mother and any man, or within two hundred and eighty days after its dissolution, the mother remaining unmarried, shall be conclusive proof that he is the legitimate son of that man, unless it can be shown that the parties to the marriage had no access to each other at any time when he could have been begotten."

8. The Supreme Court in Bhabani Prasad Jena vs. Convenor Secretary, Orissa State Commission for Women and another, 2010 8 SCC 633 has held as follows :-

"22. In our view, when there is apparent conflict between the right to privacy of a person not to submit himself forcibly to medical examination and duty of the court to reach the truth, the court must exercise its discretion only after balancing the interests of the parties and on due consideration whether for a just decision in the matter DNA test is eminently needed. DNA test in a matter relating to paternity of a child should not be directed by the court as a matter of course or in a routine manner, whenever such a request is made. The court has to consider diverse aspects including presumption under Section 112 of the Evidence Act; pros and cons of such order and the test of "eminent need" whether it is not possible for the court to reach the truth without use of such test."

9. Again, in Dipanwita Roy vs Ronobroto Roy, 2015 (1) SCC 365, the Supreme Court, while reiterating the test of 'eminent need', held as follows :-

"It is borne from the decisions rendered by this Court in Bhabani Prasad Jena and Nandlal Wasudeo Badwaik that depending on the facts and circumstances of the case, it would be permissible for a Court to direct the holding of a DNA examination, to determine the veracity of the allegation(s), which constitute one of the grounds on which the concerned party would either succeed or lose. There can be no dispute that if the direction to hold such a test can be avoided it should be so avoided. The reason, as already recorded in various judgments by this Court is that the legitimacy of a child should not be be put to peril."

10. I have gone through the pleadings made in the written statement and I do not find any categorical plea to the effect that the parties had no access to each other during the marriage. The only assertion in the written statement is that after some time, opposite party No.2 left the matrimonial house alongwith her goods. The exact date on which she left the matrimonial house has not been disclosed. There is also no assertion in the written statement that during the period they were living together in the matrimonial house, they had no access to each other. The specific case of the opposite parties as per assertions made in the plaint is that opposite party No.1 was four years of age at the time of filing of the plaint. It would mean that opposite party No.1 was born in the year 2007. Santosh Kumar is alleged to have died on 29.12.2007 while the presumption under Section 112 of the Evidence Act would stand attracted even where any person was born within 280 days after the marriage had come to an end (in the instant case on account of death of Santosh Kumar). The alleged entry relating to date of birth of opposite party No.1 in the family register is in serious dispute and the said aspect is yet to be examined during trial on basis of evidence to be led by the parties.

11. A DNA test to determine paternity of child should not be directed as a matter of course. The court has to consider various diverse aspects including presumption under Section 112 of the Evidence Act. At this juncture applying the test of 'eminent need' laid down by the Supreme Court in Bhabani Prasad Jena (supra), this court finds no illegality in the view taken by the court below to warrant interference in exercise of supervisory power under Article 227 of the Constitution.

12. The petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1507

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MANOJ KUMAR GUPTA, J.

Mattes Under Article. 227 No. 5026 of 2019

Gaya Prasad Tiwari ...Petitioner
Versus
Allahabad Development Authority ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri B.S. Pandey

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri Devi Prasad Mishra, Sri Brijendra Kumar

A. Code of Civil Precedure - despite order to proceed exparte against the defendant-respondent-if evidence not concluded-defendant can always appear and cross examine witness and can recall proceedings-if shown good cause to the court.

Held: - that even though where the evidence of the plaintiff had not concluded, the defendant against whom exparte proceedings are being held, can always appear before the trial court and pray for cross-examining the plaintiff's witnesses. The said right of the defendant is not taken away merely for the reason that an order was passed on a previous date for holding exparte proceedings against him.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Arjun Singh Vs. Mohindra Kumar and others, AIR 1964 SC 993

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. The instant petition is directed against the order dated 18.1.2018 passed by the trial court allowing application 50-C filed by the defendant-respondent seeking permission of the court to cross-examine plaintiff's witnesses. It is noteworthy that the suit is proceeding exparte against the defendant-respondent and its right to file written statement stands forfeited. It has been held by the trial court that even then it would not be debarred from cross-examining the witnesses of the plaintiff-petitioner. Aggrieved by the said order, the petitioner filed a revision, which has also been dismissed by the impugned order dated 29.4.2019.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that once the suit was proceeding exparte against the defendant-respondent, the trial court erred in allowing the application for cross-examination of the plaintiff's witnesses.

3. In Arjun Singh Vs. Mohindra Kumar and others, AIR 1964 SC 993, the Supreme Court has explained the scheme of Order 9 CPC. It has held that where the court passes an order to proceed exparte against the defendant, it may take evidence of the plaintiff then and there and also pronounce the judgement. In other type of cases, the evidence of the plaintiff might not be concluded on the hearing day on which defendant is absent and something might remain so far as the trial of the suit is concerned for which purpose there might be a hearing on an adjourned date. Consequently, if the defendant appears on such adjourned date and satisfies the Court by showing good cause for his non- appearance on the previous day or days, he might have the earlier proceedings recalled-"set the clock back" and have the suit heard in his presence. On the other hand, he might fail in showing good cause. In such a case, he is not precluded from taking part in the remaining proceedings of the suit or whatever might still remain. The only impediment is that he cannot claim to be relegated to the position he occupied at the commencement of the trial.

4. It would thus mean that where the evidence of the plaintiff had not concluded, the defendant against whom exparte proceedings are being held, can always appear before the trial court and pray for cross-examining the plaintiff's witnesses. The said right of the defendant is not taken away merely for the reason that an order was passed on a previous date for holding exparte proceedings against him.

5. Consequently, this Court finds no illegality in the view taken by the courts below in allowing the application of the defendant-respondent to cross-examine the plaintiff's witnesses.

6. The petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1508

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 24.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON’BLE PANKAJ BHATIA, J.

Writ-C No. 37797 of 2018

Shiv Vatika Basrat Ghar & Anr.
...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Arpan Srivastava, Sri Anil Bhushan

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Devi Prasad Mishra, Sri A.K. Mishra, Sri Arun Kumar

A. Noise Pollution (Regulation and Control) Rules, 2000 - Directions issued in Sushil Chandra Srivastava and another v. State of U.P. and others, Writ-C No. 1216 of 2019 to be strictly followed-no loudspeaker to be used beyond the permissible limit under the schedule of the Rules, 2000.

Writ Petition pending (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. George of Church of God (Full Gospel) Vs K.K.R. Majestic Colony Welfare Association & ors., (2000) 7 SCC 282

2. Sri K. Ramdas Shenoy Vs The Chief Officers, Town Municipal Council, Udipi & ors.,(1974) 2 SCC 506

3. Machavarapu Srinivasa Rao Vs Vijaywada, Guntur, Tenli Mangal Giri Urban Development Authority, (2011) 12 SCC 154

4. R.K. Mittal Vs St. of U.P., (2012) 2 SCC 323

5. Dipak Kumar Mukherjee Vs Kolkata Municipal Corporation & ors., (2013) 5 SCC 336

6. Friends Colony Development Committee Vs St. of Orissa,(2004) 8 SCC 733

7. Shanti Sports Club & anr. Vs U. of I. & ors.(2009) 15 SCC 705

8. M.C. Mehta Vs U. of I. & ors., (2004) 6 SCC 588

9. Virender Gaur & ors. Vs St. of Hr. & ors., (1995) 2 SCC 577

10. Sushil Chandra Srivastava & anr. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ-C No. 1216 of (2019)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J. & Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. The petitioners have preferred this writ petition for issuance of a writ of Certiorari to quash the order dated 11.10.2018 passed by Allahabad Development Authority (now Prayagraj Development Authority)1.

2. Briefly stated the facts are; the petitioner no. 1 claims to be the owner of the property - 1, Panna Lal Road, Allahabad. The area of the aforesaid property is more than 10000 square meters. The property is said to be ancestral property and several families are residing in the aforesaid property. The petitioner no. 2 has constructed a Marriage Hall (Banquet Hall) (for short, "marriage hall") in an area about 3975.67 square meters which is a part of the aforesaid property. The petitioner no. 2 runs a Marriage Hall in the name and style of Shiv Vatika and it is using the open space of the property for the said purpose and has raised temporary construction for running the guest house.

3. The petitioner made an application to the District Magistrate for registration of the marriage hall. On 30.3.2012 the District Magistrate registered the Guest House/ Marriage Hall under the provisions of the Sarais Act, 1867 subject to certain conditions mentioned in the registration certificate. It is stated that since there is temporary construction of tin-shade, therefore, there is no requirement to take any permission from the Development Authority.

4. The present dispute arose when the Development Authority issued a show cause notice dated 9.1.2015 to the petitioners, wherein it is recorded that the petitioner is running the marriage hall contrary to the provisions of Section 16 of the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 19732. It is further recorded in the show cause notice that on inspection it was found that the said property is earmarked for residential purposes whereas it is being used for commercial purposes which is punishable under Section 26 of the Act, 1973. It is also mentioned in the said notice that earlier on 29.9.2014 a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner but he failed to submit any reply. Thereafter, an order under Section 26 of the Act, 1973 was passed on 20.11.2014 and despite this order the petitioner continued to use the property for commercial purposes. It is further mentioned in the notice that in Public Interest Litigation No. 51055 of 20143 a restrain order has been passed for using the premises for marriage. The petitioner has submitted a reply wherein it is stated that the petitioner is running the marriage hall in an open area in which there is no permanent construction and the approval has also been obtained from the District Magistrate, Allahabad under the Sarais Act, 1867. The petitioner has not brought on the record his reply submitted to the show cause notice. He has brought on record a report submitted by the Lekhpal and the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sadar dated 31.1.2015 that the petitioner's marriage hall is not on the land of Chandra Shekhar Azar Park. Both the reports are on the record. The petitioner relying on those reports has averred in the writ petition that from the said report it is clear that marriage hall is not situated within the premises of Chandra Shekhar Azad Park (Company Garden).

5. The Development Authority again issued a notice on 28.4.2015 that the use of property in question for commercial purposes is contrary to the provisions of the Section 16 of the Act, 1973. It appears that in the meantime the petitioner submitted an application for sanction of the map on 12.1.2015. After examining his proposal, his application was rejected by the Development Authority on the ground that the land is a park only hence it cannot be used for running marriage hall and a direction was also issued that if the petitioner continues to use the property for commercial purposes, it shall be sealed.

6. It appears that the petitioner continued to use the property for commercial purposes. The Development Authority passed an order on 11.10.2018 under Section 28-A of the Act, 1973 and sealed the premises.

7. By way of a supplementary affidavit the petitioner has brought on record a list of marriage halls in the city. The said list shows that as many as 190 marriage halls are running in the city. The said fact is unrebutted by the Development Authority.

8. A counter affidavit has been filed by the Development Authority. The stand taken in the counter affidavit is that the petitioner cannot use any land or building owned by him for a purpose which is not in conformity with the Master Plan prepared by the Development Authority. Under the Master Plan, the land on which the petitioner was running a marriage hall, has been earmarked as park and open space as such its use as a marriage hall is illegal. Insofar as the permission granted to the petitioner under the Sarais Act, 1967, it is stated, does not authorize the petitioner to run the marriage hall in contravention with the provisions of the Act, 1973, Master Plan and the bye-laws framed under it. The Sarais Act, 1867 does not authorize him to change the use of land in development area contrary to its approved Master Plan. The petitioner no. 2 had submitted a compounding map for regularization of the construction raised in the property in question for running the marriage hall in the name of 'Shiv Vatika'. The compounding map submitted by the petitioner was rejected by the Development Authority by its order dated 7.7.2015 on the ground that the said map was contrary to the Master Plan as it is earmarked for park and open space, hence it cannot be used as marriage hall or banquet hall.

9. It is further averred in the counter affidavit that even temporary construction over the land in question amounts to development in terms of Section 2(e) of the Act, 1973. For any development work to be carried out in the developed area, the permission of the Development Authority under Section 15 of the Act, 1973 is necessary. Since the permission has been rejected by the Development Authority raising temporary construction is illegal and unauthorized.

10 It is further submitted that the petitioner has submitted a fresh map on 21.8.2017 after rejection of his compounding map on 7.7.2015. The said map has again been rejected by the Development Authority on 22.11.2017. The Sarais Act, 1867 only grants licence to the petitioner to run marriage hall. It does not exempt him from complying with the provisions of the Act, 1973. In view of the said facts it is stated that action under Section 28-A of the Act, 1973 has been taken after furnishing sufficient opportunity to the petitioner.

11. In regard to the averments made in the writ petition the petitioner is paying Municipal taxes for the property to Nagar Nigam, Allahabad, it is stated that paying the tax to Nagar nigam does not mean that the petitioner has got a commercial map/sanction from the Development Authority.

12. Learned counsel for the Development Authority has not disputed the list submitted by the petitioner which shows that at present about 200 marriage halls are running in the city. He has produced bye-laws which regulate the banquet hall/ marriage hall. Relevant part of the bye-laws is extracted below:

अध्याय – 16

'बारात घर'/ 'उत्सव भवन' के निर्माण हेतु अपेक्षाएं

16.1 अनुमन्यता बारात घर/ 'उत्सव भवन' के निर्माण की अनुमन्यता महायोजना जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के अनुसार होगी।

16.2 भूखण्ड का न्यूनतम क्षेत्रफल 1500 वर्गमीटर

16.3 भूखण्ड का न्यूनतम फ्रन्टेज 24 मीटर

16.4 सडक की न्यूनतम विमान चौडाई 24 मीटर

16.5 भू–आच्छादन (क) निर्मित/ विकसित क्षेत्र 30 प्रतिशत

(ख) नए/ अविकसित क्षेत्र 40 प्रतिशत

16.6 एफ.ए.आर. (क) निर्मित/ विकसित क्षेत्र 1.00

(ख) नए/ विकसित क्षेत्र 1.50

16.7 भवन की उंचाई 30 मीटर से कम चौडे मार्ग पर स्थित भवनों की अधिकतम उंचाई सडक की विमान चौडाई तथा फ्रन्ट सेट – बैक के योग के डेढ गुना से अधिक नही होगी, परन्तु 30 मीटर एवं उससे अधिक चौड़े मार्गों पर स्थित भवनों हेतु यह प्रतिबन्ध लागू नही होगा। भवन की अधिकतम उंचाई संरक्षित स्मारक/ हैरीटेज स्थल से दूरी, एयरपोर्ट फनल जोन तथा अन्य स्टेट्युटरी प्रतिबन्धों से भी नियन्त्रित होगी।

16.8 सैट बैक ' बारात घर'/ 'उत्सव भवन' पृथकीकृत (डिटेच्ड) भवन के रुप मे होगा तथा भूखण्ड के क्षेत्रफल के आधार पर न्यूनतम सैट–बैक निम्नानुसार होंगे :–

भूखण्ड का क्षेत्रफल (वर्गमीटर)	न्यूनतम सैट – बैक (मीटर)
	अग्र	पृष्ठ	पार्श्व – 1	पार्श्व – 2
2000 तक	12.0	4.5	4.5	3.0
2000 से अधिक	12.	5.0	5.0	5.0

16.9 पार्किंग मानक प्रत्येक 100 वर्गमीटर तल क्षेत्रफल पर 2.0 'सामान कार स्थल' की व्यवस्था भूखण्ड के अन्दर करनी होगी। पार्किंग की गणना भूखण्ड में अधिकतम अनुमन्य तल क्षेत्रफल पर की जाएगी।

16.10 बेसमेन्ट बेसमेन्ट की अनुमन्यता भवन उपविधि के प्रस्तर– 3.9 के अनुसार होगी।

16.11 अनुज्ञा की प्रकिया नई योजनाओं/ अनुमोदित होने वाले ले– आउट प्लान्स में बारात घर/ उत्सव भवन हेतु निर्धारित मानकों के अनुसार पहले ही अपेक्षित संख्या में भूखण्डो का चिन्हीकरण किया जाएगा और बारात घर के निर्माण की अनुज्ञा केवल इस प्रयोजन हेतु चिन्हित/ आरक्षित भूखण्डों पर ही दी जाएगी। विमान विकसित कालोनियों/क्षेत्रों में अनुज्ञा प्रदान करने हेतु प्रस्तावित स्थल के सम्बन्ध में न्यूनतम एक माह की समयावधि प्रदान करते हुए जनता से आपत्ति/ सुझाव उचित माध्यम से आमन्त्रित किए जाएंगे एवं उनके निस्तारण के उपरान्त मानचित्र स्वीकृति/निरस्तीकरण की कार्यवाही की जाएगी तथा बारात घर/ उत्सव भवन अनुमन्य किए जाने पर आवेदक से जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के आधार पर प्रभाव शुल्क भी लिया जाएगा।

13. As can be seen, one of the requirements for marriage hall is the parking area in 1/3 of the total covered area of marriage hall. We asked the learned counsel for the Development Authority that whether all the marriage halls at present are running in conformity with the bye-laws framed by the Development Authority. We have pointedly asked him to name at least few marriage halls who have parking in terms of requirement under the bye-laws. It is a common experience in this city that during wedding seasons, in the evening there is traffic clogging on all the roads where these Barat Bhars are running.

14. Learned counsel for the Development Authority has very fairly conceded that there is no marriage hall which has its parking in terms of the bye-laws.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner has laid emphasis on the provisions of the Sarais Act, 1867 to buttress his submission that since the petitioner's marriage hall is registered under the Act, 1867 the Development Authority does not have any power to take action against the marriage hall.

16. Since we are not adverting to various issues raised by the petitioners at this stage, we are referring only relevant provisions of the Act, 1867. The definition of 'Sarai' is as under:

"2. Interpretation-clause.--In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,--

"Sarai".

"Sarai" means any building used for the shelter and accommodation of travellers, and includes, in any case in which only part of a building is used as a sarai, the part so used of such building. It also includes a purao so far as the provisions of this Act are applicable thereto.

"Keeper of a Sarai".

"Keeper of a Sarai" includes the owner and any person having or acting in the care or management thereof.

4. Registers of Sarais to be kept.--The Magistrate of the District shall keep a register in which shall be entered by such Magistrate or such other person as he shall appoint in this behalf, the names and residences of the keepers of all Sarais within his jurisdiction, and the situation of every such Sarai. No charge shall be made for making any such entry.

7. Duties of keepers of Sarais.--The keeper of a Sarai shall be bound---

(1) when any person in such Sarai is ill of any infectious or contagious disease, or dies of such disease, to give immediate notice thereof to the nearest police-station;

(2) at all times when required by any Magistrate or any other person duly authorized by the Magistrate of the District in this behalf, to give him free access to the Sarai and allow him to inspect the same or any part thereof;

(3) to thoroughly cleanse the rooms and verandahs, and drains of the Sarai and the wells, tanks, or other sources from which water is obtained for the persons or animals using it to the satisfaction of and so often as shall be required by, the Magistrate of the District, or such person as he shall appoint in this behalf;

(4) to remove all noxious vegetation on or near the Sarai, and all trees and branches of tree capable of affording to thieves means of entering or leaving the Sarai;

(5) to keep the gates, walls, fences, roofs and drains of the Sarai in repair;

(6) to provide such number of watchmen as may, in the opinion of the Magistrate of the District, subject to such rules as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf, be necessary for the safety and protection of persons and animals or vehicles lodging in, halting at or placed in the Sarai; and

(7) to exhibit a list of charges for the use of the sarai at such place and in such form and languages as the Magistrate of the District shall from time to time direct."

17. Section 9 of the Act, 1867 provides that if Sarai is not used according to the provisions of the Act or become in a filthy or unwholesome state and if two or more of the neighbours complaint the District Magistrate regarding the nuisance at sarai the District Magistrate after the enquiry may cause notice in writing to the owner of the sarai for taking appropriate remedial actions. Section-14 provides penalty for infringing the Act or regulations. It shall be treated as an offence and the owner of the sarai will be liable for conviction or penalty. Section 15 provides conviction for third offence to disqualify a person from keeping sarai.

18. We are amazed that in spite of the fact that none of the Marriage Halls are running in conformity with the bye-laws, the Development Authority has turned blind eyes to gross violation of law and has left the city at the mercy of the owners of marriage halls who have caused immense inconvenience to the residents of this city.

19. As discussed above, the Development Authority itself has admitted that haphazard running of a large number of marriage halls in the city is causing serious inconvenience to the residents and clogging of traffic. Learned counsel for the Development Authority has produced before us two different sets of proposed bye-laws one is titled "Proposed Bye-laws" and the second "Temporarily Proposed Bye-laws".

20. The salient feature of the proposed bye-laws are that to avoid the noise pollution, the directions of the Supreme Court in the case of George of Church of God (Full Gospel) v. K.K.R. Majestic Colony Welfare Association and others4, dated 30.8.2000 shall be complied with. The minimum area for sanctioning the map for construction of marriage halls shall be 1500 square meters. The minimum frontage shall be 18 meters. Marriage hall shall be at minimum 18 meters wide road. The covered area 30% in the developed area and in the new/ undeveloped area 40%, FAR in the developed area 1.00, undeveloped 1.50, 2.0 equal car space on every 100 square meter covered area. The salient features of the byelaws read as under:

Proposed Byelaws

दूरस्थ क्षेत्रों (नगर निगम की सीमा से बाहर) में 'बारात

घर'/'उत्सव भवन' के निर्माण/संचालन हेतु अपेक्षाएं–

बारात घर के संचालन हेतु बड़े भूखण्ड की अपेक्षा होती है एवं वाहन पार्किंग, सड़क जाम इत्यादि की समस्या भी उत्पन्न होती है। नगर के अन्दर स्थित बारात घरों से प्रायः जन–सामान्य को एवं बारात घर के निकट के निवासियों को असुविधा भी होती है। उक्त के दृष्टिगत बारात घर संचालन की अनुमति नगर निगम सीमा क्षेत्र के बाहर स्थित क्षेत्रों में प्रदान किया जाय। उक्त दूरस्थ क्षेत्रों में भूमि की उपलब्धता भी अधिक है एवं सड़को पर जाम इत्यादि की समस्या भी कम है। अतएव बारात घरों/उत्सव भवनों की अनुमति नगर निगम सीमा क्षेत्र के बाहर स्थित क्षेत्रों में निम्नलिखित प्रतिबन्धों के साथ प्रदान किया जाय–

1. अनुमन्यता 'बारात घर'/उत्सव भवन' के निर्माण की अनुमन्यता महायोजना जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के अनुसार होगी।

2. मा0 सर्वोच्च न्यायालय द्वारा चर्च आफ गॉड (फुल गासपिल) बनाम के.के.आर. मेजिस्टिक कालोनी वेलफेयर एशोसिएशन में पारित आदेश दिनांक 30.08. 2000 में स्पष्ट किया जा चुका है कि ध्वनी प्रदूषण के मानकों का अनुपालन किया जाना बाध्यकारी है एवं रात्री 10:00 बजे से लेकर प्रातः 06:00 बजे तक लाउडस्पीकर का प्रयोग पूर्णतः वर्जित है। अतएव बारात घर संचालकों को प्रदूषण नियंत्रण विभाग द्वारा निर्धारित ध्वनी प्रदूषण के मानकों का अनिवार्य रूप से अनुपालन करना होगा एवं रात्री के 10:00 बजे से प्रातः 06:00 बजे तक लाउडस्पीकर/डी.जे. इत्यादि का उपयोग पूर्णतः वर्जित रहेगा।

3. बारात घर के संचालकों को बुकिंग कराने वाले व्यक्तियों से बुकिंग से पूर्व इस आशय का शपथ पत्र प्राप्त करना होगा कि बारात घर में 100 मी0 अधिक दूर से बारात नहीं आयेगी एवं बारात विमान सड़क की चौड़ाई के अधिकतम एक चौथाई भाग में व्यवस्थित रूप से निकाली जायेगी, जिससे कि जन–सामान्य को आवागमन में कोई असुविधा न हो, इसका उल्लंघन करने की स्थिति में बुकिंग कराने वाले व्यक्ति एवं अन्य सम्बन्धित व्यक्तियों के विरूद्ध वैधानिक कार्यवाही की जायेगी।

4. भूखण्ड का क्षेत्रफल न्यूनतम 1500 वर्गमीटर

5. भूखण्ड का फ्रन्टेज न्यूनतम 18 मीटर

6. सड़क की विमान न्यूनतम 18 मीटर चौड़ाई

7. भू–आच्छादन

(क) निर्मित/विकसित क्षेत्र 30 प्रतिशत

(ख) नए/अविकसित क्षेत्र 40 प्रतिशत

8. एफ.ए.आर.

(क) निर्मित/विकसित क्षेत्र 1.00

(ख) नए/अविकसित क्षेत्र 1.50

9. भवन की ऊँचाई 30 मीटर से कम चौड़े मार्ग पर स्थित भवनों की अधिकतम ऊँचाई सड़क की विमान चौड़ाई तथा फ्रन्ट सेट–बैक के योग के डेढ़ गुना से अधिक नही होगी, परन्तु 30 मीटर एवं उससे

अधिक चौड़े मार्गों पर स्थित भवनों हेतु यह प्रतिबन्ध लागू नहीं होगा। भवन की अधिकतम ऊँचाई संरक्षित स्मारक/हैरिटेज स्थल से दूरी, एयरपोर्ट फनल जोन तथा अन्य स्टेट्युटरी प्रतिबन्धों से भी नियन्त्रित होगी।

10. सैट बैक 'बारात घर'/'उत्सव भवन' पृथकीकृत (डिटेच्ड) भवन के रूप में होगा तथा भूखण्ड के क्षेत्रफल के आधार पर न्यूनतम सैट–बैक नियमानुसार होगें:–

भूखण्ड का क्षेत्रफल (वर्गमीटर)	न्यूनतम सैट–बैक (मीटर)
	अग्र	पृष्ठ	पार्श्व–1	पार्श्व–2
2000 तक	12.0	4.5	4.5	3.0
2000 से अधिक	12.0	5.0	5.0	5.0

11. पार्किंग मानक प्रत्येक 100 वर्गमीटर तल क्षेत्रफल पर 2.0 'समान कार स्थल' की व्यवस्था भूखण्ड के अन्दर करनी होगी । पार्किंग की गणना भूखण्ड में अधिकतम अनुमन्य तल क्षेत्रफल पर की जाएगी। उक्त के अतिरिक्त यह भी प्रतिबन्ध होगा कि भूखण्ड के सम्पूर्ण क्षेत्रफल का न्यूनतम एक–चौथाई भाग वाहन पार्किंग हेतु आरक्षित रहेगा, जिस पर कोई अन्य गतिविधि अनुमन्य नहीं होगी

12. बेसमेंट बेसमेन्ट की अनुमान्यता भवन उपविधि के प्रस्तर–3.9 के अनुसार होगी।

13. अनुज्ञा की प्रक्रिया नई योजनाओं/अनुमोदित होने वाले ले–आउट प्लान्स में बारात घर/उत्सव भवन हेतु निर्धारित मानकों के अनुसार पहले ही अपेक्षित संख्या में भूखण्डों का चिन्हीकरण किया जाएगा और बारात घर के निर्माण की अनुज्ञा केवल इस प्रयोजन हेतु चिन्हित/आरक्षित भूखण्डों पर ही दी जाएगी। विमान विकसित कालोनियों/क्षेत्रों में अनुज्ञा प्रदान करने हेतु प्रस्तावित स्थल के सम्बन्ध में न्यूनतम एक माह की समयाविधि प्रदान करते हुए जनता से आपत्ति/सुझाव उचित माध्यम से आमन्त्रित किये जांएगे एवं उनके निस्तारण के उपरान्त मानचित्र स्वीकृति/निरस्तीकरण की कार्यवाही की जाएगी तथा बारात घर/उत्सव भवन अनुमन्य किये जाने पर आवेदक से जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के आधार पर प्रभाव शुल्क भी लिया जाएगा।

Temporarily Proposed Byelaws

उपविधि लागू होने की तिथि से अस्थायी रूप से मात्र दो वर्षों की अवधि तक नगर निगम की सीमान्तर्गत 'बारात घर'/'उत्सव भवन' के निर्माण/संचालन हेतु अपेक्षाएं–

बारात घर के संचालन हेतु बड़े भूखण्ड की अपेक्षा होती है एवं वाहन पार्किंग, सड़क जाम इत्यादि की समस्या भी उत्पन्न होती है। नगर के अन्दर स्थित बारात घरों से प्रायः जन–सामान्य को एवं बारात घर के निकट के निवासियों को असुविधा भी होती है। उक्त के दृष्टिगत बारात घर संचालन की अनुमति नगर निगम सीमा क्षेत्र के बाहर स्थित क्षेत्रों में प्रदान की जायेगी। वर्तमान में अधिकांश बारात घर नगर निगम सीमा के अन्तर्गत स्थित है अतएव इस उपविधि के लागू होने से 2 वर्षों का समय बारात घरों को नगर निगम सीमा क्षेत्र के बाहर स्थानान्तरित होने के लिये प्रदान किया जायेगा। उपविधि लागू होने से, अस्थायी रूप से, मात्र 2 वर्षों की अवधि तक नगर निगम सीमान्तर्गत स्थित बारात घरों को निम्न प्रतिबन्धों के साथ संचालन की अनुमति प्रदान की जायेगी।

1. अनुमन्यता 'बारात घर'/उत्सव भवन के निर्माण की अनुमन्यता महायोजना जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के अनुसार होगी।

2. मा0 सर्वोच्च न्यायालय द्वारा चर्च आफ गॉड (फुल गासपिल) बनाम के.के.आर.मेजिस्टिक कालोनी वेलफेयर एशोसिएशन में पारित आदेश दिनांक 30.08.2000 में स्पष्ट किया जा चुका है कि ध्वनी प्रदूषण के मानकों का अनुपालन किया जाना बाध्यकारी है एवं रात्री 10.00 बजे से लेकर प्रातः 06:00 बजे तक लाउडस्पीकर का प्रयोग पूर्णतः वर्जित है। अतएव बारात घर संचालाकों को प्रदूषण नियंत्रण विभाग द्वारा निर्धारित ध्वनी प्रदूषण के मानकों का अनिवार्य रूप से अनुपालन करना होगा एवं रात्री के 10:00 बजे से प्रातः 06.00 बजे तक लाउडस्पीकर/डी.जे. इत्यादि का उपयोग पूर्णतः वर्जित रहेगा।

3. बारात घर के संचालाकों को बुकिंग कराने वाले व्यक्तियों से बुकिंग से पूर्व इस आशय का शपथ पत्र प्राप्त करना होगा कि बारात घर में 100 मी0 अधिक दूर से बारात नहीं आयेगी एवं बारात विमान सड़क की चौड़ाई के अधिकतम एक चौथाई भाग में व्यवस्थित रूप से निकाली जायेगी, जिससे कि जन–सामान्य को आवागमन में कोई असुविधा न हो, इसका उल्लंघन करने की स्थिति में बुकिंग कराने वाले व्यक्ति एवं अन्य सम्बन्धित व्यक्तियों के विरूद्ध वैधानिक कार्यवाही की जायेगी।

4. भूखण्ड का क्षेत्रफल न्यूनतम 600 वर्गमीटर

5. भूखण्ड का फ्रन्टेज न्यूनतम 10 मीटर

6. सड़क की विमान चौड़ाई न्यूनतम 12 मीटर

7. भू–आच्छादन

(क) निर्मित/विकसित क्षेत्र 30 प्रतिशत

(ख) नए/अविकसित क्षेत्र 40 प्रतिशत
.8 एफ.ए.आर.
(क) निर्मित/विकसित क्षेत्र 1.00

(ख) नए/अविकसित क्षेत्र 1.50

9. भवन की ऊँचाई 30 मीटर से कम चौड़े मार्ग पर स्थित भवनों की अधिकतम ऊँचाई सड़क की विमान चौड़ाई तथा फ्रन्ट सेट–बैक के योग के डेढ़ गुना से अधिक नहीं होगी, परन्तु 30 मीटर एवं उससे अधिक चौड़े मार्गों पर स्थित भवनों हेतु यह प्रतिबन्ध लागू नहीं होगा। भवन की अधिकतम ऊँचाई संरक्षित स्मारक/हैरीटेड स्थल से दूरी, एयरपोर्ट फनल जोन तथा अन्य स्टेट्युटरी प्रतिबन्धों से भी नियन्त्रित होगी।

10. सैट बैक 'बारात घर'/'उत्सव भवन' पृथकीकृत (डिटेच्ड) भवन के रूप में होगा तथा भूखण्ड के क्षेत्रफल के आधार पर न्यूनतम सैट–बैक नियमानुसार होंगेः–

भूखण्ड का क्षेत्रफल (वर्गमीटर)	न्यूनतम सैट–बैक (मीटर)
	अग्र	पृष्ठ	पर्श्व –1	पर्श्व–2
2000 तक	04.0	1.5	1.5	1.0
2000 से अधिक	12.0	5.0	5.0	5.0

11. पार्किंग मानक प्रत्येक 100 वर्गमीटर तल क्षेत्रफल पर 2.0 'समान कार स्थल' की व्यवस्था भूखण्ड के अन्दर करनी होगी। पार्किंग की गणना भूखण्ड में अधिकतम अनुमन्य तल क्षेत्रफल पर की जाएगी। उक्त के अतिरिक्त यह भी प्रतिबन्ध होगा कि भूखण्ड के सम्पूर्ण क्षेत्रफल का न्यूनतम एक–चौथाई भाग वाहन पार्किंग हेतु आरक्षित रहेगा, जिस पर कोई अन्य गतिविधि अनुमन्य नहीं होगी।

12. बेसमेंट बेसमेन्ट की अनुमान्यता भवन उपविधि के प्रस्तर–3.9 के अनुसार होगी।

13. अनुज्ञा की प्रक्रिया नई योजनाओं/अनुमोदित होने वाले ले–आउट प्लान्स में बारात घर/उत्सव भवन हेतु निर्धारित मानको के अनुसार पहले ही अपेक्षित संख्या में भूखण्डों का चिन्हीकरण किया जाएगा और बारात घर के निर्माण की अनुज्ञा केवल इस प्रयोजन हेतु चिन्हित/आरक्षित भूखण्डों पर ही दी जाएगी। विमान विकसित कालोनियों/क्षेत्रों में अनुज्ञा प्रदान करने हेतु प्रस्तावित स्थल के सम्बन्ध में न्यूनतम एक माह की समयाविधि प्रदान करते हुए जनता से आपत्ति/सुझाव उचित माध्यम से आमन्त्रित किये जाएंगे एवं उनके निस्तारण के उपरान्त मानचित्र स्वीकृति/निरस्तीकरण की कार्यवाही की जाएगी तथा बारात घर/ उत्सव भवन अनुमन्य किये जाने पर आवेदक से जोनिंग रेगुलेशन्स के आधार पर प्रभाव शुल्क भी लिया जाएगा।

21. During the course of hearing, learned counsel for the Development Authority has produced the Master Plan before us. In respect of the zonal plan of the city, learned counsel has made a statement that so far only one zonal plan has been prepared for Civil Lines and the adjoining area.

22. Regard being had to the fact that the Master Plan of the city was published on 13.7.2006 and the zonal development plan could be prepared of only one sub-zone i.e. B-4 on 7.3.2011 which was enforced from 18.3.2011. It is amazing that after 19 years of enforcement of Master Plan the zonal plan for entire city is yet to be made except one area.

23. It is apposite to refer the statutory provisions which regulate development of the area. The State Government enacted the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 with the object of planned development of the developed area.

24. Chapter-II of the Act, 1973 deals with the Development Authority and its objects. Section-3 deals with declaration of the development areas; Section-4 provides that the State Government may constitute a Development Authority for any development area. Chapter-III deals with the Master Plan and Zonal Development Plan. A Master Plan is prepared by the experts keeping future needs in the view. Section-8 of the Act, 1973 reads as under:

"8. Civil survey of, and master plan for the development area.--(1) The Authority shall as soon as may be, prepare a master plan for the development area.

(2) The master plan shall

(a) define the various zones into which the development area may be divided for the purposes of development and indicate the manner in which the land in each zone is proposed to be used (whether by the carrying out thereon of development or otherwise) and the stages by which any such development shall be carried out; and

(b) serve as a basic pattern of framework within which the zonal development plans of the various zones may be prepared.

(3) The master plan may provide for any other matter which may be necessary for the proper development of the development area."

25. Section-9 deals with Zonal Development Plans. As the Master Plan requires that the developed area be divided in various zones. Relevant provision of Section-9 reads as under:

"9. Zonal Development Plans.-

(1) Simultaneously with the preparation of the master plan or as soon as may be thereafter, the Authority shall proceed with the preparation of a zonal development plan for each of the zones into which the development area may be divided.

(2) A zonal development plan may---

(a) contain a site-plan and use-plan for the development of the zone and show the approximate locations and extents of land uses proposed in the zone for such things as public buildings and other public works and utilities, roads, housing, recreation, industry, business, markets, schools, hospitals and public and private open spaces and other categories of public and private uses;

(b) specify the standards of population density and building density;

(c) ... ...

(d) In particular, contain provisions regarding all or any of the following matters, namely-

(i) ... ...

(ii) the allotment or reservation of land for roads, open spaces, gardens, recreation-grounds, schools, markets and other public purposes;

(iii) the development of any area into a township or colony and the restrictions and conditions subject to which such development may be undertaken or carried out;

(iv) the erection of buildings on any site and the restrictions and conditions in regard to the open spaces to be maintained in or around buildings and height and character of buildings:

(v) ... ...

(vi) ... ...

(vii) ... ...

(viii) ... ...

(ix) the prohibitions or restrictions regarding erection of shops, work-shops, warehouses of factories or buildings of a specified architectural feature or buildings designed for particular purposes in the locality,

(x) ... ...

(xi) the restrictions regarding the use of any site for purposes other than erection of buildings;

(xii) any other matter which is necessary for the proper development of the zone or any area thereof according to plan and for preventing buildings being erected haphazardly, in such zone or area."

26. Chapter-IV of the Act, 1973 deals with the amendment of Master Plan and the Zonal Plan. Sub-sections (1) and (2) of Section-13 of the Act, 1973 provide that the Authority can make the amendment which does not affect the character of plan and the extent of land use or the standard of population density. Sub-section (2) of Section-13 empowers the State Government to make the amendment in the Master Plan. Sub-sections (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) of Section 13 of the Act, 1973 lays down the procedure for the amendment in the Master Plan. Chapter-V of the Act, 1973 deals with the development of lands. Section 14 requires that in the area which has been declared as development area under Section 3, no development shall be undertaken or carried out without permission in writing from the Vice Chairman. Section 15 of the Act, 1973 deals with the application for permission. Sub-section 5 of Section 15 of the Act, 1973 provide that if the permission is refused, the aggrieved person may appeal to the Chairman against the said order. Section 16 of the Act, 1973 prohibits use of land and building in contravention with the plan. Section 26 lays down the penalties and development is undertaken or carries out in contravention of the Master Plan or Zonal Development Plan or without the permission, approval or sanction under Section 14 of the Act, 1973. Sub-section (2) of Section 26 provides that if any person contravenes the provisions of Section 16 or the condition prescribed by the Regulations shall be punishable with the fine which may extend to Rs. 25000/- and in case of continuing offence Rs. 1250/- for everyday. Sub-section (3) of Section 26 further provides that the said act shall be punishable with the imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine.

27. Section 28-A of the Act, 1973 has been inserted by U.P. Act No. 3 of 1997 which reads as under:

"28-A. Power to seal unauthorised development: ---(1) It shall be lawful for the Vice-Chairman or an officer empowered by him in the behalf, as the case may be, at any time before or after making an order for the removal or discontinuance of any development under Section 27 or Section 28 to make any order directing the sealing of such development in a development area in such manner as may be prescribed for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this Act.

(2) Where any development has been scaled, the Vice-Chairman or the officer empowered by him in this behalf, as the case may be, for purpose of removing or discontinuing such development order the seal be removed.

(3) No person shall remove such seal except under an order made under sub-section (2) by the Vice-Chairman, or the officer empowered by him in this behalf.

(4) Any person aggrieved by an order made under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) may appeal to the Chairman against that order within thirty days from the date thereof and the Chairman may after hearing the parties to the appeal, either allow or dismiss the appeal.

(5) The decision of the Chairman shall be final."

28. The aforesaid statutory provisions clearly demonstrate that the Development Authority has ample power to get its bye-laws implemented effectively but no action has been taken by the Development Authority for compliance of its bye-laws dealing with marriage halls and most of the marriage halls are running in blatant violation of bye-laws.

29. As noticed above, in the city there are 200 marriage halls in Allahabad. It is an admitted case of the Development Authority that none of the marriage halls are in conformity with the bye-laws made by Prayagraj Development Authority. It is also admitted at the bar by the Development Authority that the area earmarked for underground parking is not available in any of the marriage halls. It is evident from the aforesaid facts that the bye-laws have been completely breached by marriage hall owners with impunity.

30. It is a trite law that it is duty of the Court to enforce performance of the statutory obligation by the statutory authorities and tax payers have a legal right to demand compliance of law and the statutory provisions which have been made for the benefit of the residents of locality. The Supreme Court in the case of Sri K. Ramdas Shenoy v. The Chief Officers, Town Municipal Council, Udipi and others5, has observed that "there is special interest in the performance of the duty. All the residents in the area have their interest in the performance of the duty. The special and substantial interest of the residents in the area are injured by all the illegal constructions.

31. In the case of Sri K. Ramdas Shenoy (supra) the Municipal Committee had approved construction of a cinema hall on the ground that the site was earmarked for construction of lecture hall. The High Court declined to quash the resolution on the ground that cinema hall owner has spent huge amount. The matter went to the Supreme Court which set aside the judgment of the High Court and held that "the rights of the residents in the area are invaded by an illegal construction of a cinema hall building. It has to be remembered that a scheme in residential area means planned orderliness in accordance with the requirement of the residents. If the scheme is nullified by arbitrary acts in excess and derogation of the power of the municipality, the Court will quash the order passed by municipalities in such cases.

32. In the case of Machavarapu Srinivasa Rao v. Vijaywada, Guntur, Tenli Mangal Giri Urban Development Authority6, the Supreme Court has observed that the Master Plan or Zonal Development Plan is approved by the State Government. After they are finalized even the State Government / Development Authority cannot use the land for any purpose other than specified therein except by amendment in Master Plan. In the case of R.K. Mittal v. State of U.P.7, the Court has considered the provisions of the U.P. Urban Planning and Land Development Act, 1973 and has held that "the Master Plan and the Zonal Plan specified the user as a residential and, therefore, those plots cannot be used for other purposes. The plans have a binding effect in law. If the scheme / master plan is being nullified by an arbitrary act in excess and derogation of power of the Development Authority under law, the Court will intervene and would direct such authority to take appropriate action and whenever necessary even quash the orders of the Development Authority". The Court has further held that the convenience of the residents and ecological impact are relevant considerations for the Courts while deciding such issues. It is held that the law imposes an obligation upon the Development Authority to strictly adhere to the plan, regulations and the provisions of the Act thus it cannot ignore its fundamental duty by doing acts impermissible in law.

33. In the case of Dipak Kumar Mukherjee v. Kolkata Municipal Corporation and others8, the Court has noticed the need of planned development of cities and highlighted the need of the public good and observed that the private interest stand subordinate to the public good quoting with approval the judgment in Friends Colony Development Committee v. State of Orissa9. Paragraph-22 of the judgment in Friends Colony Development Committee (supra) reads as under:

"22. In all developed and developing countries there is emphasis on planned development of cities which is sought to be achieved by zoning, planning and regulating building construction activity. Such planning, though highly complex, is a matter based on scientific research, study and experience leading to rationalisation of laws by way of legislative enactments and rules and regulations framed thereunder. Zoning and planning do result in hardship to individual property owners as their freedom to use their property in the way they like, is subjected to regulation and control. The private owners are to some extent prevented from making the most profitable use of their property. But for this reason alone the controlling regulations cannot be termed as arbitrary or unreasonable. The private interest stands subordinated to the public good. It can be stated in a way that power to plan development of city and to regulate the building activity therein flows from the police power of the State. The exercise of such governmental power is justified on account of it being reasonably necessary for the public health, safety, morals or general welfare and ecological considerations; though an unnecessary or unreasonable intermeddling with the private ownership of the property may not be justified."

34. In the case of Dipak Kumar Mukherjee (supra), the Court has also noticed that "illegal and unauthorized construction of buildings and other structures not only violates the municipal law and concept of the planned development of a particular area but also affects various fundamental and constitutional rights of other persons. The Court has also taken a judicial notice in respect of demolition of hutments, jhuggi jhopris belonging to the marginalized section of the society. Relevant part of the order in Dipak Kumar Mukherjee (supra) reads as under:

"8. What needs to be emphasised is that illegal and unauthorised constructions of buildings and other structures not only violate the municipal laws and the concept of planned development of the particular area but also affect various fundamental and constitutional rights of other persons. The common man feels cheated when he finds that those making illegal and unauthorised constructions are supported by the people entrusted with the duty of preparing and executing master plan/development plan/zonal plan. The reports of demolition of hutments and jhuggi jhopris belonging to the poor and disadvantaged section of the society frequently appear in the print media but one seldom gets to read about demolition of illegally/unauthorisedly constructed multi-storied structures raised by economically affluent people. The failure of the State apparatus to take prompt action to demolish such illegal constructions has convinced the citizens that planning laws are enforced only against poor and all compromises are made by the State machinery when it is required to deal with those who have money power or unholy nexus with the power corridors."

35. A similar observation has been made by the Supreme Court in the case of Shanti Sports Club and another v. Union of India and others10, the Court has observed that the affluent and powerful people with support of the political and executive apparatus of the State have constructed commercial complexes, multiplexes, malls etc. in blatant violation of the Master Plan and Zonal Development Plans. While these constructions are raised, the officers of the development authorities and other regulatory bodies turn blind eye due to influence of higher functionaries of the State for other extraneous reasons. The Court has also construed the grave consequence of their action on the present and future generation and the country as valid force to live in unplanned cities in urban areas. These illegal constructions contrary to the Master Plan and Zonal Plan put the unreasonable burden on infrastructure such as sewerage, water, electricity and they create chaos on the road. The Court has further observed that the pollution caused by the traffic congestion affects the health of pedestrians and the people belonging to weaker section of the society who do not have air conditioners, luxury cars and they are made to suffer from skin diseases, asthama, allergy and cancer. The Court has also observed that despite repeated judgments of the Supreme Court and the High Court, the builders and other affluent people pay scant regard to law and the directions of the Court. Relevant part of the judgment is extracted below:

"74. In the last four decades, almost all cities, big or small, have seen unplanned growth. In the 21st century, the menace of illegal and unauthorised constructions and encroachments has acquired monstrous proportions and everyone has been paying heavy price for the same. Economically affluent people and those having support of the political and executive apparatus of the State have constructed buildings, commercial complexes, multiplexes, malls, etc. in blatant violation of the municipal and town planning laws, master plans, zonal development plans and even the sanctioned building plans. In most of the cases of illegal or unauthorised constructions, the officers of the municipal and other regulatory bodies turn blind eye either due to the influence of higher functionaries of the State or other extraneous reasons. Those who construct buildings in violation of the relevant statutory provisions, master plan, etc. and those who directly or indirectly abet such violations are totally unmindful of the grave consequences of their actions and/or omissions on the present as well as future generations of the country which will be forced to live in unplanned cities and urban areas. The people belonging to this class do not realise that the constructions made in violation of the relevant laws, master plan or zonal development plan or sanctioned building plan or the building is used for a purpose other than the one specified in the relevant statute or the master plan, etc. Such constructions put unbearable burden on the public facilities/amenities like water, electricity, sewerage, etc. apart from creating chaos on the roads. The pollution caused due to traffic congestion affects the health of the road users. The pedestrians and people belonging to weaker sections of the society, who cannot afford the luxury of air-conditioned cars, are the worst victims of pollution. They suffer from skin diseases of different types, asthma, allergies and even more dreaded diseases like cancer. It can only be a matter of imagination how much the Government has to spend on the treatment of such persons and also for controlling pollution and adverse impact on the environment due to traffic congestion on the roads and chaotic conditions created due to illegal and unauthorised constructions. This Court has, from time to time, taken cognizance of buildings constructed in violation of municipal and other laws and emphasised that no compromise should be made with the town planning scheme and no relief should be given to the violator of the town planning scheme, etc. on the ground that he has spent substantial amount on construction of the buildings, etc. ..."

36. In the case of M.C. Mehta v. Union of India and others11, the Supreme Court elaborately went on to the issue of unauthorized use contrary to the Master Plan and Zonal Plan. The Court has referred the first principle of Stockholm Declaration of United Nations on Human Environment, 1972, and quoted with the approval of its earlier judgment in Virender Gaur and others v. State of Haryana and others12.

37. This Court has observed that the State has a duty to maintain the ecological plans and hygienic environment. The Supreme Court in a series of cases in M.C. Mehta (supra), has issued various directions in respect of running of commercial activity including the industry within the limits and has also issued a direction to the Government of NCT of Delhi to frame a policy for holding functions (marriages) in local area in NCT of Delhi. In pursuance of the orders passed by the Supreme Court, the Director of Local Bodies, Government of NCT of Delhi issued a public notice on 26.2.2019 and suggestions were invited from the public to the said draft. Some of the provisions in the draft policy are relevant for our purposes which can be considered by the PDA in its draft bye-laws which has been produced before us.

38. Along with the draft policy a Schedule-I is relevant for our purposes:

Schedule-I

(Format of undertaking by the owner/ organizer of event w.r.t. General Condition)

I .....(Owner/ Organizer), hereby confirm to abide by following general conditions to conduct .....(name of event) on ..... (date & time.);

a. I will not permit any parking outside the authorized/ approved space on roadside.

b. I will deploy my own security guards to manage the parking within the premises.

c. The number of guests and parking space available will be displayed at the main entrance on a board of minimum size 6' x 4'.

d. No loudspeakers and bands will be permitted beyond 10.00PM

e. Processions and horse-drawn carriage will not be permitted on the roads outside the Motel. However, Horse carriage will be allowed within the premises of Motels.

f. Sanitary conditions will be maintained in and around Motel during and and after the completion of duration of functions and in event of violation, the violators will be persecuted in accordance with law.

g. CCTV cameras on entry/ exit points shall be installed by myself with minimum 30 days recording capacity or in accordance with the directions of Police Authorities whichever is more.

h. I shall obtain fire clearance from Delhi Fire services for holding the functions in the Permanent building.

i. I shall make arrangement to dispose off solid waste as per the 'Solid Waste Management Rules 2016'.

j. I will make sufficient arrangement of water supply for consumption of guests and water for fire tank from legal sources.

k. In house treatment facility of waste water will be installed of sufficient capacity in conformity of CPCB and DPCC norms.

l. Treated water will be compulsorily used for non potable purpose.

m. No untreated waste will be discharged in to drain or sewer.

n. The premises will have electricity connection installed of requisite capacity and use of DG set must be resorted to in event of power failure only.

o. All DG sets installed will meet the air pollution and noise pollution norms as per CPCB.

Signature owner/ organizer

39. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sushil Chandra Srivastava and another v. State of U.P. and others, Writ-C No. 1216 of 2019, decided on 20.8.2019, in somewhat similar context has observed as under:

"...It is indeed a great pity that authorities appears to have developed a tendency to wait a direction from the Government or the Courts to remind their duties cast upon them by the Statute. The Supreme Court in the case of Delhi Airtech Services (P) Ltd V. State of U.P (2011)9 SCC 354 has held that--

"42. As far as this Court is concerned, being conscious of its constitutional obligation to protect the fundamental rights of the people, it has issued directions in various types of cases relating to the protection of environment and preventing pollution. For effective orders to be passed, so as to ensure that there can be protection of environment along with development, it becomes necessary for the court dealing with such issues to know about the local conditions. Such conditions in different parts of the country are supposed to be better known to the High Courts. The High Courts would be in a better position to ascertain facts and to ensure and examine the implementation of the anti-pollution laws where the allegations relate to the spreading of pollution or non-compliance of other legal provisions leading to the infringement of the anti-pollution laws. For a more effective control and monitoring of such laws, the High Courts have to shoulder greater responsibilities in tackling such issues which arise or pertain to the geographical areas within their respective States. Even in cases which have ramifications all over India, where general directions are issued by this Court, more effective implementation of the same can, in a number of cases, be effected, if the High Courts concerned assume the responsibility of seeing to the enforcement of the laws and examine the complaints, mostly made by the local inhabitants, about the infringement of the laws and spreading of pollution or degradation of ecology."

40. For all the reasons mentioned above, we are of the view that ends of justice requires to issue directions for running and maintaining marriage halls in the city. Accordingly, Prayagraj Development Authority is directed to get the proposed bye-laws approved from the State Government within four weeks from the date of certified copy of this order is received by it. Till the proposed bye-laws are approved and made effective by the State Government, the existing bye-laws shall continue with the directions issued below:

(i) In respect of noise pollution caused at marriage halls, the directions issued by this Court in Sushil Chandra Srivastava (supra) shall be applicable. No loudspeaker shall be used beyond the permissible limit under the schedule of Noise Pollution (Regulation and Control) Rules, 2000. It is pertinent to mention that in Sushil Chandra Srivastava (supra) the Court has issued direction to the competent authority not to grant permission for DJ;

(ii) If any marriage hall is found to violate the level of noise pollution or the judgment of this Court in Sushil Chandra Srivastava (supra), a fine of rupees one lakh at the first instance; five lakh at the second instance and ten lakhs at the third instance shall be imposed. After the third offence the licence under Section 3 read with Section 14 of the Sarais Act, 1867 shall be cancelled by the District Magistrate;

(iii) If any resident near the marriage hall is disturbed by the excessive noise caused by loudspeaker or other instruments which is beyond permissible limit under the Rules, 2000, shall inform the police at Telephone No. 100. In case any such complaint is made, the police shall follow the directions of this Court in Sushil Chandra Srivastava (supra).

(iv) Barat shall be assembled within 100 meters from marriage hall and in case of violation, the penalty shall be imposed upon the owner of the marriage hall.

(v) The marriage hall owner shall furnish an affidavit in the format of Schedule-I of Draft Policy of NCT of Delhi extracted above; and

(vi) As regards the draft temporarily proposed bye-laws are concerned, we do not approve it as it is against the existing bye-laws.

41. List this case on 6th November, 2019 before the appropriate Bench. The Secretary, PDA shall file the progress report on the next date.

(2019)10ILR A 1524

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON'BLE PANKAJ BHATIA, J.

Writ-C No. 9071 of 2010

Ram Singh & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Rajesh Kumar Gupta, Sri Kamlesh Kumar, Sri R.N. Tripathi

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Brijendra Kumar

A. Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 - Section 3 & Section 35 - Possession not taken as per the Act - no compensation granted - no recourse u/s 10 (6) taken - possession not illegal and subsequent transfer of the land to the Allahabad Development Authority is in derogation of the Act - Repeal Act will apply.

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. U. P. Vs Hari Ram (2013) 4 Supreme Court Cases 280

2. St. of Assam Vs Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma & ors. (2015) 5 Supreme Court Cases 321

3. Shiv Ram Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors. {2015(7) ADJ 630 (DB)}

4. St. of U. P. Vs Hari Ram (2013) 4 Supreme Court Cases 280

5. St. of U. P. & anr. Vs Nek Singh (2010) LawSuit (All) 3581

6. Ram Chandra Pandey Vs St. of U.P. through Secretary, Avas, Lucknow (2010) (82) ALR 136

7. Ram Singh & ors. Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2013) (120) RD 389

8. Lalji Vs St. of U.P. & 2 ors. (2018) LawSuit (All) 1276

9. St. of U. P. & anr. Vs Vinod Kumar Tripathi & ors. -SLP (C) No.38922 of (2013)

10. Nanku Lal Yadav Vs St. of U.P. & 3 ors. - Writ C No.60193 of (2015).

11. Mohammad Suaif & anr. Vs St. of U.P. & ors. -Writ C No.12696 of (2009)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Shri R.N. Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The petitioners in the present petition claim to be the owners of Bhumidhari land situate at village Chaka Tehsil Karchhana District Allahabad and claim to be in possession of the property in question since for the last about 65 years.

3. The present petition seeks a writ of mandamus declaring the proceedings initiated against the petitioners under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act No.36 of 1976 (herein after referred to as 'the Act') as abated in view of the Repealing Act of 1999.

4. It is alleged that a notice under Section 8 (3) of the Act was served upon the petitioners and the father of the petitioners have filed objections against the said notice on 18.9.1979, however, by means of an ex-parte order the land of the petitioners were declared as surplus by the competent authority on 30.11.1979 (Annexure-2 to the writ petition). It is claimed that no further steps were taken in pursuance to the order dated 30.11.1979 and the petitioners continued to be in actual physical possession of the property in question.

5. The petitioners claimed that the petitioners are still in possession over the said land till date and the physical possession of the said land had not been taken by the respondents till date and up till now the petitioners are cultivating the aforesaid land as the same is an agricultural land.

6. It is stated that the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 enacted by the Parliament in exercise of its legislative power under Article 252 (1) of the Constitution of India and came into force in U.P. by adopting aforesaid act under Article 252(2) of the Constitution of India on 17.6.1976. Thereafter Parliament passed a Repeal Act No.15 of 1999 on 22.3.1999 and same is adopted by the state of U.P. by Repeal Act no.15 of 1999 which came into force in Uttar Pradesh by Repeal Act no. 15 of 1999 which came into force in Uttar Pradesh on 31.3.1999.

7. It is also alleged in the writ petition that no compensation was aver paid or accepted by the petitioners under the Ceiling Act. It is also stated that the name of the petitioners' father was entered in the revenue record against Gata Nos. 165, 533, 561 & 196 and after the death of the father of the petitioners, the names of the petitioners were duly recorded vide order dated 14.6.2002. It is also brought on record that the petitioners continued to be in physical possession of the property in question and that the petitioners had deposited the Tube well charges regarding the land in question for cultivation for the years 2008 and 2009. In view of the factual averments made as well as relying upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Hari Ram (2013) 4 Supreme Court Cases 280, the petitioners claim that they are entitled to reliefs claimed in the writ petition.

8. In the counter affidavit filed by the State Government, no documents have been annexed to demonstrate as to how the possession was taken, the only defence taken is that the name of the State Government has been mutated in the revenue records and that the writ petition filed after several years, is liable to be dismissed.

On 13.3.2019, this Court had passed the following order:-

"Learned Standing Counsel has produced the original record. We find that the petitioners have annexed a notice dated 5.2.1986 under Section 10(5) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 issued to the tenure holder/ petitioner which shows that two officers have taken possession on behalf of the State and the Prescribed Authority. There is no explanation of the tenure holder to indicate that he has given possession to the aforesaid authority. In the original record same document is on the record hence we accept annexure-2 as a correct document.

We have carefully perused the original record and we find that no document pertains to the proceeding under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 has been shown is in the original record. After perusal, the original record is returned to Sri Mohan Srivastava, learned Standing Counsel.

Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the petitioners are still in possession and he has drawn our attention to the averments made in paragraph nos. 4, 7 & 8 which have not been specifically denied in the counter affidavit.

Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. v. Hari Ram, (2013) 4 SCC 280 and a judgment of a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Nanaku Lal Yadav v. State of U.P. and others, Writ-C No. 60193 of 2015.

We have heard Sri R.N. Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners and learned standing counsel at length.

Judgement is reserved."

9. Allahabad Development Authority has also filed a counter affidavit stating that the possession was transferred to Allahabad Development Authority vide a Government Order dated 11.12.1996 and has relied upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others (2015) 5 Supreme Court Cases 321 to contend that the writ petition is liable to be dismissed on the ground that the possession has already been transferred by a Government Order, the petition is highly belated and in view of the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others (supra) the writ petition is liable to be dismissed. The standing counsel has also relied upon the Division Bench judgement of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others {2015(7) ADJ 630 (DB)}.

10. The counsel for the petitioners has relied upon the judgements in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Hari Ram (2013) 4 Supreme Court Cases 280, State of Uttar Pradesh and another Vs. Nek Singh 2010 LawSuit (All) 3581, Ram Chandra Pandey Vs. State of U.P. through Secretary, Avas, Lucknow 2010 (82) ALR 136, Ram Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others 2013 (120) RD 389, Lalji Vs. State of U.P. and 2 others 2018 LawSuit (All) 1276, the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case rendered in Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.38922 of 2013, State of Uttar Pradesh and another Vs. Vinod Kumar Tripathi & others and the judgement passed in Writ C No.60193 of 2015 Nanku Lal Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and 3 others, decided on 8.3.2018.

11. The factual aspects of the present writ petition are clear to the effect that no possession was taken by the Collector under Section 10 (5) of the Act, the possession memo shown to us does not even bear the signatures of the person giving the possession, there is no factual dispute that the petitioners are still in actual physical possession of the property in question as well as no compensation was either paid or received by the petitioner in the present case. It is also not disputed that no recourse was taken to Section 10 (6) of the Act. This Court extensively considered a similar matter in Writ C No.12696 of 2009 Mohammad Suaif and another Vs. State of U.P. and others, decided on 7.5.2019 and had duly considered the judgements of the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram (Supra) followed by this High Court in series of judgements as well as the judgement of the Supreme Court rendered in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others (supra) this Court after considering the entire judgements framed the following questions:-

i) whether the possession taken by the State Government can be termed as a valid possession in accordance with law provided under the Act No.33 of 1976 read with the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 ?

ii) whether the possession not taken inconsonance with the provisions of the Act and Directions can be termed to be a legal possession ?

iii) whether the subsequent transfer of the land to Allahabad Development Authority can be a sole ground for denying the reliefs to the petitioners ?

iv) what would be the effect of the Repeal Act, in the event the possession is held not to be taken in accordance with the statutory provisions ?

v) whether the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others (2015) 5 Supreme Court Cases 321 can be applied to the cases arising in the State of Uttar Pradesh ?

12. This Court after duly considering the judgements and the provisions of law recorded that in the State of Uttar Pradesh the position of law was as under:-

13. The Urban (Ceiling and Regulation) Act was promulgated as Act No.33 of 1976 and it came into force on 17.2.1976. The object of the Act was to provide for imposition of ceiling of vacant land in urban conglomeration and for acquisition of such lands which were held in excess of the ceiling limits.

14. In terms of Act No.33 of 1976 by virtue of powers conferred under Section 35 of the said Act. The State of Uttar Pradesh issued specific directions prescribing the manner for taking possession known as the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983.

15. The Act No.33 of 1976 was repealed by Section 2 of the Repeal Act, 1999 and the said Repeal Act was adopted in the State of Uttar Pradesh on 18.3.1999. By virtue of Section 3 of the Repeal Act, savings clause was provided, Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 is being quoted herein below:-

"Section 3 in The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999

3. Saving.--

(1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect--

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section (3) of Section 10, possession of which has been taken over the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where--

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government."

16. The relevant directions issued under Section 35 of the Act No.33 of

1976 known as The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession payment of amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976) are quoted herein below:-

The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession payment of amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976):

"In exercise of the powers under Section 35 of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (Act No.33 of 1976), the governor is pleased to issue the following directions relating to the powers and duties of the Competent Authority in respect of amount referred to in Section 11 of the aforesaid Act to the person or persons entitled thereto:

1. Short title, application and Commencement -These directions may be called the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession Payment of Amount and Allied Matters Directions, 1983).

2. The provisions contained in this direction shall be subjected to the provisions of any directions or rules or orders issued by the Central Government with such directions or rules or orders.

3. They shall come into force with effect from the date of publication in the Gazette.

2. Definitions:-

3. Procedure for taking possession of vacant Land in excess of Ceiling Limit-(1) The Competent Authority will maintain a register in From No.ULC -1 for each case regarding which notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act is published in the Gazette.

4. (2) an order in Form No.ULC-II will be sent to each land holder as prescribed under sub-section (5) of Section 109 of the Act and the date of issue and service of the order will be entered in Column 8 of Form No.ULC-1.

(3) On possession of the excess vacant land being taken in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, entries will be made in a register in Form ULC-III and also in Column 9 of the Form No.ULC-1. The Competent Authority shall in token of verification of the entries, put his signatures in column 11 of Form No.ULC-1 and Column 10 of Form No.ULC-III.

Form No. ULC-1 Register of Notice u/s 10-(3) and 10(5)

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Serial No. of Register of Receipt Serial No. of Register of Taking possessi-on	Case number	Date of Notification u/s 10 (3)	Land to be acquired	Date of taking over possession	Remarks	Signature of competent Authority

Form No. ULC-II

Notice order u/s 10(5) (See clause (2) of Direction (3)

In the Court of Competent Authority

U.L.C. .....

No..... Date .....

Sri/Smt.....T/o .....

In exercise of the powers vested un/s 10(5) of the Urban Land Ceiling and Regulation Act, 1976 (Act No.33 of 1976, you are hereby informed that vide Notification No..... dated ..... under section 10(1) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated... following land has vested absolutely in the State free from all encumbrances as a consequence Notification u/s 10(3) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated ..... Notification No..... dated .... With effect from ..... you are hereby ordered to surrender or deliver the possession of the land to the Collector of the District Authorised in this behalf under Notification No.324/II-27-U.C.77 dated February 9, 1977, published in the gazette, dated March 12, 1977, within thirty days from the date of receipt of this order otherwise action under sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act will follow.

Description of Vacant Land

Location	Khasra number identification	Area	Remarks
1	2	3	4

Competent Authority

.....

.....

Dated.....

Copy forwarded to the Collector ..... with the request that action for immediate taking over of the possession of the above detailed surplus land and its proper maintenance may, kindly be taken an intimation be given to the undersigned along with copy of certificate to verify.

Competent Authority .....

....."

17. The State Government issued a Government Order No. 2228/आठ–6–15–124 यूसी/13 dated 29th September, 2015 accepting the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Hari Ram (Supra) and necessary directions were issued to take steps for compliance and decision in terms of the directions in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Hari Ram (Supra). Copy of the said Government Order dated 29.9.2015 is quoted herein below:-

संख्या – 2228/आठ–6–15–124 यूसी/13

प्रेषक,

पनधारी यादव

सचिव,

उत्तर प्रदेश शासन।

सेवा मे,

जिलाधिकारी,

गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर

आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर।

आवास एवं शहरी नियोजन अनुभाग–6 लखनऊ : दिनांक 29 सितम्बर 2015

विषय नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 ततक्रम में निर्गत शासनादेश तथा मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 के सम्बन्ध में।

————

महोदय,

उपयुर्क्त विषय पर मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि भारत सरकार के अधिनियम संख्या–15/1999 दिनांक 18.03.1999 द्वारा नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) अधिनियम 1976 को निरसित करते हुए नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम 1999 प्राख्यापित किया गया जिसके क्रम में शासनादेश संख्या– 502/9– न0 भू0–99–21यू0 सी0/99, दिंनांक 31.03.1999 द्वारा उक्त निरसन अधिनियम को उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य में अंगीकृत किया गया। निरसन अधिनियम 1999 की धारा–3 मे यह प्राविधान है कि मूल अधिनियम का निरसन निम्नलिखित को प्रभावित नहीं करेगा–

(1) (क) धारा–10 की उपधारा– (3) के अधीन ऐसी रिक्त भूमि का निहित होना, जिसका कब्जा राज्य

सरकार या राज्य सरकार द्वारा इस निमित्त सम्यक रूप से अधिकृतक किसी व्यक्ति या सक्षम प्राधिकारी ने ले लिया है।

(ख) धारा– 20 की उपधारा– (1) के अधीन छूट देने संबंधी किसी आदेश या उसके अधीन की गयी किसी कार्यवाही की किसी न्यायालय के किसी निर्णय में उसके विरूद्ध किसी बात के होते हुए भी विधिमान्यताः

(ग) धारा– 20 की उपधारा– (1) के अधीन प्रदान की गयी छूट की शर्त के रूप मे राज्य सरकार को किया गया कोई संदायः

(2) जहां–

(क) मूल अधिनियम की धारा–10 की उपधारा (3) के अधीन किसी भूमि को राज्य सरकार मे निहित होना मानी गयी है किन्तु जिसका कब्जा राज्य सरकार या राज्य सरकार द्वारा इस निमित्त सम्यक रूप से प्राधिकृत किसी व्यक्ति या सक्षम प्राधिकारी द्वारा नही लिया गया : और

(ग) ऐसी किसी भूमि के बाबत जिसके लिए राज्य सरकार द्वारा किसी रकम का संदाय कर दिया गया है तब तक प्रत्यावर्तित नही की जाय और जब तक कि राज्य सरकार को संदाय की गयी रकम का यदि कोई हो, प्रतिदाय नही कर दिया जाता।

उक्त के क्रम मे शासनादेश संख्या–777/9न0भू0–135 यू0 सी0/99 दिनांक 09.02.2000, शासनादेश संख्या –1623/9– न0भू0–2000 दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश संख्या–190/9–आ–6– 2001 दिनांक 24.01.2001 निर्गत किये गये जिसमे मुख्य रूप से यह व्यवस्था की गई कि मूल अधिनियम धारा –8 (4) के अन्तर्गत जो भूमि रिक्त घोषित की गई थी और धारा–10 (3) के अन्तर्गत राज्य मे निहित हो चुकी थी एवं धारा–10 (5) की कार्यवाही का आदेश हो चुका था परन्तु इस भूमि पर राज्य सरकार का कब्जा प्राप्त नही हो सका था, ऐसी भूमि के सम्बन्ध मे मूल भूधारक को अदा की गई धनराशि भूधारक द्वारा वापस करने पर भूमि मूल भूधारक को प्रत्यावर्तित की जा सकती है किन्तु अदा की गई धनराशि भू– धारक द्वारा वापस न करने की दशा में भूमि पर कब्जा किये जाने के सम्बन्ध मे विधि अनुसार अग्रिम कार्यवाही अमल मे लायी जाय। यह भी व्यवस्था की गई कि जिस भूमि के सम्बन्ध मे धारा–10 (5) की कार्यवाही के उपरान्त धारा–10 (6) की कार्यवाही पूर्व हो चुकी है और भूमि पर राज्य सरकार द्वारा कब्जा लिया जा चुका है वह सरप्लस भूमि अन्तिम रूप से राज्य सरकार में निहित मानी जायेगी।

3. नगर भूमि सीमारोपण– गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर, आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर मे लम्बित अर्बन सीलिंग प्रकरणों का समुचित रूप से निस्तारण ने होने की स्थिति मे भू–धारकों/वादियों द्वारा मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में अधिक संख्या मे रिट याचिकाये योजित की जा रही है। नगर बस्ती कार्यालयो द्वारा रिट याचिकाओ मे विभागीय पक्ष समयान्तर्गत साक्ष्यो सहित प्रबलता से प्रस्तुत न किये जाने के कारण मा0 न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेशों के क्रम मे शासन को असमंजसपूर्ण स्थिति का सामना करना पड़ रहा है।

4. अर्बन सीलिंग के अन्य प्रकरण मे राज्य सरकार द्वारा मा0 उच्चचम न्यायालय नई दिल्ली मे विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम हरीराम योजित की गयी। कालान्तर मे अन्य जनपदों के अर्बन सीलिंग से संबधित प्रकरणों मे योजित विशेष अनुमति याचिकाये उक्त विशेष अनुमति याचिका से क्लब की गयी। उक्त विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 तथा उससे क्लब अन्य विशेष अनुमति याचिकाओ में पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 मे अर्बन सीलिंग से संबधित प्रकरणों मे मार्गदर्शक सिद्धान्त प्रतिपादित किये गये है। निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 का महत्वपूर्ण एवं क्रियात्मक अंश निम्नवत हैः–

प्रस्तर– 39

The mere vesting of the land under sub-section (3) of Section 10 would not confer any right on the State Government to have de facto possession of the vacant land unless there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land before 18.3.1999. State has to establish that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession under sub section (5) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub section (6) of Section 10. On failure to establish any of those situations, the land owner or holder can claim the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal At. The Stage Government in this appeal could not establish any of those situations and hence the High Court is right in holding that the respondent is entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act.

प्रस्तर– 40

We, therefore, find no infirmity in the judgment of the High Court and the appeal is, accordingly dismissed so also the other appeals. No documents have been produced by the State to show that the respondents had been dispossessed before coming into force of the Repeal Act and hence, the respondents are entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. However, there will be no ore as to cost.

5- नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 में विहित प्राविधान तथा तत्क्रम मे निर्गत शासनादेश दिनांक 09.02.2000, शासनादेश दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश दिनांक 24.01.2001 स्वतः स्पष्ट है। विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम हरीराम तथा उससे क्लब अन्य विशेष अनुमति याचिकाओ मे पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 में उल्लिखित सिद्धान्त/आदेश भी स्वतः स्पष्ट है।

6. कृपया नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 तथा उक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 09.02.2000 , शासनदेश दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश दिनांक 24.01.2001 मे विहित व्यवस्था, विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम हरीराम मे पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 में उल्लिखित सिद्धान्तो/आदेशों के आलोक मे लम्बित प्रकरणों मे स्महंस पदहतमकपमदजे देखते हुए आवश्यक कार्यवाही की जाय।

भवदीय

ह0 अपठनीय

(पनधारी यादव)

सचिव
संख्या एवं दिनांक तदैव।

प्रतिलिपि निम्नलिखित को सूचनार्थ एवं आवश्यक कार्यवाही हेतु प्रेषित।

1. निदेशक नगर भूमि सीमारोपण , उ0 प्र0 जवाहर भवन– लखनऊ
2. सक्षम प्राधिकारी नगर भूमि सीमारोपण गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर, आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर।
3. मुख्य स्थायी अधिवक्ता मा0 उच्च न्यायालय, इलाहाबाद
4. गार्ड फाईल।

आज्ञा से

(कल्लू प्रसाद द्विवेदी)

उप सचिव।ष

18. This Court also discussed the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram (Supra) followed by the other judgements as well as judgement in case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra) and answered the questions as under:-

(i) The possession taken by the State Government cannot be termed as a valid possession in accordance with law provided under the Act No.33 of 1976 read with the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983.

(ii) The possession which is not taken in consonance with the provisions of the Act and Directions cannot be termed to be a legal possession in accordance with law.

(iii) Subsequent transfer of land to Allahabad Development Authority cannot be a ground for denying the reliefs in the case where the possession is held to be taken in derogation of the Act No.33 of 1976 read with the Directions, 1983.

(iv) It is held that the Repeal Act will apply with full force and in the event the possession is not taken in accordance with the statutory provisions.

19. The facts of the judgement in the case of Mohammad Suaif and another Vs. State of U.P. & others (Supra) decided on 7.5.2019 in Writ C No.12696 of 2009 squarely apply to the facts of the present case, as in the present case the possession has not been voluntarily given by the petitioners, the possession memo does not bear the signatures, the possession has not been taken by the Collector or even anybody authorized by him. The actual physical possession continues to be with the petitioners and as such we have no hesitation in holding that the petitioners are entitled to the benefits of the Repeal Act and the proceedings initiated against the petitioners are liable to be dropped and declared as abated.

20. This Court in the case of Nanku Lal Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and 3 others (Supra) decided on 8.3.2018, in Writ C No.60193 of 2015 in similar facts and circumstances, considered the entire gamut of laws allowed the writ petition.

21. We have also gone through the Division Bench judgement of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (supra) wherein this Court dismissed the writ petition claiming the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. In the said case the Division Bench had perused the record produced by the Standing Counsel and recorded as under :-

"In the present case, the learned Chief Standing Counsel has produced the original file for the perusal of the Court. The material before the Court indicates that the Directions of 1983 were duly observed. Direction 3(2) envisages that an order in Form ULC-II has to be sent to each land holder as prescribed under Section 10(5) and the date of issue and service of the order is to be entered in Column 8 of Form ULC-I. This procedure has been complied and we may only note that a copy of the original ULC-II register has been produced for the perusal of the Court. Similarly, direction 3(3) contemplates that on possession of the excess vacant land being taken in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of Section 10, entries will be made in a register in Form ULC-III. The original Form ULC-III has similarly been produced before the Court. Entries have been made in compliance with direction 3 both in ULC-II and ULC-III registers. In the present case, it is also clear from the record that on 14 February 1992, a communication was addressed by the Competent Authority to the Tehsildar drawing attention to an earlier letter dated 25 February 1987 and requesting that possession of the land be taken over. A copy of the letter dated 25 February 1987 forms part of the original record which was produced by the learned Chief Standing Counsel. On 25 June 1993, possession of the land was taken over. The possession receipt has been duly executed by the Naib Tehsildar and by the Kanoongo. In this view of the matter, we are unable to accept the contention of the petitioner that possession of the land was not taken over prior to the date of the Repeal Act."

22. The question whether the Collector is empowered to delegate the act of taking possession based on the well settled principles of law that "Delegatees non protest delegare" was neither raised nor considered by this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (supra). In the said decision even the question of difference of procedure for prescribing the taking over of the possession as provided in the State of U.P. was distinct with regards to the provisions in the State of Assam was neither raised nor considered and the decision in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (supra) had also recorded that the possession in the said case was taken over prior to 18.3.1999 consequent upon which the petitioners would not be entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act, the Court was impressed with the fact that the sewerage treatment plant was being constructed and substantial part of it had already been constructed which itself dis entitled the petitioners to claim relief as they were not serious to approach the Court within the time. The said judgement, we say respectfully cannot be applied to the facts of the present case for the reasons that the question of manner of taking possession in the State of U.P. and State of Assam are distinct and separate which question was neither adjudicated nor decided by the Court.

23. The question of delegatee not empowered to further sub-delegate was neither raised nor considered by the Court as also in the present case there is no such averment in the pleadings of the State Government to demonstrate that some project has come-up on the land in question, which the petitioners were aware and failed to agitate within a reasonable time, these three factors being different in the present case from that of the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (supra), we respectfully hold that the findings recorded in the said case are clearly distinguishable. All these aspects which were not considered in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (supra) were duly raised and considered by this Court in the case of Mohammad Suaif and another Vs. State of U.P. (Supra).

24. Consequently, relying upon the judgment in the case of Mohammad Suaif and another Vs. State of U.P. (Supra) and judgement in case of Nanku Lal Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and 3 others (Supra) and considering the facts of the case, the writ petition is allowed declaring the petitioners to be owners with the direction to the State Government to correct the revenue records accordingly.

(2019)10ILR A 1534

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 28.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ-C No. 6971 of 2017

U.P. S.R.T.C. Kanpur ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Mritunjay Mohan Sahai

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Sachin Dubey, Sri Surendra Nath Dubey

A. Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 - Section 2(b), 2(c) and 2-A - An employee on wages in establishment covered by the Act, 1972 and in continuous service of minimum five years, entitled for gratuity.

Held:- In view of the foregoing discussions, it follows that the entitlement to receive gratuity flows from the provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 and an "employee" having fulfilled the necessary preconditions for claiming entitlement in terms thereof would be liable to be paid the gratuity amount due to him irrespective of the fact whether his employment was of a regular nature or whether he was employed on a casual basis or temporary basis or as a daily wager. (Para 26)

B. The Act accepts, as a principle, compulsory payment of gratuity as a social security measure to wage earners in industries, factories and establishments. The main purpose and concept of gratuity is to provide for terminal benefits to a workman upon his superannuation, or on his retirement or resignation, or on his death or disablement due to accident or disease. (Para 28)

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. U.P.S.R.T.C. & ors. Vs Ram Shankar Sharma & ors., Writ C No.34125/1995

2. Baban Vs Estate Manager, M.H. St. Farming Corp. Ltd. & ors, 2017 (152)FLR17

3. Netram Sahu Vs St. of Chhattisgarh & anr.(2018) 5 SCC 430

4.Workmen of M/s Firestone Tyre & Rubber Company of India Pvt. Ltd. Vs Management & ors., (1973)1 SCC 813

5. B.D. Shetty & ors. Vs CEAT Ltd. & anr., (2002)1 SCC 193

6. Allahabad Bank & anr. Vs All India Allahabad Bank Retired Employees Association, (2010) 2 SCC 44

7. Jeewanlal Ltd. & ors. Vs Appellate Authority under the Payment of Gratuity Act & ors., (1984)4 SCC 356

8. Bharat Singh Vs Management Of New Delhi Tuberculosis Centre, New Delhi & ors.,(1986) 2 SCC 614

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mritunjay Mohan Sahai, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Surendra Nath Dubey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.4.

2. The present petition seeks to challenge the order dated 16.07.2016 passed by the Controlling Authority under the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972/Assistant Labour Commissioner, U.P., Kanpur in P.G. Case No.105 of 2014 and also the order dated 20.01.2017 passed by the Appellate Authority under the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972/Deputy Labour Commissioner, U.P., Kanpur whereby the appeal filed there against has been rejected.

3. The factual background of the case as reflected from the records indicates that an industrial dispute was raised by the respondent-workman whereupon a reference was made under Section 4K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 19471, registered as Adjudication Case No.34 of 1993, before the Presiding Officer, U.P., Kanpur. The question referred for adjudication was as follows:-

"क्या सेवायोजकों द्वारा श्रमिक श्री आर०एस०शर्मा पुत्र श्री झब्बू लाल परिचालक को दि० 2-6-92 को कार्य से पृथक वंचित किया जाना उचित एवं वैधानिक है? यदि नहीं तो संबंधित श्रमिक क्या हितलाभ/क्षतिपूर्ति पाने का अधिकारी है? किस तिथि एवं अन्य किस विवरण के साथ?"

4. The aforementioned reference was answered by the Labour Court vide its award dated 27.05.1995 in the following terms:-

"इसलिए मेरे विचार से श्रमिक आर०एस०शर्मा का नाम प्रतीक्षा सूची से काट कर हटाये जाने की कार्यवाही में नियम का पूर्णतः पालन नहीं किया गया है इसलिए मेरा अभिमत है कि श्री आर०एस०शर्मा को सेवा समाप्ति की तिथि दिनांक 2-6-92 से पुनः सेवा में परिचालक के पद पर लिया जाए और प्रतीक्षा सूची से पृथक किये जाने की तिथि से अभिनिर्णय की तिथि तक की अवधि के बीच का उसे आधा अन्य भत्ता सहित दिया जाये आधा वेतन इसलिए कि उसने इस बीच किसी कार्य को अंजाम नहीं दिया है और आधा वेतन दिये जाने से कानून का मंशा भी पूरा हो जाता है। उक्त भुगतान अभिनिर्णय के प्रकाशित होने के एक माह के अन्दर दिया जाये।"

5. The award of the Labour Court was put to challenge in the case of U.P.S.R.T.C. & Ors. Vs. Ram Shankar Sharma & Ors.2, which came to be decided in terms of judgment and order dated 07.02.2013, the relevant portion of which reads as under:-

"...This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner being aggrieved by an award of the Labour Court dated 27.05.1995 passed in Adjudication Case No.34 of 1993 by which the Labour Court has reinstated the respondent workman with 50% back wages. The Labour Court has come to the conclusion that the petitioner was working in the Corporation as a 'Conductor' on a regular basis and, therefore, has reinstated the workman with 50% back wages. Under the interim orders of this Court, the petitioner has already reinstated the workman and counsel for the workman states that he is working since then without any hatch.

The back wages were stayed by this Court. Insofar as the back wages are concerned, the Labour Court has granted 50% back wages to the workman for the period when he was not working up to the date of passing of the award.

In view of the fact that the Labour Court has not recorded any finding with regard to the fact as to whether the workman was gainfully employed or not during the period the back wages have been awarded, which could only be justified to reduce the back wages to 50% what has been granted by the Labour Court.

Thus, in the interest of justice, the award of the Labour Court is confirmed subject to the modification that the back wages are reduced to half of what has been granted in view of the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of U.P. State Brossware Corporation Ltd. Vs. U.N. Pandey reported in 2006 (1) SCC 479. The amount, which is due to the workman shall be paid to him within the next two months upon his making an application.

The Writ Petition stands disposed of as above. No costs."

6. Upon his superannuation, the respondent-workman filed an application before the Controlling Authority under Section 7 of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 19723 for a direction, which was registered as P.G. Case No.105 of 2014. The claim application was allowed and a direction was issued for payment of gratuity totalling to Rs.4,45,022/- alongwith 10% interest from the date of filing of the claim application upto the date of payment. Against the aforementioned order the petitioner preferred an appeal under Section 7(7) of the P.G. Act, 1972, registered as P.G. Appeal No.09 of 2016, which has been rejected vide order dated 20.01.2017 and the earlier order passed by the Controlling Authority directing payment of Rs.4,45,022/- has been affirmed.

7. Challenging the aforementioned orders passed by the Controlling Authority and the Appellate Authority, the present writ petition has been filed.

8. Contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the Controlling Authority as well as the Appellate Auhority have erred in failing to consider that the respondent no.4 was never treated to be a regular employee and no documentary evidence was placed on record by the workman showing that he was granted regularisation and as such the computation of the amount of gratuity payable to the workman is based on conjectures.

9. Per contra, Sri Surendra Nath Dubey, learned counsel for the respondents has submitted that the respondent-workman was selected in a regular selection held by the Corporation in the year 1980 and was placed in the wait list of conductors, and as such the Corporation could not take a stand that he was appointed on a daily-wage basis. Placing reliance upon the award passed by the Labour Court and the judgment of this Court in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995 it is contended that the respondent-workman superannuated from service working as a conductor and as such the claim made by him for gratuity had rightly been allowed. It is further submitted that the P.G. Act, 1972 applies to all employees whether they are regular or not, the only condition being that the employee must have worked for five years and that gratuity is to be computed on the basis of the last drawn wages.

10. Heard the counsel for the parties and perused the records.

11. The records of the case indicate that the reference made with regard to the legality/validity of the termination of the respondent-workman w.e.f. 02.06.1992 was answered by the Labour Court by recording a conclusion that the removal of the name of the respondent-workman from the wait list was not as per the rules. It was directed that the workman be reinstated on the post of conductor from the date of his termination i.e. 02.06.1992 and further that he may be granted 50% back wages from the date of removal of his name from the wait list till the date of the award. The award of the Labour Court was confirmed by this Court in its judgment dated 07.02.2013 in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995 subject to the modification that the back wages were reduced to half of what had been granted.

12. It is an admitted position between the parties that the judgment of this Court dated 07.02.2013 passed in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995, confirming the award subject to the only modification that the back wages were reduced to half of what had been granted, was not subjected to any further challenge by either of the parties, and was allowed to attain finality.

13. The respondent-workman continued to work as a conductor with the petitioner-Corporation and attained his superannuation working in the said capacity.

14. The stand taken by the petitioner-Corporation that the respondent continued to work as a daily wager as on the date of his superannuation is not consistent with the material evidence available on record. The inconsistency in the stand of the petitioner-Corporation with regard to gratuity payable to the respondent-workman is also reflected from the ambivalent position taken by the petitioner-Corporation before the Controlling Authority. On one hand, a stand was taken that the last drawn wages of the workman together with the dearness allowance was Rs.16,403/- and on the basis of the same the total amount of gratuity due to the workman was said to be Rs.2,93,361/- as on 31.07.2011. On the other hand the witness appearing on behalf of the Corporation before the Controlling Authority stated that the calculation of gratuity was made treating the workman to be a daily wager, and on the basis of the last drawn wages at the rate of Rs.71.34/- per day an amount of Rs.49,928/- was computed towards gratuity. In his cross-examination the witness stated that the workman concerned was appointed as a daily wager in the year 1980 and since his year of birth was 1953 he would have superannuated upon attaining the age of 58 years in the year 2011.

15. The Controlling Authority upon considering the documentary and oral evidence and the arguments advanced by the parties held that for the purposes of computation of gratuity under the provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 what was relevant was the length of service and the last drawn wages, and the question as to whether the workman had worked as a daily wager or as a regular employee was of no consequence. Taking notice of the fact that there was no dispute between the parties with regard to the length of service which was admitted to be 31 years and in the absence of any clear stand by the employer-Corporation with regard to the last drawn wages the claim made by the workman was accepted and the computation of gratuity was made.

16. The Appellate Authority upon taking notice of the award dated 27.05.1995 passed by the Labour Court in Adjudication Case No.34 of 1993 and the judgment of this Court dated 07.02.2013 passed in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995 in terms of which the award had been confirmed subject to the modification that the back wages were reduced from 50% to 25%, has drawn an inference that the workman superannuated as a regular employee of the Corporation and the computation of gratuity by the Controlling Authority on the basis of a last drawn wages had rightly been made. The Appellate Authority also took note of the fact that the recovery certificate dated 09.08.2007 pursuant to the award passed by the Labour Court had been issued wherein the amount under recovery was computed treating the workman to be a regular employee. The finding of the Controlling Authority that for the purposes of gratuity the status of the workman as a daily wager or as a regular employee was inconsequential and what was to be seen was the length of service and the last drawn wages, was reiterated by the Appellate Authority. In view of the admitted position between the parties with regard to the length of service being 31 years the computation of gratuity made by the Controlling Authority on the basis of the last drawn wages as claimed by the workman was affirmed.

17. The sheet anchor of the argument of the petitioner-Corporation is that the respondent was never appointed in a regular capacity nor was he granted regularisation against any post and as such the authorities under the Payment of Gratuity Act, 19724 have erred in allowing his claim for payment of gratuity. On the other hand it has been argued on behalf of the respondent-workman that on the basis of a regular selection held by the Corporation in the year 1980 he was placed in the wait list of conductors and that the stand of the Corporation that he had been engaged as a daily wager was incorrect. It was further submitted that the award of the Labour Court had directed his reinstatement on the post of conductor w.e.f. 02.06.1992 and in terms of the judgment of this Court passed in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995 the award of the Labour Court was confirmed subject to the only modification that the back wages were reduced to half of what had been granted.

18. In order to appreciate the rival contentions of the parties the relevant statutory provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 may be adverted to:-

"2. Definitions.--In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,--

x x x x x

(b) "completed year of service" means continuous service for one year;

(c) "continuous service" means continuous service as defined in Section 2-A;

x x x x x

(e) "employee" means any person (other than an apprentice) who is employed for wages, whether the terms of such employment are express or implied, in any kind of work, manual or otherwise, in or in connection with the work of a factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company, shop or other establishment to which this Act applies, but does not include any such person who holds a post under the Central Government or a State Government and is governed by any other Act or by any rules providing for payment of gratuity;

x x x x x

(s) "wages" means all emoluments which are earned by an employee while on duty or on leave in accordance with the terms and conditions of his employment and which are paid or are payable to him in cash and includes dearness allowance but does not include any bonus, commission, house rent allowance, overtime wages and any other allowance.

2-A. Continuous service.--For the purpose of this Act,--

(1) An employee shall be said to be in continuous service for a period if he has, for that period, been in uninterrupted service, including service which may be interrupted on account of sickness, accident, leave, absence from duty without leave (not being absence in respect of which an order treating the absence as break in service has been passed in accordance with the standing orders, rules or regulations governing the employees of the establishment), lay-off, strike or a lock-out or cessation of work out due to any fault of the employee, whether such uninterrupted or interrupted service was rendered before or after the commencement of this Act;

(2) where an employee (not being an employee employed in a seasonal establishment) is not in continuous service within the meaning of clause (1), for any period of one year or six months, he shall be deemed to be in continuous service under the employer--

(a) for the said period of one year, if the employee during the period of twelve calendar months preceding the date with reference to which calculation is to be made, has actually worked under the employer for not less than--

(i) one hundred and ninety days, in the case of an employee employed below the ground in a mine or in an establishment which works for less than six days in a week; and (ii) two hundred and forty days, in any other case;

(b) for the said period of six months if the employee during the period of six calendar months preceding the date with reference to which the calculation is to be made, has actually worked under the employer for not less than--

(i) ninety-five days, in the case of an employee employed below the ground in a mine or in an establishment which works for less than six days in a week; and

(ii) one hundred and twenty days, in any other case;

Explanation.--For the purpose of clause (2), the number of days on which an employee has actually worked under an employer shall include the days on which--

(i) he has been laid-off under an agreement or as permitted by standing orders made under the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946 (20 of 1946), or under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (14 of 1947), or under any other law applicable to the establishment;

(ii) he has been on leave with full wages, earned in the previous year;

(iii) he has been absent due to temporary disablement caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment; and

(iv) in the case of a female, she has been on maternity leave; so, however, that the total period of such maternity leave does not exceed twelve weeks.

(3) where an employee, employed in a seasonal establishment, is not in continuous service within the meaning of clause (1), for any period of one year or six months, he shall be deemed to be in continuous service under the employer for such period if he has actually worked for not less than seventy-five per cent of the number of days on which the establishment was in operation during such period.

x x x x x

4. Payment of Gratuity.--(1) Gratuity shall be payable to an employee on the termination of his employment after he has rendered continuous service for not less than five years,--

(a) on his superannuation, or

(b) on his retirement or resignation, or

(c) on his death or disablement due to accident or disease:

Provided that the completion of continuous service of five years shall not be necessary where the termination of the employment of any employee is due to death or disablement :

Provided further that in case of death of the employee, gratuity payable to him shall be paid to his nominee or, if no nomination has been made, to his heirs, and where any such nominees or heirs is minor, the share of such minor, shall be deposited with the Controlling Authority who shall invest the same for the benefit of such minor in such bank or other financial institution, as may be prescribed, until such minor attains majority.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, disablement means such disablement as incapacitates an employee for the work which he was capable of performing before the accident or disease resulting in such disablement.

(2) For every completed year of service or part thereof in excess of six months, the employer shall pay gratuity to an employee at the rate of fifteen days' wages based on the rate of wages last drawn by the employee concerned:

Provided that in the case of a piece-rated employee, daily wages shall be computed on the average of the total wages received by him for a period of three months immediately preceding the termination of his employment, and, for this purpose, the wages paid for any overtime work shall not be taken into account :

Provided further that in the case of an employee who is employed in a seasonal establishment, and who is not so employed throughout the year, the employer shall pay the gratuity at the rate of seven days' wages for each season.

Explanation.--In the case of a monthly rated employee, the fifteen days' wages shall be calculated by dividing the monthly rate of wages last drawn by him by twenty-six and multiplying the quotient by fifteen.

(3) The amount of gratuity payable to an employee shall not exceed ten lakh rupees.

(4) For the purpose of computing the gratuity payable to an employee who is employed, after his disablement, on reduced wages, his wages for the period preceding his disablement shall be taken to be the wages received by him during that period, and his wages for the period subsequent to his disablement shall be taken to be the wages as so reduced.

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of an employee to receive better terms of gratuity under any award or agreement or contract with the employer.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1),--

(a) the gratuity of an employee, whose services have been terminated for any act, wilful omission or negligence causing any damage or loss to, or destruction of, property belonging to the employer shall be forfeited to the extent of the damage or loss so causes;

(b) the gratuity payable to an employee may be wholly or partially forfeited.

(i) if the services of such employee have been terminated for his riotous or disorderly conduct or any other act of violence on his part, or

(ii) if the services of such employee have been terminated for any act which constitutes an offence involving moral turpitude, provided that such offence is committed by him in the course of his employment."

19. In terms of Section 2(e) of the P.G. Act, 1972, an "employee" has been defined as meaning any person (other than an apprentice) who is employed for wages, whether the terms of such employment are express or implied, in any kind of work, manual or otherwise, in or in connection with the work of a factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company, shop or other establishment to which this Act applies. The only exclusion is in respect of persons holding a post under the Central Government or a State Government who are governed by any other Act or any Rules providing for payment of gratuity.

20. Section 4 of the P.G. Act, 1972 provides for payment of gratuity to an employee on the termination of his employment after he has rendered continuous service for not less than five years, upon the occurrence of either the following contingencies: (i) on his superannuation, (ii) on his retirement, (iii) on his death or disablement due to accident or disease. Sub-section (2) of Section 4 mandates that for every completed year of service or part thereof in excess of six months, the employer shall pay gratuity to an employee at the rate of fifteen days' wages based on the rate of wages last drawn by the employee concerned. The expression "completed year of service" has been defined under Section 2(b) to mean continuous service for one year. As per Section 2(c), "continuous service" means continuous service as defined in Section 2-A. Further, in terms of Section 2-A an employee shall be said to be in continuous service for a period if he has, for that period, been in uninterrupted service, including service which may be interrupted on account of sickness, accident, leave, absence from duty without leave (not being absence in respect of which an order treating the absence as break in service has been passed in accordance with the standing orders, rules or regulations governing the employees of the establishment), lay-off, strike or a lock-out or cessation of work out due to any fault of the employee, whether such uninterrupted or interrupted service was rendered before or after the commencement of this Act.

21. A conjoint reading of the aforementioned provisions leads to the inference that gratuity becomes payable to an "employee" on his superannuation after he has rendered "continuous service", for not less than five years. The computation of the amount payable as gratuity is to be made at the rate of fifteen days' wages, for every completed year of service or part thereof in excess of six months, based on the rate of wages last drawn by the employee concerned. The expression "completed year of service" has been defined under Section 2(b) as continuous service for one year and the term "continuous service" is defined under Section 2(c) as per the terms of Section 2-A of the P.G. Act, 1972 which is to mean uninterrupted service including service which may be interrupted on account of certain exigencies specified therein.

22. It, therefore, follows that the P.G. Act, 1972 does not make any distinction between an employee on the basis of the fact that the employee is paid daily wages or weekly wages or monthly wages. The only condition is that he should be employed by the employer on wages in an establishment covered by the P.G. Act, 1972 and that he should be in continuous service as required under Section 2-A and that he should have completed a minimum of five years of service in the said capacity. The computation of gratuity as per terms of Section 4 is to be made at the rate of fifteen days' wages for every completed year of service or part thereof in excess of six months based on the rate of wages last drawn.

23. It is thus clear that an employee, subject to fulfillment of the other conditions, is entitled to gratuity for the period he was in employment of the employer irrespective of the fact whether his employment was of a regular nature or whether he was employed on a casual basis or temporary basis or as a daily wager.

24. In this regard reference may be had to the judgment in the case of Baban Vs. Estate Manager, Maharashtra State Farming Corporation Ltd. & Ors. wherein it was held as follows:-

"15. This brings me to the first contentious issue raised as regards the manner of calculating the number of days worked so as to be entitled for gratuity.

The primary requirement is that an employee must work continuously with an employer at least for 5 years so as to be eligible for gratuity, notwithstanding whether he has put in temporary service or as a daily wager or in any other manner."

25. The question as to whether benefit of gratuity could be denied to an employee who had been in more than 25 years of continuous service out of which 22 years were as a daily wager, fell for consideration in the case of Netram Sahu Vs. State of Chhattisgarh & Anr.6; and upon considering the provisions contained under Section 2(e) read with Section 2-A of the P.G. Act, 1972, it was held that there was no justifiable reason to deny benefit of gratuity to the employee which was his statutory right, and the question as to from which date his services were regularised was of no consequence for the purposes of calculating the total length of service for computing the gratuity payable.

26. In view of the foregoing discussions, it follows that the entitlement to receive gratuity flows from the provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 and an "employee" having fulfilled the necessary preconditions for claiming entitlement in terms thereof would be liable to be paid the gratuity amount due to him irrespective of the fact whether his employment was of a regular nature or whether he was employed on a casual basis or temporary basis or as a daily wager.

27. In a case where the engagement was initially as a daily wager and subsequently the services were regularised the question as to from which date the services were regularised would be of no consequence for calculating the total length of service for claiming gratuity.

28. It may be noticed that the P.G. Act, 1972 was enacted to introduce a scheme for payment of gratuity for certain industrial and commercial establishments as a measure social security. The significance of the legislation lies in the acceptance of the principle of payment of gratuity as a compulsory statutory retiral benefit. The Act accepts, as a principle, compulsory payment of gratuity as a social security measure to wage earning population in industries, factories and establishments. The main purpose and concept of gratuity is to provide for terminal benefits to a workman upon his superannuation, or on his retirement or resignation, or on his death or disablement due to accident or disease.

29. The P.G. Act, 1972 being thus a welfare legislation meant for the benefit of the employees who serve their employer for a long time, it would be the duty of the employer to pay gratuity amount to the employees rather than denying the benefit on some technical ground.

30. Applying the rule of beneficent construction, the provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 are to be interpreted liberally so as to give it a wide meaning rather a restrictive meaning which may negate the very object of the enactment. A beneficial legislation, it is well settled, as to be construed in its correct perspective so as to fructify the legislative intent underlying its enactment.

31. In construing a remedial statute courts are to give it the widest amplitude which its language would permit. The principle of applying a liberal construction to a remedial legislation has been emphasised in the Construction of Statues by Crawford7 pp. 492-493 in the following terms:-

"...Remedial statutes, that is, those which supply defects, and abridge superfluities, in the former law, should be given a liberal construction, in order to effectuate the purposes of the legislature, or to advance the remedy intended, or to accomplish the object sought, and all matters fairly within the scope of such a statute be included, even though outside the letter, if within its spirit or reason."

32. To a similar effect is the observation made by Blackstone in Construction and Interpretation of Laws8, by stating as under:-

"It may also be stated generally that the courts are more disposed to relax the severity of this rule (which is really a rule of strict construction) in the case of statutes obviously remedial in their nature or designed to effect a beneficent purpose."

33. In the context of beneficial construction as a principle of interpretation, it has been observed in Maxwell on The Interpretation of Statutes9 as follows:-

"...where they are faced with a choice between a wide meaning which caries out what appears to have been the object of the legislature more fully, and a narrow meaning which carries it out less fully or not at all, they will often choose the former. Beneficial construction is a tendency, rather than a rule."

34. Further, in the same treatise, in the context of industrial legislation, it has been stated as follows:-

"Industrial legislation provides a fruitful field for the application of the tendency towards beneficial construction..."

35. The principle of applying a liberal construction to a labour welfare legislation was emphasised in the case of Workmen of M/s Firestone Tyre & Rubber Company of India Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Management & Ors.10 where in the context of the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, it was observed as follows:-

"35. ...We are aware that the Act is a beneficial piece of legislation enacted in the interest of employees. It is well settled that in construing the provisions of a welfare legislation, courts should adopt, what is described as a beneficent rule of construction. If two constructions are reasonably possible to be placed on the section, it follows that the construction which furthers the policy and object of the Act and is more beneficial to the employees, has to be preferred..."

36. The mode of interpretation of a social welfare legislation, in the context of the provisions of the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, came up for consideration in the case of B.D. Shetty & Ors. Vs. CEAT Ltd. & Anr.11, and it was held as follows:-

"12. ...a beneficial piece of legislation has to be understood and construed in its proper and correct perspective so as to advance the legislative intention underlying its enactment rather than abolish it. Assuming two views are possible, the one, which is in tune with the legislative intention and furthers the same, should be preferred to the one which would frustrate it."

37. The principle of applying a liberal construction to a beneficial legislation having a social welfare purpose was reiterated in the context of the P.G. Act, 1972 in the case of Allahabad Bank & Anr. Vs. All India Allahabad Bank Retired Employees Association12, and it was observed as follows:-

"16. ...Remedial statutes, in contradistinction to penal statutes, are known as welfare, beneficent or social justice oriented legislations. Such welfare statutes always receive a liberal construction. They are required to be so construed so as to secure the relief contemplated by the statute. It is well settled and needs no restatement at our hands that labour and welfare legislation have to be broadly and liberally construed having due regard to the Directive Principles of State Policy. The Act with which we are concerned for the present is undoubtedly one such welfare oriented legislation meant to confer certain benefits upon the employees working in various establishments in the country."

38. A similar view was taken with regard to adopting the beneficial rule of construction in respect of social welfare legislation, particularly in the context of the P.G. Act, 1972 in the case of Jeewanlal Ltd. & Ors. Vs. Appellate Authority under the Payment of Gratuity Act & Ors.13, wherein it was stated as follows:-

"11. In construing a social welfare legislation, the court should adopt a beneficent rule of construction ; and if a section is capable of two constructions, that construction should be preferred which fulfils the policy of the Act, and is more beneficial to the persons in whose interest the Act has been passed..."

39. Reference may also be had to the case of Bharat Singh Vs. Management Of New Delhi Tuberculosis Centre, New Delhi & Ors.14, where purposive interpretation safeguarding the rights of have-nots was preferred to a literal construction in interpreting a welfare legislation, and it was held as follows:-

"11. ...the court has to evolve the concept of purposive interpretation which has found acceptance whenever a progressive social beneficial legislation is under review. We share the view that where the words of a statute are plain and unambiguous effect must be given to them. Plain words have to be accepted as such but where the intention of the legislature is not clear from the words or where two constructions are possible, it is the court's duty to discern the intention in the context of the background in which a particular Section is enacted. Once such an intention is ascertained the courts have necessarily to give the statute a purposeful or a functional interpretation. Now, it is trite to say that acts aimed at social amelioration giving benefits for the have-nots should receive liberal construction. It is always the duty of the court to give such a construction to a statute as would promote the purpose or object of the Act. A construction that promotes the purpose of the legislation should be preferred to a literal construction. A construction which would defeat the rights of the have-nots and the underdog and which would lead to injustice should always be avoided..."

40. In the case at hand, the respondent-workman having been directed to be reinstated on the post of conductor with the petitioner-Corporation w.e.f. 02.06.1992 in terms of the award dated 27.05.1995 passed by the Labour Court in Adjudication Case No.34 of 1993 and the said award having been confirmed vide judgment dated 07.02.2013 passed by this Court in Writ-C No.34125 of 1995 with the only modification that back wages were reduced to half of what had been granted, and the workman subsequently having attained the age of superannuation, the order passed by the Controlling Authority allowing the claim for payment of gratuity after recording a finding that for the purposes of payment of gratuity under the provisions of the P.G. Act, 1972 what was mainly required to be seen was the existence of the employer-employee relationship, the total length of service and the last drawn wages, and the issue as to whether the employee had worked on daily wages or as a regular employee was of no consequence, cannot be faulted with. The length of service having been held to be admitted between the parties the computation of gratuity was made by the Controlling Authority on the basis of the claim made by the employee with regard to the last drawn wages. The Appellate Authority having affirmed the order passed by the Controlling Authority for the self-same reasons the said order also requires no interference.

41. Counsel for the petitioner has not been able to point out any material error or irregularity in the orders passed by the Controlling Authority and the Appellate Authority so as to warrant interference in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

42. No other point was argued by the counsel for the petitioner.

43. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1546

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 24.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.

Writ- C No. 62286 of 2009
connected with
Writ- C No. 9831 of 2019

District Basic Education Officer ...Petitioner

Versus

Niyantrak Pradhikari Anutoshik Bhugtan Adhiniyam 1972 & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Vimal Chandra Mishra, Sri Nand Kishore Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri A.K. Trivedi, Fasiha Fatma, Sri Ambika Prasad Tewari, Sri M.S. Khan, Sri Mohammad Najam Siddiqui.

A. Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 - Section 2 (e) - Gratuity - Applicability of Act to employees of District Basic Education Office - Act not necessarily to be applicable to the employer, but it is necessary that employee should qualify for an employee under section 2 (e) of the Act. (Para 39)

B. Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 - Section 1 (3) (b) - Meaning of Establishment - It is not confined to commercial establishments or commercial or industrial establishment -

Held, Board of Basic Education is an establishment. (Para 36 & 38)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-1)
Cases relied on :-

1. St. of Punjab Vs Labour Court Jullunder & ors. (1980) 1 SCC 4

2. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Bangalore Vs Regional Labour Commissioner (Central) & ors. (1985) 1 LLN 675.

3. U.P. Co-operative Union & ors. Vs Prabhu Dayal Srivastava & ors. (1998) 2 LLN 625.

4. Administrator, Shree Jagannath Temple Puri Vs Jagannath Padhi & ors. (1992) 65 FLR 946.

5. Poona Cantonment Board Vs S.K. Das & ors. 1993 (II) CLR 731.

6. Smt. Jayaben Suryakant Modi Vs Welfare Commissioner & ors. 1997 Lab IC 2581: (1997) ILLJ 139 Guj.

7. V. Venkateswara Rao Vs The Chairman/Governing Body S.M.V.M. Polytechnic, Tanuku & ors. (1998) ILLJ 181 AP.

8. Smt. D. Lakshmi Vs A.P. Agricultural University & ors. (2002) 2 LLN 54.

9. Habibaa Girls Primary School (represented by its Manager) Ambur Vs Smt. Noorinisha & ors. (2004) 1 LLN 592.

10. Senior Superintendent of Post Offices Vs Gursewak Singh & ors. 2019 SCC Online SC 399.

Cases referred :-

1. Rohit Pulp & Paper Mills Ltd. Vs C.C.E. (1990) 3 SCC 447.

2. H.C. Bar Association Allahabad Vs Deputy Labour Commissioner Allahabad & ors. 2004 (4) AWC 3755.

3. Ms. Usha Hamilton & ors. Vs St. of U.P. (Civil Misc. Writ No. 20829, decided on 31/10/1988).

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.62286 of 2009 has been brought by the District Education Officer, Hamirpur against an order of the Controlling Authority, Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972-cum-Assistant Labour Commissioner, U.P., Kanpur Region, Kanpur, dated 26.09.2009 passed in P.G. Case no.74 of 2007. By the said order, the Controlling Authority, Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 (for short, the Authority) has ordered the petitioner to pay the second respondent-employee gratuity in the sum of Rs.1,48,050/- in accordance with the provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 (for short the Act), instead of Section 9(1) of the U.P. Basic Education Act, 1972 (for the short, the Act of 1972) and Service Rules framed thereunder, governing entitlement to post retiral benefits for the second respondent-employee, a Head Clerk employed with the office of the District Basic Education Officer, Nagar Kshetra Maudaha, District Hamirpur.

2. Connected Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.9831 of 2019 has been filed by the employee, Mohammad Ahmad, who is the second respondent in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.62286 of 2009, praying that a writ of mandamus be issued commanding the Authority to issue a recovery certificate against the District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur, who is the second respondent in this petition and the petitioner in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.62286 of 2009, in compliance of the order dated 26.09.2009 passed in P.G. Case no.74 of 2007, determining the employee's entitlement to gratuity under the Act as detailed hereinabove.

3. Since both the writ petitions relate to validity of the order dated 26.09.2009 passed by the Authority under the Act, one assailing its validity and the other seeking its enforcement, the two petitions have been connected and heard together, with Writ - C No.62286 of 2009 being treated as the leading petition.

4. Heard Sri Kunal Shah holding brief of Sri Nand Kishore Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner-District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur and Ms. Fasiha Fatma, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.2-employee in Writ - C No.62286 of 2009; and, Sri Ambika Prasad Tewari, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner-employee and Sri Kunal Shah holding brief of Sri Nand Kishore Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.2-District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur in Writ - C No.9831 of 2019.

5. Parties have exchanged affidavits in the leading case and by consent of learned counsel appearing for both sides, the two petitions have proceeded to hearing.

6. The facts giving rise to the present petition are set out bearing reference to the leading case. It is the case of the petitioner, District Basic Education Officer that the respondent-employee was initially appointed on 01.11.1965 as Jalkal Store Keeper with the Nagar Palika, Maudaha, District Hamirpur. He was promoted on 21.12.1970 as Head Clerk in the said Nagar Palika, and continued as such until 31st July, 1972. Upon constitution of the Board of Basic Education on 01.08.1972, the second respondent-employee was absorbed in the services of the Board of Basic Education and appointed as In-charge Officer, Shiksha, Nagar Kshetra, Maudaha, Hamirpur working under the immediate control of the District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur. Admittedly, the date of birth of the second respondent-employee entered in his service book is 10.08.1940. He, therefore, attained the age of superannuation upon turning 60, and retired from service of the Board of Basic Education on 31.08.2000. According to the petitioner, on 06.09.2001, the Regional Assistant Joint Director of Education (Basic), Jhansi, described as the Competent Authority in the matter, passed an order sanctioning pension to the second respondent-employee. The said pension payment order has been passed in accordance with the applicable Government Orders and is addressed to the District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur. It indicates the date of commencement of entitlement to pension as 01.09.2000. It is the petitioner's further case that the second respondent-employee is in receipt of regular pension since 01.09.2000. It is, however, specifically urged that upon retirement an employee of the petitioner, the Board of Basic Education, that is the second respondent, is not entitled to payment of gratuity under the Act, or Rules framed thereunder. The second respondent-employee asserted his claim to payment of gratuity and also leave encashment. According to the petitioner, earlier there was provision for encashment of earned leave, but that was nullified by a certain Government Order No.3049/15-5-91-370/82 dated May, 1992.

7. Nevertheless, the second respondent-employee filed Civil Misc. Writ Petition no.38566 of 2003 seeking to enforce his claim regarding leave encashment and gratuity. This petition was disposed of on 01.09.2003 directing a representation to be made to some Authority of the Board of Basic Education described as respondent no.3 in the order of this Court last mentioned, requiring the said Authority to decide the second respondent's representation, if made along with a certified copy of the order of this Court, within three months of its presentation, in case the Basic Shikha Adhikari had power to decide the question about the second respondent's entitlement to these post retiral benefits.

8. It is claimed by the petitioner that the order of this Court dated 01.09.2003 last mentioned was never served upon the District Basic Education Officer. Instead, the District Basic Education Officer was proceeded in contempt before this Court, and shorn of unnecessary detail about those proceedings, the District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur, passed an order dated 21.06.2004, holding that gratuity as well as leave encashment is not payable to the second respondent-employee.

9. Disillusioned with the decision of the District Basic Education Officer, dated 21.06.2004, the second respondent-employee moved the Authority under the Act vide P.G. Case no.74 of 2007. The Authority issued notice to the petitioner on 16.07.2008 returnable on 13.08.2008 requiring the petitioner to show cause by submitting his reply by the said date, and for the determination of the application. The petitioner in compliance with the notice issued by the Authority, authorized the Finance and Accounts Officer in the office of the District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur to file a reply and contest the matter on behalf of the petitioner. The Finance and Accounts Officer submitted a reply on 13.08.2008. In the said reply, it was asserted in substance that the second respondent-employee was not a workman. He was a regular employee in the cadre of Class-III with the Board of Basic Education. His service conditions were regulated by the Act of 1972 and departmental Service Regulations, governing post retiral benefits. It was asserted that in accordance with the Act of 1972 and the Service Regulations applicable to the second respondent, no gratuity was payable to him. Another plea about territorial jurisdiction was raised through a separate reply, where it was said that the Authority had held earlier that territorial jurisdiction relating to the District Hamirpur vested with the Authority at Jhansi, and not with the Authority at Kanpur, exercising jurisdiction under the Act.

10. It may be mentioned here that the plea as to territorial jurisdiction was not at all urged before this Court at the hearing of these writ petitions. The challenge was confined to the issue that the Act was not at all applicable to the petitioner in the matter of entitlement of their employees to receive gratuity. It was, therefore, argued that the Authority went beyond jurisdiction in holding the Act to be applicable to the petitioner's establishment, and calculating gratuity payable to the second respondent in accordance with the Act. It was urged that the second respondent's entitlement is governed by the Act of 1972, whereunder a Class-III employee of the Board of Basic Education was entitled to receive pension, but not gratuity. In substance, the contention of the petitioner is that the Act is not at all applicable to the petitioner's establishment, and would not enure to the benefit of the second respondent-employee, entitling him to gratuity as ordered by the Authority.

11. The applicability of the Act to an employer is governed by Section 1(3) thereof, which reads:

"1.Short title, extent, application and commencement. -- (1) x x x x

(2) x x x x

(3) It shall apply to--

(a) every factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port and railway company;

(b) every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State, in which ten or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months;

(c) such other establishments or class of establishments, in which ten or more employees are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months, as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf.

[(3-A) x x x x

(4) x x x x"

(Emphasis by Court)

12. The other important provision that governs the question, whether the Act would apply to the employer, vis-a-vis, the claimant-employee are the provisions of Section 2(e) of the Act, that define an employee. The provisions of Section 2(e) of the Act are extracted infra:

"2. Definitions.--In this Act unless the context otherwise requires,--

(a) x x x x

(b) x x x x

(c) x x x x

(d) x x x x

(e) "employee" means any person (other than an apprentice) who is employed for wages, whether the terms of such employment are express or implied, in any kind of work, manual or otherwise, in or in connection with the work of a factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company, shop or other establishment to which this Act applies, but does not include any such person who holds a post under the Central Government or a State Government and is governed by any other Act or by any rules providing for payment of gratuity;

(f) x x x x

(g) x x x x

(h) x x x x

(i) x x x x

(j) x x x x

(m) x x x x

(n) x x x x

(o) x x x x

(p) x x x x

(q) x x x x

(r) x x x x

(s) x x x x"

(Emphasis by Court)

13. It is the submission of Mr. Kunal Shah, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner, that the Act does not apply to the petitioner, who is an officer of the Board of Basic Education, and represents that establishment, which is incorporated under the Act of 1972. He submits that the Board of Basic Education performs sovereign functions as distinguished from commercial functions. It is urged by Mr. Shah that the words of Section 3(1)(a) of the Act are express, which in no way could be held referable to an employer, like the petitioner. Again, he submits that Clause (c) of sub-Section (3) of Section 1 of the Act also make it explicit that every establishment, or class of establishments not covered by Clause (a) or (b) of sub-Section (3) of Section 1, may be brought under the regime of the Act, provided they employ ten or more employees, or in the past, have employed that number in the preceding twelve months, but this extended application of the Act, would govern only such establishments which the Central Government may specify by notification in this behalf, to borrow the phraseology of the statute. Mr. Shah has urged that Clause (b) of sub-Section (3) of Section 1, last mentioned comes closest to rendering the petitioner vulnerable, but the said Clause also does not take a sovereign establishment like the petitioner, in its fold.

14. It is further submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the words, "every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State", are of considerable significance. It is Mr. Shah's contention that the words, "shop or establishment", carry a definitive connotation, which is not decisively determined by the word 'or', that separates them. In his submission, it is not decisive to determine the connotation of 'establishment' whether the word 'or' really means an 'and'; not whether that 'or' is conjunctive or disjunctive, but the real legislative intent is to be discerned on the basis of an altogether different principle. Mr. Shah submits that the word 'establishment' occurring after the word 'shop' bears reference to a shop like establishment, a commercial establishment as distinguished from an establishment performing a sovereign function. According to him, this inference is based on a well established cannon of statutory construction. It is the principle of noscitur a sociis. It is urged by the learned counsel that the word 'establishment' in the context where it has been placed, and the fact that it occurs after the word 'shop', which is a specific word, would confine the otherwise wide and generic import of the word 'establishment', in the sense that it would have to be understood as an establishment, that has the likeness of a shop. According to Mr. Shah, there is nothing said in the statute, that may suggest that the word 'establishment' is to be understood in the widest import of the word so as to take in its fold all the myriad kinds of establishments, whatever be the essential nature of their activity. He elaborates on that contention to submit that in the absence of a definitive indicator to be found in Clause (b) of sub-Section (3) of Section 1 of the Act, from which the meaning of the word 'establishment' there, may be inferred to be its use in the most generic sense of it, one has to fall back upon the rule of noscitur a sociis. It is his submission that the principle only means that a word in a statute is to be understood by the company it keeps. The submission further proceeds that the word 'establishment' if not understood by application of the principle last mentioned, would take within its fold, the most sovereign of establishments, including the Government. This, in the submission of Mr. Shah, cannot be the legislative intent. He, therefore, moots a restricted meaning to be placed on the word 'establishment', that is conditioned by its immediate predecessor, separated by just a conjunction, that is the word 'shop'. Learned counsel for the petitioner in support of his contention, that the word

'establishment' must be read conditioned by the word 'shop', by applying the principle of noscitur a sociis, has relied upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Rohit Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd. vs. CCE1. In the said decision, explaining the principle of noscitur a sociis, it was said by their Lordships thus:

"12. The principle of statutory interpretation by which a generic word receives a limited interpretation by reason of its context is well established. In the context with which we are concerned, we can legitimately draw upon the "noscitur a sociis" principle. This expression simply means that "the meaning of a word is to be judged by the company it keeps." Gajendragadkar, J. explained the scope of the rule in State of Bombay v. Hosptial Mazdoor Sabha [(1960) 2 SCR 866 : AIR 1960 SC 610 : (1960) 1 LLJ 251] in the following words: (SCR pp. 873-74)

"This rule, according to Maxwell, means that, when two or more words which are susceptible of analogous meaning are coupled together they are understood to be used in their cognate sense. They take as it were their colour from each other, that is, the more general is restricted to a sense analogous to a less general. The same rule is thus interpreted in "Words and Phrases" (Vol. XIV, p. 207): "Associated words take their meaning from one another under the doctrine of noscitur a sociis, the philosophy of which is that the meaning of a doubtful word may be ascertained by reference to the meaning of words associated with it; such doctrine is broader than the maxim ejusdem generis". In fact the latter maxim "is only an illustration or specific application of the broader maxim noscitur a sociis". The argument is that certain essential features of attributes are invariably associated with the words "business and trade" as understood in the popular and conventional sense, and it is the colour of these attributes which is taken by the other words used in the definition though their normal import may be much wider. We are not impressed by this argument. It must be borne in mind that noscitur a sociis is merely a rule of construction and it cannot prevail in cases where it is clear that the wider words have been deliberately used in order to make the scope of the defined word correspondingly wider. It is only where the intention of the legislature in associating wider words with words of narrower significance is doubtful, or otherwise not clear that the present rule of construction can be usefully applied. It can also be applied where the meaning of the words of wider import is doubtful; but, where the object of the legislature in using wider words is clear and free of ambiguity, the rule of construction in question cannot be pressed into service."

This principle has been applied in a number of contexts in judicial decisions where the court is clear in its mind that the larger meaning of the word in question could not have been intended in the context in which it has been used. The cases are too numerous to need discussion here. It should be sufficient to refer to one of them by way of illustration. In Rainbow Steels Ltd. v. CST [(1981) 2 SCC 141 : 1981 SCC (Tax) 90] this Court had to understand the meaning of the word "old' in the context of an entry in a taxing traffic which read thus:

"Old, discarded, unserviceable or obsolete machinery, stores or vehicles including waste products....."

Though the tariff item started with the use of the wide word "old', the court came to the conclusion that "in order to fall within the expression "old machinery' occurring in the entry, the machinery must be old machinery in the sense that it has become non-functional or non-usable". In other words, not the mere age of the machinery, which would be relevant in the wider sense, but the condition of the machinery analogous to that indicated by the words following it, was considered relevant for the purposes of the statute.

13. The maxim of noscitur a sociis has been described by Diplock, C.J. as a "treacherous one unless one knows the societas to which the socii belong" (vide Letang v. Cooper [(1965) 1 QB 232 : (1964) 2 All ER 929]). The learned Solicitor General also warns that one should not be carried away by labels and Latin maxims when the words to be interpreted is clear and has a wide meaning. We entirely agree that these maxims and precedents are not to be mechanically applied; they are of assistance only insofar as they furnish guidance by compendiously summing up principles based on rules of common sense and logic. As explained in CCE v. Parle Exports (P) Ltd. [(1989) 1 SCC 345, 357 : 1989 SCC (Tax) 84] and Tata Oil Mills Co. Ltd. v. CCE [(1989) 4 SCC 541, 545-46 : 1990 SCC (Tax) 22] in interpreting the scope of any notification, the court has first to keep in mind the object and purpose of the notification. All parts of it should be read harmoniously in aid of, and not in derogation of, that purpose. In this case, the aim and object of the notification is to grant a concession to small scale factories which manufacture paper with unconventional raw materials. The question naturally arises: Could there have been any particular object intended to be achieved by introducing the exceptions set out in the proviso? Instead of proceeding on the premise that it is not necessary to look for any reason in a taxing statute, it is necessary to have a closer look at the wording of the proviso. If the proviso had referred only to "coated paper', no special object or purpose would have been discernible and perhaps there would have been no justification to look beyond it and enter into a speculation as to why the notification should have thought of exempting only "coated paper' manufactured by these factories from the purview of the exemption. But the notification excepts not one but a group of items. If the items mentioned in the group were totally dissimilar and it were impossible to see any common thread running through them, again, it may be permissible to give the exceptions their widest latitude. But when four of them -- undoubtedly, at least three of them -- can be brought under an intelligible classification and it is also conceivable that the government might well have thought that these small scale factories should not be eligible for the concession contemplated by the notification where they manufacture paper catering to industrial purposes, there is a purpose in the limitation prescribed and there is no reason why the rationally logical restriction should not be placed on the proviso based on this classification. In our view, the only reasonable way of interpreting the proviso is by understanding the words "coated paper' in a narrower sense consistent with the other expressions used therein."

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the Board of Basic Education, which is a statutory body established under the Act of 1972, falls generally within the class of an establishment that would be considered by the law to be a statutory body. He has drawn the attention of the Court to the fact that the petitioner's are not an establishment, or part of a class of establishments employing ten or more employees, which the Central Government has, by its notification specified in this regard under Section 1 (3) (c) of the Act. Mr. Kunal Shah, has drawn the attention of the Court to some eight notifications issued by the Central Government in exercise of their powers under Clause (c) of sub-section(3) of Section 1 of the Act, that refer to various establishments, specifically by name or by reference to there class, to which the application of the Act has been extended. None of those notifications bear reference, in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, to a statutory body as a class, or specifically in some manner, indicating that the application of the Act is extended to the petitioner.

16. This submission of learned counsel for the petitioner about the petitioner being covered under Clause (c) of sub-section (3) of Section1, can be straightaway disposed of without much to be examined about the issue, inasmuch as none of the notifications issued under the Act, even remotely apply to a statutory body, like the Board of Basic Education.

17. Ms. Fasiha Fatma, and Mr. Ambika Prasad Tiwari, learned counsel appearing for respondent No.2-employee have also not brought to the notice of this Court any notification under Section 1(3)(c) of the Act, extending its application to the petitioner specifically or by reference to a class, which may include the petitioner. Both learned counsel representing the employee do not dispute this submission of learned counsel for the petitioner. This Court is, therefore, of opinion that the Act has not been extended in its application to the Board of Basic Education, by a notification of the Central Government issued under Section 1(3)(c) of the Act. This clearly confines the question about applicability of the Act to the petitioner-Board, to be determined with reference to Clause (b) of sub-section (3) of Section 1 of the Act, alone.

18. In this regard, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the decision of a Division Bench of this Court in High Court Bar Association, Allahabad Vs. Deputy Labour Commissioner, Allahabad and others2, where speaking for the Division Bench, it was held by M.Katju, J. (as His Lordship then was of the High Court):

"6. As regard clause (b) of Section 1(3) this too will not apply because this relates to a shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in the State. In U.P., this law is the U.P. Dookan Aur Vanijya Adhishthan Adhiniyam, 1962. The High Court Bar Association, Allahabad is not a shop or establishment which comes within the purview of the aforesaid U.P. Act, 1962."

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner has depended upon this view of their Lordships of the Division Bench with much emphasis to submit that the earlier part of his contention, applying the principle of noscitur a sociis, accords with the aforesaid view of their Lordships where they have interpreted the word establishment in the same genre as the word "shop", though without referring to the principle last mentioned. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon a Division Bench decision of this Court in Ms. Usha Hamilton and another Vs. State of U.P.3, where it was held thus:

"8. On behalf of the petitioner no.1 reliance is placed upon certain provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act to show that in the event of an employee having no "Family" within the meaning of the said Act gratuity payable to a particular employee shall be paid to his or her nominee. To get over Rule 4 of the Rules, section 14 of the Payment of Gratuity, which gives an overriding effect to the provisions of the said Act and over other enactment, has been pressed into service. There may be some force in the contention of the learned counsel if the Payment of Gratuity Act was applicable to the case of Miss Elias. Our reading of the said Act shows that it has no application to her. The preamble of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, sets out that it has been enacted to provide for a scheme for the payment of gratuity to employees engaged in factories, mines, oilfields, plantations, ports, railway companies, shop or other establishments. Sub-section (3) of Section 1 makes it clear that the Act shall apply to (a) factory, mines, etc. (b) other shop or establishment and (c) such other establishments or class of establishments in which 10 or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months, as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf. If at all, the provisions of sub-section 1(3)(c) of the Act alone may have some relevance. However, we are clear that even that sub-section had no application to the College wherein Miss. Elias was surviving as a teacher. The preamble coupled with the provisions of section 1(3) of the Act makes it crystal clear that the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 is applicable only to commercial and industrial establishment."

(Emphasis by Court)

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn the attention of the Court to the concluding lines in paragraph-8 of the report to submit that their Lordships of the Division Bench in the said case again, read Section 1(3)(b) of the Act in a manner where without specifically referring to the principle of noscitur a sociis, they read the word establishment conditioned by the specific word "shop" to hold that it connotes a commercial and industrial establishment.

21. Learned counsel appearing for the employees, on the other hand, have disputed the aforesaid submission advanced on behalf of the petitioner. It is their contention that the word establishment employed under clause (b) of sub-section (3) of Section 1 of the Act, is in no way conditioned by the word "shop" which carries a disjunctive "or" between the two. In their submission, read as a whole, Section 1(3)(b) would show that the word "or" is to be read as "and". It is not conjunctive but disjunctive. The word establishment has been used in its widest generic sense, completely independent of the word "shop". It is the submission of learned counsel for respondent No.2-employee that the 'establishment' envisaged under Section 1(3)(b) would be any kind of establishment, not necessarily commercial or industrial. Confining the scope of the word establishment by reading it ejusdem generis with the word "shop", or by applying the more settled principles of noscitur a sociis would lead to bogging down the statute and result in curtailing its application to subjects, to which the legislature intended it to apply. It is their submission that there is absolutely nothing to suggest upon a reading of the provisions of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, that may lend itself to the kind of a restricted meaning being given to the word 'establishment' in terms urged by learned counsel for the petitioner.

22. This Court has carefully considered the rival submissions advanced.

23. The question whether the word establishment has been used in a restricted sense, conditioned by the word "shop", to mean that establishments commercial alone fall within the mischief of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, or the word establishment followed by the words, "within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishment in a State", are to be read considering "establishment" free from the shadows of it being a commercial one and in its widest sense, was considered by their Lordships of the Supreme Court in State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder and Others4. In State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra), their Lordships were confronted with this question in the context of facts where employees of a certain "Hydle Upper Bari, Doab Construction Project", undertaken by the Hydle Department of the Government of Punjab, moved the Labour Court for payment of gratuity upon retrenchment, when the project came to an end. The claim was considered by the Labour Court, under Section 33-C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The claim was granted, holding the employees entitled to gratuity. It was contended that the employers were an industrial establishment within the meaning of Section 2(ii)(g) of the Payment of Wages Act, as held by the Labour Court, and that, according to the parties in that case, the question was required to be examined with reference to Section 1(3)(b) of the Act alone. In the aforesaid context, it was held in the State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra) thus:

"3. .....According to the parties, it is clause (b) alone which needs to be considered for deciding whether the Act applies to the Project. The Labour Court has held that the Project is an establishment within the meaning of the Payment of Wages Act, Section 2(ii)(g) of which defines an "industrial establishment" to mean any "establishment in which any work relating to the construction development or maintenance of buildings, roads, bridges or canals, relating to operations connected with navigation, irrigation or the supply of water, or relating to the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity or any other form of power is being carried on". It is urged for the appellant that the Payment of Wages Act is not an enactment contemplated by Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act. The Payment of Wages Act, it is pointed out, is a Central enactment and Section 1(3)(b), it is said, refers to a law enacted by the State Legislature. We are unable to accept the contention. Section 1(3)(b) speaks of "any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State". There can be no dispute that the Payment of Wages Act is in force in the State of Punjab. Then, it is submitted, the Payment of Wages Act is not a law in relation to "shops and establishments". As to that, the Payment of Wages Act is a statute which, while it may not relate to shops, relates to a class of establishments, that is to say, industrial establishments. But, it is contended, the law referred to under Section 1(3)(b) must be a law which relates to both shops and establishments, such as the Punjab Shops and Commercial Establishments Act, 1958. It is difficult to accept that contention because there is no warrant for so limiting the meaning of the expression "law" in Section 1(3)(b). The expression is comprehensive in its scope, and can mean a law in relation to shops as well as, separately, a law in relation to establishments, or a law in relation to shops and commercial establishments and a law in relation to non-commercial establishments. Had Section 1(3)(b) intended to refer to a single enactment, surely the appellant would have been able to point to such a statute, that is to say, a statute relating to shops and establishments, both commercial and non-commercial. The Punjab Shops and Commercial Establishments Act does not relate to all kinds of establishments. Besides shops, it relates to commercial establishments alone. Had the intention of Parliament been, when enacting Section 1(3)(b), to refer to a law relating to commercial establishments, it would not have left the expression "establishments" unqualified. We have carefully examined the various provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act, and we are unable to discern any reason for giving the limited meaning to Section 1(3)(b) urged before us on behalf of the appellant. Section 1(3)(b) applies to every establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishments in a State. Such an establishment would include an industrial establishment within the meaning of Section 2(ii)(g) of the Payment of Wages Act. Accordingly, we are of opinion that the Payment of Gratuity Act applies to an establishment in which any work relating to the construction, development or maintenance of buildings, roads, bridges or canals, or relating to operations connected with navigation, irrigation or the supply of water, or relating to the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity or any other form of power is being carried on. The Hydel Upper Bari Doab Construction Project is such an establishment, and the Payment of Gratuity Act applies to it."

(Emphasis by Court)

24. A reading of the part of their Lordships decision in State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra), extracted above, shows an authoratative and explicit exposition of law, that the word establishment is to be given its widest meaning, without restricting its scope to commercial establishments. No further illustration is required on the reasoning about it, in view of what their Lordships have held in the said decision. It must, however, be remarked that the fact that in State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra), the word establishment was construed to include industrial establishments, is in no way indicative of an intent to confine the word 'establishment' to mean commercial and industrial establishments. It is only that in that case the question was about the applicability of the Act to an industrial establishment, under Section 1(3)(b), that led to a mention of industrial establishments alone, in the decision of their Lordships. However, the principle enunciated there is clear which, in no way, can be confined to industrial establishments alone. It may be mentioned that the decision of the Supreme Court in State of Punjab Vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra), was not brought to the notice of their Lordships of the Division Bench in Ms. Usha Hamilton (supra), or the Division Bench of this Court in High Court Bar Association, Allahabad (supra).

25. About the said issue, a judgment of the Karnataka High Court in Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Bangalore Vs. Regional Labour Commissioner (Central) and others5, may be referred to with profit. In the said decision, the question arose whether the respondent-employee, who was a Upper Division Clerk in the establishment of the Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Bangalore, and had resigned after rendering nine years and nine months of service, was entitled to gratuity calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Act. The employee moved the Authority under the Act, who allowed his claim and the employer's appeal was dismissed. In the context of the said facts, it was held thus:

"5. In order to appreciate the contention, it is necessary to extract the relevant part of Section 1(3). It reads:

"1.(3) It shall apply to-

* * *

(b) every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State, in which ten or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months."

As can be seen from the above provision, the Act applies to every establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to such establishments in a State in which ten or more persons are employed. There is no dispute that more than ten persons are employed on the establishment of the Provident Fund. The only question for consideration is whether it is or it is not an establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in this State in relation to shops and establishments. In this State,inter alia, the three relevant laws which are in force are

(i) Karnataka Shops and Establishment Act,

(ii) Payment of Wages Act, and

(iii) Contract Labour Act.

If the establishment of the Petitioner fails under the definition of establishment under any one of these Acts, the provisions of the Act gets attracted. The term 'establishment' is defined in the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970. It reads:

"(i) Any office or department of the Government or a local authority, or;

(ii) Any place where any industry, trade, business, manufacture or occupation is carried on."

According to the above definition all types of establishments including an office fall under the definition of the expression 'establishment'. Therefore, it is difficult to agree with the contention of the Petitioner that the office of the Petitioner does not fall within the meaning of the word 'establishment'."

6. Therefore, if the provisions of the Act are attracted, even though there are regulations regulating the payment of gratuity which are applicable to the petitioner-establishment, the provisions of the Act do not get excluded, for, Section 14 of the Act gives overriding effect to the provisions of the Act. See State of Punjab v. Labour Court, Jullundur, [1980-I L.L.N. 39]. Therefore, even if under the regulations governing the petitioner-establishment, a person who has tendered resignation is not entitled to gratuity, if under the Act he is entitled to it, the same cannot be denied. It may be seen that under Section 4 of the Act, the criteria for entitlement for gratuity is five years or more of service and the fact that the termination has been brought about by resignation, does not matter."

(Emphasis by Court)

26. It may be noticed in connection with the aforesaid decision of the Karnataka High Court that in order to construe the true import of the word 'establishment', and extending it to include any office or department of Government, the Court relied upon the definition of the word in the Contract Labour (Regulations and Abolition) Act, 1970. The decision does notice the law laid down by the Supreme Court in State of Punjab vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra), but does seem to apply the reasoning there, in order to give the word establishment, a wider meaning as indicated on the principles laid down by their Lordships in State of Punjab vs. Labour Court, Jullunder (supra). This question has received the most elaborate consideration by a Division Bench of this Court in Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Union and others Vs. Prabhu Dayal Srivastava and others6, where the issue arose whether an employee of the petitioner-Co-operative Union, would be governed by the provisions of the Act, on basis that the Co-operative Union would be an establishment under Section 1(3)(b) of the Act. It was held in Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Union (supra) thus:

"5. We are conscious that the Act is a progressive, social and beneficial legislation and it has to be interpreted as to promote the purpose or object of the Act. In such matters the construction that promotes the purpose of legislation should be preferred rather than just a literal construction. Under S. 1(3)(c) the relevant clause is "such other establishment" in a State in which ten or more persons are employed or were employed on any day of the preceding twelve months. The preceding Cl. 1(3)(b) was "every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishment in a State." The word "and" even though appears to be conjunction, but keeping in view the legislative intent and applying elementary principles of textual and contextual interpretation it appears to have the meaning of "or" and has been accordingly, used in a disjunctive sense. This preceding clause under S. 1(3)(b) to the effect "every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops" has got a complete meaning with the establishment pertaining to shops. There was no sense in using the word "and," a conjunction, and to add subsequent clause "establishment in a State" in which ten or more persons are employed. This obviously indicates that subsequent expression "establishment in a State" has been used in an independent and different sense than the preceding clause and has nothing to do with the establishment in relation to shops. In our opinion the word "and" has been used disjuntively to mean "or." We are conscious that the word "or" is antithesis of word "and" and the meaning of word "and" has to be sparingly interpreted as "or." The context of expression has been used under Sub-cl. (b) or Sub-cl. (c) of S. 1(3) of the Act. Keeping in view of the intention and purpose of legislation to provide gratuity to employees drawing wages up to Rs. 270 per month or otherwise. The object of the Act can also be in brief looked into, which is to the following effect:

"The Bill provides for payment of gratuity to employees drawing wages up to Rs. 750 per month in factories, plantations, shops, establishments and mines, in the event of superannuation, retirement, resignation and death or total disablement due to accident or disease. The quantum of gratuity payable will be 15 days' wages based on the rate of wages last drawn by the employees concerned for every completed year of service or part thereof in excess of six months subject to a maximum of 15 months' wages. The term wages means basic wages plus dearness allowance."

6. In the aforesaid object of the Act it has been clearly specified that the employees of factories, plantations, shops, establishments and mines have been separately provided. It means that the object of legislation was to provide benefit of gratuity to establishments independently of shops.

7. Much emphasis was laid by the learned counsel for petitioner on the word "establishment" used in second clause after the word "and." the word "establishment" is, however, not a defined term either under the Act or under the General Clauses Act. It is now well-settled principle that dictionary meaning of a word cannot be looked into in case the word has been defined statutorily or has been judicially defined. But where there is no such definition or interpretation, the Court can take the aid of dictionaries to ascertain the meaning in common parlance. In doing so the Court must bear in mind that the words are used in different sense according to its context and the dictionary gives all the meaning of a word and the Court would, therefore, have to select from the meaning which would be relevant to the contest in which it has to interpret the words. See State of Orissa v. Titaghar Paper Mills Company, Ltd. [1985 Supp SCC 280 : A.I.R. 1985 S.C. 1296].

8. It is better to have some dictionary meanings of the word "establishment." According to Black's Law Dictionary the word "establishment" connotes an institute, a place where conducted, to settle or fix firmly, place of a permanent footing. According to Words and Phrases (Permanent Edn.), Vol. 15, the word "establishment" means a place where one is permanently fixed for residence or business, such as an office or place of business with its fixtures. Further it means an establishment in which employee is or was employed. "Establishment" means merely something established. In Webster's International Dictionary the word "establishment" means an institute or place of business with its fixtures and organized staff. Oxford Dictionary defines the term "establishment" as organized body of men maintained for a purpose. According to Bouvier, Law Dictionary the word "establishment" connotes that which is instituted or established for public or private use.

9. The word "establish" has also been used in Art. 30(1) of the Constitution where the provision is that the minority whether based on religion or language shall have right to establish and administer educational institutions of their choice. The word "establishment" under Art. 30(1) of the Constitution means to bring into existence. See I.S. Aziz Pasha v. Union of India [A.I.R. 1968 S.C. 662].

10. In V. Transport [Private), Ltd. v. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Madras[A.I.R. 1965 Mad. 466], it means been held that the word "establishment" has been interpreted to mean an organization which employs persons, where relationship of employee and employer comes into existence.

11. We are accordingly of the opinion that the word "establishment" as used under S. 1(3)(b) or S. 1(3)(c) of the Act connotes an organized body of men and women employed where the relationship of employer and employee comes into existence. There could be no manner of doubt that petitioner 1 has employed a number of employees for a purpose, namely, to carry out the duties assigned to them for the object for which Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Union has been established. There is no doubt that the provisions of Gratuity Act would apply to the employees of petitioner 1."

27. This question again fell for consideration before a Division Bench of the Orissa High Court in Administrator, Shree Jagannath Temple, Puri, Vs. Jagannath Padhi & Others7. In the said decision, the question arose whether the term establishment that has not been defined under the Act, would apply as defined in any law operating in the State to include within its ambit a "temple". In Administrator, Shree Jagannath Temple, Puri (supra), Hon'ble A. Pasayat, J. (as His Lordship then was, of the High Court) speaking for the Bench held:

"4. .....The term "establishment" has not been defined in the statute. Section 1(3)(b) of the Act makes it clear that it applies to every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishment in a State, in which ten or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months. As observed by the Supreme Court in (1980) 1 SCC 4 : A.I.R. 1979 S.C. 1981 :State of Punjab v. The Labour Court, Jullundur; Vol. 32 (1990) O.J.D. 42 (S. & L)Executive Officer, Cuttack Municipality, Cuttack v. Appellate Authority under Payment of Gratuity Act-cum-Labour Commissioner, Orissa (to which one of us, Pasayat, J. was a party) and O.J.C. Nos. 1129 to 1131 of 1985. The Executive Officer, Puri Municipality v. Rama Naik etc., disposed of on 30-11-1990 (to which my Lord the Chief Justice was a party), the Act is not restricted to only commercial establishments, but to establishments within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishments in a State. The question that falls for determination, therefore, is whether the term "establishment" as defined in any law operating in the State includes within its ambit a "Temple". The authorities under the Act have observed that the Industrial Disputes Act and the statute relating to shops and commercial establishments include "Temple Trust" and therefore, the Temple is included therein. It would be relevant at this stage to refer to a decision of this Court reported in 49 (1980) C.L.T. 252'. Gopi Chand Agarwala v. State of Orissa, wherein the question whether deity is an establishment or an undertaking under the Orissa Prevention of Land Encroachment Act came up for consideration and it was held that deity is neither an establishment nor an undertaking within the meaning of that Act. It was observed that the word "establishment" was not defined in the concerned statute and therefore to be assigned the common sense meaning; it is difficult to conceive that a religious institution like a Hindu temple can constitute an establishment in the sense the words have been used in section 2(e) of the Orissa Prevention of Land Encroachment Act, 1972.

5. According to The Compact Edition of the Oxford Engligh Dictionary, Volume I, page 897 (Reprinted 1972), "establishment" means a public institution; a school; a factory; a house of business etc. In 1851, D. Wilson in Preh Ann, (1863) 11 iv. i. 192 referred to "the religious establishment founded at Iona". "Establishment" also has been defined to be the ecclesiastical system established by law. As observed by the Allahabad High Court in 1986 (53) F.I.R. 227;Municipal Board v. Appellate Authority and Addl L.C. to which reference was made by this Court in executive Officer, Puri Municipality's case (supra), the definition of establishment is very wide, and keeping in view the objective of the Act, it was held that the same is applicable to the retired persons of municipalities. Keeping in view the laudatory objects of the Act, and the same being a part of the social justice, this Court observed that the legislation was to be applied Liberally and a wider meaning was to be given.

6. "Gratuity", as observed by the Supreme Court in its etymological sense, means a gift, especially for services rendered or return for favours received. See A.I.R. 1970 S.C. 919; Delhi Cloth & General Mills Co. Ltd. v. Its Workmen. The general Principle underlying the gratuity schems is that by their length of service, workmen are entitled to claim a certain amount as a retiral benefit. See A.I.R. 1960 S.C. 251; Indian Home Pipe Co. Ltd. v. Its Workman Gratuity has to be considered to be an amount paid unconnected with any consideration and not resting upon it, and has to be considered something given freely or without recompense. It does not have foundation on any legal liability, but upon a bounty stemming from appreciation and graciousness. Long service carries with it expectation of an appreciation from the employer and a gracious financial assistance to tide over post retiral difficulties. Judged in that background, we feel that it would be unconscionable to keep temple out of the purview of the Act, more particularly when opposite party No. 1, a low paid employees has served the temple for a very long span of time."

(Emphasis by Court)

28. The question was considered by the Bombay High Court in Poona Cantonment Board, Vs. S.K. Das and others8, in the context of an employee of the Cantonment Board of Poona, who was held entitled to gratuity under the Act, treating the Cantonment Board to be an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act. The Board had contended that they were not an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, and that, Section 1(3)(c) of the Act did not apply as the notification extending the provisions of the Act to local bodies came to be issued in the month of January 1982, that is to say, before the cause of action arose. This issue was examined with reference to the provisions of Section 1(3)(b), alone.

29. In Poona Cantonment Board (supra), it was held:

"7. It is difficult to accept the contention urged on behalf of the petitioner for mere than one reason. In (State of Punjab v. The Labour Court, Jullundur,)1, (1980) 1 SCC 4 : A.I.R. 1979 Supreme Court 1981, the Supreme Court had an occasion to consider a somewhat similar contention. The question arose therein as to whether the Hydel Department of the Government of Punjab, which bad undertaken a construction project, in which the concerned workmen were employed as work-charged employees, answered the test in section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, so as to enable the employees to claim gratuity. The State of Punjab contended that section 1(3)(b) required that the establishment within its contemplation most be one "within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishments in a State", which meant that it should be an establishment within the meaning of a law applicable to shops and establishments enacted by the State Legislature. This contention was emphatically rejected by the Supreme Court by pointing out:

"It is difficult to accept that contention because there is no warrant for so limiting the meaning of the expression 'law' in section 1(3)(b). The expression is comprehensive in its scope, and can mean a law in relation to shops as well as, separately, a law in relation to establishments or a law in relation to shops and commercial establishments and a law in relation to non-commercial establishments. Had section 1(3)(b) intended to refer to a single enactment, surely its appellant would have been able to point to such a statute, that is to say, a statute relating to shops and establishments, both commercial and non-commercial. The Punjab Shops & Commercial Establishments Act does not relate to all hinds of establishments. Besides shops, it relates to commercial establishments clone. Had the intention of Parliament been, when enacting section 1(3)(b), to refer to a law relating to commercial establishments, it would not have left the expression 'establishments' unqualified. We have carefully examined the various provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act, and we are unable to discern any reason for giving the limited meaning to section 1(3)(b) urged before us on behalf of the appellant. Section 1(3)(b) applies to every establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishments in a State. Such an establishment would include an industrial establishment within the meaning of section 2(ii)(g) of the Payment of Wages Act."

8. The Supreme Court, therefore, held that the Hydel Project run by the State of Punjab was an establishment falling within section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, and, therefore, the workmen were entitled to claim gratuity.

9. In my view, the reasoning adopted by the Supreme Court in the judgment in State of Punjab (supra) would equally apply to the case of the petitioner. The Appellate Authority has taken the view that the petitioner's offices/establishments would be 'establishments' within the meaning of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, as defined in section 2(1)(e). Interestingly, section 2(1)(e) of the said Act defines the expression 'establishment' as under:

"2(i) In this Act unless the context otherwise requires,--

.....

(e) "Establishment" means--

(i) any office or department of the Government or a local authority, or

(ii) any piece where any industry, trade, business, manufacture or occupation is carried on;"

10. Even a cursory look at section 2(1)(e)(ii) is sufficient to lead to the conclusion that the establishment contemplated thereunder could be an establishment of a local authority. It is not disputed that the Pune Cantonment Board is a local authority, and, therefore, I would have thought that there would be no difficulty in holding that the establishment of the Puns Cantonment Board would be an establishment within the meaning of section 2(1)(e) of the Contract Labour (Regulation end Abolition) Act, 1970.

11. Mr. Presswala, learned Counsel appearing for the petitioner, contended that the petitioner-Board does not employ any contract labour, and, therefore, tits Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, would not apply to any concerned establishment of the Board, as it does not qualify under section 1(4)(a). In other words, the contention seems to be that, in order to made section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act apply, not only must the establishment be an 'establishment' within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to stops end establishments in the Stats, but that such law must also apply to the establishment in question. I am afraid, it is not possible to accept this contention. The only test of applicability prescribed in section 1(3)(b) is that the establishment must be an 'establishment' within the meaning of a specified type of law in the State. The section does not prescribe the former qualification canvassed by the learned Counsel for the petitioner. It is irrelevant, therefore, in cay view, whether the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, applies to any of the petitioner-Board concerned establishment or not What may not apply today may apply tomorrow, if the Board decides to engage 20 or more contract labour. While it in true that the application of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, may be determined by a voluntary act of the Board in engaging the requisite number of contract laborr, section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act does not contemplate applicability depending upon the volition of the employer. All that is necessary under section 1(3)(b) is that the establishment in question must answer the description or definition of an "establishment" within the meaning of any tow relating to shops end establishments which is in force in the Stele", nothing mare and nothing less. Although the Appellate Authority has also relied upon the definition of the expression 'establishment' as contained in the Bombay Shops & Establishments Act, 1948, I am not taking the said Act into consideration, since, as rightly contended by the learned Counsel for the petitioner-Board, the question whether the petitioner's establishments would answer the description of the said expression defined in that Act, is not free from doubt. For the purpose of disposing of the present petitions, it is sufficient that we concentrate our attention on the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, which is capable of applying to all establishments of local authorities like the petitioner-Board.

12. Thus, in my view, the establishments of the petitioner-Board are 'establishments' within the meaning of section 2(1)(e)(i) of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, which is a law in force in the State of Maharashtra in relation to shops and establishments in this State. Thus, the qualifying test in section 1(3)(b) being satisfied, the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, was applicable, even at the relevant time, to the establishments of the petitioner-Board, wherein the concerned workmen were working."

30. The question whether the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, fell for consideration of the Gujarat High Court in (Smt.) Jayaben Suryakant Modi Vs. Welfare Commissioner & Others9.

31. In (Smt.) Jayaben Suryakant Modi (supra), it was held:

"12. The basic facts in both the matters are not in dispute. The only question which requires consideration is as to whether the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972. Whereas it is clear from definition of the 'employee' given in Section 2(e) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 and the conditions mentioned in Section 4 of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 are admittedly satisfied factually in case of the employees in both these matters, in case it is found that the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is an 'establishment' within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b), there cannot be any difficulty in upholding the claim to the entitlement of the gratuity with regard to the employees of the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board.

13. There is no dispute that the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board has been constituted under the Bombay Labour Welfare Fund Act, 1953 and according to the provisions of Section 7 this Board holds the welfare fund and the same is held by the Board as Trustees, the fund also vests in the Board. In this view of the matter, the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board may be a Trust as mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 2 of the Bombay Shops and Establishments Act, 1948 dealing with the definition of 'commercial establishment'. The Gujarat Labour Welfare Board as a Trustee of the fund under the Bombay Labour Welfare Fund Act, 1953, whether registered or not, carries on work in connection with or incidental or ancillary thereto whether for purposes of gain or not and as such it appears that the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is covered under the definition of 'commercial establishment' as mentioned under Section 2(4) of the Bombay Shops and Establishments Act, 1948. In the alternative, even if it is assumed that the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is not covered by the definition of 'commercial establishment' as given in Section 2(4) of the Bombay Shops and Establishments Act, 1948, it is still an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act because it is an establishment within the meaning of the law which is in force in relation to 'establishment' in the State of Gujarat. It is not in dispute that various Central Acts, which have been enumerated in para 8 in the earlier part of the Judgment as pointed out by Mr. Bhaya, viz. Contract Labour (Regulation & Abolition) Act, 1948, Employment Exchange (Compulsory Notification of Vacancies) Act, Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and Apprenticeship Act are in force in the State of Gujarat and that being so, it is an 'establishment' within the meaning of the law for the time being in force in the State of Gujarat and it is not in dispute that' more than ten persons are employed in this Board. The use of the word 'and' between the words 'shops' and 'establishments' is clearly disjunctive and it cannot be read to be conjunctive and, therefore, it is not necessary that such establishment must be in relation to shops as well as establishments. It can be 'shops' and distinctly it can be an 'establishment-and yet it would be covered under Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972. In State of Punjab v. Labour Court, Jullundur (supra) the Supreme Court was dealing with a case with reference to the Punjab Shops and Establishments Act and it has been observed that besides shops it relates to commercial establishments also. While referring to the provisions of Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, the Supreme Court has observed that had the intention of the Parliament been while enacting Section 1(3)(b) to refer to a law is relating to commercial establishments, it would not have left the expression 'establishments' unqualified. It also observed that it was difficult to accept the contention that the law referred to under Section 1(3)(b) must be a law relating to both the shops and establishments such as the Punjab Shops and Commercial Establishments Act because the Supreme Court found that there is no warrant to limit the meaning of the expression 'law' in Section 1(3)(b) and further that the expression is comprehensive in its scope and it can mean a law in relation to shops as well as separately, a law in relation to establishments, or a law in relation to shops and commercial establishments and a law in relation to non-commercial establishments. In view of such a categorical pronouncement by the Apex 35 Court, it is not discernible by any reasoning to give a limited meaning to Section 1(3)(b) as has been argued by Mr. Pandya and I have no hesitation in holding that Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act applies to every establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishment in a State and such an establishment would also include an establishment like Gujarat Labour Welfare Board for the purpose of payment of the gratuity and the Payment of Gratuity Act applies to the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board with full force and the payment of the gratuity could not be denied to the employees of the Gujarat Labour Welfare Board on the ground that Gujarat Labour Welfare Board is not an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Payment of Gratuity Act....."

32. In V. Venkateswara Rao, Vs. The Chairman/Governing Body, S.M.V.M. Polytechnic, Tanuku & Ors.10, the polytechnic, who were employers imparting education in the technical field, were held to be an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act.

33. The same view has been taken by a Division Bench of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Smt. D. Lakshmi Vs. Andhra Pradesh Agricultural University and Anr.11

34. This view of the law was echoed yet again by a learned Judge of the Madras High Court in Habibaa Girls Primary School (represented by its Manager), Ambur Vs. Smt. Noorinisha and Others12, to hold that an educational institution like a private unaided school, would be covered under the definition of establishment, envisaged under Section 1(3) of the Act. It must be said here that in all decisions relating to educational institutions, the Act would apply also by virtue of Section 1(3)(c) of the Act, after 3rd April, 1997, in view of a notification issued by the Central Government, including Educational Institution in the category of establishments to which the provisions of the Act would apply, under Section 1(3)(c) of the Act.

35. The question has recently received the attention of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Senior Superintendent of Post Offices, Vs. Gursewak Singh and Others13, where, while examining the question whether a Gramin Dak Sewak is an employee within the meaning of Section 2(e) of the Act, the issue whether the Department of Post and Telegraph is an establishment within the meaning of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, was considered and answered thus:

"9. The first issue to be determined is whether a Gramin Dak Sewak is an 'employee' as per Section 2(e) of the 1972 Act, and is entitled to payment of Gratuity under this Act?

9.1. Section 1(3)(b) of the 1972 Act applies to every 'establishment' within the meaning of "any law" for the time being in force.

This Court in State of Punjab V. Labour Court Jalandhar (1980) 1 SCC 4, has held that there is no reason for limiting the meaning of the expression 'law' in Section 1(3)(b) of the 1972 Act.

The Postal Department is as an establishment under Section 2(k) of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 which reads as under:

"2. Definitions.-

(k) the expression "Post Office" means the department, established for the purposes of carrying the provisions of this Act into effect and presided over by the Director General.

(emphasis supplied)

The Indian Post Act, 1898 would fall under the expression 'law' in Section 1(3)(b). Consequently, the Post & Telegraphs Department would be an establishment under the 1972 Act."

36. The question, therefore, that the word 'establishment' occurring in Section 1(3)(b) of the Act is not confined in its scope to commercial establishments alone, or commercial and industrial establishments in contradistinction to sovereign establishments is no longer res integra. Wherever there is an establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force relating to establishment in a State, where ten or more persons are employed, the Act would apply. The establishment here, is the Board of Basic Education constituted under the Act of 1972. The petitioner, District Basic Education Officer, is an officer of that establishment at the District Headquarters. The Second respondent-employee is an employee of the Board of Basic Education, working under the administrative control of the District Basic Education Officer. It has nowhere been urged, or can be urged that an establishment, as large as that of the Board of Basic Education, would employ less than ten persons, even under the petitioner, District Basic Education Officer, Hamirpur. The question whether the Board of Basic Education is an establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to establishments in a State, to employ the phraseology of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act, one has to look to the Act of the 1972. The Act of 1972 is definitely law in force in the State of Uttar Pradesh, being enacted by the State legislature. The Act of 1972 defines the 'Board' under Section 2(c) as follows:

"Section 2 - Definitions

In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires--

(a) x x x x

(b) x x x x

(c) "Board' means the Uttar Pradesh Board of Basic Education constituted under section 3 ;

(d) x x x x

(e) x x x x"

37. Section 3 of the said Act speaks about the constitution of the Board, where sub-Section (1) clearly spells it out to be an establishment to be brought into existence by the State Government by notification in the Gazette. Section 3(1) reads:

"Section 3 - Constitution of the Board

(1) With effect from such date as the State Government may, by notification in the Gazette, appoint, there shall be established a Board to be known as the Uttar Pradesh Board of Basic Education.

(2) x x x x

(3) x x x x"

38. It is, thus, evident that the Board of Basic Education is an establishment within the meaning of the Act of 1972, which is law for the time being in force in the State of Uttar Pradesh. The Board being an establishment under a law for the time being in force, it clearly falls within the mischief of Section 1(3)(b) of the Act. The provisions of the Act, would, clearly be applicable to the Board and to its officers, including the petitioner, District Basic Education Officer, an officer of the Board.

39. At the same time, in order to make the Act govern the rights of an employee, it is just not enough that it is applicable to the employer. It is also necessary that the employee should qualify for an employee under Section 2(e) of the Act. A perusal of Section 2(e) shows that the Act would apply to any person, other than an apprentice, who is paid wages and engaged in any kind of work, manual or otherwise in an establishment to which the Act applies. Section 2(e) further requires that once an employee falls into the inclusive part of the aforesaid provision, he/ she should not fall under the excluding part of the provision. This is so because the provisions of Section 2(e) of the Act exclude from the definition of an employee, a person otherwise well within its fold, in case such person is the holder of a post under the Central Government or a State Government, and is governed by any other Act or by Rules providing for payment of gratuity. Thus, notwithstanding the applicability of the Act to an establishment by virtue of what Section 1(3)(b) envisages, an employee of the Central Government or a State Government, would not be entitled to its benefits at all, subject to the condition that the post that he holds, is governed by any other Act or by Rules, that provide for payment of gratuity. Clearly, employees of the Central Government or a State Government, who are in receipt of gratuity under law applicable to them relating to gratuity, would not be entitled to benefit of the Act. The provisions of Section 2(e) of the Act have a clarificatory feature about them. These make it explicit that but for the Central Government or a State Government vis-a-vis their employees, who are in receipt of gratuity under law or rules applicable to them for the purpose, every establishment, even if it be an establishment of the State created by statute and entrusted with very sovereign functions, would still be subject to the Act. The principle about a body corporate entirely owned and controlled by the Central Government, that is, just another face of the State, or an alterego, that is recognized as State to render such establishment amenable to the writ jurisdiction of this Court, or to other obligations of the State as an instrumentality of it, has no application here.

40. There is yet another feature of the Act, that would positively displace Section 9 of the Act of 1972, or any other Rule framed thereunder governing the liability to pay gratuity to an employee of the petitioner or the Board; that is the overriding effect given to the Act, over all other laws governing gratuity provided under Section 14. Section 14 of the Act reads:

"Section 14 - Act to override other enactments, etc.- The provisions of this Act or any rule made thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or in any instrument or contract having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act."

41. There is, thus, no scope for the provisions of the Act of 1972 to work to the exclusion of the Act, as canvassed by Mr. Kunal Shah. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner about the inapplicability of the Act to the petitioner, in the matter of entitlement to gratuity for the second respondent, cannot be accepted. The only avenue, that is still available to an employer to be relieved of his liability under the Act to its employees, despite the Act being applicable, is Section 5. Section 5 of the Act speaks about the power to exempt from the operation of the Act. Section 5 of the Act reads thus:

"Section 5.Power to exempt.- (1) The appropriate Government may, by notification, and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the notification, exempt any establishment, factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company or shop to which this Act applies from the operation of the provisions of this Act if, in the opinion of the appropriate Government, the employees in such establishment factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company or shop are in receipt of gratuity or pensionary benefits not less favourable than the benefits conferred under this Act.

(2) The appropriate Government may, by notification and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the notification, exempt any employee or class of employees employed in any establishment, factory, mine, oilfield, plantation, port, railway company or shop to which this Act applies from the operation of the provisions of this Act, if, in the opinion of the appropriate Government, such employee or class of employees are in receipt of gratuity or pensionary benefits not less favourable than the benefits conferred under this Act.

(3) A notification issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) may be issued retrospectively a date not earlier than the date of commencement of this Act, but no such notification shall be issued so as to prejudicially, affect the interests of any person."

42. Under Section 5(1) of the Act, the appropriate Government is empowered by notification and subject to such conditions as may be mentioned in the notification, to exempt an establishment from the provisions of the Act, in case such Government are of opinion that the employees of the establishment are in receipt of gratuity or pensionary benefits, not less favourable than what they would be entitled to under the Act. It is not that, that the mere provisions of post retiral benefits as to pension and gratuity that offer better terms to an employee, would ipso facto work to exempt an establishment from the provisions of the Act. The exemption has to be expressly granted by the appropriate Government, after it forms an opinion that pensionary benefits and gratuity under the law or rules applicable to an establishment, are not less favourable to the employee than what he would be entitled to under the Act. This decision, the appropriate Government, has to express through a notification issued for the purpose under the provisions of Section 5. Appropriate Government is defined under Section 2(a) of the Act as follows:

"2. Definitions.--In this Act unless the context otherwise requires,--

(a) "appropriate Government" means,-

(I) in relation to an establishment-

(a) belonging to, or under the control of, the Central Government,

(b) having branches in more than one State,

(c) of a factory belonging to, or under the control of, the Central Government,

(d) of a major port, mine, oilfield or railway company, the Central Government,

(ii) in any other case, the State Government;

(b) x x x x
(c) x x x x
(d) x x x x
(e) x x x x
(f) x x x x
(g) x x x x
(h) x x x x
(i) x x x x
(j) x x x x
(k) x x x x
(l) x x x x
(m) x x x x
(n) x x x x
(o) x x x x
(p) x x x x
(q) x x x x
(r) x x x x
(s) x x x x"

43. A perusal of the definition of appropriate Government clearly shows that the Central Government is the appropriate Government in relation to specified categories of establishments under Section 2(a)(i) of the Act, that fall into any of its four sub-clauses (a), (b), (c), and (d). If the establishment does not fall into any of the above mentioned sub-clauses of Section 2(a)(i), in relation to all other establishments, the State Government is the appropriate Government as a matter of residual application.

44. Admittedly, in this case, the petitioner has not come up with a plea that they have been granted exemption by the State Government. Once that is not the case, it goes without saying that the petitioner has not offered any evidence to substantiate such a case. The conclusion is, therefore, inescapable that the petitioner is an establishment/ part of an establishment, to which the Act applies. The Act is in no way excluded by operation of Section 9, or any other provisions of the Act of 1972. Also, the petitioner is not an establishment/ part of establishment, that has been exempted under Section 5 of the Act.

45. In view of these findings, the order impugned cannot be held to be vitiated for want of jurisdiction in the Authority. The order, otherwise also, is in no way manifestly illegal or unjust. It, thus, calls for no interference under Article 226 of the Constitution.

46. In the result, the petition fails and is dismissed with costs.

47. Interim order dated 01.12.2009 is hereby vacated.

Order on WRIT - C No. - 9831 of 2019

48. In view of the orders passed in Writ - C No.62286 of 2009 (District Basic Education Officer vs. Niyantrak Pradhikari Anutoshik Bhugtan Adhiniyam, 1972 And Another), no orders are required to be passed in this writ petition, which stand consigned to the Record subject, of course, to liberty to the petitioner of this writ petition, to come up again, should that necessity arise.

49. There shall be no order as to costs.

50. Let this order be communicated by the office forthwith to the Controlling Authority, Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972-cum-Assistant Labour Commissioner, U.P., Kanpur Region, Kanpur.

(2019)10ILR A 1571

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 13.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAMESH SINHA, J.
THE HON'BLE AJIT KUMAR, J.

Writ C- No. 26569 of 2019

Smt. Husna Bano ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Muktesh Kumar Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Baleshwar Chaturvedi.

A. UP Electricity Supply Code, 2005 - Electricity connection - Grant of electricity connection is in the nature of basic need today - Legislature is intended to frame rules in manner that such connections to tenant or occupiers are not denied - No reason to refuse electricity connection in the absence of NOC of landlord - Writ Petition allowed. (Para 5 & 6)

B. Indemnity Bond - Importance - Indemnity bond does not become a document of title - Electricity connection granted under Indemnity Bond is protected by way of declaration given by person seeking electricity connection. (Para 6)

Held –
6. In our considered opinion the Indemnity Bond does not become a document of title and declaration in the said bond to the effect that petitioner is lessee or otherwise in occupation in a proof of his possession. As we have already discussed herein above in this judgment that the petitioner is residing in the capacity of tenant and she has taken plea in the civil suit as well as taken plea by way of Indemnity Bond that she has filed, we find no reason for the electricity department not to grant electricity connection. The electricity connection granted under the Indemnity Bond are clearly protected by way of declaration given by the persons seeking electricity connection. Moreover, grant of electricity connection does not bar an eviction suit by the landlord. Therefore, we find no reason for the electricity department or the concerned officer to refuse electricity connection on the ground that the landlord has come up with an application that the electricity connection should not be given in the absence of no objection certificate.

C. Eviction suit - Bar - Grant of electricity connection does not bar an eviction suit by the landlord. (Para 6)

D. Electricity Act, 2003 - S. 43 (1) - Right to get electricity supply - Provision of S. 43(1) caste an affirmative obligation on the distribution licencee to supply electricity on an application being moved by owner or occupier - It is a statutory right to apply for and obtain supply of electricity. (Para 7)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case Relied On:-

1. Gaurav Sharma Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (Writ-C No.8396 of 2018 dated 18.9.2018)

2. Smt. Sushama Chowdhary Vs U.P. Power Corp. Ltd. & ors. (Misc. Bench No. 9588 of 2014 dated 24.09.2014)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.
Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Muktesh Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Baleshwar Chaturvedi, learned Counsel for the respondent nos.3, 4 and 5, learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos.1 and 2 and perused the record.

2. The petitioner by means of the present petition, has prayed for quashing the impugned order dated 28.06.2019 passed by respondent no.5 whereby certain more information has been sought from the petitioner regarding her possession over the property in question as electricity connection is being sought by the petitioner.

3. The controversy has arisen on account of landlord tenant dispute between the petitioner and respondent nos.5 to 10 on account of death of the main land-lady Rubiya Begam, w/o Azeemullah. The facts as have pleaded in the present writ petition are that on account of dispute of succession amongst the heirs who are respondent nos.6 to 10 here in this petition, the petitioner has been under serious threat of eviction in an unauthorized way from the premises in question. Since she was a tenant for Rs.200/- per month for the accommodation let out to her by late Rubiya Begam and the petitioner has Rashan Card and permanent Adhar Card issued on the said address, she instituted a suit for permanent injunction bearing O.S. No.294/2019 which is pending in the court of Civil Judge (Junior Division), Aligarh. However, during the pendency of the said suit, respondents got electricity connection in the name of Rubiya Begam cancelled. This led the petitioner to apply for fresh electricity connection to her accommodation. She also submitted Indemnity Bond as per annexure 4.2 of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005, dated 25.6.2019 but instead of granting the electricity connection, she has been further directed to supply further documents of proof of possession. The notice dated 28.6.2019 does refer to certain documents like Rashan Card and Adhar Card supplied by the petitioner, however, in spite of that, the petitioner submits, she has been denied electricity connection because of the letter by the heirs of the earlier land-lady that no fresh connection be given without NOC of landlord being produced. Thus upon the said letter, the Executive Officer passed order dated 1.7.2019 refusing the fresh electricity connection to the petitioner.

4. The argument advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner has filed Rashan Card and Adhar Card which themselves are proof of her possession over the premises in question and it is further submitted that since after the death of land-lady, her successors refused to accept the rent, she could not produce the rent receipt. It is further submitted that Indemnity Bond as required Annexure 4.2 of the Electricity Supply Code, 2005 is meant for such purposes where electricity connection are being sought by the tenant and NOC is not given by its landlord.

5. We have examined the relevant provisions of U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005 for the purposes of grant of electricity connection and we appreciate that annexure 4.2 is in respect of an intending consumer who is not owner of the premises. We however find that a person who has obtained Rashan Card and Adhar Card issued way back in the year 2016-17 is having sufficient proof at valid possession for the limited purposes i.e. grant of electricity connection. Besides above, the fact of suit for injunction being going on between the parties, at the instance of respondent is sufficient fact further to demonstrate that the premises in question is in possession of the petitioner and she is under threat of being evicted without due process of law. Providing basic necessity is the duty of the State as the electricity in modern times is basic necessity more especially when persons are residing in semi urban and urban areas. In most of the cases where there is dispute between the landlord and the tenant, the landlord can never issue no objection certificate as he intends to evict his tenant and disconnection of electricity becomes an effective tool to engineer eviction forcefully. Further there are large number of cases where still rent is being paid in cash so there is no possibility of a tenant having rent receipt. In such circumstances the question of possession whether in the capacity of tenant or otherwise becomes a question of fact to be determined by the court competent enough for the said purposes. The grant of electricity connection, since it is in the nature of basic need today, the legislature has intended to frame rules in such manner that such connections to tenants or occupiers are not denied and that is why annexure 4.2 has been prescribed for as Indemnity Bond.

6. In our considered opinion the Indemnity Bond does not become a document of title and declaration in the said bond to the effect that petitioner is lessee or otherwise in occupation in a proof of his possession. As we have already discussed herein above in this judgement that the petitioner is residing in the capacity of tenant and she has taken plea in the civil suit as well as taken plea by way of Indemnity Bond that she has filed, we find no reason for the electricity department not to grant electricity connection. The electricity connection granted under the Indemnity Bond are clearly protected by way of declaration given by the persons seeking electricity connection. Moreover, grant of electricity connection does not bar an eviction suit by the landlord. Therefore, we find no reason for the electricity department or the concerned officer to refuse electricity connection on the ground that the landlord has come up with an application that the electricity connection should not be given in the absence of no objection certificate.

7. We find support in respect of our above view in the judgement of Division Bench of this Court in the case of Gaurav Sharma Vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ-C No.8396 of 2018 dated 18.9.2018) vide paragraph no.9 of the judgement (supra) the Division Bench has held thus:-

Further, Misc. Bench No. 9588 of 2014, Smt. Sushama Chowdhary v. U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. & 4 others decided on 24.09.2014 a concurrent Bench of this Court has relied upon a judgment of Supreme Court in AIR 2011 SC 2897 Chandu Khamaru v. Smt. Nayan Malik, wherein, Supreme Court has come to interpret sub-Section (1) of Section 41 and has held that in case of family dispute, the Electricity Act takes full care for grant of electricity connection and it ensures that nobody is deprived of electricity connection only on account of internal family dispute. The Division Bench in Sushama Chowdhary (supra) held thus:

"Section 43 (1) of the Electricity Act, 20031 provides that save and otherwise provided in the Act, every distribution licensee shall, on an application by the owner or occupier of any premises, give supply of electricity to such premises within one month after receipt of an application requiring such supply. Section 43 (1) of the Act of 2003 casts an affirmative obligation on the distribution licensee to supply electricity on an application being moved by the owner or occupier. A corresponding entitlement or right is conferred by the statute on the owner or occupier to require a supply of electricity. This legal position is not in doubt. In Chandu Khamaru v. Smt. Nayan Malik2, the Supreme Court, while interpreting the provisions of Section 43 (1) of the Act of 2003, observed as follows:

"Sub-section (1) of Section 43 provides that every distribution licensee, shall, on an application by the owner or occupier of any premises, give supply of electricity to such premises, within one month after receipt of the application requiring such supply. These provisions in the Electricity Act, 2003 make it amply clear that a distribution licensee has a statutory duty to supply electricity to an owner or occupier of any premises located in the area of supply of electricity of the distribution licensee, if such owner or occupier of the premises applies for it, and correspondingly every owner or occupier of any premises has a statutory right to apply for and obtain such electric supply from the distribution licensee."

Again, in a subsequent part of the aforesaid decision, the Supreme Court emphasized the statutory right of an occupier and the corresponding statutory obligation on the distribution licensee to supply electricity. The Supreme Court observed as under:

"...The appellant has a statutory right to apply for and obtain supply of electricity from the distribution licensee and the distribution licensee has a corresponding statutory obligation to supply electricity to the appellant."

We find merit in the contention of the petitioner that the impugned order dated 2 August 2014 contains no reason for the denial of electric supply, save and except for making a reference to the provisions of Clause 4.4 of the Electricity Supply Code-20053. Clause 4.4 of the Code-2005 is in aid of the statutory duty cast by Section 43 of the Act of 2003.

As a matter of fact, an Indemnity Bond, a proforma of which is contained in Annexure 4.2 of the Code-2005, deals with a situation where an occupier of the premises applies for the grant of an electricity connection, but is unable to produce the consent of the owner. Obviously, in a situation, where a dispute is between the owner and occupier (in the present case, the dispute is between members of a family), a provision has been made for furnishing an Indemnity Bond. The record would, in fact, indicate that on 21 July 2014, the petitioner had furnished an Indemnity Bond, describing herself as an occupier of the premises and said that she was unable to obtain the consent of the owner in view of the pendency of the litigation before the Court. Despite this, the Executive Engineer has acted in breach of the statutory obligation, which is cast on a distribution licensee to provide supply of electricity. The impugned order reveals a total non-application of mind and an unawareness of the obligation, which is cast by Section 43 of the Act of 2003 on the distribution licensee.

8. In view of the above, we are not able to sustain the order dated 1.7.2019 and accordingly we hereby set-aside the same. The matter is remitted to the authority competent to grant electricity connection and to consider the application of the petitioner on the basis of Indemnity Bond filed and the Rashan Card and the Adhar Card produced before it. Necessary positive orders and direction for providing electricity connection shall be passed, if otherwise there is no legal impediment, within a period of two weeks from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

9. The petition stands allowed as indicated above.

(2019)10ILR A 1575

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 14.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MANISH MATHUR, J.

Misc. Single No.- 22407 of 2019

Tarun Kumar Srivastava ...Petitioner
Versus
Gur Bux Singh & Ors. Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Shriya Saxena, Sri Utkarsh Srivastava.

Counsel for the Respondents:

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order XLI Rule 27-Petitioner's application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. was allowed by appellate court permitting to bring on record the proceedings and judgment pertaining to Regular Suit No.222/2002-consequentially an application for amendment of memorandum of appeal was filed- rejected- on the ground that it would delay proceedings-cannot be a valid or cogent ground for rejection-overlooking the necessity of incorporating it in the interest of justice.

Held -: the natural consequence would be amendment to memorandum of appeal in order to enable appellant to take the grounds available to him and relating to bringing on record such additional evidence. In case such amendment in the memorandum of appeal is not permitted, the entire purpose of allowing the application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. would stand defeated. The Learned Court below had completely ignored the necessity of incorporating amendment as sought by appellant and the application has been rejected only on the ground that it would delay proceedings. The said ground cannot be a valid or cogent ground for rejecting the application for amendment. Amendment application should have been allowed by appellate court.

Writ Petition Allowed (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Utkarsh Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Manoj Kumar Dubey, Advocate who has filed his power on behalf of opposite parties 1 and 3. The power is taken on record. It is admitted between learned counsel for parties that opposite parties 2 and 4, though not served, are merely proforma for the purposes of adjudication of present petition which may be heard finally without notices being served upon them. However, it is a relevant fact that earlier vide order dated 26.08.2019, notices had been issued to the said opposite parties and office report dated 04.10.2019 indicates that undelivered notices have not yet been received back indicating service of notice upon opposite parties 2 and 4. However, in terms of explanation to Rule 12 Chapter VIII of the Rules of this Court, service of notices upon opposite parties 2 to 4 is deemed sufficient.

2. Learned counsel for opposite parties 1 and 3 states that he is waving his right to file counter affidavit and that the petition may be disposed of on basis of material on record. Due to such statement, the petition is being decided finally at admission stage itself with consent of learned counsel for the parties.

3. Under challenge is the order dated 08.07.2019 passed by Additional District Judge (PC Act-I), Lucknow in Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 (Tarun Kumar Srivastava v. Gur Bux Singh and others) whereby Application No.A-146 seeking amendment in the memorandum of appeal has been rejected.

4. As per averments made in the petition, the plaintiffs-opposite parties 1 to 3 instituted Regular Suit No.56 of 2009 (Gurbux Singh & others v. Smt. Neeta Dua and another) against opposite party no.4 and the petitioner who were defendants in the said suit, which was filed seeking relief of possession and damages in relation to some property situate at Aishbagh, Lucknow. The said suit was decreed vide judgment and decree dated 07.04.2014 whereafter Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 (Tarun Kumar Srivastava v. Gur Bux Singh and others)was filed.

5. It has been stated that earlier another Regular Suit No.222/2002 (M/s Lala Timber Traders v. Guru Bux Singh) seeking the relief of permanent injunction with regard to the same property in question. The said suit was decreed vide judgment and decree dated 08.08.2014, i.e. after the judgment and decree passed in Regular Suit No.56 of 2009.

6. It has been stated that due to the subsequent development, the petitioner-defendant filed an application under Order 41 Rule 27 of C.P.C. in Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 bringing on record the details of Regular Suit No.222/2002 along with judgment and decree dated 08.08.2014. The application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. was allowed by means of an order dated 02.05.2018, which became final.

7. Subsequent to allowing of application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C., the petitioner filed an application for amendment of memorandum of appeal in Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014. The same has been rejected by means of the impugned order dated 08.07.2019.

8. Learned counsel for petitioner challenging the reasoning indicated in the impugned order submitted that once application under 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. was allowed and became final, the application seeking to amend memorandum of appeal was but a natural consequence thereof particularly in view of the fact that judgment and decree in Regular Suit No.222/2002 was passed subsequent to the judgment and decree dated 07.04.2014 in Regular Suit No.56 of 2009. It has been further submitted that only a single ground is sought to be incorporated in memorandum of appeal particularly in view of the provisions of Order 41 Rule 2 C.P.C. to the effect that no submissions can be advanced or evidence led in absence of specific pleadings for the same.

9. Learned counsel for petitioner has relied upon judgments rendered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in State of Maharashtra v. Hindustan Construction Company Ltd. reported in (2010) 4 SCC 518, P. Kunjukrishna Pillai and others v. D. Sreekantan Nair and others passed in Civil Appeal No.4439 of 2008 and Andhra Bank v. ABN Amro Bank N.V. and others reported in (2007) 6 SCC 167 with the submission that Hon'ble the Supreme Court has clearly held that amendment is permissible to be incorporated in the memorandum of appeal if required to do absolute justice between the parties.

10. Learned counsel for petitioner has also submitted that the amendment application has been rejected on the only ground that it would delay proceedings while completely ignoring necessity of such amendment to be incorporated in the memorandum of appeal.

11. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite parties 1 and 3 while refuting submissions advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that proceedings of Regular Suit No.222/2002 were already pending at the time of institution of Regular Suit No.56 of 2009 and therefore, pleadings sought to be incorporated by means of the amendment application could very well have been taken at trial stage itself. The said fact was not brought on record at trial stage due to which no issue was framed with regard to same, which clearly indicates that such amendment being sought to be incorporated at appellate stage is being done only for purposes of delaying the proceedings which have already been pending for the past five years.

12. Heard learned counsel for parties and perused the record.

13. It is admitted fact that although Regular Suit No.222/2002 was instituted by the petitioner prior to filing of Regular Suit No.56 of 2009 but the said Regular Suit No.222/2002 was actually decided finally subsequent to the decision in Regular Suit No.56 of 2009. It was in these circumstances that application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. was filed by petitioner at the appellate stage and was allowed by means of order dated 2.05.2018 which remains unchallenged.

14. It is a relevant fact that application under Order 41 Rule 27 pertained to proceedings of Regular Suit No.222 of 2002 and by means of the said application, documents filed in said suit were brought on record along with judgment and decree dated 08.08.2014.

15. In the application filed for amendment of memorandum of appeal, it has been stated that in Regular Suit No.222/2002, the defendant (opposite parties in this petition) also filed written statement with counter claim but thereafter did not participate in the proceedings thereby abandoning the counter claim which, therefore, precluded them from filing another suit. It was stated that in view of the said proceedings, and particularly in view of allowing of application for taking additional evidence, amendment to the memorandum of appeal is required, to do complete justice between the parties.

16. It is thus clear that once the application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. was allowed by appellate court permitting the appellant to bring on record the proceedings and judgment pertaining to Regular Suit No.222/2002, the natural consequence would be amendment to memorandum of appeal in order to enable appellant to take the grounds available to him and relating to bringing on record such additional evidence. In case such amendment in the memorandum of appeal is not permitted, the entire purpose of allowing the application under Order 41 Rule 27 C.P.C. would stand defeated.

17. A perusal of impugned order dated 08.07.2019 clearly indicates only reason for rejecting the amendment application as being delay in deciding the appeal due to allowing of amendment application. The court below has not at all appreciated the effect and purpose of the amendment sought to be incorporated in memorandum of appeal, which it was necessarily required to do. Rejecting amendment application merely on the ground that it would delay proceedings cannot be said to be a cogent ground without adverting to the purpose, effect and necessity of the amendment sought to be incorporated.

18. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Andhra Bank v. ABN Amro Bank N.V. and others(supra) has clearly held that delay in filing application for amendment of the written statement cannot stand in the way of allowing the prayer for amendment of written statement. It has also been held that while allowing an application for amendment of pleadings, the Court cannot go into the question of merit of such amendment and that the only question required to be seen would be whether such amendment would be necessary for decision of the real controversy between parties in the suit. Relevant paragraphs of the judgment is quoted as follows :

"Since, we are of the view that delay is no ground for not allowing the prayer for amendment of the written statement and in view of the submissions made by Mr Kapadia, we do not think that delay in filing the application for amendment of the written statement can stand in the way of allowing the prayer for amendment of the written statement. So far as the second ground is concerned, we are also of the view that while allowing an application for amendment of the pleadings, the Court cannot go into the question of merit of such amendment. The only question at the time of considering the amendment of the pleadings would be whether such amendment would be necessary for decision of the real controversy between the parties in the suit.?

19. In P. Kunjukrishna Pillai(supra), Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held that an amendment application cannot be rejected only for the ground that it was not filed before the trial commenced.

20. In State of Maharashtra v. Hindustan Construction Company Ltd.(supra) Hon'ble the Supreme Court has clearly held that provisions in Civil Procedure Code leave no manner of doubt that the appellate court has power to grant leave to amend memorandum of appeal. The relevant potion of the judgment reads as follows :

"23. Do the principles relating to amendment of pleadings in original proceedings apply to the amendment in the grounds of appeal? Order 41 Rule 2 CPC makes a provision that the appellant shall not, except by leave of the court, urge or be heard in support of any ground of objection not set forth in the memorandum of appeal; but the appellate court, in deciding the appeal, shall not be confined to the grounds of objections set forth in the memorandum of appeal or taken by leave of the court. Order 41 Rule 3 CPC provides that where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up as prescribed, it may be rejected, or be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended. The aforesaid provisions in CPC leave no manner of doubt that the appellate court has power to grant leave to amend the memorandum of appeal."

"24. As a matter of fact, in Harcharan v. State of Haryana [(1982) 3 SCC 408] , this Court observed that the memorandum of appeal has the same position as the plaint in the suit. This Court said:

"5…. When an appeal is preferred the memorandum of appeal has the same position like the plaint in a suit because plaintiff is held to the case pleaded in the plaint. In the case of memorandum of appeal same situation obtains in view of Order 41 Rule 3. The appellant is confined to and also would be held to the memorandum of appeal. To overcome any contention that such is not the pleading the appellant sought the amendment.?

21. Upon applicability of the aforesaid judgments in the facts and circumstances of present case, it can be seen that the learned court below had completely ignored the necessity of incorporating amendment as sought by appellant and the application has been rejected only on the ground that it would delay proceedings. As seen from the judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court indicated hereinabove, the said ground cannot be a valid or cogent ground for rejecting the application for amendment.

22. In view of the fact that amendment application has been filed merely to substantiate pleadings with regard to additional evidence already permitted to be brought on record by the appellate court, this Court is of the opinion that the said amendment application should have been allowed by appellate court.

23. In the aforesaid circumstances, petition is allowed setting aside order dated 08.07.2019 passed by Additional District Judge (PC Act-I), Lucknow in Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 (Tarun Kumar Srivastava v. Gur Bux Singh and others). Application No.A-146 in Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 is also allowed as a consequence.

24. Learned counsel for the opposite parties has placed order dated 28.02.2019 passed in Writ Petition No.5955(M/S) of 2019(Gurdeep Singh v. Additional District Judge/Special Judge, P.C.Act-1, Lucknow and another) with the submission that this Court has already directed the appellate court to decide Regular Civil Appeal No.137 of 2014 with expedition, say, within a period of six months from the date a certified copy of order is submitted. Learned counsel for opposite parties submits that in view of aforesaid direction, the appeal is required to be decided in terms of order dated 28.02.2019, although the time frame indicated in said order has already expired.

25. Keeping in mind the direction issued by this Court earlier on 28.02.2019, learned court below, i.e. learned Additional District Judge/Special Judge, P.C.Act-1, Lucknow is directed to decide the appeal with expedition in terms of order dated 28.02.2019, however with the slight modification that in view of this order, the appeal shall be decided preferably within a period of three months from the date a copy of this order is brought on record in the appellate proceedings. Consequential amendment to memorandum of appeal shall be incorporated by the appellant within a period of seven days from the date a copy of this order is brought on record before the court concerned and the proceedings shall thereafter be completed within the time frame as indicated herein-above.

(2019)10ILR A 1580

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 23.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MRS. SANGEETA CHANDRA, J.

Misc. Single No. 7515 of 2013

M/S Grasim Industries Ltd. (Unit Indo Gulf Fertilisers) ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Md. Altaf Mansoor.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G., Sri Gaurav Saxena, Jushi Saxena, Sri Lalla Chauhan, Sri Mohd. Yousuf, Nandita Bharti, Sri Neeraj Kumar Saxena, Rajni Saxena, Rishi Saxena, Seena Saxena.

A. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 - Section 2(a)(2) - petition filed-challenging the order passed by the Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal, Lucknow ('CGIT')- declaring the petitioner-Company to be "Controlled Industry" u/s.2(a)(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- unless a notification of Central Government bringing any industry under its control w.r.t. the Act of 1947-is passed-the same cannot be "controlled industry"-"appropriate Government"-would be State Government-therefore CGIT has no jurisdiction- liberty is granted to approach, either the State Government or the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal u/s. 2(A)(2) of the Act.

Held: - order is set aside

Writ Petition allowed (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner Sri Altaf Mansoor, Sri Lalla Chauhan for respondent no.3 and Sri Vivek Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondent.

2. This petition had initially been filed by Indo Gulf Fertilizers (A Unit of Aditya Birla Nuvo Ltd.). However, since the Unit has been taken over by M/S Grasim Industries Ltd., Jagdishpur Industrial Area, Amethi, an amendment application was moved, which was allowed on 30.8.2019 and necessary amendments with regard to the petitioner have already been incorporated in the array of parties, by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

3. This petition has been filed, challenging the order dated 23.8.2013 passed by the Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal, Lucknow (for short 'CGIT'), wherein it has been declared that the petitioner-Company falls under the purview of "Controlled Industry" as defined in Section 2(a)(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and, therefore, the CGIT has jurisdiction to entertain a dispute/petition filed by respondent no.3 before respondent no.2.

4. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner Sri Altaf Mansoor that respondent no.3 was working as Deputy Manager in the Stores Department of the petitioner-Company, but his services were terminated on 2.4.2012. A departmental appeal was filed and thereafter respondent no.3 filed an application under Section 2-A of the Act before the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow in May, 2012. On the application of respondent no.3, the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow issued notice to the petitioner and the petitioner filed a preliminary objection on the ground of jurisdiction for initiation of conciliation proceedings by the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow. The proceedings remained pending before the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow with regard to the question of jurisdiction. In the meantime, respondent no.3 filed I.D. Case no.66 of 2012 before respondent no.2 on expiry of 45 days from the date of filing of application before the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow. The respondent no.2 issued notice to the petitioner on 29.8.2012. The petitioner again filed its preliminary objection regarding maintainability of the petition before the CGIT on 15.3.2013. The affidavits were exchanged in which, respondent no.3 has stated that the petitioner-Company manufactured fertilizer, which is a commodity that is under the direct control of Department of Fertilizers, Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, Government of India and such manufacturing of fertilizer is controlled under the Fertilizer (Control)

Order, 1985 and Essential Commodities Act, 1955. The availability of raw material, production both in quantity and quality, marketing, movement and fixing of sale price etc. for the petitioner-Company is being controlled by the Central Government and, therefore, the claim petition filed by the workman before the CGIT was maintainable. The respondent no.2 by the impugned order dated 23.8.2013 has decided the question of jurisdiction against the petitioner, therefore, this petition has been filed.

5. It has been submitted by Sri Mohd. Altaf Mansoor that a perusal of the impugned order would show that objection was indeed raised, but was disregarded by the respondent no.2 only because of reference to the Fertilizer (Control) Order, 1985, Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 and the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951. It has been submitted that the definition of "appropriate Government" is given under Section 2 of the Act, which provides that with regard to any industry carried on by or under the authority of the Central Government or by a Railway Company or concerning any such controlled industry as may be "specified in this behalf" by the Central Government, the "appropriate Government" would be the Central Government. In the case of the petitioner-Company, however, no such notification has been made by the Central Government under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

6. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner on the basis of the judgments rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of Bijay Cotton Mills Limited vs. Workmen and another (1960) 2 SCR 982 and Management of Vishnu Sugar Mills Limited, Harkhua District Saran, Bihar vs. Workmen represented by Chini Mill Mazdoor Union, Harkhua, District Saran Bihar (1960) 3 SCR 214, that merely because under an Act, the production, supply and sale of a product of a Company is being controlled and regulated by the Central Government, it would not create any presumption that the "appropriate Government" would be the Central Government under Section 2(A) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to Para-12 of the judgment in the case of Bijay Cotton Mills Limited (supra) and has read out the same where almost very same argument was raised and rejected. Para-12 of the said judgment is being quoted hereinbelow:

"12. The last contention urged is that the reference is invalid inasmuch as the Chief Commissioner of Ajmer was not competent to refer the present dispute for adjudication under Section 10(1) read with Section 12(5) of the Act. The argument is that the Textile Industry has been included at Serial No. 23 in the First Schedule to the Industrial (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951 (Act 65 of 1951) and as such the Chief Commissioner of Ajmer was not the appropriate Government under Section 2(a)(i) of the Act. It is urged that the present dispute could have been validly referred for adjudication to the Industrial Tribunal only by the Central Government. Section 2(a)(i) inter alia defines the appropriate Government as meaning, in relation to any industrial dispute concerning any industry carried on by or under the authority of the Central Government or by a railway company or concerning any such controlled industry as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government, the Central Government. The question which arises is: has the textile industry been specified as controlled industry in this behalf by the Central Government? It is true that the textile industry is controlled by the provisions of Act 65 of 1951 and in that sense it is controlled industry; but that would not be enough to attract the application of Section 2(a)(i) of the Act. What this latter provision requires is that the Central Government must specify ?in this behalf? that the industry in question is a controlled industry; in other words the specification must be made by the Central Government by reference to, and for the purpose of, the provisions of the Act in order that the Central Government may itself become the appropriate Government qua such industry under Section 2(a)(i) of the Act. It is conceded by Mr Sastri that no such specification has been made by the Central Government. Indeed, we ought to add in fairness to Mr Sastri that he did not very seriously press this point."

7. Similarly, in Management of Vishnu Sugar Mills Limited (supra), the Supreme Court has referred to the decision of Bijay Cotton Mills Limited (supra) and relied upon the same to hold that the sugar may be a controlled industry under the Schedule to the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951, but that would not by its own raise a presumption that the Central Government is the "appropriate Government" for the purpose of Section 2(a)(1) of the Act. Paras-4 and 5 of the said judgment are being quoted hereinbelow:

"4. Two points have been urged before us on behalf of the appellant. In the first place it is urged that the reference was incompetent as sugar was a controlled industry and only the Central Government could have made the reference and not the State Government. Secondly, it is urged that the order of the Tribunal granting an increment of Rs 30 per month to Ramkrishna Prasad was patently perverse and that there was no change in the status or emoluments of Ramkrishna Prasad by the creation of the new post and the employment of Babulal Parekh on it.

5. So far as the question of the competence of the reference is concerned, we are of opinion that there is no force in it. A similar question was raised before this Court in Bijoy Cotton Mills Ltd. v. Workmen [CA No. 355 of 1958, decided on 12-2-1960] and it was held there on the language of Section 2(a)(i) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, that before that provision could apply to a controlled industry there must be a notification by the Central Government for the purposes of Section 2(a)(i) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Section 2(a)(i) is in these terms-

"Appropriate Government' means in relation to any industrial dispute concerning any industry carried on by or under the authority of the Central Government or by a railway Company or concerning any such controlled industry as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government, or in relation to an industrial dispute concerning a banking or an insurance company, a mine, an oil-field or a major port, the Central Government."

The argument is that as sugar is a controlled industry under the Schedule to the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 65 of 1951, the appropriate Government for the purposes of Section 2(a)(i) with reference to the sugar industry is the Central Government. Reliance is placed on the words ?concerning any such controlled industry as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government? appearing in Section 2 (a)(i). It is true that sugar is a controlled industry under the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951, but that in our opinion does not conclude the matter. In order that the appropriate government under Section 2(a)(i) may be the Central Government for a controlled industry, it is necessary that such controlled industry should be specified by the Central Government for the purposes of Section 2(a)(i). This in our opinion is obvious from the words controlled industry as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government? appearing in Section 2(a)(i). It is not enough that an industry should be a controlled industry to attract this provision of Section 2(a)(i); it is further necessary that it should be specified in this behalf, namely for the purposes of Section 2(a)(i), as a controlled industry by the Central Government, before the Central Government can become the appropriate government within the meaning of Section 2(a)(i). We may in this connection refer to Firebricks and Potteries Ltd., etc. v. Firebricks and Potteries Ltd. Workers Union Ltd. [ILR 1955 Mysore 546] where the same view has been taken. We are of opinion that that is the correct meaning of these words appearing in Section 2(a)(i), as already held in Bijoy Cotton Mills Ltd [CA No. 355 of 1958, decided on 12-2-1960] . The objection that the reference was not competent therefore fails." (Emphasis Supplied)

8. The phrase "concerning any such controlled industry as may be specified in this behalf" by the Central Government has been interpreted by the Supreme Court to mean that such an industry, the control of which by the Central Government has been declared to be expedient in public interest under any Central Act. In so far as fertilizer industry is concerned, the same may be controlled industry under the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 or may be regulated under the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951, but it has not yet been declared by the Central Government to be a controlled industry under the Industrial Disputes Act and, therefore, the industrial dispute raised shall not automatically be taken up by the CGIT for its consideration.

9. The second limb of argument of Sri Mohd. Altaf Mansoor is that regarding the same petitioner, several other disputes are pending before the Labour Court as referred by the State Government to it under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act. He has also pointed out from the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no.1 by one Special Secretary, Labour Department, Government of U.P. that the petitioner is under the control of the State Government under Section 2(a)(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and not under the control of the Central Government. The petitioner was never included in the list of Units, which were taken under the control of the Central Government.

10. No doubt, the petitioner-Unit is registered under the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 and the Factories Act, 1948, but the same registration is with the State Government and the State Government is the controlling authority under Section

2(a)(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Moreover, several industrial disputes relating to the petitioner-Company are pending before the Labour Court and Industrial Tribunal of the State Government.

11. Learned counsel for respondent no.3 Sri Lalla Chauhan, on the other hand, has argued on the same lines as have been considered and relied upon by the respondent no.2 in passing the order dated 23.8.2013. He has argued that the definition of "appropriate Government" in relation to any industrial dispute concerning any such controlled industry, as specified in this behalf, by the Central Government, may be read along with Section 2 of the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951. Under Schedule 1 of the Act of 1951, fertilizers are mentioned at Item no.18. Hence, for an industry, manufacturing fertilizers, the "appropriate Government" is the Central Government. The Fertilizer (Control) Order has also been issued by the Government of India, Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development. The control of the Central Government over the production and supply of fertilizers would make the Fertilizer Industry a controlled industry and, therefore, amenable to the jurisdiction of CGIT.

12. Very much the same argument was raised before the Supreme Court in the cases of Bijay Cotton Mills Limited (supra) and Management of Vishnu Sugar Mills Limited (supra). The Supreme Court has rejected such argument and observed that unless there is a notification of the Central Government with regard to bringing any industry under its control with respect to Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the same cannot be said to be a controlled industry under the Industrial Disputes Act. The "appropriate Government" would, therefore, not be the Central Government, but only the State Government.

13. Since in this case, the respondent no.3 had approached the Regional Labour Commissioner (Central), Lucknow initially and while conciliation proceedings remained pending, he also approached the CGIT directly under the enabling provisions of Section 2(A)(2) of the Act of 1947, the order passed by the respondent no.2 dated 23.8.2013 while it is being set aside by this Court, liberty is granted to the respondent no.3 to approach, either the State Government or the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal directly by filing a claim petition before it under the enabling provisions of Section 2(A)(2) of the Act. If such a petition is filed, the same shall not be rejected only on the ground of delay and shall be considered on merits, by the appropriate Court.

14. The writ petition stands allowed to the aforesaid extent.

(2019)10ILR A 1585

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 16.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MANISH MATHUR, J.

Misc. Single No. 2761 of 2014

Som Datt Srivastava ...Petitioner
Versus
Smt. Sobha ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Suresh Chandra Srivastava.

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri Arvind Kumar Jauhari, Sri Mahesh Kumar Yadav.

A. Civil Procedure Code, 1908 – Section-96 - decision of appeal -Suit for declaration-by respondent-decreed on the basis of a compromise-obtained by playing fraud upon petitioner-appeal filed along with delay condonation application-rejected-vide impugned order-will amount to decree u/s.2(2)-to be challenged in a second appeal-petition not maintainable.

Held :- rejection of application for condonation of delay would definitely determine the rights of the parties conclusively so far as it regards the court expressing it.-condonation of delay in filing first appeal would definitely amount to a decree as contemplated under section 2(2) of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 even without a separate order dismissing the appeal.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.C. Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri A.K. Jauhari, learned counsel for opposite party.

2. This petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed against order dated 22.01.2014 passed by the court below in Misc. Case bearing No.110/2013 (Som Datt Srivastava v. Smt.Sobha). Further relief for commanding opposite parties not to waste, damage, alienate, sale, remove or dispose the property situate at M.M. 4/64, Vinay Khand, Gomti Nagar, Lucknow has also been sought.

3. It has been averred in writ petition that opposite party had filed regular suit no.361 of 1998 (Smt.Shobha v. Som Datt Srivastava and others) for declaration. The said suit was decreed on 09.11.1998 on the basis of a compromise which is said to have been obtained by playing fraud upon the petitioner. Consequent upon the judgment passed in Regular Suit, petitioner filed belated First Appeal under Section 96 of Civil Procedure Code, 1908 along with application for condonation of delay which was registered as Miscellaneous Case No.110 of 2013 (Som Datt Srivastava v. Smt.Sobha). By means of impugned order dated 22.01.2014, the application for condonation of delay has been rejected leading to filing of the present writ petition.

4. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party at the very outset had raised a preliminary objection regarding maintainability of petition against order dated 22.01.2014 with the submission that rejection of an application for condonation of delay would amount to rejection of appeal and would, therefore, come within the meaning of 'decree' as contemplated under Section 2(2) of the Civil Procedure Code and as as such the only remedy against order dated 22.01.2014 would be by way of filing a Second Appeal instead of a petition. The learned counsel has relied upon judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Shyam Sunder Sarma v. Panna Lal Jaiswal and others reported in (2005) 1 SCC 436 in support of his submission.

5. Rebutting the submission advanced by learned counsel for opposite party, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that present writ petition would be maintainable in view of the fact that only the application for condonation of delay had been rejected and not the appeal. Thus, order rejecting application for condonation of delay would not amount to a decree whereby the petition would be maintainable. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also relied upon the decision in Shyam Sunder Sarma(supra) with the submission that it has been clearly held by Hon'ble the Supreme Court that an order rejecting application for condonation of delay would amount to decree only when a separate order rejecting appeal as a consequence has been passed. It has been submitted that since in the present case, only the application for condonation of delay has been rejected without any separate order rejecting the appeal, the same would not come within the meaning of term 'decree' and, therefore, the present petition instead of a second appeal would be maintainable.

6. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

7. Regarding the aforesaid proposition of law, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Shyam Sunder Sarma(supra) has held has follows:-

"10. The question was considered in extenso by a Full Bench of the Kerala High Court in Thambi v. Mathew [(1987) 2 KLT 848 (FB)] . Therein, after referring to the relevant decisions on the question it was held that an appeal presented out of time was nevertheless an appeal in the eye of the law for all purposes and an order dismissing the appeal was a decree that could be the subject of a second appeal. It was also held that Rule 3-A of Order 41 introduced by Amendment Act 104 of 1976 to the Code, did not in any way affect that principle. An appeal registered under Rule 9 of Order 41 of the Code had to be disposed of according to law and a dismissal of an appeal for the reason of delay in its presentation, after the dismissal of an application for condoning the delay, is in substance and effect a confirmation of the decree appealed against. Thus, the position that emerges on a survey of the authorities is that an appeal filed along with an application for condoning the delay in filing that appeal when dismissed on the refusal to condone the delay is nevertheless a decision in the appeal.?

8. A reading of the aforesaid paragraph of the judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court makes it clear that an order rejecting an application for condonation of delay and consequently the appeal would amount to decree against which only a second appeal is maintainable and not a petition under Article 226 or 227 of the Constitution of India.

9. In the present case, however, as per submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, the situation is a bit different because by means of the impugned order only application for condonation of delay has been rejected while no separate order rejecting appeal has been passed by the court concerned.

10. A perusal of the order dated 22.01.2014 makes it clear that only the application for condonation of delay in filing appeal has been rejected with no separate order having been passed in the appeal itself regarding its rejection.

11. Regarding the aforesaid proposition, this Court in the case of Rajendra Pal Singh v. Additional District Judge, Court No.7, Ghaziabad and another reported in 2016 (116) ALR

212 has clearly held that an appeal filed along with an application for condonation of delay when dismissed on refusal to condone the delay is nevertheless a decision in appeal. The relevant paragraphs of the said judgment is as follows:-

"7. The law, therefore, on the subject is clear and unequivocal that an appeal presented beyond time was nevertheless an appeal in the eyes of law for all purposes and an order dismissing the appeal on whatever ground was a decree that could be subject to second appeal. Rule 3A of Order 41 introduced by Amendment Act 104 of 1976 to the Court, did not in any way affect the principle. An appeal registered under Rule 9 or Order 41 of the Code had to be disposed of according to law and a dismissal of an appeal for the reason of delay in its presentation, upon dismissal of the application for condonation of the delay, is in substance and effect the confirmation of the decree appealed against. Thus, the position that emerges on a survey of the pronouncements is that an appeal filed alongwith an application for condonation of delay when dismissed on the refusal to condone the delay is nevertheless a decision in the appeal."

"8. Submission of the learned counsel for the applicant that the learned Appellate Court merely dismissed the Section 5 application but has nowhere stated that the appeal would also stand dismissed, therefore, the petition under Article 227 would be maintainable, against the order of such dismissal, in my opinion, in view of the authoritative pronouncements stated herein above, the argument is misconceived.?

12. In the aforesaid decision in Rajendra Pal Singh(supra), the situation was the same as in the present case where only the application filed under Section 5 of the Limitation Act was rejected without any separate orders for rejection having been passed in appeal.

13. Upon applicability of the judgment rendered by this Court in Rajendra Pal Singh(supra), it is clear that not only the facts but also the proposition of law in the present case would be the same. It is also a pertinent factor that even though a separate order may not have been passed rejecting appeal but the consequence of rejection of application for condonation of delay would have the same consequences as rejection of appeal. Any other view would lead to absurd consequences such as maintaining the appeal not to have been dismissed although the application for condonation of delay stands rejected.

14. The term 'decree' has been defined under Section 2(2) of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, which is as follows:

"(2) "decree" means the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy in the suit and may be either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within section 144, but shall not include--

(a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or

(b) any order of dismissal for default.

Explanation.-A decree is preliminary when further proceedings have to be taken before the suit can be completely disposed of. It is final when such adjudication completely disposes of the suit. It may be partly preliminary and partly final; "

15. As can be seen from the definition, 'decree' would mean a formal expression of adjudication which conclusively determines the rights of parties and may either be preliminary or final. It would deem to include rejection of a plaint. As such, it can be seen that rejection of application for condonation of delay would definitely determine the rights of parties conclusively so far as it regards the court expressing it. As such, it can be safely held that rejection of application for condonation of delay in filing first appeal would definitely amount to a decree as contemplated under Section 2(2) of the Code of Civil Procedure even without a separate order dismissing the appeal.

16. In view of the aforesaid, it is clear that against the order impugned in the present petition, the only remedy for the petitioner lies in filing a second appeal and not a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, which would, thus, not be maintainable.

17. In view of the aforesaid, the petition being devoid of merit is accordingly dismissed. The petitioner would be at liberty to avail remedy available to him in accordance with law.

(2019)10ILR A 1589

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 06.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MRS. SANGEETA CHANDRA, J.

Misc. Single No. 24283 of 2019

Smt. Shashi Rawat ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Rama Pati Shukla, Sri Jay Krishna Shukla.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

Panchayati Raj Act-Section 95(1)(g)- proceedings u/s.95(1)(g)-initiated by the D.M. upon a defective complaint as per the Rules, 1997- regarding return of money advanced for building toilets by 16 doubtful beneficiaries-passed an impugned order ceasing petitioner's (Gram Pradhan)-financial and administrative powers –DM has discretionary power of initiating preliminary inquiry even on his own-writ not maintainable.

Held :- direction to the D.M to endeavour to pass a final order under section 95(1)(g), after holding inquiry as per order VI of Rules 1997 within a period of four months. (Para 13)

Writ Petition Disposed of (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(1). Heard learned counsel for the parties.

(2). This petition has been filed challenging the order dated 29.07.2019 passed by the District Magistrate, Lucknow, ceasing the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner who is Gram Pradhan of Village Barauna, Development Block, Sarojni Nagar, Lucknow.

(3). Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the impugned order is non-speaking as it does not consider the reply submitted by the petitioner in detail to the notice issued to her. It has also been submitted that the finding recorded in the impugned order regarding return of money advanced for building toilets by 16 doubtful beneficiaries is arbitrary as money was returned before notice was issued to them to return the money and therefore, it cannot be said by the D.M. that there is an admission on the part of the Gram Pradhan regarding money being advanced by the Pradhan and Gram Secretary under Swachha Bharat Mission to ineligible persons.

(4). It has also been submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that the proceedings under Section 95(1)(g) of the Panchayati Raj Act were initiated by the D.M. only on the basis of a complaint and not on the basis of a complaint supported by an affidavit as is required under the Rules, 1997.

(5). This Court has heard learned Standing Counsel, Shri Tushar Verma also in the matter. He has pointed out from the reply of the petitioner filed as Annexure No. 4 of the writ petition that the petitioner had admitted in para nos. 2, 5, 8, 10, 11 and several paragraphs thereafter, that money had been returned by the ineligible persons and therefore, no specific reply with regard to such ineligible persons in the show-cause notice dated 21.02.2019 is required. It has also been pointed out by Shri Tushar Verma that in the impugned order, the District Magistrate has considered the reply and then come to the conclusion that the petitioner having admitted that at least 16 beneficiaries had returned the money being alleged to be ineligible for being advanced the same. It amounted to an admission on the part of the Gram Pradhan that such 16 beneficiaries had been wrongfully benefited. In advancing money from the Gram Sabha Nidhi.

(6). Shri Tushar Verma has also pointed out the judgment of the Full Bench of this Court in the case of "Vivekanand Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and Anr., reported in 2011, (29) LCD page 21" that a question with regard to whether a complaint not being in accordance with the rules can also be entertained by the D.M. for initiation of inquiry under the Rules has been answered by the Full Bench in para 55 onwards, wherein it has been observed that the inquiry initially conducted is only preliminary or a fact finding inquiry. It has to consider prima facie whether any financial irregularities have been committed by the Gram Pradhan or not. The final inquiry is yet to be done. Considering the object, there is no reason to give any restricted meaning to the word "Otherwise" as suggested by the counsel for the petitioner. The normal meaning of "otherwise" should be adopted.

(7). The D.M. has to refer a case for preliminary inquiry even if there is no complaint or report or in other words, he has power to act "suo moto".

(8). In para 60 of the said judgment, the Full Bench has observed thus "Rule 3(5) of the Inquiry, Rules provide that the complaint which does not comply with any of the provisions of Rule 3 should not be entertained. However, even if the complaint is not entertained, the D.M. can always refer the matter for the preliminary enquiry, if he considers that it should be so enquired; he can act as if "suo moto".

(9). In para 61, the contention raised by learned counsel for the petitioner in this petition was also raised by learned counsel for petitioner before the Full Bench.

(10). It is upto the D.M. to consider whether he should entertain the complaint or not.

(11). It was held in para 63 and para 64 of the judgement as follows:-

"63. If the D.M. can order for the preliminary enquiry even in a case, where a complaint could not be entertained, then what is the purpose of permitting a pradhan to object regarding its non-conformity with rules 3(1) to 3(4). To us, it appears to be futile exercise. It is for the D.M. to consider whether he should entertain the complaint or not.

64. (i) The word "otherwise" in Rule 4 means that the D.M. has suo moto powers to order a preliminary inquiry;

(ii) In an appropriate case, the D.M. may order a preliminary inquiry even if there is, No complaint or report; or a defective complaint, not in accordance with Rules 3(1) to Rule 3(4);

(iii) A pradhan has no legal right to object that a complaint is not in accordance with Rule (1) to Rule 3(4) of the Enquiry Rules."

(12). Having considered the Full Bench decision of the Court, this Court is of the considered opinion that the order passed by the D.M. dated 29.07.2019 challenged in this writ petition, there is no ground to show interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

(13). This writ petition is disposed of with a direction to the D.M. to endeavour to pass a final order under Section 95 (1)(g), after holding inquiry as per Order 6 of the Rules of 1997 say, within a period of four months from the date, a certified copy of the order is produced before her.

(2019)10ILR A 1591

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 20.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MRS. SANGEETA CHANDRA, J.

Misc. Single No. 25896 of 2019

M/S Rajdoot Trading Co. & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
Debt. Recovery Tribunal University Road Lko. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Suneet Kumar Sharma, Sri Amarjeet Singh Rakhra.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Vinay Shanker.

Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002- Sections 13(4), 17 & 14- petitioners took a loan against a residential property-on failure to repay the loan-the Bank proceeded u/SARFAESI Act, 2002-The petitioners preferred the Securitization Application before DRT challenging the sale notice-rejected on the ground of no jurisdiction to entertain it.-appeal to be filed u/proviso to sec. 18-Writ petition not maintainable.

Held: - writ not maintainable-the right of appeal is a remedy created under a statute –the statutory remedy should have been availed.

Writ Petition Disposed of (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(1). Heard Shri Amarjeet Singh Rakhra, who appears for the petitioners and Shri Vinay Shanker, appearing for the respondent no.2 Oriental Bank of Commerce, Ghaziabad.

(2) This petition has been filed by the petitioners challenging the order dated 09.09.2019 passed by the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow, in Securitization Application No.179 of 2014 (M/s Rajdoot Trading Company & Others Vs. Authorised Officer, Oriental Bank of Commerce and Another) and a further prayer has been made for issuance of a mandamus directing the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow to adjudicate the application on merit.

(3). It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the application has been rejected by the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow, holding that it has no jurisdiction to entertain such application, and such finding has been recorded against the settled position in law. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioners had taken a loan against a property from the Respondent no.2-Bank. When they could not repay the loan, the Bank proceeded under the Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, (hereinafter referred as Act of 2002). The petitioners preferred the Securitization Application No.179 of 2014 challenging the sale notice issued by the Bank on 22.02.2014 with regard to the residential property of the petitioners.

(4). After pleadings were exchanged, the impugned order has been passed.

(5). It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and by this Court that even where the statute does not provide so, the principles of natural justice have to be read into every statute. Learned counsel for the petitioners has referred to M/s Dharam Satyapal Ltd. Vs. Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise, Gauhati and Others reported in (2015) 8 SCC 5519. Reliance has been placed on Paragraph nos.20, 21, 25, 28, 29, 35 and 42 of the said judgments with regard to importance of following the principles of natural justice.

(6). It has been submitted that the District Magistrate had passed an order under Section 14 of the Act, 2002, on 28.02.2015 without serving any notice, based on incorrect declaration given by the Bank. The petitioners came to know only after filing of the Securitization Application and therefore, filed an amendment application which was allowed and the amendments were duly incorporated. It has been submitted that the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow, failed to appreciate that the District Magistrate Order under Section 14 of the Act, 2002, was one of the modes available to a secured creditor to take possession of the secured assets. Therefore, when the District Magistrate passed such order taking possession as is contemplated under Sub-Section 13 (4) of the Act only be said to be an order passed during the process initiated under Section 13 which culminates in the order under Section 17.

(7). Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon the Division Bench's judgment of the Gujarat High Court in the case of Devani Jagdishbhai Vs. District Magistrate, Surat, in Special Civil Application No.1805 of 2018, where the Gujarat High Court has considered the submissions regarding Section 14 (3) of the Act excluding the jurisdiction of the Civil Court but not of the Tribunal.

(8). A similar order has been passed by a Division Bench of Madhya Pradesh High Court also in Writ Petition No.19028 of 2017 (Sunil Garg Vs. Bank of Baroda & Others). Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on Paragraph nos.8 and 15 of the said judgment.

(9). It has also been submitted that the Division Bench of this Court in Manoj Dwivedi and Another Vs. District Magistrate, Lucknow & Others (in Writ Petition No.17467 (M/B) of 2018), has considered the remedy is available for a party against the order passed by the District Magistrate under Section 14 of the Act and directed the petitioners therein to approach the Tribunal.

(10). Learned counsel for the petitioners has also placed reliance upon the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kanaihyalal Lalchand Sachdev and Others Vs. State of Maharashtra and Others reported in (2011) 2 SCC 782 and in the case of United Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tandon and Others reported in (2010) 8 SCC 110, wherein it has been held that the District Magistrate under Section 14 of the Act passes an order which is in the nature of an order facilitating final order to be passed under Section 17 of the Act, and the writ petition is not maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In such cases, the remedy is available for the petitioners to approach the Tribunal.

(11). Shri Vinay Shanker, on the other hand, appearing for the Bank, has pointed out that against the order passed by the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow, under Section 17 of the Act, an Appeal has been provided under Section 18 of the Act. It has been submitted that where the rights have been created under a statutory provision, the remedy lies in the Statutory Forum as provided in the Rules. He has referred to N.P. Poonuswami Vs. Union of India and others reported in 1952 AIR 64, and also the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of G.P. Siddeshwara Co-operative Bank Ltd. Vs. Mohd. Iqbal & Others reported in 2013 (10) SCC 83, and also the judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in United Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tandon reported in (2010) 8 SCC 110, to buttress his arguments.

(12). It has been submitted that the petitioners have avoided filing of the Appeal as it involves pre-deposit to be made by the appellant before his Appeal can be heard.

(13). Learned counsel for the petitioners has pointed out that the petitioners from the date of issuance of the order under Section 14 by the District Magistrate have deposited the entire amount that is due to the Bank alongwith interest i.e. from 2015 upto April, 2019, he has deposited Rs.60 lacs as demanded by the Bank in its Demand Notice and the condition of pre-deposit as given under Section 18 of the Act before approaching the Debt Recovery Tribunal and for the Appeal to be considered under Section 18 would again cast an onerous liability on the petitioner to deposit at least 25% of the amount, demanded by the Bank.

(14). Learned counsel for the respondents on merits has submitted that the Securitization Application No.179 of 2014 (M/s Rajdoot Trading Company & Others Vs. Authorised Officer, Oriental Bank of Commerce and Another) was initially filed only against the sale notice issued by the Bank and not against any orders passed under Section 13 or 14 of the Act. He has referred to the amendment application which was moved by the petitioner which also has only challenged the order passed by the District Magistrate under Section 14 but has not challenged the order passed under Section 13 (4) and 13 (2) of the Act, 2002.

(15). This Court is convinced that when the statutory remedy is available, no writ petition can be entertained, as statutory remedy is different from the alternative remedy. The right of Appeal is a remedy created under the Statute i.e. the Act of 2002 has not been availed of by the petitioners. The petitioners can move an appropriate application for exemption from the condition of pre-deposit as given in the Proviso of Section 18 of the Act.

(16). The writ petition stands disposed of with a direction to the petitioners to approach the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal, Lucknow, within a period of two weeks from today. If such an application is moved within a period of two weeks from today, the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal shall also consider the application made by the petitioner for exemption from pre-deposit as the Bank had initially issued demand notice for only Rs.60 lacs, which has been deposited by the petitioner, and pass appropriate orders thereon within a further period of two weeks.

(17). Till 30.10.2019 or till disposal of petitioner's application as aforesaid, whichever is earlier, the petitioner shall not be dispossessed from his residential house. It is evident from page no.73 of the paperbook that the petitioner has still not been dispossessed from the house in question.

(2019)10ILR A 1594

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 17.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.

Service Single No. 24558 of 2019

Sanjay Srivastava & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
Punjab National Bank New Delhi & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, Sri Ashutosh Shahi.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Mayank Pathak, Sri Prashant Kumar.

A. Constitution of India - Article 12 - PNB - Nationalized bank - instrumentality of Government - Punjab National Bank Institute of Information Technology set up which was governed by a society - Whether the society falls within the ambit of State or "other authority" as provided under Article 12 of the Constitution or not - PNB given a corpus of Rs. 2 crores for starting the society - designated post holder of PNB are member of Society - PNB has persuasive and financial control over Society - Government of India has deep and persuasive control over the PNB - test laid down in Ajay Hasia case applied - only where entire share capital of the corporation is held by Government then only Society is said to be the instrumentality or agency of the Government - entire Governing Body of the Society is not comprised of the officers of PNB - PNB and Society are distinct entities

On applying the test laid down in Ajay Hasia's case the Court came to the conclusion that there is no deep and persuasive control of the PNB over the Society in question, the corpus cannot be said to be entire share capital contributed by the PNB, the grant/financial assistance being given by the PNB is not so much as to meet out almost all or substantial portion of the expenses of the Society. (Para 29)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-10)

Cases cited:-

1. Ajay Hasia & ors Vs Khalid Mujib Sehravardi & ors (1981) 1 SCC 722

2. Rajbir Surajbhan Singh Vs The Chairman, Institute of Banking Personnel Selection Mumbai (1981) 1 SCC 722

3. Pradeep Kumar Biswas & ors. Vs Indian Institute of Chemical Biology & ors (2002) 5 SCC 111

4. R.D. Shetty Vs I.A.A.I. (1979) 3 SCC 489

5. Sabhajit Tewary Vs U.O.I. AIR 1975 SC 1329

6. General Manager, Kisan Sahkari Chini Mills Ltd., Sultanpur Vs Satrughan Nishad & ors (2003) 8 SCC 639

7. Federal Bank Vs Sagar Tomas (2003) 10 SCC 733

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri D.K. Pathak, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Mayank Pathak, learned counsel for respondent No.1, Sri Prashant Kumar, learned counsel appearing for respondents No.2 to 4 and the learned Standing Counsel on the question of maintainability of the petition against the Punjab National Bank Institute of Information Technology (hereinafter referred to as "Society") i.e. respondent No.2 to 4 in the writ petition.

2. By means of the present petition, the petitioners have prayed for quashing of the order dated 3.5.2019, a copy of which is Annexure-1 to the writ petition and the consequential impugned termination notices dated 31.7.2019, copies of which are cumulatively annexed as Annexure-2 to the writ petition. Further prayer is for a mandamus commanding and directing the respondents to allow the petitioners to work and pay them salary.

3. Annexure 1 dated 3.5.2019 are the minutes of the 33rd meeting of the Governing Body held on 3.5.2019 of the Society for closure of the operations of the Society and for termination of the services of the employees on the roll of the Society after following the required legal process. The orders/notices dated 31.7.2019 have been issued by the Director of the Society by which the petitioners have been given a notice of closure of operation of the Society and have been informed that after three months of the notice, the services of the petitioners shall stand ceased on 31.10.2019.

4. A preliminary objection has been raised by Sri D.K. Pathak, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Mayank Pathak, learned counsel for respondent No.1 and Sri Prashant Kumar, learned counsel appearing for respondents No.2 to 4 i.e. the Society, of the writ petition being not maintainable as the Society does not fall within the ambit of being a State or 'Other Authority' and thus it is prayed that the writ petition be dismissed on the ground of maintainability.

5. Arguing on the question of maintainability, Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the Society would fall within the ambit of being "other authority" as provided in Article 12 of the Constitution and in this regard reliance has been placed on the Constitution Bench judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ajay Hasia and others vs. Khalid Mujib Sehravardi and others reported in (1981)1 SCC 722.

6. Sri Tripathi, placing reliance on paragraph 9 of the aforesaid judgment contends that the Apex Court has summarised the relevant tests to hold as to when a society or a corporation can be said to be an instrumentality or agency of the Government.

7. Sri Tripathi argues that the respondent No.1 is a public sector banking company and is governed by the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 and the Government of India has a direct, pervasive and financial control over its affairs and thus is a State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. The respondent No.1/Bank in order to ensure smooth banking business and its functioning and for keeping track with the technological advances in the banking industry has taken decision to set up its own institute of information technology at Lucknow known as Punjab National Bank Institute of Information Technology which was to be governed by the Governing Body and Academic Council to be constituted by its decision dated 4.12.2001. In pursuance of the decision of the respondent No.1, a society was formed under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 vide file No.133987 in the office of the Registrar, Firms and Societies, Lucknow Division, Lucknow on 14.3.2002. The said Society has been renewed from time to time and its last renewal was made vide order dated 22.3.2017 which is valid for 5 years i.e. upto 14.3.2022. It is contended that the Society has its own aims and objects as per the Memorandum of Association, a copy of which has been filed as Annexure-5 to the writ petition.

8. Placing reliance on the tests as enumerated in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra), it is contended that the corpus of the Society had been given by the Punjab National Bank (hereinafter referred to as the PNB) and the financial assistance from the PNB is so much as to meet the entire expenditure of the Society. It has also been contended that there is deep and pervasive control of the PNB over the Society and thus the Society is an instrumentality of the State. It is also contended that PNB would fall within the ambit of Article 12 of the Constitution being a Nationalised Bank and thus as the entire control over the Society is exercised by the PNB consequently ,the society would be covered under Article 12 of the Constitution of India. It is contended that taking into consideration the aforesaid parameters as laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra), it can safely be said that the Society would fall within the ambit of being "other authority" as contemplated under Article 12 of the Constitution and accordingly the present petition would be maintainable.

9. Elaborating this, Sri Tripathi argues that so far as the seeding capital of the Society is concerned, the PNB had given a corpus of Rs.2 crores for starting the Society which is clearly reflected in the balance sheet of the Society as on 31.3.2018, a copy of which is Annexure-20 to the writ petition, wherein against the corpus fund, an amount of Rs.2 crores has been indicated. It is also contended that the PNB has been regularly giving grant to the Society as would be apparent from a perusal of the details of grant received, a copy of which is Annexure-6 to the writ petition, as issued from the office of the Deputy Registrar, Firms Societies and Chits, Lucknow. It is contended that a perusal of the said details would indicate that every year the PNB has been giving a grant starting from approximately Rs.19.64 lakhs in the year 2002-03 to an amount of Rs.35 lakhs in the year 2015-16. Placing reliance on minutes of the 22nd meeting of the Governing Body of the Society dated 14.11.2011, a copy of which is Annexure-7 to the writ petition, it is contended that Clause 11 Bullet 2 duly records that the PNB is the promotor bank. Thus it is contended that so far as the first two criteria, as laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) pertaining to share capital of the Society and financial assistance of the State are concerned, the aforesaid details would suffice to indicate that finance is being given by the PNB so as to bring the Society within the ambit of Article 12 of the Constitution.

10. So far as the deep and pervasive control is concerned, which is one of the criteria laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra), Sri Tripathi contends that a perusal of the Memorandum of Association of the Society, a copy of which is Annexure-5 to the writ petition, would indicate that the Governing Body, as per Clause-5, comprises of 14 members of which 13 members are all officers of the PNB while 14th member is the PNB itself as a corporate member. It is also contended that a perusal of the list of members of the Governing Body would indicate that the same read with the Memorandum of Association of the Society leaves no scope for any outsider to be member of the Governing Body. It is also contended that the Chairman of the Society is the Chairman and Managing Director of the PNB itself which are all indicative of deep and pervasive control of the PNB in the affairs of the Society. It is also contended that the Society has issued the amended rules/bye-laws (hereinafter refer to as "Rules") and in terms of Rule 5(vi) of the said Rules, the Society or Institute means the Punjab National Bank Institute of Information Technology and further in terms of Rule 6, the Society has two bodies namely (i) General Body and (ii) Governing Body while in terms of Rule 8, the General Body will consist of the members of the Society while in terms of Rule 7(i) the Signatories to the Memorandum of Association shall be the members of the Society. Thus, by natural corollary, the Signatories to the Memorandum of Association would become Members of the Society and the General Body is to consist of all the members of the Society meaning thereby again all the signatories to the Member of Association would also be members of the General Body. Placing reliance on Rule 7(v), it is contended that the members other than the Corporate member will cease to be members on account of death, resignation or ceasing to be in service of the Bank meaning thereby that whoever holds the designated post in the PNB would automatically become a member of the Society and his membership would cease as soon as he ceases to hold the said post in PNB which are all indicative of the deep and pervasive control that PNB is exercising over the Society in question. Thus, it is contended that the criterion laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) stand fulfilled in view of the deep and pervasive control being exercised by the PNB over the affairs of the Society.

11. In this regard, Sri Tripathi has also invited attention of this Court towards the appointment order of petitioner No.3 Sri Rakesh Jayaswal which has been sent for vetting by the Society to the Chief Manager of the PNB. It is contended that all these factors would primarily indicate that the Society is operating under the control of the PNB and thus once the PNB falls within the ambit of being a State and the Society is controlled by the PNB, as per details given above, consequently the Society would be the "other authority" under Article 12 of the Constitution of India and hence the present petition would be maintainable before this Court against the Society.

12. Controverting this, Sri D.K. Pathak, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Mayank Pathak, learned counsel appearing for the PNB argues that so far as the finance is concerned, no doubt the PNB is the promoter Bank yet the Society has been set up with the aims and objective as set forth in the Memorandum of Association in order to promote the Society as a premier institution of international standards, meeting ISO 9000 series certification requirements, for assimilating, developing and disseminating knowledge and expertise in the field of information technology (IT) with particular reference to the banking and financial sectors and in order to organize training programmes, seminars, conference, encompassing all facets of IT driven banking both operational and functional as also management of IT. The other aims and objectives are to adopt or/and use latest technological aids like internet etc. for assimilation or/and dissemination of knowledge and expertise and various other objectives as have been spelt out in the Memorandum of Association. Placing reliance on the balance-sheets of the Societies, copies of which have been filed in the short counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondents No.2 to 4, Sri Pathak has argued that a perusal of the balance-sheets of all the relevant years starting from the year 2008 would indicate that though for a few years the PNB has given the grant yet the grant only comprises of minimal amount and almost the entire income of the Society is being generated by the Society itself including the income from interest on F.D.R., interest on Saving Bank Account, miscellaneous sources, rent received and tender application money. As an example, Sri Pathak submits that against the total expenditure of Rs.2,63,64,228/- in the year ended on 31.3.2008, the grant from PNB was only Rs.16,59,380/- and likewise in the subsequent years which is a small percentage. It is also contended that no grant was given to the Society for the year 2011-12 and 2014-15 as would be apparent from the perusal of the income and expenditure account which has been annexed by the petitioners themselves. It is also contended that even when the grant has not been given to the Society, it had sufficient income to sustain itself and thus merely because the grant has been given by the Bank and it is the promoter bank, the same will not and cannot bring the Society, which has its own individual and autonomous existence, as being "other authority" so as to maintain a writ petition before the writ Court.

13. Placing reliance on one of the conditions as have been specified in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra), it is contended that the Hon'ble Apex Court has clearly laid down that it is only where the entire share capital of the corporation is held by Government it can be said that the Society is an instrumentality or agency of the Government which is not the case here. Likewise the grant being given by the PNB is not so much to meet the entire expenditure of the Society as laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra).

14. So far as the deep and pervasive control over the Society by the PNB is concerned, Sri D.K. Pathak argues that a perusal of the minutes of the meeting dated 3.5.2019, so far as it pertains to the members alone, would itself indicate that four of the members are not directly associated with the PNB namely Sri R.I.S. Sidhu, who is a retired Chief General Manager of the PNB, Sri A.P. Hota, who is Ex. Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of the NPCI, Sri Ashok Mukund, who is retired D.B.D. of the State Bank and India as well as Dr. Hemand Darbari, who is Executive Director, CDAC, Pune. Placing reliance on the said annexure, it is contended that a perusal of the members of the Governing Body, a copy of which has been annexed by the petitioners themselves, would indicate that though large number of members may be of the PNB yet it cannot be said that the entire Governing Body comprises of the officers of the PNB. It is also contended that once the Society is running training programme and issuing tenders as such it is an independent Society, consequently it cannot be said that there is deep and pervasive control of the PNB so as to bring it within the ambit of the Article 12 of the Constitution Sri Pathak has also placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Rajbir Surajbhan Singh vs. The Chairman, Institute of Banking Personnel Selection, Mumbai reported in (2019) 7 SCALE 23.

15. Sri Prashant Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the respondents No.2 to 4/Society argues that the Society on its own has introduced as many as 20 courses but no student offered himself for admission for even a single course. It is contended that the PNB and the Society are distinct and separate legal entities. The vacancies available in the PNB are filled through their board while the employees recruited by different subsidiaries etc. are governed by the policies of respective subsidiaries. It is also contended that the Society was set up in terms of the aims and objectives as detailed in the memorandum of association and the main course of the Society was an Advance Diploma in Banking Technology which is also the main source of revenue for the Society. It is contended that the Society has got its independent existence and though it may have been promoted by the PNB, which is a commercial Bank, yet it is set up in a autonomous manner catering to the needs of banking industry in order to ensure availability of trained information technology manpower. It is also contended that in order to ensure that the Society works autonomously, the first director was appointed from outside the PNB, who was an Ex. Executive Director of the Reserve Bank of India, the Deputy Director has always been an independent professional and the Academic Council had, inter alia, the outside professionals as its members.

16. Sri Prashant Kumar, learned counsel for the Society argues that none of the criteria as specified by the Apex Court in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) are attracted so far as the Society is concerned i.e. neither there is any deep and pervasive control of the PNB in the affairs of the Society nor the financial assistance is so large so as to meet the entire expenditure of the Society. Thus it is contended that the Society does not fall within the ambit of being "other authority" so as to bring it within the ambit of Article 12 of the Constitution of India and consequently the present petition against the Society would not be maintainable.

17. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

18. From a perusal of the pleadings of the parties and the arguments raised on behalf of the contesting parties, it comes out that the Society had been formed with certain aims and objectives as have been set out in the Memorandum of Association. The Memorandum of Association provides for establishment of a governing body. The first members of the governing body have been set out in Clause V of the Memorandum of Association. The amended rules of the Society also indicate about the aims and objectives of the Society which are given in the Memorandum of Association. As per the rules of the Society, the Society comprises of two bodies namely the General Body and the Governing Body.

19. The preliminary objection raised on behalf of the respondents is that the Society does fall within the ambit of being "Other Authority" so as to bring it within the ambit of Article 12 of the Constitution of India and, consequently the present against the Society would not be maintainable.

20. The thrust of arguments of learned counsel for the petitioner in order to bring the Society within the ambit of "Other Authority" so as to bring it under Article 12 of the Constitution of India is the judgment of the Constitution Bench in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra). Para 9 of the Ajay Hasia (supra) lays down the relevant test for determining as to when a Corporation or a Society can be said to be an instrumentality or agency of the Government so as to bring it within the ambit of Article 12 of the Constitution of India for the purpose of maintainability of the petition, which for the sake of convenience is being reproduced below:-

"9. The tests for determining as to when a corporation can be said to be a instrumentality or agency of Government may now be called out from the judgment in the International Airport Authority's case. These tests are not conclusive or clinching, but they are merely indicative indicia which have to be used with care and caution, because while stressing the necessity of a wide meaning to be placed on the expression "other authorities", it must be realised that it should not be stretched so far as to bring in every autonomous body which has some nexus with the Government within the sweep of the expression. A wide enlargement of the meaning must be tempered by a wise limitation. We may summarise the relevant tests gathered from the decision in the International Airport Authority's case as follows

(1) "One thing is clear that if the entire share capital of the corporation is held by Government it would go a longway towards indicating that the corporation is an instrumentality or agency of Government."

(2) "Where the financial assistance of the State is so much as to meet almost entire expenditure of the corporation, it would afford some indication of the corporation being impregnated with governmental character."

(3) "It may also be a relevant factor.....whether the corporation enjoys monopoly status which is the State conferred or State protected."

(4) "Existence of deep and pervasive State control may afford an indication that the Corporation is a State agency or instrumentality."

(5) "If the functions of the corporation of public importance and closely related to governmental functions, it would be a relevant factor in classifying the corporation as an instrumentality or agency of Government."

(6) "Specifically, if a department of Government is transferred to a corporation, it would be a strong factor supportive of this inference of the corporation being an instrumentality or agency of Government."

If on a consideration of these relevant factors it is found that the corporation is an instrumentality or agency of government, it would, as pointed out in the International Airport Authority's case, be an 'authority' and, therefore, 'State' within the meaning of the expression in Article 12."

21. Being armed with the aforesaid, the Court now proceeds to consider as to whether the aforesaid test as laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) are attracted so far as the present Society is concerned.

22. The first argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the PNB has given a corpus of Rs. 2 Crores for starting the Society. Whether the corpus is the entire share capital of the Society and the entire share capital of the Society is being held by the PNB would be a factor to indicate that the Society is an instrumentality of the PNB.

23. A perusal of the balance sheet as on 31.03.2018 over which reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner to contend about the corpus fund of an amount of Rs. 2 Crores indicates that it does not come out that the said corpus fund is the share capital or rather the entire share capital of the Society which is held by the PNB. There is no pleading to the effect that Rs. 2 Crores is the entire share capital of the Society and in absence of any such pleadings, mere argument to the said effect would not bring the said corpus within the ambit of being entire share capital as is being sought to be made out by the learned counsel for the petitioner. Even otherwise, the balance sheet as on 31.03.2018 and for various other years as have been annexed by the respondents no. 2 to 4, would indicate that the Society is having a corpus fund, the general fund, loan account towards the liabilities in the balance sheets of various years and apart from that the Society is also having independent income as would be apparent from a perusal of the Income and Expenditure account of various years. Thus, the said argument is rejected.

24. As regards the grant of financial assistance of the PNB to the Society, based on second criteria laid down in Ajay Hasia (supra), a perusal of the balance sheets for the years starting 2008 onwards, as have been annexed along with the short counter affidavit filed by the respondents no. 2 to 4 would indicate the grant being given by the PNB. Placing reliance on the details of grants received, which is a certificate issued by the Deputy Registrar, Farm Society, Lucknow, a copy of which is annexure 6 to the petition, it has been contended that almost every year the PNB has given a grant to the Society. However, the test laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) is that the financial assistance of the State should be so much as to meet almost the entire expenditure of the Corporation which would afford some indication of the Corporation being impregnated with Governmental character. A perusal of the balance sheet starting from the year 2008 onwards would indicate that it is not only the grant which has been given by the PNB which goes towards the expenditure but the Society is also generating its own income as would be apparent from a perusal of the income and expenditure account starting from the year 31.03.2008 and onwards which indicates that the Society is generating income from training, interest on FDR, interest on SB Account, Miscellaneous Income, Rent Income and income from Tender Application Money. If only the year 2008 is taking into consideration then the grant from PNB amounts to approximately 16.59 Lacs viz-a-viz the total expenditure of 2.63 Crores and thus it cannot be said that the financial assistance from PNB is so much as to meet the entire expenditure of the Society. Thus, when the financial assistance given by PNB is tested viz-a-viz the total expenditure of the Society as per one of the test laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) the said test fails to bring the Society within the ambit of the Society to be impregnated with Governmental character. The Court hastens to add that the income and expenditure accounts for the subsequent years indicate a similar position viz-a-viz the grant given by the PNB and the total expenditure of the Society. Thus, the said argument is also rejected.

25. The other thrust of argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner is the deep and pervasive control of the PNB over the affairs of the Society through its governing members, which is another test as laid down in the case Ajay Hasia (supra).

26. A perusal of the Memorandum of Association would indicate that the governing body, as per Clause V of the Memorandum of Association, has been indicated which comprises primarily of the staff of the PNB. However, the said clause of governing body gives the details of the first members of the Society and not for all members for times to come. As per clause 6 of the Rules of the Society, the Society comprises of two bodies namely the General Body and the Governing Body. Rule 7 (vi) spells out that "any person/corporate/organization/institute who wants to be a member of the Society shall apply to the Society and governing body shall take decision in the matter....". A perusal of the said rule would indicate that membership of the Society is not confined to only the staff of the PNB rather any person or corporate or organization or institute who wants to be a member of the Society can apply to the Society and the governing body shall take decision in the matter. Further, Rule 7 (vi) (a) of the Rules also indicates about the terms of the members. So far as the governing body is concerned, Rule 9 (a) (ii) and (iii) (a) indicate that "the signatories to the Memorandum of Association shall be the members of the Governing Body till it is re-constituted by the general body" and " the Governing Body may be re-constituted from time to time by the general body...". A perusal of the aforesaid Rule clearly indicate that signatories to the Memorandum of Association shall be the members of the governing body till it is re-constituted by the general body meaning thereby that first signatory members or the first signatories of the governing body, despite being the staff members of the PNB, can always be re-constituted by the general body and the general body, as already indicated above can also comprise of any person/corporate/organization/ institute who wants to be a member of the Society.

27. Thus, merely because the first signatories of the governing body comprised of the staff of the PNB, the same does not take away the right of the individuals to apply for the membership of the Society who can become of the member of the Society and thereafter re-constitute the governing body. This would also be apparent from the fact that the impugned minutes of the general body meeting dated 03.05.2019 also comprise of four members who are not associated with the PNB in the capacity of being the staff members inasmuch as they comprise of retired Chief General Manager of PNB, of the NPCI, of the State Bank of India and of the CDAC, Pune.

28. Another aspect of the matter is that in terms of Rule 10 of the Rules, the governing body has been given the power to determine the financial and managerial polices, priorities for the Societies different activities, duties and conduct, salary and allowances and other conditions of the service of the officers and other employee of the Society and to appoint staff in accordance with the rules of the society. In terms of Rule 10 (xii) of the Rules, the governing body has also been given the power to make rule and bye-laws for the conduct of the affairs of the Society and to add, amend, vary or rescind Rules from time to time in accordance with the provision of Section 12 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1860".). Thus, a perusal of all the said powers as given to the governing body indicates that the said power are being exercised independently by the Society without any interference or control of the PNB which itself is indicative of the fact that the Society is functioning and working independently. Thus, the ground of deep and pervasive control of the PNB over the affairs of the society is rejected.

29. From the aforesaid discussions, it clearly comes out that factors as have been enumerated in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) and has have been applied to the facts of the present case by the Court all have led to the conclusion that there is no deep and pervasive control of the PNB over the Society in question, the corpus cannot be said to be entire share capital contributed by the PNB, the grant/financial assistance being given by the PNB is not so much as to meet out almost all or substantial portion of the expenses of the Society. Even otherwise, the functions of the Society are not related to any Governmental function and neither the Society seems to be enjoying monopoly status which is State conferred or State protected. So far as the deep and pervasive control is concerned, as already indicated above, there is governing body which also comprises of independent members and further the governing body is to be re-constituted by the general body with the membership of the Society being not confined to only the staff of the PNB rather any person or Corporate or organization or institute can apply to the Society to become a member. The Rules of the society also indicate about its independent functioning the Society the power of framing its rules for the purpose of appointment of its employee and other service conditions of its employees.

30. Thus, none of the criteria as has been laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) are attracted so as to persuade this Court to hold the Society to be 'Other Authority' as contemplated under Article 12 of the Constitution of India.

31. The Apex Court in the case of Pradeep Kumar Biswas and Ors. vs. Indian Institute of Chemical Biology and Ors reported in (2002) 5 SCC 111 after adverting to various authorities including R.D.Shetty Vs. International Airport Authority of India reported in (1979) 3 SCC 489, Ajay Hasia (supra) as well as Sabhajit Tewary vs. Union of India (UOI) and Ors reported in AIR 1975 SC 1329 has laid down that only where a body is financially, functionally and administratively dominated by or under the control of the Government on established facts alone would be "State" under Article 12 of the Constitution of India.

32. The Apex Court has also considered all the aforesaid aspects of the matter and after considering the parameters as laid down in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) has held in the case of General Manager, Kisan Sahkari Chini Mills Ltd., Sultanpur Vs. Satrughan Nishad and Ors reported in (2003) 8 SCC 639 as under:-

'"8. From the decisions referred to above, it would be clear that the form in which the body is constituted namely, whether it is a society or co-operative society or a company, is not decisive. The real status of the body with respect to the control of government would have to be looked into. The various tests, as indicated above, would have to be applied and considered cumulatively. There can be no hard and fast formula and in different facts/situations, different factors may be found to be overwhelming and indicating that the body is an authority under Article 12 of the Constitution. In this context, Bye Laws of the Mill would have to be seen. In the instant case, in one of the writ applications filed before the High Court, it was asserted that the Government of Uttar Pradesh held 50% shares in the Mill which fact was denied in the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the State and it was averred that majority of the shares were held by cane growers. Of course, it was not said that the Government of Uttar Pradesh did not hold any share. Before this Court, it was stated on behalf of the contesting respondents in the counter affidavit that the Government of Uttar Pradesh held 50% shares in the Mill which was not denied on behalf of the Mill. Therefore, even if it is taken to be admitted due to non traverse, the share of the State Government would be only 50% and not entire. Thus, the first test laid down is not fulfilled by the Mill. It has been stated on behalf of the contesting respondents that the Mill used to receive some financial assistance from the Government. According to the Mill, the Government had advanced some loans to the Mill. It has no where been stated that the State used to meet any expenditure of the Mill much less almost the entire one, but, as a matter of fact, it operates on the basis of self generated finances. There is nothing to show that the Mill enjoys monopoly status in the matter of production of sugar. A perusal of Bye-Laws of the Mill would show that its membership is open to cane growers, other societies, Gram Sabha, State Government, etc. and under Bye-Law 52, a committee of management consisting of 15 members is constituted, out of whom, 5 members are required to be elected by the representatives of individual members, 3 out of co-operative society and other institutions and 2 representatives of financial institutions besides 5 members who are required to be nominated by the State Government which shall be inclusive of the Chairman and Administrator. Thus, the ratio of the nominees of State Government in the committee is only 1/3rd and the management of the committee is dominated by 2/3rd non-government members. Under the Bye-Laws, the State Government can neither issue any direction to the Mill nor determine its policy as it is an autonomous body. The State has no control at all in the functioning of the Mill much less deep and pervasive one. The role of the Federation, which is the apex body and whose ex-officio Chairman-cum-Managing Director is Secretary, Department of Sugar Industry and Cane, Government of Uttar Pradesh, is only advisory and to guide its members. The letter sent by Managing Director of the Federation on 22nd November, 1999 was merely by way of an advice and was in the nature of a suggestion to the Mill in view of its deteriorating financial condition. From the said letter, which is in the advisory capacity, it cannot be inferred that the State had any deep and pervasive control over the Mill. Thus, we find none of the indicia exists in the case of Mill, as such the same being neither instrumentality nor agency of government cannot be said to be an authority and, therefore, it is not State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution."

33. Likewise the Apex Court in the case of Federal bank Vs. Sagar Tomas reported in (2003) 10 SCC 733 has held as under:-

"28. The six factors which have been enumerated in the case of Ajay Hasia (supra) and approved in the later decisions in the case of Ramana (supra) and the seven Judges Bench in the case of Pradeep Kumar Biswas (supra) may be applied to the facts of the present case and see as to those tests apply to the appellant bank or not. As indicated earlier, share capital of the appellant bank is not held at all by the government nor any financial assistance is provided by the State, nothing to say which may meet almost the entire expenditure of the company. The third factor is also not answered since the appellant bank does not enjoy any monopoly status nor it can be said to be an institution having State protection. So far control over the affairs of the appellant bank is concerned, they are managed by the Board of Directors elected by its shareholders. No governmental agency or officer is connected with the affairs of the appellant bank nor anyone of them is a member of the Board of Directors. In the normal functioning of the private banking company there is no participation or interference of the State or its authorities. The statutes have been framed regulating the financial and commercial activities so that fiscal equilibrium may be kept maintained and not get disturbed by the mal-functioning of such companies or institutions involved in the business of banking. These are regulatory measures for the purposes of maintaining the healthy economic atmosphere in the country. Such regulatory measures are provided for other companies also as well as industries manufacturing goods of importance. Otherwise these are purely private commercial activities. It deserves to be noted that it hardly makes any difference that such supervisory vigilance is kept by the Reserve Bank of India under a Statute or the Central Government. Even if it was with the Central Government in place of the Reserve Bank of India it would not have made any difference, therefore, the argument based on the decision of All India Bank Employees' Association (supra) does not advance the case of the respondent. It is only in case of mal-functioning of the company that occasion to exercise such powers arises to protect the interest of the depositors, shareholders or the company itself or to help the company to be out of the woods. In the times of normal functioning such occasions do not arise except for routine inspections etc. with a view to see that things are moved smoothly in keeping with fiscal policies in general."

34. Similarly, the Apex Court in the case of Rajbir Surajbhan Singh (supra) has held has under:-

"8. It is true that the Governor of the Reserve Bank of India and the Chairmen of certain Public Sector Banks along with the Joint Secretary, Banking Division, Ministry of Finance are members of the governing body of the Respondent-Institute. There is no dispute that the Respondent is not constituted under a statute. It is also not disputed that the Respondent does not receive any funds from the Government. The Respondent is not controlled by the Government. The letter dated 20.09.2010 produced by the Appellant along with the rejoinder affidavit does not show deep and pervasive control by the Government of India. The question of whether the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research fell under 'other authorities' within the meaning of Article 12 was referred to a 7 Judge Bench of this Court. [See: Pradeep Kumar Biswas v. Indian Institute of Chemical Biology and Ors. (supra)]. Resolving the dispute, the 7 Judge Bench in Pradeep Kumar Biswas (supra) held that the question as to whether a corporation/society would fall within the meaning of Article 12 should be decided after examining whether the body is financially, functionally and administratively dominated by or under the control of the Government. This Court observed that such control should be particular to the body in question and must be pervasive. A control which is merely regulatory under the statute or otherwise would not make the body 'State' Under Article 12. As there is no control by the Government over the Respondent in the manner mentioned above, we have no doubt in our mind that the Respondent cannot be said to be falling within the expression 'State' Under Article 12 of the Constitution of India."

35. Thus, taking into consideration the aforesaid discussions, it is apparent that the Society does not fall within the ambit of being "Other Authority" as contemplated in Article 12 of the Constitution of India and thus the present petition is dismissed on the ground of maintainability. However, it would be open for the petitioners to challenge the impugned orders before appropriate Court in accordance with law.

(2019)10ILR A 1607

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 18.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ABDUL MOIN, J.

Service Single No.- 28697 of 2019

Ranjan Pratap Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Nagendra Bahadur Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law - U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921; Chapter III Regulation 101 - appointing authority cannot fill any vacancy of non-teaching staff except with the "prior approval" of the DIOS - financial approval of appointment of the petitioner was rejected since he was appointed without approval - appointment ab-initio

Writ Petition dismissed (E-10)

Cases cited: -

1. Deepak kumar Singh Vs St of U.P. & ors (2019) (6) ADJ 376

2. Kunda Motiram Bodalkar Vs Swami Vivekanand Shikshan Sanstha & ors (2010) 6 SCC 712

3. Ashika Prasad Shukla Vs District Inspector of Schools (1998) (3) AWC 2150

4. St of U.P. & ors Vs C/M Sarvodaya Inter College, Sayar District Ghazipur Special Appeal (Defective) No. 542 of 2014

5. Pramod Kumar Pandey Vs The District Inspector of Schools & anr Special Appeal (Defective) No. 684 of 2019

6. Abhendra Anand Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors (2017) 2 ADJ 23

7. Prabhat Kumar Sharma & ors Vs St of U.P. & ors (1996) 10 SCC 62

8. Shesh Mani Shukla Vs District Inspector of Schools Deoria & ors (2009) 15 Scc 436

9. U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishan & anr Vs Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd. & anr (1995) (Supp.) (3) SCC 463

10. Jaagdish Singh Vs St of U.P. & ors (2006) 2 UPLBEC 1851

11. Ms. Shailja Shah Vs Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya National Association & anr (1995) 25 ALR 88

12. Pawan Kumar Mishra Vs Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh & ors (2018) 3 AWC 2418

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ran Vijay Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing for respondents.

2. By means of the present petition, the petitioner has prayed for quashing of the order dated 21.02.2019, a copy of which has been filed as Annexure-1 to the petition, by which the District Inspector of Schools, Pratapgarh, has rejected the claim of the petitioner for financial approval of appointment of the petitioner on the post of Clerk on various grounds including the ground that there was no prior approval to the appointment of the petitioner.

3. The case set forth by the petitioner is that he had been appointed by the Committee of Management i.e. respondent no.4 on a Class III post of Clerk in pursuance to an advertisement issued on 11.07.2017 and the appointment order having been issued on 07.08.2017, a copy of which has been filed as Annexure-5 to the petition. Admittedly, in pursuance to the appointment order dated 07.08.2017, the petitioner had submitted his joining on 15.08.2017 as would be apparent from the joining report of the petitioner, a copy of which has been filed as Annexure-6 to the petition.

4. Admittedly, the appointment to a Class III post in educational institutions is governed by the provisions of Regulation 101 of Chapter III of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act of 1921'). Admittedly, in the instant case there was no prior approval of the competent authority prior to the petitioner being appointed and he having submitted his joining in pursuance thereof. This aspect of the matter has been considered by the District Inspector of Schools apart from other grounds while rejecting the claim of the petitioner by the impugned order dated 21.02.2019.

5. This Court in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh vs. State of U.P. and others reported in 2019 (6) ADJ 376 after taking into consideration various Division Bench judgments and the judgments of Apex Court has held that prior approval is a sine-qua-non to a valid appointment on a Class III post in terms of Regulation 101 of Chapter III of the Act of 1921.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner, however, contends that the Apex Court in the case of Kunda Motiram Bodalkar vs. Swami Vivekanand Shikshan Sanstha and others - (2010) 6 SCC 712 has held that where an appointment is made on the basis of an advertisement and that the employee's appointment has been approved subsequently consequently even if there was no prior permission of his appointment and there being no other irregularity in the appointment, the appointment cannot be held to be void.

7. Likewise, reliance has been placed on the Division Bench judgment in the case of Ashika Prasad Shukla vs. District Inspector of Schools - 1998 (3) AWC 2150, the judgment passed in a bunch of Special Appeals the leading being Special Appeal (Defective) No.542 of 2014 in re:State of U.P. and others vs. C/M Sarvodaya Inter College, Sayar District Ghazipur, Division Bench judgment in the case of Pramod Kumar Pandey and 5 others vs. The District Inspector of Schools and another passed in Special Appeal Defective No.684 of 2019 decided on 01.08.2019 as well as the judgment of Writ Court passed in the case of Abhendra Anand Singh vs. State of U.P. and others-2017 (2) ADJ 23.

8. On the other hand, Sri Ran Vijay Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, submits that the cases of Kunda Motiram Bodalkar (supra), Ashika Prasad Shukla (supra), C/M Sarvodaya Inter College (supra) and Pramod Kumar Pandey (supra) all pertain to Assistant Teachers who are governed by different set of rules/provision of law while the present case pertains to an appointment on a Class III post which is governed by Regulation 101 of Chapter III of the Act of 1921 and hence all the aforesaid cases shall not be applicable.

9. So far as the case of Abhendra Anand Singh (supra) is concerned, Sri Ran Vijay Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel submits that the said judgment has been passed without considering the judgments of Apex Court in the cases of Prabhat Kumar Sharma and others vs. State of U.P. and others - (1996) 10 SCC 62, Shesh Mani Shukla vs. District Inspector of Schools Deoria and others - (2009) 15 SCC 436, U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad and another vs. Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd. and another - 1995 (Supp.) (3) SCC 456, Union of India and another vs. Raghuwar Pal Singh - (2018) 15 SCC 463, and the Division Bench judgments in the cases of Jagdish Singh vs. State of U.P. and others - (2006) 2 UPLBEC 1851 and Ms. Shailja Shah vs. Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya National Association and another - 1995 (25) ALR 88, Pawan Kumar Mishra vs. Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh and others - (2018) 3 AWC 2418 and even otherwise this Court after considering all the aforesaid Division Bench's judgments including the judgments of Apex Court has held in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh (supra) that prior approval is sine-qua-non for a valid appointment on a Class III post.

10. Having heard learned counsel for the contesting parties and having perused the records, what comes out is that it is an admitted fact that the petitioner had been appointed on a Class III post without prior approval of the competent authority. This aspect of the matter has already been considered threadbare by this Court in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh (supra). For the sake of convenience, the relevant observations in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh (supra) are reproduced as under:-

15. From a perusal of Regulation 101, it is apparent that the appointing authority could not fill up any vacancy of a non teaching staff except with the prior approval of the DIOS.

16. Thus the sine quo non for filling up the vacancy of non teaching staff by the Management is the prior approval of the DIOS.

17. The issue of 'prior approval' has engaged the attention of the Courts from time to time. In the case of Prabhat Kumar Sharma and others Vs. State of U.P and ors reported in (1996) 10 SCC 62, the Hon'ble Supreme Court while considering the provisions of Removal of Difficulties order, which also provides for a prior approval of the DIOS, held that an appointment made inconsistent with the procedure of Removal of Difficulties Order is void abinitio and will not confer any right upon the incumbent to hold the post or to continue in service or to claim salary from the State exchequer. The relevant observations made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma (supra) are reproduced as under:-

"Any appointment made in transgression thereof is illegal appointment and is void and confers no right on the appointees."

*18. Likewise the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shesh Mani

Shukla Vs. District Inspector of Schools Deoria and others reported in (2009) (15) SCC 436 held as under:-

"It is true that the appellant has worked for a long time. His appointment, however, being in contravention of the statutory provision was illegal, and, thus, void ab initio. If his appointment has not been granted approval by the statutory authority, no exception can be taken only because the appellant had worked for a long time. The same by itself, in our opinion, cannot form the basis for obtaining a writ of or in the nature of mandamus; as it is well known that for the said purpose, the writ petitioner must establish a legal right in himself and a corresponding legal duty in the State."

19. A Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Jagdish Singh Vs. State of U.P and Ors reported in 2006 (2) UPLBEC 1851 has held as under:-

"without prior approval of the Inspector, the Principal or the committee of management cannot issue an appointment letter or permit joining of any candidate. Requirement of prior approval in Regulation 101 is a condition precedent before issuing an appointment letter and is mandatory."

20. Another Division Bench of this Court in the case of Ms. Shailja Shah Vs. Executive Committee, Bharat Varshiya National Association and another reported in 1995 (25) ALR, 88 has held has under:-

"expression "prior approval" and "approval" connotes different situation. Where a statute uses the term "prior approval" anything done without prior approval is nullity. Where a statute employs expression "approval", however, in such cases subsequent ratification can make the act valid."

21. The word 'Prior Approval' has also been used in Section 59(1)(a) of U.P Urban Planing and Development Act, 1973 and Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of U.P Avas Evam Vikas Parishad and Anr Vs. Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd. and Anr reported in 1995 (Supp) (3) SCC 456 has held that "prior approval" and "approval" are two different connotations and if the statute does not mention "prior approval" what is material would be only "approval".

22. Recently Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and Anr Vs. Raghuwar Pal Singh reported in (2018) 15 SCC 463 considered an issue wherein an appointment could have been made only after obtaining prior approval from Competent Authority i.e. Ministry of Agriculture, Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying, New Delhi. However, prior approval was not obtained and appointments were made. Thereafter, appointments were cancelled/ terminated on the ground that the same were illegal as there was no prior approval. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that since appointments were made without prior approval, they were de hors the Rules and a nullity, hence, principles of natural justice are also not attracted in such a case. Paras 16 and 17 of judgment which dealt with the aforesaid issue are reproduced below :

16. We shall now consider the efficacy of the reason so recorded in the office order. The recruitment procedure in relation to the post of Veterinary Compounder is governed by the statutory Rules titled 'Central Cattle Breeding Farms (Class III and Class IV posts) Recruitment Rules, 1969, as amended from time to time and including the executive instructions issued in that behalf. As per the stated dispensation for such recruitment, the appointment letter could be issued only by an authorised officer and after grant of approval by the competent authority. Nowhere in the Original Application filed by the Respondent, it has been asserted that such prior approval is not the quintessence for issuing a letter of appointment.

17. For taking this contention forward, we may assume, for the time being, that the then Director Incharge H.S. Rathore, Agriculture Officer had the authority to issue a letter of appointment. Nevertheless, he could do so only upon obtaining prior written approval of the competent authority. No case has been made out in the Original Application that due approval was granted by the competent authority before issue of the letter of appointment to the Respondent. Thus, it is indisputable that no prior approval of the competent authority was given for the appointment of the Respondent. In such a case, the next logical issue that arises for consideration is: whether the appointment letter issued to the Respondent, would be a case of nullity or a mere irregularity? If it is a case of nullity, affording opportunity to the incumbent would be a mere formality and non grant of opportunity may not vitiate the final decision of termination of his services. The Tribunal has rightly held that in absence of prior approval of the competent authority, the Director Incharge could not have hastened issuance of the appointment letter. The act of commission and omission of the then Director Incharge would, therefore, suffer from the vice of lack of authority and nullity in law."

23. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Pawan Kumar Mishra Vs. Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh and Ors reported in (2018) 3 AWC 2418 after referring to the earlier Division Bench judgment in the case of Jagdish Singh (supra) held as under:-

"21. In the instant case, the expression used in Regulation 101, is "prior approval" and not "approval". Consequently, when the statute uses the term "prior approval", then anything done without prior approval is a nullity. In Prabhat Kumar Sharma and others vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1996(SC)2638 the Supreme Court held:

"Any appointment made in transgression thereof is illegal appointment and is void and confers no right on the appointees."

17. In the light of the aforesaid, we find that admittedly the appellant was appointed without seeking prior approval from the District Inspector of Schools. The said appointment was wholly illegal and was a void order, which conferred no right on the appellant."

24. Likewise, this Court in the case of Shashi Kant Gupta Vs. State of U.P and Ors reported in 2014 SCC Online (All) 6039 has held as under :-

"1. Principal of Sri Aastik Muni Inter College, Koriyan, Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as "College") sought permission of District Inspector of Schools, Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as "DIOS") before commencing selection and appointment on Class-IV post in the College and having received intimation, proceeded to make selection. The advertisement was published in daily newspaper 'Employment Exchange' dated 1-15' February' 2003 published from Kanpur whereby the applications were invited upto 28.2.2003 and interview was to be held on 8.3.2003. Petitioner submitted application on 27.2.2003 and thereafter on 9.3.2003 appointment was made and petitioner joined on 15.3.2003. It is, therefore, evident from the record that after making selection and before appointment, no record was transmitted to DIOS seeking his prior approval as contemplated under Regulation 101, Chapter-III of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1921"). The law does not require prior approval before the selection but Regulation 101 talks of prior approval before the appointment but after making selection. This distinction has been noticed by Division Bench of this Court in Jagdish Singh etc. Vs. State of U.P. & others, 2006 (3) ESC 2055 (All)(DB) and it has been held that Regulation 101 is mandatory and if no prior approval has been obtained before making appointment, but after the selection the appointment shall be void-ab-initio and it shall not confer any right upon the incumbent to hold the post or to claim salary. The relevant observation made by Division Bench reads as under:

"... without prior approval of the Inspector, the Principal or the committee of management cannot issue an appointment letter or permit joining of any candidate. Requirement of prior approval in Regulation 101 is a condition precedent before issuing an appointment letter and is mandatory."

2. In view of above, the alleged appointment of petitioner cannot be said to be valid. No relief, therefore, as sought for in the writ petition can be granted to petitioner.

3. The writ petition lacks merit. Dismissed."

25. This Court in the case of Ram Kumar Shukla Vs. State of U.P and Ors reported in 2014 SCC Online (All) 6040 has held has under :-

1. Principal of Sri Aastik Muni Inter College, Koriyan, Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as "College") sought permission of District Inspector of Schools, Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as "DIOS") before commencing selection and appointment on Class-IV post in the College and having received intimation, proceeded to make selection. The advertisement was published in daily newspaper 'Employment Exchange' dated 1-15' February' 2003 published from Kanpur whereby the applications were invited upto 28.2.2003 and interview was to be held on 8.3.2003. Petitioner submitted application on 27.2.2003 and thereafter on 9.3.2003 appointment was made and petitioner joined on 15.3.2003. It is, therefore, evident from the record that after making selection and before appointment, no record was transmitted to DIOS seeking his prior approval as contemplated under Regulation 101, Chapter-III of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1921"). The law does not require prior approval before the selection but Regulation 101 talks of prior approval before the appointment but after making selection. This distinction has been noticed by Division Bench of this Court in Jagdish Singh etc. Vs. State of U.P. & others, 2006 (3) ESC 2055 (All)(DB) and it has been held that Regulation 101 is mandatory and if no prior approval has been obtained before making appointment, but after the selection the appointment shall be void-ab-initio and it shall not confer any right upon the incumbent to hold the post or to claim salary. The relevant observation made by Division Bench reads as under:

"... without prior approval of the Inspector, the Principal or the committee of management cannot issue an appointment letter or permit joining of any candidate. Requirement of prior approval in Regulation 101 is a condition precedent before issuing an appointment letter and is mandatory."

2. In view of above, the alleged appointment of petitioner cannot be said to be valid. No relief, therefore, as sought for in the writ petition can be granted to petitioner.

3. The writ petition lacks merit. Dismissed.

26. Thus, from a perusal of the aforesaid, it clearly comes out that prior approval was a sine qua non of filling up of vacancy of non teaching staff and issue of the appointment order. It is settled proposition of law that where a thing is to be done in a particular manner it is to be done in that manner or not at all. In this regard, the Court may refer to the judgment of Nazir Ahmad vs. Emperor reported in AIR 1936 PC 253 wherein it has been held as under:-

"where a power is given to do a certain thing in a certain way the thing must be done in that way or not at all."

27. Likewise the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Deep Chand vs. The State of Rajasthan reported in AIR 1961 SC 1527 has reiterated the principle of law as laid down in the case of Nazir Ahmad (supra) that:-

".....Where power is given to do a certain thing in a certain way, the thing must be done in that way or not at all and other methods of performance are necessarily forbidden"

28. Likewise the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Singhara Singh and Ors reported in AIR 1964 SC 358 has again followed the principle laid down in the case of Nazir Ahmad (supra).

29. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Babu Verghese & Ors. vs. Bar Council of Kerala & Ors reported in (1993) 3 SCC 422 while following the principle laid down in the case of Nazir Ahmad (supra) has held that:-

"It is the basic principle of law long settled that if the manner of doing a particular act is prescribed under any Statute, the act must be done in that manner or not at all."

30. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussions, it is thus apparent that the relevant regulations provide for a prior approval before filling in the vacancy of non teaching staff. Consequently, no such vacancy could be filled up except with the prior approval of the DIOS inasmuch as once the prescribed procedure itself contemplates a prior approval for filling up the vacancy, as such, keeping in view the settled proposition of law that where a manner of doing a particular act is prescribed, the act must be done in that manner or not at all and thus the vacancy could not have been filled in and the petitioner appointed without the prior approval of the DIOS.

31. Though, the Joint Director of Education has rejected the claim of the petitioner on the ground of there being no substantive vacancy on the date of his appointment and the ground of prior approval does not find place in the impugned order, as has rightly been contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner, yet this Court is of the view that once the said ground of there being no prior approval prior to appointment of the petitioner has been taken in the counter affidavit and is also a legal ground, consequently instead of remanding back the matter to the Joint Director of Education for a fresh decision, this Court has itself gone through the facts of the case and has also considered the said ground which deciding the case after hearing the learned counsel for the petitioner on this ground also more particularly when the pleadings have already been completed and the matter was argued at length.

32. As regards, the judgment cited on behalf of the petitioner in the case of Rajendra Yadav and Sri Ranjan (supra) which pertains to there being deemed approval after lapse of two weeks from the date of seeking prior approval of the DIOS, suffice to state that once the relevant Regulations do not contemplate any such deemed approval consequently, no such deemed approval can be presumed. Moreover, prior approval has been held to be sine qua non by various Division Bench judgment of this Court before making any appointment in terms of Regulation 101, consequently the aforesaid judgments shall not come to the rescue of the petitioner.

33. As regards, the judgment in the case of Abdul Shafiq Hanfi (supra), the said judgment is distinguishable inasmuch the said judgment did not consider the question of prior approval as specifically provided in the Regulations and as has been considered by various Division Bench judgments of this Court as well as by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

34. As regards, the judgment in the case of Surya Kumar Dixit (supra), the same pertains to an order held to be sustainable only on the grounds contained therein keeping in view the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mohinder Singh Gill and Ors Vs. The Chief Election Commissioner, New Delhi and Ors reported in AIR 1987 SC 851. This Court has already recorded as to why despite the ground of prior approval not having been taken by the respondent no. 2 while rejecting the case of the petitioner in the impugned order yet the said ground of prior approval having been taken in the counter affidavit as such this Court has itself proceeded to consider the said ground as the pleadings have been completed and it would have been a futile exercise to remit back the matter to the respondent no. 3 for a decision afresh despite having the legal reasons on record . As such, the said judgment would also not be of any help to the petitioner.

35. Accordingly, when facts of the instant case are tested on the touch stone of Regulation 101 wherein the words 'Prior Approval' has been used and the interpretation of the words 'Prior Approval' as has been given by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as various Division Benches of this Court and the principle of law as enunciated in the case of Nazir Ahmad (supra) it clearly comes out that where the appointing authority has issued the appointment order or permitted the joining of any candidate without the prior approval the same would be illegal and void abinitio. In the instant case, the Management having initiated the selection process and having issued the advertisement, formed a select committee, selected the petitioner permitted him to join and even issued an appointment order without the prior approval of the DIOS the same would thus vitiate the appointment of the petitioner.

36. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussions, no illegality or infirmity is found in the impugned order dated 26.11.2011 passed by the respondent no. 3.

37. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed."

11. Thus, from perusal of the aforesaid judgment, it clearly comes out that once there was no prior approval to the appointment of the petitioner on a Class III post consequently the appointment of the petitioner is itself void ab-initio in the eyes of law. Having thus being appointed without any prior approval consequently this Court cannot come to the rescue of the petitioner more particularly when the appointment of the petitioner is void ab-initio and having been made without prior approval of the competent authority.

12. So far as the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner in the case of Kunda Motiram Bodalkar (supra), Ashika Prasad Shukla (supra), C/M Sarvodaya Inter College (supra) and Pramod Kumar Pandey (supra) are concerned, suffice to state that they all pertain to appointment of Assistant Teachers who are governed by different set of rules and provisions of law while the present case pertains to an appointment on a Class III post which is governed by Regulation 101 of Chapter III of the Act of 1921 and hence all the aforesaid cases are distinguishable on their own facts. Further the judgment in the case of Abhendra Anand Singh (supra) has been passed without considering the judgment of Prabhat Kumar Sharma (supra), Shesh Mani Shukla (supra), Jagdish Singh (supra), Ms. Shailja Shah (supra), U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad (supra), Raghuwar Pal Singh (supra) and Pawan Kumar Mishra (supra) and even otherwise this Court after considering all the aforesaid Division Bench's judgments including the judgments of Apex Court has held in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh (supra) that prior approval is sine-qua-non for a valid appointment on a Class III post.

13. Accordingly, taking into consideration the aforesaid discussion no case for interference is made out. The writ petition is dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1615

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 17.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE SAURABH LAVANIA, J.

Service Bench No. 1736 of 1998

Om Naresh ...Petitioner
Versus
U.P. State Public Services Tribunal Lucknow ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Vijay Krishna, Sri G.C. Verma, Sri Prabhakar Tewari.

Counsel for the Respondent:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law -termination - conditional and temporary appointment of the petitioner - automatic termination when regular appointment is made

The "temporary appointee" has no right to the post, and hence the petitioner has no right to continue even if the post continues to exist. (Para 17 and 18)

If the order of termination is "termination simpliciter", no opportunity for hearing is required to be given to the employee. (Para 19)

B. Review Application - scope of review - maintainability of review application

The application for review is maintainable only on the grounds mentioned in Order 47, Rule 1 C.P.C. A party filing a review application on the ground of any other " sufficient reason" must satisfy that the said reason is analogous to the conditions mentioned in the said provision of C.P.C. (para 28, 29 and 30)

The review application is not filed for the pleasure of the parties or even as a device for ventilating remorselessness but ought to be restored to with a great sense of responsibility as well. (Para 31)

Review application dismissed (E-10)

Cases Referred: -

1. Dharmendra Kumar Tiwari Vs St of U.P. & ors (2002) All LJ 1216

2. Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. Vs Workmen, Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (2007) 1 SCC (L & S) 270

3. M/s Thungabhadra Industries Ltd. Vs The Government of Andhra Pradesh represented by the Deputy Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, Anantpur AIR (1964) SC 1372

4. Subhash Vs St of Mah & anors AIR (2002) SC 2537

5. Bhagwant Singh Vs Deputy Director of Consolidation & anr AIR (1977) All. 163

6. Shivdeo Singh Vs St of Pun AIR (1963) SC 1909

7. Zahira Habibullah Sheikh Vs St of Guj (2004) 5 SCC 353 8. P.N. Eswara Iyer etc. Vs Registrar Supreme Court of India (1980) 4 SCC 680

9. Ramdeo Chauhan Vs St of Assam (1999) 9 SCC 323

10. Devender Pal Singh Vs St of NCT of Delhi AIR (2003) SC 3356

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J)

1. Heard Sri G.C. Verma, learned counsel for the review applicant/petitioner and learned counsel for the State-respondents, Sri Amit Sharma.

2. Present review application has been filed for reviewing the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017, whereby this Court after recording the finding, quoted hereinunder, dismissed the writ petition and affirmed the order dated 09.08.1998 passed by U.P. State Public Services tribunal (in short "Tribunal") in claim petition No.278/V/(F)/1992, whereby Tribunal dismissed the claim petition and affirmed the order of termination dated 31.03.1992.

"Petitioner was engaged as Junior Clerk in a short term vacancy on temporary basis on 22.06.1991 and after joining of regular employee, he was ceased. Admittedly, petitioner had no right to hold post since his appointment was temporary and on short term basis. Hence, we find no error on the part of Tribunal in dismissing claim petition."

3. Before the Tribunal, the petitioner challenged the order of termination dated 31.03.1992 and also sought the consequential reliefs. The reliefs sought by the petitioner before the Tribunal are quoted under for ready reference:-

"Wherefore, it most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Tribunal may be please to much the impugned order dated 31.03.1992 (contained in Annexure no.1 to this petition) with a declaration that the petitioner continues in his service and is entitled to his fully pay, which he would have been entitled in absence of the impugned order.

Any other orders or direction appropriate in the circumstances of the case and deemed just and proper by the Hon'ble Tribunal may also be passed along with cost of this claim petition."

4. The Tribunal after considering the material available on record dismissed the claim petition of the petitioner vide order dated 05.05.1998, with following observation:-

"From the perusal of annexure No.1 it is clearly proved that the petitioner was working on daily wages basis and his services had been terminated w.e.f. after noon of 31.03.1992. The petitioner being a daily wager he could not be treated to be ad-hoc appointee even he could not be regularized under any of Government order for regularization of ad-hoc services of Government Servant. In these circumstances I am fully convinced with the contention of the learned Presenting Officer that the petitioner has no lien in respect of the post of a Junior Clerk, as such the termination order is legal and justified."

5. Aggrieved by the order dated 05.05.1998 passed by the Tribunal and order of termination dated 31.03.1992 the petitioner filed the writ petition, in which the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017, under review, was passed.

6. Brief facts of the case are that initially the petitioner was appointed in the pay scale of Junior Clerk vide order dated 22.06.1991, against short term vacancy on the post of Head Clerk, by the opposite party no.4, Principal, Government Industrial Training Institute, Bareilly. The appointment was purely temporary and conditioned. The condition of appointment was to the effect that the appointment would come to an end automatically, if Directorate any person on the post in question. The relevant portion of appointment order dated 22.06.1991 reads as under:-

"क्षेत्रीय सेवायोजन कार्यालय, बरेली द्वारा सम्प्रेषित सूची से विभागीय चयन समिति द्वारा संस्तुति के आधार पर पंजीयन नं0–सी. 1881/91 श्री ओम नरेश पुत्र श्री लल्लू प्रसाद को अवकाशकालीन रिक्ति के विरूद्ध कनिष्ठ लिपिक पर वेतनमान रू 950–20–1150–द0रो0–25–1500 में पुर्णतयाः अस्थायी रूप से नियक्ति किया जाता है। निदेशालय द्वारा मुख्य लिपिक पद पर तैनाती होने पर श्री ओम प्रकाश की सेवाएं स्वतः समाप्त समझी जायेगी।"

7. On 31.07.1991, an order was issued by the opposite party no.4. The order dated 31.07.1991 also reflects that the appointment of the petitioner was in the pay scale of Junior Clerk against the post of Senior assistant and was purely temporary and conditional,. The condition in the appointment was to the effect that the appointment of petitioner would come at an end automatically, if an appointment is made on the post of Senior Assistant by the Director. The relevant portion of order dated 31.07.1991 is quoted below:-

"इस संस्थान के पत्रांकःस्था0/क0लि0/नि0/91/3153–53 दिनांकः 22–06–1991 में आंशिक संशोधन करते हुए श्री ओम नरेश को वरिष्ठ लिपिक सहायक के विरूद्ध कनिष्ठ लिपिक वेतनमान रू 950–20–1150–द0रो0–25–1550 में पूर्णतया अस्थाई रूप से नियुक्त किया जाता है। निदेशालय द्वारा वरिष्ठ सहायक की तैनाती किये जाने पर श्री ओम नरेश की सेवाएं स्वतः समाप्त समझी जाएंगी।"

8. Thereafter vide order dated 12.11.1991 he was transferred to Government Industrial Training Institute, Anwala, Bareilly and while was working at Anwala, vide order dated 31.03.1992, the services of the petitioner came to an end. The relevant portion of order dated 31.03.1992 reads as under:-

"राज0औ0प्र0सं0आंवला, बरेली में कनिष्ठ लिपिक के पद पर दैनिक वेतन पर कार्यरत कर्मचारी श्री ओम नरेश की सेवाएं दिनांक 31.03.1992 के उपरान्त समाप्त की जाती है।"

9. Aggrieved by the order dated 31.03.1992, the petitioner filed the claim petition before Tribunal, which was dismissed on 05.05.1998.

10. The writ petition filed against the aforesaid order was dismissed by the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017, under review.

11. Before us, while pressing the review application, the arguments, as advanced by the learned counsel for petitioner Sri G.C.Verma, are summarized as under:-

(i) The appointment of the petitioner was on temporary basis and he was terminated vide order dated 31.03.1992 treating him to be daily wage, and that for without giving proper opportunity of hearing.

(ii) After being appointed as temporary basis at Government Industrial Training Institute, Bareilly the petitioner was transferred to Government Industrial Training Institute, Anwala, Bareilly on clear regular vacancy, treating the petitioner as regular employee and thus the termination of the services of petitioner treating him as daily wage was/is not justified rather illegal.

(iii) The order of termination dated 31.031992 was passed in violation of terms of appointment.

(iv) It is also submitted that while passing the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017 this Court has not taken note of the entire facts of the case as such the present review petition has been filed.

12. We put a query to Sri G.C.Verma, who appeared for review petitioner, that which appointments/engagements are included in expression "temporary appointee" and whether " temporary appointee" is governed by the Rules which says that prior to passing of order of termination simplicitor an opportunity of hearing should be given to a "temporary appointee".

13. To aforesaid, the learned counsel for the review petitioner could not place any Rule and also failed to explain the term/expression "temporary appointee".

14. We have heard learned counsel for the petitioner and perused the record.

15. It transpires from the record, which is admitted position, that the appointment of petitioner was purely temporary and against short term vacancy, which was made on 22.06.1991 and came to an end vide order dated 31.03.1992. The petitioner worked for a very short period/span. The services of the petitioner were not regularized on the post of Junior Clerk and contrary to the same there is neither any pleading nor an order, on record.

16. Before coming to the conclusion that whether the reasoning given by this Court while dismissing the writ petition vide judgment and order dated 27.01.2017 is perfectly valid or not, we would like to consider the expression "temporary appointee" and right to hold the post by a "temporary appointee".

17. In regard to aforesaid the Division Bench of this Court in the case of (Dharmendra Kumar Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others) reported in 2002 All LJ 1216, after observing, as under, dismissed the writ petition.

"4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the petitioner has a right to continue till a regularly selected candidate is available for the post. We do not agree with this submission. There is no such legal principle that a temporary employee has a right to continue on the post till a regularly selected candidate is available for that post. Rather, the legal position is just the reverse, namely, that a temporary employee has no right to the post, and hence he has no right to continue even if the post continues to exist. An ad hoc appointee is also a temporary appointee. The expression "temporary appointee' is a general expression under which there are several sub-categories, e.g. casual appointee, daily wage appointee, ad hoc appointee and even a probationer. All such sub-categories fall within the general category of a temporary appointee, as contrasted to a permanent appointee. The legal position is that a temporary appointee has no right to the post and it is not correct to say that a temporary appointee has a right to continue till a regularly selected candidate is available for the post.

5.Learned counsel for the petitioner has brought to our notice certain interim orders passed by the Lucknow Bench of this Court vide Annexures 3 and 4 to the writ petition. These are interim orders and hence are no precedents. The law is well settled by the Supreme Court in various decisions that a temporary employee has no right to the post videState of U.P.v.Kaushal Kishore, (1991) 1 SCC 691 : (1991 AIR SCW 793),Triveni Shankar Saxenav.State of U.P., 1992 Supp (1) SCC 524 : AIR 1992 SC 496 : (1992 All LJ 230) etc. Since the law has been clearly laid down on this point by the Supreme Court anything contrary held by the Lucknow Bench of this Court is not good law."

18. In the case of Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. Vs. Workmen, Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (2007) 1 SCC (L&S) 270, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"13. It may be mentioned that a daily-rated or casual worker is only a temporary employee, and it is well settled that a temporary employee has no right to the post videState of U.P.v.Kaushal Kishore Shukla[(1991) 1 SCC 691 : 1991 SCC (L&S) 587 : (1991) 16 ATC 498] . The term "temporary employee" is a general category which has under it several sub-categories e.g. casual employee, daily-rated employee, ad hoc employee, etc.

14. The distinction between a temporary employee and a permanent employee is well settled. Whereas a permanent employee has a right to the post, a temporary employee has no right to the post. It is only a permanent employee who has a right to continue in service till the age of superannuation (unless he is dismissed or removed after an inquiry, or his service is terminated due to some other valid reason earlier). As regards a temporary employee, there is no age of superannuation because he has no right to the post at all. Hence, it follows that no direction can be passed in the case of any temporary employee that he should be continued till the age of superannuation."

19. It is also settled principle of law that if an order of termination is "termination simpliciter" then in that case the opportunity of hearing before passing the order of termination is not required.

20. In the instant case of termination dated 31.03.1992, as appears from the order itself, is termination simpliciter. Thus, there was no need to provide opportunity of hearing to the petitioner before issuing it.

21. Considering the facts of the case particularly, nature of the appointment of the petitioner, which for a very short span and purely temporary appointment, and the principle settled with regard to right to hold the post vests in the daily wages or temporary appointee, mentioned hereinabove, we are of the view that the reasons given by the Division Bench, while passing the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017, under review, are perfectly valid.

22. In addition to above, though we have considered the facts of the case while coming to the conclusion aforesaid, we would like to add the scope of review.

23. In this regard Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of M/s. Thungabhadra Industries Ltd. Vs. The Government of Andhra Pradesh represented by the Deputy Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, Anantapur, AIR 1964 SC 1372, The Apex Court held that a review is by no means an appeal in disguise whereby an erroneous decision is reheard and corrected. but lies only for patent error. We do not consider that this furnishes a suitable occasion for dealing with this difference exhaustively or in any great detail, but it would suffice for us to say that where without any elaborate argument one could point to the error and say here is a substantial point of law which stares one in the face, and there could reasonably be no two opinions entertained about it, a clear case of error apparent on the face of the record would be made out.

24. Hon'ble the Apex Court in Subhash Vs. State of Maharastra & Another, AIR 2002 SC 2537, the Apex Court emphasised that Court should not be misguided and should not lightly entertain the review application unless there are circumstances falling within the prescribed limits for that as the Courts and Tribunal should not proceed to re-examine the matter as if it was an original application before it for the reason that it cannot be a scope of review.

25. This Court in the case of Bhagwant Singh Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation & Another, AIR 1977 All. 163, rejected the review application filed on a ground which had not been argued earlier because the counsel, at initial stage, had committed mistake in not relying on and arguing those points, held as under:-

26. It is not possible to review a judgment only to give the petitioner a fresh inning. It is not for the litigant to judge of counsel's wisdom after the case has been decided. It is for the counsel to argue the case in the manner he thinks it should be argued. Once the case has been finally argued on merit and decided on merit, no application for review lies on the ground that the case should have been differently argued."

27. In Shivdeo Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1963 SC 1909, in a review petition filed under Order 47 Rule 1 CPC the Supreme Court held that the power of review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, in reviewing its own orders, every Court including High Court inheres plenary jurisdiction, to prevent miscarriage of justice or to correct grave and palpable errors committed by it.

28. Further, the review lies only on the grounds mentioned in Order 47, Rule 1 read with Section 141 CPC. The party must satisfy the Court that the matter or evidence discovered by it at a subsequent stage could not be discovered or produced at the initial stage though it had acted with due diligence. A party filing a review application on the ground of any other " sufficient reason" must satisfy that the said reason is analogous to the conditions mentioned in the said provision of C.P.C.

29. Thus, in view of the abovesaid facts, review can be allowed only on (1) discovery of new and important matter of evidence which, after exercise of due diligence, was not within the knowledge of the person seeking review, or could not be produced by him at the time when the order was made, or (2) when some mistake or error on the face of record is found, or (3) on any analogous ground. But review is not permissible on the ground that the decision was erroneous on merits as the same would be the province of an Appellate Court.

30. In View of the above discussion , the law of review can be summarized that it lies only on the grounds mentioned in Order 47, Rule 1 CPC . The party must satisfy the Court that the matter or evidence discovered by it at a subsequent stage could not be discovered or produced at the initial stage though it had acted with due diligence. A party filing a review application on the ground of any other' sufficient reason' must satisfy that the said reason is analogous to the conditions mentioned in Order 47, Rule 1 CPC. Under the garb of review, a party cannot be permitted to re-open the case and to gain a full-fledged inning for possible for the Court to take a view contrary to what had been taken earlier. Review lies only when there is error apparent on the fact of the record and that fallibility is by the over-sight of the Court.

31. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Zahira Habibullah Sheikh Vs. State of Gujarat, (2004) 5 SCC 353, after placing reliance on its earlier judgments i.e. P.N. Eswara Iyer etc. Vs. Registrar Supreme Court of India, (1980) 4 SCC 680; Sutherdraraja Vs. State, (1999) 9 SCC 323; Ramdeo Chauhan Vs. State of Assam, AIR 2001 SC 2231; and Devender Pal Singh Vs. State of NCT of Delhi, AIR 2003 SC 3365; observed that review applications "are not to be filed for the pleasure of the parties or even as a device for ventilating remorselessness, but ought to be resorted to with a great sense of responsibility as well."

32. For the foregoing reasons, the review application lacks merit. Hence, dismissed with no order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1621

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.07.2016
BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAKESH SRIVASTAVA, J.

Service Single No. 7027 of 1996

Mohd. Ajaz ...Petitioner
Versus
Managing Director & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ghaus Beg, Sri Vishal Chaudhary.

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri S.K. Kaliya.

A. Service Law - challenging oral termination - petitioner appointed as a driver-cum-peon in temporary vacancy - subsequently contractually appointed on said post for three months - appointment came to an end but allowed to continue beyond the prescribed period - terminated by efflux of time

The continuance of a person wrongly appointed on the post does not create any legal right in his favour. (Para 10)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-10)

Cases cited:-

1. Director, Institute of Management Development U.P. Vs Pushpa Srivastava (Smt.) (1992) 4 SCC 33

2. M.S. Patil (Dr.) Vs Gulbarga University (2010) 10 SCC 63

3. State of Orissa & anr Vs Mamata Mohanty (2011) 3 SCC 436

4. Secretary, St of Kar & ors Vs Uma Devi & ors (2006) 4 SCC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rakesh Srivastava, J.)

1. The petitioner by means of the present writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, has challenged the alleged oral termination of his service by the respondents. The petitioner has further prayed for a direction to the respondents to allow him to continue on the post of driver-cum-peon and to pay him salary regularly.

2. The Small Industries Development Bank of India (for short "the Bank') is a development financial institution in India headquartered in Lucknow and having its offices all over the country. It was established in April 1990 through an Act of the Indian Parliament.

3. The petitioner was first appointed in the Bank on 27.06.1995 on daily wage basis as a driver-cum-peon in a temporary vacancy by the Manager of the Bank at Lucknow, the respondent no. 3. Thereafter, by an order dated 13.10.1995, the petitioner was appointed on the said post on a consolidated fixed salary of Rs. 3000/- per month on contract basis for a period of three months. The petitioner joined his duties accepting the term of his appointment letter. By an order dated 03.01.1996, the appointment of the petitioner was extended for a further period of three months on the same terms and conditions and by letter dated 12.04.1996, the appointment of the petitioner was further extended up to 31.05.1996. Although the appointment came to an end on 31.05.1996, by efflux of time, the petitioner was allowed to continue beyond the prescribed period on daily wage basis. It is alleged that on 4.10.1996, the petitioner was orally informed by the respondent no. 3 that his services were no longer required and accordingly, the petitioner was not permitted to work thereafter.

4. Sri Ghaus Beg, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the work and conduct of the petitioner was satisfactory and there was no complaint against the petitioner and as such there was no reason why the services of the petitioner were not extended. The counsel contended that decision of the respondents in not renewing the contract of the petitioner was arbitrary and unjustified.

5. Per contra, Shri S.K. Kalia, Senior Advocate, has submitted that the engagement of the petitioner was purely on contract basis for a specific period on the terms and conditions mentioned in the said letter and after the term of the service of the petitioner came to an end the petitioner has no right to continue on the post in question. The averments made on behalf of the petitioner that his work and conduct was satisfactory has also been denied.

6. Heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

7. The only question that arises for consideration in the instant case that is "as to whether the petitioner can claim as a matter of right to continue on the post in question in spite of the fact that his term of appointment has come to an end by efflux of time' is no more res integra.

8. Relevant portion of the appointment order dated 13.10.1995 reads as under:-

ष्आपको निम्नलिखित निबंधनों और शर्तों पर ड्राइवर–सह–चपरासी का पद प्रस्तावित करने का निर्णय किया गया है–

1. आपको रू0 3000/– प्रतिमाह का नियत वेतन दिया जाएगा।

2. आपकी नियुक्ति, आपकी नियुक्ति तिथि अर्थात् अक्टूबर 04, 1995 से जनवरी 03, 1996 तक संविदा आधार पर होगी।

3. बैंक मे आपको नियोजन, उक्त अवधि की समाप्ति, अर्थात् जनवरी 03, 1996 को कार्यकाल की समाप्ति पर स्वतः समाप्त हो जाएगा। यह नोट किया जाए कि बैंक पर इस बात की कोई जिम्मेदारी नहीं होगी कि इस संबंध में वह सेवा समाप्ति संबंधी कोई औपचारिक सूचना जारी करे अथवा नोटिस दे। सेवा संविदा की समाप्ति पर कोई क्षतिपूर्ति देय नहीं होगी।

* * *

8. किसी भी परिस्थिति में, इस नियोजन संविदा के फलस्वरूप बैंक में नियमित नियोजन अथवा सेवा संविदा की अवधि में वृद्धि के संबंध में आपका कोई दावा नहीं बनता है।

9. बैंक को जब भी आवश्यकता होगी, तब आप बैंक में नियुक्ति के संदर्भ में प्रासंगिक प्रत्येक सूचना बैंक में प्रस्तुत करेंगे।ष

(emphasis supplied)

9. It is well settled where the appointment is contractual, and such appointment comes to an end by efflux of time, the incumbent has no right to continue on the post in question. {see Director, Institute of Management Development U.P. v. Pushpa Srivastava (Smt.), (1992) 4 SCC 33}.

10. It is equally settled that merely because the incumbent is allowed to continue beyond the contractual period, it does not confer any right upon him to continue. In M.S. Patil (Dr.) v. Gulbarga University, (2010) 10 SCC 63, the Apex Court has held that the concept of adverse possession of lien on post or holding over are not applicable in service jurisprudence. Therefore, continuation of a person wrongly appointed on post does not create any right in his favour. Relying upon M.S. Patil (supra) in State of Orissa and another v. Mamata Mohanty, (2011) 3 SCC 436, the Apex Court has held that the concept of adverse possession of lien on post or holding over are not applicable in service jurisprudence. Therefore, the continuance of a person wrongly appointed on post does not create any right in his favour.

11. Further a Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in Secretary, State of Karnataka and others v. Uma Devi and others, (2006) 4 SCC 1, has observed as under :-

"43. If it is a contractual appointment, the appointment comes to an end at the end of the contract, if it were an engagement or appointment on daily wages or casual basis, the same would come to an end when it is discontinued. Similarly, a temporary employee could not claim to be made permanent on the expiry of his term of appointment. It has also to be clarified that merely because a temporary employee or a casual wage worker is continued for a time beyond the term of his appointment, he would not be entitled to be absorbed in regular service or made permanent, merely on the strength of such continuance, if the original appointment was not made by following a due process of selection as envisaged by the relevant rules. It is not open to the court to prevent regular recruitment at the instance of temporary employees whose period of employment has come to an end or of ad hoc employees who by the very nature of their appointment, do not acquire any right. The High Courts acting under Article 226 of the Constitution, should not ordinarily issue directions for absorption, regularisation, or permanent continuance unless the recruitment itself was made regularly and in terms of the constitutional scheme."

and then

"45. ... It is not as if the person who accepts an engagement either temporary or casual in nature, is not aware of the nature of his employment. He accepts the employment with open eyes. It may be true that he is not in a position to bargain--not at arm's length--since he might have been searching for some employment so as to eke out his livelihood and accepts whatever he gets. But on that ground alone, it would not be appropriate to jettison the constitutional scheme of appointment and to take the view that a person who has temporarily or casually got employed should be directed to be continued permanently. By doing so, it will be creating another mode of public appointment which is not permissible. If the court were to void a contractual employment of this nature on the ground that the parties were not having equal bargaining power, that too would not enable the court to grant any relief to that employee. A total embargo on such casual or temporary employment is not possible, given the exigencies of administration and if imposed, would only mean that some people who at least get employment temporarily, contractually or casually, would not be getting even that employment when securing of such employment brings at least some succour to them. After all, innumerable citizens of our vast country are in search of employment and one is not compelled to accept a casual or temporary employment if one is not inclined to go in for such an employment. It is in that context that one has to proceed on the basis that the employment was accepted fully knowing the nature of it and the consequences flowing from it. In other words, even while accepting the employment, the person concerned knows the nature of his employment. It is not an appointment to a post in the real sense of the term. The claim acquired by him in the post in which he is temporarily employed or the interest in that post cannot be considered to be of such a magnitude as to enable the giving up of the procedure established, for making regular appointments to available posts in the services of the State. The argument that since one has been working for some time in the post, it will not be just to discontinue him, even though he was aware of the nature of the employment when he first took it up, is not one that would enable the jettisoning of the procedure established by law for public employment and would have to fail when tested on the touchstone of constitutionality and equality of opportunity enshrined in Article 14 of the Constitution." (emphasis supplied)

12. Admittedly, the petitioner was appointed on contract basis on a consolidated salary for a fixed term and the same was extended from time to time on the same terms and conditions. By efflux of time the appointment of the petitioner came to an end on 31.05.1996. In view of the settled legal position the petitioner has no right to have his contract renewed and to continue on the post in question. No mandamus can be issued to the respondents to continue the petitioner in service.

13. Moreover, the services of the petitioner were terminated way back in the year 1996 and since then he is out of job. More than 20 years have passed. Even otherwise, at this distance of time no relief, whatsoever, can be granted to the petitioner.

14. For the foregoing reasons the writ petition is devoid of merit and is accordingly dismissed.

15. No order as to cost.

(2019)10ILR A 1625

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 16.09.2019
BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJESH SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Service Single No. 6682 of 2019

Kamlesh Kumar Verma ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Deomani Tripathi, Sri Ashok Kumar Mishra, Sri Girish Chandra Verma.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service law - appointment denied on ground of non-disclosure of pending criminal case - one Shri Dililp Kumar Jaiswal who is charged with more serious offence permitted to join - the Court held that the discretion exercised by the appointing authority should be reasonable - the Court permitted to join the service subject to the final outcome of the criminal proceedings

Writ Petition allowed (E-10)

Cases Cited:-

1. Avtar Singh Vs U.O.I. & ors (2016) 8 SCC 471

2. Commissioner of Police & ors Vs Sandeep Kumar (2011) 4 SCC 644

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri G.C. Verma, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned State Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner has assailed the office memo dated 28.1.2019 passed by the Secretary, Department of Home (Police), Anubhag-9, Lucknow refusing to give appointment to the petitioner for the reason that the petitioner has concealed the relevant fact regarding pending criminal cases against him. The petitioner has also challenged the order dated 6.2.2019 passed by the Director General of Prosecution, U.P. Lucknow.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards Annexure No.3 to the writ petition, which is an order dated 11.12.2018 passed by this Court in the matter of the petitioner in Service Single No.33643 of 2018, whereby the said writ petition was finally disposed of directing the competent authority to take fresh decision in the matter in the light of the Judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Avtar Singh Vs. Union of India and others, (2016) 8 SCC 471. In the aforesaid order dated 11.12.2018 this Court had taken cognizance of the fact that one Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal, against whom serious criminal cases were pending, was allowed to join, therefore it was expected that while passing the fresh order, the aforesaid fact should have been considered by the competent authority carefully.

4. So as to verify the reasons of the impugned order, I have perused Annexure No.19 to the writ petition, which is a declaration form being submitted by the petitioner and perusal thereof clearly reveals that the petitioner has clearly indicated that a criminal case is pending against him. He has indicated that Crime No.322/2005 is pending before the Court of Addl. District & Sessions Judge-First, Pratapgarh. In the impugned order, there is one reference given regarding N.C.R. No.277/12 under Sections 323, 504 & 506 IPC, which has admittedly been expunged by the court concerned vide order dated 6.12.2014. Learned counsel for the petitioner has indicated in para-19 of the writ petition that in said case, the final report was submitted by the Investigating Officer and the said case was disposed of by the Court concerned on 6.12.2014. The petitioner was absolutely unaware about the aforesaid case as no notice, summon etc. has been issued to the petitioner at any point of time. The aforesaid content of the writ petition was replied by the answering opposite parties in para-16 of the counter affidavit wherein the fact that the petitioner was absolutely unaware about the pendency of the said case has not been disputed, however this much has been indicated that the petitioner has not disclosed the offences. This is beyond any comprehension when the petitioner was absolutely unaware about any case, which was registered under N.C.R., how could he have disclosed such fact. Secondly, there is no dispute that the petitioner has correctly intimated/ disclosed about the pendency of the criminal case bring no.322/2005 pending in the court of Addl. District & Sessions Judge-First, Pratapgarh, however he had not disclosed the Sections under which he was charged. The aforesaid fact was disclosed by the petitioner on 7.2.2017 whereas the impugned order has been passed firstly in the year 2018, meaning thereby on the basis of information so disclosed by the petitioner at the time of attestation, the competent authority must have verified each and every thing relating to the said criminal case pending against the petitioner. Relevant sections against the petitioner are 147, 148, 323, 324, 504, 506, 427 IPC read with Section 3 (1) (x) of the SC/ST Act.

5. It is noted here that vide order dated 16.4.2018, the candidature of Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal was examined and against Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal, two crime cases were registered i.e. Criminal Case No.7046/2002, Case Crime No.147/98, under Sections 147/352/188/504/506 IPC, however in that case Sri Jaiswal was exonerated but in Case Crime No.227/99, under Sections 307/504/506 IPC, an interim order was granted in favour of Sri Jaiswal but the fact remains that the case under Section 307 IPC was pending against him but vide order dated 6.9.2018 (Annexure No.14 to the writ petition), Sri Jaiswal has been permitted to submit his joining at Aligarh.

6. So far as severity of the offence is concerned, the present petitioner has been charged under less serious offences comparing to Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal. Despite the aforesaid fact, the petitioner has not been permitted to submit his joining rather he has been stopped to submit his joining whereas Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal has been permitted to submit his joining. The impugned order against the petitioner has been passed in the light of the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Avtar Singh (supra). Paragraphs 38.1 to 38.4, 38.5 & 38.6 of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Avtar Singh (supra) are being reproduced herein below:-

"38.1. Information given to the employer by a candidate as to conviction, acquittal or arrest, or pendency of a criminal case, whether before or after entering into service must be true and there should be no suppression or false mention of required information.

38.2.While passing order of termination of services or cancellation of candidature for giving false information, the employer may take notice of special circumstances of the case, if any, while giving such information.

38.3. The employer shall take into consideration the Government orders/ instruction/ rules, applicable to the employee, at the time of taking the decision.

38.4. In case there is suppression or false information of involvement in a criminal case where conviction or acquittal had already been recorded before filling of the application/verification form and such fact later comes to knowledge of employer, any of the following recourses appropriate to the case may be adopted:

38.5. In a case where the employee has made declaration truthfully of a concluded criminal case, the employer still has the right to consider antecedents, and cannot be compelled to appoint the candidate.

38.6. In case when fact has been truthfully declared in character verification form regarding pendency of a criminal case of trivial nature, employer, in facts and circumstances of the case, in its discretion may appoint the candidate subject to decision of such case."

7. Learned State counsel has vehemently pressed para-38.6 saying that it is a discretion of the appointing authority to permit such appointment wherein criminal cases are pending.

8. No doubt, it is a discretion of the appointing authority to permit someone to submit his/ her joining if criminal cases are pending but such discretion should be reasonable one as unfettered discretion has not been appreciated by the Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court.

9. The sole reason of the impugned order is that the petitioner has not disclosed the facts properly whereas attestation form clearly indicates that the petitioner has disclosed the facts relating to pendency of criminal case against him. Therefore, even in the light of the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Avtar Singh (supra), the petitioner should have not been refused to submit his joining when one identically placed person, namely, Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal, whose antecedents/ material is more serious than the petitioner, has been permitted to submit his joining.

10. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Commissioner of Police and others v. Sandeep Kumar, (2011) 4 SCC 644, in para-12 has held as under:-

"12. It is true that in the application form the respondent did not mention that he was involved in a criminal case under Sections 325/34 IPC. Probably he did not mention this out of fear that if he did so he would automatically be disqualified. At any event, it was not such a serious offence like murder, dacoity or rape, and hence a more lenient view should be taken in the matter."

11. The Hon'ble Apex Court has held that the offence under Section 325/34 IPC is not so serious to refuse appointment of any person. In the light of the aforesaid dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court, in the present case, the offence of the petitioner is less serious than the offence under Section 325 IPC inasmuch as under Section 325 IPC, the punishment prescribed as seven years whereas in none of the sections, the petitioner's charge is having punishment of about seven years. Therefore, it appears that while passing the impugned order dated 28.1.2019, the competent authority has not invoked his discretion reasonably and the reason so indicated in the impugned order is misconceived inasmuch as the petitioner has disclosed his details regarding criminal case in his attestation form, therefore, the impugned orders dated 28.1.2019 and 6.2.2019, which have been passed by the Secretary, Home (Police), Lucknow and the Director General of Prosecution, U.P., Lucknow whereby claim of the petitioner on the post of A.P.O. has been cancelled are liable to be quashed and accordingly, both the orders dated 28.1.2019 and 6.2.2019, which are contained in Annexures No.1 & 2 to the writ petition, are hereby quashed.

12. The opposite parties are directed to permit the joining of the petitioner on the post of A.P.O. in the same manner the order has been passed in the case of Sri Dilip Kumar Jaiswal. It is needless to say that such order would be conditional one and shall depend upon the final outcome of the criminal proceedings.

13. The writ petition is accordingly allowed.

14. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1628

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 30.05.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ASHOK KUMAR, J.

Writ- C No. 63354 of 2015
connected with
Writ- C No. 60856, 10636 of 2015

Committee of Management Lalauli Inter College & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Siddhartha Srivastava.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Prabhakar Awasthi.

A. Constitution of India - Art. 226 - Scope and ambit of Writ - Dispute about the number of members of committee of management - This kind of dispute is purely factual dispute - It cannot be considered or decided by a writ court. (Para 10)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashok Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned counsel for the respondents.

2. By means of the present writ petition (W.P. No. 63354 of 2015) the petitioner has challenged the order dated 1.10.2015 passed by the DIOS, Fatehpur by which the DIOS has attested the signature of the manager of the elected committee of management.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the petitioner nos. 2 to 8 are the Ex-office bearers/members of the outgoing committee of management, election of which was held in the year 2005. Earlier a Writ Petition No. 65152 of 2011 was filed by one Idrish Khan in which following order has been passed:-

"Contention of the petitioner is that District Inspector of Schools, Fatehpur on 11.1.2011 had written a letter for holding of the election of the Managing Committee of the institution by 30.1.2011. Petitioner submits that tenure of the Manging Committee of the institution has already run out and in spite of same no steps whatsoever has been taken in the direction, and even order passed by the District Inspector of schools has not been complied with. Petitioner submits that there is no legal impediment whatsoever for holding the election of the committee of the Management of the institution.

Consequently, District Inspector of schools, Fatehpur is directed to see and ensure that final decision is taken in respect of holding of election of the committee of management in accordance with law, preferably within period of next three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order. In case elections have already been held then this order question will not come to the rescue of the petitioner.

With these observations, writ petition is disposed of."

4. In pursuance of the order dated 16.11.2011 the DIOS called for the relevant documents and a list of 275 members along with documents was submitted before the Assistant Registrar. The said list of 275 members was objected and therefore the Assistant Registrar has instituted an inquiry through auditor. According to the petitioner the inquiry was conducted and a report was submitted before the Assistant Registrar holding that the respondent no.4 has illegally enrolled the members. The DIOS in compliance of the order of this Court dated 26.11.2011 authorised the election officer as observer to constitute the general body of the society by following the bye-laws of the society and it is alleged that the said effect was followed and the list of 4885 members was prepared and forwarded by the DIOS to the Assistant Registrar for approval vide letter dated 18.12.2013. In pursuance of the letter dated 18.12.2013 the Assistant Registrar has responded vide letter dated 23.1.2014, authorised to the hold the election on the basis of general body of 4885 members prepared by the election officer and the observer. The elections were held according to the notified scheduled. The election of the executive members of the petitioner no.1 committee of management took place on 9.3.2014.

5. The claim of the petitioner was that on the basis of 4885 members of general body elections were held in which the respondent no.4 Sri Zumman Ali also participated and elected as member of executive committee. A writ petition being Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 16789 of 2014 was filed by the respondent no.4 Zumman Ali, which was disposed of vide order dated 28.3.2014. The relevant extract of the order dated 2.7.2014 are quoted hereinbelow :

"Be that as it may, in my view, the end of justice would be subserved in case the petitioners are granted liberty to file a representation before the Regional Level Committee. The petitioners are permitted to raise all available grounds before the Regional Level Committee. In the event, the petitioner submits any such representation before the Joint Director of Education within two weeks from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order, the Joint Director of Education shall place the same before the Regional Level Committee, which will consider the cause of the petitioners and decide the matter within six weeks from the date of making such representation after hearing the petitioners and all concerned parties.

Needless to say that this Court has not expressed its opinion on the merits of the case. The Regional Level Committee shall pass the order independently in accordance with law.

Accordingly, the writ petition is disposed of.

No order as to costs."

6. Further against the order dated 28.3.2014 another writ petition was filed by the petitioner no.2 Badruddin Khan being writ Petition No. 29044 of 2014 in which this Court has passed the following order dated 2.7.2014 :

"Having considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, I find substance in the submission of Sri Ashok Khare, inasmuch as, the U.P. Intermediate and Education Act, 1921 does not govern primary education. It is noteworthy that Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act, 1921 are Regulations prescribing service condition of teachers and employees of recognised institution framed under sub-section (1) of Section 16G of the Act, 1921. The use of the expression " members of the teaching staff or the Principal or Headmaster" is necessarily in reference to an institution which is governed by the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and it, therefore, does not relate to teachers of a Primary School. I, therefore, do not find substance in the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners that the respondent No.5 was not eligible for being appointed as an office-bearer of the Committee of Management by virtue of Regulation 5 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act, 1921.

So far as the validity of election in general is concerned, another writ petition was filed by one Jumman Ali, an elected member of the Committee of Management, challenging the elections of the office-bearers which was numbered as Writ C No. 16789 of 2014. In the said writ petition, this court disposed of the petition with observation that if petitioners have any grievance with regards to the election, they can make a representation to the Regional Level Committee and in that event, the Regional Level Committee can consider the issue in accordance with law. Therefore, if the petitioners are aggrieved by the election for any other reason, they may, on similar terms, ventilate their grievance.

With the aforesaid liberty to the petitioners, the writ petition is disposed of."

7. Against the order dated 2.7.2014 the petitioner no.2 Badruddin Khan has filed a special appeal being Special Appeal No. 686 of 2014, which according to the petitioner is pending.

8. Pursuant to the order dated 28.3.2014 passed by this Court the Regional Level Committee has passed an order dated 29.8.2014 by which it has held that the election was invalid. After the order dated 29.8.2014 passed by the Regional Legal Committee the DIOS has sent a letter dated 13.10.2014 to the petitioners to provide the attested list of general body. In pursuance thereto the petitioner no.2 has submitted an application dated 18.10.2014 before the Assistant Registrar for providing the attested list of general body. Fresh request was also made by the petitioner no.2. However another writ petition no.64098 of 2014 (The Committee of Management, Lalauli Inter College vs. State of U.P. and others) was filed by the respondent no.4 Sri Zumman Ali, which was finally disposed of on 27.11.2014 by this Court by making the following observations :

"In view of the above, the writ petition is disposed of with the direction upon the respondent No.2 to examine the contents of the letter of the DIOS dated 13th October 2014 and offer requisite assistance in the form of providing records and information which may be required for the purpose of holding of fresh elections. The Assistant Registrar for the purposes may also afford an opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned. The Assistant Registrar will ensure that the aforesaid exercise is carried out within a period of six weeks from the date of production of the certified copy of this order."

9. Based on the order dated 27.11.2014 passed by this Court the Assistant Registrar has passed the order impugned dated 16.1.2015. By the order dated 16.1.2015 the respondent no.2 has approved and attested the list of 275 members. The order dated 16.1.2015 was challenged by means of a writ petition No. 7778 of 2015, which is dismissed vide order dated 30.5.2019. An order was passed by the DIOS dated 1.4.2014 by which he has refused to hold the election on the ground that the writ petition no. 43229 of 2014 is pending. Another Writ Petition No. 3847 of 2015 was filed by the respondent no.4 with a prayer to hold the election of the committee of management and the said writ petition was finally disposed of vide order dated 13.8.2015, by which this Court has directed the DIOS to hold the election in pursuance of the directions issued by the Regional Level Committee. The election therefore are held on the basis of the order passed on 9.9.2015 addressed to the respondent no.4 passed by the DIOS. The respondent no.2 has submitted an application dated 14.9.2015 before the DIOS in compliance of his order dated 9.9.2015 and has sought the election officer and observer. The respondent no.3 has passed and order dated 14.9.2015 appointing the Principal, Audhauli Inter College, Audhali as Observer and Principal of Audhauli Inter College as the Election Officer to conduct the election. The impugned election has been conducted and the election took place according to the schedule declared and the signature of the manager are attested on 30.9.2015 and the proceedings are concluded on 1.10.2015 in which the signature of respondent no.4 Zumman Ali are attested and the same has been approved.

10. From the perusal of the above details mentioned it is crystal clear that there is a factual disputes about the number of members of committee of management. The petitioner claims certain number of members to be genuine and on the other hand the respondent no.4 claims the different number of members. For holding the election, within a period of two years 5/6 writ petitions are filed by either of the parties in which certain directions are issued, whereas from the pleadings of the present writ petition as well as connected writ petition being Writ Petition Nos. 60856 of 2015 and 10636 of 2015, it is crystal clear that the dispute involved in all the writ petitions are about the number of members of the committee of management. This Court has no reason to keep the matter pending and to decide the correctness of the claim of either of the parties particularly, with respect of membership of the committee of management. This kind of dispute is purely factual disputes, which cannot at all be considered or decided by a writ Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

11. In view of the aforesaid, the writ petition is dismissed. The connected writ petition are also dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1632

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 09.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJESH SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Service Single No.-23276 of 2019

Salil Kumar Samaiya ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, Renu Misra.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law - Suspension - of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999; Rule 4(1) - petitioner who is a Junior Engineer was suspended pursuant to the directions issued by the State Government, who was not the appointing authority

It is a trite law that suspension order can be passed only by the appointing authority on his own accord and not on the behest of some higher authority (Para 11)

Writ Petition allowed (E-10)

Cases Referred:-

1. The Purtabpore Co. Ltd. Vs Cane Commissioner of Bihar & 7 ors (1969) (1) SCC 308

2. Anirudhsinhji Karansinji Jadeja & anr Vs St of Guj AIR (1995) SC 2390

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

2. By means of this writ petition, the petitioner has impeached the validity of the order of suspension dated 30/31.07.2019 issued by the Director-cum-Chief Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, U.P., Lucknow on the ground that the said order has not been passed strictly in terms of Rule 4 of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999 and the sole charge which has been levelled against the petitioner is misconceived.

3. This Court has passed the order dated 30.08.2019 as under:-

"Heard Sri P.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and notices for the opposite parties have been received by the office of learned CSC.

The case set forth by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner, who is serving on the post of Junior Engineer, has been placed under suspension vide order dated 30.7.2019 passed by the Director-cum- Chief Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, U.P. Lucknow. The aforesaid suspension order has been passed pursuant to the direction being issued by the State Government and the order to that effect has been enclosed as Annexure No.1 to the writ petition, which has been issued on 12.7.2019 by the Special Secretary, Department of Rural Engineering Anubhag-2, Lucknow addressing to the appointing/ disciplinary authority i.e. Director-cum-Chief Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, U.P. Lucknow.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has assailed the suspension order on couple of grounds; firstly, the suspension order has been issued at the behest of the authority of the State Government, which is not disciplinary/ appointing authority of the petitioner inasmuch as the disciplinary/ appointing authority of the petitioner is Director-cum- Chief Engineer, who has passed the suspension order. Learned counsel for the petitioner has referred Rule 4 (1) of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999 (for short "Rules, 1999"), which categorically provides that a Government servant against whose conduct an enquiry is contemplated, or is proceeding may be placed under suspension pending the conclusion of enquiry in the discretion of appointing authority. Therefore, in the present case, it appears that the suspension order has been issued at the behest of the authority, who is not the appointing authority of the petitioner, therefore, the suspension order is in violation of Rule 4 of the Rules, 1999. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Anirudhsinhji Karansinhji Jadeja and another v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1995 SC 2390, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court, vide para-11 of the order, has categorically observed that if a statutory authority has been vested with jurisdiction, he has to exercise it according to its own discretion. If the discretion is exercised under the direction or in compliance with some higher authority's instruction, then it will be a case of failure to exercise discretion altogether.

Secondly, the allegation so levelled in the suspension order is relating to one Sri Devesh Singh, who is said to have alleged against the petitioner that the petitioner has usurped a sum of Rs.1,20,000/- in the name of providing him any suitable appointment under the State Government. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the petitioner has already filed a suit/ criminal case against Sri Devesh Singh and his family for the fact that Sri Devesh Singh and his family has cheated the petitioner in the name of Insurance Policy and the said suit/ criminal case is still pending. As per learned counsel for the petitioner, having malafide intention and ulterior motive, Sri Devesh Singh has moved false complaint against the petitioner and the State Government has directed the appointing authority to place the petitioner under suspension for the said allegation without conducting any fact finding enquiry to that effect. Not only the above, even the disciplinary authority has not only followed the direction of the State Government regarding allegation but also has not conducted any fact finding enquiry so as to ascertain as to how this cheating was committed by the petitioner. It appears that the suspension order has been passed only on the dictate of the authority of the State Government.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has also assailed the suspension order on the ground that the petitioner is presently serving at Jhansi, his enquiry officer is Superintending Engineer, Rural Engineering Department at Kanpur and he has been attached at Balia, therefore, the suspension order is not a simple suspension order but by means of suspension order, the petitioner has been harassed for no cogent reasons.

On being confronted from learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel as to why this suspension order has been passed in violation of Rule 4 of the Rules, 1999 and what are the material/ subjective satisfaction of the disciplinary authority placing the petitioner under suspension and why the petitioner has been attached at Balia, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel has prayed that he may be granted one week's time to seek complete instructions in the matter.

Time prayed for is granted.

List this petition on 9th September, 2019 as fresh.

In the meantime, attachment order of the petitioner at Balia is stayed.

On the next date, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel shall produce the relevant record."

4. In compliance of the aforesaid order, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has produced the entire records before the Court to show the material pursuant to which the petitioner was placed under suspension.

5. I have perused the original record as well as the material available on record.

6. Since the criminal case being filed by the petitioner against Sri Devesh Singh which is pending before the learned criminal court, therefore, if any finding is given by this Court, it would affect the criminal proceeding being pending. I have noted that the criminal court has issued non-bailable warrant against Sri Devesh Singh and as per learned counsel for the petitioner Sri Devesh Singh has yet not appeared before the Court. Further, it is a case where the civil suit is also pending between the parties i.e. the present petitioner and Sri Devesh Singh and others, therefore, any finding of this Court would definitely affect the civil proceeding also. However perusal of the preliminary inquiry report, prima-facie does not reveal that the petitioner has usurped a sum of Rs.1,20,000/- from Sri Devesh Singh in the name of providing him any suitable appointment under the State Government.

7. To the contrary, it appears that some amount has been paid by the petitioner to the family members of Sri Devesh Singh but since this is a subject matter of criminal and civil proceedings, therefore, I refrain myself to give any finding thereon. The factum of cheating etc. cannot be established during departmental proceedings and it is domain of competent criminal court to establish the factum of cheating if any against erring person.

8. So far as the arguments of learned counsel for the petitioner that suspension order has not been passed by the Appointing Authority but the same has been passed at the behest of the State Government, no satisfactory reply could be given by the State-respondents as to how any suspension order could have been passed by the authority who is not the appointing authority. This is trite law that the suspension order can be passed only by the Appointing Authority and it is statutory prescription under Rule 4 (1) of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999 (here-in-after referred to as the "Rules, 1999"), therefore, in both counts the suspension order which has been passed at the behest of the State Government appears to be unwarranted.

9. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in re: The Purtabpore Co., Ltd. vs. Cane Commissioner of Bihar and others reported in 1969 (1) SCC 308 has held that the power can be exercised by the authority with whom the power is vested not by any other authority whether superior or inferior. Relevant paras-12 and 13 of the aforesaid judgment are being reproduced here-in-below:-

"12. The executive officers entrusted with statutory discretions may in some cases be obliged to take into account considerations of public policy and in some context the policy of a Minister or the Government as a whole when it is a relevant factor in weighing the policy but this will not absolve them from their duty to exercise their personal judgment in individual cases unless explicit statutory provision has been made for them to be given binding instructions by a superior.

13. In Commissioner of Police, Bombay v. Gordhandas Bhanji, this Court struck down the order purported to have been passed by the Commissioner of Police in the exercise of his powers under the Bombay Police Act and the rules made thereunder as the order in question was in fact that of the Government. The rule laid down in that decision governs the question under consideration. This Court reiterated that rule in State of Punjab v. Hari Kishan Sharma. There this Court held that the State Government was not justified in assuming jurisdiction which had been conferred on the licensing authority by Section 5 (1) and (2) of the Punjab Cinemas (Regulation) Act. For the reasons mentioned above we hold that the impugned orders are liable to be struck down as they were not made by the prescribed authority."

10. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in re: Anirudhsinhji Karansinjji Jadeja and another vs. State of Gujarat reported in AIR 1995 SC 2390 has held the same and followed the settled principles of law and vide para-11, the following has been observed:-

"11.The case against the appellants originally was registered on 19th March, 1995 under the Arms Act. The DSP did not give any prior approval on his own to record any information about the commission of an offence under TADA. On the contrary, he made a report to the Additional Chief Secretary and asked for permission to proceed under TADA. Why? Was it because he was reluctant to exercise jurisdiction vested in him by the provision of Section 20A (1)? This is a case of power conferred upon one authority being really exercised by another. If a statutory authority has been vested with jurisdiction, he has to exercise it according to its own discretion. If the discretion is exercised under the direction or in compliance with some higher authority's instruction, then it will be a case of failure to exercise discretion altogether. In other words, the discretion vested in the DSP in this case by Section 20A (1) was not exercised by the DSP at all."

11. Considering the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perusing the relevant material available on record as well as the original records, I am of the considered view that the suspension order dated 30.07.2019 has been passed by the Director / Chief Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow but the said suspension order has been passed pursuant to the direction being issued by the State Government inasmuch as vide order dated 12.07.2019, which is contained as Annexure No.1 to the writ petition, the Special Secretary, Department of Rural Engineering, Government of U.P., Lucknow has directed the Director & Chief Engineer i.e. the Appointing Authority to suspend the petitioner and initiate the departmental proceedings against him under Rule 7 of the Rules, 1999. Prima-facie, the Appointing Authority has not invoked its discretion rather followed the direction of the State Government placing the petitioner under suspension. So far as the sole charge levelled against the petitioner regarding usurping a sum of Rs.1,20,000/- from Sri Devesh Singh in the name of providing the government employment is concerned, it may be the subject matter before the competent criminal/ civil court and the factum of cheating may not be established through the departmental proceedings.

12. It is needless to say that if the factum of cheating is established against the petitioner by the competent criminal/ civil courts, the Disciplinary Authority may pass any appropriate order strictly in accordance with law but at this stage it appears that the suspension order is unwarranted.

13. Accordingly, the suspension order dated 30.07.2019/31.07.2019 issued by the Director & Chief Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow, is hereby quashed.

14. It is needless to say that appropriate order may be passed by the department at appropriate stage but strictly in accordance with law.

15. The writ petition is, therefore, allowed.

16. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1637

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 01.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJAN ROY, J.

Misc. Single No. 27414 of 2019

Shailendra Kumar Awasthi ...Petitioner
Versus
Addl. Commissioner Lucknow Mandal Lucknow & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Girish Datt Pandey.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Rajesh Kumar Singh.

U.P. Land Revenue Code, 2006- Sections 35(2)- U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901- Section 210- Against the order passed in the mutation proceedings u/s. 35(1)-Petitioner filed revision u/s. 210 of the Code of 2006-Dismissed on the ground of availability of alternative remedy-appeal u/s. 35(2)-the appellate order-subject matter of revision.
On the other hand, if the original order of mutation u/s. 34 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act 1901-appeal to be filed u/s. 210 of the said Act of 1901-thereafter revision u/s. 219.

Held :- the Court finds that the original order was passed under section 34 of the Act of 1901, to facilitate the ends of justice the appeal filed under section 35(2) of the Code, 2006 in this case would be treated as having been preferred under section 210 and consequent to this judgment, as this Court is inclined to quash the impugned order dated 16.07.2019 the revision filed with reference to section 210 of the Code be treated as revision under section219 of the Act of 1901 shall now be considered and decided accordingly.

Writ Petition Disposed of (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. Heard.

2. The short point involved herein is as to whether a revision would lie under section 210 of the U.P. Land Revenue Code 2006 (hereinafter referred as 'Code 2006') against an appellate order passed under section 35(2) arising out of mutation proceedings or not.

3. The Additional Commissioner has dismissed the revision of the petitioner filed under section 210 of the Code 2006 on the ground that against the original order passed in the mutation proceedings an appeal lies under section 35(2) of the Code 2006, therefore, revision under section 210 of the Code 2006 would not be maintainable in view of the wording of the said provision.

4. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the revisional court has misread and misunderstood the provision contained in section 210. Words used therein "in which no appeal lies" would have to be applied in the context of the appellate order and not the original order and as no appeal lies against the order under section 35(2), therefore, the remedy lies only by way of a revision under section 210. He says that if the interpretation given to the provision contained in section 210 by the Revisional Court is accepted, the revisional provision under section 210 would be rendered otiose.

5. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.4 Sri Rajesh Kumar Singh on being confronted addressed the Court on the merits of the order impugned in the revision, which is not required to be seen by this Court and ultimately submitted that the revision itself be ordered to be decided at the earliest.

6. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and having perused the relevant provisions of law, the Court finds that a revision under section 210 would lie against a proceeding in which no appeal lies, meaning thereby, if, as in this case arising out of original proceedings which were under section 35 of the Code 2006 for mutation where an appeal was preferred under section 35(2) against the original order passed under section 35(1) and the same was dismissed, then, against such appellate order, if no appeal lies, then a revision would be maintainable. Now it is not in dispute that under the Code 2006 no appeal is prescribed against an order passed under section 35(2), therefore, a revision under section 210 of the Code 2006 would be maintainable

7. The Additional Commissioner has clearly misread and misunderstood the provisions contained in section 210 by reading the words "in which no appeal lies" in the context of the original order passed under section 35(1) in mutation proceedings and as an appeal lies against such an order under section 35(2), therefore, he has proceeded to hold that a revision would not lie under section 210 of the Code 2006 which is not a correct understanding of the legal position. The words "in which no appeal lies" would have to be read and applied in the context of the appellate order passed under section 35(2) which would be the subject matter of the revision, and not the original order even if the same is also under challenge, when the revision has been preferred after availing the remedy of appeal under section 35(2), as is the case herein.

8. The legal position with regard to section 210 having been clarified above, the Court finds that the original order of mutation was passed under section 34 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act 1901 and not under section 35 of the Code 2006, therefore, the appeal which may have been filed under section 35(2) of the Code 2006 should have actually been filed under section 210 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act 1901 and thereafter the revision would lie under section 219 of the said Act 1901, therefore, to facilitate the ends of justice the appeal filed under section 35(2) of the Code 2006 in this case would be treated as having been preferred under section 210 of the Act 1901 and consequent to this judgment, as this Court is inclined to quash the impugned order dated 16.7.2019, it is provided that the revision which may have been filed with reference to section 210 of the Code 2006 shall be treated as a revision under section 219 of the Act 1901 and shall now be considered and decided accordingly. This does not change the legal position with regard to the maintainability of the petitioner's revision as even under section 219 of the Act 1901 it would be maintainable in view of the provision contained therein. With these observations the impugned order, Annexure-1 to the writ petition, is quashed. The revision of the petitioner shall be restored to its original number and shall be considered and decided in accordance with law at the earliest say within six months from the date a certified copy of this order is submitted.

9. With the above observations/directions the writ petition is disposed off.

(2019)10ILR A 1639

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 28.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJESH SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Service Single No. 18200 of 2019

Arun Kumar Shukla ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ashwani Kumar.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Amit Singh, Sri Shampurna Nand Shukla, Vishal Tahlani.

A. Service Law - challenging the recommendation of Departmental Promotion Committee for promotion on the post of Chief Engineer - where the criteria for promotion is merit, bench mark for the promotion has to be fixed - no benchmark was fixed - contrary to the law as also the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 - recommendation non est in the eyes of law. (Para 15)

Writ Petition allowed (E-10)

Cases referred:-

1. Naveen Kapoor Vs St of U.P. & ors (2019) 4 AWC 3236

2. Om Prakash Pathak & anr Vs St of U.P. & ors (2019) (4) AWC 3236

3. Santosh Kumar Agnihotri Vs St of U.P. & ors (2018) 6 AWC 6125 (LB)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kapil Dev, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ashwani Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Ran Vijay Singh, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and Sri Shampurna Nand Shukla, learned counsel for opposite party no.3, Sri Amit Singh and Sri Vishal Tahlani, learned counsel for the private opposite party i.e. opposite party no.4.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner has assailed the recommendation of the Departmental Promotion Committee (for short "DPC") given in its meeting held on 11.6.2019 for promotion on the post of Chief Engineer making request that the record of the DPC may be summoned. The petitioner has also assailed the order dated 2.8.2019 passed by opposite party no.1 and the consequential order dated 3.8.2019 passed by opposite party no.3, which are contained in Annexures No.7 & 8 to the writ petition, whereby the private respondent has been promoted on the post of Chief Engineer.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the aforesaid DPC dated 11.6.2019 has given recommendation for promotion on the post of Chief Engineer without fixing any bench mark.

4. This Court vide order dated 23.7.2019 directed for production of the record. The order dated 23.7.2019 is as follows:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner.

As per submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, the promotion has been made without fixing any bench mark, which is not permissible in the eyes of law.

The aforesaid facts may only be verified from the records, therefore, list this petition on 01.08.2019. On the said date, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel shall produce the record in the matter demonstrating the Court as to whether any bench mark has been fixed or not."

5. In compliance of the aforesaid order, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel has produced the relevant record. I have perused the entire relevant record including minutes of meeting of DPC held on 11.6.2019 and found that the submission of learned Senior Advocate is absolutely correct inasmuch as no bench mark has been fixed by the DPC in recommending the promotion on the post of Chief Engineer, therefore it has not proceeded in accordance with law and Government Order dated 20.11.2017 which required the DPC to, first of all, fix/determine/prescribe the bench mark where the criteria for promotion is merit.

6. A pin point query has been put up from the Addl. Chief Standing Counsel as to why bench mark has not been fixed by the Departmental Promotion Committee for recommending the promotion on the post of Chief Engineer, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel has referred so many pages of the original record, which clearly reveals that various orders of this Court has been indicated in the note-sheet and the specific query regarding fixing bench marks has been noted but nothing has been prescribed for fixing the bench mark. Learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel has also submitted that it appears that the bench mark has not been fixed but the recommendation of opposite party no.4 for making promotion on the post of Chief Engineer has been done strictly in accordance with law.

7. Since the legal question, as aforesaid, is being adjudicated, therefore, detailed facts of the case are not being dealt with.

8. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner joined on the post of Assistant Engineer on 7.7.1982 and was promoted on the post of Executive Engineer in the year 2003. Thereafter, he was promoted on the post of Superintending Engineer on 6.4.2016.

9. Since category of the petitioner was downgraded for the years 2009-10, 2012-13, 2013-14, 2014-15 & 2015-16, therefore, the petitioner preferred a representation on 29.7.2016.

10. Vide order dated 1.9.2018, the petitioner was given charge of Chief Engineer on officiating basis without giving salary and other emoluments of that post.

11. On 25.5.2019, the opposite parties prepared an eligibility list of eight persons for promotion on the post of Chief Engineer including the name of the petitioner in which the seniority position of the petitioner on the post of Superintending Engineer has been shown to be at serial no.6, whereas the person placed at serial no.3 had already been superannuated from service and rest of the persons, who were considered for promotion, were juniors to the petitioner.

12. As per learned counsel for the petitioner, the DPC has given its recommendation on 11.6.2019 in favour of opposite party no.4, however opposite party no.4 was junior to the petitioner.

13. The petitioner came to know through reliable sources that the DPC has not fixed any bench mark, therefore, he filed the present writ petition challenging the aforesaid inaction and this Court on the first date of admission i.e. 4.7.2019 has passed the following order:-

"Heard Sri Kapil Deo, learned senior counsel assisted by Sri Ashwani Kumar appearing for the petitioner, learned State counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party nos.1 & 2 and Sri Shampurna Nand Shukla who has put in appearance on behalf of the opposite party no.3.

The opposite parties are granted two weeks to file a detailed counter-affidavit to the contents of the writ petition.

List this case on 23.07.2019 specifically indicating as to whether any bench mark was fixed for the departmental promotional committee for the purposes of promotion on the post of Chief Engineer. The counter-affidavit shall also indicate as to whether the representations submitted by the petitioner in the year 2016 against the entries in his service record have been decided or not prior to holding of the departmental promotional committee."

14. Thereafter, this case was listed on 23.7.2019 and on that date, this Court summoned the record to verify the fact as to whether any bench mark was fixed for the DPC for the purpose of promotion on the post of Chief Engineer. The case was again listed on 1.8.2019 but due to paucity of time, it could not be taken up on that date and next date was fixed for 9.8.2019 and in the meantime, the State Government passed an office memo dated 2.8.2019 promoting the private respondent on the post of Chief Engineer. In compliance of the aforesaid office memo dated 2.8.2019 passed by the State Government, the Housing Commissioner has passed the consequential order on 3.8.2019 promoting/ appointing opposite party no.4 on the post of Chief Engineer subject to the final outcome of the present writ petition. Therefore, the petitioner has assailed both the aforesaid orders dated 2.8.2019 and 3.8.2019 by way of amendment application and the amendment application was allowed and the specific prayer to that effect has been incorporated in the writ petition.

15. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the relevant material available on record, I am of the considered opinion that since the bench mark has not been fixed by the DPC, therefore, recommendation of the DPC dated 11.6.2019 shall vitiate and resultant thereof the promotion order being issued by the State Government on 2.8.2019, which is contained in Annexure No.7 to the writ petition and the consequential order being passed by the Housing Commissioner on 3.8.2019 would not survive.

16. I had occasion to deal the identical matter in re; Naveen Kapoor Vs. State of U.P. and others and other connected matter in re; Om Prakash Pathak and another Vs. State of U.P. and others, decided on 10.5.2019 reported in 2019 (4) AWC 3236, wherein decision of the Division Bench of this Court in re; Santosh Kumar Agnihotri Vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2018 (6) AWC 6125 (LB) has been relied wherein the Division Bench of this Court was pleased to quash the promotion of the persons, who were however promoted on the basis of merit but without fixing/ determining the bench mark. Para-34 in re; Naveen Kapoor (supra) is reproduced herein below:-

"34. This Hon'ble Court in re: Santosh Kumar Agnihotri (supra) has decided more or less the identical issue. In the said issue, the Division Bench of this Court has interpreted the consequence if the bench mark is not fixed by the Selection Committee, therefore, the relevant paragraphs of the aforesaid judgment are being reproduced here-in-below:-

"7. The first question, which needs adjudication, is as to whether the Departmental Promotion Committee which met on 22.01.2018 for making selection for promotion to the post of Director (Agriculture) has followed the procedure prescribed in the relevant Government Orders, namely, the Government Order dated 22.03.1984 and 20.11.2017 which prescribe the procedure to be followed for considering the candidature of eligible candidates for promotion where the criteria for promotion is merit.

11. For the purposes of prescribing the procedure to be followed by the Departmental Promotion Committee for making recommendations for promotion to the next higher post, the State Government has issued Government Order dated 22.03.1984. The said Government Order prescribes the procedure to be followed by the Departmental Promotion Committee where the criteria is seniority subject to rejection of unfit and also where the criteria is merit. According to sub clause 2 of clause 2 of the said Government Order dated 22.03.1984, where the criteria is merit the Departmental Promotion Committee is required to consider all the officers, who are in the eligibility list. It further provides that the criteria of merit means that the most meritorious officer should be selected from amongst the entire eligibility list. It further provides that where the criteria for selection is merit, the entries of the entire service period should be seen, however, special emphasis should be given to the entries of last ten years. It further provides that, on the basis of character rolls/entries of the eligible officers, the candidates should be categorized in three categories, namely, (i) अति उत्तम, (ii) उत्तम and (iii) अनुपयुक्त It also provides that first of all the vacancy should be filled in the order of seniority from amongst the officers categorized in the category of अति उत्तम and thereafter as per the need, rest of the vacancies, if there are any, shall be filled in from amongst the officers categorized as mŸke and thereafter all the officers categorized as अति उत्तम and उत्तम are to be rearranged in the order of seniority, which shall be the seniority list.

12. The State Government has amended para 2(2) of the aforesaid Government Order dated 22.03.1984 by issuing a subsequent Government Order dated 20.11.2017. According to the said Government Order, in terms of the various orders of Hon'ble Supreme Court and other Courts, the Departmental Promotion Committee is free to evolve its own method and procedure and to apply its mind. Clause 3 of the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 clearly states that the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 has been issued for amending the procedure prescribed in Clause 2(2) of the Government Order dated 22.03.1984 in relation to selections based on the criteria of merit. Clause 3 of the said Government Order further provides that all the officers included in the eligibility list are to be considered for promotion and evaluation of merit of all the eligible officers is to be made on the basis of their entries in the last ten years, however, if there is any need, the entries of the entire service career can also be seen. It further provides that the Departmental Promotion Committee shall categorize the eligible officers in two categories, namely, उपयुक्त (fit) and अनुपयुक्त (unfit), after determining a bench mark. The Government Order further provides that those officers, who fulfill the bench mark as determined by the Departmental Promotion Committee shall be included in the select panel, on the basis of their being found fit (उपयुक्ता के आधार पर) and thereafter such officers whose names are included in the select panel are to be rearranged in the order of their inter se seniority in the feeding cadre. It also provides that the order of promotion shall be issued in the order of seniority and further that the officers found उपयुक्त (fit) shall not be superseded. The Government Order further states that the officers, who are found अनुपयुक्त (unfit) shall not be included in the select panel.

14. What, thus, we find from a bare perusal of the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 is that once the proposal for making promotion is placed before the Departmental Promotion Committee, the first act which the Departmental Promotion Committee has been mandated by the said Government Order dated 20.11.2017 to perform is to determine/fix/prescribe the bench mark and only thereafter further proceedings are to be drawn by the Departmental Promotion Committee.

15. It has vehemently been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the Departmental Promotion Committee in this case which met on 22.01.2018 did not prescribe/fix/determine the bench mark and proceeded ahead by categorizing the eligible officers into the categories of the officers being fit or unfit. Thus, the submission is that the Departmental Promotion Committee has utterly failed to follow the procedure as mandated by the Government Order dated 20.11.2017.

17. However, it is strange to notice that without determining/fixing/prescribing any bench mark as mandated by the Government Order dated 20.11.2017, the Departmental Promotion Committee categorized the aforesaid four officers into two categories of उपयुक्त (fit) and अनुपयुक्त (unfit). Shri Rajendra Dhar Dwivedi and Shri Sant Ram Kaushal (respondent no.9) were categorized as उपयुक्त (fit) and Shri Santosh Kumar Agnihotri (petitioner) and Shri Prashant Kumar were categorized as अनुपयुक्त (unfit). Thereafter two eligible officers, who were categorized as उपयुक्त (fit) were rearranged in the order of their seniority and name of Shri Rajendra Dhar Dwivedi was put in serial no.1 whereas the name of Shri Sant Ram Kaushal (respondent no.9) was put in at serial no.2.

19. What we notice from a perusal of the minutes of meeting of the Departmental Promotion Committee held on 22.01.2018 is that it clearly did not proceed in accordance with the mandate contained in the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 which required the Departmental Promotion Committee to, first of all, fix/determine/prescribe the bench mark where the criteria for promotion is merit. The Government Order dated 20.11.2017 though is not statutory in nature, however, it has been issued for prescribing the procedure to be followed by the Departmental Promotion Committee, where the criteria for promotion is merit.

20. It is settled law that the Government Order can always be issued to supplement the statutory service rules and accordingly we have no hesitation to hold that the said Government Order dated 20.11.2017 is binding on every Departmental Promotion Committee which needs to be followed mandatorily in an eventuality where the Departmental Promotion Committee considers the eligible candidates for promotion to the higher posts on the basis of criteria of merit.

21. The first issue which this case poses before us to be determined, is thus decided accordingly and we hold that the Departmental Promotion Committee held on 22.01.2018 has clearly departed from the procedure prescribed in the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 though this Government Order is to be followed mandatorily.

22. The Departmental Promotion Committee in this case has not followed the mandate contained in the Government Order dated 20.11.2017 and thus, the procedure adopted by the Departmental Promotion Committee is vitiated and the recommendations thus made by the Departmental Promotion Committee in its meeting held on 22.01.2018 cannot be held to be lawful.

34. Recommendation of the Departmental Promotion Committee made in its meeting held on 22.01.2018 to the extent it recommends promotion of respondent no.9 is hereby quashed. Consequently, the order dated 28.06.2018, whereby the respondent no.9 has been promoted to the post of Director (Agriculture) is also quashed."

(Emphasis supplied).

17. Since no bench mark was fixed by the DPC while giving recommendations in favour of private respondent on 11.6.2019, therefore, those recommendations being non est in the eyes of law are hereby quashed.

18. In view of the above, a writ in the nature of certiorari is issued quashing the office memo dated 2.8.2019 passed by the State Government promoting opposite party no.4 on the post of Chief Engineer, which is contained in Annexure No.7 to the writ petition and the consequential order dated 3.8.2019 passed by the Housing Commissioner, which is contained in Annexure No.8 to the writ petition.

19. A writ in the nature of mandamus is issued commanding the opposite parties to hold another DPC fixing bench mark strictly in accordance with law and before holding the next DPC, representations of the petitioner, which are pending challenging the down gradation of his entries shall be decided by opposite party no.3 within a period of fifteen days from the date of production of certified copy of this order and after taking such decision on the representation of the petitioner, the competent authority may convene a meeting of DPC with promptness, preferably within a period of fifteen days thereafter and appropriate order shall be passed immediately thereafter.

20. Liberty is given to opposite party no.3 i.e. Housing Commissioner, U.P. Housing and Development Board, Lucknow to permit either the private opposite party i.e. opposite party no.4 to discharge the duties and responsibilities of Chief Engineer or he may pass any other order for the interregnum period permitting any suitable person to discharge the duties and responsibilities of the Chief Engineer.

21. In the result, the writ petition succeeds and is accordingly allowed.

22. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1645

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 22.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE YASHWANT VARMA, J.

Writ- C No. 59595 of 2007

Prem Singh & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
Commissioner Agra Division & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Satyendra Kumar Singh, Sri Radhey Shyam Yadav, Sri Suresh Chandra Varma.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri V.K. Singh, Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava.

A. U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reform Act, 1950 - Section 122-B (4-F) - Bhumidhari right - Conferment - Provision not only protect the possession of an agricultural labourer belonging to S.C./S.T. category, but it also confers non-transferable bhumidhari rights - An agricultural labour, otherwise satisfying the requirements of sub-section (4-F) and being eligible, is neither obliged nor can be compelled to obtain a declaration with regard to these rights which are granted and conferred by the statute itself. (Para 8)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. Ramdin Vs Board of Revenue 1994 All LJ 1056.

2. Manorey alias Manohar Vs Board of Revenue (U.P.) & ors. (2003) 5 SCC 521.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel and Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava for the fourth respondent. Despite notices having been issued to the fifth respondent on 02 January 2008, none has appeared on his behalf. In any case and bearing in mind the fact that the fifth respondent was only a complainant, the Court finds no justification to defer final disposal of the instant writ petition on that score.

2. The petitioners belonging to the Scheduled Castes were landless labourers in possession of the plots in question. They claimed the benefits conferred by Section 122-B(4-F) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 ["the Act"] in terms of which it was asserted that since they were in possession on the relevant date they were entitled to be declared as Bhumidhars with non transferable rights. The provisions of Section 122-B(4-F) is in the following terms:-

"Section 122B (4F):- Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing sub-section, where any agricultural labourer belonging to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe is in occupation of any land vested in a Gaon Sabha under section 117 (not being land mentioned in section 132) having occupied it from before May 13, 2007, and the land so occupied together with land, if any, held by him from before the said date as bhumidhar, sirdar or asami, does not exceed 1.26 hectares (3.125 acres), then no action under this section shall be taken by the Land Management Committee or the Collector against such labourer, and he shall be admitted as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights of that land under section 195 and it shall not be necessary for him to institute a suit for declaration of his rights as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights in that land."

(emphasis supplied)

3. It appears that the fifth respondent made a complaint on 22 August 1997 alleging that the petitioners had been extended the benefits of that provision even though they were not entitled. By an ex parte order of 18 November 1998, the SDM cancelled the earlier orders by which the benefits of the aforementioned provision had been extended to the petitioners. While passing the order impugned the SDM placed reliance upon various decisions including that rendered by the Court in Ramdin v. Board of Revenue1 to observe that the provisions of sub-section (4-F) was only confined to protection of possession and could not be viewed as conferring title on the petitioners. It becomes significant to note that apart from a reproduction of the allegations made by the fifth respondent, no other independent findings have been returned by the SDM in respect of the alleged ineligibility of the petitioners to the benefits of Section 122-B(4-F). Although a report of the Lekhpal is alluded to, it becomes pertinent to note that the said report has neither been brought on the record by the respondents nor has any other evidence been filed to establish that the petitioners were not in possession of the land in question on the relevant date or otherwise ineligible to be extended the benefit of that provision.

4. Aggrieved by the ex parte order passed by the SDM, the petitioners preferred separate revisions before the Commissioner who connected the same and transferred to the Additional Commissioner for adjudication. That revision came to be dismissed with the Additional Commissioner holding that if it be the case of the petitioners that the order of 18 November 1998 was ex parte, the only remedy available to them was to approach the concerned SDM and apply for recall. The Additional Commissioner non suited the petitioners also on the ground that they had failed to place on the record a certified copy of the order passed by the SDM.

5. Dealing firstly with the correctness of the view taken by the Additional Commissioner, this Court is constrained to observe that the same clearly rests on reasons which can neither be countenanced nor accorded judicial approval. Notwithstanding the fact that the original order was rendered ex parte, it was legally permissible for the petitioners to either apply for recall/restoration or to assail the order on merits in revision. In the considered view of this Court, both avenues were consequently open to be pursued by the petitioners. The Additional Commissioner in failing to consider the revision on merits has clearly committed not only a manifest illegality but failed to exercise jurisdiction otherwise conferred without justifiable cause.

6. Insofar as the non filing of a certified copy is concerned, before this Court it is conceded by learned Standing Counsel that in revenue proceedings taken before statutory authorities, the records of the subordinate courts are always summoned for the purposes of facilitating a final disposal. Viewed in that light, it is evident that since the original record of proceedings taken before the SDM was present, the need for the petitioners to additionally file a certified copy of that order was clearly obviated. In any case the revision could not have been dismissed on this specious ground since the defect, if at all was curable.

7. That then takes the Court to deal with the order passed by the SDM. Quite apart from the fact that the order was rendered ex parte and without notice to the petitioners, this Court finds itself unable to sustain that order on merits either. As noted above, the SDM placing reliance upon the judgment of this Court rendered in Ramdin has erroneously proceeded to observe and hold that Section 122-B(4-F) does not vest title on landless SC/ST agricultural labourers. It becomes pertinent to note that the decision in Ramdin was specifically noticed by the Supreme Court in Manorey alias Manohar v. Board of Revenue (U.P.) And Others2 and overruled. The decision in Manorey eloquently explains the basic and underlying legislative ethos of Section 122-B(4-F). The Court deems it apposite to extract the following observations as entered by the Supreme Court in Manorey:-

"8. First, the endeavour should be to analyze and identify the nature of the right or protection conferred by sub-section (4-F) of Section 122-B. Sub-sections (1) to (3) and the ancillary provisions upto sub-section (4-E) deal, inter alia, with the procedure for eviction of unauthorized occupants of land vested in Gaon Sabha. Sub-section (4-F) carves out an exception in favour of an agricultural labourer belonging to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe having land below the ceiling of 3.125 acres. Irrespective of the circumstances in which such eligible person occupied the land vested in the Gaon Sabha (other than the land mentioned in Section 132), no action to evict him shall be taken and moreover, he shall be deemed to have been admitted as a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights over the land, provided he satisfies the conditions specified in the sub-section. According to the findings of the Sub-Divisional Officer as well as the Appellate Authority, the appellant does satisfy the conditions. If so, two legal consequences follow. Such occupant of the land shall not be evicted by taking recourse to sub-sections (1) to (3) of Section 122-B. It means that the occupant of the land who satisfies the conditions under sub-section (4-F) is entitled to safeguard his possession as against the Gaon Sabha. The second and more important right which sub-section (4-F) confers on him is that he is endowed with the rights of a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights. The deeming provision has been specifically enacted as a measure of agrarian reform, with a thrust on socio-economic justice. The statutorily conferred right of bhumidhar with non-transferable rights finds its echo in clause (b) of Section 131. Any person who acquires the rights of bhumidhar under or in accordance with the provisions of the Act, is recognized under Section 131 as falling within the class of bhumidhar. The right acquired or accrued under sub-section (4-F) is one such right that falls within the purview of Section 131(b).

9. Thus, sub-section (4-F) of Section 122-B not merely provides a shield to protect the possession as opined by the High Court, but it also confers a positive right of bhumidhar on the occupant of the land satisfying the criteria laid down in that sub-section. Notwithstanding the clear language in which the deeming provision is couched and the ameliorative purpose of the legislation, the learned Single Judge of the High Court had taken the view in *Ramdin V. Board of Revenue (*followed by the same learned Judge in the instant case) that the bhumidhari rights of the occupant contemplated by sub-section (4-F) can only blossom out when there is a specific allotment order by the Land Management Committee under Section 198. According to the High Court, the deeming provision contained in sub-section (4-F) cannot be overstretched to supersede the other provisions in the Act dealing specifically with the creation of the right of bhumidhar. In other words, the view of the High Court was that a person covered by the beneficial provision contained in sub-section (4-F) will have to still go through the process of allotment under Section 198 even though he is not liable for eviction. As a corollary to this view, it was held that the occupant was not entitled to seek correction of revenue records, even if his case falls under sub-section (4-F) of Section 122-B. We hold that the view of the High Court is clearly unsustainable. It amounts to ignoring the effect of a deeming provision enacted with a definite social purpose. When once the deeming provision unequivocally provides for the admission of the person satisfying the requisite criteria laid down in the provision as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights under Section 195, full effect must be given to it. Section 195 lays down that the Land Management Committee, with the previous approval of the Assistant Collector in-charge of the sub-division, shall have the right to admit any person as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights to any vacant land (other than the land falling under Section 132) vested in the Gaon Sabha. Section 198 prescribes "the order of preference in admitting persons to land under Sections 195 and 197". The last part of sub-section (4-F) of Section 122-B confers by a statutory fiction the status of bhumidhar with non-transferable rights on the eligible occupant of the land as if he has been admitted as such under Section 195. In substance and in effect, the deeming provision declares that the statutorily recognized bhumidhar should be as good as a person admitted to bhumidhari rights under Section 195 read with other provisions. In a way, sub-section (4-F) supplements Section 195 by specifically granting the same benefit to a person coming within the protective umbrella of that sub-section. The need to approach the Gaon Sabha under Section 195 read with Section 198 is obviated by the deeming provision contained in sub-section (4-F). We find no warrant to constrict the scope of the deeming provision.

10. That being the legal position, there is no bar against an application being made by the eligible person coming within the four corners of sub-section (4-F) to effect necessary changes in the revenue record. When once the claim of the applicant is accepted, it is the bounden duty of the concerned Revenue Authorities to make necessary entries in revenue records to give effect to the statutory mandate. The obligation to do so arises by necessary implication by reason of the statutory right vested in the person coming within the ambit of sub-section (4-F). The lack of specific provision for making an application under the Act is no ground to dismiss the application as not maintainable. The revenue records should naturally fall in line with the rights statutorily recognized. The Sub-Divisional Officer was therefore within his rights to allow the application and direct the correction of the records. The Board of Revenue and the High Court should not have set aside that order. The fact that the Land Management Committee of Gaon Sabha had created lease hold rights in favour of the respondents herein is of no consequence. Such lease, in the face of the statutory right of the appellant, is non est in the eye of law and is liable to be ignored."

8. On a consideration of the principles so enunciated, it is manifest that sub-section (4-F) not only protects the possession of an agriculturual labourer belonging to the SC/ST category, it also confers non-transferable bhumidhari rights on eligible occupants. It is thus a provision which not only enables the agricultural labourer belonging to the SC/ST category to protect his possession over the land, but to also claim title over the same by virtue of the provisions made in that section. An agriculturual labourer, otherwise satisfying the requirements of sub-section (4-F) and being eligible, is neither obliged nor can be compelled to obtain a declaration with regard to these rights which are granted and conferred by the statute itself. Manorey further commands the revenue authorities to ensure that the revenue records are brought in line and in tune with the rights so conferred in order to give effect to the legislative mandate. The SDM was consequently incorrect in holding that no title stood vested in the petitioners.

9. It would be apposite to reiterate that the SDM also does not allude to any evidence which may have established that the petitioners were not in possession of the land in question on the relevant date or were otherwise ineligible. On an overall conspectus of the aforesaid facts, this Court finds itself unable to sustain the orders impugned.

10. The writ petition is accordingly allowed. The impugned orders dated 18 November 1998 and 31 May 2007 are consequently quashed.

(2019)10ILR A 1649

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 23.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE YASHWANT VARMA, J.

Writ- C No. 18094 of 2004

J.K. Cotton Spg. & Wvg. Mills Co. Ltd. ...Petitioner

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ritvik Upadhya, Sri V.K. Upadhyay

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri P.K. Pandey, Sri Sunita Jhingan

A. Employees State Insurance Act, 1948 - Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985 - S. 32 - Levy of penalty and damages - Provision of the Scheme as sanctioned in terms of Section 32 of SICA would clearly bind and override all other statutes and instruments mandating to the contrary - Sanctioned scheme restrict liability in respect of ESI due to the principal amount only and penal levies is specifically excluded - It absolves the petitioner from liability towards interest and penalties under the Act. (Para 4 & 8)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. Raheja Universal Vs N.R.C. (2012) 4 SCC 148.

2. J.K. Cotton Weaving & Spinning Mills & anr. Vs U.O.I. 1988 SCR (1) 700.

3. ESI Corp. Vs HMT Ltd. (2008) 3 SCC 35.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri V.K. Upadhyay, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Ritvik Upadhya in support of this petition. Although, respondents are duly represented, none has appeared on their behalf even when the matter is taken in the revised call.

2. The petition challenges proceedings initiated by the Employees State Insurance Corporation [hereinafter to be referred to as "the Corporation"] and seeks quashing of a demand dated 2 April 2004. The Corporation has in terms of the impugned demand called upon the petitioner to discharge liabilities towards dues payable under the Employees State Insurance Act, 1948 together with penalty and damages. Sri Upadhyay, learned Senior Counsel, has assailed the demand principally on the ground that the liability of the petitioner under the provisions of the aforementioned Act shall stand governed by the provisions made in a Scheme of Rehabilitation sanctioned by the BIFR in respect of the petitioner. Referring to the provisions made in that Scheme insofar as ESI dues are concerned, Sri Upadhyay has drawn the attention of the Court to the relevant clause of the Sanctioned Scheme which provided that the Corporation would accept liquidation of ESI dues over two years without demanding any interest or penalties thereon. In view of that stipulation in the Sanctioned Scheme, Sri Upadhyay contends that the demand insofar as it places a liability of interest and damages is unsustainable.

3. Insofar as the question of principal dues are concerned, there is no dispute before this Court. Sri Upadhyay has stated that the principal dues have already been paid. That only leaves the Court to consider whether the impugned demand insofar as it levies interest and damages is sustainable.

4. Undisputedly, the Sanctioned Scheme restricts the liability of the petitioner in respect of ESI dues to the principal amount only with interest and penal levies being specifically and unambiguously excluded. The provision of the Scheme as sanctioned in terms of Section 32 of SICA would clearly bind and override all other statutes and instruments mandating to the contrary. This is manifest from the plain language employed in that provision which reads thus: -

"S. 32. Effect of the Act on other laws.- (1) The provisions of this Act and of any rules or schemes made thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law except the provisions of the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 (46 of 1973), and the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (33 of 1976) for the time being in force or in the Memorandum or Articles of Association of an industrial company or in any other instrument having effect by virtue of any law other than this Act....."

(emphasis supplied)

5. Section 32, in unambiguous terms statutorily confers overriding authority to schemes sanctioned under SICA notwithstanding anything inconsistent in any other law. The only statutes which stand saved from the position of preeminence conferred to schemes sanctioned under SICA are the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 and the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976.

6. While the law on this issue is well settled, the Court deems it apposite to only notice two decisions referred to hereinafter. In Raheja Universal Vs. NRC1, the Supreme Court enunciated the legal position as follows: -

"[37] This Court has taken the view in Tata Motors Ltd., (2008) 7 SCC 619 that the Act of 1985 has been enacted to secure the principles specified in Article 359 of the Constitution of India. It seeks to give effect to the larger public interest. It should be given primacy because of its higher public purpose. As the Act of 1985 is a special law and on the principle that a special law will prevail over a general law, it is permissible to contend that even if the provisions contained in Section 22(1) read with Section 32 of the Act, giving overriding effect vis-à-vis the other laws, other than the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 and the Urban Land Ceiling and Regulation Act, 1976 had not been there, the provisions of the general law like the Companies Act, for regulation, incorporation, winding-up etc. of the companies would have still been overridden to the extent of inconsistency. We have already seen that this Court had, in the case of Jay Engineering, taken the view that the Interest on Delayed Payments to Small Scale and Ancillary Industries Undertaking Act, 1993 shall have to give way for enforcement of the provisions of the Act of 1985. In the case of Tata Davy also, the Court took the view that the State Sales Tax Act would have to be read and construed in comity to the provisions of the Act of 1985 which shall have the overriding effect. In the case of Tata Motors Ltd. v. Pharmaceuticals Product of India Ltd., this Court was concerned with the provisions of mismanagement and oppression contained in Sections 391 and 394 of the Companies Act and whether the Company Court will have the jurisdiction to pass orders in preference to the proceedings pending before the Court under the Act of 1985. The Court while holding the primacy of the Act of 1985 held as under:-

"SICA furthermore was enacted to secure the principles specified in Article 39 of the Constitution of India. It seeks to give effect to the larger public interest. It should be given primacy because of its higher public purpose. Section 26 of SICA bars the jurisdiction of the civil Courts.

What scheme should be prepared by the operating agency for revival and rehabilitation of the sick industrial company is within the domain of BIFR. Section 26 not only covers orders passed under SICA but also any matter which BIFR is empowered to determine.

23. The jurisdiction of civil court is, thus, barred in respect of any matter for which the appellate authority or the Board is empowered. The High Court may not be a civil court but its jurisdiction in a case of this nature is limited."

7. A Division Bench of the Court in J.K. Cotton Weaving & Spinning Mills Vs. Union of India2 was called upon to consider the validity of a demand raised by Excise authorities inconsistent with the provisions made in a Sanctioned Scheme. Dealing with that question the Court held: -

"6. A perusal of the said Scheme would show that as per the terms and conditions of the Rehabilitation Scheme it was provided that the respondent-department would grant exemption to the petitioner-company from payment of interest, penalty etc. and accept payment of excise duty finally payable in pending cases over a period of 2 years from the year in which such amount becomes payable.

7. It was contended that in view of the Scheme and the specific provisions contained in Clause 8.04(d), the impugned demand for Rs.6,89,000/- was absolutely illegal and in violation of the specific terms and conditions of the Rehabilitation Scheme.

...

27. The question that now remains for consideration of this Court is that whether the petitioner is liable for payment of interest and penalty as demanded by the impugned notice dated 17-6-2005.

28. As already noticed in Clause 8.04 (d) of the Rehabilitation Scheme dated 12-11-2002 framed by the BIFR, the petitioner is not liable for payment of interest and penalty. Section 22 of the Act clearly provides that once proceedings have been initiated under the Act and an inquiry under Section 16 is pending or any Scheme referred to under Section 17 is under preparation or consideration or a sanctioned Scheme is under implementation then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force no proceeding for the winding up or execution or distress or the like against any of the properties of the industrial undertaking company and no proceedings for recovery of money or for enforcement of any security against the company etc. shall be maintainable.

29. Section 32 of the act further provides that the Schemes made under the Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained any other law except two Acts namely FERA and Urban Land Ceiling Act for the time being in force and Memorandum or Articles of Association of an Industrial Company or in any other instrument having effect by virtue of any other law other than this Act. The Excise Act has not been exempted from the applicability of section 32 of the Act.

...

35. In our opinion, the judgment referred to in the case of Voltas Ltd.(supra) was on its own facts and does not help the respondents inasmuch as in the Scheme under consideration before the Apex Court, there was no express waiver from the statutory liability of payment of interest at the rate of 18%. However, in the case before us the provisions of Clause 8.04(d) of the Rehabilitation Scheme contains an express waiver from payment of interest, penalty etc. and to accept payment of excise duty finally payable in pending cases over a period of 2 years, from the year in which such amount becomes payable.

36. The petitioner having already deposited a sum of Rs.6,89,000/- as 50% part payment for 2004-2005 and having given an undertaking for payment of remaining 50% amount of Rs.689000/- which also was paid on 6-3-2006 (Annexure-SA1 to the supplementary affidavit) the liability towards payment of excise duty had been duly discharged as per the demand notice and the company was not liable for payment of penalty or interest in terms of the specific provisions of the Rehabilitation Scheme."

8. The necessary corollary to the enunciation of the statutory position noticed above would be that the liability of the petitioner insofar as ESI dues are concerned would be governed exclusively by the provisions made in the Sanctioned Scheme in that respect. That Scheme admittedly absolves the petitioner from the liability towards interest and penalties under the Act. That damages are penal in character cannot possibly be doubted in light of the decision of the Supreme Court in ESI Corp. Vs. HMT Ltd.3 where it was held: -

"16. It is a well-known principle of law that a subordinate legislation must conform to the provisions of the legislative Act. Section 85-B of the Act provides for an enabling provision. It does not envisage mandatory levy of damages. It does not also contemplate computation of quantum of damages in the manner prescribed under the Regulations.

17. The statutory liability of the employer is not in dispute. An employee being required to be compulsorily insured, the employer is bound to make his part of the contribution. An employee is also bound to make his contribution under the Act. But the same does not mean that levy of damages in all situations would be imperative.

18. Section 85-B of the Act uses the words "may recover". Levy of damages thereunder is by way of penalty. The legislature limited the jurisdiction of the authority to levy penalty i.e. not exceeding the amount of arrears. Regulation 31-C of the Regulations, therefore, in our opinion, must be construed keeping in view the language used in the legislative Act and not dehors the same."

9. In light of the legal position noticed above, the Court is of the considered view that the impugned demand insofar as it places a burden of interest and damages upon the petitioners cannot be sustained.

10. The petition is accordingly allowed. The impugned demand dated 2 April 2004, insofar as it imposes a liability towards payment of interest and damages upon the petitioner shall stand set aside.

(2019)10ILR A 1653

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SIDDHARTHA VARMA, J.

Writ- C No. 4329 of 2019

Manoj Kumar Yadav ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri M.S. Chauhan.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Ramesh Chandra Upadhyay.

A. Fair price shop licence - Cancellation - Charges should be clear - If charges is vague then inquiry itself becomes vitiated. (Para 5)

B. Relevancy of charges - Charges not only make the noticee clear about his reply, which he has to give but the notice should also be absolutely clear as to what would be the result of the inquiry if it went against him. (Para 5)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. Anant R. Kulkarni Vs Y.P. Education Society & ors. (2013) 6 SCC 515.

2. Gorkha Security Services Vs Govt. (NCT of Delhi) & ors. (2014) 9 SCC 105.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.)

1. Upon a complaint being made by one Sunil Kumar Maurya on the telephone that the petitioner, who was a Fair Price Shop dealer, had in the month of May 2018 not distributed the essential commodities but had sold them out in the open market, an inspection was made by the Supply Inspector on 26.5.2018. Thereafter on 29.5.2018, the petitioner was served with a show-cause notice and a suspension order. The petitioner replied to the show-cause notice on 11.6.2018. However, when the Sub-Divisional Officer, Bansdeeh, District Ballia on 18.8.2018 cancelled the licence of the petitioner to run the Fair Price Shop which was affirmed by the Appellate Authority by its order dated 12.12.2018, the instant writ petition was filed.

2. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the show-cause notice which was served on the petitioner along with the suspension order did not contain any specific charge. Even though the body of the order indicated that the stock of the petitioner which had to contain 127 bags of wheat and 87 bags of rice, had only 46 bags of wheat and 73 bags of rice but no definite charge was framed. Learned counsel submitted that after the narration of these facts an effort was there to formulate a charge which stated that in the stock of the petitioner 81 bags of wheat were found to be missing. Learned counsel, therefore, submits that the charge appeared to be only with regard to the 81 missing bags of wheat. Learned counsel further submits that despite just one charge, a reply was submitted by the petitioner on 11.6.2018 by which he had stated that in fact there was no bag which was missing from his shop and in fact when the stock of the petitioner's shop was handed over to the shop to which his shop was attached then there was not even a single bag of either wheat or rice which was found to be missing. However, when the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer was passed on 18.8.2018, which ran into nine pages, strangely enough many other charges were looked into including the charge that the card-holders were aggrieved by the distribution which was being made by the petitioner. Learned counsel, therefore, submits that the inquiry itself was vitiated on account of the fact that the charges were vague. He, therefore, relied upon the decisions of the Supreme Court in Anant R. Kulkarni vs. Y.P. Education Society & Ors., (2013) 6 SCC 515 and in Gorkha Security Services vs. Government (NCT of Delhi) & Ors., (2014) 9 SCC 105 wherein it had been held that the charge sheet should be very clear with regard to the charges to which a delinquent was required to give a reply. Since learned counsel read-out a certain portion of paragraph 21 of Gorkha Security Services (supra), the same is being reproduced hereasunder:

"..... The fundamental purpose behind the serving of show-cause notice is to make the noticee understand the precise case set up against him which he has to meet. This would require the statement of imputations detailing out the alleged breaches and defaults he has committed, so that he gets an opportunity to rebut the same. Another requirement, according to us, is the nature of action which is proposed to be taken for such a breach. That should also be stated so that the noticee is able to point out that proposed action is not warranted in the given case, even if the defaults/breaches complained of are not satisfactorily explained. ....."

3. The contention, therefore, of the petitioner was that when the charge was just with regard to the 81 missing bags of wheat then no further charge could have been dealt with while passing the impugned order. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that even the Appellate Authority did not address to the submissions made by the petitioner and, therefore, he prays that the orders impugned be set-aside.

4. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents, however, stated that the charges were so serious that the licence of the petitioner's shop had to be cancelled. He further submits that if the suspension order was perused, it became clear that there were many other charges other than the ones which were enumerated in the order.

5. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel, this Court is of the view that the charges should be very clear. If the charges are vague then the inquiry itself becomes vitiated. Charges should not only make the noticee clear about the reply which he has to give but the noticee should also be absolutely clear as to what would be the result of the inquiry if it went against him. In the instant case, if the suspension/show-cause notice dated 29.5.2018 is perused, it appears that even though stock of both rice and wheat were found to be short, the show-cause notice was only with regard to the missing 81 bags of wheat. Further if the impugned order dated 18.8.2018 passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer is perused, it becomes still further clear that the Sub-Divisional Officer had not confined to the charge which was imposed against the petitioner. The Sub-Divisional Officer had travelled into various other complaints which had probably been there against the petitioner.

6. Under such circumstances, the Court is of the view that when the charge itself was just one in number and that had been replied to by the petitioner then the other charges which could have been gleaned out from the suspension order or from some other record, could not have been taken into account for terminating the licence of the petitioner.

7. In view of the above, the writ petition is, allowed. The order dated 18.8.2018 passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Bansdeeh, District Ballia and the order dated 12.12.2018 passed by the Commissioner, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh are quashed. A further direction is issued to the State Government that they should advise their officers that when they issue show-cause notices then they should enumerate the charges properly. They should not be merged with the details of the complaints and the inspection report. In this regard the State Government may issue a Government Order to all the concerned officials. A copy of this order may be sent to the Secretary (Food & Civil Supplies), Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow through the Registrar General of this Court.

(2019)10ILR A 1656

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 26.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE AJIT KUMAR, J.

Writ- C No. 3835 of 2012

Sunil Singh & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
Kashi & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
S.A. Lari.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Land Revenue Act, 1901 - Section 28 - Correction of map - Necessity of examination of reporting authority - Collector solely relied upon report of Naib Tahsildar, but no recital to the effect that Naib Tahsildar ever appeared and got examined - Mechanism must not only be effective, but also just, fair and objective. (Para 7)

B. Basic rule of procedure - Just, fair and proper procedure - Genuineness of report to be proved - Truly authorities are not the Court of Justice in strict sense of civil court but authorities, who are required to adjudicate any point or issue, it has to apply basic rules of procedure - If a report or an order is placed and relied upon, its genuineness is required to be proved. (Para 8)

C. Rule of Justice - It imbibes within it a mechanism that makes access to Justice not only easy and speedy, but efficacious and authoritatively forceful. (Para 9)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Cases relied on :-

1. Anita Kushwaha Vs Pushp Sudan (2016) 8 SCC 509.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J)

1. List is being revised. Nobody is present on behalf of heirs of respondent no. 1 who have already been brought on record and are represented by one Sri Ram Jatan Yadav, learned Advocate.

2. Learned Standing Counsel is present but he has not filed any counter affidavit on behalf of respondent nos. 2 and 3. Despite time granted for the said purpose, the matter is of the year 2012 and so the Court proceeds to hear and decide the writ petition.

3. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel.

4. The present writ petition arises out of proceeding under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 wherein, the application of the deceased respondent no. 1 for correction of map came to be allowed on the basis of report submitted by the Nayab Tehsildar, Sadar Mau dated 24th February, 2003. The petitioners' revision against the order passed by the Collector has also been dismissed.

5. The sole ground taken in the present petition is that Collector, Mau fell in serious error of law in accepting the report of the Nayab Tehsildar as it is without examining the Nayab Tehsilar who had prepared the report on the spot. The contention is that until the report is duly proved by the person or the authority submitting report the same cannot be led in evidence nor, the authority adjudicating the issue can attribute it with any evidenciary value to be accepted as it is more especially, when the contesting party has raised objection to the report concerned. It is further contended that specific plea was taken as ground no. 5 in the memo of revision before Commissioner that report was not proved and yet Collector proceeded to rely upon the report against which objection was filed by the petitioner and, therefor, the argument is that orders passed by the Collector as well as the Additional Commissioner cannot be sustained in law and deserve to be set aside.

6. Per contra, the argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel is that the orders are justified as no ground seems to be forthcoming that the area assigned to the contesting respondent no. 1 now represented by his heirs became larger than the area prescribed or provided for in the Khatauni. He further submits that these are summary proceedings and the Collector does not act as a Court of law so as to bind him by the intricacies of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. He submits that it is still open for the parties to litigate the matter in common law. He submitted that nobody was found to be in unauthorized possession or excessive area than the area given in the relevant annual register/ Khatauni and thus, he defended the order impugned in the present writ petition for the reasons assigned therein.

7. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, their respective arguments against and for the orders passed by the authorities and have perused the records and having carefully examined the orders passed by the Collector and the Commissioner, I find that the Collector solely relied upon report of Nayab Tehsildar Sadar Mau while allowing the application of the contesting respondent no. 1 for correction of map. The observations that have come in the order passed by the Collector are indicative of the fact that he had himself examined the report and there is no recital to the effect that Nayab Tehsildar concerned had, at any point of time, appeared before the Collector and got himself examine. There is no statement recorded of the Nayab Tehsildar concerned. The Collector has referred to the objection raised by the petitioner but while dealing with objection , he held the report to be just and proper.

8. This Court fails to understand as to when proper objection has been raised to the report, what was the mechanism available to Collector to accept the report as it is . It is admitted fact that Collector did not visit the spot and it is equally admitted fact that the report presented before Collector by Nayab Tehsildar, was in fact not prepared by the Nayab Tehsildar was in fact not prepared in the presence of Collector and therefore, the Collector would not have been party to any such report which is based on hand sketched map. Justice calls for a finding based on appreciation of a document either admitted one to the contesting parties or affirmed by the authority rejecting any objection to it on the basis of statement recorded of such authority or person who had prepared the argument. None of the above to ingredients are found in the order to sustain it. It is true that the authorities are the not the Court of justice in strict sense of civil court but authority who is required to adjudicate any point or issue it has to apply basic rules of procedure. While rule of evidence law may not be strictly adhered to in such matters but basic principle of law would certainly be applied that if a report or an order is placed its genuineness is required to be proved.

9. The rule of justice imbibes within it a mechanism that makes access to justice not only easy and speedy but efficacious and authoritatively forceful. This is for the above reason why adjudicattory mechanism is always required to be well guarded by rules of procedure begetting just and fair play.

10. The Apex Court in the case of Anita Kushwaha v. Pushp Sudan (2016) 8 SCC 509 held: In order that the right of a citizen to access justice is protected, the mechanism so provided must not only be effective but must also be just, fair and objective in its approach; so also the procedure which court, tribunal or authority may adopt for adjudication, must in itself by just and fair and in keeping with the well recognized principles of natural justice.

11. The Additional Commissioner has simply concurred with findings recorded by the Collector without adverting to the points so raised and, therefore, in my opinion the Commissioner also manifestly erred in rejecting the revision petition . For ignoring the prayer for consideration of the documents and legal plea taken in the memo of revision , such order cannot be sustained in law.

10. In view of above, the order passed by the Collector dated 25.11.2008 and of the Commissioner dated 12th March, 2009, Annexures -6 and 7 to the writ petition respectively are hereby quashed. The matter is remitted to the Collector to consider objection afresh regrading report submitted by Nayab Tehsildar on 24th February, 2003. The Collector shall proceed to hear the matter and decide afresh in the light of observations made hereinabove in this order. Entire exercise shall be carried out by the concerned Collector within period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

11. The writ petition is allowed with the aforesaid observations and directions.

(2019)10ILR A 1658

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 13.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANJANI KUMAR MISHRA, J.

Writ- C No. 25710 of 2019

Bahadur Singh & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:

Sri Prem Sagar Verma, Sri Madan Mohan, Sri H.N. Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Amit Kumar Singh, Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava, Sri Rahul Mishra.

A. U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reform Act, 1950 - Section 123C - Allotment - Order of preference - It is clearly different from ambit of Rules 115L & 115M of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reform Rules - Provision of S. 123C (7) has no application to proceeding under Rule 115 P - Impugned orders set aside. (Para 11 & 12)

Held :-

11. The Board of Revenue has wrongly held the revision filed by the petitioner to be not maintainable. It is not in dispute and is conceded by counsel for respondent no. 5 that the proceedings wherefrom the writ petition arises under Rule 115 P. It is also correct that the order of preference provided for allotment under Section 123C of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. and under Rule 115 L and M are clearly different. An allotment made under B/122C can be cancelled, exercising powers conferred by Section 122C(4) which an allotment made under Rule 115L or 115M can be cancelled on a complaint under Rule 115P.

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anjani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Heard Shri H.N. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners and Shri Amit Kumar, learned counsel for respondent no. 5.

2. The instant writ petition arises out of proceedings under Rule 115P instituted by the petitioners for cancellation of an allotment made by the Gaon Sabha in favour of the respondent no. 5 for the purposes of a cottage industry.

3. The resolution of the Gaon Sabha in this regard was approved by the S.D.M. on 23.05.1989.

4. On the cancellation application under Rule 115P being filed by the petitioners, the A.D.M. vide order 29.10.2003 cancelled the allotment. Against this order respondent no. 5 filed review which was dismissed on 09.01.2004. A Second review application was filed on 29.11.2004, which was allowed ex-parte on 27.12.2004. Thereafter, the complaint under Rule 115P has been rejected on 28.01.2005.

5. Against the order rejecting the complaint under Section 115P, the petitioners preferred a revision. The revision was allowed vide order dated 31.08.2006, the order passed on 28.01.2005 was set aside and the original order passed by the A.D.M. on 29.10.2003, cancelling the allotment, was affirmed.

6. Against this order, the petitioner preferred a revision before the Board of Revenue which has been dismissed holding it to be not maintainable by referring to Sub section 7 of Section 122C of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act.

7. The contention of Shri H.N. Singh, learned Senior Advocate is that proceedings wherefrom the proceedings arises under Rule 115P of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Rules and that proceedings under Section 122 C and Rule under 115 P are clearly different. Even the order of preference provided for allotments under Section 123C and Rules 115 L and M are clearly different.

8. Therefore, the Board of Revenue has committed manifest illegality in holding the revision to be not maintainable. No finality could be attached to an order of the trial court in proceedings under Section 115P, by referring to or taking shelter of sub section 7 of Section 123 C of the Act.

9. Counsel appearing for the respondent no. 5 has tried to support the impugned order by submitting that the allotment was in accordance with law and that the initial order of cancellation of the allotment obtained in the year 2003 had been so obtained by misrepresentation of facts. The High Court therefore, in exercise of its equity jurisdiction should not interfere in the matter.

10. I have considered the submission made by counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. I find merit in the submission of counsel for the petitioners that the Board of Revenue has wrongly held the revision filed by the petitioner to be not maintainable. It is not in dispute and is conceded by counsel for respondent no. 5 that the proceedings wherefrom the writ petition arises under Rule 115 P. It is also correct that the order of preference provided for allotment under Section 123C of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. and under Rule 115 L and M are clearly different. An allotment made under B/122C can be cancelled, exercising powers conferred by Section 122C(4) which an allotment made under Rule 115L or 115M can be cancelled on a complaint under Rule 115P.

12. Under the circumstances, therefore the two proceedings cannot be equated to each other and for this reason alone, sub section 7 of section 123C has no application to proceedings under Rule 115 P. For this reason alone, the impugned order cannot be sustained and is hereby set aside.

13. The matter is remanded back to the Board of Revenue to decide the revision on its merits after hearing all concerned.

14. It is also provided that this exercise be completed expeditiously, preferably within a period of three months from the date a certified copy of this order is filed before the Board of Revenue.

15. No costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1660

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 26.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SHASHI KANT GUPTA, J.
HON'BLE PANKAJ BHATIA, J.

Writ- C No. 1438 of 2019

Shanker Shahi ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri V.R. Tiwari

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Devi Prasad Mishra, Sri Arun Kumar

A. Constitution of India - Articles 12 and 226 - Maintainability of Writ - Writ petition against private person, who is not the State within meaning of Article 12, is not maintainable. (Para 11)

B. Urban Planning & Development Act, 1973 - Section 33 - Scope of Writ - No statutory obligation caste upon authority to enforce UP Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act - Relief as claimed in representation cannot be granted by the authority. (Para 9 & 10)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. The petitioner has filed the present petition seeking the following reliefs:

"(1) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent No. 3 to consider and decide the representation/application submitted by petitioner dated 15.12.2008 (Annexure No. 6 to this writ petition), within a time framed period as may be deemed by this Hon'ble Court.

(2) Issue another writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus restraining the authority from allotting the agreed Flat No. 401, 4th Floor, Block-C, Tulsiani Square, Phase-II, Civil Lines, Allahabad, to anybody else during pendency of the claim before the respondent No. 3."

2. The facts, in brief, are that the petitioner entered into an agreement to sell with respondent no. 4 on 20.6.2013 with regard to Flat No. 401, 4th Floor, Block-C, Tulsiani Square, Phase-II, Civil Lines, Allahabad and the petitioner paid a sum of Rs. 32,55,647/- and the balance amount of Rs. 37,44,353/- was to be paid by the petitioner on completion of the flat in question. It is alleged that the respondent no. 4-company has not completed the construction work of the flat within the stipulated time and despite the work not being completed, the respondent-4-company issued a letter dated 30.8.2018 to the Chief Manager, Bank of Baroda for remitting of the balance amount of Rs. 37,00,000/-. The petitioner has made allegations that the fourth respondent is not taking steps for completion of the construction and as such the petitioner made a representation before the respondent no. 3 who has not taken any step thereupon.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that statutory duties are cast upon respondent no. 3 under section 15(9) of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act'). Reliance is also placed upon Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act, 2010 to stress that in terms of the statutory duty cast upon the respondent no. 3, the respondent no. 3 is bound to pass an order and take steps for the reliefs as claimed by the petitioner in its representation dated 15.12.2018. On 14.2.2019, this Court while entertaining the petition had directed the petitioner to serve the respondent no. 4. Supplementary affidavit has been filed stating that the services were effected on the respondent no. 4, however, respondent no. 4 has not put in appearance and no counter affidavit was filed. The respondent no. 3 has filed a short counter affidavit stating that the respondent no. 3 is not empowered to enforce the contractual obligations as prayed by the petitioner. It has been further highlighted that the petitioner should approach the authority under the Real Estate Regulatory Authority Act (in short 'RERA' Act) for redressal of his grievance and have thus argued that the writ petition is not maintainable and is liable to be dismissed.

4. We had confronted with the counsel for the petitioner as to how the writ petition, which is essentially seeking relief against a private respondent, is maintainable.

5. The counsel for the petitioner has vehemently argued that in terms of the provisions of Section 33 of the Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973, the respondent no. 3 is empowered to take action for the relief as claimed by the petitioner. We have perused the representation dated 15.12.2018 (Annexure-6 to the writ petition) given by the petitioner, as prayed, is as under:

"अतः निवेदन करना है कि अपने स्तर से मामले की जॉच कराकर उपरोक्त "मेसर्स तुल्सीयानी डवलपर्स" से प्रार्थी को प्लैट सं० 401, चौथी मंजिल, ब्लाक-सी तुल्सीयानी स्कवैर, द्वितीय फेज, का कब्जा अध्यासन बजरिये पंजीकृत बैनामा दिलाये जाने तथा वर्ष 2013 से प्रार्थी द्वारा प्रतिपक्षी के समक्ष जमा की गयी धनराशी पर 25 प्रतिशत/प्रतिवर्ष, की दर से ब्याज दिलाये जाने की कृपा करें। प्रार्थी समस्त बकाया देयकों का भुगतान दिनां क20.06.2013 को किये गये इकरारनामें की शर्तें के अनुसार प्रतिपक्षी ब्यूल्डर को करने को सदैव तत्पर है और रहेगा। पूर्व में दिये गये प्रार्थना पत्रों की प्रतिलिपि संलग्न है।"

6. Considering the request made by the petitioner before the respondent no. 3 as well as the reliefs claimed in the present writ petition, the first question to be decided is whether the writ petition would be maintainable for the reliefs claimed before this Court. Respondent no. 4, admittedly, is a private builder, under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973, it is obligatory upon the respondent no. 4 to carry out the development of the land after seeking permission of the development authority under Sections 14 and 15 of the Act. The Development Authority in pursuance of the powers conferred under the Act is empowered to see that the development is carried out in terms of the permission given and the plan sanctioned under section 15 of the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has stressed on Section 33 of the Act confers the powers. Section 33 of the Act is quoted here-in-below:

"33. Power of the Authority to provide amenity or carry out development at cost of owner in the event of his default and the levy cess In certain cases.-

(1) If the Authority, after holding a local inquiry or upon report from any of its officers or other information in its possession, is satisfied that any amenity in relation to any land in a development area has not been provided in relation to that land which, in the opinion of the Authority, ought to have been or ought to be provided, or that any development of the land for which permission approval or sanction had been obtained under this Act or under any law, in force before the coming into force of this Act has not been carried out, it may, after affording the owner of the land or the person providing or. responsible for providing the amenity a reasonable opportunity to show cause, by order require him to provide the amenity or carry out the development within such time as may be specified in the order.

(2) If any amenity is not provided or any such development is carried out within the time specified in the order, then the Authority may itself provide the amenity or carry out the development or have provided or carried out through such agency as it deems fit:

Provided that before taking any action under this sub-section, the Authority shall afford a reasonable opportunity to the owner of the land or to the person providing or responsible for providing the, amenity to show cause as to why such action should not be taken.

(3) All expenses incurred by the Authority or the agency employed it in providing the amenity or carrying out the development together with interest at such rate as the State Government may by order fix from, the date when a demand for the expenses is made until payment may be recovered by the Authority from the owner or the person providing or responsible for providing the amenity as arrears of land revenue, and no suit shall lie in the Civil Court for recovery of such expenses.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing sub-section where the Authority on the written representation by so many of the owners of any land in a development area as represent not less than one and half of the area,of that land is satisfied that any amenity in relation to such land has not been provided, which in the opinion of the Authority ought to be provided, or that any development of that land for which permission, approval or sanction had been obtained under this Act or under any law in force before the 2[commencement of this Act] has not been carried out, it may itself provide the amenity or carry out the development or have it provided or carried out such agency as it deems fit, and recover the expenses by levy of cess from all the owners of the said land :

Provided that if the owners making the said representation contend that the amenity had been agreed to be provided or the development had been agreed to be carried out by a coloniser or co-operative housing society through or from whom the land was acquired by them, they shall file with the Authority a copy of such agreement, or of the deed of transfer or of the bye-laws of the society incorporating such agreement, and no action shall be taken by the Authority under this sub-section unless notice has been given to the coloniser of the society, as the case may be, to show cause why such action should not be taken:

Provided further that where the Authority is satisfied that the coloniser or the society has become defunct or is not traceable, no notice under the last preceding proviso need be issued.

1[(4-A) Where the authority provides any amenity in an area developed by it the authority shall, till the responsibility for maintenance is assumed by the local authority as provided in Section 34, be entitled to recover, in the manner prescribed, from the owner of land or building, such charges therefor as may be fixed by the State Government, by a notified order, having regard to the expenses incurred for maintaining and continuing to provide such amenity.]

(5) The cess referred to in Sub-section (4) shall be equivalent to the expenses incurred by the Authority or the agency employed by it in providing the amenity or carrying out the development, together with interest at such rate as the State Government may by order fix, from the date of completion of the work until payment, and shall be assessed land levied on all the owners of the land in proportion to the respective areas of land owned by them.

(6) The said cess shall be payable in such number of installments, and each installment shall be payable at such time and in such manner, as the Authority may fix, any arrear of cess shall be recoverable as arrears be land revenue, and no suit shall lie in the Civil Court for recovery thereof.

The expenses incurred by the Authority or the agency employed by it under this section shall be certified by the Authority; and such certificate as also the assessment of the cess, if any under Sub-section (5) shall be final.

If under any agreement between the owners of the land and the coloniser or the society referred to in Sub-section (4) the responsibility for providing the amenity or carrying out the development rested with such coloniser or society, the cess Payable under the sub-section by the owners shall be recoverable by them from the coloniser or the society, as the case may be."

8. A bare perusal of the Section 33 makes it clear that the power is conferred in relation to amenities which are to be provided with regard to any land in a development area which are provided for in the sanctioned map but not undertaken, in such an eventuality, the Authority under the Act is empowered to ensure that the amenities as sanctioned in the map but not provided by the person responsible for doing so can be compelled to provide the said amenities or in default the Authority itself is empowered to carry out to provide such amenity after giving an opportunity of hearing to the owner of the land in question. The reliefs claimed by the petitioner in his representation are that the developer be directed to give the possession of the flat in question by executing the requisite deeds and for refund of the money deposited by the petitioner along with interest at the rate of 25% even in the present writ petition. The relief claimed relates to Flat No. 401.

9. We are afraid that the reliefs claimed by the petitioner in the representation as well as before this Court do not fall within the scope of powers conferred under Section 33 of the Act. Learned counsel for the petitioner has then relied upon the provision of Section 7 of the Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act, 2010. Statement of objects and reasons of the Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act made it clear that the said Act was framed to provide ownership of an individual apartment in a building and of undivided interest in the common areas and facilities appurtenant to such apartment and to make such apartment heritable and transferable Section 7 of the said Act clearly provides that the individual apartment shall be heritable and transferable together with the undivided interest in the common areas and facilities appurtenant to such apartment. The said Act also provides for the rights and obligations of the apartment owners as well as the duties and liabilities of the promoters. No statutory obligation is cast upon the respondent no. 3 under the said Act for enforcing the provision of Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act.

10. We have perused the Act and see nothing which casts statutory duty on the respondent no. 3 either under the RERA Act or the U.P. Urban Planning & Development Act for grant of relief as claimed by the petitioner in his representation before the respondent no. 3.

11. The writ petition is an attempt to settle a private dispute with the respondent no. 4 under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and the averments made in the writ petition as well as the argument are nothing but a disguised attempt to rope the respondent no. 3 for settlement of a private dispute with the respondent no. 4. It is well settled that a writ petition is not maintainable against a private respondent. The relief claimed in the petition as well as before the respondent no. 3 is essentially a private dispute with the respondent no. 4 who is not the State within the meaning of Article 12. Thus, the writ petition is not maintainable for the reliefs claimed and is, accordingly, dismissed.

12. The petitioner may avail of such remedy as may be available to him before any other adjudicatory forum.

13. The petition is dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1665

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 31.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 60572 of 2011

M/s Triveni Engineering & Industries Ltd. ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri S.D. Singh, Sri Diptiman Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Anoop Trivedi, Sri Ram Prakash.

A. Labour law - Sugar Factories Standing Order notified under Section 3 (b) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 - Clause K - Claim of Re-employment - To claim Re-employment as a seasonal workman the factum of having worked for whole of second half of last preceding season is necessary. (Para 36)

B. Labour law - Sugar Factories Standing Order - Clause A5 - Meaning of expression "season" - Expression "season" means the period commencing from the date when the crushing commences till the date when the crushing ends. (Para 14)

Held –

14. ... The conditions of service of workmen engaged in the petitioner's sugar unit are governed in terms of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders notified under Section 3 (b) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Clause A5 of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders defines the expression "season" as meaning the period commencing from the date when the crushing commences till the date when the crushing ends. The classification of workmen is provided for under Clause B which includes seasonal workmen as one of its categories and the expression "seasonal workman" has been defined under Clause B (II).

C. Rule of Evidence - Burden of proof - It is the legal obligation on a party to prove allegation made by him - Principle is associated with maxim 'Semper necessitas probandi incumbit ei qui agit' which means the burden of proof is on the claimant - Held, Burden of proof is clearly on the workman to establish his entitlement. (Para 32 & 39)

Held :-
39. The burden of proof in this regard is clearly on the workman in order to establish his entitlement to be reengaged during the succeeding crushing season. In the present case no evidence having been led by the respondent workman to discharge the burden of proof in this regard, the finding returned by the Labour Court cannot be supported.

D. Rule of Evidence - Distinction between Burden of proof and Onus of proof - Burden of proof lies upon person who has to prove a fact and it never shifts, however shifting of onus of proof is a continuous process. (Para 33)

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. Range Forest Officer Vs S.T. Hadimani (2002) 3 SCC 25.

2. Raj. St. Ganganagar Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs St. of Raj. & ors. (2004) 8 SCC 161.

3. Municipal Corp. Faridabad Vs Siri Niwas (2004) 8 SCC 195.

4. M.P. Electricity Board Vs Hariram (2004) 8 SCC 246.

5. Manager, R.B.I. Bangalore Vs S. Mani & ors. (2005) 5 SCC 100.

6. Surendranagar District Panchayat Vs Dahyabhai Amarsingh (2005) 8 SCC 750.

7. R.M. Yellatti Vs Assistant Executive Engineer (2006) 1 SCC 106.

8. Ranip Nagar Palika Vs Babuji Gabhaji Thakore & ors. (2007) 13 SCC 343.

9. Sub Divisional Engineer Irrigation Project Yavatmal Vs Sarant Marotrao Gurnule 2009 (120) FLR 114.

10. Haridwar Vs Smt. Kulwant 2013 (6) ADJ 485.

11. Rangammal Vs Kuppuswami & ors. (2011) 12 SCC 220.

12. A. Raghavamma & ors. Vs A. Chenchamma & ors. AIR 1964 SC 136.

13. Batala Cooperative Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs Sowaran Singh (2005) 8 SCC 481.

14. M/s Triveni Engineering and Industries Ltd. Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (Writ Petition No. 60160 of 2005, decided on 4.3.2008).

15. U.P. St. Sugar Corp. Ltd. Vs Niraj Kumar & ors. (2009) 14 SCC 712.

16. Kisan Sahakari Chini Mills. Ltd. & ors. Vs Awadesh Singh & ors. 1993 (67) FLR 602.

Cases referred:-

1. Morinda Cooperative Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs Ram Kishan & ors. (1995) 5 SCC 653

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Diptiman Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ram Prakash Pandey, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 3.

2. The present petition seeks to challenge the award of the Labour Court U.P. Saharanpur dated 30.3.2011 passed in Adjudication Case No. 14 of 2006 in the matter of M/s Triveni Engineering and Industries Limited (Sugar Unit) Khatauli and Sant Ram in terms of which the Labour Court has granted the relief of reinstatement to the respondent-workman on the post of Seasonal Weighment Clerk with continuity of service from the season 2004-05 onwards with full back wages and consequential reliefs.

3. Briefly stated the facts of the case are as follows :-

4. Upon an industrial dispute having been raised by the respondent no. 3-workman, the State Government, on 31.12.2005, made a reference under Section 4-K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (in short 'the Act') which was registered as Adjudication

Case No. 14 of 2006 by the Labour Court U.P. Saharanpur. The question which was referred for adjudication is as follows :-

"क्या सेवायोजक द्वारा अपने कर्मचारी श्री संतराम पुत्र श्री कालीचरण, सीजनल कर्मचारी की सेवायें सीजन वर्ष २००४-०५ के प्रारम्भ से समाप्त किया जाना उचित एवं वैधानिक है। यदि नहीं तो सम्बंधित कर्मचारी क्या हितलाभ/ अनुतोष पाने का अधिकारी है एवं अन्य किस विवरण सहित?"

5. In support of his case, the respondent no. 3-workman filed his written statement on 25.5.2006 claiming that he had been appointed as Seasonal Weighment Clerk in the petitioner establishment during the crushing season 1999-2000. He claimed that he had been called for work by written intimation sent by post by the petitioner establishment upto the season 2003-2004; however he was denied work from the season 2004-2005.

6. The petitioner also filed his written statement on the same date stating therein that the respondent-workman had never been engaged by the petitioner establishment in any capacity during any crushing season. An alternative plea was also taken that the respondent-workman may have been engaged by a registered contractor namely M/s Pilania Security and Allied Services, Ghaziabad as per the terms of the Contract Labour (Regulation & Abolition) Act, 1970. The petitioner pleaded lack of master-servant relationship between the petitioner establishment and respondent no. 3.

7. Rejoinder statements were filed by both the respondent-workman and the petitioner reiterating their assertions made in the written statements. No documentary evidence was filed by the respondent-workman in support of his claim.

8. The respondent-workman appeared as a witness and recorded his statement before the Labour Court on 10.7.2008 and 26.3.2009. In his oral testimony it was stated by him that he had been called for work from the season 1999-2000 upto the season 2003-2004 and from the season 2004-2005 he was not called for work. In his cross-examination it was stated that he had not retained copies of the forms which had been filled by him when he had been called for the seasonal engagement.

9. On behalf of the petitioner establishment, the Time Keeper, appeared before the Labour Court and in his oral testimony it was stated by him that the respondent-workman had never worked for the petitioner-establishment as a seasonal employee. It was further stated by him that in support of the aforesaid assertion he had brought with him the original records pertaining to the payments made by the petitioner-establishment during the season 1999-2000 and thereafter from 2002-2004, and he had also brought with him the pay register containing the details of payment of the retaining allowance. The employer's witness also proved the documents (Ex.1) which had been filed by the petitioner establishment along with the list of documents (List 11-B1) containing the details of the workers engaged by M/s Pilania Secruity and Allied Services Private Ltd. which included the name of the respondent-workman Sant Ram at serial no. 54.

10. Contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that the respondent-workman did not adduce any evidence nor did he discharge the burden to prove the existence of master- servant relationship with the petitioner establishment. On the contrary the petitioner establishment had adduced documentary evidence in the form of pay register, attendance register and also documents of the registered contractor M/s Pilania Secruity and Allied Services Private Ltd. to establish the non-existence of master-servant relationship between the petitioner establishment and the respondent-workman. It is submitted that from the documentary and oral evidence adduced by the petitioner establishment it was proved that the respondent-workman was never engaged by the petitioner in any capacity during any season. It was further submitted that the burden of proving the master-servant relationship was on the workman which he failed to discharge and that the burden of proof could not have been placed on the petitioner establishment in this regard. It is stated that the petitioner is a sugar manufacturing unit engaged in manufacture of crystal sugar through vacuum pan process and the conditions of service of its workmen are governed in terms of the 'Standing Orders Covering the Conditions of Employment of Workmen in Vacuum Pan Sugar Factories in Uttar Pradesh' (hereinafter referred to as 'the Sugar Factories Standing Orders') which have been notified under Section 3(b) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. It is stated that the respondent-workman neither pleaded nor adduced any evidence to eastablish that he had ever become entitled to payment of retaining allowance as per the terms of 'U.P. Payment of Retaining Allowances To Unskilled Seasonal Workmen of Sugar Factories Order, 1972'.

11. Reliance is placed upon the judgments in the case of Batala Cooperative Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs. Sowaran Singh1, Morinda Cooperative Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs. Ram Kishan and others2, and U.P. State Sugar Corporation Ltd. Vs. Niraj Kumar and others3.

12. Counsel appearing for the respondent-workman has tried to support the award of the Labour Court by asserting that the respondent had worked from the crushing season 1999-2000 upto the season 2003-2004 and he was illegally not called for work for the season 2004-2005. It is submitted that since the relevant documents pertaining to his working in the seasonal establishment were not available with him and the said documents having not been produced by the petitioner-establishment the Labour Court has rightly drawn an adverse inference and made the award in favour of the workman.

13. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

14. The records of the case indicate that the petitioner is a sugar manufacturing unit of M/s Triveni Engineering and Industries Ltd., Khatauli, Saharanpur (a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956). The Sugar Unit is situate at Khatauli, Saharanpur and is engaged in the manufacture of crystal sugar through vaccum pan process. The conditions of service of workmen engaged in the petitioner's sugar unit are governed in terms of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders notified under Section 3 (b) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Clause A-5 of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders defines the expression "season" as meaning the period commencing from the date when the crushing commences till the date when the crushing ends. The classification of workmen is provided for under Clause-B which includes seasonal workmen as one of its categories and the expression "seasonal workman" has been defined under Clause B (II).

15. For ease of reference the relevant provisions of the aforementioned Sugar Factories Standing Orders are being extracted below :-

"5. "Season" means the period commencing from the date when the crushing commences till the date when crushing ends. Provided that for these departments which are not in operation when crushing begins and which continue in operation after crushing ends, the "season" so far as it affects the workmen in those departments, shall commence with the date the department commences operation and shall end when the department ceases to be operated.

xxxxxx

(II) A "seasonal workman" is one who is engaged only for the crushing season:

Provided that if he is retainer, he shall be liable to be called on duty at any time in the off-season and if he refuse to join or does not join, he shall lose his lien as well as his retaining allowance. However, if he submits a satisfactory explanation of his not joining duty, he shall only lose his retaining allowance for the period of his absence.

xxxxxx

2 (c)(ii) Every seasonal workman will be given a ticket as in Form "E".

xxxxxx

K. Special conditions governing employment of seasonal workmen-

1. A seasonal workman who has worked or, but for illness or any other unavoidable cause, would have worked under a factory during the whole of the second half of the last preceding season will be employed by the factory in the current season.

Explanation - Unauthorised absence during the second half of the last preceding season of a workman has not been validly dismissed under these Standing Orders and of a workman who has been re- employed by the management in the current season, shall be deemed to have been condoned by the management."

16. Clause B-2 (c) (ii) of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders provides that every seasonal workman is to be given a ticket in Form-E. The payment of retaining allowance including the eligibility of payment of the said allowance is provided for under the 'U.P. Payment of Retaining Allowances To Unskilled Seasonal Workmen of Sugar Factories Order, 1972'.

17. In the case at hand, in order to answer the reference with regard to the claim raised by the workman in respect of the termination of his services as a seasonal workman from the commencement of the season 2004-2005, the Labour Court framed an issue with regard to the existence of master-servant relationship between the petitioner establishment and the workman. In support of his claim with regard to his working as 'Seasonal Taul Lipik' from the crushing season 1999-2000 upto the season 2003-2004 the workman apart from the assertions made in his written statement did not produce any documentary evidence to support his case. In his oral statement the respondent-workman specifically admitted to having no documentary evidence to support the claim of his working in a seasonal capacity with the petitioner establishment.

18. On behalf of the petitioner the Time Keeper of the Sugar Unit appeared as the employer's witness and categorically asserted that the respondent-workman had never worked in any capacity with the petitioner establishment and to support the said assertion he had brought with him the original records in the form of pay register and retaining allowanceregister for the period from crushing season 1999-2000 upto the season 2003-04. The said witness also proved the documents (Ex.1) which had been filed along with list of documents (List 11-B1) which demonstrated that the name of the respondent-workman found mention in the list of workers engaged by the contractor M/s Pilania Security and Allied Services, Private Ltd. The monthly statement of provident fund contribution pertaining to the aforementioned contractor for the month of March 2004 showing the name of respondent workman was also filed by the petitioner establishment along with its list of documents in order to prove that the respondent was working with the said contractor.

19. The claim raised by the respondent-workman with regard to the termination of his engagement from the season 2004-2005 rested upon the claim of his continuous engagement as a seasonal workman from the season 1999-2000 to the season 2003-04 and the burden of proof in this regard was clearly on the workman. In the present case admittedly the respondent-workman did not adduce any documentary evidence in support of his claim of seasonal engagement and despite the fact that the employer witness had categorically denied the factum of working of the respondent in any capacity and had also brought with him the original records including the pay register and the retaining allowance register to support the case of the employer the Labour Court proceeded to draw an adverse inference against the petitioner- employers.

20. The law with regard to the burden of proof for establishing employer-employee relationship is fairly well settled and it has been consistently held that person who sets up the plea of the existence of employer-employee relationship the burden of proof would clearly be upon the said person.

21. In the case of Range Forest Officer vs. S.T.Hadimani4, where a claim had been made by the workman regarding working for more than 240 days, it was held that the onus to prove the said fact was on the workman. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"2. In the instant case, dispute was referred to the Labour Court that the respondent had worked for 240 days and his service had been terminated without paying him any retrenchment compensation. The appellant herein did not accept this and contended that the respondent had not worked for 240 days. The Tribunal vide its award dated 10th August, 1998, came to the conclusion that the service had been terminated without giving retrenchment compensation. In arriving at the conclusion that the respondent had worked for 240 days, the Tribunal stated that the burden was on the management to show that there was justification in termination of the service and that the affidavit of the workman was sufficient to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a year.

3. For the view we are taking, it is not necessary to go into the question as to whether the appellant is an "industry" or not, though reliance is placed on the decision of this Court in State of Gujarat v. Pratam Singh Narsinh Parmar, (2001) 9 SCC 713. In our opinion the Tribunal was not right in placing the onus on the management without first determining on the basis of cogent evidence that the respondent had worked for more than 240 days in the year preceding his termination. It was the case of the claimant that he had so worked but this claim was denied by the appellant. It was then for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had in fact worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. Filing of an affidavit is only his own statement in his favour and that cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any Court or Tribunal to come to the conclusion that a workman had, in fact, worked for 240 days in a year. No proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days or order or record of appointment or engagement for this period was produced by the workman. On this ground alone, the award is liable to be set aside. However, Mr. Hegde appearing for the Department states that the State is really interested in getting the law settled and the respondent will be given an employment on compassionate grounds on the same terms as he was allegedly engaged prior to his termination, within two months from today."

22. The aforementioned legal position was reiterated in the case of Rajasthan State Ganganagar Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs. State of Rajasthan and another5, wherein it was held as follows :-

"6.It was the case of the workman that he had worked for more than 240 days in the year concerned. This claim was denied by the appellant. It was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had in fact worked up to 240 days in the year preceding his termination. He has filed an affidavit. It is only his own statement which is in his favour and that cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that in fact the claimant had worked for 240 days in a year. These aspects were highlighted in Range Forest Officerv.S.T. Hadimani[(2002) 3 SCC 25 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 367] . No proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days or order or record in that regard was produced. Mere non-production of the muster roll for a particular period was not sufficient for the Labour Court to hold that the workman had worked for 240 days as claimed. Even if that period is taken into account with the period as stated in the affidavit filed by the employer, the requirement prima facie does not appear to be fulfilled. The following period of engagement which was accepted was 6 days in July 1991, 15-1/2 days in November 1991, 15-1/2 days in January 1992, 24 days in February 1992, 20-1/2 days in March 1992, 25 days in April 1992, 25 days in May 1992, 7-1/2 days in June 1992 and 5-1/2 days in July 1992. The Labour Court demanded production of muster roll for the period of 17-6-1991 to 12-11-1991. It included this period for which the muster roll was not produced and came to the conclusion that the workman had worked for more than 240 days without indicating as to the period to which period these 240 days were referable."

23. Again in the case of Municipal Corporation Faridabad Vs. Siri Niwas6, it was held that the burden was on the workman to prove that he had worked for more than 240 days in the preceding one year prior to his retrenchment and the workman having not adduced any evidence with regard to the same the claim raised by him could not be allowed only on the basis of adverse inference drawn against the employer for not producing the muster rolls. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"13. The provisions of the Indian Evidence Act per se are not applicable in an industrial adjudication. The general principles of it are, however applicable. It is also imperative for the Industrial Tribunal to see that the principles of natural justice are complied with. The burden of proof was on the respondent herein to show that he had worked for 240 days in preceding twelve months prior to his alleged retrenchment. In terms of Section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, an order retrenching a workman would not be effective unless the conditions precedent therefore are satisfied. Section 25F postulates the following conditions to be fulfilled by employer for effecting a valid retrenchment :

(i) one month's notice in writing indicating the reasons for retrenchment or wages in lieu thereof;

(ii) payment of compensation equivalent to fifteen days, average pay for every completed year of continuous service or any part thereof in excess of six months.

14. For the said purpose it is necessary to notice the definition of 'Continuous Service' as contained in Section 25B of the Act. In terms of Sub-section (2) of Section 25B that if a workman during a period of twelve calendar months preceding the date with reference to which calculation is to be made, has actually worked under the employer 240 days within a period of one year, he will be deemed to be in continuous service. By reason of the said provision, thus, a legal fiction is created. The retrenchment of the respondent took place on 17.5.1995. For the purpose of calculating as to whether he had worked for a period of 240 days within one year or not, it was, therefore, necessary for the Tribunal to arrive at a finding of fact that during the period between 5.8.1994 to 16.5.1995 he had worked for a period of more than 240 days. As noticed hereinbefore, the burden of proof was on the workman. From the Award it does not appear that the workman adduced any evidence whatsoever in support of his contention that he complied with the requirements of Section 25B of the Industrial Disputes Act. Apart from examining himself in support of his contention he did not produce or call for any document from the office of the Appellant herein including the muster rolls. It is improbable that a person working in a Local Authority would not be in possession of any documentary evidence to support his claim before the Tribunal. Apart from muster rolls he could have shown the terms and conditions of his offer of appointment and the remuneration received by him for working during the aforementioned period. He even did not examine any other witness in support of his case.

15. A Court of Law even in a case where provisions of the Indian Evidence Act apply, may presume or may not presume that if a party despite possession of the best evidence had not produced the same, it would have gone against his contentions. The matter, however, would be different where despite direction by a court the evidence is withheld.

Presumption as to adverse inference for non-production of evidence is always optional and one of the factors which is required to be taken into consideration in the background of facts involved in the lis. The presumption, thus, is not obligatory because notwithstanding the intentional non-production, other circumstances may exist upon which such intentional non-production may be found to be justifiable on some reasonable grounds. In the instant case, the Industrial Tribunal did not draw any adverse inference against the Appellant. It was within its jurisdiction to do so particularly having regard to the nature of the evidence adduced by the Respondent.

16. No reason has been assigned by the High Court as to why the exercise of discretional jurisdiction of the Tribunal was bad in law. In a case of this nature, it is trite, the High Court exercising the power of judicial review, would not interfere with the discretion of a Tribunal unless the same is found to be illegal or irrational.

xxxxxxxx

19. Further more a party in order to get benefit of the provisions contained in Section 114(f) of the Indian Evidence Act must place some evidence in support of his case. Here the Respondent failed to do so.

xxxxxxx

21.....The High Court, therefore, proceeded to pass the impugned judgment only on the basis of the materials relied on by the parties before the Tribunal. The High Court, in our opinion, committed a manifest error in setting aside the award of the Tribunal only on the basis of adverse inference drawn against the Appellant for not producing the muster rolls."

24. The aforementioned position of law was restated in the case of M.P.Electricity Board Vs. Hariram7, in the following terms :-

"11.The above burden having not been discharged and the Labour Court having held so, in our opinion, the Industrial Court and the High Court erred in basing an order of reinstatement solely on an adverse inference drawn erroneously. At this stage it may be useful to refer to a judgment of this Court in the case ofMunicipal Corpn., Faridabadv.Siri Niwas[(2004) 8 SCC 195 : JT (2004) 7 SC 248] wherein this Court disagreed with the High Court's view of drawing an adverse inference in regard to the non-production of certain relevant documents."

25. The question of onus of proof regarding the factum of working was again considered in the case of Manager, Reserve Bank of India Bangalore Vs. S.Mani and others8 and it was held that initial burden of proof is always on the workman to prove his working and that the onus of proof does not shift to the employer nor is the burden of proof on the workman discharged merely because the employer fails to prove a defence. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"28.The initial burden of proof was on the workmen to show that they had completed 240 days of service. The Tribunal did not consider the question from that angle. It held that the burden of proof was upon the appellant on the premise that they have failed to prove their plea of abandonment of service"

xxxxxxx

"35.Only because the appellant failed to prove its plea of abandonment of service by the respondents, the same in law cannot be taken to be a circumstance that the respondents have proved their case."

26. The question of onus of proof and the evidence to be led again came up in the case of Surendranagar District Panchayat vs. Dahyabhai Amarsinh9, and it was held that the burden to prove his working lies on the workman and it is for him to adduce evidence to prove the said factum and in a case if the evidence with regard to the same has not been led by the workman it would be held that he has failed to discharge the burden. It was only in a case where sufficient evidence was led by the workman that the Court could have drawn adverse inference against the other party. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"18.In the light of the aforesaid, it was necessary for the workman to produce the relevant material to prove that he had actually worked with the employer for not less than 240 days during the period of twelve calendar months preceding the date of termination. What we find is that apart from the oral evidence the workman has not produced any evidence to prove the fact that he has worked for 240 days. No proof of receipt of salary or wages or any record or order in that regard was produced; no co-worker was examined; muster roll produced by the employer has not been contradicted. It is improbable that the workman who claimed to have worked with the appellant for such a long period would not possess any documentary evidence to prove nature of his engagement and the period of work he had undertaken with his employer. Therefore, we are of the opinion that the workman has failed to discharge his burden that he was in employment for 240 days during the preceding 12 months of the date of termination of his service. The courts below have wrongly drawn an adverse inference for non-production of the record of the workman for ten years. The scope of enquiry before the Labour Court was confined to only 12 months preceding the date of termination to decide the question of continuation of service for the purpose of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act. The workman has never contended that he was regularly employed in the Panchayat for one year to claim the uninterrupted period of service as required under Section 25-B(1) of the Act. In the facts and situation and in the light of the law on the subject, we find that the respondent workman is not entitled to the protection or compliance with Section 25-F of the Act before his service was terminated by the employer. As regards non-compliance with Sections 25-G and 25-H suffice it to say that witness Vinod Misra examined by the appellant has stated that no seniority list was maintained by the department of daily-wagers. In the absence of regular employment of the workmen, the appellant was not expected to maintain seniority list of the employees engaged on daily wages and in the absence of any proof by the respondent regarding existence of the seniority list and his so-called seniority, no relief could be given to him for non-compliance with provisions of the Act. The courts could have drawn adverse inference against the appellant only when seniority list was proved to be in existence and then not produced before the court. In order to entitle the court to draw inference unfavourable to the party, the court must be satisfied that evidence is in existence and could have been proved".

27. The question of burden of proof yet again came up for consideration in the case of R.M.Yellatti Vs. Assistant Executive Engineer10, wherein it was reiterated that burden of proof lies on the workman and it is for him to adduce cogent evidence, both oral and documentary, and mere non-production of muster rolls per se will not be a ground to draw an adverse inference against the employer. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"12.Now coming to the question of burden of proof as to the completion of 240 days of continuous work in a year, the law is well settled. InManager, Reserve Bank of Indiav.S. Mani[(2005) 5 SCC 100 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 609] the workmen raised a contention of rendering continuous service between April 1980 to December 1982 in their pleadings and in their representations. They merely contended in their affidavits that they had worked for 240 days. The Tribunal based its decision on the management not producing the attendance register. In view of the affidavits filed by the workmen, the Tribunal held that the burden on the workmen to prove 240 days' service stood discharged. In that matter, a three-Judge Bench of this Court held that pleadings did not constitute a substitute for proof and that the affidavits contained self-serving statements; that no workman took an oath to state that he had worked for 240 days; that no document in support of the said plea was ever produced and, therefore, this Court took the view that the workmen had failed to discharge the burden on them of proving that they had worked for 240 days. According to the said judgment, only by reason of non-response to the complaints filed by the workmen, it cannot be said that the workmen had proved that they had worked for 240 days. In that case, the workmen had not called upon the management to produce the relevant documents. The Court observed that the initial burden of establishing the factum of continuous work for 240 days in a year was on the workmen. In the circumstances, this Court set aside the award of the Industrial Tribunal ordering reinstatement.

13.InMunicipal Corpn., Faridabadv.Siri Niwas[(2004) 8 SCC 195 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1062] the employee had worked from 5-8-1994 to 31-12-1994 as a tubewell operator. He alleged that he had further worked from 1-1-1995 to 16-5-1995. His services were terminated on 17-5-1995 whereupon an industrial dispute was raised. The case of the employee before the Tribunal was that he had completed working for 240 days in a year; the purported order of retrenchment was illegal as the conditions precedent to Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act were not complied with. On the other hand, the management contended that the employee had worked for 136 days during the preceding 12 months on daily wages.

Upon considering all the material placed on record by the parties to the dispute, the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the total number of working days put in by the employee were 184 days and thus he, having not completed 240 days of working in a year, was not entitled to any relief. The Tribunal noticed that neither the management nor the workman cared to produce the muster roll w.e.f. August 1994; that the employee did not summon muster roll although the management had failed to produce them. Aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal, the employee filed a writ petition before the High Court which took the view that since the management did not produce the relevant documents before the Industrial Tribunal, an adverse inference should be drawn against it as it was in possession of best evidence and thus, it was not necessary for the employee to call upon the management to do so. The High Court observed that the burden of proof may not be on the management but in case of non-production of documents, an adverse inference could be drawn against the management. Only on that basis, the writ petition was allowed holding that the employee had worked for 240 days. Overruling the decision of the High Court, this Court found on facts of that case that the employee had not adduced any evidence before the court in support of his contention of having complied with the requirement of Section 25-B of the Industrial Disputes Act; that apart from examining himself in support of his contention, the employee did not produce or call for any document from the office of the management including the muster roll (MR) and that apart from muster rolls, the employee did not produce the offer of appointment or evidence concerning remuneration received by him for working during the aforementioned period.

14.InRange Forest Officer[(2002) 3 SCC 25 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 367] the dispute was referred to the Labour Court as to whether the workman had completed 240 days of service. Vide award dated 10-8-1988, the Tribunal held that the services were wrongly terminated without giving retrenchment compensation. In arriving at this conclusion, the Tribunal stated that in view of the affidavit of the workman saying that he had worked for 240 days, the burden was on the management to show justification in termination of the service. It is in this light that the Division Bench of this Court took the view that the Tribunal was not right in placing the burden on the management without first determining on the basis of cogent evidence that the workman had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. This Court held that it was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination; that filing of an affidavit is only his own statement in his own favour which cannot be recorded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that a workman had worked for 240 days in a year. This Court found that there was no proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days; that the letter of appointment was not produced; that the letter of termination was not produced on record and, therefore, the award was set aside.

15.InRajasthan State Ganganagar S. Mills Ltd.[(2004) 8 SCC 161 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1055] the workman had alleged that he had worked for more than 240 days in the year concerned, which claim was denied by the management. The workman had merely filed an affidavit in support of his case. Therefore, the Division Bench of this Court took the view that it was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. This Court observed that filing of an affidavit was not enough because the affidavit contained self-serving statement of the workman which cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that the claimant had worked for 240 days in a year. Further, this Court found that there was no proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days and, therefore, mere non-production of the muster roll for a particular period was not sufficient for the Labour Court to hold that the workman had worked for 240 days as claimed. On the facts of that case, the Court found that even if the period for which the workman had alleged to have worked was taken into account, as mentioned in his affidavit, still the said workman did not fulfil the requirement of completion of 240 days of service and, therefore, this Court set aside the award of the Labour Court.

16.InM.P. Electricity Board[(2004) 8 SCC 246 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1092] the workmen were engaged by the Board on daily wages for digging pits to erect electric poles. It was the case of the Board that on completion of the project, the employment was terminated and whenever a similar occasion arose for digging pits, the workmen were re-employed on daily wages and, therefore, their employment was not permanent in nature nor had the workmen completed 240 days of continuous work in a given year. The project jobs came to an end in 1991 and the workmen were never re-employed by the Board. Being aggrieved by the said non-employment, the workmen filed applications under the M.P. Industrial Relations Act seeking permanent employment, primarily on the ground that they have completed 240 days in a year and their discontinuation of service amounted to retrenchment without following the legal requirements. The Board denied the allegations made in the application before the Labour Court. An application was moved before the Labour Court by the workmen seeking direction to the Board to produce the muster roll for the period concerned. However, no other material was produced by the workmen to establish the fact that they had worked for 240 days continuously in a given year. Some of the workmen were also examined before the Labour Court. However, no document was produced in the form of letter of appointment, receipt indicating payment of salary, etc. After examining the entry in the muster rolls, the Labour Court came to the conclusion that the workmen had not worked for 240 days continuously in a given year, hence, they could not claim permanency nor could they term their non-employment as retrenchment. Aggrieved by the award of the Labour Court, the workmen preferred an appeal before the Industrial Court at Bhopal which took the view that since the Board has failed to produce the entire muster roll for the year ending 1990, an adverse inference was required to be drawn against the Board and solely based on the said inference, the Industrial Court accepted the case of the workmen that they had worked for 240 days continuously in a given year. Accordingly, the Industrial Court granted reinstatement to the workmen with 50% back wages. Drawing of such an adverse inference was challenged before this Court by the M.P. Electricity Board. In the light of the aforestated facts, this Court opined that the Industrial Court or the High Court could not have drawn an adverse inference for non-production of the muster rolls for the years 1990 to 1992, particularly in the absence of a specific plea by the claimants that they had worked during the period for which muster rolls were not produced. This Court observed that the initial burden of establishing the factum of their continuous work for 240 days in a year was on the workmen and since that burden was not discharged, the Industrial Court and the High Court had erred in ordering reinstatement solely on an adverse inference drawn erroneously.

17. Analysing the above decisions of this Court, it is clear that the provisions of the Evidence Act in terms do not apply to the proceedings under Section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. However, applying general principles and on reading the aforestated judgments, we find that this Court has repeatedly taken the view that the burden of proof is on the claimant to show that he had worked for 240 days in a given year. This burden is discharged only upon the workman stepping in the witness box. This burden is discharged upon the workman adducing cogent evidence, both oral and documentary. In cases of termination of services of daily-waged earners, there will be no letter of appointment or termination. There will also be no receipt or proof of payment. Thus in most cases, the workman (the claimant) can only call upon the employer to produce before the court the nominal muster roll for the given period, the letter of appointment or termination, if any, the wage register, the attendance register, etc. Drawing of adverse inference ultimately would depend thereafter on the facts of each case. The above decisions however make it clear that mere affidavits or self-serving statements made by the claimant workman will not suffice in the matter of discharge of the burden placed by law on the workman to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a given year. The above judgments further lay down that mere non-production of muster rollsper sewithout any plea of suppression by the claimant workman will not be the ground for the Tribunal to draw an adverse inference against the management. Lastly, the above judgments lay down the basic principle, namely, that the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution will not interfere with the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the Labour Court unless they are perverse. This exercise will depend upon the facts of each case."

28. After referring to earlier judgments on the issue of onus of proof, a similar view was taken in the case of Ranip Nagar Palika Vs. Babuji Gabhaji Thakore and others11. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"8.....the burden of proof lies on the workman to show that he had worked continuously for 240 days for the preceding one year and it is for the workman to adduce evidence apart from examining himself to prove the factum of being in employment of the employer."

29. In the context of burden of proof of 240 days continuous service and drawing of an adverse inference, reference may also be had to the judgment in the case of Sub-Divisional Engineer, Irrigation Project Yavatmal Vs. Sarant Marotrao Gurnule12.

"21.The next question is how the workman is expected to discharge this burden? Does it follow from the observations in the judgments quoted above (underlined for the sake of convenience) that a workman is expected to tender a particular quantum of evidence, or to examine a particular number of witnesses in support of his plea? The Evidence Act, which does not apply to matter under the Industrial Disputes Act, too does not lay down that any particular number of witnesses must be examined to prove a particular fact. A fact is held as proved when a Judge upon considering the matter before him either believes it to exist or considers its existence so probable that a man of ordinary prudence would believe that it exists. Just as it would be futile to expect an employer to prove a non-existent fact, namely that a workman had not worked for 240 days, it would be futile to expect a workman to produce non-existent evidence. The best evidence rule would mandate that if the workman has in his possession any documentary evidence which would support his word on oath, he must produce such evidence, and, if he is not doing so, it would result in discrediting his word. The observations of the Apex Court that in addition to his own word, the workman must put in something more has to be read with this caveat. The difficulties and dangers in examining another workman in support of his own claim may be imagined. Ordinarily out of fear of reprisal a workmen who is already in employment is unlikely to step into the witness box to support the case of a colleague who has been thrown out. Workman's examining another workman who has been similarly thrown out would not cut ice with the Court because the Court may feel that two lies do not make one truth. Therefore, ultimately in the matter of appreciation of evidence, it is for the Judge who sees the parties in person and receives their evidence to decide whether he would believe them or not. Whether burden on workman is discharged by him or not would have to be decided by applying law declared in following few sentences from para 17 in judgment of three-Judge Bench inR.M. Yellati, which we wish to again reproduce, for, there would be no clearer pronouncement on the subject.

"17. This burden is discharged only upon the workman stepping in the witness box. This burden is discharged upon the workman adducing cogent evidence, both oral and documentary. In cases of termination of services of daily-waged earners, there will be no letter of appointment or termination. There will also be no receipt or proof of payment. Thus in most cases, the workman (the claimant) can only call upon the employer to produce before the Court the nominal muster roll for the given period, the letter of appointment or termination, if any, the wage register, the attendance register, etc. Drawing of adverse inference ultimately would depend thereafter on the facts of each case. The above decisions however make it clear thatmere affidavits or self-serving statements made by the claimant workman will not suffice in the matter of discharge of the burden placed by law on the workman to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a given year.The above judgments further lay down that mere non-production of muster rolls per se without any plea of suppression by the claimant workman will not be the ground for the Tribunal to draw an adverse inference against the management. Lastly, the above judgments lay down the basic principle, namely, that the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution will not interfere with the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the Labour Court unless they are perverse. This exercise will depend upon the facts of each case."

A careful re-reading of this passage would show that the Court does not hint at necessity of examining anyone in addition to the workman, while at the same time saying that affidavit alone would not be sufficient. What is expected of workman is to tender "cogent evidence", by stepping in the witness box (and thereby allowing the truth of his version to be tested by cross-examination)."

30. The legal position with regard to the burden of proof and onus is well settled and it has been consistently held that the burden of proving a fact rests on the party who substantially asserts the affirmative of the issue and not upon the party who denies it. In this regard reference may be had to the judgment in the case of Haridwar Vs. Smt. Kulwant13, wherein it was held as follows :-

"12. In my view, learned counsel for the appellant is misconstruing the concept of term "burden of proof" and "onus" by identifying the two as synonymous. The onus probandi i.e. "Burden of proof" lies upon a person who is bound to prove the fact and it never shifts.

13. Section 101 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872") talks of burden of proof, and says:

"Burden of proof.- Whoever desires any Court to give judgment as to any legal right or liability dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist.

When a person is bound to prove the existence of any fact, it is said that the burden of proof lies on that person."

14. The burden of proving a fact rests on the party who substantially asserts the affirmative of the issue and not upon the party who denies it; for a negative is usually incapable of proof. The provision is based on the rule, ie incumbit probatio qui dicit, non qui negat. In Constantine Line Vs. I S Corpn, (1941) 2 All England Report 165, Lord Maugham said;

"It is an ancient rule founded on consideration on good sense and should not be departed from without strong reasons."

15. A person who asserts a particular fact has to prove the same. Until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. Whoever desires a Court to give judgment, dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist. The distinction between "burden of proof" and "onus" is that the former lies upon the person and never shifts but the "onus" shifts. Shifting of onus is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence. For example, in a suit for possession, based on title once the plaintiff is able to create a high degree of probability so as to shift the onus on the defendant, it is then for the defendant to discharge his onus and in absence of such discharge by defendant, burden of proof lying on the plaintiff shall be held to have been discharged so as to amount to proof of plaintiff's title.

16. The above distinction between "burden of proof" and "onus" of proof has been explained in A.Raghavamma Vs. A. Chenchamma, AIR 1964 SC 136, followed in R.V.E. Venkatachala Gounder Vs. Arulmigu Viswesaraswami & V.P. Temple & Anr., (2003) 8 SCC 752.

17. Section 102 of Act, 1872 says that burden of proof in a suit would lie on a person who would fail if no evidence at all were given on either side. Here it is not degree of proof but the onus to lead evidence i.e. obligation to begin to prove a fact. The burden of proof as such has not been defined in the Act but looking to the substance and the context and spirit, it can be said that burden to establish case, loosely, can be said to be burden of proof.

18. For applying above provision in the case in hand, there can be no manner of doubt in holding that burden of proof lies upon the plaintiff. In the case in hand, to prove that sale deed in question suffers an infirmity, justifying its cancellation, as pleaded in the plaint and to prove those facts, burden lies upon plaintiff. But then it has to be understood that there is a distinction between "burden of proof" as a matter of law and pleading and as a matter of adducing evidence. In the first sense, the burden is always constant but burden in the sense of adducing evidence shifts from time to time, having regard to evidence adduced or the presumption of fact or law raised in favour of one or the other. On this aspect, more light emanates when we go through Sections 103 and 104 of Act, 1872, which read as under:

"S. 103. Burden of proof as to particular fact.- The burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the Court to believe in its existence, unless it is provided by any law that the proof of that fact shall lie on any particular person."

S. 104. Burden of proving fact to be proved to make evidence admissible.- The burden of proving any fact necessary to be provided in order to enable any person to give evidence of any other fact is on the person who wishes to give such evidence."

31. In the case of Rangammal Vs. Kuppuswami and another,14 referring to Section 101 of the Evidence Act, it was held that the burden of proving a fact always lies upon the person who asserts the fact and until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"21.Section 101 of the Evidence Act, 1872 defines "burden of proof" which clearly lays down that:

"101. Burden of proof.--Whoever desires any court to give judgment as to any legal right or liability dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist.*

When a person is bound to prove the existence of any fact, it is said that the burden of proof lies on that person."

Thus, the Evidence Act has clearly laid down that the burden of proving a fact always lies upon the person who asserts it. Until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. The court has to examine as to whether the person upon whom the burden lies has been able to discharge his burden. Until he arrives at such conclusion, he cannot proceed on the basis of weakness of the other party."

32. The burden of proof is thus the legal obligation on a party to prove the allegation made by him, and is often associated with the maxim "Semper necessitas probandi incumbit ei qui agit" which means the burden of proof is on the claimant.

33. The essential distinction between 'burden of proof and onus of proof' is legally well settled. The burden of proof lies upon the person who has to prove a fact and it never shifts; however the shifting of onus of proof is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence. In this regard reference may be had to the judgment in the case of A. Raghavamma and another Vs. A. Chenchamma and another15 wherein it was held as follows :-

"12.....There is an essential distinction between 'burden of proof and onus of proof', burden of proof lies upon the person who has to prove a fact and it never shifts, but the onus of proof shifts. The burden of proof in the present case undoubtedly lies upon the plaintiff to establish the factum of adoption and that of partition. The said circumstances do not alter the incidence of the burden of proof. Such considerations, having regard to the circumstances of a particular case, may shift the onus of proof. Such a shifting of onus is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence."

34. The aforementioned legal position with regard to the burden of proof, in the context of the seasonal engagement in a sugar industry, was reiterated in the case of Batala Cooperative Sugar Mills Ltd. Vs. Sowaran Singh1.

35. Counsel for the petitioner has referred to the judgment in M/s Triveni Engineering and Industries Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. and others16 which was a case where the management witness had entered the witness box along with the original records and yet the Labour Court had drawn an adverse inference against the management. In view of the aforementioned facts the award passed by the Labour Court was held to be unsustainable. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"It is evident from the record that there was denial by the petitioner of any relationship of master and servant between it and the workman. However, the specific case of the workman was that he was employed in the seasons 1993-94 and 1994-95. A party cannot be asked to prove a negative fact but the party who insists on existence of a fact, has to prove it. The specific case of the workman was that he was issued an appointment letter and for the season 1994-95 he was asked to join at the start of the season by a written order, but none of these two documents have been produced on the premise that the officials of the Company had taken back the two letters. However, in his statement he has stated that in the seasons between 1993-94 and 1994-95 he was paid the retaining allowance. It is also his case that apart from wages that he was paid, he used to get T.A. allowance at the rate of Rs. 1.05 per kilo meter. Yet, he has neither filed the wage receipt nor any document to show that he was paid retaining allowance. In fact, he has not disclosed any details about his alleged wages. On behalf of the Management, Sri Birjesh Paliwal had entered the witness box along with the attendance register for the seasons 1993-94 and 1994-95, in original, and had deposed that the name of the workman does not find place in it. He had explained that since the size of the register was extremely big and as it was voluminous, he could not file its copies but he offered the register for inspection to the Presiding Officer and also to the representative of the workman. However, despite the offer neither the Court nor the workman scrutinized it and also did not put any question with regard to its authenticity. In this background, the Labour Court was wholly unjustified in drawing an inference against the Management. Merely producing certain alleged T.A. Bills would not lead to the inference that the workman was, in fact, actually employed in the company. Assuming the reasons given for not producing the appointment letter or call letter for the season 1994-95, to be true, there is no reason forthcoming why no document evidencing payment or receipt of wages or retaining allowance was filed or request to produce the same by the Management was made. The Apex Court in the case of Forest Range Officer v. S.T.Hadimani (2002 (94) F.L.R. 622) and subsequently in State of Maharashtra Vs. Dattatraya Digambar Birajdad (2007 (114) F.L.R. 1191) has held that the burden of proving engagement in the establishment is upon the person claiming it and not upon the Management. Thus, the argument of the petitioner is liable to be accepted.

For the reasons above, this petition succeeds and is allowed and the impugned award dated 15.1.2005 is hereby quashed."

36. There is yet another aspect of the matter. In the context of a sugar industry, in order to claim re-employment as a seasonal workman the factum of having worked for the whole of the second half of the last preceding season as per the provisions contained under Clause-K of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders is necessary and in the absence of proving the said fact no entitlement for re-employment in succeeding season can be claimed. Reference in this regard may be had to the judgment in the case of U.P. State Sugar Corporation Ltd. Vs. Niraj Kumar and others3, wherein it was stated as follows :-

"9.The Standing Orders incorporating the conditions of employment of workmen in Vaccum Pan Sugar Factories in U.P. define `Season' thus:

"Season" means the period commencing from the date when the crushing commences till the date when crushing ends. Provided that for these departments which are not in operation when crushing begins and which continue in operation after crushing ends, the "season" so far as it affects the workmen in those departments, shall commence with the date the department commences operation and shall end when the department ceases to be operated."

10. Workmen, in the Standing Orders, are classified in six categories viz.; (i) Permanent, (ii) Seasonal, (iii) Temporary, (iv) Probationers, (v) Apprentices, and (vi) Substitutes.

11. A seasonal workman is:

"One who is engaged only for the crushing season:

Provided that if he is a retainer, he shall be liable to be called on duty at any time in the off-season and if he refuses to join or does not join, he shall lose his lien as well as his retaining allowance. However, if he submits a satisfactory explanation of his not joining duty, he shall only loss his retaining allowance for the period of his absence."

12. Under the Standing Orders, a temporary workman is one who is engaged for a work of temporary or casual nature or to fill in a temporary need of extra hands on permanent, seasonal or temporary posts.

13. It is pertinent to notice that for a temporary workman, Standing Orders do not provide for any lien of employment in the succeeding season based on the employment in the last preceding season. As regards, seasonal workmen, there are special conditions. Clause K(1) of the Standing Orders is relevant for this purpose which reads thus:

" K. Special conditions governing employment of seasonal workmen-

1. A seasonal workman who has worked or, but for illness or any other unavoidable cause, would have worked under a factory during the whole of the second half of the last preceding season will be employed by the factory in the current season.

Explanation - Unauthorised absence during the second half of the last preceding season of a workman has not been validly dismissed under these Standing Orders and of a workman who has been re-employed by the management in the current season, shall be deemed to have been condoned by the management."

14. The question that falls for our consideration is whether in the facts noticed above, the workman was engaged as a temporary workman or seasonal workman and whether he is entitled to be re-employed in the succeeding year?

15. It is not that the daily rated employees engaged during the season by the Corporation automatically become seasonal workmen. If an employee is engaged for work of a temporary or casual nature like additional workload during a season, his engagement would be that of a temporary workman. Having perused the award of the Labour Court carefully, we find it difficult to fathom on what basis the Labour Court recorded the finding that the first respondent was engaged as seasonal workman. The burden lay on the workman to establish that he was engaged as `seasonal workman'. There is no material from which it can be held that the workman has discharged his burden. The High Court brushed aside the objection raised by the Corporation that respondent No.1 was engaged on temporary basis in one line by observing that the counsel of the petitioner has not been able to show any perversity in the finding recorded by the Labour Court. In our view, the finding recorded by the Labour Court that the respondent No. 1 was engaged as a seasonal workman, is based on no legal evidence and High Court was not justified in affirming the said finding.

16. Even if we assume that the respondent No. 1 was engaged as a seasonal workman, it is pertinent to notice that before the Labour Court, it was an admitted position that the crushing season 1996-97 commenced from November 11, 1996. That the season came to an end on May 3, 1997 was not disputed. It was also an admitted position before the Labour Court that the workman was engaged on January 1, 1997 and worked upto April 15, 1997. These admitted facts would amply show that the workman had neither worked in the previous full crushing season nor he remained in employment during the whole of the second half of the crushing season 1996-97. The Standing Orders contemplate lien of a seasonal workman in the succeeding crushing season if he has worked in the previous full crushing season or in the whole second half of that crushing season. It is true that `second half of the crushing season' is not defined in the Standing Orders but in absence thereof an ordinary meaning of the expression "second half of the crushing season" has to be given and that would mean the crushing season be divided into two parts and later part of the crushing season would be second half of the season.

17. To be entitled for reemployment in the succeeding crushing season, a seasonal workman has to show that he worked in the previous full crushing season or in whole of the second half of the last preceding year. Merely because workman has worked during the part of the previous crushing season, he does not become entitled for re-employment in the succeeding season. If a claim of re-employment is based on engagement in the second half of season, such engagement has to be for full second half of the season i.e. until the end of that season. In view of the admitted facts that have come on record and legal position discussed above, the conclusion is inescapable that workmen in these appeals have no right to be re-employed in the succeeding crushing season. We are, therefore, unable to uphold the decision of the High Court."

37. Similar view was taken in the case of Kisan Sahakari Chini Mills. Ltd. and others Vs. Awadesh Singh and others17, wherein it was held as follows :-

"4.The question which is required to be decided by this Court is as to whether on the basis of material on record the respondent could be treated to be seasonal workman so as to give him a right to work in subsequent crushing seasons. It is admitted to both the parties that Standing Orders covering the condition of Employment of workmen in vacuum Pan Sugar Factories in U.P. has been framed and appellants' mill is a vacuum Pan Sugar Factory to which Standing Orders are applicable. Standing Order defines seasonal workmen as follows:

"A "Seasonal workman' is one who is engaged only for the crushing season:

Provided that if he is a retainer, he shall be liable to be called on duty at any time in the off-season and if he refuses to join or does not join, he shall lose his lien as well as his retaining allowance. However, if he submits a satisfactory explanation of his not joining duty, he shall only lose his retaining allowance for the period of his absence."

5.In paragraph 5 of the supplementary counter-affidavit numbers of days on which the respondent has worked during the three crushing seasons, have been given according to which in the crushing season 1988-89 out of 160 working days the respondent worked for 98 days, in season 1989-90 out of 160 days he worked for 126 days and in the year 1990-91 out of 140 days he worked for 127 days. From perusal of the affidavit is filed by the parties it is apparent that the respondent was not appointed on any post temporary or permanent and his appointment was not for any of the crushing seasons. He did not work for the whole of the crushing seasons and during the days on which he worked, he worked on daily wages basis. Such an appointment runs from day to day and is not for any fixed period. His appointment was necessitated due to allotment of extra cane centres to the mills. The nature of work of the respondent was of casual and temporary nature, and as such he can utmost claim status of temporary workman on daily wages basis. Such a workman cannot be treated to be seasonal workman. Even if the work is of permanent nature the workman will be temporary workman, if engaged to fill in temporary need of extra hand.

6.Learned single Judge allowed the writ petition of respondent on the basis that he has worked during the major parts of the three crushing seasons from 1988-89 to 1990-91 and that the appellants have not produced any material to show that his appointment was made with a view to meet any casual requirement of the mills. It was further held by the learned Judge that as the respondent has worked for major parts of the three crushing seasons, nature of his work cannot be said to be casual in nature. It is not possible to agree with the learned Judge.

Before a workman can be declared as seasonal workman he must be engaged for the crushing seasons. The appointment of the respondent was not for the crushing season but was on daily wages basis without reference to any fixed period. Such an appointment cannot be treated to be appointment for the crushing season. Merely because the nature of work of a daily wager is not of casual nature, he cannot be treated to be seasonal workman. A daily wager cannot be declared to be seasonal workman because he has worked for substantive part in more than one crushing season. Such a workman may at the most be treated as temporary workman, unless his appointment is referable to crushing season and he has worked in that season. Two learned Single Judges of this Court in Writ Petition No. 2053 of 1992Shashi Bhushan Singhv.State of U.P.decided on 1.12.1992 and Writ Petition No. 22843 of 1988,Rajaram Misrav.District Magistrate, decided on 18.1.1993, have negatived the claim of the daily wagers for declaration as seasonal workmen and have accordingly dismissed their writ petitions. We respectfully agree with the views taken in the above decisions in the cases ofShashi Bhushan Singh and Rajaram Misra(supra).

7.The submission of learned counsel for the respondent, in this connection, is that artificial breaks were created in the service of the respondent by the appellants, which is nothing but unfair labour practice, on account of which the workmen cannot be denied the benefit of continuity of service. Certain cases, relating to artificial break of service, have also been cited by the learned counsel for the respondent. But this question does not arise in the instant case. No such plea has been taken by the respondent in his writ petition. There is nothing on record to show that his service was terminated to deny him the benefit of continuity of service. He was appointed purely on daily wages basis to meet the temporary need which arose on account of allotment of eight new cane centres to the mills."

38. In the facts of the present case the respondent-workman having not proved the factum of his seasonal engagement from the season 1999-2000 upto the season 2003-2004 by leading any cogent evidence, the claim of his engagement for the season 2003-2004 which formed the basis of the reference, was clearly unsustainable in view of the provisions contained under Clause K of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders, which provide that in order to be entitled for re-engagement in the succeeding crushing season, a seasonal workman has to show that he had worked in the previous full crushing season or in whole of the second half of the last preceding season.

39. Clause K of the Sugar Factories Standing Orders, referred to above, provides a lien of a seasonal workman in the succeeding crushing season if he has worked in the previous full crushing season or in the whole second half of that crushing season. The burden of proof in this regard is clearly on the workman in order to establish his entitlement to be re-engaged during the succeeding crushing season. In the present case no evidence having been led by the respondent workman to discharge the burden of proof in this regard, the finding returned by the Labour Court cannot be supported.

40. The Labour Court has also misdirected itself in proceeding to draw an adverse inference against the petitioner despite the necessary evidence having been placed on its behalf, and coming to the conclusion that the respondent-workman had worked as a seasonal workman on the post of 'Cane Weighment Clerk' in the petitioner establishment and was entitled to the benefits under the Sugar Factories Standing Orders. Accordingly, the inference drawn by the Labour Court that the services of the respondent-workman had been terminated without following the due procedure and that he was entitled to reinstatement with continuity of service and full back wages and other consequential benefits, is patently erroneous and cannot be sustained.

41. The award of the Labour Court is thus legally unsustainable and the same is set aside.

42. The writ petition is allowed in the aforementioned terms.

(2019)10ILR A 1687

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 28.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE YASHWANT VARMA, J.

Writ C No. 17180 of 1996
Connected with
Writ C No. 13050 of 1996

Ram Das & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
Addl. Commissioner & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri S.D.N. Singh, Sri S.O.H. Singh, Sri Sushil Jaiswal, Sri V.D. Ojha.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. UP Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holding Act, 1960 - S. 27(4) - Settlement of surplus land - Jurisdiction of Additional Commissioner while cancelling settlement of surplus land - The moment an authorization is made u/s 13(3) of UP Land Revenue Act, 1901, the statutory fiction comes into play and Additional Commissioner would consequently be empowered to exercise power u/ 27(4) of the Act, 1960 - Principle articulated by Full Bench in Brahm Singh case clearly set the controversy rest. (Para 24)

B. UP Land Revenue Act, 1901 - Section 13(4) - Meaning of expression 'for the time being in force' - It would necessarily include any subsequent legislation that may be in force at a time when an order is made u/s 13(3) - Legislature is intended to apply subsection (3) and (4) of S. 13 to the statutes that may come into force even after 1901. (Para 20)

Held:-

20. Viewed in the light of the principles enunciated in the decisions noted above, it is manifest that the expression "every other law for the time being applicable" cannot be interpreted as freezing in time only such enactments which were in existence in 1901. The words "for the time being" would necessarily include any subsequent legislations that may be in force at a time when an order is made by either by the State Government or the Commissioner under Section 13(3). Regard must also be had to the fact that subsection (4) of Section 13 is not placed in the statute as a transitory or temporary provision. This is also clearly indicative of the intent of the legislature to expand the applicability of subsections (3) and (4) of Section 13 to statutes that may come into force even after 1901.

C. UP Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holding Act, 1960 - Section 27(4) - Scope of expression 'Commissioner' - Whether expression Commissioner include Additional Commissioner - An Additional Commissioner empowered by S. 13(3) would be entitled to exercise all powers and discharge any duties of a Commissioner - Hierarchal dichotomy, if any existing, vanishes and swept aside. (Para 21)

D. Validity of settlement - Charge of settlements being an outcome of nepotism is well founded - None of petitioners were landless labourer - Settlement in favour of such person deprive needy and eligible persons - Held, Such a settlement is a fraud on statute. (Para 25)

Writ petitions dismissed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. Brahm Singh Vs Board of Revenue & ors. (2008) 5 ADJ 331.

2. Devkumarsinghji Vs St. of M.P. AIR 1967 MP 268.

3. Municipal Corp. of Delhi (MCD) Vs Prem Chand Gupta & anr. (2000) 10 SCC 115.

4. Yakub Abdul Razak Memon Vs St. of Mah. (2013) 13 SCC 1.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri V.D. Ojha learned Senior Counsel in support of the writ petitions and Sri Sanjay Goswami learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel on behalf of the State respondents.

2. Both these writ petitions assail the order dated 29 March 1996 pursuant to which a settlement of surplus land made in favour of the petitioners under Section 27 of the U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 ["the 1960 Act"] has come to be cancelled. They are with the consent of parties taken up for disposal together.

3. The Court for the purposes of disposal deems it sufficient to notice the essential facts pertaining to Writ-C No. 17180 of 1996. The petitioners claim to be landless labourers. In proceedings initiated under the 1960 Act, the agricultural land of one Smt. Girja Kumari was declared surplus and came to vest in the State of U.P. The aforesaid land is stated to have been settled in favour of the petitioners on 19 November 1990 by the Sub Divisional Officer in accordance with the provisions made in Section 27 of the 1960 Act. The details of the leases as granted are set-forth in paragraph-8 of the writ petition. It transpires from the record that on 25 August 1993 the Naib Tehsildar concerned forwarded a note to the Commissioner Jhansi division raising issues with respect to the validity of the settlement made in favour of the petitioners. Upon receipt of that note, the Commissioner by an order dated 25 August 1993 drew proceedings and transferred them for adjudication to the Additional Commissioner. Pursuant to notices issued, the petitioners entered appearance and filed their written statements. The objection taken by the State respondents to the validity of the settlement made was that the petitioners were unlawfully allotted land even though they were not residents of the concerned village. It was asserted that the petitioner No. 1 was not a landless laborer but a priest of a temple. Insofar as the petitioner No. 2 is concerned, it was stated that he was a jeweller also not residing in the village in question. A similar objection was taken in respect of the petitioner No. 3. In the counter affidavit filed in these proceedings it was averred that none of the petitioners were residents of village Tinduhi. In paragraph-3 details have been given of the land held by the petitioners in different villages. It was essentially asserted that the petitioners were neither landless labourers nor members of the Gram Sabha of Tinduhi and consequently they were ineligible to have been allotted the land under Section 27 of the 1960 Act. It was also alleged that the petitioner Nos. 3 and 4 were the cousins of the then Gram Pradhan and that the settlement made in their favour was clearly illegal and in abuse of the process of law. The respondents asserted that despite numerous landless labourers belonging to the Scheduled Castes being available and eligible for allotment, their claims were overlooked and the land settled in favour of the petitioners illegally and as an outcome of the nexus between them and the erstwhile Gram Pradhan. The impugned order further records that the petitioner Nos. 3 and 4 in their statements recorded before the respondents on 20 April 1991 had admitted to being residents of village Pachpahra. Taking into consideration the aforesaid glaring facts, the Additional Commissioner by the impugned order proceeded to annul the leases granted in favour of the petitioners. When the Court entertained the writ petition on 22 July 1996, interim protection was accorded to the petitioners with a learned Judge providing that if the petitioners are in possession, they shall remain as such over the land in dispute. Pursuant to that interim order, the petitioners are stated to have continued to occupy the land in question.

4. Sri V.D. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel, apart from assailing the order on merits has principally raised a jurisdictional question with respect to the Additional Commissioner exercising powers under Section 27 of the 1960 Act. According to Sri Ojha the power to cancel a settlement as comprised in Section 27(4) of the 1960 Act stands vested in the "Commissioner" and that consequently the Additional Commissioner has acted clearly without jurisdiction in passing the order impugned. Sri Ojha would contend that the expression "Commissioner" does not include an Additional Commissioner nor does the 1960 Act empower the Commissioner to delegate the functions entrusted to him under Section 27(4). In view of the above, it was his submission that the impugned order deserved to be set-aside on this short ground alone. Assailing the order on merits Sri Ojha has referred to the entries appearing in the Voters List, Ration Card as well as the statement of the Lekhpal to submit that the allegations levelled against the petitioners were clearly not established. Sri Ojha contends that the entries appearing in the Voters List as well as the Ration Cards held by the petitioners clearly established that they were residents of village Tinduhi. It is his submission that the objections which were taken by the respondents were wholly untenable and that the order impugned is consequently liable to be set aside.

5. Refuting those submissions Sri Goswami, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, contends that the details set forth in paragraph-3 of the counter affidavit clearly established that the settlement made in favour of the petitioners was an outcome of nepotism and the illegal acts of commission of the erstwhile Pradhan who had a personal interest in the allotments made in favour of the petitioner nos. 3 and 4. Sri Goswami highlighted the fact that the Additional Commissioner had found that the petitioners had fraudulently managed to have their names inserted in the Voters List and obtained Ration Cards by furnishing false information. He also referred to the admission of the petitioner Nos. 3 and 4 themselves as noticed in the impugned order to the effect that they were not residents of village Tinduhi. Sri Goswami contended that Section 27 is to be viewed as a measure of social amelioration aimed at uplifting the status of landless labourers and members of the Scheduled Castes designed to empower them to eke out a living and find means of sustenance. According to Sri Goswami those objectives have been belied by virtue of the wholly illegal settlements made in favour of the petitioners.

6. Addressing the Court on the question of jurisdiction Sri Goswami contends that while the provisions of the 1960 Act do not define the word "Commissioner", an Additional Commissioner is entitled to exercise the powers enshrined in Section 27(4) by virtue of subsections (3) and (4) of Section 13 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 ["the 1901 Act"] and in any case in light of the order passed by the Commissioner assigning the matters for disposal to the Additional Commissioner. Sri Goswami has also placed reliance upon the decision rendered by a Full Bench of the Court in Brahm Singh v. Board of Revenue And Others1 in support of his submission that an Additional Commissioner is sufficiently empowered in law to exercise the powers enshrined in Section 27(4) of the 1960 Act. It is these rival submissions that fall for determination.

7. This Court in its order of 25 July 2019 noted the issue of jurisdiction which was principally raised in the following terms: -

"The principal submission which has been addressed by Sri V.D. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners, is that exercise of powers by the Additional Commissioner purportedly invoking Section 27(4) of the Act is without jurisdiction.

The Court notes that the 1960 Act does not define the expression 'Commissioner' as employed in Section 27(4). However Section 3(21) of that Act provides that words and expressions not defined in the 1960 Act would draw meaning as prescribed to those words and expressions under the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950. When the Court travels to the U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act 1950, it notes that Section 3(27) of the 1950 Act refers to meanings of words and expressions as used in the United Provinces Land Revenue Act 1901. Under Section 13(3) of the 1901 Act although the Additional Commissioner is empowered to exercise powers vested in a Commissioner, that exercise is subject to an express authorisation made either by the State Government or by the Commissioner. The issue which would therefore, arise would be whether in the present case the Additional Commissioner had been sufficiently empowered to exercise powers comprised in Section 27(4) of the 1960 Act by virtue of an order made under Section 13(3) of the 1901 Act.

Learned Standing Counsel may in this connection place the relevant record for the perusal of the Court on the next date of listing.

List again for final disposal on 13 August 2019."

8. As noted in that order, the 1960 Act does not define the word "Commissioner". Section 3(21) of that Act however states that the words and expressions not defined therein but used in the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition And Land Reforms Act, 1950 ["the 1950 Act"] shall have the meaning assigned to them in that Act. The Court had noted that even the 1950 Act does not place any definition of the expression "Commissioner". Section 3(27) of the 1950 Act, however, makes the following provision:-

"words and expressions, under-proprietor, sub-proprietor, revenue, mahal, Assistant Collector, Assistant Collector in-charge of sub- division, Commissioner, Board, Tahsildar and minor, not defined in this Act and used in the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, shall have the meaning assigned to them in that Act;"

9. When the Court proceeds to review the provisions of the 1901 Act, it is faced with an identical absence of a specific provision defining the expression "Commissioner". However the State respondents place reliance upon Section 13 of the 1901 Act to contend that by virtue of the provisions made therein, an Additional Commissioner is entitled to exercise all powers and discharge duties of a Commissioner pursuant to orders made in that behalf either by the State Government or the Commissioner himself. Section 13 of the 1901 Act reads thus: -

"13. Appointment, powers and duties of Additional Commissioner. - (1) The [State Government] may appoint Additional Commissioner in a division, or in two or more divisions combined.

(2) An Additional Commissioner shall hold his office during the pleasure of the [State Government].

(3) An Additional Commissioner shall exercise such powers and discharge such duties of a Commissioner in such cases or classes of cases as the [State Government] or in the absence of orders from the [State Government], the Commissioner concerned, may direct.

(4) The Act and every other law for the time being applicable to a Commissioner shall apply to the Additional Commissioner, when exercising any powers or discharging any duties under sub-section (3), as if he were the Commissioner of the division."

10. Upon a review of the statutory position as existing, it is apparent that none of them define the expression "Commissioner". Even Section 13, as is plainly evident, is not a defining provision. As is discernable from a reading of subsection (3) of Section 13, an Additional Commissioner may be empowered either by an order of the State Government or the Commissioner himself to exercise the powers and discharge duties of a Commissioner in such cases or classes of cases as may be directed. While the impact and scope of this provision would clearly have relevancy to the issue at hand, it may only be noted that it does not state or expound the meaning of the word "Commissioner".

11. Section 27(4) on its plain terms empowers the Commissioner either of his own motion or on the application of an aggrieved person to enquire into the question whether a settlement made is irregular. Subsection (4) reads thus: -

"27(4). The Commissioner may of his own motion and shall, on the application of any aggrieved person, enquire into such settlement and if he is satisfied that the settlement is irregular he may after notice to the person in whose favour such settlement is made to show cause-

(i) cancel the settlement and the lease, if any and thereupon, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law or in any instrument, the rights, title and interest of the person in whose favour such settlement was made or lease executed or any person claiming through him in such land shall cease, and such land shall revert to the State Government; and

(ii) direct that every person holing or retaining possession thereof may be evicted, and may for that purpose use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary."

12. The seminal question which, therefore, arises for consideration is whether the expression "Commissioner" as used in subsection (4) would include an Additional Commissioner. While the Court dwells on the provisions as contained in the 1960 Act, it would also be pertinent to note the following aspect. Significantly, although the 1960 Act makes a specific provision for the Collector delegating his powers to an Assistant Collector in terms of Section 43 of that Act, no similar provision is made with respect to a Commissioner of the Division.

13. As noticed hereinabove in the proceedings that were drawn against the petitioners, the Commissioner by his order of 25 August 1993 transferred the matter for adjudication to the concerned Additional Commissioner. Although the Commissioner chose to employ the word "transfer" in his orders, it essentially appears to have been an assignment of the matters for disposal by the Additional Commissioner. Subsection (3) of Section 13 of the 1901 Act, as noticed hereinabove, is clearly not a definition clause. It only confers a power on the State Government or the Commissioner to authorise an Additional Commissioner to exercise the powers and duties of a Commissioner. It clearly appears to be a provision for conferment of power as distinct from a defining provision as was contended on behalf of the respondents.

14. Although this provision also uses the expression "...in such cases or classes of cases" that may not impact the order of assignment made by the Commissioner when one bears in mind the provisions of Section 13 of the General Clauses Act, 1872 which clearly provide that words in the singular would also include the plural and vice versa.

15. In the considered view of this Court, it is the provisions made in subsection (4) of Section 13 that are of greater import and significance. Subsection (4) provides that the 1901 Act and "...every other law for the time being applicable...." to a Commissioner would also apply to an Additional Commissioner exercising powers and discharging duties in accordance with subsection (3) as if he were the Commissioner of the Division. It is thus manifest that on an Additional Commissioner being empowered to discharge duties and exercising powers by virtue of an order made either by the State Government or the Commissioner under subsection (3) it is liable to be viewed as being a discharge of duties or exercise of powers by the Commissioner of the Division himself.

16. The ancillary issue which immediately springs up is by virtue of subsection (4) employing the phrase ".... every other law for the time being applicable...". The U.P. Land Revenue Act was indubitably promulgated in 1901. The Ceiling Act came to be enacted in 1960. The question, which consequently arises, is whether the 1960 Act would fall within the ambit of the expression "every other law for the time being applicable". This since if that phrase is interpreted literally, it would be likely to be perceived as being confined to a law which was in existence in 1901 when the Land Revenue Act came to be promulgated.

17. In Devkumarsinghji v. State of Madhya Pradesh2, a Division Bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court was called upon to interpret the expression "any other enactment for the time being in force". The question was answered by the Division Bench as under: -

"9. The power of the State Legislature to impose a tax for general revenue is not taken away by the empowerment by it to the municipal corporations to impose a tax on lands and buildings. Nor is the State Legislature precluded by sub-section (4) of Section 132 of the 1956-Act from imposing a tax on lands and buildings after the corporation has exercised its power under Section 132(1)(a) of imposing a tax on lands and buildings. In our opinion, the construction put on sub-section (4) of the Section 132 by Shri Chitale is a forced and unnatural construction. That sub-section no doubt provides that the "imposition of any tax under this section shall be subject to the provisions of any other enactment for the time being in force". The expression "any other enactment for the time being in force" does not mean an enactment which was already in force at the time the corporation imposed a tax under Section 132(1)(a); but means any legislation enacted whether before or after the imposition of the tax by the corporation. The general sense of the phrase "for the time being" is that of time indefinite, and refers to indefinite state of facts which will arise in future and which may vary from time to time. See Ellison v. Thomas, (1862) 31 LJ Ch 867. If with this construction sub-section (4) of Section 132 is read along with Section 4(3) of the impugned Act, then it is plain that the lax imposed by the Corporation on lands and buildings and the tax imposed by the impugned Act can validity co-exist. " (emphasis supplied)

18. The Supreme Court in Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) v. Prem Chand Gupta And Another3 had an occasion to rule on the meaning of the expression "for the time being in force". The question that arose before it was whether the service conditions of the employee would be governed by the 1949 Rules which stood incorporated by reference in the service regulations or the 1959 Rules which had repealed and replaced the earlier Rules. Referring to the expression "for the time being in force" as employed therein, it was argued that the service conditions would be governed only by those rules which were in force when the 1959 Regulations were promulgated and not any latter rules. Answering that issue the Supreme Court held as under: -

"13. In this connection, one submission of learned counsel for the respondent workman may be noted. He submitted that as laid down by Regulation 4(1), the rules for the time being in force as mentioned therein would refer to only those rules which were in force when the Service Regulations of 1959 were promulgated and not any latter rules. It is difficult to countenance this submission. Rules for the time being in force will have a nexus with the regulation of condition of service of the municipal officers at the relevant time as expressly mentioned in Regulation 4(1). Therefore, whenever the question of regulation of conditions of service of the municipal officers comes up for consideration, the relevant rules in force at that time have to be looked into. This is the clear thrust of Regulation 4(1). Its scope and ambit cannot be circumscribed and frozen only to the point of time in the year 1959, when the Service Regulations were promulgated. If such was the intention of the framers of the Regulation, Regulation 4(1) would have employed a different phraseology, namely, "rules at present in force" instead of the phraseology "rules for the time being in force". The phraseology "rules for the time being in force" would necessarily mean rules in force from time to time and not rules in force only at a fixed point of time in 1959 as tried to be suggested by learned counsel for the respondent workman.

14. As a result of the aforesaid discussion, it must be held that the termination of the respondent workman from service on 29.4.1966 was not violative of the amended Rule 5 of the latter Rules of 1965 which only applied in his case. Therefore, there was no obligation, on the part of the appellant Corporation to simultaneously offer requisite compensation to the respondent workman as a condition precedent to such termination and such compensation could be offered to him within reasonable time later on. The termination had to be treated to have come into force forthwith when the order of termination was passed and served on the respondent workman. Non-payment of requisite compensation as per the said rule even later on did not attract any invalidating consequences. The first point of determination, therefore, is held in the negative in favour of the appellant and against the respondent workman. " (emphasis supplied)

19. In Yakub Abdul Razak Memon v. State of Maharashtra4 three learned Judges of the Supreme Court were called upon to resolve a contended conflict between the provisions made in TADA and the Juvenile Justice Act. Dealing with that question the Supreme Court held thus: -

"1554. Section 1(4) of the JJ Act was added by amendment with effect from 22-8-2006. In fact, this provision gives the overriding effect to this Act over other statutes. However, it reads that the Act would override "anything contained in any other law for the time being in force". The question does arise as to whether the statutory provisions of the JJ Act would have an overriding effect over the provisions of TADA which left long back and was admittedly not in force on 22-8-2006. Thus, the question does arise as what is the meaning of the law for the time being in force. This Court has interpreted this phrase to include the law in existence on the date of commencement of the Act having overriding effect and the law which may be enacted in future during the life of the Act having overriding effect. (Vide Thyssen Stahlunion GmbH v. SAIL [(1999) 9 SCC 334: AIR 1999 SC 3923] and MCD v. Prem Chand Gupta [(2000) 10 SCC 115: 2000 SCC (L&S) 404]."(emphasis supplied)

20. Viewed in the light of the principles enunciated in the decisions noted above, it is manifest that the expression "every other law for the time being applicable" cannot be interpreted as freezing in time only such enactments which were in existence in 1901. The words "for the time being" would necessarily include any subsequent legislations that may be in force at a time when an order is made by either by the State Government or the Commissioner under Section 13(3). Regard must also be had to the fact that subsection (4) of Section 13 is not placed in the statute as a transitory or temporary provision. This is also clearly indicative of the intent of the legislature to expand the applicability of subsections (3) and (4) of Section 13 to statutes that may come into force even after 1901.

21. The 1960 Act undisputedly is a law that is applicable to a Commissioner. It is therefore, evident that the provisions of subsection (4) of Section 13 would stand attracted and consequently an Additional Commissioner empowered by an order made under Section 13(3) would be entitled to exercise all powers and discharge any duties of a Commissioner as enjoined "as if he were the Commissioner of the division". By virtue of the fiction introduced by subsection (4) such exercise of powers or duties would be entitled to be understood and viewed as actions initiated and decisions taken by the Commissioner himself. On an order being made under Section 13(3), the Additional Commissioner steps into the shoes and dons the robes of the Commissioner himself. Once an order under Section 13 (3) comes to be made empowering the Additional Commissioner to discharge all duties of a Commissioner, the hierarchal dichotomy, if any existing, vanishes and is swept aside in light of the provisions made in Section 13 (4).

22. In light of the interpretation accorded to Section 13 above, it is evident that the absence of a provision for delegation of powers akin to Section 43 of the 1960 Act in respect of a Commissioner would neither stand in the way nor be of any significance.

23. A similar question fell for determination before the Full Bench of this Court in Brahm Singh. The question which arose was whether the word "Collector" as employed in Section 198 (4) of the 1950 Act would include an Additional Collector. Coincidentally, Section 198 (4) of the 1950 Act empowers a Collector to cancel a settlement of land made by way of a lease. The Full Bench, as in this case, fell back to the provisions made in the 1901 Act. Section 14A of the 1901 Act, it becomes apposite to note is pari materia to Section 13 which this Court has considered. Noticing the provisions made in Section 14A, the Full Bench held: -

16.The aforesaid sub-section (4) was inserted in 1950 Act by Section 3 of the U.P. Act No. 34 of 1974, from a perusal whereof it is evident that the "Collector' for the purposes of 1950 Act is an officer appointed as "Collector' under 1901 Act and also includes the "Assistant Collector' of the first class empowered by the State Government by notification in the Gazette to discharge all or any of the functions of a "Collector' under 1950 Act. Thus, the Act by itself does not confine the term "Collector' only to those officers, who are appointed under sub-Section 14 of 1901 Act, rather it expands the definition of "Collector' as an officer appointed as "Collector', under 1901 Act. It does not confine the word "Collector' for the purposes of 1950 Act to an officer appointed under Section 14 of 1901 Act but it would also include a person appointed under Section 14-A as well by virtue of declaration made under sub-Section (4) thereof, if we read sub-section (4) of Section 3 of 1950 Act together with sub-section (4) of Section 14-A the expression "Collector' used in 1950 Act shall have and shall be deemed always to be the "collector' appointed under Section 14 of the Act and will include "Additional Collector' appointed under Section 14-A when it exercises power and discharges duty of a "Collector' under sub-section (3) of Section 14-A because of sub-section (4) of Section 14-A, which provides that the Additional Collector while discharging the powers and duties of a "Collector' under 1901 Act or under any other law, for the time being applicable to the Collector, as if he were the Collector of the district. Therefore, there is no intention of the legislature to confine the term "Collector' for the purpose of 1950 Act to an officer appointed under Section 14 of 1901 Act, but it would also include a person appointed under Section 14-A as well by virtue of the declaration made under sub-section (4) thereof.

18.From the provisions of the two Acts, referred to above, it is evident that the power under Section 198(4) of 1950 Act can be exercised by a "Collector' appointed under 1901 Act. From a plain reading one may refer to only Section 14 of 1901 Act but that would amount to ignore the legislature's intention and not to give effect to the legislative declaration under sub-section (4) of Section 14-A of 1950 Act. To ascertain and to give full meaning, as per legislative intent, one has to read sub-section (4) of Section 3 of 1950 Act together with Section 14 and Section 14-A of 1901 Act. It is true that in finding out the meaning of the word "Collector' used in the Act, the ordinary meaning given in the definition clause is to be construed, but it is not inflexible and there may be sections in the Act where the meaning have to be departed from on account of the subject or context in which the word had been used. That is why, the definition clause starts with the sentence that unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context "Collector' means an officer appointed as "Collector' under the provisions of 1901 Act. Therefore, because of this qualification, while giving correct meaning of definition of the word "Collector' used in the Act, one has not only to look at the word but also to the context, the collocation and the object of such words relating to such matter and thereafter to interpret the meaning intended to be conveyed by the use of the words under the circumstances.

24. The principles articulated by the Court in Brahm Singh clearly set the controversy to rest and beyond the pale of dispute. Once it is recognised that an Additional Commissioner stands duly authorised by virtue of an order made by the Commissioner under Section 13 (3) of the 1901 Act, he, for all intents and purposes, must be recognised as having donned the mantle of the Commissioner himself and the powers so exercised and decisions rendered are entitled in law to be viewed as those made by the Commissioner. The, fiction, statutorily introduced, as evident from the use of the phrase "...as if he were the Commissioner of the division" must be given full effect. The moment an authorisation is made under Section 13 (3), the statutory fiction comes into play and the Additional Commissioner would consequently be entitled to be viewed as being sufficiently empowered to exercise the powers enshrined in Section 27 (4) of the 1960 Act.

25. Turning to the merits of the case, the Court notes that the allegations set-forth in paragraph-3 of the counter affidavit were clearly serious and strike at the root of the validity of the settlements made in favour of the petitioners. All the petitioners were neither the residents of the concerned village nor were they landless labourers eligible under Section 27 of the 1960 Act. The charge of the settlements being an outcome of nepotism as raised by the State respondents is clearly well founded. It is manifest that the settlements were made illegally thus depriving various other needy and eligible persons existing in the village of the fruits of Section 27. The settlements made in favour of the petitioners was clearly a fraud on statute. The defense of the petitioners based on the entries appearing in the Voters List and Ration Cards, even if assumed to be correct, could not have saved the settlements made in light of the copious evidence gathered by the respondents which established that none of them were landless labourers. The counter affidavit has also brought on record the revenue records which established that they were not residents of the village concerned. This evidence clearly overshadows the entries stated to appear in the Voters List and Ration Cards. The Court is constrained to note that the findings recorded by the respondents with respect to the vocation of respective petitioners was not seriously assailed either in the writ petition or by learned Senior Counsel in his oral submissions. On merits, therefore, the Court finds itself unable to sustain the settlements made in favour of the petitioners.

26. The writ petitions consequently fail and are dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1697

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 23.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 23708 of 2019

Chandra Bhal Mishra ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Anand Srivastava.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Anuj Pratap Singh, Sri Swapnil Kumar.

A. Labour law - Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 - Section 33C (2) - Jurisdiction of Labour Court - When the claim involve adjudication of a dispute, Labour Court cannot assume jurisdiction - Computation of difference of wages in respect of claim for promotional post involve adjudication of dispute - Such a dispute is beyond jurisdiction of Labour Court. (Para 26 & 27)

B. Labour law - Power of Labour Court - Grant of relief - Relief can be granted only if the right has been recognised already and benefits flow from such recognition - Claim not being based on any pre-existing benefits or flowing from pre-existing rights, is beyond power of Labour Court. (Para 26 & 28)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

1. The Central Bank of India Ltd. Vs P. S. Rajagopalan AIR 1964 SC 743.

2. St. Bank of Bikaner & Jaipur Vs R.L. Khandelwal 1968 (16) FLR 315.

3. M/s Punjab Beverages Pvt. Ltd. Chandigarh Vs Suresh Chand & ors. (1978) 2 SCC 144.

4. Central Inland Water Transport Corp. Ltd. Vs The Workmen & ors. (1974) 4 SCC 696

5. Muncipal Corp. of Delhi Vs Ganesh Razak & ors. (1995) 1 SCC 235.

6. St. Bank of India Vs Ram Chandra Dubey & ors. (2001) 1 SCC 73.

7. St. of U.P. & ors. Vs Brijpal Singh (2005) 8 SCC 58.

8. U.P. St. Road Transport Corp. Vs Birendra Bhandari (2006) 10 SCC 211.

9. U.O.I. & ors. Vs Kankuben (Dead) by L.R.S. & ors. (2006) 9 SCC 292.

10. National Textiles Corp. (U.P.) Kanpur Vs Presiding Officer, IV Labour Court, Kanpur & ors. 2007 (114) FLR 645.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anand Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Swapnil Kumar, learned counsel appearing for Respondent No.3.

2. The present petition seeks to challenge the order dated 15.04.2019 passed by the Presiding Officer, Labour Court (1st), U.P. Kanpur Nagar in Misc. Case No. 08/2018 (Chandrabhal Mishra vs. U.P.S.I.D.C.) whereby the application filed by the petitioner under Section 33-C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (in short 'the Act') has been rejected.

3. The records of the case indicate that an application under Section 33-C (2) of the Act was filed by the petitioner claiming that he was entitled to promotion on a higher post from the date on which his juniors had been promoted and further claiming computation of the difference of wages in respect of the promotional post. A chart had also been appended along with the application in respect of the claim for difference of wages which would have been admissible had he been granted promotion to the higher post.

4. The aforementioned claim had been sought to be put forth by the petitioner on the basis of an earlier judgment of this Court dated 9.11.2004 passed in Special Appeal No. 1463 of 2004 (Chandra Bhal Mishra Vs. Principal Secretary Industries, Government of U.P. and others) which had been allowed in the following terms :-

"We, therefore, quash the order dated 07.07.1099 by which the resignation letter is said to have been accepted. The petitioner-appellant shall be treated to be in continuous service and shall be entitled to all the benefits as he had been continuous service but he shall not claim any salary for the period he remained out of service.The respondent Corporation shall reinstate the petitioner -appellant forthwith."

5. The Labour Court in the order dated 15.4.2019 which is sought to be challenged in the present petition has duly recorded a finding that it was the admitted case of the petitioner that in compliance of the aforementioned judgment dated 9.11.2004 the petitioner had been taken in service by his employers vide order dated 16.12.2004 and he had been paid the admissible salary and allowances against the post on which he had been working.

6. The Labour Court has also taken note of the fact that the respondent-employer was a State Government Undertaking where promotions were made under certain specified norms as per the relevant rules. The Labour Court upon taking note of the fact that the claim sought to be raised by the petitioner was for computation of an amount which would be admissible to the petitioner upon his being granted promotion to a higher post, has held that the said claim would not be maintainable under Section 33-C (2) of the Act in view of the fact that the petitioner having not been promoted to the higher post there was no existing right to raise a claim for computation of the amount which would become due to him upon his being granted the promotional post. It has also recorded that the adjudication of the claim raised by the petitioner could be made only upon a valid reference under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and adjudication of the same by a competent court, and only thereafter the petitioner could seek computation of the amount. The application filed under Section 33-C(2) has accordingly been rejected.

7. Contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that he was entitled to promotion from the date on which his juniors had been promoted and was also entitled to claim computation of the amount which would become due to him upon being granted the promotional post.

8. Per contra, Sri Swapnil Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 3 has submitted that in terms of the order dated 9.11.2004 passed by this Court, the petitioner had been taken back in service and was granted all the benefits which he was entitled to in respect of the post on which he had been working by treating him to be in continuous service. It was submitted that the aforementioned order dated 9.11.2004 did not grant entitlement to the petitioner to claim benefits of the promotional post or to apply for computation of difference of wages in respect of the promotional post. It was further submitted that the petitioner having not been promoted to the higher post no claim for computation of the said benefits could be made under Section 33-C (2) of the Act.

9. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

10. The question which falls for consideration is as to whether the petitioner could have invoked the provisions of Section 33-C (2) of the Act seeking computation of the amount which would have been admissible to him upon being granted promotion to a higher post.

11. In order to appreciate the controversy it would be necessary to advert to the relevant statutory provision which is as follows :-

33-C. Recovery of money due from an employer

"(2) Where any workman is entitled to receive from the employer any money or any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money and if any question arises as to the amount of money due or as to the amount at which such benefit should be computed, then the question may, subject to any rules that may be made under this Act, be decided by such Labour Court as may be specified in this behalf by the appropriate Government within a period not exceeding three months :

Provided that where the presiding officer of a Labour Court considers it necessary or expedient so to do, he may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, extend such period by such further period as he may think fit."

12. In terms of the aforementioned provision, in a case where any workman is entitled to receive from the employer any money or any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money and if any question arises as to the amount of money due or as to the amount at which such benefit should be computed, then the question may, be decided by the Labour Court.

13. It is thus seen that the benefit of which computation may be sought under Section 33-C (2) must be based on a previous entitlement of the workman or in other words it must be based on a pre-existing benefit or a benefit flowing from pre-existing right.

14. The proceedings under Section 33-C (2) have been held to be in the nature of execution proceedings under which the Labour Court calculates the amount due to a workman from his employer or if the workman is entitled to any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money the Labour Court may proceed to compute the said benefit in terms of money. However, the right to the money which is sought to be calculated or the benefit which is sought to be computed must be an existing one i.e. already adjudicated upon, and it would not be competent for the Labour Court exercising jurisdiction under Section 33-C (2) to arrogate to itself the functions of an industrial tribunal and entertain a claim which is not based on an existing right but which may be subject matter of an industrial dispute to be raised in a reference under Section 10 of the Act.

15. The scope of Section 33-C (2) fell for consideration in the case of The Central Bank of India Ltd. v. P. S. Rajagopalan1, wherein it was held that while construing the provisions of Section 33-C (2) it was to be borne in mind that cases which fall under Section 10 (1) are not brought within its scope. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"9.....It is urged by the appellant that sub-section (2) can be invoked by a workman who is entitled to receive from the employer the benefit

there specified, but the right of the workman to receive the benefit has to be admitted and could not be a matter of dispute between the parties in cases which fall under sub-section (2). The argument is, if there is a dispute about the workman's right to claim the benefit, that has to be adjudicated upon not under sub-section (2), but by other appropriate proceedings permissible under the Act, and since in the present appeals, the appellant disputed the respondents' right to claim the special allowance, the Labour Court had no jurisdiction to deal with their claim. In other words, the contention is that the opening words of sub-section (2) postulate the existence of and admitted right vesting, in a workman and do not cover cases where the said right is disputed.

10.On the other hand, the respondents contend that sub-section (2) is broad enough to take in all cases where a workman claims some benefit and wants the said benefit to be computed in terms of money. If in resisting the said claim, the employer makes several defences, all those defences will have to be tried by the Labour Court under sub-section (2). On this argument all questions arising between the workmen and their employers in respect of the benefit which they claim to be computed in terms of money would fall within the scope of sub-section (2)."

16. Further, after referring to the legislative history of the provision, it was held as follows :-

"15.The legislative history to which we have just referred clearly indicates that having provided broadly for the investigation and settlement of industrial disputes on the basis of collective bargaining, the legislature recognised that individual workmen should be given a speedy remedy to enforce their existing individual rights, and so, inserted Section 33-A in the Act in 1950 and added Section 33-C in 1956. These two provisions illustrate the cases in which individual workmen can enforce their rights without having to take recourse to Section 10(1) of the Act, or without having to depend upon their union to espouse their cause. Therefore, in construing Section 33-C we have to bear in mind two relevant considerations. The construction should not be so broad as to bring within the scope of Section 33-C cases which would fall under Section 10(1). Where industrial disputes arise between employees acting collectively and their employers, they must be adjudicated upon in the manner prescribed by the Act, as for instance, by reference under Section 10(1). These disputes cannot be brought within the purview of Section 33-C. Similarly, having regard to the fact that the policy of the legislature in enacting Section 33-C is to provide a speedy remedy to the individual workmen to enforce or execute their existing rights, it would not be reasonable to exclude from the scope of this section cases of existing rights which are sought to be implemented by individual workmen. In other words, though in determining the scope of Section 33-C we must take care not to exclude cases which legitimately fall within its purview, we must also bear in mind that cases which fall under Section 10(1) of the Act for instance, cannot be brought within the scope of Section 34-C (sic 33-C)."

17. In a case where a claim was raised with regard to entitlement of supervisory allowance alleging wrongful reversion in the case of State Bank of Bikaner & Jaipur Vs. R.L. Khandelwal2, it was held by the Supreme Court that an application under Section 33-C (2), in the absence of any adjudication of the rights of the workman, would not be maintainable. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows.

"5.The scope of the function and powers of a Labour Court, when dealing with an application under Section 33-C(2) of the Act, has been laid down by this Court in several cases, amongst which mention may be made of Punjab National Bank Limited v. K.L. Kharbanda, [1962] Suppl. 2 S.C.R. 977 ; 22 F.J.R. 171, The Central Bank of India Ltd. v. P.S. Rajagopalan etc., (1963)IILLJ89SC , and Bombay Gas Co. Ltd. v. Gopal Bhiva and others, (1963)IILLJ608SC . The effect of these decisions was recently summarised in the judgment delivered on August 8,1967, in Chief Mining Engineer, M/s.East India Coal Co. Ltd. v. Rameshwar and others, Civil Appeals Nos. 257-267 of 1966-- (1967) 33 F.J.R. 90. These decisions make it clear that a workman cannot put forward a claim in an application under Section 33-C(2) in respect of a matter which is not based on an existing right and which can be appropriately the subject-matter of an industrial dispute only requiring reference under Section 10 of the Act.

In the present case, the respondent himself in paragraph 2 of his application under Section 33-C(2) admitted that he continued to do the work in the supervisory capacity until on February 3, 1956, he was wrongfully reverted to do clerical work because he demanded benefit of the supervisory allowance prescribed under the Sastry Award. The question whether his reversion was wrongful or rightful, or whether it should be set aside, is not a matter within the jurisdiction of a Labour Court dealing with an application under Section 33-C(2). The vacation of such an order can only be sought by raising an industrial dispute and having it decided in accordance with the other provisions of the Act. A Labour Court, acting under Section 33-C(2), has to decide the application on the basis that, in fact, the respondent was, during the relevant period, doing clerical work and not employed on supervisory duties....."

18. In the case of M/s Punjab Beverages Pvt. Ltd., Chandigarh Vs Suresh Chand And Another3, while considering the scope of Section 33-C (2) it was held that the proceedings thereunder are in the nature of execution proceedings. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :

"4.....It is now well-settled, as a result of several decisions of this Court, that a proceeding under Section 33-C(2) is a proceeding in the nature of execution proceeding in which the Labour Court calculates the amount of money due to a workman from his employer, or, if the workman is entitled to any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money, proceeds to compute the benefit in terms of money. But the right to the money which is sought to be calculated or to the benefit which is sought to be computed must be an existing one, that is to say, already adjudicated upon or provided for and must arise in the course of and in relation to the relationship between the industrial workman, and his employer. (Vide Chief Mining Engineer,East India Coal Co. Ltd.v.Rameshwar[AIR 1968 SC 218 : (1968) 1 SCR 140 : (1968) 1 LLJ 6 : 33 FJR 90] .) It is not competent to the Labour Court exercising jurisdiction under Section 33-C(2) to arrogate to itself the functions of an industrial Tribunal and entertain a claim which is not based on an existing right but which may appropriately be made the subject-matter of an industrial dispute in a reference under Section 10 of the Act. (VideState Bank of Bikaner and Jaipurv.R.L. Khandelwal[(1968) 1 LLJ 589 : (1967-68) 33 FJR 462 : (1968) 38 Com Cas 400] .) That is why Gajendragadkar, J. pointed out in The Central Bank of India Ltd.v.P.S. Rajagopalan[AIR 1964 SC 743 : (1964) 3 SCR 140 : (1963) 2 LLJ 89 : 25 FJR 44] that :

"if an employee is dismissed or demoted and it is his case that the dismissal or demotion is wrongful, it would not be open to him to make a claim for the recovery of his salary or wages under Section 33-C(2). His demotion or dismissal may give rise to an industrial dispute which may be appropriately tried, but once it is shown that the employer has dismissed or demoted him, a claim that the dismissal or demotion is unlawful and, therefore, the employee continues to be the workman of the employer and is entitled to the benefits due to him under a pre-existing contract, cannot be made under Section 33-C(2)."

The workman, who has been dismissed, would no longer be in the service of the employer and though it is possible that on a reference to the Industrial Tribunal under Section 10 the Industrial Tribunal may find, on the material placed before it, that the dismissal was unjustified, yet until such adjudication is made, the workman cannot ask the Labour Court in an application under Section 33-C(2) to disregard his dismissal as wrongful and on that basis to compute his wages. The application under Section 33-C(2) would be maintainable only if it can be shown by the workman that the order of dismissal passed against him was void ab initio. Hence it becomes necessary to consider whether the contravention of Section 33-(2)(b) introduces a fatal infirmity in the order of dismissal passed in violation of it so as to render it wholly without force or effect, or despite such contravention, the order of dismissal may still be sustained as valid."

19. A similar view was taken in the case of Central Inland Water Transport Corporation Limited Vs.The Workmen and Another.4, wherein it was held that the proceedings under Section 33-C (2) being in the nature of an execution proceeding, an investigation of the alleged right of re-employment is outside its scope and Labour Court exercising powers under Section 33-C (2) cannot arrogate to itself the functions of adjudication of a dispute relating to the claim of re-employment. The observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"12. It is now well-settled that a proceeding under Section 33-(C)(2) is a proceeding, generally, in the nature of an execution proceeding wherein the Labour Court calculates the amount of money due to a workman from his employer, or if the workman is entitled to any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money, the Labour Court proceeds to compute the benefit in terms of money. This calculation or computation follows upon an existing right to the money or benefit, in view of its being previously adjudged, or, otherwise, duly provided for. In Chief Mining Engineer East India

Coal Co. Ltd. v. Rameswar 1968 (1) Lab LJ 6, it was reiterated that proceedings under Section 33-(C)(2) are analogous to execution proceedings and the Labour Court called upon to compute in terms of money the benefit claimed by workmen is in such cases in the position of an executing court. It was also reiterated that the right to the benefit which is sought to be computed must be an existing one, that is to say, already adjudicated upon or provided for and must arise in the course of and in relation to the relationship between an industrial workman and his employer.

13. In a suit, a claim for relief made by the plaintiff against the defendant involves an investigation directed to the determination of (i) the plaintiff's right to relief; (ii) the corresponding liability of the defendant, including, whether the defendant is, at all, liable or not; and (iii) the extent of the defendant's liability, if any. The working out of such liability with a view to give relief is generally regarded as the function of an execution proceeding. Determination No. (iii) referred to above, that is to say, the extent of the defendant's liability may sometimes be left over for determination in execution proceedings. But that is not the case with the determinations under heads (i) and (ii). They are normally regarded as the functions of a suit and not an execution proceeding. Since a proceeding under Section 33-(C)(2) is in the nature of an execution proceeding it should follow that an investigation of the nature of determinations (i) and (ii) above is, normally, outside its scope. It is true that in a proceeding under Section 33-(C)(2), as in an execution proceeding, it may be necessary to determine the identity of the person by whom or against whom the claim is made if there is a challenge on that score. But that is merely 'Incidental'. To call determinations (i) and (ii) 'Incidental' to an execution proceeding would be a perversion, because execution proceedings in which the extent of liability is worked out are just consequential upon the determinations (i) and (ii) and represent the last stage in a process leading to final relief. Therefore, when a claim is made before the Labour Court under Section 33-(C)(2) that Court must clearly understand the limitations under which it is to function. It cannot arrogate to itself the functions-say of an Industrial Tribunal which alone is entitled to make adjudications in the nature of determinations (i) and (ii) referred to above, or proceed to compute the benefit by dubbing the former as 'Incidental' to its main business of computation. In such cases determinations (i) and (ii) are not 'Incidental' to the computation. The computation itself is consequential upon and subsidiary to determinations (i) and (ii) as the last stage in the process which commenced with a reference to the Industrial Tribunal. It was, therefore, held in State Bank of Bikaner and Jaipur v. R.L. Khandelwal that a workman cannot put forward a claim in an application under Section 33-(C)(2) in respect of a matter which is not based on an existing right and which can be appropriately the subject matter of an ID which requires a reference under Section 10 of the Act.

14. The scope of Section 33-(C)(2) was illustrated by this Court in The Central Bank of India Ltd. v. P.S. Rajagopalan etc.(1963)IILLJ89SC . Under the Shastri Award, Bank clerks operating the adding machine were declared to be entitled to a special allowance of Rs. 10 per month. Four clerks made a claim for computation before the Labour Court. The Bank denied the claim that the clerks came within the category referred to in the award and further contended that the Labour Court under Section 33-(C)(2) had no jurisdiction to determine whether the clerks came within that category or not. Rejecting the contention, this Court held that the enquiry as to whether the 4 clerks came within that category was purely 'incidental' and necessary to enable the Labour Court to give the relief asked for and, therefore, the Court had jurisdiction to enquire whether the clerks answered the description of the category mentioned in the Shastri Award, which not only declared the right but also the corresponding liability of the Employer bank. This was purely a case of establishing the identity of the claimants as coming within a distinct category of clerks in default of which it would have been impossible to give relief to anybody falling in the category. When the Award mentioned the category it, as good as, named every one who was covered by the category and hence the enquiry, which was necessary, became limited only to the clerks' identity and did not extend either to a new investigation as to their rights or the Bank's liability to them. Both the latter had been declared and provided for in the Award and the Labour Court did not have to investigate the same. Essentially, therefore, the assay of the Labour Court was in the nature of a function of a court in execution proceedings and hence it was held that the Labour Court had jurisdiction to determine, by an incidental enquiry, whether the four clerks came in the category which was entitled to the special allowance.

15. It is, however, interesting to note that in the same case the Court at page 156 gave illustrations as to what kinds of claim of a workman would fall outside the scope of Section 33-(C)(2). It was pointed out that a workman who is dismissed by his employer would not be entitled to seek relief under Section 33-(C)(2) by merely alleging that, his dismissal being wrongful, benefit should be computed on the basis that he had continued in service. It was observed:

"His ... dismissal may give rise to an industrial dispute which may be appropriately tried, but once it is shown that the employer has dismissed ... him, a claim that the dismissal ... is unlawful and, therefore, the employee continues to be the workman of the employer and is entitled to the benefits due to him under a pre-existing contract, cannot be made under Section 33-(C)(2)". By merely making a claim in a loaded form the workmen cannot give the Labour Court jurisdiction under Section 33-(C)(2). The workman who has been dismissed would no longer be in the employment of the employer. It may be that an industrial tribunal may find on an investigation into the circumstances of the dismissal that the dismissal was unjustified. But when he comes before the Labour Court with his claim for computation of his wages under Section 33-(C)(2) he cannot ask the Labour Court to disregard his dismissal as wrongful and on that basis compute his wages. In such cases, a determination as to whether the dismissal was unjustified would be the principal matter for adjudication, and computation of wages just consequential upon such adjudication. It would be wrong to consider the principal adjudication as 'incidental' to the computation. Moreover, if we assume that the Labour Court had jurisdiction to make the investigation into the circumstances of the dismissal, a very anomalous situation would arise. The Labour Court after holding that the dismissal was wrongful would have no jurisdiction to direct reinstatement under Section 33-(C)(2). And yet if the jurisdiction to compute the benefit is conceded it will be like conceding it authority to pass orders awarding wages as many times as the workman comes before it without being reinstated. Therefore, the Labour Court exercising jurisdiction under Section 33-(C)(2) has got to be circumspect before it undertakes an investigation, reminding itself that any investigation it undertakes is, in a real sense, incidental to its computation of a benefit under an existing right, which is its principal concern.

20. In the case of Muncipal Corporation of Delhi Vs. Ganesh Razak and another5, the respondents who were daily rated/causal workers, initiated proceedings under Section 33-C (2), claiming that they were doing the same kind of work as regular employees and were therefore entitled to the same pay as regular employees on the principle of "equal pay for equal work". The Labour Court allowed their claim and writ petitions filed there against were dismissed. In appeals by special leave, the Supreme Court after referring to the various judgments on the issue, held that the Labour Court cannot adjudicate the dispute of entitlement or the basis of claim of the workmen and it could only interpret the award or settlement on which the claim is based its jurisdiction being like that of an executing court. The relevant observations made in the judgment are being extracted below.

*"12 .....where the very basis of the claim or the entitlement for the workmen to a certain benefit is disputed, there being no earlier adjudication or recognition thereof by the employer, the dispute relating to entitlement is not incidental to the benefit claimed and is, therefore, clearly outside the scope of a proceeding under Section 33-C(2) of the Act.The Labour Court has no jurisdiction to first decide the workmen's entitlement and then proceed to compute the benefit so adjudicated on that basis in exercise of its power under Section 33-C(2) of the Act. It is only when the entitlement has been earlier adjudicated or recognised by the employer and thereafter for the purpose of implementation or enforcement thereof some ambiguity requires interpretation that the interpretation is treated as incidental to the Labour Court's power under Section 33-C(2) like that o*f the Executing Court's power to interpret the decree for the purpose of its execution."

21. Observations to a similar effect were made in State Bank of India Vs. Ram Chandra Dubey and Ors.6, which was a case where the Industrial Tribunal had ordered for reinstatement but the award was silent with regard to payment of back wages. The workmen filed an application under Section 33-C (2) whereupon an order was passed by the Tribunal-cum-Labour Court allowing the application and computing the amounts payable to the workmen by way of back wages. Upon the matter being taken up to the Supreme Court the order passed by the Labour Court as affirmed by the High Court was set aside and it was held that jurisdiction of Labour Court under Section 33-C (2) extends to computation of a pre-existing benefit or one flowing from a pre-existing right and not to computation of a benefit which is considered just and fair. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"7.When a reference is made to an Industrial Tribunal to adjudicate the question not only as to whether the termination of a workman is justified or not but to grant appropriate relief, it would consist of examination of the question whether the reinstatement should be with full or partial back wages or none. Such a question is one of fact depending upon the evidence to be produced before the Tribunal. If after the termination of the employment, the workman is gainfully employed elsewhere it is one of the factors to be considered in determining whether or not reinstatement should be with full back wages or with continuity of employment. Such questions can be appropriately examined only in a reference. When a reference is made under Section 10 of the Act, all incidental questions arising thereto can be determined by the Tribunal and in this particular case, a specific question has been referred to the Tribunal as to the nature of relief to be granted to the workmen.

8.The principles enunciated in the decisions referred by either side can be summed up as follows:

Whenever a workman is entitled to receive from his employer any money or any benefit which is capable of being computed in terms of money and which he is entitled to receive from his employer and is denied of such benefit can approach Labour Court under Section 33-C(2) of the Act. The benefit sought to be enforced under Section 33-C(2) of the Act is necessarily a pre-existing benefit or one flowing from a pre-existing right. The difference between a pre-existing right or benefit on one hand and the right or benefit, which is considered just and fair on the other hand is vital. The former falls within jurisdiction of Labour Court exercising powers under Section 33-C(2) of the Act while the latter does not. It cannot be spelt out from the award in the present case that such a right or benefit has accrued to the workman as the specific question of the relief granted is confined only to the reinstatement without stating anything more as to the back wages. Hence that relief must be deemed to have been denied, for what is claimed but not granted necessarily gets denied in judicial or quasi-judicial proceeding. Further when a question arises as to the adjudication of a claim for back wages all relevant circumstances which will have to be gone into, are to be considered in a judicious manner. Therefore, the appropriate forum wherein such question of back wages could be decided is only in a proceeding to whom a reference under Section 10 of the Act is made. To state that merely upon reinstatement, a workman would be entitled, under the terms of award, to all his arrears of pay and allowances would be incorrect because several factors will have to be considered, as stated earlier, to find out whether the workman is entitled to back wages at all and to what extent. Therefore, we are of the view that the High Court ought not to have presumed that the award of the Labour Court for grant of back wages is implied in the relief of reinstatement or that the award of reinstatement itself conferred right for claim of back wages."

22. Reiterating a similar view in the case of State of U.P. and another Vs. Brijpal Singh7 it was held that the difference between a pre-existing right or benefit and one which is considered just and fair is vital, and it is not competent for Labour Court exercising jurisdiction under Section 33-C (2) to entertain a claim which is not based on an existing right but which may appropriately be subject matter of an industrial dispute. Referring to the earlier judgments on the point it was held as follows :-

"13. Thus, it is clear from the principle enunciated in the above decisions that the appropriate forum where question of back wages could be decided is only in a proceeding before a forum to whom a reference under Section 10 of the Act is made. Thereafter, the Labour Court, in the instant case, cannot arrogate to itself the functions of an Industrial Tribunal and entertain the claim made by the respondent herein which is not based on an existing right but which may appropriately be made the subject-matter of an industrial dispute in a reference under Section 10 of the ID Act. Therefore, the Labour Court had no jurisdiction to adjudicate the claim made by the respondent herein under Section 33-C(2) of the ID Act in an undetermined claim and until such adjudication is made by the appropriate forum, the respondent workman cannot ask the Labour Court in an application under Section 33-C(2) of the ID Act to disregard his dismissal as wrongful and on that basis to compute his wages....."

23. In the case of U.P. State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Birendra Bhandari8, a claim petition filed for payment of arrears relating to difference of salary, leave encashment, DA arising out of recommendations of 5th Pay Commission, was accepted by the Labour Court and a direction was made for payment within a period of two months. The said order was affirmed by the High Court in the writ petition. Upon a challenge being raised, it was held that Section 33-C (2) was not applicable as there was no pre-existing benefit or right available to the workman in this case and the orders passed by the Labour Court and High Court were set aside.

24. The question of maintainability of an application claiming overtime allowance, under Section 33-C (2), where the said claim was disputed by the employer came up for consideration in the case of Union of India and another Vs. Kankuben (Dead) by LRS. and others9, and after discussing the case law on the point the said application was held to be not maintainable.

25. In National Textiles Corporation (Uttar Pradesh), Kanpur Versus Presiding Officer, IV Labour Court, Kanpur, and another10, where a similar claim, as in the present case, had been raised by the workmen claiming difference of pay in respect of a higher post, this Court held that entitlement to a particular post can only be adjudicated in a reference made under Section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and such a claim could not be entertained under Section 33-C (2). The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"5. The right to money which is sought to be calculated or the benefit which is sought to be computed under S. 33-C(2) must be an existing one, that is to say, already adjudicated upon or provided for and must arise in the course of and in relation to the relationship between the workman and his employer. The Labour Court cannot entertain a claim which is not an existing right and which could be made the subject-matter of an industrial dispute in a reference under S. 10 of the Act. Where the very basis of the claim or the entitlement of the workman to a certain benefit is disputed and there being no earlier adjudication or recommendation thereof by the employer, a dispute relating to such entitlement which is not incidental to the benefit claimed would be clearly outside the scope of S. 33-C(2) of the Act.

In Tara v. Director, Social Welfare, [(1998) 8 S.C.C. 671], the Supreme Court held that the status and nature of employment of the workman being disputed could not be adjudicated in an application under S. 33-C(2) unless there was a prior adjudication on merit.

6. In the present case, the claim of the workman is one of the entitlement on the post of cashier and consequently the benefit arising out of it. The entitlement on a particular post can only be adjudicated under S. 4-K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act or under S. 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. This type of claim cannot be adjudicated under S. 33-C(2) of the Act. Consequently, the impugned order of the Labour Court passed under S. 33-C(2) cannot be sustained and is quashed. The writ petition is allowed."

26. The legal position which thus emerges is that the benefit which can be enforced under Section 33-C (2) must be a pre-existing benefit or one flowing from pre-existing right, and in an application filed under the said provision, relief can be granted only if the right had been recognized already and the benefits flow from such recognition and not otherwise. The Labour Court's jurisdiction under Section 33-C (2) is only in respect of computation of the monetary benefit which a workman is entitled to receive from the employer and powers can be exercised only in a case where the entitlement to the claim is not disputed. In a case where the claim of the workman involves adjudication of a dispute, the Labour Court cannot assume jurisdiction to first determine the entitlement and then to make the computation.

27. It may thus be inferred that an application filed for computation of difference of wages in respect of a claim for a promotional post, in the absence of any promotion having been granted, would essentially involve adjudication of a dispute regarding entitlement, which would be beyond the scope of the jurisdiction of the Labour Court under Section 33-C (2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and would not be maintainable.

28. In view of the foregoing discussion, the claim sought to be raised in the present case for computation of an amount which would have been admissible to the petitioner had he been granted promotion to the higher post, would not fall within the ambit and scope of the powers under Section 33-C (2). The claim being not based on any pre-existing benefit or flowing from pre-existing right, the necessary preconditions for invocation of powers of the Labour Court under Section 33-C (2) did not exist, and as such the Labour Court has rightly rejected the claim.

29. Counsel for the petitioner has not been able to point out any material error or infirmity in the order passed by the Labour Court so as to warrant inference.

30. The writ petition is devoid of merits and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1710

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON'BLE PANKAJ BHATIA, J.

Writ C No. 31072 of 2009

Gayur & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Gaurav Sisodia, Sri Madhusudan Dikshit.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Brijesh Ojha, Sri P.K. Singh.

A. Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 - Section 3, 4 and Section 10(3) - if after notification u/s 10(3), the land is vested in the State Government, but possession not taken, the entire proceeding stands lapsed.

Held-: If after the notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 the land is vested in the State Government but the possession has not been taken by the State Government or an officer nominated by the State Government or the competent authority, then in that event the proceedings shall be lapsed. However, the compensation paid to the land owner shall be got refunded. (Para 36)

B. Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 - Section 10 (5) & 10 (6) - In any view of the matter, if the possession has not been taken in terms of Sections 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, the petitioners are entitled for the benefit under Sections 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act. We find that the ceiling proceeding stood lapsed and the petitioners are entitled to land in question which has been declared surplus. If the claim of the Saharanpur Development Authority that it has raised construction over the land in question is correct, it would be open to the petitioners to take recourse to such remedy which is available under the law. (Para 45)

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. St. of U.P. Vs Hari Ram-(2013) 4 SCC 280

2. State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others, (2013) 4 SCC 280

3. St. of U.P. & anr. Vs Nek Singh,2010 Law Suit (All) 3581 2010 (81) AllLR 456

4. Ram Chandra Pandey Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2010 (82) ALR 136

5. Ehsan Vs St. of U.P. & anr., Writ-C No. 21009 of 2012, decided on 08.10.2018

6. Lalji Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2018 LawSuit (All) 1276: 2018 (5) ADJ 566

7. Yasin & ors. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2014 (4) ADJ 305 (DB)

8. St. of Assam Vs Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma & ors., (2015) 5 SCC 321

9. St. of U.P. & ors. Vs Surendra Pratap & ors. MANU/SC/0588/2016: AIR 2016 SC 2712: 2016 LawSuit (SC) 501.

10. Shiv Ram Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors., (2015) 5 AWC 4918

11. Gajanan Kamlya Patil Vs Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth. & ors., JT 2014 (3) SC 211

12. St. of U.P. Vs Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd., 2005 (60) AllLR 535

13. St. of U.P. Vs Hart Ram, (2005) 60 AllLR 535, 2005 (60) AllLR 535

14. St. of U.P. Thru Secy Avas Avam Shahri Niyojan Vs Ruknuddin & ors.

15. Rati Ram Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2018) (4) ALJ 338

16. Mohd. Islam & 3 Others Vs St. of U.P. in Writ Petition No. 15864 of (2015)

17. Mohammad Suaif & anr. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2005 (60) AllLR 535

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J)

1. The petitioners have instituted this writ proceedings for issuance of a writ of mandamus directing the respondents not to compel them to handover the possession of the land, which is said to be declared surplus under the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (for short Act No. 33 of 1976)1. They claim to be true and actual owner of this land.

2. The facts which emerge from the material on the record are that the petitioners claim to be owner of Plot Nos. 250, 251 and 283M situated in Village Chak Adampur, district Saharanpur. A proceeding under the Act, 1976 was initiated against the father of the petitioners, Yusuf, for declaration of the surplus land. The petitioners' father had filed a statement under sub-section (1) of Section 6 of the Act, 1976. On the basis of the said statement Case/ Suit No. 2201/1976, State v. Yusuf, was registered. A statement under sub-section (3) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 was issued on 06th November, 1978, wherein total 8196.80 square meters land was proposed to be surplus inclusive of 2000 square meters land from Khasra Nos. 250, 251 and 283 and accordingly, by excluding said 2000 square meters of land, only 6196.80 square meters of land was proposed to be declared surplus. The said statement is said to be served upon the tenure holder on 30th November, 1978 through the process server. In response thereto, the petitioners' father had filed an objection on 12th December, 1978. The Prescribed Authority passed an order on 27th November, 1980 under sub-section (4) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 and the final statement under Section 9 of the Act, 1976 was issued on 02nd April, 1981. It is stated that it was served on the tenure holder on 06th April, 1981. Thereafter the matter was sent for publication in the Government Gazette in terms of sub-section (1) of Section 10 and sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 on 28th February, 1983 and 18th December, 1986 respectively. After the notification, a notice under Sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was issued on 29th October, 1987 calling upon the tenure holder to surrender the possession. This notice is alleged to be served upon the tenure holder personally by process server on 20th November, 1987. The State claimed that the possession has been taken pursuant to the said notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 on 31st November, 1987, the name of the State Government has been recorded in the revenue record on 06th March, 1993 and the surplus land has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority, Saharanpur on 29th June, 2002.

3. It is asserted by the petitioners that they are still in physical and cultivatory possession of the land which has been declared surplus. The petitioners have also averred that no notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was issued to the petitioners and they have never signed any document regarding the delivery of possession. It is also averred that no forceful possession under the provisions of sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was taken by the State from the petitioners or actual tenure holder (father of the petitioners). The petitioners have also averred that they have not received any compensation of the land, which has been declared surplus. It is further stated that for the first time the name of the State Government was mutated in the revenue records on 06th February, 2008, after about ten years of coming into force of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (Act 15 of 1999)2. It is stated that the State Government is alleged to have transferred the land in favour of the Saharanpur Development Authority on 29th January, 2002, much after coming into force of the Repeal Act. In the Dakhalnama it is clearly recorded that the land is agricultural land, which shows that at the time of handing over possession to the Saharanpur Development Authority the land was not an urban land and it was agricultural land. The petitioners claim that they are still in possession.

4. It is stated that under Section 2(o) of the Act, 1976 the "urban land" is defined, it does not include the land which is mainly used for the purpose of agriculture. Section 2(q) also provides "vacant land", not being land mainly for the purpose of agriculture.

5. Counter affidavits have been filed on behalf of the State authorities and the Saharanpur Development Authority.

6. The stand taken in the counter affidavit of the State is that after the publication in the Government gazette under sub-section (1) of Section 10 and sub-section (3) of Section (10) of the Act, 1976 the land vests in the State Government. Thereafter a notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was issued on 29th October, 1987 and the same was served upon the tenure holder through the process server personally on 20th November, 1987. It is further stated that after adopting all the proceedings according to law on the aforesaid declared surplus land, the possession was taken by the State on 31st November, 1987 and thereafter the aforesaid surplus land has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority on 29th January, 2002 for construction of Awas Yojna. In support of the fact that the possession has already been taken much before the Repeal Act came into force, a xerox copy of the possession order/ letter dated 31st November, 1987 is annexed along with the counter affidavit.

7. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the Saharanpur Development Authority it is stated that the stand taken by the tenure holder Yusuf in his application dated 12th December, 1978 that his land be exempted under Section 20 of the Act, 1976 on the ground that the disputed land was being used for the agricultural purpose, was not found correct whereas the competent authority has found that the disputed land was not agricultural land. It is stated that after the land was declared surplus by the competent authority on 27th November, 1980, the notifications under sub-sections (1) and (3) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 were made on 24th February, 1983 and 04th December, 1986 respectively. Thus, the disputed land stood vested in the State Government. It is stated that notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was issued to the tenure holder on 01st October, 1987, which was served upon him and pursuant thereto the possession memo was prepared on 31st November, 1987. The said Dakhalnama is on the record as CA-5 to the counter affidavit. Later, the State Government has transferred the property to the Saharanpur Development Authority on 29th January, 2002 for being utilized in its residential schemes. Subsequent transfer/ possession memo dated 29th January, 2002 was executed by the Revenue Inspector, Saharanpur (as representative of the Zila Adhikari, Saharanpur), Tehsildar Saharanpur, Surveyor Urban Land Ceiling and Junior Engineer Saharanpur Development Authority (as representative of the Vice-Chairman of the Saharanpur Development Authority). The said possession memo is on the record as annexure-CA-6 to the counter affidavit.

8. We have heard Sri Madhusudan Dixit, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel and learned counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority.

9. Sri Madhusudan Dixit, learned counsel for the petitioners, submitted that the proceedings stood abated in terms of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. It is submitted that the expression "deemed to have acquired" or "deemed to have vested" would not be applicable if the State fails to establish that the actual possession has been taken in terms of sub-section (5) of Section 10 and sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976. He submitted that in terms of the notice issued under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 the tenure holder has not handed over possession to the Collector, which is evident from the material on the record. He further submitted that from the pleadings of the respondents in their counter affidavits it is clear that recourse to sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 has not been taken as there is no pleading in the counter affidavits that forcible possession has been taken under sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976. Moreover, the State has failed to point out any document in the original record showing taking over the forcible possession.

10. Sri Dixit has drawn our attention to the Dakhalnama and the averments made in the counter affidavits filed on behalf of the State and the Saharanpur Development Authority that the possession has been taken on 31st November, 2002, which is non-existent date on calender and the repeated reference of the said date not only in the original records but also in the affidavits filed on behalf of both the respondents clearly demonstrate that the documents showing possession is a paper work in the office of the concerned respondent. He has further pointed out that it is not the case of the respondents that tenure holder voluntarily surrendered the possession. Thus, it was imperative that the possession should have been taken in terms of sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 and there is no pleading in the affidavits of the respondents that forcible possession from the tenure holder was taken.

11. He further urged that from the memo of possession it is evident that the tenure holder was not present at the time of delivery of possession and on the possession memo there is no signature of the tenure holder. This fact clearly shows that the petitioners have not given possession voluntarily pursuant to the notice issued under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976. In view of the said facts, it is urged that the proceedings stood abated as the tenure holders are still in possession of the surplus land when the Repeal Act came into force.

12. He urged that the notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 was issued on 29th October, 1987 and is alleged to have been served upon Yusuf on 20th November, 1987 and the possession is taken on 31st November, 1987 i.e. before expiry of 30 days. Learned counsel for the petitioners asserted that the Directions, issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976, namely, The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 19833 has been completely ignored in taking the possession.

13. He submitted that the petitioners' land is agricultural land as defined under Sections 2(o) and 2(q) of the Act, 1976, which is evident from the possession memo dated 31st November, 1987 when land was alleged to be transferred to the Saharanpur Development Authority and it is recorded therein that land is agricultural land. It was sought to be urged that transfer of land to the Saharanpur Development Authority is no transfer in the eye of law because the State had not taken possession in accordance with law, therefore, it had no authority to transfer it in favour of the Saharanpur Development Authority.

14. Sri Dixit has placed reliance on the judgments of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh v. Hari Ram4; Special Leave Petition (C) No. 16582 of 2014 decided with Special Leave Petition (C) No. 38922 of 2013, State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others, on 19th January, 2016; and the judgments of this Court in State of U.P. and another v. Nek Singh5; Ram Chandra Pandey v. State of U.P. and others6; Ehsan v. State of U.P. and another7; Lalji v. State of U.P. and others8; and Yasin and others v. State of U.P. and others9.

15. We had summoned the original record as there was serious dispute with regard to taking over of physical possession of the surplus land. We have perused the original records. Possession memo is dated 31(Sic) November, 1987. One Sarjeet Singh, Bhulekh Nirikshak, and the Lekhpal of the area have taken the possession. Petitioners or their father did not sign on the possession memo. There is no explanation in counter affidavits filed by the respondents on this aspect.

16. We have pointed out to the learned Standing Counsel that in the original dakhalnama the date has been mentioned as 31st November, 1987, which is apparently incorrect as the month of November is always of 30 days. Learned Standing Counsel has not taken a stand that it was a typographical error. Moreover, in both the counter affidavits filed by the State authorities and the Saharanpur Development Authority the same date has been mentioned in several paragraphs of the affidavits. Hence, there is no stand taken by the respondents that the said date appears to be recorded inadvertently or it is a typographical error. Even at this stage learned Standing Counsel has not tried to explain this apparent error. Hence, we are not in a position to treat the obvious mistake as typographical or inadvertent mistake.

17. Learned Standing Counsel submitted that after the notifications under sub-section (1) and sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 the land stood vested in the State Government and a notice was served upon the petitioners under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 personally by the process server on 20th November, 1987 and thereafter on 31st November, 1987 the possession has been taken. Hence, the proceedings cannot be said to be abated under the Repeal Act.

18. Learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance on the judgments of the Supreme Court in the cases of State of Assam v. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others10 and State of U.P. and others v. Surendra Pratap and others11, and judgment of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh v. State of U.P. and others12.

19. Learned counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority has adopted the submissions of learned Standing Counsel.

20. It is apposite at this stage to set out relevant provisions of the Acts and the executive orders issued from time to time.

21. Section 2(o) of the Act, 1976 defines "urban land" and Section 2(q) defines "vacant land". Section 6 of the Act, 1976 provides that owner of the land shall submit a statement giving detail of the vacant land. Section 8(1) enjoins that the competent authority shall get a survey of the land conducted and on the basis of the said survey a draft statement under sub-section (3) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 was required to be served upon the land owner calling for objection to the said statement within thirty days and the order is passed under sub-section (4) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 and later a notification is issued under sub-section (1) of Section 10 for publication in the Gazette giving particulars of the vacant land. Thereafter another notice is published stating that the land shall be deemed to have been vested on the Government free from all encumbrances. Thereafter a notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 is issued calling upon the land owner to hand over possession of the land declared surplus. If the land owner fails to handover the possession voluntarily in response to the aforementioned notice, sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 confers a power upon the competent authority to take forceful possession. For the sake of convenience, Sections 2(o), 2(q) and sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 are reproduced hereunder:

"2(o) "urban land" means,--

(i) any land situated within the limits of an urban agglomeration and referred to as such in the master plan; or

(ii) in a case where there is no master plan, or where the master plan does not refer to any land as urban land, any land within the limits of an urban agglomeration and situated in any area included within the local limits of a municipality (by whatever name called), a notified area committee, a town area committee, a city and town committee, a small town committee, a cantonment board or a panchayat, but does not include any such land which is mainly used for the purpose of agriculture.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this clause and clause (q),--

(A) "agriculture" includes horticulture, but does not include--

(i) raising of grass,

(ii) dairy farming,

(iii) poultry farming,

(iv) breeding of live-stock, and

(v) such cultivation, or the growing of such plant, as may be prescribed;

(B) land shall not be deemed to be used mainly for the purpose of agriculture, if such land is not entered in the revenue or land records before the appointed day as for the purpose of agriculture:

Provided that where on any land which is entered in the revenue or land records before the appointed day as for the purpose of agriculture, there is a building which is not in the nature of a farm-house, then, so much of the extent of such land as is occupied by the building shall not be deemed to be used mainly for the purpose of agriculture:

Provided further that if any question arises whether any building is in the nature of a farm-house, such question shall be referred to the State Government and the decision of the State Government thereon shall be final;

(C) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (B) of this Explanation, land shall not be deemed to be mainly used for the purpose of agriculture if the land has been specified in the master plan for a purpose other than agriculture;"

"2(q) "vacant land" means land, not being land mainly used for the purpose of agriculture, in an urban agglomeration, but does not include--

(i) land on which construction of a building is not permissible under the building regulations in force in the area in which such land is situated;

(ii) in an area where there are building regulations, the land occupied by any building which has been constructed before, or is being constructed on, the appointed day with the approval of the appropriate authority and the land appurtenant to such building; and

(iii) in an area where there are no building regulations, the land occupied by any building which has been constructed before, or is being constructed on, the appointed day and the land appurtenant to such building:

Provided that where any person ordinarily keeps his cattle, other than for the purpose of dairy farming or for the purpose of breeding of live-stock, on any land situated in a village within an urban agglomeration (described as a village in the revenue records), then, so much extent of the land as has been ordinarily used for the keeping of such cattle immediately before the appointed day shall not be deemed to be vacant land for the purposes of this clause."

"10(5) Where any vacant land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3), the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person who may be in possession of it to surrender or deliver possession thereof to the State Government or to any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf within thirty days of the service of the notice."

"10(6) If any person refuses or fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land or cause it to be given to the concerned State Government or to any person duly authorised by such State Government in this behalf and may for that purpose use such force as may be necessary.

Explanation.--In this section, in sub-section (1) of section 11 and in sections 14 and 23, "State Government", in relation to--

(a) any vacant land owned by the Central Government, means the Central Government;

(b) any vacant land owned by any State Government and situated in the Union territory or within the local limits of a cantonment declared as such under section 3 of the Cantonments Act, 1924 (2 of 1924), means that State Government."

22. Section 11 of the Act, 1976 enjoins that compensation shall be paid to the land owner.

23. In exercise of the powers under Section 35 of the Act, 1976 the State Government issued the Directions, 1983 known as The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976) which is reproduced below:

"The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of 1976 Act):

"In exercise of the powers under Section 35 of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (Act No.33 of 1976), the Governor is pleased to issue the following directions relating to the powers and duties of the competent authority in respect of amount referred to in Section 11 of the aforesaid Act to the person or persons entitled thereto:

1. Short title, application and commencement.-- These Directions may be called the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983*

(2) The provisions contained in this direction shall be subjected to the provisions of any directions or rules or orders issued by the Central Government with such directions or rules or orders.

(3) They shall come into force with effect from the date of publication in the gazette.

2. Definitions.--* * **

3. Procedure for taking possession of vacant land in excess of ceiling limit.--(1) The competent authority will maintain a register in Form No.ULC -1 for each case regarding which notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act is published in the gazette.*

*4. (1) * * **

(2) An order in Form No. ULC-II will be sent to each land holder as prescribed under sub-section (5) of Section 109 of the Act and the date of issue and service of the order will be entered in Column 8 of Form No. ULC-I.

(3) On possession of the excess vacant land being taken in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, entries will be made in a register in Form ULC-III and also in Column 9 of the Form No. ULC-1. The competent authority shall in token of verification of the entries, put his signatures in Column 11 of Form No. ULC-1 and Column 10 of Form No. ULC-III.

Form No. ULC-1

Register of notice under Sections 10(3) and 10(5)

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11

Sl. No.	Sl. No. of register of receipt	Sl. No. of register of taking possession	Case Number	Date of Notification under Section 10(3)	Land to be acquired village Mohali	Date of taking over possession	Remarks	Signature of competent authority

Form No. ULC-II

Notice order under Section 10(5)

[See clause (2) of Direction (3)]

In the court of competent authority

U.L.C. .....

No..... Date .....

Sri/Smt..... T/o .....

In exercise of the powers vested under Section 10(5) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (Act No.33 of 1976), you are hereby informed that vide Notification No..... dated ..... under Section 10(1) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated ..... following land has vested absolutely in the State free from all encumbrances as a consequence Notification under Section 10(3) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated ..... Notification No..... dated .... With effect from ..... you are hereby ordered to surrender or deliver the possession of the land to the Collector of the District Authorised in this behalf under Notification No.324/II-27- U.C.77 dated February 9, 1977, published in the gazette, dated March 12, 1977, within thirty days from the date of receipt of this order otherwise action under sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act will follow.

Description of vacant land

Location	Khasra No. identification	Area	Remarks
1	2	3	4

Competent Authority

.....

No. .....

Dated.....

Copy forwarded to the Collector ..... with the request that action for immediate taking over of the possession of the above detailed surplus land and its proper maintenance may, kindly be taken an intimation be given to the undersigned along with the copy of certificate to verify.

Competent Authority

....."

24. The Act, 1976 was repealed by the Parliament pursuant to the resolutions passed by the State Legislatures of Haryana and Punjab empowering the Parliament to repeal the Act, 1976 in those States. Accordingly, the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (Act 15 of 1999) was passed by the Parliament. Subsequently, it was open to the other States also to adopt the Repeal Act by resolution and accordingly, the Act, 1976 would stand repealed in such State from the date of adoption of the Repeal Act. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, the Repeal Act was adopted on 18th March, 1999. Sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Repeal Act provides that if the possession has not been taken, the proceeding under the Act, 1976 shall stand abated. For convenience, Section 3 of the Repeal Act is reproduced as under:

"3. Saving.-- (1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect--

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section 10, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where--

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land

then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government."

25. The only question which falls for determination is whether the possession taken by the respondents-State functionaries on 31st November, 1987 is a valid and legal and in case it is found that the said possession was illegal and void, in that event whether the proceedings shall stand abated in terms of Section 3 of the Repeal Act or not. An ancillary question also arises as to whether the possession can be taken by the Revenue Inspector and the Lekhpal as representative of the District Magistrate.

26. The Supreme Court in the case of Hari Ram (supra) went elaborately into all implications of the statutory provisions and the directions issued by the State of U.P., wherein detailed procedures have been laid down for taking possession of surplus land. It is worthwhile to mention that the Directions, 1983 has statutory flavour as it has been issued under Section 35 of the Act, 1976. In the said case, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"30. Vacant land, it may be noted, is not actually acquired but deemed to have been acquired, in that deeming things to be what they are not. Acquisition, therefore, does not take possession unless there is an indication to the contrary. It is trite law that in construing a deeming provision, it is necessary to bear in mind the legislative purpose. The purpose of the Act is to impose ceiling on vacant land, for the acquisition of land in excess of the ceiling limit thereby to regulate construction on such lands, to prevent concentration of urban lands in hands of few persons, so as to bring about equitable distribution. For achieving that object, various procedures have to be followed for acquisition and vesting. When we look at those words in the above setting and the provisions to follow such as sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10, the words "acquired" and "vested" have different meaning and content. Under Section 10(3), what is vested is de jure possession not de facto, for more reasons than one because we are testing the expression on a statutory hypothesis and such an hypothesis can be carried only to the extent necessary to achieve the legislative intent.

Voluntary surrender

31. The "vesting" in sub-section (3) of Section 10, in our view, means vesting of title absolutely and not possession though nothing stands in the way of a person voluntarily surrendering or delivering possession. The Court in Maharaj Singh v. State of U.P.13, while interpreting Section 117(1) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 held that "vesting" is a word of slippery import and has many meaning and the context controls the text and the purpose and scheme project the particular semantic shade or nuance of meaning. The Court in Rajendra Kumar v. Kalyan14 held as follows: (SCC p. 114, para 28)

"28. ...We do find some contentious substance in the contextual facts, since vesting shall have to be a "vesting" certain. 'To "vest", generally means to give a property in.' (Per Brett, L.J. Coverdale v. Charlton15 : Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, 5th Edn. Vol. VI.) Vesting in favour of the unborn person and in the contextual facts on the basis of a subsequent adoption after about 50 years without any authorization cannot however but be termed to be a contingent event. To 'vest', cannot be termed to be an executor devise. Be it noted however, that 'vested' does not necessarily and always mean 'vest in possession' but includes 'vest in interest' as well."

32. We are of the view that so far as the present case is concerned, the word "vesting" takes in every interest in the property including de jure possession and, not de facto but it is always open to a person to voluntarily surrender and deliver possession, under Section 10(3) of the Act.

33. Before we examine sub-section (5) and sub-section (6) of Section 10, let us examine the meaning of sub-section (4) of Section 10 of the Act, which says that during the period commencing on the date of publication under sub-section (1), ending with the day specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3), no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift or otherwise, any excess vacant land, specified in the notification and any such transfer made in contravention of the Act shall be deemed to be null and void. Further, it also says that no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land. Therefore, from the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made in sub-section (3), there is no question of disturbing the possession of a person, the possession, therefore, continues to be with the holder of the land.

Peaceful dispossession

34. Sub-section (5) of Section 10, for the first time, speaks of "possession" which says where any land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10, the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person, who may be in possession of it to surrender or transfer possession to the State Government or to any other person, duly authorized by the State Government.

35. If de facto possession has already passed on to the State Government by the two deeming provisions under sub-section (3) to Section 10, there is no necessity of using the expression "where any land is vested" under sub-section (5) to Section 10. Surrendering or transfer of possession under sub-section (3) to Section 10 can be voluntary so that the person may get the compensation as provided under Section 11 of the Act early. Once there is no voluntary surrender or delivery of possession, necessarily the State Government has to issue notice in writing under sub-section (5) to Section 10 to surrender or deliver possession. Sub-section (5) of Section 10 visualizes a situation of surrendering and delivering possession, peacefully while sub-section (6) of Section 10 contemplates a situation of forceful dispossession.

Forceful dispossession

36. The Act provides for forceful dispossession but only when a person refuses or fails to comply with an order under sub-section (5) of Section 10. Sub-section (6) to Section 10 again speaks of "possession" which says, if any person refuses or fails to comply with the order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land to be given to the State Government and for that purpose, force - as may be necessary - can be used. Sub-section (6), therefore, contemplates a situation of a person refusing or fails to comply with the order under sub-section (5), in the event of which the competent authority may take possession by use of force. Forcible dispossession of the land, therefore, is being resorted only in a situation which falls under sub-section (6) and not under sub-section (5) to Section 10. Sub-sections (5) and (6), therefore, take care of both the situations, i.e. taking possession by giving notice that is "peaceful dispossession" and on failure to surrender or give delivery of possession under Section 10(5), than "forceful dispossession" under sub-section (6) of Section 10."

27. The same issue with regard to peaceful possession and forceful possession in terms of sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 has been elaborately considered again by the Supreme Court in the case of Gajanan Kamlya Patil v. Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth. & ors.16. The Supreme Court followed its earlier judgment in State of U.P. v. Hari Ram (supra). In this case the Supreme Court extensively quoted with approval Paragraphs-30 to 36 of Hari Ram (supra). The relevant part of the judgment of Gajanan Kamlya Patil (supra) is extracted below:

"13. We have, therefore, clearly indicated that it was always open to the authorities to take forcible possession and, in fact, in the notice issued under Section 10(5) of the ULC Act, it was stated that if the possession had not been surrendered, possession would be taken by application of necessary force. For taking forcible possession, certain procedures had to be followed. Respondents have no case that such procedures were followed and forcible possession was taken. Further, there is nothing to show that the Respondents had taken peaceful possession, nor there is anything to show that the Appellants had given voluntary possession. Facts would clearly indicate that only de jure possession had been taken by the Respondents and not de facto possession before coming into force of the repeal of the Act. Since there is nothing to show that de facto possession had been taken from the Appellants prior to the execution of the possession receipt in favour of MRDA, it cannot hold on to the lands in question, which are legally owned and possessed by the Appellants. Consequently, we are inclined to allow this appeal and quash the notice dated 17.2.2005 and subsequent action taken therein in view of the repeal of the ULC Act. The above reasoning would apply in respect of other appeals as well and all proceedings initiated against the Appellants, therefore, would stand quashed."

28. In Special Leave Petition (C) No. 16582 of 2014 (supra), the Supreme Court has held as under:

"...As could be seen from the Possession Certificate under Section 10(6) of the repealed ULC Act, District Magistrate, who has been authorised, possession of the land in question was not taken. The Tehsildar was given liberty to make the mutation proceedings and make entry in the Revenue Record after taking over possession as provided under Section 10(6) of the ULC Act and inform the same to the competent authority. The possession of the land in question is not taken from the declarant or his legal representatives in accordance with Section 10(6) of the ULC Act, from the original record it is noted that, there is no signature of taking over possession from the declarant or the legal representatives, more so, the competent authority has no power to nominate officer on behalf of the State Government to take possession as provided under Section 10(6) of the ULC Act, therefore, we are not inclined to interfere with the impugned order."

29. In Special Leave Petition (C) No. 17799 of 2015 (supra), which was also taken up with Special Leave Petition (C) No. 38922 of 2013, State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others, vide order dated 19th January, 2016 the Supreme Court has held as under:

"As could be seen from the original record, possession of the land in question is taken neither by the competent authority or his authorised representative by following the procedure as laid down under Section 10(5) and Section 10(6) of the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act, 1976 (now repealed), therefore, the impugned order cannot be interfered. Hence, the special leave petition is liable to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed accordingly."

30. We find that this Court has also followed the same principle in long line of decisions. A Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. and another v. Nek Singh17 followed the judgments of earlier Division Benches of this Court in State of U.P. v. Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd.18 and State of U.P. v. Hart Ram19, and held as under:

"[9] Otherwise also, the statutory benefit of the Repealing Act is also available to the landholder-respondent in the fact-situation of the matter, as the taking of the "possession" in the present case was neither de jure nor de facto. The term "possession" as per sections 3 and 4 of the Repealing Act and section 10(6) of the U.L.C.R. Act means and implies the lawful "possession" after "due compliance of the statutory provisions". In State of U.P. v. Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd., 1999 4 AWC 3324, a Division Bench of this Court has held that where possession has been taken, its legality is to be decided on merits. Similarly, another Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. v. Hart Ram, 2005 60 AllLR 535, has held that "in case possession is purported to be taken under section 10(6) of the Act, still Court is required to examine whether 'taking of such possession' is valid or invalidated on any of the considerations in law. If Court finds that one or more grounds exist which show that the process of possession, though claimed under section 10(5) or 10(6) of the Act is unlawful or vitiated in law, then such possession will have no recognition in law and it will have to be ignored and treated as of no legal consequence"..."

31. In State of U.P. Thru Secy Avas Avam Shahri Niyojan v. Ruknuddin and others20 the issue whether the possession had been taken from the tenure holder complying with the provisions of Section 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976 came to be considered by this Court. After perusing the original record the Court has held as under:

"We having gone through the records and we find that the possession memo which was prepared on 22/23.03.1998, no where indicates as to how possession was taken and what is the name of witness in whose presence such possession was taken. There is no name indicated in the writ petition filed by the State or even in the rejoinder affidavit. The name of the Lekhpal in whose presence the alleged possession is said to have been taken has not been mentioned and the printed proforma of the possession memo is blank to that effect. The question as to how the factum of taking actual physical possession has been established by the State was discussed by a Division Bench in the case of Mohd. Islam & 3 Others Vs. State of U.P. in Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. The said decision was quoted with approval by a Division Bench in the case of Rati Ram Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2018 (4) ALJ 338 paragraph no. 8 as follows:-

"8. The 'Dakhalnama' a certified copy whereof has been produced before us does not even bear the signatures of any attesting witness. We find this to be a lapse and patent illegality the benefit whereof has to be given to the land holder in view of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Mohd. Islam and 3 others v. State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. It was also a case of District-Saharanpur. We extract paragraph Nos. 44 to 47 of the said judgment which are as under:

"44. Since, in the present case, neither factum of taking actual physical possession by Competent Authority under Ceiling Act has been fortified by placing any document nor factum of possession of Development Authority at any point of time has been shown, therefore, argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel on the basis of State of Assam (supra) will not help.

45. Viewed from the above exposition of law we find in the present case that no such exercise of issuing notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and thereafter execution of memo on the spot had taken place which is mandatory for ceiling authorities as admittedly the original tenure-holder and then his successors had never voluntarily surrendered the possession of land. In the absence of voluntary surrender of possession of surplus land, the authorities were required to proceed with forcible possession. The document of possession memo would not by itself evidence the actual taking of possession unless it is witnessed by two independent persons acknowledging the act of forcible possession. As discussed above in the earlier part of this judgment we are not able to accept the alleged possession memo worth calling a document as such in the absence of certain requisites, nor does it bear the details of witnesses who signed the document. It bears mainly signatures of Chackbandi Lekhpal, a person taking possession and then the document has been directed to be kept on file. This is no way of taking forcible possession nor, a document worth calling possession memo. A mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) and notice under Section 10(5) regarding delivery of possession does not amount to actual delivery of possession of land more especially in the face of the fact that the tenureholder had in fact not voluntarily made surrender of possession of surplus land and no proceeding under Section 10(6) had taken place.

46. Since, we have held that possession memo dated 20.06.1993 is not a possession memo and is a void document for want of necessary compliance under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled to the benefit under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 that came into force w.e.f. 20.03.1999.

47. We may also place on record that respondents claim that possession of land in question was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority pursuant to Government Order dated 29.12.1984 but here also we find that no material has been placed on record to show that any such actual physical possession was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority and the said authority is in de facto possession of land in dispute. Except bare averment made in the counter-affidavit respondent have not chosen to place anything on record to support the stand that de facto possession over land in dispute is that of Saharanpur Development Authority. Therefore even this stand has no legs to stand and is rejected."

32. A Division Bench of this Court in Ram Chandra Pandey (supra) has held thus:

"34. In the background of the facts of this case and the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties as well as on perusal of the record produced by the learned Standing Counsel, especially the document by which possession of the land is said to have been taken from the grand father of the petitioner late, Dhani Ram, we are not satisfied that actual physical possession of the plots in question was ever taken by the State Government. From the record, we find that the memo of possession prepared in the present case is nothing but a mere noting of three officials of the State Government made on 2.4.1992, which is also not on the proper format and appears to have been prepared by the State officials in their office, and as such no authenticity can be attached to the same. On such memorandum, there is no signature of the grand father of the petitioner (late Dhani Ram) or any independent person to show that actual physical possession had been delivered to the State Government. More so, the name of late Dhani Ram continued in the revenue record till his death in the year 1995 and thereafter the name of the petitioner was admittedly recorded in the Khasra and Khatauni in the year 1996, which continued so till the passing of the exparte order in 2004, where after also the land revenue was being accepted from the petitioner."

33. In Ehsan (supra) a Division Bench of this Court has held in the following terms:

"...Even otherwise the document which has been filed as Annexure No. 1 to the counter affidavit is a report and not the actual possession memo. It also records that Bashir, who is the father of the petitioner refused to sign on the proceedings while possession was taken and the petitioner was not present at the time. It is, therefore, clear that this was a sheer paper transaction prepared before the expiry of the statutory period of 30 days and if the petitioner had not handed over voluntary possession, the dispossession could have been possible only by complying with the provisions of section 10(6) of 1970 Act. No such procedure has been followed nor any such evidence is on record.

*** *** ***

The law relating to taking over possession and the manner of preparation of possession memo has been explained in various judgements. Reference be had to in all such matters where the State relies on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma & Others 2015 (5) SCC 321 that has been followed by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2015 (5) AWC 4918. In the instant case the aforesaid judgments would not apply in view of the peculiar facts of this case as discussed herein. To the contrary since taking over of possession by the State has not been established in the present case, the issue stands covered by the decision of the Apex Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram 2013 (4) SCC 280 and the decision in the case of Raghbir Singh Sehrawat Vs. State of Haryana & Others 2012 (1) SCC 792 as well as the Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Yasin Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2014 (4) ADJ 305. The latest Division Bench of this Court with which we find ourselves in complete agreement with is in the case of Lalji Vs. State of U.P. & 2 Others 2018 (5) ADJ 541 that has been delivered after taking into account the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Bhasker Jyoti Sharma (supra).

34. Pertinently, in respect of the Saharanpur Development Authority the same issue was considered in the case of Rati Ram v. State of U.P. and others21, wherein the Division Bench of this Court has held as under:

"8. The 'Dakhalnama' a certified copy whereof has been produced before us does not even bear the signatures of any attesting witness. We find this to be a lapse and patent illegality the benefit whereof has to be given to the land holder in view of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Mohd. Islam and 3 others v. State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. It was also a case of District- Saharanpur. We extract paragraph Nos. 44 to 47 of the said judgment which are as under:

"44. Since, in the present case, neither factum of taking actual physical possession by Competent Authority under Ceiling Act has been fortified by placing any document nor factum of possession of Development Authority at any point of time has been shown, therefore, argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel on the basis of State of Assam (supra) will not help.

45. Viewed from the above exposition of law we find in the present case that no such exercise of issuing notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and thereafter execution of memo on the spot had taken place which is mandatory for ceiling authorities as admittedly the original tenure-holder and then his successors had never voluntarily surrendered the possession of land. In the absence of voluntary surrender of possession of surplus land, the authorities were required to proceed with forcible possession. The document of possession memo would not by itself evidence the actual taking of possession unless it is witnessed by two independent persons acknowledging the act of forcible possession. As discussed above in the earlier part of this. judgment we are not able to accept the alleged possession memo worth calling a document as such in the absence of certain requisites, nor does it bear the details of witnesses who signed the document. It bears mainly signatures of Chackbandi Lekhpal, a person taking possession and then the document has been directed to be kept on file. This is no way of taking forcible possession nor, a document worth calling possession memo. A mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) and notice under Section 10(5) regarding delivery of possession does not amount to actual delivery of possession of land more especially in the face of the fact that the tenureholder had in fact not voluntarily made surrender of possession of surplus land and no proceeding under Section 10(6) had taken place.

46. Since, we have held that possession memo dated 20.06.1993 is not a possession memo and is a void document for want of necessary compliance under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled to the benefit under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 that came into force w.e.f. 20.03.1999.

47. We may also place on record that respondents claim that possession of land in question was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority pursuant to Government Order dated 29.12.1984 but here also we find that no material has been placed on record to show that any such actual physical possession was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority and the said authority is in de facto possession of land in dispute. Except bare averment made in the counter-affidavit respondent have not chosen to place anything on record to support the stand that de facto possession over land in dispute is that of Saharanpur Development Authority. Therefore even this stand has no legs to stand and is rejected."

35. It is apposite to mention that after the judgment of the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra), the State Government issued a Government Order dated 29th September, 2015 for compliance of the judgement and extensively quoted the relevant parts of the judgement, which deals with possession. It is mentioned that if after issuance of the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 possession could not be taken but the owner has taken the compensation under Section 11 of the Act, 1976, in that event if owner returns the compensation, the land shall not be returned unless the amount of the compensation is not returned. The said Government order reads as under:

ष्संख्या–2228/आठ–6–15–124 यूसी/13

प्रेषक,

पनधारी यादव

सचिव,

प्रदेश शासन।

सेवा में,

जिलाधिकारी,

गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर

आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर।

आवास एवं शहरी नियोजन अनुभाग–6

लखनऊः दिनांक 29 सितम्बर 2015

विषय– नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 ततक्रम में निर्गत शासनादेश तथा मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 के सम्बन्ध में।

————

महोदय,

उपयुर्क्त विषय पर मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि भारत सरकार के अधिनियम संख्या–15/1999 दिनांक 18.03.1999 द्वारा नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) अधिनियम 1976 को निरसित करते हुए नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम 1999 प्राख्यापित किया गया जिसके क्रम में शासनादेश संख्या– 502/9– न0 भू0–99–21यू0सी0/99, दिनांक 31.03.1999 द्वारा उक्त निरसन अधिनियम को उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य में अंगीकृत किया गया। निरसन अधिनियम 1999 की धारा–3 में यह प्राविधान है कि मूल अधिनियम का निरसन निम्नलिखित को प्रभावित नहीं करेगा–

(1) (क) धारा–10 की उपधारा– (3) के अधीन ऐसी रिक्त भूमि का निहित होना, जिसका कब्जा राज्य सरकार या राज्य सरकार द्वारा इस निमित्त सम्यक रूप से अधिकश्तक किसी व्यक्ति या सक्षम प्राधिकारी ने ले लिया है।

(ख) धारा– 20 की उपधारा– (1) के अधीन छूट देने संबंधी किसी आदेश या उसके अधीन की गयी किसी कार्यवाही की किसी न्यायालय के किसी निर्णय में उसके विरुद्ध किसी बात के होते हुए भी विधिमान्यताः

(ग) धारा– 20 की उपधारा– (1) के अधीन प्रदान की गयी छूट की शर्त के रूप मे राज्य सरकार को किया गया कोई संदायः

(2) जहां–

(क) मूल अधिनियम की धारा–10 की उपधारा (3) के अधीन किसी भूमि को राज्य सरकार में निहित होना मानी गयी है किन्तु जिसका कब्जा राज्य सरकार या राज्य सरकार द्वारा इस निमित्त सम्यक रूप से प्राधिकृत किसी व्यक्ति या सक्षम प्राधिकारी द्वारा नही लिया गया : और

(ग) ऐसी किसी भूमि के बाबत जिसके लिए राज्य सरकार द्वारा किसी रकम का संदाय कर दिया गया है तब तक प्रत्यावर्तित नही की जाय और जब तक कि राज्य सरकार को संदाय की गयी रकम का यदि कोई हो, प्रतिदाय नही कर दिया जाता।

उक्त के क्रम में शासनादेश संख्या–777/9न0भू0–135 यू0सी0/99 दिनांक 09.02.2000, शासनादेश संख्या–1623/9–न0भू0–2000 दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश संख्या– 190/9–आ–6–2001 दिनांक 24.01.2001 निर्गत किये गये जिसमे मुख्य रूप से यह व्यवस्था की गई कि मूल अधिनियम धारा –8 (4) के अन्तर्गत जो भूमि रिक्त घोषित की गई थी और धारा–10 (3) के अन्तर्गत राज्य में निहित हो चुकी थी एवं धारा–10 (5) की कार्यवाही का आदेश हो चुका था परन्तु इस भूमि पर राज्य सरकार का कब्जा प्राप्त नही हो सका था, ऐसी भूमि के सम्बन्ध मे मूल भूधारक को अदा की गई धनराशि भूधारक द्वारा वापस करने पर भूमि मूल भूधारक को प्रत्यावर्तित की जा सकती है किन्तु अदा की गई धनराशि भू– धारक द्वारा वापस न करने की दशा में भूमि पर कब्जा किये जाने के सम्बन्ध मे विधि अनुसार अग्रिम कार्यवाही अमल मे लायी जाय। यह भी व्यवस्था की गई कि जिस भूमि के सम्बन्ध में धारा–10 (5) की कार्यवाही के उपरान्त धारा–10 (6) की कार्यवाही पूर्व हो चुकी है और भूमि पर राज्य सरकार द्वारा कब्जा लिया जा चुका है वह सरप्लस भूमि अन्तिम रूप से राज्य सरकार में निहित मानी जायेगी।

3. नगर भूमि सीमारोपण– गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर, आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर में लम्बित अर्बन सीलिंग प्रकरणों का समुचित रूप से निस्तारण ने होने की स्थिति मे भू–धारकों/वादियों द्वारा मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में अधिक संख्या में रिट याचिकायें योजित की जा रही है। नगर बस्ती कार्यालयों द्वारा रिट याचिकाओं में विभागीय पक्ष समयान्तर्गत साक्ष्यों सहित प्रबलता से प्रस्तुत न किये जाने के कारण मा0 न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेशों के क्रम में शासन को असमंजसपूर्ण स्थिति का सामना करना पड़ रहा है।

4. अर्बन सीलिंग के अन्य प्रकरण में राज्य सरकार द्वारा मा0 उच्चचम न्यायालय नई दिल्ली में विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम

हरीराम योजित की गयी। कालान्तर मे अन्य जनपदों के अर्बन सीलिंग से संबधित प्रकरणों मे योजित विशेष अनुमति याचिकायें उक्त विशेष अनुमति याचिका से क्लब की गयी। उक्त विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 तथा उससे क्लब अन्य विशेष अनुमति याचिकाओं में पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 मे अर्बन सीलिंग से संबधित प्रकरणों मे मार्गदर्शक सिद्धान्त प्रतिपादित किये गये हैं। निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 का महत्वपूर्ण एवं कियात्मक अंश निम्नवत हैः–

प्रस्तर– 39

The mere vesting of the land under sub-section (3) of Section 10 would not confer any right on the State Government to have de facto possession of the vacant land unless there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land before 18.3.1999. State has to establish that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession under sub-section (5) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub-section (6) of Section 10. On failure to establish any of those situations, the land owner or holder can claim the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. The State Government in this appeal could not establish any of those situations and hence the High Court is right in holding that the respondent is entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act.

प्रस्तर–40

We, therefore, find no infirmity in the judgment of the High Court and the appeal is, accordingly dismissed so also the other appeals. No documents have been produced by the State to show that the respondents had been dispossessed before coming into force of the Repeal Act and hence, the respondents are entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. However, there will be no order as to cost.

5. नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 में विहित प्राविधान तथा तत्क्रम में निर्गत शासनादेश दिनांक 09.02.2000, शासनादेश दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश दिनांक 24.01.2001 स्वतः स्पष्ट है। विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम हरीराम तथा उससे क्लब अन्य विशेष अनुमति याचिकाओं में पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 में उल्लिखित सिद्धान्त/आदेश भी स्वतः स्पष्ट हैं।

6. कृपया नगर भूमि (अधिकतम सीमा एवं विनियमन) निरसन अधिनियम, 1999 तथा उक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 09.02.2000, शासनादेश दिनांक 09.08.2000 एवं शासनादेश दिनांक 24.01.2001 में विहित व्यवस्था, विशेष अनुमति याचिका संख्या–12960/2008 उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य बनाम हरीराम में पारित मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय के निर्णय दिनांक 11.03.2013 में उल्लिखित सिद्धान्तों/आदेशों के आलोक में लम्बित प्रकरणों मे स्महंस पदहतमकपमदजे देखते हुए आवश्यक कार्यवाही की जाय।

भवदीय
ह0 अपठनीय
(पनधारी यादव)
सचिव

ख्या एवं दिनांक तदैव।

प्रतिलिपि निम्नलिखित को सूचनार्थ एवं आवश्यक कार्यवाही हेतु प्रेषित।

1. निदेशक नगर भूमि सीमारोपण, उ0प्र0 जवाहर भवन– लखनऊ

2. सक्षम प्राधिकारी नगर भूमि सीमारोपण गोरखपुर, वाराणसी, इलाहाबाद, लखनऊ, कानपुर, आगरा, मेरठ, मुरादाबाद, अलीगढ, बरेली, सहारनपुर।

3. मुख्य स्थायी अधिवक्ता मा0 उच्च न्यायालय, इलाहाबाद

4. गार्ड फाईल।

आज्ञा से

(कल्लू प्रसाद द्विवेदी)
उप सचिव।ष

36. From a perusal of the aforesaid Directions issued by the State Government in 1983 and the Government Order dated 29th September, 2015 it is evident that if after the notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 the land is vested in the State Government but the possession has not been taken by the State Government or an officer nominated by the State Government or the competent authority, then in that event the proceedings shall be lapsed. However, the compensation paid to the land owner shall be got refunded. It is also made clear that only in those cases where after the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 the possession has been taken under Section 10(6), the surplus land shall be finally vested in the State. The aforesaid Government Order has also quoted Paragraphs- 39 and 40 of the judgment of Hari Ram (supra).

37. A Division Bench of this Court in Lalji (supra), after considering the judgment of the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra) and Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra), has held as under:

"[29]. Faced with a situation where respondents could not place even an iota of evidence showing actual physical possession of disputed land by respondent, learned Standing Counsel sought to rely upon Supreme Court judgment in State of Assam Vs. Bhasker Jyoti Sharma & Ors. 2015 (5) SCC 321 and contended that irrespective of any defect in notice under Sections 10(5) or 10(6) of Act, 1976, if possession has been taken in any manner, Repeal Act 1999 will have no application.

*** *** ***

[37]. We may also mention at this stage that except bare averment that disputed land was transferred to ADA by competent Authority, no material has been placed on record about transfer of possession to ADA and infact nothing has been placed on record even to show that de facto possession of land in dispute before or after Repeal Act, 1999 is with ADA. ADA has also not placed on record anything to show that land in dispute is in its actual physical possession and in absence thereof, we had no occasion to require petitioner to prove, how de facto possession of land in dispute came in the hands of ADA. With regard to possession of land in dispute, except bare averments, nothing has been placed on record. It appears that respondents were under impression that once notification under Section 10(3) has been issued, land in dispute vested in 'State' and thereafter, irrespective of fact whether actual physical possession is taken by respondents or not, land owner would cease to have any right and Repeal Act, 1999 will have no application though this assumption on the part of respondents, as we have already discussed, stood negated by Court in State Vs. Hari Ram."

38. Learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance on a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra) and a Division Bench of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh (supra). Both the judgments have been considered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Mohammad Suaif and another v. State of U.P. and others22 and Lalji (supra).

39. In the case of Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra) the land owner has not denied the fact that possession was taken from him by the State before enactment of the Repeal Act. In view of the admitted fact the Supreme Court refused to examine the matter that whether the possession was taken forcefully or illegally. Once possession was taken by the State and land vested in the State Government, the benefit of Section 4 of the Repeal Act shall not be applicable. Hence, the said case is distinguishable as in the present case the main issue raised by the petitioners is that they are still in physical possession and the State has never taken possession from them.

40. As regards the case of Shiv Ram Singh (supra), the petitioner therein had challenged the order passed by the District Magistrate holding that the possession of the land declared surplus has been taken on 25th June, 1993, much before Repeal Act came into force. Hence, it was found that he was not entitled to the benefit of the provisions of Section 3 (2) of the Repeal Act. In the said case, the notice under Section 10(1) was issued on 15th May, 1985, thereafter on 02nd June, 1986 a notification under Section 10(3) was issued and published in the official gazette, and on 25th February, 1987 a notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 was issued. The respondents-State had taken a stand that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993 pursuant to the notice dated 25th February, 1987 i.e. prior to enforcement of the Repeal Act and in the revenue record the name of the State was mutated. The petitioner therein had earlier approached the Court by means of Writ Petition No. 47279 of 2002 claiming that he is still in possession over the land which was declared surplus, hence after the Repeal Act the possession cannot be taken over from him. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court by issuing a direction upon the District Magistrate to consider his representation. The District Magistrate, after furnishing opportunity to the petitioner, by an order dated 10th May, 2007 held that the possession has already been taken on 25th June, 1983, hence the petitioner would not be entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act. The petitioner challenged the said order of the District Magistrate after two years in July, 2009. In the meantime in the year 2008 the construction of a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) for treating 210 MLD of sewage was commenced. The Jal Nigam, in whose favour the land was transferred, filed a counter affidavit in the said writ petition and took the stand that by the time the writ petition was filed, nearly 65% of the work had been completed at a cost of Rs.73 crores and the petitioner was fully aware of the said facts but he did not file the writ petition for two years. In the light of those peculiar facts the Court did not interfere. Moreover, the Court has also found that the procedure for taking possession was followed by the administration. The District Magistrate after affording opportunity to the petitioner has recorded a finding that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993.

41. We have carefully gone through the judgment of Shiv Ram Singh (supra) and we find that the said judgment is distinguishable for the reasons recorded above.

42. Keeping in the mind the principle laid down by the Supreme Court and this Court, as indicated in the authorities referred herein-before, we find that in the counter affidavit the State has taken a very general and vague stand about the possession. In Paragraph-4 of the counter affidavit of the State the only averment made in this regard is that the process server personally served the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 on 20th November, 1987. It is also averred therein that "It is further stated that after adopting all proceeding according to law on the aforesaid declared surplus land the possession of the State Government has been taken on 31.11.1987". It is not mentioned in the counter affidavit that the petitioners have given voluntary possession after receiving the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976. From the original record it was evident that there was no material to show that the petitioners have given voluntary possession to the State authorities after receiving the notice under Section 10(5). If they had not given the voluntary possession then the only course open to the authorities was to take forceful possession under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. There is no material on the record or averment made in the counter affidavit to show that the forceful possession was taken from the petitioners under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the State, the name of the officer, who has taken the possession, is not disclosed. However, in the counter affidavit filed by the Saharanpur Development Authority it is stated that the Tehsildar has taken the possession. As mentioned above, the only document which is on the record to indicate taking over the possession is a memo dated 31st November, 1987. The said date has been mentioned in several paragraphs of the counter affidavits of the State and the Saharanpur Development Authority. The said document does not inspire any confidence. There are only thirty days in the month of November. So, apparently 31st November is a wrong date. As held by the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra) and the directions issued by the State Government in the Directions, 1983 as well as the Government Order dated 29th September, 2015, we find that the possession has not been taken in terms of the Directions, 1983 and the Government Order. The Revenue Inspector and the Lekhpal are not authorized to take possession as held in a large number of cases mentioned above.

43. As regards the stand of the State that the possession has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority, we find that except the memo of possession/ Dakhalnama, there is no other material to indicate that the possession was legally handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority. Pertinently, in the Dakhalnama it is recorded that the land is agricultural. We find merit in the submission of the petitioners that agricultural land cannot be declared surplus. But this issue was not raised seriously, hence we are not recording any finding on this issue. In the counter affidavit filed by the Saharanpur Development Authority the alleged possession is stated to have been taken on 29th January, 2002 but no detail has been mentioned regarding the construction, which has been raised. As regards the claim of the respondents that possession of the land was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority, we find that the proceedings stood abated in terms of Section 4 of the Repeal Act, therefore, any subsequent transfer is non est.

44. In addition to above, as discussed above, there is no material on the record to demonstrate that actual possession was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority except a Dakhalnama wherein the land has been shown to be agricultural land. The petitioners have brought on record the minutes of a meeting dated 18th August, 2008 of the district administration and the officials of the Saharanpur Development Authority, presided over by the District Magistrate. In the said meeting it was resolved to handover the surplus land declared under the urban ceiling to the development authority for construction of residential accommodation. In the said meeting it was resolved that the Saharanpur Development Authority shall take steps to obtain permission from the competent authority for conversion of land use. From the record it appears that before any construction started, the petitioners have obtained an interim order in the petition on 25th June, 2009. The said interim order is continuing for the last ten years. Record shows that neither the State nor the Saharanpur Development Authority has taken any step for early hearing of the matter. A general and vague statement has been made that the 'development authority is presently utilizing' the said land for development of the residential colony, wherein EWS houses are being constructed under the Manyawar Kanshiram Durbal Warg Awasiya Yojna. But except bald statement no other material is on the record to show that any construction has been made. In any view of the matter, if the possession has not been taken in terms of Sections 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled for the benefit under Sections 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act.

45. For all the reasons stated above, we find that the ceiling proceeding stood lapsed and the petitioners are entitled for the land in question which has been declared surplus. If the claim of the Saharanpur Development Authority that it has raised construction over the land in question is correct, it would be open to the petitioners to take recourse to such remedy which is available under the law.

46. With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition is allowed.

47. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1732

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 30.08.2019

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 13541 of 2016

Ram Ayodhaya Prasad ...Petitioner
Versus
Presiding Officer Labour Court Ghaziabad & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Devendra Kumar, Sri Babu Lal Ram

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Chandra Bhan Gupta.

A. Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 - Section 2(k) - services of the workman not terminated- name continued in the rolls of the employer, and back wages been directed to pay; there exist no industrial dispute; reference rightly rejected.

Held:- In the facts of the present case in the absence of any real and substantial difference existing between the parties which could be said to be connected with the employment or non-employment, or with regard to discharge, dismissal, retrenchment or termination there could not be said to be any industrial dispute subsisting, which required adjudication, and the award passed by the Labour Court which is sought to be challenged in the present petition, cannot be faulted with. (Para 24)

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Narendra Kumar Sen & ors. Vs All India Industrial Disputes (Labour Appellate) Tribunal & ors., AIR 1953 Bombay 325

2. Workmen of Dimakuchi Tea Estate Vs Management of Dimakuchi Tea Estate, AIR 1958 SC 353

3. M/s Dharam Pal Prem Chand Vs M/s. Dharam Pal Prem Chand 4 & J.H. Jadhav Vs Forbes Gokak Ltd., AIR 1966 SC 182

4. Shambu Nath Goyal Vs Bank Of Baroda, Jullundur, AIR 1978 SC 1088

5. Beetham Vs Trinidad Cement Ltd, (1960) 1 All ER 274

6. ANZ Grindlays Bank Ltd. Vs UOI & ors. (2005)12 SCC 738

7. Prabhakar Vs Joint Director, Sericulture Department, & anr. (2015)15 SCC 1

8. Conway Vs Wade, (1909) A.C.506(House of Lords)

9. Ram Singh Vs J.K. Jute Mills Co.Ltd. & ors., 2002 (95) FLR 1058

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Babu Lal Ram holding brief of Sri Devendra Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Chandra Bhan Gupta, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 2.

2. The present petition has been filed seeking to challenge the award dated 18.08.2015 passed by the Labour Court (First) U.P. Ghaziabad in Adjudication Case No. 302/86 and also the order of the same date passed upon an application under Section 6-F of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (in short 'U.P.I.D.Act, 1947'), which was registered as Misc. Case No. 15/96.

3. While considering the reference which had been made with regard to the legality/validity of the termination of the workman (petitioner herein) with effect from 10.10.1985, the Labour Court, upon taking notice of the fact that the workman had joined his duties on 12.9.1996 came to the conclusion that there did not exist any dispute regarding which the reference had been made. Thereafter, considering the grievance of the workman that he had not been paid his wages from September, 1985 upto 10.10.1985, the Labour Court held that the workman was entitled for being paid wages for the said period and no other relief was granted.

4. The application under Section 6-F of the U.P.I.D.Act, 1947 was rejected by the Labour Court vide order dated 18.08.2015 after taking into consideration the fact that the workman was continued to be shown on the rolls of the employer, and that the workman had not been able to prove the fact that his conditions of service were changed during pendency of the proceedings.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner made a feeble attempt to assail the award by raising a grievance with regard to his alleged termination dated 10.10.1985 relating to which the reference had been made. However, he did not controvert the fact that the workman had joined his duties on 12.9.1996 and as a consequence thereof there existed no dispute with regard to his termination relating to which the reference had been made.

6. The learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 2-employer submitted that it was the specific stand of the employer before the Labour Court that the services of the workman were never terminated from 10.10.1985, as stated in the reference order, and that the management had made an offer to the workman concerned to report for duty. It was also pointed out that the name of the workman was continued to be shown in the attendance register and he was on rolls of the factory even after the alleged date of termination i.e. 10.10.1985, and that the workman joined his duties on 12.9.1996 and started working. It was accordingly submitted that workman having never been terminated and subsequently having admittedly joined his duties there existed no dispute with regard to his termination which required adjudication, and in view of the same the Labour Court had rightly passed the award.

7. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

8. The core issue in the present petition revolves around the interpretation of the term 'industrial dispute'.

9. The term 'industrial dispute' as defined under Section 2 (l) of the U.P.I.D.Act, 1947 which is in similar terms as the definition contained under Section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (in short 'I.D.Act, 1947') essentially means any dispute or difference between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen, which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person.

10. As per Section 2-A of the I.D.Act, 1947 where any employer discharges, dismisses, retrenches, or otherwise terminates the services of an individual workman, any dispute or difference between that workman and his employer connected with, or arising out of, such discharge, dismissal, retrenchment or termination is deemed to be an industrial dispute.

11. The ambit and scope of the meaning of the term 'industrial dispute' came up for consideration in the case of Narendra Kumar Sen and others Vs. All India Industrial Disputes (Labour Appellate) Tribunal and others1, and upon taking into view the definition of the term under Section 2(k) of the I.D.Act, 1947 it was held that in order that a controversy between workmen and employers can become an industrial dispute, two conditions are necessary: first, it must be a dispute; and second, it must be an industrial dispute. The observations made in the judgment are as under :-

"(5) Now, in order that a controversy between workmen & employers can become an industrial dispute, two conditions are necessary. It must be a dispute and it must be an industrial dispute. There is no difficulty in understanding what "industrial dispute" is because it is clearly defined in Section 2(k). A controversy which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour is an industrial controversy. But it is not enough that it should be an industrial controversy; it must be a dispute; and in my opinion it is not every controversy or every difference of opinion between workmen and employers which is constituted a dispute or difference within the meaning of Section 2(k). A workman may have ideological differences with his employer; a workman may feel sympathetic consideration for an employee in his own industry or in other industry; a workman may feel seriously agitated about the conditions of labour outside our own country; but It is absurd to suggest that any of these factors would entitle a workman to raise an industrial dispute within the meaning of Section 2(k). The dispute contemplated by Section 2(k) is a controversy in which the workman is directly and substantially interested. It must also be a grievance felt by the workman which the employer is in a position to remedy. Both the conditions must be present; it must be a grievance of the workman himself; it must be a grievance which the employer as an employer is in a position to remedy or set right."

12. The test with regard to existence of an industrial dispute was laid down in the aforementioned judgment of Narendra Kumar Sen and others, in the following terms :-

"7...Therefore, when Section 2(k) speaks of the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of any person, it can only mean the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of only those persons in the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour of whom the workmen themselves are directly and substantially interested. If the workmen have no direct or substantial interest in the employment or non-employment of a person or in his term of employment or his conditions of labour, then an industrial dispute cannot arise with regard to such person.."

13. The scope and effect of the definition clause in Section 2(k) of the I.D.Act, 1947 again fell for consideration in the case of Workmen of Dimakuchi Tea Estate Vs. Management of Dimakuchi Tea Estate2, and upon analyzing the definition of the term 'industrial dispute' it was held that in order to fall within the scope of the definition under Section 2(k), the following conditions must be satisfied: (i) there must be a dispute or difference; (ii) the dispute or difference must be between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen; and (iii) the dispute or difference must be connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"8....If we analyse the definition clause, it falls easily and naturally into three parts: first, there must be a dispute or difference; second, the dispute or difference must be between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen or between workmen and workmen; third, the dispute or difference must be connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person..."

14. In the abovementioned case of Workmen of Dimakuchi Tea Estate after referring to 'Maxwell on the Interpretation of Statutes3' and also examining the object of the I.D.Act, 1947 and its salient features, it was observed as follows :

"9...the definition clause must be read in the context of the subject matter and scheme of the Act, and consistently with the objects and other provisions of the Act. It is well settled that "the words of a statute, when there is a doubt about their meaning are to be understood in the sense in which they best harmonise with the subject of the enactment and the object which the legislature has in view. Their meaning is found not so much in a strictly grammatical or etymological propriety of language, nor even in its popular use, as in the subject or in the occasion on which they are used, and the object to be attained."

(Maxwell, Interpretation of Statutes, 9th Edition, p. 55).

10. It is necessary, therefore, to take the Act as a whole and examine its salient provisions. The long title shows that the object of the Act is "to make provision for the investigation and settlement of industrial disputes, and for certain other purposes." The preamble states the same object..

.....

14..It is obvious that a dispute between employers and employers, employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen must be a real dispute capable of settlement or adjudication by directing one of the parties to the dispute to give necessary relief to the other. It is also obvious that the parties to the dispute must be directly or substantially interested therein, so that if workmen raise a dispute, it must relate to the establishment or part of establishment in which they are employed..."

15. The aforementioned view that the term 'industrial dispute' as defined under Section 2(k) of the I.D.Act, 1947 means any dispute or difference between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen which is concerned with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person, was reiterated in Workmen of M/s Dharam Pal Prem Chand Vs. M/s. Dharam Pal Prem Chand4 and J.H.Jadhav Vs. Forbes Gokak Ltd5.

16. The meaning of the term 'industrial dispute' as defined under Section 2(k) of the I.D.Act, 1947 again came up for consideration in the case of Shambu Nath Goyal vs Bank Of Baroda, Jullundur6, wherein it was held that the the key words in the definition of the term industrial dispute are 'dispute' or 'difference' and the existence of an industrial dispute pre-supposes a dispute or difference between the parties as contemplated by the definition. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"5.A bare perusal of the definition would show that where there is a dispute or difference between the parties contemplated by the definition and the dispute or difference is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour of any person there comes into existence an industrial dispute. The Act nowhere contemplates that the dispute would come into existence in any particular, specific or prescribed manner. For coming into existence of an industrial dispute a written demand is not asinequanon, unless of course in the case of public utility service because Section 22 forbids going on strike without giving a strike notice..."

17. While discussing the meaning of the words 'dispute' and 'difference' in the aforementioned case of Shambu Nath Goyal (supra) the judgment in the case of Beetham Vs. Trinidad Cement Ltd.7, was referred to and the observations made by Lord Denning in the context of the definition of the term 'trade dispute' under Section 2 (1) of the Trade Disputes (Arbitration and Inquiry) Ordinance (Laws of Trinidad and Tobago, 1950) were also extracted and it was stated as follows :-

"5.....The key words in the definition of industrial dispute are 'dispute' or 'difference'. What is the connotation of these two words. InBeethamv.Trinidad Cement Ltd,(1960) 1 All ER 274 at p. 279, Lord Denning while examining the definition of expression 'trade dispute' in Section 2(1) of Trade Disputes (Arbitration and Inquiry) Ordinance of Trinidad observed:

"By definition a "trade dispute' exists whenever a "difference' exists; and a difference can exist long before the parties became locked in a combat. It is not necessary that they should have come to blows. It is sufficient that they should be sparring for an opening."

6.Thus the term 'industrial dispute' connotes a real and substantial difference having some element of persistency and continuity till resolved and likely if not adjusted to endanger the industrial peace of the undertaking or the community. When parties are at variance and the dispute or difference is connected with the employment, or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour there comes into existence an industrial dispute. To read into definition the requirement of written demand for bringing into existence an industrial dispute would tantamount to re-writing the section."

18. The definition of the term 'industrial dispute' as under Section 2(k) of the I.D.Act, 1947 and also the meaning of the word 'dispute' as defined in the Black's Law Dictionary and also Advance Law Lexicon by P. Ramanatha Aiyar, were referred to in the case of ANZ Grindlays Bank Ltd. Vs. Union of India and others8, and it was observed as follows:-

"11...Section 2(k) of the Act defines "industrial dispute" and it means any dispute or difference between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen, which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person. The definition uses the word "dispute". The dictionary meaning of the word "dispute" is: to contend any argument; argue for or against something asserted or maintained. InBlack's Law Dictionarythe meaning of the word "dispute" is: a conflict or controversy, specially one that has given rise to a particular lawsuit. InAdvanced Law Lexiconby P. Ramanatha Aiyar the meaning given is: claim asserted by one party and denied by the other, be the claim false or true; the term "dispute" in its wider sense may mean the wranglings or quarrels between the parties, one party asserting and the other denying the liability. InGujarat State Coop. Land Development Bank Ltd.v.P.R. Mankad[(1979) 3 SCC 123 : 1979 SCC (L&S) 225] it was held that the term "dispute" means a controversy having both positive and negative aspects. It postulates the assertion of a claim by one party and its denial by the other."

19. A similar view was taken in the case of Prabhakar Vs. Joint Director, Sericulture Department, and another9, and after considering the definition of the term under Section 2(k) and also Section 2-A of the I.D.Act, 1947, it was held that the term 'industrial dispute' connotes a real and substantial difference having some element of persistency which is likely to endanger the industrial peace. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :

"31. Section 2(k) of the IDA defines 'industrial dispute' and it reads as under:

"2.(k) 'industrial dispute' means any dispute or difference between employers and employers, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen, which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person;"

32. As per Section 2-A dispute relating to discharge, dismissal, retrenchment or termination of an individual are also deemed as industrial dispute and, therefore, an individual is given right to raise these disputes.

33. The term 'industrial dispute' connotes a real and substantial difference having some element of persistency, and likely, if not adjusted, to endanger the industrial peace of the community. The expression 'dispute or difference' as used in the definition, therefore, means a controversy fairly definite and of real substance, connected with the employment or non-employment or with the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of any person, and is one in which the contesting parties are directly interested in maintaining the respective contentions.

34. To understand the meaning of the word 'dispute', it would be appropriate to start with the grammatical or dictionary meaning of the term:

"'Dispute': to argue about, to contend for, to oppose by argument, to call in question - to argue or debate (with, about or over) - a contest with words; an argument; a debate; a quarrel;"

35. Black's Law Dictionary, 5th Edn., p. 424 defines "dispute" as under:

"Dispute.--A conflict or controversy; a conflict of claims or rights; an assertion of a right, claim, or demand on one side, met by contrary claims or allegations on the other. The subject of litigation; the matter for which a suit is brought and upon which issue is joined, and in relation to which jurors are called and witnesses examined."

36.Thus, a dispute or difference arises when demand is made by one side (i.e. workmen) and rejected by the other side (i.e. the employer) and vice versa. Hence an "industrial dispute" cannot be said to exist until and unless the demand is made by the workmen and it has been rejected by the employer..."

20. Reference may also be had to the judgment in the case of Conway Vs. Wade10, wherein the words 'contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute', fell for consideration in the context of the Trade Disputes Act, 1906, in which the expression 'trade dispute' had been defined under sub-section (3) of Section 5 as meaning any dispute between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen, which is connected with the employment or non-employment, or the terms of the employment, or with the conditions of labour, of any person, and in the context of the aforementioned definition, it was observed as follows :-

"'Trade dispute' is a familiar phrase in earlier Acts of Parliament, and is defined in this Act. I do not know that the definition is of much assistance. If this section is to apply there must be a dispute, however the subject-matter of it be defined. A mere personal quarrel or a grumbling or an agitation will not suffice. It must be something fairly definite and of real substance."

21. In a similar set of facts, as in the present case, in Ram Singh Vs. J.K.Jute Mills Co.Ltd. and others11, where the employer, in their written statement, had categorically stated that they had not terminated the services of the concerned workman and the name of the workman was continuing on the rolls of the employer, it was held that there was no necessity of adjudicating whether his services were terminated or not and whether the termination is legal and justified or not. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"2. The following dispute was referred to the labour court for adjudication :

''क्या सेवायोजकों द्वारा अपने श्रमिक श्री राम सिंह पुत्र श्री मतई, मजदूर एवजीदार शिफ्ट–सी, हवाघर की सेवायें दिनांक 26.9.1990 से समाप्त किया जाना उचित तथा वैधानिक है? यदि नहीं, तो संबंधित श्रमिक क्या लाभ/क्षतिपूर्ति पाने का आधिकारी है, तथा किस तिथि एवं किस अन्य विवरण सहित?''

3. The parties have exchanged their pleadings and adduced evidence before the labour court. The employer, in their written statement, have categorically stated that they have not terminated the services of the concerned workman and no order terminating the services of the concerned workman was passed. The name of the concerned workman is still on the rolls of the employer. In this view of the matter, the concerned workman is not entitled for any relief.

.....

8....in view of the admitted facts that the employer themselves have admitted that they have not terminated the services of the concerned workman and his name is still continuing on the rolls of the employer, in my opinion, the labour court has travelled beyond the pleadings of the parties and arrived at the conclusion referred to above. Once the employer have admitted that they have not terminated the services of the concerned workman, the labour court should have stopped there and answered the reference that since, it is the employers' own case that they have not terminated the services of the concerned workman, therefore, there is no necessity of adjudicating whether his services were terminated or not and whether the termination is legal and justified or not? "

22. It is thus seen that the term 'industrial dispute' connotes a real and substantial difference having some element of persistency which is likely to endanger industrial peace. The essence of an industrial dispute is disagreement. In order to constitute a dispute there must be some disagreement between workmen and employer who stand in some industrial relationship upon some matter that affects or arises out of that relationship. It must be concerned with an industry and the difference between the parties must be concerned in some way with the 'workmen' as defined in the Act.

23. The expression 'dispute' or 'difference' as used under the statutory definition of the term 'industrial dispute' means a controversy which is fairly definite and of real substance and being connected with the terms of employment or non-employment or with the conditions of labour or dismissal etc., and is one in which the contesting parties are directly and substantially interested in maintaining the respective contentions. It must be a grievance felt by the workmen which the employer is in a position to remedy or set right. The dispute in order to come within the definition of 'industrial dispute' must be capable of being made the subject of an award, and therefore, the claim made by one party to the dispute must be one which the other party has power to grant. The key words in the definition of the term 'industrial dispute' are 'dispute' or 'difference'. The existence of an 'industrial dispute' thus pre-supposes the existence of a 'dispute' or 'difference' as a condition precedent.

24. In the facts of the present case in the absence of any real and substantial difference existing between the parties which could be said to be connected with the employment or non-employment, or with regard to discharge, dismissal, retrenchment or termination there could not be said to be any industrial dispute subsisting, which required adjudication, and the award passed by the Labour Court which is sought to be challenged in the present petition, cannot be faulted with.

25. The Labour Court having held that there existed no subsisting industrial dispute and the workman having not been able to prove the fact that the employer had contravened the provisions of Section 6-E during the pendency of the proceedings before the Labour Court, the rejection of the application under Section 6-F of the U.P.I.D.Act, 1947, also cannot be held to be improper.

26. No other point was argued by the counsel for the petitioner.

27. Counsel for the petitioner has not been able to point out any material error or illegality in the award of the Labour Court dated18.08.2015 and also the order of the same date passed upon an application under Section 6-F of the U.P.I.D.Act, 1947.

28. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1740

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 31.07.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 38391 of 2016

State of U.P. & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
Chhunna Lal & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Chandrakesh Rai, Sri Prakash Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Manta Ram Gupta.

A. U.P. Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 - Burden of proving a fact - on the party who substantially asserts the issue and not upon who denies it. The workman unable to prove the factum of his continuous service - not entitled to benefit of the protection of section 6N of the Act.

Held:- In the instant case the aforementioned burden of proof having not been discharged by the respondent-workman the finding recorded by the Labour Court with regard to the workman having been completed 240 days in a calendar year so as to claim entitlement of the protection under Section 6N of the Act, 1947 is not supported from the records and the same being contrary to the material evidence which is available on record the finding cannot be legally sustained. (Para 31)

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Range Forest Officer Vs S.T. Hadimani, (2002) 3 SCC 25

2. Rajasthan St. Ganganagar S. Mills Ltd. Vs St. of Raj. & anr., (2004) 8 SCC 161

3. Municipal Corp. Faridabad Vs Siri Niwas, (2004) 8 SCC 195

4. Manager, R.B.I., Bangalore Vs S. Mani & ors., (2005) 5 SCC 100

5. Surendranagar District Panchayat Vs Dahyabhai Amarsinh, (2005) 8 SCC 750

6. R.M. Yellatti Vs Assistant Executive Engineer, (2006)1 SCC 106

7. Ranip Nagar Palika Vs Babuji Gabhaji Thakore & ors. (2007) 13 SCC 343

8. Sub-Divisional Engineer, Irrigation Project, Yavatmal Vs Sarang Marotrao Gurnule, 2009 (120) FLR 114 (Bom.H.C.)

9. Haridwar Vs Smt. Kulwant, 2013 (6) ADJ 485

10. Rangammal Vs Kuppuswami & anr., (2011) 12 SCC 220

11. A. Raghavan & anr. Vs A. Chenchamma & anr., (1964) AIR SC 136

12. M/s Triveni Engineering & Industries Ltd. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ C No.60572/2011

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sri Prakash Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the petitioners and Sri Manta Ram Gupta, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.1-workman.

2. The present petition seeks to challenge the award dated 10.04.2015 passed by the Labour Court, U.P., Jhansi in Adjudication Case No.03 of 2013.

3. The records of the case indicate that upon an industrial dispute having been raised by the respondent-workman a reference was made under Section 4K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 19471 which was registered as Adjudication Case No.03 of 2013 before the Labour Court, U.P., Jhansi. The question which was referred for adjudication is as follows:-

ष्क्या सेवायोजक द्वारा अपने श्रमिक श्री छुन्नालाल पुत्र स्व. श्री रामगोपाल कर्मकार की

सेवायें दिनांक 01.03.83 से समाप्त किया जाना उचित तथा/अथवा वैधानिक है? यदि नहीं तो सम्बन्धित श्रमिक क्या लाभ/अनुतोष (रिलीफ) पाने का अधिकारी है तथा अन्य किस विवरण सहित?ष

4. The aforementioned reference which was with regard to the legality/validity of the termination of the respondent-workman w.e.f. 01.03.1983 was answered by the Labour Court in terms of the award dated 10.04.2015 wherein it was held that prior to the termination of the services of the respondent-workman the provisions of Section 6N of the Act, 1947 were not followed, and, accordingly, the termination dated 01.03.1983 was held to be illegal and invalid, and a direction was issued for reinstatement of the respondent-workman from the date of his termination i.e. 01.03.1983. The Labour Court declined to grant back wages, however, it was provided that the workman would be entitled to payment of full wages from the date of publication of the award.

5. Perusal of the records of the case indicates that as per the case set up by the respondent-workman in his written statement filed before the Labour Court he had claimed to have continuously worked for a period of two years as a daily-wager from 04.05.1981 to 28.02.1983 without any break and that his services were illegally terminated on 01.03.1983 without complying with the provisions of Section 6N of the Act, 1947.

6. A written statement was filed by the petitioners wherein it was stated that the respondent-workman had not worked for the period from 04.05.1981 to 28.02.1983 and in fact he had never worked with the petitioners' department in any capacity. It was asserted that the workman had not completed 240 days of working in a calender year so as to claim that he was in continuous service. It was further stated that after the alleged termination said to have been made on 01.03.1983 the workman had remained silent for a long period of time and the reference which had been made in terms of the order dated 05.09.2011 was highly belated and as such the reference itself was bad in law.

7. In support of his case the respondent-workman filed his affidavit reiterating the stand taken by him in his written statement. Reliance was placed upon a letter dated 20.10.2011 said to have been issued by the Assistant Engineer of the Department to support his claim of having worked for the period in question. In his cross-examination it was categorically admitted by the respondent-workman that apart from the aforesaid letter dated 20.10.2011 there was no other documentary evidence to prove his working.

8. The petitioners in support of their case filed documentary evidence including copies of the muster rolls for the period from May, 1981 upto 28.02.1983 i.e. the period for which the workman had claimed to have worked with the Department.

9. The Labour Court though has referred to the copies of the muster rolls filed as documentary evidence by the petitioners which did not indicate the name of the respondent-workman at any place; however, proceeding to rely upon a letter dated 20.10.2011 which is said to have been issued by the Assistant Engineer of the Department in response to an R.T.I. Application claimed to have been filed by the respondent-workman, a finding has been returned that the workman had worked for a period of 240 days during the period from 04.05.1981 to 28.02.1983 and as such he was in continuous services and the provisions under Section 6N of the Act, 1947 having not been followed, the workman was entitled to grant of reinstatement.

10. Contention of the learned Standing Counsel appearing for the petitioners is that the factum of engagement of the respondent-workman having been categorically denied by the petitioners in their written statement the burden of proof with regard to the working of the respondent-workman in the establishment for a period of 240 days in a calender year so as to establish his continuous working and claim the benefit of Section 6N of the Act was upon the workman, which burden the workman had failed to discharge.

11. As regards the letter dated 20.10.2011 which has been relied upon by the Labour Court, attention has been drawn to the Objections dated 11.09.2014 filed before the Labour Court on behalf of the petitioners wherein it had been stated that the letter dated 20.10.2011 bearing Letter No.341 was never issued by the department. It is submitted that the findings recorded by the Labour Court with regard to the respondent-workman having worked for a period of 240 days in a calender year is not based on any evidence available on record and as such the same is perverse and the award of the Labour Court is liable to be set aside.

12. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent-workman has tried to support the award of the Labour Court by relying upon the letter dated 20.10.2011 to submit that the factum of his working from 04.05.1981 to 28.02.1983 was proved and accordingly he had completed 240 days of working in a calender year so as to claim benefit of protection under Section 6N of the Act, 1947 and reinstatement with consequential benefits.

13. Heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

14. From a perusal of the records of the case it is demonstrated that no material evidence apart from the letter dated 20.10.2011 was filed by the respondent-workman to support his case of having continuously worked for the period in question so as to claim entitlement of protection of Section 6N of the Act, 1947. The petitioner-establishment on the other hand had filed documentary evidence in the form of muster rolls for the periods (i) May, 1981 to December 1981, (ii) 1st January, 1982 to December, 1982 and (iii) 1st January, 1983 to 28.02.1983, which categorically demonstrated that the name of the respondent-workman did not find mention in the muster rolls and accordingly his working for the period in question was not proved.

15. The letter dated 20.10.2011 filed by the respondent-workman to make out a case was categorically denied by the petitioners and it was stated that the same was never issued by the department. The letter dated 20.10.2011, a copy whereof has been filed alongwith the supplementary affidavit filed by the petitioners demonstrates that the same is said to have been issued in response to an R.T.I. Application filed by the workman and the letter contains a clear recital that the information being furnished therein was based on the personal records of the officer who had issued the letter. Moreover, the aforementioned letter only contains reference to the working of the respondent-workman for a certain period of time and nowhere shows the actual number of days of his working on the basis of which an inference could be drawn with regard to the workman having completed 240 days in a calender year so as to claim continuous service.

16. It is legally well settled that the burden to prove the factum of 240 days of working in a calender year so as to claim benefit of being in continuous service as defined under Section 2(g) and consequently the protection of Section 6N of the Act, 1947, lies upon the workman.

17. In the case of Range Forest Officer vs. S.T. Hadimani2, where a claim had been made by the workman regarding working for more than 240 days, it was held that the onus to prove the said fact was on the workman. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"2. In the instant case, dispute was referred to the Labour Court that the respondent had worked for 240 days and his service had been terminated without paying him any retrenchment compensation. The appellant herein did not accept this and contended that the respondent had not worked for 240 days. The Tribunal vide its award dated 10-8-1998 came to the conclusion that the service had been terminated without giving retrenchment compensation. In arriving at the conclusion that the respondent had worked for 240 days, the Tribunal stated that the burden was on the management to show that there was justification in termination of the service and that the affidavit of the workman was sufficient to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a year.

3. For the view we are taking, it is not necessary to go into the question as to whether the appellant is an "industry" or not, though reliance is placed on the decision of this Court in State of Gujarat v. Pratamsingh Narsinh Parmar [(2001) 9 SCC 713 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 269 : JT (2001) 3 SC 326]. In our opinion the Tribunal was not right in placing the onus on the management without first determining on the basis of cogent evidence that the respondent had worked for more than 240 days in the year preceding his termination. It was the case of the claimant that he had so worked but this claim was denied by the appellant. It was then for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had in fact worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. Filing of an affidavit is only his own statement in his favour and that cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that a workman had, in fact, worked for 240 days in a year. No proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days or order or record of appointment or engagement for this period was produced by the workman. On this ground alone, the award is liable to be set aside. However, Mr. Hegde appearing for the Department states that the State is really interested in getting the law settled and the respondent will be given an employment on compassionate grounds on the same terms as he was allegedly engaged prior to his termination, within two months from today."

18. The aforementioned legal position was reiterated in the case of Rajasthan State Ganganagar S. Mills

Ltd. Vs. State of Rajasthan & Anr.3, wherein it was held as follows:-

"6. It was the case of the workman that he had worked for more than 240 days in the year concerned. This claim was denied by the appellant. It was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had in fact worked up to 240 days in the year preceding his termination. He has filed an affidavit. It is only his own statement which is in his favour and that cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that in fact the claimant had worked for 240 days in a year. These aspects were highlighted in Range Forest Officer v. S.T. Hadimani [(2002) 3 SCC 25 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 367]. No proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days or order or record in that regard was produced. Mere non-production of the muster roll for a particular period was not sufficient for the Labour Court to hold that the workman had worked for 240 days as claimed. Even if that period is taken into account with the period as stated in the affidavit filed by the employer, the requirement prima facie does not appear to be fulfilled. The following period of engagement which was accepted was 6 days in July 1991, 15-1/2 days in November 1991, 15-1/2 days in January 1992, 24 days in February 1992, 20-1/2 days in March 1992, 25 days in April 1992, 25 days in May 1992, 7-1/2 days in June 1992 and 5-1/2 days in July 1992. The Labour Court demanded production of muster roll for the period of 17-6-1991 to 12-11-1991. It included this period for which the muster roll was not produced and came to the conclusion that the workman had worked for more than 240 days without indicating as to the period to which period these 240 days were referable."

19. Again in the case of Municipal Corporation Faridabad Vs. Siri Niwas4, it was held, in the context of Section 25F of the Act, 1947 (containing provisions similar as under Section 6N of the Act, 1947), that the burden was on the workman to prove that he had worked for more than 240 days in the preceding one year prior to his retrenchment and the workman having not adduced any evidence with regard to the same the claim raised by him could not be allowed only on the basis of adverse inference drawn against the employer for not producing the muster rolls. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"13. The provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 per se are not applicable in an industrial adjudication. The general principles of it are, however applicable. It is also imperative for the Industrial Tribunal to see that the principles of natural justice are complied with. The burden of proof was on the respondent herein to show that he had worked for 240 days in preceding twelve months prior to his alleged retrenchment. In terms of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, an order retrenching a workman would not be effective unless the conditions precedent therefore are satisfied. Section 25-F postulates the following conditions to be fulfilled by employer for effecting a valid retrenchment:

(i) one month's notice in writing indicating the reasons for retrenchment or wages in lieu thereof;

(ii) payment of compensation equivalent to fifteen days, average pay for every completed year of continuous service or any part thereof in excess of six months.

14. For the said purpose it is necessary to notice the definition of "continuous service" as contained in Section 25-B of the Act. In terms of sub-section (2) of Section 25-B that if a workman during a period of twelve calendar months preceding the date with reference to which calculation is to be made, has actually worked under the employer for 240 days within a period of one year, he will be deemed to be in continuous service. By reason of the said provision, thus, a legal fiction is created. The retrenchment of the respondent took place on 17-5-1995. For the purpose of calculating as to whether he had worked for a period of 240 days within one year or not, it was, therefore, necessary for the Tribunal to arrive at a finding of fact that during the period between 5-8-1994 to 16-5-1995 he had worked for a period of more than 240 days. As noticed hereinbefore, the burden of proof was on the workman. From the award it does not appear that the workman adduced any evidence whatsoever in support of his contention that he complied with the requirements of Section 25-B of the Industrial Disputes Act. Apart from examining himself in support of his contention he did not produce or call for any document from the office of the appellant herein including the muster rolls. It is improbable that a person working in a local authority would not be in possession of any documentary evidence to support his claim before the Tribunal. Apart from muster rolls he could have shown the terms and conditions of his offer of appointment and the remuneration received by him for working during the aforementioned period. He did not even examine any other witness in support of his case.

15. A Court of Law even in a case where provisions of the Indian Evidence Act apply, may presume or may not presume that if a party despite possession of the best evidence had not produced the same, it would have gone against his contentions. The matter, however, would be different where despite direction by a court the evidence is withheld. Presumption as to adverse inference for non-production of evidence is always optional and one of the factors which is required to be taken into consideration in the background of facts involved in the lis. The presumption, thus, is not obligatory because notwithstanding the intentional non-production, other circumstances may exist upon which such intentional non-production may be found to be justifiable on some reasonable grounds. In the instant case, the Industrial Tribunal did not draw any adverse inference against the appellant. It was within its jurisdiction to do so particularly having regard to the nature of the evidence adduced by the respondent.

16. No reason has been assigned by the High Court as to why the exercise of discretional jurisdiction of the Tribunal was bad in law. In a case of this nature, it is trite, the High Court exercising the power of judicial review, would not interfere with the discretion of a Tribunal unless the same is found to be illegal or irrational.

x x x x x

19. Furthermore a party in order to get benefit of the provisions contained in Section 114 Ill. (g) of the Indian Evidence Act must place some evidence in support of his case. Here the Respondent failed to do so.

x x x x x

21. ...The High Court, therefore, proceeded to pass the impugned judgment only on the basis of the materials relied on by the parties before the Tribunal. The High Court, in our opinion, committed a manifest error in setting aside the award of the Tribunal only on the basis of adverse inference drawn against the appellant for not producing the muster rolls."

20. The aforementioned position of law was restated in the case of M.P. Electricity Board Vs. Hariram5, in the following terms:-

"11. The above burden having not been discharged and the Labour Court having held so, in our opinion, the Industrial Court and the High Court erred in basing an order of reinstatement solely on an adverse inference drawn erroneously. At this stage it may be useful to refer to a judgment of this Court in the case of Municipal Corpn., Faridabad v. Siri Niwas [(2004) 8 SCC 195 : JT (2004) 7 SC 248] wherein this Court disagreed with the High Court's view of drawing an adverse inference in regard to the non-production of certain relevant documents..."

21. The question of onus of proof regarding the factum of working was again considered in the case of Manager, Reserve Bank of India, Bangalore Vs. S. Mani & Ors.6 and it was held that initial burden of proof is always on the workman to prove his working and that the onus of proof does not shift to the employer nor is the burden of proof on the workman discharged merely because the employer fails to prove a defence. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"28. The initial burden of proof was on the workmen to show that they had completed 240 days of service. The Tribunal did not consider the question from that angle. It held that the burden of proof was upon the appellant on the premise that they have failed to prove their plea of abandonment of service..."

x x x x x

"35. Only because the appellant failed to prove its plea of abandonment of service by the respondents, the same in law cannot be taken to be a circumstance that the respondents have proved their case."

22. The question of onus of proof and the evidence to be led again came up in the case of Surendranagar District Panchayat Vs. Dahyabhai Amarsinh7, and it was held that the burden to prove his working lies on the workman and it is for him to adduce evidence to prove the said factum and in a case if the evidence with regard to the same has not been led by the workman it would be held that he has failed to discharge the burden. It was only in a case where sufficient evidence was led by the workman that the Court could have drawn adverse inference against the other party. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"18. In the light of the aforesaid, it was necessary for the workman to produce the relevant material to prove that he had actually worked with the employer for not less than 240 days during the period of twelve calendar months preceding the date of termination. What we find is that apart from the oral evidence the workman has not produced any evidence to prove the fact that he has worked for 240 days. No proof of receipt of salary or wages or any record or order in that regard was produced; no co-worker was examined; muster roll produced by the employer has not been contradicted. It is improbable that the workman who claimed to have worked with the appellant for such a long period would not possess any documentary evidence to prove nature of his engagement and the period of work he had undertaken with his employer. Therefore, we are of the opinion that the workman has failed to discharge his burden that he was in employment for 240 days during the preceding 12 months of the date of termination of his service. The courts below have wrongly drawn an adverse inference for non-production of the record of the workman for ten years. The scope of enquiry before the Labour Court was confined to only 12 months preceding the date of termination to decide the question of continuation of service for the purpose of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act. The workman has never contended that he was regularly employed in the Panchayat for one year to claim the uninterrupted period of service as required under Section 25-B(1) of the Act. In the facts and situation and in the light of the law on the subject, we find that the respondent workman is not entitled to the protection or compliance with Section 25-F of the Act before his service was terminated by the employer. As regards non-compliance with Sections 25-G and 25-H suffice it to say that witness Vinod Misra examined by the appellant has stated that no seniority list was maintained by the department of daily wagers. In the absence of regular employment of the workmen, the appellant was not expected to maintain seniority list of the employees engaged on daily wages and in the absence of any proof by the respondent regarding existence of the seniority list and his so-called seniority, no relief could be given to him for non-compliance with provisions of the Act. The courts could have drawn adverse inference against the appellant only when seniority list was proved to be in existence and then not produced before the court. In order to entitle the court to draw inference unfavourable to the party, the court must be satisfied that evidence is in existence and could have been proved".

23. The question of burden of proof yet again came up for consideration in the case of R.M. Yellatti Vs. Assistant Executive Engineer8, wherein it was reiterated that burden of proof lies on the workman and it is for him to adduce cogent evidence, both oral and documentary, and mere non-production of muster rolls per se will not be a ground to draw an adverse inference against the employer. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"12. Now coming to the question of burden of proof as to the completion of 240 days of continuous work in a year, the law is well settled. In Manager, Reserve Bank of India v. S. Mani [(2005) 5 SCC 100 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 609] the workmen raised a contention of rendering continuous service between April 1980 to December 1982 in their pleadings and in their representations. They merely contended in their affidavits that they had worked for 240 days. The Tribunal based its decision on the management not producing the attendance register. In view of the affidavits filed by the workmen, the Tribunal held that the burden on the workmen to prove 240 days' service stood discharged. In that matter, a three-Judge Bench of this Court held that pleadings did not constitute a substitute for proof and that the affidavits contained self-serving statements; that no workman took an oath to state that he had worked for 240 days; that no document in support of the said plea was ever produced and, therefore, this Court took the view that the workmen had failed to discharge the burden on them of proving that they had worked for 240 days. According to the said judgment, only by reason of non-response to the complaints filed by the workmen, it cannot be said that the workmen had proved that they had worked for 240 days. In that case, the workmen had not called upon the management to produce the relevant documents. The Court observed that the initial burden of establishing the factum of continuous work for 240 days in a year was on the workmen. In the circumstances, this Court set aside the award of the Industrial Tribunal ordering reinstatement.

13. In Municipal Corpn., Faridabad v. Siri Niwas [(2004) 8 SCC 195 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1062] the employee had worked from 5-8-1994 to 31-12-1994 as a tubewell operator. He alleged that he had further worked from 1-1-1995 to 16-5-1995. His services were terminated on 17-5-1995 whereupon an industrial dispute was raised. The case of the employee before the Tribunal was that he had completed working for 240 days in a year; the purported order of retrenchment was illegal as the conditions precedent to Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act were not complied with. On the other hand, the management contended that the employee had worked for 136 days during the preceding 12 months on daily wages. Upon considering all the material placed on record by the parties to the dispute, the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the total number of working days put in by the employee were 184 days and thus he, having not completed 240 days of working in a year, was not entitled to any relief. The Tribunal noticed that neither the management nor the workman cared to produce the muster roll w.e.f. August 1994; that the employee did not summon muster roll although the management had failed to produce them. Aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal, the employee filed a writ petition before the High Court which took the view that since the management did not produce the relevant documents before the Industrial Tribunal, an adverse inference should be drawn against it as it was in possession of best evidence and thus, it was not necessary for the employee to call upon the management to do so. The High Court observed that the burden of proof may not be on the management but in case of non-production of documents, an adverse inference could be drawn against the management. Only on that basis, the writ petition was allowed holding that the employee had worked for 240 days. Overruling the decision of the High Court, this Court found on facts of that case that the employee had not adduced any evidence before the court in support of his contention of having complied with the requirement of Section 25-B of the Industrial Disputes Act; that apart from examining himself in support of his contention, the employee did not produce or call for any document from the office of the management including the muster roll (MR) and that apart from muster rolls, the employee did not produce the offer of appointment or evidence concerning remuneration received by him for working during the aforementioned period...

14. In Range Forest Officer [(2002) 3 SCC 25 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 367] the dispute was referred to the Labour Court as to whether the workman had completed 240 days of service. Vide award dated 10-8-1988, the Tribunal held that the services were wrongly terminated without giving retrenchment compensation. In arriving at this conclusion, the Tribunal stated that in view of the affidavit of the workman saying that he had worked for 240 days, the burden was on the management to show justification in termination of the service. It is in this light that the Division Bench of this Court took the view that the Tribunal was not right in placing the burden on the management without first determining on the basis of cogent evidence that the workman had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. This Court held that it was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination; that filing of an affidavit is only his own statement in his own favour which cannot be recorded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that a workman had worked for 240 days in a year. This Court found that there was no proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days; that the letter of appointment was not produced; that the letter of termination was not produced on record and, therefore, the award was set aside.

15. In Rajasthan State Ganganagar S. Mills Ltd. [(2004) 8 SCC 161 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1055] the workman had alleged that he had worked for more than 240 days in the year concerned, which claim was denied by the management. The workman had merely filed an affidavit in support of his case. Therefore, the Division Bench of this Court took the view that it was for the claimant to lead evidence to show that he had worked for 240 days in the year preceding his termination. This Court observed that filing of an affidavit was not enough because the affidavit contained self-serving statement of the workman which cannot be regarded as sufficient evidence for any court or tribunal to come to the conclusion that the claimant had worked for 240 days in a year. Further, this Court found that there was no proof of receipt of salary or wages for 240 days and, therefore, mere non-production of the muster roll for a particular period was not sufficient for the Labour Court to hold that the workman had worked for 240 days as claimed. On the facts of that case, the Court found that even if the period for which the workman had alleged to have worked was taken into account, as mentioned in his affidavit, still the said workman did not fulfil the requirement of completion of 240 days of service and, therefore, this Court set aside the award of the Labour Court.

16. In M.P. Electricity Board [(2004) 8 SCC 246 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1092] the workmen were engaged by the Board on daily wages for digging pits to erect electric poles. It was the case of the Board that on completion of the project, the employment was terminated and whenever a similar occasion arose for digging pits, the workmen were re-employed on daily wages and, therefore, their employment was not permanent in nature nor had the workmen completed 240 days of continuous work in a given year. The project jobs came to an end in 1991 and the workmen were never re-employed by the Board. Being aggrieved by the said non-employment, the workmen filed applications under the M.P. Industrial Relations Act seeking permanent employment, primarily on the ground that they have completed 240 days in a year and their discontinuation of service amounted to retrenchment without following the legal requirements. The Board denied the allegations made in the application before the Labour Court. An application was moved before the Labour Court by the workmen seeking direction to the Board to produce the muster roll for the period concerned. However, no other material was produced by the workmen to establish the fact that they had worked for 240 days continuously in a given year. Some of the workmen were also examined before the Labour Court. However, no document was produced in the form of letter of appointment, receipt indicating payment of salary, etc. After examining the entry in the muster rolls, the Labour Court came to the conclusion that the workmen had not worked for 240 days continuously in a given year, hence, they could not claim permanency nor could they term their non-employment as retrenchment. Aggrieved by the award of the Labour Court, the workmen preferred an appeal before the Industrial Court at Bhopal which took the view that since the Board has failed to produce the entire muster roll for the year ending 1990, an adverse inference was required to be drawn against the Board and solely based on the said inference, the Industrial Court accepted the case of the workmen that they had worked for 240 days continuously in a given year. Accordingly, the Industrial Court granted reinstatement to the workmen with 50% back wages. Drawing of such an adverse inference was challenged before this Court by the M.P. Electricity Board. In the light of the aforestated facts, this Court opined that the Industrial Court or the High Court could not have drawn an adverse inference for non-production of the muster rolls for the years 1990 to 1992, particularly in the absence of a specific plea by the claimants that they had worked during the period for which muster rolls were not produced. This Court observed that the initial burden of establishing the factum of their continuous work for 240 days in a year was on the workmen and since that burden was not discharged, the Industrial Court and the High Court had erred in ordering reinstatement solely on an adverse inference drawn erroneously.

17. Analysing the above decisions of this Court, it is clear that the provisions of the Evidence Act in terms do not apply to the proceedings under Section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. However, applying general principles and on reading the aforestated judgments, we find that this Court has repeatedly taken the view that the burden of proof is on the claimant to show that he had worked for 240 days in a given year. This burden is discharged only upon the workman stepping in the witness box. This burden is discharged upon the workman adducing cogent evidence, both oral and documentary. In cases of termination of services of daily-waged earners, there will be no letter of appointment or termination. There will also be no receipt or proof of payment. Thus in most cases, the workman (the claimant) can only call upon the employer to produce before the court the nominal muster roll for the given period, the letter of appointment or termination, if any, the wage register, the attendance register, etc. Drawing of adverse inference ultimately would depend thereafter on the facts of each case. The above decisions however make it clear that mere affidavits or self-serving statements made by the claimant workman will not suffice in the matter of discharge of the burden placed by law on the workman to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a given year. The above judgments further lay down that mere non-production of muster rolls per se without any plea of suppression by the claimant workman will not be the ground for the Tribunal to draw an adverse inference against the management. Lastly, the above judgments lay down the basic principle, namely, that the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution will not interfere with the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the Labour Court unless they are perverse. This exercise will depend upon the facts of each case."

24. After referring to earlier judgments on the issue of onus of proof, a similar view was taken in the case of Ranip Nagar Palika Vs. Babuji Gabhaji Thakore & Ors.9. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"8. ...the burden of proof lies on the workman to show that he had worked continuously for 240 days for the preceding one year and it is for the workman to adduce evidence apart from examining himself to prove the factum of being in employment of the employer."

25. In the context of burden of proof requiring 240 days continuous service and drawing of an adverse inference, reference may also be had to the judgment in the case of Sub-Divisional Engineer, Irrigation Project, Yavatmal Vs. Sarang Marotrao Gurnule10.

"21. The next question is how the workman is expected to discharge this burden? Does it follow from the observations in the judgments quoted above (underlined for the sake of convenience) that a workman is expected to tender a particular quantum of evidence, or to examine a particular number of witnesses in support of his plea? The Evidence Act, which does not apply to matter under the Industrial Disputes Act, too does not lay down that any particular number of witnesses must be examined to prove a particular fact. A fact is held as proved when a Judge upon considering the matter before him either believes it to exist or considers its existence so probable that a man of ordinary prudence would believe that it exists. Just as it would be futile to expect an employer to prove a non-existent fact, namely that a workman had not worked for 240 days, it would be futile to expect a workman to produce non-existent evidence. The best evidence rule would mandate that if the workman has in his possession any documentary evidence which would support his word on oath, he must produce such evidence, and, if he is not doing so, it would result in discrediting his word. The observations of the Apex Court that in addition to his own word, the workman must put in something more has to be read with this caveat. The difficulties and dangers in examining another workman in support of his own claim may be imagined. Ordinarily out of fear of reprisal a workmen who is already in employment is unlikely to step into the witness box to support the case of a colleague who has been thrown out. Workman's examining another workman who has been similarly thrown out would not cut ice with the Court because the Court may feel that two lies do not make one truth. Therefore, ultimately in the matter of appreciation of evidence, it is for the Judge who sees the parties in person and receives their evidence to decide whether he would believe them or not. Whether burden on workman is discharged by him or not would have to be decided by applying law declared in following few sentences from para 17 in judgment of three-Judge Bench in R.M. Yellati v. The Asstt. Executive Engineer (supra), which we wish to again reproduce, for, there would be no clearer pronouncement on the subject at pp. 448 & 449 of 2006 (1) LLJ 442.

"17. This burden is discharged only upon the workman stepping in the witness box. This burden is discharged upon the workman adducing cogent evidence, both oral and documentary. In cases of termination of services of daily-waged earners, there will be no letter of appointment or termination. There will also be no receipt or proof of payment. Thus in most cases, the workman (the claimant) can only call upon the employer to produce before the Court the nominal muster roll for the given period, the letter of appointment or termination, if any, the wage register, the attendance register, etc. Drawing of adverse inference ultimately would depend thereafter on the facts of each case. The above decisions however make it clear that mere affidavits or self-serving statements made by the claimant workman will not suffice in the matter of discharge of the burden placed by law on the workman to prove that he had worked for 240 days in a given year. The above judgments further lay down that mere non-production of muster rolls per se without any plea of suppression by the claimant workman will not be the ground for the Tribunal to draw an adverse inference against the management. Lastly, the above judgments lay down the basic principle, namely, that the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution will not interfere with the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the Labour Court unless they are perverse. This exercise will depend upon the facts of each case."

A careful re-reading of this passage would show that the Court does not hint at necessity of examining anyone in addition to the workman, while at the same time saying that affidavit alone would not be sufficient. What is expected of workman is to tender cogent evidence, by stepping in the witness box (and thereby allowing the truth of his version to be tested by cross-examination)."

26. The legal position with regard to the burden of proof and onus is well settled and it has been consistently held that the burden of proving a fact rests on the party who substantially asserts the affirmative of the issue and not upon the party who denies it. In this regard reference may be had to the judgment in the case of Haridwar Vs. Smt. Kulwant11, wherein it was held as follows:-

"12. In my view, learned counsel for the appellant is misconstruing the concept of term "burden of proof" and "onus" by identifying the two as synonymous. The onus probandi i.e. "Burden of proof" lies upon a person who is bound to prove the fact and it never shifts.

13. Section 101 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872") talks of burden of proof, and says:

"Burden of proof.--Whoever desires any Court to give judgment as to any legal right or liability dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist.

When a person is bound to prove the existence of any fact, it is said that the burden of proof lies on that person."

14. The burden of proving a fact rests on the party who substantially asserts the affirmative of the issue and not upon the party who denies it; for a negative is usually incapable of proof. The provision is based on the rule, ie incumbit probatio qui dicit, non qui negat. In Constantine Line v. I S Corpn, (1941) 2 All ER 165, Lord Maugham said;

"It is an ancient rule founded on consideration on good sense and should not be departed from without strong reasons."

15. A person who asserts a particular fact has to prove the same. Until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. Whoever desires a Court to give judgment, dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist. The distinction between "burden of proof" and "onus" is that the former lies upon the person and never shifts but the "onus" shifts. Shifting of onus is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence. For example, in a suit for possession, based on title once the plaintiff is able to create a high degree of probability so as to shift the onus on the defendant, it is then for the defendant to discharge his onus and in absence of such discharge by defendant, burden of proof lying on the plaintiff shall be held to have been discharged so as to amount to proof of plaintiff's title.

16. The above distinction between "burden of proof" and "onus" of proof has been explained in A.Raghavamma v. A. Chenchamma, AIR 1964 SC 136, followed in R.V.E. Venkatachala Gounder v. Arulmigu Viswesaraswami & V.P. Temple and another, (2003) 8 SCC 752.

17. Section 102 of Act, 1872 says that burden of proof in a suit would lie on a person who would fail if no evidence at all were given on either side. Here it is not degree of proof but the onus to lead evidence i.e. obligation to begin to prove a fact. The burden of proof as such has not been defined in the Act but looking to the substance and the context and spirit, it can be said that burden to establish case, loosely, can be said to be burden of proof.

18. For applying above provision in the case in hand, there can be no manner of doubt in holding that burden of proof lies upon the plaintiff. In the case in hand, to prove that sale deed in question suffers an infirmity, justifying its cancellation, as pleaded in the plaint and to prove those facts, burden lies upon plaintiff. But then it has to be understood that there is a distinction between "burden of proof" as a matter of law and pleading and as a matter of adducing evidence. In the first sense, the burden is always constant but burden in the sense of adducing evidence shifts from time to time, having regard to evidence adduced or the presumption of fact or law raised in favour of one or the other. On this aspect, more light emanates when we go through Sections 103 and 104 of Act, 1872, which read as under:

"S. 103. Burden of proof as to particular fact.--The burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the Court to believe in its existence, unless it is provided by any law that the proof of that fact shall lie on any particular person."

S. 104. Burden of proving fact to be proved to make evidence admissible.--The burden of proving any fact necessary to be provided in order to enable any person to give evidence of any other fact is on the person who wishes to give such evidence."

27. In the case of Rangammal Vs. Kuppuswami & Anr.12, referring to Section 101 of the Evidence Act, it was held that the burden of proving a fact always lies upon the person who asserts the fact and until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"21. Section 101 of the Evidence Act, 1872 defines "burden of proof" which clearly lays down that:

"101. Burden of proof.-- Whoever desires any court to give judgment as to any legal right or liability dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts, must prove that those facts exist.

When a person is bound to prove the existence of any fact, it is said that the burden of proof lies on that person."

Thus, the Evidence Act has clearly laid down that the burden of proving a fact always lies upon the person who asserts it. Until such burden is discharged, the other party is not required to be called upon to prove his case. The court has to examine as to whether the person upon whom the burden lies has been able to discharge his burden. Until he arrives at such conclusion, he cannot proceed on the basis of weakness of the other party."

28. The burden of proof is thus the legal obligation on a party to prove the allegation made by him, and is often associated with the maxim "Semper necessitas probandi incumbit ei qui agit" which means the burden of proof is on the claimant.

29. The essential distinction between "burden of proof" and "onus of proof" is legally well settled. The burden of proof lies upon the person who has to prove a fact and it never shifts; however the shifting of onus of proof is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence. In this regard reference may be had to the judgment in the case of A. Raghavamma and another Vs. A. Chenchamma & Anr.13 wherein it was held as follows:-

"12. ...There is an essential distinction between burden of proof and onus of proof : burden of proof lies upon the person who has to prove a fact and it never shifts, but the onus of proof shifts. The burden of proof in the present case undoubtedly lies upon the plaintiff to establish the factum of adoption and that of partition. The said circumstances do not alter the incidence of the burden of proof. Such considerations, having regard to the circumstances of a particular case, may shift the onus of proof. Such a shifting of onus is a continuous process in the evaluation of evidence..."

30. The aforementioned legal position has been discussed in a recent judgment of this Court in the case of M/s Triveni Engineering And Industries Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.14.

31. In the instant case the aforementioned burden of proof having not been discharged by the respondent-workman the finding recorded by the Labour Court with regard to the workman having been completed 240 days in a calender year so as to claim entitlement of the protection under Section 6N of the Act, 1947 is not supported from the records and the same being contrary to the material evidence which is available on record the finding cannot be legally sustained. The respondent-workman having not been able to prove the factum of his continuous service he was not entitled to benefit of the protection of Section 6N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and to the reliefs which have been granted by the Labour Court.

32. The award of the Labour Court is thus legally unsustainable and is accordingly set aside.

33. The writ petition is allowed in the aforesaid terms.

(2019)10ILR A 1756

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 09.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.

Writ C No. 6200 of 2019

Kribhco Fertilisers Limited ...Petitioner
Versus
Oswal Chemicals and Fertilisers Ltd. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Bhanu Bhushan Jauhari.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Ajit Kumar Singh Chauhan, Sri Bhupendra Nath Singh.

A. Service Law - No evidence recorded by the employers - Employer has power to dismiss employee without enquiry in certain cases under special procedure under the standing orders - no justification to hold it incumbent upon the employer to hold a disciplinary enquiry before imposing major punishment - Labour Court did not opine whether power under the said clause was rightfully exercised.

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Mangal Sen Vs St. of U.P. & anr., (1990) 60 FLR 161 (All)

2. Management of Delhi Transport Corp., New Delhi Vs Ram Kumar & anr., 1982 LAB. I.C. 1378

3. St. of U.P. Vs Ganesh Kumar & anr., 2011 (131) FLR 200

4. Daya Chand -1 Vs National Thermal Power Station, 2004(75) DRJ 486

5. Deputy General Manager (SME) & anr. Vs The Presiding Officer, Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Chennai, 2014 SCC OnLine Mad 9311

6. M/s Firestone Tyre & Rubber Co. of India (P.) Ltd. Vs Management & ors., (1973) 1 SCC 813,

7. Amar Chakravarty Vs Maruti Suzuki (I) Ltd. (2010) 14 SCC 471

8. Shamsher Singh Vs Pepsu Road Transport Corporation & anr., 2001 SCC OnLine P&H 1055: (2002) 3 SLR 144

9. St. of M.P. Vs Parvez Khan, (2015) 2 SCC 591

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The petitioner, Kribhco Fertilizers Limited, have impugned an award of the Labour Court, U.P., Bareilly, dated

06.09.2018 (published on 22.12.2018) in Adjudication Case no.21 of 2017. By the award aforesaid, the Labour Court has held dismissal from service of eight workmen of the petitioner to be unlawful and illegal, and ordered their reinstatement in services with full back-wages. The eight workmen were dismissed by orders of different dates passed by the petitioner in exercise of powers under Clause 45.0.0 of the Oswal Chemical and Fertilizers Limited, Standing Orders. These Standing Orders have been certified by the competent authority, under the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946. The aforesaid Standing Orders shall be hereinafter referred to as the Standing Orders. The eight workmen were dismissed by the petitioner without holding inquiry by invoking the Special Procedure in Certain Cases, provided for under Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing Orders. The workmen, who have been dismissed from service, were represented before the Labour Court by the first respondent, Union through their General Secretary, J.B. Singh, who is also one of the dismised workmen. Before this Court also, therefore, the eight workmen have been impleaded through the Employees' Union, called Oswal Chemicals and Fertilizers Limited Karmchari Sangh.

2. It would be appropriate to depict in tabular form the particulars of workmen, who have been dismissed by orders of different dates. The dates of the relative orders of dismissal are also shown. The eight workmen of the petitioner whose interest before this Court is represented by the first respondent, Union, are hereinafter referred to as the "workmen' wherever the reference is collective; individually, they would be referred to by their names. These particulars are depicted thus:

Sr. No.	Name of the Workmen	Designation	Date of Dismissal from Service	Date of Birth
1.	J.B. Singh	Assistant (Secretary of Union)	10.06.2009	13.08.1970
2.	Shamsher Chand	Security Guard	18.06.2009	02.05.1958
3.	Rakesh Mishra	Security Guard	27.06.2009	10.03.1970
4.	Radhey Shyam	Security Guard	26.06.2009	10.11.1954
5.	Jang Bahadur Yadav	Security Guard	16.06.2009	02.11.1972
6.	Vijay Prakash Shukla	Security Guard	26.06.2009	10.01.1958
7.	V.K. Rajpoot	Fireman	16.06.2009	15.10.1972
8.	Sushil Kumar Mishra	Fireman	27.06.2009	10.02.1978

3. The record shows that suo motu action was taken by the State Government to make a reference of an industrial dispute on 10.06.2010, in exercise of powers under Section 4 of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (for short, the Act), relating to the aforesaid dismissal of the petitioner's workmen. The reference aforesaid was made to the Labour Court, Rampur, where it was registered as Adjudication Case no.32 of 2010. The reference was made in the following terms (in Hindi vernacular):

"क्या सेवायोजक द्वारा अपने श्रमिक श्री जंग बहादुर यादव पुत्र श्री राम नरेश यादव को दिनांक 16.6.2009, श्री बी०पी० शुक्ला पुत्र श्री ब्रह्मदत्त शुक्ला को दिनांक 26.6.09, श्री राधेश्याम सिंह पुत्र श्री एम०पी० सिंह को दिनांक 24.5.09, श्री राकेश मिश्रा पुत्र श्री आर०के० मिश्रा को दिनांक 27.5.09, श्री जे०बी० सिंह पुत्र श्री बी०के० सिंह को दिनांक 10.6.09, श्री शमशेर सिंह पुत्र श्री दीवान चन्द्र को दिनांक 16.6.09, श्री सुशील कुमार मिश्रा पुत्र श्री सूरजपाल को दिनांक 27.6.09 तथा श्री वी०के० राजपूत पुत्र श्री होती लाल राजपूत की दिनांक 16.6.2009 से सेवायें समाप्त किया जाना उचित एवं वैधानिक है। यदि नहीं तो सम्बन्धित श्रमिकगण क्या वितनाम / अनुतोष पाने का अधिकारी है, एवं अन्य किन विवरणों सहित।"

4. Summons were issued on 17.07.2010 to both parties. It may be emphasized here again that before the Labour Court, the workmen were represented by the first respondent, Union, whose name also figures in the reference order as one party to the industrial dispute. The course of proceedings taken in this case also indicate that much later the case was transferred from the Labour Court, Rampur to the Labour Court, Bareilly under a Government Order 29.08.2017. It was registered afresh before the Labour Court, U.P., Bareilly as Adjudication Case no.21 of 2017.

5. Something needs to be said about the identity of the petitioner also. According to the petitioners' case, the petitioners who are a Company duly incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956, were incorporated as M/s. Kribhco Shyam Fertilizers Limited. By that name, the Company was incorporated on 08.12.2005. It is engaged in the manufacturing of Chemical Fertilizers and Agro Products. The said company has its unit, a Urea & Ammonia Manufacturing Plant at Village Pipraula, District Shahjahanpur. The aforesaid company was incorporated with the Registrar of Companies for the National Capital Territory of Delhi and Haryana. Subsequently, the name of Kribhco Shyam Fertilizers Limited was altered to Kribhco Fertilizers Limited. The aforesaid change was brought about with the issue of a certificate of incorporation dated 3rd June, 2017, issued in terms of Rule 29 of the Companies (Incorporation) Rules, 2014. It is, thus, the renamed company aforesaid, and incorporated afresh by that name, who are the petitioners. It also requires mention that another company, Bindal Agro Chemical Limited, was a company duly incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956. The company last mentioned was incorporated in the year 1981. It was engaged in the manufacture of chemicals fertilizers and agro products. This company, that is to say, Bindal Agro Chemical Limited had its Urea and Ammonia Manufacturing Plant at Village Pipraula, District Shahjahanpur. This plant has since been purchased by the petitioner. Bindal Agro Chemical Limited changed name to Oswal Chemicals and Fertilizers Limited, in the year 1995, as the petitioners assert. The petitioners further assert that the employees of Oswal Chemicals and Fertilizers Limited formed an Employees' Union in the name of Oswal Chemicals and Fertilizers Limited Karmchari Sangh, District Shahjahanpur. After the petitioners purchased the Urea and Ammonia Manufacturing Plant from the erstwhile Bindal Agro Chemical Limited, on 14.08.2006, through a registered sale deed, the Oswal Chemicals and Fertilizers Limited Karmchari Sangh, District Shahajahanpur, became privy to the petitioners. It is the aforesaid Employees' Union who are espousing the cause of the eight workmen who are their members, one of them being their General Secretary. The said Union is impleaded as respondent no.1 to the petition.

6. Reverting back to the dispute, that has given rise to proceedings before the Labour Court, the facts of it all are best discernible from the rival versions of an occurrence dated 03/ 04.06.2009, that took place at the premises of the petitioners, at about 1.30 a.m., with a repeat event at 4.30. It is claimed to be an attack by a mob of the petitioners' workmen on the premises of the manufacturing plant of the company at Pipraula, leading to extensive damage of the company's property. It is also claimed that in the said attack, the residential quarters of its officers were attacked by a riotous mob of employees, led by the Union leaders, that is to say, the leaders of the first respondent, including its office bearers.

7. The rival versions about this occurrence figure boldly in the two written statements, that were filed by the petitioners and the first respondent, espousing the cause of the workmen. The details of pleadings and evidence before the Labour Court filed by both sides would be described a little later in this judgment.

8. According to the case of the workmen, represented by the first respondent, as given out in their written statement is to the effect that the petitioners are a manufacturing establishment engaged in the production of urea and chemical fertilizers. They employ about 350 workmen. The first respondent are an Employees' Union, who are active in the establishment of the petitioners manufacturing plant in order to safeguard the interest of workmen, employed there. The first respondent-Union are affiliated to some All India Organization of Unions, described as the CITU.

9. It is indicated about the workmen individually that Jang Bahadur Yadav was appointed on 04.05.1996 as a Security Guard, V.P. Shukla was appointed on 25.03.1996 also as a Security Guard; likewise, Radhey Shyam was appointed on 08.12.1996 in the same capacity, Rakesh Mishra was appointed as Security Guard on 23.12.1995, whereas J.B. Singh was appointed on 10.04.1997 as a Helper, Shamsher Chandra was appointed on 10.04.2000, again as a Security Guard; Susheel Kumar was appointed on 13.09.2003 as a Fireman, and, V.K. Rajpoot was also appointed as a Fireman, on 15.01.1996.

10. It is first respondent's case that all these workmen were office bearers of the Union's General Body. They would espouse from time to time any just cause of their fellow workmen. It is the further case of the first respondent that on account of the activities of the workmen in raising just demands on behalf of others, that the petitioner management harboured malice and ill-will towards each of them. The petitioners would act with bias vis-a-vis the workmen, and would often harass them. It is the first respondent's further case that the petitioner management wanted to run the establishment in an obdurate and tyrannical fashion, and to that end, it is the petitioners' policy to suppress Union's activities and penalize their leaders. The first respondent-Union had raised certain demands through a letter dated 04.08.2008, related particularly to casual hands before the petitioners, of which the District Administration and the Labour Department had been given information. The said demands and problems were pending consideration before the petitioners, but no action was taken thereon. In the meanwhile, casual hands and those engaged through labour contractors were not paid wages for a period as long as three months. On that account w.e.f. 29.05.2009, workmen undertook a hunger strike for an indefinite period. The strike was called by casual hands, and the first respondent, in support of those demands had staged a dharna. The petitioner management were desperate about the picketing workmen. The petitioner management for the purpose abating the dharna drafted help of the civil and police administration. It was pleaded by the first respondent before the Labour Court that the Standing Orders have been framed without the consent of the workmen or their Union. The first respondent have castigated the petitioner management of going against the provisions of the Standing Orders, about which they made an ego issue.

11. It is the first respondent's case that while the first respondent, Union and its office bearers were extending their support to the striking casual hands and contract labourers, on 03.06.2009 in the night hours, the civil administration and the police acting at the behest of the petitioners, resorted to illegal action against the striking workmen. They forcibly removed them from site where the hunger strike had been organized in order to bring about a forced dissipation of that strike. In the same sweep of action, Sethpal Singh, Bhagwan Singh, J.B. Singh, V.K. Rajpoot and Jang Bahadur Yadav, were dismissed from service on 10.06.2009, without serving them with a show cause notice, or calling for their explanation, much less holding a domestic inquiry. Shamsher Chandra, V.P. Shukla, Radhey Shyam, Rakesh Mishra and Susheel Mishra, had already been suspended. They were dismissed from service on 18.06.2009, 26.06.2009, 26.06.2009, 27.06.2009 and 27.06.2009, in that order, again without holding any disciplinary inquiry.

12. It has been pleaded on behalf of the workmen by respondent no.1 that the motivated nature of the action taken against them is evident from the fact that they were dismissed from service on ground, amongst others, that the workmen entered the Officers' Colony where they attacked the Officers of the petitioners. Lateron, two workmen, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, were reinstated in service, even though the charges levelled against the two reinstated workmen and the workmen are the same. It is pleaded that this action of the petitioners renders the punishment awarded to the workmen void. It is also pleaded that in the charge sheet, dated 14.03.2009, false charges have been levelled against J.B. Singh, who is the General Secretary of the first respondent-Union. Disciplinary inquiry on the basis of the charge sheet dated 14.03.2009 also commenced, but early into the proceedings, the petitioners realized that they would not be able to prove the charges. As such, the inquiry was abandoned. It is also pleaded that through the various letters issued to the workmen, they have been arbitrarily dismissed from service without a proper order being made, and without holding any disciplinary inquiry, or calling for their explanation. The petitioners' action is, thus, in violation of labour laws. It is also urged by the first respondent that the show cause notice and the dismissal orders issued to the workmen carry charges that are baseless, false and vague. The entire proceedings taken by the petitioners are in violation of the principles of natural justice. It is also the first respondent's case that the petitioners have misused their authority to dismiss the workmen, which they did by resort to breach of faith in the manner that assuring them of reinstatement, they secured letters of apology from the workmen, but went back on the assurance by turning down their letters of apology. It is also said that the conduct of the petitioners renders their action all the more bad, inasmuch as, similarly circumstanced workmen, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, have been reinstated in service; the workmen being charged on identical allegations ought to have been reinstated, likewise. It is also pleaded that the workmen ever-since their dismissal have been jobless with no source of income.

13. The petitioners on the other hand put forward their case before the Labour Court through a written statement bearing paper no.15A, wherein it is pleaded that the workmen were employed with the petitioners. It is said that the services of the workmen are governed by the certified Standing Order, that is in force. It is certified under the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946 by the Additional Labour Commissioner, Bareilly. The workmen have been dismissed from service as a measure of punishment under Clause 45.0.0 (b) and (c) of the Standing Order. Each of the workmen were involved in acts of rioting, damaging the company's property, entering the residential quarters of the Officers of the Company, where they resorted to destruction of property, abusing the Officers and their family members. It is pleaded that there is a prima facie case against the workmen of causing physical harm to Senior Officers and their family members. As such, the company in accordance with Clause 45.0.0 (b) of the certified Standing Orders did not find it to be a fit case to hold a disciplinary inquiry. It is pleaded on behalf of the petitioners that on 04.06.2009, the workmen and their companions congregated at the Gate of the colony, and did not permit any Officer/ Employee to proceed to work. Thereupon, the petitioners called in aid the District Administration who abated the obstruction by the workmen and their companions. It is also the petitioners' case that this act of the workmen led to a dreadful situation because in the absence of Officers and workmen from duty, consequent upon prevention as aforesaid, the unattended industrial plant could have led to any operational disaster.

14. A letter was issued to J.B. Singh and Bhagwan Singh bearing no.7/2009, dated 02.06.2009, by which strike by the employees was announced? The workmen and their companions caused an atmosphere of fear to prevail in the premises of the industrial plant, on account of which no man was prepared to stand witness against them. A First Information Report was lodged against the workmen under Sections 147, 149, 336, 344, 452, 427, 504, 506 IPC, wherein after investigation a charge sheet was filed before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shahjahanpur by the police. It was also the petitioners' case before the Labour Court that the workmen and their companions on a widespread scale misbehaved with the Officers and their family members, that prevented anyone from testifying against them. This led the petitioners to form an opinion that it was not necessary to hold an inquiry against the workmen, and to proceed against them under Clause 45.0.0 of the certified Standing Orders in order to dismiss them from service as a measure of punishment. It was also pleaded that under Clause 37.0.0 of the certified Standing Orders, there is provision for an appeal against punishments awarded. The workmen invoked the aforesaid provision and submitted a mercy appeal to the Managing Director of the petitioners, wherein J.B. Singh and all the other workmen admitted their guilt, requesting reinstatement in service on compassionate grounds. The Appellate Authority after considering all relevant aspects of the matter declined to accept the workmens' appeal, and affirmed the order of punishment.

15. Before the Labour Court, the petitioners and the workmen also filed their rejoinder statements replying to their respective written statements. The respondent-Union filed documentary evidence through a list, paper no.27B(2), whereas the petitioners filed their documents through two lists, papers nos.23B(1) and 42B(1).

16. The respondent-Union examined in support of their case J.B. Singh as their witness. After his deposition-in-chief, he was thoroughly cross-examined by the petitioners' authorized representative. On behalf of the petitioners, one Hitesh Kulshreshtha and another V.K. Shukla tendered their deposition-in-chief on affidavit. These witnesses were cross-examined by the workmens' authorized representative.

17. The Labour Court while rendering the impugned award has elaborately set out the parole evidence of witnesses on both sides about the occurrence, in between the paraphrased version of which, it has considered the different propositions of law urged on both sides, together with the authorities cited. All the various contentions that have been mentioned by the Labour Court in the award impugned do not require attention of record, except those on which the event before the Labour Court has turned.

18. The Labour Court proceeded to its conclusions on the first principal premise that is admitted to both sides: that the petitioners- employers before imposing the major punishment of dismissal from service, did not hold any inquiry into the misconduct imputed to the workmen. It was held that before imposing a major punishment, it was imperative for the petitioners to have undertaken a domestic inquiry; just asking the workmen whether they wanted to apologise and their doing so would not lead to an inference of guilt. In this connection, the Labour Court depended upon an authority of this Court in Mangal Sen vs. State of U.P. and another1.

19. The contention of the petitioners' representative before the Labour Court was that the role of J.B. Singh and the seven other workmen, who are his companions, is different from Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, because J.B. Singh was leading the belligerent mob, wherein the remainder of seven workmen were supporting him; that is not the case with Bhagwan Singh and Sethpal Singh. The Labour Court opined that the occurrence is one dated 03/04.06.2009, in two events at 1.30 a.m. and 3.15 a.m. In the said occurrence, all the ten workmen have a similar role assigned, with identical allegations against them to found their orders of dismissal. However, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, who were involved along with the workmen, were opined by the Labour Court on a perusal of the facts on record to bear a role identical to that of the workmen. It was held that once the petitioners on identical charges against Bhagwan Singh and Sethpal Singh, reinstated them in service, the eight workmen whose cases were referred to the Labour Court's adjudication, present a case on the petitioners' part of practicing a policy of hostile discrimination.

20. It was brought to the notice of the Labour Court, on behalf of the petitioners that the workmen, along with the two reinstated, in the criminal prosecution launched against them, were convicted by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shahjahanpur vide judgment and order dated 20.10.2014, and sentenced to various terms for the offences found proved. All of them appealed to the Sessions Judge, where their appeal was allowed in part upholding the conviction, but modifying the sentence to a suspended servitude, by putting the workmen and the two others reinstated, on probation for a period of one year to maintain the peace and be of good behaviour. It was, therefore, urged on behalf of the petitioners that convicted workmen could not be reinstated in service by the petitioners.

21. The Labour Court repelled the aforesaid contention of the petitioners, again on the same premise that if the workmen were convicted offenders, so were the two reinstated ones, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh. The Labour Court held that there is no provision under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, which says that a convicted man cannot be reinstated in service. It was remarked by the Labour Court that the judgment of conviction passed by the Criminal Court would not come to aid of the petitioners, in resisting reinstatement. The Labour Court concluded that charges against the two reinstated employees and the workmen were identical. The fact that Bhagwan Singh and Sethpal Singh were reinstated whereas the workmen were not, reflected a policy of discriminatory treatment by the petitioners. On this finding, the Labour Court held that the various dismissal orders passed against the workmen are not lawful or proper. The Labour Court further awarded that all the eight employees are entitled to be reinstated in service, with continuity and back-wages.

22. Aggrieved, the present writ petition has been filed by the petitioners.

23. Heard Sri Bhanu Bhushan Jauhari, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel for the respondent-workman.

24. It is argued by Sri B.B. Jauhari, learned counsel for the petitioners that the impugned award is bad in law on various counts, and is liable to be quashed as an instance of manifestly illegal exercise of powers by the Labour Court. He submits that the petitioners-Employers have exercised their powers to punish under Clause 45.0.0 of the certified Standing Orders, that postulate contingencies where the management can exercise its disciplinary jurisdiction to punish, without holding a departmental inquiry. It is urged that the Labour Court has not at all examined the issue whether the petitioner-employers exercised their powers on relevant considerations under Clause 45.0.0 (supra), which the Labour Court had to test on the basis of evidence, that was before it, together with all other record. No finding on the said issue has been returned by the Labour Court, in the submission of Sri Jauhari.

25. It has been further submitted that the action taken by the petitioners to punish invoking Clause 45.0.0 is one in keeping with the seriousness of the misconduct committed by the workmen, and going by the nature of duties assigned to them. The fact that for acts of misconduct, in respect of which the workmen were punished by the petitioners under Clause 45.0.0 led to their conviction in the criminal trial also, fortifies the factual foundation, on which the petitioners have proceeded. It is also submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the different treatment meted out to the two workmen who were spared punishment of dismissal is evident from the written statement filed before the Labour Court, where the nature of the job of the workmen, and the two who were not punished, has been detailed to justify the different treatment. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the Labour Court went broadly by the fact that charges against the two workmen who were spared punishment and the workmen were identical, and that all of them were convicted by the Criminal Court. The inference of discriminatory treatment drawn by the Labour Court has missed out on considerations that were differential in the case of the workmen and the two, who have not been punished.

26. It is pointed out that the workmen who have been dismissed are security personnel and firemen, except J.B. Singh, whereas the two spared are assistants, who are office hands. It is pointed out further that the Labour Court has also not considered the fact that of the eight workmen, three, that is to say, Shamsher Chandra, Radhey Shyam and Vijay Prakash Shukla, had already reached the age of superannuation. Details of each of the workmen were available to the Labour Court, in the same manner as mentioned in paragraph 14 of the Writ Petition. The Labour Court without application of mind to these facts with reference to three of the workmen, has awarded reinstatement with full back-wages.

27. It is also argued by Sri Jauhari that the impugned award made by the Labour Court is beyond the scope of reference, inasmuch as, in the reference made, there is absolutely no mention of the fact that reinstatement of the two workmen for the same misconduct, shows discrimination by the petitioners against the workmen. It is urged that unless there was reference in specific terms relating to practice of discrimination, it was not open to the Labour Court to hold dismissal of the workmen unlawful, on the said ground. It is also submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that there was a total breakdown of command and control on the date of occurrence, inasmuch as, security personnel and firemen took the law in their own hands by acts of intimidation, violence leading to destruction of property, acts threatening superior officers, their family members and loyal workmen of the petitioners with bodily injury. In those circumstances, it cannot be said that the power under Clause 45.0.0 was arbitrarily exercised. He has emphasized that discipline is of prime concern to security personnel, as well as personnel in the fire department. The workmen, however, charged with those vital responsibilities grossly misconducted themselves by indulging in acts of violence and destruction, which imminently deserved invocation of Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing Orders. In the circumstances obtaining that were writlarge on the evidence before the Labour Court, it has concluded in manifest error, that the petitioners ought to have conducted an inquiry before punishing the workmen.

28. It is also highlighted by Sri Jauhari that even if for argument's sake it is presumed that the power to punish with dismissal from service, dispensing with inquiry was invoked in error by resort to Clause 45.0.0 (supra), the Labour Court while rendering the impugned award failed to apply its mind to the fact that the workmen have been convicted for the same acts, in a duly constituted criminal trial. It has failed to apply mind to the fact that such convicted workmen were not fit to be reinstated in service; and certainly not with full back-wages. Sri Jauhari has castigated the award of the Labour Court on account of non-consideration of the confirmed conviction of the workmen, while ordering reinstatement with full back-wages as unjustified, arbitrary and illegal. He has further impressed upon this Court that no employer can be forced to reinstate workmen who have been found guilty of offences punishable under Sections 452, 147, 336, 341, 427 and 506 IPC, by a Court of criminal jurisdiction. Taking his submission further on the issue, he urges that these offences involve model turpitude. Men convict of these offences cannot be permitted to work in an industrial establishment. He has argued further that merely because two other convicted men were reinstated, one of whom is still continuing in service, no relief on the basis of "equality before law" could be granted to the workmen. He has emphasized that the time tested principle is that parity cannot be drawn from a wrong. The reinstatement of the two other workmen, who were also subsequently convicted along with the workmen, might be a wrong decision of the petitioners, but that would not entitle the workmen to claim relief pleading it as discrimination.

29. Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.1 espousing the workmens' cause has submitted that the workmen were dismissed without conducting a domestic inquiry as provided vide Clause 32a.0.0, and, particularly, Clause 35.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders. Clause 35.0.0 last mentioned, provides a complete procedure for the imposition of punishment that is a major penalty. The entire procedure according to Sri B.N. Singh has been given a goby, without valid cause or justification. It is urged that Clause 33.0.0 carries a list of acts and omissions numbering 113, that would constitute misconduct, in respect of which disciplinary proceedings may be drawn. There is a complete mechanism for the petitioners to deal with any of those enumerated acts or omissions constituting misconduct, in accordance with Clauses 35.0.0 to 35.7.0, all of which have been arbitrarily ignored to impose a major punishment. It is urged by the learned counsel for the first respondent that there was a continuing agitation to take back the workmen in service, of which the State Government took cognizance, in order to maintain industrial peace and avoid industrial unrest, once negotiation between the employers and workmen had failed. It was to remedy the aforesaid situation that the Government referred the matter as an industrial dispute to the Labour Court, Rampur, which lateron came to be transferred to the Labour Court at Bareilly.

30. Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel for the first respondent submits that the Labour Court went into evidence, both oral and documentary, led on behalf of parties and returned a finding that two similarly circumstanced workmen, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh were reinstated by the petitioners, without assigning any special reasons or peculiar circumstances to do so, whereas the workmen were not. It was, therefore, held by the Labour Court that the workmen were discriminated against. It was also recorded that ten workmen were put on trial for the same acts of misconduct, and all ten were convicted and sentenced to various terms by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shahjahanpur. On appeal filed by the ten workmen to the Sessions Judge, sentence of imprisonment was modified and all of them were released on probation of good conduct for a period of one year. It is emphasized by the learned counsel that this aspect has been considered by the Labour Court at pages 33 and 34 of the paper book, carrying the impugned award. The fact that the Labour Court has considered this aspect has not been disputed by the petitioners, or shown to be incorrect and based on no evidence. It is, therefore, in the submission of the learned counsel, a finding of fact based on evidence that cannot be disturbed by this Court.

31. It is pointed out that in paragraphs 7, 9, 11, 12, 13, 15, 17 and 19 of the counter affidavit, correct facts have been detailed relating to the incident, that have not been denied in the rejoinder. It is, in addition, urged on behalf of respondent no.1 that the writ petition is not maintainable, as the eight affected workmen who are beneficiaries of the award, have not been impleaded as party respondents to the writ petition. They are necessary parties. In their absence, the writ petition is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties. It has been emphasized much by Sri B.N. Singh, that in paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit, it has been specifically asserted that Sri V.K. Shukla and Sri A.K. Dixit, who were officials of the company, were not residing in the factory premises, but living in the colony at a distance 1 - 2 kilometers. If any incident took place in the colony, away from the precincts or the premises of the factory, it would be an incident outside the place of work, which could not be taken cognizance of as misconduct under the Certified Standing Order. Thus, the hasty action of the management in dismissing the workmen from service, citing an incident that took place outside the factory premises is ultra vires the authority of the management under the Certified Standing Orders. The entire action is mala fide, and amounts to victimization of the workmen. It has been asserted in paragraphs 11 and 12 of the counter affidavit that the petitioner-employers had entered into an agreement with the daily-wages workmens' Union, which was not abided by, by the petitioners. The daily-wages workmen Union and its members were demanding implementation of that agreement, by the Employers. Respondent no.1 had extended support to their cause. It is on that account alone, that the Employers have falsely implicated the workmen, who are members of the Union, in a false criminal case. It is for the same reason that without any opportunity of hearing, they have dismissed the workmen on different dates, invoking Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing Orders. In doing so, they have acted in violation of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution.

32. It is also urged on behalf of respondent no.1 that in para 14 "Ka' "Kha' of the written statement filed by the respondent-Union (at pages 121 and 123 of the writ petition) it is categorically stated that the workmen concerned, Shamsher Singh, V.P. Shukla, Radhey Shyam Singh, Rakesh Kumar Mishra and Susheel Kumar Mishra, were suspended and charge-sheeted by the petitioners after the incident, whereas the other five workmen, including Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, were not suspended or charge-sheeted ever. However, orders of dismissal from service were passed against each of them. These workmen were allowed to discharge their duties, till the order of dismissal from service came to be made and received salary for the said period of time. It is urged that in meting out this differential treatment, the petitioners' act constitutes unfair labour practice as defined under Section 2(ra) read with Schedule V, Paras 5(a), (b), (c), (d), (g) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

33. It is also urged on behalf of respondent no.1 that resort to unfair labour practice has been prohibited under Section 25U, and made punishable under Section 25T of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The action of the Employers in suspending and charge sheeting five workmen, while differentially treating five others, who were not disturbed till orders dismissing them from service were passed, besides the act of the petitioners in reinstating Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, constitutes unfair labour practice on the foot of the discrimination practiced. It is argued as a facet of this submission that Sethpal Singh is an Ex-President of the Union whereas Bhagwan Singh, is the President of the first respondent, Union, in office. There was, thus, no reason to distinguish the case of the workmen, in particular, respondent no.1, who is the General Secretary of that Union, and Bhagwan Singh. The fact that a differential treatment has been meted out, constitutes unfair labour practice, as defined in para 9 of Schedule 9 to the Industrial Disputes Act. It is submitted that discrimination for a fact has been held to have been practiced by the Labour Court on the basis of a conclusion, that is drawn from relevant evidence. The said finding is in no way perverse, but plausible. As such, it calls for no interference by this Court in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. It has been argued further by Sri B.N. Singh, that the Employers have not produced any oral evidence to prove charges before the Labour Court, which was an opportunity available to them to substantiate the misconduct claimed against the workmen. This the petitioners ought to have done, as they have dismissed the workmen from service for acts constituting alleged misconduct, without holding a domestic inquiry. They could, by leading evidence in support of the charges, substantiate the same before the Labour Court. They could have also led evidence to show as to how the case of the Ex-President, Sethpal Singh and President of the first respondent-Union, Bhagwan Singh, was different from that of the workmen. That also was not done.

This abstinence by the Employers leads to a clear inference of victimization of the workmen, as learned counsel submits.

34. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the first respondent that the petitioner-Employers, have taken no plea with regard to loss of faith and confidence. It was never urged on their behalf to be framed as a point, no evidence was led, and no finding was, therefore, recorded by the Labour Court on the issue of loss of faith and confidence. The said issue having not been raised before the Labour court cannot be raised before this Court. In support of his contention on this score, Sri B.N. Singh has placed reliance upon a decision of the Delhi High Court in Management of Delhi Transport Corporation, New Delhi vs. Ram Kumar and another2, where speaking for the Division Bench, it was held by Rajindar Sachar, J. (as the Learned Chief Justice then was) in paragraph 12 of the Report, thus:

"13. We must also emphasise that the ipse dixit of the management that it has lost confidence in the workman is not a mantra of charm which can be used at management's pleasure to deny the normal relief of reinstatement to a workman even when the dismissal has been found to be unjustified. The plea of loss of confidence must have some rational relation to the fact that the employee had misused his position of trust and rendered it undesirable to retain him in service. The cases where reinstatement was refused related to the special relationship of a stenographer attached to an employer as in the case of (1970) 1 Lab L J 63 (SC) (Ruby General Insurance Co. vs. Chopra; or Hindustan Steel Ltd. v. A.K. Roy (1970) 1 Lab L J 228: (1970 Lab I C 1166) (SC)) where it was found undesirable to retain a person in service because of the recommendation of the Senior Security Officer based on verification report of the police that it would not be desirable to retain him in service particularly when the workman was employed in a blast furnace, a crucial part of the work with respect to which the workman had been employed. Mr. Malhotra tried to make capital by referring to the past record of the respondent workman from which it appears that he was previously warned or censured for some dereliction of duties. But this record is of no consequence because it is apparent that notwithstanding these warning it was not considered improper or hazardous to continue with the service of the employee. But for the present disciplinary proceeding the employer was apparently satisfied that continuance of the workman was not hazardous or risky for the establishment. If that be so then how can it be urged with any justification that even when the charges have not been established the workman should be penalised by being denied his normal right of reinstatement on the vague and unsubstantiated plea of loss of confidence.

"Loss of confidence in the integrity of an employee should be substantiated by cogent evidence before the Labour Court. If a workman is entitled as a general rule to be reinstated after his wrongful dismissal is set aside stated and on the facts it is not possible to find cogent material on which the establishment can genuinely be considered to have lost confidence in the integrity of the workman, he is entitled to be reinstated." See (1971) 1 Lab L J 233: (1971 Lab I C 1235) (SC), Management of Panitole Tea Estate v. Workmen."

35. Sri B.N. Singh has further placed reliance on a decision of a Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. vs. Ganesh Kumar and another3, to urge that the punishment of dismissal from service is shockingly disproportionate to the misconduct, particularly, when the workmen in this case at some stage, may be by contrivance of the Management had accepted their guilt, and pleaded for mercy. It is pointed out by Sri Singh that in State of U.P. vs. Ganesh Kumar and another (supra), the misconduct charged against the respondent, a Constable with the Provincial Armed Constabulary, 28th Battalion P.A.C., Etawah, was that on being called to Headquarters, he appeared in an inebriated condition. In the medical examination, it was verified that he had consumed alcohol. Accordingly, disciplinary proceedings were initiated against him under Rule 14(1) of the U.P. Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991. During inquiry, he accepted his guilt and submitted that he was upset due to the death of two of his brothers, and prayed for mercy. In that case, the Tribunal (which appears to be a reference to the U.P. Public Services Tribunal, from the report of the decision) set aside the punishment of dismissal from service awarded by the Disciplinary Authority, and directed reinstatement in service with 25% back-wages. Upon a writ petition by the Employers challenging the Tribunal's judgment, a Division Bench of this Court went into the question of proportionality of punishment, and after a reference to two other decisions, involving misconduct of a similar kind, in one case by a Constable Driver in the CRPF, held the award to be just and legal. Learned counsel for the first respondent placed reliance on this decision to say that in the totality of circumstances, the petitioners are entitled to extension of the same treatment - if not the same treatment, the same mercy - as that extended to the two similarly circumstanced workmen, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh. Certain other authorities have also been relied upon by Sri B.N. Singh, on the various grounds that he has urged in support of the award, which shall be duly considered during the course of this judgment.

36. This Court has given a thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions, which on both sides have been advanced by the learned counsel with their usual felicity of expression, and unsparing industry.

37. A perusal of the impugned award does show that the Labour Court has not at all examined the question as to validity of the exercise of disciplinary powers by the petitioners, without holding an inquiry, taking resort to Clause 45.0.0 (b) and (c) of the Standing Orders. A perusal of the various orders of dismissal, compendiously annexed as Annexure 15 to the writ petition, would show that in case of J.B. Singh, the Disciplinary Authority has exercised powers under sub-clause (c) of Clause 45.0.0 last mentioned, whereas in cases of other workmen, the power has been exercised under sub-clause (b) & (c) of Clause 45.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders. Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing Orders is extracted below:

"45.0.0 SPECIAL PROCEDURE IN CERTAIN CASES:

Not with standing anything contained therein the disciplinary Authority may impose any of the penalties.

(a) If an employee has been convicted on a Criminal charge or conclusions arrived at by a judicial trial.

(b) If the management believes or suspects that an employee particularly on holding a position of confidence, has betrayed that confidence. But such belief or suspicion of the employee should not be a mere whom or fancy. It should be bonafide and responsible.

(c) If an employee has been found guilty of very serious kind of misconduct such as sabotage, firing or attempting murder or manhandling or attempting physical resorts to senior official in industrial premises and on the strength of facts domestic enquiry is not required. The workman who is adjusted by the management on examination of the facts to be guilty of such misconduct is liable to be summarily dismissed."

38. Acts constituting misconduct have been very elaborately detailed in the Certified Standing Orders, in two parts. In Clause 27.0.0 and its various sub-clauses, it has been spelt out about the behaviour & conduct and certain other matters that a workman has to adhere to. In Clause 33.0.0 and its various sub-clauses, numbering a 113 are detailed as specific acts and omissions, that constitute misconduct. Of these, sub-clause (15) of Clause 33.0.0 of the Standing Orders, reads thus:

"33.0.0 ACTS & OMISSIONS CONSTITUTING MISCONDUCT:

Without prejudice to the general meaning of the terms misconduct and indiscipline, the following acts and omissions, shall inter-alia, constitute specific acts of misconducts on the part of a workman.

(15) Assaulting or threatening or manhandling or intimidating or abusing or insulting or behaving in an indisciplined manner with any officer or employee of Establishment or his family members, whether within the establishment or work or estate premises or outside, whether on duty or otherwise for any reason, whatsoever."

(Emphasis by Court)

39. The Labour Court has spontaneously remarked that the Employers ought to have held a domestic inquiry before imposing a major penalty. It was not enough for them to ask whether the workmen wished to apologize, and further that from their letters expressing apologies, hold them to be guilty. The approach of the Labour Court appears to be fundamentally flawed, because on the facts on record, the Employers never resorted to the routine procedure of holding a domestic inquiry, which is otherwise provided for in case a major punishment is to be imposed. The said procedure is provided for under Clause 35.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders. It is, indeed, a very detailed procedure with all opportunity to the workman to offer his defence, and for him to be heard, before a decision of drastic consequence is taken. Clause 45.0.0 is engrafted as an exception to the normal rule of holding domestic inquiry against a workman, charged with misconduct that may lead to imposition of a major punishment. The first task for the Labour Court, therefore, was to see whether the special procedure envisaged under Clause 45.0.0 was invoked bona fide, and applied to the facts and evidence on record, in terms that it is contemplated under the said Clause.

40. The Labour Court had a reference before it, whether the various orders of dismissal passed against the workmen were lawful and proper. It was, therefore, imperative for the Labour Court to go into the question whether the power under Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing Orders was rightly invoked and lawfully applied. It is only if the Labour Court concluded that the power was not rightfully invoked, or even if invoked rightly, applied wrongly, would the contingency arise where the Labour Court could hold that it was imperative for the petitioner-Employers to have held a domestic inquiry before the proceeding to impose a major penalty, in accordance with the procedure under Clause 35.0.0 (supra). It is not that, that the attention of the Labour Court was not drawn to the special procedure under Clause 45.0.0, which was invoked in this case.

41. A perusal of the written statement filed before the Labour Court shows that in paragraphs 2, 3 & 4 of the same, it has been clearly asserted that the extraordinary disciplinary powers, under Clause 45.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders were invoked. The Labour Court, therefore, had to determine whether that power was validly invoked, before it could proceed to conclude that the Employers were under an obligation to hold a domestic inquiry. That finding, as to the domestic inquiry not being held by the petitioner-Employers, would require the Labour Court to negative invocation of powers under Clause 45.0.0 (supra), before dismissal of the workmen could be held illegal on ground of non-holding of a domestic inquiry. Much contrary to this approach, the impugned award betrays that the Labour Court had turned a Nelson's eye to the impact of Clause 45.0.0 of the certified Standing Orders. It has proceeded to conclude against the petitioner-Employers as if that clause never existed, or was never invoked.

42. It is, therefore, left to this Court to see whether Clause 45.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders was rightly invoked by the petitioner-Employers. There can be little doubt that generally speaking the valid exercise of power of an Employer to dismiss an employee, whose service is protected by a statute (as distinguished from a mere contractual employment governed by the Master-Servant relationship) must be exercised, in accordance with the procedure provided for imposition of a major penalty of that kind. Even if a very detailed procedure is not spelt out under the relevant service rules or regulations, an inquiry to determine the truth of the allegations adhering to the fundamentals of the rules of natural justice would be imperative. Dispensation of the requirement to inquire into the misconduct of a workman or employee is permissible only in the circumstances where statutory service rules or regulations, do provided for that contingency. In case of industrial employment where the workman's tenure is certainly protected by the Industrial Disputes Act, it is the Certified Standing Orders, approved and duly certified by the competent authority applicable to the Employer that serve as service regulations for a workman with all statutory force. This statutory vigour for the Certified Standing Orders of an Employer flows from the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946. Admittedly, in the present case, the Certified Standing Orders applicable to the petitioners have due approval and enforcement under the Act aforesaid.

43. Before venturing to answer whether one or the other sub-clauses of Clause 45.0.0 of the Certified Standing Orders would justify orders of dismissal for the grave misconduct alleged, being passed without holding a domestic inquiry, a brief survey of some authorities would be useful. In this context, a decision of the Delhi High Court in Daya Chand-I vs. National Thermal Power Station4, is apposite. In that case the employee was employed on security duty by the respondent, National Thermal Power Station on 04.04.1998. He was dismissed without inquiry by the Employers, invoking their powers under Rule 25 of the Standing Orders applicable to them on ground that the Disciplinary Authority, for reasons recorded by it in writing, was satisfied that it was reasonably not practicable to hold an inquiry in the manner provided in the Standing orders. It would be relevant if the provisions of Rule 25 of the Standing Orders, in re, Daya Chand-I (supra) are reproduced (quoted from the report of the judgment verbatim):

"25. Special Procedure in Certain Cases--

Notwithstanding anything contained in Standing Order No. 24, the Disciplinary Authority may impose any of the penalties specified in Standing Order No. 23 in any,of the following circumstances:

(i) the workman has been convicted on a criminal charge or on the strength of facts or conclusions arrived at by a judicial trial; or

(ii) where the Disciplinary Authority is satisfied for reasons to be recorded by it in writing that it is not reasonably practicable to hold an enquiry in the manner provided in these Standing Orders; or

(iii) where the Disciplinary Authority is satisfied that in the interest of the security of the Corporation/company, it is not expedient to hold an enquiry in the manner provided in these Standing Orders."

44. The facts in Daya Chand-I (supra) in sum and substance were that the employee was deputed at the residence of a Director of the Employers, in the Asian Village Residential Complex. It was reported that the employee had indulged in an unnatural act with a child, leaving his post without permission. The child was aged 6 years and resided in the Garage of an adjoining flat, in the same Complex. The employee was allegedly caught red-handed by the child's parents and some neighbours. It was in the context of the aforesaid facts that the employee was served with a show cause notice, asking him why should he not be dismissed from service. He appears to have put in reply and denied. He refuted the allegations in their entirety. The Disciplinary Authority considered the matter and proceeded to inflict punishment of dismissal from service, invoking Rule 25(ii) of the Standing Orders, already mentioned. The Court, in dealing with the challenge, held with reference to the facts of the case, the contentions urged and authority on the point, thus:

"9. Three contentions have been raised by the Counsel for the petitioner at the hearing. The first contention raised was that no case was made out to proceed against the petitioner under Rule 25. The second contention was that there was no material before the authorities to take action and the third contention raised was that the order of termination was passed by the Deputy Manager (P&A). The Competent Authority of the petitioner was the Deputy General Manager who alone was empowered to act as the Disciplinary Authority of the petitioner.

10. The issue as to when an authority can dispense with enquiry has received the attention of Courts from time to time. Power of the employer to dispense with the enquiry has been upheld by the Courts. However, exercise of this power has been held to be strict and applicable to exceptional circumstances. In the judgment reported as AIR 1985 SC 251, Workmen of Hindustan Steel Ltd. v. Hindustan Steel Limited, Hon'ble Supreme Court held:

"When the decision of the employer to' dispense with enquiry is questioned, the employer must be in a position to satisfy the Court that holding of the enquiry will be either counter-productive or may cause such irreparable and irreversible damage which in the facts and circumstances of the case not be suffered. This minimum re-quirement cannot and should not be dispensed with to control wide discretionary power and to guard against the drastic power to inflict such a heavy punishment as denial of livelihood and casting a stigma without giving the slightest opportunity to the employee to controvert the allegation and even without letting him know what is his misconduct."

11. In a case of sexual misconduct, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgment reported as 1997 (2) SCC 534, Avinash Nagra v. Navodaya Vidyalaya Samiti, held as under:

"It is seen from the record that the appellant was given a warning of his sexual advances towards a girl student but he did not correct himself and mend his conduct. He went to the Girls Hostel at 10 p.m. in the night and asked the Hostel helper, to misguide the girl by telling her that Bio-Chemistry Madam was calling her; believing the statement, she came out of the hostel. She was an active participant in cultural activities. Taking advantage thereof, he misused his position and adopted sexual advances towards her. When she ran away from his presence, he pursued her, to the room where she locked herself inside, he banged the door. When he has informed by her room mates that she was asleep, he rebuked them and took the torch from the room and went away. He admitted his going there and admitted his meeting with the girl but he had given a false explanation which was not found acceptable to an Inquiry Officer, namely, Asstt. Director. After conducting the enquiry, he submitted the report to the Director and the Director examined the report and found him to be not worthy to be a teacher in the institution. The Director has correctly taken the decision not to conduct any enquiry exposing the students and m6desty of the girl and to terminate the services of the appellant by giving one month's salary and allowances in lieu of notice as he is a temporary employee under probation. In the circumstances, it is very hazardous to expose the young girls for tortuous process of cross-examination."

12. Thus, where a disciplinary enquiry is dispensed with on the plea that it was not reasonably practicable to hold one, the Court must be satisfied that it was not a colourable exercise or a mala-fideaction of the employer. The employer was to satisfy the Court that good and objective reasons existed showing both proof of mis-conduct and the reasons for dispensing with the enquiry. This minimum requirement cannot and should not be made to suffer."

45. It must be remarked in connection with Daya Chand-I (supra) that the case apparently did not involve invoking jurisdiction of the Labour Court, or the Industrial Tribunal, but the event there did turn on an interpretation of Standing Orders applicable to the Employers' establishment, where there was a provision to dispense with the procedure of holding a domestic inquiry in the exceptional circumstances indicated under Rule 25 of the Standing Orders.

46. In re, The Deputy General Manager (SME), State Bank of India, Chennai and another vs. The Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Chennai5, the issue arose out of an industrial dispute, properly so called that was raised by a workman against the petitioner, State Bank of India, and referred by the appropriate Government to the Adjudication of the Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court. The Industrial dispute was raised by the workman in the The Deputy General Manager (SME) and another vs. The Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Chennai (supra) challenging an order of removal from service, passed by the Employers. The action by the Employer-Bank was taken after a duly constituted departmental inquiry found the employee guilty on eleven charges, and he was asked to show cause against the findings of the inquiry officer. The Disciplinary Authority ordered the employee's dismissal from service vide order dated 02.12.2005. The departmental Appellate Authority modified the punishment of dismissal into one of removal from service with superannuation benefits, about which the learned Judge has said in the part of his Lordship's judgment setting out facts, 'by showing leniency'. The Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court vide its award dated 15.05.2009 after hearing both parties held the order of punishment to be just and proper, denying relief to the workman. Aggrieved by the aforesaid award of the Tribunal, the employee earlier filed a writ petition to the High Court. In the said writ petition, the employee had contended that the Presiding Officer of the Tribunal was not familiar with Tamil and his mother-tongue is Malayalam. The translated copy of the inquiry proceedings was not available to him. Hence, the High Court taking note of this fact in the earlier writ petition came to a conclusion that the Presiding Officer of the Tribunal could not have applied his mind, given this handicap. The High Court on the earlier occasion, therefore, set aside the award dated 15.05.2009, and remanded the matter to the Tribunal. The Court in that judgment also directed the employee to file English translation of the inquiry proceedings, which were in Tamil. Post-remand, the Tribunal concluded that the inquiry was fair and proper, and that the finding of guilt against the employee relative to charges 1 to 6, 8 and 9, was also lawful and proper. The Tribunal, however, passed an award dated 30.04.2012, ordering the employee to be reinstated in service without back-wages, but with continuity of service and all other benefits. This order was made invoking the powers under Section 11A of the Industrial Disputes Act. It was this determination by the Tribunal that brought the Employers to the High Court in The Deputy General Manager (SME) and another vs. The Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Chennai (supra).

47. It must be remarked at once that this decision though one arising on facts where punishment was awarded by the Employers after a fullfledged inquiry, and not one by invoking the special procedure dispensing with the requirement of a domestic inquiry, examined the issue regarding course of action to be adopted where no inquiry is held. This venture was undertaken by the Court in the context of examining the powers of the Labour Court under Section 11-A of the Industrial Disputes Act to reduce the punishment awarded, where it is found to be shockingly disproportionate. The principles that would be applied by a Labour Court have been detailed by more or less a reference to the decision of the Supreme Court in Workmen of M/s Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co. of India (P.) Ltd. vs. Management and others6. The said principles laid down by their Lordships figure in paragraph 19 of the Report, in re, The Deputy General Manager (SME) and another vs. The Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Chennai (supra) thus:

"19. In this regard, it would be appropriate to see some of the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. In (1973) 1 SCC 813 (Workman v. Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co.) the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as follows-

26. The powers of the Tribunal when a proper enquiry has been held by an employer as well as the procedure to be adopted when no enquiry at all has been held or an enquiry held was found to be defective, again came up for consideration in Management of Ritz Theatre (P) Ltd. v. Its Workmen [AIR 1963 SC 295: (1962) 2 Lab LJ 498]. Regarding the powers of a Tribunal when there has been a proper and fair enquiry, it was held:

"It is well settled that if an employer serves the relevant charge or charges on his employee and holds a proper and fair enquiry, it would be open to him to act upon the report submitted to him by the enquiry officer and to dismiss the employee concerned. If the enquiry has been properly held, the order of dismissal passed against the employee as a result of such an enquiry can be challenged if it is shown that the conclusions reached at the departmental enquiry were perverse or the impugned dismissal is vindicative or male fide, and amounts to an unfair labour practice. In such an enquiry before the Tribunal, it is not open to the Tribunal to sit in appeal over the findings recorded at the domestic enquiry. This Court has held that when a proper enquiry has been held, it would be open to the enquiry officer holding the domestic enquiry to deal with the matter on the merits bona fide and come to his own conclusion. .....

32. From those decisions, the following principles broadly emerge:

(1) The right to take disciplinary action and to decide upon the quantum of punishment are mainly managerial functions, but if a dispute is referred to a Tribunal, the latter has power to see if action of the employer is justified.

(2) Before imposing the punishment, an employer is expected to conduct a proper enquiry in accordance with the provisions of the Standing Orders, if applicable, and principles of natural justice. The enquiry should not be an empty formality.

(3) When a proper enquiry has been held by an employer, and the finding of misconduct is a plausible conclusion flowing from the evidence, adduced at the said enquiry, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to sit in judgment over the decision of the employer as an appellate body. The interference with the decision of the employer will be justified only when the findings arrived at in the enquiry are perverse or the management is guilty of victimisation, unfair labour practice or mala fide.

(4) Even if no enquiry has been held by an employer or if the enquiry held by him is found to be defective, the Tribunal in order to satisfy itself about the legality and validity of the order, had to give an opportunity to the employer and employee to adduce evidence before it. It is open to the employer to adduce evidence for the first time justifying his action, and it is open to the employee to adduce evidence contra.

(5) The effect of an employer not holding an enquiry is that the Tribunal would not have to consider only whether there was a prima facie case. On the other hand, the issue about the merits of the impugned order of dismissal or discharge is at large before the Tribunal and the latter, on the evidence adduced before it, has to decide for itself whether the misconduct alleged is proved. In such cases, the point about the exercise of managerial functions does not arise at all. A case of defective enquiry stands on the same footing as no enquiry.

(6) The Tribunal gets jurisdiction to consider the evidence placed before it for the first time in justification of the action taken only, if no enquiry has been held or after the enquiry conducted by an employer is found to be defective.

(7) It has never been recognised that the Tribunal should straightaway, without anything more, direct reinstatement of a dismissed or discharged employee, once it is found that no domestic enquiry has been held or the said enquiry is found to be defective.

(8) An employer, who wants to avail himself of the opportunity of adducing evidence for the first time before the Tribunal to justify his action, should ask for it at the appropriate stage. If such an opportunity is asked for, the Tribunal has no power to refuse. The giving of an opportunity to an employer to adduce evidence for the first time before the Tribunal is in the interest of both the management and the employee and to enable the Tribunal itself to be satisfied about the alleged misconduct.

(9) Once the misconduct is proved either in the enquiry conducted by an employer or by the evidence placed before a Tribunal for the first time, punishment imposed cannot be interfered with by the Tribunal except in cases where the punishment is so harsh as to suggest victimisation.

(10) In a particular case, after setting aside the order of dismissal, whether a workman should be reinstated or paid compensation is, as held by this Court in Management of Panitole Tea Estate v. Workmens [(1971) 1 SCC 742] within the judicial decision of a Labour Court or Tribunal."

48. There is yet another decision of the Supreme Court on which reliance has also been placed by Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel for the first respondent. It is their Lordships' decision in Amar Chakravarty v. Maruti Suzuki (I) Ltd.7. In the said decision of their Lordships, the question arose about the onus probandi to prove whether termination of services of the workman was lawful, would lie on which of the parties - Employers or the workman. This question arose in the context of an ongoing proceeding before Labour Court on a reference of an industrial dispute made to it where the Employers had exercised powers, similar to those in the present case dismissing the workman from service, dispensing with the holding of a domestic inquiry on the ground that it was not reasonably practicable. The Labour Court initially placed the burden on the issue to prove whether the termination of workman's services was lawful, and if not, to what relief he is entitled upon the Employers. At an interlocutory stage of the proceedings, the Labour Court, however, shifted the onus to prove the aforesaid issue from the Management to the workman. At that stage, the workman challenged the order shifting the onus upon him before the High Court, which upheld the Labour Court. In Appeal by Special Leave, their Lordships of the Supreme Court held:

"12. In our opinion, in the light of the settled legal position on the point, the judgment of the High Court is clearly indefensible. Whilst it is true that the provisions of the Evidence Act, 1872 per se are not applicable in an industrial adjudication, it is trite that its general principles do apply in proceedings before the Industrial Tribunal or the Labour Court, as the case may be. (See Municipal Corpn., Faridabad v. Siri Niwas [(2004) 8 SCC 195 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 1062].) In any proceeding, the burden of proving a fact lies on the party that substantially asserts the affirmative of the issue, and not on the party who denies it. (See Anil Rishi v. Gurbaksh Singh [(2006) 5 SCC 558], SCC p. 561, para 9). Therefore, it follows that where an employer asserts misconduct on the part of the workman and dismisses or discharges him on that ground, it is for him to prove misconduct by the workman before the Industrial Tribunal or the Labour Court, as the case may be, by leading relevant evidence before it and it is open to the workman to adduce evidence contra. In the first instance, a workman cannot be asked to prove that he has not committed any act tantamounting to misconduct.

13. In Karnataka SRTC [(2001) 5 SCC 433] relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant, a Constitution Bench of this Court affirmed the decision of this Court in Shambhu Nath Goyal v. Bank of Baroda [(1983) 4 SCC 491 : 1984 SCC (L&S) 1], wherein the issue for consideration was as to at what stage, the management is entitled to seek permission to adduce evidence in justification of its decision to terminate the services of an employee. It was held that the right of the employer to adduce additional evidence, in a proceeding before the Labour Court under Section 10 of the Act, questioning the legality of the order terminating the service must be availed of by the employer by making a proper request at the time when it files its statement of claim or written statement.

14. It was observed that: (Karnataka SRTC case [(2001) 5 SCC 433] , SCC p. 441, para 15)

"15. ... "16. ... The management is made aware of the workman's contention regarding the defect in the domestic enquiry by the written statement of defence filed by him in the application filed by the management under Section 33 of the Act. Then, if the management chooses to exercise its right it must make up its mind at the earliest stage and file the application for that purpose without any unreasonable delay.' [As observed in Shambhu Nath Goyal v. Bank of Baroda, (1983) 4 SCC 491, p. 506, para 16.] "

15. Similarly, in Firestone Tyre & Rubber Co. [(1973) 1 SCC 813 : 1973 SCC (L&S) 341] this Court observed that: (SCC p. 828, para 32)

"32. (4) Even if no enquiry has been held by an employer or if the enquiry held by him is found to be defective, the Tribunal in order to satisfy itself about the legality and validity of the order, had to give an opportunity to the employer and employee to adduce evidence before it. It is open to the employer to adduce evidence for the first time justifying his action, and it is open to the employee to adduce evidence contra."

(emphasis supplied by us)

(See also United Bank of India v. T.N. Banks Deposit Collectors Union [(2007) 12 SCC 585 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 529]; Engg. Laghu Udyog Employees' Union v. Labour Court and Industrial Tribunal [(2003) 12 SCC 1 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 974].)"

49. These authorities have mostly laid down law in the context of exercise of powers by the Labour Court under Section 11-A of the Act. Though that is not the specific plea raised here, but that could be involved in any case where the Labour Court is seized of a reference involving dismissal from service. However, that is not the principal issue to be examined in this matter. What has to be seen here is whether the Management were entitled to exercise powers, given the facts and circumstances of the case to dispense with the procedure of holding a domestic inquiry, in accordance with the Standing Orders, and take resort to special procedure in Clause 45.0.0 of the Standing orders. This Court thinks that cases where power to dispense with inquiry on one or the other ground, if provided under the Standing Orders in exceptional cases is exercised, would render it imperative that evidence be recorded before the Labour Court. In that case, in the nature of things, no application seeking permission to lead evidence, or a case made out to that effect in pleadings may be required. This is so because in the very nature of the power exercised, there is no evidence recorded by the Employers, in the formal sense of the term wherever inquiry is dispensed with. The evidence is certainly there, but not led either on behalf of the Employers or in defence by the workmen. The power exercised by the Employers is by invocation of a special procedure to dispense with inquiry, as in the present case. Therefore, the Labour Court ought to require parties to lead evidence in a matter like the present one. The parties in their own interest must take the opportunity to do so. It is gratifying to note that in the present case, the parties and the Labour Court adopted that course and evidence on both sides has been led. This course is all the more necessary because given the nature of proceedings where no domestic inquiry is held, there would be scanty material, if any, available to the Labour Court to record its conclusion whether the power to dispense with inquiry under the Standing Orders has been rightfully exercised. In the event it has been rightfully exercised, the law laid down by their Lordships in the Workmen of M/s Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co. of India (P.) Ltd. (supra), which requires such opportunity to be given by the Tribunal where no inquiry is held would be attracted. The principles enumerated in sub-paras (4), (5), (6), (7) and (8), in re, Workmen of M/s Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co. of India (P.) Ltd. (supra) are relevant.

50. The Labour Court in this case had all the documentary evidence filed before it led by the petitioner-Employers and also by the first respondent, on behalf of the workmen. There was also oral evidence led by the Employers, including the deposition-in-chief by EW-2, V.K. Shukla, Joint General Manager (Personnel and Industrial Relations) of the petitioner-Company. He is one of the complainants regarding the incident of violence that took place in the night of 03/04.06.2009, which too is on record and proved by EW-1, Hitesh Kulshreshtha, Additional General Manager (HR) with the petitioner-Company. The said complaint has been marked as Ex. E5. Also, on record is another complaint about the same incident by Sri A.K. Dixit, another senior official of the petitioner-Company, both addressed to the Vice President (Works) of the petitioner-Company. Both the complaints are about rioting with arms and deadly weapons by the workmen, carrying a graphic account of the occurrence where a violent mob laid siege to the Officers' colony and ravaged it. Sri V.K. Shukla in his deposition-in-chief (on affidavit) dated 04.08.2015, filed before the Labour Court has testified about the occurrence involving the workmen, as under:

"दिनांक 03 व 04 जून 2009 की रात्रि में लगभग 1:30 बजे श्री जे0बी0 सिंह, 50-60 परिचित / अपरिचित, व्यक्तियों / कर्मचारियों की भीड़ की अगुवाई करते हुए, डी टाइप बलाक में स्थित मेरे निवास स्थान, डी-7, कृभको श्याम नगर, ग्राम व पोस्ट पिपरोला, तहसील सदर, जिला शाहजहांपुर (उ0प्र0) पर आये। उक्त भीड़ में श्री जे0बी0 सिंह यादव, श्री बी0पी0 शुक्ला, श्री राधेश्याम, श्री राकेश मिश्रा, श्री शमशेर चन्द्र (सुरक्षा विभाग), श्री सुशील कुमार मिश्रा तथा श्री बी0के0 राजपूत (फायर एवं सेफ्टी विभाग), श्री सेठ पाल सिंह, मैकेनिकल विभाग, श्री भगवान सिंह, टेक्नीकल विभाग के कर्मचारीगण भी उक्त भीड़ में शामिल थे। मेरे घर के पास पहुंचकर भीड़ में उपस्थित लोगों ने सर्वप्रथम नारेबाजी की तथा डी टाइप बलाक के कई कमरों की बिजली काट दी। वहां पर उपस्थित जनसमुदाय ने प्रतिष्ठान के प्रबन्धकगण, खासकर मुझे तथा मेरे परिवारीजन को भद्दी-भद्दी गालियां देने लगे। उपर्युक्त वर्णित कर्मचारीगण, प्रतिष्ठान के प्रबन्धकगण, खासकर मुझे तथा मेरे परिवार जन को भद्दी-भद्दी गालियां तो देते रहे, साथ ही मेरे घर के मुख्य द्वार के अन्दर घुस आये तथा सीढ़ी पर चढ़कर, निवास स्थान के अन्दर, जाने वाले, दरवाजे को तोड़ने लगे। इन्होने लकड़ी के दरवाजे के सामने लगे हुए, जाली के दरवाजे को तोड़ डाला, परन्तु लकड़ी के दरवाजे को नहीं तोड़ सके। ये लोग रात्रि की उक्त बेला में, लगभग 1/2 घंटे तक नारेबाजी करने, धमकी देने, गाली-गलौज करने, घर में अनाधिकृत घुसने तथा दरवाजे को तोड़ने के काम में लिप्त रहे। लगभग आधे घण्टे के उपरान्त भीड़ में उपस्थित सभी व्यक्ति डी टाइप ब्लाक से वापस चले गये।

इसके उपरान्त, दिनांक 3/4 जून, 2009 की रात्रि की प्रात: बेला में लगभग 03:15 बजे, पुन: उपर्युक्त वर्णित कर्मचारीगण 50-60 परिचित/ अपरिचित, व्यक्तियों/ कर्मचारियों की भीड़ की अगुवाई करते हुए पुन: डी टाइप ब्लाक में आये। वहां आते ही नारेबाजी करने लगे, अफसरों तथा उनके परिवार जन का नाम लेकर भद्दी-भद्दी गालियां देते रहे। श्री ए0के0 दीक्षित, तत्कालीन महाप्रबन्धक तथा अधोहस्ताक्षरी बी0के0 शुक्ला, तत्कालीन उपमहाप्रबन्धक (कार्मिक एवं औद्योगिक सम्बन्ध) के घर में घुसे। घर के बेड रूम, ड्राइंग रूम तथा अन्य कमरों के खिड़कियों के शीशे पत्थरों तथा गमलों से मार-मार कर तोड़ डाले। श्री ए0के0 दिक्षित जी के घर के सामने खड़ी की गयी उनकी व्यक्तिगत कार को बुरी तरह से तोड़ा। भीड़ में उपस्थित लोग यह भी कर रहे थे कि, कि आग लगा दो। उक्त समय उग्र भीड़ में से बन्दूक/ कट्टा से गोली की आवाज सुनाई दी। लगभग 20-30 मिनट तक ये लोग, इस घृणित कार्य को करते रहे, इसके

उपरान्त डी0 टाइप ब्लाक से वापस चले गये। इनके इस कृत्य से डी टाइप में रहने वाले अधिकारियों व उनके परिवारजन, खासकर श्री ए0के0 दीक्षित, तथा अधोहस्ताक्षरी बी0के0 शुक्ला तथा परिवारजन के जान-माल का खतरा उत्पन्न हो गया था। डी टाइप ब्लाक में रहने वाले अधिकारी व परिवारजन को बहुत गहरा सदमा लगा तथा बहुत दिनों तक जान माल के लिए भयभीत रहे।

दिनांक 04 जून 2009 की प्रात: लगभग 4:30 बजे से 5:30 बजे के मध्य, उपर्युक्त वर्णित कर्मचारीगण की अगुवीई में, लगभग 150-200 परिचित/ अपरिचित व्यक्ति/ कर्मचारी ने, कृभको श्यामनगर, के मुख्य द्वार के आवागमन को घेराव करने के उपरान्त बाधित कर दिया। कालोनी के मुख्य द्वार के पास खड़े किये गये ट्रैक्टर को, इन लोगों ने, गेट के सामने, रोड पर, खड़ा करके, ट्रैक्टर के पहियों की हवा निकाल दिया। कालोनी में, बिक्री हेतु, आने वाले दूध, सब्जी तथा आवश्यक वस्तुओं को कालोनी में नहीं आने दिया। दूध वालों के, दूध को जबरदस्ती जमीन पर गिराया, बीमार व्यक्तियों को गेट के बाहर इलाज कराने हेतु, नहीं जाने दिया। प्रात: 6:00 बजे की पाली में अपने काम पर जाने वाले अधिकारियों व कर्मचारियों को प्रतिष्ठान में, नहीं जाने दिया। हमारा प्रतिष्ठान केमिकल प्रतिष्ठान की श्रेणी में आता है। प्रतिष्ठान में अमोनिया गैस का उत्पादन/ भण्डारण, क्लोरीन, नैफ्ता, नैचुरल गैस, जैसे अत्यधिक ज्वलनशील पदार्थों का प्रचुर मात्रा में तथा उनका उपयोग/ बर्ताव किया जाता है। उक्त दिन, इनके द्वारा अधिकारियों/ कर्मचारियों के काम पर जाने से रोकने के कारण, अधिकारी/ कर्मचारी उपर्युक्त वर्णित अत्यधिक ज्वलनशील पदार्थों का रख-रखान नहीं कर पाये। ऐसे में, इन लोगों ने प्रतिष्ठान के न केवल कर्मचारी तथा उनके परिजन वरन् प्रतिष्ठान के पास में निवासरत ग्रामवासियों के जीवन को भी कुछ समय के लिये असुरक्षित कर दिया था। यदि कोई दुर्घटना घटित होती तो उसका खामियाजा बहुत ही भयावह हो सकता था।"

(Emphasis by Court)

51. This witness was cross-examined on behalf of respondent no.1. Likewise is the very detailed deposition-in-chief of Hitesh Kulshreshtha, who proved as many as 42 documents exhibited on behalf of the petitioners, carrying every detail of the violent episode at the hands of the mob commanded by the workmen. Hitesh Kulshreshtha was cross-examined by the defence representative on 23.08.2015 thoroughly, which too is on record.

52. In presence of so much evidence, it was certainly no justification for the Labour Court to have said in a single sentence that it was incumbent upon the petitioners to have held a domestic inquiry before imposing a major punishment. A reading of the award shows that the Labour Court was well aware of all the evidence that was before it, but did not choose to go into the said evidence itself to find out the truth or otherwise of the charges. It also did not look into that evidence to opine whether powers under Clause 45.0.0 were rightfully exercised by the Employers to dispense with the inquiry. This Court has looked into evidence, not to assess the worth of it with reference to veracity of the charges, which the Labour Court alone could have done. The said authority would lie with the Inquiry Officer and the Disciplinary Authority, in the event an inquiry were held. In the absence of an inquiry being conducted, the power to determine the worth of the charges would lie with the Labour Court. It has not exercised those powers.

53. Nevertheless, this Court can certainly look into that evidence for the limited purpose to find out whether the petitioners rightfully dispensed with the otherwise mandatory requirement under the Standing Orders to hold an inquiry, by invoking Clause 45.0.0. This Court may remark at once that under Clause 45.0.0, be it sub-clause (b) or (c), the specific ground that it is not reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry, does not find place. At the same time, sub-clause (c) of Clause 45.0.0, empowers the petitioners to hold a workman guilty and to summarily dismiss him without inquiry, if he is found by the Management (on evidence available with them) to be guilty of very serious kind of misconduct such as sabotage, firing or attempting murder or manhandling or attempting physical resorts to senior official in industrial premises. Sub-Clause (b) on the other hand provides that an employee, particularly one holding a position of confidence, if believed or suspected by the Management to have betrayed the confidence, can be penalized (by any of the prescribed penalties). But, such belief or suspicion should not be one based on mere whim or fancy. It should be a bonafide opinion responsibly held.

54. It is not the first respondent's case, either before this Court or was it the part of the dispute referred to the Labour Court that Clause 45.0.0, or any of its sub-clauses are in any way ultra vires the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, or violative of any other fundamental right of the workmen, or otherwise violative of the Constitution.

55. On the evidence that has been placed on record before the Labour Court, this Court is of clear opinion that the petitioners lawfully exercised their power to dispense with the domestic inquiry against the workmen, who had commanded a mob to manhandle high ranking officials of the petitioners in the unearthly hours of the night, misbehaved with their families, damaged their official residences, and a private car of one of the officials. Much more than that the workmen by their act as would appear from the evidence of V.K. Shukla, Joint General Manager (Personnel and Industrial Relations) of the petitioners, by laying the siege to the entrance of the industrial plant, prevented officers and workmen from proceeding to their allotted duty stations in time. It has been emphasized that the petitioners' plant is a chemical plant, that handles dangerous chemicals including Ammonia. A little delay in an employee or officer reaching his assigned station, could have led to an industrial disaster with widespread ramification in the locale, endangering human life. Bearing in mind all this evidence, while this Court may not or cannot hold the charges to be proved, it is certainly of opinion that powers under Clause 45.0.0, sub-Clauses (b) and (c) were rightfully exercised by the petitioner-Management.

56. The other submission of Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel for the respondent in support of the impugned award is founded on the reasoning, which has served as basis for the Labour Court to reach its conclusions. It is about the discriminatory treatment given to the workmen represented by respondent no.1, who are eight in numbering, vis-a-vis, the other two, that is to say, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, who have been reinstated, though identically charged. Sri B.N. Singh, learned counsel emphasized that by the time the matter was before the Labour Court, the two reinstated workmen, like the workmen, had also been convicted by the Criminal Cour; the case of the workmen is, therefore, absolutely at par with the two reinstated workmen, leading to a clear inference of hostile discrimination.

57. In this regard, Sri B.N. Singh has placed reliance upon the decision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in Shamsher Singh vs. Pepsu Road Transport Corporation and another8, where it was a case relating to the petitioner, a Works Manager and another Jagjit Singh Pannu, the Depot Manager, being charged with misappropriation and misuse of the Corporation's moneys. Both were found guilty of gross misconduct and lack of integrity. While the petitioner's services in that case were terminated with immediate effect, Pannu was awarded punishment of stoppage of two increments, with cumulative effect. In these circumstances, Bakhshish Kaur, J. held thus:

"12. The findings recorded by the punishing authority holding the petitioner responsible and guilty of act complained of do not call for interference because allegations of misappropriation, etc., are proved but the only point under consideration is whether on the point of sentences, he has been discriminated against Jagjit Singh Pannu? Since both were held guilty for misappropriation and misuse and exceeding the power regarding purchases, etc., therefore, the penalty imposed upon the petitioner for dismissal from service, amounts to discrimination as against the other, who was awarded lesser punishment. It would therefore amount to denial of justice. In this context, my attention has been drawn to Sengara Singh v. State of Punjab, [1983 (2) L.L.N. 691], and Swinder Singh v. Director, State Transport, Punjab Chandigarh, [1988 (7) S.L.R. 112].

13. The order imposing severe penalty of dismissal from service is arbitrary. The object of Art. 14 of the Constitution is to ensure fairness and equality of treatment. In the sphere of public employment, this means that any action taken by the employer against an employee must be fair, just and reasonable which are the components of "fair treatment," as held in Delhi Transport Corporation v. D.T.C. Mazdoor Congress, [1991 (1) L.L.N. 613].

14. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, I am of the view that the treatment meted out to the petitioner by imposing major penalty of dismissal suffers from the vice of arbitrary action. It would, therefore, tantamount to denial of equality enshrined under Art. 14 of the Constitution."

58. Sri B.B. Jauhari, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners has submitted that no parity can be claimed from an inherent wrong. He has placed reliance upon a decision of the Supreme Court in State of M.P. vs. Parvez Khan9, where the respondent's claim to appointment on compassionate basis to the Madhya Pradesh Police was refused on ground that he was involved in two criminal cases. The Superintendent of Police declined the claim. The respondent challenged the order by way of a writ petition before the High Court on the ground that in the first case he was acquitted on 31st January, 2007, and, in the second, he was discharged on account of compounding of the offence. Learned Single Judge, who heard the writ petition dismissed it, but on appeal, a Division Bench reversed the judgment holding that since the respondent was acquitted, he could not be considered unsuitable. It was also indicated that no reason has been given as to why after acquittal in the criminal case, the respondent was still considered as unsuitable. The Division Bench directed consideration of the case afresh. Apart from answering other issues relating to a prosecution involving moral turpitude and the right to be considered for appointment to Government service, the Court dealt with a plea also raised by the respondent, based on parity. It was pointed out that two other candidates, similarly circumstanced as the respondent, whose name finds place in paragraph 10 of the report, were recruited to Government service. Against one one of them, three criminal cases were registered prior to recruitment, but he was acquitted, either on the basis of compromise or giving him the benefit of doubt. Similarly, the other candidate who was recruited to the police, and whose name also finds place in paragraph 10 of the report, was tried in a criminal case, but acquitted before appointment, extending him either the benefit of doubt, or on the basis of compounding. The petitioner urged that he was similarly circumstanced, and ought not to be refused appointment, particularly, in view of guidelines of the Madhya Pradesh Government of 5th June, 2003, that required an independent view to be taken where a candidate has concealed information about the pendency of a trial against him, and not where there is no such concealment, like his case. Their Lordships repelled the said submission holding thus in paragraph 14 of the report:

"14. The plea of parity with two other persons who were recruited can also not help the respondent. This aspect of the matter was also gone into by this Court in Mehar Singh [Commr. of Police v. Mehar Singh, (2013) 7 SCC 685 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 669 : (2013) 2 SCC (L&S) 910] and it was held: (SCC p. 704, para 36)

"36. The Screening Committee's proceedings have been assailed as being arbitrary, unguided and unfettered. But, in the present cases, we see no evidence of this. However, certain instances have been pointed out where allegedly persons involved in serious offences have been recommended for appointment by the Screening Committee. It is well settled that to such cases the doctrine of equality enshrined in Article 14 of the Constitution of India is not attracted. This doctrine does not envisage negative equality (Fuljit Kaur [Fuljit Kaur v. State of Punjab, (2010) 11 SCC 455]). It is not meant to perpetuate illegality or fraud because it embodies a positive concept. If the Screening Committee which is constituted to carry out the object of the comprehensive policy to ensure that people with doubtful background do not enter the police force, deviates from the policy, makes exception and allows entry of undesirable persons, it is undoubtedly guilty of committing an act of grave disservice to the police force but we cannot allow that illegality to be perpetuated by allowing the respondents to rely on such cases. It is for the Commissioner of Police, Delhi to examine whether the Screening Committee has compromised the interest of the police force in any case and to take remedial action if he finds that it has done so. Public interest demands an in-depth examination of this allegation at the highest level. Perhaps, such deviations from the policy are responsible for the spurt in police excesses. We expect the Commissioner of Police, Delhi to look into the matter and if there is substance in the allegations to take necessary steps forthwith so that policy incorporated in the Standing Order is strictly implemented."

59. It is well known and elementary that a plea of discrimination cannot be negatively oriented. No parity can be claimed from a wrong on the plea of violation of Article 14. If that were permitted, it would lead to perpetuation of a wrong, and its repetition, which is certainly not, even remotely the idea behind the guarantee under Article 14. This being so, even if two workmen, that is to say, Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh have been reinstated, though similarly circumstanced like the workmen represented by respondent no.1, no parity can be claimed on that basis. Even otherwise, it has been pointed out, and rightly so that the case of the workman and the two others reinstated, are distinguishable. All the seven workmen represented by respondent no.1, except J.B. Singh were employed either as guards or as firemen. The two reinstated were assistants with office jobs, or assignment nowhere connected to security. The seven men dismissed from service were either security guards or firemen. Both were integral part of the security system of the petitioner's establishment. The conduct of the seven workmen, other than J.B. Singh, in indulging in acts of the kind that the petitioner-Employers have found against them, would send the entire security establishment asunder. A security personnel turning a cause of threat to life and property of those whom he is assigned to guard and protect, is very different from the case of any other workman. So far as J.B. Singh is concerned, he was seen to be commanding the mob and exhorting them to violence. There is evidence about it. In the circumstances, there is no foundation to hold that there was any hostile discrimination practiced by the petitioners in reinstating the two workmen, whose case is distinguishable from the others, represented by respondent no.1. The findings of the Labour Court, therefore, that the workmen were entitled to reinstatement on ground of parity with Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh, does not commend itself to this Court. The Labour Court has also remarked that Sethpal Singh and Bhagwan Singh were also convicted like the workmen. Of these two workmen who were reinstated, one is said to have superannuated, and it must be emphasized that even if reinstatement of the two men was a wrong, no parity can be claimed to replicate the wrong. There is then also this feature that when the two workmen, Bhagwan Singh and Sethpal Singh were reinstated considering the nature of their duty, and whatever role of theirs was found by the Management in the occurrence, there was no conviction recorded against any of the workmen charged, including the eight represented by respondent no.1, here. However, by the time the Labour Court decided to pass the impugned award, that is principally founded on practice of double standard by the petitioners in reinstating two workmen while denying that benefit to the other eight, a judgment of conviction had been passed against all the workmen by a Court of competent criminal jurisdiction. The Labour Court failed to take this into account at all, while passing the impugned award. The Labour Court has also based its award on the reasoning that mere conviction by a Court of Criminal Jurisdiction is not a relevant ground under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act in considering reinstatement of a workman. This finding is also based on fallacious reasoning. Conviction in a criminal case, that too, relating to acts of vandalism and assault on the property of the petitioner-Employers and their officials is always a relevant consideration that any employer would bear in mind. It is relevant under Clause 45.0.0. of the Standing Orders. It is not necessary that it should find express mention in the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, or for that matter in any other statute to enable the petitioners to exercise that power. In the totality of circumstances, this Court is of opinion that the impugned award cannot be sustained and is liable to be quashed.

60. In the result, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The impugned award dated 06.09.2018 (published on 22.12.2018) passed by the Labour Court, U.P., Bareilly in Adjudication Case no.21 of 2017, is hereby quashed. There shall be no order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A.1785

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ- C No. 6196 of 2019

M/s Kushang Security and House Keeping Pvt. Ltd. ...Petitioner
Versus
Presiding Officer Central Government Industrial Tribunal Cum Labour Court and Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Virendra Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Sachindra

A. Employees Provident Funds and Miscellaneous provisions Act, 1952 - Section 7-I (2) - EPF is a special law-limitation of filing an Appeal is 60 days and further extended only for a specified period of 60 days and no further.

Held: - Even if the provisions of the Limitation Act may be held to have not been expressly excluded the principle of implied exclusion would apply in terms of the nature of the subject matter, the purpose and the scheme of the Act. The provisions contained under the Limitation Act, 1963 would therefore not be applicable for seeking extension of time beyond the statutory time period of 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, extendable by a further period of 60 days, upon the Tribunal being satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period. The maximum period for filing the appeal would be thus 120 (60+60) days from the date of the issuance of the notification/order which is sought to be challenged. (Para 33)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Lotus Chemicals Pvt. Ltd. Vs Asst. Provident Fund Commissioner, (Compl.), Rourkela, 2018 (157) FLR 440 (Ori.H.C.)

2. M/s Port Shramik Co-operative Enterprises Ltd. Vs Employees Provident Fund Org., 2018 (156) FLR 363 (Cal.H.C.)

3. Asst. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Meerut Vs Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal & ors., 2006 (108) FLR 35 (Del.H.C.)

4. Commissioner of Sales Tax, U. P., Lucknow Vs M/s Parson Tools & Plants, Kanpur, (1975) 4 SCC 22

5. Dr. A.V. Joseph Vs Asst. Provident Fund Commissioner & anr. 2009 (122) FLR 184 (Ker.H.C.)

6. C.B. Sharma Vs Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal & ors.2012 (135) FLR 637(P.&H.H.C.)

7. Saint Soldier Modern Senior Secondary School Vs Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, 2014 (142) FLR730 (Del.H.C.)

8. Bihar Shiksha Pariyojna Parishad Vs Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Employees' Provident Fund Org. & anr., 2017(155) FLR 657(Pat.H.C.)

9. Bihar St. Industrial Development Corp. Vs Employees Provident Fund org. & anr., 2017(154) FLR 88(Pat.H.C.)

10. Bihar State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Employees' Provident Fund Organization, Patna and another, 2017 (154) FLR 534 (Pat.H.C.)

11.Commissioner of Customs & Central Excise Vs Hongo India Pvt. Ltd. & anr., (2009) 5 SCC 791

11. Patel Brothers Vs St. of Assam & ors., (2017) 2 SCC 350

12. Hukumdev Narain Yadav Vs Lalit Narain Mishra, (1974)2 SCC 133

13. St. of H. P. & ors. Vs Tritronics India Pvt. Ltd., 2018 SCC OnLine HP 757

14. Bengal Chemists & Druggists Association Vs Kalyan Chowdhury, (2018) 3 SCC 41

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Virendra Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Jagdish Pathak, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2.

2. The present petition has been filed seeking quashing of the order dated 4.2.2019 passed by the Presiding Officer, Central Government, Industrial Tribunal cum Labour Court, Kanpur in an appeal preferred under Section 7-I of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (Act No. 19 of 1952), (hereinafter referred to as 'the EPF Act') registered as Appeal No. A.T.A. (Misc.) No.03/19. The petitioner has also sought to challenge the earlier order of levy of damages under Section 14-B and interest under Section 7-Q of the EPF Act dated 19.10.2015 passed by the Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner, Employees Provident Fund Organization, Kanpur (in short 'APFC').

3. The records of the case indicate that the petitioner establishment, having Registration No. UP/39140 had failed to pay the provident fund dues for the period 08.09.2012 to 31.12.2014. A Quantification Notice No. 180510 dated 10.1.2015 was issued, and after several opportunities being granted to the petitioner which were not availed, the APFC passed an order (Levy Order No. 174530) dated 19.10.2015 in respect of the remittance for the period 09/12 to 12/2014 levying an amount of Rs.1,33,282/-as damages under Section 14-B and an amount of Rs.1,89,937/- as interest under Section 7-Q of the EPF Act. An order dated 22.5.2017 levying damages and interest for a subsequent period was also passed against the petitioner establishment.

4. The petitioner establishment preferred an appeal under Section 7-I of the EPF Act, registered as Appeal No.

A.T.A. (Misc.) No.03/19, against the two orders dated 19.10.2015 and 22.05.2017 referred to above. The appellant also prayed for stay of the operation of the aforementioned orders as well as notices dated 4/11.01.2017, 09.10.18 and 19.11.18.

5. Objections were filed by the APFC Kanpur (respondent in the appeal) strongly opposing the maintainability of the appeal and submitting that the appeal was highly belated and that the validity of two separate orders could not be challenged in a joint appeal. On the question of limitation reliance was placed upon the judgments in the case of Lotus Chemicals Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Asst. Provident Fund Commissioner, (Compl.), Rourkela1 and M/s Port Shramik Co-operative Enterprises Ltd. Vs. Employees Provident Fund Organization2.

6. The Presiding Officer upon a consideration of the facts of the case came to the conclusion that both the appeals preferred were highly belated and the challenge raised to two separate orders dated 19.10.2015 and 22.05.2017 by means of a single appeal was not permissible and further that legality of the three notices could not be examined in the appeal. Accordingly, it came to the conclusion that neither the appeal could be admitted nor any relief could be granted and the appeal was disposed vide order dated 04.02.2019. Aggrieved against the aforementioned order, the present petition has been filed.

7. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

8. The sole contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that the dismissal of the appeal in terms of the order dated 04.02.2019, on the ground of delay is wholly illegal, and that the delay in filing of the appeal ought to have been condoned in the interest of justice.

9. Counsel appearing for the respondent no. 2 APFC has supported the order passed in appeal by submitting that the levy of damages under Section 14-B and interest under Section 7-Q had been made after due notice and opportunity to the petitioner establishment and that the appeals being beyond the statutory period of limitation have rightly been rejected.

10. The sole ground which has been raised in the present writ petition is with regard to the question of limitation in filing of the appeal under the provisions of EPF Act.

11. The question which thus falls for consideration is as to whether the time limit granted in terms of the statutory provisions under the EPF Act and the rules made thereunder with regard to filing of an appeal can be extended beyond the period prescribed by granting benefit of the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963.

12. In order to appreciate the rival contentions the relevant statutory provision with regard to filing of appeal under Section 7-I of the EPF Act may be adverted to.

"7-I. Appeals to Tribunal. - (1) Any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government, or an order passed by the Central Government or any authority, under the proviso to sub-section (3), or sub-section (4), of Section 1, or Section 3, or sub-section (1) of Section 7-A, or Section 7-B(except an order rejecting an application for review referred to in sub-section (5) thereof), or Section 7-C, or Section 14-B, may prefer an appeal to a Tribunal against such notification or order.

(2) Every appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed."

13. The power to make rules including the power to make rules in respect of the form and the manner in which, and the time within which, an appeal shall be filed before a Tribunal and the fees payable for filing such appeal is provided for under Section 21 of the EPF Act. The relevant provision is being extracted below :-

"21. Power to make Rules- (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to carry out the provisions of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters namely :-

xxxxxx

(b) the form and the manner in which, and the time within which, an appeal shall be filed before a Tribunal and the fees payable for filing such appeal."

14. In exercise of powers conferred under sub-section (1) of Section 21 of Act No. 19 of 1952 "The Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997" have been made. The procedure including the time period for filing an appeal is provided under Rule 7 of the aforementioned Rules, 1997.

"7. Fee, time for filing appeal, deposit of amount due on filing appeal.-- (1) Every appeal filed with the Registrar shall be accompanied by a fee of Rupees five hundred to be remitted in the form of Crossed Demand Draft on a nationalized bank in favour of the Registrar of the Tribunal and payable at the main branch of that Bank at the station where the seat of the said Tribunal situate.

(2) Any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government or an order passed by the Central Government or any other authority under the Act, may within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, prefer an appeal to the Tribunal:

Provided that the Tribunal may if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days:

Provided further that no appeal by the employer shall be entertained by a Tribunal unless he has deposited with the Tribunal (a Demand Draft payable in the Fund and bearing) 75 per cent of the amount due from him as determined under Section 7-A:

Provided also that the Tribunal may for reasons to be recorded in writing, waive or reduce the amount to be deposited under Section 7-O."

15. A plain reading of the aforementioned statutory provisions indicates that in terms of sub-section (2) of Section 7-I every appeal under sub-section (1) is to be filed in such form and manner, within such time and is to be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Further, Rule 7 of the Rules, 1997 provides that the appeal may be preferred within 60 days from the date of issue of the order, provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days.

16. It is seen that the initial period for filing of appeal is 60 days which can be extended by the EPF Appellate Tribunal for another 60 days only when there is sufficient cause and not otherwise. In this regard, reference may be made to the judgment in the case of M/s Port Shramik Co-operative Enterprise Ltd. Vs. Employees Provident Fund Organisation2. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"3.....The period of limitation for filing an appeal against an order passed under Section 7-A or Section 14-B of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act is 60 days. If the appellant satisfies the Tribunal that it was prevented by sufficient cause from not filing the appeal within the said period of 60 days, in appropriate case, the Tribunal has the power to condone the delay of another 60 days. Thus, even if the Tribunal wanted to condone the delay it could not condone it beyond a period of 60 days."

17. In the case of Assistant Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Meerut Vs. Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal and others3, an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal was filed after 165 days from the date of the order of the EPF Authority and the delay was condoned by the Appellate Authority in view of the provisions under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963. Upon a challenge being raised the order condoning the delay was set aside and it was held that when the period of 60 days was provided under Rule 7 (2) and a further period of 60 days for condoning the delay is allowed under the proviso to the said rule only then that much period could be condoned. It was held that applicability of Section 5 of the Limitation Act was specifically excluded. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"8.....On behalf of the Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner before the Tribunal, a preliminary objection was raised to the effect that the appeal is barred by time. The appeal was preferred after more than 160 days and the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to condone the delay beyond 60 days. The appeal was presented on 11.1.1999 though the order dated 10.7.1998 was received by the appellant on 20.7.1998. Thus it took 165 days in preferring the appeal. In view of the provisions contained in Section 7-I(2) of the Act read with Rule 7(2) of the Rules, the appeal was required to be preferred within 60 days to the Tribunal. It was submitted that the Tribunal on being satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause in preferring the appeal within the prescribed period of 60 days, may extend the said period by a further period of 60 days and thus in all the appeal was required to be preferred maximum within a period of 120 days and not beyond that. Section 7-I (2) of the Act reads as under:

"An appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed."

9. Rule making authority under Section 21 is entitled to make rules to carry out the provisions of this Act by issuing a notification in the Official Gazette. Sub-clause (b) of sub-section (2) of Section 21 reads as under:

"....the form and the manner in which, and the time within which, an appeal shall be filed before a Tribunal and the fees payable for filing such appeal....."

10. Rule 7(2) reads as under:

"Any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government or an order passed by the Central Government or any other authority under the Act, may within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order prefer an appeal to the Tribunal :

Provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days."

11. It is in view of the aforesaid provisions, it was contended that the appeal was hopelessly time barred and after the period of 60 days granted for preferring an appeal, if there is a delay of 60 days then such delay can be condoned and no further.

12. The Tribunal expressed an opinion that the power of the Tribunal to condone the delay under Section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1963, is not curtailed by the Legislature..Therefore, the provisions under the Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997, only to condone a delay of 60 days is ultra vires and is void. Therefore, it held that the Tribunal has jurisdiction to condone any delay, if it is satisfactorily explained...

13. Learned counsel for the Company submitted that sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 21 provides the rule making authority to prescribe time limit within which an appeal shall be filed before the Tribunal. Legislature only authorized the rule making authority to make a provision for prescribing a period for preferring an appeal, however, the rule also provided a further period of 60 days by proviso to sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 of the Rules. In view of this, it was contended that proviso is ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act. It was further submitted that if the proviso is ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act, then the Limitation Act, 1963 will apply. In the submission of learned counsel for the Company, the Tribunal has rightly held that the law of limitation is applicable. It was submitted that Section 7-I of the Act, if read it becomes very clear that sub-section (2) of Section 7-I also refers such time within which the appeal is to be filed.

14. The Act is a labour legislation wherein provision is made for provident funds to be deposited by the employer. Section 7-D to 7-H provide for the Appellate Tribunal, the term of the office of the Presiding Officer of Tribunal, salary, allowances and other terms and conditions of Presiding Officer and the staff of the Tribunal. Section 7-I provides for appeals to the Tribunal. The Chapter further provides procedure before the Tribunal, assistance of a legal practitioner, right of hearing or rectification of an order, finality of orders of the Tribunal, deposit of amount due on filing an appeal, transfer of cases, the manner of recovery, recovery certificate, validity of the certificate and such other things. It provides penalties, offences by companies, enhanced punishment in certain cases and offences under the Act to be cognizable. It also provides the Court which shall try the offences. Thus a special mechanism is indicated in the Act itself.

15. With a view to see that the proceedings are disposed of as early as possible, it was left by the Legislature to fix "such time" for preferring an appeal. Section 21(2)(b) refers to the time within which an appeal shall be filed and in view of this it was submitted that in absence of any power, it was not open to prescribe a specific period for condonation of delay in sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 of the Act in exercise of the powers conferred under sub-section (1) of Section 21 of the Act.

16. The Legislature left it open to the rule making authority to prescribe time for preferring an appeal. However, at the same time the rule making authority while prescribing the period of limitation for preferring an appeal also provided a period during which if there is a delay, the same can be condoned if the Tribunal is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period. However, the limitation was placed that that can be done if there is a delay of a further period of 60 days.

17. In our opinion, it cannot be said that the rule making authority has exceeded its limit while prescribing the period of limitation. Like the provisions in other statutes for condoning the delay, the rule making authority thought it fit to provide some period if there is a sufficient cause and the Tribunal is satisfied that the applicant was prevented from preferring the appeal on such cause to extend the period of limitation. This provision is an enabling provision. It does not take away the right of a person of preferring an appeal but on the contrary it enables a party who could not prefer an appeal within the prescribed period for sufficient reasons. However, at the same time, keeping in mind that that provision is made for a weaker section, disputes must be resolved at the earliest, therefore, restricted the period, i.e. that if the delay is of 60 days then to that extent delay can be condoned. Therefore, in our opinion, the provision cannot be said to be ultra vires of the provisions of the Act as the provision for condonation of delay is made to help the litigant who might be facing genuine difficulties. It is difficult to say that the proviso to sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 is bad. If that is declared as bad or ultra vires Section 7-I or Section 21(1)(b) of the Act, it can be said that the period of limitation prescribed is bad for want of not providing extended period in case of difficulty.

18. It is required to be noted that in case of Delta Impex v. Commissioner of Customs, decided on 13.2.2004, this Court had an occasion to examine the question raised by the applicant which reads as under:

"Whether the provision of Section 128 of the Customs Act, 1962 completely bars the Commissioner (Appeals) from condoning the delay beyond the period of 30 days even in a deserving case and that despite the order made by the Commissioner (Appeals) is it incumbent upon the Tribunal to consider the appeal on merits?"

19. There also it was submitted that considering the provisions contained in section 29(2) of the Indian Limitation Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Limitation Act') read with section 5 thereof, irrespective of the fact that the matter was under the Customs Act, the appellate authority ought to have condoned the delay, examined the matter on merits and it could not have dismissed the appeal on the ground that the Commissioner (Appeals) can only condone the delay, if an appeal is presented within a period of 30 days after the statutory period of 60 days in view of section 128 of the Act.

20. In case of Collector of C.E. Chandigarh v. Doaba Co-operative Sugar Mills, Supreme Court pointed out that the authorities functioning under the Act are bound by the provision of the Act. If the proceedings are taken under the Act by the Department, the provisions of limitation prescribed in the Act will prevail. In the case of Miles India Limited v. Assistant Collector of Customs, the Court observed that the Customs Authorities acting under the Act were not justified in disallowing the claim as they were bound by the period of limitation provided there in the relevant provisions of the Customs Act, 1962.

21. The Court in the aforesaid case pointed out that the period of limitation prescribed by the Act for filing an application being different from the period prescribed under the Limitation Act, by virtue of Section 29(2) of the said Act, it shall be deemed as if the period prescribed by the different Act is the period prescribed by the schedule to the Limitation Act. However, it would be difficult to say that section 5 of the Limitation Act is intended to be made applicable in view of the proviso to section 128 of the Customs Act.

22. The Court is required to examine the scheme of the special law, and the nature of the remedy provided therein. Considering these aspects, the Court will have to find out whether the Legislature intended to provide a complete code by itself which along should govern the matters provided by it. On examination of the relevant provisions, if it becomes clear that the provisions of section 5 of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the said provisions cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. It is open to the Court to examine whether and to what extent the nature of the provisions contained in the Limitation Act in comparison with the scheme of the special law are excluded from operation. When a specific period is provided and a further period of 60 days by way of extended period only then that much period can be condoned.

23. In the instant case, a separate period of limitation is provided, as also the period for which delay can be condoned. The Legislature was aware about the provisions contained in section 5 of the Limitation Act, yet with an intention to curb the delay in labour matters, Legislature left it to the Rule making authority to make a provision for limitation. Rule making authority under the Statute has specifically provided that after the statutory period, if there is delay of 60 days, on showing sufficient grounds for delay of 60 days, that can be condoned. Thus applicability of section 5 of the Limitation Act is specifically excluded.

24. The expression "expressly excluded" in sub-section (2) of section 29 of the Limitation Act means an exclusion by express words, i.e. by express reference and not exclusion as a result of logical process of reasoning. In the instant case, there is no question of implied exclusion but, it specifically provides a different period of limitation, as also the period during which, if delay has occurred, it could be condoned.

25. With regard to the applicability of sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act (inclusive) one will have to refer to sub-section (2) of section 29 of the Limitation Act, 1963. It specifically states that these provisions shall apply only so far as and to the extent to which, they are not expressly excluded by special or local law. Reading the language of Rule 7 of the Rules and section 5 of the Limitation Act, it is very clear that extension of time for a period 60 days only can be condoned subject to satisfaction and not beyond that. From an examination of Rule 7 of the Rules, it is very clear that section 5 of the Limitation Act is expressly excluded as a specific provision is made in Rule 7.

xxxxxxx

38. In the instant case, there is clear intention of the Legislature for asking the rule making authority to prescribe the time during which an appeal shall be filed. When the time is to be prescribed, it is open for the rule making authority to prescribe extended period also. If the extended period is provided, the provisions would not become bad or ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act, as it is only an enabling provision.

39. It is also clear that an opinion was expressed before the Legislature, that in the opinion of the Government the provision should be made for granting provident fund facilities not only to the employees in industrial establishments, but also to the employees in commercial and other undertakings. An assurance was given that the Government would take appropriate measures. It is thereafter the Act came to be enacted. Reading the provisions contained in the Act, it covers large number of employees. Employer, as indicated in the Act, has to make contributions to the fund in the manner indicated in section 6. Section 7-A of the Act empowers the authority to decide a dispute about the applicability of the Act if raised and to determine the amount due from any employer, as indicated in sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 7-A of the Act. The officer empowered to conduct an inquiry under sub-section (2) of section 7-A of the Act in this behalf having the powers as are vested in Code under the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 for trying a suit in respect of the matters indicated therein. How the order is to be reviewed is indicated under section 7-B. Section 7-C refers to determination of escaped amount. An order made by authority was challenged before the Appellate Tribunal known as "Employees Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal". Thus it is a special statute to determine the liability of employer to make his contribution and to pass further orders by the authorities which are to be examined by the Tribunal in case of an appeal. It is in this background the provisions of the Act are to be examined.

40. Considering the language of the Act and the rules, the Scheme, which is meant for weaker section and from the intention of the Legislature, it is clear that the Legislature left it to the Rule making authority to prescribe the time by specifically referring that an appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed within such time as also specifically referring in section 21 about the form and the time within which an appeal shall be filed. It is clear that the Legislature left it to the Rule Making Authority to prescribe total period during which an appeal can be filed, which includes extended period. This being an enabling provision and in consonance with the provision contained in the Act cannot be said to be ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act."

18. In the aforementioned case of Assistant Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Meerut (supra) reference was made to the judgment in the case of Mohd. Ashfaq Vs. State Transport Appellate Tribunal U.P. and others4, where in the context of the provisions under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, it was held as follows :-

"8.....This clearly means that if the application for renewal is beyond time by more than 15 days, the Regional Transport Authority shall not be entitled to entertain it, or in other words, it shall have no power to condone the delay. There is thus an express provision in sub-section (3) that delay in making an application for renewal shall be condonable only if it is of not more than 15 days and that expressly excludes the applicability of Section 5 in cases where an application for renewal is delayed by more than 15 days....."

19. Similar observations were made in the case of The Commissioner of Sales Tax, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow Vs. M/s Parson Tools and Plants, Kanpur5, wherein it was stated as follows :-

"22. Thus the principle that emerges is that if the Legislature in a special statute prescribes a certain period of limitation for filing a particular application thereunder and provides in clear terms that such period on sufficient cause being shown, may be extended, in the maximum, only upto a specified time-limit and no further, then the tribunal concerned has no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application filed before it beyond such maximum time-limit specified in the statute, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith and due diligence any prior proceeding on the analogy of Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act."

20. Rule 7 (2) of the Rules, 1997 again came up for consideration in the case of Dr. A.V.Joseph Vs. Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner and another6 and it was held that the maximum period for filing an appeal is only 120 days from the date of the impugned order. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"10. Section 7-I(2) of the Act provides that every Appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Rule 7(2) of the Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997 states that any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government or an order passed by the Central Government or any other authority under the Act, may within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, prefer an appeal to the Tribunal. The 'first proviso' thereunder further stipulates that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the Appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days. In short, the maximum period for filing the Appeal is only 120 days from the date of the impugned proceedings/order (60+60). When the statute confers the power on the Authority to condone the delay only to a limited extent, it can never be widened by any Court contrary to the intention of the law makers...."

21. In the case of C.B.Sharma Vs. Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal and others7, the appeal filed nine months after the date of the order passed by the Commissioner was dismissed and the challenge raised to the order passed by the Tribunal was turned down with the following observations :-

"9. In terms of the rule, period of 60 days has been provided for filing the appeal before the Tribunal. For sufficient reasons the Tribunal can extend the period for further 60 days. Once the petitioner undisputedly had the knowledge of the order passed by the Commissioner on 16.2.2009, the appeal filed nine months thereafter had rightly been dismissed by the Tribunal as time barred."

22. The question as to whether the Appellate Tribunal was vested with any power to condone the delay in filing the appeal beyond the prescribed period again came up for consideration in the case of Saint Soldier Modern Senior Secondary School Vs. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner8 and it was held that there was no such power with the Appellate Tribunal. The observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"8. A perusal of the section 7-I of the Act and Rule 7 of the Rules would reveal that the time period for filing an appeal is within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, provided, the Tribunal, if satisfied that for certain sufficient cause, the appeal could not be preferred within the period of 60 days, then, the period to file appeal can be extended to 60 days thereafter. Suffice to state, the provision does not vest any power with the Tribunal to condone a delay beyond that period.....

9. From the above decision of the Supreme Court, even in the case in hand, it is clear from the provisions of the Act, which is a special statute, a certain period of limitation is prescribed for filing the appeal. In the eventuality, the appeal is not filed within the said period, the power to condone the delay is for a further period of 60 days and no more....."

23. A similar view was again taken in the case of Lotus Chemicals Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner, (Compl.) Rourkela1, wherein it was held as follows :-

"8.....The procedure for filing of appeal has been provided under the provision of Rule 7 of the Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997, wherein it has been provided under Regulation 7(2) that the appeal may be filed within 60 days from the date of issuance of notification/order, provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring appeal within the prescribed period, may extend the said period by a further period of 60 days, meaning thereby the appeal is to be filed before the appellate Tribunal within a maximum period of 120 days subject to its condonation and beyond that it cannot be extended. It is settled that if any legislation has been provided, it has to be followed in its strict sense and if there is specific time period framed in the legislation to entertain an appeal, the authorities concerned are not supposed to extend that period by assuming the power conferred under the Limitation Act, 1963. Here in the instant case, the maximum period of filing an appeal is 60 days, subject to its condonation for a further period of 60 days, hence the condonation is only to be done for maximum period of 60 days, which suggests that the provision of Limitation Act, 1963 will not be applicable.

9. It is settled position of law that the court of law or the Tribunal is supposed to follow the statutory provision and it cannot be interpreted, if there is no ambiguity and it is settled that the things is to be done as per the statutory provision, hence applying the said principle, it is the considered view of this Court that the Tribunal has not committed any error in passing the order under Section 7-I by rejecting it, since appeal was preferred after delay of 260 days, hence the Tribunal is having no power to condone the said delay period, in view of the provision of Rule 7 of the Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997 as discussed herein above."

24. Reiterating a similar view, in the case of Bihar Shiksha Pariyojna Parishad Vs. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Employees' Provident Fund Organzation and another9, it was held that condonation of delay has to be considered within the purview of the statutory provision and the provisions of the Limitation Act cannot be imported or made applicable into the EPF Act and the Rules, 1997. The relevant observations made in the judgment are extracted below :-

"18. Thus, in view of the fact that the limitation is prescribed by specific Rule 7(2) of 'the Rules' as also in view of the ratio laid down by the Supreme Court in Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise v. Hongo India Private Limited & Anr. (supra) and M/s. Patel Brothers v. State of Assam & Ors. (supra), condonation of delay has also to be considered within the purview of the statutory provision and the provisions of the Limitation Act cannot be imported or made applicable into 'the Act' and 'the Rules'. In that view of the matter, no illegality can be found with the order impugned passed by the Tribunal."

25. A similar view has been taken in the case of Bihar State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Employees Provident Fund Organization and another10 and again in Bihar State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Employees' Provident Fund Organization, Patna and another11.

26. The question with regard to condonation of delay by applying Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963, in the context of filing an appeal and reference under the Central Excise Act, came up for consideration in the case of Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise Vs. Hongo India Private Limited and another12, and taking into consideration that the Central Excise Act is a special law and a complete code by itself, it was held that the time limit prescribed for making a reference thereunder is absolute and unextendable by the Court under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"30. In the earlier part of our order, we have adverted to Chapter VI-A of the Act which provides for appeals and revisions to various authorities. Though Parliament has specifically provided an additional period of 30 days in the case of appeal to the Commissioner, it is silent about the number of days if there is sufficient cause in the case of an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal. Also an additional period of 90 days in the case of revision by the Central Government has been provided. However, in the case of an appeal to the High Court under Section 35-G and reference application to the High Court under Section 35-H, Parliament has provided only 180 days and no further period for filing an appeal and making reference to the High Court is mentioned in the Act.

31. In this regard, it is useful to refer to a recent decision of this Court in Punjab Fibres Ltd, (2008) 3 SCC 73. The Commissioner of Customs, Central Excise, Noida was the appellant in this case. While considering the very same question, namely, whether the High Court has power to condone the delay in presentation of the reference under Section 35-H(1) of the Act, the two-Judge Bench taking note of the said provision and the other related provisions following Singh Enterprises v. CCE [(2008) 3 SCC 70] concluded that: (Punjab Fibres Ltd. case [(2008) 3 SCC 73] , SCC p. 75, para 8)

"8. ... the High Court was justified in holding that there was no power for condonation of delay in filing reference application."

32. As pointed out earlier, the language used in Sections 35, 35-B, 35-EE, 35-G and 35-H makes the position clear that an appeal and reference to the High Court should be made within 180 days only from the date of communication of the decision or order. In other words, the language used in other provisions makes the position clear that the legislature intended the appellate authority to entertain the appeal by condoning the delay only up to 30 days after expiry of 60 days which is the preliminary limitation period for preferring an appeal. In the absence of any clause condoning the delay by showing sufficient cause after the prescribed period, there is complete exclusion of Section 5 of the Limitation Act. The High Court was, therefore, justified in holding that there was no power to condone the delay after expiry of the prescribed period of 180 days.

33. Even otherwise, for filing an appeal to the Commissioner, and to the Appellate Tribunal as well as revision to the Central Government, the legislature has provided 60 days and 90 days respectively, on the other hand, for filing an appeal and reference to the High Court larger period of 180 days has been provided with to enable the Commissioner and the other party to avail the same. We are of the view that the legislature provided sufficient time, namely, 180 days for filing reference to the High Court which is more than the period prescribed for an appeal and revision.

34. Though, an argument was raised based on Section 29 of the Limitation Act, even assuming that Section 29(2) would be attracted, what we have to determine is whether the provisions of this section are expressly excluded in the case of reference to the High Court.

35. It was contended before us that the words "expressly excluded" would mean that there must be an express reference made in the special or local law to the specific provisions of the Limitation Act of which the operation is to be excluded. In this regard, we have to see the scheme of the special law which here in this case is the Central Excise Act. The nature of the remedy provided therein is such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If, on an examination of the relevant provisions, it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our considered view, that even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the court to examine whether and to what extent, the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation. In other words, the applicability of the provisions of the Limitation Act, therefore, is to be judged not from the terms of the Limitation Act but by the provisions of the Central Excise Act relating to filing of reference application to the High Court.

36. The scheme of the Central Excise Act, 1944 supports the conclusion that the time-limit prescribed under Section 35-H(1) to make a reference to the High Court is absolute and unextendable by a court under Section 5 of the Limitation Act. It is well-settled law that it is the duty of the court to respect the legislative intent and by giving liberal interpretation, limitation cannot be extended by invoking the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act.

37. In the light of the above discussion, we hold that the High Court has no power to condone the delay in filing the "reference application" filed by the Commissioner under unamended Section 35-H(1) of the Central Excise Act, 1944 beyond the prescribed period of 180 days and rightly dismissed the reference on the ground of limitation."

27. The principle of implied exclusion of the Limitation Act by a special law was reiterated in the case of Patel Brothers Vs. State of Assam and others13, where in the context of the provision for filing a revision under the Assam Value Added Tax Act, 2003 it was held that even if there exists no express exclusion in the special law, the court has right to examine the provisions of the special law to arrive at a conclusion as to whether the legislative intent was to exclude the operation of the Limitation Act. The judgment of the High Court rendered in the case of Patel Brothers Vs. State of Assam and others14 was affirmed. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"22. The High Court has rightly pointed out the well-settled principle of law that: (Patel Bros. case [Patel Bros. v. State of Assam, 2016 SCC OnLine Gau 124], SCC OnLine Gau para 19)

"19. ... "the courts cannot interpret a statute the way they have developed the common law "which in a constitutional sense means judicially developed equity". In abrogating or modifying a rule of the common law the courts exercise "the same power of creation that built up the common law through its existence by the Judges of the past". The court can exercise no such power in respect of statutes. Therefore, in the task of interpreting and applying a statute, Judges have to be conscious that in the end the statute is the master not the servant of the judgment and no Judge has a choice between implementing the law and disobeying it.' [Ed.: See Principles of Statutory Interpretation, 14th Edn., p. 26 by Justice G.P. Singh.] "

What, therefore, follows is that the court cannot interpret the law in such a manner so as to read into the Act an inherent power of condoning the delay by invoking Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 so as to supplement the provisions of the VAT Act which excludes the operation of Section 5 by necessary implication".

28. On the point of implied exclusion of the Limitation Act by a special law reference may be had to an earlier judgment in the case of Hukumdev Narain Yadav Vs. Lalit Narain Mishra15, wherein while examining whether the Limitation Act would be applicable to the provisions of the Representation of the People Act, it was observed as follows :-

"17.... what we have to see is whether the scheme of the special law, that is in this case the Act, and the nature of the remedy provided therein are such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If on an examination of the relevant provisions it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our view, even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the Court to examine whether and to what extent the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation."

29. The aforementioned legal position has been reiterated in the case of the State of Himachal Pradesh and others Vs. Tritronics India Private Ltd.16, where the issue involved was as to whether a revision under the Himachal Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2005 which was beyond the period of limitation prescribed under the statute could be entertained by applying Section 5 of the Limitation Act, and it was stated as follows :-

"28..... taking into consideration the fact that Himachal Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2005, is a complete code in itself, which, in other words, is both a substantive as well as a procedural law and as there is no provision contained in the Act, making the provisions of Limitation Act applicable to the proceedings which are to originate from the Act, we hold that this Court has no inherent power to condone the delay in entertaining a Revision Petition which stands filed beyond the period of limitation prescribed in the Act."

30. In a recent judgment in the case of Bengal Chemists and Druggists Association Vs. Kalyan Chowdhury17, it was held in the context of the Companies Act, 2013, that the limitation for filing an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal which is 45 days under Section 421 (3) plus additional 45 days grace period in terms of its proviso, are mandatory in nature and no further time can be granted beyond this total period.

31. In view of the foregoing discussion, the legal position which emerges that in terms of Section 7-I (2) every appeal is to be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Rule 7 (2) of the Rules, 1997 provides for filing of the appeal within 60 days from the date of issuance of the order. The first proviso thereunder further stipulates that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days.

32. It is thus seen that the EPF Act is a special law providing for institution of provident funds, pension fund and deposit-linked insurance fund for employees in factories and other establishments and in terms of the rules framed thereunder a certain period of limitation for filing an appeal having been provided for in clear terms and a further provision having been made for extension of such period only upto a specified time period and no further, the Appellate Tribunal would have no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an appeal filed before it beyond such maximum time limit specified in terms of the statutory rules.

33. Moreover, in terms of the scheme and the intent of the provisions contained in the EPF Act it is seen that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself. As a consequence, even if the provisions of the Limitation Act may be held to have not been expressly excluded the principle of implied exclusion would apply in terms of the nature of the subject matter, the purpose and the scheme of the Act. The provisions contained under the Limitation Act, 1963 would therefore not be applicable for seeking extension of time beyond the statutory time period of 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, extendable by a further period of 60 days, upon the Tribunal being satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period. The maximum period for filing the appeal would be thus 120 (60+60) days from the date of the issuance of the notification/order which is sought to be challenged.

34. It is a well settled principle of statutory interpretation that where the statute confers power on the authority to condone the delay only to a limited extent the same cannot be stretched or extended beyond what has been provided under the statute.

35. In the instant case, when the time limit is prescribed by the rule making authority for filing an appeal and also the extended period has been provided, and no further extension thereof has been envisaged or contemplated, the Appellate Authority could not have granted any further extension. In view of the aforesaid, the order passed by the Appellate Authority recording its conclusion that the appeal was filed beyond the statutory period of limitation, cannot be faulted with.

36. Counsel for the petitioner has not been able to dispute the aforementioned legal position.

37. No other argument was raised.

38. The writ petition is accordingly held to be devoid of merits and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1801

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 07.08.2019

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE DR. YOGENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 16842 of 2014

Madhaw Asharam Chairitable Trust Hanuman Mandir & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
Shri Shamshul Khuda Khan...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Vijay Shankar Singh, Sri Pankaj Dwivedi.

Counsel for the Respondent:
S.C., Sri Hriyada Narain Mehrotra, Sri Maha Prasad, Sri Nitin Sharma, Sri Syed Farman Ahmad Naqvi, Sri S. Faizan Ahmad, Sri Utpal Chatterji.

A. Code of Civil Procedure - Order XVI Rule 17 - amendment sought at the stage of appeal - changing the nature of the case, application for amendment rightly rejected.

Held :- In the case at hand, the court below upon due consideration of the facts of the case has come to the conclusion that the amendment which was being sought, at the stage of appeal, would have the effect of changing the very nature of the case, and the application for amendment having been rejected for the said reason, the order passed by the Trial Court cannot be faulted with. (Para 19)

B. In view of the authoritative pronouncement made in the case of Radhey Shyam & Anr. Vs. Chhabi Nath & Ors. 3 judicial orders passed by civil courts are not amenable to a writ of certiorari under Article 226, and for this reason also the writ petition which has been filed against a judicial order passed in a pending civil appeal, would fail. (Para 20)

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. M. Revanna Vs Anjanamma & ors., (2019)4 SCC 332

2. Vijay Hathising Shah & anr. Vs Gitaben Parshottamdas Mukhi & ors., (2019) 5 SCC 360

3. Radhey Shyam & anr. Vs Chhabi Nath & ors., (2015) 5 SCC 423

4. Chander Kanta Bansal Vs Rajinder Singh Anand, (2008) 5 SCC 117

5. Revajeetu Builders & Developers Vs Narayanaswami & Sons & ors., (2009) 10 SCC 84

6. Vijay Hathising Shah & anr. Vs Gitaben Parshottamdas Mukhi & ors., (2019) 5 SCC 360

7. Hari Narayan Vs Shanti Dev, S.C.C. Revision Defective No.49/2019

8. Ma Shew Mya Vs Maung Mo Hnaung, AIR 1922 PC 249

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pankaj Dwivedi, Advocate holding brief of Sri Vijay Shankar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Utpal Chatterji, learned counsel appearing for the legal representatives of the sole respondent (deceased).

2. Counsel for the parties have agreed that the petition may be disposed of at the stage of admission.

3. By means of the present petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India a writ in the nature of certiorari has been sought for quashing the order dated 04.12.2013 passed by the Additional District Judge, Meerut in Civil Appeal No.14 of 2011 whereby the amendment application (Application No.94Ka) has been rejected.

4. The order impugned records that the amendment sought at the stage of appeal would have the effect of changing the very nature of the suit and for the said reason the amendment application has been rejected.

5. Contention of the counsel for the petitioners is that by means of the amendment application a typographical error was sought to be rectified and as such the same ought to have been allowed in the interest of justice.

6. Sri Utpal Chatterji, learned counsel for the legal heirs of the sole respondent submits that the amendment which was being sought at the stage of appeal would change the very nature of the suit and as such the same has rightly been rejected by the court below. Moreover, it is submitted that in view of the proviso to Order XVI, Rule 17 the amendment was not permissible in the absence of the petitioners being able to show that in spite of due diligence they could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial. Reliance in this regard has been placed on the judgments in the case of M. Revanna Vs. Anjanamma & Ors.1, Vijay Hathising Shah & Anr. Vs. Gitaben Parshottamdas Mukhi & Ors.2.

7. It is further submitted that the present petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution against a judicial order would not be maintainable in view of the law laid down in the case of Radhey Shyam & Anr. Vs. Chhabi Nath & Ors.3.

8. The rival contentions which fall for consideration relate to the scope of the powers of the Court to allow amendment of pleadings under Order VI Rule 17 of the Civil Procedure Code, 19084.

9. The purpose and object of rules relating to pleadings being to decide the real controversy between the parties and not to punish them for their negligence, the provisions relating to the amendment of pleadings are usually to be liberally construed with a view to promoting the ends of justice and not for defeating them, and consequently the courts generally allow all amendments that may be necessary for determining the real question in controversy between the parties.

10. The proviso to Rule 17 under Order VI, as inserted by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2002, however, restricts and curtails the power of the court to allow amendment of pleadings by enacting that no application for amendment is to be allowed after the trial has commenced unless the court comes to the conclusion that in spite of due diligence, the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of the trial.

11. The proviso to Rule 17, as per the Amendment Act, 2002, has introduced the "due diligence" test, which requires that the court must be satisfied that in spite of "due diligence" the party could not discover the ground pleaded in the amendment. The term "due diligence" has been specifically used so as to provide a test for determining whether to exercise the discretion in situations where amendment is being sought after commencement of the trial.

12. The object of introducing the proviso to Rule 17 was considered in the case of Chander Kanta Bansal Vs. Rajinder Singh Anand5, and it was held as follows:-

"11. ...The proviso limits the power to allow amendment after the commencement of trial but grants discretion to the court to allow amendment if it feels that the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial in spite of due diligence. It is true that the power to allow amendment should be liberally exercised. The liberal principles which guide the exercise of discretion in allowing the amendment are that multiplicity of proceedings should be avoided, that amendments which do not totally alter the character of an action should be granted, while care should be taken to see that injustice and prejudice of an irremediable character are not inflicted upon the opposite party under pretence of amendment.

12. With a view to shorten the litigation and speed up the trial of cases Rule 17 was omitted by amending Act 46 of 1999. This rule had been on the statute for ages and there was hardly a suit or proceeding where this provision had not been used. That was the reason it evoked much controversy leading to protest all over the country. Thereafter, the Rule was restored in its original form by amending Act 22 of 2002 with a rider in the shape of the proviso limiting the power of amendment to some extent. The new proviso lays down that no application for amendment shall be allowed after the commencement of trial, unless the court comes to the conclusion that in spite of due diligence the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial. But whether a party has acted with due diligence or not would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. This would, to some extent, limit the scope of amendment to pleadings, but would still vest enough powers in courts to deal with the unforeseen situations whenever they arise.

13. The entire object of the said amendment is to stall filing of applications for amending a pleading subsequent to the commencement of trial, to avoid surprises and the parties had sufficient knowledge of the other's case. It also helps in checking the delays in filing the applications. Once, the trial commences on the known pleas, it will be very difficult for any side to reconcile. In spite of the same, an exception is made in the newly inserted proviso where it is shown that in spite of due diligence, he could not raise a plea, it is for the court to consider the same. Therefore, it is not a complete bar nor shuts out entertaining of any later application. As stated earlier, the reason for adding proviso is to curtail delay and expedite hearing of cases.

x x x x x

15. As discussed above, though first part of Rule 17 makes it clear that amendment of pleadings is permitted at any stage of the proceeding, the proviso imposes certain restrictions. It makes it clear that after the commencement of trial, no application for amendment shall be allowed. However, if it is established that in spite of "due diligence" the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial depending on the circumstances, the court is free to order such application.

16. The words "due diligence" has not been defined in the Code. According to Oxford Dictionary (Edition 2006), the word "diligence" means careful and persistent application or effort. "Diligent" means careful and steady in application to one's work and duties, showing care and effort. As per Black's Law Dictionary (18th Edition), "diligence" means a continual effort to accomplish something, care; caution; the attention and care required from a person in a given situation. "Due diligence" means the diligence reasonably expected from, and ordinarily exercised by a person who seeks to satisfy a legal requirement or to discharge an obligation. According to Words and Phrases by Drain-Dyspnea (Permanent Edition 13-A) "due diligence", in law, means doing everything reasonable, not everything possible. "Due diligence" means reasonable diligence; it means such diligence as a prudent man would exercise in the conduct of his own affairs.

17. It is clear that unless the party takes prompt steps, mere action cannot be accepted and file a petition after the commencement of trial...."

13. The provisions contained under Order VI Rule 17 proviso as introduced in the year 2002 again came up for consideration in the case of J. Samuel Vs. Gattu Mahesh & Ors.6 wherein the principles relating to allowing amendments under Order VI Rule 17 were reiterated and the object of the proviso and the meaning and significance of "due diligence" of the parties seeking amendment was also stated. The observations made in the judgment in this regard as follows:-

"18. The primary aim of the court is to try the case on its merits and ensure that the rule of justice prevails. For this the need is for the true facts of the case to be placed before the court so that the court has access to all the relevant information in coming to its decision. Therefore, at times it is required to permit parties to amend their plaints. The court's discretion to grant permission for a party to amend his pleading lies on two conditions, firstly, no injustice must be done to the other side and secondly, the amendment must be necessary for the purpose of determining the real question in controversy between the parties. However, to balance the interests of the parties in pursuit of doing justice, the proviso has been added which clearly states that:

"...no application for amendment shall be allowed after the trial has commenced, unless the court comes to the conclusion that in spite of due diligence, the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial."

19. Due diligence is the idea that reasonable investigation is necessary before certain kinds of relief are requested. Duly diligent efforts are a requirement for a party seeking to use the adjudicatory mechanism to attain an anticipated relief. An advocate representing someone must engage in due diligence to determine that the representations made are factually accurate and sufficient. The term "due diligence" is specifically used in the Code so as to provide a test for determining whether to exercise the discretion in situations of requested amendment after the commencement of trial.

20. A party requesting a relief stemming out of a claim is required to exercise due diligence and it is a requirement which cannot be dispensed with. The term "due diligence" determines the scope of a party's constructive knowledge, claim and is very critical to the outcome of the suit.

x x x x x

23. ...The entire object of the amendment to Order VI Rule 17 as introduced in 2002 is to stall filing of application for amending a pleading subsequent to the commencement of trial, to avoid surprises and that the parties had sufficient knowledge of other's case. It also helps checking the delays in filing the applications. [Vide Aniglase Yohannan v. Ramlatha [(2005) 7 SCC 534], Ajendraprasadji N. Pandey v. Swami Keshavprakeshdasji N. [(2006) 12 SCC 1], Chander Kanta Bansal v. Rajinder Singh Anand [(2008) 5 SCC 117], Rajkumar Gurawara v. S.K. Sarwagi and Co. (P) Ltd. [(2008) 14 SCC 364], Vidyabai v. Padmalatha [(2009) 2 SCC 409 : (2009) 1 SCC (Civ) 563] and Man Kaur v. Hartar Singh Sangha [(2010) 10 SCC 512 : (2010) 4 SCC (Civ) 239]."

14. Reference may also be had to the judgment in the case of Revajeetu Builders and Developers Vs. Narayanaswami and Sons & Ors.7 wherein some of the important factors which may be kept in mind while dealing with an application filed under Order VI Rule 17 have been enumerated in the following terms:-

"63. On critically analysing both the English and Indian cases, some basic principles emerge which ought to be taken into consideration while allowing or rejecting the application for amendment:

(1) whether the amendment sought is imperative for proper and effective adjudication of the case;

(2) whether the application for amendment is bona fide or mala fide;

(3) the amendment should not cause such prejudice to the other side which cannot be compensated adequately in terms of money;

(4) refusing amendment would in fact lead to injustice or lead to multiple litigation;

(5) whether the proposed amendment constitutionally or fundamentally changes the nature and character of the case; and

(6) as a general rule, the court should decline amendments if a fresh suit on the amended claims would be barred by limitation on the date of application.

These are some of the important factors which may be kept in mind while dealing with application filed under Order 6 Rule 17. These are only illustrative and not exhaustive.

64. The decision on an application made under Order 6 Rule 17 is a very serious judicial exercise and the said exercise should never be undertaken in a casual manner. We can conclude our discussion by observing that while deciding applications for amendments the courts must not refuse bona fide, legitimate, honest and necessary amendments and should never permit mala fide, worthless and/or dishonest amendments."

15. In a recent judgment in the case of M. Revanna Vs. Anjanamma & Ors.1, it has been held that after commencement of trial amendment of pleadings is not permissible except under conditions stated in the proviso and the burden is on the person seeking the amendment after commencement of trial to show "due diligence" on his part as contemplated under the proviso. The relevant observations in the judgment are as follows:-

"7. Leave to amend may be refused if it introduces a totally different, new and inconsistent case, or challenges the fundamental character of the suit. The proviso to Order 6 Rule 17 CPC virtually prevents an application for amendment of pleadings from being allowed after the trial has commenced, unless the court comes to the conclusion that in spite of due diligence, the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of the trial. The proviso, to an extent, curtails absolute discretion to allow amendment at any stage. Therefore, the burden is on the person who seeks an amendment after commencement of the trial to show that in spite of due diligence, such an amendment could not have been sought earlier. There cannot be any dispute that an amendment cannot be claimed as a matter of right, and under all circumstances. Though normally amendments are allowed in the pleadings to avoid multiplicity of litigation, the court needs to take into consideration whether the application for amendment is bona fide or mala fide and whether the amendment causes such prejudice to the other side which cannot be compensated adequately in terms of money."

16. A similar view was taken in the case of Vijay Hathising Shah & Anr. Vs. Gitaben Parshottamdas Mukhi & Ors.2 wherein the order passed the High Court setting aside the order of the Trial Court rejecting the amendment application was held to be unsustainable and the order of the Trial Court was restored. The observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"9. In our view, the trial court was right in rejecting the application. This we say for more than one reason. First, it was wholly belated; second, Respondent 1-plaintiff filed the application for amendment of the plaint when the trial in the suit was almost over and the case was fixed for final arguments; and third, the suit could still be decided even without there being any necessity to seek any amendment in the plaint. In our view, amendment in the plaint was not really required for determination of the issues in the suit."

17. The aforementioned legal position has been reiterated in a recent judgment of this Court in the case of Hari Narayan Vs. Shanti Devi8.

18. As regards the question as to whether an amendment can be allowed when it introduces a totally different or a new case, it is relevant to reiterate the legally settled position that leave to amend would be refused if it introduces a totally different, new and inconsistent case or changes the fundamental character of the suit. Reference in this regard may be had to the judgment of the Privy Council in the case of Ma Shew Mya Vs. Maung Mo Hnaung9:-

"...All rules of Court are nothing but provisions intended to secure the proper administration of justice and it is therefore essential that they should be made to serve and be subordinate to that purpose, so that full powers of amendment must be enjoyed and should always be liberally exercised, but none the less no power has yet been given to enable one distinct cause of action to be substituted for another, not to change, by means of amendment, the subject-matter of the suit."

19. In the case at hand, the court below upon due consideration of the facts of the case has come to the conclusion that the amendment which was being sought, at the stage of appeal, would have the effect of changing the very nature of the case, and the application for amendment having been rejected for the said reason, the order passed by the Trial Court cannot be faulted with.

20. As regards the other objection raised by the respondent with regard to the maintainability of the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution, it may be noted that in view of the authoritative pronouncement made in the case of Radhey Shyam & Anr. Vs. Chhabi Nath & Ors.3 judicial orders passed by civil courts are not amenable to a writ of certiorari under Article 226, and for this reason also the writ petition which has been filed against a judicial order passed in a pending civil appeal, would fail. The relevant observations made in the aforementioned judgment of Radhey Shyam (supra) are as follows:-

"25. It is true that this Court has laid down that technicalities associated with the prerogative writs in England have no role to play under our constitutional scheme. There is no parallel system of King's Court in India and of all other courts having limited jurisdiction subject to supervision of King's Court. Courts are set up under the Constitution or the laws. All courts in the jurisdiction of a High Court are subordinate to it and subject to its control and supervision under Article 227. Writ jurisdiction is constitutionally conferred on all High Courts. Broad principles of writ jurisdiction followed in England are applicable to India and a writ of certiorari lies against patently erroneous or without jurisdiction orders of tribunals or authorities or courts other than judicial courts. There are no precedents in India for High Courts to issue writs to subordinate courts. Control of working of subordinate courts in dealing with their judicial orders is exercised by way of appellate or revisional powers or power of superintendence under Article 227. Orders of civil court stand on different footing from the orders of authorities or tribunals or courts other than judicial/civil courts. While appellate or revisional jurisdiction is regulated by statutes, power of superintendence under Article 227 is constitutional. The expression "inferior court" is not referable to judicial courts, as rightly observed in the referring order in paras 26 and 27 quoted above.

26. The Bench in Surya Dev Rai v. Ram Chander Rai [(2003) 6 SCC 675] also observed in para 25 of its judgment that distinction between Articles 226 and 227 stood almost obliterated. In para 24 of the said judgment distinction in the two articles has been noted. In view thereof, observation that scope of Article 226 and 227 was obliterated was not correct as rightly observed by the referring Bench in

Para 32 quoted above. We make it clear that though despite the curtailment of revisional jurisdiction under Section 115 CPC by Act 46 of 1999, jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 227 remains unaffected, it has been wrongly assumed in certain quarters that the said jurisdiction has been expanded. Scope of Article 227 has been explained in several decisions including Waryam Singh v. Amarnath [AIR 1954 SC 215 : 1954 SCR 565], Ouseph Mathai v. M. Abdul Khadir [(2002) 1 SCC 319], Shalini Shyam Shetty v. Rajendra Shankar Patil [(2010) 8 SCC 329 : (2010) 3 SCC (Civ) 338] and Sameer Suresh Gupta v. Rahul Kumar Agarwal [(2013) 9 SCC 374 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 345]. In Shalini Shyam Shetty this Court observed: (SCC p. 352 paras 64-67)

"64. However, this Court unfortunately discerns that of late there is a growing trend amongst several High Courts to entertain writ petition in cases of pure property disputes. Disputes relating to partition suits, matters relating to execution of a decree, in cases of dispute between landlord and tenant and also in a case of money decree and in various other cases where disputed questions of property are involved, writ courts are entertaining such disputes. In some cases the High Courts, in a routine manner, entertain petitions under Article 227 over such disputes and such petitions are treated as writ petitions.

65. We would like to make it clear that in view of the law referred to above in cases of property rights and in disputes between private individuals writ court should not interfere unless there is any infraction of statute or it can be shown that a private individual is acting in collusion with a statutory authority.

66. We may also observe that in some High Courts there is a tendency of entertaining petitions under Article 227 of the Constitution by terming them as writ petitions. This is sought to be justified on an erroneous appreciation of the ratio in Surya Dev and in view of the recent amendment to Section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code by the Civil Procedure Code (Amendment) Act, 1999. It is urged that as a result of the amendment, scope of Section 115 CPC has been curtailed. In our view, even if the scope of Section 115 CPC is curtailed that has not resulted in expanding the High Court's power of superintendence. It is too well known to be reiterated that in exercising its jurisdiction, High Court must follow the regime of law.

67. As a result of frequent interference by the Hon'ble High Court either under Article 226 or 227 of the Constitution with pending civil and at times criminal cases, the disposal of cases by the civil and criminal courts gets further impeded and thus causing serious problems in the administration of justice. This Court hopes and trusts that in exercising its power either under Article 226 or 227, the Hon'ble High Court will follow the time-honoured principles discussed above. Those principles have been formulated by this Court for ends of justice and the High Courts as the highest courts of justice within their jurisdiction will adhere to them strictly."

27. Thus, we are of the view that judicial orders of civil courts are not amenable to a writ of certiorari under Article 226. We are also in agreement with the view of the referring Bench that a writ of mandamus does not lie against a private person not discharging any public duty. Scope of Article 227 is different from Article 226.

x x x x x

29. Accordingly, we answer the question referred as follows:

29.1. Judicial orders of civil court are not amenable to writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

29.2. Jurisdiction under Article 227 is distinct from jurisdiction from jurisdiction under Article 226."

21. Counsel for the petitioners has not been able to dispute the aforementioned legal position and has also not been able to point out any material error or illegality in the order passed by the court below so as to warrant interference.

22. It has also been pointed out that the sole respondent has died on 07.01.2018 and no steps have been taken by the petitioners to cause the legal representatives of the deceased respondent to be made a party in the proceedings.

23. The petition thus lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1809

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 19.09.2019

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SIDDHARTHA VARMA, J.

Writ C- No. 35741 of 2018

Raghuraj alias Ruggan & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Ajai Shankar Pathak, Sri Prateek Tyagi.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Mahesh Narain Singh, Sri Pankaj Kumar Srivastava, Sri Uday Pratap Singh, Sri Kundan Rai.

A. U.P. Consolidation of Holding Act, 1953 - Section 28, 52-A -While deciding Application u/s 28-Consolidator's report to be read and matched with the UP-CH Forms 41 and 45. If no ingress and egress for a plot-provisions of section 52-A of the Act to apply.

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed against the order dated 19.7.2018 passed by the Additional District Magistrate (Administration), Meerut in proceeding under section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 and against the order dated 4.10.2018 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Judicial)-4th, Meerut Region, Meerut.

2. The respondent no.5 filed an application under section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act before the District Magistrate, Meerut and prayed that in the map, the land which had been shown as a chak marg in between his plot nos.502 and 564 and which was running from North to South be removed from the final maps. The petitioners were arrayed as respondents in the case. They filed their objection to the application filed by the respondent no.5 on 26.3.2015 and a report was called for by the Additional District Magistrate from the Consolidator who submitted his report on 13.3.2015. This report was also objected to by the petitioners. However, when the respondent no.3 on 27.3.2015 accepted the report dated 13.3.2015, the petitioners preferred a Revision which was allowed on 8.7.2015 and the matter was remanded back to the Additional District Magistrate. Thereafter, the respondent no.3-the Additional District Magistrate once again passed the impugned order dated 19.7.2018 which was affirmed by the Revisional Court on 20.7.2018. Hence, the instant writ petition.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that when the respondent no.5 had prayed for the removal of the chak marg which had been shown in the map then he had infact tried to get the chak marg running over plot no.501 removed. He has stated that the road which ran over plot no.576 was connected by the petitioners' plot on plot no.523 by the chak marg which ran over plot no.501. Learned counsel has submitted that the consolidation proceedings were completed in the year 1961 and since then the petitioners had been using the chak road over plot No.501 to reach their plot no.523. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that when the application of the respondent no.5 was taken up and the Consolidator had given his report on 13.3.2015, in his report, the Consolidator had categorically stated that there was one plot no.501 which though had an area of 0.708 hectares was on the spot showing to be having an area of 0.1056 hectares and, therefore, the Consolidator had by his report suggested that the excess land from the plot no.501 be removed and the plot nos.502 and 564 be given the excess land. Here, learned counsel for the petitioners, therefore, submitted that the plot no.501 and the road over it even as per the report of the Consolidator definitely were in existence. Learned counsel further submitted that the Consolidator in his cross-examination had stated that he had not made any spot inspection and that the Consolidator, even though had found that the plot no.501 had some additional land, he definitely did not say that the plot no.501 had to be totally removed. In paragraphs Nos.14, 25, 32 and 33 of the writ petition, which will be reproduced in this judgment, it has also been stated by the petitioners that they had no other chak marg other than the one which was being sought to be removed from plot no.501, to approach their plot no.523. Paragraphs 14, 25, 32 and 33 of the writ petition are being reproduced hereasunder :-

"14. That the Consolidator in its cross-examination in chief has categorically stated that there is no way to reach the petitiones' plot no.523 except to the Chak-Road No.501 which is situated in the eastern side of Plot No.502 and western side of plot n o.564 of respondent no.5. He further stated that during the consolidation proceedings it is necessary to provide a Chak-Road for all chak-holders to reach their plots in Khasra No.523 except to the disputed Chak-Road there is no other Chak-Road.

.....

25. That the petitioners are owner of Plot No.523 and except the Chak-Road No.501 there is no other way or Chak-Road to reach them to their plot.

.....

32. That the respondent nos.2 and 3 while passing the impugned orders did not consider the fact that the petitioners are using Chak-Road No.501 since the last consolidation proceedings to reach their Plot No.523 and the respondent no.5 never objected them.

33. That it is further important to state here that a bricks-made road is also constructed over the Chak-Road No.501 which is situated in between the Plot No.s502 and 564 which ends to the Plot No.523 of the petitioners and a Pakki Nali is also constructed on both sides of the said Chak Road. Not only this, a Puliya is also constructed on the said Chak-Road by the Gram Sabha fund."

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners has stated that the respondents in paragraphs 16, 23, 27 and 28 have replied to the contents of paragraphs 14, 25, 32 and 33 of the writ petition but have not denied the fact that the chak marg which existed on plot no.501 alone was the road which connected the petitioners' plot no.523 with the rasta on plot no.576. Paragraphs 16, 23, 27 and 28 of the counter affidavit are being reproduced hereasunder :-

"16. That the contents of paragraph no.14 and 15 of the writ petition are not admitted and denied. The petitioner is trying to carve out a Chak Road in the absence of there is any Chak Road mentioned in revenue record. There is no any Chak Road in the revenue record and true copy of the revenue record is being filed herewith and marked as Annexure No.CA-1 to this counter affidavit.

.....

23. That the contents of paragraph no.25 of the writ petition are not admitted and denied and the petitioners are easily going to their field.

.....

27. That in reply to the contents of paragraph no.32 of the writ petition it is submitted that anyhow or the other petitioners are trying to grab the land of the petitioners.

28. That the contents of paragraph no.33 of the writ petition are not admitted and denied. The petitioners are trying to create a Road unnecessary which does not find the place in the revenue record."

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that even though in the objection they had not taken the plea that the rasta on plot no.501 was the plot over which the chak marg was running and which connected the rasta in plot no.576 and the plot no.523 but in fact they had always meant that there was a chak marg connecting the rasta and plot no.576 and their own plot at plot no.523.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioners has, in the Supplementary Rejoinder Affidavit filed on 5.4.2019, brought on record a Supplementary Affidavit which they had filed before the Revisional Court on 20.8.2018 that in fact the chak marg was running over as plot no.501 and, therefore, learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the petitioners always meant that the chak marg on plot no.501 be not removed. Learned counsel also relied upon 2017 (134) RD 758 : Ram Kumar vs. Additional Commissioner, Meerut Mandal & Ors. and 2017 (137) RD 163 : Ashfaq Ahmad vs. Additional Commissioner (Administration) & Ors. and has stated that not only had the Consolidator's report to be read in its right perspective while deciding the application under section 28 but his report had also to be matched with the UP CH Forms 41 and 45. Learned counsel further states that in case this Court finds that no rasta was there which would provide for the ingress and egress from plot no.523, then this Court may direct the Collector to apply the provisions of section 52-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 to provide for a chak road. Since learned counsel referred to section 52-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, the same is being reproduced here as under :-

"52-A. Special provisions for Chak Roads or Chak Guls

.-- (1) In the case of a unit in relation to which a notification under sub-section (1) of Section 52 has been issued before the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings (Amendment) Act, 1970, the Collector may, if he is of opinion that there exists no provisions or inadequate provisions of Chak Roads or Chak Guls in the unit and shall, if a representation in that behalf be not less than ten per cent of the total number of tenure-holders is made to him within six months of the said commencement, proceed to take action under sub-section (2), anything to the contrary contained in Section 52 notwithstanding.

(2) The Collector shall cause a notice of the proposal to take action under this section and also of the representation, if any, received under sub-section (1) to be given in the unit by beat of drum and in such other manner, if any, as he thinks fit, and direct any Consolidation Officer to inspect the locality and take reasonable steps to ascertain the wishes of the tenure-holders, or, as the case may be, of such of them as have not joined in the representation, and to make such other inquiry into the matter as he thinks fit.

(3) Such Consolidation Officer shall make a report to the Collector on the advisability or otherwise of drawing up a plan making provision or, as the case may be, more adequate provision for Chak Roads or Chak Guls in the unit, and the Collector on being satisfied after considering such report that it is necessary or expedient so to do, shall cause a draft plan to be prepared.

(4) The Assistant Consolidation Officer shall thereupon, after ascertaining informally the wishes of as many tenure-holders of the unit as he considers practicable, prepare a draft plan in the prescribed form proposing such provision or additional provision of Chak Roads or Chak Guls as may be necessary. In preparing the draft plan the Assistant Consolidation Officer shall have regard to the following principles, namely:--

(a) That as far as practicable, provision of Chak Roads and Chak Guls should be made primarily by utilising land vested in the Gaon Sabha and secondarily out of land held by those tenure-holders whose Chaks are connected with the proposed Chak Roads or Chak Guls, and in the last resort, out of any other land;

(b) The re-arrangement of Chaks should be made only to the extent it is really necessary for making provision of Chak Roads and Chak Guls with the minimum possible dislocation in the Consolidation Scheme already confirmed.

.....
....."

7. earned counsel for the respondents, however, submitted that the map had been corrected on the basis of the report of the Consolidator and also on the various revenue records which included Form-41 and Form-45.

8. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent no.5, however, in reply stated that the petitioners, only to grab some land on the spot, had dishonestly got carved out a chak road which ran between plot nos.502 and 564. Learned counsel further submitted that the petitioners had for the first time here in the writ petition stated that plot no.501 was the plot on which the chak marg ran. Learned counsel, therefore, submitted that there was nothing wrong in the removal of the chak marg which had wrongly and illegally been carved out from plot nos.502 and 564. Learned counsel vehemently relied upon the report of the Consolidator and submitted that the impugned orders were not to be interfered with.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel, learned counsel for the respondent no.5 and the learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha, the Court is of the view that when the Consolidator had found that there was a plot being plot no.501 and only some area of it had been increased then the plot no.501 had to be placed somewhere in the map. The Court also finds that averment of the petitioners that there was a road which connected the road situate on plot no.576 with their plot no.523 has not been categorically denied by the respondent no.5 in his counter affidavit.

10. The scheme of consolidation definitely lays down that the land which was for the public purposes had to be vested in the Gaon Sabha. If plot no.501 was connecting the road running on plot no.576 and the petitioners' plot no.523, then that road had also to exist on the spot. The Consolidator had found that there was a rasta over plot no.501. However, it has also been found that somehow that area of that rasta had increased and, therefore, it had suggested for a proper reduction of the area. Basing on this report, two orders have been passed. A perusal of the two orders shows that there was no definite finding as to whether plot no.501 connected the rasta on plot no.576 with plot no.523 or not. While passing the two orders, the Additional District Magistrate and the Commissioner have not looked into the final consolidation map and have relied, for their findings, only on the report of the Consolidator alone. The authority which passes the order can always depend upon certain reports but it cannot pass orders solely on the reports. The Additional District Magistrate when was confronted with the objection of the petitioners that there was only one rasta which connected plot no.523 with the rasta running on plot no.576, then even a local inspection was advisable. A definite finding ought to have been arrived at by the Additional District Magistrate and also by the Revisional Court, independent of the report of the Consolidator as to whether the map required a correction or not. This Court also finds from the perusal of paragraph nos.14, 25, 32 and 33 of the writ petitioner which have not been categorically denied in the counter affidavit that the petitioners were having a rasta which connected their plot no.523 with the rasta in plot no.576. An impression is also created that there was no other rasta which would have given an outlet for a person cultivating plot no.523.

11. Under such circumstances, the order dated 19.7.2018 passed by the Additional District Magistrate (Administration), Meerut and the order dated 4.10.2018 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Judicial), 4th, Meerut Region, Meerut are quashed. The Collector, Meerut shall once again decide the application filed by respondent no.5 afresh within a period of one month from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order and after looking into the report of the Consolidator and after matching the report with Form-41 and Form-45 give a definite conclusion as to whether a road existed in between the petitioners' plot no.523 and the rasta in plot no.576.

12. In the event the Collector finds that there is no rasta on the map and if he finds that that there is no ingress and egress for the petitioners from plot no.523 then he shall apply the provisions of section 52-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 and carve out a chak road.

13. With these observations, the writ petition is finally allowed.

(2019)10ILR A 1814

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 06.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON'BLE PANKAJ BHATIA, J.

Writ C- No. 107 of 2019

Anurag Srivastava & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
National Highway Authority of India Through Its Chairman & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Shyam Narain Rai, Sri Prashant Mishra, Sri Ravi Kant.

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.S.G.I., C.S.C., Sri Neeraj Dube.

A. National Highway Act, 1956 - Section 3G (3) - Acquisition - Non-compliance of procedure - Gazette notification shows that notice is issued under section 3D not under section 3G - Averment in pleading that it is by mistake instead of section 3G, section 3D has been published, is not acceptable in the absence of corrigendum - Impugned award held to be passed without following procedure prescribed u/s 3G(3) of the Act. (Para 20, 23 & 26)

B. National Highway Act, 1956 - Procedure of acquisition - Effect of violation - Under scheme of Act, notification has to be published in three stages - First u/s 3A(2), second u/s 3D(2) and third u/s 3G(3) - Initial two notice issued, but no third stage notice has been brought on record - Prescribed procedure not followed. (Para 21, 22 & 26)

Held :-The scheme of the amendment brought by the Act 16 of 1997, whereby Sections 3A to 3J have been inserted in the Act, 1956, clearly shows that the notification has to be published at three stages: first, under Section 3A(2) declaring intention to acquire the land and inviting objections; secondly, under Section 3D(2) for declaration to the effect that the land should be acquired and on such declaration the land vests absolutely in the Central Government; and thirdly, under Section 3G(3) a public notice is required to be published in two local newspapers inviting the claims from all the persons interested in the land.

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

Case relied on :-

Sharda Yadav Vs U.O.I. & ors. (Writ-C No. 30046 of 2014, decided on 18/07/2014).

Case referred :-

Whirlpool Corp. Vs Registrar of Trade Marks Mumbai & ors. (1998) 8 SCC 1.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J.)

1. The petitioners have instituted this writ proceedings aggrieved by an award dated 19th September, 2018 passed by the second respondent in respect of their land which has been acquired under the provisions of the National Highways Act, 1956 .

2. The facts are these: the petitioner no. 3 along with her two sons, namely, Anurag Srivastava and Arvind Srivastava, petitioner nos. 1 and 2 respectively, are the owners of Plot Nos.257, 448 and 450 situated in Village Babura Bhairodayal, Tehsil Lalganj, District Mirzapur. They claim that they have residential house over Plot Nos. 448-Kha and 450. The residential house of the petitioners has a garden with various varieties of trees planted in it. Their residential house is adjacent to the main road. The petitioners claim that they are not using Plot Nos. 448, 257 and 450 for any agricultural purpose. Plot Nos. 448 and 450 were chak out during the consolidation proceedings due to their non-agricultural usage. It is stated that over Plot No. 257 the petitioners have constructed a permanent building, which is used as servant quarter and for keeping animals i.e. cows, buffaloes, etc.

3. The respondent no. 1, the National Highway Authority of India2, has undertaken a project for widening of National Highway No. 7, from 98.640 Kms. to 140.265 Kms. in district Mirzapur (Varanasi- Hanumana Section). In this regard a notification under Section 3A of the Act, 1956 was published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, on 15th January, 2018. The petitioners' Plot Nos. 257, 448 and 450 admeasuring 0.0236, 0.0450 and 0.0260 hectares respectively were included in the said notification declaring the intention to acquire the land shown in the notification. The said notification was published in two newspapers, namely, 'Dainik Jagran' and 'Times of India' on 03rd February, 2018. Later the notification under Section 3D of the Act, 1956 was published on 02nd April, 2018.

4. The grievance of the petitioners is that the respondents in hot haste without proceeding in accordance with the provisions of Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 proceeded to determine the compensation and passed an award dated 19th September, 2018. It is stated that no publication was made in any newspaper inviting objections from the persons and the petitioners whose land was being acquired and they have not been paid adequate compensation.

5. It is averred in the writ petition that without giving any opportunity of hearing to the petitioners their land has been acquired that too without determining the adequate compensation for the land of the petitioners. The petitioners claim that ignoring the valuation of the land, which is more than Rs.6,500/- per square meter as per the circle rate prepared by the District Magistrate, a meager amount of compensation at the rate of Rs.218/- per square meter has been awarded. It is stated that the petitioner's land has been treated to be agricultural land ignoring the evidence that a pucca house is standing over it and the land is being used for non-agricultural purposes and it is located within a short distance from the road. The petitioners have brought on the record the photographs to demonstrate that a permanent structure is existing over the acquired land.

6. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the first respondent. The stand taken by the respondent is that the petitioners' land has been acquired for the public interest. It is stated that on the plots of the petitioners there are trees. It is further stated that in the revenue record no land has been mentioned as non-agricultural land. The land in question has been acquired for the construction of four lane and a joint survey has been made on the acquired land of the petitioners by Study Point Samiti, Lucknow and employees of the tehsil. The compensation awarded to the petitioners is said to be adequate.

7. In reply to the averments made in Paragraph-12 of the writ petition that without publishing any notice under the provisions of Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 the respondents have proceeded to determine the compensation, a vague and evasive reply has been made in the counter affidavit. However, a supplementary counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the first respondent, wherein it has been mentioned that inadvertently in the notification dated 29th April, 2018 instead of Section 3G(3) the provision has been mentioned as 3D(1) and it was a mistake.

8. We have heard Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Shyam Narain Rai, learned counsel for the petitioners, and Sri Neeraj Dube, learned counsel for the first respondent-NHAI.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that no notice under Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 has been published and the authorities have determined the compensation without inviting objection. The notice under Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 is mandatory, hence the entire proceeding for determining the compensation has caused serious prejudice to the interest of the petitioners. It was urged that the compensation awarded to the petitioners is totally inadequate and upon erroneous assumption, therefore, it is arbitrary exercise of power. Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a judgment of a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sharda Yadav v. Union of India and others, Writ-C No. 30046 of 2014, decided on 18th July, 2014.

10. Sri Neeraj Dube, learned counsel for the first respondent, submitted that the notice under Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 was published on 29th April, 2018, but by mistake in the notice Section 3D was mentioned.

11. We have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel appearing for the parties and perused the record.

12. Indisputably, the petitioners are owners of Plot Nos. 257, 448 and 450, which have been acquired by the first respondent for widening of National Highway. The Act, 1956 has been enacted to provide for the declaration of certain highways to be national highways and for matters connected therewith. By the Act 16 of 1997, Sections 3, 3A, 3B, 3C, 3D, 3E, 3F, 3G, 3H, 3I and 3J have been inserted in the Act, 1956. Section 3A empowers the Central Government to declare its intention to acquire any land, which is required for the building, maintenance, management or operation of a national highway or part thereof, for public purpose. A notification is published in the official gazette declaring the intention to acquire such land. Sub-section (2) of Section 3A provides that in the notification a brief description of the land is also to be mentioned. In addition to the official gazette, as per sub-section (3) of Section 3A the notice is also to be published in two local newspapers. Section 3B empowers the authorities to make inspection, survey, measurement, valuation, set out boundaries, etc. Section 3C gives an opportunity to the land owners to file their objection within twenty-one days from the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) of Section 3A. The objection, so made, is considered by the competent authority and after giving an opportunity the competent authority can either allow or disallow the objections. Section 3D provides that if after the notification published under sub-section (1) of Section 3A no objection is received by the competent authority within the specified period or where the objection has been filed and it has been disallowed by the competent authority, a report shall be submitted by the competent authority to the Central Government, which shall declare by notification in the official gazette that the land should be acquired for the purpose mentioned in sub-section (1) of Section 3A. Sub-section (2) of Section 3D provides that after publication of declaration in this section i.e. Section 3D(1), the land vests in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. Section 3E says that once the land is vested in the Central Government and the amount determined by the authority under Section 3G has been deposited, the competent authority may issue a notice to the owner, who is in possession, to surrender or deliver the possession to the competent authority or any person duly authorized by it. Section 3F gives a right to the authority to carry out maintenance, management or building of the national highways.

13. Under Section 3G the compensation is determined in respect of the land which is acquired. Sub-section (3) of Section 3G provides that before proceeding to determine the amount the competent authority shall give a public notice in two local newspapers, one of which will be in a vernacular language, inviting claims from all persons interested in the land to be acquired.

14. Since the present dispute is in respect of the requirement of publication of notice, Sections 3D and 3G of the Act, 1956, which are relevant for the purpose, are extracted below:

"3D. Declaration of acquisition.--(1) Where no objection under sub-section (1) of section 3C has been made to the competent authority within the period specified therein or where the competent authority has disallowed the objection under sub-section (2) of that section, the competent authority shall, as soon as may be, submit a report accordingly to the Central Government and on receipt of such report, the Central Government shall declare, by notification in the Official Gazette, that the land should be acquired for the purpose or purposes mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 3A.

(2) On the publication of the declaration under sub-section (1), the land shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances.

(3) Where in respect of any land, a notification has been published under sub-section (1) of section 3A for its acquisition but no declaration under subsection (1) has been published within a period of one year from the date of publication of that notification, the said notification shall cease to have any effect:

Provided that in computing the said period of one year, the period or periods during which any action or proceedings to be taken in pursuance of the notification issued under sub-section (1) of section 3A is stayed by an order of a court shall be excluded.

(4) A declaration made by the Central Government under sub-section (1) shall not be called in question in any court or by any other authority."

"3G. Determination of amount payable as compensation.-- (1) Where any land is acquired under this Act, there shall be paid an amount which shall be determined by an order of the competent authority.

(2) Where the right of user or any right in the nature of an easement on, any land is acquired under this Act, there shall be paid an amount to the owner and any other person whose right of enjoyment in that land has been affected in any manner whatsoever by reason of such acquisition an amount calculated at ten per cent. of the amount determined under sub-section (1), for that land.

(3) Before proceeding to determine the amount under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the competent authority shall give a public notice published in two local newspapers, one of which will be in a vernacular language inviting claims from all persons interested in the land to be acquired.

(4) Such notice shall state the particulars of the land and shall require all persons interested in such land to appear in person or by an agent or by a legal practitioner referred to in sub-section (2) of section 3C, before the competent authority, at a time and place and to state the nature of their respective interest in such land.

(5) If the amount determined by the competent authority under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) is not acceptable to either of the parties, the amount shall, on an application by either of the parties, be determined by the arbitrator to be appointed by the Central Government.

(6) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (26 of 1996) shall apply to every arbitration under this Act.

(7) The competent authority or the arbitrator while determining the amount under sub-section (1) or sub-section (5), as the case may be, shall take into consideration--

(a) the market value of the land on the date of publication of the notification under section 3A;

(b) the damage, if any, sustained by the person interested at the time of taking possession of the land, by reason of the severing of such land from other land;

(c) the damage, if any, sustained by the person interested at the time of taking possession of the land, by reason of the acquisition injuriously affecting his other immovable property in any manner, or his earnings;

(d) if, in consequences of the acquisition of the land, the person interested is compelled to change his residence or place of business, the reasonable expenses, if any, incidental to such change."

15. From a simple reading of Sections 3D and 3G of the Act, 1956 it is evident that the purposes of publication of the notice in both the sections i.e. Sections 3D and 3G are entirely different.

Under Section 3D there is a declaration of acquisition and after the notification is made in the official gazette, the land vests absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. After acquiring the land, the next step is determination of compensation. Section 3G(3) again requires that before proceeding to determine the compensation, the competent authority shall give a public notice in two local newspapers, one in vernacular language, inviting claims from all persons interested in the land to be acquired. Sub-section (4) of Section 3G clearly provides that the notice shall give the particulars of the land and an opportunity is to be afforded to the land owner to appear in person or by his agent or by a legal practitioner before the competent authority before determining the compensation.

16. In the present case, in Paragraph-10 of the writ petition the petitioners have made the following averments:

"10. That in hot haste without proceeding in accordance with the provisions of Section 3G(3) of the Act of 1956, the respondents have proceeded to determine the compensation by means of an Award dated 19.9.18. It is stated that no publication was made in any newspapers inviting objections from persons and the petitioners whose land was being acquired for proper valuation of his land which was being acquired against the valuation of their land proposed by the respondents so that adequate compensation be determined and paid to them. There was no publication in any newspapers or any local newspaper notifying the petitioners or persons whose land was being acquired of the date, time and place where the objections had to be made against the proposed valuation which was being made by the respondents of the land sought to be acquired for expansion of the National Highway by means of notification dated 15.01.2018 and 03.02.2018."

17. The first respondent in its counter affidavit has denied the said statement and has made an evasive reply. In Paragraph-11 of the counter affidavit it is stated that a gazette notification under Section 3D(2) [/kkjk 3?k] mi/kkjk (2)] was made on 02nd April, 2018 and thereafter under Section 3G(3) before determination of compensation the notice has been published in two newspapers in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Indian Express' on 29th April, 2018, which have been brought on record as CA-1 to the counter affidavit. Paragraph-11 of the counter affidavit reads as under:

"11. That the contents of paragraph 10 of the writ petition are not admitted. It is further stated that the notification no. 1316 of the acquire land of village Babura Bhairav Dayal published in the Gazette under Section 3D on 2.4.2018, thereafter under Section 3G(3) of NH Act before determination of the compensation notice has been published in two newspaper Amar Ujala and India Express on 29.4.2018. A true copy of the Gazette notification published on 29.04.2018 is being filed for kind perusal of this Hon'ble Court as Annexure No. CA-1 to this affidavit."

18. From a perusal of Paragraph-11 of the counter affidavit it is clear that no specific reply has been given with regard to issue raised by the petitioners that no notice was published under Section 3G(3).

19. Later a supplementary counter affidavit has been filed by the first respondent wherein it has been admitted that by mistake in the notice under Section 3G(3), Section 3D has been mentioned. Paragraphs-3 and 4 of the supplementary counter affidavit are reproduced hereunder:

"3. That the under Section 3D(1) of the NH Act, 1956 Gazette notification has been published on 2.4.2018, thereafter under provision of 3G(3) of the Act notification has been published in two newspaper Amar Ujala and Indian Express on 29.4.2018, but due to mistake of the publication it has been shown in the newspaper Section 3D(1) instead of 3G(3) of the Act.

4. That in para 11 of the main counter affidavit (sworn on 24.02.2019) correct provision of Section 3G(3) of NH Act 1956 has been mentioned in accordance with which publication in two local newspaper is done. However, in the notification dated 29.4.2018 instead of mentioning correct provision of 3G(3), the provision has been mentioned as 3D(1). Accordingly this Supplementary Counter affidavit taken on record treating part of para 11 of the main counter affidavit."

20. From a perusal of Paragraph-11 of the counter affidavit it is evident that an incorrect statement has been made that notice under Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 was published. In support of the said statement the respondents have brought on the record a gazette notification as CA-1 to the counter affidavit. A perusal of the said gazette notification shows that it is a notice under Section 3D and not under Section 3G as mentioned in Paragraph-11 of the counter affidavit. Later a supplementary counter affidavit has been filed explaining that in the gazette notification it has been wrongly shown as Section 3D. In fact, it should be Section 3G(3). We are of the opinion that the said explanation cannot be accepted. From a perusal of the aforesaid pleadings we are constrained to observe that the officers of the NHAI have tried to evade the issue and it was not fair on their part to give an evasive and vague reply in their counter affidavit. The NHAI is a statutory authority and it is not expected from it to conduct itself like an ordinary litigant. It was its duty to place the correct facts before the Court fairly. In the supplementary counter affidavit it has been admitted that by mistake instead of Section 3G(3), Section 3D has been mentioned.

21. The scheme of the amendment brought by the Act 16 of 1997, whereby Sections 3A to 3J have been inserted in the Act, 1956, clearly shows that the notification has to be published at three stages: first, under Section 3A(2) declaring intention to acquire the land and inviting objections; secondly, under Section 3D(2) for declaration to the effect that the land should be acquired and on such declaration the land vests absolutely in the Central Government; and thirdly, under Section 3G(3) a public notice is required to be published in two local newspapers inviting the claims from all the persons interested in the land.

22. It is admitted case that only two notices have been published under Sections 3A and 3D of the Act, 1956. No other notice has been brought on the record by the authorities along with the counter affidavit.

23. As regards the averment that in the gazette notification by mistake in stead of Section 3G Section 3D has been published, it is not acceptable. If there was a mistake in the publication in two newspapers on 29th April, 2018, the respondents ought to have issued a corrigendum. No such step has been taken to correct the mistake.

24. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sharda Yadav (supra) has considered the similar facts. In that case also, the notice under Section 3G was not issued. The Court held as under:

"Having considered the submissions raised, we find that there is a statutory obligation for publishing the notice in two newspapers for the purpose of award of compensation under Section 3-G of the Act. The petitioner has categorically stated in paragraph 20 of the writ petition that no such notice was ever published nor any opportunity was given to the petitioner to file any objections.

Sri Mehrotra submits that the notification dated 3.11.2011 should be considered to be a notification published in the newspaper under Section 3-G of the Act.

We are afraid that the said notification is a notification under Section 3-D and is not a notification under Section 3-G of the Act. The averment contained in paragraph 28 of the counter affidavit is, therefore, misleading. The respondents, therefore, have not complied with a statutory provision containing the principles of natural justice engrafted in the Act itself. It is settled law that if an act requires to be performed after publication of the notice in the newspaper then it is not a mere formality and the matter relating to award of compensation dealing with substantive right of a tenure holder cannot be defeated by delivering the award without complying with the aforesaid provision. Once it is held that the award is in violation of principles of natural justice then it is not necessary for this Court to relegate the petitioner to the remedy under the 1996 Act. The award itself being contrary to the provisions of Section 3-G and in contravention thereof, we have no hesitation to hold that the said act of the authority was in complete disregard of the statutory provisions resulting in violation of principle of natural justice. The question, therefore, availing of any alternative remedy by the petitioner on the facts of this case does not arise and we are supported in our view by the law pronounced by the Apex Court in the case of Whirlpool Corporation Vs. Registrar of Trade Marks, Mumbai and others, reported in 1998 (8) SCC Page 1.

The award which has been rendered in relation to the agricultural land of the petitioner is clearly in violation of Section 3-G of the Act as the award itself also nowhere recites that any such notice was published in the newspaper as required in the said provision. Consequently, the impugned award dated 30.4.2013 to the said extent is quashed."

25. We find that the facts of this case are squarely covered by the law laid down by the co-ordinate Bench decision of this Court in Sharda Yadav (supra). Similar argument was raised in that case also that notice under Section 3D be treated as notice under Section 3G. In the present case, it is admitted case of the respondents that by mistake in the notice under Section 3G(3), Section 3D was mentioned but no corrigendum has been issued. Moreover, the respondents have not brought on the record the notice dated 29th April, 2018 in spite of filing a supplementary counter affidavit.

26. For all the reasons mentioned above, we find that the award dated 19th September, 2018 passed by the second respondent under Section 3G of the Act, 1956 has been passed without following the procedure prescribed under Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956, hence it is quashed to the said extent. We grant liberty to the petitioners to file objection in terms of Section 3G(3) of the Act, 1956 before the competent authority in respect of their +claim that a construction is in existence and their land is non-agricultural. The competent authority shall consider their objections and pass the award in accordance with law after furnishing opportunity to the petitioners. The said exercise be undertaken expeditiously, preferably within four months from the date of communication of this order.

27. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1822

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE ANJANI KUMAR MISHRA, J.

Writ C No. 23471 of 2019

Santu ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents.

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri R.P.S. Chauhan

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Arun Kumar Srivastava

A. U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act,1950 - Section 331(3) read with Order 43 Rule 1 C.P.C. - order rejecting recall application on the ground of delay is appealable under Order 43 Rule 1 CPC before the Board of Revenue-Alternative remedy available.

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anjani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Heard Shri R.P.S. Chauhan, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Arun Kumar Srivastava for the Gaon Sabha, respondent no.5 as also learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed seeking a writ of certiorari for quashing the order dated 10.04.2019 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Bareily Division, Bareilly refusing to condone the delay in filing a restoration application for recall of an order dated 27.01.2010, whereby an appeal filed by the petitioner had been dismissed for default.

3. The petitioner filed a suit under Section 229B of the U.p Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act for declaration claiming on the basis of a registered will executed in his favour by one Nanuki.

4. The trial Court dismissed the suit vide judgement and decree dated 19.12.2005.

5. The petitioner preferred an appeal, which was dismissed for default on 27.01.2010.

6. A belated restoration application accompanied by an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act was filed on 21.01.2011.

7. The First appellate Court vide order dated 10.04.2019 refuseD to condone the delay of 1 year seven months in filing the restoration application, on the ground that the delay had not been properly explained. As a consequence thereof, the restoration application has also been dismissed. Hence, this writ petition.

8. The question for consideration in this writ petition is whether , the petition, is maintainable or whether it is barred by existence of a statutory alternative remedy.

9. It is not in issue that the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code are applicable to the proceedings under Section 229B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act.

10. The petitioner preferred an appeal before the Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Bareilly Division, Bareilly, which was dismissed for default. This order necessarily was one under Order 41 Rule 19 C.P.C. The same Rule 19 provides that a restoration application for recall of the order dismissing the appeal. This belated application has been rejected by the impugned order.

11. The order rejecting the recall application on the ground of delay in my considered opinion, is necessarily appealable under Order 43 Rule 1(t). The impugned order therefore, is necessarily appealable before the Board of Revenue.

12. With regard to the above, petitioner in the writ petition has stated that an appeal was filed before the Board of Revenue but the registry refused to accept the same.

13. The averment made is a bald averment not supported by any material on record to show that an appeal was actually preferred before the Board of Revenue was not accepted by the registry. In any case, the averment is that it was refused orally. The bald allegation, in my considered opinion, cannot be accepted.

14. The additional averment made in the same paragraph of the writ petition is that the appeal preferred by the petitioner was maintainable under Section 207 Sub-section 2 (c) of the Revenue Code, 2006.

15. However, this contention cannot be accepted because Section 209 (b) creates a bar against appeals being preferred in certain circumstances. It clearly prohibits an appeal against an order granting or rejecting an application for condonation of delay under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963. The appeal allegedly sought to be preferred by the petitioner was therefore, entirely barred by Section 209(b).

16. However, this Court is constrained to hold that the provisions of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 are not attracted to the case at hand, in view of Section 231 of the Code itself, which reads as follows -

"231. Applicability of the Code to pending proceedings -(1) Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Code, all cases pending before the State Government or any revenue court immediately before the commencement of this Code, whether in appeal, revision, review or otherwise, shall be decided in accordance with the provisions of the appropriate law, which would have been applicable to them had this Code not been passed.

(2) ....."

17. The suit filed by the petitioner was one under Section 229B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. Therefore, even the subsequent proceedings arising therefrom would be governed by the provision of the U.P.Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act despite its repeal and enforcement of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006.

18. Sub-section 3 of Section 331 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act provides for an appeal from amongst others, also against an order of the nature, mentioned in Order 43 Rule 1 C.P.C. Therefore, the petitioner has a statutory alternative remedy of an appeal against the order impugned and for this reason alone, the instant writ petition is not liable to be entertained.

19. Even if for the sake of argument, it is accepted that an appeal will not lie against the order impugned, the petitioner definitely has the remedy of a revision before the Board of Revenue under Section 339 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act.

20. The statutory alternative remedy available to the petitioner has not been availed.

21. Therefore, this writ petition is dismissed on the ground of availability of a statutory alternative remedy.

(2019)10ILR A 1824

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 17.04.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SINGH BAGHEL, J.
THE HON'BLE ROHIT RANJAN AGARWAL, J.

Writ C No. 42861 of 2014

Shahzad & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Shesh Kumar, Sri Sunil Dubey.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri P.K. Singh, Sri Pradeep Kumar Singh.

A. Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 - No material to show the voluntary or forceful possession of the vacant land u/s 10(5) and 10 (6) - Petitioner also did not receive compensation - State not authorised to handover the land to the development authority - proceeding initiated under Act, 1976 stood lapsed.

Held:- In the present case, we have found that the petitioners are still in possession and the State has not taken possession in accordance with law, hence, we are of the view that the State had no authority to handover the possession to the Saharanpur Development Authority. The Development Authority has not brought on the record any document or evidence that they have raised any construction over the surplus land of the petitioners which was transferred by the State to Development Authority. Thus, in absence of any averment or the documents to the said fact, we have to hold that petitioners are still in possession. (Para 39)

Writ Petition allowed (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. St. of U. P. Vs Hari Ram, (2013) 4 SCC 280

2.SLP (C) No. 16582 of (2014) decided with SLP (C) No. 38922 of (2013), St. of U.P. & anr. Vs Vinod Kumar Tripathi & ors.

3. Ram Chandra Pandey Vs St. of U.P., (2010) (82) AIR 136

4. St. of U.P. Thru Secy Avas Avam Shahri Niyojan Vs Ruknuddin & ors. in Writ C No.54830 of (2011)

5. Lalji Vs St. of U.P. & 2 ors., (2018) (5) ADJ 541

6. St. of U.P. & anr. Vs Nek Singh, (2010) (81) AllLR 456.

7. St. of Assam Vs Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma & ors. (2015) (5) SCC 321

8. Shiv Ram Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2015) (5) AWC 4918.

9. Gopi Ram Vs St. of U.P. & ors.

10. Gajanan Kamlya Patil Vs Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth. & ors, JT (2014) (3) SC 211

11. Rajendra Kumar Vs Kalyan, JT (2000) (8) SC 359

12. Ratiram Vs St. of U.P & ors., (2018) (4) ALB 338

13. St. of U.P. & anr. Vs Nek Singh, (2010) LawSuit(All) 3581 : (2010) (81) AllLR 456

14. St. of U.P. Vs Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd, (1999) (4) AWC 3324

15. St. of U.P. Vs Hart Ram, (2005) (60) AllLR 535

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J. & Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal, J.)

1. Petitioners have preferred this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for issuance of writ of certiorari to quash the order dated 5.5.2014 passed by the Collector, Saharanpur whereby the petitioners' representation has been rejected holding that in revenue record, the name of the Government has been mutated and his land has been legally declared surplus and possession has been taken under the provisions of Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act, 1976 (for short, the 'Act, 1976').

2. A brief reference to the factual aspects would suffice.

3. The petitioners claim that they are the owners of the Khasra Nos. 431, 33, 312, 490, 504, 505, 507/1 and 421/1 situated at Village Dabki Junardar, Tehsil and District- Saharanpur. The proceedings were initiated under the provisions of the Act, 1976 to declare their surplus land. The competent authority vide order dated 13.12.1978 declared petitioners' land admeasuring 11293.607 sq.mt., surplus. It is stated that said order was passed ex-parte and it was not implemented as he is still in possession. The petitioners' father came to know about said order on 27.2.2002 when he found that name of State has been recorded in the revenue papers (khatauni). Against the order dated 13.12.1978, he filed an appeal. In the meantime Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (for short, the 'Act 15 of 1999') came in to force and the Act 33 of 1976 Act was repealed. Under Section 4 of the Act, 15 of 1999, all legal proceedings were abated subject to Section 3 of the Act. Petitioners' claim that since they are continued to be in possession hence, in this case, proceedings stood abated in terms of Section 3(2)(a) of the Act. It is stated that they have not received any compensation. It is also stated that when respondents started interfering in possession of the petitioners, they preferred a Writ Petition being Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.30434 of 2002. During the pendency of the said writ petition, father of the petitioners unfortunately died on 13.8.2003. The aforesaid writ petition was finally disposed of on 23.3.2012 leaving it open to the petitioners to make a representation before the Collector, Saharanpur for redressal of their grievance. A copy of the judgment of this Court is on record as Annexure 3 to the writ petition.

4. The petitioners, in compliance thereof submitted a detailed representation to the Collector, Saharanpur on 4.4.2012, a copy of the said representation is on record as Annexure 4 to the writ petition. It appears that an enquiry was initiated in respect of the status of the land and Tehsildar, Saharanpur submitted a report dated 20.4.2012 addressed to the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Saharanpur, (new number) wherein, he submitted that on Khasra No.35 Area 0.7030 hectares. On the spot, the wheat crop was found on the said land and one sikmi kastkar (share cropper) of the petitioner is cultivating and his crop was found in the land in question.

5. From the record, it appears that in the said enquiry, the revenue authorities have got the statement of the sikmi kastkar (share cropper). In the said enquiry, statements of three other persons namely Mohd. Imran, Shahzad and Bindu was recorded, their statement is part of the record. The S.D.O also in his report dated 28.4.2012 has submitted that petitioners are in physical possession of the land. It appears that Collector asked the S.D.O to submit a fresh report. In the subsequent report dated 25.5.2012, the same S.D.O. submitted that in the records Saharanpur Development Authority's name is recorded, but petitioners are in actual possession. On the basis of the above report, the Collector by impugned order has rejected the claim of the petitioners.

6. A counter affidavit has been filed by the respondent nos.1 & 2. The stand taken by the State authorities is that statement under Section 6(1) of the Act, 1976 was submitted by Yaseen, petitioners' father on 14.8.1976, which was registered as Ceiling Case No.3771 of 1976. After due enquiry, a draft statement was prepared and issued to petitioners' father on 30.8.1978 whereby 12204.68 sqr.mtr of land in Khasra Plot Nos.431,311,315, 490, 504, 505, 506, 507/1,551 and 621/2 was proposed to be surplus.

7. It is stated that since no objection was filed, therefore, on the basis of the aforesaid draft statement, the proposed area was declared as surplus by an order dated 13.12.1978 by the Prescribed Authority. The aforesaid order is said to be served upon the petitioners, on 14.6.1979 pursuant to which a notification under Section 10(1) of the Act, 1976 was published in the official gazette on 27.10.1979 and notification under Section 10(3) was published on 20.2.1990. It is further averred that a notice under Section 10(5) of the Act was also issued in the name of Yaseen, the original tenure holder by affixing the same on door of the house of the petitioner on 5.7.1993. Thereafter, the possession of the plots in dispute was taken over by the authorized officials of the Urban Ceiling Department, and the possession was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority by order of the District Magistrate. A copy of the possession memo has also been brought on record as Annexure 4 to the counter affidavit.

8. The Development authority, respondent no.3 has also filed a counter affidavit wherein the same facts have been reiterated. In regard to the possession, it is stated in Para 7 of the counter affidavit that possession of the declared surplus land was obtained on behalf of the State Government on 27.7.1993, a copy of the possession memo has been brought on record as Annexure No.C.A. 4 & C.A. 5 of the affidavit and on the same day viz. on 27.7.1993, the possession has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority. It is stated in the counter affidavit that the alleged cultivatory possession of the agent of the petitioners over the disputed surplus land is illegal and unauthorized, as such benefits of Repeal Act, 1999 are not attracted in favour of the petitioners.

9. We have heard Sri Shesh Kumar, learned Counsel for the petitioner, Sri D.K. Tiwari & Sri Mohan Srivastava, learned Standing Counsel and Sri P.K. Singh, learned Counsel for Saharanpur Development Authority.

10. Sri Shesh Kumar, learend Counsel for the petitioners submits that no notice under Section 10(5) was issued to the petitioners and they have not voluntarily surrendered the possession. Petitioners are still in physical cultivatory possession over the land and they have submitted that from the report of the Tehsildar and the S.D.M., it is evident that they have found that petitioners are in the cultivatory possession of the land.

11. Sri Shesh Kumar, learned Counsel for the petitioner has drawn our attention to the statement of sikmi khastkar (share cropper) of the petitioners recorded by the Revenue Authorities, who had stated that they have sown wheat crop on behalf of the petitioners. Both the authorities in their report have categorically recorded that petitioners are still in possession. It is further stated that in the impugned order, the District Magistrate's finding in regard to the possession of petitioners over the land is perverse. He has completely ignored those reports which are on the record.

12. He further submitted that in view of Section 3 & 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999, the proceedings against the petitioner stood lapsed as on the date of the enforcement of the amended Act, the petitioner was in the physical possession over the land in question. He has placed reliance upon the judgment of Apex Court in case of State of Uttar Pradesh v. Hari Ram, (2013) 4 SCC 280, Special Leave Petition (C) No. 16582 of 2014 decided with Special Leave Petition (C) No. 38922 of 2013, State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others, on 19th January, 2016, Ram Chandra Pandey Vs. State of U.P., 2010 (82) AIR 136, State of U.P. Thru Secy Avas Avam Shahri Niyojan v. Ruknuddin and others in Writ C No.54830 of 2011, Lalji Vs. State of U.P. & 2 Others, 2018 (5) ADJ 541, State of U.P. and another Vs. Nek Singh, 2010 (81) AllLR 456.

13. Learned Standing Counsel submits that the possession has been taken by the representative of the Collector on 27.7.1993, a copy of the possession memo is on record as Annexure 4 to the counter affidavit filed by the respondent nos.1 & 2. He further submits that the land has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority on the same day, which is in the possession of the land. The learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance on a judgment of the Apex Court in the case of State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma & Others 2015 (5) SCC 321 that has been followed by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2015 (5) AWC 4918.

14. Sri P.K. Singh, learned Counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority has adopted the submission of learned Standing Counsel.

15. We have heard learned Counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

16. Before adverting to the submission of learned Counsel for the parties, it would be advantageous to consider the some of the provisions. Chapter III of the Act, 1976 deals with the ceiling of vacant land. Section 6 provides that every person holding vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit shall file a statement before the competent authority giving the detail about the location, extent, value and such other particulars as may be prescribed under the Act regarding all vacant land held by him. Section 8 provides that a draft statement shall be prepared regarding vacant land, it shall be prepared on the basis of the statement submitted by the person and on the basis of enquiry which the competent authority made deems it fit. Sub-section 3 of Section 8 provides that the draft statement prepared by the competent authority shall be served on the person concerned calling upon him to file any objection, if any, within 30 days. After considering his objection, a final statement is preferred by the competent authority, and if, he has excess of the ceiling limit, the land is declared surplus and a notification is published under sub-section 1 of Section 10 of the Act. The said notification is published for the information of the general public in the Financial Gazette. The objection is indicated from all the interested persons in such vacant land. Sub-section 2 of Section 10 provides that after considering the objection filed by the interested person, the competent authority shall pass an order regarding the vacant land. Under Sub-section 3 of Section 10, a notification published in the Official Gazette and the excess land declared be deemed to have been acquired by the State Government and it shall be deemed to have been vested in the State Government free from all encumbrances.

17. Sub-section 5 of Section 10 provides that after the land is vested in the State Government, a notice in writing is issued to a person who may be in possession of it to surrender or deliver possession to the State Government or to any person duly authorized by the State Government within thirty days of the service of the notice.

18. Sub-section 6 of Section 10 lays down that if after service of notice under Sub-section 5 of Section 10, a person refuses or fails to comply the order, the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land. For the said purpose, he can use force also as may be necessary. Sub-section 5 and Sub-section 6 of Section 10 read as under :-

"(5) Where any vacant land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3), the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person who may be in possession of it to surrender or deliver possession thereof to the State Government or to any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf within thirty days of the service of the notice.

(6) If any person refuses or fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land or cause it to be given to the concerned State Government or to any person duly authorised by such State Government in this behalf and may for that purpose use such force as may be necessary."

19. In the meantime, the Parliament enacted ''The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation Repeal Act, 1999 (for short Act 15 of 1999)'. Section 4 of the Act, 1999 provides regarding the abatement of legal proceedings under the Principal Act pending immediately before the commencement of Act, 15 of 1999 (18th March, 1999). Section 3 and Section 4 of the Act read as under :-

"3. Saving.-- (1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect--*

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section (3) of Section 10, possession of which has been taken over the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where--

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government."

4. Abatement of legal proceedings.--All proceedings relating to any order made or purported to be made under the principal Act pending immediately before the commencement of this Act, before any court, tribunal or other authority shall abate:

Provided that this section shall not apply to the proceedings relating to sections 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the principal Act in so far as such proceedings are relatable to the land, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority."

20. The petitioners case is that the entire proceedings under the Act, 33 of 1976 stood abated in view of Section 3(2) as he is still in possession. The petitioners' claim that the possession was never taken by the State authority and they are still in physical possession of the land and they are cultivating their agricultural holding till date. When the State authorities had earlier threatened to dispossess them, they preferred a Writ Petition No.30434 of 2002 which was disposed of by this Court on 23.3.2012 by giving them liberty to file a representation before the the District Magistrate, Saharanpur who shall decide it by a speaking order. In compliance thereof, they submitted a representation before the District Magistrate. He also filed some documents to indicate his physical possession over the excess land which has been declared surplus.

21. The perusal of the record shows that the District Magistrate, Saharanpur called a report from the concerned review authority regarding the physical possession of the land. The Tehsildar visited the land in question and found that crop of the wheet was sown. On 19.4.2012, he recorded a statement of Tahir Hasan, Imran, Shahjad and Bindu. All the aforesaid persons had made a statement that the land in question is owned by the petitioner no.1 and he has given the land to them on "batai' and they are cultivating the land on behalf of the petitioner and getting the share in the crop. A copy of their statement is on record.

22. The Tehsildar in his report dated 21.4.2012, addressed to the S.D.M, Saharanpur has clearly stated that the plot no.35/0.703 hectare is recorded in the name of the petitioner no.1 and 2, son of Yaseen. He found that in the disputed land, there was a wheat crops. On the basis of the said report, the S.D.M., Saharapur submitted a report to the District Magistrate, Saharanpur on 28.4.2012 wherein he has recorded that earlier Khasra No.431, 311, 312, 490, 504, 505, 507, 551, 421/2 and 421/2, after the consideration proceedings, their number have been changed by the order of the C.O. dated 16.3.1979 and the new number is 35 which is also recorded in CH Form-41. The said report is Annexure no.7 to the writ petition. It appears that the District Magistrate, Saharanpur again asked the S.D.M to submit a fresh report. In his report dated 24.5.2012, the S.D.M., Saharahpur has reiterated that the petitioners are in physical possession, however, since the land has been vested in the State Government, hence on the basis of the documents, it appears that the Saharanpur Development Authority is in possession however, physical possession is still with the petitioners, which is illegal.

23. On the basis of these reports, the District Magistrate, Saharapur has rejected the representation of the petitioners. We find that the findings recorded by the District Magistrate is perverse. The statement recorded by Tehsildar and his report as well as the first report of the S.D.M., Saharanpur dated 28.4.2012 clearly demonstrates the physical possession of the petitioners. The subsequent report dated 24.5.2012, the same S.D.M., Saharanpur has recorded that the physical possession of the petitioner are illegal and on the basis of the vesting of the land in State Government, the Saharanpur Development Authority shall be deemed to be in possession. This Court in its order dated 23.4.2012 had directed the District Magistrate, Saharanpur to consider the issue of the physical possession and the Court has also recorded the submission of the petitioners that no compensation was paid to them.

24. From the perusal of the order of the District Magistrate, it is evident that he has assumed that Saharanpur Development Authority has taken possession merely on the ground that a notification under Section 10(1) and 10(3) was issued, and, thus the land stood vested in the State Government. Petitioners, in the writ petition, has clearly stated that they are still in possession of the land. The possession memo was on record.

25. From the perusal of the record, it appears that pursuant to the notice issued to the petitioner under Section 10(5), they have not voluntarily surrendered the possession. There is no document on record to indicate that the petitioners had voluntarily surrendered possession to the State Government. In the Counter affidavit, a general and vague statement has been made regarding taking over the possession. In the affidavit, no date has been mentioned when the possession under Section 10(5) was taken. In the possession memo, there is no signature to the petitioners or their father. In case, petitioners have not given voluntarily possession, then a notice under Sub-section (6) of Section 10 should have been issued. The State Government has not taken stand that any notice was issued under Section 10(6). The petitioners in paragraph no.24 of the writ petition have averred that notice under Section 10(5) or 10(6) was not issued to them and the said statement of the fact has not been specifically denied. The relevant part of Para 19 is extracted :-

"19. That the contents of paragraph No.24 of the writ petition are not admitted as stated, hence denied. The suitable reply has already been given in the preceding paragraphs of this counter affidavit."

26. A perusal of the said reply does not show that pursuant to the notice issued under Section 10(5), petitioners had given voluntarily possession to the State Government. It is not the stand of the State that when the petitioners fail to give the possession, the State has taken it forcibly. In fact no notice under Section 10(6) was issued to take forcible possession. There is no material on record to indicate that the forcibly possession was taken from the petitioners and on the same day, it is alleged that the possession was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority.

27. From the material on record, we are not satisfied that the possession of the vacant land was taken from the petitioners in terms of the procedure of Section 10(5) and 10(6). Petitioners in their representation before the Collector has clearly stated that they or their father have not received any compensation for their land and they are also requested that spot inspection be made. The expectation of the petitioners are that they have not received any compensation has not been dealt with by the District Magistrate in his impugned order.

28. The question arises that on the date of enforcement of the Repeal Act, 1999, whether the petitioners were in physical possession or not. The petitioners have denied the fact regarding the voluntarily surrender to the State Government under Section 10(6), in fact during the enquiry when the Tehsildar has made the visit of the land, it was found that the petitioners were in cultivatory possession over the land through his sikmi khastkar (share cropper). The statement of all the sikmi khastkar (share cropper) have been recorded by the Revenue Authorities and is part of the record. We find that the State Government has completely ignored those facts which goes to prove beyond doubt regarding the possession of the land over the land in dispute.

29. It is pertinent to mention that the State Government in exercise of its power conferred upon Section 35 of the Act, 1976 has framed " The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of possession payment of amount and allied matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976)." The said directions reads as under :-

"35. Power of State Government to issue orders and directions to the competent authority.-- The State Government may issue such orders and directions of a general character as it may consider necessary in respect of any matter relating to the powers and duties of the competent authority and thereupon the competent authority shall give effect to such orders and directions."

1. Short title, application and Commencement -These directions may be called the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession Payment of Amount and Allied Matters Directions, 1983)

2. The provisions contained in this direction shall be subjected to the provisions of any directions or rules or orders issued by the Central Government with such directions or rules or orders.

3. They shall come into force with effect from the date of publication in the Gazette.

2. Definitions:-

3. Procedure for taking possession of vacant Land in excess of Ceiling Limit-(1) The Competent Authority will maintain a register in From No.ULC -1 for each case regarding which notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act is published in the Gazette.

4. (2) an order in Form No.ULC-II will be sent to each land holder as prescribed under sub-section (5) of Section 109 of the Act and the date of issue and service of the order will be entered in Column 8 of Form No.ULC-1.

(3) On possession of the excess vacant land being taken in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, entries will be made in a register in Form ULC-III and also in Column 9 of the Form No.ULC-1. The Competent Authority shall in token of verification of the entries, put his signatures in column 11 of Form No.ULC-1 and Column 10 of Form No.ULC-III.

Form No.ULC-1 Register of Notice u/s 10-(3) and 10(5)

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	Serial No. of Register of Receipt Serial No.of Register of Taking Possession	Case number	Date of Notification u/s 10(3)	Land to be acquire-d village Mohali	Date of taking over possession	Remarks	Signature of competent Authority

Form No. ULC-II

Notice order u/s 10(5) (See clause (2) of Direction (3)

In the Court of Competent Authority

U.L.C. .....

No..... Date .....

Sri/Smt.....To .....

In exercise of the powers vested un/s 10(5) of the Urban Land Ceiling and Regulation Act, 1976 (Act No.33 of 1976, you are hereby informed that vide Notification No..... dated ..... under section 10(1) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated... following land has vested absolutely in the State free from all encumbrances as a consequence Notification u/s 10(3) published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette dated ..... Notification No..... dated .... With effect from ..... you are hereby ordered to surrender or deliver the possession of the land to the Collector of the District Authorised in this behalf under Notification No.324/II-27-U.C.77 dated February 9, 1977, published in the gazette, dated March 12, 1977, within thirty days from the date of receipt of this order otherwise action under sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act will follow.

Description of Vacant Land

Location	Khasra number identification	Area	Remarks
1	2	3	4

Competent Authority

.....

.....

Dated.....

Copy forwarded to the Collector ..... with the request that action for immediate taking over of the possession of the above detailed surplus land and its proper maintenance may, kindly be taken an intimation be given to the undersigned along with copy of certificate to verify.

Competent Authority .....

....."

30. We further find from the material on record that there is no document to indicate that how the possession of the petitioners has been handed over by the State Government to Saharanpur Development Authority. In the counter affidavit of Saharanpur Development Authority, it is mentioned that the possession has been taken from the petitioner on 27.7.1993 and on the same day, State Government has handed over possession to Saharanpur Development Authority. The relevant part of the Paragraph 9 is extracted below :-

"9. That it is noteworthy that the aforesaid surplus land was subsequently transferred to Saharanpur Development Authority on 27.7.1993 for utilization in its development scheme. Accordingly much prior to the enforcement of Urban Land Ceiling Repeal Act, 1999 the said surplus land has under the actual physical possession of the answering respondent S.D.A."

31. Supreme Court in case of Hari Ram (supra) had occasion to deal with this, some issue regarding the vesting of the land in the State, the Apex Court has held that land shall vest in the State Government only when the procedures laid down under the law has been followed. The Court has interpreted the word "vested" which find place in the statutory provision under Sub-section 5 & 6 of Section 10, the Court has observed that for taking possession the de jure possession is not sufficient unless there is a de facto possession also. The relevant part of the observation of the Apex Court are herein under :-

"27. Vacant land, it may be noted, is not actually acquired but deemed to have been acquired, in that deeming things to be what they are not. Acquisition, therefore, does not take possession unless there is an indication to the contrary. It is trite law that in construing a deeming provision, it is necessary to bear in mind the legislative purpose. The purpose of the Act is to impose ceiling on vacant land, for the acquisition of land in excess of the ceiling limit thereby to regulate construction on such lands, to prevent concentration of urban lands in hands of few persons, so as to bring about equitable distribution. For achieving that object, various procedures have to be followed for acquisition and vesting. When we look at those words in the above setting and the provisions to follow such as sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10, the words 'acquired' and 'vested' have different meaning and content. Under Section 10(3), what is vested is de jure possession not de facto, for more reasons than one because we are testing the expression on a statutory hypothesis and such an hypothesis can be carried only to the extent necessary to achieve the legislative intent.

Voluntary Surrender

28. The 'vesting' in sub-section (3) of Section 10, in our view, means vesting of title absolutely and not possession though nothing stands in the way of a person voluntarily surrendering or delivering possession. The court in Maharaj Singh v. State of UP and Others (1977) 1 SCC 155, while interpreting Section 117(1) of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reform Act, 1950 held that 'vesting' is a word of slippery import and has many meaning and the context controls the text and the purpose and scheme project the particular semantic shade or nuance of meaning. The court in Rajendra Kumar v. Kalyan (dead) by Lrs. (2000) 8 SCC 99 held as follows:

"We do find some contentious substance in the contextual facts, since vesting shall have to be a "vesting" certain. "To vest, generally means to give a property in." (Per Brett, L.J. Coverdale v. Charlton. Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, 5th edn. Vol. VI.) Vesting in favour of the unborn person and in the contextual facts on the basis of a subsequent adoption after about 50 years without any authorization cannot however but be termed to be a contingent event. To "vest", cannot be termed to be an executor devise. Be it noted however, that "vested" does not necessarily and always mean "vest in possession" but includes "vest in interest" as well."

29. We are of the view that so far as the present case is concerned, the word "vesting" takes in every interest in the property including de jure possession and, not de facto but it is always open to a person to voluntarily surrender and deliver possession, under Section 10(3) of the Act.

30. Before we examine sub-section (5) and sub-section (6) of Section 10, let us examine the meaning of sub-section (4) of Section 10 of the Act, which says that during the period commencing on the date of publication under sub-section (1), ending with the day specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3), no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift or otherwise, any excess vacant land, specified in the notification and any such transfer made in contravention of the Act shall be deemed to be null and void. Further, it also says that no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land. Therefore, from the date of publication of the notification under sub- section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made in sub-section (3), there is no question of disturbing the possession of a person, the possession, therefore, continues to be with the holder of the land.

Peaceful dispossession

31. Sub-section (5) of Section 10, for the first time, speaks of "possession" which says where any land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10, the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person, who may be in possession of it to surrender or transfer possession to the State Government or to any other person, duly authorized by the State Government.

32. If de facto possession has already passed on to the State Government by the two deeming provisions under sub-section (3) to Section 10, there is no necessity of using the expression "where any land is vested" under sub- section (5) to Section 10. Surrendering or transfer of possession under sub-section (3) to Section 10 can be voluntary so that the person may get the compensation as provided under Section 11 of the Act early. Once there is no voluntary surrender or delivery of possession, necessarily the State Government has to issue notice in writing under sub-section (5) to Section 10 to surrender or deliver possession. Subsection (5) of Section 10 visualizes a situation of surrendering and delivering possession, peacefully while sub-section (6) of Section 10 contemplates a situation of forceful dispossession."

32. The judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Hari Ram (supra) has been followed by the Division Bench of this Court in case of Gopi Ram Vs. State Of U.P. And Others, wherein same issue came up for consideration before the Division Bench. The Division Bench considering the fact in pursuance of 1976, Rules and held that State Government has delegated its power to Collector to take possession. Since the State has delegated its power to the Collector, therefore, the Collector has no authority to delegate its power upon any of revenue authority. The relevant part of the judgment reads as under :-

"From the facts, discussions, pleadings of the parties and from perusal of the original record, we are satisfied that actual physical possession of the land was never taken by the State Government. There is no material existing on the original record to demonstrate that possession was taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by it or by the competent authority. Once the State Government itself never came in possession over the land in dispute there does not arise any question of transferring possession of the said land in favour of the Agra Development Authority.

The State having failed to demonstrate that actual physical possession of the land declared surplus was taken over at any point of time prior to 18.3.1999 when the Repeal Act came into force in the State of Uttar Pradesh, subsequent alleged transfer in favour of the Agra Development Authority is a mere paper transaction inasmuch as the State Government when itself did not obtain actual physical possession could not have transferred the same.

In the facts and circumstances, the petitioner is entitled to get benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999 and the writ petition deserves to be allowed.

Accordingly, writ petition succeeds and stands allowed. "

33. The issue with regard to peaceful possession and forceful possession in terms of sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 has been elaborately considered again by the Supreme Court in the case of Gajanan Kamlya Patil v. Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth. & ors, JT 2014 (3) SC 211. The Supreme Court followed its earlier judgment in the Rajendra Kumar v. Kalyan, JT 2000 (8) SC 359. The relevant part of the judgment of Gajanan Kamlya Patil (supra) is extracted below:

13. We have, therefore, clearly indicated that it was always open to the authorities to take forcible possession and, in fact, in the notice issued under Section 10(5) of the ULC Act, it was stated that if the possession had not been surrendered, possession would be taken by application of necessary force. For taking forcible possession, certain procedures had to be followed. Respondents have no case that such procedures were followed and forcible possession was taken. Further, there is nothing to show that the Respondents had taken peaceful possession, nor there is anything to show that the Appellants had given voluntary possession. Facts would clearly indicate that only de jure possession had been taken by the Respondents and not de facto possession before coming into force of the repeal of the Act. Since there is nothing to show that de facto possession had been taken from the Appellants prior to the execution of the possession receipt in favour of MRDA, it cannot hold on to the lands in question, which are legally owned and possessed by the Appellants. Consequently, we are inclined to allow this appeal and quash the notice dated 17.2.2005 and subsequent action taken therein in view of the repeal of the ULC Act. The above reasoning would apply in respect of other appeals as well and all proceedings initiated against the Appellants, therefore, would stand quashed."

34. A Division Bench in case of Ratiram Vs. State of U.P and others, 2018 (4) ALB 338 in respect of Saharanpur Development Authority has rejected the contention of the State and the Saharanpur Development Authority regarding their claim that they have taken possession of the vacant land. The relevant part of the judgment reads as under :-

"8. The 'Dakhalnama' a certified copy whereof has been produced before us does not even bear the signatures of any attesting witness. We find this to be a lapse and patent illegality the benefit whereof has to be given to the land holder in view of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Mohd. Islam and 3 others v. State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. It was also a case of District-Saharanpur. We extract paragraph Nos. 44 to 47 of the said judgment which are as under:

"44. Since, in the present case, neither factum of taking actual physical possession by Competent Authority under Ceiling Act has been fortified by placing any document nor factum of possession of Development Authority at any point of time has been shown, therefore, argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel on the basis of State of Assam (supra) will not help.

45. Viewed from the above exposition of law we find in the present case that no such exercise of issuing notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and thereafter execution of memo on the spot had taken place which is mandatory for ceiling authorities as admittedly the original tenure-holder and then his successors had never voluntarily surrendered the possession of land. In the absence of voluntary surrender of possession of surplus land, the authorities were required to proceed with forcible possession. The document of possession memo would not by itself evidence the actual taking of possession unless it is witnessed by two independent persons acknowledging the act of forcible possession. As discussed above in the earlier part of this. judgment we are not able to accept the alleged possession memo worth calling a document as such in the absence of certain requisites, nor does it bear the details of witnesses who signed the document. It bears mainly signatures of Chackbandi Lekhpal, a person taking possession and then the document has been directed to be kept on file. This is no way of taking forcible possession nor, a document worth calling possession memo. A mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) and notice under Section 10(5) regarding delivery of possession does not amount to actual delivery of possession of land more especially in the face of the fact that the tenureholder had in fact not voluntarily made surrender of possession of surplus land and no proceeding under Section 10(6) had taken place.

46. Since, we have held that possession memo dated 20.06.1993 is not a possession memo and is a void document for want of necessary compliance under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled to the benefit under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 that came into force w.e.f. 20.03.1999.

47. We may also place on record that respondents claim that possession of land in question was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority pursuant to Government Order dated 29.12.1984 but here also we find that no material has been placed on record to show that any such actual physical possession was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority and the said authority is in de facto possession of land in dispute. Except bare averment made in the counter-affidavit respondent have not chosen to place anything on record to support the stand that de facto possession over land in dispute is that of Saharanpur Development Authority. Therefore even this stand has no legs to stand and is rejected."

35. After the Repeal Act came into force, the word 'possession' under Sections 10(5), 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Repeal Act fell for consideration before a Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. and another v. Nek Singh, 2010 LawSuit(All) 3581 : 2010 (81) AllLR 456. In Nek Singh (supra) the Division Bench followed the judgments of earlier Division Benches of this Court in State of

U.P. v. Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd, 1999 (4) AWC 3324 and State of U.P. v. Hart Ram, 2005 (60) AllLR 535, and held as under:

"[9] Otherwise also, the statutory benefit of the Repealing Act is also available to the landholder-respondent in the fact-situation of the matter, as the taking of the "possession" in the present case was neither de jure nor de facto. The term "possession" as per sections 3 and 4 of the Repealing Act and section 10(6) of the U.L.C.R. Act means and implies the lawful "possession" after "due compliance of the statutory provisions". In State of U.P. v. Doon Udhyog (P) Ltd., 1999 4 AWC 3324, a Division Bench of this Court has held that where possession has been taken, its legality is to be decided on merits. Similarly, another Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. v. Hart Ram, 2005 (60) AllLR 535, has held that "in case possession is purported to be taken under section 10(6) of the Act, still Court is required to examine whether 'taking of such possession' is valid or invalidated on any of the considerations in law. If Court finds that one or more grounds exist which show that the process of possession, though claimed under section 10(5) or 10(6) of the Act is unlawful or vitiated in law, then such possession will have no recognition in law and it will have to be ignored and treated as of no legal consequence"..."

36. A Division Bench of this Court in Lalji (supra), after considering the judgment of the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra) and State of Assam v. Bhasker Jyoti Sharma and others, (2015) 5 SCC 321, has held as under:

"[29]. Faced with a situation where respondents could not place even an iota of evidence showing actual physical possession of disputed land by respondent, learned Standing Counsel sought to rely upon Supreme Court judgment in State of Assam Vs. Bhasker Jyoti Sharma & Ors. 2015 (5) SCC 321 and contended that irrespective of any defect in notice under Sections 10(5) or 10(6) of Act, 1976, if possession has been taken in any manner, Repeal Act 1999 will have no application.

*** ***

***

[37]. We may also mention at this stage that except bare averment that disputed land was transferred to ADA by competent Authority, no material has been placed on record about transfer of possession to ADA and infact nothing has been placed on record even to show that de facto possession of land in dispute before or after Repeal Act, 1999 is with ADA. ADA has also not placed on record anything to show that land in dispute is in its actual physical possession and in absence thereof, we had no occasion to require petitioner to prove, how de facto possession of land in dispute came in the hands of ADA. With regard to possession of land in dispute, except bare averments, nothing has been placed on record. It appears that respondents were under impression that once notification under Section 10(3) has been issued, land in dispute vested in 'State' and thereafter, irrespective of fact whether actual physical possession is taken by respondents or not, land owner would cease to have any right and Repeal Act, 1999 will have no application though this assumption on the part of respondents, as we have already discussed, stood negated by Court in State Vs. Hari Ram."

37. As regards the case of Shiv Ram Singh (supra), the petitioner therein had challenged the order passed by the District Magistrate holding that the possession of the land declared surplus has been taken on 25th June, 1993, hence he was not entitled to the benefit of the provisions of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. In the said case, the notice under Section 10(1) was issued on 15th May, 1985, thereafter on 02nd June, 1986 a notification under Section 10(3) was issued and published in the official gazette, and on 25th February, 1987 a notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 was issued. The respondents-State had taken a stand that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993 pursuant to the notice dated 25th February, 1987 i.e. prior to enforcement of the Repeal Act and in the revenue record the name of the State was mutated. The petitioner therein had earlier approached the Court by means of Writ Petition No. 47279 of 2002 claiming that he is still in possession over the land which was declared surplus, hence after the Repeal Act the possession cannot be taken over from him. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court by issuing a direction upon the District Magistrate to consider his representation. The District Magistrate after furnishing opportunity to the petitioner by an order dated 10th May, 2007 held that the possession has already been taken on 25th June, 1983, hence the petitioner would not be entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act. The petitioner challenged the said order of the District Magistrate after two years in July, 2009. In the meantime in the year 2008 the construction of a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) for treating 210 MLD of sewage was commenced. The Jal Nigam, in whose favour the land was transferred, filed a counter affidavit in the said writ petition and took the stand that by the time the writ petition was filed, nearly 65% of the work had been completed at a cost of Rs.73 crores and the petitioner was fully aware of the said facts but he did not file the writ petition for two years. In the light of those peculiar facts the Court did not examine the issue of actual possession as the possession was taken prior to 1999 and the District Magistrate after affording opportunity to the petitioner has recorded a finding that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993.

38. We have carefully gone through the judgment of Shiv Ram Singh (supra) and we find that the said judgment is distinguishable for the reasons recorded above.

39. In the present case, we have found that the petitioners are still in possession and the State has not taken possession in accordance with law, hence, we are of the view that the State had no authority to handover the possession to the Saharanpur Development Authority. The Development Authority has not brought on the record any document or evidence that they have raised any construction over the surplus land of the petitioners which was transferred by the State to Development Authority. Thus, in absence of any averment or the documents to the said fact, we have to hold that petitioners are still in possession.

40. For all the reasons recorded above, we are of the view that in view of amended Act, 1999, proceedings initiated under the Act, 1976 stood lapsed, State authority shall not interfere in their possession and they will correct the entries in revenue record accordingly.

41. Thus we are of the view that the order dated 5.5.2014 passed by Collector, Saharanpur is illegal, which is set aside.

42. Present petition stands allowed.

43. No order as to costs.

(2019)10ILR A 1840

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 08.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE YASHWANT VARMA, J.

Writ C No. 9731 of 2019

M/s Mahesh Industries Pvt. Ltd & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
The Kaur Vysya Bank Ltd. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Manu Khare.

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri Maneesh Mehrotra, Sri D.K. Pathak, Sri Rahul Tyagi, Sri Shashank Pathak.

A. Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 - Section 13(2) - upon expiry of 60 days from the date of notice u/s 13(2) and objections u/s13 (3A) have been rejected - secured creditor empowered to take possession.

B. Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Rules, 2002 - Rule 8(1) - notice under Rule 8 is repository and sufficient evidence of possession taken.

Held: - As this Court reads section 13 and Rule 8, it finds no scope for introducing the concept of a notice evidencing an intent of taking possession or apprising the borrower of the proposed date of taking over of possession. (Para 13)

C. The Division Bench in Krishnegowda appears to have found the imperative of a prior notice being issued in order to provide an opportunity to the borrower to discharge the liability of the secured creditor. However, in the considered view of this Court, the view so taken clearly misses the point that the Section 13 (2) notice has already apprised the borrower of the obligation to discharge the liability as claimed by the secured creditor. It is only consequent to a failure on his part to discharge the liability or where his objections are considered and rejected that the provisions of Section-13 (4) are attracted. (Para 12)

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Standard Chartered Bank Vs Noble Kumar & ors, (2013) 9 SCC 620

2. K R Krishnegowda & anr. Vs Chief Manager/Authorised Officer, Kotak Mahindra Bank, (2012) AIR (Kar.)116

3. Nobel Kumar & Hindon Forge Pvt. Ltd. & anr. Vs St. of U.P., (2019) 2 SCC 198

4. Mardia Chemicals Ltd. Vs UOI, (2004) 4 SCC 311

5.NCML Industries Ltd. Vs Debt Recovery Tribunal, AIR 2018 Allahabad 131

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Manu Khare, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri D.K. Pathak, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Rahul Tyagi and Sri Shashank Pathak, appearing for the respondent Bank.

2. This petition impugns an order dated 30 January 2019 passed by the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Allahabad [DRAT] on an appeal preferred by the respondent Bank under Section 18 of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 [hereinafter referred to as the "2002 Act"]. The appeal itself was directed against an order dated 19 May 2018 passed by the DRT, Lucknow [DRT] allowing a Securitisation Application filed by the petitioners here. The DRT by its order of 19 May 2018 while allowing the Securitisation Application set aside the possession notices dated 12, 19 and 26 July 2017 issued under Rule 8 of the Security Interest (Enforcement) Rules, 2002 [hereinafter referred to as the "2002 Rules"] as also the demand notice of 19 April 2017 referable to Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act.

3. The facts on which there is no dispute are as follows. The petitioner Nos. 1, 4 and 5 are the original borrowers. The petitioner Nos. 2 and 3 are the guarantors. The respondent Bank is stated to have granted various credit facilities to the petitioners from time to time. In order to secure the credit facilities so sanctioned and disbursed, equitable mortgages were also created in respect of properties situate at Meerut, Karnal, NOIDA and Gandhidham (Gujarat). The loan account of the petitioners was classified as a non performing asset on 31 March 2017. The respondent Bank on 19 April 2017 issued a notice under Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act calling upon the petitioners to repay a sum of Rs. 92,41,11,057.49 along with interest thereon at the rate of 14.55% per annum. Since the terms of the notice under Section 13(2) were not complied with, the Bank proceeded to issue possession notices on 12, 19 an 26 July 2017 evidencing the taking over of possession in terms of Section 13(4) of the 2002 Act. After taking symbolic possession, the respondent Bank issued a sale notice dated 11 August 2017 but the auction sale could not materialise for want of bidders. Aggrieved by the possession notices issued as well as the notice of sale, the petitioners filed a Securitisation Application before the DRT on 1 September 2017. It was this Securitisation Application which was allowed by the DRT on 19 May 2018 and formed subject matter of challenge laid by the Bank before the DRAT. The DRAT in terms of its impugned order of 30 January 2019 has proceeded to record that despite the notice under Section 13(2) of the Act having been duly served, no objections were preferred as a consequence of which the respondent Bank proceeded to issue the possession notices. It further noted that although requisite details of service of the notice under Section 13(2) of the Act had been duly brought on record by the Bank before the DRT, no objection was raised by the petitioners here to the same. The DRAT has further found that the three possession notices were duly affixed on the premises of the secured assets and that the requirements of Rule 8 of the 2002 Rules complied with. Referring to the decision of the Supreme Court in Standard Chartered Bank Vs. Noble Kumar and others1, the DRAT held that after issuance of the demand notice under Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act and on a failure of the debtors to liquidate the dues as claimed, it is open to the secured creditor to take symbolic or physical possession without issuing any prior or further notice. It essentially held that there is no legal requirement of issuance of a notice before proceeding to take possession. While dealing with the issue of compliance with Rule 8, it has significantly recorded that the petitioners did not deny the receipt, publication and affixation of the possession notices. Having recorded the conclusions as aforesaid, it proceeded to allow the appeal of the respondent Bank and set aside the order of the DRT dated 19 May 2018.

4. Sri Manu Khare, learned counsel appearing in support of the present petitioners has addressed the following two contentions. His first submission was that the respondent Bank was obliged in law to issue a notice to the petitioners indicating its intent of taking over physical possession of the secured assets. According to Sri Khare, the respondent Bank was obliged to place the petitioners on notice of the date when possession of the secured assets was intended to be taken after the expiry of the period specified in the notice issued under Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act. According to Sri Khare this is clearly a requirement which flows from the provisions made in Section 13(4) of the 2002 Act read with Rule 8 of the 2002 Rules. This submission rests solely upon a decision rendered by a Division Bench of the Karnataka High Court in K R Krishnegowda and another Vs. Chief Manager/Authorised Officer, Kotak Mahindra Bank 2. Sri Khare has pressed in aid the following observations as appearing in paragraphs 13 and 14 of the report.:-

"13. On a conspectus reading of sub-section (4) of section and section with rule 8, the question that would arise is, as to the stage at which notice under rule 8 would have to be issued, as the contention of counsel for the respondent is that the notice regarding possession would be issued after an order under section is passed and possession is taken and before sale. When once there is non-compliance of the demand made under sub-section (2) of section , steps could be initiated under sub-section (4) by taking possession of the secured asset. The question is, as to whether the borrower ought to know as to when exactly possession of the secured asset would be taken, when once the demand under sub-section (2) of section is not complied with by the borrower. Having regard to sub-section (13) read with sub-section (2) of section would imply that the receipt of notice under sub-section (2) results in a virtual attachment of the secured asset. If the demand made in sub-section (2) of section is not complied with and the representation as well as the objections filed by the borrower are also not accepted and communicated to the borrower, then in that case, steps could be initiated under sub-section (4) of section . Having regard to the fact that sub-section (6) of section enables a secured creditor to transfer the secured asset after taking possession would imply that the possession of the secured asset vests with the secured creditor prior to any such transfer. The procedure for taking possession or control of the secured asset by the secured creditor is envisaged in section after the date mentioned in the possession notice at which stage, it is not necessary to actually inform or indicate to the borrower, the taking of possession by the secured creditor. Section in fact does not prescribe an opportunity of hearing the borrower before an order is passed with regard to taking of possession. But we have held that if possession has to be taken by the secured creditor, then in that event, the borrower must be informed or intimated about the taking of possession, more precisely, the actual date on which possession would be taken over from the borrower by the secured creditor which would have to be indicated to the former.

It is in this regard, that in so far as immovable property, is concerned, sub-rules (1) and (2) of rule 8 prescribe notices or intimation to the borrower in two ways : (i) by delivery of possession notice; and (ii) by newspaper publication, clearly indicating the date on which possession of the secured asset would be taken by the secured creditor. If on the date indicated in the possession notice, the secured creditor is unable to take possession of the secured asset, then in that case, recourse may be had to section 14 of the Act, at which stage a further, notice to the borrower is not envisaged, under the said section.

14. Therefore, what emerges is the mandatory requirement under the Act read with the Rules, that in order to enable the borrower to know the date on which possession would be taken by the secured creditor, sub-rules (1) and (2) of rule 8 would have to be complied with by issuance of notices indicating the date on which possession would be taken. There is another purpose for issuing the notice prior to taking possession and that is, to enable the borrower to discharge the liability to the secured creditor. Also a person who has acquired any of the secured assets from the borrower and from whom any money is due or may become due to the borrower can pay the secured creditor, so much of the money as is sufficient to pay the secured debt as per clause (d) of sub-section (4) of section 13 read with sub-section (5) thereof. We have also borne in mind the fact that on an application being filed under section 14 of the Act before the Magistrate, there is no provision for issuance of notice to the borrower before an order to take possession is issued. We are, therefore, of the considered view that before initiating action under sub-section (4) of section 13 of the Act, the issuance of notice as per sub-rules (1) and (2) of rule 8 has to be complied with indicating the date on which possession of the property would be taken from the borrower by the secured creditor. If on the said date possession of the secured asset cannot be taken or it is not surrendered by the borrower, then the secured creditor can take recourse to section 14 of the Act and take possession of the secured immovable property, of course, we hasten to add that the notices issued under sub-rules (1) and (2) of rule 8 cannot be assailed per se as the purpose of issuance of such notices is only to indicate the date of taking possession." (emphasis supplied)

5. The second submission which was canvassed for the consideration of the Court by Sri Khare related to the validity of the possession notices issued by the respondent Bank. In this respect, it was contended that the notices under Rule 8 were published in the Business Standard and Economic Times which were not leading newspapers having sufficient circulation in the locality concerned. Sri Khare argued that the two newspapers were generally read by a specific class of readers and were not liable to be recognised as newspapers having sufficient circulation in the locality. Sri Khare also drew the attention of the Court to the averments made in a supplementary affidavit to assert that the papers did not enjoy wide circulation. It was further contended that the respondent Bank had failed to prove that the possession notices had been duly affixed on the premises of the secured assets thus violating the mandatory provisions of Rule 8(1) and (2) of the 2002 Rules.

6. Countering the submissions, Sri Pathak, leaned Senior counsel appearing for the respondent Bank, has submitted that as is evident from the recordal of facts by the DRAT, the petitioners did not dispute that the notice under Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act despite being duly served was not responded to. Sri Pathak has sought to highlight the fact that despite the Bank having brought on record evidence of due service of the notice under Section 13(2) of the Act as well as those under Rule 8, these aspects were neither denied nor the averments made in that respect controverted by the petitioners. Sri Pathak has further submitted that the DRT committed a gross illegality in setting aside the notice under Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act dated 19 April 2017 when that did not even form subject matter of challenge in the Securitisation Application preferred by the petitioners. Sri Pathak has further highlighted and underlined the fact that the petitioners had conceded the due service of the possession notices and consequently it was not permissible for them to contend before this Court that the provisions of Rule 8 had not been complied with.

7. Turning to the contentions as urged on behalf of the petitioners of a prior notice being issued before the taking of possession, Sri Pathak submitted that the decision in Krishnegowda pales into insignificance in light of the subsequent judgments rendered by the Supreme Court in Nobel Kumar and Hindon Forge Private Limited and another Vs. State of U.P.3 Sri Pathak contends that once the statutory period prescribed under Section 13(2) comes to an end or when the Bank has decided and rejected the objections, if any, preferred by the debtor which ever be later, it is open to the secured creditor to take possession of the secured assets complying with the provisions made in Rule 8. Sri Pathak submits that neither Section 13(4) of the 2002 Act nor Rule 8 of the 2002 Rules contemplates or envisages a prior notice being given apprising the debtors of the proposed date of taking of possession. Sri Pathak has consequently urged that the order of the DRAT is liable to be upheld and the instant writ petition dismissed. It is these rival submissions which consequently fall for determination.

8. The principal and underlying theme of the contention addressed by the petitioners with respect to a prior notice appears to be a perceived requirement in law of a notice being issued after the expiry of 60 days of the Section 13(2) notice and the taking over of possession under Section 13(4). As noticed above, the petitioners have sought to canvass that before the taking of possession under Section 13(4), the secured creditor is obliged to apprise the debtor of its intent and the date of taking over possession. This submission rests entirely on the decision of the Karnataka High Court rendered in Krishnegowda. In Krishnegowda, their Lordships took the view that the debtor must be informed and intimated of the intent of taking over possession. This prior notice was considered as a requirement flowing from a construction of Rule 8 on the basis of which their Lordships held that the borrowers would be enabled to discharge the liability of the secured creditor. It was in that backdrop that Krishnegowda held that before initiating action under Section 13(4), the issuance of a notice under Rule 8 had to be complied with by indicating the date on which possession of the properties would be taken from the borrower by the secured creditor. This Court, with due respect, finds itself unable to sustain or follow the line of reasoning as adopted for the following reasons.

9. In terms of Section 13(2) of the 2002 Act, the secured creditor is required to place the borrower on notice of his liability to discharge the outstanding in an account which has been classified as a non performing asset. In case the borrower fails to comply with that demand within 60 days from the date of the notice, the secured creditor becomes legally entitled to exercise all or any of the rights enumerated in sub-section (4) of Section 13. The taking of possession of the secured assets including the right transfer it by way of lease, assignment or sale is one of the measures specified in sub-section (4). The Legislature by virtue of Amending Act 1 of 2013 had inserted Sub-section (3A) enjoining the secured creditor to consider and decide any representation or objection that the borrower may chooses to make in respect of the notice issued under Section 13(2). This legislative amendment was principally introduced in light of the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in Mardia Chemicals Ltd. Vs. Union of India 4. If one bears in mind the various stages of the proceedings under Section 13 of the Act, it is manifest that the action of enforcement of a security interest created in favour of the creditor commences with the notice issued under Section 13(2). The statute constructs a window of 60 days within which a borrower is entitled to respond to the notice and show cause why he is not liable to pay the amounts as claimed by the secured creditor. By virtue of the provisions made in sub-section (3A), the representation or objection that may be chosen to be made has to necessarily be decided by the secured creditor and a decision thereon communicated within a period of 15 days from the receipt of such representation or objection. The secured creditor is statutorily empowered to take recourse to one or more of the measures specified in Sub-section (4) only thereafter. The provisions of sub-section (4) come into play and the secured creditor is empowered to enforce the measures specified therein only when a debtor fails to discharge his liability in full or where the representation or objection made has come to be rejected. It is therefore evident that upon the expiry of 60 days from the date of the notice under Section 13(2) and once the objections, if any, preferred under sub-section (3A) have been rejected, the statute in unambiguous terms empowers the secured creditor to take possession.

10. The taking of possession is governed by the provisions made in Rule 8 of the 2002 Rules. Rule 8(1) prescribes that the authorised officer shall take possession by delivery of a possession notice prepared in accordance with the format prescribed in Appendix IV. The possession notice prescribed in Appendix IV carries the recital of the fact that despite the expiry of 60 days of the notice under Section 13(2), the borrower has failed to repay the amount. It also records the consequential fact of the authorised officer having taken possession of the secured assets in exercise of powers conferred under Section 13(4). On a conjoint reading of Section 13 and Rule 8, it is therefore, manifest and abundantly clear that no notice is envisaged in law to intervene the Section 13(2) notice and the possession notice issued under Rule 8(1). This is evident from a plain construct of the scheme of the 2002 Act when it empowers the creditor to enforce a measure specified in sub-section (4) upon a failure of the borrower to discharge the liability. The borrower, it becomes relevant to note, is already made aware by the statute of the measures which are likely to be enforced in case he fails to discharge the liability within 60 days of the notice under Section 13(2) or where the objections, if any, preferred against that notice come to be rejected and a decision thereon communicated to him. On a plain reading of the provisions of the 2002 Act, therefore, this Court finds no requirement or obligation on the creditor to intimate the borrower of the proposed date of taking of possession. The Division Bench in Krishnegowda appears to have found the imperative of a prior notice being issued in order to provide an opportunity to the borrower to discharge the liability of the secured creditor. However, in the considered view of this Court, the view so taken clearly misses the point that the Section 13(2) notice has already apprised the borrower of the obligation to discharge the liability as claimed by the secured creditor. It is only consequent to a failure on his part to discharge the liability or where his objections are considered and rejected that the provisions of Section 13 (4) are attracted. The statute, neither on its plain language nor in its intendment, contemplates a further notice intervening those issued under sub sections (2) and (4) of Section 13. Regard must also be had to the fact that the notice under Rule 8 itself is the repository and evidence of possession having been taken.

11. In Noble Kumar, the Supreme Court was called upon to consider the validity of a decision rendered by the Madras High Court which had held that the guarantor must make an attempt to take possession of the asset under Section 13(4) before invoking the provisions of Section 14 of the 2002 Act. Dealing with the correctness of that view the Supreme Court made the following pertinent observations:

"26. It is in the above-mentioned background of the legal frame of Sections 13 and 14, we are required to examine the correctness of the conclusions recorded by the High Court. Having regard to the scheme of Sections 13 and 14 and the object of the enactment, we do not see any warrant to record the conclusion that it is only after making an unsuccessful attempt to take possession of the secured asset, a secured creditor can approach the Magistrate. No doubt that a secured creditor may initially resort to the procedure under Section 13(4) and on facing resistance, he may still approach the Magistrate under Section 14. But, it is not mandatory for the secured creditor to make attempt to obtain possession on his own before approaching the Magistrate under Section 14. The submission that such a construction would deprive the borrower of a remedy under Section 17 is rooted in a misconception of the scope of Section 17.

27. The "appeal" under Section 17 is available to the borrower against any measure taken under Section 13(4). Taking possession of the secured asset is only one of the measures that can be taken by the secured creditor. Depending upon the nature of the secured asset and the terms and conditions of the security agreement, measures other than taking the possession of the secured asset are possible under Section 13(4). Alienating the asset either by lease or sale etc. and appointing a person to manage the secured asset are some of those possible measures. On the other hand, Section 14 authorises the Magistrate only to take possession of the property and forward the asset along with the connected documents to the borrower. Therefore, the borrower is always entitled to prefer an "appeal" 15 under Section 17 after the possession of the secured asset is handed over to the secured creditor. Section 13(4)(a) declares that the secured creditor may take possession of the secured assets. It does not specify whether such a possession is to be obtained directly by the secured creditor or by resorting to the procedure under Section 14. We are of the opinion that by whatever manner the secured creditor obtains possession either through the process contemplated under Section 14 or without resorting to such a process obtaining of the possession of a secured asset is always a measure against which a remedy under Section 17 is available."

12. Dealing with the provisions comprised in Rule 8, it held as follows:-

"35. Therefore, there is no justification for the conclusion that the receiver appointed by the Magistrate is also required to follow Rule 8 of the Security Interest (Enforcement) Rules, 2002. The procedure to be followed by the receiver is otherwise regulated by law. Rule 8 provides for the procedure to be followed by secured creditor taking possession of the secured asset without the intervention of Court. Such a process was unknown prior to the SARFAESI Act. So, specific provision is made under Rule 8 to ensure transparency in taking such possession. We do not see any conflict between different procedures prescribed by law for taking possession of the secured asset. The finding of the High Court in our view is unsustainable.

36. Thus, there will be three methods for the secured creditor to take possession of the secured assets:

36.1 (i) The first method would be where the secured creditor gives the requisite notice under Rule 8(1) and where he does not meet with any resistance. In that case, the authorised officer will proceed to take steps as stipulated under Rule 8(2) onwards to take possession and thereafter for sale of the secured assets to realise the amounts that are claimed by the secured creditor.

36.2 (ii) The second situation will arise where the secured creditor meets with resistance from the borrower after the notice under Rule 8(1) is given. In that case he will take recourse to the mechanism provided under Section 14 of the Act viz. making application to the Magistrate. The Magistrate will scrutinize the application as provided in Section 14, and then if satisfied, appoint an officer subordinate to him as provided under Section 14 (1)(A) to take possession of the assets and documents. For that purpose the Magistrate may authorise the officer concerned to use such force as may be necessary. After the possession is taken the assets and documents will be forwarded to the secured creditor.

36.3 (iii) The third situation will be one where the secured creditor approaches the Magistrate concerned directly under Section 14 of the Act. The Magistrate will thereafter scrutinize the application as provided in Section 14, and then if satisfied, authorise a subordinate officer to take possession of the assets and documents and forwards them to the secured creditor as under Clause (ii) above.

36.4. In any of the three situations, after the possession is handed over to the secured creditor, the subsequent specified provisions of Rule 8 concerning the preservation, valuation and sale of the secured assets,, and other subsequent rules from the Security Interest (Enforcement) rules, 2002, shall apply."

13. As is evident from the construction of Rule 8 as expounded by the Supreme Court in Noble Kumar, the provisions of that Rule itself embody the procedure to be followed by a secured creditor seeking to take possession without the intervention of the Court. It is therefore evident that a possession notice effected in accordance with the provisions of Rules 8(1) and (2) is sufficient evidence in itself of possession having been taken by the creditor. The act of taking over of possession in terms of the statutory provisions made in the 2002 Act and the 2002 Rules is complete the moment the possession notice is delivered and published in accordance therewith. It is therefore, clear that no obligation, statutory or otherwise, stands placed upon the creditor to apprise the borrower of its intent of taking possession. As this Court reads Section 13 and Rule 8, it finds no scope for introducing the concept of a notice evidencing an intent of taking possession or apprising the borrower of the proposed date of taking over of possession.

14. Regard must also be had to the fact that possession under the 2002 Act can be both constructive as well as actual. A Full Bench of this Court in NCML Industries Ltd Vs. Debt Recovery Tribunal5 had taken the view that possession under the provisions of the 2002 Act has to necessarily be recognised as actual physical possession. The correctness of that decision fell for consideration before the Supreme Court in Hindon Forge. Dealing with the issues raised, the Supreme Court held as under:-

"25. When we come to Section 13(4)(a), what is clear is that the mode of taking possession of the secured assets of the borrower is specified by Rule 8. Under Section 38 of the Act, the Central Government may make Rules to carry out the provisions of the Act. One such Rule is Rule 8. Rule 8(1) makes it clear that "the authorised officer shall take or cause to be taken possession". The expression "cause to be taken" only means that the authorised officer need not himself take possession, but may, for example, appoint an agent to do so. What is important is that such taking of possession is effected Under Sub-rule (1) of Rule 8 by delivering a possession notice prepared in accordance with Appendix IV of the 2002 Rules, and by affixing such notice on the outer door or other conspicuous place of the property concerned. Under Sub-rule (2), such notice shall also be published within 7 days from the date of such taking of possession in two leading newspapers, one in the vernacular language having sufficient circulation in the locality. This is for the reason that when we come to Appendix IV, the borrower in particular, and the public in general is cautioned by the said possession notice not to deal with the property as possession of the said property has been taken. This is for the reason that, from this stage on, the secured asset is liable to be sold to realise the debt owed, and title in the asset divested from the borrower and complete title given to the purchaser, as is mentioned in Section 13(6) of the Act.

There is, thus, a radical change in the borrower dealing with the secured asset from this stage. At the stage of a Section 13(2) notice, Section 13(13) interdicts the borrower from transferring the secured asset (otherwise than in the ordinary course of his business) without prior written consent of the secured creditor. But once a possession notice is given Under Rule 8(1) and 8(2) by the secured creditor to the borrower, the borrower cannot deal with the secured asset at all as all further steps to realise the same are to be taken by the secured creditor under the 2002 Rules.

26. Section 19, which is strongly relied upon by Shri Ranjit Kumar, also makes it clear that compensation is receivable Under Section 19 only when possession of secured assets is not in accordance with the provision of this Act and Rules made thereunder. The scheme of Section 13(4) read with Rule 8(1) therefore makes it clear that the delivery of a possession notice together with affixation on the property and publication is one mode of taking "possession" Under Section 13(4). This being the case, it is clear that Section 13(6) kicks in as soon as this is done as the expression used in Section 13(6) is "after taking possession". Also, it is clear that Rule 8(5) to 8(8) also kick in as soon as "possession" is taken Under Rule 8(1) and 8(2). The statutory scheme, therefore, in the present case is that once possession is taken Under Rule 8(1) and 8(2) read with Section 13(4)(a), Section 17 gets attracted, as this is one of the measures referred to in Section 13 that has been taken by the secured creditor under Chapter III."

15. As is evident from the extracts of the decision in Hindon Forge reproduced herein above, the delivery of a possession notice together with its affixation on the property and its publication was recognised as one of the modes of taking of possession under Section 13(4). Dealing further with the nature of possession contemplated under the Act, their Lordships held as under:-

"32. Another argument that was raised by learned senior Counsel for the Respondents is that the taking of possession under Section 13(4)(a) must mean actual physical possession or otherwise, no transfer by way of lease can be made as possession of the secured asset would continue to be with the borrower when only symbolic possession is taken. This argument also must be rejected for the reason that what is referred to in Section 13(4)(a) is the right to transfer by way of lease for realising the secured asset. One way of realising the secured asset is when physical possession is taken over and a lease of the same is made to a third party. When possession is taken under Rule 8(1) and 8(2), the asset can be realised by way of assignment or sale, as has been held by us hereinabove. This being the case, it is clear that the right to transfer could be by way of lease, assignment or sale, depending upon which mode of transfer the secured creditor chooses for realising the secured asset. Also, the right to transfer by way of assignment or sale can only be exercised in accordance with Rules 8 and 9 of the 2002 Rules which require various pre-conditions to be met before sale or assignment can be effected. Equally, transfer by way of lease can be done in future in cases where actual physical possession is taken of the secured asset after possession is taken under Rule 8(1) and 8(2) at a future point in time. If no such actual physical possession is taken, the right to transfer by way of assignment or sale for realising the secured asset continues. This argument must also, therefore, be rejected."

16. It was further observed:-

"35. We now come to some of the decisions of this Court. In Transcore v. Union of India and Anr., (2008) 1 SCC 125, this Court formulated the question which arose before it as follows:

"1. A short question of public importance arises for determination, namely, whether withdrawal of OA in terms of the first proviso to Section 19(1) of the DRT Act, 1993 (inserted by amending Act 30 of 2004) is a condition precedent to taking recourse to the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 ("the NPA Act", for short)."

To this, the answer given is in paragraph 69, which is as follows:

"69. For the above reasons, we hold that withdrawal of the OA pending before DRT under the DRT Act is not a precondition for taking recourse to the NPA Act. It is for the bank/FI to exercise its discretion as to cases in which it may apply for leave and in cases where they may not apply for leave to withdraw. We do not wish to spell out those circumstances because the said first proviso to Section 19(1) is an enabling provision, which provision may deal with myriad circumstances which we do not wish to spell out herein."

Thereafter, the Court went on to discuss whether recourse to take possession of secured assets of the borrower in terms of Section 13(4) of the Act would comprehend the power to take actual possession of immovable property. In the discussion on this point in paragraph 71 of the judgment, learned Counsel on behalf of the borrowers made an extreme submission which was that the borrower who is in possession of immovable property cannot be physically dispossessed at the time of issuing the notice under Section 13(4) of the Act so as to defeat adjudication of his claim by the Debts Recovery Tribunal Under Section 17 of the Act and that therefore, physical possession can only be taken after the sale is confirmed in terms of Rule 9(9) of the 2002 Rules. This submission was rejected by stating that the word "possession" is a relative concept and that the dichotomy between symbolic and physical possession does not find place under the Act. Having said this, the Court went on to examine the 2002 Rules and held:

"74. ... Thus, Rule 8 deals with the stage anterior to the issuance of sale certificate and delivery of possession Under Rule 9. Till the time of issuance of sale certificate, the authorised officer is like a Court Receiver Under Order 40 Rule 1 Code of Civil Procedure. The Court Receiver can take symbolic possession and in appropriate cases where the Court Receiver finds that a third-party interest is likely to be created overnight, he can take actual possession even prior to the decree. The authorised officer Under Rule 8 has greater powers than even a Court Receiver as security interest in the property is already created in favour of the banks/FIs. That interest needs to be protected. Therefore, Rule 8 provides that till issuance of the sale certificate Under Rule 9, the authorised officer shall take such steps as he deems fit to preserve the secured asset. It is well settled that third-party interests are created overnight and in very many cases those third parties take up the defence of being a bona fide purchaser for value without notice. It is these types of disputes which are sought to be avoided by Rule 8 read with Rule 9 of the 2002 Rules. In the circumstances, the drawing of dichotomy between symbolic and actual possession does not find place in the scheme of the NPA Act read with the 2002 Rules."

If the whole of paragraph 74 is read together with the extracted passage, it becomes clear that what is referred to in the extracted passage is the procedure provided by Rule 8(3). It is clear that the authorised officer's powers, once possession is taken under Rule 8(3), include taking of steps for preservation and protection of the secured assets which is referred to in the extracted portion. Thus, the final conclusion by the Bench, though general in nature, is really referable to possession that is taken under Rule 8(3) of the 2002 Rules. Whether possession taken under Rule 8(1) and 8(2) is called symbolic possession or statutory possession, the fact remains that Rule 8(1) and Rule 8(2) specifically provide for a particular mode of possession taken under Section 13(4)(a) of the Act. This cannot be wished away by an observation made by this Court in a completely different context in order to repel an extreme argument. This Court was only of the opinion that the extreme argument made, as reflected in paragraph 71 of the judgment, would have to be rejected. This judgment therefore does not deal with the problem before us: namely, whether a Section 17(1) application is maintainable once possession has been taken in the manner specified Under Rule 8(1) of the 2002 Rules.

37. In Canara Bank v. M. Amarender Reddy and Anr., (2017) 4 SCC 735, this Court after referring to Mathew Varghese v. M. Amritha Kumar and Ors., (2014) 5 SCC 610, which held that the 30-day period mentioned Under Rule 8(6) is mandatory, then held:

"14. The secured creditor, after it decides to proceed with the sale of secured asset consequent to taking over possession (symbolic or physical as the case may be), is no doubt required to give a notice of 30 days for sale of the immovable asset as per Sub-rule (6) of Rule 8. However, there is nothing in the Rules, either express or implied, to take the view that a public notice Under Sub-rule (6) of Rule 8 must be issued only after the expiry of 30 days from issuance of individual notice by the authorised officer to the borrower about the intention to sell the immovable secured asset. In other words, it is permissible to simultaneously issue notice to the borrower about the intention to sell the secured assets and also to issue a public notice for sale of such secured asset by inviting tenders from the public or by holding public auction. The only restriction is to give thirty days' time gap between such notice and the date of sale of the immovable secured asset."

Though there was no focused argument on the controversy before us, this Court did recognise that possession may be taken over Under Rule 8 either symbolically or physically, making it clear that two separate modes for taking possession are provided for Under Rule 8.

38. Similarly, in ITC Limited v. Blue Coast Hotels Ltd. and Ors. AIR 2018 SC 3063, this Court held:

"43. As noticed earlier, the creditor took over symbolic possession of the property on 20.06.2013. Thereupon, it transferred the property to the sole bidder ITC and issued a sale certificate for Rs. 515,44,01,000/- on 25.02.2015. On the same day, i.e., 25.02.2015, the creditor applied for taking physical possession of the secured assets Under Section 14 of the Act.

44. According to the debtor, since Section 14 provides that an application for taking possession may be made by a secured creditor, and the creditor having ceased to be a secured creditor after the confirmation of sale in favour of the auction purchaser, was not entitled to maintain the application. Consequently, therefore, the order of the District Magistrate directing delivery of possession is a void order. This submission found favour with the High Court that held that the creditor having transferred the secured assets to the auction purchaser ceased to be a secured creditor and could not apply for possession. The High Court held that the Act does not contemplate taking over of symbolic possession and therefore the creditor could not have transferred the secured assets to the auction purchaser. In any case, since ITC Ltd. was the purchaser of such property, it could only take recourse to the ordinary law for recovering physical possession.

45. We find nothing in the provisions of the Act that renders taking over of symbolic possession illegal. This is a well-known device in law. In fact, this Court has, although in a different context, held in M.V.S. Manikayala Rao v. M. Narasimhaswami AIR 1966 SC 470] that the delivery of symbolic possession amounted to an interruption of adverse possession of a party and the period of limitation for the application of Article of the Limitation Act would start from such date of the delivery."

17. Their Lordships then proceeded to notice the amendments introduced in Rule 8 by way of a Notification dated 17 October 2018 to hold that the legislative amendments clarified that possession can be both constructive or physical. The view taken by the Full Bench of this Court in NCML Industries was consequently set aside. It must be borne in mind that the concept of symbolic or constructive possession was recognised as being an existing facet and legally accepted device to disrupt the possession of the debtor. This was so recognised in the earlier decisions rendered by the Supreme Court and noticed in Hindon Forge. The view of the Full Bench of this Court in NCML Industries of the 2002 Act envisaging only actual physical possession was overruled. The concept of symbolic possession would consequently be liable to be recognised as being an integral component of the 2002 Act existing independently of the clarificatory amendments introduced in 2018. It therefore follows that once the possession under Section 13(4) can be both symbolic or actual, the need of a prior notice as canvassed on behalf of the petitioners here is clearly untenable. It may only be additionally noted that the view taken in Krishnegowda has neither been affirmed nor the procedure enunciated therein recognised in either Noble Kumar or Hindon Forge. The Court consequently finds itself unable to sustain the line of submission addressed on behalf of the petitioners on this issue. The contention stands rejected.

18. The Court then turns to the correctness of the contention addressed with respect to the possession notices issued under Rule 8. At the very outset, it must be underlined that the DRAT in its impugned order has categorically recorded that the petitioners did not deny the receipt, publication and affixation of the possession notices. It has specifically dealt with the mode and manner of publication and affixation in paragraph 10 of its order assailed in this petition. The recitals as appearing in paragraph 10 of the impugned order have not been questioned by the petitioners either in the writ petition or by learned counsel appearing on their behalf in his oral submissions. It was also not denied before this Court that the materials brought on record by the respondent Bank before the Debt Recovery Tribunal as well as the DRAT evidencing a compliance with the provisions of Rule 8 were not controverted or denied by the petitioners. Sri Khare, while candidly admitting the receipt of notices under Rule 8, sought to explain the concession made before the DRAT stating that notwithstanding the same, the petitioners were entitled to assail the notices on the ground of being non compliant with the provisions made in that Rule.

19. Insofar as the question of affixation of the possession notices is concerned Sri Khare drew the attention of the Court to the averments made in paragraph 32 of the writ petition. In that paragraph, the petitioners assert that affixation has not been proved as only a few photographs were annexed. According to the petitioners, it was incumbent upon the respondent Bank to further disclose the details of the persons appearing in the photographs as well as to place on the record their individual statement with regard to service. Suffice it to note that the respondent Bank had duly brought on record the possession notices which were affixed on the premises of the secured assets. These notices have been enclosed by the petitioners themselves along with the writ petition. However, and at the cost of repetition, it becomes necessary to observe that although all these details were brought on record before the DRT as well as the DRAT, the petitioners neither controverted nor questioned the same. The Court deems it apposite to also note that although in the Securitisation Application, it was alleged that the notices had not been served upon the petitioners, before the DRAT the receipt and affixation of the possession notices was conceded. Once the petitioners chose not to deny the receipt and affixation of these notices, there was no obligation on the Bank to further prove and establish a fact on which there was no dispute. In view thereof, and once the receipt, publication and affixation of the possession notices was admitted or to put it differently not denied by the petitioners, there was no obligation on the respondent Bank to prove affixation by way of further visual or documentary evidence.

20. The submission with respect to the possession notices being published in the Business Standard and Economic Times is also noticed only to be rejected. Suffice it to note that in the supplementary affidavit, it is asserted that the English version of the Business Standard has a circulation of 7954 and its Hindi version of 2858. Similar allegations have been made with regard to its edition in circulation in Noida, Meerut and Gujarat. This information is derived by the deponent of that affidavit ".....as per information available on the website". There is no disclosure of the details of the website from which these figures have been derived. Insofar as the averments made in paragraphs 5 and 6 are concerned although certain figures have been disclosed, the source from which these figures were collated are not even mentioned. The assertions made in paragraphs 4, 5 and 6 of this affidavit have been sworn on personal knowledge and as per the deponent "on the basis of information available on website, having link of the Business Standard" as stated in paragraph 7 of that affidavit. It is thus evident that the assertions made in this affidavit are devoid of material particulars and remain unsubstantiated. The Court consequently finds itself unable to either countenance or accept the submissions addressed in this regard.

21. On an overall conspectus of the aforesaid facts, this Court is of the considered view that the instant writ petition lacks merit and that the challenge to the impugned order must necessarily fail.

22. The writ petition is consequently dismissed.

(2019)10ILR A 1854

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 02.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SARAL SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ C No. 16942 of 2019 connected with Writ C No. 16951 of 2019, 16956 of 2019 and 16960 of 2019

Sushil Kumar Jain ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, Sri Rahul Jain.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Indian Stamp Act, 1899 - Section 56 (1-A), Section 57 & Section 56 (1-A) - confers right of appeal only to party to the lis - Petitioner not party, therefore appeal not maintainable and consequently, application u/s 57 of the Act-for making reference not maintainable.

Writ Petition rejected (E-9)

Held:- A plain reading of Section 56 (1-A) clearly suggests that it is only those who are party to the lis have been conferred the right of appeal and, therefore, in the opinion of the Court, the appeal on behalf of the petitioner against the order dated 02.11.2018 passed by the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut was not maintainable as petitioner was not a party in proceeding under Section 47-A of the Act, 1899 before Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut. Since appeal on behalf of petitioner was not maintainable, therefore, in the opinion of the Court, application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 on behalf of petitioner was also not maintainable. (Para 26)

B. Under the scheme of the Act, there is nothing from which it can be inferred that the words 'otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57 (1) of the Act, 1899 can be stretched to such an extent so as to include within its periphery any person and not only the persons who are party to the lis. (Para 29)

List of Cases Cited: -

1. Akhlaq Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2019) (3) ADJ 378.

2. Raymond Ltd. & anr. Vs St. of C.H. & ors. AIR (2007) SC 2854

3. Northern Plastics Ltd. Vs Hindustan Photo Films MFG Co. Ltd. (1997) 4 SCC 452

4. Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan Vs St. of

M.H. & ors. AIR (2013) SC 58

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

2. The issue involved in the bunch of petition is as to whether a stranger or third party can be said to be an aggrieved person by an order passed by competent authority in a proceeding under Section 47-A of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1899') and has locus- standi to maintain an application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 in the context of word 'otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57 (1) of the Act, 1899, and on such an application being filed, whether the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority is under obligation to make reference to the High Court.

3. For the convenience, the facts are delineated from Writ - C No. 16942 of 2019.

4. The case of the petitioner is that he is the owner and in possession of Khasra No.2765 (1 bigha 3 biswa), 2767 (6 bigha 1 biswa and 1 kothi), 2768 (3 biswa), 2769 (4 biswa), 2770 (3 bigha 5 biswa) in total 10 bigha and 17 biswa or 27439.65 square meters of land. One Mr. Deep Chand Jain, Vijai Kumar Jain (S/o Deep Chand Jain), Gopi Chand Jain and Akshay Kumar Jain (S/o Gopi Chand Jain) also had share in the aforesaid khasra. According to the petitioner, a family settlement was entered into between the parties on 08.05.1977 in which 7941.06 square meter of the land in the south came to the share of Deep Chand Jain, Vijay Kumar Jain, Gopi Chand Jain, and Akshay Kumar Jain. After the death of Deep Chand Jain and Vijay Kumar Jain, the aforesaid portion was inherited by Smt. Vaishalya Jain widow of late Vijay Kumar Jain and his sons Atul Kumar and Sanjay Jain. The petitioner was given 19498.60 square meter in the north of the aforesaid khasra as per the settlement.

5. The further case of the petitioner is that Smt. Vaishalya Jain and her son after long span of time of family settlement expressed their desire that they are entitled to more share in the aforesaid plots and Smt. Vaishalya Jain and Sanjay Jain illegally without having any title sold an area of 0.2386 hectare in favour of respondent no.3 Ravindra Kumar Tyagi by registered sale deed executed on 21.07.2015 which in fact was given to the petitioner under family settlement deed dated 08.05.1977.

6. From the pleadings in the writ petition, it appears that petitioner has obtained an exparte decree of injunction dated 28.04.2017 with respect to the land for which sale deed has been executed, and the said decree has been put in execution by filing Case No. 615 of 2015.

7. It transpires from the record that a case No. 225 of 2017-18 (computerized No. D-2017115203148) was registered on the report of sub-Registrar dated 11.11.2016 for deficiency of stamp duty against respondent no.3. The Assistant Collector (Stamp)/Collector (Stamp), Meerut determined the stamp deficiency at Rs.50,290/- by order dated 02.11.2018 on the basis of report dated 21.12.2017 submitted by Assistant Inspector General Registration, Meerut, .

8. The respondent no.3 feeling aggrieved by order dated 02.11.2018 passed by Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut in Case No. 225 of 2017-18 (computerized No. D-2017115203148) preferred statutory appeal before Deputy Commissioner (Stamp) Meerut Division, Meerut which was numbered as Case No. 02385 of 2018 (computerized no. C201811000002385).

9. The petitioner, though, was not a party before the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut preferred statutory appeal No.C201911000000162 challenging the order dated 02.11.2018 in Case No. 225 of 2017-18 (computerized No. D-2017115203148) wherein he contended that respondent no.3 in collusion with respondents authorities have evaded huge stamp duty. The petitioner in the said appeal also preferred an application in the month of March, 2019 under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 seeking reference to the High Court on the following questions:-

"1. क्या जिलाधिकारी महोदय द्वारा निर्धारित सर्किल रेट अंकन ९०००/- रुपये प्रति वर्ग मीटर होने के पश्चात् सब रजिस्ट्रार मेरठ को उससे कम दर पर स्टाम्प की गड़ना करने का अधिकार प्राप्त हैं, या नहीं?

२. क्या प्रश्नगत संपत्ति की दर जिलाधिकारी महोदय द्वारा निर्धारित सर्किल रेट के अनुसार ९०००/- प्रति वर्ग मीटर होती हैं या नहीं?

३. क्या भूमि आबादी की होने व नगरपालिका के ३५० मीटर परिधि के अंदर होने के कारण शासनदेश के अनुपालन में आबादी की दर देय थी या नहीं?

४. क्या एक ही ज़मीन के दो अलग अलग दरों के गड़ना करके बैनाम निष्पादित करके रजिस्ट्रार महोदय द्वारा त्रुटि की गयी हैं?

10. According to petitioner, the land in question is an abadi land within the urban area and, therefore, stamp duty in respect of aforesaid land is chargeable @ Rs. 9000 per square meter applicable to residential land whereas the stamp duty @ Rs. 8,000/- per square meter applicable to the agricultural land was paid by the respondent no.3. Thus, respondent no.3 has evaded huge stamp duty by paying the stamp duty applicable to the agriculture land treating the land in question as agriculture land.

11. The appeal of the petitioner was connected with the appeal of respondent no.3 and both the appeals came to be decided by the Deputy Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut Division, Meerut by order dated 15.03.2019 whereby the appellate authority affirmed the order of the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut and dismissed the appeal of the respondent no.3 as well appeal of the petitioner. While dismissing the appeal of the petitioner, the appellate authority recorded a finding that application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 has been filed by the petitioner only for the purpose of delay in disposal of appeal and accordingly, the appellate authority has rejected the application dated 13.03.2019/14.03.2019 of the petitioner under Section 57 of the Act, 1899. The appellate authority further held that though petitioner has contended in the appeal that the order of the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut is against the settled principles of law and without application of judicial mind but the appellant/petitioner could not establish on record that the order of the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut dated 02.11.2018 is not as per law. Accordingly, on merit also the appellate authority found that case of petitioner is not sustainable in law, and consequently, it dismissed the appeal of the petitioner.

12. The petitioner in the present petition has challenged the order of the appellate authority dated 15.03.2019 only to the extent by which his application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 has been rejected which is also evident from the prayer made by the petitioner in the writ petition which is extracted herein below:-

"Issue a writ order or direction in nature of certiorari quashing the part of order dated 15.03.2019 where by the application under section 57 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 has been dismissed by respondent no.2 (Annexure-1)"

13. Challenging the aforesaid order, learned counsel for the petitioner contends that appellate court has erred in law in rejecting the application of the petitioner on the ground that the petitioner in order to delay the disposal of appeal has filed the application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 without appreciating the facts on record which clearly establishes that it was a case of evasion of heavy stamp duty by the respondent no.3 and a clear case of reference under Section 57 was made out, and therefore,the appellate authority was bound to refer the matter to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, who under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 was under obligation to refer the questions framed in the said application to the High Court.

14. He further submits that Section 57 of the Act, 1899 envisages two modes to make reference. The first one is provided under Section 56(2) of the Act, 1899 and second is by virtue of words 'otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57(1) of the Act, 1899. According to the petitioner, he derives his locus to file application for reference from the words 'otherwise coming to its notice' in Section 57 (1) of the Act, 1899 and thus, he contends that anybody who finds a case of evasion of stamp duty can bring to the notice of Chief Controlling Revenue Authority by filing application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899, and once it has come to the notice of Chief Controlling Revenue Authority that there is evasion of stamp duty and there is substantial question of law, an obligation is imposed upon the Chief Revenue Controlling Authority to refer the matter to the High Court. Thus, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that an application of petitioner under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 was maintainable, and the appellate authority has erred in dismissing the application of petitioner under Section 57 of the Act, 1899. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Akhlaq Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2019(3) ADJ 378.

15. Rebutting the aforesaid submission, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel contends that petitioner is not an aggrieved person and as such he has no locus standi to file an application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899. According to him, the words 'otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57 (1) of the Act connotes only those who are party to the proceeding meaning thereby that besides the State Authority, the person against whom stamp duty is imposed is also provided a remedy under Section 57 (1) of the Act, 1899 for reference of his case to the High Court if any substantial question of law is involved. He further submits that the words "otherwise coming to its notice' is to be interpreted in the context of the scheme of the Act and legislature has taken due care to protect the interest of the State from evasion of stamp duty as right of appeal is also provided to the Government under Section 56(1-A) of the Act, 1899 and thus, the words "otherwise coming to its notice' cannot be stretched to an extent to bring within its compass the person who is not a party to lis. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Raymond Ltd. & Another Vs. State of Chhatisgarh and Others AIR 2007 SC 2854.

16. He further submits that petitioner is not a bona fide litigant inasmuch as it is clear from the pleadings in the writ petition that petitioner has obtained some exparte injunction decree against respondent no.3, and to settle his personal score, he has preferred the appeal against the order dated 02.11.2018 and filed application under Section 57 in the said appeal. He submits that it is settled principles of law that a person who is espousing a cause of public interest should not have any personal interest in espousing the said cause, and in the present case, it is evident from the pleadings in the writ petition that the petitioner has personal grievance against respondent no.3, therefore, the appeal as well as application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 preferred by the petitioner was not bona fide and deserves to be dismissed on this ground also.

17. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record of the case.

18. Before adverting to the rival submissions of the parties, it is pertinent to have glance at Sections 56 and 57 of the Act, 1899 which are extracted herein below:-

"56 Control of and statement of case to Chief Controlling Revenue Authority-(1) The powers exercisable by a Collector under Chapter IV and Chapter V and under clause (a) of the first proviso to section 26 shall in all cases be subject to the control of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority.

(1-A) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, any person including the Government aggrieved by an order of the Collector under Chapter IV, Chapter V or under clause (a) of the first proviso to Section 26 may, within sixty days from the date of receipt of such order, prefer an appeal against such order to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, who shall, after giving the parties a reasonable opportunity of being heard consider the case and pass such order thereon as he thinks just and proper and the order so passed shall be final:

Provided that no application for stay or recovery of any disputed amount of stamp duty including interest thereon or penalty shall be entertained unless the applicant has furnished satisfactory proof of the payment of not less than one-third of such disputed amount:

Provided further that where the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority passes an order for the stay of recovery of any stamp duty, interest thereon or penalty or for the stay of the operation of any order appealed against and such order results in the stay of recovery of any stamp duty, interest thereon or penalty, such stay order shall not remain in force for more than thirty days unless the appellant furnishes adequate security to the satisfaction of the Collector concerned for the payment of the outstanding amount].

(2) If any Collector, acting under section 31, section 40 or section 41, feels doubt as to the amount of duty with which any instrument is chargeable, he may draw up a statement of the case, and refer it, with his own opinion thereon, for the decision of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority.

…

57. Statement of case by Chief Controlling Revenue-authority to High Court. -- (1) The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority may state any case referred to it under section 56, sub-section (2), or otherwise coming to its notice, and refer such case, with its own opinion thereon, --

[(a) if it arises in a State, to the High Court for that State;

[(b) if it arises in the Union territory of Delhi, to the High Court of Delhi;

[(c) if it arises in the Union territory of Arunachal Pradesh or Mizoram, to the Gauhati High Court (the High Court of Assam, Nagaland, Meghalaya, Manipur and Tripura)];

(d) if it arises in the Union territory of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, to the High Court at Calcutta; and

(e) if it arises in the Union territory of the [Lakshadweep], to the High Court of Kerala];

(ee) if it arises in the Union territory of Chandigarh, to the High Court of Punjab and Haryana;

[(f) if it arises in the Union territory of Dadra and Nagar Haveli, to the High Court of Bombay.]

(2) Every such case shall be decided by not less than three Judges of the High Court 1 to which it is referred, and in case of difference the opinion of the majority shall prevail."

19. Section 56 (1-A) provides appeal by any person including the Government aggrieved by an order of the Collector under Chapter IV, Chapter V or under clause (a) of the first proviso to Section 26 to the Chief Controlling Revenue Officer. Thus, the legislature has taken due care to safeguard the interest of the State in case of evasion of stamp duty by conferring the power of appeal upon the Government against the order of Collector under the chapter IV & V or clause (a) of first proviso to Section 26.

20. Further, as per Section 56(2) if the Collector, acting under section 31, section 40 or section 41, feels doubt as to the amount of duty with which any instrument is chargeable, he may draw a statement of the case and refer it with his own opinion for the decision of Chief Controlling Revenue Authority. Thus, Section 56(2) postulates another mode of determination of the amount of duty chargeable on any instrument by Chief Controlling Revenue Authority in case of any doubt about the amount of duty chargeable on the said instrument.

21. Section 57(1) envisages two modes when the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority can make reference to the High Court. Firstly, if any case is referred to him by the Collector under Section 56(2), and the secondly the cases which 'otherwise coming to its notice'. In the context of the present case, one of the pertinent question which arises for consideration is as to whether the appeal under Section 56(1-A) by the petitioner against the order dated 02.11.2018 passed by Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut in Case No. 225 of 2017-18 (computerized No. D-2017115203148) was maintainable and if not, whether the application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 could be filed by the petitioner in an appeal which was not maintainable on his behalf.

22. To appreciate the question as to whether the appeal could be filed by the petitioner against the order of the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut dated 02.11.2018, it would be useful to refer the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Northern Plastics Ltd. Vs. Hindustan Photo Films MFG Co. Ltd. (1997) 4 SCC 452. In the said case, appellant (Northern Plastics Ltd.) was allowed by the order passed by the Assistant Collector of Customs, Bombay dated 05.06.1989 whereby he agreed with the notings made by the Assistant Collector of Customs, Bombay dated 31.05.1989 recommending the release of the imported goods to the appellant on payment of full custom duty. The aforesaid order was challenged by one M/s Hindustan Photo Films MFG Co. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as 'HPF') and also by Union of India in several legal proceedings. However, having not succeeded in those proceedings, HPF and Union of India preferred separate appeals challenging the order dated 05.06.1989 passed by the Assistant Collector of Customs, Bombay before the Customs, Excise and Gold (Control) Appellate Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as 'CEGAT') under Section 129-A of the Customs Act, 1962 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1962'). The CEGAT held the appeals preferred by the HPF as well as Union of India not maintainable on the ground that they do not fall within the ambit of words 'any person aggrieved' used in Section 129-A of the Act, 1962, and consequently, it dismissed both the appeals. The HPF as well as Union of India preferred two writ petitions against the order of CEGAT dismissing the appeal, and the High Court allowed the writ petition of HPF as well as Union of India holding that appeal on behalf of HPF as well as Union of India was maintainable.

23. Feeling aggrieved by the judgement of the High Court in the two writ petitions, the appellant (Northern Plastics Ltd.) preferred Special Leave Petition before the Apex Court. The Apex Court after considering the scheme of the Act, 1962 affirmed the order passed by the CEGAT holding appeal of Union of India and the HPF not maintainable. The Apex Court also held that principle underlying in respect of concept of locus standi in public interest litigation filed before Apex Court under Article 32 of Constitution of India or under Article 226 of Constitution of India before High Court cannot be imported for deciding the right of appeal under the statutory provisions contained in the Customs Act, 1962. The Apex Court further held that only those permitted by the statute to prefer appeal can exercise the right of appeal subject to the conditions regarding filing of such appeals. Paragraphs 8 and 9 of the aforesaid judgement are being extracted herein below:-

"8. At the outset it must be kept in view that appeal is a creature of statute. The right to appeal has to be exercised by persons permitted by the statute to prefer appeals subject to the conditions regarding the filing of such appeals. We may in this connection usefully refer to a decision of four learned judge of this Court in the case of The Anant Mills Co. Ltd. etc. etc. v. State of Gujarat & others etc. etc. [AIR 1975 SC 1234 = (1975) 2 SCC 175]. In that case Khanna, J., speaking for the Court had to consider the question whether the provision of statutory appeal as per Section 406(2)(e) of the Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporation Act, 1949 which required the appellant to deposit the disputed amount of tax before appeal could be entertained could be said to be in any way violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Repelling the aforesaid challenge to the vires of the said provision the following pertinent observations were made in para 40 of the Report :

"...The right of appeal is the creature of a statute. Without a statutory provision creating such a right the person aggrieved is not entitled to file an appeal. We fail to understand as to why the Legislature while granting the right of appeal cannot impose conditions for the exercise of such right. In the absence of any special reasons there appears to be no legal or constitutional impediment to the imposition of such conditions. It is permissible, for example, to prescribe a condition in criminal cases that unless a convicted person is released on bail, he must surrender to custody on bail, he must surrender to custody before his appeal against the sentence of imprisonment would be entertained. Likewise, it is permissible to enact a law that no appeal shall lie against an order relating to an assessment of tax unless the tax had been paid. Such a provision was on the statute book in Section 30 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922. The proviso to the section provided that '.....no appeal shall lie against an order under sub-section (1) of Section 46 unless the tax had been paid'. Such conditions merely regulate the exercise of the right of appeal so that the same is not abused difficulty in the enforcement of the order appealed against in case the appeal is ultimately dismissed. It is open to the Legislature to impose an accompanying liability upon a party upon whom legal right is conferred or to prescribe conditions for the exercise of the right. Any requirement for discharge of that liability or the fulfilment of that condition in case the party concerned seeks to avail of the said right is a valid piece of legislation, and we can discern no contravention of Article 14 in it ....."

9. It has also be noted that the wider concept of locus standi in public interest litigation moved before this Court under Article 32 of the Constitution of India which itself is a fundamental right or under Article 226 before High Courts which also offers a constitutional remedy cannot be imported for deciding the right of appeal under the statutory provisions contained in the Customs Act. Whether any right of appeal is conferred on anyone against the orders passed under the Act in the hierarchy of proceedings before the authorities has to be judged from the statutory settings of the Act and not before them. Therefore, in our view, the High Court in the impugned judgment had erred in drawing the analogy from the more elastic concept of locus standi under Article 32 of Article evolved by this Court by its decisions on the subject. It is also to be appreciated that the decision of this Court in Bar Council of Maharashtra v. M.V. Dabholkar etc. etc. AIR 1975 SC 2092 was based on an entirely different statutory scheme. For judging the competence and locus standi of the Union of India or the HPF for moving appeals before CEGAT against the order of Additional Collector of Customs passed under Section 122 of the Act the answer must be found from within the four corners of the Act itself."

24. In paragraph 10 of the judgment of Northern Plastics Ltd. (supra), the Apex Court held that the only the parties to proceedings before the Adjudicating Authority i.e. Collector of Customs could prefer such an appeal to the CEGAT. Relevant portion of paragraph 10 of the aforesaid judgement is being extracted herein below:-

10.... "In the light of this statutory scheme, therefore, it is not possible to agree with the contention of learned counsel for the contesting respondents that sub-section (1) of Section 129-A entitles any and every person feeling aggrieved by the decision or order of the Collector of Customs as an adjudicating authority, to prefer statutory appeal to the Appellate Tribunal. Neither the Central Government, through Industries Department, nor the rival company or industry operating in the same field as the importer can as a matter or right prefer an appeal as 'person aggrieved' is wider than the phrase 'party aggrieved'. But in the entire context of the statutory scheme especially sub-section (3) of Section 129-A it has to be held that only the parties to the proceedings before the adjudicating authority Collector of Customs could prefer such an appeal to the CEGAT and the adjudicating authority under S.122 can prefer such an appeal only when directed by the Board under Section 129-D(1) and not otherwise. It is easy to visualise that even a third party may get legitimately aggrieved by the order of the Collector of Customs being the adjudicating authority if it is contended by such a third party that the goods imported really belonged to it and not to the purported importer or that he had financed the same and, therefore, in substance he was interested in the goods and consequently the release order in favour of the purported importer was prone to create a legal injury to such a third party which is not actually arraigned as a party before the adjudicating authority and was not heard by it. Under such circumstances such a third party might perhaps be treated to be legally aggrieved by the order of the Collector of Customs as an adjudicating authority and may legitimately prefer an appeal to the CEGAT as a 'person aggrieved'. That is the reason why the Legislature in its wisdom has used the phrase 'any person aggrieved' by the order of Collector of Customs as adjudicating authority in Section 129-A(1). But it order to earn a locus standi as 'person aggrieved' other than the arraigned party before the Collector of Customs as an adjudicating authority it must be shown that such a person aggrieved being third party has a direct legal interest in the goods involved in the adjudication process. It cannot be a general public interest or interest of a business rival as is being projected by the contesting respondents before us....."

25. Further in paragraph 12 of the judgment of Northern Plastics Ltd. (supra), Apex Court repelled the contention of Union of India that appeal on behalf of Union of India was maintainable as it has to subserve a larger public interest. Relevant portion of paragraph 12 of the aforesaid judgement is being extracted herein below:-

".....12. So far as the Union of India is concerned we may proceed on the basis that it may have to subserve a larger public interest by raising the present dispute and may legitimately feel aggrieved by the order of the Additional Collector of Customs. But even if it is so, the statutory procedure laid down by the Parliament in its wisdom for enabling the challenge to the adjudication order of the Collector of Customs by way of appeals or revisions, to which we have made a mention, has got to be followed in such an eventuality......"

26. Now, in the case in hand, it is evident that Section 56 (1-A) of the Act, 1899 confers the right of appeal to those aggrieved by the order of the Collector passed under Chapter IV, Chapter V or under clause (a) of the first proviso to Section 26 or to the Government. A plain reading of Section 56 (1-A) clearly suggests that it is only those who are party to the lis have been conferred the right of appeal and, therefore, in the opinion of the Court, the appeal on behalf of the petitioner against the order dated 02.11.2018 passed by the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut was not maintainable as petitioner was not a party in proceeding under Section 47-A of the Act, 1899 before Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Meerut. Since appeal on behalf of petitioner was not maintainable, therefore, in the opinion of the Court, application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 on behalf of petitioner was also not maintainable.

27. The present controversy can also be viewed from one more perspective i.e. whether any application preferred by any person to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 would fall within the word 'otherwise' which entitles him for reference under Section 57 of the Act, 1899. In this regard it is pertinent to notice the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Raymond Ltd. & Another (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents wherein Apex Court while interpreting Section 56(4) inserted by way of State amendment held that revisional power conferred under Section 56(4) of the Act, 1899 is to be exercised by the Board of Revenue either on its own motion or on application of 'any party'. The Apex Court further held that the word 'any party' implies both parties to the lis. Paragraph 16 of the aforesaid judgement is being extracted herein below:-

"16. It is true that Sub-section (2) of Section 56 of the Act does not refer to Section 32 but the same, in our opinion, was not necessary. Sub-section (4) of Section 56 was inserted by way of a State Amendment. The intention of the legislature in inserting the said provision is clear and explicit as by reason thereof a power of revision has been conferred upon the highest authority of Revenue in the State, viz., Board of Revenue. The revisional power is to be exercised by the Board of Revenue either on its own motion or on an application by any party. The term "any party" used in the said provision is of some significance. By reason of the said provision, not only the State but also the person who had filed an application under Section 31 of the Act, thus, may file a revision application before the Board of Revenue. The terms "any party", therefore, implies both the parties to the lis and not the party filing an application under Section 31 of the Act alone. The revisional power is to be exercised by the Board so as to enable it to satisfy itself in regard to the amount with which the instrument is chargeable with duty. The revisional proceeding has a direct nexus with determination of an instrument being charged with duty and not the endorsement made thereupon at a subsequent stage."

28. Even in the case of Banarsi Das Ahluwalia Vs. The Chief Controlling

Revenue Authority, Delhi, the Apex Court held that the person against whom any order of Revenue Authority imposing penalty or deficient stamp duty is passed, and if it involves substantial question of law, he has remedy under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 to approach the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority for referring the case to the High Court. Relevant portion of aforesaid judgement is being extracted herein below:-

".....It also must now be taken as settled that that duty is not affected by the question whether the case is pending before the Authority or not. The principle underlying the decision is that sec. 57 affords a remedy to the citizen to have his case referred to the High Court against an order of a revenue authority imposing stamp duty and/or penalty provided the application involves a substantial question of law and imposes a corresponding obligation on the authority to refer it to the High Court for its opinion. Such a right and obligation cannot be construed to depend upon any subsidiary circumstance such as the pendency of the case before the Authority....."

29. Thus, the principles underlined in the aforesaid judgement unambiguously suggests that any person aggrieved by the order of the Revenue Authority can approach the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 for reference of his case to the High Court if it involves substantial question of law, and the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority is under obligation to refer the case to the High Court. Under the scheme of the Act, there is nothing from which it can be inferred that the words 'otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57 (1) of the Act, 1899 can be stretched to such an extent so as to include within its periphery any person and not only the persons who are party to the lis.

30. The judgement of this Court in the case of Akhlaq (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner has been rendered by this Court in the case of fair price shop matter by placing reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan Vs. State of Maharashtra & Others AIR 2013 SC 58, and this Court held that complainant has right to approach the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to challenge the order passed by the appellate authority restoring the licence of the original licence holder. In this regard it is also worth mentioning that this Court in the aforsaid case has failed to notice the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Northern Plastics Ltd. (supra) wherein Apex Court has clearly held that the right of appeal is statutory right and can be availed only by those who are conferred the right of appeal under the statute itself and not by any one else.

31. Further, the Apex Court in the case of Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan (supra) which has been relied upon by this court in the case of Akhlaq (supra) has also reiterated the principles that the person who is not a party to the lis has no right to challenge an action. In the said case, the respondent no.5 in the Special Leave Petition before the Apex Court has questioned the validity of the caste certificate issued in favour of appellant (Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan). The High Court allowed the writ petition of respondent no.5 holding that respondent no.5 has locus-standi to question the legality of caste certificate issued in favour of appellant (Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan). The Apex Court reversed the judgement of the High Court and held that respondent no.5 has no locus to challenge the caste certificate of the appellant (Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan). Paragraph 23 of the aforesaid judgement is being extracted herein below:-

"23. Thus, from the above it is evident that under ordinary circumstances, a third person, having no concern with the case at hand, cannot claim to have any locus-standi to raise any grievance whatsoever. However, in the exceptional circumstances as referred to above, if the actual persons aggrieved, because of ignorance, illiteracy, inarticulation or poverty, are unable to approach the court, and a person, who has no personal agenda, or object, in relation to which, he can grind his own axe, approaches the court, then the court may examine the issue and in exceptional circumstances, even if his bonafides are doubted, but the issue raised by him, in the opinion of the court, requires consideration, the court may proceed suo-motu, in such respect.

32. Thus, for the reasons given above, the judgement of this Court in the case of Akhlaq (supra) does not come in aid of the petitioner. Accordingly, considering the fact that legislature has provided sufficient safeguard in case if there is any evasion of stamp duty by permitting the Government to prefer appeal under Section 56(1-A) of the Act, 1899, and further in case of any doubt regarding the chargeability of stamp duty under Section 31, Section 40 or Section 41, the Collector can refer the matter to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, in the opinion of the Court, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the present is a case of evasion of heavy stamp duty which has been brought to the notice to Chief Controlling Revenue Authority by the petitioner and the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority is obliged to refer the matter to the High Court is devoid of merit and is rejected. Further, in the scheme of the Act, the words "otherwise coming to its notice' used in Section 57 of the Act gives remedy to the private party also who is one of the party to the lis to refer its case to the High Court in case it involves substantial question of law.

33. The petitioner even otherwise is not a bona-fide litigant for the reason that some family dispute is pending between the parties, and the petitioner as is evident from the pleadings in the writ petition has obtained an ex-parte decree of injunction. Thus, it is evident that the petitioner in order to espouse his personal cause, had preferred the appeal against the order of the Assistant Collector (Stamp)/Collector (Stamp), Meerut and filed an application under Section 57 of the Act, 1899 for reference to the High Court. Since, the petitioner is not a bona fide litigant and in fact has opted the remedy of appeal in order to settle his personal score, therefore, it is not a fit case of exercise of extra ordinary power by this Court under Article 226 of Constitution of India.

34. Thus, in the light of the above observations and discussions, all the four writ petitions are not maintainable and consequently, dismissed. There shall be no order as to cost.

(2019)10ILR A 1866

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 20.09.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE AJAY BHANOT, J.

Writ C No. 4400 of 2019 connected with 38 others

M/s G.S. Convent School ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Satya Prakash Sharma.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Ram Bilas Yadav, Sri Yatindra.

A. Constitution of India - Art. 21 A - Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Legislature partly redeemed a promise made by the nation on the fateful midnight of August 1947 - Promise can be redeemed in full measure only by a faithful implementation of the legislative and Constitutional mandate. (Para 12)

B. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Is a reflection of National vision, national will and national organization - Is an authoritative guide to the nature of the rights of the children, duties of the State authorities as well as the obligations of educational institutions. (Para 15 & 20)

C. Constitution of India - Art. 21 A - Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Scheme under therein has education and welfare of the child at its core-Every other activities revolves around this centre and all other activities subserve this noble object-It contemplate establishment of temple of learning called school not enterprises for profit called literacy kiosks or education shops. (Para 135)

D. Importance of Education - Education is supreme act of nation building and paramount activities of civilizational progress -It's purpose is to produce enlightened citizens. (Para 41)

E. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Purpose of Educational institutions-All children have different aptitude but the same potentiality - The purpose of an educational institutions is to unlock the immense and diverse possibility in each child- Acknowledgement and awakening of the latent potentiality in each child is mandated in this Act. (Para 42 & 45)

F. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Commercialization of Education - Education lie full prospect of national building, but it also offers possibility of private profiteering - Opportunity of nation building cannot be approached with minds of dishonest traders-Future of many cannot be jeopardized for benefit of the few-Legislature while enacting RCFCE Act, 2009, was conscious of the law laid down by Supreme Court against commercialization of education - Mushrooming schools without proper infrastructure are the blatant example of profiteering in education. (Para 58, 60 & 61)

G. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 - Necessity of playground Scheme of the RCFCE Act, 2009 unequivocally mandates that playground and school building shall be part of one campus - In case school building and playground are situated in separate plots of land which are not compact or contiguous, school will not satisfy the criteria of barrier free access. (Para 77, 78 & 79)

H. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 -

Section 18 - Commence with negative phrase namely, 'no school' and further uses the word 'shall' while requiring the school to obtain certificate of recognition from competent authority - These features establish that the provisions are mandatory in nature. (Para 66, 67 & 69)

I. Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 - GOs. dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019 - Inconsistence with and in violation of Art. 21A and RCFCE Act, 2009 - Ultra vires - Writ of mandamus - he provisions of UPRCFCE Rules, 2011 and of held ultra vires, discriminatory and violative of Art. 14 of the Constitution of India - Writ of Mandamus with necessary directions issued. (Para 95, 103, 114, 116 & 155)

Writ Petitions decided (E-1)

Cases relied on: -

1. Ashoka Thakur Vs U.O.I. & ors. (2008) 6 SCC 1.

2. Apple Grove School Vs U.O.I. & ors. 2019 (3) ADJ 874.

3. St. of Haryana Vs Raghubir Dayal (1995) 1 SCC 133.

4. Sharif-Ud-Din Vs Abdul Gani Lone (1980) 1 SCC 403.

5. Vikas Trivedi Vs St. of U.P. & ors. (2013) 2 UPLBEC 1193.

6. Avinash Mehrotra Vs U.O.I & ors. (2009) 6 SCC 398.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

Introduction

1. The writ petitions in this bunch have been instituted by various schools and school managements. One set of writ petitions pray for grant of government aid. The second set of petitions pray for grant of recognition to the schools from the U.P. Basic Shiksha Parishad (U.P. Board of Primary Education).

Submissions of the counsels

2. The learned counsels for the petitioners submit that the petitioners claim the reliefs in the writ petitions by virtue of the rights conferred by Article 21A of the Constitution of India read with the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, the Rules framed thereunder and the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. v. Pawan Kumar Dwivedi, reported at (2014) 9 SCC 692 and the judgment of this Court in Paripurna Nand Tripathi Vs. State of U.P., reported at 2015 (3) ADJ 567. Learned counsels for the petitioners also pressed the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 in aid of their claims. Some counsels admit the schools lack playgrounds. But the requirement for playgrounds has been waived in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013. The need to have a playground in the school premises is optional in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019. As per the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 the playground need not be in the name of the school, nor is it required to be in the school premises. It is contended that the petitioners satisfy the criteria for affiliation and grant of aid posited by the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019. Grant of government aid and recognition respectively, on the foot of the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and Government Order dated 11.01.2019 as are applicable to the respective cases.

3. Sri Neeraj Tripathi, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Shashank Shekhar, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the respondent-State would contend that the rights of the institutions are governed and regulated by the the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 read with The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011. They further submit that the Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 19.01.2013 prescribe the mandatory criteria which need to be satisfied before the institutions can claim government aid or demand recognition.

4. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties.

5. On the face of it, the prayers made in the writ petitions are innocuous and orders were passed routinely by this court to decide the representations of the petitioners for grant of aid or recognition as the case may be. I too was inclined to dispose of these writ petitions on similar lines. However, some facts were troubling.

6. Admittedly, many petitioners' schools do not have playgrounds. While others do not have playgrounds in the school premises or in their names. This deficiency as stated earlier, is defended on the strength of the Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019 respectively. However, this inadequacy does not seem to be consistent with the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and Article 21A of the Constitution of India.

7. Thus, in the course of arguments, fault lines were exposed in the respective cases of the petitioners and the Government Orders. These facts necessitated a more searching enquiry of the issues at hand.

8. It is important to be simple but dangerous to be simplistic. The issues may look innocuous on the surface but the provisions carry distant consequences. Avoiding an in depth consideration of the issues would amount to an abdication of judicial functions by this Court.

